First Bill Filed for Legislature

Increase in Duration of Unemployment Aids Proposed by Sallade

LANSING (AP)—A Republican legislator today filed the first bill of next week's special session, a proposal to increase the maximum duration of state unemployment benefits from 26 to 32 weeks.

Rep. George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor) said the change would ease Michigan's economy.

Sallade beat Democratic legislators to the gun in filing legislation to liberalize unemployment compensation, although Gov. Williams proposed boosts in calling the special session.

Williams has not yet revealed how much of an increase he will ask the legislators to approve.

The session, scheduled to open at 10 a.m. Wednesday, will also consider additional appropriations for a new medium security prison at Ionia and correction of a hitch in the 1955 Highway Act.

Williams has also warned he would deal sternly with any legislative attempt "to rewrite our whole road legislation" program while a technical error is being erased from the huge arterial highway program.

He said a "blind struggle" over the division of road funds while the technical flaw is being ironed out "would sabotage" the entire 275 million dollar superhighway construction program.

Sunday Evening Baccalaureate Set for Seniors

Central Methodist Church will be the site of the 7:30 p.m. Sunday baccalaureate service for some 381 seniors of Pontiac High School.

"What Do You Suppose?" will be the topic of speaker Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, pastor of the First Congregational Church.

Other Pontiac ministers participating in the service include the Rev. Elwood Dunn, state secretary of the Michigan Christian Endeavor Union; Elder Alfred F. Sterling, pastor of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and the Rev. Lewis W. Towler, curate, All Saints Episcopal Church.

The Pontiac Senior High School A Cappella Choir, under the direction of George H. Putnam, will sing "The Lord Is My Shepherd." Organ music will be supplied by Charles A. Wilson Jr.

Unopposed in seeking the seat he has held for the past six years on the Pontiac Board of Education is Glenn H. Griffin.

Besides all registered voters of the city of Pontiac, others who live outside the city limits but who are living within the school district may cast ballots.

Polls will close at 8 p.m.

State Gets Library Aid

LANSING (AP)—The state librarian, Mrs. Loleta Fryan, said today that Michigan could become eligible for $220,000 a year for five years under federal legislation to bring library service to areas and persons now without it.

Foreign Aid Bill Approval Likely

House Okay Expected as Ike Hopes Senate Will Restore Cuts

WASHINGTON (INS)—The House is expected to give formal approval Monday to its 3.5 billion dollar foreign aid bill and send the measure to the Senate.

Administration leaders had strong hopes that the Senate, traditionally more generous than the House, will bring the bill closer to President Eisenhower's original 4.9 billion dollar program.

The House completed work yesterday on the authorization of military, economic and technical aid funds for the year beginning July 1. Action will be taken later on the actual appropriation.

* * *

The administration won a victory yesterday when the House refused to cut off further assistance to Yugoslavia and neutralist India.

Adopting a watered - down amendment, the House voted to bar funds to Marshal Tito's Communist regime unless the President feels they should be continued.

However, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has opposed any cut-off, and Eisenhower has said the U.S. will review its Yugoslav policy in the light of Tito's visit to Russia.

Cost of Marriage Way Too Low, Area JP Says

A report that a Madison Heights Justice of the Peace says he will continue to charge over the $2 fee set for marriages came as a surprise today to Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

According to Ziem, yesterday JP Charles O. Williams had agreed to give up the $10 fees he had been charging in favor of the price set in a Michigan statute.

Williams reportedly said today, "The statute is 41 years old and ought to be changed. The fee should be $10 and that's what I'm charging."

Ziem said he will consult Monday with Farmington Justice Allen C. Ingle about possible legal action against Williams. Ingle is secretary of the Michigan Justice of the Peace Assn.

Although the $2 fee is set by law, Ziem pointed out, there is no penality in the statue for charging a higher price.

Fair Skies, Warm for Area Weekend

A typical summer week end with fair skies and warm temperatures was promised by the Weather Bureau for the Pontiac area.

The Weatherman predicts fair for tonight with a mild low of 56 to 60 degrees.

The temperature is expected to rise to a high of 80 to 84 degrees tomorrow followed by a low of 60 to 64 tomorrow night.

In downtown Pontiac, the lowest thermometer reading preceding 8 a.m. was 58 degrees. The mercury rose to 84 degrees at 2 p.m.

Illness Gives Politicos Pause

Will Ike Remain in the Race?

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican presidential nomination—and possibly the outcome of the November election—may depend on how long President Eisenhower remains bedfast and how he feels following an early-morning "exploratory operation."

* * *

If the illness is short, it would not be expected to make any change in Eisenhower's plans to run again.

But any protracted presidential sickness might cause Eisenhower to change his plans.

Eisenhower has promised to tell the American people "instantly" any time he felt he was not physically up to the job of the presidency.

Already Eisenhower has 960 of the 1,323 Republican national convention votes listed for him, with 70 more held for him by favorite sons.

INTENSE SCRAMBLE

He needs only 667 for renomination. The hopes of all other potential GOP candidates had been put in cold storage until 1960.

But if Eisenhower should bow out of the race, the scramble for the GOP nomination would be intense.

The President, of course, could indicate his own choice of a Republican standard bearer and thus automatically push one aspirant to the fore.

But even a presidential designation of a favorite candidate would not necessarily settle the matter.

For instance, few would expect Eisenhower to give the nod to Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate's GOP leader.

Similarly, no one would expect Knowland to let the nomination go to any other party member without the strongest kind of effort to get it himself.

NIXON PICKED

If Eisenhower should decide to step out, he might name several men acceptable to him. Vice President Nixon would be certain to be on any such list in the light of all the praise the President has given to his No. 2 man

Even if Eisenhower declined to indicate any choice, Nixon's strong position with the national Republican organization would make him a top contender.

DEMS WANT RECOVERY

They include Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts; Paul G. Hoffman, former foreign aid administrator; Secretary of the Treausry Humphrey; and former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

But it seemed obvious that if Eisenhower doesn't run again Democrats will have a considerably better chance of winning the November election.

PRESIDENT DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER

Stocks Keep Eye on Washington for Future Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market investors have a sharp eye on Washington today for a clue to future prices.

President Eisenhower's illness sent prices spinning downward yesterday in the sharpest break since Oct. 10, 1955.

A rally at the close improved prices greatly above their worst of the day but whether the upward trend would continue Monday was an open question.

"Much depends on Washington news," said Martin Gilbert, analyst for the big Wall Street firm of Bache & Co. "Washington will provide the cue on stock prices."

Stocks were hammered down in three sharp selling waves. Twenty minutes before the close a strong upsurge occurred.

The high-speed ticker tape fell behind four times. The biggest delay came around mid-day when the tape lagged five min- in the wake of news that Eisenhower was going to the hospital.

By yesterday's close, pivotal stocks had declined from around $1 to $3 a share. Earlier in the day, however, their losses had stretched to around $7 a share.

Trading volume rose to 3,630,000 shares, the biggest session since Feb. 29 when 3,900,000 shares were traded on the day Eisenhower said he would run for re-election.

Nixon Has Sniffles

WASHINGTON (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon had a slight case of the sniffles tonight but told reporters who saw him using a handkerchief: "I know you're not interested in the health of the vice president. It's not a cold, it's just hay fever."

CHARTRES, France (AP) — Former President Harry Truman drove across the rain-drenched countryside from Paris today to take a look at France's famed Chartres Cathedral.

U. N. Evacuates Teams in Korea

Neutral Peace Members Leave Demilitarized Zone After 3 Years

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — The U.N. Command today evacuated to the demilitarized zone the neutral truce inspection teams which for nearly three years have checked shipments of men and materiel into South Korea.

The 16 Swedish, Swiss, Czech and Polish inspectors were airlifted northward from three South Korean ports of entry without incident.

An informed source said inspection teams still were in North Korea, but that they probably will return to the demilitarized zone within a few days.

Evacuation of the inspection teams from South Korea was ordered by the U.N. Command a week ago. The Allies accused the Communists of abusing the inspection machinery created by the armistice and building up their armed strength in North Korea.

Nixon Confident of Ike's Return

Vice President Slated to Visit Stricken Chief and Huddle With Aides

WASHINGTON (INS) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon, still confident that President Eisenhower will be "back on the firing line" to lead the GOP to victory, was kept closely informed today on the chief executive's condition.

The 43-year-old vice president, undergoing for the second time in nine months the ordeal of waiting for word from the bedside of his stricken chief, scheduled frequent conferences with presidential assistant Sherman Adams and news secretary James C. Hagerty.

Nixon is expected to be one of the first non-family visitors permitted to talk with the President. He was standing by for a call from Walter Reed Hospital giving him the green light for such a visit.

Meanwhile, the vice president reportedly was busy handling political problems occasioned by Eisenhower's operation.

Associates said that in his hush-hush political conferences, Nixon was emphasizing the line he took last night when he told graduates of a young Republican leadership training school:

"The President would like to say to you to 'go ahead and have a good time and don't worry about me.' He will be back on the firing line soon."

Attaches of Nixon's office said they did not expect him at the Capitol building today. He remained close to the telephone at his home.

His role in the new emergency is expected to be clarified Monday, when administration leaders gather for an assessment of the situation occasioned by the President's sudden illness.

By that time, administration sources said, the approximate length of the chief executive's post-operative convalescence should be known.

Chief Executive in Good Humor; Heart Is Fine

Ike Wisecracks About 'Bellyache'; Hospital Stay Uncertain

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower underwent major surgery before dawn today for relief of an intestinal obstruction. Hours later his doctors said he was in "a most satisfactory condition." with his "spirits good and his morale high."

The Chief Executive awakened during the morning and remarked with a broad grin to one of his attending physicians, Maj. Arthur Cohen: "What a belly ache"!

Presidential News Secretary James C. Hagerty gave a highly optimistic report on Eisenhower's condition and his buoyant morale.

The operation, performed by four of the nation's top surgeons, relieved a partial blockage of the small intestine, caused by ileitis, a non-malignant disease.

Before the surgery, the President's heart specialist, Dr. Paul Dudley White, and other coronary experts ruled Eisenhower's recovery from his Sept. 24 heart attack was so complete that there was no "heart risk" in the operation.

The first lady, the Eisenhowers' son, Maj. John Eisenhower, and the President's brother, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, all of whom were standing by at Walter Reed Hospital, were elated at the success of the operation and at the Chief Executive's post-operative condition.

IN GOOD HUMOR

At his late-morning news conference, Hagerty told a tense and sleepless corps of 100 reporters: "The President's doctors reported to me this morning that he is in a most satisfactory condition with his spirits good and his morale high.

"The President was awake three or four times after the operation.

"As an indication of his morale, one of the physicians on duty at the bedside, Major Cohen, related this incident:

"On one of the times the President was awake, he smiled at the

Ike's Brother Quits University Position

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Dr. Milton Eisenhower has submitted for "personal reasons" his resignation as president of Pennsylvania State University. He said his decision to resign was not prompted by the illness of his brother, the President.

* * *

Dr. Eisenhower's letter of resignation was disclosed last night after he flew to Washington to visit the President at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital.

"Absolutely no consideration has been given to a successor . . . " the university said. Eisenhower, 56, has been president of the university almost six years. He asked that the resignation become effective by Dec. 31.

Dr. Eisenhower said he did not intend to enter government service and that he would decide his future plans after a brief vacation in July.

Avondale School Contest

Charge 'Evasive' Tactics

Three challengers are seeking election Monday in hopes of changing what they term "evasive" tactics of the Avondale School Board.

A sharp contest for two seats on the five-man board of education seems indicated in pre-election statements made to The Pontiac Press.

One incumbent up for re-election pooh-poohed charges that the public is being left ignorant of official action. Board presiden R. Grant Graham said, "the meetings are always open. Board members have appeared before PTA's, and encouraged articles in the newspapers.

"We've dealt with problems as they have come up," he stated, "and feel we have done a good job."

Also seeking another three-year term, A. E. Atwood was unavailable for a statement.

The three challengers stated they were running mainly to see a change made. They are Gordon Hamilton of Pontiac Township and two Avon Township men, Bevan Bates and Oscar E. Hysmith.

All qualified their endorsement of the present board's expanding building program by referring to the need for "proper administration."

Included in their reference is a proposal in a special election Tuesday for a five-mill increase to finance new buildings and to cover operational costs.

The three based their contention that the board is "evasive" on their own experiences, they said, and on reports from others in the school district.

Hamilton claimed only "vague" answers were forthcoming about questions of board policy and financial details.

"It seems to me we are not getting facts," he stated. "The public has a right to know what is going on in the schools, but the board and administration do not furnish proper answers."

Bates added fuel to the fire, saying, "The public is left out in the cold and that isn't right. When you try to get information, people start passing the buck — you can't pin anyone down."

According the Hysmith, the present board has been uncooperative in helping such groups as the Avon Youth Service and Recreation Assn., of which he is president.

"We've asked for use of school gymnasiums and haven't even received an answer," he claimed. As a member of the association, Bates agreed.

All we've got is a bunch of 'yes men' on the board, who don't want to let the public know what is going on," Hysmith contented.

Bates and Hysmith added they are running only because friends had circulated petitions, requesting their candidacies. Hamilton said he sought election in order to change the board's attitude toward the public.

He and Hysmith are fighting the present policy of quick bond retirement, causing heavier tax burdens.

The Avondale School District includes a good portion of Ayon and Pontiac Townships and smaller portions of Troy and Bloomfield Townships.

Army Preparing Scout Campsite

By JANET ODELL

The U. S. Army is gallantly prepared to rescue young ladies, and right here in Oakland County, too.

This isn't a cavalry charge to drive the redskins from the wagons, but the advance work for the national Girl Scout Encampment scheduled to open June 29 at the Highland Recreation area.

Some 400 Army and Army Reserve officers and enlisted men of the Fifth Army are now on duty at the encampment site.

The military camp, located in a separate area on Ford road, will be in operation until the first of August. Camp Commander is Colonel Donald A. Elliget, Engineer officer from Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri.

The Army will assist the Girl Scouts in setting up their camp. They are building needed facilities, establishing communication and transportation systems, installing refrigeration and electrical equipment and will assist with sanitation requirements.

The Army will provide hospital and medical facilities, firefighting, field equipment and military police protection. Reserve personnel attached to the 323rd General Hospital Unit, assigned from the Michigan Military District, will be serving their annual two weeks of active duty training.

Last year a special act of Congress made possible this cooperation between the United States Army and the Girl Scout organization.

A Court of Honor and a Mall are being readied for the 78 flags that will be raised and lowered daily. The arena, seating 10,000 people, a gift from the Girl Scouts to the state of Michigan, is completely finished.

Girl Scout staff members will start arriving June 15. Girl Scout campers will come in on June 28-29. The Encampment will be open to the public daily after that time, from 10:00 a.m. to sundown. Five thousand girls and a thousand adults are expected.

3 Land Parcels Sold in County

Suburban Real Estate Activity Continues at Strong Pace

Recent sale of three pieces of Oakland County property, each for amounts in excess of $100,000, has been revealed by Bruce Annett, president of Roy Annett, Inc., Pontiac realtors.

'Pitch Haven', a 140-acre estate on Cooley Lake road, has been sold to John F. Ivory, who will utilize the property for his polo activities. The property, in White Lake Township, includes a 6-bedroom house, an airplane hangar and a private lake. The property was sold by Charles Clarence D. Knechtel.

Another recent sale was a 72-acre parcel of land at John R and Auburn Rds., sold to the Field Building Co., of Ferndale, for future development. Former owners were Ray B., L. H. and Alberta Frank and Kate S. Holtz.

The 335-acre Marvin Ludwig farm on M24, just south of Lake Orion, has been sold to Charles Haas, Herman Prady and Joseph Shiffman.

Annett said the sale of parcels of this size and character is indicative of continued development of suburban properties in this area.

Mayors Session Starts Committee on Unemployed

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers set in motion today a "task force" to battle the problem of unemployment in the auto industry.

* * *

The latest government estimate has 200,000 auto workers unemployed.

The union's "task force" was set up at a conference of mayors called in Detroit yesterday to help solve the industry's plight

It is made up of a committee of nine mayors, four UAW officials and Michigan's Gov. G. Mennen Williams as executive of the state having the heaviest concentration of auto plants.

The auto firms will be asked to designate five representatives to serve on the committee. They previously rejected Reuther's bid to take part in a management-labor parley on unemployment.

* * *

Reuther said the committee will attempt to get together on matters in need of immediate attention and which are non-controversial. The committee then will send a delegation to Washington to discuss the problem with President Eisenhower and congressional leaders. Reuther said the "problem transcends politics" and "we've tried to avoid acting as a narrow economic pressure group."

Judge Hears Motion for Case Dismissal

Motions to dismiss a malpractice and assault and battery suit brought against two Pontiac doctors by relatives of a woman who reportedly died when her only kidney was removed were heard by Oakland County Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland yesterday afternoon.

The suit was filed against Doctors A. J. Zujko and Wilfred M. Green by relatives of the late Yvonne Pilgrim, 20, of 13 Crawford Street.

Testimony in the five-day trial has indicated the two doctors removed Mrs. Pilgrim's only kidney under the impression it was a tumor.

Other doctors have testified the kidney was normal in shape and function, but twice normal size and far from normal position.

Dr. H. B. Bundrant of Detroit testified Thursday that "any surgeon" should be able to tell a normal organ from a "recent growth" by looking at it and feeling it.

The jury trial will continue Tuesday morning.

Last of the Old Bolsheviks Resigns Top Soviet Post

MOSCOW (AP)—Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich, last of the old Bolsheviks to hold a top policy-making job in the Soviet Union, quit today as head of the key Soviet Labor and Wage Committee.

* * *

The 63-year-old Ukrainian who rose to prominence as a pclitburo organizer under Stalin, had long been considered the Soviet Union's ace labor trouble shooter. There was no immediate indication why he quit his job.

ONLY JEW

Only last February he announced before the Supreme Soviet a sweeping wage and incentive program for Soviet workers.

He resigned just eight days after another veteran Bolshevik, V. M. Molotov, gave up his long-time tenure as Soviet foreign minister.

* * *

The Communist party organ Pravda announced Kaganovich's resignation in a terse, two-paragraph notice on a back page. It said he will be succeeded by Alexander Petrovich Volkov, chairman of the Soviet of the Union—a chamber of the Soviet Parliament—since 1954.

Ike Doing Nicely After Operation

major and said, 'What a belly ache!'

"The President, when he is awake, is conscious of pain and his doctors report that this will be so for several days."

22 IN ATTENDANCE

The operation, decided upon after midnight following the completion of the third intensive examination to which the President was subjected after being taken to Walter Reed Friday afternoon, was performed by a team of four surgions. Twenty two doctors and nurses worked in the operating room.

The surgeons were Maj. Gen. Leonard Heaton, commandant of Walter Reed; Col. Robert Gants, chief of surgery at the huge army medical center; Dr. Isidore Radvin, professor of surgery at the University of Pennsylvania, and Col. Max Smith, assistant chief of surgery at Walter Reed.

The president's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, who was called to his bedside at 2 a.m. Friday and remained with him thereafter, assisted along with other doctors, including White.

The operation, in a gleaming, sterile room on the third floor of the great military medical structure, began at 2:59 a.m. and was completed at 4:52.

The President was given a general anesthetic. Ether was used.

The first word of the operation's results was taken to Mrs. Eisenhower, her Army officer son, and her brother-in-law, who had kept vigil in the presidential suite on the same floor as the operation room.

EXCELLENT CONDITION

"He left the operating table in excellent condition," they were told.

The president, still unconscious, was wheeled from the operating room on a stretcher and transferred to his bed.

Quick examinations showed that his heart action, pulse, respiration and blood pressure were normal under the circumstances.

Hagerty indicated surgery may have cleared up a chronic condition.

He said the President's early-morning attack Friday was similar to painful digestive disturbances he had suffered in 1949 and again in April 1953, when he became ill after addressing the American Society of Newspaper Editors convention.

* * *

There was no indication as to when the President would be permitted to leave the hospital.

But his doctors intimated the period of convalescence would be by no means as lengthy as that required for Eisenhower's recovery from his coronary attack.

Three-Car Accident Injures Couple, Son

A Waterford Township couple and their son, 9, were slightly injured in a three-car accident on Orchard Lake avenue yesterday afternoon.

Burtis A. Crowe, 32, his wife, Beatrice, 31, and the boy, Ronald, all were released from Pontiac General Hospital after their auto struck two cars at Iroquois Road, authorities said.

Maxine E. Blome, 28, of Portland, Ore., told Pontiac police her car was struck in the rear as she was about to make a left turn.

The other driver, Berle D. Dean, 39, of Wixom said he was passing the Blome vehicle when also rammed in the rear, according to police.

Heavy Door Foils Attempted Breakin

A heavily barred rear door was credited with preventing a breakin at an Independence Township grocery store Friday morning, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said today.

Investigating deputies found the door badly damaged but reported the store had not been entered due to three bars holding the door from the inside.

Bulganin Note 'Propaganda'

U. S. Officialdom Sees President Rejecting Red Disarmament Plan

WASHINGTON (INS)—Top U. S. officials labeled Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin's latest letter to President Eisenhower a "propaganda" statemnt today and predicted the U. S. would reject the Russian's arms cut plan.

Bulganin urged the U. S., Britain and France to join Russia in withdrawing some of their armed forces from Germany.

The letter made public yesterday also suggested Russia and the U. S. undertake a disarmament movement as a means of breaking the deadlock on United Nations efforts to solve the problem.

However, administration sources said there was "nothing new" in the letter.

WILL REJECT PLAN

They said President Eisenhower would almost certainly reject the Kremlin leader's proposals and, instead, suggest in a reply to Bulganin that the two world powers agree on a foolproof inspection system.

Such an answer by the Chief Executive would put the exchange of notes right back where it was before Russian Ambassador Georgi M. Zaroubin handed Secretary of State John Foster Dulles the Bulganin letter Thursday.

American officials deplored what they said was the lack of new ideas about a disarmament inspection system in Bulganin's letter and disputed his claim that the disarmament negotiations in the United Nations subcommittee were so "extremely complicated" that the conferences were actually retarding progress.

The Day in Birmingham

Local Churches to Mark Day Dedicated to Children

BIRMINGHAM — "Children's Day," an annual observance by the National Council of Churches, is being marked by many of the local churches tomorrow.

At First Congregational Church, the Church School is being recognized in a program during the morning worship period. Each department will share highlights of its year, with the junior high class ushering for the service.

The kindergarten class will present a typical worship service, songs, and Scripture readings, the primary department will give a choral reading and describe its project of sending powdered milk to Korea, and third graders will give a Bible quiz.

Fifth and sixth graders will lead the litany, and "Prayer Song," written by Susan Knoph will be sung by the lower junior department.

Mrs. Dalton Lamb has prepared the script.

At First Baptist Church, the two services, 9:45 and 11 a.m., Church School departments will assemble in the church sanctuary with the adult congregation.

At the earlier service, the school members will provide a part of the program, with theme based on following Jesus as, for kindergartners, a friend; primary department, a teacher; junior department, as savior; and young people's department, as a master. Special music will be guided by Charles L. Holtz, sanctuary choir director, and Mrs. Walter Folk, chapel choir director.

Dr. Emil Kontz will give certificates to teachers and youths will receive the offering.

At the later service, the sermon, "All Christians are Learners," will tie in with the dedication of infants and the recognition of graduates. Families are asked to sit together.

St. James Episcopal Church's program for Sunday includes awards for excellent attendance being given to Church School members. Primary awards will be given at the beginning of the 9:30 a.m. service in the Children's Chapel, with Junior Department awards following the Doxology at the 9:30 a.m. service in the sanctuary.

The opening in September of two classrooms for elementary children who are mentally handicapped has been authorized by the Board of Education. A room for children proven educable although mentally retarded will be at Adams school, with Ruth Boltz, fifth grade teacher at Adams, taking the post of instructor. Students will be in grades three through six.

At Beverly School, a similar room has been authorized, but may not open. A preliminary screening of cases does not indicate enough children to warrant setting up a second room.

However, devoting this room for "Type B" students, where there is a question as to their educability, for maximum periods of two years, is considered.

SCHOOL'S OUT

Children are at home—a few are in the street. It is those children who will dash in front of our car—on impulse. That child has no desire to be injured any more than you want to hurt him; however, be cautious, anticipate his actions and protect him in spite of his actions. Where there are children at play, please drive cautiously.

M. E. SIPLE

When we see a Play Ground Marker make it a driving habit to slow down, ready to make a quick stop. Don't be involved in an accident that might reoccur as a vivid mental picture over and over again, during the rest of our lives. We're never in such a hurry that a minute will make the least difference.

Slow down! Your future peace of mind is at stake.

Red Oil Fields Seized by Iran

'51 Nationalization Law Used by Government as Soviets Enter Protest

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Using the same nationalization law that drive the British from her fields, Iran has taken over Soviet oil works in Khuryan, 165 miles east of Tehran.

The Soviet Embassy promptly registered a complaint. A Foreign Ministry spokesman replied that the government had acted under the 1951 law nationalizing the oil industry.

* * *

The spokesman said troops had been "ordered to take over installations which included six oil drilling machines, a radio transmitter and two electric power plants."

Foreign Ministry sources said they did not believe the Russians would raise much fuss since the Shah and Empress Soraya are to visit the Soviet Union soon.

* * *

A contract authorizing the Russians to prospect for oil around Khuryan was signed 30 years ago between an Iranian bank and the Soviet government. A government spokesman said since the contract was not signed by an authorized government agency, Iran does not feel bound to pay compensation. But he added that the government will negotiate with the Russians over the seizure to avoid misunderstandings.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR: JUNIOR EDITORS

HOME ON THE RANGE — 6
A SONG BY THE FIRE

Everyone has had a good supper, the sun has gone down, the moon is up, and the stars are out over the "J-Bar-E" ranch. Tommy gets out his Mexican guitar and tunes it up. Then he begins to sing with Molly, and soon everybody joins in.

They sing all the old cowboy favorites to round off a wonderful week on the ranch.

Color this picture with crayons, and then paste it down on cardboard. Cut the parts out carefully, and fold the picture forward at the dotted line.

Punch holes in the places indicated on the neck of the guitar — two near Tommy's right hand, and two up by the left. Put a rubber band through each pair of holes, running each from one end to the other and tying it at the back in a tight knot. Then when you touch the bands they will vibrate a little like real guitar strings.

Topper's Lasting Appeal Surprises the TV World

By JACK O'BRIAN

NE WYORK (INS) — The sustained appeal of "Topper" is one of the trade's minor miracles. The series repeats its old films on a third network (NBC) Sunday; after profitable long runs on CBS and ABC . . .

It has a bigger kid-audience pull than any other purportedly adult series, which is why it was grabbed for 17 weeks . . .

Meanwhile, stars Anne Jeffreys and Bob Sterling, charming, attractive and very smart, are delighted they didn't sell their part-ownership . . .

It's a great season for charm: Peter Lawford's abundant brand wins "Dear Phoebe" a nine-week NBC rerun starting June 19 . . .

We think Milton Berle really was surprised on "This Is Your Life," simply because he didn't seem elaborately surprised . . .

Elvis Presley's present to Uncle Miltie Tuesday was an uncommon triumph over Phil Silvers with Trendex ratings of 14.1 to Phil's 11.3 . . .

TO TRY TV AGAIN

George Axelrod will be a panelist Sunday on "What's My Line" despite one of the worst cases of TV-fright when he was the show's mystery guest in the long ago.

Bobby Sherwood now commutes between "Masquerade Party" and a Miami Beach restaurant he part-owns . . .

Television makes strange partners: The new Essex records label lists among its backers Ethel Merman, Frank Sinatra and Frankie Laine . . .

Doug Fairbanks Jr. has as partners in his new London TV film firm Lord Louis Mountbatten and the Duke of Edinburgh . . .

Merrill on TV

NEW YORK (AP)—Baritone Robert Merrill will be the guest on ABC-TV's "Voice of Firestone" program next Monday night.

Aussie Bunnies Beat Man's Evil Disease

SYDNEY (AP)—Rabbits in Australia are gradually beating myxomatosis, a disease depended upon to wipe them out.

* * *

Many rabbits have survived infection and now are breeding a new race seemingly immune to the disease.

Increasing numbers of these rabbits present an economic threat to Australia. Until the development of the myxomatosis virus millions of pounds of sheep feed was lost to hungry millions of rabbits.

* * *

The Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organization has appealed to farmers and grazers to attack at once with traps, guns, dogs and poison to kill the rabbits being left behind as myxomatosis loses its power.

The virus was first released among rabbits in 1950.

Drug Traffic's Growth Appals U. S. Lawmakers

Back of strong Congressional support for much stiffer narcotic law violation penalties is recognition that this evil has reached appalling proportions.

A single reading of the report on the Senate's drug traffic investigation makes it easy to understand why bills before Congress include such drastic penalties. One, already approved by the Senate, would impose up to life sentences on vendors and in some cases, even the death penalty.

The shocking truth is that the United States has more drug addicts than all other Western countries combined and this evil is spreading at a frightening rate. At least 60,000 Americans are known to be victims of the drug habit.

Sworn testimony of addicts shows that each induces at least four other persons to start using narcotics. Police records reveal that 50 per cent of all crimes committed in the larger cities and 25 per cent in the smaller, are traceable to this evil.

So widespread has this traffic become that on the average 2,000 persons are arrested every month as drug law violators. What makes it a matter of such deep national concern is that 13 per cent of all addicts are under 21 years of age.

Present indications are that these bills will pass Congress in some form, probably with the elimination of the death penalty provision. As a matter of national security and for the welfare of the country's youth, Congress should enact these stiffer penalties.

U. S. and Antarctica

Most Americans probably know that the United States has done more investigating and research work in Antarctica than any other country.

But perhaps few realize that despite all this, our Government never has claimed any part of the South Polar continent. The matter is of interest because part of that continent was the cause of a 1953 dispute involving Britain, Chile and Argentina.

★ ★ ★

All three countries have established bases on Palmer Peninsula. This extends northward to within 650 miles of the southern tip of South America. It is regarded by South Americans as an extension of their continent and there naturally exists strong sentiment in favor of keeping out ther nations.

So far formal claims to Antarctic territory have been filed by Britain, France, Norway, New Zealand, Australia, Chile and Argentina. But no such claims has been made by the United States.

The U.S. poistion is that discovery without settlement doesn't constitute a valid claim. It is important to remember, however, that settlement doesn't seem far off. The continent's population last January, Antarctica's midsummer month, totaled 2,500. Of these 200, most of them Americans, stayed through the long polar winter.

Scientists and explorers believe Antarctica is rich in coal, oil and other valuable minerals. They also believe it one day might dominate the entire southern ocean area and adjoining land masses.

In view of our own Government's vast exploration efforts, it seems to us time to re-examine Antarctic policy. If there is to be a claims race for this still largely unknown continent, our Government should make sure that the U.S. has a favorable position in it.

Goof Ball Sales Curbed

Announcement by Federal agencies that the illegal sale of so-called "goof balls" and other stay awake pills has been stopped, is a victory for common sense and highway safety.

Last October the Federal Justice and Welfare departments completed a year long investigation of this problem. Information thus obtained indicated that "some truckers using the drugs have lost their lives and have risked the lives of others."

Thanks to this investigation, the Food and Drugs Department now is able to report that the crusade to end the illegal sales of these pills has been successful. While no information is available as to how widespread has been the use of these pills among all drivers, we feel an important safety step has been taken.

Trucking companies and unions share credit for having done much to educate drivers on the danger of using such drugs to stay awake at the wheel.

The People's Business:

Moderation Wins

California's Vote for Adlai Proves Williams Wrong

By ROGER LANE

LANSING — "Who, then, favors moderation, a pretty euphemism, but coasting, even so?" asked Gov. Williams last Nov. 26.

★ ★ ★

The governor got at least a partial answer to his question from California Tuesday. It was in the form of returns from the race between Adlai E. Stevenson, an exponent of political moderation, and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

The answer could hardly have been to Williams' liking because Stevenson soundly beat Kefauver, whose political thinking is much closer to the Michigan governor's pattern. The margin was better than five to three.

The speech in which Williams asked his question was and is politically important. It is worth reviewing now as a measure of his orientation within the national Demoractic Party.

The governor spoke to the convention of Young Democrats of Colorado at Denver. The time was little more than a week after Stevenson formally bid for renomination, and announced his "moderation" stand.

ATTACK ON ADLAI

It was unmistakeably a direct and resounding attack on the Stevenson policies as Williams saw them, even though Williams did not mention his party's titular leader by name.

He spoke of the "spirit of temporizing with present problems, the spirit of doing nothing about burgeoning problems of the future," until they assumed overwhelming proportions.

"A tired and weary counsel of rest," was another characterization of the Stevenson statement, a counsel "which I find it difficult to believe can be seriously considered as Democratic Party policy."

He asked rhetorically if moderation meant support of the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, "which is an affront to the dignity of our own citizens and a continuing threat to our esteem abroad."

And after this and much more came the kind of summing up question. "who favors moderation?"

OBVIOUS ANSWER

There is an obvious answer. Very few Democrats. When "moderation" means what Williams said and suggested it means. Certainly not Stevenson.

In fact, Stevenson took pains in 1952, while campaigning even in Nevada and Pennsylvania, the home territories of McCarran and Walter, respectively, to publicly dissociate himself from the two men.

What Williams was taken by newsmen to mean last November was that Stevenson's policies were unacceptable to many millions of Democrats, particularly to those who are negroes or who are in union labor.

Oviously this was not true Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

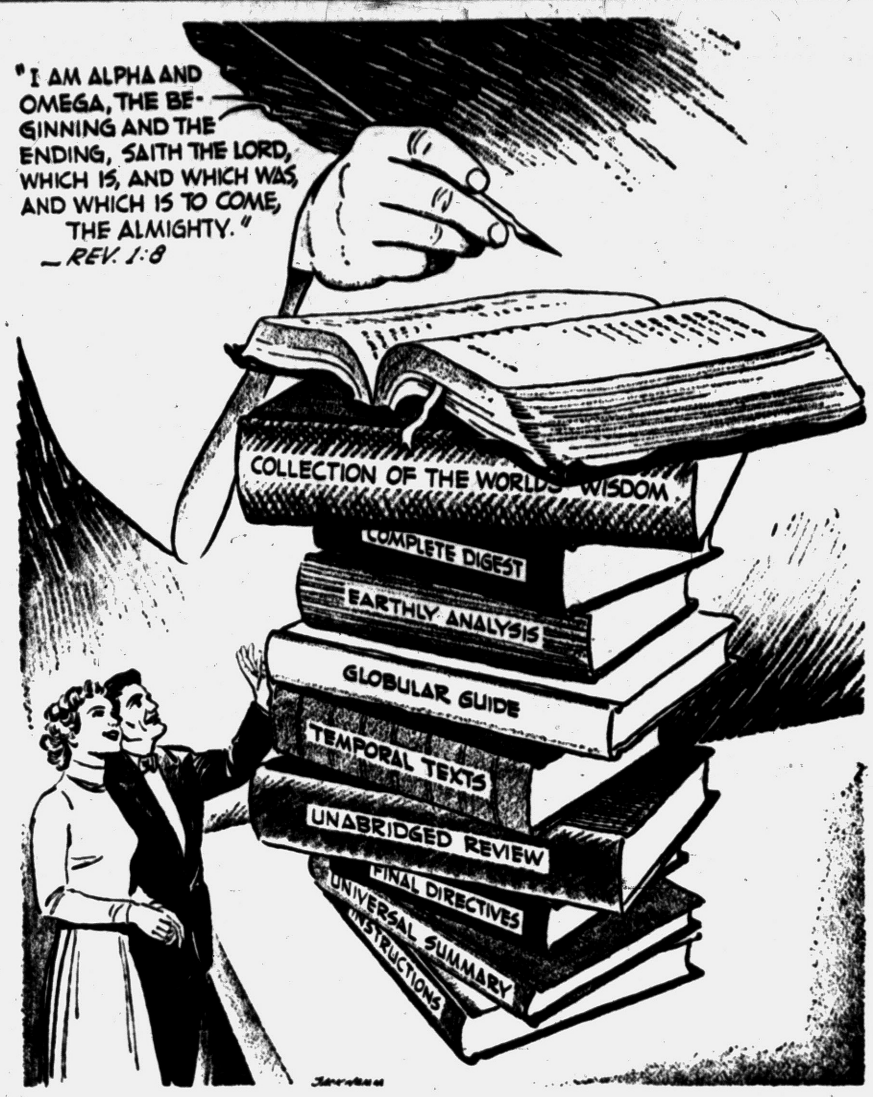

It all raises many questions:

Is Williams a prophet, ahead of his time?

Did Williams misread the sentiment of Democratic voters, notably organized labor and negroes?

How wide is the gap that separates Williams and Stevenson — that is, is it in fact the yawning chasm pictured by Williams six months ago?

Days of All Faiths

Observation of Children's Day Sunday Originated on May Day in Old Country

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Most American holidays, except political ones, have their roots in the Old Country, and so it is with Children's Day, which is observed Sunday by many Protestant churches. In parts of Europe, May Day, that is May 1, was Confirmation Day for Roman Catholic and Lutheran children. One feature of the day was that the youngsters carried to church bouquets of the wild-flowers that were in season at that time of year.

As an American observance, Children's Day began in June, 1856, at the Universalist Church in Chelsea, Mass. June was a much better time for flowers than May in the northerly Massachusetts climate. Roses were in bloom then in Chelsea, and as the children's special Sunday became an annual event, it was at first known as Rose Sunday.

By 1868 the Methodist church had officially set the second Sunday in June as Children's Day on a national basis. Other denominations soon followed. The Day is now part of the calendar of the National Council of Churches.

ST. BARNABAS

All we know about St. Barnabas is what we can read in the Acts and some of St. Paul's Epistles, but it is enough to place him as one of the foremost figures in the early Church. He is said to have been one of the "Seventy" the Lord sent out (Luke, Chapter 10, verse 1) on the first practice run for itinerant Christian preachers. Although he is not named in any list of the Twelve Apostles, verse 14, Chapter 14 of the Acts refers to him as an apostle. Some people believe he was also the writer of the Epistle to the Hebrews.

Barnabas' real name was Joseph, but his friends in the Church renamed him. Several translations are offered for the name Barnabas, the King James version says "son of consolation," others have thought "son of encouragement" more accurate, but it probably meant "son of prophecy." From this probability has come the tradition that St. Barnabas had the gift of prophecy.

One very important thing this Saint did was to vouch for St. Paul when that notorious persecutor of Christianity showed up in Jerusalem after his conversion. The last the Jerusalem Christians had heard of him he had been "breathing out threatenings and slaughter" against them, and they were in no mood to welcome him into the fold. See Acts, Chapter 9, verse 27. Barnabas reassured them and Paul was accepted, to the great enrichment of Christian history.

As a member of the economic community created by the early Church, Barnabas conformed to the rules by selling his land and turning the money over to the Apostles. His contribution must have been quite a sizeable one, for he is the only contributor mentioned by name. See Acts, Chapter 4, verses 36 and 37.

It was with Barnabas that Paul began his famous missionary journeys into the Gentile world. They must have been an impressive team. At the town of Lystra Paul healed a lame man, and the people were convinced that these missionaries were gods. Paul, they were sure, was Hermes (Mercury) and Barnabas, who was probably taller and more dignified, they thought was Zeus (Jupiter). It was all the two could do to keep the townspeople from sacrificing a bull to them.

Unfortunately Paul and Barnabas had a falling-out, as even Saints will do, and went their separate ways. Legend says Barnabas was finally stoned to death by the Jews on his native island of Cyprus.

Asks Social Security Aid for Disabled Under 65

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Our prosperous nation is giving away billions abroad including millions to Communist Yugoslavia, but not one cent to thousands of suffering disabled.

It is not their fault they can no longer earn a living, yet they need food, clothing, shelter, transportation and more medical care than average. Those under age 65 do not qualify for social security benefits and live in dire hardships.

The House has approved pensions for disabled from age 50, 372 votes to 31 but the Senate Finance Committee has neglected the disabled in its recommendations to the Senate. Since anyone of us may become disabled, may I ask every reader to write to his senators and President Eisenhower, urging them to approve adequate social security benefits for all disabled workers.

Benefits should be at least $25 weekly plus enough for the family and classification of disability can be handled as for veterans. Any worker unable to keep or obtain employment, because of disability, deserves full benefits.

Congressmen raised their own salaries about $10,000 per year; will they ignore the disabled?

U. S. Showing No Gestures of Pushing for Red Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although the Soviet leadership says Russia is "ready" for getting together with the United States, the Eisenhower administration shows no signs of either pushing for it or being ready.

There is no sign it has worked out any policy for handling the new Soviet tactics of soft talk and friendly gestures which, if pursued long enough, may weaken this country's world leadership and its ties with its allies.

This country was shocked this week to read Communist party boss Khrushchev's speech on Stalin's monstrous murders, particularly since Khrushchev and the other Soviet leaders were Stalin's co-workers.

TOUGH ROAD AHEAD

The question—how could anyone deal with these leaders? — is a natural reaction to the speech. But either this country works out peaceful coexistence with Russia or the two nations must stay mightily armed against each other indefinitely.

So far as can be seen at this point the United States is merely reacting to Russian actions. President Eisenhower at yesterday's news conference indicated this country would not take the initiative on exchanging official visits.

In this election year it is possible the administration might get some sour reaction in this country if it stopped stiff-arming the Russians. Some of Eisenhower's Republicans have publicly objected to exchanging official visits.

RECIPROCAL INVITATION?

Recently the Russians invited Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff, to Moscow to watch the Soviet celebration of Aviation Day. After much discussion within the administration, Eisenhower said Twining could go.

Asked at his news conference if he would reciprocate by inviting the Russian air force chief to this country, Eisenhower said:

"If we have any indication that he would like to come, he will be welcome to exactly the same kind of things here that Gen. Twining saw over there."

But when asked if he would invite his World War II friend, Marshal Georgi Zhukov, Soviet defense chief, to Washington, Eisenhower replied:

"Well, I don't know that there will be any (invitation) extended at all . . . As I say, anything that would be done would be on a completely reciprocal basis."

Then he added that if the Russians asked Secretary of Defense Wilson to Moscow, Zhukov would be invited here.

High Calcium Diet Best for an Allergy; Iodin Ration Restores Pep to Reader

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

So grateful—kalion quickly relieved my allergy to air-conditioned places . . . (G.R.)

Answer—Everyone with allergy should make it his or her business to follow a high calcium diet. That means at least 1½ pints (three glasses) of milk, skimmed or separator milk, buttermilk, acidophilus milk, or the equivalent in milk products such as cottage cheese or any other kind of cheese every day, plus greens, salad vegetables, nuts, peanuts, peas, beans, egg yolk, etc. For pamphlet RELIEF FOR ALLERGY send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

We don't mind an occasional fly, spider, or mouse, but when these blasted ants invade the pantry . . . (S. C. D.)

Answer—Send 35c and stamped self-addressed envelope for booklet UNBIDDEN GUESTS. It tells how to get rid of ants, flies, fleas, mosquitoes, moths, spiders, cockroaches, bedbugs, lice, and other household pests.

A year ago I was as tired after a night's sleep as I was when I went to bed . . . Began taking the Iodin Ration, and happy to report I have never felt better and I feel fine and dandy every morning . . . (S. G.)

Answer—Thank you. Instructions for taking the Iodin Ration mailed on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Many headaches, especially in the back of the head, may be due to hpyerphoria. Such headaches respond to prism therapy. Easy to confirm the diagnosis by monocular occlusion for a few days, which gives temporary relief. (R. H., O. D.)

Answer. Thank you, Doctor. If I had such headaches, I'd come around for that monocular occulsion test. You remind me of Jack Carter on the bowling green. Drawn to play against me he greeted me "Happy New Year, Doc, d——you!" You optometrists send me many good suggestions.

He will be 2½ years old next week, and he has never been given a laxative, enema or any other remedy or treatment but good food and loving care . . . (Mrs. C. G.)

Answer—I bet you had to fight to fend off the fishwives who came a-running with the castor oil, etc. Don't ply the baby with physic before he gets started. Send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for THE BRADY BABY BOOK.

Brother following your advice with very good results. He is happy to know he can enjoy sweets and good things again. He had excluded them from his diet for over a year, but his acne was unchanged . . . (K. M. P.)

Answer—The old-timers conceived some weird notions about the nature and cause of blackheads and pimples. Restricting sweets and fats in the diet impresses some customers, but I doubt that it improves the condition of the skin. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on ACNE—excessive oiliness of the skin, blackheads, pimples.

Please send me the name and address of "C. G." whose letter regarding hernia treatment you printed . . . (C. F. H.)

Answer—I cannot reveal a correspondent's identity without his or her written permission. In certain cases of hernia ambulant (office, injection) treatment is the method I'd choose if I were the patient. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on HERNIA. I'm sorry I cannot tell you which physicians give ambulant treatment.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Moral Path Is That Which Is Best for Most People for Longest Time

Millions of teenage girls face Ellen's dilemma. So use the terse advice given below and be sure to send for the sex booklet Ellen employed to help her realize what will do the most good for the most people over the longest period of time. That is the yardstick for determining what is right.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case R-378: Ellen R., aged 17, is a high schooler who will graduate next term.

"Dr. Crane, I am in a very muddled state of mind," she admitted.

* * *

"I come from a fine moral home and have been very active in the church. During the first semester of my senior year, I have been dating a very attractive boy.

* * *

"He is a leading athlete. All the girls are crazy about him. But he and I have been going steady for the last couple of months.

"Now he is making demands on me for liberties that I have been taught are not right till after marriage.

"When I object, he argues that I am old-fashioned. He says all the girls do such things nowadays.

* * *

"And he has threatened to jilt me. In fact, last night he did stand me up on a date, and it is very humiliating.

* * *

"For our city is not so large but that all the kids know each other. I have been regarded as his steady date, so what will they think if I am suddenly left alone?"

SOCIAL PRESSURE

Ellen's problem involves a conflict betwen social pressure and moral logic.

So I explained to Ellen that nobody else can form her moral decisions for her.. Advisers may offer some facts, but she must make the final decision.

"What would you gain by giving in to this boy's demands for illicit sexual privileges?" I began.

"Let's depict your moral problem by drawing a scales beam with two pans thereon.

"If you surrender to this boy, you may win 50 dates with him next semester.

"But now let's see the price you pay for them. First, you will lose woman's greatest charm in the eyes of the male sex, namely, your spunk or independent spirit.

* * *

"Thereafter, you will be furtive-eyes, wondering if other people know about your case.

"And if your boy friend touches liquor, then you will be in constant torment, for a drinking man may tell everything.

"For John Barleycorn keeps no secrets. What happens in private may be common knoweldge when a man uses liquor, so beware!

"Second, you may contact gonorrhea and syphilis, the two dangerous venereal diseases. They can lead to permanent sterility.

"Such diseases are not trifling matters even in this age of penicillin and other anti-biotics.

* * *

"Third, you may become pregnant. Then you may find it necessary to drop out of school.

"That would almost break the hearts of your Dad and Mother who have idolized you. They want to enjoy your adult happiness as a safely married woman in good standing in the community.

* * *

"You are the middle link in a three-link chain, involving your parents and your future children. So be fair to both groups.

"Fourth, you will betray your unborn baby if you become pregnant. If you bear it out of wedlock, then it will have one strike against it in life.

"If you let it be adopted at birth, your heart will be anguished and you will feel badly for years.

"Fifth, it will be more difficult to marry later on, for you will have this black mark against your record.

"The church leaders for centuries have decided what does the most good for the most people over the longest period of time, is right and moral. What do you think will answer that sure-fire yardstick?"

* * *

Send for my booklet, "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Ellen took a copy home with her. She broke off with the boy. Soon he came back, however, and agreed to date her on her own terms, for he knew she was right.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Controversial New Deal Braintruster May Be Headed for Spotlight in the U. N.

BOSTON (INS)—Charles Edward Wyzanski, Jr. who has been nominated as a Democratic delegate to next fall's U. N. Assembly, is a former new deal "braintruster" and a brilliant—if no less controversial—jurist.

The last time he made headlines was in January, when, sitting on the federal district court bench to which he was appointed in 1941, Judge Wyzanski turned down a government plea for stiff sentences for four confesssed heroin dealers.

He gave three the minimum term of two years, and the fourth, three years. Explaining his action he said, in part:

"While I in no sense look upon this as a trivial offense it is to me exactly like a bootlegging case, except it happens to be in drugs instead of in liquor, and I have no more moral view with respect to drugs than with respect to liquor.

"I am required to follow an act of Congress, and the act of Congress I intend to follow; but I don't think you need suppose I have a particular animus with respect to the topic."

20-MINUTE DECISION

Three years ago, he took 20 minutes to explain in scathing language why he was jailing, instead of placing on probation a former Massachusetts collector of internal revenue who had confessed to accepting bribes to influence his decision on tax cases.

In 1955, he disqualified himself from presiding at any trail of a present and a former Harvard University faculty member for contempt of court.

The judge did so, he said, because in his capacity as a member and later president of the Harvard board of overseers, he had discussed the testimony of the two men.

Two other highlights of his career on the bench were his high praise of women jurors and his barring of confessions illegally obtained by FBI agents.

JOIN BAR IN '30

Until he became a member of the bar in 1930, Wyzanski's life was a quite and conservative one—from his birth in Brookline, Mass., on May 27, 1906, through Philips Exter Academy, Harvard College (Magra Cum Laude and Phi Beta Kappa) and Harvard Law School (Magra Cum Laude, editorship of the Havard Law Review).

During his low school days, he was known as a protege of then professor now Supreme Court Justice, Felix Frankfurter. He spent some time as law secretary to the famed U. S. Circuit Court Judge Augustus N. Hand.

In 1933, President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed him as labor department solicitor. Two years later he was special assistant to the attorney general and argued cases involing the constitutionality of the Wagner Act and the Social Security Act before the Supreme Court.

Four years of private law practice ended with his district court appointment in December, 1941.

Judge Wyzanski, short, dark and with a receding hairline, is known as a pleasant and jovial person off the bench. Married in 1943 to the former Gisela Warburg, the couple have two children and live in Cambridge near his alma mater.

He served in 1949 and 1950 as a copyright expert to the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

Miss Giorgio called the family doctor and rushed to the Whitely home. She found Mrs. Whitely dead beside the body of her husband John, also 64.

Hey, Mister—

That's No Way to plan Your Trip

Be sure of your accommodations. If you plan to spend the night in a resort town, arrive there with at least one hour of daylight still ahead of you. This will give you adequate time to look around and, if necessary, drive on to the next town. Some unscrupulous inn and tourist camp owners raise their rates for late arrivals.

Don't leave luggage in your auto! A car bearing out-of-state license plates is a sure invitation to thieves. When you park for the night, take all your luggage with you unless you are sure that the garage you put it in is thoroughly responsible. A locked car is no protection, since a thief can break in with the aid of an ordinary beer can opener. Watch out for service station gyps! When you stop for gas an oil, get out of the car and see that you get all that you pay for. Watch the meter reading on the pump. Be sure that it is set at zero before the operator starts to fill your tank.

Eating poses problems! There are thousands of roadside bars and grills which exist primarily for local drinking patrons. They add to their income by serving terrible food at top prices to tourists unwary enough to enter. There's one way to play it safe. Stop and eat where you see parked trucks. The surroundings may not be elegant. The food may not be epicurean. But if the truckers patronize it, the food will be good, the kitchen clean, the price inexpensive.

Do these seem like a lot of precautions to observe on your summer motor trip? They're not actually. They just constitute old-fashioned common sense.

Zeta, Epsilon Chapters Hold Joint Dinner Meeting

By MARGARET COLE

The Hillside Room of Devon Gables was the setting for the first joint dinner meeting of Zeta and Epsilon chapters of Alpha Delta Kappa sorority. Thirty members attended the Thursday evening gathering that is to be established as an annual affair.

* * *

Alpha Delta Kappa is an educational honorary sorority. Its purpose is to stress professional and community recognition for outstanding teachers with a national program of scholarships and altruistic goals.

* * *

Represented in most of the 48 states, the two local chapters were organized in August 1955 with 40 charter members.

* * *

During this first year the chapters have each held meetings the first Thursday of the month, and members have established a firm foundation in the community for their organization that promises to grow both in size and service.

* * *

Their interest in community service already has been expressed by their support of the occupational therapy program at Pontiac State Hospital.

* * *

Realizing the importance and need for the program, they contributed to the children's divisions of the program, and Epsilon Chapter plans to support the program as their major service project for the coming year.

* * *

Mrs. Harold Newstead served Zeta Chapter as its first president. Elected to serve during the coming year are Mrs. Hesper Polk, president; Mrs. Cleo Wiley, vice president; Mrs. Gene Carey, recording secretary; Wilma Webb, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edward Leland, treasurer and Mary Wagner, publicity. Mrs. Joyce Jones will serve as program chairman.

* * *

Activities of Epsilon Chapter will be guided by Mrs. Gerold Vant Roer, president; Mrs. Lola Sandage, vice president; Mrs. Lewis Cornell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Gordon Rice, recording secretary and Mrs. Thomas Walsh, treasurer.

Shirley Bildstein Speaks Vows in St. Vincent Rite

Shirley is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph J. Bildstein of Rochester and the late Mr. Bildstein. Walter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter James Bendig of Judson court.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Joseph B. Bildstein. As she approached the altar she was wearing a floor-length gown of embroidered organdy, fashioned with a scalloped neckline and short sleeves.

Three tiers of embroidered organdy accented the hooped skirt. A cap of organdy and lace secured her fingertip veil of silk illusion, and she carried an arrangement of feathered carnations centered with a white orchid.

For her duties as maid of honor, Joan Wyzgoski chose a ballerina-length gown of lavender organdy with a matching headpiece. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Collegians Are Puzzled About Gifts

They Argue Over Boys Giving Girls Wearing Apparel

By EMILY POST

A freshman at college writes me as follows: "To settle a discussion we've been having at school, I volunteered to write to you and get the final answer on the subject.

"Is it correct for a boy to give his steady girl friend clothes, such as sweater or a blouse, for her birthday? Everyone seems to have a different opinion on the matter and we would be most grateful if you would set us straight."

Answer: A man is not supposed to give a girl wearing apparel. However, a plain cardigan sweater would not seem improper but an aleaborate blouse would be wrong.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married soon. She has been away at boarding school for several years and does not know many people here. My husband and I have made a lot of friends through club work.

"Would it be proper to invite the members of the women's club to my daughter's wedding, and if so, should I include their husbands? (Most of the husbands are strangers to me.)

"I do not want to hurt their feelings by leaving them out but neither do I want them to feel they are being invited just to send a present."

Answer: If you are on friendly terms with the members of the club, you may certainly invite them to your daughter's wedding, and correctly their husbands should be invited with them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The mother of a friend died recently and I went to the funeral. I wore a navy blue dress with a white hat and white gloves. I have been told since that it was improper to wear a white hat to a funeral. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?"

Answer: It is true that you are supposed to wear the most inconspicuous clothes possible to a funeral.

New High Seen in Defense Costs

Development of Arms, Production May Raise Spending to Half Trillion

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spending for military defense over the 15-year period extending to 1965 may total more than half a trillion dollars—even with the nation at peace, said Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson.

This is more, by many billions, than was spent in the previous decade and a half — which included fighting World War II.

From fiscal year 1951 through 1965—if the current spending rate continues—the cost of rearming for the jet - atomic age will be about 528½ billion dollars. This period also includes the years of the Korean War.

EXCLUDES A-WEAPONS

That estimate will be the spending by the Defense Department. The figure does not include the cost of nuclear weapons. The Atomic Energy Commission has not disclosed what part of the approximate 14 billions spent for this over-all program to date involves weapons, but it is known the great bulk of that total has been for weapon development and production.

High defense officials have stated that a critical need for military readiness probably will mean that the current annual rate of military spending—about 35 billion dollars—will be required well into the future, unless there is a change in world conditions resulting in either disarmament or another war.

The bigger cost now arises out of two primary factors:

1. The price tag on weapons is higher. The cost of material and labor for weapons production has gone up, like everything else.
2. The weapons with which World War II was fought were relatively simple by today's standards.

Hollywood Headlines

Several Factors Doomed Janis Paige's TV Show

By BOB THOMAS

* * *

The most obviosu reason is because it isn't popular. But some shows stay on with meager ratings while others with creditable figures are dropped

ENTHUSIASTIC FANS

Take "It's Always Jan." While it was no world beater, the Saturday night show managed to amass highly respectable ratings and an enthusiastic following. Yet it is one of this season's casualties. Why?

* * *

"It was a combination of things; there was no single reason," she replied. "We had been getting good ratings, but the sponsors were undecided about renewing. They kept asking for extensions of the option."

* * *

Finally, Janis and her producer, Artie Stander, who also is her husband, decided not to extend the time.

"If they really wanted the show, that was something else," she remarked. "But since they were undecided, we weren't so sure we wanted to continue it ourselves.

"For one thing, we wanted to do other things. Artie wanted to do some serious writing. I had a couple of picture deals cooking as well as another stage play. And I wanted to get out and play night clubs, which I enjoy. When you're doing a TV show, you're never aware of the audience; I like to hear them out there.

Even Farmers May Reap Social Security Benefits

By RAY HENRY
AP Writer

From N. W. of Iowa City, Iowa:

"I've just started farming on a place my dad worked for 40 years. In a conversation with a neighbor the other day, I found out that farmers are covered by Social Security. Is Social Security voluntary for farmers?"

No. Social Security is compulsory. Every farm operator whose net earnings (either from farming alone or combined with earnings from any other business he may operate) amount to $400 or more a year must report his earnings and pay Social Security tax. The Social Security office in your area should be able to provide you with a booklet called "How Does Social Security Affect Farm Families?" which will give you all the details.

From S. S. of Columbia, Mo.: "About six years ago, an old family friend came to live with us. Several months ago, he died. I paid for his funeral. He was getting Social Security payments at the time of his death. Can I get any repayment for the funeral expenses, even though we weren't related?"

Yes. All persons eligible for Social Security payments also are covered by a lump sum payment upon death. If there is no widow, the lump payment can be collected by whoever has paid the bill, related or not.

From I. U. T. of Massillon, Ohio: "I'm 70 years old. When I recently talked to the local Social Security people, they told me I had worked under Social Security for a year and that I needed a year and a half to qualify for payments. I think I can get a job on Saturdays in the grocery store I used to own. Could I get the credit for the other six months this way

Yes, unless the store is owned by your son, daughter or wife. Work for a husband or wife, or for a son or daughter, doesn't count under Social Security. If someone else owns the store and you're paid at least $50 in each of two calendar quarters, you can qualify. A calendar quarter is a 3-month period beginning with January, April, July, or October.

From S. C. R. of Huntington, W. Va.: "We are old people. My husband is 75 years old and I was 65 in Sept. 1955. We own a small five acre place, raise a few chickens, even a bunch of pigs. Can we apply for Social Security without turning over our little home?"

The Social Security law doesn't require you to turn over any property to the Federal government. However, benefits are paid only if you or your husband has been employed or self employed on a job covered by Social Security.

Dana Wynter Wanted No Ring From Greg

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Dana Wynter didn't want an engagement ring. I thought all girls did, but this ex-TV beauty who became a movie star and then landed hard-to-catch Greg Bautzer says she didn't.

"People have a way of saying 'Let's see it!' when they really want to see the size of it, and—I hate that!" the slim, beautiful brunette from Rhodesia, who had captured Hollywood's uncapturable bachelor, said.

"I've noticed they say 'Where is it?' Where is it?' before they say 'Jolly good!' I think people don't really care much whether you'll be happy—and if you're from Hollywood, they sort of expect you won't."

That's why Dana asked for the engagement and wedding rings at the same time—and why she's giving up a career that's just nicely started.

DANA WYNTER

"I was very wary of Greg," she admitted, "when I met him at a cocktail party.

"The big lawyer, big bachelor, who all the girls thought was so wonderful, I was sure was terribly spoiled.

"But he's about the most unselfish and generous human being I've met in my life."

"How did you get him?" I asked — remembering how he'd been linked over the years with the most glamour gals, who one by one, gave up the chase. (He was briefly married to Buff Cobb during World War II.)

"Get him? I wasn't out to get anybody. I was so immersed in my career," cooly replied the 5-foot-7, 116-pounder who exudes class, exclusivity, breeding, and words like that.

"I didn't know he couldn't be got," she added.

"Then we talked over my working. I wonder how a husband feels about a wife who's not home when he comes home.

"Greg has said he'd like me to give it up unless it's something terribly exciting. Any money I make is to go to a cat's home or something, for he says he's the money-earner. You don't give up a career lightly after you've worked so hard for it. But no, I'm not sad about it.

"Because I'm getting something that's so much better as an exchange — Greg."

Dana speaks 7 languages including some Swahili, and briefly studied medicine. Bautzer himself was a Rhodes Scholar. So this is a marriage of beautiful minds as well as beautiful people. When she went home to tell her father, a gynecologist, she was marrying, she flew six days and made nine plane changes.

She's applied for American citizenship.

Dana's been quoted as saying that she'd rather be a good surgeon than win an Oscar.

"When I gave up medicine for dramatics at the university, I suppose I was too young to be sensible," she says. "Still, if I'd become a surgeon, I'd probably never have met Greg."

DON'T PRINT THAT!": One of the top jockeys phoned the track to say he was too hung-over to climb on a horse. "Tell the owner," he gasped, "that I have ptomaine-on-the rocks" . . . A singing star, who had to be helped onstage at the Beverly Club because of her tight dress, got sore when someone forgot to get her off and stranded her up there . . . A singer who had his nose altered complains that now the nose is too small . . . A policeman showed up at the "Crime in the Streets" premiere and asked for Sal Mineo, who plays a juvenile delinquent. He said to Sal, "I got a couple of mug shots of you—would you please autograph them for my kid?"

Nick Vanoff, who held the prompter cards on the Perry Como show two years ago, is the new assoc. producer on the Steve Allen show.

You Are a Citizen in a Very Dynamic, Spiritual Universe

Confident Living

God's Wisdom Is Found in People Close to Nature

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

I quote a great many people in these columns. I have quoted Albert Einstein and Sir James Jeans and William James. I have repeated the words of Ralph Waldo Emerson and Henry David Thoreau. Today I quote a cowboy.

DR. PEALE

• • • • • •

Now, famous philosophers are not always the wisest men in the world. Fishermen, farmers, cowboys — men who live with the universe — may often have more native wisdom and insight.

• • • • • •

The man I want to quote obviously never had much schooling. His letter came to me from San Antonio, Texas, and, although it may not be the finest example of English style, it is sincere and thought provoking.

A COWBOY'S LETTER

"Dear Sir,

"What is the thing that is spoke of as subconscious? I have used that thing all my life and I know there is something about it that I don't understand. I have read all I have gotten a chance to on the subject. I strongly believe it is something he can use. I believe that it has saved my life many times.

• • • • • •

"I was raised in West Texas and I spent much of my life breaking wild horses. And I know something that is called the subconscious will work on horses. I know that something travels from man to horse, and from horse to man. I have felt it on the bridle reins. That same thing will tell me which trail to take when I am lost in the mountains or on the plains. It guides me through the darkness of the night.

• • • • • •

"You may think I am crazy to make such statements, but I won't try to do anything without first asking that thing about it. And then I act quick when the answer comes.

• • • • • •

"Now if you can see any sense to this question and these statements, will you please answer me in very simple language.

"Your friend."

• • • • • •

Well, my friend the cowboy may not define the subconscious the same way my friend, Dr. Smiley Blanton, the psychiatrist, would. But I think that, basically, their definitions would not be too far apart.

FEELS GOD'S HAND GUIDING HIM

This cowboy, living with the stars and the wind and the sun and the plains and the mountains, has felt God's hand guiding him, not from outside but from within himself. As William James said — and I'm back to quoting him — "Apparently there is one great universal mind and since man enters into this universal mind, he is a fragment of it." The mind of God comprehends us all, and the flashes of it that enter into the workings of our subconscious are at one with Him.

People everywhere are reading and talking about a woman who was hypnotized and began to remember another life generations ago as Bridey Murphy. Although it is hard to explain, there is nothing unusual about her story, she has merely tapped the amazing power of the subconscious mind. A new book, "The Magic Power of Your Mind" by Walter Germain, gives case after case even more astonishing.

Like the people about whom these stories are told, you yourself are a citizen of a dynamic universe, a universe that is not material, but spiritual.

• • • • • •

It is that universe that is literally the kingdom of God. As you find Him in your thought and faith, you will bring from your subconscious a true guidance for every day of your years.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL — Four active workers in the Sunday School and other activities of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints met to plan the Vacation Bible School scheduled from June 18-28. The Bible School will be open to anyone from three year olds to age 15. Photographed were Mrs. James Holliday of 3721 Northwood drive, Orchard Lake; (left to right) Mrs. Samuel Bellamy of 5163 Tangent drive, Mrs. Dale Fishwild of 1570 Oak street and Mrs. Maurice Rife of 261 Dick street.

Skits, Singing Slated Sunday

Christine Lape Will Be Narrator for Children's Day Program

The theme for Children's Day at the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church tomorrow morning will be "Followers of Jesus."

The program will be presented at the Bible School hour, 11:20 a.m. when the entire school will gather in the sanctuary.

The nursery, beginner, kindergarten, junior and junior high departments will be represented in group singing, recitations, skits, visual stories and special music.

The narrator for the occasion will be Christine Lape. She recently won the Presbyterial Bible reading contest for the 18-25 age group in which sixteen churches from Detroit Presbytery were represented.

She will enter the Synod Bible Reading Contest and represent Oakland Avenue Church and Detroit Presbytery at the Builder-Fellowship Youth Conference of Ohio Synod, Muskingum College Campus, New Concord, Ohio, July 14-21.

Gary Andrews, Griff Verhey and Diane Matheny have special parts in their respective departments; Kathy O'Brien will read the Scripture and Marilyn Cadman will tell a flannelgraph story.

The Junior Missionary Society will introduce the five projects for the year and Roland Williams will give a biographical object-graph study on the life of David Livingston, pioneer missionary to Africa.

Joyce Sweet, Bible School superintendent, will preside at the opening worship service, assisted by Glora Luck, youth director and the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach, pastor of the church.

19 Congregations Assemble for Caro Convention

More than 1350 Jehovah's Witnesses, 310 from Pontiac, attended the recent semi-annual three day area convention at Caro.

W. P. Strong, spokesman for the local group, said 19 congregations assembled "for a refresher training program to improve their preaching ministry."

Highlight of the sessions was the address Sunday by A. C. Manera of New York City. He spoke on "Consulting God on World Affairs."

A mass baptism of 29 persons was held Saturday afternoon. All are entering into the preaching fellowship of Jehovah's Witnesses.

Included in the group were the following from Pontiac: Neal Olson of 146 Merrimac St., Shirley Wall of 2186 Crane Rd., Patricia Humphrey of 7131 Pontiac Lake Rd., James and Darrell Tucker of 6060 Hackett Rd. and Louis and Hazel Biles of 3740 Rohr Rd.

Foe of Legalized Bingo

DETROIT (INS)—The Michigan Council of Churches today announced a campaign to fight attempts to legalize bingo.

The Michigan Association of Non-Profit Charitable Organization, Inc. is trying to legalize the game.

The council said it would enlist denominational and business groups, labor unions and veterans organizations to combat the move.

Soviet Prelates at Philadelphia

8 Church Leaders See American Family Life on 10-Day U. S. Tour

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eight Soviet church leaders set out yesterday on a one-day tour of Philadelphia.

• • •

The Russian religious chieftains were on the sixth day of a 10-day visit to the United States as guests of the National Council of Churches. They came here to repay a visit made by American church leaders to the Soviet Union in March.

FLEW FROM OHIO

The Soviet dignitaries fled here from Cleveland after visiting with typical American families in their homes in Seville, Ohio.

Declared Seville farmer Dick Pursley after he had entertained at his well-loaded dinner table Arch Priest Mikhail Slavnitsky of Leningrad: "It would be wonderful if there were more of this sort of thing—more people coming together this way from different countries."

Pursley's opinion seemed to express that of other Ohio families with whom the Russians dined.

The hosts found their guests to be friendly and interesting people and both guests and hosts came away with increased respect for each other.

The eldest member of the Soviet church delegation, Bishop Sahak of the Armenian Church, who is 77, kept his hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Detwiler of Seville in stitches by bright remarks and infectious chuckles.

He told how the Catholics of Armenia had been traveling all about Europe earlier this year and commented that when he, Bishop Sahak, received word of his assignment to travel to the United States he exclaimed to the Catholics, "What's Paris: I'm going to America."

Prayer for This Week

Editor's Note: A prayer by a Pontiac pastor will be published on the church page each week in the hope that it may be a help to someone. The Rev. Carl W. Nelson, president of the Pontiac Pastor' Association and pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church offers the following

O God, Thou who art the author and finisher of our faith, we thank Thee for the true way of life through Thy Son, our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ, and for the gift of eternal life, joy and peace which passes understanding which He has secured for all who call upon Him and Confess Him as their Blessed Redeemer and Saviour from Sin.

We thank Thee for the privileges and blessings of our beloved Nation. Guide all who rule with the wisdom of Thy counsel that unity and love may prevail upon the earth and peace and concord may be a blessed experience for all people and all nations.

We humbly beseech Thee to help us to worship Thee in Spirit and Truth in our respective churches on the morrow. We pray that Thou wouldst show us Thyself and ourselves as we meditate on the message of Thy Holy Word and sing our praises to Thee in song that with opened eyes we may grow in His grace and eternal love.

Gracious God, guide us with Thy counsel, sustain us in our daily living, fill us with Thy Spirit, make us willing to abide according to Thy will, and give unto us a forgiving spirit.

Accept our humble thanks for all Thy blessings to us. Forgive us our trespasses. Assist us to do the things that Thou wouldst have us do. For these, and whatsoever else we have need of, we pray in the Name of Jesus. Amen.

Migrant Labor Camp Planned

Home Missions Ready to Teach Children Art While Parents Work

Children of farm labor migrants settled in an upstate New York camp this summer will learn carpentry, motor mechanics, budgeting, buying, cooking and homemaking in a unique "school" to be set up on the camp site.

The boys will be taught how to make simple repairs on cars and will build a cabin from second-hand materials, equipping it with furniture they will make from boxes and crates, which later can be used for packing cases when the family moves.

The girls will be taught to plan and prepare well-balanced meals for the entire group, and make clothing and bedspreads, curtains and rugs to beautify their one-room cabins. Together, they will paint the cabin and furniture, and learn how to set a table, serve a meal, wash the dishes and keep the cabin clean and attractive.

This new project is one of several announced at the quarterly meeting of the National Migrant Committee held last week in New York. The Committee is the policy-making body for the nationwide activities on behalf of migrants directed by the National Council of Churches' Division of Home Missions and administered in cooperation with local councils of churches and church women or other church groups.

• • •

Another pilot project reported, this one in parent education, will see an educator-research expert move north with an entire crew of migrant families. Having started with them in Florida last winter, the social worker is accompanying them up the Atlantic coast to their summer destination in New York State, conducting educational programs for both parents and children to encourage the value of school attendance.

Principal Denominations Join in Labor Mediation

Nearly all principal denominations now have social-relations agencies which give special attention to labor questions. Several churches have set up branches exclusively to train ministers as labor experts.

* * *

Around the country, many ministers have become recognized professionals in the art of easing frictions and working out settlements in labor difficulties. Some of them include:

Father Dennis J. Comey, husky, bespectacled Philadelphia priest and labor arbitrator, shipping firms and longshoremen have given him full authority to move into disputes, with no appeal from his decisions.

The Rev. Emerson W. Smith, a dynamic Methodist labor expert of Newbury, Mass., who, besides directing training for other ministers, has aided in many New England labor negotiations—sometimes as an arbitrator.

100 CATHOLIC UNITS

More than 100 Roman Catholic labor schools now are operating, many of them started since World War II. Here are a few examples of similar church programs that have grown up during the period:

The Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. has established industrial relations institutues, in Pittsburgh and Chicago.

* * *

Three years ago, the Methodist Theological Seminary of Boston University set up a similar summer program. To get seminarians and ministers acquainted with labor - management problems.

The American Lutheran Church last year set up a church-industrial relations department, headed by the Rev. Theodore J. Pretzlaff, to conduct seminars for ministers and labor leaders across the country.

Similar conferences are organized by the Rev. Harold C. Letts, of the United Lutheran Church's social-action department.

COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

For the last eight years, the American Baptist social-progress council, headed by the Rev. Donald B. Cloward, had conducted "student - in - industry" projects, whereby prospective ministers take jobs to learn industrial relations first hand.

The National Council of Churches, for the last six years, has held church-labor sessions in conjunction with national AFL-CIO conventions.

Usually present at labor conventions are church specialists such as Msgr. George Higgins, of the National Catholic Welfare Conference's social-action department; Rabbi Eugene Lipman, of the social-action commission of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, and the Rev. Mr. Hall.

* * *

All three major faiths are represented in the National Religion and Labor Foundation, which conducts regular sessions in many cities. Its executive board also includes ranking labor figures such as Walter Reuther, of the Auto Workers; James B. Carey, of the Electrical Workers, and A. Philip Randolph, of the Sleeping Car Porters.

The Synod of Michigan, including ministers and elders from nearly 200 Presbyterian churches, will convene at Alma College from June 11-13. Dr. William H. Marbach, the Rev. Edward D. Auchard and The Rev. Galen E. Hershey will attend the various sessions.

General Synod Approves Racial Integration

HOLLAND, Mich. (AP)—A resolution calling for racial integration has been approved by the general synod of the reformed church in America.

Church leaders attending the 150th general meeting yesterday said the resolution was a denouncement of segregation not only of negroes in the south but also of discrimination against minority groups throughout the nation.

The 250 delegates were told that the reformed church now has integrated congregations in a number of Metropolitan centers, including one church which has a negro pastor serving a white congregation.

The reformed church, which claims to be the oldest protestant communion in the nation, has recently established a congregation in Florida—the first in south.

President Urges Spiritual View

Inspirational Message for National Conference of Christians and Jews

NEW YORK (INS) — President Eisenhower said this week that "American race relations and intercultural good-will can be dealt with most effectively on the moral and spiritual plane."

* * *

The president, in a message to the National Conference of Christians and Jews, called for "courageous action by the leaders of the three great religious traditions of our country." He called such action "basic to all other steps that must be taken."

Eisenhower's message was addressed to Dr. John Sutherland Bonnell, minister of the Fifth Ave. Presbyterian Church, New York; Dr. Maurice N. Eisendrath, president of American Hebrew Congregations and the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, of the University of Notre Dame.

The three clergymen are the national co-chairmen of the conference's commission on religious organizations.

The President also said:

"A free people, in voluntary associations can unite their talents for the solutions of all problems. Self-reliant minds recognizing moral responsibilities that conscience dictates, will reach righteous solutions. But the struggle must be led by those with strong moral motivation and spiritual resources. The message to the American people is a ringing call for action by those best fitted to act."

Methodist Church Unit Stresses Driving Habits

Led by the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, a number of churches and church agencies are now reminding their congregations and their young people of the necessity of "good driving habits" as a Christian virtue.

"Careful driving conserves human life, and it again places emphasis on the value of the individual — both important from the viewpoint of Christian teaching," notes one leader.

The Methodist Board is placing a series of lessons on the courtesies and safety of driving in some of its church school publications, emphasizing the Christian values involved.

Mennonites Aid Twister Victims

Travel From 3 States to Help Rebuild Homes in Stricken Flint Area

FLINT (AP)—Putting into practice their devotion to the ideal of brotherhood, members of the Mennonite Church are hard at work helping rebuild tornado-torn areas here.

The bearded men, most of them farmers, have come from Mennonite settlements in Pennsylvania and Indiana as well as Michigan.

Already they have spent 1,500 working hours on homes damaged or destroyed by the May 1? twister. Other Mennonite crews are just finishing up in Grand Rapids areas hit by a tornado April 3.

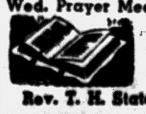

The Rev. Jesse Yoder, pastor of the Mennonite Church here, explained that members of the sect do not rely on insurance policies to protect against misfortune. Instead, he said, they pitch in to help neighbors who are in trouble.

Mennonite headquarters in Elkhart, Ind., arrange for he working crews to move into stricken areas. A group of 32 men from Mifflin County, Pa., have been working in Burton Township this week. Others have come from Ithaca, Midland, Petoskey, Turner and Au Gres.

Greek Orthodox Choir, Congregation Will Aid Lincoln Park Church

The choir, altar boys and congregation of the St. George Greek Orthodox Church will particpate in the procession and High Mass performed by all Greek Christian Orthodox churches of Detroit and suburbs at 10 a.m. Sunday in the Olympic Stadium.

* * *

The purpose of the Mass is an expression of a very ancient Greek tradition in case of danger or a destruction. The present case is the destroyed church of St. George of Lincoln Park which was ruined by the last tornado May 12.

The speaker at the Mass will be Bishop Polyeftos Tropaioce of Pittsburgh.

The Crisis Club of Detroit and the Federation of Wayne Hellenic Societies are co-sponsors of a campaign beginning Monday to help the Rev. Father John Magoulias, pastor of St. George, rebuild his church.

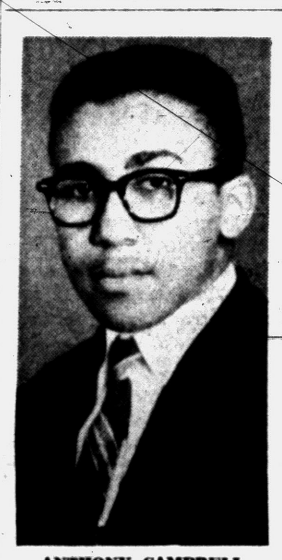

* * *

The campaign is be supported by the Board of Commerce, Central District Ass'n, Council of Churches, Pilot Club, Greek Orthodox Associatiom, Builders Trade Council, Wayne County CIO, Teamsters, and several other veteran and civic organizations.

Group Fighting Betting at Races in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (INS) — The Little Rock conference of the Methodist Church has thrown its weight behind a movement started some months ago by the Baptist church to outlaw pari-mutual betting in Arkansas.

* * *

Adopting a report of the board on social and economic relations, which condemned gambling everywhere in the United States, the conference yesterday backed the movement to obtain a state constitutional amendment which would make betting illegal.

* * *

Although the conference took no positive stand on segregation, it issued a statement which said:

"It is important for our people to follow a course of Christian good will during this period of growth and adjustment."

Nippon Methodist Church Marks 80th Anniversary

One of the most fruitful of all the Christian churches in Japan is celebrating its eighteenth anniversary.

The Methodist Church of Hirosaki was organized in 1875 by Dr. John Ing, a Japanese minister, and with the support of missionaries. There were but fourteen charter members.

Eleven years later, the Hirosaki Church started a school for girls. The minister taught Bible, and his wife taught sewing—both in the parsonage. This school has now developed from the original five students to the noted Hirosaki Gakuin with an enrollment of 1,400 young women.

In the City of Hirosaki, an old feudal school caught the attention of missionaries and Japanese Christians, and it also soon began to train leaders for the Christian church in Japan.

Later it was brought into the group of schools sponsored by the Methodist Board of Missions and the Japan Methodist Church. This school for boys, To-O-Gijuku, now has an enrollment of 1,200 students in junior and senior high school departments.

In the eighty years of service in Hirosaki, this old church, and the two schools so closely related to it, have given almost 200 full-time workers to the cause of Christ in Japan.

The list of graduates includes the first bishop of the Japan Methodist church and one other Methodist bishop before the United Church of Christ was formed. Several graduates of To-O-Gijuku and three young women from Hirosaki Gakuin will soon be graduating from the Union Theological Seminary in Tokyo.

Religious Group Sets Dates for Conference

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Council of Churches today announced a meeting at Lake Geneva, Wis., June 11-15 to acquaint church leaders with techniques of promoting the United Church Canvass.

* * *

The council, national sponsor of the fund-raising program, said some 60 stewardship leaders of 14 major U. S. and Canadian denominations, and of 11 state and local church councils, will convene at Lake Geneva.

The workshop participants will be divided in groups assigned to study the financial programs of churches of all sizes and covering the main U. S. denominational bodies.

Historical Exhibition Shown in Frankfurt

The Frankfurt Museum of History in Frankfurt, Germany, is preparing an exhibition "Christ and the World—from the Reformation to Rationalism," for the Evangelical Church Congress to be held in the city from August 7-12, the German Tourist Information Office reports. The exhibition, which will be the first one in the museum's new halls, is expected to be a great attraction for the 50,000 persons expected at the Congress

The building that is now Mt. Calvary Lutheran Church, St. Louis, Mo. formerly housed a famous night club.

Church Groups to Fight Bingo

Michigan Clerical Units to Enlist Organizations to Bar Legalization

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan council of churches plans to enlist denominational and business groups, labor unions and veterans organizations in an anti-bingo campaign.

The council said it will riase $40,000 to fight attempts to legalize bingo. The anti-bingo group will be known as "Michigan Citizens Opposed to Legalized Gambling.

The Michigan Assn. of Non-Profit Charitable Organizations, Inc., is circulating petitions to get the bingo on the November ballot. The pro-bingo group must obtain at least 286,000 signatures by July 6 to let voters decide on the question.

An amendment to legalize bingo was turned down in 1954 by a margin of 41,000 votes.

The church council said it would assess member churches the $40,000 to fight the attempt to legalize bingo.

The special assessment would run $7,400 for the Methodists, $6,000 for the Presbyterians, $4,500 for the Lutheran and Reformed churches, $2,400 each for the Congregationalists, Baptists and Episcopalians and $3,900 from miscellaneous denominations.

Protestant Groups Begin Cleric Study

The nation's major Protestant churches and theological seminaries will undertake a major three-year research study with a view to improving their methods of selection and training of tomorrow's ministers.

* * *

The study will be conducted by Educational Testing Service under direction of a 25-member Advisory Committee composed of representatives of participating schools, church officials and technical experts. Funds for the project have been given by Lilly Endowment, Inc., Indianapolis, Ind.

* * *

Officials of the two organizations said the study is expected to develop a composite picture of the personality qualities U.S. congregations seek in a minister. This will be based upon interviews with clergy, denominational executives and church members and upon the evaluation of data on performances by theological students and ministers working in a variety of parish situations.

Buddhist Show Open at German Exhibit

An exhibition, "2500 Years of Buddha and Buddhism" has just opened at the Asia Institute in to the German Tourist Information Office, and will remain open until October, with daily visiting hours from 10 to 6.

* * *

The show consists of extensive material assembled by the publisher and collector Walter Exner, formerly of Vienna but now living in Frankenau, whose East Asia collections are among the most extensive in Europe belonging to a private person.

* * *

Since Exner's arrival in Frankenau, the little town has become the center of East Asia research in Germany, and a Hall of Culture has been built with the aid of the Hesse State Government so the collections can be made accessible to the public.

Unions Refuse Church Waiver

AFL-CIO Says Blanket Membership Exemption Not Possible

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL-CIO has refused to extend any blanket waiver from union membership to members of religious sects with scruples against belonging to labor unions.

* * *

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said however that any AFL-CIO union could waive membership and dues payment for such people of they saw fit.

A bearded group of the old German Baptist Brethren, a small sect centered in Ohio and Pennsylvania, visited Meany here a few weeks ago to ask exemption of their members from union shop requirement that they join a union in order to keep their jobs.

They said they had fled here from Germany years ago to preserve their religious freedom but now were faced with joining unions against their beliefs. They offered instead to contribute to charity an amount of money equal to union dues.

* * *

Meany said many unions have made exceptions for such people. But he said no blanket order to waive union membership could be made because a large non-union group in some plant might prevent a union from exercising its bargaining or other functions.

A SUNNY ROOM — The bay window on the south side of the Rosso living room lets in floods of sunlight, making this a pleasant place to eat. In the rear the TV room can be seen through the doorway. A dish cupboard is built into the corner at the left. The door to the TV room is half louvered.

TYPICAL CAPE COD — The attractive red brick home of Mr. and Mrs. John Rosso is located on South Bates street in Birmingham. The dark green shutters and white trim are typical of the early New England homes. Pink geraniums on the front stoop and in the flower beds add to the quaint flavor. The house fits nicely on the fifty-foot lot.

Your Neighbor's House

Young Couple Begins Wedded Life in Cape Cod House

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Red brick, dark green shutters, white trim—it's a typical Cape Cod house. Tucked in between its neighbors on South Bates street in Birmingham, it's a shining new home for Mr. and Mrs. John Rosso.

John and Carol Rosso have known each other since grade school days. Their families have been friends for years. But their engagement and wedding last year was a quick affair.

John's father is in the lumber business. John is in it too. When he began building a little Cape Cod house last fall, he offered no explanations about possible plans he might have for it.

Carol had always adored this style of house. She knew about the one John was building, of course. But she was determined not to ask questions about it.

Then suddenly they were engaged, and the house became THEIR house to finish as they pleased for their first home. The plumbing and plastering were complete.

Carol chose the color schemes. Together, they decided to enclose the back porch and make it their TV room.

Imagine moving into a house on Christmas Eve! John and Carol got back from their Mexican honeymoon just in time to hang their stockings on their brand new fireplace. They were married December 10.

By now the little house is just about complete. Carol keeps it in shining order. Her pride in her first home is evident. Just before these pictures were taken she had planted all the pink geraniums in the front yard.

Inside the front door there's a minute tiled hall. It has a small coat closet. There are steep stairs going up to the second floor where there is room for three more bedrooms and another bath.

At the right and extending the length of the house is the twenty-eight foot living room. It has a bay window on the south wall at the far end.

This far end is the dining room. It is furnished with a Willett cherry drop leaf table and chairs. The chairs are upholstered in tweed fabric. The built-in corner cupboard is used to display wedding present china and silver.

On the same wall as the bay window there is a fireplace. It's white, in a simple classic design, with the opening framed in red bricks. The furnishings are brass.

One of the Rossos' prized possessions is the walnut mantel clock. On a recent visit to St. Louis they discovered it in a second hand store.

The walls are painted seafoam green and are matched exactly by the Fortisan draperies. All the windows are small-paned. Woodwork is white throughout the house. The ceilings are white.

The wood carpeting is sandalwood color. This is also the color of the sofa. A large lounge chair is upholstered in a brownish tweed mixture.

On the other side of the fireplace is a wing chair. This has cotton upholstery, featuring brown, persimmon, gold and beige on a cream background.

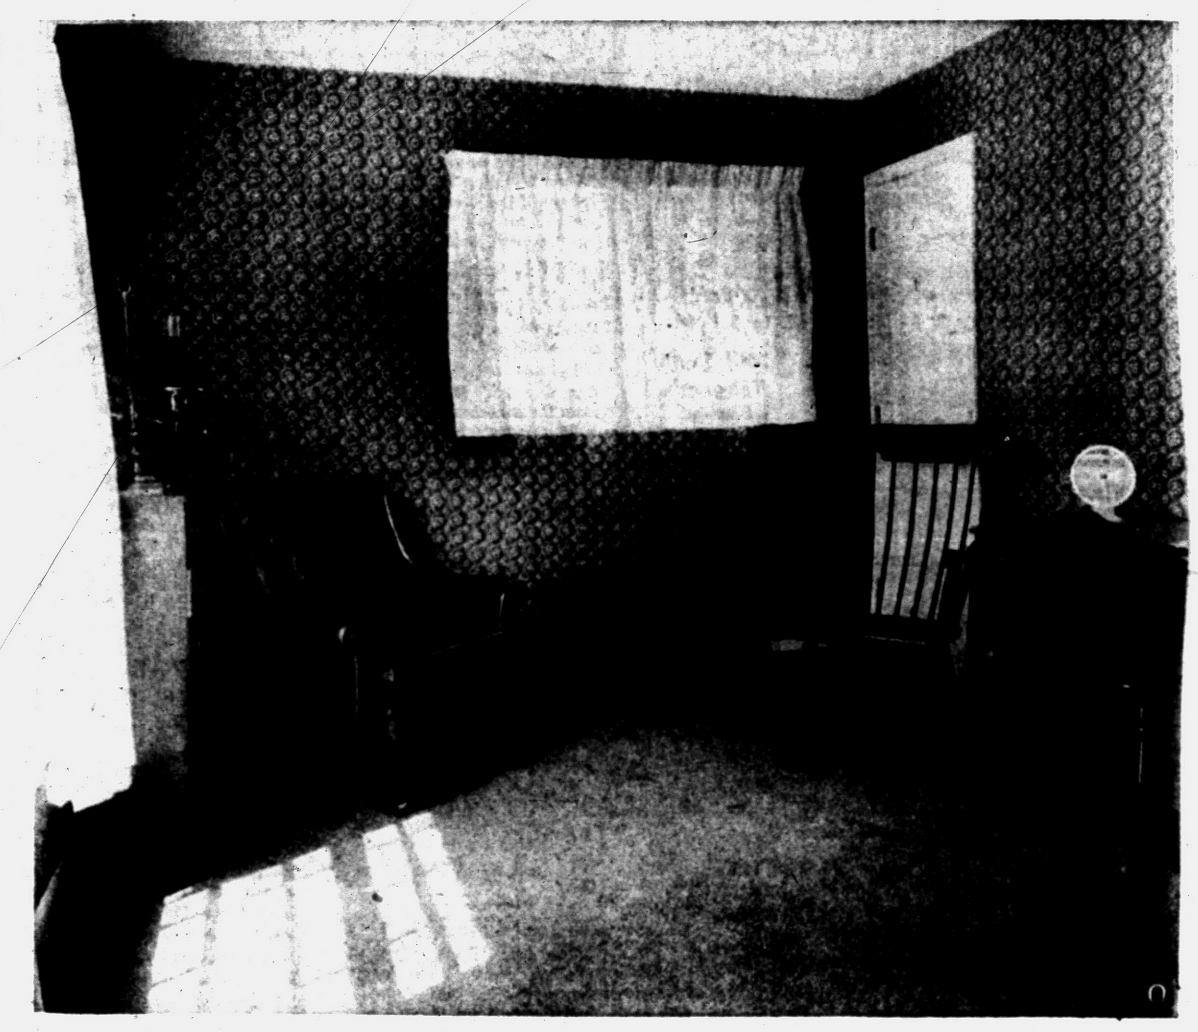

The cherry occasional tables are made by Colonial. Surprisingly enough, an antique walnut chest from Mrs. Rosso's family is almost the same shade. There is an interesting tilt-top table just inside the door.

Possibly the most popular room in the house, the TV or "paneled room" was an afterthought in the house plans. It has large windows overlooking the back yard. These are curtained in a brown and turquoise print cotton.

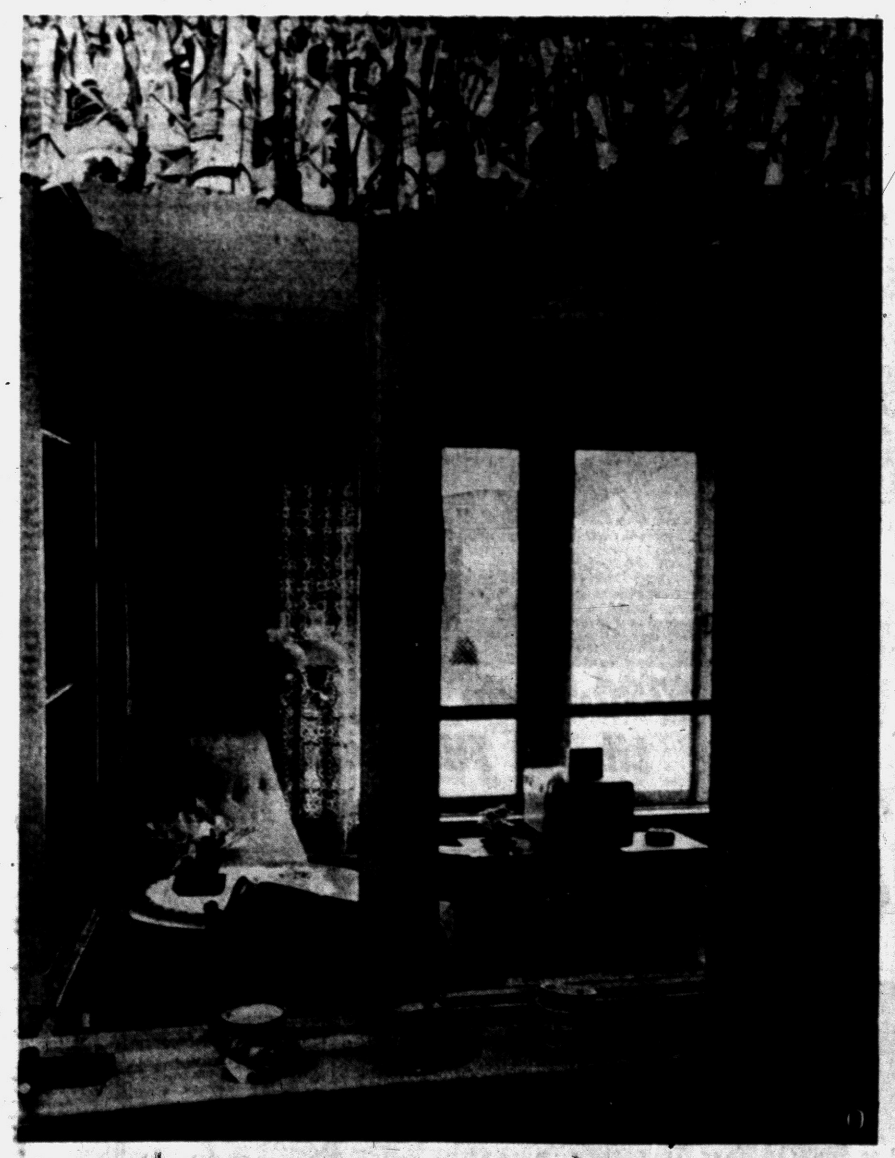

The walls are Idaho pine, the ceiling acoustical tile. The oak floor is laid parquet style. It's covered with a braided rug in shades of brown.

A PLACE TO WORK — To the left of the front hall the Rossos have furnished a room as a den. Green and white paper in a conventional design and white curtains make a pleasing background for the maple furniture. For the man of the house there is a big leather lounge chair. A Boston rocker is in keeping with the colonial type furniture. The rug is a mixed blend of brown and green.

KITCHEN VIEW — Mrs. Rosso can watch television while she does the dishes. The TV room was an afterthought in the house plans, when the Rossos decided to enclose a back porch. The walls are paneled in Idaho pine, the floor is oak. Furniture is maple. The print draperies are turquoise and brown. The lamp at the left is a reproduction of an antique gas light.

Plan Future Basement Area When Building

To get the greatest possible use from your basement, it is wise to plan its future uses carefully when you are building, suggests the Better Basement Insitute.

* * *

Pointing out that a full basement often costs less than a small storage space built above ground, the Institute says that modern basements are used for recreation rooms, TV rooms, and even bedrooms, as well as for storage, laundry and workshop.

Even if you do not plan to make full use of basement space immediately, the Institute suggests that you include wide windows for adequate light, and a direct outside entrance to make the basement more accessible.

* * * *

Planning your future basement expansion when you build will enable you to place plumbing lines, heating ducts and electrical wiring between the basement ceiling joists so that they will be hidden when basement rooms are finished.

Wood is civilized man's oldest material for building, furniture and many other products.

holstered in sandalwood for Carol. John has an armchair covered in deep turquoise. There is a matching turquoise sofa.

Built-in book shelves and cupboards offer room for storage. There are a couple of conveniently placed tables. Carol's knitting is kept in a maple sugar bucket.

In a kitchen only 8x10 feet the cook can't walk too far. The Rosso kitchen is small but pleasant. Mrs. Rosso likes to cook.

The kitchen window looks into the TV room. Eventually this window will be replaced with a louvered one. The back door gives plenty of light to the little room.

Walls are pale yellow. The Micarta counter tops and splash boards are bright red. Appliances are all white. The birch cupboards have been finished in a grayed tone.

The long, narrow bathroom is done in gray and pink. There are two shades of gray in the ceramic tile floor. Above the gray wall tile the painted walls are pink.

The shower is glassed in. A linen closet is built right into the wall. At the window there are striking silver, pink and gray striped curtains.

Both the den and the Rossos' bedroom are furnished in maple. In the bedroom turquoise, brown and beige are used again, as in the TV room. Carol made draperies for both bedroom and den.

Two closets in the bedroom mean no crowding. A honeymoon souvenir is the triangular leather stool in one corner.

The den has a rug that is a mixture of brown and green. The walls are papered in a green with a conventional design. Curtains are white.

A large leather armchair gives a masculine touch to the room. For contrast there is a more feminine Boston rocker. Shelves and storage units are to be built soon to store John's professional belongings.

John Rosso planned and built his own home. He had his father's advice, of course. The building was completed in about four months.

The house is built on a fifty foot city lot. It looks smaller from the outside than it really is. A full dormer across the back provides the necessary head room for future expansion.

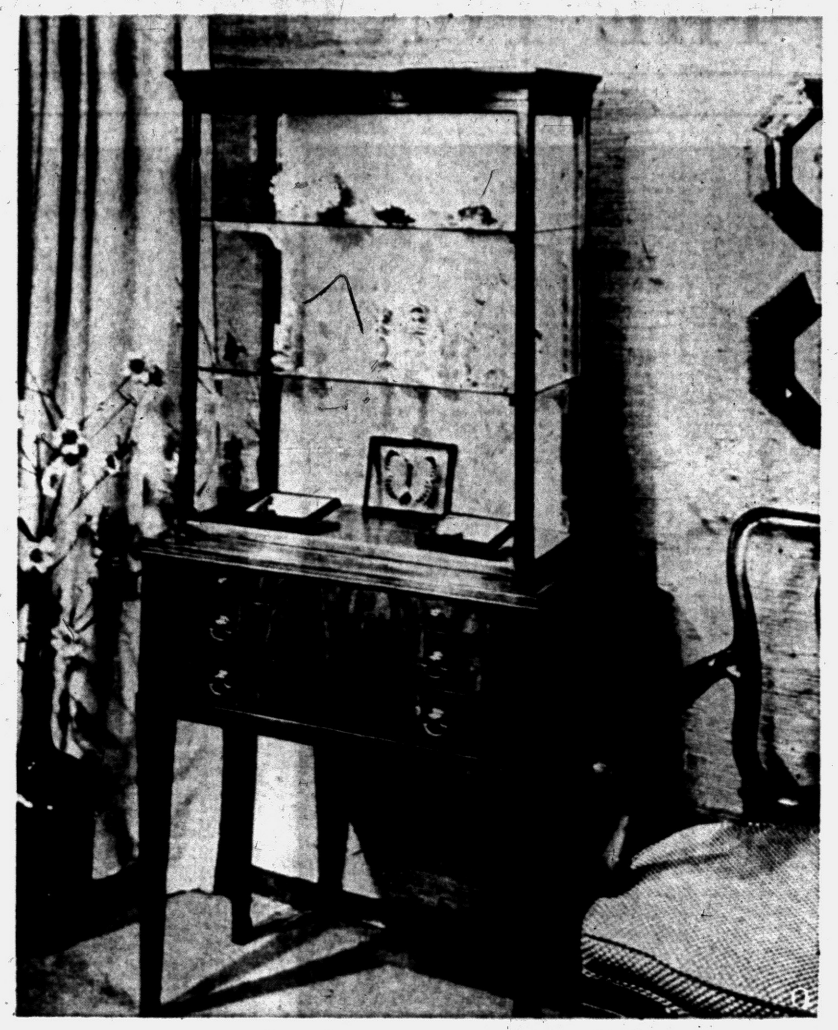

It's a home to live in, to dream in and to grow in. Just the right kind for honeymooners.

Big Closet a Problem?

Homemakers who revel in big closets sometimes thereby make a mistake. For most purposes the ideal closet should be not more than 24 inches deep, thus ensuring easy access to everything. In deeper closets, objects seem to have an uncanny talent for working their way further and further toward the rear wall, so that in no time at all, for example, the vacuum cleaner has become virtually inaccessible behind three overcoats, galoshes and last year's tennis racket.

Lacquer Fights Dust

Any fine furniture that needs refinishing should be lacquered, enameled or varnished indoors so that dust will not settle on it before the finish has begun to dry. If furniture needs sanding for smoothness, do it before applying finish.

TO SHOW YOUR COLLECTION—A showplace for show pieces is the Italian Directore curio cabinet from the William A. Berkey division of John Widdicomb. The glass case set on a delicate wood cabinet stands high off the floor and is designed to display collector's items such as antique ivory chessmen or mounted butterflies. Glass shelves are adjustable and have interior lighting with fingertip switch at the back of the case and doors open at the sides for easy access. The 3-drawer cabinet has a felt-lined shallow top drawer to protect rare coins or to pin art treasures. Two deeper drawers will hold stamp collections and photograph albums. Antiqued brass is used for drawer pulls, knobs and door handles.

Veneer Plywoods Appear in Living and Play Rooms

Hardwood walls have become popular in today's home decoration. In past years, it was more frequently the owner of the mansion, club or public building who could afford the cost of fine hardwoods and the cabinet-maker's bill for putting it up. With the advent of the veneer plywoods, the fine surfaces are within reach of the owner of the cottage, who can and is installing it in living room, den and playroom.

* * *

Veneers are now available in fir, gum, many mahoganies, walnut, birch and maple to name only a few. Both material costs and installation costs are greatly reduced and in some cases the final cost of a plywood wall is only a little higher than the same wall done in plaster.

An important phase of paneling a room is the finishing of the wood veneer. In combination with variety of grains and tones available you can obtain a variety of finishes, using varnishes, shellacs, oils or waxes, to name the most common. Plywood sales for home decoration are now counted in billions of square feet, despite the fact that the transparent wood finishes require more work than is involved in painting a wall.

Currently, the most popular coatings for grain-showing woods are the "natural" shades, obtained, in most cases, with white or bleached shellac or a pale varnish.

THE FIRST STEP

The first step is to sandpaper the wood, following the standard sanding rules; i. e., proceed from coarse to fine paper, sand with the grain and remove all wood dust before getting to your liquids. The next step is application of a filler. A variety of types are available in paste or liquid form. A filler literally "fills" pores of open-grained wood. Some of the paste fillers add a faint darkening tone. They prepare the surface for the next coat. This is generally a varnish or shellac.

In either case, it must go on smoothly and be kept free of runs, dust and lint. Those who want the fine "English library" effect will now do another thorough sanding with finest sandpaper, working with the grain. Less sanding is permissible. Again, remove all trace of sanding dust between coats. The number of coats may vary between two and five, depending on your degree of perfectionism.

Instruction books generally give you the minimum drying time between coats depending on the temperature and ventilation and the dryness of the air, and the safe rule is to allow a generous margin over the minimum drying time. But even the minimum number of coats and sandings will give you a handsome wall.

An adequate supply of water under pressure is the best protection a farm or suburban home has against fire. The plumbing system must be so designed that it will function efficiently in the case of an emergency.

Include a Lapboard

When planning ceramic tile surfaced counters in your kitchen work space, don't neglect to provide for a pull-out lapboard at which long and tedious tasks can be performed. The burden of such chores as peeling fruits or vegetables and making sandwiches for children's lunches can be minimized by using a lapboard. Such an arrangement permits the homemaker to sit comfortably with a firm back rest and feet flat on the floor.

Cotton Bedroom Rugs

Look to jewel-toned cotton carpeting either with nubby loops or a thick clipped surface to bring new life to your rooms. Cotton is ideal for bedrooms; it's so delightful to step on in bare feet; the wonderful colors create that atmosphere of cozy comfort that every bedroom needs.

The first president of the United States was John Hanson under the Articles of Confederation, not George Washington, says the National Geographic Society.

House Buyers Getting Younger

Home buyers are getting younger all the time.

Time was when financial responsibility and readiness to undertake the major obligations of home ownership were considered attributes only of the "mature" family man. Now, according to Jane Tiffany Wagner, home service editor of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, all that is changed.

Miss Wagner's studies show that more than 70 per cent of all new homes are bought by people between the ages of 27 and 35. In past years, average home buyers were at least 10 years older.

Many factors have contributed to this change. Most important, says Miss Wagner, is the fact that a home of their own is the only solution of the space problem for young couples with small children. When they discover that the present-day cost of equivalent space in an apartment often is the same or more than the payments and upkeep on a house, they become prospective buyers.

"In addition to having more room to breathe in, the young housewife looks forward to the convenience of labor-saving equipment as soon as she has the place to install it and is able to budget the time payments," she points out. "For example, after carting several dozens of diapers a week, as well as the family laundry, to the nearest coin-operated laundromat, the joy of owning her own washer and gas dryer is mighty keen."

Attention, Yachtsmen!

The sponge products division of the B. F. Goodrich Co. in Shelton, Conn., is making floats out of a permanently buoyant cellular plastic material for yachtsmen to use in a variety of ways. The floats resemble those used on fishing nets and range in size from three by three inches to six by four inches to fit a half inch rope.

Link three or more together and you have a boat fender or bumper. A similar number with a flag on top and you have a buoy or mooring marker. Or you can string them at intervals to make a lifeline at the beach or to make life-rings or rafts.

SAFE FUEL FOR BARBECUES — This odorless lantern fuel is also effective as a charcoal igniter, and is safe for family use in backyard barbecues.

Lantern Fuel Aids Barbecue

Charcoal Brickettes Flare Up Immediately After Application

When building a fire in the backyard barbecue pit, a charcoal igniter saves a lot of preparation time. Persons should be careful, however, to use the proper type of fuel.

• • •

R. E. Dietz Company of Syracuse has introduced a new odorless fuel which doubles as a lantern fuel and charcoal igniter. It helps give a fast burning start to all the charcoal in the pit, but does not flare up or explode as some other fuels will do. It is especially suitable for use in the family backyard.

• • •

One safe method of starting a charcoal fire so that barbecuing can get underway in less than 10 minutes is this:

Spread out charcoal briquets in a single layer so that every briquet is touching another. Sprinkle the charcoal igniter on the briquets, and drop a lighted match on the wet briquets. Fire will quickly spread over all the briquets, and cooking can be started in 5 or 10 minutes.

Another method of lighting charcoal briquets is to put them in a pile. Pour charcoal igniter on the pile and drop a lighted match. Soon the fire will be hardly detectable, but white spots will begin to appear on briquets. This shows they are igniting. When about one-half the briquets show white spots, spread them out in a single layer with a rake. The briquets which haven't started to ignite, will do so by contacts with the ones that have. This method takes about 30 minutes to produce enough heat for barbecuing.

• • •

When plain charcoal is used, pour a charcoal lighter on top and drop a match on the wet charcoal. After flame has died down, many of the pieces of charcoal will show white spots. The charcoal can then be spread out to cover a wider area in the barbecue pit, and all pieces of charcoal will become ignited.

Use Felt on Screen

When painting a window screen to freshen it for the window's open season, use a piece of felt or other material attached to a flat block of wood or a piece of metal, rather than a brush. A dry brush or piece of clean felt used after painting will remove any clogged paint

Cellar Is the Best Place for That Old Gas Stove

What happens to the old gas range when the home improver provides a shiny new one for the kitchen? The Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association recommends a cellar spot for the old one.

It will be ready for coffee breaks for the improver himself when he's at workbench tasks, or for his wife when she's at the laundry or other cellar chores. The extra cooking capacity fits in when the guest list outruns even the spacious modern gas range.

Fill several galvanized steel pails with sand and scatter them about the yard as ash trays for those informal yard parties. Guests will douse their cigarettes and cigars in the pails instead of littering the lawn with them.

Even Mattresses Need Replacing After Long Use

A mattress seldom is considered a family heirloom—nor should it be! However, in certain large Italian colonies of New York, mattresses of goat hair and sheep's wool from the old country are treasured and given to children as a dowry. They are handed down from generation to generation with occasional repairs and careful additions of delicate fluffings.

Although sentiment for the dower mattresses and pillows is strong, successful immigrants who have the opportunity to try American-made bedding usually are quick to ship them back to the towns or hamlets of their birth, for they find modern mattresses and bedsprings more comfortable and more conducive to restful slumber.

Many Americans, however, do not take full advantage of their heritage in scientifically-designed sleep equipment. They spend restless nights tossing and turning simply because they neglect to replace their bedding when it becomes old and worn. They forget that even the best will not last forever. No one, of course, can really relax on a mattress with lumps, bumps, and worn spots or a sagging bedspring.

The answer to the listlessness, irritability, and poor health that go hand in hand with insomnia often lies in better bedding. Refinements in American bedding, which make it even more comfortable than before, may be seen at local stores during Better Bedding Time, the month of May.

Don't Make Fire Hazard

When doing a paint job the homeowner should never get careless and increase the fire hazard. Be sure all brushes are cleaned thoroughly. Dispose of newspaper, rags or rubbish accumulated while painting. It does not take a match or a spark to ignite oily waste or cloths. If these materials are exposed to heat they may take fire from spontaneous combustion.

It is well to have a special place for painting equipment. Immediate care after use is wise.

It Looks Higher

Hardwood plywood literally raises the roof in new homes developed by a Texas company of housing engineers. Ceilings in hall entrances are only seven feet high so the ceilings are paneled in birch plywood polished to a mirrorlike finish. This provides an optical illusion of greater height rather than the closed-in feeling a solid color would impose.

Think of the Aged

When decorating plans must cater to the comfort and safety of old people, consider rubber tile floors. Rubber tile is slip resistant and should stay flat so there's nothing to stumble over.

NEW COLORED CABINETS — New Kelvinator cabinets combine flexibility, style and beauty to meet growing demands of modern homemakers. One of the industry's extensive steel cabinet lines, it features 12 colors plus white and a smooth styling without protruding hinges and handles. Nine sink cabinets are included in the line. Colors include two shades of pink, two yellows, two greens, two blues, a beige, tan, gray and turquoise.

Sturdy Subfloor Ends Damage to Hardwoods

A sound subfloor is highly important when a hardwood finish floor is planned. The subfloor should be softwood, surfaced on one or both sides. The boards should be 25-32-inch thick and not over 8 inches wide, laid diagonally with at least two tenpenny nails at each joist and at each board end.

* * *

Kiln dried lumber is preferred. Green or wet boards will shrink and open cracks in the finish hardwood floor.

Own a Writing Board?

A writing board that can be held in one's lap or on a chair arm is a handy article to have around the house. A suitable one can be made from a piece of plastic-finished hardboard. Its smooth, hard surface of baked plastic makes a good base for writing. The material is easily cut to desired size with regular crosscut saw.

Furniture Kit Assembly Hits Home Market

NEW YORK (INS) — They're putting out do-it-yourself furniture kits for even the not-so-handy man around the house these days.

* * *

The kits come ready to assemble —the furniture has been fully machined, sanded and in general made ready for the "all thumbs" type to put it together—in one night, the manufacturer says—with nothing more than a hammer and screw-driver.

The furniture is made of solid Apalachian Ash, with plywood drawer bottoms and case backs. There are eight pieces available —a bookcase headboard bed, a conventional bed, a single and double dresser, a chest, a night stand, a vanity desk, and a bookcase-room divider.

The finish used is pretty much up to you—is available for finishing kits, finishes in mocha, light walnut, blond, tan, blond mahogany, driftwood, natural or black.

* * *

The styling is contemporary and straight-lined, with tapered, angled legs. Brass ferrules fit the leg bottoms, and the room divider bookcase has brass piping to connect the shelves. Full-length draw pulls are machined into the wood.

FHA Lending Getting Easier

Country Areas Benefit From New Credit Plan, Lumberman Says

Home buyers and small builders in rural and outlying areas are finding it much easier to arrange FHA and VA mortgage Credit Program, according to R. A. Schaub, president of the National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

"The improvement has come about not only as a result of the 16,500 loans totaling $141,600,000 which have been arranged through VHMC since it started functioning in March, 1955, but also because the program has focused attention on the difficulty of financing homes in outlying areas and thus has prompted mortgage lenders to pay greater attention to the needs of those areas," Mr. Schaub said.

"In addition, by helping make it easier for veterans to obtain home loans through normal channels, VHMC has greatly reduced the need for direct mortgage loans by the Veterans Administration.

"The voluntary mortgage credit program was authorized by Congress in the Housing Act of 1954 as a means of facilitating the flow of funds to areas where financing has been difficult to obtain and is serving that purpose well. It is serving an essential purpose in bringing together eligible borrowers and willing lenders and should be continued as long as the need exists.

"Representatives of the retail lumber industry, which builds or helps to build more than half the nation's new homes, are serving on all of the 16 regional committees which have been set up to operate the program."

Indoor Plumbing Enhances Living at Summer Home

The many new types of compact and space-saving plumbing fixtures now available have greatly simplified the moderization of summer cottages by the installation of indoor plumbing.

Because space in the summer cottage is usually at a premium, the use of compact lavatories, recessed type bathtubs, and shower cabinets is often advisable.

Because every summer cottage usually has more than its quota of guests, the compartmentized bathroom which allows for the use of two or more fixtures simultaneously by different people is a popular arrangement.

The installation of a shower cabinet in addition to a shower over the tub is recommended. The cabinet need not necessarily be installed in the bathroom. An additional shower cabinet in a room near the beach entrance to the summer cottage will be appreciated by bathers. A shower cabinet in this location will save wear and tear on the house by keeping sand from being tracked through the rooms.

Operation Home Improvement for the summer cottage may be financed on the deferred payment plan. Plumbing contractors will take the responsibility for the complete installation, including septic tank and water system, as well as the plumbing fixtures, and arrange for financing.

Protect New Paint Job by Fighting Moisture

Before repainting the exterior of your house, make sure that every precaution is taken to prevent any future invasion of destructive moisture that might cause the paint to blister.

Roof leaks, clogged gutters and rainspouts, defective flashings, siding that's too near the ground, uncovered earth under the house, foundations that are not water-resistant, poorly joined lumber and similar conditions can permit a lot of destructive moisture to enter the house and cause expensive damage.

SIMPLIFIED LAUNDRY SORTING — A mobile laundry cart makes sorting of clothes as automatic as using a new home laundry appliance. The Sortarama folds up flat when not in use and weighs 2½ pounds, light enough for a child to lift. It eliminates stooping, bending, or crawling on the floor to sort clothes. Whites go in one bag—a white one; color in another, a blue one; and such unusual items as a teddy bear (top right photo) into a red bag marked "specials."

Laths of Metal Solve Cracking

Question: One of our rooms has plaster cracks in the corners where the walls meet the ceiling. In addition, there are cracks which run diagonally from the corners of the windows. A preparation for fixing cracks has been used, but the cracks showed up again. How can we fix these cracks properly for permanency.

Answer: Cracks are happening in your home at places where movement in your house is most likely to crack plaster. It is generally considered good construction to reinforce the plaster at these points with strips of metal lath fastened over board-type laths. If the metal lath reinforcing was omitted, it would be a difficult job repairing the cracks.

The Metal Lath Manufacturers Association suggests that the plaster be removed down to the lath on each side of the crack for a distance of 3 to 4 inches. After this, fasten a strip of metal lath cut to the width and length of the patch and fill with patching plaster.

• • •

If you cannot get corner lath for the crack at the intersection of the wall and ceiling, buy a sheet of diamond mesh metal lath from your building materials dealer and cut it into strips 5 to 6 inches wide. Bend these strips at right angles to fit the corner.

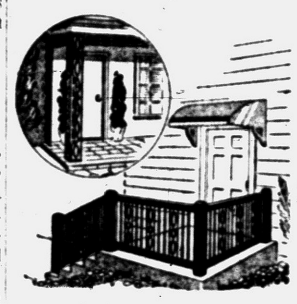

Kids Make Fruit Bowls of Phonograph Records

Old phonograph records can be made into attractive fruit bowls by the children, with a little supervision from you. Immerse the record in hot water for half a minute or so, until it becomes soft and flexible.

Remove record and lay it flat in a towel, quickly curving opposite sides of the record upward into the shape of a square. It will soon harden and retain its shape. Stripes, polka dots, flowers and curley-cues can be applied with rubber-base paint by the small fry.

Metal Lath Works

Two-inch-thick solid metal lath and plaster partitions are gaining considerable favor among home builders. This partition offers space-saving, fire resistance, sound proofing, stability and it is resistant to cracking.

GRILLE WORK — Usually when we think of grille-work it is the lacy designs in iron to be seen on houses of the last Century. The work shown in the sketch is not iron but was jig-sawed from pine. The repeats traced from a pattern are only 12-inches long and six wide. Note that two of these end to end are repeated in the balustrade and six on the column face. The valance repeats around the porch. The pattern used for this job shows the design on doors, windows, gates and fences. The pattern carries the design in actual size for tracing onto the wood, with detailed directions. Pattern number is 396 and copy will be mailed for 25 cents. It is included in the five patterns for $1. Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Bedford Hills, N. Y.

Carelessness Can Flush Money Down the Drain

When you have to pay a plumber or sewer cleaner to clear clogged drains from your house you realize how much money you could save by reasonable precautions in what you flush down the drain.

* * *

The most common trouble makers at the trap level in lavatories and bathtubs are bobby pins, hair pins, large masses of hair and threads.

A major problem in most homes is a toilet stoppage. This is commonly caused by bulky material such as paper towels, women's hose, diapers, or wet string mop strands. Repair men report, however, that they have found stoppages caused by oranges, apples, peaches, make-up jars, combs, brushes, and even such unlikely objects as bathrobes, sheets, false teeth and roller skates.

A family understanding of the workings of the home plumbing system can do much to keep down maintenance costs both within the house and under the lawn. The home maker relies on a constant supply of clean water and on its automatic disposal, taking for granted the ease with which wastes leave attractive kitchen and bathroom fixtures until trouble develops.

A home waste disposal system has three parts. One is known as the soil stack. This has branches from various plumbing fixtures and joins the house drain under the basement or other space beneath the house. From that point it empties into the house sewer outside of the building.

The vent stack and its branches rises through the roof. This facilitates proper flushing and also carries off sewer gases.

The house sewer underground connects the house drain to the city sewer or private septic tank or cesspool.

* * *

If your home's soil and waste lines are not cast iron, certain precautions should be taken. Indoors, avoid installing heavy built-ins over these pipes and provide an access panel for emergency repairs.

When hanging a heavy picture, aim for a stud in the wall, because nails can puncture non-cast iron pipe.

When any remodeling requires opening the walls, check the drain pipes for leaks or corrosion. If bubbles form after brushing a questionable pipe with a soap solution, gas or air is escaping. Immediate repairs will prevent future trouble.

* * *

It is prudent never to build a driveway or plant a tree over house sewers that are not cast iron. Vehicles frequently crush fragile sewer pipes and tree roots grow into them causing a stoppage.

Thinking of Building? This Article May Help

These are the things you should consider when you start thinking about buying a house: 1. Cost. 2. Size. 3. Equipment and materials. Excellent homes can be purchased for under $20,000; mortgage terms are again attractive. As for size, we're fast approaching the 1,500-square-foot mark. You should insist on at least two bathrooms; 150 square feet of kitchen at a minimum; three to four bedrooms; facilities for a family room.

* * *

Equipment should include built-in kitchen appliances and modern bathroom fixtures in color. Materials should be of proven worth such as durable, waterproof ceramic tile in bath and kitchen, copper plumbing, seasoned lumber.

CLEVER PLANNING — Clever planning by the architect packs a lot of comfort in economical space. This is the upper levels. The bedrooms are built off a gallery in the living room, with the dining dais on the same level. The kitchen is at the front of the house.

LOWER LEVEL — The lower level is all above ground. No basement is required for any reason. The bedrooms are over this lower level, thus insuring warm floors. The door to this level is a grade one. No stairs to climb with laundry.

LOW-COST GLAMOR — There's glamor in this low cost split-level house. Economically built, it contains eight rooms and a built-in garage. It covers 1125 square feet. It measures 34'2"x33'. A 50-foot lot is large enough to accommodate it.

Press House of the Week Features Cathedral Ceiling

It's news when you can build eight fully usable rooms, plus a bathroom, extra lavatory and a garage for about $13,000.

This is what the architect estimates it would cost to build Design HW-4 for The House of The Week in most localities — give or take a little depending on local conditions.

* * *

This house covers only 1,125 square feet, including its built-in garage. The reason you can pack so many rooms into this area is that this is a split-level house. It needs no basement for any reason. Bedrooms are over lower level rooms insuring against cold floors. There is plenty of storage space without a basement. The lower level provides a good place for a heating plant. And garage, recreation den and utility-laundry room are all on the grade — fully above ground.

What's more, there's glamor in this plan. A high, soaring ceiling, following the roof line and popularly called a cathedral ceiling, gives this living room dramatic height.

You enter the front vestibule at the living room level — just half a flight, a gracefully sloping walk up from the driveway. This slight grade raises the house to a certain amount of dignity. And incidentally, as soon as you step in, you find a coat closet right there for your wraps.

DINING DAIS

Half a flight above the living room is an open dining dais on the kitchen and bedroom level of the house. From this dais and the gallery hallway for the bedrooms, you look out over a smart wrought iron railing to view the living room and its front picture window. This gives the house a big, open and airy atmosphere.

In fact, this is a good size house. When you count the recreation den and utility-laundry on the lower level, you have about 1,400 square feet of total floor space in the house. This certainly is a bargain at the cost the architect estimates.

Economical, but sound construction is specified throughout. Lower level floors are 4 inches of concrete over waterproofing and 4 inches of gravel. Foundation walls and footings also are concrete, cemented and tarred outside. All upper walls and ceilings are insulated. Interiors including garage can be finished in dry wall or plaster, as desired. For dry walls ½-inch gypsum wall board is suggested for walls with ⅜-inch for ceilings. For plastering ⅜-inch gypsum lath is recommended throughout.

STORAGE ALCOVE

Many attractive features highlight this plan. The kitchen, with windows on two sides, is designed for an efficient U-shape arrangement of equipment and counters. The entire front end of the kitchen is available for dinette space lighted by a double front window.

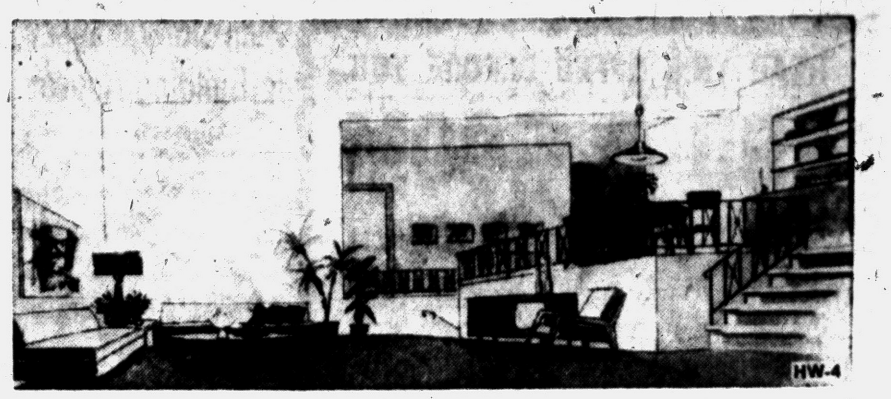

A big storage alcove is created at one side of the garage. This will keep lawn mowers and other tools, sleds and bicycles out of the way of your car.

Provision of an extra lavatory on this ground floor is a distinct convenience, not only for children running in from outdoor games, but also for guests enjoying entertainment in the recreation den.

* * *

This den measures more than 14 by 18 feet. It has a picture window facing a rear garden terrace. A glass paneled door also opens on this terrace. A glamorous version of the popular family room, this recreation center is adaptable to the young in heart of all ages.

Design HW-4 covers 1,125 square feet. The house measures 34 feet, 2 inches by 33 feet, making it suitable to a lot 50 feet or less in width, depending on local zoning requirements.

RAISED DINING DAIS—An iron railed dining dais overlooks the living room with cathedral ceiling. This open planning makes the rooms look bigger than they are. The bedrooms are on the same level, at the rear of this drawing.

Use Two Pails

Use two pails when wall-washing time arrives. Fill one with soapy wash water and the other with clear rinse water, to save steps for extra water. When washing walls, work from the bottom up. Water which trickles down over a soiled surface leaves streaks of concentrated dirt that are difficult to remove.

This Saves Space

Extreme compactness of new gas furnaces, and the fact that no provision need be made for fuel storage, make this equipment especially popular with those who live in tight quarters. Some models appear as nothing more than small, attractive cabinets; others can be put under floors, in walls, or even in the attic.

Property in Demand

The constantly growing rate of real estate turn-over has created a greater demand than ever before for expert real property appraisers, according to A. N. Lockwood, Newton, N. J., vice president of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers. The Institute is an affiliate of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

Plan Storage Space in Building House

Storage space is one of the most important features for any house, whether you are judging a new plan or remodeling an old house.

* * *

An indication of what is considered a minimum storage allowance for an average family is contained in FHA regulations for houses built without basements.

* * *

In addition to all coat closets and bedroom closets required in a house, there must be 150 cubic feet of extra storage space, plus 50 cubic feet more for each bedroom.

* * *

This places the minimum for a three-bedroom house, without basement, at 300 cubic feet of storage space in excess of regular closets.

Don't Rush Boat Painting!

This is the season when the small boat owner stops dreaming about days on the water and takes the action that will put him there. You can't be a boat owner for long without realizing that the fun depends on the condition of the boat when it enters the water.

* * *

This may be the year for repainting — some boat owners repaint every year — and as every boatman knows, this is one job that does not allow stinting in time or materials. A well conditioned boat will pay off in trouble-free sailing but a boat that needs paint is vulnerable to all sorts of damage.

It is best to plan your painting job as carefully as you would chart a course. Be sure you have the right marine paint by consulting your paint dealer. This is one field where it is dangerous to assume what paint will serve. The paint must have special resistance to abrasions, to water, to salt, to biological and botanical enemies. Having ascertained what paint you need, use equal care in assembling equipment. Have the proper paint brushes, sandpaper, scrub brushes, solvent, removers, paint cleaner, mixing buckets that are considered standard necessities.

Since stagnant air is harmful to most finishes, be sure that port holes and hatch are open for fresh air and ventilation. Surfaces will need cleaning after a winter in dry dock and in most cases hosing with fresh water will do the trick. All cracked, blistered, peeled or scaled surfaces must be thoroughly scraped or sanded before repainting.

HAVE DRY WOOD

Don't try to be the first one in the water each spring at the expense of the paint job. Best results are obtained when the temperature is mild — the best range is 45 to 60 degrees. There should be no moisture in the wood or on its surface. Heavy winds will carry dust and insects to mar fresh paint.

It is wise to paint surfaces often enough to prevent even a trace of deterioration of the wood. Boatmen know it is false economy to save by postponing the painting job. Because marine finishes were purposely developed for the special requirements of boats, you will be wise to choose one of the many brands available.

The interior of the cabin and the deck may be painted while still in dry dock or after the boat is launched. Personal taste is law here and frequently the "mate" will have her say in this department. Sanding and a good scrub down are needed here too. The cabin may be either painted or varnished, but it is always best to start overhead and work down. If interior space is small, the white or pale colors are best in order to get as much natural and reflected light as possible. Light colors also give a feeling of space.

Your paint dealer has a good supply of pamphlets by manufacturers who have done complete research on all requirements of the boat painting job. He will be happy to supply you with these brochures which even estimate the quantity of paint needed for every size category.

Summer Home; Winter Retreat

While you're enjoying the serenity and informality of your summer place, why not give some thought to fitting it to serve the family as an all-year retreat?

* * *

These days more and more people who are interested in a well-balanced, wholesome life are taking a break at intervals throughout the year instead of limiting holidays to the traditional summer vacation.

Hard-working husbands frequently find that in an urban environment their evenings and weekends are subject to pressure almost as relentless in their way as those that afflict the working day.

The answer, many find, is to beat a retreat to the family's summer place several times a year. There with lapping waves or wildlife sounds to replace the jangle of the telephone, the harassed man of affairs can gather strength and return renewed to the arena of commerce.

* * *

To give the homemaker (who comes in for her share of harassment too) some respite from the workday world, facilities should be planned to reduce kitchen chores to a minimum. For example, provide garbage disposal units and ceramic tile serving and work counters. Also stock plenty of frozen and canned foods and use disposable utensils for further labor saving.

* * *

Additional thought should be given to taking the strain out of traveling to and from your haven. Provide secure storage closets by using a fire-and-vermin-proof material like real tile for walls and floor. Keep everything but perishables and last-minute items there. That way most of the needed items will be on hand and you need carry only a small bag and light heart.

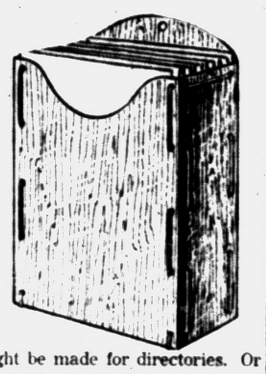

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For the Home

HANDY WALL RACKS

Attractive and handy wall racks for various household uses can be made easily from small pieces of paneling left over from a wall or ceiling installation.

* * *

Such a rack, made of a size to hold loose sheets of note paper, might be hung near the telephone. Or a rack for the telephone wall might be made for directories. Or one might prefer to design a rack to keep catalogs, magazines, mail or other articles easily accessible but out of the way.

Wood grain patterns in paneling are especially suitable for wall racks. Authentic reproductions of selected wood, they supply a distinctive touch in decoration and harmonize with a variety of backgrounds.

For a simple and interesting construction, the rack may be put together with leather or plastic lacing, threaded through holes in the pieces of paneling that form the rack. The predecorated paneling can be drilled with a hand drill. Holes should be started on the finished side.

Slim New Unit Cools and Heats, Uses Less Space

* * *

Just as obviously, it's not the bulky contraption that took up half of the cellar 20 years ago and that still exists in many older homes. As proof that times have changed, the photo shows a modern furnace that packs all of its heating capacity into 2¾ square feet of floor space.

In addition, it's a summer air conditioner. Made by Coleman, the furnace houses all cooling components that need be inside the house. The cutaway section shows a cooling coil.

The furnace is 14 inches wide and 28 inches deep. It's especially designed for installation in closets or alcoves, wherever space is at a premium.

* * *

As pictured here, the furnace is equipped with an evtra-tall sheet-metal bonnet. In use, the top of the bonnet would extend into the attic of a 1-story house. Ducts to carry heated or cooled air would run from the bonnet to rooms.

Plaster Adds Many Benefits to House: Fire-Soundproofing, Longevity, Others

There's news in plaster. You wouldn't expect it, because 10 years ago the dry wall substitutes for this prosaic building material were supposed to be putting plaster out of business. But in spite of the tocsin banging by inventors and builders who were going to save home buyes great sums by making walls out of everything from packed mud to masticated grocery boxes, plasterers just kept on trowelling.

* * *

Today you can get acoustical plaster that soaks up sound like a sponge absorbs water. You can get predecorated plaster to give your walls a permanent tint that won't wash off or wear off—eliminates painting. You can use quick drying plaster to shortcut the usual waiting period for final decoration. Or you can still rely on the tried and tested three-coat plaster job that has distinguished quality construction for generations.

Gypsum, the main ingredient of modern plaster, is now being minde and quarried at a rate of about 10 million tons per year. However, you'd wonder how enough could be left for plaster from the way this mineral is being used. Hollywood uses it to simulate snow. Farmers have been using it for fertilizer ever since Benjamin Franklin introduced it for that use in this country. It goes into the making of face powder, dental plates, poker chips, bathroom fixtures and polish for gravestones.

To meet this market, 10 new gypsum plants are scheduled to be established this year, although the stuff is as old as the Egyptians (before Nasser) and is only what we call plaster of Paris.

KEEPS INVESTMENT

Why do we keep on plastering walls? The Gypsum Assn. says it's because it helps to give lifetime protection to the value of your investment in a home. You can redecorate plaster over and over again—as long as you can keep up with a woman's amazing ideas. Other advantages of plaster obviously are its high fire resistance, its durability, economy and adaptability to any curving or arched architectural styles.

Yet, plaster isn't foolproof. Like everything else that goes into building a house, it gives the best results when both material and workmanship are right. For one thing you have to have a good base to hold the plaster.

Wood lath was a time-honored base. The plaster could bulge through spaces between the lath and lock itself on the wall. But as the lath and the framing lumber shrunk and warped, movement inevitably opened excessive cracks in the plaster. So metal lath and gypsum lath were invented. Metal lath, resembling coarse screening, provides a continuous locking base.

FIREPROOFS, TOO

Gypsum lath, both in solid panels and in perforated form to create locks through holes, has an affinity for plaster and adds a fireproof backing.

One of the latest developments in gypsum lath is a form with an aluminum foil backing. This gives you a bonus of reflective insulation when at least ¾-inch of air space is left open in the wall behind the foil. It also creates an automatic vapor barrier, which is highly important in modern homes.

For example, here we are in the midst of a new house painting season. If you notice peeling and blistering of paint, particularly on the north side of your house, don't think that it is necessarily caused by leaky outer walls. Chances are that the moisture pushing that paint off comes from inside the house. Normal washing, cooking and bathing in an average-size house adds as much as 2½ gallons of water to the air.

* * *

Being a gas, vapor is invisible until it condenses. Natural pressure pushes it through walls and ceilings. When it reaches a dew point it turns to water and when it freezes in the insulation, or sheathing or siding on a house, you have trouble.

This is why aluminum-backed gypsum lath for plaster can spare you from a lot of headaches, including mildew and rot within walls. You can save a lot of money in the long run by sealing inner walls so tightly that you'll notice fog on the window panes—a signal to ventilate—before you inadvertently spray 2½ gallons of water through your walls.

Skillet an Ornament

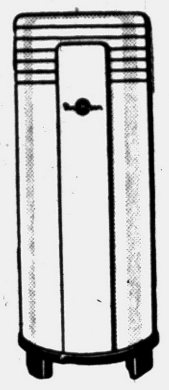

Many a gleaming gift pan or skillet lies hidden in the home. It's a simple matter to install fasteners which will give these shining beauties their rightful place on the wall. And, with the top burner temperature controls of a modern gas range, every utensil, regardless of its size or shape, becomes automatic as well as ornamental.

Natural gas is used in 22 million American homes and two million industrial plants.

The chirp of a cricket can sometimes be heard as much as a mile away.

Home Decorating Should Present Little Mystery

There is no mystery about decorating. Generally speaking, the three important points to keep in mind are these:

1. Use quality materials. For example, to settle for anything less than a really waterproof yet decorative material like ceremic tile in the bathroom is a mistake.
2. Keep the individual needs of your family in mind. Mrs. Jones may have a fine home but that doesn't mean it would be suitable for your family.
3. Once decorated, the area should be easy to maintain. Handsome but easily soiled furnishings are out of step with the times. You may go traditional or modern, but do so with materials that are easy to clean and durable. A flooring of quarry tile, for instance, is economical, life-lasting and requires virtually no upkeep.

For the independent minded housewife, there are ready sources of information on decorating and remodeling. They include your local library and newspapers, college home economic departments and government pamphlets.

Wood Has Served Man Since Time of Adam

Wood has served man since the beginning of time. A broken branch grabbed in desperation to beat off a vicious animal put weapons in the hands of primitive man, just as a lightning strike igniting wood put fire in his power.

* * *

Then, wooden branches and tree trunks formed a crude shelter, not to compare to the wondrous homes of Douglas fir and west coast hemlock being designed for modern man. But, the story is there, wood's use by man across the vast span of history, and wood is as modern as man, or as primitive as the Neanderthal creature.

Cooking, Washing, Etc. Add Moisture in Home

Hot running water, steam from cooking, and various modern appliances add moisture to home interiors. Any steps which can be taken to eliminate excessive humid air from home interiors will prevent moisture from entering walls and ceilings and casing damage that is costly to repair. Excessive moisture within a house can even cause the paint on the outside of the structure to blister and peel.

Exhaust fans in kitchen, bathroom and laundry will carry much of this moisture outside. Opening windows for short periods when steam is excessive will accomplish the same result.

Some homemakers have found that using one of the absorbent rug cleaning powders between professional cleaning has kept carpet colors bright and fresh.

RESTYLE SUMMER FURNITURE — Attaching the final strip of saran webbing on what was once a dilapidated piece of summer furniture. And she did the job herself in just a few hours of leisure time using handy saran rewebbing packs, some simple household tools and a step by step instrucitonal folder.

Rewebbing Packs Solve Repair of Outdoor Chairs

* * *

And with summertime just around the corner, it's time to move your summer furniture out of the attic or the garage.

* * *

If your collection of pieces is showing the wear and tear of carefree outdoor living, there's a new way to spruce it up and make it the envy of your neighborhood. Best of all, you can do it yourself with handy saran rewebbing packs. It's quick, easy, interesting and economical.

These handy saran packs are available at leading department, furniture, hardware and chain variety stores. They consist of lengths of saran webbing in a choice of attractive colors that will permit you to combine or contrast the colors to your own individual taste in color styling. These saran webbing strips are packaged in clear vinyl film so that the brilliant colors show through for easy selection. They are available in a choice of lengths also, depending on the particular piece of furniture and the number of colors you want to use.

Because these handy do-it-yourself packs feature saran webbing, your finished job will last indefinitely. That's because saran is so perfectly suited for summer furniture. Made from petroleum and salt water, saran is widely used in filament form by the nation's leading summer furniture manufacturers in the form of woven tape and broad fabrics for their products.

TOUGH MATERIAL

Saran is tough, durable, long wearing, colorful and highly resistant to stains. Spilled food and drink . . . even ink . . . can be quickly and easily removed with a minimum of effort using a simple solution of detergent and water with a cloth or brush. And no matter how often you scrub saran or how many times it's drenched with rain and hot sun, the colors stay fresh and bright. That's because saran fibers are solidly colored all the way through, not just surface dyed.

* * *

Still another important factor that makes saran ideal for summer furniture is its ability to resist moisture. It's practically non-absorbent. That's why saran is so easy to clean. Spilled food and drink, dirt and soil, are merely surface stains. They cannot penetrate the sturdy saran fibers so they can be easily wiped away. And because saran resists moisture it dries quickly even after a complete dousing from a garden hose or a sudden summer shower. And the weave of saran webbing is such the air circulates freely for complete comfort.

* * *

So if your summer furniture is in need of a refurbishing there's a new way to do a highly satisfactory job . . . and you can do it yourself for added economy. A free booklet giving step by step instructions is available upon request.

Vacuum Cleaner Tool Helps Kids Build Bus

Give the teenagers credit! Four of them in a Chicago suburb are rebuilding a 10-year-old school bus for a trip to Fairbanks, Alaska this summer, via the Alcan Highway. For the proper aesthetic note they have painted the outside blue and white and the inside "rust orange" using the sprayer tool of a vacuum cleaner borrowed from the house of one of the adventurers.

Vinyl Fabric Captures Niches

Synthetic Yarns Keep Popularity With Design Experts in Nation

In the upward swing of rich strong home decoration colors, vinyl fabric has found an important niche.

* *

Vinyl fabric made its appearance during World War II, then quickly strode forward to gain recognition as an indisputable leader in furniture and other home accessories.

There are many reasons for the current popularity of vinyl fabrics. Outstanding among these reasons is that vinyl is man-made and unlike natural fibers, it has complete freedom in the development of colors, tones and shades. Also there are no restrictions as to its end form and texture. It can and does fill any requirement.

Our casual, yet busy and exciting way of life demands certain qualities in furniture and home accessories: ease of car (washability and stain - resistance), strength, simplicity of design, colorful and functional upholstery.

With these in mind, our leading furniture designers & interior decorators have designed contemporary furniture styles and settings with vinyl fabrics to suit our needs.

The vinyl suppliers and manufacturers have developed upholstery, wall covering and table top materials in colors running the gamut from white to black and in many non - derivative interesting textures. These vinyl fabrics are the most durable of fabrics since vinyl takes much more wear (without showing strain) than other upholstery fabrics; they are so easy to care for and maintain—a damp cloth with mild soap, applied with in a reasonable time, will remove all ordinary stains.

Fire Protection Can Be Built Right Into Home

Fire protection can be built into your home as easily as built-in cabinets or bookcases. According to the Metal Lath Manufacturers Association, metal lath and plaster in six vulnerable places in your home will provide fire protection at these danger spots. They are:

* * *

1. Metal lath on all stud bearing partitions and walls, and fire stops between studs.
2. Metal lath on ceilings, under inhabittd floors, and over heating plants and fuel stoarge bins.
3. Metal lath at chimney breasts, around flues and back of kitchen ranges.
4. Metal lath on stair walls and under stairs.
5. Metal lath as base and reinforcement for exterior stucco.
6. Metal lath in all corners to protect against plaster cracks.

Coordinated Kitchens

Standardized colors, permitting coordinated kitchen decor, will be welcomed by homemakers everywhere. This year, gas range manufacturers got together with other appliance makers and manufacturers of other kitchen equipment and now you won't have to worry about matching your new kitchen cabinets and sink with the same shade of pink or green as your 1956 range.

Interest in Interest

"Consumers never know what interest rates they're paying and couldn't care less," says James Downs Jr., of the Real Estate Research Corp., Chicago. "It's how much a month on the installent plan that dictates present-day buying."

Hoeft Blanks Nats, 7-0, for 6th Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wayne Belardi certainly isn't one to pass up a good opportunity.

Given his first starting chance with the Detroit Tigers in three weeks he smashed a tremendous record-tying homer in his first time at bat and added a double and a single as the Tigers walloped Washington 7-0 last night.

Billy Hoeft coasted to a six-hit shutout for his 6th victory of the season. He had a four-run lead before he made his first pitch.

Belardi's homer was the 60th hit in Griffith Stadium this year, tying a season's record set in 1938. Kaline broke the record with his blast. The left field fence was shortened this year. It is now 58 feet nearer home plate than it was in 1938.

Belardi figured in the next Tiger run. He singled with one out in the 4th, moved to second as Kaline beat out a bunt and to 3rd as Charlie Maxwell got another infield hit. Boone popped up but House walked, forcing in the run.

In the 6th Belardi started things rolling with a double to the left field fence. Kaline gained a life on an error and Belardi scored as Maxwell grounded out. Kaline then stole third and scored after a long fly by House.

Hoeft, meanwhile, was breezing along. He struck out seven, walked four and allowed only one Washington runner as far as third.

The victory, Detroit's 10th in its last 13 starts, pulled the Tigers back up to the .500 mark. But they stayed in second division as 4th place Boston shaded the Chicago White Sox, 5-3.

Jim Bridesweser filled in capably for Kuenn at shortstop and even got one of his rare hits, a single in the 7th. Kuenn has some pulled lingaments in his right foot and will be out of action possibly for a week. Last night was the the first Detroit game he's failed to start since June 21 of last season.

Maxwell, moved to the cleanup spot in the batting order, picked up two hits in five times at bat. Kaline and Bolling both had two for four.

Steve Gromek will face Hal Griggs in the second game of the series tonight. Virgil Trucks and Paul Foytack are due against Chuck Stobbs and Bob Wiesler in tomorrow's doubleheader.

Redlegs Stay on Top; Tribe Clips Yankees

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Birdie Tebbetts is playing "eenie, meenie, minie, moe" with his catchers and he can't lose. One homers to put his Cincinnati Redlegs into the National League lead and the other belts one to keep them there.

* * *

It was Smoky Burgess who smacked one to beat Philadelphia and gain first place Thursday. And it was Ed Bailey who hammered a two-run shot to beat Brooklyn last night 6-4.

* * *

The Redlegs needed the victory. Pittsburgh's Pirates stayed right on their heels, beating St. Louis 2-0 in 11 innings as Bob Friend became the first 10-game winner in the majors this season by out-dueling Murry Dickson.

The Cardinals gave up second to the Bucs, but fell no farther than third in the night NL race as the New York Giants trimmed fourth-place Milwaukee 7-2. It was the seventh loss in nine games for the Braves.

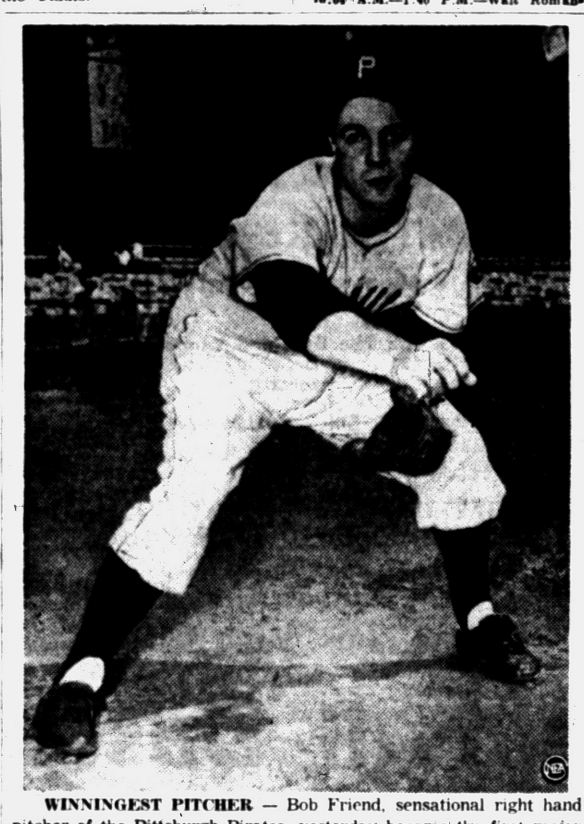

* * *

In the American, Early Wynn's five-hitter checked New York 9-0 as second place Cleveland cut the Yankees' lead to 3½ games. Detroit battered Washington 7-0, setting a home run record for Griffith Stadium, and Boston beat Chicago's White Sox 5-3. Baltimore defeated Kansas City 6-3.

Cincinnati has walloped homers in 11 of the last 13 games—winning 10 of 'em in the surge to the top. Bailey and Burgess have combined for six home runs in that streak. Rookie Frank Robinson, who shares the team lead with Wally Post at 13, has hit five for one-man honors.

* * *

The largest major league crowd of the season—50,812—sat in on Wynn's sixth victory at Yankee Stadium as the Indians made it 4-out-of-6 over New York. Chico Carrasquel and Al Rosen, who homered with one on, drove in three runs apiece in a 12-hit barrage against Whitey Ford, now 7-3, and Maury McDermott. Mickey Mantle's double, his lone hit, was the only extra-base knock for the Yanks.

WINNINGEST PITCHER — Bob Friend, sensational right hand pitcher of the Pittsburgh Pirates, yesterday became the first major league hurler to reach 10 victories this season. He shutout the Cardinals, 2-0, on six hits and struck out nine. His record stands at 10-3 for rushing Buccos.

Sanders Moves Into French Semifinals

PARIS (AP) — Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, Fla., conquered Col. J. Wilson Johnson of Portland, Ore., 6 and 5, today in the quarter final round of the French Amateur Golf Tournament and set up a four-nation semifinal for this afternoon. The other contenders are from Italy, France and Sweden.

Americans were eliminated in the other quarter final matches. John J. Penrose of Miami, lost on the 19th hole to Gunnar Carlander of Sweden and Gene Andrews of Pacific Palisades, Calif., was downed by Franco Bevoine of Rome, 3 and 1.

Gains Split Decision; Breaks Hand

Patterson is Winner

* * *

The fracture of the fourth metacarpal bone—the little bone back of the knuckle—may prevent the 21-year-old Brooklyn prodigy from swinging his precious mitts for a period of six weeks to three months. That could doom an outdoor extravaganza in Yankee Stadium. There was hope, however, that the healing time may be quicker.

The bad news on the break struck like a delayed bomb. Nobody knew it until more than a half hour after Patterson had whipped Hurricane Tommy Jackson in a thrilling, no clinch 12-rounder last night and virtually sewed up his lucrative shot with Moore.

The news was hard to believe until you saw the splint on the modest youngster's right hand. For it was in the 12th round that Floyd touched off a final stick of dynamite in an effort to stop his almost indestructible opponent. And he used both hands in firing a rapid volley of punches that had Jackson wobbling almost ready to fall.

* * *

Dr. Alexander Schiff discovered the break. He said he moved the bone back in position, then placed the fourth finger in a splint.

* * *

Patterson proved himself a worthy contender for titular honors in scoring his 17th straight victory and 30th in 31 fights. He was awarded only a split decision but in the opinion of most of the 11,255 who paid $66,038 for the fight and in the eyes of 29 of 30 boxing writers Floyd passed his big test with flying colors.

* * *

* * *

Jackson began rolling with his swinging punches to the body and chops to the head in the fourth and he swept the seventh, eighth and ninth rounds to make it close.

In the tenth, Patterson turned the tide and swept on to victory in the last three rounds.

Holly Ski Resort Okayed; Hike Asked in Fish Fees

ROSCOMMON (AP) — The State Conservation Commission agreed to ask the legislature for a general increase in prices of hunting and fishing licenses.

The commission was told that the department's game and fish protection fund will be in the red by March of 1958 unless the hikes are approved.

* * *

A request for higher fees was turned down by the last legislative session.

The commission agreed to permit Morton Graddis, Bloomfield Hills promoter, to use 25 acres of the Holly recreation area for a ski resort.

Graddis plans to utilize a snowmaking machine to guarantee two to three months of skiing in the area during winter months.

Further approved was a swap of land southwest of Higgins Lake to permit establishment of a ski area. The commission swapped 335 acres of state land for 578 acres of private land with Conrad Young and Teddy Daye, promoters of the proposed ski area.

The increases recommended by the commission included:

Resident fishing licenses, from $1.50 to $2;; resident deer licenses from $3.50 to $5; resident small game licenses, from $2 to $3.

Trout stamps, from $1 to $3; annual non-resident fishing licenses, from $4 to $4.50; temporary non-resident fishing licenses, from $3 to $3.50.

Camp permits, from $3.50 to $10; trapping license, from $2 to $4; resident bow and arrow deer licenses, from $3.50 to $5; non-resident bow and arrow licenses, from $10 to $25.

The commission also voted to ask the legislature to require that wives of fishermen pay $1 for a licenses. Under present law, wives can fish on their husband's license.

The commission further agreed to seek legislative approval of a $2 rod licenses for Great Lakes fishing. Anglers now can fish the Great Lakes without a license.

Andonian Takes Lead in Publinx

ANDONIAN ICEBERG

SAGINAW (AP) — Mike Andonian, 30-year-old Pontiac High School math teacher, and ex-U of D star, is the only golfer to crack par thus far in the annual Michigan Publinx tournament at Rolling Green Golf Club.

A one under par 69 gave Andonian top honors over the comparatively short but exacting 5,400-yard course. In the opening 18-hole round yesterday.

Andonian birdied three of the last four holes for a sizzling finish in his battle against par. He toured the par 34 front nine in 35, collecting two bogies and one birdie, and finished with a 2-under-par 34, including four birdies and two bogies.

Al Droll of Royal Oak, who fired a 70 on nines of 36 and 34, was the only entry who equaled par.

* * *

The tourney continues today with the second 18-hole round.

The low 60 scorers will qualify for tomorrow's 36-hole finale. Judging from yesterday's scores, a 10-over-par 150 will be needed to qualify.

Grouped at 71 were Walt Van Sickle, 1951 Saginaw City champion; Dick Preston of Detroit, who tied for third in last year's publinx tourney; F

Hurrying Turtles Stir Interest in Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — For those who have pondered the enigma "Why does a chicken cross the road?", give up!

There is a new puzzler: "Why does a turtle cross the road?"

This is the time of year when the fig leaves are ripe, and in Oklahoma the voice of the turtle may not be heard but the turtle is certainly seen.

* * *

Thousands of the dry-land terrapins are taking over the highways. It's the motorists in the soup, not the turtles.

The highway patrol says the turtles are a great hazard as motorists try to miss them by swerving suddenly.

Many Oklahomans take special note of the faster terrapins and are ready to jump out of their cars to snatch them as prizes. Terrapin racing is a growing sport in the state.

SEVERAL EXPLANATIONS

There are several explanations for the greater number of terrapins on Oklahoma highways, including the profound observation more turtles are crossing roads now because there are more roads to cross.

Julian Frazier, director of the Lincoln Park Zoo here, said he has received hundreds of calls from harried turtle lovers — and haters—wondering about the terrapin migration.

"This seems to be one of the biggest years," he reports. "And there is a scientific reason why the turtles are on the move.

* * *

"It has been dry an awfully long time in Oklahoma, which is what the reptiles like. Now that the rains have come, they're moving to higher ground."

Frazier laughingly adds another reason: "It's spring and a boy terrapin crosses the road because there is a girl terrapin on the other side."

Stolen Check Cashed in Department Store

Filled in to the amount of $58.37, the check was one in a book of blank checks stolen from the Peterson Plumbing and Heating Company.

An employe of the J. C. Penney department store on S. Saginaw street told Pontiac police a man about 30 years old cashed the check May 28.

It was made payable to a phony name, police said, and apparently bore a forged signature.

Six Communities to Decide Monday on Manager, School Posts and Bonds

Elections on Monday in Troy, Farmington, Clarenceville, Oxford, West Bloomfield and Romeo are on school board members, bond issues, and, in Oxford, on a new from the city government.

West Bloomfield

Two women are seeking the one position on West Bloomfield school district board in Monday's election. They are Frances Leaf, incumbent and Mrs. Mary Alice Couzens.

A bond issue of $960,000, if passed in the election, will provide a wing to the high school, a new school building at the district's south end, and an addition to the Scotch school or a new building in that area.

Any registered voter may vote for the school board members, but he or she must be a property owner to vote on the bond issue.

Three polling places, which open at 7 a.m., are at Roosevelt School, Keego Harbor; West Bloomfield Township Hall on Orchard Lake Road; and the Scotch School on Commerce Road.

Oxford

Citizens of Oxford will vote Monday, on the proposal to adopt a new charter establishing a village manager type of government.

Polls, open 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., will be at the township hall rather than at the village office so that voting machines may be used for the first time in a village election.

The new charter would reduce the village council from six members plus a president to five members from whom a president is chosen.

These men would be nominated in a primary election after presentation of petitions, rather than in a caucus. The maximum tax rate is set at 20 mills.

Farmington Township

Floyd A. Cairns, township clerk, reports 250 new registrations for the school board elections Monday, with contests assured in both the Farmington and Clarenceville districts.

Five candidates have filed for seats on the Farmington School Board. Bayard Tupper, present treasurer of the board, and Joseph F. McHugh have filed for the one year term. Vernon Fisher, present board trustee, Leland G. Clifford, and Dr. Joseph J. Gadbaw are candidates for the 3 year terms.

One candidate is to be elected for the 1 year term and two are to be named for the three year terms.

Three candidates have filed nominating petitions for the Clarenceville School Board election. They are Richard Gault, present treasurer of the board, Albert M. Hartom, former mayor of Livonia, and Robert F. Rickert, present president of the board.

Two candidates are to be elected for terms of 3 years each.

Troy

Troy, which will have two board of education posts filled in Monday's election, is faced with readjusting the budget for five proposed schools.

The city's residents will vote for two of six candidates for the two vacancies, Vacancies were by one member's death last spring and by decision of Board President and Mayor Frank Costello not to run again for the board post.

Bids for two school additions received at a board meeting were much higher than board members had expected, although the architect, Minoru Yamasaki of the Royal Oak firm of Yamasaki, Leinweber and Assts., had warned of such a high construction cost.

It may be necessary to reduce costs for later projects, which are a new school in Section 27, and additions to the High school and Big Beaver schools, officials say.

Study of the bids on structural, mechanical and electrical works, plus bids for alternate means for the projects, is in the architect's hands now.

By Tuesday, at the board's regular meeting at 8 p.m. at the high school, a balance of funds may be worked out.

Added cost in the project is because of having to connect with a sewage disposal plant rather than using a septic system, according to school officials.

Romeo

Electors of the Romeo Community School district will vote for two members of the board of Education in the annual school election Monday.

The three candidates for two vacancies are Charles A. Meyers of Davis, Orval Mellen of Romeo and incumbent Allen Rush of Dequindre road. Polls in the three district precincts—the Washington Township Halls in Romeo and Washington and the Davis School, will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF BE-loved husband and father, James K. Thomas who passed away June 9, 1954.

He bade us not a last farewell,
He said goodby to none.
Your loving heart has ceased to beat,
Before we knew that you were gone.
God saw that you were suffering,
And the hills were hard to climb,
And so he closed your weary eyes,
And whispered "Peace Be Thine."

ARTHRITIS?
I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set.
Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

Gone is the runniness, the messiness and untidiness that you always associated with painting. With Jelled Magic you can enjoy carefree painting!
Now We've Got It!... and YOU'RE INVITED to come in for a demonstration and see the gorgeous new colors available in this amazing new paint
