Bids Opened on County Courthouse

Newsman for 62 Years

JOE HAAS

To Honor Press Columnist at Fraternity Dinner

Pontiac Press columnist Joe Haas will be honored tonight as the dean of working newsmen in the Detroit area.

Haas and six other newsmen and radio reporters will be feted as the Detroit chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, holds a Founders Day dinner marking the April, 1909 establishment of the fraternity.

Heading the list of those to receive awards, Haas, 82, has been in the newspaper business for 62 years.

"Mr. Oakland County," as he is known to thousands, entered the newspaper field while in high school, founding a weekly. Upon graduation, he founded the Holly Herald, which he edited from 1901 through 1937.

He has been with The Press 15 years.

Also slated for honors are David J. Wilkie, Associated Press auto editor, 57 years; E. A. Batchelor, editor of the Detroit Athletic Club News, 56 years; W. K. Kelsey, Detroit News columnist, 52 years; Lee Smits, newspaper, radio and free lance columnist, 52 years; and C. B. Davis, Detroit Times editorial page editor.

★ ★ ★

E. L. "Ty" Tyson, one of America's first radio sportscasters, who went on the air shortly after radio station WWJ was established, will accept his honors as dean of the working radio men in the area.

Also to be guests of honor at the session at the Detroit Press Club in the Leland Hotel, are five Detroiters who are past national presidents of the fraternity.

The Detroit chapter boasts more national presidents than any other in the country, and the list includes the late Robert B. Tarr, managing editor of The Pontiac Press at his death last year. He served as president in 1928-29.

Spring Will Smile on City Tomorrow

Fair and pleasant with the temperature pushing 60 degrees has been forecast for tomorrow. Tonight will be a little warmer, with the low dropping to 36.

Partly cloudy and a little cooler is the forecast for Thursday. Rain may be expected Friday or Saturday with some chance of rain mixed with snow.

Thirty-one was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury rose to 52 at 1 p.m.

Aquarium Signs Fishy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A visitor to the aquarium reported 10 very fishy signs in view: Among them were such misspellings as "tributaries," "enumies," and "beautifull." The director promised he'll get that fish out of there and fix the signs at once.

Veterans Fund Bill Gets Face Lifting; Jobless Measure Killed

LANSING (AP) — Plans, proposals and bills lurched forward in the State Legislature last evening and today.

The House-approved veterans trust fund legislature got itself a facelifting and shaky endorsement by the Appropriations Committee.

A bill to extend temporary unemployment benefits till July 1 was consigned to the legislative scrapheap today, but house Democrats were ready to push action on another.

Democrats killed the much disputed measure in the House last night by rejecting recommendations of a conference committee named to work out differences between the House and Senate.

The vote, with 56 votes needed for approval, was 53-50. Rep. George W. Sallade, Ann Arbor Republican, sided with Democrats in what was otherwise a party-line vote.

Left in the middle were some 28,700 workers whose jobless pay benefits ran out early this month. Passage of the bill would have enabled them to collect benefits for up to 13 weeks more under a new law extending temporary federal unemployment compensation.

And the long-awaited Rahoi Plan for a state income tax came into the Legislature last night as part of a 117 million dollar a year new revenue package.

However, there was no sign it was going anywhere.

The income levy proposed by Sen. Philip Rahoi (D-Iron Mountain) would ride piggy back on the federal income tax, figured at a given per cent of federal liability for individuals and 10 per cent for corporations.

Together, the levies, along with a seven per cent tax on net income of banks and other financial institutions, would produce 245 million dollars, he said.

Prospects for using the trust fund thus brightened for averting a general fund crack-up that has threatened payless paydays, possibly next month. But the issue was far from resolved.

A weird five to two roll call, with two committee members abstaining, nudged the legislation toward a showdown vote on the Senate floor tomorrow or Thursday.

The deciding vote with five af-

Possible in Next 5-Year Program, Mackie Says

Can't Begin Loop Highway Till '62

Pontiac won praise yesterday for its downtown "loop" highway plan, along with a warning that the State Highway Department might not tackle the job for several years.

State and federal funds won't be available for the loop until after the state's present five-year highway plan ends in 1961, cautioned John C. Mackie, state highway commissioner.

It could be programed in the five-year plan beginning in 1962, Mackie allowed, but how soon and with what funds are still question marks, he told a group of 150 Pontiac businessmen at Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

The loop highway would be a new U.S.10, replacing Saginaw street as a state trunkline. It would skirt the downtown business district, relieving traffic congestion and making new retail improvements possible within its circumference.

★ ★ ★

Mackie, who has promised that the trunkline redesignation would be made in time for state and federal funds to become available in construction of the loop, had some bright news yesterday on another score.

JOHN C. MACKIE

He said it appeared probable the city could go ahead and purchase right-of-way for the loop with its own funds, subject to reimbursement later by the Highway Department when the loop is officially on the department's construction program.

CITY COMMENDED

City Manager Walter K. Willman said this maneuver would speed making the road a reality.

Mackie said Pontiac was one of the few cities he knew of that had adopted a master street plan, such as the one outlined in the city's Barton Traffic Study of last year.

"The city deserves commendation for its far-sighted planning," the highway commissioner said.

The report was financed by the Downtown Merchants' Assn. and its chief recommendation was that a loop highway be constructed to aid in the rehabilitation of the downtown district as a prime shopping center.

Mackie said that all prospective federal and state highway funds through 1961 are currently programed in his first five-year plan.

He warned that by 1961 the state will have used up most of its highway bonding potential, and there may be a "drastic" cutback in construction after that through lack of funds.

How Pontiac's loop will fare in the state plans after 1961 is apparently anybody's guess, but Mackie said the proposal will receive "serious consideration."

The highway commissioner said Oakland County will do well in the Highway Department's construction program next year.

31 Firms Vie for Contracts on Construction

Proposals to Receive 45-Day Study Before Selections Made

More than 80 persons gathered this morning to witness the opening of bids on construction of Oakland County's proposed new courthouse.

There were 31 bids on hand in the supervisors' room in the County Office Building at 10 a.m., deadline for submission.

Opening was under the supervision of the Oakland County Board of Auditors.

While interested contractors and visiting supervisors made their own informal notations on the bids, the official tallies were being kept by the auditors.

Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the Board of Auditors, opened the first bid shortly after 10 a.m. and its contents were read aloud to the assemblage by Harry M. Denyes, a representative from the architectural firm of O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckenbach, which drew up the courthouse plans.

There were 10 bids to be opened on the general contract, 14 for the mechanical work and 17 for the electrical installations.

The bids probably will be studied for about 45 days before recommendations are made on which firms to hire.

Opening of bids signaled the biggest step so far towards actual construction of a new building to replace the 50-year-old Courthouse in downtown Pontiac.

Bids covered construction of only the first section of the county's planned $4,500,000 edifice in the Oakland County Service Center on Telegraph road in northwest Pontiac.

The county plans to build the second, and final section later, as funds become available.

Prospects of a new courthouse appeared bleak in the summer of 1957 when a Circuit Court decision held that the county had illegally accumulated funds for its pay-as-you-go financing plan.

Two months ago, however, the State Supreme Court reversed this ruling, giving the county the go-ahead signal to proceed with its plans.

Voting Begins on Labor Bill

Kennedy Measure Gets First Test in Senate on Taft-Hartley Sections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voting starts today on the politically disputed Kennedy labor regulation bill, with its critics conceding they would lose the first test.

The initial roll call comes on a proposal by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-NC) to strike from the bill all of its sections dealing with the Taft-Hartley labor relations law.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), author of the measure, told newsmen he was confident of a safe margin to defeat this proposal. Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz), supporting Ervin, forecast it would be voted down by 20 or more votes.

One factor apparently insuring this result was a Republican split. Ervin was expected to get only about half the GOP votes, plus the backing of most of his fellow Southern Democrats.

★ ★ ★

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) expained he was opposing Ervin's amendment because it did not square with the Eisenhower administration's position.

The administration, he said, wants to handle labor legislation in a one-package bill, and favors inclusion of several Taft-Hartley amendments besides those already in the Kennedy bill.

Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark), chairman of the Senate Labor-Management Committee, apparently was ready to lead the fight to write in new Taft-Hartley provisions.

The Arkansan said he would support the Ervin amendment, but that if it failed, he would then press for four Taft-Hartley amendments he has drafted. He said these are necessary to deal effectively with union abuses.

★ ★ ★

The two key ones would ban organizational picketing and secondary boycotts. These also are among the administration's recommendations.

★ ★ ★

Gossett Sees Union Power as Freedom Threat

William T. Gossett, vice president and general counsel of the Ford Motor Co. from Bloomfield Hills, said last night labor legislation must curb union monopoly in order to be satisfactory.

Gossett, speaking to a church and industry group at the Kirk in the Hills in Bloomfield Township, said union power has become a "potential threat" to democracy.

He called this a "national problem of the first order of magnitude."

Gossett, of 420 Goodhue Rd., criticized present labor bills before Congress.

"None of them," he said, "deals with basic industrial relations—the collective bargaining process. And none of them deals with the special legal immunities of unions."

The U. S. Senate today began its debate and vote on the controversial Kennedy-Ervin labor bill.

Husband of Slain Woman Denies Alleged Blackmail

By PETE LOCHBILER

An Independence Township man has denied any part in an alleged blackmail plot that authorities were told led to the fatal shooting of his bride of four months.

Donald Crenshaw, 26, of 6230 Snow Apple Dr., near Clarkston, made the denials on a lie detector test yesterday, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said.

But the test results were inconclusive, Ziem said, leaving puzzled authorities in the middle of two sharply conflicting stories.

Crenshaw's former girl friend, Mrs. Sue Lawrence, 32, of 2652 Oxford Rd., Berkley, claimed she was paying Crenshaw and his wife, Wyvona, money in a blackmail scheme involving her 9-year-old son.

She claimed that Mr. and Mrs. Crenshaw had called her "repeatedly" at home and at work, asking for money, Roberts said.

Mrs. Lawrence is a part-time beauty operator at a pleasant Ridge beauty salon.

Mrs. Lawrence, an attractive brunette, is a police prisoner in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, held for investigation in the fatal shooting Saturday of Mrs. Crenshaw.

Reported on the verge of emotional collapse for 48 hours, Mrs. Lawrence was composed for the first time yesterday during a brief statement to Assistant Prosecutor James Roberts, Ziem said.

She asserted that Mrs. Crenshaw (commonly known by her middle name, Delores) telephoned her last week and asked for $500.

The shooting occurred, Mrs. Lawrence said, when she visited the Crenshaw home in order to deliver the money and a letter to Crenshaw, in which she expressed the hope that she wouldn't have to give him any more money.

"She said she had been warned that if she didn't deliver the money, she would be deprived of her child, either through physical harm or by losing custody of the boy," said Roberts.

Mrs. Lawrence said she grappled with Mrs. Crenshaw over possession of a .25 caliber pistol she had in her purse.

Roberts quoted her as saying she could remember nothing about the scuffle, until she realized suddenly "there was a pain in my leg."

The woman is recuperating from a serious flesh wound in the upper part of her leg. Mrs. Crenshaw died of a bullet wound in the head.

Mrs. Lawrence claimed that Crenshaw had given her the gun and that she was returning it to the Crenshaws at their request.

She said Mrs. Crenshaw spotted it when she opened her purse to hand over the money.

"She grabbed at the gun and

Man Confesses Strangling Boy

Escapee From Mental Hospital Tells Police of Detroit Murder

DETROIT (AP) — Police said a 47-year-old man, who escaped from a mental hospital, admitted today he strangled five-year-old Marvin Zdanowski whose body was found in a garage last night.

Lt. Hiram Phipps of the Detroit Police homicide squad said the confession was obtained from George Ritola, 47 who resided intermittently with a sister living in the same house with the boy's deaf mute parents.

Ritola was held for investigation of murder. Police said they picked him up for questioning because circumstances of the slaying indicated it was committed by some one who had a close knowledge of the house.

Phipps said Ritola gave no reason for the slaying. Ritola told Phipps he had been a patient at a mental hospital in Illinois.

TELLS OF SLAYING

The officer said Ritola gave this account of the slaying:

He found the boy yesterday in a bathroom which was shared by the Zdanowski family with other persons living in the house. He grabbed the boy, put his hand over his mouth and decided to kill him.

He dragged the boy to the garage and choked him for five or 10 minutes. Then he concealed the limp body in a rafter. He planned to return later and find a better hiding place for the body.

Phipps said Ritola was accustomed to spending most of his time with a sister Hilda Ritola, who lived there.

After the boy disappeared, police combed west Detroit for hours looking for him.

Woman Admits Embezzlement

Pleads Guilty to Taking $15,000 From Bank in Lake Orion

A Lake Orion woman was free under $10,000 bond today, awaiting sentencing on a charge of embezzling $15,000 from the former Lake Orion State Bank.

Mrs. Edith A. Sumner, 28, of 284 W. Clarkston Rd., pleaded guilty to the charge yesterday at arraignment before Federal Judge Ralph M. Freeman in Detroit.

After a criminal information was read, accusing Mrs. Sumner of embezzling $10,000 from 1954 through October, 1957, Mrs. Sumner volunteered the information that she had taken another $5,000 between 1951 and 1954.

She was head bookkeeper of the Orion bank during that period and later became a bookkeeper at Community National Bank, after a merger saw Community National establish a Lake Orion branch.

COURT TO CHECK

Sentencing will follow an investigation by the court's probation department.

Mrs. Sumner admitted embezzling the funds through her own checking acount, charging her checks off on commercial accounts whose monthly statements she manipulated.

The shortages were disclosed yesterdy, after the bank's auditing department found that its records showed the commercial accounts held less money than listed in Mrs. Sumner's bookkeeping records.

The shortages have been made up, the bank said, and the loss to the bank is covered by insurance.

Ike and Macmillan Urge Limit on Tests

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower has put directly up to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev a proposal to ban nuclear weapons tests which dangerously pollute the atmosphere.

A first-stage agreement to outlaw tests below 30 miles in the atmosphere, Eisenhower wrote Khrushchev, could ease the deadlock among negotiators now seeking a way to halt all weapons testing.

In London, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan immediately wrote Khrushchev supporting Eisenhower's proposal of a ban on nuclear weapon tests.

Sources close to the British government said Macmillan told Khrushchev Britain would prefer a more comprehensive test ban.

But he said if that is impossible, it will back limited agreement of the type proposed by America and Britain last week at the Geneva conference on a nuclear test ban.

Details of the President's appeal to the Kremlin leader were made public as Eisenhower arranged to end a two-week vacation at the Augusta National Golf Club and fly back to Washington. He scheduled his departure aboard the plane Columbine III for mid-afternoon.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Khrushchev had not replied to the Eisenhower letter. It was made public Monday night only after a Soviet official had talked about it, apparently by accident, in Geneva where East-West talks have been blocked since October.

The letter was sent to Khrushchev on April 13 — the same day U. S. negotiators outlined the new U. S. proposal in Geneva. Eisenhower said in effect that a partial agreement would be better than none, and "these negotiations must not be permitted completely to fail."

He said a simplified control system to detect any test explosions in the atmosphere could easily be developed from expert recommendations already at hand.

Senators Hope to Rush Through Okay of Herter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Christian A. Herter appears before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today with advance assurance of its overwhelming approval of his nomination as secretary of state.

★ ★ ★

So strong was his backing as the successor to cancer-stricken John Foster Dulles that Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont) suggested waiving the committee's rules to permit a vote today, and Senate confirmation Thursday.

Herter is leaving within a few days for a meeting in Paris with Western Foreign Ministers April 29 to prepare for a May 11 meeting with the Soviets on the Berlin crisis.

The committee's rules require that it take no action until six days after the Senate receives a nomination. Herter's was sent to the Senate by President Eisenhower Monday.

Rowston Heads Tax Board

County Group Also Sets Hearing Dates on Allocations

Elected yesterday to his first term as chairman of the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board was Pontiac Mayor Philip E. Rowston.

Rowston, on the tax setting board for the past four years, was chosen chairman at the board's organization meeting. He replaces William J. Emerson, superintendent of schools, who served as chairman in 1957-58.

The board also set the following dates for hearings preliminary to setting 1959 county, township and school rates:

May 20, 21 and 22—preliminary hearings on the county, county school, townships and individual school budgets.

May 28—hearings to set final rates for townships and schools.

May 29—hearing on Oakland County budget and review all rates.

June 1—set final rates for add.

Chairman Rowston said the hearings will be held this year in the supervisors room on the fourth floor of the County Office Building, 1 Lafayette St., instead of in the Board of Education Building on Telegraph road.

Wiring an electrical equipment valued at $1,200 for use in the forthcoming Bulders Show was discovered stolen yesterday.

The equipment is stored yearly by Howard Weeden, owner of the Weeden Home Equipment Co., 1661 S. Telegraph Rd., Bloomfield Township, in a storage garagge behind the company.

"When we checked the equipment several months ao it was alright," Haskill said. "When we went over to get it in shape for the show yesterday, it was gone."

The Builders Show opens at the National Guard Armory, 57 Water St., on April 30. The wiring alone will cost $900 to replace, said Haskill," but we'll be ready to go on time."

Texas reported a variety of weather, mostly stormy, Monday night. Hail and heavy rain pelted central and southern areas. Snow fell in the Upper Panhandle. Heavy fog kept 12 cargo ships off Galveston Bay. A tornado was sighted between Del Rio and Eagle Pass but was not believed to have touched ground.

The weather in Texas also showed contrasting temperatures. Monday's high was 99 at Laredo, deep in the south. Dalhart, in the Upper Panhandle, was hit by snow for the second straight night. The mercury there registered 44.

Crenshaw Denies Alleged Blackmail

I tried to stop her. I wanted to give the gun back, but I didn't want her to grab it away from me," Roberts quoted her as saying.

In the lie test, Crenshaw denied "emphatically," Ziem said, that he had given Mrs. Lawrence the gun.

★ ★ ★

The gun is not registered, said Sheriff's Det. Leo Hazen.

Evidence supporting Mrs. Lawrence's story was found in the Crenshaw kitchen, where the shooting occurred.

Hazen said that $500—in $50 and $10 bills—was found in a small envelope under the kitchen table, while the letter was lying on the table, enclosed in a white business envelope, unaddressed.

Authorities did not detail the contents of the letter, but Ziem said that it "tended" to bear out Mrs. Lawrence's assertions.

"It tells how Mrs. Lawrence supported him (Crenshaw) and expressed the hope that this would be the last time she had to help him with money," said Hazen.

Hazen said it was handwritten, in ink, on both sides of two correspondence-size sheets of paper, addressed to "Don," but unsigned. He said the handwriting matched Mrs. Lawrence's.

Ziem said two other persons yesterday gave statements which referred to a blackmail plot, but noted that in each case the reference was based only on what Mrs. Lawrence had told the persons herself.

The statements were from Mrs. Lawrence's estranged husband, Wayne, and her sister, Mrs. Woodrow Bare of 325 Grove St., Highland Park.

"So far we have no proof of blackmail and the only indications of it are based on hearsay and what Mrs. Lawrence told us," Ziem said.

★ ★ ★

Lawrence, part-owner of a Detroit auto collision shop, is involved in divorce proceedings, but is still living in the same house as his wife.

Mrs. Lawrence's attorney said she would like a reconciliation.

The divorce case apparently figured in the background of Mrs. Lawrence's version of the blackmail.

She filed divorce proceedings in Oakland County Circuit Court last September, charging cruelty. Lawrence countered with a charge that Mrs. Lawrence was keeping company with other men, and was unfit to keep their son, Wayne Jr.

According to Hazen, Crenshaw said that he had been dating Mrs. Lawrence until last October when he broke off with her and made plans to marry.

Hazen said that Crenshaw recalled meeting Mrs. Lawrence for the first time in the fall of 1957 while he was operating a gas station in Berkley, near her home.

Crenshaw now is employed as a credit salesman for Goodyear Service Station, 30 S. Cass Ave.

The divorce was initiated shortly after Mrs. Lawrence was awarded a $17,000 Circuit Court judgment as compensation for head injuries she received in a three-car accident New Year's Eve, 1957.

Hazen said Mrs. Lawrence's bankbook showed she deposited $11,100 of the award last fall, but since then had made withdrawals that reduced her account to a little more than $7,000.

The last withdrawal was Friday he said, in the amount of $500.

The other withdrawals were of varying amounts at irregular periods, showing no pattern, Hazen said.

★ ★ ★

During the jury trial that led to Mrs. Lawrence winning the judgement, a pyschiatrist testified that the head injuries had affected the woman mentally, Hazen said.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Larence was scheduled to enter Mercywood Sanatorium near Ann Arbor Saturday, the day of the shooting. Hospital records indicated that her admission as a mental patient there was voluntary, Hazen said.

City Loop Highway Will Have to Wait

nual expenditure for new roads—will be placed under contract between June, 1960 and June, 1961, Mackie said.

This includes portions of the Oakland County Expressway from Detroit past Pontiac to Flint, plus parts of expressways planned in the vicinity of 11½-Mile road and Northwestern highway.

Mackie said that surveys for the expressway between Pontiac and Flint were finished and that detailed plans will be completed this fall.

Appraisals of land will begin this fall and land acquisition will be under way by early next year, he said.

Route of the expressway between Pontiac and the south Oakland County area must be still approved by the communities through which it will run, Mackie said.

In Troy, the only community where route approval has been given, there is a taxpayer's suit blocking the road. The other towns affected are Madison Heights, Royal Oak and Hazel Park.

The Oakland County expressway is scheduled to be linked someday with the Walter P. Chrysler on Detroit's east side, but this, too, is a job that won't get under way until the second five-year plan is drawn up, Mackie said.

Northwestern should be under contract next year for conversion to an expressway type road from Eight Mile road to a point near Telegraph road, Mackie said, where it would join the 11½-Mile Expressway between Northwestern and the Farmington-Brighton Expressway to the east.

DIRECT ROUTE

With the conversion of James Couzens Highway in Detroit to an expressway, there will soon be a direct expressway route all the way from Detroit to Muskegon, via the new Oakland County construction, Mackie said.

★ ★ ★

Mackie said Oakland County has the greatest dollar volume of highway deficiency in the state, mostly because highway construction here over the past decade has not kept pace with the county's swift population growth.

He said the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and the County Road Commission must find new sources of local revenue if local roads are to be brought up to standard.

Mackie said that Oakland County is scheduled for $100 million of trunkline construction through 1961.

The construction program will be an economic boost to the county, he said, injecting about $35 million in highway department payrolls into the economy.

Mackie believed the Oakland County expressway would produce a residential boom north of Pontiac, and attract "more than $1 million-a-mile in new commercial and industrial investments alongside the right-of-way."

The Highway Commissioner also spoke about economies in the Highway Department, saying it has saved the state more than $3 million since he took office nearly two years ago.

Elimination of survey work by private consultants has resulted in a $1 million saving, he said, and more than that amount was saved by using more Department people on highway design.

Another $1 million was saved by reducing overtime for Department personnel by different work-schedule controls during the construction season.

Mackie was introduced by S. E. Knudsen, Pontiac Motor Division general manager and General Motors Corp. vice president.

Attending were members of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, the Downtown Business Assn., the Pontiac Manufacturers' Assn., city and county officials.

3,100 Goal for Mental Health Week

State Hospital Seeks Visitors

"Operation Friendship" will be the theme of Mental Health Week at Pontiac State Hospital and a goal of 3,100 visitors—the number of patients in the hospital—has been set.

Similar programs during the week, April 26 through May 2, are to be conducted throughout the nation to further public understanding of mental illness through education, according to Mrs. Mary Fink, president of the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Health, which is sponsoring the program.

Hospital officials have arranged special tours and demonstrations for each of the four days during the week.

April 27 will be Public Officials Day. State legislators, community and county officials will be invited to the activities which begin at 10:30 a.m. at the administration building of the hospital.

Similar special days have also been set aside for other groups. April 28 will be for clergymen and church groups; April 29 for women's organizations, and April 30 has been slated as Community Day for visits by Parent-Teacher Associations, men's service clubs, professional groups and members of labor organizations.

The program each day will include visits to areas of special interest and clinical demonstrations. Newer phases of treatment will be discussed by hospital staff members and special emphasis will be placed on the geriatric and children's units.

Lyle Abel, county agricultural agent, is chairman of the program in Oakland County. Groups interested in participating in the tours may contact R. L. Arthaud at the hospital.

★ ★ ★

Abel has invited "the officers of every organization in Oakland County to consider a visit to the hospital during Mental Health Week as an important part of the organization's program for the year."

★ ★ ★

Oakland, Genesee and Macomb are among the 10 counties in southeastern Michigan served by the Pontiac State Hospital.

Bridges to Be Asked About Russian Trip

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry Bridges was summoned before the House Committee on Un-American Activities today to explain some things he reportedly said during a visit to the Soviet Union.

The Pacific Coast's longshoremens' union boss was the first witness in a scheduled four-day hearing.

The committee said it is developing legislation to tighten up U.S. passport laws governing travel abroad by Communists or others regarded as security risks.

Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa) said the committee was interested in statements made by Bridges while on a trip that took him to the Soviet Union, East Germany, Czechoslovakia and other countries in January and February of this year.

Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga) told the House last month that Bridges was quoted in a Moscow interview as saying that labor unions in the U.S.S.R. are more democratic than many in the United States. Davis said Bridges made a similar comparison of elections in this country and the Soviet Union.

The Day in Birmingham

Street Project Dropped as Elderly Folk Protest

BIRMINGHAM —Ann street was dropped from the three-street paving project at last night's hearing of necessity before Birmingham city commissioners.

★ ★ ★

Many objections to paving Ann street, a good portion of them from elderly persons living on pensions or retirement pay, have been filed.

City officials said they felt the project would create a financial hardship for a number of these residents.

The paving of Landon street between Purdy and Ann streets, and Purdy street from Brown street to Lincoln avenue was approved. A public hearing to confirm the special assessment role will be held in mid-May.

TO DONATE LAND

Ernest E. Morrow, whose home is at the corner of Ann and Landon streets, indicated that he will donate a narrow strip of land necessary to widen the intersection for greater traffic safety.

★ ★ ★

The hearing on the $20,775 road oiling program has been set for May 11.

Commissioners transferred $7,000 from the contingent fund to the snow removal fund to meet the costs of one of the most expensive winters on record.

Tom C. Brien, department of Public Works superintendent, found his $16,000 budget for 1958-59 fell $20,000 short of the actual snow removal and sanding costs. The larger portion of the deficit was paid from surplus in other department accounts.

Two 1958 paving fund deficits were okayed for reassessment.

The 25 property owners involved in the E. Maple avenue widening will be asked to pay $5,249 more. Their assessments will range from $15 to $169.

On the Graefield road project, the deficit to be shared by 60 property owners, is $550. New assessments will be from 11 cents to $23.

Birmingham taxpayers continue true to form, according to City Treasurer Russell T. Berger.

For the past four years about 98 per cent have paid city tax and 96 per cent county and school taxes prior to the March 1 deadline. The same held true for this year.

A dinner and entertainment with a Scottish flavor is planned by Birmingham Chapter 220 and Southfield Chapter 519, Order of the Eastern Star, for 6:15 p.m. tomorrow at the Masonic Temple.

The Shean Trews, Sword Dance, Highland Fling and the Flora MacDonald Fancy will be danced by champion Sharron Magnuson, Sally Bristol and Janis Ross. They will be accompanied by Bill Grant on the bagpipes.

★ ★ ★

A setting of spring flowers will feature traditional Scottish heather and ceramics by Elizabeth Warwick, worthy matron of the Southfield Chapter.

The exemplification of degrees and presentation of honorary memberships is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Women of the First Presbyterian Church are at the social hall from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. today and tomorrow receiving items for the annual spring rummage sale.

The sale will be held Thursday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. and Friday from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Mrs. Minnie C. Kitchen

Service for Mrs. Minnie C. Kitchen, 78, of 30497 Everett St., Southfield Township, will be at 2 p.m. Thursday from the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Roseland Park Cemetery, Royal Oak.

Mrs. Kitchen died yesterday in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak after a short illness.

For the past 38 years, she has been a clerk in several Birmingham stores.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Florence Stoll of Royal Oak; a son, Arthur of Southfield; two sisters; one grandchild and one great-grandchild.

Got His Man at Last

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Thomas McInerney played the pinball machines at Ted's Buffet for two weeks before he hit the jackpot yesterday. His ball lit all the lights on one machine. Bartender Fred E. Freund Jr. offered congratulations, and the prize — $9.10. McInerney pulled out his police detective's badge and made the arrest—for running a game of chance.

State Lawmakers Act on Many Issues

firmative votes required, was cast by Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), who repeatedly said until last night he doubted a cash crisis was imminent.

As the legislation came to the floor, it called for immediate sale of fund's 50 million dollars in securities, worth about 43 million dollars on the present market.

It also provided for:

1. Re-establishment of the body of the fund starting in 1965 by a seven year series of cash transfers from the state's general kitty.

2. A continuing general fund appropriation of $1,200,000 annually to support indigent veterans benefits now paid from trust fund income, the sum gradually to be reduced as the body of the fund is rebuilt and interest from it once again is realized.

★ ★ ★

The rebuilding timetable, under the plan authored by Sen. Frank D. Beadle (R-St. Clair), would dovetail with scheduled reduction in state debt service on the World War II and Korean War bonus bond issues.

In arguing the superiority of his proposal over mortgaging, Beadle said that it would produce more quick cash, give all state agencies a crack at available funds and provide a surer method of rebuilding the fund.

Under mortgaging, there would be only three direct beneficiaries — the University of Michigan and Michigan State University and the State Public School Employes Retirement Fund.

The two universities, getting the bulk of the bonds, would be limited to pledging them as collateral to obtain bank borrowings.

Thus, the net cash effect would be to raise about 38 million dollars, since loans would be made only up to about 90 per cent of market value of bonds.

Beadle conceded that to sell the bonds outright would result in a loss of about seven million dollars as against a net cost of mortgaging estimated by the governor at $3,671,000. He said there was no assurance the latter figure would not turn out to be larger, possibly a good deal larger.

Have Anything to Hide?

Your Tax Return Is Not So Secret

WASHINGTON (AP) — How secret is the U. S. income tax return you just filed?

Many Americans believe the federal tax collector is like a doctor or lawyer — sworn to keep silent about the private affairs of taxpayers. This isn't quite true.

A tax agent can go to jail if he illegally discloses your return to others. He can, however, legally open up returns to outsiders under certain circumstances. He does this often.

Anyone's return may be inspected by state tax agents, federal law officers and congressional investigators, if they get special permission.

A taxpayer also can see his own return, or get a photo copy by paying 50 cents a page.

The states can inspect your return to make sure you're paying state taxes. About three-quarters of them do this regularly.

Federal agencies, including the Justice Department and the FBI, can take a look if they suspect someone is violating U. S. law. Government prosecutors can even use returns as evidence in federal courts.

SECRECY ABUSED

Congressional committees also can get access to some returns through special presidential orders. These groups often hunt for damaging information about people under investigation, such as racketeers and mobsters.

Although tax secrecy laws are strict, they are abused from time to time.

Information from returns occasionally shows up, quite mysteriously, in the hands of people who have no business knowing about anyone's return but their own.

This data isn't necessarily leaked from the Internal Revenue Service, however.

A Justice Department official said IRA employes sometimes become suspicious about entries on tax returns and tip off the department to possible criminal cases outside the tax field. He said a number of prosecutions have resulted.

★ ★ ★

This is strictly illegal. An IRA spokesman said any employe caught passing such tips would be "fired forthwith."

The employe also would be subject to possible prosecution for unlawful disclosure of tax information. This carries a maximum penalty of a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

IRS WON'T GUESS

IRS won't hazard even a rough guess on the odds that your return will remain an agency secret. Authorized inspections take place at district offices all over the country.

While a state can demand to look at all returns filed by residents, federal agencies must name individual taxpayers, list the tax years involved, name their inspectors and give a specific reason for making an inspection.

State and federal people can obtain copies of returns, but legislators generally make on-the-spot inspections. Congressional groups are provided blank forms on which to copy wanted information.

Three congressional committees dealing with revenue matters have permanent authority to inspect returns. They are the House Ways and Means Committee, the Senate Finance Committee and the Senate-House Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation.

Only two other committees currently have the privilege — the Senate Labor-Management Committee and the Senate Judiciary Committee. Their authorizations are temporary.

Eventually the government destroys most individual tax returns. Normally they are kept in district offices for three years, then go to a federal records center for another three.

Unless Uncle Sam has a special reason for hanging onto yours, it will be destroyed — through burning or shredding — after six years.

Only then can you be sure your secret will be kept.

Margot Fonteyn Taken as Husband Charged With Plotting Revolt

By LUIS NOLI

PANAMA (AP)—The Panamanian government held British ballerina Margot Fonteyn under arrest today in connection with charges that her husband was plotting to overthrow President Ernesto de la Guardia Jr.

The 39-year-old ballet dancer, one of the word's greatest, was reported being held in the private office of the commandant of Panama city's main jail.

National Guard headquarters claimed that Miss Fonteyn's panamanian husband, Roberto Arias, had landed Sunday night on Panama's Pacific Coast with about 10 armed men.

The National Guard, which is Panama's army and police, said Arias and his band were fleeing. Other reports said he had transferred from the motor launch in which he and his wife had been cruising and had landed near his family's large cattle ranch 75 miles west of the capital.

There was no immediate official reaction from the British Embassy, which had been busy until late Monday with the visit of Prince Philip. Miss Fonteyn for more than a decade has been the top star of Britain's Royal Ballet and is a Dame of the British Empire, the female equivalent of knighthood.

Prohibition Town Has First Raid in 25 Years

BARRINGTON, R.I. (AP) — Police staged Monday their first liquor raid since the town went dry 25 years ago.

They seized 410 gallons of wine and arrested Albert Piccerilli, 75, on a charge he was selling it at $1.50 a gallon.

Police Chief George W. Robbins said several high school teen-agers told him they gained admittance to Piccerilli's cellar by using the passwords: "Elsie sent me," or just "Booze."

Barrington is the only dry community in Rhode Island.

Woman, Son Found Dead

Murder Is Suspected as Bodies Discovered in Buffalo Suburb

LOCKPORT, N.Y. (AP) — A coroner has issued verdicts of homicide in the deaths of a mother and her three-year-old son, whose bodies were found five miles apart in a creek and in a canal.

Dr. George H. Muscato said Monday night that Claudia Kosko, 33, died of a neck injury and her son, Gary, of a brain hemorrhage on April 11.

★ ★ ★

The woman's husband, Nick, a 35-year-old factory worker, said his wife and son left their home in nearby North Tonawanda in the family car Jan. 1 after a quarrel.

Kosko did not report their disdisappearance until March 23. He said he delayed notifying police because his wife had left home four times before, but each time had returned.

The woman's body was found Friday in a creek near North Tonawanda, a suburb of Buffalo. The body of her son was discovered Saturday five miles away in the State Barge Canal. The creek flows into the canal.

Sheriff James K. Murphy previously had said everything indicated the two were killed and hurled into the crek.

However, Niagara County Dist. Atty. William H. Earl said "I am not convinced this is a homicide. I am more inclined to favor the suicide theory."

★ ★ ★

The Kosko automobile was dragged fom the water near where the woman was found. The gears were in neutral, the ignition was turned off and the windows were open.

Kosko, who is not being held, is scheduled to take a lie detector test Wednesday.

The district attorney said Kosko has been "most cooperative" in the investigation.

Nun Dies, Two Hurt in Car Collision

LANSING (AP) — A Catholic nun was killed and two other nuns were injured seriously in a traffic collision at an intersection in a residential neighborhood yesterday.

The nuns' station wagon and a car carrying a group of high school students collided.

The driver of the students' car Thomas Bassett, 17, of Lansing was held for investigation of manslaughter. Bassett and his three companions escaped with slight injuries.

Sister Margaret Therese Sawkins of the St. Vincent de Paul Home for Children was killed.

Injured was Sister Mary Felix, superior of the home, and Sister Vincent de Paul of the Bishop's home in Lansing. Both are in St. Lawrence Hospital.

Search Is Conducted for Missing Old Man

ESCANABA (AP) — An air and land search was conducted over a wooded area near here today for a missing elderly man.

Florian De Cramer, 89, of Perkins, disappeared yesterday morning after going into the woods with his dog. He had gone to cut wood.

Castro Impresses Skeptics

Several observations came to light this past weekend at the meeting in Washington of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. On most subjects the editors had varying opinions, but on FIDEL CASTRO, presidential candidates, and Vice President RICHARD NIXON they all pretty much agreed.

★ ★ ★

CASTRO spoke to the editors for two and a half hours Friday afternoon and without doubt labored under two handicaps—a limited (less than 50 per cent) command of English, and an audience really quite skeptical. The security precautions, plus the fanfare and build up had everyone on edge.

When he had finished, the effect of his effort seemed to be that he had made a good impression and helped his cause. From a front row seat, his position on Communism was not clear. He made the point that he was not a Communist himself, but the rest of his answer was ambiguous.

According to Jules DuBois, Chicago Tribune Latin American correspondent it is definitely an established fact that Raul, the brother of Castro is an extreme left winger and positively anti American. DuBois that Castros anti American. DuBois said that Castros main concern today is handling his brother.

Out of a population of six million in Cuba, 12,000 are known to be Communist. Just how they figured in the revolution is not clear. The Cuban Prime Minister did not speak out at any time in completely disowning the role of Communism.

For this reason it would seem that the United States should wait and watch very closely what emerges. When asked about the executions, he answered that the majority of people of Cuba supported the revolutionary justice.

This seems like a weak answer and certainly nothing that a politically free nation would tolerate. He was an extremely colorful figure and did a terrific job of selling himself to the ladies in the audience.

He did not ask for money in so many words, but did mention their distressed economic conditions in Cuba. CASTRO stressed the point that Cuba needed our tourists and he appealed to us for understanding.

I personally feel that our country should act intelligently and not drive the Cubans into the waiting arms of the Communist. But at the same time we should be reasonably alert and not jump in head first until the picture clears.

A poll of the newspaper editors Saturday morning at a Sigma Delta Chi breakfast gave NIXON nearly a 3 to 1 edge over ROCKEFELLER. It was concluded that the NIXON-ROCKEFELLER slate would be the choice for the Republicans.

Adlai E. Stevenson led the five Democratic contenders for the party's 1960 nomination. Strangely Stuart Symington was runner-up followed by Kennedy, Johnson and Humphrey. The concensus was a Stevenson-Kennedy ticket for the Democrats.

Saturday night Vice President DICK NIXON did an exceptionally fine job in a question and answer session before the newspaper editors. He did not duck any questions and spoke clearly on all points.

One main point that the Vice President made was that the United States must negotiate with the Soviet Union despite all obstacles in the way of agreement. He said tensions and disagreement will last for years, but the United States must make positive suggestions and take the leadership to settle our differences.

Nixon said he thought it would be a mistake for the administration to intervene in the steel wage dispute. But he warned that an increase would put tremendous pressure on Congress and the Administration to take stronger steps.

General opinion was that NIXON'S stature has gained greatly in the last six years.

If anyone wonders what happens to our tax dollars, I noted two pretty good expenditures. One was a large hole which encompassed an entire city block which will house a new Senate Office Building. The cost is 68 million dollars. This will be the third Senate Office Building.

Another small cost is going on at the Capitol Building. It seems that the east front of the building is being extended 32½ feet at an expense of 25 million. This is referred to around Washington as RAYBURN'S Folly.

During dinner Saturday evening EARL WILSON (Pontiac PRESS columnist) mentioned that he would be looking forward to seeing The Pontiac PRESS theater party when it hits the big city this fall. . . . . J.W.F.

What's Happening to Us?

David Lawrence Says:

Herter Will Tread in Dulles' Steps

WASHINGTON—Christian A. Herter, the new secretary of state, intends to follow the policies of his predecessor, John Foster Dulles. He said so plainly at Augusta, Ga., last Saturday when his appointment was announced.

LAWRENCE

But, due to one of those curious accidents that sometimes happen in handling news events, this particular statement wasn't reported in the press and was given only over television 24 hours later.

★ ★ ★

Just after President Eisenhower had announced the selection of Herter on Saturday last, the newsmen interviewed him at considerable length. Here is an important section of the stenographic transcript of the interview on which most of the news dispatches cabled around the world on that day were based:

"Q. Mr. Secretary, do you foresee any changes in our foreign policy as a result of your taking over?

"A. I will tell you, I am not going to go into detail on our foreign policy at this time. There will be time enough, if and when I am confirmed, to be talking about that."

This was widely regarded as somewhat of an evasive answer. In fact, the New York Times, in an editorial in its Monday morning issue, said:

"When Mr. Herter met the press at Augusta, Ga., last Saturday, he dodged a question about changes in our foreign policy by the judicious remark that 'There will be time enough, if and when I am confirmed, to be talking about that.' . . .

"Our foreign policy will be essentially what it has been since 1953. Mr. Dulles made the most of it, and there are no signs that Mr. Herter wishes to unmake any of it."

The editorial made the right inference. The first edition of the Times was on the presses when corroboration came in the 11 p.m. TV newscast Sunday night. Herter was shown on the screen as he answered questions from reporters as follows:

"Q. I wonder if there is anything you can tell us about any possible changes in foreign policy."

"Mr. Herter: No, I won't go into the question of foreign policy at the present time, but I think you can assume from the fact that I have been a member of the team for some time that the team policies will continue."

Evidently the reporters had gone away from the scene on Saturday to write their dispatches and didn't wait to watch the newsreel men with their cameras.

Such accidents occur every now and then in news reporting. Ordinarily the differences between what is said before the newsreel and TV cameras and what had been said previously in conference with the reporters for the printed page do not differ very much.

This happens to be a significant difference, and it is especially worth nothing because there have been hints heretofore that Herter might change substantially the policies pursued by Dulles in the past.

The use of the word "team" may be news to many readers who have been led to believe that there was no "team" in the State Department under Dulles and that it was just a "one-man operation," as so frequently mentioned by critics.

While the new secretary of state means to carry on the policies of Dulles, it would be natural to expect his manner and method of conducting negotiations to be different. Herter, for instance, may travel less and depend more on our ambassadors abroad. After all, in diplomacy there is as much individuality as in any other official endeavor.

The Country Parson

"With all our nuclear progress, man never has been able to make a more destructive weapon than the one he's always had — his tongue."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Physical Activity Protects Against Heart Ailments

In an investigation of thousands of cases of coronary thrombosis or occlusion in England, Drs. Morris and Crawford found that physical activity is actually a protection against coronary heart disease.

DR. BRADY

Men in physically active occupations suffer from it less than men in professional, managerial, business or other sedentary occupations. When it does occur in men who get considerable exercise every day, it is less severe, and they develop it later in life than men with sedentary occupations do.

Habitual physical activity, the British doctors concluded, is a general factor of cardiovascular (heart-artery) health in middle age. The hearts of sedentary workers or light workers showed lesions comparable with the lesions in the hearts of heavy workers 10 to 15 years older.

In my booklet CVD (about heart and artery troubles — for copy send me 35c and stamped self-addressed envelop) I devote three or four pages to exercise, graduated or carefully regulated exercise, three or four lines to digitalis. This, I think, is an indication of their relative value.

★ ★ ★

The management of coronary thrombosis in recent years has changed considerably from the general practice of the twenties and thirties. Indeed the most competent physicians now favor "arm chair" treatment in the first weeks after the attack, rather than absolute bed rest.

SITS UP 1ST DAY

That is to say, the patient sits up in a chair for perhaps half an hour morning and evening, from the first or second day, and the morning and evening sitting-up periods are increased to an hour each morning and an hour each evening after a week; to two hours each morning and evening in the third week; to three hours the fourth week; then the patient sits up all day, and begins walking a few steps the first few days, to the bathroom and back or up and down the hall or corridor, and thereafter, week by week, a little longer walk from day to day.

The idea being gradually increasing exercise. This management has proved a good deal more effective than the older management which kept the patient in bed for at least six weeks before he was permitted even to 'walk on eggs.'

Victims of iatrogenic heart disease — the poor souls have been made to believe they must have a dose of digitalis every day to keep the heart beating — and characters who use the "weak heart" obsession to live (on the bounty of others) without working will reject indignantly the truth and complain piteously about my hard-boiled manner — and probab some of them will find eminent, that is, well advertised, specialists who will be only too happy, seeing that I am concerned, to tell them or the world that they Do most desperately need their daily dose of digitalis or that for them any kind of physical activity is fraught with grave peril.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Blames Wife for Husband's Folly

Ralph's confession should be a challenge to all of you young wives. And it should warn you against thinking such a tragedy is 100 per cent the husband's fault. For Nora was 50 per cent to blame for this common "Medical Specimen" complex that drove Ralph into a drunken affair. Scrapbook this case for it may salvage your marriage later on.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-414: Ralph N., aged 27, is the erring husband of Nora, the heart broken wife mentioned yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, I am a heel and a no-good husband," he admitted, miserably.

DR. CRANE

"I must have been crazy, for I can't explain what made me do such a thing as have that affair with a girl I met at the tavern.

"But I had been under a lot of strain and worry which I had never confessed to my wife.

"We were both delighted at the prospect of having a baby. And I loved my wife with all my heart. Indeed, I still do.

★ ★ ★

"But she is an only child and her parents live in the next block. As soon as they learned Nora was pregnant, they insisted she go to a doctor at once.

"I approved of that idea, of course, but they hovered around Nora as if she were in grave medical danger. They got me scared lest Nora might not pull through the birth of our son.

"And they told me that Nora must not wash windows or climb stepladders to hang the drapes or do any heavy work for she was 'ailing.'

★ ★ ★

"Well, I got to treating her as if she was a semi-invalid. And though I still loved her, I became platonic.

"Nora didn't seem disturbed but it bothered me a whale of a lot.

"However, I never said anything about it, and she probably took it as an evidence of my respect and solicitude for her condition.

"Anyway, when she was ready to go to the hospital, I was nervous and fearful and worried.

★ ★ ★

"After my walking the corridor all that night, the nurse finnally told me the baby wouldn't be born for many hours, so she urged me to go to the office, saying they'd call me.

HUSBAND'S TORTURE

"Well, I tried to work, but had been without sleep for 24 hours, so I didn't accomplish much.

"At 5 p.m., I headed back to the hospital, Nora still hadn't given birth to the baby, so I waited around until midnight. Then I felt so tired and hungry, I went over to a tavern. I had a couple of beers and a sandwich.

"Soon a strange dame sat down beside me, and signaled the bar tender to bring us drinks. They were whisky.

"Before long, I was talking to this woman and telling her my woes. She was sympathetic, and ordered another round of drinks.

"Finally, she suggested I better get some coffee and sober up before I went back to the hospital, so she invited me to her apartment across the street.

"Well, from then onward, everything is hazy in my mind. But I now have syphilis and a heartbroken wife. And I feel like the lowest form of human being on earth.

"Dr. Crane, what can I do to prove to my wife that I still love her? I'll go crazy if I don't get this cleared up, so we can have a happy home again."

GET OUTSIDE HELP

It is often wise to get an outside Marriage Counsellor to aid in such situations, for his advice will carry more weight.

★ ★ ★

And his wider experience will help jolt the supposedly injured party out of that aggrieved and often self-righteous attitude.

So I served as the Counsellor and explained that Ralph was only 50 per cent at fault, so see tomorrow's conclusion of this tragedy.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Small Turnout of Parents Disturbs Milford Teacher

As program chairman for PTA, I chose "How Our Children Learn to Read" as a topic, one I thought would interest parents with children of all ages. All the teachers worked very hard and presented a wonderful program.

So few parents were there that teachers and their spouses outnumbered parents. It's tragic when a parent can't find time to spend two hours a month to see their children's school, talk with teachers and visit with other children's parents.

It gives your child a special glow when his teacher can say, "I saw your mother at PTA last evening," or "I told your father you're improving in your work." I hope the teachers won't feel it was a lost evening, because the ones who "lost" the evening are those who weren't there.

Seconds Complaints and Adds Another

I agree with Housewife and Second Housewife and I'll send back statements with staples in the middle and ones that are buried in a bunch of handbills in the same envelope.

★ ★ ★

Now I want them and everyone else to do something for me. Most firms have statements with a perforated strip so you can send back the top of the bill which has your name and the firm's name.

★ ★ ★

I send that back unless the firm has been so thoughtless and indifferent to me that they don't print the firm name on the bottom half of the bill. How can you file it in an alphabetical file if no name is printed on the bottom part? And if you do file it, you'll not recall the firm name a year later.

So let's all get together and clean up the sloppy billing so many firms do.

There isn't any place to go in Pontiac. If there are any social clubs, they're keeping it a secret. I'm a widow with home, etc., paid for, naturally looking for a friend who likes dancing, music, art and books, but I couldn't find a man in Pontiac if I advertised for one.

Detroit and Royal Oak have clubs and dances. Why can't we start the ball rolling to form a club? There are many men and women sitting in their big homes wondering what to do, where to go and slowly stagnating.

'Keep Ball Players Out of Others' Yard'

I haven't dogs nor paper blowing around, but we do have boys from 10 to 15 years who aren't allowed to play ball or anything else in their own yards, but are forever running into others' yards, destroying neighbors' well-kept yards and lawns to chase a ball.

★ ★ ★

Parents of these young folks stand in the yard with their hands in their pockets and say nothing. Let's keep them out of others' yards.

★ ★ ★

There are plenty of ball diamonds in the city, and if they can't go alone, mommy and daddy can take them by their patties and take them. I keep my yard nice, but have had expensive shrubs and plants destroyed.

See Mice, Men in Space Soon

Predictions and Projects Popping Out All Over Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space flight forecasts are popping out all over Washington — everything from sending mice into orbit within a month to sending a man to the moon and back within eight years.

Project Nova, Project Score, Project Courier, Project Transit, Project Tiros, Project Midas — take your pick. They've all got some exciting idea to ignite the imagination.

The mice-in-space forecast came Monday from Roy W. Johnson, director of the Advanced Research Projects Agency in a speech to a Republican women's group. He also outlined hopefully most of the other projects due for later development.

Johnson said the Discoverer II satellite, launched April 13 and nearing the end of its orbit, has had a "truly fantastic success." He added, "We now plan to launch Discoverer III with a biomedical space traveler."

★ ★ ★

Johnson didn't specify mice as the space travelers, but informed sources said one or more were slated for the orbital trip. Johnson said this Discoverer III shot would come within a month, but other sources weren't quite so explicit.

The mice would be America's first try to putting living animals into orbit. The Army on Dec. 13 last year sent a monkey up about 300 miles in the nose cone of a Jupiter missile. An orbit was not attempted. The cone, and the monkey, were lost in the Atlantic Ocean after the 1,500-mile flight.

Johnson claimed two important firsts for Discoverer II. It was the first time a satellite had been positioned in flight (by means of jets of compressed air) so that it faced a certain way, he said, and it was the first time a capsule was ejected from a satellite and sent back to earth.

The capsule is said to have come down near Spitzbergen, north of Norway. A search is under way for it.

Child Bystander First Casualty of Wagon Train

Jo Ann Marshall, a spectator, was bitten on the right shoulder and thrown to the ground by one of the horses Monday. She was treated for a bruise, given a tetanus shot and taken home.

★ ★ ★

Jo Ann was among 1,000 persons who watched the seven wagons pass through Olathe.

The train camped near here Monday night and will make a short 10-mile move to Gardner today. At Gardner the Oregon Trail split off from the Santa Fe Trail and angled northwest.

Noise of Television Was Really Murder

WEST PLAINS, Mo. (AP)—An argument over how loud a television set should play led to a 25-year prison term for Malcolm Holland, 50.

Holland, of Pomona, Mo., was sentenced Monday after pleading guilty in Circuit Court to second-degree murder.

Officers said an argument over the TV sound volume developed at the home of Floyd T. Brownfield, 47, at Pomona Feb. 18 while Holland was visiting there.

Holland started to leave the house. At the door he picked up his rifle, turned and shot Brownfield in the head eight times.

Sift Hearing Records

DETROIT (AP) — Law enforcement officers of Wayne County began a study today of transcripts of the Teamsters Union hearings of the Senate Rackets Committee.

They were noncommital, however, on what might come of it.

Arthur J. Koscinski, chief assistant prosecuting attorney for Wayne County, said he would examine the records to see what he called "evidence, not mere accusations."

At the conclusion of the committee hearings in Washington last week Sen. John McClellan denounced Teamsters Local 985 of Detroit as a "leech."

Capital Has Hope for Cuba

Castro Making Friends

By BEN F. MEYER

WASHINGTON (AP) — It was not long ago that a lot of people around Washington regarded Fidel Castro as "just another of those Latin American revolutionaries." They thought he ought to go out and get himself a shave, and stop those executions in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

Today the bearded young man has a lot of new friends here, some in surprising places, who think he is sincere and is trying his best to do a good job for Cuba. They hope he'll carry out his promise of good government in the little republic long ridden by graft and dirty politics.

There are still some skeptics here, too, but they seem in the minority now. It may be because, as Castro puts it: "I did not come (sic) for money, but for friends, and to clear things about our revolution."

He seemed to make friends, all right. Boys and girls screamed with delight whenever they saw him.

HAVE HIGHER HOPES

Grown-ups, in high places and elsewhere, said they got a much more hopeful viewpoint of what has happened in Cuba, and higher hopes for its future under Castro.

★ ★ ★

Even at the State Department, where there was a great deal of reserve about the bearded man who came to Washington without an official invitation, one observer said: "The guy makes a good showing. He handled himself well."

★ ★ ★

Castro did nearly all of his talking here to newsmen. He addressed two gatherings of newsmen, gave innumerable interviews between speeches, and made one appearance on a television news panel show—Meet the Press.

ENGLISH NOT PERFECT

Sometimes, he concedes, he does not say things as well as he would like. One of those times was when he said on the TV show that it might possibly be four years before elections could be held in Cuba.

It was the first time he had talked of elections so far in the future.

★ ★ ★

Talking with newsmen later, Castro himself introduced the topic of elections, and said he was "not happy—because I did not explain well." He bore down to explain that "I know it is hard to believe, but the people of Cuba did not want elections now." Cuban newsmen nodded their heads in vigorous support.

Fidel Castro appears to have established among a lot of people here the confidence that he is trying to do a good job.

But the confidence is not unconditional.

As one editor put it: "OK. Let's say we believe he's sincere. Now it's up to him, as his program moves along, to see if he carries out what he says he believes in."

What of Health Insurance?

By RAY HENRY

Should a health insurance program be added to social security to help pay the medical bills of those collecting monthly payments?

This controversial question popped back into the news again last week when the Health, Education and Welfare Department reported:

—It would cost about a billion dollars a year — in the beginning — to finance such a program.

—The money could be raised by increasing the present social security tax by ¼ per cent for employes and employers and by ⅜ per cent for self-employed.

Without taking a stand itself, the department also presented what it considers the main pros and cons on the question.

THE CONS

1. Private, voluntary health insurance for the aged has increased its coverage in recent years.

2. A government health insurance program for social security recipients would undercut the efforts of private companies.

3. If a government program were to cover limited hospital and nursing home care — as now envisioned — pressures would develop to extend the program to other parts of the medical care bill.

4. The future cost of an insurance program is difficult to estimate with any accuracy.

5. Pressures would develop to extend medical care insurance to the working population and their dependents.

6. The present personal medical care would diminish with a government program.

THE PROS —

1. Not to put a social security health insurance program into effect now would postpone an effective solution to the program of medical costs for many of the aged.

2. It's possible that government health insurance — by taking over this special problem — would help assure the continued acceptance of private health insurance for the rest of the population.

3. A government program could provide better protection than is now given by private insurance.

4. A ready and equitable method of spreading the cost over the entire population would be set up.

5. The cost would be relatively low per person because of the large number of people who would be paying.

100 Tour Cancer Center

More than 100 women attended the open house for sewing groups in North Oakland County held Thursday afternoon at North Oakland Cancer Society office on West Lawrence street.

The affair was under the direction of Mrs. H. Edwin Scott, unit service chairman. She discussed improvements for the dressing program and asked groups to stress that the Pontiac loan closet is available without charge to all cancer patients.

Mrs. Scott said that 10,000 handmade dressings were issued to cancer patients in the Pontiac area during the past two months. This work can only be done through the help of the sewing groups.

Mrs. Scott also stated that the Pontiac office is run completely by volunteers.

★ ★ ★

Volunteer activities chairman for the North Oakland unit, Mrs. Phillip Francis, spoke on the structure of American Cancer Society and the duties of volunteers.

The cancer society's new film, "The Doctor Speaks His Mind," was shown. The film emphasizes the importance of annual physical examinations.

Bridge-Tea Set by Kingswood Alumnae Club

The Alumnae Association of Kingswood School Cranbrook is giving a bridge-tea for the benefit of The Ellen and Catherine Wallace Memorial Scholarship Fund.

The affair will be held at Cranbrook House, Bloomfield Hills, at 1:30 p.m. May 5. The Cranbrook gardens also will be open to guests attending the tea.

Mrs. Bruce Craig is in charge of the event. Assisting are Mrs. James Morton, Mrs. Charles Gilbert, Mrs. A. W. Holcomb, Phoebe Otter and Mrs. John W. Crim who is handling reservations.

Dance Has Old West for Theme

A western motif prevailed at the Promenaders dinner dance Saturday evening at the CAI Building on Williams Lake road. Miniature covered wagons and cactus plants decorated the banquet tables.

The western theme was continued on the dance floor with wagon wheels, cactus, and signs naming various square dance figures. The caller's camp was complete with fence, moon, stars and baying coyote. After each square the chuck wagon was a popular spot.

★ ★ ★

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Price, Mr. and Mrs. James Larkin, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCulloch, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bowman, Mr. and Mrs. Riley Day, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hemmerly, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Runyon, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Rieck and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Callahan.

Patient in Hospital

LaVern D. Morris of Union Lake is a patient at Pontiac General Hospital.

Laura Briggs Is Christened

At a ceremony Sunday in St. Hugo of the Hills Church, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Briggs III was christened Laura Manly Briggs, for her paternal grandmother.

Following the 3 o'clock service, the baby's parents entertained in their Redding road home.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Walter O. Briggs Jr. guests included Mrs. Bernard Shor and Mrs. Harvey G. Luce of New York. Mrs. Luce is the maternal grandmother, and Mrs. Shor is the child's godmother.

Outlines Malkim Camp Program

School principal Lillian Davidson explained the Malkim School's camping program at the PTA meeting last week. Mrs. Charles Robison and Mayme Myatt, Malkim teachers, talked on camp activities.

Margaret Scott, audio-visual director for Pontiac schools, showed a movie: "So This Is PTA."

Old-Time Styles Modeled at PEO Chapter Meeting

Members who modeled dresses of bygone eras were Mrs. William Miller, Mrs. John Little, Mrs. Everett Peterson, Mrs. Norman Bartell, Mrs. Ashton Emery and Mrs. Millard Schram.

Motion pictures depicting "The Story of U.S. Mail" were shown by Robert Miller, acting postmaster of the Pontiac Post Office.

Assisting the hostess was Mrs. William Kalwitz.

Mrs. Clarion Cooke of Bloomfield Hills was a guest.

Club Hears Report on Off-Record Court

"Report on the Off-the-Record Juvenile Court" was the subject of George Taylor, chief assistant prosecutor for Oakland County, when he addressed Alpha Gamma Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma Society Monday at Hotel Waldron.

Hostesses were Mrs. Leslie Purslow of Clarkston and Eugenia Keeler of Berkley.

Romans Liked Cleanliness

Romans almost worshipped cleanliness. They carried handkerchiefs, and brushed their teeth with powders and paste.

A bath every eight days was sufficient in the early Republic, but under later Emperors, a citizen risked a lecture if he did not bathe every day.

Private homes featured bathroom suites sparkling with marble, glass, and silver fixtures and taps.

Wife Is Straying Type — Abby

Keep Her on the Reservation and Inspect Fences Regularly!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: A few months ago my wife started going out 'with the girls.' I became suspicious when she stayed out so late and I followed her. She was meeting her boss in a bar. I caused a big scene and the next day I went to the president of the company they worked for and he fired them both. Since then five people have phoned me from the office expressing their sympathy over what happened and all said the affair had been going on for over three years (ever since she started working there).

ABBY

"There are children involved on both sides. I forgave my wife for the children's sake but now she wants to get another job to help pay off some bills. Should I let her? I don't think she can be trusted."

WRONGED

DEAR WRONGED: Keep her home for the time being. Nobody changes overnight.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and have more problems than my mother. A boy at school took a liking to me and followed me around so much I started calling him my shadow. He begged me to go to an afternoon show with him but I refused. He called me nine times and my mother said: 'For goodness sakes, go with him and get rid of him!' He liked me all the more.

"He asked me to take his I.D. bracelet and to tell you the truth I wanted to but my mother would have brained me. He gave me a box of Easter candy and my mother served it to her bridge club and I didn't even get one piece. If I don't accept his I.D. bracelet it will ruin my friendship with his sister who is my age. What should I do?" TROUBLES

DEAR TROUBLES: You say if you ACCEPT his I.D. bracelet your mother will "brain" you, and if you DON'T, you'll lose his sister's friendship. I doubt if either your mother or his sister would resort to such drastic measures, but you'd better refuse the bracelet. A girl can live without a girlfriend, but she definitely needs her brains.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman who is considered very attractive to men. My problem is this: Every man I've gone out with thinks that just because I've been married I have no morals. The first thing they suggest is their apartment or a motel or something like that. I love to dance, I enjoy good clean fun and I'd like to meet a man with the same ideas. Now I ask you, was I born 40 years too soon or am I just old-fashioned?"

LONELY

DEAR LONELY: There is nothing "old-fashioned" about keeping one's self-respect. You are attracting the wrong kind of men. Change bait.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Last week my little girl started scratching her head something fierce. I looked real good at her hair and it was loaded with lice. I killed all I could find. I scrubbed her head with a strong laundry bleach and combed her hair with a fine comb, but she still scratches. How can I kill all the lice eggs without damaging the roots of her hair? I am crazy with fear and fretting. Can you help me?" FEARFUL

DEAR FEARFUL: Don't experiment on your child's head. Call your doctor and ask him for his recommendation.

Relax and Contemplate

Road to Health Is Road to Beauty Too

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

As most of you know, this week I am bringing you my SPRING MAKEOVER program, I hope you will incorporate some important health rules in your routine for the next few weeks. Actually the road to health is the road to beauty, and vice versa. It is impossible to have one without having at least a measure of the other. They are closely related.

When you lose overweight you are improving your health as well as your figure. When you exercise, with your doctor's permission and within your capacity, you are improving health as well as figure.

However, there are other factors you should take into consideration in your SPRING MAKEOVER. If you have been shortchanging yourself on sleep, stop it. If you have taken no time for little rest periods, at least do so for a few weeks. Get in touch with the vital but relaxed mood of this season.

Also, if you have been living in a sort of ratrun, with no time alone, no time for contemplation, find time for it whenever it is possible, at least for a few weeks. Plan for it. Everyone needs this for the good of the soul as well as the body. This will improve your health and your outlook and therefore your appearance.

Bracing yourself against wall with left hand reach as far in each direction as you can with right arm and leg. Now swing right arm down and back as your right leg swings forward and up. After awhile, reverse.

For those of you who ned to lose weight and are following my 9-Day Diet as a part of your SPRING MAKEOVER, here are the menus for tomorrow.

Menus for Wednesday

Breakfast

One-half grapefruit
One thin dry piece of whole wheat toast, Black coffee

Mid Morning

Glass of skimmed milk or buttermilk

Luncheon

One poached egg
One thin dry piece of whole wheat toast
One-half cup broccoli
One glass skimmed milk

Dinner

Two crisp raw carrots
Baked fish (medium portion)
One-half cup green peas
Shredded lettuce salad, lemon dressing,
Fresh fruit cup (don't eat canned fruit)

Here also is your exercise for the day. Stand with your left side toward the wall. Place your left hand on the wall. Raise your right arm forward as you raise your right leg backward. Reach as far in each direction as you can, keeping the trunk erect and the knees stiff.

Now swing your right arm down and back as your right leg swings forward and up. Continue. Do this with a smooth, easy rhythm. After a while, turn your right side toward the wall and swing your left arms and leg.

★ ★ ★

If you have missed some of the menus for my 9-Day Diet, which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days, and would like to have the complete diet in booklet form send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Office Title Depends on Town

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: In my spare time I work in my father's office. There, as at home, I call him Dad or Father. I have been criticized for this. It is thought I should call him Mr. Jones — which is very surprising to me, and I won't believe it unless you say it is true and give me the reason why it is proper for anyone to call her father "Mr. . . . ."

Answer: If your father's office is in a small and friendly town and all the customers know you both personally, you would call each other what you do at home. But if his office is large and busy, it would be more business-like, especially when customers are present, for you to call him Mr. Jones and he also call you Miss Jones — as he does his other employes.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My fiance and I had planned to announce our engagement within the next two weeks, when his father died suddenly one week ago. I would like to know how long we should wait (out of respect to his father) before announcing our engagement."

Answer: You may announce your engagement any time. That is, tell your most intimate friends the news and send a notice to the newspapers. But no party should be given for at least several months.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct way to refer to my husband when talking to my daughter's friends? They are in their teens if that makes any difference."

Answer: You refer to him as "Mary's father."

What Modern Gal Wants to Be Helpless

By RUTH MILLETT

"For my part you can take back our education, our jobs, our cars, our votes, our independent money. I'd trade it all in for the pleasue of being clinging, dizzy, kittenish, wide-eyed, scatterbrained, frivolous, extravagant or just dumb for one year," says a British newspaperwoman.

We women may feel that way once in a while when the pressure of trying to combine marriage, motherhood, civil work, yardwork, social life, chauffeuring, and maybe an outside job becomes too much.

But we couldn't stand being helpless, wide-eyed dependents, uneducated, uniformed and hog-tied inside four walls — not even for a year.

We're used to the freedom to come and go that the automobile has given us.

We're used to either earning our own money or being equal business partners with our husbands. We'd hate like fury to have to say "pretty please" every morning to get a hand-out.

We're accustomed to having a say about the way our children are brought up instead of waiting for Papa to be indulgent or to put his foot down, depending on his mood.

We're used to doing things ourselves. What modern woman really wants to wait around helplessly until her big, strong man decides to do something she has the strength and ability and ingenuity to do herself?

We're good managers and know it's more satisfying to help build up a joint bank account than to squander a husband's money with extravagant unconcern.

We enjoy saying "I think" instead of "My husband thinks." We even enjoy thinking.

Nope we wouldn't like to go back. Because while we may have paid a big price for our freedom, it's worth every ounce of the cost.

We'd never trade for what grea-grandmother had.

'School Influence Greater Than Home'

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — School has more influence on children than the home or church, in the opinion of Dr. Francis H. Horn, president of the University of Rhode Island.

"The influence of the family, beyond purely hereditary factors is decreasing and I see no prospect of reversing the trend," he told an educational group.

Dr. Horn said he considered a good nursery school more effective as an agent of education than a home.

Hal Boyle Says:

Shoe Polish King Is Man of Many Ideas

NEW YORK (AP) — "It isn't enough to have a good idea—you have to do something about it," said the man who changed the smell of shoe polish.

At 43, Irving J. Bottner is America's shoe polish king—and a one-man idea factory.

Bottner decided that the 70-million-dollar annual industry was static and addicted to old ways.

But how do you glamorize a thing like shoe polish?

"The way to make money in this country is to capitalize on people's natural laziness," said Bottner. "You look for a way to make tasks easier and pleasanter."

He made a survey and found that 75 per cent of American men—and nearly all women—polish their own shoes, but regard the chore as arduous, dirty and unpleasant.

Bottner came up with a "stand-up shine bar" for the home, and pushbutton cleaners that could be sprayed on shoes without staining socks or hose. But most women objected to the odor of shoe polish.

★ ★ ★

"Why should shoe polish have to smell like shoe polish?" Bottner asked himself. He decided it didn't have to. He put his chemists to work. Their answer: A revolutionary new kit that contains shoe cleaners in five different fragrances.

HOPES FOR BOOM

"Until now the average family has spent less than $2 a year for shoe cleaning preparations," said Bottner. "If we can raise that figure to $3 or $4, the industry will have its biggest boom in history."

As a child, Bottner's playpen was a wicker basket in the small Bronx hand laundry run by his parents. Life was hard. When he was 8, he went into the streets without a shoeshining outfit and earned $2 to $3 a week to help out his home.

★ ★ ★

He also went around the neighborhood knocking on doors, trying to drum up new business for the laundry.

"I learned early you can't sit and wait for opportunity to knock," he said. "If you're ever to find real opportunity, you have to go out and start knocking yourself."

He worked his way through college, took an $18 a week job as a warehouse clerk with a frozen food firm. It was a new field, crying for new ideas.

WENT UP FAST

Bottner's ideas soon won him advancement. His genius for finance as well as promotion led to a better job with a paper bag manufacturer.

"I helped pioneer vacuum cleaners on wheels and thin-wall air conditioning units," he recalled. "Going on doing old things in the same old way is a sure way to die of dry rot. The only real adventure in business is to develop new methods and new ideas."

It was this challenge that led Bottner to accept his present post, and the boy who once got a nickel a shine now is on the path that leads to millions.

★ ★ ★

"What is success? Success is mostly a determination to get something done, against all obstacles — and not merely to get it done, but to get it done well and get it done quickly."

★ ★ ★

Who shines Bottner's shoes?

"I still shine them myself," he said smiling. "And I do a good job."

Linda Seeks $200,000 for Tyrone's Children

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Linda Christian seeks $200,000 for her two children from the estate of her ex-husband, the late Actor Tyrone Power.

In addition to provisions for the children in his will, Power promised to set up a fund to support them under terms of the couple's 1955 divorce, Miss Christian claimed.

Power died of a heart attack last November at the age of 45. His will also provided for a third child, Tyrone William, born to his third wife, Deborah Anne Power.

Won't Use Jobless Pay in Strike, Says Reuther

DETROIT (AP) — President Walter Reuther was on record today with a pledge that his United Auto Workers Union never would use state unemployment benefits as strike relief.

Reuther made the promise in response to an inquiry from Rep George W. Sallade (R-Ann Arbor).

"I can assure you," Reuther said, "that it is not the intention of the UAW and, I am confident, of any other union to use state unemployment compensation funds as a substitute for strike relief."

Rep. Sallade had raised the question with Reuther in the light of current legislative discussion over the unemployment compensation law.

Stocks Bob About Unevenly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market churned unevenly early today after setting record highs on the past three sessions.

Most key stocks showed fractional gains or losses. A few blue chips mainly among chemicals, added a point or so. Some wider moves appeared among more speculative issues.

Steels and electronics were mostly higher. Oils were down. Coppers and rails were mixed.

★ ★ ★

The recent rise in American Telephone came to a halt as both the present stock and the when-issued stock based on the 3-for-1 stock split showed minus signs. AT&T present stock dropped a point. The when-issued eased fractionally.

Thiokol, up more than 3, resumed its rise on a 3-for-1 split while the when-issued held firm.

Another entry in the stock split sweepstakes, Pfizer, fell more than 3 points Trading began on Pfizer's when-issued stock at 42 5/8, a slight premium over present stock. Lower earnings depressed Pfizer after it had made a big advance.

Allied Chemical, Du Pont and Eastman Kodak rose a point or better. Zenith fell about 10 in profit taking on its 27½-point run-up of yesterday.

Texas Instrument rose more than a point. U.S. Gypsum dropped a point or so.

★ ★ ★

Fractional gains were socred by U.S. Steel, Anaconda, American Motors and Boeing. A bit lower were Kennecott, Texas Co. and General Dynamics. Lukens Steel added 2.

Opening blocks included: American Standard up ¼ at 18 on 18,000 shares; Ford up ⅛ at 64⅜ on 3,000; General Motors off ⅛ at 49¼ on 3,000; and Eastman Kodak up ¾ at 81 on 2,700.

Japanese Welders Visit Pontiac, Compare Notes

The techniques and equipment used in welding in the Orient and America were compared in Pontiac yesterday when 10 Japanese welding specialists visited a local plant.

★ ★ ★

The specialists, who are members of the Small Business Welding Specialists Study Team, toured the Warren Alloy Plant of Progressive Welder Sales Co., 915 Oakland Ave., as a part of their nationwide tour of American industry.

The tour is under the auspices of International Cooperation Administration in Washington, D.C. Its itinerary is being arranged by the Training Within Industry, Inc. of Cleveland.

While at the Pontiac company the group inspected the welding equipment and the factory, then held a discussion period with executives of Progressive.

A luncheon followed at the Elks Temple.

The group is observing and studying production welding techniques in hopes of aiding Japan's small industries which act as subcontractors. Such companies have not utilized modern automatic or mechanized welding techniques.

★ ★ ★

Following the tours throughout the nation, the group will, by means of conferences, publications and a final published report, disseminate the ideas and information gained in America.

★ ★ ★

The project is under the guidance of the Japan Productivity Center, sponsors of the project.

Central Student Speech Winner

Cops Saginaw Valley Honors in Original Oratory Category

Stanton Walker, a Pontiac Central High School student and son of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald R. Walker of 1035 James K. Blvd., is the Saginaw Valley champion in original oratory.

Walker was one of five winners in the Saginaw Valley Spring Speech Tournament held at Arthur Hill High School in Saginaw. He will now compete in the regional tournament slated for April 30 at Flint Northern High School.

Seven of the 15 Pontiac Central High School students who entered the contest reached the finals. All but Walker, however, were eliminated in the final round of competition.

Other Pontiac finalists were: Cynthia Williams in declamation; George Rendziperis, Clark David and Warren Norland, all in the humorous reading category; Douglas Spurlock, extemporaneous speaking; and Rodge Olsen, original oratory.

Recount Confirms Gillis as Mayor

★ ★ ★

He won the office by a vote of 1,108 to 1,104 in the April 6 election over Councilman LaVerne Anderson. The recount established the accuracy of original returns.

In 1951, Gillis won an election for Councilman by two votes after a recount was taken. He has served four terms on the city council.

Chrysler Report to Show Gains

First Quarter Earnings Higher Than Any 1958 Period, Says Colbert

DETROIT (AP)—Chrysler Corp. on April 30 will report sales and earnings in this year's first quarter higher than in any 1958 quarter.

L. L. Colbert, president, so informed shareholders in an address prepared for delivery at their annual meeting today. Colbert did not disclose figures. Net earnings in the final 1958 quarter amounted to nearly 11½ million dollars.

He said Chrysler will buy 735,000 shares of a new stock issue by Simca, French auto concern. This will be Chrysler's poll quota under an offer of one share for each share held. Chrysler purchased a 25 per cent interest in Simca last year.

Colbert also told shareholders:

Chrysler has developed a small car "that will be fully competitive —and then some—when the right times comes to bring it to market."

About six million passenger cars probably will be sold in the United States this year including 460,000 to 450,000 imported units.

Since 1953 Chrysler has invested nearly 700 million dollars in plant expansion and modernization.

Chrysler produced 215,175 cars and trucks in this year's first quarter. It built approximately 192,000 units in the same 1958 quarter.

★ ★ ★

Colbert said Chrysler is "very much encouraged" by earnings in the past two quarters, despite interruptions in production.
