

Here's Miss Front Page for August

Wheeee!
This is the girl you've been waiting for.

Miss Front Page for August is perky, pretty Eugenia Lee Thompson, 17, of 469 East Mansfield. Our "Genie" is the daughter of Howard Eugene Thompson who is employed as a mechanic by Pontiac Motor Division.

Miss Thompson is in her senior year at Pontiac High and will graduate in January.

She intends to apply for a scholarship to Eastern Michigan College where she will major in education.

"Genie" has two younger sisters, Blanche, 14, and Mary, 13. She is active in all kinds of sports. However she has a special interest in all varieties of water sports, followed closely by ice skating, tennis, golf and dancing.

During the summer months our glamor gal is spending her vacation working for John C. Myers & Sons, where she is a stenographer.

All hail to our Miss Front Page for August, Miss Eugenia Lee Thompson.

Bribery Charged to 5 in City GI Home Loans

Two Detroit builders, who built the 450-home Buena Vista Subdivision in Pontiac's northwest side, were indicted yesterday along with three former Veterans Administration employees on bribery charges involving government-insured home loans.

Indicted by a Federal grand jury were Morris Green, 46, and Julian Klein, 39, who were partners in the Green and Klein Builders firm which last March was placed in involuntary bankruptcy.

In June, 1955 the Pontiac City Commission ordered the firm to bring the subdivision's homes up to city-accepted standards. The contractors were refused further permits until this was done.

In September of that year, an action-demanding group of 120 residents of the area took their fight to former Congressman George A. Dondero.

Among the many complaints, residents charged Green and Klein failed to repair unsatisfactory construction details in the homes, and refused to pave streets which were impassable for emergency vehicles.

Indicted along with the pair were Frank A. Ventitelli, 35, Archibald Mackay, 36, and Aleck

B. Albandy, 35. Ventitelli and Mackay are from Detroit, Albandy, brother-in-law of Mackay is from Whittier, Calif.

The 12-count indictment accuses the two builders of paying bribes to the two VA employees (Ventitelli and Mackay) and to Albandy, a former fee compliance inspector, to influence their decision on the inspection of homes and the processing of application for VA guaranteed loans.

All five were arraigned this morning in Detroit before Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman.

Klein, Green, Mackay, and Ventitelli all stood mute before Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman in Detroit. Judge Freeman entered pleas of not guilty for all four and released them on $10,000 personal bonds each. No trial date has been set.

Albandy, now in California, has not been apprehended as yet.

Carl F. Alt, Pontiac building inspector, said today the builders eventually brought all 450 homes up to city standards by the time the subdivision was completed six months ago. The firm built only these homes in the city, he added.

Maximum penalty for conviction is three years imprisonment and fines totaling three times the

Pontiac to Launch Study of Transportation Needs

Pontiac city officials next Wednesday will launch an intensive study of the city's transportation needs, Walter K. Willman, city manager, said today.

"It is proposed that the transportation study will result in a long-term plan indicating what should be done to improve our major thoroughfares in Pontiac, and also all other forms of transportation," Willman explained.

The city has invited 26 top planning, governmental and highway officials from this area and the state to attend a 2 p.m. meeting at the City Hall to outline the study.

The Downtown Pontiac Assn. will pay for the study, the manager said.

"Many of the routes studied will be connecting links between Pontac and our neighbors," Willman said, "and all are vitally important in tying into the highway plans of other levels of government."

He asked that the financial scope of the study and the firm engaged not be revealed until Wednesday's meeting.

"At this first meeting," he said, "city representatives will explain the way we hope to organize the work, the outside technical staff we expect to have help us, and other matters pertaining to the approach to the general problem."

Horace F. Brodie Retiring Leaving Press After 40 Years

Advertising Head Will Continue as Director and Consultant

Horace F. Brodie, advertising director of The Pontiac Press and executive vice president of The Pontiac Press Company, today is severing full time activities with The Press.

His place as advertising director and executive vice president will be taken by Russell Bassett, who has been general advertising manager and treasurer.

Brodie will continue to act as a director of the publishing company and as a consultant.

Bassett has been with The Press since 1915 and has served as general advertising manager for many years. John A. Riley, who has been promotion manager, will act as assistant advertising manager.

In retiring from active duty after nearly 40 years of service, Brodie concludes a career which won him recognition as one of the outstanding newspaper advertising executives in the United States.

He joined The Press advertising staff in 1918 and his entire newspaper career has been with this newspaper.

He has served as advertising director since 1922. He is widely known in both state and national advertising circles. He has served as a member of the Newspaper Advertising Executives Association, the Association of Classified Advertising Managers and as a director of the Michigan Press Association.

Top State Court Rules Elections Must Precede Sale of Bonds

The 12-Town Drain project has been placed in jeopardy by a ruling of the State Supreme Court.

The high court yesterday failed to register approval of a 1956 law permitting sale of bonds pledging "full faith and credit" of drainage districts without approval of the taxpayers.

The 12-Town Drain is intended to relieve communities in the southern portion of the county of their perennial flooding problem.

Not only does the test case affect the $8 million dollar 12-Town Drain, but also 20 million dollars in proposed drainage projects in Macomb County, and 10 million in Wayne County.

Specifically it dealt with a $319,500 bond issue by the Black Marsh Drainage District of Wayne County in a friendly test case brought by Detroit Councilman Edward Connor, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors and Wayne County Auditor Charles E. Edgcomb.

They asked the court to force Drain Commissioner Henry V. Harlick to sign an order authorizing the sale of bonds.

Associate Justice Eugene F. Black, who wrote the refusal opinion, said all such cases should go through Circuit Courts to permit objections by taxpayers and individuals involved.

Justice George Edwards joined in refusing the plea but said such cases did not have to be heard in Circuit Court.

Four justices claimed that the drain is a public need and that the law permitting pledging of district credit was properly used.

Both are compromise versions already passed by the House and needing only a final Senate okay to send them to the White House. Neither faced major opposition.

A White House statement said President Eisenhower was hopeful that the Senate "will act as rapidly as it can."

Weather Tomorrow to Be Generally Fair

The weather outlook for this area tonight is generally fair through tomorrow. The low will range from 62 to 66 degrees.

Tomorrow will be a little warmer with a high of 89 to 93. Tomorrow evening will be partly cloudy and warmer with a chance of showers, low near 70.

The U. S. Weather Bureau has predicted that temperatures will average two or three degrees above the normal 83 high and normal 63 low for the next few days.

In downtown Pontiac the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 a.m. was 63. At 2 p.m. the mercury read 87.

Brucker in Germany

BONN, Germany (U. S. Army Secretary Wilber Brucker flew to Germany today to check up on the American and German armies.

Local Milk Prices Due for Increase

A wholesale milk price increase approved Wednesday will result in a penny-per quart rise in retail prices throughout the Pontiac area.

One dairy, the Borden Co., put its higher price into effect this morning while three others, Maple Leaf Dairy, Huron Dairy and Nye Dairy, will up the price effective tomorrow.

Detroit Creamery and Dixie Dairy said they would put the new prices into effect on Monday. (See related story on Page 15.)

Burning Auto Almost Backfires Into Fire Truck

A "car on fire" call almost "backfired" literally yesterday for the Waterford Township fire department.

The car, belonging to James Brown, 18, of 1864 Paulson Ave., was blazing in the driveway when firemen arrived.

Suddenly it started backing right toward the fire truck, parked at the end of the driveway. Hasty action saved the truck and the car was stopped and the fire extinguished.

Firemen said the fire apparently started a wire in the transmission of the car.

3 Sisters, Pontiac Stork Pull Off Rare 'Triple Play'

Three sisters pulled off a rare "triple-play" within a 12-hour period at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today.

The sisters, Mrs. Beatrice L. Hocky, 20, of 413 Broadway Ave., Pontiac; Mrs. Bernette J. Zolman, 24, of Oxford; and Mrs. Flora E. Irelan, 25, of Clarkston, delivered baby boys between 5:57 last evening and 6 a. m. today.

They are three of five daughters of William L. South of Royal Oak, and Mrs. Oscar Robinson of Onaway.

Mrs. Irelan gave birth to her second child at 5:57 p. m. It weighed 8 pounds 2 ounces.

Next was Mrs. Zolman with her third child weighing 5 pounds 5 ounces. Last, with her first child, was Mrs. Hocky. He weighed 5 pounds 13 ounces.

Senate Acting on Service Pay

Votes 89-0 to Get Busy on Needed Cash for Defense Department

WASHINGTON (U. S. — The Senate voted 89-0 today to take up for final action a bill carrying money to run the armed services in the 12 months which started July 1.

It did so shortly after the White House said the Defense Department and other agencies might not be able to meet their August payrolls unless the Senate acted on pending money bills stymied by the civil rights debate.

Approval of the motion to take up the defense appropriation bill temporarily displaced the civil rights bill.

But it will automatically become the pending business again when the Senate completes action on the defense money bill.

The plan was to adopt a similar procedure for the Agriculture Department money bill.

Both are compromise versions already passed by the House and needing only a final Senate okay to send them to the White House. Neither faced major opposition.

A White House statement said President Eisenhower was hopeful that the Senate "will act as rapidly as it can."

To Testify Claim Dubinsky Hired Racketeer to Help Organize

Ex-UAW Head Says Information Refused Him in Stormy Meeting

WASHINGTON (INS) — David Dubinsky, president of the Ladies Garment Union, was accused today of refusing to help oust racketeer Johnny Dio from the labor movement because it "might have exposed something in his own union."

Lester Washburn, former president of the AFL United Auto Workers, further charged that Dubinsky's union once hired Dio, whose real name is John Dioguardi, to help organize a plant in Roanoke, Va.

Dio's former bodyguard, 240-pound, barrel-chested Teddy Rij, goes before the Senate Rackets Committee today as perhaps a key witness.

The committee is hearing evidence which Chairman McClellan (D-Ark.) said will show that Teamsters Union boss James R. Hoffa, in a corrupt deal with Dio, sought and may have achieved "stranglehold" power over the Port of New York and "the entire Eastern Seaboard."

In San Francisco, Hoffa said he is "ready, willing and able" to answer committee questions.

Rij, who pronounces and usually spells his last name as "Ray," is under indictment with Dio on conspiracy charges linked with the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

But Probe Unit Declines to Blame Chrysler for Faulty War Vehicles

WASHINGTON (U. S. — House investigators claim the Army handed Chrysler Corp. a virtual blank check in a billion-dollar, Korean tank building program, but got hundreds of heavy tanks that were faulty.

The Military Operations subcommittee headed by Rep. Hollifield (D-Calif.) called on the comptroller general to check on how well the Chrysler contracts served the government's interest, including whether they gave Chrysler a competitive advantage on future tank awards.

But the subcommittee declined to judge whether what it called the deficiencies of the T43 heavy tanks were more than to be expected from a hurry-up output of a new weapon.

It did note that the Army was half-hearted about any need for the big tanks in a mobile atomic war of the future and has been slow to make them combat worthy.

Ragsdale Apologizes

FLINT (INS) — Buick general manager Edward G. Ragsdale apologized today for "inept" handling of commercials during Monday's championship boxing match on television. The automotive executive said he was "incensed" at the handling and bad timing of the commercials.

Hot Choice is Worth $100

A perky Waterford Township mother with a charming seven-month cherub, born on Christmas morning, has walked off with the $100 U.S. Savings Bond offered in our July Hottest Moment Contest.

Mrs. Milton (Betty) Mielke, 28, of 351 S. Williams Lake Rd., came the closest to naming July's hottest moment at 4:52 p.m., Sunday, July 21.

Her forecast placed July's hot spot at 4:21 p.m., July 21, the time closest to the mercury's near ascent to the 96 degree line.

Never having entered a contest before, her comment at cashing in on a first try was, "It was just a million to one shot."

Mrs. Mielke's husband is an employee of the Utica Cleaners. As the suspense mounted after reading last Tuesday's report that she was leading in the weather derby, Mrs. Mielke said the prevailing question in her life was, "Do you think it hit over 95 today?"

"In full swing as of today is August's weather contest, so keep your eyes on that thermometer. If your entry's in, it may be your winning smile on September first from a page."

SHE PICKED THE HOT TIME — Mrs. Milton Mielke, 28, of 351 S. Williams Lake Rd., is shown bouncing her daughter Pamela, who clutches the $100 U. S. savings bond which Mrs. Mielke won for picking the warmest day in July in the Press Hottest Day Contest. Prize for the August contest has been raised to $200 in bonds.

THUMBNAIL PORTRAIT—Smaller than a man's thumbnail is this midget frog—some say it's a young toad—one of thousands that recently invaded a residential district of Shreveport, La. This one measures three-eighths of an inch long, a quarter of an inch wide. For days the army of tiny, brown creatures hopped down the street, along sidewalks and through front yards. Where they came from and where they were going, nobody knew.

American Guests Rave About 'Real Doll' and Charmer'

Royal Family Does Big Selling Job

By EDDY GILMORE
(For Hal Boyle)

LONDON (U.S. — Britain's royal family is one of the greatest sales teams in the world.

Its garden party this week for 5,000 Americans—3,000 members of the American-Bar Assn. and their relatives—was a demonstration of compelling advertising for Britain.

Two hours' exposure to Queen Elizabeth II, the Queen Mother, Prince Philip, the Princess Royal and the Duchess of Kent made some of the Americans ecstatic.

Cecil E. Burney, of Corpus Christi, Tex., called the Queen "a honey."

Said Charles N. Rhyne, District of Columbia, new president of the four great councils of the Ro-Bar Assn.: "She's just like a man Catholic Church."

Dresden doll. The Queen Mother is the most regal person I've ever seen in my life.

Shoes Not Allowed Inside Swiss Library

ST. GALL, Switzerland — The priceless parquet floor of the library in the Seventh Century Abbey of St. Gall is as famous as the collection of more than 100,000 books on the shelves.

Before tourists may enter the library they must remove their shoes and put on thick felt slippers to keep from marring the mosaic floor, made of nutwood inlaid with cherry.

On it appear designs depicting of Columbia, new president of the four great councils of the Ro-Bar Assn.: "She's just like a man Catholic Church."

Said Mrs. Herbert Brownell, wife of the U.S. attorney general: "She's (the Queen) magnificent. She's heavenly. And he—he's so handsome."

John Rapack, of Lancaster, Pa., smiled broadly.

"She's a real doll," he said, "and the prince is a charmer."

Mrs. Nora Snyder, of Kansas City, took a deep breath.

"I was just thrilled, absolutely thrilled to meet the prince."

The Americans who spilled out over the Buckingham Palace lawn made no secret of the fact that they came to see, meet and if possible, talk to members of the royal family.

Mrs. Benjamin Roth, of Youngstown, Ohio, told the Queen:

"We have a daughter who is just like you. People are always saying she could be your twin sister."

"A wonderful, wonderful family," nodded Judge Thornton G. Berry, of Welch, W. Va.

Palace officials selected in advance a number of Americans to be presented to the royal family.

Others just introduced themselves.

Way after wave of admiring Americans ignored the palace officials, broke ranks, surrounded the Queen, the prince and the Queen Mother.

There was only one disappointing feature — the absence of Princess Margaret.

A friend said she stayed away for fear the Americans, in their frank friendliness, might have asked Margaret too many questions.

Three Highest Falls Claimed by Venezuela

CARACAS — Venezuela is laying claim to the three highest straight-drop waterfalls in the world. A government measuring expedition headed by Dr. Candido Montoya has just reported that, in addition to Angel Falls, which at 3,212 feet is the world's highest, two others were measured: Cuguana, 2,001, and Montoya, 1,739 feet. Both the latter are caused by rivers dropping from the Cabana plateau into jungle near the Brazilian border.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

A New Arab Republic

In orderly fashion by unanimous vote of the National Constituent Assembly Tunisia has become the world's youngest republic.

The aged Bey of Tunis whose Turkish dynasty ruled that North African country for 250 years was quietly deposed and Premier HABIB BOURGUIBA was proclaimed Tunisia's first President. He long had wielded great power first in the struggle for independence from France and afterward as premier.

The dynasty which governed Tunisia before the French protectorate was set up in 1881, was a relic of the past. The deposed Bey had been identified with neither the French nor with the movement for independence from France.

North African by birth and European by education, President BOURGUIBA had dedicated himself to making Tunisia a "western style democracy tied to the West." To that end he has requested the Constituent Assembly to draw a Constitution modeled after that of the United States.

The effect of President Bourguiba's rise to power has an impact far beyond his country. He is an advocate of a Greater North African Federation which would include Tunisia, Libya, Morocco and an independent Algeria. Such a group would be pro-Western and would counter the pan-Arab empire Nasser is striving to build with Russia's help.

It is to be hoped that the new republic with such an auspicious beginning, will have a stabilizing and unifying effect on the whole of North Africa.

This We'd Like to See

Apropos of the retirement of the able Secretary of the Treasury GEORGE HUMPHREY, an interesting story appears in Fortune Magazine.

Like all Secretaries he has been badgered by groups who want economy on the one hand and on the other hand ask for Federal aid for their pet interests. An aide to Mr. HUMPHREY tells of a dream-plan Mr. HUMPHREY threatened to carry out before he left Washington:

"It called for summoning to Washington 100 businessmen from all parts of the country. He was going to get them together in one room and start off by saying 'everybody in favor of cutting Government expenses please stand up.'"

"Everyone would stand up. Then he would ask 'all who sit on hospital boards and who have asked for Federal aid please sit down.' The first group would disappear from view."

"Then he'd go down the list — everyone associated with the Chamber of Commerce who comes to Washington periodically looking for Federal aid for local projects; those who want fast write-offs of new plants; the urban renewal people; the shipping people who get maritime subsidies and so on. By the time he'd finished, nobody would be left standing."

There's a moral to this tale. The little fantasy brings home the fact that we are too prone to run to Washington for help. Perhaps each one of us, unknowingly and in his own way, is responsible for the swollen Federal budget.

Flint Finds Light Cuts Crime and Accidents

Pontiac may well find something of interest in Flint's experience with fluorescent street lighting. Our neighboring city to the north reports that it has discovered that lighter streets have brought about less crime and fewer traffic accidents.

Flint has been experimenting with 20,000-lumen fluorescent lights, not only for its downtown business district, but also for its main traffic intersections throughout the city. HAROLD HICKMAN, city traffic engineer, reports that over an eight month period the new type lights cut the accident rate almost in half at one intersection.

The brighter lights are being extended down Flint's main street, and on several other business thoroughfares. They will be used about the new civic center which is due for completion next year.

Since they were installed on North Saginaw Street in Flint night accidents there have been cut in two and injury accidents have dropped from eighteen to six.

It may be that other factors have played a part in this big reduction, but in any event the record has been so striking that it is worthy of investigation.

Pontiac has been doing better in its traffic safety record during the past two years. Perhaps here is a way even more lives can be saved.

BEST battle in the FLOYD PATTERSON-HURRICANE JACKSON mess is the one between TV men ED SULLIVAN and STEVE ALLEN, over who'll have the champ PATTERSON on his Sunday night program. Might be a more interesting battle if they tossed them in the ring, and let PATTERSON referee.

Curious Incidents Reported by Readers of This Column

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Brownson of Keego Harbor has commenced to swear. Its extreme is "golly," and the Brownsons hope it won't get any hotter. While he isn't guilty of renewing the old gag of frying an egg on the sidewalk, Gain Smith of Pontiac Lake reports that his hens' eggs are so hot when laid that he can hardly hold them in his hand.

A pair of noisy blue jays near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Stoughton at Williams Lake cease all vocal activities on hot days, and just sit it out in a dejected manner.

Unable to sleep on account of the heat, Perry Sinnett left his Auburn Heights home and went for a walk at two o'clock the other morning. He found that the neighborhood cats, who usually pick a fight around that hour, passed each other on the street, with only a low growl.

The bees in the several hives of Walter Cannon of Walled Lake go on a sit-down strike every hot day. They not only cease all honey operations, but also sit down real hard with their stingers if they're molested.

Pilot of the leading B-29 bomber that launched the atomic attack on Hiroshima in World War II was

John A. Wilson of Royal Oak, who was killed Monday when he drove his car into a tree near Flint, just after he had struck and killed a child. He was 38 and a trust officer with a Detroit bank.

David Lawrence Says:

Inflation Actually World Problem

WASHINGTON — They can't blame President Eisenhower, but some of the very same troubles that have drawn the fire of critics here are plaguing many of the other nations of the world.

Thus, Britain has found it necessary to increase postal and telephone rates in order to meet wage increases to postal workers.

Likewise, the British Information Service is being given a sizable increase in appropriations in order to maintain and expand television, radio and movie programs overseas — a sharp contrast to the lack of vision of the American Congress in cutting down sums needed in the worldwide fight against the Communists.

The Moscow government is spending for propaganda 10 times what Britain and America combined are appropriating for that purpose.

But the most significant discussions appearing in the press of the world concern the topic of inflation. The British secretary of the treasury, in a public speech to the people of Britain, said the other day:

"If a nation pays itself seven per cent more for doing no more work, as happened last year, price increases will follow as night follows upon day. No economic or governmental magic, no system of controls can stop that process."

"Before those price increases thus generated are to form the basis for another round of wage increases, the country should ponder the damage which could be done to the nation and all who work in it."

CHOICES POSSIBLE

"The truth is that this nation must either squarely face the problem of inflation and accept the policies necessary to check and curtail it or else it must face a continual decline in the value of its currency."

The facts about the decline of currencies in all countries of the world are not generally realized. For the American dollar today is worth only 23 cents in purchasing power as compared with 1900. Since 1940 the dollar has been steadily declining in value and, compared with 1940, now is worth around 50 cents in what it can buy.

In the last 10 years the American dollar has gone down 20 per cent, the British pound has declined more than a third and the French franc has dropped by almost two-thirds.

Here is a table, compiled by "U. S. News & World Report," on the drop in the purchasing power of money of various countries from 1947 to 1957:

Country	Percentage down	Country	Percentage down
Chile	24	Norway	37
Denmark	23	Netherlands	33
France	23	Sweden	33
Germany	23	Switzerland	31
Italy	23	United States	29
Japan	23	West Germany	27
Poland	23	Belgium	25
Spain	23	India	18
Australia	23	South Africa	18

Relatively speaking, the American dollar has stood up better than all of the 21 other countries except two.

Some of the countries where currencies appear strong have been experiencing vast unemployment, which has curbed inflationary tendencies. Full employment, on the other hand, has set up a pressure for higher wages, and this in turn has resulted in higher prices.

The economic readjustment of the world to so-called "peace-time" conditions—with huge arms programs continuing to drain governmental budgets — is still far from a reality.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

These are the commandments, which the Lord commanded Moses for the children of Israel in Mount Sinai.—Leviticus 17:24.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Tonsils Good Barrier Against Poliomyelitis

It appears to be the consensus of physicians today that individuals who have undergone tonsillectomy are more likely than others to catch poliomyelitis.

This seems logical enough, for it is fairly well established now that poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) is an infectious disease (that is, due to germ or virus) and that the germ or virus gains entrance to the body just as the germ of diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough, measles, chickenpox does, by penetrating the mucous membrane lining of the nose or throat.

Polio is a respiratory infection — one of the Common Respiratory Infections, that is, the C R I.

In a medical magazine a rhino-laryngologist (nose and throat specialist) says that studies on polio patients indicate that absence of tonsils, regardless of the time of their removal, makes an individual more susceptible to poliomyelitis. He reminds us that the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt was attacked by polio 21 months after tonsillectomy.

Although some operators remove tonsils regardless, it is now the general practice to avoid the operation when polio is epidemic.

SOME UNCONVINCED

Although some physicians are unconvinced of the function of lymphoid (round cell, adenoid) tissue, which composes the tonsils and adenoid body and is found in other strategic situations, the prevailing consensus is that the tonsils, adenoid body and cervical lymph nodes (called "kernels") when enlarged constitute the body's first line of defense against the C R I (respiratory infection).

This association of tonsil tissue with defense against invasion of the body by disease germs and with acquired immunity (always relative, not absolute) to the Common Respiratory Infections which account for the "diseases of childhood," is one of the two main reasons why I believe tonsillectomy should never be done — except possibly for malignancy.

The other reason why this atrocity should never be perpetrated is that it kills so many children.

For the young child with enlarged tonsils the instantaneous and comparatively safe "clip-

Voice of the People

Readers Respond to Letter Asking About Rainbows

I read the Voice of the People article about rainbows. The writer wanted to know if anyone had seen one lately.

I saw one last Monday evening after a slight shower. The rainbow was very vividly colored and formed a complete half circle. It was so vivid you could see its reflection right over it. I live quite near Pontiac, Linda Slocum

Tell Unbeliever we still have rainbows. Last Wednesday my daughter called me outside to look at a beautiful double rainbow. It was so pretty I went to the phone and called my sister to tell her to take her three youngsters outside to see it, as they had never seen one.

Mrs. J. D. C.

I must say, yes, there are rainbows lately. After last Monday's rain one spanned a whole half circle in the eastern horizon. It had seven distinct colors and another rainbow above. I'm so sorry Unbeliever missed one of God's miracles.

Believer

I never miss your fine column and think it's grand to let people air their thoughts.

Although I know nothing of science, nature or the Geophysical Year, our family saw a beautiful rainbow Monday, the 22nd, in the east. In fact, it was a double one. I'm sure there must be others who saw it, too.

One Who Saw Rainbow, Believer

The rainbow on Monday, July 22, was one of the most brilliant I've ever seen.

One Who Has Seen

My kids were delighted with the beautiful rainbow in the east after the last good rain we had.

B. U. G.

I saw a rainbow last Monday, but it wasn't just one. It was a double rainbow. That was the first I've seen this year.

Fat

My husband and I with our small children were in downtown Pontiac last Monday and saw not only one but two rainbows. If there isn't such a thing as two rainbows, it must have been a reflection. The colors in it were just beautiful.

'Keep Uncle Sam Out of Schools'

I'm glad the House defeated the school construction bill. Let's keep Uncle Sam's fingers out of our educational pie. The minute he starts furnishing funds, he also starts dictating policy. Let's go slower. If we have to, in building new schools, but at least we will keep them independent of Washington.

He'd Like Vacation From Wife, but...

Evenly must be a very understanding wife to suggest separate vacations for husbands and wives. My wife and I would do a lot better if we went our separate ways for a week or two a year, but boy, how she would explode if I mentioned it.

Job

Stranger Inquires as to Local Custom

I'm a newcomer here and recently read a letter about thank-you notes. I have another question. It seems to be the custom here to write thank-you's for all shower presents. In my town the only necessary note for a shower present was to a donor who couldn't attend and consequently wasn't thanked in person. It seems an awful burden to impose on a busy bride-to-be to insist she write notes to everyone after thanking each one at the party.

County Needs Careful Zoning

There should be much more careful zoning in Oakland County. Property owners should have the protection of knowing that stores, hot-dog stands and filling stations will not be built next door to their homes.

Reader Answers Three Writers

In answer to Burdened Taxpayer and Kicking Taxpayer, all I have to say to people like you is I'm sorry you didn't enjoy school.

As for No Admirer, the only reason you don't like Liberator is because you're just plain jealous. That man isn't on his way out. He's young and has a long way to go. He's the best, so let him come to Pontiac. Your idea on him is wrong.

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Try 'Necklace Formula' in Speech

A speech can be compared to a costly pearl necklace. Start your talk with a golden idea or choice quotation that keynotes the whole theme and serves as the central motif.

This compares with the gold clasp at one end of the necklace.

Then for your oratorical "pearls," string together appropriate stories, told by dramatic narration.

Conclude your address with a rich quotation that brings your talk to a punchy completion. This final quotation is analogous to the golden clasp at the other end of the pearl necklace.

Dull sermons simply fail to put the pearls on the thread or wire that forms the motif of the address. These pearls should be cases drawn preferably from the experiences of the audience and narrated dramatically.

For further specific advice, send for my booklet "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20 cents for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Feud Over Oil Imports Hot-Spot for Eisenhower

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—On paper the oil industry looks plenty rich. World wide production is up. Demand is expected to increase steadily for years. Profits for many companies are at all time highs.

But even the wealthy have their family feuds. And their poor relations.

LIKE IN MIDDLE

President Eisenhower has just stepped into the middle of one of the bitterest fights—the squabble over how much foreign oil should be brought into the United States, most of it along the eastern seaboard.

He wants the amount cut voluntarily to 12 per cent of domestic output instead of the 18 per cent scheduled by importers. His plan

Workers Clear Debris After Flaming Crash

VENICE, Ohio (AP)—Workers cleared charred debris today from the center of this crossroads country town that was suddenly washed in a swirling river of flaming gasoline after a car-tanker truck collision.

The crash yesterday afternoon killed at least one man—the car driver, Adolph Woodrey, 36, of nearby Hamilton.

But police and firefighters could not account for a woman seen in the car by eyewitnesses.

The truck driver, Albert Koewler, 41, Dayton, who said he tried to swerve to avoid Woodrey's car, escaped with a minor head cut.

But in the center of this small Butler County village, this was the loss:

Two homes destroyed and a third badly damaged; a restaurant gutted; a service station destroyed.

Two other cars burned to metal shells, and four others heavily damaged.

Georgia White Found Guilty in Negro Slaying

ZEBULON, Ga. (AP)—An elderly retired white farmer has been sentenced to life imprisonment in the shotgun slaying of a young Negro mother he claimed "sassed" him.

B. T. Dukes, 71, was convicted yesterday of the Dec. 5, 1956, slaying of Mrs. Maybelle Mahone, 30. A Pike County jury recommended mercy and Judge John H. McGee sentenced Dukes to life in prison.

Sheriff J. A. Higgins reported at the time that Dukes said Mrs. Mahone "sassed" him when he appeared at her home near this town some 50 miles south of Atlanta. The shooting followed, he said.

The sheriff did not disclose the wording of the woman's remarks but in the South "sassing" is the using of impertinent language.

New Sorority Plans Balcony for Seniors

ANN ARBOR (AP)—An ultra-modern sorority house with private balconies for seniors is in the planning stage at the University of Michigan.

Designed to set the vogue for the sorority house of the future, the building will cost $280,000 and is to be ready in June, said architect Douglas D. Loree.

The low-slung, sprawling structure featuring glass brick will house the Delta Gamma sorority.

Two Youths Await Murder Sentence

DETROIT (INS)—Two young Detroit-area hoodlums will be sentenced on Aug. 21 for second-degree murder in the death of a 53-year-old Detroit woman following a purse-snatching attempt.

Vito Guasiana, 18, of Harper

Woods and Martin J. Sears, 20, of Detroit, were found guilty Tuesday by a jury in Recorder's Judge Frank G. Schemanski's court.

The boys were charged with inflicting fatal injuries to Mrs. Cecilia Mathis April 1 during an attempt to grab her purse containing $1.14.

Their companion, Wayne Merritt, 18, of Grosse Pointe Woods, is serving a sentence in Boys Vocational School at Lansing for his part in the slaying.

New Home Sought for White Rhinos

ENTEBBE, Voganla — Poaching is threatening the existence of the white rhino and Uganda may move some specimens of this rare animal to Murchison Falls National Park, Entebbe reports. Most of Uganda's white rhinos are found in the West Nile area, near the Sudan border.

There are fewer than 300 left in Uganda and less than 2,000 in the world. A biologist is studying the white rhino's feeding habits in the West Nile to find out if vegetation and general conditions are similar to those in the national park. Then may come the problem of catching and trucking the rhinos.

An average diesel locomotive has 70,000 parts.

India Harbors Few Stateless Persons

NEW DELHI, India — Of the 44,537 foreigners in India, only a few hundred are "men without a country," studies in New Delhi indicate. It is said that the relatively small number of stateless persons in India is due to the Government's policy not to encourage political refugees to seek asylum there.

Most of those now there have been living in India for a long time. Many are Jews of German, Austrian, Iraqi and other extraneous origin who lost their original citizenship soon before World War II. Another section consists of Poles and Czechs who decided not to accept passports after their countries went Communist.

Educator Hails Benefits of TV

Television Gives Child Impetus to Creativity, Professor Reports

ANN ARBOR (INS) — A University of Michigan speech professor declares that practically all children's creative activities have received a tremendous impetus from television.

Edward Stashell, Associate Professor of Speech, said:

"And this goes not only for painting and writing, but runs the gamut of hobbies such as puppetry, ballet, modern dance and crafts. TV will do for ballet and modern dance what radio did for good music. Youngsters start dancing a bit just watching TV and then are spurred to join dance classes."

He stated that televised art activity is chiefly on the preschool level. "While 'Ding Dong School' is no longer with us, there are other programs which encourage children to draw and paint at home," Stashell continued.

"In fact, more kids are doodling with crayons — and doing it more purposefully — than ever before. TV gives them subject matter — not just the flower pot on the window sill or the pussycat in the garden."

"It's given the kids so much more contact with the world that they now have something to draw about and paint about and sculpture about. My hunch is that the kids are more responsive to the formal art program in the classroom because they have become interested in informal art through TV."

"What's more, I predict that color TV five years from now will have an even greater stimulus on children's crafts activities. A lot of highly skilled craftsmen are spending a lot of their time and pains on costume and scenic design for color TV. Children will unconsciously be picking up a sensitivity to good color design."

India Labeled Red by Pakistan Official

KARACHI, Pakistan — India is in the Communist camp and Russia has encouraged India not to honor her commitments (for a plebiscite) on Kashmir, Pakistan's Foreign Minister, Feroz Khan Noon, charged at a press conference in Karachi. "War has been brought to our doors" by India being in the Communist camp, he declared.

He said that Indian public opinion — particularly big business and industrialists — should not assert itself to deter the ruling Congress Party from following its present policy on Kashmir. He said that Pakistan has supported Arab causes and will not be "worried" if Communist arms are supplied to the Arabs.

Auto Powers Ski Lift

VIENNA — A do-it-yourself ski lift has been developed by a company in Salzburg, Austria. The lift is readily transportable in an automobile and is powered by the car's motor. It can be set up within 40 minutes and operational costs are low, the company claims.

Ike's Aide Sets Example for Good Health

Youth Fitness Leader Shows Way With Early Morning Bicycle Workout

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Newsfeatures Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Every morning Shane MacCarthy leaps from his bed and hurries away for an early workout on his bicycle.

Undoubtedly MacCarthy is the only member of President Eisenhower's official family for whom an early morning spin is, at least indirectly, a part of his job.

MacCarthy is executive director of the President's council on youth fitness. And since he firmly believes in setting an example of fitness — not only for youth in general, but for his five sons in particular — this ride combines duty, pleasure and research.

As he cycles along MacCarthy considers such matters as: Why should laws prohibit cycling on sidewalks? Particularly since so few persons walk on them nowadays?

CERTAIN STREETS
Why shouldn't certain streets, right in the heart of town, be set aside for play areas during all but the rush hours?

Why aren't parking areas at big shopping centers used for tennis, basketball, roller skating and assorted fun when marketing is over?

Don't dismiss MacCarthy as an adrift dreamer. He may be fun loving, but he's deadly serious.

He thinks the answers to these and related questions may well determine the fate of America.

Many persons, including Dwight D. Eisenhower, have worried about the fitness of U.S. youth. They point to the high percentage unable to qualify for military service. They look unhappily at statistics indicating that U. S. youngsters have less muscular coordination than young Europeans. They fret over studies that suggest youngsters today are less skilled than those of 15 years ago.

MacCarthy sees no cause for immediate alarm — if there's a change of heart and habit. Nor is he surprised, since the accent today is on easy living.

But it isn't the middle-aged who worry MacCarthy. His job is with the young.

NEED EXERCISE
"While we are enjoying the benefits of today," he says, "We must be big enough to see that they (our youth) do what we had to do when we were young." In other words, they must get the exercise their parents got by walking to school, by doing chores."

MacCarthy grew up in an Ireland untrodden over finding ways to provide exercise for a growing boy.

At 17, gloriously fit, he came to America. Eventually he was to teach political and social science at Georgetown and Catholic Universities. Here he could polish his natural glibness into a persuasiveness he will need to convince a relaxing America.

Finally, he acquired a home laboratory essential to one eager to solve youth's problems: Five sons, ranging in age from 18 to four. And it's a fine sight, on a summer evening, to see the whole brood including Mrs. Mac., pedaling their bikes around the nation's capital.

Fortified with this background, MacCarthy, still fit and vigorous at 48, scurries around the United States, spreading the fitness gospel to all who will listen.

Although MacCarthy hopes the developments of the future will offer far more opportunities for recreation, he nevertheless believes too much stress can be put on the need for community facilities.

Backyards, for instance, still work nicely.

MacCarthy once had a pretty backyard, complete with nice grass and a fine fireplace. But when he decided his youngsters weren't getting enough exercise, he ripped it all out and put in a basketball court.

This nation was built by men and women who worked incredibly hard, and it's natural that they should dream of the time when their offspring wouldn't have to work as they did. The trouble, MacCarthy believes, is that those dreams have become too true and that if the trend continues it can mean physical, mental and spiritual flabbiness — and disaster.

Ruins and Underpants in National Trust

England Banks Tourist Meccas

TOURIST ATTRACTION — This 571-year-old castle in Sussex, England, was built as a protection against French raids, is considered one of the best examples of its kind. Its landlord, the National Trust.

LONDON (NEA) — Over 200,000 American tourists will climb the towers of Britain's medieval castles and poke their noses into lichen-covered abbeys and Roman ruins this summer, unaware that they are doing so through the courtesy of the National Trust.

The National Trust is to Britain what the Grand Canyon and Mount Vernon, Yellowstone National Park and Monticello, if lumped together under one management, would be to America.

If, in addition, this single management were custodian of such diverse objects as Grant's Tomb and George Washington's false teeth, you'd get a more accurate picture of the National Trust's scope.

For the National Trust is not only Britain's biggest private landlord, with a quarter of a million rolling acres under its control, but it owns properties that range from a section of Hadrian's Wall, built by the Romans in 142 A.D., to George Bernard Shaw's underpants.

Founded in 1895 by three Victorian eccentrics — a parson, a lawyer and a spinster social worker — the National Trust is a non-profit, tax-exempt charity dedicated to preserving places of historic interest or natural beauty. Its functions have recently been enlarged and reinforced by Parliamentary statute.

Today, the National Trust owns more than 1,000 properties in England, Wales and Northern Ireland (Scotland has its own National Trust).

Its properties include whole villages with their thatched cottages, 120 castles and manor houses, 500 working farms, abbeys, historic ruins and windmills, nature preserves and bird sanctuaries, and even an 18th Century cotton mill in Cheshire.

The National Trust owns the apple orchard in Lincolnshire where a windfall on Sir Isaac Newton's head gave the world its theory of gravity.

It also owns the Somerset cottage where Coleridge wrote "The Ancient Mariner," and the birthplaces of Kipling, Wordsworth, Thomas Hardy and George Bernard Shaw.

All of these historic landmarks and literary shrines are open to the public for the payment of a nominal fee, which goes toward their maintenance. Last year 700,000 visitors paid admissions to Trust properties.

The National Trust likes to have its homes and castles lived in, if possible, by the families traditionally connected with them, according to Jack Rathbone, secretary of the Trust.

Most of the National Trust's properties have come to it as outright gifts, but recently it was empowered to accept estates taken over by the government in lieu of inheritance taxes.

One of these latter is Penrhyn Castle in North Wales set amid 45,000 acres of parkland.

One of the conditions of acceptance is that the property must be self-supporting, either through endowments, farm rents, shooting rights, sale of timber or admissions paid by visitors.

Occasionally, the National Trust gets stuck with a lemon, such as Shaw's Corner, the home of George Bernard Shaw, in Ayot St. Lawrence, which was left to the Trust without an endowment.

Two years after Shaw's death the number of visitors to his house had dwindled to nearly zero. An appeal for a Shaw Memorial Fund having failed, the National Trust decided to rent the house to a tenant, who now keeps it open to visitors.

Some idea of the expense incurred in maintaining Trust property can be gained from Knole House, near Sevenoaks, in Kent, which has 365 rooms and 52 staircases.

Knole House, which dates back over 500 years, has been the family seat of the Sackvilles since Elizabethan days.

UPKEEP TOO HEAVY

But the present Lord Sackville found the upkeep too heavy, and in 1946 he gave Knole House to the National Trust in exchange for the privilege of living on there rent free and of having the estate exempt from inheritance taxes.

In 1935 it cost the National Trust $30,000 merely to run Knole House, including repairs to seven acres of roof. One curious expense item: $60 for winding clocks.

Jackson City Commission

Defeats Comic Book Ban

Instead, commission members gave initial approval to an ordinance identical to the state law against obscene literature. It will be up for final passage at the

Reclassify State Unemployment

Changes Will Make Six Michigan Cities Eligible for Aid

DETROIT (INS) — The Federal government has reclassified Detroit, Flint, Bay City, Iron Mountain, Monroe and Port Huron as areas of substantial employment.

A spokesman said the classifications mean these Michigan cities will get "special treatment" in the placement of defense contracts.

Detroit, changed from Group C to D, has suffered a steady rise in unemployment since last November.

As of June 15 there were 110,000 or 7.2 per cent of the labor force unemployed. At the same time last year, however, there were 140,000 Detroiters or nearly nine per cent of the working population out of jobs.

Flint was changed from Group D to E which means more than nine per cent of its labor force is idle.

Muskegon remained in class D with 9.2 per cent or 5,400 unemployed.

Government authorities in Detroit admitted the reclassification would mean little in the way of providing jobs.

They explained, for example, Detroit would get new defense contracts only if bids are no higher than those of manufacturers in other parts of the nation.

Junior Editors Quiz on SILHOUETTES

QUESTION: How did silhouettes get their name?

ANSWER: From Etienne de Silhouette, Controller General of France in 1759, during the reign of Louis XV.

Silhouette was a thrifty man. He tried to put his country's finances in order and cut down many royal pensions.

But he also devised a profile-making device. People sneered at this economical form of portraiture and called the shadow pictures "silhouettes." Our picture shows how it was done.

The idea was not new—ancient Egyptians and Chinese had made shadow pictures long before this. But now they got new popularity, lasting for a hundred years. Then photographs took their place.

In America's colonial days, silhouettes were sought-after since painted portraits were very expensive and painters not plentiful. George and Martha Washington sat for silhouettes.

FOR YOU TO DO: Pin a sheet of paper to the wall where a light can cast a deep shadow. Seat your model between the light and the wall, to show the profile. Have the lamp fairly close to the head and level with it. Pencil lightly around the shadow outline. Cut it out and mount on a contrasting sheet of paper.

(Your idea for Junior Editors may be worth $10. Send it to AP Newsfeatures in care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: What gives a baseball "bounce"?)

Says the President!

Easy (?) to Stop Smoking

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower today gave this advice to persons who have trouble giving up smoking: Turn your mind to something else and stop pitying yourself.

The 66-year-old Chief Executive gave up smoking altogether about 10 years ago when his doctor advised him to smoke more moderately.

Grinning, he told his news conference today that he is a little like the fellow who said he doesn't know whether he'll ever start smoking again but he knows he will never stop again.

The subject came up when a reporter noted that a lot of people who are having trouble giving up smoking would be interested in knowing how the President managed it.

Summer in Full Swing on Produce Counter

Corn and tomatoes are popular buy-words at the market this week. Homegrown supplies are increasing and quality is improving. Blueberries and cantaloupe are a fine fruit team at reasonable seasonal prices. In the meat department choices are many with special prices on poultry, ham, beef, chuck, hamburger and tuna.

VEGETABLES—With more corn and tomatoes even children know mid-summer has arrived. You should notice some quality improvement and slightly lower prices compared to last week, states the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer.

The corn ears should be well filled with kernels and kernels should be plump with no top creases. Keep the most of the flavor you buy by using sweet corn as soon as possible after you buy it.

If tomatoes are not fully ripe when you buy, keep them out of the refrigerator. Putting under-ripe tomatoes in the refrigerator stops ripening and makes them watery. Spread under-ripe tomatoes in a dry place, light or dark, where the temperature is about 55 to 70 degrees until they have full ripe color and flavor.

Snap up snap beans if still planning to can or freeze. Supplies are now very ample. Quality of Michigan's cobbler potatoes is improving. More are now being washed and brushed. Prices are very reasonable.

FRUITS—Keep cool with the summer fruits available. Easy-to-cook dewberries packed with vitamins and few in calories are yours at the fresh fruit counter.

At current prices you can afford to be more generous when choosing.

Tasmania Prospering

WASHINGTON—Tasmania, Australia's island state, has the look of the English countryside, says the National Geographic Society. A land made prosperous by rich soil and abundant power, the island got off to a good start with sheep grazing. This business still contributes substantially to State income; but today more Tasmanians work in factories than on the land.

Vermont 'Sweet' State

BURLINGTON, Vt.—The United States expects to produce 16,500,000 pounds of maple sugar this year. Some 6,000,000 pounds of it will come from New England and all but 400,000 pounds of that will be from Vermont. That gives New England nearly a 40 per cent slice of the national output.

Adds Man-Made Lake to Property

When Arthur F. Tull began to be never dreamed that some day secure land in the Waterford area would be a City airport, a White Lake Township area 35 state park and several man-made lakes on the property.

MORE LAKES? — Michigan's Water Wonderland has another new man-made lake to add to the map, with the construction of Tull Lake, between Pontiac and Oxbow lakes. Arthur Tull, owner of the land, and Jesse Cooke, developer, check blueprints of the 500-acre project on M59 near Williams Lake Rd.

Retail Price Also Goes Up

Farmers Get Milk Boost

DETROIT — The threatened milk strike in Southeastern Michigan was averted late yesterday as four major Detroit creameries agreed to meet demands of the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. for a hike in the wholesale price of drinking milk.

Detroit Creamery Co., Borden Co., Twin Pines Farm Dairy and Ira Wilson & Sons Co. boosted the price paid to milk farmers by 35 cents per hundredweight (46 1/2 quarts). The hundredweight price is now $5.

Borden and Twin Pines immediately announced they would increase the retail price of milk one cent a quart starting today. They will charge 24 1/2 cents a quart for home delivered milk, the dairies said.

Detroit Creamery and Wilson said they would continue selling at the old price for awhile.

4-H's Lead to Safety

The future looks brighter for more people because more 4-H Club members than ever before are being trained and educated in safety. Participation in the 1957 national 4-H safety program enables them to make their homes, farms and communities safer places in which to live and work.

Boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 21 throughout the state are learning safe practices that will pay dividends later in life whether they reside on the farm or in the city.

Conducted by the Cooperative Extension Service, the 4-H safety program has been supported continuously since 1945 by General Motors.

Incentive awards offered to 4-H'ers for superior achievement include distinctive medals, college scholarships, and educational trips to the national 4-H Club Congress held annually in Chicago.

Milford Grocer Fined

Pleading guilty to selling short weight eggs Wednesday before White Lake Township Justice Frederick Stepan, Clifford Watts, owner of Watts' Groceries, 7506 Highland Rd., Milford, paid a fine of $10 plus $5 costs. Watts had labeled extra large eggs as "jumbo" eggs.

Area Chamber Moves

ROCHESTER — George Ennis, President of the Rochester Chamber of Commerce, has announced that as of today, the Chamber of Commerce offices which have been in Tull is more than six feet tall, and his appearance belies his age of 77 years. He lives with his wife, Margaret Anne at 9516 Gale road, in White Lake Township.

Years ago, Tull was one of the founders and owners of the Detroit Business Institute, and at one time operated seven schools in Detroit, Pontiac and Saginaw.

When Tull, his wife and four children moved to Gale road, there was one of the very few farmhouses for miles. "If one car would pass during the day, it was the topic of conversation for hours," Mrs. Tull said.

Now — just three city blocks down the street, more than 70,000 people enjoy the Pontiac Lake Recreation area each weekend, according to official park records. This was once part of the Tull property.

When the Pontiac City airport was established in 1928, several hundred acres of one of the Tull farms was purchased for the present 500-acre landing field, located on Highland and Airport roads.

Arthur Tull was one of the men instrumental in building the Pontiac Lake, 31 years ago, and now, nearing 80, he is again engaged in a new water development project.

More than 450 acres of his land, located between Pontiac and Oxbow lakes, is in the process of artificial lake development.

The new spring-fed lake, to be named after Tull, has many wide inlet bays surrounded by hills and woods. The project is being promoted and constructed by Jesse Cooke and Lawrence Finkell of Detroit.

This is the first real estate development in White Lake Township to provide its own water supply system, according to Cooke. One six-inch well casing is now in operation, and another 12-inch casing will soon be established, he said.

REV. C. J. GRAPENTINE

The Rev. Carl J. Grapentine has been chosen as pastor of the First Baptist Church of Wall Lake. Recently moved here with his wife and two sons, Rev. Grapentine is a graduate of Northwestern University and Northern Baptist Seminary of Chicago. He will conduct the communion service Sunday.

Boy Threatens to Shoot Officer

Avon Township Youth Arrested After Taking Father's Shotgun

A 13-year-old Avon Township parolee armed with a shotgun was arrested by State Police yesterday after he threatened to kill his parole officer.

Seven cars from the Pontiac, Centerline and Romeo State Police posts blocked an area along Livernois road, from M59 to Walton Blvd. when his parole officer, John Dumas, reported the threat to them.

The boy seized his father's 28 gauge single barrel shotgun and six shells about 11 a.m. yesterday after a quarrel with two older sisters during which he broke a window in his home.

When his mother reminded him that his parole officer was due to visit that day, he replied, "Let him come, I'm ready for him." She immediately called Dumas and warned him.

Then the youth left the house as his mother saw him load the shotgun and head for some nearby woods.

A Pontiac Post car spotted him north on Walton on Livernois and he was apprehended without resistance. The boy is on probation from the Oakland County Children's Home for burglary.

Later, police discovered that he had met an elderly man on Livernois and pointed the gun at him and ordered him to put his hands up.

However, he did not rob or harm the man and quickly released him. The youth was returned to the Children's Home.

Fire Fighter Retires

KALAMAZOO — Edgar Hoese, who for more than a quarter century has helped fight Kalamazoo's biggest blazes, is retiring after 33 years with the Kalamazoo Fire Department.

"A company has stepped out of line and wants to meet competition with your money," Hawley told the 350 dealers at the meeting.

Hawley said the issue has not yet reached the price war stage, "but it could unless we do something about it."

He said about 20 of the 250 Texaco dealers in the Detroit area have cut their prices to 30.9 cents.

"Under the law, the manufacturer and wholesaler can't control retail prices," Hawley said. "The plan of Texaco is to induce dealers to reduce their gas prices."

The association represents 1,700 of 4,200 dealers in five southeastern counties, Hawley said.

Canada Purchases Pegs

COPENHAGEN — Denmark is Canada's biggest supplier of clothes pegs.

There are 120 acres on the north side of Highland road reserved for a community shopping center, and future church and school sites.

In the meantime, Tull and his wife watch the landscape change in front of their house, but retreat to the back yard for sheer peace and beauty.

Here is a view of gently rolling hills and virgin timber extending back 45 acres, "that no real estate developer can touch, as long as we live," Tull said.

Corn Scarcity May Develop

Foresees a Possibility Supplies Not Plentiful Until Fall

WASHINGTON — Despite record large surpluses, a scarcity of corn for livestock feeding may develop before this year's crop is harvested in the fall.

This possibility was foreseen by the agriculture department today. It said supplies of free corn may not be sufficient to meet livestock feed and market needs before new crop corn becomes available in October and later months.

By free corn, the department refers to stocks that are not stored under government price support programs. It may be owned by farmers, millers and others.

Corn stored under support programs falls into two classes—that owned outright by the government and that stored by growers under government price support loans.

The government may not sell its corn for less than the price support rate plus 5 per cent. This works out at a national average of about $1.38 a bushel or about 31 cents above current market prices.

Farm Products Tax Exemption Gets Court OK

LANSING — The constitutionality of a 1936 state law exempting farm products in storage from city assessments was upheld yesterday by the state supreme court.

In the test case, the Detroit Board of Assessors sought to include on their assessment rolls farm products held in storage at a U.S. Cold Storage Corp. warehouse in Detroit.

Justice Edward M. Sharpe, writing the majority opinion held that the law was passed by the legislature to encourage the flow of commerce into Michigan and was constitutional. The court agreed with Sharpe by a 5-3 majority.

In a dissenting opinion, Justice George Edwards argued that the law was unconstitutional in that it was discriminatory.

Contract Agreement Averts Lakes Strike

CLEVELAND — Three shipping firms and the Lake Sailors Union have agreed on a new two-year contract, averting a strike by 1,300 unlicensed crewmen on 48 lake freighters.

The contract with the M. A. Hanna Co., the Cleveland Cliffs Iron Co., and the Columbia Transportation Co. provides first year wage increases of seven to nine cents an hour, retroactive to July 1, and another five to six cents an hour next July 1.

Hourly rates now range from $1.39 to $1.97.

The seamen had rejected a previous offer of a three-year contract calling for 10 to 12 cents an hour wage hikes over the first two years.

The pact also includes liberalized vacation eligibility, additional pay for coal passers during lay-offs, overtime payment to deckhands unless certain rest periods are granted and changes in working rules.

Slate Summer Function at Maple Pointe Beach

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The first Maple Pointe Beach Improvement Club function of the summer—a chicken barbecue—will be held Sunday with the public invited.

The event is expected to attract a large crowd to the Maple Pointe beach at Lower Straits Lake, located a few blocks from Commerce road. The barbecue will begin at 11 a.m. and will continue until about 5 p.m.

Games and contests will be held during the afternoon for both children and adults. A host of prizes will be awarded.

In addition to barbecued chicken, the menu will include hot dogs and

State Prepares Ground

Make Progress With Grains

LANSING — Favorable weather during the past week enabled Michigan farmers to make good progress with haying and the combining of small grains, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service said today.

In a few areas, ground was already being prepared for the planting of fall grains.

Soil moisture was reported adequate to plentiful in nearly all areas of lower Michigan but rain was needed in much of the upper peninsula.

Farmers in northern counties finished first cuttings of hay and the harvest of second cuttings was common in the southern third of the state. Adequate rainfall and warm temperatures contributed to excellent hay growth, the service reported.

Pastures also were in good shape for the time of the year in lower Michigan.

Only a few fields of wheat remained to be combined in southern lower Michigan counties but the combining of wheat was just starting in northern counties. There were still reports of some fields being too soggy to support heavy combining machinery.

More than the usual losses of wheat due to sprouting were reported.

Some oats were combined in southern counties during last week but the harvest was not expected to become general until later this week. Oats and barley were turning color in the upper peninsula.

Row crops that did not suffer from the excessive moisture were growing well. Many acres of beans hurt by July rains were expected to recover and give good yields if not hit by an early frost. Beans were generally in good shape outside the areas of heaviest rainfall.

Most corn acreage in the important southern corn counties was in good condition and many fields were tasseling. Potatoes were in good shape in lower Michigan but needed rain in some parts of the upper peninsula.

Harvest of the larger than average cherry crop was still under way in southwestern fruit counties. The cherry harvest was about completed in southwestern Michigan and a few early peaches were being picked. The blueberry harvest also was under way in the southwest.

Farmers to Get Checks in Lapeer on U. S. Plan

METAMORA — Farmers in Lapeer County will receive checks amounting to $473,000 this month. Most of the government checks will be received by the middle of September but a few will not come through until later in the fall.

The checks will be given for cutting corn acreage, wheat acreage, soil banks, and to subsidize ditching, tiling, digging farm ponds, liming and other soil improvements.

Approximately one third of the full and part-time farmers in the county get U. S. checks under one or more of the cash subsidy programs. Most of the remainder are benefited by various government price support or surplus-buying programs.

The chief exception is vegetable growers, for whom there are no U. S. farm programs.

Admission Total Last Year

Eighth of U. S. in Hospitals

CHICAGO — Twenty-two million persons, approximately one-eighth of the nation's population, were admitted to hospitals as patients last year, the American Hospital Assn. said today.

The association's current issue of Hospitals said the admissions showed an increase of 41 per cent over 1946 and nearly 5 per cent over 1955.

The 1946 rate was 112 admissions per thousand population. It increased to 132 per thousand in 1956.

Group Hears Talk on Waterford Plan

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — The recreation commission met here recently as Tom Belton, director of the Waterford Township Recreation Dept. spoke to the group.

Belton explained how the recreation program works and although the Independence group is still in the planning stage much effort has been expended.

The meeting of the commission will be held on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Clarkston Methodist Church.

Farm Prices Decline Slightly During July

WASHINGTON — The government issues today a report on what's been happening to farm prices and farm production costs between mid-June and mid-July.

Normally, farm prices decline slightly during July, reflecting the approach of a new harvesting season. In mid-June, farm prices were about one-half of one per cent below those of a year ago.

Inspect Fresh Fruit, Vegetables as an Aid

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department is inaugurating a continuous inspection service for fresh fruits and vegetables.

This new service is designed as an aid to merchandising fresh produce. It will make it possible for shippers to use the continuous inspection mark on their containers.

Club officials are now in the process of making plans for a Labor Day celebration.

Progress Report on Town Center Given at Orion

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Orion Community Center, Inc., this week released a progress report for the first year of their existence.

They have founded and incorporated, selected a free site on Orion-Rochester and Kern roads, decided the minimum needs of the building, and selected an architect who has presented a possible design and sketches.

Site surveying and soil studies are nearing completion and membership has increased to over 400. Pledges of $500, glass for the building, 40,000 bricks, evergreens for landscaping, the septic tank and disposal field all have been donated.

A total of $1005.50 was raised by the "Queen contest" and the Miss Orion style show (which will now be an annual event.) Additional funds of $200 were received from individuals and clubs.

Troy Slates Blood Bank

TROY — Troy Community's first blood bank will be held at the Troy High School on Tuesday from 3 to 5 p.m. All residents have been urged to call for appointments. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Walter Huff, MI 4-782; or Mrs. Lauren Ford, MU 9-2646.

Slate Clyde Reunion

CLYDE — The 32nd annual Clyde School Reunion was held Saturday at the IOOF Hall, which is the former Clyde School. A potluck dinner with a program and prizes was held.

3 Men Found Guilty for Harboring Minors

Three men were found guilty in municipal court yesterday of contributing to the delinquency of three minor girls who were escapees from the Oakland County Children's Home.

The three had knowingly harbored the girls, ages 15, 14 and 12, for immoral purposes at the home of one of the men, John Delgado, 29, of 401 Midway St.

The other two men are Basilio R. Ortega, 24, of 381 Irwin St., and Robert V. Boback, 19, of 400 Ferry St.

Judge Maurice E. Finnegan sentenced Delgado and Ortega to 60 days in jail and Boback to 10 days plus a $50 fine and $50 costs.

Romeo Peach Queen Candidates Named

ROMEO — Candidates for the Romeo Peach Queen contest to be held on Tuesday at Romeo High School, have been announced.

In the running will be Barbara Moskow of Romeo, Carolyn Tubbs of Oxford, Carol Parrott of Utica, Kay Zomke of Armada, Carol Hine of Rochester, Joan Cline of Capac, Geraldine Spies of Almont, Ruth Watkins of Lake Orion, Carol Hall of Mt. Clemens, and Roberta Sherman of Davison.

Named to UAW Post

DETROIT — United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther Wednesday appointed Charles E. Odell of Ashton, Md., coordinator for the union's retired workers activities. It is a newly created post.

Odell has been serving as special assistant to the under secretary of labor in a program for older workers.

County Births

Israelis Find Ancient Oases

Well-Fortified Places Found by Team on Sinai Coast

JERUSALEM (INS)—Well fortified coastal settlements dating back to the first century B.C. have been discovered by a Hebrew University expedition along oases on the eastern shores of the Sinai Peninsula.

A 15-man team of archaeologists, geographers and geologists travelled by tank landing craft from Eilat to Ras Muhammad, exploring for a week a region hitherto untouched by scientists. They returned several days ago from a week's survey.

Dr. Leo Picard, Professor of Geology at Jerusalem's Hebrew University, said that water sources discovered along this route—similar in topography to the Eilat area—indicate that similar sources may exist in Israel's southern region. The deep springs of the oases, combined with the water that flowed down from the snow-covered Sinai peaks, once supported a flourishing settlement.

Most impressive of the oases is Dahab, a natural harbor at the center of the coast. Professor Benjamin Mazar, President of the Hebrew University and Dr. M. Avichon, both noted archaeologists, said that a fortress and a "veritable jungle" of palm trees were found in this place, which flourished between the Nabatean and Roman-Byzantine periods (100 B.C. to 600 A.D.).

The remains of a dock were discovered, as well as a large Nabatean cemetery, stretching along either side of the Dahab wadi (water stream valley), another indication of a large settlement. That the oases served as a caravan crossroads is indicated by rock inscriptions discovered during this expedition.

Foam Rubber Hats Give Air-Conditioning

DALLAS, Tex. (INS)—Real "head coolers" for hot climates and vacation lands are hats made of inch-thick foam rubber.

The hats come in peaked (for the men) and cloche (for the women) styles in bright colors, and retail for around one dollar.

They are to be soaked in water from time to time to offer real water-cooling protection from the hot sun.

LONDON — Because old people are living longer, thousands of younger people are breaking down under the strain of looking after them, says Dr. John de Lary, a London physician. He bases the statement on a survey which he says shows that one family in six caring for aged invalids suffers ill health.

The situation will get worse, he says. There are 7,500,000 people of pensionable age in Britain. By 1979 there will be 9,500,000. This is what is happening to relatives of elderly invalids, he says: They are having nervous breakdowns, anemia, internal trouble and recurrent headaches. His solution is to send the old people to a "social rehabilitation unit" (such as he has started) at intervals for six weeks at a time.

Girard Returns to Firing Range

Attorney Wants to See
What Happened When Woman Was Shot

SOMAGHARA, Japan (AP) — GI William S. Girard was returned today to the firing range on which he killed a Japanese woman so that his Japanese attorney could get a clearer idea of what happened.

With his chief defense counsel Itsuro Hayashi and his Army legal adviser Maj. Stanley Levin, the specialist third class from Otawa, Ill., walked over the steep, bushy hill pointing out where he thought he and other key persons in the case had been standing at the time of the shooting.

Girard goes on trial Aug. 26 on a manslaughter charge before a Japanese court. He has admitted killing Mrs. Naka Sakai, a Japanese woman collecting scrap metal, with a blank fired from a grenade launcher but says it was an accident. Two witnesses contend Girard lured the woman and other scrap scavengers onto the range, then fired at them.

At the time of the shooting Girard was guarding a machine gun and other equipment. The Army bowed to Japan's demand that he be tried in a Japanese court, setting off vociferous criticism. The Supreme Court upheld the Army's right to let Japan try Girard.

Although not under arrest, he has been confined to the base since the shooting, and has been working as a clerk at the camp. Quizzed by reporters, Girard described his four weeks of married life to Haru (Candy) Sueyama as "no worse than anyone else's."

Secretary Halts Boss's Attempt on Own Life

NEW YORK (AP) — A secretary quickly talked her boss out of an apparent suicide attempt yesterday after police vainly tried to get the man to leave his precarious perch on a railing around a 22nd-story airshaft.

George Wind, 62, head of the Goldenbro textile firm in the garment district, clung to the railing for about 45 minutes while police vainly tried to get him off. He talked of "having business troubles."

Meanwhile, a net was being spread across the shaft at a lower floor.

Then his secretary, Mrs. Rose Williams, appeared. "Mr. Wind," she said, "what are you doing up there? Come on down."

Mrs. Williams extended her hand. Wind meekly took it and scrambled to safety.

He was hospitalized briefly and sent home.

More Than His Pants

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — A man who lost his pants at Bete Eris, a resort area in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, is advertising in the Houghton Daily Mining Gazette for their return. He didn't say how he lost them, but he did say: "There was a wallet in the pocket."

Montana Prison Under 'Truce'

Cleanup Task Goes On as State Board Studies Inmates' Demands

DEER LODGE, Mont. (U)—The task of cleaning up continued today inside riot-torn Montana State Prison.

A sort of armed truce prevailed as prison inmates agreed to sit tight until prison commissioners have had a chance to study the demands made during their nine-hour uprising Tuesday.

Atty. Gen. Forrest H. Anderson, a member of the State Board of Prison Commissioners, said last night that with the exception of cleanup activities everything at the prison was "orderly." He said the cleanup job would be tremendous, but declined to estimate how long it would take.

The riot began Tuesday afternoon when a group of convicts apparently became angered over a guard's order to shell peas. They held eight guards as hostage, releasing them only after Anderson assured them that their demands would be given consideration by the prison board.

Meanwhile, in Helena Gov. J. Hugo Aronson, ex-officio chairman of the prison board, announced that a board meeting scheduled today was postponed until early next week to give Warden F. O. Burrell a chance to appraise the situation and "get his feet on the ground."

Burrell, who was in Indiana when the riot occurred, hurried back to Deer Lodge yesterday. He said late last night that "I don't want to make any comments until I have had a chance to talk with Gov. Aronson, other members of the Board of Prison Commissioners and prison officials."

Maximum security was restored to the 88-year-old institution about 4 p.m. yesterday, nearly 24 hours after the 400 inmates got out of hand.

Guide for Secretaries

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (U)—Here's some advice for secretaries:

"Do what the boss tells you. Don't try to run things. Stay out of his personal life and he will stay out of yours." This formula for success was given by Mrs. Jean Becker, 41, Los Angeles, who yesterday was named the "Legal Secretary of the Year" by the 5,000-member National Association of Legal Secretaries in convention here.

Ohio was separated from North-west territory in 1800.

Kalamazoo Strikers to Hear Report on Talks

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — The 1,400 employees striking Kalamazoo Vegetable Parchment Co. will meet tonight to hear a report on the two-week strike. The meeting was called by George O'Bea, international representative of the striking United Papermakers and Paperworkers Union. Judson Quintard, commissioner of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, said no arrangements have been made to resume negotiations. The union struck to back up demands for a wage increase. California has more hired farm labor than any state.

Russia, West Germany Break Trade Negotiations

MOSCOW (AP)—A spokesman for the West German embassy said today there is little hope for resumption of the Soviet-West German negotiations for trade, consular and repatriation agreements.

His comment followed publication of a statement by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko slamming the door on any further talks on the repatriation issue. Gromyko declared there are no German war prisoners left on Soviet territory to repatriate and that there is nothing further to discuss on that subject.

West Germany claims there still are 50,000 German citizens in Soviet lands. The Bonn government all along has considered repatriation the crux of the negotiations.

The embassy spokesman said: "I don't think there is much hope the negotiations will be resumed at all. Mr. Gromyko's statement left little room for negotiation."

The negotiations, which opened July 23, took their critical turn yesterday when Soviet delegate Vladimir Semenov presented an unexpected statement to the two-nation political subcommittee. Rolf Lahr, West Germany's special ambassador and delegation head, immediately halted the talks and announced he was returning to Bonn to report. He flew to the West German capital today. No final word from Bonn was expected before Sunday. Meanwhile no meetings of the political or economic subcommittees were scheduled.

German sources said they were surprised by the sudden turn of events, especially after what they considered the friendly and positive approach taken by the Soviet delegation at the start of the talks.

Son of Ex-Baroness Killed Riding Horse

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—The 8-year-old son of former Baroness Waltraute Van Heeckeren of the Netherlands was thrown and dragged to death yesterday by a high-spirited Arabian horse.

A golfer heard the desperate screams of the child, Brian C. Mrs. Edmond Michael Shanely. The player made a flying tackle and stopped the horse, but the boy was dead.

Just Left Hair Drier and Went Elsewhere

TILLSONBURG, Ont. (AP)—Mrs. Marian Harris, a visitor from England, was under the drier in the Vogue Beauty Shop when smoke started pouring in. Two hours later much of the black—including the beauty shop—was burned out and Mrs. Harris couldn't be found. Finally located by police, she explained: "I didn't think it would be such a terrible fire, or that anyone would worry about me. I just walked out through the smoke and went to another shop."

Detroit Banker Dies

DETROIT (AP)—Benjamin E. Young, former general vice president of the National Bank of Detroit, died Wednesday. He was 60. After giving up the vice presidency in 1952, he continued as a director and consultant of the bank.

'Class' Separation Sinking on Liners

NEW YORK (INS) — The "class system"—as applies to ocean liners—is on the way out.

An example of this is the newest ship to ply the Atlantic between New York and Europe—the Swedish-American Line's "M.S. Gripsholm."

The brand new, gleaming white 631-foot long motorship has a trans-Atlantic capacity of 842 passengers. One reason it holds so many is the lack of duplication in facilities for first and tourist class passengers. There is no cabin class aboard SAL's flagship.

The ship has a swimming pool, steam room, Swedish massage, exercise room, shopping area, auditorium, barber shop, beauty parlor, children's playroom, photo lab, kennels, cold storage facilities, telephones in every cabin, ditto airconditioning.

These are used by both types of passengers. Where the "no mixing" principle is in operation, they are used at different times by the two classes.

SOME DIFFERENCE

The places where discrimination is practiced—and some must be to give first class passengers an inducement toward paying extra—is in the two libraries, two dining rooms, two lounges and two dance lounges.

Passengers accustomed to American ships will be both amazed and delighted at the wood paneling used throughout the ship. The Scandinavian countries are famous for their fine handling of woods and their knowledge of how to use natural wood grain to best effect.

On board the "Gripsholm," 10 of the first class cabins have been decorated by Count Sigvard Bernadotte, son of Sweden's King Gustaf VI Adolf.

Bernadotte, who is one of the world's best and most versatile designers of everything from textiles to fountain pens, picked lined oak for the walls. This is a pale wood given a "wash" similar to antique picture frames so that uneven streaks of white remain inside and emphasize the wood grain.

The floors of these cabins are covered with white-dotted dark blue wall-to-wall carpeting. Lighting fixtures are semi-modernistic and Bernadotte, with a kindly eye toward the ladies, frankly admits he has made them as flattering as possible. His theory is that the more beautiful a woman thinks she is, the better looking she becomes.

Another feature for those fascinated by progress is the new-design phones. They look like table microphones. The bottom of the stand contains the dial and the disconnect button.

When down the less attractive dial is hidden and the phone is automatically "on the hook." The top of the phone, which looks like the speak-into section of the microphone, is actually the earpiece. The curved handle accommodates the curve of the head, and the mouthpiece is in the base section.

Pink Hair Too Much

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Principal C. Russell Heinze of Horace Mann School said Judy Hottenstein's pink hair, along with a pink dress, went beyond the teenage fads he was conditioned to accept. He sent July 17, home until her hair was restored to normal blonde.

House Committee OKs Flood Control Check of Water System

Army engineers have been authorized by the House Public Works Committee to make a survey of flood control along the Clinton River.

The Clinton River project is sponsored by Rep. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) and has been estimated by the Army Corps of Engineers to cost about $50,000.

Broomfield believes the survey results can profitably be incorporated in future planning for the Detroit Metropolitan Area.

The study, mostly in Macomb County, would affect smaller streams flowing into the Clinton. A navigation survey will also be made at harbors of refuge on the Great Lakes around the mouth of Devils River.

World Church Council Proceedings in English

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Although delegates from countries with a dozen different languages are taking part in a World Council of Churches meeting here, the proceedings go on in English.

When a speech is given in another language, interpreters render it into English. But speeches in English aren't translated—unless someone asks it. So far, no one has.

Officials said that most English speaking churchmen don't speak other languages, while most others can handle English as well as their own languages.

EDWARD B. KEITH

Real Estate Broker Edward Keith Dies

Edward B. Keith, real estate broker, died early this morning of a heart ailment in his home, 2355 Keith Rd., Union Lake. He was 62.

Born in West Bloomfield Township, he attended school at Union Lake and Pontiac. He was a member of First Baptist Church.

Nearly 50 years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Keith felt the need of a Sunday School in their locality. They held summer sessions in the grove near their home for a number of years.

More than 20 years ago, the interdenominational group held classes in the Keith home. In 1938, the Union Lake Sunday School Chapel was completed, built and furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Keith.

Surviving besides his wife, Lillian, is a sister, Mrs. Julia Dodge of Highland.

Deaths Elsewhere

HOLYOKE, Mass. (AP)—Mrs. William G. Dwight, 84, editor and publisher of the Holyoke Daily Transcript-Telegram since the death of her husband in 1930, and an active newspaperwoman for 66 years, died yesterday. Her son William is president of the Transcript-Telegram and president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn.

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP)—Dr. Harold R. Snow, 62, of Bronxville, N.Y., board member of the American Oil Co., died yesterday. He joined the company in 1947 and was named vice president in charge of manufacturing in 1954.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Dr. Carol Aronovitch, 75, who taught the first university course in city planning in this country at the University of Pennsylvania, died Tuesday. He was born in Romania.

Pontiac Boy Sentenced to 1-4 Years in Prison

David B. Wilson, 18, of 410 Howard McNeil St., has been sentenced to from one and a half to four years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan for violation of probation. Sentence was imposed yesterday by Circuit Judge George B. Hartwick.

Deaths in Pontiac and Nearby Areas

PETE B. ATAMIAN

Pete B. Atamian, 69, of 448 S. East Blvd., died suddenly at his home early this morning. He was a retired employee of Wilson Foundry Corp.

Surviving are four nieces, Agnes Damerjian, Mrs. Eugene Beck, Mrs. Vincent Zukowski and Mrs. George Arnold, all of Pontiac. Service will be at 2 p.m. Saturday from the Voorhees-Siple

Chapel with burial following in Oak Hill Cemetery.

MRS. J. B. WRIGHT

Service for Mrs. J. B. Wright, 48, of 99-Florence Ave., will be at 2 p.m. Friday from the Pursey Funeral Home with the Rev. Calvin Rice of Central Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mrs. Wright was killed in an automobile accident Monday near Lapeer.

MRS. SAMUEL McCLEMENTS

MILFORD — Service for Mrs. Samuel (Laura Ann) McClements, 83, of 6297 Stiles Rd., Brown City, and formerly of Brighton, will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday from the Richardson-Bird Funeral Home, Milford. Burial will follow in Oakgrove Cemetery with the Rev. William Lovejoy officiating.

Mrs. McClements died yesterday at her home.

Surviving besides her husband are four sons, Norman of Brown City, Russell of Brighton, Ray and Laurance, both of California; and three sisters, Mary J. Bidwell of Brighton, Fanny M. Richman of Holly and Jenny Hughes of Highland Park.

MRS. MYRTLE M. OGILBIE

ROCHESTER — Mrs. Myrtle M. Ogilbie, 68, of 513 Madison St., died yesterday afternoon following several weeks' illness. Service will be at 2 p.m. Saturday from Pickley Funeral Home with burial in Mt. Avon Cemetery.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Walter Kleinow of Rochester and two sons, Dan of Richland and Carl of Lake Orion, three brothers, and a sister.

Touch and Go Driving Over Railroad Tracks

It can be a rough life, especially when driving over railroad crossings. Mrs. Mary Louise Kauffman, 29, of 3599 Overton, Waterford Township, learned today.

Early this morning she was driving with her husband over railroad tracks at Scott Lake road, when the jar caused the car door to open, hurling her out on the ground. She was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for facial bruises and released.

Straits Bridge Tour Set

PETOSKEY (AP)—A conducted tour of the Mackinac Straits Bridge will be held Saturday for supervisors and county officials from Emmet, Cheboygan and Mackinac Counties. The American Bridge Division of U.S. Steel Corp. will be host to the county officials.

Dies Just One Day After 91st Birthday

Charles E. Jenks, who made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Theodore Koella, 1845 Woodland Ave., Sylvan Lake, died this morning. He had been ill several months. Yesterday Mr. Jenks celebrated his 91st birthday.

During his early years, he had been associated with W. W. Collier in breeding thoroughbred horses. A former superintendent of the Oakland County Farm, he had been employed at Whitfield, Walter & Dawson for 29 years, retiring in 1946. Mr. Jenks attended the First Presbyterian Church.

Surviving besides his daughter, Mrs. Koella, are a grandson and two sisters. Service will be at noon Saturday from Donelson-Johns Funeral Home with the Rev. Galen E. Hershey, associate pastor of his church, officiating. Burial will be in the Franklin Cemetery.

Ousted Miss U.S.A. Apologizes in Letter

LONG BEACH, Calif. (INS)—Leona Gage Ennis, the black-dressed Maryland beauty who reigned briefly as Miss U.S.A., in the Miss Universe contest, has apologized formally for posing as a miss in the international pageant of pulchritude.

Leona, who lost her crown but won some more lucrative rewards when it was discovered that she was married for the second time, and a mother, also twice, expressed her regret in a letter to Oscar Meinhardt, harassed director of the tumultuous contest.

"I hope," the letter said, "that you can find in your heart forgiveness and can realize that the way things were and from my own inexperience, I had no idea of the amount of trouble that the misunderstanding would cause."

Meinhardt, still recuperating from the rigors of the contest, made the letter public with the observation that "I think it is a very gracious gesture on her part."

The letter did not have far to travel. She is rehearsing in nearby Hollywood for a network television play to be aired on Friday and is receiving what approaches "star treatment" from the network's publicity department.

The "blind-slow worm" is neither blind, nor slow, nor a worm. It is a lizard, has bright eyes and can move quickly.

THE BERRYS

By Carl Grubert

exposed — the latest in Jordan only last month.

At the moment, Nasser is squirming to get out of the Russian bear hug and back to what he calls "positive neutralism" and Arab nationalism.

That means reviving trade with Britain and France. The Egyptians have announced a $35 million cotton deal with Paris.

Where does that leave the U.S.? Under Nasser's scheme of things he must have a whipping boy to keep his propaganda sprightly and also to keep the minds of the underdog Egyptians off their own miserable fate.

He can still pump "positive neutralism" and flay the U.S. at the same time. On the U.S. side, the door still has not been slammed — if the Egyptians will only show any desire to work with the U.S.

But at the moment, the U.S. is in the position of helping other people who see things more clearly with America — the dire threat of communism, for example.

The problems of Israel, the hated Baghdad Pact, the U.S. Sixth Fleet and Egypt's binding economic ties to the communist bloc — these and more make daily grist for Nasser's anti-U.S. propaganda mill. And he can be expected to continue grinding it overtime.

U. S. Leading Public Enemy in Egypt Foreign Policy Book

By CHARLES P. ARNOT

CAIRO (INS) — The U.S. has become public enemy number one in Egypt's foreign policy handbook. One veteran Western diplomat has described that handbook thusly:

"It's conceived in suspicion, dedicated to defiance and rewritten from day to day by the rebellious conspirator at the top."

Five years ago, the U.S. was the Egyptian darling. American diplomatic pressure was persuading London to withdraw British forces from the Suez Canal zone, and the U.S. ambassador was on hand to wave farewell to unsung ex-King Farouk as he departed aboard the luggage-laden royal yacht from Alexandria. The U.S. hailed the revolution.

Now, Nasser's carefully controlled newspapers scream "American imperialism . . . dollar diplomacy" and all the other tried tirades so familiar from Moscow.

Slightly more reserved, Nasser himself declares: "You Ameri-

Report Public Schools Losing Teachers Rapidly

DETROIT (INS)—George H. Baker, director of personnel for Detroit's Board of Education, reported that the public school system is losing teachers at an all-time record rate.

He told a meeting of the citizens advisory committee on school needs the rate of separations this year is more than 60 per cent above the rate a year ago.

Baker said the school system, faced with record enrollments, "is finding it more and more difficult to recruit teachers."

can make it hard for me to trust you . . . you have tried to kill us by peaceful means — by economic pressure and starvation." Significantly, he adds:

Russia seems to appreciate our position better than America."

To every visitor from the U.S. and elsewhere, Nasser recites this damning indictment against America: refusal to sell Egypt arms . . . withdrawal of the promised aid to help build the Aswan High Dam . . . refusal to sell wheat and oil with Egypt's blocked dollars . . . U.S. opposition to the Suez nationalization.

FAILURE OR MEMORY?

He fails completely to mention, or has forgotten: The U.S. support for the revolution's efforts to oust the British . . . $40 million in U.S. aid (now completely shut off with some $15 million still unpaid) . . . U.S. backing in the U.N. last fall — the real reason for the Anglo-French withdrawal from Port Said . . . U.S. pressure on Israel to get out of Gaza and Sharm El Sheikh . . . U.S. money and direction in clearing the Suez Canal of the more than 40 obstacles the Egyptians themselves put there . . . and the biggest CARE feeding program ever undertaken in any foreign country (now also suspended).

Nasser's determined unyielding stand on Suez was the crushing blow between Washington and Cairo. It's now no secret that "just a few words" from Nasser might have changed the whole picture.

But he rammed out his own tough terms for running the canal, all but ignoring the six principles adopted last fall by the U.N. Security Council.

That decided Washington. Nasser himself had made it impossible for the U.S. to work with him.

There's never been a specific U.S. policy of "isolating" Nasser from the rest of the Arab world, but that's the way it's worked out — Egypt and Syria standing alone on most every issue except the one that will always unite the Arabs: Israel.

The Anti-communist Eisenhower doctrine was the chance Jordan's young King Hussein and Saudi Arabia's crafty King Saud had been waiting to make the big break with Nasser.

Such African monarchs as Ethiopia's Haile Selassie and Libya's King Idriss have become convinced that Nasser's grandiose policy of Pan-Arabism (which has now become Pan-Nasserism) would mean their end as monarchs, and bring their own nations to the brink of the same poverty and misery that stalks Egypt.

During the past 18 months, Nasser has been forced to withdraw his military attaches and missions from every Arab League country except Syria and Yemen. Their conspiratorial activities were

Security for You

Where to Get Proof You Were Born

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

The couple was nearing 65 and the husband would be retiring soon.

To get ready for it, they visited the local Social Security office. They wanted to know what documents they'd need when they asked for payments.

Since neither had a birth certificate, the office receptionist explained that they should be looking for other proof of their age. After she had mentioned several documents, that would be acceptable, she asked:

"Do you have a baptismal certificate?"

"What did she say?" the husband asked his wife in a loud voice.

In an equally loud voice, she answered:

"NEED BAPTISM?"

"They say now we have to be baptized."

Turned out that in addition to being ready for retirement, they both were hard of hearing.

In any case, the couple had the right idea in checking in advance to see what documents they'd need to back up their applications for Social Security payments.

As the couple discovered, the basic document needed is a birth certificate or some other proof of age.

The problem for many older people these days is that they don't have birth certificates. Birth records weren't carefully kept in the late 1800s and early 1900s. So, it's often necessary for them to get other types of proof of age.

Recognizing this, the Social Security Administration has worked out a list of other types of proof which are acceptable.

WHERE TO GET PROOF

Here's the list with suggestions as to where the proof might be available.

Church record of birth or baptism: Write to the church or parish in which you were baptized.

Census Bureau records: Contact the United States Bureau of Census, Washington, D. C.

Hospital records: Get in touch with the hospital in which you were born or any other hospital which might have some record of your age.

Foreign birth records: Write directly to the local government of your place of birth. Some help may also be given to you by the consular offices or embassy representing the country of your birth in the United States. All such embassies are located in Washington, D. C. You can write to them, for example, in this way: British Embassy, Washington, D. C.

FAMILY RECORD

Certification on approved form of Bible or other family birth record: Your Social Security office will give you information on obtaining certifications.

Naturalization records: Write to Immigration and Naturalization Service, Washington, D. C.

Military records: Write to your branch of service, Washington, D. C. For example: Department of the Army, Washington, D. C.

Passport records: Write to Department of State, Passport Section, Washington, D. C.

Vaccination record: Contact the Department of Public Health, c/o city, county or state in which you were vaccinated.

Insurance policy: This you should have in your possession. If the policy has lapsed, get in touch with the home office of the company which issued you the policy.

Although this is the list put out by the Social Security people, other types of proof—if they're genuine—may also be acceptable.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

SHOOTING FOR SPEEDERS—Authorities in Quebec, Canada, estimate that a traffic accident claims the life of a Canadian motorist every three hours, so the Safety League has intensified its campaign for traffic safety. A provincial constable, above, checks the speed of the car ahead of him with the aid of a specially equipped camera. Officials claim that 35 per cent of all fatal auto accidents in Canada are caused by speeding.

Ford's New Edsel More Than Just a Name

businesslike, corporate structure than the one-man enterprise it was. Henry always blocked these efforts. He also ended up frustrating Edsel's efforts to make the firm a major aircraft producer.

The famed Ford Tri-Motor plane was Edsel's project.

During World War II the elder Ford summarily canceled a huge aircraft engine contract Edsel had accepted. And Henry never fully approved of the company building bombers during the war.

TALKED WITH LABOR

Edsel was always willing to talk terms with labor. But it was his father who rigidly opposed unionization of his plants, with resultant violent strife.

But by docile, patient persuasion Edsel did manage to sell many of his progressive ideas to his conservative father. He persuaded the old man in 1923 that the time had come to restyle the model T. Edsel was responsible for introducing hydraulic brakes, shatter-proof glass and bright colors. He was the first auto executive to try to make cars attractive to women.

Edsel's efforts added the Lincoln-Zephyr to the Lincoln line in 1935. He launched the Mercury in 1938. And he personally designed the Lincoln-Continental.

As many as possible of these early Edsel ideas of design have been incorporated into the new car which will carry his name, it is reported. Its details are secret but the car is said to have advanced, startling designing. They say it will have the newest of everything in the way of brakes, engines and accessories.

Family sentiment notwithstanding, an elaborate market survey was made before the Edsel was launched. It will fill a price-range gap somewhere between the Ford and Mercury.

There will be Edsel models which overlap in price the more expensive Fords, the Mercury lines and even some of the less expensive Lincolns.

A big reason for Edsel's creation was the discovery that too many Ford owners were leaving Ford products when seeking a car in a higher price range. The first year Ford hopes to sell 200,000 Edsels, which would be about three per cent of the total car market and a highly successful effort.

London 'Wicked City,' Former U.S. Judge Says

LONDON (INS) — A former New York woman judge branded London today as "one of the wickedest cities in the world."

Mrs. Florence Shientag made the remark after accompanying a Daily Sketch reporter on a tour of London's Parklane, Hyde Park and Soho areas.

She witnessed women soliciting men in the areas; then black-marked London "because of the amounts of flagrantly displayed prostitution."

Americans between 30 and 49 are the heaviest coffee drinkers.

DETROIT (NEA) — A unique element of sentiment has been infused into the biggest, most expensive introduction of a single new product ever attempted in the history of private enterprise.

The product is the new medium-priced Edsel car, to be offered to the public at the end of the summer.

The sentiment is the apparent feeling of the Ford boys — Henry II, Benson and Bill — that their new car will help set the record straight on the contributions to the Ford empire and the real personality of their dad, the late Edsel.

The public image of Edsel is that of an artistically-inclined son forced into industry at an early age and completely dominated by an aggressive father. Edsel never went to college and was made president of the company in 1919.

Edsel's sons hope somehow to alter this image with the name of their father affixed to their huge new auto enterprise.

QUARTER OF A BILLION

They're pumping a quarter of a billion dollars into the Edsel effort. Launching costs such as advertising will be 100 million dollar while 150 million dollars go for production facilities and materials.

The first cars will be rolling off the line by the middle of this month.

There will be 1,500 dealers ready to sell the car. And around the country six assembly plants, 25 parts depots and 29 regional and district offices will be supplying the dealers' needs.

"This is the kind of thing Edsel would have done and the way he would have done it," claims a veteran official of the company.

The Ford boys have had historians analyzing a mass of family and company records to get a clearer picture of Edsel's influence on the firm and his relations with his father.

They confirm publicly for the first time what has long been assumed in Detroit: that father and son frequently disagreed, usually with son being overruled.

These differences continued almost to Edsel's death from cancer in 1943.

Almost from his first days as president of the company Edsel tried to make the outfit more of a

Bout With Senate Could Decide Labor Future

2nd Round Coming Up for Hoffa

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Jimmy Hoffa's first-round victory over the Senate committee investigation labor unions finds him feeling stronger than when he started the fight.

At least that's how the Teamsters Union vice president analyzes his acquittal on charges of planting a spy on the committee staff. And there are plenty of experts who agree with him.

His upcoming second round with the committee now becomes crucial. It could determine Hoffa's future in the labor ring.

It starts with the committee's probe of the extent to which gangsters and racketeers have shoved into labor unions in New York City.

TROUBLE AHEAD?

"Mr. Hoffa's troubles are far from ended," said Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY), vice chairman of the Senate group, when he heard of the acquittal. "He has not as yet even appeared before the Senate select committee, but I anticipate that he will," Ives predicted.

Current goal of the committee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), is to try to expose the full activities of the notorious Johnny Djo in New York's union affairs. Hoffa's associations with Djo will be fully aired in the process.

Djo is under indictment for a part in planning the acid-throwing which blinded labor columnist Victor Riesel. Djo has also just been found guilty of conspiracy and bribery in a plot to extort $30,000 from two electroplating firms in exchange for a guarantee of labor peace. Djo has spent time in Sing Sing prison for extortion.

ARE THEY PALSY?

Hoffa has been seen in friendly conversation with Djo in New York. The committee is seeking to determine just how palsy-walsy they really are.

The committee also is looking into so-called "paper locals" set up by the Teamsters in New York, apparently involving Hoffa and Djo. It is claimed that these non-existent locals were set up to strengthen the union position of N. Y. Teamster official John J. O'Rourke.

O'Rourke is a close associate of Hoffa, in spite of the fact that Hoffa's henchman in the Teamsters Union is supposed to be the Mid-West.

These alleged paper locals were set up by Djo, who is a long-time, close friend of O'Rourke.

MAY BE QUIZZED

Both Djo and Hoffa are expected to be called to testify on these matters. Their relationships and possible business dealings should make interesting testimony, committee spokesmen predict.

On numerous occasions in the past Hoffa left his Detroit headquarters to go to New York to become embroiled in some of the violent longshoremen's rows there. The committee will be looking into Hoffa's reasons for this activity.

Hoffa, his supporters and some of his enemies say that the committee's efforts cannot keep him from winning the presidency of the powerful Teamsters Union. This will be decided at the union's international convention at Miami in September.

His success may depend on how much damage the committee does to Hoffa in the coming hearings.

Ends a Day of Crime With More—in Church

DETROIT (INS)—Penn Naylor, a 22-year-old Detroit, ended a day of crime yesterday morning kneeling at the communion rail of St. John Berchman's Catholic Church.

Patrolmen Walter Malley and Marvin Pionk said the man was not praying, but was ripping open pledge envelopes which parishioners had deposited in a large wooden box.

Naylor working by the flickering light of vigil candles, had stuffed $47 into his pockets and was busy at work when the officers ordered him to surrender.

He ran up the center aisle and was about to make good his escape when one of the police shouted: "Stop, or I'll shoot."

AF Sets 7 P.M. Curfew at Hamamatsu Air Base

TOKYO (AP)—The U. S. Air Force announced today it has ordered a "precautionary" week-night 7 p. m. curfew at Hamamatsu air base after several incidents involving Japanese townspeople and American airmen.

The Air Force gave no details of the incidents, Japanese newspaper accounts said on one occasion Americans had threatened Japanese civilians with knives.

Russia to Supply Syria With $115 Million Loan

DAMASCUS (AP)—The Socialist Daily Alrai Alam reported from Moscow today that the Soviet Union has agreed to supply Syria with $115 million dollars worth of technical, industrial aid to finance Syria's development projects.

The loan is payable within 10 years, the paper's special correspondent reported.

The report said the agreement was made during talks between Soviet leaders and a Syrian government delegation headed by acting defense minister Khaled el Ezem. The Syrian group is still in Moscow.

Case of the People vs. Benji

Dog Sentenced to Death

LANSING (AP)—A final execution order has been issued against Benji, 150-pound St. Bernard accused of attacking a state official. After a hearing in Delhi township court Tuesday afternoon, Justice Raymond Toffe ordered that the big dog be given a lethal dose of drug today.

Chris Briethaupt, 39, chief of the state motor transport division, required 24 stitches in his arms and legs from what he said was an unprovoked attack. Briethaupt appeared in court on crutches.

"Put him to sleep quietly and humanely," asked Mrs. Esther Kruger, who owned the dog at the time of the attack.

Pat Mitchell, Lansing photographer who said he had since purchased the dog from Mrs. Kruger, also agreed to the court decision. Mitchell first proposed to retire the dog to a farm.

TAKES FIFTH AMENDMENT

Asked if he had any experience in handling dogs, Mitchell invoked the Fifth Amendment and refused to testify.

After Justice Toffe made his ruling, he was approached by Carl Dee, 76, of Lansing who offered to keep the dog in his yard which he said was enclosed by a steel fence. Dee said he had trained timber wolves as well as dogs.

"Give me a week's time and I'll have him eating out of my hand," Dee said.

Capture Summer's Good Taste

The 17th century essayist who lamented "Beauty is as summer fruits . . . which cannot last" could not foresee how today's homemaker can and does make summer fruits last — and vegetables, too — to enliven meals all during the winter to come.

The most effective way of prolonging summer's eating joys is, of course, to pickle fruits and vegetables during their summer abundance. Skillful pickling is the secret of successful pickling and mixed pickling spice — a ready-prepared blend of 16 whole spices — is the magical culinary tool with which the modern cook can capture flavor brightness in her pickles. This spice mixture, though rich with many different spices, is uncomplicated from the homemaker's viewpoint. It's as easy to use as reaching for her measuring spoon because professional flavor scientists have done all the work of selecting, precision-measuring and mixing the component elements into a single handy spice.

Spiced Fresh Cherries
3 pounds firm ripe fresh cherries
2 cups brown sugar
2 cups cider vinegar
1/2 cup water
2 tablespoons mixed pickling spice
1/4 teaspoon salt
Wash cherries, leaving stems attached and set aside. Combine sugar, vinegar, and water in a 6-quart saucepan. The mixed pickling spice in a cheesecloth bag and add. Stir in salt. Bring to boiling point and boil 2 to 3 minutes. Add cherries and bring to boiling point.

Pack in hot sterilized jars, leaving 1/2-inch space at the top of jars. Seal at once. Do not open for about 6 weeks. Yield: 5 one-half pint jars.

SPICED FRESH CHERRIES — Capture the summer joy of red-ripe fresh cherries for next winter's table by spice-pickling them now while they are in high abundance. Mixed pickling spice, a ready-prepared blend of 16 whole spices, brings subtly exotic flavor to spiced or pickled fruits.

Southern Punch With Coffee Real Smooth

Southern hospitality is just as hospitable in the heat of summer as it is in any other season. What do southern hostesses serve when the thermometer goes to the top and stays there? Something cool, delicious, easy to prepare and handsome to look at.

That's why Creamy Coffee Punch has been a favorite refreshment at Dixie parties for many a long year. In Biloxi, in Savannah, in Tallahassee—in so many southern cities, a summer party isn't quite complete without this luscious punch.

It's easy to make and so simple that its wonderful flavor is truly surprising. In the south, a topping of whipping cream is added to the ingredients in this recipe.

Creamy Coffee Punch
4 quarts strong cold coffee
2 quarts cold milk
2 tablespoons vanilla
1 cup sugar
2 quarts vanilla ice cream

Combine cold coffee, milk and vanilla. Add sugar and stir to dissolve. Chill thoroughly. Pour over ice cream in punch bowl. Makes about 30 punch cup servings.

Creole Coffee Is Spiced

Beloved beverage of New Orleans is cafe noir—black and hot. But for summertime quaffing, iced coffee's the favorite. Add a touch of Creole spice, by stirring 1/2 teaspoon real New Orleans molasses in your next frosty glass of iced coffee. Makes for a delicious new

Bake Sausage in Corn Pudding

Whatever your serving need, pork sausage links can play the leading role. Breakfast, lunch or dinner, watch the family go for this spicy, yet not too highly seasoned sausage specialty.

Sausage Links in Batter Pudding takes just 45 minutes to bake. The pudding is a corn meal mixture. The mixture is placed in a 2-quart casserole with the sausage links on top.

Green beans with slivered almonds, carrot-raisin salad and apple pie—make colorful and delicious escorts for this sausage creation.

Sausage Links in Batter Pudding
1 pound pork sausage links

2 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup corn meal
4 eggs
Heat milk in double boiler. Add salt and corn meal. Stir constantly and cook 10 to 15 minutes, or until thickened. Cool slightly. Beat eggs and add to mixture.

Pour mixture into a well-greased 2-quart baking dish, and place sausage links on top. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 40 to 45 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Guava Sherbet Is New

Soften 1 teaspoon plain gelatine in 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Heat with a 12-oz. can guava or papaya nectar and 1/4 cup granulated sugar. Cool and freeze until mushy.

Beat 1 egg white with 2 tablespoons sugar and fold into softened sherbet. Re-freeze at coldest temperature. Serve over chilled Bartlett pear halves. Makes 6 servings.

Swirl Fruit in Ice Cream

Summer's favorite dessert is even more delicious when you glamorize it thus: Make up a package of vanilla ice cream mix, adding 1/4 teaspoon pure vanilla extract to the milk or cream. When still in the "mushy" state, swirl crushed fresh raspberries through the cream. Freeze until firm and ready to serve.

Lots Fewer Calories

Add enough milk or light cream to a sieved cottage cheese to make it creamy. Then beat it with a rotary beater until it is the consistency of whipped cream. Flavor generously with pure vanilla extract and grated lemon rind. Perfect dress-up for gingerbread.

COOL EATING — Nothing is as cool as smooth Cucumber Sauce. It can be made in the morning and kept in the refrigerator ready for a party or the evening meal. Here it is served with Jellied Vegetable Loaf. You might try it also with cold meat.

Cucumber Sauce Is Cool Topping on Jellied Salad

"Cool as a cucumber" is just what this smooth and subtle sauce is. It's perfect with salads of fresh garden vegetables molded in unflavored gelatin.

Cucumber Sauce
1/2 cup mayonnaise or commercial salad dressing
1/2 cup finely diced cucumber
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
Mix together all ingredients. Serve with vegetable loaf. Yields 1 cup.

These molded vegetable salads can be made in the morning and kept in the refrigerator ready for the party or evening meal. To unmold, just dip the loaf pan into warm water for a few seconds and then turn onto serving plate. Serve sauce separately.

Jellied Vegetable Loaf
2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 cups water, divided
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup sliced radishes
1/2 cup sliced carrots
2 cups finely shredded cabbage
1/2 cup sliced green pepper
Sprinkle gelatin on 1 cup of the cold water in saucepan to soften. Place over medium heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat, add sugar and salt; stir until sugar is dissolved. Stir in remaining 2 cups water and lemon juice. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white.

Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into 8x4x3-inch loaf pan; chill until firm. Unmold; serve with cucumber sauce. Yields 8 servings.

Molded Tomato Relish
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup tomato juice, divided
1/2 cup chili sauce
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup sliced radishes
1/2 cup sliced carrots

Kraut Salad Cool, Tangy

Looking for a quickie meal? Try a kraut inspired salad. It takes only minutes to prepare and it's so cool and tasty you'll want to repeat it often during the warm weather.

It's a known fact that kraut, served hot, is one of our most popular wintertime dishes. But if you want a real taste thrill, try it crisp and cool in a summer salad. The tangy flavor of kraut does wonders to bland vegetables and combines perfectly with meats such as boiled ham and corned beef.

Kraut-Ham 'n' Egg Salad
2 1-pound 3-sauce cans sauerkraut
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 pound boiled ham, cut in strips
2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
1/2 cup salad oil
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 teaspoons sugar
Salt and pepper to taste
Drain kraut; reserve 1-3 cup kraut juice. Combine kraut, onion, ham and eggs; toss lightly and chill. Combine remaining ingredients; beat or shake until well-blended. Add dressing mixture to kraut mixture; toss lightly, but thoroughly. Garnish with ham strips and egg slices as desired. Serves six.

Kids Can Fix Drinks With Fruit Gelatins

A fine way to keep energetic children cool and happy during these long hot days is to have a substantial supply of fruit-flavored gelatin in the pantry so they can make their own "pitcher treats." Not only impressive but good for them; too, are these popular Fruit Coolers and Fruity Milk Shakes.

Easy to make Fruit Coolers are prepared with a package of fruit-flavored gelatin and water. By mixing two flavors your youngsters will have enough for the whole gang.

Fruit Cooler
1 package fruit-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
2 1/2 cups cold water
Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Pour over cracked ice in tall glasses. Makes 4 servings.

Fruity Milk Shake
1 tablespoon fruit-flavored gelatin
1/2 cup milk
Place gelatin and VERY HOT water in a shaker or container with tight cover. (Do not use a plastic container. Shake mixture until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Add milk gradually; shake vigorously. Pour into tall glass. Makes 1 serving.

Ever try sprinkling a bit of nutmeg on boiled rice for flavor accent? Delicious when served with poultry.

Lowly Hot Dog Gains Top Billing During August

You may call it a wiener, a red hot, a pup or a Vienna. But in traditional American lingo, it's still the hot dog! And during National Hot Dog Month, this versatile food becomes a cook's delight. For the frank can be as rustic as a picnic or as sophisticated as pate de foie gras—depending on how you want to prepare it.

Here are a few hot dog recipes that show off the frank's versatility as a food-for-any-occasion.

Frank Kabobs Oriental
1/2 dozen frankfurters
1 No. 2 can pineapple chunks, drained
1 package instant rice, prepared and seasoned with curry powder

Sweet-Sour Sauce
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/2 cup vinegar
1 cup brown sugar
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
Dash of Tabasco
Cut frankfurters into 1 1/2 inch pieces. Alternate frankfurter pieces and pineapple chunks on long skewers, using about 3 pieces of frankfurter and 3 pineapple chunks on each skewer. Place in lightly greased baking dish.

For the Sweet-Sour Sauce, mix cornstarch with vinegar; add brown sugar and stir until dissolved. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until clear and thickened. Add seasonings. Pour over Frank Kabobs and heat in a moderate oven, 325 degrees F., for about 20 to 30 minutes. Serve over steamed rice. Makes 6 servings.

Diced Frank Hot
1/2 dozen frankfurters, sliced into 1/2 to 3/4 inch cubes
1/2 pound sharp processed-type cheese, cut into 1/2 to 3/4 inch cubes
1/2 dozen frankfurters, split
3 tablespoons green onions, minced
1/2 cup stuffed olives, chopped
2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped finely
2 or tomato paste
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine frankfurters, cheese, onions, olives, eggs, tomato paste and mayonnaise or salad dressing and mix thoroughly. Open frankfurters and spread each bun with about 1-3 cup of the frankfurter mixture. Bun will close partially, but wrap each bun in aluminum foil, twisting the ends tightly.

Store wrapped buns in the refrigerator until ready for use. Before serving, place wrapped buns on grill for about 15 to 20 minutes. Serve piping hot in the foil wrapper. Makes 12 servings.

Frank's Souffle Sandwich
10 skinless frankfurters
3 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons prepared mustard
1/2 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon paprika
Brush egg yolks until lemon colored. Add mustard, salt, paprika and cayenne. Beat egg whites until very stiff. Pour egg yolk mixture over stiff whites, and fold gently until blended.

Split the franks lengthwise and place on toast. Top with the egg mixture and bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 to 20 minutes. Serve immediately. Makes 10 servings.

Next time you're looking for a different way to prepare frankfurters, try this tasty frank idea. Split frankfurters lengthwise and stuff with mixture of pickle relish and minced onion. Place under broiler to heat.

FRANK KABOBS ORIENTAL — The exotic Orient lends some of its seasoning hints to the American frankfurter and the result is a gourmet recipe, Frank Kabobs Oriental. Concocted in

3 Flavors Mix in Frosty Pie

Three-ways delicious and a real "quickie" to make is a new summertime dessert just announced by the test kitchen of one of the nation's largest bakeries. It's "Triple Treat Ice Cream Pie," with a crumb crust of rich chocolate ice box wafers which can be made in a jiffy.

The two-flavor filling is as easy as it's tasty: alternate layers of vanilla and strawberry ice cream, spooned in to form a marbled effect and topped with whipped cream. A sprinkling of bitter chocolate "curls" adds a decorative finishing touch. Here's how to make it:

"Triple Treat Ice Cream Pie"
 1 1/2 cups finely crushed chocolate ice box wafers
 2 tablespoons melted butter
 1 pint vanilla ice cream
 1 pint strawberry ice cream
 1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
 1/2 square (1/2 ounce) bitter chocolate (optional)

Heat oven to 350 degrees (moderate oven). Combine cookie crumbs and butter. Pour into a 9-inch pie pan, and press mixture firmly to bottom and sides of pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 8 minutes. Chill.

Alternately, spoon together into the pie shell the vanilla and strawberry ice cream, slightly softened. Smooth ice cream gently to form a marbled effect. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator, set at coldest setting, for at least 1 hour. Serve topped with whipped cream.

Sprinkle topping with thin chocolate "curls" shaved from bitter chocolate, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Canned Macaroni Base of Casserole

A quickie from the pantry shelf!

Quick Macaroni and Tuna
 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) macaroni with cheese sauce
 1 can (8 ounces) baked tuna
 2 to 4 teaspoons finely grated onion (omit half juice)
 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 1/2 cup grated cheese

Turn macaroni with cheese into an 8-inch glass pie plate; use either the regular plate or the deepest one of this size. Drain any excess oil from tuna and mix fish with macaroni along with grated onion and green pepper. Sprinkle with grated cheese.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until hot and bubbly. Place under broiler a few minutes to brown top. Makes 4 servings.

Bananas, dipped in butter and fried, make an excellent accompaniment to a ham steak.

Club, Mrs. Cook wouldn't be serving any rich, calorie-loaded dish. But Mrs. Smith has lost thirty pounds and doesn't want to gain it back. She and Mrs. Neaves are both club members with Mrs. Cook.

Ground Beef Stars in Pie Plate Dinner

This meat loaf kin of the hamburger is arranged for the busy cook who wishes her meal to be easy on the elected dish washers, as well as on Father who is not too happy about carving anything, and for the young ones who are impatient to eat.

Pie Plate Hamburger Loaf
 1 pound ground beef
 1 teaspoon MSG
 1 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup finely chopped, stuffed olives
 1/2 cup minced onion, optional
 1 cup water
 1 whole stuffed olive
 1 can (8 1/2) whole kernel corn
 1 quart (about) seasoned mashed potato

Combine first 6 ingredients lightly but thoroughly; shape into round loaf, slightly higher in the center; place in deep 9-inch heat-proof glass pie plate. Insert whole olives into top of loaf. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 40 to 50 minutes.

Remove from oven; pour off juices for gravy-making. Season corn with salt, pepper and MSG. Spoon in corn around meat and then potato. Return to oven; con-time baking 20 to 30 minutes or until meat is well done and potatoes nicely browned. Makes 6 servings.

Roll Fresh Asparagus in Dough for Treat

A novel way to serve fresh asparagus is to roll biscuit dough out to a circle 12 inches in diameter and cut into six pie-shaped wedges.

On each wedge place several cooked asparagus spears at the wide end and roll up as for butter-horn rolls.

Place on a greased baking sheet and bake in a hot oven 450 degrees 10 to 12 minutes. Serve hot with a creamy cheese sauce.

Bread With Character

The secret of a good cottage cheese sandwich is to use bread with lots of "character." Rye, pumpernickel, Boston brown-bread or a fruit and nut bread make delicious sandwiches. Just combine the cheese with any kind of jam or marmalade or with chopped chive or watercress or with chopped nuts or olives.

Make Gravy in Skillet

Never waste the brown residue that sticks to the skillet when you are cooking chicken in a small amount of fat. After the chicken pieces are removed, add a little liquid to the pan and stir and scrape (with a wooden spoon) over low heat to dissolve the residue. Then strain and use as natural gravy, or thicken for a regular gravy or sauce.

Pink Mints Border Cake

Pretty cake decoration: melt half of a square of unsweetened chocolate with half a teaspoon of butter or margarine over hot water; dip pink mints (each about the size of a quarter) into the chocolate so the candies are half covered. Stick the mints around the edge of a chocolate frosted cake to give a pink-and-brown border.

For a quick appetizer: put sardines on individual strips of bread, top with thick tomato sauce and grated cheese; and slide under the broiler until

Pack Shrimp Salad to Fill Picnic Buns

Nowadays, a lot has been written about the convenience of a "meal in a dish." The Shrimp Association of the Americas has gone even further with their "meal in a bun." It's ideal for outdoor eating, because you can take the makings for the Shrimp Buns to the picnic scene and serve freshly made bun-wiches on the spot — especially taste-tempting on a hot day when you're eating al fresco. Just pack in an insulated bag individual containers of shrimp filling, sliced tomatoes and lettuce leaves.

Shrimp Buns
 1/2 pound shrimp, fresh or frozen, or 5-ounce can shrimp

1/2 cup finely chopped celery
 1/2 cup chopped cucumber
 1 teaspoon minced onion
 Mayonnaise
 Salt and pepper
 8 slices tomato
 Lettuce leaves
 8 hamburger buns
 If shrimp is uncooked, clean it and cook it by boiling in salted water 3 to 5 minutes. If shrimp is canned, drain and devein it. Chop shrimp very fine. Mix shrimp with vegetables. Moisten with mayonnaise and season with salt and pepper. Split buns and butter each individual containers of shrimp filling, sliced tomatoes and lettuce leaves.

For the bride's punch bowl, freeze water and maraschino cherries in small ring molds. Unmold the ice rings and float on top of the punch with notched slices of orange and lemon and lime spirals.

Cherry Flavor Predominates in Rich Dessert

If your family dote on maraschino-cherry flavor, they'll enjoy this dessert.

Cherry Mock Cheese Cake
 4 eggs (separated)
 1 can (14-ounce) sweetened condensed milk
 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 1 teaspoon vanilla
 1/2 cup (about 15) chopped maraschino cherries (drained)
 3/4 cup finely crushed graham cracker crumbs
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine (melted)

With rotary beater (hand or electric) beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add milk, lemon rind, lemon juice and vanilla; beat to blend. With clean beater beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold egg whites and cherries into egg yolk mixture.

Mix graham cracker crumbs and melted butter well. Sprinkle half of crumb mixture in bottom of greased baking pan (8 by 8 by 2-inches). Top with cherry mixture and sprinkle with remaining crumb mixture.

Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 30 minutes. Turn heat off; leave cake in oven 1 hour. Makes 8 servings.

Here's a treat to make with canned or stewed pears: fill centers with vanilla ice cream and sprinkle with chopped toasted almonds.

Heat Wave Sizzles and Cool Drinks Sparkle

Pontiac Press Home Editor

When the thermometer hits ninety degrees, there's nothing like the taste of a smooth cold drink to make you feel better. It's a good idea to make that drink a nutritious one, one that will improve your diet.

As many of you readers know from past years, we think that children should have milk and pure fruit drinks, rather than soft drinks and those that are nothing more than sugar and water. We won't change our children if we do not give them the best possible foods.

It is not entirely a question of economy; but it is true that soft drinks are usually more expensive than fruit drinks. And they have very little nourishment to offer, outside of the sugar in them. Why not offer the youngsters a grape drink?

For a Vineyard Special use 1 can of concentrated grape juice, 2 cans of cold water and 1 can of apple or grapefruit juice. Mix well and serve.

You can make a Purple Cloud with a can of grape juice concentrate, 3 cans of cold water and 1 cup of raspberry or orange sherbet. Pour the diluted juice over the sherbet and stir until partly melted.

Children like to have grown-up food. Let them have an afternoon "tea party" with little sandwiches and cakes and this Three-Fruit Punch. They'll love it.

Three-Fruit Punch

1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated orange juice
1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated grapefruit juice
1 can (1 pint and 2 fluid ounces) unsweetened pineapple juice
3 cups water
Marshmallows
Thin half slices of fresh orange
Lemon spritz

Empty frozen orange juice, frozen grapefruit juice and canned pineapple juice into a container; add water and stir until combined;

chill. Serve in tall glasses over ice cubes; garnish with cherries, orange slices and mint. Makes 8 servings.

We know you use cans and cans of lemonade concentrate. We think it's a good idea too. But we wonder if you have forgotten how to make tall frosty glasses of fresh lemonade. If you like your fruit drinks a little on the tart side, here's your chance. When you make your own lemonade, you can control the amount of sugar used.

The general rule for one glass of lemonade is 1 lemon, 1 cup cold water and sugar to taste. Add ice and garnish with lemon slices.

For your own ready mix combine 2 cups fresh lemon juice, 4 teaspoons grated lemon peel and ½ cup sugar. Stir all together until dissolved. Allow ¼ cup lemon syrup for each glass of lemonade. Fill with ice water.

For the adults or for an occasional children's treat make this festive raspberry drink. It is unusual, delicious and cooling.

Raspberry Frost

1 package frozen raspberries, barely defrosted
1 cup raspberry sherbet
Juice of 1 lemon
Few drops peppermint extract
Black raspberry soda

Combine frozen raspberries and raspberry sherbet; mix thoroughly with a large wooden spoon. Add lemon juice and peppermint extract. Divide among 6 tall glasses. Fill each glass with ice cold black raspberry soda.

Since most children love chocolate milk, it is easy to include more milk in the summer's menu. If your child resists eggs in all the usual forms, try heating an egg into his chocolate milk. If you don't tell him, he won't know it, but will get the added nourishment.

Using the same reasoning, you can add more protein to your child's diet by giving him this new kind of chocolate drink. It has unflavored gelatin in it for the added protein. All the child will know is that the drink is nice and thick.

Chocolate Cheer-Up

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 cup cold water
1 cup quick-cook powder
½ quart cold milk
½ teaspoon almond flavoring (optional)
1 pint vanilla ice cream, partially melted

Sprinkle gelatin on cold water in saucepan to soften. Place over low heat, stirring constantly until gelatin is thoroughly dissolved. Remove from heat.

Add instant cocoa powder; stir until smooth. Add milk and almond flavoring; mix well. Pour into 6 12-ounce glasses; chill until thickened, about 2 hours.

Before serving, stir into each glass 1 scoop (1-3 cup) vanilla ice cream. Yield: 6 servings.

Iced coffee is a delightful summer beverage. Combined with peppermint extract and whipped cream it becomes a super-deluxe hot weather drink.

Coffee Mint Cooler

4 cups double-strength coffee, chilled
½ cup confectioners' sugar

¾ cup evaporated milk
1½ teaspoon peppermint extract
¼ cup heavy cream, whipped
Four chilled-coffee into large bowl. Stir in sugar, stirring until completely dissolved. Add milk and peppermint extract. Blend well. Pour over crushed ice in tall glasses. Top with whipped cream. Yield: 6 10-ounce servings.

Barbecue Spareribs
Good to Do on Grill

Barbecued spareribs and some to spare is a summer favorite. To have enough allow ¾ pound of ribs per person. For some to spare allow a whole pound per person. Ribs may be less expensive if you buy a rib-end pork loin suggests the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. If you choose a rib-end per person, a pound of the rib-end allow half a pound to barbecue the ribs, unless you prefer to parboil them before putting them on the grill. Keep the ribs about 15 or 18 inches from the coals.

Small Fish Easily Fried

This is the time of year when the smell and sizzle of fish frying—whether indoors or out—are especially satisfying. These appeals to our senses recall memories of cooking freshly caught fish by a mountain stream, or all the fun and comradeship of a fish fry. Gleaming little fish, the kind you often catch, are much in evidence at the fish dealers these days—butterfish, sunfish, perch, crappies, croakers, sand dabs, herring, whiting and so on. No matter what the species, the National Fisheries Institute recommends this method of frying when you're preparing small fish.

Crispy Fried Fish

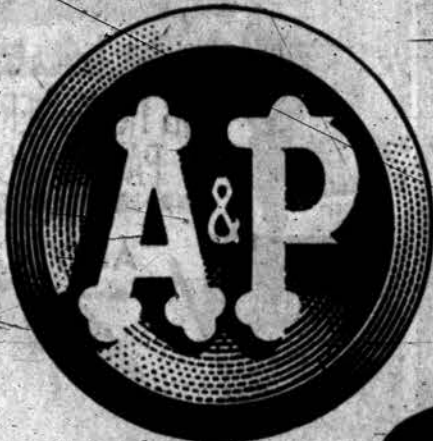

4 pounds small fish (¼ to 1 pound each)
Salt, pepper
½ cup milk (about)
1 cup fine cracker or bread crumbs
Have your fish dealer clean the fish for you. Wipe them with a damp cloth or paper towel; salt and pepper lightly. Dip fish in milk, then in crumbs. Heat ½ inch of fat or salad oil in a large heavy skillet, but do not allow to smoke. Fry fish, a few at a time, quickly, about five minutes on each side or until golden brown. Turn carefully. Be careful not to overcook. Place hot fish on heated platter. Garnish with watercress or parsley and lemon wedges. Makes four servings.

Don't Breathe Too Deeply

Here is an American recipe for hamburgers that depends on Spanish olive oil for its special distinction. In a quarter-cup of olive oil saute four chopped garlic cloves until the bits are browned, then add four large hamburger patties that have been salted and peppered. Cook to your taste; using more olive oil, if needed, then place the hamburgers on a platter and pour over the remaining bits of garlic. Serve with sliced tomatoes, peppers, onions, cucumbers, stuffed olives.

Blonde Makes Awful Liar of Athlete-Actor Mathias

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (U) — A sexy blonde made an awful liar out of Bob Mathias the other day. Mathias is the handsome ex-Olympic decathlon champ who recently was signed to an acting career by John Wayne.

Bob, a six-foot-four, hunk of man, was discoursing with a reporter about women athletes. Said he:

"Women, if they are smart, will keep out of athletics. First, they're no good at it compared with European women and, secondly, it tends to make them muscular and ugly."

About this time, an executive with Balzac Productions brought blonde Jeanne Carmen to the table and introduced her to Mathias and the reporter.

Jeanne, soft and curvy and a cross between Marilyn Monroe and Anita Ekberg, listened intently while Mathias continued his discussion on women athletes. She said nothing.

Then the reporter started questioning her, asking her what she had done before she tried for a movie career. All at the table expected her to give the usual answer—model, or beauty contest winner, or little theater. Instead she replied demurely:

"I was a golf pro."

"We had an act where we would get some volunteer from the audience to lie down and hold a teed-up golf ball in his mouth. Then the pro would ask me to hit the ball off the volunteer's mouth."

"I used to take an amateurish swing and then the pro would ask: 'Have you ever swung a golf club before?' Then, if the volunteer hadn't fainted by this time, I answered 'no' and smacked the ball right out of his mouth."

Did she ever miss? No, but she admitted that she had scared a lot of volunteers in her time.

What did she think about Mathias' comments on women athletes?

"I think he's been around too many women shot putters," she answered.

Mathias allowed as how he might have been.

Churchill Calls for U.N. Revision

Would Trim Power of Smaller Members for More Justice

LONDON (U) — Sir Winston Churchill called last night for revision of the U.N. Charter to trim the power of small nations in the world organization.

Britain's elder statesman told the closing banquet of the American Bar Assn. convention: "It is anomalous that the vote or pre-judice of any small country should affect events involving populations many times its own numbers and affect them as momentary self-advantage may direct."

Churchill said new members have swollen the General Assembly to 81 members at the same time great power disputes have thrown increasing responsibility on the Assembly.

"I do not want tonight to suggest an elaborate new charter for the U.N.," the former Prime Minister said. "But I think we can all agree that its present conception is imperfect and must be improved."

Churchill said the United Nations has failed in many cases, citing Hungary particularly. He agreed with Prime Minister Robert Menzies of Australia that justice is not being achieved in the United Nations.

"It is certain that if the Assembly continues to take its decisions on grounds of enmity, opportunism or mere jealousy and petulance, the whole structure may be brought to nothing," he declared.

With three U.S. Supreme Court justices present, Sir Winston said the "Supreme Court in America has often been the guardian and upholder of American liberty. Long may it continue to thrive."

Celebrates Birthday by Rescuing Family

WARREN, R. I. (U) — Robert Bradbury celebrated his 14th birthday Wednesday by rescuing five members of a family after their outboard skiff sank.

Rescued were: Mrs. Joseph Morris, her children, Joseph, 3rd, 3, and Carol Ann, 2, and two nephews Frederick Morris, 8, and John Rebello, an adult.

Their shouts attracted Bradbury who was bailing a power skiff. He sped to their assistance.

Morris, on shore, heard his family's shouts and swam out to them in time to help his wife into Bradbury's boat. Later Morris said of Bradbury: "It was his birthday and he gave us a present we won't forget."

Eat Well Before Beating Indian Drummers Told

OTOE, Okla. (U) — A warning for drummers to "eat well before using" went along with a huge tom-tom members of the Ponca Indian tribe gave the Otoe tribe. The drum will accommodate 40 beaters simultaneously.

Ferry LeClair, president of the Ponca Indian tribal council, told Otoe leaders: "Vibrations from the drum will shake the stomach and anyone who applies himself to the drum on an empty stomach will be nauseated."

Swan Gets a Swain; Maybe Stork's Next

ITHACA, N.Y. (U) — Cornell's whistling swan has a swain and perhaps the stork will visit next season.

The swan's happy romantic interlude follows a tragic incident. Last fall, Cornell University arranged for a mating visit from another whistling swan in the Philadelphia Zoo. The prospective mate escaped from a baggage car in Bethlehem, Pa., and was killed by a taxi.

The new arrival is a gift from William Smith of Lyndonville, N.Y., who raises swans.

Couple in Court After Seventeen Years of Silence

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (U) — A couple who have not spoken in 17 years though under the same roof until last year, and who communicated through the surviving nine of their 17 children, are in Divorce Court here.

John Barros, 69, an ex-restaurateur, and his wife, Virginia, about 65, who has lived in Sun Valley, Calif., the past year, stopped talking in 1939 after she brought suit for legal separation. A Superior Court judge then, after hearing the couple protest their love, ordered that Barros be allowed a room in his home, but not interfere with his wife.

Wednesday, Judge Fred B. Perkins continued the divorce action in Superior Court until Sept. 13.

Hopes to Return German Assets

Ike Will Give Congress Plan for Restoration of Wartime Seizures

WASHINGTON (U) — The White House said a plan for equitable return of German assets seized during World War II will be submitted to Congress early in its next session beginning Jan. 1.

A statement said it is hoped that a final solution of the Japanese assets problem also will be worked out in time for presentation to the next session of Congress.

Seized German and Japanese war assets are estimated at about 295 million dollars. German assets account for 541 million of this with the remainder Japanese.

The statement said: "In order to reflect the historic American policy of maintaining the sanctity of private property even in wartime, the administration intends as a matter of priority to submit to the Congress, early in the coming session, a supplementary plan."

"It is contemplated that this plan would provide for the payment in full of all legitimate war claims of Americans against Germany and would permit, as an act of grace, an equitable monetary return to former owners of vested assets."

"Subject to the applicable provisions of law, the present program of liquidation vested assets will be completed at the earliest possible time."

The statement added that it is hoped that it will also be possible to work out a final solution of the Japanese vested assets problem for presentation to the next session of Congress.

Presidential Press Secretary James Hagerty said the statement "speaks for itself" and should be regarded as a statement of intention by the Eisenhower administration.

Pontiac Man Sentenced on Slaying Charge

WILLIE THOMAS, 34, of 22 Beaudette St., was sentenced yesterday to from 1½ to 15 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson on a charge of second degree murder.

Thomas shot Austin O'Dell, 41, of the same address, May 11 during an argument over which of the two would purchase alcoholic beverages for a party.

Sentence was imposed by Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick.

Cavalry Rides Again

EL RENO, Okla. (U) — Fifty-six horsemen here dressed like the old U. S. Cavalry to participate in a charge against an Indian village during a ceremony.

The riders had the same equipment as the old Cavalry except for one extra detail—foam rubber saddle pads to make it easier riding.

Widows and widowers comprise about 10 per cent of the door-to-door sales persons in the United States.

Pots, Pans Made More Convenient

NEW YORK (INS)—The pots and pans makers are interested in you for your money, madam, but they do try to give you convenience for your cash.

Lately they have been sympathizing with your storage problem, and the difficulties of jamming a store window's worth of new work saving gadgets into a small, scaled-down modern kitchen.

HANG THEM UP

The result is a line of pans with holes, loops and such to enable you to take advantage of your wall and back-of-door space. The idea is you hang your pans up out of the way, without stuffing them into the back of the oven where you can never easily find what you want.

This is particularly important these days with more people doing an increased amount of baking.

Of course, modern women don't make cakes like grandmas—they make them with all variety of speedy mixes that take the guesswork and the hardwork out of baking. But the quick mixes bring about another problem—the recipes often call for a specific size pan.

Vast Progress Already Made in Cutting Mortality Rates

Our Children Can Be Still Healthier, Longer-Lived

In few areas of national health has the United States made greater strides in the last 50 years than in the health and welfare of its children. But there still is room for improvement, for many infants and children still die needlessly. In the following article a noted statistician and health and welfare consultant to the Institute of Life Insurance, discusses what has been done and remains to be done.

By DR. LOUIS I. DUBLIN

NEW YORK (INS)—The health and welfare of American children today represents one of the most extraordinary success stories of all time.

No area of public health has shown more substantial advances in the last half-century than in infancy and childhood.

Looking back at the record at the beginning of this century we find conditions that can only be characterized as gross "wastage" of children. Generally speaking, 160 children out of every 1,000 did not survive their first year of life.

In fact, there were places where infant mortality rates were over 200 per 1,000—which meant that one out of five of these newborns did not live out the year.

VERY HAZARDOUS

The pre-school period, from the first to fifth year, was once also extremely hazardous. Although the death rate dropped as children grew older, it was still high at 20 per 1,000 at the turn of the century.

Those from 5 to 14 years of age did much better; the mortality rate in this group was registered at about 4 per 1,000 in 1900.

The high mortality in these first 15 years of life had a tragic effect on the state of health of the entire nation, and a corresponding depressing effect on the length of life of the citizens as a whole. The challenge to the nation was obvious.

That challenge at the beginning of the century was met head-on. Since then, infant mortality has declined over 80 per cent, having dropped from 160 deaths per 1,000 to under 30 per 1,000.

The decline for the pre-school years has been almost 95 per cent, with the mortality rate dropping from 20 per 1,000 to about 1 per 1,000. At ages 5 to 14, mortality has declined about 87 per cent; the actual death rate today is a fraction of 1 per 1,000.

GREATEST GAIN

Thus the greatest gain in public health has been achieved in the very ages where the "wastage" was greatest.

The larger part of this improvement was accomplished by 1930. This was the period of the most active development of our federal, state and local health facilities.

It is particularly encouraging that these gains have meant better health for both boys and girls, and for both white and Negro children. As a matter of fact, the decline in mortality has been greater among Negro children than among white children.

Credit for these improvements should go to the public health services of our country and to the increasing skill of American physicians in their care of infants and children.

Now should we overlook the valuable services of the voluntary health and welfare associations dedicated to childhood, which have spread their healing influence into every corner of the United States.

NEGLECTIBLE MENACE

The diarrheal diseases, which once constituted the most important single element in the mortality of infants and very young children, have been reduced to negligible proportions.

This is a reflection of the enormous improvement in the feeding of babies, in sanitary facilities and in the more knowledgeable approach to child care by parents and physicians.

Equally striking has been an ever-increasing control over childhood diseases whose treacherous infections spread from child to child, bringing tragedy to many thousands of homes—including such serious ailments as tuberculosis, diphtheria, whooping cough, measles and pneumonia.

Since 1900, among children below the age of 1 year, tuberculosis in all its forms, dropped from 312 deaths per 100,000 to little more than 4 per 100,000. Diphtheria dropped from 132 to 0.2 per 100,000, and measles from 150 to 3 per 100,000. And there have been improvements among the older children, although not quite as sizable as among infants.

NOT ALL SOLVED

But the problems are far from being completely solved.

Although mortality among children in the United States is now very low, compared with other countries, an analysis of the statistics shows that there is still room for improvement.

For example, there has been relatively little change in the hazards which hover about infants in their first week and first month of life. Premature birth and congenital malformations still constitute a major cause of infant mortality, and medical and health experts are now working hard to control these conditions.

Accidents also threaten the health, and often the lives, of young children. From the age of 1 to the age of 14, accidents now have become the first cause of death.

Clearly, much of this wastage of life could be prevented if parents were to cooperate more fully with the safety suggestions of our public health and medical authorities.

To parents, safeguarding the health of their children is a most compelling personal objective. To the nation as a whole, it is just as compelling.

Saving children's lives has a telling effect on the longevity of our people. A life saved in infancy and childhood is one preserved for many years of productivity for the individual, for his family and for our country.

Dem Wives to Be Kept in the Know

Mrs. Keyserling's Program Stresses Issues of the Day

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Leon Keyserling, who has had a long career as a government economist, is planning a program for Democratic wives to help bring the Democrats back in power.

Now in business as a private economics consultant with her husband, who was chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers during the Truman administration, Mrs. Keyserling has taken over chairmanship of the legislative committee of the Women's National Democratic Club.

NINE DISCUSSIONS

She will be in charge of nine different discussion meetings to be held the last Monday of each month when the club season gets under way in September.

"There's more lively interest in the issues of the day than ever before," she says.

"Our members already are well informed but they want to know more. They want to keep abreast of what's going on and be able to discuss the issues intelligently and convincingly."

Some of the issues to be studied and discussed are farm problems, foreign aid, economic development, education and the school bill, power, conservation of natural resources, social security, health and welfare.

WELL TRAINED

The former Mary Dublin of New York, Mrs. Keyserling attended Barnard College and did graduate work at the London School of Economics and Columbia University.

After five years as economics professor at Sarah Lawrence College she served as executive director of the National Consumers League. In 1940 she became coordinator of hearings for the House Committee on National Defense Migration.

She served a year with Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt in charge of civilian services with the Office of Civil Defense and, in 1946, became chief of the Liberated Areas Division of the Foreign Economics Administration.

From 1946 to 1953 she was chief of the International Economics Analysis Division, Department of Commerce.

A CHARMING HOME

The Keyserlings met in 1940 while he was serving as deputy administrator of the Housing Administration.

In Washington they have a charming home overlooking Rock Creek Park where they nurture a garden of flowers and shrubs and "keep up a running battle with rabbits." They also have a home at Beaufort, N. C.

Sept. 6 Bride Lists Attendants

Charlene Simmons has announced her bridal attendants. Beverly Simmons will serve as her sister's maid of honor. Another sister, Carol Simmons; Carmen Rollman, the prospective bridegroom's sister; Joyce Combs and Yvonne Schuermann will be the bridesmaids.

Charlene will become the bride of Richard Rollman on Sept. 6. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Simmons of Crescent Lake road.

Loving Wish to Help Out Sets Off In-Law Friction

generations in, say, the Irish and Italian families, is the exception with Americans, Lindemann says.

Take the young wife who frets, "What kind of man have I married, who can't get along on his own?" When her first baby arrives, however, she welcomes her own mother's help—only to grow anxious if she stays around long.

Another complaint is "spoiling" the grandchildren. Understandably, Lindemann says, "Grandparents would give anything to enjoy such an intimacy with growing children as they once had, and overindulge."

COMPROMISE HELPS
Like most conflicts, he believes this can be solved by compromise. Help can be extended without hurting the young couple's "independence" if the elders treat them as adults and realize they no longer can "dote" on them as before marriage.

In turn, the young couple must be adult enough to respect their parents' interest in them. "Most of us stand a good chance of becoming in-laws ourselves some day."

While James Harrington, president of the North Pontiac Kiwanis Club looks on, Mrs. Robert H. Schmude of North Saginaw street pins a corsage on Mrs. Harrington.

Robert Clark of Moreland avenue, house committee chairman for the occasion, smiles as he escorts Grace Sutton of East Tennyson avenue.

Heim Styles Are Slinky and Cat-like

Parisian Designer Puts Waists High, Skirts Up

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (INS)—Fashions with a cat-like slink were offered by Jacques Heim yesterday. They are high-waisted and short-skirted to just below the knee.

Suit jackets either end abruptly at the waist or are very long, almost like morning coats. Most are décolleté, with stand-offish necklines, often filled in with a fur scarf.

LEOPARD AND LEATHER

To go with a beige kidskin sheath dress there is a leopard coat lined with the same leather. Lamb coats dyed to neon-bright red or blue shades are lined to match the dress beneath.

Heim calls his new fashions "shallow waisted and leggy." Like other Paris dressmakers, Heim used black liberally this season, but he also goes for brown in a spicy shade considerably darker than the creamed chestnut and tawny tan of earlier shows.

Coats and jackets are often double-breasted and buttoned in two rows. There are nine-tenths length coats with fur linings, worn loose over sheaths.

FLAT, LOOSE PANEL
Some models are fitted at the waist in front, but fall in a flat, loose panel behind. Others have all the fullness gathered to the skirt back.

Necklines are usually of the shallow, shoulder-to-shoulder variety. Many cocktail and formal numbers are low and strapless or bare-backed. Satin bows are popular here, as everywhere this season.

Two popular skirts for short or long formal are ruched lampshades, and diagonally tiered sheaths that might be compared to mummy-wrapping except that the waist is generally slack.

There are again a few ankle-length sheaths dropping floor-length or trailing panels behind.

Hemline Rates Second

Dior Puts Waist First

By NOBA MARTIN

PARIS (INS)—Christian Dior today put skirt hem problems in second place and gave top fashion priority and significance to waist treatment in his new "Spindle Line."

In an exclusive question and answer interview with International News Service, the famed designer indicated that, for him, at least it's the waist that makes the news this season.

The questions and answers follow:

Q. Do you think that 1958 elegance is a question of skirt length, waistline or belt, or can it be expressed in fabrics in new styles?

A. This time elegance is expressed by the new waist style and the new line in which dresses fall (often unbroken) from the shoulders to the hemline.

Q. What does your femme ideale look like?

A. A spindle.

Q. Which outfits in your collection (suits, dresses, cocktail styles or evening gowns) are most significant fashion-wise?

A. Day dresses in the spindle line and cocktail gowns which evoke the 18th century.

Q. What's your definition of elegance for next winter?

A. For daytime, I recommend clothes that are simple, almost austere.

For late day and evening, dresses that are extremely feminine and which this season are often inspired by 18th century costumes.

Q. Are you launching a specific new color for winter?

A. No, no specific color. I like all colors, except yellow and purple.

Q. Will a woman be well-dressed and look Parisian when wearing black? Should she have at least one black dress in her winter wardrobe?

A. Black is a perfectly safe color for daytime, but I love color for late day and evening wear. Of course, any woman should have at least one black dress.

Shower Honors Julianne Dean

Mrs. William J. Dean, Mrs. Charles R. Dean and Mrs. William J. Dean Jr., hosted a bridal shower for Julianne Dean at the William Dean home on Ottawa drive. Twenty-six guests were present for the Monday evening affair.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dean of Whittemore street, and the prospective bridegroom, Lloyd B. Collier, is the son of Mrs. Estel DeMille of Drayton Plains. The couple will be wed Sept. 7 in St. Vincent de Paul Church.

Serving on the program committee were Dick Minewasser, Robert Schmude, Joe Spencer and Horace Hatfield, past president.

INS Staff Writer

In-law clashes often stem ironically from a loving heart's desire to help the offspring—and their offspring.

When grandpop wants to give the juniors an automobile or a down-payment on a house, he usually figures, "It took me 40 years to get where I am. Why not give the kids a lift when they can use it?"

Few young couples deny they "can use it" but some ponder: "How can we feel free to live our own lives under such obligation? It gives him a 'hold' on us, a 'voice' in our affairs."

CRITICAL PERIOD

Dr. Erich Lindemann, Harvard University professor of psychiatry, calls this a critical period of adjustment on both sides. He says:

"Our young American people are very sensitive about continuing their dependence on the parents. They have a powerful drive of upward mobility and feel they're expected to surpass the previous generation."

'Temptation for Doctors to Exploit the People'

Socialized Medicine Fails to Attract Young America

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Socialized medicine, holds no great attraction for American youth.

Nearly 6 out of every 10 youngsters we contacted in a nationwide survey wanted no part of it. Slightly more than 3 out of 10 thought the government should step in and finance medical services. The rest had no opinion.

The figures favoring socialized medicine were heavily swelled by the female vote. More than 46 per cent of the girls were against it, but only slightly less, 42 per cent, favored it.

Among the boys, the vote was 63 per cent against it, 24 per cent for it.

Youth had its own reasons for opposing the system of socialized medicine now operating in Great Britain and advocated by some and damned by others on this side of the ocean.

MEDIOCRE DOCTORS

Socialized medicine, claimed an 18-year-old girl in St. Hilo, Hawaii, "would benefit only mediocre doctors."

A Pittsburgh lad of the same age said it would offer "less incentive to be a doctor and therefore the doctors would not be as good."

In a similar vein, 15-year-old Diane Olmer of New Haven, Conn., thought that with the government in control of medical services, the caliber of doctors emerging from our medical schools would suffer.

"There is a strong possibility," she said, "of their not receiving the full amount of education necessary."

Thomas Giles of Worcester, would offer a "temptation for doctors to exploit the people with a take it or leave it attitude."

Although a variety of reasons were given, the majority of those opposed to government - provided medical care agreed with an 18-year-old Michigan boy who denounced it as a "tendency leading strongly to socialism."

HIGH FEES CRITICIZED
On the opposite side of the ledger, the minority faction also had its reasons. High fees led the list.

"Some doctors charge too much and some people can't afford it," charged 14-year-old June Hirsch of Detroit.

The medical profession got the needle from quite a few other proponents of socialized medicine.

Carol Kornblum of Brooklyn insisted government medicine would result in better medicine. "People would be healthier," she explained, "and more research could be done."

A Connecticut lad thought in terms of security. "I'd want my family protected in case our income got cut off for any reason. Socialized medicine would solve the main problems."

FAMILIAR COMPLAINT

A New Jersey lass echoed the familiar complaint, "We certainly ought to get some value from our tax money."

By approximately the same overall margin of 6 to 3, young people also voiced their opposition to socialized legal and other professional service.

Again the girls, with 39 per cent in favor and 44 per cent against, helped bring up the minority score.

The arguments ran a similar course to those stated for and against socialized medicine, with quality of service and high fees taking the lead in the opposing camps.

The "for" group was represented by Terry Drager of Washington, D.C., who insisted that "everyone should have an equal chance at any professional services they might require."

GOVERNMENT CONTROL

A 16-year-old girl, who gave her first name as Irene but withheld her last name, summed up the majority opinion with the argument that "once legal and other services are government supported and socialized, we are in for one big government-controlled country with democracy a thing-of-the-past."

A 19-year-old Pittsburgh boy had a more personal reason. He stated simply that he opposed socialized medicine "because father is a doctor."

Slightly more than half of the teenagers queried were against the government giving financial aid to medical and other professional students, even if in the long run it meant lower fees.

"Students should enter medical school not because the government is paying but because they want to," answered a 16-year-old girl who voted with the majority.

Michael Leslie, an 18-year-old pre-med student put it this way. "If Uncle Sam paid for everything, no one would appreciate the training or work as diligently to succeed in his chosen field."

Speaking for the 36 per cent minority faction, a 16-year-old girl argued that "some people have the ability for the professional careers but not the finances."

Solves 'Weighty' Problems

Less Food Cuts Calories

Your "weighty" problems may be that midnight snack or the morning coffee and doughnut break; they may be adding pounds to your figure.

If this has happened to you, it's time to take a look at your diet and see whether you are eating more food than you actually need for energy. A reliable weight table will tell you the average weight for your particular age, height and body build. Medical authorities agree that weight of 5 to 10 per cent above this figure is normal, but that anything higher is overweight.

Overweight most often is a result of eating more than you need. Tempting TV commercials and colorful magazine ads constantly urge Americans to buy and use more food. Friends invite you over "for a little snack;" you discuss business matters over the luncheon table; and the labor-saving devices provide you with less physical work than your grandmothers had to tackle.

It is that "little extra" that is causing many of the weight problems. The simple solution is to eat less food. This does not mean starvation. You must eat foods which will give you enough proteins, minerals and vitamins to maintain your health, but at the same time, you need to reduce the number of foods which add mostly calories to your diet.

The main criterion for losing weight is will-power; you must make up your mind to lose weight or you will never be able to do it. Once you have made up your mind, check with your doctor; he will help you decide how much to lose.

The next step is to follow a sane and sensible diet. This means that you must choose a diet which is low enough in calories to force the body to use up the extra stored fat but high enough in calories so that you may continue your usual routine without feeling tired.

Of course, your diet must be adequate in proteins, minerals and vitamins. If you include a wide variety of foods which you may distribute over three meals, it will lessen the monotony. To keep the weight off, you must develop new food habits and plan your menus so that you will not be tempted to cheat.

Your efforts will be rewarded. Not only will you be more attractive, but also your health will be improved. Overweight people are subject to such diseases as diabetes, high blood pressure, heart disorders, arthritis and kidney ailments.

When you are deciding how much to lose, remember that you cannot safely lose weight overnight. Flabby muscles, wrinkles and actual illness may result from a too rapid reducing program. If you can take off one or two pounds a week it will be safer and you will not feel so hungry.

Only one person—you—can take off those unwanted pounds. Do so by following a sane and sensible reducing diet with one eye on the scale and the other on the full-length mirror.

There's no reason why a washable coat shouldn't be laundered as often as need be—just as you suds your dresses and accessories.

The little runabout coat looks right for town or country now for temperatures not cold enough for the "big winter coat."

Last year it was the car coat and before that the boy coat. Each year more women and girls find that a wardrobe isn't complete without one of these little coats. There's a softer look to the little runabout coat this fall.

Turn Bad Breaks to Good Ones

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Remember the fairy tales about the alchemists, the men who could change old, cheap metal into gold? What a fascinating idea that is, being able to make your own gold with magic!

I thought of it recently, when my son was working on his chemistry set, trying to see if he could figure a kind of successful alchemy.

ONE BAD BREAK

Suddenly I realized that while we can't change tin into gold, we can certainly change bad breaks into good ones. Some of the richest and happiest people I know, owe their success to one bad break which started them on the way.

These people are the real alchemists. Two other alchemists I know are Eileen Tyrell, who is secretary-treasurer of a company called Tycoon Typists, and her boss, Shepherd Spink.

It all began when the company for which they were working folded and they found themselves without jobs.

TYPING SERVICE

They decided to start a typing service for companies which needed help occasionally, at peak periods, but didn't want to hire workers permanently. Mr. Spink was to sell the service and Eileen would do the actual typing, in the beginning.

That was in January of this year.

Now Tycoon Typists has four full-time salesmen and more typists than I could count—if you include the ones who work evenings and spare times. They have all kinds of good companies for customers, and business is booming.

Moreover, their staff includes older women.

If they are really good and fast and smart," said Eileen, "we honestly don't care how old they are."

The sales staff includes a couple of men who have long since been retired and who do a wonderful job. In fact, it was one of them, Mr. Carter, who first told me about Tycoon Typists Service.

OFFERED NEW JOB

The payoff is that in April last, just a few months after the big bad blow, Mr. Spink was offered a wonderful job at a big company. He took it, but still kept his interest in Tycoon Typists, with Eileen in charge.

Cynics and pessimists may say, "Some people have all the luck," and let it go at that.

But I know better. Some people react to bad blows with a negative, bitter and complaining philosophy, so the bad blows defeat them. Other people react to the same bad blows with a positive, cheerful and active philosophy and turn them to gold.

It's as simple as that! And the world is full of proof of it, to a person who keeps his eyes open.

Don't Return From Trips Minus Cash

Vacations would be wonderful if you didn't get back home broke. This is a common plight of the returning vacationer, but, say the nation's bankers, it needn't be so. Bank statisticians note that $5 million Americans will spend more than 12 billion dollars on holidays this year. And those are figures big enough to arouse the keen interest of bankers, who have got together and issued the following tips on how to have a carefree but solvent vacation:

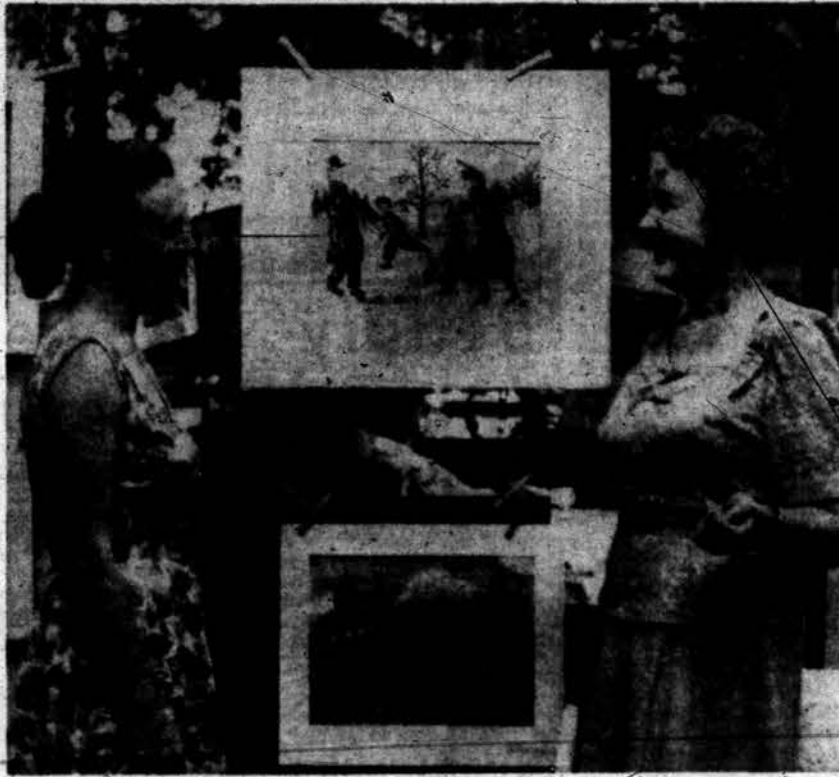

1. If you haven't enough money for the trip you want, you can get a vacation loan at your bank.
2. It's more foresighted to start saving for your vacation a year ahead, working out a vacation plan, which banks also will handle, just as they do Christmas savings clubs.
3. Don't carry large sums of cash while traveling. Travelers' checks are safer — if they're stolen or lost, you don't lose the money.
4. It's a comfortable feeling to carry a letter of credit from your bank, in case you run out of funds in a strange place. This certifies your credit up to a certain amount, and makes a great difference in the attitude of creditors.
5. Don't leave valuables lying around the house while you are away. You can store jewelry, furs and paintings in bank vaults.
6. Some banks will help you plan your trip and make reservations for you.
7. Before you leave, make a vacation checklist so you'll remember to stop milk deliveries, arrange for lawn care, leave a light burning and notify police to keep an eye on your home while you're away.

Shower Given for Bride-Elect Karen Newton

Bride-elect Karen Newton was honored at a miscellaneous shower given Wednesday evening at the YWCA. Cohostesses for the affair were Virginia Flath, Delores Parker and Mrs. Joe Hicks.

Karen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Newton of Williams Lake road, will exchange vows with Larry Cates Saturday evening in First Congregational Church. Larry is the son of Mrs. Blanche Cates of Barkman drive.

Mrs. Newton and Mrs. Cates were among the 80 guests attending the shower. A pink and white decorative theme was used throughout the hall and in the table appointments.

Mrs. John Houston (left) of Glenwood avenue entertained Oakland County Chapter of International League for Peace and Freedom Tuesday. A project of the league is Art for World Friendship, which features an international exchange of children's art. Mrs. Fredrick Muller, international chairman of Art for World Friendship, was a guest of the local chapter.

Shampoo Know-How Pays Off

Clear-Headed Gal Has Shiny Hair

Wash that soot right out of your hair and start off with a clear head.

The carelessly washed scalp is likely to look like a clogged up smoke stack at close inspection. Run your fingernails through your hair and see if you don't pick up a little grit for your trouble, usually the result of those hurried shampoos when for some reason or another the hair is not rinsed properly, removing soapy deposits.

The film may accumulate from shampoo to shampoo until the residue adds up to clogged pores that interfere with the beauty of the hair itself. It is more difficult to set and to keep a wave in place if the hair is not kept clean.

Some soaps and shampoos do not give tresses the fresh fragrance and sheen needed, because they are difficult to rinse out. The last rinse water should be crystal clear if you've done a good job of shampooing.

A good shampoo is devised with the idea in mind of creating a lot of suds and ending with clear water, even if the water is hardened with minerals, chemicals or purifiers.

The shampoo is put into the palm of the hand and applied to a wet head. Fingertips are used to work the shampoo through the hair gently till every last strand is covered with suds.

Then a clear rinse is given to remove oil and grime-bearing suds.

WASH AGAIN

A second lather is recommended so that grit that has been imbedded in the scalp may be stirred up and removed with the second rinse that should give sought-after sparkle to locks.

When you brush out your locks, you should be delighted with the soft clean look and rich sheen, the result of two good cleanings and two rinses.

It's a good idea however to make it a practice to wash comb and brush at the same time the hair is shampooed. Many girls who spend a good deal of time on their hair grooming are likely to neglect hair brush and comb.

Murphys to Go West for Wedding

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS
Leaving to attend the Aug. 10 marriage of their son, Charles Michael Murphy, are Mr. and Mrs. C. Thorne Murphy, who will fly to Colorado Springs Aug. 8.

Mike will be married in the chapel of the University of Colorado to Kay Servatius, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Servatius of Colorado Springs. The ceremony will be a double affair as Kay's sister, Helen, will be married at the same time to Jack Davis Gray. Mike has been living in California. Four of his best friends from Grosse Pointe will go West to serve as ushers. They are Richard P. Joy III, Bill Howenstein, Murray Sales II and David Cudlip.

With the parents of Mr. Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will give the rehearsal dinner next Friday evening.

Will-O-Way Stages Play for Family

'Loud Red Patrick' Offers Wholesome Comedy Situations

In 1912 not many girls went to college. And in 1912 many girls were engaged at 17. What happens when a father who has fought his way up from poverty and illiteracy to wealth and leisured living clashes with young love is the plot of "The Loud Red Patrick" by John Boruff.

This comedy is the current offering at Will-O-Way Playhouse on West Long Lake road.

Resembling in many ways the blustering, domineering father in "Life With Father," William Smith as Patrick Finnigan, shouts, threatens and storms his way through three acts.

The father of four motherless daughters, he has sold them on the idea that they make all major decisions via a family council. What happens when a council vote on the important subject of Maggie's marriage goes against him makes for good theater.

Joan Stanley who appeared earlier this season in "Desk Set" plays the role of the oldest daughter. Her sisters are Janet Simpson, Marce and Starr, whose father, Bill Merrill, directs all the Will-O-Way productions, handle their parts with all the aplomb of veterans.

WOMAN HATER
Paul Caplan, who in 1956 played the part of the wine imbibing Uncle Louis in "The Happy Time," plays another slightly inebriated character, Mr. Finnegan. A woman hater, his pronouncements on and ways with women are amusing.

In sharp contrast to the part he played last in "Bus Stop," Danny Simpson is the stuttering, embarrassed suitor for Maggie's hand.

The period setting and the costumes add authenticity to the play. Mr. Finnegan's suit will never be forgotten by any who have ever seen it.

This latest Will-O-Way offering is a family play. It is a pleasant change from the usual offering, the sophisticated, brittle comedy. It's an evening of good clean fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Washburne Wright of Woodlake drive and "Ping" Wright spent last weekend in Lexington, Ky., at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Combs II.

Ping will go East next week. She has just graduated from Hollins College in Virginia and plans to attend an art school in New York this winter.

Mrs. Wright's daughter, Thomasina Townsend, will arrive later in August from Mexico where she has been spending the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Hall (Betty Ann Piggett of Detroit) announce the birth of twin sons, William and Stephen, July 22.

NORTHERN VACATION
Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Swanson of Lone Pine road are spending a fortnight at Menomqua Beach Club, Harbor Springs.

Mrs. Robert L. Graham Jr. entertained at a cocktail party Sunday for volunteer workers and the staff of Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Plates Reduce Litter
Children's desks sometimes look like the little ones are practicing to become expert litterbugs. If this is the case in your household, try getting in a supply of paper plates for the child. Paper plates are fine for holding modeling clay, stamp collections, paint brushes, pencils or anything else he might be collecting.

Take Toys Along
Favorite toys and books come in handy when plane traveling with your youngsters. By stowing these items in your flight bag and handing them out at intervals, you prevent the children from becoming restless and bothering you or other passengers.

For Favorite Bride-to-Be

'Beauty' Shower Unusual, Useful

If you are planning to give a bridal shower for a close friend, chances are you're losing sleep trying to figure out how you can make it just a little out of the ordinary.

She's probably received enough lingerie and household appliances to last several years, and a stack of linens tall enough to hide behind. Of course these gifts are useful, but if you'd like to do something just a trifle different, why not give your favorite bride a "beauty" shower?

It will be difficult for her to perform her regular beauty routine after she is married, for she'll want to look her best at all times for her new husband.

There are a number of items that will help her cut down the time she must devote to beauty and enable her to look attractive while she goes through the preliminary steps to glamor. And there's no doubt that any of these products would make a welcome shower gift.

As the shower hostess, you might set the stage by selecting as your gift a combination bathroom vanity table and clothes hamper. Since the hamper opens with a door at the front, it will be an excellent container for the other shower gifts. Attractively trimmed, it will give a festive air to the occasion.

No girl minds running around in pin curls in front of her family. But she'll certainly want to get her hair set over as quickly as possible if her pin-curl audience is her new husband. And for that reason, she'll greet with joy a portable hair dryer. Many of the new home dryers cut short the entire process to just about 30 minutes.

There are a host of aids for long-shampooing that would make useful gifts—eye goggles with clear plastic lenses and terry-cloth rims, plastic shampoo capes that can double for makeup jobs, and even a shampoo tray.

The working bride will love to relax in a warm, sudsy bath if the tub is outfitted with a sectional bath tray which will hold her manicuring set, face creams, and even magazines. Most of these trays come with a large detachable mirror.

Another excellent gift could be a plastic strip of roomy pouches, shaped like an elongated shoe bag, filled with gay-colored rubber sponges, a rubber backwisher, etc. This is a handy gadget to hang near the shower nozzle.

There are any number of delightful beauty aids, both pretty and utilitarian, which can be obtained for a "beauty shower." And there isn't a bride-to-be who won't be charmed and pleased with the things you have given to make her shower an unusual one.

She Wants to Go Along on Vacation

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Two friends of mine are planning on taking a trip to the West Coast when they get their vacations. We have always been very close friends and I am surprised and disappointed that they did not ask me to go with them."

"I would very much love to go with them and can very easily take my vacation when they do. Would it be proper to ask if I may go along? Have you any suggestions as to how I could bring up the subject without causing embarrassment for any of us in case they don't want me?"

Answer: I don't think you can ask them outright if you can go along with them, but you can let them know how much you too wish you were going on such a trip, and if they can include you in their plans they will in all probability suggest that you join them.

If they don't, don't take it as a personal affront because as most people who have tried traveling in a group of three have discovered, it is a very awkward number.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I have been having an argument on the correct way to eat vegetables such as carrots, string beans, etc. I always spear them with the prongs of the fork. He claims that this is not the correct way to eat them and that they should be scooped up rather than speared. Will you please tell us who is right?"

Answer: If the carrots are cut in bite-sized pieces, you would be right. But in eating the other vegetables you mention, your husband is right.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My husband's mother, who lives in a distant city, is planning to visit my husband and me shortly. She plans to stay about a month. If my husband and I should receive invitations to dinner or other parties during her visit, must we decline them if she is not invited too, or may we go and leave her at home?"

Answer: You may go to an occasional party to which she has not been invited, but to do so often would be cruel.

Why Grow Old?

Health Habits Tell in Later Life

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
I do not mean to take the joy out of life for you but rather to add to it and therefore I wonder if you have any idea how many serious physical troubles can be traced to poor health habits over the years?

Also, many of the dragging, irritating, small but unpleasant disabilities can be placed at the door of unhygienic living, indulged in over a long period of time.

There is almost as great a difference between truly good health and fair health as there is between fair health and illness. The rules and habits which might lift you from the fatigue of good health to the heady pep of good health seem so simple that they are usually disregarded.

Here are a few of them:

1. Worry less.
2. Laugh more.
3. Keep your interest in outdoor sports but scale them to your age and capability.
4. Take short rest periods daily whenever possible.
5. Eat in a relaxed mood without hurry.
6. Eat a well-balanced diet.
7. Get enough sleep.
8. Improve your posture.
9. Increase your interests.
10. Exercise daily.
11. Have yearly or semi-yearly physical checkups, depending on your age and condition.
12. Forget destructive age consciousness and live vibrantly in the present.

Even the addition of a few of these suggestions applied to your daily lives will make a great difference. If you stick to a routine of this sort for a few weeks I think you will be happily rewarded.

They are within the reach of everyone. Stunning results in figure and complexion and energy and happiness will result.

Tomorrow: "Falling Hair, Circles May Indicate Illness."

Percolate Pot Clean

A clean coffee pot is half the battle in making coffee. Percolate a mixture of baking soda and water occasionally. Then rinse well. However, aluminum coffeemakers use a special cleaner.

It is important and just good sense to have a physical check-up at least once a year.

California Educator Warns That College Isn't Intended for All

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — College is not for every child, but failure to provide higher education for the gifted students who would become leaders can seriously hurt the nation.

Those are the opinions of Dr. Elmer R. Noble, acting provost at the University of California's Santa Barbara College.

"We are only now beginning to see the damage we have done in elementary schools through failure to provide suitable stimulus for the exceptional student," he says.

MAY BE REPEATED

"Unless we guard ourselves against it, we will repeat the same error in our college education, as increasing numbers of mediocre students compel us to neglect the gifted student more and more."

He feels overemphasis on the universal value of college experience can create false values. Non-college experiences are often valuable to the mediocre student while a low level of activity in college may spoil him for any kind of work.

"This also is a serious loss for the nation," Dr. Noble says.

In education, he explains, the American equality of education has been interpreted to mean "equality of opportunity for all who are capable; not, as some have carelessly and sentimentally put it, a universal college for all."

Dr. Noble points out that in the privacy of our lives we may admit that our children are not the most intelligent or the most capable.

"But, by George, as taxpayers we feel that our children should be allowed to enter the state university," he comments.

"We are insulted when told there are junior colleges and other tax-supported colleges which have been partially designed to take on all students regardless of their scholastic records."

FEWER TEACHERS

trend will result in fewer and fewer qualified teachers for larger and larger student bodies. College enrollments are expected to double by 1970.

"Never before has there been a greater need for educated leaders," he cautions. "In our zeal to produce numbers, we must not jeopardize the opportunities of our most talented group by diluting the institutions of higher education with youth of inferior ability and less dedicated interest."

A college education costs about $12,000. Just from the point of investment, Dr. Noble says, it is not worth it for the "average mediocre high school student."

Not more than 20 per cent of our high school graduates possess the intellectual ability, serious ambition and adequate preparation for college, he claims.

Ironing Board Has Extra Set of Wheels

Another set of wheels has been added to the latest ironing board, a metal model that adjusts to a woman's height when sitting or standing.

With two sets of wheels on the rear leg of the board, a woman can roll the board edgewise for storage without having to pick it up and can move the board when using different sections without lifting.

The board adjusts between 24 and 36 inches off the floor and is equipped with a device that prevents it from wobbling while ironing.

Steaming People Are More Likely to Jeer Than Cheer

It's Bad Time to Glorify Repairmen

BY PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK (INS)—Today is Aug. 1, and the beginning of "Plumbing, Heating and Cooling Month." Already one can hear a sizzle of excitement (or is it that busted air-conditioner again?) in the air.

Personally, I do not object to commemorating the multitudinous services of the plumbers, heaters and air-conditioners of the land.

In fact, after many years' acquaintance with soggy drips and clogged drains, I am the first to offer my congratulations to whatever friendly faced stranger I may spy emerging from my bathroom.

However, I do think that whoever dreamed up Plumbing, Heating, Cooling Month—and put it smack in the middle of summer, when the plumbers are up in Canada being sensible, while the air-conditioners are out of kilter being incorrigible—had the mind of a masochist.

From the torture many of my air-conditioned neighbors have been suffering this particularly sticky season, what with the units crumpling under the heat and the tenants following thereafter, it seems quite possible that this month may set a new record for commemorative cussing.

It is not that I, myself, am bitter, hardly. I have casement windows which require a major financial operation to remove and replace for an air-conditioner. Better to be damp than destitute, I always say.

But others are not so fortunate.

And I've heard tell that a combination of high temperature, high humidity and high-priced servicemen has raised havoc and tempers in the best hot houses in town.

It seems that about half the population has over soaked air-conditioning units which badly need servicing and meanwhile aren't being very cooling—leaving their owners hot under the collar, as well as elsewhere.

The other half of the population literally is crying to buy new air-conditioners, appearing sag-eyed at factories and warehouses, demanding immediate installation to stem their blood, sweat and tears.

Servicemen mean as they talk to you on the phone. So do salesmen. They say they're overworked, with dozens of thousands of requests.

(Jaundiced homeowners may think they're also overpaid, as no hints of financial bonuses for speedy service seem to make the slightest impression on voices that mumble: "Okay, I'll get there soon.")

SEASONAL DUTIES

It boils down to the fact that a large number of appliance and service companies employ repairmen whose duties are seasonal. In winter, the bulk of their work is tending sick television sets, and in the summer, it's air-conditioners.

In wicked weather like this, it figures that July and August are by far the most hectic months, because that is when help is most urgently needed—and the most difficult to tender.

So when they designate August as the month to celebrate the saviors of the bolluxed home,

Old Fiji War Relics Need 'Delousing'

SUVA, Fiji—Discovery of three unexploded 325-pound American "depth bombs" near Suva, Fiji, recently caused a slight panic among shipping men. The Laucala Bay-Nuco 'Buco passage area was closed until the bombs could be "deloused."

They probably were dropped from a Catalina during World War II—one accidentally, the other two in an effort to explode the first. New Zealand airmen stationed at Laucala Bay found them while spear-fishing. The bombs' fins and fuses were still complete.

Detroit Gets Stuck

DETROIT (AP)—Chewing gum apparently isn't the answer to the financial problems of the Detroit Street Railway. Gum machines installed on 15 city buses dispensed on 9,830 sticks of gum at a penny a stick in a five-week trial. The city's cut was $14.75.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

When it comes to professional sports it's performance and not the press clippings which change the dollar sign figures on the contract.

Since joining the Lions the numerals on Leon Hart's contract have been subtracted instead of added. The feeling is that the 6-foot-5, 250-pound fullback-end was not playing up to his potential.

So you see, three years of All-America honors at Notre Dame, the Heisman trophy, the Maxwell trophy and even the 1936 honor as one of Detroit's best dressed men hasn't added another figure to the salary for Hart.

One thing is certain in Leon's favor however as evidenced from the fans at Briggs Stadium last season. They loved to see him carry the ball.

PREP COACHES TO MEET

There are 36 high schools in Oakland County and another dozen near the county lines, yet we would venture to say that there isn't a prep coach who knows at least 50 per cent of his contemporaries.

Members of the press and radio, for the sake of better coverage, are also interested in meeting all the coaches.

For this reason, and also for the opportunity of watching the Lions at a practice session, the coaches and the scribes will get together at Cranbrook, August 20th.

Afterward, an informal dinner gathering at the Pontiac Elks is slated, with some of the Lions as guests.

The dinner cost is two-bucks per coach. It could be an annual affair for the coaches if they respond.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

Visitor at the Lions' opening session at Cranbrook Tuesday was Spike Briggs, looking free of worry and a few pounds lighter. "Who said Leon Hart didn't report to camp?" someone asked during the photo session Tuesday. Sitting in the stands was young Leon, Jr., age 7. Pontiac Speedway manager Dick Dewey said he has definitely quit the job. Nothing has been heard about a successor.

HI, HO — SEWELL — Rugged Texan Harley Sewell (66) gives 245-pounds of protection to Hopalong Cassidy when the shifty Lions' back comes galloping through the line. This is the 5th season for Sewell and the second for "Hoppy." The 10-gallon hats are just the props for the picture.

"TLL BE A LION" — Put them together and the year is 1937. That's when 8-year-old Jerry Folk of Birmingham says he will be playing for the Detroit Lions who are now working out at Cranbrook. Jerry came out with shoulder pads to talk to Tobin Rote (19) and Dorne Dibble (37).

Tigers Buy Groth

BOSTON (AP) — Johnny Groth, 306 in 1936. In recent years, his batting has steadily declined. He is hitting .263 this year in his role as a pinch hitter and late-inning defensive fill-in.

The Tigers purchased Groth on waivers from Kansas City last night. Since leaving Detroit, the one-time "phenom" has made the grand tour of the American League.

He went to the Browns with Virgil Trucks and Hal White for Bob Nieman, J.W. Porter and Owen Friend. After the Browns moved to Baltimore in 1934, Groth was traded to the Chicago White Sox.

Then his trail took him to Washington and Kansas City. And now he's back with Detroit, where he was a regular for four seasons.

Manager Jack Tighe was expected to put Groth into the lineup in today's game with Boston. The Tigers' outfield is riddled by injuries and Groth's acquisition must be considered an emergency move.

Charlie Maxwell is not ready to return to action and probably won't be for a couple of weeks. Al Kaline, back in the lineup yesterday, was still limping on his injured heel.

Groth has just passed his 31st birthday. He had four fair seasons with Detroit, hitting as high as

Jim Continues to Give Tigers 4th Place Hope

Tall Righthander Gets 13th Victory With 5-3 Win Over Sox

BOSTON (AP) — It's been a year of bitter disappointment for the Detroit Tigers, but it could have been worse—without Jim Bunning.

The lanky, hollow-cheeked right-hander has kept the Detroiters within shouting distance of the first division all season. When things were grim and the Bengals needed a stopper to end a losing streak, Bunning was ready and available.

Again yesterday Bunning got the call and put a stop to Detroit's two-game skid with a 5-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox. So the Tigers were back at the .500 mark today, a half game behind the fourth-place Cleveland Indians, as they ended their three-game series with the Sox.

Bunning, who returned from the Charleston farm team late last season, won his 13th game of the year. He has only lost three times and is a good bet to be a 20-game winner.

The win over the Sox was not one of Bunning's better performances. He had to be lifted in the eighth inning when Boston threatened. But Harry Byrd put out the fire with a one-hit relief chore over the last 1 1/2 innings to insure Bunning of his fifth straight triumph over the Beantowners in two seasons.

Significantly, it was Al Kaline who was the hitting star. Kaline doubled and singled in his first starting appearance since his crippling heel injury at New York on Friday.

Kaline played left field as manager Jack Tighe took advantage of Fenway Park's short fence to save wear and tear on the outfielder's bad foot.

The Tigers belted 11 hits off starter Willard Nixon, an old nemesis, and his three relievers.

Griff's Moves Into 3rd Place

Griff's Grill moved into 3rd place in the Class A City Baseball League with a 6-2 victory over the Michigan Giants yesterday at Windsor Field.

Don Eren hurled a masterful three-hitter for Griff's and his teammates backed him up with a 10-hit attack on Don Vachon. The Grill nine scored three times in the 1st inning, then matched that number in the 3rd.

Mary Caswell smacked three doubles in three trips to the plate while John Shanks tripped and singled for two RBIs. Jim Moore collected a pair of doubles in defeat.

It was Griff's 8th triumph in 17 starts, half a game better than the Pontiac Jets in their fight for 3rd spot.

Money Talks End, Lions Start Earning Salaries

Talks of contracts and money have simmered down at the Detroit Lions' training camp at Cranbrook and now the 54 players start to work for what they bargained.

Coach Buddy Parker has put the rookies and the veterans together for the twice-daily workouts.

What happens in Leon Hart's case is up to the big fullback. Lion officials claim the next move is up to him.

The Ollie Spencer situation has also cleared up. Green Bay Packers' general manager Verne Lewellen convinced the 245-pound tackle yesterday to report to the Wisconsin training camp.

On the other side of the deal, defensive halfback Val Joe Walker, arrived in camp last night and made his first appearance in a Lion uniform this morning.

Practice sessions will now continue daily at 9:30 and 3:30, with Parker's big concern aimed at the first exhibition game August 14th against the Cleveland Browns in Briggs Stadium.

"We really got started with a tough one this year," said Parker. "The Browns are figured to be the big comeback team this season."

Missing from the workouts are veterans Dave Middleton, and rookies Steve Junker, John Gordy, Terry Barr and a pair of service men, Lew Carpenter and Pat Oleksiak.

Middleton is attending medical school at the University of Tennessee and will not be ready for regular duties until September 14th. He is expected however to fly in for some of the exhibition games.

Basilio Hopes to Knock Sugar Off 'High Horse'

NEW YORK (AP) — Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio has a triple incentive in his middleweight title fight with Ray Robinson at Yankee Stadium, Sept. 23 — the middleweight crown, $200,000 and a desire to knock Robinson "off his high horse."

The 30-year-old ex-marine from Chittenango, N.Y., is a swash-buckling fighter with a real zest for his trade. He dislikes Robinson and never has disguised his feelings. Sugar Ray added coals to the fire in Basilio's mind yesterday when he kept Carmen waiting more than an hour before showing up for the official signing for the battle of champions.

When Robinson finally affixed his signature to the contract, Basilio heaved a deep sigh, and said "at last."

arrive in camp August 10th after the All-Star game. Carpenter, the leading ground gainer for the club during the 1934-35 seasons, will be discharged from the army in September.

Oleksiak, a 195-pound halfback from Tennessee who played one year in Canada before going into the Army is expected to be discharged next week.

In the first cut yesterday, four rookies were dropped. Jim Herman, Detroit sandlotter, Frank Nassida of Eastern Kentucky, Carl Johnson of South Dakota and Dick Reinking of Kansas were put on waiver list.

Lane, Spieser Retain High Ratings in NBA

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Kenney Lane of Muskegon, Mich., and Chuck Spieser of Detroit retained their high rankings in the monthly rating of the National Boxing Assn.

Lane is the No. 1 contender for the lightweight crown held by Joe Brown. Spieser is rated No. 4 contender for champion Archie Moore's light heavyweight title.

Pirate Manager Ejected for Offering Orange Drink

Umpires Have 'Picnic' With Bob Bragan

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Manager Bobby Bragan of Pittsburgh, apparently bent on bringing to a head his running feud with an umpiring team headed by Frank Dascoli, sauntered onto the field during last night's Pirates-Braves game sipping orange soda through a straw.

The stumpy, gum-chewing skipper of the seventh-place Buccos took his unscheduled stroll in the fifth inning minutes after being banished by umpire Stan Landes for holding his nose to show how he felt about one of Landes' calls.

A county stadium crowd of 24,322, at first stunned by Bragan's antics, guffawed as he offered each of the four men in blue a sip from a pint carton of orange drink.

"It was my Major League debut as a clown," Bragan said afterwards in the clubhouse. "I'm fed up with these guys. They won't even listen to a legitimate complaint."

"He's a bushy, a clown and a comedian," Dascoli said heatedly while trying without much success to keep his emotions in check. "By pulling that stunt he vindicates anything that ever happened to him."

It was Bragan's second brush with Dascoli, Landes, Frank Secory and rookie arbiter Bill Baker in as many nights. His first, which occurred Tuesday night when he wired National League president Warren Giles a request that Dascoli's team be "broken up" and absorbed by three other crews, hadn't even run its course.

Before last night's game Bragan, who pulled some zany stunts during his Minor League managerial career such as taking a nap at home plate, said he hadn't received Giles' reply to his telegram.

But, in a statement issued yesterday in Cincinnati, Giles said, "I will tell him we appreciate his interest, but we and not the managers must decide on the makeup of the various umpire teams."

Giles, reached anew at Cincinnati last night after Bragan's soda-sipping act, said, "I'll probably have something to say tomorrow."

Bragan's initial outburst Tuesday night was motivated by two incidents: (1) the ejection by Landes of pitcher Bob Purkey for making comments from the bench and (2) Baker's refusal to act on Bragan's complaint that the Braves' Lew Burdette was lifting his pivot foot off the pitcher's rubber in violation of the rules.

Bragan took his constitutional last night with the Braves at bat in the fifth. Righthander Bob Buhl, who got credit for the Braves' 4-2 victory over the Pirates, beat out a chopper down the third base line. Red Schoendienst then slapped a two-base hit to right, sending Buhl around to third.

As the throw came in from the outfield, Bragan signalled Purkey, the Pirates' pitcher at the time, to throw the ball to second for a tag at the base. The claim was that Buhl didn't touch the bag en route to third.

Said Bragan later:

"Landes called him safe looking right at me in the dugout as if to say 'There goes your publicity.' I looked right back at Landes, held my nose and sat down. It was then that he gave me the thumb."

No sooner had Landes' thumb completed its arc than Bragan popped out of the dugout. He walked a few paces, turned and met a Pirate he later identified as coach Danny Murtagh carrying the orange drink. Bragan took it and, while walking across the diamond to a spot on the grass behind the pitcher's mound, sipped the drink through a straw. The four umpires clustered around Bragan and then Dascoli broke from the gathering and, with a sweeping gesture, gave him the thumb again.

"We tried to get a hot dog, too," he said, "but it didn't come in time. My only regret is that the hot dog was late in arriving."

Bragan said he offered each of the umps a sip but "they weren't in the mood."

"I wouldn't pull this stuff on the other teams," Bragan added. "Lee Ballanfant, Jocko Conlan and Augie Donatelli will listen to a beef and then tell you you've had your say. These birds won't let you get a word in."

The umpires, quartered in a tiny, steamy dressing room a few paces from the Pirates' clubhouse, took turns calling Bragan "bush." Landes and Dascoli each talked with Giles by phone, giving him their report of the incident.

Nubrite Nips Nicholie

A 7th inning single by George Adams gave Nubrite Plating a 10-9 victory over Nicholie Insurance in one of the best games of the Waterford Junior League softball season yesterday.

Elliott Furniture waited to a 20-5 Little League win over Elizabeth Lake Estates paced by Jerry Harms' homer and single and three doubles by Andy Villareal.

The Cards, who have been this high on August 1 only once in 11 years, bagged it after Hank Sauer,

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals, usually dead ducks by August 1 in recent National League pennant scraps, are camped on the threshold of first place today after an explosive July run.

And they've done it the hard way, coming from behind in half of their 20 July victories and winning four of five, extra-inning battles.

The Cards were at it again last night, coming from behind to whip the New York Giants 5-1 for their fifth straight while Milwaukee clung to the top spot with a 4-2 job on Pittsburgh for four in a row.

Third-place Brooklyn, matching the Cards' 20-10 record for July, swept a doubleheader at Chicago. Reliever Ed Roebuck was credited with both victories as ninth-inning rallies beat the Cubs 3-2 and 2-1 to leave the Dodgers two games behind. Fifth-place Cincinnati, four games back, junked its losing string at three games with a 6-5 11-inning decision over Philadelphia. The fourth-place Phils, who had won four in a row, are 3 1/2 games shy. The Phils were 20-11 in July, Cincinnati 13-14.

The Cards, who have been this high on August 1 only once in 11 years, bagged it after Hank Sauer,

July Surge Has Cardinals on Threshold of NL Lead

who had three of the seven hits off Herm Wehmeier, homered the Giants into a fifth-inning lead. Al Dahl, who was 4-for-4 and drove in two runs, and Wehmeier then hit RBI singles in the bottom of the fifth and the Cards were off. Wally Moon, pushing his hit streak to 17 games, doubled and scored on a double play in the sixth before St. Louis finally shelved Ray Crone with two more in the seventh.

Milwaukee, 15-12 for July and only 500 against the other contenders for the month, rolled on solo homers by Red Schoendienst and Johnny Logan against loser Bob Purkey, then locked it up with two in the sixth on four singles. Bob Hazle's double and an error, Bob Buhl won his 13th, four in a row, with an eight-hitter. He had a five-hit shutout until the ninth.

Griff's Moves Into 3rd Place

Griff's Grill moved into 3rd place in the Class A City Baseball League with a 6-2 victory over the Michigan Giants yesterday at Windsor Field.

Don Eren hurled a masterful three-hitter for Griff's and his teammates backed him up with a 10-hit attack on Don Vachon. The Grill nine scored three times in the 1st inning, then matched that number in the 3rd.

Mary Caswell smacked three doubles in three trips to the plate while John Shanks tripped and singled for two RBIs. Jim Moore collected a pair of doubles in defeat.

It was Griff's 8th triumph in 17 starts, half a game better than the Pontiac Jets in their fight for 3rd spot.

Apologizes to Fight Fans

Buick Man Hits Bad 'Commercial' Timing

FLINT, Mich. (P)—The Buick Division of General Motors Corp.

apologized yesterday to the nation's fight fans for what it called the "inept" handling of commercials during the Patterson-Jackson heavyweight title fight Monday night.

Erlandson Defends Guild Rodeo Crown

Defending champion Chuck Erlandson of Birmingham, 1936 Sports Guild rodeo king, will again be in competition for the eighth version of the event, Sunday, at Hazel Park Race Track. Chuck won three first places last year to top nearly 100 contestants in 19 events.

A field of 100 was expected for Sunday's rodeo, at which Guild officials anticipate a crowd of 20,000. Proceeds go, in part, to help send underprivileged children to a summer camp.

Biggest for Eagles

HERSHEY, Pa. (P)—The Philadelphia Eagles have signed the biggest player in the club's history, Joe Katchick, a 6-8, 280-pounder from Plymouth, Pa., who saw action with Notre Dame and Dickinson. Katchick was signed yesterday, along with Bill Zador, a Philadelphia who was a stand-out quarterback with Drexel Tech.

The commercial was switched in almost immediately after Referee Rudy Goldstein gave the go-ahead to Floyd Patterson on a TKO over the battered Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson. The official verdict from the ring was missed by television viewers.

The fight was nationally telecast by NBC.

Andonian Ousted in 1st Round

Mike Defeated by Dallas Man in Public Links

Patak Rallies to Beat Pontiac Golfer, 1 Up, in Overtime Match

(Special to The Pontiac Press) HERSHEY, Pa.—Mike Andonian, Pontiac's lone hope in the 32nd annual National Public Links golf tournament, bowed out in the 1st round of match play Wednesday at Hershey Park Country Club.

Andonian, who teaches mathematics at Pontiac High School, was eliminated by Raymond Patak of Dallas, Tex., 1 up in 19 holes. Mike was the sole Pontiac golfer to qualify for match play.

Michigan's only other hopefuls, Detroiters Roy Cullenbine and Sam Lima, were also ousted.

Cullenbine, former Tiger out-fitter, defeated Roger Eberhardt of Sheboygan, Wis., 2 up in his opening match, but lost to Eddie Schmitt of Louisville, Ky., 3-1 in the afternoon round. Lima was sidetracked in the 1st round by George McHale Sr. of Honolulu, 3-1.

Yesterday's defeat was a heart-breaker for Andonian. Mike held a 1-up lead coming to the 18th, but Patak birdied the tricky 465-yard hole to square the match. Patak parred the 1st overtime hole, a 415-yard par four, to win the test as Andonian slipped to a bogey.

Andonian was 1 up at the turn, then won the 10th hole to go 2 up. But Patak erased that one on the 13th to set the stage for his tying birdie and winning par.

With only 16 players left from a field that originally numbered 2,000, defending champion Junie Buxbaum still looked like the player to beat for the title. He won last year, the first time he ever had played in the Public Links tournament. He was a professional from 1947 to 1951 and was reinstated as an amateur in 1953.

In his first two matches yesterday, he was even par for 15 holes in beating Mervin Isaacman of Harrisburg, Pa., 4 and 3, and one under for 14 holes in a 5 and 4 decision over Robert Nordstrom of Minneapolis.

Sparked by Rookie Kubek

Yanks Rolling Along

NEW YORK (P)—It took Tony Kubek three months to reach the level every camp observer forecast for him during the spring. But now that he's there, the versatile rookie of the New York Yankees is quietly confident he'll stay.

"I guess I felt a certain amount of pressure at the start of the season," Kubek said today, thinking back to the "phenom" tag sportswriters applied so liberally during exhibitions in Florida.

"But things seem to be going okay now. Playing every day has helped, particularly in my hitting and I feel more comfortable in the field."

The records and boxscores show it with Kubek batting an impressive .298 and apparently established as the Yanks' regular third baseman.

The month of July was a big one for the handsome, 20-year-old, infielder-outfielder from Milwaukee. On the last day of June, he was hitting a meager .341 in now-and-then appearances in the lineup.

Manager Casey Stengel was careful in picking Kubek's spots in the opening weeks of play. By the end of June, however, the breaking in period was over then Kubek wasted little time responding.

Starting with the second game of a doubleheader against Kansas City June 30, Tony hit in 11 consecutive games and for a 29-game stretch to date swung at a .333 pace, with 39 hits in 117 at bats.

Yesterday, Kubek and the Yanks won two more games from their Kansas City cousins 2-0 and 5-4 to now lead Chicago by 3½. Bob Turley flipped a five-hit shutout in the 1st and Don Larsen won the 2nd.

Mickey Mantle garnered his 28th homer in the opener, while Gil McDougald was the nightcap star.

His roundtripper tied the count after New York had trailed 4-0. He then scored the clincher on Bill Skowron's single in the 8th.

In other AL contests, Chicago nailed Washington 6-5, Detroit downed Boston 5-3 and Ray Narleski shutout Baltimore 4-0.

Bob Keegan won his 7th and Larry Doby swatted four hits to lead the Chicks. Narleski scattered six hits in making his record 8-1. It was only the 5th complete game for the relief ace. Gene Woodling homered and Bob Avila hit in his 13th consecutive game getting a trio.

Halas Defends Pro Football

Urges Antitrust Exemption for All Team Sports

Bears' Prexy Claims Court Ruling Hits at U.S. 'Way of Life'

WASHINGTON (AP) — George Halas, a pro football pioneer, said today the Supreme Court decision holding that sport subject to antitrust regulation threatens "the American way of life."

If it is not resisted, Halas said, even college football may some day be exposed "to the penalties of the antitrust laws."

Halas, president of the Chicago Bears, vigorously defended pro football as it's now conducted. He did so in testimony prepared for the House Antitrust Subcommittee.

The subcommittee is investigating the legal status of professional team sports — an inquiry prompted by the Supreme Court's football ruling.

Baseball remains exempt from antitrust statutes as a result of earlier decisions. The subcommittee wants to find out whether new legislation is needed to treat all pro sports alike, either inside or outside antitrust jurisdiction.

The Bears president, whose team modernized the T-formation into a razzledazzle football offense, whipped out an equally colorful attack for the subcommittee.

His prepared testimony "was done up in a printed brochure, complete with pictures."

One scene of mass calisthenics in a foreign stadium was emblazoned with Red hammer and sickle. It was headed: "Does the American public want this?"

Directly below was the common query: "Or this?" It topped a red, white and blue-bordered sheet of football at Soldier Field in Chicago.

Halas later answered his own question. "Americans," he said, "would not support any unveiled effort to institute a government sponsored, financed and controlled athletic program in our college and professional sports with the European style of regimented and disciplined mass calisthenics."

Halas said the Supreme Court's football ruling "puts under scrutiny all controls and will create confusion in every phase of professional and college team sports."

He added:

"It will surely be a mortal blow and will bring great comfort only to those who want a foreign system substituted for ours."

The North Side Auto Sales went on slugging in women's action at North Side. Effie Seay, Katy Boykins and Nancy Carothers clouted home runs and North Side made 23 hits in all for a 19-5 triumph over Gingerville.

League-leading Commerce Drive-In Theater was outbitten by the West Side Merchants, 10 to 8, but still won, 9-4, in the wale of a seven-run rally in the 6th inning.

Anglers Get Big Ones

The big ones are coming in. And that is good news for the piscatorial army that every day tries its luck on Pontiac-area and Michigan waters.

Base fishermen, in particular, are doing just fine on Oakland County lakes. One area lake has produced the biggest largemouth bass in many years. Matter of fact, it may even be the all-time county record for the species—a 7-pound, 15½-ounce lunker caught by Andy Simko of Rose Township. That one will be hard to oust from the lead in The Press' summer-long fishing contest.

Outstate angling for other species, including trout, is reported good: pan-fishing is better everywhere, including area, Lake Huron shores (4 for perch), in Saginaw Bay and Lake St. Clair where some 10-inch perch have been taken.

Smallmouth bass are hitting better along Huron County shoreline, and there is good sport for these fish in many area waters.

Don Williams, 57 Seneca, fishing off the bank, took a 5-pound 15½-ounce largemouth from a lake near Highland yesterday. It was 21½ inches long, 15 in girth. A summer visitor from Grand Rapids, 15-year-old Roger Hamberger, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Baade, 3815 Island Park, Lake Oakland, landed a 5-pound bass Tuesday. Without a landing net he had a tough fight securing the fish.

Mike Mullin, 11, son of the PCC greenskeeper, took a foot long "catfish" from Island Lake that weighed an even pound.

Knapp Was Rochester Grid Great

Remember the Sports Stars of Yore?

Lyle, who now operates a dairy

bar and has a hand in real estate and other sidelines, was a big gun during the 1928-30 era playing under such top coaches as Roy Keays and Hubert Spade. Those were the days when the Falcons played in the Tri-Country League against Lapeer and Macomb teams.

Knapp made several all-league teams at Rochester and later played one year at Epworth Junior College in California before leaving school to enter business. That didn't end his sports interest, though.

The former farm boy from the Mariette sector has been connected with sports in some capacity ever since.

"I played and coached baseball teams here for many years. One year we went up to Northern Michigan and played some of their best players and won 3-1." Red recalled today trying to look back to those good old days.

His sports activities are extremely limited now due to the press of business but he sponsors softball and bowling teams the year around and gets out to watch sports every time there is an opportunity.

"Red" is always ready to talk sports with anyone who stops in at his dairy bar. He should be an authority with such a background.

The featured eighth race will find Irving Utter's Michael G., going for two in a row here, leaving from the number two post position. The seven-year-old gelding from Fowlerville was part of Utter's driving triple here July 25.

By H. GUY MOATS

The big ones are coming in. And that is good news for the piscatorial army that every day tries its luck on Pontiac-area and Michigan waters.

Base fishermen, in particular, are doing just fine on Oakland County lakes. One area lake has produced the biggest largemouth bass in many years. Matter of fact, it may even be the all-time county record for the species—a 7-pound, 15½-ounce lunker caught by Andy Simko of Rose Township. That one will be hard to oust from the lead in The Press' summer-long fishing contest.

Outstate angling for other species, including trout, is reported good: pan-fishing is better everywhere, including area, Lake Huron shores (4 for perch), in Saginaw Bay and Lake St. Clair where some 10-inch perch have been taken.

Smallmouth bass are hitting better along Huron County shoreline, and there is good sport for these fish in many area waters.

Don Williams, 57 Seneca, fishing off the bank, took a 5-pound 15½-ounce largemouth from a lake near Highland yesterday. It was 21½ inches long, 15 in girth. A summer visitor from Grand Rapids, 15-year-old Roger Hamberger, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Baade, 3815 Island Park, Lake Oakland, landed a 5-pound bass Tuesday. Without a landing net he had a tough fight securing the fish.

Mike Mullin, 11, son of the PCC greenskeeper, took a foot long "catfish" from Island Lake that weighed an even pound.

Knapp Was Rochester Grid Great

Remember the Sports Stars of Yore?

Lyle, who now operates a dairy

bar and has a hand in real estate and other sidelines, was a big gun during the 1928-30 era playing under such top coaches as Roy Keays and Hubert Spade. Those were the days when the Falcons played in the Tri-Country League against Lapeer and Macomb teams.

Knapp made several all-league teams at Rochester and later played one year at Epworth Junior College in California before leaving school to enter business. That didn't end his sports interest, though.

The former farm boy from the Mariette sector has been connected with sports in some capacity ever since.

"I played and coached baseball teams here for many years. One year we went up to Northern Michigan and played some of their best players and won 3-1." Red recalled today trying to look back to those good old days.

His sports activities are extremely limited now due to the press of business but he sponsors softball and bowling teams the year around and gets out to watch sports every time there is an opportunity.

"Red" is always ready to talk sports with anyone who stops in at his dairy bar. He should be an authority with such a background.

Michigan Mile Tonight

JACKSON, Mich.—Seven B-Class pacers hold down the spotlight at Jackson Harness Raceway Thursday night as Leon Slavin's fast-growing half-mile track caps a nine-race program with the Michigan Center Mile.

Midget Hurler Gets 2 Homers

Neil Roberts hammered out two homers and a double and was the winning pitcher as the Senators upset the 1st place Yankees 14-2 in the Midget National League yesterday.

John Lucadam turned in one of the mound gems of the Class D loop season blanking Cranbrook 3-0 with one hit. He fanned seven and retired the last nine batters after giving up the only hit.

The Little Midget loop finished regular play with LeBaron winning its 7th straight 23-3 over Malkin. Wever clinched 2nd by downing McCarroll 11-7 and Hawthorne won a forfeit to rank 3rd.

Ohio River Classic

2 Weekends for Gold Cup

MADISON, Ind. — The Madison Regatta Association, sponsors of one of the three officially sanctioned races for unlimited Gold Cup hydroplanes east of the Mississippi, have set two week-ends, Sept. 21-22 and Sept. 28 and 29 as dates for speed sessions on the three mile Ohio River course at this city.

Originally scheduled for Oct. 4-6 and Oct. 12 and 13, the new dates were arranged by the American Power Boat Association and its Unlimited Commission. Madison's races will follow the President's Cup races which will be held at Washington, D. C.

The Governor's Trophy races for unlimiteds, won last year by Miss U. S., owned by George Simon, of Detroit, and driven by Fred Alter, of the same city, will be held on Sept. 29 as the feature of this Ohio River classic. Inboard hydro events, expected to bring into competition some of the speediest craft in the nation will also be held on that date.

Rochester Legion Boosts Loop Lead

Larry LaForge and David Gaddis tangled in a hot pitching battle last night in the 18th District Junior American Legion baseball league. Gaddis, of Millford was the stinger with his hits, but Rochester's LaForge emerged the winner, 2-1. Gaddis gave up five, LaForge nine in the game played at Millford. Each club made only a single error.

Victory was Rochester's fourth straight. It has not lost a game since start of the second half schedule.

In the night's other league contest Berkley, second place club, swamped hapless Birmingham 10-1 with a barrage of 16 hits, plus a two-hit pitching performance.

Booker Again Paces Hitters

Judge Booker of the Pontiac Jets is back in his old familiar spot as No. 1 hitter in the Class A City Baseball League.

Booker, the defending batting champion, returns to the top position after an absence of four weeks. The slugging 1st baseman boasts 25 hits in 55 attempts for a healthy .455 average.

Dave (Boots) Kringe of Shaw's Jewelers, the previous leader, holds down 2nd place with a .438 percentage. Shaw's Terry Thomas, an earlier leader, has slipped to 4th with .323 behind Griffith's Marv Caswell, who is hitting at a .429 clip.

IOTL Hurler Suffers Fatal Heart Attack

Warren Brinker Dies After Collapsing in Game at Toledo

He always said to his baseball-playing cronies that when he had to go, he "would like to be wearing my baseball uniform."

And that's the way it happened for veteran, former Pontiac skidder and International Old-Timers league hurler, Warren Brinker. Warren, 48, collapsed in the 3rd inning of last Saturday's Pontiac-Toledo IOTL games in Toledo. He died, still wearing his uniform, 20 minutes after arrival at a Toledo hospital. His wife was with him.

Brinker was a member of the Old-Timers for 10 years. He was the first loss by death, in the loop. IOTL officials, headed by chaplain Jim Smart of Toledo held a special service Tuesday at the Melvin Schutt funeral home. Pontiac, Detroit and other IOTL representatives honored Brinker's memory also at services on Wednesday.

"As a result of Warren's death," says IOTL prexy, Paul Parks, the league will be asked to adopt a rule, limiting periods veterans may play in IOTL

Evans Qualifies in All American

Rochester Pro Tied for 10th; 237 Begin 72-Hole Test Today

CHICAGO — The first section of golf's greatest money-pressure tournament starts today at Tam O'Shanter and there is no definite pre-meet favorite.

The first step in the treasure hunt is the All American with a purse distribution of $25,000 for men pros, and trophies and merchandise for men amateurs and women amateurs.

In all, 237 players teed off in the dawn-to-dusk first round, including 162 men pros shooting for a $3,500 top prize to be awarded at Sunday's finish of the 72 holes.

Next week, however, comes the big one — the "world championships."

The winner of the men pro division collects $50,000 and a $50,000 exhibition contract. The total purse is $102,200. Champion of the women's pros will receive $6,000 out of a $15,000 purse.

Max Evans of Rochester, Mich., qualified yesterday with a two-under-par 70. The card put Evans in an eight-way tie for 10th place among the 72 golfers who had to qualify for the $25,000 All American event.

AAU Meet on TV, but Not Here

Swimmers to Vie

PHILADELPHIA — The 1957 men's National AAU outdoor swimming and diving championships opens here today with George Breen of the Buffalo (NY) A. C., the first of 13 defending champions to see action.

Breen, who last year won both the 1,500 meter and 400 meter freestyle crowns, is scheduled to swim in the 1,500 qualifying heats tonight, the only major event on the rather thin opening day program.

More than 300 swimmers from the United States and at least four foreign countries are expected to churn through John B. Kelly pool in picturesque Fairmount park during the four day meet.

Three cameras (CBS) on a national hookup will take in the proceedings on Sunday when seven of the 15 championships are determined. Three titles will be decided Friday and five champions will be crowned Saturday.

(The meet will not be televised in the Detroit area because of the Detroit-Washington game from Griffith Stadium which will be on TV.)

Seeking to qualify tonight for a shot at Breen's 1,500 meter title in the finals on Saturday, are such top flight freestylers as George Oneke of the Hawaii Swim Club, Dick Hanley, Ann Arbor, Mich., Charles Stigman of Cincinnati's 100 meter freestyle.

Coca-Cola Swim Club, and Ken Peters, Cortland, N. Y.

Breen, who captured a second and a pair of third places for Uncle Sam in the 1956 Olympics, holds the world record of 17:32.9 for the event.

Other competition today is limited to the men's 200 meter junior final national backstroke, the women's 400 meter junior final national medley relay and 3-meter and tower diving exhibitions.

Defending champions include Oneke of the Hawaii Swim Club, Dick Hanley, Ann Arbor, Mich., Charles Stigman of Cincinnati's 100 meter freestyle.

Lakeland Ties for 2nd

Lakeland Pharmacy moved back into a tie for 2nd place in the Waterford Softball League by nipping Welden-Thurby 8-7 last night.

Welden battled back after trailing 6-0 and had the tying run at 3rd in the 7th before reliever Norm Jennings retired the side. Dick Cooper had two singles and double and Jack Hogan a triple and single to lead Lakeland.

A Tough Task: Keeping Tabs on Our Industry

BOULDER, Colo. (INS)—A group of 60 technicians and scientists at the National Bureau of Standards Laboratory in Boulder, Colo., will have one of the toughest assignments in our electronic age: Keeping up with American industry.

Known as the Calibration center, it will be the group's task to determine accurate standards for measuring electronic instruments. As the field of electronics is expanding at a fast pace, fed by defense needs, the problem is rugged.

Private industry is employing hundreds of scientists to continually press back the frontiers of radar, communications, radio and other electronic processes. The Boulder center's director

Norway Considers Quitting Whaling

OSLO, Norway — With Japan back on the high seas, Norway sees herself being forced out of the whaling industry, Oslo reports. Unless some agreement on the number of expeditions permitted to the Antarctic each year can be reached, the Norwegian Whaling Association is in favor of withdrawing from the International Whaling Convention.

U.S. Farm Population Declines by 10 Million

DES MOINES, Iowa — Since the mid-'30's, the nation's farm population has declined by some 10,000,000 persons.

It now totals about 22,250,000 although the farm acreage totals more than 1,160,000,000 acres, the highest on record.

The number living on farms today represents about one out of every eight persons in the population, the smallest proportion as far back as records go.

The increase in number of expeditions, notably by the Japanese, has led to a difficult situation, the association says. "I have little hope that Norway or any other country can stop the expansion of Antarctic whaling by several Far Eastern countries," said Anders Jahre, a leading Norwegian whaler. "Norway cannot continue profitably with the present regulation on the number of whales that can be caught."

Bob Considine Says:

Quirks of Foreign Justice Exposed

NEW YORK (INS) — The country can be grateful to a young New York public relations man named John David Griffin for forcing light to be shed on what the American servicemen overseas faces when in trouble with native authorities.

Griffin took the one-paragraph account of the impending transfer of an American soldier from U.S. to Japanese jurisdiction and exploded it with such force that it became one of the major issues of the day.

Drew Pearson suggested that Griffin should be investigated by Congress, as if he had no right — and duty — to bring the Bill Girard case to the public's attention.

The only investigations to date have been second and searching looks at our involved status-of-forces agreements, re-examination of the lot of the enlisted man, and a new comprehension by many of our foreign policy, a fresh understanding of Japanese law and the frailty of life there. To wit:

American military personnel driving cars in Japan under the wing of the Far East Air Forces are given this directive, dated Oct. 31, 1956:

"The Japanese government has on numerous occasions brought criminal indictments against United States personnel, military and civilian, for injuries or death to Japanese nationals arising out of motor vehicle accidents. These indictments allege violation of Article 211 of the Penal Code of Japan which provides in part as follows:

"A person, who fails to use such care as is required in the performance of profession, occupation or routines and thereby kills or injures another, shall be punished with imprisonment for not more than three years or a fine of not more than 1,000 yen ($2.77).

GREAT SKILL NEEDED

"This means that very high standards of skill and care in driving an automobile are required. It means that one may be convicted in criminal court and imprisoned in Japanese confinement facilities, for his part in an automobile accident, under circumstances such that in the United States he would not be considered negligent, or at fault, and would not be found criminally or civilly liable.

"The purpose of this letter is to help you avoid joining the ranks of United States military and civilian personnel now in Japanese jails. Recently an Air Force officer was sentenced to a Japanese prison for causing the death of a Japanese national through negligent operation of his automobile.

"The judge, in rendering judgment, commented that in determining sentence he had taken into consideration the fact that the officer had failed to observe the custom of visiting the family of the deceased and expressing his sympathy."

The directive points out that such calls do not constitute admission of guilt, and frequently result in acquittals. It continues:

"Where the individual causing injury is driving his private vehicle he should if possible contact the local representatives of his insurance company before visiting the injured person or his family."

"Where, however, the accident occurs on a Saturday, for example, and the insurance representative cannot be reached until the following Monday, there would generally be no objection to visiting the injured person or the deceased's family on a Sunday, taking fruit or flowers."

"Where money is later given, an appropriate amount might be between 1,000 and 5,000 yen ($13.85). It is noted that the insurance company normally will make no reimbursement for this money or other gifts."

Now I ask you, whoever knew such things until Griffin found Girard a lawyer and fought his case (at much personal expense to Griffin) to the Supreme Court? If I had a product I wanted to get before the public with the impact of a mule's kick, I'd choose my young friend Griffin to light the fuse.

More Liquor Consumed

LANSING (INS) — The Michigan Liquor Control Commission reported today Water Wonderland residents are drinking more "hard stuff" than ever before. The commission reported a net profit of about $44,500,000 for the fiscal year ended June 30 — an increase of about $6 million over last year.
