

Reuther Proposes Binding Arbitration in Talks

FUTILE BATTLE — Firemen spray water on roof of a home in Montecito, Calif., a Santa Barbara suburb, in a vain effort to save the expensive structure from flames. A raging brush fire swept through the area during the night.

Would End Strike Threat if GM Accepts

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. quickly rejected today a United Auto Workers proposal to submit noneconomic differences to binding arbitration.

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers union, asserting that only noneconomic issues now divide it and General Motors Corp. from a new contract, proposed binding arbitration today of their differences.

Walter P. Reuther, union president, said if the company accepted arbitration the union would withdraw its threat of a nationwide strike against GM at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

There was no immediate response from the company. GM rejected similar union proposals in the past.

Reuther proposed three-man arbitration, with the company naming one, the union one, and these two selecting a third.

Reuther proposed the arbitrators rule on these unresolved issues — grievance procedures, union representation, production quotas, physical and working conditions.

He also proposed that the board "render its judgment and frame its award on the basis of what it considers to be sound, reasonable and fair to the corporation and the workers alike based upon accepted, responsible and enlightened management practices in comparable industries."

Reuther said the proposal was made because of "our deep conviction that we are obligated to do everything consistent with reason, honor and our responsibilities to the General Motors workers to avoid a strike and the consequences to the national economy that would flow from a GM strike" that would idle 354,000 in 129 plants in 71 cities.

The union disclosed, shortly that it did not plan to close GM 100 per cent if it strikes. The reason is that the UAW doesn't want to cripple Ford and Chrysler where it has just won new three-year pacts.

KEEP WORKING
UAW workers in GM parts plants were told to keep working, even though the union orders a national strike against GM.

GM not only makes parts for itself but supplies Ford and Chrysler and American Motors Corp. with some of their requirements.

Reuther disclosed last night that the union is asking GM to guarantee 40 hours pay for anyone called on to report for a workweek.

At Chrysler, the UAW gained earlier retirement and improvements in pensions and other fringe benefits. The union estimated the package worth 54 cents an hour over the next three years.

At Ford it added on top of these a Christmas bonus, possible in 1965 and ranging from $25 to $100.

"We want to give General Motors, the largest and richest corporation in the world, the opportunity of doing more," Reuther said with respect to the demand for 40 hours pay "where anyone is called in to work and not provided with a full week's work."

He said this would make "a la mode" what he describes as the cake won at Chrysler and "frosted" at Ford.

66 Homes Said Destroyed by California Brush Blaze

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — A huge brush fire that caused mass midnight evacuations has destroyed 66 homes, U. S. Forest Service spokesman Jack Parkinson reported after a helicopter survey this morning.

In addition, District Ranger Warren Barnes said he thinks 40 other homes have been destroyed in what is known as the Painted Cave area four miles northwest of Santa Barbara.

The giant blaze quieted this morning as winds dropped.

But 1,900 fire fighters in hills ringing this picturesque Spanish-style community girded for fresh onslaughts expected when gusts return this afternoon.

Fanned by a 50 mile an hour wind, flames raced last night into the exclusive suburb of Montecito, location of many large estates. Residents fled in nightclothes, carrying possessions. Some cars towed trailers carrying the family horses to safety.

SECOND FIRE
A second fire broke out early today to the west and the two burned together forming one giant 16,000-acre blaze.

Latest threat was to the community of new homes north of Goleta, another Santa Barbara suburb. Flames licked to within 1,000 yards. Firemen would not estimate when control might come.

Officials said as many as 5,000 persons have been forced to evacuate homes temporarily, some twice as flames ranged back and forth. The blaze broke out Tuesday afternoon.

Burned in the early morning outbreak, along with homes, were a dormitory and another building at Westmont College. The Mt. Calvary Monastery, an Episcopal retreat, was surrounded and singed but not seriously damaged.

Fire swept last night to within yards of Lotus Land, the estate of retired opera singer Mme. Ghana Walska. It damaged buildings on the famed San Ysidro Ranch where the late actor Ronald Colman lived and where the late President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy spent part of their honeymoon.

The Red Cross housed an estimated 1,400 evacuees in hotels, motels, recreation centers, the American Legion Hall and Santa Barbara High School. Many residents, not threatened by the flames, offered to take in evacuees.

In the northern part of the state, fire officials were cautiously optimistic that they were winning battles against four big blazes.

The fire was the worst of five great blazes burning in California. Four others in the northern part of the state have burned 73,000 acres and 225 buildings, including farm structures.

Plan to Yank Europe Units Raises Hot Political Issue

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The politically sensitive issue of reducing U.S. military forces in Europe rose again today with disclosure that the Pentagon is studying plans to bring home 10 Air Force combat squadrons.

Nothing has been said officially about the studies, not only because they are in the tentative stage, but because of both their domestic implications in an election year and their possible influence on allies who are being pressed to upgrade their own forces.

However, the authoritative Journal of the Armed Forces reported that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has the Joint Chiefs of Staff studying a plan for withdrawing six tactical fighter squadrons and four reconnaissance squadrons from the U.S. Air Forces in Europe (USAFE).

It carried out, the cuts would amount to 33 per cent of USAFE's jet fighter squadrons, based in England and West Germany, and 50 per cent of its reconnaissance squadrons which are deployed in England, France and West Germany.

Throughout last winter, when disclosures of impending cuts were being reported, the U.S. government sought to soft-pedal the reports and, in some cases, denied them outright. The new studies likewise have not been officially acknowledged.

The Journal's assistant editor, Daniel Z. Henkin, wrote that Secretary of State Dean Rusk was reported to be opposing Pentagon plans for reducing air strength in Europe because "such action would have an adverse effect on the North Atlantic Alliance."

1st State Visit for Humphrey Since Contab

DETROIT (UPI) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey's four-city campaign swing through Michigan tomorrow will be his first appearance in the state since he received the Democratic nomination for vice president last month.

The Minnesota Democrat will be accompanied for the entire trip by Democratic gubernatorial candidate Neil Stabler. The four Michigan cities to be visited are Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Bay City and Flint.

Humphrey's full speaking schedule follows:

11 a.m. — Arrives from New York at Grand Rapids Airport where he will give a press conference and be honored at a party reception.

12:30 p.m. — Speaks at a public rally in Campus Square, Grand Rapids.

3:00 p.m. — Arrives at Western Michigan University's field house in Kalamazoo for an appearance sponsored by the WMU senior class.

EDUCATION KICKOFF — Dr. Don O. Tatroe (center), vice chairman of the education unit of the 1964 Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign, reviewed the education quota at today's kickoff breakfast with A. A. Reed, superintendent of Lake Orion Schools, and Mrs. Norman Bartell, campaign worker from the Waterford Township school system. Tatroe, superintendent of Waterford Schools, announced that this year's quota would be 5 per cent higher than in 1963 to meet expanded needs of UP agencies.

Williams quoted Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, as telling him that $25,000 of this was channeled into the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund through Baker, who since has resigned as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

Jordan told newsmen after a closed meeting of the committee that he hoped to start public hearings next week, but he said this will depend on how quickly staff investigators "can get the facts."

Cool Temperatures Stay Into Saturday
Temperatures will remain on the cool side at least through Saturday, according to the weatherman.

A low of 40 to 45 is expected tonight, followed by a high tomorrow of 60 to 65.

Skies will clear this evening and be sunny tomorrow. Partly cloudy is the forecast for Saturday in the area.

Today in Pontiac, winds are westerly at 20 to 40 miles per hour. Sixty-two was the lowest temperature recorded previous to 8 a.m. At 2 p.m., the mercury stood at 58.

Stiffer penalties for persons convicted of driving under the influence of liquor.

A tightening of the point system, calling for re-examination of motorists after they collect nine points and automatic suspension of licenses after 12 points.

Physical examinations by private physicians for motorists when they reach 65.

Seek Records in Baker Case

Unit to Ask Johnson to See Tax Returns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee agreed today to ask President Johnson for access to the income tax returns of Philadelphia contractor Matthew McCloskey and others figuring in the reopened Bobby Baker investigation.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., also disclosed that the committee's chief investigator, former FBI agent William E. Meahan, has interviewed McCloskey and said McCloskey gave assurance that he would cooperate in the inquiry.

Reopening of the politically explosive Baker case was ordered by the Senate two weeks ago after Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., charged McCloskey made a $35,000 kickback on the District of Columbia Stadium contract.

Williams quoted Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance agent, as telling him that $25,000 of this was channeled into the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund through Baker, who since has resigned as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority.

News Flash

WASHINGTON (AP) — The threat of a nationwide rail strike by firemen and engineers was postponed for 60 days today as President Johnson created an emergency board to look into the labor dispute. (Earlier story, page C-8.)

See Story, Page A-15

The 219-member commission worked for four months before adopting a series of 26 recommendations yesterday in a day-long session at Lansing.

An aide said Romney will make a decision within two weeks on which proposals to include in the budget being prepared for the 1965 legislature.

Robert P. Birggs, executive vice president of Consumers Powers Co. and commission chairman, said priority was given to only one recommendation.

This was for the addition of 300 state police troopers at an estimated cost of $2.4 million a year.

DRAW FIRE
Some of the recommendations probably will draw fire. The generally economy-minded legislature just this year approved the addition of 100 more troopers on the recommendation of Romney.

Another major money item proposed was a beefed-up driver education program and an increase in state aid to local schools for the program from $25 to $40 a pupil.

This would cost more than $3 million a year. It was proposed to raise this by doubling driver license fees, with the cost of renewals upped from $2.50 to $5.

Previously rejected by the legislature was another proposal, to raise the age at which a minor may receive an unrestricted license from 16 to 17 years of age.

Another previously sought and rejected proposal called for compulsory annual or semi-annual inspection of motor vehicles. It was estimated this would cost $1.5 million the first year and then would pay for itself through fees.

The commission report said Michigan is one of the few states where the privilege of driving a motor vehicle may be approved by "an uncountable number of hundreds of local law enforcement agencies" which are "controlled by variable standards and ethics."

OTHER SUGGESTIONS
Other items urged as part of the "get tough" program included:

—Stepped up use of mechanical devices, such as radar, by police.

—Stiffer penalties for persons convicted of driving under the influence of liquor.

A tightening of the point system, calling for re-examination of motorists after they collect nine points and automatic suspension of licenses after 12 points.

Physical examinations by private physicians for motorists when they reach 65.

Adjournment Rides on Mansfield Substitute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today on a new compromise legislative reapportionment proposal with hopes for early adjournment of Congress riding on the outcome.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield offered the bill, nonbinding "sense of the Congress" proposal as a substitute for a stronger one which he previously sponsored jointly with Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

In a surprise and dramatic move aimed at ending the long stalemate over the pending $3.3-billion foreign aid bill, Mansfield abandoned the Dirksen proposal and appealed to the Senate to support his substitute to help "bring down the curtain on the 88th Congress."

Dirksen disowned the compromise, but offered no objection when Mansfield won unanimous consent for a midafternoon roll call vote today.

EARLIER VOTE

Under the agreement an earlier test vote likely will come on a motion to table and thus kill the Mansfield amendment.

Dirksen reserved the right to offer such a motion.

Off and on since Aug. 12, Democratic liberals have been conducting a filibuster against the Dirksen-Mansfield amendment designed to force the federal courts to delay Supreme Court-ordered reapportionment of both houses of state legislatures on a population basis.

It is pending as a proposed rider to the foreign aid bill.

Dirksen had revised his proposal Tuesday in the hope of attracting additional support and weakening the filibuster.

QUICK ACCEPTANCE

Mansfield's substitute won immediate acceptance from liberal Democrats, Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and William Proxmire, D-Wis.

The compromise would say "it is the sense of the Congress" that federal district courts, in carrying out Supreme Court orders, should:

1. Allow the legislatures the length of time provided for a regular session, plus 30 days, but not exceeding six months in all, to apportion representation in accordance with the Supreme Court ruling.
2. Permit the next election of members of state legislatures to be conducted in accordance with the state law in effect last Sunday.
3. Make the reapportionment themselves if the states fail to do so within the time granted for action.

Johnson Gets Report on Assassination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren presented to President Johnson today the report of his special commission on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The commission members filed into the Cabinet Room at the White House and Warren handed Johnson the four-inch-thick volume.

The massive report is to be made public Sunday night.

Johnson appointed the special commission a week after Kennedy's slaying last November and told it to reach the heart of the tragic event "as far as it can be discovered."

The President directed the commission "to satisfy itself that the truth is known as far as it can be discovered, and to report its findings and conclusions to him, to the American people, and to the world."

In discharging this duty, the seven have interrogated hundreds of witnesses in secret hearings, studied thousands of investigation reports, traced Oswald's movements abroad, rechecked the killing and compiled some 20 volumes of testimony, depositions and exhibits.

Safety engineers will admit that even when belted you can sustain serious injury in a high-speed crash. A belt won't prevent all the buffeting force of the inside of the vehicle and the slashing you can get from flying glass.

But if it doesn't break, the belt will keep you inside, where statistics show you have a better chance of survival.

There are many forces which can quickly change you from an innocent bystander to a victim if you're ejected from the vehicle.

You can be crushed by your own or another car, or just simply smash your head on the pavement.

Although it's a difficult figure to pin down with scientific exactness, safety experts and other professional observers believe that seat belts, if used properly, would save some 30 per cent of the rising toll of highway victims.

If this figure is reasonably correct, at least 50 persons who died on Oakland County highways last year might still be alive.

Excessive speed accounted for 41 per cent of the traffic deaths in Michigan last year. But too many people think of excessive speed in the 90 mph range.

Excessive speed can be in the 10 mph range if it puts you in the hospital.

City Unit in State Youth Work Program

BIRMINGHAM — Four young men — unemployed high school graduates or dropouts — soon will be learning the ropes in Birmingham's Forestry and Parks Department.

Their nine months of on-the-job study will be a part of the Michigan Youth Work Training Program established by the State Legislature during its regular 1964 session.

Birmingham is one of two Oakland County communities to establish the programs for public service training — Oak Park also has signed a contract with the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESOC).

Eight other communities and three school districts in the state have similar plans in various stages of completion.

The legislature appropriated $150,000 to finance the program for one year on an experimental basis, with a 50-50 cost split in each community.

COST TO CITY

Cost to the city will be $1,440, according to assistant city manager R. S. Kenning, coordinator of the local program.

The city and the state will share equally the cost of the $20 weekly allowance paid to youth enrolled in the program.

Trainees must be at least 18 years old and have a 10th grade education. Applicants can apply at the MESOC office in Royal Oak, located at 737 S. Washington.

They will be screened there and sent to the Forestry and Parks Department for final selection. Birmingham residents are to be given priority.

PROGRAM DATES

The program is expected to start Oct. 1 and end June 30, 1965.

Kenning said the trainees will be doing various jobs within the department and will rotate regularly. Their course of study will be directed by two department employees with forestry degrees.

Two of the youths will concentrate on tree trimming and the other two on golf course maintenance.

After the training program, each youth will stay in Birmingham "only if there is an opening and we decide to keep him. We're not committed," Kenning said.

Link to Past Is Gone With Stanley Ring

HOLLYWOOD—The last time I saw Stanley Ring, he was putting around his sheet music store on Cherokee Avenue just around the corner from the busy boulevard. It was like entering another era to visit his place. On the walls, in crates and piled in cardboard boxes in every corner was sheet music of a gentler, more melodic time.

THOMAS RING

Every song of your childhood and thousands more could be found in Ring's store. He claimed there were 450,000 pieces of sheet music, and from the look of the place, it seemed true.

PROUD OF COLLECTION

He was proud of his collection. On my first visit there, we went across the street to Musso and Frank's and he had apple pie and coffee and talked about his life. He told how he had started in New York as a singing newboy and graduated into Broadway shows and vaudeville. When vaudeville died, he sought work that would keep him close to music. That's how he happened to open his store in Los Angeles. Business was good, but he lost everything in a fire in 1943. His insurance man stripped out on him.

Ring decided on a gambit to get back in business. Although he knew nothing about the horses, he placed $2 longshot bets with bookies all over town — it was easier to do in these days. He netted $400, enough to open the Cherokee Avenue store. "I've turned a profit ever since," he said proudly.

UNIQUE SONGS

I wrote a story for the AP about his unique collection — some of his songs dated to the early 1800s and he had opera scores from the 1700s. When I dropped by his store a few weeks later, he was elated. "Come and see these," he said, and I followed him up the rickety stairs to the loft. On his desk were stacks of envelopes from all over the United States. Most of the letters carried the same refrain: "Could you send me a copy of a song I loved as a child. The words went something like this—"

Ring, a short, cherry man who resembled Chester Conklin, was in the process of answering the mail. One man with a fluent memory for old songs had listed 50 he wanted, and Ring had rounded them all up from his collection.

"My, it will take me a long time to answer all of them," he remarked. "I'm going into the hospital for an operation next week, but when I get back, I'll take care of them."

MONTH AGO

That was a month ago. This week I stopped by Ring's sheet music store on one of my tours of the boulevard. The windows, full of song sheets featuring Al Jolson, Nora Bayes and other bygone stars, were the same as when he opened the store 21 years ago.

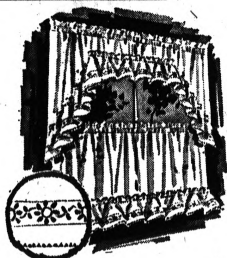

But the door was closed and on it was a seal by a county officer. Hanging inside was a sign in fine pencil: "Closed. Mr. Ring has passed away."

One of the elderly ladies who helped Mr. Ring in the store told me she didn't know what would happen to the music. He claimed to have had a filing system, but it seemed to be largely in his head. All he needed was a lyric or a fragment of melody and he would pick out the proper sheet from a dusty pile.

And now that knowledge is lost, and with it a link to America's melodic past.

Batra, Iraq, was the scene of many of the adventures of Sinbad the Sailor.

News Briefs From Washington

LBJ, New Foreign Policy Advisers Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson met Wednesday with 13 of his new foreign policy advisers and said they symbolize "the tradition of nonpartisan service on matters of war and peace."

Johnson gave the name Peace Panel to the group, which has 16 members in all. He named it earlier this month to advise the Pentagon, State Department and White House on foreign policy and defense matters. At that time he said members would be available to give individual advice but would not function as a group.

Panel members include former Secretary of State Dean Acheson, former Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett, Gen. Omar N. Bradley and former Director Allen W. Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency.

"You gentlemen symbolize the tradition which goes back for a quarter of a century — the tradition of nonpartisan service on matters of war and peace," Johnson said.

SERVE UNDER ALL

"I see Democrats who have served in Republican administrations, Republicans who have served with Democratic administrations and a number of men who have held office under both parties."

The President added that "party affiliations really don't matter very much compared to the common concern and the great operating principles of our American foreign policy."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. George Meader, R-Mich., has accused Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee of planning to whitewash the Justice Department instead of investigate it.

After the committee directed the investigation Tuesday over Celler's objection, the chairman issued a statement that the probe was intended only to air charges against the department by Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa.

Hoffa has accused the department of harassing him and spying on him during his trial last year on jury-tampering charges. He was convicted and the case is now on appeal. Meader, noting that Celler plans to head the investigating committee of six Democrats and four Republicans, urged Celler to name another committee member as chairman.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The space agency reports that a jamming of the solar paddles has halted operations of the Nimbus weather satellite after it had taken more than 27,000 pictures.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said Wednesday that the jamming prevented the paddles from rotating toward the sun and this, in turn, halted use of solar power to recharge batteries that operated Nimbus' electronic equipment.

The anticipated life of the satellite, launched Aug. 28, had been six months.

NASA reported that the Syncom 3 communications satellite, hovering above the Pacific in preparation for televising the Olympic Games to the United States from Japan, comes within five seconds of matching exactly the earth's rotational speed.

Seven stars appeared in the first national flag of the Confederate States of America.

A YMCA Membership Key to Better Living

A task force of 90 adult members of the Pontiac YMCA has launched the organization's annual membership drive.

Its objective is recruitment of 150 new adult members and renewal of old memberships that number 700.

Canvassers are headed by John Wilson, assisted by six division chairmen. The drive will extend to Oct. 1, when a victory banquet is planned.

The concept of the "Y" has changed vastly from the days when it was principally a facility designed for the small fry of the Nation. Today, programs are variously packaged to offer something of value to every member of the family. To that end, adult membership fees range from $25 to $125.

Area residents may well be proud of the expanded and rejuvenated YMCA building, and the unsurpassed recreational and health-building advantages it provides.

Whether youth or adult, you'll be doing yourself a favor by becoming a "Y" member and availing yourself of its benefits. We suggest that you lend an attentive ear when called on by one of the volunteer membership solicitors.

Red China's Rulers Buck Historic Trend

The Sphinx has for ages held first place in the inscrutable league. But secure in the runner-up position he has been changing ruling hierarchies of China's teeming millions. The epitome became manifest in the relentless and sinister grip of the Red Chinese party as it worked its machinations behind the bamboo curtain.

But as was the case with Russia, whose governmental maneuvers appear as an open book by comparison, China seems headed for an internal change in top ideological posture.

In the long history of totalitarian governmental regimes, if of long duration, such shifts are predestined.

The passage of time gradually vitiates the power and supremacy of the clique of starry-eyed, merciless idealists who initially seized state control. A younger, more practical and less radical group moves into the control room. The flexible views of the new guard clash with the rigidity of the old.

Far East experts believe Red China is approaching the philosophical crossroads. Those of the ruling hierarchy, in their late 60s and early 70s, are fighting to hold the line against "modern revisionism." It was this de-Stalinization concept that enabled NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV to roll with Russian times and maintain his party control. It was this break with Communist tradition that led to the split between Moscow and Peking.

There have been no serious threats as yet to the sway of Red China's Mao Tse-tung, though defection and subsequent liquidation in the party's second echelon have not been unknown.

But the portraits of history are plain to see. Mao and his followers are adamant in their dedication to Marxist philosophy. In order to preserve it they will inevitably have recourse to purges of the opposition—the device that STALIN so ruthlessly employed.

Since world communism has finally shown its fatal economic weaknesses—unless shored up by short-sighted democracies—the internal affairs of China as they disintegrate and become more open to observation will likely parade many jolting revelations.

MAN is made of dust and water—his name is mud.

"To err is human"—and so is trying to rationalize an error or lie out of it.

Barry, LBJ Try to Sound Prudent

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It should be assumed that the two major political parties would pick presidential candidates who are prudent, responsible and restrained and that this can be taken for granted.

But both President Johnson and Sen. Barry Goldwater are spending a lot of time assuring the country that they are prudent, indeed, without dwelling on that particular word.

Johnson in this campaign, one of the strangest of the century and about as nonintellectual as any in memory, has been stressing his sense of restraint and responsibility.

So has Goldwater, who calls himself a "peace monger."

The campaign took this turn because Goldwater apparently thinks it necessary to protest how different he is from how he says repeatedly he is being pictured.

LBJ'S GOOD POLITICS
Johnson apparently thinks it good politics to take advantage of Goldwater's self-consciousness.

The President keeps emphasizing the need for restraint and responsibility in the presidency without mentioning by name the Goldwater picture that Goldwater wants to get rid of.

Oddly enough, Goldwater can't blame the Democrats alone for painting this picture, although they're doing their best to keep it in public view.

Last month, at a unity meeting with other Republicans, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, Goldwater said: "The No. 1 problem facing the nation in this election... is the totally wrong view our opponents will try to din into the minds of every American voter—that the election of a Republican president will somehow lead to war."

PLENTY OF ALLEGATIONS
"We will hear over and over again until November such words as 'impulsive,' 'trigger-happy,' 'imprudent,' 'hip-shooting,' and the like."

"I wonder if the really 'impulsive' and 'imprudent' president isn't the one who is so indecisive and vacillating that he has no policy at all—with the result that potential aggressors are prompted to move because they know we have no policy at all."

But a reporter said to Goldwater: "Up to now it's mainly been other Republicans who have been using these words against you. Do you feel that you have satisfied these Republicans on these points?"

Goldwater replied: "Oh, during the course of a primary campaign many of us use language we later wish we hadn't. I recognize it, however, as a major problem on my part."

SAVS JOHNSON 'IMPULSIVE'

Then he accused Johnson of being "impulsive" by telling naval commanders, when American ships were attacked in the Gulf of Tonkin, "to use any weapons necessary."

Johnson, now that he has decided to campaign in earnest, may be abandoning his rather oblique attempt to contrast himself with Goldwater by talking of his own "restraint."

Tuesday at Atlantic City Johnson told his audience: "You know it takes a man who loves his country to build a house instead of a raving, ranting demagogue who wants to tear one down."

David Lawrence Says:

Campaign Clouding Real Issues

WASHINGTON — Presidential campaigns are, unfortunately, based on the assumption that the people are "too dumb to understand," as Harry Hopkins put it.

But nothing could be farther from a true analysis of the reaction of the people in any political campaign.

Who, upon careful reflection, can be satisfied with the kind of campaign that is being conducted today?

Is it right to impugn the integrity of either candidate?

Granted that no man in politics has been without sin in the many "conflicts of interest" that arise, can it be implied that either of the men running for the presidency today would not be conscious of the difference between right and wrong in the conduct of the highest office in the land?

Why is it necessary to go back into the lives of the candidates and seek out something adverse that can be charged by using the device of "guilt by association?"

What possible difference does it make how many "crackpots" either man has among his followers?

What possible cause is served by calling one man an "extremist?"

Why is it necessary in politics to assume that a candidate's integrity must be attacked by innuendo or inference or by his mental qualities must be portrayed as defective by his opponent on major issues?

Why, for instance, have the politicians felt they had to depict Barry Goldwater as a "trigger-happy" man who would deliberately or unwittingly get us into a nuclear war?

Why is it assumed that a sincere man like the Republican nominee is trying to form a white man's party and wouldn't enforce the civil rights law because he voted against it on the ground that he considered it unconstitutional?

The candidates themselves are not free from blame. They continually predict that the other fellow's policies will bring disaster, while their own will bring utopia.

There have been presidential campaigns which have concentrated on fundamental issues. Both candidates in the current campaign are trying to cover too much ground and are not clearly bringing out the merits or demerits of particular issues—not only on the international but on the national side, particularly as they bear on the economic life of this country.

There are lots of issues that can be explained in simple form by both candidates so that the voter will really be able to make his own judgment as to whether this is or is not a time to change administrations.

It isn't too late to clean up the campaign and produce a high-minded discussion of the real issues to be faced by the American people when they make a choice in the coming election.

Bob Considine Says:

Treasury of Treachery in Report on Red Sports

NEW YORK — Radio Free Europe researchers don't bother often about sports behind the Iron Curtain. But when they do, brother, they come up with a treasury of treachery.

In a report titled "The Rewards of Shamateurism," RFE tears the mask off communism's star athletes, and "amateur" methods.

An Olympic victory by a slave state athlete will bring to that winner more money, a bigger job, better housing, and other appearances and privileges of a public hero. A bad performance at Tokyo next month could, on the other hand, drop the athlete into a bottomless well of anonymity.

The Olympic oath that is taken at Tokyo will be the birds, there are no Olympic-sized amateurs behind the Curtain.

Australian Davis Cup players, good Communist athletes were caught while very young and trained and honed recently for their moment on the victors' stand.

METHOD OF PAYING

The favorite method of paying them is to give them commissions in the armed forces or good positions with the police. They have no duties except to continue their endless training.

They are granted all the leaves they need to compete in national and international events. Every medal they come home with is negotiable.

Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's famed distance runner, rose to the rank of lieutenant colonel during his ten years of competition. Now, as trainer of his country's Olympic team, he is building a large summer home in Prague.

In Hungary, the Olympic-bound athlete works a four-hour day at his ostensible job, then no work at all for several months before the Games.

PAY HIKE

When a Bulgarian is named a Master of Sport, he gets a ten per cent pay hike, 15 per cent if he makes Merited Master of Sport.

He gets a national record he is given a check for up to $70, along with his medal. A European record brings a $500 bonus, an Olympic or world record enriches him her by $2,100.

A top Polish athlete can just about get any kind of housing he wishes, in that housing-short country.

But woe betide the losers.

No athlete from a Communist country is trusted. The top man of every team is not its coach or its star. The security fellow is boss. His job (and his neck is at stake) is to bring them all home, preferably with medals.

But there have been scores of defections in the past, and more of these "amateurs" will fly the coop in Tokyo, even though they'll have to take a pay cut.

Predicts Cost Cuts in Auto Plants

By RAY CROMLEY
DETROIT (NEA) — Future recessions could be milder as the result of new techniques now being adopted by important segments of U.S. industry. The automobile companies provide the best example.

The large contract gains now being won by the United Auto Workers may speed up introduction of these techniques which are designed to cut costs.

Among the new developments are:

Long-range forecasting by computer may take some hums out of capital expansion.

Such forecasting is now in its infancy. But automobile makers have developed some guidelines—population growth, population shifts from cities to suburbs, family income, income, a number of babies born, size of families and the age mixture of the population—which seem to affect the number of cars to be sold in a given year "X" years hence.

Extensive use of building-block machines, which can be put together and taken apart like Tinkertoys as requirements change, means quick change-

Urges Voters to Approve School Millage Renewal

October 2nd each parent who is a property owner and a registered voter in the Pontiac school district should go to the polls to vote "yes" for the 8.75 millage renewal. With no increase in the millage, we are getting a bargain.

Our beautiful new schools and additions built in the past ten years are substantial evidence that this money has been carefully spent.

Wouldn't it be a fine expression of appreciation to the present Board of Education and all the educators who worked diligently in years past if we voted "yes" as a token of thanks for the fine school system in which our children are being taught.

Two Reply to Letter on Sen. Goldwater

Having spent time in Arizona and rubbed elbows with the Goldwaters many times, I agree that we should elect Barry our next President. We haven't anything to lose and it would be interesting. Barry did at one time enter college, but could not finish. Rare judgment on his part.

Goldwater has done some things for the Negroes and Indians in Arizona. I think that he gave about ten or 12 of them a job. Goldwater did put up a bare fight to block the wage scale from 90 cents to one dollar an hour.

Goldwater is another human being. No worse, no better, and no different. He will do the same as all the others before him.

I'll vote for him if I have idle time and nothing else to do on election day.

G. W. PETERMAN
MILFORD

Will Katherine Sorenson explain how Barry Goldwater can stamp out crime? Are we to believe that our present city, township, county, state and national authorities are not doing their best? What more can Goldwater do, if he is in the White House?

The Pontiac Press editors announce that their editorial column will support Goldwater. Perhaps they can clarify this topic too.

M. M.

Writer Offers Bit of Political 'Geometry'

Our current President when he was stumping for reelection said: "I am a nation of lovers and..." This gives the substance for a statement that could eliminate any chance of Reuther striking the Ford plants.

Walter Reuther loves Lyndon Baines Johnson. Henry Ford II loves Johnson.

The "geometrical gem" proves people equal to the same thing are equal to each other.

This means Walter should kiss Henry, and Henry should kiss Walter because they love each other according to Johnson. This means Walter's dues-paying phalanges should keep marching as they keep Fords rolling off the production lines.

Suggests Book to Better Inform Voters

Too few Americans know the answer to this question: Are left-wing Democrats and right-wing Republicans conspiring with their financial interests abroad to make sure your tax dollars continue to pad their pockets?

I doubt that many of us are intelligent enough to vote or talk politics until we have read the proven facts in "A Choice, Not an Echo."

Some say the book is anti-Johnson. Some say it is anti-Goldwater. I say, let the voter decide—after he has read it from cover to cover.

From Laborite Wilson

Britons Tasting U.S. Political Hoopla

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign News Analyst
LONDON—Britons, whose respect for tradition includes a generally restrained approach to politics, are getting an introduction to political hoopla, American style.

Labor Party leader Harold Wilson gave the country a taste of it at Wembley at the party's national rally kicking off a campaign which will end in general elections Oct. 15.

It could have been the Democrats in Atlantic City or the Republicans in San Francisco. Spectator seats rose tier on tier to the cavernous roof of huge Empire Pool.

Spotlights played upon the stage where African dancers performed and Humphrey Lytton's band played a blues number entitled "Thirteen Wasted Years."

IN THE EYE

In the eye of this political hurricane stood the round and slightly crumpled figure of Wilson who hopes after the elections to take over the prime minister's job from his Conservative opponent Sir Alec Douglas Home.

What this country needs, he boomed over the auditorium loudspeaker system, is a government of men with "fire in their bellies and humanity in their hearts."

Remarkable London's Sunday Observer "... an unashamed imitation of an American convention."

SOME DIFFERENCES

Wilson's speech it described as "presidential style." But if British newspapers could compare the rally and Wilson's style to U.S. politics, there remain important differences.

In Britain, a candidate "stands" for office. He does not "run."

And those two words alone mark a sharp contrast.

For by tradition, the British candidate avoids personal slurs against his opponent.

Sir Alec set the stage for the Conservative campaign by saying:

"I shall not indulge in personalities, nor do I challenge in any way the sincerity of the Socialist leaders."

WITHOUT PRICES

But then the dig: "But their manifesto is a menu without prices ..."

British political analysts say it was Winston Churchill's violation of this unwritten rule of fair play which helped cost him the election in 1945.

Churchill had just led his country through its greatest war. But he indulged in personal attacks against Labor leaders Clement (now Earl) Attlee and Ernest Bevin.

Churchill, the hero, lost and was replaced by Attlee at the Potsdam Conference of Allied war leaders.

SOME COMMENT

How Britons are to react to Wilson's new campaign techniques will have to await the final proof of election day. Probing the new technique, this was the comment of the Financial Times of London:

"Labor has stood for many things in the past but never quite gaiety."

Comparing it again to the American style, the newspaper concluded:

"President Johnson looks his worst when attempting to echo the Kennedy style, and a song called 'Hello, Harold' could also have a hollow sound."

In the famous battle of Trafalgar, Admiral Lord Nelson was in command of 27 ships.

Nab Convict After Holding Wife, Sheriff

RHINELANDER, Wis. (UPI)—A cross-state automobile ride in which police said a convict held his wife and a county sheriff hostage at gunpoint ended last night when the convict was captured deep in rain-soaked Nicolet National Forest.

John Soulier, 33, an inmate of the Waupun State Prison, was being held today at Forest County Jail at Cranston, Wis. Dist. Atty. Leo Lowmik said he would seek a rape charge against the fugitive.

Deputy Elmer Landeck, in temporary charge of the Oneida County Sheriff's Office here, said Sheriff Alfred F. (Butch) Sommers, 39, was transporting Soulier from Rhinelander to Waupun when he said Soulier overpowered the sheriff in the car and took his gun.

Soulier then took over the wheel of the patrol car and drove more than 125 miles to Wabeno in southern forest country.

Police said he stopped at a Wabeno home, left the sheriff handcuffed in the car, and raped a woman in the home. He drove to the Cozy Corner Cafe, where his estranged wife, Gloria, worked and forced her at gun point into the car.

He abandoned the car when it bogged down in mud.

Kiwanis Club Sets Yearly Peanut Sale

Dressed in their Kiddies Day hats and aprons, members of the Dryden-Waterford Kiwanis Club will conduct their annual peanut sale Friday throughout Waterford Township.

Proceeds from the sale will be earmarked for youth programs in the community.

Among the many locations where Kiwanians will be selling bags of peanuts will be the intersections of Dixie and Walton, Sashabaw and Walton, Dixie and Telegraph and the M59 Plaza.

Goods, Cash Stolen

From Area Drugstore

Merchandise valued at $56 plus $109 in cash were stolen from a Bloomfield Hills drugstore yesterday, according to police.

They said the break-in at Wilson's Drug Store, 71 W. Long Lake, occurred between 4 and 6 a.m. Entry to the building was gained by breaking the glass in a rear door.

The 19th Century Genesee Road in New York State from Albany to Buffalo followed much of the old Mohawk Trail made famous by Indians.

Citizen Views on Renewal Will Be Aired

ROCHESTER — The federal government is prepared to shell out more than half a million dollars to help Rochester revamp 30 acres of the village.

Lighting Issue in Committee

Public Hearing Held for Christian Hills

AVON TOWNSHIP — The question of whether Christian Hills subdivision should have street lighting, and what kind, is back in the hands of subdivision committees today.

A public hearing before the Township Board last night moved the issue a bit closer to settlement, but settled very little.

Last night's session was called to get residents' reaction to a petition asking for both perimeter and interior lighting in the subdivision.

After some confusion as to what action could be taken at the hearing, township attorney L. Rex Bebout informed the board that any official action would have to be within the framework of the petition.

SHOW OF HANDS

Supervisor Cyril E. Miller asked for a show of hands on the question of perimeter lighting as opposed to both perimeter and interior lighting in order to get an idea of the unofficial preference of those at the hearing.

The proposal for perimeter lighting only received a slight majority, and a subsequent show of hands indicated that the majority would prefer gas lighting to electric lighting.

A voice vote then defeated the petition for both perimeter and interior lighting with no opposition, and the problem was handed back to subdivision committees for resolution of the gas versus electric question.

State Gives Scholarships

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Two June graduates of Avondale High School have been awarded college scholarships through the new State of Michigan Scholarship Program.

The recipients are Linda Teasdale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Teasdale of 296 Cherryland, and Michael Dobosinski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dobosinski of 3845 Brimfield.

The new scholarship program was signed into law by Gov. Romney in May, and provides for three first-year scholarships to residents of each legislative district in the state.

The scholarships are renewable upon successful completion of the first year's study.

Graduating high school seniors and college undergraduates are eligible for the scholarships, which provide a maximum of $800 per year, or the amount of tuition and fees for a year.

Johnson Leading in Lapeer Polling

LAPEER (UPI) — President Johnson continues to hold his 2-1 lead over Republican Barry Goldwater in the latest poll results issued by the First National Bank here.

The ban is conducting the informal poll in the lobby.

In the latest poll results, Johnson had 66 per cent of the vote and Goldwater 34 per cent. That was the same percentage as a month ago when results were released.

Rep. Neil Staebler, Democratic candidate for governor, picked up 8 percentage points on Gov. George Romney. But Staebler had only 34 per cent of the vote and Romney had 64 per cent, the same as Johnson.

Activities Slated for 4-H Week

Observation of National 4-H Club Week next week in Oakland County will take a variety of forms.

There will be out-of-town visitors, banquets and general recognition of boys and girls who have carried out their 4-H projects, and of the leaders who have helped them reach their goals.

Dean and Gen Vellette, twin boys who are 4-H'ers in Antrim County, will spend the week in Oakland as guests of 4-H families.

Duane Austin of Oakhill Club, John Wilson of East Orion Club, Allen Bess of Ortonville Club and Dennis Sommers of Flying Fingers Club will serve as hosts.

The 4-H Service Club is paying the travel expenses for the twins.

VISIT SCHOOLS

While here the pair from Antrim will visit the schools of their host members comparing classes in these more urban surroundings with those at home.

There will be a trip into Detroit, too, and a chance to share with Dean and Gene the modern wonders that are taking place in the Motor City.

GUEST SPEAKER

Speaker will be Duane Girbach, Livingston County agricultural agent, who formerly worked as 4-H Club agent in his home county.

Tuesday will be banquet night for junior leaders. The West Pontiac Kiwanis Club is sponsoring this event.

Older 4-H members, many of them also members of the 4-H Service Club, will take the limelight. The banquet will be held in the First Methodist Church in Pontiac, at 6:30 p.m.

Representing the Oakland County Board of Supervisors at the affair will be extension com-

Ken Smith, a junior leader in the county a few years ago, is slated to give a brief talk.

Serving as master of ceremonies will be William Irish, Ro-Hi Club leader. Special award presentations will be made by county 4-H agents Jack Worthington and Ruth Montrey.

Other special guests will include the Antrim County brothers, West Pontiac Kiwanis members and the three New York trip winners, Nancy Mills, Oakhill Club; Jerree Bachelor, Hi-Lo Club; and Barbara Junod, Skill and Craft Club — all junior leaders.

The Adult Leader banquet will be another 4-H Club Week highlight.

ALL INVITED

It will be Oct. 1 at 7 p.m. in the Waterford CAI Building on Williams Lake Road. All adult 4-H leaders in the county have been invited.

Speaker of the evening will be Gary Eddington, who recently visited Thailand as an International Farm Youth representative.

Now a student at Michigan State University, he spent six months in Thailand. He will share his experiences and show colored slides of the people and their customs.

Other special features will include presentation of leader awards, club awards and recognition of honorary 4-H members.

Two Major Projects

Holly Schools to Seek Citizen Aid

HOLLY — Citizens soon will be called upon to help the Holly area school board with two major projects — both aimed at curbing the problems of rapid enrollment growth.

Eight are to be named at a special meeting Monday to work on a long-range study involving four districts.

Concerned with more immediate goals is the Holly Area Citizens Advisory Committee which will consider school building needs to make recommendations on a possible spring bond-issue election.

With a 185-student increase over last year, the district now has an enrollment of 2,785. It is short four elementary classrooms.

School officials had expected an enrollment jump of about 120 students, or 150 at the most, according to Supt. George Garver. They thought they would be short two rooms.

FALL REGISTRATION

However, fall registrations brought 1,607 into the elementary grades, compared to 1,481 last year. There are 458 students in the seventh and eighth grades, where there were 420 last year. High school enrollment is up from 700 to 720.

The elementary classroom shortage hit the district despite use of the new Patterson School, a 14-room unit which opened in January.

Two of the four extra classes are being held in the old two-room Washington Street School, another in a special education room which will not be needed this year and the fourth in the high school.

Registration Hours Set at Keego City Office

KEEGO HARBOR — The city office will be open two evenings and two Saturdays to accept voter registrations for the Nov. 3 election.

Hours will be 10:30 a. m.-2:30 p. m. this Saturday and Oct. 3. The office at 2965 Orchard Lake will be open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. next Wednesday and again Oct. 5, the deadline for voting.

Troy Parents Hint: No Buses, No Taxes

tailed school bus transportation hinted Tuesday that the millage proposal up for voter action Oct. 2 might suffer unless the buses go back on their routes.

Two-thirds of a 75-member delegation of parents opposed the board of education's action in cutting transportation for students living less than 1 1/2 miles from school.

Local school districts are reimbursed by the state for about 75 per cent of their bus expenses for children living more than 1 1/2 miles from school, but lose $8 for every child they transport within the designated limit.

Busing within the limit was curtailed this year due to the board's deficit budget.

A mother of four preschoolers and one kindergarten, M. S. Orville Atwell of 1108 Birchwood, told the board that "as it stands now in our neighborhood, either we get our buses or you don't get your tax."

An Oct. 2 election will decide the fate of a 5-mill proposal for operating funds over the next five years, as well as a $4-million bond issue for buildings and sites.

As far as the board is concerned, the millage proposal and the school bus issue are not related.

A progress report on limestone paths being constructed for walking students was presented to the board, indicating that a footbridge and walkways on Vanderpool and a path on Trombley have been completed.

The next project, a path on the south side of Square Lake from Houghton to Niles School, will be started when weather permits, according to the report.

Walkways from Colebrook to Trombley and on the north side of Square Lake Road from Canmore to Elmhor are under construction now.

NEWS OF THE AREA is scheduled for completion in two weeks.

"That should handle the high school situation for several years," Garver said. "The greatest need currently is for elementary classrooms."

School district architects, Lane and Associates of Ann Arbor, have warned board members they should be thinking in terms of $17 a square foot for elementary construction costs. The comparable figure for Patterson was $12.50.

The architects noted that their fees as well as those for mechanical and electrical contractors have gone up substantially.

The board has been studying a tentative building program outline — the next step is appointment of the citizens committee, Garver said.

FURTHER DISCUSSION

Old 97 Survivor Dies at Age of 85

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI)—"On a cold frosty morning in the month of September,
"When the clouds were hanging low,
"Ninety-seven pulled out of the Washington Station
"Like an arrow shot from a bow."
Those are the opening line of one of the most popular of all vaudeville songs at the turn of the century, "The Wreck of the Old 97."

The last survivor of that storied train wreck, Jennings J. Dunlap, died at the Hermitage Methodist Home here Tuesday at the age of 85.

Dunlap was a mail clerk on the Southern Railway's speedy Washington-to-Atlanta express on the fateful morning of Sept. 27, 1903.

Old 97 left Washington on time, but fell behind schedule at Monroe, Va. The engineer got his orders: Get her in on time.

"He looked at his black and greasy fireman
"And said shovel a little more coal,
"For when we cross that White Oak Mountain,
"You'll see Old 97 roll."

The youngsters who gathered along the trestles to wave greetings and watch the train go by had never seen Old 97 go so fast. The engineer did not even cut back the throttle on the tricky stretch between Lynchburg and Danville.

"It's a mighty rough road from Lynchburg
"to Danville,
"And Lima it's a three-mile grade,
"It was on this grade that he lost his average,
"And you see what a jump he made."

At White Oak Mountain near Danville, Old 97 came roaring down the grade toward a curve just before the tracks crossed the 75-foot Cherrystone Creek Trestle.

"They were going down the grade making 90
"miles an hour.
"When the whistle broke into a scream;
"He was found in the wreck with his hand on
"the throttle
"And scalded to death with the steam."

The train plunged into the Cherrystone Creek Ravine, killing nine men and fatally injuring two others. Only Dunlap managed to crawl from the wreckage unhurt.

NOT SCARED
"It happened too fast to be scared," he once said. "In a split second, the train was falling and there were splinters everywhere."

The wreck did not discourage Dunlap. Soon afterward, he was back working for the railroad, sorting mail on the new 97 from Washington to Atlanta. He retired in 1956.

"Now ladies, you must take warning from this time on.
"Never speak harsh words to your true loving husbands,
"For they may leave you and never return.
"Did she ever pull in? No, she never pulled in.
"Old 97 never pulled in;
"For hours and hours, the switchman was watching,
"For the train that never pulled in."

Computer Designed to Cut Teacher Load

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Board of Education has found a new use for automation — It's going to help teachers teach.

The board has developed a multimillion-dollar computer system designed to reduce teachers' clerical loads and also provide within minutes the history of any of its 550,000 students for administrators and researchers.

School officials say the four-year-old project, known as Total Information Service, is the most advanced of its kind in the United States. It is scheduled to go into use by September 1965, but last week the board began extensive test programs at 20 schools.

The basic purpose of the system "is to be a clearing house for all information on the students," Stanley R. Patton, Data processing director for the school board, said Wednesday.

OVERRIDING OBJECT

"But we have one overriding object," he said, "and that's to reduce the clerical work on the 25,000 teachers in the system." "Year after year the clerical work has grown to the point that teachers have to spend more and more of their time on things other than teaching. We'll never get enough well-qualified teachers," Patton said, "so we'll have to utilize the ones we have."

The computer will be fed, among other things, information on pupils' biographies, classroom grades, test scores and discipline and health records. Upon request, teachers would be able to get the complete history of a new pupil and thus be aware of any special needs he or she might have. Educators and curriculum planners would have invaluable data at their fingertips.

"Suppose a researcher wanted to find out the average of sixth grade students," Patton said. "With this computer we can give a complete environmental picture of the students, their schools, how big their classrooms are, who their teachers are, how much support they've been given with visual aid teaching methods, and so on. "The purpose of the computer is to have a built-in answer to any question that could be asked."

Dr. Phillip Lewis, special projects director for the school board, said the computer is "going to get into a lot of areas that never have been touched."

The Total Information Service, he said, can even be used for guidance purposes.

The board now offers more than 50,000 teaching materials, "but how is a teacher going to find the one she needs?" Lewis asked.

"The computer could be the answer."

Polls Still Favor Johnson

Two Factors Worry California Dems About Election

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second in a series of dispatches by United Press International reporters on political trends around the nation, airwaves before the presidential election.)

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — By all odds, President Johnson should win California going away.

He's got nearly everything going for him in the nation's newly crowned most populous state.

For instance, there's registration. The final figures aren't in yet, but nearly eight million persons are expected to be registered to vote on Nov. 3. And nearly five million of those will be Democrats.

The polls reflect Johnson's lead. They show him ahead of Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater by amounts ranging generally around 60-65, more or less.

But a couple of factors are worrying the state's Democrats, including Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the president's campaign chief.

One is this: The last Democrat to carry California was Harry S. Truman back in 1948. This state was his biggest win on the way to reelection. And then he barely made it.

PENCIL-THIN WIN
With nearly four million votes cast, he got the state's electoral votes by a pencil-thin 17,865 margin.

Says Air Pollution Serious in State

DETROIT (AP) — "We are rapidly approaching the time when Michigan's uncontrolled air pollution will cease to be merely a nuisance," Rep. Neil Stabler said Wednesday.

"Unless something is done—and done quickly—air pollution will become a serious health hazard as well as a tremendous economic loss," Stabler, Democratic candidate for governor, said in a Detroit speech. He charged Michigan is one of very few industrial states which do not have state-wide pollution control programs. He attacked the Republican state administration's failure to enact such a law.

Since then, California has gone for Republicans—Dwight D. Eisenhower twice and Richard M. Nixon, whose home town used to be Whittier, Calif., once.

Nixon edged John F. Kennedy by 55,825 votes in a tally that 1 week to count. The absentee votes won it for the former vice president.

Another problem for Johnson's California lieutenants is that the president's voting strength is untied while Goldwater has already run in this state once this year.

IMPORTANT WIN

The Arizona conservative scored his most important win—one that carried him to the mid-July GOP National Convention in San Francisco in a winning mood — in California's June GOP presidential primary election.

The Democrats fell behind an uncommitted delegation headed by Brown, who easily turned aside a challenge by Los Angeles Mayor Samuel Yorty. Actually, the delegation was 100 per cent for Johnson.

But Goldwater met New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller in a head-to-head clash for California's 56 GOP convention votes. And he won—just barely.

14 OUT OF 58

Although the GOP standard-bearer carried only 14 of the state's 58 counties, they were the big ones. With more than two million GOP votes cast, Goldwater's victory margin was 68,350.

Two other fights share the spotlight with the Johnson-Goldwater battle for California's 40 electoral votes — and both could affect the outcome.

U.S. Sen. Pierre Salinger, former press secretary to two presidents, is running hard for election to a full six-year term in the Senate.

He was appointed to the five-month unexpired term of the late Clair Engle, after winning the Democratic nomination in the primary.

HIS CHALLENGER

His Republican challenger is George Murphy, former actor, now businessman from populous Southern California. Murphy, a conservative Republican, is campaigning primarily on charges that Salinger is a carpetbagger for returning to the state suddenly to run for the Senate after moving away.

The polls show Salinger with a substantial margin — but his lead is narrowing.

Another major issue is a proposed constitutional amendment to forbid state and local legislative bodies from taking away a property owner's "absolute discretion" to dispose of his real estate in any fashion, to any one.

The amendment, proposition 14 on the Nov. 3 ballot, would nullify substantial parts of the state's open housing laws, including one approved by the 1963 legislature.

EVERY MEANS

Gov. Brown has been fighting the initiative with every means at his command. At the Democratic National Convention, he tried to enlist the aid of the national party. And he wants Johnson to take a stand.

Goldwater, on the other hand, takes the position that the initiative is a California problem—a matter that doesn't concern a man from a neighboring state.

The question is this: How much, if any, so-called white backlash vote will go to Goldwater as a result of the housing initiative.

LBJ, Wife Honor Congress Retirees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twenty-two retiring members of Congress, including one from Michigan, were the guests of President and Mrs. Johnson at a steak dinner in the White House Wednesday night.

Among the guests was Rep. Harold M. Ryan of Detroit's Ryan was beaten by Rep. Lucien Nedzi for the Democratic nomination in the new district in the Sept. 1 primary election.

Senators Battle: Who Gets Whose Desk?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The political realignment of Sen. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina has caused an upheaval in the Senate — over the question of who has whose desk.

When Thurmond moved from the Democratic to the Republican side of the Senate chamber, the word was that he wanted to take his desk with him but that the Democrats balked.

Thurmond reportedly was under the impression that the desk had been used by John C. Calhoun, a 19th-century South Carolina statesman who was noted as a champion of states' rights.

Now it turns out that not Thurmond, but Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., has been sitting at the Calhoun desk.

FATHER'S DESK

Long's aides report that he asked for the desk not because Calhoun had used it but because it is the desk that his late father, Huey (the Kingfish) Long, had occupied while a senator before his assassination in 1935.

Before Russell Long got the desk, it had been used by Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, R-Mass. Long put in his bid for it after Lodge was defeated for reelection in 1952 by the late President John F. Kennedy.

Sen. Olin D. Johnston, D-S.C., said today that Long now has agreed to let him have the Calhoun desk. The way was cleared for this, Johnston said, when Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., said he would let Long have his desk.

Why did Long want Anderson's desk? Because it was the desk used by Long's mother when she was appointed to succeed Huey.

Long is the only senator whose father and mother both served in the Senate and now he will have used the desks each of them had.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., who had a back corner desk, has moved to the position that Thurmond formerly occupied on the Democratic side. The desk Nelson had has been moved to the Republican side where Thurmond now sits.

Car Mishap Hurts Youth

Donald A. Schemers, 17, of 3142 Mapledale, Commerce Township, is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital following an auto accident yesterday afternoon in Commerce Township.

Sheriff's deputies reported that a vehicle driven by Terry P. Morgan, 17, 3147 Massena, Commerce Township, collided with Schemers' auto at the intersection of Commerce and S. Commerce.

Schemers suffered facial lacerations in the mishap.

The 8-hour-day for all its employees was adopted by the U.S. government on June 19, 1912.

'Urged Sharing Secrets of A-Bomb With Reds'

LONDON (AP) — Danish nuclear physicist Niels Bohr tried to get Prime Minister Winston Churchill to tell the Russians about the atom bomb in 1944, and Churchill considered having him confined.

This is told by Margaret Gowing in a book, "Britain and Atomic Energy, 1939-45," published today. It is the first installment of the official history of the United Kingdom Atomic Energy Project.

Mrs. Gowing, the archivist and historian of the Atomic Energy Authority, writes that Bohr, one of the key figures in the history of nuclear physics, became convinced that the Russians should be told what was going on in the world of the atomic bomb so they could be brought into the system of international control.

In 1944 he saw Churchill. The book says Sir Winston retained "a very disagreeable memory of the interview."

Bohr said they "did not speak the same language."

AIRS DOUBTS

Churchill put his doubts to Lord Cherwell, his scientific adviser:

"Professor Bohr . . . is in close correspondence with a Russian professor, an old friend of his in Russia. It seems to me Bohr ought to be confined or at any rate made to see he is very near the edge of mortal crimes," the book quotes Churchill as saying.

Cherwell and other scientists came to Bohr's defense, saying he had done nothing improper and his letters had been agreed upon by British intelligence. The matter was dropped.

Bohr died in 1962 at the age of 77. He had escaped from Nazi-occupied Denmark to England in October 1943.

FIRST GOVERNMENT

Mrs. Gowing also says that the British government was the first government in the world to be told by scientists that an atomic bomb was possible.

She reports: In the spring of 1940 two refugee scientists, Prof. Otto Frisch, now at Cambridge, and Prof. Rudolf Peierls, now at Oxford, drew up a memorandum at Birmingham University that an atom bomb was feasible and indicated how it could be built. Frisch then was 35 and Peierls was 32.

Out of the memorandum came the government's Maud Committee, headed by Sir James Thomson, which in 1940-41 did extensive research into the problems of construction of the bomb.

Mrs. Gowing writes: "Without the work of the Maud Committee, the clarity of its analysis, its synthesis of theory and practical programming, its tone of urgency, the Second World War might well have ended before an atomic bomb was dropped — certainly the world would have been different."

Devises New Method of Presidential Poll

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Restaurateur Gus Badale, a political buff, came up with a different idea yesterday for conducting the presidential political poll. He gave customers a choice of a Johnson salad or a Goldwater salad on a lunch menu. His first customer was David Reed, a candidate for Jackson County prosecutor on the Republican ticket. He picked the Goldwater salad.

Texarkana Won't Soon Forget Triumphant JFK Visit

(EDITOR'S NOTE — President Johnson returns tomorrow to the scene of a John F. Kennedy campaign triumph four years ago to dedicate a memorial to the late president. An Associated Press writer who covered Kennedy's appearance that day, recalls the visit.)

TEXARKANA, Ark.-Tex. (AP) — Four years ago this month, a handsome young Massachusetts senator rode down State Line Avenue in this Arkansas-Texas border city, 189 miles and three short years from Dallas, Tex.

Thousands of people swirled around his car in the fierce late summer sun. Parents held up young children to see. Teen-aged girls fought for the glass from which he drank.

John F. Kennedy, standing with one foot in Arkansas and the other in Texas, said: "I have come down here to ask your help in rebuilding your state and our nation."

Friday, on the spot where Kennedy stood for that address in the 1960 presidential campaign, President Johnson will dedicate a memorial to him.

AT TWILIGHT

Johnson will speak at twilight. Many of the people from Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma who will hear him will remember the bright day he will commemorate.

In Texarkana, the date Sept. 13, likely will not be forgotten.

It was the day of the opening of the Four States Fair. The fair parade always draws a large crowd in this city of 50,000.

With John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, in the parade, the crowd swelled to fantastic numbers.

Rights Unit, Police to Team in Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Civil Rights Commission and Detroit Police Department said Wednesday they have agreed to independently investigate, then jointly consider findings, in cases of alleged violation of civil rights by police officers.

When the commission and department cannot agree on disciplinary action, remedy and future prevention in cases of such violations, the commission will conduct a public hearing, determine facts and issue orders for corrective action, it said.

na, Tex., estimated the crowd at 100,000. The most conservative estimate was 65,000 — by the manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Police had difficulty keeping them away from the convertible in which Kennedy rode atop the back seat. Jay McGinnis, a balloon vendor, slipped through the officers and shook Kennedy's hand.

When Kennedy arrived at the platform on the state line in front of the tall, white federal building, high school bands struck up "Dixie" and the senator grinned.

"I don't predict that if Lyndon Johnson and I are elected life will be easy," Kennedy said. "But this country will move forward again and our brightest days will be ahead."

WE'RE READY

"The way will not be easy, but I believe I'm ready. I believe we're ready."

The crowd roared. Kennedy waved. His sister, Mrs. Peter Lawford, smiled. Someone in the crowd held up a sign reading "Peter Lawford for President."

Another sign read "Faubus for President." Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who had not yet endorsed Kennedy, was there.

Still another sign read "Goldwater for President."

WATERMELON

On his way back to the airport, Kennedy stopped to receive a 135-pound watermelon from Clyde Wahlquist of Prescott, Ark.

"I couldn't believe it," Kennedy said, "that a town this size would turn out a crowd like that."

"It was the biggest crowd we ever had," said the manager of the Chamber of Commerce. "And we may never have another one like it."

Shelley Scarney Chats With Her Favorite Boss

Area Girl Is Nixon's 'Gal Friday'

Shelley Scarney revels in a glamorous job. The daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Herman D. Scarney of Pontiac Trail near Orchard Lake, Shelley is in the law office of Richard Nixon on Wall Street, in New York.

A graduate of Kingswood School and the University of Michigan where she majored in political science, Shelley has been with Richard Nixon for several years.

She was in his office in Washington when he was Vice President and, during the campaign, the Oakland County girl made a swing of some forty odd states.

"He's my ideal," says Shelley, "and he'd make a wonderful president. But Senator Goldwater is the nominee and I'm for him now."

Shelley's father, well-known surgeon, has been chief of staff at William Beaumont Hospital for seven years.

Man Without a School—Yet

Has High Hope for New College

Firmly convinced, perhaps even passionately, that community colleges are the way of the future, Dr. John E. Tirrell holds high hopes for Oakland County's projected institution.

The 36-year-old Dr. Tirrell, as president, will be the first person to take home a paycheck from the proposed two-year school.

He assumes his duties Oct. 1. Strange as it might seem for a public school, money is about the only thing the community college has. Dr. Tirrell is starting from scratch.

In fact, the young-appearing college president is still looking for an office. In addition, he also has no staff, property, curriculum, student body or supplies.

Truly, he is a college president without a college.

SOLVING PROBLEMS

By Nov. 1, Dr. Tirrell hopes to have begun solving part of his difficulties by acquiring office space and the services of Dr. Richard E. Wilson, 32, who will join him as administrative assistant.

The six-member college board of trustees has agreed to hire Dr. Wilson at an annual salary of $12,000.

According to Dr. Tirrell, his new assistant, who formerly taught in Waterford Township schools, has specialized in establishing technical education programs.

Dr. Tirrell is rather an expert on establishing community colleges, at least he had a major role in establishing three St. Louis junior colleges.

CURRENT PLANS

Current plans for the local two-year school include temporary class sites by January. These, perhaps, will be housed in present high schools or in rented facilities.

Dr. Tirrell hopes to have his first permanent site selected by next June, enabling the campus to open by September 1967.

Meantime, policies and procedures for operation of the new college must be drawn up, including salary schedules for the school's proposed staff.

Eventually, Dr. Tirrell hopes to have "the college prove it self." The process of removing the stigma from attending a junior college is already underway, he said.

FURTHER PROCESS

He proposes that Oakland County's school will further this process. Dr. Tirrell said that a community college does not need to be a second cousin to any institution.

The college president expects in the not-to-distant future three out of four students going on to higher education will attend a two-year school.

However, Oakland's college is not going to be a social invention or a place to send youngsters to keep them off the streets.

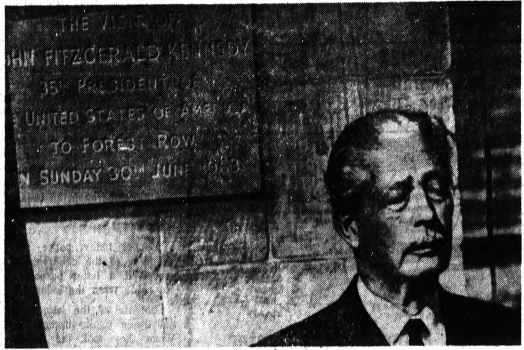

Shotgun Blasts Bag Big Prize: 'Loose' Plane

OXNARD, Calif. (U)—Two Oxnard men today can claim the season's largest prize taken with shotguns: A Stearman biplane.

Leon Coronas, a crop-dusting pilot, started the plane's motor yesterday in the usual manner—spinning the prop from outside. Before he could get back in the cockpit, one brake failed and the craft started taxiing around Ventura County Airport in wild circles.

E. L. Vanegas, manager of the crop-dusting service which owns the plane, ran out with two shotguns, gave Coronas one, and they started banging away at the plane.

After 10 minutes or so the other nipped a fuel line and the engine sputtered to a halt, out of gasoline.

Man Claims Attack, Theft

Air Crash Laid to Pilot Confusion

LAPEER (UPI) — Leslie Worden, Lum, told police yesterday he was attacked and robbed by two men when his car developed trouble and he stopped to check it near the Genesee-Lapeer County line.

He said the two men grabbed him. One held Worden while the other slashed him. They then took his wallet and fled.

Worden drove to a hospital here for treatment.

The addition of four patrolmen yesterday to the Waterford Township police force brought the department to within one officer of its authorized 21-man force.

New officers are Phillip Bowser, 5585 Brunswick; Gerald Smith, 5533 S. Paddock; Donald Bailey, 2342 Elery; and James Webb, 37 N. Boslyn.

The new officers were successful in a recent civil service examination taken by nine candidates.

Request Bids for Work on Telegraph-Maple

The intersection of Telegraph and Maple roads in Bloomfield Township has been scheduled for improvement by the State Highway Department.

Bids on the project, estimated to cost $20,000, will be opened Oct. 7. Completion date is set for June 30, 1965.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The light plane crash that killed six members of a Chicago area family bound for a Michigan ski vacation last Jan. 10 was caused by pilot disorientation, the Civil Aeronautics Board has decided.

A CAB report on the accident said the pilot was not rated to fly on instruments, and attempted to fly visually in unfavorable weather conditions.

The result was "a descent below obstructive terrain," the CAB said.

The Cessna 205, piloted by H. J. Cummings, 36, a River Forest, Ill., insurance broker, took off from Chicago's Du Page County airport for the Boyne Mountain, Mich., airport. His passengers were his wife, 32, and four of their six children, daughters Mary 6, Susan, 8, and Kathleen, 11, and son, Michael, 10.

SNOW SHOWERS

Cummings planned to fly along and near the eastern shore of Lake Michigan to the Boyne Mountain ski lodge at Boyne Falls, Mich.

A pre-takeoff weather briefing from the Joliet, Ill., flight service station informed him that there were snow showers and poor visibility on that route. He was advised to take an inland route with more desirable weather conditions.

He declined, filed a visual flight plan and took off, the CAB said.

Cummings radioed the Pellston, Mich., flight service station 30 miles northeast of Boyne Falls and said he was unable to locate the Boyne Mountain airport. He added that he was flying at an altitude of 1,900 feet under a 3,000-foot overcast.

RELATED BEARINGS

The CAB said Cummings relayed his directional bearings, taken with the navigation equipment of the plane to the Pellston station but the plots of these bearings were inconsistent with his reported course and heading.

The pilot was advised to obtain direction finding assistance from the Traverse City, Mich., Coast Guard Station. He changed to that radio frequency and disappeared.

Tells Happy Story About Underground Stay

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Instead of cold broth, there was steak. Instead of misery there was merriment.

George Cooper, 44, an electrician and weather-worn veteran of many construction projects, is a man with a happy story to tell about an 86-hour stay 1,900 feet below the Nevada desert that started Saturday and ended Tuesday with the liberation of four workmen.

One man was killed on the surface when cable whip-lashed up the shaft.

Cooper, Leland Roeder, 45, Floyd Shaw, 51, and Art Luhnnow, 27, the group cut off, were sealed into a 30-foot-square room off the bottom of a nuclear test shaft at the Nevada test site, near Mercury, Nev.

STEEL CABLE

Their jailer was 1,000 feet of tangled steel cable jammed into the final 300 feet of the shaft. Rescue workers worked the clock to remove the cable and free the men.

Cooper, from Tucson, Ariz., told this story: "We barely stepped back from lowering the cable when we heard a swooshing sound coming on like a train. It got louder and louder, then it was quiet."

Communications were rigged through a 10-inch ventilation shaft.

"I was on the phone first and asked them if anybody was killed at the top. You know how thoughts run through your mind."

'REAL SORRY'

"We never found out that Jim Gray was dead till we got out."

"I was real sorry. Jim was from Arizona too."

Soon a flow of heavy woolen blankets came down, with playing cards, magazines, a razor, hot coffee and ham sandwiches.

Emergency lanterns illuminated a square room, blasted from rock, with a ten-foot ceiling.

"We were busy all night talking to the guys on top — saying we were okay. We got our first meal at about 9 Sunday morning."

LARGE STEAKS

"Nine large steaks for four men, we enjoyed that. They were medium done, just like we like it. There was gravy, mashed potatoes, hot rolls and coffee."

"They were real good to us, gave us anything we wanted."

"Art got some real good cigars and said, 'They're from Reynolds private stock, I bet.'"

Lou Reynolds of Reynolds Electrical & Engineering Co. is the prime defense contractor at the test site.

TALKED TO KIN

"We spent most of our time on the telephone reassuring our relatives that we were all right and that we had confidence in the fellows trying to get us out."

"We first got to sleep Sunday morning. Shaw and I spread some blankets on a table. Roeder's pet place was on some packing cases."

"Luhnnow put a lot of little boxes together which he needed because he's such a big cuss."

All told, each man earned about $900 in overtime pay for his below ground stay.

What's Cooper going to do with the money?

Cooper thought about his wife,

Vera, for a second and said: "I don't know what she plans to do with it."

Cooper planned to be back to work today. He said he had to turn in because he had to get up at 4 a.m.

SURVIVE ORDEAL — Four men, trapped Saturday night following an accident at the Atomic Energy Commission test site north of Las Vegas, signal to newsmen that they're okay after being rescued early yesterday morning. The four are (from left) Lloyd L. Shaw of Santa Barbara, Calif., Leland Roeder and Art Luhnnow, both of Nevada, and George R. Cooper of Tucson, Ariz.

Approximately 7.5 million students attend church-related schools in America. The estimated cost to parents is $3 billion a year for operational expenses.

Accurate as His Watch

BLANTYRE, Nyasaland (AP) — An Indian went fishing at Blantyre's Coronation Dam and lost his $50 wrist watch. Later his brother, fishing nearby, landed a two-pound bass.

When the cook gutted the fish for supper there was the watch, intact and still ticking.

"I know it sounds fishy," said the Indian, "but it's true."

New LTD Luxury Models ...New Luxury Features

- LTD 2-door and 4-door hardtops compare in luxury with the most expensive cars
- Simulated woodgrain-paneled interiors, rich decorator fabrics, nylon carpeting
- Elegant new instrument panel puts illuminated controls at your fingertips
- There's even a Safety-Convenience Control Panel* which includes vacuum door lock switch, lights that flash when doors are ajar or fuel's low, seat belt reminder light and an emergency flasher system for roadside stops

Strongest, Quietest Fords Ever Built

- 100% new body, far and away the strongest we've ever made—you'll feel the difference after a few minutes behind the wheel
- New frame and new suspensions virtually eliminate noise and road shock
- New wider tread for increased stability

New Luxury Car Spaciousness

- More knee room: instrument panel restyled and swept back a full 5 inches

- More leg room: transmission hump lowered, heater concealed, air conditioner* built in
- More shoulder room: curved side glass
- More trunk room: now four 2-suiters stand upright (sill lowered 5 inches for easier loading)

New Performance and Economy

- Better economy and pickup in all models
- New 240-cu. in. Big Six gives better mileage, more punch, V-8 smoothness
- All automatic transmissions* are 3-speed; not 2-speed as in many other cars. Result: smoothest shifting, increased economy
- Manual transmission fully synchronized

- including first gear (no gear clash)
- Modern battery-saving alternator

New Comfort and Convenience

- Standard in Ford 4-door hardtops: Thunderbird's Silent-Flo Ventilation System. Draws in fresh air, removes stale air even with windows closed

New Excitement- 3 "Cool" Mustangs for '65

THE TOTAL PERFORMANCE MUSTANG HARDTOP AND CONVERTIBLE

A sleek new fastback 2+2 has joined the Mustang Hardtop and Convertible for 1965. The 2+2 looks like a $5,000 sports import—but this cool, sweet peppermint-candy car lists for thousands less.

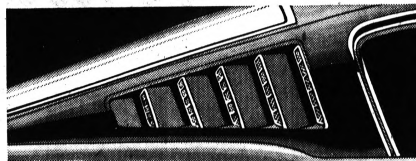

Luxury features standard on Mustang

- Deep-foam bucket seats
- Padded instrument panel
- Color-keyed all-vinyl interiors
- Color-keyed wall-to-wall carpeting
- Silent-Flo ventilation in 2+2

Designed to be designed by you

For remarkably little added cost, you can choose from a long list of options and design your Mustang as a hot-blooded sports convertible, a luxurious vinyl-covered hardtop, or anything in between. For instance:

- Power brakes and power steering
- Front disc brakes
- High Performance V-8
- 3-speed automatic transmission
- Vinyl roof covering; many more options

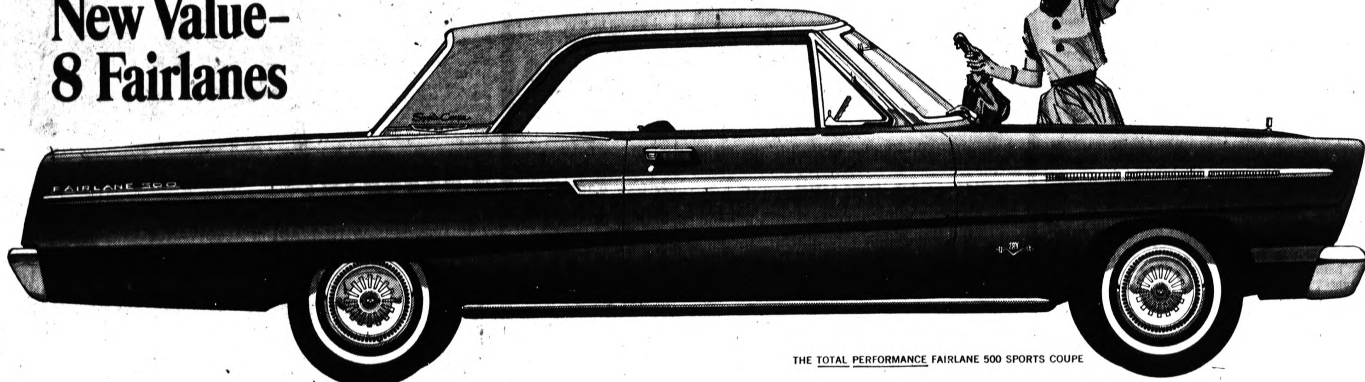

The Silent-Flo ventilating system on the new Mustang 2+2 is easily operated from the front or back seat by means of sliding weather-sealed louvers. Even with windows closed, fresh air is drawn in, stale air is removed.

Front wheel disc brakes are among many Mustang options, as is the Rally Pac with a tachometer and clock with sweep-second hand.

New Value- 8 Fairlanes

THE TOTAL PERFORMANCE FAIRLANE 500 SPORTS COUPE

Fairlane is the ideal middle-size car, with a unique, well-earned reputation for reliability, ruggedness and solid value. (Ask any Fairlane owner—they're not hard to find—there are nearly a million of them.)

New style, inside and out

- Roomy inside, Fairlane is trim outside for easy handling, easy parking, easy maneuvering
- Handsome restyled instrument cluster—with all-new, easy-to-read instruments and gauges

- Interiors completely restyled with new trims and upholstery in all models

New power and economy

- New 200-cu. in. Six provides 20% increase in power, has seven main bearings for glass-smooth going. Hydraulic valve lifters for quiet operation
- Regular Fairlane V-8 is now the 289-cu. in. V-8—basic engine design for some of the world's great competition cars (like the Cobra)

- The 289-cu. in., 271-hp V-8 (special high-performance engine for the sports buff) includes a new dual exhaust system and chrome-plated dress-up features
- Fully synchronized 3-speed manual shift standard with most V-8's
- 3-speed Cruise-O-Matic and fully synchronized 4-speed manual are optional

Time-savers, money-savers

- New sealed alternator adds to battery life
- Routine service needed only twice a year (or every 6,000 miles)
- Self-adjusting brakes and valves

8 Fairlanes to choose from

- Fairlane—2 and 4-door sedans, 4-door wagon*
- Fairlane 500—2-door and 4-door sedans, 2-door hardtop, Sports Coupe, 4-door station wagon*

*2 passenger 3rd seat optional

New Economy- 13 Falcons

THE TOTAL PERFORMANCE FALCON FUTURA HARDTOP

Up to 15% greater fuel economy

- 3-speed Cruise-O-Matic is the Falcon automatic transmission—teams with the 170-cu. in. Six for up to 15% greater fuel economy. Some other cars offer only a 2-speed automatic transmission (not as smooth)
- New 170-cu. in. Six replaces 144-cu. in. Six as optional at extra cost basic powerplant, supplies 20 extra horsepower, smoother performance, improved engine efficiency for better fuel economy

- Low-profile tires reduce rolling friction, help increase economy and prolong tire life

New performance

- New 200-cu. in. 7-main-bearing Six†

- 289-cu. in. V-8† replaces 260-cu. in. V-8
- New battery-saving alternator

13 Falcons to choose from Hardtops, sedans, convertibles and wagons, including the elegantly paneled Falcon Squire. All offer plenty of passenger room and the smoothest ride in the compact class.

Questions LBJ's Fitness to Control N-Weapons

Rep. Miller Says President Is 'Showing Signs of Cracking'

MEDFORD Ore. (AP) — President Johnson showed signs of "cracking" under political pressure when he referred to Sen. Barry Goldwater as a "raving demagogue," GOP vice presidential nominee William E. Miller said today.

Miller, on an extensive campaign swing through the West, questioned whether Johnson was up to the pressure of the responsibility for handling the issues of war or peace.

"This is the kind of man we want to have his finger on the trigger of nuclear weapons," Miller asked in a statement issued as he began another day of campaigning.

Johnson did not mention Goldwater, the Republican candidate for president, by name when he referred in a speech Tuesday night to a "raving demagogue," but there was general agreement that he had Goldwater in mind.

TOO IRRESPONSIBLE

In suggesting that Johnson was too irresponsible to have control over nuclear weapons, Miller was turning on the Democrats the same argument they have used frequently against Goldwater.

Miller had no comment on a statement Wednesday by Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., that the national candidates were conducting a "low-level, schoolyard campaign." Mundt called for the elimination of invective from the political debate.

Miller's schedule today listed a breakfast rally here and a flight to California for two days of stumping in a state Miller has termed "a strategic battleground" in the 1964 presidential contest.

He traveled Wednesday from Idaho to Utah, and into Portland, Ore., where he addressed more than 600 Republicans at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

COOL TO BARRY

Miller was introduced by Gov. Mark Hatfield, who had been considered at one time somewhat cool to Goldwater as the GOP presidential nominee.

Introducing Miller, Hatfield said that "our party has room for disagreement. We don't demand that all people know to one leader."

In his speech, Miller renewed his pledge that a Republican national administration would adopt a more firm foreign policy and resolve various problems around the globe.

"The wall in Berlin is a monument to the strength of communism and to the vacillation and weakness of this administration," Miller said.

At a news conference Miller said that the recent departure of Grant Reynolds, a Negro attorney, from the Republican National Committee, should not be considered a sign that Republicans have written off the Negro vote. Miller said he had brought Reynolds into the national committee office, and that the new party chairman, Dean Burch, had followed custom in bringing in his own top aides.

Earl Likes Beatles' Beat but Says 'Vets' Beat 'Em

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I love the Beatles—HONEST, I just ADORE them... but middleagers Joe E. Lewis and Tony Martin evoked more excitement and spending at the Copacabana and Americana Royal Box this morning than the teenagers' idol Ringo... Is it possible that these tired old-timers can beat the Beatles?

WILSON

"My mother was a Gibson girl... that's all she drank... Gibsons... I'm so drunk I'm forgettin' to drink... I have a Carte Blanche card... that means 'Carry Blanche out here'..."

Joe E. Lewis was making the familiar jokes at the Cops to a star-packed audience including Jackie Cooper, John Daly, Hal March and Sapieha Tucker... while Helen O'Connell's songs rang through the Copacabana brilliantly.

Wishing to sing a song from one of her movies, Helen said, "I forget which of my movies... but how could I forget when I only had two?"

With straw hat and cane, Tony Martin thrilled the Royal Box turnout, mentioning that the new idea of ending songs before the high notes "will add 20 years to my career." Nowdays, he said—and proved it—"they just belch the notes."

Tony Martin's beautiful wife, Cyd Charisse, here with him, is hustling back to Hollywood to rehearse for their joint appearance shortly in Camen at the Latin Casino. "Take me weeks to limber up," Cyd assured me. "And I have to break in a new boy..." (Dancing partner)... "And I couldn't... uh... help?" I asked... Gosh, she was chilly to the idea!

Bill Dana ("Jose Jimenez") was answering Waldorf-Astoria bellhops' questions about proper conduct at a party given by NBC TV. "What do you say," one bellhop asked him, "to a woman with six bags who's just tipped you 40c?"... quickly, Dana replied, "You say to her, 'How would you like your change?'"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Carol Channing, introducing Louis Armstrong at "Hello, Dolly!", announced, "I once asked Louis, 'Do you think I'm up to singing this important score?' and he said, 'What are you worried about? Your voice is as good as mine!'"... Frank Sinatra, having finished filming the end of "Von Ryan's Express" in Europe, is en route to Hollywood to film the beginning.

JOHN E. MADOLE

County Envoy Leaves for Cali

To Organize Projects in Colombia Region

John E. Madole, Oakland County representative in the Alliance for Progress program, left Willow Run Airport with his family yesterday for Cali, Colombia.

He will spend an undetermined number of months there organizing a number of projects designed to improve the economic status of the Cauca Valley region.

Accompanying Madole are his wife, Mary Ruth, his youngest daughter, Janet, and his son, Robert.

This is the second trip to Colombia for Madole, who spent six weeks down there last spring.

He returned in June with a list of recommendations on how the Oakland County Alliance for Progress committee could help improve economic conditions in the Cauca Valley region through government - to - government cooperation with the City of Cali.

SUGGESTIONS

Madole's suggestions, some of which already have been implemented, included organization of a mechanical training school and a student exchange program, strengthening of democratic labor unions, providing medical care for the indigent populace and a public information program.

He also urged a program of care for orphans and abandoned children, regional planning seminars, improving police and fire service, exchange of art and culture and a joint industrial program.

During his stay in Cali, Madole will work with Colombian officials in an effort to implement the entire program.

News of Area Service Personnel

LT. COL. WAYNE LEACH, son of Orval F. Leach of 635 Willowood and the late Mrs. Leach, has assumed command of an Air Weather Service (AWS) unit at Bitburg Air Base, Germany.

Col. Leach served at Trux Field, Wis., prior to his appointment at Bitburg. ASW operates a global weather data network in support of U.S. military and civilian flight activities.

The colonel, who attended Central Michigan College, Michigan State University, St. Mary's University, San Antonio, Tex., and Texas A. and M. University, holds both BS and MS degrees.

SPEC. 4 RONALD R. DOCKHAM, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Dockham, 817 Turrill, Lapeer, recently reenlisted for six years in the regular Army.

He is currently serving as a medical specialist in the 56th Medical Battalion's 8th Medical Company near Karlsruhe, Germany.

Dockham entered the Army July, 1961 and arrived overseas on this tour of duty September 1963. The 23-year-old soldier is a 1960 graduate of Adelphi Academy, Holly.

The American Spirit Honor Medal was recently awarded to SEAMAN TIMOTHY JOHN SHOYAN, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Shoyan of 503 E. Lincoln, Birmingham.

He received the award for his superior conduct, initiative, scholastic achievement and leadership.

He is now stationed on the U.S.S. Hubbard, a destroyer at Long Beach, Calif. for approximately six months. He enlisted May 18 after graduating from Seaholm High School and attending the University of Michigan for three years.

GEORGE R. TUTTLE, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rollin J. Tuttle of 225 W. Walled Lake, Walled Lake, was recently promoted from specialist four to sergeant.

Sgt. Tuttle entered the Army in January 1963. A graduate of Walled Lake High School, he attended Lawrence Institute of Technology. He is now stationed at Fort Lewis, Wash.

PFC. BULAN AUGUSTA CORNETT, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Cornett of 40 Poplar, is expected back in the United States next month.

He is currently stationed in Germany for training in electronics. He entered the Army Dec. 3 last year and completed boot training at Fort Knox, Ky. Cornett attended Pontiac Central High School.

MARINE CPL. JAMES BUCK, son of Mrs. Helen J. Buck of 6 Green and the late Mr. Buck, recently left for a temporary post in the Navy Aviation Center in Memphis, Tenn.

Having recently reenlisted for six years, he will next be stationed at the Officer Candidate School in Jacksonville, Fla.

Before his month's leave, he was stationed for two years as a security guard in the American embassies in Kobar, Afghanistan and Tripoli, Libya.

The graduate of Walled Lake High School enlisted in June 1960.

Typhoon in Japan; Say Winds at 100

TOKYO (AP) — Typhoon Hilda, with 100 m.p.h. winds slammed into Kagoshima, in southern Japan, late today. First reports said one Japanese was killed, two were missing and 14 were injured.

Weathermen said the typhoon was screaming across Miyazaki Prefecture (state) in southern Kyushu and heading north-northwest, in the general direction of Shikoku, the smallest of Japan's four major islands, and the inland sea.

Kyodo News Service said five fishermen were reported missing off Oshima Island, which the typhoon lashed on its way to Japan. Weathermen predicted 50-mile winds and rain for the next 24 hours in the Tokyo area.

LT. EDWIN T. BRUCE JR., son of the senior Bruces of 48 W. New York, was recently graduated from Officer's Candidate School.

Now stationed at Fort Sill, Okla., the second lieutenant is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and attended the University of Michigan. He was drafted August 1962.

PFC. DONALD EDWIN CARLSON, son of the Edwin C. Carlsons of 1231 Woodlawn, is now serving in the 546th Military Police Company at Fort Sill, Okla.

The 1958 graduate of Pontiac Central High School completed his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. His advance military policy training was complete at the MP school at Fort Gordon, Ga.

AIRMAN 2. C. HARRY H. BIGHAM, son of Mrs. Lloyd Bigham of 2781 Oldsmobile and the late Mr. Bigham, was recently transferred to McCord Air Force Base, Wash.

Traveling to his new post from his station in England, Bigham recently visited friends and relatives in the Pontiac area.

Detroit Police Raid Six Sites

DETROIT (UPI) — Police last night raided six sites simultaneously and broke up a gambling operation that grossed up to $10,000 a day, authorities said. Nine persons were taken into custody in the raid on the mutual operation, but one was later released.

The eight held were charged with violating the state gambling laws.

Authorities said Casper Aganillo, Dearborn, suspected ring-leader of the operation, was among those in custody.

Confiscated in the raids were cash totaling about $4,000, three automatic pistols, "bags of bet slips," adding machines, and other gambling equipment, police said.

Humphrey Blasts Barry for 'Ominous, Vague Pronouncements'

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, campaigning along the sidewalks of New York, said today that Sen. Barry Goldwater "is giving us neither a choice nor an echo, but a baffling, bewildering blur."

"No man asking the American people to elect him as president," said Humphrey, "has the right to make cryptic, often ominous remarks and then leave the electorate to discover their meanings."

Humphrey was to team up with Robert F. Kennedy — running for the U.S. Senate from New York — in campaigning around New York City, but he may have to return to Washington later today.

The Senate is due to vote in its long battle over trying to delay court-ordered legislative reapportionment and the White House told Humphrey by telephone that his vote might be needed.

SINGING PRAISES

Humphrey whipped through Indiana Wednesday, speaking at rallies until he was hoarse, shaking hands with school children and singing the praises of President Johnson.

Today, in remarks prepared for the New York City Central Labor Council, Humphrey said he wanted to take some statements Goldwater has made and "ask him what they mean."

"Because Sen. Goldwater specializes in dark, obscure pronouncements," said Humphrey, "I can only begin the task of questioning today. The backing of confusing utterances is considerable — and growing every day — but let us begin with a few of the choicer ambiguities."

Humphrey recalled Goldwater's interview in the German news magazine Der Spiegel June 30 in which Goldwater was asked whether as president he would be willing to go to the brink of war.

QUOTE CANDIDATE

He quoted the Republican candidate for president as replying:

"Yes, just as your country — that is, Germany — has used brinkmanship down through the years and done so very, very successfully."

Humphrey charged that no one "with common sense" could applaud German brinkmanship, which, he said, had been "disastrous for Germany and the other nations of the world" in two world wars.

Humphrey turned to another part of the Der Spiegel interview in which Goldwater was quoted as saying, "had not Germany in both wars been subject to the supreme command of men — or a man, in any case — who didn't understand war, I think Germany would have won both of them."

WHAT IT MEANS

Humphrey said perhaps Goldwater was being respectful of his questioners' German sensitivities but, "what the sentence infers is that American and Allied commanders in both wars were inferior to their imperial and Nazi German counterparts, that Von Rundstedt was an able commander than Dwight Eisenhower, that German troops were better led than American, British or French."

Sept. 9, Goldwater was reported to have said in Seattle in a reference to the aircraft industry, "You turned out aircraft which shot down a lot of enemies and you are going to do it again."

Humphrey asked, "Does Goldwater still believe in the inevitability of war? How can any man successfully work for peace if he is resigned to the inevitability of war?"

Said Humphrey: "We will wait with anticipation to learn the precise meaning of Goldwater's ideas; whether Goldwater believes that war is inevitable; whether Goldwater believes that imperial and Nazi Germany are examples to follow in the conduct of American foreign affairs and whether Goldwater believes that Social Security should be voluntary or private or just left alone."

Now on display: the most beautiful Chrysler ever built.

This is Chrysler '65. The big one that delivers. Luxury that reflects your good taste, for one thing. A fast answer to your demands, for another.

Look at it. Clean-lined. Big. Beautiful. Eighteen feet of comfort. Two tons of security.

It's easier to get into and out of. There's lots of headroom, and legroom and hiproom.

Get in and drive it. The first thing you'll notice is best described as "scorch." Model 1965 is a very quick automobile. And there's an improvement in ride you can really feel.

One more point. A Chrysler isn't all that expensive. Seven Newport models are priced just a few dollars a month more than some of the popular smaller cars.

Visit your Chrysler dealer and see them all: economical Newport; sports-bred 300; and the luxurious New Yorker. Move up to Chrysler. Model 1965. The man who sells them will make the move very easy for you.

Court Stays Rights Ruling

Will Hear Arguments in Birmingham Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Hugo L. Black of the Supreme Court has stayed enforcement of a ruling by a three-judge federal court that declared unconstitutional part of the new Civil Rights Law.

The ruling involved a Birmingham Ala. restaurant.

The high court plans to hear arguments on the case Oct. 5, immediately after hearing an Atlanta case in which three federal judges upheld the constitutionality of the rights law's public accommodations section.

"It is an established rule of law that courts of equity will not exercise their power to enjoin enforcement of an Act of Congress except under the most imperative or exigent circumstances," Black said in granting the stay.

He said he had been authorized by the five other judges here to say the court is willing to hear the case when it opens its fall session Oct. 5.

REFUSED TO BLOCK

On Aug. 10, Black refused to block enforcement of the civil rights law in the Atlanta case.

The Birmingham case involves Ollie's Barbecue, a restaurant owned by Ollie McClung and his son, Ollie Jr. It is located several blocks from the nearest interstate travel.

The Atlanta case involves a motel owned by Moreton Rolleston and a restaurant owned by Lester Maddox, which is located adjacent to an interstate highway.

Dixie College Opens Doors to Negroes

AUBURN, Ala., (AP) — Auburn University has opened its doors to its first Negro undergraduate students.

Willie Bee Wyatt and Anthony Tilford Lee, both graduates of Macon County High at Notaulga, Ala., were registered at Auburn Wednesday without incident, according to public relations Director Ed Crawford.

Also registering was Harold Franklin of Montgomery, the first Negro to attend Auburn, who is working toward his master's degree. He was admitted to Auburn last year under federal court orders.

Lee and Wyatt were among the first Negro pupils to be enrolled, also under federal court orders, at Tuskegee High School last year. When the school was closed as a result of a white boycott last January, they and four other Negro pupils transferred to Macon County High.

Depressed Magistrate

LONDON (UPI) — When a man pleading guilty to careless driving in court yesterday was identified as a member of the British Institute of Advanced Motorists, Magistrate J. D. Purcell said, "It's depressing how often we see them in these courts."

The nation will have to step up its graduation of nurses by 70 per cent to meet the demands anticipated by 1970. At present about 31,000 are being graduated annually.

Male undergraduates attending private colleges and universities averaged $1,399 during the past academic year for tuition, fees, board and room. This figure is up 5.1 per cent over a year ago, according to the U.S. Office of Education.

More than 50 per cent of the fish consumed in America is imported, Rep. Thor C. Tollefson of Washington recently disclosed.

Since 1956 the United States' share of the world catch has dropped from 13 to 7 per cent.

Battle Over Memorials Takes on Monumental Proportions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Just mention "memorial" in Washington, and the battle lines start forming before the bugle blows.

Everybody has a different idea about what it should be and where it should be. It's been that way ever since Congress and the country had a hard time deciding where the Capitol city should be in the first place.

The current hassle is over a memorial to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and it's been going on for two years. Quietly, though, two statues have disappeared from the east steps of the Capitol, and there's no outcry to return them.

UNHAPPY INDIANS

They made the American Indians unhappy.

One of the statues, called Rescue, portrays Daniel Boone protecting a pioneer mother and child from an Indian brandishing a tomahawk. The other, called Discovery, shows Christopher Columbus pushing aside an almost nude Indian maiden.

For years Indians have complained about "those things," said Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla.

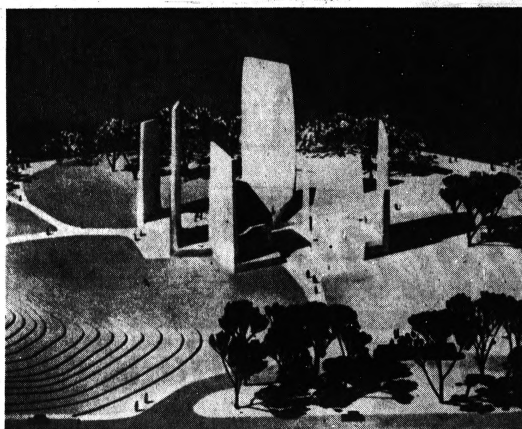

When the east front of the Capitol was extended in 1958, the two statues were removed and the extension commission decided to let them repose in limbo a while. They're in wooden crates behind the Capitol power plant.

SUFFRAGE STATUE

Many have criticized the out-of-the-way place for the women's suffrage statue in the Capitol crypt below the rotunda. It shows the busts of Lucretia Mott, Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony rising from a block of white marble. "Three women in a bathtub," it's been dubbed by wags.

Time has restored another statue pushed into a dusty corner years ago by ridicule. It's the statue of George Washington in toga and sandals sitting in a chair, sculptured by Horatio Greenough.

Ordered by Congress in 1832, it brought more controversy and criticism than any other statue in Washington. It sat in the Capitol rotunda for three years,

MONUMENTAL ROW — This proposed monument to the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt has joined the long list of monuments that have created controversies about what they should be and where they should be located. The proposed FDR monument consists of eight concrete tables, ranging to 165 feet in height and engraved with quotations of Roosevelt. The four sons of FDR don't like it, even after a revision in plans.

AP Photos

was removed to the Capitol grounds and after 61 years there shunted to the Smithsonian Institution. Just recently, it has found a place of honor in the institution's new building.

PERMANENT UNIT

Congress authorizes monuments, memorials, and fountains in Washington. In 1910 it created a permanent commission of fine arts to advise it on designs and sites.

But everybody gets in on the act.

The commission chose for the Franklin Delano Roosevelt Memorial a design consisting of eight big concrete tablets ranging to 165 feet in height.

"Instant Stonehenge" — referring to the Druid tablets of England — somebody called it. The design was scaled down and a statue of FDR added.

The four sons of FDR said they still didn't like it. And that's where it stands today.

The sons' words were mild to what the daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt said about various memorials proposed for her father.

One suggestion in 1961 would have made the proposed cultural center here a memorial for her father.

"The hell with the cultural center as a memorial," the 76-year-old Alice Roosevelt Longworth said of that.

A big celestial sphere on Theodore Roosevelt Island in the Potomac River? "None of this 'sanctuary of the free spirit' jargon," Mrs. Longworth said.

17-FOOT STATUE

Finally, everybody settled on a 17-foot statue of TR to be placed in an oval plaza on the river island, and it's under way now.

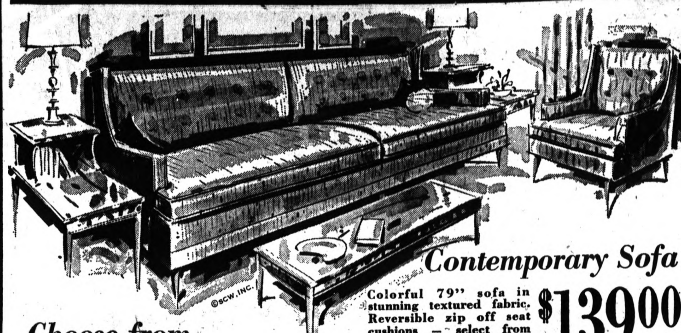

The most prolonged controversy involved the Washington monument, begun in 1848 and dedicated in 1885. In 1854 a piece of marble sent by the Pope for the monument disappeared and was never found. The controversy this aroused, along with the advent of the Civil War and lack of funds, caused construction on the monument to be halted for about 25 years.

As Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., remarked in the House during the 1960 debate over the Teddy Roosevelt Memorial — "You'll never find a design that everyone likes. This is the kind of thing that starts fistfights at a Quaker picnic."

U.S. Rejects Africans' Attempt to Cut Off Congo Military Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has rejected an attempt by the Organization of African Unity to halt U.S. military assistance to the troubled Congo.

"We could not agree to discuss our aid to the Congo without the participation of the Congolese government at whose request our aid is given," State Department press officer Robert McCloskey said Wednesday.

Other sources reported that President Johnson's schedule is too crowded to permit a conference with representatives of the OAU, a 34-nation African group that has had U.S. support over the years in its efforts to stabilize the Congo.

with a five-nation OAU delegation that wants such aid — primarily communication and transportation equipment — cut off.

SIDE WITH CONGO

It means the United States has sided with the Congolese government, whose leaders have denounced the effort to halt American assistance.

position came after Kenya's minister of state, Joseph Murumbi, had left for Washington. Other African nations represented on the mission are Ghana, Guinea, Nigeria and the United Arab Republic.

The five-nation delegation was drawn from a conciliation commission created two weeks ago by the OAU after a series of tribal rebellions had wrested about one-sixth of the Congo from government control. Congo President Joseph Kasavubu told Diallo Telli of Guinea, secretary general of the OAU, that the decision to send a delegation to Washington had "put in jeopardy" the independent status of the Congo.

TSHOMBE COMPLAINS

Congo Prime Minister Moïse Tshombe, in a message to Jomo

Kenyatta of Kenya, chairman of the conciliation commission, complained that the action was contrary to the OAU charter. The U.S. ambassador to the Congo, G. McMurtrie Godley, was instructed to confer with Tshombe, and William Aittwood, U.S. ambassador to Kenya, relayed the U.S. position to the reconciliation committee.

That position, said McCloskey, is that if the government of the Congo is willing to participate in discussions of military aid, "U.S. representatives will be prepared to meet with representatives of the government of the Congo and of the OAU commission at a mutually agreed time and place and on the basis of a previously agreed agenda."

U.S. military assistance to the Congo is limited, McCloskey said, and was given "at the request of the sovereign government of the Congo to assist in maintaining law and order."

Court Denies Estes Appeal

Asked Rehearing on Mail Fraud Conviction

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals has turned down Billie Sol Estes' motion for a rehearing on his appeal of a mail fraud conviction. Assistant U.S. Atty. Fred Morton announced Wednesday.

In Dallas, Tex., U.S. Atty. Barefoot Sanders said Estes' trial on charges of filing false financial statements which was set for Nov. 9, will not be held until early in 1965.

The appeals court at New Orleans last month denied Estes' appeal of his conviction by an El Paso jury on federal charges of mail fraud and conspiracy in connection with mortgages of nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

U.S. Dist. Judge R.E. Thomsen sentenced Estes to 15 years in prison.

Estes, former Pecos promoter who now lives in Abilene, has 30 days to petition the U.S. Supreme Court for a stay of sentence pending an appeal to the high court.

FREE ON BOND

Estes is free under bonds totaling $140,000 while he appeals both the El Paso conviction and one at Tyler on a state charge of swindling.

Dixie Craftsmen Will Display Works

PLUM NELLY, Ga. (AP) — Southern craftsmen and artists will display their works Oct. 3-4 in an autumn-tinged forest at the 10th annual clothesline art show.

Plum Nelly, so named because it's "plum out of Tennessee and nelly out of Georgia," is located on the west side of Lookout Mountain, in the northwestern tip of the state between Tennessee and Alabama.

The outdoor exhibitors will include 15 painters, one sculptor, one printmaker and 15 craftsmen — weavers, potters, enamellers, wood-carvers, candle-makers, dollmakers and basketmakers.

Bovine Bliss on Way Back in Washington

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The state of Washington has been cowed into submission.

A year ago state earth-moving machines, building a freeway, dumped dirt on a cow path traversed by animals owned by John Nielsen of nearby Renton. Nielsen hired Seattle attorney Joseph R. Matsen to unearth a defense. He did, explaining Wednesday that the state never had the right-of-way to the path it thought it did.

A settlement has been reached, Matsen said. The freeway will take another approach, bringing back bovine bliss.

Top U.S. Commander Said to Have an N-Arms Option

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
Associated Press
Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON — The top U.S. commander in Europe, who also is supreme allied commander, is reported to be under strict admonition to consult with the President before using any nuclear weapons — if at all possible.

But if Washington has been knocked out, or communications have been shattered, it is believed the commander of all American forces in Europe would have the option to act.

Other top U.S. commanders, such as the commander in chief Pacific and possibly the head of U.S. air defenses, may have similar authority.

High defense officials, both civilian and military, refuse to discuss details of restrictions under which senior commanders operate so far as using their nuclear armament is concerned.

The issue of control of nuclear weapons has become a pivotal one in the presidential campaign.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, has argued that the NATO supreme commander in Europe should be given "greater control" over tactical atomic weapons in his forces.

President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara have insisted publicly that the decision to use nuclear weapons is vested in the president and should stay there.

They also sharply disagree with Goldwater's description of some battlefield-type nuclear weapons as conventional.

McNamara has said such battlefield weapons release staggering explosive force and cannot be considered in the same terms as high explosive weapons.

TWO current magazine articles say, in essence, that President Eisenhower and Kennedy, and now President Johnson, have delegated authority to the NATO commander to use nuclear weapons under certain circumstances.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., referred yesterday to the reports in Time and U.S. News & World Report and accused the administration of "complete duplicity."

"There magazines report that such delegation by President Johnson himself does in fact exist today."

LAUNCHED ATTACK

"But the Johnson administration has not had the courage to reveal this to the American people. Instead the Johnson administration has launched an attack on Sen. Goldwater for being 'trigger-happy' because he supports an agreement which usually reliable sources report does exist."

"This is the Johnson big lie, and for his administration to knowingly mislead and misinform our people on a question involving our national survival can only be attributed to the basest political motives," Hosmer said.

White House Press Secretary George Reedy, asked about the published reports, cited Johnson's speech a week ago in Seattle, in which the President said:

"The responsibility for the control of U.S. nuclear weapons rests solely with the president, who exercises the control of their use in all foreseeable circumstances."

He gave substantially the same reply when asked to comment on published reports that Goldwater believes field commanders already have been given authority to use nuclear weapons in specific, emergency situations without further order.

Reedy declined to answer questions about various interpretations that could be placed upon Johnson's words — for example, whether presidential control over nuclear weapons might

The press secretary, when pressed to go beyond Johnson's own words, said of the Seattle speech, "I think you will find that it has been very carefully thought out."

For Social Work Training

Cigar Man Gives $4 Million

NEW YORK (AP) — "I believe in doing things when they're needed," says cigar manufacturer Samuel J. Silberman, who has given $4 million to help train social workers. His donation was announced yesterday at a news conference in City Hall with Mayor Robert F. Wagner. The money will provide six floors in a new Park Avenue building for an expanded School of Social Work for Hunter College.

Silberman, board chairman of Consolidated Cigar Corp., said he hopes particularly to help minority groups enter the field of social welfare.

"You know," he said, "this is the kind of thing you usually do in your will. But I like to see things get done. I believe in doing things when they're needed, not when they're convenient."

No-Breakfast Idea Cheats Your Health

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

"A man 6 feet tall, 34 years old, has had angina pectoris for five years. It is getting worse, at least he has attacks more frequently. He weighs 214 pounds, eats no breakfast, but always a hearty lunch and dinner.

His doctor hasn't said so, but it seems to me that the man eats too fast. Is there any good reason why one with coronary disease should not gulp food in a hurry?" (D. R. T.)

No one should gulp food down in a hurry. Especially a person whose arteries are not as soft and elastic as they should be.

You do not mention the reason why the man eats no breakfast. I hope it is not to reduce. If so, the man is an idiot, for the hearty lunch and dinner will make up for the calories a fair breakfast would have contained.

It would probably be beneficial for the man to reduce some 12 pounds in the course of two or three months of moderate restriction of diet, that is, limiting his intake of sugar and sweets and carbohydrates at every meal, and, if he uses beer, wine, or liquor at all, cutting it out altogether, for alcoholic beverages or liquors represent too many calories and give no energy at all. No reduction program is likely to succeed, if the individual uses beer, wine, or liquor.

If the young man really has angina pectoris, I hope his doctor sees to it that he always has a vial of nitroglycerin tablets in his pocket, so he can take one immediately upon the occurrence of any distress and repeat the dose in 5 or 10 minutes if the first tablet does not bring relief.

FURTHER SUGGESTIONS

In Volume 2 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, the booklet titled "C.V.D.," about heart and artery troubles, you will find further suggestions — for a copy send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope. Some physicians are altogether too timid about the use of this medicine by patients with angina.

It is often a godsend to such sufferers, and so I say it is malpractice to deprive them of it just because of unfounded fear that it may be "dangerous."

Some people eat no breakfast because, as they say, they have no appetite for food in the morning, or perhaps they want nothing but tea or coffee and a cigarette. This lack of interest in breakfast is familiar in toppers, who can take nothing on an empty stomach but straight gin, whisky, or brandy.

Most of the namby-pamby folk who breakfast on tea and toast or coffee and a roll or dish of sugar pop and some sweetened fruit juice fresh from the can, are satisfied, for a short while, with such cheat food just as a growing youngster is by sucking on a bottle of pop.

PLENTY OF CALORIES

But anyone who takes, instead of real food (protein, fat and carbohydrate), only sugar, sweets, or refined carbohydrate (cheat food), will get plenty of calories to give enough energy for a brief spurt of work, play, or activity; but he is bound to feel quickly, lose interest, and feel the need of a lift.

This, I believe, is a common predisposing factor of alcoholism.

The most essential item of an adequate breakfast is protein, such as eggs, ham, bacon, fowl, or fish.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Renew Acquaintance

Barry, Policeman Chat

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Charlotte city policeman R. E. Wilson and Barry Goldwater renewed acquaintances recently.

Wilson, a native of Phoenix, Ariz., and Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, were in the same Arizona Air National Guard unit.

When Goldwater was in Charlotte Monday night, Wilson took the opportunity to say hello.

During a 45-minute chat, Wilson asked Goldwater if he remembered the time he and other buddies ran a pair of the senator's Bermuda shorts up a flagpole.

"I don't like to remember things like that," Goldwater replied.

Dodge comes on big

'65 DART: The Dodge-size compact

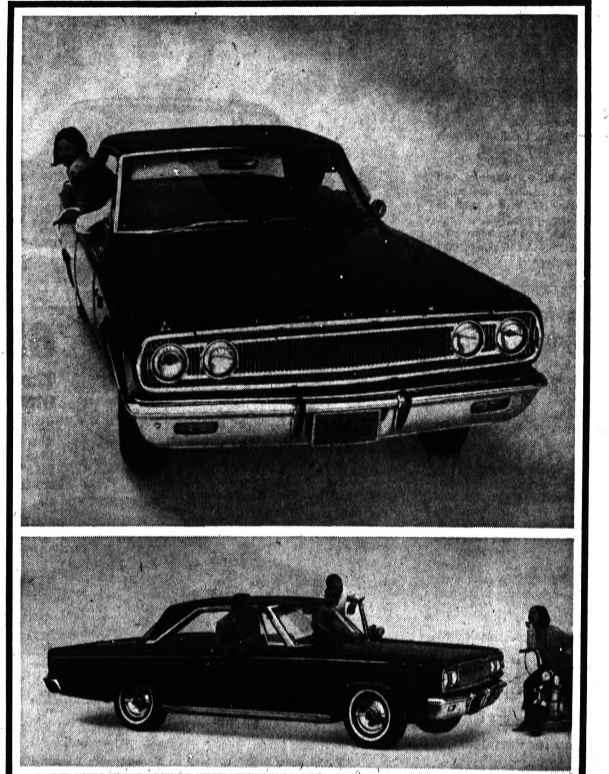

If you're the kind of person who likes to live a little, we'd like to let you in on something big—Dodge Dart for '65. Dart is the fun compact with big ideas. Big Beauty. Big Comfort. Big Ride. And Big Savings. In the engine room, Dart's mighty big, too. Take your choice of the Mobil Economy Run winning Six or a husky V8 that won't take "slow" for an answer. But why listen to us when that frisky fella is right down at your Dodge dealer's. See what we mean, today.

Swingers go for Dart GT. And sporty Dart GT goes for everybody . . . for the economy-minded, for the sports-minded. Great way to leave things behind—like worries—like other cars. GT gives you what you go for.

'65 CORONET: A hot new Dodge at a new lower price

Leave-it to Dodge to build a hot new, all-new car with the stretch-out room of a standard-size Ford or Chevy, yet priced with Fairlane and Chevelle. For that's exactly what they've done. It's called Coronet '65. And if the name seems familiar, nothing else about Coronet will be. It's totally new from road to roof line. With refreshing new styling. Oceans of room. A ride that belies its low price. And performance that's so exciting you'll have a hard time believing it even after you've put it through its paces.

You can pay as much for smaller cars, but why should you? When the full-size Coronet looks get you going, bet your boots its price won't slow you down. Dodge Coronet for '65—that's the spirit.

HERE'S HOW DODGE'S 5-YEAR, 50,000-MILE ENGINE AND DRIVE TRAIN WARRANTY PROTECTS YOU. Chrysler Corporation confidently warrants all of the following vital parts of its 1965 cars for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, during which time any such parts that prove defective in material and workmanship will be replaced or repaired at a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer's place of business without charge for such parts or labor: engine block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts (excluding manual clutch), torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings. REQUIRED MAINTENANCE: The following maintenance services are required under the warranty—change engine oil every 3 months or 4,000 miles, whichever comes first; replace oil filter every second oil change; clean carburetor air filter every 6 months and replace it every 2 years; and every 6 months furnish evidence of this required service to a Chrysler Motors Corporation Authorized Dealer and request him to certify receipt of such evidence and your car's mileage. Simple enough for such important protection.

Flood Waters
Hit in Texas

DEL RIO, Tex. (AP) — Flood waters drove Del Rio residents from homes near San Felipe Creek late Wednesday night for the second time in three days.

Five inches of rain fell before midnight, bringing the total in the Mexican border city to 14 inches this week. The downpour continued.

Civil defense workers in high-wheeled vehicles helped nearly 400 people to safety. About 100 were housed in the Del Rio High School. Others took shelter with friends and relatives.

Similar flooding from another small creek was reported just across the border in Villa Acuna, Mexico.

RIO GRANDE

At the International Bridge between Del Rio and Villa Acuna the Rio Grande, laden with runoff from heavy rains the past four days, climbed to 21 feet — five feet above flood level.

Gadgets to Allow Farm Animals to Feed Selves

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP) — With new gadgets coming out, farm animals will be able to feed themselves in the future, greatly reducing farm labor requirements, a Michigan State University scientist says.

Carl W. Hall told the Sixth International Congress of Agricultural Engineers this week that new mechanization will allow farm animals to activate devices for dispensing their own feed and water.

Proper mechanization, he said, can cut the time required for feeding of laying hens to one-twentieth of what it is now. Hall, chairman of MSU's Department of Agricultural Engineering, is vice president-elect of the international congress — the first U.S. member to hold an office in the organization.

Gladys' Destructive Punch
Skirts New England Area

BOSTON, Mass. (UPI) — Hurricane Gladys swept her rainy skirt over coastal New England today but her destructive punch landed in the North Atlantic, 140 miles from land.

Tides were two to three feet above normal in some sections, but no flooding was reported. Gladys, packing 80-mile-an-hour winds near the center, no longer was a threat to New England. The closest it came to land was when it passed 140 miles southeast of Nantucket Island early today.

As it continued to push its way northeast at 23 miles an hour, its center was more than 250 miles east of Cape Cod just before dawn.

Gale warnings were lowered from Exeter, Maine, to Block Island, R.I. Small-craft warnings remained hoisted because of winds moving in with a cold front from the West.

The Weather Bureau said Boston and most of southeastern New England received more than one inch of rain from Gladys.

A 12-year-old Wakefield, R.I. boy was swept into Narragansett Bay while standing on slippery rocks, watching the heavy ocean swell.

He was in the water more than an hour before rescued by an heroic Coast Guardsman who dove into the surf from a 44-foot cutter.

Storm-torn New England took no chances when officials announced the possibility of Gladys hitting land. The region's huge fishing fleets put into port 24 hours before the hurricane even neared the area.

RESCUE READINESS

The Coast Guard search and rescue men and units were in "condition three," which is readiness for rescue and other operations in the arrests of 10 eruptions. Coast Guard light ships were ordered to seek cover.

Cutters and rescue boats were refueled and stocked with provisions. They were ready to go at a minute's notice.

The Pollock Rip light ship, usually stationed six miles off Chatham on Cape Cod, sought anchorage in the lee of Monomoy Point.

At the coastal city of Milford, Conn., officials put cots, food and medical supplies in three schools in case residents had to leave their homes.

The Nantucket steamship authority canceled all ferry runs from Woods Hole to Nantucket.

U. S. Prelates

Religious Freedom on Ecumenical Agenda

VATICAN CITY, (AP) — More American prelates of the Roman Catholic Church planned to add their voices today to the Vatican Ecumenical Council's controversial discussion on religious freedom.

Bishop Ernest Primeau of Manchester, N.H., one of the top orators among the 244 Roman Catholic bishops of the United States, was to be the day's first American speaker before the 2,500 council fathers in St. Peter's Basilica.

Also listed to speak were Archbishop Lawrence J. Shehan of Baltimore and the Most Rev. Father Joseph Buckley of Wheeling, W.Va., superior-general of the Marist Order of Priests.

A member of the council commission that drafted the proposed declaration on religious freedom said there was little doubt that it would be approved eventually.

HAS RIGHT

"We are hoping to win not votes but convictions," he said.

The declaration says that every human has the right to free exercise of religion according to the dictates of his own conscience. It adds that man should be immune from any outside force in his personal relations with God.

American bishops made a strong defense of the proposed declaration as soon as it was introduced for debate Wednesday.

Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston considered the subject so important that he spoke in the council for the first time since it began in 1962. He said the entire world awaited council action on man's freedom to follow his conscience on his religious convictions.

Cardinals Albert Meyer of Chicago and Joseph Ritter of St. Louis also urged approval of the declaration. The other two American Cardinals were not present. Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York is in the United States recovering from an operation and James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles is convalescing in Rome.

You're Still Young (or Nuts)

Do the Beatles Amuse You?

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Many people know how old they feel—but not how young they are. But there are tests for youth. For example, you're still young, at least by the spirit's calendar, if— You spend more time planning for tomorrow than remembering yesterday. The antics of the Beatles and their admirers amuse you more than they depress you. When you see a small group of children playing hopscotch, you have a secret impulse to join the game. You can win the confidence of teenagers, and not think their dreams much more foolish than your own. IT'S ONLY MONEY In a real pinch you are willing to lend an acquaintance more money than you believe you really can afford. You can buy a new suit without boring the salesman with how much more expensive clothes are now than when you were a boy. When you open a package, you automatically throw the string away instead of winding it into a small ball and putting it into a drawer. At least once during the last year you've read a trashy novel that was a waste of time—but you enjoyed it anyway. You go to a baseball or football game because you want to. No day is quite long enough to get done all the things you have in mind.

Every now and then you ponder over whether it wouldn't still be a good idea to grow a moustache or a beard. The fringe benefits of your present position, such as seniority, insurance and pension program, haven't made you a prisoner. You still jump to another job if you found one that was more exciting. You spend more time getting things done than in writing memos about why they're impossible. It is still possible for you to stay up after midnight without worrying about how terrible you'll feel in the morning. KNOW WEAKNESS You recognize your prejudices for what they are—prejudices—instead of trying to venerate them as virtues. If you make a fool of yourself, you don't stay awake all night brooding about it. You'd rather go to a new place on a vacation than return to one you've been to many times before. Girls seem to get better-looking every summer—even though you don't do much about them anymore. When you read that they're wearing a new flavored lipstick this season, this doesn't seem silly to you—you wonder how it tastes. AVOID BORES At a cocktail party you don't spend all your time talking to old bores you know. You find it more interesting to talk to new ones you haven't met before. You know you ought to read the fine print in your life insurance policy, but somehow you never quite get around to doing it. You don't walk or ride to work the same way every day. You're not afraid to try a new dish or a new restaurant. When a full moon strides an autumn sky, it stirs in you a suppressed desire to run away from home and see what lies beyond the far hills. But, of course, if you do actually run away from home it may not prove you're still young. It may only prove you're in your second childhood.

Crime on the Decrease, Says Slav Prosecutor

BELGRADE (AP) — Crime is going down in Yugoslavia, according to France Hovevar, federal state prosecutor. He said that in 1959 there were 2.2 cases of theft per 1,000 inhabitants while last year the number dropped to 1.6 cases per 1,000. The number of murders is now one-third less than before the war, Hovevar said.

Americans will spend a record $130 million for sunglasses this year, according to Chemical Week magazine.

Dream Comes True:

Utility Bills Torn Up

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — That long-dreamed-of day when they could tear up their utility bills came for about 4,000 Tulsa families recently. Human error and computer speed combined to produce the faulty bills, which were in the mail before the mistake was discovered. The families had been billed for two months service instead of one.

There were 102 Puritans aboard the ship Mayflower on its two-month voyage from England to Cape Cod.

Road Crash Is Fatal

MONROE (AP) — Robert A. Miller, 51, of rural Fremont, Ohio, was killed Wednesday when his car hit the rear of a semitractor and trailer on I-75 in Monroe County near the Michigan - Ohio state line.

Junior Editors Quiz on FOG

QUESTION: What is fog? What causes it?
ANSWER: To understand what fog is, think of a cloud resting close to and touching the ground. Walk through it and you'll be walking through fog. If you could easily see through it, however, it would be called "mist." In the picture, Jerry's father is about to explain the cause of fog. The moist warm air coming out of the kettle, he will go on to say, is striking the cooler air of the kitchen; this causes the water vapor in the warm air to condense or become visible as steam or fog. In the same way, fog is often formed when warm moist air (lower left) blows from the land over a colder ocean or over snow or ice, this is "advection fog." On clear nights, fog may be formed another way, as heat from the ground "radiates" or escapes into the cooler, upper air (lower right). Still another way fog may form is when, in clean weather at night, light winds blow cool air along the surface, mixing it with the warm air and causing the water vapor to condense into fog.
FOR YOU TO DO: Look through the steam coming out of the spout of a boiling kettle and you will get the same effect as though you were looking through fog.

Not Long in Coming

Venezuela Chief to Be Measured by 2 Critical Tests

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—President Raul Leoni has looked pretty good saddling the broncos, but how'll he be doing them?

Many Venezuelans, wondering whether their new president is a political genius or just plain lucky, are asking this question.

A hint won't be long in coming. The Castroite guerrillas, who hold a key to stability in this country, have announced the start of a new "liberation" war. And by mid-October, culminating months of negotiation, a new coalition government will be in operation.

These two developments likely will provide critical tests to measure the big, affable Leoni. In his six months in office, nothing extraordinarily exciting or difficult has stirred this country wracked by almost continuous storms during the five years of Rómulo Betancourt's incumbency.

STILL OPERATING

The guerrillas still are operating in the mountains and villages of the interior, although not as spectacularly as before. Many think the terrorist bands are almost as busy as before, but that Leoni has weakened their propaganda worth by reacting more conservatively to their activities than Betancourt did.

There's nothing really exciting to Venezuelans about pres-perity. By mid-1964, foreign exchange reserves were up to $336 million, a gain of $136 million over mid-1963 figures. The sum represents nearly a third of all gold and foreign exchange holdings in Latin America. On a per capita basis, these reserves are higher than those in the United States.

The value of private construction in the first quarter was $67 million, the top mark in four years, while bank deposits reached their highest peak in history, just over a billion. The foreign debt is a relatively paltry $174 million. The gross national product, some $6.7 billion in 1963, is growing at a healthy 6 per cent annual clip, well above the 3.6 per cent birthrate.

Political stability is essential to the preservation and stimulation of this economic expansion. This is why, since taking office in March, Leoni and his lieutenants have been busy forming a coalition to give the ruling, moderately left Acción Democrática party the congressional majority it needs to legislate without trouble. A coalition is necessary because the last general elections gave the government only 66 of 158 seats in the Chamber of Deputies and 23 of 51 in the Senate.

The new political partnership with two ex-rivals, the leftist Republican Democratic Union and the centrist National Democratic Front, should be installed by mid-October.

This is the forecast of the coalition's chief architect, Interior Minister Gonzalo Barrios, who says "no dramatic national policy changes" are contemplated under the new regime.

The country's oil policy ruling out new foreign concessions will continue oriented toward eventual takeover of the giant industry that now produces nearly 93 per cent of Venezuela's $2.6 billion export earnings. The bulk of the foreign concessions expire in 1963, but there is talk that Venezuela, contemplating the slow growth of Mexico's nationalized oil industry, may attempt a new approach at operating the industry in partnership with foreign companies. On foreign affairs, Barrios says diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union and other Iron Curtain countries are not primary issues and may be taken up later if national interest requires it. Venezuela has diplomatic ties with Yugoslavia and Poland and there's a Czech trade mission here. Rejecting relations with Moscow last December, Betancourt said a Soviet Embassy here would mean a corresponding increase in Venezuelan security forces to watch Soviet diplomats.

Venezuela has accused the Soviet base in Latin America — Cuba — of aggression and subversion by supplying arms and material to the Castroite guerrillas.

There is a belief among coalition members that diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union might neutralize at least one sector within the guerrilla ranks. Others feel a general amnesty for all political prisoners — mostly guerrilla terrorists — might achieve the same thing. But Barrios has ruled out amnesty except possibly on an individual basis because "there can be no premium on crime."

While it would be foolish to expect guerrillas to remain idle, their policy of violence has been a failure, says Barrios, 62, a bachelor lawyer regarded by intimates as 1963 presidential timber.

CATASTROPHIC

If the campaign of terror has failed, the results of the Castroite attempts to gain power through peaceful means have been catastrophic. After the overthrow of dictator Marcos Pérez Jiménez in 1958, the Communists moved quickly into strategic positions in the government, Congress, labor, the student ranks and the press — and lost everything in the ensuing bid, first tactical then violent, for ultimate power.

Because of this, those who disagree with Barrios' evaluation consider the left-wing extremists have no path left but continued violence.

With all its riches and potential — a short hop to the Panama Canal and at the gates to the south — Venezuela remains the prime requisite for Communist expansion in South America.

This is why those who differ with Barrios' views believe the guerrillas mean business with their newly announced "liberation" campaign.

TERRORISTS DYNAMITING — A police truck is imbedded in wreckage after Venezuelan terrorists dynamited a bridge over which the truck was passing at Santa Lucia, near Caracas. Three of the nine patrolmen aboard were injured. The attack was attributed to members of the pro-Castro Armed Forces of National Liberation.

TRUCK TERROR—A sickle from a grass mower has been turned into a dangerous weapon in the current dispute over livestock withholding. James Rhoads of the Minnesota Crime Bureau inspects one of the blades at St. Paul after it was picked up from a highway. Such weapons as this have been used to stop livestock trucks from reaching markets.

Illinois Police Fight to Halt Livestock Market Violence

CHICAGO (UPI)—Illinois State Police today beefed up patrols on highways used by livestock trucks and a wild-ranging investigation was started in Iowa in an attempt to stop violence connected with the National Farmers Organization market rebellion.

Several NFO members have been arrested during the group's five-week effort to raise on-the-hoof livestock prices by withholding cattle, sheep and hogs from market.

Most of the violence and sabotage reported during the campaign has not been definitely linked with the NFO. But the incidents have been directed mainly against farmers and truckers not participating in the NFO holding action.

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner ordered the state police to "increase its vigilance on highways where livestock is known to be transported." Livestock trucks carrying cattle to market have been damaged by gunfire and tire-slashing devices.

County Atty. Edward Samore at Sioux City, Iowa, said he plans to issue subpoenas to about 45 persons he wants to question about fence cuttings, tire punctures and threats. He said the continuing investigation would be on the order of a grand jury probe.

LATEST INCIDENT

Samore said the latest incident of vandalism occurred when a farmer found an 8-inch-long steel bar tied around a cornstalk in his field. The attorney said the bar apparently was intended to damage the farmer's corn-chopping machine.

A loaded cattle truck went out of control and crashed after it ran over sickle blades placed on a highway near Danube, Minn., yesterday.

The 28 cattle were uninjured, but the truck received $1,000 damages.

A fire also destroyed two lumber sheds owned by a Muncie, Ind., meat packer yesterday, causing damage estimated at "less than $100,000." Police said the fire was the work of an arsonist.

PICKETS PATROL

Pickets appeared at livestock yards at Appleton and Juda, Wis., someone threw rocks at a cattle truck near Bixby, Minn., and an Iowa livestock hauler said his truck was fired on near Hopkins, Mo.

The NFO conducted several delaying actions similar to one at Perry, Iowa, where 100 pickup trucks, each loaded with just one or two hogs, blocked the loading ramp of the Iowa Pork Co. and prevented fully loaded semi-trailer cattle trucks from unloading.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley said yesterday that several picketers have agreed to sign contracts on the NFO's terms. But Staley said he could not reveal the names and jeopardize their competitive position.

Broiler-Fryer Chickens Good Buy

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Once again chicken — that is broiler-fryers — is on the USDA list of plentiful foods.

Did you know that the wishbone superstition supposedly started long ago with the Etruscans who used the collar bone of a "secret fowl" in fortune-telling?

Be that as it may, there's good fortune for those who put chicken on their grocery list; it is most reasonable in price.

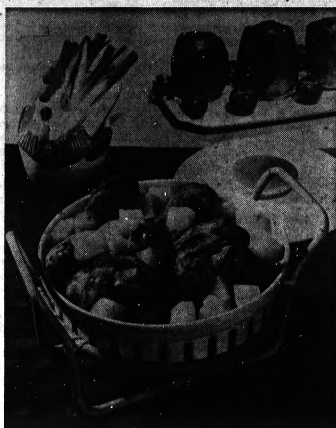

Remember that broiler-fryers are tender young birds that cook quickly. They're adaptable to meals around the clock.

Weight watchers who groan when they encounter chicken heavily coated with bread or crumbs will appreciate the following recipe. The spices and herbs rubbed on before broiling add unusual zest to the fowl. Fruit is always a welcome addition to a chicken dish.

Pineapple Chicken Paprika
2 teaspoons paprika
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon finely crumbled rosemary or oregano
1 (2½ to 3-pound) frying chicken, cut up
½ cup water
1 (13½-ounce) can pineapple chunks

Blend together paprika, seasoned salt, pepper and rosemary. Roll chicken pieces in seasonings. Arrange chicken close together in shallow baking pan. Place about 3 inches under broiler.

Broil until chicken begins to brown, watching to prevent burning. Turn and brown other side. Reduce oven heat to moderate (350 degrees F.). Add water to chicken, cover tightly with lid or foil.

Bake 25 to 30 minutes or until chicken is almost tender. Drain pineapple. Add chunks to chicken, cover and continue baking 10 minutes longer. Makes 4 servings. Each serving 204 calories.

Broiler-fryers are excellent for rotisserie cooking. They come out golden-brown and marvelously juicy.

Here's another plus for chicken. According to one home economics expert:

All meats are good sources of the vitamin riboflavin and chicken rates above beef, pork, lamb and veal in its contents of this vitamin.

You might consider taking a rotisserie chicken to the first Saturday football game if you're planning a tailgate picnic lunch. Sprinkle neck and body cavities of whole broiler-fryer chicken with 1 teaspoon MSG and ¼ teaspoon salt. If desired, stuff with favorite stuffing.

Hook wing tips onto back to hold neck skin, or skewer the wings to body. Tie legs together and then to tail. Place spit of electric rotisserie on drip tray. Slip chicken onto spit with legs downward.

Brush chicken with melted butter or margarine. Add ½ cup water or broth to drip tray. Cover rotisserie; roast for 40 to 50 minutes, or according to chart with rotisserie. Chicken should be brown, and fleshy part of drumstick should be soft.

Remove from spit to heated platter. Garnish as desired.

For barbecued chicken, prepare without stuffing. Brush outside surface with barbecue sauce 5 minutes before end of cooking time. Cover; finish roasting.

The last recipe is for a quick casserole. Once in the oven, it needs no watching and you can prepare the rest of your dinner without interruption.

Crisp Noodle Chicken
1 cut-up broiler-fryer
1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ package dry onion soup mix
½ teaspoon pepper
1 can chow mein noodles

Arrange broiler-fryer in shallow 6-cup casserole. In separate bowl, combine soup, sour cream, onion soup mix and pepper. Blend thoroughly and spread over chicken. Add noodles. Bake 1 hour or until chicken is tender in 375-degree oven.

Keep Paraffin in Thin Layer

A word of caution about the paraffin you use on top of your jams and jellies. Here is what Roberta Hershey, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University has to say on the subject:

"The heavier the layer, the more it pulls away from the sides of the jelly glass and allows the jelly to spoil," she explains. The paraffin should be ¼ inch thick, she says. This calls for about one tablespoon of melted paraffin for a standard 6-ounce glass.

Improper sealing may cause jelly or jam to darken at the top of the container, to ferment or to mold.

Spicy-Sweet Buns

Williamsburg Favorites

Visitors to historic Williamsburg, Va., have a chance to sample food made from recipes used by the early settlers. Spicy-sweet Williamsburg Buns still rank as a favorite throughout the country, as well as in Virginia.

Williamsburg Buns

½ cup milk
¼ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup (½ stick) margarine
¾ cup warm water (105-115 degrees)
1 package or cake yeast, active dry or compressed
1 egg, beaten
2½ cups unsifted flour
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon mace

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large warm bowl. Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved.

Add lukewarm milk mixture egg and half the flour. Beat until smooth. Blend in spices and remaining flour. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, for 1 hour.

Stir batter down. Divide among 12 greased muffin cups, filling them about ¾ full. Let rise in warm place, free from draft, until dough rounds slightly above tops of cups, about 1 hour.

Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 15 minutes, or until done.

GRASSHOPPER MOLD — This will be a success on the company buffet. The dish is a gelled version of the classic Grasshopper

Cocktail, and was served at Saratoga Race-course to celebrate the Diamond Jubilee of the leading manufacturer of unflavored gelatine.

It's Rich, It's Elegant, It's Minty

A handsome dessert mold can be a triumph at your buffet supper. While the dish looks elaborate, it is not difficult to make. Grasshopper Mold requires little cooking; only a few minutes necessary to dissolve the gelatin in liquid.

Into the mixture go green creme de menthe and white creme de cacao liqueurs that make the Grasshopper Cocktail. The mold is garnished with whipped cream if desired, and served with more whipped cream sprinkled with chocolate cookie crumbs. The minty flavor of the mold is a fine foil for the whipped cream and chocolate crumbs.

To unmold, dip the mold in warm (not hot) water in the depth of its contents. Loosen around the edge with the tip of a paring knife. Place a serving dish on top of the mold and turn it upside down. Shake, holding the serving dish tightly to the mold. If the gelatine does not unmold readily, repeat the procedure.

Grasshopper Mold
2 envelopes unflavored gelatine
1 cup cold water
1 cup sugar, divided
¼ teaspoon salt
6 eggs, separated
½ cup green creme de menthe
½ cup white creme de cacao
2 cups heavy cream, whipped
Sprinkle gelatine over water in medium saucepan. Add ¼ cup of the sugar, salt, and egg yolks; stir until thoroughly blended. Place over low heat; stir constantly until gelatine dissolves and mixture thickens slightly, about 5 minutes.

Remove from heat; stir in creme de menthe and creme de cacao. Chill, stirring occasionally, until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from spoon.
Beat egg whites in large bowl until stiff but not dry. Gradually add remaining ¼ cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold in gelatine mixture. Fold in whipped cream.
Turn into 12-cup mold. Chill until firm. If desired, garnish with additional whipped cream and serve with whipped cream and sprinkled with chocolate cookie crumbs.

Remove From Can

Although it's safe to store tomatoes in the refrigerator in an open can, it's not a good idea to do so because the tomatoes may take on a metallic taste.

Layer Fruit and Dough in Coffee Cake

Rich coffee cake to serve warm.

Crumble Coffee Cake
¾ cup sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
¾ cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ cup shortening
1 egg, beaten slightly and blended with ½ cup milk
Prune Filling
In a mixing bowl stir together the flour, baking powder, salt, sugar and crumbs. Cut in shortening until fine. Add egg-milk mixture and stir until dry ingredients are moistened.

Spread ¾ cup of the batter over the bottom of a greased 8-inch round ovenproof glass cake dish (2 inches deep). Drop half the Prune Filling in small blobs over batter. Cover with remaining batter and drop remaining Prune Filling over this.

Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until cake shrinks from sides of dish — about 25 minutes. Cut in wedges and serve warm from dish.

Prune Filling
Crumble together 2 tablespoons each flour and butter with ½ cup firmly packed dark brown sugar, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind and 1 teaspoon cinnamon; add ½ cup chopped pitted unsweetened cooked prunes and ¼ cup chopped walnuts.

Grapes in Syrup

Nothing could be easier than halving and seeding crisp Tokays and heating them briefly with syrup to pour over hot cakes, waffles, French toast or buttered biscuits. Or add halved Tokays to your favorite cream sauce and spoon over green beans, broccoli or asparagus.

Fold halved and seeded Tokay grapes into creamy tapioca pudding just before serving to give an everyday dessert a royal appearance.

Wine Sauce for Shell Macaroni

The same good ingredients go into this casserole dish that are called for in your best spaghetti recipe. The only change is the pasta. Macaroni in the shape of shells adds variety and a change of pace from the traditional spaghetti noodles.

The California Burgundy which blends together the herbs and tomatoes in the sauce during the slow simmering period would be a perfect beverage to serve with this hearty pasta dish. Or, choose one of the "vino rosso" wines, also produced in California.

Tossed Macaroni Shells
1 cup chopped onion
2 cloves garlic, minced
¼ cup olive or salad oil
1 pound ground beef chuck
2 teaspoons salt
Freshly ground black pepper
¼ teaspoon each dried rosemary, oregano and sweet basil
1 (1-lb.) can tomatoes
1 (6-oz.) can tomato paste
1 cup California Burgundy

Claret or other red dinner wine
¾ cup chopped or sliced ripe olives
¼ teaspoon sugar
1 (12-oz.) package large-shell macaroni
¼ cups shredded Parmesan cheese
¾ cup minced parsley
Try onion and garlic in hot oil till soft. Add beef, toss and cook till it loses its red color. Season with salt, pepper and herbs.

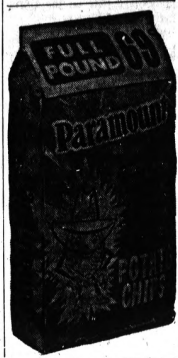

Stir in tomatoes, tomato paste, wine, ripe olives and sugar. Cover and simmer 30 minutes to 2 hours, depending on your time.

Cereal Base of Confection for Lunch

Back to school! Bells are ringing. There are sounds of shuffling feet, laughter and excited chatter as school resumes for another year.

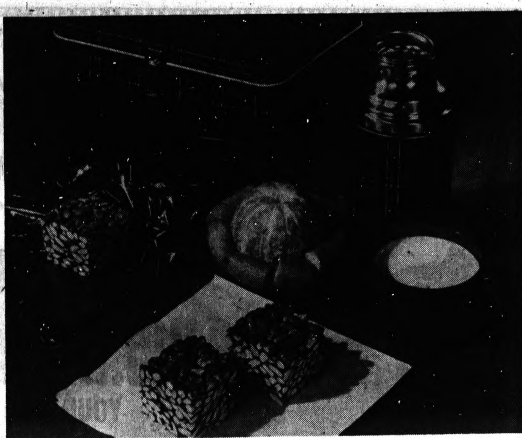

Each and every child delves eagerly into his lunch to see what "goodies" Mother has packed. Dessert is always lots of fun so make it a special treat, Mom, and send along Chocolate-Mint Squares.

Chewy squares made with puffed rice or puffed wheat, marshmallows and chocolate fudge topping are just the thing to build up energy for the afternoon ahead. Wrap the squares individually in plastic wrap or waxed paper to keep them chewy 'n' delicious.

Chocolate-Mint Squares
6 cups puffed rice or puffed wheat
2 cups miniature marshmallows
½ cup fudge topping
Few drops peppermint extract

Heat puffed rice in shallow baking pan in preheated 350-degree oven about 10 minutes. Combine marshmallows, fudge topping and extract in top of double boiler. Heat over hot water, stirring occasionally, until marshmallows are melted.

Place puffed rice in well-greased large bowl. Pour marshmallow mixture over puffed rice, stirring to coat all kernels evenly. Firmly press mixture into greased 8-inch square pan. Refrigerate until mixture hardens. Cut into squares.

LUNCH BOX DESSERT — Chocolate-Mint Squares made with puffed rice or puffed wheat make back-to-school lunch time a special occasion. Complete the dessert with a whole orange. Oranges are much easier to eat when you cut the skin into sections and partially peel it back—it's more attractive and appetizing, too, isn't it?

Quick Beet Soup Is Served Cold

Chill the foods needed, then this soup will be ready to serve as soon as it is prepared.

Cold Beet Soup Francess

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed bouillon, chilled
1 can (1 pound) shoestring beets, chilled
2½ cups ice-cold water
¼ cup each sugar and lemon juice
¼ teaspoon salt

White pepper to taste
1 container (8 ounces) commercial sour cream
Diced cucumber and scallions

Stir together the undiluted bouillon, undrained beets, water, sugar, lemon juice, salt, pepper and ¼ cup of the sour cream; beat gently to blend cream. Makes 1½ quarts.

Serve at once passing the remaining ¼ cup sour cream and the cucumber and scallion as toppings. If soup is refrigerated for any length of time before serving, more sugar will probably have to be added.

Buttermilk Substitute

To substitute sweet milk for buttermilk in a muffin or quick bread recipe, pour a tablespoon of strained lemon juice into a 1-cup measure and fill the cup with the sweet milk. Allow the lemon juice and milk mixture to stand for five minutes before using after stirring.

Nutmeg for Cake

Is there a nutmeg grinder in your kitchen? Next time you bake a white or yellow butter cake, add some of the freshly ground spice along with vanilla.

Plum Season Short

"Plum" good eating is in store—for the consumers who take advantage of the plentiful supplies of fresh, tree-ripened plums.

To choose the best of the batch, look for plump, clean, fresh-in-appearance, fully-colored plums that are soft enough to yield to slight pressure. And fully-colored they are, although the color when fully ripe, depends on the variety.

Some plums are yellowish-green when ripe, others should be orange-red and still others are purplish-blue or almost black. A pleasing aroma indicates ripeness in some varieties.

To get the full advantage of rich ripeness, plan to use fresh plums promptly. If they are ripe store them uncovered in the refrigerator and use within 3 to 5 days.

If they are not yet ripe, allow to ripen in the open air at room temperature—but, not in the sun.

A record-large crop—38 per cent above average—is expected this summer, according to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service. These plums began to appear in Midwest markets in June and are expected to reach a peak in July and August.

Make this "plum delicious" fruit last all year. Plums make excellent jams, jellies and preserves. And they also can be canned or frozen for future use.

Plum Sauce

Pit and thinly slice 2 cups fresh plums. In saucepan combine ½ cup honey and ¼ cup pineapple juice. Add ¼ teaspoon each cinnamon and salt, stir to blend and heat until sauce be-

Mash an Avocado for Salad Dressing

Avocado dressing gives subtle flavor to a number of salads. Try it this winter with grapefruit.

Avocado Cream Dressing

1 ripe avocado
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Dash of cayenne or hot pepper sauce
Salt to taste

Peel and dice avocado in mixing bowl, mash thoroughly and add remaining ingredients. Blend together thoroughly. Serve with cold shellfish or on tomato slices. Makes 1½ cups dressing.

Use the same amount of salt—¼ teaspoon for each cup of milk in making a white sauce whether the sauce is thin, medium or thick.

IGNORES SECURITY — French President Charles de Gaulle extends hands in greeting over shoulders of security guards to answer welcome by pupils of the French Lyceum in Bogota, Colombia, yesterday. Despite the 3,000-man security force guarding the president, crowds swarmed around him when he left his car to walk among them.

Heads for Ecuador

DeGaulle Mum on Canal for Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle winds up his visit to Colombia today, leaving unanswered the question of French aid for an interoceanic canal across the Colombian isthmus.

The French chief of state ignored feelers for the canal project during his 40-hour visit here, the second stop on his 10-nation tour of South America. Ecuador is his next stop.

Government officials hoped de Gaulle's visit might result in noteworthy trade and technical agreements. The idea of a modern canal spanning the narrow isthmus of northwest Colombia was high on the list of possibilities.

President Guillermo Leon Valencia broached the subject Tuesday night at a state dinner in honor of de Gaulle. He raised the possibility of France taking the lead in forming an international construction organization with U.S. help.

NO MENTION De Gaulle did not mention the subject then or Wednesday during his address to a joint session of the Colombian Congress.

A communique issued by de Gaulle and Valencia Wednesday night reaffirmed their desire to support stabilized prices for basic products. To Colombia this means coffee, cotton, bananas and petroleum.

France also promised increased assistance in limited technical fields.

An estimated one million persons got a glimpse of de Gaulle during his motor trips about the city. Many others saw him over government television outlets. The national radio network gave detailed accounts of his doings.

Police, fearful of an attempt on his life, arrested 210 persons and were holding them until de Gaulle's departure. The army said a top member of the anti-de Gaulle French Secret Army Organization, Col. Pierre Chateau Jobert, was believed hiding in Bogota.

Crackdown on Dope in NY Suburb

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A crackdown on narcotics users in this New York City suburb has resulted in the arrests of 10 more young men aged 17 to 23.

The arrests Wednesday night brought to 22 the number of persons seized in the drive, which began last month after city officials said narcotics addiction was spreading to sons and daughters of well-to-do families.

Police Chief William F. Polsen said the latest roundup was conducted by city police, Westchester County sheriff's deputies and federal narcotics agents.

The defendants were charged with various narcotics counts, burglary, assault and resisting arrest.

Polsen said the arrests solved a recent burglary of an animal hospital, where hypodermic needles were stolen. He also said some of the defendants stole auto parts to finance purchase of narcotics.

Daniel F. McMahon, public safety commissioner of this city of 200,000, announced last month that narcotics addiction was a growing problem among the youth of the city, especially in the better neighborhoods.

He said at that time that police had stemmed the narcotics traffic, "but we're left with a wake of addicts."

Police had estimated that there were up to 100 addicts and 500 occasional users of heroin, marijuana or barbiturates in the city, with about 40 of them in a stylish northwest Yonkers neighborhood.

New Bridge to Open

Barry's Views Mean Coextinction---Adlai

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson assailed Sen. Barry Goldwater's views on foreign policy today and declared that they mean coextinction.

The chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations said in a speech prepared for delivery to the World Affairs Council that a "militant minority" had rejected bipartisan American foreign policy in favor of "a doctrinal rag-bag filled with bits and pieces of old dogmas and new provocations."

This minority view, Stevenson declared, "sounds more like a call for religious war than a policy for peace."

"And if it can be thought of as a policy, it can be thought of only as a policy of conversion or extinction. And nowadays that means coextinction."

NO MENTION Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee in 1952 and 1956, did not mention Goldwater by name, but the Republican presidential nominee and his supporters were clearly his targets.

"If the practice of tolerance is equated with appeasement," said Stevenson, "if courage is equated with nervous readiness to pull the trigger; if restraint is equated with cowardice, and maturity with indecision; if fear of nuclear war is derided and verbal violence encouraged; then the values — the first principles — on which this society was built are sunk without trace."

He said the U.S. government had worked hard "to move the world out of the sterile stalemate of cold war" and "toward an alternative to Armageddon."

American foreign policy, Stevenson said, was not a Democratic or a Republican policy but "genuine bottled-in-bond American foreign policy — the product of the presidents and the State Departments and the Cabinets and the National Security Councils and the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the congressional leadership of four American administrations."

MAJORITY OK That policy, Stevenson declared, was "broadly based on the approval of a majority of the American people" and had been "tested in the fiery trials of what may well prove to be the most dangerous and hopeful period in the history of mankind."

He said the world had become less dangerous than it was a short time ago not through "reckless bluff" but "through plenty of power used with plenty of restraint."

Shoe Shiners Get Brush-Off

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — It was a brush-off for a proposed shoe shine parlor for young women dressed in scanty costumes doing the polishing.

City Council Licenses Committee Wednesday turned down the proposal of two men who planned to set up business across from City Hall.

"Your business is based on sexy girls," admonished Councilman Robert MacGregor. "If you had fully clothed, middle-aged women, you'd go broke."

Women Walk Out; Lunch Hour Too Long

NORWICH, England (UPI) — More than 100 women walked off the job at a shoe factory yesterday complaining their one hour lunch break was too long. They later returned when the management agreed to discuss their demand for a half-hour lunch so they could get home earlier in the evening.

Russia to Fund U. A. R. Work

$300 Million Due to Boost Influence

MOSCO W(UPI)—The Soviet Union is making a $300-million investment in the United Arab Republic in the belief that the dividends will be increased influence in the Arab world, diplomats said today.

The figure was announced yesterday in a joint communique at the end of U. A. R. Premier Ali Sabry's visit. It represented the $280-million, low-interest loan Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev promised the Egyptians when he visited the U. A. R. in May, plus money left over from a 1958 Soviet aid program.

U. A. R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government will use the Soviet funds to reclaim the Libyan Delta Desert for farmland and to build a metal and machine tool industry with Soviet technical help.

The program supplements the estimated $400 million the Soviets are contributing to the $1-billion cost of the Aswan High Dam. Khrushchev's visit in May was for ceremonies on completion of the first stage of the dam.

The Tass News Agency said the additional aid money is being lent the U. A. R. at low interest rates, the same arrangement as the Aswan funds.

CYPRUS, CONGO

Sabry, who flew to Prague yesterday, agreed in the communique with the Soviet line on the Cyprus and Congo issues. He called for the removal of British bases from the island. In the Congo, both sides demanded a stop to "interference of the colonial powers."

Diplomats said the heavy investment in the U. A. R. is expected by Moscow to pay off in more instances of such support.

The first American city to register a population on 1 million in the federal census was New York City in 1880 with 1,206,299.

HOMEcoming — Gary, Ruby, 17 (center) was born at East Lansing when his father was attending MSU under the GI bill in 1946. Now he's enrolling as a freshman.

His father, William, and mother show him a picture of the barracks the family lived in back in that era. The new residence hall in background is now on the site.

It's Like Coming Home for New MSU Student

EAST LANSING (AP)—It will be a homecoming for Gary Ruby, 17, of Clarence, N. Y., when he starts freshman classes at Michigan State University Oct. 1.

Gary was born when his father, William, now with the Cornell University Aeronautical Engineering Laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., was a student at MSU under the GI Bill in 1946.

The family was living in a nearby trailer court at the time. A year later they moved to a tarpaper-covered barracks on the campus, one of many that housed thousands of GI students of that era.

The family lived in the barracks in 1951 until the father, a former B-17 pilot in Italy, neared a bachelor's and master's degree in engineering.

Gary plans to major in electrical engineering.

TRAIN FACILITIES

MSU officials said Gary typifies the 3.4 million postwar babies born in 1946 and now straining college and university facilities.

A 20 per cent increase in freshman enrollments was expected across the nation this fall. MSU officials predict their own increase will be higher.

Many Ships Fly Swiss Flag

GENEVA, Switzerland (U)—Thirty-two ships with a total of 165,595 tonnage fly the Swiss flag, sail the Seven Seas, and are registered with the Swiss Shipping office.

The ships are variously owned by 13 Swiss companies, and the oldest was built in 1947.

The Swiss high seas fleet was created during World War II to ensure national supplies.

Since there were very few sailors of Swiss nationality, original crews were recruited from nationals of neutral or nonbelligerent nations.

To give young Swiss an opportunity to learn seamanship, two or three were posted in each ship. Today, 666 of the 988 persons in the crew of today's Swiss ships are natives.

Siamese Twin Dies in Chicago

CHICAGO (U)—One of the Jaquet Siamese twins died last night, four days after birth. His brother was reported to be holding his own, although still on the critical list.

Donald Jaquet died of complications caused by a congenital heart ailment and the absence of a large intestine, said a spokesman at Children's Memorial Hospital.

The condition of the other twin, Ronald, reportedly had stabilized. A negative chest X ray erased earlier fears he had pneumonia, doctors said.

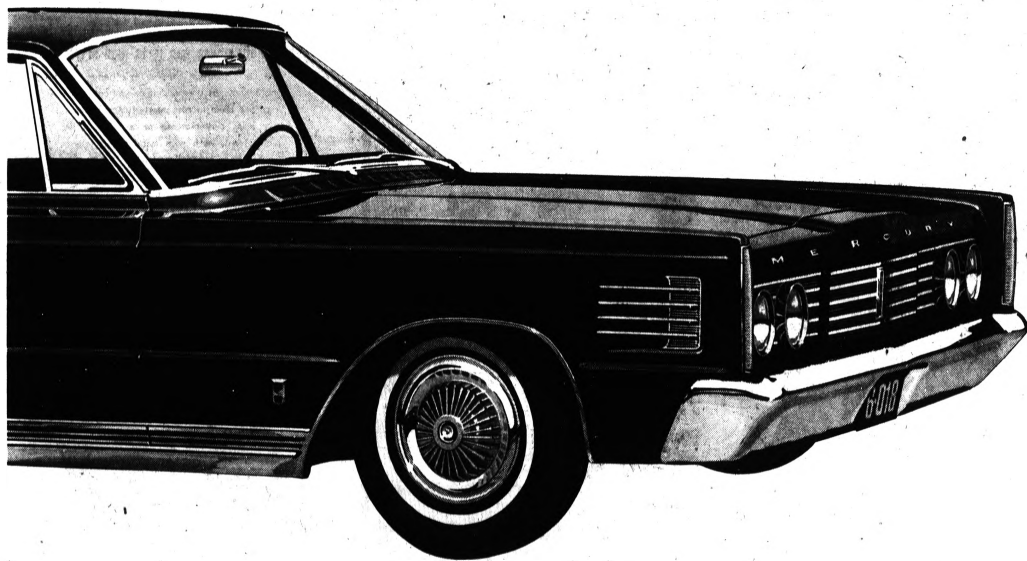

The mother, Mrs. Carol Jaquet, 21, of suburban Norridge, was reported in good condition in Evanston Hospital, where the twins were born Saturday.

They were taken to Children's Memorial after birth and were separated Sunday after a 3½ hour operation.

Gives Birth to Quints With Only a Midwife

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—Mrs. Achmad Sundari, 33, wife of a farmer in Southern Sumatra, recently gave birth to quintuplets with only the assistance of a village midwife, according to the Bintang Timur newspaper.

Bintang Timur said the father is a 42-year-old Javanese who emigrated to neighboring Sumatra. It gave no other details.

We predict that the reaction of many people when they first see a 1965 Mercury drive by will be: "What car is that?" Mercury is that new. The look is new. Completely. Low, sleek, beautifully proportioned. (Notice the long, low proportions of the hood, the full-width grille, the unique pillar lights on the front fenders.) The ride is new. It's smoother, solidier, quieter. Inside, there's an extensive selection of optional equipment for personal customizing—luxury features once reserved only for the most expensive cars. The idea behind all this newness is to bring you the most luxurious, best-riding car in its field...a Mercury that accurately reflects the Lincoln Continental tradition. We invite you to see how well the idea works—at your Mercury dealer's. We think you'll agree, no medium-price car has ever come so close in luxury to the high-price class.

Russia Rejects U.N. Assessment Plan

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union has rejected a U.S. proposal for the creation of a standing U.N. finance committee to apportion assessments among member nations for peace-keeping operations.

Soviet delegate Viktor F. Ulanchev told the General Assembly's 21-nation working group on peace-keeping finances Wednesday that the proposal was a device to circumvent the Security Council's powers.

The plan called for the committee to originate all financial arrangements for peace-keeping operations. The committee's recommendations would require approval by a two-thirds majority vote of the assembly.

the United Nations for the return of Gibraltar by Britain. Timed with the hearing now on before the U.N. Commission on Decolonization, the Catholic daily YA devoted its front page to photos of Gibraltar and its leading story to an account of Spain's claims.

YA called Gibraltar "an authentic colonial hinterland." The conservative-monarchist

ABC warned that "to convert this territory into an autonomous enclave would be more than an offense to Spain."

The newspapers made no mention of anti-American demonstrations Wednesday night before the U.S. Embassy. More than 500 police ringed the embassy and kept a shouting crowd of about 200 young men moving.

Rail Strike Is Threatened

CLEVELAND (AP)—The head of the 70,000-member Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (BLF&E) is free to call a strike in a wage dispute with about 100 of the nation's railroads any time after 12:01 a.m. tomorrow.

H. E. Gilbert, president of BLF&E, said yesterday that more than 99 per cent of the membership had voted to strike if the union's wage demands are not met. Current wage demands were served on the carriers Dec. 2, 1963.

"We have had our fill of futile negotiations and management favoritism," Gilbert said in a statement. "It is unfortunate for the public that railroad negotiators only understand strike language and never negotiate until there is a crisis."

The threatened strike, third major one since April in this industry, could result in a virtual nationwide rail tieup.

If this threat is to end, however, it appears the next move is up to President Johnson. He can appoint an emergency board under the Railway Labor Act to report on the dispute. This would delay any strike action at least 60 days.

AVERAGE RATE

Employees represented by BLF&E got their last wage increase of 56 cents a day March 1, 1961. A union spokesman said the average daily rate for firemen is $21.60 and $25 for engineers.

A strike threat against the railroads by 150,000 shop workers over job security was settled tentatively Tuesday.

WREXHAM, Wales (AP) — An attempt to restore the severed arm of an 18-year-old girl has failed.

Doctors sewed Irene Lloyd's left arm back into place six hours after a machine in a textile plant tore it from the shoulder socket Tuesday.

The girl's condition deteriorated Wednesday. The arm was removed and the girl was reported improving.

Gamble Seeking an Annulment; Suit Undefended

NEW YORK (AP) — "Heiress Gamble Benedict Porumbean" has a marriage annulment suit pending in State Supreme Court in New York City that is listed as "undefended."

She is expected to claim that her husband, Andre, a former chauffeur, is still legally married to his first wife, Helma.

Mrs. Porumbean, 23, and her Romanian-born husband, 39, were married in 1960 in a North Carolina hunting lodge, despite disapproval by her grandmother-guardian. Mrs. Porumbean is expected to seek the custody of their two children, ages 3 and 1.

Khanh Tries to Quell Viet Rebellion

BAN ME THUOT, South Viet. Nam (AP)—Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh flew to this mountain town today in a personal attempt to quell a still-simmering rebellion by American-trained mountain tribesmen.

About 4,000 government troops and 12 artillery pieces were set up at the perimeter of the town to head off a possible onslaught by the tribesmen as the caretaker premier arrived from Saigon.

The tribesmen revolted against his government last weekend and slaughtered lowland Vietnamese officers and soldiers at their camps. The death count may be as high as 50. About 50 other Vietnamese, including a provincial district chief, were seized as hostages.

The rebels, of a tribe called Rhade, temporarily seized the town radio station, then withdrew.

BARRICADES
Wearing camouflaged uniforms and, equipped with advanced weapons issued to them for fighting Communist Viet Cong guerrillas, the tribesmen maintained barricades around four of their camps in the Ban Me Thuot area and kept control over a key highway and bridge.

The only factor preventing a blood bath were a few U.S. Army Special Forces troops acting as intermediaries.

In particular, Col. John F. Freund, deputy senior advisor to the Vietnamese Army's 4th Corps, was holding off a rebel tribal assault almost single-handedly.

The status of Freund, who was lifted into Buon Sa Par camp Monday, was somewhere between that of a hostage and chief negotiator between the Vietnamese government and the rebels.

KEEPS CONTACT
With his radio Freund was maintaining contact with a U.S. Army light plane overhead, which was relaying messages to Ban Me Thuot. At the camp were various rebel commanders, but the top leader, Y Bham, was believed to be a few miles away in Cambodia.

Khanh sent word that he would be willing to provide safe conduct for Bham if the latter would come to a parley in Ban Me Thuot or another mountain town, Pleiku. There was no indication whether the message reached the rebel leader.

The tribesmen, who want more home rule in provinces where they predominate, have been hostile to the lowland Vietnamese for centuries. They are especially suspicious now. On Tuesday, after receiving assurances of safe passage, a truck convoy of tribesmen who started through the no man's land toward Vietnamese lines was ambushed by a Vietnamese unit.

Three of the tribesmen were killed and eight wounded.

A U.S. Army special forces doctor, Capt. Richard Haskell of Old Town, Maine, did emergency surgery on the wounded by the light of a flashlight.

KHANH CONFERS

The tribesmen did not appear to be in a mood for bargaining. Khanh, looking tense, conferred with the Vietnamese commanders.

"I have come up to try to solve this problem," Khanh said in an interview. "It is very serious. I do not know when we will be able to solve it. I do not yet know whether I will confer with their leader."

It appeared Freund and the five other Americans in various rebel camps could have left several days ago if they had chosen to do so. But these Americans were the only link between the rebels and the government, and there was no immediate prospect of pulling them out.

livelier, more beautiful
Durability Champion

We couldn't make Comet much tougher, so we made it more beautiful. Made the outside sleeker, sportier—from every angle. Made the interiors more luxurious. Made every engine bigger, from the thrifty 200 cu.-in. Comet "6" up through the hefty new 289 cu.-in. Cyclone Super V-8 (225 hp). Made the ride even smoother, more solid and silent.

The one thing not new in this racy '65 sequel is the stamina that made Comet the World's 100,000-Mile Durability Champion. And you wouldn't want that to change, would you? It didn't.

Blouses for Fall Have Gentle Look

The smart business executive appreciates the feminine touch of a delicate floral arrangement, for office as well as home. Also appreciated is the soft, supple beauty of her trim, short sleeved Pilot overblouse, with the easy care virtues of a new crepe fabric of "Dacron" polyester and silk. About $7.

A beautiful complement to any woman—the gift of long stemmed roses. Also a companion to her flair for fashion is this softly refined crepe overblouse by Pilot, with long French cuffed sleeves and scarf tied collar. Made from a new "Allegro" crepe of textured "Dacron" polyester and silk, it sells for about $10.

The blouse is both beautiful and practical. It is made from "Allegro," a new crepe of textured "Dacron" polyester and silk. The Pilot Blouse has long French cuffed sleeves, and wide away collar.

Poodle Puddles Problem; Perhaps Pooch's Retarded

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Is there such a thing as a retarded poodle?

We got this beautiful white miniature French poodle a year ago when it was only 5 weeks old, and it isn't any better trained today than the day we got it. It still wets all over. We can't seem to keep it off the furniture or to get it to let us know when it wants to go outside. Abby, I can't live like this any more. That dog has ruined every carpet in the house, all of the furniture and every bedspread.

I told my husband I think we should give it away, but he says he would move into the garage with the dog before he gave it away.

I like dogs, but this is ridiculous! What do you advise?

MRS. A.

DEAR MRS. A: Ask your vet what's wrong with the poodle.

If the vet says your dog is trained to the capacity of its intelligence, then by all means let your husband move into the garage with the no-dog.

They deserve each other.

DEAR ABBY: My husband, age 74, is a retired school teacher. Since his retirement he has had much time on his hands, and he uses it largely to carry on correspondence with numerous former pupils. Almost all of his correspondents are women. I have seen a few letters he has written to them. (He proudly shows them to me.)

They are lengthy, flowery and full of affection. He literally begs them to write to him. I am not jealous, heaven knows, after 50 years with him, because he has never shown a romantic interest in other women.

However, I would like to know why he feels the need to write these long and affectionate letters to women.

And why he takes such pleasure in their replies.

LONG-SUFFERING WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I doubt if your husband cares whether his correspondents are women or men as long as he gets letters.

It's not surprising that most of his letters are from women, however. They are far more faithful letter writers.

Gardeners Easy With Fall Chores

Wing Lake Shores

Wing Lake Shores Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will stage a flower show titled "Space in Bloom" on Tuesday in the Strike and Spare Bowling Lanes, Maple at Telegraph.

A wide range of exhibits as members put their individual arrangements "into orbit" may be viewed from 1 to 5 p.m.

Lorraine Manor

Lorraine Manor Branch members brought bazaar articles for their forthcoming greens market to the Fernberry Drive home of Mrs. Donald Lyon on Tuesday.

Mrs. Ralph Dean summarized fall chores to be done in the garden.

Plans were completed for a membership tea on Oct. 14.

Sororities Plunge Into Fall Work

Mrs. George Pudduck presented the lesson, "What is Life?" and Mrs. Donald DeVoe gave, "Origin of Life."

Attending the state convention in Battle Creek, Oct. 9-11, will be Mrs. Russell Perkins, Mrs. Richard O. Paschke and Marcella Kilton.

Omega Mu Sigma

Mrs. Russell Gustafson opened her home on Oxbow Lake on Wednesday to members of Omega Mu Sigma sorority. Mrs. Floyd Wilson was cohostess.

Colored sound movies titled "Caribbean Cruise" and the "Hawaiian Islands" were shown.

Incoming president, Mrs. Elaine Springer, reviewed plans for the forthcoming benefit sale in October.

Lambda Chi Omega

Major project for Beta Omega chapter of Lambda Chi Omega sorority this year will be working with and entertaining senior citizens at the Oakland County Medical Care Facility. JoAnn Zimmerman of Illinois Avenue was hostess for the first fall meeting on Tuesday.

Plans for a fall card party and bazaar in the First Federal room were completed.

Mrs. James Greenwood is civic chairman.

Must Go to Showers if Invited

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My son is going to be married shortly. A shower was given for his bride-to-be which I attended and brought a very nice present.

This past week I received two more invitations to showers for her. May I decline or, as the mother of the bridegroom, am I obliged to go? I am a widow and money is not too plentiful.

A: As the mother of the bridegroom, you will have to accept these invitations.

However, having already given your son's fiancée one very nice shower present, you will not be expected to take more than trifling gifts to the other two showers.

Q: When a serving dish with accompanying serving spoon and fork is presented by a waitress for self-service, how is this managed?

Are both implements used, and if so, in which hand is each implement held?

A: Both implements are used. With the spoon held in the right hand you take up a portion of the food from the serving dish and place the fork (held in left hand) on top of it to hold it in place while transferring the food to the plate.

Q: When a boy and girl are walking on the street together and the girl stops to talk to a passing friend who is a stranger to him, does he walk on slowly or stop with her?

A: Unless she introduces him immediately, he walks on slowly.

Fear of Marriage Risk Makes Her 'Grouch'

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: My husband has given our boy, 17, a new car and his own gas station charge account. Instead of encouraging him to find a vacation job, he lets the boy spend his mornings sleeping after late dates and his afternoons playing golf.

I am working at a full-time job to help pay the bills for this job but when I open my mouth to say one word—"but it, I am pushed aside" the "old grouch" by my husband and son . . .

ANSWER: You could withdraw your cooperation with this "playing around." The simple, opposing words are available:

"As I dislike the way Bill is spending other people's money, I am withdrawing my contribution to his bills."

They can't be spoken, can they?

I expect that you have been tolerating imposition by your husband and son for quite a while. It has made you incapable of simple resistance.

PILED-UP RAGE

You dare not risk it lest piled-up rage explode it out of control, choking your words with bitter accusation of other hurts done by imposers.

The issue really is not your husband's overindulgent treatment of Bill but his treatment of you.

You are looking straight at the question: "Do I continue to take my husband's disregard of me—or do I risk my marriage by refusing to take it?"

I can't tell you to risk or not to risk your marriage. But I suggest that your fear of risking it is why your menfolk call you an "old grouch."

We all become "old grouches" when fear of the consequences of revolt against imposition makes it impossible for us to risk the dangerous, tumbled, furious, releasing words of the showdown.

Our fear of their passionate truthfulness compels us to deliver them in grouch, angling little doses of surface criticism and chronic complaining.

If this grouching got us anywhere, I'd be for it. But it doesn't. It just tells the imposer that we are too scared of really offending him to risk any serious resistance to him—and invites him to continue to impose. The showdown is always a hazardous thing. Sometimes it gives birth to a totally new closeness to the imposer. Sometimes it just ends our mutual pretense of affection.

It's always the big gamble and nobody can guarantee the jackpot. Which is why so many of us grouch.

'V' Is Very In

V stands for "very in" in boys' sweaters this fall. V-necks or V-yokes combine with twist knits, spandex, brushed Orion, and bold stripes for sports and spectator wear.

Washability — by hand or by machine — gets top priority.

YWCA Announces Calendar for Fall

Fall classes will open the week of Oct. 5 at the Pontiac YWCA on Franklin Boulevard.

The YMCA and Oakland University pools will both be utilized for morning classes and dips without instruction. Mrs. Leonard Butz will supervise the Oakland program and Mrs. John Streit, chairman of classes, will remain in charge of the YW's Wednesday morning 'Gym and Slim' program at the YMCA.

Their assistants will include Mrs. George Beauchamp, Mrs. Bernard Slickney, Mrs. Robert Watson and Mrs. Burt Knox.

NURSERY

Nursery service for preschool tots will again be available five hours a day Tuesday through Friday with Mrs. Hazel Beutler supervisor. Mrs. Bruce Hubbard is chairman.

Assisting Mrs. Beutler will be Mrs. Choren Manukian, Mrs. Leslie Pickup and Mrs. Harold Wagg.

New classes this term include Fundamentals of Guitar, both folk music and rock 'n roll, with Ben Kreech, instructor.

Jack Irwin will offer four sessions of dry skiing on Saturdays, beginning Oct. 31.

NEW TEACHERS

Other new instructors are Mrs. Ruby Dunstan, flower arrangement; Virginia Makonian, daytime bridge;

Frank Machek, children's art classes and Marcelene Tiberg, knitting.

Mrs. Thomas Hollis will teach evening bridge. Mrs. Hector Basso, Spanish; Mrs. Robert Hines, cake-decorating; Mrs. Clare Agnew, sewing; Mrs. Edith Porter, art for adults; Mrs. Lucinda Wycokoff, furniture refinishing, and Mrs. Everett Warner, china-painting.

A preliminary session for instructors at a coffee hour, is set for Monday at 10 a.m. at the YWCA.

The Pontiac State Hospital Y group will resume its weekly schedule of recreational evenings at the YW on Monday.

The International Club will open its fall season with a hayride and spaghetti dinner Saturday at 3 p.m.

FOR LITTLE GIRLS

Mrs. Nellie Francis of Branch Street announces the engagement of her daughter, Joan J. to Pvt. Roy Earl Meadows, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olivia Meadows of Metropolis, Ill. Her fiancé is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. The bride-elect attended Michigan Christian College. Late October vows are planned.

Manicurists Will Welcome New Gadget

Any woman who has been clumsy at giving herself a manicure will welcome a new electric manicure — and pedicure — appliance.

All phases of nail care can be handled with its nail drying slot and five attachments: emery disc, buffer, callus eraser, cuticle lifter, and nylon brush.

The directions recommend soaking fingers in warm soapy water to soften cuticles, and wetting the brush with sud before use.

This "mechanical manicure" comes in an attractive gold, blue, or pink plastic case with built-in cord storage.

- 2 cups water
- 4 cups cider vinegar
- 12 green peppers
- 6 red peppers
- 1/2 cup salt
- 1 teaspoon celery seed
- 2 teaspoons mustard seed
- 2 teaspoons turmeric
- Grind all vegetables.
- Sprinkle with the half cup of salt. Let stand overnight. Rinse and drain.
- Combine remaining ingredients. Pour over vegetables and mix well. Simmer over low heat until mixture comes to a boil. Place in sterilized jars and seal.

Vacuum Cleaner Refills a Bag

To refill pillow tickings after laundering, tie the tickings to your upright vacuum bag as you would the dust bag.

Then, with the motor running, feed the feathers into the ticking bag through the opening for attachments.

Teen-Age Boy Starts Permanent Career

Being employed as a hairdresser may not be an odd way to work your way through school, but it is if you're a 15-year-old boy!

Robert Radtke of Longworth Drive began his career at the Murray Beauty Academy in downtown Pontiac last November when he was only 14 years old. Bob, now 15, is a sophomore at Waterford Kettering High School.

When asked why he enrolled in a hair-dressing course, Bob gave no one, definite answer. He was looking for a job that would teach him something as well as give him some money to fulfill future school plans. Hairdressing appealed to him and he decided to try his luck.

As with the other students at the academy, Bob puts in about 20 hours of work per week.

SURPRISE
Bob is short but smart enough not to treat this as a handicap. Mrs. Louella Murray, owner of the academy, said that first-time customers, surprised to see someone as young-looking and small as Bob, will not let him work on their hair.

However, when they see what a good job he does, they come back and specifically ask for him.

Bob admits that he was scared when he finally got on the floor and that first customer sat down in his chair. Those first days of panic are over now, and he seems to take everything in his stride.

Like the rest of the students, Bob had to have 300 hours of theory and practical work before he could test his talent on 'live' patrons. He will have to pass state tests at the end of the course.

This 300 hour period is spent in practice and theory. School-work includes lessons in body anatomy and electricity, as well as the why and wherefores of hair dressing.

Students also learn the proper way to give permanent, color application, shampoos, scalp massages and facials.

GROWING FIELD
Hairdressing is an ever-growing field attracting more and more men. The academy student body now includes ten males, their most popular one is their 15-year-old mascot, Robert Radtke.

KEY TO DEFENSE — Former Pontiac Central and Central Michigan gridders, Walter Beach is helping to make the Browns a strong team defensively. He is a regular at the cornerback slot. (See Press Box Below).

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

What has suddenly made the Cleveland Browns the favored team to win the Eastern Division title in the NFL?

Detroit Lions' assistant coach Aldo Forte, who watched the Browns in another game after the Lions took a 35-14 trouncing from the Clevelanders made a couple observations.

"I wasn't convinced even after the Browns beat us, that they were that good of a team," said Forte, "but I saw them beat the Packers and they made a believer out of me."

Forte pointed to the great speed from rookie receivers Paul Warfield and Clifton McNeil, but "It's that defense that surprised me."

"Adding Dick Modzelewski certainly helped, but that No. 49 in the defensive backfield certainly has made a big difference. He sure is doing a fine job for the Browns."

That No. 49 Forte was referring to is Walt Beach, former Pontiac Central and Central Michigan grid star who became an NFL rookie last year at the age of 26, after a stint in the AFL.

"He's from Pontiac?" asked Forte, "how come we didn't know about him?"

WELL, JOB
WELL, it so happens that Beach did try to make contact with the Lions in 1962, but with a crew of veteran defensive backs the Lions showed little interest.

Beach, who ran the 100 in 9.6 at Central Michigan and in the service, was lauded by Otto Graham as one of the best prospects in the 1960 college All-Star game.

Drafted by the New York Giants, he decided to go to Hamilton, Canada, but when the Tiger-Cats became upset in his game in the All-Star game, he finally went to the Browns camp.

He survived the cut with the Giants, but when he pulled a ham string and was told he would be placed on the taxi squad, Beach decided he didn't want to lay off a season so he went to the Boston Patriots.

He played the cornerback spot during all of the 1961 season and in 1962 a new coach at Boston switched him back to offensive halfback and then released him.

Jim Shorter another former Pontiac Central and U. of D. grider was with the Browns and he enticed Beach to go for a tryout to the Cleveland camp.

OLDEST ROOKIE
He was called the oldest rookie on the Cleveland roster and was kept on the taxi squad after playing much of the exhibition season.

When the Browns lost a couple defensive backs by death and retirement, Beach moved back into the picture playing in reserve.

Ironically, Shorter, prone to injuries was cut by the squad and Beach is now the regular in the defensive backfield.

"He's mighty prone to become a regular at the age of 29," said Cleveland publicity director Nate Wallack, "and the coaches are real happy with him."

Beach, who stands 6-feet and weighs 187 pounds, works with the Oakland County juvenile department during the off season.

Currently the Browns and the Cardinals stand 1-1 to lead the Eastern Division, while the Lions and the Rams have the same mark to lead the West.

Beach would like nothing more to have the Lions win in the West, of course hoping he will be with the champions of the East.

Bedraggled Orioles Leave

Baltimore Has Worst Game as Bengals Romp

From Our Wire Services
DETROIT — The once high-flying Baltimore Orioles departed Tiger Stadium yesterday for the final time this season with their tail feathers considerably ruffled and dragging.

"No, I wouldn't say they are dead," Tiger manager Charlie Dressen said, "but they sure are a different club from the one we played this spring."

Certainly, it didn't look like a pennant contender from which the Detroiters swept two games.

The Orioles had two passed balls and committed three errors as the Tigers romped to a 10-3 victory Wednesday.

"This was the worst game we have played all year," Orioles Manager Hank Bauer lamented.

SPIRIT DIES

"We had pretty good spirits on the bench until they scored four runs in the seventh — then the place was like a morgue," he concluded.

Phil Regan and Steve Barber were the starting pitchers. But neither lasted through the first inning.

The Tigers got the two runs back in their half of the inning on a two-out double by Bill Freehan.

Freehan paced the Tigers with three hits — which boosted his batting average to .303 and his four runs batted in.

Johnny Seale, who came on in relief of Regan, pitched four innings and won his first major league game.

Terry Fox finished up and held the Orioles to four hits. He struck out the side in the sixth and got the next three batters in the eighth after Seibren had led off with a triple.

Cincinnati Slows Phillies Run for NL Flag

Yogi 'Whistles' Winning Tune

By The Associated Press

There's Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris and Mel Stottlemyre and Pedro Ramos. All good reasons why the New York Yankees have taken an imposing four-game lead in the American League pennant race with only 10 games remaining.

The Yankees may actually have started moving to the front of the pack when Yogi Berra stepped to the back of the bus.

That was the day the Yankee manager blew the whistle on Phil Linz and his harmonica playing, the discordant notes apparently resulting in a greater harmony that has carried the Yankees from 4½ games behind to four in front.

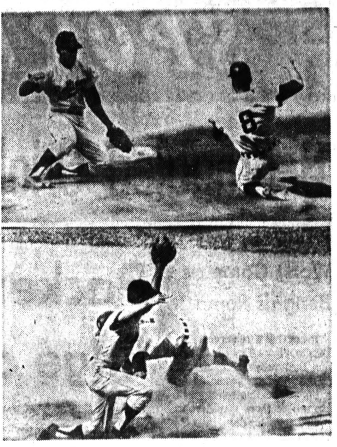

TOOT TOOT

Since Linz went "toot, toot" on his $2.50 mouthpiece, the Yankees have played 727 ball with 24 victories in 33 games, including the sweep of a doubleheader from Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings and 6-4 Wednesday night.

And Linz, who hasn't played his harmonica since Aug. 20, figures to get his chance soon. He has made this promise: "If we clinch the pennant, I'll bring my harmonica into the dressing room and play a tune. The only notes I know now are 'Way Down Upon The Swannee River.'"

Lake Erie would be more fitting.

The doubleheader sweep against the Indians was the Yankees' second in two nights, gave them a 9-0 record at Cleveland this season and extended their latest winning streak to nine while lowering their magic pennant-clinching number to six.

OUT AT SECOND — Detroit's third baseman Don Wert didn't have a chance on this attempted steal of second against the Baltimore Orioles yesterday at Tiger Stadium. Shortstop Louis Aparicio had the ball waiting for Wert. Tigers won, 10-3.

Fall Classic to Draw 130 Weekend Racers

The final big week-end of sports car racing is scheduled for the mile and one-half course at Waterford Hills Saturday and Sunday.

Officials anticipate an entry of some 130 cars and drivers for the two-day Fall Classic.

Two big trophy races will add special emphasis to the challenging program slated for the 11-turn road racing course.

The bigger production classes will fight for the annual Trophy, while Formula Junior racers will make up most of the field battling for the Ed Lawrence Memorial Trophy.

Tom Payne, Cobra owner-driver from Ann Arbor, won the big production Trophy last year, and is a slight favorite to repeat his performance.

He will be pushed hard by perennial winners Tom Swindell of Pontiac, driving a Sting Ray, and John Mulholland of Bloomfield Hills, driving a Jaguar XKE, and Norm Luther of Royal Oak, driving a Corvette.

Competition for the Ed Lawrence Memorial Trophy is expected to narrow to a duel between Formula Junior drivers.

Redlegs Pound Leaders, 6-4

Philadelphia's Margin Cut to 3½ Games

By The Associated Press

Can 63,000 Philadelphians be wrong?

Yes, say the Cincinnati Reds, and they're playing as if they mean it.

The charging Reds defeated the National League-leading Phillies 6-4 Wednesday night for the third straight time and moved to within 3½ games of the top. No one has been that close to Philadelphia since San Francisco was three games out Aug. 11.

The Phillies' fifth loss in their last six games came, ironically enough, on the day they began accepting orders for World Series tickets. Postmen delivered 18 sacks of mail holding more than 63,000 ticket requests.

The Reds weren't accepting orders, but they had authorization to print tickets. They also had optimism.

"We're smelling that Series money now, and we don't intend to let it go," said Yoda Pinson, whose two homers in consecutive innings brought the Reds their seventh victory in eight games.

Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch disagreed.

"Baloney," he declared. "We're on top and that's where we're going to stay."

The Phillies have nine games remaining while Cincinnati, with three more losses than the leaders, has 10 to play.

In other NL games Wednesday, New York nipped St. Louis 2-1, San Francisco defeated Houston 4-1, Pittsburgh trimmed Milwaukee 7-4 and Chicago downed Los Angeles 9-6.

Pinson's first homer, in the sixth inning, put the Reds ahead 2-1, but Alex Johnson retaliated with a two-run homer in the Phillies' sixth.

CARDS FAIL

The Cardinals lost a chance to climb when the Mets exploded for two runs in the seventh inning. Ed Kranepool doubled in Bobby Klaus, then scored the decisive run as pitcher Roger Garbick picked up Ron Hunt's bunt and threw the ball past first base.

Juan Marchal became the majors' second 20-game winner, roaching that mark with a five-hitter over the Colts. Marchal, who has lost seven games, also became the first Giant to win 20 games in consecutive seasons since Carl Hubbell did it from 1933 through 1937.

Larry Jackson posted his 22nd victory against 10 defeats for the Cubs. Billy Cowan and Len Gabrielson contributed homers to the Chicago attack while Ron Campbell and Ernie Banks added triples. Tommy Davis drove in four runs with two homers for Los Angeles.

The Pirates exploded for six runs in the second inning, the last three on Willie Stargell's inside-the-park home run. Dick Schofield knocked in the first two with a triple. Rico Carty led the Braves with four hits, driving in two runs.

State's Major Units Have Gridiron Dates

From Our Wire Services

College football goes into high gear for four "major" Michigan events this weekend with U. of D., Michigan and Western Michigan in home contests, and Michigan State on the road.

U. of D. and Western each have an opening road game under their belts, with the Titans losing a close encounter, 13-4 to highly ranked Kentucky and WMU nudging another Kentucky school, Louisville, 10-7.

With former all-Oakland County quarterback Ron Bishop calling the signals, the Titans' near upset of Kentucky ended when Bishop's hope for a TD pass was intercepted in the end zone last Saturday night.

Friday night at U. of D. Stadium, the Titans will face Toledo University, the 5th best defense team in the country last year.

Villanova failed to connect on a pass against the Rockets last week but still managed a 22-6 triumph.

Last meeting between the two was in 1955 when Toledo won 12-7. However the Titans won in 1917, by a score of 145-0, the worst defeat in Toledo history; in 1948 by a score of 36-0 and in 1951 it was 34-32.

Kickoff is 8:15 p.m.

NEW COACH

At Kalamazoo, the Broncos under new head coach Bill Doolittle, former Flint Central coach and Army assistant, will meet Central Michigan.

A 26-yard field goal helped

WMU in the opening win, while Central Michigan, also 1-0, defeated Wisconsin State two weeks ago.

At Ann Arbor Saturday afternoon, before an expected crowd of 66,000, the surprising A-ls Force team which shocked highly ranked Washington, last week by the baseball score of 3-2, will give Michigan its first 1964 test.

The Falcons from the Academy showed great defensive strength and coach Bump Elliott feels that "any team with one game under its belt has a real advantage."

Veteran Bob Timberlake will draw the opening assignment at quarterback.

Game time is 1:30 p.m. at Ann Arbor.

MSU ON ROAD

The Spartans from East Lansing open their 68th football season Saturday afternoon at North Carolina, which is expected to be a late after suffering a 14-13 loss to arch-rival North Carolina State last week.

Northville's Steve Juday will start at quarterback for MSU. Juday started his college career last year against the same Tar Heels and he led the Spartans to a 31-0 triumph.

Two years ago MSU own 38-6 from North Carolina.

Former Pontiac Central gridder Jerry Rush is expected to start at offensive tackle for MSU.

Among other college games for Michigan schools this weekend are: Ferris at Albion; Adrian at Eastern Michigan; Hope at Wheaton, Hillsdale at St. Norbert, Wayne State at Allegheny, Kalamazoo at Lake Forest, Michigan Tech at Moorhead, and Findlay at Northwood.

Skippers Meet Southfield 11

Walled Lake Looks for First Decision

Waterford will be looking for its second victory of the season and Walled Lake will try for its first win when the two Inter-Lakes squads take on non-conference foes Friday evening.

The Skippers, 13-4 winners over West Bloomfield in their opener last week, have a road date at Southfield while Walled Lake plays host to Berkley's Bears.

Farmington rapped Livonia Bentley, 19-2, last week and the Falcons will go after No. 2 on their home field with Plymouth providing the opposition.

A full slate of non-conference action is also on tap in the Southeastern Michigan League.

SEAHOLM HOME

Birmingham Seaholm entertains Mount Clemens, Ferndale travels to Hamtramck, Hazel Park has a date at Royal Oak and Royal Oak Kimball is host to Wyandotte on Saturday.

Waterford uncovered a scoring threat last week against the Lakers in halfback Tom Hoke.

The speedy senior racked up a pair of TDs on runs of 23 and 38 yards.

Junior quarterback Dave Roemsenky injured an ankle in practice this week and his services may be limited against the Blue Jays, who dropped Detroit Thurston Saturday, 13-12.

Walled Lake, a 19-4 victim of Kimball in the opener, faces another rugged challenge in Berkley, who tripped East Detroit, 20-14.

Walled Lake will have a weight advantage with 265-pound tackle Roger Ruminiski anchoring the line.

Braun put the squad in mental shape for the Clarkson game last week by pinning a copy of the Pontiac Press Grapevine in the locker room. Clarkson was picked to win.

The psychology paid off as the Cats upset Clarkson, 12-12.

Braun will have to look for a new angle this week—the Cats are picked to win by the Grapevine.

The Wildcats displayed a solid defense in taming Clarkson and a similar performance may be needed to hole the highly-regarded St. Michael eleven.

Oxford has another non-conference game before taking on Lapeer in the Tri-County opener.

Wayfarer Sloop Races Slated for Lake Orion

The U. S. Wayfarer Fleet No. 2 will host the second annual Michigan Invitational Regatta, to be held at the Sweet's Island facility of the Lake Orion Boat Club, September 26 and 27.

Saturday's heats will start at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. and the final heat will begin Sunday at 11 a.m.

More than 30 wayfarers will race for the prized M.J.R. silver cup including skippers and crews from Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Ontario.

U.S. champion Don Healy of Rochester and Canadian cham-

Champion Harry Jones of the Toronto Sailing Club are expected to provide strong competition for the crack field.

Wayfarer class sloops made national sports headlines last June when one of the heats of the Chicago Burnham Park YC Regatta was sailed in gale force winds on Lake Michigan.

Pinter's Boat Club on Opdyke road is hosting the trip and all boaters will meet at 7:30 a.m. at Pinter's Marine and leave in a convoy.

The Pinter's club, with Clarence Brown of Pontiac as president, enjoyed cruises to Bob-Lo, Saginaw Bay, Titabawassee River, Sanford Lake and Wallaceburg, Canada during the past summer, along with holiday weekends at Torch, Burt, Mullet Lakes and Indian River in upper Michigan.

Don Lechner and Roy Myers are Cruise Masters. The club holds monthly meetings each Tuesday evening with guest speakers slated during the winter months from various police boat and water organizations in the state.

New members are welcome to join the club.

Rains Drench Olympic Site

TOKYO (U) — The four still sparsely populated Olympic villages were drenched in rain Thursday for the fourth consecutive day as Typhoon Wilma's 100 miles per hour winds battered southern Japan.

Weathermen predicted that the rains in the Tokyo region would last through Friday though the center of the typhoon was not expected to head this way.

The wind and rain-lashed seas were already bad enough to make yachtsmen at Enoshima Olympic Harbor secure their ships and cut out all practice.

After an embarrassing debut against non-conference opponents, teams in the Wayne-Oakland League started preparations this week for the loop race which opens with a full schedule tomorrow night.

Holly was the lone squad in the eight-team W-O family to emerge with a victory last week. The Broncos routed Flint Bendle, 27-0.

Top games on the Friday slate have West Bloomfield at Bloomfield Hills at 3:30 p.m., Milford at Holly at 8 p.m. and Clarkston at Northville.

Brighton entertains Clarencville in the other tilt.

Bloomfield Hills' Barons will be looking for their first win over WP's Lakers. The Lakers have won six and tied one in seven meetings.

The Barons showed defensive and offensive weaknesses in dropping a 19-0 decision to Oak Park.

GAPS IN LINE

Oak Park ran through the middle of the Baron defense with ease and coach Bill Tamm-cliff will have to plug the gaps to contain the Lakers.

The Barons have good outside threats in halfbacks Jim Anderson and Neil Fleming. Hard-running fullback Bill Barnes can lug the ball up the middle but he had little running room against Oak Park.

West Bloomfield's Lakers gave Waterford a battle before bowing, 13-6, and displayed a rugged defense that should cause a few problems for the Barons.

The Lakers have a scoring threat in halfback Jay Williams, a 5-11, 180-pound senior, along

Area Boaters Set Cruise for Oct. 4

The "Frostbite Cruise" for boat club members from Pontiac, Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Clarkston, Rochester and Troy is scheduled to take place Sunday October 4th with a trip from Algonac to Port Huron.

Pinter's Boat Club on Opdyke road is hosting the trip and all boaters will meet at 7:30 a.m. at Pinter's Marine and leave in a convoy.

The Pinter's club, with Clarence Brown of Pontiac as president, enjoyed cruises to Bob-Lo, Saginaw Bay, Titabawassee River, Sanford Lake and Wallaceburg, Canada during the past summer, along with holiday weekends at Torch, Burt, Mullet Lakes and Indian River in upper Michigan.

Holly is favored to take the W-O title and with Tom Fagan handling the signal-calling duties for the veteran team, the Broncos are ready for the starting gate.

Milford will have to put a scoring punch in its attack to stay with the Broncos. The Redskins were blanked by Avondale last week, 13-0.

Clarkston and Northville tied for the championship last year with 5-1 records, creating the deadlock with a 13-13 score in the 1963 finale.

Northville battled a good Plymouth team in a 19-12 loss, and Clarkston went flat after grabbing a 12-0 lead and lost to Oxford, 13-12.

Sees No Evidence to Happy Worker Idea

LONDON (UPI) — An industrial behavior expert said last night there is no evidence to support the theory that happy and satisfied workers are more productive than unhappy ones. Miss Joan Woodward, senior lecturer at the Imperial College of Science and Technology, told an audience that in certain occupations and industries, disgruntled workers have in fact been found to outproduce happy colleagues.

SHOW GOES ON — Wiping a tear from her eye, singer Sophie Tucker holds a bouquet in her arms as she is honored last night on opening her 60th year in show business. Starting a three-week stand at New York City's Latin Quarter, Sophie said she has no intention of retiring and feels younger than she did 50 years ago.

Gospel Singer Ill After Attack

Mahalia Jackson in Chicago Hospital

CHICAGO (AP) — Famed singer Mahalia Jackson, who introduced gospel singing to millions across the world, is seriously ill with a heart ailment.

The hospital said visiting was restricted. No telephone calls are permitted.

Miss Jackson has canceled all scheduled appearances through October and has turned down a personal invitation from President Johnson for a White House dinner Oct. 6.

'NEEDS REST'

"She's a sick gal, there's no question about it," a hospital spokesman said. "She's going to need a good deal of rest."

Doctors now say the 200-pound Miss Jackson, who returned in May from a triumphant overseas tour, is suffering from a heart ailment. They decline to indicate how long she will be hospitalized. A spokesman said: "The big problem is that there's nothing much to say one way or another."

"Right now, I'd say her career isn't endangered. She just needs a good rest," the spokesman said.

Dr. H. T. Gasteyer, a staff physician, earlier told a newspaper that Miss Jackson "definitely suffered a heart attack — and all heart attacks are serious." He described Miss Jackson as extremely weak but added: "I think she can come back and live a normal life."

HOPES HIGH

Miss Jackson's agent, Lou Minding of Los Angeles, said, "She's coming along fine. She's resting well. We hope to have her back working in 30 to 40 days."

Miss Jackson, whose records sell in the millions, learned to sing in a small church on the Mississippi River levee front in New Orleans. Her father died when she was 6 years old. At 13 she was working steadily as a washwoman.

She later moved to Chicago where her first recording was made in 1934. By 1948 she had earned national recognition and two years later gave a concert in New York's Carnegie Hall.

Russian Church Chief to Visit World Council

GENEVA (AP) — The patriarch of the Russian Orthodox Church was on his way today to London for his first visit to the World Council of Churches.

His Holiness Alexei, patriarch of Moscow and all the Russians, is to meet with the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Moscow Is Warm to U.S. Opera Star

MOSCOW (AP) — American Opera star Leontyne Price says "The warmth of the audience was incredible" at her first performance in Russia.

The audience called her Mississippi-born Negro soprano, conductor Herbert Van Karajan and other soloists back for 16 curtain calls last night after a performance of Verdi's "Requiem."

The applause lasted 26 minutes.

Criminal Syndicalism

Arrest Negroes on New Mississippi Law

McCOMB, Miss. (AP) — An undisclosed number of Negroes have been arrested in this racially tense area on warrants charging them with "criminal syndicalism" — a new state law prohibiting unlawful acts to bring about a political or social change.

A bomb was hurled Wednesday night at the home of a former Negro city police officer who was en route to Washington to talk to the U.S. Civil Rights Commission and the Justice Department.

The house of Ardis Garner, the former policeman, was not damaged. No one was in the structure when the bomb exploded.

A second bomb explosion was reported shortly after midnight near Percy Quinn State Park southwest of McComb. Several Negro churches in the vicinity of the park have been burned during the summer.

FBI PROBE

The FBI was reported investigating the two latest bombings.

— 15th and 16th in this area since June.

Authorities declined to say how many warrants had been issued on the syndicalism charges. There was no total available for the number arrested and booked at nearby Magnolia, seat of justice for Pike County.

One officer, however, did say he had a list of 24 Negroes for whom warrants were prepared. The Atlanta, Ga., offices of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee said it had learned that about 25 arrests were made Wednesday. A SNCC spokesman said about 75 other Negroes had been arrested on various charges earlier in the week.

MORE ARRESTS

rail hub for the Illinois Central. The criminal syndicalism law, approved in the spring by the State Legislature, makes it unlawful to advocate, teach, aid or abet the commission of criminal acts to effect a change in ownership, political or social areas, or for profit.

Punishment ranges from fines of from $200 to $1,000 and jail sentences of 1 to 10 years for violating or encouraging others to violate the law.

Seven Negroes already have been bound over to the Pike County grand jury on the syndicalism charges. Police reported they found a bottle filled with gasoline in the possession of the seven after a rock-throwing episode Monday night.

Tagalog is the most important native language in the Philippine Islands.

'Rail Pullout to Cost Jobs'

State Legislator Says Change Affects U.P.

LANSING (AP)—Every mile of railroad track torn up in the Lower Peninsula will be paid for by a loss of jobs north of the Straits of Mackinac, says Sen. Charles McManiman, D-Houghton.

The Upper Peninsula legislator was permitted to speak during a cross-examination of witnesses Wednesday in the northern Michigan rail abandonment case before hearings examiner Hyman Blood of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"Any change in rail service will affect the Copper Country and the entire Upper Peninsula," McManiman said. The railroads seeking to abandon 300 miles of track in the Lower Peninsula and rail ferry service across the straits are maintaining a "public be damned" attitude, he charged.

Attorneys for the Michigan Public Service Commission and the Committee for the Retention of Railroads cross-examined witnesses for the Pennsylvania and Soo Railroads as the third day of questioning was completed.

QUESTIONED OFFICIALS
Hugh Anderson, PSC attorney, and John Morrison, attorney for the citizens committee, questioned R. H. Selp, a traffic expert for the Pennsylvania, and Henry Beaudry, a rate expert for Soo.

In an item-by-item, mile-by-mile process, they sought to prove that both railroads would lose more business than they anticipated if they abandoned service. Pennsylvania estimated it would lose about 30 per cent of its revenues in the area if permitted to abandon some 223 miles of track running from Reed City to Mackinaw City.

Anderson and Morrison said it would be more than 50 per cent. Soo claimed it would retain 96 per cent of its present traffic in Upper Michigan if ferry service were discontinued. Anderson set out to prove to Blood that the loss would be closer to 50 per cent.

UAW Wants Guaranteed Workweek

California Blaze Moves to Santa Barbara Outskirts

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—Frightened people left their homes early today as fingers of flame from a raging brushfire moved into the outskirts of this besieged town.

Pushed by 40-mile-an-hour winds, one front on the fire line extended below the foothill road boundary and was moving into the city.

Observers said firemen are making a stand at each house threatened, but that the winds keep pushing the fire forward. Cement delivery trucks have been pressed into service as water carriers.

U. S. Forest Service officials also reported that a second fire broke out early today in the nearby San Marcos Pass area. Equipment was being rushed to the scene.

By 5 a.m. today, the blaze had charred more than 15,500 acres of valuable watershed, and no control was in sight.

5,000 EVACUATE
Officials said as many as 5,000 persons have been forced to evacuate, some of them having to leave their homes twice as the flames died down, then arose again.

Witnesses said that at least 37 homes or other buildings have been destroyed, though the Forest Service could not confirm more than 24.

Some residents fled with only their clothes and a horse trailer—holding the family horse—as the blaze raced down mountain canyons toward town.

It had burned 15 miles earlier. Then two homes went in a canyon, and five more blazed up on Ashley Road north of Eucalyptus Hill.

Contrary to earlier reports, the Mt. Calvary Monastery, an Episcopal retreat, was not destroyed. The fire also swept into Montecito, where 20 homes were reported burned.

Flames leaped hundreds of feet, reflecting off a towering loom of smoke. People saw the fire in Los Angeles, 98 miles southeast, and from ships 30 miles at sea.

Report China Buying Plants
$200 Million in Deals With Allied Nations

LONDON (AP)—Red China is reported buying or negotiating for $200 million worth of chemical plants from Britain, Western Europe and Japan.

Informants said the Chinese already have ordered seven plants from West European countries and two from Japan, and about a dozen are under negotiation with British firms.

British businessmen are saying privately that the $200 million involved seems to be within China's capacity to pay because of an exceptionally good harvest this year.

The British government has been cool, however, to overtures from Peking to underwrite long-term credits to help build China's chemical industry.

An authoritative source said the British government, which insures exporters against loss, does not see the Chinese as a good long-term credit risk.

U.S. PROTEST
A positive response would also draw a sharp protest from the United States.

The Board of Trade earlier this year allowed up to $280 million of long-term credit to the Soviet Union for purchase of chemical plants. An equivalent sum is to be allowed smaller Communist countries of Eastern Europe for the same purpose.

The American and other Allied governments criticized these decisions.

Regret Late Delivery

Strike Deadline Looms at GM Talks

DETROIT (AP)—A guaranteed 40-hour workweek was a major demand of the United Auto Workers union as its new contract negotiations with General Motors Corp. entered the final, 24-hour showdown today.

Neither side forecast agreement before a union-imposed strike deadline of 10 a.m. tomorrow. Neither ruled it out.

Pessimism, however, outweighed optimism as the two sides met for down-to-the-wire negotiations.

Reuther disclosed last night that the union is asking General Motors to guarantee 40 hours pay for anyone called upon to report for a workweek.

He pointed out that the UAW had won a guarantee of 75 per cent of the normal straight-time wage for anyone called in for a workweek at Chrysler Corp. or Ford Motor Co., where the union has won new three-year contracts.

EARLIER RETIREMENT
At Chrysler, the UAW gained earlier retirement and improvements in pensions and other fringe benefits. The union estimated the package worth 54 cents an hour over the next three years.

At Ford it added on top of these a Christmas bonus, possible in 1965 and ranging from $25 to $100.

"We want to give General Motors, the largest and richest corporation in the world, the opportunity of doing more," Reuther said with respect to the demand for 40 hours pay "where anyone is called in to work and not provided with a full week's work."

He said this would make "a la mode" what he describes as the cake won at Chrysler and "frosted" at Ford.

The 75 per cent of straight-time pay to which he referred at Ford and Chrysler was an increase from 65 per cent in the guaranteed pay for anyone laid off by the companies because of a scheduled short workweek.

The pay for an unscheduled short workweek, such as might be occasioned by a powerhouse explosion, was left at 50 per cent.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics figures that the average hourly straight-time pay for the auto industry as a whole is $3.01.

GM's final contract will have even more widespread effect than that of either Chrysler or Ford, which employ a combined total of 204,000 UAW-represented workers. GM employs 354,000 in 129 plants in 71 cities.

OFFER TO MATCH
General Motors has offered to match the Chrysler and Ford settlements, and, except for the 40-hour workweek pay demand, is reported virtually to have wrapped up a national economic package.

Negotiations are snarled over what the union terms noneconomic demands for improvements in working conditions, disciplining and grievance procedures, production quotas and union shop representation.

Both sides agreed nothing major was worked out in these areas Wednesday, and Reuther said as a night recess was taken:

"Unless there is substantial movement and a change in attitude on the part of the company, I don't see how we can avoid a strike at 10 a.m. Friday."

Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president - personnel, agreed no major breakthroughs occurred Wednesday, but added: "Over-all there has been progress, although the parties might disagree on whether a mile was covered or only four inches."

Plan to Yank Europe Units Raises Hot Political Issue
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The politically sensitive issue of reducing U.S. military forces in Europe rose again today with disclosure that the Pentagon is studying plans to bring home 10 Air Force combat squadrons.

Nothing has been said officially about the studies, not only because they are in the tentative stage, but because of both their domestic implications in an election year and their possible influence on allies who are being pressed to upgrade their own forces.

However, the authoritative Journal of the Armed Forces reported that Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara has the Joint Chiefs of Staff studying a plan for withdrawing six tactical fighter squadrons and four reconnaissance squadrons from the U.S. Air Forces in Europe (USAFE).

If carried out, the cuts would amount to 25 per cent of USAFE's jet fighter squadrons, based in England and West Germany, and 50 per cent of its reconnaissance squadrons which are deployed in England, France and West Germany.

Throughout last winter, when disclosures of impending cuts were being reported, the U.S. government sought to soft-pedal the reports and, in some cases, denied them outright. The new studies likewise have not been officially acknowledged.

The Journal's assistant editor, Daniel Z. Henkin, wrote: "The Secretary of State Dean Rusk was reported to be opposing Pentagon plans for reducing air strength in Europe because 'such action would have an adverse effect on the North Atlantic Alliance.'"

The Journal's assistant editor, Daniel Z. Henkin, wrote: "The Secretary of State Dean Rusk was reported to be opposing Pentagon plans for reducing air strength in Europe because 'such action would have an adverse effect on the North Atlantic Alliance.'"

Another major money item proposed was a beefed-up driver education program and an increase in state aid to local schools for the program from $25 to $40 a pupil.

This would cost more than $3 million a year. It was proposed to raise this by doubling driver license fees, with the cost of renewals upped from $2.50 to $5.

Previously rejected by the legislature was another proposal, to raise the age at which a minor may receive an unrestricted license from 16 to 17 years of age.

Another previously sought and rejected proposal called for compulsory annual or semi-annual inspection of motor vehicles. It was estimated this would cost $1.5 million the first year and then would pay for itself through fees.

The commission report said Michigan is one of the few states where the privilege of driving a motor vehicle may be approved by "an uncountable number of examiners under jurisdiction of hundreds of local law enforcement agencies" which are "controlled by variable standards and ethics."

—Stiffer penalties for persons convicted of driving under the influence of liquor.

—A tightening of the point system, calling for re-examination of motorists after they collect nine points and automatic suspension of licenses after 12 points.

—Physical examinations by private physicians for motorists when they reach 65.

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater charged today the taint of the Billie Sol Estes scandal still marks President Johnson's administration.

Campaigning across the farm belt, Goldwater declared the Estes affair casts "grave reflections right across the White House itself."

The Arizona senator called the case "more than just a scandal, a sordid picture of favoritism and fraud."

"It is a study in the operations and attitudes of some of the top officials of government—many of whom are still with us," he said.

Goldwater turned to the Estes case in a speech prepared for delivery at Mason City, Iowa. He opened his campaign day in Wichita, and was due later at Madison, Wis., for a statehouse rally before moving on to Boston.

SEEDS OF DESTRUCTION
Taking aim on the Democrats' handling of farm problems, Goldwater declared: "When partisan political favoritism, or payoffs and bribery, become involved in any government program, the seeds of destruction have been planted."

"Incompetent or corrupt administration of a bad program can make it worse," he said.

"It is up to the President to expose wrongdoing in government," the senator added. "But the interim president, whose office dealt with Billie Sol, does not press for exposure."

"His power is used for different ends—and the White House has been turned into the white-wash house," he added.

Unused Seat Belt: Tragic Auto Waste
(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fifth in an eight-part series of articles written in cooperation with the Governor's Committee on Traffic Safety and the Michigan Press Association.)

By BILL EASTHAM
Two hunters were following a deer trail when one stumbled over a tree root.

When he hit the ground he inadvertently pulled the trigger on his rifle and drilled a hole through his companion's head.

"Doesn't that rifle have a safety catch on it?" a deputy asked later.

"Yes, but I never use it," replied the hunter.

This makes about as much sense as having seat belts on your car and never using them.

MORE INSTALLED
Sales figures indicate that more and more cars are being equipped with seat belts. And a new Michigan law requires that they be installed by auto manufacturers as standard equipment.

But safety experts are appalled at the evidence that the majority of people who have them on their cars don't use them.

Some drivers boast that they always use their seat belts on long trips on the highway but never bother with them when driving short distances in town.

At 15 miles per hour the passenger without a seat belt not only runs his head through the windshield but also jolts his that three out of four accidents, accounting for two out of three injuries, happen "in town."

EXTENT OF DAMAGE
And they probably also fail to realize how much damage can be done to the occupants of an automobile in a low-speed crash with a solid object.

The General Motors Technical Center at Warren has scientifically filmed evidence that an unrestrained passenger's head will go through the windshield of a car that hits a tree at less than 10 miles per hour.

At 15 miles per hour the passenger without a seat belt not only runs his head through the windshield but also jolts his

At Chrysler, the UAW gained earlier retirement and improvements in pensions and other fringe benefits. The union estimated the package worth 54 cents an hour over the next three years.

At Ford it added on top of these a Christmas bonus, possible in 1965 and ranging from $25 to $100.

"We want to give General Motors, the largest and richest corporation in the world, the opportunity of doing more," Reuther said with respect to the demand for 40 hours pay "where anyone is called in to work and not provided with a full week's work."

He said this would make "a la mode" what he describes as the cake won at Chrysler and "frosted" at Ford.

The 75 per cent of straight-time pay to which he referred at Ford and Chrysler was an increase from 65 per cent in the guaranteed pay for anyone laid off by the companies because of a scheduled short workweek.

The pay for an unscheduled short workweek, such as might be occasioned by a powerhouse explosion, was left at 50 per cent.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics figures that the average hourly straight-time pay for the auto industry as a whole is $3.01.

GM's final contract will have even more widespread effect than that of either Chrysler or Ford, which employ a combined total of 204,000 UAW-represented workers. GM employs 354,000 in 129 plants in 71 cities.

OFFER TO MATCH
General Motors has offered to match the Chrysler and Ford settlements, and, except for the 40-hour workweek pay demand, is reported virtually to have wrapped up a national economic package.

Negotiations are snarled over what the union terms noneconomic demands for improvements in working conditions, disciplining and grievance procedures, production quotas and union shop representation.

Both sides agreed nothing major was worked out in these areas Wednesday, and Reuther said as a night recess was taken:

"Unless there is substantial movement and a change in attitude on the part of the company, I don't see how we can avoid a strike at 10 a.m. Friday."

Louis G. Seaton, GM vice president - personnel, agreed no major breakthroughs occurred Wednesday, but added: "Over-all there has been progress, although the parties might disagree on whether a mile was covered or only four inches."

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater charged today the taint of the Billie Sol Estes scandal still marks President Johnson's administration.

Campaigning across the farm belt, Goldwater declared the Estes affair casts "grave reflections right across the White House itself."

The Arizona senator called the case "more than just a scandal, a sordid picture of favoritism and fraud."

"It is a study in the operations and attitudes of some of the top officials of government—many of whom are still with us," he said.

Goldwater turned to the Estes case in a speech prepared for delivery at Mason City, Iowa. He opened his campaign day in Wichita, and was due later at Madison, Wis., for a statehouse rally before moving on to Boston.

SEEDS OF DESTRUCTION
Taking aim on the Democrats' handling of farm problems, Goldwater declared: "When partisan political favoritism, or payoffs and bribery, become involved in any government program, the seeds of destruction have been planted."

"Incompetent or corrupt administration of a bad program can make it worse," he said.

"It is up to the President to expose wrongdoing in government," the senator added. "But the interim president, whose office dealt with Billie Sol, does not press for exposure."

"His power is used for different ends—and the White House has been turned into the white-wash house," he added.

A low of 40 to 45 is expected tonight, followed by a high tomorrow of 60 to 65.

Skies will clear this evening and be sunny tomorrow. Fairly cloudy is the forecast for Saturday in the area.

Today in Pontiac, winds are westerly at 20 to 40 miles per hour. Sixty-two was the lowest temperature recorded previous to 8 a.m. At 1 p.m., the mercury stood at 56.

Unused Seat Belt: Tragic Auto Waste
(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fifth in an eight-part series of articles written in cooperation with the Governor's Committee on Traffic Safety and the Michigan Press Association.)

By BILL EASTHAM
Two hunters were following a deer trail when one stumbled over a tree root.

When he hit the ground he inadvertently pulled the trigger on his rifle and drilled a hole through his companion's head.

"Doesn't that rifle have a safety catch on it?" a deputy asked later.

"Yes, but I never use it," replied the hunter.

This makes about as much sense as having seat belts on your car and never using them.

MORE INSTALLED
Sales figures indicate that more and more cars are being equipped with seat belts. And a new Michigan law requires that they be installed by auto manufacturers as standard equipment.

But safety experts are appalled at the evidence that the majority of people who have them on their cars don't use them.

Some drivers boast that they always use their seat belts on long trips on the highway but never bother with them when driving short distances in town.

At 15 miles per hour the passenger without a seat belt not only runs his head through the windshield but also jolts his that three out of four accidents, accounting for two out of three injuries, happen "in town."

EXTENT OF DAMAGE
And they probably also fail to realize how much damage can be done to the occupants of an automobile in a low-speed crash with a solid object.

The General Motors Technical Center at Warren has scientifically filmed evidence that an unrestrained passenger's head will go through the windshield of a car that hits a tree at less than 10 miles per hour.

At 15 miles per hour the passenger without a seat belt not only runs his head through the windshield but also jolts his

Adjournment Rides on Mansfield Substitute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate votes today on a new compromise legislative reapportionment proposal with hopes for early adjournment of Congress riding on the outcome.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield offered the mild, nonbinding "sense of the Congress" proposal as a substitute for a stronger one which he previously sponsored jointly with Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen.

In a surprise and dramatic move aimed at ending the long stalemate over the pending $3.3 billion foreign aid bill, Mansfield abandoned the Dirksen proposal and appealed to the Senate to support his substitute to help "bring down the curtain on the 86th Congress."

Dirksen disavowed the compromise, but offered no objection when Mansfield won unanimous consent for a midafternoon roll call vote today.

EARLIER VOTE

Under the agreement an earlier test vote likely will come on a motion to table and thus kill the Mansfield amendment. Dirksen reserved the right to offer such a motion.

On and since Aug. 12, Democratic liberals have been conducting a filibuster against the Dirksen-Mansfield amendment designed to force the federal courts to delay Supreme Court-ordered reapportionment of both houses of state legislatures on a population basis.

It is pending as a proposed rider to the foreign aid bill. Dirksen had revised his proposal Tuesday in the hope of attracting additional support and weakening the filibuster. But Mansfield said he became convinced there was no prospect of its adoption.

QUICK ACCEPTANCE

Mansfield's substitute won immediate acceptance from liberals led by Sens. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., and William Proxmire, D-Wis.

The compromise would say it is the "sense of the Congress" that federal district courts, in carrying out Supreme Court orders, should:

1. Allow the legislatures the length of time provided for a regular session, plus 30 days, but not exceeding six months in all, to apportion representation in accordance with the Supreme Court ruling.
2. Permit the next election of members of state legislatures to be conducted in accordance with the state law in effect last Sunday.
3. Make the reapportionment themselves if the states fail to do so within the time granted for action.

Johnson Gets Report on Assassination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren presented to President Johnson today the report of his special commission on the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

The commission members filed into the Cabinet Room at the White House and Warren handed Johnson the four-inch-thick volume.

The massive report is to be made public Sunday night.

Johnson appointed the special commission a week after Kennedy's slaying last November and told it to unearth the truth of the tragic event "as far as it can be discovered."

The President directed the commission "to satisfy itself that the truth is known as far as it can be discovered, and to report its findings and conclusions to him, to the American people, and to the world."

In discharging this duty, the seven have interrogated hundreds of witnesses in secret hearings, studied thousands of investigation reports, traced Oswald's movements abroad, reenacted the killing and compiled some 20 volumes of testimony, depositions and exhibits.

Seat Belts Go Wasted

knees into the dash with enough force to crush it — or his knees.

At speeds above 20 miles per hour the windshield becomes an inefficient guillotine when the passenger rebounds from the impact and the back of his neck comes into contact with the jagged edge.

DRIVER INJURIES

The driver is afforded some "protection" by the steering wheel but usually winds up in internal bruises and cracked ribs in a low-speed crash.

His head goes into the windshield, too, however, at speeds above 20 mph.

But they can be thrown against the roof of the vehicle with enough force to cause serious neck injuries in a crash at speeds in the 20 mph range.

The belted passenger in a low-speed crash, the GM Tech Center films show, will get off with nothing more serious than a bump on the head, which he will hit on the dash at speeds above 15 mph.

PROVEN DAILY

The authenticity of the low-speed crash evidence is proven by GM safety engineers in every day in hospital emergency rooms.

crashes with hardly a scratch. But others have been killed when their car hit a tree on a residential street at 20 mph — or less.

Safety engineers will admit that even when belted you can sustain serious injury in a high-speed crash. A belt won't prevent all the buffeting force of the insides of the vehicle and the slashing you can get from flying glass.

But if it doesn't break, the belt will keep you inside, where statistics show you have a better chance of survival.

There are many forces which can quickly change you from an injury case to a fatality if you're ejected from the vehicle. You can be crushed by your own or another car, or just simply smash your head on the pavement.

Although it's a difficult figure to pin down with scientific exactness, safety experts believe that seat belts, if used properly, would save from 35 per cent of the rising toll of highway victims.

If this figure is reasonably correct, at least 50 persons who died on Oakland County highways last year might still be alive.

(Note: Driving is a privilege, not a right.)

Excessive speed accounted for 41 per cent of the traffic deaths in Michigan last year. But too many people think of excessive speed in the 90 mph range.

Excessive speed can be in the 10 mph range if it puts you in the hospital. True, drivers and passengers have walked away from 75-mph range.

U. S. Colonel Is Link Between Saigon, Rebels

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — A U.S. Army colonel was disclosed today to be acting as the go-between for a group of rebel mountain tribesmen and the central government in Saigon.

Previously, the colonel and five other American servicemen were reported being held captive by the tribesmen who are in rebellion against the Saigon regime. But a spokesman for the U.S. military command denied the report.

The military spokesman said Col. John Freund was serving as the go-between for the tribesmen at Bon Sar Pa and the national regime of Premier Nguyen Khanh.

"He is the connecting link between the rebel Montagnard leaders and the representatives of the Vietnamese government," the spokesman said.

City Unit in State Youth Work Program

BIRMINGHAM — Four young men — unemployed high school graduates or dropouts — soon will be learning the ropes in Birmingham's Forestry and Parks Department.

Their nine months of on-the-job study will be a part of the Michigan Youth Training Program established by the State Legislature during its regular 1964 session.

Birmingham is one of two Oakland County communities to establish the program for public service training — Oak Park also has signed a contract with the Michigan Employment Security Commission (MESC).

Eight other communities and three school districts in the state have similar plans in various stages of completion.

The legislature appropriated $150,000 to finance the program for one year on an experimental basis, with a 50-50 cost split in each community.

COST TO CITY

Cost to the city will be $1,440, according to assistant city manager R. S. Kenning, coordinator of the local program.

The city and the state will share equally the cost of the $20 weekly allowance paid to youth enrolled in the program.

Trainees must be at least 18 years old and have a 10th grade education. Applicants can apply at the MESC office in Royal Oak, located at 737 S. Washington.

They will be screened there and sent to the Forestry and Parks Department for final selection. Birmingham residents are to be given priority.

PROGRAM DATES

The program is expected to start Oct. 1 and end June 30, 1965.

Kenning said the trainees will be doing various jobs within the department and will rotate regularly. Their course of study will be directed by two department employees with forestry degrees.

Two of the youths will concentrate on tree trimming and the other two on golf course maintenance.

After the training program, each youth will stay in Birmingham "only if there is an opening and we decide to keep him. We're not committed," Kenning said.

U.S. Rejects Africans' Attempt to Cut Off Congo Military Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has rejected an attempt by the Organization of African Unity to halt U.S. military assistance to the troubled Congo.

"We could not agree to discuss our aid to the Congo without the participation of the Congo government," State Department press officer Robert McCloskey said Wednesday.

Other sources reported that President Johnson's schedule is too crowded to permit a conference with representatives of the OAU, a 34-nation African group that has had U.S. support over the years in its efforts to stabilize the Congo.

This means the United States with a five-nation OAU delegation that wants such aid — primarily communication and transportation equipment — "cut off."

SIDE WITH CONGO

It means the United States has sided with the Congolese government, whose leaders have denounced the effort to halt American assistance.

Announcement of the U.S.

position came after Kenya's minister of state, Joseph Murumbi, had left for Washington. Other African nations represented on the mission are Ghana, Guinea, Nigeria and the United Arab Republic.

The five-nation delegation was drawn from a Congolese commission created two weeks ago by the OAU after a series of tribal rebellions had wrested about one-sixth of the Congo from government control. Congo President Joseph Kasavubu told Diallo Telli of Guinea, secretary general of the OAU, that the decision to send a delegation to Washington had "put in jeopardy" the independent status of the Congo.

TSHOMBE COMPLAINS

Congo Prime Minister Moïse Tshombe, in a message to Jomo

Kenyatta of Kenya, chairman of the conciliation commission, complained that the action was contrary to the OAU charter.

The U.S. ambassador to the Congo, G. McMurtrie Godley, was instructed to confer with Tshombe, and William Attwood, U.S. ambassador to Kenya, relayed the U.S. position to the conciliation committee.

That position, said McCloskey, is that if the government of the Congo is willing to participate in discussions of military aid, "U.S. representatives will be prepared to meet with representatives of the government of the Congo and of the OAU commission at a mutually agreed time and place on the basis of a previously agreed agenda."

U.S. military assistance to the Congo is limited, McCloskey said, and was given "at the

Court Denies Estes Appeal

Asked Rehearing on Mail Fraud Conviction

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals has turned down Bill Sol Estes' motion for a rehearing on his appeal of a mail fraud conviction. Assistant U.S. Atty. Fred Morton announced Wednesday.

In Dallas, Tex., U.S. Atty. Barefoot Sanders said Estes' trial on charges of filing false financial statements which was set for Nov. 9, will not be held until early in 1965.

The appeals court at New Orleans last month denied Estes' appeal of his conviction by an El Paso jury on federal charges of mail fraud and conspiracy in connection with mortgages of nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

U.S. Dist. Judge R.E. Thomson sentenced Estes to 15 years in prison.

Estes, former Pecos promoter who now lives in Abilene, has 30 days to petition the U.S. Supreme Court for a stay of sentence pending an appeal to the high court.

FREE ON BOND

Estes is free under bonds totaling $140,000 while he appeals both the El Paso conviction and one at Tyler on a state charge of swindling.

Dixie Craftsmen Will Display Works

PLUM NELLY, Ga. (AP) — Southern craftsmen and artists will display their works Oct. 3-4 in an autumn-tinged forest at the 10th annual clothe-line art show.

Plum Nelly, so named because it's "plum out of Tennessee and nelly out of Georgia," is located on the west side of Lookout Mountain, in the northwestern tip of the state between Tennessee and Alabama.

The outdoor exhibitors will include 15 painters, one sculptor, one printmaker and 15 craftsmen — weavers, potters, candle-makers, dollmakers and basketmakers.

Bovine Bliss on Way Back in Washington

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The state of Washington has been cowed into submission.

A year ago state earth-moving machines, building a freeway, dumped dirt on a cow path traversed by animals owned by John Nielsen of nearby Renton. Nielsen hired Seattle attorney Joseph R. Mattsen to unearth a defense. He did, explaining Wednesday that the state never had the right-of-way to the path it thought it did.

A settlement has been reached, Mattsen said. The freeway will take another approach, bringing back bovine bliss.

BAN ME THUOT, Viet Nam (UPI) — Six American servicemen were being held hostage in their own camp today by the mountain tribesmen they have been training to fight the Communists.

U. S. officers at Ban Me Thuot, headquarters of the Vietnamese 23rd Army Division, said the hostages were Col. John Freynd, deputy senior adviser to the Vietnamese Army Second Corps, plus a captain and four enlisted men.

Also being held hostage in an increasingly dangerous blowup of tribal unrest were 40 Vietnamese Special Forces soldiers.

The camp is 25 miles west of Ban Me Thuot, which is 160 miles northeast of Saigon in the central Highlands.

The camp is at Ban Sar Pa, just off Highway 14, the main transport route through the central highlands.

It is one of five camps which revolted Sunday against their Vietnamese officers and American advisers. Three of them were reported quiet today and flying the Vietnamese flag. But there had been no word at all from a fourth, Ban Mi Ga, since Sunday.

Premier Nguyen Khanh flew here today to try personally to stop the rebellion — the latest in a six-week series of riots, coup attempts and strikes which have severely shaken his regime.

There are about 1 million mountain tribesmen in South Viet Nam. They are darker and more primitive than the 15 million, lowlanders and they speak an entirely different language.

They have never completely submitted to the authority of Saigon. They have long demanded self-government. Many of them have joined the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

The Americans have taken the lead in recruiting these jungle-wise tribesmen for the anti-Communist cause. They have been given guns, pay and training without having to join the regular Vietnamese Army.

They have proved invaluable in helping American green-bereted Special Forces troops waylay Communist supplies being moved along the jungle network known as the Ho Chi Minh trail. But the risk of treachery is ever-present.

Official American spokesmen in Saigon refused to comment on the tribal uprising, which involves men of the Rhade tribe.

Unofficially, American sources maintained that Freund and the other five Americans had stayed in camp of their own free will, to discourage violence and act as go-between for the rebels.

said there was some violence Sunday and that several per-sens, none American, were killed.

These sources said that two American radio operators were allowed to leave Ban Sar Pa by helicopter yesterday and two fresh operators were allowed to replace them. The American radio in the camp is its only communication with the outside.

Introducing Comet 1965:

A PRODUCT OF  MOTOR COMPANY • LINCOLN-MERCURY DIVISION

livelier, more beautiful
Durability Champion

We couldn't make Comet much tougher, so we made it more beautiful. Made the outside sleeker, sportier—from every angle. Made the interiors more luxurious. Made every engine bigger, from the thrifty 200 cu.-in. Comet "6" up through the hefty new 289 cu.-in. Cyclone Super V-8 (225 hp). Made the ride even smoother, more solid and silent.

The one thing not new in this racy '65 sequel is the stamina that made Comet the World's 100,000-Mile Durability Champion. And you wouldn't want that to change, would you? It didn't.

Nape of Neck Is Alluring, Says Expert

Camille Martin, a Belgian beautician who believes the nape of the neck to be especially alluring, urges women to massage it while soaping themselves in the shower.

"Put a good lather on your scrubbing brush so that you will not scorch your tender skin," he adds.

This treatment is designed to remove the layer of fat that is especially prone to grow on the nape during winter months.

Set Party for Fashions, Cards

The Fashion Your Figure club of Pontiac is sponsoring their annual style show and card party Oct. 1 at 7:30 p. m. in the First Federal Savings of Oakland building.

Waite's Department store will preview fall fashions with hair styling by the Murray Beauty Academy.

Mrs. Joseph Lynch, club queen for the year, will be mistress of ceremonies.

Models will be Mrs. Maurice Formaz, Mrs. Alphonse Huse-reau, Mrs. Bessie Vess, Mrs. Alfred Post, Mrs. Harry Tetter, Mrs. Charles McLean, Mrs. Odes Case and Mrs. Truman Lamphere, chairman of the affair.

Junior models include Margie Stevenson, Martin Swackhamer, Wesley Beltz and Shirley Lamphere.

Tickets will be available at the door.

Airlines Continue Climb

Mart Mixed; Moderate Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Airlines continued higher in a mixed stock market early today. Trading was moderate.

The list of key stocks was a scramble of small gains and losses.

General Motors was steady despite Friday's strike deal. Most other autos were unchanged but Chrysler encountered profit taking. It was down 1/4 at 63 1/2 on an opening block of 5,000 shares and later sold at 62 1/2, a loss of 1 1/2 on 13,000 shares.

Steels, nonferrous metals, chemicals, rails and utilities were very narrowly mixed. Building materials took small losses.

Among wider-spreading issues, IBM was up 3 and Xerox down more than a point.

Opening blocks included: General Motors, unchanged at 63 1/2 on 5,000 shares.

Wednesday, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 3/4 to 325.7, a new high.

Prices were irregular on the American Stock Exchange.

'Crisis Passed' at Studebaker

Leaders Encouraged by Comeback Trail

DETROIT (AP)—Leaders of Studebaker Corp.'s automotive division are convinced they have successfully passed the rocky part of their comeback trail.

Headed by President Gordon E. Grundy, Studebaker officials came to Detroit this week to voice their optimism.

At a time when other auto makers were bringing out 1965 cars with pomp and circumstance, Studebaker presented its new models with a minimum of fanfare.

Grundy carefully played down references to Studebaker's new cars as 1965 models. He made it plain that Studebaker, now based in Hamilton, Ont., will not strive for new models on a calendar or model year basis, but rather will make improvements as needed in its cars.

Others are plugging for more aid to states and communities from the federal tax collection which they think will rise considerably if rates aren't cut further.

But at many a state capital and city hall across the nation the search will be pressed still harder for more kinds of taxes, or better rates, or more handouts from the federal government, or more borrowing.

Some political parties are promising some more federal tax cuts. In Washington, the question will be what taxes and how much.

NEW YORK—The emphasis on taxes is likely to change next year. For most taxpayers the pressure will be applied closer to home.

And the chances are that one way or another most will pay as much, if not more, in taxes than this year.

Some political parties are promising some more federal tax cuts. In Washington, the question will be what taxes and how much.

The Republican candidate, Barry Goldwater, proposes further cuts in individual and corporate income tax rates. As a goal, he suggests a 25 percent cut for individuals spread over five years.

Both the President and Dillon talk of possible income tax cuts, but without naming figures or giving flat promises.

Based on BELIEF

At best, this is based on the belief that federal government spending can be held down while total collections, even at lower rates, will rise because of increasing incomes and profits from growing prosperity.

At most state and local levels, however, the chances of holding down spending are slim indeed.

Demands for services for growing populations, and for more services to more demanding citizens, multiply.

To pay for them the authorities have to combat taxpayer resistance to higher rates, and in many cases to the taking on of bigger debt loads to permit service now and payment later.

Federal grants to state and local governments take many forms. But the total increases steadily. Counting in highway, construction and welfare payments, the U.S. Treasury is paying out more than $10.5 billion this year to state and local projects.

OTHER PROJECTS

Congress is considering other projects which will mean still more financial aid for locally based programs. And some Washington officials are now proposing that the federal government increase payments to states, without naming specific projects.

If Washington gives some tax forms, such as excise levies on certain products, the states may be able to increase their own take in sales taxes. One way or another, they will be scrambling even harder to find funds to finance their increased spending.

From Michigan Prison

Millionaire to Be Paroled

JACKSON (AP)—Millionaire Benjamin Ritholz of Chicago will be paroled tomorrow from Southern Michigan Prison where he has paid $428 a day room and board for the past 15 months.

Ritholz has served the minimum time of a 2-4 year sentence for trying to bribe two members of the Michigan optometry board in 1966.

Ritholz started serving his term June 27, 1963. He has been billed for his time in prison—a standard practice for prisoners of means, said Warden George Krupp.

Ritholz jumped a $20,000 bond and fought his case from Illinois. He was finally extradited last year.

Ritholz' attorneys said his health was bad and that a prison sentence could bring on a fatal heart attack. State authorities denied that his health prevented his serving a sentence.

Since entering the prison, his attorneys—including former U.S. District Judge and State Republican Chairman, John Felkens—have sought a pardon and commutation of sentence from Gov. George Romney on the basis of his health and a charge of entrapment.

Ritholz argued that he was deliberately led into a trap by state authorities.

Ritholz, who at one time was president of an optical company with branches in 17 cities, was caught in the act of handing $2,000 each to several prominent board members in a Lansing hotel.

Expansion of Hallman Drugs, 457 Elizabeth Lake, to double its prescription and selling area, has been announced by owners, Milford and Dorothy Magnuson. The new section is now open, and a grand opening is planned later this month.
