Ike Signs to Launch New Middle East Policy

House OK Seen on Bill to Alter Rates for Water

Law Would Open Way to Pipe County Supply From Detroit

Favorable action is expected next week on legislation to bring water to Oakland County from new sources.

Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, of Pontiac said yesterday he believed the state House of Representatives would pass a bill, probably Tuesday, that would make pumping of Detroit water north financially feasable.

The bill, introduced by Hudson, calls for adjustments that would make rates "good for both consumer and distributor."

It would allow, a municipal corporation such as Detroit to charge prices more than double those paid by Detroit water-users, but still less, Hudson said, than the total of cost of water presently paid by many Oakland County consumers.

Hudson believed the bill is a step towards solving the need for more water in Pontiac and in surrounding communities.

AMEND LAW

The bill would amend the present law, Hudson said, under which Detroit can only charge outside users double the present price of 62 cents a 1,000 cubic feet that Detroiters pay. This double rate of $1.25 would not be enough, he said, to make extension of mains to outside communities profitable.

The town and county committee reacted favorably to the bill, Hudson said, and has placed it before the House for possible action as soon as Monday. Hudson believed the bill would pass by Tuesday night and then be referred to the Senate for similar consideration.

He said Oakland County Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, of Drayton Plains has promised backing.

Passage of the bill by both Houses would mean that Detroit could build $79 million worth of proposed mains and pumping stations to bring water to the doorstep of interested Oakland County communities.

The expense of pumping and delivering water within each community would have to be borne locally, Hudson said.

May Open Canal to Israeli Craft

However, Egypt Today Rejects Having World Bank Hold Any Fees

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON—The U.S. was reported today to have received indications that Egypt will reopen the Suez Canal to Israel, if the International Court so orders.

U.S. officials confirmed diplomatic reports that Egypt wants the court to hand down a ruling and would reluctantly abide by a decision allowing Israeli shipping to use the waterway.

However, the Egyptian government today formally rejected a Western proposal that, for the time being, the World Bank hold half of the fees paid by ships using the Suez Canal.

A fresh Middle East crisis was seen as a probable result of the announcement by President Gamal Abdel Nasser's government.

Asian friends of President Nasser were said to be urging Egypt to comply with all U. N. mandates in view of what they consider markedly fair treatment for the world body during the last three months.

★ ★ ★

In the meantime, Egypt has started preliminary work toward removal of the last major obstructions in the Suez Canal, but U.N. salvage authorities still awaited a go-ahead for the final clearance.

★ ★ ★

Eight small vessels, all under 500 tons, moved through the canal yesterday.

This was the first large movement of shipping since the waterway was blocked more than four months ago.

Pals Don't Kid Him, Either

Young Holly Chef Cooks for 10

By HAROLD COHEN

The age old contention that men are really the best cooks finds a firm supporter in the Theodore Owens household at 12513 N. Milford Rd., Holly.

For that is the stronghold of Paul Owens, an 11-year-old who is specializing in cooking projects with the Newark Bustlers 4-H Club at Holly.

And Paul plays second chef to none when it comes to whipping up a tasty morsel in the kitchen.

Although he has been at it only two years, Paul notes with pride his muffins took a blue ribbon at the 4-H Fair last fall.

Paul's interest in the culinary arts is not just an idle fancy. He is one of eight childen and, in a family of 10, the more cooks the better.

★ ★ ★

Paul, his sister, Shirley, 12, and an older brother, Donald, 13, are all at home on the range and materially assist their mother.

'BREAKFAST MASTER'

Mrs. Owens says that Paul is especially helpful in the mornings. She calls him a "master of breakfast." Both Paul and Shirley often prepare breakfast for the entire family, complete with muffins, rolls and home-made bread.

With a family our size, Mrs. Owens notes, they have to use four times the average recipe amounts, which gives them good training in fractions as well as cooking.

Paul also foresees another practical use for his skill with the skillet. "I intend to become a priest," he says, "and you know priests often have to do their own cooking."

★ ★ ★

"But really, I just like to cook. It's fun," Paul smiled, "and I've told my boy friends about it and they haven't kidded me a bit."

Paul's 4-H Club leader, Mrs. Peter Perkuchin, of 1476 Belford Rd., Holly, says she has four boys and six girls in her cooking section which meets at her home.

"And the boys do just exactly as well as the girls," she asserts.

Low of 20 Tonight With Snow Flurries

Pontiac residents didn't need that snow shovel after all, as last night's forecast of a one to two inch snow fall failed to materialize.

Tonight will be mostly cloudy with scattered furries and a low near 30 degrees.

Partly cloudy with a chance of a few snow flurries, high 31 to 35, is the outlook for tomorrow.

Downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. today was 21. At 2 p.m. the mercury registered 37.

Portland Mayor to Take Lie Test in Racket Probe

Terry Schrunk Denies Stories of 8 Witnesses on $500 Payoff

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate investigators sought today to arrange a lie detector test for Mayor Terry D. Schrunk, of Portland, Ore., who denied taking a $500 payment from a gambler.

Schrunk, former sheriff of Multnomah (Portland) County, told the Senate Labor - Management Racketeering Committee yesterday that he wants the FBI, instead of the Secret Service, to conduct the test.

The mayor denied the testimony of some eight witnesses who said he received the $500 from Clyde O. Bennett after raiding Bennett's gambling house. Schruck admitted he neither closed the place nor arrested Bennett.

His testimony and that of Nate Zusman, a Portland night club owner who flunked a Secret Service lie test, are being sent to the Justice Department for study.

Zusman had denied charges by "Big Helen" Hardy, a call house madam, that he had set her up in business. Schrunk was at odds with other witnesses who said that Teamsters Union officials tried to monopolize vice in Oregon.

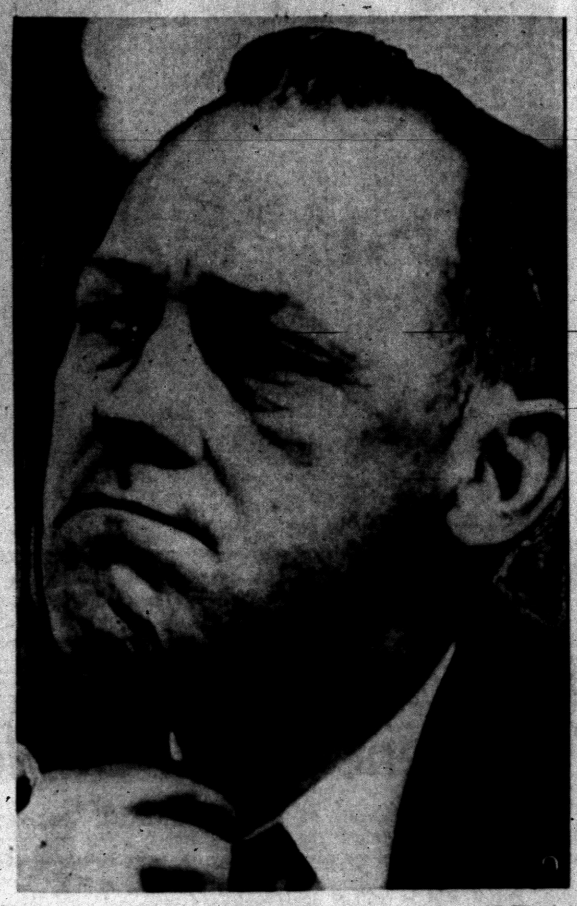

Teamsters organizer Clyde C. Crosby reappears when hearings resume Tuesday. Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said the Portland phase of the inquiry should end next week.

Rescuers Risk Their Lives to Remove Injured Driver

DETROIT (AP)—A Kalamazoo truck driver lay critically injured in the crushed cab of a truck today for more than two hours at the bottom of a Willow Run Expressway underpass while a huge trailer swayed in the air above his body.

★ ★ ★

He is Gerald Bent, 36. Doctors at Wayne County General Hospital said he had a "reasonable" chance to live.

Scores of policemen, firemen and sheriff's deputies —their lives endangered, too, by the precariously balanced trailer—worked desperately to free Bent.

They finally succeeded with acetylene torches and crowbars, extinguishing meanwhile half a dozen fires that started when torches ignited spilled gasoline from the truck.

The accident happened at 2:30 a.m. at Monroe Boulevard underpass, a mile east of U.S. 24 (Telegraph) in Taylor Township.

Bent's tractor-trailer truck hit a parked car, then smashed through a guard rail over the underpass and plunged downward.

The front end of the trailer crushed the cab, while the rear of the van remained high in the air, precariously supported by the underpass embankment. The drop is 35 feet.

★ ★ ★

John Kingery of Belleville, driving behind Bent's rig, stopped. So did other motorists. Some then sped to telephones, while others scrambled down the embankment to try to free Bent, still conscious and able to tell them "I'm hurt. Please help me. It's hurting so."

Deputy Sheriff Richard Aleks arrived just as fire broke out under the van. He seized a hand extinguisher, leaped down the embankment and put it out.

At 4:30 a.m. the last piece of metal holding Bent was cut and he was freed.

U. S. Will Fight If Necessary, Says President

Regards Plan as Step Toward Good Relations With Arab Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today signed the Middle East resolution declaring this country's readiness to fight if necessary to block any Communist aggression in that trouble area.

The President said in a statement that the proposal, which he recommended to Congress two months ago, marks "an important forward step in the development of friendly relations between the United States and the Middle East area."

It is, he said, a "further demonstration of the will of the American people to preserve peace and freedom in the world."

Eisenhower signed his name to the resolution, in the presence only of newsmen and photographers.

His special counsel, Gerald Morgan, handed him a copy and he wrote "approved" and affixed his signature and date.

★ ★ ★

The Senate and House completed action on the resolution earlier this week, approving it by big margins.

READY TO USE

The resolution declares a readiness to use U. S. forces, if necessary, to counter any open aggression by the Communists in the Middle East, provided a nation under attack asks such aid.

It also authorizes Eisenhower to spend up to 200 million dollars in available military-economic aid funds between now and July 1 in the area.

Ambassador James P. Richards plans to leave Tuesday at the head of a presidential mission to explain the American program. The Richards mission will make recommendations on military and economic assistance.

The President's signature today marks the end of a drive for a Middle East resolution on which Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles placed an "urgent" tag.

The drive was on even before Eisenhower appeared at a joint session of Congress Jan. 5.

The House, on Jan. 30, voted 355-61 to give the President just about what he asked.

The Senate acted March 5 after writing in a number of changes. It voted 72-19 to approve what Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas called "a clear and unequivocal warning to the Communist aggressors they must reckon with the United States if they move in the Middle East."

★ ★ ★

Instead of providing advance "authority" for the President to use troops, the Senate changed the resolution to declare that if the President deems it necessary, "the United States is prepared to use armed forces" to help requesting nations repel armed aggression from countries controlled by communism.

Detroit Oil Strike Closing More Area Gas Stations

An unwelcome holiday has begun for many of the Standard and Mobilgas station operators in the Pontiac area.

The strike against Standard Oil Co. and Sonocy Mobil Oil Co. has caused depletion of gasoline stocks at area station forcing approximately one-third to close by this morning.

Other stations report that they have enough to last until the middle of next week.

Despite all-day negotiations yesterday, the unions and the oil companies are no closer to a settlement, but talks will resume Monday, State Mediator Hyman Parker said.

Three unions are involved in the strike, representing truck drivers, terminal operators, loaders, salesmen and office workers.

★ ★ ★

Members of the AFL-CIO Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers Union walked out at both Standard and Socony Mobil. The independent Central States Petroleum Workers Union joined the strike this week against Standard.

The Socony workers are asking 35 cents an hour increase and have been offered a three per cent boost, or about seven to eight cents an hour, Parker said.

At Standard, the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union is asking 27 cents an hour more and has been offered the same three per cent. The Central States Petroleum Workers are seeking a nine per cent raise and also have been offered three per cent.

Wage scales presently at Standard are $2.33 to $2.65 an hour, and at Mobil, $1.85 to $2.70 an hour.

MEMO TO CAESAR

Roman Agent Is Mystified

(Fourth in a Lenten series)

A messenger coming up from Ostia to Rome, brought Tiberius Caesar a lengthy letter from Pilate, his governor in Judaea. It is given here in two parts. . . .

To Caesar, Greeting:

Perhaps I was wrong in my estimate of the carpenter's son from Nazareth as a mild man. Junius, our agent, reports events which make it look as if this man Jesus has, indeed, some very great strength of character.

★ ★ ★

Already, he has a number of followers.

As Junius gets the information, Jesus disappeared into the wilderness following his baptism by John—whom Herod still holds in prison, by the way.

Jesus was in the wilderness for 40 days. Now certainly a man must eat in that period of time in order to live; but our agent says there are few fruits growing on that side of Jordan in the wild places and animals, except the fiercest, shun the area.

Junius felt it incumbent upon him to keep an eye on the man. And when he saw him come out of the wilderness he was hungry and emaciated but there was a brilliant, compelling light in his eyes and a great calm seemed to have settled upon his brow.

"It was as though," Junius wrote, "the man had been tempted by the forces of evil—by cupidity and visions of power as well as by hunger itself—and has conquered them all! I cannot tell you the exact effect that seeing the man had upon me.

"It was as though he had taken a decision not only greater than most men could comprehend, but perhaps greater than any man has ever faced. He showed great sureness of soul. Yet his natural mildness had not left him."

Obviously mystified, Junius followed the man to Nazareth . . .

Move to Solve Differences Over Additional Judge

By PETE LOCHBILER

A move to solve partisan differences to obtain a fifth circuit court judge for Oakland County appeared in the making today.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Leslie H. Hudson, Democrat of Pontiac, said the compromise involved amendment of his bill calling for appointment of another judge by the governor next January.

This bill was in contrast to one under consideration by Rep. Farrell E. Roberts, Republican of West Bloomfield Township. It would call for the new judge to be elected into office.

It seemed certain that an appointment by Democratic Gov. G. Mennen Williams would produce a judge with Democratic affiliation.

On the other hand, Republicans believed that at a general election, predominately Republican Oakland County would choose a GOP judge.

EYE COMPROMISE

The possible compromise, Hudson said, was reflected in a resolution adopted by the Board of Supervisors yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Supervisors went on record for a fifth judge to be elected in the November election next year. He would take office in January, 1959.

The compromise seemingly favors the Republicans, who claim four of the county's six posts in the House of Representatives. Hudson, however, would not admit the GOP will still hold the majority of the voters by next November.

"The main thing," he said, "is that we all get behind the move for a new judge."

His belief was that the date endorsed by the supervisors would be the one ultimately placed on his bill. The legislation is presently under consideration by a house committee, Hudson said, that is awaiting a county decision on the matter.

Hudson charged though, that the compromise was delaying the date a fifth circuit judge would be available to help handle the mounting court load. He contended the new judge is needed as soon as possible.

Roberts yesterday denied this.

SPACE PROBLEM

'At the moment," he said, "our circuit court docket seems to be in pretty good shape. The real consideration is to have space available for the judge to work in once he is appointed."

He referred to the difficulty in finding room in the present courthouse for a new judge to hold court.

"Obviously, our best answer lies in obtaining another judge at a time when additional space is available in the proposed new courthouse," Roberts stated.

Just when and if the new courthouse will be ready is a matter which is clouded by a law suit that has held up major steps towards construction. The suit may be tried next month.

★ ★ ★

"In the meantime," Roberts said, "we have to attempt to synchronize the date the judge takes office and the date there is courtroom space available."

THIRD PROPOSAL

For this reason, a third proposal is under consideration in some quarters. This is the recommendation by the Oakland County Bar Association that a new judge be delayed still further—until the spring election in 1959.

Pilot Parachutes From Sabrejet

Jumps Minutes Before Burning Plane Explodes North of County

A Selfridge Air Force Base pilot parachuted to safety minutes before his F-86D Sabrejet crashed and disintegrated in a Hadley Township swamp, 2½ miles north of Oakland County yesterday.

Second Lt. William L. Durkee Jr., 22 of Bellaire, landed safely in a tree two miles from where his plane crashed near Hegel and Jasmund roads.

The craft "seemed to explode," according to witnesses, spraying a wide area with wreckage. The motor was found three miles away.

A member of the 94th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at the Mount Clemens base, Durkee radioed at 2:30 that he was bailing out after his engine caught fire.

An air force helicopter picked the pilot up at the scene, after he had freed himself from the tree, and returned him to Selfridge Field.

Bodies May Be Missing Pair

Mexican Police Check Chance That Remains Are New Yorkers

ACAPULCO, Mexico (INS)—The bodies of a man and a woman were found in a remote area of Mexico today and there was immediate speculation that they may be two missing New York tourists.

★ ★ ★

Acapulco Police Chief Gonzalo Gonzalez, said he had been informed of the discovery of the bodies this morning. An immediate investigation was launched to determine if the bodies were those of Mrs. Edith Hallock, 42, wealthy New York widow, and Joseph Michel, 59, prominent New York attorney.

The two tourists disappeared on Feb. 20, touching off an intensive investigation that led police to suspect foul play.

The two bodies had been attacked by wild animals which hindered identification. They were found between Tecpan and Zihautanejo in the state of Guerraro, an area along the Pacific Ocean about 100 miles north of Acapulco.

MAY BE TOURISTS

Gonzalez said the bodies were discovered by a farmer, Franco de la Paz. The officer said they may be those of the two missing New Yorkers, but he could not be sure until after a thorough investigation.

Michel and Mrs. Hallock disappeared after visiting a night club on an island in Acapulco Bay. Their luggage was later found in their hotel rooms.

A $15,000 mink coat belonging to Mrs. Hallock was found yesterday in the checkroom of the night club. It was identified by her brother-in-law, Walter Hoffman, who came to Mexico from New York with his wife to aid the investigation.

JEWELRY GONE

Hoffman said practically all her jewelry, which he estimated was valued at $100,000, was still missing.

Meanwhile, in New York, Michel's brother, Dr. Leo Michel said he is considering making a trip to Mexico to help in the investigation despite a death threat.

★ ★ ★

Michel said he received a call Thursday warning him he would be "murdered" if he made the trip. He has been keeping in telephone contact with the U. S. consul in Mexico City, Lloyd River, for developments in the case.

Novel Can't Be Sold in Detroit

'Obscene' Book Battle Goes On

DETROIT (AP) — Technically, Police Commissioner Edward Piggins' ban on the sale of the novel "Ten North Frederick" has been lifted. But it still is against the law to sell the book in Detroit.

Nathaniel H. Goldstick, assistant city attorney, explained that Piggins' ban was lifted because the U. S. Supreme Court ruled Michigan's 116-year-old anti-obscenity law unconstitutional. However, Goldstick added, police still have authority to prevent sale of the book under city ordinance.

Goldstick did his explaining in Circuit Court, where Random House Inc. and Bantam Books Inc., publishers of "Ten North Frederick" are challenging Piggins' right to ban sale of John O'Hara's novel.

Goldstick said the ban as such had been lifted, even though police still are under orders to arrest anyone selling copies.

CONSTITUTES BAN

"That constitutes a ban if I ever heard one," challenged Ralph R. Goldsmith, attorney for Random House.

★ ★ ★

Piggins in his original ban ordered all book stores to remove the O'Hara novel from shelves. The Supreme Court subsequently held Michigan's law under which Piggins acted unconstitutional.

Arguing that police orders to arrest anyone selling the book still constitutes a ban, Goldsmith contends this violates both the first and 14th Amendments to the Constitution. The first guarantees of freedom of press; the 14th due process of law.

★ ★ ★

Goldstick disclosed technical lifting of Piggins' ban after Circuit Judge Carl Weideman said at one point: "If this book is as bad and shocking as they say it is, why don't police lift the ban and take sellers into Recorder's (criminal) court under the statute prohibiting sale of obscene literature?"

RULE NEXT WEEK

Weideman said he would rule next week in the suit, brought by publishers in the wake of Piggins' ban of both the paperbound and clothbound volumes of the novel.

The Supreme Court's decision striking down Michigan's anti-obscenity law came in a suit contesting a previous Detroit police ban on the sale of another novel, "The Devil Rides Outside," by John Howard Griffin.

Justice Felix Frankfurter said in the court's 8-0 decision:

Dag Tackles Long-Range Plan

Seeks Peace in Mideast

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Faced by ominous signs of new trouble in the Middle East, Dag Hammarskjold today began work on long-range measures aimed at preventing a recurrence of Israeli-Egyptian conflict.

The problem was left in the secretary general's hands last night when the U. N. General Assembly adjourned its regular 11th session after hearing an official report that Israel had completed its withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and the Sharm El Sheikh area.

The assembly adjourned subject to the call of its president.

One of the most pressing problems appeared to be that of trying to get agreement for U. N. forces to be stationed on both sides of the 1949 Palestine armistice line to prevent a renewal of raids across the border from Egypt and Israel.

Ohio Factory Fertilizer Burns

Bitter Fumes Spread for Miles; Extent of Loss Not Yet Known

SOUTH POINT, Ohio (AP) — Fire ignited in 45,000 tons of fertilizer at the Allied Chemical & Dye Corp., plant early today generated clouds of arcid fumes that endangered a wide area as far away as Huntington, W. Va., 12 miles to the east.

Nearby communities in the Ohio Valley were alerted, and in Huntington the National Guard was summoned for emergency duty.

Firemen from Ironton, Ashland, Ky., across the river, and Huntington joined the plant's firefighting unit in combatting the blaze.

The fire, in a storehouse, 100 yards wide, 600 yards long and 100 feet high, was still smoldering at 9 a.m., some eight and a half hours after it was discovered.

Mobile cranes were moved near the structure and hoses mounted on the booms to pour water into the fire area.

R. E. Smith, a public relations official at the plant, said the cause of the blaze and extent of the loss have not been determined.

Hopes Brighten for End of Negro School Boycott

ALCORN, Miss. (AP) — The first break in the student boycott at Alcorn A&M brightened hopes the State College Board would find a way today to keep the Negro college alive.

Possibly as many as 95 students, among them education seniors just back from practice teaching, were reported seeking to return to classes. They also included some who signed "final withdrawal" statements yesterday.

The break in the students' solid front apparently freed the college board of its announced intention to lock up all campus buildings today if students were not back in classes. The board's statement did not say all students must return.

The all-white board called today's emergency session in the state capital at Jackson, on the basis of reports all of the estimated 585 students of the 86-year-old coeducational school walked out yesterday.

The students, announcing the "death" of the old land grant school for Negroes, left the campus when they failed yesterday to get the resignation of Prof. Clennon King. They accused King of getting the college into a controversial situation by writing a series of newspaper articles on segregation and said he used pictures of students to illustrate the articles without their permission.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill which provides for ending the 47 year old postal savings system has been approved by the House Post Office Committee.

The bill approved by committee yesterday was requested by the administration.

The total on deposit has been declining by 200 million annually, the committee was told.

As of last June 30, the system had deposits totaling $1,765,000,000. It made a profit of 6½ million dollars for 1956.

Sick With Flu, Nixon Flying to British Uganda

MONROVIA, Liberia (AP) — U. S. Air Force mechanics worked swiftly today to replace a balky engine in Vice President Nixon's plane in time for his overnight trip to British Uganda.

A new engine was rushed here from Prestwick, Scotland, 1,000 miles away to replace one of the four on Nixon's plane which conked out as it landed at Roberts Field Thursday.

The engine failure caused Nixon to pass up a planned hop to French Equatorial Africa to meet Dr. Alfred Schweitzer, famed humanitarian.

As he continued his busy round of appointments, observers noticed that Nixon moved with less zest than he had since he began his tour 10 days ago. He told reporters he had a slight recurrence of his flu attack apparently because of the dust and humidity.

Despite his ailment, Nixon journeyed 60 miles through swirling red dust into the Bomi Hills yesterday to visit Africa's biggest iron ore deposit.

The Day in Birmingham

Select Midwest Authors for March 12 Library Event

BIRMINGHAM — Going on the theory that not all well-known writers are in and around New York City, Friends of the Baldwin Public Library have selected a panel of midwestern writers who will discuss, on March 12 at 8:15 p.m., "Adventures in Writing and Publishing."

The panel will include Harriet Arnow, author of two novels of the Kentucky area and Sylvia Cooper, author of "Thunderstone," who says she has been "writing ever since I can remember." Third panel member is Allan Seager, a native of Adrian and author of several books.

They will tell of their adventures in writing and of their work with publishers.

Other area writers who will be present at the Library auditorium, will include J. O. Buckeridge, Elmore Leonard, Mary McSherry Marker, Melba Marlette, Mary Celestia Pearson, Margaret Peterson and Gertrude White.

★ ★ ★

Reserves for capital improvement and special assessments in Birmingham have been increased by more than $65,000 by the sale of city-owned land.

Finance director James Purkiss says the sale of land on Hunter boulevard and the eastern end of Lincoln avenue netted $65,881, of which $10,000 has been placed in the special assessment fund.

Metropolitan Club Spirit 9, a group of men from the Bloomfield Hills and Birmingham police, fire and postal departments, will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in the clubhouse at 3020 Coolidge Hwy., Berkley.

Final speakers for the 1957-58 Town Hall series were announced this week by Mrs. Edward E. Codner, program chairman.

John Canaday, of the Philadelphia Museum of Art, and Richard Armour, noted poet, author and satirist, complete the list.

Canaday is scheduled to appear Feb. 6 and 7, speaking on "Is It Art If You Like It," using color slides for illustration. Armour's subject, "Laughing at Ourselves," will be heard March 21 and 22.

Mrs. Codner commented that this is the first time Town Hall has extended into March.

"This is the only date available for Armour, professor of English Literature at Scripps College, California. We were so anxious to get him that we extended our normal running time to fit his schedule," Mrs. Codner said.

Dems Continue Delay in House

Agenda Growing Long as Full Bill Reading Snarls Sessions

LANSING (AP) — Members of the House will return to their desks Monday night to find themselves confronted by an agenda that grows longer and longer as Democrats stubbornly persist in their slowdown tactics.

Again yesterday Rep. Frank A. Mahoney (D-Detroit) demanded that all bills up for debate or passage be read from start to finish. In a two-hour session, members approved six minor bills and rejected another, but failed to get to 29 others.

By contrast, the Senate has less than a dozen bills on its calendar.

Democrats, led by Mahoney, have served notice that their filibuster will continue into next week.

Rep. Ed Carey (D-Detroit), House minority leader, says a caucus next week will reappraise the situation to decide whether to continue party protest against a Republican-backed change in a rule of the House.

Capping a second day of lively debate, supporters of a bill dealing with bulk milk dispensers failed yesterday to muster enough support for an amendment which would allow the dispensers to be made of hot-dipped tinned steel, stainless steel "or other corrosion resistant material."

The vote was 46-33 in favor of the bill, but 54 votes were needed for passage.

Opponents argued that milk cans of tinned steel rusted too easily, posing a hazard for the consumer.

Supporters contended that state and local dairy inspectors do away with this danger, and that more inspectors could be hired if necessary.

Water Taxi Rammed, Its Pilot Dies in East

NEW YORK (AP)—A 60-year-old man was killed last night in rain-swept New York Harbor when the water taxi he was operating was crushed after a tanker rammed an anchored freighter.

Thomas O'Rourke, a retired policeman, piloted the taxi about the harbor to service anchored vessels. He had pulled alongside the 486-foot freighter Steel Admiral to take off crewmen.

At that moment in the driving rain the freighter was struck by the tanker Val T, crushing O'Rourke's 35-foot craft.

A large hole was ripped in the side of the freighter, owned by the Isthmian Steamship Line. The prow was crushed on the Val T, owned by the Valentine Oil Corp. Nobody aboard either ship was injured. The Coast Guard towed the Val T to a nearby pier.

U. of D. Hikes Tuition, Keeps Step With Others

DETROIT (INS) — A $50-a-year tuition increase was announced today by the University of Detroit.

The Very Rev. Fr. Celestin J. Steiner, S. J., president of U. of D said the hike was necessary "in order to continue to provide the highest possible quality of education for students."

University officials said the increase is equivalent to that which legislators have been urging for tax-supported universities in Michigan.

Macmillan, Mollet Talk

PARIS (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britian and a dozen of his top aides arrived here today for weekend conferences with Premier Guy Mollet and other French officials. 'Great Crisis' Over

WASHINGTON (INS) — Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson declared today that "we have passed safely through one of the great crises of modern history" as a result of Israeli evactuation of the Gaza Strip.

Portland Mayor Due for Lie Test

Frank W. Brewster and William Langley, Teamsters-backed district attorney of Multnomah County.

Portland gambler James B. (Big Jim) Elkins has linked Brewster, Crosby and Langley to a plot to control vice operations in the city.

Other developments yesterday were:

1. Seattle gamblers Tom Maloney and Joe McLaughlin, named by Elkins as Brewster's hechmen, both denied being "employes or officials" of the 1,400,000-member Teamsters Union, biggest in the country.

★ ★ ★

2. Maloney, puffy-faced and bleary-eyed and according to his attorney in need of hospitalization for a sore throat, refused to testify about relationships with Crosby or to say whether he ever got any money from the union.

3. McLaughlin, who complained that he lost his memory and other "faculties" several times in the last 16 years, couldn't remember some points, invoked the Fifth Amendment on relationships with Crosby, said he never got any money from Brewster but refused to say whether the union ever paid his expenses.

McLaughlin said he was "sorry" that he was unable to comment on Crosby because the two are under the same conspiracy indictment in Portland and he fears self-incrimination.

In other developments, Crosby charged that Elkins had tried to "extort $10,000" from him when the Teamsters leader waged a crusade to block the underworld figure from expanding his influence with city officials.

Vet's Pension Can Alter SS Payments

From A.W. of Los Angeles: "My wife and I are nearing the age when we'll both be eligible for Social Security old-age pensions. My wife has worked enough to be eligible for payments on her own. Is is possible for her to receive checks based on her own work and to receive them as my wife, too?"

No, she is only eligible to collect the higher of the two payments.

★ ★ ★

From D.F.T. of Phoenix, Ariz.: "I've been receiving a pension from the Veterans Administration because I was severly disabled in a car accident. I've been told by the Social Security Administration that I'm eligible to Social Security disability payments. Does the fact that I'm getting a vet's pension have any bearing on the Social Security payments?"

Yes. Under the Social Security law, your Social Security disability payments will be reduced by the amount of your vet's pension.

★ ★ ★

From Mrs. R.B. of Frederick, Md.: "What is the maximum amount my husband and I can get under Social Security? I've never worked in a job where I was covered by Social Security?"

The maximum payment for both of you is $162.80.

★ ★ ★

From L.E. of International Falls, Minn.: "How many names are there in the Social Security files?"

In November, 1956, there were 156 million.

From Mrs. H.O.H. of Washington, D.C.: "For the past three years I've been working for the federal government because my husband has been stationed here. In another year or so, he's scheduled to be transferred. I've paid quite a lot of money into the Civil Service retirement fund. Can I withdraw this money when I quit?"

Yes.

★ ★ ★

From Mrs. R.F. of New York City: "I'e been living with my brother since my husband died in 1937. I am past 63 years of age and have never worked under Social Security. My brother is getting Social Security. He's been supporting me. Am I entitled to any benefits?"

A sister is not eligible for Social Security payments based on the work record of a brother.

★ ★ ★

From C.L. of Elizabeth, N.J.: "Someone told me that a lump sum is paid in Social Security after a person dies. I've always paid into Social Security and I'm not married. If I should die, who would be eligible for the lump sum?"

The person paying for your funeral expenses may collect the money.

De Valera for Stable Ireland

Will Be Prime Minister Third Time in Career; Party Wins 78 Seats

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP)—Eamon de Valera, with a working majority of 17 to 20 votes in the Irish Dail (Parliament), is looking forward to a stable government.

The Dail will formally elect him prime minister of the Irish Republic for the third time March 20.

The final count in Tuesday's elections gave De Valera's Fianna Fail (Men of Destiny) party 78 seats in the 147-member House.

Fine Gael (United Ireland), the party of John A. Costello, the outgoing prime minister, won 40 seats. The Labor party won 12, independents 9, Sinn Fein 4, Clann Na Talmhan (Farmers) 3 and Clann Na Poblachta (Republicans) 1.

The Sinn Feiners, political arm of the outlawed Irish Republican Army, have served notice they will boycott Parliament until Ireland is united politically with Northern Ireland, now part of the United Kingdom with England, Scotland and Wales.

★ ★ ★

Two of the Sinn Feiners elected are in jail for revolutionary acts.

De Valera also will have the support of at least three independents and maybe more.

Although 74 and almost blind, De Valera appeared eager to resume the prime ministry he relinquished three years ago when Fianna Fail missed a majority by nine seats and De Valera refused to form a coalition.

"We can look forward to stable government," he said. "The battle for unemployment and the other economic ills from which the country is suffering has got to begin. . . . Only one great combined and sustained effort, and the task will be done."

★ ★ ★

Ireland's unemployed now number 100,000, out of a total population under three million. Irish youth are emigrating at the rate of around 1,000 a month.

In his statement, De Valera did not refer to the problem of uniting Ireland. He has said it should be done peacefully.

★ ★ ★

Donations may be left at any barber shop in the county, the local stated.

★ ★ ★

Several members of Local 40 will visit the county infirmary and the County Children's Home Wednesday to cut the residents' hair, as part of the association's public service program.

A Good Cigar's Not Only a Smoke but Fire, Too!

DETROIT (INS) — William Spencer of Detroit likes his cigars and hates to part with a good one before it is finished.

★ ★ ★

Because of his love of cigars, along with a touch of absentmindedness, Spencer was in Lincoln Park Hospital Thursday with burns of the hands and chest.

★ ★ ★

The 32-year-old man tucked his lit cigar into his shirt pocket when he boarded a bus. As he got off at Grand Blvd., flames and smoke burst out of his coat.

★ ★ ★

He began pounding at the flames and was joined by two passersby. He was taken to Lincoln Park Hospital.

★ ★ ★

City Leader to View Nike Men in Action

Mayor William W. Donaldson left for El Paso, Texas, where next week he will watch the firing of the Nike guided missile by Delta Battery of the 18th Antiaircraft Missle Battalion from Auburn Heights.

Irving Steinman, Pontiac USO leader, and Douglas Moore, of Auburn Heights, also will witness the firing by the local unit at its annual firing practice.

Before his trip to El Paso, Mayor Donaldson will visit his brother and daughter in Colorado, and visit Fort Worth and Dallas to study the two cities' urban renewal projects.

Beware— of Unknown Building Contractors!
In the last few weeks, Pontiac area house owners have been flooded with offers of re-siding and modernization jobs "at cost or below."
This is the old "model home" racket in which the prospect is apparently offered a substantial discount if he will only let the salesman use his home as a model.
In a particular instance, the home owner was promised a "1,600 job for only $1,030." A local contractor's bid on the same job was $850. Other known examples follow the same pattern.
Before you sign a contract, remember these things—
1. If you have signed with a contractor who does not have a state license, your contract is void.
2. If you permit work to be done on your house without a city or township permit, you may be in trouble.
3. Always get at least two bids.
4. For your own safety, deal only with local, reputable contractors.

Indo-China Commies Are Having Bad Time

As time passes and the factors involved become more clearly established, it's apparent that the Reds in Indo-China are having themselves an all around bad time.

Some call it a mess.

★ ★ ★

South Viet Nam is under U. S. general guidance, while the Northern sector is not only "guided" but arbitrarily ruled by the Communists. When this division was first established more than two years back, the scoffers and disbelievers predicted that the Reds would soon have the South under their thumb as well as the North.

★ ★ ★

At the moment, the Reds have more military power (as one might expect), but their domination and superiority cease at about that level. President Diem has amazed the international cynics who were confident the Reds would take him over at their leisure. The facts are, his policies of friendliness, kindness, sympathy and the desire to improve the lot of the people have made him a hero, while the Commies are struggling desperately in the North to hang on.

★ ★ ★

As might be expected, the Reds' rule in the North began with a vast and shocking purge. Land owners were ruthlessly given the old Red business, while students and intellectuals were rubbed out, erased and otherwise rendered as impotent as possible. It was a bath of blood but the Reds did none of the important bleeding.

★ ★ ★

Knowledge of these tactics can never be supressed and refugees who escaped from the North carried truthful tales of the machinations across the border.

The North army and the police are loyal to their Communist masters. This is one segment of any given population that the savages treat with care and attention. Thus, when the people at large express dissatisfaction or resentment at their treatment, the rulers of the North are prepared to "let them have it."

And "let them," they do.

★ ★ ★

In a word, as of today, the Communistic North finds food, clothing and agricultural products dwindling. Thousands of citizens have been massacred.

In the South, the current government is steadily winning additional favor by improving living standards, instituting schooling, public health bureaus and some of the luxuries our world offers.

★ ★ ★

Originally, the die-hards believed the Communists would control the whole country. Today, it's the Reds who have to look to their laurels. They're slipping and fortunately, they're slipping rather rapidly.

Day of Reckoning for Dave Beck

Life has been a bowl of cherries for David Beck up to this point, but the day of reckoning may be at hand.

Beck is the head man in the Teamsters Union and he rode rough-shod over friend and foe for an extended period of time. David went under the ancient theory that the "King can do no wrong" and since he was the top and unquestioned King, he was accountable to no one.

★ ★ ★

James B. Carey, CIO-AFL vice president pronounces him "a traitor to unionism." He added further that if Mr. Beck's henchmen don't do an overnight reversal they're in danger of explusion from the union, even before the United States Government takes a hand.

★ ★ ★

Right here in Pontiac, the CIO council has expressed itself plainly on the question of big time union parasites. As President Fred V. Haggard said, "it takes a lot of clean, decent union activities to counteract the impression on the public that a man this can make."

★ ★ ★

Beck sold his Seattle residence to his own union for a sum of money in six figures and then was granted the right to live there the rest of his life. The nation's full of fine union men who would welcome the same treatment.

Certainly the public will sympathize with the union members who have been bilked and disgraced by Beck's activities, but his own boys failed to do anything until Government investigators appeared. Beck should have been nailed sooner, but it's comforting to know that justice and decency are finally closing in from behind.

House Shenanigans Make Case for Restrictions

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—Democrats and Republicans each seem to think they have a point with respect to the current shenanigans in the House.

★ ★ ★

But some observers not particularly concerned with making political party records might well wonder if the whole business isn't more than anything else an argument for a 60-day or 90-day limit on legislative sessions, like the time restrictions fixed in most other states.

Rep. Frank A. Mahoney (D-Detroit), chief engineer of the slowdown movement, and his supporters argue that the Democratic tactics serve the cause of enlightened democracy.

This is done, they say by dramatizing the significance of last week's revision of the House rules, and what they contend was a weakening of the principle of a legislator's acountability to his constituents.

★ ★ ★

The Republican argument, voiced chiefly by Rep. Allison Green of Kingston, GOP floor leader, is that the Democrats are uselessly holding up legislative business over an issue that has been decided and in the people's interest.

LOOK FOOLISH?

And, of course, Republicans assert the stallers are making themselves look foolish in the process.

It's hard to say that the right is all on one side.

But to see merit in the Democratic cause one must appraise the lengths to which such a demonstration justifiably can be carried, and the answer isn't likely to be Mahoney's — "until Christmas."

A proper judgment might also require an estimate of the chances of achieving any concrete result — for example, a Republican decision to undo what has been done. This appears nil.

As for the Republican contention, the merit — outside any partisan advantage that might accrue — would have to be measured in terms of the volume and character of the business being delayed.

★ ★ ★

On this basis, if it adds up to a more imposing argument than the Democrats advance, it isn't by much.

A good three or four hours of legislative work on any day you choose probably would cut down again to normal size for this stage of the session.

What does it all add up to?

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

Maybe it's that it doesn't make much difference to the public what happens in the House — whether the Democrats demonstrate wisely or foolishly or not at all.

★ ★ ★

Almost any lawmaker will say privately that the Legislature isn't going to do anything anyway until after the April 1 election, anything that counts.

That's where you come to the case for the 60 or 90-day session, or else getting rid of elections in the spring when the Legislature meets.

The big hitch, of course, would be to make provision for the work of the budget screening committees in both legislative chambers, and maybe a few other groups with man-sized responsibilities.

Explains Legend of St. Longinus

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

In the Gospel according to St. John, chapter 19, verse 34, it is written " . . . one of the soldiers with a spear pierced his side." This of course, took place at the Crucifixion. The apocryphal Gospel of Nicodemus enlarges on the incident and gives this soldier a name —Longinus—and the result that has been that a St. Longinus has for centuries appeared in the Christian calendar.

★ ★ ★

The details behind St. Longinus are most dubious. That some soldier did pierce the Lord's side is a matter of accepted fact, but beyond it all is legend.

The very name Longinus is open to question. It is suspiciously like the Greek word for "lance," which probably means the soldier's name is not really known. Besides, it requires some fanciful thinking to make a saint out of the pagan who administered the final coup de grace in the tragedy of Calvary.

Unsupportable tradition has it that when this soldier thrust his spear into the Lord's side some of the Precious Blood flowed down the weapon and touched his eyes, whereupon he saw all with a new and miraculous clarity. He at once understood and believed.

★ ★ ★

This belief was strengthened by the events—the earthquake and the darkening of the sun—which followed, and he joined with the little Christian group, received instructions from the Apostles, gave up his military career and devoted the remainder of his life to spreading the new faith.

He became one of the first bishops of Cappadocia—if not the first.

Such is the age-old story. At any rate, Friday is St. Longinus' day.

FEAST OF ESTHER

Friday also is the Jews' one great secular (nonreligious) festival, based on something that never happened and yet is always happening. Its theme is the indestructibility of the Jewish people. "In every generatiion and in every land, tyrants have sought to destroy us," and one after another the tyrants have disappeared and been forgotten, while the Jews live on, one of the oldest of peoples, yet ever young in vitality and power.

Friday is Purim, the hilarious, unrestrained "feast of the light heart." The Purim story is told in the book of Esther, the strange Old Testament book that is the only one in which God is not once mentioned. It is a story not unfamiliar in fiction, of how a beautiful woman captures the heart of an enemy king and saves her people from disaster. The wicked prime minister, Haman, plots the extinction of the Jews, but Esther turns the tables on him and he ends swinging from the gallows he had built for Jewish leaders.

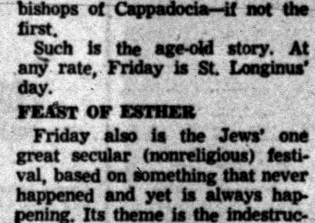

Scholars say this could not have happened historically, and yet it is more true in essence than many textbooks. For it deals with a fact proven over and over again through the centuries. No one knows who wrote this novel, but whoever did so was both an observer and a prophet. He saw that peculiar quality of the Jews which makes them able to weather oppression and tragedy and to emerge confident if not unscathed.

The general theme of Purim—that is, deliverance—is frequently applied to the smaller scene. Wherever Jews have been delivered from the hand of an enemy, or even from the caprice of nature, they are likely to say a Purim has taken place.

In various cities around the world local Jews celebrate local Purims in commemoration of some providential rescue, and many Jewish households have their own family Purims in memory of a time when they or their immediate ancestors were saved from some threatening doom. Such local or family Purims, of course, are not necessarily held on this same date: The 14th day of the month of Adar.

LI'L ONES

"Somehow I hate the thought of quitting work each day."

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Tomb May Doom Persistent Warts

"The castor treatment for warts didn't work for me, although I tried some rancid oil too. But the iodine treatment worked fine. (V. D.)"

Answer — In that case there will be no charge. If it's just one or two warts and neither castor oil nor iodine works, you can always try painting each wart daily with the familiar corn collodion —thirty grains of salicylic acid dissolved in one-half oz. flexible collodion.

BRADY

If the wart is still there after a week, visit a graveyard at midnight, dark or moonlight, and bury some salt pork stolen from your grandmother. The difficult part of this treatment is to find a grandmother who has pork in her barrel.

"Belly breathing has been a big boost to me, as I had an injury of my diaphragm when playing football . . . and also found it very helpful to my 18-year-old son who had bulbar polio five years ago. (P. L.)"

Answer — It would be a big boost to a lot of people if we could only pound a little practical physiology into their solid ivory . . . Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35c, for booklet How to Breathe.

"Please send in the inclosed stamped, self-addressed envelope, a copy of your pamphlet on Pruritus. (C. McA)"

Answer — Pruritus means itching, especially itching without apparent skin trouble.

"Husband, 28, highly irritable, fumes about every little thing, is tired most of the time, seems to live on ——— and ——— (antacid tablets) for "heartburn" and "upset stomach." Two physicians examined him and said he is in excellent condition. When he is miserable we all feel miserable . . . (Mrs. C. M.)"

Answer — Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet "Yankee Stomach." He should pay particular attention to what I say in the pamphlet about teeth.

"I can never thank you enough for your Constipation booklet. I had been troubled for many years with this problem, and I am free of it now. I feel like a new person. I pray that our good Lord will bless. . . . (C. H. M.)"

Answer — It's no problem, just a bad habit. Anyone who has the habit may send me 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for Volumette 25 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, The Constipation Habit and Colon Hygiene.

"I have been supplementing my diet with calcium and vitamin D regularly for nearly two years. I owe you a million dollars. My shoulder joints no longer ache and neither do my fingers. It is wonderful! (Mrs. J. F.)"

Answer — Probably your total intake of calcium and D from food plus capsules is little if any greater than everyone should have just to maintain good nutrition. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatic.

"Every member of our family wears or leaves off whatever he or she likes all through the year. Sometimes friends and neighbors consider us "nuts," I'm afraid, but thanks to your teachings we're a healthy, happy family . . . (G. L.)"

Answer — The young ones should have lots of fun laughing at the neighbors too bundled up to enjoy outdoor life.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Love at First Sight Is Dangerous

Ernest appeals to me doubly, for I was in the same boat when I was 16. But the girl who exerted the magic spell over me was a wonderful young woman. As a rule, "earned" love is safer and produces fewer divorces. But if you do fall in love at first sight, better consult your friends and use the Marriage Tests described below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-324: Ernest J., aged 17, is a high school senior.

"Dr. Crane, you have told us that people can fall in love two ways," he began.

"One is by love at first sight while the other is by earned love through shared happiness on many dates.

"Well, I wonder which method is better?

"I fell in love at first sight with a cigaret girl at a night club in my city. I'm crazy about her and can't study.

"She wants me to elope with her and I feel like doing so. But I know my parents want me to go on to college. What should I do?"

DANGEROUS LOVE

Love at first sight is the more dangerous type. For it can strike you before you even get acquainted with the object of your sudden ardor.

In the "earned" love affair, however, you have plenty of time to learn each other's personality and see how well you harmonize.

You meet the girl's parents and friends. You hear about her likes and dislikes, her hobbies and social attitudes, for you go on many dates over a period of possibly several years.

Then this common mass of happy experiences and memories serves much as a joint checking account of spiritual values.

It tends to weld unmarried couples together much as children help cement the bonds of love and devotion between parents.

★ ★ ★

However, not all cases of love at first sight prove disastrous. If you meet a girl in a church group and then fall in love at first sight, the odds are better than if you fall in love with a bar maid.

MY OWN ROMANCE

When I was 16 years old, I was elected president of the young people's society at the church.

But before the actual casting of ballots, the various nominees for office were asked to stand and take a bow so the voters could see them.

Four vice presidents were nominated. And then the fourth vice president stood up, I took one look at her and my heart did complete flipflop, or so it felt.

And to this day my heart has never got back to its original position.

For the girl being nominated had such a charming smile and irradiated such an attractive personality, that I fell in love at first sight.

★ ★ ★

So I can sympathize by personal experience with Ernest and all the rest of you who are smitten instantly by Cupid, without even being given a chance to develop an "earned" love affair.

That girl later became my wife, but not for 11 years, for I went on to college and graduate school.

Meanwhile, I dated other girls and developed several romances of the "earned" love variety.

But the magic spell of that original sudden romance still held, and has persisted for 40 years.

But suppose I had fallen in love at first sight with an unscrupulous girl of an immoral nature and generally a poor prospect for rearing children.

Then I would have had to battle this spell as an evil influence. Many of you readers right now are smitten by love at first sight, and may sometimes realize that you must break the spell, since logic demands that you do so.

★ ★ ★

Be reassured that you can do so and that love will rise anew if you go through the proper romantic motions with a desirable member of the opposite sex.

Send for my "Tests for Husbands & Wives," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). Use them to shatter unwise infatuations.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Pontiac Booster' Supports Highway Through Pontiac

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Mr. Swanson and the County Planning Commission are to be congratulated on planning the express artery through the heart of Pontiac. Last year's decline in factory work, from which we haven't recovered yet, should warn Pontiac that more diversified industries are needed.

City officials haven't provided the necessary leadership for a greater Pontiac. The following four categories indicate this:

Failure to encourage annexation of the "Miracle Mile;" failure to encourage industry to stay in Pontiac and to help new industries open factories here; failure to encourage incorporation of surrounding areas and as a result land available for building in Pontiac is scarce; opposition to the express artery highway.

This highway can lead to important growth for Pontiac. Pontiac has power, water, labor, homes, schools, recreation, transportation and markets which industrial experts seek. I suggest a committee be appointed to plan an industrial district to be subdivided and developed for industrial use. It could be sold to manufacturers the same as mass housing projects.

Pontiac can push forward. Express your opinions to your Commission. Support the highway through Pontiac.

Accept and Correct Welfare Criticism

You can't tell what's in a book by its cover. I wrote the letter on Welfare Aid published Wednesday. Upon invitation, I went over and observed the workings of that department. It was an enlightening day.

Mr. John McDonald of the Welfare Department took me on a complete tour and explained conditions. They accepted all my criticisms with an open mind and told me steps are being taken to correct the situation.

When an organization such as this can accept criticism and actually want to make corrections, I give them a lot of credit. If others could see what I saw, we all would have a better concept of what the Welfare Department is doing. Again thanks to Mr. McDonald, Mr. Burt, Mr. Hamilton, and Mr. Howard Estes of the Infirmary for treating me like a taxpayer.

Asks for Advice on Good Figure

Come one, Carlotta, while "Happy 34-24-34" and "38-24-36" are writing nasty letters to each other and to you, how about giving us depressed, chubby ones some hints on how you got such a well-numbered figure, such as exercises etc.? It would really be appreciated. If I had such a figure, I would be proud to show my picture.

It's only health and the beauty from inside that counts. You'd better concentrate on your personalities and quit admiring yourselves.

Mother Praises School Drivers

I want to praise the Waterford bus drivers. They drive in all weather and pick up children along the road who are running for the bus stop but might not make it. They pick up children at their doors in rain, deep snow or slippery weather. They are doing a good job, far beyond the call of duty.

I have yet to see lights, etc., not working. As for breakdowns, anything mechanical can stop working sometimes. They are doing their best.

Waterford Mother

(Editor's Note: To Mrs. Eleanor Sundheim, FE 4-4332: our attempts to get in touch with you indicate there is no such individual. Therefore, we are not running the letter).

Adds Comments on Bus Debate

I was pleased to see the letters on the bus situation. I've worried about school bus breakdowns for years but was told our Four Towns School would have new buses by September, but we haven't seen any yet. Our taxes are so high, which would be all right if we saw something for them, but we have terrible roads, broken down school buses and no garbage pick up. Where does the money go? And I can't see why only one mechanic checks the buses to keep them in working condition.

Leipzig '57 Fair to Impress West

Most Lavish Technical, Industrial Exhibits Yet; Also Ballet, Fashions

BERLIN (INS) — The Communist countries are dressing up Leipzig to give Westerners and visitors from their own countries a carefully controlled look at Communist prosperity and plenty.

Advance reports on the Leipzig Spring Fair, which opens tomorrow, indicate it will be the most lavish technical and industrial exhibition ever staged in a Communist country.

The East Berlin press says East Germany aims to impress Western businessmen so favorably that they will sign orders for $140 million in goods on the spot.

The Leipzig Fair is one of the few occasions when all Westerners are made welcome in a Communist country. Visa formalities are practically abolished, and the visitor is overwhelmed with help, services and advice.

NOT FREE TO WANDER

But the visitor cannot wander around to find out what else there is in East Germany besides the glitter at Leipzig. He must travel directly to and from Leipzig—and keep in touch with the police.

About 40 nations will take part in this year's Fair. The exhibitors include some of West Europe's best-known firms, such as Standard Motors from Britain, Renault from France, and Omega from Switzerland. The U.S. will not be represented.

★ ★ ★

The bulk of the exhibits, however, will be from Communist countries. Red China will show four thousand different items. As well as showing its products, Russia will send three cabinet ministers to the Fair.

Even shattered Hungary will be represented with machine tools, vehicles, measuring instruments, textiles and foodstuffs, according to Leipzig Fair officials.

East Germany for the first time will display the products of its new aircraft industry. But Westerners will not be impressed. The only plane they are likely to see will be the new East German copy of the Russian IL14, which in turn is a copy of the venerable DC3.

The East Germans also have announced they will show new advanced equipment for atomic research.

★ ★ ★

The Fair will not be all nuts and bolts. There will be concerts, ballet and receptions. For the first time at the Fair, Russia will show it's latest women's fashions. There will be a daily show of styles from Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Waterford Schools Plan Fluoridation

Final plans for a fluoridation program in Waterford Township elementary schools have been made, and specific dates have been set for the summer months, according to Dr. B. W. Ross, Waterford dentist and co-ordinator.

Mrs. Kathlene Kowalski, state dental health consultant met with Ross and representatives of the three schools, scheduled for the fluoridation program. The group decided to have the treatments in schools, rather than the C. A. I. building as originally planned.

The five-week schedule for children 3, 7, 10 and 13 years of age, will begin June 24 to July 1, at the Jayne Adams school on Clintonville Rd. One hundred and fifty three students have registered.

One hundred and eighty-five Waterford Village students will be accommodated at the McVittie school on Midland Drive, from July 2 to July 11.

Williams Lake school children will receive treatments from July 12 to July 29, and 255 registrations have been scheduled.

A fee of $4 will cover the cost of one cleaning and four fluoridation treatments, Dr. Ross said.

Representatives from the three schools assisting Dr. Ross are, Clare Novess, of Jayne Adams school, Mrs. John Hoke, Waterford Village and Mrs. Robert Brown from the Williams Lake school, P. T. A. chairmen of their Health Committee groups.

DC7 Lands Safely With One Engine Out

SEATTLE (AP) — A Pan American World Airways DC7 with 53 passengers and a crew of eight aboard landed safely yesterday after it had shut off one of its four engines more than 600 miles off the American coast on a flight from Honolulu.

The Portland-bound airliner, diverted to Seattle after its No. 2 engine on the port side became "rough" and was feathered, touched down in a routine landing.

Alert Teener Cashes In on Presley Popularity

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—Elvis Presley isn't the only one profiting by his popularity.

Ted Whisenhunt, 15, a talented young artist, drew a pencil sketch of the teenage idol for a drawing class.

A Junior High school classmate—female, of course—saw the sketch and bought it for 50 cents.

Since then Ted has doubled his asking price and has sold six sketches.

He made the sketch from a picture of Presley in a movie magazine.

'Let Us All Go Forward Together'

Liberia President Tubman Invites U. S. Investments

(By INS)

President William V. S. Tubman of Liberia, a republic established 110 years ago by freed American slaves, entertained the Vice President of the United States yesterday at the executive mansion in Monrovia.

Tubman likes America. His ancestors did, too. They named their capital after the fifth President of the U.S.

As Richard M. Nixon said in returning Tubman's greetings:

"A key isn't needed to open your hearts, you've already shown that."

Tubman, 61 years old, is the 18th President of Liberia. His administration began in 1943. Among his first acts were to declare war on Germany and Japan because the forces of tyranny were harrassing allied shipping within the territorial water of his own country, on Africa's west coast.

★ ★ ★

Americans met Tubman at first hand when he viisted this country in the autumn of 1954 and made an extensive tour that included sections of the South. The President of Africa's only negro republic spoke with feeling in predicting future integration of races.

HATRED MAJOR PROBLEM

A major problem of our age, he said, is "to eradicate hatred and jealousy from the hearts of men."

The Bible-quoting Liberian Chief Executive often has extolled America and continues to invite U.S. businessmen to invest in his country's future.

★ ★ ★

Founded in 1822 by the American Colonization Society as a means, in part, of draining off the Negro population in America, Liberia became a sovereign state in 1847. Its government is patterned after the American form.

Tubman, who has promulgated the tradition of friendship for the U.S., is a native Liberian whose mother and paternal ancestors emigrated from Atlanta and Augusta, Ga., respectively. He had been a teacher, lawyer and public officer before winning the Presidency as the candidate of the True Whig Party, composed mainly of Americo-Liberians.

Descendants of U.S. Negroes now comprise only a small minority of Liberia's population, estimated about 1,500,000. The country itself is about the size of Ohio. Lying just north of the Equator, it is hot, wet and pretty much untamed in spots.

But under President Tubman, Liberia has attracted considerable U.S. capital with special tax exemptions and other considerations.

His creed might well be, as he put in an Oct. 29, 1954, address before the U.N. General Assembly: ". . . Let us all go forward together . . ."

Regular air service is to be started between Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia.

Oakland County Councils Slate Special Sessions

Conference March 19 in Farmington

"What Are We Doing in Oakland County for the Handicapped Child?"

This is the question to be clarified by the following panel from the Oakland County Board of Education at the March 19 meeting in Farmington of the Oakland County Council of Parents and Teachers:

Dr. Paul P. Thams, Director of Special Services
Howard Morgan, Diagnostician
Mrs. Alma Shields, Consultant for mentally handicapped
Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson, Consultant for physically handicapped
Isabel Raecide, Visiting Teacher, Oakland County
Marjorie L. Gaston, Coordinator for Health Education

Few people, except possibly parents of children who have benefited from the program available for these previously "forgotten children," realize what has been accomplished here in Oakland County since the half mill tax for special education was passed in 1954 for the definite purpose of aiding our handicapped children. Prior to 1955 there were but 56 teachers for 3,470 handicapped children; by June of this year 10,000 handicapped children will be getting an education.

In various areas of the county there are now special education rooms devoted to the handicapped child included in our regular schools. In Farmington, for example, there was no special education available until this program was instituted. Now they have two rooms for the physically handicapped child, a room for the mentally handicapped, a speech correctionist, a teacher trained in behavioral problems, and a physical therapy room.

In past years children in the majority, children who were either physically or mentally unable to keep up with other children, were denied the chance for an education.

Oakland County residents can be proud that they had a part in pioneering this program, the first of its kind in Michigan.

The panel has an interesting story to tell. All PTA groups throughout the county are invited to attend this stimulating and informative meeting which is being held at the Farmington Junior High School, 3300 Thomas St.

The Oakland County Council will hold an election of officers prior to the program at 8 p.m. President of the Council is Mrs. Alan Armstrong.

Your PTA Is Planning:

East Oakland Council to Meet at Avondale

The East Oakland Area Council of Parent Teacher Assn. will hold their next meeting at the new Avondale Junior High School on Tuesday at 8 p.m.

The school is located on Waukegan street off Squirrel road in Auburn Heights.

A panel, "What Teachers and Parents Expect from Each Other," will be presented, with Artie Reed, superintendent of Orion Community Schools, as moderator.

Representing parents will be Richard Arthaud, psychiatric case work supervisor, Social Service Dept. of the Pontiac State Hospital, and Mrs. Donald Lance, past president of Big Beaver PTA. Representing teachers are Mrs. Bonnie Norman, visiting teacher in the Avondale Schools, and Douglas Lund, elementary curriculum coordinator in the Rochester Schools.

★ ★ ★

A short business meeting and election of officers will be held.

The group voted to send Mrs. Frichette to the convention in Traverse City from April 23-25 and appointed Mrs. David Leith alternate.

Brookland - Avon

Dr. Morton J. Sobel, regional director from the Anti-Defamation League, B'nai B'rith, Detroit, will be the PTA speaker here, presenting "Rumor Clinic," dealing with human relations, March 20 at 8 p.m.

Schedule Series of Four Lessons at Garden Club

GINGELLVILLE — The Gingellville Garden Club met recently and decided to schedule a series of four lessons on arrangement of flowers by Mrs. Donald Gilcrest of Pontiac.

The meetings will be held on Wednesday from 12 to 3 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Arthur Burgess.

Interested persons in the area may call Mrs. Roger Williams Sr., FE 5-5860, before the first lesson if they wish to take the course.

Officers elected at their recent meeting were: Mrs. Floyd Sanchez, president; Mrs. Roger Williams Sr., vice-president; Mrs. Kenneth Geeck, secretary; Mrs. Edward Knickerbocker, treasurer; Mrs. Jack Turner, corresponding secretary.

The group also will attend the Detroit Flower Show.

Orion Village Voting Monday

To Decide Whether to Restrict Greene Park Use to Residents

LAKE ORION—The Lake Orion Village election will be held in the Village Hall on Monday. Only one slate is being presented, the primary election having determined the voters' choice.

A referendum, "Shall the Village Park, otherwise known as Greene's Park, be made private for the use only of residents of the Village of Lake Orion?" will be determined by the voters.

Much discussion of the Village Council, the Lake Orion Improvement Assn. and business places in the area has been presented to the residents in the past year and this is an effort to determine the wishes of the voters.

DAIRY FARMERS CO OP RALLIES SUPPORT — Members of the Dairy Farmers Cooperatives Assn. of Michigan are traveling by special buses to communities in southern Michigan and Ohio seeking support in their efforts to stabilize milk prices. Results of their recent endeavors will be tested at a meeting March 14 in East Lansing.

To Settle 2 Issues at Lansing Session

Dairy Farmers Co-op Meeting Thursday

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

Arnold Wyss of Capac, president of the Dairy Farmers Cooperative of Michigan, announced today that the association will hold a statewide meeting of dairy farmers Thursday, at the Fairchild Theater in East Lansing. The session will open at 10:30 a.m., he said.

★ ★ ★

Purpose of the meeting, Wyss said, will be to let state farmers speak their minds on two important issues affecting the milk industry. They will discuss first, proposed state milk control legislation, and secondly, take a vote on whether or not to accept the cut in milk prices "now being forced upon Detroit market creameries by the Michigan Milk Producers Assn."

"In the face of every rising cost of production to dairy farmers, the proposed cut in milk price is fantastic," Wyss said. He added that "even the creameries realize that such a proposal is unjust and will ruin the dairy farmers, but MMPA is putting on the pressure to force them to cut the price of milk to the dairy farmer."

The DFC president was referring to the $4.90 price per hundredweight for Class I (drinking) milk agreed upon March 1 by the dairies and MMPA. This price will be in effect until May 1 when it will be further reduced to $4.65 for the next three months.

★ ★ ★

The night before the new agreement took effect over 100 dairy farmers from Macomb and St. Clair counties attended a mass meeting of farmers in Delta, Ohio, "to learn about the flood of milk" from that state. They were joined by some 200 dairy farmers from southern Michigan and Ohio.

Homer Martin, organizational director of DFC, told the assembly that "the trickle of milk which goes into the Detroit market from Toledo amounts to only one-third of one per cent of the total. The Federal Administrator of the Toledo market verified the statement that 'over 40 per cent of the milk shipped into the Toledo market is shipped from southern Michigan farms,'" he said.

"Future strategy of the DFC," Martin explained, "will be to cross state lines in organizing farmers for the purpose of collective bargaining."

★ ★ ★

Thumb area farmers are meeting tonight at 8:30 in the high school in Sandusky to plan their actions at the meeting in East Lansing.

Romeo Voting on Monday

Expect Spring Election to Bring Light Turnout; Polls Open 7 - 8

ROMEO—A light vote is expected here Monday when local residents cast their ballots for village officers in the general spring election.

Polls will be open in the village hall from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The slate of officers was determined in the Feb. 18 primary, in which Joseph E. Rymill defeated incumbent Ray Mellen for the village presidency.

Monday's election is expected to be a mere formality, confirming the results of the primary. There have been no reports of write-ins or sticker candidates for any office from village officials.

Seeking reelection to their present posts on the council are incumbents George Tapley and William Totten. They will be joined on the ballot by newcomer John Kegler who nudged incumbent Lynn Posey from his longtime council post in the all-Republican primary.

All other village officers are unopposed in their bids for reelection.

Commerce Slates Lenten Program

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The Worship Commission of the Commerce Methodist Church, headed by Mrs. Marshall Wheeler, has arranged a special Lenten program. Guest speaker at tomorrow's service will be the Rev. W. H. Collycott, of the St. Paul's Methodist Church in Rochester.

Hold Woman in Murder Plot

New York Mother of 3 Allegedly Made Plans to Kill Husband

SELDEN, N. Y. — A mother of three children is under mental observation after failure of an alleged plot to dynamite her husband for his $5,000 insurance.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Elvira M. Hough, 35, was committed yesterday to Central Islip, N. Y., State Hospital. Police said she tried to hire a man to rig up a dynamite charge on the family car which would kill her husband, Willard (Buddy) Hough, 31.

The other man involved, Oscar Farrell, 52, a truck driver, went to authorities.

★ ★ ★

Last Wednesday, Farrell said, Mrs. Hough approached him and "promised me $2,000 if I would wire Hough's station wagon with dynamite so that he would be blown up when he stepped on the starter."

★ ★ ★

Farrell said Mrs. Hough gave him the $22 he needed for dynamite and wires. He quoted her as saying:

"Good luck tomorrow, but if Buddy doesn't die when he turns that starter I'm coming after you to kill you. You'd better not fail."

Police said Mrs. Hough later told them: "My husband and I quarreled over the weekend and I decided to get rid of him." She said the quarrel was over family matters.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Hough was held by Justice of the Peace Leon Guiffreda on an open charge pending a 60-day observation period at the state hospital. No charges were filed against Farrell.

The husband, a crane operator, was stunned by the alleged scheme.

"I just can't believe it," he said, "I thought the police were joking when they told me."

Confident Living

Personal Peace Comes From Effort to Aid Others

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

In Switzerland last summer, I had a curious experience. A Swiss who had read one of my books in German made an appointment to see me in Burgenstock, just outside Lucerne, where we had rented a cottage.

★ ★ ★

Because the man did not understand English, and my German is far from adequate, I asked the headwaiter at the hotel there to interpret for us. Fortunately waiters in Switzerland usually speak at least three languages.

DR. PEALE

When my guest arrived I was shocked to see him. His head was twisted into distorted positions, his face twitched constantly, and his hands kept moving in wide, exaggerated gestures. He seemed able to stay upright in his chair only with the greatest of difficulty.

He explained his sad condition by telling me he had been through seventeen bombings during World War II. He had lost everything he held dear.

As he talked, the waiter emphasized one point: "This man hates the Germans. He is telling you to warn the United States government and people never to trust them, to keep them down always."

★ ★ ★

Now, most Europeans have, by this time, learned to live amicably with the Germans, to forgive them and to help them build — in Western Germany, at least — a new world. This new Germany is one of the pillars of the proposed United States of Europe. And reports from that country also tell us that it is the scene of one of the most dynamic Christian rivival movements.

PRAY SILENTLY

While I listened, I prayed silently for this poor, conflict-ridden man. Then, suddenly, a queer thing happened, for I became aware that I could almost understand him without my interpreter.

When I was a boy in Cincinnati, we had studied German at school part of each day, so that in childhood I knew something of the language, but had used it only occasionally since. However, for several summers I lived in German speaking Switzerland, and the old knowledge was restimulated. Now, because I felt a desperate need and desire to help this man, a partial use of his tongue came back to me out of my subconscious, and I was even able to communicate with him in halting German.

What I said was this: "We need to get back to the source of all life. That source, God's marvelous re-creative power, is pouring down on us, right here, right now. You don't have to shake or twitch or be tense and nervous. You aren't physically ill. The chief cause of your suffering is your hatred of your former enemies. It may be difficult, but you must pray for them and love them until the hate vanishes from your system. Then you will be in the flow of God's healing grace."

Then, I put my hand on him. "There is no power in my hand," I said. "I have no gift of healing." But that man and I — and the waiter too — were praying together for healing. And, all at once, that man's twitching and nervousness ceased. He was absolutely peaceful and quiet.

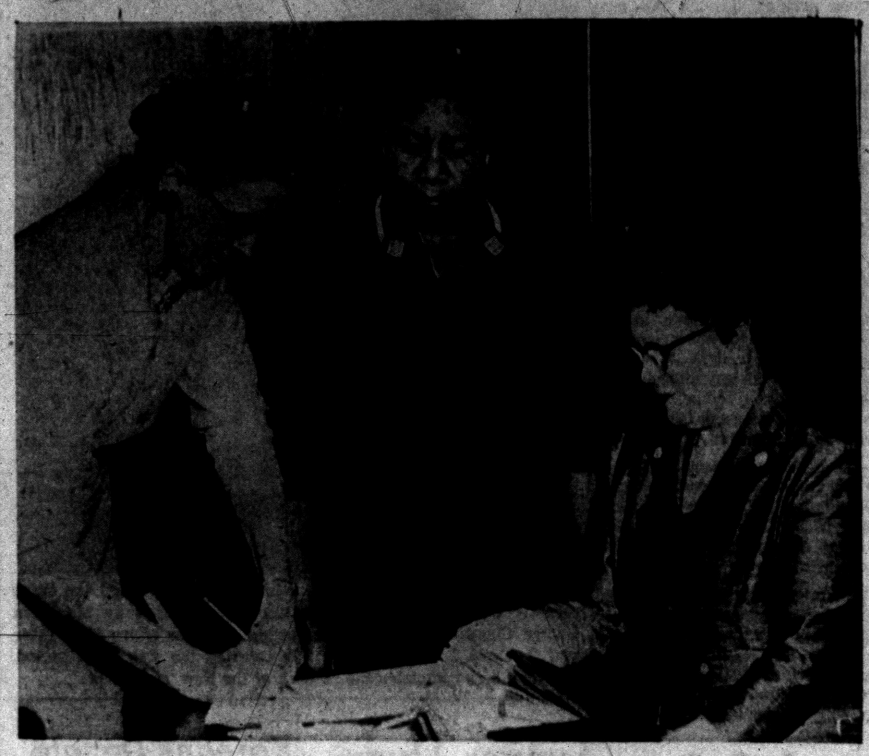

★ ★ ★

"I feel so different, so quiet," he told us with an awed voice.

This condition lasted for several minutes. I pointed out that by continuing this form of prayer permanent healing might come.

Personal peace comes to people who forget the wrongs others may have done them and who refuse to give way to self-pity. It comes to those who lose themselves in the love of others, in the effort to help their fellow men. You can find it too.

German Church Supplies Bibles to Repatriates

A special project has been undertaken by Dr. Alfred Muller, the new General Secretary of the Union of evangelical Bible Societies in Germany, in order to supply Scriptures to the prisoners being repatriated from Russia.

★ ★ ★

Funds collected in Germany together with support from the A. B. S. have enabled the Biblemission to give a Bible to all those who have been willing to accept one.

★ ★ ★

One of the repatriated prisoners reported that in his camp the New Testament was written ten times on old paper cement-bags and distributed among the inmates. His relatives had sent him a copy of the New Testament, together with other religious writings. The camp administration had kept back all the other writings except the Testament.

★ ★ ★

The copies which were prepared so assiduously by the camp inmates were used regularly for the worship by the prisoners. The repatriate brought back an original copy on being released from the camp.

Woman Sends Tracts to Comfort Bereaved; Now Ill, Mail Flows In

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A Louisville woman is finding it difficult to carry on her unique "ministry of sympatny," but the task is being taken up by others all over the country.

For more than five years, Mrs. Louise Kniss has been bringing comfort to bereaved persons who are listed as survivors in obituaries and death notices printed in local newspapers.

★ ★ ★

She regularly spends four to five hours a day looking up addresses and sending the survivors—many of them in other states—one or two religious tracts, offering hope and encouragement.

Now, Mrs. Kniss says at least 15 other people in states ranging from California to New York and from Texas to Michigan, are conducting a similar "ministry of sympathy."

★ ★ ★

"I'm amazed. I can hardly get over it," commented Mrs. Kniss, a widow.

Her own tracts, entitled "In Time of Sorrow" and "I Am the Door," are provided by the Christian and Missionary Alliance, of which Mrs. Kniss is a member.

The tracts have gone to about 17,000 people.

An eye ailment has caused Mrs. Kniss to interrupt her work temporarily—but she is anxious to get back to the job.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kniss never intended to be on the receiving end of correspondence—in fact, she remained anonymous until a local newspaper and The Associated Press carried her story.

But now the mail is piling up, and one letter she particularly treasurers came from a man who received Mrs. Kniss' tracts after the death of his father.

It's a personal note from Vice President Nixon.

The "Donaldson Singers" will appear in a musical program at 5 p.m. Sunday in the Southside Church of God, Motor and Nebraska streets. The pastor, the Rev. H. C. Shankle, extends a welcome to the public.

Methodist Church Lists Membership Abroad

In its missionary service in 43 countries, the Methodist Church has an enrolled membership of nationals estimated at 773,153, plus a preparatory membership (persons under instruction) of 581,991.

This Christian community of one and one-third million persons has around it a constituency of perhaps 2-3,000,000 more people. Missionaries say that for every national who joins the church there are two or three who are "interested and influenced" by the Christian gospel but are not willing to give up their non-Christian associations.

Hope of Protestants Lies in Young People

Enthusiasm and their growing awareness of their role as Christians are the most vivid impressions one gets when talking to Protestant young people in South America, the Rev. Bengt-Thure Molander reported last week. He had just returned from a tour of 14 countries south of the border.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Molander, who is executive director of the Youth Department of the World Council of Churches, and five youth leaders from different countries made up the ecumenical youth "team" which spent 100 days attending youth conferences, rallies and training institutes in South America. "In addition, I baptized five babies," he added.

Saying that the hope of Protestantism and its strength there are in its young people, Mr. Molander urged more leadership training so that they "can rethink their tasks as Christians in a changing world."

★ ★ ★

Many of them want to come to the U. S. and Europe to study, he reported but emphasized it is important that "northern" youth leaders live and work with them. He added that knowing Spanish and Portuguese are assets in "reaching out the hand of fellowship."

Church Plan for Migrants to Teach Rights of Citizens

NEW YORK, N. Y.—A grant of $112,530 for a new three-year citizenship education project among migrant crop workers has been made to the National Council of Churches' Division of Home Missions by the Schwartzhaupt Foundation of New York.

The project is to be three-pronged and will center in the mid-western states, Miss Edith E. Lowry, divisional co-executive secretary, announced.

It calls, first, for the education of migrants in their rights as citizens and for the development of indigenous leadership among them, and second, for the development of the total resources of communities where migrants come in order to provide for their health, education and welfare needs.

Lastly, it envisions the training of the permanent, year-round staff of the division's Migrant Ministry so that its members can put into use all over the country the techniques evolved through the new project.

According to the plan, the project director will begin in communities where migrants arrive for the crop season. He will enlist the good will and cooperation of everyone in the community, including health and school officials, welfare directors, city officials, business men, growers, church civic leaders.

★ ★ ★

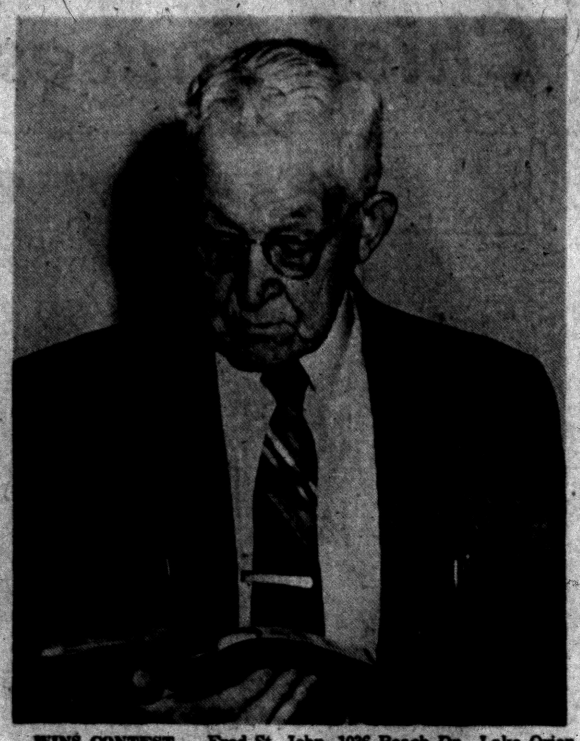

At the same time, a field staff member will be stationed in the home bases of migrants in the border states to discover and train migrant leaders, who will then go to the communities already alerted by the director. As they move about, migrant leaders will train other migrants.

An additional grant of $2,250 was made by the Schwartzhaupt Foundation to prepare, publish and widely distribute a report on the three-year project at its conclusion.

The migrant farm workers and their families are estimated to number at least a million and a half, all told. Living, wherever these are food crops to pick, they are rootless and homeless and enjoy none of the benefits of stable community life.

To minister to their spiritual and physical welfare, the National Council of Churches through the division's migrant ministry, maintains day nurseries for children of crop picking mothers, mobile chapels, educational and recreation programs and other activities in some 30 states extending from New England to California. The programs are carried out year-round with the cooperation of state and local councils of churches and of church women.

WINS CONTEST — Fred St. John, 1036 Beach Dr., Lake Orion recently won the Bible Reading Contest sponsored by Marimont Baptist Church. He reported that he had read the entire Bible twice and the New Testament three times during the five week period. Ten members completed the reading of the New Testament.

Mid-Winter Picnic Scheduled Tonight

The annual mid-winter picnic of the Parkdale Nazarene Sunday School will be held tonight in the Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Auditorium, 761 W. Huron St.

★ ★ ★

A potluck dinner is planned for 6 p.m. with Mrs. James Hibbs and Roy Hibbs serving on the entertainment committee. The affair is sponsored by the church school board.

Earl Boyt, superintendent of the Sunday School, is endeavoring to enroll new members in the school. He had appointed Fred Hibbs, Russell Ridley, Wayne Foore, Avery Whitehead and James Hibbs as superintendent-of-the-week to act during the month of March.

★ ★ ★

According to the pastor, the Rev. Wayne E. Welton, all families and friends of the Sunday School are invited to the picnic.

'Mother Houston' Visits Prisoners in Chicago Jail

Prisoner number 12317 in the Cook County Jail, Chicago is one of the hundreds of the institution's inmates and "graduates" who speak affectionately of a gracious, kindly visitor to the jail as "Mother Houston." She has been given freedom to visit persons up to and including those in the "death row."

In her long and unique ministry she had distributed thousands of copies of American Bible Society Scriptures, leading not a few of the inmates to their Lord.

Last year number 12317, after reading and memorizing long passages of the Bible she gave him, wrote: "I now have the pleasure of knowing how sweet and how wonderful it is to have a mind filled with the love of our heavenly Father." Mother Houston is everywhere loved by those whom she has led to Christ.

Austrian Preachers Aid Hungarian Refugees

"All the Methodist preachers in Austria are helping to bring relief to refugees from Hungary who have come into our country in recent weeks," said Ferdinand Mayr, administrative head of the Methodist Church in Austria.

"More than 130,000 refugees have come into our country from Hungary, and the conditions and needs are indescribable. In Vienna, Linz, Bregenz and in some other centers we have opened our small church rooms for these poor people — and I find both pastors and laymen overlooking themselves in an effort to serve the needs of the people," he said.

Iraq Bible Circulation Nearly Doubled in 1955

The circulation of Scriptures in Iraq practically doubled in 1955 in comparison with the previous year. The Rev. B. Hakken, Subagent for that country, reports that the majority of sales are to Moslems and that the younger generation has an increasing longing for knowledge and is reading anything it can get. Even mullahs are showing interest and buying Scriptures.

It appears that "the wall of Moslem resistance" is breaking, especially in countries like Iraq, which have no large Christian minorities.

Koreans Donate $4,000 for Aid to Hungarians

The Korean people joined the rest of the free world in showing their keen sympathy for the Hungarians. In early December, Minister Han of the Korean Embassy in Washington presented a check for $4,000 to the International Red Cross.

★ ★ ★

Of this, $1,000 was the personal gift of President Rhee and $3,000 a contribution from the Korean Red Cross. All ROK government officials voluntarily gave 10 per cent of their meager monthly salary to the Hungarian fund.

In addition, thousands of Korean trade union members worked extra hours and contributed the amount earned — $5,000 — to the Hungarians.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, all over South Korea rallies were held to encourage the heroic Hungarian people, and at the same time to urge North Koreans to rise up against the Communists.

STONE AGE DANIS OF NEW GUINEA

Hidden Shangri-La Valley Film, Scheduled Sunday

The Christian and Missionary Alliance Church will present the colored motion picture "Shangri-la" at 6:15 p.m. Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The film is the story of a missionary air invasion of the hidden Dutch New Guinea Baliem Valley.

The valley was named during World War II, when for 47 days news stories told how U.S. military units finally succeeded in rescuing three air crash survivors from the walled-in valley with a daring glider-snatching operation.

Dr. George D. Strohm, former missionary to China and the Philippines, now president of the St. Paul Bible Institute, is responsible for the picture.

★ ★ ★

Because of the nation-wide interest in the Shangri-la Valley, he has built up the story.

The pictures were taken by the first missionaries to enter the valley. Dr. Strohm wrote the story and narrates it.

The original invasion by Christian and Alliance missionaries took place on April 20, 1954. They committed themselves to live among a people time forgot, the barbaric, stone-age Dani tribe.

Some of the pictures recently taken, show the building of the new sir-strip, the Cessna landing and the reception of the first missionary ladies in the valley.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. C. J. Bersche extends an invitation to the public. The church congregation is worshiping presently in the Isaac Crary Junior High School, 501 Cass Lake Rd. near M59.

"He hath sent me to bind up the brokenhearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening of the prison to them that are bound."

Kirk in the Hills Minister States Sermon Subjects

Dr. Harold C. DeWindt, minister of Kirk in the Hills, West Long Lake road, Bloomfield Hills announces his sermon topics during Lent will be on "How to Pray."

★ ★ ★

"Prayer is the most important and indispensable element in religion. It is the most potent power known to man, but many people have never learned how to pray," stated Dr. De Windt.

He went on to say "In the 65 word Lord's Prayer, which can be prayed in 30 second, Christ gave his followers the perfect pattern for prayer."

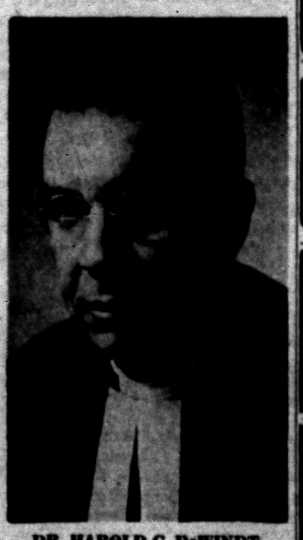

"Here He tells us how to begin, what to pray for, how our petitions should be framed and how in fleeting moments we can bring the whole gamut of our needs before God."

"About 600 million Christians repeat the prayer every day. If we understood it, it would transform our life. If we really prayed it, it would change our world."

The following seven sermons are designed to help men and women who want to know how to pray more effectively and how to discover the power in prayer. "Pray as a Child," "Pray Reverently," "Pray for a Better World," "Pray Submissively," "Pray for Bread," "Pray for Forgiveness" and "Pray for Deliverance from Evil."

★ ★ ★

Dr. DeWindt has based his sermons on the "Lord's Prayer." The first will be preached tomorrow at the 9:30 and 11 o'clock morning worship hours.

DR. HAROLD C. DeWINDT

Those to be received are Marjorie Gates, Ray Hartung, Carolyn Lauer, Vita Ohst, James Banks, Herman Anders and Myrtle Anders.

For the occasion the Junior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Joyce Weir, will sing "Beautiful Savior."

"He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet He opened not His mouth; He is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so He openeth not His mouth."

Woman Freed From Shanghai

Baptist Missionary Held Prisoner Since 1950, Arrives in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (INS) — One of ten Americans held by Red China was released this week.

She is Mrs. Juanita Byrd Huang, a Baptist missionary from Mount Olive, Miss., who is married to a Chinese citizen.

Mrs. Huang, 53, arrived in Hong Kong from Shanghai.

She said China had agreed to repatriate her during the official talks Washington and Peiping representatives have been holding regularly at Geneva since August, 1955.

It was not immediately clear whether Mrs. Huang's release had been arranged under a new agreement or one announced in September, 1955. At that time, she was included on a list of 12 U. S. civilians that China announced would be repatriated immediately.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Huang was teaching at a missionary school when she was taken into custody by the Communists in 1950.

She told newsmen she expected her Chinese husband to join her soon in Hong Kong.

Musician, Poet, Dancer, Layman Give Spiritual Aid

Newspaper reporters, businessmen, jazz musicians, poets, dancers and artists were among Christian laymen who proved last year that preachers aren't the only people who can deliver a spiritual message to broadcast audiences.

These and many others in the arts and professions were among performers appearing in hundreds of radio and television programs produced by the National Council of Churches' Broadcasting and Film Commission in 1956. The programs were presented over all networks and many independent stations, said a report, presented at the commission's annual meeting in New York this week.

The annual statement cited these achievements last year: Production of nearly 200 television programs viewed over 1,500 stations; 271 additional programs presented over more than 500 radio stations; preparation of 13 new religious motion pictures for local church showing; sponsorship of 46 radio-TV workshops, of anywhere from one to 14 days duration, in ten states and three Canadian provinces; mailing of over 3,000,000 broadcast sermons and talks in pamphlet text form.

★ ★ ★

Jazz musicians Lionel Hampton and Dave Brubeck were among lay performers on religious broadcasts of the commission last year. So were ballet dancer Maria Tallchief, poet W. H. Auden, actor Lew Ayres and singer Mahalia Jackson. They supplemented appearances by distinguished clergymen, evangelists and theologians, and many times appeared on the same programs with them.

★ ★ ★

In addition to several new programs and films for next year, the report projected a new "Broadcasting Prayer Partnership" designed to enlist the interest and support of the nation's Christian listeners. The project, which will also involve research into listeners' tastes and preferences, will be financed under a Volker Foundation grant of $20,000 during its first two years.

ROK President Rhee to Mark 82nd Birthday

On March 26, Republic of Korea's President Syngman Rhee will celebrate his 82nd brithday, with the good wishes and congratulations of friends in every part of the world. Ever since his leadership in the reform movement of 1895-97, Rhee has been cited for devoting his life to the advancement of democracy and freedom, for nations and for individuals. On both sides of the Iron Curtain he is known as one of the world's most outstanding and effective fighters for liberty and against Communist aggression.

Backs Force in Segregation

Man Tells Floridians to Stop Integration Even 'at Point of Gun'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—John Kasper, anti-intergrationist from Washington, D. C., told an applauding audience of about 200 last night that segregationists would "maintain racial integrity, even at the point of a shotgun."

★ ★ ★

After his talk, the 27-year-old executive secretary of the Seaboard White Citizens Council was subpoenaed to appear Monday before a Florida legislative committee investigating the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Speaking in a night club from a platform decorated with U. S. and Confederate flags, Kasper said segregation was "a plan of nature established by the Creator in the heavens" and declared racial integration has destroyed nations.

★ ★ ★

Kasper said Negro campaigns for integration were led by Jews.

"I'm not anti-Semitic," he said, "but facts are facts and I don't think it's bigotry to say them."

During the meeting a 61-year-old Atlanta Quaker, Ashton B. Jones, interrupted Kasper. He asked five minutes to present his views. Kasper refused, saying the meeting was paid for by segregationists and "we think all who share your views are merely imbeciles."

Amid shouts of "throw him out," Jones was surrounded by police. He remained at the rally.

Kasper urged that public schools threatened with integration should be closed and parents be given state grants to send their children to private, segregated schools. He also recommended legislation imposing penalties for "irresponsible statements of fact in the newspaper press."

The White Citizens Council leader is free in $10,000 bond pending outcome of an appeal he took when sentenced to one year for contempt of federal court in the Clinton, Tenn., race disorders.

★ ★ ★

Fred Hockett, an associate who organized Miami's chapter of the White Citizens Council, sponsored last night's rally. Hockett also is free in bail after conviction Wednesday of intimidation and unlawful assembly in a cross-burning attempt on the lawn of a Negro who moved into a White Miami neighborhood.

Pontiac Man Held on Narcotics Charge

A 31-year-old Pontiac man was returned to the Oakland County Jail pending his arraignment in Circuit Court Monday on the charge of selling heroin to a Detroit man on February 3.

Wilfred Brock, 502 Branch St., who failed to furnish a $5,000 bond and has been in jail since his arrest February 16, was bound over to the higher court when he was examined before Municiapl Judge Cecil McCallum.

Credit Unions Organized by Church Congregations

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

A farmer went into a church office, and came out with $200 in his pocket.

He needed the money to buy feed to get his cattle through the rest of the winter, and he knew he could get it in church.

In the same way, many people today who become temporarily short on cash—housewives, salesmen, mechanics, waitresses, laborers, clerks, and others—turn to their churches for financial help.

And they get it—in the form of low-interest loans from the brothers and sisters of their congregation. On the present scale, it's a relatively new activity, but it's like the old Scripture said:

"Thou shalt not harden thine heart nor shut thine hand from thy brother, but thou shalt open thine hand wide unto him and shalt surely lend him sufficient for his need."

★ ★ ★

In about 1,000 churches and synagogues across the United States, members have organized credit unions. The number is growing at the rate of about two a week. The total has doubled in 10 years.

"The Credit Union is an integral part of our efforts to bring happy living to our people," says the Rev. L. Wayne Smith, of the Henderson Memorial Methodist Church in Detroit.

MEET STUDENT NEEDS

"A student in college may suddenly need financial help. Someone may be out of work and need money. A sudden tragedy may require quick financial assistance. All these needs and many more are met by the Credit Union."

To start a credit union, members of a congregation simply get a federal or state charter, elect their officers, then buy shares, with the pooled savings fund available for loans to fellow members.

★ ★ ★

It's a means to "bear one another's burdens," said a Credit Union member of the United Brethren Church, Decatur, Ill. "We are strong believers in the motto, 'Not for profit not for charity but for service.' "

In a study of church credit unions, Dr. Benson Y. Landis, research director of the National Council of Churches, said the first one was begun at the Roman Catholic Parish of St. Marie, Manchester, N. H., in 1909.

But it's only in recent years that they've spread rapidly.

Howard Custer, of the Credit Union National Assn., Madison, Wis., said the latest nationwide figures, not yet complete for 1956, show credit unions operating at 685 Roman Catholic Parishes, 222 Protestant churches and 28 Jewish synagogues.

★ ★ ★

These church credit unions have an estimated 300,000 members, with assets of about 70 million dollars.

DEVELOP SOCIAL JUSTICE

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. George C. Higgins, social action director of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D. C., said the "real value" of the credit unions goes beyond the mere economic benefits.

"If their members are properly instructed and motivated," he said, "they are an important means of developing the virtues of social justice and charity.

"They are, in other words, a training school in social solidarity, for they tend to instill in their members a neighborly spirit of mutual assistance and cooperation in support of the common good."

Church credit unions usually charge interest on loans at 1 per cent a month or less. This is lower than the usual commercial rate for short-term, small personal loans, but not lower than for long-term bank loans secured by collateral.

Consequently, the credit unions function mainly to meet short-term credit needs. No collateral is required.

Leader Urges Steps to Publicize Education

In an open letter, Dr. Eugene C. Blake urged steps "to see that church members and the general public are made aware of the importance and the needs of Christian higher education."

At the same time the president of the National Council of Churches praised various secular agencies, including the Advertising Council and the Ford Foundation, for "now bending their efforts to strengthening of the colleges and universities. Such an effort," he stressed, "challenges the Christian churches to a similar concern and effort."

Fund to Korean Tots

The outstanding balance (some $2,200) of British Commonwealth Fund, built up by contributions by servicemen of the Commonwealth nations while serving in Korea, has been turned over to the Save the Children Fund for use in Korea.

Clergymen Lead Seminar at Workers' Coffee Break

Catholic, Protestant and Jewish clergymen will participate in a novel type of interfaith seminar—during coffee break at a Chicago business concern.

The weekly half-hour discussions are to start next Monday. They're on a voluntary basis, with the management contributing 15 minutes and employes using their regular coffee breaks for the remainder.

Peter Volid, president of the King Kong Trading Stamp Co., said, "There seems to be sufficient interest in the program to make this a continuing part of our operation.' He added, "We hope the idea will spread and serve as a pattern for other businesses to follow, so that the principles of brotherhood can be made to work throughout the year."

★ ★ ★

Participating clergymen said they would answer questions about their faiths but — in the words of the Rev. Paul Grimes of Chicago's West Ridge Community Methodist Church — "lay stress on the basic similarities of all religions."

One employe, after meeting the clergymen at an introductory session, commented, "We spend more time at work, with people of other faiths, than we do anywhere else, and it helps us respect their religions when we know more about them."

Young People's Rally at 1st Free Methodist

The Rev. E. E. Cutler, pastor of the Dearborn Free Methodist Church, will speak tonight at 7:30 at the Youth Rally to be held in the First Free Methodist Church, 501 Mt. Clemens St.

A frequent speaker on college campuses, he will also speak at the worship services tomorrow. The Rev. Mr. Cutler has been holding revival meetings in the Pontiac church all week. The Rev. Lyal H. Howison is the local pastor.

The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek him.

Marshall Gets Gift for 'Poor and Needy'

MARSHALL, Mich. (AP) — A former resident has left this Calhoun County community of 6,000 persons $150,000 for its "poor and needy."

The bequest was in the will of James M. Redfield, an architect, who died Feb. 25 in Bradenton, Fla., at the age of 90.

The will, filed for probate Thursday, directed that special attention be paid to needs of children" and to recommendations of Oaklawn Hospital in Marshall.

Details for operation of the trust have not been worked out. However, George Aldrich of Battle Creek, Trust Officer for Michigan National Bank Branches, said he believes a screening committee will be set up to decide on use of the fund.

★ ★ ★

Total amount of Redfield's estate was not disclosed. However, other bequests were left for the Michigan Historical Society, Marshall Libraries, the Boy Scouts and friends and relatives.

Redfield formerly lived in Utica, N.Y., where he designed a number of civic buildings.

Bibles in Large Print Evoke Grateful Letters

In the Society's program to supply the Scriptures to all according to their need, the Philadelphia office recently responded to a request from the Bok Vocational Technical School in that city, which needed large-print books for its Sight-saving Department.

The great-primer New Testament and Psalms sent to the school evoked so many grateful letters that it became apparent that virtually ever pupil had used it. One wrote: "I wish to thank you for the most wonderful Bible I have ever seen." Practically every pupil expressed his hope that he could possess such a book some day as his very own.

"O Lord, why has thou made us to err from thy ways, and hardened our heart from thy fear? Return for Thy servants' sake . . ."

On March 16, 14 intermediate scouts will be invested in a ceremony in the Bagley neighborhood.

"But, Mrs. Girardot, a Girl Scout is a friend to animals!" say these scouts. But their leader, Mrs. Robert Girardot of Rochester says pets must 'wait outside 'til after the meeting. Holding a cat is Karen Anderson and Susan Mercer is shown with her parakeet. Carol Ennis is trying to keep her dog in tow. The girls are all from Rochester. Little Virginia Girardot is hiding behind her mother as she sees all those animals plus The Pontiac Press photographer in her living room.

Demonstrating outdoor skills in Girl Scouting are (left to right) Chris Thomson, Gale Murray, Mary Ann Stanker, Judy Ely and Sue Bowles, all of Green Lake Troop 152. Each has earned her pin signifying five years membership in scouting. Their troop is part of the new mid-lakes neighborhood of Southeast District.

Airs His Ideas on the Art of Man-Hunting

Violinist Criticizes Advice to Girls

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I sound like the FBI because today's column is about how to get your man. After Kenneth Gordon and I help you get him it is up to you to keep him.

Today I am bringing you Mr. Gordon's ideas about what makes women attractive to men. As you probably know, Mr. Gordon is a distinguished young violinist.

He disagrees with much of the standard advice which is given to sweet young things and even to middle-aged femmes who are on the lookout for a man of their own.

The other day in New York he said, "Take that old chestnut about the way to a man's heart being through his stomach. It's ridiculous! If a girl feeds a man a rich, heavy, extravagant meal he is more likely to become drowsy than interested in her.

"He may wonder if she would be an extravagant housekeeper, or if she would spend most of her time in the kitchen. He may even reflect upon the effect that kind of food would have on his waisting (and hers) in time.

LIVING CHEAPLY

Then, of course, there is the idea that two can live as cheaply as one. Of this Kenneth says, "When looking for someone to fall in love with a fellow is not auditioning an accountant, which is all he needs if he merely wants to keep the bank books balanced." Of course this author's idea is that two can live as cheaply as one if one of the two starves to death.

Then there is the question of the girl who looks like a fashion plate whenever her man sees her. Mr. Gordon had this to say, "Such a girl might warm the cockles of a merchandise manager's heart but she seems untouchable. A guy is afraid to kiss her for fear of mussing her up.

"A friend of mine went with a girl for a long time and never knew he was in love with her until he caught her once in an old bathrobe with her hair in curlers. She looked so natural and human."

The girl whose belongings and surroundings are always in apple pie order may be striking terror to the heart of a potential suitor instead of arousing admiration, for any man with any imagination is likely to wonder how such a person would react to the sight of spilled cigarette ashes on the table or a shirt left over the back of a chair.

★ ★ ★

It seems to me that subjects connected with romance have a definite place in this column because there is nothing like love to keep one young, physically, emotionally and mentally.

Whether this be love of a man or woman or love of life or work or humanity we now know that the emotion of love builds health and personality and happiness. Dust off your heart!

Dr. LaCore Addresses Zonta Club

Talks on Mental Problems

Dr. Ivan A. LaCore, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, discussed problems of commitment, treatment and care of the mentally ill when he addressed members of the Zonta Club of Pontiac Thursday.

Explaining that over 50 per cent of all hospital beds are occupied by mentally ill patients, Dr. LaCore said that communities must become aware of this critical situation.

He pointed to the new miracle drugs, but he noted that these drugs act to restrain patients in various degrees of excitement only. They do not reach the cause of the mental disturbance, and he said their real value cannot be fully measured.

However, the speaker said that in many cases, these same drugs have proven excellent, depending upon the patient. "We are knocking at the door of dramatice discoveries," Dr. LaCore said, as he enlarged on the various kinds of drugs and therapy.

NO CONCERN

Important to the education of the community regarding mental illness is that there is no connection between emotional disturbances and the person's I.Q., he said. Patients often have very high I.Qs.

Explaining that religion and psychiatry do mix, Dr. LaCore said that patients within the hospital have been helped considerably by the clergy throughout the city. In many cases of brief attacks, these people have helped the patient back to a normal state, he said.

Dr. LaCore told of the group therapy program at the YWCA which is supervised by staff social workers, and said that it is for patients who have left the hospital. This therapy program helps them to adjust to their comminity.

Mrs. Neil Wasserberger introduced the speaker, and Mrs. Fotis Takis, president, announced the Zonta card party and fashion show which will be held March 26 at Webster School.

Women Throng to Sales in Spirit of Playing Game

Fighting Over and Winning Bargains Provides Sense of Exhilaration

By RUTH MILLETT

The challenge of a sale! It's something few men understand. But most women look on an everything-must-go or prices-drastically-slashed sale as a form of competition.

★ ★ ★

When a couple of women get together the day before a big sale to plot their strategy, they are like members of a team preparing for the big game.

"We'd better get there a little before the doors open," they tell each other. And as they go through the sale advertisement, they have more strategy to plan—which department to go to first and which second. Could one of them take one department and buy for both? And so on and on.

When they get to the sale, being close to the front of the line gives them the reassuring feeling that they are off to a good start. While they wait for the door to open they momentarily feel vastly superior to the laggards who are just getting into line.

★ ★ ★

Pouncing on the bargains they want before some other woman can beat them to the merchandise is exhilarating in itself. Getting the attention of a salesperson is a feat of endurance, so no wonder they feel a sense of triumph when a bargain is finally theirs, paid for and wrapped to go.

PLEASANT EXHAUSTION

Their shopping over, they are as exhausted as though they had run a hard race. But for a woman it is a pleasant exhaustion, the kind that is quickly overcome with a cup of coffee and a rehash of the game.

★ ★ ★

The rehash always includes marveling at how some women can be so grabby and so rude, and, of course, a recount of the original price of every bargain and how much it was marked down.

Those figures are every bit as fascinating to a woman as a man's golf score on a particularly good day is to him.

Men can't understand why women like sales, but that is because they don't realize that fighting through a sale crowd is a game to women, a game in which every woman has a chance to go home with a prize.

Borrower Loans Book to Friend

Does Not Ask for Permission From the Owner

By EMILY POST

A letter tells me: "Several weeks ago I loaned a friend of mine a book. When she did not return it I asked her if she had finished reading it, and said that if she had I would like to have it back. She said she had loaned it to another friend of hers and that she would ask her for it.

"I was very much annoyed over this and thought she had a lot of nerve lending my book to someone else without even asking my permission. I would very much like to know what you think about this?"

Answer: When you borrow a book from someone it should be returned as soon as you have finished reading it, and never given to someone else to read without first asking the owner's permission.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have a friend who duplicates almost everything I buy for myself or for my house and I find it very irritating. My husband thinks that I should be flattered but I most certainly am not and feel as though I am being robbed of my individuality.

"Could I possibly let her know how I feel about this without losing her friendship, or must I let her go on copying everything I have and say nothing about it?"

Answer: If you value her friendship I advise you to let her go on copying you just as she does, and instead of feeling irritated, realize that she is flattering you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please give me the proper wording for a formal third person acceptance? I have received an invitation to a large reception which has to be acknowledged and I am at a loss as how to word it."

Answer: Simply write on your notepaper:

Wolves Subdue Avon; St. Fred Meets Raiders

By BILL CORNWELL

A smooth-functioning Clarkston basketball team, soundly schooled in the fundamentals of the game, made its basic lessons pay off Friday night.

The Wolves, down eight points in the 1st quarter, fought back to handcuff Avondale, 48-43, and move into the finals of the Class B district tournament at Pontiac High.

Clarkston, tangles with mighty Rochester tonight at 8:15 for the district championship and anyone who saw the Wolves in action last night realizes that they will give the Falcons all they can handle.

Almont advanced to the Class C finals with a 41-32 victory over Mt. Clemens St. Mary in a fast-moving but raggedly-played opener. St. Frederick battles the Raiders tonight at 7 o'clock for the district title.

The Clarkston - Avondale clash, which matched the Wayne-Oakland and Oakland B co-champions respectively, was just about as even as they come.

Each team was charged with seven personal fouls and each team missed five times at the foul line. Clarkston was superior from the floor, 21 field goals to 18, while Avondale had a 7-6 edge in free throws.

It was the Yellow Jackets who got off to a flying start, but in the final analysis it was Clarkston's steadiness that turned the tide. Avon simply ran out of gas.

Clarkston was hampered by tourney jitters in the 1st quarter and could muster only four points. Avon, with one game under its belt, was a little more relaxed and forged into a 12-4 lead as the 2nd period rolled around.

Then the Wolves settled down and went to work. Leroy Parks and George Lang, a pair of pint-sized guards, spearheaded the comeback and Avon's advantage was reduced to 21-19 at halftime.

The Wolves gained the lead for the 1st time in the 3rd period and entered the final stanza with a 33-31 edge. Avon wasn't ready to call it quits yet, however, and came back to tie the score at 37-37 with six minutes to go.

Seconds later Clarkston's Dick Lippert connected on a jump shot and the Wolves were in front to stay. Clarkston employed an effective stall in the waning moments of the game.

Lang paced the Clarkston attack with 15 points, followed by Jim Jensen's 11 and Parks with 10. Steve Saunders netted 14 points for the Jackets.

A disastrous 2nd quarter was enough to scuttle St. Mary. The Mountaineers enjoyed a 13-11 edge going into the 2nd frame, then turned colder than the Arctic as they made only three points.

Almont led at halftime, 24-16, and was in command the rest of the way. St. Mary outshot the Raiders from the floor by one basket, but bagged only eight gift tosses compared to Almont's 19.

★ ★ ★

Lanky Larry Kersten topped the Raiders with 16 points, including 12 charity shots in 17 attempts. St. Mary's Barney Peltier took scoring honors with 17 points.

Victory means advancement to the regionals next week in the state tournament and another step toward the finals in East Lansing. Defeat, which overtook 100 teams Friday night, has now eliminated 367 squads play.

Among the top unbeaten squads that play tonight are Class D titlist Chassel (33-0), Gaylord St. Mary (21-0), Frederick (20-0), Marlette (18-0), Pigeon (18-0), Manchester (18-0), Harper Woods (18-0), and Benton Harbor St. Johns (17-0).

Of these, Chassel, Marlette, Manchester and Harper Woods are fairly safe.

Top play Friday night featured a display of defensive prowess by little Chassel which hasn't lost a game since Jan. 28, 1956.

Marlette won its 18th victory by downing North Branch 66-57 in Class C at Millington. Marlette meets Mayville in the finals.

Utica Wins in Overtime, Faces Shrine for Title

By H. GUY MOATS

In a battle between two league co-champions, last night, in Troy high school gymnasium, host Troy dropped a bitter basketball scrap in overtime to visiting Utica, 51-45.

Royal Oak Shrine, a southern county Catholic loop club, disposed of Clawson high in the other "B" District tournament game, 49-44.

So tonight's championship round will pit Utica and Shrine and the winner will move up to Pontiac's regionals next week. Title contest is set for 8:30 p.m. following the Class D finale at 7 between Memphis and New Baltimore St. Mary's.

The Utica-Troy test was an action-filled scrap all the way.

Troy's club missed its chance to win in regulation time after Milan Varajon knotted the count at 42-all with a pair of free shots. That was 20 seconds from the end of the 4th period. Just four seconds from the windup, Varajon was fouled by Utica's Angell. But the jitters got Varajon, with the game-winning points in his grasp. He bumped both tries, the first hitting the back of the rim and the last one going in, then spinning out and over.

Angell more than made up for his foul, in the first 30 seconds of the extra period, bagging a bucket. Thompson added a free throw to run the total to 45-42 before Sim Acton of Troy looped in a gift toss. Utica's Greenslate flipped in a side basket to make it 47-43

Troy wasn't out of it yet, as Don Killewald came up with a goal to put the count at 47-45. With a minute left, Lou Haase of Utica grabbed the ball in a wild scramble under the hoop, went up to cage the shot for 49. As the final two seconds ticked off Figley fouled Stewart and the Utica lad sunk both tries for the final count of 51-45.

Utica was one of three clubs tied for the Bi-County title, while Troy was co-champion of the Oakland-B circuit.

Top scorers included Haase with 20, Greenslate with 14, Varajon with 17 and Acton with 14.

Shrine set an early slow pace, to trail Clawson of Oakland-B league 10-6 at the first period, but stepped on the gas in the 2nd period to almost run Clawson off the court, 18-5. The Woodward avenue school five kept the rush moving into the 3rd period with 17 points, but slipped in the 4th, barely missing a tie in the last few minutes.

Scoring honors were split between Shrine's Tom Ropers and Clawson's Tom Trexler, each with 18.

There was no "D" game Friday. Memphis stopped Clintondale 58-29 and Utica St. Lawrence 79-13 to reach the finals. St. Mary's disposed of St. Agatha 51-23 then byed to the title round.

Conditioning Aim of Redleg Boss in Spring Tilts

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts doesn't want to win the Grapefruit League championship with his Cincinnati Redlegs. He only wants to whip his men into top shape.

Cincinnati plays its first exhibition game today against Chicago's White Sox, and Tebbetts said, "I like to win as much as anybody, but that's not important, not now.

★ ★ ★

"What's more important is that the veteran players get into the best condition and the kids get a fair shot at the jobs.

"That's what I'll use those games for."

Walled Lake in 'B' Finals

By CHUCK ABAIR

The Walled Lake and Northville hoop teams had little more than a good workout last night as they easily won their way into tonight's final round of the District Class B tourney being held at the Walled Lake High gym. The Viking-Mustang title clash is set for 7:30.

Host Walled Lake scored at will from the 2nd quarter on to wallop an outclassed Brighton contingent, 68-47 after Northville had eliminated Milford with a 60-41 triumph.

The tourney finale will be a test of highpowered scoring machines with the Vikings favored to advance to the Pontiac regionals. But anything can happen in tournament play and usually does. Northville could surprise with several capable scorers and six foot, seven inch Jeff Goodrich in the lineup.

The Vikings pleased their large following among the overflow crowd on hand last night with some good shooting and floor play and fine backboard control.

★ ★ ★

An eight point spree early in the 2nd period sent Walled Lake on its way to a good lead it never relinquished. The count rose from 12-10 at the initial stanza to 33-17 at halftime with lefty Tom Willwerth supplying 12 of the total.

Willwerth cooled off after the intermission but John Walker took up the cause with 12 in the 3rd to increase the margin to 60-29 before the reserves took over to finish the rout.

★ ★ ★

Willwerth topped all the scorers with 19 and Walker had 18. Larry Hughes, who sat out most of the game due to dangerous early personal fouls and the victor's comfortable lead, finished with 9 and contributed some excellent rebounding and defensive work.

Brian Watson, who averaged 21 per game during the year, paced Brighton with 16, 12 in the final 6½ minutes, and Herb Snyder hit for 14.

Northville overcame an early deficit to go ahead 17-13 at the 1st quarter and never had much trouble the rest of the way.

The smooth working Mustangs built up the advantage to eight at halftime and put together a 11-point string late in the 3rd quarter to pull way ahead. The Redskins failed to make a field goal in that period.

★ ★ ★

Sharpshooter Dick Biery swished the nets for 17 digits to spark the NHS attack with teammate Bill Yahne right on his heels with 16. Bud Bell, who led the last half drive, finished with 12 and the hard-working Goodrich scored nine while turning in a fine all around floor game. Frank Redman was the only consistent Milford point maker with 14.

JUMP BALL? — Four different players are struggling for possession of the ball in this scene from last night's Clarkston-Avondale basketball game at Pontiac High. Involved in the scrap are Larry LaForge (No. 14) and partially hidden Tim Mulholland (No. 52), both of Avondale, an unidentified Clarkston cager, and George Lang (No. 11), also of Clarkston. Avondale's Jerry Hill (No. 40) watches in the background. Clarkston advanced to the Class B finals with a 48-43 wih.

EAST LANSING (AP) — A field of 150 speed-skating devotees is expected to compete in the Michigan speed indoor skating championships Saturday, March 16, in the Michigan State ice arena.

The annual event will be held at the University arena for the 8th consecutive year.

Berkley Quintet Finds Oaks Easy

Royal Oak Suffers Scoreless First Period as Bears Romp, 69-34

Royal Oak High School's basketball team was colder than the well-known mackerel last night as Berkley romped to a 69-34 victory at Royal Oak.

A scoreless 1st quarter just about sums up Royal Oak's plight. The Oaks not only staggered through the 1st period without a point, but failed to take more than a pitiful handful of shots.

Berkley ran up a 16-0 lead and walked off the floor at halftime with a 34-12 advantage. The issue was all decided by then.

Four Berkley cagers scored in double figures, with big Jim Zalenski tops on 16 points. John Kerr's 10 points led the stone-cold Oaks.

It was the final game of the regular season for both schools. The Bears, Inter-Lakes Coonference co-champs, finished with an impressive 11-4 record while Royal Oak won five and lost 10.

Farmington Out of 'B' Tourney

A pair of teams with losing records during the regular season clash tonight for the Class B championship of the Farmington District Tournament.

Garden City and Clarenceville won their way into the finals last night with hard-earned victories. Garden City came from behind in the last two minutes to down Farmington, 62-58, and Clarenceville eked out a 42-41 verdict over Redford Union.

The host Falcons blew two 11-point leads in dropping out of the running. The favorites fell apart the 2nd time with four minutes left as Garden City used a tight press to take command. Three fouls in the last six seconds iced the verdict. Bud Jones hooped 22 and Dave Warriner had 14 for Farmington.

Clarenceville held a slight edge all the way but was pushed hard right down to the final whistle before clinching its contest.

Barbers Table Net Champions

The Capital Barber team won the team championship and Perc Secord saw the only player to finish unbeaten as the Pontiac Table Tennis Association League came to a close recently.

Secord whipped former state junior champion James Reed two games to one to complete a perfect slate. On the same night, Sid Barnfather lost for the 1st time all year as he was upset by Howard Heckman in three close matches.

Both Secord and Barnfather were members of the champion Barbers who rose from 8th place to the title in 10 weeks. Others on the team are Vern Osterland, Mary Jacober and Don Waterman.

The final standings:

New Track Records May Be Set Tonight

MILWAUKEE (AP)—At least three—possibly more—meet records go by the boards tonight in the seventh annual Journal Games at the Arena.

Records in jeopardy are Rich Ferguson's 9:15.5 in the two-mile, Arnie Sowell's 2:10 in the 1,000-yard and Indiana University's 3:19.9 in the college division mile-relay.

State Schools Rank High in Gymnastics

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan and Michigan State qualified for 17 and 15 spots respectively yesterday in the 38th renewal of the Western Conference gymnastics championships.

Defending champion Illinois qualified men for 20 positions to lead all schools.

In the only championship decided yesterday, Illinois sophomore Abie Grossfeld edged Michigan's Ed Gagnier, by one point in the six-event competition. Grossfeld scored 1,069 points to 1,068 for Gagnier.

Chiefs in Mat Regionals

Pontiac's ambitious wrestling team, which has competed in 12 regular season matches and the Saginaw Valley tourney in its 1st year in the sport, is facing another rugged task today as one of 12 teams taking part in the state regional mat meet at Berkley.

★ ★ ★

The event got underway late this morning and will continue throughout the day and evening before championships are determined. Oakland County powers Berkley and Hazel Park are rated team favorites in the meet. Other schools entered are the Flint trio of Northern, Central and Tech, Davison, Port Huron, Southfield, Farmington Oak Park and Fitzgerald.

The Chiefs are given little chance in team competition due to their lack of experience but could cause some surprises among the individual contestants.

Dave Payne, 120-pound SVC champ, is a top threat along with heavyweight Willie Duncan, 133-pound Mel Nosenchuk and John Herron, 165. Winners and runner-ups will gain the right to go to the state finals next weekend at Michigan State.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"We've got the Dodgers," the Examiner quoted Mayor Norris Poulson as he returned by air yesterday from Vero Beach, Fla., where he conferred with Walter O'Malley, head of the Brooklyn baseball club.

"We went there with a mission and we accomplished the mission," said Poulson. "It's too late to get the Brooklyn team this year, but we'll have the Dodgers in 1958. Next year, instead of the Brooklyn Dodgers it'll be the Brooklyn Angels." (Getting his cities slightly mixed.)

Foytack's 'Grapefruit' Selection

By BRUNO KEARNS
Pontiac Press Sports Editor

SARASOTA, Fla.—The weatherman gave the opening day of the Grapefruit Circuit a touch of northern weather today with chilly winds and the possibility of more rain at most of the Florida West Coast training sites.

Frost prevailed in some parts of the state last night after heavy rains washed out intrasquad games, including the Tigers' workout at Henley Field.

At Sarasota today, Paul "Oink" Foytack will start on the mound for the Tigers, who last year won eight and lost 19 in the spring tour.

Foytack posted a 15-13 record in the American League last season finding Boston as the toughest team to crack. He was beaten three of four games by the Red Sox.

Manager Jack Tighe has decided also to use rookie pitcher Don Lee, who had a 7-3 record at Augusta last season, to pitch the second half of the game.

The Red Sox have scheduled three pitchers each to three innings, George Susce, Bert Theil and Dave Sisler will share the mound duties.

★ ★ ★

Behind the plate, the Sox will start rookie catcher Haywood Sullivan who has been one of the better prospects in training camp. Sullivan was the University of Florida student who was given a $50,000 bonus by the Sox.

Tighe has planned to start Ray Boone at first, Frank Bolling at second, Harvey Kuenn at short and Jim Finigan at third. It will be Charley Maxwell, Bill Tuttle and Al Kaline in the outfield.

★ ★ ★

Behind the plate, Red Wilson is expected to start and catch the first five innings with Frank House sharing the duties in the last four innings.

For Sunday's "home" opener at Henley Field against Kansas City, Jack Crimian, Al Aber and Jim Bunning will each throw three innings.

Tuesday the Tigers meet the Milwaukee Braves at Bradenton and Wednesday it will be the Washington Senators at Orlando.

All of the Tiger exhibition games will start at 1:30 p.m. with direct broadcasts from the respective fields.

No one can say these exhibitions don't count.

That was the attitude last year, and it carried down the line from manager to player.

There will be some experimenting this spring, of course, and a lot of lineup juggling, and some opportunities for victory may be sacrificed in order to gain information about personnel.

But manager Jack Tighe wants as many victories as possible in the 11 games against American League foes, 23 against National Leaguers and four against minor league teams.

"The quicker we develop a winning habit, the better off all of us will be," he said.

There are four open dates on the Tigers' Grapefruit League schedule with another day set aside when the club breaks camp April 9. The Tigers then will travel north, accompanied by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

★ ★ ★

Seven of the games will be played by the so-called "B" squad but Muddy Ruel, assistant to the club president, says there'll be little difference in the two squads. "It's just a way of saying we'll have two squads playing different teams on the same day," said Ruel.

Major Loop Clubs Buckle Down to Serious Efforts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 16 major league clubs get down to serious business today when they all took the field for the opening of the exhibition season—and to some players—rookies and old timers alike—it was a long-awaited day.

There is the case of Mickey Mantle, the triple batting crown winner of the New York Yankees last season. His ailing knees has been bothering him again and the club is openly worried about the condition. So is Mantle.

He was scheduled to test it out for at least a few innings against the St. Louis Cardinals at St. Petersburg, Fla. No matter how it feels afterward, Mantle still will not see much action during the spring, so fearful are the Yanks that he will aggravate the injury.

Against the Yanks, Card Manager Fred Hutchinson will throw bonus baby Lindy McDaniel, probably for the middle three innings.

However, McDaniel wasn't the only rookie who was scheduled to get the once-over from his manager. All told, about 30 youngsters were down for three-inning stints.

Some of the managers are going with their best from the start while others plan to keep their regulars under wraps for at least a few more days.

Texas Olympics Open at Laredo

Top College Stars Led by Morrow Competing in Border Track Meet

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — The collegians, headed by Olympic stars Bobby Morrow, J. W. Mashburn and Eddie Southern, moved into competition in the Border Olympics today.

A field of 12 universities and 14 colleges promised to hang up at least a half-dozen records in today's track and field meet.

Morrow, Abilene Christian College's hero of the Olympic Games, will run both the 100 and 220-yard dashes and anchor relay teams in the university division. The ACC 440-yard relay combination is expected to crack the Border Olympics record of 40.9.

★ ★ ★

Mashburn, the big blond quarter-miler from Oklahoma A&M, is likely to wipe out the 440 record of 48.0, a mark he already shares. Southern, who as a freshman at Texas went to the Olympics and was second in the 400-meter hurdles, is looked upon as a potential record-smasher in the 120-yard high hurdles.

Romack Favorite in Women's Final

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — A former national amateur golf champion and Florida's 16-year-old titleholder teed off today in the 18-hole championship match of the Florida East Coast Women's Golf Tournament.

Barbara Romack, 1954 women's titlist from Sacramento, Calif. and winner at Palm Beach and Ormond Beach earlier this season, is the favorite to win over Ann Middlemas, Panama City lass who took the state crown here a year ago.

NC Rallies to Win 26th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The North Carolina Tar Heels, on the brink of disaster last night before running their undefeated record to 26 straight games, tangle with South Carolina tonight in the finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball tournament at Raleigh, N.C.

★ ★ ★

A dramatic hook shot, followed by a foul conversion by All-America Lennie Rosenbluth with 45 seconds to go saved the nation's No. 1 college team just when it appeared as if the Wake Forest Deacons might pull one of the big upsets of the season. The Deacons' Jim Gilley had put his team ahead 59-58 with 55 seconds remaining, but Rosenbluth's three points produced a 61-59 victory for the Tar Heels in a thriller that had 12,000 fans jumping with excitement.

South Carolina upset second-seeded Maryland in the other semifina, 74-64.

In the Southern Conference tournament at Richmond, Va., favored West Virginia mauled Richmond in the last half, and won 83-62, to gain the finals along with Washington and Lee, a 68-54 winner over Virginia Tech.

Winners of both tournaments will travel to New York for the first round of the Eastern NCAA regional tourney Tuesday at Madison Square Garden.

Gopher Railroad Man

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota quarterback Bobby Cox, the engineer in the Gopher split-T attack, plans some appropriate work for the summer vacation—toiling on the railroad.

Boxing Men Wary of Future

NEW YORK (AP)—Boxing men the world over were buzzing today with speculation over "what happens next" in the case of the government versus the International Boxing Club. Nobody right now has any definite idea of what's going to happen.

Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan touched off the bombshell yesterday morning by ruling the sprawling IBC was a monopoly and conspiracy in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act in the promotion of world championship fights. The ruling was only on title fights and not on the weekly non-title bouts promoted on Wednesday and Friday nights by the IBC in coast-to-coast radio and television programs.

Just how this alleged monopoly will be broken up by court order remains to be seen. Judge Ryan directed both the government and the IBC to submit proposed decrees within 30 days. Hearings then will be held before a final court order is handed down.

★ ★ ★

That wouldn't necessarily end the legal action. There were indications that if James D. Norris, president of the IBC, and his associates named in the civil suit, thought a final ruling by Judge Ryan was too severe they would appeal to the court of appeals and, if necessary, to the Supreme Court. This takes plenty of time.

In the "what happens next" guessing game, most observers felt the government might try to clip the IBC's empire this way: Force the IBC to relinquish some of the big arenas it controls; nullify the club's exclusive contracts with champion fighters and make it give up either the Wednesday or Friday night network show.

★ ★ ★

Judge Ryan, in his 59-page opinion of the civil suit, tried last April, decided that the IBC of New York, the IBC of Illinois, Madison Square Garden Corporation, Norris, who is president of all three, and Arthur M. Wirtz of Chicago, Norris' principal associate, were "a combination and conspiracy in unreasonable restraint of trade and commerce in the promotion of professional world championship boxing contests."

Hopkins, Hanley Set New Collegiate Swim Marks

MINEAPOLIS, Minn. (INS) — The Big Ten swimming championships enter the final round today with Ohio State's eight-year reign as king apparently nearing an end.

Two University of Michigan stars broke national collegiate records last night to keep the Wolverines in second place behind the well balanced squad from Michigan State.

Entering the final day of the 1957 meet, Michigan State has 50 points, Michigan 42, Ohio State 37 and Indiana 25 as the leaders. The final outcome depends on seven final events set for tonight.

Cy Hopkins of Michigan took the 200 meter butterfly in 2:12.2, cutting three tenths of a second off the collegiate record held by Jack Nelson of North Carolina.

Michigan set its second record for the night when Dick Hanley shaved two seconds off the collegiate record for the 200 yard butterfly. Hanley's time was 2:01.5 to beat out defending champion Bill Woolsey of Indiana.

★ ★ ★

Other winners were:

Fred Westphal, Wisconsin, 50-yard free style.

Dave Pemberton, Northwestern, 200-yard backstroke.

Paul Reinke, Michigan State, 100-yard breaststroke.

Glenn Whitten, Ohio State, one-meter diving.

Gary Morris, Iowa, 200-yard individual medley.

Michigan State, 400-yard free fairly safe.

Class A Powers Finish Unbeaten for Season Play

Muskegon Heights clipped off its 21st straight basketball victory Friday night to close out the regular season. The Tigers enter high school tournament play next week in defense of their Class A crown.

The Southwest Conference champion had no trouble in knocking off Grand Rapids Christian, co-champion of the Grand Rapids City League, 72-57.

But almost as a warning, Highland Park whipped Hamtramck 50-41 for its 15th straight victory against no defeats and ranked as the top contender for the Tigers crown.

For the Tigers, Ed Burton led the way with 32 points.

In another final season game, Kalamazoo, Six-A league champ, closed its season with a 13-2 record by defeating Jackson, 71-61.

NAIA Tourney Starts Monday

KANSAS CITY (AP) — NAIA officials huddled today to make pairings for the 19th National Intercollegiate basketball tournament opening in Municipal Auditorium Monday morning.

★ ★ ★

Entries in the 32-team field for the week-long cage marathon were completed at three district playoff sites last night.

Hamline University of St. Paul, only three-time winner of the small college tournament, qualified by beating St. Cloud, Minn. Teachers 71-59 at Minneapolis. Upper Iowa defeated Morningside 78-65 at Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Tennessee State trimmed Winston-Salem, N.C., Teachers 100-80 at Winston-Salem.

★ ★ ★

Among the teams expected to draw top-seeded positions are Pacific Lutheran (25-1), West Virginia Tech (31-2), Youngstown, Ohio University (19-3), Western Illinois (21-2), and Texas Southern (31-1).

Regaining His Confidence Porter's Only Real Need

By BRUNO KEARNS

LAKELAND, Fla. — Give Manager Jack Tighe another pat in handling ball players. The Tiger pilot went to the root in trying to find out what was ailing J. W. Porter, and came out with a diagnosis that what the 23-year-old youngster needed was to regain his confidence.

★ ★ ★

Tighe feels Porter is a good man with the stick, but with Red Wilson and Frank House in the front line as the team's catchers, Porter would hardly get a chance.

"I think Porter would probably do as good a job at the plate as the other catchers, but his reflexes are too slow at that position, so we decided to give him a chance in the outfield," said Tighe.

"By doing this we can help Porter and possibly help our outfield problem," Tighe continued.

★ ★ ★

Porter is no stranger to the outfield. He played about 70 games with the St. Louis Browns as a center fielder before he came to the Tigers.

During his entire stay in Detroit, Porter got the feeling he wasn't wanted. Several players backed up Porter's statement that Bucky Harris didn't like him and he hurt his confidence.

"Bucky would tell me to shag flies in the outfield, but in exhibition games and intra-squad games he would put me behind the plate," said Porter.

"I really was never sure where I would play if I got the chance," he added.

★ ★ ★

The freckled Oklahoman must have something in view of the fact that in his three seasons with Detroit at least four other clubs were after him.

"Frank Lane has always been interested in Porter," said Johnny McHale the team's personnel director, "but we think if he gets the chance his hitting can help us."

"By playing the outfield, he will not have to worry as much about his catching," said Tighe.

★ ★ ★

"It makes me feel very good to know that I will have more opportunity to play," said Porter.

TIGER TREND GROWING

Sportswriters making the tour of the spring training camps are joining the Tiger bandwagon as the Yankees' biggest threat this year. One prominent New York writer visiting Henley Field here in Lakeland said he was impressed enough to pick Detroit, New York and Chicago as the top three in this order in the American League this year.

We would say "amen" to this, but we would be more convinced if the Tigers would pick themselves up a good left-handed hitter as a utility outfielder.

Boys Club Five Reaches Semifinals of Tourney

Pontiac Boys' Club junior basketball team advanced to the semifinals Friday in the BCMA tournament at the Highland Park Boys' Club as they defeated the Eddie Guest Boys' Club by the score of 20-5. Poor shooting plus a well-played defense by Pontiac was total to the losers.

Pontiac's scoring was well-balanced with Jim Joyce high man with eight. Jim Bland and Major Finley each had four. Don Langford did an outstanding job on the boards.

Pontiac plays Sarver in the semi-finals and the winner of that game will play the winner of the Highland Park Philadelphia game for the championship.

Intermediate BCMA tournament will be played at the Bloomer Boys' Club next Friday and Saturday.

MESC Reports Job Statistics

Only Slight Changes in Employment Rates for Pontiac Area

At mid-February, non-farm employment in the Pontiac labor market was 75,400, or 200 less than at mid-January, according to statistics released by the Pontiac branch of the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

During that 30-day span, non-manufacturing employment remained unchanged at 28,700.

Compared with a year ago, employment is 2,700 less, with the biggest dip 2,400 being recorded in motor vehicle plants. The balance of 300 was noted mainly in the construction and transportation fields.

Unemployment at mid-February was estimated at 3,600 or 100 more than the past month.

★ ★ ★

Currently, the unemployed make up 4.4 per cent of the total labor force in the area. This compares to 4.3 per cent in January, and 5.6 per cent (4,800) a year ago.

During February, the Pontiac MESC office issued 7,919 unemployment insurance checks valued at $269,681. This compares with 8,148 checks worth $271,247 issued in January.

Parents Should Accept Tutoring by Children

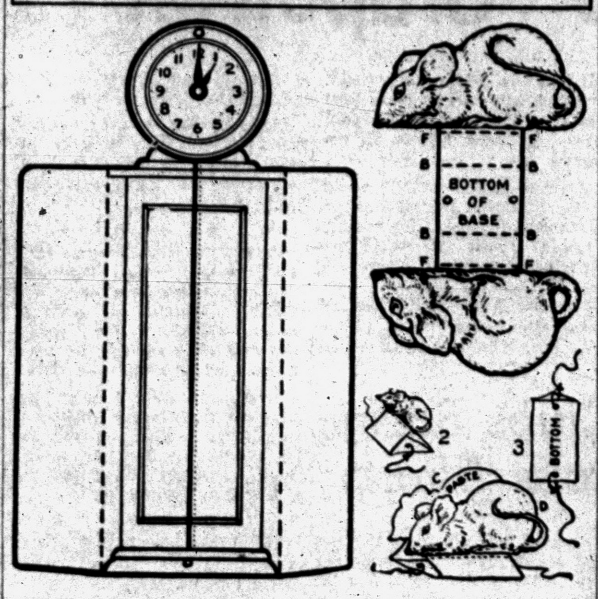

MEADOW BRIDGE, W. Va. (AP)—Don't correct his grammar, he might be your father.

Members of the Meadow Bridge PTA agreed in a panel discussion that too often junior was "slapped down" when he corrected his father's grammar.

Better, they agreed, that the parent should accept such criticism from his children gracefully, and try to perfect his own speech.

6. Snow White the Mouse

Tommy had a white mouse which he named Snow White. The mouse had little pink feet and ears and a long, almost hairless pink tail.

It was a fearless little mouse who ran around the house, in and out of boxes, up and down the chair legs, and even climbed up the clock, like the mouse in the nursery rhyme, Hickory Dickory Dock. If the clock struck while he was on it he went scurrying down in haste.

Paste this page on cardboard and color with crayons. The clock is brown with a light blue dial. Cut out the parts carefully. Cut the slit down the front of the clock. Fold back the sides of the clock on the dash lines and the clock will stand.

Fold the halves of the mouse forward at the dotted lines marked "F". Fold back at the dotted lines marked "B." Then paste the two inside parts of the mouse together. The base will be flat. Make two holes in this and tie a string into each end so that you can pull the mouse up or down the clock.

Slip the mouse into the slit of the clock from the back. The base will then hold the mouse at right angles to the clock and can be pulled up and down by the strings in the base from the back.

Macmillan Won't Move Out for Repairs at No. 10 Downing

LONDON (INS) — The center of the British Government appears to be on somewhat rickety foundations. But the persons most directly affected seem rather unconcerned about it.

The center, of course, is No. 10 Downing St., residence and office of the Prime Minister.

Harold Macmillan, the current occupant, reportedly told friends he was advised it would be safer to have the old building's underpinnings reinforced or reconstructed before he occupied the place.

But the Prime Minister said he preferred not to move out—as Harry Truman moved out of the White House—in order to have the place renovated.

No. 10 is built upon piles which sink down into muddy earth below the ground's surface. What with the shaking by wartime bombardment and sheer age, building experts felt the foundations should be greatly strengthened or replaced.

★ ★ ★

The foregoing is what the Prime Minister is reported to have told intimates, but the official position of the Ministry of Works, which has charge of the building, goes like this:

It is true that the ministry did make a survey of the condition of No. 10 not long ago. But this report has never been made public, and will not be now.

The report showed that the building needed some reconstruction, and this was recommended, but the ministry will delay the reconstruction to suit the convenience of those resident there.

This seemed to amount to a confirmation in restrained bureaucratic language that the desired repairs would await the Prime Minister's pleasure.

If the reports of Macmillan's attitude are correct, this means they will await a political decision (election) retiring him from office.

★ ★ ★

But the Ministry of Works insists that it periodically inspects the premises, that there is no immediate emergency and that the reconstruction can be safely postponed.

It may have been a mirage, but after hearing all this some newsmen thought they could see a slight sag in the center of No. 10 as they stood across the street.

Hope for More Riders

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia Transit Company, which operates in the city, carried 4.7 per cent fewer passengers in 1956 than 1955, but its report was encouraging. The drop was the lowest since the Korean war period and it hopes the leveling off point has been reached.

Labor in Denmark is pressing in Copenhagen, for a reduction in the 48-hour week.

Japan expects to be short of power for years to come, while increasing facilities.

HONOR GIRL SCOUTS

J. L. VOORHEES

Girl Scouts, like their brothers, Boy Scouts, have a code of ethics. It would be very difficult if not impossible to name which single objectives would claim being the most important. One, being taught to get along with others, is the lesson that will last all of their lives.

M. E. SIPLE

The woman with charming personality, and the ability to make others like her is rich indeed. She who commands respect gets it whether in school, office, social affair or home. These two attributes are two of Girl Scout training.

March 10-16 is Girl Scout Week. Cooperate with them. Remember, it is the woman who originates and the man who follows; Girl Scouts are potential leaders.

MISSING SOMETHING

You may be missing real top-notch performance from your TV set if your antenna is not in good condition. There is no real substitute for a well engineered and properly balanced TV antenna system. Regardless of the many stories circulated about coat hangers, lamp cords, light bulbs, etc., serving as an antenna, the fact remains that a good antenna is necessary for any make or model TV set. Common annoyances from improper antennas are ghosts, double images, flickering pictures, flashes across the screen, and snow. Also, even if you have the proper type of antenna, it may need repair. Tests have proven that TV lead-in wire decreases in efficiency an average 25% in a normal two year period of use. Consult your neighborhood County Electronics Association Member for competent advice concerning your antenna problems.

JUST WHAT SHE WANTED — Mrs. Melvin E. Proutt is delighted with every part of her new home. Planned for ease of maintenance, the house contains thousands of feet of plywood. Living room walls are birch paneled. Beyond the fireplace can be seen the louvered wall that opens into one bedroom. Note the unusual construction of the stonework in the fireplace. This room has a studio height ceiling that is stained a darker shade than the walls.

LOUVERED WALL — Carroll Proutt has the bedroom back of the living room. The vertical birch louvers can be completely closed to make a solid wall or opened to any angle for control of light and ventilation. The builder put drawers in the wall beneath the louvers. Like the plywood walls in her parents' bedroom, the ones here are finished in a grayed tone. Furniture and sheer curtains are green. The quilted spreads on the twin beds are white as are the shag throw rugs. The room is carpeted in beige. This room has a western exposure and a pleasant view down hill of the nearby residential area. The Chinese peel chair is an appropriate one for its feminine surroundings.

Melvin Proutts Plan and Build a Plywood House Near Maceday Lake

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

We saw the house on the hill last summer when we were on another Home Section assignment. We liked its clean modern lines and thought it would make an interesting story. So we checked the name on the mailbox and put it in our files.

Last week we contacted the Milton E. Proutts and were happy when they agreed to have us come out for pictures and an interview. We like to be welcome and most homeowners are more than gracious.

Former Detroiters, the Proutts have been Oakland County residents for only a year. The way they bought their lot is amusing for its casualness.

While visiting friends who live on Maceday Lake (a block away from their present home), they inquired about a wooded corner lot that struck their fancy. They had talked about building in the country; this lot looked like what they wanted. Within the space of a few hours, they had looked over the acre and a half, had seen the owner and had bought the land.

Mr. Proutt is an architect, specializing in church building. He put his talents to work on his own house plans; then Jerry Shell of Drayton Plains did the actual building.

With one daughter married and the second nearly through college, the Proutts do not need a great deal of room. They are interested in a house that demands the minimum of housekeeping and upkeep. Theirs was planned primarily for two persons, but if ever necessary, a wing can be thrown out on the west side of the house.

Except for the two car garage and the furnace room there is no basement. Mr. Proutt took advantage of the site and built this part on the downward slope of the hill. Steps up the terraced lawn lead to the "front" door.

The exterior of the house is brick and redwood siding. On the east is a cement terrace some 12x24 feet. It is covered and will soon be screened. On the house wall there are numerous electrical outlets for barbecues and other appliances.

The door opens directly into the dining room which is really part of the living room. On one wall there is a large storage closet with sliding doors. Walls are paneled in birch and the floor is yellow asphalt tile.

Centered on an Indian rug, the dining room table and chairs are black. The chairs have textured seat covers in beige. Over the table is a hanging brass lamp that travels on a trolley.

To the right of the door, as you enter is the living room. All interior walls in this house are finished in plywood. This room is also done in birch with the grooved ceiling stained a darker tone. The room is studio height, with two thirds of the north wall made up of windows that follow the pitch of the roof.

The lower part of these windows and those in the dining room are draped with full sheer curtains. They are white Oriental design in brown, aqua and coral.

The Proutts have a sympathetic feeling for all things Oriental and have used many in the living room. The hanging lamp, other lamp bases, some statues, a tiny black table with a tea set and an unusual picture on one wall are examples. This last is simply a Chinese letter, white on black, the whole matted on gold. Mr. Proutt was the artist.

Not Oriental, but attention-getting, is the painting on the west wall. It was a special commission for the Proutts by the artist, Spicuzza. The picture shows a herdsman and his wife. Everything about the picture—the colors, the kindliness in the old man's face, the feeling of restfulness — compels the attention. It is the dominant feature of that side of the room.

The fireplace is built of yellow Roman brick with a slanting stone framework for the fire opening. It has one built-in brick shelf and an hearth of regular brick. Beside the chimney is an opening in the wall.

Fitted with vertical birch louvers, this space permits light and air to pass freely from living room to bedroom. Beneath the louvers, but now hidden by the sofa, is space into which the Proutts intend to fit a three-quarter bed. Only enough will extend into the room to allow comfortable sitting.

When guests stay overnight, they will have a good sized bed. Mrs. Proutt will then get a screen to provide more privacy in that corner.

Living room furniture is informal. Some of the wicker chairs used outside during the warm months have to be used indoors during the winter (no basement — no storage space for some things?) There are twin basket chairs before the fireplace with a blonde table between. The white sectional sofa is used in two parts, one a chair the other a small

IT FITS THE SITE — The Melvin E. Proutt home on Maceday drive is fitted into its site with expert care. For the best view the house needed to be on top of the hill. Putting the two car garage on a lower level made for a better driveway. Yellow brick and redwood siding are used on the exterior. Mr. Proutt did the architectural work, and Jerry Shell of Drayton Plains the building.

BIRCH KITCHEN — Walls and cupboards are made of birch. Counter tops, breakfast bar and the wall behind the stove are covered with beige plastic. The stove hood, while copper colored, is steel and needs no polishing. In the background the wall stops about a foot short of ceiling height.

DINING ROOM AND PASSAGEWAY — Birch plywood paneling is used extensively in the Proutt home. Here you see the small dining room and the hall leading to the bedrooms. A large storage closet was built directly behind the fireplace. The asphalt tile floors are laid on cement, while the carpeting is on wooden flooring.

Court Favors Use of Washer

CHICAGO — An automatic washer is "a necessity for the overburdened housewife." That's what a New York judge decided in ruling in favor of a homemaker recently.

The case which prompted this action was instituted by a landlord attempting to evict tenants because they installed and used an automatic washer in their apartment allegedly in violation of their lease.

Engineering counsel for the American Home Laundry Manufacturers' Association actually moved an automatic washer into the court room during the trial. Testimony revealed that the tenant's use of the washer did not cause injury to the landlord's property or inconvenience any other tenant in the building.

In the decision in favor of the tenants, the justice stated that, "In this day and age, an automatic washing machine is entitled to the same legal consideration as a television antenna, an air-conditioning unit and a caning. In today's economy an automatic washer has become a necessity for the overburdened housewife.

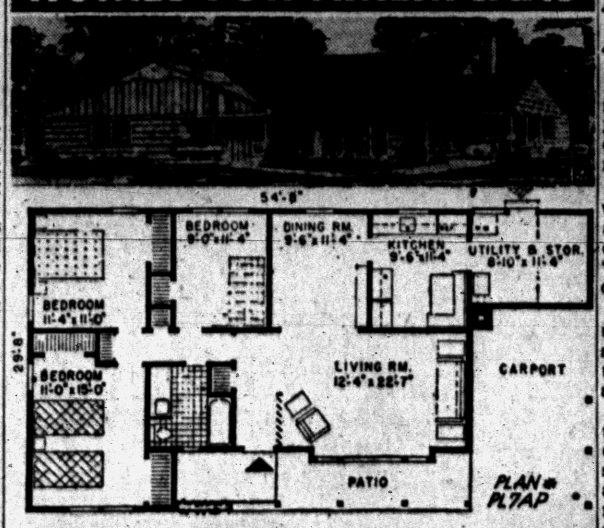

★ ★ ★

"The need for a mother with small children to wash clothes frequently and in close proximity to her children, and the cost of sending clothes out to be laundered, has resulted in automatic washers becoming a necessity in the American home. To deny the modern housewife the convenience of this appliance in her apartment is to place a stumbling block in the path of the wheels of progress.

"In view of the foregoing, Final Order is therefore directed in favor of the tenants dismissing the landlord's petition."

So, girls, if you're having trouble convincing your husband that you really need that new automatic washer, tell him the law is in your favor!

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

Harsh Tests Prove Asphalt Resists Weather

Scientists at the National Bureau of Standards have subjected asphalt roofing to 20 years of harsh "weathering" in little more than ten months.

The tests were made in a device called an "accelerated durability" machine, which poured concentrated light, heat, and "rain" on the shingles to test their durability.

The machine—one of a number used by the scientists in their constant search to find better materials to make better homes—is a large rotating drum.

The roofing material was attached to the inner sides of the drum, which was then rotated constantly through 22 hour-long cycles a day. Each cycle consisted of 51 minutes of ultra-violet light for heat and "sunlight" and nine minutes of light accompanied by a cold-water spray of "rain."

After tests ranging up to 300 days, the research team made their data available to roofing manufacturers for use in maintaining the high quality of asphalt shingles and roll roofing.

LOOSEN fixtures for a neat ceiling painting.

It's Easy to Mess Up Your Ceiling Painting

DO . . . when redecorating a room, always paint the ceiling before the walls and woodwork, otherwise you'll have to take extra precautions to keep from spoiling the work you've already done.

DO . . . paint across the width of a room rather than the length, which enables you to move from wall to wall and back again to start the next strip before the paint begins to set.

DO . . . when using a brush, dip it in only about an inch or 2, flowing it on with just enough pressure so that the paint spreads uniformly; when using a roller, be certain it is not overloaded and move it along in even strokes.

DO . . . remove as much furniture from the room as possible, especially lamps and other things which can be knocked over, and cover everything else with drop cloths to keep them from getting spattered.

DON'T . . . paint a ceiling unless you have the time to do the whole job at once, since a restart is almost certain to leave some trace, even with the "non-lapping" paints now available.

★ ★ ★

DON'T . . . get yourself tangled up trying to paint your way around a ceiling fixture; taking the screws out of the fixture so that it can be lowered a little will make an easier and neater job.

DON'T . . . when using a roller, neglect the use of a small brush for use in corners and other tight spots.

DON'T . . . forget that, while a little paint occasionally may drip down the handle of the brush, too much dripping means you have thinned the paint too much . . . or you are dipping the brush too deeply . . . or you are using too much pressure.

COVERED TERRACE — Outside the Proutt kitchen is a covered terrace measuring 12x24 feet. When screened, it will be an ideal summer living room. Handy electrical outlets are installed in the house wall. Maceday Lake is visible from this vantage point, also the woods at the back of the house.

Proutts Desire Easily Kept House

In the small kitchen everything is efficiently planned. The floor is tiled like the dining room. Cupboards are birch and counter tops beige plastic. A minute breakfast table is formed by an extension of the stove top. Three black and gold metal stools with yellow plastic seats slide out of the way underneath.

Four big windows over the sink look out on the covered terrace. Cafe curtains and a matching valance are brightly patterned in green, yellow and peach. The partition between this room and the utility room stops short of the ceiling. This permits a free flow of air.

Mr. Proutt has his drafting table in the utility room. It keeps company with the usual laundry equipments. Multicolored plaid curtains frame the windows, a small lavatory opens from here.

The windows in the master bedroom were planned to give the occupants a pleasant view of sky and trees. Curtains pulled back on either side are made from an India print in green and yellow shades. Other matching prints are used as bedspreads.

The carpet here and in the hall is green cotton. The plywood walls have a grayed finish on them. The ceiling is white.

Always in readiness for a visiting grandchild (there was one, with a second expected momentarily last week) is a baby's crib in the corner of the Proutt's bedroom. Next to it is an old fashioned oak rocking chair, just the thing in which to lull grandbabies to sleep. The double chest of drawers has a beautiful herringbone design on the front panel.

The master bathroom is gray. Chintz butterfly curtains are a soft spot of color. Two pierced brass lamps hang over the built-in vanity.

★ ★ ★

Carroll who is living at home temporarily while she finishes an occupational therapy course at Wayne State U has a bedroom with a western exposure. Here the walls are also grayed. Furniture is painted green and the sheer curtains match. The twin beds have white quilted spreads. The rug is beige with white shag throws.

This is the room on the other side of the louvers in the living room. Below the openings three drawers have been set in the birch paneling.

★ ★ ★

Since moving to Oakland County the Proutts have achieved their dream—a house in the country built just the way they wanted, is easy to clean, has little upkeep qnd suits their needs exactly.

Crate Furniture Before Shipping It

If furniture is to be shipped, always crate it. Brace doors and drawers shut. Remove casters, mirrors or other loose parts and pack in the crate. Dressers, vanities and commodes can be secured to the crate by screws driven into the back posts of the furniture.

Tables and other pieces with legs should be placed on supporting cleats in the crates so that no weight rests on the legs themselves.

Need 1 Straight Edge to Use Table Saw

When using a table saw, it is impossible to rip a piece of wood which has two irregular edges.

To solve the problem, first find another piece of wood which does have a straight edge. Nail the second piece of wood to the top of the first . . . so that the straight edge sticks out a little. Now use that straight edge to rest along the rip fence as you saw. This will produce one perfectly straight side on the original piece of wood. Take off the straight edge, turn the original wood around and this time use the newly cut edge for moving along the rip fence. The result: two perfect edges.

Paint Cape Cod Cottage

An attractively painted Cape Cod cottage has slate blue walls and gleaming white trim and shutters. Roof shingles repeat the blue and add gray and a heather tone. With this same roof, the heather tone could have been used on the walls of the house with soft blue for trim.

Ting Pain Pioneered Way for Present Home Painter

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Once upon a time in China, there lived a craftsman who became famous for his jewel boxes and cabinets. These he finished with juice from the tree, rhus vernicifera, a kin to poison ivy. His name was Ting Pain and it became synonymous with smooth, gleaming surfaces. Written in western style, Ting Pain becomes Pain Ting, which legend says is the origin of our word "Paint."

Ting had his rhus juice and a few mineral pigments like vermilion, lapis lazuli and ocher. Later on came skim milk, waxes, some natural resins, lampblack and a few other pigments. Today we have dozens of binders and hundreds of pigments, driers, plasticizers, emulsifiers, stabilizers, wetting agents, catalysts and thinners.

In a broad sense, paint is a composition intended to protect, beautify, identify and sanitize. The principal ingredient is the binder, without which there is no paint. Linseed oil is the best known binder. An example of the straight use of linseed oil is finishing of furniture in the home. If drying of the oil is too slow, "driers" may be added to hurry it.

Many binders are too thick for easy application. To remedy this, thinner is added. After application, the thinner evaporates as the paint dries. If color is desired, pigment is added.

An example of a mixture of linseed oil, drier, thinner and white lead pigment is the exterior house paint that grandfather used.

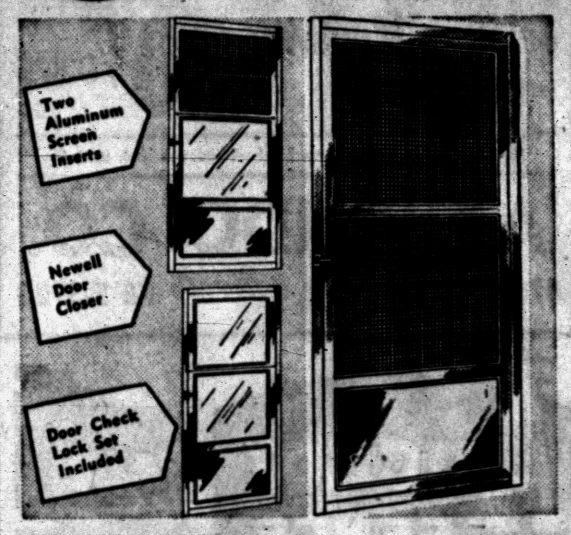

Binder, thinner and pigment go into today's paint, too, just as they did in Ting's day and grandfather's day. But through the years, researchers have patiently developed improved types of these essential ingredients. The result is that the paint you use on your house today is easier to apply, lasts longer and looks more beautiful than ever before.

Mirror Ties In Windows

Two windows can be draped as one by placing a mirror between them, as it gives the effect of one large window. This is especially effective in a bedroom with a dressing table placed before the mirror.

More Confidence by Consumers Seen This Year

The "incredibly huge totals" Americans are spending to improve their homes is dramatic proof of a new high level in consumer confidence, according to Harold Massey, managing director of the Gas Appliance Manufacturers Association.

"Families are estimated to have spent $15 billion last year expanding and remodeling their homes, and the 1957 figure is put at $18 billion," Massey noted. "They're spending it in long-lived items such as building, plumbing, appliances and equipment.

"This takes a lot of confidence all around — confidence in the community and in a wide array of products as well as in the nation's economy and a particular family's place in it.

"In many respects it's a better indicator of confidence than some others more widely used. The number of new house starts, for example, is much more tied up with matters of money markets, land availability and family formation. Industrial expansion is dictated in part by technical changes and competitive demands."

Massey said that still further step-ups in appliance dealer demonstration programs are necessary in the expanded market. Toward this end, he said, gas appliance manufacturers have instituted college - industry - sponsored sales courses. Actual product demonstrations, he said, are being stressed to help dealers "clinch" the story told by advertising and promotion.

HOME OWNERS' QUESTION BOX

Q—I've heard quite a lot lately about using electricity to heat homes. It sounds clean and convenient, but doesn't the cost of electric power make it prohibitive for heating?

A—In areas where the electricity rate is low, tests have shown that a house can be heated economically with electricity when thick mineral wool insulation is installed in walls, ceilings, and floors. Manufacturers of electric-heating equipment recommend a 6-inch thickness of insulation in ceilings, 4 inches in walls and 2 inches in crawl-space floors or around the edge of the concrete slab under a basementless house. The mineral wool keeps heat from escaping from a house, so that it isn't necessary to burn so much fuel. Insulation has the same effect with other types of fuel, too.

Q—Taking showers in our bathtub has loosened all the caulking compound around it. What's the best way to keep this from happening again?

A—When you re-caulk, let the compound dry thoroughly, then paint it with a good grade of enamel the same color as the wall or tile around the tub. The waterproofing action of the enamel will make the caulding compound last longer.

Q—We recently purchased an old, three-story house and plan to modernize it. How can we relieve its tall, awkward appearance?

A—Tall houses can be made to look lower by making them longer with a porch, garage or addition on one side. If the house needs a new roof, asphalt shingles in one of the deep tones available will help, since dark colored roofs always make houses appear lower. In conjunction with this, paint the upper half of the house in a darker color than the lower half.

Hatchway Over Steps Can Be Safety Hazard

A rotted or warped wood hatchway over the steps leading from your basement can be a safety hazard, as well as a possible point of entry for rain water into the basement. A home handyman of average skills can replace a worn-out hatchway with a modern steel basement door in about four hours. The steel hatchway, available at building supply dealers, will provide protection against the weather for the life of your house.

Time to Perk Up Home

Many families prefer to improve the home they own rather than buy a new one. This year is a good time to do this because builders, dealers and lenders all over the country are cooperating in a campaign to make home improvement services readily available. Paint dealers are cooperating by offering payment plans to meet your needs.

Oil is the fuel used in 8,000,000 centrally heated homes.

CUSTOM BUILT MODEL — Floyd Kent, Realtor, built this model home at 2470 West Walton boulevard. Built from stock plans, it sells for $25,000. Features of the face brick house are two fireplaces, two complete baths and three bedrooms. The exterior of the living room fireplace is ledgerock that extends into a planter; interior construction is antique brick. The fireplace in the basement is built of face brick. The traffic plan of this house is excellent, with the living room entirely free of traffic flow to other rooms. Space for dining is included. The family stye kitchen is seventeen feet long. This house with attached two-car garage is built on two lots with 150 feet of frontage and extending back 127 feet.

Panels Convenient but Pose Problems

The modern way for home handymen to "finish off" a basement is to use large panels which give walls and ceiling a professional look and which can be installed speedily, says the Better Basement Institute.

It says if a handyman uses plywood, gypsum or other types of wallboard which are available in sizes up to four feet wide and twelve feet long, it is possible for him to finish off an average sized room in a weekend.

"Many home craftsmen have discovered that the use of big sheets poses a problem, however," the Institute says. "In homes without a direct outside entrance to the basement, large panels often can not be squeezed through the inside halls and stairs to the basement. This problem will be duplicated many times later when it is attempted to bring sofas, easy chairs, ping pong tables, etc., in and out of the finished basement area.

★ ★ ★

"It is simpler and less expensive than most people realize to cut through a foundation wall, especially one of concrete or cinder block, to make a door opening. Installing a door in the wall, together with steps leading up to the grade and a modern steel hatchway to provide all weather protection over the steps, are jobs even a handyman with average skills can tackle.

DIRECT ENTRANCE

"With a direct basement entrance, the rest of the project will proceed speedily. The biggest pieces of lumber, wallboard and other supplies can be brought in without difficulty."

★ ★ ★

"A direct entrance will prove to be a greater boon once the remodelling job is completed. If a playroom has been created, youngsters can come in and out through the basement entrance without disturbing the rest of the house. Furnishings such as lawn chairs and tables which are used outdoors in summer and in the playroom in the winter, can be carried in and out speedily and with little efort.

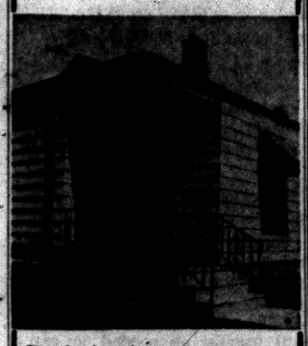

★ ★ ★

"Authorities estimate that the outside basement entrance can more than double the storage value of your basement. Many communities also require that every basement have a direct outside entrance, because it is a reliable safety exit in emergencies," the Institute said.

Thermostats are made in a number of finishes to blend attractively with any decorating scheme. There are models witl. covers that snap off easily so tl.ese may be easily painted with the same finishes used on walls.

Check Drainage Before Buying

LANSING (AP) — Check first on your drainage, sewage disposal and water supply in buying a house, especially if it is in a fringe area or new community.

★ ★ ★

These handy tips were provided by the state Health Department today in anticipation of the annual spring uplift in home-buying.

These three items create greater problems for the individual home - buyer than any others, especially in unincorporated areas, the department said.

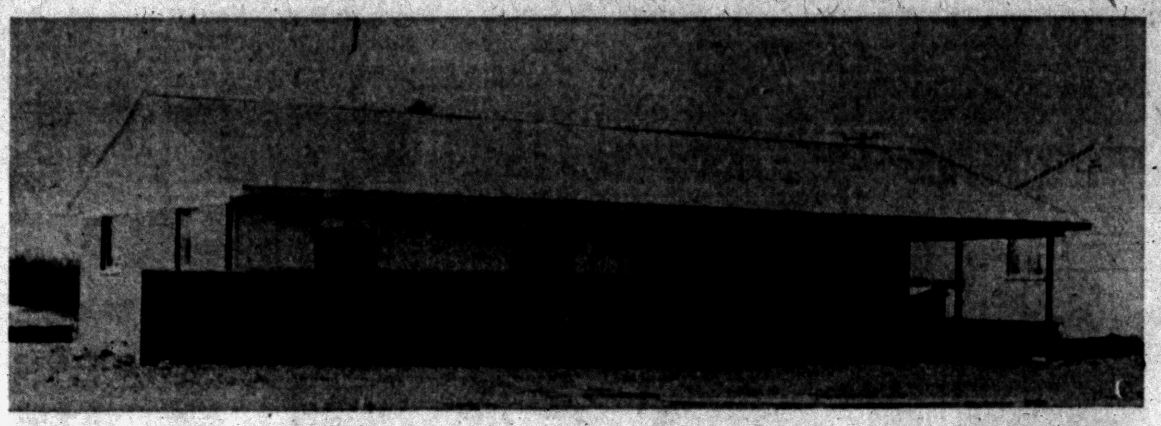

Checking off the three, the department advised:

Surface drainage usually causes a problem in low, flat areas where soil is dense and water can't seep into the Ground. Under these conditions, drainage ditches or tile will usually be needed to carry the water away.

★ ★ ★

Prospective home-buyers should make sure that sewer lines are available, are not overloaded, and might not soon be overloaded by residential or industrial expansion.

Water supply is usually no problem in incorporated municipalities. In unincorporated municipalities, the adequacy of water supplies generally can be judged from the experience of neighbors with their wells.

LAKELAND SUBDIVISION — With a grade school on one side and a junior high on another, the new Lakeland Subdivision on North Cass Lake road is definitely near schools. Asphalt streets have been built west of the main road for the 140 face brick houses planned. Water and sewer systems are in; there are no septic tanks in the area. The model shown above has six rooms and a bath and a half. Ceramic tile and colored bath fixtures are planned in all the homes. This model sells for $14,540, with $740 down to vets; low down payments are also available to FHA buyers. A second model has a full basement and all the features of the slab model. All homes have sliding windows in the dining area, birch kitchen cabinets and Formica counter tops. This larger model sells for $16,565. Pearl Builders of Detroit is constructing the houses and Gordon-Begin of Detroit is handling them.

NEWS VIEWS

By Realtor Partridge

A poet once asked, "If Winter comes, can Spring be far behind?" And with the up and down weather across the country the answer is still debatable. However, if you've been getting restless lately and you spend a little more time adjusting your hat in front of a mirror, didn't worry. You're as normal as a loose tooth on a seven-year-old.

It's just that March 20 is the springboard for Spring . . . a day that's as welcome as a refund . . . especially in some parts of the U.S. where Winter has put on the toughest show since way back when Columbus was playing with model boats. The voice of the turtle is heard in the land and lots of non-turtles are coming out of their shells. Maybe we're not getting any younger . . . but Spring can sure fool you.

I saw a headline in the paper the other day about some scientist who claims the earth is slowing up. And I've been so busy I didn't even notice it . . . If you find yourself slowing up when you drive by our new building on Huron Street, why don't you come to a complete stop, come on in and have a cup of coffee with us. Even if your plans for a new home or an investment are just beginning, remember . . . "Realtor Partridge is the Bird to See." REALTOR WARD E. PARTRIDGE, 1050 W. Huron, Phone FE 2-8316.

What Is 'Tight Money?'

"Tight Money" has become an increasingly familiar household term. What is it, and what does it mean? The National Association of Home Builders offers these questions and answers on the subject:

Q. Why is a continuous flow of mortgage finance money important?

A. A sufficient flow of mortgage credit enable prospective home buyers to obtain homes at reasonable rates of interest, low down payments, and repayments over long periods. Without a stable flow of mortgage money the average American who wants, needs, and—ordinarily—could pay for a home is unable to get one.

Q. Who provides the money to finance purchase of a home?

A. Ordinarily, the builder provides for financing of the house through arrangements with Savings & Loan Associations, banks, insurance companies, and other private mortgage lenders. But the builder now finds that money from such sources frequently is being diverted by these lenders to other investments which offer a bigger, immediate return.

Q. When did the shortage of mortgage money begin?

A. The squeeze on credit for home building began early in 1955, at about the same time the Federal Reserve Board took the first of a series of actions raising its discount rate to member banks. Those actions made it more expensive for the banks to borrow from the Federal Reserve System and thus made it more difficult for these member banks to lend money to its own customers for new homes and other purposes.

Q. What are some of the basic causes for this shortage?

A. Mainly, increased demands from industry for plant, equipment and inventory expansion. There also has been increasing consumer credit demand. Government-guaranteed loans for shipbuilding, for public buildings, and for military housing aggravate the credit demand. However, the credit requests for plant expansion from large business organizations have siphoned off most of the available money. Such industrial firms have been able to pay higher interest rates to get this money because of the special tax benefits they receive from the government through rapid tax write-off of their expansion loans. The home building industry with no such privileges, has been unable to get sufficient money to fulfill the housing demands.

Q. What must be done?

A. Some method or methods must be found to assure that available credit is distributed fairly to the housing industry.

Q. What does the NAHB suggest?

A. The NAHB has proposed these actions as the first steps toward relieving the mortgage crisis: Raising the VA interest rate on home loans to parity with FHA-insured loaans (FHA now is at 5 per cent, VA at 4½ per cent); expand the Federal National Mortgage Association's preferred stock by $250 million to provide FNMA with $2.5 billion in borrowing power to continue its secondary market operations; provide FNMA with an additional $2 billion for its Special Assistance Fund, and remove the $15,000 limitation on mortgages eligible for sale to FNMA.

Q. What's the likelihood of the "tight money" situation easing?

A. That's up to the Administration, Congress, and whether the tremendous demand for money for industrial expansion slackens off so that more money can be channeled into the housing market. There are some indications that the rate of industrial expansion may begin tapering off by mid-year, but may not be soon enough to help the 1957 building market.

Q. Assuming it does ease, would that mean a drop in the price of new houses?

A. No. The costs of land, labor, materials and all the facilities necessary to make a better neighborhood have been going up consistently. There is no indication of a fall-off in such basic costs and, consequently, there would be no drop in the price of a house.

Q. What WOULD it mean then?

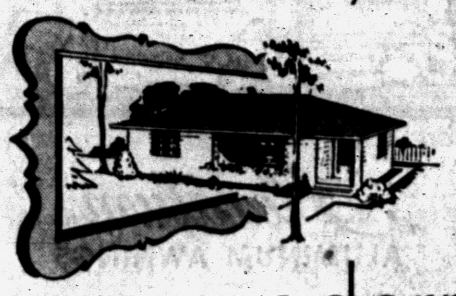

A. It would mean that prospective homebuyers who are in the market but can't get financing terms they could afford.

Big Project

Of the 54,500,000 houses in the United States, 20,600,000 were built before 1920, estimates Practical Builder, building industry magazine. Some 900,000 were built before 1860.

Franklin Stove Led to Modern Heating

The famous Franklin stove, a familiar figure in the American parlor for decades, was a forerunner of the present-day heating system, utilizing a boiler to supply hot water distributed to the rooms by baseboards, convectors, radiators, and panels.

A big improvement over the open hearth fireplace, Franklin's stove radiated heat from flue gasses trapped by a chamber behind the grate. Hot water similarly is a source of radiant warmth.

Use 'Paint Styling' Rules for Beauty

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Color specialists in the paint industry advocate what they call "paint styling." Basically, paint styling is a means of making your house and its furnishings appear to the best possible advantage. To put it more specifically, paint styling is a method of using colorful coatings in such a way that the good features of a room, a house, a building, a piece of furniture — any object, in fact — are emphasized and the not-so-good features are minimized.

Just how do you emphasize a good feature? You surround it with an area of a different color, tint or shade, so that the good feature stand out. And how minimize a bad feature? Make sure it matches its surrounding areas, and it thus becaumes less noticeable. This is using the art of camouflage to advantage.

If you paint the walls and ceiling of one room in a light tint and the walls and ceiling of another room of equal size in a very dark color, the light-walled room will seem larger than the dark-toned one.

Then there's the matter of colors which convey the feeling of warmth: reds, oranges, yellows, yellow-greens. These seem to advance toward you and bring things nearer. The cool colors — blues, violets, blue-greens and blue-grays — seem to retreat and push things away.

Another trick of paint styling: If ceilings are excessively high they can be made to seem lower by painting them a color darker than the side walls. Still another: long, narrow rooms can be made to look wider by placing a dark color on the wall at each of the narrow ends and a lighter color on the other walls and the ceiling.

There is also the question of light reflectance. Speaking generally, the lighter the tints, the greater the reflective power of paint. Often, even though a present dark colored paint may be in good condition, real economy could be achieved by covering the surface with a lighter color to increase illumination.

WHITE REFLECTS BEST

White is highest on the reflectance value scale. Next come light ivory and cream, with a return of 70 per cent of the light. Beige-apricot and lemon-yellow reflect about 65 per cent. Ivory and light buff are next, with 55 to 60 per cent. Peach, salmon and light pearl-gray return about 50 per cent of the light; and pale apple-green 50 to 55 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Lower values are medium-gray, light-green and pale-blue, with 40 to 45 per cent. Then deep-rose at 12 per cent. Dark-green and dark-blue absorb all but a small percentage of the light which strikes them.

To sum up: Light colors reflect more light, make things seem larger. Dark colors absorb light, make things seem closer. Warm colors seem to advance toward you, are stimulating. Cool colors make surroundings seem cooler, seem to retreat from you.

RANCH TYPE ON A 60-FOOT LOT — There's swank in this long roof sweep, big window wall and low planting boxes under brickwork. Vertical wood siding is also used on the exterior. Behind the garage is an open terrace.

Small Lot Ranch House Still Most Popular Type

Good design offers you the best way to get around high land and building costs when you plan a new home. This is shown in The House of The Week, HW-36 — a smart ranch house for a small lot.

The one-story house remains the most popular of all types of homes in virtually every community. Its principal handicap, the need for land with a wide frontage, is overcome in this plan by clever and efficient room arrangement.

★ ★ ★

Measuring less than 48 feet wide, including a side barbecue terrace and garage, this house will fit well on a 60-foot lot.

The house itself is less than 33 feet wide, making it suitable without a garage, for a lot of 50 feet or less. However, the terrace and the long sweep of the roof line over the garage are features that more than justify the little added land they need.

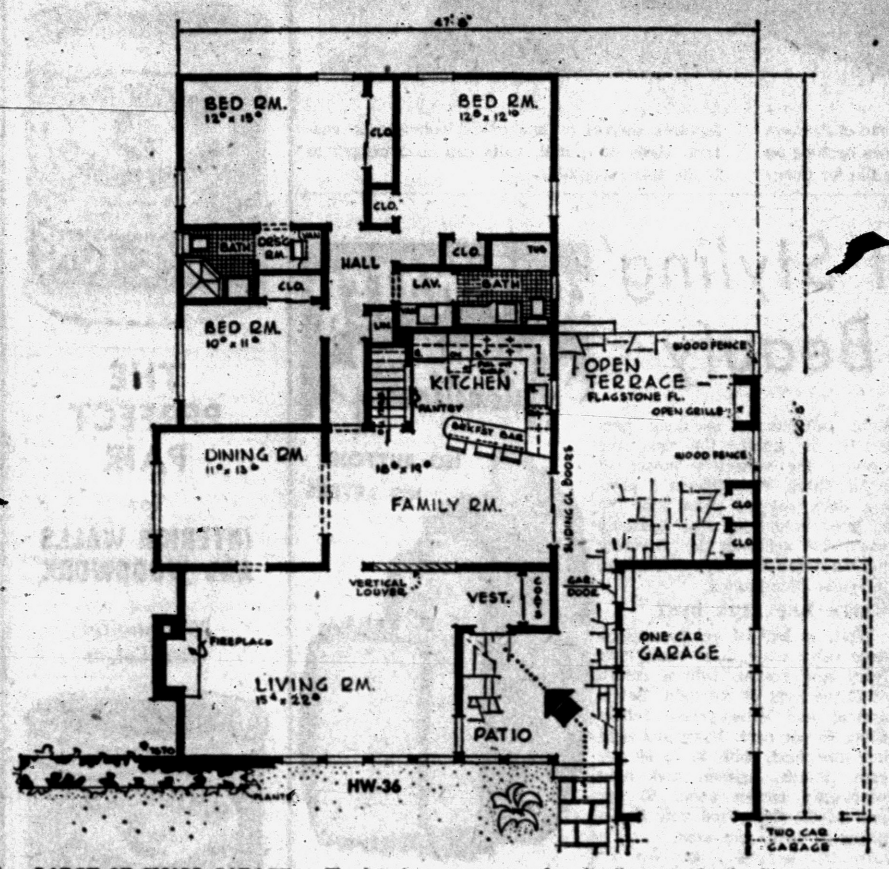

This is a house with definite charm. It's big front window wall rising to the roof and a combination of brick veneer and vertical wood siding create an exterior that would be a distinctive asset to any neighborhood.

A Small Lot Has Advantages

A CONVENIENT location is one of the advantages usually inherent in a small lot. Land parcels of this size are more apt to be more centrally situated near shopping, schools and churches.

Of course, the economy in taxes and assessments for streets and utilities are generally recognized in small lots, as well as the ease of landscaping, lawn mowing and other upkeep.

But location with fire and police protection is a detail worth noting.

LARGE OR SMALL GARAGE — The lot size determines whether you have a one or two car garage with this plan. There is both a dining room and a family room in the house. An enclosed terrace is an important feature for families with children. Bedrooms are good sized.

A fair size house, it covers 1,696 square feet, exclusive of its garage and terrace, which figure separately in building estimates. There are three bedrooms, two bathrooms, a large and light living room, separate dining room, and — most important in today's popular preferences — a big family room adjoining the kitchen.

VITALIZE BASEMENT

Ideally suited for construction with or without a basement, the house has been planned with a basement which accommodates a spacious recreation area with a built-in bar, a basement lavatory, a laundry and a shop.

★ ★ ★

Smart use is made of modern, economical construction methods throughout this plan. Graceful height is achieved in the living room with the ceiling directly on the underside of the reflective white marble chip roof. The dining room at its window end is cantilevered out 2 feet in order to avoid a jog in the foundation.

Herman H. York, architect specializing in distinctive suburban and country houses, employs a variety of attractive ideas in HW-36. The front entrance patio is completely covered by the main roof. A continuation of the glass front of the living room shields this patio and the front door from wind and rain.

Flagstone or quarry tile are suggested as pavement for the patio and the adjacent side terrace behind the garage.

★ ★ ★

An airy touch of open planning without sacrificing privacy is provided by a room divider of vertical louvers between family room and living room. This gives you a fleeting distant glimpse of the formal dining room as you enter the front vestibule, while it cancels any view of the family room or kitchen as you proceed into the living room.

Another interesting use of wall space is made in the kitchen where shallow pantry shelves behind thin sliding doors offer an abundance of storage space for canned and bottled goods.

INSURED PRIVACY

Sliding glass doors join the family room with the barbecue terrace. The arrangement of the dining room and terrace in line provides a vast party area. Privacy on the terrace is insured on a small lot by wood fence panels flanking the fireplace and rising as high as the garage roof line to continue the pattern of vertical siding.

The kitchen is efficiently arranged for a mother's supervision of children in the family room or on the terrace. Refrigerator, wall oven and top burners are in close proximity with a pullout shelf under the oven ready to serve all three of these facilities. Sink and dashwasher are under the terrace window.

Two niceties of this plan are the bathroom schemes. One is a dressing room with a built-in vanity table adjoining the master bedroom and its private bath with stall shower. The other is a divided bathroom off the main hall with an extra lavatory and vanity counter separated from the main facilities by a sliding door.

This is a house for happy family life.

How to Omit a Basement

BASEMENTLESS construction is optional with Design HW-36 for The House of The Week. Extra storage closets are provided on the terrace behind the garage and they can be enlarged if desired.

A modern horizontal heating plant can be placed in a small crawl space adjacent to the main fireplace chimney.

Space occupied by the cellar stairs can be used to enlarge the kitchen and accommodate laundry equipment.

Soda to Clean Screens

Prepare screens for spring mounting by cleaning them thoroughly. Fill a galvanized steel pail with a solution of washing soda and water. Use a scrub brush soaked in the solution to loosen the dirt. Then hose off the screen and let it stand outside to dry.

Asphalt Keeps Out Unwanted Moisture

Wood posts that will rest on concrete, masonry, or other wood can be protected from dampness by cementing a piece of asphalt roofing to the bottom of the post.

The asphalt, best waterproofing agent known to man, keeps water from being absorbed by the porous end grain of the wood.

★ ★ ★

Another "waterproofing" problem — condensation on the floors of houses built over crawl spaces — has been eliminated by the heavier asphalt roll roofings. This material is laid on the ground beneath the crawl space and prevents moisture from rising out of the ground into the house.

Score for the Men

Poll statistics show that female members of the family actually apply interior paint 25.6 per cent of the time; male members 32.2 per cent; and both working together, 13.3 per cent of the time.

Fix Worn Screwdriver

Worn or chipped screwdrivers can be made as good as new. Clamp the screwdriver in a vise, then file the end square with a metal file. A grinding wheel can be used, too. But the screwdriver blade must be dipped in water frequently to prevent the metal from losing the temper.

Palm Springs Rates High With Sun-Seeking Stars

By BOB THOMAS

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—This weekend the freeways and highways of southern California are clogged with limousines, foreign autos and plain family cars heading for this booming spot in the sun.

★ ★ ★

Stars like Bing Crosby, Dinah Shore, Frank Sinatra, Joan Davis and Liberace aim for their sumptuous homes here. Lesser citizens jam the town's stopping places, from the 200-room El Mirador Hotel to six-unit auto courts. All are seeking sunshine and rest.

Those lures have brought Palm Springs and the surrounding desert amazing prosperity. Everywhere you look there are signs of the boom — bright new hotels, cafes, stores and rows of pastel-painted houses that stretch out into the mesquite county.

Year-round population has more than doubled to 15,000 since the 1950 census.

Hollywood people, who helped pioneer Palm Springs, are among those cashing in on the boom. For instance, you can buy a keg of nails at Alan Ladd's hardware store or a bolt of satin at Hoagy Carmichael's interior decorating shop.

★ ★ ★

You can pick up a $50,000 diamond at the gift store operated by Andrea Leeds. If you have the right connections, you can get into Charlie Farrell's Racquet Club and enjoy the stuffed squab.

You can park your trailer at the Blue Skies Park, owned by Crosby, Danny Kaye, Claudette Colbert, Phil Harris and others.

Or you can stay in hotels owned by Horace Heidt, Bill Goodwin, Polly Bergen and the Jack Wrathers (Bonita Grandville).

Down the highway, the beaming face of Art Linkletter invites you to buy a lot at Rancho Mirage. Futher along, Desi Arnaz is building a large hotel, Indian Wells, complete with golf course.

Aside from those already mentioned, Harold Lloyd, Rudy Vallee, Bob Hope, Marjorie Main, Eddie Cantor, Kirk Douglas, Mary Pickford, Jeff Chandler and William Powell also own homes here.

Man Faces Death Daily

WAYLAND, Mich. (AP) — Myron Wilde's life is tempered by the knowledge that even a minor accident might mean death.

★ ★ ★

Wilde, 44, is one of a large family of brothers and cousins who were born with hemophilia — "the tendency to profuse and uncontrollable hemorrhage even from the slightest wounds."

One nephew died at the age of nine, following a tonsillectomy. A cousin bled to death after suffering a broken jaw. Another died after a series of minor operations.

Wilde explains the disease is transmitted by the female member of the family, but only the males are stricken. His mother, Mrs. Rose Wilde, 84, of Kalamazoo, was a carrier as were two of her sisters.

★ ★ ★

Wilde's oldest sister, Mrs. Edna Sager, also of Kalamazoo, lost three of her eight sons as direct or indirect results of hemophilia. One of the five living is Robert Sager, who last July became the first American to take up citizenship of Japan. Sager is an instructor at University of Kobe.

★ ★ ★

A rural Wayland radio and television serviceman, Wilde was an electronics engineer at the Army Signal Corps laboratory in Detroit during World War II.

He says his particular type of hemophilia is known as the "Christmas disease," slightly less severe than others.

Wilde bleeds from the least bump or bruise — usually internally.

His legs have from one to three pressure bandages at all times. Clotting time for his blood, Wilde says, is slightly faster than that of other hemophilia victims. It requires 35 minutes to an hour, as compared to 8 to 10 minutes for normal blood.

His closest brush with death came in 1941 in an auto accident near Detroit. Doctors were unable to stop his injury hemorrhaging for several hours.

Wilde belongs to the midwest chapter of the hemophilia foundation, with headquarters in Chicago. One of its chief objectives is the recruiting of donors to balance "accounts" at blood banks throughout the nation.

Wilde says except for daily medication and a cautious attitude he and other members of his family have developed, his daily schedule is that of a normal man.

The Wilde home embraces four children, two girls from his wife's first marriage and two small sons of his own. Both boys are free of the malady.

His Popularity Goes Up as His Hair Falls Out

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Charles Boyer's the man nobody raps. Now that he's one of our biggest TV stars, an increasing number of Americans are squealing — in surprise — "Isn't he nice?"

"What astonishes me about you," I mentioned the other day as "Zharish" sat with his glasses on and his toupee off, "is that you who made movie love to Jean Harlow and Greta Garbo — yet you're acting now with the young dolls, Sophia Loren and Brigitte Bardot."

"But I no longer make love to the young ones," he corrected me, fingering the thick script on the coffee table before him.

★ ★ ★

"One should get away from romantic roles before they get away from him!" He spoke crisply, like a business man — which he is . . . a tycoon in the entertainment world whose job offers have increased as his hair has decreased.

"But so many of your leading ladies have died, retired or disappeared."

He nodded. "I never played a juvenile on the French stage. At 24, I was playing opposite women of 35 or 38.

Skipping back to 1930, he mentioned his first big American "talkie" — with Jean Harlow, "Red-Headed Woman."

★ ★ ★

"I knew about 10 words in English. I learned 10 more.

"The picture was so bad for me that Irving Thalberg promised that it wouldn't be shown in Paris.

"In 1933 — 24 year ago! — I made 'Caravan' with Merle Oberon. I played a gypsy. I had to play a violin on every corner.

"I was going to give up America after that. But Walter Wanger signed me to do 'Private Worlds' with Claudette Colbert . . ." His French charm was officially discovered thereupon.

"You see" — and he pointed a finger — "I'm not trying to be younger than I am."

★ ★ ★

I couldn't help remembering that he himself had married a much younger bride.

"We've been married 23 years — 23 years the last Valentine's Day — she's still much younger than I am . . . but," he added with a warming smile, "don't forget, I wasn't an old man when we got married!"

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

Buddy Hackett's "Stanley" TV'er, shot up two Nielsen points the week before it was dropped . . . Host Arthur Nagy signed the entry bond to bring in Hungarian singer Elizabeth Gallay . . . Carroll Baker's unhappy over Warner Bros.' ordering her to work March 12 without naming the film.

★ ★ ★

Nils T. Granlund said he's co-authoring Carl Brisson's biography; Brisson's son Fred will film it.

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Victor Borge, who autobiography is now running, says, "I look forward to it each week — I can't wait to hear what I have to say."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Les and Liz Carpenter saw this sign on a Washington restaurant: "Hunger removed while you wait." . . . That's earl, brother.

Defense Heads to Form A-Plan

Three Agencies to Pick Alternate Plants in Case of Nuclear Warfare

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming has announced a new defense program designed to keep factories operating despite atomic attack.

Under his order, the Defense Department, Atomic Energy Commission and the Maritime Administration will develop plans to keep essential production going, protect against sabotage and guard against nuclear fall-out.

The three defense agencies were directed to select certain key plants which would be most needed for emergency production in case of all-out atomic warfare.

Plans would be made to keep these plants in operation by:

1. Increasing stockpiles of finished products were necessary;
2. Using skeleton working staffs and local power sources;
3. Building inventories of spare parts;
4. Protecting against sabotage;
5. Guarding personnel from radioactive fall-out.

Alternative factories would be designated in case an entire production unit were destroyed.

900 Over 95 Insured

NEW YORK — There are some 1,500 life insurance policyholders and annuitants in the United States of over 95 years of age. The life insurance policyholders over 95 total 900 and they own a total of 1,050 individual policies.

Acid soils are nearly always deficient in plant foods.

Brain Injuries Grow as Autos Become Faster

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The number of traffic accident victims with severe brain injuries is rising along with the horsepower rating of modern automobiles, a surgeon said yesterday.

"Because of the high speed of present-day cars, surgeons are being called upon to treat a larger number of people with severe brain damage," said Dr. Ralph F. Bowers, chief of surgical service in the Veterans Administration Medical Teaching Group Hospital at Memphis, Tenn.

Dr. Bowers told a reporter that "surgeons are doing about as good a job as they ever did when the injuries are not too severe, but they cannot replace brain tissue that has been destroyed."

"As the horsepower of the present-day automobile is increased, we are seeing an increasing proportion of that type of injury," he said.

Trade Group Still Monitors for Illegal Ads

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Trade Commission has launched a campaign of monitoring radio and television commercials in a new search for illegal advertising claims.

★ ★ ★

FTC Chairman John W. Gwynn told the House Commerce Committee yesterday that "in the very near future, it could result in complaints against illegal claims including visual misrepresentations."

★ ★ ★

He added that his men for a long time have been checking advance scripts of radio and television ads. Recently, he added, investigators in nine field offices across the nation have been ordered to monitor the actual broadcasts.

★ ★ ★

One member of the committee, Rep. Jarman (D-Okla), said "the American public is on the receiving end of a lot of misleading advertising."

Youths Admit Taking Radio From Auto

Two 17-year-old Pontiac youths pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing a radio from an auto Thursday when they appeared before Municipal Judge Maurice Finnegan Friday.

Raymond Wayne Booth, 20 E. Colgate Ave. and Phillip Carl Anderson, 142 N. Merrimac St. will be sentenced one week from today.

Detroit Official Lauds Space Saving Cars

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A Detroit city official says undersized European cars would help the parking problem in American cities.

Mrs. Blanche Wise, a member of the Detroit Common Council, is one of five U.S. city officials traveling in West Germany as guests of the Bonn government.

Discussing the advantages of the St. Lawrence Seaway, she said easier shipment of Volkswagens, the little German cars, would be pleasing news.

"One thing we have to learn in America is to make our cars smaller," she said. "It would greatly help the parking problems in all of our cities."

5 Auto Plants Selected to Make Ford's Edsel

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. announced today that five assembly plants already have been assigned to the production of the forthcoming new Edsel model car and a sixth remains to be selected.

The announcement said the new car, in the medium price field, will be assembled in Ford or Mercury plants located at Mahwah, N. J. and Somerville, Mass.; at Wayne, Mich., and Louisville, Ky., and at Milipitas, Calif. A second plant on the West Coast in the Los Angeles area, still is to be selected.

Supervisors Toss Out Jury Commission Proposal

Ballot to Lack County Issue

There will be no Oakland County issue on the April 1 ballot, the Board of Supervisors decided yesterday.

Supervisors reversed a decision of last month and removed a proposal to establish a three-man jury commission. It was the only county consideration facing voters.

The decision means that supervisors will retain their present power of picking citizens to serve on the county's juries.

Yesterday's vote was unanimous on a motion by John L. Carey, of Springfield Township, who stated he opposed the commission at this time for "reasons of procedure."

★ ★ ★

TAKES TIME

"I don't like the job of picking jurors myself—it takes up a lot of time and work," the supervisor said.

He contended, however, that the decision last month was made without proper study of the commission, or of other possible replacements of the present system, by which names of potential jurors are submitted from each community by individual supervisors to the county clerk.

The commission proposal had been backed by the Oakland County Bar Assn. which criticized the present method as producing a "closed" jury system, mostly of elderly and retired citizens.

MORE THAN ONCE

The association was represented by Pontiac Attorney Mitchell L. Bacow, who maintained there was too much possibility of jurors serving more than once and being selected on a patronage basis.

Turning to another subject, supervisors took action to make the proposed $38,431,000 Twelve Town Drain Relief project more palatable to member communities in the southern part of the county.

An estimated $450,000 was voted to cover the cost of including in the project property owned by the City of Detroit—the Rackham Golf Course and the Detroit Zoological Park.

REFUSED TO PAY

With Detroit refusing to pay a share because of legal reasons, the cost for the 246 acres involved had been apportioned over the participating communities — a move that raised considerable objection.

Supervisors, believing their investment will be returned by means of discounts in future projects, in effect lowered the cost to each community and removed at least one obstacle that led to a law suit which has tied up the project.

★ ★ ★

Two participating communities, Southfield Township and the city of Troy, have turned to the courts in objection to the high cost.

CHILDREN'S HOME

In other action, supervisors voted a measure to relieve crowded conditions at the county children's home. They appropriated $5,000 to provide classrooms in the welfare building so that school space in the home can be converted into living quarters for an estimated 15 children.

Letters were heard from governing bodies of four communities on the proposal to shift the county seat from Pontiac to Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

Royal Oak and Hazel Park endorsed the shift. Southfield Township and Birmingham went on record favoring Pontiac and the Telegraph road service center site that supervisors selected for a proposed new courthouse.

Thieves Gain $229 From YMCA Safe

Pontiac Police today are investigating a safe burglary in the Pontiac Young Men's Christian Association building, 131 Mt. Clemens St. in which $229.85 in currency, change and checks were reported stolen.

T. N. Slosson, 2645 Woodbine St., general secretary of the YMCA, told officers someone pried open a locked metal cabinet containing files and a small safe after they had moved it from the office to the hallway sometime Thursday night.

★ ★ ★

Detetive Sgt. Raymond E. Meggitt said $133.50 of the money was checks. Means of entry had not been determined.

Convict Marine of Maltreatment

Guilty on Four Counts of Touching Recruits at Parris Island

PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (AP)—A husky Marine drill instructor was convicted yesterday of four counts of tapping or touching recruits. He faces sentencing today.

★ ★ ★

Cpl. William R. Walsh, Lyndhurst, N. Y., had been charged with 24 counts of maltreatment of recruits. He was found innocent of 20 by a special court-martial board after four hours of deliberation.

The board reduced the severity of the four remaining charges. The word "struck" was removed from the charges and changed to either "tapping" or "Touching."

The 25-year-old, 6-foot-2 Walsh had been charged with striking Pvt. David Lee Porter, 18, of Hartford, Vt., the government's chief witness. This charge was thrown out but Walsh was found guilty of touching Porter illegally.

★ ★ ★

The trial, fourth here in less than a month involving drill instructors charged with mistreating recruits, was touched off by Porter in a letter to his father. He claimed he was struck by Walsh with an iron bar.

In testifying, Porter said he had been struck but did not know with what.

Witnesses attacked the veracity of Porter's statements.

Tot in Heart Surgery; Boy Dies Same Day

DETROIT (AP) — An 8-year-old Michigan girl underwent a delicate heart operation yesterday as her 15-month-old brother died of similar surgery.

Surgeons stopped the heart of JoAnn Middleton of suburban Birmingham and used a mechanical heart to pump her blood as they repaired an opening between chambers of her heart.

Her brother, Danny, who had appeared to be recovering from the same type of operation the day before, succumbed yesterday.

El Salvador is issuing tourist cards to permit travelers to enter without visas.

'Masquerade Party' Set to Return to TV Tuesday

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS) — Masquerade Party's return to TV is Tuesday on NBC-TV in the very tough competitive spot opposite "Cheyenne" and Phil Silvers . . .

Kathy Godfrey sneaks over from CBS to hostess NBC-TV's suds series, "Modern Romances," next week. Martha Scott's leave from "Modern Romances" is for Monday's Montgomery show and then two weeks with Marlon Brando shooting scenes for "Sayonara" . . .

When Joe Stafford stars in Godfrey's place Wednesday, strongstress Jaye P. Morgan will be there at Jo's request . . .

Erin O'Brien shows off her new short Warner Bros. hairdo tonight on the George Gobel Show; Jack Carson also will be along.

The wonderfully weird camera tricks evolved by Ernie Kovacs and John Hoppe (called "Mobilux") will be part of the Ray Bolger Show Sunday . . .

GLADYS TO APPEAR

Nothing's Sacred: "December Bride" will show "Gladys," up to now a funny off-camera mystery . .

Sen. Herman Talmadge will be queried on "College Press Conference" Sunday (ABC-TV) . . .

TV's sick list: Kay Armen of the Ray Bolger Show is in Harkness Pavilion for surgery; Nan Fabray's niece Shelly Fabares is out of Betty Hutton's NBC-TV pilot film of "Hey Mom" — measles! . . .

"21" will "isolate" its orchestra (Paul Taubman's) in order not to confuse Van Doren and Mrs. N. while thinking at $2,000 a cerebral point . . .
