Test Successful for Atlas 'Beast'

WASHINGTON (U)—A mighty Atlas missile streaked 6,325 miles from Florida to a target in the South Atlantic Friday night, showing the world the United States has a fully operational Intercontinental Ballistic Missile.

The feat put the United States on a par with the Soviet Union, which has claimed possession of an ICBM.

The "Beast," as the Atlas is nicknamed, sped the distance in only about 30 minutes after roaring away from the Cape Canaveral launching pad.

Announcement that the missile was "successfully test fired for the first time over the full intercontinental range" was made this morning by the Defense Department after a check on data from observers and recording devices spotted along the missile's path.

Later an Air Force spokesman said the missile had hit a designated target area after its long, roaring flight across the South Atlantic.

He added that "all test objectives were achieved essentially 100 per cent." The size of the target area was not disclosed.

The missile's silvertipped nose cone — which in event of war would be a nuclear warhead — dropped into the South Atlantic near Ascension Island.

BURNS LIKE METEOR

The big rocket sped into the Florida sky like a flaming meteor Friday night and remained visible for nearly four minutes as it curved gracefully into the path through the higher atmosphere to its target.

But despite the very apparent success of the launching at 9:27 p.m. EST, the Defense Department and Air Force waited until today to be absolutely certain before announcing results of the shot.

The Convair division of the General Dynamics Corp., builder of the Atlas, claimed success of the flight, shortly after the launching.

Electronic recording devices spotted on several islands and ships showed the progress of the missile over its range.

Near Ascension Island, ships and aircraft on patrol watched for the impact of the nose cone.

The successful flight matched a Soviet claim of possession of an intercontinental ballistic missile.

REDS HAVE ONE

Russia is believed to have developed an operational ICBM and to have used it in launching the Sputniks.

This was the long-awaited climax of a test program that started in June 1957, when the first Atlas blew up soon after launching. The Atlas fired Friday night was the 15th test vehicle in the series.

The first eight used only the twin-chambered booster engine in the tail. Four of these flew successfully over 600-mile ranges. The others exploded in tests of guidance and strength.

Since then, Atlas missiles have been powered by the booster engine, a sustainer engine and two Vernier engines mounted to the outer shell to control the roll of the 85-foot long weapon.

2 Judges Deny 'Soft' Charge

McCallum and Finnegan Say Evans' Statements 'Sound Silly'

Pontiac's two municipal judges today ridiculed charges that they are being "soft" in vice cases.

The charges were made by Detective Richard Evans, head of the vice squad, in a report to Public Safety Director George D. Eastman.

"I think that the statements of Detective Evans sound kind of silly," declared Judge Cecil B. McCallum. "I don't think they deserve an answer."

"We're going all out to make this the fairest court there is, and doing an excellent job," McCallum said. "We're bending over backwards to do everything the way it should be done."

In his report, Evans said, "Unreasonably light fines are ordered upon sentencing, regardless of the culprit's past record, and it is the arresting officer who is on trial."

"I feel that Evans got carried away with himself when he wrote his report," McCallum declared. "Before the horse-betting raid last summer, we didn't have a gambling case of any magnitude brought before us since I don't know when."

The judge was referring to a raid Aug. 29 in Pontiac, in which five persons were arrested on charges of operating a horse-betting ring. The raid was handled by the State Police.

"We used to have quite a few such cases at one time, but none recently," McCallum said.

"If they're interested in cleaning out prostitution, the police ought to bring in some of the male customers," he declared.

"But they don't. In fact, they haven't brought in many prostitutes recently. It's our policy to give jail sentences to any who are out walking the streets."

Judge Maurice E. Finnegan said that he never sentenced offenders in vice cases before speaking with the arresting officers.

"I'd usually give the sentence recommended by the police," he said.

He also noted that far less vice cases are being brought to Municipal Court these days than in the past.

"I thought that we were and are still cooperating with the police," he said.

The report by the vice squad head said that gambling, prostitution and narcotics operations are flourishing in Pontiac.

Might Expand Berlin Proposal

Suggestion by Allies to Consider All Germany May Alter Red Plan

BERLIN (U)—A Soviet spokesman said today the Kremlin's plan to make West Berlin a free, demilitarized city might be "expanded and changed" during negotiations with the Western powers.

The statement came amid Western suggestions that the Soviet drive to get the Allies out of West Berlin should be used as the basis for broad discussions of German reunification — the problem lying at the heart of the current crisis.

A spokesman for the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin indicated the Russians may take a flexible attitude during the six months of negotiations they have proclaimed before trying single-handed to end the four-power occupation of Berlin.

He said he did not regard initial Western reaction to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan as a rejection.

Lord Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin advised the Allies to deal with the problem of uniting Communist East Germany with free West Germany rather than just reacting to the Moscow plan.

British diplomats in London also suggested yet another round of reunification talks, possibly by foreign ministers of the West and Russia or even by heads of government.

Brandt urged Friday night that the Western powers counter Soviet Premier Khrushchev's plan to neutralize West Berlin in six months, with broad proposals on German unification.

He said the West ought to act quickly because the Soviets "may put on pressure before the end of the six-month period."

Diplomatic reports indicate the Western Big Three will reject Khrushchev's ultimatum — which the Soviet boss denies is an ultimatum. Foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization met in Paris Dec. 16-18 and probably will work out the Western reply.

Traffic Deaths Mount to 230 Across Nation

Michigan Toll Stands at 8 for Holiday Period; Is Below Normal

Traffic	230
Fires	24

Hazardous driving conditions contributed today to boosting Michigan's traffic death toll to eight over the long Thanksgiving holiday weekend.

At least three of the deaths were attributable to the weather.

Snow and ice-covered streets added to traffic hazards nationally today and boosted the toll in accident deaths over the weekend.

The hazardous driving conditions, however, appeared to have cut down the volume of traffic on highways, especially in the snow-covered regions.

The Thanksgiving weekend also is not regarded as a period of extra heavy traffic such as on other major holidays.

The number of dead in highway accidents since the start of the Thanksgiving weekend at 6 p.m. Wednesday (local time) showed the toll running about normally or slightly below for the corresponding period at this time of year. The count is to continue until midnight Sunday.

The National Safety Council did not make a preholiday estimate of the traffic toll. It said, however, that 470 deaths could be expected in a similar 102-hour non-holiday period.

An Associated Press survey covering the 102-hour period from 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 12 to midnight Sunday, Nov. 16 showed a traffic death toll of 394. Other violent deaths included 32 in fires and 121 from miscellaneous accidents.

State traffic victims include: Mrs. Barbara Harubin, 64, of Detroit, killed Friday when struck by a skidding car.

Mrs. Leona Murphy, 54, of Dearborn Township, fatally injured Friday when a car in which she was riding skidded.

Jeffrey Garbinski, 6, of Detroit, injured fatally Friday when he and his mother, Dorothy, 29, were struck by a car at an intersection in Detroit. Mrs. Garbinski was hospitalized with injuries.

Mrs. Edna Towle, 75, of Detroit, injured fatally Friday in a two-car collision on icy U.S. 23 in Hartland Township near Brighton. Mrs. Colleen Kay Hovevemy, 20, of Monroe, killed Thursday in an auto-train crash at a crossing near Petersburg.

John Roelens, 22, of Port Huron, killed Thursday when his car skidded on M21 east of Port Huron and crashed into a tree.

Marvin J. Smith, 25, of Flint, killed Thursday when his car rammed a bridge abutment on U.S. 27 near Coldwater.

Lloyd F. Blonshine, 64, of Lowell, was killed Wednesday night when his car skidded on a rural road near Grand Rapids and hit a tree.

Wind-Blown Snow Dumped Over Nation

A fast-moving snow storm, which left a blanket of white across the Midwest prairie lands before it moved eastward, dumped heaviest falls of the season across wide areas today.

The storm, powered by strong winds, spread more than 10 inches of snow in some parts of New England, Pennsylvania, New York and Ohio.

The major snow area extended from northern New England across northern New York State and western Pennsylvania into the Upper Ohio Valley.

South of the snow belt, cold rain chilled Southern sections. Sleet pelted areas in between the snow and rain belts.

Driving conditions were extremely hazardous in many parts of the storm-battered regions. Several persons were killed in traffic accidents due to the ice-slicked and snow-covered highways.

Traffic slowed in the big cities, such as Pittsburgh and Cincinnati, as the first major snow storm of the season hammered in midwinter style across a wide stretch from southwestern Ohio to central New York State and into New England.

It was cold, too, not only in the storm belt but in the snow-covered sections of the country from the Rockies through the Midwest.

The South also was frosty as the icy air plunged into the Gulf Coast and temperatures dipped to near freezing and lower along the middle Gulf Coast.

Snow fell on Alabama as the southern edge of the storm, with near freezing temperatures, advanced into the northern part of the state late Friday.

Warm air clung to the Atlantic Coast region during the night. But it was retreating rapidly as the cold air moved southeastward across the Appalachians.

Temperatures were near 70 late Friday night along the Carolina coast. But at Asheville, in western North Carolina, it was chilly with snow flurries and readings in the 20s.

DPW and Police Struggling Hard to Clear Roads

19 Property Damage Mishaps; Five Injury Accidents Reported

Area residents were busy this morning clearing away the season's first heavy snowfall, while police and DPW workers sought to keep traffic flowing on snow-glazed streets.

Although cold—18 degrees at 8 a.m.—with a low forecast of 12 tonight—Pontiac and Detroit areas were spared the severity of the storm sweeping the Upper Peninsula and the eastern states.

Houghton reported the state's low of zero last night. The mercury was expected to dip to 10 below in the U.P. tonight.

State Police at both Pontiac and Redford Posts, Oakland County sheriff's deputies, and Waterford Township Police reported a total of 19 property damage and five personal injury accidents from 8 a.m. Friday to mid-morning today.

These were only the traffic mishaps which necessitated police assistance. Many other motorists found themselves involved in minor fender bumpers and skidding into ditches throughout the county as roads became more slippery.

Despite the constant salting operations by road crews, the cold temperatures of last night and this morning's snowfall have left even main highways in conditions described by area police as "extremely hazardous."

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecast for the Detroit and Pontiac area predicted less snow today, although this morning's snowfall was quite heavy at times.

'I Want to Borrow $5 ... Collateral? Ball and Bat

LOS ANGELES (AP)—"May I help you?" asked the banker.

"I want to borrow $5," the boy replied.

"What are you going to do with it?"

"Buy a model aircraft carrier kit."

"How much does it cost?"

"Three dollars."

"Then why do you need five?"

"I want to buy some Christmas presents for my mother and father."

Assistant cashier Mike Musante got out a loan-application form.

Name? Billy Juster. Age? Eight. Married? No. Occupation?

"I go to school—and help my father."

"Do you get paid?"

"Yes—15 cents a week."

"Have you anything to put up as collateral?"

Billy handed over a baseball and glove.

"This ball is just about worn out," said Musante. He and Billy agreed it and the glove weren't worth more than $3.

"I've got a bat in the car," Billy said. He ran outside and returned with the bat.

"I think we can lend you the $5," said Musante.

Billy signed a note agreeing to repay the loan at 40 cents a month. Also 8 per cent interest, the bank's rate for small loans—an additional 40 cents.

"If you don't pay, we may have to sell this collateral and maybe repossess your aircraft carrier," Musante warned.

They shook hands. Musante gave Billy five silver dollars. Billy's father, Harmon, general manager of a knitting mill, had stood outside in the lobby of the Bank of America branch throughout the transaction Friday. He told Musante the deal's background:

Billy had asked his dad for the $5 loan. Juster told him: "You know, son, when I need money I go to the bank and borrow it."

"Let's go to the bank," said Billy.

Musante told a reporter: "Ordinarily the bank doesn't make loans to persons under 21. This is a case of instructing the younger generation in getting money the way a dad would have to."

Go Easy on That Brake Pedal Today

SLITHER AND SKID — Mushing along through the slush today, these cars along Huron Street had it easier than those on side streets, which were icy because they had less traffic to churn the snowfall up. Police reported numerous minor accidents when motorists failed to allow themselves sufficient stopping space.

Proposed School Tax Increase Stirs Bloomfield Hills Group

Controversy flared in Bloomfield Hills School District today between the school administration and a group that opposes a proposed four-mill increase in school taxes.

Arthur J. Picotte, who heads a citizens committee against the school-sponsored extra millage, said he would turn to the county superintendent of schools for help.

Trouble centered around the committee's bid to use a school room for a meeting to air protests against the millage proposal, which is due to go before voters at a special election Dec. 8.

Picotte, a retired real estate man of 4019 Quanton Rd., said that Superintendent of Schools Eugene L. Johnson had refused to let him use a schoolroom for a night meeting.

"He (Johnson) is afraid our group will upset the schools' plans to railroad the extra millage through," charged Picotte.

"The main issue is that we, as taxpayers, have been denied access to the schools, which are public property," was the angry explanation of H. V. Beggs, of 5 Island Dr., another member of the citizens committee.

Johnson said, however, he had purposes," Johnson said. "It's their schools, their money and their children that are involved." not denied the group use of a school room, but had merely requested that the committee file a written application.

"We are not sure of the composition of the group and a written application is the School Board's policy when that is the case," Johnson said.

Picotte turned down the offer, arguing there was no guarantee that a written request would reach the board before the election takes place.

Johnson said if Picotte had his application in Monday, it would go before the board Monday night.

"We don't question the citizens' right to dispute the extra millage or use school rooms for public use," Picotte said he would ask County Superintendent of Schools William J. Emerson Monday to help his group get a school room either in the Bloomfield Hills School District or other district nearby.

"We want to hold a meeting so the people will have a chance to hear both sides before the election," explained Picotte.

Winter Cold Catches Up With Ike

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — Winter caught up today with President Eisenhower, but it was debatable whether near-freezing temperatures would be sufficient to keep him off the golf course.

Rains, long awaited by residents of this parched area, fell during much of the night and the thermometer dropped into the low 30's after days of Indian Summer temperatures in the high seventies.

Although it was damp and blustery yesterday, the President squeezed in nine holes during the late afternoon between a light shower and dusk.

This was a relatively open day on the Chief Executive's schedule aside from morning paper work in his office at the Augusta National Golf Club and possibly another telephone report from Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the international situation, particularly the Berlin crisis which seemed to be losing its immediacy.

The Chief Executive will forego attendance at church tomorrow because of an important conference here with Dulles.

Picotte claimed that in his position as director of the township's Federation of Civic Associations he had been able to make verbal arrangements for use of a school room a dozen times this year.

"It is significant that when we want to meet to protest a rise in school taxes, we have to fill out written forms," he said.

Deadlock Keeps Airlines Tied Up

One Third of Nation's Liners Likely Grounded for Rest of Weekend

From Our News Wires
Deadlocked negotiations kept one-third of the nation's airlines grounded today, apparently for the duration of the weekend, and another crippling strike threatened at American Airlines despite admonitions from a federal judge.

The Air Lines Pilots Assn. discounted as a "public relations maneuver" an offer by American Airlines to resume negotiations Saturday or Sunday, and went ahead with plans to set a new strike deadline that would idle about 1,500 pilots.

Wednesday night the twin strike snarled holiday travel and diverted thousands of airline passengers to bus and rail lines. But on Thanksgiving Day, a midholiday lull settled in, and the airlines still operating were easily able to take up the slack created by the walk-outs.

Judge Frederick Van Pelt Bryan in New York extended yesterday a temporary injunction barring a strike against American, saying both sides were guilty of a "silly exhibition" in failing to meet with federal mediators earlier this week.

The ALPA said it would return to court in New York Monday in a further attempt to have the injunction lifted.

In Miami, Judge Emmett C. Choate said 550 flight engineers who walked out at Eastern Air Lines six days ago had no right to bargain on the issue of whether the third man in the cockpit of jet airplanes should be a pilot or engineer.

However, the International Assn. of Machinists said there were other issues to be settled before the walkout which shut down EAL operations could be ended.

In Kansas City, federal mediator Frank Switzer said nothing could be done to ease a strike against Trans World Airlines until either side relaxed its bargaining stand.

There also was no letup in the stewardesses' strike against Little Lake Central Airlines, a Midwest feeder route. The hostesses walked through four inches of snow in picket lines at Indianapolis Friday, but pilots continued to cross the lines and maintained normal service.

Pontiac's second report on its proposed urban renewal project was sent to Urban Renewal Administration regional officials in Chicago yesterday.

This was titled the Project Eligibility and Relocation Report, which has been under preparation since May. It details all the preliminary planning to date, according to Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager.

Stierer said he expects URA approval of the report by February. With approval, local planners will begin final planning, which may take about a year, Stierer estimated.

The city's initial report, an application for an advance study grant, was filed a year ago and approved last March. Pontiac got a $30,000 advance as a result.

The final report will be an application for about $1,600,000 in federal aid to help finance the $4,000,000 project.

First Snowfall Hits Area

considerable cloudiness and cold with scattered snow flurries today. The high today will be 25 degrees with a low of 12 predicted for tonight.

The reading was 23 at 1 p.m. Winds will be southwest to westerly at 20 to 30 m.p.h. Considerable cloudiness, windy and cold with scattered snow flurries is the outlook for tonight and Sunday, with tomorrow's high reaching 26 degrees.

Monday's outlook is for partly cloudy in Southern Michigan and mostly cloudy in the north with scattered snow flurries in northern sections.

The heaviest snow today and Sunday is expected to fall in areas close to the Great Lakes.

With low temperatures keeping the snow from melting into slush, highways throughout the county have been very slippery.

The slippery roads resulted in several injuries to motorists last night and this morning. An accident on M87 in Holly Township injured four persons.

A car driven by Conrad B. Lacy, 30, of Fenton, went out of control on icy pavement and struck a tree, sheriff's deputies said.

Lacy and a passenger, Stewart Chandler, 17, of Fenton, were treated for head injuries by a Fenton doctor.

Two other passengers, Wayne Walverton, 17, of Holly Township, and Phillip Harris, 17, of Fenton, were treated at Hurley Hospital in Flint.

A 71-year-old Davisburg man, Arthur C. McCafferty, of 4200 Brooks Field St., was treated for head cuts at Pontiac General Hospital early this morning after his auto slid on ice and struck a tree on Ormond road, in White Lake Township, according to deputies.

An identical accident on Cooley Lake road near Hiller road, Waterford Township, yesterday sent the driver, Marion E. Kuebler, 45, of 1895 Petrolia St., to Pontiac General Hospital for treatment of head cuts.

A collision of two cars, attributed to slippery pavement, also resulted in minor injuries to another driver, Patricia A. Daley, 24, and her companion Jeanne Voelgang, 20, both of Birmingham. The collision took place at W. Maple and Franklin roads in Bloomfield Township, according to state troopers.

Typical of the multitude of property damage accidents was one which eventually involved two cars and a wrecker at 3249 Livernois Ave., Avon Township, shortly before 7 last night.

Deputies said one driver lost control of his car on ice and skidded into a ditch. The driver, injured, called for a wrecker.

The wrecker arrived and while trying to pull the car from the ditch, another motorist going south skidded into the wrecker.

No one was injured.

Measles Kill More Than Polio in '57

WASHINGTON (AP)—Measles deaths during 1957 outnumbered deaths caused by polio—the first time since 1944 that this had occurred.

A Public Health Service official said today the Salk polio vaccine was largely responsible. There is no measles vaccine.

In 1957 there were an estimated 410 measles deaths compared with an estimated 230 from polio. The 1956 totals were 530 from measles and 566 from polio.

In 1944 there were 1,923 from measles and 1,361 from polio.

Deaths from measles have been going down gradually for many years. Better nutrition of infants is the major factor, the service said.

The Day in Birmingham

Handel's Messiah Music to Highlight Yule Season

BIRMINGHAM—A musical highlight of the holiday season here will be the annual presentation of the Advent and Christmas portions of Handel's Messiah at the First Presbyterian Church.

This year's performance is scheduled for 8 p.m. Dec. 7 in the church with the 71 voice choir participating.

L. Robert Slusser, minister of music, said several new versions of the arias and one new chorus "Breath Forth Into Joy" will be heard here for the first time.

Piano soloists will be Mildred G. Ritter, associate organist at the host church, and Kent McDonald, organist and choirmaster at St. James Episcopal Church. Vocal soloists are Ruth Killeen, Alice Enggram, Laverne Nancarrow, Russell Skitch, and Amasa Tiffany.

Two Birmingham service clubs have announced programs of special interest next week.

The Lions Club, whose project is "Aid to the Blind," will take part in Leader Dog Week activities with a public information campaign. They will tell how the afflicted may obtain leader dogs from the famed Rochester school.

Birmingham Kiwanis Club at their Tuesday dinner meeting in the Community House will hear a talk by F. W. Ready on invisible wave-lengths and their germicidal effects on bacteria both in the air and on the earth's surface.

Ready is special applications coordinator for Detroit Edison.

The Past Noble Grand Club of Birmingham Rebekah Lodge 445 will meet for a Christmas dinner and gift exchange at Aunt Fanny's Restaurant on N. Woodward Ave., Royal Oak, at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 9.

Mrs. Edna Luth, of 991 Humphrey Ave., will accept reservations until Thursday.

ELMER W. MATTHEWS
Service for Elmer W. Matthews, 74, of 783 Bannville St., will be held at 1 p.m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit.

Moroccan Girl Weds U. S. Gob Despite Red Tape

DETROIT (AP)—International red tape failed to snarl the determination of a Moroccan girl and her U.S. Navy sweetheart, and so Saadia bent Mohammed and sailor James L. Martin were married in Detroit yesterday.

Saadia, a petite olive-skinned girl, fell in love with James two years ago when he was stationed at a Navy base adjacent to her hometown of Kenitra, Morocco. But their planned marriage was blocked at first by the religious objections of her Moslem homeland.

Moroccan law forbids the marriage of a Moslem Moroccan woman to a non-Moslem male, and Saadia could get neither a passport nor a birth certificate for a while. But finally, with the help of the American consul in Rabat, the couple succeeded in efforts to be reunited in this country.

Saadia will live with her mother-in-law here while Martin completes the remaining 3½ years of his hitch in the Navy.

Dragnet Spread for Cop-Killer

Said Highly Dangerous, Georgia Prison Escapee Is Reportedly Armed

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — A dragnet was spread today in an effort to capture 32-year-old cop-killer Spence Edwards who fled a Dalton, Ga., prison camp Tuesday.

The FBI listed Edwards as "extremely dangerous" and said he is armed.

The search had been centered in the Birmingham area since Wednesday night, when he freed three teen-agers whom he forced to drive him from Tennessee.

The escapee was serving a life term for killing a Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent 11 years ago.

The three youths who said Edwards kidnaped them, told police at Birmingham that they saw Edwards flag a passing car in Birmingham and force the driver to pick him up.

Birmingham police said no evidence of a kidnapping has been uncovered here. They said Edwards apparently was met by prearrangement.

Edwards was believed trying to get to Murfreesboro, Tenn., in an attempt to free his brother, Harry, charged with killing his father-in-law.

Harry appealed in a radio broadcast for his brother to surrender. He vowed that he wouldn't leave jail with him.

17 New Cases of Polio in Michigan Last Week

LANSING (AP) — The State Health Department reports 17 new cases of polio were recorded in Michigan in the past week, including seven paralytic.

There were only two cases reported during the same week last year.

There have been 1,201 cases listed in Michigan so far this year compared to 489 during the same period a year ago.

Convicts 'Adopt' Girl in Greece, Send Her Gifts

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — A 10-year-old girl who lives in a remote mountain village in Greece will get a letter, gifts and money for a big Christmas party from her 5,000 "dads" in the United States—but no visit.

The "dads" are San Quentin Prison convicts.

The men "adopted" Diamanto Samartzis in September through Foster Parents Plan, Inc., a New York charity organization. They donated $1,400 for her support, from which she gets $15 a month.

For a Christmas party the little girl will get $25 extra from the fund which will buy quite a bit in Greece.

"It's something like handing a kid $250 to go to the candy store," a prison official said.

A Christmas package will contain presents, mostly handmade by the prisoners.

San Quentin officials said the biggest problem was to keep the convicts from going overboard on Diamanto's Christmas.

"A lot of them wanted to send their own money," said Associate Warden Walter Achuff, "and a good many asked if they couldn't have their families send money."

"We had to turn them down, because Foster Parents Plan feels the needy children should be treated as nearly equally as possible."

Scores of inmates wanted to have their handmade gifts included in the package Santa Claus will deliver to the Samartzis' one-room cottage. But the presents had to be limited too.

Diamanto wrote her San Quentin "fathers" recently, describing her small village. "I'll keep praying every day for you," she wrote. The convicts decided on the "adoption" after seeing a motion picture, which had been put out by Foster Parents Plan.

Short Tax Form Limit Increased

Maximum Income for Filing Easy Way Up to $10,000 in '58

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) reminded taxpayers that maximum income for filing the "short form" tax returns for 1958 has been boosted to $10,000.

The revenue service said it was issuing the reminder because about 53 million 1958 W-2 forms (statements of earnings and tax withheld) incorrectly carry a maximum figure of $5,000. The forms were printed before the income limit was doubled.

Some taxpayers who changed jobs this year have already received W-2 statements showing the old limit.

An IRS spokesman said the forms printed before the change would be used, that they amounted to about half the total W-2 printing.

Under the new rules, taxpayers may use the short return, form 1040A, if their wage or salary income was less than $10,000 in 1958 and other earnings did not top $200. Married couples may file a joint return on form 1040A, if their combined income did not exceed these limits.

The IRS estimated that about 31 million taxpayers will be eligible to file on form 1040A, a punch card about the size of a bank check. About 14 million persons used it in 1957.

Vets to Get 1/4 Billion Insurance Dividends

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dividends totalling 256 million dollars will be paid during 1959 to more than five million veterans holding participating government GI life insurance policies.

Summer G. Whittier, veterans administrator, today said the dividends are primarily a refund of part of the premium payments.

He added this was made possible because the death rate among policyholders continues to be lower than the tables upon which the premiums were based.

Some 4,950,000 holders of National Service Life Insurance which originated in World War II will get 235 million dollars.

About 285,000 who have U.S. Government Life Insurance which originated in World War I will get 21 million.

The 1959 dividends will total six million dollars less than those declared this year.

Whittier said individual policyholders will generally receive about the same amount as in 1958 because the number of policies in force declines each year.

The 1959 dividends will be paid as soon as possible after the anniversary date of each policy.

Suing Liz Taylor for a Million Dollars

VIENNA (UPI) — Film actress Elizabeth Taylor, widow of producer Mike Todd, is being sued for one million dollars in a local court on grounds that the theme tune in the movie "Around the World in 80 Days" was stolen from a Viennese operetta.

Viennese-born Mrs. Johanna Kahn claims that the tune used in the Todd production was completely plagiarized from the operetta "Orlow" written by her deceased father Bruno Granichstaeten, a famous composer.

Composer-conductor Victor Young is listed as one of the co-defendants in the suit filed by Mrs. Kahn.

The suit was filed last week by Vienna barrister Leo Lang on behalf of Mrs. Kahn, officials of the Vienna commercial court said.

The operetta, which is still being performed in Austria, was written in 1925.

Soviet Visitors Enjoy East Lansing Homes

EAST LANSING (AP) — Two East Lansing housewives agreed today that the visiting Russian educators they entertained in their homes on Thanksgiving were perfect holiday guests.

"They ate everything that was served, had perfect manners, were interesting in conversation and played with the children after dinner," reported Mrs. Lincoln Pettit and Mrs. Durward B. Varner.

Each was a hostess to one of the Soviet visitors and an interpreter. The nine-member group from Russia spent four days on the Michigan State University campus.

Mrs. Pettit, whose husband, an assistant professor of natural science, spent last summer in Russia, entertained Dr. A. A. Smirnov, a youth psychology specialist.

"He was friendly, jovial and interesting," she said. "He said he was going to tell his wife about my dinner. He seemed astonished when I told him that I had no help in preparing the meal, that we have three boys and that I take three courses at the university."

Dr. A. I. Markushevich, first assistant minister of education, was a guest at the Varner home. Varner is MSU vice president for off campus affairs.

"He gave books to the children and seemed to really enjoy the turkey dinner," Mrs. Varner said. "He seemed to like the family circle atmosphere."

She reported that the visitor kept up a continual barrage of questions about education here. When asked of his impressions of this country, he replied with a proverb: "It is better to see once than hear a thousand times."

The Soviet delegation visited the Oldsmobile plant and the State Department of Public Instruction today before leaving by plane this evening for Chicago.

Hard Choice for English

HARLINGTON, England (UPI) — Residents of this village were faced today with what is, for Englishmen, a horrendous choice. Living Room Comfort With IN-CAR HEATERS That Really Heats

background for LIVING

LOOKS BIGGER — The use of birch poles extending from counter top to ceiling makes Mrs. Riley's kitchen seem bigger than it is. This open stairway idea is being used successfully in small homes. Below the counter at the right is closed storage. At the left is a counter top adjacent to the stove. Mrs. Riley pours out a cup of coffee for the Press photographer and the Home Editor.

Your Neighbor's House

Three Generations Live Here

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In the past three or four years a number of subdivisions have sprung up north of what was once the small village of Walled Lake. Now Walled Lake is a city in itself with greatly expanded boundaries; and a good-sized area northwest of there has become Wolverine Lake Village. Payne Manor is one of the subdivisions in Wolverine Lake.

Canals dug behind some of the houses give residents access to the lake. There are both ranch type homes and bi-levels built along the curving streets. Mrs. Albert R. Riley lives in one of the ranch homes on Ethel drive.

A widow, Mrs. Riley keeps house for her five-year-old son, Michael, and her father, Raymond P. Johnson. The fourth member of the family is a parakeet named Dickie.

The Riley house was built by Haines and Powell of Detroit and has been home to them since May of 1957. Their lot is 80x150 feet. The exterior is red brick with white trim.

The front door opens right into the living room. Just inside the door is a coat closet. There is a nine-light picture window at the front of the house and a large window in the dining ell. Draperies on both windows are beige with a rust and green leafy pattern.

Walls are pale green with a white drop ceiling. All floors are polished oak. Woodwork is natural birch. There is a large hooked rug on the living room floor; pastel flowers are scattered over a beige background.

A rust sofa is placed along one wall with a wide mirror above it. Near the window is a gold platform rocker and a tall wooden rocker.

On the shorter wall a deep rose upholstered chair is placed next to a mahogany piecrust table.

Square pedestal tables flank the sofa, hold white glass lamps. There is an oval Duncan Phyfe table in the dining ell. Lyre back chairs have deep turquoise seat covers. Under the window is a buffet. On the wall opposite the table there's a tall china cabinet.

KITCHEN FEATURE

Mrs. Riley's kitchen is interesting. Instead of a wall surrounding the stairwell, the space was left open and birch poles were installed from counter top to ceiling.

When Mrs. Riley tried to get some one to put in these poles, she was told it couldn't be done because of the way the ceiling beams ran. Finally she found an enterprising carpenter who put in the necessary reinforcements in the attic.

There is storage space below the red counter top that follows the line of the poles. All other counter tops are also red Formica. Natural birch cabinets have black iron hardware.

The linoleum is mottled in blue and red. Walls are creamy yellow. There is a red ruffle around the window and white cafe curtains with a red kitchen print.

In the basement there is a fireplace in what will be a recreation room someday. Mike has plenty of play space down there.

Grandpa has the first bedroom. His walls are sandalwood shade; his curtains white. Furniture is golden maple. All bedrooms have folding metal closet doors.

Mrs. Riley's room is a corner one. Her walls are pink.

KEEPING WATCH — At five you are big enough to go to school. But you still like some of the comforts of your earlier years — teddy bears, for instance. This is Mike Riley's big bed in his own room. Cherished story books have a spot all their own. When mother finds a lamp to go over the bed, Mike will have all the comforts of home.

IN PAYNE MANOR — This small ranch home belongs to Mrs. Albert R. Riley. It is a red brick on Ethel drive in Wolverine Lake Village. Builders were Haines and Powell of Detroit. Mrs. Riley has occupied the house since May of 1957. Some of the other homes in this subdivision are bi-level models with frontage on canals leading to Wolverine Lake.

oval table back against the wall, there is ample space to a passageway through the room.

CHIME AND CLOCK — A door chime that hides behind a smart wall clock is the newest double-purpose built-in from NuTone, Inc. The chime has chord tones, a NuTone discovery which blends several tones at once to give a rich melodious sound. The clock dial is anodized aluminum in a choice of copper, gold or silver finish. Telechron clock movement.

INSULATED DUCT — Fiberglass duct materials for residences are easy to handle and simple to install because they are light in weight. The model demonstrates this light weight by holding a six foot length of the material which in one product is both the insulation and the duct. The product is being announced by Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation.

SANTA DISPLAY — The Santa, reindeer and sleigh scene pictured here with NBC's Dawn Oney and her little boy Danny is certainly easy to make. It may be used on a roof, in a yard or any other place where you want to show your Christmas spirit. To make the scene, all that's necessary is to trace the full size patterns on plywood or hardboard. After that you saw them out. Next you paint the little deer, the sleigh and Santa himself. It's very easy because you simply paint over the tracings you have made on the wood. The full size pattern tells the colors to use and gives complete directions. Of course you may make as many deer as you wish, we've pictured four, but you will probably want more. The same patterns can be used over and over. This is an excellent project for all youngsters from 8 to 80. Simple tools are all you need. To obtain the full size patterns No. C-4 for Santa, his reindeer and sleigh, send by airmail $2 check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

TIME-TELLING CHEST — The chest pictured here with NBC's young television actor Steven Poole is easy to build and inexpensive when you do it yourself. Of course, the clock can be set for all hours which teaches a child how to tell time and which often helps to eliminate that nightly 'time-to-go-to-bed' argument. The five little pull toys, shown in the picture, are also easily made from full size patterns. You simply trace the patterns on wood, then saw out the parts and put them together. Painting is no problem because you merely paint over the tracings. The cost is slight, scrap wood is all that's required. Each of the toys is animated. To obtain the toy chest pattern No. 137 for 75c or the assorted pull toy patterns No. C-1 for $1.00 send your coin, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

COMFORTABLE — Comfortable seating arrangements and plenty of lamps add up to a pleasant room in which to relax. The pastel rug is hand hooked. Draperies are beige with a leafy pattern.

tern. Walls are green. All woodwork is natural finished birch. The front door opens directly into the living room.

Goodfellows to Sell Special Press Copies

ROCHESTER — In an effort to raise $2,500, this year's goal, the Rochester, Brooklands Goodfellows will include the sale of 2,000 special Rochester editions of The Pontiac Press today along with other newspapers.

The money will be used to aid needy children in this area, especially during the holidays.

The Metropolitan Club will also sponsor a party for 300 underprivileged children with funds received from the sale.

State Tax Take Still Runs Low

But Percentage Drop in November Smaller Than Previous Months

LANSING (U) — Sales and use tax collections, the major source of state revenue, continued a slump in November that has persisted all year.

November collections totaled $26,036,190, down $824,581 or about 3.1 per cent from the total of $26,860,771 during the same month last year.

The total has been down from the previous year every month since last December.

Clarence W. Lock, deputy director of the State Revenue Department, said there was one ray of encouragement in the figure.

"The drop of slightly more than 3 per cent is encouraging from this standpoint," he said. "Collections during the last four months have been running about 7 per cent off."

"We're starting to close the gap and maybe by next month we'll be breaking even with the collections of a year ago. Previously we've been making our comparisons against good months. Now we'll be going against months when the slump was under way."

Lock said a pickup in automotive sales was mainly responsible for the lesser drop.

The first automobile to travel more than a mile a minute sped down a straightaway course on Ocean Parkway, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Nov. 16, 1901.
