

Three-Inch Snowfall May Double Over Weekend

Speaker

"The streets were so narrow . . ."

"I had to go up . . ."

MADAME TREASURER SPEAKS—Ivy Baker Priest, United States Treasurer, flew in from Washington, D. C. Friday to speak to the annual Oakland County Teachers Institute in Birmingham. Discussing her rise from a little copper mining town in Utah to the important government post, Mrs. Priest (right) talks with Hazel A. Trumble of the Pontiac Press who presided at the afternoon session and introduced Mrs. Priest.

Teachers Hear U. S. Official

Says Faith and Freedom Can Conquer Force, Fear

By HAZEL A. TRUMBLE

She came, she spoke and she conquered the hearts of the teachers of Oakland County Friday when she said, "The public must treat you as partners, not hired hands."

These were the words of tall, attractive United States Treasurer Ivy Baker Priest who addressed the annual Oakland County Teachers Institute in Birmingham yesterday.

With direct, forthright candor, Mrs. Priest who was the daughter of a copper miner in Bingham Canyon, Utah, and became a telephone operator following high school graduation to help educate six brothers and sisters, believes that "women belong in government."

Commenting on her rise from such a modest beginning to one of the highest posts in the U.S. government, she said the streets of their mining town were so narrow, "there was no place to go but up."

Mrs. Priest got into politics via baby sitting. Her mother, a veteran precinct worker, took Ivy Baker along to take care of the children while their mothers went to the polls to exercise their franchise.

"It is not the crispness of our dollar bill or the clear ring of our coin or the security of our checks which makes this a

Asks $4 Billion to Operate VA for Fiscal Year

House Budget Group Increases Ike's Request by $10 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee today recommended $4,463,126,000 to run the Veterans Administration during the fiscal year starting July 1.

This was $10,756,000 more than President Eisenhower requested, with the increase earmarked for repair and modernization of older veterans hospitals.

The VA allocation accounted for almost 80 per cent of a $5,845,565,375 money bill to finance 18 independent federal agencies. Due principally to a 250-million-dollar payment to the Civil Service retirement fund, the bill's total exceeded presidential requests by $205,805,375.

The committee commended the agencies for having "controlled very carefully" their budgets and for having kept personnel to a minimum.

It directed the Civil Service Commission to comply with a previous congressional directive that qualified persons be given an opportunity for federal employment.

Eisenhower had requested no new funds for the Civil Service retirement and disability fund, but had indicated he would ask later for 216 millions. The committee said it allotted 250 millions to keep the fund on a "sound financial basis" and to prevent it from "deteriorating further." The committee pointed out that no federal contribution has been made to the fund for the past two years.

Quare Times Wins English Steeplechase

AINTREE, England (AP)—Quare Times won the 109th Grand National Steeplechase today in the mud and rain at Aintree before a large crowd including the Queen and other members of the royal family.

Ridden by P. Taaffe, the 9-year-old jumper finished ahead of Tudor Line, with Carey's Cottage third in the field of 30 starters in the world's toughest steeplechase. It rained in sheets, and the Queen arrived draped in a long rain coat early in the afternoon. The course was very heavy, and officials decided to eliminate the water jump in front of the stands. This cut the number of jumps in the 4-mile, 856-yard race to 29.

31 Steers Roam Phoenix Streets, Injure Dozens

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A wild bunch of Brahman steers roamed unfamiliar city streets today, sending frightened citizens scuttling for cover and spurring on a frantic, citywide roundup.

They were the last of 31 cattle that broke out of a car on a railroad siding last night and started in a herd toward downtown Phoenix.

One 500-pound animal was captured after he turned around and butted the pickup truck that was pursuing him.

Three steers were shot by police.

Patrolman Richard Porter said: "They came at us with their heads up. When we attempted to corner them, they would clear the hoods of the cars like antelopes."

One animal was shot at least 12 times in the head and ran 60 feet before it died.

Frances Rhodes, 15, was gored as she walked along a street far from where the bulls had escaped. She suffered a critical head injury.

James D. Legg, 76, also was hospitalized after being crushed by a charging bull.

Glenn Hay, Phoenix, was credited by officers for saving Legg's life. He rushed out of his nearby store to distract the bull's attention and then beat it over the head with a garbage can cover.

The bull then turned on Hay, who dove into a cotton-picking machine to escape.

Every voter should be informed to vote wisely.

Blanket of Snow Hinders Search for Missing Girl

Detroit Police Expand Hunt for Barbara Gaca Beyond City Limits

DETROIT (AP)—Inches of snow added new obstacles today as police pushed their hunt for 7-year-old Barbara Gaca beyond the city boundaries.

Police Inspector Marvin Frank, assigned to the case, said: "This snow will make searching tough. A body could be three feet away from a searcher and he wouldn't be able to see it."

More than 1,000 Boy Scouts joined in the search for the second grader who vanished Thursday morning on her way to school.

Police trainees combed Mount Olivet Cemetery near the Girl's East Side home with flashlights last night but could discern little through the two-inch snowfall. Twenty-five Mount Clemens postmen scoured their city and toured the gravel pits east of Mount Clemens. Barbara's father, Frank, 31, is a postman in Detroit.

From the myriad rumors, crank phone calls and tips emerged one clear report of a man and a "frightened" little girl who stopped early yesterday in a suburban Warren Township gasoline station not far from the general search area.

The attendant, Gilbert Nelson, 18, of Warren Township, said the child answered Barbara's description. He said she appeared frightened. Fred Mass, of Algonac, a Detroit Edison Co. worker who was at the station when the car pulled in, confirmed Nelson's report.

Descriptions of the car and driver were put out as an all-points bulletin.

In Detroit, police halted a man driving a car answering the description of the mystery car. He was held for questioning. No charges were placed against him.

A 16-year-old man who police said molested a 10-year-old girl yesterday in her home near the Gaca house was held for investigation in Barbara's disappearance.

Meanwhile, police continued to check out countless tips in an effort to find the pert, brown-eyed youngster who disappeared while on a five-block walk from her modest frame home to her Catholic school.

Her mother reported her missing at 12:23 p.m. Thursday when she failed to show up for lunch.

Carrying a pencil box with her rosary Barbara started her solitary walk to school Thursday morning. She was last seen by a schoolmate less than a block from the school.

At Least 3 Die in 2 Jet Crashes

Air Force B47 and T33 Both Come Down Near El Paso, Texas

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Two jets crashed within an hour of each other near here last night taking at least three lives—and possibly more.

Three Air Force men died in the flaming wreckage of a B47 medium jet bomber as the plane zoomed in for a landing in a howling dust storm. The crash occurred in the midst of a housing development, but the plane did not strike full force any houses.

Two other men, as yet unidentified, were aboard a T33 jet trainer that crashed and burned a short time later.

Ground parties have not yet reached the scene, but were to resume their search at daybreak. The wreckage was believed to have burned out late last night, and was no longer visible from low-flying planes.

The B47 struck the freshly-laid foundation of a house in an addition near the International Airport as the speedy jet made its approach. Visibility was cut to one-half mile by blowing dust and sand. Air Force officials said the poor visibility was a definite factor in the crash.

Freezing Cold Will Continue Into Next Week

Dust Storms, Floods Add to Weather Woes Across Nation

The March Lion roared over Pontiac and most of the rest of the nation today with a paralyzing snow storm here, dust storms in the southwest and floods in the south.

About three inches of new snow was recorded here as of noon and the U.S. Weather Bureau forecast at least one and possibly three inches more before the weekend is over. Sub-freezing temperatures are expected to continue into next week.

Low predicted for tonight is 18, up to 27 tomorrow and a low of 15 Sunday night. The mercury dropped to 23 last night.

Officials at the Oakland County Road Commission and the Pontiac Public Works Dept. said driving was hazardous despite all-out efforts to clear drifting snow and roads. Drifting was reported in most sections of the county.

The Oakland County Sheriff's Dept. City and State Police warned motorists to travel only in case of emergency. State Highway Dept. officials at Lansing said highways in most of lower Michigan were "dangerously slippery."

So far only a few minor property damage accidents were reported in this area. One Kalamazoo man, Virgil B. Ohmer, 45, was killed when his car skidded on slippery pavement and hit another car.

Unforeseen by weather forecasters yesterday, the storms struck here at about 3 p.m. last night, increasing steadily until today.

The snow here was part of a massive spring storm, barbed with wind and bitter cold, that numbed over the Great Plains after smothering three Mountain States with temperatures ranging to 20 below zero.

Foul weather held up the ticklish job of setting dynamite charges intended to break up a mass of ice that has shouldered its way down the lower Niagara River and smashed everything in its path.

Snow, sleet and rain, a low ceiling and poor visibility forced ceiling and poor visibility forced postponement of the attempt.

Freezing, rainy weather plagued evacuees along the flooded Tombigbee River in Mississippi. The river crested at 37.3 feet, eight feet above flood stage, and flood waters covered an area in northeastern Mississippi 50 miles long by 15 miles wide. At least 1,200 persons were driven from their homes, and the rampaging waters affected another 1,300.

Snow and cold temperatures swept wide areas from the Great Plains to the Ohio Valley.

In Texas the arctic cold poured southward, accompanied by winds up to 40 miles an hour. The temperature dropped at Abilene from a high of 62 to 23 in less than 24 hours.

Below freezing temperatures extended from Albany, N.Y., southwestward to Austin, Tex., and up along the Continental Divide.

Below zero readings were felt in Montana and the Upper Midwest.

Farm Chief Calls Negligence Charges 'Political Propaganda' by House Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson has termed "political propaganda" a House Appropriations Committee report charging his department with negligence and irresponsibility.

A continuing farm policy split between Benson and some members of Congress broke out anew yesterday when the House Appropriations Committee blistered the agriculture secretary "and others around him" for what it said were "political and other considerations" governing many of their official acts.

The blast was contained in a committee report recommending funds for the Agriculture Department in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Firing back at his congressional foes, Benson said in a statement: "This appears to be an intent to

Brazilian Coffee May Be Burned

Exporter Claims Move Would Keep Price Up, Remove Surplus

NEW YORK (AP)—A Brazilian coffee exporter says his country may burn six to seven million bags of coffee this year to keep the price up.

Abraham Jabour said last night the 1954-55 crop in Brazil could produce a surplus of that many bags, each weighing 132 pounds. Brazil grows the bulk of the world's coffee.

He said the surplus will be withdrawn from the market—and may be burned—when the 1955-56 crop starts next July.

The 1954-55 crop, he said at a news conference, is expected to produce 15 million bags and the following year there may be 16 or 17 million.

He said a decrease in the Brazil price of coffee, now around 50 to 54 cents a pound, could ruin many producers.

A year ago coffee prices reached an all-time high in the United States, where the best brands sold for $1.30 a pound or more. The price in Brazil at the time was about 95 cents a pound.

Brazilian officials reported these high prices were caused by frost damage to the 1953 crop.

The present price of coffee permits chain stores here to sell it for less than 80 cent a pound, although some premium brands still cost more than a dollar.

If Brazil destroys part of its coffee crop this year in order to maintain the price, it will not be for the first time. Between 1932 and 1940, 80 million bags were burned.

west, and the mercury fell to 10 degrees as far south as southern Kansas and Missouri. The coldest spot in the nation was Drummond, Mont., with 20 below.

Snow up to five inches deep extended from Missouri and southern Iowa to Ohio. The Rocky Mountain states had heavy snow and cold weather. The temperature was five below in Wyoming and Colorado, and 18 inches of snow fell at Sheridan, Wyo.

Almost all hope was lost for the Texas fruit crop because of the unseasonal cold front knifing through the state.

The Texas agriculture commissioner said that the remaining third of the state's fruit crop may be wiped out. The other two-thirds were killed by a freeze a week ago.

And shepherds in South Dakota and Montana, who have sheared their sheep, believe the cold wave may cause serious losses among the animals. Cattlemen, not untouched by the zero cold and strong winds, were concerned for the new calf crop.

Search for Son Saves Another Lad From Pond

Fate stepped in when four-year-old Kurt Nelsky, 7412 Hatchery Rd., Waterford Township, fell through thin ice into a nearby pond yesterday, for a dental appointment may have saved his life.

Kurt's next-door neighbor, Mrs. Carl Lyon, was searching for her son Douglas, age 10, who was to leave for the dentist. She had just reached the pond when she saw Kurt tumble into the icy water some 20 feet away from her.

Mrs. Lyon jumped into water up to her waist and pulled Kurt up before his head even went under.

Kurt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Nelsky, was given a hot bath and tucked in his bed. Mrs. Lyon settled for the hot bath. It wasn't until the excitement was all over that she remarked to her husband:

"I don't know what I would have done if the water had been deep—I forgot I couldn't swim."

Detroit Lawyer Speaks:

Says Endorsement of Fluoride in Water Is Confused, Not 'Unconditionally'

John Safran, a Detroit attorney who is also associate minister of the Central Methodist Church in Detroit, points out that the issue of fluoridation of public water supplies has become highly controversial.

"In many instances there is much more heat than light," he observes. "Most individuals know little or nothing of the scientific facts involved and thus are unable to arrive at a calm, reasonable and intelligent conclusion."

"Since scientific facts are involved, some individuals claim this is an issue that must be decided by the experts. It is true that certain aspects must be left to the experts. For instance the question of whether harm will come from drinking fluoridated water must be left to the health experts."

"But if such experts are in disagreement then it becomes a moral question as to whether we should proceed with fluoridation. In the light of such disagreement, thus it is the responsibility of every individual to become informed as to what the experts know and what they do not know so as to be able to intelligently decide the moral issue."

"As Christians we must be vitally concerned about what we do to our bodies. It is our duty to properly take care of this temple of God. Good physical health is a gift from God and we must do everything in our power to preserve and develop the body given us."

"Furthermore it is our responsibility to see to it that not one single member of God's family is deprived of the opportunity to preserve and develop his body. Fluoridation is an important matter for the Christian. This is true because fluoridation is not only a health issue but also a moral issue."

"Fluoridation has been thoroughly investigated by two congressional committees. First in 1952 when a bill was introduced in the House of Representatives seeking federal approval of fluoridation. Second, in 1954 when a bill was introduced seeking federal action against fluoridation. In neither case did Congress act upon the bills since the committees neither approved federal legislation for or against fluoridation.

"Since those who favor fluoridation make so much of the endorsements by the American Dental Assn. and the American Medical Assn., we ought to know the facts concerning them."

"The American Dental Assn. has unconditionally endorsed fluoridation according to the statement of its secretary, Dr. J. Roy Doty, to the congressional committee. This endorsement was given without any independent scientific research being made by the association."

"The American Medical Assn., however, has not given its unconditional endorsement. The statement submitted by the association to the congressional committee by George F. Lull, its secretary and general manager, sets forth as follows: The councils, (referring to the councils on pharmacy and

Gold Seeker Free of Fraud Charges

FLINT (AP)—A Flint deep sea diver was free today of fraud charges in his quest for a fabled cache of gold sunk a century ago off Frankfort in Lake Michigan.

Harold Van Niman, 32, was arrested last January on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses.

The charges were dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Raymond C. French.

Van Niman told the court he has worked for two summers on the sunken hull of the Westmoreland, which sank in Platte River Bay 100 years ago. The vessel supposedly carried $40,000 in gold bullion.

Van Niman said some $10,000 has been invested in the salvage venture.

German Arms OK Due Today

Expect French Senate to Pass Paris Accords After Day of Debate

PARIS (INS)—The French Senate was expected to give final approval to the Paris accords today, virtually assuring rearmament of West Germany and opening the way to big four talks.

Debate reopened this afternoon in France's Council of the Republic, or Senate. The vote was expected late tonight after 25 senators have made their scheduled comments.

Both French Premier Edgar Foure and foreign minister Antoine Pinay have taken strong stands backing the agreements that would:

1. End the occupation and rearm the Bonn Federal Republic.

2. Rearm West Germany within the projected Western European union.

3. Admit West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

4. "Europeanize" the coal-rich Saar territory.

West German President Theodor Heuss has signed the Bonn Republic's approval of the pacts. The few nations as yet uncommitted were expected to give quick approval once France completes ratification.

he no room left for the other ideology—force and fear."

Explaining the federal monetary policies of the U.S. government, Mrs. Priest said that Alexander Hamilton's original theory of keeping only the minimum of cash in the treasury and putting the rest to work was still followed.

"The public is always fast in its deposits, but Congress is quicker on the draw," she remarked.

Saying that this country has grown great from the bottom up, not the bottom down, she cited the most important word in the American Republic as "free."

Her breakdown of this word gave faith to the first letter, "faith in ourselves and our fellow man." For the "r," she said rights of the individual were primary and she stated that education should be the first and most important "e" with the second one going to experience.

Referring to the rejection of tax cuts right now, she said that "living as we are in an age of peril, we cannot afford to cut if we want to survive."

She pointed with pride to the fact that the treasury department was the first U.S. division to give employment to women. There are now more than 72 per cent of the employees who are women.

Mrs. Priest said that the United States is the only government in the world that publishes a daily debt and credit statement.

She was introduced by Hazel A. Trumble of the Pontiac Press who presided at the afternoon session.

The morning session, "The Press Meets the Professors," with Lawrence Spivak of Washington, D. C. commenting on Capitol reaction to current international and national events was chairmaned by William Shunk of the Waterford Township Schools.

Spivak said that in his opinion President Eisenhower cannot be beaten, if he runs again, by any of the present Democratic potential.

Quered on the advisability of revealing the contents of the Yalta papers, Spivak said "there is a difference between acting in secret and keeping secrets forever."

"I can see no reason why in a democracy, conference papers of this type should be kept secret for all time because of some embarrassment it might cause for some people," declared Spivak.

In fact, he continued, it might have a good effect upon statesmen if they realized that sometime within their life span what they said and what agreements they reached would become public knowledge.

On the far-Eastern question, he said that if shooting starts and we are committed to protect Formosa, we will have to take action to save face.

Asked if it would be war in which the U. S. had no allies, he said "yes," unless it spread to other areas of Asia and the other nations stepped in to protect interests.

"Is U. S. prepared to carry on a war of this type single-handed?" he was asked.

"The Navy says 'yes.' I say 'no,'" replied Spivak who is a noted news commentator in the Capital.

The Day in Birmingham

Recreation Board Gives Rink Costs Per Person

BIRMINGHAM—Two tickets to the movies or a carton of cigarettes per year—that's one of the descriptions being applied by the Recreation Board, in explaining the annual cost to each Birmingham resident for financing an artificial ice skating rink at Eton Park.

As the board's first big step in providing large-scale and full-time winter recreational facilities for all members of the family, a $125,000 bond issue will be put to voters a week from Monday. In dollars and cents, this represents $1.65 per person for 15 years, the board estimates.

In addition to a surfaced, lighted, fenced area of 115 by 215 feet, (of which the rink would comprise 85 by 185 feet) the general obligations bonds would also provide a 180-car surfaced parking area and buildings for machinery, lavatories and shelter.

Summer months would see the surfaced area converted to tennis or basketball courts, or used for dancing, pageants and other activities.

The rink itself would operate from Nov. 15 to March 20. It would contain a public address system, be equipped with hockey boards and accommodate 400 skaters at a time. A 15 cent charge would cover maintenance.

Because of its size, accessibility and the fact that it is more removed from residential areas than other parks, the development of Eton Park for all spectator sports is the first aim of the board.

Reports from other cities now operating such programs indicate outstanding participation and successful results concerning youth problems, say members.

Birmingham PTA Council will hear Dr. Robert T. Hatt, Cranbrook Institute of Science director, describe the museum and planetarium program for school children of the area, when the regular meeting is held there at 8 p.m. Monday. Election of officers also is scheduled.

Children in the church school junior department at St. James Episcopal Church will present a special Lenten study program, "The Big City Story," at tomorrow's 8:30 a.m. service.

At its recent meeting, Beverly School PTA elected officers for the 1955-56 school year. Named president was William Price, with King Rubly, father vice president; Mrs. V. S. Madison, mother vice president; and Mary North and Abe Swart, teacher vice presidents.

Mrs. James Zawodni is recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Groves, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Dalton Lamb, historian and Stanley Anderson, treasurer.

An Easter visit to Bermuda from April 9 to 17 is being sponsored by the Detroit YMCA Travel Club, with Birmingham as a participant.

Men and women will fly to St. George where they will find a swimming pool, ocean beach, golf course, fishing, shopping and other activities. Reservations must be made here by Monday, with no more than 20 being accepted.

At tomorrow's final program in the Lenten series sponsored by the First Baptist Church, the Rev. Arthur F. Farrell will be the guest speaker. Director of church extension for the Detroit area, he will speak at a 7:30 p.m. service, open to the public.

Waterford Junior Police Cut Delinquency

By WILMA GREENWAY

A new game of Cops and Robbers, strictly modern style, is being tried out in Waterford Township, and police officials there claim it is proving a big help in the struggle to wipe out juvenile delinquency.

Just as in dad's day, the cops are neighborhood boys, but there the similarity ends for this game is played for keeps.

The cops are the Junior Police, official members of the Waterford Police Department, and they're doing a fine job of detecting crime in their neighborhoods, as well as learning police methods and helping to enforce safety laws.

The idea of organizing boys between the ages of 12 and 16 into a Junior Police Department, of utilizing the youths' natural sense of adventure as a tool to aid law enforcement instead of a weapon against it, was put into practice last December by Waterford Police Chief Frank VanAtta.

A group of boys from Cass Lake, including two who previously had been in trouble with the police, came in to headquarters and told VanAtta they wanted to start a boys' club that would have the cooperation of the police department. That started the ball rolling.

Today close to 60 boys in the township carry the official identification cards that place them as members of the Waterford Junior Police. The young police force is broken up into precincts, each with its own captain, two lieutenants and three sergeants.

The Cass Lake-Dodge Park group, or Precinct 1, meets every second Thursday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. in the township police station at Highland and Crescent Lake Rds.

Precinct 2, composed of boys from the Williams Lake area, meets at the same place every second Tuesday. A third group now being formed in the Drayton Plains area will add about 20 more men to the junior force.

Chief VanAtta himself and Patrolman Millard Pender brief the youths in police work and supervise their meetings.

Currently the young policemen have been seeing safety movies depicting traffic accidents, and getting instruction on the dos and don'ts of the law. Judo lessons and instruction in the use of firearms are planned for the near future.

All is not work, though, for the junior force. The policemen spend part of the time sitting down to a friendly game of chess or cards with the boys, promoting a feeling of comradeship.

They want the boys to realize that a "cop" is a real human being, out to help and befriend them.

Joining the Junior Police is an easy matter. Any decent, self-respecting kid is eligible to join. Most of the members are boys with clean records, looked up to in their communities—but a few are youngsters who have "gotten into trouble" in the past, and later decided to keep to a straight course.

But staying on the Junior Police is not easy at all.

"It's an honor to be a junior policeman," VanAtta said, "and we expect our boys to live up to that honor."

"Any boy can join. But to remain in the Junior Police, a boy must be truthful, honorable, and know how to keep his word."

"He must have real courage—not just physical courage, but the mental courage to stand up for what he knows is right. Every boy who joins the group takes a pledge, on his honor, to live up to certain high standards of conduct. If he breaks that pledge—he's out!"

Junior police keep their eyes and ears open, and report crime or vandalism in their communities. When they have knowledge that "undercover work" is going on, they often do their own detecting, conferring with VanAtta or Patrolman Pender who brief them on methods of conducting an investigation.

"Petty thievery and minor vandalism have shown a marked decline since the junior force was organized," VanAtta said. "We haven't had near the trouble since the kids got together."

Meanwhile the Chief has tentative plans for a softball league this summer and a basketball league in winter as a recreational program for the boys.

"The boys are enthusiastic about the club, and the police department is enthusiastic about the junior force," VanAtta said. "They're a fine bunch, and I expect, someday, a good many prominent Waterford citizens will point with pride to their former membership in the Junior Police."

"Many of these boys will make their mark in the world. Some of them will make fine policemen, too, if they continue in the attitude they now have."

VanAtta has been police chief in Waterford Township since the police department was organized there, on Jan. 1, 1954. Formerly he was in charge of the uniform division of Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Junior Police Pledge

I promise that I will always respect and obey my parents.

I promise that I will always, by my example of right living and action, lead other boys to do right.

I promise to be always ready to assist those in trouble who deserve help.

I promise always to be faithful to the Department in execution of my duties and to attend all meetings. If within my power to do so.

I promise to obey the orders of the Chief of Police, and the Officers of the Junior Police Department, and to respect the rules.

Large Crop Output Predicted for 1955

WASHINGTON (INS)—A government report on the demand and price situation forecasts that another very large crop output is in prospect for 1955 if farmers carry out their spring plans.

It now appears that combined production of all livestock products this year probably will exceed the record established in 1954.

Officials expect the acreage in all crops to come out about the same as in 1954 with significant shifts as between individual crops. This means, as of now, more soybeans, feed grains and hay and less tobacco, wheat, cotton and rice.

Irritations and Resentments Hinder Making of Friends

Confident Living

Some Otherwise Capable People Never Get Along

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

One of my favorite stories is the one about the old Quaker, who in the early days was sitting on a rock along the road outside Germantown, Pennsylvania. A stranger came along and struck up a conversation. The stranger said that he was on his way to live in Philadelphia.

DR. PEALE

"What kind of people live in Philadelphia?" he asked.

"Where did thee come from?" the Quaker replied. The stranger told him. "What kind of people live there?"

"Mean, difficult, hard to get along with," the stranger said. "That's why I'm leaving."

"Well," the old Quaker told him, "then that's just the kind of people thee will find in Philadelphia. Thee will always find the kind of people thee are looking for, and which thou art thyself."

A friend of mine in Canada didn't have many friends and was always wondering why he was thrown in with "such disagreeable people." Then he heard someone tell the Quaker story and he decided that it applied to him. "I decided that if I wanted to know nice people, I had better get nice myself."

"How did you do it?" I asked him. "I did a powerful lot of praying," he explained. "I confessed to the Lord the kind of person I was. I told Him all about my conflicts, my hates, my weaknesses. Then I just asked Him to change me." The man's smile was a wonderful thing to see. "And the Lord went to work and did a job on me. But I still have a long way to go."

"You're on the right track?" I told him. "By that spiritual process you've allowed your real character, your fine personality to emerge. Hitherto it has been blocked by your irritations and resentments. Even you are surprised by the pleasant individual you have become."

There are difficult people to be found everywhere, no doubt. But remember compassionately that there may be reasons why they are that way. They may have illness at home or not be feeling well themselves; they may have many exasperating problems.

As they find kindness and sympathy in you, you will find them less mean and difficult. People who are kind and sympathetic help to reduce the number of unpleasant individuals. Happy and pleasant people gather about them. They attract this kind of folk by the magnetism of their own spirit.

There is another important truth in the art of getting along with people. It is that human beings deeply crave appreciation. If you realize that and practice giving appreciation, you will smooth away many of your difficulties with people. For example, if you eat your lunch in a restaurant, thank the waitress for something nice she has done.

Even if her service is poor, find one good thing and praise her for it. When you go back the next day, I'm sure you'll find her improved. People who go around leaving love and appreciation behind them change the people they meet into nicer folk.

It is most pathetic when otherwise capable persons fail to get along with people. This failure can neutralize many of their other capabilities. The sad fact is that, while we want to have good personal relations with others, there is often something within us that creates conflicts and sets up barriers. Try as we will, we cannot break through into the happy, pleasant relationships we so desire.

The reason is that our personalities have been tied up by inner conflicts. But when we are released from them we become attractive to other people. Techniques of spiritual practice such as faith, prayer and love are most effective in breaking down these barriers.

If you haven't been able to let your personality flow toward people so that their personalities in turn flow toward you, remember the secret. Like the man who was stimulated by the old story of the wise Quaker become likable and people will like you. Spiritual change can make an attractive personality of anyone. And the more likable you become, the better you will get along with people.

At 7:30 Sunday evening, the sermon subject will be "Activities of Jesus." There will be special music at both services. The Rev. LeRoy Shafer is pastor of the church.

Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven.

TWENTY Yale Museum Much Too Busy to Become Dusty

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—The popular belief that museums are merely warehouses for dead animals and dusty old collections is being disproved at Yale University.

Yale's Peabody Museum of Natural History actually is audio-visual education in three dimensions.

There's no such thing as a "grand tour" at Peabody. Students from public and private schools and colleges come to the museum for a particular purpose, such as to study a particular exhibit of dinosaurs.

The exhibits don't have much chance to gather dust. Most are changed every few months. Others, "those expressing truths that do no change," are kept intact from year to year.

Peabody's service department provides instructions for class groups, thus turning the museum into a classroom.

One of the most unusual exhibits at Peabody represents the lighter side of American history, the circus. It's the skeleton of Gargantua, the famous circus gorilla.

CHURCHILL: A Man and an Era (4)

The Life of Christ—18

Beatitudes Are Realities, Not Ideals

Yesterday's installment of Bishop Sheen's "The Life of Christ" touched on the hard things which Jesus came to teach and they are as adaptable to our time as they were to His time. The adversary is to be conquered by a superior moral power, admonishes Christ, because such love prevents the infection of the wound of hate. Endure the bore who inflicts himself upon you. Offer gifts to the man who would steal from you. And if we do not find certain people lovable, Christ bids us not love them.

By BISHOP FULTON J. SHEEN

Let Him come into a world which tries to interpret man in terms of sex; which seasons the novel, movie and television show with an attack on the sanctity of marriage, which says that a marriage endures only until the glands tire; that one may unbind what God binds, and unseal what God seals, and say to them: "Blessed are the pure," and He will find Himself surrounded by the comrades of the Vishnuskys and Molotovs, as they make the greatest war this world of ours ever saw: the war against the Son of God; after His death, they will set a guard about His grave to prevent a Resurrection, something they would not expect even from a Lenin.

Let Him come into a world that believes personality should be manipulated, that our whole life should be geared to flattery and influencing people for the sake of utility and popularity, and say to them: "Blessed are ye, when men hate you and persecute you and revile you," and He will find Him-

"Blessed are the peace-makers," or "Blessed are they who eradicate sin that there may be peace," and He will find Himself surrounded by the comrades of the Vishnuskys and Molotovs, as they make the greatest war this world of ours ever saw: the war against the Son of God; after His death, they will set a guard about His grave to prevent a Resurrection, something they would not expect even from a Lenin.

Let Him come into a world that believes personality should be manipulated, that our whole life should be geared to flattery and influencing people for the sake of utility and popularity, and say to them: "Blessed are ye, when men hate you and persecute you and revile you," and He will find Him-

Mount, and forgets the Christ Who died for it.

It is easy to be an intellectual and sneer at the humble. It is easy to love those who love us, but it is hard to love those who hate us, to pluck out one's eyes and cut off one's arms to prevent sinning.

It is hard to be clean on the inside when the passions clamor for satisfaction on the outside; to forgive those who would put us to death; to overcome evil with good; to bless those who curse us; to stop mouthing freedom until we have justice, truth and love of God in our hearts as the condition of freedom; to live in the world and still keep oneself unpoluted from the world; to deny ourselves sometimes legitimate pleasures, like cigarettes, cocktails, movies and luxuries, in order to help the missionaries feed the leprosy, fill the empty rice bowls and renew hungry hearts with the grace of God; to see that all our clasp-trap about the brotherhood of man is meaningless unless we all have the same God as Father!

What would such men make of us who talk only of the brotherhood of man? A race of illegitimate children? To strive not to be like the rest of men, but to be perfect as the Heavenly Father is perfect—this is the only new thing in the world, but there are very few who are willing to try it. Christianity has not failed; but we have failed the Christ who said "Take up your Cross and follow Me."

To Be Continued

St. Paul's Methodist Church in Stevens Point, Wis., has a stained glass memorial window depicting old-time locomotive No. 28 — gift of local railroaders when the church was built in 1889.

Probe Employment of Puerto Ricans

MIAMI, Fla. (UP)—Six agencies are at work to see that Puerto Rican seasonal farm laborers who come to Florida don't go home broke in the future.

Charges were made last year that labor camp owners lured hundreds of Puerto Ricans here, then let them work only until they paid off the heavy debt they had incurred in travel expenses.

Camp leaders were accused of profiting on the workers' air passage and their board and room while awaiting jobs. As soon as the workers made enough to pay their debts, they were turned out to make room for new importations. Among the agencies investigating the "wildcat" importation of labor are the Puerto Rican government, Florida's state attorneys office, and the Civil Aeronautics Authority.

Educators believe the U.S. will have five million college students in 1975 compared with about two million now.

Reflections

PRAYER ROOM READY

For the first time in our National history there is a sanctuary in Washington, D. C. where law-makers may go to lift up their thoughts to their God. These sagacious men from every part of our country find silence, peace and divine guidance in their Prayer Room.

We are welcome in any church in Pontiac. When trouble mounts, the way seems blocked, go to your church, lift up your voice, your heart, to God. Trouble vanishes, road-blocks tumble. The way is clear.

We little realize the pitch in which we're living; talk is endless over telephone, radio, TV, socially. Newspaper headlines are frightening. Sirens scream, brakes screech. Every part of our being cries out for a moment of silence, a place where we may commune with God, find solace, strength, direction to a richer, more beautiful life. We find it in the sanctuary of a church.
