Abandoned in Keego Harbor

Children's Parents Sought

Oakland County police authorities today are searching for both parents of the 10 abandoned Keego Harbor children found hungry in their home Thursday.

A warrant charging cruelty was issued yesterday by Oakland County Prosecutor Fred Ziem but neither William Wyatt or his wife, Ada, have been found.

The woman reportedly disappeared late yesterday afternoon following her release from Pontiac General Hospital where she had been recuperating since Aug. 12 from two operations.

The children are being cared for at the Oakland County Children's Home. Another child, Sherry A. Wilkinson, 7, is still in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital with third degree burns of the right hand. She may also require plastic surgery for cuts of the face believed to have been inflicted by a knife.

SHERRY TIED TO BED

Neither of the parents has returned to the 3216 Pridham St. home since the children were discovered with Sherry tied to an upstairs bed.

Keego Harbor Police Chief Clinton Baxter said today the house is being watched constantly for any sign of the couple.

A series of checks by detectives of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department failed to uncover anything further on Wyatt or his wife last night.

The detectives were seeking to question Mrs. Wyatt concerning a report that she, and not two of the children, was responsible for the severe burning suffered by Sherry several weeks ago.

The 33-year-old mother had denied being in the house at the time of the incident when questioned at the hospital earlier.

The father has been missing since Tuesday when he was alleged to have driven a truck to Indiana to pick up a load of watermelons for an area fruit market which employs him.

He is believed to be back in this area because a neighbor of the family reported receiving a call from the 29-year-old man yesterday.

FROM 7 MONTHS TO 13

Wyatt is the father of six of the children. The others were his wife's through a previous marriage.

All the other children, who range in age from seven months to 13 years, are said to be in good health by officials at the Children's Home.

They are Aaron, 13, who had been left in charge of the others when the father departed; Arthur, 11; Darwin, 10; Darlene, 9; Diane, 8; Bobbie and Billie, 5; James, 4; Thomas, 2; Mona, 3; and Gary, 7 months.

Sherry reportedly had received the brunt of the punishment from the other children and the mother because she was considered "backward."

Detective Harry Maur, of the Sheriff's Department, reported yesterday the children have accused Mrs. Wyatt of the burning and also of tieing the girl to the bed and beating her. Sherry previously told officials her two older sisters had burned her.

Authorities have opposed the woman's claim the child was "backward." "She never has attended any school but she does not appear to be mentally retarded," James Van Leuven, assistant director of the Oakland County Juvenile Court, stated today.

Jim Farley OK

NEW YORK (INS) — James A. Farley was reported in good condition today at Manhattan Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital following his operation Thursday to correct a detached retina in his right eye. The former postmaster general was struck in the eye by a placard thrown at the Democratic convention last week in Chicago.

C. of C. Asks Ziegler to Explain Underpass Delay

The Pontiac Chamber of Commerce yesterday supported the Pontiac Press' demand for an answer to the delay in building the Telegraph-Orchard Lake underpass.

Manager John Hirlinger this morning reported sending a telegram questioning the delay to Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler on behalf of the chamber's board of directors.

The telegram read: "Members of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce strongly protest delay in completion of the Telegraph-Orchard Lake grade separation. We cannot understand how a one-month delay in steel production could result in a six-month delay in the construction. Could you give us a reason why work on the intersection cannot shortly be resumed?"

Kidnaper Says Friend Helped Him Hide Baby

Sex Expert Kinsey Dead at 62

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (INS) — Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, internationally known authority on human sex relations, died at 8 a.m. today in Bloomington Hospital.

He had been in failing health for six months and had visited several Indiana hospitals for treatment.

COMPLICATIONS.

Kinsey was born in Hoboken, N. J., June 23, 1894.

At Indiana University he was director of the Institute for Sex Research.

He started his sex research in 1938, explaining his interest in the subject was first aroused because of questions asked him in the classroom. He discovered very little scientific knowledge was available on sexual habits and gave up his classroom to devote full time to a research project.

DR. ALFRED C. KINSEY

In preparing his two books, Kinsey and his associates interviewed some 16,000 men and women over a period of 15 years. People from all walks of life were included. Many talked freely after being assured their information would be kept top secret through a series of codes which Kinsey himself memorized and was never written.

The interviews followed the typical public opinion polls but on a highly personal plane. Those interviewed divulged everything from extramarital activities to frequency of sex relations.

His first work on the male was published without fanfare and with the prospect of not more than 35,000 copies being sold, primarily to schools. However, wide publicity for the daring work sent sales soaring past the 300,000 mark.

"Sexual Behavior in the Human Female" was splashed across the front pages of newspapers in advance of publication and sold 210,000 copies in four months at $8 a crack.

Educators were divided about merits of the book. Some said it was a profound study of the subject giving doctors "something very practical to use to help people" and "showed us what the problems are, and we must do something about them."

Others condemend it as inconclusive, claiming only persons with low morals permitted the interviews, that Kinsey exaggerated the truth and hid facts.

Kinsey ran into trouble with federal authorities who branded much of the material he was gathering in Europe as pornography. Customs officials refused to allow it to be delivered to him.

CHURCH CRITICIZES

His studies were sponsored by the Medical Division of the Rockefeller Foundation and the National Research Council and by Indiana University. In 1953, the university defended his research after a Roman Catholic archbishop, the Most Rev. Paul C. Schulte, had condemned circulation of the works outside scientific circles.

Kinsey started out as a zoologist and became recognized as the world's top authority on the Gall wasp. He was said to be establishing broad and radically new principles of evolution through his insect studies when he ditched it for sex research.

He never took any profits from his books and even refused fees for speaking. Royalties went into the Institute for Sex Research which he incorporated in 1947.

Kinsey was the son of an engineering professor at Stevens Institute of Technology and spent his boyhood at South Orange, N. J. He worked his way through Bowdoin as a boys' camp counselor, graduating in 1916, and then went to Harvard where he received a doctor of science degree in 1920. He joined Indiana the same year.

He was married in 1921 to Clara Bracken McMillen, one of his students. They had four children—Anne, Joan, Bruce and a boy who died in infancy. Mrs. Kinsey called him "Prok"—short for Professor Kinsey.

'Copter Makes Nonstop Flight

Transcontinental Trip Proves Practicability of Long-Range Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has flown a helicopter on the first transcontinental, nonstop trip in an attempt to prove the practicability of long-range 'copter flight.

Four aerial refuelings were used to enable the normally short-ranged machine to make the 2,610 mile trip across the United States.

When daylight and weather permitted, the helicopter "drank" fuel through a hose from a small tanker plane which accompanied it. Twice the H21 hovered near the ground while gas was pumped up through a hose.

Officials Probing Death of Youth

Fall From Motor Bike Under Consideration as Possible Cause

Wayne County officials are investigating the possibility that a fall from a motor bike might have caused the death of a 14-year-old Novi boy last night.

Steven Spisak, of 43640 12 Mile Rd., was taken to Northville's Atchison Hospital in a coma and died an hour later. He reportedly had been sick for two days following a ride on his motor bicycle.

Medical authorities are considering the possibility of performing an autopsy to determine the actual cause of death.

According to Oakland County Det. Steve Hawlik, the boy worked in a Northville drive-in until early Thursday when he returned to his home with two friends.

He said the motor bike ride followed later that day and that the boy went back home after riding for 10 minutes, and complained of a headache. The boy was put to bed Friday when the headaches continued by his aunt, Mrs. Florence Hayes, of Novi, who was notified by the other boys. She called a doctor that night and the youth was ordered to the hospital.

Incumbent Nominations Certain

Campaign Strategy, Issues Highlight Dem Confab

By LAWRENCE S. MARTZ JR.
Pontiac Press Staff Writer

GRAND RAPIDS—With nomination of all incumbent state officers a virtual certainty, attention of delegates to the Democratic state nomination convention here last night centered on platform issues and campaign strategy.

Officials to be formally nominated by convening delegates today are James M. Hare, secretary of state; Thomas M. Kavanagh, attorney general; Sanford A. Brown, state treasurer; and Frank S. Szymanski, auditor general.

All will run on the Democratic state ticket with Gov. G. Mennen Williams and Lt. Gov. Phillip A. Hart already nominated in the August 7 primary elections.

Two Michigan Supreme Court justices, also slated to be nominated at the convention today, will run on the non-partisan ticket. They are George Edwards and Talbot Smith.

Claims He Left Baby Overnight at Pal's Place

Authorities said Angelo John LaMarca, 31, a mechanic, told them he took the baby to Brooklyn and left him overnight with a friend only hours after the Fourth of July kidnaping.

"The identity of the friend in Brooklyn mentioned by LaMarca is unknown and the whereabouts unknown," a police official said.

"He has repeatedly refused to identify the person or the place." LaMarca's wife told newsmen: "Someone else is involved but he won't say who."

At the request of police, LaMarca's wife, Donna, asked her husband to name the Brooklyn friend with whom he and the baby spent the night.

Mrs. LaMarca learned nothing.

She and LaMarca, she said, met in Brooklyn as teenagers, had married more than 10 years ago, had been "pretty happy"—but became involved in money trouble recently.

LaMarca had trouble meeting payments on the house and other bills, she said, adding:

"But we needed money before and he never did anything like that."

LaMarca, a bushy-haired man with two children of his own, was held without bail for a further hearing next Friday on a kidnaping charge. He made no plea. Authorities said a murder count probably will be added to the kidnaping indictment sought from the grand jury.

Meanwhile, a policeman was locked in with the dejected prisoner to guard against any suicide attempt.

LaMarca was charged with kidnaping the 32-day-old infant from the patio of Mr. and Mrs. Morris

To Run for Highway Post?

Former Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner may become a candidate for highway commissioner on the Democratic ticket next spring according to an exclusive report which reached The Press today from reliable sources.

Close friends in both Republican and Democratic ranks have been urging him to enter the race because of the increased importance of the position and the opportunity ahead. Under the recent Federal Aid Bill, Michigan should see record-breaking road construction years in 1957 and 1958.

Oakland County's ex-governor once held the road commissioner's post and was regarded by Democrats and Republicans alike as one of the top men of all time in that place.

The Weinberger infant was kidnaped last July 4 from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger at nearby Westbury on Long Island.

Plans for Financing County Courthouse

Plans for financing the proposed new Oakland County Courthouse on the County Service Center site near the western city limits of Pontiac have been disclosed by the Ways and Means Committee of the County Board of Supervisors.

The building's first stage, its six-story "central court tower," is scheduled for completion by October, 1958, at an estimated cost of $2,500,000.

Ways and Means committee members have assured the Special County Building Committee the money will be available in time to pay for the building before officials move in.

They have decided on a "pay-as-you-go" financing program, forced on them by the refusal of county voters in 1954 to approve additional millage for 20 years to pay the cost of a bond issue.

According to the committee, sources of $2,266,500 of the needed funds already are in sight.

The biggest share of the overall cost, they say, will come from sale of county-owned land, acquired at tax sales during the depressiaon for comparatively negligible costs.

Revenue from sale of these lands in today's real estate market is expected to total $1,350,000.

Lands already sold plus accumulation of funds from millage assessed for building in previous years will account for $365,000 of the total, officials say.

According to Robert Y. Moore, chairman of the County Board of Auditors, county governments in Michigan are limited to assessing 1-10 mill for building purposes without special authorization from voters. This year, a 1-10 mill amounts to $139,000.

The 1957 building fund millage will total another $158,000 for the courthouse, since the county's

Mrs. Kimball Dies in Hospital

Active Social Leader, 40-Year Area Resident Dead at 86

Mrs. George H. (Alice Eleanor) Kimball Jr., a Pontiac area resident for more than 40 years, died early Friday morning in Bloomfield Hospital after several years illness. She was 86.

She was born in a log cabin in Troy Township March 25, 1870, and spent her childhood living with her parents, George A. and Mary Lovell Maten, at a toll gate on Woodward avenue near West Grand boulevard in Detroit.

A member of the Clarkston Methodist Church, Mrs. Kimball had been president and secretary of the Oakland County Sunday School Assn., president of the Waterford PTA, president of the City and County Federation of Women's Clubs, president of the Women's Literary Club from 1921 to 1925 and again from 1933 to 1935.

She was a member of the Tuesday Musical of Pontiac, Oakland County Historical Society, Golden Age Group of the YWCA and the Waterford Goodwill Club.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a brother, E. E. Maten, and a sister, Mrs. Florence Whiteman, both of Detroit and six nieces and nephews.

Service will be at 1 p.m. Monday from the Coats Funeral Home, Drayton Plains, with Pastor Arvid Anderson of Christ Lutheran Church officiating. Burial will be in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

County Courthouse Financing Explained

state-equalized valuation has risen, Moore said.

To make available nearly $40,000 already in county coffers, county officials sponsored legislation in Lansing this year permitting them to use budget surpluses for building purposes.

According to Moore, the county now has $95,000 which previously was appropriated to the use of departments of county government but which was returned to the General Fund when the departments reached the end of the fiscal year without using all their appropriations.

At the beginning of this fiscal year, the county also had $312,000 which had been collected in taxes for 1955 but never appropriated to county departments.

According to Moore, this unappropriated surplus of two per cent of the total budget has been partially used to aid the Welfare Fund, which was hit heavily by the drop in area employment early this year.

But Moore says $298,500 in unappropriated 1955 surplus will be available for use on the courthouse.

ADDITIONS LATER

Three two - story wings are planned as additions to the central court tower of the new building. These have been tentatively scheduled for completion in 1956 at an estimated cost of $3 million.

County officials have made no definite plans for financing these additions, intending to "cross that bridge when we come to it."

They feel that the wings should not be added until they are definitely needed.

But they point out that if the population growth continues, the county's financial position will be considerably changed.

And they decline to predict whether the increase in taxable assessed valuation will completely balance the need for increased county services in the form of roads, water and drain facilities, and government activity.

Egypt Set to Offer Treaty

LONDON (AP) — Egypt was reported prepared today to offer maritime powers treaty guarantees of unimpeded shipping through the Suez Canal.

Diplomatic sources in Cairo said President Gamal Abdel Nasser would offer the guarantees—singly or collectively to nations using the canal — as a counter proposal to the demand of 18 nations for internationalization of the Suez.

These sources said the offer probably would be outlined in Nasser's reply to the 5-nation Suez Canal Committee.

The committee was delegated to tell Nasser the majority of nations at this week's London Suez Conference want an international board to take over management of the vital waterway.

Australia's Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies, committee chairman, delivered an invitation for Nasser to meet with the committee at the Egyptian Embassy here last night. He said he hoped for a quick reply and would remain available for a phone call.

There still was no official indication in Cairo on whether Nasser would agree to receive the committee. The committee was ready to meet him anywhere he suggests.

Beneath the surface calm, there was a feeling of heightening tension in the Egyptian capital.

Ike's TV Appeal Has Influence on City Residents

At least 40 Pontiac residents were influenced by President Eisenhower's TV appeal Thursday night to register and vote for the November election.

The City Clerk's office reported some 35 phone callers yesterday asked where they could register. Some were just checking whether they already were registered, a clerk reported. Others later came in and registered.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans announced that registrations can be made at the office in City Hall five days a week from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. The last day to register is Oct. 8, she added.

City Furniture Store Vandalized, Looted

Vandals, who smashed and slashed furniture caused hundreds of dollars of damage Wednesday night at the Orchard Furniture Co., 164 Orchard Lake Ave., Pontiac police said.

Chairs and couches were found slashed criss-cross fashion when the store opened yesterday, according to Det. James Bale.

Rows of pictures on walls were broken, Bale said, and table lamps were knocked off a row of dressers and lay broken on the floor.

The manager, Murray Bloom, of Detroit, said that the cash register on the mezzanine floor had been looted of $30. The damage centered on the mezzanine and top floor, Bale said.

Postal Receipts Rise 7.4 Per Cent in City

Postal receipts in Pontiac were 7.4 per cent higher in the first seven months of 1956 than during the same period last year, Postmaster Leslie H. Dean reported yesterday.

The official said that receipts totaled $688,070.88 through July 27 this year, representing 17,663,871 pieces of mail. The office handled 16,492,230 pieces during 1955's like period for total receipts of $640,534.82.

The office has averaged about 2½ million pieces of mail a month so far in 1956, Dean said. Nearly 2,900 delivery stops have been added in the last 12 months, he pointed out.

Bloomfield Hills Slates Meetings for Bond Issue

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Efforts to tell residents of the Bloomfield Hills school district why school officials ask for Sept. 10 approval of a $2,765,000 bond issue begin full force on Monday.

Coffee hours for all parents are being held in various schools on set mornings. All sessions will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

A general meeting for the entire district is set for Sept. 4 at 8:15 p.m. at the High School.

The board of education asks that parents attend morning sessions most convenient for them.

On Monday, first session will be at Wing Lake School especially for the central northern section of the district.

Tuesday session will be in Vaughan School, for residents east of Woodward; Wednesday at the high school, for the central area; Thursday, Wing Lake, for the southern section, and Friday, Vaughan for the City of Bloomfield Hills.

Planned with the bond monies are acquisition and preparation of school sites, including sites for two elementary schools and two new junior highs.

Also to be financed would be earliest possible new construction of one two-unit elementary school, and one 600 - pupil junior high school, and necessary expansions, revisions, and completions of driveways and parking lots, playfields and playground equipment, and furniture and equipment needed for full functional operation in the school system.

"The second recommended expansion set in long-term planning has become necessary somewhat in advance of previous expectations" according to an explanatory eight-page pamphlet going in the mail to all Hills residents.

It recalls the Michigan State University experts plans which instigated the present building program expected complete by Sept. 1 at the school district.

The present step is second of our steps which are to culminate in 1965.

9 Die in Crash in South Dakota

Said 'Worst Accident' in State's History; Cars Collide Headon

WALL, S. D. (AP)—Nine persons, including three children, were killed last night when two cars crashed head-on near here in South Dakota's worst traffic accident in history.

"It was the most violent carnage I've ever witnessed," said Dr. G. W. Mills, Wall physician who was among first to reach the scene, 1½ miles west of here on U. S. 14-16.

Town Welcomes 'Terrible Terry' and 'Joe Smith'

SCOTTSBLUFF, Neb. (INS) — "Terrible Terry" Carpenter was home in Scottsbluff, Neb., today and he had "Joe Smith" with him, as far away from San Francisco's Cow Palace as even Republican convention chairman Joseph Martin could wish.

Awaiting Terry on his return yesterday were hundreds of letters and telegrams, most congratulatory or sympathetic. Many requested Carpenter to speak on behalf of his Runyonesque candidate.

Cobo the Republican nominee returned yesterday from the GOP convention in San Francisco. He hinted President Eisenhower may come to Michigan during his campaign for re-election.

Cobo said he will attend the State GOP Convention in Grand Rapids Sept. 1 "with an open mind" on candidates to serve in his cabinet if he is elected in November.

Dan Connolly Asks Recount

Runner-Up for Dem Post to State Senate Files Petition

Daniel J. Connolly, of Royal Oak, runner-up for the Democratic nomination to Oakland County state senator, yesterday filed a petition for a recount of primary votes by the Board of County Canvassers.

The board's official tally of precinct returns gave Connolly 7,274 votes to 7,419 votes for the winner, Fred Elias, Hazel Park drive-in owner. In third place with 6,874 votes was Philip E. Rowston, Pontiac city commissioner.

The petition asks for a recount of individual votes, which may take about a week, according to County Clerk Lynn D. Allen.

Connolly, 28-year-old paint store owner, claimed that election officials may have miscounted absentee ballots and improperly marked ballots.

Allen said a check for $124 to finance the recount was received from the Local Joint Executive Board of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes union (Detroit).

Believe Kidnaper Had Friend's Help

LaMarca was quoted by police as saying he abandoned the child the next day after he panicked in a vain attempt to collect $2,000 in ransom to meet a pile of debts.

Searchers found the decomposed remains of the infant yesterday in underbrush near a heavily traveled Long Island parkway a half mile north of the LaMarca home in Plainview.

"Even if the child was alive when it was placed on the ground, it may well constitute murder," said Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta.

Under New York law a person who causes a death while committing a felony is liable to first degree murder charges, punishable by death in the electric chair. Kidnaping also carries a maximum penalty of death in the electric chair.

The parents, Morris Weinberger, 48, a prosperous drug salesman, and his wife, Betty, 32, had never given up hope through all the desperate weeks since the kidnaping that their baby was still alive. Friends said their reaction to the news was very severe. They have an older son.

LaMarca was arrested early Thursday at his home. He was tracked down after a painstaking FBI search through more than two million handwriting samples.

Pentagon Denies Quitting Search off China Mainland

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pentagon officials said today the search for survivors of a U. S. Navy plane downed off the Red China coast is continuing "at full force."

This word came from the office of Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, after news dispatches from Taipei, Formosa, said the hunt was being discontinued.

The Formosa story said Vice Adm. Stuart Ingersoll had said at Taipei the hunt was called off at 11:23 a.m. (9:25 p.m. EST Friday) after "all possibility of locating survivors was exhausted." The plane had been shot down 39 hours before.

Naval officials at the Pentagon, who were asked why the hunt was being abandoned, said it had not stopped.

"You can say the search has not been discontinued and as a matter of fact will continue in full force," the duty officer in the office of Adm. Burke said.

"The same number of ships and planes is participating in the hunt. When the search is abandoned it will be announced here."

The plane, a four - engined Mercator, disappeared after sending a radio message it was under aerial attack. The body of one of the 16 crewmen was reported picked up by searchers.

In Iwakuni, Japan, U. S. Navy air officials said today the body of the crewman had wounds inflicted by gunfire. The crewman was identified at Technican 1.C. Albert P. Mattin of Delta, Ohio.

The Navy said there was no indication any of the four officers and 12 enlisted men on the plane survived.

State Dems Plan Campaign Strategy

congressional nominee Paul Sutton of Royal Oak promised a "hard-hitting factual" campaign. Fresh from a meeting of all 18 Democratic congressional nominees yesterday morning, Sutton said he will stress the "lack" of GOP foreign policy, the Suez Canal crisis, and "failures" of Republican domestic policies in civil defense, protection of small business and financial policies.

In the state Democratic platform, carved in a three-hour midnight meeting of the platform committee, Democrats gave most of their time to the farm plank. Charging that Republican policies have deliberately thrown the farmer on the cold mercies of the market place, the plank claims that Republicans feel farmers are "expendable in the march to corporate gigantism."

Pledging 100 per cent of parity for farm products, repeal of GOP flexible price supports and extension of support systems, increased market reporting facilities, land use studies and programs, and development of the Democratic "Michigan best (seal of quality)" program, the plank is intended to appeal widely to Michigan farmers.

Democratic hopes for an election victory in Oakland County this year hinge on the success of a drive for registration of new county voters.

Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, a county resident, underlined this view of the county picture last night.

Estimates of new county residents since 1952 range between 152,000 and 165,000, Hart pointed out. Of these, an estimated 88,000 are eligible to vote.

Party leaders figure the majority of these new county residents have moved from traditionally Democratic Wayne County, and should be able to help county Democrats in the November elections—if they are registered to vote in time for the balloting.

In last night's Oakland County caucus here, delegates heard Assistant Secretary of State Billy S. Earnum of Southfield Township outline details of the planned Oakland County registration drive. "We can carry the county if we can register the voters," Earnum said.

The lowly precinct worker, now being exhorted to "get out and get 'em registered," is being cast as the key figure of the coming campaign.

An Oakland-Macomb County move in the platform committee here early this morning has produced what may be the only local issue of the 1956 campaign.

In effect, Democrats are promising to work for state and federal aid to local governments in area drain and water projects if elected in November. Drafted as postscript to the public health plank, the platform committee's statement says:

"We favor state and federal assistance to local governments in the planning and financing of necessary water and drainage projects."

Sutton emphasized after the platform committee meeting that "There is no reason why federal aid for sewers should be considered more socialistic than federal aid to highways."

Sutton said the amendment conceivably could affect Oakland County projects like the Red Run Drain, Twelve Towns Relief Drain and the projected Lake Huron pipeline now planned with the Southeastern Michigan Water Authority to serve Oakland and Macomb County communities.

The Day in Birmingham

Recreation Director Asks Leaders, Ideas for Fall

BIRMINGHAM—Need for leaders and for ideas was revealed yesterday by Robert Girardin, director of recreation.

He is preparing the survey which will decide the city's future recreational developments, both on the 66-acre field across from the high school and other city owned recreation areas.

But immediate plans for fall are taking top priority, he says.

He says citizens who would like to offer leadership for fall recreational projects would be welcomed to his program. Also, teenagers who would chairman high school and junior high events would be welcome.

Plans include, thus far for fall, a teenage canteen and family swimming nights. Both, however, depend on space which is to be arranged by Frank Whitney, coordinator with the schools, when he returns from his vacation.

"Family type of recreation is going to be one of our goals," says Girardin. "This summer, the 'family swimming nights' crowded the pool every time."

Girardin, new to his post, is bringing ideas from other recreation jobs he has had, but seeks opinions on what this community needs most.

Stimulation of interest in youth canteens, with an aim at breaking up cliques of young people and unifying the town's youth, is one goal. He is seeking to arrange use of school gymnasiums for these events.

Plans for a pitch and putt course or a regular golf course, but not both, are being included in the 66-acre field plans, he says. Also, he is working on details for toboggan and ski slides at the southern end of the field.

He told a meeting of city commissioners, planning board and recreation board members Tuesday, that parking for the winter sports is tentatively planned on 14 Mile road. Experimental use of the runs will precede establishment of a parking lot for the sports.

Roland Reese, postmaster who is on the recreation board, asked officials whether the current planning for driver training, parking, and other activities is not using the large site, for other than its rightful purpose.

He pointed out that it is the largest area of its type in the city.

He said, "We need another large baseball field and football field, because of the growth of the Little League football and baseball, and Babe Ruth baseball.

One out of every seven homes will be contacted on the survey, which is next step in the development of the field.

Traffic tangled yesterday, more so than on earlier days of the week's work on the eight blocks south of the business district.

But L. R. Gare of the engineering department says that Monday or Tuesday will see completion of the resurfacing project, barring rainy weather.

Police were alert to the situation and no accidents occurred due to the one-way streets, blocking off of streets, and rerouting of traffic.

With condemnation of lots for Parking Lot 4 complete, the condemnation of the alley that separates them from the Woodward Avenue frontage remains. Condemnation case for the alley will be heard in circuit court on Sept. 4 or 5.

India's Press Near Regulation

Proposed Bills Could Give Government the Power of Censure

NEW DELHI (AP)—India has taken a long step toward greater regulation of newspapers.

The government has introduced bills in Parliament to create machinery for fixing prices and to set up a statutory press council that could censure papers for lapses of taste or ethics. Both bills are exected to be approved this year.

They follow recommendations of a press commission that made an official inquiry into the Indian press two years ago. The government already has carried out some of the recommendations.

A press registar to collect data about the ownership and circulation of newspapers started functioning July 1. Measures regulating working conditions of journalists are now on the statute books.

The press council bill is perhaps the most far-reaching measure envisaged. The proposed council would have power to "censure" editors or their newspapers for offending against "the standards of journalistic ethics or public taste."

Before it could censure anyone, the council would have to hold an inquiry during which it could "summon and enforce the attendance of persons and examine them on oath."

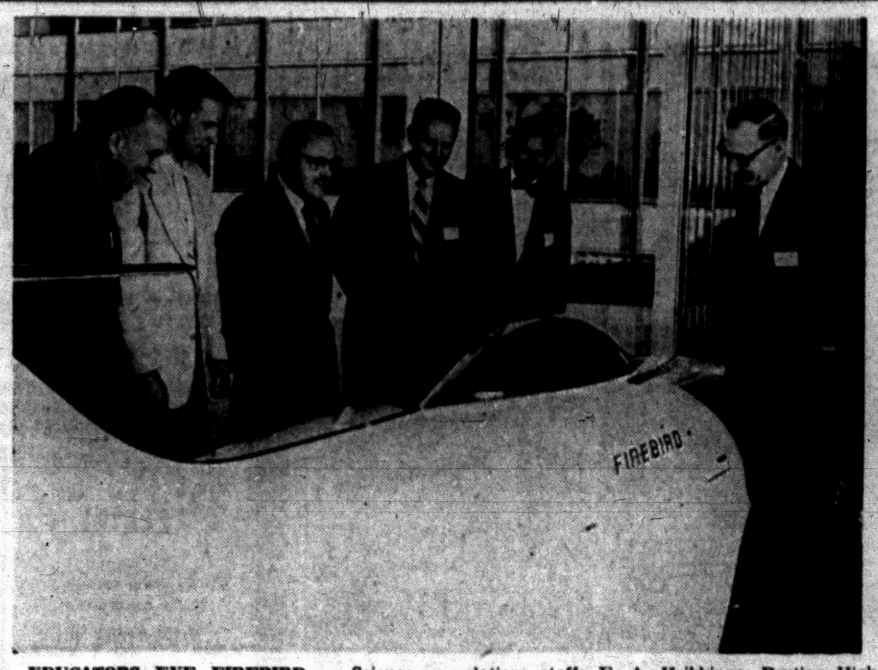

The council's only disciplinary powers wuld be to "censure" and to express disapproval. But any witness called by the council must reckon with the possibility of a perjury charge, since he would be testifying under oath.

The second bill now before Parliament would empower the central government for a five-year period to set minimum prices at which newspapers must be sold, on a sliding scale based on the number of pages published. The bigger the newspaper, the higher the price.

Air Pollution Stations to Start 5-Year Plan

LANSING (AP)—The State Health Department plans to test the degree of air pollution at five stations located in Michigan cities.

The sampling is part of a five-year program begun in 1953 by the U. S. Public Health Service.

One of the stations will be established at Grand Rapids. Sites have not been chosen for the other three. Another station is already operating in Detroit.

By 1957, the department said, the number of stations will be increased to 12.

Each station will take a 24-hour sample of air once a week. The air will be pumped through a fiberglass filter and the filters mailed to a Public Health Service laboratory in Cincinnati.

The department said the results will be studied to see if there is a link between air pollution and the disease and death rates.

Hollywood Headlines

Dean Martin Claims Split With Jerry Is Not Final

By GENE HANDSAKER

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"It's a funny split-up," Dean Martin said, tilted back in a chair beside his swimming pool. "It doesn't seem like we've split. We're just going out on our own. Just want to prove something to ourselves, is all."

* * *

The "split" is, of course, his much discussed parting with Jerry Lewis — a severing which, Dean indicated, may not be nearly as final as generally supposed.

"It's doing 30 per cent more business than our other pictures, which grossed an average of four million," Dean said. "People think it's our last picture." If that is the public assumption, he added: "We're cheatin'."

"After that we'll probably do one together for our own company," Martin added. He, Lewis and Paramount are equal co-owners of York Productions.

Then what about that "split"?

"We didn't just wake up one morning and say, 'We've had it; let's break up,'" Dean said. "We sat down and talked about it for months.

"Jerry wants to direct and write, which he's very capable at.

"I want better parts — I've always been a heel for about the first hour and then in the last 10 minutes became a nice guy. I want a chance for, I hope, better acting.

"I can sing a song or kiss a girl now without being interrupted by Jerry. It wasn't his fault. It's the way the script was."

Dean is flying to Italy shortly to do "10,000 Bedrooms," an MGM picture about the owner of a hotel chain.

Jerry is about to star at Paramount, for York Productions, in a movie about a delinquent whom a cop rehabilitates. He helped write it and will help direct.

Dean claimed he and Jerry, "a fine guy," are "as close friends as we ever were." How close is that? Questioning brought out that Jerry has visited Dean's house only once in the past three years. Dean's visits to Jerry's have been business conferences on TV shows.

"We've never pal-ed around a lot," Dean said. "Jerry has a different kind of friends than I have. Jerry has been in show business since he was 5. I was a croupier for 11 years.

"I don't like to mess around at rehearsals. Jerry likes to kid around with 14 or 15 guys and bring out a baseball or football. I like to work and get it over with."

Honesty Gets City Hall Job — Plus a Bonus

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Out of a job since last Christmas, George M. Kandarian, 68, has been given an emergency appointment as a janitor at Los Angeles' City Hall, solely because of his honesty.

Kandarian, an unemployed window washer, found a purse containing $131 and turned it over to police. City councilmen were impressed and asked the Civil Service Commission to find him a job. Yesterday he was handed a broom and told he was a regular employee at a monthly salary twice as large as the sum of money he found.

The job wasn't his only reward, either. Police located the owner of the purse. She went to Kandarian's home and gave him $10.

Just Like Old Russians:

Shepilov Discards Mask

by EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — "Mr. Shepilov", said a Western delegate to the Suez Canal conference, "really came out from behind his fig leaf during those last two days.

It was the Westerner's way of saying that Dmitri T. Shepilov, the Soviet Union's new 50-year-old foreign minister, revealed himself finally as a tough obstructionist in the old Communist manner.

"Shepilov is nothing like as able at the conference table as his predecessor (V. M.) Molotov, but he's learning," said another delegate who has attended many international meetings with the former Russian foreign minister.

A big, handsome man, Shepilov shambled into London last week with a sweet smile on his broad Slavic face. He was so friendly he actually disarmed several diplomats.

His first days at the conference table were affably different from the days of the stone-faced Molotov, snarling Andrei Vishinsky, sarcastic Andrei Gromyko and frowning Jacob Malik.

Shepilov said "Nyet (no)" with a smile. Sometimes he even said "Da (yes)."

But when the Suez conference got down to the vital question of taking action, Shepilov forgot the da's.

He jumped to his feet time and again when 18 of the 22 nations came close to a majority decision — and objected.

"It was the same old Communist tactics all over again," said a delegate who is familiar with them. "Confuse the issue — and when you can't do that, obstruct."

But he was never so sure of himself as Molotov or Vishinsky.

Britain's Selwyn Lloyd, an adroit lawyer as well as foreign secretary and chairman of the conference, talked Shepilov back into his chair several times.

"You should have been there," said a delegate. "He slapped him down a couple of times and each time Shepilov blushed. Molotov never did that."

Cypriot Group Raided by Police

Arrests of Pro-Rebel Farmers Union Officials May End Truce

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Twenty-five police today raided the headquarters of the pro-Nationalist Cypriot Farmers Union, seized the union's records and arrested two officials.

The union headquarters has been raided previously on suspicion of aiding Cypriot extremists in their bombs-and-bullets campaign against British rule.

The raid followed the appearance of leaflets signed by the EOKA underground spurning a British surrender demand, and an explosion that killed a Greek Cypriot in what may be a resumption of the underground campaign of violence. The raid on the union was the first crackdown reported since the EOKA called a truce Aug. 16.

The mayor of Nicosia, Themistocles Dervis, meanwhile urged Britain to announce immediately a self-government plan for Cyprus.

Such a move, Dervis asserted, could save the "deteriorating" situation on this Mediterranean island colony.

Dervis is chairman of the Greek Nationalist party and a member of the inner cabinet of the Greek Ethnarchy Council, chief organization of the dominant Greek Orthodox Church. He also is spokesman for other Greek Cypriot mayors.

Area Air Force Crews Busy at Selfridge

Twenty-six Pontiac area men are completing the final week of their annual two-week tour of active duty with Michigan Air Force Reserve units at Selfridge Air Force Base.

These men have been working with the Flying Wolv-Air-Ines, the 439th Fighter Bomber Wing, Michigan's only volunteer flying wing reserve unit.

High on the list of knowledge to be gained during the two weeks has been the capabilities of the "Modern Jet Air Force."

Each man is active in his respective job specialty which may include armament communications, maintenance, administration or food services. These men make up the necessary 15 to 1 ratio of ground personnel to one man in the air.

The 439th is one of nine Fighter Bomber Wings stationed throughou the country. The primary mission of a fighter bomber wing is tactical in nature, which in the case of the 439th means air to ground support.

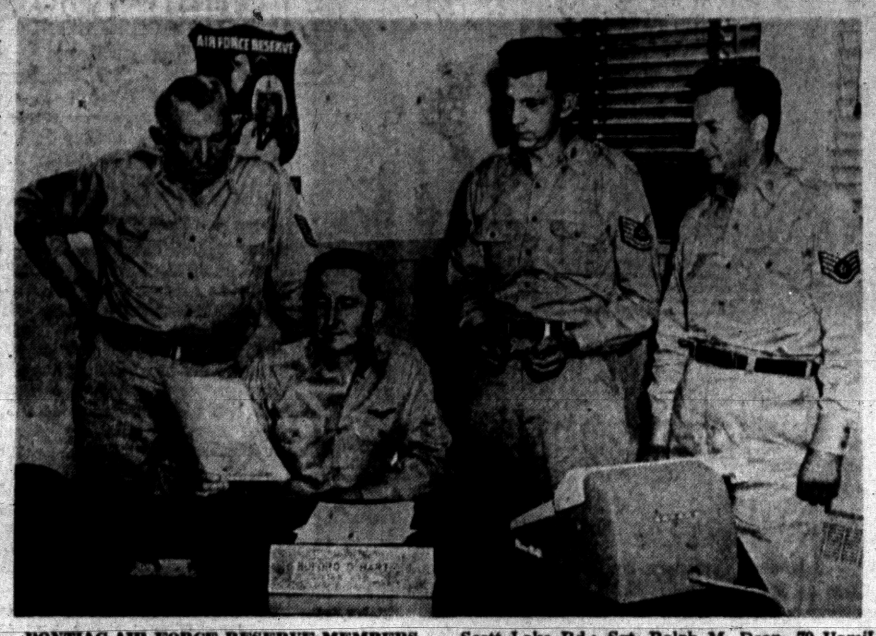

However the 439th has been included in the Air Defense Command for this part of the United States, which could mean an interception type mission as well.

The Wing supports three fighter squadrons, the 93rd, the 471st and the 472nd, which is stationed at Willow Run.

Currently the 439th is converting from the F-80 Shooting Star, to the heavier, faster and higher flying F-84 Thunderjet.

Included in the two weeks of training is combat maneuvers, aircraft familiarization, air to air gunnery, instrument procedures, night flying, formation flying, and navigational hops.

Pilots are sharpening their gunnery eyes for the first National Air Force Reserve fighter gunnery meet, slated for Casper, Wyoming next month.

One Killed as Plane Crashes Into Canyon

LA GRANDE, Ore. (AP)—A pilot who survived the crash of his light plane and five lonely days in the Wallowa Mountain wilderness apparently suffered only a fractured kneep cap, bruises, and shock, doctors at a La Grande Hospital reported today.

Vernon Enger, 34, cut his way out of the wreckage with a pocketknife. The crash, in a 1,500-foot deep canyon, killed his wife, Ruth, 32.

Murderer of Mistress and Her Mother to Die

TAIPEI, Formosa, (AP) — Chang Shui-fa, 28, has been sentenced to death for the murders of his mistress and her grandmother.

The two women were burned fatally June 5. Authorities charged Chang splashed gasoline on them while they were sleeping and set fire to it.

Chang testified he was angry because his mistress had cooled toward him and refused his repeated proposals of marriage.

Hyenas and wolves are said to have carried off 40 children in the last four months from villages in India's Uttar Pradesh State.

Gains Since Surgery

Ike Relaxing in the West

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — President Eisenhower, refreshed and back to playing a full round of golf, tackles the tricky Cypress Point course again today. And he may "Go for broke" on the treacherous 16th hole this time.

The vacationing President, taking a respite from politics after nomination for a second term, got in a regulation 18 holes yesterday for the first time since he underwent major abdominal surgery June 9. He had been building up to it gradually over the last few weeks with 16 holes in any one day the previous maximum.

The chief executive stepped up the pace to a full round just a few hours after a White House aide announced that Eisenhower's weight now is back at the presurgery level. He weighs 168½ pounds—a gain of 5½ pounds since he left the hospital June 30. A few days after the operation his weight had fallen off to around 157 pounds.

In the delighted mood of a small boy out of school, Eisenhower had a wonderful time touring one of the nation's toughest and most picturesque courses. It nestles on the Pacific Ocean shore.

The spectacular 16th hole—a 222-yard par 3—has been the downfall of many a crack golfer. The direct approach from tee to green is over an ocean inlet, requiring a 200-yard carry.

Eisenhower's drives usually travel a good 225 to 250 yards, but yesterday he elected to play it safe. He went around the inlet and his caution added up to a one over par four.

Limit Student Driving

MT. CLEMENS (AP) — A permit system is planned by the Board of Education to cut down the number of students driving to class at Mt. Clemens High School. Police said student cars are a traffic hazard near the school. Parking space in school lots will be limited to those who live at a distance or who lack other transportation.

Herpolsheimer Heir Awarded a Million

MUSKEGON (AP) — Arthur B. Herpolsheimer Jr., scion of a Grand Rapids department store executive, has been named heir of a one million dollar estate left in trust by his late father.

A decision by Circuit Judge Henry L. Beers named Herpolsheimer recipient of proceeds from the trust fund against the claims of nieces and nephews of his late stepmother.

Herpolsheimer's grandfather founded the department store which bears his name in Grand Rapids. His father left an estate in trust when he died in 1930 at the age of 30.

Beers' decision noted that the estate was to be shared by the senior Herpolsheimer's mother, his second wife and Arthur, his son by a first marriage. The son is the only survivor among the three mentioned in the trust.

Reflections
Steady As You Go

J. L. VOORHEES
A nautical term I first saw in a story of evacuation of South Pacific natives true to the religious training of missionaries. The small boat was loaded beyond its capacity, dodged submarines and fast Jap patrol ships, made its way to an island surrounded by vicious coral reefs. The captain laid out implicit, complicated instructions, handed them to a mate, turned and went to his cabin. The mate followed those instructions until he heard breakers pounding. They seemed under his prow, felt their impact upon the water. His last signal didn't appear. He faltered. Fear clutched his heart. Surf spume hit his face. He clutched the wheel to spin it when he heard his Captain's voice, 'Steady as you go," saw his beacon and sailed into a safe haven.

M. E. SIPLE
We, too, have breakers ahead, and a beacon — our Bible. Our course is through the reefs of human behavior; to follow the course laid out by Him who knows the dangers, is to arrive at the haven of peace. When breakers seem dead ahead, think of the Captain and his softly spoken "Steady as you go."

Fire Victims to Move Into New Gift House

MUSKEGON (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. James Smith and daughter, Rhonda Sue, 7 months, expect to occupy their new house next week, the result of a neighborly gesture which became a community project.

The Smith couple lost their three sons Feb. 28 in a fire that destroyed their former house.

Neighbors, led by Mrs. Earl Gerhart, headed a volunteer campaign which resulted in money, materials and labor to build a three-bedroom house for the Smiths.

The house, complete except for some interior plastering, stands on their former site.

The searchlight atop the Empire State Building in Manhattan can be seen as far away as Boston and Baltimore. The tiny "flame," less than one-half inch long, has more power than the surface of the sun.

Low-Down Look in '57 Cars to Follow Post-War Trend

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry's forthcoming new model cars will be noticeably lower in height.

The trend toward lower silhouettes, which began soon after the industry caught up with its market following World War II, is spreading throughout the various makes of cars.

Unlike earlier efforts to present a lower look, the reduction in height will be real. In some earlier models the stylists resorted to numerous tricks to give a lowered appearance without actually cutting down on actual height.

In more than a few instances over-all length was increased to give the lower appearance. This effort got an assist, too, from the placing and design of chrome molding on the sides of the vehicles, as well as the shaping of fenders.

The effort to reduce the over-all height, of course, involved heavy investment in new tooling for the necessary body changes. These changes alone will account for a major part of the estimated billion dollar cost of the model changes for 1957.

In many 1957 model cars driver and passengers will sit lower than ever before. Some makes will have the smaller diameter wheels. Others will defer adaptation of the 14-inch tires for at least another year.

Nowhere in the industry has there been any effort to add to the over-all length of the cars.

Industry circles agree the design changes will be the most extensive the car builders have made in any other single changeover since World War II. If these changes are as far reaching as generally is expected, a lot of company heads, sales managers, engineers and production chiefs soon will be spending sleepless nights awaiting public reaction to their latest creations.

The first 1957 cars to reach the market, probably in mid-October, will be the models for which there has been the greatest demand. Initial production usually is concentrated on the more popular models. That means some types will not be put into production until near the year-end or even later.

Ford's new retractable hardtop coupe will be one of these. So, too, will the much-talked-about Cadillac Eldorado Brougham. The latter is the latest announced "prestige" model. It is regarded as having been designed to compete with Ford's Continental Mark II.

If the industry's experience during the first half of 1956 is any indication, initial production for the year ahead will have to include a substantial volume of the so-called hardtop models. The analytical agencies have compiled figures to show the conventional type of four-door and two-door sedans continue to lose ground to the newer types.

Hawk Brings Death

MANILA (AP) — Antonio Ferrer shot a hawk that had been preying on his chickens. When he picked up the wounded bird, it revived and clawed him on the face. Ferrer struck back, using his rifle as a club. The weapon discharged. Ferrer died of a bullet wound.

State Calf Crop Dips

LANSING (AP)—The expected 1956 calf crop in Michigan is estimated at 841,000 by the federal-state crop reporting service, 1 per cent below last year and 4 per cent less than the 10-year average.

About 10 per cent of U. S. men between the ages of 17 to 64 are admitted for hospital care each year.

Boss Absolves Overweight GIs; General Trimmed

FT. CARSON, Colo. (AP)—Ft. Carson's commandant "made a mistake" in insisting that over-fat soldiers trim down to specified weights, Army Secretary Wilbur M. Brucker said last night.

Brucker referred to a reduce-or-else program instituted at this Army post by Gen. Thomas M. Watlington, who ordered court-martials for officers and men considered too fat to fight. Post authorities have said only a "handful" were affected, giving no figures.

There was no comment from Gen. Watlington.

At a press conference after an inspection, Brucker explained that Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff, instituted the reducing program "after he observed several officers, noncoms and enlisted men who gave the impression of flabbiness."

In response to a question, however, Bricker said a Washington directive providing that soldiers who fail or refuse to lose weight should be court-martialed "has been rescinded."

Costello Trial Put Back

NEW YORK (AP)—Gambler Frank Costello, 65, serving five years for income tax evasion, has won a 19-day delay in his denaturalization trial—from Sept. 5 to Sept. 24. The Italian-born Costello had asked a 30-day postponement because of a heart ailment.

Hunt Deaf-Mute as Florida Killer

Guard Possible Victims From Revenge Slayer; FBI Called In

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Alachua County officials today continued their search for a deaf mute charged with the murder of a prosecuting attorney's pretty wife.

Meanwhile guards were placed about the homes of persons connected with prosecuting the hunted man on a minor charge two months ago.

The body of Mrs. Marilyn Fagan, 32, mother of three, was found by her husband Osee in front of their suburban home early Friday. A single .32 caliber bullet had pierced her heart.

County Judge H. H. McDonald issued the murder warrant for Phil Singer, 41. The FBI entered the hunt after a federal charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution was filed.

An auto believed used by Singer was found a block from the bus station. Inside, officers found two .32 caliber shell cases.

Deputy Roland Johnson disclosed Singer had been traced to Jacksonville. A man answering his description registered at a hotel early Friday but went out a short time later. Johnson said a bag which contained articles belonging to Singer was left at the hotel.

Fine Police Work Traps Long Island Kidnaper

Patient, laborious work by FBI handwriting experts has solved the kidnaping and death of Baby Peter Weinberger.

When FBI Director Hoover's men entered the case a week after the July 4 abduction, they had only one solid bit of evidence—the ransom note. But it was that note demanding $2,000 for the safe return of the baby that led to the solution of this stupid, senseless crime.

For weeks the FBI men searched public records of all kinds in their hunt for handwriting that matched the ransom note. After examining more than 2,000,000 samples, they found the signature of Angelo A. LaMarca of Plainview, L. I.

When the 31 year old former part-time taxi driver was shown that his signature contained the same handwriting quirk as the ransom note, he confessed. Then he led officers to the spot where they recovered the body of the baby LaMarca said he had abandoned alive.

This excellent police work has been followed by quick action to bring LaMarca to justice. In New York State the maximum penalty for kidnaping is death in the electric chair. Angelo LaMarca showed neither Baby Weinberger nor his heartbroken parents any mercy. He, himself, deserves none.

Maritime Board to Build Atomic Merchant Ship

Pursuant to authorization by Congress and Executive approval, the Maritime Commission will construct the world's first atomic powered merchant ship.

While the lawmakers refused to okay President Eisenhower's atomic powered "peace ship" idea, the projected vessel will be the nearest possible thing to it. There are no great technical difficulties to be overcome as was shown by the unqualified success of the submarine Nautilus.

This doesn't mean, however, that there will be no problems to solve. At the present stage of development an atomic powered vessel couldn't compete with a coal or oil powered ship. The nuclear reactor will be both expensive and heavy and will have to be carefully shielded to prevent radiation.

Experts believe that if a Nautilus type reactor is used in the new $40,000,000 ship, it can be completed in two and a half years. If a more advanced type is desired, construction time may be three years or longer.

The outstanding thing about this project is that it will establish another atomic first for the United States—this time for peaceful uses. While our first A-bomb's purpose was destructive, this country has been at the forefront in developing peaceful uses of atomic energy for the benefit of all humanity.

Eastern Railroads Seek Higher Passenger Rates

Whether we travel by train or not, most Americans are interested in the requests of Eastern railroads for a 45 per cent increase in first class fares.

Declaring that they are losing money on passenger service, lines led by the New York Central and Pennsylvania are asking a first class rate of nearly seven cents a mile. They also seek permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to increase coach fares five cents.

The request was filed despite the fact that current rates were established in May in the last of a series of rate increases which began in 1936. At that time the first class rate of three cents a mile was ruled inadequate. Present first class and coach fares are 4.725 and 3.554 cents a mile.

Most reaction to the railway request is dominated by belief that they are asking much more than they expect the ICC to grant. There also is considerable opinion that, if granted, the proposed rates would drive business away from the railroads.

In some quarters it is suggested that many lines are losing interest in passenger business, particularly long haul business. It also is noted that Southern and Western lines which haven't asked increases, are operating at first class and coach rates of 4.0425 and 2.8875 cents per mile.

The whole passenger set up is a railroad headache. Commuter service is almost a constant loss. In 1954 the railroads took in $73 million dollars in railroad diners for the privilege of serving $103 million dollars worth of food. Some railroads have considered going to the airplane meal service. Rails have been sufferers in many departments for some time.

Overheard, mother speaking: "My 13-year-old daughter has a bad case of puppy love, and that's much worse than the measles."

Danger Remains

Suez Conference Fails to Insure West's Security

By William L. Ryan
AP Foreign News Analyst

The Suez Canal conference has ended with the security of a Western lifeline still in doubt, and danger on the horizon.

The conference was a golden opportunity for the Russians to prove the sincerity of their "peaceful coexistence" talk.

If Moscow wanted to avoid a chain of events seriously affecting Europe's future and peace prospects, it would have lined up with the West in seeking an iron-clad guarantee for continued international access to the canal.

The Russians did not. They used the controversy as a weapon to belabor the Western nations as "colonialists" and to marshal the frightened neutralism of Asia.

The 22-nation conference had the effect, probably, of staving off an explosion in the Middle East, but big as that accomplishment was, its results could be all too temporary.

CERTAIN REJECTION

Egypt's president Nasser will be told by the 18-nation majority of the London conference that they favor international operation of an Egyptian-owned company. This most certainly will be rejected by Nasser.

But this cannot meet the demands of the West. Can the big Western powers give in now?

There must, at the least, be more negotiations, more marking time, and even, possibly, more economic pressure on Egypt to retreat from its position. The London conference was just a beginning.

Apart from the importance of the Suez to world trade, the West cannot lose sight of the fact that Nasser's actions endanger much more—the oilfields and even the pipelines carrying life-giving oil to Europe's economy.

UNHINDERED ACCESS

The conditions of today's world make it imperative that Europe have unhindered access to that oil.

Nasser's action—and the indication the Egyptian leader scored an initial victory over the West—can easily start a prairie fire of demand for similar acts of national aggrandizement throughout the Arab world.

Days of All Faiths

Kingdomtide Begins Tomorrow

By Dr. Howard V. Harper

In the new Protestant calendar, tomorrow is the festival of Christ the King, and the beginning of the season of Kingdomtide. The emphasis today and during the season of establishment of a new order of society: the "beloved community" in which God's will is done on earth as it is in heaven. The word "Kingdomtide" was coined to express this idea.

The keynote of all church life as well as all preaching during Kingdomtide is found in chapter 1, verse 14, of St. Mark's gospel, "Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the Gospel of God and saying, The time is fulfilled, the Kingdom of God is at hand." The Lord constantly struck this same note, pointing out the social implications of His religion throughout His ministry, especially in the Sermon on the Mount.

The development of community life based on love of God and love of man, says the National Council of Churches, is the heart of the Lord's Prayer and "the very goal of the universe."

BABY SAINT

Tuesday, August 28 commemorates the most precocious and shortest-lived saint on record—St. Rumbald of Kent, who at his birth cried three times "I am a Christian" and immediately demanded baptism. For the ceremony he chose his own name and selected and instructed his godparents. After being baptized, he walked to a well nearby and took up a stand where he preached without interruption for three days and then died.

Whatever actually did happen occurred so long ago that it is impossible to say now what was the basis of this absurd legend. Certainly there must have been some saintly boy-wonder in Kent named Rumbald, whose piety greatly impressed his elders.

For several centuries Kentish fishermen invoked the blessing and protection of St. Rumbald on their labors. They saved the eight largest fish from every catch and sold them, putting the proceeds into a special fund which they allowed to accumulate for a whole year. Then, on Christmas Eve they spent the entire year's savings on one great, uproarious feast, which they called a "Rumbald," in their patron's honor. The custom died out long ago, but even now in Kent it is still not uncommon to hear Christmas Eve called "Rumbald Night."

MAGIC FLOWER

Wednesday, according to superstition, red spots appear (for this day only) on the herb known as St. Johnswort. This is how the plant honors St. John Baptist, whose beheading, or, as the church more formally puts it, "decollation," is remembered today in the Christian calendar.

On the Isle of Wight they have less practical and more romantic ideas about St. Johnswort. If you were on that island Wednesday night and should unhappily chance to step on this plant, a fairy horse would rise up under you and take you for the ride of your life.

The little yellow-flowered herb became connected with the name of St. John Baptist in an accidental but interesting way. Crusaders in the Holy Land found that inhabitants hung bunches of it over their doors to frighten away demons. They called it "Devil's Flight," and under this name brought it back to Europe where it flourished in especial profusion around the end of June. It was used to festoon doors and windows at the time of the summer solstice, when the air was thought to be especially full of evil spirits.

The anniversary of St. John Baptist's birth falls on June 24, right in the midst of the midsummer celebration, so it was quite natural that his name should attach, in Christian minds, to the flower most in evidence at this time. And after that it was also quite natural that it should be connected with this second day on which the Baptist is remembered while the herb is still in bloom.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Natural Childbirth—Can't Beat It

By Dr. William Brady, M.D.

I cannot believe there is anything like Natural Childbirth. How can you have a child without pain? (Mrs. C. M.)

Answer—It's as easy as falling off the roof. In the first place let's agree amicably that we're all ignorant about one thing or another. You about maternity and childbirth; I about automobile engines; just so we understand each other. Unless you prefer to remain ignorant, as most Americans do, you might find enlightenment in these publications:

Your maternity booklet helped me through my first pregnancy 18 years ago. Now I'm pregnant again, (Mrs. M. L)

Answer — The maternity booklet has been revised many times since then. Send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson 4, Preparing for Maternity and the pamphlet Calcium and Pregnancy.

Thanks to your advice I have had the most comfortable season for many years. A lot of unpleasant and expensive treatment with pollen antigens gave me no relief at all. (F. L. S.)

Answer—Pamphlet on Hay Fever available on request if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Can't remember the name of it, but I'd like to get the Little Lesson that describes a system of breathing for sleeplessness . . . (Mrs. K. O. M.)

Answer—Really, Ma'am, it's a proper Anglo-Saxon word. No system. Just "Belly Breathing." Like a horse. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Belly Breathing. If you change the name there'll be no reply.

My efforts to get kindergartners to eat hot breakfasts of egg, oatmeal, whole milk, and fruit are defeated in most cases by their parents who give 'em instead a glass of chocolate milk for breakfast . . . (Mrs. M. C.)

Answer—Well, ain't that what the man who goes yum-yum recommends? The advice of doctors, nutritionists, dieticians, nurses, teachers and the like cannot prevail against the teachings of TV.

Does the "booster pump" work? I can assure you from personal experience that it does, that is, if I have been doing belly breathing as you say one should. Had a coronary occlusion 1½ years ago . . . feel that belly breathing has helped a great deal. But I'd appreciate your instructions . . . (F. E. S.)

Answer—Send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Little Lesson 21 How to Breathe. As physiologists say, the aspiratory action of the thorax has an effect on the circulation like that of a booster pump. Anyway, I believe a few inflations of the bellows (belly) in an emergency constitute the quickest possible way to get a little more oxygen to the distressed heart muscle.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Compliment Club Fine for Groups

Glenn Henriksen shows the value of the daily newspaper both for geriatric therapy and also as an ally of the church. God likes clergymen, who have the true scientific attitude, as proved by God's willingness to submit to Gideon's tests. So utilize the practical value of the Compliment Club to harness the idealism of new converts and thus give them an immediate moral project.

By Dr. George W. Crane

Case S-348: Glenn F. Henriksen is a Seventh-Day Adventist pastor in the West Indies.

Early this year I received a very interesting letter from him via air mail.

It helps prove the value of the daily newspaper in stimulating the minds of elderly retired folks. And it shows how the newspaper has become one of the chief aids to the church in moral enterprises.

"Dr. Crane, my grandfather is named Edward Morgan," began Rev. Hendriksen. "He is 89 years of age and a former resident of Columbus, Ohio.

"When he came to live with us, I was serving as a minister in North Carolina.

"To help Grandpa keep in touch with his home town, another of his grandchildren, Mrs. Robert Robine of Columbus, continued to send him his favorite newspaper.

"And that is how I became acquainted with you. So when I accepted this call to the mission field in Curacao, I wanted to continue with your daily feature.

"So I asked Grandpa Morgan to clip out your column and then mail such copies to me at regular intervals.

"I file your column according to its subject matter and thus have very practical cases to illustrate my sermons.

"Meanwhile, Grandpa keeps more active and alert because of this daily chore. Indeed, we credit much of his longevity to this arrangement. For his whole life is built around waiting for and reading the paper.

COMPLIMENT CLUB

"At the close of a recent revival series, I recommended your Compliment Club as a technique to help maintain the spiritual climax obtained in the services.

"And I am enclosing the first two completed applications from the 500 attendants on this island.

"When we receive your signed diplomas for these two members, we plan to present them publicly as a means of encouraging others to continue."

Well, isn't that pretty good proof of the way in which a progressive newspaper ties-in constructively with the good work of the church?

God probably watches the missionary activities of Rev. Henriksen with double interest, too, for God likes scientists who try new methods and make actual tests.

And I'm not exaggerating. Just read about Gideon in the book of Judges in your family Bible.

When God picked Gideon to become the George Washington of his people and lead them in revolt against their enemies, Gideon was somewhat uncertain.

So he asked God to submit to a test, just to prove that it really was God who had been talking to him.

And after this first test, Gideon wanted further assurance, so he implored God to submit to a second test.

GOD LIKES EXPERIMENTERS

And God was not angry. In fact, God even asked Gideon to try a third test (Judges 6:10-11).

In my college textbook, I have thus included an entire section showing that Jesus was the greatest applied psychologist of all time, and I document every statement with similar specific Bible references.

For God is practical, and scientific. He undoubtedly relishes seeing Rev. Henriksen harness the idealism of his new converts by the Compliment Club, whereby they put the Golden Rule into daily use by praising their companions.

Send for this "Compliment Club" booklet, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Use it for Sunday school or YMCA and CYO projects. It offers an immediate Christian project for all idealists.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological carts and pamphlets.

'Plain Ole Disgusted' Asks Law Against Dog Damage

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

We have been putting up with dogs tearing up our garden practically from the time we plant it until we harvest it, if we are lucky and have enough left. We have tried to be neighborly about it and asked the owners of the dog repeatedly if they would please keep the dog tied.

During the day the dog is tied, but as soon as we are in bed, they let it loose. In the morning we find not only the dog still in the garden, but all our greens poked back in the ground where the big dog has stepped. You also need a shovel to dig out the cucumbers, as he has scratched so much dirt on them.

So, fed up with it all, we called the dog warden, only to be referred to a judge who we find is a great personal friend of the owner of the dog. This judge being the good friend said he didn't want to have any words with the owner. What do we do now?

What good does it do to try to raise a garden only to have it torn to pieces by a dog whose owner doesn't keep it tied?

It seems to me that there should be a law protecting people in this matter. Why should we have to pay the cost of having the ground plowed, pay for the seeds, work like heck to keep it clean and then have to pay the cost of keeping dogs out of it, too? This is sure some neighborhood to live in, believe me.

More Teens Write in Presley's Behalf

What's wrong with Presley? That's a very talked about question. We are going to try to bring out a few points concerning other articles written about him.

One writer says that Elvis has no talent. Even though his actions do get a little out of hand at times, no one can truthfully say he has no talent. Concerning James E. Barnowsky's letter, we do agree that if you don't like radio or TV, but speaking on behalf of the teenagers, we will continue to buy his records.

Another writer brought out the fact that Elvis Presley doesn't take off his shirt, tie and shoes like another well-known singer. There were no nasty articles written about him.

To our knowledge teenagers haven't complained or written articles about the music of the recording artists some of the older generation prefer. So what right do they have to complain about the type of entertainment we prefer?

One question we would like to ask the public is if Presley has no talent as has been said, why would top celebrities of the year have him on their programs and take a chance on losing the respect of the public?

'Take Action Before Crime's Committed'

Why does the law state a sex deviate can get only 90 days and a probation instead of hospitalization? Wouldn't it be cheaper to build another hospital and give them proper treatment than to sit back and let the children be killed?

All you people who want the death penalty write your congressmen. This is election year, so you'll get results.

I don't think we need the death penalty. I think we need hospitals, especially for deviates. We should weed ot the deviates, before the harm is done, not after. Hospitalize them, but don't kill them.

Hasn't there been enough blood shed? I for one don't want it on my conscience.

The Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee yesterday voted unanimously to investigate regulations governing the licensing of handicapped motorists to drive.

Live on the Top of the World Bathed in Divine Light

Confident Living

Stay With Hope and Faith; the Glow Will Never Fade

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Last night I was on top of the world. This I mean literally, for a group of us climbed to the top of the North Cape and stood at the very tip end of Norway gazing out over the Arctic Ocean. Next stop the North Pole! It was an incredible, blazing, sun-kissed midnight, with the great sun rolling along at the top of the continent of Europe. Nor did it come as low as the horizon, always well above and at full power.

Our ship, the Stella Polaris, anchored in a little cove inside the North Cape and we went ashore in the ship's launch. We ascended the precipitous cliff by a zigzagging path, clinging precauriously to the mountain top. The 800-foot climb was made possible by an ingenious series of switchbacks, while jutting stones afforded a foothold. Arriving at the summit there was a half-mile trek over the brow of this last bit of land on the continent. Then, in all of its radiant glory, we beheld the flaming orb at chronological midnight, well above the sea, going swiftly upward toward its meridian. Many Americans have journeyed to the land of the midnight sun, and it's worth every cent of the cost to have this incredible experience. The impression made upon the mind and soul will abide forever. You get a new sense of God's presence in this vast, noble land of light and beauty.

DR. PEALE

In the unearthly brilliance of that noon-like midnight a line from an old religious song kept singing itself through my mind. "And there will be no night there." What we saw on top of the world last night must surely be the earthly reflection of that eternal morning when the "day shall dawn and the shadows flee away."

But all the inspiration of last night was not in the immensity and glory of nature. Our group consisted of perhaps a hundred persons of all ages from seven to seventy. Everyone conquered that stiff climb, lured upward by the strong desire to stand on that coveted eminence. Everyone was able to struggle up those difficult 800 feet by an unconquerable spirit to attain a goal. Even young people, starting up with an eager rush, were slowed by the pressure of the steep incline. Older people, carefully measuring every step, plodded slowly and doggedly up the heights and would not give up, though better judgement cautioned, "Remember your age, your heart, your blood pressure." The top of the world was luring them on.

AWESTRUCK WITH BEAUTY

Strangely moving is this indomitable quality of man, this wanting to put his feet on the highest place, to reach the last outpost. That something was mirrored in the face of each one, young and old, when finally attaining the mountain's shoulder they stepped onto the chill and windswept plateau at the summit. There the midnight sun lighted their faces, but so also did that radiant inner light that had made them toil upward to this exalted place.

The North Cape is a bleak and isolated crag jutting out into the Arctic. From its summit a sheer cliff on the ocean side drops a thousand feet into the sea. No one lives there, no road comes there, only an occasional plane may fly up the long 1500 mile peninsula to circle this last projection of European land. Occasionally, during the few weeks of continual daylight, a ship will come bearing pilgrims like ourselves to this far-away place. And they go away awestruck with long memories of light and beauty. Then, after a few weeks the midnight sun fades and the long night comes, during which darkness reigns.

We who experienced the glory of days when the ship's log read "no sunset today" will have our times of darkness too. But it is easier to endure darkness when you have experienced the light. If you just hold on and do not become discouraged nor give up, the light will return and the shadows pass away. One thing is certain, and that is that light is more powerful than darkness. Therefore, the more light one has in mind and heart the less power will darkness have over him.

"Walk in the light," so we are admonished. And as you keep walking toward the sun, the shadows will fall behind. As you live by hope and faith and God, your days, and your nights too will be full of that light that shall never fade. Then you will truly live on top of the world in your own land of the Midnight Sun.

Ohio Bishop Warns Catholics on Driving

STEUBENVILLE, O — A deliberate violation of traffic regulations is a matter for confession and should not be treated lightly, Bishop John K. Mussio said in a statement urging better and safer driving.

Noting that "tremendous care" must be taken in driving, Bishop Mussio said one irrespnsible driver can endanger the lives of countless others. He called irresponsible drivers "morons of the wheel" and added, "The general public should not be made their guinea pigs."

He urged more stringent rules to curb irresponsible and drunken drivers. Probation is too dangerous, he said.

"The irresponsible driver and the drunken driver can live without driving," the bishop declared. "It is becoming increasingly difficult for the rest of us to live with these crackpots at the wheel."

Concern of Conference to Be Life of Farm Family

A strong contingent of U.S. church leaders—including five officials of the National Council of Churches—will sit down with their counterparts from a score and more of other countries late this month to find ways to make rural living spiritually rewarding.

How Christian churches around the world can work to bring a fuller life to farm families will be the central concern of the Second International Conference on the Church and Rural Life, to be held at Bossey, Switzerland, Aug. 28-Sept. 4.

The world gathering, convening under auspices of the World Council of Churches, will weigh such common concerns and interests as local parish problems in rural areas of the world, cooperation between churches and community agencies, the family farm, rural cooperatives, schools and government college extension courses.

Leader of the National Council group is the Rev. Dr. Richard O. Comfort, New York, executive director of the Council's Department of Town and Country Church.

The group includes: The Rev. Dr. I. George Nace, New York, executive secretary of the National Council's Division of Home Missions; Mrs. Ruth Robinson, New York, administrative assistant in the department; the Rev. Vinson A. Edwards, departmental extension worker at Tuskegee Institute in Alabama; and the Rev. Ellis Pyler, divisional mission worker in Puerto Rico.

Expect More Bibles

In 1956 the American Bible Society expects to expand its program of translation, publication and distribution of the Scriptures in all the world. For this it will require the largest budget in its history, a total of $3,858,000. Even if every dollar of this amount is received and expended as indicated below, the total world need for Scriptures would still be unmet.

PRESENTING CALENDARS — Fred Niedelson of 14 Rosshire Court, president of B'nai Brith, is shown as he presents J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent of schools, (center) with calendars of the Jewish Holidays. The 10,000 calendars will be given to the teachers of the Pontiac Public School System to promote a better understanding of the religious life of the Jewish children and their parents. Dr. Maurice Thome of 1040 James K. Boulevard (left) is chairman of the calendar committee.

High Holydays to Begin at Sunset Sept. 5

With worship exercises and efforts at spiritual inventory, Jews throughout the world will welcome their High Holydays beginning at sunset, Sept. 5.

The holydays are a ten-day span devoted to religious self-examination. Traditionally, the period of contrition opens with observance, in home and synagogue, of the religious year.

The liturgy for the New Year, or Rosh Ha-Shanah, the Hebrew term, includes special prayers of penitence, unison readings stressing the theme of man's ability to improve and hymns of aspiration and thanksgiving.

During the service on the morning of the New Year, the shofar or ram's horn, is sounded as a call to conscience. In many Jewish homes, honey is served at the dinner meal in token of the hope for a year of sweetness.

TEMPLE BETH JACOB

Rosh Hashana Eve Service will be on Sept. 5 at 8:15 p.m.; New Year's Service on Sept. 6 at 10:00 a.m. and the Junior Congregation Service is planned the same day at 2 p.m.

Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein, religious leader of the Temple will conduct the services and present the sermonic message at each of these occasions.

CONGREGATION B'NAI ISRAEL

Rosh Hashana Eve Service on Sept. 5 at 6:30 p.m.; and on the mornings of Sept. 6 and 7, at 8:30.

Rabbi Israel Goodman, spiritual leader of the B'nai Israel Congregation will conduct the services and preach the High Holiday sermons.

The High Holydays will reach their climax with Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonment on Sept. 15, when those of the Jewish faith spend the day in synagogues fasting and offering prayers, which ask for divine forgiveness for faults and weaknesses.

According to Rabbi Maurice N. Eisendrath, president of the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, the purpose of the Holydays is to move the worshipper "to invest his life with noble purpose and to join every endeavor to improve the moral quality of society."

Typical of the New Year liturgy is this passage from the High Holyday Prayerbook: "O Thou who dealest graciously with the children of men, give us the grace to show forbearance unto those who offend against us. When the wrongs and injustices of men sadden our hearts may we seek shelter in the knowledge of Thy truth and find joy in the fulfillment of Thy will."

Minister Who Served Church of Presidents Takes Institute Post

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The minister who served in the "church of the presidents" has left the pulpit. His new job is research into human behavior. He believes science and religion have a partnership in life.

The Rev. Dr. C. Leslie Glenn is a new research associate at the University of Michigan's Mental Health Research Institute.

To take the job, he left behind a long career as minister and chaplain. He was rector of St. John's Church, located across from the White House, where presidents from Madison to Eisenhower have worshipped.

Before that he was rector of Christ Church in Cambridge, Mass., where he was chaplain to Harvard students.

Dr. Glenn, who graduated from college as an engineer and later went into the ministry, will take a position on the research team now organizing to study how and why a person acts the way he does.

Dr. James G. Miller, chief of the institute, said "the importance and impact of religious faith in the shaping of human behavior offers a wide field to investigage. Dr. Glenn is a humanist with a scientific background, whose primary interest is religion. He will conduct studies revolving around religion's contribution to mental health."

In addition, he will preach at college chapels.

Wins William Faulkner One Year Study Grant in North Carolina

Midori Sasaki, a graduate of Hiroshimo Jo Gakuin Methodist College in Japan, will fly to the United States early in September to begin her studies as winner of the William Faulkner study grant for one year of graduate study abroad.

Hiroshima Jo Gakuin is a college of the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

Miss Sasaki, who won also a Fulbright travel grant, will attend the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, N.C. An extension of the grant is possible, and it is possible that Miss Sasaki will be able to study two or three years in North Carolina.

The grant was made at the time of Mr. Faulkner's visit to Japan in the summer of 1955 to lecture at a national seminar in Nagano.

Miss Sasaki, who majored in American literature in college, attended the seminar and was nominated by Japanese professors as their first choice for the award, not only, it is said, because of her scholarship but also because she represents the finest Japanese womanhood.

After a conversation between Mr. Faulkner and Miss Sasaki, the nomination was confirmed.

Shortly after she received the award, Miss Sasaki's father died suddenly, and as she is the eldest girl in a large family she felt that she should stay at home and help her mother.

But the decision of her family was that she should come to the United States as planned, particularly because of her father's great pride in the honor which had come to his daughter.

Texas Churches Join in Prayers for Rain

In response to an appeal by the Texas Council of Churches, Protestants in drought-stricken areas of the state are joining with those of other faiths in daily prayers of intercession. The Dallas-Fort Worth area has been particularly hard hit, with only 12.45 inches of rainfall (about half of normal) recorded so far this year.

Richard Farnsworth, Houston industrialist and president of the Texas Council, issued the appeal for prayer. He said the drought affects "not only the economy of our state but the effectiveness of church-sponsored relief programs . . . elsewhere in the world."

Religion, Show Business, Together in Movies, TV

NEW YORK (NEA)—Praise the Lord and pass the royalty check. Religion and show business are walking hand in hand and both groups seem to be happy about the whole thing.

In the midtown movie company offices—which tell Hollywood what to film—they talk about the "great grosses" racked up by religious movies.

Added together, this means that religion is big show business.

Religious-flavored songs are moving, films with religious subjects are doing well at the box office and religious TV programs, which used to be aired strictly as a public service, are now getting better and better ratings and attracting sponsors, too.

Hollywood's interest in religion is historic—some of the greatest spectacles to be put on film have drawn their stories from the rich dramatic treasury that is the Bible.

Upcoming is one that may be the colossalest, stupendousest, gigantices yet—Cecil B. DeMille's "The Ten Commandments."

But what makes Hollywood more interested in religion than ever is the success of two low-budget, unheralded sleepers — "The Miracle of Fatima" and "Martin Luther."

Both continue to play, continue to make money, continue to be greeted joyously by ministers and movie critics alike.

Hollywood has always known that the big spectacle could make money, but these two are virtually the first inexpensive films with religious subjects to be profitable. Result is that more of the same is on the way.

Television, the third medium to feel the religious rebirth, started out to follow radio's footsteps—a certain amount of religious programming was scheduled, but mainly as a sop to the church.

It was put on in poor times, haphazardly, with little or no effort spent in production. There was the one notable exception—Bishop Fulton J. Sheen—but that's all.

Then last season, an independent producer named Bernard Schubert turned out a series of half-hour films called "Crossroads."

These were dramatic stories, true stories of the experiences of real ministers, priests and rabbis. They were successfully syndicated, scored high ratings in many cities.

Many programs, put on by the churches themselves, have become popular. Some network shows, like "Frontiers of Faith," "Lamp Unto My Feet" and "Look Up and Live," have gotten increasingly good response.

Schubert is now planning another program — a panel show which would have minfsters of the three faiths discussing religious questions. Other religious shows are being considered by networks and local stations.

The reason for this relatively sudden upsurge in spiritual entertainment is probably the same reason attributed to the rise in church attendance and church membership—the anxiety of the times, brought on in large part by the Atomic Age.

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—The Rev. David J. Coffey of Woonsocket, R. I., has been named chairman of a Federal Civil Defense Committee to protect church records and property in a national emergency. Father Coffey, chaplain at Rhode Island College of Education, was chosen during a Civil Defense course for clergymen held at FCDA headquarters here.

U. of M. Pastors' Conference Set

Outstanding Clergymen to Address the Annual Meeting in Ann Arbor

LANSING—Dr. Nels Ferre of Nashville; Dr. Howard Thuman of Boston and Dr. James W. Clarke of Princeton, N. J., and Dr. Charles B. Templeton of New York, will be the four headline guest speakers at the 18th annual Michigan Pastors' Conference to be held at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, January 21-23, 1957.

The announcement was made jointly by Dr. Kenneth G. Neigh, president of the Michigan Council of Churches, and Dr. Merrill Abbey, chairman of the Conference.

Dr. Howard Thurman is dean of Chapel and Professor at Boston University School of Theology. He is affiliated with the National Baptist Convention and is one of the nation's most unique and creative teachers, preachers and Christian mystics.

Dr. Nels Ferre is a professor at Vanderbilt University. "He is one of the most provocative Christian scholars in America," declared Dr. Abbey. "His books and his lectures have stimulated discussion in all denominations."

HEAD EVANGELIST

Another of the noted guest leaders will be Dr. James W. Clarke, professor of preaching at Princeton Theological Seminary. Born and reared in Scotland, Dr. Clarke has preached to unusually large audiences in Winnipeg, Canada; and St. Louis, Mo.

Dr. Charles B. Templeton, having served as evangelist for the National Council of Churches and as head of evangelism for the Presbyterian Church U.S.A., is youthful, dynamic, and eloquent.

There will be other features to the Conference including two seminars conducted by widely known professors at the University of Michigan. There will be an up to date book exhibit, a tea for ministers wives and a colorful ecumenical worship service. On the first night of the Conference there will take place the annual dinner and meeting of the Michigan Council of Churches.

Indian Minister and Wife Go Home After U. S. Study

Dr. and Mrs. Theodore S. Wilkinson, who have been studying in this country—Dr. Wilkinson as a Methodist Crusade Scholar for two years and Mrs. Wilkinson, with other funds, for one year — returned in August to their homeland, India.

Dr. and Mrs. Wilkinson are third generation Christians. Dr. Wilkinson's father being a Methodist minister.

Dr. Wilkinson will resume his work as professor of sociology and economics, in both of which he has master's degrees, at Christ Church College, a unit of Agra University, and Mrs. Wilkinson will continue teaching English in junior high school.

Both husband and wife studied at Drake University, Durham, N.C., while in the United States, Dr. Wilkinson doing research for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, which has been granted him. His thesis, "The Social Impact of the West on India," will be printed by the University.

The young Indian couple was looking forward to returning home largely because of one person, a four-year-old daughter, whom her father has not seen since she was two. The child has been staying with her grandparents while her parents were away.

Are You Guilty of Helping?

Is Your Minister Cracking Up?

NEW YORK—The number one problem of American clergymen today is that of their own mental health, Dr. Wesley Shrader, minister and professor at Yale Divinity School, said recently.

Mental and emotional breakdowns among our ministers are occurring in increasingly large numbers every year, Dr. Shrader claims, and he places the blame squarely on church congregations who expect their ministers to fill six different roles at once—organizer, pastor, preacher, priest and teacher. The conscientious minister tries to fulfill all these obligations without sufficient training as a specialist. His shortcomings plus the enormous strain produced by shortage of time mean frustration and fear and case after case of breakdowns, Dr. Shrader says.

"Though large numbers of our parish ministers are cracking up", Dr. Shrader says, "the problem is almost never discussed, the public almost never hears about it, the church itself is loathe to acknowledge the danger. The reason for this is that most people—clergymen and laymen alike—think that a minister of the gospel, a man of faith, a man of God, should be immune from any such breakdown."

The tensions between congregations and their ministers, arising out of the impossible ministerial role, are not going to be resolved without honest, realistic appraisal on the part of the clergy and earnest, cooperative effort on the part of the lay people according to Dr. Shrader.

OFFERS ANSWERS

He offers these specific suggestions to help solve the problem:

The National Council of Churches or some other responsible religious body, should study a research report being compiled on the role that lay people expect of their ministers and the role that ministers expect of themselves.

A representative committee composed of prominent psychiatrists, educators and church leaders should immediately begin a nationwide survey—and the complete findings made public—admitting the problem exists.

Local congregations can keep the church membership smaller. No one pastor can minister properly to a church with a membership over 500. When it is not feasible to reduce the membership, additional full-time ministers should be added to the church staff.

When a local church adopts the multiple minister system, the church must clearly define the separate roles of the various ministers.

"Superior strategies in church administration will not, by themselves, solve the pressing problem confronting today's ministry. Lay people, no matter how devout and sincere Christians they may be, have unwittingly created the tragic situation through their ignorance of the complex work of the modern minister. Only when these people know the nature of the problem will there be any progress toward a solution," Dr. Shrader says.

IMPOSSIBLE TASK

Dr. Shrader believes the explanation for emotional breakdowns among the clergy lies in the fact that the minister's role has become impossible. "It is a role that no human being, including the 12 Apostles could adequately fill," he says.

"Today's congregations place the highest value upon the minister's roles as administrator and organizer. They regard less highly the roles of preacher, teacher and priest (administering the sacraments, performing weddings and funerals). The minister, on the other hand, places the greatest emphasis on his roles as preacher, teacher and priest and puts least emphasis on his roles as administrator and organizer. The result is unsolvable conflict and frustration."

Bible at Work in China

The American Bible Society began its work among the Chinese in 1853 when the China mainland was as impregnable as it is today. "The friends of the Bible," a reporter the preceding year wrote, "are aware that while the Bible distributor may not as yet find access to the Chinese within the walls of their empire, multitudes of their nation are found without these walls and often ready to receive with eagerness the sacred oracles."

Why Protestants Go To Church

Protestants have never been compelled to attend church.

The true motive for church attendance is very different. The Bible says, "Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing." (Psalm 100: 2)

In New Testament times, after Christ ascended into heaven, the believers met together to study the Scriptures and to worship God. This was the beginning of the Christian Church. These early Christians recounted their blessings to one another. The Bible says that "they rehearsed all that God had done with them, and how he had opened the door of faith unto the Gentiles." (Acts 14: 27)

It is the same today. Across the nation there are thousands of groups of Bible-believing people, who meet together week by week to study God's Word, the Bible.

It is in the Bible-centered church such as this that you will find the true teaching of the Gospel. In this friendly atmosphere you will be welcome. You will be aided in your understanding of the Bible, God's message to all mankind. It is here that you will find God's message of love: "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation (sacrifice) for our sins." (I John 4: 10)

Bible-believing Christians are not compelled to attend church. They have a deep desire to know God, to study His Word, and to serve Him. You are invited to join with them. Find a church where the Bible is given the place of supreme authority it deserves, and where the message of salvation through Jesus Christ is clearly presented. You will find a welcome there.

When Does Honor Guest Leave Party?

Until All Others Have Departed, Is Rule of Courtesy

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "When a party is given in someone's honor, is that person the first or last to leave the party? There seems to be a difference of opinion about this.

"Some think it is impolite for the guest of honor to leave before all the guests have departed, and others think it is impolite for the guests to leave before the guest of honor.

Answer: The guest of honor comes first and leaves last. It would be very discourteous on her part to keep guests waiting for her, or care so little for the party as to leave first.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have a friend who has a habit of repeating stories or incidents that I have heard before. It is very boring to have to sit and listen to them again and again. Would it be very rude to tell her that I heard the story before?"

Answer: The really friendly thing to do is to check her if you can do it tactfully and affectionately and without hurting her feelings.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you be so kind as to tell me at what age one stops addressing an envelope to a boy as Master and begins addressing him as Mr."

Answer: When he enters his teens, and the modern trend is not to use master at all and only Mr. when the boy reaches college age.

Beauty Tip: You Are What You Eat

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The typical steak and potatoes, pie and hot roll diet which held sway for so long in the United States, and still does to a certain extent, is, of course, a far cry from the vegetarian diet.

It seems that a middle of the road policy is best.

Much emphasis has been placed recently on the value of meat in the diet. Research and experimentation in nutrition indicate that we need this high protein in our diet each day. Meat is valuable not only for its protein but for its vitamins and minerals and especially for its amino acids.

Naturally we also need our fresh vegetables and fruits. One of the main difficulties with the vegetarian diet is the fact that it requires an extensive knowledge of nutrition to plan one properly —much more information than the average person has.

Of course the vegetarian does eat some of the animal products such as cheese and eggs and milk, but a helping of meat a day has gained in importance in the eyes of the nutritionist.

Much emphasis has been placed recently on the value of meat in the diet.

While steak and potatoes are still as popular as ever the public has been educated in the importance of the green and yellow vegetables, milk and whole grain, and the citrus fruit juices so that a well-balanced diet is a habit in many more homes than it was a few years ago.

More and more folks also are taking their meat and vegetables and starches broiled, baked or boiled, not only because of figure control but also because of cholesterol.

This latter is a fatty substance which gets into the blood stream and accounts for most of the circulatory troubles which are a reason for such a large percentage of the killing and maiming illnesses.

The actual story of cholesterol is far from solved by the medical profession but they do know the restriction of fat in the diet often lowers the content of cholesterol in the blood.

Therefore, it seems a good health measure for those who hope to live to a vital old age to cut fats lower, although we need some fat in our menus. Another way of doing this is to drink skim milk or fat free powdered milk or buttermilk.

Elegance in hats for fall is expressed in bow-tied chiffon for the fragile pretty face. Larger features need irregular profile hat.

Elegance for the dinner hour and daytime is notable in feathers and fur and chiffon hats, to give importance to slim suits and dresses. Draped high fur turbans, spreading wide in fox-trimmed crown—keep in proportion to your face, height, etc.

Don't Wait—You May Miss the Boat

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some people are such perfectionists, so hopelessly choosy, that they will settle for nothing but the very best. As a result, they often turn out with nothing at all.

* * *

The girls who must have the dream man of all time or no man at all, ends up with no man at all.

And the person who will touch no job but the exact ideal job may sit around forever unemployed.

In the first place, if we take the job at hand, we develop our skills and are therefore prepared for the dream job when it comes.

In the second place, the job at hand may turn out to be a whole lot more exciting than it looks on the surface.

And in the third place, as the old saying goes, "Them as has, gits." The best way to get in line for the ideal job is to take whatever job first presents itself.

Mrs. T. is an example of that.

Mrs. T. is in her mid-forties and has grown children and a busy and successful husband. She would like a job because most of her friends are working and, besides, she has a lot of free time.

SCORNS LOWLY JOB

But Mrs. T. won't settle for just any old job. She wants something "really creative," as she puts it. She won't learn typing, let alone shorthand. She wants to be what she calls "an idea person."

* * *

Mrs. T. has presented her "ideas" to the department stores in her town but they were politely turned down.

For reasons unknown to her, those ideas wouldn't work. But Mrs. T. is above getting a plain job in a store and finding out why they won't work.

She would like to work with people but only, as she says, "at a top level." Mrs. T. will probably never do anything but sit around dreaming of the job she'd like.

START SMALL

What she ought to do, if she is wise, is start any old job that happens to be around. Then she'll be developing her mind, getting experience and putting herself in a position where things happen.

It involves talking with people, finding out their preferences about products, packages, etc. It is interesting, it leads into many other kinds of work and it develops social skills.

Most of all, it keeps you busy! If you are in Mrs. T.'s position, a good first step might be to send for my pamphlet, How to Get A Job in Market Research.

Just send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope in care of this newspaper and I'll forward it.

Work Goes Faster

When working in the kitchen, use both hands to put dishes away, to get dishwashing supplies out, to remove food from the refrigerator, and to cut vegetables on a chopping board.

State Fund Surplus Set at $25 Million

LANSING (AP)—The state's general fund had a surplus of $25,500,000 when the 1955-56 fiscal year ended June 30, James W. Miller, controller, reported.

Miller said it will be several weeks before final figures are available but the preliminary figure will not be off by more than half a million dollars.

General fund reserves and revenues for the fiscal year included $17 million dollars carried over from 1954-55. The fund totalled $535,400,000.

Total expenditures and obligations for the fiscal year were $509,900,000.

Gent, 82, Gal, 63, Center of Storm —on Honeymoon

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A honeymooning couple at a summer camp are expected to be the center of attention — especially when the bridegroom is a sprightly 82 and his bride is a sparkling 63.

John Wheeler and his wife, May, married a month ago in Benton Harbor, are honeymooning at the Salvation Army's Golden Age Camp on nearby Little Pine Island Lake.

They are among 58 old-timers vacationing at the camp.

Wheeler claims he and his spouse are the oldest couple to wed in Benton Harbor history. The two were witnessed in the ceremony by 181 descendants from former marriages.

Maybe Edye's Off-Pitch but She Isn't Off-Base

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Edye Gorme's 25 and astonishingly popular after 500 appearances on the Steve Allen TV show—but she can remember when she was practically Miss Unpopularity in person.

"I crossed the country three times on a bus with Tex Beneke's band and they all hated me so much I'd cry every night," Edye confessed to me recently.

"I was the only girl. I didn't know from all the band lingo. "Nobody spoke to me.

"I had nothing to do on the bus but go to sleep. So I bought a ukelele . . . beautiful Hawaiian instrument . . . and I started learning to play it on the bus.

"I had to do something.

"One day we made a lunch stop and when I came back into the bus, there was my ukelele, broken in half right on my seat!"

EDYE

"Those musicians weren't very encouraging.

"Dance band musicians look upon a girl singer as just another instrument. The minute you do a gesture, they sneer at you and call you 'Star.' They don't want you 'performing.'

"But Tex was kind and taught me a lot.

"I have a nasty habit of taking liberties with notes. I can't learn a song note for note. I suppose I think I can improve a song, or something. Never tell that to a song writer or he's likely to hang you. Even with Steve's songs, the ones he's written, I have trouble learning them note for note."

Edye joined Steve Allen when his "Tonight" show was still local. Everybody says Steve has an off-beat show, and Edye fits it perfectly . . . not only was she off-beat but off-key, off-pitch, off-melody and, at least once, she was off in the Catskills when a major event in her life occurred.

Billy Daniels got in a hassle in Harlem and was arrested.

"I was sitting in Lindy's after driving back from the mountains. I had on an old leather jacket and some beat-up pants.

"Buddy Howe, the agent, called and said Billy Daniels couldn't work that night at the Copacabana. Would I go on? I said 'Of course!'

"Then I realized I was insane. I had to be at the Copa in a half hour and had to be at Steve's rehearsal in half an hour, too.

"I dashed over to Steve's show and ran over the songs with Skitch—then started to the Copa.

"They didn't want to let me in! I looked like some hick just off the bus. The headwaiter was about to say 'Get lost, singer,' when my manager explained I was going to be the star that night.

"Then I rushed back, did Steve's show and returned for the second Copa show. I looked 10 times worse because I couldn't get the gook off my face."

But she was a big hit and Jules Podell, the Copa boss, said she must come in soon as the star in her own right. She's just finished there after doing sensational business. Las Vegas is beckoning, also the State Fairs . . . and all's well for this daughter of a Turkish-born custom tailor who's just a little bit off-pitch but evidently never off base.

Marilyn Monroe's former dress designer is now whipping 'em up for Jayne Mansfield . . . Tallulah Bankhead, asked about a reviewer's comment that Constance Bennett has a better voice, groaned, "Dahling, I have my own troubles!" Geraldine Hanning, whose hands are shown in TV commercials, has 'em insured; she's forbidden by her policy to paint, cook or play with pets.

A criticism of Easter Williams' water show in Europe: "She doesn't spend enough time in the water" . . . Mason Melton is having the longest run on B'way; he was Victor Borge's backstage valet for 2½ years, then switched to Rex "My Fair Lady" Harrison.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "If after-dinner speaking is a lost art, let's leave it that way."—Quote

Delay Mill Opening

CHEBOYGAN (AP)—The Charmin Paper Mills of Green Bay, Wis., says it will be delayed in opening its Cheboygan mill because of difficulty in obtaining machinery and equipment. The company, which bought the mill last spring originally hoped to start production around next July 1. It says now it will be after Oct. 1 before the mill can be reopened.

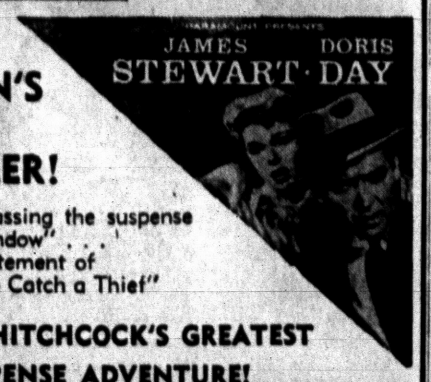

Immigrants admitted to the U.S. since 1868 are estimated to have totalled more than 31 million.

United Nations authorities estimate there are from 30 to 40 million refugees in the world today.

A WOEFUL NUMBER — Birmingham High School football coach Carl Lemle found he had 23 jerseys looking for Maple grid prospects when uniforms were issued for the start of Fall drills. This is the number of lettermen gone from the BHS 1955 team which won the EML title and posted one of its best records in history of the school.

First Harmsworth Heat Today

DETROIT (AP) — The United States is favored to gain a stronger grip on speedboating's most coveted international crown at the outset of competition with an accident-plagued Canadian challenger.

Canada's Miss Supertest and U. S. defender Shanty I will match power in the first heat of the Harmsworth Trophy race beginning at 5:30 P.M. (EST).

The first winner of two seven-lap heats over the five-mile Harmsworth course on the Detroit River will capture the massive bronze plaque held continuously by the U.S. since Gar Wood brought it back from England in 1920.

A second heat will be run Monday and a 3rd Tuesday if necessary.

Miss Supertest, owned by J. Gordon Thompson of London, Ont., is the first challenger to U.S. supremacy in six years.

The Canadian boat, like her American rival, has demonstrated in trial runs that she is capable of speeds at least approaching 150 m.p.h. But Miss Supertest was damaged in an accident yesterday that made it necessary to replace a newly installed 3,000 horsepower Rolls Royce Griffon engine with its old power plant. The boat was damaged in another mishap last Saturday.

Despite the last-minute setback, the Canadian team said she will be ready for a trial run this morning and in top shape by race time.

Air Force Lt. Col. Russel Schleeh, 37, holder of the transcontinental record for piloting a jet plane but only a second-year man at speedboat racing, will drive Shanty, owned by oilman W. T. Waggoner and flying colors of the Seattle Yacht Club.

Bill Braden, 41-year-old Hamilton, Ont., transportation executive, will drive Miss Supertest. Braden has piloted speedboats since 1939.

The trophy defender, winner of the Seafair Race at Seattle and holder of many West Coast titles, is 28-feet 6-inches long. She weighs 4,500 pounds and is powered by a 2,500 horsepower Allison engine.

The heavier and more powerful Miss Supertest is 31-feet long, weights 7,000 pounds and thunders along with 3,000 horsepower.

Lions Defense to Get Tested Against Cards

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—The Detroit Lions' defensive unit will get a real test against some of the finest running backs in the National Football League when the Detroiters clash with the Chicago Cardinals in the senior bowl tonight.

Against coach Buddy Parker's defensive platoon the Cardinals will throw the likes of Ollie Matson, onetime west coast collegiate star and Olympic sprinter, at left halfback; Dave Mann at right half and Joe Childress, a 220-pound rookie from Alabama, at fullback.

The Cardinals' vaunted ground game likely will spell the difference between victory and defeat for the Lions. If they can stop it as well as they did the Pittsburgh Steelers running attack a week ago, it should be another conquest for the Detroit club.

Tonight's contest is the second pre-season game for the Lions, who opened in Toledo with a 20-15 victory over the Steelers. They will meet the Philadelphia Eagles in the Orange Bowl Friday night before returning home for a battle with the league champion Cleveland Browns Sept. 7.

Ohio State's Howard (Hopalong) Cassady, who sprinted 61 yards for a touchdown in the Steeler game, probably will open with big Leon Hart at running back.

The defensive unit likely will include rookie Gene Grownin, Ray Krouse, Bob Miller and Darris McCord in a basic four-man line. Others in the platoon include Gil Mains, Carl Karilivacz, Jack Christiansen, Jimmy David, Yale Lary, Joe Schmidt and Sonny Gandee.

NHL to Take No Action in Red Wing Case

Prexy Says Incident Is 'Dead' as Far as League Concerned

MONTREAL (AP) — The National Hockey League says it has no intention of taking action in the case of Detroit Red Wing players who carried liquor across the international border unaware that it was going to the henchman of a Detroit gambler.

League president Clarence Campbell said last night he knew of the incident, which happened two years ago, but said it "is dead" as far as the NHL is concerned.

Word that Detroit players had unsuspectingly lugged the choice Canadian liquor across the border was disclosed in Detroit yesterday as gambler Russell Trilck Sr. testified before a grand jury investigating reported corruption in Wayne County communities.

The liquor, 144 bottles, was seized in a raid April 15, 1954, on Trilck's home. Trilck paid a $3,000 fine for illegally possessing $2,000 worth of liquor. It had no United States tax stamp.

The players carried the liquor for Alfred Varga, said to be Trilck's righthand man. Detroit club officials said Varga, who accompanied the team to some games in Canada, struck up a friendship with a player and later asked players to carry the liquor for him.

"They brought the liquor in as a favor to a man they thought was a friend, a hockey fan and a rabid supporter of the team," said Red Wing general manager Jack Adams in Detroit.

Campbell commented that he knew of the situation at the time—the 1954 Stanley Cup final between the Wings and Montreal Canadiens.

Brown Captures Title

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—"I had to gamble, it was the only way to win," a tired but happy Joe Brown said today, nursing a broken right hand but holding a newly won lightweight championship as balm for his wounds.

The 30-year-old ex-carpenter from New Orleans, who fashioned quick reflexes and a stinging left jab as tools of his trade, finished with a whirlwind rally in the late rounds to gain a split decision and lift Wallace (Bud) Smith's title last night.

Brown, the target for Smith's pursuit during most of the nationally televised 15-rounder, smashed the 27-year-old Cincinnati titleholder to the floor twice in the 14th round. Smith rose from the canvas weary and dazed and a target for Brown's right in the final round.

But the finishing right never came as the 9,200 fans screamed for a knockout.

"I couldn't throw it," Brown said as he squinted through marks of battle over his eyes and on his cheekbone. "I broke the hand in the second round when I popped him on the chin," he said, recalling the right that buckled Smith's knees. "I gambled in the 14th by throwing the first right since the second and it really hurt."

It really hurt Smith, too. He slumped to the canvas with blood streaming from his mouth and nose. He rose as the count reached seven but Brown sent him sprawling again against the ropes. The bell sounded as the count reached nine with Smith on his knees.

Women's Golf Titles Set in Friday Tests

Final rounds for distaff golf titles were played on a number of area club layouts Friday with two defending champions retaining their crowns for another year.

Mrs. S. E. Gawne won over Mrs. Norman J. Fredericks 4 and 2 at Bloomfield Hills. She was the 1955 titlist.

At Oakland Hills Mrs. F. L. Thompson Jr. of Birmingham edged the perennial contender, Margaret Russell, 2 and 1, for her first club title. Mrs. Thompson has tried four times, was runnerup in 1953. She was 4-up at 11, lost next two, halved the next three to close out the match.

Hamtramck Pony Hurler Pitches No-Hit Victory

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — Jim Bradley pitched a seven-inning no-hit, no-run game to beat New Brunswick, N. J., 1-0, last night and send Hamtramck, Mich., into the championship game of the Pony (13-14 years old) League World Series.

Trucks Hurls Today

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Detroit Tigers won't be sorry to say goodbye today to Baltimore's Memorial Stadium.

The Bengals send Virgil Trucks to the hill this afternoon for their last stand of 1956 in the Orioles' home nest. But there was no hope of salvaging a creditable season record in Memorial Stadium play.

A 4-1 victory last night, a skin-of-the-teeth affair, was the third win for the Tigers at Memorial this season against nine setbacks. That record led Detroit manager Bucky Harris to comment:

"It seems as though we're a beaten ball club as soon as we walk inside that park."

It took a three-run outburst in the 9th inning, sparked by Bill Tuttle's leadoff homer, to give Detroit the decision. The blast into the leftfield stands cracked open a 1-1 pitcher's duel between Baltimore's Connie Johnson and Tiger southpaw Billy Hoeft.

The clincher came when Bob Wilson followed with a double and scored on Hoeft's triple to the right field fence. Harvey Kuenn's single scored Hoeft with the final tally.

Hoeft scattered eight Oriole hits in winning his 15th victory against 11 defeats. Johnson, who gave up only six safeties before the 9th, lost his 8th in 14 decisions.

Drayton Drug 9 in 'C' Finale

Drayton Drug, Waterford Recreation representative in the MSA Class C regional tourney at Owosso, Thursday won its way into the finals with a 3-2 win over Marlett. Drug meets the Flint Jay-Jey Bar on this afternoon's finals. Drug beat Flint on Wednesday.

Drug had to win the hard way Thursday. Trailing 1-0 at the 5th the Drayton club moved in front by a 2-0 count, then won in the 7th after Mariette had knotted the score at 2-all in the 6th.

Winning tally resulted from Hank Schell's life on a single and his subsequent score on Wimpy Johnson's long fly to right field. Wimpy also did a good job in relief, replacing Arlo Fletcher in the 3rd and giving up only one run and four hits. Drug got seven blows off Mariette's pitchers.

Opponents will come from the Tri-County playoffs still under way today.

Grand American Closes With 4 Titles at Stake

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — The 57th grand American trapshoot closes today with four championships to be decided.

In the Grand American Handicap yesterday, a 100-target feature which attracted 2,145 shooters, the greatest entry any clay target event has ever known in 56 years, an unknown popped out of nowhere to win the big event—which carries a $15,000 purse and untold thousands in bonuses.

The title went to C. W. Brown, a 46-year-old precision grinder at a Dayton General Motors plant, who broke 99 of 100 from 20 yards to get into a three-way tie, then defeated his opponents in a drama-packed shootoff.

Opposing Brown in the extra heat were construction worker Durwood L. Baumgartner of Houston, Tex., and Gallipolis, Ohio, and Paul Barker, a 33-year-old drug store clerk from Brookville, Ohio.

Up for decision today are the doubles championship, the Vandalia handicap and the high overall and all around titles.

FOR TEENAGERS — Pat and Judy McIntosh share this attractive room. Their mother made the rust, turquoise and brown spreads and curtains. Their headboard beds and other furniture are mahogany. Carpeting and walls are turquoise. The room includes twin closets on one wall. It's too bad the girls weren't home to be in the picture.

CONVENIENT KITCHEN — Mrs. McIntosh loves her little kitchen. She's sold on the fold-back stove units. She likes the wooden cupboards with their stainless steel hardware. She thinks her refrigerator-freezer is the last word in food storage. It's a pretty kitchen too, with pink spatters on the floor and pink counter tops. The beamed ceiling continues from the family room.

FORMAL LIVING ROOM — A cherry parquet floor is the unusual feature of this living room. The windows frame a pleasant view of Union Lake. One wall is paneled in mahogany, with a classic fireplace and built-in shelves and cupboards. The draperies are pale beige. Cool green walls make the room seem larger than it actually is.

Your Neighbor's House

Union Lake House Traditional in Style

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McIntosh stood firm against all the people who thought they should build a contemporary house on their lake lot. They liked the traditional style of architecture. Their new home on the east shore of Union Lake is an attractive red brick house that has a lot of what some would call "charm."

With three daughters in the almost-grown-up stage, the McIntoshes wanted a house that would not be overwhelming in a few years when all the girls are gone. Mary Ann, who's nineteen, is a sophomore at Marygrove College. The twins, sixteen-year-old Pat and Judy, have two more years of High School.

The small covered entrance porch has four square columns in front. Like the trim on the rest of the building, this is painted white. Black shutters add a definite note of contrast to the red and white house. We liked the handsome brass door knob and lock.

The living room is formal, simple and beautiful. On the hot summer's day it was invitingly cool. The most striking feature of the room is the laminated parquet cherry floor. One large and several smaller Oriental rugs are used as coverings.

The ceiling and three walls are a leafy green, while one wall is paneled in mahogany. A classic fireplace of the same wood and built-in bookcases and storage cupboards break the straight expanse of the wall. The hearth is green slate, while the fittings are brass.

One rust chair, one gold chair and a small green sofa are ample furnishings for this room. A grand piano holds the place of honor near the windows.

On the other side of the vestibule, the family room is really the heart of the house. Here, the ceiling has exposed beams, all the walls are paneled in wormy chestnut and the floor is made of red brick in a herringbone pattern. Mrs. McIntosh keeps this floor waxed and thinks it easy to care for.

Made of the same wormy chestnut as the walls, a push-through counter and hanging cupboards separate the kitchen from the family room. Across the room, next to the fireplace, there's a built-in desk and bookcases.

The windows look out on the lake, while a Dutch door, painted bright red, opens onto the terrace. Windows are curtained in bright red calico. Mrs. McIntosh, a talented seamstress, made all the curtains and draperies in the house.

Two pull-down brass lamps give adequate lighting to the table and to the reading area of the room. Most of the furniture is maple.

At one side of the red brick fireplace there is a raised corner. With pillows, this can be a place to sit. For decoration the McIntoshes have used two ships' lanterns, one with red and one with green glass.

Mrs. McIntosh's kitchen is small, efficient and attractive. The white floor has spatters of pink. The covering of the counter tops looks like mosaic, in various shades of pink. As noted above, walls and cupboards are chestnut.

Mrs. McIntosh has a regular grocery store at her finger tips in the huge refrigerator-freezer that occupies a prominent place. It's handsome as well as useful.

The utility room, off the kitchen, is blue. In addition to laundry equipment, there is the furnace, and the water heater. One corner has a large storage unit with a pink counter top.

There's a breezeway outside of the utility room, with a double garage beyond. Here also is storage space; and at present a family of five kittens.

The family bathroom is pink and blue. The wallpaper is unusually pretty. Nosegays of roses, blue forget-me-nots, violets and pinks are scattered on a pink background. The tile floor is pink, the vanity top blue. Storage space is concentrated in the small hallway leading to the room.

The bedroom shared by Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh is on the lake side of the house. The wool carpeting is tan, the walls pale pink. The curtains are striped in beige and deep red.

Mrs. McIntosh is making deep rosy red spreads of antique satin for winter use. Right now the white candlewick spreads give a cool look to the room. The furniture is bleached oak.

Because Mr. McIntosh is an enthusiastic boatsman, his hobby is catered to in the adjoining bathroom. The wallpaper in this gray and dubonnet room has a sail boat pattern on it.

Pat and Judy share a room. For its twin occupants there are twin beds, twin closets and twin chests, all in mahogany. The nylon carpeting is turquoise to match the walls. There's a turquoise and brown floral print on the rust colored spreads and draperies. It's an attractive room for two attractive teenagers.

Mary Ann's room is not completely furnished. Because she has been away from home most of the time since the house was finished, she has not chosen her draperies and bed spread. The walls and carpeting are rose, the furniture is maple. She has a door opening onto the lake terrace.

The lake is but a hop, skip and jump from the back doors of the house. Mr. McIntosh built a breakwater to protect the lawn, put out the piers and anchored his sailboat in the shallow water.

Until last year the McIntosh family lived in the house next door, but also owned their present lot. They looked and looked for another lot on which to build their new house. In the end, they came right back home and decided what they had all along was best.

It took six months for Krentler Construction Company of Detroit to build the house. Bernard Paski of the firm of Beneicke and Lorenz was the architect.

Keep Rug Clean for Better Wear

Vacuum Traffic Lanes Daily to Pick Up Dirt Before It Works In

If rugs and carpets are to wear well and stay attractive, they must be kept clean. Dirt on the surface dulls the color of the rug; embedded grit wears and cuts the fibers.

Damage from clothes moths and carpet beetles is less likely to happen when rugs are kept clean, cautions Mrs. Frieda Bennett, Home Demonstration Agent for Oakland County. The time to spray rugs against these insects is after they have been thoroughly cleaned.

If you vacuum the traffic lanes daily, you will add years to the life of your rug. A vacuuming will pick up much of the soil before it works down and becomes imbedded in the fibers. Less frequently, give the rugs longer, more thorough vacuuming.

Anything spilled on the rug should be removed at once. Blot up as much as possible with a soft cloth or absorbent tissue. Then sponge the area with a soft cloth wrung out of clear water. Or, perhaps you will need to use a mixture of a teaspoon of mild synthetic detergent to one cup luke warm water.

CIRCULAR MOTION

Use a circular motion, beginning at the outer edge and working in. Blot up the solution and rinse with clear water.

Be sure the rug is free of cleaning agent and that it isn't soaked. Water can damage the backing on the rug and it invites mildew.

Water should not be used at all on twist broadloom rugs; it takes out the twist, says Mrs. Bennett. Remove grease spots with a grease solvent or "cleaning fluid." But use cautiously if the rug has a rubber backing, because the fluid may dissolve the rubber.

Surface soil can be removed from rugs with an absorbent cleaner or shampoo, but such home cleaning does not remove embedded soil. Professional cleaners today are equipped to clean rugs thoroughly at the plant or to do on-location jobs for most wall-to-wall carpeting.

Save Shirt Cardboards

Save those cardboards that come home with shirts fresh from the laundry. They make fine "edgers," especially when you're painting baseboards. Slide one on the floor, close against the baseboard, as you go along. It will keep smudges off the floor, and can be disposed of easily.

PIN-O-MATIC — Laundry is hung without clothespins and held firmly in the strongest winds by a new clothesline that makes drying outdoors much easier and safer. Known as Pin-O-Matic, the line consists of two strands of solid steel, each covered with Bakelite vinyl plastic that imparts no strain, resists wear, moisture, mould and fungus, and is easy to clean. The two strands are twist-formed to fit together so tightly they cannot be separated by fingers alone. A small spreader device is easily slid along the line opening the strands several inches in each direction. Tucked into the opening, a corner of wash is gripped tightly between the strands as the spreader is slid farther along the line (top left photo). By merely sliding back along the line, the dried clothes are dropped from the line as fast as a basket can be moved along to catch them (top right photo). The soft texture and resilience of Bakelite vinyl plastic help keep the grip of the steel strands gentle, yet so firm that the new line has held washing even through hurricane winds, according to the manufacturer (bottom left photo). Pin-O-Matic clothesline will not stretch, sags very little even under heavy load, and returns to its original position when washing is removed, the manufacturer states. The line is available in 30, 50 and 100-foot walk lengths fitted with one, two, and four spreaders, respectively, and accompanied by all necessary hardware. Sixty and 100 foot lines with hardware to make 30 and 50 foot double length, pulley-type lines has the spreader attached to the home pulley (bottom right photo).

Home Illusions Deter Building

Gas Director Explains Misconceptions Create Buying Resistance

Three "illusions" that keep some potential customers out of the housing market are cited by Harold Massey, managing director of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Assn.

"The average man is not an economist or population statistician," Massey said, "and may let his own illusions lull him into postponing a home purchase or improvement program he could undertake now.

"For example, he may see some temporary price-cutting in a competitive situation and conclude that prices are due for a long-term slide. The fact is that construction costs continue to show every sign of moving upward, and prices for suitable land are going up still faster."

Other illusions, Massey said, are that America is overbuilding or some atomic era housing miracle is near.

BIT BY BIT

"Careful government surveys have shown that postwar housing construction, impressive as it has been, barely has kept up with household formation, to say nothing of replacement demand," he said.

"And the fact is that housing and appliance miracles of comfort and efficiency are on the market now. Future developments will come, bit by bit, very much in the present pattern."

Today's automatic gas ranges, water heaters, central and direct heating equipment, laundry dryers and refrigerators are built "not just for temporary satisfaction of consumers but for at least a generation of low-cost service and better living," he said.

Home Handymen Hurt Wood Dealers' Sales

Many lumber dealers pointed out that the home handyman has spurred erection of most of the modern shopping facilities among dealers. So many do-it-yourselfers jammed yards for short pieces of lumber and other building products that it became impossible to serve them efficiently from old-fashioned sheds.

When the lumber dealer erects a modern store specifically designed for the handyman customer, he often expands merchandise lines to include hardware and related items for "one-stop" shopping.

Various Papers in Packing Items Provide Cushion

You may believe a lot of unnecessary paper and packing materials are used by professional movers in packing household articles. But there is more than one good reason for it.

According to Aero Mayflower Transit Co., a nationally-known long-distance moving company, the various kinds of paper used provide good cushioning protection for breakables, safeguard easily-lost items, and even prevent tarnishable articles from staining.

For example, newsprint and shredded newspaper are excellent materials for padding and cushioning all breakables. They're tough yet resilient.

White tissue paper wrapping is best for fragile, easily-soiled articles.

Red tissue stands out, so it is frequently used by Mayflower for extremely small items that otherwise might be lost or thrown away when unpacking.

Soft creped wadding is the most satisfactory packing material for valuable and extremely-fragile articles.

Even a few minor adjustments will result in substantial savings in fuel. If your home is heated by oil, inspect the line filter usually located near the tank and the strainer in the fuel unit. A dirty filter should be replaced, but the strainer can be cleaned with a stiff-bristled brush dipped in kerosene.

It is wiser to have the nozzle of the burner replaced rather than to try and clean it, advise engineers for the Webster Electric Co., a leading firm in the heating field.

Statistics bathered over a 10 year period reveal that approximately 20 per cent of all reported fires—or one out of every five fires—is caused by defective flues or chimneys.

Gilt on Furnishings Used by Modern Decorators

During the long reign of Louis XIV of France, gilt was used lavishly to decorate chairs, tables and mirrors. Decorators are using it again today—not quite so generously, however—as a highlight in the popular antique white and other finishes. It gives an added touch of elegance. And the "glint of gold" idea might be carried out in draperies, carpet and various accessories.

Touring Homes Displaying New, Modern Features

Four attractively-styled model kitchens now touring the country are packed with ideas for homeowners who have caught the modernizing bug from the nationwide "Operation Home Improvement" program.

Cabinets in all four kitchens are of wood, two in natural finishes. One of these is in striped walnut, and the other is birch done in a "driftwood" finish.

The cabinets are painted white and aqua in a third kitchen and the last is done in pink and yellow.

Almost all appliances are late model built-ins, done in various colors to match or contrast with the naturally-finished or painted wood cabinets.

Making the most of imaginative kitchen planning, three of the four models feature "island" or "peninsula" units in which one or more kitchen functions are freed from the wall for striking design and greater use of space.

Paint With Light? — Sure It's Possible

Homemakers and planners now can paint with light as well as with pigments, using new pastel-tinted bulbs in any of the various types of lighting fixtures. While the ordinary white light is still advised for reading, you can achieve unusual effects with the new tinted bulbs.

The theory of Inspiration-Lighting, now becoming so popular, can be extended to include tinted bulbs in fixtures which are used to dramatize a room, a piece of furniture, a painting or an unusual texture in rug or drapery. Accent "spots" are desirable in themselves, but a tinted bulb will increase the effect.

A fresh coat of paint on a property up for sale or rent will do wonders in attracting customers. Use of a trim color will enhance it even more, at only slight extra cost.

Ohio Pair Charged in Cross Burning

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Columbus couple, charged with violating a state law prohibiting riots, will be arraigned Tuesday in connection with the burning of a cross outside the home of a Negro family here.

Clayton K. Jones, 32, and his wife, Phyllis, 30, were released from County Jail yesterday on $250 bond each after affidavits were filed against them. The charge is a misdemeanor.

Sheriff's officers said a kerosene-soaked cross was burned Aug. 14 on the lawn of the George Lawson home in an effort to force the Negro and his family to move from an otherwise all-white neighborhood.

Colors Help Sales

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. — The current San Antonio house market is such that most houses are completed and plaited before they are sold. Sales experience shows that color influences preference. It also contributes to an impression of room size and shape. Proper colors are considered by builders to be definitely a major sales tool.

REAR VIEW — This is the lake side of the Patrick McIntosh house on Union Lake. Doors open onto the terrace from the family room and from Mary Ann's room. It is but a stone's throw to the lake. Bathers can enter the house through the breezeway, into the utility room and keep the rest of the house dry. Near the water's edge a tree gives welcome shade to a picnic table.

INEXPENSIVE PLASTIC is used for making this cigarette box and matching ash tray, designed by the Delta power tool division of the Rockwell Manufacturing Co., as a one-evening project for the home workshop.

Standard channel shape Trafford plastic, ¾ by 3 by 6 inches, is used for the box. The risers are trimmed to ⅛ inch so the cigarettes will fit. A continuous chrome hinge fastens the cover to the box, being screwed to ¾-inch plastic rods at each end of the box. The channel block should be red or some other bright color. The cover is transparent.

Appliances Working on Faulty Wiring?

The year set aside for Operation Home Improvement is a good time for all of us to take a critical look at the wiring in our homes, according to Robert W. Minett, Jr., vice president of Thomas Industries Inc., manufacturers of Moe Light fixtures. A home with inadequate wiring means that none of the electrical appliances and equipment are working at top efficiency.

Minette pointed to a simple check list for the homeowner to use in spotting troubles. Published in a booklet "New step-by-step ideas to help you Live Better Electrically," the homeowner is warned to watch for the following danger signals that mean a wiring sytem is not what it should be:

1. Appliances work slowly—your toaster doesn't make crisp toast, your iron doesn't heat up as quickly as it should.
2. Fuses blow, or circuit breakers trip, too often.
3. Lighting fixtures dim when you turn on an appliance.
4. Electric helpers have to stand in line—you can't use all the appliances you want at the same time.
5. The TV picture shrinks when an appliance is turned on.
6. You have "octopus" connections at outlets, and lamp cords strung around the room to connect lamps or appliances.

Summer Cottage Has Undergone Many Changes

The summer cottage, once a dumping ground for every rickety home-furnishing leftover, has undergone remarkable upgrading.

On the way out are the loose-legged stove, the raggedy rug and the rusty dish drainer. If the owner is using the place himself, he's demanding all the conveniences of home. If he's renting it, charges usually are higher and equipment better.

Many gas utilities are providing special service for summer rental projects, and in areas beyond the mains liquefied petroleum (bottle or tank) gas is having its biggest year, it is pointed out.

Plumbing and heating contractors have been quick to tap the growing market, and in some cases are providing extra services such as handling keys and turning water and heat on and off.

Modern ranges, water heaters and clothes dryers are finding a big market in today's upgraded cottages, the gas appliance group reports. Many of the newest gas heaters have been sold for vacation homes.

Improved transportation and prosperous times are the key factors behind the upgrading. Despite much new building, few units are available.

The family that formerly used its cottage part of the summer and rented it at other times now may be there all season, with Dad willing to engage in long-distance commuting in order to get in that evening swim.

EASY TO DO—This play pen can be taken down and set up in a twinkle. The pattern gives directions for a pen slightly less than four feet square; small enough to take along in the car to keep your tot safe indoors and out. The dimensions may be extended to whatever size is preferred. The built-in ducks that slide along the top rails and the gay clown swinging from the trapeze in the side panels are traced from the pattern and painted in gay colors. The pattern number is 459 and will be mailed for 25c. The Children's Furniture Packet of patterns for five pieces designed to please older children is available for $1 postpaid. Address order to The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Bedford Hills, New York.

Climb Ladders in Wind? You're Begging Trouble

The National Safety Council's Accident Prevention Manual says, strong wind except in emergency, and then only when they are securely tied."

Someone has asked, "What constitutes a strong wind?" And the answer came up: "19 to 24 m.p.h." It is good, safe practice to lash or otherwise secure all long, straight ladders, and to provide them with safety feet, if there is any possibility of swaying or slipping.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For the Home

Hang Up Tubes of Glue

A mighty smart way to organize adhesive container tubes at the workbench is to adopt the recommendation of the Home Craftsman magazine. Instead of using the threaded pins which usually come with such containers, obtain some inexpensive cup hooks and use them as caps.

With their concave flanges, these hooks create a double seal which keeps out the air. They also enable the craftsman to hang the tubes of glue, household cement, wood putty and other items in a neat row above the workbench, within reach and quickly identifiable.

Basement Adds Value

The better the home, the more likely it is to have a basement, according to a report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics. In 1954, half the homes in the $12,000 to $15,000 class were built with basements. In the $15,000 to $20,000 range the percentage increased to 60 per cent and in the $20,000 and over class, it rose to 70 per cent.

America's first "twin-grinding" plate glass plant is located in Toledo. By grinding both sides of glass simultaneously, mammoth machines produce the most distortion-free plate ever made for mirrors, homes, schools, storefronts and offices.

Shipments of automatic gas water heaters for the first four months of 1956 were 2.7 per cent ahead of shipments for the corresponding period last year.

Hardwood plywood is being used more and more in the toy industry where its light weight, toughness, freedom from splitting and easy working are desired advantages.

A two-bathroom house should be equipped with a 40-gallon or larger gas hot water heater, according to the Coleman Heating Institute, Wichita, Kan.

Plumber Group Asks Water Conservation

The nation was called on to be extra careful during the coming summer in using its most precious natural resource, water. This request came from Robert T. Morril, president of the National Association of Plumbing Contractors. He declared, "Every day a 24-billion gallon ocean of fresh water surges through the country's plumbing systems in homes, factories and other buildings. Let's resolve to use it wisely without extravagance.

"The large amount of water available and its purity too, shouldn't be taken for granted. For safety's sake, it must be carried by a carefully designed and installed system of pipes from water main or well to the faucet. The men responsible for this are the nation's plumbing contractors. As added protection, many communities require that their work be approved by a plumbing inspector.

"Also NAPC has spent large sums on plumbing systems research at our leading universities This has helped develop safer and more efficient plumbing to carry the ever increasing quantities of water used by the public. We plan to continue and expand these research efforts."

Remodeling on Upswing

The extent of home improvement activity is indicated by a report from the Plumbing and Heating industries Bureau estimating that more than 60 per cent of all shower bath equipment now being manufactured is installed in existing homes five years old and older.

Wallpaper Monotonous?

Broad expanses of monotonous closely patterned wallpaper can best be relieved with a decoratively framed mirror. Paintings, wall sconces and statuary simply impose their designs on the paper; a mirror literally removes part of the design by reflecting the other side of the room.

Is Remodeling Worthwhile?

Decision Personal One Depending on House and Homeowner

When you come right down to it, remodeling is a very personal problem, and the ultimate decision must be made by the homeowner in the light of what he knows about himself, his home, and his neighborhood.

But, before deciding on whether or not to remodel, he owes it to himself to learn all the whys and wherefores of remodeling. It just makes sense.

A current home magazine is perfect source material on which to base this kind of decision In this issue there are no less than 44 pages loaded with remodeling ideas.

The features include a check list for remodelers, an article on how to get proper financing if you do decide to go ahead, an article on every phase of remodeling from bathroom modernization, kitchens, living areas, hallways, storage, and so forth, to major outside remodelings and additions. It even shows how to remodel with paint alone.

First things come first, of course, and the first question to be answered is, "Is remodeling worthwhile?"

Remodeling is worthwhile, says the magazine, if you're happy with your home and neighborhood, or if it would cost too much to build another house, or if you can sell at a profit after remodeling.

On the other hand, it's not worthwhile if the house isn't basically sound, or if the other factors are not in your favor.

Once having made a decision to remodel, it's vital to plan the financing carefully so the remodeling can be paid for in a way that best suits your income and assets.

You might like to start Operation Home Improvement with showers. More than 60 per cent of the shower equipment made is being installed in existing homes five years old or older, the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau estimates.

LAWN ROCKER—Ina Ray Hutton, NBC's television band leader, is pictured here with a lawn rocker that is easy to make. It has wide rockers that will not damage the grass. The full-size pattern lists all required materials, along with a series of easy-to-follow pictures which show how the parts fit together. Even the screw holes are located for you. The pattern also shows how to make a straight matching chair. To obtain the lawn rocker pattern No. 130 send 75c in coin to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, California.

Garden Shed Easy to Build

Gardeners need puttering room more than any other hobbyist.

To answer this need, some of the nation's leading architects are suggesting the construction of gardener's hideaways—a tool, work and plant potting shed—tucked back out of sight in some corner of the yard.

In a good many cases these gardener's sheds are built to match the fences, and in some cases they are barely discernible from the fences. For instance, if the fence is western red cedar solid boards, the gardener's shed is built of the identical matching material, and stained or painted to match.

These tool sheds can be low, just tall enough for a man to stand erect in, with a sloping roof which does not call attention to them. Planting of shrubs around the shed serves to help disguise it and improves its beauty.

But, whether built of popular cedar or Douglas fir, or designed in boards and batten or simple siding, the big thing is that the gardener has a handy place for his tools. He can keep the yard clutter to a minimum. He can get to any tool he needs within a few steps, and he has room to store hose, mowers, pots, fertilizers and such useful material out of sight. Some sheds are constructed with windows and a potting bench inside so the gardener can work regardless of weather.

Also, these tool sheds can be built weather tight in case it is desirable to store tubers, bulbs or other such plants during the winter months. The cost of these sheds is very small compared to the comfort and convenience.

Bomb Kills 4 in India, Thrower Escapes

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Four persons were killed and 30 injured last night in a bomb explosion on a crowded New Delhi street.

Police said an unidentified person tossed the bomb near a long line of people waiting to enter a theater. The bomb thrower escaped.

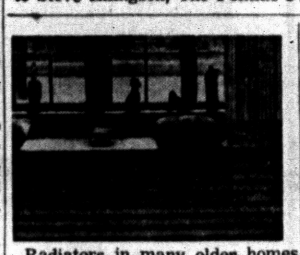

It was the third bombing incident in less than two months in the area around the city's big Jama Masjid mosque. Residents of the area include both Hindus and Moslems and police speculated the bombings represented an attempt to stir up trouble between the two groups.

Conference at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — Advance registrations indicate more than 140 persons will attend the second National Tank Truck Conference Aug. 27-30 at Michigan State University.

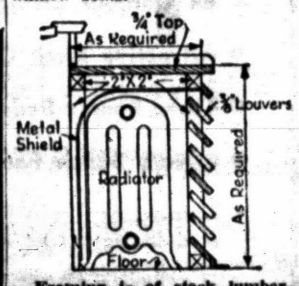

To help pay a traffic fine of $20, a 20-year-old New Zealander stole a $300 watch and pawned it for 3, in Wellington.

Radiators in many older homes were designed for utility, not beauty.

But you can add beauty and greater utility by enclosing radiators in cabinets that double as window seats.

Framing is of stock lumber, with 2x2-inch supporting members and ⅜-inch thick louvers. A metal shield is installed against the wall and over the radiator.

Window-seat radiator cover may be painted to match walls or built of same kind of lumber and finished in same manner as furniture.

Paint Your Asbestos

Although asbestos-cement siding requires no paint for preservation, it may be painted if a color change is desired. Most major paint manufacturers now market paints especially intended for use over asbestos siding and asbestos board. Ordinary house paint may be used if it is preceded by a primer recommended by an established paint manufacturer.

Choose Correct Paint

When buying white paint for the outside trim of your house, tell the dealer what material is used on the exterior. A self-cleansing type of white paint should be used only when the siding of a house is painted white.

City Issues 24 Building Permits

2 Gas Stations Planned for Pontiac, Inspector Reveals

Included in the 4-day total were permits for two new gas stations. One is to be built at 1019 Baldwin Ave. and is valued at $25,000. The second, at an estimated cost of $12,000, is planned for 23 E. Walton Blvd.

Other permits issued by Alt's department were: (The estimated cost of construction is the price listed with each project):

Install air conditioner, 696 W. Huron, $350; reshingle house at 30 Edward, $327; reshingle house at 218 S. Shirley, $172; reroof house at 67 Home, $178; re-side house at 872 Cameron, $343; re-side house, 349 Voorheis, $890; re-siding at 50 S. Jessie, $1,372.

Inefficiency Costs

A survey by a paint company shows that it costs the average do-it-yourself homeowner 25 per cent more than is necessary and his painting projects take 50 per cent longer than they should, due to inefficiency and lack of knowledge. The average householder buys about eight gallons of paint per year, but not all in gallon quantities.

A prefabricated shower cabinet, or one of the small-size showering receptor baths, is made to order for installation in the bathroom of modest proportions, lacking space for a regulation rectangular or square bathtub.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

SMARTLY STYLED HOME— This house is designed for family living in the modern manner. Open planning merges the family room, living-dining area and kitchen in one spacious sweep through the house from front to rear. Room divisions are created by the fireplace, indoor planting boxes, a snack bar and a short kitchen wall. Bedrooms are segregated for privacy. Skylights illuminate the hall, two closets and the main bathroom. The heater room has an outside entrance for service. No basement is needed. Large car port combines with patio for extra porch space. This is plan K-2AP by Charles E. Armstrong, architect, 1013½ University Drive, Fort Worth, Texas. The house covers 1788 square feet; car port and storage closet add 514 square feet. A combination of flat roof planes and a slight pitch over the house produces a distinctive modern air.

Fabrics Easily Ruined by Accumulation of Dirt

Dust and dirt in upholstery grind the fibers the same as they do in pile fabrics such as carpets and rugs. Don't wait for this damage to show. A new chair or sofa, or one which has been reupholstered, should be vacuum-cleaned from the start.

Remember, every time you give your furniture a vacuum cleaner treatment you are carrying away damaging, disfiguring dust and grit. By removing surface soil before it becomes embedded you are prolonging the life of your furniture, keeping colors brighter and newer looking.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For the Home

How to Copy Irregular Contours With Cards

How to overcome a tricky problem in making a profile template of an irregular contour such as a baseboard molding is described in the accompanying illustration which appeared in Popular Mechanics.

Simply place two or more decks of playing cards in a stack. Tap the ends against the surface to be copied.

An identical contour is reproduced on the outer edge of the stack. The contour profile is easily traced on paper.

You'll Be Glad

As soon as the paint-job itself is finished, take a little more time to thoroughly clean your brushes, spray gun or roller. Next time you use them, you'll be glad of this economic precaution — they'll be as good as new.

Man's Entitled to Mess Up Home, Mom

A man likes his home to be orderly and clean when he walks into it but feels entitled to mess it up, and he doesn't want to feel that this comfort puts a burden on the lady of the house.

The trick is to encourage him to relax by planning his den or lounging area to suit his needs. Here are some suggestions:

1. If he smokes a pipe, make sure the ashtray next to his favorite chair is large and sturdy, instead of cautioning him to watch his ashes.

2. Cocktails won't stain the end table if its surface is impervious to alcohol as well as cigarette burns, and you supply him with a coaster.

3. When he strides into the room from the garden, you won't need to remind him about dirt on his shoes if a sensible rug is on the floor. Avoid white and light colors. Choose a washable rug if possible.

4. He'll enjoy a place to put his feet, such as an ottoman. It's a good place too for a child to settle when Dad is in the mood to read fairy tales.

5. If he does have his own den, and eats in his easy chair occasionally, serve on a tray.

Detroit Area Drops in Future Building

DETROIT—Contract awards for future construction in July in the area comprised of Southern Michigan amounted to $107,810,000, Marvin J. Brokaw, district manager of F. W. Dodge Corporation, reported today. The awards were 10 per cent below July 1955.

Cumulative awards for the first seven months period totaled $795,194,000 for an all time high according to Dodge Reports; the awards were five per cent greater than the comparable 1955 period.

Individual July categories compared with July 1955 show: total building classifications at $87,590,000, down 19 per cent and, in addition, heavy engineering at $20,220,000, up 70 per cent.

Individual first-seven months totals compared with the like 1955 period show: total building classification at $656,802,000, down two per cent and, in addition, heavy engineering at $138,392,000, up 52 per cent.

Protect Your Rugs

Whenever it is possible, a carpet or rug should be turned end for end every so often, so as not to have continuous wear in any certain spot. If this is impracticable, move the furniture around so that a new "footpath" will be created. Use your vacuum cleaner regularly, to remove dust and dirt and prolong the life of your floor-coverings.

FOLD-UP STOVE—Unusual new 24-inch built-in surface cooking equipment folds back out of the way when not needed, leaving most of the countertop free as work area. Two full-sized electric cooking units, six and eight inches in diameter, are contained in each stainless steel section. Units also are available in a 48-inch section as shown. High speed heating and controlled temperature cooking are important new features.

TAKE A BARREL OF ICE TO THE PICNIC

Do's and Don'ts Will Help Dad Around the House

HOME WORKSHOP TIPS
AP Newsfeatures

DO . . . if you have or make wooden sawhorses, sand the tops smooth, a precaution that will prevent work from being marred.

DO . . . select the center of your shop as the best location for your table saw, since it will enable large-sized lumber to be handled more easily.

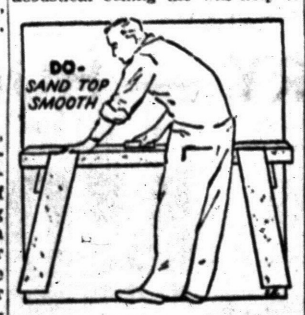

DO . . . use some sort of turntable for painting and spraying constructed objects easily and neatly.

keep noise inside a workshop, other measures (such as rubber pads under tool tables) will cut down the noise at the source.

DON'T . . . neglect to place the most frequently-used tools in the most accessible locations; the main tool panel, for instance, should be over or near the work bench.

DON'T . . . make the common mistake of buying more lumber than you need, a practice that wall and out of the way when not encourages warpage and waste.

National Lumber Manufacturers Association

That additional piece of furniture for the recreation room can be yours inexpensively by making a drum table. It is easily constructed and can be used as an end table, small coffee table or an occasional table.

Edge glue 4 pieces of 1 by 6-inch finished lumber to make the 20-inch circular top. Or you can use 1-inch hardwood plywood. Next take a pencil and a string with a 10-inch radius and draw the pattern for the drum or top. Make the box frame from a 4-foot piece of 1 by 3-inch lumber cutting 2 pieces 12 inches each and 2 pieces 10 inches each. Assemble the frame using 6-penny finishing nails and glue at the joints. Metal corner irons should be installed with wood screws inside the frame for additional strength; this assembly provides support for the legs.

Instead of the false front as shown, the handyman may wish to construct a drawer for miscellaneous small items. Substitute a ¾ by 2-inch divider for the 1 by 3-inch face board of the frame. Cut a dado ⅜-inch deep in the side pieces and insert the divider using wood glue and 4-penny finishing nails. Fasten ¾ by 1-inch drawer runners as shown using No. 4 1½-inch wood screws. An application of beeswax on the runners will prevent sticking.

Cut the legs to the taper shown. Fasten them to the box in the positions indicated by beveling one face to obtain the proper angle. Fasten the legs from the inside with wood glue and No. 5 2¼-inch screws. Trim the top of the legs flush with the frame and mount the top, centering it on the frame.

Set all exposed nails and fill the holes with wood filler. Round all sharp edges and sand the table before finishing. Stain and varnish. For a furniture finish, rub the table with pumice and linseed oil.

Vacuum-cleaning a child's stuffed toys will remove surface dirt and postpone the necessity for more drastic measures.

Make Backyard Patio in Inexpensive Way

Families with budget problems, who still want an attractive backyard patio are discovering how inexpensively they can build one of the most serviceable yet striking looking patios. First, they build a solid frame of small Douglas fir timbers, making sure they rest free of the ground on cement piers or stones. Then they cover the framework with fir 2x4s set edgewise, spaced slightly apart so water will run through.

A simple wooden screen along one or two sides, up six feet or so gives privacy and years of pleasure. Fir should be allowed to weather to a soft gray color. Trees, shrubs or tall garden flowers will also serve as a screen.

Use Her Nylons

Wise painters see to it that their paints are thoroughly mixed and free of lumps before they start using them. Pouring the paint through a discarded nylon stocking, stretched over the top of the can, will strain it of all lumps and foreign matter. Efficient — and doesn't cost a penny!

White spray-painted gourds and large leaves (even weeds will do), combined with colorful fruit in a milk glass bowl, will make a cool and beautiful table centerpiece for dining room, entrance hall or porch.

EXCELLENT PLAN—This plan shows how well the house, swimming pool, garage and outdoor living room fit a small lot. The kitchen window faces the pool which lets mother supervise the youngsters. The outdoor living room is entered through sliding glass doors from the living room. The bedrooms are completely removed from the noise and traffic of the rest of the house.

Press House of the Week Features Outdoor Living

A private swimming pool comes with this budget-priced house on a modest size lot!

Deisgnated as Design HW-14 in The House of The Week series, it demonstrates the practicability of California luxury on most any 60-foot lot.

The house is expertly planned to keep every room free from cross traffic. It contains three bedrooms, two bathrooms, spacious living room and dining room, and efficiently planned kitchen and a dramatic outdoor living room. Yet the house p r o p e r covers only 1,424 square feet.

You could build this house even on a 40-foot lot by shifting the swimming pool to the backyard and placing the garage or carport in front of the outdoor living room shown on this plan.

However, the advantages of the arrangement in HW-14 are many. The kitchen window faces the pool area to give a mother supervision of her youngsters. The service door not only offers convenience for serving refreshments outdoors, but also has access to a bathroom for showers. This bathroom, adjoining the master bedroom, makes the pool especially inviting for a quick morning plunge.

Completely screened from neighbors, the pool has a covered spectators' gallery along its side opposite the house. Blocking views from the street is a small cabana with a shower bath. This insures you against wet traffic through the house and provides dressing space.

GET SOME BIDS

How much would a swimming pool of this type cost you? Rudolph A. Matern, the architect who designed HW-14, got a lot of estimates before he completed this plan.

"Most people," he says, "feel that a private pool is beyond their pocket book, because of a lack of information. The best way to get a realistic picture is to get bids from two or more reputable pool builders in your community.

"However, if you are building a new house," Matern adds, "it is worth while to remember that the cost of your pool can be included in your mortgage so that you can pay it off over the 20 or 30 years your mortgage will run. Later it may be built with a three-year improvement loan, or you can make it a do-it-yourself project to eliminate most or all of the labor cost."

CRAWL SPACE

No basement is needed with Design HW-14. An abundance of closet space and the possibility of lengthening the garage for larger cabinets, plus the use of the stair space for closets, provide ample storage.

A small crawl space adjacent to the chimney would accommodate a modern horizontal type heating plant, or a heater could be placed in the stair space and given a separate vent.

All blueprints for this design include a separate conversion sheet for basementless construction.

Matern points out that there are various types of pools and pool kits available. There are pools of concrete block, reinforced block, poured concrete, steel shell and gunite concrete sprayed on steel rods. Then there are kits for prestressed precast concrete, plastic lined pools and fiberglas pools.

"For a professionally built pool, approximately 16 by 30 feet, including piping and filter, the cost may run between $2,500 and $3,000," he says. "A precast concrete unit, 16 by 32, complete with filtration system can be purchased for $1,300. Do-it-yourself labor can keep the installation cost close to this figure.

LIVE OUTDOORS

"A 15 by 30 pre-formed lightweight fiberglas pool kit, including filter, coping and light can be had for $1,000—another do-it-yourself project.

"One man built himself an 11 by 17 poured concrete pool for $290. This and many others have withstood many winters in the cold area of the country."

The outdoor living room of this house is an especially attractive feature. This is removed from the swimming area and the miniature sandy beach at the head of the pool. It is entered through sliding glass doors from the living room. A separate barbecue fireplace uses a flue in the same chimney as the main living room fireplace. Sheltered by the garage, this outdoor living room is a place to relax, dine al fresco, or watch the bathers from a sun shaded retreat.

Privacy indoors and outdoors is underwritten in this plan. A walk along the outside of the garage leads to the swimming pool area. But a gate at the end of this walk keeps excluded persons out. Usually when you build a swimming pool, you have to have a fence around it. Here the gate, the garage and the covered spectators gallery provide that fence without disfiguring your property.

Ease of passage is another headline in this plan. You can usher guests into the front vestibule, where two coat closets are available, take them through the foyer and directly into the living room. Or when you come home late, you can go from the front door down the hall to any bedroom or bathroom, or stop in the kitchen for a snack without passing through the living room.

If you build this house with a basement, you'll find it easy to store pool gear downstairs for the winter, because the basement stairs lead directly down from the service entrance. If you build without a basement, you'll have an ample storage closet in the place occupied by the stairs.

* * *

The solarium window in the living room is an interesting detail in both the exterior and interior design of this house. This window with its stone retainer lends charm to the front and provides a raised hearth for the fireplace with an adjoining planter box in the house.

Florida First to Color Highway Route Signs

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Florida will be the first state in the nation to standardize all of its U. S. highway route signs by color. The job of changing thousands of route marking will begin soon and will take about two years to finish. Five colors are to be used on reflectorized signs. No two routes with signs of the same color will cross. Drivers will find it easy to "follow the color."

CHOOSING A FLOOR FINISH — Weigh all factors in choosing a floor finish. Avoid disappointing results by trying various finishing materials on pieces of scrap flooring first.

Choosing Floor Finish? — Then Plan Work Ahead

Having to choose a floor finish to use in an upcoming refinishing project might make your head swim, but it will be easier if you decide how much you want to spend in terms of time, energy and dollars on application and upkeep of the finish.

The kind of floor (hard or soft wood), use to be made of the room, durability of the finish and personal taste, all must be considered. To guide you, here is a brief rundown on some of the popular finishes:

OIL

This is an oldy, very durable, won't show water spots, but is a lot of work to apply. Although it brings out the natural grain of wood, the beauty of an oil finish depends on the number of coats applied and time spent polishing.

Linseed oil—applied either cold or warm—is used. Warm oil sets faster and results in a darker color, and is heated by placing the oil container in a pan of boiling-hot water. Brush oil over the floor, let it stand a short time, and rub the floor with a soft cloth until all of the oil has been absorbed or removed. Several repeat applications are necessary, but the room may be used between times. For quicker penetration and faster drying, mix one part turpentine with three parts oil.

Linseed oil finishes ore not recommended for oak floors.

PENETRATING SEALERS

Like oil finishes, floor seals penetrate the wood, and so are highly durable and suitable for floors which get hard wear. Although they don't darken wood as much as oil, they are easy to apply. As a rule, two coats are sufficient in applying them, follow directions on the container.

VARNISH

Rather difficult to use because it must be applied very carefully, varnish produces a high-gloss, durable surface coating. Three coats are preferred and the finish should be hand-sanded lightly between coats. Varnish is slow drying and floors should be protected from dust, lint and insects while the finish dries.

SHELLAC

This glossy coating is generally considered less long-lasting than varnish, and prone to water-spot, but has advantages of quick-drying and being fairly easy to apply. At least two coats should be applied to oak floors and three are preferred for soft-wood floors. The first coat dries hard in three hours but overnight drying should be allowed between subsequent coats. Sand lightly between coats, too. Shellacked floors should be waxed frequently.

WAX

Most successful when used in combination with other floor finishes, wax is one of the simplest finishes to apply and renew. It helps to make oiled, sealed, shellacked or varnished surfaces scratch-resistant, and to protect them from dirt and grime.

Paste or liquid wax may be applied to any of the floor finishes discussed here.

Before taking on a floor-finishing project it's always a good idea to preview the results by trying out the finish of your choice on a sample piece of wood of the same species as the floor. Or else use a hidden floor area for your test. It's the only way to avoid disappointment.

Don't Worry About It

Don't worry about the ceiling, if you are converting the basement into a play room. The exposed joists and subflooring can be painted in some light color, or they can be stained. If the wood is rough, an electric sander will knock off most high spots.

Handy Jim's FIXIN-UP TIPS For the Home

A textured house siding gives the building character sometimes missing when unpatterned boards are used. Rapidly becoming a favorite because of its rich texture is Masonite Ridgeline, a durable hardboard which may be painted or stained to bring out the handsome but subdued pattern.

Ridgeline panels are four feet wide, one-quarter inch thick and up to 16 feet long. This siding also comes in strips for horizontal application. Here the widths are 12" and 16". Those desiring shingle sizes also may have this beautiful siding.

The unusual texture of this material has prompted its use by interior decorators, who have specified its application indoors as accent walls or "interest areas."

Like Tempered Presdwood, the new siding material has unusual strength, durability and ressistance to all types of weather. Its versatility is making it a favorite among builders.

Makes 'em Pretty

One long established decorator-accessory shop in the Nation's Capital does a brisk little business in selling old 50-pound lard tins as wastebaskets — glamourized by paint, of course! The cans are cut into a graceful shape and then painted by artists in the trade. One especially pretty one has a coral interior and an ebony exterior, with a medallion of red flowers, and touches of gold at the top and bottom rims. Worthy of any beautifully decorated living room or bedroom, these.

FHA-VA Deny It

Despite news stories, the Administration has given no firm sign that they expect to remove the extra 2 per cent down payment requirement on FHA-VA financed housing, even though when this was first imposed their public statements clearly labeled this as a temporary measure to be removed whenever housing starts dropped from the high rate of mid-Summer 1955.

Fences Offer Protection Against All Trespassers

If neighborhood children and pets make a shambles of your gardening efforts, it is time to take a look at sure cures.

Designers and architects have come up with many different fence patterns and styles in recent months which offer a wide selection and fit almost every need.

For instance, low fences, three to four feet tall, will keep out most pets and children as well. There is an ample supply of popular fence materials such as western red cedar and Douglas fir at most lumber yards to build your choice of fence.

Simply done, this table and bench unit is for the family that likes to have everything in place when dinner is ready. There is no scurrying around to find seats. A hammer and hand saw are the tools needed to build this unit. The pattern carries cutting diagrams for the shaped pieces so that there is no waste of time and material in putting the unit together. Pattern is No. 203 and the price is 25c. Other patterns available in packets are Lawn & Garden Furniture, Nos. 1 and 2—$1 each. Bird Houses and Feeders, 1 and 2—$1 each. Living Room Furniture—$1; and Jig-Saw Packets, 1 and 2—$1 each. Be sure to give name and number of packet to avoid error in filling your order. Any pattern not useful may be returned for refund or exchange.

You can build a dog-tight fence in a louvered style, in a basket weave, with conventional pickets or with solid boards. It is suggested that cedar posts be used for they are longer lasting, or you can use fir and dip the ends with preservatives.

Most fences of any style require a frame of 2x4s, and generally fir is suitable for this purpose. Solid boards can be cut to fit on this 2x4 frame, and louvered boards can be cut to fit between the top and bottom rail of the fence.

The basket weave design can be built of wider boards, nailed firmly to each fence post and divided into a pattern by weaving it around a narrow 1x4 fir upright located in the center of the space between the solid posts.

One thing certain, fences keep down the blood pressure of the home gardener, who dislikes seeing his choice flowers and shrubs destroyed by marauding pets or children.

Use Special Nails

Nailing. The application of hardwood flooring is a carpentering specialty. It calls for special nails. For a fine squeak-free floor, which the owner will be forever proud of, it is well worth while to insist that the floor layer get and use the right kind of nails, and plenty of them. The average floor - layer finds the screw-type nails more satisfactory, because they eliminate splitting.

Security for You:

Working for Government? — You Must Retire at 70

By RAY HENRY
AP Writer

From Y. S. of New York City: "At what age must a worker in the Federal Government retire?"

70.

From J. A. J. of Waukegan, Ill.: "I read in your column the other day that the Social Security tax would be raised after Jan 1. Then, I got into a discussion with a friend about the raise and could-not remember the exact figures. Could you list them again?"

For the worker and his boss, the increase will be ¼ of 1 cent for each, making the total tax payment 2¼ per cent for each. For a self-employed person, the increase will be ⅜ of 1 per cent for a total tax payment of 3⅜.

From Mrs. E. O. of Topeka, Kan.: "I understand that the new changes in the Social Security law made a change in the provisions covering widows who remarry. I don't have the details. Can you give them to me?"

Under the old Social Security law, a widow who remarried automatically lost all rights to payments based on the Social Security record of her first husband, but couldn't claim payments on her second husband's Social Security record if he died within a year of their marriage. This has been changed so that a remarried widow may claim payments based on her first husband's record if her second husband should die within a year of their marriage.

From J. D. of Pontiac, Mich.: "What are the requirements to be eligible for a World War I veteran's pension?"

There are three:

1. You must be permanently and totally disabled from a disability having no connection with your military service.

2. You must have served under conditions other than dishonorable for at least 90 days—some part of it within the actual World War I period.

3. You must have a yearly income of less than $1,400 if you have no dependents or $2,700 a year if you have dependents.

(You may write Ray Henry in care of this newspaper about your Social Security or retirement problem. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25 cents in coin.)

Filipino Girl Comes as Waterford Guest

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — After a twenty-two day boat trip which included stopovers in China, Japan and Hawaii, Norma Sandoval, exchange student from the Philippine Islands, arrived Thursday in Waterford.

Having flown in from San Francisco, Norma was met at Willow Run airport by the Carl Hoffman family, of 4468 Sashabaw road, with whom she will make her home for one year.

With the Hoffmans were a bevy of high school students and student council advisor, Howard Bennetts.

Norma comes from a family of ten children. The Hoffmans have two children, Jean, who like Norma is a high school senior, and Judy, a fifth grader. The young exchange student probably won't have an opportunity to notice the difference because of the variety of activities planned for her.

She is interested in all sports, dramatics, music—including rock 'n roll, to which she says her contemporaries in the Philippines clap their hands instead of dancing.

According to Jean's friends, this will be changed immediately.

Township Board Marks End of Talks; Plan Water System

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—After two years of talks, arguments, meetings and promises, the Farmington Township Board has finally taken a definite position on a water system for the "dry areas" of the township.

Judge Arthur E. Moore, employed last year by the board as special attorney to investigate the possibilities of building a water system, has pointed out that, with all the information so far made available, no further progress could be made until the board "takes a position."

For financing the proposed $1,900,000 system, he recommended joining the City of Farmington and part of Southfield Township in a water authority.

According to Moore a water authority could be established under a revenue system of financing.

In this way, revenue from the system would pay for the bonds. "The system can pay for itself," Moore stated. "The township simply acts as co-signer."

Mrs. Elise Avery, township trustee, moved with board agreement, for a joint water authority with the other municipalities, and an attempt to interest them in the program.

Lawrence Pate, of Ptae and Hirn, Detroit engineers, stated that water can be obtained from Detroit, but he added, "You must be sure you are satisfied with the area you wish to serve before we approach them."

Mrs. Phillip J. Newberg, secretary of the Citizens Water Committee, pointed out that petitions which her committee has circulated would help to give a count of potential water customers. She added that many persons in the dry areas have not been contacted.

On a motion by Floyd A. Cairns, township clerk, the board decided to secure section maps for the purpose of pin-pointing land parcels where owners have indicated a willingness to participate in the proposed water district.

The board also agreed to consult the township attorney regar sult the township attorney regard sult the township attorney regarding the termination of the receivership in Section 36.

"We have to set up a water authority by next January to take care of Kendallwood," he said. "We might as well wade in now and get our feet wet."

Dog-Beater Jailed and Fined by Judge

Charles Kelley, 53, of 580 Brook St., began a 30-day jail sentence Thursday after he was convicted of beating a dog with a hammer.

The charge was made by the owners, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Benton of Davisburg, and supported by the Oakland County Chapter of the Michigan Animal Rescue League.

League officials said Kelley tied the dog in a shack and abused it after it had allegedly killed some of his chickens.

He was also fined $100 by Judge Cecil McCallum of the Oakland County Circuit Court.

Community Celebrates

Westacres Marks 20th Year

By ELEANOR G. DUCKWITZ
Walled Lake Correspondent

WESTACRES—The anniversary celebration here tonight marks great progress from the year 1936 and its depression conditions.

Most young couples were struggling then to stretch the paycheck from week to week and when those incomes under a certain level heard they might apply for one of 150 homes being constructed, there was a rush for applications.

An opportunity to buy a home with an acre of ground, beach privileges and no down payment was offered. Carefully screened applicants were to pay only $30 a month for six months. Then if they proved to be good citizens, they would be issued land contracts.

All houses would be paid for in either 20 or 30 years, depending on the applicants' age.

In April, 1936, the first residents moved in. By late July and August, most homes were completed and the community was on its first legs.

It was almost unbelievable to those early comens. After 10 days of 100 degree heat in small city apartments, life in the country was near to heaven.

Undaunted by acres of sand burrs, treeless yards and roads that were to become quagmires in rainy seasons, the residents pitched in to work towards a model community.

Some decided that country life was not for them and moved before the land contracts were issued, but most stayed.

We cleared gardens, planted trees and shrubs, carefully coaxed grass to grow, and looked forward to raising families in healthful and beautiful environment.

But 43 of the 150 originals still remain, with no regrets of the move made 20 years ago.

Our achievements include well kept lawns and gardens with trees towering over our homes, many remodeled to twice their original size. Two lifeguards guard our beach. Baseball teams occupy our boys, and dances entertain our teenagers. Boy and Girl Scout troops flourish.

Many of the men now hold executive positions or head departments, although they were in low-pay capacities then. A number own their own business. Many have served on township or county boards, committees, and the Walled Lake Board of Education.

Here was started the community church that later became the Orchard Lake Presbyterian Church, and more recently ground was broken for St. Mark's Lutheran Church, whose group met in the Westacres clubhouse for over a year.

Following the 43 original families, other families have come, and done their share, too, keeping West Acres a fine place to live.

This year finds more than half of the homes paid for. Because of this the association incorporated last year as a non-profit corporation to take over shuch things as water and park maintenance when Oakland Housing relinquishes control.

Residents have maintained a fire department, the beach and the clubhouse since the start. Roads went to the county and were paved many years ago.

Woman Jailed for 'Lost' Money

Bank Worker Allowed People to Cash Checks Without Funds

CHICAGO (AP) — A 49-year-old woman bookkeeping supervisor at a Chicago bank where she had been employed 33 years was held in jail today in connection with the disappearance of nearly a half million dollars of the bank's funds.

But, federal officials said, Miss Bessie E. Roth, apparently had received none of the $467,228 which they said had disappeared from the Lawndale National Bank over a three-year period.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Frank J. McGarr said Miss Roth was responsible for the loss because she had, starting three years ago, allowed known customers to cash postdated "holdout" checks, McGarr said, explaining these were checks the customers did not have money in their accounts to cover.

"She didn't get a cent of the money—she apparently just did favors for others," McGarr said. "She was just a prim lady with an altruistic heart."

McGarr said Miss Roth would approve the postdated and holdout checks for payment and then would "hold out" the checks so they would not be debited against the customers' accounts.

He said bank officials discovered the loss a week ago while Miss Roth was on vacation. Bank officials said the loss was covered by insraunce.

McGarr said Miss Roth would be charged with "improperly and illegally honoring overdrafts" on a national bank.

Officials said Miss Roth lived with her parents in a one-story bungalow row dwelling built a generation ago. As a bookkeeping supervisor she received $280 a month. Her father, Emil, 72, is a retired milk wagon driver. Her mother, Emma, has been bedridden since she suffered a stroke three years ago.

Miss Roth, a slender and severely trim woman, with graying black hair, devoid of make-up and jewelry, covered her face with a handkerchief as she was taken from a car into the FBI's office yesterday. Later she was taken to a cell in the women's lockup at the central police station.

Dondero to Talk at Ceremonies Honoring Lincoln

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Ceremonies honoring the 100th anniversary of Abraham Lincoln's only known Michigan political speech will be held Monday at Kalamazoo.

On Aug. 27, 1856, Lincoln, who was to become president in 1861, appeared at Kalamazoo to make a campaign speech for John Fremont in Bronson Park.

Representatives of the Michigan Historical Commission, Detroit and Kalamazoo historical societies will commemorate the anniversary.

Speakers will include Rep. George Dondero (R-Mich.); George May, research consultant with the historical commission, and Fred Williams, Michigan State University history professor.

The historical commission will erect a marker on the spot.

Televising of Conventions Proves to Be Costly Flop

NEW YORK (AP) — Although it's very early to mention 1960, something will have to be done about television coverage of the national political conventions in that year.

Despite the fact the major networks performed an extraordinary feat in covering the Democrats in Chicago and the Republicans in San Francisco, this year, the widely advertised two week spectacular was a television flop on these scores:

1. Financial-wise, the networks took a shellacking. Coverage cost them a minimum of 17 million dollars, of which sponsors footed about 14 millions. This does not take into account the regular programs which were pre-empted.

2. Audience-wise, the networks apparently failed to compensate in prestige for what it cost in cash. A thorough compilation of estimated viewers will not be available for some time. But a Trendex rating for the first three nights of the Democratic Convention shows the audience proportionately behind the estimated five-night audience of the 1952 Democratic Convention.

3. Political-wise, it seems doubtful if either the Democrats or Republicans succeeded in winning any friends or influencing many people via television. Astute politicians of both camps, trying to tailor their convention proceedings to TV, failed to recognize that television is basically show business. And a basic maxim of show business is that it's not enough just to be on; you have to be hot when you're on.

When Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler publicly rapped CBS for failure to show an entire party film on opening night, he sounded a depressing note.

Why must a television network be committed to covering every minute of a political convention?

It should not be, and it's reasonably certain that in 1960 it will not be.

The proceedings of many days at both conventions were worthy of little more than a couple of hours of audience viewing.

It's possible that the political tensions in 1960 will be such that the conventions will be indicated. Whatever the situation then, however, television journalism should treat it as the TV journalists view its merits—without political harrassment.

With TV production costs rising steadily, the networks may have to tell the major parties: "We'll have to do it our way—or not at all."

Boy's Mother Guardian of TV Quiz Fortune

Daniel Leads in Texas Vote

Senator Has Big Edge Over Ralph Yarborough for Governor's Chair

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Texas voters went to the polls today to say whether they want Sen. Price Daniel of Liberty or Ralph Yarborough, attorney, Austin, as governor for the next two years.

Daniel had a lead of 165,000 votes in the first Democratic primary July 28, but failed to gain a majority of all votes cast, so the run off was needed against Yarborough, who ran second.

The Democratic nomination for governor is usually equal to election in Texas. Polls opened at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p.m.

Daniel, a Democratic U.S. senator, supported Republican Dwight Eisenhower for President in 1952. So did a number of prominent Texans, who turned away from Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic nominee, when Stevenson said he felt the tidelands belong to the federal government. Eisenhower said he felt the oil-rich disputed area should go to the states. The tidelands are not an issue this year, having gone to the states.

Daniel, who has two years to serve as junior senator, was elected in 1952 as the dual nominee of the Democrats and the Republicans. The law permitting this cross-filing has since been repealed.

Daniel has been rated as a conservative.

Yarborough, who twice failed in the primary against Gov. Allan Shivers, has stressed party loyalty in his race. He is identified with the liberal or party-loyalist faction.

He has come out flatly for Democratic candidates Stevenson and Kefauver in this year's presidential election.

Daniel said he would support the Democratic nominees unless some thing in their stand or platform forces him to do otherwise.

JUNIOR EDITORS

Niagara Falls

At Niagara Falls, the second largest waterfall in the world, the Niagara River plunges — at the rate of 50,000 tons of water a minute — into a gorge on the American-Canadian border.

The Falls are in two parts, divided by a rocky, wooded island. On the Canadian side of the island are Horseshoe Falls, 2,950 feet wide and 158 feet high. The American falls are 167 feet high, and about 1,400 feet wide.

Here is a picture of the Falls for your collection. Use your crayons to color it, and then paste it down on cardboard. Cut out the parts carefully, and cut the dotted slot in the river and the slits below the steamer. Slip the center tab (X) into the slot.
