

Will Be First to Leave U.N., Says Salazar

Failure of World Body, Allies to Help in Goa Criticized by Premier

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar said in a speech prepared for delivery today Portugal "will surely be among the first countries to leave the United Nations organization."

"Meanwhile we shall refuse them our collaboration in everything that is not in our direct interest," he declared.

Reporting to the national assembly and to the nation, the 78-year-old dictator criticized the United Nations, the United States, and Britain for their failure to come to Portugal's support when India invaded Goa, Daman and Diu last month.

Referring to the United Nations mission of safeguarding peace, Salazar said he believes "we have the right to have whether our presence and our collaboration are already useless in the U.N."

AMONG THE FIRST

"Even if we do not (hear), I do not know yet whether we shall be the first country to abandon the United Nations, but surely we will be among the first. Meanwhile we shall refuse them our collaboration in everything that is not in our direct interest."

That statement was as near as Salazar came in a 10,000-word speech to suggesting direct action to force Portugal's non-diplomatic sources here had expected him to announce as an aftermath of the loss of the Portuguese Indian enclaves:

1. Possible withdrawal from the United Nations.
2. Revocation of the century-old British-Portuguese alliance.
3. Refusal to renew the Azores Island air base agreement with the United States when it expires this year.

Salazar declared the 650,000 Goans whose land was seized by India "will be recognized as such by all nations and peoples of the world."

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, has recovered sufficiently from his stroke to begin reading newspapers.

His physicians and family said the 73-year-old head of the Kennedy clan was making fine progress.

Officials at St. Mary's Hospital reported he was reading newspapers Tuesday and has been watching television. He also has been cheered by visits from several of his grandchildren.

Romney, Scholle to Hold Debate

Reapportionment Issue to Be Discussed for Lansing Area Newsman

The state legislative reapportionment issue will be debated next week by George Romney, R-Bloomfield Hills and constitutional convention vice president, and August Scholle, president of the Michigan AFL-CIO, for the benefit of Lansing area newsmen.

The debate is scheduled for Tuesday night at a meeting of the Central Michigan Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic society, in Lansing.

Romney, a likely Republican candidate for governor, has presented a proposal on reapportionment to the convention which would redistribute the State Senate on a basis that includes sparsity of population.

He would allow additional representation to thinly populated sections of the state where constituents are spread over a wide area. Scholle, a staunch advocate of reapportionment based strictly on population, has a suit pending before the U.S. Supreme Court seeking to force reapportionment of the State Senate.

Death Comes to Astronomer

Dr. Robert R. McMath, 70, Gained Worldwide Fame With His Work

Dr. Robert R. McMath, world famous astronomer who captured the universe but found time to serve in local government, died yesterday at his home, 255 Lane Pine Court, Bloomfield Hills, he was 70.

As director of the McMath-Bullitt Observatory, Lake Angelus, he was the first man to make motion pictures of solar flares. His latest brainchild is now being growing in the form of the world's largest sun telescope being constructed at Kitt Peak National coding 8 a.m. The observatory had 6 miles southwest of climbed to 38 at 2 p.m.

Dr. McMath also was an industrialist, educator, engineer, aviation pioneer, astrophysicist, federal government consultant and former Lake Angelus Village commissioner and village president. His hobbies included hunting and photography.

His interests ranged from developing the Navy's only World War II bomb site to developing artificial limbs for servicemen.

When he retired last July 1 as professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan and director of the Lake Angelus observatory, Dr. McMath could look back on a life equaled by few men.

He received his bachelor of science degree in civil engineering from U. of M. and also held honorary degrees from that school, Wayne State University and Pennsylvania Military College.

Permits Release of 2 Guard Units JFK Adds 2 Army Divisions

Asks Activation Right Away; Ups Forces to 16

Reservists in 32nd, 49th to Be Relieved From Duty 'Later This Year'

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy ordered today the immediate formation of two new Army divisions, expanding the service to 16 permanent divisions.

The Palm Beach White House said the activation of the two divisions would permit the release "later this year" with no time specified, of the 32nd and 49th National Guard Divisions which were called to duty last Oct. 15 in the armed forces buildup precipitated by the Berlin crisis.

One of the new regular divisions, the 1st Armored, will be activated at Ft. Hood, Tex. The other, the 5th Mechanized Infantry, will be organized at Ft. Carson, Colo.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said Kennedy approved the action at meetings Tuesday and this morning with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and the nation's top defense officials.

He said it was the first item of business on this morning's agenda after the Joint Chiefs of Staff flew into Palm Beach from Washington for the preparatory talks.

Qualified sources said the two National Guard divisions summoned to duty should not anticipate returning home for at least several months. The 32nd of Wisconsin is training at Ft. Lewis, Wash., and the 49th of Texas, at the First Camp Polk, La.

The Guard divisions, the announcement said, "will be relieved later this year as the international situation and the readiness status of the two divisions permit." In the meantime, it added, the 32nd and 49th "will continue on duty as a key element of the Army strategic reserves."

Concerning the Guard divisions, the temporary White House declared:

"The quick and effective mobilization of this force had demonstrated in unmistakable terms our determination to resist Communist aggression."

RELEASED UNITS

Many reservists called to uniform in the 1961 buildup were assigned to the National Guard divisions to fill out their units.

Both the 1st Armored and 5th Infantry will be activated under the new Army divisional structure announced by Kennedy last May. In a message to Congress today's announcement recalled, the President "expressed that greater frequency, mobility and flexibility would be achieved."

The 1st Armored will be the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Downed Flier Carried to Plane

HOSPITAL BOUND—Air Force rescuers are shown carrying U2 pilot Capt. Charles P. Stratton, 32, to a plane for transport to Keesler AFB at Hattiesburg, Miss. Stratton was rescued from a tree in a swamp near Poycaine, Miss., after his high-altitude plane crashed.

After 10 Hours in Swamp

PICATUNE, Miss. (AP) — The pilot of a flying U2 high altitude reconnaissance plane parachuted to safety last night—into the top of a tall cypress tree in a swampy, wooded area. He was rescued today after 10 hours there.

A Coast Guard helicopter spotted him about 1 a.m. Rescuers moved in by boat and reached Stratton a little after 7 a.m.

IN GOOD CONDITION "I felt like that tree limb was cutting me in two," Stratton told his rescuers.

They said he was in good condition. He later went by plane to Keesler Air Force Base at Hattiesburg, Miss. The base is about 30 miles from Hattiesburg, La., near the area where the plane went down.

Stratton's home is Detroit but he lives at Del Rio, Tex., with his wife and two children.

It was not immediately known what caused the crash and the Air Force threw up a veil of secrecy around the crash.

Newsmen were told to make no attempt to interview Stratton when he arrived in Picatune. A news conference, however, was expected to be set up at Keesler later in the day.

The high altitude U2 was similar but not identical to the one downed over Russia with civilian Francis Gary Powers in May of 1960. The plane was attached to the 10th Strategic Wing at Laughlin AFB, Del Rio, Tex. It was on a return flight from Birmingham, Ala., to its base.

Stratton and Powers, a former AF officer, are friends. They met while assigned to the same squadron at Turner Air Force Base in Albany, Ga., before Powers' fateful flight.

At the time Powers crashed his was shot down in Russia in May of 1960 Stratton's parents said the fact that their son was flying a U2 for the Air Force instead of in the Central Intelligence Agency "is some comfort to us, of course, but not a great deal."

Chess Champ Just a Pawn in Game of Love

HASTINGS, England (AP) — Brunette Lisa Lane said today she is so homesick by love that she is giving up the game of chess.

Lisa, at 21 a six-time winner of the American women's championship, announced that she will fly back to New York to join the object of her heart's desire—newsmen Neil Hickley.

She quit the international chess tournament here last night, saying she could no longer keep her mind on her game.

"I am discussing only my own feelings and I cannot speak for him," said Lisa. "I could not concentrate during this tournament. My thoughts kept wandering. I am just in love."

Pontiac Motors Output Stages December Rally

Pontiac Motor Division year-end production figures released today followed the auto industry trend showing lower total production for the year, but strong rallies in December.

The division produced 360,336 Pontiacs and Tempests in 1961 compared to 450,286 in 1960.

There were 241,291 Pontiacs produced last year compared to 318,141 in 1960.

However, Tempest production went up from only 35,035 in 1960, when the car was introduced, to 113,845 last year.

In December, total Pontiac-Tempest production shot 42,579 compared to 41,307 in December 1960.

6,000 More GIs to Be Airlifted to W. Germany

Two Battle Units Will Remain as Backbone for Possible Trouble

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The posting of two more U.S. Army battle groups in Germany will provide the makings of an air-transportable brigade that could deal with trouble in the Middle East, Africa or elsewhere.

The Okinawa-based brigade would be intended for use in the Far East and Southeast Asia.

The Pentagon announced Tuesday that three battle groups of the 1st Infantry Division, totaling about 6,000 men, will be airlifted to Germany for a NATO exercise from Jan. 16 to Feb. 12.

Two battle groups will remain there after the end of operation "Long Thrust II" for additional training as elements of the Army Strategic Reserve in Europe. The third will return to Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Later, reportedly after several months, the two battle groups will be rotated back to the United States and replaced by other units of the 1st Division. In all, the 1st Infantry has five battle groups.

The Defense Department said these elements would be available for use in an emergency.

Funds for two independent trouble-shooting brigades are said to be included in the new defense budget soon to go to Congress.

Army leaders have been thinking in terms of paratroop units for such an assignment.

Sources indicate the battle groups are to be sent to Germany later this month might be used as an interim "fire brigade."

They noted that although these are conventional infantry, they can be lifted quickly over thousands of miles.

About 100 transports will fly the 4th Division's troops from Washington State to Europe. The battle groups will be accompanied by artillery, armor and other support elements.

Taking part in the movement will be 10 of the 15 advanced (C-130 jet) transports owned by the Military Air Transport Service.

The subsequent replacement of the two battle groups with other units of the 4th Infantry will give the Army a chance to try out a unit rotation plan.

The battle groups being moved to Europe will take no dependents. They will travel comparatively light. In Europe they will use tanks and other heavy equipment which has been stockpiled there during the Berlin crisis.

Egyptian Links Lebanon Trouble to British Fleet

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Interior Minister Kamal Jumblatt, a disciple of U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, charged today that last weekend's unsuccessful rightist uprising in Lebanon was linked to British fleet movements in the Mediterranean.

In a statement to the paper L'Orient, Jumblatt expressed views similar to those published in Cairo, Baghdad and other Middle Eastern capitals. The plotter, Nasser's pan-Arab nationalism and favored a "fertile crescent" union of Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Iraq, Palestine and Cyprus.

"The authors of the attempt went into action only after having made sure of the movements of the British fleet in the Mediterranean," he said.

The only unusual movements by British warships noted recently in the Middle East were those by a fleet dispatched from Africa's East Coast to the Kuwait area after new threats by Iraq against Kuwait. They steamed into the Persian Gulf but did not come near the Mediterranean.

Agreement to Transfer of W. N. Guinea Called For First by Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian Minister Subandrio today rejected the latest Dutch offer to negotiate their dispute over West New Guinea. He said Indonesia would negotiate only if the Dutch agreed in advance to transfer the area to Indonesian control.

Otherwise, said Subandrio, Indonesia will take the Indonesian-rolled western half of the big island by invasion, as it has threatened.

"We do not object to bilateral negotiations with the purpose of the transfer of the administration of West Irian (West New Guinea) to Indonesia," Subandrio said. "Upon finding an endorsed pay check for $128 yesterday in a magazine store at the National Food Store on East Boulevard, I called the check's supposed owner, C. E. Montgomery of Conklin Street."

He found the only Montgomery was the cousin of another C. E. Montgomery of Montfield Street, the actual owner, who was unlocated.

With a Smile on Our Lips—Castro

Says Cuba Awaits Attack

HAVANA (AP)—Backed by modern-Soviet-bloc weapons and Latin America's fastest air force, Fidel Castro says his armed forces await any new invasion "with a smile on our lips."

The Cuban prime minister showed off his new military equipment Tuesday at a parade marking the third anniversary of his victory over the Batista dictatorship. He said that "Yankee imperialism" was the sole reason for Cuba's rearmament.

Highlights of the parade were three Communist-made MIG-17 jets which swept overhead with a flight of 12 MIG-15s or improved MIG-17s.

The MIGs are believed to have been piloted by Cubans who recently completed flight training in Czechoslovakia.

Important Increase Reported in FBI Accomplishments

Along with most newspapers, The Pontiac Press throws its wholehearted support behind the Federal Bureau of Investigation and J. Edgar Hoover. In a year-end report, Director Hoover announced significant increases in major categories of FBI accomplishments.

"Final tabulations show more than 12,400 convictions in FBI cases compared with 12,021 in 1960; the apprehension of 10,700 FBI fugitives compared with 9,739 last year; and fines, savings and recoveries totaling approximately $150 million—an amount far exceeding the funds spent to operate the FBI during 1961.

"A record of more than 900 violations of the Federal Bank Robbery and Incidental Crimes Statute have been reported to the FBI. Another high was established with the location of nearly 19,000 stolen cars. The FBI also stressed the 'critical menace to society' of sex criminals.

"Commenting on the series of anticrime bills passed by the 87th Congress, Mr. Hoover stated, 'These laws provide us valuable new tools for combating the professional elements of the underworld.' The FBI Director was particularly enthusiastic in heralding the extension of the Fugitive Felon Act. 'It is one of law enforcement's most effective weapons for countering the operations of fast-moving, modern-day hoodlums,' Mr. Hoover said. 'During 1961, FBI investigations resulted in the apprehension of nearly 1,400 fugitives.' Now the scope of the Fugitive Felon Act has been expanded.

"The FBI Director expressed appreciation for the cooperation his Bureau receives from alert citizens. 'Information by confidential informants resulted in more than 4,000 arrests and in the recovery of $4 million in stolen valuables,' he said. The FBI disseminated well over 100,000 items of criminal intelligence information to local, State and Federal investigative agencies during the past year.

"Warning that the United States remains the primary target for Soviet-blue intelligence operations, Mr. Hoover stated that two men were convicted on espionage charges and a third man was permitted to leave the country in lieu of deportation. The FBI Director described the Communist Party, U.S.A., as 'an inseparable arm of the international conspiracy against God and freedom which is directed from Moscow.' The Communists in this country are, completely subservient of their Soviet masters, he said.

"Particularly significant were the actions of the delegation of Party officials from this country who attended the Congress of the Soviet Communist Party in Moscow. Not only did the American delegates pledge full support to Nikita Khrushchev, but three of them appeared on Moscow television to give the Soviet people a distorted impression of conditions in the United States. An indictment was returned against the Communist Party, U.S.A., for failure to register with the Attorney General under provisions of the Internal Security Act. The trial has tentatively been set for Feb. 1, 1962.

"The FBI Laboratory, which receives specimens from all states, conducted more than 230,000 examinations. Many of these examinations involved local police in identifying wrongdoers. Others helped to establish the innocence of falsely accused persons, he said. The FBI's Identification Division, which serves as a national repository for fingerprint identifying data, received an average of 23,000 fingerprint cards each working day. As the year ended, its files contained 161,600,000 sets of fingerprints representing an estimated 76,400,000 persons.

"Commenting upon the assistance which his Bureau receives from other investigative agencies, Mr. Hoover stated, 'Each year the bonds of mutual cooperation grow stronger. We are reaching higher peaks of efficiency and protection of individual rights than ever before.'

The Man About Town Former Winters

Have Also Been Somewhat Out of Seasonal Program

January: A month named for a two-faced god, so don't expect too much of it.

We did not get last winter's heaviest snow, according to one of my best weather-watchers. Eber Flavis of Auburn Heights, until over three weeks after winter had officially ended. It came about the middle of April, and was only around three inches.

Another weather statistic comes from Harry Quade of Dryden Plains, who phones that we've already had more zero readings this winter than in all of last readings.

Pussy willows in bloom are reported by Mrs. Albert Chaner of Sylvan Lake, on the same day that the mercury touched zero. The same bushes did the same thing last year.

Snow so deep that traffic has been tied up is reported in a card from Mrs. Gladys Pilech of South Haven, who writes that its winters have been terrific ever since she moved there from Pontiac seven years ago.

That perennial golfer, Perry Plummer of Rochester, took his bag on a Texas vacation, and writes me that the balls bounce on the frozen ground just like they do in Michigan.

Red winged blackbirds are staying over winter with Mrs. Arthur Tripp of Waterford, being regular patrons of her feeding board.

Most of the smaller lakes in the Pontiac area now are safe for skating, but be careful about a lake that has a stream flowing through it. The larger lakes still are unsafe, and the rivers and other streams NEVER are safe.

For many years a calendar salesman, my good friend, Gene Ottrott of Birmingham, tells me that the near nude stuff has about passed out, and the bathing beauties are being supplanted by baby pigs.

Congratulations go to Mrs. Barbara Shaw, Home Economics teacher in the Hemlock High School, near Saginaw. She uses the display food and other aids in the daily newspapers in her class work, saying that a good understanding of such things is a prime essential for future homemakers.

Many endorsements have been heard of the classes in oil painting, being put on by the Pontiac Parks and Recreational Department, with William (Bill) Shirley as instructor. They meet Tuesday nights at Washington Junior High School.

New Year Streamers

David Lawrence Shudders:

That Pump-Priming Device Again?

WASHINGTON—This is the season of "review and outlook." Yet nobody today really knows the future of American business for a year ahead.

LAWRENCE: And to try again the same devices that haven't worked before.

If it weren't for the fact that politics rules almost all else, there would be grounds for optimism about the future of business.

PUMP-PRIMING DUE But because politics, with its irresponsibility in government, is the controlling force, the chances are that more recessions, more unemployment and the "quack" remedies of "pump-priming" may be expected to dominate the headlines within the next 6 to 18 months.

Businessmen are supposed to be "hostile" to the administration. Secretary of Commerce Luther Holches is reminding around the country trying to butter them up.

But, unfortunately, he is regarded as a man without any real influence in the Kennedy administration.

He got in wrong with many businessmen when he virtually wrecked the Business Advisory Council, which had for many decades served a useful function in the Department of Commerce.

Unfortunately, this country is supposed to be divided between "big business" and "big labor," and the administration usually takes the side of the trade unions, though in the long run the interrelationship of the two has more to do with ups and downs of the curve on the chart of business conditions than any other single factor.

Thus, over the weekend, the same old story bobbed up again in print. All the leading trade journals that report in detail the flow of orders in the steel industry came out with forecasts of a "boom" in steel for the early part of 1962. But there's a fly in the ointment.

One dispatch says that consumer inventories are expected to rise before June to $11.5 billion tons, which constitutes "three months' supply."

This is but another way of saying that steel users are growing to protest themselves against a prospective strike. Almost every one of the reports in the trade literature artificially induced, labor starts most often on a Wednesday. Last often on a Monday.

Also, unless artificially induced, labor starts most often after midnight, with a peak incidence at 2 a. m. Least often at 4 p. m.

Thus a statistically significant number of children are born on or about dawn of a Wednesday. Even on a Tuesday morning.

But I wouldn't take all this so seriously as to consider casting a bad performance with the explanation that the relative positions of sun, moon and earth were out of kilter at the particular time of the foul-up.

Journals attributes the sudden upsurge in steel orders to the expected steel strike in June.

Ever since President Kennedy wrote last autumn to the steel companies and labor leaders warning them against factors that would upset price stability, the country has been aware of an unsolved problem of serious proportions.

Kennedy had an opportunity in his address last month before the National Association of Manufacturers in New York and the AFL-CIO in Miami to come to grips with this very issue. But he really sleepwalked. The political pitfalls evidently were too risky.

Statecraft is more than ever required. The country does not expect businessmen to be "hostile" to the administration, and certainly the administration should not be "hostile" to businessmen. Yet the news from Washington regularly tells of plans that can upset business.

The balance-of-payments situation is also grave. It is being aided by reports of tax measures aimed to restrict American enterprises which have plants overseas and which are competing effectively with foreign companies and also bringing back huge dividends to the United States.

There are news dispatches, too, telling of administration plans to ask Congress to give the President the power arbitrarily to raise or lower taxes in the United States. Nothing could be more calculated to frighten business and disrupt long-range planning.

Meanwhile, European industry, with its lower wages costs, is threatening to cut down America's export trade. It's a time for realism as well as statesmanship.

Dr. Harold Hyman Observes: Many Things in Nature Seem to Occur in Cycles

We're all familiar with the cycles in natural phenomena. Morning and night. Spring, summer, fall and winter. The return of the seasons to Capricorn on a certain day at a certain hour and almost at a certain moment.

Many of us are also aware of cyclic variations in the way we feel and react. Some of us function best in the early hours of the day and fade like morning glories as the day progresses. Some function best at night after trifling; many most of the daylight hours.

You can see this illustrated in sports. Some runners are front runners that act a pace. Others are thinkers that approach the tape with fantastic bursts of speed.

Then there are pitchers who excel in spring training and others who don't seem to get started until midseason. There are batters who alternate between hitting streaks and slumps.

Usually when questioned they have no explanation for their in-and-out performances. They all seem to say "I don't know. I'm doing everything the same. But some days, I hit right at a flier. And other days, the ball 'fizz eyes' and goes between them."

Well, one possible explanation of these cyclic variations is suggested by revealing studies done at Charles University in Prague and at our own medical schools in Utah and Minnesota. There is a brief summary of the principal findings.

A statistically significant number of women begin to menstruate on a Sunday or a Wednesday morning. Fewer are born at or about twilight of a Monday.

Thus a statistically significant number of children are born on or about dawn of a Wednesday. Even on a Tuesday morning.

But I wouldn't take all this so seriously as to consider casting a bad performance with the explanation that the relative positions of sun, moon and earth were out of kilter at the particular time of the foul-up.

Unsurprisingly induced, labor starts most often on a Wednesday. Last often on a Monday.

Also, unless artificially induced, labor starts most often after midnight, with a peak incidence at 2 a. m. Least often at 4 p. m.

Thus a statistically significant number of children are born on or about dawn of a Wednesday. Even on a Tuesday morning.

But I wouldn't take all this so seriously as to consider casting a bad performance with the explanation that the relative positions of sun, moon and earth were out of kilter at the particular time of the foul-up.

Vote of the People:

'Let's Combat Communism in Businesslike Manner'

In reality the United States is the largest business in the world. Its stockholders are taxpayers, the board of directors our Congress, and we have an elected President. We have 50 subsidiary companies which we call states.

If our country is to continue growing we will have to add another state about every five years. This will have to be accomplished by war or peace. Since we are a peace loving nation aggression is ruled out. It can be accomplished peacefully by letting the rest of the world know we are ready to consider well-planned mergers with other countries.

If we merged with another country there would be no more tariffs. By coming under all of our federal laws their standard of living would be raised to ours. The ultimate would be a country so large no nation would dare jeopardize the peace and our desire to worship God as we please. Would you vote for a merger?

With all the uprising over our children's reading habits, now we find Tarzan has been living in spa all these years. If you really read and to be shocked, ask your children who attend junior or senior high school, why they can't wear purple to school on Thursday or red on Monday.

They'll tell you Thursday is known as queer's day and if you wear these colors it means you are a homosexual.

'Red Plot--Nab Africa'

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

BONN, Germany (AP)—A young African just returned from years of study behind the Iron Curtain says he was told in Moscow of a plan to bring Africa under Communist rule within 20 years.

Madid Israel, who represented Somali trade unions in Communist bloc countries, told a reporter that this information came from Mukhamed Bakhtinov, general secretary of the Soviet Afro-Asian Solidarity Committee, and Lev Soukhovnikov, a member of the solidarity committee.

"We still have a chance to save Africa from communism but in 10 or 15 years it may be too late," said Israel, who is 23. He and five other Somali students were expelled from Czechoslovakia last month.

Israel said he had been attracted to communism while studying on a scholarship in London in 1957. He became a candidate for party membership and was offered a scholarship to study in Czechoslovakia.

"After studying economics and political planning for four years, I came to realize that communism has no place in Africa," Israel said.

REDS ARE 'WORST' "In Somali we fought the British and French imperialists but now I have learned that the Communists are the greatest imperialists. They are the worst."

Israel said more than 200 young Somali Communists are studying in Moscow, 40 are in Peiping, 38 in East Germany and 5 to 10 in Poland. These Communists, he asserted, are to form the cadre for Communist expansion in East Africa.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Lipreading Is Helpful in Old Age

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE K-93: Marsha M., aged 74, is an English teacher.

"Dr. Crane," the mother of one of Marsha's pupils began, "I was surprised the other day."

"For when I visited my son in Marsha's class, I found them studying lipreading!"

"Isn't that unusual, Dr. Crane? And why would an English teacher do such a thing?"

LIPREADING PSYCHOLOGY Marsha is a superb modern teacher. For she is not only picking up the interest of her pupils by this stress on lipreading.

But she is also helping insure their mental balance in their old age. For millions of people past 50 grow partially deaf.

They could get along much better if they had just a such a class as Marsha's where the rudiments of lipreading are taught.

Even if you never become deaf, it is a big help in correct enunciation to get a little training in lipreading.

For example, many people are difficult to understand because they fail to form the consonants properly.

In all languages we have a few vowels (valued by vocal cords) vs. many breath sounds that are formed by lips and tongue.

The vowels are best understood by watching your own mouth in the mirror as you utter the long "o" sound, as in "go." Your lips purse themselves in a big circle.

Now say "oo," as in "moo" and you will notice that your lips pull forward slightly and narrow the opening.

VOEELS VS. CONSONANTS The long "e," as in "eve" is a high pitched sound of the vocal cords with the lips barely parted. Try long "a," as in "ate" and you find the lips are parted more widely and the pitch is lower.

Long "u" starts with the mouth open, as when the doctor asks you to say "ah," but then there is a quick glide into long "e," as in "uh."

Long "au" is likewise a combination of long "e" followed by a quick glide into "oo," as in "ow."

As regards the consonants, some are breath sounds, like "p." We teach it to deaf children by letting them blow out a candle with a puff of air as they explosively utter "p."

The three consonants "m," "n" and "b" look alike, so they are difficult even for a good lipreader.

But the "h" starts with a sound in the throat, added to the breath sound by opening the lips with a push.

In contrast, the "m" starts with a sound in the throat, in the nose and then involves a fast opening of the lips.

Contrast the "breath" with the "voiced" consonants below. They are in proper pairs.

Australia Is Concerned Over New Guinea

BY PHIL NEWSON

UPI Foreign News Analyst
For the Dutch, possession of West New Guinea is an economic and military luxury which eventually the Dutch might decide they can ill afford.

But for Australia, it is a necessity that West New Guinea remain in friendly hands, the stronger the better.

Hence, Australia's increasing concern over Indonesia's demand that the Dutch surrender West New Guinea, or West Irian as the Indonesians call it, forthwith, under threat of the use of force if the demands are not met.

Australia administers East New Guinea under a legacy left over from the old League of Nations after World War I and later assumed by the United Nations.

Together the two halves contain a population of about a million and a half natives.

Under the general name "Papuan" with few unifying characteristics either in language or custom. Geographically, the island is about the size of Montana and Oregon combined.

It is the last of the stepping stones leading from Malaysia to Australia. In World War II, the Japanese, via New Guinea, Timor and Java, were able to threaten Australia.

Albans in these islands, if in unfriendly hands, could seal the fate of Singapore and most of Southeast Asia and pose a serious threat to Australia and the Philippines as well.

Australia's concern with the future of West New Guinea, therefore, is the result of unpleasant experience.

When the Netherlands government granted Indonesian independence, the fate of West New Guinea was left up to negotiations which were to be carried out within a year. No agreement was reached.

In 1959, Australia decided its opposition to Indonesia's claim on the island. It softened that position somewhat later to declare that it would not oppose any peaceful solution to the problem which might be reached by the Dutch and Indonesians.

In return, it received from President Sukarno and Indonesian Foreign Minister Dr. Soebandjo unqualified promises that a peaceful solution would be sought.

Together, Australia and the Netherlands have been working toward a day of self-determination for the Papuans, a situation admittedly generations away. Together, for education and other improvements they have been pouring from $50 to $70 million a year into the island.

It is that goal of self-determination which Indonesia now opposes, demanding instead that any negotiations start with recognition of Indonesia's territorial claims.

Supporting Indonesia in New Guinea, as she did India in Goa, is the Soviet Union.

Any Indonesian attack on West New Guinea will be condemned by the United States and Great Britain.

But the United Nations' paralysis when faced with India's conquest put the Dutch on notice they can expect no help from that quarter.

Pays Pretty Pennies for Parking Violation

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP)

The fine for parking his car in a no-parking zone came to $15, the police clerk told Michael Mun-jak, 38, who nodded, then plumped a plastic bag filled with pennies on the desk. It weighed 9½ pounds.

"It's all the available cash I have," said Munjak. It took Mun-jak and a companion an hour and 45 minutes to count out the $15.

PSC Rejects Appeal on Gas Rate Boost

LANSING, Mich. — Reconsideration of an order granting a $7.5-million gas rate increase to Consumers Power Co. has been refused by the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The request was filed by the Michigan Utility Rate Payers Association, Inc., last June 2 and contended the commission erred in some of its findings of fact and conclusions.

The commission ruled that "no showing has been made by the intervenors which warrants rehearing, reconsideration or re-determination."

1961—Year of Progress for Pontiac—Recalled in Photos

COURTHOUSE AT NIGHT—Dominating the northwest corner of Pontiac in this Press night photo June 6, 1961, was the nearly completed structure of the new Oakland County $3.2-million Courthouse, located in the County Service Center off Telegraph

Road. Project engineer was George Kimber. County employees from the old downtown courthouse and county office building, 1 Lafayette St., have moved into the new home which was dedicated Sept. 9, 1961.

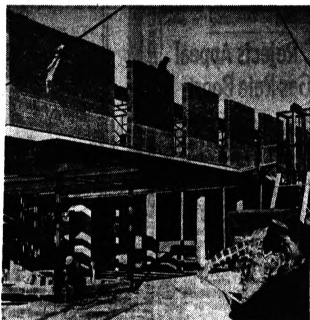

URBAN CLEARANCE UNDER WAY—With final approval of Pontiac's first major urban renewal clearance contract at a Sept. 5, 1961 City Commission meeting, demolition work began in a renewal area. Pictured are crew members of Dore Wrecking Co.

tearing down and removing one of the 301 structures, most of them houses in the area. Work was estimated to be completed within two years. Dore was low bidder with a bid of $48,987.

DELIVERS DEDICATION TALK—Chief Justice John F. DeLoach of the Michigan Supreme Court is shown here delivering the keynote talk on judicial significance of the $3.5-million, six-story marble structure of the new County Courthouse in the 33-acre Telegraph Road County Service Center. The Sept. 9, 1961 dedication date will go down in the annals of the county's 141 years as the culmination of one long-awaited project—the initial courthouse tower unit—and the beginning of another—the courthouse's first addition, the west administrative wing.

FIRE HALL GOES UP—One of several city projects contributing to payrolls in Pontiac this past summer is under way in this July 19 picture of the future Civic Center Fire Hall across East Pike Street from the Public Safety Building. With completion nearing, the total bill including construction and furnishings is estimated to be around $375,000.

NEW TERMINAL—The new terminal building at Pontiac Municipal Airport was finished in January 1961 at a cost of $344,000. The structure is topped by a three-story tower which is operated by the Federal Aviation Agency.

LANDMARK FALLS—One wall of the Central Methodist Church in downtown Pontiac gives way as wreckers start a three-day demolition job June 30, 1961. The familiar dome of the 50-year-old downtown landmark on East Huron Street was cleared by the Arrow Wrecking Co. of Dearborn to make room for an addition, now under construction, to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. The new Central Methodist Church is under construction at 3976 Highland Road.

SCIENCE SKELETON RISES—Pictured is Michigan State University Oakland's $2-million science-engineering building, under construction as of July 10, 1961. The "T-shaped" structure, one of several being built on campus last year, was partly completed and ready for occupancy when students returned for September classes. It contains two lecture halls, 17 laboratories, 14 large classrooms, seminar rooms and library research space. The picture was taken from the roof of the Kresge Library, another of the new buildings.

SATURN'S FIRST STAGE—David Campbell, project engineer for Progressive Welder and Machine Co. of Pontiac, was dwarfed by the huge first stage of the Saturn rocket. The Saturn, largest space vehicle ever built in the U.S., towering higher than a 15-story building scored a complete success Oct. 27, 1961 in its first test flight. Campbell, 4830 Big Oak Trail, Birmingham, is shown looking over the giant rocket while it was being assembled at Huntsville, Ala. The huge rings at either end, braces and framework under the rocket were designed and fabricated in Pontiac.

People Can't See Infant Without Speaking

Record of Adults Talking to Babies Should Sell

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — What I would like to do sometime is "bug" the nursery in my house and make a recording of people talking to the baby.

I don't see how it could miss becoming the best-selling comic record of the season. Shelley Berman couldn't touch it.

For some reason which I have never been able to fathom, adults who otherwise are articulate individuals seem to be constitutionally unable to pour into a crib without speaking to its occupant.

They must know that little Ignatz can't understand a word they're saying, and yet they babble on as if the baby were debuting it all in along with his formula.

CONVERSATION LIMITED
Thus far, nobody who has stopped by to see my new-born has gone so far as to chortle "ditchy-ditchy-koo" at him. But I have heard some nonglosses that were just about as lame.

There are, of course, only a limited number of things that you can say about an infant. The all-purpose adjective used in such cases is "cute."

But when I usher guests in to view my youngest, they don't tell me that he's cute. They tell him he's cute.

"You're a cute little fellow," they will burble in a voice pitched about two octaves above the normal range.

Most of the time he is sound asleep and would miss the compliment even if he could comprehend it.

My wife and her mother carry this quirk of talking to baby a step further. When they are in the room with him at the same time, they cease speaking to each other directly and use him as the instrument of conversation.

TALK THROUGH BABY
"Ask granny what she did with those cotton swabs," the child's mother will say.

"Tell mummy they are over there on the shelf where she left them," granny will respond.

When you hear something like this while passing by the door, it sounds kind of eerie. They are putting words in his mouth but he is maintaining a ghostly silence.

It seems to me that an adult who feels compelled to address a remark to an infant should at least try to say something intelligent.

I have found that our baby responds best to talk about the European common market situation. He also seems to enjoy hearing my views on structural unemployment.

Just because a month-old kid moisturizes his swaddlings does not mean you have to treat him like he's still wet behind the ears.

To Again Reject Claims on Honduras by Guatemala

LONDON (AP)—Britain is planning another sharp informal rejection of Guatemala's claim to British Honduras—coupled with a public offer to discuss a solution to the century-old territorial dispute.

Informed sources said the British offer to talk is intended to counter threats by President Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes to break diplomatic ties with Britain and to expel all British nationals unless the Guatemalan claim to British Honduras is recognized.

BELIEVED DIVERSION
The Foreign Office so far has refrained from making any formal comment on Ydigoras' warnings. Informants expressed belief the Guatemalan leader has suddenly revived the territorial issue to divert attention from domestic difficulties.

Ydigoras reportedly said he would take the drastic step of breaking with Britain because of lack of progress towards a settlement. British officials say an offer to negotiate made by London two months ago still has not been picked up by Guatemala.

LONG-TIME DISPUTE
British Honduras, a colony of less than 9,000 square miles with a multiracial population of 80,000, has been a source of dispute with its neighbor to the west since 1859.

Guatemala is not the only country claiming the timber-savagery strip producing colony on the eastern seaboard of Central America. Mexico, to the north, tacitly asserts British sovereignty but has insisted that it will be entitled to take over part of the country if there is any change of ownership.

Rights Program Is Disappointing

Wilkins Says Kennedy Should Have Pushed for More Legislation

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, expressed disappointment Tuesday concerning certain aspects of President Kennedy's administration.

Wilkins said he was sorely disappointed over "the failure of President Kennedy to issue the long-promised executive order forbidding racial discrimination in federally assisted housing."

He also called on Kennedy to sponsor civil rights legislation as promised in the 1960 Democratic platform.

Wilkins commended the President for "his personal role in civil rights," but said his concern that conditions be improved. He continued:

"But our disappointment with Mr. Kennedy's first year in office stems from our conviction that his announced policy of no legislative action on civil rights is a basic error."

Wilkins, in his report to the NAACP's annual meeting here, declared that only token progress toward school desegregation had taken place in 1961.

He pledged that the NAACP would fight even more strongly in 1962 to end racial discrimination in all forms.

"Our cause is on the victory road and cannot be stopped," he added.

Youth Stands Mute to Charge of Taking Gun

A 19-year-old youth accused of stealing a revolver from a sheriff's deputy during a scuffle at a friend's home stood mute to the charge when arraigned in Circuit Court yesterday.

Bond on James McCracken Jr., 1009 Schuyler Road, was reduced to $2,500 pending trial when he appeared before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem who entered a plea of innocent for him.

McCracken allegedly took the revolver from a holder worn by Deputy Charles Parker when he and another officer were answering a call for assistance, and held the gun against Parker's back.

The deputies had been summoned to the home of Robert Cox Sr., 3145 E. Commerce Road in Commerce Township, when the man suffered a heart seizure.

McCracken and Robert Cox Jr., 19, scuffled with them at the door and all the way to the county jail, officers said.

Cox pleaded guilty to a charge of interfering with a police officer and is awaiting sentencing in Circuit Court.

Man Charged in Death of Girl in Auto Crash

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Fred M. Seart, 23, of Grand Rapids was charged Tuesday in a warrant for negligent homicide in the Dec. 9 traffic death of Sharon Kaye Robinson, 21, a passenger in his auto.

Kent County sheriff's deputies say the Seart auto, enroute on M21 about two miles east of Grand Rapids, swung off the road, sheared off a utility pole and overturned.

The victim was pinned under the car. Seart suffered head injuries, an arm wound and shock.

Have Been Switching From Hilltop to Flat

Jimmie Durantes to End 'Split-Level' Living

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Notes and comment on the Hollywood scene: The James Durantes family, Jimmie is leaving the "dilemma" that has existed since he married Margie Little a year ago. Split-level living in a hilltop house and he had one on the flat, and neither wanted to give their up. So they lived in both.

"We're puttin' one of dem up for sale," Jimmie said. "Which one? Margie's, of course. After all, I am still boss of de family—at least I was when I checked two days ago!"

TONY WINEY: From now on Tony works only for himself—either in his own productions or partnership deals. He learned his lesson with

"The Lady L," which tied him up for months and was never ready to get back in tatters yet. Jimmie Stewart's two stepsons were home for the holidays and watching their pa work in "Mr. Holmes Takes a Vacation." They another modern movie; he's not as almost as tall as he is. Tompkins Ernie Ford meant it when he said he was quitting Hollywood. He'll do his daytime ABC show in the San Francisco Bay area.

Comings and goings: Debbie Reynolds to New York for confab on her dress business. Van Year ago, she left for an NBC special about Highway 1, then to the Philippines for a movie. George Gobel home from the Broadway flop "Let It Ride." He dropped a bundle but needn't worry; he'll probably be back on TV next season.

Catching up on the year-end attractions: "The Innocents" is a good chiller, excellently acted by a British cast and directed by Jack Clayton with a keen eye for scary tactics. The timing may be had for this attraction, following so soon after the memorable Ingrid Bergman TV version of the same yarn, "Turn of the Screw."

Research Eyes Droopy Plants and Lovesick Roaches

By The Associated Press
An antibiotic for plants, how a cockroach finds a mate in the dark, and frisky snowflakes are topics of scientific studies:

FOR SICKLY PLANTS

Before long, farmers and fruit growers may be able to give sickly trees and plants an assist with a dose of a new wonder drug, an antibiotic for plants, now being perfected by British scientists.

From a patient screening of 8,000 soil samples, they turned up venturicidin which, if present in Nature magazine, it has been found effective in stopping apple scab, barley mildew, broad bean rust, gray mold, cucumber mildew, and other plant diseases.

So far, the scientists reported in Nature magazine, it has been found effective in stopping apple scab, barley mildew, broad bean rust, gray mold, cucumber mildew, and other plant diseases.

A Harvard biologist has found more which triggers production of a chemical considered very agreeable by the male. When Dr. Barth replanted new glands in the females, they mated and produced normal eggs.

The female's odor, different for each species of cockroach, will attract nearby males. This is quite unlike the attractiveness of the odors given off by some other insects. Female moths, for example, release an odor which beckons males from many hundreds of yards away, he said.

Don't tell the dog, but there's a hardy little gray-white insect called a snowflake that thrives in sub zero temperatures and hops with the best of them, although without accuracy.

Actually, snowflakes won't bother animals, but they can be a pest by invading cold-water pipes in houses and sometimes find their way into refrigerators. But, the National Pest Control Association reports, such invasions are infrequent and can be controlled by exterminators.

Snowflakes are a type of springtail, that is, insects possessing a pair of spring-like tails that can be tripped when quick distance is required. Snowflakes can hop as much as a foot. Trouble is, they don't seem to have any control over the direction their springs will take them. Snowflakes are occasionally seen frolicking in yards atop moist snow, the association says.

City Man Struck by Car, Reported on Critical List

A 71-year-old Pontiac man, who was struck by a car at Oakland and North Johnson avenues yesterday evening, is reported in critical condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Walter C. Harbin, of 106 Beech St., suffered head injuries and fractures of the leg and arm when hit by the car at 6:15 p.m.

A witness told Pontiac police Harbin started into the path of a car driven by Basil R. Butler at 10 Trueman St.

Police said Harbin apparently was attempting to call for road service since his stalled truck was found near the northwest corner of the intersection.

Butler said he moved but was unable to avoid hitting Harbin who was struck by the left side of the car.

Okays Project Preston Street Will Be Black Topped, Curbed at $22,823 Cost

At a second and final black-top street hearing held by the Waterford Township Board last night, members approved the $22,823 project for Preston Street.

Action followed a two-hour discussion between the board and 15 residents representing 30 lot owners who will pay $753 per front foot for the paving and curbing project.

The greatest objection to paying for the road was made by five residents living on corner lots. They would have to pay approximately $400 more than black-top owners.

The group of 15 residents finally agreed to assume one-third of the cost, bringing the original figure of $743 to $533. The township pays 10 per cent of project.

Clark James E. Sesterlin said today he was checking whether it is legal to change an established special assessment district after it has been formally approved by the board.

In November the township board awarded the black-top project to the Am Arber Construction Company for $22,823.

City Process Servers Reappointed by Board

Enter 'That Wonderful Year—1962'

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—What kind of year will 1962 be? A look in the murky crystal ball discloses it will be one of the more memorable years of modern times, a mixture of national prospects and international puzzle-meat.

According to our annual fuzzy forecast, the American common man will earn more money than he ever did before in his life—and still be unable to understand where it all went.

He will eat both the cake of plenty and the bread of crisis, as the Russians find new strings of discord and unrest to drum.

Most people will be living more, but maybe wondering whether they are enjoying it less. Yet everybody—everybody except wives reaching 40—will find something to be cheerful about during 1962.

Here are a few fanciful predictions that may come true during the present year.

On the international front: Following President's Kennedy's advice on personal physical fitness programs, Premier Khrushchev will take a special correspondence course in muscle-building.

HE'LL BE 'MATA HARIED': The United States will shoot a man into orbit, and the Russians will immediately orbit a beautiful female spy to keep an eye on him.

The Congress will organize their own version of the "Peace Corps," and send their first trainees over here to help rescue Americans stranded in traffic jams.

The United Nations will seek to solve its financial woes by having itself listed on the stock exchanges of New York, London, Paris, Rome, Bonn, and Tokyo. Shares will also be sold secretly to the Russian public by stock and bond salesmen parachuted into Siberia by the Allies.

Prime Minister Nehru will accept contributions from wealthy Portuguese inhabitants of Goa for a vast new slum clearance program in India.

On a state visit to Moscow, Fidel Castro of Cuba will stop off to open an unlisted savings account in a bank in Switzerland.

In a widening split with Russia, Peking China will announce a massive 5-year drive to speed up the industrial exploitation of the silk worm.

On the domestic political front: John F. Kennedy Jr., will grow some more baby teeth.

His father will ask Congress to put some more adult teeth in the present income tax laws, and everyone on an expense account will go into mourning.

A Harvard professor will decline to accept a federal government appointment, claiming he prefers to teach. After being cleared of any faint of subversion by a joint faculty-congressional committee, Sen. Barry Goldwater will offer him a post on his staff.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's all-friends will offer a $25,000 reward for any ghost writer who can come up with a Republican vote-getting slogan better than "New Deal," "Fair Deal," or "New Frontier."

A few final forecasts: Medicine—A new anti-antibiotic will be developed to cure you of all the diseases you get from taking present wonder drugs.

Literature—A best-seller novel will be marketed containing a built-in transistor radio, so that you can simultaneously listen to baseball games as you read your way to culture.

Fashions—Dresses will feature "the window blind look" and will be automatically raised or lowered to keep level by a hidden drawing at lady's whim.

All in all, 1962 promises to be an interesting and surprising year. If you don't enjoy it, it'll be your own fault.

BONN, Germany (AP)—More than 200,000 refugees from East Germany fled to West Germany in 1961, the Ministry for Refugees reported Tuesday.

It added that many more escaped, but did not register. The figure was an increase over 1960 when 190,184 registered. But the Communist wall erected across Berlin in August largely stopped the flight.

Only 2,420 were registered in December, lowest monthly total for the year.

Killed Near Bay City
BAY CITY (AP)—Charles A. Russell, 71, of Bay City, was injured fatally Tuesday in a two-car collision on Ridge Road just east of Bay City.

A U.S. passport is valid for a term of two years.

CITRUS APPETIZERS — Light, refreshing opener for hearty winter menus are these citrus appetizers, made from fresh Florida oranges and grapefruit and served with a variety of toppings.

Oranges and Grapefruit Ideal Meal Starters

What more wonderful touch of brightness and lightness to give a lift to winter meals than appetizers of fresh Florida oranges and grapefruit? Now, during the winter months when the juicy golden fruit is in abundance, is the time to provide family and guests with luscious citrus that is doubly good — good-tasting and good for you! Wonderfully low in calories and chockful of vitamin C, so over-chilled orange and grapefruit take to a variety of toppings.

Try, for example, marinating shrimp and serving them on

Refrigeration Is Really Needed

Some canned meats require refrigeration, even though the containers are not opened.

Meat products cannot always be heated to a temperature high enough to sterilize the canned product and yet maintain good eating characteristics, says Nell Webb, Michigan State University food scientist.

"The processor knows exactly the time and temperature to heat a meat item to obtain a high quality product," Webb says. "The time and temperature are based on retaining maximum quality of the meat while destroying active bacteria."

"As example of this is the preservation of canned ham. After the ham is placed in the can and sealed, it is cooked at a temperature and for a time sufficient to destroy all actively growing bacteria."

"Since destruction of the dormant bacteria, or spores, by longer heating or higher temperatures would reduce the eating quality of the ham, the spores are controlled by refrigerating the ham below 45 degrees Fahrenheit."

"If the reason canned ham and other meat items not completely sterilized are required by spriticle with clipped claws. Chill low to be labelled 'Perishable' — 2 to 3 hours turning shrimp on keep Under Refrigeration," Webb occasionally says.

Stuffed Dill Pickles

Cut both ends from firmest Dill Pickle. Remove center with apple corer, leaving about 1/4 inch shell. Cut 2 small ripe tomatoes into 1/4 inch cubes. Add the pulp from dills to your quarters and cook in 2 tablespoons favorite tuna, chicken, egg or ham butter until soft and fairly thick. Add or combine it with cottage cheese, 1 cup (10% sugar) level or cream cheese. Stuff dills with gravy and 1/4 teaspoon herb vinegar. Pour over shrimp in bowl and completely sterilized are required by spriticle with clipped claws. Chill low to be labelled 'Perishable' — 2 to 3 hours turning shrimp on keep Under Refrigeration," Webb occasionally says.

Sauce Makes Difference

Try this quick 'n' easy on ham burgers, cooked pork, beef tongue, etc. For 1 1/2 cups of zesty meat sauce, cover, leaving about 1/4 inch shell. Cut 2 small ripe tomatoes into 1/4 inch cubes. Add the pulp from dills to your quarters and cook in 2 tablespoons favorite tuna, chicken, egg or ham butter until soft and fairly thick. Add or combine it with cottage cheese, 1 cup (10% sugar) level or cream cheese. Stuff dills with gravy and 1/4 teaspoon herb vinegar. Pour over shrimp in bowl and completely sterilized are required by spriticle with clipped claws. Chill low to be labelled 'Perishable' — 2 to 3 hours turning shrimp on keep Under Refrigeration," Webb occasionally says.

Molded Salads Can Take on Many Forms

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

There's always a letdown after the holidays. We've all entertained so much and gone so many places where rich food is served that we're glad to get back to plain eating. But poor Mama has run out of ideas and finds it difficult to plan meals.

You've had lots of jellied cranberry salads in the past month. Gelatin salads are always good so let's explore some different recipes for them.

Dice a few unpeeled delicious apples and mold them into a lemon flavored gelatin. Crumbled Roquefort cheese gives the salad a certain zip.

Roquefort Waldorf Mold
1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
1 tablespoon dry sherry or lemon juice
2 cups diced, unpeeled Delicious apples
4 tablespoons broken walnut meats
4 tablespoons crumbled Roquefort cheese
1/2 cup sliced celery
4 tablespoons mayonnaise

Dissolve gelatin and salt in hot water. Add cold water and sherry. Blend well. Place about 1/3 of the diced apples in 1 1/2 quart mold which has been rinsed in cold water; then add enough gelatin until apples just begin to float. Chill until firm.

Chill remaining gelatin until syrupy. Toss together remaining apples, nuts, meats. Roquefort cheese and celery and mayonnaise. Fold into syrupy gelatin. Pour mixture into the mold over the first layer. Chill until firm. Makes 8 servings.

Lemon is often used to flavor the gelatin base because it combines so well with many foods. In the following recipe we see it teamed with cooked vegetables and julienne strips of lunch meat.

Meat-Filled Vegetable Ring
1/2 pound bologna, cut julienne-style
1/2 pound salami, cut julienne-style
1 package lemon flavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups boiling water
2 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon prepared horseradish
2 cups quartered and thinly sliced cucumber
1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas and carrots, cooked and drained

1 cup dairy sour cream
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in vinegar, salt and horseradish. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in pimiento, cucumber, peas and carrots. Pour into an oiled 1 1/2 quart ring mold. Chill several hours or until firm. Unmold.

Combine bologna, salami, sour cream and Worcestershire sauce. Fill center of vegetable ring with meat mixture. 4 to 8 servings.

With cold winter days stretching ahead of us for some weeks, we may as well have intimate little lunches for a few friends and forget the weather. Serve your guests a bowl of hot soup, a molded pineapple shrimp salad, hot rolls and just a cookie for dessert. All the weight watchers will be happy, and you won't have much work to do. Here's the salad recipe.

Pineapple Shrimp Mold
2 cups pineapple juice
2 cups cold water
1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups pineapple chunks
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon grated onion
2 lbs. shrimp shelled, cleaned and cooked

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Stir in cold water, vinegar, and salt. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold pineapple chunks into 1 1/2 cups gelatin mixture; pour into quart mold which has been rinsed in cold water; place in refrigerator until firm.

Fold mayonnaise and onion into 1 cup of remaining gelatin mixture; carefully pour over pineapple mixture; return to refrigerator. Fold shrimp into remaining 1/2 cup gelatin mixture; carefully pour over mayonnaise gelatin. Chill in refrigerator until firm.

Unmold before serving and garnish with watercress and radishes if desired. Serves 6.

Tomato Aspic
1 1/2 tablespoons gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 tablespoon vinegar
2 cups tomato juice
1 teaspoon sugar
salt and pepper
1/2 cup sliced celery
2 tablespoons minced green pepper (optional)

Soften gelatin in the cold water. Bring tomato juice to boiling point, add gelatin, sugar, vinegar and seasonings and stir until dissolved. Cool and when almost at setting point, add celery and green pepper. If used. Turn into wet mold and chill. Serves 4.

Dress Up Canned Soup

Tempting fare for a cold January day is this tasty soup. In a covered saucepan, cook 1/2 cup chopped tomato, 1 tablespoon thinly sliced green onion and a dash of ground marjoram in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine until onion is tender. Add a can of condensed turkey noodle soup, 1 soup can water. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 servings.

Burglars Leave in Style

CARTERSVILLE, Ga. AP — Frustrated in their attempts to crack the company safe, burglars drove off with a new car parked in the show window of a local motor company. Officers recovered the car today about 10 miles away, abandoned and out of gas.

Meatless Sauce Fine for Friday

Here's a spaghetti sauce that could put other spaghetti sauces into the also-ran category. Tomato soup and tomato sauce in "Olive Spaghetti Sauce" are blended with such other tasty ingredients as small pieces of ripe olives, chopped onion and celery and basil. Serve it hot over spaghetti for an appetizing treat. Flavorful ripe olives enhance many sauces and entrees, beans being perennial favorites on relish trays.

Olive Spaghetti Sauce
1 package (8 oz.) spaghetti
1 cup ripe olives
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed tomato soup
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 cup water
1 teaspoon vinegar
1/2 teaspoon crumbled basil
1/2 teaspoon Parmesan cheese (optional)

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender, about 15 minutes. Cut olives into small pieces. Cook onion and celery slowly in butter 5 to 10 minutes. Add undrained soup, tomato sauce, water, vinegar and finely crumbled basil. Simmer 15 minutes. Add olives and basil thoroughly. Serve over hot drained spaghetti. Top with grated Parmesan cheese if desired. Makes about 4 cups sauce.

*Chili powder could be substituted.

French Fried Potatoes Always Hit the Spot

The forecast of "cold weather ahead" is a reminder that it is time to start cooking those good stick-to-the-ribs meat and potato meals.

Another reminder are the potato specials now being offered, buys that are too good to overlook. Take advantage of these specials and stock up on potatoes.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture suggests that you store your bargain-bought potatoes in their original paper or plastic bag in a cool place where there is a circulation of humid air and where the potatoes will be protected from light.

For those stick-to-the-ribs meals don't forget potatoes. In stews, hash and pot roasts and for baking and creaming. And if you want to please your husband, don't forget French fries.

In the Corn Products' kitchen the home economists are experts at frying potatoes. Shown above are three different cuts they like to use. For the crinkle cut, sometimes called Coney Island cut, and the traditional cut French fries, Corn Products suggests the two-step method of frying. That is, fry ahead then re-fry just before serving. For the spiral cut, they use the one-step method. Both techniques are given here.

French Fried Potatoes

Plan on 1 large potato per serving. Wash and pare potatoes. Cut lengthwise into 1/4-inch thick strips. Soak in cold salted water (1 teaspoon salt to each quart of water) 30 minutes. When ready to fry potatoes, drain and dry them in a towel.

To deep fry, use a sturdy, flat bottomed kettle or an automatic electric deep fryer. Fill the kettle one-third full, or follow directions for electric deep fryer. To shallow fry pour corn oil in trypan or electric skillet to 3-inch depth. Heat oil to 375 degrees. Lower 1 layer of potatoes into hot oil using a frying basket; cook 8 to 10 minutes or until golden brown. Drain on absorbent paper; salt generously and serve immediately. Two-step method of frying potatoes: With this method, potatoes can be partially prepared several hours in advance of mealtime. Prepare and fry potatoes as in one-step method, but fry for only 3 to 5 minutes or until tender but not brown. Drain. Cover lightly and leave at room temperature until almost serving time.

Just before serving time, heat oil to 375 degrees. Fry the potatoes 2 to 3 minutes or until crisp and brown. Drain on absorbent paper, salt and serve hot.

Olives in Macaroni

Glamorize macaroni and cheese next time you serve it. Add 1 cup quartered ripe olives, a little chopped green chili and some chopped pimiento. Meaty ripe olives enhance many everyday dishes, providing subtle flavor and attractive color contrast.

Salad's in the Bag All Ready to Serve

"Festive Winter Salad" is tossed in a plastic bag several hours in advance, stays in the bag to marinate in the refrigerator and is ready for serving after another quick tossing.

Festive Winter Salad

1 cup ripe olives
3 cups shredded cabbage
1 cup thinly sliced green pepper
1 cup diced celery
1/2 cup sliced red pepper
1/4 cup salad oil
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon instant minced onion

1 teaspoon sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder

Cut olives into wedges. Combine with cabbage, green pepper, celery and red pepper in a large bowl. Combine all remaining in-redients in small jar. Shake well. Toss lightly with vegetables to coat. Chill.

Makes 6 servings.

Pantry Shelf Dish

No time to market? Never mind, if your cupboard contains a can of luncheon meat, a can of pork and beans with tomato sauce, and a can of pineapple tidbits or chunks. In a saucepan, brown 1/2 cup diced canned luncheon meat in 1 tablespoon butter. Add a 1-pound can of pork and beans with tomato sauce and 1/2 cup drained pineapple tidbits. Heat, stirring now and then. Makes 2 to 3 satisfyingly good servings.

JFK Seeks Bipartism Aid on Major Proposals

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy plans to ask down with leaders of both parties next week to seek bipartisan support for some of the major proposals he will lay before Congress.

Chief topic at a breakfast now being arranged by the White House will be the President's forthcoming request for broad executive authority to negotiate tariffs in dealing with the European Common Market.

Kennedy hopes for Republican as well as Democratic backing for this program. He also wants to enlist broad support for foreign aid, an issue sharpened by developments in India and the Congress to approve a program of medical care for the elderly, financed through the Social Security System.

WANTS TO AVOID FIGHT

Kennedy's move to bring the Republicans in for a chat indicates that, despite the approaching congressional elections of November, he would like to avoid a cat-and-dog political fight in the new session of Congress.

House Minority Leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana has given no sign that he would be a party to any peace pact with the Democrats.

Even if the President gains some bipartisan support, Sen. Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted in an interview that the early fight of the new session would come over the international trade program.

Humphrey, the assistant Senate Democratic leader, served notice that he is not satisfied with the way things are going now in American dealings with the Common Market nations.

"I don't think the State Department experts are protecting the agricultural interests of this country," he said. "The French and the Germans are getting together on proposals to keep U.S. exports out of the market. Our farmers are getting dealt out."

Humphrey said that products issue $5 million in bonds to improve primary roads tying in with the freeways has been approved by the State Finance Commission.

which may be shut out of the Common Market unless steps are taken swiftly to include rice, vegetable oils, feed grains, wheat, citrus and poultry. He noted that U.S. exports of farm products to Western Europe reached $2 billion last year.

In another interview, House Majority Leader John W. McCormack, D-Mass., said he suspected early congressional action on Kennedy's tariff proposals.

McCormack said he believes Congress also will approve legislation dealing with tax legislation, medical care for the elderly, creation of a department of urban affairs, manpower retraining and postal rate increases. He said a determined effort will be made to enact a general school aid bill.

Seek Assault of Young Skater

Find Teacher Stabbed; Suspect Plumber's Aide Who Lived Next Door

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—A sleepy-eyed plumber's helper with a criminal record was fought to in the assault of a pretty young skating teacher who was stabbed four times after an all-night party.

Police identified Joel Lee Sayre, 22, as the assailant of Penelope Anne Moore, 19, a petite blonde college student who was teaching ice skating here during the Christmas holidays.

Officers said Sayre, who lived next door to Miss Moore in a small duplex apartment, was identified from photographs by Miss Moore.

Police said Miss Moore had been out with Andre Drisel, 24, of Quebec City, Canada, a member of the Charlotte Checkers professional hockey team, and two other friends. The group reported, by word from a restaurant to Miss Moore's apartment, and the attack took place after her guests left early Tuesday.

Drisel, police said, returned to Miss Moore's apartment about 2 a.m. and found her bleeding from three stab wounds in the chest and one in the stomach.

MOTHER IN ANN ARBOR

Miss Moore, called Penny, is a sophomore at Woman's College in Greensboro. Her mother, Mrs. George R. Moore, lives at Ann Arbor, Mich.

By Miss Moore was ladies champion of the Detroit Figure Skating Club in 1956-57, and was Lake Erie Junior Ladies figure skating champion.

Goldfine Secretary Starts Jail Term

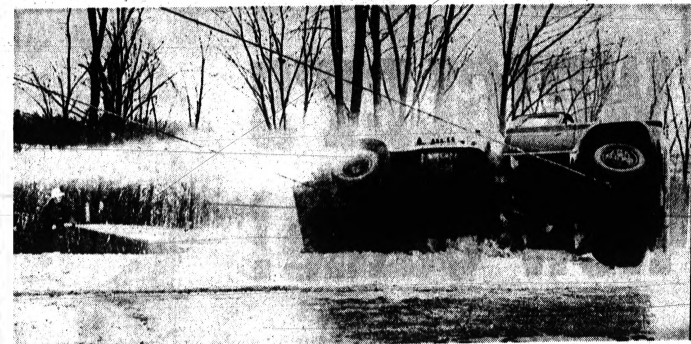

HOUSTON (AP)—The secretary of Bernard Goldfine, Miss Mildred Euperman, started a 30-day jail sentence today for smuggling letters to the mining industrialist.

The 32-year-old woman admitted the delivery of letters to Goldfine while he was serving a one-year sentence for income tax evasion in the federal correctional institution at Danbury, Conn.

Crash Injuries Fatal to 2-Year-Old State Boy

CINCINNATI (AP)—John Castleman, 2, of Lincoln Park, Mich., died Tuesday of injuries suffered in a New Year's Eve auto wreck that killed his mother, Mrs. Barbara Castleman, 39.

The boy's 6-year-old brother, James Jr., was in critical condition when their father, James Sr., was reported in good condition.

Officials Pushing for Center on Safety to Be Reinstated

LANSING (AP)—Three basic research in highway problem have been passed in an effort to reinstate the Highway Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University, Secretary of State James M. Hare reports.

Hare said inclusion of the center as a separate item in the 1962-63 budget already has been approved by the MSU Board of Trustees, the budget division of the department of administration and the governor's office.

PUSH FOR CENTER

"Now we've just got to sell the legislature," said Hare, also chairman of the State Safety Commission.

The safety center, which did not exist in the state's budget, was abolished as a separate agency in the 1961-62 budget. Its last full operating year, Gordon, is being continued on a limited basis by the continuing estimated about $100,000 will be spent by various MSU departments carrying on former center work during the current fiscal year.

The newspapers and radio and television stations were among those sharing praise from the Safety Commission Tuesday for a cut in Michigan's highway death toll during the past year and over the New Year's week-end.

The commission unanimously approved a resolution thanking the various news media for their cooperation in publicizing traffic safety.

CAN SELL SAFETY

"It proves they can sell safety, just as they can sell cigarettes or anything else," commented State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

Childs attributed the saving in lives generally, to increased safety efforts, public acceptance of the drive and better highways.

He said the lowered toll of the New Year's weekend could be attributed partly to the fewer hours allowed for drinking in the bars.

Nine Persons Killed in Algerian Unrest

ALGIERS (AP)—Nine persons were killed and scores more were wounded Tuesday in attacks by Europeans and Algerian nationalists.

CASH INSUFFICIENT

Selling bonds is necessary, County Road Commissioner Hans M. Thutcher explained, because the $3.5 million in state gas and weight tax receipts the county receives annually is insufficient to complete the project in time.

The balance of the $11-million project will be paid for from tax receipts and federal money on hand, and from payments by 12 benefiting cities and neighboring Wayne and Macomb counties.

Bonds are to be retired over the next 20 years in anticipation of

Oakland Bond Request for Road Work Gets OK

Oakland County's request to issue $5 million in bonds to improve primary roads tying in with the freeways has been approved by the State Finance Commission.

The highway fund bonds will go toward financing an $11-million project to upgrade 86 miles of county roads.

Improvements to South Boulevard, Baldwin, Mt. Clemens and Ypsilanti roads will be included in the three-year project slated to start next spring.

However, most of the work will be in South Oakland County.

Violence has been rising in intensity during recent weeks as the Europeans attempt to block French President Charles de Gaulle's plans to grant Algeria independence.

Terrorist incidents occurred in Algiers, Oran, Constantine and Bone.

State Tax Take Declines Again

December Drop Marks 11th Straight Month of Revenue Decrease

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's sales and use tax collections showed a decrease over the previous year's comparable figures for the 11th straight month in December, the Department of Revenue announced Tuesday.

Collections at the 4 per cent rate last month covering November business totaled $38,288,626.17, the department said.

This compared with $39,821,732 for the same period in 1961, when the rate was 3 per cent.

But the department said that converting last month's collections to the 3 per cent rate — and deducting the telephone and communications tax — showed collections to be off by about 1.6 per cent.

Revenue for the first 11 months of the 1961 calendar year were off approximately 3.1 per cent.

December marked the 11th consecutive month of decreased revenue on a comparable base.

Said Clarence W. Lock, state revenue commissioner,

Lock added an optimistic note, however, declaring:

"The last quarter was only 2 per cent behind a year ago while during the spring and summer we were running from 6 to 11 per cent behind."

"When you consider that personal income in Michigan this year fell behind 1960 by some $3.8 per cent our loss in retail sales of a per cent is pretty good."

She Should Ask Her Parents

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: My niece has lived with me for several years. She is not very proud of her family, and I can't blame her, but she has risen in spite of them. She is marrying a very fine young man from a prominent family.

I am giving the wedding, but her family came to the wedding. I am giving the wedding, but her family came to the wedding. I am giving the wedding, but her family came to the wedding.

A: Unless she wishes to publicly acknowledge her family on this one day when they have done nothing for her except to disgrace her and have for many years left the care of her to me. Under such circumstances, would leaving them out be unforgivable?

Q: My son is soon to become engaged. His fiancée's mother does not like engagement parties and is not giving one for her daughter. Would it be proper for me to give an engagement party for the young couple?

A: A party by you to announce the engagement would not be proper. However, after the announcement by her parents, it would be entirely proper for you to give a party in honor of their engagement.

Q: A friend gave me a very good-looking pocketbook for Christmas. Several days later when I went to transfer my things into the new purse, I discovered that the catch was broken. I would like to know if it would be proper to tell my friend about this and ask her to exchange it for another, or must I keep it and say nothing?

A: If you know which store it came from, you may properly try to exchange it. But you should not ask your friend to do this for you.

Q: I have two diamond rings. One is an engagement ring and the other is a ring which I inherited from my mother. I wear one on each hand. A friend of mine has said she likes this diamond ring worn at the same time as an engagement ring and therefore has had both. Will you please tell me if this is proper?

A: No, it is not true. A ring on each hand is in perfectly good taste.

Q: I am going to be married soon and would like very much to have my only sister as my maid of honor. She is, however, only 14 years old and I am wondering if she is too young to fill this position. In addition, I am having two bridesmaids and two ushers. Will you please tell me if it would be proper to have my sister serve as maid of honor? She has been a bridesmaid and is not small for her age, it would be quite all right for her to serve as your maid of honor.

No Woman's That Silent

DEAR ABBY: We would like your opinion on a subject that has caused a lot of discussion around our office.

One of the men who works here claims that in the 29 years he has been married he has never had a fight with his wife.

He says she has never argued with him, questioned him or disagreed with him. Furthermore, he claims he has never heard her raise her voice. Is this possible?

CAN'T BELIEVE IT

DEAR CANT: It's possible, but most unlikely. Perhaps there is something wrong with his hearing.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is a very mature 11-year-old. About a week ago she started wearing an identification brace, let a boy at school gave her, in her crowd it means she is "going steady."

This afternoon I got a phone call from the boy's mother. She said she was terribly upset to learn that my daughter had given my daughter-in-law the bracelet to return it. She said the bracelet was a "good" one, and a birthday gift, and she didn't want anything to happen to it.

I told her that my daughter did not STEAL it, it was given to her and, furthermore, I did not run my daughter's life and I hung up on her. Now I am sorry.

SORRY NOW

DEAR SORRY: You should be. No 11-year-old girl should be "going steady." Tell your daughter to return the bracelet, and the sooner the better.

Greenery Brightens the Home

Giant Plants Fill Awkward Corner, Dramatize Walls

Live greenery is a must in 1962 home decor. Top designers setting home fashion trends are supplying delicate flowering plants with lush masses of foliage that serve as garden spots to brighten winter interiors.

The larger cut-leaf type philodendron, Hawaiian Ti plants, traditional rubber trees, and huge floor-to-ceiling dracaenas are all used to draw the eye upward, adding another dimension to the horizontal planes of contemporary decor. The giant plants are used to fill in awkward corner areas, divide or define living areas, and dramatize a stark wall.

One display at a New York florist and designer show massive ferns and a wide variety of tropical vines and foliage along one wall of an interior. The South Seas atmosphere was further carried out with the use of Polynesian statues and bark paintings. The rattan furniture was covered in fabric reflecting the sun-kissed colors of a painting by Gauguin.

Offers a wall can be turned into a hanging garden simply by suspending a series of pots of plants from the ceiling in attractive containers held by chains of different heights.

An antique chest or unusual lamp can set off the strategic addition of foliage plants grouped with hand-crafted items or treasured bits of Americana.

PLANTER POINTER Collectors' items—cleaning equipment, brooms, rare turners, wooden toys, or ceramic urns—all make ideal containers for decorative house plants. But experts on indoor gardening say the plants themselves should be kept in porous red clay pots which can be placed in a decorative outer container or holder if desired. Many interior decorators find the earthy tones of the clay pots such an attractive feature that they refer to it as "the clay" by resorting to double containers.

If an ornamental outer planter is used, it should be large enough so that the clay pot can be set on a layer of pebbles placed on the bottom of the outer container. The space between the two pots should then be filled in with peat moss kept moist to maintain the proper humidity.

Will Be Hard to Replace

Nannies Departing British Scene

LONDON (The old-time Nannie is fast disappearing from the British scene.

Making a vain effort to replace her are armies of foreigners, sociologists and psychologists.

Together, some people say, they do not possess the wisdom and ability of Nannie.

Who was Nannie—the woman about the house who did the housework, looked after the children?

She had little training and could lay claim to no diploma. Her formal education often was limited to the elementary school. Her informal education probably consisted of helping to bring up a large number of brothers and sisters.

With such a background, it is not surprising that Nannie's outlook was narrow, her tongue sharp and her appearance severe.

As for her character, that was as large as her devotion to the family with whom she lived and which usually she ruled with the inflexibility of an absolute dictator.

BENEVOLENT DESPOT Her position in the household was unique. She was part of the staff and yet she was above it. A sort of high priestess, she exercised from the precincts of the nursery or ironing room a benevolent despotism.

She knew everything that went on that might in any way affect the family. Outspoken when necessary, she could, when occasion required, be as discreet as a diplomat.

Secure in her position as a nanny, she acted as the first authority on family and household problems. The friend and confidant of every member of the household, she was also recognized as the official recorder. Her memory was long.

Sometimes it could be chastening and embarrassing when she reminded some apparently successful adult who had "grown up" that he had been a childhood incident but had been only too glad to forget.

Although often stern and steady in her own dress, she was nevertheless the ability of fashion, not only for her charges, but for the whole household. We believe anyone who dressed unbecomingly or who failed her exacting inspection.

HAD LITTLE TRAINING She had little training and could lay claim to no diploma. Her formal education often was limited to the elementary school. Her informal education probably consisted of helping to bring up a large number of brothers and sisters.

She had her favorites, but this was by no means an unkind bias. Those she liked best rarely found that they were favored. In fact, they might well be favored with a severity the rest were spared.

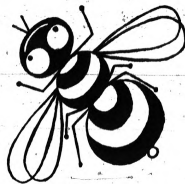

ADVISED ON CAREERS When it came to deciding on careers, her advice was usually sought, but, unless she was with some quiet content, she would let the matter square on the head.

So Master Tommy would like, to be a banker, would like, to be a doctor, would like, to be a soldier.

A snail of disdain. "I can't think of anything less suitable for him," she would say. "He is not likely to be able to take care of other people's money."

Little Things Mean a Lot to Grooming

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A well-groomed look is largely a matter of attention to little things:
Replacing heel lifts as needed. Checking hemlines to make sure that they're even and the length in keeping with current fashion. Getting rid of hat vells that go limp. Making sure that scarves are completely fresh. Wearing gloves that are immaculate.
Washing pearls at frequent intervals so that they never have the chance to take on a dingy look. Never letting your hair go a day or two past the regular shampoo time. Not letting your lipstick fade out or become smudged.
Checking on accessories to make sure that they blend well. They need not be the same color but they should be in the same leather and of the same fashion type. That is, a tailored bag with walking shoes and so on.
All of this may sound time-consuming. Actually, it doesn't consume much time. But it does take regular checking and it does pay off in a fresh, attractive look.

It's Difficult to Know

Conceit or Confidence?

A friendly smile, always welcome — is the trademark of the genuine aristocrat. People who have real background are friendly, kind and thoughtful of others, according to Josephine Lowman.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
I think the following quotation is one of the most humorous descriptions of conceit I have ever heard. I would like to claim it for my own, but it is not mine and I do not know who said it. Here it is:
"I know a doctor who is so conceited that when he takes a woman's pulse he subtracts 10 beats for his personality."

Actually, it is very difficult to know when a person is conceited and when he isn't. Many times any person is thought to be conceited.
It often is difficult to distinguish between conceit and braggadocio or "front" which hides feelings of inferiority and insecurity. It also is sometimes hard to tell the difference between conceit and worthy self-confidence.

READY STUFF
Success, socially or financially, is ready stuff for those who never had it before. It takes a big person to weather either. Probably some of the most conceited and intolerable people in the world are those who had no social background but "made the grade," and those who had no money and then hit the jackpot.
If you meet any of these characters, don't let them bother you. Just feel sorry for them.
You will find that people who have real background are friendly, kind and thoughtful of others. These are the qualities of the real aristocrat.

ODD DISEASE
Another quotation about conceit: "Conceit is an odd disease. It makes everybody sick except him who has it."

One time Horace Greeley, the famous editor, lecturer and writer, was talking with a man who was putting himself on the back because he was a self-made man. Greeley answered, "Good! That relieves the Almighty of a terrible responsibility."

I do not think that most self-made men are conceited. They know too well the price of hard work they paid and the element of luck in "timing," which almost always plays a part.

Whatever Became of Those Resolutions?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
By the way, whatever became of the old-fashioned New Year's resolutions? They seem to have gone completely out of style.

Maybe they got lost in the shuffle when self-improvement became big business.

Back in the old days we used to take stock once a year and make a list of homemade resolutions designed to make us a little better in the year ahead.

But now self-improvement is a year-round business and it is no longer a strictly do-it-yourself affair. We read books on how to improve our personalities, how to improve our health, how to get rich quiet in the stock market, how to be more glamorous, how to live longer, how to be happy—and so on and on.

And when we aren't reading books we are going to lectures and taking courses. Trying to improve ourselves has become a year-round task with everybody getting into the act to spur us on. So a new year no longer is the spur to doing better that it once was.

Nowadays we are working on ourselves just as hard in July as we used to work in January, before our resolve to make ourselves over could fall by the wayside.

Whether we get better results with the new year-round routine than we got with the once-a-year drive, I don't know. Probably it ends up just about the same.

But, anyway, it seems like a logical explanation of why making New Year's resolutions isn't the big deal it used to be. Self-improvement has become year-round instead of seasonal.

Year-round puzzlers: Our teenagers. See words of cheer in Ruth Millett's booklet, "Tips on Teen-Agers." Mail 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Pontiac Press.

Ladies, Please Don't Nibble on Your Pearls

AP Newsfeatures
Ladies should not bite their pearls. It's no way to tell whether they are real or simulated.
Because jewelers' touch pearls to their teeth, women have been damaging theirs at a record rate by chewing on them, claim alarmed members of the Cultured Pearl Association.

JUST A TOUCH
Actually the slightest contact with the teeth is enough to determine whether a gem is smooth and therefore simulated, or grainy and consequently cultured, they say.

Simulated pearls are usually made of glass bead or plastic centers covered with layers of lustrous substance of fish scales.
Cultured pearls are developed by inserting a tiny irritant into the fleshy interior of an oyster. The oyster builds a coat around it. Natural pearls are built by the oyster around a speck of sand or some other natural intruder.

The naked eye cannot tell the difference between the two kinds of cultured pearls. Experts rely on x-ray reports.

Pay Attention

Looking well-groomed means constant attention to small things: Spots, sagging hems, uneven heel lifts, smudges, rips, missing buttons or snaps and limp veils.
Don't put off these repairs. They can pile up to mountainous proportions.

Queenly Costume

Velvet is the costume of queens. Wear it and look regal. But remember the hardness of velvet won't tolerate any knap-knaps. Look for: chipped nail polish, lipstick smudges or a shiny nose.

Try to Achieve Handsome Look Befitting Age

(NEA)—Feminine vanity first flares up around the age of three and usually is sprightly some sixty to seventy years later. (This is a statement supported by the fact that American women of all ages spend over three billion dollars a year on beauty aids of all kinds. This is a tidy sum.)

But the best way to be on comfortable terms with your particular vanity is to want to look your best at your age. At thirty-five it's silly to want to look twenty. But it's not silly to want to look a handsome, alive and vital thirty-five.

Just so, teen-agers shouldn't strive to look older; mysterious and sophisticated. Some of them do and the results are ludicrous. What each teenager should try for is the fresh and natural age that's right for her years. It should be only too easy for her to achieve through the beauty helps and clothes designed just for her.

The discovery of the arc lamp by Davy in 1800 marked the real beginning of the electric lighting era.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

This week's Tailor Try winner for her fine suggestion is, Miss Janet J. Eise, Storm Lake, Iowa.

"Dear Eunice Farmer:

"When making machine buttonholes, in order to determine the size buttonhole you will need for a certain size button, make a sample of each size template you have on a double strip of fabric. Label the size of each with ink and then cut open.

"Keep this sample strip in your sewing box for easy reference. This eliminates making several samples to check which size buttonhole template is best for the button you are using. I used the top wide hem of an old sheet and used black thread for the buttonholes."

BETTER ORDER ZIPPER

"Dear Eunice Farmer,

"I have been making a reversible felt skirt and don't know where I can purchase a zipper for this type of skirt."

Mrs. J. R.

The reversible zippers have not been packaged for sale through retail outlets because the demand for this style zipper is not very great. I would suggest you ask your local department store to order one for you in the color and length you will need.

I have had many letters from all parts of the country asking what can be done with worn nylon hose besides making braided rugs. If you have a good suggestion for using old nylons, please send them on to me. The best idea will be awarded a Tailor Try Pressing Board.

Here is a good suggestion from a reader who has already won a Tailor Try Pressing Board:

"Two TV trays (those with legs), one at each side of my sewing chair, are a boon to my sewing 'assembly line.' One tray holds unstitched pieces, the other receives those pieces stitched and ready for fitting or pressing. These trays are portable and handy to place anywhere I happen to sit down to work, and I can keep my thread, buttons, scissors and other equipment on them. They are within easy reach and never roll off, these trays because of the raised edges, and they work better than an ordinary table."

Mrs. C. L. Des Moines, Iowa

WAX YOUR THREAD

"Dear Eunice,

"Occasionally I like to make hand-made buttonholes on fine children's clothes, or silk blouses. Have you any little tips that would make it easier to make them look neat, mine have such 'moth-eaten' edges?"

Mrs. M.M.

First, be sure there is some kind of light weight interfacing between the two layers of fabric. Now machine stitch a very narrow oblong, exactly the same size as the finished buttonhole. This should be done with a very short stitch and there should be no more than ¼" between the two rows of stitching. Now cut the center and you will find the machine stitching will keep the edges firm and in shape until you can finish them by hand.

Your thread will be stronger and not tangle up if you will run it through some beeswax before you begin the hand work. If you'd like my leaflet on buttonholes, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY:

Featherboning: This is a strip of plastic or light weight metal that is covered with fabric. It is about ½" wide and is used as a support for the bodice of bathing suits, formal, etc. It can also be used in cummerbunds to keep them from wrinkling at the waist.

Do Use Enough Make-Up

Don't make the mistake of applying make-up too sparingly in your attempt to achieve a natural-looking effect.

For results that are both natural-looking and glamorous, according to a beauty authority, it is important that you give your complexion full make-up coverage.

BLEND EVENLY

Whether you are using make-up in a tube, stick, cake, or bottle, cover every blemish and blend the color to an even tone. Your eyes and lips also should be adequately made up to give them definition and color.

Take enough time to line your eyes, give your lashes a luxuriant look with generous amounts of mascara, and pencil your eyebrows carefully while shaping them for an attractive expression.

Your no-shine lipstick, as well, should be applied with care and artistry, using enough color to give your lips a smooth, full contour.

Children Can Recognize Good Literature

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second of three related columns on reading instruction in the American educational system by child psychologist Marie Lawrence whose column appears in The Pontiac Press every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

By MARIE LAWRENCE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Once, young and broke, I made some money by writing sappy love stories for a pulp magazine.

Years later, I offered to read one to a group of girls a court had defined as "delinquent." They were delighted. But my purpose was not limited to interesting them in the sappy problems of my heroine.

So, that first day of reading, I stopped my story at the point where she realized her attachment to the hero and instead read to them from the love poetry of William Shakespeare.

As I finished, a girl, pregnant, of poor education said, "I once read something nice about love. It began 'How do I love thee? Let me count the ways.' . . . In her sweet, deep contralto she went on in rapid to us, word for word, Elizabeth Barrett Browning's love tribute to her poet husband.

Please take this in, you educational powers who discredit American children's capacity to respond to the grace and majesty of English literature.

In the first grade — and before it — they know. If they are given it, the difference between prose that deals with Mrs. Black's "happy place" and the kind that gives them Huck Finn, Mr. Toot and Thunderball. . . . You don't believe me? O.K.

Then all in one welded column the sail collapsed and exploded; a motion came an invisible push from astern while forward the near by, something rolled and burst seemed striking on a ledge; tumbled like an earthquake beneath us. The whole crew were half-suffocated as they were tossed widely considered the finest book ever conceived by an American.

Let your 11-year-old read the passage. Tasting greatness, he may want more of it.

If so, he may not read it all as it is a deep book dealing with man's tragic pride in power; but because it is the work of a master of language, its characters, events and suspense will reach your child more sharply than he is reached by his comic magazines, touching him as differently as he is touched by sunsets and moon lights.

That day for the "illiterate" girl-child awaiting commitment to reformatories, Elizabeth Browning's "somerset" opened an unsuspected window on a longed-for world of love and beauty.

Who are the educational powers who refuse to introduce American children to the literary greatness of their Western world?

WHY IT OFTEN TAKES TWO KINDS OF MILK TO KEEP A FAMILY FIT

Milk is an excellent source of high-quality proteins, vitamins and minerals for grown-ups and "growing-ups" alike. But one member of your family may have a need for homogenized vitamin "D" milk, while another may benefit more from skim milk.

Sealtest Homogenized Vitamin "D" Milk is the rich, whole milk with extra sunshine vitamin "D" added. Sealtest "HVD" helps build strong bones and bodies, sound teeth, gives youngsters the milk richness and energy they need for play and healthy growth.

Sealtest Skim Milk combines high nutritional value with low calorie value. Sealtest is the dairy-fresh skim, has the flavor of milk and the important milk proteins, vitamins and minerals—but with a minimum of fat.

Sealtest Skim Milk is ideal for the weight watchers. In your family who want to keep in trim while they stay slim, and get dairy-fresh flavor as well.

All Sealtest Milk is guarded for your protection by the most rigid system of quality control known to dairy science.

Tuckered Out for No Reason?

ALICE HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Fatigue as a result of illness is nature's device to prevent us from undertaking physical tasks before we're well enough to cope with them. But chronic fatigue, unaccompanied by illness, is a dangerous complaint that can result in loss of health and beauty.

Medical authorities attribute this kind of fatigue to insufficient sleep, emotional disturbances, nutritional deficiencies.

The cure for lack of sleep is an obvious one. And if you feel tired and lack vivacity because of emotional strain, you should seek professional help.

POOR DIETS
But, if like millions of Americans, you feel worn out for no reason that you can understand, your lack of vitality is probably due to dietary deficiency.

Our bodies manufacture pyruvic acid, which has been called "fatigue poison," and vitamin B-1 is essential to help break this acid into carbon dioxide and water. When there is a lack of Vitamin B-1 in the diet, it follows that you may show signs of chronic fatigue.

You can't hide fatigue with manufactured beauty. For cosmetics cannot cover up low energy, sagging posture and a lack of vitality. In fact, even the lines of weariness can only be hidden temporarily. The only way to combat the effects of permanent weariness is to increase your intake of vitamin B-1.

The natural food sources of this vitamin are milk, liver and wheat germ.

Milk in all forms - whole milk, buttermilk, skim milk and yogurt - are rich in B-1. And all kinds of liver are equally nutritious.

Wheat germ, according to the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, may be as much as five times richer in this vitamin than whole wheat.

EASY TO TAKE
It's simple to take, too, for it is delicious as a breakfast cereal, or can be sprinkled on other cereals. It makes a fine topping for casseroles and can be used as breading for meat and fish.

Enjoy Foreign Language

Did Caesar Have 'Gaul'?

Gilbert Youth Service

Worried about those languages you're going to have to study? Here are a few tips on how to enjoy them.

Latin-speaking Caesar lived way back when all Gaul, except perhaps his own, was divided into three parts. He gold-bricked his way through the army writing prose that takes two semesters to read.

Think of him as a Roman Norman Mailer, hampered by the ablathe case. Extra study in Latin can be done by listening to Patti Page's song of a couple of years ago, Let's Sing My Latin. No credits for this, unfortunately.

"OLE!"
Spanish is for dancing. No cha-cha or mambo is complete without at least one "ole", a couple of Latin-American-type grunts, and a long sigh of "ay."

que bueno" at the end. It's also the province to say to a chiquita, "Quieres bailar conmigo?" which means "Want to cut a rug?"

French is for restaurants. Otherwise use out eating "ragout" which is stew however you spell it. Order your date "une steak hachée" on the ketchup and add French fries (what else?). Your date will think her hamburger is "extraordinaire" - and you, too. The main advantage to talking French is obvious. Imagine duzing Bardet in the original.

"WHAT IS TRUTH?"
Cold wars plus hot words equal Russian. (Ain't that the "pravda"? - truth) It's the greatest for translating labels on caviar jars, borscht recipes, and the words of The Song of the Volga Boatmen, in case you ever have to cross the Volga River. We - and the Dept. of the Army - hope you never have to.

Spaghetti is conducive to music. After one order, you think you're a combination of Caruso and Dion. In order to pronounce the names of the singers and composers of Italian ancestry, it is best to take Italian. (Otherwise, it's difficult, at best.)

It costs an average of 45 cents per pound to cut and wrap meat for self-service counters, according to Department of Agriculture studies.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mrs. Lyle Armstrong, Mrs. Howard Berry, Mrs. Richard Edwards, Mrs. William Lahtinen, Mrs. Richard Schmidt and Mrs. Watson Stringer.

Berean Class Holds Dinner

Berean Fellowship Class of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church held its annual New Year's Eve dinner at the Shawnee Court home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Leveley.

Six guests, the Russells, Woodlands, the LeMars, Truicks, James Haydelts and Ricky Hipp, were welcomed by the 14 members attending.

Newly elected officers and chairmen are planning a program meeting later this month in the home of Harold Benner.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, Joslyn Avenue, will be hosts for the next meeting.

Pastels, Rose Shades Flatter Older Women

A mature or older woman can be just as fashionable today as she was during her younger years, providing she practices the correct art of applying her make-up.

To keep from looking overly made-up, a leading beauty authority advises paying particular attention to your choice of cosmetic colors.

Primarily, choose shades that have a high light reflective quality. These will help diffuse any lines or wrinkles, whereas darker colors tend to cause shadows which accentuate these conditions.

USE PINK
Use facial make-up with an undertone of pink or rose to supplement any loss of skin color. Cheek rouge should be in pastel shades of pink or coral. For the eyes, the new powder eye shadow is an ideal light reflective requisite.

Lips should be flattered with the attractive, soft shades of matte finish lipstick.

Smart Gals Pick Parka for Sports

by Laura Wheeler

Gilbert Youth Service

Super salesmen, so fall tales go, add refrigerators to the Eskimoes for their igloos.

Worse than that, they stole the Eskimo's parka and sold it to the American girl without a dog team to her name.

Of course, she's smart enough, even without a sales persuasion, to see a good thing in a parka coat for her closet this winter.

Naturally, the manufacturers have improved on the Eskimo's original idea. They have substituted a heavy fabric made of wool, a testy fiber, for the pelts of the polar bear. It's cheaper and it does just as well, in some instances even better than the woolly animal.

Like the bear, the chemistly-produced fiber won't mat or pill. If it gets wet, it dries to its usual fluffiness.

Unlike the bear, the furry fabric can be dyed a variety of hues, all of which make the parka an interesting complement to skirts and ski pants.

LIGHTWEIGHT
Although it is warm enough, the American parka weighs about half as much as the Alaskan kind. Since it doesn't sap a lady's strength just carrying it around on her back, the imitation is ideal for active sports. And it's also roomy enough to fit over bulky sweaters.

In bad weather or simply while riding in someone's open car, the parka's hood keeps ears warm and coiffures dry and in place.

Often the American parka contains vestiges of the Alaskan Indians' primitive designs, such as touches of embroidery, or ribbons of pompoms.

But it always has a zipper. The resourceful Eskimo mended very well without one, there were no super zipper salesmen around to talk him into buying one.

Make a hit with these jifty knits - one flat piece plus ribbed cuff for each snugly slipper.

Add felt ears, features on pom-pom-pom-pom - bunny or pig print! Jiffy-knit, cozy, ankle-hugging. Pattern 531: directions sizes 4 1/2; 7 1/2; 10-12 included.

Imlay Triumphs Over Yale Five; Lapeer Defeated

Imlay City rolled to its eighth straight victory last night, downing Yale 71-56 on the seniors' court.

Lapeer wasn't so fortunate. The Panthers dropped a 52-49 decision to Otisville Lakeville.

Imlay had some trouble pulling away from Yale. The Spartans managed to get a 31-27 halftime lead. In the second half Imlay slowly increased its margin.

Don Perkins of the Spartans took game honors with 25 points. Gene Thompson and Larry Clark each tallied 12 and Gary Bulke hit 11. Dennis Bricker topped Yale with 16.

Lapeer slipped to a 28-25 intermission edge over Lakeville, but failed in the late going. Three players scored all but five of the Panthers points.

Angie Matusch was high with 17 followed by Dirk Arnold with 16 and Tom Connor with 11.

All Arnie Won Last Year Was Money

MIAMI (UPI) — Pride is a commodity, which has no price, Arnold Palmer confessed today.

Two years ago, this being 1962, Palmer was the hottest item in golf since the invention of the steel shaft. He was the leading money winner in the game but, more important, he captured both the U.S. Open golf championship and the coveted Masters.

All he made last year was money. "Now wait a minute," Palmer cautions. "I won the British Open last year and that's one of the big four."

There was a time, but not any more. The British Open today is strictly for the boys from Kokomo, the prestige seekers who can't make it on the big time and go around to knock off a flock of paties and trade on the prestige of the past. But the truth is that the British Open today attracts only those who couldn't finish among the top 20 on the U.S. pro golf tour.

Exceptions have been Ben Hogan, who won it on his only shot; Sam Snead, who captured it the only time he tried; and Palmer, who finished second by one shot in a rain-swept finale the first time and went right back to knock it off the second.

RICH TOURNEY — Palmer, despite his rich divot digging in which he participated last year, now has come to realize that he no longer can satisfy himself with "British Open victories."

"I know that my game has gone to pot," he admitted after an exhibition round over his new Country Club of Miami course in which he could do no better than finish in a third place tie with speaking new pro Jack Nicklaus. "I've just been doing too much other stuff. My game has had to suffer."

"I'm turning my back on all this other stuff," Palmer insisted. "Right now I'm going out to get my game in shape and I'm setting my sights on the big tournaments."

There is one he wants about all others—and a grand scheme filling out the par-busting pattern.

"If there is one tournament I want to win, I'd guess I'd have to say it was the P.G.A.," frowned the handsome Pennsylvanian. "That's because I've never won it and it's considered one of the big ones."

"But," he smiled boyishly, "I want them all—in one year."

Meaning that he still entertains the big dream, that of scoring the "big slam," nobody else ever has thought about.

"Why not?" he asked. "If this is your business, you've got to win it. The Masters and the British Open all in one year."

MUST HUSTLE — Palmer finally has absorbed the idea that nobly, not even a man with his almost-matched talents, can accomplish this feat without turning his back on the money vaults and playing as if he was starving.

"I'm starting right now," he promised gravely. "I'm putting all this behind me, the easy living, the coloring of these beckoning dollars and the outside interests. That's in my agent's hands now. I'm going back to work with the sticks."

"It's not as far away as you might think," he bridled. "After all, I won the Vardon trophy last year with a low tournament scoring average of 69.75 strokes per round. But it's not enough."

Leaders Get Victories in Waterford League

Spencer Floor Covering held first place in Class A Waterford recreation basketball play last night by downing Peet 40, 51-36.

Joe Humphrey paced Spencer to his third win without a loss with 16 points. Jim Robinson of the losers took game honors with 18.

Tripp Contractors edged Scarlett's Bike Shop 39-36 to stay unbeaten and first in Class B. Bob Pickett's 11 points led the winners.

Dave Struble scored 24 points to lead O'Neil Realty past Johnson & Anderson 52-58 in the other "B" game. Bob Davidson hit 21 for the losers.

There was just no stopping the powerful 300 Lounge basketball team last night in an American division City League game at Madison Junior High.

The Lounge cagers passed the century mark on the scoreboard as they handed CIO Local 526 a 107-41 shellacking in a free-wheeling contest to remain undefeated this season.

Local Lounge players hit double figures, spearheaded by Felix Brooks who collected 25 points. Dave Simmons came next with 17 while Gary Meeker and Larry Peet had 16 apiece.

The CIO quintet also put four players in two numbers with Tom Babbs scoring 16 points to match Brooks.

Clarkson was awarded a forfeit triumph over the Newingham Five in yesterday's first scheduled American league contest.

Allen Fugget bagged 21 points to pace Colonial Lumber to an 81-53 victory over First Church of the Nazarene in a National pool game at Lincoln. Three other Colonial players landed in double figures. Harold Rose tallied 20 points for Nazarene.

Lounge Cagers Top 100 in City League Victory

There was just no stopping the powerful 300 Lounge basketball team last night in an American division City League game at Madison Junior High.

The Lounge cagers passed the century mark on the scoreboard as they handed CIO Local 526 a 107-41 shellacking in a free-wheeling contest to remain undefeated this season.

Local Lounge players hit double figures, spearheaded by Felix Brooks who collected 25 points. Dave Simmons came next with 17 while Gary Meeker and Larry Peet had 16 apiece.

The CIO quintet also put four players in two numbers with Tom Babbs scoring 16 points to match Brooks.

Clarkson was awarded a forfeit triumph over the Newingham Five in yesterday's first scheduled American league contest.

Allen Fugget bagged 21 points to pace Colonial Lumber to an 81-53 victory over First Church of the Nazarene in a National pool game at Lincoln. Three other Colonial players landed in double figures. Harold Rose tallied 20 points for Nazarene.

On the Class D front, Jo-Jo's upset Tuck's Trotters, 55-51, with Willie Peck scoring 21 points to highlight the surprise. Larry Blackburn fired 19 in a losing cause.

Try This Test on Yourself

Better Handwriting Equals Better Grades

By LESLIE J. NASON, E.D.D.

Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

The pretty girl swimmer executed a "full twisting forward one-half-a-ball" into the pool and climbed out to wild applause. She smiled and bowed, the very picture of the Child of Accomplishment.

But was she an A+ comp lished Child? Not really. Her grades were too low for college and, strange as it seems, a DLE NASON major part of her scholastic difficulties proved to be lack of physical coordination.

"I'm great in the water. But in the classroom I'm an awful mess. I write like a 10-year-old and not even as well as some of the 10-year-olds I know."

Are you one of them? Here is a simple test to find out:

—Does your mind go blank when you start to write?

—Do you get a cramp in your hand after writing for several minutes?

—Is it difficult for you to think ahead and write at the same time?

—Do you write easily and quickly?

—Can you tell the story or test answer better than you can write it?

—Do you make frequent spelling errors due to carelessness?

—Do you alternate between legging and curving writing?

—Is it easier for you to express your thoughts with a typewriter?

—When you finish a test, do you say: "I know the answer as soon as I turned in my paper?"

—Do you raise your pen or pencil from the paper in the middle of words?

—If your answer is "yes" to any of these questions, then you need practice in handwriting.

There is a plan of practice I suggest you follow for good results:

PRACTICE THIS WAY
Sit in a comfortable position with your arm on the table.

Choose one of two sentences and write them again and again, filling a sheet or two of paper.

—If you have a question for Dr. Nason, write him in care of The Pontiac Press. If your question is of general interest, he will discuss it in this column.

After the second writing, switch the center of your attention from what you are writing to how you are writing. Try for well-formed letters, and properly spaced words.

Hold your pen or pencil so that it is comfortable to you. Be careful not to squeeze the pen or bend the fingers too much.

Train your hand to write easily and well, by keeping your attention on the formation of each word.

Continue with the same sentences for at least 15 minutes. You should fill at least two more pages.

If your writing ceases to improve and becomes jerky, stop practicing for a time. The poorer handwriting indicates your hand has become tired or your attention has wandered.

Follow this practice program each day and your class notes and themes will soon become more legible, your test grades will be higher, and on written examinations—and, who knows, even letter writing may become a pleasure!

—If you have a question for Dr. Nason, write him in care of The Pontiac Press. If your question is of general interest, he will discuss it in this column.

Rocky Is Urging More Spending

Calls on Legislature to Boost Money for Schools, Ill. Aged

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called upon the New York Legislature today to rally behind an education program that will include higher spending for schools, the ill and the aged and will send the state budget to more than $2.5 billion.

The Republican governor urged in his annual message that the state minimum wage be raised from $1 to $1.25 an hour and the maximum workmen's compensation payment be increased to $5 weekly from $3.

Rockefeller, who has opened a campaign for reelection and is also a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for president in 1968, appealed to the lawmakers to forget such labels as "liberal" and "conservative" and ask only "does it serve the general welfare?"

Socialite Found Beaten to Death

Mother of 3 Dumped Into Water-Filled Tub; Slaying a Mystery

PACIFIC PALISADES, Calif. (AP)—Police sought clues today in the mysterious slaying of a pretty young socialite who was brutally beaten in her $100,000 home and then dumped into a water-filled tub.

Doris Jane Bowman, 32, willowy honey-blond mother of three and a community leader in this swank Southern California seacoast town was found dead Tuesday. She was the wife of Dr. Frank Potter Bowman, 39, medical director for the Southern California Edison Co.

A neighbor who brought one of Mrs. Bowman's children home from nursery school shortly after noon found her fully clothed body in the tub. Dr. Bowman was summoned home from his office in downtown Los Angeles.

Police said an intruder apparently hit Mrs. Bowman several times with a blunt object, dragged her 40 feet from the kitchen into the bathroom and put her body in the tub. She was wearing blue capri pants and a black blouse.

Investigators said the house was not ransacked. Bloodstains and fragments of teeth found in the house showed that Mrs. Bowman had battled for her life. Bloodstains on the bathroom basin indicated the killer took time to wash before fleeing. Blood smudges were found in several places, including near the front door.

A watch on Mrs. Bowman's wrist was stopped at shortly after 10 o'clock. Neighbors said they had seen no strangers during the morning, nor had they heard any sounds of a struggle in the house. The doors were locked and there was no evidence of forced entry.

Reds Concerned About Safety of Cows in N-War

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union apparently is concerned about the care and safety of its cows and pigs in the event of war.

The U.S. Commerce Department has translated a Soviet publication—"The Protection of Agriculture Animals from Atomic Attack Conditions"—that advises on the safeguarding of livestock from nuclear, chemical or biological weapons.

The Russians, according to the book, have set up groups that can prepare attack centers for attack, construct gas masks for livestock, give wounded animals first aid and treat them for radiation sickness.

Woolen Magnate Dead

BIELLA, Italy (AP)—Count Orville Rivetti, 74, Italian woolen industrialist, died Tuesday after a long illness.

She was officially named winner of the first baby of the new year contest shortly after the deadline for entries passed at noon today.

Cindy Lou is the sixth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill L. Walker of 540 S. East Lake Road, Waterford Township. She was born at 12:25 a.m. Jan. 1 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

No other entry with an earlier time of arrival was received at the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Although papa Walker was hoping for a baby this time, the latest addition is sure to bring a smile to his face.

She will be showered with gifts from some 100 new merchants. Some of the gifts will go to her parents.

Cindy Lou weighed in at eight pounds six ounces. Both she and her mother are doing fine.

She had a wide margin on her nearest competitors. The first-born baby at Pontiac General Hospital was born at 2:31 a.m. while Pontiac's second baby of 1962 arrived on the scene at 3:07 a.m. Monday.

JFK Scans Defense Setup

Calls In Aides to Blueprint Army Status

Civilian, Military Group Meeting at Palm Beach on Combat Readiness

PALM BEACH, Fla.—President Kennedy ordered today the immediate formation of two new army divisions, expanding the service to 16 permanent divisions.

PALM BEACH, Fla.—President Kennedy and the nation's defense officials, civilian and military, today analyzed challenges that may face U.S. armed forces this year.

Kennedy called the Joint Chiefs of Staff from Washington to join preparedness discussions that began Tuesday in the spacious living room of the beachfront estate where he has been spending the Christmas-New Year's holidays.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger said the conference would explore "the operational and strategic outlook for 1962."

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Deputy Secretary Roswell L. Gilpatric, and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Kennedy's personal military adviser, already were on hand.

Scheduled to fly in this morning were the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer; Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations; Gen. George H. Decker, Army chief of staff; Gen. David St. Shoop, Air Force commander in chief; and Gen. Frederic H. Smith Jr., Air Force vice chief of staff.

Smith is substituting for Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force chief of staff, who is ill with a cold.

At the start of the defense session Kennedy went over the entire Army structure with Johnson, McNamara, Gilpatric and Taylor.

TALK EFFICIENCY

They reportedly are trying to hit on a more efficient command organization, one which would combine the regular, the National Guard divisions and the reserves.

Placing five additional divisions in combat-ready status is part of Kennedy's program for building up the armed forces.

It was announced that Kennedy would visit Mexico some time this year. It was believed he will make the trip within the first six months of 1962, probably in the spring.

DEFENSE CONFERENCE—President John F. Kennedy meets with the vice president and defense advisers to discuss Army organization problems. The group who flew in Tuesday evening met the living room of the winter White House at Palm Beach, Fla. Left to right are Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, the President, Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, special military adviser to the chief executive, and Roswell Gilpatric, deputy secretary of defense. Johnson flew in from Texas to attend the meeting.

GM Car Output Sees Big Rally

Pontiac-Tempest Score in December Way Up but Total in '61 Lower

Pontiac-Air Division reported production figures released today showed the auto industry trend showing lower total production for the year, but strong rallies in December.

The division produced 260,337 Pontiacs and Tempests in 1961 compared to 250,265 in 1960.

There were 241,381 Pontiacs produced last year compared to 184,154 in 1960.

However, Tempest production went up from only 22,622 in 1960, when the car was introduced, to 115,845 last year.

In December, total Pontiac-Tempest production was 42,579 compared to 41,207 in December 1960.

DEALER STROKS

The nation's four top producers of cars and trucks said that strong December sales surged failed to boost total 1961 production above 1960 levels.

General Motors Corp. announced its December production of passenger cars and trucks at U.S. plants totaled 357,520 compared with 336,433 in December of 1960.

"With a Smile on Our Lips"—Castro

Says Cuba Awaits Attack

HAVANA AP—Backed by modern Soviet-made weapons and Latin America's fastest air force, Fidel Castro says his armed forces await any new invasion "with a smile on our lips."

The Cuban prime minister showed off his new military equipment Tuesday at a parade marking the first anniversary of his victory over the Batista dictatorship. He said that "Yankee imperialism" was the sole reason for Cuba's rearmament.

Highlights of the parade were three Communist-made MIG-15 jets which swept overhead with a flight of 18 MIG-15s or improved MIG-17s.

The three sweep-wing MIG-15s are the fastest planes known to be operating in any Latin American air force. A ripple of pride and excitement swelled through the crowd as the jets soared over Havana's Jose Marti Square.

FORCES IMPROVED

The MIGs are believed to have been piloted by Cubans who recently completed flight training in Czechoslovakia.

Castro said his forces have been much improved since they defeated the Bay of Pigs invasion of Cuba last April.

"We are not a weakling," he said. "We do not want to use these arms. But we shall fight if attacked with a fierceness not imagined by our enemies. We will exterminate them. We shall the invaders with a smile on our lips."

The Cuban leader addressed his critics in other Latin countries, especially President Fulbright, who visited at Venezuela and Alberto Llerenas, Governor of Colombia, who he called "murderers of workers, peasants and students."

The crowd roared approval.

Castro announced he is calling "national assembly" of hundreds of thousands of Cubans on Jan. 22, the date the American foreign ministers met in Havana to consider the danger posed by Cuba to the Western Hemisphere.

The first declaration approved by the group of a crowd in July 1960, repudiated Cuba's mutual defense treaty with the United States and returned to El Paso, Texas.

Army leaders have been thinking in terms of paratroop units as a security assignment.

About 300 transports will fly the 4th Infantry troops from Washington State to Europe. The battle groups will be accompanied by artillery, armor and other support elements.

Taking part in the movement will be 10 of the 13 advanced C-130 jet transports owned by the Military Air Transport Service.

The subsequent replacement of the two battle groups with other units of the 4th Infantry will give the Army a chance to try out a unit rotation plan.

The battle groups being moved to Europe will take no dependent units.

6,000 More GIs to Be Airlifted to W. Germany

Two Battle Units Will Remain as Backbone for Possible Troop

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON—The posting of two more U.S. Army battle groups in Germany will provide the makings of an air-transportable brigade that could deal with trouble in the Middle East, Africa or elsewhere.

The Army high command has wanted for some time to create independent brigades in West Germany and on Okinawa for such a purpose.

The Okinawa-based brigade would be intended for use in the Far East and Southeast Asia.

The Pentagon announced Tuesday that three battle groups of the 4th Infantry Division, totaling about 6,000 men, will be airlifted to Germany by a NATO exercise from Jan. 15 to Feb. 12.

TWO GROUPS TO STAY

Two battle groups will remain there after the end of operation "Long Thrust II" for additional training as elements of the 4th Infantry Division in Europe. The third will return to Ft. Lewis, Wash.

Later, reportedly after several months, the two battle groups will be rotated back to the United States and replaced by other units of the 4th Division. In all, the 4th Infantry has five battle groups.

The Defense Department said these elements would be available for use in an emergency.

Funds for two independent trouble-shooting brigades are said to be included in the new defense budget sent to go to Congress.

Kennedy's Father Can Read Papers

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—The President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, has recovered sufficiently from his stroke to begin reading newspapers.

His physicians and family said the 73-year-old head of the Kennedy clan was making fine progress.

Officials at St. Mary's Hospital reported he was reading newspapers Tuesday and has been watching television. He also has been cheered by visits from several of his grandchildren.

PICAYUNE, Miss. (AP)—An Air Force rescue team plucked U2 pilot Charles Stratton from a swampy area in snake-infested swamps near Picayune today.

Stratton, a 32-year-old Air Force captain, was taken by helicopter to Keesler Air Force Base at Biloxi, Miss.—some 60 miles east of Picayune.

The Air Force clamped a tight secrecy lid over his removal from the swamp. His condition was not immediately determined.

His home town is Detroit, but he lives at Del Rio, Tex., with his wife and two children.

Florida Aims to Capitalize on Northern Clime

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Florida aims to capitalize on northern snowflakes to boost tourist business.

The State Development Commission said it has made arrangements for 100 billboard size posters to be erected in key northern cities immediately after the winter season.

The posters present contrasting pictures of a man digging out of the snow and a happy Florida family enjoying the sun.

The posters are planned for such cities as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Pittsburgh, St. Louis, Washington and St. Paul.

New Cold Wave Chills Florida

Northeast Also Gets Polar Winds, but Most of Nation Warmer

By United Press International

Florida third cold wave in a week put tourists in flight and threatened crops today but shook winter hounded polar air from most other parts of the nation except the Northeast.

Snows from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic had a few inches of snow. Fog shrouded much of the coast belt. Heavy rain pelted the Pacific Northwest.

The weather continued to be at least 12 deaths.

The Arctic air mass dropped temperatures into the 20s in northern Florida and near freezing along the coast. Mainly, heavy rain caused damage from the first two cold fronts since Christmas week.

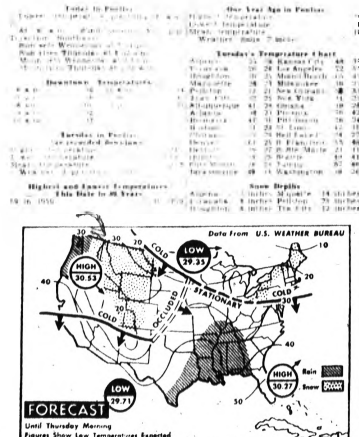

Parts of Michigan dug out from under 6 inches of new snow. Maryland measured 7 inches Tuesday. The same storm dropped 4 inches of snow on Long Island, N.Y., and Proctor, N.Y., and 3 inches at Nantucket, Mass. Ohio had an inch of snow.

Waters along off the Banks showed temperatures in the 20s and 30s in the Great Plains. Tuesday Florida had high 40s and low 50s and the temperature in the Gulf of Mexico was in the 60s.

The Weather

PONTIAC AND VICINITY — Partly cloudy and warmer today, high 37. Partly cloudy and mild tonight, low 23. Thursday considerable cloudiness and mild, high 38. Mostly southwest to west winds 10 to 20 miles.

NATIONAL WEATHER — Snow flurries are expected tonight in Northern New England, the Northern and Central Appalachians, the Upper Lakes area and the Northern and Central Plains and Rockies. Occasional rain is forecast for the Great Gulf and Lower Mississippi Valley, on the Texas coast and in the Pacific Northwest. It will be slightly warmer in the Atlantic states and the Ohio and Tennessee valleys; much colder in the Northern and Central Rockies.

IN ICE CLUTCHES—A lone railway worker crosses tracks at London's normally busy Liverpool Street Station Tuesday checking on frozen equipment. Snow, ice and cold has tied up rail, road and water transportation for the last three days in England and millions of wage earners have been forced to stay home. The weatherman predicted a thaw for today but it has so far failed to materialize.

British Traffic Arteries Still Hardened by Cold

LONDON (AP)—Ice and snow maintained a hold on most of British roads today despite the weatherman's promise of a thaw.

For the third day transporters crossed roads, roads, roads and bridges. The only speedup was at London Airport and some other big airports where planes frozen to the ground were freed and started flying almost on schedule.

Thousands of miles of highway were still coated with hard packed ice on which motor vehicles slipped in cautious cautions.

Swelling power on railroad tracks in the night again almost closed down the railroads. A few turned their backs, bringing more delays to the commuter commuters.

Weathersmen said the thaw promised for today might not be delayed some days. It was avoided with trepidation by housewives with antiquated plumbing systems. Their frozen water pipes were expected to gush forth a flood.

Offer by Dutch to Talk Refused

Agreement to Transfer of W. N. Guinea Called For First by Indonesia

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Foreign Minister Subandrio today rejected the latest Dutch offer to negotiate their dispute over West New Guinea. He said Indonesia would negotiate only if the Dutch agreed in advance to transfer the area to Indonesian control.

Otherwise, said Subandrio, Indonesia will take the Dutch-controlled western half of the big island by invasion, as it has threatened.

"We do not object to bilateral negotiations with the purpose of the transfer of the administration of West Irian (West New Guinea) to Indonesia," Subandrio said.

Subandrio thus replied within 24 hours to Dutch Prime Minister Jan de Quay's unconditional offer to talk over the future of the 150,000 square miles of jungle and mountain territory called off as independence from the Dutch in 1949.

"MORE FORMALITY"

Subandrio said De Quay's offer seems to me to be a mere formality because he still emphasized the basic policy of the Netherlands self-determination for the people of West Irian.

In the Hague, Dutch Foreign Minister Joseph Luns expressed hope that Subandrio's statement was not Indonesia's last word. He said Indonesian threats to use force "is a very serious matter."

The Netherlands in recent years had insisted on the right of self-determination for West New Guinea's native population of 700,000 Papuans, contending that they were not ethnically Indonesian.

Indonesia rejected the holding that she was entitled to the territory since it was part of the pre-war Netherlands East Indies.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Interior Minister Kamal Jomblatt, a disciple of U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser, charged today that last weekend's unsuccessful uprising against the Lebanese government was a result of the movements in the Mediterranean.

In a statement to the paper L'Orient, Jomblatt expressed views similar to those published in Cairo, Baghdad and other Middle Eastern capitals. The plotters opposed Nasser's pan-Arabism and favored a "terrible crescent" union of Lebanon, Syria, Jordan, Iraq, Palestine and Cyprus.

The authors of the attempt were action only after having made sure of the movements of the British fleet in the Mediterranean," he said.

The only unusual movements by British warships noted recently in the Middle East were those of the fleet dispatched from Africa's East Coast to the Kuwait area after new threats by Iraq against Kuwait. They steamed into the Persian Gulf but did not come near the Mediterranean.

Trip First On, Then Off, Now On Again

White House Switch—Kennedy Going to Mexico

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter
PALM BEACH, Fla.—Backstairs at the White House:

The White House certainly did a fast turn-about on President Kennedy's off-and-on-again plans for going to Mexico. It had not been announced formally, but the word was out at the White House several weeks ago that the President would go to Mexico the last week in January.

Suddenly this situation changed.

The word as recently as last week and was that the trip was off.

There was no public explanation just as there had been no public announcement of the original plan, but behind the scenes there was unmistakable evidence of displeasure over the Mexican position on Cuba during the recent meeting of the Organization of American States (OAS) in Washington.

Mexico did not like the idea of the OAS setting up a formal meeting in Uruguay this month to look into Cuba's alignment with Russia. The United States, on the other hand, supported the call for the meeting, and its purpose.

There must have been some new gospel spread South of the Rio Grande because there was still another change in signals here Tuesday night. The White House formally announced Kennedy would go to Mexico some time in 1962.

ANOTHER SWITCH

It would be logical to assume, too, that Mrs. Kennedy's trip to India was dropped for reasons in addition to the illness of her father-in-law, former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy.

The illness was the only excuse given by the White House for delaying the trip from this month until sometime in March.

The President's father is on the mend and the next stage of his battle with paralysis must be fought either at home or in special rehabilitation clinics. He should be able to leave the hospital around the middle of this month, according to his physicians.

Therefore, it would seem that the delay in the First Lady's trip might reflect White House and State Department displeasure over the recent Indian armed attack on Goa.

India's action was condemned publicly by Adlai E. Stevenson, U. S. ambassador to the United Nations. White House sources said that privately the President, himself, regards the Indian attack as most unfortunate and seriously damaging to the special image of peace India had mirrored to the world.

This month might have been a most difficult time for the President's wife to demonstrate charming good will in a country whose military actions are under severe criticism by American leaders, including her own husband.

The elder Kennedy has been staying so hard to throw off the effects of his paralysis that the doctors have been advocating a slow-down of sorts. The paralysis of his right side left him unable to speak. This is known as expressive aphasia.

There is no evidence of receptive aphasia which is the medical term for inability to comprehend the language as a result of a stroke.

A few days ago, the President's father was trying so hard to speak that one of the specialists on the case assured him quietly that the ability to talk will return gradually.

SLOWS HIM UP

In the meantime, the doctor advised soothingly, the senior Kennedy should not try to talk for another week or two.

Few aphasic patients regain completely normal use of language for reading, writing and speaking. Working with speech therapists, however, most patients recover the ability to communicate in an almost normal manner.

There are two notable examples in which the patient recovered normal language ability. They were former President Eisenhower and former British Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill. In Eisenhower's case, however, his stroke was most mild compared with the attack suffered by the President's father.

Defense Dept. Order Attacked

Airline Assn. Demands Servicemen Be Allowed to Buy Tickets

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Independent Airlines Association Tuesday protested the Defense Department's Nov. 17 order barring individual servicemen from buying tickets on the non-scheduled airlines.

The association, in a telegram to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, said there were no legal, factual or moral reasons why its members should be forbidden to sell tickets to defense personnel.

Association President Charles E. Lewis demanded that the order be rescinded.

He said the department appeared to have substituted "the opinions and innuendoes of an unqualified and biased press for fact and due process of law and has sentenced an entire industry to death without it having been accused, tried or found guilty except by the press which persecuted it."

The Defense Department order was issued following the crash of a nosedived airplane in Richmond, Va., which killed 71 persons.

City Man Struck by Car, Reported on Critical List

A 71-year-old Pontiac man, who was struck by a car at Oakland and North Johnson avenues yesterday evening, is reported in critical condition today at Pontiac General Hospital.

Walter C. Harbin of 158 Beech St., suffered head injuries and fractures of the leg and arm when hit by the car at 6:15 p.m.

A witness told Pontiac police Harbin darted into the path of a car driven by Basil R. Butler of 10 Tregent St.

Police said Harbin apparently was attempting to call for road service since his stalled truck was found near the northwest corner of the intersection.

Butler said he swerved but was unable to avoid hitting Harbin who was struck by the left side of the car.

Waterford Twp. Okays Project

Preston Street Will Be Black Topped, Curbed at $22,823 Cost

At a second and final black-top hearing held by the Waterford Township Board last night, members approved the $22,823 project for Preston Street.

Action followed a two-hour discussion between the board and 15 residents representing 33 lot owners who will pay $7.53 per front foot for the paving and curbing project.

The greatest objection to paying for the road was made by five residents living on corner lots. They would have to pay approximately $400 more than in-lot lot owners.

The group of 15 residents finally agreed to assume one-third of the cost, bringing the original figure of $7.53 to $5.02. The township pays 10 per cent of project.

Clerk James E. Sesterlin said today he was checking whether the township had been formally approved by the board.

In November the township board awarded the black-topping contract to the Ann Arbor Construction Company for $22,823.

While riding with them in the car, Kozak said his wrists, neck and waist containing $40 and miscellaneous papers were taken. He said he was beaten by the three men before being thrown from the car.

Kozak was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. Less than an hour after the incident, Lemmer called Pontiac police headquarters to say he had Kozak's empty wallet. Lemmer and Long were arrested. The third man still was being sought today by police.

Little Things Mean a Lot to Grooming

By ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A well-groomed look is largely a matter of attention to little things:
Replacing heel lifts as needed. Checking hemlines to make sure that they're even and the length in keeping with current fashion. Getting rid of hat veils that go limp. Making sure that scarves are absolutely fresh. Wearing gloves that are immaculate.
Washing pearls at frequent intervals so that they never have the chance to take on a dingy look. Never letting your hair go a day or two past the regular shampoo time. Not letting your lipstick fade out or become smeary.
Checking on accessories to make sure that they blend well. They need not be the same color but they should be in the same leather and of the same fashion type. That is, a tailored bag with walking shoes and so on.
All of this may sound time-consuming. Actually, it doesn't consume much time. But it does take regular checking and it does pay off in a fresh, attractive look.

It's Difficult to Know

Conceit or Confidence?

A friendly smile, always welcome — is the trademark of the genuine aristocrat. People who have real background are friendly, kind and thoughtful of others, according to Josephine Lowman.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
I think the following quotation is one of the most humorous descriptions of conceit I have ever heard. I would like to claim it for my own, but it is not mine and I do not know who said it. Here it is:

"I know a doctor who is so conceited that when he takes a woman's pulse he subtracts 10 beats for his personality."

Actually, it is very difficult to know when a person is conceited and when he isn't. Many times shy persons are thought to be conceited.
It often is difficult to distinguish between conceit and braggadocio or "front" which hides feelings of inferiority and insecurity. It also is sometimes hard to tell the difference between conceit and worthy self-confidence.

HEADY STUFF

Success, socially or financially, is heady stuff for those who never had it before. It takes a big person to weather either. Probably some of the most conceited and intolerable people in the world are those who had no social background but "made the grade," and those who had no money and then hit the jackpot.

If you meet any of these characters, don't let them bother you. Just feel sorry for them.
You will find that people who have real background are friendly, kind and thoughtful of others. These are the qualities of the real aristocrat.

ODD DISEASE

Another quotation about conceit: "Conceit is an odd disease. It makes everybody sick except him who has it."

One time Horace Greeley, the famous editor, lecturer and writer, was talking with a man who was putting himself on the back because he was a self-made man. Greeley answered, "Good! That relieves the might of a terrible responsibility."
I do not think that most self-made men are conceited. They know too well the price of hard work they paid and the element of luck "lucky" which almost always plays a part.

Whatever Become of Those Resolutions?

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
By the way, whatever became of the old-fashioned New Year's resolutions? They seem to have gone completely out of style.
Maybe they got lost in the shuffle when self-improvement became big business.

Back in the old days we used to take stock once a year and make a list of homemade resolutions designed to make us a little better in the year ahead.
But now self-improvement is a year-round business and it is no longer a strictly do-it-yourself affair. We read books on how to improve our personalities, how to improve our health, how to get rich quick in the stock market, how to be more glamorous, how to live longer, how to be happy — and so on and so on.

And when we are going to lectures and taking courses. Trying to improve ourselves has become a year-round task with everybody getting into the act to spare no effort. So a new year no longer is the time to doing better than it was in the year before.

Nowadays we are working on ourselves just as hard in July as we used to work in January. In fact, our resolve to make ourselves over could fall by the wayside. Whether we get better results with the new conventional routine than we got with the new-year drive, I don't know. Probably it ends up just about the same.

But, anyway, it seems like a logical explanation of why making New Year's resolutions isn't the big deal it used to be. Self-improvement has become year-round instead of seasonal.

The naked eye cannot tell the difference between the two kinds of cultured pearls. Experts rely on x-ray reports.

Pay Attention

Looking well-groomed means constant attention to small things. Spas, singing hems, uneven heel lifts, sanders, rips, missing buttons or snaps and frayed collars.
Don't put off all these repairs. They can pile up to mountainous proportions.

Queenly Costume

Velvet is the costume of queens. Wear it and look regal. But remember the lordliness of velvet won't tolerate any limp hems, loose buttons, frayed hair, chipped nail polish, lipstick smudges or a shiny nose.

Tuckered Out for No Reason?

ALICIA HART
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Fatigue as a result of illness is nature's device to prevent us from undertaking physical tasks before we're well enough to cope with them. But chronic fatigue, unaccompanied by illness, is a dangerous complaint that can result in loss of health and beauty.

Medical authorities at tribute this kind of fatigue to insufficient sleep, emotional disturbances and nutritional deficiencies.

The cure for lack of sleep is an obvious one. And if you feel tired and lack vivacity because of emotional strain, you should seek professional help.

POOR DIETS
But, if like millions of Americans, you feel worn out for no reason that you can understand, your lack of vitality is probably due to dietary deficiency.

Our bodies manufacture pyruvic acid, which has been called "fatigue poison," and vitamin B-1 is essential to help break this acid into carbon dioxide and water. When there is a lack of Vitamin B-1 in the diet, it follows that you may show signs of chronic fatigue.

You can't hide fatigue with manufactured beauty. For cosmetics cannot cover up low energy, sagging posture and a lack of vitality. In fact, even the lines of weariness can only be hidden temporarily. The only way to combat the effects of permanent weariness is to increase your intake of vitamin B-1.

The natural food sources of this vitamin are milk, liver and wheat germ.

Milk in all forms - whole milk, buttermilk, skim milk and yogurt - are rich in B-1. And all kinds of liver are equally nutritious.

Wheat germ, according to the Bureau of Human Nutrition and Home Economics of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, may be as much as five times richer in this vitamin than whole wheat.

EASY TO TAKE
It's simple to take, too, for it is delicious as a breakfast cereal, or can be sprinkled on other cereals. It makes a fine topping for casseroles and can be used as a breading for meat and fish.

The only way to fight fatigue is from within. And since our bodies store B-1 for a short time only, it is necessary to replenish the supply each day.

If your loss of vitality is due to improper eating, you can put sparkle in your eyes, a glow in your cheeks and luster in your hair by making certain you get a sufficient daily supply of this energy-giving vitamin in your daily diet.

Enjoy Foreign Language Did Caesar Have 'Gaul'?

Gilbert Youth Service
Worried about those languages you're going to have to study? Here are a few tips on how to enjoy them.

Latin-speaking Caesar lived way back when all Gaul, except perhaps his own, was divided into three parts. He gold-bricked his way through the army writing prose that takes two semesters to read.

Think of him as a Roman Norman Mailer, hampered by the abject case. Extra study in Latin can be done by listening to Patti Page's song of a couple of years ago, Learning My Latin. No credits for this, unfortunately.

"OLE!"
Spanish is for dancing. No cha-cha or mambo is complete without at least one "ole," a couple of Latin-American-type grunts, and a long sigh of "ay, que bueno!" at the end. It's also the grooviest to say to a chiquita. "Quieres bailar conmigo?" which means "Want me out a right?"

French is for restaurants. Otherwise you end up eating "ragout" which is stew how-ever you spell it. Order your date "une drink barbe," pour on the ketchup and add French fries (what else?). Your date will think her hamburger is "extraordinaire," and you, too. The main advantage in talking French is obvious. Imagine digging Bardot in the original.

"WHAT IS TRUTH?"
Cold wars plus hot words equal Russian. (Ain't that the "proude"? - truth!) It's the greatest for translating labels on caviar jars, herbect recipes, and the words of The Song of the Volga Boatmen. In case you ever have to cross the Volga River. We - and the Dept. of the Army - hope you never have to.

Spaghetti is conducive to music. After one order, you think you're a combination of Curzon and Dion. In order to pronounce the names of the other singers and composers of Italian music, it is best to take Italian. Otherwise, it's difficult, at best.

It costs an average of 15 cents per pound to cut and wrap meat for self-service counters, according to Department of Agriculture studies.

Fun Flattery
NEA-Fur hats shown in the recent French collection display thin, flattering veils that just cover the eyes.

Berean Class Holds Dinner

Berean Fellowship Class of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church held its annual New Year's Eve dinner at the Shawnee Court home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Levens.

Pastels, Rose Shades Flatter Older Women

A mature or older woman can be just as fashionable today as she was during her younger years, providing she perfects the correct art of applying her make-up.

To keep from looking overly made-up, a leading beauty authority advises paying particular attention to your choice of cosmetic colors.

Primarily, choose shades that have a high light reflective quality. These will help diffuse any lines or wrinkles, whereas darker colors tend to cause shadows which accentuate these conditions.

FACE MAKE-UP
Use facial make-up with an undertone of pink or rose to supplement any loss of skin color. Check rouge should be in pastel shades of pink or coral. For the eyes, the new powder eye shadow is an ideal light reflective requisite.

Lips should be flattered with the attractive, soft shades of matte finish lipstick.

Gilbert Youth Service
Super salemens, an tall tales go, sold refrigerators to the Eskimos for their igloos.

Worse than that, they stole the Eskimo's parka and sold it to the American girl without a dollar in her name.

Of course, she's smart enough, even without a sales persuasion, to see a good thing in a parka coat for her closet this winter.

Naturally, the manufacturers have improved on the Eskimo's original idea. They have substituted a furry fabric made of wool, a test tube fiber, for the pelts of the polar bear. It's cheaper and it does just as well, in some instances even better than the woolly animal.

Like the bear, the chemical-produced fibers won't melt or pill. If it gets wet, it dries to its usual fluffiness.

Unlike the bear, the furry fabric can be dyed a variety of hues, all of which make the parka an interesting complement to skirts and ski pants.

LIGHTWEIGHT
Although it is warm enough, the American parka weighs about half as much as the Alaskan kind. Since it doesn't sag a lady's strength just carrying it around on her back, the imitation is ideal for active sports. And it's also roomy enough to fit over bulky sweaters.

In bad weather or simply while waiting in someone's open car, the parka's hood keeps ears warm and outflows dry and in place.

Often the American parka contains vestiges of the Alaskan Indian's primitive dress, such as holders of embroidery, or ribbons of pompoms.

But it always has a zipper. The resourceful Eskimo made very soft, warm parkas, but no zipper. Zipper salesmen around to talk him into having one.
