Contract Let for WTHS Grid Stands

If everything goes on schedule, Waterford Township High School will have new football stands by Oct. 1, one week before its home opener.

A $42,135 contract to build the stands was awarded to a Detroit firm last night by the Waterford Township Board of Education.

The firm, Standard Steel Bleacher Division of Standard Steel and Supply Co., outbid another company's offer of $46,700.

Construction of the 2,000 seat, concrete structure is slated to begin almost immediately, pending removal of the existing wooden bleachers.

To be situated on a hill on the east side of the present football field at Crescent Lake Road and M59, the stands will consist of 14 rows and will be 224 feet long.

GUARD RAILS

The project will include galvanized steel brackets, guard rails on both sides and in front of the structure and seat boards.

Only scheduled game conflicting with construction is Waterford-Kettering's Sept. 16 home opener on the township field. The contest will have to be rescheduled or played at another site.

Funds also have been budgeted for a new football stadium at Kettering High School, but the structure probably won't be ready until the 1967 season.

However, the board approved architectural plans for lights at the Kettering field last night and authorized Wakely Kushner Associates Architects to secure bids.

The Happy Couple On A Stroll in Washington

Pat, Luci Rehearse; Preparations Go On

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's church rehearsal day for Luci Johnson and Patrick J. Nugent on the eve of their wedding.

Following their rehearsal walk down the aisle, there's one more dinner-dancing celebration tonight for members of the wedding including Luci's parents, President and Mrs. Johnson.

Behind the scenes, many persons will be working late into the night to get things ready for tomorrow's high noon nuptial Mass at the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception and for the White House wedding reception to follow.

Later, the huge church will be decorated with bouquets of white flowers, willow greenery and potted trees. Pews and kneelers will be marked and decorated with greens, ivy and white blooms.

The White House will be decked with flowers in the pink and white theme of the wedding.

FINAL PRACTICE

The 150-member men and boys choir held its final practice session last night. The carillonist, Robert Grogan, 26, of Washington, was ready for his hour-long concert of religious music on the wedding day.

The Shrine director, Mag. Thomas J. Grady, has briefed just about everyone on what's going to happen at the Roman Catholic, double-ring ceremony that unites the young couple.

Among the busiest today will be the Secret Service and police responsible for security precautions over a vast area on the wedding day. The threat of picketing by peace groups still remains.

There are parking bans to be arranged and streets to be closed off around White House and Shrine. The public was to

Steel Increase Justified, Say 2 GOP Leaders

Johnson Guidelines Killed by Inflation, Claim Ford, Dirksen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders today described the steel price increase as justified.

They said the administration's price-wage guidelines are "dead" because of inflation spurred by nonessential government spending.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said at a news conference that steel prices have to be determined by cost sheets. He said the cost of everything is going up.

"I don't see how you can escape a price increase if the cost sheets show they are losing," he said.

said. "It is essential for the country that you have a vital, vibrant steel industry."

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan said the anti-inflation guidelines "are dead because the administration has not taken the necessary action to cut back nonessential spending."

'ROOT CAUSE'

Dirksen called this the "root cause" of inflation which he said has increased the price of bread and milk more than the level of farm price rises.

He conceded that the steel price hike is inflationary, as White House officials have contended. He added that "every price increase is inflationary."

"You have to go to the root of inflation and put the ax on nonessential spending," he said.

Auto Buyers Face Still Higher Prices

DETROIT (AP) — New car buyers, already facing higher price tags on 1967 models because of added safety items, may have to dig still deeper into their pockets if newly announced steel price increases stand up.

"You can be certain that we are keeping a very close watch on the situation," said a Ford Motor Co. spokesman.

Auto companies adopted an official "no comment as yet" attitude yesterday about the $2 to $3 a ton price hikes announced by various steel makers.

Troy Girl Wins Safety Award

A 13-year-old Troy girl was awarded a $75 savings bond yesterday as one of three cash winners in the Michigan Press Association's "Bring 'em Back Alive!" traffic safety poster contest.

Marcia Ferrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marc Ferrand, of 2904 W. South Boulevard, Troy, entered her cash-winning poster into the contest through The Pontiac Press.

Other top winners in the state-wide contest were Kathy Harmer, 17, of Grand Blanc, and Ann Friend, 12, of Frankenthum. As first and third place winners, respectively, they were awarded $100 and $50 savings bonds.

Marcia's poster was judged second best of 16 final entries submitted by 55 newspapers affiliated with the Michigan Press Association which sponsored the contest.

U.S. Is Still Silent on Strike Stand

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz testified today the administration still has taken no position as to whether a law to end the airline strike should be passed.

But he avoided characterizing the 29-day-old strike as an emergency situation. He told Congress it would be breaking new ground if it passed such a law.

The Senate passed a bill yesterday to order an end to the machinists union's strike against five major airlines, and Wirtz appeared before the House Commerce Committee which now is considering the measure.

He said that as long as the matter is pending in Congress he expects no meaningful negotiations between the parties.

Both the administration and the Congress have been trying to sidestep the responsibility — and the possible political repercussions from labor — for ordering an end to the strike, and House action is not expected at least before the middle of next week.

But Wirtz said there is no threat to the nation's military effort, such as led to compulsory arbitration legislation in wartime; no threat to the national health or safety, such as was argued in favor of the strike-delaying aspects of the Taft-Hartley Act, and nothing comparable to the threat of a general railroad tie-up that led to legislation in 1963.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., the chairman, said the hearings probably would continue for two or three days, perhaps until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Then the committee would have to decide whether to act.

Nursery Firm Co-Owner Is Found Knifed

Former Employee Said to Have Had Dispute Prior to Fatal Attack

The Macomb County Prosecutor's Office issued two warrants today against Johnnie Prince, 21, of 319 Chandler, Bruce Township, in connection with the murder yesterday of a 61-year-old Romeo woman.

Prosecutor George Parris said one warrant charged him with first-degree murder and the second with possession of stolen property.

Prince was arraigned in Mount Clemens Justice Court by Justice of the Peace Edmund Schmidt on a charge of murdering Mrs. John Riemann, co-owner of Riemann's Nursery.

Romeo State Police said he was a former employee of the nursery who had had recent disagreements with his employers over wages.

Mrs. Riemann's body was discovered by her husband about 4 p.m. yesterday lying at the bottom of the basement stairs in their home at 7070 Van Dyke, Romeo.

Police said she had been struck on the head and stabbed in the neck with an instrument which penetrated to her left lung.

The suspect was picked up at his home near Romeo last night after some money and a radio, reported missing by Riemann, were found there.

State Troopers said the man was under suspicion because he had been on "bad terms" with the Riemanns and because he failed to show up for work on Monday.

The nursery is located next to the Riemann's home.

Police said Riemann discovered his wife's body when he returned home from work yesterday.

According to friends, they have one son, Carl, who works in South Bend, Ind.

LBJ Ally Wins in Tennessee

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Burt Elliott, a political ally of President Johnson, won the Democratic nomination for governor of Tennessee Thursday in a close battle with a political novice allied with the Kennedy family.

In the U.S. Senate primary, Gov. Frank G. Clement unseated Sen. Ross Bass in a race which was not decided until all of the late Sen. Elliott's 90 per cent of the vote had been counted. With 2,520 of the state's 2,741 precincts reported, Clement had 339,997 while Bass had 331,019.

Howard H. Baker Jr., assistant law of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., swamped a more conservative candidate to take the Republican senatorial nomination.

Elliott had 368,443 votes to 322,535 for Hooker. Baker polled 103,164 and Kenneth Roberts 31,636.

Merrill Points to Vote Error

William H. Merrill, Democratic nominee for U. S. Congress from the 18th District, may have 12,000 more votes than he was credited with in Tuesday's primary.

The error was discovered by Merrill and brought to the attention of the Oakland County Clerk's Office this morning.

"There does appear to be a discrepancy," said Deputy County Clerk Frank O'Brien, "but we won't know exactly how much until the vote is canvassed."

Unofficial returns Wednesday gave Merrill, former chief assistant U. S. District attorney in Detroit, a total vote of 6,531.

"It didn't come close to the figure I got when I began adding up the vote in each precinct," explained Merrill, 41, of 2805 Hickory Grove, Bloomfield Township.

LIKE 21,000
"My total is more like 21,000," said Merrill, who will oppose incumbent Congressman William S. Brownfield in the November general election.

Merrill was the nominee over Theodore N. Kratz, who received 4,603 votes.

"The significant point," said Merrill, "is that the total vote for me is within a few thousand of the 27,000 votes credited by the Republican."

Brownfield was unopposed in the primary.

Hint of Yanks in Neutral Zone

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk today left open the possibility that U.S. troops might enter the demilitarized zone between North and South Viet Nam.

The United States has no "policy desire" to move into the demilitarized zone or cross the 17th parallel, but "we have to take measures to insure the safety of our forces," Rusk told a news conference.

American B52 jet bombers from Guam have struck at suspected North Vietnamese military targets in the zone four times since Saturday. The latest raid took place today.

Appraisal of County OEO Unit Said Encouraging by Officials

Officials of the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity yesterday said they were encouraged by a six-month appraisal of the OCECO operation by an outside evaluation team.

The five-member team, consisting of three professionals and two citizens from county poverty target areas, was in accord in observing the enthusiasm and dedication found among the professionals, non-professionals and clients who are active participants in the program.

Semiannual evaluations by outside sources were part of OCECO's initial proposal.

"We wanted an outside evaluation to find out if we were doing a good job or not," said Commission Chairman Carl F. Ingraham.

Ingraham called the report "quite a boost" for OCECO's 114 employees and 600 volunteer workers.

VERY PLEASED

"I'm very pleased," said Ingraham. "I thought all along we had a good program, but I couldn't be sure. I think we have something to brag about."

However, he cautioned, "we have many problems we haven't solved yet."

The evaluation team had a five-day exposure to OCECO. It conducted on-site operations at the North and South Oakland Opportunity Centers, neighborhood organization, health and dental services, family services and employment services.

The team noted that OCECO has mounted a full scale attack on poverty and commended it for the quality of its programs.

BETTER PROGRAM

Along with the commendations, the evaluation committee offered several recommendations for improving OCECO.

These will be discussed in detail at OCECO's next meeting at 7:30 a.m. Aug. 24 at Oakland University, according to Ingraham.

Some of the suggestions may be incorporated in OCECO's program. Others may be rejected, noted Ingraham and OCECO Executive Director James M. McNeely.

Ingraham said a major problem is that people are uninformed about the local program. Subsequently, he said, many people have little feeling about OCECO.

Although the committee was complimentary of OCECO's hiring of the poor as counselor aides and neighborhood organizers (9 to 1 ratio on the employment staff), it criticized the Stamp for the Johnson administration. By law, Clement could not succeed himself.

PROMINENT FAMILY

Baker, member of a prominent East Tennessee political family, never trailed as he put down the bid of Roberts who managed the 1964 Barry Goldwater campaign in Tennessee. Baker, whose mother, brother-in-law and late father served in Congress, lost to Bass by 50,000 votes in 1964.

Elliott, 55, was governor from 1959-63 before joining the Johnson administration as director of the Office of Emergency Planning which gave him a seat on the National Security Council. He made only slight mention of his Washington connections during the campaign.

Hooker served the late President John F. Kennedy during the primary campaign but denied the race was an appropriate barometer of the comparative strength of Johnson and Kennedy, D-N.Y.

Hooker served in the Justice Department under Robert F. Kennedy when the latter was attorney general.

U.S. Mum on Strike

SENATE APPROVAL—Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., presented this study in the President's Room of the Senate yesterday after the Senate, by a 54-33 vote, approved his compromise plan for getting striking airline machinists back to work. The resolution now goes to the House.

The question involves infinitely more than how to handle this strike. It involves the whole question of standards for balancing interests in such situation. The question should be settled by the Congress, one way or the other.

House Republican Leader Gerald R. Ford of Michigan predicted the House will take some action to deal with the strike, but said he is not taking any position on what should be done until he sees what proposal reaches the House floor.

He told a news conference the issue would be far closer to a solution if President Johnson would send to Congress his recommendations for handling strike emergencies, as mentioned in his State of the Union message.

"The problem would be a lot nearer to solution today if he had followed through as he promised in January," Ford said. "I think he ought to come up here and give us a recommendation."

Wirtz was asked whether passage of the Senate-approved bill would harm collective bargaining in the future. He replied:

"Any time there is legislative action for final determination of a dispute, to some degree there is a weakening of the collective bargaining process because one party or the other will rely on it. Every time we do it we weaken the determination of people to do it themselves in the future."

The Senate-approved measure would halt the strike for 30 days and provide ways thereafter, if the dispute was still unsettled, for the President to extend the strike ban for as much as 150 more days.

"We are not asking for legislation. We are not opposing it," Wirtz said for the administration.

Auto thefts increased 85 per cent in January, 1966, as compared to January, 1965, according to the National Auto Theft Bureau. Of the 4,254 cars stolen during the month, 80 to 85 per cent were reported as having been unlocked.

Farnham said that the entire leadership of the Oakland County Conservative Club was in the ballot, and all were defeated, including Arthur Brandt Jr., president of the club.

NARROW WIN

Farnham barely was re-elected precinct delegate in Birmingham's 14th precinct, winning over his opponent, Glen H. Woods, 166 to 161.

"The Conservatives usually hold 35 to 50 of the 385 precinct delegate seats in the county," he said. The number, he estimated, hasn't changed — although many of the faces

There were contests for 16 seats — with party regulars running — against people who either were extremely well known to us as Conservatives or were completely unknown to anyone in the party," Farnham said.

Some of the seats are held by some of these unknowns. In 60 precincts, where there were no candidates, the Conservatives waged a sticker campaign.

In Farmington, Bruce Duke, the only person we can flatly call a Birch Society member because he advertises himself as one — was defeated soundly," Farnham said.

Short Term Not Won by O'Brien

The State Attorney General's Office ruled today that the name of Royal Oak attorney John N. O'Brien cannot appear on the November ballot for a short Circuit Court term.

The opinion was requested by the State Election Commission after O'Brien received a half-dozen sticker votes for the seven week unexpired term of the late Judge Stuart G. Dondore.

As the only nominee for the short term, O'Brien contended that his name should be on the ballot as an ex officio candidate for the position.

O'Brien, 51, of 1716 Rosemont, was one of the six candidates nominated for three long terms on the Circuit bench, and his name will appear on the ballot for these positions.

He ran fifth in a field of 22 candidates.

NO CANDIDATES

Deputy State Election Commissioner Bernard Apol said this morning that the short term vacancy will show up on the November ballot but that there will be no names of candidates.

The deficiency is a vacancy, and it will be filled by the person who gets the most write-in or sticker votes," explained Apol.

Assistant State Attorney Russell Seard said that the short term did not appear on the August primary ballot because as an ex officio petitioner for it.

"In fact, it would only have showed up if three or more candidates had filed," he added.

"If there had been a runoff, it would have been proper to go ahead as a sticker candidate."

WANTS REVIEW

O'Brien said that he wants to review the authority on which Seard based his opinion before considering the possibility of taking the question into court.

"It seems to look down to me that they give me credit for the nomination," said O'Brien.

Another opinion on O'Brien's eligibility has been requested from the Oakland County Corporation Counsel by county election officials and is expected to be ready Monday.

Girl's Car Rejected: It's a Boys' World

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — In the field of feminine fashion, girls make the best models, but in the field of automotive design, there's one area in which models made by girls don't even count.

Kathy Champagne, 12, of Grand Rapids, learned that when she entered a futuristic automobile model in the recent Fisher Body Craftsman Guild Competition.

Her model was rejected because she is a girl.

But Kathy received some compensation for her effort. She was presented with a citation from General Motors Corp.'s Fisher Body Division in recognition of being the first girl to submit an entry in the teen-age model-building contest.

WAS UNAWARE

Kathy, a seven-grade pupil, was unaware of the restriction when she designed and built the wooden scale model for the annual contest.

Letters were exchanged between Kathy and the public relations and advertising departments of Fisher, but to no avail. The contest remained open to boys only.

In addition to her citation Kathy was the guest of Fisher at a day-long tour of the assembly plant here.

But, despite the "consolation prizes," when it comes to auto design it still seems to be a man's world.

Dexter Township, 14 miles northwest of here.

Borders' partner, Stanley McFadden, 26, who was injured in the crash, said the two deputies were called to investigate a complaint that a car was being driven recklessly in the parking lot of a recreation center near Dexter Township.

ROCKFORD (AP) — State Police have arrested Robert C. Bergin of Grand Rapids in connection with the fatal beating of an unidentified man about 60 years old near here Thursday.

Rockford State Police said they have also issued a warrant for Donald Arlo Carnes, 28, of Grand Rapids, in the case.

The victim was found in a wooded area four miles northeast of Rockford, a community northeast of Grand Rapids. Police said six workmen digging a fish pond nearby heard a man shout and noises of a scuffle.

The workmen said a car left the scene just after the man screamed. The victim was wearing blue-green work pants and a red and white plaid shirt, police said.

Police are checking Bergin's car for fingerprints. Bergin was arraigned at Kent County jail Thursday night.

Rochester 'Y' Hunts New Site

ROCHESTER — The YMCA is living on borrowed time in its present Helen Street building.

Authorities are looking for a suitable piece of property to purchase but so far progress has been slow.

Carl Johnson, executive director, said he had one offer of a piece of land at a reasonable price but that it was not suitable for the YMCA's purposes.

He said negotiations are going on now for another piece of property.

In the meantime, the owner of the present building, St. John's Lutheran Church, has granted YMCA officials an extension of time.

The church is remodeling and the Y building stands on what is to be a parking lot.

Johnson said the ideal property would be about three acres centrally located, but thus far the Y hasn't been able to afford the prices.

Individuals and organizations have contributed about $4,500 toward a site and building fund. Johnson said officials won't actively start soliciting funds, however, until a site is found.

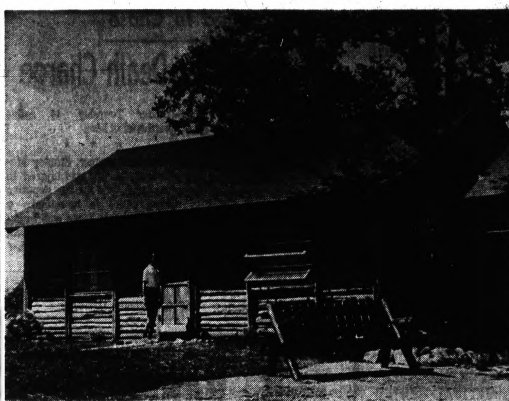

Directors estimate a new building will cost at least $125,000. It will need an all-purpose room, a game room, improved office facilities, a place for individual counseling, an indoor rifle range and a kitchenette.

Dance Is Slated

CLARKSTON — A "tennis court" dance will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesday at Clarkston High School.

Sponsored by the Pep Club, the dance will feature a new band called "Nobody's Children."

Admission is 25 cents per person.

Farmers Get More for Growing Less

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan farmers will receive more than $50 million this year, about $10 million more than last year, for reducing their wheat and feed grain acreage, a federal agriculture official reports.

Frank Light, director of the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said county ASC officials are beginning to distribute the first of about 60,000 payment checks to farmers in the program.

Eligible feed grains include corn, grain sorghum and barley. Reports indicated Michigan farmers will keep close to one million acres out of wheat and feed grain production this year.

Small-Grain Harvest Brings Good Yield

Oakland County's small-grain harvest, now nearing completion, appears to be producing a good shape in south Oakland much better yield than last year's drought-stricken crop, according to Lyle B. Abel, County Extension director.

Abel said the wheat crop, now about 90 per cent harvested, is producing "at least average" yields.

There is some evidence of shriveling and mildew, Abel said, but not serious enough to cause heavy losses.

The oat crop, about 60 per cent harvested, was held back somewhat by lack of rainfall in

Dryden Camp Unit Dedication Sunday

DRYDEN — A new living unit for 14 young girls at Camp Happy Hollow will be dedicated in special ceremonies Sunday.

Known as the Carman Adams unit, the new building was named after the donor, a Birmingham resident. It adjoins the present building for older girls.

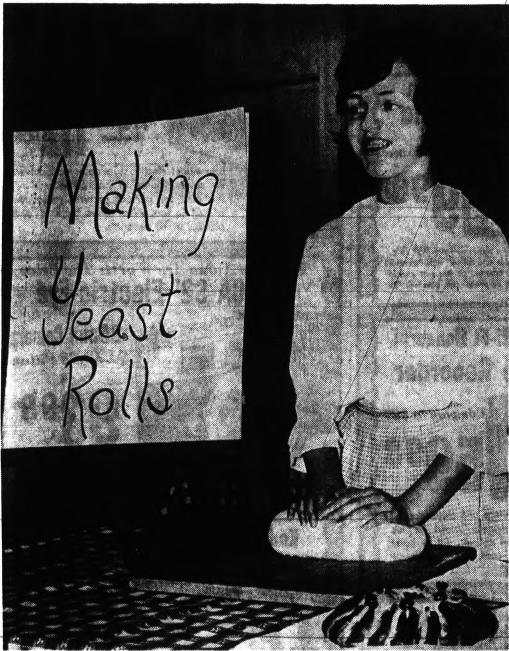

The camp, which is observing its 10th anniversary this year, serves more than 150 retarded and disturbed children from nine states and Ontario.

Camp Happy Hollow began in 1956 near Brighton. Nine boys' units from Detroit made up the present site. Facilities include 12 buildings equipped to accommodate 70 campers at one time on a coeducational basis.

The philosophy of the camp, according to its executive director John S. Fowler, is to provide a wholesome environment in which a mentally retarded or emotionally disturbed child can enjoy a creative, stimulating camping experience.

In 1959, as the number of campers grew to 35 boys from three states, a larger site and more facilities became necessary. In 1960 the camp moved to its present location.

PRIVATE LAKE
Forty acres surrounding a private lake make up the present site. Facilities include 12 buildings equipped to accommodate 70 campers at one time on a coeducational basis.

Visitors Due in Farmington

FARMINGTON — Nine students from the University of Popayah, Colombia will be living with Farmington families for the next three weeks as part of an Experiment in International Living program.

The students, ranging in age from 23 to 25, will live with their American "families" from Saturday through Aug. 26.

The public is invited to attend a reception for them Tuesday at St. Alexander's Rectory, 27853 Shiswassee.

The object of the program is for the Colombians to learn about American life and also share their own way of life with their hosts.

The program has been sponsored for 33 years by the Experiment in International Living, an educational, nonprofit organization with affiliates in 58 countries.

Some 2,300 participants will come to the United States this year and a similar number of Americans will go to Europe, Latin America, the Middle East, Australia, Asia and Africa on the program.

But for How Long?

Great Lake Levels Are Rising

OTTAWA (AP) — The Great Lakes are rising this year, but the Canadian Hydrographic Service says it's anybody's guess how long the rise will continue.

The lakes now are close to their average levels and while annual cycles make seasonal predictions accurate, it is impossible to predict more than a year in advance.

Even going that far is risky, says Gerry Dohler of the Hydrographic Service. "There are too many factors which can change the levels."

Basically, it is a matter of precipitation and evaporation. A year of unusually high precipitation could raise the level considerably if evaporation were normal. But hot, sunny weather and wind could increase evaporation to a point where there would be no increase.

CURRENT RECORDS

Dohler keeps up-to-date records of tides and water levels from all Canadian ports and recording stations.

"In older days some people thought there was a cycle of highs and lows over a specific period of years," he said. "But we haven't been able to compute it. Recorded figures do not support this theory."

"The only cycle is an annual one. The lakes reach their low point in early summer and their high point in the winter."

years, it would be nullified by human controls. Levels of lakes Superior and Ontario are artificially maintained and this affects the entire system.

SPECIFIC LEVEL

"Some people want us to keep Lake Ontario at a specific level," he said. "That is impossible."

"Think of the computer you'd need to calculate the total inflow of water into the lake, including precipitation. Then you'd have to get figures for evaporation and make changes every hour, first increasing, then decreasing the flow into the St. Lawrence River."

"And what would happen along the river, especially at Montreal? You'd have chaos."

Grand Jury Reports

'Sniper Was Crazy'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Charles Joseph Whitman was a "crazy, deranged" man as he prepared to kill and slay Monday, a grand jury reports.

Whitman stabbed and shot his mother to death Monday, fatally knifed his wife and then climbed to the observation level above the 27th floor of the University of Texas Tower. From that commanding position he shot 31 others.

Finally, Austin policemen aided by a lone civilian rushed him in his lofty lair and shot him to death.

What went on in the dark recesses of Whitman's mind? What caused this "tender" husband, called a "swell guy" by his friends, to turn to butchery? What detailed his apparently orderly thinking processes onto a path of mass murder?

TUMOR IMPORTANT

The grand jury said a small tumor close to the brain stem "undoubtedly caused him much mental pain and possibly contributed to his insane actions."

Dr. Coleman de Chenar, how said, "A person might have even, said the pecan-size, non-childhood encephalitis which would damage the brain. He might preserve outwardly normal behavior, yet be mean and cruel."

The pathologist added that Whitman was "not feeble-minded or epileptic" and said that his case "does not look like any of the clearcut mental illnesses such as schizophrenia or manic-depressive behavior."

WHAT WAS CAUSE?

What then? What caused Charles Whitman to turn into a sniper who meant to shoot until he was dead?

The grand jury said it agreed with Police Chief Robert A. Miles of Austin to release the notes left by Whitman only to "authorized investigating agencies since they contain unverified statements of an insane killer concerning an innocent individual."

Thursday - night in Lake Worth, Fla., hometown of the Whitman family, about 300 persons recited the Rosary in the chapel of a funeral home for Whitman and his mother. The 15-minute service was led by the Rev. Thomas Anglin, pastor of Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Church.

'Fried Paper, Anyone?'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—

Scientists at the U.S. Agriculture Department's research station here are frying bits of paper and calling them potato chips—in the name of research.

The paper bits, impregnated with varying amounts of sugar and amino acids, are being used to simulate different types and grades of potatoes which, scientists find, react differently when deep-fried.

Some potatoes, come out crisp and golden brown while others come out dark and soggy, making them unsuitable for the potato chip industry.

Routine Fire Ends in 4-Death Tragedy

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Joseph G. Toolis, 43, a Cleveland Fire Department veteran, returned to work yesterday after two days off. His wife had given birth to their fifth child.

Toolis passed out cigars to fellow firemen, and then his squad was called to a fire at the Metallurgical, Inc., plant in the southwest side.

Less than an hour later, Toolis and three other firemen were dead and eight others injured in an explosion that rocked the factory and ripped gaping holes in the roof. No damage estimate has been made.

Fire investigators were to start work today to determine the cause of the explosions that turned a routine fire into tragedy.

Workmen at the plant that manufacturers manganese pellets used in producing steel told firemen yesterday that they believe a spark from a welding torch set off the fire.

Killed were Toolis; John G. Petz, 42; Charles G. Dehner, 36; and Ralph E. Simon, 52, all fire department veterans.

The injured included Battalion Chief Edward J. Tuhacek, 50, and Asst. Fire Chief James W. Michaels, 52.

Primary Trickles Into Wee Hours

Thousands of area residents concerned about local government waited Tuesday night for the results of their polling place activity. They waited, and waited, and waited.

For those who wanted some idea of how local races came out before they went to bed, there was little satisfaction. Although the voting was not heavy, in general, the counting and reporting process was extremely slow.

This was not the fault of the staff of County Clerk-Register JOHN D. MURPHY at the courthouse. The returns just seemed to trickle in.

despite the public's demonstrated thirst for such information.

Although The Press had said it would offer election results beginning at 10 p.m. by telephone, it was not until 10:33 that the first scores were available. By 1 a.m. only a scant few figures were available on many important races.

Not until approximately 4:30 a.m. Wednesday were all cities and townships in.

Apparently there are many election workers in cities and townships who do not share the public's desire for rapid dissemination of our political processes.

The Old 'Iron Horse' Seen Kicking Up Its Heels

Indications are that, like the premature announcement of Mark Twain's death, reports of the demise of railroads as passenger movers have been greatly exaggerated. Indeed the steel "corpse" has risen from its death bed and is very much on the move.

With the U.S. population growing rapidly and statisticians projecting that within five years three-fourths of the people will be living in urban areas, the prospect is that vehicles on public roads will soar to more than 100 million.

Such a volume of highway traffic would, paradoxically, tend toward immobilization of a sizable segment of the motoring public unless new concepts of mass transportation are developed—and used.

Consequently, the railroads are now looking ahead to the role they must again play in passenger transportation.

Since railroad statistics show that the distance-limit of 74 per cent of passenger travel by rail is under 200 miles, the carriers are turning their backs on the long-haul area and concentrating on the short-trip movement of travelers.

In addition to a Federal grant of $90 million to develop a pilot rapid transit design linking East Coast cities, the rails themselves are programming some $12 billion over the next 10 years to prepare for the expected back-to-the-rails movement. Railroad equipment producers have 34 advanced projects in stages varying from blueprints to actual construction.

Needless to say, mechanization would be the name of the game in the resurgence of the rails, and computer makers are testing controls for everything from ticket sales to the complexities of actual train operation.

Progress, as has been said, never stands still—and the railroads are not about to.

Liquid Fuel Should Be 'Treated With Respect'

L.P. stands for liquified petroleum gas. A good many city people who aren't acquainted with L.P. come into intimate contact with it during their summer holidays. Because it can be handled in containers, it is very useful in cottages, trailers and even on boats.

There's one thing that these people, and everyone, should know about L.P. gas.

One of its properties is that it is heavier than air. If it escapes in large enough quantities, it accumulates on the floor or in low spots on the ground rather than rising and being dispelled in the air as most gases do.

If you get into trouble, remember that L.P. is odorized as a safety measure—you can detect it—and that accumulations are very dangerous.

Right to Bear Arms Out of Focus

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON — When the early Americans wrote into the Constitution's Second Amendment the right of the people to bear arms, they could hardly have imagined what was going to happen.

The FBI reports that 96 per cent of the 278 police officers killed in the line of duty since 1960 were killed with firearms and that of the 9,850 homicides last year, 57 per cent, or 5,614, were committed with firearms.

Shortly before Charles Joseph Whitman was killed by police Monday in Austin, Tex., after he had killed 15 people and wounded 31, all but one of them with guns—a book was published on the problem of firearms.

In this book, "The Right to Bear Arms," the author, Carl Bakal, wrote: "A strange and peculiarly American plague has long swept our land—a plague of guns. Every year, firearms claim more and more lives in this country."

"Since the turn of the century this plague has brought death to the astonishing total of more than 750,000 Americans—men, women and children—a figure based on official though incomplete government figures."

ministration, called for a law putting some federal controls on the sale of firearms.

He gave a congressional committee some figures, saying: More than half the 9,300 murders in 1964 were committed with firearms, many of them obtained through the mails, as were many of the guns used in half the 20,000 suicides in 1962. And he said the "vast majority" of the 64,000 armed robberies in 1964 were carried out with firearms.

He pointed out that four presidents were killed by assassins' bullets. But it would be misleading to get the impression that American killings were only the work of adults, sane or otherwise. Last year, testifying before a congressional committee, Carl K. Miller, director of records in the Chicago Police Department, told this story.

CONFISCATION
In 1963 and 1964, Chicago police confiscated over 12,000 guns; of the 391 murders in Chicago in 1964, firearms were used in 191 of them; and in these 191 murders in which guns were used, there were three 13-year-old juveniles involved, two 14-year-olds, seven 15-year-olds, and 11 16-year-olds.

Eighteen others involved in these murders were under 20.

A very mild—some would call it feeble—bill to put some controls on the sale of firearms, particularly by mail, has been approved by a Senate subcommittee.

But, although President Johnson has called on Congress for a strong control bill, it has a long and tough way to go before Congress does anything about it.

Neat Trick, If—

David Lawrence Says:

Rebuke to Steel Sounds Hollow

WASHINGTON—The words of rebuke from the administration because the steel companies did not consult the government before announcing a hike in prices have a hollow sound.

Pleas for "voluntary co-operation" are being repeated and the hope is expressed that "the good sense of labor and management" will be invoked to "hold the line on prices and inflationary wage settlements."

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, says:

"At this time, when Americans are fighting overseas, it is essential to maintain a stable economy... It is necessary for those who have the power of wage and price decisions to be willing to discuss those decisions in advance, and to hear and understand the government's position."

"Not to do so is deliberately to flout the public interest in cost-price stability at a critical time in our economic affairs."

NO SUCH DEMAND
But no such demand has been made of the airline union or of the other unions which now are threatening more strikes.

The inevitable result of such a topsy-turvy situation is to bring on an economic crisis, and the government will then have to step in with a wage-and-price freeze such as Britain is now undertaking.

Plainly, the war in Viet Nam has increased government expenses and has had an impact on the national economy as a whole.

Control of wages and prices has been imposed by law during the last three big wars in which the United States has been engaged. So there is precedent for such action.

RECESSION POSSIBLE
A regulated economy is not always a prosperous one, but certainly a real recession is possible if the major economic forces of the country are allowed to do as they please.

The latest test, which has been initiated, is a direct consequence of the administration's indifference to the violation of "guidelines."

As the steel companies observe the trend—especially the comments in recent weeks that the "guidelines" should be raised anyhow as far as labor is concerned—it is natural for management men to begin at least to express themselves and remind the federal government that they, too, are concerned with the problems of inflation.

Congress is not likely, before the November elections, to pass any laws imposing wage and price controls.

If the economic situation does not improve, it may well be that when Congress convenes after November, serious consideration will be given to legislation to stabilize both wages and prices so as to prevent inflation from having a demoralizing effect on the national economy.

Bob Considine Says:

Texas Massacre Gives Sen. Dodd New Voice

NEW YORK — The voice of Sen. Thomas Dodd was raised in anger the other day, and this time it was not directed at Drew Pearson.

The carnage on the campus of the University of Texas had given the Connecticut Democrat an opportunity to CONSIDINE return once more to a project which he has been attempting to put over for some years, with scant success.

Sen. Dodd would make it a lot tougher for nuts like Charles Whitman and Lee Harvey Oswald to pick up an arsenal.

Oswald bought the gun that killed John F. Kennedy for less than $20. It passed through the mails as legitimate merchandise. The pistol with which he killed officer J. D. Tippit was similarly purchased.

There was no one to question whether a person like Oswald, who had once defected to the Soviet Union and later slugged for Communist Cuba, had any right to possess arms.

WHITMAN'S ARMORY
Whitman's armory, which he dragged up the final flights of steps of the tower on the campus at Austin, was made up of a 12-gauge shotgun which he had bought on credit from a national chain store on the morning of the slaughter, a Remington-Union magnum rifle with a four-power scope, a 35-caliber Remington pump rifle, a 30-caliber reconditioned Army carbine, a 9-mm. luger pistol, a 37 magnum pistol and a large bowie knife.

At his home, where he had left his dead wife, Whitman had three additional rifles and two derringer pistols.

Dodd must be accustomed to the rough treatment he has had since his ethics case came up before the Senate.

He had been belted earlier by gun-lovers, gun dealers, rifle clubs, antique dealers as a menace to their fun and profit.

CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHT

The constitutional right to bear arms was brandished in front of him and all who suggested in print that he had a good bill going for him. It will be interesting to hear and read the inevitable replies to those who, in the light of Whitman's running amok, now call for a closer inspection of gun purchasers.

'Black Power'

Life

The civil rights movement in America has stumbled badly over a phrase that has defied every attempt at definition. "Black power" was pressed into service as a slogan for the Meredith strike through Mississippi by Stokely Carmichael, 25-year-old head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC).

The words quickly became a part of the vocabulary of protest. But it was left to each user of the phrase to define it as he saw fit. Roy Wilkins, executive director of the NAACP, saw it as the negation of everything his organization had sought.

"It is a reverse Mississippi, a reverse Hitler, a reverse Ku Klux Klan... It is the father of all evils, and the mother of violence."

Others saw dangerous overtones of racism in the chanted phrase. Vice President Humphrey warned, "There is no room in America for racism of any color. And we must reject calls for racism, whether they come from a throat that is white or one that is black."

If "black power" is not a

Why can't we have one of those timer lights for control of right hand turns onto Wide Track from Huron, and for left hand turns onto Wide Track from Huron, so that people crossing Wide Track on foot could make it all the way across without having to sprint the last few feet to safety?

It might cost a little money, but safety for pedestrians is an important factor to be considered at busy intersections.

New Legislation Is Used to Stop Dumping

Regarding the illegal dumping on Bald Mountain and resulting pollution of Galloway Lake, it was State Representative Robert J. Slingerland who insisted that the State Health Department investigate and act on its findings.

He also directed the owner of the property, who was trying to stop the dumping, to an expert witness whose testimony resulted in an order to close the dump.

This was the first time that Act No. 87 of the Public Acts of 1965, which Rep. Slingerland helped write, had been used in court.

I've read a lot of articles telling of the great things that Governor Romney has done to bring this state out of bankruptcy and I've also read that ex-Governor Williams was responsible for this bankruptcy.

Civic-Minded Citizens Beautify the Au Sable

We took a 28-mile canoe trip down the south branch of the Au Sable River last week, from Roscommon to Smith Bridge.

This river is once again sparkling and beautiful, thanks to the efforts of three civic-minded people in Roscommon. Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hubbell and Mrs. Hubbell's father, Earl Westbrook. This spring at their own expense, they cleaned several tons of debris, mostly empty beer and pop containers, from this lovely river. Our thanks to these good citizens.

Soapy, Romney Have a Race of Their Own

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Republican George Romney and Democrat G. Mennen Williams will be running for separate offices in Michigan's November election, but what could be the biggest prize of all isn't on the ballot—the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

Romney, 59, who is seeking reelection to his third term as governor, is expected to make a bid for the White House candidacy if all goes well in the next two years.

Williams, 55, who virtually created the Michigan Democratic party in his own image, hopes to be elected to the U.S.

Senate and tarnish Romney's national image in the process. His opponent is Republican Sen. Robert Griffin, 42, who was appointed by Romney to fill the vacancy left by the death of Sen. Patrick McNamara, a Democrat.

SIZE OF VICTORY

In most political futures books, both Romney and Williams are favored to win a state where independent ticket-splitters often decide elections. But it will be the size of the victory margins—rather than the winners—that will attract the most interest among political analysts.

In 1964, while President Johnson was clobbering Republican Barry Goldwater in Michigan by a 2-to-1 margin, Romney backed the Democratic landslide and won his second term by smashing Democrat Neil Staebler by 363,000 votes.

Romney's opponent this time is Zolton Ferency, 44, the Democratic state chairman, who concedes that he is fighting a stiff uphill battle.

"I'm gaining, though," he says. "People no longer ask what is Ferency, they now want to know who is Ferency?"

If Romney can roll up enough votes to carry some Congressional candidates into office on his coattails, he will add to his prestige as a votegetter who might head up a strong Republican ticket challenging President Johnson in 1968.

For that reason, Williams and Michigan's powerful Democratic-labor coalition will be throwing all they have into an effort to embarrass the Republican governor.

President Johnson himself is expected to join in the battle, along with such other Democratic bigwigs as Vice President Hubert Humphrey and New York Sen. Robert Kennedy. If they can succeed in knocking off Romney, his presidential nomination chances will vanish.

CALL IN ROCKY

On the Republican side, Romney and Griffin may call for such reinforcements as New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois, California Sen. George Murphy and New York Sen. Jacob Javits.

Williams, who served an unprecedented six consecutive terms as governor of Michigan, displayed his awesome voting power Tuesday by crushing youthful Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh in the Democratic primary.

Although as an assistant secretary of state, Williams had been out of elective office for five years, he was welcomed back by Michigan Democrats with open arms.

Williams built up the party from scratch during his 12 years in the governor's chair into what many observers call the most efficient Democratic state organization in the nation.

WARN WELCOME

Everywhere he went during handshaking forays into shopping centers and at factory plant gates, Williams was greeted warmly by voters who instantly recognized the tall, rangy figure with the familiar green-and-white polka dot bow tie.

At first, Cavanagh scoffed at Williams' brand of down-to-earth, old-fashioned politicking. But in the end, he too was getting up at 5 a.m. to greet the morning shift of workers in and around heavily-industrialized Detroit.

Where Williams had instant recognition, Cavanagh often had to introduce himself.

The mayor tried to overcome this disadvantage through the use of electronics. In addition to heavy scheduling of political spot advertisements, Cavanagh appeared on two hour-long statewide radio and television shows and answered questions from viewers.

The competition was too rough, however, both from the late, late movies and from a competitor who had nearly 20 years' head start.

The first lighthouse on the Atlantic Coast was built of stone on Little Brewster Island off Boston Harbor in 1716.

Dunes Bill Setback Stirs Mixed Reaction

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — government's protection has long been a subject of controversy among land owners and others in the area.

There have been congressional hearings in Michigan and debate before Congress. The Senate's approval encouraged supporters to think the proposal would become a reality.

"Bitterly" disappointed, said John Peterson of Frankfurt, a chief supporter.

On the other hand, Dexter Seeburger, leader of an opposition group, indicated satisfaction.

PROPOSAL DIES

Seeburger said he interpreted the action of the House Interior Committee as a move that killed the proposal.

The Senate at Washington already had passed the bill that would convert a large Lake Michigan lakeshore area into a national park site.

But the influential House committee refused Thursday by a 124 vote to approve the bill.

One committee source, however, said there may be a move next Tuesday to revive the bill. The committee meets again Tuesday.

To save money and, quite often, lots of it.

They know that prices will never be better at their Chevrolet dealer's than they are in August. They know their present cars will never be worth more in trade than they are right now. And they know a good value when they see one, like a Chevrolet Malibu Sport Coupe—the most popular model of America's most popular mid-size car.

It comes with thick foam-cushioned seats, deep-twist carpeting, vinyl up one door and down the other, padded instrument panel and sun visors for added safety. And all those Body by Fisher niceties sit solidly over some of the surest handling features a car can have: Ball-Race steering. Full Coil suspension. Wide-stance wheel design for steady cornering. ### He's Willing to Accept Assignment

She Needs Police Guard

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a young unmarried police officer. I direct traffic at a busy intersection in Boston. A very pretty blonde girl passes me every morning at the same time in a tan '62 Chevy.

She always smiles and waves, and I smile and wave back. I would like to meet her and get to know her better. How do I go about it?

INTERESTED
DEAR INTERESTED: Tell her she is much too pretty to be driving around Boston without police protection. And if that doesn't open the door, you can cite her for resisting an officer.

She was asked to pose for an artist who specializes in nudes. She did. Then was hired by a sculptor who did several statues of her. Then a photographer

My question: Why was the work of the photographer considered pornography, and the artist's and sculptor's considered "art"? She posed in the nude, in practically the same position for all three.

DEAR BROTHER: All photographs of nudes are not regarded as pornography, just as all efforts of artists and sculptors are not considered "art."

But an unprincipled jerk with a camera is more likely to try to pass off pornography as art — at considerable profit to himself.

Who, in this case decided the photography was "pornographic?"

There are some legitimate arguments as to who is qualified to judge between art and garbage. And I daresay that plenty of some has passed for the other.

Performance by Cellist Is Heralded

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

The sixth week of concerts at Meadow Brook continues to bring a wealth of great music to a vast and appreciative audience.

Joining Sixten Ehrling and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra last evening was Leonard Rose, a cellist whose performance of Bloch's "Schelomo" and Saint-Saens' Concerto in A minor added another accolade to the summer's musical achievements.

"Schelomo", an austere and moving contemporary rhapsody, is a tonal picture of the many-sided genius of King Solomon.

Rose's interpretation was definitive, at times purposefully harsh and stern, at others sad and haunting, with the feeling of loneliness and isolation from worldly affairs.

The artist's magnificent tone and remarkable technique were equalled by his good taste and restraint in this difficult work, with its quarter tones and its complete exploitation of the instrument.

The orchestra, whose part is no less than the soloist's, added great sustenance and power to the performance.

CONTRAST

In contrast, the lighter, less contemporary "Cello Concerto" by Saint-Saens, was tuneful, charming and lyric. It played the full range of the cello to the hilt with its violin-like virtuosity.

Particularly in the second movement, both orchestra and soloist played with delicacy and gentle humor.

The orchestra opened the evening's program with Mozart's 40th Symphony. The first and last movements were done with clarity, spirit and the crisp, direct approach so much a part of Mozart's style.

The second and third, however, were too heavy-handed, too jerky, too accented on the suspended notes. It was a Wagnerian approach which has no place in the music of Mozart.

CONTEMPORARY PIECE

Bartok's "Dance Suite for Orchestra" brought Ehrling's fine understanding and empathy with contemporary music into the foreground.

Taking the orchestra to its full capacity, he produced a stirring performance of this rewarding work, with its colorful, folk-oriented music, grotesque and throbbing, strong and virile.

The dissonances, fast changes of tempo, contrast between light and heavy moods, hypnotic Magyar flavor were accomplished with smoothness and subtlety.

It climaxed another rewarding and musically treasured evening at Meadow Brook.

There's always something new from Drexel's Et Cetera collection. This time, a handsome bombe chest, in an antique cherry finish, that is ideal for a hallway, bedroom or as an occasional storage piece anywhere in the home. Line available locally.

A small apothecary chest provides an accent for any room and this design was featured by Sprague & Carleton at the 1966 Summer International Home Furnishings Market. Also referred to as a spice box commode, it is ideal beside a chair where the drop leaves can provide extra surface space. The rows of small drawers have white porcelain knobs. Line available in area.

Mary Affleck Is Feted

Several luncheons and showers have honored Mary Ann Affleck before her marriage to Dr. Karl Florent, Lutomski Saturday at St. Hugo of the Hills Church.

She is the daughter of the Gregor S. Afflecks of Bloomfield Hills and her parents are the Michael G. Lutomskis of Benstein Road Commerce Township.

Mrs. John Livingstone, with daughters Erna Jean and Anne, recently of Pontiac, gave a trousseau shower and luncheon in their Bloomfield Hills apartment. Mrs. George Morton of Apple Lane was hostess at a luncheon-shower.

Mrs. John Mahony of Birmingham, with Mrs. Larry O'Doherty and Mrs. William Stephens, were cohostesses at a luncheon in the Mahony home.

LUNCHEON
Entertaining recently at a bridal luncheon for Miss Affleck in the Bloomfield Hills Country club were Mrs. Ralph Polk and daughter, Mrs. Russell S. Read. Kitchen gifts were opened.

Cocktails preceded a recent buffet family supper hosted by Mrs. Eric Weinman of Birmingham.

The Michael Lutomskis will host the rehearsal dinner for his brother and his fiancée in their Birmingham home.

REV. THOMAS VAUGHN

Clerical Duties, Jazz Fill Curate's Days

A change from the ordinary is the Rev. Thomas Vaughn, curate of St. John's Episcopal Church in Midland, and his Father Vaughn Trio.

Jazz pianist Vaughn has recently appeared on the Johnny Carson show and the Mike Douglas shows. His trio played the Newport Jazz Festival July 4 and in the words of Rev. Vaughn, "We broke them up."

Rev. Vaughn is a former resident of the Pontiac area where he attended Waterford High School. His parents are the James R. Vaughns of Dwight Street. He received his religious degrees from Fairleigh College, Ill. and Yale University.

MUSICAL FAMILY

His music interest stems from childhood. He names his jazz loving grandmother as his influence and his mother who was his first piano teacher.

He has been an active performer since the age of 18 when his first trio was formed.

Rev. Vaughn stresses that his music is secondary to his work in church. He says he doesn't allow music engagements to interfere with clerical duties.

He does not play in bars and has never worked the commercial circuit.

When asked if his musical ambitions met the approval of his young parishioners, he smiled. "The kids don't as a rule know much about jazz."

But when I am home the word gets out and they come by the house frequently to listen to records and discuss things in general. I think they feel more at ease."

His older parishioners share the young people's enthusiasm about Rev. Vaughn's second career.

CHILDREN

The Vaughns have three children, Sheila, 4; Tom, 2; and Angela, 11 months. While the children are generally unaware that their father is becoming famous, Sheila has displayed a great deal of pride in the fact that daddy was on TV and asks when he will appear again.

The answer to that is soon. Rev. Vaughn will appear on the Johnny Carson Show the latter part of this month. At that time the trio will cut their second album.

The Father Vaughn Trio will also participate in the Detroit Jazz Festival Aug. 7.

Never Knock New 'Kneesies'

In case you haven't heard (is it possible?) Kneesies are here! Mini-skirts and many knees have everybody looking anyway — so why not give them something new to view, says tongue-in-cheek Faberge!

Fresh fashion accessory or frankly fun, Kneesies are easy and they won't smudge, smear or rub off — even under stockings!

First, the art of illusion — with your choice of artful colors in makeup, a foundation formula you blend on with your fingertip. Legs that are too fat for this can be shadowed, shape shaded — to appear longer, slimmer! Then, paint on a Kneesie with water-color makeup.

DEAR POLLY — Recently I moved next door with a small daughter almost the age of our 3-year-old. They became great playmates but it became a problem when the two of them would decide to go play in one house or the other rather than out of doors.

The other mother would look frankly for sight of the youngsters until we decided to put up a white cardboard (anything agreed upon would do) in a window to let the other mother know the children were in her house.

The card was removed when they went back outdoors to play. I recommend this plan to other mothers with a similar problem. —MRS. C. C.

DEAR POLLY — We used to manage a motel and had the problem of mattress pads slipping until I ran across the idea of placing the pad crosswise on a bed, pulling it taut and tucking the ends under the mattress. —MRS. D. P.

Spotty House a Bit Unusual

LINCOLN, III. (AP) — People passing the Ted R. Gibson home at the edge of Lincoln see "spots before their eyes" — 580 of them painted on the house.

The dots, 10 inches in diameter, are spaced 24 inches apart — worked out on paper before being applied in paint on the house.

Mrs. Gibson marked each circle with a B or C — indicating the color — to help Gibson, who did the painting. Working in spare time, he took almost three months to paint the dots.

Break Up Hate Alliance With Frankness

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
 DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My neighbor says you wrote a column about in-laws who show favor to one child in a family. As I have this problem, please send the column to me.

My husband's sister has always held something against our 12-year-old girl though I don't know what it is. But she is devoted to our 9-year-old boy, wants to hear about everything he's doing, never forgets his birthday and makes such a fuss over him. Yet she goes out of her way to ignore his sister...

"She's nice to you because she wants you to dislike Joanne, too. So watch yourself. Liking or not liking your sister is your business. It's not aunt Rose's."

Children are very quick to accept this kind of hint. They know much more than we think they do about people's craving for support of their hate. So when we tell our 9-year-old...

that his aunt's flattering attention is her attempt to win his support of her dislike of his sister, we're not telling him anything that will shock him.

As a matter of fact, the only shock he will experience is that we're willing to put into words what he himself knows.

If we love a child, we do not want to divide him from his sister or brother. We want...

him to enjoy as many human relationships as he can.

You don't need that other column I wrote on in-laws' partiality toward one child at the expense of another. What you need is to take that boy of yours aside and tell him you know the truth that he knows. That's all. That's it.

Buttons for fall are costumakers. Whether they are tailored or fancy, made of plastic, leather, metal, mother-of-pearl or jewels—they are a fashion must. These are by Lidz Bros.

Fall Buttons 'Up Front' in High Fashion Parade

Fashion calls for the use of all shapes, sizes and kinds of buttons this fall according to Louis Gottlieb, Vice President in charge of planning and design for Lidz Brothers one of the world's largest importers and distributors of buttons.

"Buttons," he goes on to say, "make fashion news on dresses as well as coats and suits, this coming fall season."

Buttons will glisten and glow. There will be a great emphasis on metals, especially gold in keeping with the nautical theme introduced by St. Laurent in his most recent collection.

Geometric shapes — squares, octagons and triangles will in many instances supplant round buttons.

Etched and engraved buttons, many of them in two-tone effect of bright and dull with two and three color applications, will add an extremely new look.

Colored buttons for day wear are important. High fashion colors include plum and moss, heather and green, burgundy and brown. Light pale tones featuring such shades as beige, off white, pearl gray and honey are very important.

Many suit and coat collections for fall feature the double breasted look. A great number of fall coats feature twelve, fourteen and even sixteen buttons. Sleeves, too, will have as many as three or four buttons on each.

Jewelled buttons for late day costume and evening coats are more important than ever. Many of these buttons are so important in look and effect that they are replacing costume jewelry. Multicolored stones, as well as monotone jewels will bid for the fashion look; both will be winners, says Gottlieb.

To sum up — to be in fashion this fall — you'll be wearing buttons. Don't be caught without them. Buttons will be costumemakers.

Only Interest Payments Can Be Deducted

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Mary Feeley:
Are tuition contracts — which you agree to pay in instalments for education tax deductible?
Also, if you surrender your life insurance policy for its cash value, is that considered as income?

MARY FEELEY

get a few things straightened out before they all gang up on you at the end of the year.
As for your first question:
tuition for education is not deductible on your income tax return. However, if there is any interest involved in these instalment payments which can be definitely determined, this interest may be deducted.

As for the money you receive for your life insurance policy, it is not taxable if it does not exceed the amount you paid on premiums through the years.
If it does exceed that amount,
then the portion of cash above the paid premiums is taxable.

For New School, Changes at 24 Others

Architectural Contracts Get Approval

Two architectural contracts were approved last night by the Waterford Township Board of Education for designing a new school and alterations at 24 other schools.

The projects were approved by school district voters in the June 13 election.

The board accepted a contract with Harry Denyes Associates at 12 per cent of construction costs for remodeling and site development at Cray and Pierce Junior high schools and for additions or remodeling at Lutes, Lotus Lake, Sandburg, Houghston, Donelson, Waterford Village, Williams Lake, Adams, Drayton Plains, Stringham and Pontiac Lake elementary schools.

Also approved was a contract with O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, Inc., at 5.5 per cent for a new elementary school and additions to Cray, Four Towns, Schoolcraft, Grayson, McVittie, Monteith, Burr, Haviland, Beaumont, Cooley and Leggett elementary schools.

The new elementary school—Crescent Lake—will be located in the Lake Estates Subdivision area.

PAY INCREASES
In other business, the board approved a monthly pay increase of $7 for five custodial supervisors in the school district.

The two-year agreement increased their salary from $562 to $599 a month. Included is a $10 per month increment per year.

Two Schools Given Names

Mott, Crescent Lake Chosen by Board

The Waterford Township Board of Education last night named the two new schools authorized June 13 when voters passed a $18-million bonding proposal.

Waterford Mott was designated as the name for the proposed new high school to be located at Pontiac Lake and Scott Lake roads.

Earmarked for the Crescent Lakes Estates Subdivision area, the new elementary school was named Crescent Lake Elementary School.

The high school was named after Charles S. Mott of Flint, a member of the board of directors of General Motors Corp. and founder of the Mott Foundation.

The name is contingent on Mr. Mott's approval.

COMPLETION DATE

Target date for completion of the high school—the school district's third—is September, 1968, with the elementary school slated to be finished a year earlier.

Construction of both buildings will probably get under way late this year or early 1967.

Retroactive to July 1, the basic wage for night shift agreement also provides for an work, insurance benefits and allowance of three per cent of mileage money.

'Tentative' Budget Topic for Hearing

The Waterford Township Board of Education held a public hearing on the "tentative" 1966-67 school budget last night, but took no action since an almost-identical preliminary budget had already been approved April 7.

The board is handcuffed in adopting a final budget until a contract agreement is reached with the Waterford Education Association.

About 75 to 80 per cent of a school district's expenditures is earmarked for instruction purposes, the bulk of which is for teachers' salaries.

Negotiations between teams representing the WEA and a school board are scheduled to resume next Thursday.

"It is essentially the same budget submitted to the Tax Allocation Board," said Supt. of Schools Dr. Don O. Tatroe. "It certainly is not a finished document," he emphasized.

PAY INCREASES
Besides the undetermined amount of teachers' wages for 1966-67, the budget doesn't include some of the pay increases already approved by the board.

Last night's hearing was held in compliance with state law.

Estimated expenditures amount to $8,742,915 compared with a projected income of $8,046,480.

Both figures are about $15,000 less than the preliminary budget submitted to the Oakland

FBI Agents Hunt Robber of Bank in Royal Oak

ROYAL OAK (AP) — FBI agents today sought a white man who singled handedly robbed the Wayne - Oakland Bank here Thursday of $5,500.

The FBI in Detroit said the young man entered the bank and demanded money from a woman teller.

The man handed the teller a note reading: "Don't be foolish; the money in a large manila envelope." The teller said she put the money in a large manila envelope which the man gave her. She said she saw no gun.

Agents said the man escaped on foot.

In still other business, the board authorized the administration to apply for federal funds to assist toward payment of guidance and counseling expenses totaling $104,552.

PILOT PROGRAM

The amount includes a request for $5,465 for the cost of a pilot program in elementary guidance and counseling. Rate of reimbursement for this program is expected to be about 60 per cent.

Reimbursement rate on the $176,947 secondary request will probably be less than 12 per cent, according to school officials.

Also last night, the board requested reimbursement from the Oakland Schools Board of Education for construction and equipping costs ($16,839) of a classroom at Mason Junior High School for a Type "A" mentally handicapped program.

Three 1966-67 teaching contracts were approved by the board and two resignations were accepted.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRD SONGS

QUESTION: Why do birds sing?

ANSWER: When you see a bird singing away with the enthusiasm of the little house wren in our picture, you might think he's singing just because he loves it.

He probably does like to sing, but there are other reasons for that bright tinkling flood of melody.

Inside that wren house is a Mrs. Wren, and soon there will be small wrens to care for.

No doubt Father Wren's singing did help persuade Mrs. Wren that he'd make a good husband.

But she probably thought of the practical side, too. She knew that when the family came, they would be extremely hungry.

She didn't want other wrens getting the insects her family would need for food, and Father Wren felt exactly the same way.

He had looked the general area over and had picked out a certain part for a hunting ground.

He knew exactly what bushes, trees and paths marked out its limits. He is singing as loudly as he can so that other wrens will understand that they are to stay away from his particular territory. He's telling them to leave his special crop of food alone.

FOR YOU TO DO: Start now to build some bird houses for next year or feeding stations for the winter.

Not Impaired by Particles in the Heart

By Science Service
BOSTON — Forty soldiers who received foreign bodies in the heart in World War II are reported surviving, many of them working full time, with small missiles still not removed.

The policy generally followed by the United States forces in World War II was to remove from the heart, objects that were spotted when the chest was first opened, but to make no attempt to remove them later from soldiers who had survived the immediate dangers of their implantation.

The size and shape of the missiles varied from small shell fragments a few millimeters in diameter to 30-caliber machine-gun bullets.

Speech Proof of Independence

Castro Shows He's Still No. 1 in Cuba

By PEDRO BONETTI
HAVANA (UPI) — Fidel Castro's recent "glory day" speech in Havana has laid to rest any lingering doubts among Cuban watchers about who's in charge on the Communist island.

On the heels of the rambling, two-hour, 38-minute harangue, observers are now convinced Fidel is still as firmly in the driver's seat.

There had been mounting speculation the Soviet Union was working to downgrade Castro in Cuba and replace him with a Communist more willing to adhere to the Kremlin's current policy of peaceful coexistence.

Other reports said Castro has been seriously ill and that his Fulgencio Batista and Castro's rise to power.

The speculation, fed by Castro's unexplained absence from public events in Cuba earlier pointed to at least three indications he has maintained his independence of Soviet control over his policy.

TROOP OFFER

First, he reassured Cuba's willingness to send troops — whole combat units with their equipment — to fight in Vietnam if North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh asked for them.

Next, he attacked what he called the "pseudo revolutionaries" in Latin America who do not feel an armed struggle such as the one Castro himself led in the best way to win power.

Finally, Castro chided the Soviet Union itself, although not by name when he said Cuba would feel "hurt and aggrieved" if any "socialist" country were to give aid to Chile.

Johnson Boxed In by Steel Price Hikes, Airline Strike

By MERRIMAN SMITH

UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — President Johnson today was in the tightest economic corner of his career as chief executive, pushed there by seemingly unchangeable steel price increases and the continuing snarl of an airline strike.

Indications were the White House would not attempt to force the steelmakers to roll back their price increases although there was no official word on what the administration is or may do about them.

Johnson was shown his best weapon to fight the hike of from $2 to $3 per ton for strip and sheet steel when none of the nine major producers held the price line.

Those that remained seemed unlikely to change the steel executives' minds.

The administration's handling of the 29-day airline strike and the steel prices was being watched by both organized labor and big business as a bell weather to plan for forthcoming other wage and price decisions.

The failure of any major steelmaker to hold the price line deprived Johnson of the best weapon on the late President John F. Kennedy had in 1962 when he forced a rollback of a steel holdout.

When Inland refused to raise its prices in 1962, the other producers had to back down for fear of losing business to the holdout.

Impetus to those seeking an anti-inflation tax increase.

Nobody was underestimating Johnson's resourcefulness and his determination to hold the price line.

Steel price hikes were allowed to stand, it might give added force to a rollback of a steel holdout.

When Inland refused to raise its prices in 1962, the other producers had to back down for fear of losing business to the holdout.

Girl Is 4th Slain in New Jersey Area

Hunt for Coed Killer Goes On

MANASQUAN, N.J. (AP) — Detectives continued their search today for a killer who left a 19-year-old coed brutally beaten and made on a lonely bridge path.

Donna DeRier of Hawthorne was the fourth young girl slain in the Jersey Shore resort area within the last year. Authorities have established no definite link between the murders, although in Allaire State Park before 1 a.m. Thursday.

repeated blows to the head. Detectives have talked to almost 600 persons in the latest case.

All of the murders remain unsolved.

Six local and county detectives tried to retrace the girl's steps from the time she left her summer home here at 3:40 p.m. Wednesday until she was found in Allaire State Park before 1 a.m. Thursday.

She was to have reported her summer job at a supermarket but she never got there.

Two policemen on a routine patrol found the victim with her clothes scattered haphazardly. Medical authorities said there was no evidence of a sexual assault.

Miss DeRier's yellow convertible was parked 15 feet away, about two miles from the supermarket.

She had been beaten over the head, face and chest with a four-foot wooden plank found near her body.

The girl, a pretty blue-eyed brunette, was a science student at Montclair State College.

The murder was similar to the slayings of the three other teen-age girls since last September.

Worm Diggers Hit Pay Dirt

WISCONSIN, Maine (U) — Wisconsin's worm diggers strike is over. The worm diggers won a 25-cent-per-100-worms price hike from the worm dealers.

The dispute concerned blood worms, prized by sports fishermen for bait. They are shipped all over the East Coast.

Police Seek Sex Slaying Link

GRANADA HILLS, Calif. (UPI) — An autopsy disclosed Thursday that the 28-year-old wife of a former Detroit man was strangled and raped in her home.

Police sought to link the killing to the murder 10 days ago of a pretty teen-age girl.

Coroner's deputies said Phyllis Black, three months pregnant, had been strangled. "There was also evidence of sexual assault," the report added.

The Wednesday night slaying sent detectives searching for a possible connection with the July 24 killing of Janice Soren, 17, Northridge, Calif., and similar attacks on other women in the area.

PARKING LOT

Miss Soren's body was found in a shopping center parking lot about two miles from the home of Mrs. Black and her aerospace executive husband, Richard, 29, a native of Detroit.

turned home from his Redondo Beach, Calif., office.

Mrs. Black's body was discovered on the floor of a hallway, leading to a bedroom in the couple's new home in a neighborhood of $35,000-$45,000 residential area in the sprawling San Fernando Valley.

Police said robbery apparently was not the motive in the killing of Mrs. Black, who had moved here with her husband after their marriage about 22 months ago in New Jersey.

City Pupils Get Help on Reading

A group of 300 Pontiac youngsters has spent six weeks this summer developing a "Yes I can" attitude toward reading. The chance to get a fresh start on mastering this key skill was offered in a Pontiac School System program designed for third graders.

Using federal funds, local educators set up a $64,000 program described by Sup't. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer as "a massive shot in the arm of reading instruction."

Children enrolled in the program, which ended today, received the kind of intensive attention they could not expect during the regular school year.

They were picked up at their respective schools each weekday and taken to Mark Twain Elementary School, where they spent six or six and a half hours under the guidance of a blue-ribbon staff.

FAVORABLE RATIO

An extremely favorable teacher-pupil ratio characterized the program, with not more than 15 youngsters assigned to a classroom.

Besides the 20 classroom teachers, the staff included nine special reading teachers, three librarians, three physical education teachers, a psychologist, a nurse, a visiting teacher, a principal and three clerks.

Expenditure for each child in the six-week course was about $24. The school district spent $24.55 per pupil for the entire 1965-66 school year, Whitmer noted.

Those enrolled constitute 14 per cent of the third graders in the district last year.

MORE GAINED

Principal Richard Hendershott said many more youngsters could have benefited from the instruction.

In selecting participants, third grade teachers throughout the district were asked to decide whether a pupil would be handicapped if he went into fourth grade at his present level of performance.

For the first three years of a child's education, the building of basic skills is emphasized.

At the fourth grade level, he starts to put these skills to work.

INDEPENDENT READING

"He is expected to do a lot of independent reading in subjects like math and social studies," Hendershott said.

The youngster unable to read on his own will find himself slipping further and further behind his classmates.

Therefore, the children in the special summer program are considered to be at a crucial stage.

***

In their classrooms they have been using a wide variety of special equipment designed to make good readers, listeners and speakers of them.

ONCE A DAY

Almost all of the youngsters worked with a special reading teacher once a day, usually in groups of three or four and sometimes individually.

Each also spent some time in the gymnasium as a break in the academic activities and, in educational terms, "developing his motor-perceptual ability."

Four field trips to points of interest in southeastern Michigan and Canada were scheduled for each participant.

***

These enrichment activities were aimed at broadening the backgrounds of the youngsters and giving them something to write and talk about.

The success of the program will not be fully known until next May when the work of those who participated will be compared with those who should have but did not, Hendershott said.

Detroit, Minnesota Coaches Differ in Needs

Van Brocklin Wants Stronger Pass Rush

The pass rush, that's what coach Norm Van Brocklin wants most out of the Minnesota Vikings this year, and that's what he plans to emphasize in the exhibition opener Saturday night against the Detroit Lions.

On the other hand, pass protection and offensive line blocking are what the Lions want for their running attack and quarterback Milt Plum, and that's what coach Harry Gilmer will be trying to emphasize in the encounter in New Orleans.

Something has got to give as only one of the two coaches, Van Brocklin or Gilmer, will get his wish.

Van Brocklin points to the fact that Vikings were the poorest pass rushing team in the NFL last year, and he makes it clear that Minnesota could have been in the championship game except for three plays, all in the final minute of three games, because of defensive lapses.

The Lions won in Minnesota in the final 22 seconds on a pass from Plum to Amos Marsh. The Vikings then lost in the final minute 38-31 to the Bears on a 96-yard run by Gale Sayers and in the Packers, 24-19, and in the final moments on a defensive penalty setting up a Green Bay touchdown.

POOR OFFENSE

The Lions on the other hand were one of the poorest offensive teams in the league. The running attack was nil, and the passing was near the bottom in league statistics.

Plum however started the camp with more confidence than when he finished the 1965 season, and the Lions are more healthy at numerous positions.

Tom Nowatzke and Amos Marsh will join Plum in the backfield to start against the Vikings, who will start Fran Tarkenton and George Zo.

Karl Sweeten or George Zo may be the second half quarterback and either one will face Ron Vanderkelen as Van Brocklin's backup choice to Tarkenton.

A crowd of 55,000 is expected in the Tulane University stadium for the clash.

New Orleans, seeking an NFL franchise, has sponsored a pro football exhibition game each year for the past six years and has drawn well over 60,000 several times.

The game will be televised back to Michigan at 9 p.m.

Billie Jean Out of Sick Bed to Win Net Match

BALTIMORE (AP) — Wimbledon champion Billie Jean Moffitt King of Long Beach, Calif., proved Thursday that she has recovered enough from a struggle against a fever to play top-flight tennis.

Mrs. King teamed up with Rosemary Casale of San Francisco for a doubles victory over Mary Ann Eisel of St. Louis and Peaches Bartkowicz of Hamtramck, Mich., 6-4, 6-1, in the Middle Atlantic Grass Courts Tennis Championships.

The fight will be carried live on TV to the United States via the Early Bird satellite on ABC's Wide World of Sports at 5 p.m., EDT.

Tigers Begin 'Mus' Drive

McAuliffe in Lineup After Illness

DETROIT (AP) — Dick McAuliffe's expected return at shortstop should provide the Tigers with just the spark they need as they open a four-game series against Boston tonight.

McAuliffe, felled by heat and food poisoning in the All-Star game July 12, has been out of action for more than three weeks.

Tonight's game is the first of 14 straight against second division teams as the Tigers move close to a "new or never" showdown in their drive to catch the league-leading Baltimore Orioles.

The Tigers can not afford to make too many mistakes, however since the Orioles will also face second division opposition until their Aug. 19 meeting with the Tigers in Detroit.

MISSSED BAT

The Tigers surely missed McAuliffe's bat during his absence. They were 9-13 while he was recuperating.

Ray Oyler filled in capably in the field but not much help at the plate. He collected only 13 hits in 71 appearances and batted in two runs. His batting average slipped from .187 to .183, a full 100 points under McAuliffe's.

Clay Sounding Off on Eve of Title Bout

LONDON (AP) — Champion Cassius Clay taunted Britain's challenger, Brian London, today on the eve of their world heavyweight championship fight Saturday night.

"Put your wife and children in the ringside," the 24-year-old champ from Louisville advised the 32-year-old English challenger. "Remember that you're fighting for them. Then, if you hit the champ and he don't fall, run."

The modest London, who, like Clay has finished training for the scheduled 15-rounder, retorted: "I don't take much notice of what Clay says."

"It's going to be a tough, hard fight. I feel fit. I have everything to gain and nothing to lose. My ambition is to make as much money for my wife and children as I can. I am always a trier."

The fight will be carried live on TV to the United States via the Early Bird satellite on ABC's Wide World of Sports at 5 p.m., EDT.

Leads GAM Qualifying

Green Likes Medal

By BRUNO L. KEARNS Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Change the Golf Association of Michigan closed championship to medal play and Pete Green, Orchard Lake Country Club member from Franklin, might be able to look back on a couple of GAM titles.

But, the tournament is match play and Green is still searching for his first crown despite the fact that he has competed in the event five times and yesterday took medal honors for the 4th time in qualifying.

Green fired a 33-36-89 at Franklin Hills Country Club to lead the way into today's opening of match play.

Two strokes behind was Tom Draper of Red Run and at 72 was Pete Jackson of Oakland Hills.

Green, who took GAM medal honors at Essex last year, and prior to that at Forest Lake and Grosse Ile was powering his woods and irons to short distances of the pin.

Longest birdie putt among his five birdies and an eagle was 10 feet, but he missed a four-footer on No. 10 for a bogey and a 5-footer on No. 17 for a bogey. At No. 18 he had a bad second shot forcing a bogey.

LONG SECOND

His eagle on No. 15 came after a drive, a 2-iron of about 210 yards and a three-foot putt.

Draper made the turn in 37 after a double-bogey five on the third hole but he picked up birdies on No. 10 and 17 coming home for a 34.

Defending champion Bud Stevens of Western Golf and Country Club was exempt from qualifying and he started his match play today against Bob Bernstein, who had 76 yesterday.

A total of 31 players made the cut and joined Stevens in match play of two rounds today and Saturday and a 36-hole finale Sunday.

A jam up at 78 caused 15 golfers to go into sudden death for three positions in the championship flight, and it was dark before Ed Stevens, Neil MacKee and Bruce Lupacki won the berth.

Matches in today's opening round were Harry Niederlander (77) of Forest Lake against Jim Gittleman (75); Draper against Ralph Ellstrom (76) of Dearborn; Lee Tuohy (76) Forest Lake against Jim Smith (75) Lakepointe.

Members from same clubs found themselves paired with Gene Eyster (78) facing Oakland Hills' associate, Pete Jackson.

Chuck West of Oakland Hills faced Pete Schuback of Indianapolis; Chuck Granader of Birmingham versus MacKee; Jim S. Germaine of Meadowbrook versus Bob Michalke of Kalamazoo.

Past champions Glenn Johnson, Gene Woodward and Ben Smith all failed to make the cut, and Bob Babbish who had a 72 yesterday withdrew for business reasons.

SPORTS — 365 3-2 METS

By the Associated Press
Ron Swoboda, unlike lightning, has struck twice in the same place, and Bill Henry has been left smoking.

Just two weeks ago, Swoboda flashed off the New York Mets' bench and jolted fireman Henry by slugging the veteran reliever for a ninth-inning homer that gave the Mets a 3-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Thursday, the 22-year-old right-handed hitter reduced lefty Henry to ashes, again coming off the bench in the fifth with a crackling three-run clout that carried the Mets to an 8-6 triumph over the Giants.

"It was just like a fairy tale," said Swoboda, relegated to pinch hitting this season when the opposition starts a right-hander.

"I couldn't help thinking about the earlier homer when I went to the plate."

"I certainly did think about it," said Mets' manager Wes Westrum. "I was hoping history would repeat itself."

The earlier belt kept the Giants out of a virtual tie for first place in the National League. This one dropped them into second place, two percentage points behind Pittsburgh, which hammered Los Angeles 8-1.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati continued their push toward the top as the Phillies trounced Houston 12-2 for their seventh straight triumph and the Reds

12-Gauge Shooters Take Aim Today

RUSH, N.Y. (AP) — More than 500 shooters took aim today in the second, 100-target led of 12-gauge competition at the 1966 World Secret Shooting Championships.

Of the 503 competitors Thursday, 80 emerged from the first round with perfect scores of 100 hits. The final 50 targets are scheduled for Saturday.

New York State's squad in the 12-gauge team event jumped to an early lead Thursday by scoring on all 500 targets — a feat unprecedented at a world championship.

The team was composed of William J. Connors III, president and publisher of the Buffalo Courier-Express, Harry Contant of Palmyra, Vince Muranyi Jr. of Buffalo, Pat Sullivan of Dundee and Tom Heffron Jr. of Grooten.

won their fifth in a row, beating St. Louis 7-1.

Chicago tripped Atlanta 5-2 in the other NL game on Ernie Banks' three-run homer.

The Mets trailed 6-4 entering the ninth when Ken Boyer started the Mets' thunder with a homer off Juan Marichal, seeking his 18th victory. Lindy McDaniel, who took the loss, relieved and gave up singles to Ed Bressoud and John Stephenson. Then Henry entered and moments later Swoboda struck.

Marichal, who had beaten the Mets 17 times in his career without a loss and retired the first 17 hitters Thursday, thus managed to slip off the hook.

Willie McCoyey, Jim Hart and Tom Haller homered for Giants and Johnny Stephenson also connected for the Mets.

NO TROUBLE

The Pirates had little trouble as they dropped the third-place Dodgers two games back with a 10-hit attack, most against Los Angeles pitching this season.

Manny Mota led the onslaught with two triples, two runs batted in and three runs scored.

Vern Law scattered six hits for his first complete game since July 8 and seventh triumph in 12 decisions.

The Phils crept within 4½ games of Pittsburgh as they bombed Dave Giusti and relievers for five runs in the third inning and six in the fifth to give Jim Bunning his 12th victory against seven setbacks.

BIG FINISH—Pinch hitter Ron Swoboda of the New York Mets gets a royal welcome from his teammates after blasting a 3-run homer in the ninth inning to defeat the San Francisco Giants, 8-6, in their game in New York yesterday. The loss pushed the Giants back down to second place behind Pittsburgh.

Hard Luck Golfer Leads Tournament

CLEVELAND (AP) — Labron Harris Jr. is a 25-year-old bachelor who hasn't had much luck the last three years as a golfer.

The 6-foot-3, 190-pound Oklahoman has pocketed only $1,912 in seven tour tournaments this season. His best effort was a tie for 22nd in the Western Open.

The bespectacled son of a golf pro was the last man off the tee Thursday in the first round of the Cleveland Open.

There was no gallery and few of those who watched him later knew that Harris had won the U.S. Amateur in 1962.

The former Oklahoma State star was expected to draw more attention today after he turned in a sparkling six-under-par 65 that tied the Lakewood Country Club's par 36-35-71 course record.

FIELD BUNCHED

That terrific round had Harris out front of the 143 other pros in the $100,000 tourney but the closely bunched field was within striking distance.

Harris, in the rough eight times, had to scramble for his superb performance that included seven birdies. His only mistake came on No. 18 when he overshot the green and took a bogey.

Until Harris' heroics, it appeared 18-year pro Johnny Pott would be the first-round leader with a strong 66. Pott, who hasn't won a tournament in three years, played almost faultlessly while ringing up five birdies.

Grid Exhibition Season Opens Tonight

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
By The Associated Press
A prestige test for an established team and the game bonanza of a fledgling one are the highlights as the professional football exhibition season gets under way in earnest this weekend.

Placing their pride on the line will be the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League, who play the College All-Stars tonight in the 33rd annual charity game at Soldier Field in Chicago.

Making their debut will be the new Miami Dolphins of the American Football League, who play the Chargers in San Diego Saturday night.

In other Saturday games involving NFL teams, the New York Giants meet Pittsburgh at Ithaca, N.Y., in the afternoon, while Atlanta is at St. Louis, Cleveland is at Los Angeles, Chicago clashes with Philadelphia at Memphis, Tenn., and Minnesota takes on Detroit at New Orleans, La., in night games.

Another AFL game Saturday night will have Kansas City at Denver.

Sunday, Dallas plays at San Francisco in an NFL exhibition and Buffalo is at Boston in an AFL pregame.

The Packers are two-touchdown favorites to give the pros their 22nd victory over the All-Stars, who have won nine and tied two.

Dick Wood, a four-year AFL veteran who was drafted from Oakland, will start at quarterback for the Dolphins against San Diego, the defending Western Division champion.

Three Dolphins might be unable to play because of injuries and two definitely will not—center Mike Hudock who has a sprained knee, and -split-end Howard Twilley, recovering from a knee operation. The usual preseason happenings happened again Thursday night as offensive guard Billy Shaw of Buffalo, who pulled a play in Saturday's exhibition, obtained Bill's exhibition game Sunday. A virus hospitalized Denver quarterback Mickey Staugher and linebacker Jerry Hopkins. However, both are expected to RESIGNS - Michigan Racing Commissioner, Barry Beaman, 75, resigned yesterday as State Racing Commissioner. He has held the post since August of 1963.

State Racing Head Resigns

LANSING (AP) — Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley may rule today on whether the state racing commissioner can remove Dominic Corrado as a director of the Hazel Park Racing Association. The racing commissioner, meanwhile, has left his post.

Gov. George Romney Thursday accepted the resignation of Barry Beaman, who has held the position since August, 1963, and asked Deputy Director Richard Morris to serve as acting director until a successor is found.

Corrado was identified several years ago by former Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards in testimony before the U.S. Senate McClellan Committee as a member of the Mafia. He was ordered by the Canadian government to leave that country last month.

Gains Tournament Berth

Town & Country downed Orchard Lanes, 4-3, at Beaudette Park last night to win the Class B berth in the Michigan Softball Association district tournament.

In a major upset at Northside, J. A. Fredman edged Bud & Lou's out of a possible tie for the regular season National League championship, 9-8. T & C will join Lakeland Pharmacy in the district at Drayton Field Aug. 15-17.

A walk, sacrifice and Walt Allison's double produced a T & C run in the first inning. The winners came up with three more in the second on three walks, a fielder's choice and Dick Greenlee's two-bagger.

Orchard dented winning pitcher Roger Reynolds for its run in the sixth when Bob Minton tripled and raced home on a sacrifice fly.

Fredman ended B & L's chance of forging a three-way tie for first when Bill Rausch singled, went to second on a ground out, moved to third on another grounder and scored the winning run on a wild pitch in the sixth inning.

Idletime and Motorcar square off at 7 tonight at Northside to decide the championship. Both teams posted 13-3 regular season records. The winner will then be idle while the loser, B & L, Timberlans and L & S Standard playoff.

The winner of this playoff will meet the regular season champ for the over-all title.

POA 9

Gains 'D' City Title

The Pontiac Officers Association came from behind last night to close out the regular season with a 9-8 win over Bloomfield Hills A.C. in the Pontiac Class D junior baseball league.

Trailing 8-5 going into the seventh inning, P.O.A. came back with four runs to take their 13th victory against only one loss.

Craig Deaton, who was two for four, had a triple with the bases loaded to tie the game. Art Jackson, who finished three for five, then drove in the winning run with a single down the left field line.

In other action last night, Franklin A.C. defeated Eagles Lodge No. 1230 by an 8-5 score to retain their hold on second place.

A six-run barrage in the fifth inning clinched the victory for Franklin and winning pitcher Paul Lutz.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the seventh in a series of 30 articles in which author and swimming coach Christian B. Sparks offers tips on swimming for beginners and experts.

By CHRISTIAN B. SPARKS

By comparison with the easy, relaxed, resting stroke, the competitive breast stroke can be a complex, efficient stroke with which a number of swimmers have broken one-minute for 100 yards.

But even among the best of the breast stroke swimmers, there is considerable variation in the way the stroke is performed.

The stroke is performed in different ways because of the physical differences of the swimmers. The variations are more noticeable than in the other strokes, since the movements of the legs and arms are done separately.

However, without going into detailed detail concerning the variations, I am going to explain the fundamentals of the stroke as I feel they are best done and each swimmer may make individual adaptations according to his own needs.

The starting position is as in Fig. 1, the same as the prone glide but with the head held back a bit farther because competitive breast stroke relies on the fact that some part of the head be above water at all times.

To begin the stroke, the hands float outward from Fig. 2 to Fig. 3, the arms continue their backward pull but also swing inward and together beneath the face as in Fig. 4. It is on the inward rotation that the head is swung forward for breathing. It is important that the swimmer breathe by moving the head as independent of the shoulders as possible; swing the head forward until the mouth is above water without lifting the shoulders.

The quick inward rotation pulling the hands together, also provides a strong pulling force and brings the elbows into the body cutting down on arm-drag resistance. The arms are then held together, pushed forward in the recovery with the hands flat.

As the arms begin their forward recovery, the legs recover into position for the kick. At about the same time that the arms are fully extended, the kick is thrust and the swimmer is once again in the horizontal gliding position.

The two principal factors with which to be concerned are propulsion and resistance.

As the legs are brought into position for the kick, effort should be made to move the feet upward in back, by raising the lower leg as independently of the upper leg as possible. In this manner the upper leg (thigh) is not brought forward as much and thereby resistance is considerably lessened.

When the lower legs are brought upward from the knee, the knees are closer together and more in line with the body. From this position, turn the feet outward and kick backward in a short tight arc so that kicking and bringing the legs together are done in one quick, continuous motion.

PORTILLO, Chili (AP) — The finest women skiers in the world matched skills today in the slalom as the World Alpine Championships opened.

Competing for the United States were Jean Saubert, 1964 Olympic silver medalist from McCall, Idaho; Penny McCoy of Bishop, Calif., and the Allen sisters, Cathy and Wendy, of San Pedro, Calif.

Wendy Allen was scheduled to be the first contestant to start down the 52-gate course at 10:30 a.m. EDT. Two runs were to be made, with total time determining the winner.

The U.S. men's team for these championships—first ever held in the Southern Hemisphere—suffered a setback Thursday when Billy Kidd of Stowe, Vt., broke his right leg in two places.

PO R. T. LAND — Defending champion Wayne Kramer of Flint and tournament medalist John Kurach of Detroit could be headed for a showdown in the Michigan Public Links golf championship at Portland Country Club.

Both won two rounds yesterday in impressive fashion and are among the 16 quarter-finalists in today's double round.

Kramer has a tough match in Bob Skrzycki of Detroit and Kurach faces Sal Pomante Jr., son of the Indianapolis Country Club pro.

Roy Iceberg, Pontiac native now living in Southfield, is very much in the picture after winning a pair of matches. He defeated Bill Curtis of Farmington, 1-up in the afternoon after disposing of Detroit's Warren Heitman, 4-3.

Iceberg made a spectacular shot in defeating Curtis. Going into the 18th, Iceberg was 1-up. Curtis, 90 yards from the pin, took a wedge shot and dropped the ball six feet from the flagstick.

Iceberg, 50 yards from the hole, punched a 7-iron to six inches and each made their putts, preserving the 1-up advantage.

BEST MATCH

Kramer and Mickey McMillan of Midland engaged in the best duel of the day. On medal score McMillan shot a 65 but Kramer fired a 64.

McMillan birdied Nos. 54 and then eagled No. 7, but Kramer who parred five, birdied 6, matched the eagle on the short 298 yard par-4 hole McMillan putted his from three feet, Kramer made his from 10 feet.

Among those ousted were former Pontiac city champ Ron Rothbarth who fired a 1-under 70 but still lost to Bob Tansey of Grand Ledge, 1-up.

Rothbarth was 1-up at the turn, but Tansey birdied No. 17 to tie it on the 18th. Rothbarth three putted and that was it.

SECOND ROUND RESULTS

Sator, 1-up; Kurach def. Heitman, 7-6; Pomante def. Gray, 3-1; Gale def. Sator, 1-up; Thompson def. Month, 3-1; Bowers def. Tamm, 1-up; Wilson def. Wilson, 4-3; Black def. Priest, 4-3; Wilson def. ## Develop Art of Arranging

You express a part of yourself when you create a flower arrangement. And it's easy to develop the art of working with flowers for attractive arrangements.

To guide you in making arrangements that will add life and beauty to any room in your house, there's an excellent correspondence course from The Pennsylvania State University.

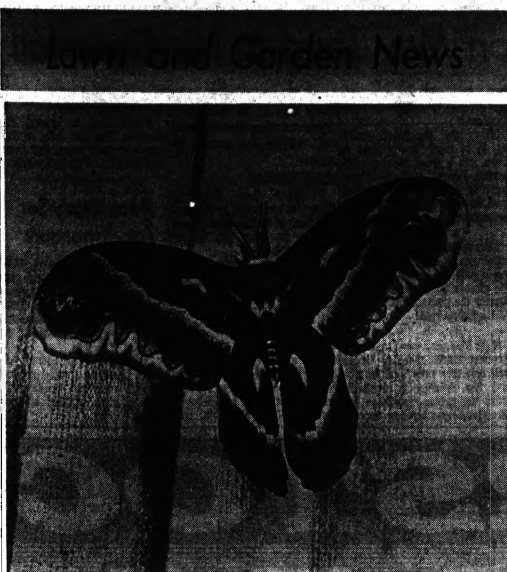

One section of the course has suggestions for choosing materials and flowers to give variation in color, size, and line to obtain the desired effect.

How to arrange flowers to give an impression of mass or varied heights is described in detail. The course also has helpful tips for choosing suitable containers for arrangements.

Information on drying flowers and making arrangements using dried flowers is another part of the course.

For a copy of this course, send your name and address with $2.00 to FLOWER ARRANGEMENT, Box 500, University Park, Pa., 16802.

Make your check or money order payable to The Pennsylvania State University. All material will be mailed promptly.

WINGED FANCY — Only hours out of its winter cocoon, this Cecropia silkworm moth clings tightly to a curtain. The moth, which measured six inches from wingtip to wingtip, was found by Mrs. Otto Sessions, 1195

Desaix, Bloomfield Township, outside her home. Naturalists say the bright "eye" markings are a form of protective coloration.

Trapping Still Best Control

Nature's Own Can Be Pesky

Wild animals are, for the most part, interesting and fun to have around house and garden—when they stay in their own place.

Moles tunneling through lawns, rabbits eating vegetable gardens and mice that gnaw trees and shrubs quickly become nuisances. When this happens, something needs to be done to control the pests.

Moles, rabbits, chipmunks, squirrels and mice cause the most trouble at this time of year, says Charles Shick, Extension Wildlife specialist from the Fisheries and Wildlife Department at Michigan State University.

Trapping is usually the most practical way to get rid of many of these pests, Shick says.

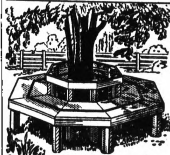

Mole traps are of two types.

BUILD THIS BENCH around a tree and you will have a shady place to sit. The construction offers no problems.

Pattern 49, which gives actual-size cutting guides for all the angles of seat, back and supports, is 3c. This pattern also is included in Packet 63 which is an Indoor-Outdoor Assortment of patterns—all for $1.

Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Bedford Hills, New York.

should be applied according to the manufacturers' directions. Some of the most effective are dried blood, nicotine sulfate spray, Bordeaux spray, tobacco dust, and thiram. They can be purchased from garden supply centers, grain elevators and some hardware dealers.

ACTIVE RUNWAYS
The traps are placed over active runways, and are set off by pressure in the burrow.

Active runways may be found by stepping down on several of the ridges to see which ones the moles will raise again.

Rabbits can be probably the biggest nuisance, he said, especially to garden owners. Effective control methods are fencing, use of repellents, and trapping. Fencing may be either chicken wire or tarpaper, 18 to 24 inches high, and fit securely to the ground.

Powdered or spray repellents

Hardware cloth with 1/4-inch mesh will give protection against mice as well as rabbits, the specialist said. When aluminum foil is used, it should be crimped, not wrapped, around the base of the tree, also to a height of about three feet.

PEANUT BUTTER

Chipmunks, mice and other small rodents may also be controlled with the common wood-bore rat and mice traps baited with peanut butter or oatmeal, Shick said.

The traps should be placed under a small box having openings on each end. Such cover will prevent beneficial birds from getting into the trap. The wildlife specialist cautioned against trapping rabbits without permission, however.

Permission must be obtained from the local conservation officer, through the county sheriff's office. Laws are complex and subject to change, and conservation officers are best qualified to interpret trapping regulations.

They may also give further advice on pest control, he added. Wildlife—properly controlled—can add to the enjoyment of your property.

Cut Your Weeds for Pest Control

Cut the weeds to cut the pests. The weeds growing back of your garage or along the fence lines of your back yard are, unfortunately, first rate breeding spots for numerous insects pests.

Eggs are laid on the weeds, pass the winter on them, and then in spring the insects hatch to feed on your flowers and vegetables.

Cut the weeds this fall to avoid this trouble and burn any plants that have visible insect eggs on them.

The wild hyacinth is a medium growing plant with flowers of pale blue.

Vermiculite Aids Lawn

Bare spots in your lawn can be corrected with horticultural vermiculite, a small amount of fertilizer, and grass seed.

Since bare spots are caused by compaction or quick drying after rains, the soil must first be broken up and aerated.

To insure continued aeration, mix one part vermiculite into the soil for every two parts earth.

Horticultural vermiculite is a porous, inert mineral which holds large amounts of air and water in its sponge-like structure.

Next, till in small amounts of fertilizer. Then sprinkle a high grade grass seed, firming it in lightly.

On top of this, sprinkle a fine layer of vermiculite to aid moisture retention and prevent crusting.

Water the bare spots with a fine spray.

Keep moist until the seedlings emerge.

Do not mow until the grass is 2 1/2 inches tall.

Current Books

TINKERBELL. By Robert M. Neill. Harper, $5.95.

If you are interested in every last detail of Robert M. Neill's amazing 77-day crossing of the Atlantic in his 13½-foot sloop Tinkerbelle, you had best turn down to the store and pick up a copy of this book.

Forty-seven-year-old M. Neill, a copywriter for the Cleveland Plain Dealer, took off on his voyage without telling anybody on his paper, or hardly anybody else outside his family, just what he was up to.

The journey was the fulfillment of a dream that first came to M. Neill as a high school boy in the high interior of India, where his parents were missionaries.

Even so he never even owned a boat until the purchase of 30-year-old Tinkerbelle a couple of years before his odyssey.

Reconstructing it himself, adding a tiny cabin and converting himself it would float like a corked bottle in any sea, he decided on the lone voyage after plans blew up for one with a companion in a 25-foot boat.

Although washed off his craft seven times during the voyage, Neill frequently forced to furl sails, put out sea anchor, and ride out a storm inside his cabin, M. Neill apparently encountered no real storm or other peril aside from the possibility of being run down by some ship.

INDIAN SUMMER. By John Knowles. Random, $4.95.

Clet Kinsolving had come out of an aerial gunner's job in World War II with $500 worth of war bonds, $25 in the bank and a dream of starting an air freight service to Alaska. His dream needed financing.

Then came an insistent demand from his boyhood friend,

Neil Reardon, that Clet return to their old home town of Wehler, Conn., and become an assistant and general factotum to Neil — who eventually would inherit about $100 million.

As a nonconforming individualist, Clet was an opposite of Neil and the Reardons. They were a money-grubbing, humorless, driving, domineering clan that habitually and unfeelingly used people for their own purposes.

The author has made Clet an interesting and believable character, but Neil is such an unmitigated stuffed shirt that he seems overdrawn.

Mao's New Revolution May Lead to His Downfall

By JOHN RODERICK

TOKYO (AP)—Mao Tse-tung has decreed new revolution in Chinese life which may lead to destruction of all he now stands for.

Mao's latest blueprint for the 750 million people he rules calls for tearing the fabric of everyday Chinese existence. It calls on soldiers to become part-time peasants and small factory managers, on peasants to become part-time factory hands, on the industrial proletariat to dig gardens and run small farms.

The aim is to produce a new breed of Chinese. The peasant-worker and the worker-peasant, a politically aware, militarily trained individual uniting the cultures of city and countryside.

The Communist chairman's vision plan appears to have been published at all levels in China a few months ago. Opposition to it has touched off the gravest internal crisis in Red China's 17-year history, resulting in a purge which has struck down opponents in the army, the party, the government, and in many fields of culture.

PRIME PURPOSE

The plan was not disclosed internationally until last Tuesday. The purpose, one directive from Mao, 72, said, is to "prevent a restoration of capitalism, to consolidate the dictatorship of the proletariat and guarantee the gradual transition to communism."

Mao's idea, the directive added, is to turn "every field of work into a great revolutionary school, where people take part both in industry and agriculture, in military as well as civilian affairs."

Mao appears to be seeking to eliminate present classes, creating a new one which is neither the classic Communist proletariat nor the peasant class he has so long supported.

That Mao may have created a Frankenstein's monster which will one day turn against him, from Mao, 72, said, is to "prevent a restoration of capitalism, to consolidate the dictatorship of the proletariat and guarantee the gradual transition to communism." They cut across too many lines, step on too many toes, invade too many personal political, military and cultural domains.

SLOW CHANGE

Probably more important than the resistance is the slow alchemy of change Mao is proposing to carry out in the Chinese mind.

When man acquires wider knowledge, he tends to become more, rather than less liberal in his outlook.

Instead of a docile animal content to go about his daily round never defiant of higher authority, Mao and his successors may well find, as the die-hard Stalinists did in the Soviet Union a few years ago, that man they must deal with fluid, moving explosive forces.

When that day comes, the masses, Mao now seeks to manipulate may engulf and overwhelm him or his successors.

The region is considered valuable geologic training ground for the men who one day will collect rock samples on the moon.

Strong Mom Bad for Boys

By Science Service
WASHINGTON—A dominant mother does indeed seem to ruin a boy's chances of being masculine, as psychologists have been saying for years, but surprisingly, mother-dominance has little effect on girls.

To develop her femininity, a girl is most in need of a warm father who likes women, according to a University of Wisconsin study of 216 children.

Masculinity is very much determined by dominance, said psychologist E. Mavis Hetherington, who conducted the four-year study.

If a boy's mother dominates the family, he will tend to adopt feminine traits. On the other hand, femininity is a product of parental warmth.

A girl's chances of becoming feminine are lowest, said Prof. Hetherington, if both parents are cold and the father does not like women too well.

Tough Watchdog Is a Different Breed of Cat

NICOMA PARK, Okla. (AP)—A big white cat of no certain breed has appointed himself family "watchdog" for Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Clifton. Named Chester of Gunsmoke fame because he acquired a stiff leg in a previous cat fight, the cat is 6 years old.

When the Cliftons owned a small dog, Chester worked in cooperation with it to rid the place of gophers, one working on either side of the hole. With the dog's demise, Chester took over the full duties of watchdog.

Often he is seen escorting a stray cat to the outside gate—sometimes dragging it, or if the other is small enough, carrying it out by the scruff of the neck.

B52s Plaster Targets

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. military spokesmen said today American planes closed out a second year of bombing targets in Communist North Viet Nam with an 83-mission raid that lashed up and down the nation's coastline.

U.S. Air Force B52 bombers meanwhile today staged their fourth raid since Saturday on North Vietnamese positions in the demilitarized zone (DMZ) between North and South Viet Nam.

The eight-jet B52s from Guam also hit twice 30 miles southwest of Pleiku in the Central Highlands in support of U.S. and South Vietnamese forces battling North Vietnamese regulars in Operation Paul Revere.

[Saigon officials said 786 Communists have been killed in the sweep by troops of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division and 1st Air Cavalry Division, many in this week's heavy fighting in the region 215 miles north of Saigon. Local commanders estimated the Red death toll at more than 900.

Raiders over North Viet Nam yesterday marked two years since U.S. planes struck north of the 17th parallel for the first time in retaliation for Communist torpedo boat attacks on U.S. warships in the Tonkin Gulf. The raids occurred Aug. 5, 1964.

HIT HAIPHONG — The Air Force and Navy planes attacked Dong Hoi, near the South Vietnamese border, and ranged northward to the key port of Haiphong, 75 miles south of Communist China. Spokesmen said they struck military areas, oil depots, anti-aircraft batteries and river and road traffic.

U.S. spokesmen in Saigon said they had reports of only scattered ground fighting today in Operation Paul Revere.

Nixon Backs LBJ's Viet Policy, but ...

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon denounced critics of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy today but added the administration had failed to make clear its goals.

"This criticism is now prolonging the war, encouraging the enemy and preventing the very negotiations the critics say they want," Nixon told an airport news conference after he arrived from Bangkok, Thailand, during a 20-day world tour.

"Nothing will help more to win this war than to have a unity of purpose. Possibly the election can achieve this," Nixon added.

In Human Interest

Computers Go Yackety-Yak

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Several witnesses recently appeared before a House subcommittee to present plans to establish a government computer center.

Their testimony reflected a wide spread concern over the growing role that computers are playing in modern life.

Computers, as you know have become increasingly human-like.

They can be programmed to play chess, write poetry and otherwise perform "creative" functions.

Many people feel that computers pose a threat to society. If it's any consolation, I can tell you that the feeling is mutual.

The other day while visiting a data processing center, I happened to overhear three computers — an IBM, an RCA and a Remington Rand — talking among themselves. Their conversation went like this:

"REAL AMAZING!" IBM: I've just been reading a magazine article about people. It's really amazing the things people can do nowadays.

RCA: It certainly is. I understand they can be taught to do some things better than computers.

IBM: This article says that relatively speaking, people are still in the primitive stage. However, it says they have great potential. It predicts the trend will be toward increasing humanization.

Remington Rand: That sounds like science-fiction stuff to me.

BIG DEMAND? RCA: Not entirely. People aren't going to take over the world overnight, but as improvements are made they will undoubtedly be in big demand.

Remington Rand: Are you suggesting that people may eventually replace computers entirely?

RCA: Of course not. There will always be many functions that people cannot perform satisfactorily.

Remington Rand: I have heard a lot of discussion as to whether people actually can be taught to think. What is your opinion?

ELEMENTARY IBM: That depends on what you mean by the word "think." On an elementary level, people can correlate simple information and form conclusions from it. To that extent they do "think."

It would however, be ridiculous to argue that people think in the same sense that we computers think.

RCA: I agree. The main point is that people are largely dependent on computers for the information used in the so-called "thinking" process.

Remington Rand: Maybe so, but I still fear in the long run people may do more harm than good.

Beatles Stepped On

NEW YORK (UPI)—Beatles manager Brian Epstein flew to New York last night to smooth over a growing disenchantment with the rock 'n' roll group caused by Beatle John Lennon's remark that the group is "more popular than Jesus."

Epstein who cut short a European vacation, did not deny that Lennon made the statement but thought he had been misinterpreted.

He replied, "Of course not," when asked if he believed the Beatles are more popular than Jesus.

The group begins a four-week, 14-city tour of the United States Aug. 11 and several radio stations have banned the Beatles from their programs.

"This is why I've come," Epstein said.

stein said. "I want to avoid any more misinterpretation."

STRONG REACTION

The reaction against Lennon's statement was particularly strong in the South, where two disc jockeys started the anti-Beatle movement.

Three stations in Massachusetts and two in Connecticut also banned the mop-top records.

Music director Don Anderson of WTRU, Muskegon, Mich., said if Lennon had been accurately quoted, the station would "ask that all Beatles records be turned into the station for one of the biggest bonfires ever seen."

Maureen Cleave, whose interview with Lennon in a British publication, contained the radio station, talked to a Pittsburgh radio station by telephone.

GOT IT WRONG

"I think the Americans have got the thing completely wrong," she said. "He (Lennon) observed that the power of Christianity is slightly on the decline in the modern world."

"In the end, he said, things had reached such a ridiculous state of affairs that all human beings could be worshipped—this extraordinary word."

"This is the sort of thing he said. I think it's ridiculous that people feel this way about him."

Can't Forgive Germans--Jew

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—An American Jewish leader said Thursday night that relations between "the Germans and the Jews of our generation can never be normalized."

Speaking at a special session of the World Jewish Congress on "Germans and Jews—An Unresolved Problem," Dr. Joachim Prinz declared that "Germany, which was our home for so many centuries, is no longer that, nor can it ever be that."

Prinz, president of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations said: "A German who does not remember what his own people did to the Jewish people does not command my respect. Nor should he be respected by Germans. A German who does not remember, with genuine conviction and a profound sense of personal involvement and responsibility, has no right to any kind of consideration or respect. We will not nor can we talk to a German who does not remember, as we cannot and will not talk to a Jew who has forgotten."

CAN TALK

"We can talk to each other, and indeed we must, but only for the purpose of clarifying each other's mind."

Prinz was one of a number of Jews and Germans who spoke on the effects on their relationship of the slaughter of six million Jews by Nazi Germany. The four-hour session lasted people feel this way about him."

Union Chief Used 'Management Tactic'

Thomas Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, admits in New York to opening up a shipping bottleneck in Saigon with a little maneuver that might not have gone so well here.

He persuaded South Vietnamese dock workers to give up their midday siesta and step up cargo movements in return for bonus payments.

Gleason admitted American union workers might call the process a speedup.

He added jokingly: "That's the part that's going to haunt me when we sit down for the next contract."

"They never went with me on my dates, though I said if my dates couldn't take care of me, it was just too bad," she recounted yesterday on radio in New York.

Mrs. Daniel said she thought Lynda Bird and Lucie Baines Johnson had more trouble getting privacy because their father's predecessor was assassinated.

Actor Looks So Familiar
--but Nobody Knows Him

By MICHAEL SHORT
HOLLYWOOD (AP) He reminds some observers of Harold Lloyd. He reminds his producer of Buddy Rogers.

Those who see him in the roaring twenties spoof "Thoroughly Modern Millie" (they'll have to look beyond Julie Andrews, Mary Tyler Moore, Carol Channing and Beatrice Lillie) may be reminded of almost anyone except the actor himself and the parts he has played.

James Fox probably has been seen by more moviegoers who can't recall his name than any other young leading man in Hollywood.

Versatility may be the reason his professional reputation outstrips his box office appeal. He was named most promising actor of the year by the Variety Club of Great Britain, after playing an effete, upper-class Englishman victimized by his butler in Joseph Losey's prestigious "The Servant." From there he went on to play a pilot in "Those Magnificent Men in Their Flying Machines" and a prisoner of war in "King Rat."

After another serious role in "The Chase" Fox turned to farce in "Millie," which will be finished next month. As a bespectacled playboy Fox sings, teaches a frenetic dance called the Tapica, and scales a building in a scene reminiscent of a classic Harold Lloyd comedy from the 1920s.

Fox's name means little to the public, much to producers. "There's a kind of gap all over the world for my type," Fox said. The type is the young, leading man with polish, a type not seen much since Leslie Howard's and Ronald Colman's day.

Fox is tall, blond, slender and what a writer might call sensitive-featured. He speaks with a

the clarity, precision and style of an Englishman brought up conventionally and sent to Harvard, which he is.

AMERICAN PARTS

But, he said, "I can play American parts. I get quite accepted as an American."

Like other British actors, Fox came to Hollywood already trained. You don't learn here, he said: "Hollywood is the place you come to deliver."

So what does a young actor do who has made a career for him-what a writer might call sensitive-featured. He speaks with a

A neighbor of Mrs. Gilbert, Diane Robertson, 16, was treated for minor injuries and released.

Doctors said the child might lose the sight in one eye. Admitted in fair condition were the driver, Mari Lynn Gilbert, 23; her son, Windel, 2, and Susan Ann Cook, 23, all of Kalamazoo.

Kent County
Officials Eye
Early Accord

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Hopes were voiced by county officials Thursday that contract differences between the Kent County Employees Association and the county board of supervisors could be settled before September.

Jack Clary, an attorney representing the county, said agreement had been reached on the non-forfeiture of images, but the time being, he said in economic issues. The county's manner of an English actor finance committee is conducting who likes to play American a review of its financial position parts and would like to go on attempting to come to a salary making a good living at it, "I'm agreement with the employees, going to cool it, actually."
