Ike's National Day of Prayer

Prayer for Today

Almighty God, Who hast given us this good land for our heritage; we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning, and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord, and confusion; from pride and arrogancy, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues. Endue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy Name we entrust the authority of government, that there may be justice and peace at home, and that through obedience to Thy law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity, fill our hearts with thankfulness, and in the day of trouble suffer not our trust in thee to fail; all which we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

From a Book of Worship for Free Churches, Oxford University Press, 1948

Today is America's National Day of Prayer. Americans were asked by President Eisenhower to join in prayer and "Give thanks for the bounty of providence which has made possible the growth and promise of our land." Under a congressional resolution of 1952, the President assigns a day, other than a Sunday, each year as a national day of prayer.

Pontiac Area UF Receives $123,000 Gift From GM

1959 Donation $8,000 More Than Last Year's

Contribution Amounts to 19 Per Cent of Goal of $647,698

A $123,000 check from the three General Motors Corp. divisions — the biggest single contribution to date — has helped boost the 1959 Pontiac Area United Fund closer to its goal.

The gift, representing a seven per cent or $8,000 increase over GM's contribution last year, comes from the corporate functions of the three GM plants in the city. It does not include donations from the employes.

Presenting the large check today was Thomas F. Wiethorn, chairman of the campaign's City Plant Committee and plant manager of Fisher Body Division.

Accepting it was Robert R. Eldred, general campaign chairman.

The contribution represents 19 per cent of the total campaign goal for the Pontiac drive, now in its seventh successful day.

In expressing his thanks to the corporation, Eldred said, "This check brings us closer to our $647,698 campaign goal. The entire community says thanks to General Motors."

On hand for the presentation along with Wiethorn, who also serves as UF Industrial Division chairman, were Semon E. Knudsen, Pontiac Motor Division general manager and GMC vice president, and Philip J. Monaghan, Truck & Coach Division general manager and corporation vice president.

In noting the all-time high amount of the check, Wiethorn said:

"Representing the Industrial Division of the United Fund, I certainly want to add my thanks.

★ ★ ★

"These are vital dollars. Dollars that will help many children and adults throughout the Pontiac metropolitan area to enjoy happier and healthier lives."

The general campaign concludes Oct. 22.

MARIO LANZA

Mario Lanza Dies in Rome

Heart Attack Fatal to 38-Year-Old Singer in Hospital Past Week

ROME (AP) — American tenor Mario Lanza died today in a Rome hospital.

Lanza had been in the hospital for about a week, reportedly for treatment of a minor illness.

A friend said he suffered a heart attack and died shortly after noon. He was 38.

Lanza two years ago undertook a new movie career in Europe after several years of controversial activity in the United States.

A Philadelphia boy, Lanza vaulted to fame with the film "The Great Caruso."

He earned $1,100,000 in one year, more than half of it in phonograph records.

Two years later he was in debt to the United States government and having a hard time finding bookings. One of the reasons was that he got too fat for romantic parts.

Lanza was born in the Little Italy section of Philadelphia. His real name was Alfredo Arnold Cocozza. He later adopted his mother's name of Lanza for professional use.

We'll Battle Use of T-H, Says Steel Union Chief

PITTSBURGH (AP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said today his union will use every legal means to avoid a Taft-Hartley court injunction in the 85-day-old nationwide steel strike.

The Union president made the statement after sending home the USW's 170-member Wage Policy Committee—further indication that negotiations are hopelessly stalemated.

McDonald said if President Eisenhower invokes the Taft-Hartley Act and a court injunction is issued to put the mills back in operation for an 80-day cooling-off period, the half-million striking steelworkers "will obey the law of the land."

But he emphasized that the union is strongly opposed to use of the Taft-Hartley law.

The Wage Policy Committee convened this morning for the fourth time in three days but apparently had little to consider in the way of new developments.

Top steel industry executives and heads of the USW held a 90-minute summit meeting Tuesday night. It ended on a hopeless note.

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel Corp. board chairman and spokesman for the industry group, said the union is "unalterable in its position."

President David J. McDonald of the Steelworkers, who requested the summit conference, said industry is "not flexible."

"They remain adamant," the union leader said.

NO CONFAB TODAY

There were no negotiations scheduled for today — the eve of deadline for using the Taft-Hartley Act.

The Wage Policy Committee Monday rejected the latest industry offer as completely unsatisfactory.

The industry said its offer would give workers a 15-cent hourly package increase during the life of a two-year contract.

The union said the offer would come closer to gains of 10 cents an hour in the two years.

More Layoffs to Come as GM Feels Steel Bind

The vast General Motors Corp. empire is feeling the steel shortage pinch.

GM's announced layoffs due to strike has reached nearly 12,000 workers in parts and equipment plants across the nation.

Ternstedt furloughed 750 at its Flint plant yesterday and told the remainder of the 4,400 they would be laid off progressively by Oct. 23.

All but one of the major layoffs in GM plants have been at Ternstedt facilities. The other occurred at the Delco Appliance Division, Rochester, N. Y., where 2,000 were idled.

A spokesman at GMC Truck and Coach Division in Pontiac said layoffs have not begun at his plant but that the impending steel pinch would be felt in about two weeks.

"The division expects to be running out of steel the latter part of this month," he said today. "Most coach production calls for aluminum, so the plant won't feel the steel shortage as severely as in other parts of the industry. But layoffs can be expected if the shortage hits the division," he said.

A spokesman for the Pontiac Motor Division said:

"We can't make any predictions (regarding layoffs). The GM announcement said the pinch would be felt the last week in October. We will last as long as anybody else in GM."

Time for a Change

FONTANA, Calif. (UPI)—City councilmen met last night to discuss off-street parking regulations and to change the wording of a resolution which limited parking to a period of "not longer than two years."

City Pondering Curfew on Youths as Safeguard

A midnight curfew for Pontiac teenagers 15, 16 and 17 was under study today by the City Commission.

Also contemplated are an 11 p.m. curfew for youngsters 12 to 14 and a 10 p.m. curfew for children under 12.

★ ★ ★

An ordinance setting the hours was accepted by the Commission for study last night with debate and a final vote tentatively scheduled for next Tuesday.

The measure was introduced as a "safeguard" against the kind of juvenile terrorism that has struck recently in such big cities as New York and Detroit.

"We should take any precautions possible to prevent an outbreak of such occurrences here," Mayor Philip E. Rowston declared.

ASK POLICE COMMENT

Police officials were asked to comment before next week on whether they believed a curfew would be practical and enforceable.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry, who introduced the measure, urged its immediate passage as means "to protect decent youngsters and discourage delinquencies."

Other commissioners, including Rowston, refrained from indicating whether they would favor or disfavor a curfew.

★ ★ ★

Several said they would not act until they had heard whether administrative officials, including Public Safety Director George D. Eastman, favored the move.

Henry said the measure was needed largely "as a precaution," rather than as a weapon to battle any outstanding problem in juvenile delinquency that exists at present.

He foresaw, though, that a curfew could cut into the crime rate in his district.

HARD TO ENFORCE

Several commissioners indicated privately after the meeting that they believed the proposal would flounder because of difficulties in enforcing it. Many cities with curfews have experienced such trpubles.

Henry said the heart of his proposal fixes on parents and guardians the responsibility for making sure their children abide by curfew hours.

★ ★ ★

If children violate the hours the ordinance provides that parents or guardians are subject to conviction on misdemeanor charges, car-

Lunik Near Top of Moon Jump

Reds Indicate Rocket Unveils Exciting New Data on Structure

MOSCOW (UPI)—Lunik III was believed nearing the top of its "jump over the moon" today amid Soviet scientific indications the rocket already had provided exciting new information on the moon's structure.

No official word on the rocket's progress had been given since last night's announcement that Lunik had zipped within a space-age inch—4,375 miles—of the moon's equatorial region at 4:16 p.m. (9:16 a.m. EST) Tuesday.

An "estimate" was given by M. S. Yarov-Yarovoy, chief of Moscow's Sternberg Astronomical Institute, that the instrument-loaded Lunik would reach the peak of its three-day outward journey shortly after 1 a.m. Thursday (4 p.m. EST today).

Soviet scientists speculated on what the rocket was teaching the world about the moon.

'UNLIKE EARTH'

Prof. Boris Kukarkin, writing in the newspaper Trud, said the information from the rocket suggested "the structure of the moon is apparently unlike that of earth."

"The latest discoveries," he said, "are obliging scientists to reconsider many of their old notions, and further confirm the Marxist premise of the unlimited variety of forms of the existence of matter."

Previously, other Soviet scientists have suggested that Lunik might prove that "some lower forms of life" existed in hidden craters of the moon.

Tells Both Sides to 'Settle Strike'

Ike's Fact-Finders Hold Short Hearing Today on Stevedores' Troubles

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's emergency fact-finding board completed a fast public hearing today on the strike of East and Gulf coast stevedores with an appeal to the parties to resume bargaining at once and hammer out a solution.

Chairman Guy Farmer told newsmen he expects that "barring something we cannot foresee, we will file a report tomorrow."

This could — if Eisenhower chooses — set in motion the procedures under the Taft-Hartly Labor Act which would lead to a federal court order enjoining the seven-day-old strike for 80 days of cooling off and bargaining.

As it ended, Farmer reminded spokesmen of the striking International Longshoremen's Assn. and the waterfront employers that Taft-Hartley "will not bring about any solution of this dispute."

He urged the parties to "make every effort to get together to bring about a peaceful settlement."

Spokesmen for both sides agreed — but their positions, as outlined in sharp and hostile terms to the three-man panel, gave little promise of early agreement.

In presenting their case to the panel the stevedores contended employer demands would result in "wholesale" elimination of jobs.

Management came back with an accusation that the walkout is an "irresponsible and illegal" violation of an agreement to extend for 15 days the contract which expired Sept. 30.

Louis Waldman, attorney for the International Longshoremen's Assn. got in first with the argument about job elimination.

He told the panel in a statement that the employers wanted a free hand in automation of cargo handling methods. In the last three years, Waldman said, automation has "threatened to deprive ILA members of substantial numbers of jobs."

Cowboy Meets Sputnik

MEMPHIS (UPI)—Rodeo cowboy Ray (Kid) Marley, who flattened professional wrestler Sputnik Monroe at the Midsouth Fair last week over an alleged insulting remark, agreed today to participate in a wrestling "grudge" match with the 216-pound Monroe next Monday.

LONDON (UPI) — Gilbert Bartholomew, managing director of a match firm, said yesterday the swan trademark was being switched from the left to the right side of the label after 62 years. "We felt it had become rather old-fashioned," he said.

Quiz Producers' Lawyer Accused

TV Agent Told to Lie in Probe?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The publicity agent for the now-defunct television quiz show "21" testified today that he was advised by a lawyer to lie to New York authorities investigating charges that the show was rigged.

He added that the attorney later advised him to "get out of town" so that he could not be questioned.

Alfred Davis, of Forest Hills, N.Y., told a House subcommittee the advice was given him by Edwin Slote, New York attorney, last year at the time that a New York

See Early Story Page 47

County grand jury was conducting an investigation into charges that "21" and other TV quiz shows were rigged.

He identified Slote as an attorney representing the publicity firm for which he worked.

Davis also told the committee that he knew that at least one contestant had been supplied answers in advance before appearing on the show "21." He said the contestant, Herbert Stempel, had shown him the answers in advance of his appearace on one show.

Stempel and another former "21" contestant James E. Snodgrass, testified at the opening hearing yesterday that 'hey were given answers in advance and even coached on what gestures to use.

Davis said he interpreted Slote's advice to mean that he should lie under oath to the grand jury, as well as to the New York district attorney. But he said he did not recall whether Slote specifically mentioned the grand jury.

ALFRED DAVIS

Slote was identified as the attorney for Davis and his partner in public relations, Art Franklin, who were employed at the time by Jack Barry and Dan Enright, co-producers of "21" and other TV programs.

Davis said that Slote also at that time was serving as attorney for Barry and Enright.

His testimony brought a demand by Rep. Steven Derounian (R-NY) that the New York Bar Association take action against Slote.

Another witness scheduled to be heard on the "21" case was Richard Jackman of New York City, a labor union organizer who won $24,500 during a single appearance on the NBC program, then quit while he was ahead.

After hearing Jackman, the investigators planned to switch their sights to "Dotto," the first of several quiz shows taken off the airwaves in the wake of charges they were fixed.

The subcommittee heard testimony yesterday from two other former contestants that the "21" program was set up so that even the pauses between answers were planned in advance.

None of the testimony implicated Jack Barry, master of ceremonies

Education Is Among Top Assets of Michigan, Ambassadors Told

By MAX E. SIMON

Michigan's Industrial Ambassadors, diplomats spreading the gospel of the "Water Wonderland" throughout the nation, had a new talking point in their portfolios today.

D. B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University Oakland told them "one of the most undersold things in Michigan is its system of higher education."

MICHIGAN WAS FIRST

Varner pointed out that Michigan was the first state to establish a state university, an agricultural college and a teacher's college.

★ ★ ★

"Historically," he said, "Michigan is a trailblazer in higher education."

Varner said the state's facilities for higher education are among "if not, indeed, the finest" in America.

Varner addressed the Industrial Ambassadors on the MSUO campus. They are a group of business, industrial and civic leaders appointed by Gov. Williams to promote the growth of Michigan's industrial economy.

★ ★ ★

Merritt Hill, vice president of the Ford Motor Co. in charge of the Tractor & Implement Division, Birmingham, deplored "the fact that most of the state's own citizens aren't aware that there are 67 colleges and universities in Michigan."

SPREAD THE TRUTH

Hill, chairman of the Ambassadors' Executive Committee, told the group that many persons "have misconceptions about Michigan and it's up to us to correct them."

"In the past year, almost every publication you picked up had adverse publicity about our state," Hill noted.

★ ★ ★

"People who come into Michigan feeling sorry for the 'welfare state' are surprised to find no evidence of the alleged horrors," he declared.

"There's been too much talk about how bad Michigan is and not enough about how good it is," Hill declared.

The Ford vice president said the job of the organization was to extol the virtues of the state.

"If there's something you don't like, exercise your vote at the ballot box as an individual," Hill said.

NON-PROFIT GROUP

The Ambassadors are a non-profit, non-political organization.

"Michigan has many industries that other states want," Hill said. "Some moves by firms away from Michigan are inevitable."

★ ★ ★

Urging the Ambassadors to seek out industrial firms looking for a place to settle, Hill pointed out:

"We must not only be undertakers. We cannot wait for industry to find us.

"The state needs sincere and positive supporters to speak for it," he declared. "Nothing sells like enthusiasm."

Hill urged the Ambassadors to turn over the names of firms seeking a state in which to locate to the Michigan Economic Development Department.

BE LIKE TEXAS

"What we need in Michigan are people with guts—like they have in Texas. They start early down there with their young, teaching that Texas has the biggest and best of everything.

"Once they've bragged about their state, they're obliged to live up to it."

Michigan could use some "Texas feeling," he said.

Hill also told the Ambassadors it was their duty to "set the record straight" for the people living in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

A fact book on Michigan's advantages, put out by the Bell Telephone Co. and the Economic Development Department, is now on the presses, he said.

★ ★ ★

"Of the 453 categories of industry in the United States, 369, or 81 per cent, are to be found in Michigan," he stated.

Hill said that the Ambassadors could find 450 industrial development organizations and 300 chambers of commerce that would assist them in spreading "the Michigan story."

The meeting was attended by some 30 Ambassadors from Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. The organization has 250 members throughout the state.

It may grow to 500 or even 1,000, Hill said.

Chairman of the meeting was Edwin O. George, vice president of the Detroit Edison Co. and a member of the Ambassadors' Executive Committee.

Safeguard Curfew on Youths Pondered

rying punishments of up to $100 in fines and 90 days in jail.

The ordinance also provides that any adult convicted of encouraging or aiding a minor to break the curfew is subject to the same $100 fine and jail term.

As introduced, the ordinance would allow children to be out after curfew hours only if accompanied by parents, guardians or some adult approved by them.

It also would let teenagers in the 15 to 17 age group stay out until 1 a.m. one night a week, Friday.

This last provision prompted the only criticism voiced last night.

"Why make any exceptions to the hours?" asked Commissioner Wesley J. Wood. "If they should be home at midnight six days a week they should be home by then on Fridays, too."

Commissioners William W. Donaldson, Floyd P. Miles and John A. Dugan said the move would need study.

The Commission ignored or apparently was unaware of the fact that Pontiac has had a curfew on its books for almost 45 years.

A 1915 law sets a 9 p.m. summer curfew for children under 16 and 8 p.m. in the winter. It also carries provisions making parents and guardians responsible.

It's been such a long time since this curfew was enforced that even veteran policemen can't remember why enforcement stopped.

Most officers agree, however, that the curfew probably proved to be impractical.

Pontiac-MSUO Road in County's Planning

Oakland County authorities are considering a plan for a big entranceway to Michigan State University Oakland on the Pontiac side of the school, city commissioners were assured last night.

City Manager Walter K. Willman reported that the Oakland County Planning Commission was attempting to persuade the County Road Commission to build such a road.

J. Robert F. Swanson, chairman of the Plan Commission, favored such an entranceway after a study last year, according to George N. Scrubb, the commission's director.

★ ★ ★

Willman said that the Road Committee of the Board of Supervisors has "sympathetically" taken under consideration the Pontiac proposal for a big highway between the school and downtown Pontiac.

ALONG MT. CLEMENS

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles urged that city planners prepare plans for a broad boulevard along Mt. Clemens street from downtown to the gates of the school on Squirrel road in Pontiac Township.

"Our planners should present the county planners with definite proposals to show that we're really interested," Miles said.

A week ago, city commissioners met with members of the Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee and said that an MSUO boulevard would be beneficial to Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

If such a road were constructed, it would only be after agreement on costs by the city, county and Pontiac Township.

Willman reported that the Road Commission plans to pave Featherstone road between the city limits and Opdyke road next year.

The job will be in connection with paving Featherstone between Adams road and the Auburn Heights Nike site, which the federal government is going to pay for, said Robert O. Felt, Road Commission chairman.

HALF-MILE GRAVEL

The city paved Featherstone up to the city limits three years ago, but the half-mile stretch to Opdyke is still gravel.

Use Hospital for Classes?

Vacant Building Could Relieve Room Shortage, Committee Head Says

Juvenile Division officials are considering the possibility of using the vacant Oakland County Contagious Hospital to relieve a shortage of classrooms.

It's another in a long list of uses mentioned for the Telegraph road building since its rooms were emptied in August 1958 when Pontiac General Hospital's use of it as an annex ended.

Overlooking many requests that it be used as temporary quarters for mental patients awaiting transfer to regular mental institutions, supervisors have decided to keep the building strictly for county purposes, especially during construction of the new courthouse across the street.

One such county use might be to place the Juvenile Division's school program, now carried on in seven classrooms at the Children's Center on Telegraph and four rooms at the Youth Home on Cooley Lake road, under one roof.

This suggestion was advanced by Mrs. Helen G. Bonner, chairman of the Board of Supervisors' Juvenile Committee.

"Classrooms at the Youth Home are adequate and the class loads are held to a maximum of 20 pupils per room," she said. "No problems are anticipated for the next few years at the Youth Home.

"However, the Center has one adequate classroom and six makeshift rooms which are poorly ventilated and entirely too small for the number of children using them during our peak periods.

"At times it is necessary to provide education for as many as 47 children in these small, inadequate rooms," she said.

Presently, the education program for boys and girls confined by court order to the Center or Youth Home is under the operation of the Waterford Township School District, which provides a principal, 11 teachers and equipment.

It cost $53,847 last year to operate the court school program, $36,171 of which was paid by the county.

British Parties Drive to Wire

Make Last Desperate Attempt to End Labor, Conservative Deadlock

LONDON (AP)—Britain's political parties made lightning election-eve canvasses today in a final desperate effort to carry the country's huge bloc of uncommitted voters.

The latest public opinion poll showed 8½ per cent of the voters in 50 key districts in the "don't know" or "won't tell" column.

Even the chiefs of the two major parties were cagey about predicting the results of Thursday's election of a new House of Commons.

The weather — a telling factor in British elections — seemed uncertain, with rain forecast in the West, and sun for the east. Rain tends to keep the voters away. Past elections have shown Laborites to be more easily deterred than Conservatives.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative party, seeking a third term in control of the government, could draw a grain of encouragement from the latest Daily Telegraph poll, which gave them a 2½ per cent lead over their Labor party rivals in 50 key constituencies.

★ ★ ★

According to the poll, the Conservatives can bank on support from 42½ per cent of the electorate, while Labor has 40 per cent sewed up and the Liberals 4½ per cent.

★ ★ ★

Other recent polls have shown the two main parties — Labor and Conservative — racing neck-and-neck with up to one-fifth among the "don't knows." Britain has 35,400,000 eligible voters.

In 1955 the Conservatives won a 52-seat majority in the 630-seat House of Commons.

The party that gets a majority in Commons will form the next government. If the Conservatives win, Macmillan will be back as Britain's prime minister. If Labor wins, Hugh Gaitskell will take over.

Marshall Trial in Second Day

Daughter Says Victim Called Fatal Shooting 'an Accident'

A Commerce Township housewife testified in Circuit Court yesterday that her mother said she had been shot by her father, "but he didn't mean to do it . . . it was an accident."

Charged with manslaughter in the Feb. 15 shooting of his wife is Elmo Marshall, a 47-year-old unemployed former township resident now living in Madison Heights.

Marshall's 44-year-old wife, Mable, died April 6 in Pontiac General Hospital. The prosecution claims her death resulted from a single .38 caliber bullet which Marshall allegedly fired at his wife after he had been drinking.

While the Marshall trial moved into its second day before a jury of 10 women and two men and Judge H. Russel Holland, across the hall in Judge Frank L. Doty's courtroom another jury was being impaneled to hear the rape-kidnap case of Pontiac ex-convict Harold E. Martin.

Yesterday, Marshall's daughter, Mrs. Hazel A. Fishell, of 1841 Point Dr., told the jury how she first pleaded with her father to put away his .38 revolver after he asked her to have her mother come to him. The Marshalls lived with the Fishells.

"Almost immediately as she went out of sight into the bedroom I heard a shot and heard her say, 'Oh, Elmo,'" Mrs. Fishell testified.

'AN ACCIDENT'

Later in the hospital, Mrs. Fishell said, her mother said she didn't intend to press charges against her 300-pound husband because "it was an accident."

An original charge of careless use of firearms was dropped and a manslaughter warrant issued after Mrs. Marshall died.

Marshall, who lives with his daughter and son-in-law testified he was an expert marksman, was found unconscious in the Fishell home beside his wife, supposedly from an overdose of "six or seven" sleeping tablets he had taken before the shooting, Mrs. Fishell said.

Martin, a 21-year-old ex-convict, went to trial today, charged with kidnaping and raping a 17-year-old Pontiac girl last April after allegedly dragging her from her car following a collision.

Martin, of 739 E. Madison Ave., had been paroled from Ionia State Reformatory the week before where he was serving time as a probation violator resulting from a car theft conviction.

The Day in Birmingham

Hills' Schools Can Deal With Growth Two Years

BIRMINGHAM — Bloomfield Hills School District is in good shape to handle the estimated increase of pupils for the next two years, School Superintendent Eugene L. Johnson said today, but he foresees a need for additional facilities thereafter.

With an anticipated yearly growth of 400 pupils in the district, based on present trends, all but the new elementary school now under construction on Quarton road, and the Hickory Grove School where an addition is being added, probably will be filled to capacity in two years time.

"Fortunately," Johnson explained, "schools in Bloomfield Hills have been built with an eye to the future, so that additions can be made later. These will be much cheaper to build than more new schools," he added.

"Of course, we don't intend in the long run to end up with schools of several thousand enrollment each as has happened in Detroit," said Johnson. "Instead, we eventually will build more schools here in keeping with wishes of the area residents, favoring small classes and having schools nearby.

Total enrollment in Bloomfield Hills schools at the present time is 3,245. Last year at this time there were 2,827 pupils in the system.

The average size of classes in the district's elementary schools is 25.5 pupils; in the junior high, 28 pupils; and with 26 pupils in the senior high school.

Bloomfield Hills High School Principal Richard Spiess is representing his school at a conference on guidance and mathematics at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology which opened today and will last through Friday.

Only two representatives from Michigan schools were invited to the conference being attended by a hundred educators from across the country.

A technicolor movie based on the American Stock Exchange will be shown when the Senior Men's Club meets Friday in the Birmingham Community House. Following the movie, the club's Discussion Group will have for its topic "Is the United States Pricing Itself Out of the Market?

The Bloomfield Hills Camera Club will shoot both black and white and color pictures of dance models when it meets Oct. 15 at 8 p.m. in the Cranbrook Institute of Science Building.

Models will be Harriet Berg and her dancers.

Charles S. Kidder

Service for Charles S. Kidder, 77, of 348 Ferndale St., will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Cremation will follow at White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Kidder died yesterday after a long illness.

He was a life member of Birmingham Lodge No. 44 F&AM, Detroit Archery Club and the Senior Men's Club of Birmingham.

Surviving are his wife, Anna; two daughters, Mrs. Howard H. Darbo of Wheaton, Ill. and Mrs. W. F. deBerg of San Antonio, Texas; and two sisters, Mrs. L. F. Wardwell of Lansing and Agnes Rix Kidder of Rochester, N.Y.; and three grandchildren.

Mr. Kidder was purchasing agent for Standard Accident Insurance Co. and had been with the firm 52 years before his retirement in 1954.

Assassin Shoots Premier of Iraq

Abdel Karim Kassem Wounded in Shoulder; 9 P.M. Curfew Set

LONDON (UPI) — Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem was shot and slightly wounded today by an assassin, Baghdad Radio reported. His condition was reported "good."

★ ★ ★

Immediately after the announcement of the shooting, Baghdad Radio announced a proclamation by the military governor imposing a curfew effective at 9 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The announcement said the unsuccessful attempt on Kassem's life came while he was driving through a Baghdad street in the afternoon. It said he was shot in the shoulder.

Baghdad Radio broke into a routine news broadcast at 12:05 p.m. (EST) to announce the attempt on Kassem's life.

Alleged Terrorist Will Be Given Sanity Hearing

A Detroit man, arrested Sept. 4 in Commerce Township by Oakland County sheriff's deputies after allegedly terrorizing a Dearborn Township couple for seven hours, will be examined by a two-member sanity commission.

Harold G. Bloom, 30, of 19039 Hubbell, stood mute to a charge of assault with intent to murder Tuesday before Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Frank Fitzgerald, who appointed the sanity commission.

Bloom was apprehended by deputies at a gas station at Pontiac trail and Haggerty road where he had driven Mr. and Mrs. George Barnes of 7017 Mayburn St.

Barnes charged that Bloom had shot him in the chest with a speargun and had thrown ammonia in his wife's face.

and co-producer of "21," in the alleged rigging.

Herbert Stempel, a $49,500 winner on "21", said he dealt with co-producer Dan Enright, who supplied him with the answers.

But James E. Snodgrass, another TV quiz contestant, said he was coached only by Alfred Freedman, a production assistant.

Highlights of yesterday's testimony:

— Snodgrass dramatically opened at the hearing a letter he wrote to himself 28 months ago. It listed questions that were asked him on "21" two days after he dropped the letter in a mailbox. He said he wrote it because he figured someday he might need it for proof of rigging.

— Snodgrass said he double-crossed Freedman on a May 20, 1957, program by answering correctly a question he had been instructed to miss. He said Freedman protested that "I had ruined him and had thrown out of whack" the budget of prize money allowed by the sponsors.

Charles Van Doren sent the committee a telegram today reiterating his statement that he never had been supplied with any questions or answers during his appearances on "21."

★ ★ ★

He also said he has no knowledge of any assistance having been given to any other contestant. Van Doren said he was available to the committee to repeat his statements.

Convair B58 Proves Low Sneak Possible

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — The Air Force's high-flying Hustler—the Convair B58—has made a 700-mile-per-hour hedge-hopping trip to California to prove it can fly low and sneak under radar defenses to hit the enemy.

★ ★ ★

The Hustler flew the 1,400 miles from Fort Worth to Edwards Air Force Base in the Mojave Desert at 500 feet above the ground.

It made a simulated low-level attack on the base last week and then flew back to Fort Worth—all in four hours and three minutes, and all without stopping or refueling.

"The low-level bombing run proved that the Hustler has enemy penetration capabilities greater than any other aircraft in existence," said Frank W. Davis, Convair vice president and manager of the Fort Worth plant where the bomber is built.

The company claims that the big four-jet bomber can fly higher than any other airplane in the world and can exceed mach 2 — twice the speed of sound.

said there are no layoffs at present.

"Layoffs are coming," he said, "but they are not in the immediate offing."

A layoff schedule has not been completed at the present time, he said.

★ ★ ★

Officials of the Saginaw Steering Gear Division said at least 1,000 workers will be laid off this weekend. The plant employs 4,200.

★ ★ ★

About half the Chevrolet assembly plants have been ordered on four-day work weeks. Chevrolet is the only one of GM's car-manufacturing divisions to be so affected.

Ternstedt said it has enough supplies of finished materials for all cars GM expects to build with current steel inventories.

GM and Chrysler Corp. officials said they hope to continue auto assemblies into early November, even if the steel strike continues.

Ford Motor Co., the other member of the auto industry's big three, produces about half its own steel and is in better shape.

★ ★ ★

Ford officials said last week the company hoped to continue assemblies 45 days. Workers in the Ford steel operation are members of the United Auto Workers Union.

Richardson, 66, died last week of a heart attack. He is survived by two sisters, a nephew and a niece.

Some Showers Expected

Rainy Spell Eases Up

By The Associated Press

The monsoon-like weather that gripped the mid-continent the last several days appeared, for the most part, to have ended early today.

Some rain, however, fell from the lower Great Lakes eastward through Ohio and Pennsylvania into the New England states and along the western slopes of the Appalachians southward to the Gulf Coast area.

★ ★ ★

Up to Tuesday midnight, the Weather Bureau reported, Gladwin, Mich., got 1½ inches of rain in six hours; Binghamton, N.Y., got 1.24 and Chattanooga, Tenn., 1.18.

Some rain and snow fell in the Rockies. Cut Bank and Great Falls, Mont., each had about 1 inch of snow on the ground.

Occasional rain will fall from the northern Great Lakes eastward to the north Atlantic coast, from Florida up the East Coast and over the Pacific Northwest. Elsewhere, it will be mostly fair.

Lake Huron Fishermen in for Whitefish Boom

LANSING (UPI) — A comeback of whitefish in Lake Huron could mean "a lot of money in fishermen's pockets," Conservation Department officials said today.

A. B. Cook, head of the department's fish division, said whitefish populations vary to a great extent every five to 10 years and that populations are greatly affected by weather conditions.

★ ★ ★

The Bay City Times, in a dispatch by staff writer Neil Smith, last week quoted some commercial fishing executives as predicting a big catch in 1960 or 1961.

After 3 Hungry Days in Car

Gloom Ebbs for Family

A destitute family which spent three nights living in their automobile faces a brighter future, thanks to a Pontiac policeman and the local Salvation Army.

★ ★ ★

Patrolman William W. Nightingale was at the front desk when a young man walked into the Public Safety Building last night claiming that a friend owed him money and had failed to pay the debt.

Upon questioning, Nightingale learned the man and his wife, both 22, and their two-year-old child, had been living in their 1951 Chevrolet for three days.

"He said it had been that long since they had a good meal," Nightingale said. The man, who would not release his name for publication, said he had been looking for a job.

DOESN'T WANT CHARITY

"I don't want charity, just work," he said.

Nightingale took the man and his family to his home at 45 W. New York Ave. and gave them a hot meal.

He then gave them a Salvation Army welfare order slip entitling them to a free night's lodging at a Pontiac hotel and breakfast today.

★ ★ ★

"The baby was quite sick and should get medical attention," Nightingale said.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman at the Salvation Army Citadel said this morning he would try to contact the destitute couple to tell them he already has a job for the husband.

U.S. Court Upholds Civil Rights Legality

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—A three-judge federal court today upheld the constitutionality of the federal civil rights commission.

However, the court ruled the commission could not force Louisiana voter registrars to testify without first advising them of charges against them.

The original suit was filed by Atty. Gen. Jack Gremillion on behalf of the vote registrars. It asked that hearings by the commission on voter registration complaints by Negroes be stopped.

What Time Is It? Don't Use Clock Across the Hall

TIPTON, Ind. (UPI) — Tipton County residents can change "time zones" this winter simply by walking across the hall from one office to another in their county courthouse.

★ ★ ★ ★

Tipton Circuit Judge Oliver Wheatley ruled yesterday that the county clerk's office, the county courtroom and the County Welfare Department under his jurisdiction will remain on "fast" time all winter.

★ ★ ★

The other county offices not under Wheatley's jurisdiction already have moved back to "slow" time in accordance with the widely-disregarded 1957 state time law.

Youths 'Bomb' High School Just for Kicks

PRICHARD, Ala. (AP)—Playing hooky to go fishing is just too tame for the younger generation. Nowadays, it's hop in a plane and bomb the old high school.

The "bombs" were paper bags filled with flour and the two 18-year-old Vigor High School bombardiers said it was all in fun.

But Clarence L. Pierce, who has a private pilot's license, was charged with reckless operation of an aircraft and placed under $500 bond and James L. O'Clair was charged with disorderly conduct and placed under $200 bond.

One flour bomb burst on the roof of the auditorium and others fell in the school yard. No one was hit. Witnesses jotted down the plane's registration number. Pierce and O'Clair were arrested next day.

Publisher Dies, Workers Strike

12 Compositors Demand Recognition of Union in Massachusetts

BEVERLY, Mass. (UPI) —The Beverly Evening Times suffered a double blow today when its longtime publisher died and 12 composing room employes went on strike demanding union recognition.

Lewis R. Hovey, 85, died at 1 a.m. at his Haverhill home after an 18-month illness. Six hours later 12 composing room employes set up picket lines at the plant in a bid to win recognition of the International Typographical Union as their bargaining agent.

Five press room employes did not cross the picket line.

The Times said the strike was called despite the strikers' knowledge of Hovey's death. He had owned and published the 67-year-old daily for the past 27 years.

The paper said the composing room employes refused to recognize the National Labor Relations Board though the paper had requested the board to hold a bargaining election at the plant.

Elimination of the non-Communist affidavit in the new Labor-Management Law permitted the NLRB to recognize the union despite its refusal to have its officers file the affidavit, a refusal which previously kept the NLRB out of ITU elections.

Hovey's sons, Laurance, general manager, and Carleton, managing editor, announced the paper would not interrupt publication.

"As rapidly as possible, all of the jobs left by the former employes will be filled with new personnel," the paper said.

★ ★ ★

Besides Laurance and Carleton, the publisher leaves his eldest son Martin who joined his brothers today to help keep the paper running.

Ruling Decides Counties Can Call Extra Election

LANSING (AP)— Counties may schedule a special election any time for a public vote on increasing the 15-mill property tax limitation set by the state constitution, says Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams.

Counties with more than 500,000 people, however, may not conduct such an election on the day of a presidential election, Adams said yesterday in an opinion sought by Prosecutor Robert A. Cavanaugh of Muskegon County.

Adams said it is not necessary for counties to limit special millage elections to regular, primary or special primary election days.

The anesthetic used on Mrs. Kuhn, 24, for an oral operation just before she collapsed and died in the office of Dr. Edward Warner here might have contributed to her demise, according to the medical examiner Dr. Edward S. Zawadzki. But death was "purely accidental," he ruled.

Sales, Stocks Down in August

Steel Strike Blamed in Part as Factory Level Hit Hardest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sales and business inventories declined in August, partly because of the steel strike, the Commerce Department reported today.

★ ★ ★

Sales by retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers dipped by $2,200,000,000 on a seasonally adjusted basis. The biggest drop was at the factory level but wholesale and retail activity also slowed.

Despite the dip, retail sales in August were 6 per cent higher than the same period a year ago.

Total business inventories dipped by $400,000,000 because of reduction in steel stockpiles and a heavy sell-off of an unusually large backlog of new cars.

The steel strike "accounted for a large part of the decline in manufacturing," the department said.

Sales at retail stores total $24,900,000,000, some $200,000,000 below the all-time high posted in July. Small increases were reported for furniture, drug and food stores. Declines occurred at eating and drinking places, clothing and department stores.

Department economists said they could not determine how much of the one per cent drop in retail sales could be blamed on the steel strike and how much was merely a random change.

Inventories at all levels totalled $88,500,000,000, up $4,400,000,000 from August 1958.

Test Sewage in Iowa; Theory of Spreading Due for Change?

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — The polio virus remains a very real menace for slum dwellers, studies of last summer's epidemic here indicate.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Tom Chin, director of a government field station virus laboratory at Kansas City, said the Des Moines cases showed a direct relationship to slum living.

★ ★ ★

In fact, Chin said, epidemics in the slums may be more dangerous now than before the Salk vaccine was developed.

Chin said he analyzed sewage samples and found that "almost no viruses were in samples from better residential sections while samples from slum areas were heavily infected."

City Health Director James Speers said Chin's findings might destroy the old theory that polio viruses spread evenly over a city.

★ ★ ★

Speers said he would "guess about 75 per cent" of the city's 166 polio cases last summer came from sub-standard housing areas. Four deaths were reported.

FDR Didn't Want Political Fight

'1944 Campaign History's Dirtiest'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Franklin D. Roosevelt called his 1944 presidential contest with Thomas E. Dewey "the dirtiest campaign in history."

"The little man made me pretty mad," the late President wrote later to his eldest son, Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif).

"Father had hoped to avoid partisan political speeches in his last campaign," the younger Roosevelt writes in a newly published biography of his father, "but . . . Dewey's insidious, rather oily thrusts got his dutch up, and father began swinging mightily and effectively."

* * *

Roosevelt's book, written with the help of Sidney Shalett, is called, "Affectionately, F. D. R., A Son's Story of a Lonely Man." It is a warm portrait, a "document of love" as the son describes it, of the man who won the presidency four times and led the country during World War II.

Rep. Roosevelt said at the time of the 1944 Democratic convention in Chicago his father "professed not to 'give a damn' whether the delegates came up with Justice Douglas, Jimmy Byrnes, or Sen. Harry Truman" as his running mate.

3 MENTIONED

Truman, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and war mobilizer James F. Byrnes, who later held other government posts, all were prominently mentioned for the nomination.

Political experts believe Roosevelt could have had his way in the naming of a vice presidential candidate. As it turned out Truman won the nomination and succeeded to the presidency when Roosevelt died on April 12, 1945, at Warm Springs, Ga.

* * *

James Roosevelt said he met his father in his private railroad car at Camp Pendleton, Calif., while the Chicago convention was in full swing.

"I was struck by father's irritability over what was happening in Chicago and by his apparent indifference as to whom the convention selected as his fourth-term running mate.

PREFERRED DOUGLAS

"He made it clear that he was resigned to the dumping of Vice President Henry A. Wallace; he felt that Wallace had become a political liability.

"Although father did not commit himself, I came away with the distinct impression that he really preferred Justice Douglas as the vice presidential nominee."

Rep. Roosevelt also discloses these tidbits about F. D. R.:

The president "almost died from an overdose of chloroform" at birth.

* * *

In World War I, while he was assistant secretary of the navy, he "almost got his head blown off" when a young seaman pulled the lanyard of a gun that happened to be aimed at the bridge of the destroyer Dyer. The shell whistled by a few feet away from Roosevelt as he stood on the bridge.

* * *

The President's father wanted to name him Isaac after his grandfather, but his mother detested the name and wouldn't allow it. "My only regret," writes the President's son, "is that, had tradition been respected, there would have been an 'Ike'—Ike Roosevelt!—in the White House long before the advent of a certain military man."

Princess Michiko Given Empress' Maternity Obi

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Princess Michiko, who expects her first baby next March, today received a traditional maternity obi from Empress Nagako.

Crown Prince Akihito looked on as his mother presented the thick white silk sash to the princess, a commoner before her marriage.

Congratulatory gifts then were exchanged with the Emperor and empress, members of the royal family, and Michiko's parents, industrialist Hidesaburo Shoda and his wife.

Rockefeller May Visit Oregon Soon

SALEM, Ore. (AP)—New York Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller, a possible candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, may visit Oregon soon.

Oregon Gov. Mark Hatfield said Monday Rockefeller will come to Oregon sometime before the state's primary elections next May.

Hatfield, also a Republican, has been mentioned as a possible vice presidential running mate for Rockefeller.

Process Starts Again

Taft-Hartley Act Invoked 3 Times in Dock Walkouts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower has now invoked the Taft-Hartley Act three times to halt strikes by dockworkers on East and Gulf coasts.

Tuesday's appointment of a fact-finding board, first step on the road to an 80-day back-to-work injunction, recalled similar moves in 1953 and 1956. All were directed against the powerful International Longshoremen's Association (ILA).

The 1953 case began with appointment of a board of inquiry on Oct. 1, the day the strike began. An injunction blocked a walkout until Dec. 24 of that year. The strike resumed after the court order expired, however, and a settlement in New York was not achieved until early April. Other port tieups ended in February.

In 1956, a fact-finding board was named 10 days after the walkout began. An 80-day injunction was issued on Nov. 24. Again, the strike resumed after the injunction expired. It was settled on Feb. 23, 11 days after the injunction ran out.

* * *

Government officials explained that dock strikes require fast federal action because of the paralyzing effect on shipments of fresh food, fuel oil and other vital supplies.

An embargo on rail freight to East and Gulf Coast ports also has a sharp impact on the economy, the officials said.

Communities Oppose Kenowa Water Plan

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Voters in East Grand Rapids, Hudsonville and Paris Township refused to support the controversial Kent-Ottawa Metropolitan Water Authority (Kenowa) in special referendums Monday.

Zeeland voters, however, favored joining the authority.

* * *

Wyoming and Grandville had already signed water purchase contracts with Kenowa, and officials of the two cities said that no matter how yesterday's balloting went, the project would still go ahead.

Grand Rapids had rejected Kenowa earlier and developed its own metropolitan water plan.

President Urges Prayers for Peace From Us All

In a proclamation issued last July 30, President EISENHOWER urged Americans of all faiths to turn to the Almighty on Oct. 7 in a National Day of Prayer.

★ ★ ★

"Let us remember," he wrote, "that our God is the God of all men, that only as all men are free can liberty be secure for any, and that only as all prosper can any be content in their good fortune."

★ ★ ★

This was before the plans for the KHRUSHCHEV visit and the return visit by EISENHOWER. About this time MIKOYAN, Soviet First Deputy Premier, meeting with a group of American businessmen in his Kremlin office, urged the religious among them to pray that the exchange of visits would lead to a peaceful solution of all differences between the U.S.S.R. and the United States.

★ ★ ★

Just recently Premier KHRUSHCHEV said while visiting the GARST farm in Iowa, "They who believe in God in our country pray for peace."

After the Khrushchev departure, Pope John XXIII called upon all the world's Christian people to pray throughout the month of October that the rulers of all the nations be guided in the paths of peace.

★ ★ ★

Today being National Prayer Day, we should all set aside just a few moments to thank God for all that we have and ask that our good fortune will continue through world peace.

Algerian Rebels' Reply Raises Peace Hopes

In replying to Gen. DE GAULLE'S program of self-determination, the so-called Algerian government in exile has met him at least halfway.

Although their authority is not recognized by France, rebel leaders have agreed to discuss a cease fire and no longer insist on full independence as a basis for negotiations. If there is to be a truce, this faction will have to be dealt with.

★ ★ ★

DE GAULLE'S offer went far beyond any previously made. It called for a four year period of peace after which a popular referendum would determine whether Algeria was to become integrated into France, secede from it or gain independence.

Worldwide response to the French offer coupled with a warning by Pres. Bourguiba of Tunisia that moderation would win support, may have influenced the rebels. Bourguiba has favored their cause and given refuge to rebel troops retreating across the border.

★ ★ ★

No settlement can please both the majority and minority in Algeria. But under the stern leadership of Gen. DE GAULLE a middle ground is now provided to end the cruel and costly war.

Khrushchev Campaigns for Increased U.S. Trade

When Premier KHRUSHCHEV visited this country he never missed a chance to talk of more trade between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"Trade is like a barometer," he said on his appearance at the National Press Club in Washington. "It shows the direction of the development of policy. We sincerely want the barometer always to indicate fine weather."

★ ★ ★

All well and good. But Russian terms and conditions are more of a barrier to increased trade than anything Congress or the State Department has done. The Soviet government rigidly controls all exports and dictates terms which would be unacceptable to American businessmen. We have very little commerce with the U.S.S.R. In any case there is not much produced in Russia that we do not make here or can buy more easily elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

Under the 1934 Johnson Act long term private credit to a defaulting country is prohibited. The Soviet Union is in default to the amount of $573 million from World War I and World War II Lend-Lease is not yet settled. The United States has offered to write off all military Lend-Lease and settle the $2.6 billion of civilian goods for $800 million. Moscow offers only $300 million.

★ ★ ★

To the Soviet Union trade is a political weapon used all too often to wreck the economies of unsuspecting nations by dumping or sharp barter deals. At present any increase in U.S. trade with the U.S.S.R. would have to be for I.O.U.'s rather than goods or cash and that is out of the question.

Officials of our State Department are of the opinion that better diplomatic relations and easing of international tensions should come first and that increased trade would be automatic as confidence returned.

The Man About Town

The Rains Came

And They're Now Spoiling Our Autumn Color Display

Sheer: Wit or stockings by which the gals get by.

We must face the facts, and tell our readers that the autumn foliage display in the Pontiac area this year is not up to its usual standard. The rains of the past few days have caused many of the leaves to fall before they had reached the peak of their coloring.

To be sure, there's plenty of color yet on the trees, and it is worth a drive into the country to see. But, when judged by most previous years, it will be a disappointment.

In our failure to put the rainbow to shame, we must remember that this moisture was needed to get the ground into proper condition before the coming of winter. So, what we lose in eye appeal we gain in a financial way.

Hardly Abreast of the Neighborhood

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Public Should Settle Strikes

WASHINGTON—Right in front of our eyes a test of the strength of the democratic system is going on. The steel strike has produced such big losses to the public that many people — looking for the easy way out — are urging the government to step in and "do something." This is supposed to lead to a "settlement."

LAWRENCE

But, once the people give up control of their own affairs in peacetime and decide to let the government fix wages and prices, the party in power will be in a position to decide everything else — including the government's use of tax money as capital to buy up the steel industry, the railroads and any other business.

The bystanders who want the Taft-Hartley Act invoked know, of course, that at the end of the 80-day "cooling off" period under that law there is no legal obligation upon either the employers or the unions to agree to a settlement.

But what then is the solution? If it is not to be a government-imposed settlement, what can be done? Is compulsory arbitration a way out? The answer to this is that it depends on which side has the political influence to choose the arbitrators.

There is, indeed, a solution and it's the only democratic way to bring about the settlement of big strikes. It's by laying the case in all its details before the court of public opinion. If the American people, including the workers themselves, could really get a clear picture of the principles involved, there is no question about what the verdict would be in each case. For the public, including the workers, can tell what is fair and who is right.

If it means that one side makes all the concessions, and that once a point is conceded in a given year it becomes permanent and never can be changed in collective-bargaining agreements in future years, even if economic conditions change, then indeed the process is so inflexible that it is no longer "bargaining." It becomes instead a dictated settlement with one side—the more powerful economic group at the time—becoming the dictator.

Take the latest move in the steel strike. For weeks the unions have been complaining that industry had made no offer and that there was no "negotiating" going on. The industry did make an offer in the last few days. It was immediately rejected by the unions as "totally unacceptable."

Is it possible that in this long and complicated offer, which included many benefits in pensions, insurance and unemployment compensation in the first year and a wage increase in the second year, there was nothing acceptable to the unions?

To ask the question is to answer it. David McDonald, head of the Steelworkers Union, in commenting on the offer, publicly conceded that there would be pension and insurance benefits, but he objected to the unions' paying anything for them. He declared that for the industry and the unions each to pay half of the increased benefits meant a decrease in "take-home pay" for the workers.

Since when is the money contributed toward pension and insurance benefits no longer an investment of pay by the employe and merely a cost to be paid 100 per cent by the employer? Must all "fringe" benefits hereafter be paid for by the employer by means of an increase in wages to cover all such pension and insurance costs? If so, then there is no other way out of it but to increase steel prices and bring on more and more inflation that causes the dollar to decline in purchasing power and penalizes especially the fixed-income citizens, of whom there are millions.

What is needed is more publicity —more public discussion of the facts underlying the steel dispute. For they do indeed concern the public. Unfortunately, too many people say, "Let the government settle it." But that's the way to state control of everything, and, if that's coming, there had better be a few apologies offered soon to Khrushchev.

The Country Parson

"Narrow his view and muzzle him and you can make a man work like a horse—but not live like a man."

Dr. William Brady Says:

This Health Brochure Just Leaves Me Cold

An elaborate brochure, complete with comical pictures, begins by saying "the common cold is one of the great unsolved mysteries of modern life."

The corporation that published this brochure nearly lets the cat out of the bag with a picture of the stereotyped chin-wagger buttonholing the familiar Mr. Milktoast and the legend: "You can catch it before the other fellow knows he's got it. Two days before a chap knows he's got a cold, he can pass it on to others."

DR. BRADY

"Signs of a cold appear one to four days after exposure," says the amusing brochure. If you are not quite sure what exposure means just turn to another page where any bright second grade pupil can read learn "how to avoid catching cold," thus:

1. Keep feet warm and dry by wearing rubbers and overshoes.
2. Keep out of drafts.

Assuming the corporation pays with its own money for the preparation and distribution of such a brochure, one wonders why. Could employes learn anything from such ludicrous double talk that will reduce absenteeism or loss of production man hours?

"You don't actually catch cold by being chilled or wet," the amazing brochure tells you. "But your resistance to cold infection is lowered."

Prior to publication of this brochure, "resistance" was just a bit of pseudo-scientific hokum used by one wiseacre to confuse another.

This amazing brochure shows how "one good sneeze can send 20,000 infection-laden droplets shooting up to 12 feet" but makes no allusion to the germ-laden spray droplets that polite conversation sends shooting up to five feet.

Wet feet or dry, stagnant air or draft, respiratory (accent the long i) infections, which give doctors three-fourths of their everyday work, are transmitted via the moisture droplets in conversation spray, droplets perhaps invisibly and impalpably fine, but germ-laden nevertheless. Only the rudest persons cough or sneeze in your face, but how many barbers, manicurists, cashiers, opticians, optometrists, oculists, laryngologists, otologists or dentists wear a mask when serving you, for your protection against whatever respiratory infection they may have and for their own protection against whatever infection you may have.

The big corporation's brochure or whoever prepared it reveals either ignorance of or contempt for the conclusions reached by experts in England who studied for three years the effects of everyday exposure to cold, damp, drafts etc. on volunteer subjects, under supervision of the British Medical Research Council.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Men Use Whisky as 'Fire Escape'

Jeff started to drink to "keep up with the Joneses." But he had a St. Paul temperament, plus an inner shame that burned him constantly. So he finally used whisky as the "fire escape." When his wife removed the inner torment, he didn't need the fire escape, and soon sobered up permanently. Wives send for the booklet below, if your mates have passed 40.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE C-463: Jeff B., aged 44, is now a drunken bum, though he formerly was a successful lawyer.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, what can I do?" begged Jeff's attractive wife, as she nervously toyed with her handkerchief.

"He used to be such a wonderful man. And the children were so fond of their daddy.

DR. CRANE

"At one time he seemed headed for big things. Some of his friends even told him he'd become the governor of our state.

"Then something went wrong. He began to drink with his clients and occasionally would stagger home.

"I tried to get him to quit and he promised he would do so, but he always would backslide within a week.

"Now he has lost most of his practice and we can't even afford the rent on his office.

"I love Jeff and it grieves me doubly to see such a talented lawyer destroyed by liquor. Dr. Crane, is there anything else I can do to help salvage him?"

WHAT MAKES DRUNKARDS

Some people, by temperament, are prone to become drunkards if they ever start using liquor.

★ ★ ★

They are like St. Paul, for they are the "all-or-nothing" type. They don't like to do things halfway.

Thus, they don't sip liquor just to kill time or occupy their hands during a conversation with friends. No, they want to empty the bottle.

St. Paul would probably have been a chronic drunkard if he had ever touched the bottle, for he was a zealot who didn't do things by halves.

Thus, he ferreted out the early Christians and even helped direct the stoning of Stephen, the first Christian martyr.

St. Paul was as fanatical in his zeal, as Hitler. But when he made his dramatic right-about-face on the road to Damascus, then he was just as fervent in preaching Christianity.

★ ★ ★

In my experience, a lot of brilliant men who become drunkards are of the St. Paul temperament.

But most people start use of liquor because of inner cowardice. They are socially shy and afraid to stand apart from the crowd, so they take their first martini at a party just to "keep up with the Joneses."

Teenagers are doubly afraid of being conspicuous so they dread bucking the crowd. Thus, they easily stampede into using cigarettes or liquor, even though they know better.

FIRE ESCAPE

And people who suffer from some inner "burn," due to failure in marriage or in business or because they were dropped from a college athletic team or failed to win a scholarship, etc., may try to run away from their inner humiliation.

We psychiatrists regard drunkenness as similar to a fire escape from a flaming building. Put out the fire and people will not need to use the fire escape.

Drunkards need to be analyzed so we can detect the inner burning shame (fire) that makes them run into drunken oblivion.

In Jeff's case, it had been dread of becoming a platonic husband. He thought he had slipped in his erotic vigor.

His wife soon cured him by the advice in my booklet "How to Prevent Impotence."

'Everyone's Entitled to His Own Belief'

I read in the Press that the so-called Christians are at it again trying to outlaw grocery sales on Sunday. If I remember right, the Pilgrims left England to worship God as they wished.

★ ★ ★

Now what about the people that worship on days other than Sunday? Are they to be forced to close their places of business and worship on Sundays as we do? This is one of the few rights that haven't been taxed yet.

★ ★ ★

Are we that worship on Sunday going to take others' rights away? No one has a right to take a man's means of support, and if people don't approve of businesses being open on Sunday, they don't have to patronize them. They can just mind their own.

Everything Washington runs costs the most possible. Home talent school authorities run schools the most economically, for they are part of the taxpayers that foot the bill.

★ ★ ★

Don't let Congress have anything to do with schools, school aid or school management. If we keep on we'll have the government owning and running everything like in Russia.

'We Should Help Our Own First'

We wonder why there's so much delinquency. It isn't all parents' fault. I met a young lad, poorly dressed, 15 or 16, and I asked him why he wasn't in school. His mother had asked him to stay home a few days until she could get him some clothes.

★ ★ ★

His father worked on welfare, and he had nine brothers and sisters and another on the way. He seemed very intelligent and said he hoped to finish high school and wanted to learn more about drafting so he could get a good job. A brother 18 was working as a mechanic in a gas station and helped the family some. The father had worked at Pontiac Motor but was laid off and never called back.

We have money to send to foreign countries, but we don't take care of our own people. In this richest country in the world, we have children going to bed hungry every night, so why not take care of our people at home before we reach across to foreign lands?

High Official Predicts Compromise Due Soon on Nuclear Impasse

OMAHA (AP)—The French air force chief of staff predicts U.S. Air Force planes with their nuclear weapons will be permitted to return to their former bases in France.

Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, arriving at Strategic Air Command headquarters Tuesday night, hinted a compromise is being worked out between his government and the United States.

Last spring French President Charles de Gaulle told the United States it could no longer store nuclear weapons in France unless American nuclear secrets were shared with his government. The Air Force withdrew some 250 aircraft from France.

But negotiations are now in progress between the two governments and the dispute "most certainly will be resolved," said Gen. Jouhaud.

Winnie Won't Use Spectacles From Now On

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill, 84, a long-time glasses wearer, read an election speech without his spectacles Tuesday night and said that's the way he'll see from now on.

★ ★ ★

Pink-faced and impish, the former prime minister turned up at a Conservative election rally in the London suburb of Walthamstow. After rattling through a 10-minute address in support of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, Churchill picked up a pair of glasses from the table and brandished them before the cheering crowd.

★ ★ ★

"I must tell you before I sit down that I have abandoned the use of glasses," Churchill announced. "I put them down and there they stayed."

Sir Winston, campaigning for re-election to the House of Commons, toured in an open car Tuesday through the Woodford district he has represented since 1945.

GM Ternstedt Plant Layoffs Are Started

FLINT (AP) — Ternstedt Division of General Motors Corp. began at the close of Tuesday's shift "the progressive layoff" of 4,400 hourly rated workers because of the continuing national steel strike.

Ternstedt said 750 were laid off Tuesday and that by Oct. 23 the number would total 4,400, leaving only 1,200 office, tool room and maintenance employes on the payroll.

The Ternstedt plant here makes body hardware for GM cars. The division said it has approximately as much hardware built as GM can use before the steel strike would shut down its automobile assemblies.

Ternstedt's is the first large layoff here chargeable to the steel strike, although the AC Sparkplug Division recently laid off 90 in its air cleaner manufacturing department.

Five GM divisions have Flint plants employing approximately 55,000.

Ike Heads Back to Washington by Jet Thursday

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—President Eisenhower, his vacation to shake a cold nearing an end, spends his last full day in the Southern California sunshine today.

Early Thursday morning the President will head back to Washington by jet plane. He is scheduled to arrive in the capital in late afternoon.

In Los Angeles a group of striking steel workers announced plans to drive to the President's vacation retreat today to protest what they term "threatened use of the slave-labor Taft-Hartley injunction" provisions for a back-to-work court order.

As for the nagging cold which the President has been trying to cure in this desert climate, his doctor has reported it yielding to a prescription of sun basking.

On tap for today was another round of golf at the exclusive El Dorado Country Club course. Since his arrival a week ago the President has played five 18-hole rounds. Otherwise he has spent most of his time taking it easy at the secluded home of his host, old friend George E. Allen.

View Tentative MSUO Community Plan

By LEE WINBORN

School officials in the Michigan State University Oakland area last night heard study director Robert H. Hotaling, MSU urban planning specialist, give a presentation of a tentative guide plan for the university community.

★ ★ ★

Present at the meeting called by the Avon-Pontiac Townships Regional Planning Commission were Board of Education members and administrators from Rochester Community and Avondale school districts and Cloyd I. Houts, director of maintenance and operation for Pontiac City Schools.

★ ★ ★

They learned what plans the commission was making to cope with influences from the Pontiac and Detroit metropolitan areas as the affected orderly development of the new university community.

★ ★ ★

The group was told that the first draft of the Land Use Guide Plan used to illustrate Hotaling's remarks was a "purely tentative over-all approach" to the growth problem.

The planning specialist elaborated on the possibilities of locating high schools and elementary schools in key density areas.

★ ★ ★

He said particularly that governmental boundaries had not been considered in forming the present plan.

Donald C. Baldwin, superintendent of Rochester Community Schools, made two suggestions which Hotaling said would be taken into consideration as a permanent plan was developed.

★ ★ ★

One was that school officials in his district preferred smaller elementary schools to serve smaller areas than those proposed, mainly to help keep bus transportation to a minimum.

The other major comment Baldwin made was that contrary to the plan which showed schools located right on main arteries, his board has learned by experience that schools should be set further back in the new subdivisions primarily for safety's sake.

★ ★ ★

Board members and Superintendent of Schools LeRoy R. Watt of the Avondale district were disappointed that planning for the university community which covers a 22-square mile area did not extend further into their district.

Nonetheless they expressed their interest in the proposed program of expansion.

The Planning Commission had an hour-long business meeting before the educators joined the group at which time committee appointments made by Chairman L. Rex Bebout were approved.

Named to serve on the Guide Plan Committee were Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, Sidney Q. Ennis, Dr. S. L. Slowik and Douglas Owen.

Members of the Zoning committee are Lloyd Ludy, Mrs. Peter Garland, E. Tilson Peabody and James Ludwig.

On the Subdivision Plat Committee are George Karas, Bebout and Ludy, and on the Capital Improvements Committee, Cyril E. Miller, Leroy Davis, Peabody and Eklund.

All will serve for one year.

In other action, the Commission accepted the plat presented by Karas, director of the physical plant at MSUO, for the new faculty subdivision to be located on a 157-acre plot across Adams road from the university property.

Karas explained that the Oakland County Drain and Road Commissions have approved the subdivision and that water and sewer line construction is ready for bids.

A well drilled on the site and has been approved by the State Health Dept.

★ ★ ★

A Detroit developer, B. L. Smokler, presented a proposed plan for University Heights Subdivision.

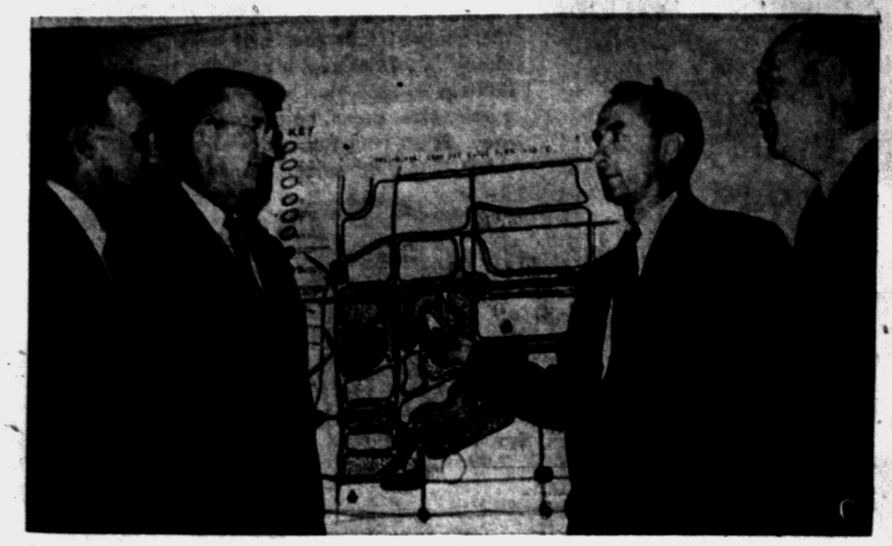

The 175-acre parcel is bounded by Adams and Tienken roads, Walton boulevard and Bellarmine Hills subdivision.

He said he was tentatively planning 14 acres for multiple housing to contain 180 one-story garden apartments and the rest of the $18,000 to $22,000 price bracket.

His plan called for 80-foot frontage and 90 feet at the corners with 120 feet in depth or 9,600 square feet.

The Commission pointed out that a precedent had been set in the university community for a standard limitation of 22,000 square feet with 100 feet at the building lot line.

Smokler agreed to revise his plans, saying that they had been presented last night mainly to get the Commission's reaction to the subdivision.

Carver School Needs More Aid

Troubled Royal Oak Twp. District Running on Borrowed Time, $$

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — The George Washington Carver School District here, already heavy in debt, is functioning on borrowed time and money.

Loans totaling $125,000 to meet teachers' salaries and school maintenance costs have been recommended by state-appointed temporary Superintendent Harry Nesman.

A sum of $25,000 already has been borrowed on primary state aid tax; $50,000 has been loaned the district by the Detroit City Bank.

The school also has received $43,000 in state aid since classes resumed last month.

WANTS $50,000

Nesman has further recommended borrowing an additional $50,000 subject to approval of state Superintendent of Schools Lyn Bartlett.

The Michigan State Finance Commission appointed Nesman to untangle the school district's financial affairs when it was found that the district had a deficit of $132,000 and was unable to meet its first payroll of the fall semester.

Oliver A. Johnson, superintendent of the George Washington School, was demoted to teacher status because of alleged financial irregularities uncovered by the school auditor.

He has appealed his case to the Michigan State Tenure Commission.

School Bond Issue Repaid in Avondale

The Avondale Board of Education announced today that it has completed payment of the principal and interest of the 1949 bond issue.

In the spring of 1949, voters in the newly consolidated Avondale School District approved a $500,000 bond issue to cover purchase of land and to build and furnish the first high school in the new district.

Try to Revive Bankrupt Dryden Elevator Firm

LAPEER — An attempt will be made to put the bankrupt Dryden Farmers Elevator & Supply Co. back on its feet within the next two weeks.

Circuit Judge Timothy C. Quinn yesterday granted a two-week adjournment of the show cause hearing the case of firm's dissolution.

The request for the two-week stay was made by Richard J. Bahls, Lapeer attorney representing at least one of the major stockholders in the now-defunct business firm.

He told the judge he wanted time to try and raise the money and backers needed to put the company back on its feet.

Judge Quinn ruled that there was no harm in delaying for two more weeks before appointing a permanent receiver. He added, however, that the order for the receiver would be drawn and that he would sign the order on Oct. 19 if no evidence of money or personnel were produced.

Stockholders and creditors stand to lose some $200,000 in the collapse of the Dryden concern. Robert A. Tripp, manager of the First National Bank branch in Dryden, is acting as temporary receiver.

The elevator company was closed Aug. 1 when no money could be raised to finance handling of the summer harvest.

Financial problems had started months before when the firm had ventured into the implement business.

Tripp's job as temporary receiver was to preserve the assets and take inventory for yesterday's hearing.

For Shame... Mr. Berlitz

He Can Speak Only 25 Languages

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Charles Berlitz can speak only 25 foreign languages (his grandpa, Maximilian Berlitz, spoke 46), but he still is somewhat of an expert on linguistics.

And, as expert, he says:

"Men usually learn a foreign language faster than women do.

"Women, however, can speak a new language with a better accent.

"Contrary to popular belief, children are slower at picking up a foreign tongue than adults are.

"Since the first Sputnik went off, there has been an 800 per cent increase in enrollment in Russian-language courses. Five years ago Russian ranked 11th in interest, in a tie with Portuguese; now it is third, and sneaking up on the ever-popular French and Spanish."

Berlitz is, of course, the grandson of the founder of the international chain of language schools bearing his name. He is a crewcut young man of 44, who admits wistfully that it would be a great thing for world peace if all the world's people spoke one language.

MEN ARE FASTER

"But lousy for business," he says, "so let's be realistic."

Berlitz explains that the reason men can learn languages faster than women is their career drive.

When a man takes a course in a strange tongue, it is almost always because he is motivated to do business in a foreign land—and he is eager to learn quickly. The greater the motivation, the faster the assimilation.

Women, on the other hand, are "more daring and courageous." And perhaps, too, more hammy. It is they, Berlitz claims, who jump right in with eager epiglottis, to pronounce new words that a man would hesitate to attempt in fear of making a fool of himself.

For children, it is EASIER to learn a new language, but they don't pick it up as fast as an adult who is motivated to study a strange tongue.

For one thing, they do not have the powers of concentration that adults have. For another, they are not as aware of the value of the money that is being spent on their learning.

"When one spends his own money to do something," Charlie says like Confuscius, "one does it swifter and better."

Berlitz is an impeccably dressed man with an air of distinct well-being, which can be explained by the fact that since World War II American industry has become so internationalized that the language-larnin' business has increased explosively.

He, himself, spoke four languages by the time he was four years old, and now tries to learn one new one every year. (There were a few years during which I was busy with other studies like mathematics and courting my wife, which explains why I'm 44 and can only speak 24 languages.)

LATEST IS SWAHILI

His current project is Swahili, newest in the Berlitz book. Upcoming: Quechua, the tribal dialect of head-hunters and missionaries and others in the mountains of South America.

Berlitz feels that most languages can be learned with reasonable fluency in 100 hours of classroom work. Russian, however, requires 150 hours for the average student, and the Oriental tongues often take another 50 hours beyond that. "I'm still studying Chinese writing," he said. Having trouble with his laundry list.

Under his system, reverently referred to as "the method," the student listens to others speak, then imitates. No language but the one being taught is ever spoken in a Berlitz classroom.

At the conclusion of a course, the student knows how to put together 800 or 900 words—"A sufficient vocabulary in any language."

Asked to name what are the most important words to learn first in a foreign tongue, Charles smiled.

Makarios Will Debate Cyprus

To Trade Words With Grivas in Showdown on Greek Problems

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Archbishop Makarios and the former Greek Cypriot underground leader, Gen. George Grivas, are expected to clash at Rhodes today in a showdown meeting over quarrels which in the past three months have threatened to split Greek Cypriot unity.

★ ★ ★

Grivas, who is trying to launch himself in Greek politics, has challenged the archbishop to a public debate in answer to the archbishop's charge that Grivas plotted to assassinate him. Instead, a private conference on Rhodes was arranged for Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

Grivas left Cyprus to live in Athens when the British, Greeks and Turks reached agreement on conditions under which Cyprus is to be granted independence. Subsequently the underground leader repudiated the independence agreement and accused the archbishop, who is political leader of the island's Greek Cypriot majority, of making too many concessions to the British and the Turkish Cypriot minority.

Meredith Willson, Wife to Begin Town Hall Series

Has New Approach to Music

Meredith Willson, author of the hit musical comedy "The Music Man," and his wife Rini will open the Pontiac Oakland Town Hall series Oct. 14.

The program will be held at the Oakland Theater on Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. and a celebrity luncheon will be given at Pine Lake Country Club following the lecture.

In their program "Mirth and Music," good music is spiced with humor and comment.

In this musical lecture, they take the seriousness out of serious compositions.

Meredith Willson has won a nationwide audience for his musical compositions, his orchestral conducting and his humorous philosophy and writings. When "The Music Man" opened on Broadway in 1957, he added musical comedy to his list of accomplishments and critics predicted his show "would run for a decade."

He recalls that as a boy he was the proud owner of the first mail-order flute ever seen in his native Mason City, Iowa.

SAT ON FLUTE

Then he promptly sat on it and bent it out of shape. This may have been intentional because he was bitterly disappointed to discover that he had to play it sideways, over his shoulder, instead of where he could see what was going on.

At 14, armed with a new flute, his father's prayers and a bag of his mother's fried chicken, he set off for the Damrosch Institute of Musical Arts in New York and the start of what was to become a brilliant career as a performer, composer, conductor, humorist, writer and philosopher.

At 17 he auditioned for John Philip Sousa who signed him up for a nationwide tour with his famous band. At 21 he was a member of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

In 1932 he joined NBC as general musical director of the western division. During World War II he was a major, head of the music division of the Armed Forces Radio Service.

CRUSADER

He came out of the service determined to embark on a personal crusade to do something about what he felt were the trite musical programs on radio and the tired format into which commercial announcements had fallen. In his zeal to make commercials palatable, Willson conceived "The Talking People," a speaking chorus to deliver the sponsor's message and various other devices. He also developed his own radio personality as a comedian.

He and his wife, Rini Zarova, concert singer, divide their time between their California home and an apartment in New York.

The "Music Man," Meredith Willson, tries out a few notes as his wife, Rini, accompanies him. The Willsons will present "Mirth and Music" to open the new Pontiac Oakland Town Hall series Oct. 14.

Mrs. Arnold Thomas, preschool chairman for the Pontiac PTA Council, left, led a discussion group at the workshop session held Tuesday evening. Mrs. Melvin Norberg, cochairman, center, and Mrs. Sherrill Grubbs, right, helped with the informal meeting. Mrs. Grubbs is preschool PTA chairman for Wever School.

Abby's Certain:

This Joker's Got Young Ideas About His Pal, the Old Maid

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a man who has been rooming with an old maid for 8 or 9 years. There has been quite a lot of gossip about Joe and her. When I ask Joe about her, he gets red in the face and very angry. Then he says she is 10 years older than him and there is nothing between them.

I called him once and this old maid cross-examined me like I was on the witness stand. Then she told me not to call him any more. When I asked Joe about this he said, "Don't pay any attention to her — she's crazy!" I'd like Joe for myself. Do you think there is anything between them?

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: If there is nothing "between them" there ought to be. A wall! Unless Joe was kidnapped, he is rooming with this woman by choice. Don't let him bamboozle you.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: After being married for 32 years, my husband still has "ME" trouble. Everything is "MINE" and "ME" and never "OURS."

He says, "I am going to put me in a dishwasher."

I asked if he expected to start doing the dishes. And he said, "No, you are!" So how come, I would like to know, does he figure it is HIS dishwasher?

He says, "MY car, MY house and MY business." I drive the car. I keep the house and help in the business. I get so mad at him I could explode. I have stomach trouble and the doctor says I should stay calm. So how can I stay calm? Is there a cure for him, or should I put up with it?

READY TO EXPLODE

DEAR READY: A person who must take full credit for everything is suffering from an inferiority complex. Let him have his "Me's" and "Mines", because if you continue to aggravate yourself, it will be YOUR ulcer.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My sister-in-law is a wonderful seamstress. She told me to get some material and she would make me some dresses. I went out and got the material. I would hate to tell you how long ago it was. Every time I go over to her house she has another excuse for not getting to it. If I didn't think it would cause hard feelings I would ask her for my material back. How can I get her to start on my dresses or give me back my material already?

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: Tell her that you want the dresses for a "special occasion" on a certain date. Then go to her house and offer to "help" her with her housework while she sews. Do her ironing (or some other helpful chore) while she sews for you.

One hundred years old today, Mrs. Marilla Hayward of Owego drive is truly a remarkable woman. Until just last year she lived alone in her own home. And she doesn't need glasses to read The Pontiac Press from ". . . front to back," according to Mrs. Ruth McGowan with whom she resides.

'Excited as a Kid'

Her 100th Birthday Thrills City Woman

By MARGARET BROWN

Birthdays come and go — perhaps too quickly for some of us. The big day is taken pretty much in stride, by the adult world at least.

One Pontiac woman, however, is as "excited as a little kid" over her birthday doings this year. She's Mrs. Marilla Hayward and today she is 100 years old.

Mrs. Hayward, who lives with Mrs. Ruth McGowan on Owego drive, had none of the "early-to-bed," etc. explanations for her longevity. Perhaps her cheerful and independent disposition has kept her so active through the years.

Being an optimist, according to one member of her family, she always has had many friends, a pretty universal human requirement.

From talking to several admirers of Mrs. Hayward, mother of Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors, it was evident that she has a way of winning others' affections. Here are a few comments from some of her acquaintances: "She's a dear;" ". . .wonderful sense of humor;" ". . .always able to laugh."

As for that independent spirit, we've learned that until only one year ago Mrs. Hayward lived alone in her own home. "She would have been out mowing the lawn if we'd allowed it," her daughter-in-law Mrs. Moore informed us. "She was washing walls many years after most women have given up that sort of thing."

Mrs. Hayward who for many years was active in First Methodist Church, has been very alert to city affairs and development. Mrs. McGowan told us fondly, "She sits on the couch everyday and reads every word in the paper — without glasses."

A large gathering of friends and neighbors attended a birthday tea held today in her honor.

As Mrs. Hayward crosses the century mark, many are sharing with her a certain wonderment that she has been granted a life so full of rich experiences.

Mrs. George H. Watters, PTA president of Webster School, Ronald Drake, president of Will Rogers School PTA and Mrs. James Wade, PTA president of Mark Twain School, talked over the many constructive projects promoted by the various units at the Pontiac PTA Council session Tuesday evening.

Bonnie English Weds Donald LeRoy Reene

Bonnie Belle English of Liberty street married Donald LeRoy Reene Saturday evening at the First Baptist Church. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Earl W. Bailey of Clarkston and Mr. and Mrs. Leon G. Reene of Pontiac State Hospital grounds.

The bride wore a taffeta gown with a fitted bodice and a neckline trimmed in Venice lace. The floor-length gown ended in a chapel sweep and she wore a crown of pearlite flowers and a fingertip veil. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and yellow roses.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Alexander Brown was matron of honor. Mrs. Thomas M. Callahan of Drayton Plains and Peggy Chittick were bridesmaids. Lezlie Marie Callahan was flower girl. All wore identical sheath dresses with matching overskirts of nectarine taffeta. They carried cascade bouquets of autumn shades of chrysanthemums and bronze sea oats.

★ ★ ★

Best man was Donald Bennett and Richard Bennett was ring bearer. Robert Galbraith, Thomas Callahan and Richard and Dale Reene, brothers of the bridegroom, were ushers.

MRS. DONALD REENE

The Rev. Gilbert Adams of Lake Orion performed the ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

The bride's mother wore a taupe lace dress with moss green accessories and Mrs. Reene wore a dusty rose gown with ivory accessories.

★ ★ ★

The next outing will be an all-day trip to Canada on Oct. 17. The group will visit Rock Glen in Arkona, Ontario, for fossil collecting and Kettle Point for unusual rock formations.

Opti-Mrs. Hear Medical History

Charles Sherwood of the Upjohn Co. in Kalamazoo spoke at the Opti-Mrs. club meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Fred Coleman on West Iroquois road.

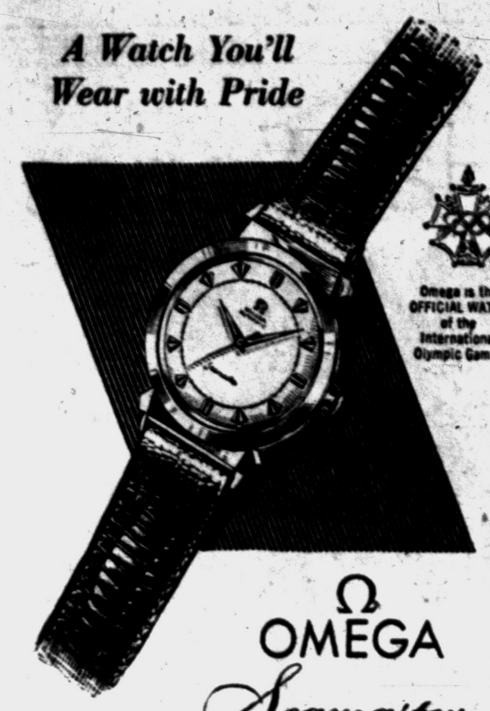

★ ★ ★

Mr. Sherwood traced the history of medicine to the present day and explained how steroids and antibiotics are used by modern physicians to control diseases and relieve pain.

★ ★ ★

Following the talk, Mrs. Harold Davis president of the group, conducted a business meeting. Mrs. H. A. Miller and Mrs. Orrin Huntoon assisted the hostess.

Mrs. David McKibben accompanies a trio as they rehearse for the Pontiac Women's Chorus. From left to right are Mrs. Michael Patterson, Barbara Faust and Mrs. Frank N. Weger. Plans for a full season of appearances and special concerts already are well under way.

George R. Scott, director of the Pontiac Women's Chorus, leads his group at the regular Tuesday evening rehearsal at Mark Twain School. The chorus is sponsored by the Department of Parks and Recreation and is open to any woman interested in singing.

Chorus Has Variety of Sources

The Pontiac Women's Chorus is composed of area women from every walk of life who find a common meeting ground in their love of singing.

Once a week they meet at the Mark Twain School to sing, and out of these songfests emerge several polished concerts a year.

★ ★ ★

The director of the chorus is George R. Scott. A junior executive at the J. L. Hudson Co. during the day, Mr. Scott spends every free moment with his first love, music. A member of a musical family, he has been singing for as long as he can remember.

★ ★ ★

After receiving his training at the University of Michigan he embarked on a musical career that included everything from leading an army chorus to solo work and church choir directing. Currently he is the director of music at Commerce Methodist Church.

Not Indifference
Need for Real Serenity

The greatest part of any woman's beauty is depenedent on serenity. This doesn't mean a bovine indifference; it means a genuine serenity which stems from an inner calm.

Immediately someone is going to ask how is it possible for anyone to be calm in these times? Well, the truth is that there never was a time really conducive to serenity. Every age, every generation has had its problems. All of them, in their way, were as staggering as ours. And yet, every age has produced its great beauties.

But the woman who squints, grimaces, talks constantly, gestures frantically and is never in repose cannot be counted among these. For nervous mannerisms destroy beauty.

First, they destroy the illusion and then they actually destroy good looks by implanting crow's feet and deep lines. Inner tensions are damaging to skin, hair, eyes and coloring.

So there are very good reasons, very practical ones, for learning how to be serene.

Paris shows extra long printed satin gloves which come to rest on the shoulder.

Grandmothers Are Best Dressed

Present day grandmothers are more style-wise than their daughters and granddaughters. The statement is based on a nationwide fashion quiz of 750,000 women of all ages.

Grandmothers made the best scores. Second best: teenagers. Single working girls did next best, slightly better than housewives.

Try Deeper Colors

Along with cleaning, you may be thinking of doing some painting around the house. Perhaps the bathroom needs brightening. If so, you needn't stick to the traditional blue, yellow or white. A variety of deep, dramatic shades are being used in today's baths with color coordinated accessories.

Carpeting Hints

Wall-to-wall carpeting will make a small bedroom seem larger. It will provide a single cleaning surface that is easier to maintain. You can save space by placing beds end to end against a wall or arranging them in room corners. Pleasant colors repeated in the drapes, bedspread and carpet will promote a feeling of harmony.

From the standpoint of pure value, what could be more wearable and versatile than this cosutme for year-round use? The fabric is light weight wool woven in a diagnoal pattern and capped by a ⅞th length coat bound in wool braid.

DEEP SET EYES

Women with deep set eyes need not pass up the glamour treatment of eye shadow.

They may use any of the light shades that will reflect the light such as blues and greens. Muted shades, like greys and browns are to be avoided for they will cause shadows to make eyes appear even more deeply set. Eliminate the original shadow caused by deep set eyes with the use of tinted foundation beneath your color-tint shadow for real eye beauty.

Don't Stifle Children's Criticisms of Adults

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Last weekend Sue's Uncle Jack and new Aunt Helen visited, sharing her bathroom that adjoined their guest room. By Sunday morning Sue felt bitterly critical of Aunt Helen.

Seeking out her mother, she whispered fiercely, "She's just mean! She keeps moving my washcloth off my rack to stick her own on it. She pins all her wet underwear to my shower curtain and I can't find my toothpaste because she's put all that goo she uses on her face on my glass shelf!"

Preparing an omelet for brunch, her mother whispered back, "I know. She leaves me to make the beds too. But maybe instead of being mean, she just doesn't think about what she's doing. Let's wait and see . . ."

The tension of resentment left Susan. With this support of her realistic judgment of Aunt Helen's thoughtlessness, the strain of pretending she didn't mind it disappeared. Later, she was able to say quite politely to Aunt Helen, "Will you please tell me what you did with my toothpaste?"

Sometimes parents feel obligated to say, "Hush—that's not nice," when children criticize other grownups. They hastily stifle the criticism as though the Aunt Helens of the world had to be permitted to do as they pleased like the sacred cows of India. Their feeling seems to be that if a child is once allowed to pass judgment on an adult, the "revolution" has started and their own heads may be the next ones to fall.

This makes courtesy to grownups like Aunt Helen harder than it need be.

We can all be decently polite to an offensive person if we are allowed to feel our resentment of him. The trouble starts when we have to resist our feeling. Then we have to manage, not only our resentment but fear of exposing it.

The fear begins to act as a dam, forcing our dislike to pile up behind it exactly as a real dam of concrete will force a river to pile up its water behind it. So blocked, our resentment can then become a force as destructive to ourselves as the person who aroused it.

If we want decent courtesy from children to misbehaving adults, our "Hush—that's not nice" won't get it for us. We can't expect Sue to accept criticism of her misbehavior if we condone Aunt Helen's. That's how to start "revolutions," not avert them.

You can be "at home" in a long dinner skirt of blue and green woven cotton plaid. Fringed around the bottom and topped with a surplice blouse of green mat jersey, it is from the Casino Classics Holiday edition.

Sugar and spice and everything nice. Each little girl deserves one of these "Angel Chile" nightgowns, complete with quilted wings and golden halo. Made of white sanforized flannelette, these nighties are available locally.

Bargains of Carpets

The "bargain" of carpet for sound conditioning stems not only from its moderate initial cost, but also from the multiple benefits offered by this versatile flooring material. Carpeting can cut airborne noises in a room by more than half. It's "cushion effect" virtually eliminates floor impact noises — heel clicks, chair scraping, falling object sounds — in the source room and in the rooms below.

Young Adolescent Can Deflate Your Ego

RUTH MILLETT

"Are all girls of 15 almost impossible to live with?" asks an exasperated mother.

She goes on to say, "Julie was always such a sweet child. But for the past few months she has certainly been hard to live with.

"You wouldn't believe the amount of disdain she can get into two words, 'Oh, Mother!' And those are the two words I hear no matter how helpful I am trying to be.

"I can't even buy a dress to suit her any more. She has also become very critical of the way I look, the way I treat her friends, and so on. Do you have any idea of what has brought on this sudden antagonism?"

Adolescence, I suspect. Julie is tired of being a nice, obedient, admiring child and is striking out at you in an effort to assert her own individuality.

If you can grin and bear it for a little while, the phase will pass. Many girls go through a stage like this, when they aren't yet old enough for as much independence as they want, but are tired of always having to honor the assumption that mother knows best.

If you can kid her along a little, it might help to make her see her behavior for what it is. When she is being high and mighty with, you try saying, "Yes, Duchess," or "Whatever you say, Princess," and see if she doesn't suddenly realize how out of character she is behaving.

But if you can't kid, at least don't squabble or show hurt feelings. Just take things calmly and quietly.

One more thing: Don't offer any more reminders and advice than absolutely necessary. In her frame of mind, she'll feel that you are treating her like a child.

★ ★ ★

Stand by important issues, but try to let the small ones slide for a while. And don't think you're alone. Many mother of 15-year-olds are going through the same deflating experience that you are.

Printed hopsacking jackets, teamed with knife-pleated skirts, comprise the young-costume look for fall. Jackets are doublebreasted, have velvet collars.

Some Never Learn Silence Is Wise

Some men claim that a woman starts to chatter from the moment she models her first diaper. And she never stops. This is an exaggeration. But we must admit there are women who tire everyone in range because they babble constantly. They never learn that silence in conversation is a welcome pause.

Opened in Chicago

Apartments for Aged

Apartments designed especially for elderly persons were opened for occupancy recently, with more than eight times as many applications as there were vacancies.

The 92-apartment building, designed for the Chicago Housing Authority, includes these features:

Two elevators, one large enough to accommodate an ambulatory cot, so that tenants never need be compelled to walk upstairs if one lift is out of commission.

Doorways three feet wide, large enough for a wheelchair to pass through.

Bathroom doors which open to the outside, to eliminate the danger that the room's occupant might unintentionally barricade himself by falling against the door.

An extra low tub, easy to step into, with a "grab bar" on the wall above to make standing up easy and safe.

Oven and broiler at waist height in the kitchen wall, to eliminate stooping.

Kitchen cabinets placed low enough to eliminate extreme reaching.

The $1,125,000 construction cost was slightly more than would have been needed for an average apartment building of comparable size, spokesmen said. The minimum rent ranges from $42.50 for a no-bedroom apartment to $52.50 for a one-bedroom unit, compared to $31 and $36 in other CHA buildings.

At least one person in each apartment must be 65 or older, and with an annual income of no more than $4,250.

Don't Keep Everyone Waiting

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would appreciate an answer to the following question that has come up. I am a slow eater and my husband contends that when we have people in to dinner, it is not right for me, as hostess, to keep our guests waiting while I finish eating.

"He says that when all the guests have finished a course, I should remove the plates even though I myself have not finished what is on my plate. I have never heard of any such rule of etiquette and would like your opinion on this."

Answer: One usually waits for the slowest eater at table to finish before removing the plates, but if you are very much slower than any of your guests, you as hostess, should not finish what is on your plate if it means keeping them all waiting.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to use the fold-over cards (informals) for acknowledging my wedding presents and would like to know what name to have printed across the face of them. Should it be Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, Mrs. John Smith or Mary Smith?"

Answer: Your thanks would be better if written on your own note paper. But if you wish to use "informals" they may either be engraved Mr. and Mrs. John Smith or Mrs. John Smith for those thank-you notes which you were not able to write before your wedding.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The typical reception after a church wedding in this area takes place in a large room in the recreational wing of the church immediately following the wedding. In this room a large table containing the wedding cake, punch and an arrangement of flowers with candles is set up. My question is this: At a wedding reception of this sort taking place at three thirty in the afternoon, should the candles be lighted?"

Answer: Not unless they are necessary for light.

Trimming Is Key

Collars and facings often separate a new seamstress from one that's "in the know." Trimming is the answer, say clothing experts. Inside seams should be trimmed and graded — that is, one side of the seam allowance should be cut narower than the other. When turned and pressed, the collar or facing will be smooth and less apt to show a seam allowance "ridge."

Surgery Quite Simple

What to Do About Corns?

Oh, how those corns and bunions can ache. In today's column Josephine Lowman tells you what can be done.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

So many women write to me asking what to do about corns and bunions. These evidently are extremely painful. In many instances they have been caused by wearing improperly fitted shoes. However, sometimes the trouble comes from weak arches or structural defects.

Anyhow, once you have them what can be done?

Encouraging news came from a recent meeting in San Francisco. Dr. Leo N. Liss told podiatrists attending the lectures of the American College of Foot Surgeons, "Corns can be completely cured and permanently eliminated by new and simplified surgical procedures."

THOUGHT INSIGNIFICANT

Time was when the medical profession considered the correction of chronic corns insignificant to best health and happiness. However, these can cause the victim to change his walk and posture and foot surgeons have found that painful corns cause serious mental strain, and they certainly have a dramatic effect on personality. It's hard to sparkle when movement is distressing.

Modern surgical techniques are much simpler than they were in the past. The removal of corns by a well-qualified podiatrist takes only a fraction of the time it once required.

Office workers who do not have to be on their feet a great deal can be operated on on Friday and return to work on Monday. Salespeople or workers who spend a great deal of time on their feet usually need about a week for recuperation.

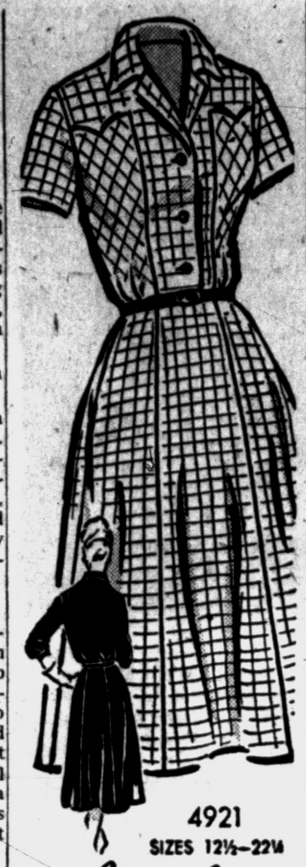

NOT BEAUTIFUL

Bunions not only are painful but they are not beautiful to behold. In the past, surgical procedures for this defect made it necessary for the patient to wear a cast for six weeks and another six weeks was required before regaining 80 per cent of normal usage.

Today the patient who has this operation begins resuming activities after 10 days. It is entirely possible today to have a bunion-deformed foot reshaped into a lovely looking foot with a minimum of time and inconvenience.

If you would like to have my exercises for the feet, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 14 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

ANGRY AFTER DISCHARGE — Harold William Lindgren, 36, discharged engineer of WLUC-TV at Marquette, is arraigned in Justice C. A. Nystrom's court at Escanaba, charged with feloniously tampering with communication facilities. Lindgren asked preliminary examination and bond was set at $5,000. Detective Sgt. Anthony Spratto of the Michigan State Police is at left.

Claims He Blocked TV to Get Even After Firing

ESCANABA (AP) — A discharged television station engineer, accused of blacking out telecasting of three World Series games in the Upper Peninsula to spite a former employer, demanded examination here on a felony charge.

Harold W. Lindgren, 36, fired by Marquette Station WLUC-TV for insubordination Sept. 10, is charged with tampering with communications.

He was arraigned yesterday before Justice Caroline Nystrom. Examination in Delta County Circuit Court was set for later this week. Lindgren was sent back to jail in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Police said Lindgren signed a statement admitting he put a metal scouring pad in a microwave relay tower connecting network television from Green Bay, Wis., to WLUC, the only TV station in the Upper Peninsula. The metallic pad knocked out the picture signal.

Investigating engineers discovered the pad after the third game and restored service so baseball fans in this area could see the fourth game. Police arrested Lindgren after station engineers said only another engineer could have thought up the idea.

Officers said Lindgren told them he blacked out the Series to get revenge.

Convention Plea Denied by Court

Case for a Revision of State Constitution Is Delayed Till January

LANSING (UPI)—The Michigan Supreme Court Tuesday denied the request of Port Huron attorney Peter Bradt for immediate hearing of his case against the Board of State Canvassers.

Bradt, representing Carl P. Stolker, Port Huron, wanted the court to accept typewritten briefs and permit him to argue orally before the justices during the term which started today.

The court refused to accept the briefs, meaning the case won't be heard until at least the January term.

Stolker contends the Board of State Canvassers should have ruled that a constitutional convention was approved by voters last November.

★ ★ ★

The proposed convention received a majority of votes of those people who voted on the issue but not a majority of votes for people in the entire election, as the board ruled must be the case.

Army 'Needs Cash' to Modernize Setup

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Assistant Army Secretary Courtney Johnson said Tuesday the Army has only half the money it needs to replace and modernize its equipment.

Courtney, whose specialty is supply management, said the replacement and modernization program was on an "extremely austere basis" because of lack of funds.

He told the National Security Industrial Assn., "in the current fiscal year the Army is emphasizing the replacement and modernization of its conventional equipment to balance out with the missiles."

In many cases, he said, the tight budget "provides us with only token amounts of equipment rather than complete equipment for all our forces."

Animal Slaughter Falls During Month of August

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's meat packing plants slaughtered fewer head of all species in August than July, with declines of six to 11 per cent, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service reported today.

★ ★ ★

Compared with the first eight months of 1958, in 1959 there were 17 per cent more sheep and lambs and two per cent more hogs slaughtered, but seven per cent less cattle and 26 per cent less calves slaughtered, the report said.

Auto manufacturers use more cotton each year than the makers of carpets, rugs and shirts combined.

10-Week Trip in U.S. Awaits Ethiopian Prince

NEW YORK (AP) — Ethiopean Crown Prince Merid Azmatch Asfa Wossen arrived here Tuesday for a 10-week visit in the United States as a "tourist."

He said, however, he hoped to confer with "some of your officials." He intends to visit Washington, Detroit, Denver, Los Angeles and San Francisco and also see agricultural areas.

The prince, accompanied by his wife, arrived aboard the Queen Elizabeth.

Temperance Foundation Names New Director

LANSING (AP) — Robert L. Hammond, director of education for the Michigan Temperance Foundation, has been named foundation executive director to succeed Ross J. McClellan, who has moved to Oklahoma City.

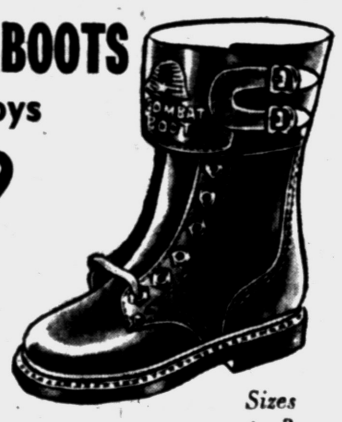

Hammond will serve as legislative agent for the foundation in addition to directing the alcohol education program in Michigan schools and churches.

Reds Will Buy a Few 'Copters

Two Russian Officials See State Department About Purchase

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Soviet Embassy took steps Tuesday to buy not just one, but "a few," helicopters for Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov and commercial counselor Vladimir Alkhimov called on State Department officials to inquire about the purchase. Khrushchev indicated on his trip here two weeks ago that he would like to have an American whirlybird.

Menshikov told newsmen after the meeting that the Soviet Union intends to buy a few, perhaps. "After all, what is just one helicopter?" he asked.

Menshikov said Deputy Undersecretary Livingston Merchant referred him to Sikorsky Helicopter Division of the United Aircraft Corp., builder of commercial versions of the military 'copters in which Khrushchev rode as a guest of President Eisenhower.

Menshikov said Alkhimov would handle the helicopter deal from here on out. "He is not a helicopter expert, but he will have to become one, I guess," Menshikov said.

Menshikov said he did not know whether the Soviet Union would pay cash for the aircraft or buy them on credit.

Khrushchev was quoted by the President as saying that Kremlin officials discourage his riding in the helicopter now in use in Russia. No reason has been given why the Soviet leader believes the American versions would be any safer or better.

Saginaw GM Plant Faces More Layoffs

SAGINAW (UPI) — A Saginaw General Motors plant spokesman said Tuesday the plant faces further layoffs as the steel strike continues to cut off steel supplies.

A spokesman for Saginaw Steering Gear Division of GM said the plant will work four days for the third straight week. He said 190 workers were laid off last week and with steel supplies "dwindling rapidly" another layoffs of undetermined porportions is expected. The situation depends on orders this week from car divisions, he said.

Leo Seidel, manager of Saginaw Transmission of GM, said the plant's full work force would work five days this week, but the future situation is "indefinite."

★ ★ ★

Saginaw malleable iron of GM planned to work four days. It laid off 60 workers last week.

Flint Cab Merger Joins 2 of City's Oldest Firms

FLINT (UPI)—Two of Flint's oldest taxicab and transfer companies merged Monday to form the Yellow and Deluxe Cab and Trucking Co.

The company was formed by the joining of the Yellow and Checker Cab and Transfer Co. and the Deluxe Cab Co.

Roy L. Hawley was named president of the new firm and Richard Simpson was named vice president.

Saginaw Couple May Own Site of Canada Shrine

SAGINAW (UPI) — A Saginaw couple has informed the Saginaw News that they will investigate the possibility of claiming a 36-million dollar Montreal estate which would include the site of the Shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Syed said they read in the news' "Bygone Days" column of the efforts of some Saginaw people to obtain part of an unclaimed Montreal estate.

The couple and Syed's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Inman, Los Angeles, found that Louis Portlance, Syed's great-grandfather, had claimed his family owned most of the land around Ste. Anne de Beaupre, Que.

The Syeds say Portlance established the family claim and agreed to settle for 18 million dollars, half the value of the property. But Portlance, a shipbuilder, was killed in a shipping accident in Cleveland in 1913 before he collected. Syed said the family was informed 16 years later that the estate still existed.

He planned to write to officials in Ste. Anne to inquire about the status of the case.

Samuel Goldwyn Fine After Knee Operation

NEW YORK (AP)—Samuel Goldwyn, 77, veteran movie producer, was reported in excellent condition Tuesday after an operation to remove a damaged cartilage in his right knee.

Goldwyn entered the hospital Sunday after treatment failed to clear up a condition incurred several months ago when he injured his knee while playing croquet.

Challenges Red Peace Theme

U.S. CIA Officer Says Communists Organized Laos Guerrillas

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A U. S. intelligence official today challenged Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence theme, saying the Communists organized and armed several thousand Laotian guerrillas in North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

Gen. C. P. Cabell, deputy director of the Central Intelligence Agency, also cited Soviet and Red Chinese moves in Africa in saying that the Communists are actively trying to subvert the free world.

"To the free peoples of the West, the bold evidence of Communist aggression is not very palatable," Cabell said in a speech prepared for a National Guard Assn. conference.

"Calling this 'peaceful coexistence' does not make much sense to me."

★ ★ ★

Peaceful coexistence is a Communist doctrine which Khrushchev stressed time and again during his recent U. S. visit. The Soviet Premier declared that under its peaceful coexistence policy, Moscow avoids interfering with the internal affairs of other countries.

★ ★ ★

Cabell said Laos and Africa are only two examples of why "there can be no room for complacency or forgetfulness... (about) Communist acts... ranging from smiling faces to mass murder...."

The CIA spokesman suggested that the Communists are holding down on their fighting in Laos right now to lull the U. N. probers. But he predicted further guerrilla activity in the future.

Personnel Director Applications to Open

LANSING (UPI)—The Michigan Civil Service Commission announced today it will "soon" be accepting applications for the office of state personnel director.

This will be a nationwide examination open to persons with administrative and executive experience in public personnel or private industry, the announcement said.

The postion pays up to $19,105 annually, the commission said.

Japanese Talks About Respect

Parents Told to 'Wake Up'

TOKYO (UPI)—A Japanese newspaper reader called upon United States parents Tuesday to "wake up" in the handling of their children.

A reader who signed himself T. Maita wrote the editor of the English-language Japan Times. He noted that the U.S. military banned jeans and bizarre haircuts in schools for military dependents in Japan and commented that it took military action and not parental action to effect the ban.

★ ★ ★

Maita said it was his belief that Japanese live a "cleaner and more peaceful and Christian way of life" than do Americans even if Japanese do not go to church every week.

"My dear American friends," he wrote, "America, the nation that I respect highly, wake up!"

He pointed out that in Japanese family and school life the parents are obeyed and respected.

★ ★ ★

"Our father is the head of the family, the high priest and shrine in our homes in the memory of our forefathers," he wrote.

"In contrast, the U.S. way of education eliminates all responsibility of the parents for the deeds of the children they have brought to this world for America's future generation."

Dues Money for Political Activity?

Court Ponders Big Labor Rulings

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Stand by for some big labor news from the U. S. Supreme Court!

The Looper case, which originated in Georgia, finally is up there for decision. Right behind it and on the way is another labor case which originated in North Carolina.

A decision against organized labor indirectly would invalidate union shop contracts in all federal jurisdictions. The Looper case was brought in Georgia against 13 standard labor organizations. The AFL-CIO news a year ago explained the situation like this:

"Two cases (Georgia and North Carolina) now moving up through the lower courts are expected to provide the test whether union shop agreements can in effect be invalidated by exempting from their requirements any employe who disagrees with the union's legislative goals or political philosophies.

"Six Southern Railway employes (the Looper case), aided by employer groups, said they disagree with the legislative and political activities of their unions and therefore should not have to support these activities with their dues money.

"A similar case is pending before the North Carolina Supreme Court on appeal from a lower court ruling that employes under a railroad union shop contract could only be required to pay dues in such amount as the unions could prove in court were 'reasonably necessary and related to collective bargaining'."

The AFL-CIO News said that these test cases applied only to union shop agreements negotiated under the Railway Labor Act, but that "the principles involved generally are agreed to apply to all union contracts."

These legal challenges to the methods by which big labor finances its political activities are likely to hit harder against the union shop concept than did the right-to-work effort in the 1958 congressional election. This effort to outlaw the union shop by constitutional amendment in several states was a spectacular flop.

The Corrupt Practices Act forbids any union organization to contribute or to spend in connection with any federal elective process. This prohibition has been substantially nullified by a Supreme Court ruling that unions may, however, spend for political education. That ruling led to the establishment of well-heeled COPE, the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

The nub of the Looper and North Carolina cases is whether organized labor gets all of its political education money from voluntary contributors or, instead, dips into dues and assessment funds. That is a big question, and it is subject to a big dispute.

In a 1956 decision, the Supreme Court held that there had not been raised before it the question whether the union shop "forces men into ideological and political associations which violate their right to freedom of conscience . . . protected by the Bill of Rights."

That very question now has been raised before the court by the Looper case. A fair estimate of the situation is that there is a conviction among some members of the court that the use of dues money for political purposes would render the union shop unconstitutional.

Itch of Piles Get Relief Now

Military Missile Given Priority

Air Force Chief States ICBM Necessary and Space Study to Lag

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force's research chief said Tuesday the United States lags behind Russia in space because it placed primary emphasis on military missiles during the past five years.

Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, head of the Air Research and Development Command, made clear at a news conference that this condition will continue.

He said priority still is being given to the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM) as a matter of national survival.

Schriever said it was decided in 1954 not to use military missiles in the Vanguard earth satellite program. While the Soviets have enjoyed "spectacular" space success with their bigger rockets, he said, the United States is even with them in deploying ICBMs.

Dr. Herbert F. York, Pentagon research chief, said that it was known in 1954 that Russia was ahead in missile development and that an all-out effort was needed to catch up.

★ ★ ★

In turn, the 1954 lag was blamed on the fact that U.S. scientists at one time thought it would be impossible to build a hydrogen bomb small enough to be carried by an ICBM.

This country's missile program was speeded up only after it was determined that such missiles could carry a hydrogen bomb.

British Queen Refused Right to Cast Vote

LONDON (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth II will ask Harold Macmillan or Hugh Gaitskell to form a new British government after the Oct. 8 general election.

★ ★ ★

But she can't vote for either one.

In Britain, the right to vote is reserved for the common man.

The queen's duties are limited to dissolving parliament by royal decree and naming the new prime minister after the election.

She will be told the election results at her summer residence in Balmoral, Scotland. She is expected to end her vacation and return to London some time after the election.

PROPOSED COMMUNITY COLLEGE — This is a sketch of an $8,000,000 two-year (junior) community college being projected to serve Michigan's tri-county area of Bay, Midland and Saginaw counties. The college is supported by a one and a half mill tax levy approved in 1958 by voters of the three counties for its construction and operation.

Bay, Midland, Saginaw Work Together

Tri-County College Quite Unique

BAY CITY (AP)—A unique educational institution is being projected to serve Michigan's tri-county area of Bay, Midland and Saginaw counties.

★ ★ ★

It contemplates combining tax and philanthropic monies to provide a four-year college for the second largest population concentration in the state.

Its ingredients are:

An $8,000,000 two-year community (junior) college supported by a one-and-a-half mill tax levy approved in 1958 by voters of the three counties for construction and operation; and a senior school founded as a private, non-profit corporation with a capital outlay of $1,500,000, later supported by tuitions.

There is also the prospect of a state-supported college of medicine for the fledgling tri-county university.

"The structure is unusual, and, to the best of my knowledge, no comparable pattern exists in the United States," Dr. Samuel D. Marble, 43-year-old college president, declares.

The two-year college is also uncommon in that it has its own board of trustees, not operating as most community colleges under a board of education.

OPERATION EASY

At this early stage of its development the prospects are that it will have a minimum of political pressures in its administration and operation.

Creation of the already legally constituted two-year school literally grew from the educational and cultural needs of the community and stems from an unusual degree of cooperation between the citizens of the three counties.

This same unity is evident in the current effort to immediately develop a full four-year, degree-granting institution.

It is mostly agreed that the school will eventually become a four-year university even if present plans to rush the four-year program fail.

★ ★ ★

The new school will supplant Bay City Junior College, which had served the area since 1922 and which has been rapidly outgrowing its facilities. According to estimates the tri-county area has a potential college student body of more than 5,000.

High entrance requirements and academic standards are guidelines for the new school, also specifying that the study of liberal arts shall be basic to all technical and professional courses.

One rather unusual but forward-looking aim set up by trustees is to prepare men and women not only for jobs that exist but also for jobs that do not. In fulfilling such objective, the school hopes to attract research groups and industries that are interested in obtaining services of well-educated personnel.

TO COST LESS

College trustees currently estimate the college center can be completed for approximately $200,000 less thand the $8,000,000 to be raised in the tri-county one-and-a-half mill tax levy.

Thus far a million dollars has been spent for land and utilities. Building construction contracts awarded last week total $5,373,760. At least $253,000 more will be added for extra parking space and kitchen facilities. Some $170,000 will be spent on furniture, equipment and developing the grounds.

DESCRIBES OXYGEN BANK — William H. LaVigne (right), Pontiac General Hospital orderly supervisor, explains the workings of the portable oxygen bank he assembled at the hospital. Designed chiefly for use in a civil defense or natural disaster, the device would provide a big and (if refilled) continuous field supply of oxygen to victims of fire, tornado or other disasters. Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, looks on.

Hospital Worker Makes Disaster Aid

Portable Oxygen Tank Designed

Thanks to the inventiveness of a Pontiac General Hospital employe, the city now has available an important, lifesaving device in event of such disasters as tornadoes.

Oxygen is an important form of first aid for all kinds of disaster victims—for those, for instance, who inhale too much smoke in a fire or persons who suffer shock or heart attacks.

What William H. LaVigne, orderly supervisor, has put together amounts to a portable bank of six big, 2,000-pound oxygen tanks, which can easily be transported throughout the city to give lots of oxygen, fast, to whoever might need it.

The device is so handy that it has been officially recognized in the city's civil defense and disaster plans.

There are some extraordinary features about LaVigne's gadget. For instance, the six tanks rest on a frame mounted on coasters so it can be wheeled about easily.

★ ★ ★

Three of the tanks feed into lines that provide up to 26 outlets, meaning that at least 26 persons could receive oxygen directly at one time. Or, if more are needed, a line with extra outlets can be hooked onto the device.

The most important feature concerns the other three tanks. These are held in reserve until the first three are exhausted.

"Then they automatically kick in, and while these three are being used, the operator substitutes three new tanks for the exhausted one," said LaVigne.

Thus, the portable can provide a continuous supply of oxygen as long as there are spare tanks—"and we have lots of those," said LaVigne.

If in an extremely unlikely emergency there were no spare tanks, the six working at full force through all 26 outlets could keep up a complete supply of oxygen for six hours, he said.

★ ★ ★

It is an easy five-minute job to replace the three exhausted tanks, according to LaVigne.

The portable oxygen bank is available to authorities to rush at any time to the scene of a fire, explosion or worse disaster.

If a tornado hit Pontiac, the unit could be taken directly to the disaster area or field hospital. In the event of military attack, it could be used in such places as emergency hospitals in school rooms.

Or, were the city hospital filled to overflowing because of a disaster, the bank could be wheeled to any emergency first aid station, for instance in the lobby, cafeteria or other areas where piped-in oxygen is not available.

LaVigne, 46, of 124 Waterly St., Waterford Township, said he put the oxygen bank together "because I could see the need for such a device."

At one time, it was used in the hospital's pediatric ward, where, because of overcrowded conditions, some children had to be bedded down temporarily in the hallways. Piped-in oxygen was not available there, but LaVigne's gadget brought it within reach of any child who needed it.

At the moment, the portable bank is playing another role—one which helps the expansion program toward completion.

The hospital has opened 60 beds on the old East Wing's third and fourth floors while remodeling continues on other floors there. The oxygen piping is not completed in that wing, but LaVigne's device provides oxygen for all 60 beds.

There are long lines running from it to every hospital room in use in the East Wing.

The Rhododendron, better known as "The Great Laurel," is West Virginia's official state flower.

New Toughness Needed—Nixon

Talks in Chicago; Says More Than Money Must Fight Communism

CHICAGO (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon says the United States should go beyond economic competition with communism to see which provides greater opportunities for personal freedom and expression to individuals.

★ ★ ★

Nixon also declared that although the Soviets are ahead in some areas of science, "we can and will catch up" and thus demonstrate that "freedom, not communism is the way of the future."

★ ★ ★

To do this, he said, freedom-loving Americans will need a "tough-minded disciplined determination to work longer and harder for our cause than the Communists do for theirs."

Nixon, a leading possibility for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination, spoke Monday night at dedication ceremonies for the new University of Chicago Law School center.

U.S. Shot at Moon Due in November

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States reportedly will try to get its postponed moonshot off the ground late in November.

A reliable source says the next attempt probably will be made during a four-day period starting Nov. 28.

"The period beginning Oct. 31 is the next favorable time," he said, "but it is doubtful the shot can be prepared by then. This leaves the period beginning Nov. 28 as the most logical time."

During these days the moon is in its best position for a launching from Cape Canaveral.

Canada Geese Arrive at Shiawassee Refuge

OWOSSO (UPI) — Frank R. Martin, manager of the Shiawassee National Wildlife Refuge, said Monday that the first flock of Canada geese had arrived.

Martin said geese passed over the refuge last week but didn't stop. He said some 2,000 ducks are also in the refuge.

But Congress Refuses to Act

Could Save $10,000 Daily on Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the third straight year, Congress has gone home without acting on a bill that would save the government $10,000 a day simply by recognizing the fact that great stacks of antique paper money have vanished from circulation.

More than 150 million dollars in old currency has, for all practical purposes, disappeared from people's wallets. Much of this money has been lost or destroyed through fire, flood or human carelessness. Some is in the hands of collectors.

★ ★ ★

The important fact is that only a small fraction ever appears in general circulation. By law, however, the Treasury must pretend that all of it is circulating freely.

★ ★ ★

This legal fiction is carried to great lengths. For instance, the Treasury must make believe that people are still using about two million dollars worth of Civil War "shin plasters." These were pieces of paper printed as replacements for coins in denominations ranging from 3 cents to 50 cents They vanished from circulation many years ago.

Proposed legislation to end this game of "let's pretend" wouldn't cost anyone a penny. Neither would it affect the value of any U.S. currency, including any old bills that might reappear.

One administration aide said it has been bogged down by "congressional inertia."

Two types of paper money would be affected by the legislation, sponsored by Reps. Jack Westland (R-Wash) and Brent Spence (D-Ky). They are the large-size bills printed before 1929 and the gold certificates which were legally withdrawn from circulation in 1934.

It's a rare day indeed when anyone gets handed one of these bills. However, the fact they're still carried in the Treasury's currency accounts means they tie up 103 million dollars in gold, silver and other reserves.

The Westland and Spence bills would free these reserves for other use. This would mean the Treasury could cut its borrowings by a like amount. At current rates, the savings on interest charges would amount to more than $10,000 a day.

Hatcher Sees Era of U. of M. Progress

ANN ARBOR (AP) — University of Michigan President Harlan Hatcher predicted Monday that the near future would see the greatest progress in the history of the school.

In his annual "state of the university" address before 750 faculty members, Hatcher expressed confidence that the State of Michigan would provide support necessary to permit the university to meet increasing demands on higher education.

Hatcher said the most challenging task for the school would come in advanced training and research. He called these fields "the newest and most promising developments of our time."

Hatcher said the university would continue its policy of "carefully controlled growth" to stay within the limits of financial support and available space.

9 Connecticut Towns Gained by Republicans

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Connecticut Republicans have regained some of the ground they lost in the 1958 Democratic sweep.

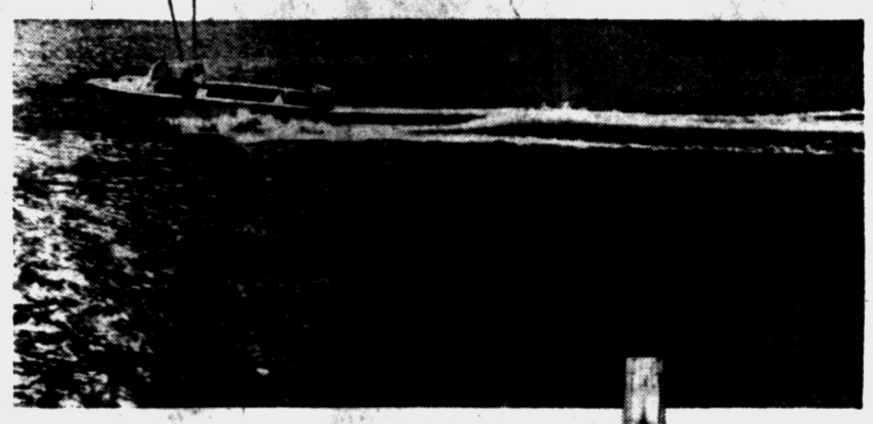

In 127 municipal elections Monday, the GOP showed a net gain of 6 towns, taking 15 towns that had been in the hands of the Democrats while losing 9 of their own.

★ ★ ★

Over-all, Republicans won in 86 towns and Democrats in 40. There was one nonpartisan election.

HIGHWAY WEEK FACTS

OCTOBER 4-10 IS MICHIGAN HIGHWAY WEEK DESIGNED TO REMIND THAT — GOOD ROADS ARE GOOD FOR YOU.

For Scientific Study

Wanted: Chunk of Moon

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American scientists are impressed by Russia's picture-taking Lunik III, but what they really want to get their hands on is a chunk of moon rock.

A moon sample would enable scientists to learn more about the moon's composition in a short period than they could hope to learn in years from telephoto pictures.

Examination might prove what they have long believed — that many rocks now on display in natural history museums as meteorites actually are bits of lunar matter which have peppered the earth.

Lunik III may get crude pictures of the moon's other side, heretofore hidden from earth-bound viewers. But most scientists believe pictures will not reveal much difference from the face turned toward the earth.

In any case, Lunik III's pictures would not resolve such controversies as whether lunar craters are of meteoric or volcanic origin.

U.S. space scientists concede the Soviet Union's new moon rocket marks "the beginning of space flight."

However, they feel it is much more important to develop a robot or manned vehicle capable of scooping up moon matter and bringing it back to earth. Both countries agree that putting a man on the moon is many years away.

Guerrero and Robertson U.N. Incident Is Closed

MANILA (UPI)—Foreign Secretary Felixberto Serrano said today the foreign office considers as "completely closed" the recent bitter argument at the United Nations between Philippine Ambassador Leon Ma Guerrero and U.S. Far Eastern expert Walter B. Robertson.

But Filipino lawmakers, officials and newspaper columnists joined Sen. Claro M. Recto in praising Guerrero for standing up to Robertson in their lunchtime argument that developed into a minor international incident.

Robertson called Guerrero "arrogant and rude." Guerrero retorted that Robertson was "too old to understand the new Asia and the new Philippines." Robertson also was reported to have accused Guerrero of following the "line" of Recto, often accused of being anti-American.

Add Asian Herb to Pork Steaks

Spiced Pork Steaks will provide excellent fare for the dinner table and they are so easy to prepare. The family will undoubtedly question the distinctly different flavor, and this is where history comes into the conversation.

The unique flavoring is cumin seed. This herb, you can tell your family, is a member of the parsley family and is native to Syria and Egypt. In Europe, this herb is used to season soups and pastry while in the Orient, it's used in flavoring meats.

Spiced Pork Steaks

4 to 6 arm or blade steaks, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon crushed cumin seed
1 onion, sliced

Brown steaks in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season both sides of steaks with salt, pepper, ginger and cumin seed. Top with onion slices. Cover tightly and cook slowly for one hour. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

New Ways With Meat Make Good Eating

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

There will still be days when it's warm enough to have a picnic. But by the time October's "bright blue weather" comes along, we turn our thoughts to hearty meals that will satisfy the football player and the other active members of the family.

★ ★ ★

Most of us decide on the meat course first, then plan the rest of the meal around it. In October both pork and poultry are listed as plentiful foods. That means, you know, that they will be reasonably priced.

Fruit is always a logical food to serve with pork. Buy your favorite kind of pork chops and simmer them in a spicy orange sauce.

Sweet 'N' Pork Chops

6 loin pork chops
6 cloves
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon brown sugar
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons shortening
1 6-oz. can fresh-frozen orange juice (thawed and undiluted)
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Insert one clove in the center of each pork chop. Blend salt, paprika and pepper and rub mixture well into both sides of chops.

Melt shortening in heavy skillet or dutch oven and when hot place chops in pan and brown on both sides over medium heat. (Do not crowd in pan; it is better to brown three at a time.) Combine thawed and undiluted orange juice with brown sugar and cinnamon and pour over chops.

Cover and simmer about 30 minutes or until tender. Makes 4-6 servings.

In the store where I shop I often see a frozen rolled veal roast. Although the price per pound may seem high, the meat is not so expensive because there is no waste.

Veal can be tasteless or it can be a delicious delicately flavored meat. Serve it with Thyme Gravy for a change. Here also are the roasting directions which you may not have.

Roasting Schedule

To roast a frozen or thawed boneless whole veal leg, place it on a rack in a shallow pan. Spoon melted fat over the top of the roast. Do not cover pan. Roast in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) according to the time schedule or to (180 degrees F.) internal temperature as indicated on a roast meat thermometer.

Approximate Roasting Time in a slow oven (325 degrees F.)

Wght.	Frozen Roast (Starting Temp. of meat 0°F.)	Thawed Roast
4 to 5 lbs.	4 to 5 hrs.	3½ to 3½ hrs.
5 to 6 lbs.	5 to 5½ hrs.	3½ to 4 hrs.
6 to 8 lbs.	5½ to 6 hrs.	4 to 4½ hrs.

Thyme Gravy for Veal Roast

Meat drippings from veal leg roast
2 cups water
2 to 3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 to 3 tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon powdered thyme

Remove roast from pan. Place pan on top of range. Add 2 cups of water to drippings. Blend well and heat to boiling. Mix cornstarch with 2 to 3 tablespoons of water. Slowly stir cornstarch mixture into gravy.

Continue to stir until gravy thickens to desired consistency and returns to boiling. Stir in salt, pepper, and thyme. Serve with slices of veal leg roast.

Another item you see at this time of year is the stewing hen. Nowadays she is called a "bro-hen." She has been scientifically developed by the chicken industry and is still tender. Don't insult her by calling her an old hen!

Simmering is the proper method of cooking bro-hens. You can do this job early in the morning and refrigerate the bird the rest of the day; don't leave it out in room temperature. Then reheat the chicken 20 minutes before serving time.

★ ★ ★

Treat the family to Chicken Fricassee the next time you see a stewing hen in the store. Make dumplings, too, if you like them.

Chicken Fricassee

1 4½ to 6-pound bro-hen (stewing chicken), cut in pieces
3 cups water
1 medium onion, chopped
2 celery tops, finely cut
2 bay leaves
2½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
6 carrots, scraped and quartered
12 small whole onions

Put chicken in deep kettle. Add water and seasonings; cover. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 2 hours, or until tender. Remove chicken; skim fat from broth. Measure broth; if necessary, add water to make 3 cups. Return to kettle.

Mix 5 tablespoons flour with ½ cup cold water. Add some of the hot broth to flour mixture; stir until smooth. Stir into broth in kettle; cook, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Return chicken to sauce and add carrots and onions; bring to a boil. Cook, covered, 20 minutes. Serve over steamed rice. Yield: 6 servings.

★ ★ ★

If you're planning to make drop dumplings, cook them covered for the first 10 minutes, uncovered for the last 10 minutes. Time was when the preferred way was to drop the dumplings into the hot chicken mixture when it was just below the boiling point and to cook them with a cover the entire time. Covering for only half the cooking time will result in a lighter, more uniformly cooked dumpling.

Teach Daughter an Easy Dish to Start With

Teaching daughter to cook can provide many a companionable Saturday morning hour for mother and daughter. It's smart to select dishes that are within her beginner's capacity to achieve but that have enough "show-off" glamour to give her pride in the finished product.

Apple pie smoothie would be one happy choice. It is an open face pie with a candy topping of crushed peanut brittle.

APPLE PIE SMOOTHIE

1 cup sour cream
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2½ cups (1 can) sliced apples
1 9-inch unbaked pie shell (use pastry mix)
¾ cup crushed peanut brittle

Mix together sour cream, sugar, flour, salt, cinnamon, nutmeg, egg and vanilla extract. Add sliced apples; mix well and pour into pie shell. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375 degrees, 50-60 minutes. Sprinkle with crushed peanut brittle immediately after removing from oven. Makes 8 servings.

Don't try to be thrifty about eggs when you are poaching, frying or cooking them in the shell. Use Grade A!

Dedicate Giant Telescope Today

U. of M. Astronomers Now Tune In on Planets Long Hidden

ANN ARBOR (AP)— University of Michigan astronomers tuned in on the planets today with a new, giant radio telescope said to be the most sensitive of its kind in the world.

Formal dedication ceremonies were scheduled today for the 70-ton steel and aluminum structure atop Peach Mountain, about 16 miles northwest of here.

Professor Fred T. Haddock, university astronomer who heads the project, said the 10-story high antenna, shaped like a huge saucer, is the most sensitive instrument of its kind and the fourth largest steerable radio telescope in the world.

With its precision-made reflecting surface and new drive system, the $270,000 telescope can chart any portion of the sky, breaking it down into 40,000 sections, Haddock said.

The telescope was built under a contract with the Office of Naval Research and was put into operation yesterday.

Haddock said the new telescope will enable man to penetrate cosmic dust clouds to learn what is behind them, study regions where the stars are born and die, track rockets and pick up radio waves from space that are millions of years old.

★ ★ ★

Haddock said among the first uses of the telescope will be an effort to learn more about Uranus and Venus.

Uranus is a little known planet beyond Mars. Venus has never been seen optically because of a dense cloud cover.

WHO NEEDS LONGSHOREMEN? — Yemenite dancers that perform with the Inbal unit of the Israeli Dance Theater seem to be right at home as they carry their own luggage off the liner Zion after it docked in New York. The dock workers were on strike at the time, but they should be back at work soon since President Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley Act yesterday. The dance troop is part of a group of Yemenites that migrated to Israel. Their dancing, Inbal, combines traditional steps with modern Israeli aspirations.

U.S. Building Super Rocket

Twice as Powerful as Russia's, It's Delayed by Shortage of Funds

BOSTON (UPI)—The United States is developing a rocket at least twice as powerful as those believed used by Russia in its space efforts but the American project is lagging a year behind because of insufficient funds, rocket expert Dr. Wernher Von Braun said Monday night.

Von Braun, chief of the Army's rockets and missiles program, told newsmen before addressing a business group that the nation's penny-pinching policies are killing the United States' chances of overtaking Russia in the space race.

"We could catch up if we spend enough money to do it," he said. "We could go faster if we got the funds we asked for. But we get only about 50 per cent."

Von Braun said the rocket under development, called Project Saturn, would have engines capable of developing thrust of 1,500,000 pounds, "about four times greater than our largest intercontinental ballistic missile and about twice as great as the power plants we think the Russians have used in their space program."

Surprise: Country Doesn't Need Money

Able Mexican President to Visit

By JACK RUTLEDGE

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Adolfo Lopez Mateos is flying to Washington this week with unusual news — of a Latin-American nation economically sound and friendly to the United States.

The handsome 49-year-old Mexican chief executive is due in President Eisenhower's visit to Acapulco.

Although an experienced politician, a gifted speaker, a man with a charming personality and a ready smile, Lopez Mateos is shy. He won't try to match Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's showmanship.

He will be able to talk of Mexico's improving business, it's sound peso, and the internal quiet and peace of the nation.

Lopez Mateos took office last December. Since then, he has shaken up the government — and Mexican living — drastically. Some joke that a recent earthquake in the Isthmus of Tehuantepec was one of his jolts.

The President's father was a dental surgeon who died when Adolfo was less than a year old. His mother struggled to raise five children on a small insurance policy and help from relatives.

He was a scholarship student in a French school in Mexico City and at a high school in Toluca, capital of Mexico state. He played soccer and boxed and at one time was Mexico's featherweight champion.

While attending college in Toluca, he sometimes walked 35 miles over 12,000-foot mountains to visit his mother in Mexico City on weekends.

★ ★ ★

He first got into politics on the campus with a Socialist group. He took his law degree and joined a prominent firm in the capital.

He married a pretty teacher, Eva Samano, in 1940. Her grandfather was British.

He returned to hs alma mater briefly in 1943 as director, or president.

His entry into politics came in 1945 when an old friend, Miguel Aleman, was nominated for the presidency and asked Lopez Mateos to be one of his top campaigners. Aleman was elected, and saw to it his friend was elected a senator.

DO NOT DISTURB — Unaware of the bargain-hunters scurrying around him, 14-month-old Darrell Hooper of Longview, Wash., dozes off. The tag "sold" stuck to the lad's shoe no doubt was the idea of one of the women with an extra keen sense of humor.

Proposed to Cut Accidents

Every Michigan Motorist a Traffic Cop?

LANSING (AP) — A post card patrol—with motorists informing on violations by other motorists—has been proposed as one method of cutting down highway accidens.

The plan, outlined to the State Safety Commission yesterday, drew immediate objections.

★ ★ ★

It was proposed by Dr. F. J. Margolis of Kalamazoo, director of the audio-visual department of Wayne State University Medical School.

Motorists spotting highway violations would be asked to report them by post card to the secretary of state's office. Those making the complaint could either sign their name or remain anonymous.

"It smacks of the Gestapo," objected Malcom D. Whale, consultant for the Driver Education Division of the State Department of Public Instruction.

PICTURES DON'T PASS

Acting Gov. John B. Swainson recalled there had been objection to a bill requiring all motorists to have their picture on their license. The bill passed but without an appropriation to make it effective.

Swainson predicted similar opposition to any official system of encouraging informants.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said no action on the proposal was required from the Safety Commission at this time.

★ ★ ★

He said the idea was still in the talking stage and probably would require about a quarter of a million dollars to get it under way in Michigan.

Margolis said he developed the idea with the help of Dr. Gordon Scott, dean of the Wayne Medical School, and Donald Slutz, managing director of the Traffic Safety Assn. of Detroit.

He proposed an organization to be known as "green light" to establish a nonpunitive program for promoting traffic safety through public participation.

NATION'S MAIN PROBLEM

Automobile accidents, he said, are the main public health problem in the nation today.

The plan would work this way:

Preaddressed post cards would be issued to motorists in the license plate package distributed by the secretary of state's office.

These would contain check off boxes for specific violations and space for other violations to be written in.

Motorists would be asked to send in a post card, containing the license number of the offender, when they spotted a violation.

★ ★ ★

Motorists accumulating a file of cards would be contacted by the secretary of state's office on their unsafe driving practices.

It was added that none of the data would be turned over to police agencies for possible prosecution of violators.

Tough Getting Jury in Community Killing

CHELSEA, Vt. (UPI) — Questioning of veniremen in one of Vermont's strangest murder cases, the so-called "community slaying" of Orville A. Gibson, resumed in Superior Court today.

★ ★ ★

Preliminary proceedings yesterday eliminated 42 of 91 prospective jurors summoned for the trial of Robert O. Welch, 45, a school janitor.

Superior Judge Natt J. Divoll Jr., ordered court officials to name 42 more veniremen for today's session.

Welch and Frank W. Carpenter, 43, are accused of first degree murder and kidnaping in the death of the 47-year-old Gibson, a farmer in the small town of Newbury. Carpenter will stand trial at a later date.

★ ★ ★

Gibson was reportedly widely disliked in the community and officials after a lengthy investigation said it was distinctly possible that his slaying was a "community affair."

The investigation also uncovered another unique twist, the use of tranquilizers by suspects, apparently to escape detection when given lie detector tests.

Court Would Pay Indians for Land

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Claims decided today that a small group of Alaskan Indians are entitled to be paid for more than 20 million acres of land taken from their ancestors by the white man.

Millions of dollars could be involved.

★ ★ ★

The Indians—about 7,000 of the Tingit and Haida tribes—had sued for compensation for fishing and hunting rights and for the value of the land their antecedents lost.

★ ★ ★

The five-judge court unanimously agreed with their claim.

The amount of money will be determined within the next year of two by a court commissioner. A court attache said there is no way of estimating how much this will be, since there is no precedent in Alaska. This is the first favorable judgment for Indians there.

However, in similar cases involving Indians in the other states, the court has agreed to payments of between 40 cents and $2.50 an acre.

We'd Blame Nikita for Red China Deeds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has put the finger on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as the man who must bear the blame if the Chinese Reds attack Formosa or start other conflicts in the Far East.

★ ★ ★

High officials said today that was the basic meaning of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's declaration that the Soviet Union had "a great degree of responsibility for the actions of other members of the (Communist) bloc."

★ ★ ★

Herter told a news conference yesterday the Russians could not escape responsibility for Communitst actions against Korea, Formosa, or Laos "as long as they maintain they are the leaders of the bloc."

'TWAS IN THE CARDS — Joseph Miraglia, 19, of Manhattan, is shown in police station last night where he was booked on a charge of fraud. Police said Miraglia spent about $10,000 in five weeks of travel and luxury living — all on credit cards. But the cards didn't provide the pocket money, so Joseph wrote rubber checks, police said. He was charged with fraud in writing a phony $150 check that was cashed at a hotel in New York City. So he moved from the $40-a-day suite at the Plaza to the county jail . . . quite a comedown.

Transportation Workers Hurt by Walkouts

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Combined results of the national steel strike and the longshoremen's walkout apparently have reached into the Grand Rapids area with transportation worker layoffs.

Chesapeake & Ohio Railway yesterday announced furloughs of 158 employes and the Pennsylvania Railroad listed a score of workers placed on furlough. The Grand Trunk western and New York Central Railroads reported no layoffs planned despite embargos placed on shipments to strike-closed ocean ports.

New Lighting to Stop Midair Crashes OK'd

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Federal Aviation Agency approved a new airborne lighting system designed to prevent midair collisions, it was announced yesterday.

The Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co., which built the device, said it consists of high-intensity flashing stroke lights mounted on a plane's wingtips.

The lights have been seen at distances of 100 miles, according to H. W. Atkins, a Northwest-Orient Airlines pilot who thought of the system.

Minneapolis-Honeywell said the strobe lights give pilots of planes traveling 360 miles an hour more than three times the 15 seconds he now has to observe another plane on a collision course and take evasive action.

8-Month Bond Sale Total Is $7 Million

Oakland County residents invested $6,986,585 in Series E and H United States savings bonds during the first eight months of 1959, it was announced today by Alfred C. Girard, chairman of the Oakland County Savings Bonds Committee.

Girard said purchases through Aug. 31 were equivalent to 45 per cent of the current year's goal of $15,576,000. The total purchases for the same period in 1958 was $7,659,991.

"The Treasury anticipates an enthusiastic response to the one-half of one per cent increase in interest rates recently approved for both old and new savings bonds," said Girard.

State Police Count 1,220

Bad Checks on Upswing

EAST LANSING (AP) — Rubber checks are bouncing higher in Michigan this year—one indication of an upswing in the economy—the fraudulent check section of state police headquarters reported today.

"An improvement in the economy should bring greater caution in cashing checks, but usually the reverse is true," said Detective Sgt. Fred C. Kelly, head of the check division.

"When money is more plentiful there is a tendency for business people to take fewer precautions in cashing checks," he said.

Kelly said the number of bad checks processed by his department through September already has exceeded the total for the entire year of 1958.

There have been 1,220 checks handled so far this year against 1,209 last year.

This is only a small part of the total of bogus checks passed, Kelly added. Many police departments—like Detroit—process their own, he said. Police departments also send in only one or two out of a batch of fraudulent checks for comparison of signatures and method of operation.

"Apparently there are several good-sized check rings operating in the state," Kelly said. "Also a lot of amateurs."

Couple Injured Here in Crash Into Tree

A Pontiac couple was treated for minor injuries at Pontiac General Hospital and released Tuesday evening after their auto struck a tree next to their home, according to Pontiac police.

They were Robert L. Scott Sr., 65, of 28 Glenwood St., and his wife, Violet, 55.

Scott told police he had just turned into Glenwood from his driveway and couldn't straighten the wheels out in time to avoid going up over the curb and striking the tree.

Won't Let U.S. Deport Chinese

Judge Says Formosa Can't Be Used Since It's Not a Country

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Federal Judge Alexander Holtzoff ruled Tuesday that the United States cannot deport two Chinese aliens to the Nationalist-held island of Formosa because it is not a sovereign country.

★ ★ ★

Other court decisions prevent deportations to Red China, and lawyers said the new ruling virtually would halt deportation of Chinese Nationalists by this country.

Holtzoff quoted Eli Maurer, the State Department's assistant legal adviser for Far Eastern affairs, as saying that while the United States recognizes the Republic of China's "authority" over Formosa, the island never has become "a country" under international law.

U.S. immigration laws allow a person to be deported only to "a country."

Ask Army Engineers to Spare Duck Habitat

LANSING (AP) — The Army has been asked to spare a thought for canvasback ducks accustomed to wintering on Grassy Island in the Detroit River.

Acting Gov. John B. Swainson said he has wired Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker protesting Army engineers plans to dike a part of Grassy Island for the later disposal of dredging wastes from River Rouge.

Swainson said waterfowl, especially canvasback ducks, use the island as a wintering area. The Conservation Department advised him the duck habitat there already has suffered extensive damage, Swainson said.

Teach Children Rules to Follow in Case of Fire

More than one-third of 11,000 persons killed by fire last year were children under 14 years of age. Many would have been saved had they been taught what to do in case of fire.

Here are four simple rules to teach your children, and heed yourself if fire ever strikes:

—Get out of the house.

—Call the fire department.

Never try to put out a fire yourself, unless it's your own clothing.

—Never go back into a burning building for any reason.

To Grab Off School Sites

DETROIT (UPI)—The board of education has approved recommendations for acquiring sites for the first 19 schools under a 90-million-dollar building program during the next five years. School Supt. Samuel M. Brownell urged quick action in purchase or condemnation of the sites. He said construction probably would start in mid-1961.

Universities Hope to Get Funds From New Tax

LANSING (AP)—Major state universities today found themselves in competition with Michigan cities, villages and townships for cash from the state treasury's meager hoard.

Their main hope for getting the $6,500,000 October installment of 1959-60 legislative appropriations later this month rested in receipts from the controversial use (sales) tax increase, now under fire in the Supreme Court.

The added cent on the use levy is expected to funnel about 10 million dollars into the treasury starting in about 10 days. The money will represent first income from the tax increase, effective Sept. 1.

The University of Michigan, Michigan State and Wayne State were passed up yesterday by the state administrative board in allocation of $12,100,000 on hand and in sight by Oct. 15.

Part of the reason was a decision to add one million dollars to a special reserve being built up to meet the state's constitutional sales tax rebate obligation to local governments.

The board is getting set to pay about 13 million dollars due local units Oct. 25. The disbursement is regarded as an absolute "must."

The universities, which received their last allocation of state funds Sept. 8, are fairly well fixed at the moment, thanks to collection of student fees for the fall term.

But they are haunted by memory of hand-to-mouth living last spring when the treasury fell about 20 million dollars in arrears.

Pontiac City Affairs

Library and Terminal Finances Settled

The city has virtually completed financial plans for construction of the $500,000 Pontiac Public Library and the $345,000 terminal-tower project at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

★ ★ ★

City commissioners last night set aside $200,000 out of this year's unappropriated surplus as a reserve to complete library financing and provide an additional $100,000 for furnishings.

All that remains is for the money to be budgeted and appropriated next year out of capital improvement funds. The other $400,000 came out of 1958 and 1959 capital improvement funds.

An agreement for $176,830 in federal funds for the terminal-tower was ratified—a token move since the agreement has already been approved sight unseen and was signed by Mayor Philip E. Rowston Monday.

Scheduled for a public hearing next Tuesday is a proposal for a 525-foot water main on the south side of Walton boulevard west of Telegraph road. It's estimated the project will cost $1,180 in special assessments and $1,513 in city funds.

Two new projects were placed on the public improvement program. Proposed are a new sidewalk for the northwest corner of Willard and Jessie streets and curbs and gutters on Beverly avenue, Fuller to Arlene.

Continued one week was a hearing for a sanitary sewer on Emiry, Hollister an Crittenden streets. Two affected property owners said they didn't need the sewer, since septic tanks work well in that area.

★ ★ ★

There were no objections at hearings on special assessment rolls for sanitary sewers in Richmond avenue, Brooklyn to Walton, and Harvey street south of Ditmar. Also approved after public hearing was a new sidewalk on the north side of Walton at Stanley avenue.

Two assessment rolls were confirmed for payment. They covered sidewalks on both sides of Robinwood avenue, Baltimore to Manhattan, and curbing and gutters on Court drive, Mt. Clemens to Grandview. Court also was graded and graveled this summer.

Trader Vic Being Sued

Roquefort Folks Peeved

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Folks who ought to know say that Trader Vic's salad dressing is cheesy—but it isn't Roquefort.

Claiming its reputation for the zesty cheese is being harmed, the French community of Roquefort is suing the restaurant in U.S. District Court.

★ ★ ★

Trader Vic's uses blue cheese in dressing and calls it Roquefort, the aroused French say: They asked damages and a court injunction to stop the restaurant from using the name.

★ ★ ★

The suit, filed by the town, the manufacturer and the exporter, declares real Roquefort must be made from ewe's milk—not cow's—and matured in special caves near Roquefort where natural conditions create the distinctive flavor.

Jim Haver, a Trader Vic's employe, asked: "Who ever heard of Roquefort in Roquefort dressing, anyway?

White Sox Now in Own Backyard Happy and Confident

Dodgers Still Favored After Coliseum Loss

Relief Job by Donovan Keeps Chisox Series' Hopes Alive

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago White Sox that everyone knew from their American League-winning season finally came to the fore at the Coliseum in Los Angeles yesterday. Now the Sox are back in their own Comiskey Park completely confident they can win the World Series.

★ ★ ★

After winning the opener 11-0, then losing the next three when they out-hit themselves but couldn't get the runs, the White Sox finally returned to form yesterday, barring the Dodgers' bid for a clinching victory in the fifth game with a 1-0 decision.

To stay alive, they went back to doing what comes naturally, winning with just five hits all singles, clutch defense and the first three-pitcher shutout in Series history.

Back home behind Early Wynn, who'll be making his third start, the Sox are favored at 11-10 in tomorrow's sixth game, after a day off for travel.

But the Dodgers, who'll send southpaw Johnny Podres after his second victory are 5-2 choices for the world championship. They need win but one of the remaining two games.

★ ★ ★

Dodger Manager Walt Alston said aforehand that his Dodgers have an advantage over any team playing in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum for the first time. He was right.

The Coliseum, filled with gold and bright sun, sent this 50th World Series rolling toward money highs with record crowds for each of the three games played in Los Angeles.

But it was an open-air dungeon full of errors for defense, with the glare and white-shirt background leaving fielders blind.

"Our defense ought to be better in our own park," said White Sox Manager Al Lopez. "Defense has been the best part of our club all year, but over there (Los Angeles) it was hurting us.

"I said on the bench that if we won yesterday, we'd win the Series. We haven't done anything easy all year."

★ ★ ★

It was a tremendous relief job by Dick Donovan, the third game loser, that put it away for the White Sox yesterday. But it was Jim Rivera's running stab in right-center that saved the Sox something to put away.

A walk and a two-out single, Junior Gilliam's record-tying fourth hit of the game, had Sox starter Bob Shaw on the spot in the seventh with Charlie Neal coming to bat. It was Neal who had walloped a pair of home runs to beat Shaw in the second game.

After a wild pitch put the runners on third and second, the right-hand-hitting Neal sent a drive deep to right-center-past center fielder Jim Landis, but not past the rambling Rivera, running toward the fence.

"Honest," said Lopez, laughing, "I made the move for left, not for right! And I think Smitty would have made the catch, too."

The White Sox got their run in the fourth, when Nellie Fox led off with a single and went to third on Landis' single to right-center off loser Sandy Koufax. Fox came home when Sherm Lollar rolled into a double play.

★ ★ ★

Shaw, the winner, gave up all of the nine hits by the Dodgers, who left five men on base in the seventh and eighth. Donovan left the bases loaded in the eighth, getting clutch guy Carl Furillo, on a pop up to third, and retiring Don Zimmer on a fly to right.

Donovan faced only five men in his 1 2-3 innings, and Zimmer was the only one to get the ball out of the infield.

Still, Lopez and everyone else tagged Rivera's catch "the big play."

★ ★ ★

A guy asked Smith if he thought he could have made the catch.

"I don't know, really," he said.

"There's a lot to getting the jump on the ball and things like that. Let's just say I'm just as glad we didn't have to find out.

"That's a heckuva park," he added, shaking his head.

"You get to prayin' the ball isn't hit to you at all."

A record attendance of 92,706 was on hand in Los Angeles. No more mobs like that here though. You couldn't fit that many in Comiskey Park with a shoe horn.

Scene for Series Fever Turns to Comiskey Park

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The ball players were gone and the battle site shifted to Chicago.

But there was no let - up of World Series fever in this baseball slap-happy place today.

And tomorrow a mass work stoppage will set in again as the citizens of this sprawling place follow the fates of the Dodgers and the White Sox via the newspapers, the wireless and the electronic tubes.

Deserted was Memorial Coliseum, where on three hysterical days crowds of 92,394, 92,650 and 92,706 screamed, groaned and joined in the local battle cry, "Charge!"

Before heading for Chicago, players on both teams expressed confidence.

Manager Al Lopez of the White Sox frankly declared:

"We're going to win this thing now."

Conservative Walt Alston of the Dodgers ducked a question for his prediction. "You know better'n to ask me that," he said, smiling broadly.

Popular Wally Moon was less reluctant. In one word, "Yeah," he answered a win-query.

The chalked legend in the Dodger dressing room, printed on a blackboard since Sunday, was still evident. It read: "One to Go-Go-Go," that was a takeoff on the Chica-Go-Go-Go" slogan.

"That still stands," Alston agreed.

★ ★ ★

The Sox' 1-0 victory, and the heart - thumping eighth inning when the Dodgers tried but failed, was the main topic.

Carl Furillo, one of the Dodgers' old guard of stars, swore softly but good humoredly about his pop up with the bases loaded and one out.

"I just got under the ball," he said. "It was a little below where I wanted it.

"All I had in mind was to hit the ball. There was only one out. I didn't care where it went, just so I hit it good."

★ ★ ★

Alston credited Lopez with a master stroke in inserting Jim Rivera in right field in the seventh with two out, two on and Charlie Neal up.

★ ★ ★

Rivera played Neal in right center and made a spectacular, game saving catch on Charlie's long fly ball.

"I just ran for the fence and there the ball was," Rivera said.

"I didn't bother snapping down my sun glasses, because they don't help out here."

Alston was asked why he used a pitcher, Larry Sherry, as a pinch hitter in the ninth. He laughed.

"I didn't have anybody else," he said. He did consider using either Sherry or another pitcher, Don Drysdale, both of whom are a cut above pitchers as hitters.

Sugar Kings Winners of Little Series Title

HAVANA (AP) — The Havana Sugar Kings won baseball's Little World Series last night climaxing a great comeback from the International League cellar.

Danny Morejon's two-out single in the ninth inning gave the Cubans a 3-2 victory over Minneapolis in the seventh and deciding game of the best-of-7 series. The American Assn. team had led 2-0 on solo homers by Lou Clinton and Joe Macko until Havana rallied to tie in the eighth on a two-run single by pinch hitter Lary Novak.

All-Star Pin Points

KEEP FEET CLOSE TO GROUND
By BILLY WELU

People have often complimented me on the fact that during my entire bowling delivery my motion is free of jerky movements. Aside from the fact that I "look good" to the gallery, I have another good purpose for keeping my approach smooth.

It all goes back to that pendulum arm motion that you hear and read about. As you know, the ball should swing in as near perfect a pendulum arc as possible as you approach the foul line. Now, when you allow this arc to vary off line as it were, you are almost certain to either "loft" and bounce the ball out onto the lanes or release it behind your left or sliding foot. As the professional bowler would say, "You'll be out of time."

I've found the best way to keep my delivery smooth (and that simply means keeping the ball in a smooth arc) is to concentrate on keeping my feet as close to the floor during my approach as possible. In other words, no hops, skips or jumps.

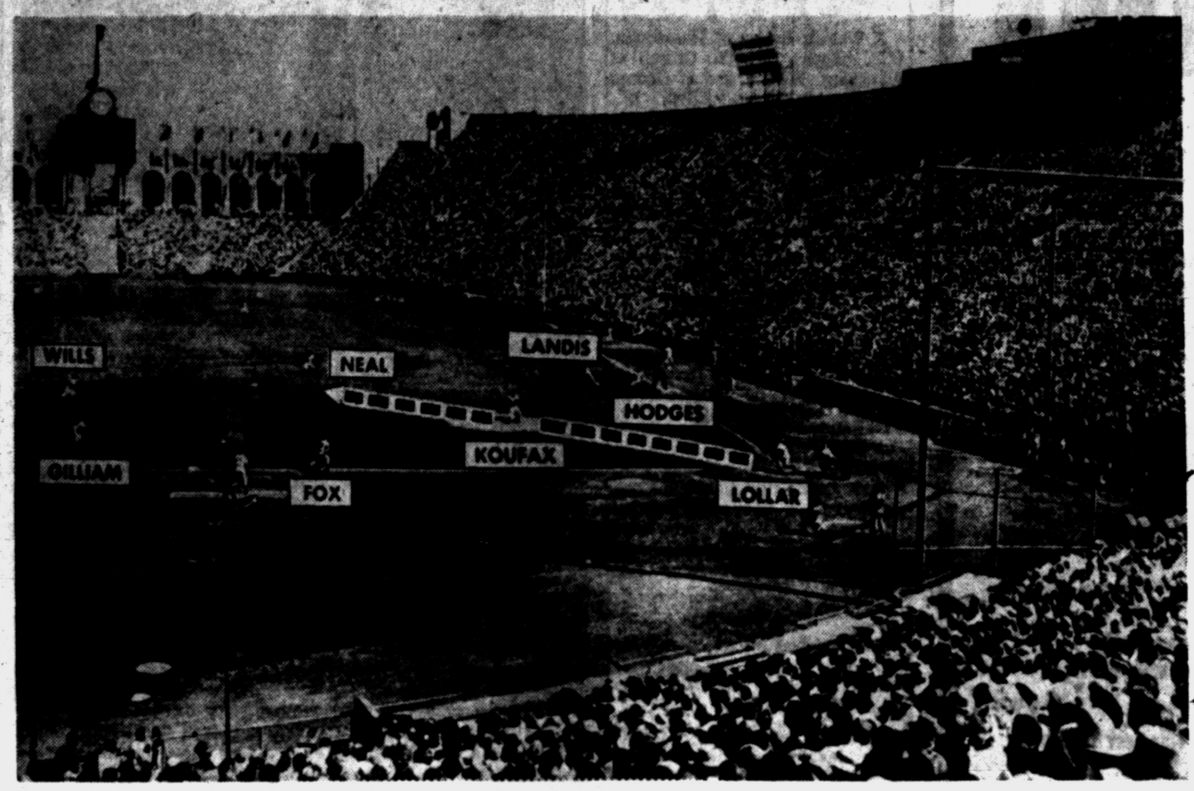

I take small, shuffling steps at all times and let the ball swing freely from the shoulder. In that way, I prevent my body from bobbing up and down, and not only look smooth, but can control the ball better. It actually feels lighter in my hand and that's important, especially when you can compete in a test such as the All-Star tournament which runs 100 games.

I know there are many things for the novice bowler to think about as he makes his delivery, but I believe one of the easiest things to master is simply staying close to the floor with the feet while delivering the ball. Your bowling approach should be similar to your natural walking pace, rythmical and well-coordinated.

THE SMOOTH DELIVERY — Billy Welu says the secret of this smooth approach, for which he is often complimented, is keeping the feet as close to the floor as possible.

Skippers Host to Huskies on Friday Night

2 Local Teams Clash for 1st Time in I-L Encounter

By BILL CORNWELL

A "natural" football rivalry will be inaugurated Friday night when Waterford plays host to Pontiac Northern in an Inter-Lakes Conference game.

This local feud could develop into one of the most heated rivalries in the Oakland County area and the two schools look quite evenly - matched for the initial battle.

One dominant factor tends to lay the groundwork for an intense neighborhood grid series between Waterford and Northern.

The Skippers will meet Pontiac Central on the gridiron only one more time—next year. After that, Central's scheduling commitments to the expanding Saginaw Valley Conference prevent them from meeting again.

★ ★ ★

This leaves the Skippers with no close and logical rival except Northern, although Walled Lake always has been a bitter foe in past years.

Aside from the Central-Northern city feud, which doesn't get under way until next season, Waterford also is a "natural" grid opponent for the Huskies.

The first Northern-Waterford scrap Friday falls in the tossup category. The Huskies, playing varsity football for the first time in history, gained their richest prize last Friday evening when they stunned heavily-favored Farmington, 25-20, on the Wisner Stadium gridiron.

It was Northern's 2nd victory of the season and came on the heels of a hard-luck 14-12 loss at Hazel Park. Coach Ed Heikkinen's gridders opened their 1959 slate with a 13-0 conquest of Lake Orion.

Waterford, coached by Dave Freeman, has a 1-2 record. The Skippers took a 31-6 lacing from Pontiac Central in their opening game, then conquered Lapeer, 18-6, before dropping a 21-6 decision to Walled Lake last Friday.

All Inter-Lakes teams will see league action Friday night. Unbeaten Walled Lake, pre-season title favorite, invades Berkley and Southfield entertains Farmington to round out the I-L program as the league campaign swings into 2nd week.

Currently leading the wide-open race are Walled Lake, Northern and Berkley, all with 1-0 records. Waterford, Southfield and defending champion Farmington have 0-1 marks.

Kickoff time Friday at Waterford is 8 p. m.

New York Was Cleveland Nemesis in 1958

Browns Eagerly Await Giants

By United Press International

The Browns, eager for their first 1959 crack at the only team ever to deprive them of a slice of National Football League title game money, are three-point favorites to defeat the New York Giants Sunday at Cleveland.

The San Francisco Forty-niners and Packers, only N.F.L. teams with perfect records after the first two weeks of play, clash at Green Bay. Coach Vince Lombardi's Packers are four-pint favorites.

In Sunday's other pairings, the Baltimore Colts are 6½ point choices to tame the Lions at Detroit; the Bears are favored over the Los Angeles Rams by seven at Chicago; the Eagles are favored over the Pittsburgh Steelers by two at Philadelphia, and the Chicago Cardinals-Redskins game at Washington is rated a tossup.

All N.F.L. coaches claim there is no such thing as a favorite or an underdog in their games. Bettors who went for the favorites last weekend may be inclined to agree. Of the six favorites, only the Packers were able to win.

★ ★ ★

The Browns, underdogs last Sunday for one of the few times in their 14-year history when they clobbered the Cardinals, 34-7, now are favored over a New York team that whipped them three times last season.

Since coming into the N.F.L. in 1950, the Browns have won the Eastern Division title seven times. They missed only in 1956 and 1958, when the Giants won Eastern honors.

The Giants added insult to injury last December when they edged the Browns in the last two minutes of the final regular season game to force a division playoff and then blanked the Browns in that clash, 10-0.

★ ★ ★

The Giants also defeated the Browns earlier in 1958 and were the only eastern division club to defeat coach Paul Brown's Huskies last season. All of which set the scene for what should prove a typical hard fought game Sunday at Cleveland.

Cleveland bounced back against the Cardinals after losing its 1959 opener to Pittsburgh, 17-7. New York edged Los Angeles in its first game, 23-21, but took a 49-21 whipping at Philadelphia last Sunday.

Alex Webster, New York's offensive right halfback, and Jim Patton, the team's all-league defense back, did not play at Philadelphia but figure to play against the Browns.

Cleveland is in good shape. Mike McCormack, Cleveland's 250-pound right offensive tackle, is back in action after missing most of the training season because of a knee injury. He played the whole game on offense at Chicago last Sunday. McCormack and Jim Ray Smith, 240-pound guard, are key blockers on Jim Brown's runs.

Iowa Athletic Boss Hanged in Effigy on Campus

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Iowa Athletic Director Paul Brechler was hanged in effigy Tuesday night while the board in control of athletics was meeting to discuss a controversy between Brechler and football coach Forest Evashevski.

A dummy bearing the words "Paul-Go" was hanged from a tree on the women's athletic field. The dummy was dressed in a light suit coat, a tee shirt and black pajama bottoms.

A feud between Brechler and Evashevski flared into the open last week when Brechler said he was staying at Iowa and Evashevski then announced he was leaving when his contract expires in 1963, and wanted to examine all offers in the meantime.

Wings Winners in Rough Scrap

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (UPI) —The Detroit Red Wings defeated the Sault Ste. Marie (Ont.) Thunderbirds 5-0 in a rough-and-tumble exhibition game here last night.

The game was marked by two separate free-for-alls, with Red Wing defenseman Pete Goegan and Ed Ravlich of the Thunderbirds being banished from the game for fighting.

In all, 11 penalties, eight of them on Detroit, were called in the lop-sided affair before 2,200 local fans.

Thunderbird goalie Dennis De Jourdy was the star of the game, turning away 58 of the Red Wings' 63 shots on goal. The Thunderbirds got only 21 shots at Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Lakers to Host Big Brighton Squad Friday

Loser Will Fall Out of Current Four-Way Tie for Lead

By CHUCK ABAIR

The first game of importance in the Wayne-Oakland League comes up Friday night at Keego Harbor when the high-scoring West Bloomfield Lakers take on a big Brighton eleven in a battle of unbeatens.

A four-way tie currently exists for the loop lead after two games with Northville and Clarkston holding the other two positions.

Northville will host winless Milford, Clarkston visits Holly and Bloomfield Hills is at Clarenceville in other games.

West Bloomfield is rated the slight edge in the top game of the night on the basis of its strong scoring punch. Brighton will have an overall weight advantage. A continuation of the recent rainy weather would be another factor in favor of the rugged Bulldogs.

The Keego boys have piled up 101 points while allwing 32 thus far with league figures being 80-26 headed by Jack Newton's 30 and 18 apiece for Tom Moran and Wayne Ross. Smooth-working Dennis Alix completes the backfield. He has booted 11 extra points.

The Lakers whipped St. Michael, Clarenceville and Milford. Brighton was held to a 6-6 tie by South Lyon but since has trounced Bloomfield Hills and Holly.

Brighton has tallied 50 points while allowing 24. Each total is six less for the W-O. Randy Marx has three TDs and Scott Martin two. They operate in the backfield with 191-pound Earl Clark and speedy Bob Loveland.

★ ★ ★

Coach Art Paddy at Keego has drilled his boys in the rain to be ready for such conditions. He has great respect for Brighton as a "steady" team.

Clarkston will be favored to keep rolling but the Wolves are anticipating plenty of trouble from victory-hungry Holly. Good running and the Bob Porritt-Dick Caverly passing combination has made CHS a definite title threat. Holly is 0-3 overall despite some good play in spots.

Northville had its troubles with Bloomfield Hills but should keep new Milford coach Jerry Ganzel on the losing side of the ledger.

Many outstanding young bowlers have been developed at area alleys in the past few years under the guidance of proprietors with an eye for talent. Two of these showed their wares well in the opening qualifying round for the 3rd annual Pontiac Press Bowlerama.

Mike Dzuris and Joe Myers, both 15, combined some outstanding bowling with good handicaps to finish 1-2 on the list of qualifiers for the finals.

Many other such youngsters are expected to compete in both the men's and women's divisions before the tourney comes to a close Oct. 25 with the finals at Joe Bonfiglio's new Huron Bowl.

Youth is nothing new to the Bowlerama. Joe Tinson, the 1st champion was a Pontiac Central student. Mike Samardzija finished in the money in 1958 and competed again this term as did others.

Many of the younger set are becoming dedicated keglers with an eye on becoming big-timers someday much in the manner that other kids dream of making the Major Leagues in baseball. Bowling has come a long way in recent years.

Rochester Lanes proprietor Hal Hintz, who did an outstanding job handling the Bowlerama, has brought the pair along slowly since they started three years ago. His own boy, Gary, is another capable pintoppler. The boys bowled together on one team last year and are on three now.

"I plan to take them to the ABC," says the elder Hintz. "Dzuris already has his money saved for it," he added.

★ ★ ★

Some outstanding keglers who failed to make the qualifying cut opening day will likely be back for another try. They include Joe Foster, a 202 average man, Mike Figa, Westside star who hit a 300 there this season in practice, and Jerry Cannon. The latter won a car rolling in a March of Dimes event in Lansing a year ago.

Speaking of 300s, Dale Seavoy of Walnut Lake fired a perfect game at Norwest Lanes racking up a total of 21 straight strikes in a practice session. The 26-year-old instructor and Detroit star had 1460 for six games.

Ken Perkins came close at the B & M alleys in Walled Lake. He had 11 in a row before getting a spare for 288. A 215 and 210 gave him a 713 actual series in the Lincoln Matinee loop. Ken averages 191.

EXTRA PINS

Pontiac Recreation's 1520 is the high team series and Merle Norman with 540 has the best team game in the T. T. League . . . Stroh's headed the 18-team Pontiac K of C loop with 8-0. Ed Mellick tops the individuals with 258 and 704 scores at Motor Inn.

★ ★ ★

Wayne Tosh burned up the alleys at Cooley Lanes for a 668 total following a 199 with 235-234 . . . Land-O-Lakes has a good early lead in the Airport League. D. Belote of Miller Wade Corp. had a 222 there recently.

Social Katz No. 2 ahead of 13 opponents in Women's Oakland County Employees competition at 17-3. Has high team scores of 591 and 1679 . . . Appendicitis attack prevented Joe Bonfiglio from entering the national eliminations in which "Mo" Moore and Mary Monroe are still in contention.

Eliot Named 'Coach of Week'

Illini Grid Boss Honored

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UPI)—His defeated foes from Army went away mumbling about a "new attack" that caught them by surprise, but he insists that his team "did about the same things we've always done."

★ ★ ★

In fact, after taking a 20-0 battering from Indiana a week earlier, he says he spent the past week's practice sessions "coaching morale rather than football" and "getting down to the bare facts of the game."

★ ★ ★

He's Ray Eliot of Illinois, named college football's coach of the week by United Press International today as a result of the Illini's shocking 20-14 victory Saturday over an Army team ranked fourth in the nation and rated a 10-point favorite.

The honor, won in the past several times by Eliot, comes now in his final season at Illinois — for he has announced he will move up to the assistant athletic director's post after this season.

Stitch and Dupas Meet in Wednesday TV Bout

The bout will be televised nationally (ABC) at 9 p. m. (EST).

New Faces Will Start for Michigan Saturday

Elliott Shuffles Lineup for Visit of Oregon State

Schopf, McRae, Julian Gain Starting Berths With Wolverines

ANN ARBOR (AP) — At least three new faces will be in Michigan's starting lineup Saturday against Oregon State as coach Bump Elliott tries to breathe new life into the twice-beaten Wolverines.

Elliott indicated he probably would start sophomore tackle Jon Schopf, and halfbacks Bennie McRae and Fred Julian against the Beavers.

Schopf, a strapping 230-pounder from Grand Rapids who has developed fast in the past two weeks, figures to get the starting call at right tackle.

If Schopf starts it will mark the third straight game in which a new player has started at right tackle. Don Deskins, who played more than any other player on last year's team, opened there against Missouri but gave way last week to junior Will Hildebrand.

McRae, who blossomed into the team's top running threat when he tallied two touchdowns against Missouri, saw little action against the Spartans Saturday after suffering a painful hip bruise early in the game.

The swift, 170-pound scatback from Newport News, Va., showed little effects of the injury in workouts yesterday. He will replace Darrell Harper, who suffered badly bruised ribs in the MSU game.

Julian, a senior from Detroit who saw plenty of action in 1958, will replace Brad Myers, another casualty of last week's shellacking. Myers has been hospitalized with severely torn tendons in his left leg and is definitely lost for Saturday's game.

Elliott sent the team through its first full-scale midweek scrimmage in nearly two weeks yesterday in an effort to find a winning combination for the Oregon State game.

The nearly three-hour drill, held on a rain-soaked field, consisted of a long session devoted to building a defense against the Beavers' single wing attack, topped off by a one-hour scrimmage.

Oregon State lost its opener to Southern California 27-7 and lost 15-14 to Texas Tech and 7-6 to Nebraska in its next two outings.

No Time for Friendship When Spartans Play Iowa

Old Football Buddies Clash

EAST LANSING (AP)—Old football friendships will be forgotten Saturday when Michigan State meets Iowa.

Forest Evashevski, head coach at Iowa, and Michigan State's Duffy Daugherty once worked shoulder to shoulder when both were assistants here under Biggie Munn.

Evashevski then was regarded as heir apparent to the Spartan head coaching job. But he moved on to Washington State in 1950 and in 1952 took over at Iowa.

Under Evashevski's driving direction, the Hawkeyes have enjoyed some fabulous successes — winning the Big Ten title in 1956 and again last year.

★ ★ ★

He's well remembered here as the blocking back who cleared the way for Tommy Harmon from 1938 through 1940 and captained the University of Michigan team his last year with the Wolverines.

A native Detroiter, Evashevski married the former Ruth Brown, daughter of former U.S. Senator Prentiss Brown.

★ ★ ★

An aggressive recruiter, Evashevski has battled MSU and U. of M. for the prime local football material. He's outbid the local schools for a lot of them too, and his current squad has 10 imports from Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Familiar names on the Iowa roster include:

Dan Behrman, tackle, Cassopolis; Charles Hill, halfback, Detroit Western; Al Hinton, tackle, Saginaw; Arnold Klott, halfback, Detroit St. Thomas; Gerald Mauren, halfback, Wyandotte; Allan Miller, end, Flint Northern; John McMeekins, halfback, Highland Park; William Ringer, guard, Flint Central; Robert Yauck, tackle, Saginaw, and Donald Zinn, center, Battle Creek.

Michigan State has met Iowa only twice before—both games since the Spartans entered the Big Ten.

In 1953, his last year as head coach, Biggie Munn beat Iowa 21-7.

Munn always was proud because so many of his assistants struck out as successful head coaches on their own. But he also loved nothing better than walloping one of his former associates.

Evashevski is known as one of the trickiest coaches in the highly competitive business. There was a little rhubarb that year because the grass was so tall on the Hawkeye gridiron.

Munn claimed it was high as the Iowa corn and thick enough to hide his pony backs like Billy Wells and Leroy Bolden.

★ ★ ★

Daugherty lost to Iowa 14-10 in 1954, his first year as head coach.

In County Scoring Race

Christian, Stott Still 1-2

Last weekend was a wild one for high scoring performances around the area but Walled Lake speedster Bob Christian emerged heading the Oakland County pack for the 3rd straight week.

The senior star garnered 19 of his team's 21 points at Waterford to increase his total of 58. Doug Stott of Oxford tallied 13 to remain No. 2 with 43.

West Bloomfield dash man Jack Newton romped for four TDs to gain 3rd with 36, six other have 30 points. Glen Haas of OL St. Mary and tiny Chuck Olesek of Clawson made it with four-touchdown efforts while Chuck Graves went over three times for Pontiac Northern against Farmington. Jim Kennedy, St. Fred, Clarkston's glue-fingered end Dick Caverly and Ted Barszczewski complete the group.

Jim Williams and Tom Demrick combined for 33 of 40 Cranbrook points, Hal Choate of South Lyon scored 25 and Mike Brown of Ferndale got 18 in other big county showings.

★ ★ ★

Cranbrook, Rochester, Orchard Lake, Ferndale and Royal Oak Dondero all have two representatives in the top 22.

Larry Kalbliesch of Capac had all 25 of his team's points for the best outside area single performance. New Haven's Al Smith scored 19, Don Nellenbeck, North Branch, and Les Houck of Brown City 18 each.

Don Kurkowski of St. Rita and lanky Terry Wills of Armada are now locked in an area tie with 32 digits. Smith and Art Massucci of St. Ben. follow with 26.

Fastest Driver Sets 4 Marks

Thompson Heads Home After Smashing Long Standing Records

Bonneville Salt Flats, Utah (AP)—America's fastest automobile driver headed for his California home today richer by four international speed records and wiser by at least two brushes with death.

★ ★ ★

Thirty-year-old Mickey Thompson of El Monte, Calif., in three days of running on the salt flats of Western Utah, smashed four international speed marks that have stood since the late English driver John Cobb, set them in 1939.

★ ★ ★

In one of Thompson's record attempts yesterday, his oxygen mask tube broke loose in the fume-choked cockpit behind the roaring four engines of his little blue racer, Challenger I. Thompson drove the car with an oxygen tube in his mouth in order to prevent being overcome by the fumes.

★ ★ ★

The California newspaper pressman in two earlier runs yesterday set the following international marks which must be confirmed by the International Automobile Federation.

For the flying five - kilometer 351.95 mph, compared to Cobb's 326.71; the flying five-mile at 342.54 compared to Cobb's 302; the flying 10-kilometer at 325.65 compared to the Englishman's 283.0, and the flying 10-mile at 282.72 compared to the old mark of 270.4.

Texas Voters Approve Bond for Ball Park

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Dallas and Tarrant County voters approved by a margin of almost 2 to 1 Tuesday a $9,500,000 revenue bond issue to build a major league baseball stadium in the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

★ ★ ★

With 323 of the 337 boxes in the bicounty area reporting, the vote was 14,988 in favor and 8,230 against. In Dallas County, the count was 6,625 for and 3,253 against. In Tarrant County (Fort Worth) the vote was 8,363 for and 4,978 against.

★ ★ ★

The election was on the proposition of whether revenue bonds shall be issued to build a 45,000-seat stadium, which sponsors says is needed to obtain a major league franchise.

Monroe Catholic Leads

Prep "B" Ratings Juggled

By The Associated Press

Three teams are waging a terrific fight for the top spot in the state's Class B football ratings.

The Associated Press' second weekly poll finds the top three teams separated by only two points, but Monroe Catholic managed to retain its hold on first place.

The panel of 14 sports editors and writers who blanket the Lower Peninsula voted Monroe Catholic to the top position for the second straight week, this time with 66 poll points.

★ ★ ★

South Haven ranked second with 65 points while Dowagiac trailed in third with 64 points. Facing the stiffest test this week will be South Haven, which meets No. 8 rated Kalamazoo University High on Friday night.

★ ★ ★

Last week's ratings took on quite a jumbling. Second-ranked Cadillac, fifth-rated Sturgis and 10th ranked Jackson St. John absorbed beatings and tumbled out of the elite group.

Here's the way the AP panel rates the Class B high school teams this week:

Ted Williams Is Undecided About Future

FREDERICTON, N.B., (AP)—Ted Williams is undecided about his future in baseball.

"I haven't made up my mind yet," the left fielder for Boston Red Sox said Tuesday. "I've been playing baseball for a long time, and if I quit now I would have to go out and look for a job. It's a hard decision to make."

★ ★ ★

Ted visited Fredericton after a week of salmon fishing in the province and then returned to the Cains River.

He had few comments on the World Series.

★ ★ ★

"Don't discount that Chicago team. That layoff didn't do them any good and they had some bad luck."

Too Many Broken Bones —Soccer Discontinued

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Robert Briley, headmaster of world famed Eton College, looked over a mounting casualty list of broken bones today and decided soccer just was not worth it.

Thirty-five boys have been treated in the last two weeks for fractured collar bones and broken legs and arms—all suffered on playing grounds baked hard by weeks of sun and drought.

Headmaster Briley called a conference with the schools' doctors and it was decided to ban soccer on the 26 fields until heavy rain softens them up.

Wilson Gives Lions Tongue-Lashing

AP Wirephoto

NO ARGUMENT — This is no argument between Nellie Fox (2) and Luis Aparicio. They both went after a pop fly from the bat of Gil Hodges and a collision sent both players bouncing. Aparicio held on to the ball however. Backing up the play is Jim McAnany, White Sox outfielder.

'Riot Act' Read to Squad After Second Defeat

Realignment Is Made in Offensive Backfield for Colt Game

DETROIT — Coach George Wilson gave his players a tongue-lashing and realigned his offensive backfield yesterday in an effort to jolt the lethargic Detroit Lions from their football doldrums.

After losing their first two National Football League games to Baltimore and Green Bay, Wilson figured his charges needed a jolt to awaken them to the football facts of life.

Only one phase of Detroit's play in the early weeks of the season has pleased Wilson:

"Our defensive line and the linebacking has held up," he said yesterday after reviewing films of the Packer contest.

After reading the riot act to the squad — one of the players described it as "an old-fashioned chewing out" — Wilson said he planned to follow through with his scheme to call most of the plays from the bench instead of letting his quarterbacks make the decisions.

Wilson also reached some conclusions as to why the Lions attack failed against Green Bay. It appeared that much of the blame stemmed from confusion and missed assignments in the backfield.

To remedy this, Wilson has changed his system of interchangeable backs to another calling for two separate backfield units.

"We'll have Nick Pietrosante at fullback and John Henry Johnson at halfback in the starting unit," Wilson said. "Danny Lewis and Kenny Webb will be the second set of running backs, and when Pietrosante is out of the game Webb will be the fullback."

This move is designed to relieve Johnson of the burden of playing both as a halfback and at fullback. Wilson figured that by Johnson being shifted frequently last Sunday the Detroit running and passing attack suffered.

Wilson also said he has heard nothing definite on whether Charley Ane, the big Hawaiian center, will require surgery on an injured knee. However, Ane is expected to be out of the lineup for at least a month. He will be replaced by Bill Glass.

Defensive halfback Terry Barr, former Michigan star, is expected to see action against Baltimore at Briggs Stadium Sunday. Barr's leg injury is not as serious as we first believed.

Duck Shooting Begins Today With Fair Prospects

'59 Pheasant 'Derby' Opens Oct. 20

By The Press Outdoors Editor

With the state's waterfowl season under way today, it will not be too long before the fall upland bird shooting comes around once more.

Only two weeks of waiting face the devotees of pheasant and rabbit hunting, just about long enough to tune up the shooting irons and make arrangements with farm-owners for permission to seek the wily ringneck in their fields and hedgerows.

This colorful and mostly rewarding season of outdoor sport, arrives on Oct. 20, at 10 a.m. Remember that mid-morning starting time.

Tuesday, Oct. 20 also marks the beginning of the annual Pontiac Press Pheasant Derby, in which Oakland county hunters will compete for two awards. A $50 United States Savings Bond will go to the hunter who enters the heaviest bird. Another bond, of $25 denomination, will be awarded for the longest bird.

FOR OAKLAND COUNTY RESIDENTS ONLY

Last year's winners were Leonard Skaggs, Pontiac, whose 4-pound-2-ounce rooster was entered on the last day of the season, and Paul Pace of Bloomfield, who listed a 40½-inch specimen. Both will be in the contest again, they report.

★ ★ ★

Rules are unchanged.

Only full-time Oakland county residents are eligible.

Birds may be taken anywhere in Michigan, with shotgun or bow and arrow.

Entries in heaviest division must not be dressed out, and no entries will be accepted where bird has been dressed.

A hunter may win only one division.

★ ★ ★

Final entry date is Nov. 10, two days after close of the regular season. Deadline is 12 o'clock noon. No entries will be taken on Saturdays after 11:30 a.m. and none on Sunday.

All entries must be brought to the Pontiac Press for weighing, measuring and photographing, between 8 a.m. and 1:30 p.m.

NEVER FORGET TO BE CAREFUL WITH A GUN

Beginning of fall shooting seasons emphasizes the great necessity for careful and continuous safe handling of firearms. The huge army of hunters that will invade the Michigan game areas and marshes for the next two months presents a terrific challenge to life and limb.

Always be absolutely certain of your target before shooting. Never indulge in carelessness such as that which unnecessarily cost a hunter his life—he tried to knock an apple off a tree, holding his loaded gun by it's muzzle.

A 14-year-old hunter climbed through a fence with a loaded shotgun. It discharged, blasting off his right arm.

Last year's small game season toll was 12 killed and 200 injured by firearms. State conservation authorities point out that there is ample room for improvement in this connection.

GUN SAFETY TAUGHT HAZEL PARK YOUNGSTERS

In line with betterment of the safety record is the weekly gun safety classes for 7th and 8th graders in Hazel Park. These instructional periods are held each Tuesday evening with NRA-qualified instructor Bud Stevens in charge.

★ ★ ★

"I waited nine years for a chance to bag a bear with my bow" reported successful archer Morris Cascaddan of near Milford. Cascaddan downed his 250-pounder, a beautifully coated sow, near Onaway. His Bear broadhead arrow drove clean through the bear, at a distance of 25 yards. The veteran archer uses a 50-pound Pontiac-made Grimes bow.

★ ★ ★

Another successful archer-hunter, first from the area to report taking a deer, was Ed Chruscz, 9259 Tan Bay, Lower Straits lake. Hunting alone near Kalkaska Ed bagged a 140-pound doe, with a running shot, at 70-yards. Mrs. Chruscz, an ardent bow-hunter herself, says she is going back to Kalkaska "to get me a deer, too."

Waterfowlers May Find Sport Good at Start

Report Many Quackers on Saginaw Bay; 'Local' Hatches About Normal

LANSING (UPI)—The abbreviated duck-hunting season opened at noon today, and conservation department officials said hunting should be as good as last year "for the first few days."

★ ★ ★

Michigan duck hunters killed more than 450,000 ducks last year, the department said.

But drought conditions severely cut the duck population, forcing a reduction of the season from 70 days in 1958 to 40 days this year, the season runs through Nov. 15.

For the first time, there is a special season on geese. The regular waterfowl season, including both ducks and geese, opened today, but geese hunting will be allowed through Dec. 15, or for 70 days.

★ ★ ★

Conservation officials urged duck hunters to learn and observe new rules. Only one redhead, canvasback or ruddy duck (one of the group) is allowed in possession. There are numerous other special rules concerning species, areas and times to hunt.

Waterfowl stamp prices are three dollars this year. A new act of Congress raised the price and earmarked the money to provide living space for water fowl.

Local ducks in all probability will provide the bulk of the early shooting, and this will most certainly whittle down the available targets pretty fast, during the first week or so. Migrant flights usually do not appear in this area (Oakland County) until about Oct. 20, although a change in weather conditions could step up the flights.

In the Saginaw Bay region the supply of ducks was reported today to be fairly large. They included many mallards, and blacks. There were, however, few bluewing teel, this species having departed some time ago. Greenwings are coming in, reports indicate, and some widgeon and Canada geese have been noted in the area.

The noon start of the season slowed shooting up for the first day, but it should be pretty good over the weekend.

Backing-Up Ahead

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Roy E. McLean thinks he would have made it across the waters of Hampton Roads with his outboard putt-putting in reverse, but the Coast Guard insisted on an assist.

McLean wanted to get home and said the motor would run only in reverse. He was holding a flashlight over the stern when the Coast Guard arrived and gave him a tow.

Muzzle-Loaders in 2-Day Event

Hold Midwestern Shoot

Plans have been completed for the fifth annual Midwest Muzzle-Loaders Turkey Shoot, one of the most colorful features of the fall season. The shoot is a two-day gathering at the famed Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn. It starts Saturday, concludes early Sunday evening.

This yearly event is expected to attract nearly 175 members of organized gun clubs throughout the Midwest, all using old-time muzzle loading guns. All the shooters will be costumed, most of them as buckskin-clad frontiersmen or Civil War soldiers, adding to the color of the festivities.

Individual contests, largely involving the frontiersmen, will be on Saturday, with military events on Sunday. As in other years, a highlight on Sunday will be a friendly marksmanship contest between eight-man teams of Civil War soldiers using muzzle loaders against two-man teams of Soldiers and Marines with modern firearms. The modern soldiers haven't won yet.

In addition, there will be costume judging. Men and boys will be judged on Saturday with women and girls on Sunday. Indications are that a record number will enter this colorful event this year.

Nearly 14,000 spectators attended this attraction last year, including many from Oakland County.

The Turkey Shoot gets its name from colonial times when it was the practice of the local innkeepers to sponsor such an event around Thanksgiving.

Both Saturday and Sunday events begin with a flag-raising and parade at noon and continue to 5 p.m.

Big Houghton Lake Area Open to Public Hunting

LANSING—With the arrival of small game seasons in northern Michigan this week, approximately 10,575 acres will be newly opened to public hunting at the Houghton Lake state game area.

The former Porter Ranch property was acquired by the Conservation Department last March. The game area is located near the Houghton Lake police post and is almost evenly split on both sides of the Roscommon-Missaukee County line. It ranks as one of the state's largest game areas.

Although the area will offer best shooting prospects for deer hunters, it is considered a likely spot for hunting grouse. Hunting regulations for the northern Lower Peninsula will apply.

No permits or registration will be required but hunters are requested to report their deer kill to department biologists at the game area. The entire area will be open to hunting, except for a small zone encircling the department's deer pens.

State Restoring Historic Ghost Town

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan is finally getting around to preserving one of its historically rich ghost towns.

The old iron smelting town of Fayette, on the eastern edge of the Upper Peninsula's big Bay de Noc, is being restored by State Conservation Department workers with the advice of the State Historical Commission.

A land parcel of 106 acres, including the townsite, was obtained about a year ago in an exchange of land with the Escanaba Paper Co.

"Restoration is moving slowly," said the department's chief of planning and construction, John I. Rogers. "This summer we had some convict labor cleaning the place up. The old town had been used by fishermen and squatters and in general as a dumping place."

Jackson Iron Works Co. developed Fayette. Some 26,000 acres of land was bought in 1867, most of it for the hardwood to stoke the smelting furnaces. The first iron was smelted there Christmas Day 1867.

Much of the little village remains. There are remnants of both of the furnaces and of a lime kiln and charcoal kiln. Then there is the townsite itself with an old bank, company store building, machine shop and forge, hotel, opera house, factory superintendent's house and the homes of several workers.

But the conservation department plans more than just a historical site, Rogers said.

"We need about 863 more acres and $539,000 to buy them," he said. "It's a beautiful site. We want to make campgrounds and picnic facilities."

Rogers said that 20,623 people have visited Fayette this year, the first it was open to the public.

Age Doesn't Mean a Thing!

97-Year-Old Avid Angler

SPRINGER, N.M. (AP)—Jim McCallister still fishes about once a week.

For 97-year-old Jim, "that's not much. He's probably New Mexico's senior fisherman. He has held a license every year since the State Game Dept. started issuing them.

He's fished in New Mexico a lot longer than that, though—74 years.

James Madison McCallister, born in Gatesville, Tex., is a retired rancher. He started breaking broncs for a living at 16 and made his way to New Mexico to work as a cowpuncher in the high Pecos country.

Eventually he bought a ranch near Charette Lakes—good fishing water—in northeast New Mexico near Springer. He sold it in 1944 and retired to Springer to play cards with friends, bet on a few horse races at nearby Raton, and fish.

★ ★ ★

And he's much beyond the point in years to care much what other people think. So he wears a sun bonnet when he's fishing. He says he'd get too sunburned wearing any other hat.

Recover 'Cripples' Hunters Are Urged

LANSING — In view of this year's noticeable drop in duck numbers, hunters should make an added effort to recover all cripples.

Records from past years reveal that one out of every four ducks shot in Michigan is never recovered. Since hunters annually kill about 500,000 ducks in the state, this means that 125,000 crippled or dead ducks are wasted each year. These lost birds would provide a full day's limit for more than 31,000 hunters.

This loss which cuts drastically into the bird's breeding stock and, consequently, the hunter's harvestable crop could be even more binding this year.

OLDEST ACTIVE ARCHER? — Glen Lake's George Robinson, 94, may be Michigan's oldest active archer. His lifelong collection of bows and arrows is part of the October Archery Festival at Glen Lake. Robinson still uses his first longbow (above) which he made 80 years ago.

Political Figures Take Part in Track Dedication

Congressman William S. Broomfield of Oakland County will be one of the guests participating in the formal dedication of the sports car road race course at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The ceremonies will mark the completion of improvements made at the course this fall. The course was widened, a new pit and paddock areas installed, and refreshment stands and spectator areas for up to 10,000 people were put in.

The ceremonies will be preceded by two days of sports car racing. There will be two novice races and a ladies race Saturday afternoon, and six races are scheduled for Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Some of the finest amateur sports car drivers in the Midwest and Canada have entered and the public has been invited to view the fast-growing, exciting racing sport, according to officials.

★ ★ ★

Other dignitaries expected to participate in the ceremonies include Senator L. Harvey Lodge, Representative Lloyd Anderson, Sheriff Frank Irons, Sergeant Ahlgren of the Michigan State Police, Waterford Township supervisor, Elmer Johnson, and Independence Township Supervisor Duane Hursfall.

National Hunt Bags One Bear

Only one bear was taken in the 14th annual National Bear Hunt in the Dead Stream Swamp near Lake City, Mich., October 1-4, but several were run by the dogs and many tracks were seen by the over 100 hunters participating. The hunt produced three bear in 1957 and six in 1958.

Several bear were taken in the Upper Peninsula season, the Michigan Bear Hunters Assn. pack accounting for five in the first hunt at Brimley. Buck Austin took four with his pack and Burt Chase reported a 350 pounder taken with his dogs.

Scheduled organized hunts with dogs under a small game license with bear stamp are: — Guaranteed Bear Hunt (you pay $25 only after you have bagged your bear) Brimley, Oct. 10-11; Claire and George Myers Hunt, Brimley, Oct. 17-18. Hunts are planned for weekends of Oct. 24-25, and Oct. 31-Nov. 1. For information contact Michigan Bear Hunters Assn. P.O. Box 29, Cadillac, Mich.

Pontiac Pointer Wins Obedience Trial Honors

Ch. Lady Velvet Heide CD, owned by Barbara Armstrong, collected several honors in the progressive dog show obedience trial won by Bertha Ernest's (Toledo) with her utility German Shepherd, Bru-Stars' Jobame CDX. Winner had 200 points. Heide was high (open A) scoring dog, with 198, won top sporting dog award and went best opposite sex for breed.

Heide just missed the trial runnerup spot, taken by Ida Mae Carden (Richmond, Mich.) with Vi Mack's Black Joyeaux (poodle) in a runoff. Both had scored 198.

Officers Report Many Ducks in Area Potholes

Observations of area conservation officers regarding the supply of "local ducks" as the state's waterfowl season began today, was that "there are lots of them." But the supply will not last more than a few days under normal hunting pressure, they point out.

Officer Warren Kendall of Rochester reported today that he has noted many ducks on area potholes, mostly canvasbacks and mallards, along with some black ducks.

Geese were also moving in the area but the migration involves only small bands. Officers believe these Canadas are geese spooked out of the Houghton Lake area by the start of partridge shooting in that section.

No heavy flights of either ducks or geese have been observed in this area.

Area Dogs Make Good Showing

Out of a field of more than 830 dogs of all breeds, more than a score of entries from the Pontiac area were among the Progressive Dog club of Wayne county show winners last weekend. Rundell, Chicago.

Boat men, seeing the flag bogging on a float, should stay at least 30 feet away from the pennant.

Waterford Engineer Sees Need

Seeks Developer Code

Township Engineer Felix Anderson told the Waterford Township Board night that a specific procedure for new land developers has become a definite necessity of the township's rapid population growth.

In a lengthy discussion, with Board members asking questions about a Land Plan Procedure, Anderson told the group that a construction engineer should be hired to check each new home as it progressed.

A condensed brochure, compiled by the Johnson & Anderson engineering firm, was distributed to Board members, and several revisions were made. The complete procedure booklet will be presented for action at next week's Township Board meeting.

In other business, a low bid of $7,982 for the construction of an 1,100-foot enclosed storm drain on Exmoor street was approved for the Mike Harabedian Construction Company.

Originally approved by the Oakland County Road Commission, the bid was passed on to the Township Board for its approval. The Commission and the Board split the cost of the project.

The Board approved the hiring of two additional stenographers at $2 an hour for two months during the issuing of township tax statements.

The low bidder for township fleet vehicle insurance, the Nationwide Insurance Company, was awarded the contract. The company's bid was $1,444 covering all township-owned vehicles.

Battle Creek Doctor Gets Practitioner Title

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—Dr. Charles J. Manby of Battle Creek Tuesday was named "General Practitioner of the Year" by the Michigan Society of the American College of General Practitioners in Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery.

The 66-year-old osteopathic doctor won the honor at the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons convention now under way here. Manby is a member of the Battle Creek mayor's committee "to study the needs of the aged."

Manby was graduated from the Kirksville College of Osteopathy and Surgery at Kirksville, Mo., in 1916, and has practiced in Battle Creek since July 1917.

Manby is president of the Michigan State Board of Osteopathic Registration and Examination on which he is serving his third five-year term.

Osteopathic Auxiliary Officers Are Installed

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Mrs. Z. W. Killgore of Michigan Center Tuesday was installed as president of the Michigan Women's Osteopathic Auxiliary.

The organization is meeting in conjunction with the 61st annual convention of the Michigan Assn. of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons now in its second day at Grand Rapids.

Beatniks Make San Francisco Music Capital

CHICAGO (AP)—Because its music fans wear out more phonograph needles per capita than any other city, San Francisco is considered the music capital of the United States.

★ ★ ★

"We wondered why San Francisco used more needles and we started investigating," says Karl Jensen, a phonograph needle manufacturer.

"We found the reason was the 'beatnik' population of San Francisco, as well as the culturally-conscious run-of-the mill people who seem to enjoy classical music as well as jazz more than anywhere else."

The survey also revealed that the San Franciscan spends more for various forms of music than persons in any other city.

★ ★ ★

"Not even Boston with its cultural tradition or New York with its large foreign population comes close to San Francisco in playing records and wearing out needles," Jensen says.

★ ★ ★

San Franciscans seem to be more conscious of music quality and will replace needles more often, he adds.

Business Drop Seen at Midyear

U. of M. Man Says We Still Can Forestall Downturn

CHICAGO (UPI) — A business downturn can be expected about the middle of next year, a University of Michigan economist said Monday.

But the forces leading to this downturn are "not yet irresistible," Professor Paul W. McCracken told Associates, a national group of the fall meeting of Robert Morris bank loan officials and creditmen.

force, the employment bureau said.

McCracken said there are four factors, besides the current steel strike, which could halt the nation's business expansion:

—A five-month decline in residential construction outlays, including a "downward drift in new units being started and the congestion in the capital markets."

—A lag in the rate of inventory accumulation behind the first half of 1959, despite expected gains when the steel strike ends.

—An unfavorable trade balance, with the U. S. spending four billion dollars more abroad than other nations spend here.

—Low savings deposits in American banks, compared with the large total of loans outstanding. This "limits the ease of further loan expansion," McCracken said.

"Recent events pose a challenge to banks to learn to live in an era when a plethora of liquid assets no longer exists," he said.

Canada's Trade Deficit Is Climbing Rapidly

OTTAWA (UPI)—The 11th consecutive monthly increase in imports and a slight drop in exports sent Canada's trade deficit to $493,600,000 by the end of August, almost triple last year's $171,800,000, the Bureau of Statistics said today.

Imports, climbing steadily since last fall, totaled $3,757,900,000 in the first eight months. It was an increase of 10.8 per cent from $3,390,700,000 a year ago.

Despite the August decrease, exports ran ahead of 1958 levels in the eight-months period. Shipments this year amounted to $3,264,300,000 against $3,218,900,000 a year earlier.

West German Jobless Less Than 1 Per Cent

NUERNBERG, Germany (UPI)—Less than one per cent of West Germany's total working population is unemployed, the federal employment bureau here announced today.

This is the first time that Germany's unemployment figure has sunk below the one per cent mark.

Unemployed persons as of Sept. 30 totaled 187,199, which is 0.9 per cent of the nation's labor

HAPPY RAINIERS REIGN — Former actress Grace Kelly is happily ruling her Monaco household while her husband, Prince Rainier, controls his principality with a firm, benevolent and progressive hand. It's obvious to anyone that this storybook romance is far from going sour.

Looks Forward to Future With Grace

Rainier Has Great Plans for Monaco

(This is the third and final dispatch telling about Monaco and its rulers, Princess Grace and Prince Rainier.)

By ROBERT MUSEL

MONACO (UPI) — It was the nanny's day off and Princess Grace was taking care of the two children herself. Prince Albert, who is a year-and-a-half old and the heir to the throne, was no trouble at all.

But Princess Caroline, who is nearly three years old, is going through a phase that any mother would recognize. She used to be the center of attention and now she has to share it with a baby brother.

So at the hideaway ranch house Prince Rainier has built in the French hills beyond Monaco, his beautiful wife was busy catering to Caroline's whims.

And in the palace of the Grimaldis on its fortress-rock far below, I was talking about the future of his little country with Prince Rainier.

Rainier has great plans for Monaco and he will permit nothing to stand in the way of their realization. When he felt the elected National Council was delaying vital projects last January he went on the radio to broadcast a decree dissolving it.

CRISIS OF SORTS

This touched off a crisis of sorts but Rainier is so much the master of the situation that I could detect no outward signs of any emergency.

The political opposition doesn't seem to have much of a chance anyway for the 36-year-old sovereign operates with tremendous drive — a quality more likely to be found in the executive suites of giant corporations than along the sunny Mediterranean shore.

"Don't you ever feel that you could use a few more acres?" I asked.

Monaco packs more than 22,000 people into 368 acres — the densest national population in the world.

"Yes, I do," the Prince replied. "It's something we'll have to take up with France (the protecting power) some day."

"How about the mountains?" I said pointing to the high hills where the pastel houses huddled together to take advantage of every inch of income-tax-free soil.

"No, there are French military installations up there," he said. "But I think the beaches used by Monaco ought to be in Monaco rather than France."

The Prince was not in any sense making this a matter of urgency. His relations with France under the treaty of 1918 are most cordial and he and Princess Grace were getting ready to pay a state visit to President de Gaulle while I was there.

But whether or not he gets any additional land from France, Prince Rainier is already adding 11 precious acres to his domain by filling in the foreshore with dirt taken from construction of a tunnel through which will run the railroad tracks that bisect the nation.

Fittingly, this new acreage — which probably will be the site of luxury hotels — is along "Avenue Princess Grace," named in honor of his lovely wife.

Rainier has many other projects under way, some for his subjects, such as low-cost housing, and some to attract tourists. Among the latter are an "oceanarium" as an adjunct to the famous oceanographic museum founded by his family, a sports palace and an all-year-'round swimming pool in the port.

These will cost many millions of dollars but Monaco is so prosperous it can handle the cost without even dipping into the fat surplus of its treasury.

FRIEND OF ONASSIS

Rainier is on good if not intimate, terms with Aristotle Socrates Onassis, the shipping man who controls the Societe des Bains de Mer which runs the gambling casino and some of the hotels. But it is no secret he would like his country to be completely independent of gambling income.

The tourist drive is one means to this end. In 1919, the Societe accounted for 48 per cent of the Monacan government income. This year it is 300 million francs out of a Monacan income of 6 billion francs — or only some four per cent.

The casino has been sharing in the general prosperity and had a good year as far as its gross is concerned, even introducing 'two-million france chips ($5,000). But Venezuelan and Greek gamblers hammered the baccarat no-limit table for more than one million dollars so profits were somewhat down.

Rainier and Grace lead perhaps the most idyllic life of any ruling couple anywhere. The Prince sometimes sheds the cares of state to slip down to the blue Mediterranean and skin dive or water ski. One of his pet projects now is renovating his new yacht — a three-masted schooner of the kind which carries fruit from Spain to the Canary Islands and back.

GRACE GOOD SAILOR

"It ought to be ready late in the winter or early spring," he said as the yachtsman of the family. Princess Grace wasn't too happy about his former yacht, especially in the choppy seas on which they set out on their honeymoon, so he sold it.

★ ★ ★

But she is now described as a good sailor and in any event the new boat is bigger — 156 feet long, 51 feet wide — than the old yacht and will be more comfortable at sea.

They have a fleet of automobiles and are considering a helicopter which would speed the trip to Nice airport. They move freely and informally about Monaco and often attend the theater or ballet there or in Paris or other places.

The happiness brought him by his marriage to Grace Kelly and his family have given Rainier a sense of mission. He wants Monaco to be a cultural center and has sponsored orchestral concerts in the courtyard of the palace and sent the orchestra on tour. He awards an annual literary prize.

★ ★ ★

"I would also like more international meetings of the type we can accommodate," he said. He mentioned as an example the International Bureau of Atomic Energy which convenes here in November to discuss the possible effects of sinking atomic waste products into sea water.

"My own laboratories are working on the effect of fallout on plankton — the food of fish," he said.

I stood up and Rainier took me to the door, a shade eagerly, I thought. But who could blame him? His car was ready and in the mountains 35 miles away the most beautiful Princess in the world was waiting for him.

Says East Germans Protest by Fleeing

BONN, Germany (AP)—Three million East Germans have voted against communism the past 10 years with their feet, the West German government said Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Denied a free vote by their Communist rulers, they have answered by marching westward and seeking asylum in West Germany, the government said in a special statement on the eve of the 10th anniversary of the East German regime's foundation.

Hollywood Headlines:

'Pollyanna' Likes Elvis; Child Actress Normal

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Is the 1959 Pollyanna a quiet, mousey little girl who is too good to be true? No, she is a pleasant teen-ager who is so normal she likes Elvis Presley.

I learned this upon getting acquainted with Hayley Mills, 13, talented daughter of British star John Mills and authoress Mary Hayley-Bell. The girl has the best star-making role for a youngster since the Shirley Temple heyday. Hayley plays "Pollyanna" in the new Walt Disney version of the Eleanor H. Porter classic. But she isn't the same Pollyanna as portrayed by Mary Pickford to a prior generation.

★ ★ ★

"Oh, no," said pretty young Hayley. "Our Pollyanna isn't the same as in the book. She was too sickeningly sweet. If you met any girl like that today, you'd want to kick her in the pants.

"This girl sees the nicer side of life, but she's a real girl, too. She can stick out her tongue when she is angry. She is much more believable."

Hayley is a real girl, too. Though barely in her teens and attending ballet school in England, she showed a knowing interest in rock 'n' roll.

"I'm very fond of Elvis Presley," she commented. "I like Rookie, too, and I'm crazy about Fabian."

HAYLEY MILLS

Her beginning in films was strictly an accident. A British director came to the Mills farm in Surrey to sell Hayley's father on a role in "Tiger Bay." He met the girl and decided she was perfect to play the role of an orphan who witnesses a murder.

Both Millses did the film and Hayley earned an award from the Berlin Film Festival for her performance. Though she played a lying minx in the film, she caught the eye of Disney as the girl he needed for Pollyanna. He now terms her the finest young talent to appear in Hollywood in 25 years.

Hal Boyle Says Human Mind Is a Funny Thing

We Are Uncertain, Naive...but We Grow

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments of a pavement Plato:

Most people are surest of what they do not know.

For example, many feel that folk more famous than themselves have better solved he puzzlement of living.

Haven't you ever envied a celebrity? Haven't you ever pondered what he or she had that you don't have?

BOYLE

Well, whether it was the ears-against-the-world assurance of Clark Gable, the relaxed billowiness of Marilyn Monroe, or the stentorian frontier of John Foster Dulles, they all shared one thing with you.

Yes, sir, you have one thing in common with them. All people do. The thing you share is naivete.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has it, the lady next door has it, the man who picks up the garbage has it.

★ ★ ★

Everybody has an opinion. High or low. They are all sure in their own minds about certain things.

But the human mind is a funny thing. The more it insists on the acceptance of one idea, or a series of ideas, the more vulnerable it is to ideas which it is unsure of. Naivete creeps in.

It is partly the old saying come true that "a salesman who can sell can be sold."

WE ARE UNCERTAIN

But there is also the fact of the incomprehensible unknown, the awe of the impenetrable, the vast rebuff to the searching mind, the failure of a luminous finger to pierce a dark that rarely retreats and always lingers.

★ ★ ★

The same thing that is true of mysterious that surround people is true of themselves.

"Know thyself," counseled the Greeks.

To know one's neighbor is the next adventure but hardly to be explored successfully until one has met and challenged the first goal—to know one's self.

Behind the wisest man who ever lived was an eternal naivete, either about himself or others. His confidence cloaked a doubt. When the busy voice was stilled and the tireless limbs rested, doubt came and whispered, "What you are so much about, is it so? Is this all?"

The question came to Alexander, to Napoleon, to the old lady next door.

To be naive is to be human. To be nonnaive is to be divine.

The celebrities who seem to many a work-worn, routine-weary person to live in a bright world full of answers actually dwell in a wilderness of their own making that entangles them as deeply as the fly-foot glue that roots the ordinary man in struggle and dream. The problem of certitude is a deep and inescapable problem common to all. "I see the way out," said a man, and died.

Other people wrestle life harder for reply.

★ ★ ★

Naivete is such a hard thing to define in a world of twilight words. Is the woman who stamps out a variant bloom that disturbs the plan of her garden naive? Is the statesman who stamps out an idea that will force him to regroup his thought naive? Is a mother who is sure her favorite son is marrying himself into a marital hell naive? Is father who envies the same boy going into a marital heaven naive?

WE GROW

Ah, so, as the Japanese say. It is so. The power that freckles with dandelions the lawn that doesn't wish them, pimples the face that yearns to be flawless, troubles the mind that would be restful, interrupts the peace we yearn for but do not have, confutes with fresh views the old vistas we were sure were scenic enough for our time.

★ ★ ★

Grudgingly we grow. To be naive is to be alive.

District 1 Center Plan Proposed

Special Assessment Is Asked to Raise Funds for $800,000 Project

City Commissioner Milton R. Henry proposed last night that voting District No. 1 be set up as a special assessment district to raise funds for a community center there.

"A community center is vitally needed there and I believe the people of the district would willingly participate in the cost," said Henry, who represents the area.

It is improbable that the City Commission would set up such an assessment district without assurance, through petition, that a majority of residents are in favor of the project.

Henry has proposed building an $800,000 center in District 1.

★ ★ ★

A plan whereby he proposed the city lease such a center if one were built by private capital has apparently fallen flat. Other Commissioners and administrative officials have expressed doubts that such an arrangement would be legal and fears that it could be a big drain on the city treasury.

Henry also called on the Commission to increase the annual appropriation to the Parks and Recreation Department—currently a $100,000-a-year operation.

"One-twenty-fifth of our budget now is for recreation, but it should be more like one-fourth," he stated.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner William W. Donaldson said he thought the churches and schools in District 1 have not been put to recreational use as much as they could be.

"Fuller use of these facilities might help the district's problem," he told Henry.

Grain Futures Quite Stable

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices showed little tendency to move up or down in extremely quiet dealings in most pits on the Board of Trade today.

★ ★ ★

Most activity was in soybeans, which have been strong for days, but price changes in early dealings held within a narrow range. Fractional advances at the start of trading were attributed to processor buying and a belief that wet fields will delay the harvest at least another week despite a forecast of clearing weather.

There was some early buying of wheat which trade observers attributed to a holding policy on the part of farmers hoping for higher prices. Minutes after the opening, trading in the wheat pit came to a standstill for a time.

Although a large export business has been pending for weeks, traders appeared reluctant to take long positions until foreign purchases of wheat and flour actually come into the market.

There was little activity in the feed grains and rye declined fractions in early transactions.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour heat was ⅛ to ⅜ higher, December $1.96⅞; corn unchanged to ¼ lower, December 1.10¼; oats unchanged to ⅛ lower, December 72⅜; rye unchanged to ¼ lower, December $1.32½, and soybeans unchanged to ⅜ higher, November $2.15.

Boy, 3, Hurt in Fall From Pickup Truck

A three-year-old Pontiac boy was injured Tuesday when he fell from a pickup truck driven by his mother, Mrs. Doris E. Helms, 28.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac police said Thomas R. Helms fell from the vehicle when he accidentally opened the door on the passenger side as his mother backed out of the driveway at their home on 860 Orlando St.

He was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for cuts and bruises of the arms and head and released.

Lost Windsor Priest Safe in Wild North

WINDSOR (AP) — The Rev. Joseph Kutney, lost 48 hours on a hunting trip in Ontario's rugged brush country 700 miles to the north, has found his way to safety.

The assistant pastor of a Windsor Catholic parish, Father Kutney had been the object of both a land and air search.

He became separated from a hunting companion when he attempted to take a short cut to a good hunting area Saturday.

Father Kutney found a guard-caretaker at a remote lumber camp yesterday, after wading a river in near-freeezing temperatures.

Retired Manufacturer Warren Farr Is Dead

DETROIT (AP)— Warren H. Farr, 70, retired president of Ainsworth Manufacturing Co., died yesterday at his home in suburban Grosse Pointe Farms.

A native of Flint, Farr had lived in the Detroit area 32 years and was a past commodore of the Grosse Pointe Yacht Club.

He retired as Ainsworth president five years ago. Prior to joining the firm in 1951, he was a vice president of Budd Wheel Co.

Stocks Inch Up in Slow Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—A scattering of speculative issues advanced in a slow and irregular stock market early today.

A few of the "glamor" stocks rose as much as 2 points or more.

Pivotal issues moved narrowly, showing gains or losses running to about a point at most.

Raytheon, recipient of Air Force contracts totaling about $38,900,000 climbed about 2 points.

Brunswick-Balke dropped around 3 points. It is calling all its 4¾ per cent convertible debentures.

Rails continued a slightly higher tone following their rally yesterday on news that President Eisenhower had invoked the Taft-Hartley Law in the dock strike.

Most leading steels were fractionally lower as the steel strike entered its 13th week. Oils continued to backslide.

Waterford PTAs Plan Sessions to Get Acquainted

Three Waterford Township Parent-Teacher Associations will feature "get acquainted" sessions, when they meet in various elementary schools tomorrow night.

After an introduction of the Monteith School's teaching staff at 8 p.m. by principal Mrs. Perl Turo, music instructor Mrs. Helen Glenn will present a mock music class. This will be followed by an old fashioned community sing.

Betinning at 7:45 p.m., there will be an election of new officers at the Drayton Plains PTA meeting, and visiting nurse Miss Ayleen Wright will explain the tuberculosis tests to be given this year. At the conclusion of the meeting, parents will be invited to visit their child's classroom.

An Open House has been set for 7:30 to 8 p. m. at the Pontiac Lake School for introduction of parents to the teachers.

68 Area Students Vie for Merit Awards

List Scholarship Semifinalists

Three Pontiac Central High School students and 65 others from this area have been named semifinalists in the 1959-60 Merit Scholarships competition, it was announced today.

★ ★ ★

Included among them are two students from Waterford Township High School.

Some 550,000 juniors and seniors in 14,500 American high schools took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test last spring as the first step in the competition. The tests have been scored, leaving 10,000 of the highest ranking students in each state as semifinalists.

Semifinalists from Pontiac Central are Sherry L. Fink, 9 Ottawa Dr.; Suzanne M. Koprince, 319 Iroquois Rd., and Valerie A. Vasbinder, 118 Spokane Dr.

★ ★ ★

John W. Teeuwissen, 4269 Monroe, Drayton Plains and Donald S. Windeler, 5601 Hatchery Rd., Drayton Plains were Waterford's semifinalists.

Sponsors who support the Merit Program include approximately 100 business and industrial organizations, foundations, professional societies and groups.

Their purpose is to insure higher education for a large number of able high school graduates and provide hundreds of scholarships for them to be used at American colleges and universities.

4-YEAR AWARDS

Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award covering the undergraduate college years and carries a stipend tailored to the need of the individual winner. Stipends have been averaging $730 per year.

For students who already possess the financial resources to attend the college of their choice, awards of $100 per year are granted. For those who need financial assistance, awards may reach $1,500 per year.

The Merit Scholarship Program was founded in 1955 with grants of $20 million from the Ford Foundation and $500,000 from the Carnegie Corp. of New York.

★ ★ ★

Sponsors so far have awarded over $15 million worth of scholarships. More than 3,000 students now are attending some 400 colleges on the program.

NEXT TEST DEC. 5

John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corp. which conducts the talent hunt, predicts that over 95 per cent of the semifinalists announced today will get past the second hurdle, the Dec. 5 examination, and become finalists.

The announcement of winners of the Merit Scholarships is tentatively scheduled for May 1, 1960, the exact number depending on the degree of sponsor support of the Merit Program.

In the competitions, considerations are given to extra-curricular activities, school citizenship and leadership qualities along with scholastic talents. The program is open to students in any public, private or parochial high school in the United States and possessions.

Bernard Berenson Dies, Was World Art Authority

BERNARD BERENSON

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Bernard Berenson, 94, the world's leading authority on Italian renaissance art, died today.

An American and a graduate of Harvard University, he left Boston shortly after graduation and had lived in Italy for 73 years.

Later in life he said he still considered Boston his home. He willed his beautiful 40-room Villa, I Tatti, just outside Florence, and its superb collection of art treasures to Harvard for use as a center for scholars abroad.

★ ★ ★

Some of America's greatest art collections are monuments to Berenson's scholarship and taste.

He began his career as art buyer for Mrs. Jack Gardner of Boston, assembling the nucleus of the Fenway Court collections she left as a museum.

ART ADVISER

But his biggest influence came as chief adviser to the late Lord Duveen, the dealer who assembled most big private American collections before World War II. In the process Berenson amassed a comfortable fortune for himself.

★ ★ ★

Berenson also produced a succession of books on Renaissance art which are considered classics in the field. Among the most famous are his first, "Venetian Painters of the Renaissance," published in 1894, and "Drawings of of the Florentine Painters."

In his later years his villa at Seltignano became a mecca for the world's famous, royalty and commoners. Former President Truman was among those who called to pay his respects. Tiny and fragile, white-bearded and elegant, Berenson was a witty, charming host to all, known to everyone as "B.B."

September Bad for Auto Sales

Blame Steel Strike and Premature Publication of '60 Features for Sag

DETROIT (UPI) — The auto industry recorded its second worst September sales total since World War II last month because of the steel strike and premature publication of 1960 model styling features, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

★ ★ ★

The statistical agency noted, however, that the industry's sales for the year passed the total for all of 1958 yesterday.

Ward's said dealers sold a total of 349,629 domestic-built cars during September, an average of 13,958 per day.

The only time the industry sold fewer cars per day than that since 1951 was during the 1958 recession year when sales averaged only 10,240 per day during September.

★ ★ ★

The September sales were 25.3 per cent under August, a decline which Ward's called "more than seasonal."

Near Beer Was Too Real to Suit School Chief

"Near beer" being downed by a trio of pupils at Lamphere High School in Madison Heights yesterday looked too much like the real thing to suit the taste of Principal Frederick Thorin.

★ ★ ★

He happened to glance in at the school cafeteria during lunch time and was surprised to find the three tenth-graders guzzling what looked like real beer from the bottle.

(Near beer is a name coined during the prohibition era for a product that looked like beer, foamed like beer and tasted like beer although it was no more intoxicating than soda pop.)

The drinks being downed by students were not in the least intoxicating either. The beverage is handled by vendors the same as soda pop.

★ ★ ★

But Thorin felt that the sight of older students drinking what looked like beer set a bad example for younger pupils at the school.

He sent the trio and their six-pack home for the rest of the day, "not as punishment," he said, "but as an example for the younger pupils.

"The parents of each of the boys called me and agreed with my decision," said Thorin.

★ ★ ★

"I am convinced," he said, "that the boys meant no harm and that the beverage is equally harmless — but it's just too suggestive."

Soviet Proposal Feared by West

Plan for International Space Conference May Be Gimmick

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Western diplomats speculated today that a Soviet proposal for an international space conference may be a companion gimmick to Premier Nikita Khrushchev's total disarmament plan.

As in the case of the Soviet Premier's sweeping call for a world without arms or armies, Western reaction was guarded. Delegates made clear they want to give the plan close study before commenting publicly on it. But some voiced privately the suspicion it might contain a hidden joker.

It appears virtually impossible for the West to turn down the latest Soviet proposal, which calls on the U.N. to sponsor an international parley of scientists to exchange experiences in exploring outer space.

It was feared, however, that the west at such a conference might be confronted with a Soviet bid to set up a key space study group outside the U.N. on which the Communists would demand as many seats as the West.

In making the space proposal in the General Assembly policy debate Tuesday, Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov served notice the Soviet Union would continue its boycott of the present U.N. Committee on Peaceful Uses of Outer Space.

Kuznetsov declared the make-up of the committee does not ensure equal cooperation of all countries.

Industry Hushes Steel Shortages

Magazine Claims Many Consumers Back Stand of Management

NEW YORK (UPI)—Many steel consumers have soft-pedaled steel shortages because they support the steel industry's stand for a non-inflationary contract settlement, Iron Age magazine said today.

The gloomy fact is, the trade publication said, that supplies for the months ahead will be shorter than at any previous time in the post-war period. Iron Age said it will take months, not weeks, to get some semblance of order in the flow of shipments.

Mills are telling their customers it will take from three to five weeks before shipments of flat-rolled products are normal, the magazine said, but informed estimates run from seven to nine weeks.

The trade publication reported that mill damage has been extensive and order books are in a state of chaos. It reported that much of the steel in the mills' own pipelines will have to be reprocessed.

Vote in 5-2 Pattern

Okay Weak Meter Plan

In its hottest session in weeks, the City Commission split twice last night into the 5-2 pattern of voting that has cropped up often the last 12 months.

The hard core majority of five senior commissioners pushed through the administration's parking meter proposal over the strong objections of newcomers Milton R. Henry and Robert A. Landry.

Henry and Landry were again defeated later in Henry's attempt to reopen his fight for a strong Human Relations Commission.

Siding together in the two votes were Mayor Philip E. Rowston and Commissioners William W. Donaldson, Floyd P. Miles, John A. Dugan and Wesley J. Wood.

The parking meter proposal turned out to be a watered-down version of City Attorney William E. Ewart's suggestion of two months ago that the commission hand over to the city manager all its authority over installation of new meters.

As finally adopted, the commission still retains the power to approve by resolution, or disapprove, changes that the manager recommends.

Stripped from the procedure, though, is the legal necessity to make changes official through the complicated machinery of ordinance.

"Passing an ordinance every time we want to make a little change is too unwieldy," administrative officials complained.

Henry and Landry said they were in favor of retaining the ordinance method "as a safeguard against abuse."

"The people can fight an ordinance through referendum, but they can't bring about a referendum election over a simple resolution," Henry said.

NEW METHOD NEEDED

City Manager Walter K. Willman said that "streamlined" methods are especially needed now in the face of many small changes contemplated in connection with the Urban Renewal project and the Saginaw street progressive light system.

Landry stressed that he was not worried about Willman's probable administration of the new parking meter authority but was concerned, rather, "with the actions of future commissions and future city managers."

The clause in the new law that allows commissioners to retain power to approve or disapprove meter changes was inserted behind the scenes during the month that the measure has been under study.

When debate over Henry's proposal for a new Human Relations Commission reached its peak, Rowston stepped out of his usual role as moderator and won majority support behind a motion to table the matter indefinitely.

"No crying need for a new commission has come to my attention nor has any lack in the present commission been pointed out to me yet," the mayor firmly stated.

★ ★ ★

Henry tried to introduce an ordinance providing for an 11-member board that could draw upon city funds for an office and staff of social workers.

Besides promoting "understanding and good will," Henry's board would have powers to investigate community problems and bring about solutions through negotiation between disputants.

The present five-member Human Relations Commission is, admittedly, a shadowy continuation of the old Fair Employment Practices Commission which was disbanded here last year after state officials announced that state FEPC had supplanted all local boards.

Set up earlier this year, the commission is on call to act in an advisory and negotiatory capacity to the city or any of its citizens. It hasn't been called on yet.

★ ★ ★

Henry and Landry opposed this board when it was set up. "The present board is an example of doing nothing except trying to make people think we are concerned when we're not," he asserted last night.

Chicago Blaze Spurred Fire Prevention Week

On the night of Oct. 8, 1871, Mrs. O'Leary's cow kicked over a lighted lamp in a pile of hay. A gusty wind spread the flames to surrounding buildings and by the next night, 250 persons were dead and 17,000 buildings destroyed.

This was the great Chicago fire, out of which came Fire Prevention Week. In 1911, the 40th anniversary of the Chicago fire, the Fire Marshals Assn. of North America set aside the week of Oct. 8 as Fire Prevention Week and it was officially proclaimed by President Harding in 1922.

The Chicago fire, while perhaps the most famous in American history, was not the most disastrous. In terms of lives lost, the most tragic was that at Peshtigo, Wis., also on Oct. 8, 1871, when fire swept across countryside and engulfed the town and environs, killing 1,152.

★ ★ ★

The buurning of the excursion boat Gen. Slocum off New York in 1904 killed 1.030.

The greatest property damage was in the San Francisco fire-earthquake of 1906 which leveled 28,000 buildings worth 350 million dollars. Damage in the Chicago fire was 175 million dollars.

The Boston fire of 1872 caused 75 million dollars property damage.

Indiana Greets Graham Well

10,000 Turn Out for His First Crusade Sermon in Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—A non-capacity but warm audience welcomed evangelist Billy Graham to Indiana Tuesday night and he said he was satisfied with the reception.

About 2,000 of the 12,000 seats were empty in the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum but Graham said the turnout compared favorably with that in London five years ago—the only other time he started his crusade in midweek.

★ ★ ★

An estimated 175 persons made "decisions for Christ" at the close of the service and walked to the altar while a 2,000-voice choir sang "Just As I Am."

The audience twice departed from religious protocol and applauded vigorously at the introduction of Graham's wife, Ruth, and of Indiana's first lady, Mrs. Harold W. Handley.

★ ★ ★

Gov. Handley and Mayor Charles Boswell of Indianapolis welcomed the evangelist with more than formal warmth.

Two bishops, Richard Raines of the Methodist Church and Ruben Mueller of the Evangelical United Brethren Church, prayed for success of the crusade.

★ ★ ★

"I cannot prove to you the existence of God," Graham said, "nor is such an attempt made anywhere in the Bible. It assumes His existence and I see evidence of it everywhere."

His message was simply, "Repent, receive Christ, obey God's law."

Mountbatten Sees Last Thor Launching

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The United Kingdom's Lord and Lady Mountbatten were watching when British crews successfully fired a Thor, sixth of their training missile launches at this base.

The missile was one of three which streaked away from American bases Tuesday. Another Thor and an Atlas were fired at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

★ ★ ★

"It was an unforgettable but sobering sight," said Mountbatten, admiral of the fleet and defense chief.

★ ★ ★

British crews are trained here to operate Thor launching sites in Great Britain. The Air Force said the firing, by a four-man Royal Air Force crew, was completely successful.

Red Labor Organ Hits Reuther, Meany

MOSCOW (UPI) — Trud, organ of Russia's official trade unions, assailed AFL-CIO leaders George Meany and Walter Reuther Tuesday as "inveterate proponents of the cold war."

(The Trud attack apparently was inspired by the pointed questions the American unionists asked Premier Nikita Khrushchev during his recent visit to the United States.)

"Meany, Reuther and their acolytes have been making strenuous efforts for the past few weeks to justify in the eyes of the American working people their hostile attitudes toward the establishment of contacts between American and Soviet trade unions," Trud said.

★ ★ ★

"The AFL-CIO leaders also do their best to prevent American workers from visiting the U.S.S.R."

World Concerts . Will Help Mark U.N. Day, Oct. 24

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—United Nations Day will be observed on Oct. 24 with symphony concerts from Moscow, Geneva and U.N. headquarters that will be broadcast to the world.

The concerts will be broadcast over an international radio hookup starting at 3 p.m. EDT and ending at 5 p.m.

It will be the first transatlantic concert in which Soviet musicians have joined.

★ ★ ★

The broadcast will open at the Hall of Columns in Moscow. The second part will come from Victoria Hall in Geneva. In the U.N. General Assembly Hall, the New York Philharmonic Orchestra and the Schola Cantorum, under Brazilian conductor Eleazar de Carvalho, with French pianist Robert Casadesus, will play.

Garry's Having Fun With Candid Camera

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Garry Moore's having some fiendish fun doing the Candid Camera gimmick on his new TV show—playing, for example, a bank vice president gypping a depositor out of his money.

WILSON

"In one sequence," Garry told me, "a man who came into an actual bank to make a deposit is shown into my office—I'm at the vice president's desk—so he won't have to wait in line.

"He gives me the money. I put it into my pocket and say 'I'll give you a receipt.' The telephone rings. (I ring it with my foot). I say 'Pardon me,' and leave. Another man comes in and sits at my desk.

"He says to the depositor 'Yes?' The depositor says 'The other gentleman was going to give me a receipt.' The real vice president says 'What other gentleman? This is MY office!' "

Garry grinned. "The depositor starts screaming, he yells for the guards! We've got it all on Allen Funt's Candid Camera."

★ ★ ★

Why isn't he recognized? I disguise myself—I wear a four-in-hand tie, and glasses. The big thing is, people don't look at public servants. Or recognize people out of context. We talked to a drycleaner about cleaning and pressing money. We said some people liked their money neat. He agreed to give us a discount if we would stamp on it, 'Dry Cleaned by Delancey Dry Cleaners'."

★ ★ ★

Today's Wilson Girl is singer Crystal Joy, born in Canada, reared in Trinidad, featured in the current Ebony, and set for Steve Allen's Oct. 12 show—"a swinging Judy Garland."

Betty Hutton, whose new TV series was unveiled last week, has been so busy filming she hasn't had time to battle with her husband, Allen Livingston, over their financial settlement. "When threatened with court, I say, 'O.K., Buddy, go to court. I hope I can get time to be there'."

★ ★ ★

Debbie Reynolds jetted Hollywood ward after explaining that she's coming back soon "to have some REAL fun." (Like Wow.)

CRYSTAL

EARL'S PEARLS: Strange that many a man who wouldn't think of gambling gets married.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Lisa Kirk knows a teenage girl who's planning to run away from home—as soon as she figures out how to take the telephone with her.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The new Italian pointed shoes are very comfortable—if you happen to have one toe.

They tell of the guy who retired after 30 years. Instead of a gold watch the boss gave him the water cooler . . . That's earl, brother.

Television Quiz Probe Is a Sideshow

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee expects to finish today its sometimes hilarious revival of the television quiz show "Twenty-One." So far it has been a story of fix, fraud and doublecross.

Called as the windup witness on "Twenty-One" was Richard Jackman, a former contestant who is said to have told a New York grand jury the show was crooked. Jackman is an organizer for the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight then planned to turn its spotlight on another TV quiz "—Dotto," the first of the shows to collapse under fraud charges. This started a chain of events that brought to an end the era of huge money prizes and strained, sweating faces peering out of isolation booths.

The committee opened its rerun spectacular Tuesday in an ornate caucus room. The expectant audience guffawed repeatedly as films of long gone "Twenty-One" shows were run off, complete with commercials.

'MUST BE A MORAL'

At one point in the screenings, master of ceremonies Jack Barry remarked, "There must be a moral here someplace—I don't know what it is." The crowd roared.

The story of the doublecross was unfolded by James Snodgrass, 37, a New York artist. He testified that he brought "Twenty-One's" producers to the verge of panic by giving the correct answer to a question he said they told him to miss.

When the show ended, Snodgrass said, producer Albert Freedman "came to my dressing room and said I had ruined him." Snodgrass wound up with a "comparatively measly $4,000.

Echoing testimony by Herbert Stempel, another former contestant, Snodgrass said he, too, had been supplied in advance with questions and answers and even coached on dress, mannerisms and gestures.

Snodgrass said Freedman "suggested that I have my teeth cleaned and that I wear an off-white shirt."

The doublecross came, Snodgrass said, when Freedman instructed him to miss a question and thus lose a month-long running contest with Hank Bloomgarden, also of New York.

"What made you balk?" asked Robert W. Lishman, subcommittee counsel.

Snodgrass replied: "Maybe it was a hope deep inside that everything would work out fair and square. Also, I knew the answer. I had been told the answers."

Snodgrass testified that Freedman "told me there would be a series of ties between me and Mr. Bloomgarden to build popularity of the show. I also was told Mr. Bloomgarden knew of this and it was agreeable to him." Bloomgarden has denied any knowledge of the program being rigged.

Subcommittee chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) said the purpose of the four-day inquiry is to determine whether there has been any violation of federal law and whether new laws are needed.

Paar to Retire in 2½ Years

'Don't Have the Drive,' Says America's Night Owl Success

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Television's Jack Paar said Tuesday he plans to retire in two and a half years and is considering buying a home at Boca Raton, Fla.

In an interview with Jack Anderson of the Miami Herald, Paar said his new contract with the National Broadcasting Co. commits him to two and a half more years on the hour TV show and that in turn he will be paid for seven years. He did not reveal the salary.

"I don't have the drive to stay in it," Paar said. "I don't crave money that much. I wasn't born and brought up in vaudeville like the Bennys and Burnses.

"Show business just isn't something I feel I have to be in the rest of my life.

"Miriam (his wife) and I have simple tastes. We've been careful about saving our money. When my present contract is up, I'd like to get out and take it easy."

The Paars' daughter, Randy, rejoined her parents Tuesday and they plan to spend the remainder of the week in Havana. They will return to New York on Sunday.

TV News and Reviews

'World of Entertainment' Rates Critic's Applause

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—What are those words the critics tack on to those uninhibited Broadway musicals? "Loud," "tuneful," "fast moving?"

★ ★ ★

Let's borrow them to describe "The Wonderful World of Entertainment," last night's premiere in NBC-TV's startime series of specials.

This 90-minute show should have pleased any tired businessman in the TV audience, as well as any tired housewife and laboring man. I know it pleased one tired TV reviewer.

Bits and pieces of familiar show business landmarks were taped and telescoped together, giving loud—very loud—happy arrangements, and were received with raucous (prerecorded?) applause and/or laughter. The show sustained interest for the full 90-minutes.

★ ★ ★

There was only one break in the happy-happy mood and that came when Rosalind Russell, the hostess of the show, joined Arthur O'Connell in a dramatic scene from "Picnic."

Earlier, Miss Russell went through some lightning-fast costume changes, narrated nostalgic highlights of silent movies and radio, joined Ernie Kovacs in a slick but rather tame spoof of her own motion picture roles.

The memory-jogging tidbits poured forth, mostly in songs by Kate Smith, Polly Bergen and Maurice Chevalier. Eddie Foy Jr. did his superb vaudeville dances and participated in a delightfully abandoned "Get Happy" number.

★ ★ ★

Highlight of the show was a ballet that satirized cowboy movies. It combined youthful dash, humor, style and beauty.

DIALING AND FILING: Fibber McGee and Molly offered a few amusing scenes last night in their NBC-TV half hour as Bob Sweeney, portraying McGee with unabashed hamminess, took charge of his lodge's annual ball. There was also a tidy vignette by Jack Weston as a frustrated committee member.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Meet Mr. Lincoln, the highly-acclaimed NBC-TV half-hour film profile of the martyred president, is set for a repeat showing next Feb. 11.

The Sunday, Oct. 25 return of the CBS-TV series, Leonard Bernstein and the New York Philharmonic, will include a brief talk by lawyer-actor Joseph Welch on citizenship and filmed appearances by Russian author Boris Pasternak and composer Dmitri Shostakovich. The musical portion of the program will be a filmed concert by the orchestra in Moscow.

NBC Is Dodging All Blame in TV Quiz Inquiry

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National Broadcasting Company said today that the producers of the quiz show "Twenty-One" had given the network more than a year ago "written and verbal assurance" that the show was not rigged.

★ ★ ★

NBC issued the following statement in relation to the Washington hearings:

"When these charges against the program 'Twenty-One' were first made, they prompted NBC to seek a full explanation from the show's producers, Barry & Enright. The producers gave NBC written and verbal assurances that these charges were without foundation.

"Nevertheless, NBC promptly relieved Barry & Enright of any control over this and other programs pending the outcome of an investigation by the New York County Grand Jury.

★ ★ ★

"A statement of NBC's position on quiz-show irregularities will be presented later in the hearings."

ABC-Paramount Reports International Division

NEW YORK (UPI) — American Broadcasting — Paramount Theatres, Inc. announced Tuesday the formation of an ABC international division to be headed by Donald W. Coyle as ABC vice president.

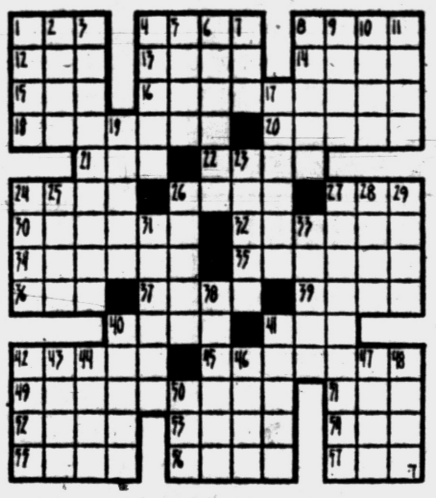

ABPT president, Leonard H. Goldenson, said the organizations already have interests in Televisora de Costa Rica and in News Limited of Australia, principal owner of station NWS-TV in Adelaide, "and we plan to invest in other stations in other areas around the world."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

At Least on the Foreign Policy Level

Sec. Herter Hints at Russia, China Split

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently has run into trouble in his campaign to get Communist China to join in reducing East-West tensions.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, summing up his impression of Khrushchev's visit to Peiping following his Camp David talks, told newsmen: "I would say that I can see no visible easing of tensions as between Chinese Communists and ourselves."

Herter also suggested the possibility of a split in the foreign policy lines of the Soviet and Red Chinese governments. He noted that Khrushchev had "talked quite eloquently" during his Chinese trip about solving international problems by peaceful means and that Chinese Communist leade rMao Tse-tung "never made any statement at all."

★ ★ ★

This striking contrast of behavior coupled with the Chinese Reds' continued denunciation of the United States as "imperialist" and "aggressive" seemed to indicate that Khrushchev and the Soviet government "are taking a rather different line," Herter said, "from that of the Communist Chinese."

Khrushchev went to Peiping after touring the United States. He is believed to have given the Chinese Reds a full account of his talks with President Eisenhower during which Eisenhower and he agreed that "all outstanding international question" should be settled by peaceful negotiations.

Herter, in his first news conference here since early July, said he thought the Khrushchev trip to the United States had resulted in some easing of tensions between the United States and the Soviet Union.

As to the long-range value of the visit, Herter said "time will tell, but I would like to be optimistic."

★ ★ ★

The Eisenhower - Khrushchev agreement on Berlin — providing that future negotiations may run on indefinitely — has had the effect of lifting the Soviet threat to try to force the Western Allies out of West Berlin, Herter said in response to a question. But there was no agreement, he added, on any new plan for settling the Berlin dispute.

As to a summit conference Herter would say only that whether the new negotiations on Berlin will be conducted by heads of government or foreign ministers, and when and where the next big East-West conference should be held are matters for consultation among the Allies.

★ ★ ★

Throughout the news conference Herter seemed to be speaking on the assumption that Khrushchev seriously wants a major improvement in Soviet-Western relationships.

He credited the Soviet Premier with "a degree of real sincerity" in proposing complete, world-wide disarmament.

Similarly, Herter evidently assumed that the Soviet leader was seriously trying in his private talks with the Chinese Communist rulers to get them onto a more peaceful foreign policy line.

Fails to Mention Widow in Will; Names Schools

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Donald M. Nelson left the major portion of his estate to two schools, bequeathed $125,000 in stock to an ex-wife, but made no mention of his widow in his will.

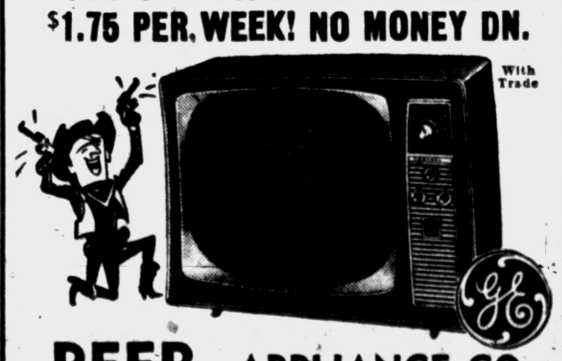

★ ★ ★

This was disclosed Monday when the will of the World War II production boss was filed for probate. Attorneys refused to estimate the size of his estate.

★ ★ ★

The greatest share of it went equally to the University of Missouri and neighboring Stephens College in Columbia, Mo. Missouri's share is for study of biology and Stephens' for endowments.

Nixon Greets CENTO Group

U.S. Supports Central Treaty Organization but Does Not Belong

WASHINGTON (AP)—A three-day parley of the Central Treaty Organization gets under way today with a welcoming speech by Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

CENTO—known as the Baghdad Pact until Iraq pulled out after last year's revolution—is the Middle East's northern tier defense alliance bordering the Soviet Union. Its new headquarters are at Ankara, Turkey.

The CENTO members — Iran, Pakistan, Turkey and Britain — all had high ranking representatives on hand for the meeting of CENTO's council of ministers, the first to be held in Washington.

The United States strongly supports CENTO, but is not officially a member. It does have separate defense pacts with all the member nations.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Iran's Prime Minister Manouchehr Eghbal, Turkey's Prime Minister Adnan Menderes and Britain's Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia were scheduled to join Nixon in the ceremonial opening.

Then the CENTO leaders planned to go into closed sessions for talks about the world situation and CENTO's progress.

'White Elephant' Auto Given to Ford Museum

DETROIT (AP) — A $43,000 automobile with a white elephant for a hood ornament is the newest addition to the Henry Ford Museum's car collection.

The car, a gift to the suburban Dearborn Museum from Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Chayne, is a Bugatti Royale, one of only seven models made by Ettore Bugatti.

Bugatti, an Italian whose cars dominated European road racing in the 1920 and 1930s, built the Royale and its brothers to answer critics who claimed he couldn't design so-called "class" cars.

The Royale is a monster in size. Its front end from windshield to radiator measures seven feet and the straight eight engine measures 4 feet 8. Each of its pistons displaces 784 cubic inches.

In a Moon War, Blasts Would Be Far, Far Away

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A moon war is within the realm of possibility, says an aircraft engineer.

It could be touched off by rivalry between the United States and the Soviet Union in establishing nuclear missile bases on the moon, R. L. Johnson told the Society of Automotive Engineers Tuesday.

"But at least," he added, "the nuclear blasts would be on our satellite—not on earth."

Johnson directs missiles and space systems programs at Douglas Aircraft Co.

Bookmaker Gross Gets 10-Year Term

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Former New York bookmaker Harry Gross has been sentenced to one to 10 years in prison for the gunshot death of his wife's grandfather.

Gross pleaded guilty Tuesday to manslaughter in the fatal wounding of Harry Black, 84, during an argument over a $2,000 loan he made to Gross. Gross maintained the firearm was discharged accidentally.

Grand theft charges against Gross, by two men who alleged he bilked them of $27,000 in a cafe purchase plan, were placed off calendar. A previous trial of this case resulted in jury disagreement

Guard Demands LeMay Explain

Air Force Deputy Chief Raked National Unit Over Coals

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Remarks about the National Guard, attributed to the deputy chief of staff of the Air Force, Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, have prompted a demand for a "thorough exploration."

★ ★ ★

The demand came Monday from Gen. William H. Harrison Jr., president of the National Guard Assn. of the United States.

★ ★ ★

Harrison asked Gen. Clarence A. Shoop, chairman of the association's Air Affairs Committee, to go into the matter with his group during the Guard's 81st general conference here.

★ ★ ★

The Army-Navy-Air Force Journal last Saturday quoted LeMay as saying that the Guard is inefficient and "cannot live." It also quoted LeMay as saying the "weekend soldier will not do" and that the nation "cannot afford to man our tremendously costly weapons with part-time help."

'Thank God It's Over'

Police Pick Up Woman, Helper in Bank Holdup

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Thank God it's over. I'm so tired of waiting."

That summed up the feeling of Alma Helen Stevens, 26, object of a nationwide search as the woman accomplice of a man who killed himself in a bizarre but futile bank holdup here two weeks ago.

She was arrested by two patrolmen Tuesday night in an East Side rooming house on a tip that a man and a woman were having a loud argument and disturbing other occupants.

Mrs. Stevens told detectives she was forced to remain in Cleveland since the day of the robbery attempt because she was broke. The first two days she slept under a bridge, not more than a mile from where the getaway car was abandoned near East 105th St. and Euclid Ave. Mrs. Stevens said she lived in the rooming house with a 39-year-old man since the third day of her flight.

"I saw my picture on TV once and I was afraid to go out of the house," she told detectives.

Mrs. Stevens had sped from a Cleveland Trust Co. branch on Lorain Ave. Sept. 23 in a getaway car. She had been waiting for William Ansley, 30, formerly of Indianapolis, who was trapped inside the bank by 200 law enforcement officers who poured tear gas into the building through windows. Ansley killed himself during the one-hour siege.

Ansley and Mrs. Stevens had driven to the bank after an early morning stop at the home of the bank Manager, Herbert Fox. There they tied up Fox's wife and two daughters. A phony bomb was left ticking in the house. The family was able to escape from their bonds and alert police.

Police chief Frank W. Story said Mrs. Stevens had admitted her part in the bank robbery attempt. A native of Abilene, Kan., Mrs. Stevens also had been known as Alma Malone and Billy Jean Carroll, police said. Her mother lives in Salina, Kan. Married four times, Mrs. Stevens has a son, 12, living with her mother, officers said.

The previous high for the company was 154,372 in the previous year.
