AFL-CIO Warns Teamsters to Drop Hoffa

Faubus Snubs Subpoena of Federal Court

Says U.S. Bench Can't Compel Chief Executive of State to Appear

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval Faubus today refused to appear as a witness in a federal court case involving four anti-integration acts passed by the 1957 Arkansas Legislature.

His rejection of a subpoena—on the ground that as chief executive of the state the federal court could not compel his appearance — gave a clue to his possible course of action tomorrow.

At that time he is scheduled to appear in the same court as a defendant in the government's petition for an injunction to prevent him from interfering further with integration at Little Rock Central High School.

At the hearing, government attorneys will ask U.S. District Judge Ronald N. Davies to issue a temporary injunction against Faubus.

If granted—and there is little doubt of that in Little Rock—it will command the governor to withdraw the National Guard from Central High School and open the doors for Negro students to enroll.

An informant highly placed in the state Democratic Party, however, said Faubus' attorneys will offer two motions first.

DEMAND FILES

He said they will ask Judge Davies to disqualify himself to hear the arguments.

And then, whether he does this or not, the source said, they will demand to see the secret FBI report on the situation in Little Rock prior to Sept. 3 when the high school opened for the fall term.

Faubus conferred most of yesterday with Rep. Hays (D-Ark), believed to be the chief link between the governor and the White House.

Hays was the intermediary in arranging last week's meeting between President Eisenhower and Faubus.

Two Department of Justice attorneys arrived last night to assist U.S. Dist. Atty. Orso Cobb in the hearing Friday.

Little Rock is quiet but tingling with expectancy as the showdown in court draws near.

Hope to Open Telegraph Relocation Around Oct. 15

Road Crews Race Weather at Underpass Project

Road crews are racing ahead with the Orchard Lake-Telegraph road underpass project hoping to complete the $876,866 project before cold weather arrives.

"If we don't have any bad breaks in the weather we hope to have traffic out of the present intersection and onto the Telegraph relocation around Oct. 15," said John A. Wills, road construction engineer for the State Highway Dept.

He added the work on the whole project was on schedule and should be completed as contracted by Dec. 15.

At present crews are tying in the new mile-long Telegraph relocation with the existing Telegraph (M58) at the southern end of the project, and working on the new Clinton River bridge to the north.

When north-south traffic is moved off M58, Wills said, work will begin on repaving the existing Telegraph-Orchard Lake intersection.

TEMPORARY CUTOFF

Claude Milroy, bridge construction engineer for the department, said traffic would be on the relocation, curving to the west of M58, before the Clinton River bridge is completed by Dec. 1. This will be made possible by a temporary cutoff just south of the bridge.

The $217,480 Orchard Lake bridge, which carries east-west traffic over the relocation, was completed and open to traffic in July.

Traffic has been slowed considerably as the four-lane, divided Telegraph relocation is linked to M58 near Rockwell Avenue in Bloomfield Township. It joins M58 at the north near James K boulevard in Pontiac, just north of the Clinton River.

Some .37 miles of widening of Orchard Lake is complete. It is dual, 22-foot-wide concrete pavement from Wellington Avenue in Bloomfield Township to Berkley Avenue, two blocks into Pontiac.

Officials said the Garland Avenue entrance to Sylvan Lake would be closed at the relocation, as it was not planned as an access to the new limited access road.

ORCHARD LAKE BRIDGE — This is the view you will have sometime after Oct. 15 as you drive north on the new Telegraph road relocation around the present Telegraph-Orchard Lake avenue intersection. Officials of the State Highway Dept. estimated that traffic might be using this divided four-lane road sometime next month before the new Clinton River bridge (not in the picture) is completed at its northern end. The entire Orchard Lake-Telegraph underpass project is expected to be completed by Dec. 15, officials say. The pavement in the foreground will take eastbound traffic off Orchard Lake and south on Telegraph.

Election Might Bring Automatic Union Expulsion

Parent Labor Group Cites 3 Other Leaders, Lack of Housecleaning

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — The AFL-CIO ethical practices committee has served notice on the giant Teamsters Union to purge itself of James R. Hoffa and other leaders or face expulsion from the house of labor.

This is the practical effect of a report by the committee severely castigating Hoffa and three other top Teamster officials and the union itself for not cleaning house.

Labor sources say that if the Teamsters go ahead and elect Hoffa as president, as appears likely, it will mean automatic expulsion from the AFL-CIO.

The committee accused Hoffa yesterday of sponsoring and promoting "the interests of notorious labor racketeers" to the disadvantage of his own union. It said a list of his friends reads like a "rogue's gallery."

The report goes to the AFL-CIO executive council for action at its meeting next Tuesday in New York. This is the same day the Senate Rackets Committee resumes hearings on Hoffa's activities as Teamster vice president, and less than a week before the AFL-CIO convention at Miami Sept. 30.

It is reported that despite snow-

Wilson Orders Additional Cut

Slash Atop of Reduction Made in July to Lower Strength by 200,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson today ordered an additional cut of 100,000 men in the armed services as promptly as possible but no later than next June 30.

This slash comes atop a similar reduction, ordered on July 16 and to be achieved by the end of December.

The two cuts, totaling 200,000 will reduce uniformed manpower to 2,600,000 by the end of June.

With some cuts already made, actual military strength on Aug. 31 was 2,789,700. Thus the armed forces must slash strength by 189,700 men to reduce the Aug. 31 total to the new, lower goal set by Wilson.

The apportioned cuts from the original 12,800,000 authorized strength are divided in this fashion: Army 100,000, Navy 30,000, Air Force 50,000 and Marine Corps 20,000.

Wilson gave the Marine Corps a little extra time to make its cut. Corps strength now stands at 199,500.

For the other services, the plan contemplates these goals for June 30:

Army now 990,000, dropping to 900,000; Navy now 678,000, dropping to 645,000; Air Force now 922,300, dropping to 875,000.

Wilson said in an announcement that the latest manpower slash had been approved by President Eisenhower.

Gets Back Purse With $22,706 in Bonds, Checks

A Bloomfield Township woman who lost $22,706 in U. S. Savings Bonds and checks had them returned yesterday by a saleswoman.

Mrs. Moyna Brigrand, 30, of 4050 Fairlane Dr., lost her purse Tuesday while shopping at the J. L. Hudson store in Northland.

The purse contained 21 $1,000 bonds belonging to her father, plus $1,706 in checks.

It was found by Mrs. Myona Kiefel, 33, who said she decided to return it in person since she had once lost a purse in a store and had not had it returned.

2 Soviet Ships Sail for Syria

On 'Friendship Mission' at Invitation of Leftists Heading Government

LONDON (AP)—Two Soviet warships sailed for Syria today on a "friendship" mission, taking a course that could bring them close to the U.S. 6th Fleet in the eastern Mediterranean.

Moscow radio announced last night that the cruiser Zhdanov and the destroyer Svobodny are heading for the Syrian port of Latakia at the invitation of the leftist government of Syria.

The Syrian government only last week charged U.S. warships made a provocative approach toward the Syrian coast. The U.S. Navy denied this.

The Soviet visit appeared to be a move to build Russian influence in the Mediterranean and bolster the Damascus regime.

It also appeared obvious the move was designed to counteract the 6th Fleet's cruise in the eastern Mediterranean. The U.S. fleet moved into the area after leftist army officers extended their control in Syria last month. The U.S. warships called at pro-Western Lebanon.

The Soviet vessels headed for Syria after a six-day visit to the Yugoslav port of Split.

Rush U. S. Chemists to Ontario to Help Mop Up Loose Cyanide

WHERE CYANIDE SPILLED — Drums of cyanide are scattered about after a truck was struck by a Canadian National train near Thamesville, Ont. Deadly pellets were spilled over a wide area.

THAMESVILLE, Ont. (AP)—Chemists from the United States were rushed to this western Ontario community today to help clean up 25,000 pounds of sodium cyanide which spilled along the Canadian National Railways tracks here early today following a train-truck collision.

The shipment was from a Du Pont plant in Niagara Falls, N.Y., and was passing through Ontario in bond bound for Detroit.

NO DANGER

A Du Pont of Canada spokesman in Toronto said there was no immediate danger to persons in the Thamesville area from the sodium cyanide because it does not give off lethal fumes.

He said rain, reported falling today on the spilled chemical, would not readily affect the chemical to make it dangerous. Its main danger was in drinking water, he said.

Police, civil defense workers, chemists and citizens pitched in early today to clean up the chemical.

The Du Pont spokesman said the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Co., parent of the Canadian firm, dispatched an official from Detroit early today to advise on cleanup operations. He said another Du Pont official, an expert in cyanide, was being sent from Niagara Falls.

DRIVER INJURED

Truck driver J. C. Sluder of Wayne, Mich., was injured when a CNR passenger train bound from Toronto to Windsor sliced into his tractor-trailer, owned by Truck Transport Co. Ltd., of Dearborn, Mich., at a crossing inside the village on Highway No. 2.

The trucker was taken to hospital in Chatham, 17 miles southwest, and later was reported suffering shoulder injuries. No one else was hurt.

For a time tense caution gripped this village of 1,100. Police blockaded the crossing and ordered all traffic to bypass the piles of the white chemical strewn some 100 yards along the railroad on the eastern edge of the community.

APPEALS TO PARENTS

The civil defense coordinator, Joseph Day, appealed to parents to keep their children away from school and far from the accident scene but later rescinded his

Major Charges Dismissed Against 2 Police Officers

In a dramatic verdict following an hour-long secret meeting last night, the Pontiac Civil Service Commission dismissed major charges against two veteran police officers accused of derelection of duty in the escape of a prisoner on Sept. 4.

The commission unanimously restored Det. Sgt. Raymond Meggitt and Det. Robert Emery to duty without loss of rank and with full back pay.

The officers were fined five leave days for "errors of judgment."

The commission's ruling said that the suspension order was "hastily drawn" and if the city manager had been available at the time the entire matter never would have come before the commission.

The crowd of more than 100 persons which filled the City Commission chambers at the city hall burst into applause as the verdict was read.

The officers thanked the commission for a "just decision" and pledged they would do their duty to the best of their abilities.

The verdict came after a tense waiting period while the commission, the two officers and their attorney and the city attorney met privately.

It was learned that in the se-

'Snark' Landed in 10-Yard Circle??

AF Denies Robot Bomber Crossed U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today denied that a Snark robot bomber flew from California to the Washington, D.C., area, landing in a precise 10-yard circle.

The Chicago Daily Tribune earlier had reported such a test flight as having been completed.

TEST MYSTERY

Richard E. Horner, assistant secretary of the Air Force in charge of research and development, said:

"I do not know of any such test and the Air Force would not conduct such a test over urban areas."

A Defense Department spokesman said such flights of the Snark would be made over populated areas only under combat conditions.

FLIGHT HUSHED UP

The Tribune, in a dispatch from Washington, said "the hushed-up transcontinental flight of some 3,000 miles was the first completely controlled long range missile run staged by the United States."

The Snark, it added, is capable of flying 5,000 miles to a target under precision guidance.

The article did not say when the flight took place, adding: "Defense and Air Force officials declined to confirm the Snark's historic crossing of the continent."

"In the recent flight the Snark was controlled to make a robot landing, although in actual warfare it would plunge toward the target with its exploding atomic warhead . . .

"The Snark . . . is a winged missile resembling a piloted bomber. It is powered by an Allison jet engine burning kerosene and can reach speeds of about 650 m.p.h. . . . The missile is 74 feet long, has a 42-foot wing and is 15 feet high."

The Air Force announced yesterday its first Snark squadron, numbering 500 officers and men, is rounding out its training in California and will be on duty with the Strategic Air Command before the end of this year. The base to which the squadron will be assigned will be announced later.

CARRIES WARHEAD

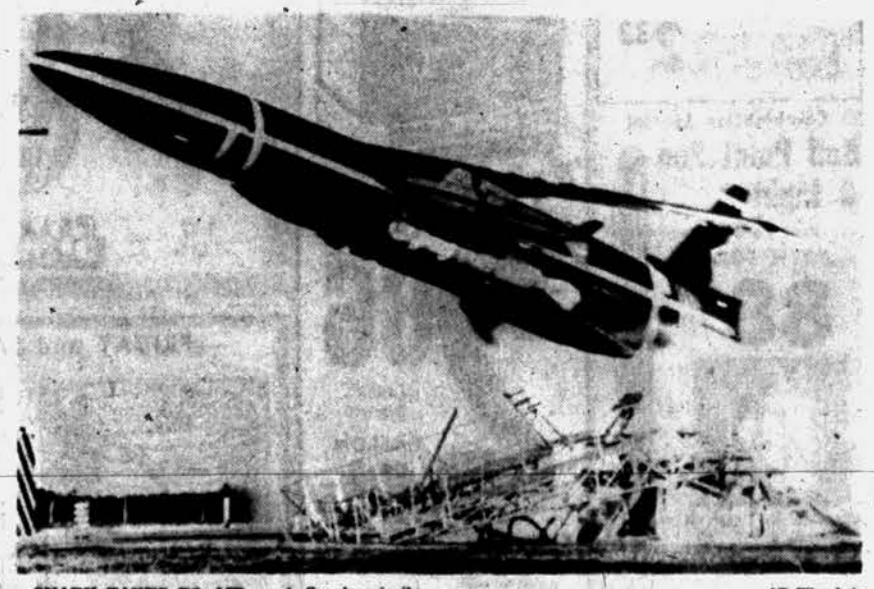

The Snark—esentially a pilotless bomber—is designed to carry a nuclear warhead 5,000 miles at about the speed of sound. This is much slower than the intercontinental ballistic missile.

But the Snark is expected to give the United States added long-range retaliatory capability while an ICBM is being developed. The Russians claim they already have successfully tested an intercontinental rocket.

Finnegan Rules Against Straley

Plaintiff Seeks Money for Projector seized in Recent Police Raid

Police Chief Herbert W. Straley yesterday was served with a judgment for $165 plus $4.45 costs signed by Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

The judgment was brought by a Kenneth M. Young who wants the money in lieu of a movie projector seized by the police department in a raid June 28.

The police arrested Young and several others at Young's residence, 197 Chippewa Rd., where he was showing obscene films at a stag party.

Young pleaded guilty and paid a $25 fine in municipal court, according to police records. But now he wants his projector back.

He secured a writ of replevin from Finnegan and served it on the chief who ignored it. Then he sought and got the judgment.

According to William Ewart, city attorney, the chief can either return the projector or face a garnishment of his wages. Ewart said he had no notice of the hassle until a copy of the judgment was served yesterday on the city.

"The city cannot be sued in municipal court," Ewart said, "but the chief can. He hasn't decided whether to return the projector or appeal to circut court. We have until Friday to decide."

Straley's position is that items used illegally and confiscated in a raid do not have to be returned. The judge thinks otherwise.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

Is it true that clouds rise higher at the equator than at the poles? If so, what is the reason for the difference?

Yes, it is true that the layer of gas surrounding the earth (in which we find all our weather) rises higher at the equator than at the poles. It fact, there is a very great difference.

Thunderheads in summer at the equator may reach up toward 50,000 feet, while clouds at the poles seldom rise half that high, in any season.

This is important weather knowledge for pilots, who can count on flying over clouds in the most northerly regions at all times.

The spinning of the earth (much faster at the middle) tends to "throw" the layer of gas further outward at the widest point, least at the poles, where the turning circle is so much smaller.

Megee Wins 4th Term as Head of Crippled Children Society

A vote of continued confidence was given to L. C. Megee, of Clarkston, last night by the board of directors of the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children when he was re-elected president of the group for the fourth consecutive year at the annual dinner meeting held in the Waldron Hotel.

The remaining slate of officers for one-year terms, was also filled by last year's officers.

Members felt Megee and his roster of officers were successful in leading the group to push for the new headquarters for the county's crippled children.

Ground-breaking ceremonies on the 300x300 foot site leased from the county in the Service Center on Telegraph road, are expected to be performed within the month.

William Bullock of Royal Oak, building committee chairman, reported the building would cost approximately $49,000.

A total of $8,046.42 was donated last night from county Rotary Clubs and individuals to the building fund.

The re-elected officers besides Megee include: William E. Bullock of Royal Oak, first vice president; Mrs. Fred H. Rollins Jr., of Birmingham, second vice president; Mrs. E. Verne McCall, of Pontiac, recording secretary; and R. C. Poole, of Pontiac, treasurer.

order and said it would be all right for children to go to school.

At daybreak, Police Chief Robert Letts said the situation was improving.

Chief Letts said police, acting on the advice of a chemist from the Dow Chemical Co. at Sarnia, ordered the poisonous debris—two and three feet deep in spots—shoveled into barrels and trucked away to be buried.

There were warnings that rain could turn the cyanide dust in the atmosphere into a lethal mist.

The Weather Bureau in Toronto forecast light rain for the area this afternoon. Winds would be about 15 miles an hour.

Lime was spread over the debris to neutralize the effects of the cyanide.

An early proposal to hose down the littered tracks was vetoed on the grounds the poison might find its way through sewers to the Thames River, contaminating the water supply of Chatham.

After burial was decreed the only safe disposal method, the volunteer crews went to work.

ducing 73 million dollars worth of Snarks. The new squadron is training at Hawthorne.

The difference between guided and ballistic missiles is mainly this: Guided missiles can be controlled throughout flight by electronic instruments operated at home bases. Ballistics missiles are aimed, like cannon, and are not guided from the ground during flight. They do, however, have built-in guidance mechanisms.

In its announcement about the new squadron, the Air Force said no Snarks will be fired from the operational base—"except in case of war." Any Snarks fired in training exercises will be launched from the missile test center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Air Force said.

The Air Force yesterday fired what was believed to be an intercontinental "Navaho" aerodynamics rocket from the top-secret East Coast testing range at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Teamsters Warned About Hoffa

balling opposition to Hoffa, he is still the heavy favorite to be elected to the post being vacated by Dave Beck and only possible shocking new disclosures by the rackets committee can prevent it.

Hoffa today refused to discuss the notice that the Teamsters get rid of him or face expulsion from the house of labor.

The committee report did not confine its severe criticism to Hoffa. It also singled out Beck, vice president Frank Brewster, and other officials and charged that the 1,400,000 - member union as a whole "has been and continues to be dominated or substantially influenced by corrupt influences."

ATTACKS BECK, BREWSTER

The committee asserted that Beck used union funds for personal purposes, made "calculated and systematic" use of his office for personal profit, "violated his judiciary duties as a union official and had callous disregard for union ethics."

It accused Brewster of using union funds for personal purposes and of engaging in improper activities with regard to welfare funds.

It also charged Hoffa used union funds for personal purposes and his union office for "personal profit and advantage."

In addition, the union was sharply criticized for not taking action against another vice president, Sydney L. Brennan, after his conviction in 1955 for taking a bribe from an employer to break a strike.

The five-man committee singled out for particular criticism Hoffa's association with New York racketeer Johnny Dio. It said the evidence "is overwhelming" that there was a close relationship and that Hoffa "must have known Dio's character, reputation and tactics."

A big passage of the AFL-CIO report was devoted to Hoffa's wife's profits from Test Fleet Corp., a company established to lease trucking equipment to Commercial Carriers, a trucking company with Teamsters labor contracts. Mrs. Hoffa and Mrs. Bert Brennan, wife of a Hoffa crony and Detroit Teamster official, realized $125,000 from the Test Fleet in three years.

HEADS LEGION — John S. Gleason Jr., a 42-year-old banker of Chicago, was elected today as the new national commander of the American Legion at the closing session of its 39th annual convention at Atlantic City. He succeeds W. C. (Dan) Daniel of Danville, Va., and will serve for a term of one year.

Light Off A-Reactor on U. of M. Campus

ANN ARBOR (AP)—An atomic reactor was lighted off today for the first time in Michigan on the campus of the University of Michigan.

The 1,000-watt Ford nuclear reactor operated for 15 minutes before it was shut down. During that time, an atomic chain reaction was built up and became self-sustaining. It produced a fraction of a watt of power.

"That's it," was all he said as the reactor started going. It had taken more than 20 hours for scientists here to assemble all the final items for the test.

The university received a license to operate the reactor last Friday from the Atomic Energy Commission. It is part of the university's Phoenix-Memorial project devoted to the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Quash Charges Against Officers

ret session the commissioners first argued on how many leave days they would fine the officers and then argued to convince the officers that the penalty was fair.

Before the private session, the commission met in public and started what seemed to be a regular hearing.

REFUSES TO TESTIFY

William Ewart, city attorney, called the wife of the man who escaped to the stand, but she refused to testify under the fifth amendment.

She said her attorney was not present to advise her and, in any case, she did not want to say anything that would harm the two officers on trial.

After she was excused, a statement she had made to the police department two days after her husband's escape was read into the record over defense objections.

The next witness, Inspector Clark Wheaton, who signed the charges against the officers, testified to the circumstances of the dismissal.

While he was being vigorously cross-examined by Paul Meredeth, the officers' attorney, Commissioner Austin interjected that he was tired of listening to a lot of legal bickering and technicalities.

"I have something more important to do than sit here and listen to this," he said.

Commissioner Guinan said the same thing, adding that in a similar case concerning the fire department, the matter had been disposed of in 30 minutes without any attorneys being present.

Meredeth attempted to explain that he was being technical because his clients felt the charges were trumped up due to Sgt. Meggitt's activities with the Police Officers Assn.

Guinan then moved for a five minute recess which turned into the long private session at which a decision was reached.

Students at Yale Forced to Dress Before Dinner

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Yale undergraduates returning to classes today ran into a new rule: Coats and ties are required for all meals in university dining halls.

It was the first such rule in recent history. Coats and ties have been required only for the evening meal and at Sunday dinner although arch-rival Harvard has had the requirement for some time.

"Not uniformity but neatness" is the aim of the new rule, said undergraduate dean Richard C. Carroll.

He said the average undergraduate's attire has brought "a great deal of criticism" from visitors.

New Berlin Hall Eyesore to Reds

BERLIN (INS) — The U.S. are opening in Berlin today a building deliberately designed to be an eyesore — to the Communists.

The super-modern $4.65 million Congress Hall is the best in design that America can offer, but the point of the building is that it lies smack in front of Communist East Berlin for all the Red world to look at.

NEAR BRANDENBERG GATE

The Convention Hall's grouds lie within 110 yards of the Soviet-dominated sector of Berlin.

A U.S. official in Berlin says the site near the Brandenburg Gate and the burned-out Reichstag was chosen deliberately so that the building would be "a constant irritation" to the Reds.

Architect Hugh Stubbins of Cambridge, Mass. says he designed the building to be "an easily recognizable landmark."

He seems to have succeeded. At least, the Communist bosses — who can hardly help seeing the Hall every day as they go about their business in drab, unreconstructed East Berlin — have already criticized the building nastily.

THE PREGNANT OYSTER

As a matter of fact, even some West Berliners don't seem to be too happy to have such an unorthodox structure presented to them. The West Berlin press has nicknamed the Hall "The Pregnant Oyster" and "The Roller Coaster."

To make sure the opening of the Congress Hall is well publcized the U.S. has arranged one of the most ambitious and serious theatrical and musical programs ever staged abroad by the government.

After opening speeches by former ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce and ambassador to Germany David Bruce, there will be several days of entertainment with two world premieres of Thorton Wilder plays, performed by Lillian Gish and Eethel Waters, dances by Martha Graham and Music by the Juilliard Quartet.

FIRST CONFAB HALL

The Congress Hall, which is the American contribution to the building exhibition running this summer and fall, will give Berlin its first real convention meeting place.

It is already booked for important events during the rest of the year, possibly including the first meeting after the elections of the West German Bundestag (Parliment).

Actually, the Congress Hall is as much a German effort as an American one. The U.S. gave an outright grant of $1.5 million, but West German with U.S. sanction contributed $2.25 million in counterpart funds and the City of Berlin gave $900,000 for the building site, landscaping and utilities.

The building contains a main auditorium seating 1,200 persons, a theater for 400, plus conference rooms, restaurants, exhibition area and other facilities.

Jobless Retraining Programs Studied

LANSING (AP) — Retraining programs, with industry and government sharing the cost, may be in sight for jobless auto workers.

First steps in setting up such programs came Tuesday at a meeting of Gov. Williams, Dr. Lynn S. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, and Max Horton, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The group met to talk over retraining and relocation of workers displaced by auto company mergers.

Williams directed Bartlett to check on the possibility of a $50,000 grant from the Kaiser-Frazer Corp. Social Security Fund to finance retraining of 16,000 physically handicapped workers thrown out of work with the shutdown of Kaiser-Frazer.

Matched with a federal grant of up to $65,000, Bartlett said, the project might serve as a pilot study for other retraining programs.

Bartlett said he understood other merged auto companies had similar funds jointly supported by the company and employes.

Williams ordered a study of the situation after a recent MESC report indicated that as many of 35,000 of 77,000 workers thrown out of work by the shutdown of Kaiser-Frazer, Hudson, Packard and other plants in Michigan have not yet found permanent jobs.

Handle Injunction Against Gov. Faubus

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two of the Justice Department's most experienced trial lawyers will help handle the department's injunction action against Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

The two are leaving today for Little Rock, Ark. They are Donald C. MacGuineas, chief of the civil division's general litigation section; and Carl Eardley of the same section. Tyey will assist U.S. Dist. Atty. Osro Cobb of Arkansas.

Hollywood to Mark Its Golden Jubilee

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Fifty years ago a Chicago movie company came to Los Angeles for location scenes on "The Count of Monte Cristo," starring the late Hobart Bosworth.

Southern California so impressed the film's producer, the late William N. (Col. Billy) Selig, that he moved his Polyscope company here from Chicago.

It marked the beginning of California's motion picture industry.

Now an industry spokesman announces that Hollywood's golden jubilee will be celebrated beginning Oct. 17. Celebrities will take off that day in a chartered plane on a nationwide tour, which will end in New York Nov. 8.

Stabbed Boy Happy: Daddy Does Want Him

NEW YORK (AP) — Five-year-old Michael Maida is happy now. His daddy does want him.

Michael was taken to Bellevue Hospital Tuesday with superficial knife wounds of the back and hand. Police said his mother Mrs. Catherine Maida, 28, stabbed him. She was sent to Bellevue Hospital for mental observation.

Michael's parents have been separated about four years and recently divorced. The boy has seldom seen his dad but never forgot him.

In the hospital Tuesday, Michael sobbed: "My daddy don't want me. Now my mommy don't love me."

A Nation of Watchers

The United States became a great and powerful nation while its people were "doers." Both men and women worked hard as the new nation was cut out of the wilderness, won from the Indians and defended against foreign powers.

Nobody had much time then for sitting idly in big stadiums to watch athletic contests, or riding about the country in search of amusement and entertainment. Life was rugged. It was active. Men, women and children all did their part of the tremendous amount of work that had to be done.

Today all this has changed. The nation has grown rich. Its people have become independent. No longer do they have to work from morning to night to earn a living or to win out over the forces of Nature.

As a result, there is less work for the women and youngsters to do in the modern American home. Labor saving devices have eliminated a lot of the work. For the men, much of the hard physical labor has been eliminated in the factories and on the farm.

In the early days, when boys and girls sought recreation, they got together and played games. Today sports have become highly organized as spectator sports. There are more watchers than players. This is true in school as well as among those above school age.

There is grave danger in this trend, in the opinion of Dr. Shane MacCarthy. He is executive director of President Eisenhower's Council on Youth Fitness. He fears our country may become a nation of softies if the trend continues.

"The history of the world has shown that no nation can continue this way without disintegrating," he warns. "The problem is whether we can break a pattern of living which has become a part of our history."

Dr. MacCarthy practices what he preaches. He leads an active life physically. He urges more recreation facilities for boys and girls from five to seventeen years of age.

In his own home he has a gym bar in his bedroom, a punching bag in his garage and a basketball court in his back yard.

Many of the world's problems are so complex that the average individual seems helpless to do anything about them. At best he can join some large organization which is seeking some solution.

But in this problem of physical fitness, every parent can take effective action. Parents can provide facilities for some kind of physical recreation for their children. They can set an example by participating in it themselves and by joining their children in activities and games.

If every family were to take such action, today's trend might be halted. No one wants to go back to the days when people had to work long hours without adequate equipment.

But it is essential that our children learn to participate in physical activity sufficiently to make them strong and healthy individuals.

The President's Council can point out the way. Organizations can help to carry the story, and some of the opportunity, to all corners of the land. But much of the responsibility remains with the individual parents. Many of the habits and attitudes of their children are formed before they enter school.

What each family does in this regard will mean much to the coming generation.

SOME people were surprised that a girl with a bandage on a big toe was chosen a beauty queen, but most of us weren't, as we assumed the contest judges overlooked the bandage on account of their being so busy looking elsewhere.

ANOTHER sad note on advice: An Iowa newspaperman whose book, "How to Keep Your Job and Be Happy Despite It," is being published has just been fired.

AMONG the few things that continue on the up-and-up is the cost of living.

50th Anniversary

Recollections of the First Local Car Endurance Run

$300: Quite a sum. Or are you so wealthy that you wouldn't accept it? You can miss the opportunity by not sending an entry in our football contest.

This is a golden anniversary. Fifty years ago today, Sept. 19, 1907, the first automobile endurance test passed through Pontiac. According to who "went along for the ride," survived it and now lives in Owosso, it started with about a dozen cars, all two-cylinders. It was from Detroit to Flint, on the Saginaw Turnpike, now the Dixie Highway.

Only about half the cars finished. Some got stuck in the mud at Bloomfield Center. Others couldn't negotiate the sand ruts at Drayton Plains or climb the Waterford Hill.

One struck a hitching post near the old Hodges House in Pontiac, and the horse that was hitched to the post ran away with it. When the car that won the race reached Flint two dead chickens were stuck in the radiator.

The other day I bumped into my very long standing friend, who says he's 85 years old, but he doesn't look it. He now resides in California. I always think of him along with

"Ernie" Fay,

"Hi" Thatcher, Harry Whitfield and Walter Smith.

They were all charter Rotarians and are approximately the same age, with "Hi" having a slight edge.

Pontiac had some grand and high class pioneers.

An employe of a local company, who have extensive sand and gravel holdings in the Pontiac area,

Mrs. Amelia Cole

was the first woman to cross the new Mackinac Bridge. Her employers mix concrete for it, and she made the trip with one of its engineers.

My roving scout sends word that our

of Drayton Plains has been awarded the $200,000 mechanical and heating contract on the new Imlay City high school.

For a few minutes the other morning, of Lake Orion, thought she had a good item for this column—the first snow. But it proved to be a couple of woodpeckers cleaning out their nest in a hole in a tree, the remnants falling past her window.

Mrs. Melton Rice

With a very unusual and attractive first name, and quite usual last name, of Rochester, writes that she picks the winners in our football contest "by guess and by gosh," and feels that she has as good a chance to win as anybody who "chews their nails up to their elbows" in figuring it out.

Sallysuzanne Smith

The Tombstone Tells the Corpse He's Dead

David Lawrence Says:

Court's Power Can Be Curbed

WASHINGTON — Many people are asking how, if public sentiment desired it, a decision of the Supreme Court of the United States can be reversed.

LAWRENCE

There are many ways. In the past a constitutional amendment has at times been found necessary but where the Supreme Court goes beyond its function and legislates or when it sets itself up as a trial court and refuses to hear evidence on both sides—as happened in the "desegregation" case of 1954—then Congress can take a hand and pass a law specifying rules for the court to follow thereafter.

NOT ON LAW

In the "desegregation" decision of 1954, the Supreme Court decided the case primarily not on questions of law or interpretation of the Constitution, but on the basis of what it deemed psychological or sociological considerations.

Although the writings of some sociologists—one of them a prominent Communist sympathizer—were cited by the Supreme Court, no opportunity was given for cross-examination or refutation of those sociologists nor for the introduction of contrary evidence from other witnesses. The trial court itself had received no evidence on the subject because the psychological issues were not raised there.

RESENTMENT FOUND

When the supreme tribunal renders a decision without hearing all the evidence or when it disregards the lack of evidence in a trial court below, there is bound to be resentment.

Congress can remedy the situation by enacting a law specifying that the Supreme Court take into consideration the evidence on both sides of a dispute.

In recent months the Supreme Court has been especially solicitous about Communists and has reversed decisions where the credibility of some witnesses had been challenged, not in the same case but in other cases. That's going pretty far even to help the case of Communists charged with sedition. Certainly, the people of the South are entitled at least to a parity with Communists.

The right of Congress to formulate rules for the Supreme Court to follow is derived from Article III of the Constitution, which says:

"In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the Supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the Congress shall make."

This could be applied so that Congress would not let the Supreme Court have any jurisdiction whatsoever in the future in certain cases and the final decisions would be rendered by state courts in each locality. This has happened before in American history, especially in controversies arising in the reconstruction era.

The Eleventh Amendment to the Constitution, adopted in 1798, specifically reserves to state courts the jurisdiction of suits between citizens and a state. It prohibits the exercise of such jurisdiction by all Federal courts as well as by the Supreme Court of the United States.

If the American people, however, wish to give back to the states all rights and powers—taken from them by a Supreme Court decision—to deal with public schools and educational matters, a constitutional amendment would be the most effective method.

Such an amendment could declare that "notwithstanding Article IV and the Fifth and Fourteenth Amendments or any other provisions of this Constitution, the power to control admissions to public schools and to regulate and administer the processes of public education is one of the powers reserved to the states as provided in Article X."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Dangerous to Eliminate All Salt From Daily Diet

"Why do doctors forbid the use of salt in food for patients with heart and artery troubles?" This is a composite of numerous queries in the mail these days.

DR. BRADY

It may well be that habitual use of too much salt in or on food is particularly harmful to heart and arteries, although it is remarkable that one finds so little scientific discussion of this in medical literature and so much in popular publications.

If this catches you on a salt-free or salt-poor regimen don't let it disturb you. In any case you have three alternatives: (1) Dismiss my comments, (2) Break away from any trick specialist or klinickateer who finds you easy picking and consult a doctor who practices under his own name. Or (3) if you can't make up your mind about it, follow the salt-poor regimen (as approved by your doctor) faithfully for three weeks and let the results show whether it does any good.

Ordinarily a healthy person requires approximately a level teaspoonful (3 or 4 grams) of salt a day—the salt naturally present in milk, meat, fish and the salt added in cooking or at table as seasoning.

Some persons habitually consume too much salt. One ill effect of this habit is swelling of the feet towards the end of the day. Excessive use of salt makes one accumulate slacker flesh—flabby tissues, due to retention of more than the normal amount of water.

My answer to the question "Why do doctors forbid the use of salt?" is that I don't believe it is a health question. In other words, don't monkey with salt-poor or salt-free diet! If any such measure is necessary, leave it to the judgment of the doctor who observes the condition of the patient from day to day.

For, while it may not be dangerous to take too much salt, it is dangerous to try to do without salt or unduly restrict the natural daily ration of salt.

Wherever people work or play hard or in extremely hot weather, a good deal of salt is lost in sweat. The loss of salt in this way is largely accountable for heat exhaustion, sunstroke, heat cramps, hot weather fatigue or weariness. It is now the general custom to encourage workers in foundries, industrial plants, steel mills, paper mills etc., to take extra salt.

Incidentally, not only salt but also vitamin B-1 (thiamin) is lost in sweat. Therefore it is a good idea to take extra vitamin B as well as extra salt in such circumstances.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Police Department Hassle Brings Readers' Opinions

Isn't it about time the disagreement between the Police Officers' Association and the Chief of Police is settled? I wonder if the recent suspension of Detective Meggitt isn't a direct result of this disagreement. I can't recall any other officer being suspended under similar circumstances during the many years I've lived in Pontiac. Yet I'm sure there have been other similar instances when prisoners have escaped custody.

Does Sgt. Meggitt's action deserve such severe treatment? Citizens of Pontiac are being deprived of protection and services of a fine, conscientious officer, veteran of more than 11 years, recipient of three departmental citations and a letter of commendation from the Federal Bureau of Narcotics.

Recent editorials in The Press favor selection of an impartial agent to investigate conditions within the force. Dissention within the law enforcement body of a community could prove to be a serious threat to general welfare and safety of all citizens. Isn't it possible for The Press to assign a reporter the responsibility of bringing all facts to the people?

E. Eugene Russell

Now's the time for citizens of Pontiac to become aware of a serious situation within our police department. In the past year, papers have carried stories of grand jury investigations of other departments. Thank goodness we have an honest department, but how long can this go on if the present situation remains? Far be it from us to find the solution, but let there be harmony in the department that costs us thousands of dollars. Stop it from being a grudge match.

One Who's Concerned

I used to think we have a law enforcement department you could be proud of, but the last few months I've begun to wonder.

The police chief has no power over men under him, policemen who think they're doing their duty are assaulted by a disgruntled citizen and then the judge sets him free. Why not eliminate the police department if it has no jurisdiction over people they're supposed to be protecting? My wife had the car towed away from the courthouse, but I paid the $5.00 towing charge.

Due to the fact this ordinance is legal only when backed up by a warrant or a court order, I expect the police to reimburse me $5.00 at their earliest convenience.

The policeman's wife neglected to say what happened to the officer who let the man escape, thereby causing the death of another officer. As I recall, he recently retired as a captain.

While you think the good old days were best, your husband might not lasted 30 years without a trial board. And I haven't heard your husband refusing benefits brought about by the Association, such as sick day pay, retirement or clothing allowance. Civil service not only gives policement protection, but is intended to give the city a better force by keeping politics out and insuring high professional standards for acceptance and promotion.

Committee Backs Recent Article

The Citizens Committee for Pontiac State Hospital would like to commend you for the fine feature article of Sept. 2, headlined "Oakland County Has No Facilities for the Mentally Ill."

Members of the Committee, dedicated as we are to the comfort and welfare of the mentally ill, are deeply concerned that such a condition should exist here in Oakland County. We agree that something must be done, and quickly. We will welcome every opportunity to keep this matter before the public eye until something is done.

We have forwarded a copy of this letter, along with a reprint of your article, to Delos Hamlin, Chairman of the County Board of Supervisors, pointing out the fact that this is a county problem and one which should not be ignored.

We confidently hope for the continued cooperation of your paper in this respect, and thank you once more for your excellent article.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Fear Can Cause Physical Harm

Do you think people can actually be scared to death? Listen to Dr. Tucker's tragic story and try to imagine yourself in the position of this young girl, all alone in that spooky graveyard. Fear can damage your bodily health in many ways, as outlined below. Scrapbook this important case.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-394: Dr. E. W. Tucker, aged about 42, is a leading physician in Greenwood, South Carolina.

DR. CRANE

As I was recently making a pig of myself on his delicious homemade ice cream, flavored with grapes, our table conversation veered around to medico - psychological problems.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "did you ever personally see a patient die of fright?"

As I thought back, I couldn't recall actually having witnessed any such death, but I said it was certainly possible.

"Well, my mother told me about a case that occurred when she was just a teenager," Dr. Tucker continued.

"My mother was attending a party. It may have been on Halloween, for the young folks began to tell ghost stories.

"Then somebody dared one of the girls to go up the road, all alone, and enter a deserted graveyard.

"The girl accepted, though she must have been panicky with fear. And part of the dare consisted of taking a table fork and sticking it into the sod over a certain grave.

"Later, the rest of the crowd were to go to the cemetery and recover that fork as evidence that this girl had fulfilled the dare.

FEAR CAN KILL

"Well, the girl left the party and headed for that spooky graveyard. The rest of the crowd waited expectantly for her return.

"But when she did not come back, they gave her a little extra time. When she still failed to put in an appearance, they decided to go after her.

"When they entered the cemetery, they saw her body lying across the foot of the grave. She was dead.

"And as they tried to lift her body to carry it home, they found that she had stuck the fork through the ruffle on her long skirt.

"So, when she had started to return to the party, she must have felt a tug at her skirt and have imagined somebody was reaching up out of the grave to seize her.

"The shock apparently proved fatal. So she must have died of fright."

HOW FEAR HURTS US

Fear also damages our body in many other ways. For example, it can reduce our appetite so we do not eat enough nourishing food.

Again, it can produce insomnia and lack of restful sleep, thereby making the body more susceptible to disease.

Fear also raises the blood pressure alarmingly. In a previous Case Record I told you about a Tennessee Colonel whose normal blood pressure was 138, but who was clocked at 210 and later at 223 by an Army doctor.

This Colonel simply had a complex about Army medics. His heart would race and he would feel panicky whenever one of them started to examine him.

"But how can fear zoom our blood pressure?" you might logically ask.

Well, by reducing the diameter of the arteries. Little circular muscle fibers surround our blood vessels. Under tension and fear, they go into spasm and clamp down, thus narrowing the diameter.

The heart then compensates by zooming the pressure, for it must force the same amount of blood through those smaller "pipes" in the same amount of time. A much higher pressure is thus necessary to do so.

Tomorrow I shall cite a case to illustrate how fear can produce heart attacks and strokes of apoplexy.

Meanwhile, send for the booklet "How to Control Your Emotions," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

It may even save your life if you are a victim of high blood pressure.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Financial Backing Exhausted

Daily Worker Cuts Edition

NEW YORK (AP) — The Daily Worker, newspaper of the Communist party in the United States, has announced a drastic retrenchment program.

The newspaper said it would publish temporarily a four - page Daily Worker four days a week and a 12-page paper on Friday.

The Daily Worker has printed an eight-page daily five days a week and a 12 - page weekend worker on Saturday.

The change is to be effective about Oct. 1.

The newspaper said: "Frankly, we have reached bottom.

"For the past several months we managed to keep going only tapping every source open to us, by heavy borrowings, and individual sacrifice.

"Today all this is exhausted. We can do no more."

The newspaper said its reduced printing schedule will enable it to cut its budget from the present $370,000 to $240,000.

Reasons for the paper's plight were disclosed in recent statements by Daily Worker editor John Gates and by Joseph Clark, who resigned from the Communist party and from his post as the paper's foreign editor last month.

Gates and Clark said the present membership of the party was only 10,000—down 7,000 in the last year.

In 1947, the party's peak postwar year, there were 74,000 members in the Communist party of the United States.

Socialized Hair Seen on Way

Stylist Says Baldness Creates Big Problems for Women

NEW YORK (NEA) — The whole trouble with eavesdropping is that nothing is what you thought it was. Like this middleaged gent at the coffee counter confiding to his friend in a heavy Russian accent: "Socialized hair is inevitable."

NOT SPY

Well, it turns out he's not a spy and like that. Instead, he's a respectable hair stylist named Bernard Guro with a big following of fashionable ladies, and in a rather surprised tone he explained:

"What I said was if America ever turns to socialized medicine, socialized hair is inevitable."

That, of course, made it crystal clear sort of.

"Listen," Guro said testily, "I don't know who you are, but do you know how many women have a real psychological problem with baldness and thin hair?"

CLEVER STYLES

The answer, according to one of the world's leading hair-piece companies, is between three and four million women have a serious hair problem, and another 10,000,000 borderline women who must use clever hair styles to cover up otherwise-visible scalp.

The firm with these statistics is the 125-year-old Joseph Fleischer, Inc., whose fourth generation hair heir, Paul Fleischer, said:

"There's nothing funny about it. Women with severe hair problems are often shamed into becoming recluses. Once in a while we even hear about a suicide case directly traceable to baldness."

While science has not yet been able to link baldness directly with controllable factors, Fleischer said, heredity, advancing age and tension all play a part. Certain illnesses, too, take their toll in hair.

On the other hand, he said, many women have a normal number of hairs—about 150,000—but the diameter of each may be very small, giving the appearance of baldness.

"After all," Fleischer said, "thick, lustrous hair is an important part of giving a woman a sense of beauty. You never see thin-haired movie stars, because if they're thin-haired, they wear necessity hair pieces."

Fleischer's firm makes five kinds of problem pieces: Regular, three kinds of deluxe and a "masterpiece." A woman can spend from $50 to well over $200—depending on the quality of hair, kind of hairline, type of workmanship in the piece.

Oil to Replace Ancient Affairs

Sultan of Muscat, Oman Heads Nomadic Tribes in Strategic Location

WASHINGTON — The sweet smell of oil is stirring the Sultanate of Muscat and Oman more than all the perfumes that made the land famous in Biblical days.

This ancient country, where frankincense and myrrh trees still grow, forms the southeast corner of the Arabian peninsula. Despite its burst of strife, the Sultanate is one of the world's least-known lands.

The interior of the Kansas-size country is mostly barren with soaring rock mountains, says the National Geographic Society. The inhabitants of the interior are nomads, who sometimes switch their allegiance. Unless the Sultan retains their loyalty, the regions they roam may pass from his control.

BOUNDARIES VAGUE

In the coastal region, the Sultan can generally maintain full allegiance. But in the interior, transportation is difficult, and the boundaries of the Sultanate are vague and shifting.

Once the fixing of desert boundaries was unimportant. Now British and American companies are exploring for oil and barren land may soon be leased for millions of dollars.

The Sultan of Muscat and Oman has maintained close ties with Great Britain for the past century and a half. The present Sultan, Said bin Taimur, has granted an American oil company a concession in a southerly province next to Aden. The British have been prospecting in the Buraimi oasis area in the north.

The Iman (archpriest) of Oman is a leader of the devout Moslem population. In recent years, many tribesmen pledged allegiance to the Iman and refused to obey the Sultan. When the Imam tried to set up a separate Oman state, the Sultan in 1955 personally directed an expedition into the interior to subdue him. The Imam fled to Saudi Arabia.

The Sultan's capital is Muscat, a seaport having only a few thousand inhabitants. It is one of the smallest capitals in the world. The Sultanate trades mostly with India and Pakistan. It exports dates, pomegranates, and dried fish; it imports rice, coffee, and cotton goods.

Muscat is one of the hottest tow on earth, with an average year-round temperature in the 80's. A traveler from Samarkand, who visited the town in 1442, claimed that hunting "was a matter of perfect ease, for the desert was filled with roasted gazelles."

The Muscati — a mixture of Arabs, Negroes, and Baluchis from what is now Pakistan — show the influence of both India and Arabia. Men wear Indian turbans with Arab robes. They customarily go about with rifles slung across their backs and daggers in silver scabbards. Some women wear turquoise nose rings.

47-Year-Old Fan Runs With Same Energy

MARIETTA, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. J. J. Howard of Marietta has an electric fan she has been using for 47 years.

It has never had repairs and is still "running in high," Mrs. Howard says.

Insure ½ Indian Workers

NEW DELHI — More than a million employes, about half the insurable factory workers in India, are now covered by a State-operated insurance plan.

Measured With Hands

BALTIMORE — Before the thermometer was invented, physicians measured the degree of bodily heat with their hands.

Bob Considine Says:

Former Thai Premier Treasures Friends

NEW YORK (INS) — "Whereabouts of Premier Pibul Songgram unknown," the first stories out of Bangkok noted in the wake of the revolution. The troops of Field Marshal Sarit Thanarat had seized the premier's headquarters, the reports said.

I wonder if he had time to take his golf sticks with him?

The handsome, intelligent head man of Thailand treasured those clubs. The day my wife and I called on the premier and Lady La Iad, who looked so much like Madame Chiang, we were struck by the stunning decor of the combination reception hall and office.

His enormous desk was raised from the floor like a throne. In front of it was a huge and downy divan and a coffee table of native woods.

But the most startling feature of the room was the chairs of his cabinet officers, two rows of six towering gold and red plush thrones which must have enveloped any delicately diminutive Thai ever bold enough to sit thereon.

But all these things, and the autographed photographs of the rulers of the world, Pibul Songgram seemed to take for granted. At the end of the interview (he saw in America the hope of the world) he walked us to a corner of the room and proudly pointed to the golf clubs.

"Your Ike gave them to me the day we played at Burning Tree," he said with cultured pride.

Ed Durling has left our fold for the better things that await good men, and the newspaper dodge is poorer for it.

No writer is indispensible. It is a cliche of this business that there's always somebody around who can do it as well or better, given the chance. Yet in my time I've seen several unique ones go and, to date, nobody has picked up their torches or scarcely dared to approach them.

When the simple services for Durling were over the other day at the Little Church Around the Corner, and two of his pallbearers headed for the comfort of a cool, dark bar, they passed a lady of middle years leaning stricken against the iron fencing of the church plot. She wept soundlessly, her face wet with tears. For her and so many others, there can be no "new" Durling. The memory of the old one will in time suffice.

The Army-Tulane football game, scheduled for 80,985-seat Tulane stadium at West Point on November 16.

It is against the policy of the U. S. Military Academy to send a team to play on a segregated field as is the case in Louisiana. Army has no Negroes on its grid team, nor had it planned to send the corps, which includes several Negroes.

It has acted, a spokesman assured us at the Point, because of its stand on integration and to avoid any possible embarrassment to "Negro graduates of the academy who might have wished to purchase tickets out of our allotment."

The decision will cost the teams about $200,000 in revenue and the merchants and innkeepers of New Orleans perhaps another million.

Seems to me that Arkansas' two upper-drawer senators, McClellan and Fulbright, have lost more face in the Little Rock school matter than old Orval. Nobody expected much from the Barrymore of the Ozarks. But people on both sides did hope for more guidance than McClellan's confused "no comments" and Fulbright's hasty retreat to London.

New Insurance Getting Popular

Protection Against the Uninsured Driver and Hit-Runner Offered

LANSING (AP)—A new form of insurance designed as a partial answer to the problem of the uninsured motorist is gaining popularity in Michigan, the State Insurance Department said today.

Payment of $3 or $4 added to the cost of regular liability policy gives the motorist protection against both uninsured drivers and unidentified hit-run drivers in accidents involving injury or death. Maximum benefits are $10,000 for each person and $20,000 for each accident.

Payment is made only in cases in which judgments are uncollectible, often the case with the uninsured driver.

STARTED IN 1956

Tom Dunavant, casualty insurance specialist with the Insurance Department said the new insurance feature was introduced in Michigan late last year but now is offered by most companies dealing in auto insurance.

Problems created by the uninsured driver were brought to the forfront this year with appointment of a governor's study commission to survey the situation.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, and others, have proposed compulsory liability insurance for Michigan motorists.

Insurance firms, however, have opposed the move, contending, among other things, that the law would boost insurance costs.

Says He Paid Two to Get Roseville Job

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Contractor Louis Marsack of Mount Clemens said yesterday he paid suburban Roseville officials Glen Alsip and John H. Flanigan $1,000 apiece for their help in getting a construction job.

Marsack testified at the examination of the two men before Justice Francis A. Castellucci.

Alsip and Flanigan, Roseville village president and commissioner respectively, were indicted June 28 on bribery and extortion charges by the Macomb County one-man grand jury.

Marsack said he paid the money to the men for their help in getting a sewer construction job which he later was awarded by the Roseville commission.

He said that when the grand jury began investigating Roseville Alsip returned $500 and Flanigan returned $600.

Hal Boyle Says:

Felicia the Cat, Dog Scrapper Rate Tops

NEW YORK (AP)—Everyone has his favorite cat-and-dog story, and mine is the tale of Felicia and Scrapper.

Scrapper was a friendly but tough Airedale who bossed everything on four feet in the suburban neighborhood where he dwelt. He did, that is, until the lady of the house accepted as a gift a full-grown Siamese cat name Felicia.

"You're making a mistake," warned the master of the house. "You know Scrapper can't stand cats. He'll make mincemeat of Felicia in five minutes."

"We'll see," replied the lady of the house serenely.

Scrapper was across the yard when Felicia arrived. At sight of her he let out a high, excited yelp. Then, a cavalryman at heart, he charged.

Felicia, staring at him silently with Mediterranean eyes, waited calmly, a citadel in fur. When Scrapper was within reach, she biffed him on the nose twice with her left paw, and followed with three deadly rights.

The next instant she was on his back, raking his head and neck with razor claws. The next instant she was under him, raking his belly with all deliberate speed.

Scrapper, bleeding, drew off in surprise from this feline tornado. He had learned the tactical error of Pickett at Gettysburg.

He wasn't afraid. There was no room in his lion heart for fear. But he knew he had to find another way. He had to catch Felicia off guard.

So he began to stalk her, methodically, inexorably, hate in his canine soul. This cat had wounded his terrier pride. She must pay—if it took a lifetime.

He stalked her by day and by night. He stalked her on a seven-day-a-week schedule, winter and summer, and he never took a holiday. And he never caught Felicia off guard, never reached that "moment of truth" when he could move in and finish her off.

After three years of this war of nerves, Felicia, who up until then had enjoyed it as a game, apparently decided the time had come to end it. On a Sunday she walked to the edge of the yard, which bordered a busy highway. She stared at the traffic thoughtfully for a long time, and then turned and gazed thoughtfully at Scrapper, who was warily watching her.

Felicia, her mind made up, waited for a break in the traffic., then leisurely crossed the highway. She paused, looked back at Scrapper, then slowly and deliberately lay down in the grass, and rolled over—as if asleep.

Tempted beyond caution, Scrapper raced madly out on the highway. There was a screeching of brakes—a yelp, then stillness.

The master of the house, who had been a spectator to the scene, rushed out and picked up Scrapper. The dog bit his hand gently, looked around wildly for Felicia, then his taut body relaxed in eternal languor.

"That cat deliberately lured him to his destruction," the master of the house said later.

"Perhaps," said the lady of the house, who, despite her sorrow over Scrapper, couldn't restrain a small feeling of womanly pride in Felicia.

The kids buried Scrapper in the back yard with full military honors and the beating of a tin pail drum. They tossed bright yellow dandelions in his grave and two big steakbones, and over it erected a cross made from an orange crate and wrote on it this epitaph:

"To the Scrapper, a brave dog."

On warm afternoons Felicia used to like to lie on the grave, scratch in the dirt and sun herself lazily. One afternoon, two years later, the children found her there, calmly dead. So far as any one could discover she was a victim of old age, lack of exercise, and gout.

They buried her next to the Scrapper after another grand mournful funeral and inscribed this epitaph, composed by the lady of the house: "To Felicia, a smart cat."

Millionaire's Girl Lives Cheaply on English Visit

NEW YORK (AP)—Sandra Rockefeller, 21, daughter of multimillionaire John D. Rockefeller III, has returned from England as a tourist-class passenger aboard the liner Arosa Sky.

She was one of 11 young Americans who spent an inexpensive summer in England under sponsorship of "Experiment in International Living," an organization with headquarters at Putney, Vt.

Miss Rockefeller said that while living with an English schoolteacher and his wife and young son she helped with the housework, such as cooking and dishwashing.

She denied published reports that she said "Wealth, I loathe it," or "I wish I were poor."

Miss Rockefeller, who was graduated from Vassar College last June, said she expects to go to Boston soon to take a post as a receptionist at Children's Hospital.

New Technique in Ship's Engine

Patterson Makes Test in 5-Hour Run; to Load Cargo for Europe Friday

NEW YORK (INS) — An entirely new technique in ship propulsion, consisting of a free piston gas turbine engine, was demonstrated in New York yesterday.

Government and industry officials sailed from Pier 62, Hudson River, for a five-hour test run aboard the G.T.S. Patterson, a 466-foot converted liberty ship.

Clarence G. Morse, chairman of the federal maritime board of the U.S. Department of Commerce, called the ship "an example of the type of dynamic research" now being undertaken by the maritime administration.

The Patterson, fourth of the war-built liberty ships to be selected for experimental conversion and engine replacement, will load general cargo for the military sea transportation service destined for Europe starting Friday.

Its 6,000-horsepower free piston gas turbine, built by the Cleveland Diesel Engine Division of General Motors, is the first installation of this type power plant in the United States and the largest in the world.

It replaces the original triple expansion reciprocating steam engine which was standard equipment in the 3,250 ships of this type built for service in World War II.

Installation of the motor is part of a $12,000,000 government program to evaluate the problems of upgrading the 1,400 liberty ships in laid-up fleets under mobilization conditions.

Demands of modern defense call for merchant ships operating at least as fast as 15 knots, instead of the 10-knot capacity of liberty ships. The Patterson has attained a speed of more than 17.

The injury total shows no fatalities compared with one at this time last year. The total number of accidents to date last year was 755.

In the August figures, 47 of the accidents involved injuries in which 60 persons were hurt, 23 seriously.

Reasonable Citizens Deplore Situation --- Won't Fight Mob

(This is the fourth of six articles in which a famed reporter describes vividly what he and a reporting team have found to be the causes behind the crisis over school segregation in the south today.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (INS) — Dorothy Geraldine Counts, a tall, colt-like 15-year-old Negro girl, surrendered after three days of classes at previously all-white Harding High School. They were the longest days of her life.

They began with the long march to the school, with the kid behind her simulating horns for her head, and the demands by Principal J. R. Hawkins that the students not pick on her. She was pelted with pebbles and sticks and spit upon when she left school that day.

Two white girls felt sorry enough to befriend her the second day, and the Counts girl reported to her parents when the day was done that things seemed to be cooling off. But Wednesday, Sept. 11, was, she later reported, the worst day of the lot. Somebody hit her with a piece of tin and an eraser. The girls who befriended her were heckled as "nigger lovers."

TORMENTORS FOLLOWED

"They followed me wherever I walked in the corridors," she said, of her determined tormentors. "Everytime I looked around they were behind me. I never knew what they were going to do." Her father, Rev. Herman L. Counts, a professor of theology at Charlotte's Johnson C. Smith University, took her out of school after that.

"Our daughter's experiences at school today disillusioned our faith and left us no alternative but to take her out of the school," he said. "As long as we felt she could be protected from bodily injury and insults within the school walls and upon the school premises, we were willing to grant her desire to study at Harding High. We were optimisitic."

In Charlotte, police chief Frank N. Littlejohn's men seem to have the situation in hand, though they didn't offer Dorothy Geraldine Counts as much protection on the opening day of school as did the photographers who surrounded her.

Few have openly deplored the treatment of the Counts child.

"The more reasonable citizens dislike what is going on but they aren't going to get out and fight with a mob," North Little Rock school principal George E. Miller said of this common fear. "It is human nature for people to steer clear of trouble that doesn't effect them directly — and race troubles such as we've had here, while affecting everybody, directly affect only the colored citizens.

"Only if a state of anarchy developed and mobs roamed the streets would the better and more responsible people act and restore order — for then their society and security would be involved. Now they're content to take action through such organizations as the PTA."

Robert E. Lindbergh, Birmingham's commissioner of public safety, told a member of the International News Service team investigating integration problems:

"If there was immediate forced integration of all the schools of Birmingham there would be violence. The temper of the people at this time is so strong that police probably could not control them.

"At present, the people involved in the incidents in this city are the extremists, you could call them radicals. What I fear most is that in the ultimate action of forced integration, the majority of the people who are conservative, non-violent, will become involved.

ABOLISH PUBLIC SCHOOLS

"However, before it comes to this in Alabama, I think the people will abolish public schools. In the meantime, we are trying our best to keep the people thinking the only resistance to this is through due process — that we must win the fight this way."

Eugene Bull Conners, square shouldered, fiftyish, is a "preservator" and, as such, a delight to the citizens' Councils. He is also the incoming police commissioner of Birmingham.

When he takes office in November, it will be his second trip to city hall. For some 16 years prior to 1949 Connors was entrusted with the public safety of the city. He did not choose to run in '49 following a series of grand jury investigations into his office.

"There will be no integration of Birmingham schools, period," Connors told INS.

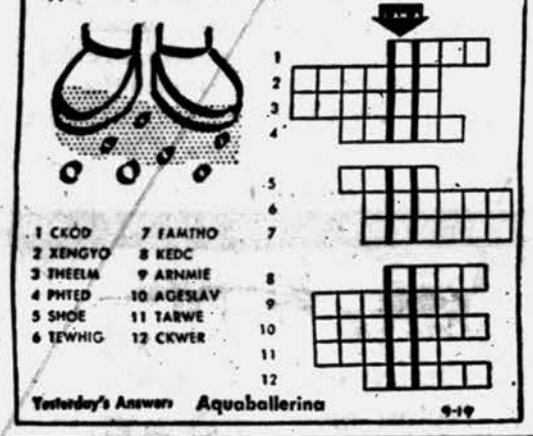

"What if it is attempted?" he was asked.

"Bloodshed," Connors answered.

Six-Shooter Remains Most Popular U.S. Toy

CINCINNATI (AP) — Toys have become more elaborate and expensive, but the toy six-shooter is still first in the eyes of young Americans.

That's the report by members of the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A., Inc. The group has a regional meeting of toymakers and buyers from 20 Midwest and Southern states here today.

One manufacturer said: "Take any child old enough to walk by himself through a toy exhibit and he will show great interest, but not until he has his trusty old gix-gun in one hand."

U.S. Meat Output Down

CHICAGO — American production of meat in the first six months of 1957 was about 4 per cent below the like period of 1956.

Writes Salute to America

Van Doren Traditional Until TV Appearances

NEW YORK — As an English teacher at Columbia University and a promising young writer, Charles Van Doren was following the traditions of his literary family slowly and steadfastly until a dozen-or-so nights on television rocketed him into prominence.

He has recently written a salute to America, an article which is being distributed by the United States Information Service, to be read and heard around the world.

"What is America?" others ask. "What is American culture? What does it mean to be an American?" Van Doren's reply is timely and profoundly moving.

America has always meant a search for something, he writes. At first it was gold in the Aztec tmeples and gold in the ground. But when that gold was taken away the search did not end.

A new gold was discovered: the treasure of freedom. And, finally, it was a mystical promise.

NEWNESS NEEDED

St. John de Crevecoeur once wrote that "The American is a new man, who acts upon new principles; he must therefore entertain new ideas and form new opinions."

One of these new principles is still the motto of the American Government: "E Pluribus Unum." Out of many there shall be one. Out of many races there shall be one people; out of many religions there shall be freedom of worship; and perhaps most important, out of many opinions there shall be one agreement on the necessity and importance of liberty.

One people out of many, one land out of many—but these things have been bought dearly. Among other costs, they were purchased in a great civil war, a terrible conflict of father against son and brother against brother.

But in fighting for the Union, and in ultimately saving it, it was reborn in a way that it had never existed.

Drops in Final Canvass

DETROIT (AP)—The official canvass of Detroit's Sept. 11th city election dropped Mrs. Margaret C. Doyle from 17th to 18th in City Council standings. She still remains on the ballot from which nine will be chosen Nov. 5. Unofficial tabulations had her 17th, but in the officials count State Rep. Adam Sumeracki passed her, 17,810 to 17,720.

Sneezers—Take Heart

Johns Hopkins Scientist Develops Cold Vaccine

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 34-year-old Johns Hopkins scientist today held the attention of the medical world — as well as sneezers and sniffers everywhere—with disclosure he has developed an effective vaccine for the common cold.

Dr. Winston H. Price of the Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health said that:

1. He has succeeded in isolating the first "true" virus of the common cold—one responsible for 30 per cent of the cases he has studied over a two-year period.

2. He has developed a vaccine which, in controlled tests on more than 400 persons, prevented colds caused by the "JH virus" in 80 per cent of the cases.

The possibility of mass-producing the vaccine is very good, Dr. Price indicated, although he begged off answering any questions about commercial production.

"I know nothing about that at all," he said. "I'm a medical researcher. I will make nothing out of this whatsoever."

But he said the JH virus has been sent to other laboratories and they have been able to cultivate it using the methods developed here.

Immunity is produced from two shots, the second following the first by four weeks, Dr. Price said. He could not say how long the immunity would last.

He said the vaccine was made from killed JH virus and had produced no symptoms, discomfort or side effects.

Reaction of the medical world was as cautious as it was scarce. Most researchers and virus experts declined comment until they have seen Dr. Price's scientific report.

Because common colds are caused by an unknown number of viruses, Dr. Price emphasized that his vaccine cannot be expected to be effective against all of them.

The first report of the vaccine came last night in a Baltimore Sun copyright story by science reporter Weldon Wallace and was later confirmed by Dr. Price.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Winston H. Price, the young Johns Hopkins medical researcher who claims to have developed a successful vaccine for the common cold, is looked upon as a lone wolf by some of his colleagues.

At 34, he already has won considerable recognition for his study of viruses.

A stocky, handsome man of medium height and gray-blond hair, Dr. Price is outgoing and affable when talking about his work. But an attempt to bring his personal life or accomplishments into the picture makes him shy, retiring and adamant.

He is married and lives in a North Baltimore apartment.

He was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1942 at the age of 19 and received his Ph. D. in general physiology from Princeton seven years later.

His name in "American men of Science" is followed by more than a dozen lines listing his various positions and associations since.

He joined the Rockefeller Institute of Medical Science in 1946 as a special investigator and rose in six years to an associate professor and research associate in epidemiology.

In 1953, he was a consultant to the Department of Defense on virus and rickettsial diseases — such as typhus, Rocky Mountain spotted fever and trench fever.

He served on the committee on reservoirs and vectors of disease of the national research council in 1954, the same year he won the Theobold Smith Award, presented annually to the scientist who shows unusual ability for original research in the field of medical science.

Last spring, in cooperation with another scientist, Dr. Price reported development of an experimental vaccine which is effective in preventing several forms of encephalitis or sleeping sickness.

Colleagues describe him as a dedicated scientist and something of a lone wolf, working diligently on his own theories until he has proved or disproved them.

Superseded Navajo Missile Launched

MISSILE TEST CENTER, Cape Canaveral, Fla. (AP) — A red and white missile believed to be the now superseded Navajo was fired from here yesterday, possibly with Asst. Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles as a witness.

The needle-nosed projectile soared southeastward over the Atlantic after a fiery takeoff. Newsmen who watched the launching said it appeared to be successful.

Work on the Navajo, a guided missile with a 5,000-mile range, was halted a month ago on the ground it was not so far advanced as the Snark.

The Air Force, however, planned to keep on firing the Navajos it had on hand for test purposes.

Quarles was here on what the Defense Department called a busman's holiday.

J. Edgar Hoover Raps 'Muck Merchants' Who Peddle Obscenity

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today an aroused public opinion is needed to combat "muck merchants" who peddle obscenity to the children as well as adults.

Speaking at the closing session of the American Legion's 39th annual convention, Hoover launched his attack on off-color photographs and publications after calling for more united family life to curb delinquency. He also declared the diminished Communist party in the United States still is boring from within.

"One cannot help but admire the overwhelming majority of our young people, particularly when the number and nature of the evil forces confronting them in their day-to-day living is considered," Hoover said in a prepared address.

He said peddlers of obscene picture and writing trash have so flooded the market within the past few years that to find a news rack without samples of it is the rare exception.

Hoover said crime is increasing and that Communist party membership is decreasing in the United States, but that nothing could be further from the truth than the idea that the nation is losing the fight against crime and winning against subversion.

Breeze Brings Billion Busy Brown Beetles

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—An estimated billion brown beetles blown in from the northwest on an evening breeze infested this border city.

City officials issued calls for entomologists to help identify and wipe out the insects.

Takes Post in 'Sticks'

MOSCOW (AP) — Dmitri Shepilov, ex-foreign minister ousted in the recent Kremlin purge, has taken up his duties as a teacher in the Far East Institute at remote Frunze on the Chinese border, say diplomatic sources. Kirghizia, in which Frunze lies, long has been used by the Soviet government as a center of political exile.

PHS Outlook Dim, Skippers' Hopes High

Wyandotte First Foe for Chiefs at Wisner Field

Jesse MacLeay Makes Debut as Head Coach of Pontiac High

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

If the enthusiasm of football coach Jesse MacLeay is to be the criterion for a victorious season, then Pontiac's grid forces could go a long way this season.

But as the adage goes; you've got to have the horses to win.

MacLeay will make his debut tomorrow night against Wyandotte in Wisner Stadium as the 21st head coach in Pontiac's football history since 1897.

The outlook for the season is far from bright and even MacLeay's enthusiasm for the job cannot overshadow his woes.

The Chiefs can make a respectable showing for themselves if the veterans stay healthy and if the newcomers put forth their potential.

Wyandotte will be a far different team than the one which absorbed a 39-7 defeat at the hands of Pontiac in the 1956 opener.

The Bears have 23 lettermen back, including experience in the line and couple rugged players in the backfield.

Center and linebacker Steve Stieler and tackle Joe Carollo are the brutes of the Wyandotte forward wall. Stieler at 210 pounds and Carollo at 215 are rated among the best in the Border Cities Conference.

Dan Galeski, a 190 pound fullback, and John Winn, a shifty little halfback, are expected to be the running wheels in the backfield.

Coach Dick Hoffheins, in his 5th year as head coach, figures his team as a darkhorse in the Border Cities this year behind Fordson.

Pontiac has nine lettermen, but only three regulars returning from the 3-5-1 season of last year.

Dick Whitmer, with two years experience, is expected to start at quarterback. However, Harrison Munson, in recent drills, has shown the possibility of pushing Whitmer for the job.

Archie Brooks, scrapping 160 pounder, has become one of the top running prospects on the team. He may start at fullback, but could move to left half in place of Bob Manning if necessary.

Manning is the 168 pound speedster who transferred from Detroit where he was the city dash champion in the 100 and 220 yard sprints.

Game time Friday night is 8:00 p.m.

Waterford Hosts Dondero

By BILL CORNWELL

Waterford High School athletic director Waldo Ashley had a moment of confusion while arranging the Skippers' 1957 football schedule and the mix-up will be dumped squarely in the lap of head coach Dave Freeman Friday night.

There are two high schools in Royal Oak—old Dondero and new Kimball. Ashley thought it would be nice for the Skippers to open their season with Kimball, which is just beginning its athletic program.

The idea was fine, but somewhere along the line Ashley got his signals crossed and the Skippers wound up with Dondero as their opening opponent.

Freeman turned pale for a while, then regained his composure and decided there was nothing left to do but go ahead and play the Oaks as scheduled.

So that's the way it will be tomorrow night on the Waterford gridiron when the Skippers start a new season with Royal Oak Dondero as the foe.

Waterford, expected to be a strong contender for the Inter-Lakes Conference title this fall, will have its hands full against the Oaks.

Ivy Loftin, taking over the head coaching reins from Jim Manilla, has an all-state candidate in end Hewitt Hornbeck, plus experienced performers such as center John Kerr, tackle Gary Bryce, fullback Jim Sierns and halfback Gary Banks.

Big things are expected from the Skippers after they pinned up a proud 8-1 record last year. Many of the shining lights of that team are missing, but there are still several bright rays of hope available.

Ends John Keating and Bill Cole, center Doug Hales, tackle Barry Campbell and guard John Rise give the Skippers size and mobility up front. Brighton transfer Bill Loveland and Jerry Nelson furnish breakaway punch at halfback while Jim Green moves into the quarterback post.

The Oaks will be an excellent testing ground of Waterford's strength. In the words of Freeman, "We think Dondero will be as good or better than any team we'll play this season."

Waterford is held in high esteem by Loftin. "We're worried about this game," said Ivy. "We've heard impressive reports about the Skippers and we look for a hard fight," he commented.

Walled Lake, defending Inter-Lakes champion, raises the curtain on its '57 slate tomorrow night against Redford Union on the Redford field.

Union will be seeking revenge for a 32-7 pasting at the hands of last year's unbeaten Viking squad. Leading Union's hopes for an upset are a couple of fleet-footed halfbacks, Sy Davis and Russ Lechel.

The Vikings, co-favorite with Waterford in the Inter-Lakes race, will counter with halfback Don Yeargan, quarterback Frank Fink and a revamped but experienced line.

Royal Oak Kimball, the Skippers' escaped opposition, provides Southfield with its 1st competition at Royal Oak while Farmington lifts the lid with Livonia Bentley at Farmington.

The Farmington-Bentley tussle is an afternoon contest starting at 3:30. All the others are night games with kickoff time at 8 o'clock.

Clarkston at Oxford in Non-Loop Clash

W-O Teams in League Play

By CHUCK ABAIR

A local battle matching Clarkston and Oxford and two league contests headline a six-game schedule involving Wayne-Oakland loop teams as another football campaign gets under way throughout this sector Friday night.

New coach Art Paddy takes his West Bloomfield eleven to Milford and Bloomfield Hills, playing its 1st year in the league, is at Clarenceville in the W-O games.

Among the others, Holly gets a severe early test at Grand Blanc, defending champion Northville is host to Plymouth and Brighton is at home against South Lyon.

Clarkston may be rated a slight favorite at Oxford although injuries have hurt the Wolves. Latest casulty is big end Bill Noles with a badly sprained wrist. He may see limited service, if any, Friday. The Clarkston backfield has been juggled around with ex-quarterback and team sparkplug Leroy Parks now an end.

Dick Figg, starting his 1st season at Oxford, will be gunning for that important initial win with Mike Lewis running the team from the quarterback slot and rugged Jim McCullum handling the bulk of the running chores and backing up the line.

West Bloomfield and Milford expect to be at top strength for their big opener although Keego starters Don Bradley and Ross Faulkner have been ailing. Milford passing ace Pat Kelley and Laker triple threat John Lucadam are expected to stage one of the individual offensive duels of the year.

Bloomfield Hills is given a good chance to make a successful debut in the league. Coach Don Hoff has a big, experienced backfield led by Jim Kearney, the county's 2nd leading scorer in 1956.

Holly, which showed plenty of good stuff in a scrimmage against Fenton recently, will have its work cut out trying to stop Grand Blanc runing sensation Bob Suci. "I don't known if we can stop him but we hope to outscore them with our backfield of Amos Bradsher, Bill Taylor, George Coggins and Bill Letson," said coach Al Gratsch.

Northville is "loaded" and the Mustangs will be out to avenge a 13-12 setback which marred their record last year. Brighton will be also meeting a team it lost to by one point in '56.

WEE WILLIE —One of Pontiac's top linemen this year should be Willie Duncan, rugged 187 pound guard who last year led the PHS wrestling team. Duncan, a junior, will be at the guard spot for the Chiefs Friday night against Wyandotte in the season opener.

MEAN — Waterford High School's gridiron opponents will find tackle Barry Campbell a mean customer when it comes to mixing in the line. The 225-pound Campbell is one of several reasons for Skipper optimism as the 1957 season draws near.

Armada of the Southern Thumb League would kind of like to win a football championship one of these years. It has been 30 years since the school has won a crown.

Parkers Play All Away

Oak Park will be playing its entire football schedule away from home again this year. School officials hope to have the new field ready for use there by next fall.

Lions to Get Real Test by NFL Champs

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

There's no better test for any title-minded team than to play the World Champions to see if ideas of a championship are warranted.

After winning three straight and then dropping two in a row, the Detroit Lions will get this big test against the World Champion New York Giants in Briggs Stadium Sunday afternoon.

This will be the final pre-season game for both teams. For the Lions, who have been tabbed as the closest contender to the Chicago Bears in the Western Division, it will be a test against the best team in the Eastern Division.

Pre-season choices pick Detroit and Chicago to battle for the Western crown as they did a year ago, but no one can overlook the 5-0 mark currently held by the Green Bay Packers in exhibition play.

In the Eastern Division, which has had very little success against the Western teams this year the Giants appear much stronger than any of their rivals. Closest competition is expected to come from the Cleveland Browns, one of the best defensive units in the NFL.

Veteran observers say the Giants have the best backfield in professional football, mainly for two reasons.

First of all it is noted that the Giants won the world title in beating the Bears in the playoff with one of the lowest totals for net yardage passing in the league. This indicates the strength of the running game and the offensive unit.

Secondly, the backfield combination of Frank Webster, Alex Gifford and Mel Triplett, is the best individually balanced running attack in the pro circuit. Each runner is averaging better than five yards per carry.

The Lions have been given high recognition for title contention due to the trades which have brought John Henry Johnson and Tobin Rote to Detroit.

With Bobby Layne and Rote, two of the leading passers in the league last year guiding the team, the pre-season selectors figure this to be the best passing punch combination available.

Injuries have plagued the Lions in pre-season games. End Jim Doran has been inactive for three weeks with a bad leg, halfback Tom Tracy is just recovering from surgery, linebacker Sonny Gandee has his arm in a cast, Bob Long was out for two weeks with leg injuries and Charley Ane is nursing an injured hand.

All-pro linebacker Roger Zatkoff, obtained from the Browns, is finally molding into shape and to help the center situation the Lions have acquired veteran Frank Gatsky from Cleveland.

With Gatsky in the fold, Ane will now see duties at his old tackle position which has been held down by rookie Ken Russell.

Thus far this year, the Lions have had little success with their ground game. Gene Gedman has yet to hit his stride, Hopalong Cassady has looked good in spots, Tracy and Johnson have been running well, but none has been able to break away for any long gains.

It will be Rote's turn to start at quarterback Sunday in accordance with alternating plan of coach George Wilson.

A crowd of 45,000 is expected, and according to the Lions' ticket offices, there are many good seats available because regular season ticket holders have not purchased their allotted numbers for the exhibition contest.

Leahy Placed on Waivers by Detroit Lions

The Detroit Lions yesterday signed veteran center Frank Gatski and asked for waivers on rookie linebacker Gerry Leahy of Bay City.

Leahy, a University of Colorado star, was the Lion's seventh draft choice.

Gatski played with the Cleveland Browns for 11 years.

Hillsdale Has 25-Game Win Streak

State Small Colleges Set to Start

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ten Michigan small college teams open their 1957 football seasons this weekend with six of the contests scheduled under the lights.

Central Michigan's Chippewas, their long winning streak snapped by Bradley's Braves last Saturday night, take on Western Michigan at Mt. Pleasant in one of the top games in the state. The Chips still will be trying to protect a 19-game winning streak on their home grounds, Alumni Field.

This will be a stout test for coach Merle Schlosser in his first game as leader of the Broncos from Kalamazoo. He has an inexperienced team to throw against the champions of the Interstate Conference.

Six MIAA schools will be in action, all against non-league opponents. Hope opens its season at home against Fred Trosko's Eastern Michigan team, which rates a strong favorite over the Dutchmen. Alma is at home against Indiana Central. Hillsdale is at home against Lakeland College and Defiance, Ohio, comes to Adrian. All these are night games.

Albion, riddled by eligibility rulings that took most of the veterans out of its lineup, faces Wabash on the Hoosiers' field. Kalamazoo opens its 1957 campaign at Valparaiso in a night game.

Michigan Tech's Huskies face Mankato State in a night game at Houghton.

Wabash will be favored to repeat its 26-7 opening triumph over Albion last year. Wabash has a veteran crew. Hillsdale figures to win easily over Lakeland of Wisconsin.

Alma defeated Indiana Central a year ago 24-16 for one of its two victories. Adrian easily handled Defiance 27-6 in its opener last season and should do it again.

Kalamazoo is given the edge over Valparaiso. Although Valpo defeated the Hornets 7-6 last season, the Indiana club does not have a single starter back this fall while Kalamazoo is rich in veteran talent.

'M'--MSU Head Coaches Expect Good Seasons Barring Injuries

Spartan Chief Remembers Ills of Last Season

Duffy Eagerly Awaits Start of Season With Bright Hopes

By DUFFY DAUGHERTY
Head Football Coach

The new football season is little more than a week away. All of us at Michigan State are eagerly awaiting its start. We've worked hard in practice, had some fun and accomplished quite a bit. But after awhile just practicing ceases to be satisfying. The game's the thing!

We hope to have a good team this fall. But we'll need to stay intact physically, much better than we did last year, get some good bounces from that crazy-shaped ball, and play as well as we possibly can. We really had the injuries last year.

We have a rugged schedule. We face six Big Ten teams—Indiana, Michigan, Purdue, Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota—plus California, Notre Dame and Kansas State. We have good fortune in that six of these games, including four of the Big Ten contests, will be played on our home field.

We won't know for another week just who will get the starting call in the opener against Indiana, but this line-up should come pretty close to being the right one.

This is our probable lineup: Left end, Sammy Williams, of Dansville, Mich.; left tackle Francis O'Brien, of Holyoke, Mass.; left guard, Don Wright, of Dearborn; center, Dan Currie, of Detroit; right guard, Cliff LaRose, of Grosse Pointe, right tackle, Capt. Pat Burke, of Lawrence, Mass.; right end, Dave Kaiser, of Alpena.

In the backfield it looks like quarterback, Jim Ninowski, of Detroit; left halfback, Blanche Martin, of River Rouge; right halfback, Walt Kowalczyk, of Westfield, Mass., and fullback, Don Gilbert, of Dubois, Pa. You will note that seven of these are Michigan boys.

The Big Ten race looks like one of the finest in years, with at least half a dozen strong teams, perhaps more. Among the top ones certainly are Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Ohio State, and Iowa.

The pre-season guessers have picked us up high, too, and we certainly hope we can make their prophecies come true.

Mikes, Rams Open Sunday

By BILL CORNWELL

St. Michael, accustomed to winning most of its football games in recent years, and St. Frederick, which has made a habit of losing them for so long that it hurts, open their 1957 seasons Sunday at Wisner Stadium.

The Mikes collide with St. Benedictine of Detroit, a school they have never met before, in an afternoon game starting at 3 o'clock.

St. Fred gets under way against its traditional opening foe, Marine City Holy Cross, in a clash under the lights beginning at 8 p.m.

Coming out on the long end of the score has become somewhat of a tradition at St. Mike, especially after Bob Mineweaser took over the head coaching duties.

Now entering his 14th year as Shamrock mentor, Mineweaser has had the satisfaction of seeing his teams win a majority of their games. One of the few exceptions to this rule was last year when the Shamrocks skidded to a 4-5 record.

The Mikes' pride took a beating in 1956 and they're anxious to get off on the right foot Sunday. The odds have it that they will.

There has been nothing but headaches for head coach Gene Wright since he came to St. Fred in 1955. Injuries and other assorted forms of bad luck have contrived to keep the Rams from tasting victory under Wright's guidance.

As a matter of fact, the Rams have not won on the gridiron since Sept. 20, 1953. On that particular Sunday afternoon at Wisner Stadium they scored an 18-0 triumph over Holy Cross, this Sunday's opponent.

Since then the southsiders have struggled through 34 games without a win— 30 losses and four ties—to record one of the longest victory famines in state history.

Their last win came on opening day. The Rams would be only too happy to break their losing habits on opening day of '57 in a game which must be considered a toss-up.

Both squads have been hit by injuries, but the Shamrocks look better equipped to handle the problem.

Tackle Lou Palace, St. Mike captain, will miss the 1st couple of games with a banged-up knee and his spot will be filled in a big way by 229-pound Fred Lauinger, a sophomore. Halfback Mike Flynn is also ailing, but there is still experience at every backfield position.

Veteran St. Fred guard Frank Palopoli is out for the season with a head injury and his place will be taken by sophomore Bob Yapo. Joe Sharpe will replace Tony Brown at center while Gary Dirker takes Tom Derocher's halfback spot.

The two schools do not begin their Suburban Catholic League wars until Sept. 29.

SHAMROCK — St. Michael is looking forward to a winning season and 170-pound Jim Fox aids the cheerful outlook. Fox, shown here nimbly stepping over air dummies in a running exercise, will operate at fullback for the Shamrocks.

THE BARON — Hard-running Jim Kearney will pose a new problem for Wayne-Oakland coaches to cope with this season as Bloomfield Hills plays its first season in the league. The three-year veteran was the second best scorer in the county in 1956.

Wolverine Pilot Sees Backfield Strength Better

Oosterbaan Optimistic Despite Major Losses of Defensive Players

By BENNIE OOSTERBAAN
Head Football Coach

Michigan should have a good football team this year, one that should progress as the season moves on, barring injuries, but it definitely will be weaker than last year in spots as we enter the initial phase of our schedule.

It is easy to see why this statement is made when it is considered that we lost such 1956 star performers as All-America Ron Kramer and Capt. Ton Maentz at the ends; Mike Rotunno at center; Dick Hill at left guard and Terry Barr, the finest defensive halfback at Michigan since Gene Derricotte in 1948.

They would be especially valuable this year because of their defensive ability and experience,—factors that we on the coaching staff are well aware of in working with this year's squad.

As we go into preparations for the initial phase of the season with our away-from-home opener against Southern California, September 28. We should be adequate at the ends and tackles, fair at guards and with veteran strength available at center.

In the backfield we should be as strong as last year at left half with Jim Pace and Bob Ptacek—possibly stronger because both boys have added experience. The same is true at fullback with John Herrnstein, a standout, and Gene Sisinyak and Jim Byers, also improved over last year.

Right halfback is a problem because we have only one letterman in Mike Shatusky, and we must develop additional strength here. Fred Julian, Detroit sophomore, and another pair of newcomers, Brad Myers of Chicago and Al Groce of Clairton, Pa., could help here a great deal.

Jim Van Pelt at quarterback should handle the situation and the best of the sophomore crop appears to be Stan Noskin, the best passing prospect we've had at Michigan since Charlie Ortmann back in 1948-49-50.

Looking around the conference, it looks like another keen, close Big Ten season, with everybody capable of beating the other fellow if he lets down even for a moment. We should see some real football this year.

THE BARON — Hard-running Jim Kearney will pose a new problem for Wayne-Oakland coaches to cope with this season as Bloomfield Hills plays its first season in the league. The three-year veteran was the second best scorer in the county in 1956.

Maples vs. Cranbrook in Big Local Battle

By CHUCK ABAIR

One of the biggest local battles on a busy opening day football calendar around this sector will be staged Friday night at Birmingham as the Maples entertain a much-improved Cranbrook eleven in the annual clash betwen the neighboring rivals.

Birmingham is usually the favorite when these schools meet and the same holds true this time. But Coach Carl Lemle is anything but overconfident about the Cranes.

He well remembers the close call his team had a year ago before clinching a 19-13 triumph and has pushed his charges hard to be at top form for the Bloomfield Hills' gridders.

Cranbrook is anxious to get back on the winning side of the ledger after compiling a humiliating 1-6-1 record last fall and would like nothing better than to start off by upsetting Birmingham in its only game against an Oakland County school.

A big question mark in the Maple lineup is halfback Ed Estes, a talented transfer from East Lansing. He suffered a concussion in a scrimmage last weekend and may not be ready. Big tackle Jack Palmer has been recovering from a back ailment and should be all set by kickoff time.

Eligibility problems are the chief headache at Cranbrook. Coach Fred Campbell has 10 players, including former Illinois all-state Stuart Clark, who cannot play in the opener because they are transfers. They will be eligible for all other games.

A big factor in the Maples' favor will be size. The home club will average 182 pounds a player to 168 for Cranbrook. That edge will be increased if Estes is not ready. Rod Ruddy, 180, will replace the newcomer and add 20 pounds to the size department.

Orion 11 Faces Roseville, Jackets Wait for Inkster

Lake Orion, a pre-season bet to make a run for the Oakland B League title, and graduation-crippled Avondale start their 1957 football campaigns Friday night against non-conference foes.

Coach Ted Sela will take his Dragons to Roseville to meet the Wildcats, who withdrew from the Oakland B circuit this year. Avon plays host to Inkster Roosevelt of the Metro-Suburban loop.

Roseville, under new head coach Bill Sherman, should give Orion a stiff opening workout.

Sherman has replaced the T-formation with the single wing and he has veteran Morris Sims ready for duty as a spinning fullback. Isia Harris provides breakaway speed at halfback and 6-foot-4 Duane Hussey is a standout end.

Veteran Nick Niera, Orion's key to a winning season, will pilot the Dragons from his quarterback post. Jeff Snarey may see only limited action at halfback because of an ankle injury and Sela has nominated Jim Drake to replace him.

Frank Crowell will have three sophomores in his starting lineup tomorrow night as the great rebuilding program begins at Avondale. Seven of the starters are "wet behind the ears," including quarterback Gary Acker.

The Jackets will build their hopes around tackles Dick Freeland and Bob Grusnick, halfback Duane Lau, and Chuck Nurek, who is switching from guard to fullback this fall. All four were mainstays of the 1956 team.

Roosevelt, coached by Jack Scott, is also rebuilding and five sophomores will dot the lineup. Quarterback Tony Hernandez and halfback Bill Wintersteen are holdover stars. The Bulldogs shared the Metro-Suburban crown with Detroit Lutheran last year.

Lutheran will spread out the welcome mat for Troy Friday while other non-league games are Madison at Royal Oak St. Mary, Utica at Fitzgerald and defending champion Clawson at Center Line.

REDSKIN ACE—One who could spark Milford to the Wayne-Oakland League championship this season is passing and running ace Pat Kelley. The 180-pound quarterback heads 19 lettermen back with the Milford contingent this season.

Pontiac Press Photos by Tom Gerls and Ron Wagman

BIG BULLDOG — One of the biggest gridders on the local scene this year will be Romeo's senior tackle John Lomakoski, shown holding little linebacker Jim Bush on his shoulder. Lomakoski is a 6-3, 235-pounder.

Rochester Home, Romeo to Play Away Tomorrow

A rebuilt Rochester aggregation and a veteran Romeo team, area entries in the newly-formed Tri-County League, get their initial taste of competition tomorrow in non-loop lidlifters.

The Falcons open at home against Davison, while Romeo takes to the road playing at Richmond. Both are seeking repeats of triumphs over the same schools last fall.

Class A Lapeer and L'Anse Creuse, the other Tri-County members, also get under way Friday. Lapeer plays at Caro and L'Anse goes to Fraser.

No league play is scheduled until mid-October giving all the schools a good chance to get early mistakes ironed out before the important games come up.

Knee injuries are expected to sideline key men on three of the four teams for opening night. Two of them, Romeo center Tom Owen and versatile L'Anse Creuse quarterback Stuart Reed, may be out for the season. Veteran 205-pound tackle Dave Thompson is ailing at Rochester.

With only seven lettermen on hand and Thompson sidelined, Gene Konley at Rochester has spent considerable time trying out different combinations. He likely will continue to do so during the early games.

The Falcon lineup Friday will include at least three 200-plus linemen in Ken Purdom, Chuck Ebersole and Gary Meissner. "Peanuts" Montross is set at quarterback with the rest of the backfield to be selected from newcomer John Applegate, Fred Rosenquist, Dave Hecht and Ted Knapp.

Romeo expects a busy evening at Richmond where speedster Tom Ditmann is reportedly running better than ever. The Bulldogs posted a hard-earned 12-6 triumph over the Blue Devils in '56.

Butch Dallwitz, Ray Rinke, Dave Proper and either Angus Stirling or big sophomore Bob Galan will make up the Bulldog backfield with giant John Lomakoski heading the line.

L'Anse Creuse will be making it 1st attempt at winning a varsity game after going 7-1 against reserve units last season. Lapeer lacks experience but has a host of fast backs and big linemen.

Ortonville Plays Host to Goodrich Friday

Possessing a veteran backfield but an inexperienced line, Ortonville swings into another grid campaign Friday night playing host to traditional rival Goodrich in the 1st of three games scheduled before South Central Conference play begins.

Ortonville is hopeful of repeating last year's victory over Goodrich in a drive to match or better the 5-3 record of 1956. Larry Follis heads the Hawk offensive. Imlay walloped Marine City last fall but passing ace Larry Dorow and 14 other lettermen have since departed.

In other area opening night action, North Branch and Millington of the South Central have home tilts against Marlette and Vasser, respectively, independent Oak Park plays at Garden City and South Lake of the Bi-County League is guest of St. Clair.

Southern Thumb Elevens Battle Non-League Foes

All seven teams of the Class C, Southern Thumb League open their seasons against outside opponents tomorrow in preparation for some rough going in loop play starting next week.

Dryden, a strong title contender this fall with five boys back from the 1956 starting lineup, unveils its new model in an afternoon game before the home folks against Peck.

Almont is heavy favorite to repeat as league champ this fall. The Raiders host Flint Atherton in a tuneup which should give rivals an indication of what to expect during the coming weeks.

New Haven, which shared the top spot with Almont last season, has been rebuilding and gets its 1st test at home against Clintondale. Kingston at Brown City, St. Lawrence of Utica at Armada and Anchor Bay at Capac are other Friday tussles involving Thumb elevens.

Memphis is the only league team opening away from home and not playing tomorrow. The highly-rated Yellow Jackets get underway Saturday at Richmond St. Augustine.

Both Almont and New Haven went unbeaten in league and overall play a year ago and battled to a 19-19 tie when they met.

It is just the opposite for Brown City and Capac, last place teams in '56. They finished 0-7-1 overall with the tie a 0-0 stalemate against each other.

FALCON STARTERS — Veteran Ken Purdom (over the ball) and newcomer Carl "Peanuts" Montross will be the starting center and quarterback, respectively, for Rochester this season. The pair will rank as the Mutt-and-Jeff combination of the area. Purdom is a 220-pounder, while little Montross tips the scales at 145.

CRANE CAPTAIN — Lloyd Asbury, who plays center on offense and backs up the line on defense, will captain the Cranbrook Cranes this season. The rugged senior is expected to rank with the outstanding linemen in the area as Cranbrook attempts to battle its way back after winning only once last fall.

Tigers Bid Adieu to Yankees for 1957

Happy to Leave After 4-3 Loss to Berra's Bat

Yogi Clouts 2 Homers to Account for All 4 New York Runs

NEW YORK (AP) — The paths of the Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees won't cross again this season and it's just as well for the Tigers.

Yogi Berra blasted two home runs yesterday as the Yankees kissed the Tigers goodbye for another year by handing them a 4-3 defeat.

The Tigers were highballing along the American League trail at top speed and appeared ready to throw the Boston Red Sox out of third place in the league standings and take the spot for themselves until they went to New York for a two-game series.

In the first game Tuesday the Yankees walked all over the Tigers to score a 7-1 victory. Yesterday's loss let Detroit two full games behind Boston.

Detroit's loss yesterday also shoved the Yankees a bit closer to another American League pennant. New York now leads second place Chicago by 6½ games, third place Boston by 15½ games and fourth place Detroit by 17½ games.

Berra was the big man in New York's victory.

The Yankee slugger hit his 21st and 22nd home runs to drive in all of the Yankee runs. His first round tripper came in the third inning with Gil McDougald and Mickey Mantle perched on the bases. The second was a lead off homer in the sixth.

Both of Berra's blasts were handed out by Duke Maas, the first of three Detroit pitchers.

Detroit moved out in front in the second inning on singles by Al Kaline, Harvey Kuenn and Frank House. But the lead was short-lived. It only lasted until Berra came to bat in the third.

The second Detroit run came in the fourth when Al Kaline, who had singled, scored on Frank House's sacrifice fly. But from there on Sal Maglie kept the Tigers well in hand until the eighth when Charlie Maxwell blasted his 24th homer.

Bob Turley relieved Maglie and held the Tigers scoreless to the end.

SPORTS

HOME OF THE BRAVES — Milwaukee, the home of the Braves, is now being flooded with applications for World Series tickets. Special handlers were put on to handle the flood which got heavier as Braves pushed their lead to three and now four games over the St. Louis Cardinals. This haul is one day's mail.

Braves Hike NL Lead to 4 Games

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Manager Fred Hutchinson of the St. Louis Cardinals is realistic about their four-game deficit with nine to play, but says defiantly:

"I still think the pennant will be decided at Milwaukee."

Brooklyn's old champions, still a nemesis to the Redbirds, dealt St. Louis a severe blow last night with a 6-1 victory behind rangy Don Drysdale, while the league-leading Braves defeated New York, 8-2.

The square jawed field boss of the Cards made no bones about how tough it was to lose that one last night.

He felt the Cards still will be within striking distance when they reach Milwaukee for a three-game series Sept. 23-24-25.

Hutch's club disappointed a crowd of 22,468 by failing to score on 10 hits in the first five innings. They then handed Brooklyn four unearned runs on three errors in the seventh and eighth.

The manager and his players were philosophical about it.

They had won 11 of 13 since Labor Day, Hutch pointed out, and for the season have done "about as well as could be expected."

Frank Lane has been trying to pick up a lefthanded pitcher to help the club in its last nine games, when they'll face line-ups loaded with lefthanded sluggers.

The Cardinals have only one lefty—Vinegar Bend Mizell. Hutch plans to lead off with him at Cincinnati tomorrow, then use Sad Sam Jones and Herman Wehmeier in the second and third games.

Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh 2-1 and the Chicago Cubs clipped Philadelphia 6-4 as Robin Roberts lost his 21st in the other NL games.

Righthander Lew Burdette, going the distance for only the second time in seven starts, tossed a four-hitter for the Braves, who hadn't won three straight since Sept. 2-3, when they padded their lead to 8½ games.

Willie Mays socked his 35th home run, but the Giants were long dead by then and Burdette had his 16th victory in the bag.

Evashevski Says He's 'Misquoted' About Criticism

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Iowa coach Forest Evashevski says he was "misquoted and misinterpreted" in criticism of president Herman B. Wells of Indiana University attributed to him by Sports Illustrated.

The magazine appeared on newsstands today. Evashevski, who said he had received an advance copy, referred particularly to a section of the article quoting him as saying, "I tell you, that situation at Indiana just turned my stomach, the way that president turned on his coach . . ."

Evashevski said Wednesday, "Had I been asked about the situation at Indiana, I would have said that I thought president Wells defended his coach to the fullest."

The reference was to Phil Dickens, new Indiana football coach who was barred from coaching activities for a year for alleged violation of the Big Ten recruiting rules.

Global Crown Taken by Japan

DETROIT (INS) — Sadayoshi Osawa almost single-handedly paced Japan to a 4-2 11th-inning victory over Canada last night, as the Japanese team won the Global World Series of Baseball at Briggs Stadium in Detroit.

He tied the score at 2-2 in the 9th inning with a double and scored the winning run in the 11th. Osawa Started Japan's move for the title in the 7th with a home run.

Osawa, captain of the team, also made a fine catch against the left field wall in the 10th inning to save the game, handled substitutions, ran back and forth from his outfield berth each time a discussion with the umpire arose and handled the first base coaching job when he wasn't swing a bat at the plate.

The Japanese, possessing weak arms and lacking power at the plate, had it all over other teams when it came to hustling.

Canada earned the right to meet Japan in the final game by eliminating Venezuela 6-1, earlier last night.

The Titan football coach, who starts his 4th season at the U. of D. helm against Marquette Saturday afternoon, has been long recognized by his wavy silver hair and deep volumunous voice.

"I doubt that my hair can get any whiter but it can start disappearing if things do not shape up better for us," he said.

The 45-year-old ex-Notre Dame star saw bright things for his 1956 campaign. Then the roof caved in. Three big tackles were lost by grades, and in the first two games seven regulars were lost by injuries for the season.

"We have two good healthy teams ready to start this season," says Fromhart, "but I've been sleeping on a bed of four leaf clovers for the past three weeks hoping we will have these two units intact when the opener comes along."

Saturday he faces another Notre Dame standout, Johnny Druze, who now coaches his most traditional and bitter rival, Marquette.

Plans are to have the band start the game with the song "When Your Hair Has Turned to Silver" because next year the song may be the "Bald Eagle March."

DITTOS: Are you wondering how Michigan State did in its recruiting of freshmen football players this year? Here's a note that has Ohio Staters burning . . . Of the best 14 players which MSU went after in Ohio, 12 are now Spartan frosh . . . Ineluded are the two best quarterbacks of the Buckeye state . . .

At the gathering of the Detroit chapter of the National Journalism Fraternity last night, Lions coach George Wilson said, "I have only one thing to say about Bobby Layne, he's the best player in the pro league."

Cranes From 8 States

Cranbrook has players from eight different states on its 1957 football roster. Besides Michigan, states represented are Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, West Virginia, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Dodger Tale in Final Chapter

NEW YORK (INS) — New York City's Board of Estimate is writing the final chapter today in the tale of two cities fighting over the Brooklyn Dodgers.

After listening to new proposals by financier Nelson A. Rockefeller and mayor Robert F. Wagner at a two-hour meeting yesterday, Dodger President Walter O'Malley agreed to defer his decision on the "attractive offer" made by Los Angeles until New York's governing body got its turn at bat.

The board discussed the Rockefeller proposal at a prolonged session yesterday and mulls the problem over again today. Wagner said later there "were a lot of questions raised" at the board meeting.

The mayor said the board wanted "a full explanation on some matters and wanted to think about it."

O'Malley might well have been thinking, too.

The heavy-jowled Dodger executive flipped the hot potato into the hands of the city's Board of Estimate 24 hours after Los Angeles offered him 300 acres in Chavez Ravine plus 50 per cent of all the oil and mineral rights.

In addition, the city would pick up the tab of $2,700,000 to build access roads to the site.

Wagner, who said "Mrs. Rockefeller's offer has added to our optimism," would not disclose the details of the plan he presented to a regular executive session of the Board of Estimate later yesterday.

"There is a definite plan but we can't discuss any of the details now," he declared.

Wagner added, "I don't expect any formal action to be taken until the members of the board have had a few days to think the matter over."

It is believed that Rockefeller, whose family donated the land for the U.N. headquarters in New York, offered to make up the difference in the price O'Malley is willing to pay and the amount the city wants for the land in downtown Brooklyn where the Dodgers want to build their new ball park.

Rockefeller last week offered to buy a percentage of the ball club and help build the new stadium. "It's in the mayor's hands now, the Board of Estimate and Mr. O'Malley's," said the dapper millionaire. "I'm very hopeful."

Turner Beats Akins, Seeks Title Chance

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Gil Turner, the hustle guy from Philadelphia, was high up in the welterweight picture again and looking for a title shot today following his upset victory over lethargic Virgil Akins.

Turner's decision victory over Akins in their telecast 10-rounder at Conventinn Hall last night, was his third straight. He had beaten middleweight Yama Bahama and Del Falanagan previously.

Referee Joey Mangold, the only official, awarded the verdict to Gil on a 5-4-1 score in rounds.

Terry Does Fine Job As Wings Trip Flyers

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings defeated the Edmonton Flyers of the Western League 3-1 in an exhibition game at Pullar Stadium last night.

While Goalie Terry Sawchuk showed he was rapidly rounding into top form with a superb performance, the Wings kept up a goal a period pace. Same teams had played a 3-3 tie Saturday night to open the training series.

Manager Jack Adams was heartened by the play of his second forward line combination. Alex Delvecchio, Lorne Ferguson and Tom McCarthy accounted for the first two tallies and played a strong game.

McCarthy, getting his second trial in the Red Wing camp, opened the scoring by deflecting John Wilson's long shot on a first period power play. Ferguson added a goal in the second period, converting Delvecchio's pass.

Chicago's Jim Wilson Wins 15th, Bosox Bow

BALTIMORE (INS) — Jim Wilson, with an assist from Gerry Staley, won his 15th game of the season last night as the Chicago White Sox defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 7 to 5, on Ron Jackson's three-run homer.

Jackson capped a five-run fifth inning for Chicago off Oriole lefthander Don Ferrarese by hammering his first home run of the season into the left field stand with two on.

Wilson, the victim of poor support which led to three unearned Baltimore runs, was replaced in the seventh inning by Staley who held the Orioles hitless the rest of the way.

The crowd of 9,089 pushed Baltimore's season attendance over the million mark for the first time in three years with 1,007,245.

At Boston, Tom Gorman and Kansas City chilled the Red Sox 2-1 after a home run by Jimmy Piersall had given the Sox an early lead.

Piersall reached the seats on Gorman's 1st pitch of the game but couldn't be touched thereafter. The Athletics scored both their runs in the 4th off Frank Sullivan.

Billy Harrell, a rookie from San Diego, belted a bases-loaded double, driving in three of five runs in the fifth as the Cleveland Indians downed the Washington Senators, 8 to 3.

Vic Wertz, who holds second place in the American League RBI race, batted in one run to raise his total to 99. Roy Sievers, the leader, had none.

Mike Garcia went the route for Cleveland, allowing 10 hits to notch his 12th win against eight losses.

With 'Green' Quarterback

Pitt Gunning for Sooners

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Coach Johnny Michelosen of Pitt has handed quarterback Bill Kaliden a tough day.

Can the 20-year-old junior with less than 27 minutes of varsity experience do it?

"Well," said the shy Homestead, Pa., pre-medical student yesterday, "that's quite a job."

It sure is, considering Oklahoma is undefeated in 40 straight games and the pick of the nation's sportswriters as the No. 1 team in the country.

Kaliden played in only four games last year—against California, Oregon, Minnesota and Notre Dame. He sat out the last four.

And for good reason, too. In the four games he did play he ran the ball seven times for 18 yards, completed two of 11 passes, and had three intercepted.

Besides, he fumbled on a crucial fourth down play against Minnesota and cost the Panthers a possible score. Minnesota won the game 9-7, one of three losses Pitt sustained last year.

Basilio Punishes Sparmate

Robinson in Top Shape

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (INS) — Welterweight king Carmen Basilio, swinging as if his sparring partners were Sugar Ray Robinson, may have to send out for some new practice mates.

Basilio, who meets Robinson for the middleweight title next Monday fractured the jaw of sparring mate Archie Whitfield yesterday in an unusually rough tuneup session.

Basilio landed the punishing straight righthand blow near the end of his two-round workout. Whitfield was to have appeared in a preliminary to the Basillio-Robinson bout at Yankee Stadium.

GREENWOOD LAKE, N.Y. (INS) — A New York State Athletic Commission physician says middleweight champion Ray Robinson, at the age of 37, has more punching power than ever before.

Dr. Alexander Schiff, after completing his official pre-fight examination, said Robinson's shoulder muscles "have increased in size" since his last fight.

Dr. Schiff said, "This definitly should give him stronger, or better, punching power."

Robinson also was pronounced in "excellent physical, Psychological and mental condition" for his title defense at Yankee Stadium against Carmen Basilio next Monday.

AIRLIFT TO EDUCATION — Thousands of school pupils are taken to their classes by bus each day but not many are whisked to their school by special plane. Near Put-In-Bay, Ohio, pilot Harold Hauck helps 12-year-old Frances Ferguson aboard the tri-motor plane which serves as her aerial school bus each day. She is the only school-age resident of tiny Rattlesnake Island in Lake Erie and the closest school is at South Bass Island, some five miles away. So the Ottawa County (Ohio) school board pays $820 a year to transport the girl to and from the school at Put-in-Bay on South Bass Island. The average annual cost of school bus transportation is about $30.

Believed to Be of Asian Variety

Thousands of Flu Cases Reported

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thousands of flu cases, most of it believed to be of the Asian variety, are reported in New York, Mississippi and Texas. School-age children were the hardest hit.

A Board of Health report showed 24,000 cases in Mississippi. Outbreaks near the epidemic stage existed in 12 Mississippi counties.

Dr. A. L. Gray, director of preventage disease control for Mississippi, said most of the cases are Asian flu. Up to 40 per cent of the population has or has had flu in some areas, he added.

Doctors investigated a suspected epidemic of Asian flu among more than 400 school children in the town of Hastings in Oswego County, N. Y.

Five schools in Hastings remained closed. They suspended classes yesterday, the first schools in New York to do so because of flu.

Ninety pupils at an elementary school in Niagara Falls, N. Y., were stricken with an illness believe to be Asian flu. The school remained open.

A total of 350 of the 1,500 pupils at the Central Square school in Hastings were ill of flu. The Cleveland school reported 25 absent of 256 pupils; the Brewerton school 20 of 264, the Main St. school 27 of 255, and the Constantia school, 5 of 65.

There were no immediate plans for mass vaccinations in the Hastings area.

The Niagara Falls outbreak was in the Central Ave. school which has an enrollment of 400.

The flu outbreak in Texas appeared to be spreading. At Conroe, 60 miles north of Houston, 300 pupils were absent with flu.

Dr. J. R. Cook said the situation definitely had reached the epidemic stage at Trinity, Tex., 70 miles north of Conroe, where 100 children were stricken.

At Dallas, City Health Director J. W. Bass set up classes in home nursing in event of a widespread outbreak of flu there. He said an epidemic could hit 50,000 persons in Dallas, creating a critical shortage of hospital space. Only three confirmed cases of Asian flu have been reported there.

The whole school system in Jasper, another southeastern Texas town, was closed. Some 400 of 2,000 pupils were absent with flu.

Other outbreaks were reported at Beaumont, Port Arthur, Port Acres and Angleton, all along the upper Texas coast.

More than 450 students at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth are ill of a flu-like illness. Doctors, however, said they didn't think it is Asian flu.

British Doctors Get $5.60 a Week Raise

LONDON—Doctors in the British Health Service got an interim pay raise of about $5.60 a week, London reports. The interim boost was allotted while consideration was given to the doctors' demand for an average $28 a week raise.

The $5.60 increase is based on how many National Health Service patients there are on a doctor's list. Up to now the doctors have collected about $2.80 a year for every patient. The interim raise affected about 20,000 doctors, dentists and senior hospital doctors. The average family doctor, with about 2,000 patients, now gets about $308 a year more.

Marriage Requirements Eased in Law

By RAY HENRY

Congress has eased up a bit on what a wife or a widow has to prove to collect monthly Social Security payments based on her husband's record of work.

She no longer is required to show one of the following:

1. She was living with her husband when he died or applied for payments.
2. She was receiving regular contributions from him when he died or applied for payments.
3. He was under a court order to support her when he died or applied for payments regardless of whether she actually was getting the support.

But, a wife or widow still has to show she was married to her husband for a certain length of time and was legally married to him.

A wife can only collect monthly payments if the marriage had been in effect for at least three years or if the couple are parents of a child. Payments to a widow can only be made if her marriage had been in effect for at least a year before her husband's death or if the couple were parents of a child.

A marriage is generally considered legal by the Social Security people if it's recognized as legal in the state where the Social Security application is filed or where a widow's husband died.

The easing of the marriage requirements results from an amendment to the Social Security law made by Congress just before it adjourned.

Here's an example of what the change means:

Suppose a couple have been married for six years when suddenly the husband packed his bags and moved out. And, suppose they continued to live apart, but never got a divorce.

Under these circumstances, the wife could now apply for and get Social Security payments based on her husband's record of work if he were collecting old age payments and she had reached at least 62.

However, under these same circumstances without Congress' change in the law, she might not have been eligible for the payments. She only could have collected them if she could have showed she was getting—or was legally eligible to get — support from her husband when he applied for his Social Security payments.

Or, take an example involving a widow:

Suppose a couple were married for five years and the husband left home, didn't return and died 10 years later.

If the couple hadn't been divorced and the husband had worked long enough to be fully insured by the Social Security law, the widow could now apply for monthly payments if she had reached at least 62.

However, without the recent change in the Social Security law, she wouldn't have been eligible unless she was getting — or was legally eligible to get — support from her husband when he died.

In addition to the change in the law applying to all situations from now on, the change covers the cases of widows and wives who've been denied payments in the past because their marriages didn't meet the old requirements of the law.

Thus, a woman who thinks she has been denied payments because of the old requirements should now apply for monthly payments based on the new requirements.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

Number of Americans over age 65 has quadrupled since 1900 and in the same period the total population has just about doubled.

Kasper Released, Leaves Nashville

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—As attendance at Nashville's five integrated grammar schools climbed back to normal, John Kasper ended his one-week stay in jail and left Nashville yesterday.

A White Citizens Council associate of Kasper, Lee Foster of Knoxville, Tenn., provided the $2,500 bail.

Kasper's Nashville attorney Montague Ross said the roving segregationist would stay out of town until Nov. 18, the date for his trial here on a charge of inciting to riot.

Kasper told newsmen he had no comment on his plans, but the lawyer said he probably would go to Washington, D.C. Nashville detectives followed him out of the city.

Zoologist Eyes Wild Animals

Tells Persons to Avoid Various Fierce Beasts, Snakes, Reptiles

ANN ARBOR (AP)—"It's better to be safe than dead," says University of Michigan zoologist Marston Bates, so don't tempt wild animals.

Writing in a national magazine, the U-M naturalist explains how to avoid all sorts of dangerous animals, fish and repties from snakes to sharks.

"Snake bite is a negligible cause of death except in India," writes Bates. "In most parts of the tropical world, the traveler is in greater danger from lightning than from snakes.

Bates lived for eight years as a research doctor in Villavicencio, Colombia, where he says lightning was always more of a threat than snakes.

He warns the reader to beware of swimming in tropical waters.

"The electric eel can be a real danger," he says. "A big electric eel can easily give a shock powerful enough to knock a man out.

"The best way of meeting the shark problem is to avoid the sharks."

Bates says the biggest danger in tropical waters of South America comes from caribes. They are tiny fish with huge mouths full of sharp teeth. They have tremendous appetites and consider humans a delicacy.

"Personally, I wouldn't touch one of the things unless it came out of the refrigerator," says Bates, recalling a man who lost a finger when he picked up a caribe he believed was dead.

Refusal Draws Headlines

Critics Laud Callas' Song

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

The opera world's prime prima donna Maria Meneghini Callas usually gets the critics' praise when she sings—and front page headlines when she doesn't.

The New York - born, Greek-raised and Italian - trained coloratura was dropped this week by the San Francisco Opera which charged she had refused to honor her contractural obligations. Within the past two months she also forced postponement of the opening program of the Athens Festival and refused to appear for the last of five performances at the Edinburgh Festival.

In each case Miss Callas gave health reasons for her inability to perform.

In her nearly 19 years of professional singing, Mme. Callas' pride and determination have made her many enemies, but she has a host of "friends" who pack opera houses from Milan's La Scala to New York's Metropolitan to hear her sing — and to watch her put more acting skill into an operatic role than is the custom.

Born in Manhattan on Dec. 3, 1923, of Greek immigrant parents, Maria was taken to Athens by her mother for a visit in 1937. Caught by the war, Maria helped keep her family alive by singing for Italian and German soldiers who gave her food. At the same time she studied on a scholarship at the Athens National Conservatory.

In 1942, another soprano's illness gave her a chance to appear as Tosca. On 24 hours notice she sang the role and won raves from critics.

After the war she returned to the U. S., where the Metropolitan offered her a chance to sing Madame Butterfly. At the time she weighed more than 200 pounds and didn't dare try the romantic role.

Back in Italy Maria found love in the person of a millionaire more than twice her age, Giovanni Battista Meneghini. They were married in 1949. Two years later she appeared as a guest artist at La Scala, and in 1952 opened the season as a member of the company.

By the time the dark-haired, dark-eyed diva returned to sing in Chicago, she was down to a slim 135 pounds.

The Met finally capitulated to her salary demands in 1955. She made her debut there on opening night of the 1956 season. Her "friends" put $75,510.50 into the till, a new house record.

Coin Flip Settles Suit After Two-Year Wait

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two businessmen, Steve Goss and Danny Powlitz, went to court for assignment of a case awaiting trial for two years. After four hours they hadn't been called.

Finally Goss, suing for $500 he claimed Powlitz owed from a business deal, walked over and said: "Let's settle this the easy way."

That was okay by Powlitz, who suggested "double or nothing."

They flipped a coin. Goss called heads but it came up tails.

Goss left emptyhanded, with this philosophical observation: "He probably would have won in court anyway."

A man brought his young son to the Grand Canyon, pointed to the eroded rocks and said, "See? That's what happens when you don't brush your teeth" . . . . . Robert Q. Lewis, weary of foreign food and hotels, was asked, "When's the best time to go overseas?" He answered, "When you're in Europe."

Disabled Vets' Pension Sought

American Legion Asks for Half Billion Dollars From Congress

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—The American Legion, closing its 39th annual convention today, is asking Congress for almost half a billion dollars a year in pensions for needy or disabled veterans.

The Legion refused in two hours of debate yesterday to consider proposals calling for pensions for all veterans at the age of 65.

It approved a resolution providing that a veteran of World War I, II or Korea be deemed totally disabled when he reaches 65 — provided his income is less than $1,400 yearly if single or $2,700 yearly if married.

Those under 65 would get the pension only if totally disabled.

The proposal of the 2,800,000-member organization also would increase present disability payments up to $14.55 monthly.

It would increase monthly rates of $66.15, $78.75 and $135.45 for various categories of disability to $75, $90, and $150 respectively.

The Pennsylvania delegation introduced the resolution. It was approved unanimously by the convention's Rehabilitation Committee. The convention threw down attempts to amend it to make the disability age 60 years.

Legion sources said present disability payments would cost the government $666,468,962 next year and that if the new plan is approved by Congress it would cost an additional $487,597,208.

They said the proposed plan would make about 350,000 additional veterans eligible to collect benefits.

U.S. Rubber Co. Plans Research

To Spend $120 Million in Developing Rubber, Plastic Products

WAYNE, N.J. (INS) — The United States Rubber Co. announced that it plans to spend at least 120 million dollars over the next five years on research and development of rubber and plastic products.

The announcement was made by the company President, H. E. Humphreys, Jr., during a preview of the company's new multi-million dollar research center near Wayne, N. J. by some 200 newsmen from U.S. Rubber Co. plant cities across the nation.

The research center, which will delve into the application of atomic energy as related to rubber, was formally dedicated today. The principal speaker is Admiral Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Humphreys told newsmen the vast expenditure in research will be devoted to three objectives.

They are:

—To develop passenger car tires of such superior quality that they will give entirely safe, trouble-free performance at turnpike speeds.

—To bridge the gap between rubber and metal and provide a range of hardness, toughness and stretchiness all the way from rubber to metals.

—To unlock the wealth of atomic energy as it is applied to the rubber industry.

Humphreys disclosed that his research people already found ways to use radiation to cure rubber. He said they are using a two-million volt electron accelerator in their experiments.

The meeting will be under the direction of Supt. Russell LeCronier, of Mt. Pleasant, current president of the Michigan Assn. of School Administrators.

Wives of superintendents will be entertained by Mrs. Nancy Williams at a tea Friday afternoon at the Governor's summer mansion.

First Underground A-Bomb Blown Today

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—Atomic scientists were set today to touch off history's first underground nuclear blast.

They planned to explode a small atomic device in a tunnel 800 feet below the surface of the desert.

Scientists here and at hundreds of other places around the world were standing by for the shot, hoping its shock waves would give them more information about how the earth is put together.

The explosion was not expected to kick up any dust or dirt above ground.

Scientists hoped to get their first idea of the earth's composition by taking readings on the shock waves. Earthquakes have not provided opportunities for such readings because the time of their origin is never known in advance.

Philly Police Recover Stolen Wooden Injun

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Police here have recovered their first stolen wooden Indian.

Sees Important Place for New Jet Bomber

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—After flying Convair's delta-winged B58 at speeds up to 1,500 m.p.h. Lt. Gen. C. S. Irvine said yesterday it "will fill an important place in our family of weapons."

Irvine, Air Force deputy chief of staff for materiel, gave the appraisal on completing a two-hour test hop in the needle-nosed jet bomber. He accompanied Convair test pilot B. A. Erickson on a dogleg course around the nation.

In 1956 the United States population increased by about 3,000,000, the largest one-year gain in history.

Avondale School Bus Plan Due Tonight

Parents to Hear Proposal at 8 P.M. Special Meeting

By WILMA GREENWAY

AVONDALE — Parents of students in the Avondale School District—who turned out 300 strong Monday night to protest the planned curtailment of school bus transportation—will hear the School Board's proposal for a solution to the situation at a public meeting scheduled for 8 tonight in Avondale High School.

Just what the proposal will be, school board members, caught in a riptide between irate parents and a state cutback on school transportation funds, have not yet revealed.

Board members have, however, indicated that in order to comply with parents' petitions to continue full transportation it might be necessary to ask for a tax hike.

Avondale parents charged Monday that reducing bus transportation would endanger the lives of their children by forcing many of them to walk to school along busy highways.

They crowded the meeting to present petitions and state objections, after buses Monday changed to a new schedule in accordance with notices sent to parents last week.

Under the new schedule, kindergarten pupils were given transportation, but students in grades 1 through 6 living within a 1-mile radius of the school were forced to walk, and those in grades 7 through high school within a 1½ mile radius also were denied transportation.

It was only after parents threatened to keep their children out of school that the board promised to run the buses on the same basis as last year until a solution to the problem could be worked out.

STATE CUT FUNDS

The board explained that the cutback in transportation was caused by a reduction in state aid, following a decision in the Michigan Legislature this summer which specified that the state would pay transportation funds only on students living outside a 1½-mile radius of the schools. Previously the state had paid for all except those within 1 mile of the schools.

Avondale Schools Supt. Raymond N. Baker explained that this would cost the district approximately $11,000 more than last year.

Last year, he said, 164 students lived within 1 mile of the school, and 612 within 1½ miles. On this basis, the school district would be forced to pay transportation costs (about $18 to $20 per pupil) for 448 additional pupils, and school enrollment increases this year would hike that figure still more.

However, he said, school superintendents from all over the state, as well as from Oakland County, have been meeting with officials in Lansing to try to find a solution.

One plan, said to have the approval of many lawmakers, would have the state pay for all pupils but allow the state to deduct either 25 per cent of the per capita cost of transporting students within 1½ miles of schools or $8, whichever is greater.

If this arrangement were put into effect, Avondale's cost for transportation would drop from the estimated $11,000 to between $6,000 and $7,000, Baker believed.

"The problem is one that is causing trouble all over the state," Baker said.

"The parents do not object to their children walking the distance to school. Their protests are based on the danger involved in children walking along the shoulders of busy roads, without sidewalks.

"I think it was a legitimate complaint. We appreciate their problem and certainly are interested in promoting all the safety angles. The parents have been reasonable in giving the school board time to work out a solution.

"But the school's problem is how to provide the transportation facilities without the money to do it!"

Meanwhile Mrs. Kenneth K. Evans of Avon Township, one of the parents whose child is affected by the bus curtailment, said that parents will not settle for any proposal which does not provide safe travel to and from school for all students.

"The school board made this decision to cut bus service sometime early this month, I understand," she said. "Why didn't they notify the parents to attend a meeting, where such an important issue as the safety of children was at stake?

"Instead, the board decided to cut the transportation and notified the parents afterwards. I think they tried to slip something over on us, and most of the other parents feel the same way. We don't like it."

The Avondale School District is comprised of four elementary one junior high and one high school in Avon, Troy, Bloomfield and Pontiac Townships. It includes some 2,600 to 2,700 pupils, and last year its school buses transported 1,781 students.

West Bloomfield Actors Prepare to Stage Comedy

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—A scientist, a cost accountant, a housewife and a former magician will mix it up in their first play for the Township Players of West Bloomfield Oct. 17, 18 and 19.

The production is "Wake Up, Darling" by Alex Gottlieb, a comedy recently on Broadway.

Howard DeHaven of Pontiac is a scientist employed on the Chrysler Corp.'s turbine engine project. For the play he will cast aside the reserve and dignity usually associated with his profession to portray a brash and irritatingly successful young writer of musical comedy who takes more than a professional interest in the leading lady of his show.

Mrs. Mary Onken, West Bloomfield housewife and mother of three small children, is cast as the object of the playwright's affections.

The story becomes considerably enlivened by the entrance of the leading lady's husband, a successful writer of advertising copy for perfume. Raymond Dahlka, of Dearborn, a cost accountant by profession, will take the part of the spoilsport husband.

GETS COMPLICATED

At the point where the plot becomes so complicated as to defy resolution, the playwright's father, a man of means even beyond the surmise of the Internal Revenue, arrives to straighten everybody out. This role will be played by Joseph Gallivan, who at one time in his career, entertained various groups around this area as a magician.

Old hands of the Township Players in the cast are Mrs. Phyllis Parlin and Mrs. Irene Klopp, both in last year's production of "Light Up the Sky"; and Mrs. Dorothy McArthur and Mrs. JoAnne Radcliffe, seen in "High Ground" last March.

On stage in supporting roles for their first time will be Mrs. Blanche Apley, Russell Kock and Jack Radcliffe.

"Wake Up, Darling" will be presented at the West Bloomfield High School auditorium at 8:30 p.m. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Lee Parker, LI. 3-1149, or at the box office the nights of the play.

The five-day junket will include a look-see at the Eastman Kodak plant in Rochester, N.Y.; historic Boston, Mass., with its Faneuil Hall, Old North Church, Old Ironsides and the site of the Boston Massacre; Williamston and Taunton, Mass., and the Provincetown Cape Cod area.

The Corning Glass Center and Stueben Glass factory at Corning, N.Y., also will be seen by the 4-H group.

The Imlay City boys are due home Friday night.

Water Project for Farmington

Citizens Expect to Get Enough Signatures in About 2 Weeks

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Petitions for a $2,300,000 water main project, now being circulated, are expected to be complete in about two weeks, members of the Farmington Water Development Committee, a citizens group, said today.

The committee, which has been trying for three years to bring water to Farmington, said this is the second time such petitions have been circulated. Fifty-one per cent of property owners must sign for new mains to be financed by assessment.

The project will bring water from Detroit to some 8,000 persons in an area bounded by Middlebelt, Gill, 8-Mile and 10½ Mile roads.

Township supervisor Frank J. Stephenson said that, if approved, the mains could be completed in 14 months. Some homes in the area have wells, others have bought bottled water from miles away.

Farmer Kills Wife's Brother

Wounds Three Others in Her Family After Bitter Quarrel

ROLLA, Mo. (AP) — Coroner Claude Null said Albert George Brock, 73-year-old farmer, killed one of his young wife's brothers and wounded three other members of her family after a bitter quarrel late yesterday.

Mrs. Brock is olny 17. Coroner Null said the argument apparently started over the Brock's 7-month-old daughter and Brock threatened to wipe out his wife's family.

Brock climaxed the gunfire by shooting himself twice in the chest. His condition was described as fair.

William Leslie Hays, 26, was killed.

Roy Hayes, 1, was wounded critically in the abdomen and right shoulder. Roy Lewis Hayes, 13, was shot in the back of the head and was described as in fair condition. Lester Allen Hayes, 10, was wounded in the groin but it apparently was not serious. The boys are sons of Roy Hayes, who has ten children.

The shootings were at the Hayes home in an isolated section six miles southwest of Rolla in the south-central Missouri Ozarks. The wounded were brought to Phelps County Hospital in Rolla.

John S. Gleason, 42, a Chicago banker and Pacific veteran of World War II, generally was regarded as the front-runner.

The field for commander included Truman Wold, Fargo, N. D.; Preston Moore, Stillwater, Okla.; William Burke, Los Angeles; Martin McKneally, Newburgh, N. Y.; Richard Cadwallader, Baton Rouge, La.; James Hill, Washington, D. C.; and Dr. Garland Murphy, El Dorado, Ark.

Scorches President as 'Two-Faced' on Integration Issue

Bitter Satchmo Curses U. S., Blasts Ike

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP)—"It's getting almost so bad a colored man hasn't any country," says trumpet player Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong.

Armstrong, here for a concert, said he was dropping plans for a government-backed trip to Russia "because the way they are treating my people in the South, the government can go to hell."

Armstrong said President Eisenhower is "two-faced" and has "no guts," and was letting Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus "run the country." He said Faubus was "an uneducated plow boy."

The Negro trumpet player, shown the published copy of a Grand Forks Herald interview in which he made those remarks, said "that's just fine. Don't take nothing out of that story. That's just what I said and still say."

After reading the article yesterday he wrote the word "solid" at the bottom and attached his signature.

Armstrong said that use of National Guardsmen to prevent school integration at Little Rock was "a publicity stunt led by the greatest of all publicity hounds." He added that such things could affect relations with other countries.

"The people over there ask me what's wrong with my country, what am I supposed to say?" he queried. He added that if he should go to Russia, he would travel on his own.

"But don't get me wrong," he told a Grand Forks Herald reporter, "the South is full of intelligent white people, it's bad that the lower class people make all the noise, though."

ARMSTRONG

In Washington, the State Department had no comment. But officials said Soviet propagandists undoubtedly would seize upon Armstrong's words because the Reds already have been pounding away at integration troubles as indicative of American intolerance toward Negroes.

One spokesman, noting Armstrong's remark he might visit Russia on his own, said the Russians probably would be quick to extend him an invitation for such a trip as a propaganda measure.

A tour under government sponsorship had been discussed for some time and State Department officials earlier had expressed themselves as delighted over Armstrong's promise to "fracture them cats" behind the Iron Curtain.

From the vacation White House at Newport, R.I., James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, declined comment.

Unwed Woman in San Francisco Adopts 6 Kids

YOKOHAMA, Japan (AP) —An unmarried San Francisco woman with a yen for kids is going home with six of them this month — all adopted.

"I've been waiting since 1954 for a special bill from Congress and now we're going back to raise chickens and kids," Jean Fuller, an Army civilian employe, said today.

Miss Fuller and the children, of mixed American and Japanese blood, plan to arrive at San Francisco airport Sept. 29 or 30 on a chartered military flight.

The four girls and two boys range from 14 months to 10 years. They were adopted a few at a time from Our Lady of Lourdes, a Catholic orphanage.

"I just like children," said the tall, bespectacled 36-year-old woman. "When I found out that under Japanese and California law I could adopt them, I adopted them."

Guard Kills Convict; Shooting Investigated

RICHMOND, Tex. (AP)—One convict was killed and six others wounded yesterday when a guard's shotgun went off at a Harlem prison farm.

O. B. Ellis, general manager of the Texas prison system, announced six hours later that the guard, Robert E. Risinger, 28, had been suspended and an investigation was being made.

Paul Villarreal, 26, a convict serving five years for possession of narcotics, was killed.

Ellis related these details:

Another inmate, Cayano Guerra, grabbed the reins of Risinger's horse while prisoners, who had been picking cotton, were being loaded into trailers for return to dormitories.

Risinger, a new guard, struck at the man with his double-barreled shotgun. Both barrels discharged, killing Villarreal and wounding the others.

The keystone is of no more structural importance than any of the other wedge-shaped stones of which an arch is built, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Funeral Home Seeks Refund

$16,598 in Back Taxes Sought for 'Promotion:' Bar, Cottage, Boat, Gifts

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit funeral home has asked the government for $16,598 tax refund on grounds it is entitled to tax deductions of the money it spent building a bar in the chapel basement and passing out free drinks to potential customers.

The Van Lerberghe Funeral Home filed suit in federal court yesterday in an effort to recover the sum in alleged excess payments for 1952, 1953 and 1954. The business is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Van Lerberghe.

A statement was attached to the suit which claimed that the home "maintained cordial relations with officers" at a nearby police station "by supplying their social functions with beverages, foods, prizes and the like and by personally entertaining them individually when off duty."

The statement also claimed the owners maintained a bar in the basement to promote business and "to further promote conviviality among business guests, the owners installed a shuffleboard in 1952."

Other alleged promotion expenses listed in the statement were a summer cottage on Lake St. Clair and a cruiser as well as "small gifts and remembrances provided clergymen and nuns at nearby St. John Berchman's Church."

The suit claims all these costs were promotional expenses and should be deductible for income tax purposes.

Hunt for Iron Ore Field in Manistique Area

MANISTIQUE (AP) — A diamond drill rig has been set up at nearby Cooks by Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co. to drill for possible iron ore.

The company, which moved in the rig yesterday, said a six-man crew would run the drill around the clock to see if an iron ore field exists in the area.

The firm said the decision to bore for ore was made after a year of geological studies.

Belt Tightening Sought in Times of Prosperity

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Belt tightening in times of conspicuous prosperity is a hard program to sell. But inflation has so upset the balance of world currencies and trade that some nations are trying today to get their people to stop living it up.

Queen Juliana is warning the people of the Netherlands they are living beyond their means. England is discussing the need of a partial return to postwar austerity. Finland is freezing all prices. France is calling for a meeting of all West European nations to tackle the currency imbalance problem — after mild attempts to halt inflation within its own borders.

And as usual, Europeans once again are blaming the dollar gap as a chief cause rather than the effect of their troubles.

Even in this country, where the dollar stays high and firm in its relation to other currencies, price inflation pressures have led President Eisenhower to urge both individuals and business firms to spend less and save more for awhile, and both labor and management to ease up on the price-wage race.

While a reshuffling of the values of each of the U.S. dollar may be needed to solve the immediate problems of world trade and finance, many bank observers here doubt if any lasting solution to the inflation problem abroad — or even here — is going to be found short of Queen Juliana's advice: belt tightening and living within one's means.

Here is an old-fashioned idea. Although it has been practiced with conspicuous success in West Germany, other European countries have been enjoying the pleasant glow of inflation while hoping that somehow its fever chart wouldn't rise.

The dollar gap Europeans deplore started to close for a time but is now widening again. It is what happens when they import more goods from the United States than they sell here. U.S. foreign aid has helped to narrow the gap. Europe argues that the United States should import more from it. A number of American industries fight this idea as undermining their own markets here.

Importing less from the United States would please neither the Europeans who would like to use the goods or raw materials nor the American manufacturers or farmers who export them.

Somewhere in between should like a happy medium. Perhaps the growing European currency muddle will spur all hands on to find it.

Nigeria Checks Juvenile Crime

Puts Parents on Probation

EAST LANSING (AP)—Some practical advice on controlling juvenile delinquency was offered by a delegate from far-off Nigeria yesterday at Michigan State University.

"We put the parents on probation and make them pay for any loss or damage caused by the delinquent," explained Olu Aguntakun, social worker from Nigeria, at a workshop meeting of the Federation of Settlements and Neighborhood Centers.

"Because of this system," he said, "we have very few second offenders."

The speaker from Nigeria said that only in the rarest cases are children taken from their homes. "Then they are placed in another home, but never in an institution," he said.

The use of psychiatrists to work with juvenile delinquents is unheard of in Nigeria, Oguntakun said.

"I heard there was one someplace in the country," he said, "but I know he's not in Logas, and that is the capital."

Educators Propose New Aid Formula

LANSING (AP)—A drastic change in the formula for state aid to schools, with so-called rich districts bearing a heavier financial burden, has been proposed for consideration by the 1958 Legislature.

A study group of school superintendents submitted the plan to a legislative committee yesterday as possible answer to current school money problems.

Basically, the proposal would increase deductible millage from 2¾ mills outstate and 2⅛ mills in Detroit to a flat eight mills. Simultaneously, the current $190 per pupil allowance would go up to $270.

Robert Hall, school superintendent at Cement City and spokesman for the study group, produced figures showing the plan could be put into effect without any increase in the state school aid fund.

Saves Wife, Baby From Fiery Home

UNIONVILLE (AP) — James Ewald, 25, rescued his wife, Edith, 22, and their 8-month-old daughter, Cindy, yesterday from their flaming farm home near this northern Thumb community.

Mrs. Ewald was treated at the Cass City Hospital for third-degree burns. Ewald suffered first-degree burns about the face. The baby suffered first-degree burns.

State Police said flames destroyed interior of the house after gasoline fumes exploded in the laundry room. Police said Mrs. Ewald had cleaned her husband's work clothes with gasoline and that an explosion occurred when she turned on the drier.

Mrs. Ewald was hurled from the laundry room into the kitchen by the blast.

School for Handicapped Opens in UP Monday

PETOSKEY (AP)—The Northern Michigan School for Physically Handicapped Children is scheduled to open in Petoskey Monday.

Children from all northern communities are eligible for the classes which will be conducted at the Edgewater School in Petoskey.

The school will be open for children from 5 to 12 years of age.

Cave-In Kills Man, Injures Two Others

MIDLAND (AP)—A sewer trench cave-in claimed the life of one construction worker yesterday and injured two other workers.

James Olds, 29, of Kingsley was killed. Olds was laying tile at the bottom of the 15-foot trench when its walls collapsed and buried him. His body was recovered later.

Jack Smith, 27, of rural Carson City and William Oswald, 19, of Midland, who were working at the top of the trench, were injured when they jumped into the pit to save Olds. A second cave-in buried the two men up to the neck but they were freed by other workers.

Calling All Girls for Breakfast

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Young ladies, aged thirteen to twenty-one, this article is written especially for you. Of course, we won't object if your younger and older sisters—or even your mothers—read over your shoulders. We think everyone should follow this advice.

Advice as a rule is easy to give and hard to take. We are backed in our opinions by all the nutritionists in the country. And following the suggestions below shouldn't be too difficult, once you're in the habit.

What on earth are we talking about? Eating breakfast, that's all. Now, wait a minute, don't stop reading just yet. We know you have heard this story before; but it's one that bears repeating.

Unfortunately teenagers have the reputation of being very poor eaters. We know most of you are smart, and being smart, can afford to change your mind about something if you know the right answers.

You say you don't eat breakfast for all sorts of reasons. You don't have time. No one puts anything interesting on the table. You're not hungry. You're on a diet. Not a valid excuse in the lot.

CONSIDER THE FUTURE

Whether you like it or not, you're laying the foundation now for good or bad health the rest of your life. If you persist in depriving your body of essential foods now, you're in for trouble later. You may even be cheating your children out of strong bodies and good teeth.

Smart girls recognize these things. If breakfast is a problem they do something about it. If time has been the trouble, they set their alarms fifteen minutes earlier. If breakfast is uninteresting, they suggest new ideas to Mom or even do some of the preparations themselves!

For girls who say they're never hungry we suggest this routine. Start small. Decide you are going to eat something every single day. Maybe you can get a glass of orange juice down, if only a juice glass full. Then add half a piece of toast.

Or start with some milk and add cereal later. Keep all servings small, but increase the kinds of food you eat. Pretty soon you'll be eating a regular breakfast.

"On a diet" is the worst excuse. You will actually be better off if you eat breakfast and you may even lose weight faster. Why? Because the food you eat early in the day is all burned up. It's those late evening snacks that have more chance of settling on your hips.

Another reason why dieters should eat breakfast is that they will be satisfied with a smaller lunch because they're not starving. What we call our minimum breakfast has taken us through hundreds of mornings.

We have fruit or fruit juice, preferably the whole fruit because it's more filling. Then we have a poached egg on one slice of toast and coffee. That totals 250 calories.

SHE'S A SMART GIRL — Andrea Micu of Midway avenue likes to eat breakfast. Every morning she has fruit, bacon, eggs, toast and milk. Does she get fat? Definitely not. She eats a balanced diet and benefits by it. All teenagers would be better off if they paid more attention to that important first meal of the day.

Adding a glass of milk would mean an extra 160 calories for whole milk, only 80 calories for skim milk. And teenagers should have milk.

If you simply loathe eggs, have a couple of strips of bacon. Our own teenager likes one of those thin minute steaks for her first meal occasionally. Cottage cheese, regular cheese, peanut butter or any kind of meat will give you the protein you need.

The current issue of a magazine devoted to girls in the teen years suggests some very radical ideas for breakfast. The author of the article agrees with us that breakfast is necessary and says grapefruit juice and peanut butter and jelly sandwiches are just as good for you as the conventional breakfast.

The article goes on to suggest using ice cream on your cereal with a topping of fruit. They would have you experiment with hot soups on cold mornings. And their really quick breakfast is this one:

Lickety-Split

Team four double graham crackers with a pat of butter, two tablespoons of peanut butter and one tablespoon of grape jelly. Add a tall glass of milk and fruit or fruit juice for a starter.

Get on the ball, girls (or is there a newer phrase, we've missed?). It's smart to be healthy. And to be really healthy, breakfast is in the cards.

Tomatoes Always Good With Halibut

Whitefish, lake perch, ocean perch, haddock, and halibut are a few of the kinds of fish that are plentiful now at almost any food store that stocks fresh or frozen fish. Here is a recipe suggested by home economists for the fishing industry that will make the family sit up and cheer:

Halibut Steaks with Tomato-Cheese Sauce

Combine 2 cups bread crumbs, 1½ teaspoons salt, ⅓ cup butter or other fat melted, and 1½ teaspoons chopped parsley for stuffing. Place one steak weighing 1 pound in a well-greased baking pan. Cover with stuffing and place another 1 pound halibut steak on top. Fasten together with toothpicks or skewers.

Pour 1 can tomato soup over steaks and bake in a 350 degree oven, 40-45 minutes. Sprinkle with ⅓ pound grated cheese and continue baking until cheese melts. Garnish. Serves 6.

Gov't Booklet on Fish Will Add Menu Interest

"Here's real help in solving your difficult food budget problems," says the booklet, "Delicious Recipes for Fish and Shellfish," recently published by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, in cooperation with the nation's fishing industry. (10 cents a copy from Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C.) The publication of this attractive green and white leaflet was timed to coincide with the National Fish Parade, September 18-28.

The 10-panel cookery leaflet is packed with information. It tells about the nutritive values of fish, points out that serving fish is easy on a food budget, includes a valuable illustrated purchasing guide, and suggests garnishes for fish dishes. Perhaps the reader will find the eighteen recipes of most interest, for they cover a wide range of fish cookery.

The leaflet tells you how to oven-fry fish, make a scallop kabob, prepare both the New England and Manhattan kinds of chowder, how to make a shrimp thermidor, as well as tasty and attractive sandwiches, cocktails and salads. In easy language, the recipes describe broiling a lobster, baking a fish, preparing a seafood mousse — as well as how to broil, fry and plank whole fish and fillets, and make an oyster stew.

It even tells how to make the most of the convenience foods, like this recipe for the popular fish sticks.

Fish Stick Burgers

1½ pounds precooked frozen fish or shellfish sticks or portion fish
½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon chopped pickle
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped olives
6 toasted buttered round buns

Place frozen fish sticks in a single layer in a well-greased baking pan. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees, for 15 to 20 minutes or until heated through and crisp. Combine mayonnaise, onion, pickle, parsley, and olives. Place 4 fish sticks on bottom half of each bun. Top with tartar sauce and top half of bun. Serves 6.

Vary Hamburger Patty With Nuts or Cheese

Chopped peanuts or almonds add crunchiness to ground beef patties. Add ½ cup of nuts to a pound of seasoned ground beef, form into patties, then cook as usual.

For novel cheeseburgers, place a couple of small slices of cheese between two thinly formed ground beef patties. Pinch the edges together carefully so that the cheese will not run out during cooking. Broil or pan-broil five to six minutes on each side.

It's well to dip a biscuit cutter in flour before cutting out each round of dough.

BUTTERMILK-NUT BREAD — There is nothing that gives a festive touch to your bridge luncheon or kaffee klatch like your own special Nut Bread. And this easy-to-make recipe combines the interesting flavors and good-eating heartiness of buttermilk, molasses, wheat germ and walnuts.

Nut Loaf Is Nutritious

It's good for a cook's morale when family or guests "oh and ah" over her special home-baked treats. And nothing wins more compliments than interesting, made-at-home breads.

When you make bread you can include ingredients that add health-building nutrients as well as interesting flavor. A favorite ingredient of many new bread recipes is wheat germ, rich in vitamins, protein and iron. Wheat germ, the heart of wheat, just naturally belongs in bread, and it adds rich nut-like flavor as well as important nutrients.

Buttermilk-Nut Bread

1½ cups sifted flour
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon baking soda
1½ teaspoons baking powder
⅔ cup wheat germ
1 cup chopped walnuts
2 eggs, well beaten
⅓ cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
½ cup molasses
1 cup buttermilk

Sift flour, salt, soda and baking powder together. Add wheat germ and walnuts; mix well. Stir together eggs, sugar, melted butter or margarine, molasses and buttermilk. Add to dry ingredients and beat until smooth. Pour into greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees, 1 to 1¼ hours. Makes one loaf.

Be Different and Serve Yeast Raised Pancakes

Griddlecakes, according to some historians, were one of the earliest "recipes" and were originally baked on flat stones by the sunlight. They have gained in popularity through the centuries and now are served as the base of many exotic luncheon or supper dishes as well as a breakfast stand-by.

Here's a popular modern recipe for griddle cakes — leavened with yeast to give it an especially light springy texture and delicate nut-like flavor. Plan to serve them piping hot just off the griddle, with butter and syrup or in fancy dress.

Yeast-Raised Griddle Cakes

1½ cups milk
3 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ cup shortening
2 cups sifted enriched flour
¼ cup warm, not hot, water (lukewarm for compressed yeast)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
2 eggs, beaten

Scald milk. Stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Let cool to lukewarm. Measure water into a medium mixing bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm water for compressed yeast). Stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture. Stir in eggs and flour. Beat until smooth. Cover with a cloth.

Let rise in a warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 45 minutes. Stir down. Pour onto moderately hot, slightly greased griddle to form cakes about 4 inches in diameter. Bake until bubbles appear over surface and edges seem dry. Turn to cook on other side. Makes 12 small cakes.

Fancy Dress Toppings

Orange — Combine two-thirds cup orange marmalade with ¾ tablespoon heavy cream.

Maple — Stir ¼ cup hot maple syrup into ½ cup heavy cream, whipped.

Cranberry — Heat canned whole cranberry sauce; sprinkle with brown sugar and cinnamon.

Every Country Has Ground Beef Recipes

Around the world in many ways goes ground beef. Stuffed cabbage in Sweden, stuffed peppers in Hungary, meat balls in Italy or hamburgers in America—ground beef rates high in the world's menus.

In Michigan, ground beef for fresh sales is protected by laws that assure top quality, states the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. No less than 70 per cent ground lean beef, no more than 30 per cent fat, and no other additions add up to tasty ground beef.

Around the world in many ways goes ground beef, and chances are you'll put it on your market list this week.

Join National Fish Parade to Enjoy Good Eating

Pontiac Press Home Editor

Seen any fish parading by today? September 18-28 has been designated as National Fish Parade and the Shrimp Fiesta. America's oldest industry is being honored by the fishing associations. This is the time of year when fish and shellfish are most plenteous and low priced.

With the advent of frozen fish no section of the country needs limit its fish consumption. You have noticed such delicacies as South African rock lobster tails and rainbow trout from western streams, I am sure. They are but two of the foods once considered luxury foods. At the opposite end of the price scale there are many kinds of whole fish and fish fillets from which to choose.

Say you have chosen haddock, ocean perch or cod fillets. You'll enjoy them baked in a spicy sweet-sour sauce.

Fillets with Green Pepper Sauce

1 package (12 ounces) quick frozen haddock, ocean perch, or cod fillets, partly thawed
Salt and pepper
½ cup chopped onions
1 small clove garlic, finely minced
½ cup thinly sliced green pepper
2 tablespoons butter
1-3 cup water
½ teaspoon ginger
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon brown sugar
¼ teaspoon salt

Thaw fish just enough to separate fillets and place in greased shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper.

Saute onions, garlic, and green pepper in butter until tender, 5 to 10 minutes. Add water, ginger, vinegar, brown sugar and salt. Simmer for 5 minutes. Pour sauce over fish fillets. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) until done, 30 to 40 minutes. Makes 3 servings.

If you've passed up shrimp all summer because of the high price per pound, now is your chance to start eating it again. You'll like it fixed in the Italian manner, that is broiled in garlic butter. Called Scampi which is an Italian generic term that means shrimp, crayfish and small lobsters (sort of like our word "crustaceans"), it has become a favorite in several countries.

SCAMPI

2 pounds raw shrimp, fresh or frozen
¼ pound butter or margarine
1 clove garlic, minced fine
Salt and pepper

Shell and devein shrimp, trying to keep the tails intact. Melt butter, add garlic and simmer 3 minutes. Place the shrimp on individual flame-proof platters, on a large broiling pan or on heavy aluminum foil with the edges turned up. Pour garlic butter over shrimp. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in pre-heated broiler 4 inches from heat and broil 5 to 10 minutes or until brown and tender. Do not overcook. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

From the Pacific Northwest the salmon fisheries join the Fish Parade. Salmon combined with potatoes is made into a tempting deep dish pie.

Salmon Potato Pie

6 to 8 medium size potatoes
1 pound (1 can) salmon, flaked
1½ teaspoon salt
1 large onion, chopped
1 teaspoon snipped parsley
Black pepper to season
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 cup light cream
½ cup milk
1 recipe pastry

Pare potatoes. Cut in very thin slices. Fill 2-quart baking dish with alternating layers of sliced potatoes and flaked salmon, sprinkling each layer of potatoes with salt, chopped onion and parsley. When dish is filled, dot with butter or margarine and season with pepper. Combine milk and cream and pour ¾ cup of mixture over the potatoes and salmon.

Prepare pastry and roll between two sheets of waxed paper to fit the baking dish. Make two large slashes in pastry to permit steam to escape and in which to pour the remaining cream. Place pastry over dish. Flute edges of pastry. Using small pieces of pastry dough cut out fish for garnish, if desired. Bake garnish separately.

Bake pie in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for about 1¼ hours or until potatoes are tender. Turn off oven heat. Pull oven rack forward or remove pie from oven. Pour remaining cream into pie through openings in crust. Return pie to oven for 10 minutes to absorb cream. Makes 6 servings.

GLAZED PEARS — Whole stuffed Bartlett pears molded in fresh orange jelly are fun and filling. Fluffy cream cheese and nuts make a tempting dinner treat. You'll find that lightly oiled drinking glasses make perfect molds for the pretty pears.

Filled Pears Are Jellied

Just when you think you've reached the end of the long line of new ways with fruit and gelatine, a novel idea like Glazed Pears spurs you on. The idea is to peel and halve fresh Bartletts, then sandwich them together with any number of good spreads. The whole pears can be molded in ordinary wide-mouthed tumblers.

The salads when unmolded are hearty and colorful — perfect for a summer luncheon with perhaps an arrangement of other fresh fruits and fruit bread sandwiches. You might even mold a whole pear in a large paper cup for a picnic or a lunchbox.

Glazed Pears

4 fresh Bartlett pears
3-oz. package cream cheese
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 package orange-flavored gelatine

Peel, halve and core pears. Sandwich halves together with fluffy mixture of cheese, walnuts and rind. Prepare gelatine according to package directions. Invert pears in wide-mouthed tumblers (stem end of pears in first) and pour ½ cup gelatine over each. Chill until firm. Unmold by dipping glass in hot water. Garnish with mayonnaise and a cherry. Makes 4 salads.

Note: Amount of gelatine you will need depends upon size of tumblers and pears. Better have extra gelatine on hand in case you run short.

Bread Can Become Cake

A real dessert touch for gingerbread mixes is the honey-cocoanut topping. Mix 1½ cups flaked cocoanut with ½ cup honey and ¼ cup butter. Spread over top of warm gingerbread and broil slowly until brown and you have gingercake. Serve it warm with fresh or canned fruits for dessert.

PLUM PIE ALAMODE — Get the alamode habit! Ever so many desserts taste better with the ice cream touch. Here fresh plum pie with ice cream spooned on stands out as a flavorful dessert.

It's Plum Pie a la Mode!

A mound of ice cream on a wedge of pie adds immeasurably to eating enjoyment. Especially is this true when the pie is made with luscious fresh summer fruit.

The pie in the photo can use either fresh or canned plums. The season for fresh plums is so short you'll want to use them while available. The blue plums are generally not as juicy or as tart as the fresh red ones that come on the market. Use less flour and sugar with the blue plums.

FRESH PLUM PIE

Filling

3½ cups sliced red plums
6 tablespoons flour
1½ to 1¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon butter

Stone and slice plums. Mix sugar and flour together in large bowl. Add plums and mix well. Pour into pie shell. Dot with butter.

Blue plums are not as juicy as red—cut down flour to 2 rounded tablespoons and sugar to 1 cup.

Crust

1½ cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅓ cup lard
⅓ cup butter
¼ cup cold milk

Measure the flour into the mixing bowl and mix salt through it. With a pastry blender, cut in half of the lard and butter finely—until the mixture looks like meal. Cut in the remaining lard and butter coarsely until particles are the size of giant peas.

Sprinkle with milk, a tablespoon at a time, mixing in circular motion with a work until all the flour is moistened and dough gathers together so it cleans the bowl. If necessary add more milk a little at a time until it is easy to handle. Press in a ball, cut in half and roll out. This makes a very crisp, flaky pie crust with a wonderful flavor and beautiful brown color.

No Longer a Luxury

Time was when jellied consomme was featured on the most elegant hotel or restaurant menus, but was seldom seen in the home. It was too much work to make. Times have changed—now jellied consomme has become a regular on home tables. Keep several cans of consomme in the refrigerator. Open, stir lightly with a fork and serve. Garnish with a lemon wedge and a sprinkling of chopped parsley.

Dip Poultry in Wine

Dip chunks of cooked white meat of chicken or turkey in wine. Wrap each in ½ bacon strip, broil until bacon is crisp. Serve hot on picks.

Blackberries Are Stars in Little Pielets

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Here's a blackberry "pielets" recipe for a dandy dessert all year 'round. It can be made with fresh blackberries when they are in season, or with the canned variety throughout the rest of the year. Here's how:

1½ cups lemon-wafer crumbs
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons melted margarine or butter
1 package vitamin C gelatin, blackberry flavor
1 cup boiling water
1 No. 2 can blackberries
1 3-ounce package soft cream cheese

Combine crumbs, sugar and margarine; press gently around bottom and sides of six sherbet dishes or custard cups, to within one-half inch of top, to make crust of uniform thickness.

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Drain blackberries; to juice, add enough cold water to make one cup; add to gelatin. Chill mixture until thicker than unbeaten egg white; fold in all but six blackberries and carefully turn into prepared sherbet dishes. Refrigerate until serving time.

At serving time, combine cheese with milk. Top each serving with spoonful of cheese and one of reserved berries. Makes six servings.

MOUTH-WATERING LUNCH — Here's a mouth-watering, well-balanced lunch for Junior to tote off to school. It will make the big gap between breakfast and dinner much easier to take. In the meal are sandwiches filled with cheese 'n' frank spread, relishes, a fresh pear and grapes, butterscotch sandwich cookies, and cold milk.

Children Do Appreciate a Well Planned Lunch

"Whadaya think, I'm crazy or sumpin'! Not givin' this lunch up fer nobody!"

So will run Junior's retort when the other kids at school try to swap lunch with him. Although the lunch shown here packs tremendous trade-in value, Junior won't be about to give it up.

For one thing, the hot-dog-bun sandwiches are filled with cheese 'n frank spread. And frankfurters in any form are a favorite with children.

Comprising the rest of the lunch are a dish of relishes — celery and radishes, a fresh pear and grapes, butterscotch sandwich cookies, and cold milk.

The cookies are the refrigerator kind. It doesn't take much effort to make them into sandwich cookies. The creamy browned butter filling will come as a surprise, and how youngsters love surprises!

Butterscotch Sandwich Cookies

1¾ cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons baking powder
⅔ cup butter

1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts

Slice about ⅛ inch thick and bake on an ungreased cooky sheet in a 375 degree preheated oven for 8-10 minutes. Cool and when cool spread one cooky with Browned Butter Filling and top with a second cooky to form sandwiches. Makes 2 dozen sandwiches.

Start Every Day Right With a Good Breakfast

All's right with the world when the new day begins with a good breakfast. But many are missing the most important meal of the day, reminds the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Surveys show that 2 out of 9 children leave for school with nothing to eat for breakfast. A good breakfast insures the right amount of energy and alertness until lunch time.

All's right with the world if your family had a good breakfast this morning. Did they?

Day-Old Ones Are OK

Teen Tempters: Here's an after-party snack idea. Slice 6 doughnuts in half, crosswise, and spread each with ½ teaspoon butter. Combine 2 tablespoons brown sugar with 1 tablespoon orange rind. Sprinkle 1 teaspoon sugar mixture and place 1 pineapple slice between halves of each doughnut. Heat in over (400 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes.

Eating Apples Ready

Eating apples start to market this month. Wealthy rates as a fair eating apple. McIntosh, Cortland, Grimes Golden, Jonathan and Northern Spy are rated good to excellent for eating, baking, pies and sauce.

Frozen Ground Beef Is Convenience Food

Ground beef is a handy freezer item but use within two months. Freezing does not kill the spoilage forming bacteria, do not expect it to improve by freezing.

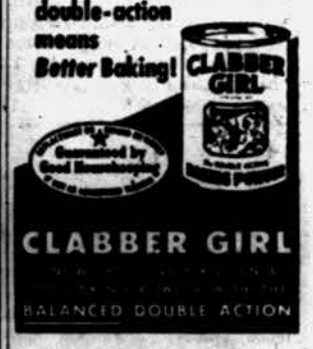

Before freezing, shape ground beef into the form in which it will be served. Then cook the products without thawing. To freeze, wrap tightly with a good freezer wrap, separate each patty with freezer wrap or waxed paper. Proper wrapping prevents freezer burn and flavor changes in the meat.

Always wash lemons before grating the rind from them. It's a good idea to place the grater on a sheet of waxed paper and then gather up the shreds of rind with a small spatula.

Little Pigs in Market Have Lower Price Tags

Porkers make news this week. The annual fall marketing season has started. Several retailers report a price drop on loins, hams and sausage. Braising beef gains importance as more range fed cattle comes to market, reports the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

Some lamb cuts are slightly lower than last week; veal prices remain about the same. Fryer and turkey prices compare favorably with other meats although the wholesale prices on fryers are slightly higher.

According to several buyers, this is the peak week for good quality cauliflower. There is a good supply of cabbage, green beans, peppers, potatoes and dry onions at prices to fit all budgets.

As peach season draws nearer to a close, the apple harvest is increasing. Jonathan and Delicious varieties are starting to market.

Small size eggs are the fall fashion. Price wise you are buying more pounds of eggs for the money when you pick small ones at this time.

MEATS—Open your eyes to the seasonal meat changes and serve main dishes accordingly.

As more pork comes to market you will find lower prices. Rib-end loins are 10 to 16 cents per pound less than last week; loin-end roasts are 20 to 26 cents less. Center cut chops are 20 to 30 cents a pound less.

Grass fed beef is easily recognized by its small amount of fat on the outside and fewer fat streaks running through the lean meat. The fat is often more creamy in color than higher quality U. S. Choice or U. S. Prime beef. This meat tastes better when used as pot roasts, savory stews or braised steaks.

If leg of lamb is a favorite at your house, you may be able to serve it for a few pennies less this week. For real economy, lamb liver, shanks and breast are wise choices.

Turkeys weighing between 8 to 20 pounds and fryers are priced at 39 to 49 cents a pound in many markets. For the most eating, pick the bird with the biggest breast and the meatiest legs.

PRODUCE—This is a wise time to enjoy cauliflower, the queen of the cabbage family. Serve it raw or cooked. A half cup of cauliflower cooked quickly and served promptly gives about one-fifth of the day's quota of vitamin C. Raw cauliflower provides about twice as much vitamin C as the same amount of cooked cauliflower.

Higher corn and celery prices are related to shorter supplies. Quality tomatoes are more difficult to find as a result of rain damage. Lettuce quality is improving.

The 1957 peach crop is almost harvested. If you have no time for canning or freezing, you may be interested in canned peach specials in some stores.

Delicious and Jonathan, two of Michigan's favorite apples, may be added to the variety list this week. By special agreement, growers' organizations will not pick apples until they have reached proper maturity. This will assure you of better flavor and greater satisfaction. The Delicious variety is best for eating or salads while the Jonathan is a good all-purpose apple.

If you want homegrown grapes for jelly or jam, this is Concord time.. For the fresh fruit bowl, Tokay grapes are in heavy supply.

Pears are 10 to 20 cents a pound. Although Michigan Bartletts are about finished there are plenty from other states available.

EGGS—The shift in egg production from mature hens to young pullets brings small size eggs in larger quantities at this time of year. Large size eggs are 44½ to 46 cents a pound this week compared to small size eggs of the same grade at 33 to 35 cents a pound.

Pork Chops With Curry Apple Stuffing

6 one-inch-thick rib pork chops
1 tablespoon fat
1½ cups diced unpared apples
1-3 cup diced onion
½ cup chopped celery
6 slices soft whole wheat bread, cut in 1 inch cubes
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon curry powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons fat

Have pockets cut in chops. Melt 1 tablespoon fat in frying pan and add apple, onion and celery. Cook over low heat until golden. Mix bread cubes and milk. Fold in cooked apple mixture. Sprinkle ½ teaspoon curry powder and ¼ teaspoon salt over. Toss lightly. Stuff chops.

Combine flour, salt and black pepper. Dredge chops in flour mixtuure, brown in 2 tablespoons fat. Arrange chops in 3 quart casserole. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) one hour, until tender. Remove cover last 15 minutes. Serves 6.

Don't Toss Out Dry Cake

A simple dessert with a Spanish influence is made by browning half-inch slices of dry cake in butter, spreading each with jam, and topping with sherried stewed fruit. Fruit is stewed in your own favorite way, except that two tablespoons of sherry, either nutty amontillado or sweet oloroso type, is added to each cup of the fruit just before it comes off the heat. The fruit can be forced through a sieve, if desired, and served hot or cold over the cake, with whipped cream, ice cream or sour cream.

Moist Muffins Made With Peach Pieces

All it takes to glamorize simple muffins is a few canned peaches.

Sift together 2 cups sifted enriched flour, 1 tablespoon baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt and 3 tablespoons sugar. Add 1 cup chopped canned peaches, well-drained, to flour mixture and stir to coat fruit pieces. Combine 1 egg, beaten, 1 cup milk and ¼ cup melted shortening. Add liquid to flour mixture, stirring only until flour is moistened. Fill greased muffin cups 2/3 full. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 1 dozen 2¾-inch muffins.

Try Plums in Fritters

Everybody likes fritters, as a meat partner or for dessert. Next time, but soon while they're in season, use fresh Italian prunes as the fruit, halves, dip in your favorite fritter batter, and deep fried. Serve piping hot with chicken, ham or pork; or for a happy ending — topped with a dollop of slightly sweetened whipped cream and a dash of cinnamon. Good too with an orange sauce. These fritters may be made out of home-frozen Italian prunes.

Bake Onions in Soup

Yellow onions reach their lowest price level this month. Slice them in ½-inch slices, into a well-greased shallow casserole. Pour a can of condensed cream of mushroom soup over the onion slices and sprinkle chopped toasted almonds over all. Bake in preheated oven at 375 degrees for about 30 minutes. Serves 4 to 6.

Dot Muffins With Sauce

Cut canned jellied cranberry sauce into small cubes and fold into corn muffin batter. The bits of scarlet in the muffins and the tart-sweet cranberry flavor make the bread on the menu an outstanding part of the meal.

Cheese Can Top Anything

Here's an open-faced sandwich to toast in the oven and later, with word bouquets. First saute slices of apple in butter or margarine until golden brown. For each sandwich arrange two or three slices of the apple on a slice of toasted enriched yeast-raised bread. Cover with thin slices of Cheddar cheese and run under the broiler just long enough to melt the cheese.

Diets Not Necessary in France

Woman Walks for Hour Just to Buy Her Groceries

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Diet? Count calories? "Jamais, jamais!" Jeanne Andree Touvier exclaimed, closing her eyes, shaking her head.

"Never, never," Paulette Pacatte, echoed.

"In France, a woman walks an hour just buying her groceries," explained Jeanne, "she doesn't have to diet."

"People who diet are like this," interrupted Paulette, pulling a long, sour face, "they're not jovial. When people ask me 'what do you get your vitality from?' I answer gleefully — 'EATING.'"

SECOND HELPING

Jeanne and Paulette thereupon asked for a second helping of Strawberries Romanoff which the maitre d'hotel had prepared for dessert at the luncheon introducing the two young French women to us.

A noble dish of strawberries, hunks of ice cream and sugar, all swooshed together with cointreau and Napoleon brandy. Calories, yes, a bowlful!

Miss Touvier, chosen by her government from a group of 300 top teachers as France's leading home economist, was "tasting" her first visit to the United States as guest of a household wax company.

Pretty young Miss Pacatte, a linguist who first came to this country as a Fulbright scholar and later taught French at Western Reserve Academy in Ohio, is now an interpreter with the French Embassy.

Cooking is something that comes naturally to the average French girl, a divine art embellished with secret family recipes and gimmicks handed down from mother to daughter.

OTHER STUDIES

Cooking therefore comprises a very small part of the training French home economists give to their pupils, even the youngsters of 14 to 17 years.

"Out of a two-year course they only get 160 hours of cooking instruction," explained Miss Touvier, a professor of home economics at the Dijon teachers' academy.

"Mostly they learn about the new things that have come on the market in the past 15 years.

"The rest of their training is concerned with efficient and time-saving methods of housekeeping, laundering, sewing, mending, shopping, parent and child and husband and wife relationships."

French housewives use some modern appliances, as well as some of the new processed foods. What about ready-mixes, someone asked.

NEVER, NEVER!

"Jamais, jamais," exclaimed Jeanne. "Never, never," echoed Paulette.

"And," added Paulette with emphasis, "this push-a-button here, push-a-button-there system of preparing food will never, never be wholly accepted by the French woman.

"She does her mixing by hand. She buys her meats, vegetables and fruits, fish and dairy products fresh from day to day. Most homes have no refrigerators. There are no leftovers."

Pumps Lead Way at School Affair

For those very important school functions and dress-up occasions, pumps lead the way, the National Shoe Institute reports.

The grammar-school set will love the convertible swivel strap, where the basic strap-shoe is magically transformed into a pump by slipping the strap around the back of the shoe.

The high-school set will like the sleekness of the slim tapered toes, plus the charm and comfort of the little heels.

And if those pumps are black, whether patent, suede, velvet or calf, young milady will be the envy of all who see her.

Job Skill May Save Day

NEW YORK (INS) — Many women feel the best career for them is managing a home, husband and several small children.

But even if you plan to give your profession proudly as "housewife," it still is wise to learn a skill, trade or profession that is saleable in the job market.

TO MEET EMERGENCIES

Many a woman finds that family emergencies make added income important. Others are struck by tragedy—death or incapacitating illness of their husbands.

Still other women find that, after their children have reached their upper teens, mother slips into the background and needs a job to keep her busy.

If you take the precaution of acquiring training in a career you enjoy, you'll be so much better off and will adjust to your new situation with greater ease, say the experts.

Do You Really Want a New Job?

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Even the most happily married people have occasional spells of wanting to go to Reno. But then the feeling goes away and everything is fine.

So, too, even the happiest worker is bound to have an occasional day when he feels like changing jobs.

How can you tell if it's really nothing at all, or if you seriously ought to consider a change? Well, there are several questions you might ask yourself.

1. Have you had a physical checkup recently? Sometimes fatigue and discontent are just an indication that your diet needs regulating or that you need vitamins! If that's the case, how silly to change jobs.

2. Have you recently had an emotional upset, a broken engagement, for example? After a shock like that, we frequently feel like changing jobs but it usually isn't necessary.

Just knuckle down to the job you've got. Pretty soon you'll get over it and feel better.

3. Are you full of reasons why the present job is no good, but at a loss as to what field to change to? It's a bad sign if you can think only in terms of a change FROM, without being able to picture a change TO.

If this is the case, try to redouble your efforts to do a good, thorough job where you are. Maybe you'll find, with a little cultivation, that the present job is perfectly fine.

DIFFICULT PERSON

4. Are you having trouble with a difficult personality? If that's the case, learn how to get along with him first, before you change.

If you leave this job because of difficult people, you'll find difficult people wherever you go. Correct it first — in yourself—then, if you still hate your job, maybe it is right to change.

5. Have you wanted to change for a long time, or is it a brand-new notion? Beware of a sudden desire to change. But if you've felt this way for a long time, maybe it is indicated.

Alcoholism Reflects Confusion About Feminine Role in Life

Tensions Drive More and More Women to Drink

By OLGA CURTIS
INS Women's Editor

There are more than 4½ million alcoholics in the United States — and nearly three-quarters of a million of them are women.

These staggering figures are not propaganda from prohibitionists. They're research results from the Yale University Center for Alcoholic Studies.

The Yale figures show 376,000 women alcoholics in 1940; 710,000 in 1955. Of course, the population has increased too, but the rate of alcoholism among women over 20 years of age increased in the same period from 370 per 100,000 to 1,390 — almost 50 per cent.

There is some argument among the experts as to whether there has been an increase in alcoholism as a chronic disease among women as compared to men, but there is no argument that, as Dr. Leon Greenberg of the Yale center put it:

"The number of women indulging in alcohol has increased markedly since 1940."

One reason for that, Dr. Greenberg, says is that "drinking among women has become more socially acceptable, and is looked on as the sophisticated thing to do."

UNDER TENSIONS

Dr. Greenberg also notes that "increased tension will increase drinking and a common characteristic of all alcoholics is that they are under tensions."

What kind of tension would drive a woman to drink? The experts offer many answers, and one clue: In Nevada, the state of quick divorces, the rate of female alcoholism has jumped nearly 500 per cent since 1940.

The fundamental tension that drives women to the bottle is what one psychiatrist describes as the fact that "women are being asked to act like men."

Dr. Roland Brett of Denver explains that a woman used to expect a clear-cut role: Marriage and family. Now, often she's asked to be wife, mother, job-holder and decision-maker.

At the least, the doctor says, "too much possibility of action" can give a woman headaches, insomnia and bad skin. At the worst, it can make her an alcoholic or send her over the edge of sanity.

Another psychiatrist, Dr. William Moore of the University of Texas' Southwestern Medical School at Dallas, notes "women don't feel secure as women."

Dr. Moore explains:

"This is a security conscious world — we buy insurance, we preach safety. But many women feel insecure about doing their job as women; they're not close enough to their husbands to talk to them, they're afraid of being alone in the responsibility for the children."

Sex problems, insecurity, career - vs - marriage, even modern appliances, have been blamed for the increased number of women alcoholics.

But the trigger that sets off the desire for drinks, says one expert, is the fact that "a woman gets no relief from her tensions and worries."

Dr. J. Paul de River of Montrose, Calif., points out: "She can't talk things out to her husband because he's got troubles enough of his own. She can't talk to a psychiatrist unless she can afford one. With nobody to hear her out, alcohol may become her companion."

EXCUSES HERSELF

Often, the woman who tries alcohol as a crutch or companion doesn't realize what she's doing. She alibis: "I'm only drinking now and then because my husband and I argue." Or: "I'm having a drink because the job pressure is too much."

These are typical excuses — and a primary danger sign of the road to alcoholism.

An "excuse" for drinking, the experts agree, is one of the chief symptoms of alcoholism.

Man Wants to Buy Girl a Corsage

Proper to Ask Her What Color Goes Best With Dress

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A young woman has invited me to go with her to a club dance. I would like to send her some flowers to wear that evening.

"Would it be proper to call her and ask her what kind of flowers she would like? Also, do I carry the corsage to the house with me when I call for her, or is it more correct to have it sent from the florist?"

Answer: It is entirely proper to ask her what color flowers would go best with her dress. (2) While either way is correct, it is best to have them sent beforehand so that she can arrange them on her dress wherever they look best instead of having to pin them on in haste in the front hall.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I was invited to a party at a friend's house. When I arrived I was very much surprised to find Mrs. A., to whom I have not spoken for a long time, also present. When I saw her my first impulse was to leave but I thought better of it and as a result spent the most uncomfortable afternoon of my life.

"Don't you think the hostess, who knew I was not on friendly terms with Mrs. A., was wrong in inviting us to the same party? Also, what is one supposed to do when faced with a situation of this kind?"

Answer: You were quite right to stay. To have left the party would have been unforgivably rude to your hostess who I am sure did not remember that you and Mrs. A. were not on friendly terms.

In any case, when enemies meet in the house of a mutual friend they disguise the fact that they do not speak as much as they can for the sake of their hostess and other guests who would be made very uncomfortable if they were made aware of the existing enmity.

Do not take life too seriously —you will never get out of it alive. —Elbert Hubbard

Petticoat Strategy

Inventive housewives have turned up time-saving and useful gimmicks. One is to use an open umbrella to help petticoats keep their shape. Nylon or permanently stiffened petticoats will drip-dry in shape this way. But keep the bumbershoot clean or your laundering will be for naught.

Homemakers Lack Time for Lengthy Phone Chats

Modern Women Regard Instrument as Labor-Saving Device

By RUTH MILLETT

"Women don't have any telephone manners any more," complains a reader.

She says she used to be able to call up a friend and feel that the call was received with pleasure. She could have a nice telephone visit and thereby brighten her own stay-at-home day.

But it's not like that any more, she says. All she meets with these days when she dials a friend's number is impatience, hurry and excuses for having to cut the talk short.

"One friend says she wishes she had time to chat but she was just getting ready to leave the house to go marketing. Another claims she is watching her favorite TV show and can't bear to miss it.

"Another has cookies in the oven she must keep her eye on. The number of excuses for not visiting on the telephone is endless."

And she asks plaintively, "What has happened to women that they don't have time to chat with a friend?"

JUST TOO BUSY

Most of them are probably just too busy for long telephone conversations. Life no longer moves at a leisurely pace, even for women who are full-time homemakers.

So for many of them the telephone in the home is like a telephone in an office—a labor-saving device.

It is no longer a device for killing time by gossiping with first one friend and then another.

And the friend who is known to be a long-winded talker on the telephone is avoided sometimes—as the reader points out—even to the point of rudeness.

It's rude to tell a friend you haven't time to talk to her because you can't miss a TV program.

FEELS UNWELCOME

And it's rude to be so abrupt or sound so harried that a telephone caller feels like an unwelcome guest.

But today many a housewife is as busy as an executive and becomes impatient with unnecessary interruptions.

All I can suggest is that the caller tailor her conversations to the times. Make them brief and to the point.

If she will do that, she will no doubt find that she is no longer greeted with excuses when she dials a number.

Slim Several Spots With One Routine

Combination Exercises Save Time

In this day of rush and hurry, a few good exercises for hips, waist and abdomen can take the place of dozens of less effective ones. In this exercise, swing your arm and leg in opposite directions.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

My Combination Exercises are a bargain in time and in energy! While all exercises use more than one muscle group, some are more effective in slimming several spots with one exercise.

In this day of rush and hurry a few good exercises can take the place of dozens of less effective ones. Today I will give you three of my bargains in exercise.

1. Lie on your left side. Bend your elbow and let it rest on the floor, head on hand. Swing your right leg backward as you swing your right arm forward. Your right arm swings backward as your right leg swings forward. Continue, arm and leg moving in opposite directions.

Do this with a smooth, long rhythmic swing. If you have trouble getting started on this exercise, start with your right leg back and your right arm forward, and then swing. This is splendid for the hips and abdomen and also gives a little pull at the waist.

2. Stand on tiptoe with your left side to the wall and, if necessary for balance, place your left hand on the wall. Pull your abdominal muscles in and hold them there while you bend your knees halfway down. Straighten your legs and return heels to the floor. Relax.

Do the same thing again with relaxations in between. Be sure to keep your back straight (do not bend at the waist) and your abdominal muscles pulled back toward the backbone.

3. The following exercise is slimming to the hips, abdomen, thighs and waist. Lie on the floor on your back back with your legs straight and your arms on the floor, extending out from your shoulder pits. Palms face the floor. Cling to the floor with your fingertips.

Raise the right leg up at right angles to the body. Cross the right leg over the left and touch the floor on the outside of the left leg. Raise the right leg up to right angles to the body again and lower it to the floor.

This is a four count exercise: Up, over, back up again, and down to the floor. After a while do the same thing with the left leg, crossing over to the right.

If you would like to have my Combination Exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 5 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Teenagers Offer Some Constructive Ideas Along With Gripes

High Schoolers Rap Dull, Unenthusiastic Teachers

By EUGENE GILBERT

President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

"Gladly would he learn and gladly teach . . ."

Chaucer's famous description of the dedicated clerk of Oxford might well serve as a model for what teenaged Americans expect in a good teacher.

In a nationwide survey of what high school students think of education at their level, we learned that most boys and girls — about 77 per cent — are satisfied with what they are required to learn but have plenty of gripes about how subpects are being taught.

LACK ENTHUSIASM

Many teachers, they complain, lack enthusiasm for their subject matter, present it in a dull and uninteresting fashion and fail to keep pace with latest developments in their field.

In short, they neither gladly learn nor gladly teach.

Open season, for a limited time, was declared on teachers with this question: "Do you think teachers present their subjects satisfactorily?"

Most boys and girls had no hesitancy about taking aim and blazing away. Quite a few, however, took the precaution of withholding their names to prevent possible pedagogical reprisals.

One of the braver respondents, 16-year-old Frances Dougherty of South Natick, Mass., delivered this blast against the teaching ranks:

"I think they themselves should show more interest in their subjects and should handle a class better."

COMPLAINT ECHOED

Her complaint was echoed by many others, who preferred to remain anonymous.

"Present the subject more clearly and in better detail," suggested a 15-year-old girl.

"Most just lecture and do not make subjects interesting," added another of the same age.

"Explain better and be stricter in regards to knowing matter," said a 16-year-old girl from West Springfield, Mass.

"Have teachers instead of just lecturers," prescribed a New Hampshire lad.

Gary Olsen, an 18-year-old senior from Titusville, Pa., thought teachers should "show more enthusiasm in presenting" their subjects.

Another Pennsylvania lad analyzed his high school faculty and found "some are effective and others superficial."

MAKE IT PRACTICAL

On the question of subject matter, nearly 8 out of 10 boys and girls felt that the subjects they learned in school would be useful in later life, either directly or by reason of having improved their minds.

Three out of four, however, asked that more practical subjects like typing, home economics and shop training be included in an arts curriculum and one out of nine railed against learning mathematics, Latin and foreign languages.

Criticism came easy but, surprisingly, so too did constructive suggestions for improving the caliber of instruction.

Teenagers offered a variety of ideas for making good teachers better teachers.

From the Paris collections for fall, 1957, comes this confection in lace. This evening gown by Catherine Sauve has a skirt made of yards and yards of filmy, pleated aquamarine Chantilly lace. The bodice is low-backed and bloused and features embroidery in pearls and crystals.

Here are some representative answers:

"Bring subjects up to date, relate them to recent events."

"Turn away from the obvious."

"Be a little more pleasant."

NOT AS WEAPON

"Don't use marks as a weapon."

"Provoke more thought."

"More class discussions."

"Teach the teachers to understand teenagers."

"Bring subjects more down to earth."

"Teach more, talk less."

"Encourage not discourage."

These 10 quotes, we think, are worthy of inclusion in a teacher's manual. They not only show solid thinking on the part of young students but also demonstrate a degree of interest in teachers and teaching methods that might not be expected from so young a group.

Some of the answers, of course, were far from representative although not lacking in interest.

Several students expressed a desire for "younger teachers," but one came up with a quick remedy: "Mandatory retirement at the age of 40."

SPEAK UP, PLEASE

A number of boys and girls complained about not being able to hear and understand what the teacher was saying. Teachers should "talk more clearly," said 18-year-old Sandra Swisher of San Marino, Calif.

A 16-year-old boy from Brooklyn, a city not noted for perfect diction, had this to say to his teachers: "Stop mumbling."

There were the usual complaints about teachers being too strict, giving too much homework, too many tests or being, as one girl put it, "chronic low markers," but there also were a number of complaints in the opposite direction.

Some teachers were criticized for being too lax in discipline and not giving enough homework and tests.

The survey answers showed that teachers would have an impossible time trying to please everyone.

SLOWER, FASTER

Some boys and girls wanted the instruction to proceed more slowly, others clamored to be "sent through a subject faster."

Some complained that often the teacher was "teaching over our heads," while others wanted them to "go deeper into a subject."

There were those who wanted more discussions and those who wanted less discussions and more demonstrations.

As one boy put it, "I didn't come here to listen to the guy next to me yap off all day. I want to learn something."

Viola MacMillan, 54, at Home in Bush or Ballroom

Woman Is Canada's Head Prospector

TORONTO (NEA) — You would expect the president of Canada's organized prospectors and mining engineers to be a big, burly, bearded outdoorsman.

Actually, Canada's head prospector is slim, 5-foot Viola MacMillan of Toronto, who is as much at home in the northern bush as she is in a mink coat in the smartest Miami fashion spots.

Mrs. MacMillan, 54, and her husband, George, have been prospecting since 1930 when she first visited the northern Ontario gold mining area on a summer vacation.

The north country and its miner possibilities immediately appealed to the stenographer — realtor — Christmas — card saleswoman who had lived most of her life in Windsor, opposite Detroit.

Today Viola MacMillan is reapin the profits of her prospecting days. She has taken rock samples from one end of Canada to the other, and her staking rrips have covered the area from the international boundary to the sub-Arctic.

HAS URANIUM MINE

This fall she will have a uranium mine in northern Saskatchewan come into production, while a number of oil properties in Alberta province are being developed along with a lithium deposit in northern Manitoba.

A producing silver-lead-zinc mine is named after her in northern British Columbia on Canada's west coast, a property she has develope since 1945.

To be president of half a dozen mining companies and a director in almost as many, Mrs. MacMillan has had to show Canada's prospectors she could handle herself in the bush and take part in any staking rush.

There was the time in the '30s when she and husband George into the Kirkland Lake area of northern Ontario on rumors of a gold strike.

For more than 24 hours, without rest or time out for food, Viola and George staked claims in that area, took samples and, when they reached the recorder's office two days later, applied for 2,000 acres.

Tehn, staking claims in northwestern Quebec, she ran into the French-Canadian law that holds that wives cannot have property, that all property belongs to the husband. Both she and George were staking claims in a copper-gold region.

As happens in such staking rushes, mining syndicates send geologists and scouts out ot buy into staked areas.

Viola had a buyer for her shares, with cash in his pocket. But the Quebec mining recorder would not transfer her claim over to the buyer without her husband's signature. She had to go hunting for George, who was somewhere 20 miles away in the wilderness.

ELECTED AGAIN

This spring, for the 14th time, she was elected president of the Prospectors and Developers Assc. of Canada.

Whenever and wherever in Canada a new mine is officially opened, Viola MacMillan is there she prefers to sit in the crowd among the mining men who do the actual work of finding and developing a mine, instead of at the head table.

Not that she does not feel at home among the financiers. In the downtown Toronto office building, where mining companies have their headquarters, she rents the penthouse floor and has turned it into an apartment. There she and her husband entertain mining men and government officials, financie and stock brokers, high above the Toronto skyline.

Her mining interests are so numerous and so varied that she literally commutes between her urban homes in Miami and Toronto — or between a bunkhouse and a tent somewhere in northern Canada.

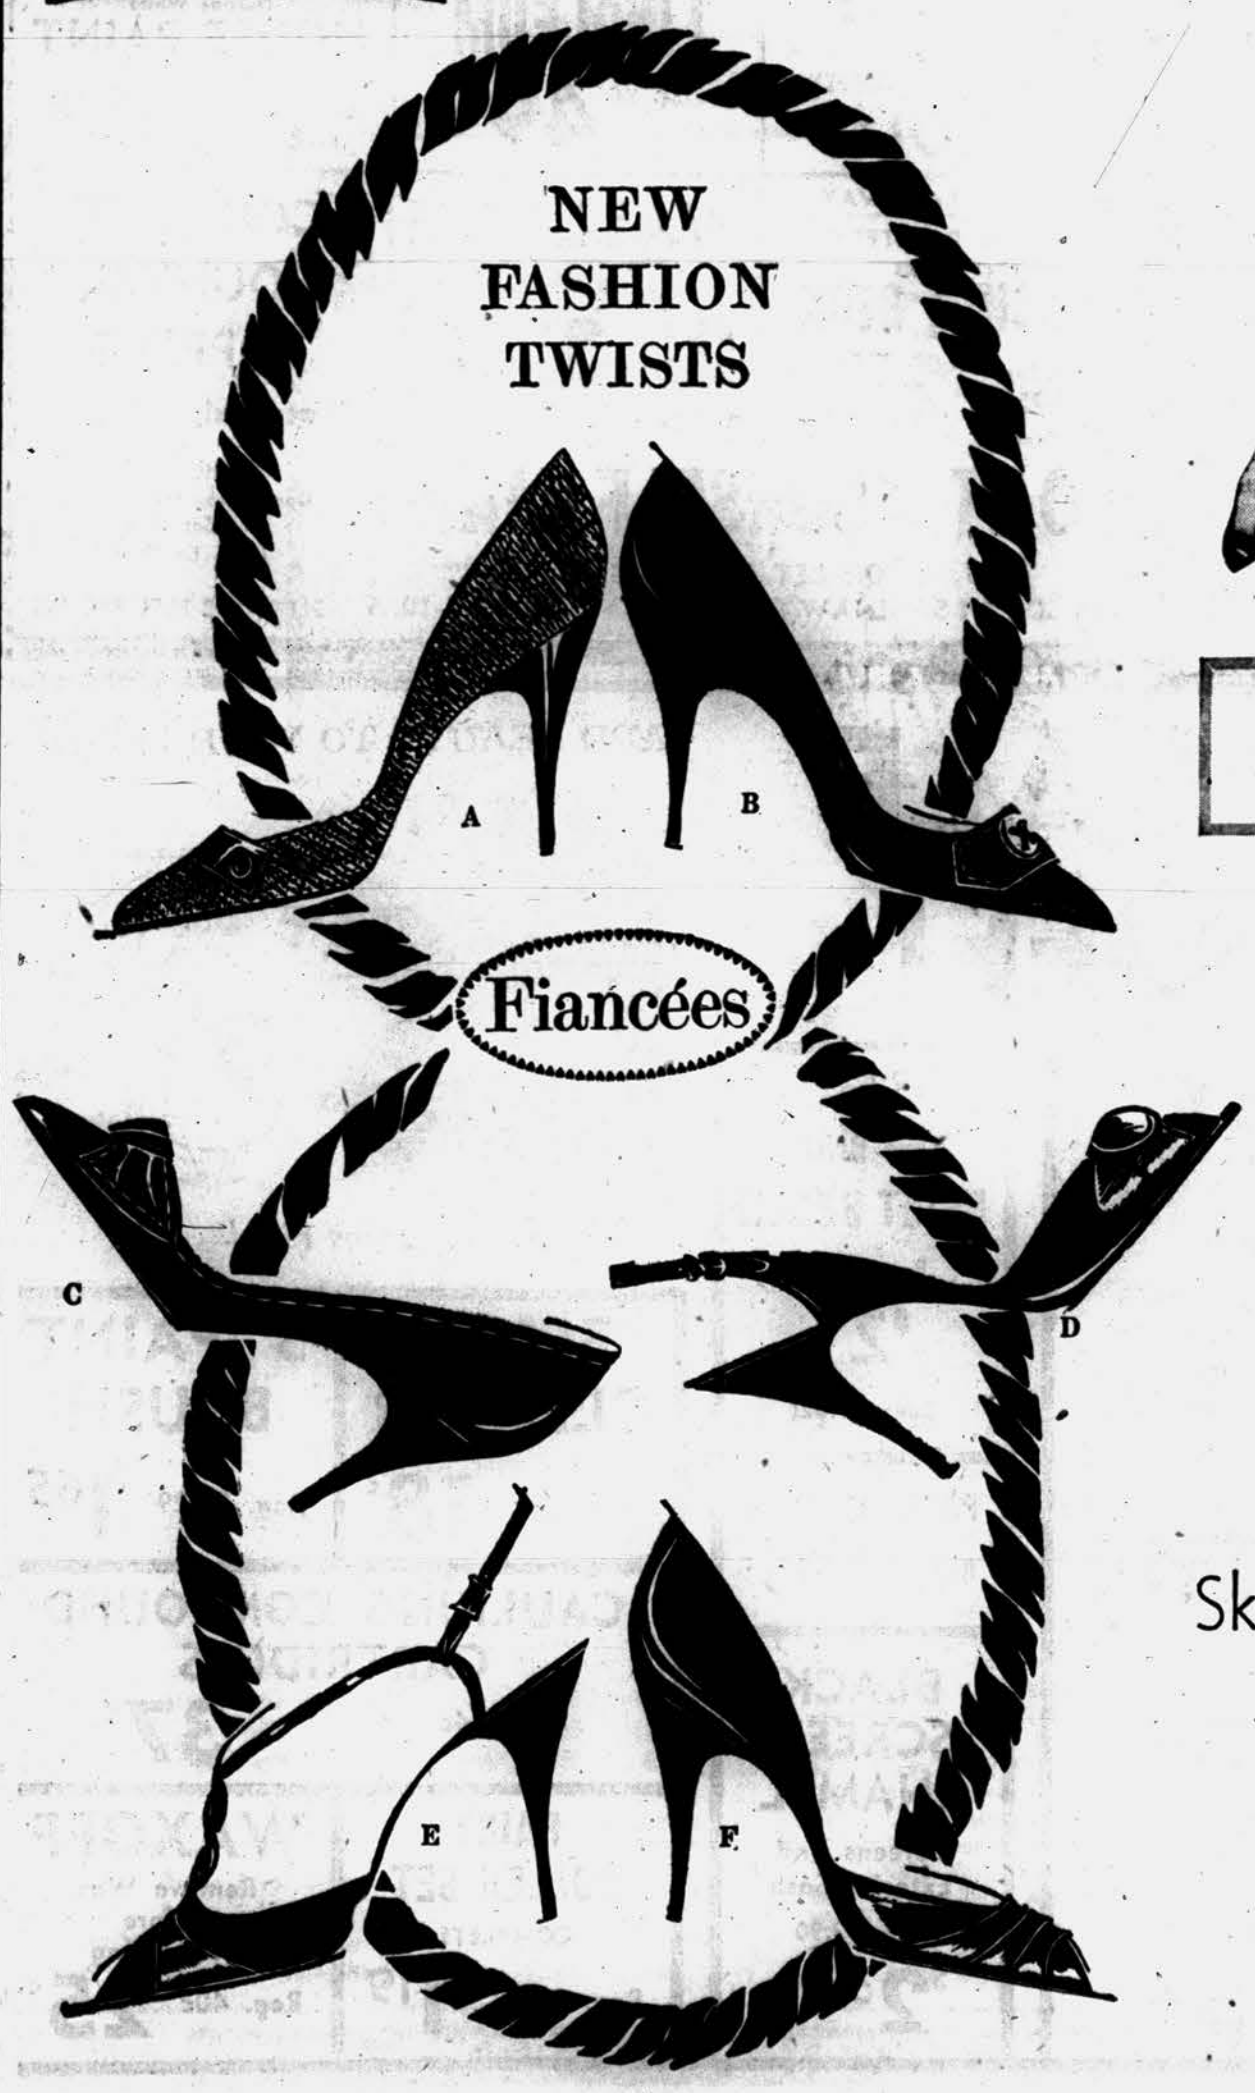

Courage is that virtue which champions the cause of right.
—Cicero

Storm Heading for Tennessee

Esther's Wet Remains Move North, Leaving Floods in Gulf States

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The rainy remains of tropical storm Esther splattered toward Tennessee today, leaving flooded portions of three states in its path from the Gulf of Mexico.

The Weather Bureau said the northern portions of Alabama, Mississippi and east and central Tennessee could expect rain up to 5 inches today.

In an advisory at 5 a.m. the Weather Bureau said the remnants of the storm were centered in west central Mississippi near Greenwood, and were expected to continue to move northward at about 5 m.p.h.

Highest winds registered as the storm moved inland were 64 miles per hour early yesterday at New Orleans.

Two boys drowned in rain-swollen canals in New Orleans.

Buras, about 50 miles southeast of New Orleans, was pelted with 13.36 inches of rain in 24 hours. New Orleans got almost 7 inches and Biloxi, Miss., got 8.

The Mississippi Gulf Coast appeared to have received the heaviest damage. Winds and rains knocked down utility poles and television antennas.

Child Guidance Clinic Holds Board Meeting

Representatives from the Birmingham and Southern Oakland County (Royal Oak) Branches conferred yesterday with board members of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic at the monthly meeting.

The staff will be represented at a conference Oct. 10-11 sponsored by the Michigan Association of Child Guidance Clinics at the Child Psychiatric Hospital, Division of Neuro-Psychiatrics, Ann Arbor.

On Oct. 30, board of the same association will meet in Grand Rapids. Dr. William H. Kelley, assistant director of the State Department of Mental Health, will be the guest speaker.

Dies From Bike Crash

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Rose Oudekerk, 10, of suburban Kalamazoo, died Thursday of injuries she suffered when her bicycle crashed into a tree. Doctors said the child fractured her skull Monday when her bicycle ran out of control.

Red Arms in Syria Menace Turkey

Dulles Seeks Intervention in Mideast Danger by U. N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles called on the U. N. today to intervene in the Middle East situation.

He said Soviet arms in Syria pose "a growing military danger" to Turkey.

The secretary of state in a major policy speech told the 82-nation General Assembly "the United Nations may not be able by any material power it can muster to tranquilize the scene." But he declared it must exert its full influence to end Soviet efforts to dominate the Middle East.

Dulles said the Communists appear to be engaging in acts aimed at impairing the freedom and independence of certain Middle East nations.

"Also," he said, "we believe that these Soviet acts may, perhaps unwittingly, lead the recipients of Soviet arms into acts of direct aggression.

"Those who feel an abnormal sense of power as a result of the recent putting into their hands of large amounts of Soviet bloc arms, are being incited by violent propaganda," he added.

"That is risky business."

Dulles charged Russian acts in the Middle East were in violation of an Assembly resolution adopted in 1945 calling upon every nation to refrain from any threat or acts aimed at impairing the integrity of any state.

* * *

He said the situation called not only for individual and collective vigilance on the part of all free nations but, when there is "such a situation as now exists in the Middle East, this General Assembly ought at least to consider it and discuss it."

* * *

He said the United States would reserve the right in the light of these discussions to introduce concrete proposals.

Says Allen Park GI Took Her Savings

DETROIT (INS) — Mrs. Rachel Verduce, 25-year-old daughter of a rich Moroccan importer today charged her GI husband fleeced her of $5,000 savings and left her penniless.

She filed the charges in a Circuit Court cross bill to fight a divorce suit by her husband, Anthony Jr., 25, of 14843 Horger, Allen Park.

She said they were married two years ago while Anthony was stationed in Casablanca at an air base and she was a post exchange cashier. She was supporting two children of a previous marriage at the time and the four came to Michigan last may.

Rachel said she brought $5,000 savings and her Volkswagon to the United States. The bill stated their troubles began when her in-law ordered her out of their Allen Park home only 12 days after their arrival.

She said her husband had induced her to place her money in a joint bank account and tricked her into putting a trade in car in his name.

She added the romance ended August 11th when her husband threw the bank book with most of the money withdrawn at her and said:

"I am going to get a divorce."

Girl's Knee Injured in 2-Car Collision

Eleven-year-old Judith Nedeau suffered a knee injury yesterday in a two-car accident on Commerce Road, at Comstock, Commerce Township.

She was in a car driven by her mother, Mrs. Gail Nedeau, 25, of 9347 Commerce Rd. Mrs. Nedeau's auto collided with a car driven by Edmond Drozdowski, 33, of 380 S. Edith St., Pontiac.

Launch Propaganda Campaign

Soviets Boast of Rockets

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia appears to have launched an all-out propaganda campaign to publicize its boast that new Soviet rockets can now destroy the United States and its allies.

Moscow's aim seems to be to convince the world it is an invincible military giant now that it has announced a claim to the world's first intercontinental missile.

U. S. officials have confirmed the test-firing of such missiles by Russia, but have expressed doubt that any are in production or available for operational use.

American officials who keep a constant check on Soviet propaganda said the campaign is remarkable because of its intensity. In one 72-hour period checked, they said, Radio Moscow featured this military boast some 80 times.

Soviet home broadcasts also are hitting this hard, as are Soviet newspapers and magazines.

Labor Troubles in Argentina Mount

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Thousands of workers announced sympathy strikes today in support of a walkout by public and private telephone and cable company employes, and troops kept watch as Argentina's labor troubles mounted.

Amateur radio listeners in Santiago, Chile, heard reports that a revolt had broken out against President Pedro Aramburu, but this report was denied here. One political leader who saw President Aaramburu said he was concerned about the labor troubles but chuckled at reports of military difficulties.

The communications strike cut reports from the provinces here to a trickle.

Soldiers and sailors took over cable and telephone offices yesterday and evicted employes who had been staging two weeks of stay-in and go-slow strikes for higher wages.

New Prosecutor Olsen Shows His Antiques

DETROIT (INS) — Wayne County's new prosecutor, Samuel H. Olsen, was revealed today to be a collector of antique furniture.

One of his most prized possessions is a table he acquired in Europe that has a secret compartment.

It opens into a dice table.

Olsen commented it's just a hobby and he confines his gambling to the race track.

To Deal More Effectively With Defiant Travelers

State Department Streamlining Rules Governing Disputes Over Passports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is streamlining its passport rules so it can deal more effectively with cases like the 42 young Americans who went to Red China without permission.

A yearlong survey by the State and Justice Departments has resulted in these tentative decisions, subject to approval by Secretary of State Dulles:

1. Make clear that the department no longer believes the secretary of state has unlimited power to give or take away a passport.

2. Assure that whenever a passport is taken away, the American citizen involved will be given a full, prompt hearing.

3. Provide realistic penalties, varied enough to fit the different degrees of infractions. The only penalty now provided for violation of the regulations is a four-year jail sentence or a $2,000 fine.

4. Make administrative changes to speed up handling of passport disputes.

The changes are expected to be made within a few months, as soon as Dulles approves them.

A number of court cases in recent years have ruled that the secretary's discretion over issuing passports is not unlimited, and that passport holders have a right to an early and fair hearing.

However, the courts have never ruled on the secretary's asserted right to deny passports on the ground that such action was in the foreign policy interests of the United States.

A test case is shaping up. This is expected to be filed by William Worthy, reporter for the Baltimore Afro-American.

Worthy's application for a new passport was rejected by the Department yesterday. The main reason was that he had gone to Red China last December despite the department's ban on such travel and that he asserted he would do it again.

The department dealt more lightly yesterday with the 42 Americans who went to Red China this year in defiance of the ban. Their passports were ordered seized whenever they emerged from Red China, but they were given 60 days to appeal and state their cases before a hearing board.

The department's attitude seemed to be that no great harm had been done even though the rule was broken. Officials said they felt it highly unrealistic even to consider a four-year jail sentence or $2,000 fine under the circumstances.

These officials suggested that such cases might be dealt with in other ways. One idea was to suspend the passports for a short period, perhaps two or three years, just as driver's licenses are suspended for traffic violations.

Fair in Hillsdale County

HILLSDALE (AP)—Hillsdale County's 107th annual fair, one of the last of the season in Michigan, will open Sunday and run through Sept. 28. Added attractions this year will be a model Mississippi river steam boat operating on a millpond adjacent to the fairgrounds. There also will be an ice review for the first time.

Airmail postage was originally 24 cents an ounce.

Charge Man Posed as Narcotics Agent

DETROIT (AP) — The FBI has charged a 26-year-old man with posing as a Federal narcotics agent and forcing a young woman to partially disrobe in order to search her for narcotics.

Jerry T. Prather Jr., 26, of Detroit was accused by the FBI of approaching the woman in a downtown Detroit office building and taking her into a small room to search her. The woman fainted after partially undressing.

The FBI picked Prather up after a witness gave police the license number of his car. They said another woman has identified Prather as the man who accosted her earlier.

Prather, the FBI said, admitted using false identification and claimed he had been drinking.

Congratulated by King

DETROIT (AP)—King Frederick of Denmark was among those who congratulated Samuel H. Olsen of Detroit on his promotion to Wayne County prosecutor. Olsen, a native of Denmark, said the king "thanked me for putting Copenhogan on the map." Olsen was promoted from assistant prosecutor Tuesday to succeed the late Gerald K. O'Brien.

Storm Takes First Life

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — A Louisiana engineer was killed here yesterday at the height of the year's first hurricane. Officials said Albert C. Donn, 49, Alexandria, La., was electrocuted when he tried to move a high-tension cable from in front of his car. No other casualties were reported. Property damage was slight.

Now Wants More Spending

Ex-Defense Secretary Proves People Change

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Guess who said this on Sept. 17, 1957:

"We must give our whole support to the national defense, cost what it may. We must announce our convictions that no price is too high to pay for the precious gift of national security."

Give up? Well, the man who said this in a speech to the American Legion at Atlantic City, N.J., this week is Louis A. Johnson, a former secretary of defense.

He is the same man who got bounced out of Harry S. Truman's Cabinet because his critics said he was pinching pennies too much.

There is no intention here to pick on Johnson because his views may have taken a 180-degree turn. The point is that times, conditions and opinions do change.

Political pressures do too, and this is something for Americans to be concerned about.

The past few years have seen backing and filling on defense policy to a degree that would have bordered on comic opera if the life or death of the nation hadn't been involved.

First Dwight D. Eisenhower became president and many feared that a general in the White House would want guns, guns and more guns even if the people didn't get any butter.

As it turned out, Eisenhower put great stress on economy. So much so that the Democrats in Congress kept offering more defense money than Eisenhower was willing to accept. This was the pattern throughout the President's first term.

Then came the second term, and positions changed as in a game of musical chairs. The Democrats cried out against big spending and wouldn't give the President all he asked. Complicating matters, it wasn't always possible for Congress to find out what he did want.

So the defense budget for the next few years turns out—as so often in the past—to be a political compromise.

Meantime, the Russians claim they have a successful intercontinental missile. Eisenhower pretty much pooh-poohs the claim. This country fires off some big rockets of its own—and cancels some other rocket development for lack of money.

Total confusion?

No, not total. There is a large measure of year-by-year understanding between the Pentagon and the committees of Congress which pass on military spending. Headline rows between Democrats and Republicans often obscure it, but it exists.

Is it great enough to insure an adequate defense in the future?

Or is there need for Eisenhower and the Democratic leaders of Congress to get together, lay the facts on the table between them and decide without political considerations what must be done?

Time is getting short.

Already, looking to the 1958 congressional election, the Democrats are talking about a tax cut.

Are Eisenhower and the Democrats speaking the same language on national defense? It seems doubtful. The best way they could find out would be to ask each other.

TVA Board Director Takes Office Today

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Arnold R. Jones takes office today under a recess appointment by President Eisenhower as a member of the Board of Directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Jones is a former deputy director of the budget. His appointment to succeed Dr. Harry A. Curtis, is subject to Senate confirmation when it reconvenes in January. Curtis retired.

Says Chicago of Future to Be 150 Miles Long

CHICAGO (INS) — Roy Freuhauf, Michigan trailor manufacturer, predicts the Chicago of the future will be 150 miles long, embracing Milwaukee and Michigan City.

He spoke at the Central Motor Freight Association annual luncheon yesterday in the Windy City's Conrad Hilton hotel.

Freuhauf stated railroad, trucking and seaway shipping industries would stimulate growth of the city.

Caribou are polygamous and a stag in his full prime collects as many as he can for his harem.

Mystery Writer Calls Murder Common

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — "Have you ever thought seriously of getting murdered?" inquires Erle Stanley Gardner politely, in the manner of a kindly old insurance salesman working up to a pitch on a premium.

"Why, no," you reply. "The idea probably occurs to anybody once in a while, like on rainy nights in obscure motels, but I never considered it really seriously, no."

"Perhaps—this is just a suggestion of course—you might," Gardner goes on. "You're right at the dangerous age period right now, and the weather is beastly. You know what hot weather does to the murder ratio, don't you?" Inadvertently, he looked ceilingward.

"On hot days, murder increases," he said.

The literary father of Perry Mason, one of the most prolific writers of "Whodunits" (in the literate Gardner's case "Whodidthems" is preferred), points out that whenever he is addressing an audience on the subject of crimes in which the services of a coroner are involved, he always warns them that of every 1,000 persons who are listening to him—four will one day be murdered.

And, in the broad field of women victims, the incidence is "way up among women between the ages of 25 and 35." This is because in these critical ages, women "are more inclinde to rebuke one man once too often."

Men, points out Gardner, are very touchy about that sort of thing.

The author goes on: "The figures I gave you reflect only the number of detected murders. There are a heck of a lot more murders that people don't know anything about. For instance, a lot of deceased people, if dug up and examined, would be found to be full of arsenic."

DEATHS UNSOLVED

He shrugged philosophically. "And there are the unsolved deaths, hundreds of them—like those brand-new Hawaiian nightmare mysteries, where young men in the prime of life go to bed, have nightmares and never wake up. Their bodies are examined, and no cause of death can be found—it's evidently some kind of witchcraft.

"There's no doubt but that we're dealing with new mechanics in death. Very interesting."

Gardner takes such things philosophically, just as he takes the latest facts of his career. He is now entering the television field at the age of 69 (only the way it makes him feel, "You can call me 78"), as CBS will begin on Sept. 21 a new series of hour-long film dramas based on the Perry Mason mysteries.

"Ordinarily," he says, "I don't get enthusiastic about anything but women—but this series is great. The guy playing Perry Mason (veteran actor Raymond Burr) has been sitting in courtrooms for months. I had misgivings about the casting at first—when you've had the experiences I've had with Hollywood, you always have misgivings—but heck, this guy has got himself so realistic that if I committed a murder right now, I'd go to him for my defense."

Gardner is not writing the TV series, which is fortunate because if the show is as successful as he hopes, he may have to expand on his present writing schedule and turn out more Perry Mason books to feed the file for TV. He turned out his first book, "The Case of the Velvet Claws," in 3.5 days, but he's "slowed down considerably since then."

Many of the Perry Mason novels, Gardner says, have taken "a week or more to write."

But fortunately, or macabrely, depending on how you look at it, the author never runs out of material, what with this crime and that to stimulate his imagination. As he points out, pleasantly:

"There are lots of stories. And lots of guilty people in jail. And you'd be surprised, but your chances of being murdered are pretty good."

Junior Editors Quiz on CATS

QUESTION: Why do a cat's eyes shine at night?

ANSWER: A cat's eye is very different from a human eye. In bright light the iris—the colored circle around the pupil—acts like a curtain and draws together until the pupil becomes a narrow, vertical slit. This shuts out much of the glare.

The iris opens wide at night and the cat can see very well in the dim light, although it cannot see in complete darkness. Each cat eye has a layer of cells called a tapetum which reflects different colors in different lights. A cat's eyes glitter at night because of the light reflected in the tapetum.

Because they can see best in the dim light, cats do most of their hunting at night.

FOR YOU TO DO: Paste this drawing on stiff construction paper and color, making the circle of eyes a bright yellow. Cut it out. Carefully cut out the cat's eyes on the dotted lines. Put a pin through the spot on the cat's nose and through center of circle behind it. Note how the cat's expression changes as you turn circle.

Promises Honest Study of Police

By HAROLD S. COHEN

"The forthcoming study of the Pontiac Police Dept. will be conducted by an organization world-famous for its ability, honesty and thoroughness."

That is the view of City Manager Walter K. Willman in commenting on the selection of the Public Administration Service of Chicago to conduct the investigation of the department in the near future.

GROUP NON-POLITICAL

"PSA is a non-profit, non-political group of efficiency experts who are qualified to study any phase of municipal government," Willman added, "and I personally selected them."

The city manager said the group had previously done work for Pontiac in 1954 in setting up fiscal records.

PSA has done a great deal of state work in Michigan since 1951 when it reviewed the state's facilities for mental and tubercular patients.

Michigan cities it has served are Ann Arbor, Mt. Clemens, Flint, Holland, Kalamazoo, Niles, Ferndale, Grand Haven, Ironwood and Marquette.

Besides every state in the Union, it has worked for the White House, for Canada, Costa Rica, Afghanistan, Colombia, Brazil, Burma, China, El Salvador, Ethiopia, Greece, Iceland, Israel, Thailand and Mexico.

According to Willman, its purposes in coming to Pontiac will be to probe three areas especially:

1. The organization of the police department to see if manpower is being used efficiently.
2. Morale in the department to see what is causing the friction between some of the officers and the top brass.
3. To determine whether the traffic violations bureau should remain in the department or be transferred to Municipal Court.

In all, there are nine areas which PSA will explore.

Willman said that he understood two highly experienced former police officers would be sent to Pontiac to conduct the actual field investigation under the supervision of O. W. Wilson, dean of the school of criminology of the University of California and a former police chief.

The two coming here will be Samuel Chapman and C. S. James.

"If anyone thinks this outfit can be influenced or bought, they are mistaken," Willman said. "They are coming here to clear the air by determining what improvements are needed in the police department and I have instructed the chief and everyone under him to cooperate fully."

"They will be empowered to talk to every man in the department, not just the top men, so that we have a fully rounded picture of the situation."

32 Tie Votes Reported

HILLSDALE (AP) — Merton Daglow, office manager of federal crop control for Hillsdale County, reported Wednesday that 32 out of 90 contests for township crop control boards resulted in tie votes. He said the contests will be settled by casting lots.

About 34 man-hours are now required to produce 100 bushels of corn, as compared with 127 or more man-hours for the same production in 1930.

Asks Free Lunches for Needy Children

DETROIT (AP)—A proposal to stop giving free lunches to needy school children has been criticized by Detroit Welfare Superintendent Daniel J. Ryan.

Ryan said yesterday that "I don't like the idea of trying to save a little dough by taking away from needy children. The free lunch is the most important meal of the day for many of our children."

School Superintendent Samuel M. Brownell proposed ending the free lunches earlier this week because "there is a serious question of whether taxpayers through the Board of Education should be expected to purchase a lunch for each indigent child when an allowance already has been given to his family for food for the entire week."

Ryan said that "if the welfare department is to provide lunch funds in place of the school board, the taxpayers are going to pay either way."

Air Force Invited

WHY DO YOU READ THE NEWSPAPER?

COPYRIGHT 1957, BUREAU OF ADVERTISING OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER PUBLISHERS ASSOCIATION, INC.

"I get the styles and keep up-to-date

and whether I look like the rest of the kids"*

Whether people want to "keep up-to-date" on world, national or local news, baseball scores or the latest styles in Bermuda shorts, the newspaper is the favorite medium — for adults and for teens.

It's the favorite because the newspaper has a wealth of reading for everybody. Newspapers serve almost all our 16,000,000 teens as well as the millions of adults who read daily newspapers. That's why daily newspaper circulation is highest ever — over 57,000,000.

Advertisers should find it profitable to turn their attention to the teen-age market. According to a recent survey made for newspapers by Eugene Gilbert & Co., famous youth authority, teens spend over $9,000,000,000 a year of their own money on a variety of products. They also have considerable influence on family spending.

No matter what you sell; no matter how you sell it — nationally, regionally or locally — you'll find more prospects of all ages in the daily newspaper. Use it to get your most profitable return.

Group Records Show No Loan

Allege Northville Track Borrowed Money From Teamsters' Union

NEW YORK (AP) — The U. S. Trotting Assn's records do not show the existence of an alleged $50,000 loan by a Michigan local of the Teamsters' Union to Northville Downs track in Detroit, a USTA spokesman testified yesterday.

The testimony was given by Don R. Millar, USTA executive vice president, during resumed hearings of alleged incompetency brought by the association against state harness racing commissioner George P. Monaghan.

Last fall Gov. Averell Harriman appointed James M. Landis, former Harvard law school dean, to hear the charges.

Millar said the application of the Northville track "did not show the existence" of the loan. Owen B. Brennan, an associate of James R. Hoffa, Teamsters union leader, "customarily raced a number of horses" at the Northville track, Landis said in questioning the witness.

Testimony before the Senate committee on improper activities in the labor and management labor field recently indicated that a Teamsters local made the $50,000 loan.

Millar said the USTA took no action to remove Brennan as an association director although it had been informed by the state commission that the labor leader had been denied a license to participate in harness racing in this state.

Previous testimony in the hearings which had been recessed since Aug. 23 was that Brennan was racing elsewhere despite the denial of a license in this state.

'Understanding' Asked by Ike

Civil Rights Progress Gained by Moderation President Says

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower—on the eve of the Arkansas school integration showdown—says the way to civil rights progress is mainly through "explanation, understanding and moderation."

It is in that way—and "not in laws alone"—that there will be rapid achievement of equality under the Constitution, the President says.

Eisenhower set forth his views anew late yesterday in agreeing to meet with Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-NY), a Negro, for a discussion of the Negroes' point of view on integration problems generally.

Powell, Harlem minister who bolted the Democratic party in the 1956 presidential race to support Eisenhower for re-election, wired the President Tuesday saying with respect to the school integration situation: ". . . I feel now that in the light of the growing crisis, it would be very helpful for you to get the Negroes' point of view directly."

Powell had suggested that President invite him and other Negro leaders to a parley on integration.

There was no indication the President would meet with Negro leaders other than Powell.

Hollywood Headlines

Returns From Shooting Noted Hemingway Novel

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Back from his hectic filming of "A Farewell to Arms" in Italy, David O. Selznick says it was his most difficult production—but not the most temperamental.

Tops in temperament, he remarked, was "Gone With The Wind." This despite reports from Italy of his feud with director John Huston and others.

Propaganda, said the producer. "There were a lot of false reports printed about the picture because two segments of the press hated me," Selznick declared. "The Communist press hated me because I wouldn't use any Communist labor on the picture. And the Fascist, Neo-Fascist and Monarchist press hated me because they thought the story reflected ill on the government's conduct of World War I."

What about his blowup with Huston?

"That happened before the picture began," Selznick explained. "As Ben Hecht commented, it was the case of two Caesars and one Alp.

"I thought I could work with Huston, and I believe he honestly felt he could work with me. But it turned out that he couldn't fulfill the conditions as outlined in his contract and in several conversations with me.

"Actually, I don't think John is the kind of a director who can work with a producer. The producers he has had have pretty much given him the rein. I don't work that way."

Selznick admitted that he has never had more production troubles on a picture before. The reason, he said: Italy's lack of movie making know-how.

"Our production facilities are far superior in Hollywood," he said. "But the picture also would have cost a great deal more if we made it there. And there are things which you just couldn't duplicate here. Not just the scenery, which is great, but the authentic look of the extras. The feeling of Italy even seeps into the interiors."

Hungarian Refugees Find U. S. College 'Wonderful'

NORMAN, Okla. (INS) — What is it like to be suddenly transported from a Russian-controlled university to an American college campus — via a revolution?

Two Hungarian refugee students at the University of Oklahoma at Norman willingly exclaim "it is wonderful."

"Now we can look forward to next week, next month and even plan our careers, "one of the youths, 24-year-old Zoltan Rakousky explained. "In Budapest, we lived from day to day; all young people did."

Rakousky's sentiments were echoed by his companion, Zsolt Szilagyi, 21, who freely joins in telling about life in Hungary. "It was wonderful before the Russians, we danced and sang every night."

Rakousky and Szilagyi were two nervous boys when they stepped from a plane in Oklahoma City two months ago — hesitant almost to tell anyone their names.

Today they are almost as carefree as their friends at the university.

Upon their arrival last February they cringed when revolt or Communism were mentioned. Both took part in the revolution.

Szilagyi, who worked as a laboratory technician in Hungary, is studying physics.

Rakousky, majoring in fashion design, has drawn high praise for his work at the university.

In Budapest he worked as a designer at night, attending classes during the day.

Angeles, New York City or Dallas.

"There is something about your big cities that reminds me of Budapest," he explained.

With a twinkle in his eye, Szilagyi said, "American girls are very nice," and shyly added, "but I don't understand them." Rakousky believes American coeds are "very free in their dress," which he termed "most valuable to them."

Szilagyi cannot understand why Americans eat ice cream in cold weather and both youths loudly exclaim over their dislike for corn. "In the revolution that is mainly all we ate," Szilagyi said.

"I am bread sick like being home sick," Rakousky quipped. "American bread is too airy," he said, explaining that Hungarian bread is coarse.

Families of both boys are still in Budapest and letters arrive from them weekly. "They aren't free letters," Rakousky said, "but we know what it is like anyway." Neither will ever return home while Hungary is Communist-controlled, they said.

Grains Extend Lower Trend

CHICAGO (AP) — Wheat futures eased on the Board of Trade today extending a downturn which started in late dealings yesterday.

This was the last day of trading in September futures and there was extensive evening up in all nearby grain contracts.

Liquidation by discouraged longs and stop-loss orders eased all wheat contracts at the start with the September down as much as a cent at times. Export and flour business still were absent from the market.

Threats of freezing weather in the northern grain producing states resulted in fractional advances in the more distant soybean contracts, but the nearby September eased.

Other grains were mostly easy in early dealings.

Near the end of the first hour, newstyle wheat was ⅝ to 1⅛ lower, Sept. $2.11⅛; corn was ⅝ lower to ⅛ higher, Sept. $1.22¾; oats were ⅛ to ¼ lower, Sept. 64⅞; rye was ½ to 1⅞ lower, Sept. $1.27½; soybeans were ¾ to ¼ higher, Sept. $2.33¼; and lard was 2 cent lower to 7 higher a hundred pounds, Oct. $12.07.

Waterford Democrats Slate Meeting Saturday

The Democratic Club of Waterford Township will hold its first fall meeting Saturday at 8 p.m. at the CIA Building on Williams Lake road.

Fred V. Haggard, president, said major action will be a report from the executive committee as to the club's summer activities. All Democrats are invited, he added.

Township Library Needs More Shelves for Books

Books donated to the Waterford Township library are being received in such large quantities that more shelf space is needed, according to the librarian, Mrs. Kenneth Valentine.

More than 6,500 books are in the process of being recorded in the files of the self-supported library, located in the Community Activities Center on Williams Lake road.

Because the Waterford Township library is not tax supported, the state has discontinued supplying more than one hundred children's books semi-annually, Mrs. Valentine said.

As a result, the Junior Chamber of Commerce Auxiliary, has given $100 to the library fund for the purpose of buying new literature for children. Mrs. William Shunck and Mrs. Valentine were authorized to purchase the books.

So far, 29 volumes have been acquired. These include books on adventure, mystery, history and fiction as well as school reference texts.

More shelves can be constructed on top of the present six-foot high cases, Mrs. Valentine said, "but we need volunteer carpenters, painters, and materials to build them."

New library hours are from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays, 9:30 a.m. to noon Wednesdays, 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Thursdays, and from 10 a.m. to noon on Saturdays.

Stocks Take Shallow Dip

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market moved slightly lower in quiet dealings early today.

Steels, oils and radio-television shares recorded mostly fractional losses. Motor stocks scored small gains and aircrafts maintained a firm tone.

News the Bank of England had sharply increased its interest rate apparently created a little selling in New York in sympathy with a drop in London stock prices.

Some of the international oil stocks, including Royal Dutch and Standard Oil (New Jersey), lost ground on concern over the Middle East situation.

In the radio-television group Zenith fell three points as the Federal Communications Commission made no specific recommendation on what pay-as-you-see television system should be used. Motorola also weakened.

General Motors was up ¼ and Chrysler ½. Ford eased.

Among the larger opening blocks were 2,100 shares of Texas Gulf Sulphur, up ⅛ at 21¼ and 1,500 shares of Northrop, up ⅝ at 23½.

Studebaker-Packard to Expand Its Line

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Studebaker-Packard Corp. plans to expand its line of Packard automobiles in its 1958 model lines.

Plans for a broadening of the Studebaker-Packard line of cars were disclosed as the various models were presented at a national preview for press, radio, television and trade publications today.

Public introduction of the new models has been set for Oct. 15. There will be a new Packard Hawk, with luxury leather interior. Also in the Packard series will be a four-door sedan, a four-door station wagon and a two-door hardtop.

Studebakers will include the Scotsman series; Champion, Commander, President and Hawk models. The Silver Hawk will be built in six-cylinder and V-8 models. The Golden Hawk is powered by a V-8 super-charged engine. There will be two completely new two-door hardtops in the Studebaker line.

The Scotsman is Studebaker-Packard's new economy series. Company spokesmen have claimed high fuel mileage and generally low operating cost for the unit. It has been priced in the range covering many of the smaller foreign-built vehicles, although it is a conventional size unit.

Among U. S. Cases

Asian Flu Termed 'Mild'

LANSING (INS)—The Michigan State Medical Society urged against over-emphasizing the danger of Asian flu, declaring the disease is mild in the form it has displayed in the United States.

Dr. Arch Walls of Detroit, president of the society, said:

"Although the Asian strain of influenza has been highly contagious, and spreads rapidly, the most important factors in the foreign outbreaks have been poverty and overcrowding.

"Experience in the United States shows that the disease itself has been mild, recovery has been quick and complications are rare."

Judge Grants Postponed Trial

Raise Medical Question in Effect of Alcohol With Tranquilizing Drugs

Could a man kill his wife because he was temporarily deranged by tranquilizing drugs?

James D. Shepherd, 36, of Birmingham may claim this is possible when he comes to trial on charges of stabbing his wife, Elizabeth, to death last spring.

Shepherd's legal counsel was granted a two-week postponement of the trial today in order to study the possibility further.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams postponed the trial from Tuesday to Oct. 9, after Pontiac attorney David Pence petitioned for the delay "to develop new medical evidence."

Pence said "certain medical facts have come to light in the past 30 days," concerning the combined effects of alcohol and tranquilizers.

It appeared that Pence may be considering a plea of temporary insanity, based on the fact that Shepherd had been drinking and had taken tranquilizers on May 27, the night when his wife was slain in the living room of their home, 1509 Pierce St.

Shepherd has never admitted the killing, claiming that he "had blacked out." One of the victim's two daughters, however, has testified she saw Shepherd stab her mother in the back.

Shepherd has admitted that he had several drinks May 27 and had taken a tranquilizing pill in order to go to sleep. Shepherd has maintained he could remember nothing from the time he went to bed to the moment he was standing beside his wife's body.

Police theorize the slaying followed an argument in which Mrs. Shepherd threatened to leave her husband.

4 Students Admit School Bomb Hoax

LANSING (AP)—Four public school students have admitted phoning in bomb hoax scares that emptied Lansing's schools the end of last week, police said today.

Lt. Clarissa Young of the Lansing Youth Guidance Bureau said confessions have been obtained from three 16-year-old Lansing Sexton High School boys and a 14-year-old West Junior high school girl.

A call saying a bomb had been planted in the school resulted in 1,916 pupils being sent home from Sexton High Thursday. Similar calls resulted in the evacuation of some 2,600 West and French Junior Highs Friday.

The Tel-Huron Merchants Assn. is offering an array of free carnival rides during their "Fall Festival" at the shopping center. The rides will be available through Sept. 29.

All proceeds from service charges to the rides will be turned over to the Pontiac General Hospital building fund by the 16 association merchants.

Tickets to the many rides are available free at the 16 stores.

A 10 cent service charge is levied for those with tickets, while 20 cents is the charge to those without tickets.

'Pooch Party' Sept. 28

Dogs to Bark at City Park

This year's "Pooch Party" sponsored jointly by the Parks and Recreation Dept. and Pontiac Kennel Club will be held Saturday, Sept. 28, at Oakland Park.

Entry blanks are now available at all school offices and at the department's office in the City Hall.

Once again there will be two divisions, junior for boys and girls 7 to 11 years old, and senior for boys and girls 11 through 17.

Prizes will be awarded for the best-groomed dog, best tricks, best informed owner and best pet combination.

Judges will be Ed Kraft, president of the Kennel Club, and members Burt Johnstone, John Siefen and Frank Grant.

Leonard T. Buzz, recreation supervisor for the city, cautions entrants that they must own their own dogs.

'Some Progress,' Says Arbiter in Phone Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—Progress was reported today in the negotiations seeking to settle the nationwide strike of 23,800 Telephone Exchange equipment installers.

Walter A. Maggiolo, a member of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said "some encouraging progress has been made" in efforts to settle the contract dispute.

Maggiolo made the announcement at 2:30 a.m., as negotiations between the Western Electric Co. and the striking Communications Workers of America (CWA) recessed until 10 a.m.

The mediator had been meeting with both sides in almost continuous sessions since 10:30 yesterday.

Much long-distance phone work is done manually by operators. Supervisory personnel are handling much of the work now.

Most local phone service has been virtually unaffected, because of automatic dialing equipment.

Kennett Road School Remains Unopened

The Kennett Road Elementary School remained unopened today, because water and sewer lines are still being tested.

Pontiac school officials said today classes would definitely not begin until Monday. Opening date may be further postponed.

More than 300 children have lost two weeks of school because of water and sewer tieups.

The main city water line leading to the school is being flushed today. A series of tests is expected to be completed over the weekend to insure safety measures.

The new $439,000 school has water and sewer lines completed to the property line, ready to be connected to the city lines.

Fire Bomb Deep in Earth

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (AP)—A small atomic bomb was fired today in a chamber 800 feet beneath a desert mesa. Its earthquake-like shock waves are expected to tell scientists much that is new about the globe we live on. And it may show the way to "safe" testing of some types of nuclear weapons.

Bank of England Ups Interest Rates

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England today raised its interest rate on money loaned to 7 per cent. The former rate was 5 per cent.

The effect of the increase by the nationalized bank—central clearing house for all British and Commonwealth financial transactions—will be to make money more difficult to obtain.

The action was ordered by Chancellor of the Exchequer Peter Thorneycroft in an effort to combat an inflation threatening to price Britain out of the world export market.

Only one in the past quarter of a century has the bank rate gone above 5½ per cent. That was in September 1931 when it was raised to 6 per cent at the time Britain went off the gold standard.

A Bank of England spokesman, commenting on the interest jump, said: "It's an exceptionally heavy rate, made in exceptional circumstances. The object is to show that the government is absolutely determined to maintain the value of the pound.!!

Participates in Medical Society Session

Dr. John D. Monroe, Oakland County health director, will participate actively in the 92nd annual session of the Michigan State Medical Society which convenes in Grand Rapids next week.

He will serve as chairman of the postgraduate section on public health and preventive medicine Thursday.

Twelve other Oakland County doctors will represent the county Monday and Tuesday when the Michigan State Medical Society House of Delegates meets for its policy-making annual meeting.

Pontiac doctors who are delegates to this business meeting are: H. A. Furlong, 940 Riker Bldg.; E. B. Cudney, Pontiac Motor Division, and J. M. Markley, 849 West Huron St. Alternate delegates are: C. G. Burke, 1022 Riker Bldg.; N. F. Gehringer and F. J. Kemp, both of 880 Woodward Ave.

Other doctors from the county attending the sessions as delegates are: P. E. Sutton, W. J. Zimmerman and P. T. Lahti, all of Royal Oak; E. W. Bauer of Hazel Park; F. M. Adams of Birmingham and R. W. Bullard Jr. of Clarkston.

The last three days of the five-day convention will be devoted to postgraduate study and 34 lectures on the most recent developments in today's practice of medicine so as to bring the newest information to Michigan's family physicians.

A Battle Creek doctor, George W. Slagle, will be inducted as president of the group Wednesday. He succeeds Dr. Arch Walls of Detroit.

The results of a statewide survey on public wants and needs in medical-surgical coverage will be reported to the representatives of the medical profession.

Monday, Michigan's "Foremost Family Physician of the Year" will be selected from a list of doctors nominated by county medical societies.

More than 3,500 doctors are expected to attend the sessions.

About five million persons will visit California during 1957.

Explains Plans for Telemetre

System to Concentrate on New Pictures and Special Events

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — "We all know what subscription television is," said Barney Balaban, president of Paramount Pictures which own 90 per cent of Telemetre, Inc., one of the foremost pay TV systems (Skiatron, Phonevision are others), but it's about time someone set the public straight on what subscription TV is NOT." He emphasized the "NOT" heavily.

"In the first place Telemetre will not, nor would any subscription television, do away with free television. It will compete only on the basis of quality.

"There will be just as many free television channels when pay TV gets going as today, and probably more. Telemetre and any subscription TV company will have to give the public something extra special to lure anyone away from free shows.

"For instance, our plan, and it's a solid plan right now, is to run a movie three nights in a row, twice a night, at 7 and 9 o'clock. That's six times in one week for a single movie.

"We know we aren't going to get the public away from free television all the time, but in three nights, we stand a very good chance, in fact an excellent probability, of attracting a large audience to a good film sometime during those six performances.

NOT FOR PAY TV

"Nightbeat isn't for pay television, nor are afternoon soap operas, shows like Dave Garroway in the morning, nor Jack Paar at midnight. Take any given evening and we won't steal a minute of network commercial profits.

"Our plan is to present first-run motion pictures without commercials, plus baseball games and championship prize fights."

Does Telemetre plan moving into the field of general network programming at any forseeable future moment?

"Not at all," Balaban emphasized. "We see Telemetre as just another theater. We are simply changing our methods of movie distribution with the modern advances of TV and electronics generally.

"A negative statistic about the movie business is fine for TV to publicize, and the way to stay negative about pay TV is to keep reminding the public that it will have to pay 85 cents for something it now gets for nothing. That is absolutely not true.

"We wouldn't charge 85 cents for Lawrence Welk or Tex and Jinx nor even 'I Love Lucy.' What we would charge 85 cents for would be a good, brand new motion picture, and that 85 cents would cover the cost of a whole family watching it."

She Asks Company on Trip to the Moon

OWOSSO, Mich. (AP)—Trip to the moon, anyone?

The following classified ad appeared in the Owosso Argus-Press.

"I am planning on building a ship that will reach the moon. It can be built in six months. Who wants to volunteer to help build this? Those who do can go. I know we can make it. Beverly Friedman, 1460 W. Oliver St., Owosso."

Mrs. Friedman, mother of two children, said she has prepared drawings of a bullet-like ship powered by ordinary gasoline which will reach the moon in two days.

"I've got a definite idea that space can be conquered," she said.

Pinky Lee to Remarry His Wife of 25 Years

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Comic Pinky Lee — a believer in short engagements and long marriages — plans to remarry his wife of 25 years.

Lee, 43, and his wife Beatrice (Bebe), 40, said they will celebrate their anniversary today in a wedding ceremony performed by Beverly Hills Municipal Judge Charles J. Griffin.

They recalled that they married in Brooklyn, N.Y., Sept. 19, 1932, just three days after they met for the first time. They have two children, Morgan, 22, and Patti, 17.

Musicians' Language Makes No Exception

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Hurray for people who talk colorfully and hurray, too, that everybody's a comedian nowadays . . .

One of Doris Duke's huger automobiles—probably a Rolls—was parked outside a jam session run by pianist Joe Castro, Miss Duke's guy. One of the cats said, "Is that your car, Joe?"

WILSON

"Nope," answered Joe, "that's my chick's car."

EARL'S PEARLS: Today's high prices have one consolation—the housewife doesn't have to worry about having someone help carry her bundles home.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Someone described an aging showgirl: "She's 29, going on indefinitely."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: We're told a wealthy hillbilly who died and deft his estate in trust for his wife. She can't touch any of it till she's 14. That's earl, brother.

Read This, Comrades! We Have the Answers

CLEVELAND (NEA) — Contest-minded comrades, arise, and vie for capitalistic prizes being offered by Soviet Russia.

All you have to do is answer the questions in the "Fortieth Anniversary Quiz," being sponsored by Radio Moscow.

The questions deal with Soviet history, but don't be dismayed. The questions AND answers are published below.

If you win, comrade — and the answers have been researched by experts — your prize may be a shortwave radio, camera or even a record album of the Soviet pop tunes that have been selling like passports.

To enter the contest, number your answers one through seven and mail to: Fortieth Anniversary Quiz, Radio Moscow, Moscow. That's in Russia.

BETTER USE AIR MAIL

It's first come, first served, so better air mail your answers. Fifteen cents should take care of the postage. If you're selfconscious and easily embarrassed, maybe you can get a friend to mail them for you.

Why the contest? It's never wise to look a gift bear in the molars, but, if you must know, this year marks the 40th anniversary of the famed Russian Revolution of 1917.

To publicize the so-called Great October Revolution, Radio Moscow — 15,300 kilocycles on your shortwave dial — beamed details of the contest to the U.S. on a recent Sunday night program.

The questions are loaded like a borscht bowl at a Kremlin banquet, but what Radio Moscow doesn't know is that you are being handed the answers on a paper platter. Winners will be announced on Oct. 13, 15 and 17 — but not by us. You'll have to listen to Moscow.

And now for the questions and answers:

Q. Who was the leader of the October Revolution in Russia in 1917, and the founder of the world's first Soviet socialist state?

A. V. I. Lenin.

Q. In what city in Russia did the revolution of October, 1917, take place?

A. Petrograd (it is now called Leningrad).

Q. What was the name of the outstanding American journalist who wrote a book about the Russian Revolution of 1917 called "Ten Days That Shook the World"?

A. John Reed.

Q. In what year was the last case of unemployment registered in the Soviet Union?

A. 1932.

Q. At what city on the Volga River did Soviet troops deal the Nazis such a crushing blow that they never recovered?

A. Stalingrad.

Q. What is the name of the hydroelectric station now under construction on the Angara River in Siberia?

A. Bratsk.

Q. What place does the USSR hold in the world in the level of industrial development?

A. Second to the United States, according to the Soviets.

FDR, Wilkie on Same Ticket

'Brain Truster' Tugwell Claims That Was Plan for 1948 Election

WASHINGTON (AP)—A biographer of Franklin D. Roosevelt indicates F.D.R. and Republican Wendell Willkie might have run together on a third party ticket in 1948 had the two men lived until that time.

Rexford G. Tugwell, a member of the original Roosevelt brain trust, reports that Roosevelt approached Willkie on the subject of a third party in mid-1944, through an intermediary.

Willkie was willing to join in the effort, Tugwell said in a new biography of Roosevelt, but wanted to wait until after the 1944 election. Willkie died Oct. 8, 1944, a few days before the voting. Roosevelt died April 12, 1945.

Tugwell's bulky biography, "The Democratic Roosevelt," was published yesterday by Doubleday & Co.

The book tells of a conference in 1932 at which Roosevelt described Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the late Huey Long of Louisiana as the two most dangerous men in the country." MacArthur was Army chief of staff at the time.

Tugwell said Roosevelt made that comment in discussing a possible "rightest threat" to the country. Tugwell continues in his book:

"There was latent, he thought, not far below the uneasy surface pulse among a good many 'strong' men, men used to having their way, mostly industrialists who directed affairs without being questioned, a feeling that democracy had run its course and that the totalitarians had grasped the necessities of the time. . .

"What was lacking was the familiar figure—the man on horseback—to give it realism. . ."

Tugwell said he himself quit the New Deal after 3½ years because some politicians thought he was a burden to the party. Tugwell later rejoined the administration as governor of Puerto Rico in 1941. The 66-year-old author now lives in Greenbelt, Md.

It was Samuel Rosenman, another early Roosevelt adviser, Tugwell said, who approached Willkie on the subject of a new party effort. Roosevelt looked on Willkie as a possible partner because, Tugwell says, Republican liberals recognized him as their leader.

Discussing the possibility of a third party, the author said Roosevelt was tired of compromising with conservatives in his own party of progressives.

Tugwell said he is convinced Roosevelt might have run as a Progressive in 1940 if war had not threatened.

Olsen Names Koscinski to Chief Assistant Post

DETROIT (AP)—Samuel H. Olsen, Wayne County's newly appointed prosecutor, has announced that the job of chief assistant prosecutor will be filled by Arthur J. Koscinski.

Koscinski replaces Ralph Garber who resigned the $18,500 a year post Tuesday after Olsen was named prosecutor.

Olsen said yesterday that Koscinski, 43, the son of recently retired federal court judge Arthur A. Koscinski, is "a man in whom I have explicit and absolute confidence."

Koscinski, a University of Detroit graduate, joined the prosecutor's staff in 1949.

Boy Yanks Out Tooth, Sticks It Into His Ear

CHICAGO (AP)—Little Pedro Lozado yanked out one of his teeth while in school yesterday. Then he put it in his ear. And he couldn't get it out.

He told his teacher, Mary Ford. She took him to principal George Lynch. The school nurse was not available. Lynch called police and asked them to take Pedro to a hospital.

The police said they needed parental permission and took Pedro home to get consent.

"No," said Pedro's father Guillermo. "We will take care of it here."

Pedro, 8, went to bed last night with the tooth under his pillow.

He hoped he would find a quarter instead when he awakened.

Name Four to Join Queen on U.S. Visit

LONDON (AP)—Canadian Prime Minister John G Diefenbaker and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd will accompany Queen Elizabeth II during her visit to the United States next month, Buckingham Palace announced today.

Two Canadian army officers were also named for the Queen's suite during the tour. Brig. J. Aird will act as equerry and Col. E. H. Ainslie as medical officer.

The announcement said that Diefenbaker and Lloyd had been invited to go on the tour as ministers in attendance.

The Queen is due to fly to Ottawa Oct. 12 for a four-day visit to Canada. Her tour of the United States is scheduled for Oct. 16-22.

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—LeRoy Halpain won a divorce after declaring his wife left him because he chewed gum and smoked cigarettes. He told the court he had quit drinking beer at the insistence of his wife, and smoked only outside the house. However, he added, he continued to chew gum indoors.
