City Takes Battering

Waves Raging From Savannah to Myrtle Beach

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—Hurricane Gracie smashed across the South Carolina shoreline today venting its full fury on this historic port city.

With the storm's center and its peak winds of 125 miles an hour still at sea, high winds uprooted trees, tore down power and communication lines and unroofed buildings. Historic structures were damaged.

Mountainious waves pounded beach installations from Savannah, Ga. to Myrtle Beach, S.C. High tides ranging up to 11 feet above normal sent waist-deep water coursing through streets here and in nearby communities.

MOTORIST IS KILLED

An unidentified motorist was killed when his car overturned several times during the storm 10 miles west of Beaufort, S.C. There were no other immediate reports of deaths or serious injuries.

At 11 a.m., the U.S. Weather Bureau placed the eye of the storm slightly south of Charleston and moving inland at about 14 miles an hour.

Hurricane force winds moved inland along with torrential rains and headed in the General direction of Charlotte, N.C.

The weather bureau warned that downpours would range up to 10 and 15 inches and might cause serious flooding in some areas. Heavy rains were falling in eastenr South Carolina and southeastern North Carolina and were expected to move northward.

Flooding during past hurricanes frequently has caused greater loss of life and damage than the powerful wind.

Enjoy the Sun, Tomorrow to Be Cool and Cloudy

The sun will be out this afternoon. But it's only a prelude to cooler and cloudy weather tonight and tomorrow.

The temperature will dip to 52 tonight but rise to a high of 64 degrees Wednesday. Partly cloudy and continued cool is Thursday's outlook.

Winds northwest at four miles an hour at 1:15 p.m. will become gentle to moderate westerly tonight. From 10 a.m. yesterday until the same hour today .73 of an inch rain had fallen.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 65 degrees. The reading at 2 p.m. was 67.

Ford to Build 'Comet' Car

Will Be 2nd Economy Auto; Mercury Dealers to Sell It by Spring

DETROIT (AP) — Henry Ford II today confirmed plans to build a second economy car to be called the Comet and to be sold by Mercury dealers starting next spring.

The Buick - Oldsmobile-Pontiac divisions of General Motors also have one or more smaller cars in the works, probably for 1961 model year introduction.

Ford Division of Ford Motor Co. will introduce the company's first economy car, the Falcon, in Ford dealerships Oct. 8.

THE ARISTOCRAT

In describing the Comet, Ford called it a car with "family-size roominess and outstanding economy, together with the most graceful and elegant styling." He predicted it would be the "aristocrat of the economy cars."

No details of the car were made public. However, this much is known about prototypes which have been tested both as the "Mercury B" and the "Edsel B":

The prototypes generally have a 114 inch wheelbase—4½ inches longer than the Falcon—and an overall length of about 196 inches, 15 inches more than the Falcon.

Engines have been the same, or similar to the Falcon six-cylinder power plant which develops 90 horsepower.

The extra length provides for a slightly longer hood than the Falcon and a larger trunk. Interior dimensions offer slightly more leg room, especially in the rear seat, but about the same seat width as the Falcon.

An Ohio report, earlier in the week said the Comet will be assembled at the Ford plant at Lorain, Ohio, where the Falcon is now in production.

Hoffa Also Complains of Bonding Costs

Defies Monitors, Won't Fire Chiefs

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa says he won't bring union ouster charges against three Teamsters chiefs as asked by the union's court-named overseers.

The Teamsters president also told reporters Monday he can find only five Teamsters officials disqualified by criminal records from holding office under the new labor control law. He said they will be eligible again in January, and have been placed on leave of absence until then.

The law forbids a man from holding union office within five years of a criminal conviction.

Hoffa covered a wide range of matters at a news conference following the opening session of a week-long meeting of the union's executive board.

Hoffa complained that bonding requirements under the new labor law will cost his union about $350,000 instead of the $74,000 for which he said the union has obtained the same coverage against mishandling of funds.

THEY NAME THREE

The monitors, named by federal court to check on Teamsters affairs, had recommended that Hoffa bring union ouster trials against Joey Glimco, Chicago taxi local Teamsters chief; Harold Gross, a Miami kingpin, and Anthony Provenzano, head of the New Jersey Joint Council.

All had been involved in Senate labor-management committee testimony about alleged payoffs and misuse of Teamsters funds.

"We have answered every one of the monitor charges in writing based on statements from the individuals involved," Hoffa said.

The monitors met again with Hoffa Monday night in trying to iron out their mounting conflicts with the Teamsters president. A half-dozen court actions are in the works seeking to Hoffa's compliance.

One of these seeks the ouster of Hoffa himself, on charges brought by the monitors in federal court that he mishandled over $600,000 in funds of Detroit Local 299, also headed by Hoffa. Hoffa denied any wrongdoing and said Local 299 authorized him to invest its money.

The monitors said Hoffa deposited the money with various banks without interest to secure loans for financial operations in which Hoffa allegedly was involved.

Ford Shares Spotlight at Broomfield Fete

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

The group—some 450 Oakland County Republicans—also departed from the Northwood Inn in Berkley wondering whether Congressman Robert P. Griffin might be a challenger for Democratic Sen. Patrick V. McNamara's seat.

Young Griffin, a relative neophyte in national politics before he sponsored the successful labor reform bill, said he "wouldn't close the door" to such a possible promotion.

But the future political aspirations of Griffin and fellow Michigan Congressman Gerald R. Ford Jr. of Grand Rapids took a back seat to the rousing welcome for Oakland County's Congressman William S. Broomfield.

Ford, principal speaker at the dinner, lauded his cohort in Congress for carrying on the "tradition of service and statemanship started by his predecessor George A. Dondero, who missed last night's affair as he was confined to the hospital.

"Bill has done a masterful job in a very sensitive field—economy in government," Ford said of Broomfield's opposition to pork barrel public works measures.

Then it was Broomfield's turn to predict Nixon and Ford as the "best team we could have" in Washington. Griffin earlier joined in by saying this pair of contenders is being "seriously considered" and that Ford was Michigan's favorite son.

After having counted himself out of any bids for senator or governor, the 46-year-old Ford said afterwards, "It would be presumptuous to say I wouldn't accept the vice presidency if the fine opportunity presented itself."

Republicans in the county heard Broomfield predict that campaigners (he mentioned no names) were already "off and running in 1960." He charted no course for himself.

Says Labor Bill in Union Hands

Griffin Tells Berkley Group That Rank, File Will Determine Value

It is now left squarely up to union rank and file members whether the new Landrum-Griffin labor reform bill will be effective or just another piece of paper legislation, said Robert P. Griffin, young Michigan congressman and sponsor of the measure.

"It is not going to be effective until the rank and filers, sick and tired of graft and corruption in their union, exercise the rights guaranteed them under the bill," the 35-year-old former Pontiac resident said last night.

He cautioned a Republican gathering in Berkley, which turned out to welcome home fellow Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County), that the bill is not the ultimate in labor legislation. It will not produce benefits overnight and is not "an anti-labor bill designed to put honest decent unions out of business," Griffin declared.

"Since the bill has been passed, a lot of people have said Jimmy Hoffa (Teamsters president) isn't in jail yet," he said.

"But we can't pass ex post facto bills to punish those who have done wrong in the past," the Traverse City lawmaker emphasized.

The bill does, however, create the climate so these wrongs will be punishable in the future, he said.

Among the many who enjoyed a $12.50-a-plate roast beef dinner at the Northwood Inn were Griffin's father of 987 Argyle Ave. and his younger brother, Eugene M., of 5204 Cooley Lake Rd., Waterford Township.

Gene, a pattern maker at General Motors Truck & Coach Division, is also president of the Pontiac branch of the Detroit Association of Pattern Makers, an affiliate of the AFL-CIO.

Since 1937 his father has been with the Pontiac Motor Division as a quality control engineer.

Both said they had heard nothing but praise for the new bill among local factory workers.

"Most everybody says it is a law we needed badly," said Griffin's brother. However, he added he believed Hoffa, principal target of the measure, would "find new ways" to circumvent it.

Should the powerful Hoffa defy a provision of the bill which prohibits an ex-convict from holding office until five years after his release from prison, the union president himself would be liable for criminal prosecution.

Hoffa yesterday said he has found but five out of more than 10,000 Teamster officials or employes who would be disqualified under this section, and that they

Nikita Confirms Pact on Berlin

Ambassadors of NATO Called In as First Step Toward Summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in effect confirmed today President Eisenhower's news conference report that Khrushchev abandoned his threat to West Berlin during the Camp David conference last weekend.

In a statement, in Moscow Khrushchev used about the same words as the President did at his news conference yesterday with respect to negotiations for a Berlin settlement.

Eisenhower said: "We agreed . . . that these negotiations should not be prolonged indefinitely but there could be no fixed time limit on them."

Khrushchev said today that the negotiations "must not be delayed." But he said there is no question of an ultimatum, and added:

"No time limit should be set for them (the negotiations)."

It can be stated on the highest authority that Eisenhower and his associates consider the weekend exchange to have produced a firm agreement by Khrushchev to avoid again any threat of force to squeeze the Western powers out of West Berlin. Eisenhower and Khrushchev in the closing hours of their conversation last Sunday both understood, U. S. officials say, that this was

MSUO Road Tie Proposed by City

Pontiac may get an impressive highway link with Michigan State University Oakland to compensate for removal of the Oakland County Courthouse from the downtown area.

The possibility was raised last night as city commissioners met with the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Supervisors to smooth way for construction of the new courthouse on Pontiac's west side.

Members of the powerful county committee said they would ask the County Planning Commission to study a main entranceway for the new university that would lead towards Pontiac.

Suggested by City Manager Walter K. Willman as a first step was a quarter-mile section between the university and Pontiac road.

This would make the new school "directly accessible" to Pontiac, he said.

Others at the meeting foresaw a more ambitious improvement of the 1½-mile Mt. Clemens street-Pontiac road link between the city limits and school.

Some said this portion should be paved in boulevard fashion, while Commissioner Floyd P. Miles believed the entire route should be converted to a boulevard all the way from downtown Pontiac.

"Connecting the school with downtown in this manner would more than compensate for the loss of the courthouse," Miles said.

Willman was firm in his belief that the main entrance to the university should be on the Pontiac side.

"We have more to offer the university than the areas east of it," he said.

At present, the university is accessible only from Squirrel road and most school traffic arrives on Squirrel by turning at the tricky intersection of Squirrel, Walton boulevard and Pontiac road, known as Five Points.

The intersection, which has no traffic signal at present, constitutes "a terrible traffic hazard," noted Hiland M. Thatcher, West Bloomfield Township supervisor.

Willman also won support from the county committee "to bring pressure" on the Road Commission to pave a quartermile section of Featherstone road between the city limits and Opdyke road.

"We've asked the Road Commission to pave this bottleneck but so far nothing's been done," he said.

The manager asked the county committee for help in obtaining road improvements beneficial to Pontiac after the supervisors asked city help in making the courthouse move to the Telegraph road service center practicable.

The county wants the city to agree to relocating West boulevard in the service center and to annex the center to Pontiac for a second time so that the new courthouse will be within the city limits of the county seat.

Commissioners raised no objections to the county proposal, nor were any objections expected.

Commissioners indicated they would agree to the West boulevard relocation as soon as a specific route proposal is submitted to them The new route will be west of the existing one.

City Attorney William A. Ewart and Norman R. Barnard, county corporation counsel, were asked to draw up a resolution by which the Commission could annex the service center, Waterford Township, in which the center is currently located, must also approve the resolution.

Barnard said that the handful of county employes and infirmary residents who live in the center had petitioned for annexation.

The city annexed the center by resolution several years ago but the move was later declared illegal because the service center residents hadn't petitioned for it.

The center has to be annexed, Barnard explained, because the county eventually plans to expand the courthouse west of West boulevard (the present city limits).

The area to be annexed is bounded by West boulevard on the east, Telegraph road on the west and the Grand Trunk Railroad on the north.

To Dedicate 1st MSUO Building on Thursday

Michigan State University Oakland will dedicate its first building, Foundation Hall, at 3 p.m. Thursday.

The classroom wing of the building will be known as South Foundation Hall and the science-administration wing as North Foundation Hall.

"The name recognizes the unprecedented contribution of a community group in drawing the outlines of a new university," said MSUO Chancellor D. B. Varner.

"The work of this group, the MSUO Foundation, constitutes one of several unique aspects of a different kind of state university," Varner said.

The MSUO Foundation is a group of 50 community leaders who aided in the planning and development of the new university.

Three persons will speak at the dedication, among them Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson's gift of their 1,600-acre estate, Meadow Brook Farms, plus $2,000,000 for the building, made the university possible.

Other speakers will be Harold A. Fitzgerald, publisher of The Pontiac Press and chairman of the Foundation; and James C. Zeder, engineering vice president of the Chrysler Corp., and chairman of the Foundation's Curriculum Committee.

The dedication program of half an hour will be followed by a tea the Wilsons will host for the 567 members of MSUO's charter freshman class in 125-room Meadow Brook Hall.

This will be the students' first look at the mansion, which one day will become a cultural art center for the new university.

Ike Will Fly to California

Cold Plagues President as He Prepares for 8-Day Visit

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, fighting a cold, plans to fly to the desert country of Southern California tomorrow for an eight-day stay.

The chief executive will be the house guest of an old friend, Washington business executive George E. Allen, at La Quinta, Calif.

Allen and Eisenhower are frequent golfing and bridge companions, sometimes share vacations, and own farms a couple of miles apart at Gettysburg, Pa.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the President hopes to get away late tomorrow afternoon, flying by jet to the Palm Springs, Calif., airport.

The plan calls for arrival there by 5 or 6 p.m., Pacific Standard Time, after a flight of 5 or 5½ hours.

The White House, however, is eying the weather, and the possibility of winds and rains associated with hurricane Gracie. But Hagerty said that at La Quinta, 20 miles from Palm Springs, "the weather forecast is clear, warm and sunny."

Eisenhower picked up a cold on his recent trip to England, France and Germany and has been trying ever since to shake it off. He told a news conference yesterday he hoped to get away for a few days in a desert climate.

★ ★ ★

The President's voice is husky, and Hagerty said he has a little cough. But the sore throat Eisenhower had at one time is gone, Hagerty said.

This will be the President's second visit to the Palm Springs area. He spent a week there in February 1954 at Smoke Tree Ranch.

Begin Library Today, Terminal Tomorrow

It's ground-breaking time in Pontiac.

D. B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University Oakland, was scheduled to speak at ground - breaking ceremonies late this afternoon for the new $500,000 Pontiac Public Library.

Tomorrow afternoon there will be similar ceremonies for the new $435,000 terminal and tower at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

City officials hoped there would be large public turnouts for both events.

(The ceremony was scheduled to move into the City Commission chambers in City Hall in case of rain.)

The airport ceremony is set for 4:30 p.m. tomorrow at the site of the new terminal, just south of the main east-west runway and about a quarter-mile west of the present development at M59 and Airport road.

The site can be reached from Paulsen road, north of M59, a half-mile west of Airport road. A Pontiac police cruiser will be stationed at M59 and Paulsen to direct visitors north on Paulsen.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston is scheduled to wield the chrome-plated shovel at both ceremonies.

He and Miss Phyllis Pope, city librarian, were slated to make brief remarks at the library ceremony. The main address will be by Varner.

Honored guests this afternoon include Miss Adah Shelly, former city librarian; Joe Haas, editorial staff writer of The Pontiac Press; Glenn H. Griffin, president of the Pontiac Board of Education; Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools; John W. Hirlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Jean Johnson, director of the North Oakland Library Project.

Also scheduled to participate were city commissioners, led by Commissioner William W. Donaldson as master of ceremonies; City Manager Walter K. Willman; Rev. William H. Marbach, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, and Rev. Thompson C. Marcero, pastor of St. Vincent DePaul Church.

Representatives from the architectural firm of O'Dell Hewlett & Luckenbach Associates and the construction contractors were to be present.

At the airport tomorrow, Rowston, Willman and Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager, will be the speakers.

Among the guests will be city commissioners, Hirlinger and Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland county Board of Supervisors. Also participating will be the Rev. Theodore R. Allebach, pastor of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, and representatives from the construction contractors and the architects, William C. Zimmerman Associates.

Hurricane Gracie Lashes at South Carolina Shore

Gordon Dunn, chief of the Miami Weather Bureau, said it was too early to tell if Hannah would follow Gracie's path and hit the East Coast, but "we'll be exteremely forutnate if she doesn't."

The weather bureau declared an emergency hurrican warning from Savannah to Wilmington, N.C., with gale warnings from Brunswick, Ga., to Morehead City, N.C.

The weather bureau said hurricane winds continued to extend some 75 miles north of the hurricane eye and about 50 miles south of it. Gale winds of 40 miles an hour range outward as far as 200 miles.

With the urgent warnings of the weather bureau, Red Cross and other officials, more residents of exposed areas have evacuated, but a few hardy souls remained on the beaches. With the summer vacation season ended, only permanent residents were involved.

Schools were closed generally along the coast and they were opened as shelters for those driven from their homes. Hotels and motels were jammed early. Many industrial plants and business houses closed.

Expected high water failed to materialize at Savannah.

In Charleston, famous St. Michael's Episcopal Church, built in 1761 and once the worship place of George Washington, lost part of its steeple. The dock at the Fort Sumter Hotel where tours departed for historic Fort Sumter all but disappeared.

Eleven merchant ships in the harbor for safety battled dragging anchors as the wind hit.

The weather bureau's radar was knocked out of commission.

About a third of the city was without power. The roof of a drug store blew off and blocked Calhoun street. Bus service was at a standstill. A department store window was blown out and mannequins dangled in a grotesque jumble.

Civil defense and Red Cross personnel were busy along the whole coast. Several National Guard companies were on standby alert.

Big planes were flown out of the area by military forces at Charleston Air Force Base, Seymour Johnson AFB, N.C., Shaw AFB at Sumter, S.C., and Myrtle Beach AFB. Part of a hangar roof was blown off at Charleston AFB.

And at Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Navy fired a camera-carrying Nike-Cajun rocket in a second attempt to get a big picture of the big storm from 10 to 85 miles up.

It was the second time this year that Charleston was alerted for a hurricane. Last July 7, Hurricane Cindy broke up into a 60-mile gale when she hit the coast just north of here.

Italy's Segni Leaving for Official U.S. Visit

The State Department gave a detailed report to NATO ambassadors today on the Camp David talks. French Envoy Herve Alphand said he thinks it very likely a summit meeting or a new foreign ministers session on the future of Berlin will result from the Eisenhower-Khrushchev parley.

In answering reporters' questions Alphand said it is his understanding from that report that Allied rights in West Berlin remain unchanged but there is a change in the removal of the threat—"any way we hope so."

Skeptical diplomats, noting that the essence of the agreement depends on good faith between Khrushchev and Eisenhower, are keeping their fingers crossed. Both American and Soviet leaders, it is said, understand that it may literally take years to negotiate a new deal for Berlin.

The issue of a deadline over these negotiations gets to the heart of the matter. In 10 weeks of talks at Geneva in the summer the Soviets offered to respect present Berlin arrangements for 18 months during which negotiations for a settlement would be conducted directly between East and West Germany. Failing agreement there—a failure the West saw as inevitable—there could then be some further negotiations among the big powers.

But some time after the 18 months deadline expired the Soviet agreement to withhold action against Allied West Berlin would run out. Thus the Western powers would be negotiating under a threat and the least damage they might suffer, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter felt, was a Soviet claim that with the final round of negotiations their rights in Berlin had run out.

Head-On Crash Injures Three

Drayton Plains Woman, Goodrich, Flint Men in Pontiac Hospital

Three persons were seriously injured late Monday afternoon in a head-on collision on U.S. 10 about a half mile north of Williams Lake road in Waterford Township.

Most seriously hurt was Mrs. Betty M. Blanquart, 39, of 3574 Mariner St., Drayton Plains.

She underwent surgery last night for fractures of both legs, possible internal injuries, and face and arm cuts.

The other driver, Kenneth B. Davis, 42, of 10195 Hegel Rd., Goodrich, and his companion, James Williams, 28, of Flint, were also admitted to Pontiac General Hospital.

Davis suffered a broken right leg, facial cuts and severe injuries of the left eye. Williams suffered multiple cuts. All are reported in fair condition today.

Witnesses told State troopers from the Pontiac Post that Mrs. Blanquart was going south when an unidentified auto stopped in front of her to make a left turn. She swerved into the northbound lane to avoid a rear-end collision, troopers reported.

The statement said the helmets are "distinctive, traditional, comfortable to wear and afford maximum protection to the wearer in the case of assault."

Firemen Seek Cause of Blaze

Overheated Motor May Have Started $350,000 Kroger Fire

Firemen yesterday poked through the ruins of the Kroger supermarket at Perry street and Joslyn avenue to find the cause of Sunday night's spectacular $350,000 fire.

The fire may have been started by an overheated refrigerator motor in the meat cutting room, said Fire Chief James White.

"The fire would spread rapidly," he said, "because of highly flammable cellophane stored in that area."

White said the cause will probably never be known for a certainty because "the evidence simply went up in flames."

He said damage to the building has been set at $150,000 to food stock at $100,000 and to store equipment $100,000.

White said two walls of the building were cracked but that two others might be salvaged.

White said investigation thus far by himself and Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz has eliminated the possibility of arson.

"We are convinced the fire was accidental," he said.

Griffin Says Unions Control Labor Bill

The boyish looking Griffin, who spent his summers working in Pontiac factories, said the labor bill is not as strong as it could be.

"It was the best bill we could get through Congress," he said before last night's dinner. He said some of the unexplored phases of it include use of union dues for political activity and monopoly powers of unions.

Griffin said he's not too worried about reports that big unions, such as the Teamsters, would go all out to defeat Griffin and other supporters of the bill in next year's election.

"Money alone is not going to make it possible to throw someone out of office," the second-term congressman said.

Griffin, who skyrocketed to national recognition with the passage of the bill, got there by being ranking Republican on the subcommittee of the House Labor Management Committee. Landrum, Georgia Democrat, was chairman of the sub-committee.

Ford in Spotlight at Broomfield Fete

SUMMARIZES CONGRESS

Broomfield summarized shortly the first half of the 86th Congress for the home folk. He reiterated his stand to cut down the "staggering national debt," and criticised the farm subsidy program "which he said make the big farmers bigger and destroy the little farmer."

Griffin, who with Broomfield forms what is known as the "gold-dust twins" in Washington, praised the Royal Oak lawmaker as "one of the great stalwarts in a field where the publicity and notoriety aren't so great." He had reference to his position on the Public Works Committee.

The speaker said Broomfield, in his second term, lead the fight to stop Michigan from being robbed of its industry by "cheaper" offers made by the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA).

"This was one of the finest achievements in Bill Broomfield's career," Ford said.

He said Broomfield also prevented the interstate highway trust fund from being raided.

Praise also came by way of Broomfield's hometown minister, the Rev. Thomas W. Kirkman of the First Presbyterian Church of Royal Oak, from the chaplain of the House of Representatives.

Broomfield took the praise in stride, content to be home — "back with a Republican majority" and to listen to Ford's one-hour analysis of the past and present administrations in the nation's capital.

Recalling his three-week journey to Moscow, Poland, and Berlin with other congressmen, Ford warned his audience that Americans face a terrific struggle yet from the Soviet Union.

"We must not delude ourselves in believing that the leadership of the Soviet Union is not strong," he said. "It is strong. I see no evidence either that it will weaken."

Ford, who last year bolted GOP attempts to draft him for GOP gubernatorial candidate, cautioned Republicans to expect the "most terrific competition" from the Russians.

He went on by saying that Nikita Khrushchev is "diabolically clever—deceitful — and totally dedicated to the Communist philosophy both for his own country and the rest of the world."

To meet the opposition from the U.S.S.R., Ford asked:

"Between now and the 1960 elections we must answer the question which political party — Democrats or Republicans — is better qualified to provide that leadership which is so essential to meet this competition."

He said records will show the GOP promises the country the best and strongest economy, safest national defense, and the true American way of life.

"The Republican administration has produced the things that the Democrats promised," Ford said. "It has been done under President Eisenhower's leadership without a boom and bust economy."

"The same progress on a broad basis will be forthcoming under the next Republican administration that will take office January 1961," the speaker predicted.

Complains of Jam-Up

LONDON (UPI) — The Bishop of Southwark complained today that too many cars are parked in front of parish churches. "We often have a couple of heavy suitcases and it is a help if we do not have to park too far away," the bishop said. He is searching for a remedy to the situation.

The Day in Birmingham

Low Baldwin Library Bid of $182,000 Accepted

BIRMINGHAM — The city commission accepted the lowest bid for construction of the Baldwin Library addition at last night's meeting.

The job will go to Lockwood and McCutcheon, building contractors, for $182,000.

The total bid covers equipment and landscaping as well as construction of the new wing.

A request to reinstall a traffic light at Chapin and Woodward, signed by 140 petitioners, was referred by the Commission to City Manager L. R. Gare along with its request to take the proposal up with the State Highway Department for reconsideration and thorough study.

A motion to vacate the alley extending from Merrill to Townsend street was tabled for three weeks pending further study by the city planning board.

Gare submitted a recommendation concerning the possibility of providing a municipal parking lot which would serve business on N. Woodward avenue between Ravine and Oak streets.

Cost of the project is estimated at $108,700.

In connection with the proposed plan, a problem has arisen in that Dr. Lewis Gach recently purchased one of the lots on the proposed site and has started to build there.

Dr. Gach explained to the commission that his building won't utilize the whole lot but approximately seven parking spaces. He said he hadn't been informed of the parking lot project when he bought the property.

The commission set a hearing date Oct. 26 to determine the necessity of the parking lot.

The city commission approved the Brookside alley improvement assessment. A refund of $25 will be made to adjacent property owners, pro rated according to each assessment.

In other action by the commission, Hogan, Juengel and Harding, certified public accountants were reappointed auditors for the city of Birmingham.

Justice Dept. Geared for Quick Move if Ike Invokes Taft-Hartley

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Justice Department today was reported gearing for quick action if President Eisenhower decides to invoke the Taft-Hartley law emergency provisions to stop the 77-day steel strike.

The President has called in top industry and union leaders to separate White House conferences Wednesday morning in a final effort to get fruitful bargaining without resort to the Taft-Hartley law provisions.

Officials said privately however they doubt that even a personal appeal from the President will budge the industry and the striking Steelworkers Union from their poles apart positions.

In that event, Eisenhower is expected to trigger the emergency strike provisions into effect. This would call for naming a fact-finding panel to report on the issues. On receipt of the panel's report the President could order the Justice Department to seek a court injunction to halt the strike for an 80-day cooling period.

Justice Department was reported well ahead of its preparatory paper work. It was noted that not only Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, but the head of his department's civil division, George C. Doub, participated in a White House conference on the steel situation Monday.

★ ★ ★

All negotiations in the steel dispute are at a standstill. The union broke off New York talks conducted by the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service last Friday. It said further such conferences were useless.

Pontiac Jaycees have been the chief promoters of the Junior Miss contest in Michigan and last year a Pontiac Central High School senior was the state winner.

Hal Boyle Says:

Uncool Chitchat Drives 'Em Mad, Dad

"Stand up straight, Rodney. Do you want to look like a man or a pretzel?"

"But Susie, you can't go steady with him. He's too old for you. Why, he's in his last year in high school."

BOYLE

"I never had to ask my folks for money. I went out and earned it myself."

"No, you can't have the car tonight — or any other night for that matter."

"I asked Susie to get the mop, and do you know what she said? She said, 'What's a mop, Dad?'"

★ ★ ★

"At your age, Susie, Betsy Ross wasn't collecting silly autographs. She was busy making the American Flag."

"Why can't kids today talk in ordinary English? It was a good enough language for Shakespeare."

"It isn't that you don't look cute in blue jeans, Susie, but is there any law that says a girl can't wear a dress, too, now and then?"

"At your age, Rodney, Abraham Lincoln was'nt asking his Dad to buy a bigger house. He was building log cabins with nothing but an ax."

"Does Susie really call that a haircut? It looks as if it had been gnawed by mice."

"At your age, Rodney, Daniel Boone wasn't trying out for cheerleader. He'd already killed a dozen bears."

"You'll find it easier to read, Susie, if you sit up in the chair and put your head where your feet are now."

"No, you don't have to walk those three long blocks to the drug store. You can run or you can crawl."

"Look at that report card. You ought to have to go to the school of hard knocks, like I did."

A&P Raises Price of Coffee 2 Cents

NEW YORK (AP)—The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. (A&P) Monday increased prices of private brand coffees 2 cents a pound for its eastern division.

The increase, which reverses a lengthy decline, establishes a scale ranging from 55 to 63 cents a pound for bagged coffees and brings the chain's own vacuum-packed coffee to 67 cents a pound.

The change was the first since a cut of 4 cents a pound in May. It comes less than a week after 17 coffee-producing nations signed an agreement to restrict production of coffee.

Polaris Plunges Into the Atlantic

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP)—A test version of the Polaris submarine missile fizzled in flight Monday and plunged into the Atlantic ocean several miles off the cape.

The Department of Defense announced the missile developed a malfunction shortly after second stage separation.

Main objectives of the test were stage separation and general missile performance. Range was not of primary concern, ut if all had gone right, the Polaris was expected to drop a simulated warhead on an Atlantic target 900 miles away.

★ ★ ★

When operational, the missile will have an initial range of 1,200 miles.

Sales and Use Tax Forms Are in Mail

LANSING (UPI)—About 132,000 new sales and use tax forms were in the mails or soon to be, Louis M. Nims, state revenue commissioner, said today.

Nims said a new form was necessary for merchants because of the added 1-cent use tax recently adopted by the Legislature, coupled with some other changes in the use tax law.

"The present mailing consists of only one return for the month of September, due on or before Oct. 15," Nims said.

Time limits made it necessary to supply only one return now, Nims said, but by the end of next month, three monthly returns will be mailed, and barring a Supreme Court decision against the new tax increase, books of 12 monthly returns would be made by the end of the year.

"The old book of returns is now obsolete and those returns may not be used," Nims said.

Tobacco advertisers increased their investment in daily newspapers 23.4 per cent in 1958. The $28,432,000 spent by cigarette companies represented an 18 per cent increase; the $5,038,000 spent by cigar manufacturers a 56.4 per cent gain.

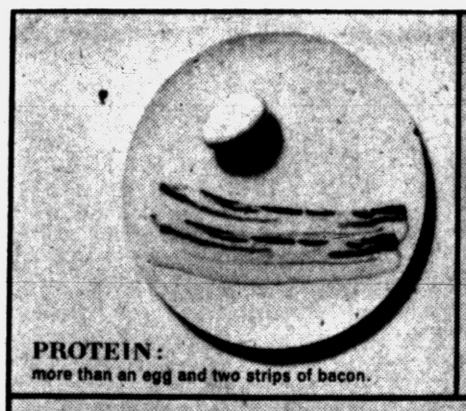
The greatest concentration of nutrients ever offered in a single all-purpose food

NEW

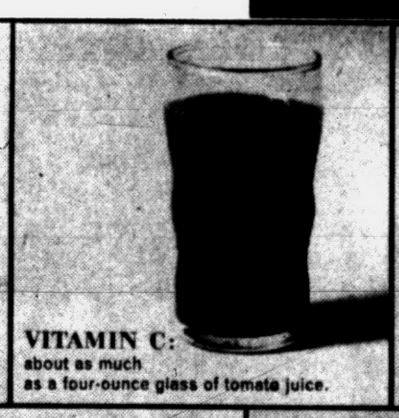
Kellogg's CONCENTRATE

(The ready-to-serve nutrition "booster")

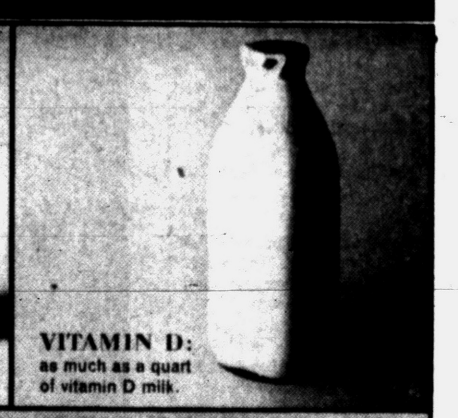


PROTEIN: more than an egg and two strips of bacon.

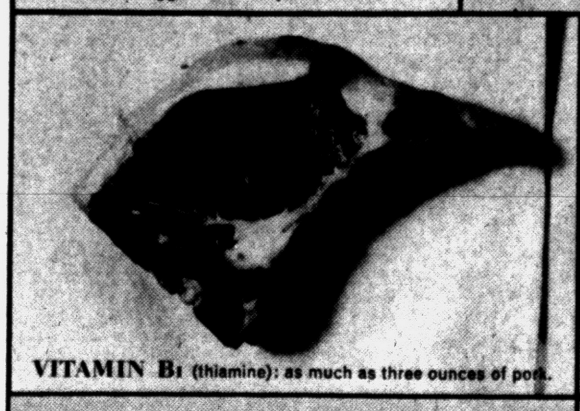
VITAMIN B6: more than five carrots.



VITAMIN C: about as much as a four-ounce glass of tomato juice.

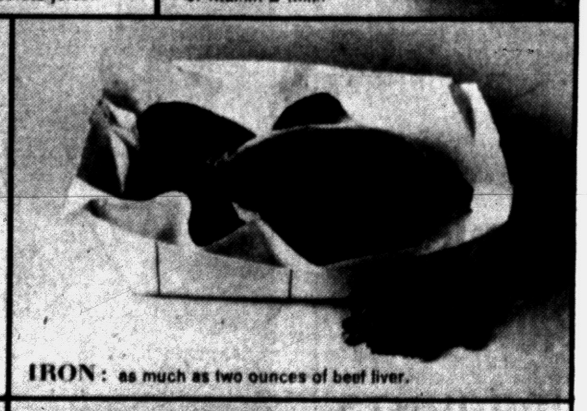


VITAMIN D: as much as a quart of vitamin D milk.

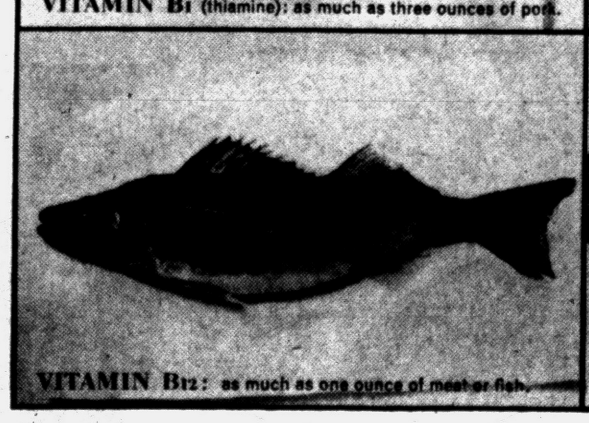


VITAMIN B1 (thiamine): as much as three ounces of pork.

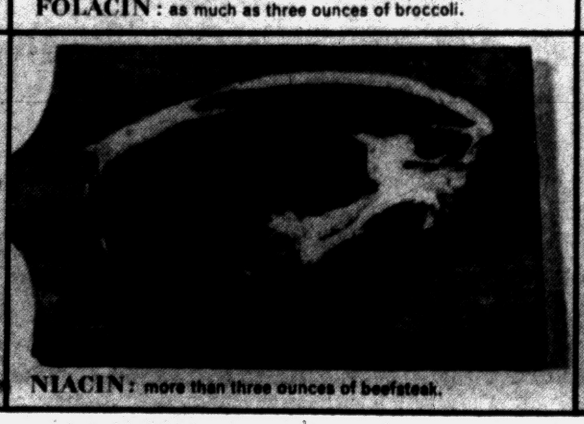
FOLACIN: as much as three ounces of broccoli.



IRON: as much as two ounces of beef liver.



VITAMIN B12: as much as one ounce of meat or fish.



NIACIN: more than three ounces of beefsteak.

© 1959 by Kellogg Company

WHAT IT IS:

Kellogg's Concentrate is a great new food developed from the grains. It's ready to eat—requires no cooking, no refrigeration. And its tiny flakes, so crisp and good-tasting, contain more concentrated nutrition—vitamins, proteins and minerals—than any other single all-purpose food. For instance, one ounce (about ½ cup) of Kellogg's Concentrate contains:

PROTEIN, 11.3 gm. More than an egg and two strips of bacon.
IRON, 5.0 mg. As much as two ounces of beef liver.
VITAMIN B_1 (thiamine), 0.5 mg. As much as three ounces of pork.
RIBOFLAVIN, 0.6 mg. More than four ounces of Cheddar cheese.
NIACIN, 5.0 mg. More than three ounces of beefsteak.
VITAMIN C, 15.0 mg. About as much as a four-ounce glass of tomato juice.
VITAMIN B_6, 1.0 mg. More than five carrots.
VITAMIN B_{12}, 2.5 mcg. As much as one ounce of meat or fish.

HOW YOU EAT IT:

There are many delicious ways to enjoy Kellogg's Concentrate. By itself, it is, nutritionally, a satisfying meal. Added to other foods, it's an important supplement to your daily diet. It's economical, too, because it's so concentrated.

FOR BREAKFAST: Serve this delicious food as a cereal . . . or sprinkle it on your other favorite cereals and foods. One ounce (½ cup) with four ounces of milk (½ cup) provides 23% of a grown man's daily recommended allowance of high-quality protein.

FOR SNACKS: Low in calories, it makes a wonderful snack any time of day . . . or night.

ADDITIONAL USES: Adds nutrition and flavor to all foods. Sprinkle it on casseroles, soups, salads, vegetables, or desserts—in fact on almost any food. Add it to meat loaves, patties, stuffings, pancakes, waffles, or almost any of your favorite dishes.

WEIGHT WATCHERS: Try Kellogg's Concentrate instead of a heavy meal. Eat Concentrate with non-fat milk as an aid in weight reduction.

WHAT IT DOES:

This new kind of food is high in nutrients essential to good diet—low in the things we ordinarily get plenty of, such as fats.

Kellogg's Concentrate is an excellent general purpose food—a real nutrition "booster"—especially helpful to weight watchers, children and adolescents with finicky appetites, women during pregnancy, and to all people requiring a high-protein diet.

In addition to its high-protein content (it's 40% protein), a one-ounce serving—containing only 106 calories—provides the following percentages of minimum daily adult requirements of these nutrients.

Vitamin B_1 (thiamine), 50% . . . Riboflavin, 50% . . . Iron, 50% . . . Niacin, 50% . . . Vitamin C, 50% . . . Vitamin D, 100% . . . Vitamin B_6, 66% . . . Vitamin B_{12}, 100% . . . Folacin, 50% . . . Phosphorus, 12% . . . Calcium, 2%.

Pick up a package of Kellogg's Concentrate at your grocer's today. We think you'll find any number of ways to enjoy it.

Drunk Drivers Plague State

Hare Says Michigan Must Solve Problem to Cut Death Toll

LANSING (AP) — Secretary of State James M. Hare says Michigan must solve its drinking driver problem if the recent increase in highway deaths is to be halted.

"I'm convinced we're looking at a drinking driver problem," Hare said after a weekend in which 23 persons met death on the road.

He reported a check by his agents revealed that 43 per cent of the fatal highway accidents since April 1 have involved drinking drivers and/or drinking pedestrians.

Through Sept. 27 the state had picked up 951 road fatalities — a 5 per cent boost over the 946 recorded in a similar period last year.

Hare noted, however, that the record is holding about even with last year on the basis of a 4 to 5 per cent increase in mileage run up by the state's motorists.

Joseph A. Childs, state police commissioner, said many people feel that the heaviest part of the road death toll has been recorded when Labor Day passes.

"That is not so," Childs said, "for the last three months of the year are usually the worst for traffic accidents."

The commissioner said the fall season brings shorter days resulting in an increase of three types of accidents: Pedestrians hit by vehicles, run-off-the-road mishaps and car-train collisions at railroad crossings.

"There's a let down after Labor Day and perhaps people are not quite as cautious at a time when they actually should be using more caution," Childs said.

Mr. K Got Everything He Wanted

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP — The world's No. 1 foxy grandpa is Nikita Khrushchev.

He dreamed up a crisis and then, at no cost to him, got one thing after another he wanted. President Eisenhower's news conference Monday added the latest chapter to the Soviet chief's saga of success.

Take it step by step and see how he did it.

For a long time he talked of the need for relaxing the cold war so he could build up the Soviet Union at home. He said one way to do it would be at a summit conference with President Eisenhower and the leaders of Britain and France.

Particularly he wanted to talk with Eisenhower. The President wouldn't agree. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was calling the shots on American foreign policy then.

★ ★ ★

Then suddenly last November Khrushchev out of nowhere created a crisis over West Berlin. Everything that has happened since can be traced back to that beginning.

MARIA CALLAS

Callas' Husband Asks Separation

BRESCIA, Italy (AP)—The husband of opera star Maria Meneghini Callas is seeking the nearest thing to a divorce permitted in Italy—legal separation.

Giovanni Battista Meneghini, 62, filed suit against the temperamental, 35-year-old prima donna, saying the marriage was on the rocks "for reasons depending on the fault of the wife herself."

Italian law prohibits divorce. Even if a legal separation is granted, neither Meneghini nor Miss Callas would be free to remarry in Italy.

The suit did not mention Greek shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, whom Meneghini earlier blamed for the breakup of his 10-year marriage to the singer.

Nikita Flying to Peiping

Red China Is Rejoicing in Khrushchev Success

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China today applauded the results of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's American tour. In warm words of praise it predicted an easing of world tension.

Khrushchev himself was scheduled to fly to Peiping today for the celebration of the 10th anniversary of the Communist victory on the Chinese mainland. He sent an advance message hailing the Red Chinese revolution as one of history's great events and pledging eternal friendship between Moscow and Peiping.

The official Peiping People's Daily said Khrushchev's visit to America "without doubt will have a positive effect on the cause of world peace."

"World public opinion is fully justified in highly evaluating this visit. The Chinese people rejoice in comrade Khrushchev's success," the government organ said.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The agriculture minister of Poland arrives for a 14-day visit to the United States Thursday and is expected to negotiate for a shipment of American feed grains.

Western Electric, Union OK 16-Month Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — The Western Electric Co. and the Communications Workers of America reached agreement early today on a new 16-month contract for 12,000 workers in 44 states.

The new contract provides wage increases of 6 to 12 cents an hour for installers and $2.25 to $2.75 a week for job clerks. Under the old contract, which expired Sept. 19, installers averaged $2.67 an hour and job clerks $65.60 a week.

The new package also includes various fringe benefits. It must be acted on by the Union's membership by Oct. 28.

Western Electric's installers set up equipment for central telephone exchanges in cities throughout the country.

Schools Disobey Law on Teaching Prohibition Value

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Thousands of public school teachers in Kansas and Missouri violated a state law Monday.

★ ★ ★

Missouri Law No. 163.060 reads: "Sept. 28 is Frances E. Willard Day and in every public school in the state of Missouri one-quarter of the school day shall be set apart for instruction relative to the history and benefit of the prohibition of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors."

★ ★ ★

The Kansas law is similar.

Miss Willard campaigned for prohibition.

"We undoubtedly had mass violations of the law in this state," said Fred Rausch, assistant attorney general for Kansas.

But Miss Willard's life was discussed by teachers in one school—the Frances E. Willard Grade School in Kansas City.

"It seemed that it was the least we could do," said Principal Thelma Reed.

Kern Co. Plans on Liquidation

Old-Time Detroit Store Losing Money, Would Hold Final Sale

DETROIT (AP)—The Ernst Kern Co., one of Detroit's leading department stores for 77 years, is seeking permission for a going-out-of-business sale.

The firm's president, Henry H. Krause, said the store has been failing financially for several years. Krause, a Cleveland wholesaler in women's wear, said stockholders voted yesterday to liquidate the firm.

But Ernst F. Kern, grandson of the store's founder, said nothing definite was settled at yesterday's meeting. He said a legal obstruction came up, but he did not say what it was.

★ ★ ★

Krause became president last month when Benjamin Goldstein, former president, sold about 10,000 shares of Kern stock to a Krause associate.

★ ★ ★

Last week Krause filed an application with the city clerk for a going-out-of-business sale license, required by law. Krause said he expected the license to be approved in about a week.

The store reportedly has about two million dollars in stock on hand and another one million ordered.

The store has been losing too much money, Krause said. It has about 500 employes.

Kern's declared voluntary bankruptcy last April and was returned to its owners last month. Goldstein became general manager, a position he resigned yesterday.

Cleaning Fluid Flame Starts Detroit Fire

DETROIT (AP)— A sheet of flame that leaped up from a vat of cleaning fluid touched off a $100,000 fire today at the Lineflo Co., a chrome plating firm on Detroit's westside.

Eighty-five firemen manning 20 pieces of equipment fought the blaze for an hour and a half before bringing it under control. Dense clouds of smoke slowed rush-hour traffic in the Grand River-Warren area.

John Proctor, 24, said he was preparing a vat used for metal cleaning when the vat burst into flames. He escaped injury and so did 15 others in the building at the time.

Bound Over to Court in Theft From Home

David B. Wilson, 20, of 29 Cooley St., waived examination in the theft of an automatic revolver and $531 from a Pontiac home Aug. 14 and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court.

He will be arraigned Monday on a charge of larceny from a building.

He was arrested by police Saturday.

Unable to furnish bond of $500 set by Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan, Wilson is being held in the Oakland County Jail pending arraignment.

A Colorado newspaperboy, who recently retired as a carrier to devote more time to college studies, accumulated a $3,300 savings account in eight years from his paper route earnings.

Pontiac Man Waives Exam in Break-Ins

A 42-year-old Pontiac man who police said admitted breaking into two gas stations waived examination yesterday before Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan and was bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court for trial.

Earlier in the evening, he told police, he broke into the Pure Oil service station at 867 Baldwin Ave.

Storm Floods Detroit Xways

Closed for Two Hours; Power Lines Felled, Lightning Hits Homes

Rain and lightning swept across parts of Southern Michigan last night flooding Detroit's Ford and Edsel expressways for the third time in five weeks.

Sections of both expressways were closed by police between 9 p.m. and 11 p.m. when the water reached 18 inches at several spots.

In some areas strong winds felled branches and power lines. Lightning struck several homes, starting minor fires.

Damage in Oakland County was slight, according to the Sheriff's Department.

Sheriff Frank W. Irons said that "99 per cent of the complaints he received were due to knocked-down trees." He reported no damage to homes in the area.

★ ★ ★

At Southfield and Nine Mile roads, lightning caused a 10-minute power failure at WJBK's television transmitter. Joseph B. Haigh, chief engineer said "lightning hit the transmitter a number of times, but damage was confined to fuse boxes."

The station returned to the air by using an emergency power generator and a standby transmitter.

Shelby Township firemen were called to two houses around 9 last night where lightning had struck nearby. Both homes suffered only minor damage, firemen reported.

Woman Injured in 3-Car Wreck on Huron Street

Viola Y. Siders, 24, of 5521 Tubbs Rd. Waterford Township, was treated and released from Pontiac General Hospital after a three-car accident early yesterday morning in front of the main post office on West Huron Street.

A car driven by William C. Bower Jr., 53, of 2415 Denby Dr., Waterford Township, moving east on Huron, went into the rear of one driven by Louis M. Graham, 47, of 329 W. Wilson Ave.

She told police she had stopped to let a vehicle back out of a driveway.

Whooping Cough Has Mounted to 4 Times Last Year's Level

The Oakland County Department of Health today reported there have been four times as many whooping cough cases this year as in the same period last year.

From Jan. 1 to Sept. 30, 1958, a total of 32 cases was reported. The number of cases reported for the same period this year is 123.

"I don't think the increase is alarming, but it indicates that a lot of children are not immunized," said Dr. John D. Monroe, director of the county health department.

The health director encourages parents to make arrangements with their physicians to get immunization shots for their children. If financial arrangements cannot be made, he said, the Oakland County Health Department will give the shots free.

★ ★ ★

"No one has to go without shots because of lack of money," said Monroe.

Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Detroit-Wayne County Health commissioner, announced the Detroit area is having its worst outbreak of whooping cough since 1950.

Molner said there have been 1,097 cases reported this year, compared with 114 during the same 1958 period.

Tree Needs Watering

A moderate size apple tree absorbs four gallons of water from the soil every hour during a hot summer day, say tree experts. However, it gives off most of it in the form of invisible vapor through its leaves.

Approximately 150 Cub Scouts and guests attended the fall kickoff meeting of Pack 8 at Crofoot School last night.

Separate meetings were held for the cubs and parents to review the fall program.

Awards were presented to Skipper Thomson, wolf badge; John Rotsel, bear badge and golden arrow; Jerry Buckley, one gold and one silver arrow under lion badge; and Dennis Danielson, one year perfect attendance award.

Cub Scout handbooks were given to Donald Martindale, Charles Porritt, Joe Grant, Skipper Thomson, Ronnie Collins and Bradley Bloodworth, in recognition of recent birthdays.

Waterford Board OKs Private Dump Request

A request to operate a private dump on some 70 acres on Hospital road was granted to the G. C. W. Disposal Co. of Pontiac by the Waterford Township Board at last night's weekly meeting.

The request had been presented last week and tabled until Board members could make a personal check of the area before giving their approval to the project. The dump will be operated under strict regulations set up by Waterford Township Board of Health.

The Board will ask the Michigan State Fire Inspection Bureau to make a complete survey of the Township to determine the present and future fire protection needs of the community. The request was presented by Fire Chief Elmer Fangboner.

Seven bids for the township's Fleet Vehicle Insurance policies were opened and referred to the township attorney for recommendation at next Monday's meeting. The lowest bid submitted was for $1,439.

A 1953 township owned car was sold for $76 and 1956 former police car sold for $200. Cecil Garrett of 30 W. Walton Blvd. purchased both vehicles.

Although Board members discussed additional requirements and more rigid regulations of land developers in the township there was no action as for compiling new procedure until further study can be made by the Board.

Socialist Workers Party Files for Place on Ballot

LANSING (AP) — The Socialist Workers Party has filed 22,047 nominating petitions with the Secretary of State for a place on the 1960 election ballot.

It was the first minor party to file the minimum number of 12,708 petitions which are legally required for a ballot spot.

In a statement on filing the party said:

"Our campaign will concentrate on showing the need for workers to break with both old parties."

The Socialist Workers Party has gained a place on the ballot in the past two elections but was ruled off in 1956 when its petitions were held insufficient.

Bet Ring Evidence Loss Great Disappointment

A year after the spectacular raids by State Police on five locations to make arrests in what was termed "a million dollar a year" horse betting ring, only two defendants remain.

The others have been freed.

The judge has ruled that some of the search warrants were illegally issued on insufficient information. Thus the entry gained was illegal. True, bet slips were in evidence. Our reporters on the heels of the raiding parties saw the evidence, too.

But since the evidence was gathered illegally, it doesn't count.

We have no quarrel with these laws and decisions based on them. They are designed for the protection of the individual and his rights. It is disappointing to see the evidence there and the suspicions of the police borne out, all in vain, but there it is.

★ ★ ★

Publicly Owned Plants Sold to German People

In line with Chancellor ADENAUER'S economic policy, the West German government has started to dispose of large federal industries. Known as the "people's shares" program, Bonn is returning publicly owned property to private ownership through the sale of shares.

To prevent monopoly the number of shares an individual can buy is limited and he also must come under certain income brackets. If the purchaser holds his shares a stated number of years, he will get an interest premium. The idea is to discourage speculation.

So far only one large company has "desocialized" — the Preussische Bergwerks und Hutten AG of Berlin and Hanover — producer of nonferrous metal, oil and electricity and water conduits. Last March when the shares were put on the market more than 216,000 persons bought them, 30 per cent of whom were employes.

Other plants to come under the program are large federal industries in Bonn, Hamburg and Berlin. Shares in the Volkswagen works will be offered when the question of ownership between the government and the state of Lower Saxony has been settled.

The Bonn Government has financial interests in iron and steel works, in chemical industries, shipbuilding and food production. It also owns 72 per cent of the aluminum plants, 42 per cent of auto manufacturing and 29 per cent of the bituminous coal mines.

The Socialist Party is said to oppose the "people's shares" program on the ground that it is a waste of public property. But the people are enthusiastically buying the shares.

★ ★ ★

This economic policy is based on free enterprise and what Chancellor Adenauer calls "a socially minded market economy."

New Gimmick Tests Subliminal Advertising

Using a dog's bark is the latest gimmick some TV advertising men are reverting to through the use of subliminal advertising. The apparent plan is an attempt to reach the human audience through its dogs.

★ ★ ★

According to our information, the plan would be for a recorded dog's bark to be broadcast as background for a dog commercial, but at a sound level inaudible to humans.

★ ★ ★

The calculated plan is, of course, that "Rover" would start barking. The TV announcer would then ask if the dog owners knew what their respective canine friends were barking at. Answer: He's asking for Brand PBX dog food.

This strikes us as about par for many of the TV commercials that are pitched at the levels of the dogs, rather than adult humans.

On the question of whether this is potentially as dangerous thought control as subliminal advertising for humans, the answer seems to be "no." It's just another annoying TV gimmick, like the announcer of some breakfast food saying, "Now, kiddies, tell mother to get . . ."

★ ★ ★

The dogs may react by doing what comes naturally . . . bark when barked at. We're inclined to think, however, that not too many of them will be doing that.

This is dogged commercialism in its lowest form and just another way of circumventing the industry's ban on subliminal advertising.

However, Mr. Mohler points out, the eclipse does not end until 6:48, so we can see part of it if the cloud and other conditions are favorable.

Ahunting He Will Go

David Lawrence Is Convinced:

Berlin's Status Quo Unchanged

WASHINGTON — Personal diplomacy—the informal parley between President Eisenhower and Nikita Khrushchev—has left in its wake a number of equivocal statements which indicate that the situation with respect to West Berlin has not materially changed from what it was in November 1958.

LAWRENCE

At that time the Soviet government announced that it would not tolerate indefinitely the presence of Allied troops in West Berlin.

While there is no time limit on how long the Allied troops may stay in West Berlin, the Soviet government has by no means renounced its firm intention to press for the early departure of the troops of the Western Allies from West Berlin.

It is important to note that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has insisted all along that there has never been any "impasse." Here in chronological order are some of the important statements made about the Berlin situation by the Soviet government:

On Nov. 27, 1958, at a press conference in Moscow, the Soviet Premier said:

"In my opinion you are correct in concluding that during the stipulated period, that is, six months, we will not violate the conditions which now exist in Berlin, although we still consider such conditions to be abnormal. But we would like to remove even abnormal conditions by normal means, that is, by agreement. . . .

"I say this, of course, with a reservation. We will observe the norms established by the occupation regime during the stipulated period on condition that other countries take no provocational steps which would jeopardize peace."

NO ILLUSIONS!

On Jan. 31, 1959, Foreign Minister Gromyko said:

"If it (the Berlin question) is not solved on the basis of agreement—and our country is striving sincerely for this—the Soviet Union will, on the basis of agreement with the German Democratic Republic (East Germany), carry out definite planned measures respecting Berlin—and let no one have any illusions about it."

On Aug. 5, 1959, at about the time an announcement was made that Nikita Khrushchev was planning to visit the United States, he said to the press in Moscow:

"If we appraise the present state of affairs realistically, there is obviously no hope in the near future that the German Democratic Republic and the Federal German Republic will be unified into a single state. Therefore, we must proceed from the reality, that is, from the fact that two German states now exist. If the present situation in Germany is considered intelligently and a way is found to reach agreement on this chief issue, then the question of West Berlin will easily be settled.

★ ★ ★

"The conclusion of a peace treaty with Germany or the two German states will at the same time be a settlement of the Berlin question, since Berlin is situated on the territory of the German Democratic Republic (East Germany), one of the two German states."

On Sunday last, after saying goodbye to President Eisenhower, the Soviet Premier, in a press conference held at the National Press Club auditorium here, said flatly:

"Since there is no united Germany, we think that peace should be signed with the two German states. I see no other way toward that end. If you have any other suggestions, voice them. But I don't think there is a different way towards peace."

It all comes down to this: The Soviets simply say over and over again that West Berlin must be incorporated into East Germany and that the Soviet Union intends to sign a peace treaty with the East German Republic.

A few days ago Secretary of State Herter said the United States couldn't prevent the Soviet Union from signing such a treaty.

Dr. William Brady Says:

High Death Rate Should Ban Tonsillectomies

Tonsillectomy—extensive dissection of the throat in the attempt to "get every bit of tonsil"—has a frightfully high death rate, and for that reason alone should be banned from practice. Tonsillotomy — instantaneous removal of the obstructing portion of tonsil—should become standard treatment for enlarged (hypertrophied) tonsils.

DR. BRADY

Tonsillectomy in every instance is a major operation, involving risks of "cardiac arrest" (sudden heart failure), atelectasis (collapse of lung), hemorrhage, strangling by blood clot or portions of excised tonsil or throat tissue, and such sequels as ether pneumonia or lung abscess.

Tonsillotomy, on the other hand, is a minor operation, no more dangerous than extraction of a tooth and as quickly over as extraction of a tooth.

Tonsillotomy does not purport to remove the tonsils. It removes only the obstructing portion of the enlarged or hypertrophied tonsil. This is all the surgery the patient's condition justifies.

Formerly, tonsillotomy was the standard method of treating obstruction of breathing, recurring middle ear trouble and impaired hearing, thickening or muffling of the voice or interference with swallowing due to enlarged tonsils.

It has only been recently that the operators began to insist upon "getting every bit of tonsil"—as though tonsil tissue were malignant.

DON'T GET ALL

At that, the operators talk a more thorough removal of tonsil than they actually achieve, for more or less tonsil tissue remains in the throat after most tonsillectomies. Should any reputable physician or surgeon question this I am prepared to cite reports in the literature.

For the life of me I can't conceive how a doctor who perpetrates this atrocity can face the parents if the little victim dies under operation or shortly thereafter.

Of course it is possible that conservative tonsillotomy may have been fatal some time or other, but I never heard or read of such happening.

Not only do the ever-ready operators leave more or less tonsil in the throat but, as examination of the material removed at tonsillectomy revealed, the operators hacking away in a bloody field sometimes inadvertently remove portions of throat muscle — which doesn't do the speaking or singing voice much good.

I keep telling you they're all out of step but Brady. If they insist on perpetrating tonsillectomy on children with enlarged or hypertrophied tonsils they're out of step with conservative surgery and common sense too.

★ ★ ★

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease; diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

The Country Parson

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Cupid May Park in Dentist's Office

Cupid often parks in a dentist's office, as Dr. Jim's interesting comments will prove. If more doctors had his grasp of "H-R", patients would get double benefits and not be as likely to cry for socialization of medicine and other socialistic behavior on the part of Uncle Sam. Doctors, take a lesson from the "cyanotic and dyspneic" error below.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

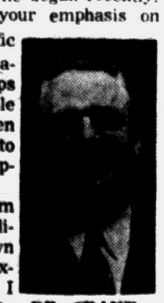
★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane," he began recently, "I appreciate your emphasis on the Scientific Marriage Foundation, which helps introduce eligible men and women with a view to romance and happy marriages.



DR. CRANE

"Well, I am aiding you indirectly in my own office. For example, when I find that patients are unmarried and unattached, I talk over the situation with my Dental Assistant and then help Cupid.

"To be specific, a few months ago a lovely school teacher, aged 29, was a patient.

"She had cared for an invalided mother for several years, meanwhile declining several offers of marriage.

"Now her mother had passed away, so she was eligible to think about matrimony. Meanwhile, I had another patient, aged 32, who had lost his wife a year or so earlier.

"This man was attractive and a successful attorney in our town. So I scheduled them for consecutive appointments the following week.

"They met in my office, apparently quite by chance, and my assistant introduced them. Since they were well suited to each other, they soon started dating and just last week I received a wedding announcement from them.

"Dr. Crane, in the past two years I have introduced seven couples among my patients and now they are all happily married."

DENTAL CUPID

Dr. Jim merits a special compliment for his thoughtfulness. I have recommended his method to thousands of dentists whom I have addressed in the last year, so I am sure they, too, will become allies of Cupid.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Jim also shows another form of that professional "symbiosis" mentioned yesterday.

For he is not only producing more happiness by his diplomatic introductions of unmarried couples, but he is helping the clergymen of his area by thus sending them wedding prospects.

And from each of those couples under 40 years of age, will probably arise two or three children, who will be reared as cultured, moral youngsters.

"H-R" FOR DOCTORS

Doctors need a double dose of "H-R" or "Human Relations" psychology, for they often grow so interested in chemicals or surgical words that they forget the total needs of their patients.

★ ★ ★

If he meanwhile helps that patient solve collateral problems, as he fills the decayed tooth or removes the inflamed appendix, he rates higher as a successful doctor.

Recently I acted as Master of Ceremonies at a banquet of 1,000 people at a large Chicago hotel.

Most of the audience were laymen, but one of the medical speakers forgot this fact as he described a patient who was "cyanotic and dyspneic."

Few of you educated readers know what "cyanotic" means, for it isn't even listed in your collegiate Webster dictionary. And "dyspneic" is likewise "Greek" to 99 per cent of you.

What the doctor should have said was that his patient was "blue and breathing hard". But he didn't even realize his audience couldn't follow his remarks.

One of the biggest needs in medicine and dentistry nowadays is for doctors to talk the language of the patient and stick to two-syllable terms.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Pioneer husbandmen of the dairy and beef empire asked, "Why are so many of our cattle condemned for disease as unhealthy for human food?" "What's wrong with our cows' milk that it isn't considered safe for babies?" "Why do some of our cows waste away or fail in milk flow or die early?" "Why is a special test needed to ship our cattle to other states?"

★ ★ ★

The stockmen then asked Congress and State Legislatures to appropriate millions for testing and paying them for diseased cattle condemned. Then the people said that since cattle tuberculosis has been reduced to less than half of one per cent, the problem has been solved.

★ ★ ★

But how can we stop the respread of cattle tuberculosis? We need a renewed campaign to wipe it out so completely there will be no reoccurence unless brought from outside.

'Why Do We Need to Teach Russian?'

I've noticed some of our universities are making a big deal of teaching Russian. I don't need to tell the editor how good our English language is.

If we are at all proficient in its use, we can express the finest degree of thought which we are capable of thinking, without waving our arms, wiggling our ears, vibrating our eyebrows, shrugging our shoulders, jumping up and down or any other kind of calisthenics which we see users of any other language doing.

Would Have Asked This One Question

A much younger man than yourself long ago set before people universally this rule for sound moral conduct: "Love neighbors as oneself." By the concept of mankind which you call science of communism, your nation is holding in captive subjection its neighboring nations and also an inestimable number of unwilling people.

Do you really believe that such communism constitutes the modern precept for neighborliness?

Grateful Reader Tells of UF Aid

It will soon be time for the United Fund Drive. I'd like to express appreciation to everyone for their contributions. In 1957 I was stricken with arthritis and have been receiving help from two agencies. For months a visiting nurse worked with me twice weekly helping with rehabilitation and giving me encouragement.

★ ★ ★

At 29 it seemed as though my whole life was worthless when I learned of my incurable ailment. My doctor sent me to the Family Service Agency where I've had weekly conferences for one year with a counselor who's helped me live with my illness. This agency also made possible two weeks at camp for my ten-year-old son and remembered the boys at Christmas.

★ ★ ★

All these services were at no cost to our family. No one knows when misfortune may strike his family. For this reason, we're doubly glad there's a helping hand when a family needs one. You gace your money, agencies gave their service and I got a whole new lease on life. From your contribution, I've been helped.

Fast U.N. Action on Tibet Is Seen

Even Many Non-Reds Give the Irish-Malayan Call a Cool Reception

By TOM HOGE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N.'s 21-nation steering committee is expected to act quickly on an Irish-Malayan call for a General Assembly debate on Red Chinese oppression in Tibet. But the move is getting a cool reception even from many non-Communists.

Ireland and Malaya requested Monday night that the Tibetan question be added to the Assembly's agenda. The Irish expressed confidence the committee would approve despite opposition from the Communists, neutralist and some colonial nations. They feel only the Reds will actually vote against a debate.

A U.S. spokesman said earlier the United States would welcome U.N. debate on the Tibetan question.

A confidential memorandum accompanying the request was said to cite a message from the Dalai Lama, fugitive ruler of Tibet, declaring that the Chinese Reds are trying to wipe out the Tibetan people.

The memorandum also reportedly referred to a recent report of the International Commission of Jurists in Geneva which said incomplete evidence indicated the Chinese Reds were guilty of genocide—a move to destroy a national, racial or religious group.

If the steering committee approves the request for debate, the Irish have ready a resolution calling for respect for the "fundamental human rights of the Tibetan people and restoration of their civil and religious liberties."

When her parachute failed to open after four seconds, Mrs. Neville said "I reached up and shook it hard and it opened."

Credit, Price Control Legislation Foreseen

NEW YORK (UPI)—Rep. Thomas B. Curtis (R-Mo) said today there is a strong possibility that the next session of Congress will override a presidential veto in enacting stand-by credit and price controls.

The lawmaker said he expects Congress to vote such legislation because "inflation is apt to be out in the open before the second session is too far along."

At the same time Curtis predicted Congress "unquestionably" will lift the interest ceiling on long-term federal bonds. "The money market may become so acute in the next month that a special session will be called to accomplish this purpose," he added.

About 500 specimens were put on the auction block by Nicholas Katsarias, a shoemaker from Bergen, N.J. They brought in $1,100.

Once you see the way this new Chevrolet combines elegance and economy, you'll decide real quick there's no room in your life—or your budget—for any other make of car for '60.

Despite all that's new and different, you'll find every change very easy to understand. For there's just one reason for all of them, and that's—you. We had your taste, your comfort, and your pocketbook in mind when we built this one—and that holds true from this new Chevy's thriftier V8 engine right back to its handsome, easier-to-load luggage compartment.

Your first evidence of this will come with your first look at Chevrolet's fresh-shaped contours, fitted with craftsmanship you'd expect only in the so-called luxury class. And, if further ever-so-gentle persuasion is needed, just treat yourself to Chevy's quieter, more comfortable Full Coil ride, insulated now by thicker, newly designed body mounts.

Inside the solid-built new Body by Fisher you'll find superbly tailored fabrics and spacious elegance. There's room to sprawl in, room to sit tall in—with sofa-wide seats and a roofline that has respect for hats.

Thanks to the thoughtful way Chevrolet engineers have trimmed down the transmission tunnel, there's also more room for the man in the middle.

Quiet, quick-responding power is provided by a choice of two of the thriftiest engines going as standard equipment. There's the famed Hi-Thrift 6, savin'est 6 in any full-size car, and a new Economy Turbo-Fire V8 that not only costs less to begin with but gets up to 10% more miles on a gallon of regular gas every mile you drive. And, to satisfy even the most finicky driving foot, you'll find a selection of five other V8's and five transmissions—a total of 24 power team combinations in all.

You'll also find some real stoppers in the brake department. Durable, bonded-lining Safety-Master brakes now designed to give you quicker, surer stops with less pedal pressure. There's also an easy-to-operate new parking brake that automatically returns to normal height after application.

We could go on, but your Chevrolet dealer's really the man to take up the story from here. And the happy ending will come when you see the surprisingly low price your '60 Chevy—equipped just the way you want it—now sells for!

Prospects Gloomy for Algerian Peace

PARIS (AP)—The outlook for an early end to the bitter Algerian rebellion appeared as gloomy as ever today.

A rebel proposal to meet with President Charles de Gaulle failed to draw any immediate response from the French President. First unofficial reaction was hostile.

The provisional rebel government announced Monday it is ready to discuss a cease-fire and details of De Gaulle's promise of self-determination for Algeria's nine million Moslems. They said there could be an early peace.

The carefully worded statement was in reply to De Gaulle's Sept. 16 declaration spelling out a new course for the rebellious North African territory.

The French leader promised a referendum in Algeria not later than four years after the end of fighting. He said the Moslems could choose either independence, integration with France or limited autonomy.

De Gaulle conferred an hour and a half with Premier Michel Debre after receiving the text of the rebel communique. Neither made any public statement.

But De Gaulle had asserted in his declaration he would not discuss Algeria's future with what he described as a "group of ambitious agitators" — the rebel government.

The rebel proposal was sharply rejected by right-wing settlers in Algeria and by a new political group in France.

The Rally for French Algeria formed after the De Gaulle declaration, called the rebel communique "rare insolence."

In Algiers, Robert Martel, leader of a group of settlers, asserted: "I do not recognize that the pseudo-rebel government has the right to concern itself with French policy in Algeria. Its declarations can only interest a tiny minority of assassins."

Some observers feel the rebel proposals will be totally unacceptable to De Gaulle. They look for a continuation of the war until the rebels are defeated. Others see little possibility of a military victory.

Falls From Trees Kill Two Boys in Michigan

By The Associated Press

Two Michigan boys died in falls from trees Friday. One was 5; the other 7. Both fell on concrete.

Reuben Gomez, 7, was killed when he fell from a tree he had climbed to shake down chestnuts. He fractured his skull when he dropped 15 feet to a sidewalk.

Ronald Pelkey, 5, toppled from a tree to the concrete driveway of his home at Flint and died a few hours later in a hospital. He was found unconscious. Like Reuben, he lit on his head.

Theodore Green, Oldest Senator, Will Be 92 Friday

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-RI), oldest man ever to serve in Congress, will be 92 Friday.

The senator returned home from Washington Monday to rest. But he has two radio talks, two meetings and testimonial dinners and a lecture on his schedule.

He said he doesn't know what sort of a birthday celebration he'll have.

"I suppose some of my friends or relatives might surprise me. They usually do."

Colombo Plan Benefits Asia

Free World's Alliance Helps Prevent Inroads by Communist Money

LONDON (UPI) — In the East-West competition to ring economic aid to underdeveloped countries, the Colombo Plan for South and Southeast Asia is proving to be a firm Western answer to the challenge of Communist aid.

The Colombo Plan (for the Co-operative Development of South and South-East Asia) was proposed and established by the foreign ministers of the British Commonwealth at their meeting in Colombo in 1950.

Since then, the United States, Burma, Nepal, Viet Nam, Cambodia, Laos and Indonesia have joined the cooperative scheme, which provides development funds for needy members.

Development plans are formulated by member countries of South and Southeast Asia and administered jointly by the donor and receiving nations.

Typical among the recent achievements of the Colombo Plan are:

—Construction of two cement factories in West Pakistan with New Zealand and Canadian aid.

—Establishment of the Rangoon Technical High School in Burma with help from the Ford Foundation, Canada, Australia, and the United Kingdom.

—Building of the central dairy at Colombo, Ceylon, with funds and equipment provided by New Zealand.

— Development of the UMTRU hydroelectric project in Assam, India, with assistance from Canada.

—Execution of the first and second five-year economic development programs in the Philippines assisted by the United States.

But South and Southeast Asia, which includes six per cent of the world's land mass, is a trying economic battleground.

Poverty, low productivity, fluctuations in world prices, adverse weather and high population increases make economic progress fluctuate from year to year.

Radio and television stations invested $20,857,000 in daily newspapers in 1958 — 16 per cent more than in 1957 — to tell the public about their programs and personalities.

S-P Profit Seen as $20 Million

President Says Firm Isn't Worried About Big Three's Compacts

NEW YORK (AP) — Studebaker-Packard Corp., after running in the red for five years, should earn at least 20 million dollars in 1959, President Harold E. Churchill said Monday.

★ ★ ★

Churchill told the New York Society of Security Analysts the company should net $18,000,000 from its auto making operation, $1,500,000 from the distribution of Mercedes-Benz cars and $500,000 from plastics production.

In 1958, Studebaker-Packard lost $6,461,880.

Churchill said the company can easily withstand the Big Three automakers' coming invasion of the small car market. "On balance," he said, "we believe the odds are in our favor."

"The changing automobile-buying standards of Americans have evolved to a point where the market is, and promises to be, one which is almost tailor-made for the continued success of Studebaker-Packard," Churchill added.

★ ★ ★

The company plans to increase its non-automotive earnings to between 10 and 15 million dollars annually in the next few years by acquiring "sound enterprises," Churchill said.

Paralytic Polio Toll Far Under '58 in State

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's toll of paralytic polio cases this year is still running far below the count for 1958, the State Health Department reports.

Ten cases reported last week brought the 1959 total to 80, the department said, compared to 359 for the same point a year ago.

For the corresponding week last year, 66 cases were reported as Michigan was in one of the heaviest of its polio times.

Add Insult to Injury

ATTAPULGUS, Ga. (UPI) — C. T. Johnson, 34, of Blountstown, Fla., has two gripes against federal revenue agents today. The "revenooers" who arrested Johnson for operating an illegal still didn't move in until he'd worked all day dismantling it to move to a new location.

Hubbard Picked to Run 10th Time

Dearborn Mayor Wins an Overwhelming Vote in Sweep of Precincts

DEARBORN (AP) — Mayor Orville L. Hubbard, colorful and controversial political chief of this Detroit suburb, won nomination to a 10th two-year term by an overwhelming margin yesterday.

Hubbard got 11,945 votes, nearly twice as much as the combined total of four opponents. And he carried all the city's 109 precincts for the first time in his career.

He will be opposed in a Nov. 3 general election by Roger E. Craig, a 26-year-old attorney and school board member, who finished second in the primary with 3,460 votes. Three other anti-Hubbard candidates got a total of only 2,853.

Seven anti-Hubbard city council candidates won general election berths to oppose seven pro-Hubbard candidates.

Council has been split 4-3 to Hubbard's advantage. The opposition finished 1-2-3 in the primary, with Councilman John Baja Jr., a former Hubbard appointee who became disenchanted with the mayor, leading the field with 9,023 votes.

Cold Air Band Separates East and West

By The Associated Press

A band of cold air covering an area from the Great Lakes down to Texas prevented lower temperatures east of the Rockies from moving eastward early today.

West of this band of cold air the temperatures were in the 30s and 40s while east of it the readings were mostly in the 60s and 70s, the Weather Bureau reported.

A light rain and thunderstorms accompanied the cold air from north-central Texas upward to the Great Lakes. Rain at Dallas, Tex., and Detroit, Mich., measured 2 inches since Monday night.

Rain fell along the Atlantic seaboard from the Carolinas to southern New England. Kempsville, Va. registered nearly 9 inches of precipitation in the last 24 hours. Norfolk, Va., had 6½ inches.

Tornadoes were reported at Belle and Ashland, Mo.

Demands Examination Over 13-Count Warrant

SAGINAW (AP) — A former manager of a Saginaw branch of the secretary of state's office demanded examination yesterday on a 13-count warrant stemming from the handling of auto registrations.

Municipal Judge Hazen R. Armstrong set a hearing for Nov. 12 for Mrs. Anne M. LaBelle, 52, who had been a manager at the branch office in West Saginaw. She was released on $2,000 bond following her arraignment.

The warrant charged Mrs. LaBelle with six counts of forgery, six of uttering and publishing and one of embezzlement.

Steel Strike Peril to State

Poses Real Danger to Budget as Michigan Depends on Auto Sales

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's precariously - balanced budget may be in peril if the steel strike lasts much longer, a survey of state agencies revealed today.

The strike already hit some mining communities harder than the last recession.

Revenue Department officials emphasized it was too early to tell what effect, if any, the strike has had so far on statewide tax collections.

But they said Michigan's hopes for solvency ride with production and sale of the 1960 autos, which in turn depend on steel.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams' office disclosed a report on the impact of the strike on Michigan will be forwarded to President Eisenhower.

"Michigan is reaching the point where it is beginning to feel the effect," one of the governor's aides said. "Upper Peninsula mining towns are in critical condition. Some (UP) areas are worse off than during the recession.

"Collections on tax assessments in one community are off 20 per cent — the people just don't have the money."

Names of the communities were not immediately available.

South Koreans Claim North Has 990 Planes

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—The South Korean Defense Ministry says the North Korean air force boasts 990 planes, including 810 jets.

The size of the South Korean air force has never been officially disclosed, but it is known to have two Sabre Jet wings totaling about 150 fighters.

North Korea's military strength was listed in a booklet marking South Korea's fourth observance of Armed Forces Day Oct. 1.

Dancing Couple in Russia Learns Moo Means More

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The husband-wife dancing team of Gower and Marge Champion returned last night from three weeks of performances in Russia with knowledge of the distinction between "boo" and "moo."

"The night we opened the entire audience of 12,000 persons in Moscow seemed to roar what was a tremendous boo after our performance," she said. "I was almost in tears.

"Then the interpreter explained that those weren't boos —they were moos, or the Russian equivalent of 'more.'"

Nikita Khrushchev Charges:

'Nixon Doesn't Want Cold War to End'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nikita Khrushchev appears to have nominated Vice President Richard M. Nixon as one of the Americans he says do not want to end the cold war.

The Soviet Premier left the broad implication in his Moscow homecoming speech that he regards Nixon as aligned with what he said are U.S. forces working "against easing international tensions."

While he praised President Eisenhower for his "statesmanship, wisdom and courage" and as a man who wants peace, Khrushchev said a speech Nixon made in New York Sept. 14 "was not of a healing nature."

"He added cold to toothache," Khrushchev said.

Nixon told the American Dental Assn. the day before the Premier's arrival in this country that while Americans should be courteous and polite to Khrushchev, they should not hesitate to talk back to him on major controversial issues.

Nixon publicly ignored Khrushchev's comment, and apparently it did not disturb friends who are backing him for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination.

The Nixon camp seemingly is happy to have their man identified as one of those who talked tough to the Premier in Moscow and didn't let down his guard when Khrushchev put on his all-for-peace campaign in touring this country.

Hopes He Can Use It More Often

Khrushchev Picks Up 'Okay'

NEW YORK (AP) — At least one bit of genuine, home-grown Americana rubbed off on Nikita Khrushchev the little word "okay."

It's a breezy, friendly term, born of a people who like to make up their language to suit the occasion.

Nikita liked it.

"I hope we will be able to use more and more in Russia that good short American word 'okay'" he said as he left this country.

When he got home Monday he met cheering crowds in Moscow with a grin, a wave and by calling out "okay."

It's an adjective, a verb, an assent, an approval, a piece of native slang that has become a part of the international dialect.

What its use, it denotes the positive, the agreeable.

In that light, it has over the years caught the world's ear.

Scores of stories have circulated about its origin – that it came from a Choctaw Indian phrase, "Oke Hoke," signifying, "yes, it is," or that Gen. Andrew Jackson started it when he said, after examining the papers of an accused man, Ames Kendall:

★ ★ ★

Most thoroughly authenticated account seems to be that the word began in 1940 as the name of New York's Democratic "O.K. Club," which was supporting Martin Van Buren for the presidency, and took the initials from his home village Old Kinderhook, N.Y.

The letters, "O.K." then became a sort of battlecry of other Democrats.

Schoolmarms once sought gallantly—but in vain—to suppress the word as a crude colloquialism and bad grammar. British langage purists have denounced it as part of the "gibberish of morons" and a sign of "vast illiteracy."

But in America, with its tall talk, its resistance against rigid formalism and its fancy for the bold original, the word became one of the most frequently used in the nation—both on paper, and in speech.

Adm. Rickover Proud of Atomic Sub Triton

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover says he is pleased with the way atomic submarine Triton went through her paces in initial sea trials.

Triton, at 447 feet the biggest of the Navy's nuclear subs, slipped away from her fitting-out dock Sunday and was back Monday afternoon.

Beware: Can Be Habit Forming

Grammar Butcher Misguided in Dealings With Rural Folks

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are both college graduates. Our business dealings are with rural people. My husband thinks he has to talk to them like they talk to him in order to be a "good fellow." It is disgusting to hear a college educated man say "He don't, I ain't got nothing," and "He has did."

ABBY

When we are out socially, my husband forgets and starts talking like a hick. This embarrasses me because I have the feeling that our friends think he doesn't know better.

DORA

DEAR DORA: Those who deal with rural people need not butcher the language to be a "good fellow." If your husband intentionally uses poor grammar he had better stop before it becomes his natural way of speaking. (It is habit-forming.) Most modern farmers are as well-educated as city dwellers. But those farmers who have not had the benefit of education would hardly accuse a man of being "high hat" because he speaks correctly.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Ever since I was in the Third grade I have had eye trouble. Next year I'll be in the Seventh grade and it seems to be getting worse.

We had an eye check-up in school and I got sent home with a letter saying that I should have an eye specialist check my eyes as soon as possible. That was last January. Every time I ask my mother when she is going to take me she says "Don't worry, I will get you there." I don't want to upset her, but I would like to get this over with so I could see everything all the time. Put your answer in the paper, please, but don't sign my name. Thank you, Honey.

"NEEDS AN EYE CHECK UP"

DEAR LITTLE GIRL: Ask your mother once more to please take you to the eye doctor. Tell her that you cannot see well. If she does not take you within one week, talk to your school nurse. If you have no school nurse, tell your favorite teacher. Arrangements can be made through your school health program for an eye examination. Do this at once and let me know the results.

DEAR ABBY: Do you feel a man should keep a picture of his deceased wife in the living room after he has remarried? I think he can remember her just as well with the picture in the drawer. I would appreciate seeing this in the paper because I think I know your answer and I would like a certain party to see it. Thank you. STEADY READER

DEAR READER: With all due respect to the deceased wife, her picture should not be displayed in the living room. Only the most insensitive "second wife" would be able to live with it comfortably. When a man remarries, he owes his second wife that comfort.

New Methods Shown

Food Meet Gourmet's Delight

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor
The Pontiac Press

CHICAGO—In these days of push button living, humans are sometimes more dependable than machines. Last night the elevator carrying the souffles for the rice industry's dinner for the food editors got stuck between floors. Mechanics flew to the rescue and the souffles were none the worse for their delay; made with rice, they maintained their high puffy textures, even when kept waiting.

MRS. ODELL

The 17th annual Food Editors Conference opened Sunday afternoon with a reception and tour of the Chicago Sun-Times building. At the reception was one of the biggest containers of seafood we have ever seen; it was larger across than a regular size card table. In the center giant crab claws provided a bizarre, but appropriate decoration. In addition to lobster, crab and shrimp, there were plates of ham cubes to dip in mustard sauce, and cheese. One of the cheeses had a coating of fermented grape seeds.

At the rice dinner we sat next to the president of the Comet Rice Co. He told us a number of facts about rice we hadn't known before, and gave us his foolproof recipe for cooked rice. Called the "1-2-1" method, it uses one cup of rice, two cups of water and one teaspoon of salt. Cook the rice in a double boiler for perfect fluffiness.

The dinner included clear pheasant soup with rice, Bibb lettuce salad, roast duck, braised endive and herbed carrots and a pink molded rice dessert with flaming pineapple sauce.

Armour and Company entertained us at a country fare breakfast. Our eye opener was a glass of chilled apple cider. Few of us indulged in the fried potatoes, but most of us enjoyed ham, sausage and bacon.

R. H. Borchers, executive vice president, spoke on some of the new meat products. An essence of meat protein has now been developed in powder form. Soon, he said, foods from white bread to lollypops may be fortified with complete meat proteins.

He spoke also of the progress in "freeze drying" foods. This process renders food safe for shelf storage without materially changing its taste.

Later in the morning we heard a panel from the National Broiler Council discuss the past, present and future of the chicken industry. It was brought out that in 1926 broilers cost $1.12 a pound to raise and consumers paid about $1.75 a pound for them. Today, broilers are not only heavier and better looking birds, but they cost only 16 cents a pound to raise, and sell—as we know—for anywhere from 29 to 40 cents a pound in the store.

Chicken processors are working on new ways of preparing chicken for the market. They have boneless chicken fillets, cooked diced chicken put up in packages containing about one cupful each, and chicken rolls of either white or dark meat, or a combination of both, that are ready to eat after slicing.

All 151 food editors went Hawaiian at Dole Pineapple's "Hoolaulea." The fragrance of the frangipani, ginger flower and gardenia leis was apparent as soon as we stepped off the elevator. Our lei was made of baby orchids and had no fragrance.

An electric fountain dispensed pineapple-cranberry-ginger ale punch. Hot hors d'oeuvres consisted of bacon-wrapped pineapple cubes and miniature kebabs of stuffed olives, pineapple and beef tenderloin. There were juicy field ripened pineapple spears, lots of shrimp and a dish of poi that we passed up.

There was an international flavor to the dinner given by the Borden Co. Ltd. of Canada and the Borden company. There was something very satisfying about participating in the formal ceremony of drinking toasts to President Eisenhower and Queen Elizabeth, along with standing for the two national anthems.

Sturgeon caviar from Canada on a dish that held a poached egg in aspic was the appetizer. The entree was roast crown of lamb with red wine-sour cream sauce. For dessert we had baked Alaska with a brand new flavor of ice cream—bana bowl.

In the weeks to come we shall be telling you about the new products Borden is introducing. Thursday we'll give you a report on the next two days' activities.

Talk to Others

Shy Person Must Push Self

In conversation, don't wait until you have something profound or witty or intelligent to say, just say something right away. You needn't chatter like a magpie, but DO talk if it kills you!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Extreme shyness spoils a lot of fun for a lot of people! It damages happiness because the shy one is not able to enter into companionship and conversation in a free, easy way. There is always an element of discomfort. The greatest danger from shyness is that it may lead to loneliness.

No matter how many wonderful qualities you have, if you are shy you may withdraw from social life or fail to let your light shine when you are with others. Many folks who are well-informed and capable of being interesting conversationalists, many who have a delightful sense of humor, many who are warm and lovable, are simply paralyzed by their timidity. Other people may mistake this for conceit, indifference or dullness.

Shyness comes from being constantly conscious of one's self, of concentrating on the impression we are making on others. I believe that it would be impossible to be shy without being self-conscious. So, of course one of the tricks is to get a different viewpoint. If we consciously concentrate on others', what they look like, what their interests and mannerisms, conversation and dress are like, we forget about ourselves.

The only way to learn any skill, adeptness in human relations included, is through practice. It is necessary to practice looking out rather than in. The shy person is apt to make excuses in order to avoid new contacts and social occasions where she is not well known. This is the worst thing she could do, for how can she practice becoming accustomed to new people and new situations if she does not take advantage of such opportunities? In some instances she will have to provide her own chance by making the first gesture toward friendliness.

Another trick is to talk to the person or people you are with. It doesn't matter much what you say. Don't wait until you have something profound or witty or intelligent to say, just say something right away. I do not mean to suggest that you should grab the ball of conversation and chatter like a magpie (there is not much danger of that) but DO talk if it kills you!

Mingling with others whenever possible and talking to them is very painful for the shy person, but it is absolutely essential if he or she is to overcome shyness. And I think it is important that you do so since I believe that this handicap can hit you where you live!

Don't forget that almost everyone is timid at times and that most of the poised, charming persons you meet have had to overcome this characteristic.

If you would like to have my leaflet "How to Overcome Loneliness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 59 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Brows Get Unruly in Late Forties

When a woman is in her late forties or early fifties, her eyebrows can become unruly. This may sound funny but it's not to the woman who owns them. They may also turn distressingly gray.

There are several ways of gaining back your own beautiful brows. First, pluck them with care and get out those offending, stiff hairs. Next, brush them nightly with a cream, training them back into place.

As for the color problem, most good salons do a dye job now on brows. But remember, this is for a salon, not you.

Only Callers Were Rude, Not Hostess

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am told that I was exteremly rude under this circumstance and would like your opinion on the matter. Two friends came to see me, bringing a stranger with them. They caught me in the midst of a torn up house, preparatory to having painters come next morning.

"When I opened the door I said I was terribly sorry I couldn't be at home to them, and explained why and asked them if it would inconvenience them to make it another day. They said not at all and left. Since then they have dragged my behaviour that day into every conversation they have had when I am not present.

"What could I have done except be frank? There was hardly a piece of furniture uncovered to be sat on. I would very much appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: There was nothing wrong in what you did. In fact, it is the criticism of your action by your unexpected visitors that constitutes the only rudeness in the whole situation.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am about to have my wedding invitations engraved and there is a difference of opinion as to the correct wording of them. I say they should read "request the honour of your presence" and my fiance thinks they should read, "request the pleasure of your company." Will you please tell us the correct form, or are both equally correct?"

Answer: To be correct the invitations to your wedding must read "the honour of your presence" and not "the pleasure of your company," which is the wording used for balls, dinners, receptions, etc.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it considered better manners for a man to carry a corsage to the house with him when he calls to take a girl to a dance, or to have it sent earlier from the florist?"

Answer: It is best to send it earlier so that she may decide unhurriedly the most becoming way of wearing it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My employer and his wife recently returned from an extended vacation and he brought me a beautiful hand-monogramed handkerchief as a souvenir. I thanked my employer at the office, but I would like to know if I should also write a thank-you note to his wife?"

Answer: If he mentioned that the handkerchief was from him and his wife, you should write to her.

Recipe for Mincemeat With Green Tomatoes

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It always happens this way. We publish a recipe and the next day a reader calls in with a similar one, just enough different to make it worthwhile printing. So here's a second recipe for Green Tomato Mincemeat.

Mrs. Howard Dow who has five children, including two sets of twins, always has lots of tomatoes in her garden. She never fails to make her favorite mincemeat from them. In addition to gardening, Mrs. Dow is interested in sewing for her daughters. She is active in PTA and church work.

MRS. DANIEL J. PRUENTE

Dana Gail Crane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Crane, married Daniel Joseph Pruente Saturday morning at St. Michael Catholic Church. The Rev. Francis O'Donnel officiated.

Crane-Pruente Nuptials at St. Michael Church

White gladioli and baby chrysanthemums banked the main altar of St. Michael Catholic Church for the Saturday morning wedding of Dana Gail Crane and Daniel Joseph Pruente. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Crane of North East Boulevard and Mr. and Mrs. Francis Pruente of Gingell court.

The bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and slipper satin, featuring a scalloped Sabrina neckline and a fitted bodice embroidered with rhinestones and sequins. The floor length bouffant Chantilly lace skirt formed a cathedral length train of satin extending from the waist.

Rhinestones and sequins accented the hemline of the skirt and train and also her queen's crown which held a fingertip veil of illusion with lace appliques.

Kay Swenson, maid of honor, wore a gown of Kelly green nylon organza with a scooped neckline and capped sleeves. It was detailed in a leaf design and roses accented the bodice and skirt. She wore a crown of leaves and veil to match her accessories and carried a bouquet of green carnations with centers of white roses surrounded with stephanotis.

A wedding breakfast was held at Rotunda Inn for the immediate family and members of the wedding party. A reception for some 300 guests was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall in the evening.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Crane wore a sheath dress of dusty rose lace over taffeta with a matching hat and black accessories. Her corsage was of white orchids.

Mrs. Pruente wore a blue crepe dress with black and white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

There were out-of-town guests from Poplar Bluff, Mo., Marion, Ind., New Orleans, La., Brownsburg, Ind., Otisville, Detroit, Grosse Ile and Holly.

Men Now Have Glorified Idea of Companions

CHICAGO—Men have read so much about women, they have developed a new set of standards for the distaff side, says an advertising exectuive.

Mrs. Janet Wolff, vice president of an agency said the constant psychological analysis of women in newspapers, magazines and books" has given the male a glorified idea of what his feminine companion should be.

The single woman is expected to be nice looking, intelligent, able in sports and interested in her hobbies. The married woman should be nice looking and intelligent, a good wife and mother, help her husband get ahead, rear neat and nice children, keep a sparkling house, and work for the community.

The working wife is expected to manage all this and hold down her job, too.

It's up to advertisers, Mrs. Wolff said in a speech at a recent meeting of advertising men, to offer the means for living up to these standards and "show her how to relax them a little, to take short cuts."

Woman Lawyer Speaks Up:

Suggests Teaching Parents to Curb Kids

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—A woman lawyer and former prosecutor has suggested one metheod of curbing the nation's soaring juvenile crime rate— a required course for parents in parenthood.

"Juvenile delinquency begins at home. It's been said before, but it's still true," said Mrs. Lillian Malley Vernon, a 49-year-old grandmother who is co-chairman of the women's division of the Police Athletic League, Inc.

Mrs. Vernon suggested in an interview Monday that "what we need are courses in how to be parents. It is from the parent that the child must learn respect for others, respect for the law and authority, respect for other people's property."

"I think we're too inclined to spare the rod," she said. "When I was a child, I always was told that if I were punished at school, I would get the same punishment when I got home.

"Today, the parent attacks the teacher if the child is punished.

"It seems to me that parents hate to admit they're doing a poor job on their children. They blame everybody but themselves. They expect the teachers to do their job—or expect agencies like ours to take over.

"PAL tries to help, so do teachers so do numerous other agencies interested in child welfare. But there is no substitute for the parent.

"I know that in many cases, a mother has to work to help support the family. But I think whenever possible the woman should be at home with her children—the mother away all day is a factor in delinquency. I believe in being a career woman only if you've nothing else to do."

Mrs. Vernon's volunteer job with PAL is largely one of fund-raising for the organization, which runs a youth recreation and education program. It is underwritten by contributions from individuals, business and industry.

PAL, founded in New York in 1930 and since copied in metropolitan areas internationally, tries to reach the children during what it terms the danger period — the leisure hours after school until bedtime. Some 50 centers in New York alone, open from three to 10 p.m., have 150,000 children in the seven to 21 age group as members.

"A nation is shocked at some of the crimes recently committed by young people," said Mrs. Vernon. "But none of them has ever involved a PAL."

Some authorities, shocked by this city's rash of gang slayings, have suggested the city copy some other metropolitan areas which enforce a 10 p.m. curfew. "I'm all for it," said Mrs. Vernon. "But make it a parental curfew—one the parents enforce. Our nation has enough laws already to curb crime, if we can just enforce them."

Mrs. Vernon, a native of Hartford, Conn., is a graduate of the law school at Boston University and has been admitted to practice in Massachusetts, Connecticut and New York. For nearly two decades she was a partner in the Hartford firm of Shipman and Goodwin.

Active in Republican politics, she was Hartford's first woman alderman and its first woman prosecutor. Six years ago, she married Weston Vernon, Jr., a New York attorney whom she met "on opposite sides of a case." She has three stepsons and three grandchildren.

Talks Flowers at Figure Club

Mrs. Wallace Rauch who is leaving to reside in California was honored at the gathering.

New Art Paint

A new artists' paint using a plastic base instead of oil for permanent, non-fading color, is now on the market, packaged in collapsible metal tubes. Said to elimihate the yellowing effect of linseed oil bases, the new paint provides the same texture as oil, can be thinned to give water color effects as well. The collapsible metal tube was invented by an artist to eliminate the need for mixing colors while working on a picture.

AUDRY JOAN FORD

Mr. and Mrs. Rubel Harrison of Detroit announce the engagement of their daughter, Audry Joan Ford, to Ernest Hensley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Speed Hensley of Molus, Ky. Miss Ford, a niece of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Brewer of South Anderson street, has been employed and attended church in Pontiac.

MRS. ALAN G. PAKE

Marilyn M. McLain, daughter of the Donald P. McLains of Redwood drive, married Alan G. Pake, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Pake of Royal Oak, Saturday evening at First Baptist Church.

Marilyn McLain Weds Alan Pake Before 250

The altar of the First Baptist Church was banked with white gladioli, pompons and palms for the Saturday evening wedding of Marilyn Marie McLain and Alan G. Pake. The Rev. William E. Hakes officiated at the double-ring candlelight ceremony before 250 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. McLain of Redwood drive are the bride's parents. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred L. Pake of Royal Oak.

The bouffant skirt of the bride's floor length gown featured tiers of ruffled French lace and a chapel train. Iridescent sequins were embroidered on the Sabrina neckline. Her headpiece of imported pearlized flowers formed a wreath which she wore with a fingertip cloud veil of pure silk French illusion. Her flowers were white chrysanthemums and stephanotis centered by an orchid.

Joanne McLain, the bride's sister, attended as maid of honor wearing a gown of ballerina length champagne silk with a boat neckline, cap sleeves and matching headpiece. She carried a basket arrangement of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and gold wheat.

★ ★ ★

Bridesmaids Karen McLain of Marshall, cousin of the bride; Mrs. James Foster of Royal Oak, sister of the bridegroom; Mrs. Richard Naeves and Mrs. Richard Dorris, wore shrimp colored gowns fashioned identically to that of the honor maid. They carried basket arrangements of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and gold wheat.

★ ★ ★

Robert Snow served as best man. Ushers were Robert Ellis, Gilbert Rist, and Keith Foster, all of Royal Oak, and Joe Chamberlin of Grand Rapids.

★ ★ ★

Guests were received in the church parlors following the wedding, and later a buffet was served at the home of the bride's parents.

The bride changed to a sheer blue wool sheath with matching accessories and the orchid from her bouquet for traveling. The couple left for a honeymoon in the Bahamas and will reside in Ferndale upon their return.

The new Mrs. Pake is a graduate of Highland Park Junior College. Mr. Pake was graduated from the University of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. McLain chose a green silk chiffon sheath with white accessories and wore a corsage of white chrysanthemums for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Pake was dressed in beige lace over taffeta and wore a corsage of bronze and yellow chrysanthemums.

No wonder men travelers like drip-dry wardrobes. In Paris, for instance, the tab for quick-laundering shirts is 90c apiece.

Local Girl Wed to Owosso Man

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reichert of Clarence street announce the Sept. 26 marriage of their daughter, Miriam Kaye, to Arnold J. Wisenbaugh of Owosso, son of Mrs. John Wisenbaugh and the late Mr. Wisenbaugh.

★ ★ ★

The couple exchanged vows in a double-ring ceremony at Trinity Methodist Church in Owosso with the Rev. Royal C. Satterlee, paster, officiating. Mrs. Arlo McCully of Union Lake was soloist.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. Guests were present from Flint, Clarkston, Union Lake, Pontiac and Owosso.

Second Teeth at 6

Many parents do not realize that children get their first permanent teeth at age six, sometimes even before that. These permanent molars do not displace first teeth, but come in behind them. Not realizing this, many think they are first teeth, will be replaced, and do not require as much care as second teeth. Daily brushing with a good tube of toothpaste is recommended to prevent decay and loss of these first permanent molars.

Watch Hair Style

Women with large noses must watch what they do with their coiffures. Hair pulled severely back from the face tends to emphasize the nose. This is especially true with a pony tail, which young women seem to like.

Brigance

The beautifully complete look of a coat dress is undeniable. And it's an ideal look for fall. Brigance shapes this one to perfection. It is lined throughout to hold its shape and has top stitching detail with loose edges. Note the important shorter sleeve, the collar that curves away from the neck.

For day, choose lightweight tweeds or interesting wool; for dresswear, try ottoman, faille, suiting silks; for resort and summer, it is extremely smart in pique, linen, shantung, novelty cottons.

Children Do Need Loving Grandparents

By RUTH MILLETT

Not long ago I wrote a column giving a few hints on how to be a successful grandparent.

Now grandparents from all over the country are writing me sizzling letters. It seems I stirred up a hornet's nest by that innocent little column.

"Who wants to be a successful grandparent?" ask my readers. And then they go on to tell me why they aren't interested in the role.

They feel that if they make an effort to be "good grandparents" they'll just be used by selfish young parents who want to push their kids off on them.

"Why should I spend my life being an unpaid baby sitter, who is taken for granted and imposed upon, when I can spend my time doing the things I never had time to do when I was rearing my own family?" asks one grandmother.

"There are too many grandmothers today bringing up a second family so 'Mama' can hold down a job to pay for luxuries the grandmother never had and never will have," writes another.

"Once our children are grown and married, our duty is to ourselves, not to our children's children," says one grandmother who has gone back to school and intends to spend her leisure years in becoming a better educated person. "That way maybe my children and grandchildren will respect me," she says.

And she adds, "I don't see the old folks who are spending their lives being helpful grandparents getting much love and respect, either from their children or their grandchildren."

That's the way a lot of today's grandparents feel about being grandparents. They've got a perfect right to do as they please. But I can't help feeling sorry for the kids whose grandparents don't want or intend to devote much time to being grandparents. For a grandparent can be such a special person to a child.

Shelby Township Fire Chief Is Suspended

TRY A BITE — Two girls who spanned continents to attend new colleges in the Rochester area were guests at a picnic last night sponsored by Rochester merchants and service clubs to welcome the new students. Taking a bite of a tasty beef barbecue offered by Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce President Paul Williams is Monika Steiniger of Port Elizabeth, Africa, a student at North Central Christian College. About to munch a potato chip is "Miss Alaska" Diane Lee, a freshman at Michigan State University Oakland.

AT COLLEGE TOGETHER — A graduate of Pontiac High School, Class of '98, and one from Pontiac Central High School, Class of '59, meet at the North Central Christian College-Michigan State University Oakland picnic in Rochester last night. They are Dr. Howard Schug, professor of foreign languages at NCCC, and Susan Webster, who is a freshman at the new liberal arts junior college. The picnic was held at Avon Township Park and drew about 500 students from the two new institutions.

Steps Taken to Enforce Removal Following Probe

SHELBY TOWNSHIP—Fire Chief Clyde Schmidt was notified yesterday of his suspension from office effective Thursday. He also was informed by Township Supervisor Steve Skula that action now is being instituted to force his removal.

Schmidt was given five days to answer charges which will be made public at his Civil Service hearing. If no answer is received, Skula said Schmidt will automatically be removed from office.

The chief was informed of his suspension verbally yesterday and was to be notified by mail today, Skula stated.

The ousted action stems from an investigation of the fire department conducted by township officials earlier this month.

As a result of the investigation Schmidt was called on the carpet last Wednesday to discuss some of the activities of his department.

Among the charges made were that the chief was "not cooperating and was saying things in public places that were detrimental to the township board and the volunteer fire department."

★ ★ ★

Other charges made were that a number of members of the regular fire department were chosen with no apparent regard for the ratings they received on examinations they took for the job, that the fire department budget was "overspent" during the first quarter this year and that Schmidt himself had no previous fire department experience.

ERUPTED EARLIER

The whole issue started to erupt earlier this year when five full-time firemen were laid off and the salaries of four others were reduced.

These moves caused dissention within the ranks of the department, and the Township Board feels that the firemen have not been cooperating ever since, Skula said.

The firemen affected by the layoffs and pay cuts protested the action and were upheld by a Civil Service Commission ruling, but Township Attorney William Wendt ruled that if the moves were made for economy reasons, the township board was perfectly within its rights to act.

Townships Discuss Road Limitations

Members of the Washington and Shelby Township Boards met with a Macomb County Road Commission official in Mount Clemens last night to discuss establishing identical setback limitations on mile roads in the two townships.

Road Commission Secretary John McKie asked both Boards to consider resolutions creating 120-foot setbacks as amendments to their zoning ordinances.

The limitation was suggested to bring uniformity of building to the two-township area, McKie said.

The 120-foot setback is the same as required by subdivisions now but would be "more than we require on some roads at the present time," Washington Township Supervisor R. Eugene Inwood said today.

Orion Centennial Film to Be Seen

The street dance on the Fourth and the presentation of prizes for beards and costumes also will be shown.

The final events of the three-day celebration, the Venetian Parade on the lake and the concluding outdoor church service, will be included in the showing.

Village to Invest Sum of $185,000

Rochester Council OKs Use of Water Bond and General Funds

ROCHESTER—The fact that village government constitutes big business was demonstrated last night when the Rochester Village Council authorized the investment of a total of $185,000 from three separate funds.

Village Manager Paul York was given the authority to invest $125,000 of water bond money for 30 days and $50,000 from the general fund for six months.

In addition, the council approved the transfer of $10,000 from the general fund surplus to the capital improvements fund for investment in savings certificates.

These three moves were made to "realize a little return in savings" from money not needed to meet current expenses, said Village President Clarence Burr.

In other action, the village governing body adopted the ordinance reducing parking meter fines from one dollar to 50 cents beginning Nov. 1. A final stipulation was added—that the deadline for payment of the reduced fine set for 8 a.m. on the following calendar day apply also to Sundays and holidays.

The fine will revert back to one dollar if paid late, the new amendment to the traffic ordinance provides.

The bride selected a gown of embroidered tulle over taffeta with a swept back ruffle forming a chapel train and an embroidered bateau neckline. Her fingertip veil was held by a tiara of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white roses on a white Bible.

Mrs. Donald Bryant of Livonia was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were another of the bride's sisters, Dorothy Carpenter of Pontiac, Eleanor Gingell of Gingellville, Sharon Olson, and Patricia Brown. Wendy Sue Carpenter was flower girl.

John Parker of Detroit was best man. Ushers were Ano Olson Jr. of Pontiac, Robert and George Olson of Lake Orion, all brothers of the bridegroom, Donald Bryant of Livonia, Larry Drum and David Willson of Lake Orion.

A reception was held in the Methodist Church House after the ceremony.

Features Extensive Restyling

1960 Imperial on Display Friday

The new Imperial represents the most extensive styling change in the model since it became a completely separate line in 1957, Chrysler and Imperial General Manager C. E. Briggs said today.

The new models were announced today, and will go on display Friday. They will be the first of the 1960 Chrysler Corp. passenger cars other than the economy Valiant to be shown.

"We have modified everything — doors, roof, quarter panels, hood, deck lid, fenders, front, rear and interior — and yet we were careful to retain the Imperial look which has become a classic in the industry," Briggs said.

★ ★ ★

Briggs announced that special attention had been given to the interiors of the new models, particularly to design features which contribute to passenger comfort. He said marked advancement in the area of comfort and convenience included:

Foam rubber padding up to six-inch thickness in both front and rear seat backs.

LOOKS BACK TO 30s

The 1960 Imperial's new silhouette features a wedge-shaped profile, and an elongated hood line reminiscent of classic Imperial automobiles of the thirties. Tailfins are adorned with Imperial's familiar gunsight tail light. Between the chrome encircled lights is another familiar Imperial hallmark — flight sweep deckld.

Sculptured paneling sweeps almost full car length, complemented by forward sweeping canopy roof molding, extending from backfight to windshield. This is a new version of the Imperial canopy roof accented by chrome-finished moldings.

The 1960 Imperial LeBaron has been made more distinctive in appearance, Briggs said. Key feature is a small rear window creating a distinctive town car look in both sedan and hardtop models. With the new rear window treatment the LeBaron rear compartment offers passengers much greater privacy.

★ ★ ★

Fingertip actuated power vent windows are offered in the 1960 Imperial for the first time. They are standard equipment on the Imperial LeBaron. The windows are geared to powerful, small, electric motors in the doors, and close tightly to eliminate need for any manual locking devices.

Hollywood Headlines:

Caron to Play Hipster; 'No Beat Degeneration'

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Leslie Caron will jolt moviegoers who think of her as "Gigi" and "Lili" when they see the piquant little French actress slopping around as a beatnik.

The impish madamoiselle has bleached her hair blonde, draped herself in drab outfits and invaded coffee houses to research her newest role. No beatnik herself, Leslie traveled to San Francisco, home of the original "kooks" where she wasn't recognized.

She came away impressed.

"They are a remarkable group of people," she said in her strong French accent. "They're the best read people I've met in America.

"Those I came to know were very passive, friendly human beings. They aren't just loafers. They are creative and serious. I could compare them with the French existentialists.

"Beatniks aren't dangerous. It's just the fakes who are giving them a bad name. Actually, beatniks are searching for something worthwhile in life."

Leslie, lifting a provocative eyebrow, says she is a non-conformist herself. She said she understands beatniks.

"They treated me courtesouly when I visited their meetings. I attended one poetry reading — a benefit for one of the beatniks who was in prison. They have great camaraderie," Leslie continued.

"Most of them are poor, but they share whatever they have. I like the poetry very much. They have a wonderful ability to create words and moods."

According to the petite performer, the beatniks have counterparts throughout the world. In MGM's "The Subterraneans," Leslie portrays a misfit who joins other flotsam of society to find herself.

"Everyone goes through some period of his life searching for meaningful signposts. I did the same thing," she said.

"I would go to pieces if I were just an actress, or just a housewife. It is being both that makes me a happy, normal person. The beatniks will find their way, too, but until they do, they group together to pool their talents.

UAW Net Worth Down 3 Million

Membership Is Up but Paying Strike Benefits Depletes Finances

DETROIT (AP)—Distribution of almost 10 million dollars in strike benefits caused the net worth of the United Auto Workers to drop 3½ million dollars in the six month ending June 30, the Union reported yesterday.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, said the drop occurred despite a slight increase in membership.

In a financial statement in the UAW's monthly newspaper, Mazey said the Union paid out $9,700,000 in strike benefits the first six months of 1959.

His statement said the net worth on June 30 was $24,975,231 compared with $28,508,537 on the last day of 1958.

The strike fund money was given to strikers at 145 plants covered by 137 local unions, Mazey said. On June 30 the strike fund balance was $14,500,000, $4,200,000 less than on Dec. 31, 1958.

Mazey said the average number of dues-paying UAW members went up from 1,026,050 in 1958 to 1,143,707 on June 30.

David Niven and Wife Are Together Again

A newsman asked the actor Monday if that meant they were reconciled.

"We purposely avoided the use of the word 'reconciliation,'" said Niven, "because we are not reconciled to the fact that we are together again. We are utterly delighted."

The Nivens separated last July. They plan a two-week vacation in Brazil next month.

Sex Rush Stirs Strong Reaction

Movie Goers Ask: Where Were Censors?

(Second of four articles on morality in movies.)

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Where were the censors when that picture got passed?"

You hear that question more and more from amazed movie goers, accustomed to decades of almost simon-pure screen entertainment.

The watchdogs of movie morality are still on the job. But films are undergoing a moral revolution due to these factors:

1. Loss of the movie habit. Millions of Americans used to go to the movies regularly with scant regard to what was showing. TV ended that. Movie goers are shoppers now. They are attracted by what is talked about. So producers are trying to provide what is new and often sensational.

2. Source of film material. Most film stories now come from books and plays. You need only to consult recent best sellers—"Lolita," "By Love Possessed," "Lady Chatterly's Lover," "Peyton Place"—to note the erotic nature of popular literature. Broadway's top playwright, Tennessee Williams, has led the stage into new byways of sexual motivations.

3. Product shortage. Because the major studios are not making enough movies, theaters must rely also on foreign and cheap American products. An unclad Brigitte Bardot showed foreign producers the surest way to the U.S. dollar. Overseas films need not meet production code requirements. The same is true of quickbuck Hollywood producers.

★ ★ ★

Churchmen have been alarmed at this revolution in film morality. Roman Catholics have long been a potent force in affecting moral content in movies.

But what alarms Hollywood most is that Protestants, too, are up in arms.

Recently George Heimrich, West Coast director of a film and broadcasting commission of the National Council of Churches, issued a blast against movies that exploited "sex for sex's sake and violence for violence's sake." He hinted at strong action by Protestants.

Lutheran H.K. Rasbach was a member of the Hollywood Ministerial Assn. that voted unanimously to support Heimrich. The Rev. Mr. Rasbach's view: "I don't think we should get back to the puritanical approach to movies of the '30s. That took all the realism out of films. But I do think our producers should be more careful about morality in view of our perilous position today.

"We are not a pressure group. The Protestant Church does not have the power to boycott. But a spontaneous boycott could be triggered by the excesses of a few irresponsible producers."

Life in the City Just Too Much for Little Richard

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Little Richard, the country hounddog celebrated for his coon chasing, couldn't make a go of it in the city.

Richard's owner, Larry Wilson, said the dog was found dead Sunday, victim of an auto.

For six days last spring rescue workers chipped away at a rocky crevice north of here where Little Richard had entombed himself while chasing a coon and the dog was a national celebrity.

TOO MUCH SEX? — Hollywood could hardly say "no" to that question when related to such scenes as this one of Jayne Mansfield singing the title song from a new movie, "Too Hot to Handle." Churchmen feel the film industry should be more careful about its screened morality. Producers have not turned a deaf ear on these warnings, but are showing increasing alarm.

Terminal Funds Will Be Topic

City Commission to Be Asked Tonight to Finish Financing, OK Pacts

City commissioners tonight will be asked to finish financing and approve construction contracts for the proposed terminal and tower at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

The new price tag is $435,000, or $45,000 more than originally budgeted.

As announced by City Manager Walter K. Willman last week, the city, state and federal governments all will have to increase their participation in the federal aid project in order to make up the price difference.

The city's share now will be $131,785, the state's $122,332 and the federal government's $176,830.

The city share has been raised by an additional $24,832 in capital improvement funds; the state's by an advance of $23,615 from next year's airport appropriation, and the federal government's by $8,000 — a partial restoration of $12,000 in contingency funds which were stripped from the project two months ago.

★ ★ ★

Commissioners will be asked tonight to approve the agreement through which the federal funds will be forthcoming. It must be signed by midnight Wednesday.

Contracts to be signed are with Paul H. Johnson Co. of Detroit, the general contractors; H & W Plumbing & Heating Co. of Waterford Township, the mechanical contractors, and Fred W. Moote Electrical, Inc. of Pontiac, electrical contractors.

The low bids submitted by these contractors early this month were higher than anticipated, forcing Willman to acquire city, state and federal help in amassing more construction funds.

In other business, commissioners will be asked a third time to consider delegating their power over installation of new parking meters to the city manager.

Proposed by City Attorney William A. Ewart as a "convenience" to the administration, the move has been tabled tiwce in the past month for study.

Hare Deep in Dem Fight

Asks All Fee Branches Go Under Civil Service

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James M. Hare waded deeper into a Democratic family fight over partonage today with a ringing call for removal of all his fee branch offices from the political arena.

"The real question is whether we should go on playing musical chairs with a continuing and needed governmental services", he said. And by "we" Hare made plain he meant Republicans, too.

The secretary yesterday stepped into a bitter feud among 14th district Democratic factions by jerking from the battleground the prize one side fought to keep and the other to gain.

He announced that effective Oct. 15 the patronage-run, east side fee office in Detroit would be closed. A civil service operation would be installed at a nearby location to take over its business, he said.

His action will oust John A. Mellon, a manager whose performance he described as "very satisfactory," and abolish the third or fourth most profitable, politically run branch office in the state.

Among other things, it will cut off a flow of campaign money into state party coffers that—by Mellon's account—averaged better than $2,000 a year during his five-year stewardship. The funds were donated, Mellon said.

HAD EXPENSES

Mellon reportedly grossed about $28,000 in fees last year. Out of this he had to pay salaries of two or thre eemployes and foot expenses for heat, light, rent and equipment.

Hare regretted ventilating Democratic dirty linen in this way but said "I am sure that public scrutiny of this deteriorated situation cannot help but be wholesome in the long run."

★ ★ ★

He indicated it might hasten a successful end to his four-year advocacy of staffing his 250 remaining branch offices still under the patronage system with state employes picked by civil service.

Reduced Sheriff Force Fights Burglary Wave

MUSKEGON (UPI) — Sheriff Arthur W. Davis today planned to ask for help from the Muskegon County Board of Supervisors sheriff's committee in the wake of an outbreak of burglaries.

Davis said he wants to rehire eight deputies who were laid off a week ago because of the county's "cash crisis." The sheriff said 17 reported larcenies and breakings and enterings during the weekend was the largest weekend total since he took office nearly three years ago.

Avon Twp. Woman Injured in Crash

An Avon Township housewife was injured last night when the car in which she was riding collided with another at Auburn and Grey roads, Pontiac Township.

Opal Whitman, 49, of 3179 Martell Ave., was treated for hand and knee injuries at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Her husband, Alonzo, 52, who was driving, and John A. Baggett, 19, of 3648 Mildred St., the other driver, were uninjured, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Ex-WPB Chief, Film Man Dies

Donald M. Nelson, 70, Rose From a Newsboy to High Sears Post

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Donald M. Nelson, former War Production Board chief and head of a motion picture producers' association, died today at the age of 70.

★ ★ ★

Nelson, who rose from a newsboy in Hannibal, Mo., to a top executive of Sears, Roebuck and Co., had suffered a stroke Aug. 23 at a party honoring him and his wife, Lena, whom he had married only last Feb. 12.

The dynamic leader collapsed at the party given by Greta Peck, former wife of film star Gregory Peck, and Mrs Nelson, the widow of actor-producer Rheinhold Schunzel, his fourth wife.

The late President Franklin D. Roosevelt appointed Nelson as head of the War Production Board during World War II, a post which he held for three years. When he resigned in 1944, Nelson was appointed as personal presidential representative to foreign governments.

★ ★ ★

After the war, he became president of the Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers and later was chairman of the board of the Electro-Chemical Research Co. of New York.

Born in Hannibal on Nov. 17, 1888, Nelson began his business career with a modest job in the clothing department of Sears, Roebuck and Co.

Charles E. Terrell, 21, of 590 S. East Blvd., pleaded guilty yesterday to snatching a purse from a theater clerk last Friday. He was charged with simple larceny. Mrs. Alma C. Hahn, 48 Auburn Ave., told Pontiac police three men grabbed her purse early Friday morning.

Terrell and two others, Arthur P. Brown, 22, 95 Clovese St., and Mansfield A. Gamble, 24, of 221 Rockwell Ave., were arrested for investigation of unarmed robbery shortly after the theft.

The other two men were released today.

OK Confessions in Trial Record

Lawyers for 2 Accused on Gambling Charges Are Overruled

Under strong protests from defense attorneys, confessions of two alleged Pontiac bookmakers were read into the record today by Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor, called as the prosecution's third witness in the gambling conspiracy trial.

In the handwritten statements taken by Taylor Aug. 29, 1958, accused gamblers James "Chinaboy" Pruzor of 89 Moreland Ave. and Charles D. "Whitey" Apley of 29 Salmer Ave. admitted working together in taking bets.

The two statements, taken after a gambling raid by State Police Rackets Squad detectives that night, said they sometimes averaged as high a take as $300 a day.

Pruzor and Apley are the only two defendants remaining of an alleged gambling conspiracy ring of five persons. Conspiracy charges against the other three have been ruled void by Circuit Judge William J. Beer because of an illegal search and seizure.

"By the introduction of these two statements the people will try and show the guilt of Apley and Pruzor and that they both took part in this scheme," said Assistant Prosecutor James Nichols.

After the statements were admitted and read by Taylor the second day of the trial resumed with the calling of State Police Det. Stephen Galat, one of 20 officers who conducted the raids.

Now the argument can be resumed. Oklahoma gets its first taste of Big Ten competition and Northwestern give the Sooners a little more than they could handle.

For a long time, Big 10 fans have scoffed at Oklahoma's power in the "league of the seven dwarfs."

Oklahoma has had many fine seasons but to consistently put the Sooners on top of the heap of the ratings has been senseless.

DON'T COUNT ON "M"-MSU TV

All the acts of Congress in Lansing aren't going to force a telecast of the Michigan-Michigan State game.

The decision rests with the NCAA and there won't be any sympathy from that organization in this case either.

Fritz Crisler, Michigan's athletic director, is a strict adherent to the NCAA rules and he is not going to put himself on the spot by trying to get the game on TV.

We may not agree with the NCAA's TV policy, but under the present rules, a telecast of the "M"-MSU game is most unlikely. The Penn-Cornell fans, Washington-Washington State, Oklahoma-Oklahoma State and other rival fans feel their game should be telecast also.

The solution to the problem lies with the NCAA TV committee itself. The difficult thing to understand when the schedule is planned for the season, is why Crisler or other prominent NCAA rules makers don't support the game as one of Big Ten or regional allotted games.

Lansing legislators may be sincere in their aims to give the people of the state a telecast of the game but it's ridiculous for them to make an issue of it a week before the contest.

When the TV committee meets in late December, that is when the pitch should be made. Right now everybody is blaming everybody and its all for naught.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

The "big steal" of the young football season took place at Hazel Park last Friday night. Several hundred pairs of eyes sitting in an area along the sidelines saw a Hazel Park pass receiver catch a ball on the first bounce and have it ruled complete for a 45-yard play.

Hazel Park scored a couple plays later and Pontiac Northern was a 14-12 loser.

One fan called to say "the bounce was at least three feet." Well, that's the way the ball bounces.

Braves Would Like to Forget

Remember Name—Sherry

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Larry Sherry is a name you will hear often in days to come.

The 24-year-old Los Angeles rookie pitcher performed like a veteran in yesterday's opening 3-2 victory over Milwaukee in the best-of-three playoff for the National League pennant.

The Dodgers are confident the Chicago White Sox will learn to respect him later in the week in the World Series.

Sherry is a handsome young man with closely cropped black hair and piercing eyes. A virtual unknown when he was recalled from the St. Paul farm in July, he accepted his new-found fame in stride.

★ ★ ★

In recent weeks Sherry has learned how to deal with reporters asking about his ability to stop the enemy during the Dodgers stretch drive.

Never did he face such a swarm of newsmen as he did after his winning relief performance in the playoff game.

"Did you feel much pressure in the big game?" somebody asked.

★ ★ ★

"I suppose it was big," he said, "but I didn't feel any heat. I was too busy concentrating on the hitters."

★ ★ ★

Sherry credits much of his success to a new pitch—the slider. He learned it in Venezuela during the winter, where his older brother, Norm, was his manager and catcher in late season. Norm, incidentally, also is with the Dodgers now after a season at Spokane.

"The most important thing I learned this year was to take command of all my pitches," he said. "Adding the slider gave me more confidence."

Sherry sauntered around the mound like a man in charge after relieving Danny McDevitt. He out-stared Bobby Avila before he slipped a third strike past him with two men on in the fourth.

While pitching to Lee Maye in the fifth, he turned his back on the plate.

"Why did you turn your back?" he was asked.

"I wanted to be sure my outfielders were playing right," he said. "I knew Maye from the minors and I was going to pitch him outside. I wanted the outfield shaded to left."

"This kid has got moxie," said Dodger Manager Walt Alston. "He doesn't scare easy."

Sherry is particularly anxious to get into the World Series against the White Sox. At Fairfax High in Los Angeles, he was the second baseman on the team and Barry Latman of the Sox was the pitcher. They also played Legion ball together.

Larry overcame a handicap to become an athlete. As an infant his legs were in a cast for a year. He wore orthopedic shoes through high school and still uses a plastic insert.

Drysdale Faces Lew Burdette at Los Angeles

Homer by Roseboro, Strong Relief Work Pace 3-2 Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The quietly confident Dodgers, with one playoff victory already in the bag, returned to Los Angeles today. They need only one more triumph over defending champion Milwaukee for their first National League pennant since 1956.

A 3-2 victor in Milwaukee yesterday, Dodger manager Walter Alston appeared to be in the driver's seat. He had his ace, Don Drysdale, set to pitch the second game of the best-of-three against the Braves, a team he has beaten 11 times in 15 lifetime decisions.

Even if the Braves should upset the dope and hang a defeat upon the redoubtable Dodger righthander, Alston still has Roger Craig, currently the hottest pitcher on his staff, for tomorrow's payoff game.

Manager Fred Haney in a last-ditch battle to keep the Braves' flickering hopes alive, also went with his best righthander today. Haney pinned his hopes on Lew Burdette, a 21-game winner. The game was scheduled to start at 4 p.m. (EST) with ABC television coverage.

★ ★ ★

Haney, whose theme all season long was "We'll play them one at a time," declined to say who would pitch the third game should the Braves pull even but it was regarded as a certainty that his choice would be Bob Buhl, a Dodger tamer from way back.

Haney, normally the conservative type, gambled and lost in the opener although he got a well pitched game from Carl Willey, who has won only five games all year.

Fred had been expected to open with Burdette but a look at the past performance sheet shows why he didn't. Fidgety Lew has a 2-11 lifetime record against the Dodgers at Milwaukee but he is 2-0 against them at Los Angeles this year.

A crowd of 50,000 or more was expected to turn out at the Coliseum, where day games are a rarity. If the game were to be played at night it is conceivable that close to a sellout crowd of 90,000 would attend in the hope of seeing the Dodgers finally win a playoff after two previous failures.

In 1946, they lost two straight to St. Louis and five years later they dropped the rubber of a three-game series to the New York Giants.

A slim gathering of 18,297 on a dreary, rainy afternoon saw the Dodgers get a brilliant pitching exhibition from an unexpected source, rookie Larry Sherry, in Milwaukee yesterday. Manager Alston summoned Sherry from the bullpen to replace his surprise starting choice, Danny McDevitt, when the lefthander ran into trouble in the second inning.

Sherry, a 24-year-old righthander brought up from St. Paul in July, stopped the Braves cold after they had forged ahead 2-1, handcuffing them with four harmless singles over the last 7⅔ innings. He throttled Milwaukee's big guns, holding Eddie Mathews, Henry Aaron and Joe Adcock hitless in seven times at bat.

The Dodgers tied the score in their half of the third and won the game in the sixth on Johnny Roseboro's home run over the rightfield fence.

The Dodgers played without Duke Snider, their leading hitter. The veteran center fielder, still hobbled by a bad left knee, was a doubtful starter today.

LSU Holds Lead in AP Ratings

Northwestern Is 2nd Followed by Mississippi

Iowa 5th, Irish 7th; Oklahoma Is Dropped From Top 20

By The Associated Press

Louisiana State's defending national champions clung tightly to their No. 1 position but the rest of the top ten underwent a spirited shakeup today in the second weekly Associated Press college football poll.

Northwestern wrested the runner-up spot from its Saturday victim, Oklahoma, and Oklahoma dropped from sight. The Sooners, beaten 45-13, weren't listed among the first 20 teams—their lowest estate in years.

Meanwhile, Iowa, Georgia Tech, Notre Dame, Tennessee and Texas moved into the select group. Auburn, Southern Methodist, Wisconsin and Texas Christian—like Oklahoma—tumbled.

Mississippi, 16-0 victor over Kentucky, jumped a run to the No. 3 position, followed by Army, 44-8 conqueror of Boston College, and Iowa, which crushed California 42-12.

Clemson, easy 47-0 winner over Virginia, dropped from fifth to sixth for no apparent reason and then came another Southern power, Georgia Tech, 16-12 upsetter of Southern Methodist. Clemson and Tech meet Saturday.

Notre Dame, which smashed North Carolina 28-8 under new coach Joe Kuharich, took seventh place. At No. 8 was Tennessee, which ended Auburn's prolonged unbeaten streak 3-0, and Texas, which rolled over Maryland 26-0.

LSU, 10-0 winner over Texas Christian, didn't dominate the balloting as in the opening week. The Tigers drew only 48 of the 86 first place votes from the country's sports writers and broadcasters and amassed a total of 794 points—well below last week's 1,105.

Points are given on the basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second, etc. Northwestern got 20 No. 1 votes and 647 points. Clemson got seven, Iowa and Mississippi four each, Southern California, Penn State and Notre Dame, one each.

"Green Bay beat the Bears, and they had to be sky-high to do it. Baltimore beat us and went one game up on the teams figured to provide the stiffest opposition — the Bears and Los Angeles.

"Now, the Bears are in a rough situation — they just almost have to beat the Colts in Baltimore Saturday night. If the Packers aren't quite so ready for us as they were for the Bears, and if we get a break or two, this old race may be all even come next week."

Of course, Wilson is counting on the Bears beating Baltimore, and his Lions beating the Packers. Although the Packers are figured for the bottom spot in the National Football League's Western Division, they generally afford the Lions tough opposition on their home grounds.

Last season in Green Bay they tied the Lions 13-13 in one of the most frustrating games ever played by either team. Both clubs threw away several scoring opportunities and the fans were so disgusted at the end of the afternoon that partisans for both sides went away grumbling.

The Packers have won 28 and lost 22 and tied one against the Lions in the series that goes back to 1934 — yet the Lions have won 16 and tied one of the last 19 games against the Green Bay club. At one stretch in the early 1940s the Packers defeated Detroit 10 times in succession.

The 1959 Lions may have to face the Packers Sunday without the services of Yale Lary. The ace defensive back had a pulled hamstring muscle. It kept him out of the opening loss to Baltimore and doctors don't think Larry will be able to play Sunday.

Another defensive back, Jim Steffen, has a pulled leg muscle and John Henry Johnson is slowed by a leg injury. Wilson believe both will be ready by Sunday.

Detroit, Cubs Drop AA Clubs

Tigers, Denver Sign Agreement; Charleston Is Dropped

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs today dropped farm affiliates in the American Assn., returning the Class AAA league to eight teams for 1960.

The Tigers dropped their Charleston, W.Va., farm club and signed a working agreement with Denver. The Cubs dropped Fort Worth and hooked up in a working agreement with Houston.

Both Houston and Fort Worth were members of the Class AA Texas League until they joined the Association before the 1959 campaign.

"These moves will bring the American Assn. into a better working pattern with the consolidation to eight clubs and will strengthen the league overall," said President Ed Doherty.

The Tigers operated Charleston since 1955.

Boy Wonder of Tennis Dies at 56

NEW YORK (AP) — Vinnie Richards the one-time boy wonder of tennis back around the first World War who died last night, used to laugh when describing his career.

"You know," he'd say, "I figure I played about 14,000 matches, and in each one I ran about four and a half miles. That means I ran 56,000 miles or about twice around the world."

"I kept track of all the matches I had with Tilden," Richards once said with obvious relish. "We played each other 1,002 times and I won 502 of the matches. I'll bet not many other players can brag that they hold the edge over Tilden."

Richards' name shows in the Olympic record book — something else Tilden couldn't boast of. Tennis was on the Olympic Games' program only once. That was in 1924, and Vinnie swept through the likes of Manuel Alonzo of Spain, and Rene Lacoste and Henri Cochet of France to win the singles. He also shared the doubles title with Frank Hunter.

He played a total of 60 sets on the way to the title and said later he thought that was a record for an American. No one ever disputed him.

Vinnie was tagged the "boy wonder" when he teamed with Tilden to win the national doubles championship in 1918 at the age of 15. Tilden was 25 at the time and beginning his rise in the game.

Twenty-seven years later, when he was 42, he won his last championship, the professional doubles, and fittingly, his partner was Tilden.

He and Tilden won the national doubles again in 1921 and 1922 and in 1925 and 1926, he paired with R. N. Williams for the title.

He never did win the national singles championship, but he won the national indoor crown in 1919, 1923 and 1924. In 1919, his victim in the final was Tilden.

Richards was a member of four Davis Cup teams — 1922, 1924, 1925 and 1926. All were victorious, but he took a back seat to Tilden. Only in 1924 did he get any great share of the credit. In that one, he and Tilden each won two singles in the United States' 5-0 victory over Australia in the Challenge Round.

Vinnie turned professional in 1927 and won the pro crown that year and again in 1928, 1930 and 1933.

All-Star Pin Points

KEEP THE THUMB LOOSE

By ED LUBANSKI

Most bowlers pick a ball from the rack, insert their fingers into it—and start squeezing as if somebody was going to steal it.

The result is disastrous. The thumb is supposed to slide from the hole before the fingers. It has nothing to do with the actual lift and spin of the delivery. Yet if it is held in there tight initially it is going to be there too long at the end of the delivery.

Put the thumb in as feathery as possible. When you grip the ball remember it comes out first. With this, you'll relax the other two fingers. And you'll wind up with a proper grip—fingers inserted up to the second joint and holding the ball lightly.

Grimm Hired by Cubs

Craft Out at Kansas City

From Our Wire Services

Harry Craft of the Kansas City Athletics became the latest manager to fall by the wayside when club officials announced he had been dropped as pilot.

★ ★ ★

KC General Manager Parke Carroll said the new skipper there would not be named until next month when owner Arnold Johnson returns from a European vacation.

Bob Swift, the former Tiger catcher who directed the A's to 11 straight wins when Craft took sick, is considered a possible replacement. Others being mentioned are Leo Durocher and Walker Cooper.

Craft has been offered a responsible position in the Kansas City player development program. He plans to think it over.

He has his eye on five farmhands who may help the club improve on their 2nd fifth place tie in three seasons.

The likeable Grimm piloted the Chicago champions of 1932, 1935 and 1945. He managed a total of 12 season in two hitches.

Duffy Unhappy With Seniors

Aims Criticism at 'Ace' Martin and Vet Guard

Long Workouts Begin for Annual Michigan Game

EAST LANSING (AP) — Coach Duffy Daugherty admitted he is unhappy over the work of some seniors in the Michigan State opening game 9-7 football loss to Texas A. & M.

Daugherty told the squad yesterday he wasn't disappointed in any of the sophomores despite a lot of mistakes.

"But if we are going to be a good team, the experienced men like Martin and Wright will have to come through," he said, referring to fullback Blanche Martin and right tackle Don Wright, the team captain.

★ ★ ★

There was no lineup shakeup despite the criticisms and the loss. Defensive quarterback Ike Grimslay was shifted to guard but this was a move to strengthen the line. Quarterback Dean Look, who sat out Saturday's game nursing his sprained shoulder, was back running with the squad for the first time since his injury.

Look worked out with the defensive unit while Tommy Wilson still quarterbacked the offense. Larry Bielat was dropped back to quarterback the third unit.

The squad wasn't allowed any relaxation as has been the case on a Monday after a win. The top 22 players were sweated until well after 6 p. m. despite their game service.

Bump Impressed by MSU Films

State Worries Elliott

That was Michigan coach Bump Elliott's appraisal of the Spartans after studying films of last week's MSU-Texas A & M game. A worried look crept across the youthful mentor's face as he spoke. He has good reason to worry.

Michigan State, despite a 9-7 loss to the Aggies, exhibited a potentially strong offense. The Spartans amassed a huge statistical margin by racking up 18 first downs and 325 total yards to only 9 first downs and 177 yards for Texas.

"Not to take anything away from Missouri," Elliott said, "but Michigan State looks like it'll be three times tougher. We've really got to play ball to win this one."

Besides being a meeting of traditional rivals, this Saturday's 52nd meeting will pit teams both trying to bounce back from opening game defeats. Michigan lost 20-15 in the final two seconds of the gabe to Missouri, after battling to a slim 15-14 lead only moments before.

In both games the home teams committed several costly errors, which made things easier for the opponents. Four errant Wolverine passes were intercepted while Texas A & M pounced on four Spartan fumbles.

In yesterday's drills, which were cut short to give the Wolverines a chance to see movies of Michigan State, the emphasis was placed on pass defense — one of the team's weak spots in the Missouri game.

Michigan allowed the Tigers to gain only 104 yards in the air, but one long pass scored one touchdown and another set up the winning tally in the dying minutes of the game. An even tougher aerial attack can be expected from the Spartans, who netted 158 yards on 11 completions against the Aggies.

Elliott said no sweeping lineup changes are in store for the MSU game, but he hinted there would be more substitutions in an attempt to offset the Spartans' weight advantage.

What effect the opening game loss has had on Michigan is not yet apparent, but Elliott said he thought there would be little trouble getting the team up for the traditional intra-state battle.

"The fact that we both lost our first games and will be trying to bounce back this week shouldn't make any special difference," Elliott said. "This game always is a mighty big one."

Bay City Central Leads First Prep Poll of '59

By The Associated Press

A familiar name occupied the top spot in the Associated Press' first weekly poll to determine the top high school football teams around the state.

A panel of sports editors and sports writers, who cover every section of the state, awarded the Bay City Central Wolves six of eights possible first place votes. The Wolves pulled down 71 points, with 10 points awarded for first place votes, 9 for second, 8 for third, etc.

Ann Arbor High returning to prominence after one bad season, was a distant second with 51 points. The Pioneers received one first place vote. The other went to Royal Oak Dondero, which tied Benton Harbor for fifth place, each with 28 points.

Bay City Central, winner of the mythical state Class A championship in 1958, has run down two opponents, blanking Lapeer 60-0 and Lansing Sexton 34-19.

Grand Rapids Catholic, squeaking by Grand Rapids Union 25-20, took third place with 46 poll points and Midland, the last team to defeat Bay City Central, captured fourth with 36.

Dondero, in a tie for fifth, has blanked two foes, turning back East Detroit 18-0 and Berkley 45-0. Sparking Dondero is the running of halfback Bob Lezotte and the receiving of John Meadows, a second team all-starter last year as a junior.

Benton Harbor walloped Grand Haven 41-13 for its second in a row and coach Roy Kramer believes his club, which has scored 74 points in two victories, is primed for a big comeback.

Muskegon Catholic, winner of two in a row, held down seventh place with 27 points while Birmingham, title threat in the Eastern Michigan League and winner of two straight, occupied eighth. Lansing Eastern and Hamtramck rounded out the top ten in Class A.

Here's the way the panel of editors and writers picked 'em in the AP's first weekly poll (team records in parentheses):

TEAM	PTS
1. Bay City Central (2-0)	71
2. Ann Arbor (2-0)	51
3. Grand Rapids Catholic (2-0)	46
4. Midland (2-0)	36
5. Benton Harbor (2-0)	28
5. Royal Oak Dondero (2-0)	28
7. Muskegon Catholic (2-0)	27
8. Birmingham (2-0)	22
9. Lansing Eastern (2-0)	19
10. Hamtramck (2-0)	16

Wings Replace Cullen, Goegan

SEATTLE (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings yesterday called up replacements from their Western Hockey League farm club at Edmonton for two players injured here in an exhibition game Sunday.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Both Goegan and Cullen suffered knee injuries in the Red Wings' 5-4 win over the Seattle Totems and left yesterday for treatment in Detroit. Club officials said Cullen will be lost about six weeks and Goegan's return is indefinite.

★ ★ ★

Marcon and McNeill will report to the Red Wings today in time for a night exhibition game with Spokane of the WHL. Detroit closes out its western road trip with games in Victoria Wednesday and Vancouver Thursday.

3 Rookies Lopped From Piston Squad

Players cut were Harry Marske, a six-foot, eight-inch center from Northern State Teachers College, South Dakota; Doyle Edmiston, a six-foot, seven-inch forward from Hardin Simmons, and Chuck Curtis, a six-foot, six-inch forward from Pacific Lutheran.

The cuts reduced the squad to 15 players. Rocha is expected to wait until the season opener Oct. 18 at Minneapolis before trimming the roster to the 11-player limit.

TOPS IN SOFTBALL — Harland (Fat) Keith is the City Softball League's most valuable player for 1959. The 32-year-old Keith, an outstanding pitcher in local softball circles for the last 16 years, hurled Sno-Bol to the city Class A title this season. "Fat" has been awarded The Pontiac Press MVP trophy.

Loop Tests for Harriers

While most area high schools that operate cross-country squads this week will be making 2nd tests in league action, Pontiac Central harriers are winding up their preliminary trials before jumping into the Saginaw Valley campaign.

Dean Wilson's crew, victor over Waterford in last week's opener, today goes against the Southfield squad. Skippers defeated the Jays in a previous meet. Chiefs begin SVC competition Friday at Flint Central, and are among the circuit's top teams.

Other harrier meets today pit I-L champion Walled Lake against Milford, and Birmingham at Ferndale in an EML meet that is expected to stretch Maples' fantastic dual meet record.

Pontiac Northern, still seeking its first win, faces the unbeaten Vikings at Walled Lake, Friday. Other Friday duals include Waterford at Farmington, and Southfield at Berkley.

Matmen Grapple Here Wednesday

Completing the tripleheader will be a scrap between Ricki "The Crusher" Cortez and Dominic Bravo and another battle pitting Ali Bey, the Terrible Turk, against Louie Papineau.

Dino Bravo, Dominic's brother, wrestles Dante Pella in the opening match. The show is promoted by Jack Bull, Ralph LaParl and Rick Stone and starting time tomorrow night at the city armory is 8:30 p.m.

College Football

by "RED" BLAIK

When I played left field for West Point in 1920, Coach Hans Lobert advised me: "You'd be great in the big leagues, if you could only hit." I was a pretty good glove man, but the curve ball was my downfall. So I have a natural respect for the skills baseball requires. It is also a scientific game. The world series always emphasizes the brain-cracking of managers, grandstand as well as bench. Yet, I doubt its strategic pressures can equal those of coaching football.

This is due to the different nature of the two games. Baseball builds up slowly to grand climaxes. Football climaxes equally spectacular but it also generates a more sustained drama.

Baseball's rules are seldom changed, and then only in a minor way. The football code always has been subject to frequent major revisions.

The entire history of baseball has known only one sweeping change in offensive strategy. That was when the introduction of the lively ball some 40 years ago forced the Cobb philosophy of the bunt, the hit-and-run and the steal for one run at a time to give way to the Ruth school of the home run and the big inning. (Of course, those White Sox are still getting good marks in the Cobb school).

Football, in contrast, has made revolutionary changes in its offensive and defensive concepts, its trends and styles at a rate to challenge the schemingly fickle mode fashioners of Paris — or Oklahoma City.

When Lou Boudreau first unveiled the overshifted defense against Ted Williams, the publicity was thunderous. When Paul Richards first shifted a pitcher to third base, brought in another to pitch to one man and then returned the first pitcher to the mound, it provoked downright astonishment. Yet, in football, such moves are considered commonplace.

The study of game films, which started to become general about 30 years ago, really forced coaches to go to work as gridiron scientists. They must analyze carefully not only patterns of attack and defense but dozens of individual strength and weaknesses in a seemingly limitless variety of situations.

Long film study also stirred coaches to contrive more and more varying defenses. This in turn demanded continuous compensating exploration of offensive possibilities. It has become an endless game of football chess.

Even when film study and scouting has been as thorough as time permits, it is not unusual for the opponent, especially when he is the underdog, to come up with something he has not shown. Then you face the trying task of analyzing the new stuff and coming up with the defensive answers under game pressure — and quickly enough to avoid defeat. This is one of the things Teddy Roosevelt had in mind when he called football the moral equivalent of war.

Such was the situation in Philadelphia last season when our Army team was kept in hot water by Navy for most of the first half. The Midshipmen came up with a completely new set of plays, including such a colorful relic as the old Minnesota shift, and it took us most of the first half to get adjusted.

I suspect this extra mental pressure may be the main reason you see fewer football coaches than baseball managers functioning after the 50-year mark. However, I'm not implying baseball managing is much easier than coaching football. Both jobs average out to less tenure, say, than being the night watchman in the Supreme Court building.

Beach Leading Scoring Race

Beach, who played his high school ball at Pontiac Central, has scored 40 points in the Chippewas' first three games and has a 10-point bulge over teammate Jerry O'Neil in the scoring derby.

Introduces Complications

Mechanization Enters Sales Field

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Mechanization is creeping up on the salesman as well as the factory worker. In both cases it's making the task easier. In both there's talk of threats to jobs.

But with today's keener competition in the industrial and business worlds the salesman's job looks more important than in any other postwar years.

Today's traveling man can carry along a kit the size of a dispatch case and set up equipment in a strange office and wow his prospect with sight and sound — even mood music.

SIGNATURE NEEDED

The salesman does more than just operate a machine. For one thing, he must be there in person to get the signature on the order blank. But the equipment does help get the sales pitch across. And some think it does more than mere sales talk can.

★ ★ ★

The devices take many forms. There are closed circuit TV for big projects, industrial movies, tape recorders, sound effect records, magnetic recording tape, slide projectors, color prints and transparencies, animated films.

One New York-based corporation is said to have 60 different audiovisual devices it can turn to for special tasks.

PURCHASES HIGH

Commercial and industrial purchases of audiovisual equipment are estimated at 200 million dollars last year. They are expected to go higher this year, according to exhibitors at the industrial film and audio visual exhibition now in full swing here.

Schools and colleges bought 27 million dollars worth last year. Purchases by government agencies, religious, social welfare, civic, medical and health groups brought the total to an estimated 250 million.

One of the fastest growing selling aids is closed circuit TV. It also has been making great strides in the nation's schools.

Other business uses besides sales promotion: industrial relations, training workers in technological developments, presenting reports, certain types of research. Shareholder relations is making increased use of closed circuit TV. It enables corporations to hold shareholder meetings at various points in the nation at the same time the faithful are foregathering in the home offices.

Some big corporations are reported to be spending $100,000 or more a year on various audiovisual equipment. When they go in for industrial movies the cost can run to many times that.

The sharp growth in recent years in the sale of audiovisual devices is held by the makers to be due to two factors: The development of lighter and more compact equipment which the salesman can tote easily to the prospect's lair; and the increased need for quick communication to solve the many problems of industry which seem to be multiplying through recession and recovery alike.

MORE COMPLEX

Communication itself is twofold. Management finds it increasingly necessary to keep in touch with, and instruct, its sales forces, its workers, its junior executives, its stockholders. Also it finds a new need to present its case to the communities in which it has plants or sales outlets.

Mechanization helps management tackle these problems.

U.S. Will Establish Embassy in Katmandu, Tourists Are Welcome

The United States soon will establish an embassy there, and tourists are encouraged to visit the once-forbidden city.

But Katmandu retains much of the romantic atmosphere that led Rudyard Kipling to write, "And the wildest dreams of Kew are the facts of Katmandu."

The many-towered city, which was founded in A.D. 723, rises from the 4,500-foot-high Valley of Katmandu. The jagged, snowy Himalayas lift abruptly some 50 miles away. Irrigated fields of rich black earth and terraced slopes spread from the Nepalese capital.

Tier upon tier of elaborately carved wooden pagodas cap the temples. The official religion is Hinduism, but many residents are Buddhists. Lord Buddha was born not far from Katmandu, and some of the shrines there honor him.

Towering over all the temples is a white needlelike spire nearly 200 feet high. The ornamental structure is the famous "folly" of Prime Minister Bhim Sen Thapa, who built it in the 1830's to "amaze the populace."

The streets are always crowded. Itinerant holy men wander about with a detached air; scholars decipher old inscriptions on the temples; Gurkha soldiers from streets; hill women in voluminous red skirts carry loads of wood into the city.

The capital normally houses 150,000 persons, but it bulged with a half-million when the youthful new monarch, Mehendra, was crowned in 1956. King Mahendra promulgated a democratic constitution, and the nation's first parliamentary elections were held in the spring of 1959.

State Police Arrest 19,285 During August

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Of the 19,285 State Police arrests made last month, 1,795 were for criminal offenses and the rest for traffic violations, the State Police report.

Department vehicles traveled 1,753,907 miles during August, of which 940,302 miles were on traffic patrol. The rest was on other complaint work.

Industrial Employment Up in Cheboygan Area

CHEBOYGAN (UPI) — An economic survey shows industrial employment rose 12 per cent in the Cheboygan area during August, compared to the same month in 1958.

Gains occurred also in construction volume, building permits, electric output, number of telephones, freight shipments and auto and truck license registrations.

Wheat Steady; Soybeans Weak

CHICAGO (AP)—Wheat futures got off to a steady start on the Board of Trade today, reflecting trade expectations of a pickup in export business. But soybeans, up two cents or more a bushel in yesterday's trade, weakened in early dealings.

Principal factor in wheat was the expectation that Brazil will be in the market today or tomorrow for around 2¼ million bushels of the bread grain. India also is expected to be in the market for hard wheat.

Weakness in soybeans was attributed to a downturn in soybean meal futures. Otherwise factors—wet weather and wind storms—that advanced soybean prices yesterday remained about the same. There was additional overnight moisture over the central soybean producing area and a forecast of more today and tonight.

Corvair Sales Open Friday—Price $1,860

DETROIT (AP)—This is the day Chevrolet wanted to tell you about its new smaller car, the Corvair, and show you the pictures.

Magazines, newspapers and television have used so many pictures of the little rear-engined car that about the only question remaining is: If there are so many around, why aren't the streets flooded with them.

Chevrolet hopes to remedy this omission starting Friday when the one available body style — a four door sedan — goes on sale. The sticker on the window will show a price of $1,860 plus — and the pluses will put the selling price considerably above $2,000. A deluxe version costs $1,920 to start.

Investigate Plot to Hire Cabby to Murder Wife

A 37-year-old Royal Oak man, charged with carrying a concealed weapon into a bar, today found himself in jail and in double trouble while an investigation was being made into a report he tried to hire a taxi driver to murder his wife.

After his original bond was canceled, Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer set a higher $2,000 bond and sent Coy C. Prestriedge of 218 Sixth St., to the county jail when he was unable to post the bond. He stood mute to the charge against him.

Meanwhile, the Prosecutor's office has started an investigation into a report made early Monday morning to Hazel Park Police that Prestriedge attempted a second time to hire cab driver Thomas Richards, 34, of 402 Hawthorne St., Royal Oak, to do away with his wife.

Richards, who said he had been approached by Prestriedge once before and offered $1,500 the second time, said he refused and reported the incident to police.

State Police Probe Gambling at Hazel

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit News reported today the State Police rackets squad is investigating reports "that illegal bookmaking and other forms of illicit gambling are going on at Hazel Park race track."

The News said the rackets squad acted on information the newspaper furnished, adding that a reporter had spent nearly 100 hours over a three-week period "seeking to untangle mysterious activities of convicted gamblers" frequenting the track.

Pleads Innocent to Operating Gambling Place

A plea of innocent was entered yesterday for Edward M. House, Groveland Township man accused of operating a gambling place, when he appeared for arraignment before Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

Through his attorney, House stood mute when he was asked how he pleaded to the charge. Judge Beer continued House's $500 bond while he awaits trial sometime this fall jury term.

House, 50, owner of Green Acres Farm, 13269 Dixie Highway, where he lives was arrested Aug. 30 with 35 other persons, including his wife, when sheriff's deputies raided the farm house.

The charge against Mrs. House was dropped. Others arrested have either had the charges against them reduced or have appealed lower court convictions to Circuit Court.

In Memoriam 2

IN MEMORY OF OUR BELOVED Mother, Anna C. Rowley, who passed away Sept. 28, 1958.
She is gone but not forgotten,
Never will her memory fade;
Loving thoughts will ever linger
To the spot where she is laid.
They say time heals all sorrow
And helps us to forget;
But time has only proven
How much we miss her yet.
God gave us strength to face it,
Courage to bear the loss;
But what it meant to lose her
No one will ever know.

Horror Stalks the Survivors of Japan's Killer Typhoon

NAGOYA, Japan (UPI)—Endless rows of wooden coffins and sodden straw mats for the dying. Stricken peasants moving past in never-ending search for their families in this twice dead city.

The story of typhoon Vera, most destructive storm to hit Japan in centuries, could be outlined in statistics: 1,799 dead, 1,953 missing, 8,073 injured, 970,000 homeless.

But its horror lay in the faces of the people, their struggle for food and water, the dysentery which ravaged their bodies, the glazed look on their faces as they searched the rubble for those who were lost.

She steeled herself and then peered within. Wordlessly and with a slight shake of head she moved on to the next box and the next and the next.

There were not even enough of the wooden boxes to hold the bodies in this city which suffered more than 1,000 dead. Some of the bodies lay on straw tatami mats, their faces covered with scraps of cloth.

Long lines of survivors trudged past these boxes through the day, wondering when help would arrive from Tokyo. But communications were smashed by the fury of a storm that set off landslides and floods.

The wooden boxes themselves were hurriedly built for the gruesome chore of identification. The head end of each was hinged so it could be quickly opened and closed.

★ ★ ★

Many of the missing were certain never to be found. They were swept out to the raging Pacific by flooding rivers and streams that were rivulets when the storm struck on Saturday.

BITTER BLOW

For Nagoya it was a bitter blow. The city of two million was almost totally destroyed by U.S. bombers in the war and it had built itself up painstakingly into one of the most modern cities in Japan when nature struck.

Nature also tricked the Nagoya unfortunates. Sunday brought clear skies and survivors began digging themselves out. After sunset, a sliver of moon and the stars shone down on the scene of devastation.

Then sudden clouds and blinding rain that piled misery upon misery for the thousands of homeless in Nagoya and the nearby towns and cities of central Honshu Island, the main island of Japan. Three of those towns were wiped out.

WITHOUT FOOD

The refugees were without food and they waited for relief from Tokyo as a massive relief program was being rushed by truck and boat to Vera's million victims.

★ ★ ★

The government was allocating 27 million dollars to rebuilt shattered areas and rushing food, clothing, drinking water and blankets but in Nagoya there was suffering and bitterness.

★ ★ ★

"In the movies," said a young son returning home after foraging food for your family, "you always see police and rescuers rushing with food and clothing to help disaster victims. But no one has come to us yet. Where are they? We need help badly."

The American Red Cross presented a $10,000 check to the Japan Red Cross for purchase of relief gifts and funds. A Northwest Airlines flight flew packages from the Church World Service to Nagoya.

But the help meant little to those walking past the endless rows of wooden boxes. A blanket and a piece of bread would not bring back the missing.

That Rotten Fight Game Didn't Spoil Hero After All

By FRED DANZIG

The Du Pont Show of the Month returned to CBS-TV last night with a "modern" version of "Body and Soul" and showed us that boxing still is a rotten sport.

If you recall, in 1947 John Garfield played in this movie which used Fight Game Plot 1-A to demonstrate: The fight game may be corrupt, but man's dignity is not a punching bag.

In the movie, Garfield played a Jewish boy from the New York slums. In the TV version, Ben Gazzara played a Puerto Rican boy from the New York slums.

He turned to prize fighting because it was the most logical path for him, became a champ, mingled with human garbage (promoters, gamblers, etc.) and gave his mother, his girl and his best friend the old heave-ho before agreeing to throw the Big Fight. The human garbage, of course, overplayed its hand and Garfield Gazzara came to his senses in time to win the B. F. in a rousing finish.

This is the old chestnut, or punching bag, and I think the only reason for putting it on is to give a director the pleasure of attempting to recreate a fight scene. In this case, Director Dan Petrie—assisted by former fighter and a good makeup man—staged that big fight beautifully.

As a TV play, the stage for the final fight was set rather quickly and it was a long wait until he decided to cross up the move. I thought Gazzara's performance was convincing.

He knew what he was supposed to do and did it well, except for his tendency to lapse into radio announcer-resonance in some intimate scenes. Ellen Madison played his girl. This was her first big TV role and she did herself proud.

TOO STRONG

Franchot Tone came on too strong as a sinister promoter. Bernie Hamilton as a punch fighter gets a big vote from this referee. Florence Stanley was fine as Ben's momma. As usual, Neville Brand and Martin Balsam performed well.

But Ansara Still Indian

Tepee, Not Badge

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The old code of the West, "Never Trust No Injuns," is proving true in the case of TV's Cochise who ditched his post as Apache chief to become a gun-toting lawman.

Mike Ansara, who starred for two years in "Broken Arrow," makes his debut Thursday night in "Tales of the Plainsman" (NBC) still playing a redskin.

"This is the last Indian role fore me," said the rough-hewn actor, munching a noontime hamburger. "I'm beginning to feel like an Indian

"So far, I've been made honorary chief of four tribes, and I have a houseful of tomahawks, feathered war bonnets, peace pipes and arrows."

Of his new role, Deputy Marshal Sam Buckhart, the actor says, "I'll have a lot more to do this time.

"When I played Cochise I had only two physical postures—my arms folded across my chest or held stiffly at my sides. My facial expression was limited to a stern grimace.

Another reason for Ansara's desire to become the last of the TV Apaches is to dodge religious zealots who mail him all manner of spiritual literature and medallions trying to convert him from his heathen Indian beliefs.

"Almost everyone believes I'm a real Indian," he grinned, a rare occasion for Indian Mike. "And I'm happy to report there is very little prejudice against Indians.

"When I'm out on tour hundreds of people approach me to boast about being 1/100th Sioux or Navajo. Then, of course, they want to know which tribe I belong to."

To Have Strong Opposition

Garry Moore Is Calm

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Tonight on CBS-TV, an amiable gentleman named Garry Moore begins beating his considerable brains out. Against the toughest competition ever faced by a television artist.

★ ★ ★

For his opening "Garry Moore Show," he pits his charm and wits against a Bing Crosby special on ABC. Next Tuesday, he competes with the first of NBC's quarter-million-bucks spectaculars, and that gating race'll go on for 39 weeks. As if this weren't enough, his Wednesday night "I've Got A Secret" will fight for weekly attention with Moore's friendly opposition, Perry Como.

"Me worried?" Garry says. "Nah.

"You see, I'm very lucky. I have low blood pressure, so when the tension hits, I just get my pressure up to where most people's is all the time."

He leaned back in a desk chair.

GARRY MOORE

As cool as Como, and maybe more. "I don't anticipate any big trouble. But I am not ruling out the possibility that I could be entirely wrong."

Garry is an ambiable guy who bristles only at the crewcut. His entire staff for the hour-long show appears to operate the same way ("Nobody ever screams or wrangles; temperament is an expensive luxury we can't afford"). As a result, his self-termed "simple, open type of show for simple, open types of people" last year stole the ratings from "The Californians" and "Bat Masterson."

"Big names just don't mean anything in the TV business anymore—unless you can come up with an unprecedented name like Greta Garbo. Or unless you can get Vice President Nixon singing 'Wish I Were a Tender Apple Blossom'."

He had entered an "X" beside those he felt might hurt his rating, and a check beside those he was not particularly concerned about. There were considerably more checks than Xs.

"Of course," he mused, "one week they've got Ingrid Bergman. You know, when you get Ingrid Bergman opposite you—well, I'd like to stay home and watch her myself."

For 25 years, Moore has been in show business. First in radio, then in TV, always successful. After eight years of daytime television, which could have gone on endlessly, to the endless delight of lady viewers and the Internal Revenue Bureau, he pulled himself up suddenly and threw himself into this incredibly tough competitive situation. The explanation:

"I was assured by the network and by various sponsors that our show could continue indefinitely as a fixture. That word 'fixture' frightens me. When you become a 'fixture,' you're likely to get fat, dumb and happy."

'CONTINUITY NEEDED'

Now he feels that he will do well against the heavily publicized, big budget opposition. NBC may be interested in his theory of why:

"TV history has proven that a show doesn't prosper unless it has continuity.

"NBC will have, for each of its Tuesday night spectaculars, a new star and a new format and new writers. . . . Well, there are not 39 good shows in all of television, let alone one that could be good, and new, every week."

★ ★ ★

He would, in fact, feel far less secure if he were up against a show with good continuity. "Like 'Gunsmoke.' Oddly enough, a show like that'll kill you faster than anything."

Arms Inspection Opposition Low

Stevenson Says He Feels Nikita Backing Away From Split

NEW YORK (UPI) — Adlai E. Stevenson revealed today that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently has abandoned his opposition to step-by-step control and inspection of disarmament by an international control body.

In a copyrighted article in the New York Times, The former Democratic presidential candidate described Khrushchev's "fantastic" visit to the United States as a "hopeful omen" for world peace.

He said conversations with Khrushchev during the day they spent together in Iowa indicated a sharp reversal in some of the Soviet Premier's attitudes.

"I asked if he thought he could satisfy our insistence on adequate and simultaneous inspection and control if we agreed to his proposal for complete step-by-step disarmament," Stevenson said. "His reply was that he thought international control and inspection adequate for each of the phases envisaged by his United Nations speech could be achieved . . ."

"The replies left me with the clear understanding that in their view an international control body should have the power and facilities to control and inspect each step of the disarmament process to the extent necessary to insure compliance with that step, such powers and facilities to vary according to the needs of each phase."

Philharmonica at La Scala Scores Huge Triumph

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — The New York Philharmonic Orchestra conducted by Leonard Bernstein scored a major triumph at La Scala Opera House last night.

A capacity audience surged forward to cheer the conductor and the members of the oldest symphonic organization in the United States when their concert ended.

Bob Says Gary Should Not Gripe About Bing

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Gary Crosby "has a right to beef" about life's strange ways, "but he has no right to beef about Bing, who is a mighty shy guy and does things for you that you may never hear about," says brother Bob Crosby in an unusual defense of Bing.

WILSON

"Bing is hurt," Bob told me here. "The reason he didn't catch their act in Las Vegas was, as he said, 'If I go to see their opening show, they are going to feel like they are not making it on their own.'

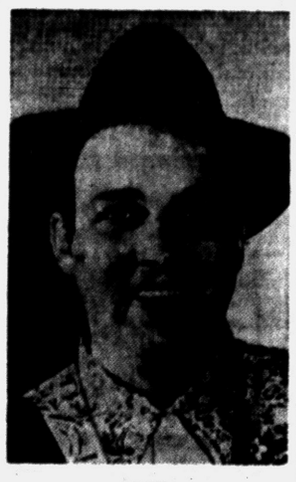
"But Bing knows every word of their show—he will go see them some night.

"Bing got congratulations from the other three after the new baby was born. And last week he had three of the boys to his house for dinner. As far as I know, Gary wasn't there.

"Gary has a right to beef because in the Army the guys wouldn't let him rest, due to his being Bing's son. But instead of getting angry at the kids in the service, he got mad at Bing.

★ ★ ★

"Very few people can come up with the loot to start a new night club act. These boys had the loot . . . you know from where."



BOB

Bob added: "Once I was stranded in Georgia. I wired Bing for money. He said no. But an agent I knew asked if I needed money. I resented Bing's attitude — till I found out it was Bing who gave me the money.

"I hadn't thought it through. When Gary thinks it through, the relationship will be closer than ever."

Bob Crosby told "the nephews" that he suffered so much professionally from being in the shadow of Bing's name that he considered changing his name.

"I had thought," he smiled, "of changing it to something entirely different—like Sam Crosby or Jim Crosby."

Funeral Service Set for Walter Munford

From Our News Wires

CHATHAM, Mass. (AP)—A funeral service will be held at the First Congregational church Thursday for Walter F. Munford, president of U.S. Steel Corp., who died Monday four days after a cerebral stroke.

The 59-year-old executive, who started at the open hearth in 1923 and became Big Steel's $250,000-a-year president last May 5, suffered the stroke at Cape Cod Hospital, Hyannis, last Thursday.

He had been admitted the day before with a knife wound in the abdomen suffered when he slipped on a waxed kitchen floor and fell on a knife. Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis said he is satisfied the wound was an accident.

Burial will be in Chatham Union Cemetery.

Munford always referred to himself as "an ordinary guy" who realized early in life there were no short cuts to success.

Shortly after being named administrative head of the nation's largest steel firm last May, Munford told newsmen:

"I learned from my mother — a Pennsylvania Quaker — that there is no substitute for hard work."

MIT GRADUATE

At the age of 10, Munford was working at odd jobs to help support his mother after his father, an oculist, died. He continued at those jobs through high school and college and 36 years before his untimely death was graduated from Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

His first postcollege job was with U.S. Steel's wire division as an open hearth helper. The plant was located in his native Worcester, Mass.

Then as a rank-and-file worker and up-through-the-ranks executive, he came to know well the problems of both labor and management.

When Munford accepted the presidency of "Big Steel," contract negotiations were just beginning with the United Steelworkers Union. At that crucial time he said:

"Eighty per cent of the economy is made up by working people. But I can't see how anyone can say that you can raise wages all long the line without raising the costs of doing business.

In 1927, four years after he first joined U.S. Steel, Munford was promoted to his first management post as superintendent of the open hearth department at the Newburgh wire division works in Cleveland, Ohio.

Then came a series of promotions that eventually led to a vice presidency in 1950. Nine years later, Munford was the top man for U.S. Steel, taking over as chief administrative officer for Clifford H. Hood who retired.

The jump to the No. 1 post was quite an achievement for a man who once worked 78 hours a week in a mill to earn $30.

Once, Munford was asked to describe himself as he might be seen in the eyes of his employes.

"How do I know what I'm like to work for," he replied. "I do know that the more a person knows, the more he realizes he doesn't know."

Castro Charges Writer With Sowing Calumny

It was Castro's first public denunciation of Dubois, who wrote a highly complimentary biography of the Cuban revolutionary leader but later soured on him.

He also blasted the Inter-American Press Assn. for listing Cuba —along with Nicaragua, the Dominican Republic and Paraguay— as a nation in which it would investigate restraints on freedom of the press.

Anti-Secrecy Plea Helping

Swainson Is in Favor of Disclosing Action in Firm's Probation

LANSING (AP) — A Flint unionist's appeal against official secrecy in Lansing appeared to be getting somewhere today.

Acting Gov. John B. Swainson and Alfred B. Fitt, Gov. Williams' legal advisor, showed some sympathy to criticisms lodged by Raymond E. Bugbee, recording secretary of United Auto Workers Local 599.

But unbudged were State Banking Commissioner Alonzo L. Wilson, Bugbee's target, and Herman G. Taylor, his deputy.

Involved was a reported decision by Wilson to place the Public Loan Corp. in Flint on probation for six months, effective Oct. 1.

As disclosed in a letter to Bugbee, a complinant in the case, the action followed hearings on alleged abuses in the handling of wage assignments. Bugbee has said some of his men were hurt by the practices.

First Wilson, and yesterday Taylor, refused to confirm to newsmen that the Flint firm was disciplined, let alone go into other aspects of the case.

Both said they relied on advice of counsel in construction of a clause in the State Financial Institutions Act which makes secret information collected in performance of official duties.

Asked about the matter, Swainson said he was not fully informed but added, "I see no reason why the department's action should not be a matter of public record unless specifically prohibited by statute."

"As a lawyer, I'd say if you're going to make a disposition of a public question it ought to be public property," Swainson said. He promised to look into the matter further.

"I see nothing in the statue that prevents disclosure of the action," said Fitt, making a disctinction between the department's disciplinary order and its information collection functions.
