Shopping Center's Drainage Bid Denied

City Wins Suit Protesting Plan by Waterford

Judge Rules Against Attempt to Link Lines to Pontiac System

A proposed shopping center at the northwest corner of Elizabeth Lake and Telegraph roads in Waterford Township will not be allowed to connect with the Pontiac sewage system, Port Huron Circuit Judge Eugene ruled today.

But Waterford Township Attorney John W. Bell said the decision would be appealed to the State Supreme Court.

Judge Black heard the case here as a visiting judge Oct. 24 through 26.

Pontiac filed the suit Aug. 31 contending Waterford's attempt to link the center with the city system violated a 1935 agreement setting up an area in the township which could send sewage through the city's treatment plant.

The city claimed all plans constituting an enlargement, expansion or addition to the system must be approved by the City Commission and said approval was not given in the disputed instance.

Waterford alleged the line was not an enlargement, but a connection legal under the contract.

Judge Black ruled that the Pontiac Shopping Center connection "constitutes an enlargement or addition within meaning and purpose of the 1935 contract and . . . requires a new and yet unexecuted agreement on the amount of charge."

Red Stand Kills German Accord

Big Three Will Continue
Session on Unification to Test Soviet Attitude

GENEVA (U)—Western leaders agreed today that Russia's stand on German unification has just about wrecked prospects for any kind of agreement on any issues at the Big Four foreign ministers conference.

Nevertheless, indications were that the U. S. Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Pinay would continue their talks with Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov here for several more days in an effort to gauge the extent of his new tough attitude.

The disclosure of this attitude in a speech he made on Germany last night precipitated a new crisis in East-West relations.

Dulles, Macmillan and Pinay met at Pinay's residence this morning to compare their evaluations and prepare their counter-attack for this afternoon's session with Molotov.

But the majority view was that Molotov's stand as far as Germany is concerned was final.

Proposed New City Parking Lots Revealed

REVISED PARKING PROGRAM — Four new proposed municipal parking lots will supply 624 spaces in addition to the 332 now available. A total of 328 spaces would be available in the three-part lot in the Lafayette-Wayne-Pine-Jacobs area. At the lot west of Cass, running from West Lawrence to West Pike, 148 stalls would be furnished. Eighty-one cars would be parked on the lot on Lawrence at the foot of Wayne, and there would be space for 67 autos on the lot at Auburn, east of South Saginaw. The latter lot (checked) would be leased for the present. The other three would be purchased through a $600,000 bond issue.

Air Force Plane Blows Up in Air

A-Bomb Carrier Bursts
Over Texas; Rescuers
Searching for Bodies

MARLIN, Tex. (U)—One of the nation's best A-bomb carriers, a sleek B47 bomber, exploded in the air near this central Texas town last night and today air rescue teams were searching for bodies or survivors.

Rescue teams said markings on the plane showed it was from Biggs Air Force Base, El Paso. At Biggs, officers refused to concede it was a Briggs plane although reporting one of their B47s, attached to the 97th Bomb Wing, was many hours overdue on a routine training flight.

The 200,000-pound craft, with a wingspan of 116 feet, normally carries a crew of three—all officers.

The wreckage was spread over a mile and a half and five large pieces of wreckage burned well into the morning. What happened to the crew was a mystery. Early this morning, rescuers were unable to find anyone who parachuted and found no bodies or pieces of bodies.

The explosion rocked this part of Texas for many miles. It blew doors open and rattled windows. It lighted the sky as far away as Waco, 25 miles to the northwest.

Mothers Get Help

In Indiana, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut the Democrats rolled to telling victories in local balloting that would give them organizational strength in former GOP strongholds for next year's congressional and presidential elections.

Union's Layoff Pay Plan Rejected by Ohio Voters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U)—Ohio voters in Tuesday's election decisively rejected a CIO plea for supplemental layoff pay and bigger unemployment benefits.

Unofficial returns to Secretary of State Ted W. Brown from 11,500 of the state's 11,626 polling places showed the double-barreled union proposal lost by 63 per cent.

The count was: Yes, 857,087; no, 1,436,099.

Union officials expressed belief their Ohio defeat would delay but not prevent the simultaneous payment plan from going into effect on the June 1, 1956, deadline under General Motors and Ford guaranteed annual wage pacts.

Such labor contracts, designed to give jobless workers 60 to 65 per cent of their take-home pay, are conditioned on approval of dual payments by states in which two-thirds of a company's employees work.

The intensive union campaign played up in television broadcasts and newspapers adds a proposed boost in Ohio jobless compensation from a maximum $33 a week for 26 weeks to $50 for 39 weeks. The proposal also called for an increase in minimum benefits from $10 to $15 a week and from $6 to $9 a week in dependency allowances.

At 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac the thermometer reading was 34 degrees. The mercury rose to 37 by 1 p.m.

HAMDEN, Conn. (INS)—Harry J. Williamson of Heislerville, N.J., was slightly miffed over the inaccuracy of speed checks on the Wilbur Cross parkway yesterday when arrested. Police said they clocked him at 95 miles an hour. Williamson said it wasn't so. He was doing only 90.

Ike to Welcome Armas in Denver

Washington Prepares
Friday Reception for Returning President

DENVER (U)—President Eisenhower set up a program of welcome today for the president of Guatemala as his last official visit before he leaves Fitzsimons Army Hospital Friday.

He sent his personal plane, the Columbine III, to St. Louis to fly Carlos Castillo Armas to Denver along with acting Secretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., for a 30-minute conference.

The 65-year-old Eisenhower, already pronounced fit enough to walk to the plane Friday, will make two brief talks to the American people on that day, one just before he takes off from Lowry Airfield, the other when he arrives at the Military Air Transport Terminal in Washington.

There will be warm sendoff from Denver, where the President has been a visitor since Aug. 14 and a hospital patient since Sept. 24 when he suffered a "moderate" heart attack.

In Washington, District of Columbia and federal officials laid plans today for an all-out welcome for the President when he returns. Over a hundred thousand people are expected to line the streets to greet him as he rides to the White House in a convertible after being greeted at the terminal by the cabinet, diplomatic dignitaries and members of Congress.

Eisenhower will spend the weekend in Washington before journeying to his farm near Gettysburg, Pa. He plans to remain at the farm until January, resting up for a full-time return to his official duties.

Willman Gives Downtown Area Parking Plan

$633,447 Cost Outlined in Preliminary Report
by City Manager

A preliminary report on a program for 624 additional municipal parking spaces was presented to the City Commission last night by City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Cost of the program will be $633,447, of which $600,000 will be underwritten by revenue bonds, Willman said.

The plan and the bonding proposal are now under study by a bond expert in Detroit. His report is due next Tuesday.

Under the program, which supplants a plan presented a month ago, the major facility will be a three-part 328-car lot serving the busy north end of the downtown shopping district.

It will be in the Lafayette-Wayne-Pine-Jacobs area, handy to North Saginaw street and Oakland avenue stores.

A 148-auto unit on West Lawrence street, between Lawrence and West Pike, will be the second largest lot. A lot on West Lawrence at the foot of Wayne will furnish spaces for 81 vehicles.

Lot number 4, at Auburn avenue east of Saginaw, will be handled separately. It is state-owned and will be leased at $120 a month until the state decides how much of it is needed to straighten the Auburn jog, Willman said.

After that, the remaining property will be purchased. Plans call for it to serve 67 autos.

The timetable set up by the bond expert calls for presentation of the bond-authorizing ordinance next week.

If approved by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission, the bonds can be sold by mid-January and the city can have the cash by Feb. 15.

Willman said construction would begin as soon after that as is possible.

The city now provides 332 spaces in two lots at 5 cents per hour.

Plan Spring Vote on Pay Increase for Commission

Preparation of an amendment calling for a pay boost for city commissioners was authorized by the City Commission last night.

The amendment will be presented to voters next spring. It follows the recommendations of a special study committee of former commissioners.

Commissioners, including the mayor, currently are paid $5 for each regular meeting. It is proposed that commissioners receive $25 a session and the mayor $2,000 a year.

Dingell Wins Dem Nomination

Two-to-One Majority
Seats Hubbard for 8th
Term in Dearborn

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
John D. Dingell Jr. won the Democratic nomination yesterday for the 15th Congressional District seat, held by his late father since its creation 22 years ago.

The 29-year-old Detroit lawyer topped 11 opponents in the special election called after John D. Dingell Sr., died two months ago of a heart attack.

Final unofficial returns from the 323 precincts which make up the heavily Democratic district gave Dingell 12,179 votes to 7,686 for Charles A. Hill, his nearest rival. Dingell polled almost as many votes as the combined Democratic field.

Republicans nominated Thomas E. Brennan, 26, also an attorney, to oppose Dingell in the special election Dec. 13 to fill the vacant House seat.

BRENNAN LEADS GOP

Brennan polled 1,940 votes to outdistance a field of eight Republican candidates. His closest opponent was Gregory M. Pillion with 1,597 votes. Pillion was the Republican nominee in the district's preceding two elections.

Both CIO and AFL units backed Dingell.

The unofficial count put the turnout at 34,419 of the 102,000 qualified voters in the district. The turnout was approximately 23 per cent higher than some forecasts.

The combined Democratic vote was 85 per cent of the total. In (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

UF Commercial Division Tops Quota for First Time

This year's Pontiac Area United Fund drive chalked up another first yesterday.

Late returns pushed the Commercial Division over its quota for the initial time in the local UF's history.

The drive reached its $562,175 goal on its final day last Thursday, marking the first year a time extension was not necessary.

The Commercial Division's total is now $148,597, or 102.1 per cent of quota. H. Wayne Gabert, the division's chairman, termed the success "really the climax of several years of groundwork by Pontiac business leaders."

"This year we had an outstanding volunteer team," he stated. "Their enthusiasm and hard work, along with the exceptional generosity shown by everyone in the Pontiac-Waterford business world, brought about this record-breaking total."

Gabert gave special credit to his co-chairmen: Addison K. Oakley, Harry J. Woodman, B. Ralph Eastridge, Dr. George N. Petroff, E. J. Novak and Robert A. Sutton. Employees of Pontiac hospitals exceeded their 1954 contributions, late figures show. Workers at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital gave $2,075; Pontiac General, $1,808 and Pontiac State, $2,953.

Fight Snarls Up State Program for Mentally Ill

Oakland TB San and Farmington Institution
Are Focal Points

LANSING (U)—The Michigan Legislature is tangled in the most fantastic snarl in its history over the purchase of two local hospitals for mentally retarded children.

Rep. Ed Carey of Detroit, the Democratic floor leader, summed it up: "We've been stopped on dead center for a week and can't seem to get off."

For the third successive day, the House and Senate staggered until midnight last night trying to solve a bitter inter-chamber fight and failed in a 13-hour session that got more fantastic as it went along.

The fight was simple: Shall the state buy the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium for about two million dollars and the Farmington Children's Hospital for $750,000?

The Senate says no by a heavy majority and the House, backed by Gov. Williams, says yes by the narrow margin of three votes on a bipartisan split.

Last night's session witnessed the unprecedented sight of a governor going on the Senate floor to argue with Republican leaders and try to pin them down to a commitment to buy the two institutions if an appraisal showed they were good values.

The session also presented the unique sight of the House taking one vote which lasted six hours—from 5 p.m. until 11 p.m.

It saw the Senate overrule its president, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, in a seldom-used appeal from the chair's decision and it saw the Senate majority ram through a rule change under gag rule to prevent the Democratic minority from forcing a session if the majority decided to recess instead of adjourning and thus prevent Gov. Williams from calling a third special session this month.

Both houses have agreed on a program which would provide for 1,750 more beds for 1,221 mentally retarded children awaiting admission to state hospitals. Gov. Williams originally asked for 1,450.

But a coalition of House Democrats and Republican "Young Turks" has stood fast since last week in its determination the state (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

U.S. May Seek Arms Embargo

Prohibition by Security Council Could Alleviate Middle East Tensions

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Egypt charges Washington's "postponement and promises" on requests for arms forced her to buy weapons from the Communists.

WASHINGTON (U)—The New York Herald Tribune said the United States was giving top-level consideration to asking the U. N. Security Council to embargo all arms shipments to the Middle East.

This was said to be one reason why Washington is reluctant to sell arms quickly to Israel to match Egyptian purchases from Czechoslovakia.

The embargo plan was said to have been worked out in consultation with Britain and France in Geneva and the three Western capitals.

The Herald Tribune said the Soviet Union likely would veto the embargo proposal in the Security Council but that such action would "expose Russia to the world as a munitions merchant bent on gambling with the lives and security of millions of people."

In Geneva, the United States and Britain were reported arranging high level talks within 48 hours to chart their next moves against Russia's diplomatic offensive in the Middle East.

Democrats Show Gains in Municipal - State Elections

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (U)—Democrats cemented the foundation for a 1956 challenge to the Republicans in critical Midwest and Atlantic Coast areas with some upset victories in municipal and state elections yesterday.

In Indiana, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut the Democrats rolled to telling victories in local balloting that would give them organizational strength in former GOP strongholds for next year's congressional and presidential elections.

They placed A. B. (Happy) Chandler back in the governor's chair in Kentucky by a surprisingly solid margin after the Democratic split over his nomination. Chandler's thumping defeat of his Republican opponent in a state that President Eisenhower lost by only 700 votes in 1952 gave Republicans there little comfort.

A slashing Democratic strong-holds in Indiana seemed to substantiate to some extent the Democrats' contention there is discontent in the farm belt, even in predominantly GOP states. Republicans could attribute to local issues their losses of such cities as Indianapolis, South Bend, Hammond, Muncie, Michigan City, Marion, New Castle, Bloomington and even Elwood, birthplace of the late Wendell L. Willkie. But Democrats contended the small town and even big city reaction to falling farm prices contributed to their victories.

In Pennsylvania, the Democrats retained the Philadelphia mayor's office, electing Richardson Dilworth by a wide margin. Dilworth succeeds Mayor Joseph S. Clark Jr., who didn't seek reelection but is primed to run next year against Republican Sen. James H. Duff.

Their failure to beat their way back into power in Philadelphia, where they had held sway for 67 years before Clark arrived on the scene, disappointed Republicans who hoped to make the city a rallying point of support in next year's campaigns.

American Buys Jet Transports

Airlines Order 30 New Passenger Planes for Transcontinental Use

WASHINGTON (U) — American Airlines announced last night it has ordered 30 Boeing 707 jet transports for about 135 million dollars.

The first of the 4½-million-dollar planes will be delivered in March, 1959, and American will inaugurate the nation's first domestic transcontinental jet service June 15 that year, American's President C. R. Smith said.

The big jets, carrying 164 to 155 passengers depending upon the seating arrangements, will start operating on the heavily traveled New York - Chicago - Los Angeles and New York - Los Angeles nonstop routes, Smith said.

Cruising at 575 miles an hour, they will cut some flight times almost in half. For example, the flight from Los Angeles to New York will take 4½ hours, three hours less than now required for American's DC7s, and the flight from Chicago to New York will take an hour and 25 minutes, slicing a full hour off the DC7's time.

American has been a major user of Douglas Aircraft equipment, and its choice of the Boeing over the Douglas DCS came as something of a surprise to the aviation industry.

Storm Drain Construction Tabled by Commission

The City Commission last night tabled indefinitely the controversial construction of a storm drain in the block bounded by Glendale, Menominee, Genesee and Telegraph.

House, Senate Feud Over Two Hospitals

shall buy the Oakland and Farmington hospitals. They contend the 1,750-bed program will take too long to get going.

The fight reached its tense peak when a second House-Senate conference committee — in addition to two last week — finally agreed on a compromise which eliminated purchase of the two hospitals but provided $100,000 to obtain plans for a new 2,500-bed hospital for southeastern Michigan.

The Senate accepted the compromise but only after the chamber on a strict partisan vote had overruled the House's ruling that the $100,000 grant could not be included because it was not part of the original dispute.

In the House, the Republican leaders suspected, with the roll call almost completed, that they did not have enough votes to beat the coalition.

They lit up, with the voting machine still up like a Christmas tree, until 11 p.m. and finally conceded defeat. During that time they recalled Speaker Wade Van Valkenburg from Kalamazoo and other lawmakers from as far away as Dearborn.

The leadership was beaten 53-54, with 56 votes needed to solve the fight.

At this point, Van Valkenburg and Rep. Harry J. Phillips (Port Huron) asked Williams to help arrange a compromise.

They said that Williams, in a closed conference, agreed to let the session recess until Nov. 29 while the Legislature obtained independent appraisals of the worth of the two hospitals.

Sen. Creighton R. Coleman (R-Battle Creek), chairman of the Republican caucus, said, "We don't like this delay, and we don't understand it, but I guess we'll have to go along to save the program. The governor can have 1,750 new beds tonight. Why won't he take them?"

"Why does he want to delay this by supporting five Republicans (Young Turks) in the House? It looks like the governor is trying to put the Republicans on the rack by this division."

At this point, Williams appeared on the House floor, surrounded by his advisers, and apparently was urged by Carey to demand a definite commitment from the Senate before accepting a recess.

Williams strode over to the Senate, trailing newsmen and aides and legislators like a comet, and engaged in debate in the Senate aisle with Republican leaders.

He said there was no sense to obtaining an appraisal unless the Senate would agree to act favorably on it.

"We can't give you that," retorted Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Farmington).

Sen. John Minnema (R-Traverse City) asked Williams: "What's wrong with putting into effect the program we all agree on and settling the purchase of these two hospitals later? Why do we have to hold up the whole program?"

Williams did not reply, but asked Hutchinson, "Are you willing to tell the people you aren't interested in finding more beds for these children?"

It appeared likely that either house might start new bills through the voting process in an attempt to obtain a compromise, many members saying they would not quit without an agreement.

Bond Authority to Be Presented

County Supervisors Set to Discuss Finance Plan for Courthouse

Articles to incorporate an authority to issue revenue bonds and supervise construction of a new courthouse and office building are slated for presentation to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors tomorrow.

The Board will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the office building at 1 Lafayette St.

The county would pay rental for the building to the authority which would use the money to retire the bonds. When the bonds were retired building would revert to the county.

Special Building Committee Chairman Harold K. Schone, of Oak Park, said today he has no definite plans to bring up a Pontiac Chamber of Commerce proposal that a ten-story courthouse be erected in downtown Pontiac instead of the planned three-story structure in the service center off North Telegraph road.

"The authority incorporation is a move apart from site selection," he explained.

Airplane Crash Probed by FBI

Study of Victims' Lives to Be Made of Colorado Plane Explosion

DENVER (U) — The FBI is believed to have started a systematic check into the lives of each of the 41 victims of a United Air Lines crash at Longmont, Colo.

The Civil Aeronautics Board asked the Federal Bureau of Investigation for full-fledged assistance yesterday in probing whether sabotage was to blame for the Nov. 1 disaster.

Meanwhile, a postal inspector released a report which supported a government investigator's disclosure that a "bomb-type explosion" appeared to have caused the crash.

R. B. Dunbar, Denver postal inspector, reported some of the mail carried by the plane was fragmented and torn "as though by some violent force."

He said 400 pounds of mail was recovered from an area stretching 8½ miles north and south and 4 miles east and west, indicating the mail was blown out of the airliner high in the air.

Four Are Arraigned on Gambling Counts

Four persons pleaded innocent yesterday when arraigned in Municipal Court on charges brought after a raid by the Pontiac Police Vice Squad Monday.

Sam Guthrie, 54, of 100 Jackson St., was charged with possession of an unregistered gun. He was also charged with occupying a house for gambling, as was his wife, Lillian, 46.

Wesley Williams, 59, of 110 Jackson St., was charged with possession of policy slips, and Jessie Tiller, 50, of 106 Jackson St., was charged with loitering in a gambling place.

All were released on bond after Judge Cecil McCallum scheduled Tiller to be tried on Dec. 1 and the others to be examined Nov. 30.

Sylvan Lake Resident Injured in Explosion

Injured in a water tank explosion in his Sylvan Lake home last night, Roland Lathrop of 1471 Benvenue St. was treated for torn ligaments and released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Sylvan Lake police said the explosion occurred when the automatic cut-off on Lathrop's water pumping system failed to operate. Accumulated pressure first blew off the safety valve of the hot water tank, at which point Lathrop descended into the basement to investigate, and then ripped out the end of the cold water tank.

Five Member History Group Named by City

Pontiac's first Historical Commission was named by the City Commission last night. Named to the five-man board were Harry Goring, five years; Mrs. N. H. Balz, four years; Richard Poole, three years; Mrs. Donald E. Adams, two years, and the Rev. S. D. Govins, one year.

The new commission will collect and preserve material relating to the history of Pontiac and is empowered "to procure and preserve narratives of the early pioneers, their exploits, perils, privations and achievements."

Terms for the new commission members will begin Jan. 1.

Troy Racetrack Talks Postponed

Delay Will Allow Time for Transcript Study, Inglis Says

State Racing Commission hearings on a track franchise in Troy Township, scheduled to resume tomorrow, have been postponed until Monday.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Wilbur DeYoung said Commissioner James H. Inglis ordered the delay to give his staff more time to review the transcript of previous hearings.

The current hearings, which were adjourned Oct. 31, have centered around the part two Troy officials had in obtaining options on the track site at 14-Mile Rd. and John R.

One of the officials has since been fired by the township. DeYoung said he has been assured by Michigan Thoroughbred Club attorney Joseph J. Marshall that three club officials will appear Monday to tell their knowledge of the land acquisition deals.

The men are Edward Rosenberg, treasurer; Sidney Berman and Dr. Jack I. Winshall, all of Detroit.

Court Turns Down Sewer Tie-Up Plan

contract setting up rates Waterford pays the city for certain types of construction and cited a contract clause stating, "For the connection of any classification not mentioned above, the amount of charge to be agreed upon by the city and township before connecting."

Neither party claimed a shopping center was included in any of the rate classifications, Judge Black stated. He held that the contract was violated because no rate was agreed on before the connection was made.

"Pontiac . . . is possessed of lawful right, regardless of . . . amount of sewage flowing from the shopping center, to maintain that it will not receive and treat (the center's) sewage unless and until due agreement is reached on the amount of charge for connection."

In deciding the line would constitute an enlargement, Judge Black said Waterford had alleged a new line laid in a public street would be an enlargement, but not one in private property as the center's is.

"Here we have a sanitary sewer designed to carry a disposal burden far in excess of that imposed by an ordinary subdivision or residences . . . No expert is required to perceive that it would take quite a subdivision . . . to provide an equal treatment burden."

NEED CITY CONSENT
Yet, he points out, a street line serving a subdivision admittedly requires city consent. "Whereas the Pontiac Shopping Center connection, simply because it is constructed in private property, does not (require consent) according to defendants."

If Waterford were right, said the judge, Pontiac would have to receive "an unlimited quantity of township sewage discharged from the private property of any business or industry . . . constructed and carried on . . ."

The judge added that fraud on Waterford's part "was neither pleaded, properly at least, nor proved" and it was not established that the center's sewage would actually overburden the city's plant.

The planned center's building would be 975 by 150 feet. The cost of the whole project is estimated at $2,500,000.

"The Pontiac Shopping Center Inc. has decided to take an appeal to the State Supreme Court immediately following formal filing of the decree," said Waterford Township Attorney John W. Bell.

Teh township will consider joining in the appeal at a board meeting Nov. 21, Bell stated.

Menees, McRae Win City Council Positions; Incumbent Evans Out

Two new members were elected to the Sylvan Lake City Council yesterday.

Robert S. Menees, of 1535 Maplewood, received 377 votes to head the list of four candidates. Capturing the second seat on the five-man council was Willard L. McRae, of 1668 Inverness, with 360 votes.

Incumbent Robert L. Evans, of 1786 Lakeland, who is just completing his first term, failed in a bid for re-election. He received 113 votes. Alan Cady, of 1723 Beverly, got 100 votes.

Menees and McRae will serve three-year terms.

The official canvass of the election will be held by the council Monday night, said City Manager Ernest L. Elmer. A total of 481 votes were cast, he reported.

A mayor and mayor pro-tem will be selected by the council at an organizational meeting Wednesday night.

HUBBARD RE-ELECTED
Dearborn re-elected Mayor Orville Hubbard to his eighth straight two-year term in the Detroit suburb's municipal election.

Final unofficial figures gave Hubbard well over a two-to-one majority over Ray F. Parker, an ex-councilman.

With all the city's 103 precincts reported, Hubbard swept to victory with 21,063 votes to Parker's 8,961.

Six of the seven candidates backed by Hubbard for council seats were elected. Incumbents Municipal Judge George T. Murphy and Associate Judge John T. McWilliams were re-elected. Both were opposed by Hubbard.

State Senator Patrick J. Doyle defeated Hubbard-supported George C. Ricamore for the seventh council seat.

Utica Hires Lawyer to Study Water Fee

UTICA (U) — The Utica Council voted last night to employ an attorney to investigate a $300 fee collected by Councilman George Albrecht in connection with Utica's recent water pollution emergency.

Albrecht walked out of the meeting when a proposal was brought up to have special counsel determine whether he violated the city charter by accepting the fee.

The five remaining councilmen and Mayor Donald R. Havel then supported the proposal.

Albrecht accepted the fee for extra duties performed during the emergency. City Attorney George Roberts advised the council he could find no grounds for legal action against Albrecht since the fee was not drawn from city money.

Salk Polio Vaccine Ready for 7-10 Year Old Children

Salk polio vaccine is now available to inoculate second, third, fourth and fifth grade students in the 7 through 10 year age bracket, Dr. John D. Monroe, medical director of Pontiac and Oakland County Health Departments, announced today.

Eligibility cards are being prepared for distribution through the schools this week. Parents are advised to take these blue cards to their private physician and arrange an appointment for the child.

If the parents do not wish the vaccine to be given by a private physician, the card should be returned to school by Nov. 13. Clinics for these children will be established as soon as possible, Dr. Monroe said.

Previously, 30,000 cards were distributed to kindergarten and first grade students in the schools, and the health department has

Municipal Building Heads to Control Civil Defense

BIRMINGHAM—The shaky foundation on which Birmingham's civil defense program has found itself resting for several years may this week have found the verbal mortar it needed to right itself again.

On Monday the City Commission passed a civil defense ordinance, placing the greater part of disaster control responsibility on the shoulders of Municipal Building department heads, who will call on volunteer help only when the need arises.

This differs from past methods where volunteers were relied on heavily but where interest, because of inactivity, waned noticeably.

"Civil defense is certainly nothing we're going to see the end of and there is only so much training a volunteer can go through," explained Assistant City Manager Dana Whitman, hence the nucleus of CD organization can be maintained through municipal personnel and a few key volunteers.

Whitman, who is also director of civil defense, said a disaster control plan, when approved by the commission, will be distributed to those responsible for carrying out standard operating procedure in time of man-made or natural disaster.

It will be the mayor's duty to see that the overall plan is carried out, with other officials specifically named to order the plan into effect in his absence.

In outlining future plans, Whitman said municipal personnel will be supplemented with volunteers as necessary, a control post will be established in the Municipal Building and consideration will be given to a warning system, additional radio equipment and the distribution of brochures to residents.

A word of warning to residents comes from Charles Mortensen, Chamber of Commerce manager, who asks that householders:

"Use caution in dealing with door to door salesmen and solicitors.

"Examine credentials, don't sign anything until you have read it carefully and understand it, avoid 'secret hurry-up' deals, avoid goods offered on sympathy appeals and don't pay for anything until you get it and are satisfied with it."

Birmingham Travel Service will open its winter film series at 8 p.m. tomorrow, following the weekly semi-buffet dinner at the Community House. Open to the public, the first film showing will be, "High Road to the Orient." Literature on the Orient will also be distributed.

Reservations for the dinner served between 6 and 8 p.m., must be made by noon tomorrow.

Although Book Week doesn't begin until next week, a two-week book fair is being held at Baldwin Library, Starting Monday, Children's Librarian Kathleen Pickett and Mrs. Charles Burch, assistant, have been serving as hostesses to youngsters in five elementary school classrooms daily.

First, the children hear a short talk on Book Week and brief reviews of the 1954 Caldecott and Newbery book award winners.

Following this, they may browse through the new books on display. A free reserve is placed on any book a child is particularly interested in, and Miss Pickett said they will begin sending notices out in two weeks so that pupils will know when their book is to be available.

Church members and representatives have been invited to an organizational meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the YMCA, when plans will be made for joint sponsorship of a church basketball league. Sponsored by the Y and Council of Churches, the league will begin practice Nov. 21 and continue each Monday night.

Some SUBPOENAED
"Some of them are reluctant to come at all," the aide said, adding that a number had to be subpoenaed.

The subcommittee yesterday heard Quinn assail GM as "entirely too big" and took testimony from economists on the concentration of production in the automobile industry.

Donald A. Moore, professor of economics at Michigan State University, said the number of companies had dwindled from 88 in 1921 to six at present. General Motors now produces about half of all the cars turned out by the six.

Moore said the franchisees under which most retail car dealers operate are "peculiarly one-sided" documents with all the advantages accruing to the manufacturer.

He said many dealers complain of being forced to take too high quotas of cars, but added there is "nothing to stop" this practice.

Highland Voters Reject Zoning

Ordinance Is Defeated by Close Margin in Election

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — For the second time in two years Highland Township residents have turned down a zoning ordinance for the community by a close margin of 36 votes.

At a special election held yesterday at the township hall and at 3538 Duck Lake Rd., electors voted 258 Yes and 294 No on the proposed zoning ordinance previously adopted by the Highland Township Board.

In the meantime the township is operating under an interim zoning law which must be renewed each year. This ordinance provides that individuals must get permission from the board before they may operate a motel or have more than two trailers on one lot. Louis Oldenberg is chairman of the board.

Of the 1,735 registered voters who live in the 36 square mile area, only 552 votes were cast at yesterday's election. In a report from the Detroit Edison Co. there are approximately 3600 dwellers in Highland Township.

After last night's returns were counted, Lewis Sanderson, chairman of the Zoning Board had this to say: "Basically, it is a very good ordinance, but because of some parts that were objectionable to some people, it was defeated."

Record entries are predicted by Exposition officials in many divisions by the time a final tally of all exhibits is made. It will fill to capacity the 10-acre International Amphitheater, now the country's largest exhibition building.

Polled Herefords will be seen in competition for the first time at the International this year—the showing of this breed having been designated the national show of the American Polled Hereford Association.

"It's almost like having a doctor in the house!"

"We wouldn't be without Ben-Gay in our house," says Mrs. Ben-Gay of Frattburg, New York. "Through the years, Ben-Gay has relieved an awful lot of aches and pains for our family — from strained muscles to tired, aching feet. It's comforting to know that such a marvelous pain-reliever is right there in the cabinet when it's needed."

Millions of people agree with Mrs. Ben-Gay. They rely on BEN-GAY for fast, welcome relief from sore, aching muscles. You may have tried other pain-relieving products, but here's how BEN-GAY is different... why it's so amazingly effective! It contains up to two and one half times more of two famous pain-relieving agents than any of five other widely offered rub-ins. Here's how BEN-GAY's two-way, pain-relieving action works: First, extra blood is brought coursing up through the affected area. Second, a pain-deadening action starts at once. Yes, for fast, blessed relief, get BEN-GAY! Rub in BEN-GAY... rub pain away!

Ann Arbor Police to Quit Individually

ANN ARBOR (INS) — The 38 Ann Arbor police officers who submitted resignations last Friday, then withheld them at the request of the police commissioner, now have decided to submit them on an individual basis.

Detective Harry Gensler, president of the newly formed Ann Arbor Police Officers Association, said after a meeting of the group last night:

"We have decided that any resignations will be submitted on an individual basis. We don't want anyone to feel that a minority is being pressured by other officers."

The officers submitted their resignations when the city budget committee voted them a pay raise which was far less than what the policemen had requested.

The resignations would have been effective Nov. 18, the eve of the Michigan-Ohio State football game which is expected to bring a crowd of 97,000 persons to Ann Arbor.

Kalamazoo Gets Bigger

KALAMAZOO — Three suburbs of Kalamazoo voted to annex to the city. The three are Millwood, the Henderson Park Terrace area, and South Westside. Annexations are to take effect at midnight Dec. 31. The action increases the city population, based on 1950 census figures, from 57,000 to 71,000.

5 Kentucky Children Die in House Fire

HAZARD, Ky. (AP)—Five children, their ages ranging from four to 14, were burned to death when fire swept their home in this mountain town just before last midnight.

The dead, children and grandchildren of former Sheriff and Mrs. Justice Begley:

Ellen Kay Begley, 14; Phyllis Begley, 9; Susan Begley, 7; Yvonne Ritchie, 6, and Vicki Ritchie, 4.

A neighbor detected the blaze but was unable to arouse anyone inside the building before issuing an alarm.

The Begleys were watching Kentucky election results in the downtown area.

Firemen were having trouble putting out the blaze because of low water pressure.

It was believed the fire started from a heating stove.

Army Facing Supreme Court Ruling Which May Release Five Turncoats

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Army faced a Supreme Court ruling today which may mean exoneration for five ex-prisoners of war accused of giving information and aid to the enemy.

The Army said the court's 6-3 ruling in the case of Robert Toth of Pittsburgh has a "direct bearing" on the five pending cases including those of three turncoat POW's who returned from Red China last summer.

Toth, accused of murdering a South Korean civilian, was not arrested until after his discharge from the Air Force in December, 1952.

The high tribunal ruled in effect that the military services lack the authority to court martial a discharged serviceman for any crime committed while in the service.

The Army is studying the Supreme Court's opinion, handed down yesterday, before it decides what it will do about the five former POW's. It refused to say whether the three turncoats will be exonerated.

The three are Otho Bell, Hillsboro, Miss.; William C. Cowart, Dalton, Ga., and Lewis W. Griggs, Jacksonville, Tex. The other two ex-POW's are former Pvt. John D. Martin of Tule Lake, Calif., and ex-Master Sgt. Edward C. Kirby of Council Bluffs, Iowa. Both were accused of giving information to the enemy in Korea.

Army legal experts have already decided that the court's opinion has no bearing on the cases of nine other ex-POW's convicted by court martial of aiding the enemy. The Army said none of these men was discharged before charges were brought against them.

Cowart, Griggs and Bell decided to stay with the Chinese Communists after other POW's were repatriated at the end of the Korean war.

They later changed their minds about wanting to return to the U. S. and were brought back to this country last summer under State Department auspices and given dishonorable Army discharges.

In San Francisco, an attorney for the trio said the Federal District Court there will be "petitioned immediately" to grant writs of habeas corpus on their behalf. The purpose of the writs is to win immediate freedom for the three men, now awaiting court martial in San Francisco.

Attorney Hard C. Brown, one of several attorneys defending the trio, said the high court's action "mean trial for the three in civil courts—if at all."

Yank Laundry Dampens Europe's Spirits

By PHYLLIS BATTLE
FRANKFURT (INS) — Europe is facing many distressing problems in this troubled time. Not the least of these is the mass invasion of European bathrooms by American-made, easy-wash, drip-dry under garments.

These unmentionables are mentioned quite frequently here. In hurt, angry tones.

"Ven it vus just stockings ma-dame vashed, it vos not so bad," mourned a Frankfurt hotel official. "But now it iss shirts, skirts, coats, hats, sleepink clothes and everyting."

He hovered tragically over an antique oak dresser. "Iss no goot now, from being hungover with wet tings."

This particular hostelry keeper is not the most horrified specimen in Europe by a long shot. The word "nylon" has chilled sensitive hotel men clean across Europe for five years, and "dacron" and "orlon" are beginning to be said with the curled lip, as well.

But the reason this particular man is so particularly miffed is that his bathrooms are among the continent's most magnificent. And if there is anything more magnificent than even a rather modest European bath, one would be far too busy ogling it to get one's teeth brushed.

WATERY WRITING

Take the one in which I am now writing, for instance. I am seated at a delightful marble-topped table (many European columnists claim they write in the bathtub itself, but the lapping of water seems to distract me.)

Approximately 20 yards to my right is the bathtub, which is large enough to be swum in by persons up to age 10; and within easy reaching distance is the white telephone, for tub-time calls.

There is no open fireplace in this bathroom — a European feature I'm most taken to — but there are heated holders, of course, to keep the 8x10-foot Turkish towels warm.

In height, the room is an unspectacular 15 feet, but in diameter it is plenty big enough for a 12-man poker game or three tables of bridge.

Two spacious wash basins, for "him" and "her" or for "face and hands" if you're traveling alone, are conveniently located next to the dainty powder table for cotton balls and cologne.

"You can see all zis heaped up wis wet tings?" clucked the man as he showed me in. "Please, madam, beg zem to stop."

The greatest insult of all is bestowed upon his hotel when gentlemen do their own dainties in his sublime bathrooms. Men are new at this home laundry game and it seems they not only splash water and soap flakes on walls and floors, but they tend also to hang their shirts and shorts in the bedroom—thus carrying the tragedy over a far broader area.

'TOO EMBARRASS'

To add to his despair, the house-keepers would not dare suggest to a man that he send his laundry out, or at least confine it to the hotel help grieves. I might say, at some of those prices they can afford to.

But on the other hand, I don't want to carry this nylon nonsense too far, for they might get irritated enough to redesign their bathrooms to American scale.

And then tourists could never have the thrill of simultaneously phoning their friends and doing a dead man's float.

Ethiopia currently is expanding its airfields with a 24 million dollar loan from the Export-Import Bank of Washington.

Be Willing to Compromise in Work

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Most of us learn, as we move through life, the value of compromise—at least, in little things. For instance, we may dislike our autumn wardrobe and wish we could burn every rag of it and start from scratch. Instead, just add a few things, doll up some old basic dresses and emerge with a perfectly satisfactory wardrobe.

Yet, vocationally speaking, we may be unwilling to compromise; we may insist on the rash move. And it's usually a mistake.

For example, Miriam is a girl who has worked for the same company for nine years. She began as a clerk in the bookkeeping department and is now an assistant bookkeeper.

However, she hates bookkeeping and has her heart set on some kind of writing. She has taken many evening courses in writing, mostly business and non-fiction articles and correspondence. She does well in it and is increasingly unhappy at the bookkeeping.

THEY SAID "NO"

She once requested, very tentatively and as if she were just toying with the idea, a chance at a writing job with her company. They said no, so she never brought the subject up again.

Miriam told me yesterday that she was going to resign and go elsewhere in search of a writing job. But it will be a big mistake.

In the first place, with nine years of straight bookkeeping experience behind her, she will find it next to impossible to get a writing job.

And in the second place, it is entirely possible that she can work out some kind of compromise where she is.

The firm evidently knows and likes her work and she does have a good knowledge of the company and its products. But, like anyone else, the personnel director is not anxious to be inconvenienced. He does not want to exchange a perfectly good bookkeeper for a raw writer, untrained and pretty much a pig in a poke.

So Miriam's course, it seems to me, is a compromise.

THE FIRST STEP

Her first step would be to make it really clear to the personnel department that she will not remain forever in straight bookkeeping, but that she would infinitely prefer to stay with this company rather than leave.

If they know how seriously she feels about the work, but at the same time are convinced of her loyalty to the firm, they will take her request more seriously and not write it off as a temporary whim.

Then, she must offer to do some writing on the side for them—credit letters, perhaps or a new form letter for slow payers, or some kind of writing which is tied in with her bookkeeping.

She must be willing to do it on the side, on her own time, to prove that she means business.

If she does it well, the chances are she will be given more of it to do, until half her time is spent on bookkeeping and the rest in writing.

After that, the sky is the limit. She may even be transferred eventually to a straight writing job. (Copyright 1955)

Here Are Tips for Making New Slipcovers

If you're planning to make a new set of slipcovers, take a tip from a lady professor and do it the easy way.

Prof. Marion Fry of the University of Rhode Island advises that zippers first should be placed in a single strip of cloth and then attached to the rest of the boxing.

She says since you are working with one flat piece, rather than a number of attached pieces of material, it is a much easier process. Here's how:

After determining the width of boxing (strip of cloth that fastens the top and bottom pieces of the cushion together) cut a strip of material as long as the zipper tape, and two inches wider than the boxing.

Cut the strip of material in two, lengthwise, and make a one inch seam lengthwise, combining the two pieces of material. Use the largest stitch possible on your sewing machine—making a basting stitch which can be pulled out easily later.

Press the seam open. Place the zipper right side up, to the underside of the seam, with the center of the zipper matching the center of the seam.

Pin the zipper in place. Stitch (from the right side) one-half inch from the center of the seam on both sides of the zipper—about 12 stitches to the inch. It may be well to stitch from top to bottom to avoid any uneven tension of the fabric.

Remove machine basting by pulling on underthread. Test the zipper to see that it works smoothly. Fasten one end of boxing (containing zipper) to the main piece of boxing, and then fasten the whole strip to the top and bottom cushion pieces.

Get Radiator Out of Way if Decorating

The best way to paint or paper a wall in back of a radiator or to refinish the section of floor under the radiator is to get the radiator out of the way.

The best way to do this is to disconnect the radiator and then move it.

The best time to disconnect a radiator is when the boiler is off and you won't be needing heat for a few hours.

If you have a hot water system, draw enough water from the boiler to get the water out of the radiator. Now turn the radiator shut-off valve closed and loosen the coupling next to the radiator that connects it to the steam or hot water pipe.

For this job you'll need a pretty fair size monkey wrench—a Sisson wrench is not so good because it will scar the union nut.

After this union has been disconnected, for the radiator from the boiler, slip a piece of old rag or cloth under each leg and then slide the radiator out of the way.

Connecting the radiator back into the system is quite simple. Move it back into position and use small wedges under the legs, if necessary, so that the union lines up perfectly with the pipe coming out of the floor.

Run the nut up as tight as you can by hand and then give it a few turns with the wrench.

While you have the radiator out of the way it's a good idea to flush it out to remove any sediment from the inside.

This will prevent it giving off odors when the radiator is hot. If you plan to paint the radiator this is the time to do it because it's never as easy to paint a radiator as when you can get at it from every side.

Pumps Varying Style Design

Time was when pumps had a lot in common with the Model-T Ford. They came in black, and the same shoe had to do for all occasions. Today pumps are still with us—more than ever as a matter of fact—but with a difference. They're tailored pumps, casual pumps and ultra-feminine formal pumps.

Each one is designed for a specific occasion in new, exciting leathers, constructed with a light, airy feeling, soft as the barest sandal.

If jutting elbows, bony neckline—

The new longer sleeves, higher necklines, necklaces that frame the throat, should conceal any bony spots.

Soft wool or crepe street dresses with fitted three-quarter or full-length sleeves, and cocktail dresses too with long fitted sleeves, typify the slim and easy silhouette. Necklaces sit at base of throat to cover thinness.

Regional Planner to Address YWCA

Paul Reed, Detroit metropolitan regional planning commissioner, will speak at an open meeting of YWCA members, their husbands and friends Thursday at 12:30 p.m. His topic will be "The Emerging Metropolitan Community."

The meeting is open to the public. Dessert and coffee will be served, according to Mrs. Myron L. Buck, membership chairman.
