

JFK Calls Party Leaders for Laos Discussion

Russia Urged to Speed Delay in Cease Fire

Details of Unexpected Meeting Kept Secret; Deny Any Emergency

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy summoned congressional leaders of both parties to the White House today for an unannounced discussion of the Laos crisis.

No details of the meeting were made public in advance, except for confirmation that it was being held and that it involved "a fill-in on the current situation in Laos."

The United States was revealed today to have called on Russia Wednesday night to get the pro-Communist forces in Laos to quit delaying a cease fire.

Acting Secretary of State Chester Bowles called in Soviet Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov at 9:15 p.m. to discuss about the "delay in implementation of the cease fire appeal Monday, the State Department announced.

At the same time, State Department spokesman Lincoln White sharply rejected Communist China's demand that the United States withdraw its military advisers and arms from government-controlled areas of Laos before a cease fire.

White said the United States will "certainly not" comply with this demand.

EMERGENCY DENIED

He said Communist China's "belligerent statements are a clear indication to everyone in Asia and indeed all over the world of the character and the measure of the real threat to free peoples everywhere."

Asked if the White House meeting was of an emergency nature, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger said it was not.

Seek to Pass Buck on Funds for MSUO

By MAX E. SIMON
Stung by the possibility that Michigan State University Oakland might not offer third-year courses this fall Michigan legislators today were seeking to pass the university's financial troubles into other hands.

A House Republican caucus yesterday reaffirmed the party's intention to stick by the rock-bottom budget recommendations in bills passed by the Senate. Under a legislative formula used to determine MSUO's appropriation, the university would get only $12,300 more than the current year's budget—although enrollment will be up, faculty increased, and maintenance costs hiked by the opening of two new buildings.

The GOP caucus said the ways and means committee intends to put a change in the budget bills to "indicate legislative intent" that a proportionate share of the state money for Michigan State University go to MSUO.

"We have heard reports that if the budget remained at the Senate level, MSUO would not extend its program into the third year in 1961-62," said Rep. Wilfred G. Bassett, R-Jackson, a member of the ways and means committee.

"And we want the university officials (MSU) to know we expect them to add the junior year."

However, legislators were prepared to hold fast to tight budget recommendations despite last minute attempts by educators to get no more money.

U.S. Explorer Fired Into Orbit — a Success

95-Pound Payload, First Space Laboratory, Is Tracked Widely

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A complex "space telescope" was fired into orbit today to explore radiation mysteries of the universe.

The 95-pound satellite named Explorer XI sped away from this test center at 9:17 a.m. in the nose of a 76-foot Juno II rocket.

All four stages of the booster ignited successfully and propelled the payload into orbit at nearly 18,000 miles an hour.

More than two hours after launch the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that tracking stations at Wallops Island, Va. (AP) — Cloudy weather today forced indefinite postponement of an attempt to launch a Mercury space capsule in the last test of the emergency escape system before a man trusts his life to it.

Johannesburg, South Africa; Woomera, Australia; San Diego, Calif., and East Grand Forks, Minn., confirmed that the satellite is in orbit.

The exact orbital path and other details were not immediately known. The telescope was aimed at a course which would swing it between 300 and 750 miles above the earth.

Project officials said good signs were being received from the satellite.

The success gives U.S. scientists the world's first astronomical observatory in space.

The assignment is to study space rays outside the air envelope which interferes with reception on earth.

The shot looked good from the start. All four stages fired as planned and hurled the payload into space.

At a news conference later, Charles Cole, the project engineer of Jet Propulsion Laboratories, which made the upper stages of the rocket, said the launching appeared to be normal and there was every indication orbit was achieved.

WALTER P. REUTHER

Wants Levy on Firms to Pay for Extra Hours

DETROIT (AP)—Walter P. Reuther proposed today a revision of the national wages and hours law to provide for a reduction in the 40-hour work week when unemployment becomes serious.

Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, told the Union's special collective bargaining convention he realized President Kennedy opposed shortening the work week on the ground the nation required as much production as possible.

Urging an approach to the shorter work week on the legislative front Reuther called for the creation of a national fund in which every corporation would pay one per cent of its payroll to help finance the shorter work week.

In times of unemployment Reuther suggested a 38-hour work week with overtime to be paid for all work over 38 hours. "We are not fighting for more leisure but for more jobs," Reuther declared, in listing unemployment as the No. 1 problem.

Reuther proposed that labor set up a national planning agency to help solve the problem and to demand action on the political front.

Reuther urged the convention to set the Union's sights on yearly salaries for blue collar workers. They are now paid on an hourly basis.

The United States and Canada, Reuther said, should begin now with bold economic and legislative action to solve their problems of unemployment.

In proposing legislation to fluctuate the work week to the nation's rate of employment, Reuther said that if the worker got only a 38-hour week he then would draw two hours pay from the national fund to give him a full 40-hour pay.

"We say to them 'Give us more employment and we will give you more hours,'" Reuther said, adding that if full employment cannot be provided with a 40-hour week then the work week should be reduced to provide full employment.

He suggested the national fund be made up by a one per cent levy on payrolls of all corporations, "both big and small," because, he said, many small companies would not be able to pay for a 36- or 38-hour week with no reduction in the 40-hour pay rate.

Westerners fear Early Collapse of Royal Army Resistance to Rebels

By The Associated Press
The Laotian government today proposed a cease fire at noon Friday as fears rose among Westerners in Laos that resistance to pro-Communist rebel attacks was nearing collapse.

The call for a cease fire was broadcast by radio and given to the Russians for relay to the Pathet Lao rebels, but there was no indication of any quick agreement from the rebel side.

Western sources in Vientiane, the administrative capital of Laos, said there was no report in the past few days since the rebels Wednesday captured Muong Sai, a trading village 55 miles north of Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

But these informed quarters referred to the dropping morale of royal army soldiers, battered by the Communist-supplied Pathet Lao in the weeks of political maneuvering for a truce.

Whether the new airlift of arms to royal troops, launched Wednesday by the U.S. Air Force, could stem the tide was a question.

But Washington declared the flow of arms will continue until a cease fire is reached.

In New Delhi, the three-power commission to supervise a truce haggled over the same issues that wrecked the commission in 1959—freedom of movement in rebel territory. Members are Canada, Communist Poland and India.

The Canadians said the key to the dispute is the mobility of the inspectors. The Poles oppose this as they did in 1958.

Roundup of 1,000 Begins for Centennial Spectacle

By PETE LOCHLEBER
The Centennial spectacle was taking shape today as 42 organizations began rounding up more than 1,000 persons for roles in the June 19-24 extravaganza in Wigner Stadium.

Another 23 Pontiac area groups volunteered to provide talent if more is needed to put "The Pontiac Story" over as the highlight of the June 17-24 Centennial observance.

More than 200 representatives from a wide variety of social, church, civic, business and educational organizations clamored to volunteer jobs as the spectacle talent hunt was kicked off at Elks Temple last night.

Harry W. Miller, the spectacle director, handed out job assignments right and left, and afterward expressed delight over public eagerness to participate in the Centennial.

A majority or more of the projected 1,000 roles should be filled by the time spectacle rehearsals begin next week, Miller predicted.

Only a handful of individual actors and narrators are needed for the show, but lots of dancers and square dancers and hundreds of persons are needed for mass scenes from Pontiac's history.

All the roles will be filled locally, Miller explained, as he outlined for the first time the scope of the 90-minute pageant.

Other centennial leaders appearing briefly during the two-hour kickoff were Stuart E. Whitfield, general chairman; Robert W. Euerich, chairman of the Spectacle Division; Mrs. John B. Nicolls, chairman of the division's casting committee; and Leo Spasch, general manager.

The John B. Rogers Producing Co. plans to provide all the period costumes, special field lighting and public address systems for six nighttime performances of "The Pontiac Story," Miller said. He described the show this way:

Played "in the round" with no stage other than a central revolving turntable, the action will be spotlighted from one part of the field to another like a three-ring circus, with climaxes dominating the entire stadium.

Spectacular effects such as the explosion of a mock atom bomb and the launching of a guided missile will be interspersed with tableaux depicting such historic moments as the Indian rebellion under Chief Pontiac, the settlement of Pontiac by early pioneers and the election of Pontiac's first mayor in 1861.

HISTORICAL EVENTS

Later scenes will dramatize important events during Pontiac's 100 years as a city.

An accent on transportation will involve everything on wheels, from covered wagons to the city's latest automotive products.

The first rehearsals will be in the girls' gymnasium at Pontiac Central High School. The schedule for next week:

Tuesday at 7 p.m., Indian scene; 8:30 p.m., firing squad. Wednesday at 3:30 p.m., large dance group (high school and older junior high school girls); 8:30 p.m., pioneer scene (square dancers). Thursday at 7 p.m., principal dancers (experienced); 8:30 p.m., Gay Nineties scene. Friday at 3:30 p.m., large dance group (high school and older junior high school girls); 7 p.m., Civil war and old-fashioned scenes; 8:30 p.m., early church and early settler scenes. An important meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, May 7, in the girls' gymnasium, when there will be initial tryouts for potential narrators and principal actors.

Castro Captures Invasion Leader

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
MIAMI — The top field commander of last week's attempted invasion of Cuba, Brigadier Roberto San Roman, has been captured, Havana radio reported today.

A broadcast heard here said San Roman was discovered among a "new group of prisoners taken to an internment area in Zapata Peninsula." San Roman was the tactical commander of the invaders.

The civilian leader of the expedition and representative of the Cuban exile Revolutionary Council, Manuel Artime, is still at large.

The Cuban radio claimed San Roman had tried to conceal his identity.

It said he gave a false name when he was questioned after his capture in an attempt "to elude his responsibility and escape the justice of the people."

A clash between Cuban troops and remnants of a rebel invading force also was reported today by the Cuban radio. About 100 rebels were being pursued.

ONE KILLED
One Castro militiaman was killed and two rebels were wounded during the skirmish in the area where the invaders landed last week, the broadcast said.

According to the government-controlled radio heard in Havana, 12 men were sentenced in Santa Clara province to prison terms of 10 to 30 years for what was called their part in counter-revolutionary activity.

The radio said a delegation of railroad workers from the Soviet Union is en route to Cuba for Tuesday's May Day rally.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro is scheduled to speak at the event. Castro staged a marathon march today before nearly 1,000 captured rebel invaders in a dramatic Cuban television show interrupted once by an apparently accidental burst of gunfire.

The Cuban prime minister appeared momentarily startled when a guard's weapon discharged.

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Aaron Swartz has been indicted on 37 counts of corruption of 11 basketball players from six colleges during the last two seasons, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan announced today.

$1.30 Theft Means $5 Fines for 2 Men

Two Pontiac men who tried to steal three packages of lunch meat — total value $1.30 — from a supermarket Tuesday learned that their project was a costly one.

Carl F. Gray, 46, of 4 S. Saginaw St., and Donald E. Sargent, 34, of 176 Sherman St., pleaded guilty to simple larceny yesterday before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan.

Each was fined $5 — or one day in the Oakland County Jail if the fines are not paid.

The two shoplifters were arrested after Thomas Saunders, 1042 Canterbury Dr., manager of the A & P Food Store, 25 W. Pike St., spotted them leaving the store without paying for three packages with the lunch meat which they had put inside their shirts.

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Two sheriffs' deputies have decided Arizona still is a land of wide open spaces. Edward L. Lomo of Nogales was driving his truck across the desert when he ran out of gas.

line. He walked to town, picked up some extra gas but couldn't find the truck again in the desolate terrain. Deputy Randy Rendon spotted the truck while flying over the area. However, when he and Deputy Ken Sturgeon attempted to drive to the location, they couldn't find the vehicle, either. Rendon went up in the plane again and this time drew a map.

After several hours of searching on foot, the deputies finally located the elusive truck. Does it the Hard Way TUNLEY, PARK, Ill. (UPI) — Tony Bettenhausen became the first U.S. Automobile Club national champion (1958) to gain his title without winning a single race during the season.

Army Comes Up With an Almost

pared and baked in 45 minutes. It contains flour, shortening, a bit of sugar and a chemical yeast substitute called delta-lactone. But after the Army got together the bread appearing conception it ran into the problem of making it taste like something hot out of mother's oven. Quartermaster authorities called in the firm of Arthur Little, Inc., Cambridge, Mass., and San Francisco, and the food technology department of the University of California at Davis. Little's researchers came up with an additive including cottonseed meal and glucose, which give the Army's mixture a "homey flavor." JFK Urges Prayer on Memorial Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has urged the American people to observe Memorial Day May 30 "by praying for a new world of law where peace and justice shall prevail."

He also urged the people to "involve the blessing of God on those who have died in defense of our country."

Kennedy's proclamation said the high courage and the supreme sacrifices of Americans who gave their lives in battle have made it possible for our land to flourish under freedom and justice.

He said, "The same principles and revolutionary beliefs for which our forebears fought and died are still at issue in the world and the challenge against them can be met only through the same qualities of courage, strength and unflinching determination shown by our noble dead."

42 California Dentists Need Their Own Advice

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "How often do you brush your teeth?" a newsman asked 42 Southern California dentists at their annual meeting.

The answers: 21 claimed three times daily, 6 said four times a day, 2 said five times, 1 said six, only through the same qualities of courage, strength and unflinching determination shown by our noble dead."

Errant Lawyer Given His Own Day in Court

GLOBE, Ariz. (AP) — Attorney Reul John Pomeroy of Superior appeared before Globe City Magistrate Clyde Shute to arrange a trial date for a client charged with drunk driving.

Shute thought there was something familiar about the lawyer and checked the court records.

He discovered Pomeroy had been charged with drunken driving about six months before.

Wayne State Threatens to Curtail Enrollments

LANSING (AP) — Spokesmen for Wayne State University said Wednesday that if Senate-approved appropriations are not increased, severe curtailment in student enrollments may result.

Testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee were President Clarence Hilberry, Provost Arthur Neff and Benjamin Burdick, member of the board of governors.

New Variations on Old Themes

Computer Rewrites Music

WASHINGTON (AP) — Science has hit a new note in electronic brains, one that composes music — a sort of synthetic Schubert. Actually it's something of a copy cat. It first must be fed ideas of a human composer. Then it goes to work suggesting many and new variations. And no musician makes light of variations. In its first big test, say its developers, it did a swell rewrite on the music of Stephen Foster.

Researchers Harry F. Olson and Herbert Belar of the Radio Corp. of America research laboratories told about their experimental device in a report at the annual meeting of the National Academy of Sciences.

PIKES VARIATIONS

On punched cards or by other means, the computer is fed signals corresponding to specific combinations or sequences of musical notes which reflect the individual composer's style.

Then, through a complex system of relay switches, the computer will select a host of new variations.

The composer can select those he likes.

In this way, he can play the computer instead of trying to bang out all the combinations on the piano.

Power Muscle to Open Bridge Over Pine River

ST. CLAIR (U) — A power unit costing $3,300 is replacing the eight-man muscle power previously used to open the swing bridge that carried M29 over the Pine River here.

The State Highway Department developed the unit, which will be mounted on a pickup truck. The city of St. Clair maintains the bridge under contract with the State Highway Department.

Previously, boat owners had to give a minimum notice of three hours when they wanted to pass the bridge.

Eight city workers would be rounded up to open the bridge. They would walk in circles, pushing an iron bar that slipped through a vertical shaft in the center of the span until the bridge was up far enough for boats to pass.

The Highway Department said the new power unit will cut the time for opening the bridge from 30 to 45 minutes to 15 minutes. The eight men replaced by automation will continue on their city jobs.

Analysts Believe Worst of U.S. Slump Is Over

GRAND RAPIDS (U)—Furniture industry analysts Seidman & Seidman Wednesday said a drop in the rate of business decline suggests that most of the current national recession is past.

Their regular monthly report shows household furniture manufacturers closed out the first quarter of 1961 approximately 16 per cent behind the same period of 1960 in shipments and orders booked. Dollar payrolls were down 13 per cent and employee numbers were down 9 per cent.

It called the showing an improvement over reports at the end of February and credited an unusual pickup in orders last month.

For the first time in 15 years the industry booked more new business in March than in the prior month with 70 per cent of all reporting plants showing increases.

Migrants Lured to Sunny States

Depressed Areas Lost People Heavily Since 1960; Michigan Gained

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Census Bureau Wednesday reported details of a continuing shift in population from depressed states to more prosperous — or sunny — regions.

The report showed that between 1950 and 1960, more people moved out of West Virginia, Mississippi, Arkansas and Kentucky than any other states.

The biggest gains from migration, in terms of numbers, were in California, Florida, New Jersey and Ohio.

Migration takes into account moves from state to state and the arrival of immigrants from abroad. West Virginia's population was reduced by 447,000 because of migration between 1950 and 1960, the report estimated. The loss in Mississippi was 434,000, in Arkansas 433,000 and in Kentucky 390,000.

In percentage terms, Arkansas' loss was the greatest. Nearly 25 per cent of the state's 1950 population moved away during the decade. West Virginia, Mississippi, the District of Columbia, North Dakota, South Dakota and Kentucky, in that order, also lost heavily in percentages.

California gained 3,145,000 from migration during the 10 years. Florida's gain was 1,617,000. New Jersey's 577,000 and Ohio's 409,000.

The Census Bureau said Michigan's population increased by 2.5 per cent from migration during the decade ending last year.

The bureau reported that about 156,000 more persons migrated into the state than left for other areas. At the same time, the bureau said, the state registered 1,928,000 births to 631,000 deaths, further contributing to a population increase for the 10 year period.

Cape Inefficiency Told to Senators

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators, charging that U.S. missile base workers sometimes make so much money it "bordered almost on subversion," summoned more contractors today to tell about soaring wages and inefficiency.

The Senate investigations subcommittee was told Wednesday that a $3.50 an hour electrician at Cape Canaveral, Fla., made $47 one week — $177 more than Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara.

They said common laborers made more than the nation's intensively-trained astronauts, and pipe fitters at a California air base not paid for doing nothing.

Movies to Be Shown at County Youth Home

Arthur Holmes, Waterford Township Juvenile officer, will supervise a film program tonight at the Oakland County Youth Home on Cooley Lake Road near Union Lake Village.

"Fishing for Fun" and "Highway Holiday" are the titles of the films to be shown immediately following the dinner hour at the Youth Home.

To Head Flint C. of C.

FLINT (U)—Hubert L. Curtis, an executive in General Motors' AC Sparkplug Division here, was elected president of the Flint Chapter of Commerce Tuesday.

Fugitive From Jail Cell Not Such a Bad Egg

YUBA CITY, Calif. (AP) — A Butte County Jail inmate who escaped three weeks ago when he was sent out to hide eggs for a community Easter egg hunt is back in his cell today.

Elbert Aubrey Tyler, 46, was arrested in Tulare, where he told deputies that while he was hiding the eggs he got to thinking about his own children in Modesto.

"I just had to go see them," he said.

Taylor is doing nine months for failure to support his children.

4 More Players in Cage Scandal

3 St. Joseph Seniors Expelled; Sophomore of LaSalle Involved

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Three senior members of St. Joseph College's NCAA third-place basketball team and one player from LaSalle College are involved in the 1960-61 basketball gambling scandal, college authorities said today.

The Very Rev. J. Joseph Bluet, president of St. Joseph College, said Jack Egan, Vince Kempton and Frank Majewski have been expelled from school. The LaSalle player named was Ed Bowler, a sophomore, who said at his Jersey City, N.J., home he had not been expelled from school yet.

Father Bluet in a statement said St. Joseph had been informed Wednesday by the New York District Attorney's office that previous assurances given by the students that they were not involved were untrue.

All three St. Joseph players were members of the college's Athletic Association, known as the Fishers. St. Joseph was defeated by Ohio State in last month's semifinals at Kansas City, but beat Utah in a consolation game to wind up what had been regarded until now as a "Cinderella season" for a team lightly-regarded before the season opened.

U.S. Walls Off Cuban Fighters

Ore Ship Docks With 5 Survivors Who Are Not Allowed to Talk

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Five survivors of the ill-fated invasion of Cuba reached U.S. shores today and the federal government immediately raised a wall of secrecy.

The 17,000-ton bauxite ore ship that rescued the five from a life raft in the Caribbean Tuesday docked at the Reynolds Metals Co. aluminum plant across Corpus Christi Bay from this city.

About 75 newsmen and a cluster of Reynolds workmen were barred from the dock area by a ring of uniformed plant guards. The newsmen and spectators could see no sign of the five.

The five fled the Cuban invasion beaches when Fidel Castro's forces crushed the attack last week.

The men found a life raft and floated into the Caribbean where they were picked up Tuesday by the SS Louise, operated by the Caribbean Steamship Co., a subsidiary of Reynolds Metals.

FEAR REPRISALS Dave Clinger, a spokesman for Reynolds, told newsmen that "the government is concerned that some of the Cubans will not want their pictures taken or their names used in fear of reprisals at home."

Immigration, Health Service and other federal authorities went aboard to interview the Cubans. The government has complete charge and control over everything at the moment, Clinger said.

Asked if any State Department men were present, he said he would "prefer not to say anything."

Reflectorized Plate Repealer Goes to Swainson

LANSING (AP) — A bill repealing the reflectorized license plate law was sent to Gov. Swainson for signing today.

The legislature completed passage of the measure Wednesday with Senate approval of a House amendment allowing a 5-cent credit against next year's license plate cost for motorists who paid the reflectorization fee this year.

Motorists would save about $1.3 million paid for the special glow-in-the-dark processing that was ordered by the legislature. For lack of an appropriation, no reflectorized plates have been issued.

Code of Ethics Outlined by JFK

He Asks Stiffer Laws on Use of Government Posts for Private Gain

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy announced a rigid new code of ethics for administration officials today and asked Congress to stiffen laws against improper use of federal posts for private gain.

In a special message on conflicts of interest, Kennedy also proposed outlawing private approaches to federal regulatory agencies in cases which must be decided through formal hearings.

The latter provision would apply to members of Congress, if administration officials have their way. It is doubtful that they will, since many lawmakers insist it is proper for them to talk to agencies about cases involving their constituents.

The recommended ban on "ex parte" contacts with agency officials, was an echo of congressional hearings which were highlighted in 1958 by the resignation of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams.

NAMES NO ONE Kennedy named no one in Republican or Democratic administrations, but he said that "in the past two decades, incidents have occurred to remind us" that changes are needed in laws and regulations covering government ethics.

The President made a point of demanding that administration leaders set personal examples of conduct "above reproach." He promised to help by such means as applying standards for property holdings and acceptance of gifts by presidential appointees.

No president can excuse or pardon the slightest deviation from irreproachable standards of behavior on the part of any member of the executive branch," Kennedy said.

Nation's Auto Output Takes Another Dip

DETROIT (AP) — Auto production in the United States dipped again this week, Automotive News said today, with total assembly estimated at 115,361 passenger cars.

Last week 124,697 cars were built and a year ago in the similar week the output was 133,654. The trade paper said production for April will run an estimated 448,113 cars compared with 468,339 in March.

Between the fiscal years 1950 and 1960 Puerto Rico's per capita income climbed from $278 to $571.

Fire Prevention Events Planned

County Departments to Assume Major Role in Week's Activities

Oakland County fire departments will play a major role in the city's fire prevention week activities this fall.

At a dinner meeting of the fire safety committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce last night at the Elks Temple, representatives from several departments were named to plan the annual fire prevention parade and field day program.

Chosen head of the planning committee was Chief Volny Vanzuski of the Bloomfield Township Fire Department.

Committee members are Capt. Maurice Morey, of the same department; Capt. Mike Bartholomew, Rochester Fire Department; Chief William Force of the Brookland Fire Department; Lt. Clayton Soncrantes, Waterford Fire Department; Chief Clayton Schlegel, Pontiac Township Fire Department; and Capt. Lewis Goff, Waterford Township Fire Department.

Waterford Township Fire Department TO CONDUCT SURVEY

The fire safety committee will conduct a survey to determine the possibility of revitalizing the Oakland County Firefighters Association, a group representative from fire departments interested in promoting fire safety through closer cooperation.

"Considerable interest has been shown," reported Sherwin Birnkant, committee chairman.

Other business included reports from Asst. Pontiac Fire Marshal Allen J. Toney on the junior fire inspection program in city schools, and Ross Luxon, Pontiac Motor Division fire chief, chairman of the Industrial Fire Safety Committee.

Luxon announced the second annual Oakland County Fire Prevention Institute will be held June 2 at Pontiac State Hospital.

A report on the growth of fire safety committee activities for Fire Prevention Week was made by James B. Forman, former parade and field day chairman.

SET FOR SHOW — "Entertainment Through the Years" is the theme of the variety show to be presented at 8 p.m. May 5 and 6 by members of the Monthieth Parent-Teacher Association. Beginning with the "Gay Nineties" and coming to the present day, the performers will present 20 acts showing the type of entertainment people have enjoyed in the past 70 years. Mrs. Joseph Orsey Jr. has been assisted by Mrs. Jerry Donaldson as general co-chairman. All proceeds will be used to purchase new school equipment. Going into final rehearsal are (from left) Mrs. Otto Saunders and Mrs. Robert Mosher in their number entitled "Me and My Shadow." The public is invited.

Trustees Approve Seven for Positions at MSUO

Seven appointments at Michigan State University Oakland were approved today by Michigan State University trustees at their monthly meeting in East Lansing.

Appointed to the university faculty were Dr. James C. Haden, assistant professor of philosophy at Yale University; and Sol Schwartz of the University of Michigan psychology department. Czetong Song, a researcher with the Association for Asian Studies, Inc., University of Michigan, was named assistant librarian.

Two members of the MSUO faculty, currently serving as assistants to the dean of faculty, were named associate deans, as was Dr. Kenneth Rose, recently appointed to head MSUO's division of social science.

Dr. George Matthews, professor of history, becomes associate dean for humanities. Dr. James McKay, associate professor of mathematics, becomes associate dean for science.

Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, director of continuing education, was named associate dean for continuing education.

COMING FROM OBERLIN
Rose, 41, who will come to MSUO July 1 from Oberlin College, will be associate dean for social science.

Haden, 39, a Kansan, received his doctor of philosophy and master of science degrees from Yale and did his undergraduate work at Haverford College.

He previously taught at the University of South Carolina and at the University of Virginia. He is the author of numerous scholarly articles.

At MSUO, Haden will be an associate professor of philosophy. Schwartz, 36, holder of a master of arts and bachelor of science degree effective Aug. 15.

Town Recalls the Day
Both Sides Cooperated
in Search for Pilots

HATTON, N.D. (UPI)—Russian and American planes shared a runway in Siberia while Russian dog teams laced the frozen earth, searching for two lost American airmen.

Russian women stitched U.S. flags, of ship's canvas and red and blue muslin, to cover the airmen's bodies, when the crashed plane was found.

Two Soviet pilots traveled as an honor guard to North Dakota with the dead pilot's body.

This "once upon a time" was recalled wistfully this year as townspeople who had welcomed these Russian pilots read of the shooting down of a U.S. spy plane over the Soviet Union, and the destruction of another plane outside its borders.

The time was 1929. The United States and the Soviet Union hadn't even established diplomatic relations.

But the lost pilot, Carl Ben Eielson, who is buried here, was an internationally honored pioneer of the air.

The plane in which he and a mechanic were carrying aid to an ice-bound American fur-trading ship in the Bering Strait, disappeared Nov. 9, 1929.

Eielson and his navigator, Sir Hubert Wilkins, made the first flight from America to Europe over the roof of the world—the polar route which has only recently become a common skyway for jet airline transports.

EARNED MANY AWARDS
Their 2,300-mile flight, in April, 1929 from Barrow, Alaska, to Spitsbergen, Norway, made aviation history. Eielson was honored throughout Europe and the United States, awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Harmon Aviation Trophy and other awards.

BARRED FROM ALGERIA
De Gaulle had barred him from Algeria for heading a "keep Algeria French" movement and Salan went to live in Madrid.

The French government formally retired him but he received a pension and was eligible for other retirement benefits.

But last week Salan flew to Algeria to join the other insurgents and De Gaulle ordered him and the other rebel officers stripped of all ranks and privileges and to be "punished under the laws of France" for having put Frenchmen against Frenchmen.

It marked a sad end to a brilliant career, a career that like De Gaulle's own started at St. Cyr Academy, France's "West Point" and carried him through both world wars, Indochina and Algeria.

He was decorated in both world wars and held numerous foreign citations. He also wore the Grand Cross of France's highest order for his battle gallantry, the Legion of Honor.

Now he faces dishonor, prison, and perhaps even death.

One of the worst puns we've heard today was about the human cannonball who wasn't allowed to quit his job when John Ringling North and the circus because North said, "Where would I ever be able to find another man of your calibre?"

A fellow demanded a raise, his boss exclaimed, "But I gave you one two weeks ago," and the fellow blurted and said, "Why doesn't my wife tell me these things?" — Earl Wilson

Autos Take Quarter of State's Business

DETROIT (U) — The sale and servicing of automobiles accounts for 25 per cent of all retail business in Michigan, the Automobile Manufacturers Association said Wednesday.

In a report on the automobile industry in Michigan, the AMA said latest figures from the United States census of business for 1958 showed there were 2,678 passenger car dealers, 9,455 gasoline service stations and 714 automotive accessory dealers in the state.

Total sales by these establishments were $2,225,534,000, or one-fourth of the state's total retail business of $8,891,661,000.

Automotive wholesalers whose sales amounted to $3,191,534,000, accounted for 27.4 per cent of all wholesale business in the state, the AMA report said.

EMPLOY 231,350

The census figures showed 319 establishments engaged in the manufacture of motor vehicles and parts, truck and bus bodies and truck trailers. They employed 231,350 persons who were paid $1,376,156,000.

In 1959 Michigan had 4,040,423 licensed drivers and 3,301,406 registered vehicles of which 2,766,349 were passenger cars. Preliminary figures for 1960 showed an increase of 3.4 per cent in passenger cars to 2,861,000.

Motorists paid $210,252,000 in special state taxes in 1959, or 26.1 per cent of all taxes collected by the state.

The AMA report also estimated tourist expenditures in Michigan in 1960 reached $653 million, an increase of $3 million over 1959.

With 60-Year Total at GMC, 2 to Retire

Two GMC Truck and Coach Division supervisory employees with a combined 60 years of service will retire May 1.

They are Frank D. Conkle, 94

Dwight St., a specifications engineer, and Barney P. McKevitt, 66, Lanette Dr., Waterford Township, an inspection foreman.

Conkle will retire after 33 years of service, McKevitt after 27 years at GMC.

High Court Deadline Supports Incorporation of Dearborn Heights

LANSING (AP) — The State Supreme Court has given the go-ahead to incorporation of the City of Dearborn Heights, capping a legal dispute that brought charges of racial discrimination.

The high courts' 4-4 ruling Wednesday supported, in effect, the Wayne County Board of Canvassers. The board upheld results of a vote last June in which residents of Dearborn Township and part of the Village of Inster approved creation of the new city.

In a busy decision day, the court also:

—Supported employees of the City of Highland Park who fought against an ordinance compelling them to reside in the city.

—Ruled that a Trenton, Mich., auto worker voluntarily quit a job in Indianapolis when he decided he couldn't commute between the two cities, thus making him ineligible for jobless pay.

—Held that a jury of laymen was incompetent to judge expert medical testimony in a negligence suit against two Wayne County physicians.

The four dissenters in the Dearborn Heights suit, all Democrats, argued that the case should be returned to the lower court for taking testimony on whether the incorporation proceedings represented an attempt to segregate white and Negro residents of Inster.

Red China to Help Build 25 Industries in Albania

TOKYO (U) — Communist China

announced Wednesday she will help develop 25 industries in Albania, only Eastern European Communist state which has sided with her in Peiping's ideological quarrels with Moscow.

The New China News Agency reported an agreement was signed with Albania in Peiping Sunday.

China will offer Albania "complete sets of equipment and technical assistance for the building of 25 projects in the chemical, metallurgical, electrical, construction materials, light industry and other fields," the agency added.

Red Exhibit Destroyed

CAIRO, Egypt (U) — A fire Wednesday destroyed Red China's pavilion at Cairo's International Agricultural Fair.

Native Son Sends Gift

EDMORE (U) — Detroit attorney

Glenn D. Curtis, a native of Edmore, has contributed $25,000 to the tri-county community hospital building campaign which has set a goal of $300,000. The gift was announced Wednesday.

Not Every Man Owns Two Aircraft Carriers

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Board Chairman Edgar F. Luckenbach Jr., 35 of the Luckenbach Steamship Co., claims he is "probably the only man who has his own aircraft carrier."

"And I've got two of them," he said recently. Luckenbach explained that he bought the two carriers for their 12,500-s-haft-horsepower propulsion machinery to be placed in new ships the company is building.

Gets Views on National Issues

Constituents Reply to Broomfield

Increased social security benefits, federal aid to education limited to school congestion, and systematic repayment of the $200-billion national debt were approved by Oakland County residents in a questionnaire distributed by Con. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County.

Broomfield, in announcing the results today, said his Washington office had received more than 21,000 returns.

He said he read each and every comment made on the questionnaires, and praised his constituents for their overwhelming response.

Other results were:

—More than three out of four responses favored increased truck, tire and diesel fuel taxes to keep new highway construction rolling, but rejected the alternative of higher gasoline taxes.

—Eighty-five per cent registered their protests of higher price supports and production controls on agriculture as proposed by President Kennedy and his administration, and "literally thousands" said in notes that present farm subsidies are "too high and too costly."

WANT TESTS RESUMED

—Seven out of eight want U.S. nuclear tests to resume if agreement is not reached soon with Russia on disarmament inspection.

—Three out of five rejected early summit meetings between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev.

—An equal number want revision of the Electoral College system through which the president and vice president are elected, with many expressing approval of Broomfield's proposed Constitutional amendment to provide for direct election of these two high offices.

—Three out of four approved the depressed areas bill Broomfield voted against the administration bill and for a substitute bill which would have increased amounts to urban areas such as Oakland County by 50 per cent.

The bill passed by the House was "nothing more than a farm bill, with an outlandish amount for rural aid and not enough help for areas such as our own," said Broomfield.

Those who answered the questionnaire also wanted the President to have the power to lower taxes for temporary periods to ease unemployment; permit the House Un-American Activities Committee to continue its investigations unhampered; hold the line on defense spending and increasing postal rates, with many remarking that such increases should be limited to second and third-class mail.

OFFER PROPOSALS

Less than nine per cent thought that the mutual security program was ineffective, but a number of alternative proposals to the present loan and grant program were offered.

"As a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, I am especially pleased to have these comments, as the committee will start in the past 10 years.

deliberations on this subject very soon," said Broomfield.

Two out of three want greater Social Security monthly benefits, extension of the Social Security program to include health and hospital insurance for the aged and reduction of the retirement age for men to 62.

Those who responded were cool to the administration plan to include teacher salaries in a Federal aid to education bill, while almost three out of four rejected the proposal to provide federal loans to private and parochial schools.

Broomfield emphasized that the final decisions on the issues will have to be his alone. But he said the questionnaires "give me a much greater insight into the problems, the needs and the desires of those I represent, and in addition a great number of valuable suggestions have come forth."

Austria has invested more than $100 million in its forest industry in the past 10 years.

County Sanatorium a Relaxed Refuge

TB FAMILY HAPPY—Little Ralph and Marion enjoy a rare get-together with their dad, James Davenport. All three are living a "life of ease" in the big Oakland County TB Sanatorium, in hopes of some day being all together with their mom in their own home. Marion is one of the favorite patients of the hospital's nurses.

HOLY COMMUNION FOR PATIENTS — Edwin Lyons, one of Oakland County TB Sanatorium's favorite patients, receives the service of Holy Communion from the hospital chaplain, Rev. William LaFountain, pastor of the Waterford Township Lutheran Church of the Ascension. Ministers of 12 different denominations take turns presenting the Sunday services for patients.

RETIRED LIFE OF EASE—Although George Henderson has a case of tuberculosis, he has his hand today working items, under the guidance of nurse, Jeanne Egan, at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium on Cooley Lake Road. He has made incense burners, belt and hundreds of other items for others to enjoy.

PRIVATE RADIO STATION — Eva Hunt operates the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium's fully-equipped radio station from the uppermost floor of the building. Special programs are arranged for patient-listening from universities, extension programs and other sources, as individuals listen through their own earphones.

TV COMMITTEE—There's plenty of quiet excitement among patients at the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium near Union Lake Village. This committee of "house guests" are looking forward to collecting more trading stamp books for more TV's to place in patient's rooms. From left are Herbert Hall, Jane Stewart, Morris Greenleaf, Fran Micklecock, David Reynolds and James Hendricks, chairman.

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

The big three-story building sprawling along the top of a hill near Union Lake Village is much more than a hospital for tuberculosis patients.

The Oakland County TB Sanatorium on Cooley Lake Road is a refuge of calm, unhurried and easy-going living for its occupants.

The relaxing atmosphere that is maintained at all times is in sharp contrast to the fast-moving pace of the jets that zoom over the hospital, the speeding cars out front, and the "rush to get there" attitudes of the friends and relations of the patients.

Excellent reading material, quiet games, television and good radio music in every room, has helped this serene way of life for those who must rest to live.

Under the able supervision of Dr. James T. Cheng (pronounced Chang), a medical doctor, is in attendance 24 hours a day on each of the three levels of the building.

With two libraries, a post office branch, a complete pharmacy, snack bar, chapels and recreation rooms, the people of the "San" have gradually learned to lead an entirely different way of life.

Every precaution has been taken to protect the doctors, nurses and assisting attendants from contracting the dread disease. For instance, there is a completely separate dining room and kitchen for hospital personnel only.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES

On the lower level, there is an identical setup for walking patients and heavy duty dish washing facilities for those who are bedridden (which are very few).

In group gatherings, such as religious services and special patient committee meetings, sanitary masks are worn by all who attend, and special wash rooms dot the corridors of the immaculate building.

Entire families are housed at the sanatorium. However, children on the top floor are kept segregated from their parents for the children's own protection.

A special education teacher furnished by the Waterford Township school system and a county visiting hospital teacher keep the present enrollment of 33 children busy with homework.

In the winter months, there are colored movies, with bingo games "for fun," arts and crafts, and television. Summer finds most everyone outdoors on the spacious grounds playing miniature golf, mild games of baseball, and just browsing around.

OWN STATION

In the chapels early Sunday mornings a group of 12 different ministers takes turns presenting the religious service, and this is broadcast through the sanatorium's own radio station to every room.

The tiny earphones make it possible for individuals who do not wish to listen to turn off any program.

A "television for every room" campaign is now on, which will allow individuals to contribute any type of trading stamp book to the drive to provide the sets. So far a committee headed by James Hendricks has collected enough books for 52 rooms.

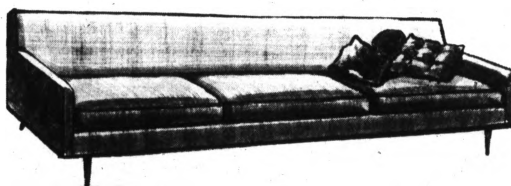

Books can be mailed to the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium, 7350 Cooley Lake Road, Commerce.

Could've Been a Blast Rally Against Castro

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—Police recovered a stolen car Wednesday that had been stripped of its students and non-hour, spectators accessories. Takes a Crowd on Honeymoon

New Groom Tours the U.S. With a Caravan of Foreign Students

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UP)—It is a rare man, indeed, who will take a caravan of foreign college students on his honeymoon.

That is just what Harry Morgan did as one of the things which snowballed into an international project—that won Morgan an award as one of the 10 outstanding young men in the United States.

Morgan, 26, was specifically cited for his "Ambassadors for Friendship" program, a project which seeks to teach foreign students in the United States about American ways of life.

When the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce gave Morgan his award, they called him "a pioneer in people-to-people diplomacy with our neighbors abroad."

Ambassadors for Friendship took shape in Morgan's mind when he hitch-hiked across Holland in 1953, just after thousands had been left homeless by floods.

LEARN'S LESSON
"I learned there that understanding comes from friendship," he said.

Back in the United States Morgan enlisted in the Air Force. He raised funds to bring a few foreign students to America.

The first participants in the program returned home delighted with the United States. Morgan returned to Rutgers University after service and was graduated last June.

Last summer, Morgan began in earnest his attempt to reach 50,000 foreign students with his program. Financed by $1 shares sold throughout the country, Morgan and internationally minded Macalester College students here financed a caravan of station wagons in which the young leader, his bride of one week, and eight foreign students set out to tour the United States.

AMERICANS GET IDEA
Although the trip's purpose was to teach the students, Morgan's person-to-person idea worked both ways and Americans learned as well.

Morgan currently is serving as special assistant to the president at Macalester, using the college as a headquarters and a testing ground for his ambassadors project.

Last year, five groups toured the nation. In 1961 Morgan hopes to send about a dozen groups.

His latest venture would bring 12 young newspapermen from 12 different countries to Macalester for a year of American life.

"We'll try to select the future editors who share the same goals as the young men in Africa and the other countries and tell them the true American story," Morgan said.

He already has raised about $40,000 to finance the program, by selling his idea to company presidents, publishers and others throughout the country.

'Window Trimmer' Looks Shop Before Onlooker

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A swanky Pittsburgh tailoring shop was looted of $20,000 in merchandise Wednesday night while a passerby looked on thinking he was watching a window-trimming job.

The onlooker, James H. Toner of Steubenville, Ohio, told police he was watching from across the street as a man stuffed merchandise—mostly men's jeweled accessories—into a briefcase.

The true romantic is the fellow who gets down on one knee when he asks his wife for a divorce. Auto safety poem: "No more, no more her— they tried to kiss at sixty per."—Earl Wilson.

2 Million Phone Calls Per Year Come In to Los Angeles Police

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Madison 4321 is dialed more than two million times a year to report a lost child, a car stolen or a murder.

It's the telephone number of the Los Angeles Police Department—one of the most modern law enforcement agencies in the country.

Facts and figures usually add up to a rather dull story except when they are combined to present a staggering picture. Such is the role of LAPD.

Los Angeles has 457 square miles of territory. Its population ranks third in the United States behind New York and Chicago. Its area is second to none.

Its city limits encompass an area larger than Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, Boston, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Washington, D. C. combined. A big town with a big job to maintain order.

TOUGH TO POLICE
What makes it so tough to police? In addition to the obvious answers—a vast area, 2.25 million population and a tremendous variety of industry—there are unique features which include status as a port of entry, proximity to a foreign country, huge transient and tourist influx, and the greatest number of autos of any city.

Who does the job? Some 4,607 officers. It sounds impossible and looks so on paper. But Chief of Police William H. Parker, veteran of 36 years in law enforcement, gets the work done.

"Parker is a bit cop," one of his officers said. "He's a cop 24 hours a day. He eats, sleeps and thinks law every minute of the day. He's the most dedicated man I ever saw."

That's the view of Dr. Seiden D. Bacon, who has studied the problems of alcoholics for nearly 20 years.

Bacon, director of Yale University's Center for Alcoholism Studies, defines an alcoholic as, "A person who uses alcohol excessively, inappropriately and without control, so that he hurts himself."

That, says Bacon, rules out the family man who takes those stiff drinks to relieve the tensions of the day's work.

"To his Aunt Fessie, a member of the WCTU, he's a drunken slob, a danger to America," Bacon adds. "But somebody may tell him to cut down—and he will. He's not dependent on alcohol."

"Every so often the true alcoholic might go on a three-week binge—which the family man wouldn't do—and this would make the difference between them."

Chief Tickets Himself for Taking Eyes Off Road
BURR OAK, (AP)—Police Chief Ralph Barry issued a traffic ticket to himself Wednesday on a charge of "not looking where he was driving" when his patrol car was involved in a minor collision.

The chief said he bumped into another car when he took his eyes off the road to wave at some school children.

Los Angeles is a tough place to commit a crime and get away with it. And the more serious the offense, the less chance you have of not being arrested.

There were 134 murders here in 1959—more than one every three days. Facts tell the story—96.3 per cent were solved.

CRIME DECLINES
The word spreads fast. Of all major crimes, only aggravated assault and rape—considered crimes of passion and regarded as less sensitive to police repression—have declined.

The police department is divided into 15 divisions—scattered from the harbor to Hollywood and maintained at a cost of just under $4.5 million a year.

Parker is the first to admit the force is understaffed for the tremendous task it must perform. But getting new officers that can stand up under stiff LAPD requirements is difficult. Last year, 4,332 men applied—256 were accepted.

In addition to the vast everyday job to be performed, there were 575 special events last year that were so large they required larger than normal police protection. One such incident was the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Parker, together with Soviet and U. S. State Department officials, drew up a 12-page plan pinpointing positions and duties of 667 officers.

To add to the difficulty there were 39 Russian and 496 U. S. newsmen to contend with. It went off, as does most everything Parker has a hand in, without a hitch.

What's the biggest problem? Traffic.

There were 333 persons killed in traffic accidents in 1959, with a grand total of 48,035 vehicle accidents. One-and-one-third-million motorists were cited for traffic violations.

Therein lies the problem—the only contact more than a million citizens have with the law is getting a traffic ticket.

Reveal Votes Cast on Depressed Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Following is how Michigan congressmen voted when the House passed a compromise bill to provide federal aid for depressed areas 223-183 Wednesday and sent the measure to the President.

Democrats for: Blyden Dingell, Griffith, Leinhardt, Macchiarini, O'Hara, Kuylenstierna.

Republicans for: Bennett, Broomfield, Cederberg, Chamberlain, Ford, Griffin, Harvey, Hoffman, Johnson, Meader.

Photographers Group Takes in First Negro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maurice Sorrell, 48, of the Afro-American Newspapers, is the first Negro member of the White House News Photographers Association.

His admission as a member came within two weeks of a statement by President Kennedy urging acceptance of Negro members.

Results in a Mistrial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A woman juror who impulsively befriended a plaintiff with the gift of a scarf caused a mistrial in a chancery court lawsuit.

Attorneys said the juror, who was not identified, watched Viola Brown testify and decided that a scarf would go well with the chic brown suit she wore. After an overnight recess, the juror returned with the scarf and gave it to Mrs. Brown.

Chancellor Ceylon Frazer called the mistrial Wednesday after an attorney for Mrs. Brown's side told him of the incident. The chancellor said he was convinced the act was completely innocent.

Two newly devised methods will subject 60,000 years farther back in time than they have been able to before.

Name-Scrawling Fans Will Get Consequence

NEW YORK (AP)—Fans who scrawl endearments to their favorite stars at stage entrances with crayon and lipstick are going to have a tough time from now on.

A Long Island manufacturer is distributing a plastic coating that adheres permanently to brick or concrete. Fervent scrawlings just wash off.

Car Firms Hurt by Dips in First Quarter

By BEN PHLEGAK
AP Automotive Writer.
DETROIT (P)—Financial statements now being released by the auto manufacturers show just how much they get hurt in the pocketbook when new-car sales lag.

Best indications are that only three of the five companies made money during the January-March quarter and all three of them were down sharply from a year ago.

Only the biggest (General Motors) and the smallest (Studebaker-Packard) have reported so far. Two more—Chrysler and American Motors—will announce their figures today.

General Motors' profits dropped $138 million from the first quarter of 1960 to a year low of $188 million. Studebaker-Packard tumbled $6.5 million into the red after operating in the black since the final quarter of 1958.

WONT ESTIMATE.
George Romney, president of American Motors, says his company will report a profit but he declined to estimate how much. "It's been a rough period for all of us," he said.

American Motors made $14.4 million in the similar quarter a year ago and $12.5 million during the January-March period of 1959.

Chrysler will show a loss with estimates running from $10 million to $20 million. William C. Newberg, deposed Chrysler president, in a statement read to the company's annual meeting last week, pegged the loss at $20 million.

L. L. Culbert, Chrysler chairman, did not dispute the figure. He made no comment of any kind on it. But he did say factory sales had run 37 per cent below a year ago, adversely affecting profits.

Chrysler made $10.9 million in the first quarter last year. Ford will be the last to disclose its figures with the announcement due next week. Observers believe its net will show a drop at least as sharp as did General Motors.

Last year Ford earned a record $143.1 million in the first three months. A drop to half that figure would not be totally unexpected.

Ford sales during the period were off almost 40 per cent.

What of the future?

Company earnings, of course, are tied directly to factory sales. If a dealer sells a car from his inventory and doesn't order a new one from the factory it has no effect on the manufacturer's income.

Production schedules are being increased, however, which indicate the factories expect to sell more cars. In the case of Ford, production for the current quarter may equal that of a year ago.

The first quarter usually goes a long way in determining what kind of a year the manufacturer will have financially.

In a good year the second quarter is apt to be best.

The third quarter always is down because of the model changeover period. And this year the fourth quarter is clouded.

Labor contracts at the big three expire Sept. 1. Any serious interruption of production would sharply reduce fourth-quarter earnings.

Old Ohio Company to Close by Summer

NORWALK, Ohio (P)—The Fisher-Norwalk Co., which has been in business here for 32 years, will shut down this summer, idling 125 production workers.

C. A. Foss, manager of the plants, said competition from Southern manufacturers in recent years has cut into operations here.

He said also new process and new materials being developed for making automobile carpets for 1961 models would require a large investment in new equipment. The investment was found not warranted here, Foss said.

American Motors made $14.4 million in the similar quarter a year ago and $12.5 million during the January-March period of 1959.

Decision to close the plant was made at a meeting of the board in Detroit Tuesday.

'Honey Lamb? I Aim to Be a Black Sheep'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The following is a transcript of a tape recording made the morning after the Academy Awards. It is a conversation between a famous film actress, who shall be nameless, and her agent, Joe Mudd.

Nameless—There you are, you stupid idiot!

(Joe)—You always look your best when you're upset, baby. Your coloring is superb!

Nameless—How long 'Gan-I put up with your moronic blundering?

(Joe)—Have some coffee, darling.

Nameless—All the other stars are taking their money to Switzerland. But you insisted that I invest in that Cuban hotel!

(Joe)—I can't understand Fidel doing that to us. Cream and sugar?

Nameless—And that TV special you talked me into!

(Joe)—That was the network's fault, baby doll.

Nameless—But the climate of your stupidity came last night!

(Joe)—You mean the Oscars, angel face? I caught the show. I had a drag.

Nameless—First Shirley Jones got the Oscar for playing a harlot. Then Liz Taylor got hers for playing a call girl. Melina Mercouri, Shirley Maclaine, Janet Leigh, Mary Lin—hey all got nominations for playing fast and loose.

What did I get? The PTA seal of approval!

(Joe)—I told you we should have taken some ads, sweetheart.

Nameless—For what? Those two all-American girls I played last year?

(Joe)—You were magnificent in those pictures, baby.

Nameless—You know it and I know it, but who else does? And this next picture you've announced.

(Joe)—You'll be stupenous as Florence Nightingale, honey lamb.

Nameless—Forget the lamb bit. That won't win me an Oscar. I want you to get me a part as a streetwalker.

(Joe)—But honey—your fans! All those sweet old ladies!

Nameless—Nuts to those nymphs. I can look just as good in a slip as any of those other stars, see?

(Joe)—Please, please, baby, tell me, sweetie pie, put your dress back on.

Nameless—How about it? Do you get me that kind of part or do I get a new agent?

(Joe)—Don't talk like that doll face, honey chile, darling. I'll do it. I know a script that's got prostitution, incest, cannibalism, and slavery. This girl is a Nazi, see?

Nameless—That's it! You've got to get it for me!

(Joe)—I'll get it, or my name isn't Mudd.

Nameless—It will be if you don't.

Cordiner Wins GE Test --Now to Face Senate

By ROGER LANE
AP Business News Writer
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Ralph J. Cordiner, General Electric Co. chief executive, emerged today with a strengthened hand after an accounting to stockholders on GE's price-fixing troubles.

But thunderheads loomed in Washington, where his turn was awaited before Senate investigators to clear up testimony linking the GE top brass with admitted antitrust offenses of second echelon officials.

VOTE OF CONFIDENCE
Cordiner won a soporific vote of confidence from shareholders at GE's 66th annual meeting Wednesday following a grilling by a small but vocal minority.

Then the directors, overwhelmingly re-elected, in a sometimes unruly, 8½-hour session, renewed Cordiner's tenure as chairman and gave him in addition the title of GE president.

Cordiner, 61, had doubled as acting president since the early retirement in February of Robert Paxton from that position. Paxton gave reasons of health for laying down his duties.

Paxton has been invited to appear before the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

FEES SMOTHERED
In a showdown vote on their main proposition, Carey and Mrs. Soss were smothered by a ballot of 69,858,355 to 1,04,830.

By that margin, their demand was rejected for an independent inquiry to determine whether Cordiner and other directors should "reasonably" have known of illegal activities within the company before federal antitrust indictments were handed up naming 16 company officials.

All the GE men drew fines for conspiring with representatives of 28 other manufacturers of heavy electrical equipment to fix prices and rig bids. Three also were sentenced to 30 days in jail apiece.

The outcome Wednesday was a foregone conclusion since management held proxies from a vast majority of the company's 16,600 stockholders. About 2,800 of them attended the meeting.

Delay Woman's Trial

Trial of a Pontiac woman accused of maintaining and operating an illegal liquor place was postponed in Municipal Court Tuesday until May 9.

Queen E. Phillips, 40, 47 Walnut St., was arrested April 15 in a raid by police vice squad officers on the Walnut Street address.

Ask Four-Year Term, Legislature Change

EAST LANSING (AP)—The Young Democrats of Greater Michigan, meeting at Michigan State University, adopted resolutions calling for a four-year term for the governor and a unicameral legislature for Michigan.

Other resolutions commended Gov. Swainson for forbidding state police showing of the film, "Operation Abolition," and condemned the John Birch Society.

Alan D. Cletcher of Port Huron was named state chairman. Other officers elected were Judy Glevinski of Grand Rapids, vice chairman; Dick Bowser of Jackson, treasurer, and Judy Bennett of Port Huron, secretary.

American Metal Tells of 46-Ct. Earnings Dip

DETROIT (AP)—American Metal Products Co. Wednesday said per share earnings in the first quarter of 1961 had dropped to four cents from 30 cents in the same period last year.

Sales by the firm and its subsidiaries also dropped from $16,138,139 in the quarter ending March 31, 1960 to $12,577,231 this year, the report said.

Net earnings were reported at $36,049 for the quarter, compared with $209,372 in the same period of 1960.

Japanese Try Persuading Ike to Visit Country

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A delegation of Japanese nationalists visited former President Dwight D. Eisenhower Wednesday, presumably in the interest of encouraging him to pay a visit to their country.

A projected trip to Japan last summer when Eisenhower was President had to be called off for security reasons because of anti-American riots in that country. An Eisenhower aide said there would be no statement from him concerning discussions with the Japanese group.

SECRET SESSION—Allen Dulles, Central Intelligence Agency chief, talks to Reps. Ken Heckler, D-W.V. (left) and Victor Anfuso, D-N.Y., before a closed session Wednesday. Dulles assured the House Science and Astronautics Committee that the Russians had, in fact, sent Maj. Yuri Gagarin into orbit as they have claimed. AP Photos

Assure Congress Reds Did Send Man Into Orbit

WASHINGTON (U) — Central Intelligence Agency officials and Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, told separate congressional committees today there is no doubt the Russians really orbited a man around the earth. White, testifying in a Senate Appropriations subcommittee hearing on the Air Force budget, said the United States has been "rather unimaginative" in its space programs. He added that he was not in the least surprised when the Russians were first in manned orbital flight.

"If we don't really move in space I think we are going to be really penalized in the future," the general said.

White said he has no doubt that Russia actually did send a man into orbit.

But he added the United States can catch Russia in its space achievements and "we are on our feet."

Says Gas Fight May Continue

PSC Chairman Claims Utilities Feud for Detroit Market Could Go to '71
LANSING (AP)—The chairman of Michigan's Public Service Commission (PSC) says that two giant gas utilities have been feuding over the multimillion dollar Detroit natural gas market for 15 years—and that the fight might go on for 10 more.

Chairman George E. Hill testified Wednesday at a hearing before the House State Affairs Committee on a Senate-approved bill requiring local elections before a utility could get a franchise to sell gas in the area already served by another supplier.

Presently only the approval of the local governing body and the PSC is needed.

The feuding has gone on between the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. Panhandle is seeking to sell natural gas directly to the Ford Motor Co. at seven cents less per cubic foot than Consolidated rates.

"Millions have been spent on this feud," Hill said. "For public relations and other expenses, and the money comes from the rate payer. The second generation of lawyers is getting fat. This fight could go on another 10 years and it will be the people who get it in the neck."

"And it will go on unless something is done, I hope something is done, will be done that is good for Michigan, good for gas users and good for the ratepayer," he said.

Hill said he and all other members of the commission supported the bill, sought by Michigan Consolidated.

"If this bill will lay this civil war to rest, I submit it would be in the best interests of the people of Michigan," the chairman said.

Sun Oil Is Second to Raise Gas Prices
Sun Oil Co. has followed Standard Oil Co. in raising gasoline prices in the Pontiac area 3.4 cents per gallon, but other firms have not followed suit.

Standard raised its pump prices to 29.9 cents per gallon for regular and 33.9 for premium starting at midnight Wednesday. Sun followed suit.

Shell, which started the gas war Feb. 2 with a cut, said it was keeping the same price. Officials at Mobil, Sinclair and Texaco declined to comment on future action their firms might take.

A grocery chain has made plans for supermarkets which the customers will ride on a moving ramp by the displayed merchandise.

Says Gas Fight May Continue

PSC Chairman Claims Utilities Feud for Detroit Market Could Go to '71
LANSING (AP)—The chairman of Michigan's Public Service Commission (PSC) says that two giant gas utilities have been feuding over the multimillion dollar Detroit natural gas market for 15 years—and that the fight might go on for 10 more.

Chairman George E. Hill testified Wednesday at a hearing before the House State Affairs Committee on a Senate-approved bill requiring local elections before a utility could get a franchise to sell gas in the area already served by another supplier.

Presently only the approval of the local governing body and the PSC is needed.

The feuding has gone on between the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. Panhandle is seeking to sell natural gas directly to the Ford Motor Co. at seven cents less per cubic foot than Consolidated rates.

"Millions have been spent on this feud," Hill said. "For public relations and other expenses, and the money comes from the rate payer. The second generation of lawyers is getting fat. This fight could go on another 10 years and it will be the people who get it in the neck."

"And it will go on unless something is done, I hope something is done, will be done that is good for Michigan, good for gas users and good for the ratepayer," he said.

Hill said he and all other members of the commission supported the bill, sought by Michigan Consolidated.

"If this bill will lay this civil war to rest, I submit it would be in the best interests of the people of Michigan," the chairman said.

Sun Oil Is Second to Raise Gas Prices
Sun Oil Co. has followed Standard Oil Co. in raising gasoline prices in the Pontiac area 3.4 cents per gallon, but other firms have not followed suit.

Standard raised its pump prices to 29.9 cents per gallon for regular and 33.9 for premium starting at midnight Wednesday. Sun followed suit.

Shell, which started the gas war Feb. 2 with a cut, said it was keeping the same price. Officials at Mobil, Sinclair and Texaco declined to comment on future action their firms might take.

A grocery chain has made plans for supermarkets which the customers will ride on a moving ramp by the displayed merchandise.

Times Printer Is Fired; 200 Others Sit Down

NEW YORK (AP)—About 200 printers reported at the New York Times today but refused to work despite the urging of a union leader.

A similar refusal for more than four hours Wednesday delayed publication of the early edition of the paper.

today's paper and also caused publishing delays for the three other morning newspapers in Manhattan. The trouble stemmed from the firing of a printer at the Times.

Newstead, the home of Lord Byron, is near Nottingham, England. The poet's bedroom and writing room are kept exactly as he left them.

Stay-at-Home Vacation to Be Provided by Pupils

Sixth grade pupils at LeBaron Elementary School are turning the school's upper hall into a glorious vacation in Europe for tourists on a tight budget.

Under the direction of Margaret Hartha, sixth grade teacher, the pupils will present the public with a "European Fair" Friday afternoon from 1-2:30.

On display will be many colorful projects concerning various European nations. The projects include maps, models, reports, and items from each country.

An international cook book was obtained from which recipes are being used to fill the refreshment table with foods of foreign countries.

The social studies project has been put together by pupils divided into five groups, each group representing two countries.

Chairmen of these groups are Jane Campbell, Nadene Garchow, Susan Conklin, David Midkiff, and Robert Tucker.

DOLL EXHIBIT
Among the displays will be an exhibit of dolls dressed in traditional costumes by Karen Trachet, Nancy Pizzala, Marsha Tebeau, Patricia Hagberg and Jean Mighelski.

Many pupils also made costumes for themselves, adding to the festive spirit of the fair.

The program will also include the singing of a few songs in French, German and Italian.

Brief resumes of the highlights of each country will be given by Larry Harris, Pamela Daly, Ricky Raymer, Joel Roberts, Nick Loulakis, Nancy Pizzala, Larry Schons, Marsha Tebeau, Russell Shelton and Jane Campbell.

In addition to parents, other homerooms have been invited to view the displays.

The interior also features a brighter look now that additional fluorescent bulbs have been installed. New ceiling-to-floor display windows have been added across the front of the store.

A service department at the rear of the store and storage rooms on the second floor have been doubled in size. Altogether, the store, which retains name brand refrigerators and electric and gas ranges in addition to radios and television sets, has been enlarged from 1,632 square feet to 3,708 square feet.

Ample parking space is provided customers at the rear of the store. One of proprietor Quentin Sweet's proudest possessions is displayed in the store—the mounted head of an antelope he shot on a recent hunting trip near Gillette, Wyo.

Top GE Executive Swears Ignorance
WASHINGTON (AP)—Arthur F. Vinson, a top General Electric Co. executive, swore to Senate investigators today he had not been aware of illegal price-fixing activities by subsidiaries.

"I deeply regret that I didn't know what was going on," he told the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee. "But I can assure that I did not."

Former subordinates had testified that Vinson directed them to engage in the meetings with competitors.

MSUO Planning 4 Open Houses

Pontiac Area Folks Are Invited to Tour Campus May 7, 14, June 4, 11

Michigan State University Oakland will hold an open house for Pontiac area residents on four Sundays in May and June.

Students will conduct guided tours for visitors around the campus from 3 to 5 p.m. May 7 and 14 as well as on June 4 and June 11.

Members of the faculty will be available to answer questions about the institution.

One of the items on display will be the MSUO language laboratory, consisting of 40 individual booths in which students can make tape recordings of their pronunciation of a foreign language, then compare it with a native of that country.

The language laboratory relieves instructors of much routine work and permits the student to learn at his own pace, according to foreign language instructors.

The entrance to the campus is at the intersection of Pontiac, Walton and Squirrel roads, midway between Pontiac and Rochester.

Council to Hear Report on Sewers in Waterford

The newly formed Greater Waterford Community Council will hear a report from Donald Porter regarding the problems of water, sewer and sanitation at an 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday in Pierce Junior High School.

Porter, chairman of the water, sewer and sanitation committee, met with township engineers Johnson & Anderson, Louis Schimmel municipal finance expert, and Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson last week to receive information on these subjects, and will report on recommendations made.

The need for these facilities as they pertain to present and future land use development will be emphasized with exhibits prepared by Johnson & Anderson.

In regard to another council project, a little more than $2,000 is still needed for construction of tennis courts on the high school grounds. The board of education has agreed to ask for plans and specifications, and the parks and recreation committee of the council is increasing efforts to round up pledges for the $5,000 project.

Through efforts of students, faculty organizations and individuals there is a total of $2,800 in the tennis court fund.

Sweet's Radio and TV Doubles Floor Space, Undergoes Remodeling

Sweet's Radio, Appliance & TV store at 42 W. Huron, has more than doubled its floor space with the purchase of what formerly was Carl Leone's Shoe Repair shop next door.

The combined interior has been remodelled completely with mahogany paneled walls and tile flooring. The ceiling has been lowered for a more modern effect and finished in fiberglass acoustic tile.

The interior also features a brighter look now that additional fluorescent bulbs have been installed. New ceiling-to-floor display windows have been added across the front of the store.

A service department at the rear of the store and storage rooms on the second floor have been doubled in size. Altogether, the store, which retains name brand refrigerators and electric and gas ranges in addition to radios and television sets, has been enlarged from 1,632 square feet to 3,708 square feet.

Restore Funds, U. of M. Pleads at Hearing

LANSING (U. P.)—The proposed budget for the University of Michigan in 1961-62 will "very seriously cripple" university operations, U. of M. President Harlan H. Hatcher said today.

Hatcher and other university officials appeared before the House Ways and Means Committee in a last-ditch effort to persuade the legislature to restore the budget at least to the level recommended by Gov. Swainson.

The governor proposed a $37.1 million spending operation for the university. The Senate cut the figure to $35.37 million, and increase of $167,000 over current spending. Hatcher said university regents have taken a firm stand against increasing student fees as a means of obtaining needed revenues.

Nomination Approved

WASHINGTON (U. P.)—The Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday approved the nomination of George E. Hill to be U.S. attorney for Western Michigan.

Slang on the Assembly Line Helps Get Those Cars Built

By MAX E. SEMON

Cuddlers aren't cute chicks who cuddle. Nor are jitterbugs hep to jive and jazz—at least not the ones they talk about on the assembly lines of Pontiac Motor Division.

Auto plant visitors here quickly feel they need a special dictionary to understand the workers' language.

Every job develops its own special vocabulary. Assembly line jargon is among the more picturesque—and can be among the more confusing.

A "cuddler" in Pontiac Motor lingo is a paint repairman. A "jitterbug" is a power-driven tool used to sand car hoods or fenders. Talk about—"dum dum" isn't baby talk. That's the name for a soft sealer used as a water repellent or silencer.

Expecting music, horses bobbing up and down when looking for a "merry-go-round". The ones at Pontiac Motor have neither—they're merely circular conveyors.

A "ding man" isn't a cool cat, doesn't ring a bell. He's a metal finisher.

You might hear shouts about a "mule" not starting. Don't look for what you'd expect. The mule referred to is a tractor which probably stalled.

"Trams" are useful items, but no rides are available on them. They're machines which adjust the front wheel alignment of the new Pontiacs and Tempests.

"Horse collars" have nothing to do with pitchers chalking up scoreless innings while handcuffing the opposition. They're the metal panels between the two front fenders which retain the radiator.

A "banjo," instead of a musical instrument, becomes a car's rear axle housing, and a "flat top" instead of an aircraft carrier, becomes a conveyor flush with the floor.

IT'S NOT A DOLLAR

When a worker tells someone he needs a "buck," he's not short of cash. A "buck" is not a dollar—it's any buildup which supports parts while work is being performed on a car.

A "butterfly" is the term for the throttle blade of a carburetor. And a "backlight," of course, is not a light at all—it's the rear window.

"Bright work" isn't the work of someone bright. It's ornamentation on a car.

"Cluster" covers the dials and gadgets on the instrument panel, while an "eyebrow" is the chrome header molding over headlights.

"Gunk" is a waterproofing material. A "woodpecker" is a pneumatic boring tool.

Employees use this language effectively and accurately on the job.

Although some of the words may sound nonsensical, each conveys a definite, particular meaning.

The most important thing, however, is that usage of the specialized slang results in improved communication among the men who build the cars.

As a matter of fact, some of these terms, exclusive to the assembly line at one time, have been picked up by the public and become part of its everyday speech—terms such as "glove box" and "crash pad."

But don't assume too much if you overhear production workers talking.

The "regulator" they speak of for example, doesn't regulate the flow of electrical current. It's the device to raise and lower car windows.

And, "insulators" aren't necessarily used to control temperature. More likely they're silencing pads.

Group Is Asking for School Shift From Avondale

The Oakland County Board of Education is expected to act today on a request by residents of a Bloomfield Township subdivision who are seeking to withdraw from the Avondale School District.

A petition asking that the Chapel Hills Subdivision be removed from Avondale and annexed to the Bloomfield Hills School District is to be presented at a p.m. meeting.

The move will be opposed by the Avondale Board of Education. Avondale School Supt. Leroy R. Watt.

"This would hurt the Avondale district," Watt said. "It would leave us with a poorer tax base and set a precedent for other Bloomfield Township communities to follow."

WEST OF ADAMS ROAD

Representatives of the Chapel Hills Subdivision Association, the organization which is backing the switch in districts, maintain their area should be a natural part of the Bloomfield Hills District.

The subdivision is located just south of 20th Boulevard and west of Adams Road and accounts for 75 students now in Avondale schools.

AREA NEWS

Area VFW Post Third in Contest

Berkley 9222 Places in 12th State Community Service Competition

An Oakland County Veterans of Foreign Wars Post has placed third in the 12th annual state community service contest sponsored by the VFW and another county post received an honorable mention. The Berkley VFW Post 9222 was third among the 10 top entries.

The first place award went to Roseville Post for the second successive year. Other top entries were Ann Arbor 423; Detroit Romanowski 638; and New Baltimore 7373, tied for fourth place; Detroit Wolverine 171; Detroit DSR 1467; Republic 3044; Broadhead 2289; and Mount Clemens 1794.

Honorable mention awards went to Walled Lake 2852, East Detroit 6382, Detroit Gamble 4638, Dearborn 1494, Tecumseh 4187, Alpha 7360, Hamtramck 4182, Wakefield 9084 and Kalamazoo 6623.

5TH DISTRICT WINS

In the district contest, the 5th District composed of VFW units in Oakland and Macomb counties was the winner.

"The Broadhead Post was judged the best new entry."

The best entries will compete with top state entries from all sections of the nation in the VFW community service contest.

Michigan's more than 700 local posts and auxiliaries were all reported active in community service this past year and the state office of the VFW will receive a national award.

Donald Roe of Detroit was state community service chairman and Mrs. James Millon of Benzonia was chairman for the ladies auxiliary.

Further Eye Tests for 300

WALLED LAKE—More than 300 of 2,600 students in the Walled Lake School District tested for eye defects have been referred to their doctors for further examination. It was reported today.

The tests were conducted by the Oakland County Department of Health with the cooperation of the Michigan Department of Health.

Sees Increase in Work

MUSKEGON, I.P. — An 800-worker increase in nonfarm employment at Muskegon over the next two months is predicted by Michigan Employment Security Commission branch manager A. L. Cooper.

RE-ENACT FAIRY TALE — The popular story of "Hop-O-My-Thumb" will be dramatized by the Wayne State University's Children's Theater tomorrow morning and afternoon at Clarkston Junior High School. The production is being presented under the sponsorship of the Clarkston Community Women's Club for elementary school children in the district. Here members of the WSU Theatre group cast rehearse one of the exciting scenes from the play.

Commencement June 8

Three Orion Seniors Share Top Honors

LAKE ORION—The three seniors with the highest scholastic averages at Lake Orion Community High School have been named valedictorian and salutatorians respectively of the 1961 graduating class.

Valedictorian is Roger Williams, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Williams of 4250 Rohr Road. He has compiled a 3.52 scholastic average.

Salutatorian honors are being shared by Phyllis Barc and Rosemary Moran, two 17-year-olds both of whom have 2.56 averages.

Phyllis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Barc of 200 Summit St. Rosemary's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moran of 10410 Dartmouth Road.

Roger, a member of the National Honor Society for three years, was captain of the school's varsity football team last fall.

He also was captain of the junior varsity basketball team in the 10th grade and president of his class that year. He has been Student Council president for two years.

Roger has attended the Lake Orion Community Schools since kindergarten. He plans to enter Ball State University in September.

Both two salutatorians received their elementary school training at St. Joseph's Academy.

Phyllis, who also plans a college career after graduating from high school, currently is vice president of the National Honor Society.

She has been active in the Future Homemakers of America, serving as both local and regional secretary of the organization in her junior year.

She plans to attend Eastern Michigan University.

Phyllis will deliver the valedictory address at commencement exercises June 8. Phyllis and Rosemary also will speak that day.

Prior to the commencement ceremonies, the 1961 graduating class at Lake Orion Community High School will celebrate Baccalaureate Sunday June 4 and class night June 6.

Miss Orion 1961 Will Be Named

17-Year-Olds to Vie at Fashion Show on May 23 in Junior High

LAKE ORION — Miss Orion of 1961 will be named May 23 at a fashion show to be held in the Lake Orion Junior High School.

The show is being sponsored by the Orion Community Center and three local women's apparel shops.

Any single girl living within the Lake Orion Community School District may enter the contest if she is 17 years old or will be 17 on or before Aug. 1.

She must be sponsored by a parent, friend or an organization. The deadline for entering the contest is May 13.

Mrs. David Erlanson, program chairman, said plans are being made to tie in the affair with the annual Michigan Week celebration.

The queen will be selected by out-of-town judges for such qualities as appearance, personality, poise and speaking ability, according to Mrs. Erlanson.

All entrants in the contest will model fashions in the style show, the chairman said.

Mrs. Carroll Kirkpatrick, administrative assistant in the school district, will be the narrator at the fashion show.

Assisting Mrs. Erlanson are Mrs. S. Eugene Green, ticket chairman; Mrs. Martin Carlson, refreshment chairman; and Mrs. Harold Fox, heading the entertainment and scenery committees.

Grade Schoolers to See Stage Play in Clarkston

CLARKSTON — "The Seven-League Boots," a dramatization of the famous fairy tale, "Hop-O-My-Thumb," will be presented tomorrow morning and afternoon for third, fourth, fifth, and sixth graders in the Clarkston Community School District.

The performances will be staged at Clarkston Junior High School.

This is the first time that a production by the Wayne State University Children's Theater has been presented in the Clarkston area, and school officials hope to make the project an annual event.

The suspenseful story tells how Hop-O-My-Thumb with the aid of the magic seven-league boots, saves two little girls from a terrible man-eating ogre.

The production, designed especially for children's audiences, runs about an hour in length. It includes colorful costumes and scenery, with some music and dancing, and is directed and produced by members of the University Theater staff.

The theater group tours the Detroit area annually with stage versions of well-known selections from children's literature.

Its performances here are being sponsored by the Clarkston Community Women's Club, which is bringing the production to Clarkston as a service to the children, not as a money-making venture, a club spokesman said today.

So that the largest possible number of children may attend the play, it is being scheduled during school hours with all schools in the district participating. Tickets will be purchased in the classrooms.

Property to Be Inspected by Independence Board

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, the entire Independence Township Board will make a tour of the township inspecting properties and township facilities and taking a look at problem zoning areas, according to Supervisor Duane Hursfall.

This is an annual all-day custom that has been followed for many years, and areas to be inspected will be the fire stations, the three water departments and two cemeteries.

Two Subdivisions Ask Sewer Laterals

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—Petitions from two adjacent subdivisions requesting the installation of Farmington Interceptor Sewer laterals have been accepted by the Township Board of Trustees.

The township has authorized engineers to prepare plans and cost estimates for the sewer projects in Franklin Fairway and Franklin Farm. The two subdivisions have a total of 66 homes.

The subdivisions are located at Northwestern Highway and 13-Mile Road.

The cost of the improvement would be assessed the property owners living in the two areas, according to Floyd Cairns, township clerk.

Plan Family Night

WALLED LAKE—Plans are being completed for a family night with a western theme by the St. Theresa Guild of St. William Church here.

The date has been set for June 24th, according to Mrs. Franklyn Corolla, program chairman. Plans include square and modern dancing and food.

Calvary Methodists to See Parsonage

HOLLY—An open house at the new parsonage of the Calvary Methodist Church here will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 p.m. Rev. Reginald B. Becker is pastor.

The new ranch-type home is at 3601 Quick Road, just west of North Holly Road. It is on the northwest corner of a six-acre building site for a new church.

The open house is being sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

To Hold 5th Convention

LANSING (AP)—The fifth annual convention of the National Guard Association of Michigan will be held Saturday at the Lansing Civic Center. Matters to be considered will include a retirement program for guard employees, group life insurance for association members and a scholarship program.

Laotian Trouble Represents Defeat for U.S.

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
The United States is being forced to swallow a bitter pill in Laos. No matter what may emerge from the agreed-upon cease fire or from any Geneva conference of the interested nations, the United States has suffered a major defeat for all the world to see. And the end may not have been reached.

Militarily, the U.S.-supported pro-Western forces of Premier Prince Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi Nosavan proved no match for the jungle fighters of the Communist-backed Pathet Lao, and with the military advantage also went the diplomatic advantage.

Today, the Pathet Lao hold or control approximately half of Laos.

In Peking, neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma and Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai have announced that Laos and Red China will establish diplomatic relations.

The Soviet Union and Red China support Souvanna Phouma as the legal premier of Laos. Souvanna Phouma snubbed Washington last week after earlier expressing a desire to explain his position to President Kennedy.

In this, the hand of Moscow appeared evident. It seems likely the Soviet told him he had only to wait until the whole of Laos came into his hands without the necessity of compromising with the pro-Western forces, or perhaps even of including them in his government.

In any event, if or when the 14-nation conference on Laos opens in Geneva, the Communist hand will be infinitely stronger than last August.

It was on Aug. 9 that a young American-trained paratrooper captain, Kong Le, toppled the government in a bloodless coup and called upon Souvanna Phouma to form a neutral regime.

The people, he said, were tired of civil war.

The United States denied support to Souvanna Phouma and, instead, began supplying military aid to pro-Western and bitterly anti-Communist Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. When Souvanna Phouma fled the country, it quickly recognized Prince Boun Oum as premier.

Souvanna Phouma bitterly accused the United States of sabotaging his efforts to bring about a "only real solution possible for Laos."

U.S. policies in Laos were opposed not only by the Communists but by Britain and France as well. Now, the three-nation truce control commission is to be reinstated in Laos, giving the Communists a built-in veto over the West.

And it seems certain that any new government in Laos will have withdrawn of U.S. military advisers and all U.S. influence.

Halts Insurance Via Machines

Complaints Coming In; State to Refuse Any More Vending Permits

LANSING (AP)—The State Insurance Department has announced a new policy prohibiting sale of insurance through vending machines.

Commissioner Frank Blackford said the department recently has denied several applications to use the machines to sell travel accident insurance policies.

"Their possible placement in parking lots, motels, hotels and supermarkets would impose an impossible burden of investigation and supervision," Blackford said.

Blackford said there had been complaints about the nature of coverage offered by the machines and mechanical failures. The agency system of selling insurance has been much more satisfactory, he said.

Blackford said machines already installed in airline terminals will be allowed to remain. Machines in other locations, including one in a parking lot and another in a motel, will be ordered removed, he said.

State, Canadian Kiwanians Hold Fete of Good Will

Prospects for continued good relations between the United States and Canada received a boost last night.

More than 400 members of Kiwanis Clubs in Michigan, including 50 from clubs in Pontiac, Waterford Township and Bloomfield Hills went to the Elmwood Casino near Windsor, Ont., for a 24th annual international meeting with Canadian Kiwanians.

The Michigan-Windsor meeting is the local Kiwanians' way of celebrating Goodwill Week in the United States and Canada, which ends Saturday.

On April 28, 1917, both countries signed the Rush-Bagot Agreement which demilitarized their common boundary. Goodwill Week was established in 1921 and is a project of Kiwanis International.

Main speaker of the evening, Rabbi Sherman T. Wine of Windsor's Congregation Beth El, introduced the Kiwanians to a "new look at Canadian-American Relations," affirming his belief in the continued good neighborliness between the two countries in the future.

Reject Kennedy's Plan for Curbing of Billboards

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It looks as though President Kennedy will have to depend on the Senate to salvage his proposal to encourage states to curb billboards along interstate highways.

The House Public Works Committee Wednesday omitted Kennedy's proposal from a single package bill that would provide greater federal spending and more federal taxes to keep construction of the 41,000-mile network on schedule.

Handicapped Jobs Commission Picked

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson has announced the appointment of a 20-member commission on employment of the physically handicapped.

The state, Swainson said, has much to gain by assuring every disabled person the opportunity to become employed. He called for equality of treatment of the physically handicapped.

The major obstacle, he said, is "lack of proper understanding of the potential of the rehabilitated handicapped person to contribute to society."

Swainson, who lost both legs in action during World War II, was in Washington, D.C. today to speak before the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped.

College Hikes Tuition

FLINT (AP)—The Flint Board of Education Tuesday adopted a higher tuition schedule for the Flint Junior College, increasing resident tuition about $6 to $91 per semester, and about $27 for nonresident tuition, totaling about $171 per semester. The new schedule becomes effective July 1.

Youths Plead Guilty to Larceny Charges

Four youths pleaded guilty yesterday to reduced charges in the looting of a food freezer in a Pontiac woman's home.

Fleeting guilty to simple larceny before Municipal Court Judge Cecil McCallum were James L. Taylor, 19, 7 S. Shirley St.; Valentine D. Bird, 18, 51 S.W. 1/2, Jerry McCall, 20, 3075 Mill Lake Road, Orion Township; and John M. Pouch, 18, 338 N. Parke St.

They had been charged with larceny from a building in the April 9 theft of meat and groceries from the home of Mrs. Catherine DeLong, 218 Russell St.

Judge McCallum set May 9 for their sentencing.

To Screen Candidates

LANSING (AP)—Harvey Sherwood of Kalamazoo, chairman of the State Board of Libraries, has announced the appointment of an advisory committee to help screen candidates for appointment of a state librarian to succeed Mrs. Loretta D. Ryan, recently retired.

Chrysler to Tell of First Quarter Results Today

NEW YORK (AP)—Chrysler Corp. management, successful in a fight against dissident stockholders, meets today to disclose how the embattled auto-making firm fared in the first quarter of 1961.

All indications are for bad news—with expressions of optimism for the months ahead.

Chrysler has been plagued by internal dissension, suits, counter-suits, and falling sales.

Discouraging first-quarter earnings by Chrysler would be in keeping with results of other auto makers in an industry which has seen low sales and big inventories over many months.

Minor Gassed in California

First in 17 Years — He Had Killed Policeman Checking on Stolen Car

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — Alexander Robillard, 30, the first minor ordered to death in California in 17 years, was executed in the San Quentin gas chamber Wednesday for murdering a policeman.

The dark-eyed, dark-haired youth was white-faced but calm in his last minutes.

As he was strapped into the chair in the eight-sided death chamber, he nodded to two Jewish priests who were among the 44 witnesses.

Then he closed his eyes and moved his lips slightly in unrecognizable words. He put his head back to await the release of the cyanide pellets into the vat of sulphuric acid beneath his chair.

The pellets were dropped at 10:07 a.m. PST and he was pronounced dead at 10:12 a.m.

Robillard, who formerly lived in Redding and resided in San Francisco at the time of the murder, was the first minor to be executed since Glenard Brown who was put to death in 1944 for murder.

Robillard pleaded guilty to murdering Hillsborough (Calif.) parolman Gene Doran on Aug. 5, 1959. Doran had stopped Robillard on a lonely San Mateo County road to check out the youth's stolen car. Robillard was arrested four days later in Salt Lake City.

Digest of Boat Trailer Laws Made Available

The Outboard Boating Club of America has completed a nationwide survey of state boat trailer laws and published the results in a Digest of State Boat Trailer Laws.

The new publication replaces a previous digest of state boat trailer laws issued in May 1959. It includes information on the boat trailer laws of the 38 states and all changes made in state trailer legislation since the publication was first issued.

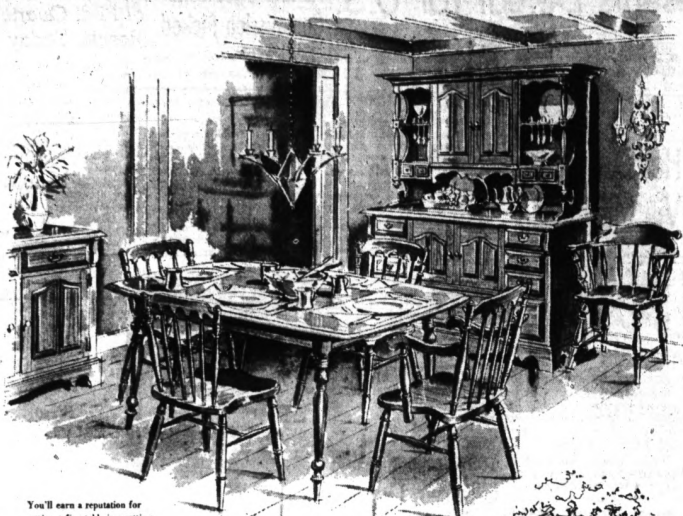

For the first time, the digest includes information on the tolls charged on 18 tollways and turnpikes, and all special rules and regulations applying to travel by boat trailers on these 18 super highways.

Copies of the publication may be obtained free of charge by writing the Legislative Department, Outboard Boating Club of America, 307 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill.

NEW NATION — Sir Milton Margai is prime minister of the newest African nation, Sierra Leone, which was granted its independence Wednesday at midnight. The tiny country plans to cultivate close relations with neighboring Liberia and Nigeria.

TABASCO EGGS—Tabasco seasons the best breakfast eggs, whether they're soft-cooked, poached or baked. Attractive egg cups and handy electric egg cookers make breakfast-time more pleasant. Try a drop or two of Tabasco in tomato juice for a tasty wake-upper!

Tabasco Puts Zip Into Breakfast Eggs

Eggs are a boon to the budget-minded, the weight-watchers, the nutrition-conscious and those who like good food. They are plentiful, economical and good substitutes for meat dishes.

In this day of calorie counting, it is reassuring to know that an egg contains only 80 calories and offers good supplies of complete protein, essential vitamins and minerals. In nutritive value, eggs are well worth their cost in money and calories.

Eggs cooked in their shell are best for dieters since no butter, or shortening is required in preparation, to tack on unnecessary calories. Whatever the method of cooking, seasoning is important to an egg. Whether it is added before or during cooking, or at the table, Tabasco is ideal.

A red pepper in liquid form, it blends in smoothly, and does not darken the eggs or leave unsightly specks. Its vigor pops up the bland flavor of eggs and makes them more enjoyable.

Breakfast should provide a good portion of the day's calories to give you necessary energy for your activities. A satisfying and healthful breakfast consisting of a glass of tomato juice, one egg, two strips of bacon and two pieces of lightly buttered toast adds up to only about 400 calories. Black coffee comes at no extra calorie charge!

In 4 minutes—after heat is turned off. If 4 or more eggs are to be cooked at one time, do not turn off heat entirely, but reduce it until the water is at a simmering temperature. Hold eggs at simmering temperature 4 to 6 minutes. Exact times will vary according to individual tastes, the size of eggs and their temperature at the time cooking was begun. Season with 2 drops of Tabasco.

Tabasco Baked Eggs: Lightly butter individual baking dishes. Add 2 tablespoons light cream or milk with 1-1/2 teaspoon Tabasco to each dish. Carefully break in eggs. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) 12 to 18 minutes, or until eggs are set.

Tabasco Poached Eggs: Fill poaching pan half full with water; boil. Lower to simmering temperature. Grease poaching unit with a little butter or margarine combined with 2 drops Tabasco; heat until butter is melted. Carefully break eggs into unit and cook over simmering water 4 to 6 minutes until whites are solid and yolks are of desired firmness.

Save Lemon Stuffing Idea for This Summer's Fish

Inside know-how can turn out baked fish, elegant with a LEAN-ON-SOUR CREAM BREAD STUFFING. Start by sauteing (in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine) 1/4 cup chopped celery and 1/4 cup chopped onion—combine with 1 pint soft bread crumbs. For the flavor twist, add to taste measures of grated lemon rind, salt, paprika, dried peeled lemon, and 1/4 cup sour cream. Place stuffing in cavity of 2-pound fish—try lake trout—and bake.

CHOCOLATE ORANGE VELVET—The cream cheese in this recipe gives the frozen dessert a slight tang. Appropriately named, it is as smooth as velvet and slides down with no effort at all.

Frozen Wedges Climax Meal

When you're having the bridge club for dessert or the children on a Saturday afternoon, make it a special day, and serve this creamy, frozen dessert.

Chocolate Orange Velvet
2 8-ounce packages cream cheese, softened
1 cup heavy cream
1 8-ounce package semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
1 egg, lightly beaten with fork
Whip cream cheese and heavy cream together. Add remaining ingredients and beat at high speed until light and fluffy. Pour into ice cube tray and freeze until firm. Cut into pie-shaped pieces. Serve with chocolate cream filled cookies. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Glaze With Marmalade

A simple topping for baked ham comes right from the orange marmalade jar. Score the fat, as usual, and center each square with a clove. Over the top spread an even, thick layer of marmalade, pineapple, cherry preserves, or other tropical conserve. Bake as usual for a tasty, new glaze.

Start With Cold Skillet

When you are pan frying, add vegetable shortening to the cold skillet and heat until the fat is completely melted before adding the food to be fried. Use medium heat.

Magic Walnut Bread

Mix together 1/4 cup granulated sugar, one egg, 1 1/4 cups milk, and 1 1/4 cups chopped California walnuts. Add three cups biscuit mix; beat hard for 30 seconds. Spread in greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees 45-50 minutes.

Will pick thrust in center comes out clean. Cool thoroughly before cutting.

Canada imported 29,400 head of United States beef cattle in 1959, the most for any year since World War II.

Slice Onions and Oranges for Fresh Dinner Salad.

"We loved her garlick, cynons and eek lekes," wrote Chaucer of his 14th Century Canterbury traveler. More than 5,000 years before that, Egyptian workmen building the Great Pyramid of Cheops are said to have spent 1,600 talents of silver for onions, an amount which has recently been estimated at about $3,500,000.

The Israelites, in their long trek across the desert, thought longingly of the luxuries back in Egypt, remembering "the leeks, and the onions, and the garlic." For these some were ready to return to slavery and brick-making. (It is hard to get along without onions!)

Mankind very early sniffed his way to this savory bulb. Ancient herbalists and historians described onions and their virtues. Apollonius, author of the oldest of all cook books, used onions freely as a seasoning. Medieval writers referred to onions in variety—large and small, red and white, sweet and pungent.

The original home of the onion isn't known for sure, but it must surely have come from the fertile crescent reaching from Palestine to India. From there it was taken to all parts of the world, the Spaniards bringing onions to the Western Hemisphere on one of their earliest voyages.

We Americans have a well-developed appetite for onions: we eat a 1,785,000,000 pound mountain of dry onions annually and some 175,000,000 pounds of tender green onions. Every good main dish starts with an onion and minced or sliced onion adds zip to a well-made salad.

Onion-Fresh Orange Salad

3 medium oranges
1 tablespoon sugar
2 medium onions
1 teaspoon salt
1-1/2 teaspoon ground black pepper
1/2 cup French dressing
Hard lettuce or watercress

Peel oranges in apple fashion, being sure to trim off all the white membrane. Slice thinly crosswise. Place a layer in a bowl. Sprinkle lightly with sugar.

Peel and slice onions thinly and sprinkle with salt and black pepper. Arrange a layer over orange slices. Repeat layers, using remaining oranges and onions. Pour over French dressing.

Cover and let marinate in refrigerator 1 hour. Serve on lettuce or watercress. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

ONION ORANGE SALAD—Crisp thin onion slices team deliciously with juicy orange to make a salad you can serve with fowl, fish or cheese main dishes.

Teen-Agers Want Meals to Be Family Occasions

It's inhuman to eat alone. A dog knows this. Teen-agers don't like it either. At the recent National Youthpower Congress in Chicago, delegates frankly confessed they would like to eat dinner with their families. And, they confessed, they are not apt to eat the right foods when they eat alone.

Such views may startle parents. So may this report from a pretty teenage discussion leader. "Parents are not strict enough in forcing us to eat the right foods." Adults and children alike, the teenagers said, tend to choose from only one or two groups and ignore the others. The delegates adopted this remedy at the Congress: "We plan to concentrate on getting all four food groups (enriched or whole grain bread and cereal, meat or an alternate, milk or cheese, fruits and vegetables) and the right servings of each."

The delegates' ideas—and their dreams—were as clearly defined on the subject of the family and dinner. They would like dinner to be an occasion, one that might demand a clean shirt as well as clean hands.

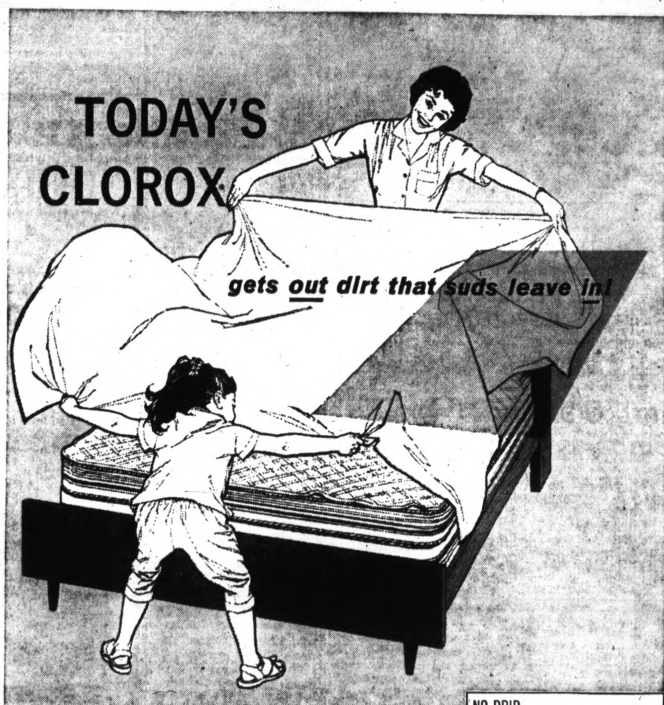

They would like a pleasant setting for dinner. They would like father to say grace. As the teenagers spelled out their solutions, they pleaded, "We need these helps from our families and the community."

Family members should manage their time so they can eat together. Activity leaders in the school and community should time meetings to allow for family dinners. The dinner hour should be flexible enough to permit pressing activities of individual members. Teeners at the Congress were willing to go to all lengths to achieve their goals—even to asking their parents to cooperate. "After all," they said, "it's no fun to eat alone."

Milk Bath First

Many good cooks like to soak onion rings in a cup of milk (in which two teaspoons of salt has been dissolved) before French-frying them. After the rings are drained, they're coated with flour and then popped into the frying kettle.

SALMON TIMBALES—Timbales sound so fancy and are so easy to make. Instead of regular bread crumbs, this recipe calls for herb-seasoned stuffing. You bake this mixture in custard cups and turn the timbales out for serving. Use your favorite cream soup for a sauce.

Herb Stuffing Makes Fish Timbales More Appetizing

What's for dinner? Here is the answer in an appetizing dinner for six at modest cost:

- Salmon Timbales with Soup Sauce
- Hash Browned Potatoes
- Mixed Green Salad
- Brown and Serve French Rolls
- Fruit-Filled Puff Pastry

Notice how the menu appeals to the eye and the palate in color and texture. These are things good cooks always keep in mind, especially when planning meals within limited budgets.

- Salmon Timbales
1 one-pound can salmon
About 1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
Pepper to taste

- 1 cup packaged, dry, herb-seasoned stuffing
- 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 1 tablespoon minced onion
- 1 egg, lightly beaten with fork

Drain salmon; add enough milk to salmon liquid to make 1 cup. Flake salmon with fork, removing bones. Sprinkle with lemon juice.

Melt butter in heavy saucepan. Add flour and mix well. Pour in milk mixture and stir vigorously over moderate heat until thickened. Season with pepper, and pour over salmon. Stir in stuffing and other ingredients, adding egg last. Mix lightly, but well.

Spoon into greased custard cups and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 30 minutes. After baking, turn out of custard cups and serve with soup sauce. Garnish with parsley.

Cream Soup Sauce

Blend one can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of celery or cream of mushroom soup with 1/2 to 3/4 cup milk. Simmer in heavy saucepan about 2 minutes.

To Study Plan Board

GRAND RAPIDS (R)—Kent County's Board of Supervisors took under study Wednesday the recommended establishment of a county planning commission with a first year budget of at least $36,000. The recommendation came in a report prepared by personnel of the Michigan State University Institute for Community Development.

Red White and Blue Ice Cream Is New

Red, White and yes, that's right—Blueberry! Here, now a unique neopolitan combination introducing CREAM almost as intriguing as the flavor! And for everyone, the ICE CREAM: (Red, White and Blueberry ice cream available in your market April 23—June 3.) This newest special flavor ice cream features luscious red raspberry, creamy vanilla and blueberry.

It's a gay treat for the youngsters—the novelty of BLUE ICE CREAM almost as intriguing as the flavor! And for everyone, the ICE CREAM: (Red, White and Blueberry ice cream available in your market April 23—June 3.) This newest special flavor ice cream features luscious red raspberry, creamy vanilla and blueberry.

In final course. Topped with a generous slice of Red, White and Blueberry ice cream and garnished with several of the pump ripe berries, the dessert pancakes serve as an extra-good Sunday brunch.

Buttermilk Dessert Pancakes

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup buttermilk
2 eggs beaten together
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup oil

3 tablespoons melted butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
Sift together flour, soda, baking powder, sugar and salt. In mixing bowl, beat eggs, mix in buttermilk and melted butter. Add dry ingredients and mix lightly but thoroughly. Drop tablespoonful of batter on hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake until golden brown on both sides, turning only once. Makes 20 three inch pancakes.

Good Breakfast Sets Tone of Entire Day

The hop, skip, and run breakfast leads those who would woo it often a merry chase. Sometimes, it is actually more sensible to pause and revolve the old-fashioned breakfast when the family gathers at the table.

This can be the family time. Even if brief, it may take on the air of a conference where you plan the day. At the same time, only those willing to expend some extra effort can know the enjoyment of the dishes best for morning hours. These may be POACHED EGG AND SAUSAGE CEREAL on toast points. To savor too, is a SWEET-BREADS AND CREAM BREAKFAST.

The fragrance of WAFFLED PRALINE FRENCH TOAST, the toast made in a waffle baker, is one to remember. Offering variety with little preparation time are CINNAMON QUICKIES and BACON-EGG BUNS.

Poached Egg and Sausage Cereal
12 sausage links
6 slices enriched bread, toasted
6 eggs, poached
1 (No. 1) can cream of celery soup

Grill sausage links. Poach eggs and heat undiluted soup as sausage grills. Split each sausage link lengthwise, down the center. Place two split sausage links on each slice of toast; pour hot soup over sausage and top each portion with a poached egg. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings.

Sweetbreads and Cream Breakfast
1 pair blanched sweetbreads
2 tablespoons butter
2 eggs, slightly-beaten
1 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon salt
4 small English muffins

Cut or break sweetbreads into small pieces. Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet. Sauté sweetbreads until nicely browned. Combine beaten eggs, sour cream, parsley, pimiento, and salt together. Add to sautéed sweetbreads in skillet. Heat until just set.

Break English muffins in half with a fork. Place on baking sheet and brown under broiler. Spoon eggs over muffins and serve two halves per serving. Yield: 4 servings.

Waffled Praline French Toast
2 eggs, slightly-beaten
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup raisin bread
1/2 cup light brown sugar (firmly packed)
1/2 cup coarsely chopped pecans
1/2 teaspoon butter or margarine
1/2 cup evaporated or regular milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

Combine milk, beaten eggs and salt. Dip bread into egg mixture and grill in a waffle baker until golden brown. Mix brown sugar, pecans, butter, milk and vanilla extract until smooth; heat about ten minutes, stirring constantly. Spread over hot waffles. Serve immediately. Yield: 6 servings — 2 slices toast per serving.

Cinnamon Quickies
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
6 Brown 'n Serve flaxen rolls

Combine sugar, cinnamon and melted butter. Make 2 cuts in rolls, almost through to bottom; spread cinnamon mixture in cuts. Place spread rolls in muffin cups. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for fifteen minutes, or until golden brown.

Meanwhile, prepare icing by combining confectioners' sugar, melted butter, vanilla extract and enough milk to obtain a thin spreading consistency. Spoon over rolls while they are still very hot so as to obtain a thin glaze. Serve hot. Yield: 6 Cinnamon Quickies.

Note: Icing can be omitted if desired.

Bacon-Egg Buns
4 bacon slices, cut in half
4 eggs
4 small hamburger buns
1/2 cup butter

Butter bottom halves of buns. Fry bacon until almost crisp. For each serving: Arrange two slices of cooked bacon side-by-side and over them break an egg. Cover with bottom bun half, buttered side down. Cook until egg is set. Toast bun tops and serve as a sandwich. Yield: 4 Bacon-Egg Buns.

Sandwich Loaf

Instead of fixing the usual two sandwiches for lunch, try piling four slices on top of one another, and cutting the sandwich into three sections. Layer the loaf with peanut butter, strawberry preserves and ham salad or egg salad, tongue and currant jelly.

Absolute zero in the Fahrenheit scale is 40 degrees below Fahrenheit zero and 275 degrees below centigrade zero.

Creative Cook Undaunted by Just One Burner

Adequate meals for older people, who have but one burner for cooking, are a real problem—according to Geraldine Piper of the U.S. Public Health Service. This recipe for Rolled Oat Meat Balls with Vegetables has been especially developed to fill the needs of older citizens with limited cooking facilities. Rolled oats are ready to use just as they come from the package—no additional preparation is necessary.

Rolling oats are an economical ingredient to use in cooking. In addition to this advantage, they make worthwhile contributions of protein, important B vitamins,

Chop Sweet Dills for Better Salad

Here's a chicken salad that will come out a winner. It's called Almond Chicken Salad, and it combines grapes, candied dill strips and toasted almonds with the chicken. The candied dill strips, comparatively new on the market, are as crisp a pickle as you'll find. They follow the public's preference for a sweeter, less heavily spiced pickle.

"Refreshing" is the word for candied dills. They are our choice of pickle for Almond Chicken Salad, although if you like a more pronounced flavor, you can substitute any of the sweet pickle varieties.

Almond Chicken Salad
2 cups cubed, cooked chicken
1/2 cup chopped, candied dill strips
1/2 cup almonds
1/2 cup grapes
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup oil
1/2 cup vinegar

Combine first 4 ingredients. Blend mayonnaise, salt and vinegar. Mix lightly with chicken mixture. Chill. Spoon into lettuce cups; garnish with watercress. Makes 4 servings.

Newspapers' Trucks Have High Safety Rate

NEW YORK UP—The American Newspaper Publishers' Association reported Wednesday that trucks operated by daily newspapers established a high degree of traffic safety last year.

The association and the International Circulation Managers Association sponsors an annual national safe driving campaign.

With 335 newspapers participating, 7,082 vehicles were operated 172,720,772 miles with 3,213 accidents of all types, a rate of 1.86 accidents per 100,000 miles.

Beta Sigma Phi Units Mark Their 30th Year

Eleven chapters of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority from Pontiac and Birmingham gathered at Edgewood Country Club Wednesday to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the founding of the sorority.

The Xi Beta Beta Chapter, headed by Mrs. William Killen, arranged for Miss Adah Shelly, former Pontiac City librarian, to address the group. Her topic was "100 Years of Pontiac."

In addition to Miss Shelly's talk, the program included selections by the Senior Girls Ensemble from Pontiac Central High School.

The sorority members were led in group singing by Mrs. William Cheal, accompanied by Rosamond Haerberle.

A message from Walter W. Ross, founder of the sorority, completed the program.

The sorority has grown from the first chapter, founded in Abilene, Kan., 30 years ago, to a membership of 150,000 in 14 countries.

Mrs. Robert Colfer and her committee from Epsilon Rho Chapter were in charge of arrangements for the affair's location.

Mrs. Jack Pote of Drayton Plains and Marilyn Clouser of Birmingham headed committees from the Xi Beta Theta and Eta Lambda chapters, respectively, which planned decorations in a Centennial theme.

Publicity for the banquet was under direction of Marie McGill, president of Xi Alpha Nu Chapter. Arrangements for flowers were made by Mrs. Duane LaTurneau who heads the committee from Zeta Eta Chapter.

A Xi Phi Chapter committee, headed by Mrs. Carl Leedy, worked on favors for the event, while the programs were the responsibility of committees led by Barbara Frasa of Phi Alpha Kappa Chapter and Mrs. Vincent Schneider of Alpha Omega.

The Phi Alpha Iota Chapter, headed by Carol Kinchla, designed name tags. Eta Iota Chapter from Birmingham also was included in the gathering.

Recent elections in the Pontiac City Council of Beta Sigma Phi, which includes representatives of all the local chapters, presented the following officers: Mrs. Elmo Jones, president; Mrs. Thomas Ogden, vice president; Barbara Frasa, recording secretary; Mrs. Clyde Haskill, treasurer; and Carol Kinchla, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Ellsworth Sturdy (right) and Mrs. Mitchell A. Calbi were among Beta Sigma Phi members attending Wednesday's founders day celebration at Edgewood Country Club. Mrs. Calbi is receiving a name tag, designed by the sorority's Phi Alpha Iota Chapter.

News From the Hills

By RUTH SAUNDERS
BLOOMFIELD HILLS—The Birmingham Wellesley Club members will give a dinner Friday to which they have invited their husbands. This annual affair will be given at the John M. Campbell home on Gleggery Road and the speaker will be Charles Jordahl.

Hostesses assisting Mrs. Campbell are Mrs. Harvey J. White, Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mrs. Jacques Passino, Mrs. Alex O'Hare and Mrs. O. S. Reimold.

Mrs. H. B. Royce is spending this week visiting relatives in St. Catharines, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond T. Perring returned Monday from a tour of the Virgin Islands.

Other returning travelers are Mr. and Mrs. Hans Schjotin who have been motoring in Mexico for the past four weeks.

And Family Was Meant for You, Too

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Both my parents are dead and I live with my sister and her family. A cousin of ours was recently married and a wedding invitation came addressed to Mr. and Mrs. John Jones and Family. (Jones is my sister's married name.) I did not receive an invitation and therefore did not go. My sister and her family went to the wedding and the bride wanted to know why I hadn't come.

A: When my sister told her that I didn't receive an invitation, she was very much put out about it and said that the invitation was meant for me too.

I am in my mid-30s and certainly think that I should have received a separate invitation and feel that I was quite right in staying away.

The bride is making quite an issue of this and thinks I am being over-punctilious. Will you please tell me if I was right? A: It would have been more correct had she sent you a separate invitation, but since "and family" means all those living under one roof, you should have taken it for granted that you were invited too and gone to the wedding.

Q: Last year when my daughter graduated from high school, my employer sent her a very nice graduation present. (He met her several times when she came to the office.) His son will be graduating from college soon and I would like to know if it would be proper for me to send his son a present?

A: Unless you know the son very well and are sending it entirely for this reason, and not to repay the father, I think it best to send nothing.

Q: Recently, while walking down the street with my girl friend and her brother, he insisted that he walk between us. I always thought that when two girls and a boy walked together, that the boy was supposed to walk on the outside. Will you please tell me which way is correct?

A: You are right; he should walk on the outside. If he walks between them, he has to turn away from one girl or the other; whereas on the outside he can talk to both without turning away from either.

The Emily Post Institute is sorry it cannot answer personal mail.

Mr. and Mrs. Day Krolik will be hosts at a supper party Sunday evening in their home on Lahser road. The affair will honor Drucilla Headlee and George H. Roehm, whose parents are Dr. and Mrs. Harold R. Roehm of Lone Pine Road.

Guests include Mr. and Mrs. Robert Siegmund and Philip Jussman. Mrs. Siegmund and Mr. Jussman will be honor attendants at the May 27 wedding.

Other guests beside Dr. and Mrs. Roehm will be Mrs. Walter Pedersen, Mr. and Mrs. Newell McCuen, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Gavne and Mr. and Mrs. Pell Hollingshead.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Keenan are motoring to Florida for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. David J. Kadyk at the home in Tampa.

Mrs. Parbury Schmidt is general chairman assisted by Mrs. Edward A. Schirmer for the annual dinner dance to be given Saturday by sustaining members of the Birmingham Junior League.

The dance will be given at the Birmingham Country Club.

The 30th anniversary of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority's founding was celebrated Wednesday evening at Edgewood Country Club. Mrs. Elmo C. Jones (center), newly elected president of the sorority's city council, joined her co-officers Barbara Frasa (left), council recording secretary, and Mrs. Clyde Haskill, treasurer, in greeting guests from 11 chapters attending the gala affair.

And Don't Be Bitter, Says Abby

Dump the Problems in His Lap

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After 8 months of marriage I am seriously considering filing for divorce, but I want to know if you think I am right.

My husband was a married before and has a ten-year old son. The child lives with his mother. She refuses to accept the fact that she is no longer married to the boy's father.

ABBY

She will call here during the week to tell my husband that "Billy talked back," or "Billy said a naughty word." It seems to me that she should be able to handle these trivial matters herself.

Then, too, my husband goes to his ex-wife's apartment every Sunday to see her. He spends the entire day there, takes them to dinner, and comes home very late. All this time I sit alone, burning. I just can't take it any more. Is my marriage worth fighting for?

SECOND WIFE: Why not ask your husband of eight months if he wants to go back to his first wife and son? Tell him why you ask, and be kind by about it if you can. Don't be bitter or resentful. The gravitational pull of a child is very strong, as it should be.

DEAR ABBY: What do you do when a boy calls you his "buddy" but you want to be closer than that?

This boy calls me almost every night. He always tells me his troubles and asks for my advice.

But when a school dance or something like that comes along, he always asks another girl to go. What should I do?

ONLY A BUDDY

DEAR "BUDDY": Rarely does a romance bud between a young man and the girl he calls his "buddy." Accept the probability that this boy likes you like a "sister," and don't hope for anything more.

Don't drop him because the more "buddies" a girl has, the better chances are for a boy friend. Every buddy has a buddy, and one of these buddies can become your beau!

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How To Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50c to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Spring Fashions Will Be Shown

Garden Assn. Will Observe May Day

The Bloomfield Hills Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will observe May Day Monday at the home of Mrs. Samuel Lang on Rathmore Road.

Presiding for the first time will be Mrs. Carl E. Larson, president, with Mrs. Russell Strickland, Mrs. E. J. Anderson, Mrs. L. A. Wineman, Mrs. Howard Stegall, Mrs. John Q. Nagel, Mrs. Henry C. Johnson, Mrs. E. Govan Hill and Mrs. Alan G. Loofbourrow.

Experts from within the membership will chair a panel discussion on garden questions. Mrs. Irving Duffy, greenhouse gardening; Mrs. Lester Coleman, roses; Mrs. George Goodwin, roses; Mrs. Frank Savage, trees, and Mrs. Frederick Weed, vegetables.

This branch was recently granted the coveted orchid award for all-around excellence at the Michigan division's annual meeting.

Officers Elected by Guild

Pontiac Music Guild members were guests of Mrs. Rodger B. Wood at a brunch Tuesday in her home on Shattuck Road, Waterford Township.

Elda Sutter, nominating committee chairman, presented the slate of officers who were re-elected: Mrs. William Hetsch, president; Amy Hogle, vice president; Mrs. Lester Snell, secretary; and Mrs. Carl Clifford, treasurer.

Mrs. Snell spoke about the original edition of Beethoven's sonatas by Dr. Silvio Scinti. Mrs. Hetsch reported on State teacher certification.

The next guild recital was announced. It will take place on May 16 at Grinnell Auditorium on Saginaw Street.

Plans are being completed by Miss Hogle, program chairman, for the annual banquet May 23 at the First Congregational Church.

The L. D. Halls of Waterford Township announce the engagement of their daughter Mary Ann to Jack D. Smiddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. General C. Smiddy of Robinson Avenue.

'Wash Day Blues?' We Have It Easy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Forty-nine items of laundry equipment, from clothes boilers to wooden spoons, and about 20 kinds of laundry supplies were recommended for doing the family laundry only 40 years ago.

Laundry was done in the kitchen so that water and clothes could be heated on the cookstove and the "washing" could be worked in with other household chores. This was the procedure outlined in a U.S. Department of Agriculture bulletin, issued in 1919.

Planning to Marry This September

Announcement is made of the engagement of Mrs. Kandis Gardner Norman, daughter of Mrs. Mable Gardner of Southfield and Raymond Gardner of Williams Lake Road, to Arlo C. Fletcher, son of the Harold Fletchers of Landslide Street, Drayton Plains.

If Oily, Four Times

Wash Face Twice Each Day

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
The skin has three layers. We are all most aware of the outer layer. We pamper it with creams and lotions. Sometimes we forget the other two layers.

The middle layer contains the little oil ducts, pigmentation cells, blood vessels and nerves. The bottom (third) layer is composed of fat. This has a great influence on facial contour. The decrease in the fatty deposit between the skin and the muscles is one of the factors in aging.

When a woman loses a large amount of weight too rapidly, then the decrease in this fatty fat, when the skin has not had time to adjust to the new proportions of the face, may make her look older.

Our epidermis is, as you know, punctured by many small pores. Through these the skin throws off waste products. If these pores become clogged with oil and dirt, blackheads result.

WASH TWICE A DAY

We should cleanse our face and neck at least twice a day, and if you have an oily complexion, it's soap and water three or four times daily for you.

Most women need a lubricating cream from the age of 30 on because of the gradual decrease of the natural oil in the skin.

The wind and sun and cold and years gradually dry up the natural oils, and we must compensate for this with daily lubrication. An oily complexion is the exception.

Good nutrition is vital to skin beauty. Vitamins A and E have been found to be helpful. A well-balanced diet with lots of green, leafy and yellow vegetables is effective.

NEEDS STIMULATION

Also, remember that your complexion needs stimulation. Facial exercises and gentle patting are good.

Your emotions may have a drastic effect. Many problem complexions are psychosomatic in origin. Nervousness and worry can make one break out in a rash.

If you would like to have my facial exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 9. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Club Sees Pictures of Europe

Thirty members and guests of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club attended the April dinner meeting, Tuesday at Hotel Waldron.

The program arranged by the international relations committee featured Mrs. Norman Smith who narrated slides of her recent European trip.

She spent 21 days in Iran, Curacao, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Guests of the club were Dr. Mary J. Guthrie, Mrs. E. W. Wilmoth, Lesell Crawford, Sue Flessland, Bonnie Davidson, Margaret Harthas, Mayme Myatt, Virginia Fowler and Violet Wetley.

Church Class Dons Centennial Garb

Members of Eunice Philanthia Class of First Baptist Church wore Centennial costumes to a meeting Tuesday in the church.

The 42 members and guests were served a chop suey dinner by Mrs. Martin Jackson and her committee.

Mrs. John Slater, missionary who participated in the church's missionary convention last week, was guest speaker. She showed slides of mission work in the Congo.

Seminar Scheduled for Students

Selected juniors and seniors from Cranbrook and Kingswood schools will attend an annual two-day world affairs seminar today and Friday.

The eighth in a series of studies conducted on a regional basis, it will concern the United States and Latin American search for understanding.

All-day sessions are scheduled at both schools, with an evening lecture and discussion Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 at Cranbrook House. The entire student body will attend assemblies dealing with Latin America.

Speakers already named include Rudy V. Fimbres of the Bureau of Inter-American Affairs, State Department; Marcilio Moreira, secretary of the Brazilian Embassy in Washington; Dr. Alexander De Conde and Dr. Martin Needler of the University of Michigan history department; and Dr. Samuel Shapiro, history professor at Michigan State University Oakland.

Dr. De Conde specializes in American diplomatic history and Dr. Shapiro will speak on the meaning of the Castro revolution. American industry and the Bolivian and Peruvian embassies will be represented.

Faculty chairmen for the seminar are Ben Snyder III, assistant headmaster and history teacher at Cranbrook, and Joyce Denning, history teacher at Kingswood.

Orient Farrell Concert Committee

To officially open the box office for soprano Eileen Farrell's June 4 concert, Mrs. Edward H. Lerchen entertained members of her ticket committee Wednesday. A novel quiz followed afternoon tea at the Lerchen home on Lowell Court, Bloomfield Hills.

Mrs. Lerchen and committee assistant Dean Coffin devised the informal, multiple-choice quiz as the best way to review for guests the accomplishments of Eileen Farrell. The dramatic soprano's concert at the Birmingham Theater leads off the fourth annual Birmingham Arts Festival's events.

The concert is sponsored by the Bloomfield Art Association and Cranbrook Music Guild.

Since the guests soon would be making dozens of phone calls to friends about reserving Farrell concert tickets, the "studier" with the highest quiz score won an appropriate prize: a rubber cushion for a telephone receiver.

"Eileen Farrell made her debut with the Metropolitan Opera company only last December, and is now emerging as a national figure," said Mrs. Lerchen. "So we thought the quiz would be a good way to see how much the 33 ticket-committee members know about this woman with the phenomenal voice."

James P. Dickerson, of Westwood, Birmingham, was the quizmaster. He preceded the quiz with a talk about Miss Farrell's career, using a big sketch pad to make his points in black and white.

Leading quiz whiz was Mrs. William H. Beatty.

Concert Committee Chairman Max H. Fruhauf told the ticket distributors that proceeds from the $10-a-ticket concert ($20 for patrons) would benefit the scholarship and gift fund of the Music Guild and the building fund of the Bloomfield Art Association.

FOR SUMMER SERIES

The Guild's share from the benefit performance will be used to underwrite its summer concert series which presents musicians of national importance at Cranbrook's Greek Theater, and to initiate the annual award of a scholarship to an outstanding student in one of Michigan's schools of music.

The Bloomfield Art Association plans to use its share of funds from the Farrell concert to remodel the former Birmingham sewage disposal plant which it is transforming into an art center.

Along with information about the communitywide cultural projects which the concert will benefit, guests Wednesday heard about arrangements Mrs. Walter F. Skinner and her cochairman Mrs. Minoru Yamasaki are making for Miss Farrell's visit to Birmingham. Guests also met Mrs. LeRoy E. Kiefer, Cranbrook Music Guild hospital chairman, Mrs. Kiefer, of Kennebec Court, Bloomfield Hills, is directing plans for the reception at Cranbrook House, the elegant English manor which was once the home of Cranbrook founder and Mrs. George G. Booth. It is the home of the Cranbrook Music Guild, which holds its winter concerts there.

Others on the concert committee are Robert B. Bender, Edmund W. Pratt, Charles Mortenson and Jack Kershenbaum.

Ticket committee members last week sent their friends invitations to be patrons and patronesses of the concert and attend the reception following. Among those who already have accepted the bids to be patrons are Mr. and Mrs. William B. Bachman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William H. Beatty, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fruhauf and Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Johnson.

Others are the Semon Koudens, the John K. Martini, the Benjamin Brewsters, the William C. Newbergs, the Paul N. Averills and the Theodore O. Yentemas.

Regular tickets for the concert are available at Grinnell's downtown and in Birmingham, at Smiley Brothers Music Co. and both Marty's Record Stores in Birmingham.

Ticket committee members for the Eileen Farrell concert met Wednesday to plan for the June 4 recital at the Birmingham Theater. At the tea table in the Edward Lerchen home were (from left) Max Fruhauf of Brookside Drive, Mrs. Carl D. Rogers of Maryland Boulevard and James P. Dickerson of Westwood Drive. The affair is jointly sponsored by Bloomfield Art Association and Cranbrook Music Guild.

Groups Complete Plans for Banquet

Plans for the "Daughter-Mother" banquet May 19 at Bethany Baptist Church were completed by the Women's Society groups at April meetings.

The Naomi Group met for luncheon at the Perry Street home of Mrs. Maurice Baldwin, with Mrs. Russell Kneale cohostess. Mrs. Gustave Ekstrom's devotional theme was "The Listening Ear." Mrs. Grace Steves reviewed the study book "One World, One Mission."

Lydia Group visited the American Baptist Christian Center Friendship House in Hamtramck. A coffee hour followed a tour of the building.

Mrs. William Shirley of Seminole Avenue, with her mother, Mrs. William Criger of Davisburg, served a casserole luncheon to the Esther Group. Mrs. Alfred Coles devotional theme was "The Saving Gospel." This group will serve the May meeting of the Women's Society.

The meditation "The Open Door" by Mrs. Noble Smith followed a cooperative dinner for the Ruth Group at the home of Mrs. Ben Wilton on Lakewood Drive, West Bloomfield Township. Mrs. Aden Thornton reviewed the study book. Mrs. Emil Kontz was a guest.

SEW CANCER PADS
The Deborah Group sewed six dozen cancer pads at the home of Mrs. Andrew Pepper on Pontiac Drive, who spoke on the new American Baptist Convention Center at Valley Forge, Pa. Mrs. J. C. Smith was named new group chairman.

Regular tickets for the concert are available at Grinnell's downtown and in Birmingham, at Smiley Brothers Music Co. and both Marty's Record Stores in Birmingham.

Honor Area Newlyweds on Return From North

The Joe W. Narrins were dinner and John Narrin seated guests at hosts Wednesday at their home on Lauren Court, Bloomfield Hills, to honor their son-in-law and daughter, Pat, and Mrs. Frederick C. Wilkins, back from a Northern Michigan honeymoon.

The former Jane Elizabeth Narrin and her husband, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred W. Wilkins of Orchard Lake, exchanged vows April 19 at Orchard Lake Community Church.

A reception in the Narrin home followed the candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. Edward D. Auerbach.

Alstromeria and English ivy arranged in a semicircle, complemented the princess-line ball gown of embroidered white nylon for the bride. Her butterfly veil was silk illusion.

Martha and Christine Narrin, wearing pale green embroidered County Extension Club members in a tour of the Dow Chemical Co. and Midland churches. A representative from the Oakland County prosecutor's office will speak at the May meeting at the home of Mrs. Donald Swain performed the duties of best man.

Extension Club Given Lesson in Alteration

Mrs. John Geranics Jr. of Ascot Street, Waterford Township, was hostess for the Lakeshore Extension Club meeting Monday evening. Mrs. Robert Johnson assisted.

The project lesson, "Altering ready-mades," was conducted by Mrs. Harold Wert and Mrs. Kenneth Gilboe.

The group will join Oakland County Extension Club members in a tour of the Dow Chemical Co. and Midland churches.

A representative from the Oakland County prosecutor's office will speak at the May meeting at the home of Mrs. Donald Swain performed the duties of best man.

To Demonstrate Art for School Benefit

Thirteen craftsmen will demonstrate their skills at the third annual Spring Gallery of City and Country School for Gifted Children in Bloomfield Hills.

The two-day show, open to the public free of charge, will be from 2 to 9 p.m. on Saturday and from 1 to 6 on Sunday. Proceeds from the sale of art objects will be used for the school's scholarship program.

Art demonstrations will include Mrs. John Hilberry, the potter's wheel; Sheriff's Deputy Mendon Westcott, leather tooling; Mrs. Gerald Schwartz, mosaic work; Mrs. Jack Ramsey, graphics (woodcuts, etchings, monoprints and serigraphs); and Mrs. Caroline Hall, plaster block printing.

Mike Grazele will demonstrate woodworking; Mrs. Lorene Caris, glass sculpture; Mrs. Thelma Anderson, jewelry making; and Mrs. Herman J. Lim, loom weaving. Visitors who wish to have portraits or sketches may pose for Artis Lane or H. D. Loe.

BY NOTED ARTISTS

An extensive display and sale of original art by noted Metropolitan Detroit area artists will be featured. Many of the artists have shown their work in special shows at Detroit Institute of Arts, Cranbrook and local galleries and have won numerous awards.

Exhibiting artists are Bob Diebold, John Glick, Glen Michaels, Raymond DeVrieschouwer, Guy Palazzola, Irving Berg, Kingsley Calkins, Gene Kyle, Mary Kierland, Doris Ann Smith, Milton Kessner, Mary Rupp, Barbara Dorr and Mrs. Cyril Miles.

Others are Jane Lorne, Eldon Darr, Tony Balhazar, Carl Wegner, Roger Crispell, Dorothy Siddall, Thad Rykalski and Lucy Brackett.

Fred Wall, Rosemary Allen, Walter Lomako, Sophie Borden, Mike Vizzini, Hardy Broderson and Clifford West complete the list of artists.

Additional items of interest will be displayed. Hugh Acton of Birmingham, designer, will display custom-designed furniture, and Herb Ring will show custom-designed jewelry. The Huron Show will display Mexican handcrafts, and Yarncraft will have hand-woven items and needlepoints, as will Mrs. Edith Reckendorf of Massachusetts.

Aqua-Marineiland will display tropical fish and aquariums. Antique collectors will be interested in the decorator items of Mark Fisher, importer of authentic European antiques, and Elson Jewellers' display of antique jewelry.

Myron Horowitz will show imported wood carvings, jewelry, figurines and dolls. A Compton's Encyclopedia exhibit also will be featured.

Refreshments will be served throughout the show. Guests also may purchase continental pastries. On Saturday evening chicken pie dinners will be served from 5 to 7 p.m.

Chairman for the Spring Gallery is Mrs. Sidney Barnes of Bloomfield Hills.

Cites Value of Physical Fitness

Child Study Club, Group 3, heard Gene Wiechee, public relations director for Michigan State Chiropractic Society, at a meeting Tuesday in the Edgely Road home of Mrs. Oliver Filer.

"Your Family and Its Health" was Mr. Wiechee's subject. He showed slides on physical fitness.

"The situation of the youth today in the area of education, fitness and health is under severe survey," Mr. Wiechee said, informing the club that the State Chiropractic Society has a program geared to this problem.

Members were told, "It will be moral responsibility of the youth of tomorrow to carry a torch for moral and physical betterment."

Commenting President Kennedy's Council for Physical Fitness, the speaker emphasized its importance by relating, "The Results of The Selective Service Act of 1948-1955 showed that 2,248,000 out of 4,321,000 men called for armed service were rejected for physical or mental reasons."

He concluded with the thought: "The Wealth of the Nation Is In The Strength of Its People."

Mrs. Carl Bird, Mrs. John Ritchie and Mrs. Robert Reynolds were hostesses for the meeting.

Alexander Hamilton founded Paterson, N.J., in 1791 as a planned industrial city.

Sea lilies are really animals but they look like the plant for which they are named.

MRS. C. D. BARDSALL

Elect Prexy of VFW Post Auxiliary

New president of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 1370 Veterans Auxiliary is Mrs. C. D. Bardsall, who assumed office at a joint VFW and auxiliary installation in the group's club rooms on South Saginaw Street.

Other auxiliary officers installed were Mrs. George Pappas, senior vice president; Mrs. Hazel Burns, junior vice president; Mrs. William H. Vandace, secretary; Mrs. Donald Moore, treasurer; Mrs. Darlene Servis, conductress; and Mrs. Richard Lange, chaplain.

Completing the list were Mrs. Howard Evans, guard; Mrs. John Brown, musician; Mrs. Leo Witkowski, three-year trustee; Mrs. Kenneth Parsons, two-year trustee; Mrs. Marie Vidulich, one-year trustee; Ella Harrington, Mrs. Thomas Chapman and Mrs. Ervin Perry, color bearers.

Installing officers at the Sunday meeting were Mrs. Vandace, assisted by Miss Harrington, Mrs. Servis and musician Mrs. Brown.

In recognition of 29 years of service, four charter members Mrs. Armistead Gibson, Mrs. Hector McCallan, Mrs. Howard Evans and Mrs. M. J. Wassell were honored at the installation.

The next regular meeting will be May 5 when delegates for the Department of Michigan Convention in June at Lansing will be elected.

NANCY BOOMER

Teen-Ager Chosen April Volunteer

The Central Volunteer Bureau of the Pontiac Area United Fund has announced the selection of 16-year-old Nancy Boomer as April's Volunteer of the Month. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Boomer of North Cass Avenue.

A sophomore at Pontiac Central High School, Miss Boomer is a member of the American Field Service, the school's Playfactors, Bowlers and Correspondence clubs.

With her extracurricular activities, Nancy has managed over 150 hours of volunteer work during the past year—at the United Fund Office and with the Junior Volunteer Group working with youngsters at the Oakdale Country Children's Home. She is also the Junior Group's telephone contact chairman.

Students interested in volunteer work may contact the Central Volunteer Bureau at Pontiac Area United Fund's headquarters on Franklin Boulevard.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice,

"I think most older women look better in straight skirts, but I have a problem that makes me very self-conscious in straight skirts. My legs are heavy and there is always a bulge when I walk or sit down. Is there any way a straight skirt can be cut a little fuller without spoiling the lines of the skirt? Your column is giving me the urge to do more sewing because I can depend on someone to run to when I encounter these difficulties."

Mrs. L. R.

On your pattern MARK and CUT a straight line from the end of the skirt to the hem of skirt, as illustrated.

Now spread the lower part of the pattern according to the extra width desired. You will find that as you spread your pattern, the dart becomes smaller and shorter.

You may spread your pattern until your dart is completely closed if desired. If the dart is completely closed you will notice the shape of the skirt at the waistline becomes more curved. This is a simple way to give you extra ease in your skirt and still retain the effect of a straight skirt.

USE FACING PATTERN

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

Regarding necklines, you suggested applying interfacing to the wrong side of the garment, not to the facing. Is this interfacing cut from the facing pattern or would you cut it from the neckline of the bodice pattern?"

Mrs. L. V. C.

The interfacing is cut from the facing pattern, and basted to the WRONG side of your garment. The facing is then pinned to the right side of your garment and the three layers of fabric are stitched at one time.

OPPOSITE FOR LEFT SLEEVE

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"I cannot figure out how it is possible on the left sleeve, to begin stitching at the back notch and continue under the armhole. What am I doing wrong?"

Mrs. D. A.

In my leaflet "All About Sleeves" I have explained how to stitch in the right sleeve. As with any part of the garment, you must do one side opposite from the other.

With the left sleeve, begin stitching at the notch in front, continue underarm and around the sleeve and finish stitching at the back notches. Always remember that the underarm must be stitched twice for added reinforcement.

YOUR SEWING GLOSSARY

Interfacing: A type of fabric which is placed between the garment to give firmness and body to your garment. The type of interfacing used depends on the type of fabric as well as the style of your garment.

Please send all questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of this newspaper.

Just Listen to Tone of Your Voice Today

By RUTH MILLETT

By analyzing patients' voices through special tape recordings a psychiatrist has found that there are four different types.

They are: "sharp," "hollow," "flat," and "robust." The sharp voice, I'm sorry to report, came mostly from adult women.

That's not really surprising, however, that comes from the fact that women sharpen their voices.

They let them grow sharp with children. Sometimes it seems that the harder they try to be reasonable and logical with their juniors, the sharper their voices get.

Some women sharpen their voices on their husbands, too. Men call this "nagging."

"Nagging" isn't what a woman says, but the tone of voice she uses. The words can be so very reasonable, but if the voice is sharp the woman is nagging, so far as a man is concerned.

Some women sharpen their voices in being overly critical of everything and everybody. Just listen to the sound of a woman when she's complaining about anything or pointing out the error of another woman. You'll notice a mis-sonic cutting edge that makes words sound harsher than they are.

The trouble is, though we dislike sharp voices in others we forget to listen to the sound of our own voice. Unchecked, it grows sharper and sharper.

It's not enough to listen to others. We women ought to listen to ourselves—not just the words, but to the tone of voice we use habitually.

Similar Problems Help With Answers

Teens Try Giving Good Advice to Each Other

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth
Research Co.

Usually, in our national surveys, we do the piles taking, trying to find out what teen-agers think about the world around them.

But sometimes young people come to us with their questions. They have problems about dating, or school, or getting along with their parents.

Instead of going to adults to get the answers, we look some of these problem letters to other young people, recently, asking seven hundred of them how they would handle the same situation.

Perhaps the answers aren't as profound as you might get from adult "experts," but they come straight from the heart of people in whose lives similar problems might very well arise.

Here's a letter from Audrey, a 16-year-old girl who wants to break up with her boy friend. Her problem isn't just simply saying goodbye to the boy friend because it involves the possibility that she might run into some trouble with her parents. Audrey writes:

TOO FAMILIAR
"My steady boy friend is getting to be a problem. We've been going together for a year and even my parents, who didn't like the idea at first at all, now think he's a great guy. He really has been a nice boy, until recently.

Now he is getting more and more demanding, until I am actually a little afraid to go out alone with him in his car.

You'd think it would be simple, since I feel like that, to break up with him, but it isn't.

My parents will want to know why, and if I tell them they probably will get back on their old kick of objecting to steady dating, and I won't have any boy friend at all, and life will be unbearably dull. What can I do?"

TALK IT OVER
From the answers, we've concluded that most of you are in favor of one sensible step: a good long heart-to-heart talk with the boy friend.

"Talk it over with your boy friend," says Danny Erickson, 15, of Burbank, S. D., who reflected the view of the majority.

"If he refuses to listen, break up with him, and explain he is one boy out of a million. Every boy isn't like the other. They get to like this boy, and this could and will happen with other boys."

A girl, Sally Ann Kerr, 16, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., agrees and also comments about what Audrey should do, if her parents clamp down on steady dating.

"Break up with the boy, and tell your parents why," says Sally. "If they won't let you steady date any more, follow their instructions. Your own personality will be expanded by going out with many different boys."

Peter Vikarius, 16, of Philadelphia, comments about handling a boy who gets more demanding saying:

"A girl should set up her standards, so that a boy knows exactly how far he can go. It is entirely up to her. If she cannot control her emotions, she should date various boys with whom she will not become too familiar."

"Audrey's best choice," says

Betty Roblin, 17, of Vermillion, S. D., "is to tell her parents the truth. If she doesn't, she's going to get into trouble, which is worse than not having a steady."

The general feeling of young people questioned about Audrey's problem was that she should gather up her courage and give the boy friend an ultimatum: either he behaves himself, or they break up. She should also tell her parents, and she should try to stop going steady.

Another problem letter brought some sharp comment. This was written by 12-year-old Barbara:

"I am very much interested in a boy one year older than I am, but my parents don't think that a girl should have dates until she is at least in the eighth grade."

SISTER NO HELP

My big sister is no help because all she does is tease me whenever such things are discussed. She's never had a boy friend and I think she is just jealous.

Bobby — that's my friend — and I have cokes together after school and see each other sometimes between classes but I think we ought to be allowed to go to the movies together in the evening.

If you agree, can you suggest any I might convince my parents?"

Most of the teenagers lowered the boom on Barbara, saying she was too young for evening dates — or for dating at all.

"First of all, this girl is too young to be going with boys," says Ron Steinbach, 17, of Austin, Minn. "She should wait another three years at least before she has single dates. Right now she should concentrate on her studies."

Janice Bremer, 18, of St. Louis also suggested that Barbara has plenty of time in the years ahead. Janice says:

"Early dating promotes either young marriages or sorry girls.

MR. AND MRS. JASON BANKS

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Banks of Houston Street was observed Saturday evening at the Young Men's Christian Association. The couple was married in West Blocton, Ala., and came to Pontiac in 1929. There are three children, two grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

young to go to the show in the evening," says Barbara Paenhorst, 18, of Bayonne, N. J.

"But, just as a friend ask your parents if you may see him over at night to watch TV. I think your sister's jealous, too."

In substance, the general feeling about Barbara was that 12 was too tender an age for dating.

Most of the teenagers saw nothing wrong with Barbara having cokes with Bobby, or with seeing him between classes.

But as for evening dates to go to the movies, that seemed a bit too much and most of the teenagers put a thumb down on such a possibility.

Three youths pleaded guilty to reduced charges of simple larceny yesterday in the theft of eight bottles of whisky from a Pontiac drugstore April 5.

Municipal Judge Cecil McCall set sentencing for the trio, previously charged with larceny from a building, for April 28.

They are Charles D. Voll, 23, Glendale, Calif.; James H. Hudson, 21, of 146½ Elm St.; and Alden L. Lewis, 25, of 6649 Pine Kn Rd., Independence Township.

Press BoxBY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The magnificent new clubhouse at Hazel Park race track, unveiled to the members of the press last week, makes its grand public appearance tonight in the first running of the harness horses.

The structure is something to behold. Built at a cost of $1,250,000, it is without doubt the Country Club of Michigan raceways, with its cocktail lounge, valet parking, necktie requisites in the plush dining area and the five-dollar window only.

The upper deck grandstand for horse-lovers only will seat 1,500.

DITTO FROM THE PRESS BOX

Has Pontiac Central's rein as king of Michigan high school track reached its end?

The Chief thainclads, winners of five state titles in the past six years, were edged out by a good rival Waterford team this week showing weak points in hurdles and distance which in the past were usually perennial strong events.

Pontiac greatest era of track between 1956-58 actually owed much to the big interest in the Junior Olympics in the late 40's and early 50's.

Many other communities have picked up Junior Olympics as a summer activity. In fact Flint has made it a big affair with many sports involved.

Speaking of fallen track empires, Eastern Michigan University's cinder team has gone from its greatest Pontiac-flavored track team, to its lowest.

humiliated recently by Miami of Ohio 106-1 from the days when Hayes Jones sparked the loss of the empire from 1956 to 1959.

THE LIGHTS WILL GO ON

The switch for 240 lights at the first lighted baseball diamond in Pontiac will be pulled at Jaycee park during the Centennial Week celebration.

The City Commission this week approved $33,000 for the project initiated by a committee of Howard Dell, Joe Davis and Tony Stiles.

Now that the lights have been okayed, the committee is striving further to improve Jaycee facilities with a $9,000 fund drive for bleachers, fence, press box, scoreboard and dugouts.

Balance of Power Sought

NFL and CBS Produce Package Television Deal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Fears that the strong might get stronger and the weak weaker brought the National Football League its $3,300,000 in the next two years.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the NFL yesterday announced the contract with Columbia Broadcasting System, one of the biggest pacts in sports TV. Each of the 14 pro clubs will get about $300,000 per season.

Rozelle said some of the teams will be receiving less than they did this past year when the clubs made their own television contracts. The majority will receive more and the league road games of each will be televised into its home area.

There were fears that under an individual contract situation, a network might buy the rights of one team and broadcast its games into an area encompassing the home of several other clubs. Thus the one would receive the revenue; the others nothing.

The average viewer will see no difference between what he had on TV in 1960.

Vice president Bill MacPhail of CBS-TV said the network will televise the entire 16-game schedule and "we believe this is the biggest single sports series of regular season play."

Rozelle commented, "This will help us keep our equality of competition. Teams that have been making more realized this will be in the best interest of the league."

"We cannot maintain a plan which denies a team, especially weaker team, of its fair share of television income."

Last year when the NFL had 13 clubs, 10 had contracts with CBS, Pittsburgh and Baltimore had National Broadcasting Company ties and Cleveland worked with an independent network.

The new American Football League had a package deal with the American Broadcasting Company last year under a game-of-the-day framework. Commissioner Joe Papp reported each of the eight teams received $185,000 from TV and there has been a 10 per cent increase for 1961.

DETROIT (AP)—The difference between the game Alton Double-day had in mind when he invented baseball nearly 125 years ago and the one the Detroit Tigers and the New York Yankees played yesterday must be of staggering proportions.

One thing is certain and that is that Mickey Mantle did not detract from the meaning of the term "home run" in the two blows he smashed for the Yankees' 13-11 victory.

As for the rest of the afternoon's proceedings—the four Yankee errors, the three Detroit errors, the half-dozen or so mental errors, the poor baserunning and the sloppy pitching—they would have evoked belly laughs from a wake.

But it was too cold to laugh—44 degrees at game time. In fact, it was too cold to play baseball, so most of the Tigers and Yankees didn't.

Despite the setback, the Tigers retained the American League lead by half a game.

Mantle decided the 31-hit bombardment with a pair of mighty home runs, one of them a two-run pole in the eighth inning when he was batting left handed against Jim Donohue, and the other in the 10th inning batting right handed against Hank Aguirre.

Both went deep into the upper deck, the first into right center and the second to left center. The second one accomplished several things.

It ended Detroit's winning streak at eight and snapped New York's losing streak at three. And it convinced Bob Scheffing, manager of the Tigers, that Mantle stands above all the other baseball players in the American League.

The Yankees used four pitchers, the Tigers five. The only ones who looked the part were Ryne Duren and Luis Arroyo, who held the Tigers hitless the last three innings. Arroyo, pitching the last two, received credit for the victory. Aguirre was the loser.

The Yankees scored seven of their runs against Don Mossi, who has a 10-4 mark against the Bombers in the last two seasons. Two errors by shortstop Chico Fernandez and an Alphonse and Gaston act involving Fernandez and shortstop Steve Boros led to five Yankee runs in the first inning.

After six innings, the Tigers had whittled the lead to 8-6, second baseman Jack Wicks kicking in another run for the New Yorkers and Tony Kubek and Roger Maris hitting home runs to account for the Yankees.

The Yankee fielders weren't exactly idle, either. Catcher Elton Howard threw in a couple of runs in the second inning, starting pitcher Whitey Ford gave the Tigers another by heaving the ball into center field, and second baseman Bobby Richardson kicked in one more. Rocky Colavito accounted for an untimely home run, his third of the season.

In the seventh inning the Tigers collected five singles, a pair of walks and a hit batsman for five runs and an 11-8 lead.

But Joe Gzenda, making his first big league pitching appearance, and Donohue, working for the third time in four games, could not hold it.

NORRBY'S GOT IT—An infield fly by Yankee pitcher Whitey Ford drops for a hit between third baseman Steve Boros (1) and shortstop Chico Fernandez of Detroit. The hit scored two runs for the Yanks in a five-run first inning spree. Rocky Colavito comes in from the outfield.

Moon, Mickey Near April HR Mark

By The Associated Press
Wally Moon has been slapping home runs and getting the headlines in that other league, but Mickey Mantle and Moon are withbanging homers right and left in the American League, and oddly enough, with very little fanfare.

The switch-hitting Mick's pair of two-run shots yesterday that gave the New York Yankees a 13-11 victory at Detroit also gave Mantle a total of seven-two right-handed, five left-handed—in 11 games.

Moon, meanwhile, has tied the National League record for April homers with eight in 15 games for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Both Mantle and Moon are within reach of the major league high of nine set by Ken Williams of the old St. Louis Browns in April of 1922.

While Detroit retained a half-game lead over idle Minnesota in the AL, Cleveland moved into a virtual third place tie with New York by beating Baltimore 6-3 last night. Washington defeated Boston 2-1 in the only other AL game scheduled.

In the National League, San Francisco took a half-game lead by beating Los Angeles, 6-5, with Moon failing to hit a home run for the Dodgers. Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 3-2, Milwaukee rallied St. Louis 8-1 and Chicago's Cubs trimmed Cincinnati 3-2 in 10 innings.

Ex-Indian Hurler Offered Surgery for Weak Eyes
CLEVELAND (AP)—Ray Caldwell, who helped pitch the Cleveland Indians to their first pennant and world championship by winning 20 games in 1920, is nearly blind in each eye.

But he learned Wednesday that the public never completely forgets baseball heroes. He was given an offer of free surgery to restore his sight. The offer, from the Cleveland Academy of Medicine, came on Caldwell's 73rd birthday.

"How can I find the words to say thanks?" said Caldwell, overcome with emotion.

An article in a Cleveland paper, explaining Caldwell's plight, produced several checks and cash contributions.

"I never realized I had so many friends," he said.

Illness Delays Chess
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MOSCOW (AP)—Play in the world chess tournament today was indefinitely suspended because of the illness of defending champion Mikhail Tal. Challenger Nikolai Botvinnik leads Tal 10 1/2 to 5 1/2 after 16 games of the 24-game world challenge series. Tal missed a game earlier, also because of illness.

Lefties Should Pitch
BALTIMORE (AP)—At a luncheon appearance, Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles was asked why there are so few left-handed throwing catchers.

"If I had a left-handed player who could throw good enough to be a catcher," Richards said, "I'd make a pitcher out of him."

Seven Sports Figures
Nominated for 'Hall'

DETROIT—Seven more athletes greats have been added to a rollover list of nominees for membership in the Michigan Sports Hall of Fame.

The special nominating committee made the additional choices at a luncheon meeting in Detroit yesterday. The addition of the seven names places 22 on the 1961 ballot.

In the final ballot, sportswriters will select six sports figures, four living and two deceased to be inducted in the Hall during Michigan Week ceremonies May 24th.

The new nominees included Lynnwood (Schoolboy) Rowe, former Detroit Tiger pitcher who died recently; Lloyd Brazil, All-

America football player the University of Detroit, from Flint in the 1920's; Al Watrous, veteran pro at Oakland Hills Country Club; the late George Mullin, all-time winningest pitcher for the Tigers; Eddie Goodfellow, former Detroit Red Wing Hockey star; Clarence Pink, Detroit Athletic Club swimming coach; Biggie Munn, athletic director at Michigan State.

Sports figures who were nominated in the past but not elected remain on the list. They include Benny Friedman, John Pincel, Bill Hewitt, Kid Lavigne, Al Wolgast, Bob Callahan, Jake Mazur, Jean Hoxie, Frank Taylor, Norm Lilly, George Young, Ralph Rose, John Kobs, Branch Rickey, James Martin.

The seven were added yesterday from nearly 50 names considered.

Nick Kerby, chairman of the committee also announced that an attempt will be made to definitely find a physical site for the Hall of Fame this year.

Detroit Seeking NFL Hall of Fame Award
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Detroit is one of five cities in the running for the location of the National Football League's hall of fame.

Final decision on the hall of fame's location is expected today during the final day of the NFL meetings here.

If Detroit wins, new Cobo Hall will be the site where NFL stars of the past are enshrined. Competing with Detroit are Canton, Ohio; LaSalle, Pa.; Green Bay, Wis.; and Los Angeles.

Alouettes Set Training
MONTREAL (AP)—The Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Football League will conduct their summer training camp for three weeks starting July 1 at St. Michaels College, Woodstock, Vt., former training site of the New York Giants.

Harness racing opens the 1961 season tonight at Hazel Park Raceway begins its 48-night campaign.

There will be nightly racing each evening, except Sunday, from April 27 through June 21. Post time remains 8:30 p.m. The opening night will feature the unveiling of the new $1,250,000 clubhouse, the first built in Michigan. Gov. John Swainson will be on hand to officially open the building.

Favor Palmer at Texas Open

Oldest 'Big Money' Tourney Starts Today at San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The storied Texas Open, which saw the light of day in 1922 as the first "big money" golf tournament, swings out today with the field concentrating on beating Arnold Palmer out of the $43,000 top prize.

Palmer, the defending champion, is a mild favorite to repeat but if he does it will be over the best entry in the 35 years of a tournament that once was the top on the winter trail but has been shifted to spring and to a new course.

The $30,000 event will be played over the par 71, 6,616-yard Oak Hills Country Club course, which Palmer already has found to be suited to his talents. He shot a 6-under-par 65 in a pro-amateur Tuesday.

Rocky's Offer Termed Lucky Break for Patterson

Marciano Bids for Liston

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rocky Marciano's bid to become the manager of blackballed Sonny Liston was regarded today by boxing men as the greatest break heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson could ever receive.

The reason doesn't take much figuring. Liston is believed by a great many devotees of the desecrated pugilistic arena to be the only man able to produce a champion was Billy

But, to put it mildly, every former heavyweight champion who ever attempted to become a manager in that capacity was a recurring failure.

Practically all of them tried it at one time or another. The results—all—were always the same. Jim Jeffries tried to put it on a production line basis, opening his own training camp, Jim Corbett had high hopes for a fellow named Tom Cowler. This went was knocked down so often he is remembered as "Yo-Yo Tom." Jack Dempsey made a try with a hopeful named Red Burman. His fate, however, or misfortune, is better forgotten. Joe Louis, too, made a couple of shots, all of which wound up in his back.

Of all the outstanding boxers in any division the only one who leaps to mind as a man able to produce a champion was Billy

Rackham Inspected by USGA Officials

DETROIT (UPI)—Officials of the U.S. Golf Association have made their first tour of Rackham golf course, site of the U.S. Public Links tournament in July.

Bob Renner and P. J. Boeswirth of the U.S.G.A. office in New York inspected the course yesterday and made recommendations on placement of the tees, the depth and length of the rough.

The rough will be from three to four inches high. Renner said his group will examine the course again in June during the U.S. Open, which will be played at Oakland Hills near Pontiac.

Delaney, and he goes all the way back to the bare knuckles days. Delaney handled Jeffries and, for a while, Gentleman Jim Corbett.

Two of the greatest ring pilots, Jack (Doc) Kearns and Jimmy Johnston, started out as individual warriors. But, truth be known, their best bouts were impromptu affairs in saloons many a time. Kearns actually did substitute one time for an opponent who didn't show up—and knocked out his own fighter. But the good doctor early discovered that the best way to enjoy boxing was from the other side of the ropes.

The fact of the matter is that champions have two strikes against them when they start swinging a towel.

"They simply aren't equipped for the job at hand," says Nat Fleischer, editor of the Ring magazine.

Titans Go Wild in 25-5 Victory Over Eastern 9

DETROIT (UPI)—The University of Detroit Titans collected 25 hits and 36 walks off a parade of six Huron pitchers yesterday to defeat Eastern Michigan, 25-5.

Detroit pushed across nine runs in the second inning and 11 in the fourth as they sailed to their seventh straight win. It was the fourth loss in as many games for Eastern Michigan.

Glenn Goode with four for five and Fred Bowen with two for four paced the Titan attack. Ron Saunders hit three for three for the Hurons.

Grid Ducats Rise at Michigan State

EAST LANSING (AP)—A 50 cent hike in the price of football tickets this fall, to $4.50 each, has been announced at Michigan State University.

Athletic director Biggie Munn said the decision "was reached reluctantly but was made necessary by the rising costs we see everywhere about us."

Munn said the increase from $4 a ticket was in conformity with the general conference picture. Many of the other Big Ten schools have gone to $5 a ticket, he said.

A season book for the five home games will cost $22.50. Home games this fall are: Oct. 7, Stanford; Oct. 21, Notre Dame; Oct. 28, Indiana; Nov. 18, Northwestern; and Nov. 25, Illinois.

Pete Green Eliminated to End Michigan Hopes

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP)—Charlie Smith, a man with a mission, is three matches away from repeating as North and South Amateur Golf champion.

The trick was done last in 1938-39 by Frank Strafaci of Miami, a second round victim of yesterday's double round that reduced the field to quarterfinal size for today.

Smith survived two 1-up scorchers, winning the 18th hole each time, to move into a meeting today with fellow North Carolinian Bill Harvey of Greensboro.

Dale Morey of Morganton, N.C., and Bill Hyndman of Huntingdon Valley, Pa., met in the other upper bracket match.

Morey won from Ed Turwiler of Charleston, W. Va., and Peter Green of Franklin, Mich., last year's runner-up, 2-up.

Green was the last surviving golfer from Michigan. Two were defeated in the second round.

Before losing to Morey yesterday afternoon, Green, a University of North Carolina student, ousted Ed Brantly, signal mountain, Tenn., 5 and 5.

Second round casualties included Tom Draper of Birmingham, and Glenn Johnson of Grasse Ile.

Draper was beaten by Dr. Ed Updegraff of Tucson, Ariz., 1-up, and Johnson fell to John Guenther of Reading, Pa., 1-up.

Hyndman ousted Bill Davidson of Nashville, Tenn., 1-up in 20 holes, and Jim Pulliam of Columbia, S.C., 5 and 4.

Pontiac Man Fires Ace at Twin Lakes

Euell Smith, veteran Pontiac golfer, has scored the 3rd hole-in-one of his career.

Smith, who lives at 209 Clayburne, used his 8-iron to ace the 113-yard 8th hole at Twin Lakes Golf Club. He carded a two-over-par 74.

It was "Twin Lakes" first ace of the season. Smith was playing with Don Vantine, son of Mrs. Florence O'Toole, Twin Lakes owner.

Non-Support Charge Hits Wes Covington

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Wes Covington, Milwaukee Braves outfielder, was arrested in St. Louis Tuesday on a warrant charging non-support. He was released on $500 bond.

Mrs. Beverly Nicholson of St. Louis in her complaint charged that Covington fathered her three children and has failed to contribute to their support.

TOO MUCH MANTLE — Mickey Mantle's clinching home run in the 10th inning, his second of the game, gave the Yankees a 13-1 win over the Tigers. He is greeted at the dugout by Yogi Berra and manager Ralph Houk (behind Berra). Hector Lopez, who scored ahead of Mantle is at the right.

Auburn Celebrates End of Probation

AUBURN, Ala. (AP)—A loud over with their customers. And "war eagle" went up from Auburn University's football practice field.

It wasn't from spectators but from the players themselves—this athletic war cry of the Tigers.

Head Coach Ralph (Shug) Jordan said, "It's a great relief to us to be off probation."

"I've been asked a great many times which bowl we're going too," he continued. "We hope that one of these days we will justify a bowl invitation."

"We are working real hard during spring practice."

"But to justify a bowl bid—that's too far in the future."

Even so Auburn may come in for some post-season activity in spring sports.

Richard Crane is a standout for Auburn in the shot put and the discus. And it's baseball team is leading the eastern division of the Southeastern Conference.

"Right now we've got the A-Day game," Jordan said. That's the annual spring intra-squad football game.

The students held no organized rally or other outward celebration Wednesday night. "They did all their celebrating in January," a campus spokesman said.

Athletic Director Jeff Beard gave an audible sigh in relief when he heard the news.

"It's wonderful," he said. "It's the end of a long wait for us."

"We're happy to be back in the family again."

Final Meeting Tonight

The final pre-season organizational meeting of the Waterford Township Recreation Department men's softball league will be conducted tonight at 7:30 in the Community Activities Building on Williams Lake Road. All managers and sponsors are urged to attend.

Seaholm, Cranbrook Defend in CMU Relays

A large number of Oakland County track teams will help swell the record field in the Central Michigan Relays that start Friday in Mount Pleasant.

Meet director Al Thomas said today that 3,041 athletes from 185 Michigan high schools have entered the 21-year-old relays.

Friday's competition will be among Class C and D schools. Haskett is the defending champion in Class C and Pickford the defending titlist in Class D.

On Saturday, Class A and Class B schools will vie for the championships won last year by Birmingham Seaholm in Class A and Cranbrook in Class B.

All four champions are returning to defend their crowns.

Waterford is expected to make a strong challenge for Seaholm's crown. The Skippers warmed up for the relays with a dual meet this afternoon against Pontiac Northern at Winsler Field.

Coach Kermit Ambrose's Seaholm thunders have strength in the relays and good team depth for the individual events. This could tip the meet in their favor.

Bob Sweeney is a definite threat in the broad jump. He won this event at the big Mass-field Relays.

Cranbrook has another strong team. Barney Crouse has turned in top performances in the 100 and 220 and Ted Williams is a major threat in the hurdles.

Although he has yet to equal Crouse's 10-second 100, Waterford's Mike Sichel should test the Crane runner. Joe Falk, the Skippers' triple threat in both hurdles and the pole vault, will also pick up important points.

A definite favorite in the mile will be Waterford's Mike Kaines. He can expect strong competition.

Pontiac Central is ending a two-year absence in the relays. The Chiefs cannot be counted out. Coach Dean Wilson has an almost sure winner in the shot put with Bradell Pritchett.

Sophomore John Stewart won the pole vault in the CMU indoor meet this spring. Jim Nelson should do well in the half mile.

Clarkston crushed Milford 77-32 in a dual meet Wednesday. Bill White was a triple winner for the Wolves, capturing first place in the 100 and 220 dashes, the broad jump and running a leg on the triple and Rod Lyons matched Hodler's double for the winners.

Luke Leach rolled 239-686. Kerry Reetz 267-655. Ron Charles 232-667. And Dick Carey 242-661. Morris had a 276 game and Pisaneschi 267.

Mike Bates of Clarkston won the high hurdles and tied teammate Jim Wilson for first in the low hurdles. Bobby Thomas gained a first for Clarkston in the 400 and also ran on the half-mile relay team.

Bloomfield Hills won a triangular meet on its own track. The Barons scored 76 points to 49 1/2 for Clarkstonville and 20 5/8 for Holly. Bloomfield Hills won nine events.

Art Tregenza won both hurdles and tied for first in the high jump. His 22.6 clocking in the low hurdles was a new school record. Pole vaulter Bruce Bishop of Bloomfield Hills set school and field records by clearing 11 feet.

Bill Lawanson of Clarkstonville won the 100 and 220.

Milford rolled over West Bloomfield 73½ to 36½ despite a stand-out performance by Jack Newton of the losers.

Newton won both dashes, placed second in the shot, and anchored the winning 880 relay team. Milford's Ted Nelson set a new field record in the mile with a time of 4:38. The Redskins won 10 events.

Waterford played umbraten in the Inter-Lakes League in baseball by nipping Southfield 7-5 yesterday.

A double by Dick Hodler, Bud Goff's infield hit and a ground out by Gary Hester preceded the clincher in the sixth inning.

Dave Abel hurled the third loop win. The Skippers overcame an early 2-0 deficit with five in the third featuring hit batters and the pole vault, will also pick up important points.

A definite favorite in the mile will be Waterford's Mike Kaines. He can expect strong competition.

Art Tregenza won both hurdles and tied for first in the high jump. His 22.6 clocking in the low hurdles was a new school record. Pole vaulter Bruce Bishop of Bloomfield Hills set school and field records by clearing 11 feet.

Bill Lawanson of Clarkstonville won the 100 and 220.

Milford rolled over West Bloomfield 73½ to 36½ despite a stand-out performance by Jack Newton of the losers.

Newton won both dashes, placed second in the shot, and anchored the winning 880 relay team. Milford's Ted Nelson set a new field record in the mile with a time of 4:38. The Redskins won 10 events.

Waterford played umbraten in the Inter-Lakes League in baseball by nipping Southfield 7-5 yesterday.

A double by Dick Hodler, Bud Goff's infield hit and a ground out by Gary Hester preceded the clincher in the sixth inning.

Dave Abel hurled the third loop win. The Skippers overcame an early 2-0 deficit with five in the third featuring hit batters and the pole vault, will also pick up important points.

A definite favorite in the mile will be Waterford's Mike Kaines. He can expect strong competition.

Pontiac Central is ending a two-year absence in the relays. The Chiefs cannot be counted out. Coach Dean Wilson has an almost sure winner in the shot put with Bradell Pritchett.

Sophomore John Stewart won the pole vault in the CMU indoor meet this spring. Jim Nelson should do well in the half mile.

Clarkston crushed Milford 77-32 in a dual meet Wednesday. Bill White was a triple winner for the Wolves, capturing first place in the 100 and 220 dashes, the broad jump and running a leg on the triple and Rod Lyons matched Hodler's double for the winners.

Mike Bates of Clarkston won the high hurdles and tied teammate Jim Wilson for first in the low hurdles. Bobby Thomas gained a first for Clarkston in the 400 and also ran on the half-mile relay team.

Bloomfield Hills won a triangular meet on its own track. The Barons scored 76 points to 49 1/2 for Clarkstonville and 20 5/8 for Holly. Bloomfield Hills won nine events.

From the Skipper

Last Sunday was the annual spring work party for the Pontiac Yacht Club and the order of the day called for opening the clubhouse, carrying out the dock sections, plumbing, painting and everything else but boating.

In two weeks, however, the PVC sailors will get their lightnings wet with the first afternoon race of the season. That's scheduled for Sunday, May 7th.

The club's Nite Owls series are scheduled to start Wednesday evening May 31st and continue through the annual PVC Invitational Regatta, September 23-24.

PVC has 150 families in membership and 48 boats, which is claimed to be the largest lighting fleet in the U.S.

Dave Barton of Birmingham is secretary and chairman of publicity this year.

Other elected officers include: Fred Prince, commodore; Paul Goode, vice commodore; Leo Wassenaar, rear commodore; Bob Plew, port commodore; Bob Jackson, treasurer; Phil Smith, fleet captain and Burt Bouwkamp, fleet secretary.

Dr. Jim Van Doran of Birmingham prides himself as the club's photographer and the members marvel at his expert photography.

OCBC MAKES REGATTA PLANS

The Oakland County Boat Club at Sylvan Lake is looking ahead to its 45th annual Regatta, July 30th.

This year, the OCBC plans on using only amateur boat racers instead of the pros as in the past. This means there will be no money, but there will be trophies involved in the race this year.

Currently, the OCBC membership has reached 212 members, with 250 set as the limit.

A new innovation for the boat club members the past month have been the Friday night fish fry dinners.

Kensington Boat Facilities Expanded

Kenneth L. Hallenbeck, director of the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, announced that boating facilities at Kensington Metropolitan Park have been expanded. New facilities include the opening of a 510,000-sq-ft boat building and expansion of the park's West boat launching site, both located at the 1,200-acre Kent Lake in the park.

All boating facilities will begin operations on Saturday, April 29.

The new structure will provide boat rental service and slip rentals for private craft, including sailboats. Over 120 twelve-foot aluminum row boats are available for rent, but no motors are rented. However, individuals may provide their own motors, but limited to 7½ horsepower for use on boats rented from Kensington Park. Rental charges are 75 cents per hour, with a minimum charge of $1.50. Maximum charges are $2.50 Monday through Saturday; $4.50 on Sunday and holidays.

The modern building has food service, restrooms, observation deck on the roof, and a public telephone. Improvements include increased parking space for cars and landscaping at the site overlooking Kent Lake, popular with many fishing and boating enthusiasts.

The West boat launching site, located near the park's new golf course adjacent to the West entrance along the Grand River Expressway (U.S. 16), has been extended from 65 to 120 feet in width to permit from 6 to 8 launchings at one time. Space is provided for 125 cars and trailers.

Kensington Park also has an East boat launching site with spaces for up to 60 cars and trailers, plus additional parking space for cars. It provides up to six simultaneous launchings and the site is located near the park's East entrance along the Grand River Expressway (U.S. 16).

Launching is permitted from sunrise to sunset at both sites, located at different ends of Kent Lake. Boaters must obtain a permit, issued without charge and good for the calendar year, prior to launching their craft. These are available on weekends at the launching sites or at the park office during the week. Trailers, cars and boats are not permitted to remain in Kensington Park overnight, except for boats in rental slips.

Slip rental spaces for private craft, including sailboats, are maintained at the Boat Rental Building and at the East boat launching site. Depending upon size of spaces, rental fees per season are $15 or $20 from April through October.

This is an 8-mile per hour speed limit enforced on Kent Lake. In compliance with state and national water safety regulations, boat registration numbers must be plainly marked on all craft. Coast Guard approved buoyant cushions or life jackets are required by law on all boats with motors, but not on row boats.

No water skiing is permitted on Kent Lake and the park does not supply gasoline, fishing tackle or bait.

Sure, Compact Cars Can Tow Boat Trailers

FOND DU LAC, Wis. — Can small cars tow boat trailers? The answer is yes, according to an outboard firm in Fond du Lac.

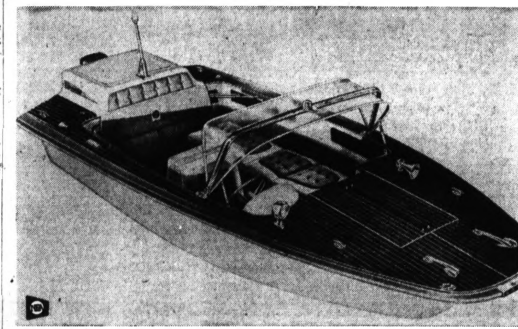

Even very small cars, in the 30-40 horsepower range, should be able to handle light fishing and utility rigs easily, according to engineers. Cars in the 50-60-h.p. category can tow medium-size runabouts. Compact cars of 80 h.p. and more can handle almost anything but the heaviest of cruisers.

The English, long familiar with small cars, have a useful rule for determining a safe trailer weight.

Canoes Race August 19

OSCODA (UPI)—The date of the 15th annual "world championship" canoe marathon race here has been changed from the labor day weekend to Aug. 19 to coincide with the Mar. 19th canoe race. Avoid conflict with other canoe races.

Boats Will Come in One Package Now

BY WM. TAYLOR MCKEIN

Editor, Popular Boating

(Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Now you can go to a boat dealer and buy outboard motor, hull and trailer already matched together into one package by one manufacturer.

No customer selecting a new car would expect to buy the body one place, motor from a different builder and have tires and instruments shipped in. Yet that has been the case for the small boat buyer.

A runabout builder did not make an outboard motor designed for his hull. The engine manufacturer turned out a many-horse-powered unit and then had to hope a boatman would buy the suitable hull to go with it.

Now the marine division of the McCulloch Corporation, makers of Scott outboard motors, have gone into the outboard boat business.

They're starting with a 17-foot fiberglass craft to fit their 75 h.p. motor, and a trailer suitable for the rig is in production.

The result is that for the first time a boatman can buy a high-powered outboard boat-motor-trailer combination that has been factory designed, assembled and matched to deliver top performance.

This is important. Take a good boat and outboard but clamp the motor improperly and you may find you have lost miles an hour. Up to 20 horsepower can be wasted in this way, according to Scott-McCulloch figures. If, in addition, you make a mistake when you install your own steering, you can be in real trouble.

Years ago one of the motor companies tried supplying outboard boats as well as power plants, but found then they might have to get into many different models, run into high shipping costs, and their public wasn't ready.

Scott is starting with a single fast cruiser which it feels should have wide appeal for the average boatman.

To the popular 17-foot size they set about to add the most-wanted refinements. Built in for the first time as standard equipment are a convertible top that folds out of sight, windshield that tilts up to allow easy access to the forward deck, where an ingenious hatch opens and a built-in boarding ladder unfolds out over the bow of the boat.

Speedometer, tachometer, fuel gauges, light switches, sport car type shift, built-in gas tanks, water ski lockers, spotlight and lifting rings are installed. Seats conform to full length bunks. The $2,800 price includes the motor, hull and trailer.

Other big outboard motor companies announced they are going to start boat building.

It looks like the marine industry is about to help boat dealers get out of the assembly line business.

Boatmen Should Consider Safety of All Passengers

Concern for the safety of commuters should be uppermost in the mind of any boatman at all times.

Carelessness has no place in recreational boating. Common sense will override carelessness of any experienced boatman and the novice will do well by being overly cautious until he gains the knowledge that comes only with experience.

Only carelessness or lack of knowledge allows a boatman to operate his craft without providing proper life preservers for his companions and himself; without proper safety devices according to the size of the boat. The first safety precaution to observe is to take stock of your boat. If it has metal trim strips make sure the trim has not lifted leaving sharp edges which might cause a nasty gash.

Make sure your mooring hardware is mounted so that it does not interfere with persons boarding or leaving the boat.

If the cockpit floor is slick, it may be a booby trap for injury.

Your steering hardware, pulleys and cables should be periodically checked so that you run no risk of suddenly losing steering control when under way.

Small outboards should be certain the anchor is stowed in a spot where rough water will not cause it to become dislodged and injure some passenger.

Stow your gear neatly so there is no possibility of boat passengers becoming entangled in it either while boarding or when under way.

SPRING TIME—Spring means boating time and lakes such as in Oakland County offer pleasure for boaters, whether they choose the sailboat, mode of transportation for centuries, or a modern outboard for cruising in the sun.

Be Sure of Trouble-Free Boating This Summer

Give Motor a Spring Maintenance Check

A veteran outboarder undoubtedly has a regular routine of spring checking his outboard motor. A novice outboarder who now owns his first motor needs to be reminded of a few simple recommendations that can add up to many hours of trouble-free boating when the season rolls around.

The outboard owner who stores his rig with a marine dealer will likely have the motor all set to go when he takes it out of storage.

However, the vast majority of outboard owners either just pull the motor off the boat each fall or else leave it hanging on the transom. That being the case, it should be given a maintenance check before getting out on the water this year.

As a reminder for the salt and a guide for the newcomer in outboarding, Bill Senale, division engineer at Evinrude Motors, offers a set of basic recommendations for spring checking the outboard.

The fuel and ignition systems, along with gear lubrication and propeller are the basic things to check on the motor.

Start with the ignition system. First thing to check is the spark plugs. If they have many hours of running time on them, the simplest and safest thing is replacement.

If the plugs are almost new, clean off the carbon and reset the gap. The gap should be set at 0.013 inches. Spark plug conductors may corrode, especially if the rig is used in salt water. Cracked or worn rubber insulators should be replaced.

Next comes the fuel system. Remove the carburetor sediment bowl, which protects the carburetor from any gummy deposits that might be present in fuel, and clean both filter and bowl in neutral spirits or clean gasoline.

If the plugs are almost new, clean off the carbon and reset the gap. The gap should be set at 0.013 inches. Spark plug conductors may corrode, especially if the rig is used in salt water. Cracked or worn rubber insulators should be replaced.

Another check point is the throttle linkage. All moving parts between the throttle, carburetor and magneto should be lubricated and badly worn linkage should be replaced.

The gear shift lever and lock-out and the swivel bracket fittings should be lubricated. Fill with grease and keep lubricated all year.

If the gasoline tanks were partially filled when the motor was used for the last time, there is a possibility gum deposits may have formed in the tank. To be sure of getting all this out, remove the filler-cap casting and mechanism and scrub the gum loose with acetone or lacquer thinner.

Check to see that the fuel intake strainer is not clogged. A badly gummed tank can best be cleaned by a qualified dealer.

A thorough inspection of the lower unit should be made. Small adds. Drain the oil from the gear housing and refill with the proper lubricant. Remove the propeller and clean and lubricate the shaft. If the drive pin is worn, replace it.

Also check the prop itself. A damaged propeller can be a source of engine malfunction and if it looks bent or badly nicked, take it to a qualified dealer and have it repaired, or if it is badly damaged, have it replaced.

Check to see that the fuel intake strainer is not clogged. A badly gummed tank can best be cleaned by a qualified dealer.

If there is occasion to take the motor to a dealer, have him check the carburetor settings and check the motor's cable and condenser to see that they are functioning properly.

On all electric start models, check the battery cables for corrosion or cracking. It's wise to start the season with a fully charged battery.

If you have a remote control operated motor, remove the outer plate from the remote control box head and lubricate the entire head with waterproof grease. While at it, check to see that the steering cables are tight and not excessively worn.

Finally, give the motor a thorough visual check for loose screws or damaged parts. Pull the motor over slowly to determine that the powerhead is unobstructed. Then, with the motor in the water, start to run at half throttle and observe for coolant pump operation by checking for discharge of water from the water outlet.

Tag All Equipment

Loss-Proof Your Boat

Life preservers, water skis, boat hooks, fenders, food containers and fishing equipment are often lost by boaters. The reason is simply that people handle them so much. Mercury outboard authorities offer some ways of keeping track of these items.

A definite place for everything normally carried aboard will cut down lost items, because a quick look around in the boat before leaving will reveal any empty spaces and warn that something has been left behind or misplaced.

Locate each piece near the point of anticipated use, both to make it readily accessible when needed and easy to spot when checking. And make it a rule — "Put it back!"

Hooks and racks for fenders, fishing rods, and life jackets kept in accustomed, convenient places and will help to minimize wear and tear. A row of hooks under the foredeck, for example, will keep life jackets out of the way, safe from damage while still dry and easily grabbed in emergencies.

Compartment boxes for thermos bottles, utensils and stove items, and holders for anchors and fire extinguishers are equally helpful.

Have a rubber stamp made with your name, address and boat registration number, and use it to mark articles with smooth surfaces like fire extinguishers and skis. A stencil with your name or registration number can be used to mark cushions, life jackets, fenders and other items. Use of the registration number will help strangers to identify the boat to which lost gear belongs.

It is a good idea to buy children's life jackets in different colors, assigning one to each child. This should help them to keep track of their own gear. Name labels sewn onto the jackets will increase their chances of being returned if lost from the boat.

When buying small items such as jack knives, flashlights, and key rings, give preference to those which will float if dropped overboard.

U.S. Cup Boat to Sail Anew

Columbia Will Defend Title Against Aussies With New Owner

NEW YORK (AP)—The Columbia, which successfully defended the America's Cup against the British Scylla in 1958, will try to qualify to defend it again against the challenge of Australia in 1962, but under different ownership.

The 12-meter class yacht was purchased Tuesday by Paul V. Shishko, an investment banker of Larchmont, N. Y., from the syndicate which built it for the 1958 event. The price was not disclosed.

It will be skippered by Cornelius Shields Jr., 27-year-old owner of the new owner who expects to have the craft ready to sail about a month.

The younger Shields is no novice at yachting, having won the international class competition two years in a row, the 1-10 championship in 1953, and the Long Island sailing championship last year.

The Columbia was built at the Nevins Shipyard on City Island in 1958 by a syndicate composed of Henry Sears, Briggs Cunningham, Gerald S. Lambert, James A. Farrell, Howard Fuller and William T. Moore. Cunningham was the skipper.

Paris Still Paris (on Surface) to Tourists

(Editors Note—Harry Reutlinger, senior Chicago journalist for 40 years, and now based in Paris, is the author of the "Paris on the Surface" series in the Chicago Press Club.)

By HARRY REUTLINGER
(As Told to UPI)

PARIS—I don't think that in the United States—with a threat of a parachute invasion and thousands of gun-toting policemen on the streets with shoot-to-kill orders—we would carry on business as usual.

But it was just that in Paris Sunday and Monday.

The calm and lack of excitement was such that my wife and I walked around Paris almost all day Sunday without realizing anything out of the way was happening.

We walked down the Avenue de l'Opera. A police wagon drove past us filled with prisoners but our only reaction was that my wife remarked facetiously, "The kiddies must be tight at an early hour today."

A tank rumbled past. Then another, then another. We agreed it must be a patriotic holiday of some kind and that this was part of a display of France's military strength.

PEOPLE KNEW

The people of Paris knew what was going on, of course. We saw them reading headlines a yard high but we didn't know what the headlines said and thought nothing unusual about the clusters of people about the newstands.

The bistros, restaurants and theaters were filled. On the Champs Elysees people were lined up to see a Marilyn Monroe movie and there were people buying lottery tickets from kiosks.

It wasn't until we got back to our hotel Sunday evening that we discovered something was up. Then our head porter, an elderly man, told us facetiously.

AIRPORT CLOSED

"You may not be leaving France tomorrow. The airport is closed."

That was all he said. Finally we contacted a French friend who told us what had happened. He said he had heard President de Gaulle's radio speech and added, almost in a whisper:

"Parachutists may land tonight. It looks like civil war."

But there was no invasion that night, and the next morning life in Paris seemed as usual. Now that we knew the state of affairs, we did sense the undercurrent of excitement. But on the surface it

Nonsmudge Ink to Make Papers Neater to Handle

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) came up with some good news for newspaper readers Wednesday—no more dirty fingers.

Charles H. Tingley, managing editor of the ANPA Research Institute, told the association's 75th annual convention of U.S. and Canadian publishing executives that a new water-based ink will be virtually smudgeproof.

"The tendency of newspaper ink to rub off on hands and clothing is almost eliminated by water-based ink," Tingley informed the more than 1,300 convention delegates.

The projects committee of the ANPA approved in 1959 a research project to find a substitute for smudgey oil-based ink the plague of fastidious newspaper readers.

A water-based ink was developed at the ANPA's Eastern Research center and field-tested by the Allentown (Pa.) Call-Chronicle.

might have been any Monday morning in Paris in the spring. Up in Montmartre the artists were painting away like mad. At our hotel the desk clerk told us, "If you have Air France flight 806, the first flight out of Paris since you can leave Paris."

We did have 806. We drove to a deserted Orly airport and got on Paris.

The last time I saw Paris it was awaiting invasion. But it was still Paris.

12 More Brazil Officers Arrested for Statements

RIO DE JANEIRO—Twelve more Brazilian army officers have been placed under two-day house arrest for making political comments although they praised President Janio Quadros' foreign policy.

This brought to 15 the number of army officers disciplined in Quadros' campaign to make military men keep out of politics.

Oxygen is about 16 times as heavy as hydrogen.

JACKSON BUS FARE UP

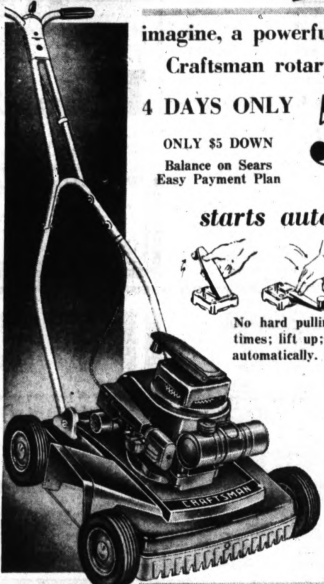

JACKSON—The Jackson City Commission has approved a five-cent fare hike for the city's bus system, operated by the National City Lines. The fare increase, effective Monday, is from 25 to 25 cents.

Strong Federal Code of Ethics Outlined by JFK

He Asks Stiffer Laws on Use of Government Posts for Private Gain

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy announced a rigid new code of ethics for administration officials today and asked Congress to stiffen laws against improper use of federal posts for private gain.

In a special message on conflicts of interest, Kennedy also proposed outlawing private appearances to federal regulatory agencies in cases which must be decided through formal hearings.

The latter provision would apply to members of Congress, if administration officials have their way. It is doubtful that they will, since many lawmakers insist it is proper for them to talk to agencies about cases involving their constituents.

The recommended ban on "ex parte" contacts with agency officials, was an echo of congressional hearings which were highlighted in 1958 by the resignation of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams.

Kennedy named no one in Republican or Democratic administrations, but he said that "in the past two decades, incidents have occurred to remind us that changes are needed in laws and regulations covering government employees."

The President made a point of demanding that administration leaders set personal examples of conduct "above reproach." He promised to help by such means as applying standards for property holdings and acceptance of gifts by presidential appointees.

"No president can excuse or pardon the slightest deviation from appropriate standards of behavior on the part of any member of the executive branch," Kennedy said.

A bill being drafted by the administration would carry a possible fine of $10,000 or a year's imprisonment, or both, for violating proposed bans against:

- A regular government employee accepting outside pay for any transaction involving the government or taking part in any federal business in which he has a financial stake without permission from his agency head.

—Ever "switching sides" from the government to a private party in a case upon which an official has worked, thus pinpointing and making permanent what is now a vague two-year prohibition.

ICC OKs Abandoning of RR Track in State

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized the New York Central Railroad to abandon 30 miles of branch line in Southeast Michigan, described by the railroad as unprofitable.

An important meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, May 7, at the girls' gymnasium, when there will be initial tryouts for potential narrators and principal factors.

American Moon Will Report on Space Radiation

95-Pound Satellite Only Vaguely Tied to Plan to Launch Astronaut

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A complex "space telescope" was fired into orbit today to explore radiation mysteries of the universe.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States launched a "space telescope" satellite today to study radiation mysteries of the universe, and an official reported within an hour that "everything looks good."

A 76-foot Juno II rocket sped away from this test center at 9:17 a.m. EST with a 95-pound satellite in its nose.

All four stages fired as planned and hurled the payload into space.

One hour after launch, the federal space agency announced in Washington that signals from the satellite vehicle had been picked up by a listening post in Australia, indicating the object apparently was in orbit.

The test was only indirectly related to the man-in-space program which suffered a serious setback Tuesday.

WANDERED OFF COURSE
In that trial, rocket failed cut short an attempt to put into orbit and bring back to earth just such a satellite.

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (U)—Cloudy weather today forced indefinite postponement of an attempt to launch a Mercury space capsule in the last test of the emergency escape system before a man trusts his life to it.

A space capsule as a Mercury astronaut will ride. The Atlas booster wandered off course and was intentionally destroyed.

Today's satellite—to be called Explorer XII—was planned to give United States scientists the world's first astronomical observation in space.

The specific assignment is to measure Gamma rays.

High-energy Gamma rays stream out from cosmic sources such as the Milky Way and other star clusters. They are associated with nuclear activity and scientists believe they may be the keys to information about the elements making up the universe.

Explorer XII is shaped roughly like a telescope but is not like the familiar telescopes through which man looks at the stars.

UAW Bargaining Goals Convention Opens Today

DETROIT (U)—Walter F. Reuther, legislative director of the United Auto Workers, declared today the United States and Canada should begin now by holding economic and legislative action to solve their problems of unemployment.

Eugene Hoffman of Detroit, chairman of the group, circulated among fellow delegates a statement declaring, "gimmicks and promises will never solve any auto workers' problems."

The 3,000 delegates attending the convention are for the most part those who approved Reuther's policies at the union's regular convention in 1959 and elected him to an eighth term.

In a message to the UAW's 1.1 million members earlier this month, Reuther said, "we shall insist that management explore with us means to put an end to the obsolete, economically unsound, morally intolerable and intolerable hourly-wage system from which so much of our members' insecurity stems."

"This system, born in the social jungle of the first industrial revolution, has no place in the last half of the Twentieth century. It reflects a moral double standard which we are determined to end."

The UAW will open negotiations July 1 on new contracts with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler. The present three-year contracts expire Aug. 31.

The convention was scheduled to hear committee reports on collective bargaining along this afternoon and swing into debate Friday.

A minority group among the delegates service notes on collective bargaining along this afternoon and swing into debate Friday.

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Three senior members of St. Joseph College's NCAA third-place basketball team and one player from LaSalle College are involved in the 1960-61 basketball gambling scandal, college authorities said today.

The delegates tonight will celebrate the 28th anniversary of the UAW's first convention as an autonomous international union in South Bend, Ind.

Speakers at the anniversary dinner will include Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., and Rev. Martin Luther King of Atlanta, Ga., Negro civil rights leader.

A message from President Kennedy will be read at the dinner. In a speech to the UAW convention two years ago, Kennedy, then an aspirant for the Democratic presidential nomination, called the UAW "a basic bulwark of the liberal progressive movement in this country."

Flashes

MIAMI (UPI)—The top field commander of last week's abortive invasion of Cuba, Brigadier San Roman, has been captured, Havana radio reported today.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (U)—Five survivors of the ill-fated invasion of Cuba reached U.S. shores today and the federal government immediately raised a wall of secrecy. Whether the secrecy would be removed later was not immediately known.

PHILADELPHIA (U)—Three senior members of St. Joseph College's NCAA third-place basketball team and one player from LaSalle College are involved in the 1960-61 basketball gambling scandal, college authorities said today.

Laotians Asking Cease-Fire Date

Westerners Fear Early Collapse of Royal Army Resistance to Rebels

By The Associated Press
The Laotian government today proposed a cease fire on Monday as fears rose among some Westerners in Laos that resistance to pro-Communist rebel attacks was nearing collapse.

The call for a cease fire was broadcast by radio and given to the Russians for relay to the Pathet Lao rebels, but there was no indication of any quick agreement from the rebel side.

Western sources in Vientiane, the administrative capital of Laos, said there was no report of major fighting since the rebels captured captured Muang, a trading village 50 miles south of Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

But these informed quarters referred to the dropping morale of royal army soldiers, battered by the Communist-supplied Pathet Lao in the weeks of political maneuvering for a truce.

Whether the new sliver of arms to royal troops, launched Wednesday by the U.S. Air Force, could stem the tide was a question.

But Washington declared the flow of arms will continue until a cease fire is reached.

In New Delhi, the three-power commission to supervise truce haggled over the same issues that wrecked the commission in 1959—freedom of movement in rebel territory. Members are Canada, Communist Poland and China.

The Canadians said the key to the dispute is the mobility of the troops. The U.S. opposes this as they did in 1959.

Roundup of 1,000 Begins for Centennial Spectacle

By PETE LOCHBILER
The Centennial spectacle was taking shape today as 42 organizations began rounding up more than 1,000 persons for roles in the June 19-24 extravaganza in Wisner Stadium.

Another 23 Pontiac area groups volunteered to provide talent if more is needed to put "The Pontiac Story" over as the highlight of the June 19-24 Centennial observance.

More than 200 representatives from a wide variety of social, church, civic, business and educational organizations clamored for volunteer jobs as the spec-talent hunt was kicked off at Eds Temple last night.

A majority of more than the projected 1,000 roles should be filled by the time spectacle rehearsals begin next week, Miller predicted.

Only a handful of individual actors and narrators are needed for the show, but lots of dancers and square dancers and hundreds of persons are needed for mass scenes from Pontiac's history.

All the roles will be filled locally.

Miller explained, as he outlined for the first time the scope of the 30-minute pageant.

Other central leaders appearing briefly during the two-hour kickoff were Stuart E. Whitfield, general chairman; Robert W. Euselek, chairman of the Spectacle Division; Mrs. John B. Nicolls, chairman of the division's casting committee; and Leo Spaeth, general manager.

The John B. Rogers Producing Co. plans to provide all the period costumes, special field lighting and public address systems for "The Pontiac Story," Miller said. He described the show this way:

"Played 'in the round' with no stage other than a central revolving turntable, the action will be spotlighted from one part of the field to another like a three-ring circus, with climaxes dominating the entire stadium."

Spectacular effects such as the explosion of a mock atom bomb and the launching of a guided missile will be interspersed with tableaux depicting such historic moments as the Indian rebellion under Chief Pontiac, the settlement of Pontiac by early pioneers and the election of Pontiac's first mayor in 1861.

HISTORICAL EVENTS
Later scenes will dramatize important events from Pontiac's 100 years as a city.

An accent on transportation will involve everything on wheels, from covered wagons to the city's latest automotive products.

The first rehearsal will be in the girls' gymnasium at Pontiac Central High School. The schedule for next week:

Tuesday at 7 p.m., Indian scene; 8:30 p.m., firing squad. Wednesday at 8:30 p.m., large dance group (high school and older junior high school girls); 9:30 p.m., pioneer scene (square dancers).

Thursday at 7 p.m., principal dancers (experienced); 8:30 p.m., Gay Nineties scene. Friday at 3:30 p.m., large dance group (high school and older junior high school girls); 7 p.m., Civil war and old-fashioned scenes; 8:30 p.m., early church and early settler scenes.

An important meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday, May 7, at the girls' gymnasium, when there will be initial tryouts for potential narrators and principal factors.

Trustees Approve Seven for Positions at MSUO

Seven appointments at Michigan State University Oakland were approved today by Michigan State University trustees at their monthly meeting in East Lansing.

Appointed to the university faculty were Dr. James C. Haden, assistant professor of philosophy at Yale University; and Sol Schwartz of the University of Michigan psychology department. Czetong Song, a researcher with the Association for Asian Studies, Inc., University of Michigan, was named assistant librarian.

Two members of the MSUO faculty, currently serving as assistants to the dean of faculty, were named associate deans, as was Dr. Kenneth Reese, recently appointed to head MSUO's division of business administration.

Dr. George Matthews, professor of history, becomes associate dean for humanities; Dr. James McKay, associate professor of mathematics, becomes associate dean for science.

Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, director of continuing education, was named associate dean for continuing education.

COMING FROM OBERLIN
Rose, 41, who will come to MSUO July 1 from Oberlin College, will be associate dean for social science.

Haden, 39, a Kansas, received his doctor of philosophy and master of science degrees from Yale and did his undergraduate work at Haverford College.

He previously taught at the University of South Carolina and at the University of Virginia. He is the author of numerous scholarly articles.

At MSUO, Haden will be an associate professor of philosophy. Schwartz, 36, holder of a master of arts and bachelor of science degrees from City College of New York is now a teaching fellow in psychology at U. of M.

He will be assistant professor of psychology at MSUO. Schwartz, New Yorker, has done considerable research in his field, including work on a joint project in schizophrenia conducted by the Ypsilanti State Hospital and (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

40-to 55-Degree Weather To Hold Through Friday

Little change in temperature is forecast Friday for the Pontiac area. Tonight's low will again be in the 40s and tomorrow's high will shoot up to 55.

The weatherman says Saturday will be partly cloudy and a little cooler with a chance of rain again Sunday.

Morning southerly winds at 10 miles per hour will become southerly and increase to 15 to 20 m.p.h. late this afternoon and become variable at 8 to 15 m.p.h. tonight.

Forty-one was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 1 p.m. was 51.

Expecting music, horses bobbing up and down when looking for a "mercy-go-round." The ones at Pontiac Motor have neither—they're merely circular conveyors.

A "dog man" isn't a cool cat, doesn't ring a bell. He's a metal finisher.

You might hear shouts about a "back" starting. Don't look for what you'd expect. The much referred to is a tractor which probably stalled.

"Trams" are useful items, but rides are available on them. They're machines which adjust the front wheel alignment of the new Pontiacs and Tempests.

"Horse collars" have nothing to do with horses. They're used to hold a "backlash," of course.

The most important thing, however, is that usage of the special slang results in improved communication among the men who build the cars.

As a matter of fact, some of these terms, exclusive to the assembly line at one time, have been picked up by the public and become part of its everyday speech—terms such as "glove box" and "crash pad."

But don't assume too much if you overhear production workers talking.

The "regulator" they speak of, for example, doesn't regulate the flow of electrical current. It's the device to raise and lower car windows.

And "insulators" aren't necessarily used to control temperature. More likely they're affecting heat as they did in 1959.

OPENED TODAY — Demery's $3 million department store in Birmingham opened for business today following a brief 9:30 a. m. ceremony. Charles A. Peck, president and general manager of Demery's Inc., and John W. Butler, executive vice president, were on hand to meet the first customers. The two-story building at Woodward Avenue and Hamilton Street was in the construction stage 11 months. The store has three levels. Included in the building is a trading stamp redemption center, candy counter, beauty salon and a community room.

Dispute Stalls Lassiter Trial

Parade of Witnesses Halted by Battle Over Photos of Body

DETROIT (P) — Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid ruled that five close-up photographs of the battered and bullet-pierced body of Parvin Lassiter could be admitted as evidence today in the murder and murder-conspiracy trial of Mrs. Nelle Lassiter and Gordon Watson.

The pictures were taken by Roy Watson, state police detective who was one of the first officers at the spot where the body of car dealer Parvin (Bill) Lassiter was found in a water-filled ditch near Willow Run Airport April 8, 1959.

Mrs. Lassiter, 28, blonde ex-model of 1960 Beverly Road, Beverly Hills, is accused with Watson, 45, of engineering the slaying out of "greed and lust." She covered her eyes with a black-gloved hand when the pictures were passed around. Watson, her husband's business partner, impassively looked at them.

Budget Estimates Appear Close

Say Taxes Enough for Schools

By DICK SAUNDERS
Pontiac School District administrators and board members today expressed the belief that their 1961-62 operating budget estimates will be supported at the current school tax rate.

May Ax 2 Units of French Legion

From Our News Wire

ALGERIES — Two tough Foreign Legion regiments that supported the short-lived generals' revolt in Algeria may be disbanded, a French government spokesman said today.

The spokesman said "it is possible" the regiments would be disbanded as part of the government crackdown on all civilians and military men who followed Gen. Maurice Challe in his four-day mutiny.

Police and soldiers' overnight curfew rounded up 5,000 army hidden by civilians. The sweep prompted long lines of civilians to turn in their arms at police stations today.

A nationalist terrorist tried to hand a grenade into a restaurant and was not far from the cash register when he was shot.

The government spokesman said all French regiments in Algeria—including the two Foreign Legion units that participated in the abortive coup—are now taking orders from the government of President Charles de Gaulle.

The three other retired generals who joined Challe in leading the coup—Raoul Salan, Andre Zeller, and Edmond Jouhaud—were still fugitives, but the spokesman said the government had a rough idea of their whereabouts. He refused to be specific, however.

In Paris, police sources reported that a vast plot in metropolitan France that was to have added the abortive military revolt in Algeria has been uncovered in a nationwide roundup.

The five top to be cleared by Congress, the $384 million, depressed areas bill, was passed by the House Wednesday and sent to the White House. Kennedy is expected to sign it today.

Another major item on the list, minimum wage legislation, virtually was wrapped up in final form Wednesday by Senate-Senate conferees. Full agreement is to be reached on Monday, with floor votes coming up later next week.

A bitter fight is expected in the House, since the compromise bill will be close to the Senate version.

President Calls In Security Council for Crisis Talks

From Our News Wire

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy met with his national Security Council today for the second crisis session in less than a week.

It was considered likely the President and his top advisers would discuss new policies and plans for coping with the Cuban situation.

The morning meeting was held before Kennedy flew to New York this afternoon on his last speaking trip since his inauguration.

Tonight he addresses a New York dinner given by the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, and Friday flies to Chicago to address a Cook County Democratic dinner.

Dam Bursts on Homes
MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (UPI) — A dam burst here early today, releasing torrents of lake water which swept four homes from their foundations and flooding many others. Three persons were injured and damage was heavy.

The school board had indicated earlier that it would cut services rather than ask for any tax increase this year if income was less than needed to finance the budget.

The school district will need $9,300,462 in the coming school year to maintain the levels of educational programs and services established in the current school year.

"It looks as if we hit the nail on the head with our estimates," said Dr. Otto F. Hufziger, assistant superintendent.

"At least we will come very close to our estimated income," he said.

Others agreed that the 4.2 per cent increase in county equalized valuation over last year's state equalized valuation was "very encouraging."

The increase was announced yesterday by the equalization committee of the county board of supervisors.

The school district's operating budget hinged on the equalization factor. Administrators said it could be financed with no tax rate increase or cutbacks, if state equalized valuation in the school district went up about $2 million.

It is currently $383,776,388. The school district would need a tax base of $385-million to finance next year's operating budget.

Supervisors do not expect the state to alter the county equalized figure.

The county equalized valuation for the City of Pontiac, which accounts for 30 per cent of the school district's income, has been set at $354,142,112, about $1,559,524 over the 1960 state equalized valuation.

Thus, if the county figure stands up, the schools already have $1.5-million of the needed $2 million increase.

"It appears that our estimates were quite accurate," said Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent, at a board meeting held at 4 p.m. today.

"We should break about even judging from the county's figures."

The board had repeatedly expressed its desire to hold the tax line due to current business and economic conditions.

In 1960, the state equalized valuation of school district property lying outside Pontiac was $30,693,750.

This was the school district's portion of a total $37,726,154 of state equalized valuation for all townships and one city in which the school district operates.

BUDGET NEEDS
The same area totals $32,338,462 in county equalized valuation this year, from which the schools will need about $30,857,888 to meet budget needs.

Last year the school district's cut amounted to slightly under 5 per cent of the total valuation in areas bordering the city.

If that percentage remains the same for 1961-62, the school tax will remain the same and could even be lowered and still meet the demand.

Pilgrim Church Group Seeks to Join National

BIRMINGHAM — The newly formed Pilgrim Congregational Church of Birmingham will seek admission in the National Association of Congregational Christian Churches at the association's meeting in Milwaukee, Wis., Monday.

The church will be presented at the meeting by James Isham of 1230 Harrow Circle and Howard C. Tuttle of 1801 Mansfield Road.

The two men will present the church's plans which call for a permanent minister and acquisition of a church site in the Birmingham vicinity.

Sunday services are currently held at the Community House.

Application for membership in the national association has been planned for several weeks while proposed articles of association and bylaws were drafted.

These documents were accepted by church members at the recent meeting at which time Isham was elected church moderator.

Verifies Gary Cooper Gravely Ill of Cancer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Gary Cooper's physician has confirmed reports that the veteran film star is gravely ill of cancer.

Although his condition is worsening, Cooper continues to work vigorously and is unafraid," Dr. Rexford Kennamer said Wednesday in the first medical report on the actor's illness.

A family spokesman said Cooper has been encouraged by good messages, including one from Queen Elizabeth II of England. Cooper, 59, is in bed at his home.

Gas for Gas, Then He Fails to Find Truck

TUCSON, Ariz. (U)—Two sheriffs' deputies have decided Arizona still is a land of wide open spaces. Eduardo L. Lomo of Nogales was driving his truck across the desert when he ran out of gas—again and this time drew a map.

He wanted to town, picked up some extra gas but couldn't find the truck again in the desolate terrain.

Deputy Randy Rendon spotted the truck while flying over the area. However, when he and Deputy Ken Sturgeon attempted to drive to the location, they couldn't find the vehicle, either.

Rendon went up in the plane again and this time drew a map.

Does It the Hard Way

TINLEY PARK, Ill. (UPI)—Tony Bettenhausen became the first U.S. Automobile Club national champion (1956) to gain his title without winning a single race during the season.

Army Comes Up With an Almost Instant Bread

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Army has come up with a preparation which could be described as almost instant near-bread.

Designed primarily for battlefield kitchens, the mixture can be prepared and baked in 45 minutes. It contains flour, shortening, a bit of sugar and a chemical yeast substitute called delta-lactone.

But after the Army got together the bread-appearing concoction it ran into the problem of making it taste like something hot out of mother's oven.

Quartermaster authorities called in the firm of Arthur Little, Inc., of Cambridge, Mass., and San Francisco, and the food technology department of the University of California at Davis.

Little's researchers came up with an additive including cottonseed meal and glucose, which give the Army's mixture a homey flavor.

Witness Returns to 'Delend' Accused Man

LAKE GENEVA, Wis. (U)—Home is where a man's bedroom is. That's the official word from the Wisconsin Department of Taxation.

The line dividing the town of Linn and the City of Lake Geneva passes through the home of Curtis McKay. Both communities claimed they were due the local refund on state taxes paid by McKay.

The department agreed with the city, noting that McKay's bedroom was in Lake Geneva. As a result, the city received a check for $10,000, representing income tax returns for three years.

Joseph Kennedy on Jewish Woe:

'Outlook in 1938 Very Bad,' Testimony Says He Reported

JERUSALEM (AP) — Joseph P. Kennedy, father of President Kennedy, reported in 1938 that the outlook for the Jews in Germany was "very bad," evidence introduced today in the trial of Adolf Eichmann showed.

Kennedy was the American ambassador to Great Britain at the time, Kennedy cabled to the State Department on Dec. 8, 1938, Asst. Atty. Gen. Ya'akov Bar'or told the judges it was obtained from the National Archives in Alexandria, Va.

Kennedy relayed a report, received from the French foreign office, of a conversation between Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and French Ambassador Henri Bonnet.

"The results were very bad," Kennedy cabled Washington. Kennedy's message also referred to "financial arrangements" and "our plans with the British."

Bar'or said Kennedy's cable was about "the refugees from Germany, ways of helping them and easing their situation."

HIS MESSAGE:

Kennedy's message said in part:

"Ribbentrop, when pressed, told Bonnet that the Jews in Germany, without exception, were pickpockets, murderers and thieves. The property they possessed had been acquired illegally. The German government therefore decided to assimilate them with criminal elements. They would be forced to report to police as other criminals were obliged to do. They would be under police observation like other criminals."

"The German government could not help it if some of the criminals escaped to other countries which seemed so anxious to have them. It was not, however, willing for them to take their property, which had resulted from illegal operations, with them. There was, in fact, nothing that it could or would do."

The Kennedy report was one of several dozen entered in the record today by Bar'or.

Publishers Told to Protect Rights

NEW YORK (AP)—A Texas editor said today newspapers do not need defenders but rather sluggers who will make the daily newspaper imperative to troubled citizens hungering for information in a tense world.

"We must prove the reasons for our being," Felix R. McKnight, vice president and executive editor of the Dallas Times Herald, told the 75th annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

"We must give us constitutional protection. Men before us earned the newspaper's right to that privilege."

"The publisher and editor of today must give that privilege even more stature and repute—or let down completely the millions who hunger to know, that they might live."

STOCKADE AT HYANNIS PORT—Tourists trying to get a glimpse of President Kennedy at the summer White House in Hyannis Port, Mass., will either have to be as tall as a basketball player or bring along a periscope. The 6-foot fence, which originally blocked only the front of the house in the Cape Cod village, has now been extended to the entire front and side of the coveur lot.

Plan Amateur Photo Contest for Michigan Week

A statewide contest for amateur photographers will be held during Michigan Week, it was announced today by Alan L. Deneau of Detroit, chairman of the photographic committee for the annual state observance to be held May 21-27.

Professional photographers and members of the Michigan Week public relations board are not eligible to compete, Deneau said, but competition is open to all other citizens of the state.

Subject matter must be some function or event photographed during the week-long celebration. Contestants may submit as many entries as they desire in black and white prints no smaller than 5 by 7 inches and no larger than 8 by 10 inches.

Between 20 and 25 prizes will be awarded, including a camera and other photographic equipment, Deneau pointed out, and entries will be judged on the basis of subject matter and clarity giving the best portrayal of Michigan Week. All entries will become the property of the Michigan Week photographic committee with rights for reproduction and will not be returned to contestants.

All entries must be submitted to Bayard Lawes, 210 E. 3rd St. Royal Oak, not later than midnight on June 30.

Name and address of the contestant, date the picture was taken and the location and activity picture should be placed on the reverse side of each print.

Paul Penfield, director of advertising of The Detroit Edison Co., who heads the Michigan Week public relations board, said the competition should provide Michigan Week with an outstanding photographic record of the many events and activities that will take place all over the state.

Plan $20,000 Building for Grand Rapids Zoo

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A $20,000 building to house an auditorium, laboratory, library and main offices is planned for the Grand Rapids Zoo through a Grand Rapids Foundation gift.

L. V. Eberhart, zoological society president, announced the gift Wednesday and said construction will start as soon as possible with a July 1 completion target date.

Council to Hear Report on Sewers in Waterford

The newly formed Greater Waterford Community Council will hear a report from Donald Porter regarding the problems of water, sewer and sanitation at an 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday in Pierce Junior High School.

Porter, chairman of the water, sewer and sanitation committee, met with township engineers Johnson and Anderson, Louis Schimmel municipal finance expert, and Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson last week to receive information on these subjects, and will report on recommendations made.

The need for these facilities as they pertain to present and future land use development will be emphasized with exhibits prepared by Johnson & Anderson.

In regard to another council project, a little more than $2,500 is still needed for construction of tennis courts on the high school grounds. The board of education has agreed to ask for plans and specifications, and the parks and recreation committee of the council is increasing efforts to round up pledges for the $5,000 project.

Through efforts of students, faculty organizations and individuals there is a total of $2,800 in the tennis court fund.

The council meeting is open to the public, according to the president, Mrs. Edmund Windler.

Nomination Approved

WASHINGTON (U)—The Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday approved the nomination of George E. Hill to be U.S. attorney for Western Michigan.

MSUO Planning 4 Open Houses

Pontiac Area Folks Are Invited to Tour Campus May 7, 14, June 4, 11

Michigan State University and land will hold an open house for Pontiac area residents on four Sundays in May and June.

Students will conduct guided tours for visitors around the campus from 3 to 5 p.m. May 7 and 14 as well as on June 4 and June 11.

Members of the faculty will be available to answer questions about the institution.

One of the items on display will be the MSUO language laboratory, consisting of 40 individual booths in which students can make tape recordings of their pronunciation of a foreign language, then compare it with a native of that country.

The language laboratory relieves instructors of much routine work and permits the student to learn on his own, according to foreign language instructors.

The entrance to the campus is at the intersection of Pontiac, Walton and Squirrel roads, midway between Pontiac and Rochester.

'U.S. Holding Up Aid OK'

Soviet, U.S.

Shared Runway

Town Recalls the Day Both Sides Cooperated in Search for Pilots

HATTON, N.D. (UPI)—Russian and American planes shared a runway in Siberia while Russian dog teams laced the frozen earth, searching for two lost American airmen.

Russian women stitched U.S. flags of ship's canvas and red and blue muslin, to cover the airmen's bodies when the crashed plane was found.

Two Soviet pilots traveled as an honor guard to North Dakota with the dead pilot's body.

This "once upon a time" was recalled wistfully this year as townspeople who had welcomed over the roof of the world—the shooting down of a U.S. spy plane over the Soviet Union, and the destruction of another plane outside its borders.

The time was 1929. The United States and the Soviet Union hadn't even established diplomatic relations.

But the lost pilot, Carl Ben Eielson, who is buried here, was an internationally honored pioneer of the air.

The plane in which he and a mechanic were carrying aid to an ice-bound American fur-trading ship in the Bering Strait, disappeared Nov. 9, 1929.

Eielson and his navigator, Sir Hubert Wilkins, made the first flight from America to Europe over the roof of the world—the polar route which has only recently become a common way for jet airplane transports.

EARNED MANY AWARDS
Their 2,000-mile flight in April, 1929, from Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen, Norway, made aviation history. Eielson was honored throughout Europe and the United States, awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Harmon Aviation Trophy and other awards.

He was about to become a deskbound executive of Alaskan Airways when he took off on his fatal flight.

Arctic explorers were convinced Eielson's plane had gone down on the northeastern coast of Siberia.

The government had no means of asking Soviet help, so the chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the secretary of the interior joined in making the request.

One of the worst puns we've heard today was about the human condition. It was about a man who carried him through both world wars, Indochina and Algeria, and was decorated in both world wars.

He was decorated in both world wars and held numerous foreign decorations. He also wore the Grand Cross of France's highest order for his battle gallantry, the Legion of Honor.

Now he faces dishonor, prison, death, and perhaps even death.

GEN. RAOUL SALAN

French Hero at Trail's End

Collapse of Algerian Revolt Ends Career of Ex-Gen. Raoul Salan

PARIS (UPI)—Collapse of the revolt in Algeria spelled the ignominy and the end of the career of the most decorated officer in the French army, ex-Gen. Raoul Salan.

It also sealed the death warrant of the proud French officer caste known as the "Centurions"—veterans of the Indochina War who had vowed to fight the Communists with their own tactics after the debacle of Dien Bien Phu.

Salan, 62, was a five-star general. He was a former commander-in-chief of French forces in Indochina and in Algeria.

He played a major role in restoring Charles de Gaulle to power but broke with his old comrade-in-arms over the future of the Northwest African territory.

BARRIED FROM ALGERIA
De Gaulle had barred him from Algeria for heading a "keep Algeria French" movement and Salan went to live in Madrid.

The French government formally retired him but he received a pension and was eligible for other retirement benefits.

But last week Salan flew to Algiers to join the other insurgents and De Gaulle ordered him and the other rebel officers stripped of all ranks and privileges and to be "punished under the laws of France" for having put Frenchmen against Frenchmen.

It marked a sad end to a brilliant career, a career that like De Gaulle's own started at St. Cyr academy, France's "West Point" and carried him through both world wars, Indochina and Algeria, and was decorated in both world wars.

He was decorated in both world wars and held numerous foreign decorations. He also wore the Grand Cross of France's highest order for his battle gallantry, the Legion of Honor.

Takes a Crowd on Honeymoon

New Groom Tours the U.S. With a Caravan of Foreign Students

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—It is a rare man indeed, who will take a caravan of foreign college students on his honeymoon.

That is just what Harry Morgan did as one of the things which snowballed into an international project — that won Morgan an award as one of the 10 outstanding young men in the United States.

Morgan, 28, was specifically cited for his "Ambassadors for Friendship" program, a project which seeks to teach foreign students in the United States about American ways of life.

When the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce gave Morgan his award, they called him "a pioneer in people-to-people diplomacy with our neighbors abroad." Ambassadors for Friendship took shape in Morgan's mind when he hitch-hiked across Holland in 1953, just after thousands had been left homeless by floods.

LEARN'S LESSON
"I learned there that understanding comes from friendship," he said.

Back in the United States Morgan enlisted in the Air Force. He trained himself to bring a few foreign students to America.

The first participants in the program returned home delighted with the United States. Morgan returned to Rutgers University after service and was graduated last June.

Last summer, Morgan began to earn his attempt to reach 50,000 foreign students with his program. Financed by St. Paul, he has sold throughout the country. Morgan and internationally minded Macalester College students here financed a caravan of station wagons in which the young leader, his bride of one week, and eight foreign students set out to tour the United States.

AMERICANS GET IDEA

Although the trip's purpose was to teach the students, Morgan's person-to-person idea worked both ways and Americans learned as well.

Morgan currently is serving as special assistant to the president at Macalester, using the college as a headquarters and a testing ground for his ambassadors project.

Last year, five groups toured the nation. In 1961 Morgan hopes to send about a dozen groups.

His latest venture would bring 12 young newspapermen from 12 different countries to Macalester for a year of American studies. "We'll try to select the future editors, who some day will be molding public opinion in Asia, Africa and the other countries and tell them the true American story," Morgan said.

He already has raised about $40,000 to finance the program. By selling his idea to company presidents, publishers and others throughout the country.

'Window Trimmer' Loots Shop Before Onlooker

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A swank Pittsburgh tailoring shop was looted of $30,000 in merchandise Wednesday night while a passer-by looked on thinking he was watching a window-trimming job.

The onlooker, James H. Toner of Steubenville, Ohio, told police he was watching from across the street as a man stuffed merchandise — mostly men's jeweled accessories — into a briefcase.

The true romantic is the fellow who gets down on one knee when he asks his wife for a divorce. . . . Auto safety poem: "No more him, no more her — they tried to kiss at sixty per." — Earl Wilson.

2 Million Phone Calls Per Year Come In to Los Angeles Police

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Madison 45211 is dialed more than two million times a year to report a lost child, a car stolen or a murder.

It's the telephone number of the Los Angeles Police Department, one of the most modern law enforcement agencies in the country.

Facts and figures usually add up to a rather dull story except when they are combined to present a staggering picture. Such is the role of LAPD.

Los Angeles has 457 square miles of territory. Its population ranks third in the United States behind New York and Chicago. Its area is second to none.

Its city limits encompass an area larger than Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, Boston, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Washington, D. C., combined. A big town with a big job to maintain order.

TOUGH TO POLICE
What makes it so tough to police? In addition to the obvious answers — a vast area, 2.5 million population and a tremendous variety of industry — there are unique features which include status as a port of entry, proximity to a foreign country, huge transient and tourist influx, and the greatest number of autos of any city.

Who does the job? Some 4,600 officers. It sounds impossible and looks so on paper. But Chief of Police William H. Parker, veteran of 26 years in law enforcement, gets the work done.

"Parker is all cop," one of his officers said. "He's a cop 24 hours a day. He can sleep and think law every minute of the day. He's the most dedicated man I ever saw."

Tension Tippler Not Necessarily an Alcoholic

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — You may be a problem to the wife and kids, but you're not necessarily an alcoholic if you take three or four stiff drinks every night after work.

That's the view of Dr. Seiden D. Bacon, who has studied the problems of alcoholics for nearly 20 years.

Bacon, director of Yale University's Center for Alcohol Studies, defines an alcoholic as "A person who uses alcohol excessively, inappropriately and without control, so that he hurts himself."

That, says Bacon, rules out the family man who takes those stiff drinks to relieve the tensions of the day's work.

"To his Aunt Tessie, a member of the WCTU, he's a drunken SOB, a danger to America," Bacon adds. "But somebody may tell him to cut down — and he will. He's not dependent on alcohol."

"Every so often the true alcoholic might go on a three-week binge — which the family man would do — and this would make the difference between them."

Chief Tickets Himself for Taking Eyes off Road

BURR OAK, (AP) — Police Chief Ralph Barry issued a traffic ticket to himself Wednesday on a charge of "not looking where he was driving" when his patrol car was involved in a minor collision.

The chief said he bumped into another car when he took his eyes off the road to wave at some school children.

Los Angeles is a tough place to commit a crime and get away with it. And the more serious the offense, the less chance you have of not being arrested.

There were 134 murders here in 1959 — more than one every three days. Facts tell the story — 96.3 per cent were solved.

CRIME DECLINES
The word spreads fast. Of all major crimes, only aggravated assault and rape — considered crimes of passion and regarded as less sensitive to police repression — increased by a small percentage over 1958. All others declined.

The police department is divided into 15 divisions — scattered from the harbor to Hollywood and maintained at a cost of just under $4.5 million a year.

Parker is the first to admit the force is understaffed for the tremendous task it must perform. But getting new officers that can stand up under stiff LAPD requirements is difficult. Last year 1,532 men applied — 256 were accepted.

In addition to the vast everyday job to be performed, there were 375 special events last year that were so large they required larger than normal police protection. One such incident was the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Parker, together with Soviet coach, drew up a 127-page plan pinpointing positions and duties of 667 officers.

To add to the difficulty there were 39 Russian and 486 U. S. newsmen to contend with. It went off, as does most everything Parker has a hand in, without a hitch. What's the biggest problem? Traffic.

There were 353 persons killed in traffic accidents in 1959, with a grand total of 48,025 vehicle accidents. One-and-one-third-million motorists were cited for traffic violations.

Therein lies the problem — the only contact more than a million motorists have with the law is getting a traffic ticket.

Reveal Votes Cast on Depressed Areas

WASHINGTON (AP)—Following is how Michigan congressmen voted when the House passed a compromise bill to provide federal aid for depressed areas 725-193 Wednesday and sent the measure to the President.

Democrats for: Diggs, Diagonal, Griffiths, Leach, Macchiorini, O'Hara, Rabaut.

Republicans against: Bennett, Broomfield, Cederberg, Chamberlain, Ford, Griffith, Harvey, Hoffman, Johnson, Neader.

Photographers Group Takes in First Negro

WASHINGTON (AP)—Maurice Sorrell, 48, of the Afro-American Newspapers, is the first Negro member of the White House News Photographers Association.

His admission as a member came within two weeks of a statement by President Kennedy urging acceptance of Negro members.

Results in a Mistrial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—A woman juror who impulsively befriended a plaintiff with the gift of a scarf caused a mistrial in a chancery court lawsuit.

Attorneys said the juror, who was not identified, watched Viola Brown testify and decided that a green scarf would go well with the chic brown suit she wore. After an overnight recess, the juror do before.

returned with the scarf and gave it to Mrs. Brown. Chancery Judge Ceylon Fryar called the mistrial Wednesday after an attorney for Mrs. Brown's side told him of the incident. The chancellor said he was convinced the act was completely innocent.

Two newly devised methods will enable archaeologists to date objects 60,000 years farther back in time than they have been able to date before.

Name-Scrawling Fans Will Get Coempanance

NEW YORK (AP)—Fans who scrawl endearments to their favorite athletes in stage entrances with crayon and lipsticks are going to have a tough time from now on.

A Long Island manufacturer is distributing a plastic coating that adheres permanently to brick or concrete. Fervent scrawlings just wash off.

Atlas Explosion Proves Mercury Works

By BOB CONSIDINE
NEW YORK — If the average man's blood chilled when reading that after all this time—the Atlas booster that was scheduled to put a dummy astronaut in orbit blew to bits 30 seconds after being launched, the blood of our astronauts who were watching the Cape Canaveral test did not.

For them, the humiliating spectacle (humiliating in view of what the Russians did with their booster and five times heavier capsule took, the "space station" in which hydrogen peroxide, much in the manner of a squid, the Russian made his momentous flight.

Mercury worked. That's what mainly concerns these men. They live with Mercury more than they live with their families.

Mercury is a 1-ton capsule, built to fit into a missile. It is probably the most sophisticated vehicle of wiring. It can be steered by little sprays or jets of degrees Fahrenheit. And still the interior will not go beyond 100 degrees.

It is a magnificent device, so magnificent that it can overcome our shortcomings, or miscalculations in the booster field.

UNDERSTANDING
"Sixty seconds after the explosion of the Atlas," one news account read, "The capsule appeared in the sky dangling from the 60-foot parachute, indicating that the emergency escape system designed to save an astronaut's life on a manned flight had worked."

Which must be classed as one of the great understatements of our time in journalism. "Indicating" was hardly the word. Mercury worked superbly.

When things began going wrong with this particular Atlas, the explosive-lined bolts which connect the 8-foot-tall capsule to the missile blew it loose from the ailing booster.

Immediately, the rockets of the "tower" that sits on top of the capsule, like a kind of miniature Eiffel, automatically ignited and for a couple of seconds developed the equivalent of 60,000 horsepower.

With an enormous jerk they easily pulled the Mercury capsule away from the Atlas that had gone out of control and was about to be destroyed by a radio whammy from the ground below.

The "tower" pulled Mercury at least 230 feet from the Atlas before the missile exploded with a hellish roar.

That's enough air cushion, 2300 feet, to enable any human occupant of the capsule to survive a blast.

Fluoridation Goes Political; Proofs Are In

CHICAGO — A declaration of war against "those who would deny the benefits of fluoridation to our children" was urged here Wednesday.

Dr. Donald R. McNeil, author and historian, warned the health professions they must accept the fact the fluoridation issue has become political rather than scientific and "prepare themselves for the battle." He said:

"We cannot escape the fact that fluoridation has been wrested from the hands of the scientists and placed squarely in the middle of the political arena. A thousand scientific experiments will not help."

Dr. McNeil said the 12th National Dental Health Conference being sponsored by the American Dental Association.

He emphasized that the toothpaste has been endorsed by the best scientific minds and the "simultaneously cautious councils" of almost every scientific body in the country.

In short, Dr. McNeil pointed out that fluoridation is approved everywhere except in the public mind. That is where the health professions have fallen down, he said.

To correct the situation, Dr. McNeil urged dentists, physicians and public health officials to adopt a militant stance and undertake "an all-out effort to publicize and promote fluoridation at every level."

Minor Gassed in California

First in 17 Years — He Had Killed Policeman Checking on Stolen Car

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — Alexander Robillard, 20, the first minor ordered to death in California in 17 years, was executed in the San Quentin gas chamber Wednesday for murdering a policeman.

The dark-eyed, dark-haired youth was white-faced but calm in his last minutes.

As he was strapped into the chair in the eight-sided death chamber, he nodded to two Jesuit priests who were among the 41 witnesses.

Then he closed his eyes and moved his lips slightly in unrecognizable words. He put his head back to await the release of the cyanide pellets into the gas chamber acid beneath his chair.

The pellets were dropped at 10:07 a.m. PST and he was pronounced dead at 10:12 a.m.

Robillard, who formerly lived in Redding and resided in a San Francisco at the time of the murder, was the first minor to be executed since Glenard Brown who was sentenced to death in 1944 for murdering a policeman.

Robillard pleaded guilty to murdering Hillsborough County patrolman Gene Doran on Aug. 2, 1959. Doran had stopped Robillard on a lonely San Mateo County road to check out the youth's stolen car. Robillard was arrested four days later in Salt Lake City.

Digest of Boat Trailer Laws Made Available

The Outboard Boating Club of America has completed a nationwide survey of state boat trailer laws and published the results in a Digest of State Boat Trailer Laws.

The new publication replaces a previous digest of state boat trailer laws issued in May 1959. It includes information on the boat trailer laws of the 50 states and all changes made in state trailer legislation since the publication was first issued.

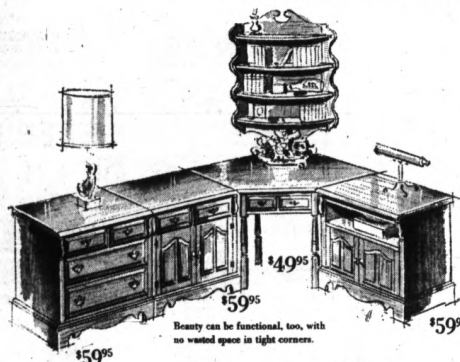

For the first time, the digest includes information on the tolls charged on 18 tollways and turnpikes, and all special rules and regulations applying to travel by boat trailers on these 18 super highways.

Copies of the publication may be obtained free of charge by writing the Legislative Department, Outboard Boating Club of America, 307 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill.

SALMON TIMBALES—Timbales sound so fancy and are so easy to make. Instead of regular bread crumbs, this recipe calls for herb-seasoned stuffing. You bake this mixture in custard cups and turn the timbales out for serving. Use your favorite cream soup for a sauce.

Herb Stuffing Makes Fish Timbales More Appetizing

What's for dinner? Here is the answer in an appetizing dinner for six at modest cost:

Salmon Timbales
with Soup Sauce
Hash Browned Potatoes
Mixed Green Salad
Brown and Serve French Rolls
Fruit-Filled Puff Pastry

Notice how the menu appeals to the eye and the palate in color and texture. These are things good cooks always keep in mind, especially when planning meals within limited budgets.

Salmon Timbales
1 one-pound can salmon
About 1/2 cup milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
Pepper to taste

1 cup packaged, dry, herb-seasoned stuffing
1/2 cup finely chopped celery
1/2 cup minced onion
1/2 cup minced carrot
2 eggs, lightly beaten with fork
Drain salmon; add enough milk to salmon liquid to make 1 cup.
Flake salmon with fork, removing bones. Sprinkle with lemon juice.

Melt butter in heavy saucepan. Add flour and mix well. Pour in milk mixture and stir vigorously over moderate heat until thickened. Season with pepper, and pour over salmon. Stir in stuffing and other ingredients, adding egg last. Mix lightly, but well.

Spoon into greased custard cups and bake in a moderate oven

(350 degrees) about 30 minutes. After baking, turn out of custard cups and serve with soup sauce. Garnish with parsley.

Cream Soup Sauce
Blend one can (10 1/2 oz.) condensed cream of celery or cream of mushroom soup with 1/3 to 1/2 cup milk. Simmer in heavy saucepan about 2 minutes.

To Study Plan Board

GRAND RAPIDS.—Kent County's Board of Supervisors took under study Wednesday the recommended establishment of a county planning commission with a first year budget of at least $36,000. The recommendation came in a report prepared by personnel of the Michigan State University Institute for Community Development.

Edythe Perry Is Secretary of the Year

If Oily, Four Times Wash Face Twice Each Day

The Pontiac Chapter, National Secretaries Association, observed National Secretaries Day Wednesday with a special dinner and program at Ted's Restaurant. The invocation was given by Mary Johnson.

Some 60 members and guests enjoyed the showing of spring fashions from Peggy's which preceded the dinner.

Edythe Perry, chosen "Oakland County Secretary of the Year" was presented with a certificate by the president, Mrs. Kay Rector.

The evening closed with the initiation in a candlelight ceremony of new members Mrs. Walter R. Riddle, Mrs. Julius M. Nurek and Judy Johnson.

Mrs. Russell Brackett was chairman of the Secretaries' Day program, with Mrs. Garland Woody cochairman.

Wash Face Twice Each Day

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The skin has three layers. We are all most aware of the outer layer. We pamper it with creams and lotions. Sometimes we forget the other two layers.

The middle layer contains the little oil ducts, pigmentation cells, blood vessels and nerves. The bottom (third) layer is composed of fat. This has a great influence on the facial contour. The decrease in the fatty deposit between the skin and the muscles is one of the factors in aging.

When a woman loses a large amount of weight too rapidly, then the decrease in this fatty fat, when the skin has not had time to adjust to the new proportions of the face, may make her look older.

Our epidermis is, as you know, punctured by many small pores. Through these the skin throws off waste products. If these pores become clogged with oil and dirt, blackheads result.

WASH TWICE A DAY

We should cleanse our face and neck at least twice a day, and if you have an oily complexion, it's soap and water three or four times daily for you.

Most women need a lubricating cream from the age of 30 on because of the gradual decrease of the natural oil in the skin.

The wind and sun and cold and years gradually dry up the natural oils, and we must compensate for this with daily lubrication. An oily complexion is the exception.

Good nutrition is vital to skin beauty. Vitamins A and B have been found to be helpful. A well-balanced diet with lots of green, leafy and yellow vegetables is effective.

That's it, lots of soap and water to unclog the many small pores. Remember, too, that your complexion needs stimulation. Facial exercises and gentle patting help.

About 42 per cent of Brazil's people are under age 15.

Seminar Scheduled for Students

Selected juniors and seniors from Cranbrook and Kingswood schools will attend an annual two-day world affairs seminar today and Friday.

The eighth in a series of studies conducted on a regional basis, it will concern the United States and Latin American search for understanding.

All-day sessions are scheduled at both schools, with an evening lecture and discussion Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 at Cranbrook House. The entire student bodies will attend assemblies dealing with Latin America.

Speakers already named include Rudy V. Fimbres of the Bureau of Inter-American Affairs, State Department; Marcilio Moreira, secretary of the Brazilian Embassy in Washington; Dr. Alexander De Conde and Dr. Martin Needer of the University of Michigan history department; and Dr. Samuel Shapiro, history professor at Michigan State University Oakland.

Dr. De Conde specializes in American diplomatic history and Dr. Shapiro will speak on the meaning of the Castro revolution. American industry and the Bolivian and Peruvian embassies will be represented.

Faculty chairmen for the seminar are Ben Snyder III, assistant headmaster and history teacher at Cranbrook, and Joyce Denning, history teacher at Kingswood.

Alums Tqur Hospital

University of Michigan Alumnae Club members and their guests toured Pontiac General Hospital Tuesday evening.

Donald Carros, assistant administrator, explained the management of the hospital, and Mrs. Irene MacNamara, public relations director, assisted him in guiding the group and explaining facilities available.

Club Sees Pictures of Europe

Thirty members and guests of the Pontiac Business and Professional Women's Club attended the April dinner meeting Tuesday at Hotel Waldron.

The program arranged by the informational relations committee featured Mrs. Norman Smith who narrated slides of her recent European trip.

Church Class Dons Centennial Garb

Members of Emice Philanthia Class of First Baptist Church wore Centennial costumes to a meeting Tuesday in the church.

The 42 members and guests were served a chop suey dinner by Mrs. Martin Jackson and her committee.

Mrs. John Slater, missionary who participated in the church's missionary convention last week, was guest speaker. She showed slides of mission work in the Congo.
