30,000 Turn Out to View Christmas Parade

Santa Claus Arrives in Pontiac

Pontiac Press Photos

HERO OF THE DAY—Old Saint Nick waves from his sleigh to thousands of youngsters who jammed downtown Pontiac today to view the ninth annual "Christmas-on-Wheels" parade. Santa Claus came at the end of a mile-long display.

RELIGIOUS THEMES — Pontiac churches presented beautiful floats conveying aspects of the birth of Christ for the "Christmas-on-Wheels" parade today. The scene above, depicting the famous words of the angel to the shepherds, was prepared by the First Church of the Nazarene.

Goodfellows Sell Special Edition in Waterford

Funds to Provide Needy With Food and Clothing at Christmas

"Get your Goodfellow paper!"

That is the cry of every good fellow selling Pontiac Press newspapers on every main corner in Waterford Township, from dawn to dark today.

As is the custom at Christmastime, members of the Fire Department, Police Department, Lions and Rotary Clubs plus a number of other individuals have banded together to make the sale a success.

With the funds the Goodfellows obtain from this sale, they will stuff baskets with toys and food and clothing—even fuel tickets for needy families.

Should there be any amount left, the surplus will be used as an emergency fund to help those who may need aid at other times during the coming year.

"Waterford Goodfellows," said Fire Capt. Clayton Soncrainte, who is in charge of the paper sale, "are aiming at a goal of $2,000 this year. That will mean the sale of about 6,000 papers — although there is no set price on the special edition press."

Helping them are several groups including auxiliary members of Metropolitan Club, Spirit 62, who have been making and dressing dolls. Already there are close to 200 dolls, awaiting their new owners.

Capt. Soncrainte says persons with toys or other articles to contribute may bring them to any of the three township fire stations. Locations are as follows:

No. 1, on M59; No. 2, Walton Blvd., near Dixie Hwy. and No. 3 on Elizabeth Lake road.

Fifth-Round KO Gives Patterson Title

CHICAGO (INS) — "They can bring on any of them so far as I am concerned," is Floyd Patterson's view of the heavyweight boxing situation today. Floyd won the vacated title last night in Chicago Stadium with a fifth-round knockout of ancient Archie Moore.

Patterson is the youngest (at age 21), world heavyweight champion. And he had just become a father for the first time Friday.

The new champion even included retired king of the heavyweights, Rocky Marciano, in his challenge to possible opponents, in case Rocky decides to try a comeback.

Bout was witnessed by 14,000 fans at Chicago and a nation-wide television audience.

BULLETIN

A Waterford Township man, Fred A. Bruske, of 4311 Lessing Rd., was killed in a headon auto collision at 10:15 a. m. today on M-15 south of Davisburg, Flint State Police said.

Six others injured had not been identified, police said. There were no other details.

B52 Crashes, Killing Ten

TRENTON, Ont. (AP) —A survivor from the crash of a U.S. Air Force jet bomber in Ontario was picked up by helicopter today.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two plane crashes last night, one in California and one in Canada, took the lives of 10 men, with a possible four more. They were both U.S. bombers, one the giant B52, the other a B47.

At Castle Air Force Base in California, a giant sweptwing B52, the Air Force's biggest A-bomb carrier, crashed in a "streak of fire" killing all 10 men aboard.

The eight-jet cigar-nosed airplane was taking off from this central California Strategic Air Command base when it suddenly smashed into a plowed field some four miles north of Merced and about 150 miles south of San Francisco.

And at Nipigon, Ontario, a U.S. Air Force B47 stratojet bomber carrying a crew of four crashed in rugged snow-covered terrain near this northwestern Ontario community.

Search planes later spotted a cross-shaped fire in the Seagull Lake area, 30 miles west of here, but darkness and deep snow prevented a detailed look.

"We saw one huge flash about a mile away and just before it hit the ground we saw another explosion," said Sgt. Alfred B. Stockman, an antiaircraft man from the base who was in a car near the crash site in California.

"It hit the earth flat and bounced and then it went on over another three-quarters of a mile, over the road, then it hit again and it really exploded," he added.

A spokesman for the Merced base said there was no indication the giant B52 Stratofortress was in trouble before it plunged from 500 to 600 feet into a grain field at 10:05 p.m.

It was the third crash this year of one of the $8,500,000 bombers, whose sister-ship, the "Barbara Grace" detonated America's first air-dropped hydrogen bomb over Bikini atoll six months ago.

It was not known whether the crash would result in grounding of the B52S, key planes in the Air Force's nuclear striking armada.

Wreckage of this bomber was scattered over three miles. The burned bodies were pretty well in one group.

(Editor's Note: Only a partial list of victims has been released. Apparently, none was from Michigan.)

In Canada, searchers said one man was seen standing beside a fire, near the B47 crash but it was not determined whether he was a crew member or a trapper who had happened upon the wreckage.

Hundreds of bushworkers and six planes took part in the search for possible survivors.

To Land at Willow Run

Detroit-Bound Hungarians Slated for Sunday Arrival

DETROIT (AP)—The first mass group of Hungarian refugees to reach Detroit will arrive at Willow Run airport Sunday accompanied by Sen. Potter (R-Mich).

The Michigan Senator has been with the refugees since they arrived at Camp Kilmer, N. J., for processing. Also aboard the plane will be Asst. U. S. Atty. Dwight K. Hamborsky, in charge of "Operation Mercy—Detroit," and the Rev. Andrew P. Jacobs, chairman of the Detroit Hungarian Churches Organization.

Another plane load of refugees is expected to arrive here early next week. They may be flown here direct from Austria.

From Augusta Ga., President Eisenhower, moving to aid "the victims of Soviet oppression," announced today the United States will admit 21,500 Hungarian refugees—more than four times the number planned originally.

The total to be granted asylum is being hiked from 5,000, the White House said, because of "an emergency problem" thrust upon Austria with scores of thousands of refugees crowding into that nation from Hungary.

And there was a hint there even-

Snowy Threads Among the Cold, Says Forecaster

Pontiac area residents may make good use of electric blankets and extra comforters tonight as the U. S. Weather Bureau forecasts partly cloudy and colder with a low near 20 degrees.

Tomorrow will bring little relief from the cold as the prediction is mostly cloudy with light snow likely, high near 30.

Preceding 8 a.m. the lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac was 24.

At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 30.

Crowd Streets to Welcome Santa's Arrival

Procession of Floats Tells Yuletide Story in Annual Pageant

Thousands of happy youngsters and their parents jammed downtown Pontiac this morning to welcome Santa Claus and the Christmas season.

Crowds, six to eight deep, lined Saginaw street to view the color and splendor of the ninth annual "Christmas-on-Wheels" parade.

They braved 30-degree temperatures, gray skies and snow underfoot to hail Old Saint Nick at the tail end of a mile-long spectacle of floats and bands, sponsored by the Retail Merchants Assn.

Promptly at 9:30, Pontiac police motorcyclists kicked their machine starters to lead a stream of 57 units from Turk street to Sanderson street on Oakland avenue.

At Huron street, the bells of First Congregational Church rang out "Oh, Come All Ye Faithful," echoing the Pontiac High School Band as the parade started by.

Children packed the curb. They watched from parents' arms, from atop stepladders and from upper floor store windows.

Parade Marshal Capt. A. J. Largent and Gerald A. Poehlman, executive director of the affair, estimated the crowd at over 30,000.

DECORATIVE FLOATS

Decorative floats prepared by Pontiac churches and schools were interspaced with other high school bands from Avon Township, Waterford Township, Walled Lake, Oxford and Lake Orion.

Traditional scenes of the Manger, the Magi bearing gifts to the Christ Child, and the Bethlehem Star were among the first floats.

Convertible automobiles towed the floats, hence the name "Christmas-on-Wheels."

After 19 church floats came school presentations of themes from toyland and nursery tales.

Last but not least, there was

U. S. Adopts Caution in Aid

Official Attitude Careful About Helping Europe Pay for Oil

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appeared today to have adopted a cautious attitude toward helping Europe pay for emergency American oil shipments.

Responsible officials said requests for dollar aid would be handled on a country-by-country basis with no thought at this time of setting up a special fund for such a purpose.

* * *

The government ordered into effect yesterday long-standing emergency plans to ship about 500,000 barrels of oil daily to Europe, but said nothing about special credit terms.

European governments will be expected, officials said, to dig into their own treasuries for scarce dollars to pay for American oil shipments for at least a month—perhaps longer.

Tentative plans drawn up in August, after Egypt seized the Suez Canal, had included provisions for U. S. Export-Import Bank loans to help Europe finance the oil purchases.

American government loans may be possible later, officials said, but only after more information has been gathered about European requirements and after this has been matched with the cost problem.

* * *

Britain, France and Italy, these informants agreed, probably will be hit hardest by the need to divert dollars to buy American fuel. Their supplies formerly came from the Middle East and were paid for in sterling or other currencies.

Bells to Herald Refugees' Visit

City Churches to Join in Chiming a Welcome to Hungarian Family

Bells of Pontiac churches will ring for three minutes at noon Monday to welcome four Hungarian refugees to Pontiac.

The group, made up of James Szenerei, his wife Magdaleria and their son Anton, 18, will be accompanied by Dr. Georgely Szappanyos, first Hungarian escapee to reach Detroit.

Dr. Szappanyos will present a brief talk on his experiences at the Five Points Community Church, 3411 E. Walton Blvd., where women of the community will prepare a luncheon for local businessmen and area residents.

Purpose of the luncheon will be to welcome the refugees from Red terror and to interest local residents in sponsoring the group, according to planners.

The Rev. Gordon C. Lindsay, pastor of the Five Points Church, and Roy L. Hardy are representing the Hungarian Refugee Relief in Detroit.

FHA Interest Rate Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today raised the interest rate on FHA-insured home loans to five per cent, effective Dec. 4.

The move was described as "a decisive step to help homebuyers to obtain mortgage financing."

The present maximum rate is 4½ per cent, plus the Federal Housing Administration's one-half per cent insurance premium which remains unchanged.

Troop Withdrawal Plans Bring Mideast Optimism

WASHINGTON (INS)—U. S. officials expressed optimism over the international situation today for the first time in six weeks and predicted the hotspot in Syria will cool off in a few days.

The general air of confidence that the Middle Eastern crisis is subsiding was fostered primarily by the expected announcement Monday that British and French troops will begin withdrawal from Egypt on Dec. 14.

Administration foreign affairs analysts said Syrian charges of Israeli or Iraqui intentions of aggression were mainly Communist-inspired propaganda designed to increase tensions in the Middle East. They stressed that United Nations observers have reported no build-up of troops on either side of the Israeli-Syrian border.

This new American optimism about the international scene was further bolstered by a report that Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser, through a semi-neutral European nation, has assured the U.S. he intends to resist Soviet infiltration of Egypt.

One of this neutral nation's diplomats said Nasser pledged to stick with the West even though he was still highly suspicious of British-French intentions.

The analysts pointed out that propaganda about Communist volunteers for Egypt died suddenly after Washington warned against any such moves.

This Century Stands on Trembly Legs - - - Like Elvis

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maybe this will become known as the Elvis Presley Century.

It's whiny, sneering, trembly in the legs and it makes a lot of money.

Its voice is discordant to everybody except teenagers.

It reeks of sex instead of romance, but it runs like a hare from serious commitments.

Maybe, like the groaning postadolescent from Tennessee, the 20th Century is more a fad than a reality. Maybe we'll get over it by the year 2000, which is no encouragement to those of us who don't expect to be around that long.

We don't have, as the post World War I days had, a lost generation.

We've lost a whole century.

We split the atom and opened the door to power and riches undreamed of. Instead we used this new tool to blast two cities level with the earth and raced on, idiot fashion, finding bigger and better ways to blow ourselves to pieces.

We built a standard of living that put two cars in many a garage — four, for that matter, in a certain male canary's entourage — but we begrudged the money to build the schools to educate our kids.

Yep. An Elvis Presley Century. Brash and childish. Rich and whimpering.

"Love Me Tender . . ." that's a key word: Tender. Not too hard or it might hurt. Love is dangerous, anyway; people might take advantage of you.

Besides, get too intense and you wind up on a psychiatrist's couch. It's simpler to hate. Or at least to sneer.

"Don't be cruel . . ." That's another Presley tune. No, don't be cruel. Why are people so mean to us when we're so nice to everybody? Everybody hates us. "Heartbreak Hotel . . ."

Presley Again. And that's us. Sitting in our lonely rooms, biting our fingernails, waiting for the bomb to go off, lamenting the warm comfort (or so it says here) of centuries past.

History may say that this sideburned youth who wiggles his hips while singing popular songs was a symbol of this time — that this century does a lot of wiggling and squirming without ever getting anywhere.

Try to imagine a Presley in the 1800s, when tougher people than we were forging the world we seem to be dithering away.

But let's not be too hard on Mr. Presley. Doubtless he does the best he can, and nobody should interfere with his right to do it.

But when the American people shell out over a million dollars a year to watch him do it —

Well, leave it at that. Maybe this is an Elvis Presley Century.

Youth Treated for Concussion

Boy Strikes Pavement in Baffling Mishap in Pontiac

Fourteen-year-old Arthur Monroe of 298 W. Columbia Ave., is under treatment at Pontiac General Hospital today for a concussion suffered yesterday when his head struck the pavement after he fell or was hit by a car.

The boy has been unable to explain what happened in the incident which occurred at W. Montcalm and Summitt streets due to his condition.

Pontiac police have been unsuccessful in trying to find someone who saw what happened. Three persons have reported seeing the boy falling as a car passed but nothing more definite is known, a police spokesman said this morning.

Investigators today are questioning a Clarkston woman who was the alleged driver of the car seen beside him at the time of the accident. She has denied hitting the boy.

6-Year-Old Boy Kills Father

Bangor Hunter Hands Gun to Son Thinking It Was Unloaded

BANGOR, MICH. (AP) — A 6-year-old boy accidently shot his father to death in their home with a 12 gauge shotgun yesterday just after the father said the gun was empty.

Arthur Cochran, 32, was killed instantly when the shot struck him in the chest. He was standing three feet away.

State trooper Robert Corkins said Cochran's wife, Wanita, had protested moments earlier that the gun might be loaded, but Cochran insisted it was not.

Corkin said Cochran, an unemployed road maintenance man, returned home from a hunting trip and handed the gun to the youngster while he brushed snow from his boots.

The trooper quoted Mrs. Cochran as saying she was in the other room at the time and, after hearing the shot, ran into the front room where she found the gun lying beside her son, Danny.

Corkins said when troopers arrived at the home they found Danny weeping: "I didn't mean to do it. I didn't mean to kill daddy."

Seize Four Bandits in Station Robbery

Four teenage bandits were apprehended in Ecorse early this morning, two hours after they allegedly held up a Southfield Township gas station and slugged the attendant.

Eugene Zyski, attendant at the station at 12 Mile Rd. and Telegraph Rd., told Redford State Police and Oakland County Sheriff's deputies that the boys brandished a shotgun with an attached bayonet and forced him into a utility room.

"After they took my money," said Zyski, "they slugged me twice in the face and then tied me up with an electric cord."

Vernon Adams, 17, of 20767 Mendota, Ferndale; Jackie Pruitt, 17, of 20834 East Dalelane, Ferndale; Wilford Steel, 17, of 5662 Campbell, Detroit, and Douglas Morrow, 17, of 21035 Bruce, Ferndale, admitted the crime when stopped by Ecorse police two hours later.

Gas Drum Stolen

Walter Smith, 650 Frick Rd., Addison Township, reported that a 55-gallon gas drum was taken from the yard of his home. Smith told the Oakland County Sheriff's Office that the drum contained 15 gallons of gas, valued at $9.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. Russell Bodamer

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Russell (Joan) Bodamer in Miami, Fla., Thursday. She had been ill several years.

A former Pontiac resident, Mrs. Bodamer was born at Kingston in 1909.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Jane Muth of Miami; four grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Mary Merritt of Fenton.

Service will be Monday from the Lanier Funeral Home in Miami.

Mrs. Victor J. Budnik

Mrs. Victor J. (Eleanor C.) Budnik, 72, of 220 S. Marshall St. died yesterday morning in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. She was ill three weeks.

She was born in Detroit on Feb. 21, 1884, to August and Catherine Urban Kulwicki, and married in Detroit in 1904.

Mrs. Budnik had lived in Pontiac 50 years. She was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Church, Daughters of Isabella and the Rosary Altar Society of her church.

She leaves six children, Arthur C. Budnik of South Lyon, Victor J. Budnik Jr. of Menlo Park, Calif., Mrs. Eleanor McCroom of Mata, Calif., Francis Budnik of Sunland, Calif., Gerald J. and Robert R. Budnik, both of Pontiac.

Also surviving are 10 grandchildren; two great-grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Mary Arnknecht, and a brother, Roman Kulwicki, both of Detroit.

The Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the Melvin A. Schutt Funeral Home.

The funeral will be at 10 a.m. Tuesday from the St. Vincent de Paul Church with burial in Mount Hope Cemetery.

Thomas J. Malloy

Thomas J. Malloy of 34 Bellevue St. died yesterday afternoon of a heart condition after an illness of several years.

He was born on Beaver Island June 23, 1878, to John and Bridget Boyle Malloy.

A member of St. Vincent de Paul Church, Mr. Malloy had lived here 30 years. He was last employed by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad.

Surviving are a niece, Mrs. Leona McLain where he made his home; a brother, Austin Malloy of Grand Rapids; five sisters, Mrs. Nora Adsit of Grand Rapids, Mrs. Grace Skidmore of Traverse City, Sisters Mary Clare, Mary Bridgetta and Mary Isabell, all Sisters of Mercy in Muskegon.

The Rosary will be recited at 8:30 Sunday evening in the Huntoon Funeral Home.

The Funeral will be at 10 a.m. Monday from St. Vincent de Paul Church with Father Immel officiating. Burial will be in Mount Hope Cemetery.

Mrs. Frank G. Mapley

Mrs. Frank G. (Minnie A.) Mapley, 69, died at her home, 28 Porter St. yesterday, of a heart illness. She had been ill several days.

Born in Kingston on Aug. 4, 1887, she was the daughter of John and Hannah Stephenson Elliott. The Mapleys were married on Oct. 31, 1906, in Kingston.

Mrs. Mapley had been a resident of Pontiac 50 years. She was a member of Central Methodist Church and the Women's Society of Christian Service of her church.

Besides her husband, she leaves five children, Mrs. Veyne Williams of Rosebush, Mrs. Arnold Stamman of Harrison, Mrs. Joseph Ketchem of Tucson, Ariz., Francis Mapley and Mrs. Glenn McClure, both of Pontiac; 18 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Other survivors are a sister, Mrs A. R. Pennock of Lynnwood, Wash; two brothers, George Elliott of Clarkston and Richard Elliott of Royal Oak.

Service will be at 1 p.m. Monday from the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home. Dr. Milton H. Bank, her pastor, will officiate with burial following in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

About 30 percent of the farms of the U. S. are residential farms and those operated on a part-time basis, agricultural surveys indicate.

Make One More Attempt

Seek to Inspect Hungary

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — U. S. delegates—except for the Communist bloc—were reported in agreement today to make one more moderate attempt to get U.N. observers into Hungary. Diplomats made clear that another rejection from the Budapest government would bring demands for strong U.N. action.

Informed sources said most delegates had agreed that if Hungary still failed to comply, the next step would be condemnation of the puppet Budapest government and then a move to throw the Hungarians out of the U.N.

The United States was circulating a resolution among delegates urging Hungary to reconsider its refusal to accede to Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's request to make an on-the-scene investigation in that revolt-torn land. Countries being contacted on the resolution included India and other Asian powers.

The informant said that if the American resolution got no results, the United States would agree to tougher steps, including even impugning the Hungarians' U.N. credentials.

GM Ups List Prices in New Ad System

DETROIT (AP) — Factory list prices of General Motors Corp. cars went up today as GM announced it will quit assessing its dealers a share of the cost of its national advertising.

Although no specific figures were given, the Corporation said it will bear the full national advertising bill immediately and had to raise factory list prices to do it.

Auto companies conduct three types of advertising: general, institutional, in which the full cost is undertaken by the coporation; factory - dealer cooperative, in which dealers are assessed per car as their share for advertising in national magazines, newspapers and on radio and television; and local advertising paid for by individual dealers.

GM has 18,500 passenger car and truck dealers.

Fracture and Bruises Received by Woman

Mrs. Louise Johnson, 44, of 771 E. Beverly Ave., received two fractured ribs and bruises of both knees in a two-car collision at Joslyn and Kennett streets yesterday.

She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, William T., 46, which rammed into a vehicle operated by Francis M. Weathers, 29, of 170 Opdyke Rd., Pontiac Township.

Port Moresby, New Guinea, now has automatic telephones for the first time.

Santa was perched on a Chamber of Commerce float prepared by students of Wever and Hawthorne Schools.

There was a queen, too. She was 16-year-old Judy Crawford, Miss 4-H Club for 1956, who reigned from the rear seat of a new Pontiac automobile.

Other features included a color guard from the Michigan National Guard, 48 young ladies strutting their stuff as members of the "Land - O - Lakes Dancing Majorettes," and the Detroit Edison Co.'s familiar calliope.

Seek 300 Donors at Cranbrook Church

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Hopes that 300 people will donate blood are expressed by planners for Christ Church Cranbrook's first blood bank, set for Monday. Blood may be given from 1:45 to 7:45 p.m. at the church house.

Reservations, already totaling over 200, are being taken at the church office, according to Mrs. J. F. Pedder and Mrs. John W. Blanchard, co-chairmen. Sponsoring unit is the church's women's auxiliary.

"We've learned that the county's stocks are 800 pints short, the chairmen report.

Among those expected to give are Mrs. Boyce Ricketts and Mrs. Bruce Coulter, both Cranbrook residents, who have given 16 pints of blood each.

Ten Days in Jail for Window Peeker

Although he escaped a possible beating by former professional boxer Chuck Davey, a Commerce Township youth found himself behind bars 10 days yesterday.

The youth, David Thebo, 18, of 3270 Royal St. pleaded guilty to window peeping into Davey's West Bloomfield Township home.

Davey spotted the boy, sheriff's detectives said, and ran outdoors in pursuit. The boy reportedly darted to his car, drove off, and escaped.

Davey was bruised by the car fender as it sped away. However, he furnished police with the automobile license number, by which Thebo was traced.

Authorities yesterday dropped a charge of felonious driving.

The boy pleaded guilty to the misdemeanor charge and was sentenced by Justice Elmer C. Dieterle.

CHARLES F. ADAMS

HOVEY HAGERMAN

LEO HILLEBRAND

Also Realign Organization

Advertising Firm Names 4 to Top Executive Positions

Promotion of four key MacManus, John & Adams executives along with a realignment of vice president responsibility were announced today by Ernest A. Jones, president of the Bloomfield Hills advertising agency.

Charles F. Adams becomes executive assistant to the president and Cadillac Motor account supervisor while Hovey Hagerman, executive officer on the Pontiac Motor account, has been named senior vice president.

General Manager Fred J. Hatch was promoted to director in the move, and Leo Hillebrand, financial officer, becomes secretary-treasurer.

At the same time Jones announced the activation of two executive groups to supervise the agency's internal operation. The Administrative Staff, headed by Adams, will be made up of vice presidents:

* * *

John R. MacManus, in charge of all personnel and coordinator of branch office activities.

Fred J. Hatch, internal planning and administration.

Frank Skinner, supervisor of the public relations staff.

Robert L. Garrison, supervisor of business exploration and the development staff.

The group will concern itself with day-to-day operations of the agency, Jones said.

The second group, the Advisory Staff, will be headed by W. A. P. John, co-founder of the agency and chairman-emeritus. Members include E. P. Wright, chief of the legal staff; Adams, Hagerman and William B. Bachman Jr.

The new program, according to Jones, has been under test in a "skeleton operation" for nearly a year.

* * *

"We found the benefits to our clients and ourselves were substantial and we have now put the plan into full function," Jones commented.

He added that the plan has released he (Jones) and the agency's account men from administrative detail to concentrate on "creation and client service."

Besides its Bloomfield Hills headquarters, the firm maintains offices in New York City, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Houston, Texas; and Toronto, Ontario.

The firm is currently in the middle of an expansion program which may double its present facilities.

Cuban Rebels Keep Shooting

Death Toll Rises to 11; Troops Said Wiping Out Last Resistance

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—More shooting was reported today in a rebel uprising on Cuba's southeast coast. The official count of dead reached 11.

Official sources said Cuban military forces and police were mopping up the small civilian uprising against the regime of President Fulgencio Batista that flared yesterday at Santiago de Cuba, a port 500 miles east of Havana.

* * *

The army said early today government troops had killed three rebels holding out in a high school building after attacking police stations.

This brought the officially reported number of deaths in the uprising to 11—3 soldiers, 6 rebels, a woman customhouse employe and a prisoner set free from jail by the rebels.

* * *

Unofficial sources said two policemen also were killed.

The army said the rebels set free 65 prisoners in the Santiago Jail but that 12 had been recaptured.

The army also reported its soldiers exchanged fire with a group of 20 or 25 rebels near the U.S. Naval Base at Guantanamo. No casualties were reported.

Area Librarians Attend Meeting in Waterford

Area members of the Michigan Assn. of School Librarians attended an all-day meeting today at Waterford Township High School.

Theme of the day's discussion was "Goals in School Library Service."

Heading the program were Charlotte Coye, president of the group and Kenneth Vance, vice president of the association and consultant in library service from the University of Michigan's Bureau of School Services.

Vance and Donald Dolan, another consultant from the university conducted a problem clinic workshop during the morning session.

Library educators conducted a panel discussion in the afternoon. On the panel were Mrs. Florence Cleary, acting chairman of the department of library education, Wayne State University; Dr. Stanley Gex, head of the department of education, Eastern Michigan College; Dr. G. Robert Koopman, associate superintendent of the state department of public construction.

Dr. Spencer W. Myers, superintendent of schools in Flint and Eleanor Yungmeyer, school library consultant at the Michigan State Library in Lansing were also on the panel.

Clothes Worth $200 Stolen From Truck

A delivery truck belonging to a Pontiac cleaning firm was stolen and looted of $200 worth of laundry while its operator was making a house collection last night.

Pontiac police recovered the vehicle 15 minutes after it was discovered missing. It was found abandoned at the intersection of Bagley and Ditmar streets. Overlooked in the theft was dry cleaning valued at over $1,000.

Driver Robert Gravelle, of Perry Cleaners, told investigators he was collecting money from a woman at 188 Crystal Lake Dr., when someone drove off with the truck.

Pontiac Man Hurt as Car Hits Post

A Pontiac man was injured early this morning when the car in which he was riding struck a guard rail post on US10 near Hatfield St.

Lewis Hall, 34, of 76 Close St., told Waterford Township police that his lights went out when he was about to enter a drive-in restaurant and did not see the guard rail.

His passenger, James Baldwin, 23, of 465 South Jessie St., was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for face lacerations, two broken teeth and bruised knees.

tually may be still another increase in the total permitted to come to this country. Referring to the current jump to 21,500, a statement issued at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters here said:

"When these numbers have been exhausted, the situation will be re-examined."

Because of the emergency nature of the problem, the administration is using a cut-the-red-tape emergency procedure in the expanded program.

The President has directed Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson to work out arrangements for transportation of the larger quota of refugees to this country from Austria.

The Day in Birmingham

Tree Sale, League Play Key Winter 'Y' Program

BIRMINGHAM — Christmas tree sales will soon be keeping two of the YMCA groups busy, but meanwhile other "Y" units are starting winter programs.

The "Y" building program has nothing in its immediate future, says YMCA director Edwin Kirbert, but a comprehensive survey of the communities needs will be one of the next steps, he predicts.

Reports have been mailed to local "Y" members detailing the survey taken recently by Donald C. Swanson of Chicago. It pointed up the need for exact knowledge of a full-fledged YMCA building could provide for the Birmingham area.

Church league basketball is beginning on Dec. 10, but already teams from eight churches have begun practice. They'll be gathering on Monday at Barnum Junior High School for 7, 8, and 9 p.m. practice sessions.

Taking part are boys from First Methodist, First Presbyterian, First Congregational, First Baptist, St. James Episcopal, Embury Methodist, Redeemer Lutheran, and Community Congregational Lathrup churches.

Tree sales will start next Saturday but already the Y's Men's club is preparing the lot near the association's building. Sales will be from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily through Dec. 23.

Selling tickets that can be used to purchase trees will be Gra-Y members, and proceeds of their sale will go into their program in Birmingham schools. There are eleven of the nine to twelve year old youth organizations in this area.

Y's Men sales will earn funds for the association's entire youth program.

Troy Hi-Y will be host to Birmingham's Hi-Y Thursday at Troy High School from 7:30 to 10 p.m.

* * *

High Twelve members will elect officers at their Monday night meeting at the Community House. W. Lyle Bones is nominee for president.

W. C. Newberg, vice president, and manager of the automotive group, Chrysler Corp., will talk on "The Road Signs for Tomorrow" at the meeting. A former president of the Dodge Division, he has been invited by program chairman Royce Beers.

"To drink or not to drink" is the Rev. A. F. Runkel's topic for tomorrow, Temperance Sunday, at First Methoist church.

The Men's and Women's Fellowship groups of the First Congregational church will hold a joint meeting Tuesday, with the Youth Choir of Mayflower Congregational Church of Detroit singing. The session is at 8 p.m. at the church, and a dessert and coffee hour will precede the concert.

The church's supper club will meet on Dec. 7 at 6:45 p. m. for a travelogue by Pan American World Wide Airways on Bermuda, South America and Hawaii.

A Wednesday meeting is slated by the Women's Alliance of the Unitarian Church for 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Edward Raney, 25129 West Roy Ct., Huntington Woods.

Mrs. F. G. Garrison, local lecturer and world traveler, will speak, on "International Farm Youth Exchange Program of the National 4-H Clubs."

Ex-Rotary Head to Speak Locally

800 Students Expected at Avondale High for H. Taylor Talk

Herbert Taylor, Past International Rotary president, will speak to over 800 high school students from 40 cities in Michigan and Southern Ontario in a program at the Avondale High School Auditorium this afternoon at 2:30.

The renowned speaker will talk on Rotary's four-way tests which cover the principles of ethics. He will be introduced by District Governor Clarence Nichols of Blenheim, Ont.

Taylor recently returned from a world tour in which he made similar talks to youths in every part of the world.

His appearance here is being sponsored by the Auburn Heights Rotary Club which was aided by Pontiac members in arranging the program.

Rams Parked Car, Suffers Neck Injury

One person was injured yesterday when a driver apparently fell asleep at the wheel and struck a car parked in a gas station on US-10 near Maybee Rd. in Independence Township.

Manley Morgan, 20, of 7785 Allen Rd., Clarkston, told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies that he left the road when he fell asleep at the wheel.

Jerry Quick, 19, of 951 Sands Rd., Ortonville, a passenger in the parked car, was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital for a neck injury.

Doctor Orders 2½-Year-Old — No Parade

Little Stephen Gleyre, who was to watch his first and possibly his last Christmas parade today, had to stay home on doctor's orders.

Stephen, 2½-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Gleyre, 113 W. Fairmont Ave., has been a leukemia victim since March. He missed the parade because of a head cold, his mother said.

With his twin brother, William, and his parents, Stephen was to have had a birds-eye view from the second floor of Stewart-Glenn Co., 92 S. Saginaw St.

When his cold is better, however, Stephen and his brother will meet Santa at a downtown department store, his mother promised.

County Citizens Group Sets Dec. 1 Benefit Dance

Oakland County Citizens' Committee for Pontiac State Hospital is holding its first fund raising project Saturday night at the Holly VFW hall.

Proceeds from the dance beginning at 9 p.m. will be used for patients at the hospital. Heading the program are Mrs. Jack Alpeters, Mrs. Donald Harrower and Mrs. Oscar Gerkin.

Tuesday night the hospital's Social Service Department will put on a psychodrama at 8:30 p.m. at the hospital to which the public is invited.

Boy Struck by Car Suffers Only Bruises

William S. Larsen, 9, of 132 Gladstone Place suffered only a bruised leg when he was struck down by a car near his home Friday.

Pontiac police reported the boy was trying to cross Gladstone Place in the middle of the street when he was hit and knocked down by a car operated by Everett Clinton, of 4840 Greer Rd., West Bloomfield Township.

Burglars Sharpen Up

A pencil sharpener was the only article known taken in a breakin at the Bagley School Thursday night or early Friday. Pontiac police suspect juveniles were responsible for the burglary. The school is located at 320 Bagley St.

News in Brief

A front door window was smashed but no entry was gained in an apparent breakin attempt at Law's Super Market, 200 Earlmoor Blvd., some time between last night and early today, Pontiac Police said today. The destroyed window was discovered by patroling officers.

Pleading guilty to operating a car with improper plates, Robert Barber, 18, of 95 Midland St., Highland Park, was sentenced to 90 days in the Oakland County Jail by Justice William Stamp of Independence Township yesterday.

Damages estimated at $150 were the result of a house fire at 611 Sterling St., last night. Firemen said overheated wall registers caused the blaze at the Oden Ross home.

Louis Coppage, 19, of 98 Union St., was fined $10 and paid $5 after pleading guilty to driving without a license before Springfield Township Justice Emmett C. Leib Friday.

Dems Prepare for Probe Into Committee Expenses

BY ROGER LANE

LANSING—Now that the election is over, perhaps the time is ripe, as Sen. John B. Swainson (D-Detroit) said this week, to review the practices and makeup of at least some legislative committees.

* * *

Swainson singled out the legislative Audit and Appropriations Committee for special criticism, saying he will demand when the Senate convenes in January a detailed report on its finances and activities.

But his remarks were broad enough to cover other groups.

For example, some Democrat is bound to question the spending record of the committee headed by Sen. John Minnema (R-Traverse City) which undertook a State Liquor Control Commission probe clearly marked from the outset as political.

A recent check showed that through Oct. 16, the Minnema committee had paid out $16,623 in tax monies to Detroit private investigators hired to sift the liquor commission's voluminous records.

What was the allegation against the liquor commission that set off this expensive search?

NOTHING SENSATIONAL

The instigator of the investigation, Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), told newsmen on the day it was voted that he had no "sensational" information about commission malpractice or wrongdoing.

Hutchinson told the Senate he acted because Democratic Gov. Williams threatened "political reprisals" against certain Republican senators if they staged such an inquiry, something Williams promptly denied.

That was on June 13th.

Today, more than five months later and nearly eight months after the dispute remarks passed between Williams and Hutchinson, there have been no "reprisals" against any Republican senator.

And last month, in a preliminary report filed after lengthy record sifting and public hearings in the investigation, the probers had this to say:

"As we heard here and as the record shows, no specific allegations or accusations of wrongdoing of any kind were made by the committee either directly or indirectly, expressly or implied."

SOME CHANGES

True, the professional investigators said they were going to have some suggestions on changes in liquor commission procedures in handling appeals, and in other operating areas.

When Swainson talked about finances and "secret practices" of the all-Republican Audit and Appropriations committee, he probably had in mind the still unexplained arrangement involved in the hiring of an investigator by this group last spring.

The committee chairman, Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield), publicly told Secretary of State James M. Hare, a Democrat, early in October that he—and the public—would be informed about James Teahen, former Republican senator from Owosso, at the "proper time."

Reports, still unconfirmed, circulated in the spring that Teahen was on a $100 per diem basis.

Swainson believes that the public is entitled to know how its money is being spent, and on some sort of current accounting basis.

THE BERRYS By Carl Grubert

Inaugural Balls to Be 'Coequal'

Festivities Will Occur in Four Separate Spots in Nation's Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — A million dollar celebration is being planned for the second inauguration of President Eisenhower.

A weekend of festivities will be climaxed with four separate but "coequal" inaugural balls on the evening of Jan. 21 to take care of the anticipated crowds, the committee planning the program decided yesterday.

* * *

"There will be no second-rate balls," Chairman Robert V. Fleming announced, adding that all four will be visited by the President and Mrs. Eisenhower and Vice President and Mrs. Nixon. Two were held in 1953, but the committee decided more were needed this time. They will be held at the National Guard Armory and the Sheraton Park, Statler and Mayflower hotels.

Fleming estimated the committee will raise and spend between $800,000 and a million dollars, exclusive of the costs of the inaugural stands and incidentals at the Capitol for the public oathtaking ceremony and Eisenhower's inaugural address. A congressional appropiation will pay for that.

* * *

The 1953 inaugural cost about $700,000 and inaugural ball tickets that year were $12 each. Fleming said the added cost would probably put them up to $15 for next year.

The committee, meeting formally for the first time, decided also to picture both Eisenhower and Nixon, side by side, on the inaugural medal, a two-inch bronz disc. Past inaugural medals have carried only the likeness of the President.

* * *

Fleming said the inaugural parade will be much shorter than the 4½-hour line of march in 1953 but will still be a "colorful, adequate and interesting parade."

To help keep it moving, the committee arranged for television monitoring at various points so the parade marshals can keep track of each unit and dispatch jeeps by radio to speed up any laggards.

Republic of Liberia Honors Henry Ford

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Grand Band of the Order of the Star of Africa, one of the highest decorations of the Republic of Liberia, has been presented to Henry Ford II.

Ford received the honor Thursday at a presentation by Ambassador George A. Padmore in the Liberian Ambassy. It marked the birthday of Liberian President William W. S. Tubman.

Padmore said Ford was honored for "distinguished services in the industrial field, as well as for his humanitarian and philanthropic character in promoting better international understanding."

Ford replied that "under President Tubman's administration, enormous strides have been taken by his country."

His policy, Ford said, "has brought stability and security to its citizens at home."

Newspaper Appeals for Christmas Cards

GOLDSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The Goldsboro News-Argus made a public appeal Thursday for letters and Christmas cards for the Army Chief of Staff, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Taylor signed a regulation this week stating that "the exchange of cards will be discouraged" between civilians and military personnel on duty with the Department of the Army. Such exchanges, he said, are unnecessary among people who see each other every day.

The News-Argus suggested in a front page story that the General "might have lost the Christmas spirit."

Grand Trunk Employe Retires After 40 Years

A Pontiac resident since 1919 and a yard conductor for the Grand Trunk Railroad for 40 years Benjamin F. Clark, 120 Stout St. was given a sendoff yesterday as he stepped into retirement.

Clark left today for his former home in Massachusetts where he will spend several months before returning to Pontiac.

Ex-Soviet Diplomat Carries Own Bags

NEW YORK (AP) — An ousted Soviet diplomat, spurned by longshoremen when they found out who he was, carried his own luggage aboard the liner Queen Mary yesterday.

Konstantin Ekimov, first secretary of the Soviet Union U. N. delegation, was ordered expelled last Oct. 29. He was accused of helping to spirit American-born Tonya Chwastov, 2½ years old, out of the country with her father, Alexei Chwastov, a Russian refugee.

The Senate Internal Security subcommittee termed the Chwastov affair a case of "kidnaping" the little girl. The child sailed on the Queen Mary last Oct. 3 with her father. Her mother, Mrs. George Diaczok of Detroit, is in England fighting for her custody. The father and child were held in England after their arrival there.

Malaria fever has been brought well under medicinal control, but there are still about 250 million people in the world who are made invalids each year by this fever.

Offers to Pay Cost on Airport Bonds

DETROIT (AP)—American Airlines has offered to pay the extra cost involved in selling Detroit-Wayne Major Airport revenue bonds.

The money from the bond sale would be used to build a hangar and freight terminal at Wayne Major for the airline. A spokesman said American would pay up to one per cent additional interest because construction bids on the two buildings were less than expected.

There has been no bidding on the bonds because 3¾ per cent maximum limits was placed on the interest rate.

Bids for construction of the hangar and freight terminal totaled $2,585,000. Cost had been estimated at three million dollars.

Rival of Radio Station Pays for Free Air Time

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — At a Public Relations Assn., banquet, Radio Station KROY offered a door prize of $45 worth of commercial air time.

The winner?

Keith Collins, general manager of Radio Station KFBK.

U. of M. Considers Health Insurance

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A student health insurance plan which would go into effect next fall is under consideration by the University of Michigan.

A committee of five University administrators is studying the project.

"So far the reaction of the committee is favorable," said vice president Marvin L. Niehuss, chairman.

The proposed plan is designed to take financial burdens away from students in the event of medical emergency and to provide them with "better, more complete medical care."

Under discussion is whether the program would be compulsory, what part of the cost should be paid by the students and how complete the coverage should be.

Edith Adams Now Has Star's Dressing Room

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Edith Adams had come up through television and the swank saloons to the star's dressing room in a Broadway hit.

Her cigar-smoking, mustache-tweaking, TV-star husband, Ernie Kovacs, was helping her fit up the dressing room when he announced:

"There's one thing the room lacks."

★ ★ ★

Removing a half-smoked cigar from his mouth, he placed it on the edge of the dresser, where it perhaps remains even now.

"You're right, that's better!" Edie said, hugging him.

ERNIE and EDIE

There've been some changes made at the St. James since these TV folks came along and went into "Li'l Abner." Edie started furnishing her dressing room before the opening night—which is supposed to be bad luck in the theater.

Nor does Edie say, as many actresses might, that she has now achieved the very heights of her ambition in the role of "Daisy Mae."

Instead she looks at Ernie and asks, "Next time, huh?"

"Next time, Baby," he says.

★ ★ ★

She means that next time she'll truly be the star—her name billed over the title. Now it's billed under the title, but she does have the star's dressing room. And Roz Russell, with whom she appeared in "Wonderful Town," recently reminded her, "I told you that in three years you would have your own show. And it's only two-and-one-half!"

Ernie spoofs the star's dressing room bit.

"In television we gag it," he says. "On the star's dressing room we usually put up a sign saying 'Men's room' or something."

Blond Edie, who's from Wilkes-Barre, Grove City, Pa., and various New Jersey points, has been in TV probably longer than Ernie—starting away back when she was "Miss U. S. Television"—and by now is accustomed to most of that industry's foibles . . . and her husband's.

Wife-like, she totes a dozen or 15 cigars for him when they travel.

"One night a perfume stopper came out," she says, "spilling all over my bag."

"Have you ever tried to smoke a perfumed cigar?" asked Ernie, still indignant.

Into the dressing room Ernie brought, one night, an Elvis Presley handkerchief he'd purchased for Edie in a Times Square store.

"Just as I was buying it," he said, "a woman came up for my autograph. She said 'You are—,' and I nodded. Then she saw what I was doing, and hesitated. I suspect that she wasn't sure she wanted my autograph after that."

Busy as he is with his own chores, Ernie must watch his wife's health, too. Visiting her out-of-town before the show got to New York, he got worried.

"Her ribs were sticking out . . . there was no chest whatever," he told me with a worried look.

"I put her on a diet to make her gain weight.

"I made her eat cakes, desserts, ice cream. I gained seven pounds!"

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Bobo Rockefeller wants to buy a hunk of the Little Bohemia to give her "something to do" . . . Maurice Evans of "Apple Cart," a gentlemen, gave his star's dressing-room to Signe Hasso . . . Lawrence Welk's son, 16, will shun show biz; he'll study law . . . Treasury agents are checking backstage perfume and jewelry salesmen to see if they're also peddling narcotics.

Henry Fonda's son Peter is dating dancer Linda Lynch . . . Sign in the kitchen of a local Hungarian restaurant: "Waste no food while Hungary starves!"

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Quick Dialogue: "My wife talks to herself" . . . "You're lucky."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Marriage," says Al Hibbler, "is when a girl has to change her name and a guy has to change his habits."

"A cocktail party," says Fred Chiaventone, "is where they serve yesterday's left-overs and tomorrow's hang-overs." . . . That's earl, brother.

Elections to Be Held

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Bucharest radio announced today new elections for the Romanian Parliament will be held Feb. 3.

Miffed GI Pelts Girl, Neighbor

No One Is Injured in Shooting Spree After Being Locked Out

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Police said an Army private sprayed eight revolver shots around a suburban neighborhood yesterday after being refused admission to a girl's home.

* * *

They identified him as William E. Smith, 18, of neighboring Hanley Hills, home on furlough from the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland.

Smith went to the home of Alene Roe, County Patrolman James E. Brooks said, and forced his way in. Only Alene and a younger sister were there. After making threatening remarks about Alene's stepfather he left, but returned and fired three shots at the front door lock, breaking in. Then he shot once at a neighbor, three times at a nearby house, and once at the girl as she fled for help.

* * *

Police were called and talked Smith into turning over a .22 caliber revolver and four remaining shells. He later was turned over to military authorities.

Alene, 16, said she had dated Smith for a while but hadn't seen him in about two years.

Seize Bank President in $580,000 Shortage

ELLENVILLE, N. Y. (AP) — The FBI seized a bachelor bank president in this Catskill resort last night in connection with an alleged $580,000 shortage.

FBI agents arrested William Richard Rose, 51, president of the Home National Bank of Ellenville. They took him to the county seat at Kingston, where he was arraigned before a U. S. commissioner early today on a charge of violating the Federal Reserve Act.

Rose was born and raised here. His father, the late William C. Rose, was president of the Home National Bank. The younger Rose joined the bank as a clerk in 1922 and became president in 1941.

He is a civic leader and a former treasurer of the Methodist Church. He was a navy officer in World War II.

Find Car Thief Suspect Loaded With Money

FLINT (AP)—An Oowosso man held here for investigation in two burglaries had $1,300 in cash hidden in his automobile and two bank books showing a balance of more than $11,00, Flint police reported.

John Skok Jr., 37, was arrested yesterday near a radio repair shop which had been burglarized.

They said $1,315 was found hidden under the floor mat of Skok's car. Two bank books in his possession shoed he had $10.00 in one Owosso bank and $1,000 in another."

The reserves of natural gas in the U. S. were set at from 70 to 100 trillion cubic feet, according to estimates of the national resources planning commission recently.

Skilled Help Scarce, Hiring to Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department said there is a growing shortage of skilled labor and a general tightening of the labor market throughout the country.

And a survey of employers, it added, showed plans for continued hiring into next year, especially in the automobile and aircraft plants.

Job opportunities improved generally throughout the country.

France and Colorado Get 'Lafayette's' Mixed

LAFAYETTE, Colo. (AP)—Mayor C. W. Dinsmore says this northern Colorado town is declining a French invitation to help celebrate the 200th birthday next year of the Marquis de Lafayette.

"I'm sorry we have to turn it down," he said today of the official government invitation. "Our town was named for Lafayette Miller, a rancher."

How Much Home Work Is Right Amount?

By JANICE HAYHOW

Just how much homework should a student be required to do in various stages of his school days?

Parents wonder, students wonder and teachers are never too sure just what they can assign without causing a furor.

General consensus of opinion in the Pontiac Schools is that homework should be given—not too much and not too little—depending on the individual class and the students' capacities to grasp subject material.

There is no general policy from the Pontiac school board toward homework. In general the teachers decide the amount and content to be given to students.

Francis Staley, principal of Pontiac High School, says he recently visited 33 former Pontiac High students now at the University of Michigan. "Their story is 'give us more homework'," Staley said. The major complaint of the students is that they don't know how to study.

"College preparatory students should definitely have homework and quite a bit of it. They need to learn how to study before college," he said.

"Actually the question of homework is up to the individual student. Some students give more work than others. Some have to work harder than others to get the same marks," he said.

DEVELOPE RESPONSIBILITY

Mrs. Ann Ess Morrow, English teacher at Pontiac High, feels that "homework is necessary to develop a feeling of responsibility and sense of obligation that have to be met.

"I think it calls for great skill to know the exact amount of homework that should be assigned. I do think that teachers should take into consideration outside extra curricular activities like school concerts, etc. when assigning homework," she added.

On the elementary level in the Pontiac Schools, there is very little homework.

Lester Stanley, principal at Wever and Hawthorne Schools, says "In most cases, it isn't necessary."

John F. Perdue, Bagley principal, say homework isn't encouraged because the emphasis on teaching today differs from old time emphasis which was on subject matter alone.

"Teaching today," Perdue says, "means recognition of creative abilities of pupils and they are given more opportunity to express themselves in a creative fashion. We feel this gives a child more self control, poise and understanding."

Covering the middle of the road and in the logical position to do so are the junior high schools in Pontiac which use their class periods for recitation as well as supervised study for the next day's lessons.

Kenneth F. Nagley, principal at Eastern Junior High, says, "It seems to be desireable to have some homework. With the material to be covered, it's partially impossible to study it all in class periods.

MINIMUM OF HOMEWORK

"I personally feel that homework should be at a minimum, though, Nagley said, "because there are many home activities and responsibilities students have with their parents. A good home life in the evening when the family spends time together is very desireable.

"Students have to learn self discipline," he continued, "and this responsibility of doing work outside of school is good training."

Mrs. Edna Roush, Madison English teacher, says, "We do give homework here in the English department. I give homework to eight A's and ninth graders because I feel they need it to cover work they will have to go ahead and do in high school.

It's actually more work for the teacher to assign homework because she has to correct it, but I think it's well worth while."

Sometimes parental and student opinion varies from that of the educators. "If we have complaints from parents about too much home work," Staley said, "we always pass the information that parents are complaining on to the teachers."

And the students? It's been the privilege of students since schools were invented to complain about the overloading of homework.

Keeps List of Subversives

FBI Watches Pearl Harbor Safety

HONOLULU (AP) — FBI agents here are ready to strike at a moment's notice to arrest potential subversives throughout the territory of Hawaii.

A well-kept watch list is in FBI files here. The agents cooperate closely with civilian police and military intelligence agencies, primarily the Counterintelligence Corps, in compiling the list.

* * *

It gives the latest information, practically up to the hour, of the location of all persons on a "1-A" suspect list.

The FBI had the same type of list ready when the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, although its Honolulu office opened only in 1939.

The FBI's first order when it opened then, from Agent in Charge Robert C. Shivers, was to "make a thorough appraisal of all the factors which have a bearing on the internal security of the islands."

* * *

By the evening of Dec. 8, 1941, a total of 482 people had been interned.

Since the names have changed but suspect lists are still top priority in FBI and Counterintelligence offices.

Most of the information on suspects is obtained from informants, paid or those who volunteer information. What they say is closely evaluated, and the information is coupled with an evaluation of the informant himself. This is to guard against rumor mongers or purposely planted false information.

* * *

But all the reports are filed, day by day, hour by hour, and the names of 1-A suspects are memorized by agents in charge of picking them up—if and when the time comes.

Known espionage agents are rarely arrested during peace time except in case of emergency.

A single arrest may block an operation to knock out a ring of spies, one former intelligence agent said. It also could compromise highly placed informants working inside the ring.

* * *

"As long as you know pretty well who is doing what", he said, "you are in good shape."

The former agent, whose name could not be disclosed, also pointed out:

"The Russians are old pros at this game, while we're still relative amateurs. But one thing is certain—we don't worry too much about the so-called 'prominent Communists' that make the papers.

"It's the quiet man who has been voting the Republican or Democratic ticket, pays his taxes, takes his kids to Sunday school and mows his own lawn Saturday afternoon.

"He doesn't have a police record. You probably would never remember him after passing him on the street."

But the 1-A lists probably have his name if he is involved in espionage or a potential saboteur.

New Directive From Sec. Wilson

Navy Transport Planes May Go to Air Force

WASHINGTON (INS)—The U.S. Navy may soon lose its big transport planes to the Air Force.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson has on his desk a new directive that would amalgamate the Naval planes into the Air Force Military Air Transport Service (MATS).

Earlier this week, Wilson issued a sweeping order which took long-range missiles from the Army and turned them over to the Air Force.

Wilson, it was learned, was also on the point of signing another directive to give the Navy's transports to the Air Force, but he granted a desperate plea by the Navy to allow their officials more time to present opposing arguments.

The order would transfer approximately 200 four-engined planes belonging to the Navy's fleet logistic air wing. Water-based transport aircraft and ten land-based passenger planes used by high Navy officials would be excepted.

The draft of the directive Wilson is considering states that "transport aircraft engaged in scheduled point-to-point service or aircraft whose operations are susceptible to such scheduling" should be under a "single management" system.

The sweeping provisions of the order would also transfer to MATS all Air Photographic and Charting Services, Air Rescue Services, the Airways and Air Communications Service, the Air Weather Division, and the Air Force's "Special Air Missions" Unit that operates planes for high officials—including President Eisenhower.

This would make MATS the super-transport agency that its founders envisioned in 1948. Wilson's order would state that its provisions must be made fully effective, in the U.S. and overseas, by Jan. 1, 1958.

The draft of the directive rules out competing military transport services, and would permit MATS to charge the Navy and Army at commercial rates to distribute the costs of the airlift.

Girl Sues Musician for 1954 Accident

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A $210,000 suit has been filed against Conte Candoli, a musician, over a 1954 auto accident in which ballet dancer Yvonne Mounsey was injured.

She sued as Mrs. Yvonne Hughey, her legal name, asking $160,000 for personal injuries and $50,000 for the death of the baby who died after a caesarean section. She said the operation was performed to save her life, the accident making her an "obstetrical cripple."

Candoli's car, she alleged yesterday, struck hers as she made a left hand turn in Hollywood Nov. 29, 1954.

Charities Get Oysters

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Four charity institutions here will be given 3,300 pints of fresh oysters by a Louisiana company that shipped them here only to have the Federal government seize them because they did not meet federal there was too much water and not enough oysters. Federal Judge Joe Ingraham approved a company request that the oysters be distributed to charities.

Oil concessions in Venezuela now cover 14,507,656 acres, Caracas reports.

CHAPTER 32

I moved the recorder over beside the phone, found the Stubby number and put it on. After starting the machine, I checked to see if Steve could hear all right over the phone. He said that he could and I started it again.

Anita: Come on, Stubby, let's talk . . . let's have a nice little talk.

Stubby: Don't wanna talk, don't wanna have a nice little talk. Just wanna go to sleep.

Anita: Remember what you were saying at dinner, Stubby? About how you . . .

Stubby: Dinner? We have dinner? Where'd we have dinner?

Anita: At Margiotti's, you remember.

Stubby: That's right, Margiotti's. I got reservations at Margiotti's. Hardest place in town to get reservations . . .but I got them, didn't I? Even tonight, I got them.

Anita: You were telling me about Walter. You hated Walter, didn't you, Stubby?

Stubby: Who says so? Who says I hated Walter?

* * *

I stood there, bent over the machine, straining to hear every word. Stubby's drunken mumbling went on, Anita's voice, husky, insidious, leading him further on. There was nothing that I hadn't heard before, nothing that I had forgotten.

Stubby: Don't remember. Don't wanna talk about it. Just wanna go to sleep.

Anita: Sit up, Stubby! Come on, sit up!

Stubby: Stubby's tired . . . very, very tired.

Anita: Listen, Stubby, let's you and me have a drink, That'll wake you up. There's some lovely Scotch in the kitchen.

Stubby: Too late for another drink.

Anita: We'll make it a nightcap, shall we?

Stubby: Too late for a nightcap . . . must be morning. What time is it?

Anita: It's not even twelve-thirty . . . the evening's young yet.

Stubby: Not for Stubby, it's not young. That's cause I'm drunk.

Anita: No, you're not.

Stubby: Sure I am. Very, very drunk. Tonight's the night to get drunk. Everybody should get drunk tonight. Why aren't you drunk? It's your duty.

Anita: Stubby, wake up! Please, Stubby.

Stubby: Tired, so tired.

Anita: Here, Stubby, this'll make you feel better, this'll wake you up.

Stubby: Don't like Scotch . . . I'm a bourbon baby.

Anita: Here's to us, Stubby . . . bottoms up. There, now you can talk to me, can't you? Walter didn't fall out that window, did he?

Stubby: Who cares about Walter?

Anita: You did the world a favor, think of it that way.

Steve spoke to me. "Connie, it's too loud, it's blurring. I can't hear."

I turned it down. "Is that all right?"

"Yes."

"Did you miss any? Wait, I'll start it over."

"No, this is what I want to hear . . . listen."

Stubby: Drunker . . . the dope was even drunker . . . sittin' on a window sill like that . . . a sittin' duck.

Anita: So you could make it look like an accident, huh? That was smart, Stubby . . . last August, and the police still think it was an accident.

Stubby: Never thought any different. Oh, I'm smart, all right. I'm tired, too . . . I'm tired.

Anita: Wait, Stubby, don't fold up now.

Stubby: I'm so tired I should get a gold medal for it.

Anita: Wait, Stubby . . . oh, damn you, Stubby.

A telephone bell shrill on the recording; it was cut off on its second ring.

Anita: Hello? Well, thanks . . . and the same to you. Who is it? Oh, just a second.

The recording ended. I spoke into the phone.

"Steve, did you hear anything that . . . what is it?"

"Connie, you've got to get that tape to me. Without Kipp following you. If he sees me, it's all over."

"I'll manage somehow. Where . . ."

"I'll wait for you in our block off Third Avenue. Walk down the west side of the street."

"Yes . . ."

"If you can't shake Kipp, don't come. But you've got to shake him. I've got to hear that tape once more. I want to take it down to the office and figure it out."

"I'll get it to you, Steve."

"Hurry . . . but be careful."

"Yes, Steve."

I went to the bedroom, peeked cautiously through one of its windows. Across the street, leaning against a furrier's window, smoking a cigarette, looking as debonaire as an Errol Flynn was my Romeo, Wendell Kipp.

A stately gorgeous model from the models' roosting place, the Barbizon up the Avenue, waltzed past him. He stepped away from the window, the better to catch her rear view. I felt not the slightest pang of jealousy. I prayed that he would jilt me and follow her for a while.

He settled back against the window, his eyes looked toward our house. He preferred blondes.

Back in the living room, I put the tapes in my coat pocket. There was no way I could get out the back of our apartment house; we were completely jammed in by other buildings. I went down the stairs to the vestibule door. I had a plan of sorts.

I waited, listing, until I heard a bus come up my side of the street. The second its nose blocked Kipp's view of our door. I was through it, up the three steps to the sidewalk, racing along beside the bus, keeping it between Kipp and me.

Ninety-nine out of a hundred busses slowed down to a stop at this corner. This one didn't. I ran beside it like a mad woman. Just as we reached the corner, it pulled ahead of me. I scooted around the corner and leaned against a wall, gasping.

* * *

In a moment I could move again, and in a little while I was running. When I got to Third Avenue I took a thorough look at the block behind me. Kipp wasn't in sight.

I started slowly down the west side of Third Avenue, searching for Steve. I heard him call to me before I saw him. He was standing in the narrow entrance to the cold water flats above a butcher shop. I went to him, stepped into the vestibule and put my arms around his neck.

"Connie, the tape . . ."

"Yes, here they are. Steve, should I come to the office with you?"

"No, you go back to the school. I'll call you there. I think I've got it, Connie, but I might be wrong. Maybe it's nothing, a washout."

"But what is it, Steve? Maybe I can help you figure it."

His head jerked up. He was seeing something hideous over my shoulder.

* * *

"Kipp," he said.

He grabbed my wrist, dragged me through the door. He pulled me, stumbling, running, racing, up five lights of stairs. He thrust open the roof door. I followed him through it. He hesitated a moment and I caught up to him.

To our left was the wall of a higher building. Steve turned to the right and, almost before I realized what he was going to do, he had jumped to the next building roof.

"Come on, Connie . . ."

I looked down into the five-story chasm. I shuddered.

"Steve, I can't . . ."

"All right. Stall Kipp off somehow. I'll call you at the school."

He ran to the roof door, tried it. It was locked. He went to the next roof door, and it opened for him. He waved, blew me a kiss, and he was gone.

Steve has found escape but what becomes of Connie? Read Chapter 33 tomorrow.

City Trial Board Setup Criticized

Local Police Association Proposes Civil Service Replace Present System

Police Trial Board Chairman L. Vernon Todd yesterday remained silent about Pontiac Police Officers Association criticism of the present board.

Todd, City Manager Walter K. Willman and Police Chief Herbert W. Straley all said they had no comment about officers' proposal to seek civil service to replace the board.

Todd indicated the criticism might be discussed at the next meeting of the board, Dec. 6.

Officers will vote Dec. 12 whether they will seek proposals to make the change in the April elecion.

They have alleged the present board has no fixed rules of procedure, contrary to the charter, and have claimed Straley has undue influence over board members

Under civil service, a three-man commission would set up a board which would test candidates for the department, test officers for promotion, and function as an appeal board in disciplinary matters.

Officers also would have the right to appeal disciplinary decisions to Circuit Court and the right to petition appeal to the State Supreme Court.

Willman and the officers would each appoint a member to the commissioin, who in turn would choose the third member.

Pontiac firemen, who have been under civil service 15 years, are backing the police plan, according to Charles Evans, chairman of the Firefighters Association executive council.

Pure Gold Coat Replaces Silver for Satellite

DETROIT (AP)—The earth-circling Vanguard Satellite will be coated in pure gold instead of the shiny, silvery outer coat originally ordered by the Navy.

* * *

Brooks & Perkins, Inc., of Detroit, manufacturers of the sphere, said a last-minute Navy change in specifications calls for a gold plating 30,000th of an inch thick.

The first satellite has been completed. But the first two produced will not be gold plated. They will be used only for static and spin tests.

* * *

The Navy gave no explanation for discarding the silvery finish. Brooks & Perkins officials speculated it is designed to improve the satellite's ability to reflect light. Another reason might be that a gold finish would not tarnish as easily as a silver one.

The first attempt to launch the sphere is expected to be made about mid-summer of next year.

The first gold plated satellite is expected to be ready within two weeks.

More Americans on Holiday Trip to Paris

PARIS — Nearly 70,000 more Americans visited this French capital during the first six months of 1956 than in the like period last year. A total of 188,000 traveling Americans holidayed in Paris from January to July compared with 118,000 in the first half of 1955, an increase of 59 per cent.

LISTEN! DON'T TELL

J. L. VOORHEES

Turn on the radio; you hear voices. TV you both hear and see. At the corner men are talking. In front of a store two ladies are talking. Mother, at home, is visiting on the telephone. The air is full of words.

Words wreck or build. Our radio tells us the news; the two men are sure they would do differently; the ladies are discussing a sweet and juicy subject. Mother is excited about a new dress she purchased. To visit is the highest form of entertainment. To gossip is the lowest form of speech.

W. E. SIPLE

To use words constructively is evidence of a fertile mind; to pass along the dregs of conversation is poverty of expression. Words are part of ourselves; they return to uplift us or to hurt us.

Listen! But don't tell if they hurt someone—they'll hurt you in the end.

End of Long Fight One Haircut

The question of haircuts is now old news. The recent uproar in our neighboring Romeo has ended.

★ ★ ★

Robert Phernetton had his hair cut Thursday.

All the fuss that has been made about one measly haircut certainly was out of proportion. But it did add a rather humorous bit of news to brighten up an otherwise tension-filled front page.

Out of the entire ruckus the best advice this paper has noted is from Port Huron. Students of the Port Huron high school have declared full dress war on unconventional dress.

★ ★ ★

This is good news. We are glad to see the students stand up and settle their own problem. One member of the Port Huron student council said, "Dressing crazily is kid stuff. We aren't kids any more."

The Port Huron student council made the point that they don't expect everybody to be a fashion plate, but that good taste is the standard — not the fashion.

★ ★ ★

The council's drive will be carried on by the school's weekly newspaper. This seems like a sane and sensible way for any high school group to solve the problems of unconventional dress.

Anyone for a haircut!

Paper Covered Books Offer New Type Story

One of the interesting developments in the publishing business over the past few years is the tremendous increase in the number of paper covered books.

Originally they were largely whodunits and westerns. However, of late there has been an interesting experiment with the better things in literature. In fact four of the great university presses have entered the field, namely: Michigan, Chicago, Cornell and California.

★ ★ ★

These higher offerings have been favorably received by the public. The low priced, paper back book is easy to read, easy to carry and economical to discard when you bump up against "finis." They fit into the scheme of things and especially into the lot of the traveler.

★ ★ ★

Railroad stations and airports are universally becoming hig dispensers of the twenty-five cent book. The passing public had little or no choice for several years. The covers either depicted a westerner dropping three bad men off a cliff, or the partly bared torso of a young lady who was in obvious distress and danger.

These were the accepted things. No one disputed them.

★ ★ ★

Then, one of the more adventurous publishers dared issue an old time classic. Whether it was to his amazement or merely confirmed a deep rooted suspicion won't be known, but the new move caught on and immediately others began to appear. It was a trickle at first but now it is assuming the proportions of a modest flood.

★ ★ ★

The two-gun brigade and the young woman fighting off an obvious wolf still predominate, but the newer movement is definite and assertive. Some people who didn't dare be seen in front of the onetime lurid displays can now walk before these book shelves with assurance and no apology. In fact you may find some things there that are quite over your head.

We know we did.

Lake Ice Still Thin, Hold Off Skating

Play safe!

This goes for both children and adults this time of year when the lakes are coated with a thin layer of ice. In many cases the snow makes this even more deceiving.

★ ★ ★

Youngsters are overanxious to skate for the first time and in many instances the parents will let them go ahead. Even the adult fishermen need a word of warning.

Carelessness, and the disregard for the fact that the ice is not thick enough, will result in tragedy. It has in the past and will again this year.

A few days wait until sufficient ice is formed will prevent any useless ice drownings. Let's all use this precaution and pass it on to our enthusiastic children.

★ ★ ★

Another few days and the ice will be safe for everyone to enjoy his favorite outdoor sport.

Remember, Christmas is but a few days off. Let's all enjoy it.

Many men consider Sir Laurence Olivier the luckiest man of the year to date. He is making a movie with Marilyn Monroe and, in trying to get a camera shot just right, he kissed her at frequent intervals most of a day.

New Class Enrolling

Frosh Senators

5 Dems and 4 Republicans Invade National 'Campus'

By ED CREAGH
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Senate is like a college in some ways. Freshmen members are subject to mild hazing. They can get an education if they work at it. And you never can be sure, when a crop of freshmen enrolls, which is the most likely to succeed.

★ ★ ★

The freshman class which signs up next January is, as usual a mixed lot.

It numbers five Democrats and four Republicans. One of them, Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, signs himself a Democrat, but consistently gets along well with Republicans.

The Nation magazine recently called him "more conservative" than the late Sen. Robert A. Taft.

★ ★ ★

Two of the "freshmen" are repeaters. Republicans John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Chapman Revercomb of West Virginia have taken the course before.

NOT IVY LEAGUE

This is no Ivy League class. Some of the senators elected Nov. 6 come from wealthy or socially prominent families, of course. Democrat Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, for instance, and Republican Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky.

★ ★ ★

Two are second-generation Americans —Republican Jacob K. Javits of New York and Lausche.

Georgia's Herman Talmadge (a Democrat, naturally) and Idaho Democrat Frank Church stem from families in which public office is a tradition.

Democrat John Carroll of Colorado is a former House member, a lawyer, and a veteran of both world wars.

★ ★ ★

What can be expected of these Senate replacements?

FIRM SUPPORT

Well, President Eisenhower can expect firm support of his foreign policy from at least three Republicans: Cooper, and Javits.

★ ★ ★

Revercomb campaigned as an Eisenhower backer. His reputation as a senator in the 1940s, however, was such that Thomas E. Dewey refused to endorse Revercomb in one of Dewey's presidential campaigns.

As for the incoming Democrats:

Number Clark and Church among the many rising young men in the party.

Carroll refused to go along with Adlai Stevenson's ideas on stopping H-bomb tests and the draft.

★ ★ ★

Talmadge figures to keep quiet for a while, then gradually to let loose in the gallus-snapping, fire-eating tradition of his father, "Old Gene."

Lausche? You try to predict what he will do. Ohio Democrats and Republicans alike have been trying to figure out Lausche for years.

He Crosses Out Our Fears

Days of All Faiths

Man Must Have Anniversaries

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Man just naturally cannot get along without anniversaries: An annual cycle of days commemorating the events and the people that have shaped his own personal life and the culture in which he lives. He has tried from time to time to abolish these special days, but he has never been able to do it. Either he comes back to his old calendar or he develops a new round of observances.

Every family has its day of special significance; so does every nation; and so, of course, does every religion. Tomorrow, the first Sunday in Advent, is the traditional Christian year, which has been followed through the centuries by Roman Catholics, Lutherans and Episcopalians.

Advent is a four-Sunday season, beginning always on the Sunday nearest Nov. 30. The Christian year continues with Christmas, a 12-day season; Epiphany, a season of varying length; Lent, 40 days; Eastertide, 40 days; Ascensiontide, ten days; Pentecost (or Whitsuntide), one week; and a final long season which runs until the next Advent. Some call this last season Trinity; some call it the Sundays after Pentecost.

The year has not always been so neatly arranged. In the early days it began with Easter and consisted of little besides Easter. It wasn't much of a year. It was not until the fourth Century Christians began to celebrate Christmas. When they did, that became the beginning of the year for the Western party of the Church. The East stuck to Easter—and still does.

In the eighth century Advent was made the start of the year. As a season Advent had been kept in scattered places as a sort of extra Lent, leading up not to Christmas but to Epiphany, which was thought to be the anniversary of the Lord's baptism by John the Baptist.

Now this opening season is one of preparation for the Lord's coming (Advent means "arrival") at Christmas. It has a serious, penitential quality about it, but the Church has never been able to make it as solemn as Lent, probably because this particular time of year, the winter solstice, has a tradition of gaiety that goes far back into the dim reaches of antiquity.

Besides, the secondary theme of Advent is the Lord's coming again in the fullness of time, and that is a joyful thing, though tempered, of course, with awe at the Judgment which must also come at the same time.

RELIGIOUS CALENDAR

There are certain definite principles underlying the idea of an annual round of remembering. The first is the value of repetition. Christianity believes in recurring reminders. People who say they would rather emphasize an attitude or a memory all year around rather than on only one day are deceiving themselves about how the human mind works. "He prays without ceasing," said St. Augustine of Hippo, "who prays at fixed intervals."

Another principle behind the calendar is that of organization. The Church year organizes peoples' religious life around definite peaks, giving system to the clergy's teaching and preaching, and to the members' devotions. It sees to it no aspect of Christianity is left out and nothing is over-or under-emphasized.

A third principle is historic continuity. Christians of today, following an annual cycle of remembering the high points of their faith, are inevitably made aware of their link with other generations, past and future, who have observed or will observe the same cycle.

And most of all, drama is involved in the Church year. Every saint's day and every holy day is a dramatic representation of a person or a doctrine, just as, for example, every Fourth of July celebration dramatizes again the events surrounding the American Declaration of Independence.

LI'L ONES

"Just how early is your hike tomorrow, Jerry?"

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Sees Value of Eating Whole Wheat

Following your suggestion I found an old-fashioned coffee grinder, and I grind some wheat every day, for breakfast cereal and for making some of the items given in your recipes.

"Wheat is wonderful food and I love it. Since I began using it, about three years ago, I find I no longer need alleged aids . . . (G. M. H.)

Answer—The main drawback is that it doesn't come ready to "pop" into the oven. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Wheat to Eat.

Four months ago we wrote you in regard to migraine headaches. My son and I have followed you advice since that time. Son has not had a headache since, and I have had only one or two mild attacks. (B. G. C.)

Answer—Thank you. The pamphlet Why Have Headache? is available on request—inclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"I am 62. In the last three years short of breath. Adopted your Belly Breathing. No more shortness of breath. Thanks a lot. Dope on calcium deficiency." (S. S. E.)

Answer—For booklet How to Breathe, which contains instructions for belly or natural breathing, send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope. Likewise for booklet The Calcium Shortage.

I frequently suffer from painful night cramps in my feet. May I have information . . . (W. J. C.)

Answer—Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on "Tetany."

"Might one's tonsils keep one underweight? I weigh 90 and should weigh 120. I eat every kind of food and plenty of it. It occurred to me that removal of my tonsils might be the answer, although I do not have sore throat, etc." (Mrs. F. A.)

Answer—Don't let any tonsil snatcher hear you raving like that — next thing you know you'll wake up, if you do wake up, in the hospital 1½ ounces and $100 lighter. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for pamphlet How to Gain Weight.

"Husband found quick relief from athlete's foot which had plagued him for years, and I from a round sore on one of my feet which would get tender, ooze, and have a tough skin on it, by using ointment as directed in your pamphlet. We are so grateful . . ." (Mrs. A. R. J.)

Answer — Thank you. The pamphlet Dermatophytosis (ringworm, athlete's foot, foot itch, fungus infection) is available to anyone who asks for it in writing and provides stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Mother had a varicose ulcer on her leg. She used your recipe for putting a boot on her leg and it did the work. (R. B.)

Answer—Thank you. Instructions in the pamphlet on Varicose Veins and Varicose Ulcer, available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Will you kindly tell me whether alfalfa tea is all right to drink. My doctor mentioned it and said to ask what you think of it. My trouble is joint pain, off and on." (Mrs. A. D.)

Answer—It is certainly harmless. From time to time someone assures me it is fine for this and that ailment. May we expect a report from you later?

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Before Criticizing—Are You Guilty?

Henry blames his college son for ingratitude and thoughtlessness. But when I showed Henry that he was even worse than his son, he was surprised. It jolted him. He is now making amends. But you college kids should organize your life on the "agenda" plan and be sure you get off appreciative letters at least once per week to the homefolks.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-336: Henry R., aged 44, is a successful executive.

"My son is my big problem," he spoke irritably. "Why, the boy has no sense of gratitude.

"His mother and I have furnished him a liberal allowance ever since he entered grammer school.

"We have sent him to summer camps and the best prep schools. And now we have him in a ritzy eastern college.

"But he takes everything for granted. He doesn't even write home to let us know what he is doing, except when he needs money.

"Surely he could drop us a note once per week to show his appreciation and relieve his mother's mind."

SAUCE FOR THE GOOSE

Henry's objections are all valid. You young people should cultivate the sensible habit of living according to an agenda or daily plan of duties.

When you can sandwich in the many small items that otherwise you will forget or neglect.

But Henry's case has another aspect which you clergymen can elaborate far better than I.

"Henry", I said, "I agree with what you have said about your son's carelessness and apparent ingratitude.

"But did you ever stop to consider that the very same criticisms can be made of yourself? And you are 25 years older than your son."

"Dr. Crane, what do you mean? I show my appreciation for favors done me," Henry defended himself.

"Are you positive?" I answered. "God is your Father, yet you don't even show up in his formal house of worship (church) except on rare occasions. And the church isn't a mile from your home.

"Furthermore, you probably don't call him on the cosmic telephone system (via prayer) unless you also get into dire trouble and death is threatening a close member of your family.

"You say your son doesn't write home but rarely and only phones when he is in need of some cash.

"How does his behavior differ from your own regarding God? There is an old adage that people who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.

* * *

"Don't you think it applies in your case? Before you criticize your son for his neglect of you and his failure to offer his thanks for the many favors you have showered upon him, maybe you better analyze your own record regarding God Almighty.

"God has showered you with blessings and favors, including health, business success and a fine wife.

"Every day you enjoy good vision and perfect hearing and aren't even cripoled or a victim of mild arthritis.

"But when I ate at your home recently, you didn't even say grace at the table though you launched upon a bontiful meal that would have done justice to a royal feast abroad.

"I don't want you to think I am being unduly critical, but human parents who don't show their thanks to their Heavenly Father, shouldn't think it unusual if their teen-age children likewise are quite careless about offering you their gratitude. Doesn't that make sense?"

* * *

Henry was thoughful. He toyed with his pen for a few moments.

"I had never thought of it in that light before," he added. "Yes, I guess it does make sense."

If talented clergymen can elaborate this analogy much more fully than I have been able to do.

But it is a worthy thought which might wake up a lot of good men and women in your community.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Letters Debating 'Haircut' Appear Last Time Today

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Did it ever occur to anyone that it may be the high price of haircuts that's causing all these long haireuts? As one boy said, as long as he couldn't afford a trim haircut when I need it, I may as well wear it Presley style.

Mother of Five Sons

I read about the boy who was expelled from a public school wearing an Elvis Presley type haircut. I believe the boy should have the right to wear the haircut he wants, without being expelled. He is not going to a private school, but a public school.

I have two boys of my own and I want them to be able to choose what they want to wear and how they want to cut their hair, without being expelled from school for it.

James B. Render

Milford

I agree that it would be interesting to see the Romeo principal's haircut when he was 16 or 17. I have seen too many of these haircuts and though it's everyone to his own taste, I think this haircut is very becoming, providing the person chooses the right apparel to wear. But I must agree that a haircut of this sort does nothing for a boy who wears his pants below his hips and his shirt unbuttoned. It gives the impression that he's a tough

I had long hair long before Elvis Presley was ever heard of, and I surely hope people will learn someday to mind their own business. The issue made at Romeo should never have taken place.

J. E. Barnowsky

The school board is right. They have the responsibility of teaching and making young gentlemen and not young hoodlums. We have enough of the low brows already. Let's back those that make the rules for the good of all. The boy tossed out of school is of utterly no importance in comparison with the education of the group as a whole. They must be taught to respect their elders The homes aren't doing a good enough job and so the schools must.

A. M. C.

Concerning the boy who was expelled from school for refusing to cut his hair, I believe the school board acted very wisely. To me, such fads merely represent the constant revolt of children against their parents. When the children are able to get away with such things, it shows laxity on the part of the parents.

As to the Christian principles of the matter, critics of school authorities would do well to read I Corinthians 11, verse 14, "If a man have long hair, it is a shame."

E. Shelby

I cannot understand what is wrong with the teachers in our schools. It seems that every year the try to control more and more the lives of their pupils and parents.

I do not think it is any of the teachers' business what kind of haircut the pupil wears nor what kind of clothes he wears, so long as the clothes are clean, the hair is combed neatly and he or she presents a neat appearance.

I personally do not like the long haircuts, but I do not think a long haircut or a short haircut makes a pupil good or bad. Children are brought up on fads from the time they are big enough to walk and talk. The Lone Ranger, Wild Bill Hickok, Hopalong Cassidy and others. And I imagine these same teachers' children went through the same fads.

Let's make our schools places of learning and opportunity and less a place of dictatorship and prejudices.

Father of Seven

Isn't there any way to put a stop to these narrow-minded teachers who are doing their best to make bad boys out of good boys just because they wear long hair. If these same teachers would apply themselves to the subjects they are supposed to be teaching half as hard as they do to their crusade against long hair and upturned shirt collars, there would be more C's and B's on report cards.

I have two teenage boys and I defy anyone to go anyplace

Writer Says, 'British Have Frozen $280 Million in Egyptian Assets'

By EDWIN SHANKE

ROME (AP)—An Egyptian policeman rolled down the shutters of a French bookstore in the heart of Cairo one day soon after the British-French assault on Egypt began. It symbolized one way the attack on Egypt has backfired on the British and French in a country where their influence has been dominant for decades.

"Egyptianization" is the new watchword of President Nasser's regime. Behind the headlines about Port Said and the U. N. emergency police force, a thorough purge of all British-French influence and interests is taking place, from the business world through the professions, schools and cultural activities of every description. Even history is being rewritten, as Stalin did it in Russia.

Day by day, the government-controlled Egyptian press is recording this upheaval — unprecedented in Egypt's long history. Neutral observers generally consider the British-French invasion has finished them in Egypt and throughout the Arab world.

Many an Egyptian educated in England and France — and there are thousands — say, "they can't Egyptianize our minds." But the process goes ahead steadily, mainly under Egyptian military orders numbered 4 and 5, published Nov. 11 after the British-French-Israeli assault began.

These orders classed the British and French as "enemy nationals," provided for the confiscation of their assets and prohibited transactions with British and French citizens.

* * *

Egyptians appointed by the minister of finance replaced the managers of firms controlled by the British and French. A number of banks and wholesale and retail firms were affected. Shell Oil, one of Britain's biggest enterprises in Egypt, was among them.

Responsible informants said "no one, apart perhaps from a few authorities, really knows what is going to happen pending some final agreed settlement. Technically, the Egyptians could do practically anything with the businesses — sell them, give them away or even reorganize the firms and run them themselves."

One deterent factor is the fact that the British have frozen 280 million dollars in Egyptian assets. Meantime, British-French businesses are in the hands of Egyptians.

Estimates of the total value of the businesses affected range all the way from 210 million dollars to a top of 980 million dollars.

Finance Minister Abdel Moneim Kaissouny, has instructed banks to furnish every facility to Egyptian citizens wishing to acquire shares of "enemy" companies under sequestration to ensure that they are "speedily Egyptianized."

Cairo newspapers chronicle the systematic stripping of British-French influence from Egyptian life.

Organizations regularly appeal for a boycott of all British and French products.

The government has ruled that British and French firms no longer can sue in any Egyptian court.

British and French doctors, dentists, lawyers, pharmacists, engineers and architects have been dropped from their professional associations. This means they can no longer work in Egypt.

Egyptian auditors have replaced their British and French colleagues in business firms.

The Ministry of Communications dismissed all its British and French technicians.

* * *

Reinsurance operations by Egyptian companies, formerly handled through London, are being shifted to other markets, especially Switzerland and West Germany. An Egyptian authority claimed Britain's net annual profit from the business had been approximately 140 million dollars.

Film censors withdrew all British and French movies picturing life in those countries from public showing, as well as films starring alleged Zionist or pro-Zionist actors.

Deputy Education Minister Hamed Nabih announced severance of all cultural relations with Britain and France. He told newsmen his ministry was "reviewing all English and French books and syllabuses now in use in schools and universities throughout Egypt with a view to removing from them any trace connected with Britain and France and their history."

English and French-run schools, he added, "from now on will be 100 per cent Egyptian in every respect."

Felon Admits to Slaying Four

Transient's Urge to Kill Led to Fatal Stabbings During Past Year

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 33-year-old ex-convict has told police that four times in a little more than a year he has carried out an urge to kill.

* * *

Stephen Nash, a 6-foot-2, 180-pound transient, was picked up on Los Angeles's Skid Row yesterday with blood encrusted on his hands and on a hunting knife he carried.

Police say the blood is that of 10-year-old Larry Rice, found dying from 30 stab wounds beneath a pier on the beach at nearby Santa Monica Thursday.

Det. Sgt. Larry Scarborough said the gaunt, toothless Nash admitted killing the boy and then blurted out confessions to three other slayings, adding:

* * *

"I just had an urge to kill. The world was pushing me around, and I was just getting even."

Scarborough said that in addition to the Rice boy's slaying, Nash admitted killing:

John W. Berg, 27, a hairdressing student whose body was found in his Long Beach apartment Tuesday, stabbed three times in the chest and stomach.

Floyd Leroy Barnett, a transient whose body, stabbed and beaten with an iron pipe, was taken from the Sacramento River near a hobo jungle in October, 1955.

* * *

An unidentified man whose body Nash says he dumped off a roadside cliff near Oakland, Calif., shortly after the Barnett killing. Police in the northern California city have no record of such an unsolved crime.

Scarborough said Nash also told of two other knife assaults in which the victims recovered.

After listening to Nash's recital of violence and death, Scarborough said:

"He figures people should be dead; he was the exterminator."

Hungarian Deportees

Youngsters Escape Ukraine

VIENNA (INS)—In a few hours the United Nations will have the documented story of two sixteen-year old Hungarians who were deported to the Ukraine and escaped.

Round-up and escape of these two boys, who traveled mostly by foot across the Ukraine and Hungary was revealed today.

Their first names are common—James and John. Further details will be supplied to the United Nations.

* * *

In one of the sudden round-ups that began about two weeks ago, Russian troops sealed off one of the main streets of Budapest and hauled off every male Hungarian from 14 to 45.

The two boys were installed in guarded trains—cattle cars and third class coaches. The trains headed east via the border city of Zahony to the Soviet Ukraine.

Once inside Russia the boys were processed by Soviet security police and ushered into bathhouses. This is a common Russian practice with political prisoners, as it is with new recruits for the Red army. Full delousing is part of the program, plus shaven heads.

The boys who had not known each other before, decided—as youngsters frequently will—on a bold decision.

Their clothes were on benches near them. A steamed window was in front of them. They grabbed their clothes while the guards waited outside.

Then they broke the window and, half-dressed, catapulted themselves outdoors. In the darkness they dressed fully. Once they had braced themselves against the wintry weather, the boys walked quickly westwards.

They crossed the common Soviet-Hungarian frontier and took their bearings in Hungary proper.

HEAD WEST

As nearly all Hungarian youngsters can do today, these youngsters displayed a canny political sense. They asked peasants utterly loyal to the revolutionaries what were the best routes west.

By train, bus, automobile and mostly afoot they made their way to the Austrain frontier.

These were youngsters who participated in the revolution. They served as couriers, and by running ammunition when there was any.

It is such kids that the Kadar regime, propped up by the Soviet army, demanded be returned from Ausfria. Nobody, above all the government here, is expected to honor this demand.

Head of Home to Show Slides, Speak at Service

Dr. R. E. Boyer, superintendent of the United Presbyterian Mt. Pleasant Home for the Aged, will speak at 7:30 tonight in the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

He will speak and show colored slides of the Home and the work being done there. Refreshments will be served.

At 10 a. m. Sunday, he will speak in the Oakland Avenue Church and Sunday evening in the Drayton Plains United Presbyterian Church. Those attending services at the Oakland Avenue Church are asked to bring a canned food offering for the Home.

Oakland Ave. Youth to See Film Sunday

Sunday night will be Youth Night at the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. The film, "The Shield of Faith" will be shown.

The story of the picture concerns a teenage basketball player who nearly got into a scandal, and because of his Christian testimony kept the team from accepting a bribe.

The first Sunday night of each month is set aside for the youth of the church and community.

they have lived, have worked or attended church, and find anyone who won't say my boys are good boys. But go to the school they now attend and ask and your answer will be that they are trouble-makers and no good little hoods.

It's not fair that I should spend half my life raising my boys to be good just to have a few stupid adults tear it all down. Am I fighting a losing battle or is someone higher up going to inform these teachers what they are doing to our boys and put a stop to it.

Mother Who Cares

Relative to the letters pertaining to the haircut question, it is astonishing how many people miss the point.

The primary factor lies not in the haircut but rather in the deliberate infraction of the rules set forth by the school board and conformed to by all the other young people.

Some letters mention dictatorships and completely overlook the fact that our daily lives are dominated by rules and regulations set up by the dictates of convention, by state and federal government, by our churches and our schools and in our great country, especially the Ten Commandments, yet our prisons and juvenile homes are full of those who could not or would not conform, perhaps because they were never taught obedience at an early age.

I believe this boy would pass a master milestone on the road to good character if he would trim his locks and join his classmates good-naturedly, admitting that he, too, must learn to abide by rules and regulations set forth by his superiors.

If he doesn't learn regimentation in his youth, how will he ever hold a job under labor dictates, live as a law abiding citizen, a good man or even listen to the dictates of his own conscience.

Ima Wandrin

(Editor's Note: Because the issue has been settled by the Romeo boy's getting his hair cut, we have printed all the letters about it that we have received today and will discontinue running any further discussion of it.)

Winter Holiday Brings Gay Rejoicing

For more than 2,000 years Jews have celebrated Hanukkah as a reminder of the first battle on behalf of religious liberty in recorded history.

The story of Hanukkah is being retold in synagogus, religious schools and at family gatherings during this eight-day Festival of Lights.

The winter holiday is observed by Temple Beth Jacob and Congregation B'nai Israel with worship, home and class parties and an exchanging of gifts as well as contributions to charity.

As recorded in the Books of the Maccabees, the story tells of the gallant fight waged by a handful of Jews against the mightiest army on earth.

For three years, Jewish warriors, led by Judah Maccabee, battled the Syrians who had contaminated the Temple in Jerusalem with images and tried to compel the Jews to bow down to them.

Finally, victory came to the Judeans and their first act was to resanctify the temple. The word, Hanukkah, meaning edication, refers to that ceremony of reconsecration.

A legend tells of the way that the supply of oil, used for the Temple lamps, lasted for eight days when it was thought it would endure but for one. The legend symbolizes the survival power of an ideal like religious freedom.

On each night of the holiday, celebrants light an additional candle in the Menorah, the Hanukkah candelabrum.

Other festivities are pageants, holiday songs and re-enactments of the story are staged in children's assembly program. Rabbis stress the need to keep alive the flame of spiritual liberty.

The holiday is variously known as the Feast of Lights, Feast of Dedication and the Feast of Religious Freedom.

The eating of "Latkes" or potato pancakes, is a traditional dish for Hanukkah. The reason is: When the Jewish soldiers, in their pursuit to drive out the enemy during the revolt passed through many Jewish hamlets, tired and hungry.

There wasn't ample time to prepare elaborate meals so the Jewish women prepared hurried delicacies in the form of "potato latkes."

From that time on, Jews throughout the ages, as a remembrance, have included the cakes during meals served at Haukkah

When Jews would gather to study the Torah against the edict of their oppressors, and were found, they would start to play with the dreidel, which they always carried with them.

They would explain they were gambling, and not studying the Torah. As soon as their questioners left, they would immediately resume the reading and study of the Holy writings. The little dreidel saved many a Jewish life.

CELEBRATING HANUKKAH — Known as the Feast of Lights or the Feast of Religious Freedom, Hanukkah is being celebrated for eight days by Jews throughout the world. At this time, special services and parties are held, Children put on performances, Hanukkah songs are sung and gifts are exchanged both at home and during religious classes. Presents are wrapped in special festive paper. Shown are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jacobs of 1059 Canterbury road with their children, Allan (left) and Jerry. The season's eight sessions are dedicated to the theme: "To restore all things in Christ." They are held on the Saturday before the second Sunday of each month from October to May.

There is no set fee. Men of all denominations are invited. Reservations are obtained by calling LOgan 5-1525 or LUzon 2-6833. The purpose of Days of Recollection, as outlined by the late Pope Pius XI, is "to bring peace to men and carry them upwards to holiness of life."

Kentucky Colonel Slated to Speak at Tabernacle

Dr. Andrew Johnson, a Kentucky colonel, and former candidate for Vice President of the United States on the Prohibition ticket, will speak tonight at 7:30, Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. in the Evangelistic Tabernacle, 60 N. Tilden St., in Huron Gardens.

The public is cordially invited to attend. The Rev. A. J. Baughey is the pastor.

Set Up Curriculum for Alaska College

A tentative academic program for the Alaska Methodist College, to be established in Anchorage, has been approved by the national Alaska Methodist College Committee.

Meeting at Denver University, the 20-member committee has agreed that the curriculum of the four-year college will be based around instruction in three liberal arts divisions: the humanities (English, foreign languages, music, etc.) the social sciences, and mathematics and the natural sciences.

The committee is composed of Methodist ministers and laymen from the United States and Alaska, and is an agency of the Division of National (home) Missions of the Methodist Church.

First Methodist Announces Plan

Remodeling Program to Cost Congregation $30,000

The Rev. Paul T. Hart announces the remodeling plan for the First Methodist Church, Saginaw at Judson streets.

For some time the Board of Trustees has been studying the needs of the church to make the facilities more adequate.

The pastor and proper laymen's committee have worked out a remodeling program which will give the most with the least expense.

With the help of architects and contractors, the group has made the following plans:

The present parlor on the first floor will be converted into two church offices. They will be near the Judson street entrance.

A completely new floor covered with asphalt tiling is marked for the first floor. The folding doors and tracks will be repaired.

Two new lavatories will be located on the south side of the church near the kitchen.

A parlor 20'x45' will be provided on the north end of the gymnasium. This will leave a 60' basketball playing court. It will be furnished for mid-week functions and group meetings.

The Rev. Mr. Hart hopes to have an altar there for small weddings.

A kitchenette is planned for the present church office space to be used by fellowship groups.

An assembly room will be provided above the parlor. It will be divided by modern folding doors making possible three more class rooms.

The present shower room will be gone over and the church balcony will be reinforced.

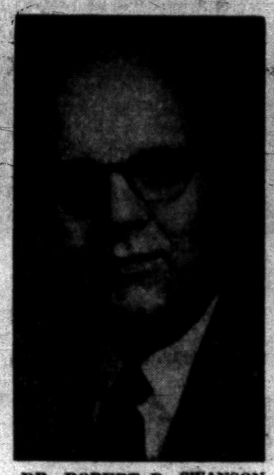

The banister railing will be raised and the balcony floor covered with vinyl plastic tile.

The cost of the plan is estimated around $30,000. This amount includes furnishings.

Norman Legge has been appointed general chairman of the program.

Alma President Dinner Speaker

Bradley Scott in Charge of Kitchen at Men's Club Dinner

Advent Communion will be celebrated at both the 9:30 and 11 o'clock worship services of the First Presbyterian Church Sunday. Dr. William H. Marbach will deliver the Communion meditation at both hours.

The Pioneer program for Junior Highs at 5:30 p. m. will include a film, "The Spirit of Christmas." Devotions will be led by Diane Hillman. Mrs. Marvin Hillman and Mrs. Mallory Coleman will be in charge of refreshments.

Gary Van Ryzin will lead the Tuxis discussion for Senior High young people on "Social Code" tomorrow night. Paul Tremper will lead devotions with Betsy Bradley providing refreshments.

Dr. Robert D. Swanson, president of Alma College will address the Men's Club at the 6:30 dinner Wednesday evening. "The Creative Minority in Higher Education Today," will be his subject.

A graduate of Park College with a B. A. degree in history in 1937, Dr. Swanson studied at the University of Iowa, then returned to Park College as director of physical education for a year.

In 1941, he was graduated from McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago and in 1950 received his Doctor of Divinity degree from James Milliken University.

Dr. Swanson served in the Pacific Theater during World War II. In 1946, he became dean of students and assistant professor of homiletics at the McCormick Seminary and in 1949 was elected vice-president there.

Active in both college and church affairs, he has been a member of the executive committee of the Council on Theological Education of the Presbyterian Church U. S. A. The Swansons have a daughter, Sally, and a son, Mark.

Bradley Scott and his kitchen crew will prepare and serve the dinner.

Installed at New York

The Rev. Mark Shedron of New York, formerly of Bowling Green, Ohio, was formally installed last week as executive director of the department of pastoral services of the National Council of Churches at New York's Riverside Church. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor emeritus, conducted the service.

3rd Mission for Dr. E. C. Blake

Church Leader to Spend Yule With Alaskan GIs

The National Council of Churches has announced that its president, Rev. Eugene C. Blake of Philadelphia, will spend the Christmas season with the men and chaplains of the Alaskan Command as the spiritual ambassador of many churches at home.

Dr. Blake who also is the chief administrative officer of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., has accepted the invitation of the secretary of the Air Force to spend nearly two weeks in the northernmost territory of the United States. He will leave New York Dec. 14 and return Dec. 28.

It will mark the third successive year the Philadelphian has devoted the Christmas holidays in a mission to the men in the armed forces. Two years ago he visited Japan and Korea in the Far East Command and last year Arctic bases in the Northeast Command of Newfoundland and Greenland.

Dr. Blake will preach at services at Fairbanks, Anchorage, Kodiak, Whittier, and several other installations in the area where members of the armed forces are on duty.

He will visit those in the infirmaries and hospitals, and also will share in the fellowship of churches serving the civilian community in Fairbanks and Anchorage.

In accord with his custom, Dr. Blake plans to distribute cards, with a special prayer for those at home, to GI's attending the services. The men write a message to relatives or friends at home and return the cards to Dr. Blake. Upon his return home, he sends the cards with a special message of his own, to the addresses.

Truman Has Reason for Aiding Church

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. — Principal speaker at a $25-a-plate dinner to aid the renovation of 100-year-old Trinity Episcopal Church here was former President Harry S. Truman. The dinner was held in Kansas City, Nov. 14.

Truman has a personal interest in the old church, which badly needs space for its membership of 300.

He and Mrs. Truman were married there, as were their daughter, Margaret and Clifton Daniel, New York newspaperman.

Carillon Donated to Sewanee U by Founder's Kin

SEWANEE, Tenn. — The gift of a great carillon to the University of the South has been announced by Vice-Chancellor Edward McCrady.

Donor of the carillon is W. Dudley Gale III, a Sewanee graduate and member of the university's board of regents, who is the great-grandson of the university's principal founder, the Rt. Rev. Leonidas Polk, Bishop of Arkansas and later of Louisiana.

The carillon, a memorial to Bishop Polk, will be placed within the Shapard Tower in All Saints' Chapel. Composed of fifty-six bells, nearly five octaves in range, it will weigh almost twenty-three tons.

$500,000 to Aid Youth

A campaign to raise $500,000 for emergency needs of its youth work program has been launched by the Protestant Council of the City of New York. Council officials said about $400,000 will be used to establish a home for dependent and neglected children. The remainder will go to maintain the agency's existing youth centers and create new ones in low-income districts.

Mission Board Elects Bishops

Appoint Two Indians to Higher Positions in Methodist Church

The Rev. Mangal Singh, pastor of Christ Methodist Church in Delhi, India, and the Rev. Gabriel Sundaram, of Hyerabad City, Deccan, India, secretary of the Council of Christian Education of the Methodist Church in Southern Asia, have been elected bishops of the Methodist Church, according to advice received by the Board of Missions, Methodist Church, in New York.

The new bishops succeed Bishop J. Waskom Pickett and Bishop Clement D. Rockey, both of whom went from the United States to India as missionaries and were later elected to the episcopacy.

The election of two Indians as their successors means that all four bishops of the Methodist Church in India are now Indians. Both bishops-elect were in the United States earlier this year as delegates to the General Conference of the Methodist Church in Minneapolis, Minn.

Bishop-elect Singh has been pastor of the largest Methodist Church in the Delhi Annual Conference for several years, and has led his people in the erection of its new educational center. A native of Kainure, India, Bishop Singh attended Lucknow Christian College and the University of Denver, having received a master of arts degree from the latter school.

Bishop-elect Sundaram has long been recognized as one of India's leading Christian educators. Born in Hanumakonda, Hyderabad State, he was graduated from Wesley High School in Secundarabad, India, and rseceived his B. A. degree from Nizam College in Hyderabad.

He also studied at Lucknow University. From 1923 to 1947 he was principal and headmaster of the Methodist Boys' High School in Hyderabad. Bishop Sundaram was named secretary of the Council of Christian Education in 1948.

The bishops were assigned as follows for episcopal administration; Bishop Singh to Bombay; Bishop Sundaram to Lucknow; Bishop Shot K. Mondol to Delhi; Bishop John A. Subhan to Hyderabad.

Bethany Baptist Secures Pastor

Rev. Nelson Dalenberg of Saginaw to Come as Interim Minister

The Rev. Nelson W. Dalenberg of Saginaw will be coming to Bethany Baptist Church as interim minister until such time as a permanent pastor is secured.

The Rev. Dalenberg was graduated from Hope College and McCormick Theological Seminary. He served churches in Iowa, Illinois and Tennessee before his pastorate in Saginaw.

He is president of the Ministerial Assn. there and pastor emeritus of the Saginaw church. Members and friends of Bethany may call him for conferences, sick calls or any other service he can render by phoning the church office.

At the 11 o'clock worship hour Sunday, the Rev. George J. Bennett of the American Baptist Home Mission Society will be guest speaker.

The Rev. Mr. Bennett has traveled extensively in the West Indies. The two pastors will assist the deacons of the church in the ordinance of Communion.

Special music of the Advent Season will be given by the Senior Choir.

How Many Sacrifices?

But don't Protestants believe that every sin must be paid for?" Jim asked his friend, a well known Bible-believing Protestant layman.

"Why, yes," Ted replied, "Protestants have always believed that all sin must be paid for."

"But you don't believe that church attendance, donations to the church, going to mass, and repeating prayers help to pay for sins, do you?"

"No, Jim, the Bible makes it clear that none of our actions, however good they may be, can help to pay for our sins. From the beginning of time there has been only one sacrifice for sin. The Bible says: 'Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many.'" (Hebrews 9: 28)

"Do you mean that there is nothing we can do to help pay for our sins?" Jim continued.

"If we follow the Bible," Ted replied, "it is the inescapable conclusion that there cannot be any further sacrifice for sin. Nothing we do, nothing we give, will serve to gain merit for us in the sight of God. Everything that can be done has already been done in the sacrifice of the Son of God, Jesus Christ."

"Well, then, how do we gain favor in the sight of God?" Jim asked.

"Just by accepting His favor, Jim. Either we must decide to accept God's free gift of salvation through the completed sacrifice of Jesus Christ, or we neglect the offer and thereby cut ourselves off from the mercy of God. The Bible makes this choice clear when it says that 'the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.'" (Romans 6: 23)

Bible-believing Christians know that salvation is based on faith in the completed sacrifice of Jesus Christ. This faith results in the performance of good deeds. Good deeds are a natural characteristic of the believer in Christ, but they are not a means of salvation. The Bible makes this clear when it says: "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God: Not of works, lest any man should boast. For we are his workmanship, created in Christ Jesus unto good works, which God hath before ordained that we should walk in them." (Ephesians 2: 8-10)

Give Yourself Away if You Would Live Joyously

Confident Living

Man Forges Own Chains, Builds His Own Prison

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A few months ago I visited that famous old castle that still broods over the waters of Lake Geneva in Switzerland. Built 11 centuries ago, this is the castle of Chillon, immortalized by Lord Byron's poem about its tragic prisoner.

DR. PEALE

You can see the dungeon where the prisoners were confined, forced to go round and round working a grindstone, year after year.

Byron's poem tells how, inside that dungeon, one by one, the other prisoners died. Finally, this one prisoner was confined there alone. In time he almost forgot he was a man.

His keepers no longer felt they had to keep him in chains; he was a beaten man, chained psychologically.

Then one day, a bird perched on a high casement and sang to him. And that song awakened something within his soul. Without chains, he was able to climb to an aperture where he could look out over the lake and see the shining mountains in the distance. As he looked, he knew he must be free.

• • •

A prison of stone and iron bars almost destroyed this man — but the prisons we create for ourselves are even worse. As Charles Dickens said, "We forge the chains we wear in life."

IMPRISON SOUL

We raise our own walls, put the bars in place and forge the chains around us when we live entirely for ourselves, for what we can get, for our own creature comforts. The soul, the real essence of ourselves, cannot survive self-centeredness. As Dr. Smiley Blanton says in his current best-seller, we must "love or perish."

• • •

We cannot find real life for our souls until we lose ourselves in service and love for our fellow men. If you really want to be free from yourself and have the time of your life all your life, try the joy of giving.

It is easier to prove this at this time of year than at any other. Go out and watch people doing their Christmas shopping. See them in the streets and shops. Attend to your own gift purchases.

Doesn't a strange and exciting change come over you and all the people you meet? Somehow, everyone seems gayer and happier. A sense of joyous expectancy fills the air.

• • •

The gifts we buy and send to those we love at Christmas are material things. It's fine to be able to afford to give them and very pleasant to receive presents from others. But, to find real joy in giving, especially at Christmas and all the year round too, there's something beside material things you will need to give your loved ones and friends.

DON'T HOARD LIFE

And that is the gift of life itself. You and I were given life to share, not to hoard. Lonely people know that you cannot gain happiness by retiring from human fellowship; you find only misery and a sense of self pity. You can only be happy with yourself by giving yourself away to others, by becoming genuinely outgoing.

A good way to start becoming that sort of person is to do something for someone else, not because it will increase your income or your social standing, but for the pure joy of doing it.

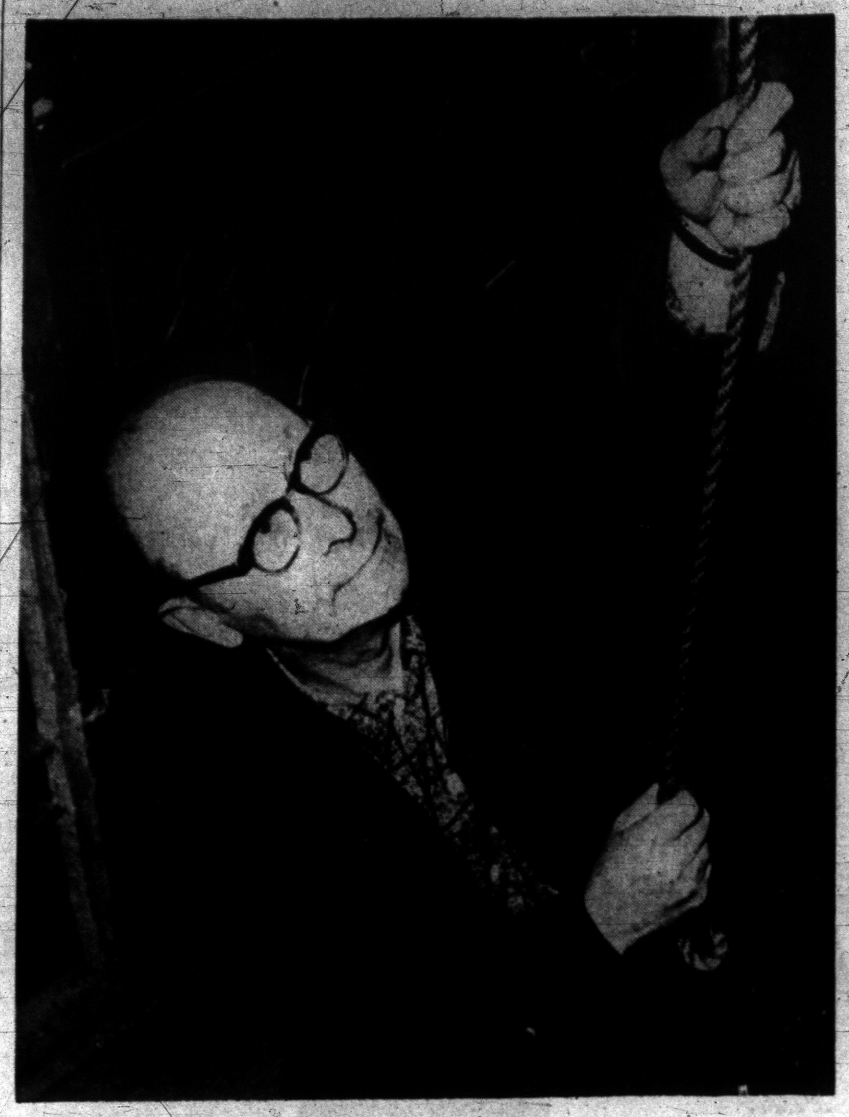

"That's old stuff," you may say. "I've heard that many times before." You're right — it's as old as Christmas.

But don't write it off because it's old. It must be good to have lasted so long.

• • •

Start this Christmas season right. Find real joy this year by giving yourself away. You'll get back more real love and happiness than you ever had before.

RINGING FOR PRAYER — Charles Phipps of Central avenue rings the bell at St. Vincent de Paul Church every morning at 6, at noon, and again at 6 in the evening. At the sound of the Angelus Bell Catholics stop their work and pray. The Angelus has been rung daily since the church was completed in 1886. The Rev. Thomas L. Marcero, a native of Pontiac, is pastor of St. Vincent's.

Angelus Bell Rings at St. Vincent's

The Angelus Bell is rung at morning, noon and night, and at its call Catholic worshipers stop their work long enough to say a prayer which includes the angelic salutation, or Ave Maria. Charles Phipps janitor, rings the bell daily at St. Vincent de Paul Church.

The name is taken from the opening words of the prayer, "Angelus Domini nuntiavit Mariae" (The angel of the Lord declared unto Mary), which is in memory of the annunciation to the Virgin Mary by Gabriel that she should be the mother of Christ.

In 1095, Pope Urban II through the Council of Clermont, France, ordered the church bells be rung every day in the morning, at noon and in the evening and at each time the angelic salutation be repeated.

His intention was to obtain Mary's protection for the Crusades of the 11th Century which had for its objective the rescuing of the Holy Sepulchre from the hands of the infidels.

The life of every Christian is a crusade against sin and temptation, therefore the custom of saying the Angelus is still retained in the church.

The following prayer is said during the ringing of the Angelus:

The Angel of the Lord declared unto Mary and she conceived of the Holy Ghost.

Then the prayer known as the "Hail Mary" is recited: "Hail Mary, full of grace, the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou among women, and blessed is the fruit of mother of God, pray for us sinners now, and at the hour of our death, Amen."

Lord; may it be done unto me according to thy word.

The "Hail Mary is recited again.

And the Word was made flesh, and dwelt among us.

Again the "Hail Mary" is recited, "Pray for us, O holy mother of God, that we may be made worthy of the promises of Christ."

Let us pray: "Pour forth, we beseech Thee, O Lord, Thy grace into our hearts, that we, to whom the Incarnation of Christ, Thy Son, was made known by the message of an angel, may by His passion and cross, be brought to the glory of His resurrection, through the same Christ our Lord. Amen."

In 1859, the French artiest Millet painted the picture, "The Angelus." One of the most popular and best-loved paintings in the world, the original is in the Louvre, Paris.

The painting shows a man and woman stopping their work in the field to pray at the sound of the Angelus bell in the distant church tower. They are peasants in appearance and clothing and their attitude has in it an extreme humility.

Millet sold the picture for $100. Later it was bought by the American Art Association for $125,000. In 1890, a Frenchman called Chauchard purchased it for $150,000 and took it back to France to place it in the Louvre.

Dedication of New Organ Arranged for 3:30 Sunday

The new organ recently purchased by the Gingellville Baptist Church will be dedicated in a special service at 3:30 Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Leon Anderson, organist of the North Baptist Church of Flint, will present an organ recital including classical as well as sacred numbers. Well known gospel songs will also be played.

Several vocal numbers will be sung by Leon Anderson who is director of music at North Baptist.

Following the program, refreshments will be served.

Mrs. George Bryan, Mrs. Lester Mack and Mrs. William T. Miles, music committee of the church, are in charge of arrangements. Friends and lovers of music are extended a special invitation by the pastor, the Rev. William T. Miles. The church is located at 3920 Baldwin Rd.

Abbey of Maria Laach Now 800 Years Old

The noted abbey of Maria Laach in Germany's Rhineland, famous for its religious art, is commemorating the 800th anniversary of its consecration this year.

The monastery's basilica church recently has been restored to its original beauty, the German Tourist Information Office reports, and is the center of a movement towards regeneration of the Catholic liturgy at divine services.

Sacred Selections Chosen by Quartet

The Gospelaires Quartet will present a concert in the Stone Baptist Church on Auburn road Sunday afternoon. The program will start at 2:30.

Among the selections chosen for the performance are: "How Long Has It Been?" "Suppertime," "Peace Like a River," "Something Old, Something New," "In My Father's House," "I'm Climbing Up the Mountain," "Noah" and "Where No One Stand Alone."

Members of the quartet are Larry Farnham, first tenor; Kenneth Orr, second tenor; Giles Goforth, baritone, and Golden Blount, bass.

Glen Farnham is piano accompanist.

Church Council Appeals for Help to Aid in Mideast

In the face of the world crisis which has already made thousands of people in Europe and the Middle East homeless and hungry, a nationwide appeal for emergency contributions of money, food and used clothing was issued by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, president of the National Council of Churches.

More than a million pounds of clothing is urgently needed for Hungarian refugees now in Austria and for Middle East upheaval victims, Dr. Blake declared. All types of clothing, including both light and heavy garments, can be used.

The present need in the Austrian reception centers is for men's clothing, women's underwear and paper diapers, according to cabled information from the World Council of Churches.

Quick cash remittances are most useful however, World Council officials note, since needs vary daily. Money not actually used now for emergency relief will be available for long range rehibilitation work among the dispossesed populations.

Conditions are tragic in the reception centers, despite the fact that emergency supplies have been rushed by the World Council of Churches, Lutheran World Relief, Church World Service and other groups working together on a coordinated Protestant relief plan.

Refugees are bedded down on straw, sanitary facilities are inadequate, and there is no running water. Blankets needed against the winter cold have been flown in from Norway and other countries. Food stocks rushed in by church groups included dried milk, cheese, butter, oil and rice.

Already Church World Service has sent to Austria foodstuffs valued at $100,000, a million multipurpose vitamins, antibiotic capsules and surgical sutures. That agency earlier transmitted $10,000 for emergency financial assistance.

In the middle East, it also cabled emergency funds for aid to refugees in the war-torn Gaza strip. The United Church of Canada sent $5,000 for relief work in Hungary.

Dr. Blake's emergency appeal was addressed to all members of the 35 Protestant and Eastern Orthodox communions participating in Church World Service, which is the National Council of Churches' international relief agency.

Clothing contributed in response should be shipped to one of the Church World Service depots in New Windsor, Md.; Nappanee, Ind.; New York City ,110 E. 29th St.); St. Louis, Mo. (4165 Duncan Ave.) or Modesto, Calif.

Methodists Join in Movement

Dr. Milton H. Bank Asks Congregation Attend Church, Pray

Central Methodist Church is joining in the World Wide Church Attendance Movement from Advent, tomorrow, to Easter, April 21.

The theme is: "The Answer Is God; Worship Him at Church Every Week; Worship Him at Home Every Day."

"I enter the sanctuary burdened by fear, overwhelmed by forebodings concerning the uncertain future, perplexed by problems too great for me to solve.

"In the service of worship I hear God speak. His message is in the hymns, the music, the prayer, the reading of the Bible and in the sermon.

"God speaks to my listening ears. And when the benediction has been spoken, I leave the sanctuary blessed beyond all that which the World can bless. I have heard God's voice. I am thankful for the church where I am privileged to meet God in a service of worship.

"It reminds me every day that I am a part of a fellowship which is eternal. My life is enriched beyond any wealth which the world can bestow upon me." Taken from the Central Methodist Church bulletin.

Dr. Milton H. Bank, pastor, asks members for their daily prayers and for their regular, faithful attendance at church services that, together, they may press on toward "the high calling of Jesus Christ."

'Martyred Men,' Film of 5 Slain Missionaries to Be Shown

The Rev. L. R. Ooton of Tipton, Ind., evangelist and song writer, is holding services at the Apostolic Church of Christ, 458 Central avenue this week. The meetings begin at 7 p. m. on Sundays during the winter months.

• • •

He will be singing several songs of his own composition, among them will be "Love of God," "Love of Jesus," and "To Be Like Him."

On Dec. 8, the film, "Martyred Men" will be shown. It is the story of the five American missionaries who were slain in the jungles of Ecuador by the savage tribe of Auca Indians.

• • •

Mrs. T. Edward McCully Jr., wife of one of the missionaries, and daughter of the Harold Hobolths of North Johnson avenue, has just returned to Quito, Ecuador.

She will care for children whose parents are working in jungle areas. The children will go to school in Quito.

Concert Program Listed

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra, with its conductor, Francesco DiBlasi, will present its second concert of the season Tuesday evening. Violist Paul Doktor, who ranks high among players on this instrument, will be soloist.

* * *

The concert will be held at 8:30 p. m. in Lincoln Junior High School.

Mr. Doktor was born in Vienna, Austria, a city renowned for its great musical interest and development. He is the son of the late Karl Doktor, one of the original members of the world famous Budapest String Quartet, with which he was associated for 35 years.

Paul's education began at the age of 5, under his father's guidance. Later he graduated from the State Academy of Music in Vienna, completing a five-year course in two years. After graduation, while still in his teens, he played violin in Busch's chamber orchestra, touring Europe.

One day, on a week's notice, he was called on to pinch-hit as a violist in a Mendelssohn quintet presenting a concert in Zurich, Switzerland.

He found his real forte and the turning point in his career came in 1942 when he was unanimously awarded the coveted first prize at the International Music Competition in Geneva, the only first prize won by a violist up to that time. Since then, his entire attention has been given to the viola.

In 1947 Mr. Doktor came to make his home in America. Concerts here brought forth praise such as "he is an artist of the highest attainments."

* * *

For three years he taught viola and chamber music in the University of Michigan School of Music. He now devotes his entire time to concerts in the United States and Europe.

The program for Tuesday evening's concert will be:

Overture der Freischütz ..... Weber
Concerto in B Minor for viola ..... Handel
Allegro Moderato ..... (Cadenza by Paul Doktor)
Andante ma non troppo
Allegro molto

PAUL DOKTOR

Margaret Velma Hill and James Rennison Hodges were married today. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sanford John Hill of Wilmington, Del., and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Seward Hodges of Bloomfield Hills.

MRS. JAMES RENNISON HODGES

Couple Exchanges Vows in Wilmington, Delaware

Margaret Velma Hill became the bride of James Rennison Hodges in a ceremony performed in Westminster Presbyterian Church, Wilmington, Del., this afternoon. The Rev. John Watson Christie, assisted by Dr. Donald C. Wilson, performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford John Hill of Wilmington and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Seward Hodges of Bloomfield Hills.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white silk taffeta gown fashioned on princess lines. The empire bodice was accented by a yoke and short sleeves of Alencon lace embroidered in seed pearls and sequins. The full skirt extended into a chapel sweep.

Her fingertip veil was fashioned from a portion of her mother's wedding veil of silk illusion and was secured by a half-hat of taffeta studded with pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley, phalaenopsis orchids and stephanotis.

Susan Elizabeth Hodges, sister of the bridegroom, served the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Barbara Jane Hunter of New Bedford, Mass., Muriel Joyce Cheasley and Patricia Ann Poole of Wilmington. Julie Fitch Wilson performed the duties of flower girl.

ASSIST BRIDEGROOM

Robert Williams Patterson of Birmingham served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Roger Humphry Fitch of Grosse Pointe, cousin of the bridegroom; Thomas Francis Dell of Waltham, Mass., Samuel Charles Robinson of Edgewood, Md., and Milton E. Jenne of Milwaukee, Wis.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in Grace Hall of the church.

The bride is a graduate of Tower Hill School and Wellesley College. The bridegroom was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and served with the U.S. Army at the Army Chemical Center in Maryland.

Following a wedding trip to Bermuda, the couple will reside in Wilmington.

Newest on the fashion scene is the lace sweater. This orlon cardigan has a front and back overlay of matching orlon lace.

Drop Hint Early for Right Gift at Christmas

Do your Christmas hinting early, if you want your favorite Santa to come up with the right answers.

This year a lot of fashion-conscious gals are putting lace accessories near the top of their personal Christmas lists — not only lace-trimmed lingerie, a stock gift item, but also such feminine whimsies as delicate lace scarfs amd mantillas, lace cummerbunds and boleros to dress up holiday dresses, even lace sweaters (with lace appliqued over the cashmere).

There's a lace belt with a huge bustle bow in back, which would add drama to any basic sheath, and a new note this season is a pastel cardigan sweater or orlon overlaid front and back with orlon lace—a practical gift since it can be dunked in the wash bowl and come up smiling.

U. S. Housewife Brings Back Religious Cards

NEW YORK (INS)—Thanks to the influence of the American housewife, religious Christmas cards are again tops in popularity.

Milton K. Harrington, a leader in the greeting card field, says the proportion of reverent cards will be "well over 25 per cent" of the total cards sold this year.

"The innate good sense, good taste of the American housewife has been a determining factor," he said, "in bringing about this dramatic change.

"Wives have again taken over the task of buying cards for the family," he added.

"Actually, they had relinquished this task to their husbands and they—left to their own devices—went in for the gaydog type of thing."

Harrington said that another reason for the return of the old-fashioned Yule card is the general rise in religious thought and church membership.

Most popular sellers this year are nativity and other religious scenes.

Birmingham Rite Read for Couple

Vows Are Spoken by Dona Hagerman and Orrin Gulley

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — At an 8 o'clock ceremony Friday evening in St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham, Dona Hagerman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde L. Hagerman of Eastways road, Bloomfield Hills, became the bride of Orrin S. Gulley Jr., whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Orrin S. Gulley of Riverside drive, Southfield Township.

* * *

The bride's gown of ivory peau de soie was accented by Chantilly lace edging the portrait neckline and three-quarter sleeves.

The full skirt fell in a cathedral train and an ivory illusion veil was caught under a shell cap of silk and lace. Dona carried white spray orchids with ivy and stephanotis.

Cynthia Hadley of Grosse Pointe was honor maid, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Paul Geiger of Milwaukee, Margaret Manning, Mrs. Jeremy John and Mrs. Robert R. Dittrich.

* * *

They were gowned alike in balkrina-length gowns of rust-colored French brocade with off-the-shoulder necklines. Their caps were rust velvet and they carried talisman roses and croton leaves.

JUNIOR ATTENDANT

Jill Morgan, cousin of the bride, was a junior bridesmaid wearing peach organza with a rust velvet cap.

* * *

Robert R. Dittrich was best man. Ushers included Jack Hayward, Jack Wirth, Charles Doverspike, Jeremy John and John Morgan.

Mrs. Hagerman greeted her guests at the reception in Bloomfield Open Hunt Club wearing a beige crepe sheath with a floating panel of matching chiffon, a small beige hat and brown orchid corsage.

Mrs. Gulley's gown was of mist blue peau de soie. She wore a matching hat and carried pink orchids.

* * *

For the wedding trip to Nassau the bride wore a brown and white silk suit under a fur jacket with a white feather hat. The couple will live on 13-Mile road.

Sally Misener, Melvin Ciphers Exchange Vows

In an afternoon ceremony today, Sally Kay Misener became the bride of Melvin E. Ciphers. The Rev. Milton Bank read the ceremony in the parlors of Central Methodist Church in the presence of the immediate families.

* * *

Sally is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Misener of Fairfax street. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ciphers, also of Fairfax street, are Melvin's parents.

Sue A. Misener attended her sister and Mr. Ciphers served his son as best man.

For traveling to California where the couple will reside, the new Mrs. Ciphers wore a light blue suit with corsage of pink rosebuds.

Shower Given for Bride-Elect Jackie Downer

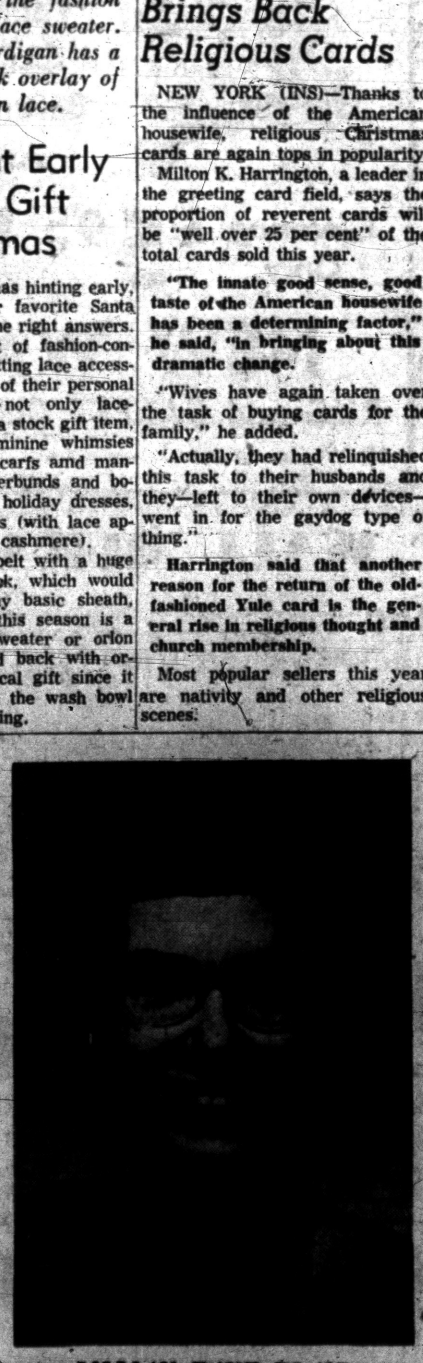

Mrs. Paul A. Wetzel Jr. of State avenue entertained Beta Alpha Chapter of Sigma Beta sorority at a shower honoring bride-elect Jackie Downer. Phyllis Ginell was cohostess.

* * *

Jackie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Downer of North Sanford street, is the bride-elect of Richard Hoehner. He is the son of Mr. and Edmund Hoehner of Westacres.

* * *

Guests at the recent shower were Mrs. Robert Horsley, Barbara McSkulin, Mrs. Paul Beith, Mrs. Stanley Siabinski, Mrs. Richard Anderson, Mrs. Jerry May, Joyce Setter, Mrs. Ronald Weaver and Carol Bolton.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Blair of Watkins Lake announce the engagement of their daughter, Lillian Faye, to Darell Thomas Healey, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. C. Healey of Warringham drive.

Ogla Curtis Wins Honor From Other Newswomen

NEW YORK (INS)—Olga Curtis, women's editor of International News Service, was announced Friday as winner of the New York Newspaperwomens club award for "the best article or column of special interest to women" in the past year.

* * *

Miss Curtis' award was for a series of three articles, "She's New From Head to shoe," telling the story of advances and changes in modern women's wearing apparel due to the growing use of synthetics.

Other newspaperwomen were also given club awards, all announced at the New York newspaper group's annual dinner dance and presented by Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

* * *

The other winners were:

Kathleen Teltsch of the New York Times, for the "best correspondence filed from territory outside the national borders, including U. N. Headquarters," for her story, "U. N. Security Council Action on Suez Crisis."

* * *

Claire Cox of the United Press, for "the best domestic news story written under deadline pressure," a story on the Andrea Doria disaster.

Rosalind Massow of the New York Journal-American for "the best domestic news story written without deadline pressure," specifically "the first published interview with Angelo John Lamarca, confessed kidnaper of the Weinberger baby."

City Manager Discusses CD for Zonta Club

Walter K. Willman, Pontiac city manager, spoke on civil defense at the Thursday luncheon meeting of Zonta Club. Hotel Waldron was the scene of the meeting.

* * *

Mr. Willman, introduced by Mrs. Russell Evans, commented that civil defense, up to the present time, is a matter for each city and that no federal assistance is provided.

There is no uniformity in the program over the nation but efforts are being made to obtain federal assistance, according to Mr. Willman.

He also briefly told of a meeting of the American Municipal Association held recently in St. Louis, Mo., where the necessity of eradicating slum areas was a topic for discussion.

* * *

Before adjourning, members of Zonta moved to support the effort being made to furnish Pontiac with regular air service.

Junior Groups to Meet Sunday

The junior music clubs of Pontiac Tuesday Musicale will meet Sunday for their annual Christmas parties and programs.

* * *

Gary and Deanna Relyea will be hosts to members of the Junior League at their home on Murphy avenue. An ensembe of wind instruments will play Christmas carols.

Student League members will meet at the home of Marjorie Rappaport on East Iroquois road. They will study the solo dancer in the ballet of a Christmas suite.

* * *

"The Early Life of Handel" with Christmas music will be featured at the Matinee Musical meeting. Ann Fisher of Cherokee road will be hostess.

Wear Jewelry With Good Taste

Best way to remove doubt is to strip away a piece or two and emerge looking trim.

Village Women Will Hear Foreign Correspondent

JACK RAYMOND

"The Russian mind is virtually unfathomable according to Western criteria," says Jack Raymond, correspondent of a New York newspaper who has recently returned from an assignment in the Moscow bureau.

He will appear Wednesday at Oakland Hills Country Club to address the Village Women's Club.

A veteran of 10 years of foreign reporting in Europe, during which time he covered not only the Soviet Union but the satellite countries and postwar Germany as well, the newsman will give as an example of the unpredictability of Soviet motives his own experience in trying to travel through Soviet Asia en route to the United States.

Mr. Raymond and Lisa Larsen, photographer for a nationally known magazine, were the first American news correspondents ever permitted to enter Mongolia.

The last Americans to visit that remote and little-known area previously were Henry A. Wallace and Owen Lattimore, who traveled through the region in 1945.

RED CENSORSHIP

Mr. Raymond notes that news censorship is practiced only within the Soviet Union itself. News reports from the satellite countries can be filed without official blue-pencilling.

* * *

Following his news reporting from the Soviet Union, Mr. Raymond returned home this fall for assignment on the home front.

Arriving in New York at the height of the Suez Canal crisis, he was asked his opinion of Russia's role in that tense situation.

This discerning newsman reported Moscow is eager that there be no trouble in Suez and wants to keep the canal open as much as any of the Western powers.

Samuel Robert suggests shining black kidskin leather for dress-up made more exciting by the addition of white mink for collar and cuffs.

Mollie Parnis' jacket costume in white sheer wool is shown here from her 1956-57 resort collection. The slender skirt has blouse top effect of polka dotted periwinkle blue with a turquoise blue wrapped midriff. The semi-fitted jacket has a rolled button collar.

Use Massage on Dowager's Hump

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Today let's consider a few of the defects to which the neck sometimes falls heir. Some of these are the dowager's hump, the bony neck, a double chin and a withered-looking neck.

* * *

The dowager's hump, or the back of the neck, is almost entirely a question of poor posture. Fat also may accumulate in this spot. As a woman grows older this condition will become worse unless she adopts remedial measures. Massage is helpful in getting rid of any fatty deposits. Dig in with your fingertips. Also do the following exercise:

Stand tall. Move the shoulders straight back as you lower your head backward. Slowly move the shoulders forward and lift the head to erect position. Do not lift the shoulders. Continue, doing this exercise slowly.

Watch your posture. Stretch the spine through the region of the neck by keeping the chin parallel to the floor and pushing toward the ceiling with the top of your head.

* * *

Naturally, if you are underweight your collar bones will be more prominent than if you are the correct weight. In this instance a gain will be helpful. There also are exercises which will help fill out the neck. Today I will give you two of them.

1. Stand tall. Raise the right arm sideward, shoulder height, move it upward by the right ear and lower it forward to side. The palm should face the front of the room all through this exercise, and the movement should be smooth and continuous. Repeat 10 times. Do the same thing with the left arm.

2. Make circles with the head, moving first in one direction and then in the other.

* * *

I have given you exercises for the double chin recently. If you are overweight that is part of the problem and a loss will help.

Muscle toning and good lubrication are the corrective measures for the scrawny neck. Pat the cream gently into your neck. Do not massage. Do this daily just as you lubricate your face.

The following is a combination exercise. It is beneficial to the neckline and slimming to the abdomen.

Lie on the floor on your back. As you raise your head from the floor bend both knees up and touch the knees to your nose or bring them as close together as possible. Return head and legs to the floor. Continue.

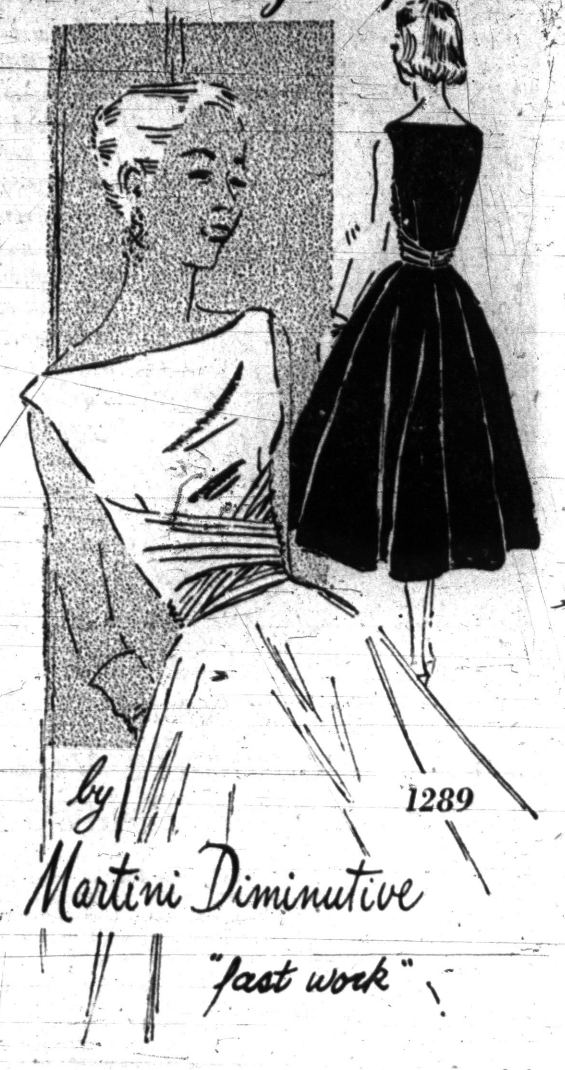

* * *

If you would like to have my exercises for the neck, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 10, "Is Your Chinline a Pain in the Neck?" to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

This exercise is beneficial to the neckline and slimming to the abdomen. Touch the knees to the nose — or bring them as close together as possible.

Pair Wants to Show Off New House

By EMILY POST

A new house owner writes: "My husband and I would like to have a party for the purpose of showing our house to our many friends and neighbors. Will you please tell me how the invitations should be worded, and also what refreshments to serve?"

Answer: If you have double Mr. and Mrs. visiting cards with your new address, you need write no more than, "Open House from 3 to 6 p.m." and the date. Without these you will have to write notes on writing paper addressing each person by name.

For example: "Dear Mrs. Smith: Will you and Mr. Smith come to our housewarming on Saturday December 20th" and also give the time and the address and sign your name. Serve tea or punch (or both) with thin sandwiches and little cakes.

"Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of my husband has been coming to our house for many months. My husband and he call each other by first names but up to now we have used last names and titles and I think the point has been reached where the formality is awkward.

Answer: Simply start calling him Jim and say that you are not going to call him Mr. Jones any more and that you hope he will call you Louise.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Should a man discard his wedding ring after a divorce? I have seen mention of a divorcee's ring. Does the same apply to the ex-husband?"

Answer: I have never heard of a husband's continuing to wear his ring, but there is no rule against his putting his wedding ring on his other hand to show he was married, if he wants to.

Address Christmas Greetings With Care

Cards Should Reflect Spirit of Yule

Here is a refresher course in Christmas card etiquette. The trend today is definitely toward a pleasant, warm-hearted informality.

Signatures may be imprinted or penned in ink, whichever seems most appropriate. Last names may be omitted on cards for close friends and relatives. Consequently titles such as "Mr." and "Miss" or "Mr. and Mrs." will not be used either—except when addressing the envelope

Of course, if the Christmas card is sent to a business or formal acquaintance, both the last name and title may be considered a proper part of the signature.

Married couples frequently wonder whose name ought to come first. Usually it's the wife who signs the cards, so she puts her name last—just to be polite. Husbands in turn will do the same. Both are perfectly correct.

* * *

Only when the signature is imprinted or engraved does the wife's name necessarily precede the husband's. However, any time there are children's names on the signature, Dad rates first place.

ALMOST ANY ORDER

Family signatures may be arranged in almost any order. That is, as long as the proper relationship is indicated: "John and Mary, Tommy and Lucy" or "The Comstocks—All Four."

* * *

The more lilt and imagination a Christmas card signature reveals the better. A bit of whimsey, for example, may be added by including the name of your family pet.

It's important to always write "The Reverend —", instead of simply "Reverend —," when sending Christmas cards to a minister or priest. Why? Because "The" is an adjective of courtesy politely extended to those in god's service.

However, the correct form for Protestant ministers with a doctor of divinity degree is "The Reverend Dr. —" or "The Reverend —, D. D." Initials of a special order or rank should be added to the names of Catholic priests, who are also addressed as "The Reverend —".

Personal news is probably the most important addition you can make to a Christmas card. There's no reason to leave that empty space empty. So write a friendly little note on your cards. Any message that will help keep a friendship in "good repair" is entirely proper and always welcome.

Just remember that the post office requires a three-cent stamp for all Christmas cards bearing written messages. In fact, Christmas cards should always be sent by sealed, first-class mail because, after all, "first-class friends deserve first-class mail."

RETURN ADDRESSES

Post office protocol, in fact, is more closely related to Christmas card etiquette than you may realize. Return addresses on your card envelopes, for example, are socially correct and are needed by mail carriers when people move or can't be located.

And they help bring address books up-to-date, which most of us like to do during the Christmas card season. Then, too, correctly addressed envelopes—neatly written—insure prompt delivery, and also make a good first impression on arrival.

Don't abbreviate anything except titles, such as "Mr. and Mrs." If you want your Christmas card envelopes to be well-groomed, write out the recipient's full name, street and number, town, zone and state. Then recheck for accuracy.

Perplexed postal employes may mistake the Mo. you abbreviate for Missouri for the Me. of Maine, or the Md. of Maryland. While a slip of the pen can send a Christmas card intended for 2711 Main St. to 2171—which could be an open lot.

Take pride in the Christmas cards that pass through your hands. Their appearance, and the sentiments that express, should be in perfect harmony with the joyous holiday spirit. So let yourself go!

Write those cherry little notes in colored ink. Add a friendly invitation to that open house you've been planning. And be sure to display the Christmas cards that you receive where visitors may admire them. It's a wonderful way to add a cheery touch to your living room.

Petite Girl Can Whip Up This Party Dress in Jiffy

Invitation to a party and nothing to wear? Well if you're a petite size you're in luck because you can whip up this model by Sylvan Rich in no time at all.

There are only five basic pieces in the exclusively sized pattern with precise perforations to assure accurate matching and no time wasting.

The cummerbund, which is stitched into the sides, criss-crossed in front and hooked in back, is draped so as not to cut height. The wide boat neckline reveals enough of your neck and shoulders to make you seem taller.

The circular skirt in the new longer length gracefully camouflages a full hip. Choose satin, faille, brocade, taffeta, peau de soie, surah or novelty cotton. From this chart select the one size best for you.

Sizes	Bust	Waist	Hips Inches	Length From Nape of Neck to Waist
10	34	25	35	16
12	35	26	36	16¼
14	36½	27½	37½	16½
16	38	29	39	16¾
18	40	31	41	17

Size 12 requires 5⅛ yards of 39-inch material for dress. To order Pattern 1289, state size, enclose $1. Address American Designer Patterns, Box 535, G.P.O. Dept. P-6, New York 1, N.Y.

Classic Pattern Booklet 12 and all-new Pattern Booklet 13X are available for 50 cents each. If paid by check, add 4 cents.

Make Use of Plastic Bags

Plastic bags will be great time and trouble-savers for you in the Christmas rush. Take full advantage of them.

Here are a few uses for plastic bags which will surely start your imagination searching for new uses. Bread and cake prepared ahead of time will keep well when wrapped in plastic bags and stored in the freezer. Twist the end of the bag and seal it with a clothes pin or a paper-covered-wire fastener.

Candy and pop corn tied in colored plastic bags add interest to your Christmas tree and make nice gifts for visiting children.

Are you going traveling this Christmas? Plastic bags are made in sizes to fit your suitcase for packing. To prevent spilling in the suitcase, when traveling wrap your face powder and powder puff in a small plastic bag and secure it with a rubber band.

By now you have undoubtedly begun to think of hundreds of more uses. Remember the bags are reusable; just rinse them out and allow them to stand overnight with a few paper towels stuffed loosely inside.

This Year Hats Change Pace

Once upon a time, in the very recent past, you couldn't be sure whether a woman was wearing a hat or not, especially after five. A band, a flower and a scrap of veil could double for a hat at almost any function.

This season there is no doubt about it — hats are hats, and the more spectacular the better. Milliner Sally Victor creates a fantasia of holiday headgear ranging from fur bonnets to flower wigs, saying:

"The whole idea is to make women look prettier — and this year's hats can do the job."

Mamie Eisenhower's favorite milliner, the small, energetic and sparkling Mrs. Victor covers the full range of glamorous toppers, using all varieties of luxury furs, jewels, flowers, velvets, satins and feathers for the greater glorification of her customers. The hats are high, wide and handsome — and there's a silhouette for every type.

How to Turn Hobby Into Business

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I make ceramic ashtrays," a young mother writes, "and, if I say so myself, they're quite attractive. We usually give them as Christmas presents and our friends just love them.

"Even my husband's co-workers seem to love getting them, and they are people of means.

"Each year I think I'll continue this after Christmas and make a home business of it, but I've never really gotten around to doing it.

"But this year, since I have already made enough for our Christmas list and have a little spare time, my husband says I should plan how to set up the project. Have you any suggestions on how to go about this?"

* * *

To begin with, this young woman will have to get a name for her wares. Her own first name, done in an attractive script, might do nicely.

Then she'll have to get little labels, with gummed backs, and put one on each of the ashtrays she gives as a present. Labels will make them look like the work of a professional instead of an amateur.

DETERMINE COST

Then she must try to determine exactly what each ashtray cost. She'll have to figure materials, equipment, a small amount for overhead, including electricity for the kiln, plus a good hourly salary for herself.

There are some excellent books on the subject, which I'll be glad to recommend to anyone who is having trouble in this department.

It is difficult to get the price exactly accurate, but when in doubt, add a little extra. Beginners usually put it too low.

She should also keep a list of all the people to whom she sends ashtrays. This will be the beginning of her customer list.

* * *

The next step is a hard one, but it must be done. When people thank her for the lovely ashtrays, she must tell them she's glad they like them, and that she is now in business, in case any of their friends want similar ones.

DO IT CASUALLY

This can be done casually and non-aggressively, but is awfully hard for many people to do. Yet, you'll find that many friends would like to buy them but are afraid to ask for fear of hurting your feelings.

* * *

The final step is to make up about a dozen samples of every variety. Then, after the holidays are over, she can take them to selected gift shops and housewares departments in her community.

If she persists, and doesn't let herself be hurt by turndowns, she will find several places which will take them on concession.

That's why it's necessary to have the price all figured out.

* * *

If you have a problem of this kind, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you a list of books which will help you.

Seymour Lipkin to Appear in Waterford Concert

Seymour Lipkin, winner of the Rachmaninoff Fund Award will appear in concert Monday at Isaac Crary Junior High School Auditorium. His will be the second concert of the season under the auspices of the Waterford Civic Music Association.

Mr. Lipkin, now 28, appeared in concert at the age of four. At eleven he entered Philadelphia Curtis Music Institute where he later studied with the eminent Rudolph Serkin. Later, he took up conducting at the Berkshire Music Center under the late Dr. Serge Koussevitzky.

He has already won much acclaim. New York critics said of him, "This extremely gifted pianist can take a place alongside of the best we know today."

* * *

As winner of the Rachmaninoff award he was named, "foremost young pianist in the United States." He has toured from coast to coast and played with every major orchestra in this country.

Envoys Vie for the Title of Top Host

Spanish, French Ambassadors Are Most Noted

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—With the striped pants set cutting a swath this season in an unprecedented flurry of lavish shindigs, capital party-goers are up to their old game—voting for "Host with the Most," on Embassy Row.

* * *

The concensus up to now has been that Spanish Ambassador Jose Areilza and his chic and titled wife, the Countess of Motrico, are the Perle Mestas of the diplomatic whirl.

Since their arrival here two years ago they've completely redecorated the embassy. Its ballroom is now the largest, most elegant in the capital. Their receptions have been the talk of the town.

Now the new French ambassador, Herve Alphand, and his glamorous, Dior-dressed wife have arrived with a reputation as noted party-givers, and some competition is expected.

* * *

Oddly enough, the two envoys look somewhat alike. Both are slightly balding, with their remaining gary hair slicked back, their eyebrows darkly defined over eyes that twinkle with amusement. Both are dapper, courtly and witty.

ALWAYS SURPRISED

Guests at the Spanish Embassy are always in for a surprise in the way of entertainment—an imported dancing troupe, a famed musician or artist, a new dance step, perhaps a game or some special Spanish feast.

* * *

The Alphands brought their talent with them. The ambassador is a superb mimic and story-teller. His wife, an accomplished singer, also possesses an unusual flair for arranging very chic and highly diverting parties, big and small.

The Alphands have hardly had time to go in for any big-scale entertaining yet, but they made quite a reputation as hosts par excellence in New York, where the diplomat was ambassador to the U.N.

Meanwhile, the Spanish couple, who have a private fortune, continue to make the headlines. An example is the fete they gave in honor of famed pianist Jose Iturbi after his concert at Constitution Hall.

Guests not only met the great artist but were treated to a brief recital by another noted Spanish musician—guitarist Yepes. Among the distinguished guests were the Alphands.

Jersey-Wool Blend Can Be Washed

Jersey that's a blend of orlon and wool can be washed by hand in soap or detergent, then rolled in a towel to squeeze out excess moisture.

Let it drip-dry on a hanger and make sure that pleats fall smoothly in the right direction.

The citizens of Switzerland speak four languages — French, German, Italian and Romansh, the latter a dialect.

Scent Is Important

Whether your fashion plans include an investment in new clothes or rather just one of the beautiful new hats to perk up your wardrobe, you should not overlook the importance of wearing the right accessories. And in that category, fragrance tops the list. For scent adds an extra dimension of beauty not only to your ensemble, but too, and even more important, to you, personally.

Turbans of rich fabrics are high fashion for holiday wear. The mature face, the plump figure, will look best without the down-shooting trim.

Turbans with flamboyant bows seem to lift facial contours while down-shooting ends tend to emphasize the down lines in the face. Don't have bows cascading flirtatiously over one eye but put the accent on chic after forty age.

This shirt dress has an elasticized waist for easy, controlled fit. The blouse has tailored scarf collar and massed pleats in back. Ideal for a holiday cruise, it is made of a fabric that is crease resistant, hangs out quickly, and irons like a hanky. It's perfect for the girl planning a holiday trip.

Dark Drama in Jewelry

NEW YORK (NEA) — How will you take your custom jewelery this fall? Dark and sparkling or light and bright?

You can have it either way and be in fashion. But the great big, dark pieces combining jet and crystal or black and brown have a new look. The only combination equal to it is, say designers, that of pink and orange.

In the hands of designer Judith McCann, both the darkly dramatic and brightly dramatic pieces can be worn one, two or three ways.

Her necklaces adjust from choker to longer lengths or double as bracelets. They can be worn as hair ornaments or used to outline the neckline of a dress.

All this is accomplished by means of a tricky clasp, the same kind of clever invention that made her weightless, handsome wing-back earrings such a success.

In this designer's collection, black "pearls" are often combined with fresh water "pearls."

Jet keeps company with sparkling tin-cut crystal.

The resulting pieces are the best possible accent for this year's simple black sheath.

Soviet Russia and Finland have the same railway gauges, 5 feet exactly.

Stored-Away Junk Tells History of Your Family

Those Old Keepsakes and Snapshots Are Really Prized Possessions

By RUTH MILLET

Comes the day, brought on by a move to a new house, a change in seasons, or just over-flowing storage space when you say to yourself, "I'm going to get rid of some of this junk."

* * *

So you pull out boxes, dump out the contents of drawers, reach high on closet shelves and start to sort.

But what is junk?

Is it this pack of papers covered with fat writing, short sentences, and misspelled words? No, these are your daughter's first attempts at story writing. You smile as you read one called, "The Pygmy Who Was Nine Feet Tall." And the stories go back into their box.

Here are some old letters you can surely throw away. But first you stop to read. And once again you are reliving the war years, the loneliness of separation, the awareness of fundamental values you were so sure you would never lose.

Letters like that should be reread now and then in peacetime. So they go back into a drawer.

MORE MEMORIES

Here's a sewing box made from an ice cream carton with a handle of braided yarn and a wallpaper cutout for decorations. Junk? Well hardly, since it was your son's proud Christmas gift his first year as a Cub Scout.

* * *

And here's a tray with rope laced through holes to make the sides. You turn it over and in large printing you read "To Mom With Love." It was a daughter's gift at summer camp during her pigtail years and used often enough to convince her it was exactly what you needed.

Piece by piece, the "junk" you were determined to get rid of goes back into boxes and drawers and on shelves. Little of it reaches the big, waiting wastebasket.

You smile ruefully as you think how little you have accomplished.

* * *

But when the "junk" is sorted and dusted off and put away again, you have a nice, warm feeling. You know again that the souvenirs, snapshots and keepsakes that tell the continuing history of a family aren't junk. They are really prized possessions.

Stick Creams Solve Problems

Getting your hair to curl or lie smooth, just as you want it, is not difficult at home. There, you've everything to work with: hair spray, bobby pins, brush and comb.

But away from home, it's a bit different. Most of us manage a small purse brush and comb, but the hair spray that's needed to control the wisps is usually not handy.

And, actually, hair spray should not be used heavily. Used when you brush your hair out after a shampoo, it will hold your hair in place through brushings and settings for three or four days. Then, it's time for another shampoo. Hair spray shouldn't be used several times a day to give your hair an artificial stiffness.

The solution lies in a little purse gadget that's really a solidified conditioning cream in stick form. It will control all the unruly ends at a touch. The stick comes in a portable plastic case and works lipstick fashion.

Chukka Popular

For casual shoes that can be worn outside as well as in, men and women alike are taking to the desert-type chukka with a genuine leather sole. This comes with many styling features such as a leash-type fastener and a kiltie fringe stitched to the lower part of the tongue.

Safe Christmas With Safe Toys

Make this Christmas a safe one by giving safe toys to children. For very small children, watch out for sharp edges, detachable parts or small items that can be swallowed, wheeled toys with sharp-pointed axles, toys that break leaving sharp edges, electrical toys and flammable toys. Be sure toys are not too heavy for the child to manage.

Suggestions for safe toys include small, soft and washable animals or dolls, push or pull toys, blocks, sand box toys and simple take-apart or put-together toys.

For the slightly older child buy or make stuffed animals, hand puppets, costumes, picture books and beads for stringing. Girls will want dolls and simple housekeeping sets, while boys will enjoy small trains, cars, trucks and cowboy equipment.

Democrats Name Waterford Township Candidates

Johnson Seeks Supervisor Job

Seeterlin Announces Clerk Candidacy; Club Notes Petitioning

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — At a gathering of Democrats last night at the CAI building, candidates announcing their beginning of campaigns for township office included Elmer R. Johnson and James Seeterlin.

Johnson will seek the supervisor's post in the Feb. 18 primary. His second term of three years will expire on the township board of education in June. He is with a Walled Lake metalworks firm.

Seeterlin, who when he sought the Commissioner of Highway post four years ago was only 21, is seeking the township clerk's post.

He is a dispatcher for an automobile transport company in Wayne and attended Wayne State University.

Others declaring their candidacy and taking out petitions, which are due Dec. 31, are Mrs. Luther Olson, 4990 Sherbourne St., and James D. McGehee, 4012 Baybrook Dr., both of whom are new to political candidacy.

Charles Pappas, 3529 Frankman, Drayton Plains, who has run for office before, is seeking one of two vacancies on the board of trustees, as is Lewis Ruelle, 5156 Farmington.

Just out of the army a week, but who has retained residence here during eight years of military service, Unis Bush, 1000 South Hospital, is seeking the highfay commissioner post.

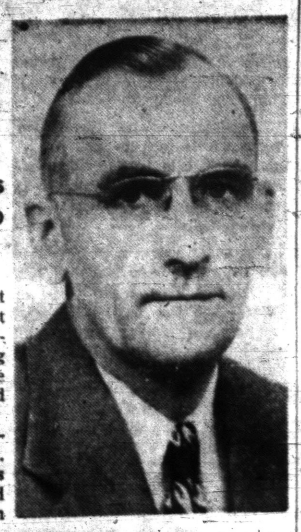

The post carries no duties nor pay, but is retained as a township office.

Seeking the post of township Democratic committeeman is Billy Farnum, 3033 Lansdowne St.

Constable candidate is John Colman, 6918 Rainbow Ct.

Talking at the Democratic Club meeting was Carlos Richardson, county Democratic chairman, who advised newcomers of procedures in campaigns, and Mrs. Cynthia Nelsey, county vice chairman.

A meeting in two weeks is planned by the club, with hopes that more candidates will be named by then.

KEEGO HARBOR—The seventh annual Christmas party of the Business and Professional Women's Club will be held Monday evening at the Rotunda Inn.

A cocktail party will be held at 6:30 with Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wolfe and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Earle acting as the hosts.

A smorgasbord dinner will begin at 7:30 with the Chester Hunts and George Halls greeting the guests.

Several entertainment acts will be presented by Dennis Fisher, with assistance by Mrs. Olive Thornberry. A dance team from the Arthur Murray dance studio will do several dances.

Gifts for a needy family in the area are to be brought to the party and are to be already wrapped.

Hostesses for the month are Katherine Baker, Vivian Wolfe, Mary Earle, Shirley Jones, Rosemary Hunt and Margaret Hall.

No other meeting is set for the month of December.

Magic, Carols and Dance Act Set by Lions

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A magician, a dance act, a Leader Dog demonstration, and carol singing accompanied by accordionist Jean Kumley will all be a part of the show planned by the Lions Club for its Christmas party.

More than 3,000 youngsters are expected to attend the affair, to be held Dec. 16, at 2, 3 and 4 p.m. at the CAI Building.

Weather permitting, youngsters will be given rides on a sleigh drawn by pseudo-reindeer while they wait their turns to attend the indoor show.

According to Seymour Karp, chairman for the party, many of the merchants of the township have promised to help and have been very generous with their gifts.

However, more help is still needed, he says.

Men, Boys to Attend Communion, Breakfast

ROCHESTER — The Annual Corporate Communion and breakfast for men and boys of St. Phillip's Episcopal Church will be held on Sunday. The service begins at 8 a.m. with breakfast following the service in the undercroft.

This affair is sponsored by the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, an organization of men and boys in the Episcopal Churches, and is carried out thoughout the Nation.

The Rev. Edgar A. Lucas has announced that regardless of membership in the Brotherhood, men and boys of St. Philip's and friends are invited to attend both the service and breakfast.

Tell of Betrothal

DRYDEN—Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Abbott announced the engagement of their daughter, Janet Louise, to Henry William Schalau, son of Mrs. Mildred Schalau of Lapeer. No wedding date has been set.

Kowalczyk Takes Rochester Bride

MRS. JOHN MAURICE HARRIS

MRS. WALTER J. KOWALCZYK

ROCHESTER — Escorted to the altar of St. Andrew Catholic Church for 10 a.m. rites today by her father, Mary Lee DeBaene became the bride of Walter J. Kowalczyk of Westfield, Mass.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Walter T. DeBaene, 401 Northwood, Rochester.

The Rev. Fr. Edward G. Baumgartner officiated at the Nuptial Mass.

Carrying white orchids on a prayer book, the bride wore a white embroidered silk taffeta floor-length gown with fitted bodice and wrist-length sleeves. Tiers of embroidered silk ruffles cascaded from the back of her waist and fell into a wide cathedral train.

Her veil was also of silk taffeta covered with small seed pearls in its fingertip length.

Marjorie Messmore attended the bride as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. James Steward, Gail Harriss, Carole LaCroix and three sisters of the bride, Janice, Diane and Joan DeBaene.

They wore ballerina-length dresses in light green taffeta trimmed in darker velvet and carried red Poinsettias on dark green velvet muffs. Their headpieces were matching velvet.

Flower girl, Janet LaCroix of Mt. Clemens, god-child of the bride, wore red and carried white poinsettias.

Serving as best man was George O'Brien of Westfield, Mass., and ushers were Dave Kaiser, Tony Kolodzjie, Jim Hall, Ted DeBaene, Tom O'Neil and the bride's brother, Walter.

A reception followed the wedding at the Sylvan Glen Golf and Country Club in Rochester, and will be followed by a cocktail party for the immediate family at the bride's parents home.

The couple will make their home at Michigan State University, where both are students. The bridegroom, a member of the State football team, starred last year in the Rose Bowl game.

He is a junior while his bride is a senior.

Elaine Hickey Says Vows With John Harris Today

ORCHARD LAKE—Elaine Frances Hickey of 9245 Halfacre Drive, White Lake Township, wore a Cuponnie silk gown with appliqued panels of French Chantilly lace for her wedding at 10 a.m. today to John Maurice Harris, 3473 South Elder, Westacres, Orchard Lake.

They spoke vows in nuptial high mass at St. Patrick Catholic Church before 300 guests.

Their parents are the Bernard J. Hickeys of Halfacre drive and the Maurice W. Harrises of South Elder Drive.

Styling of the bridal gown included a Sabrina neckline edged in lace, long sleeves tapering at the hand, a fitted basque waist, and a paneled skirt. Her headpiece was of rhinestones in crown form that held her illusion, fingertip veil.

Her maid of honor was Jill Garland of Walled Lake, while other attendants were Mrs. Joan Wiggins of Pontiac, Janet Guoin of Oakley Park, and Mrs. Joan Thomson of Northville. They wor bonnnet blue velveteen gowns in ballerina lengths, and carried white fur muffs that matched their headbands.

Best man was John Green of Walled Lake, while ushers were the bride's brother, Robert Hickey of Pontiac, Robert Bales and Alvin McCallum, both of Walled Lake.

After the rites, the wedding party breakfasted at Rotunda Inn on Pine Lake. This evening at 8 the couple will receive at the Veterans' Memorial Hall at Northville.

Their honeymoon will be in New York City, after which the couple will return to make their home in Westacres.

Parents Eye Toy Shortage at New School

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Parents of kindergarten youngsters attending Eliza Seaman Leggett School are having a toy shower to equip their new kindergarter room. The event is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Monday.

A group of the mothers have been meeting this past week to work on rhythm band instruments. And Mrs. Gladys Brian, kindergarten teacher, has completed hats for the youngsters to wear when they play in the band.

Equipment ordered by the Board of Education for the room has been delayed and will not arrive until well after the first of the year.

Lions to Initiate Stocking Sale

UTICA—Beginning today, Utica Lions club will be selling stockings filled with Christmas goodies for a month's time.

To earn money for the club's "aid the blind" program, with proceeds to be turned over to the Leader Dog School, the sale is in the club's first such attempt.

Lion President William J. Murphy assures eveyone that the stockings' contents will be worthwhile. They will be available from all Lions.

For further information, call Phyllis Batts, secretary, 2360 Pine View Drive.

Luncheon Tickets Gone at Rochester

ROCHESTER — Termed a complete sell-out, a style show and luncheon is scheduled for next Thursday at 1 p.m. at Club Rochester. Plans are completed for 30 tables, according to committees of the Martha-Mary Guild of St. Andrew's Catholic Church.

A display of millinery from Jacobson's of Birmingham will be modeled by a score of women.

Serving as general chairman of the event are Mrs. John L. Schmitt, and Mrs. L. W. Melstrom. Mrs. Zack Boeberitz led the successful ticket sale, and Mrs. Douglas Forrester and Mrs. John Cochran are arranging tables.

Boy's Family Bases Hope on Advancing of Science

WALLED LAKE — New hopes that the cancer battle may be won are being seen in the treatment of little Rickey Ramsey, who's expected two months to live has been increased to over a year.

Rickey, 5, is at home with his parents, the Richard Ramseys, 814 Bluffton, after treatment on a new ray machine, one of two in existence. With one in Chicago and one in New York, his parents were advised to continue treatment at New York, because of the hospital staff's further experience there.

Cancer creeping upwards into his chest from his abdomen has been eliminated, X-rays showed following the initial treatments. Now, Rickey must make monthly trips to the eastern city for further aid.

With two types of cancer in his body, three doctors termed it miraculous that the malignancy could be stopped as well as it has. "It is giving science a fighting chance," says his mother, who has hopes that the child will live until further inovations in cancer treatment can be developed.

Meanwhile, the parents are expressing gratitude for financial aid they have received.

The problem of unpaid hospital care bills, and future cost of trips and medication being administered daily here, has not been solved for the youthful pair, however.

53 New Homes in Offing

Building Permits Witness Steady Growth of City

Pontiac's continued home building is evidenced by the issuance of building permits during this month for the construction of 53 new homes in the growing east-side Herrington Hills Subdivision.

The D & R Building and Dudley Construction Companies of Detroit were granted permits for the construction of 41 new 26-by-36-foot brick veneer single-family dwellings in the subdivision. Each was listed at $8,500 on the permits.

Twelve permits totaling $120,000 for 12 similar type residences were approved recently for the Cleveland Building Co. of Detroit. All will be constructed on Moore Street in the subdivision.

Other permits approved by the city building inspection department include one for $120,000 for the construction of three retail stores on East Boulevard north between North Perry and Court Drive. The permit was issued to the North Boulevard Construction Co. of Detroit.

A $25,000 permit was issued to John Figa, 239 Fisher Ave., for construction of a 49-by-29-foot service station at 1073 Joslyn Ave., between Second and First streets.

The Community National Bank received its permit for building two elevated curb teller cages on Lawrence street, as previously approved by the City Commission.

A veterinarian clinic will be constructed at 830 N. Perry St. between East Boulevard and Court Drive. It will be 30 by 30 by 11 feet in size. The permit estimated price was $27,000.

An additional seven $6,000 24-by-35-foot frame homes will be built in the Woodward Estates Subdivision by the Pontiac Home Builders of Detroit.

* * *

New $15,000 and $10,200 homes will be built at 1335 Giddings Rd. and 1622 Stanley Ave., respectively.

A $33,000 permit for construction of a building for retail stores and offices was approved for 242-248 S. Telegraph Rd.

Also approved was a $7,000 permit for construction of a "Dairy Queen" building at 1059 Joslyn Ave.

A real estate office priced at $9,800 will be built at 1044 Joslyn Ave.

200 See Van Wagoner-Francis Rites

OXFORD—Mr. and Mrs. George W. Van Wagoner, who were married recently in Oxford Methodist Church, are living in Big Rapids following a northern Michigan wedding trip.

The bride, the former Roselyn Hettie Francis, is teaching fifth grade at Big Rapids and the bridegroom is attending Ferris Institute, being a member of Phi Delta Chi fraternity.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Francis, 86 Dennison St., Oxford, while the bridegroom's parents are the Ray J. Van Wagoners, 312 Broadway, Lake Orion.

About 200 viewed the wedding, for which the bride wore a white Chantilly lace gown with full-length, butterfly-pleated skirt, wrist-pointed sleeves, and a scoop neckline edged with sequins. A lace Juliet cap held a fingertip veil and a white pompon bouquet was centered by a white orchid.

Four sisters of the bride attended her, with Mrs. Lester Younker of Bradenton, Fla., as matron of honor. Others were Mrs. Wayne Elliott of Detroit, Mrs. Donna Bergman of Pontiac and Geraldine Francis of Oxford.

Robert Van Wagoner was his brother's best man, and ushers were William Anderson of Lake Orion, Harold Andrews of Royal Oak, the bride's brother, Milton of Oxford, and Bill Sibley, also of Lake Orion.

After the rites, the couple received in the church parlors.

Ex-Senator Cain Named in Suit

Redondo Beach Doctor Calls 10 Co-respondents in Divorce Action

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (INS) — U. S. Senator Harry P. Cain, Washington Republican, and nine other men have been named co-respondents in a divorce action filed by Dr. Earl E. Madden, widely-known Redondo Beach physician.

* * *

The physician, 58, charged in a cross complaint that his wife, Alice, 45, was intimate with Cain in Los Angeles on June 26 and 27, 1955.

Cain denied it. He said in Dayton, Ohio.

"I know a Mrs. Alice Madden in Los Angeles and have for some years. I hold her in high regard. If Mrs. Alice Madden is the wife of this physician, I say this:

"I never have been in her home and have met her only infrequently—maybe 10 times on political occasions in Los Angeles. If I was in Los Angeles on June 26 and 27 last year I certainly did not see her.

"This charge is absolutely preposterous."

The former senator was a member of the Federal Subversive activities Control Board on the dates mentioned and the records show that he addressed the Southern California branch of the American Civil Liberties Union on June 27.

Heaviest Man Plans Flight to New York

HANNIBAL, Mo. (AP)—Robert E. Hughes, who claims to be the world's heaviest man at 1,041 pounds, planned to fly to New York today for a television appearance.

* * *

The first leg of Hughes' trip—from Hannibal to St. Louis—was to be made in a heated, extra-large chartered ambulance.

Wesley Dennis Sr., companion and spokesman for the 30-year-old Hughes, said they would leave St. Louis on an air freight plane. A hydraulic freight lift was ready to put the massive Hughes on the four-engine, heated DCYA air-freighter.

The air freight line received approval from the Civil Aeronautics Board to airlift Hughes, who's too big to squeeze through the door of a passenger airliner.

* * *

A spokesman said its charge would be $227, the regular freight rate. That doesn't include charges for his companions and a bed and chair Hughes planned to take along.

Hollywood Headlines
'Giant' Proves Film Fans Can Take Touchy Topics

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Can film audiences take it?

* * *

There is increasing evidence that they can. There once was a time when Hollywood steered clear of hot controversy and delicate topics. Sure, the movies took stands against Nazis, communism, injustice and bigotry, but you couldn't find much argument among thinking Americans on those scores.

Critics claimed that in its zeal to offend no one, Hollywood ended up by pleasing no one.

* * *

The whole philosophy has changed. The studios are now attacking a variety of hot subjects and are stretching the production code as far as it can go. There is even a move under way to change the code.

George Stevens has helped light the way in the attack on controversy. Dire things were predicted when he announced he would film "Giant." The book was not well received in some Texas circles. One rugged Lone Star Stater even threatened, "If you show that damn picture, we'll shoot the screen full of holes!"

* * *

"Giant" has now played Texas and there are no reports of perforated screens. In fact, John Rosenfield, the noted critic of the Dallas Morning News, reported the film has been doing smash business in Texas.

Rosenfield wrote: "Not one Texas theater reports abnormal audience behavior, other than youngsters ripping all pictures of James Dean out of the lobby display frames."

* * *

Stevens didn't pussyfoot in his treatment of the Edna Ferber novel, either. He jibes the Texans on their insular attitude, their displays of wealth. A crack is made about the 27½ per cent oil depletion tax allowance which has created fabulous fortunes. And the climax concerns discrimination against Mexicans.

Happy over the "Giant" receipts Texas theater chain operator R.J. O'Donnell remarked, "The public is not as 'touchy' as you might expect."

* * *

Other controversial films: "Island in the Sun," a full-scale study of miscegenation; "A Hatful of Rain," about a dope addict.

Greys Convert Summer Cottage to Permanent Home

background for LIVING

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In this Oakland County of ours where there are four hundred lakes, the number of lake cottages is legion. How many of them have been transformed into year-round homes is not known. What one family did with its summer cottage to make it a permanent home we do know.

For seven years the Arthur Greys had been spending their summers at a cottage on a private lake. Situated northwest of Oxford on Granger road, the little house was fine for warm weather living.

In 1955 the Greys decided to remodel the cottage and move bag and baggage—two children and a dog—to the country. Mr. Grey had ideas about making over the house; Ray Smith of Detroit translated his ideas into actual plans.

From November to June the carpenters worked. On June first the big move was made. Now, fifteen-year-old Nancy and thirteen-year-old Richard are school bus riders. Mrs. Grey delights in her new home. And a second dog has been added to the family; he's part German Shepherd, part Collie, and all feet!

The Greys like wood. They decided to do each room in a different wood. In this way they would never have a redecorating problem.

The upstairs rooms have had little done to them. The three bedrooms were adequate for the family and redecorating can be completed a room at a time. Work was concentrated on the first floor rooms.

First of all, a 30x40 foot addition was built across the back. This gave the house a side entrance and a family room. Redwood has been used for both interior and exterior construction.

The slanting ceiling has exposed redwood beams. There are several spot light fixtures, but the main light comes from two copper wagon wheel fixtures.

The focal point of the room is the massive granite fireplace. About eight feet wide, it dominates one wall of the room. The slab stone hearth is raised slightly above the floor level. There are maple sofas on either side of the fireplace.

Mr. Grey is a florist. When he planned the new house, he made sure there would be plenty of places for growing plants. For instance, in the family room, there is a large corner planter. It even has a tree in it.

Three walls of this room are glass from floor to ceiling. The recent snow should have made a fairyland of the trees and the backyard. Down the hill a ways is the little lake. Up the hill is a small formal garden. The Greys own four acres.

The floor is slate and are the wide shallow steps leading up to the dining room. At one side of these steps is another planter built of granite blocks.

In the cottage the kitchen was in the center of the house. Around two sides there was a screened in porch. The kitchen is still in the center of the house, but now it looks out on the other rooms. It has no windows, just an open wall on one side.

The kitchen walls and cupboards are knotty pine. The cove ceiling is painted yellow. Yellow Formica is used for the counter tops. The floor has a brown spatter print linoleum on it. Hardware is brass.

Behind the stove there is a copper panel. The hood above is also copper. There's a sliding door to the dining room, a regular door to the utility room. Mrs. Grey wouldn't change one single thing in her kitchen.

The dining room walls are pecky cypress. The plastered ceiling is white. The over-the-table fixture is brass with a pierced shade and white bowl. Here, the floor is corktone tile. The dining room furniture is dark wood.

Everything in the living room is subordinated to the oak paneled walls. Around the fireplace this paneling is unusually beautiful. The hand rail of the stairway is also oak. During remodeling this stairway was turned sideways instead of extending out into the room.

The rug is beige, the curtains creamy white with gold and silver threads. The sofa is gold. One chair is beige, one green and another flowered. Tables are all light wood.

Both Mrs. Grey and Nancy are pianists; both take lessons. The small spinet piano is an important part of the living room furniture.

The den, next to the living room is not finished. It is to be paneled in knotty cypress. This room will give the family more storage space.

Between the living room and the utility room is the TV room. There are two large sliding door closets in this room. The flush doors are handsomely grained. Walls are paneled in knotty cedar.

Like the dining room, this room has a corktone tile floor. There is a Lawson type sofa covered in a rust nubby fabric; one lounge chair matches. Another lounge chair is reddish. Curtains here are flowered cotton.

There are no hallways in the house. Each room opens into another room. There's a small lavatory between the TV room and the utility room.

Trimble Brothers of Lake Orion did the remodeling work on the house. The Greys are completely pleased with their "new" home. They like living in the country.

Southern Michigan Construction Down

DETROIT—Contract awards for future contruction in southern Michigan in October reached $90,401,000 or 11 percent lower than October 1955, Marvin J. Brokaw, district manager for F. W. Dodge Corporation, stated today.

According to Dodge reports, individual construction categories for October compared with the like month 1955 showed: total building classifications at $73,184,000, down 22 percent; and in addition, heavy engineering at $17,217,000, up substantially.

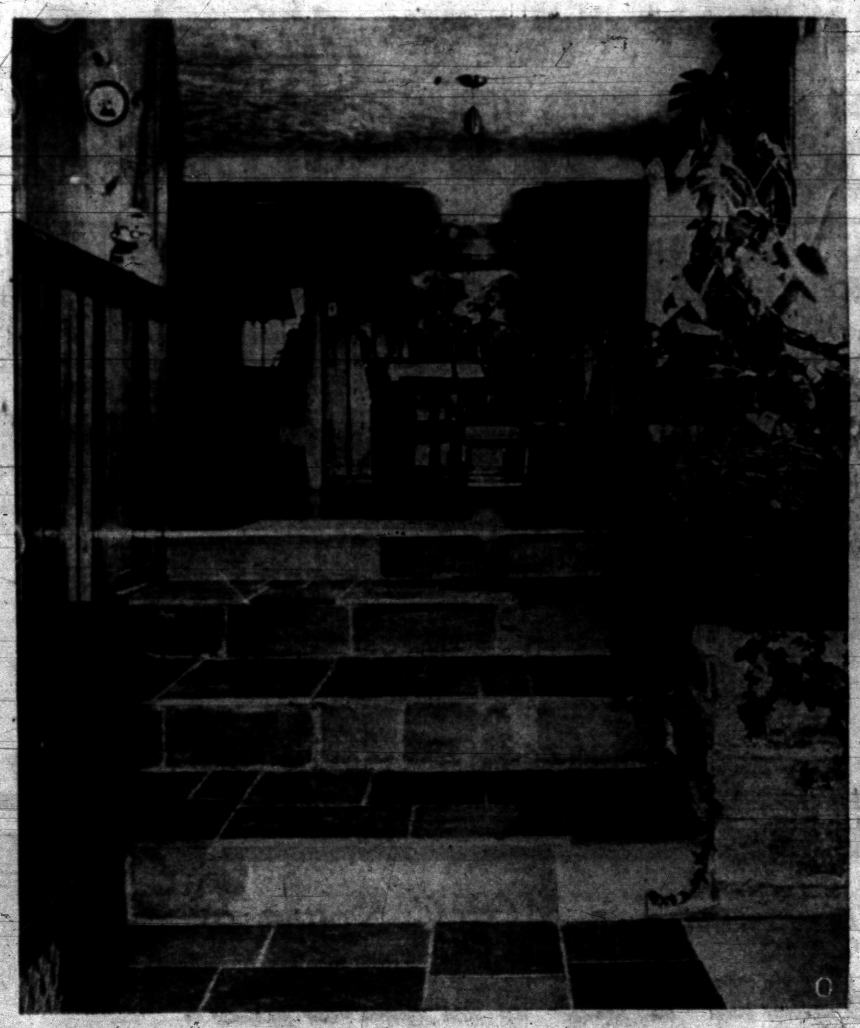

The cumulative total for the first ten months of 1956 amounted to $1,108,174,000, an increase of four percent above the like 1955 period. This was the highest first ten month dollar volume ever recorded, Mr. Brokaw said.

Individual first ten months construction categories compared with the like period 1955 showed: total building classifications at $922,035,000, down two percent; and in addition, heavy engineering at $186,139,000, up 47 percent.

MASSIVE FIREPLACE — This huge fireplace made of granite blocks dominates one side of the family room. The other three sides are windows. In the background, beyond the fireplace, is the entrance. In front of the door steps lead up to the utility room. Copper wagon wheel light fixtures hang from the beamed ceiling. This room is completely done in redwood.

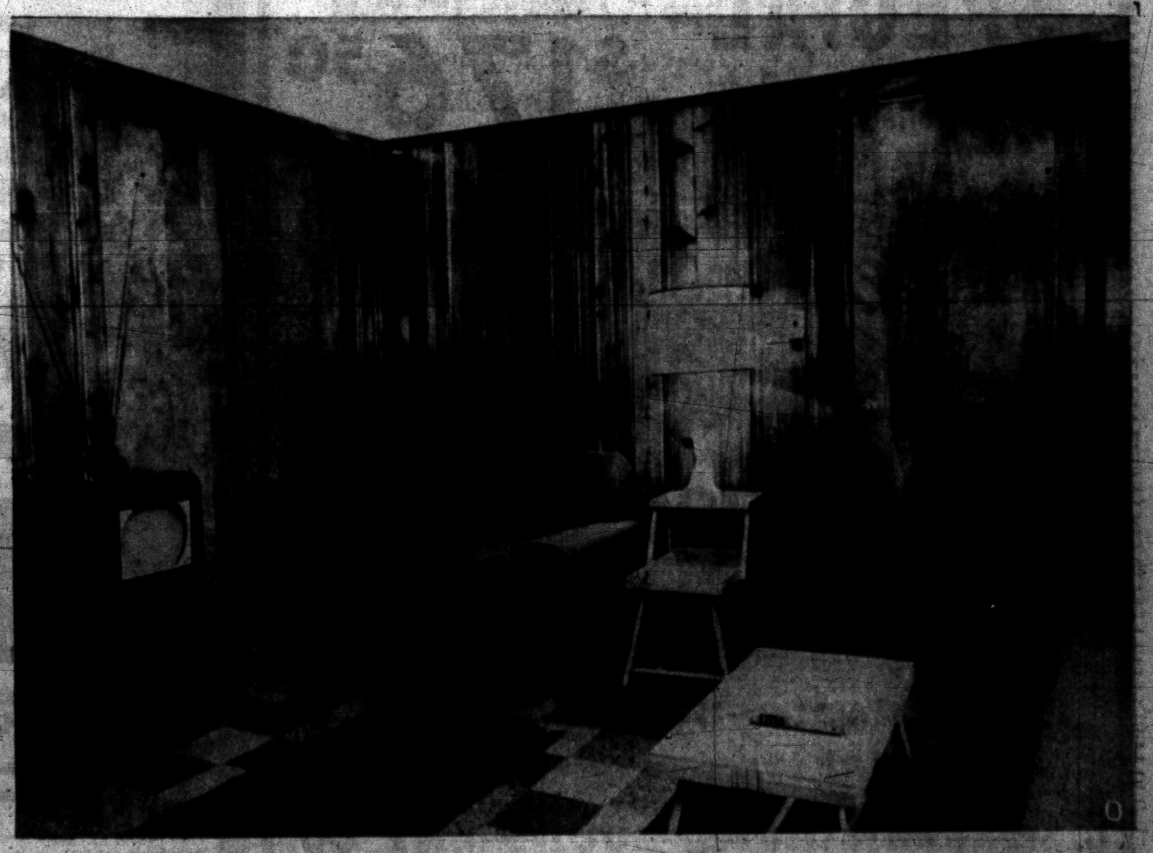

GRACEFUL STEPS — These steps made of slate, are wide and shallow. Climbing them is easy. The steps connect the family room and the dining room. The dining room walls are pecky cypress. A luxuriously filled planter box is built on the window side of these steps. At the left is the kitchen.

OAK PANELED FIREPLACE — The living room is paneled in oak. Around the fireplace the graining of the wood is exceptionally beautiful. Curtains are creamy white with metallic threads. The rug is beige. The large plant in the corner near the sofa is but one of many in the house. Arthur Grey, a florist, brings his business home in an attractive manner. He and his family have lived on Granger road since June.

KNOTTY PINE KITCHEN — Once a dark little room, hemmed in by a screened porch, the kitchen in the Grey home is now light and bright. Sunshine streams into it from the dining room and family room windows. Mrs. Grey can see nearly every room in the house from this opening. Yellow counter tops and ceiling and knotty pine woodwork have helped brighten the room. The hood and stove shield are copper.

KNOTTY CEDAR WALLS — Walls in this small TV room are knotty cedar. The plastered ceiling is white, the floor corktone tile. Doors to the closets and to the lavatory in the rear are flush. The furniture is comfortable and sturdy. Curtains are flowered cotton.

ONLY BOICE, in Oakland County, Gives You HIGH PRESSURE STEAM CURING!

What Is HIGH PRESSURE Steam Curing?

IT IS THE BEST METHOD OF CURING CONCRETE BLOCKS KNOWN TODAY!

Blocks are placed into massive cylindrical Autoclaves, where they are subjected to 350 degrees steam at 100% humidity under 125 p.s.i. This process accelerates the hardening, produces a superior Lightweight Concrete Block which is STRONGER . . . permanently!

This method also stabilizes the strength of the block, and reduces future shrinkage and expansion by at least 50%, eliminating cracked walls!

Blocks are ready for immediate use when they leave the Autoclaves, having been given a treatment equal to at least 28 days of moist curing!

Nearly $250,000 has been spent in our plant to install High Pressure Curing . . . to assure our customers they are receiving the best products available!

Variety of New Fixtures Eliminates Old Devices

Years ago kitchen space was measured to provide shelf and cabinet room for a variety of auxiliary cooking appliances. Now the trend is in reverse, says the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association, and the space is now being used for food storage or practical placement of china and utensils.

The reason? Manufacturers now are producing gas ranges equipped with special controls, griddles, rotisserie ovens and other features to take care of special cooking functions which formerly required auxiliary appliances.

Pie 'Chimneys' Prevent Oven Mess, Smoke

A Nebraska housewife grew tired of scraping boiled-over pie filling off pie pans and the bottom of her oven.

So she made little chimneys from short sticks of raw macaroni and now the filling oozes out the top of the macaroni and leaves the oven bottom clean.

When the pies are ready to serve she plucks the "chimneys" out.

Common Nail Now Improved

Manufacturer Makes First Big Step in 130 Years or More

PITTSBURGH (INS) — You wouldn't think much could be done to improve the common nail, but one of the largest nail manufacturers has, and the finished product costs less.

Jones and Laughlin Steel Corp., is now making and marketing a spiral nail, claimed to be the first improvement in the nail in more than 130 years.

The spiral nail was developed by the Steel Company of Canada, Ltd., and J. & L. picked up the U. S. license predicting that it will in large measure replace the common smooth shank nail.

Not only is the spiral nail cheaper to produce under the Canadian method, it weighs less, so you get more per pound. The common 16-penny nail, for example, comes 47 to the pound, while there are 65 spiral nails of the same size in a pound. That's an increase of 38 per cent.

The company lists four advantages for the spiral:

1. It has increased holding power—up to 200 per cent greater, depending on the wood.
2. It is easier to drive—the spirals tend to push the wood fibers aisde instead of crushing them.
3. It reduces wood splitting as a result.
4. It costs less per nail.

A spokesman says experiments have shown that the spiral nail, sold under the trade name "Ardox," is so tenacious that it provided a tight joint at every nailing, even after the wood-seasoning process was completed in a project's subflooring and roof-decking.

As for savings, in the recent construction of a large housing project, only 282 kegs of "Ardox" nails were needed to do the job that would have required 400 kegs of straight-shank nails. That saved approximately $250.

Student Designs Packaged Bath

STILLWATER, Okla. (INS)—A student architect's plan for a "packaged bathroom" looms as a practical boon for the homebuilder.

Kinney E. Coleman of Okemah, Okla., an architectural student at Oklahoma A & M College, has been awarded a $250 prize for his plan in a contest sponsored by the Society of Plastics, Inc.

Coleman's plan calls for plastic bathrooms to be formed in halves in huge molds or stamped out on large presses. Any size, shape or color would be available.

"The homebuilder would make his selection of a whole bathroom at the salesroom—not just the separate parts as he now does. The two halves would then be taken to the new home and put together on the job."

The packaged bathroom, including walls, window frames, shelving, combined tub and shower, washstand and commode, all would be molded from reinforced plastic. Only metal fixtures would have to be added.

Guard Against a Fall When Using Ladder

Don't ever place a ladder in front of an unlocked door — or against a window sash. Hold onto the sides when you climb it — never grasp the rungs. Don't climb a ladder holding on with just one hand, and be sure your shoes are neither slippery nor greasy. Never lean too far to one side. Take time to move the ladder. Remember — only one person to a ladder; never let anyone else climb the ladder while you're on it.

Canadian trappers produce about 60 per cent of the Dominion's annual fur supply. The other 40 per cent comes from the domestic fur farms.

Paint Uses Soybeans

Oil from soybeans grown on thousands of American farms is used in the manufacture of paints and industrial product finishes. Highly refined soybean oil helps to provide many better spreading, longer lasting automobile finishes for car bodies as they move along the production line of giant automobile factories.

Corinto, Nicaragua's best seaport, will improve its naturally protected harbor.

Machine Heats Paint, Speeds Up Drying Time

New highway striping equipment, which applies hot paint to highways, is now being used by the Oregon State Highway Department. The paint is heated right in the machine and reaches the road at a temperature of approximately 160 degrees.

It speeds up the drying time of paint and allows application under conditions of temperature and humidity not previously possible. Hot paint is not used for temporary traffic markings because such stripings are too dificult to remove.

Odors Don't Circulate

There is no transfer of odors or bacteria from room to room with a hot water heating system, because no ductwork is involved. Hot water circulated through baseboards, convectors, radiators or panels loses its heat slowly, assuring sustained output and uniformity of temperature from room to room.

Vapor Causes Blisters

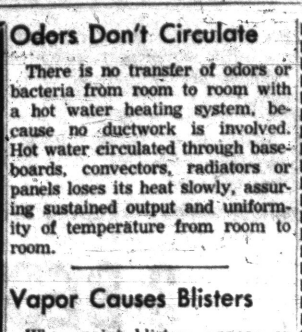

When paint blisters appear on the outside of a house, check the time of the year. Vapor pressure from the inside is greatest when the temperature drops to 25 degrees or below.

This damage becomes noticeable in early spring. Outside water does its greatest damage in heavy rainy seasons and on gable ends where eaves are short.

Simplicity for Economy Spells Modern Beauty, Too

Modern design, because of its simplicity, can achieve real economy in construction.

This is shown in Plan HW-22 for The House of the Week—a home with four-bedroom capacity and a built-in two-car garage. The architect reports that a home like this has been built in New England for $15,000. The owner, however, acted as his own contractor, coordinating the subcontractors for all phases of the construction.

That project figured out at about $8 per square foot, since this house covers 1,946 square feet. Whether you could match this price in another location and include the full basement, two bathrooms, extra lavatory and living room fireplace, depends on how much work could be done by the owner, as well as on how local building costs range.

* * *

Contemporary styling at its best is offered in this design by Caleb Hornbostel & Associates, architects. The sleek flat roof, planned for economical built-up roofing, is pitched just enough to shed rain. Vertical wood siding gives the house an appropriate rustic air which should blend well with any setting.

This is the style of house that encourages the use of new building materials as well as new uses of old standbys. For instance, its built-up roof could be coated with one of the new anodized aluminum paints to add reflective insulation as well as light color. Or the roof could be covered with white marble chips, which also have a reflective value.

Large sheets of 111 plywood, which is smartly pregrooved for shadow effects, could be used advantageously for siding and stained or painted any color desired. Or redwood, cedar or cypress boards, V-grooved or battened would go far toward blending the modern lines of this house with a woodland location. Pretreated lumber could be used without any paint and allowed to mellow in the weather. A little white or yellow trim and you'd have a striking exterior.

Since the architects suggest the use of dry wall construction for economy and other inherent advantages, this would be a good house in which to consider the use of predecorated gypsum wallboard with aluminum foil backing. This would give you a combination of interior walls, reflective insulation, vapor barrier and decoration all in one.

Privacy distinguishes this plan throughout. All large window areas face away from the street

No basement is needed with Design HW 22. An abundance of closet space and the possibility of lengthening the garage for larger cabinets, plus the use of the stair space for closets, provide ample storage.

A small crawl space adjacent to the chimney would accommodate a modern horizontal type heating plant, or a heater could be placed in the stair space and given a separate vent.

All blueprints for this design include a separate conversion sheet for basementless construction.

front to exploit whatever view you can command toward the rear. Only utility windows face the front—a kitchen window near the front door to give the housewife a view of callers, bathroom and lavatory windows, and that for the laundry-utility room.

Every room is a dead-end room. The entrance foyer provides access to any part of the house.

The kitchen-utility wing of this house is expertly planned. The utility room, accommodating laundry facilities, also serves as a mud room where children and amateur gardeners can clean up before entering the kitchen. A lavatory adjoining the utility door also is handy to the kitchen.

Kitchen cabinets and appliances are arranged in the much preferred U-shape for step saving and the room is large enough for a breakfast table at the front window.

If you build this house with a full basement, you get space for a big workshop behind the garage, three large storage closets, a spacious recreation or game room more than 32 feet long, a storage cellar and a separate boiler room.

This is an interesting example of the bonus available in the slight cost difference of modern basement construction.

William Henry Harrison, president of the United States in 1841, was the first chief executive to die in office. He served only about one month.

Which Color's Yours?

A large laundry in Washington, D.C. has thought up a novel idea in which paint plays the major role. The laundry's trucks have been painted in a rainbow of colors. Every one is different. Each bundle of finished shirts now contains a cardboard cut-out of a truck, with a small sample truck pictured in the corner for the children to color and enter in a contest.

Researchers found they get a cleaner wash if they used somewhat smaller loads than the manufacturers's rated capacity in all types of machines.

They recommend that you try to arrange to do one of your own washings in the type of machine you plan to buy.

* * *

Family needs vary from home to home, and a washer that would do an excellent job for one family may not fill the requirements of another. Be sure the one you select will meet all your needs.

Home Insulation to Be Achieved With 'Overcoat'

Instead of red flannels, the house of the future will wear an insulation overcoat!

In brief, the old style of insulating a new house from the inside will be replaced by a revolutionary new method — wrapping a huge overcoat of an aluminum-clad insulating blanket around it from the outside.

* * *

The innovation will result in warmer, draft-free homes, and greater protection against severe temperatures of winter and summer, insulation experts say. Both the insulation and method are being introduced by Kimberly-Clark Corp., following several years of extensive research and development.

Called Kimsul "48" Sheathing Blanket, the new product is applied to 4' x 8' sheathing boards and then put on the exterior side of the studs. This is in contrast to the old and slower method of applying insulation from the interior. There are a number of advantages, all beneficial to the home owner.

* * *

The wood fiber construction and the extremely tough, three-ply, aluminum surface, heat reflective, vapor sealing cover give the American home building industry a material which minimizes the problems of vapor and heat transmission which have always been most difficult to solve economically, a company spokesman said.

Baseboard Heat Is Trim, Clean

Panels at Floor Level Economical to Install and Maintain

Don't despair over old-fashioned radiators. It's a simple matter to change to trim, modern baseboard heating panels.

Baseboard heating panels replace wooden baseboards and are just as inconspicuous.

* * *

Even more important is the fact that a baseboard heating system provides a ribbon of warmth around the entire outer perimeter of the house. Installed around the outside walls, the heaters block out cold and drafts. They raise a shield of heat against icy drafts from walls and windows.

Baseboard heating is clean heat. In a research home at the University of Illinois, where a baseboard heating system was checked over several heating seasons, it was found that draperies did not need cleaning after several winters.

Another advantage of baseboard heating is the fact that the heat is delivered at a low level, practically at ankle height. The result is that a high percentage of heat is provided in the lower or occupied portion of a room instead of under the ceiling where it performs no useful function.

Give Screws Firm Base

Screws used to hang heavy doors on soft wood often pull out in a short time. One way to avoid this, says the Practical Builder trade publication, is to drill a small starting hole, fill it with thick glue and then drive the screw. The glue will be forced into surrounding fibers, giving them increased hardness.

Country Water No Big Problem

Whatever other problems a move to the country may seem to pose, water supply no longer is one of them.

Thanks to modern well-drilling techniques and efficiency of electrically-powered pumping equipment, the homeowner who has to provide for his own water supply can count on a source as satisfactory as city-supplied water, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau maintains.

Before buying a lot and building in the country, the availability of ground water in the area should be determined. Once this is settled, papers have been signed and a general contractor engaged to do the building, the next step is to choose a competent well drilling contractor to develop a water source.

When the well is delivering water and has been tested for capacity, it is time to decide on the pump for an electric water system. No pump can deliver water faster than the well can supply it. This emphasizes the need for a test of capacity.

HOW TO PICK PUMP

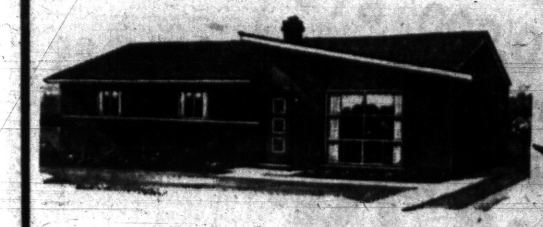

Pump selection is based on (1) size needed to deliver water in accordance with carefully calculated requirements; (2) rate of water yield from the well; and (3) capacity needed for fire fighting.

It is unwise to size a pump entirely on the basis of current requirements. Needs are bound to grow as families increase in size, adding to the home's water-using automatic appliances for better living. Probable future needs must be given due weight in planning a water system that will be adequate tomorrow as well as today.

Now It's Pink Evergreen

The public has shown such a yen for pink shirts, pink autos, pink refrigerators and so on that if Westinghouse Electric has its way you'll be dreaming of a pink christmas and having one with their complete new line of pink Christmas tree bulbs.

Present Expansion Rate No Problem, Says Expert

Any current overexpansion in the shopping center field will constitute only a drop in the bucket in the long run, according to New York Economist Robert H. Armstrong, writing in a research magazine.

Even though the shopping center business is now highly competitive and tenants are currently dropping their minimum rent commitments while land and construction costs are continuing to rise, another shopping center boom is in the offing, Armstrong said.

"If, as predicted, the population increases 56 million by 1976 with 100 million automobiles in use, there is no doubt that all of the present centers will be required, as well as many more. It is not improbable that they have been built in too great numbers in some localities, but that seems to be the way that Americans do things," he said.

By translating 1976's population increase into sales, Armstrong estimates that in 1976 retail sales could be $67 billion more than they are today. If it is assumed that overall sales will approximate $90 per square foot of store space, then 840 million square feet more store space will be needed.

"If, as is expected, practically all of the increase in population will take place in the suburbs of our great metropolitan areas, there is no doubt that the major proportion of new store space will be in new shopping centers, he said. "If the average shopping center to be built in the future is as large as 100,000 square feet, then we will require the fantastic number of 8,400 new shopping centers or their equivalent over two decades.

"Since 1950 there has been a tendency to sell the downtown business districts short. Though they may change their character, we nevertheless are firmly of the opinion that downtown will thrive in many of our cities, especially those which have good systems of public transportation.

"While only a few downtown stores are putting up new buildings, a great many are modernizing and refurbishing their entire downtown operation. While the new shopping center stores are the 'spectaculars', downtown modernization is becoming increasingly evident on a country-wide basis," Armstrong said.

Control Light Output to Provide Eyes Rest

Portable light controls for dimming or brightening your lamps, the way stage electricians do it, also are now on the market. These little appliances can be placed on any handy table, being about the size of a miniature alarm clock, and come in handy when you want to watch the television, or just put down your book and rest your eyes.

You plug this gadget into any convenient outlet and one or two lamps can be connected with it. Like a variable light switch, it lets you turn the lights down lower for conversation, or up for reading or for welcoming others into the room.

Greatest population increase in the U. S. occurred in the decade from 1800 to 1810 when the gain amounted to just 34.4 per cent.

About three million persons in the U. S. change their home every year, and the trend is believed increasing.

The first of the synthetic automobile tires was placed upon the markets of the United States in June 1940.

Check Supply of Hot Water

The convenience of a bottomless supply of hot water is part of modern living.

If you are putting in a new automatic washer, an electric dishwasher, or an extra bathroom, don't hitch them to an inadequate water heater. If you do, you are sure to hear anguished howls coming from the bathrooms and showers when the hot water runs out.

Better make sure of your hot water supply first, before you add equipment that calls for extra capacity.

The hot water use curve in American homes has been going up and up in recent years as additional bathrooms resulting from larger families, and automatic hot-water-using equipment have been added.

Unfortunately a water heater tank cannot grow. A 30-gallon tank cannot expand into a 40-gallon tank simply because the demands for hot water have increased.

Water heater dealers have charts which enable them to give their customers sound advice on the size of a water heater that will meet their requirements.

Water heaters that are too small for the job should be replaced with heaters of adequate capacity as indicated by the charts.

And what about future needs? It's smart to buy a water heater with a weather eye cocked to probably future requirements for hot water.

Vary Your Paint Colors to Match Up Right Parts

In one factory different sizes of washers, rivets and gaskets were getting mixed up and workers were using wrong sizes in wrong places. This confusion was eliminated by painting the parts different colors —red washers one size, blue ones another, and so on down to the smallest.

It was found that the color scheme made selection easier for the workmen. And if the wrong color parts got into another section, the mistake is noticed at a glance.

New Labor-Saving Items Ease Life of Homemaker

America's homemaker has come into a new age of conveniences—conveniences which give her more time to live a broader, more interesting life because they do away with many of the dull uninteresting jobs of homemaking.

One of the newest products to come into the market with this convenience appeal is the kitchen and bathroom paper cup dispenser. This handy item does away with the stack of glasses waiting to be washed after an afternoon or evening of family trips to the kitchen for a drink.

In fact, these gay paper cups in their handy dispensers have a dozen uses. In the kitchen, they are a perfect size for juice at breakfast or mid-morning snack. The cups can be used for serving any cold drink such as carbonated beverages or milk.

In the bathroom, for family use, the cups are ever available for a sip of water with medication, for brushing teeth, perfect for an anti-acid, or just a drink of water. Too, think how wonderful it is not to have to make a last-minute check-up in the bathroom to see if the bathroom glass is clean before guests arrive.

* * *

The pert cups, with their one use feature, never leave tell-tale lipstick stains to make the next user chary of taking a drink. A paper cup dispenser is a permanent sign of your thoughtfulness as a hostess.

* * *

Besides all the conveniences a paper cup dispenser represents, it has another plus in guarding your health. The common drinking cup may be the greatest "swap spot" for diseases in the home. Doctors say that many diseases such as colds, tuberculosis, measles, influenza, mumps, whooping cough and a host of others may be transmitted by mouth.

Still, the common drinking cup continues in use, often even when someone in the family has a cold or other "catching" illness. This factor alone could make the paper cup dispenser worth more than its weight in gold.

The dispensers come in gay colors and copper tone or chrome finish, so they can be fitted into the decor of both bath and kitchen. Refill cups are readily available. This convenient piece of equipment will be one of your happiest purchases.

Innovation on Blind Lets in More Light

A new wrinkle in venetian blinds makes it possible to cut out much more light when the blinds are closed and to admit much more light when they are open.

* * *

This is accomplished by changing the shape of the slats to a modified S-wave, instead of flat or convex. The S-shape locks out the light, while wider slats spaced farther apart let in more light when blinds are open. The manufacturers claim that the wider slats increase view by 38 per cent.

* * *

They call the S-shaped slat "the first real innovation in venetian blinds since 1756." That date, 20 years before the American Revolution, is one we didn't learn in school. It's supposed to be the year that tiltable louvers and raisable blinds were first united.

Don't forget that white shellac is not actually white but clear and produces a practically colorless finish, while orange shellac (which looks somewhat the same) produces a slightly tinted tone.

Home Mortgage Rate May Be Increased

WASHINGTON (AP)—An increase in the interest rate on home mortgages insured by the Federal Housing Administration appeared likely today.

A housing official said studies have been made of a possible raise to 4¾ or 5 per cent, but that no decision had been reached by last night. The present maximum rate is 4½ per cent, plus the FHA's one-half per cent insurance premium which would remain unchanged.

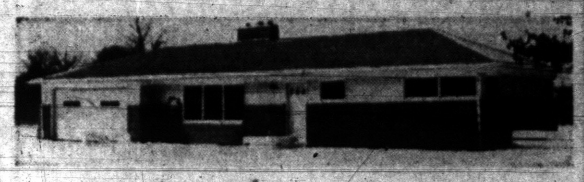

* * *

Rep. Ayres (R-Ohio) predicted in Barberton, Ohio, Thursday that President Eisenhower would issue an executive order Monday raising the FHA's maximum to 5 per cent. The present 4½ per cent limit on GI loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration is fixed by law. Ayres predicted the next Congress would change the law.

The increases are being considered as a means of making more money available for the FHA and GI loans.

'Hunt' Bears With Paint

BELLA COOLA, B.C. (Canadian Press) — The Provincial Forestry Service wanted to know how much grizzly bears travel around. So they set up "paint traps" along the trails. Now when a bear brushes a branch an eggshell filled with paint splatters him — different colors for different trails, of course.

NEW SNOWTHROWER—Designed to take the strain out of snow shoveling is the Jari Junior power unit with snowthrower attachment, entirely self-propelled and capable of handling up to 300 shovelfuls per minute, according to the manufacturer. The machine will cut a path 16" wide through drifts up to 18" deep with ease and will go through deeper drifts with little difficulty. By throwing the snow in one direction, rather than blowing it or pushing it aside, the unit is impossible to stall, and open construction prevents cloggings. The unit features a lightweight aluminum 1.75 hp engine, adjustable handlebars, modern color styling and a new adjustable clutch control rod that provides positive forward drive through all types of snow—powder, wet or packed. Snowthrower attachment is removable and can be quickly replaced by other attachments: reel-type lawnmower, power sprayer, sickle bar mower and tiller-cultivator.

Plenty of Paint Needed

Four million gallons of traffic paint were used by 40 state highway departments last year. Traffic paints are generally accepted on the basis of performance rather than chemical analysis. Key physical properties are drying time and durability.

Some 19,000,000 foreigners visited France last year, up 15 per cent from 1954.

Tree Howls Warning by Fire Alarm Gadget

If your Christmas tree begins to howl you'll know it's on fire, provided it's equipped with a new, colorfully decorated merlite fire alarm by Marvelite Products, Guttenberg, N.J. Heat of 135 degrees sets up a howl that can be heard for a fifth of a mile, the maker says, and the alarm can be set up elsewhere in the house after Christmas.

About 70 percent of all the crippled persons in the U. S. are men of whom about 14 percent are of working age in the 16 to 64 age bracket.

Walls Flatter Women

A nationally known color consultant says that women feel better when surrounded by colors that flatter them. Blue-green walls compliment blondes, he said; brunettes like to be seen near yellow and deep tones; and gray-haired women look best against backgrounds of soft corals, pinks and lavenders.

Don't Apply Shellac in Rainy Weather

Don't apply shellac in damp or rainy weather unless you want to wind up with a cloudy or whitish finish.

Don't put on shellac over wax or oil, although shellac itself provides a good base for wax, preventing dirt from being ground into the wood.

Tile Is in Demand

What building material has been in use for centuries and is today in even more demand? The answer, of course, is ceramic tile. The first ceramic tiles were developed in the Tigris-Euphrates Valley — the wellspring of civilization. The art later passed to the Moors and then advanced into central Europe. Historic palaces and cathedrals had their interiors done in ceramic tile because of its enduring beauty.

MSU Perfects New Machine

Radiation Device Aids Potatoes and Cheese, Also Stops Insects

EAST LANSING (INS)—Agricultural engineers at Michigan State University have perfected a radiation machine that stops potatoes from sprouting prematurely, does away with insects which attack grain, and treats cheese for a longer shelf life.

* * *

Prof. Carl Hall of MSU's Agricultural Engineering Department says it's all a matter of electrons. The machine uses a cathode ray tube similar to the one in television sets.

Although the radiation machine is not yet used commercially, some companies which process foodstuffs have plans to use them.

Professor Halls said:

"There are four factors we have to evaluate and keep in mind when testing foods for preservation by radiation. First is vitamins. At some levels of radiation vitamins are destroyed. We have found B-12 to be the most sensitive."

* * *

"Enzymes are another," Professor Hall pointed out. "In milk, for instance, enzymes do not stabilize when sterilized by radiation so the milk does not keep as long. Flavor is the third consideration. We have found radiation preservation does not alter most flavors, but it does in milk, orange juice and hamburger."

The professor concluded:

"The final factor is toxicity and in our testing we have no toxic effects."

Making Comeback

The two-story house is regaining popularity. Not many years ago this type of home all but disappeared from new home building, what with the asendancy of split-levels and ranch houses. It's different now. Homemakers have found a two-story good for increased privacy and more definite separation of functions. However, many of the advances stimulated by the split-levels and ranch types now are incorporated in the new two-storys.

Good Heating System Must Do These Things:

A good heating system must add enough heat to a room to offset normal losses through walls and windows. It must skim cooler air from the floor to raise the temperature in the lower part of the room, and keep the ceiling temperature at approximately the same level as the floor temperature. A forced hot water central heating system meets all of these requirements, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau states.

Make Foil Ashtrays

When entertaining a large group, if you find yourself short of ash trays, you can make some quickly from aluminum foil. Shape the foil around an ash tray, then remove foil and it too will be an ash receiver. Make as many of these heatproof ash trays as you need When full, they can be thrown away, for easy disposal.

Patterson Decks Moore in 5th for Title

CHICAGO (AP)—Floyd Patterson, the youngest world heavyweight champion in history, today peered over the wreckage of a pathetic Archie Moore to a golden future against a mixed-up crowd of contenders.

* * *

Patterson, the 21-year-old with tremendous class, last night punched a ring saga into oblivion as he knocked out ancient light heavyweight champion Moore in 2:27 of the fifth round in their showdown for Rocky Marcjano's vacated heavyweight crown.

This nationally televised Chicago Stadium bout was not a fight. It was a quick slaughter. The 39-year-old Moore entered the ring a 9 to 5 favorite, resplendent in a black velvet robe, trimmed in gold. That was the only time he dazzled an announced crowd of 14,000.

Moore pawed hopefully for four rounds, but he had no defense for the quick-punching, relentless former Olympic middleweight champion. Archie, hoping to become the oldest heavyweight winner ever, was slashed over the bridge of his nose in the third round. This was the first time Moore, a veteran of 157 fights over 20 years, was ever cut. It must have stirred up panic in him.

Came the fifth and epic round. Patterson slipped to the floor in what appeared an amateur swipe at Moore. But sizzling Floyd quickly righted. Patterson smashed a whistling left hook to the jaw. Moore was dumped, his eyes glazed in an unbelieving stare. Old Arch struggled to his feet at referee Frank Sikora's nine count.

He really shouldn't have. Patterson moved in like a butcher.

A left propped up Moore, then Patterson whammed across a right and down went Archie again. This time, he struggled to his feet as Referee Sikora counted nine or ten—it never was clear which to ringside observers. At any rate, Sikora waved a finish to the fight and the bell sounded amid the roar of the crowd. For a moment, it wasn't certain whether Patterson had scored a TKO or a knockout. The officials finally said it was a knockout.

This was a moment supreme for Patterson, who was informed he was a father after the fight. His wife, Sandra, gave birth to a 6½-pound girl in a Brooklyn hospital before Floyd stepped into the ring.

Referee Sikora and Judge Jim McManus had Patterson ahead through the first four rounds. So did The Associated Press. Sikora voted for Patterson, 20-17, under the new "five point must" system used in this bout. McManus voted for Patterson, 20-16. However, Judge John Bray called i a draw, 18-18. The AP saw it for Patterson through four rounds, 20-17.

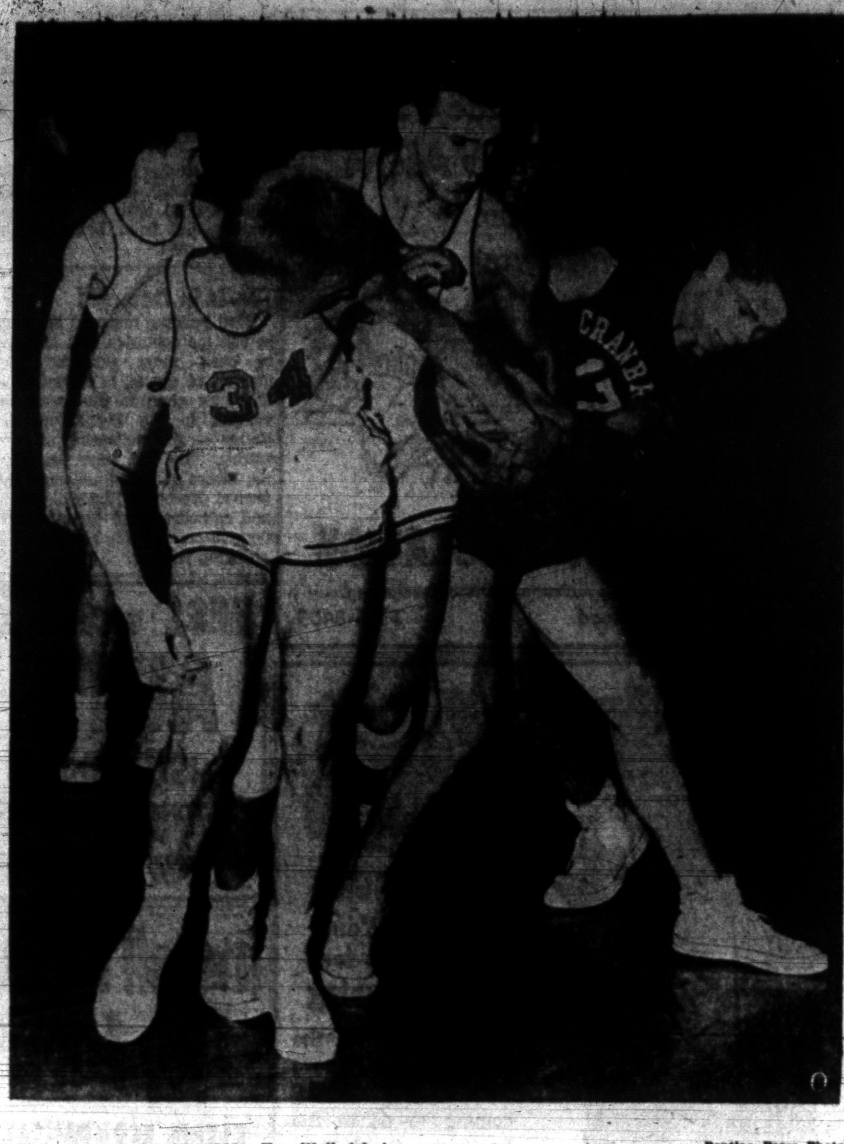

This was not quite the end of the trail for Moore.

Old Archie still holds the light heavyweight title. He came in last night at 187¾ against 182¼ for Patterson. He still can cash in more chips by defending his 175-pound crown against No. 1 contender, Chuck Spieser.

Attendance was announced as 14,000 with gross receipts of $228,145 and a net of $187,585. The radio-TV fee was $180,000. The two fighters took a 30 per cent slice of $367,585.

EXPRESSIONS OF A WINNER AND LOSER—The expressions of Floyd Patterson and Archie Moore easily tell the tale of who won and who lost in their heavyweight title bout in Chicago last night. Patterson (top) is a picture of a wide awake contender in the early rounds. He breaks with a smile in the 5th and winds up with a satisfied expression. Meanwhile, (down) Moore's face, which is unmarked at the start, progressively gets more cut up until the 5th round kayo ends his bid. Patterson became the youngest fighter ever to win the heavyweight title. He is 21. Moore is said to be 40.

BATTLE FOR POSSESSION—Two Walled Lake players (white jerseys) gang up on Cranbrook's Dan Crowley in a battle for possession of the ball in last night's game on the Viking court. The Vikings are center Larry VanderVelde (34) and John Walker in the center. Walled Lake won the opener, 49-38.

Financial Aid Topic for Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—A new financial aids program, climaxing nearly a year of conference study and committee work, has been drawn up in legislative form to be presented at the Big Ten conference's annual winter meetings in Chicago next week.

The program is designed to answer the problems of recruiting as much as feasible as recently disclosed in a unique critical self-appraisal of the conduct of Big Ten athletics.

The final draft will be reported to the conference's school presidents Monday by assistant commissioner Bill Reed and will go before the joint group of athletic directors and faculty representatives for a vote probably Thursday. The meetings will continue throughout this week.

The proposal would permit any conference school to provide an athlete with his basic college expenses, including board, room, books and tuition, but only according to his established financial need.

Need would be determined through computations of the college scholarship service, an independent agency now processing general scholarship applications, on a basis of need, for more than 130 colleges.

A feature of the proposal would permit athletes with superior scholarship (B averages in college) to qualify for grants amounting to tuition, irrespective of the need factor.

Under present conference rules, schools may grant "unearned aid" only on the basis of an athlete's academic records. An athlete who is in the upper half of his school class and who maintains a C average in college may qualify for aid not to exceed tuition. An athlete in the upper third of his high school class who maintains an average midway between B and C in college may qualify for an award amounting to his full college costs.

Penalties to violators of the new rule would be the most drastic ever imposed by the Big Ten.

"Any athlete who was the recipient of any form of unauthorized aid would lose all athletic eligibility in the conference," said Reed.

"Athletic staff members who were parties to offering or providing any unauthorized aid would forfeit their rights to employment on the inter-collegiate staffs at all Big Ten schools, and support of this provision would be a condition of conference membership."

Another major order of business is final disposition of a proposed "modified round robin" football schedule which would go into effect in 1959.

Youth Wins Out Over Age in Chicago Ring

CHICAGO (AP) — Floyd Patterson made Archie Moore act his age last night and whether it is 39 or 100 doesn't make much difference anymore.

Patterson, at 21 the youngest world's heavyweight boxing champion in history, knocked out Archie in the fifth round at Chicago Stadium.

"I knew I had him in the third," said the sleepy-eyed, calmly confident former Olympic middleweight titlist. "I hit him with a left to the stomach and he said 'Ugh' — or something like that. Then I knew I had hurt him and I knew I could beat him."

Patterson, a pixie-faced fellow whose mind seems to be a million miles away, left soon after the fight by auto with some friends for New York.

He wanted to get to the bedside of his wife Sandra, a teen-age girl who gave birth to a 6½ pound girl in a Brooklyn hospital not long before Floyd stepped into the ring against Moore.

Patterson was told that he was a new father in his crowded dressing room. His eyes lit up and he said that the name of his first born probably would be Seneca.

Then, whatever else he was going to add about the baby, was drowned out in a barrage of questions.

"You know," he said in his low voice, "Moore popped off a lot before this fight about how he was going to win. I really think he did it because he was worried himself. I know it gave me a world of confidence."

Wood Is Named to Hall of Fame

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Dapper Craig Wood, who rose to golfing glory in the thirties and early forties, has entered the PGA golf Hall of Fame.

He was selected over five nominees yesterday in the annual vote by golfing officials and sports writers.

Wood won the 1941 National Open and Masters tournaments. He was runnerup in the 1939 National Open. In 1934 he was second in both the National PGA and Masters and in 1935 again was runnerup in the Masters.

Now 55, Wood is pro at the Winged Foot Country Club in Westchester County, N. Y.

Criticism Irks Notre Dame

LOS ANGELES (AP)—In former years one of the glamor games of the nation, the Notre Dame-Southern California football meeting today in 104,000 capacity Memorial Coliseum is expected to attract only about 65,000 fans.

* * *

While this is still a good sized crowd, it's a lukewarm one. Southern California is winding up a successful season, marked by only two defeats. The Irish, conversely, have won only two of nine.

It has been a gloomyy season for Notre Dame, indeed, climaxed by some sharp criticism from former Coach Frank Leahy, who claims the Fighting Irish haven't been fighting.

Young Terry Brennan, who followed Leahy as coach, says he will have something to say about his predecessor's remarks after his team is through with the Trojans today. Coach Brennan denies that his boys haven't given their best.

* * *

If the criticism was designed to put the Irish in a fighting mood it couldn't have come at a more opportune time, for the Trojans, flushed with a 10-7 victory over their crosstown rival, UCLA, are solid, two-touchdown favorites.

The Southern California line is a tough one to crack and Notre Dame may find it necessary to rely on passes for the bulk of its yardage.

* * *

Brennan scheduled his great backfield star, Paul Hornung, for left half, but Hornung may shift back to his regular spot, quarterback, before the game is very old.

Hornung has two sprained thumbs which might affect his passing, even his ball handling, but the Trojans are expecting him to do a lot of ball packing as only Hornung can do it.

State Colleges Open on Courts

College basketball moves into the Michigan sports scene tonight with all of the major cage teams getting into action.

The University of Michigan, with coach Bill Perigo starting his 5th season, is looking forward to a successful campaign starting against Delaware tonight.

The Wolverines will have balanced height in the starting line-up with Randy Tarrier and M. C. Burton each 6-5 at the forwards, Pete Tillotson, 6-6 at center and 6-4 George Lee and 5-1 Jimmy Shearon at the guards. Ron Kramer will be used sparingly since he has been out only a week because of football.

Michigan State hosts Big Seven team Iowa State at Jenison Fieldhouse with six lettermen led by Larry Hedden, both 6-5.

U. of D. warms up with Assumption in Detroit tonight before taking on powerful Louisville on the Titan court next Thursday. All-America candidate Bill Ebben heads the Detroit attack, carrying a 23.6 average from last year.

Syracuse — Marc Guley is in his seventh season as Syracuse university basketball coach.

Report Brennan to Fire Entire Coaching Staff

NEW YORK (INS)—A source close to the Notre Dame football situation said last night Terry Brennan "will fire" all of his assistant coaches after today's game with U. S. C. in Los Angeles.

The source, who asked that his name be withheld, said Brennan "will attempt to pin the blame on the assistant coaches" for the worst fighting Irish football season on record.

Notre Dame's assistan tcoaches this year include Bill Fischer, Bill Walsh, Bernie Witucky, Jack Zilly, Jim Finks and Jack Landry, freshman coach. All came to South Bend after Brennan took over the head coaching reins from Frank Leahy in 1954.

Navy Bowl Bid at Stake

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Navy's football team has a Cotton Bowl bid in its sea bag. But there's a catch. To earn the New Year's Day invitation, the Middies had to beat Army today in the 57th annual service classic before 102,000 fans in Municipal Stadium.

* * *

Seated in the cavernous bowl in South Philadelphia were Felix R. McKnight and William T. River, Dallas newspapermen representing the Cotton Bowl. They wanted nothing better than to hustle under the west stands after today's game and make a formal announcement that Navy will meet Texas Christian in the big bowl game.

Navy men, of course, wouldn't discuss bowls. They claimed their only thoughts were of beating Army. E. E. "Rip" Miller, assistant athletic director at Navy, admitted the Cotton Bowl bid is open but said:

* * *

"We'd rather not talk about bowls now. Last year the same situation developed. We had a bowl bid in the offing. On the first play of the game an Army man tackled one of our boys and told him, 'this trip cost you nothing, but it'll cost you plenty to go to a bowl.'"

* * *

Miller's point was that Army had enough of that old desire to win without being further stirred by the knowledge the Middies attempted to use Cadets as a stepping stone to a bowl. It rouses the "over my dead body" feeling in the West Point camp.

Army had no bowl worries. The Cadets, with a season of five victories and three defeats behind them, had only one objective in this most traditional of all hallowed football series—beat Navy. And although Coach Earl "Red" Blaik's men were underdogs, there would be no eyebrow lifting if the Black Knights made a nightmare of Navy's bowl dreams.

The Army team had still another incentive to upset the three-point favored Navy. Although he has denied it, Blaik could be coaching in his last service game. The rumor mill has him retiring to the sole job of athletic director at the Point. Even if it's untrue, his kids wanted more than ever to win this one for "the old man" just in case.

Expect 40,000 Hunters Will Roam Woods for Bucks, Fawns, Does

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Does and fawns as well as bucks became legal targets for permit-holders today as the two-day "any-deer" season followed on the heels of the regular buck season, ended at sundown Friday.

State police were fearful that the special season would add to the hunter death toll of the regular, 16-day season. Death count for the regular season was nine hunters killed by gunshot, one death from exposure and 11 heart attacks.

"You get more meat hunters during a special season," observed one veteran police official. "They're likely to blast at anything."

There were 65,000 permits available for the special season but only about 45,000 were taken out. Conservation department game men estimated, however, that there would be less than 40,000 hunters prowling the snow-drifted woods during the two-day special season.

World Records for U. S.

Set Girls' Jump, Relay Marks

MELBOURNE (AP)—Bobby Morrow, Texas Mercury with a taste for gold, got his "triple" and Atlanta's Mildred McDaniel leaped higher than any woman in history during world record-shattering performances today as the U.S. track and field team climaxed the greatest showing in Olympic Games history.

* * *

Morrow, the 100 and 200 meters gold medalist, flashed his blinding speed again to anchor the U.S. 400-meter relay team to victory in 39.5 seconds, three-tenths under the Olympic and world mark set by the American quartet Jesse Owens triggered in the 1936 Games at Berlin.

Miss McDaniel, a lanky senior at Tuskegee Institute, cleared 5 feet, 9¼ inches for a new world mark in the women's high jump.

* * *

Their victories, coupled with a decisive win by the U.S. team in the 1600-meter relay, gave the American track and field men and women 16 gold medals — exceeding by two the all-time high the 1952 squad attained at Helsinki.

So completely was the track and field phase of the Games Uncle Sam's gold-tinted show that even the winner of the spotlighted 1500-meter run turned out to be American-trained. Ron Delany's gold medal, of course, goes to Ireland but Ron, an exchange student at Villanova, has done virtually all of his major running and received most of his training in the United States.

Even a heavy surge by Russia in the unofficial point tabulations, most of it from events considered minor by the American standard, failed to dim the star-spangled day.

Of the six events contested on this final day of the track and field phase, the United States failed to sparkle in only one — the classic marathon, in which the first American to finish, Nick Costes of Farrell, Pa., was 20th behind the winner, Alain Mimoun of France.

In the women's 400-meter relay, won as expected by Australia, the United States quartet bettered the listed world record by nearly half a second although winding up third.

Morrow, running the fourth leg behind Thane Baker, Ira Murchison and Leamon King, started it when he hit the tape about a stride ahead of Russia in the 400-meter relay.

The Games' 800 and 400-meter champions, Tom Courtney and Charlie Jenkins, joined with Lou Jones and Jesse Mashburn in the 1600-meter relay, getting home in 3 minutes, 4.8 seconds — less than a second off the world and Olympic record established by the "wonder" Jamaican team in 1952.

But the star of the day for the United States had to be Miss McDaniel, who now becomes the leading candidate for the first 6-foot high jump by a woman.

U.S. Diver Gold Medalist

MELBOURNE (AP) — Bob Clotworthy, former Ohio State University diver from Mountainside, N.J. won the gold medal in the Olympic springboard diving competition tonight.

Trailing Mexico's Joaquin Capilla by a narrow margin after the five preliminary dives yesterday, Clotworthy moved ahead on the first of his four dives in tonight's finals and won with a brilliant performance.

Don Harper of Palo Alto, Calif., another Ohio State product, took second place with Capilla of Mexico third.

Clotworthy, a compact 5-foot, 9-inch, 25-year-old athlete, piled up a total score of 159.56 points on nine dives. Harper, who had been favored to win, scored 156.23 and Capilla 150.69.

Glen Whitten of Lakeland, Fla., took fourth place with 148.55 points.

Swede Wins 2nd Medal

MELBOURNE (AP) — Gert Fredriksson, a 37-year-old Swedish paddler, won the 1,000-meter kayak singles for the third straight time and Russia took one gold medal and scored heavily in other events today in Olympic canoeing competition.

It was the fifth olympic gold medal of Fredricksson's brilliant career and the second of the 1956 Games. He won the 10,000 meter kayak singles yesterday.

Russia's Elisaventa Dementieva won the women's 500-meter kayak. Romania's Leon Rottman won the 1,000 meter Canadian singles and the Romanian pair of Alexe Dumitru and Simio Ismailciuc won the 1,000 meter Canadian pairs. The fifth final contested, the 1,000 meter kayak pairs, went to Michel Scheuer and Meinrad Miltenberger of Germany.

U.S. entries failed to qualify for the finals and contributed nary a point to the unofficial squad totals.

2 U.S. Matmen in Finals

MELBOURNE (AP)—Middleweight Dan Hodge of Norman, Okla., and light heavyweight Pete Blair of Waukegan, Ill., were the only U.S. survivors as the Olympic freestyle wrestling tournament went into its final round tonight.

* * *

Hodge, an Oklahoma student, qualified for the final round robin by winning a morning match by a fall in 14 minutes over Iran's Abbas Zandi. Blair, a 1955 graduate of the Naval Academy, outpointed Adil Atam of Turkey.

Lightweight J. T. Evans of Los Angeles and featherweight Myron Roderick of Stillwater, Okla., were eliminated.

One gold medal was determined during the morning when Japan's Mitsuo Ikeda moved so far in front of his competitors in the middleweight class on the basis of penalty marks incurred that he could not be overtaken.

Writers Select Rookies-of-Year

Robinson Wins Honor in National; Aparicio Gets AL Vote

NEW YORK, (AP)—Frank Robinson, power hitting outfielder of the Cincinnati Redlegs, and Luis Aparicio, slick fielding Chicago White Sox' shortstop, today were named major league rookie-of-the-year for 1956.

Robinson was a unanimous selection for National League honors. He received all 24 votes in the balloting by members of the Baseball Writers' Assn. of America.

Aparicio got 22 votes in winning the American League award. Tito Francona of Baltimore and Rocky Colavito of Cleveland, both outfielders, each had one vote.

The 20-year-old Robinson batted .290 last season while driving in 83 runs. He also equalled the major league record for first-year players by hitting 38 homers, a mark set by Wally Berger of the Boston Braves in 1930.

Aparicio, a native of Maracaibo, Venezuela, hit .236 in 152 games. His over-all performance exceeded the most optimistic hopes of the White Sox, who last fall traded star shortstop Chico Carrasquel to Cleveland. Carrasquel batted only .243 for the Indians in '56.

'Wrong-Way' Cagers Help Each Other

Opening game jitters were in abundance as the reserve teams of Clarkston and Ortonville lifted the lid on the 1956-57 season at Clarkston last night.

Contest was a thriller in more ways than one. At one point both teams forgot which way they were going and made field goals at the wrong end of the court. The scorers, Earl Richardson (OHS) and Larry Saiz (CHS), then followed by making successful hoops at the right basket. Richardson made several others later in the night, finishing with a total of 32, two for Clarkston.

The winner: Ortonville pulled it out in the closing minutes, 56-55, after trailing all the way.

Navy Bowl Bid at Stake

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Navy's football team has a Cotton Bowl bid in its sea bag. But there's a catch. To earn the New Year's Day invitation, the Middies had to beat Army today in the 57th annual service classic before 102,000 fans in Municipal Stadium.

* * *

Seated in the cavernous bowl in South Philadelphia were Felix R. McKnight and William T. River, Dallas newspapermen representing the Cotton Bowl. They wanted nothing better than to hustle under the west stands after today's game and make a formal announcement that Navy will meet Texas Christian in the big bowl game.

Navy men, of course, wouldn't discuss bowls. They claimed their only thoughts were of beating Army. E. E. "Rip" Miller, assistant athletic director at Navy, admitted the Cotton Bowl bid is open but said:

* * *

"We'd rather not talk about bowls now. Last year the same situation developed. We had a bowl bid in the offing. On the first play of the game an Army man tackled one of our boys and told him, 'this trip cost you nothing, but it'll cost you plenty to go to a bowl.'"

* * *

Miller's point was that Army had enough of that old desire to win without being further stirred by the knowledge the Middies attempted to use Cadets as a stepping stone to a bowl. It rouses the "over my dead body" feeling in the West Point camp.

Army had no bowl worries. The Cadets, with a season of five victories and three defeats behind them, had only one objective in this most traditional of all hallowed football series—beat Navy. And although Coach Earl "Red" Blaik's men were underdogs, there would be no eyebrow lifting if the Black Knights made a nightmare of Navy's bowl dreams.

The Army team had still another incentive to upset the three-point favored Navy. Although he has denied it, Blaik could be coaching in his last service game. The rumor mill has him retiring to the sole job of athletic director at the Point. Even if it's untrue, his kids wanted more than ever to win this one for "the old man" just in case.

Lions-Bears Game Takes NFL Spotlight

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT — The game of the year in the National Football League will be played in a "sardine can" atmosphere tomorrow when the Detroit Lions play host to the powerful Chicago Bears at Briggs Stadium.

Every reserved seat in the stadium was sold a month ago and last Monday all of the 7,000 bleacher seats were gone within 50 minutes after the windows opened.

Lines for standing room tickets are expected to form bright and early tomorrow morning with possibly a new record in the making.

Three of the largest crowds ever to see a pro game at Briggs Stadium have gone over the 58,000 mark with the all-time high of 58,431 turning out for the 1954 San Francisco game.

Detroit, which led the Western Division for most of the season, was knocked out of the top spot by the Green Bay Packers Thanksgiving Day, and as result the Lions now 7-2 are a half-game behind the Bears.

* * *

Chicago, 7-1-1, held on to first place after the 17-17 tie against the New York Giants last Sunday.

A victory for the Bears would just about clinch the Western sector despite the Detroit-Chicago rematch in two weeks.

The Lions have Pittsburgh sandwiched in between games and the Bears meet the Cardinals next week.

* * *

Defensive strength has been the big factor for the Lions allowing their nine opponents only 133 points for a 14.8 average.

Chicago on the other hand is the leading offensive unit in league having scored 305 points for a 33.8 average per game.

To win, the Lions will have to contain the passing threat of Ed Brown to Harlon Hill and at the same time stop the running attack sparked by fullback Rick Casares, the NFL's top ground gainer.

Brown has completed 78 of 124 passes for 1400 yards and 10 touchdowns and Hill has grabbed 41 of those aerials also good for 10 TD's.

The two scoring passes against the Giants last week caught by Hill were for 56 and 79 yards, the latter being a sensational catch for the tying points,

Former Ohio State star Bobby Watkins gives the Bears additional strength in the backfield with Casares.

* * *

Detroit will gain some running power of its own with the return of Don McIlhenny who has been out of action for three games since the 49er clash on the coast.

With McIlhenny, Leon Hart and Gene Gedman in the backfield with Bobby Layne, the Lions' ground attack will be at its peak physically for the Bears.

Detroit has not beaten Chicago since their first meeting in 1954. In the last three meetings the Bears have won 28-24, 24-14, and 21-20.

* * *

In the all-time series between the two teams, of which this will be the 45th game, dating back to 1934, the Bears have won 28, Detroit 14 and two have ended in ties.

During coach Buddy Parker's stay in Detroit since 1951, games are all even at 5-5.

Kickoff Sunday is 1:30 p.m. and no local televising is on the schedule.

Soviets Win Rifle Test

MELBOURNE (AP) — Russian Army Sergeant Vassili Borissov broke the Olympic record by 15 points today as he won the 300-meter free rifle shooting championship at the Williamstown range.

* * *

Borissov wound up with 1,138 points, rallying in the prone phase of the competition to win by one point from his teammate, Allan Erdman, who finished with 1,137. Vilho Ylonen of Finland also cracked the old Olympic record with 1,128 to take third place.

The U.S. entries, Lt. James Smith, Ipswich, Mass., and Lt. Herbert Voelcker, Tonawanda, N.Y. failed to place in the first six, enabling Russia to score a 15-0 shutout in the event.

Tigers to Go Prospecting at Meetings

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers will go into the Major and Minor League meetings in the next two weeks looking for three things: bench strength, better second line pitching and lefthand hitting power.

* * *

And they intend to get help at all three places from three different sources, says John McHale, youthful and energetic director of player personnel.

McHale, who with a party of Tiger officials will be in Jacksonville, Fla., for the next few days at the Minor League meetings, says help will come from the Detroit farm system, from the player draft and from trades.

The minor league meetings get underway Monday with the Majors due to go into session on Sunday Dec. 9, in Chicago.

* * *

McHale, general manager Spike Briggs, assistant Muddy Ruel and manager Jack Tighe head a big Tiger delegation into the Jacksonville get-together. The club's coaches will be along, with all the minor league managers and officials in the party.

* * *

At the Chicago Major League meeting, the new Tiger owner, Fred Knorr will attend his first session. McHale, Tighe, Briggs and several other club officials will attend, also.

"Pitching help might come from our farm clubs," said McHale. "We have some fine boys in our system who may be ready to help us. We hope to get limited bench strength, mostly for the infield, from our farm system. Other bench strength, especially for a hard-hitting left-hand outfielder, probably will come by a trade."

The Tigers have been close to a trade with a couple of American League clubs, but there's nothing definite at the moment.

* * *

"You don't trade just to be trading," said McHale. "To be a contender over a long period of time, you must develop young players and bring them along in the farms. You supplement that with trades to help you out in a certain spot over a relatively short period of time. We think we need help in spots, and we're looking for a trade or two."

McHale says the club has not given up on centerfielder Bill Tuttle, who failed miserably at the plate in 1956 after a promising season in 1955.

St. Mike 5 Opens Sunday

St. Michael will open its 1956-57 basketball season Sunday afternoon against Detroit St. Agatha in the St. Mike gymnasium.

The non-league contest will help to indicate the Shamrocks' strength for the approaching Suburban Catholic League campaign.

Graduation has left its mark at the northside school. John Keller, who broke all Shamrock scoring records, Bill Hall and Duane Priebe have departed, leaving Dan Dropps and Chuck Brown as the only returning starters.

Height will be notably absent from the St. Mike lineup. Dropps and Kenny Halpin or Ken Rogers will start at the guard spots, Brown and Bob Mineweaser at the forward positions, and Jim Fox at center.

Joe Wright, ex-St. Fred athlete and brother of Ram mentor Gene Wright, coaches the St. Agatha team. Game time tomorrow is 2 p. m.

Maple Tankers Show Balance

Birmingham High School's swimming team got away to a fine start on its 1956-'57 season yesterday afternoon with a 63-33 victory over a badly outmanned Highland Park squad. Maples appear to have another EML championship team in the making. They open loop action at Hazel Park Dec. 19.

Polar Bears won only two events in their own pool, the 100-yard backstroke and the orthodox breaststroke. Jay Myers' crew took eight firsts, set three Maple marks and one pool record.

Tom Bechtel's 2:04.4 in the 200-yard freestyle beat the BHS mark of 2:10.2 and pool record of 2:06.5. Pete Sintz hit 57.1 seconds for the 100-yard freestyle. Old BHS mark was 57.2.

Other winners:

40-yard freestyle — F. G. McGinnis. Time 20.4.
100-yard butterfly — Tom Hogan 1:12.3
Medley relay (160 yards)—Pete Palmer (ackstroke), Bechtel (orth. breaststroke), Sintz (butterfly) and John Overgarde (freestyle). Time 1:29.3.
Freestyle relay—McGinnis, Bill Buick, Les Harber, Dave Rider. Time 1:21.5.
Diving—Fred Wickham.

G. R. Cager Hits 43

JACKSON (AP) — Forward Dick Simmons dumped in 43 points, including 18 field goals and 7 free throws, to pace Grand Rapids Junior College to a 90-74 triumph over Jackson J. C. last night.

The first modern major leaguer to hit four home runs in one game was Lou Gehrig of the Yankees in 1932.

Cranes Fall, 49-38

Vikings Beat Cranbrook

Walled Lake's basketball team picked up where its football team left off—on the winning side of the ledger last night.

The Vikings opened the season with a 49-38 victory over Cranbrook on the Walled Lake court with Don Hess and John Walker hitting 16 and 15 points, respectively.

Except for the opening basket by Cranbrook's Chuck Grube, Walled Lake never fell behind as Walker pumped through 10 of his points in the first period.

Three regulars were missing from the Walled Lake lineup, but the Cranes' inexperienced forces faltered with erratic court play.

High scoring center Larry Hughes and forward Tom Willworth were kept on the bench by Coach Bill Ullenbruch, and guard Larry Dion was out with a knee injury.

Hess, who stands 6-2, was Walled Lake's big board man as well as the top scorer, with Bob Klein leading Cranbrook with 12 points.

Cranbrook pulled within six points with five minutes left in the game, but the Cranes missed numerous layups as well as 14 free throws in the defeat.

Red Hot Redskins Meet Giants in Top Clash in Eastern Division

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Four of the National League's titans will be firing everything but lethal weapons at each other tomorrow with first place in each division hinging on the results.

Washington's Redskins, in third place in the East with a 5-3 record invade Yankee Stadium to take on New York's Eastern Division leaders. The Giants with a 6-2-1 record are half a game in front of the Chicago Cardinals who meet Green Bay.

In the West, the league-leading Chicago Bears move into Detroit for a head-on clash with Detroit's Lions.

In other games, Los Angeles is at Pittsburgh, Philadelphia visits Cleveland, and the San Francisco 49ers move into Baltimore.

The Giants will depend on their three-pronged running attack of halfbacks Frank Gifford, Alex Webster and fullback Mel Triplett. The 'Skins, who upset the Giants two weeks ago 33-7, will be a stronger outfit. Bolstered by the return of first-string quarterback Eddie LeBaron, who did not see action in the upset win, the Washington club will also be at full strength with the return of the injured Billy Wells, who ran spectacularly in the victory over the Giants.

Clarkston Wins Opening Clash

Ortonville Falls, 67-57, With Decisive Margin at Foul Line

By CHUCK ABAIR

Racing to a 9-0 lead right from the opening whistle, the Clarkston Wolves went on to lead all the way and hand visiting Ortonville a 67-57 setback in the basketball opener for both area rivals last night.

Accuracy at the foul line paid off in the final tally for the Blue and Gold as Ortonville finished with one more field goal.

The Wolves hit 25-for-42 on free throws led by speedy Leroy Parks with 16 out of 22 tries.

Parks, who connected on nine successive fouls in one stretch, paced the victors in scoring with 20 points followed by Russ Sofferdine's 13. Lanky Bob Hutchins of Ortonville was the top point-getter of the night with 23 digits. His teammate, Chuck Graves, hooped 16.

Clarkston dominated the contest until the final quarter when Ortonville made its best bid of the night by slicing the difference to four points.

Rams Trim St. Rita, 64-31

By BILL CORNWELL

St. Frederick opened its 1956-57 basketball season Friday night with a convincing 64-31 victory over Hazel Park St. Rita in a Suburban Catholic League game at St. Fred's gymnasium.

The Rams forged into a 14-8 lead at the end of the 1st quarter and were never headed. They outscored the Vikings in every period and their halftime advantage was 33-17.

Rangy center Bill Mountain sparked the Ram attack with 23 points. Teammate Tom Derocher added 10 points and seven other St. Fred players broke into the scoring column.

Jim Jacobs dumped in 15 points to pace St. Rita's losing cause. Viking forward Mike Young scored 11 points.

Freshman Phil Belri collected 21 points as the St. Fred reserves swamped the Viking JV's, 54-19, in the preliminary game.

Just Misses Mark

One of the widest racks of the season, entered for The Pontiac Press big deer contest, today barely missed tying up the division for wide antlers. Bill Poniatoski, 9275 Pittsfield, Walled Lake, brought in a 180-pound, 8-pointer that had a 21¾ inch spread. Leader is a 22-inch wide rack. Poniatoski's deer was taken at Black Lake, Onaway, Wednesday.

Served in Two World Wars

Wreckers to Demolish Famed USS Mississippi

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—Salvage torches in a Baltimore yard soon will tackle a job that proved too tough for Japanese ships and planes — destroying the USS Mississippi.

The gallant "Missy," resting quietly here, was sold for scrap yesterday to Bethlehem Steel Corp. of Bethlehem, Pa. The 32,000-ton battleship brought $1,660,764.

The Missy, active through two world wars, was retired from active duty last July 31. She was towed to her pier here after 5th Naval District workers removed equipment used in her last years as an experimental gunnery ship.

The Mississippi was commissioned Dec. 18, 1917, at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co.

She started service during World War I on convoy duty in the North Atlantic and aided in the blockade of Germany. Her first shots fired in anger, however, came during World War II when she joined in the bombardment of Kiska, Alaska, in 1943.

Later that year she suffered her first wartime casualties. A flareback in a gun turret killed an officer and 40 men.

By January 1944 she had been repaired and was busy mopping up coastal defenses for D Day at Kwajalein. There she showed the Navy what over-age battlewagons were good for — softening defenses of enemy-held islands.

Off the Philippines Jan. 9, 1945, a Japanese suicide plane screamed out of the sky, headed for the navigation bridge, barely missed and crashed into the anti-aircraft battery on her boat deck.

Another brush with a suicide plane off Okinawa required the Mississippi to put in for repairs near the end of the Pacific War.

* * *

But the Missy, playing Dixie and flying the Mississippi State flag, was part of Adm. William (Bull) Halsey's 3rd Fleet at the time of the Japanese surrender in Tokyo Bay.

* * *

A Navy unit commendation was awarded the Mississippi for her World War II action. She was cited for "outstanding heroism in action" against the Japanese in the Pacific from Oct. 12, 1944, to June 19, 1945.

The past nine years she spent in top-secret work perfecting guided missiles.

At least 35 persons were reported killed when a truck loaded with workers plunged down a mountainside near Calama, Northern Chile.

CITY OF SYLVAN LAKE
NOTICE OF ENACTMENT OF ORDINANCE

Notice is hereby given that on the 14th day of November, A.D. 1956, the City Council of the City of Sylvan Lake, enacted Ordinance No. 52, which Ordinance becomes effective on January 2, 1957.

In substance the Ordinance provides for the regulations, control and licensing of the sale, storage, delivery and distribution of food, both at wholesale and retail, within the confines of the City of Sylvan Lake and further provides for the inspection of restaurants, lunch stands, groceries, meat markets, bakeries, cafes, dining rooms, ice cream parlors, public or private markets, stalls, shops, stores, store houses, cold storage plants, or where sea food, fowl, vegetables, fruits, milk, ices, beverages, meats, meat food products, baked goods or any other provisions or food intended for human consumption is manufactured, held, kept, stored, or offered for sale, disposition or distribution as food for humans; and further provides that persons engaged in the business of conducting retail food establishments after January 2, 1957, shall be required to purchase a license; and further provides licensing procedure, sanitary measures for premises and employes; for the inspection of premises for cleanliness; for the cleaning and sterilization of utensils and dishes; for inspection of meat, poultry, sausage and ground meat; for refrigeration, ventilation, screening, lighting, sewer and garbage disposal; for enforcement and further prescribes penalty for violation.

A copy of Ordinance No 52 is now on file in the office of the City Clerk for inspection.

MARJORIE B. WILLSON,
Clerk,
City of Sylvan Lake.

Card of Thanks 1

WE WISH TO THANK OUR MANY friends and neighbors for their kindness, many telegrams, flowers and kind words of sympathy in the loss of our Father, Mr. and Mrs George Bowditch.

In Memoriam 2

BEANE — In loving memory of Elisabeth Beane who passed away 5 yrs. ago, Nov. 28th, 1951.
You are not forgotten Mother dear,
Nor ever shall you be.
As long as life and memory lasts,
We shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by Husband, Children & Grandchildren.

MOREAU — IN LOVING MEMORY of our dear daughter Irene Sexton, who left us 8 yrs. ago today. 8 years have gone, but still we miss her
Never shall her memory fade,
Loving thoughts will always linger,
Til in heaven we meet again.
Her loving Mother, Father, Brothers and Sister.

IN PRECIOUS MEMORY OF OUR dear son and brother, Cpl. Billy C. Pike, who was killed in France, December 2, 1944.
So God looked on earth to fulfill his wish,
He found our dearest one among the soldiers and added him to his list.
Sadly missed by Mom, Dad, and Sister, Laurine.

Wharf Slowup Still in Effect

Mail Stacked on Pier; Cargo, Vessels Delayed by Angry Dockers

NEW YORK (AP) — Work slowdowns continued on the New York waterfront yesterday despite a federal court order extending the Taft-Hartley ban on the East and Gulf Coast dock strike to 80 days.

* * *

The Cunard liner Queen Mary sailed yesterday with two-thirds of the cargo she brought in from Southampton still in her holds. Only 20 of 300 tons of outbound express cargo had been put aboard before sailing time. A large quantity of mail also was left on the pier.

The liner Roma sailed four hours late. But line officials said all her cargo got aboard.

For the past two days the dockers here, members of the International Longshoremen's Assn., (ILA), have been taking their time loading and unloading vessels. New York port activity has been cut to 50 to 60 per cent of normal.

The employers, the New York Shipping Assn., have termed the slowdown "the equivalent of a partial strike."

* * *

ILA officials deny they have directed the slowdowns. A union spokesman said the men were showing resentment against the court's halting of the strike.

Other East and Gulf Coast ports have reported normal operations.

The New York slowdown has been concentrated along the Hudson River luxury line piers in midtown Manhattan.

Keeps House to Termination of Dog's Life

WINSTON-SALEM, N. C. (AP) — Miss Hattie Steelman knows she'll have a roof over her head as long as a perky little dog called Lady lives.

Mrs. Rose Anna Dorse, 83, a widow who died Nov. 11, owned Lady, a house, and all the furnishings in it. Miss Steelman, 39-year-old half-sister, lived with her.

Under the terms of Mrs. Dorse's will, Miss Steelman gets the home, but only "during the life of Lady." After the dog dies, the house and all the furnishings are to be sold.

Mrs. Dorse's will specifies several small bequests be made with the money from the sale, including $50 to Miss Steelman.

* * *

"Any surplus or balance remaining shall be used by Hattie Steelman as she may see fit for the benefit of herself or other members of our family," the will reads.

In 1948, Mrs. Dorse made out a well with similar provisions for a Dog called Skeet. But Skeet died before Mrs. Dorse.

Miss Steelman, who cared for Mrs. Dorse several months before she died, said, "She might have known I would look after the dog after she died."

Miss Steelman, promising to take good care of Lady, observed, "I take Lady just about everywhere I go when I'm not working. What will folks say now when I go downtown to shop?"

Right Key, Wrong Place Results in Shooting

CLEVELAND (AP) — William and Ezella Bellinger heard a key turn in the door of their apartment at 3646 E. 149th St. early today.

Then the door opened and a man started to come in.

Bellinger grabbed his pistol and fired.

In St. Luke's Hospital with a bullet wound in his thigh is 69-year-old Richard Warfield, who moved into an apartment at 3674 E. 149th St. two weeks ago.

He thought he was entering his own place. It was just a coincidence his key fitted both doors, police said.

Only about one in 10,000 persons may be an albino.

Moore Dropped by Como for Violating Video Pact

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Archie Moore was cancelled off tonight's Perry Como show after violating an agreement not to appear on TV entertainments other than his Floyd Patterson exercise Friday.

His Como fee would have been $2,500; Archie received $1,000 on the Steve Allencast . . .

NBC-TV's new quiz "Can Do" is a cross between "Beat the Clock" and "People are Funny" with an isolation booth added.

Emcee Robert Alda is genial and gracious and the entire show is not anything to get a viewer mad; certainly it shouldn't frighten Lucille Ball and Bishop Sheen out of their channels.

"Can Do" was offered to three independent producers of big give-away shows before owners Joe Cates and John Greenhut gave NBC and Revlon a chance to answer the 13-week question.

TASTEFUL TUNEFEST

Nat King Cole's Monday night tunefest is tasteful relaxation. Nat's delivering one of the highest ratings any quarter-hour telecast can boast. Deserves a sponsor.

The Steve Allen Show management is delighted Ed Sullivan decided to raise cultural standards by presenting Maria Callas, Rudolph Bing and George London, because the traditional Maggie-Jiggs attitude on grand opera chased enough viewers away from Sullivan to give Steve his biggest Trendex rating since Elvis' pelvis was wriggling in Allen's alley.

The regulars on Steve Allen's midnightly shows are getting their pink slips, effective early in January.

Compatriot, Norman Katkov, sold his story, "Portrait of a Citizen," to Studio One for Monday's performance . . . He's been working on it "one way or another" for 15 years . . .

The new CBS-TV series "Air Power" makes us grateful not only for a good TV diversion, but also for the assurance that our country's air protection is in such magnificent hands.

NBC-TV gave in to the style purists and decided to drop the storyline from its next "fashion spectacular." . . .

Sufferers of Ulcers Can Avoid Surgery

CINCINNATI (AP)—Two physicians report persons suffering from ulcers have a 9 to 1 chance of escaping surgery if they follow medical advice.

But, said Dr. Brock E. Brush, of Detroit, a Henry Ford Hospital surgeon, and Dr. James Priestly, Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., few take the advice.

The men are attending a meeting of the Western Surgical Association. They made the statements in interviews.

Adequate sleep, avoidance of preluncheon drinking and foods banned by the attending physicians plus delegation of some of the work burden to assistants, are basic to the "Worrier," it was said.

This Barefoot Bandit Was Really a Heel

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A customer entered Fred P. Skill's shoe repair shop, took off his shoes, and asked Skill to put on new rubber heels.

The cobbler took the shoes to the rear of the shop yesterday, fitted the heels and returned to the counter.

The customer was gone. So was $130 from the cash register.

Research at U. of M. Valued at $10 Million

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Research at the University of Michigan's Engineering Research Center during 1955-56 today was valued at an all-time high of more than $10 million.

This figure exceeds the previous high of 1954-55 by $1.6 million, according the Institute's annual report released today.

Much of the research conducted at the Institute is for the Armed Forces as is considered vital to national defense, the report said.

The institute worked on 444 different projects during 1955-56 compared to 408 the previous year.

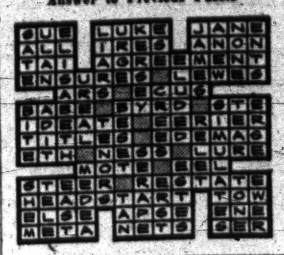

Ambitious College Boy Telephones to Formosa

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma University senior Clarence Springstead wanted to know whether a Chinese labor corp was used in France in World War I but he wasn't able to find an answer.

After failing to get the information for a history class, he telephoned the top man available — Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek in Formosa.

Through his interpreter, the Generalissimo told the student he he couldn't answer off-hand but promised to check further and mail an answer.

Oakland County Electronic Association
We Thought You'd Like to Know
The Oakland County Electronics Association, with the very able assistance of the Better Business Board of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, has been successful in keeping fraudulent TV service operations at a minimum in the Pontiac area. Our local association, in cooperation with other simular organizations, have formed a state-wide alliance to control fraudulent practices and better serve the people of Michigan. The operators cannot always be found guilty of illegal practices because the laws concerning such operations are very general. In the next session of our state legislature a bill will be introduced concerning state licensing of TV service dealers. We urge you to support this bill because of its many benefits to you, the consumer. We are sure that state licensing will assure you satisfactory service at reasonable prices and remove the threat of these "Trick Artists." This association was founded and is supported by reliable LOCAL businessmen. Give these firms your vote of confidence. When you need TV or Radio service, call your neighborhood OCEA member. You'll be glad you did.
