State Senate Nears Debate on Wage Bill

Firing Clause Would Allow Legal Action Against Employers

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George W. Romney's $1 hourly minimum wage bill, holding promise of more pay for 100,000 persons near the bottom of the economic ladder, was ready for Senate debate today.

In rapid development yesterday, the bill was amended to tighten a loophole, approved 5-1 by the Senate Labor Committee and advanced toward debate over Republican opposition.

The bill's floor managers beat off three Republican attempts today to delay debate on the measure. Each time only 12 or 13 Republicans would go on record in voting for postponement.

★ ★ ★

A coalition of Democrats and Romney's Republican leaders mustered majorities of 15 of more votes in the tests.

The committee, headed by Sen. Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids, wrote in a provision making it a misdemeanor for employers systematically to fire help to avoid paying the minimum.

The Senate last year passed a minimum wage bill, but it was killed in the House despite Romney's backing.

But last month the House approved the new bill, 91-13, with all voting opposition coming from Republicans representing mostly rural areas.

The bill facing the Senate applies to all employes between the ages of 18 and 65 who work more than 13 weeks for the same employer, and to all employers with more than four employes.

Democrats were solidly behind the measure. Their caucus leader, Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, has predicted the bill will pass the Senate.

★ ★ ★

The immediate impact of the measure would be felt by hotels, restaurants, car washes and retail merchants, whose management organizations have vigorously fought it in public hearings.

UNION SUPPORT

Labor unions, particularly speaking for waitresses and hotel employes, have just as stubbornly fought for the bill during public hearings.

Johnson Sets Monday Date for Full Report

Sides Must Reach Decision; No Word Yet on U. S. Action

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today that the tempo of bargaining in the railroad labor dispute "will be stepped up considerably" with day and night sessions from now on.

The statement from Press Secretary George Reedy followed word from President Johnson yesterday that he expects to know by next Monday whether the parties to the long work rules dispute will settle it for themselves.

Johnson's statement implied a shortened deadline for a voluntary agreement to head off a threatened nationwide strike.

Reedy said the day and night sessions will continue until federal mediators make the report Johnson asked for by Monday.

Reedy said that after six days of exploratory talks, the bargaining sessions are moving into an entirely new stage—that of attempting to get both sides to modify their proposals.

MAJOR EFFORT

"A major effort will be made to achieve modification of the proposals," Reedy said.

The issues basically involve railroad proposals to make changes in wage structure, job classifications and working conditions which the unions contend would amount to heavy pay cuts and elimination of many jobs.

The unions have countered with proposals relating to overtime pay, paid holidays, night differential, expenses away from home and other money issues.

Reedy said the stepped-up sessions were scheduled by the mediators, headed by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz, who are working under the personal instructions of the President.

AGAIN DECLINED

Reedy again declined to characterize the atmosphere and the prospects of the talks, which Johnson arranged last Friday to avert a strike. A 15-day postponement Johnson won expires at 12:01 a.m. April 25.

Reedy said the talks so far

MRS. M. D. PETRIE

Heads Women in UF Drive

To Lead Volunteers in Area Campaign

A busy Pontiac mother of four, Mrs. Merrell D. Petrie, today was named head of the women's campaign committee for the 1964 Pontiac Area United Fund.

In making the appointment, Bruce J. Annett, general campaign chairman, said Mrs. Petrie will be in charge of dozens of subchairmen and some 1,300 volunteers in the fall fund-raising drive.

Last year, under Mrs. William Brace, the women's division raised $32,644, topping its goal by 113 per cent.

Mrs. Petrie, of 243 Cherokee, is the wife of the executive vice president of American Tape Co. She has been active in past United Fund drives and served in American Red Cross programs since 1942.

Indiana Visit by Wallace Stirs Voters

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The tempo and the temperature of the Indiana Democratic presidential primary rose sharply today after a one-day visit to Indianapolis of Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

★ ★ ★

The Indiana primary is the second of three Wallace will enter this year. He polled over 250,000 votes in Wisconsin's presidential primary early this month and is also entered in the Maryland primary.

★ ★ ★

Wallace drew a blistering denunciation from Gov. Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana, whom he will oppose in the May 5 primary.

Welsh, who entered the presidential primary only to claim Hoosier delegates' votes for President Johnson, quickly said he was "not interested" in an invitation from Wallace to debate.

The usually mild-mannered Welsh said in a statement, "This is the man whose beliefs were responsible for the deaths of innocent children in the bombing of a Sunday School class" in Birmingham, Ala.

★ ★ ★

Outside a chemistry lecture hall where Wallace answered Butler University students' questions, another group of students picketed with signs like "No Racism in Indiana."

'NOT A RACIST'

"I'm not a racist," Wallace told the applauding students inside.

"A racist is one who hates another person in his heart because of his color.

"I would not be a segregationist president. I would be a state and local rights president."

★ ★ ★

The student audience, asked to choose between the policies of the governors in a mock primary, voted for Wallace over Welsh, 70-55.

Senate Urged to Set Code on Standards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., recommended today that the Senate adopt a code of ethics on "influence" to cover both senators and Senate employes.

★ ★ ★

As a first-step outgrowth of the Bobby Baker investigation, Cannon proposed outlawing of use of influence for personal gain by any member, officer or employe of the Senate.

Cannon is a member of the rules committee investigating the outside business activities of Baker, former Senate Democratic secretary.

In proposing a code of ethics, Cannon reserved judgment on requiring senators to disclose their financial holdings.

★ ★ ★

He said he found "some merit" in an objection to this by Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill. Dirksen says this would make "class B citizens" of the lawmakers.

IN SPEECH

Cannon outlined his proposal in a Senate speech. His recommended code of ethics would make a violating senator subject to Senate censure or other penalty decided by the Senate itself, and punish officers and employes with dismissal, in addition to any other penalties of existing law.

The Nevada senator said he believed the rules committee will be in "better position to study the ramifications of a disclosure bill when the passions of this moment have subsided somewhat."

He said he did not want to "close the door . . . to further discussion on disclosure proposals."

New Dem Plan for Districting

Aimed at Acquiring Oakland Seats

While Gov. George Romney's solution to Michigan's congressional districting problem appeared headed for trouble today, another solution was thrown on the table that would give Democrats a better shot at two Oakland County seats.

The new plan was introduced by House minority leader Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, as Democrats held back from voting on Romney's plan.

Kowalski's plan was frankly designed to "give the Democrats a better chance of carrying the two Oakland County seats," said Rep. Joseph Gillis, D-Detroit.

Romney's and other Republican plans would, on the basis of past voting records, keep the 18th District safe for the GOP by confining it to the southeastern part of Oakland County.

Kowalski's plan would reduce the Oakland County part of the district and tack on a part of Detroit and all of Highland Park, both strongly Democratic areas.

NOW GOP

Richard Milliman, Romney's press secretary, said the governor felt "Kowalski's plan would sew up the 18th congressional seat now held by Republican Rep. William S. Broomfield for the Democrats."

Broomfield last year chose to run for reelection in the 18th district when it was reduced from its former county-wide size to the southeastern cities and the rest of the county went into a new 19th district with Livingston County.

The districting law that made those changes, however, has been ruled unconstitutional and unusable by a panel of three federal court judges who said population differences among the state's 19 districts were too great.

★ ★ ★

Kowalski's plan would have a population difference of only 3,406 between the largest and the smallest districts, compared to 3,585 in Romney's plan.

AT-LARGE ELECTION

State legislators must draw acceptable districts in time for use this year or the state may have at-large balloting for congressmen this year.

Some say the legislature must give immediate effect to any new districting bill for it to be in time. Democratic support would be needed for the two-thirds approval required.

Republican plans would put part of northwestern Wayne County into the 19th and take

McNamara Tells of Cutbacks

More Military Bases to Close

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara told Congress today to expect more economy closings of military installations—but he didn't say where or when.

McNamara testified before the Senate-House Economic Committee that his department's cost-cutting program is "a going concern in every respect," and should reach its goal of $4 billion a year savings by 1967.

The secretary ran into a flurry of questions when he said reviews are being made of "Army arsenals, naval ordnance plants, naval shipyards, aircraft maintenance and overhaul facilities" and "I hope to be able to announce further cost savings in this area in the months ahead."

Pressed particularly as to the future of the 11 naval shipyards, McNamara said "I think there is no doubt we have excess capacity and one or more will have to be closed."

He said he will personally visit every shipyard and talk to labor and community leaders before any decision is made.

PERSONAL REVIEW

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., suggested there should be a central agency in the Defense Department to review closings.

McNamara said there already is—that every decision was referred to Asst. Secretary Thomas D. Morris "and I personally examined all the actions and determined they were justified."

He agreed with Javits that community leaders need help in finding the appropriate sources of readjustment aid within the government.

★ ★ ★

But McNamara also told Javits, who brought up the closing of an air materiel depot in Rome, N.Y., that the office needs local cooperation and that in Rome there had been criticism rather than cooperation.

COMPETITIVE BUYING

McNamara said his department is managing to do more of its buying on a competitive basis and has developed a new technique to provide some competition even on contracts for technical items too complicated for full advertised competition.

★ ★ ★

The department also is shifting as much as possible from cost-plus-fee contracts to fixed-priced and similar methods, he said, and is also devising ways to eliminate some middlemen and buy standard components direct from producers.

Car Hits Boy; Injuries Fatal

Troy Child, 4, Struck in Front of Home

Four-year-old Russell Nichols of Troy died early today of head injuries suffered yesterday when he was hit by a car in front of his home at 776 Robinwood.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols, Russell was playing with friends at the side of the road about 6:30 p. m. when the accident occurred.

He was struck by a car driven by Lillian Courville, 19, of 193 Cherry, Troy.

Miss Courville told police she saw the children and slowed her car. She said she heard the car hit something, looked in the rear-view mirror and saw the child lying in the street.

Russell died shortly before 1 a. m. today in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak. His body is at the Sawyer Funeral Home, Berkley.

New Smooth Method for Picking Jurors

PUNCH HAPPY — County Clerk-Register David R. Calhoun looks pleased as he checks on the progress of a hole-punching project to facilitate operation of a new jury selection system. Doing the punching as operators of key-punch machines are Miss Ruth Stilwell (left) and Mrs. David Martin.

By JIM DYGERT

Because five young women are busy punching holes in a lot of cards, Oakland County's new method of picking jurors for Circuit Court trials should work smoothly when it goes into operation later this year.

When the gals finish their job on five key-punch machines in about three months, all the registered voters in the county — about 300,000 of them — will be listed on cards.

The new system requires that jurors be picked at random from voter registration records by three jury commissioners appointed by the county board of supervisors.

Under the old method, they were picked from tax rolls by township supervisors and city assessors.

This system was criticized for preventing juries from representing a true cross section of the county's populace since only property owners could be chosen. So the law was changed.

THREE OF FIVE

Three of the five key-punch machines are stationed at Pontiac, Birmingham and Royal Oak city halls.

Reds Close Office; Reported K's Death

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union today ordered the closing of the Moscow office of the West German news agency DPA, which on Monday circulated a false report that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had died.

In a Russian-language transmission, Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the order was issued because the agency, Deutsche Presse Agentur, has been "spreading provocative and false reports concerning the U.S.S.R."

The agency's Moscow correspondent, whose name was given only as Wurzel, "has been asked to leave the Soviet Union within 24 hours," Tass said.

The Tass announcement made no mention of DPA's erroneous report about Khrushchev.

Juror List Readied

ly from voter registration records and punched on cards in a code which other data-processing equipment can read.

The other two key-punchers are clicking along at a rate of 120 or 130 cards an hour in the office of County Clerk-Register David R. Calhoun.

These are eating up data from microfilmed copies of voter registrations of small cities and townships where it would be too costly to set up a machine.

YEAR'S SUPPLY

Calhoun is in charge of the project, which will make things easy for the three jury commissioners when they begin work next month on the task of coming up with a year's supply of 700 jurors by September.

To do this, the three — Draper Allen, Elmer Johnson and Mrs. Elmer Rowley—will feed the punched IBM cards into an IBM sorter at the county board of education office.

Cards are being filed according to city and township and will be fed into the sorter the same way. The machine will spit out a predetermined number at random for each city and township.

Pontiac will provide 164 prospects, Royal Oak 161, Waterford Township 94 and so forth, at a rate of roughly one for every 500 population (at least seven, however, from every city and township, regardless of size).

1,427 SELECTED

All told, 1,427 names will thus be selected; and from these, the commissioners will hope to get 700 qualified and able to serve as jurors after sending them questionnaires and interviewing them.

When a jury panel of 200 is needed for a month-long jury term, 90 per cent of them will be able to serve because preliminary screening will already have been done by the commissioners, according to those who like the new system.

Under the present system, a panel of 200 gets its first screening from the presiding judge just before a jury term begins. Many times less than 100 can serve.

* * *

The new system was made possible by state legislation passed at the request of the county after years of pressure from attorneys who criticized the old system and claimed it sometimes resulted in "petty patronage" by rural supervisors.

SUPPORTERS CLAIM

Lawyers and other supporters of the new system charged that some supervisors often put unemployed or retired friends on the list so they could collect the $8-a-day jury fee.

The old system also was criticized for producing "professional jurors" who turned up repeatedly on the juries because the pool from which prospects were chosen was limited.

The county board of supervisors last year decided to start the system on a trial basis after legislators amended the first bill passed at the county's request to cut the term of jury commissioners from six years to two years.

* * *

Calhoun estimates the key-punch project is costing about $6,000, mostly in wages for four expert key-punchers hired for the job. The machines are leased at $60 a month.

ROTATING BASIS

The fifth machine is run on a rotating basis by girls from various county departments who want some key-punch experience in anticipation of the day when county government will rely more on automatic data-processing equipment.

* * *

Calhoun says his office will keep one of the machines to punch information changes in the cards.

* * *

He estimates every year produces 70,000 such alterations (new registrations, address changes, deaths, etc.).

Cabbie Aids in Recapture

Raymond D. Puett, 24, who escaped from the Oakland County Jail yesterday by posing as a prisoner scheduled for release, was recaptured two hours later near Rochester.

Puett answered for Albert Burch, 24, in the 8 a.m. roll call for departing prisoners. He then donned Burch's clothes, walked out of jail and hailed a cab.

Deputies realized the wrong man had been set free when Burch stepped out of a shower and asked when he would be released.

Puett's downfall was telling his cabbie about the escape. In a routine check of cab drivers, deputies located the one who drove the prisoner to a bar at M59 and M150, three miles south of Rochester.

Deputy Billy Nolan made the arrest, and Puett's two hours of freedom ended.

Puett, of 2873 Leach, Avon Township, had been in jail since March 12 awaiting trial on a concealed weapons charge. He faces a possible year's sentence for the escape.

Reveal Details of Arms Freeze

GENEVA (AP)—The United States today unveiled details of its proposal for a freeze on the major powers' stocks of nuclear missiles and bombers.

* * *

In an effort to counter Soviet charges of espionage, U.S. Disarmament Delegate Adrian S Fisher said no inventory or control of the total number of weapons held by each side would be required, but added that a rigorous control and inspection system would be set up.

The freeze would affect:

1. Ground-based, surface - to - surface missiles with a range of more than 1,000 kilometers (621 miles) together with their launching pads.

* * *

2. Strategic bombers weighing more than 25,000 kilograms (27.5 tons) together with their air-to-surface missiles with a range of more than 100 kilometers (62 miles).

3. Strategic antimissile systems together with their launching facilities.

Board Gets Budget in Waterford

A tentative school budget for 1964-65, up approximately 8 per cent over the current one, will be considered tonight by the Waterford Township Board of Education.

If accepted by the board, the $6,430,837 budget will be submitted to the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board.

This budget and other preliminary budgets being submitted by the county school districts and townships will be used by the allocation board in spreading the 15-mill tax limitation.

Most of the Waterford budget increase of $484,955 is for instruction.

* * *

Regular yearly teacher increments and staff additions will necessitate an increase of $372,255. The teacher salary schedule remains the same as last year.

OTHER INCREASES

Other major increases specified in the tentative budget are $59,112 for operating and $28,910 for transportation.

A final budget for the coming year will be presented for consideration of the school board in June.

In other business at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at Covert School, the board will consider several superintendent's recommendations including reinvestment of debt retirement funds and staff appointments.

The school system's construction program and the state aid situation are items listed as discussion topics.

A curriculum report on the music program also is slated.

Pictures of Heart Taken With Internal Periscope

CHICAGO (AP) — A surgeon showed scenes from thrilling movies taken inside the living heart with a new internal periscope today.

* * *

The periscope is thrust down a blood vessel into dogs' hearts. There, it lights up the interior of the heart, and walls, to take movies.

DECIDE ON SURGERY

A heart specialist then can look through the tube to see what is going on and decide whether surgery is needed to make heart repairs.

An improved, flexible instrument now is being built, said Walter J. Gamble of Children's Hospital in Boston.

HUMAN HEARTS

If it proves safe in animal tests, it will be used to inspect the interior of human hearts.

Thousands of children are born with heart defects. The heart periscope inspection could show surgeons what had to be done before they operate.

* * *

Gamble said he had once had a peek at the aorta. In adults, inspection of that great artery might show whether it was affected by the "rust" that underlies heart attacks.

The periscope into dogs' hearts is only about half the roundness of a cigarette and 21 inches long. Through incisions in the neck of anesthesized dogs, it has been pushed gently down through blood vessels into the heart.

When it is in place, a small balloon at the tip of the instrument is inflated with air so it presses against the part of the heart to be inspected.

* * *

Light from a high intensity bulb outside the body races down through glass fibers to illuminate the scene. The interior light is reflected back to a lens system.

This light hits the end points of 76,000 ultra tiny glass fibers in the interior channel of the tube. Each point then conducts a tiny part of the total image up the tube. All together, the 76,000 dots of light recreate the image of what is being seen.

This end of the tube outside the body is viewed through a magnifying lens by the human eye or movie camera.

Sessions Set Night, Day in Rail Talks have pinned down just what the issues are, and "the understanding is rather good" of their nature.

The bargaining sessions were set to resume at 1 p.m. today, Reedy said. Talks were not held this morning in order to give railroad and union negotiators a chance to meet separately.

* * *

Reedy said the White House had no information on those talks because "It is none of our business at this point."

A NARROWING

Johnson reported yesterday a narrowing of some of the issues. Reedy declined to give any details.

* * *

"We should know definitely, not later than next Monday, whether the parties to this dispute will settle it by the process of bargaining and by responsible reason," Johnson said yesterday.

"The country expects that answer to be yes," he said after conferring privately with federal mediators and negotiators for five unions and nearly 200 railroads.

Johnson did not say what he might do if the talks fail, but he would have no power to halt a scheduled strike April 25 unless he asked Congress for special legislation.

The five-year dispute over wages, job classifications and working conditions had exhausted all provisions of federal law when Johnson won a 15-day strike postponement last Friday and set up the emergency bargaining talks.

Avon Players to Present Circus

BIRMINGHAM — Avon Players will bring their "Silly Circus" to town Saturday to keep local youngsters laughing for 90 minutes.

* * *

The Rochester group has taken its show a number of times to area hospitals to cheer young patients this year. But at 4:30 p.m. Saturday the performance will be staged at the Community House.

Featured in the show are clowns, tricks and music.

The clowns come in various forms, including harlequin, classic and just plain bum. Children also can expect a visit from Puff the Magic Dragon.

* * *

A "horse" promises to lead in the trick department. Its components also double as clowns. There will be magic tricks, too, to hold the attention of the children.

ADDED MUSIC

The 12 members of the Avon Players who put on the show have not neglected music. Their 15 songs cover a wide range, with the audience participating in many.

No circus would be complete without balloons, so each child attending will get one, along with cookies and ice cream.

This is the last in this year's series of children's shows sponsored by the Community House, 380 S. Bates.

Tickets now are on sale there or can be purchased at the door. Adult chaperones will be in attendance at all times.

Mrs. Allen Strom of Birmingham is among three new appointees to the State Fair Authority.

WASHINGTON, Pa. (AP) — The Rev. Robert H. Rucker, 87, retired Baptist minister and former moderator of the Allegheny General Baptist Association, died Wednesday.

Early Stratton Tax Trial Sought

CHICAGO (AP)—Government prosecutors say they will press for an early trial of William G. Stratton, former Republican governor of Illinois, who was indicted Wednesday on charges of evading payment of $46,676 in income taxes.

* * *

Edward Hanrahan, U.S. district attorney, said no date has been set for the trial of Stratton, 50, who was defeated in 1960 for a third term as governor.

Republican spokesmen called the indictment a personal matter, with no relation to the Republican party.

DENIES CHARGE

Stratton, in a statement, denied any wrongdoing.

Government sources refused to say what the unreported sources of income were, but they said this might be revealed during the trial. His salary as governor was $25,000 a year.

Hanrahan announced the indictment the morning after Illinois' primary election, saying it had been kept secret to insure an orderly election.

Chemical Firm Suit Near End

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

ANILINE: One of the most controversial civil lawsuits growing out of World War II appears to be near its end.

U.S. District Judge David A. Pine Wednesday lifted an injunction he imposed last year and cleared the way for the Justice Department to sell General Aniline & Film Corp.

★ ★ ★

The Justice Department said the court order removed the last legal obstacle to divesting the American government of control over the multimillion dollar chemical firm.

General Aniline, with headquarters in New York, was seized as German property by the government in 1942.

SWISS STOCKHOLDERS

Interhandel, a Swiss holding company, has argued it owned 89.5 per cent of the stock and as a neutral during World War II was not subject to the Trading with The Enemy Act.

The Justice Department had contended in the long litigation that went to the U.S. Supreme Court and the World Court at the Hague that Interhandel was merely a front for the German chemical trust, I.G. Farben.

MOON, OR BUST: James E. Webb, head of the U.S. space program, says the chances of landing an American on the moon within this decade are waning month by month, for lack of funds.

★ ★ ★

Asked at a news conference Wednesday about the delay in House action on the $141 million supplemental budget request of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Webb said: "We cannot authorize work to go forward until the funds are appropriated.

★ ★ ★

"Failure to grant these funds can delay Project Apollo or at least reduce the fighting chance we now have to achieve our goal.

"With each passing month we have a little less of that fighting chance to do the job in this decade."

Each month of delay in getting funds, he said, means an additional month of delay "on the other end."

GREEN LIGHT: The Communications Satellite Corp. is another step closer to being a going concern.

★ ★ ★

The Federal Communications Commission Wednesday gave the green light for the fledgling, government-chartered corporation to construct a satellite system to relay communications between the United States, Canada and the Western Europe.

★ ★ ★

Further authorization will be needed before the satellites can be placed in orbit and used in experimental or commercial service.

The plans call for two satellites to be launched early next year into nearly equatorial orbit over the Atlantic Ocean. They will have a capability of about 240 two-way 4 kilocycles voice channels.

The British Empire officially outlawed slavery by law Aug. 28, 1863. The practice had previously been prohibited in Britain in 1772.

Parents, Children Grow Up Together

WELKOM, South Africa (AP) — Tenn-age marriages can and do last, according to Mrs. R. Steyn of Welkom.

She should know. Four generations in her family married at the age of 17 and "have no regrets."

★ ★ ★

She is the great-aunt of an 18-year-old woman, Mrs. B van Eeden, already a mother. Mrs. van Eeden's great grandmother, her grandmother and her mother all married at 17.

Civil Rights Backers Writing Senators in Greater Numbers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Americans who want the civil rights bill to become law are writing their senators in greater numbers while many of those who oppose it continue to aim a steady stream of letters at the Capitol.

But northern senators report the tide has turned after a late-winter flood of protest mail.

That was the consensus today among a cross-section of northern senators. Southerners report no change: their mail reflects all but unanimous opposition to the House-passed measure now being debated by the Senate.

TIDE TURNS

But Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., whose mail was running about 4 to 1 against the measure said favorable letters are on top now. An aide to Scott said supporters of the legislation apparently started writing when they heard that opposition mail was flooding the Capitol.

* * *

He said much of the opposition reflects the program of the coordinating committee for Fundamental American Freedoms, Inc., an organization with Mississippi financial backing.

Scott's office said the mail between April 6 and April 10 brought 677 letters favoring the bill and 466 against it. During the last five days of February, the senator got 111 letters favoring the bill and 413 opposing it.

SIMILAR SHIFT

Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., reported a similar shift. For the six weeks ended last Friday, his office said, the mail was 85 per cent against the bill. But this week, with volume up to 400 letters a day, a little over 50 per cent of the mail is for it.

* * *

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., said he's getting 20 to 30 letters a day, bout evenly split after a late-winter deluge that ran 5 to 1 for the opposition.

* * *

Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., reported the mail running about even—with about 1,000 letters a day pouring in. His office said the wintertime count was about 10 to 1 in opposition to the bill.

Some northern senators, among them Republicans Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Bourke Hickenlooper of Iowa and Democrat Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, said their mail still is running against the measure.

'SOLID OPPOSITION'

Mississippi Democrats James O. Eastland and John Stennis said their mail is heavy and virtually solid in its opposition to the bill.

* * *

Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said his mail was 5 to 2 against the bill early in March. He took the Senate floor with a speech about Southern propaganda efforts on March 14—and the following week the mail shifted to run about even. His office said the ratio now is about 3 to 2 in favor.

* * *

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, Keating's New York colleague, reported a similar shift. Javits' office said 2,008 letters favoring the bill and 887 opposed to it arrived during the first two weeks of April. An aide said the tide turned during the last two weeks of March.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., ports:

OTHER REPORTS

Other senators had these reports.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., between 200 and 300 letters a day, about 5 to 1 in favor of the bill. A month ago, his count was 3 to 1 against the measure.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., 150-200 letters a day, split about even. It had been running 4 to 1 in opposition.

Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., 150-200 letters a day, 3 to 1 for the bill, after running 3 to 1 against it a month ago.

Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., about 10 letters a day, 95 per cent of them opposing the bill.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., no figure on volume, but the letters are fairly well divided in sentiment.

Bunche Remark Borne Out

Cyprus War 'Illogical'

By HAL MCCLURE

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—U.N. Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche called it the incoherent war, and events on blood-stained Cyprus this week bear him out.

Chaotic and illogical are the words for the continuing warfare between this island's Greek and Turkish communities.

* * *

Nicosia, the capital, is a city of 85,000 people. Once they lived in peace under the old battlements dating to the Crusades. Now the rooftops are dotted with sandbagged gunposts.

MAINTAIN PATROLS

On the streets, Greek and Turkish Cypriots confront each other from behind earthworks, while U.N. troops maintain dangerous patrols between the contending factions.

* * *

Once again Ledra street, Nicosia's main thoroughfare, becomes "murder mile," as it was known during the Greek Cypriot guerrilla war for independence from the British in 1955-59.

On opposite sides of a rocky ford dividing the city Greeks and Turks shout obscenities and occasionally squeeze the triggers of their rifles.

Once the firing begins, even the innocent become targets. A woman falls. More shots ring out.

A U.N. patrol rushes to the scene to restore the truce, but even the emblem of the world organization brings no quick halt to the firing. Only long pleading stills the guns.

* * *

The Greek Cypriot government blames the Turks. It says the Turkish Cypriots want to wreck the U.N. mediation effort and encourage an invasion by Turkey to obtain the partition of the island.

CYPRIOT ATTACKS

The Turks say they only fire to protect themselves from Greek Cypriot attacks, that the Greek Cypriot majority wants to wipe them out.

British officers, admittedly more friendly to the Turks because of their 1955-59 war with the Greek Cypriots, say the Turks have become more aggressive. There are reports that the Turks are better armed now.

Illegal Protests Harmful, Warn Dem, Republican

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican and Democratic senators charged with shepherding the civil rights bill through the Senate have warned that illegal demonstrations and disturbances that lead to violence "are hurting our efforts."

* * *

The statement was issued Wednesday night by Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., after proposals by splinter civil rights group for disrupting traffic to the New York World's Fair and other disorders.

* * *

The two senators declared "Illegal disturbances, demonstrations which lead to violence or injury, strike grievous blows at the cause of decent civil rights legislation."

* * *

"Unruly demonstrations and protests that bring hardship, and unnecessary inconvenience to others—even by those who have long suffered indignities—are not helping the cause of civil rights," the statement said. "Indeed, they are hurting our efforts in Congress to pass an effective civil rights bill."

Highway Plan Set to Improve Cadillac

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has announced formation of a long range highway plan for Cadillac. The plan calls for removal of through traffic through Cadillac. The department said it will aid in the growth of the economic potential of the Cadillac area, which includes Cherry Grove, Clam Lake, Herring and Selma Township.

Well Capped, Danger Over in Oklahoma

CALUMET, Okla. (AP) — A wild natural gas well that spewed approximately four million cubic feet of gas in this central Oklahoma area for more than two days was capped Wednesday.

The well blew out Monday and experts estimated it was leaking at a rate of about two million cubic feet every 24 hours. Twenty-six persons living in the rural area were evacuated because of the danger of fire or explosion. They have returned to their homes.

* * *

J. H. Abernathy, president of the Big Chief Drilling Co., which drilled the well for Pan American Petroleum Corp., said the well was capped about 3:30 p.m.

* * *

A hole was drilled in the pipe below the surface and a mixture of drilling mud and fibrous material was forced into the opening to plug the valve that failed.

New York Jury to Weigh Verdict on Cohn, Lawyer

NEW YORK (AP)—The case of Roy M. Cohn and Murray E. Gottesman, New York lawyers, goes to a U.S. District Court jury of 10 men and 2 women today.

Cohn, 37, onetime aide to the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., is charged with perjury and obstruction of justice. Gottesman, 56, is charged with perjury.

HEARD SIX HOURS

The jury heard six hours of summation by defense and prosecution lawyers Wednesday.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Gerald Walpin urged the jury to disregard defense contentions that the government had made a deal with confessed stock swindlers to "get" Cohn.

* * *

Cohn has testified that some persons in the Department of Justice were trying to "get" him. Before the trial started, Cohn charged publicly that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy was a leader of a "vendetta" against him. Cohn and Kennedy were reported to have quarreled years ago when they were aides to McCarthy's Senate committee investigating alleged Communist infiltration of the government.

OBSTRUCTED JURY

The main issue in the trial, Walpin said, is whether Cohn and Gottesman obstructed a 1962 federal grand jury investigation. The grand jury was seeking to determine whether anything improper had been done during the government's investigation of the United Dye and Chemical Corp. stock fraud case in 1959.

* * *

Four men, who were not named in an indictment in the case in 1959, were indicted later and pleaded guilty to stock fraud charges. Their cases are still open. Two of the four swindlers, testifying for the government in this trial, said a $50,000 bribe was split between Cohn and Morton S. Robson, a former assistant U.S. attorney. The government has not made any charge of bribe-taking against Cohn. There is no charge against Robson.

DENIED ALLEGATION

Cohn and Robson denied the bribe allegation on the witness stand. Robson appeared as a defense witness.

Cohn's chief defense lawyer, Frank Raichle, contended in his summation that the whole prosecution case had collapsed as a result of the testimony of former U.S. Atty. S. Hazard Gillespie.

Gillespie testified for the defense that he alone made the decision to omit the four swindlers from the 1959 indictment and Robson did not attempt to influence his decision. Gillespie was Robson's boss at the time.

Gottesman's lawyer, Henry K. Chapman, said in his summation that some of the government witnesses were "liars, cheats, chiselers."

Alaskans Grimly Watch Tide

SELDOVIA, Alaska (AP) — Even in the drifting snow they came—down to the boardwalk to watch the tides.

Jack English, 61, the town judge, was there. So were Chuck Hendrix, the mayor and the owner of H. S. Young Mercantile, Charles Knight.

* * *

Tide watching is deadly serious business in this isolated little fishing community nestled against the green hills of the Kenai Peninsula in southcentral Alaska.

The tides jeopardize the town's entire business district—its five seafood plants, the two grocery stores, the four hotels, the restaurants, bars, the movie house and all the other shops—30 in all. Valued at more than $15 million, they set on two miles of vulnerable boardwalk.

MINOR DAMAGE

For three days this week Seldovians watched anxiously as the tide crept into their city. Ten buildings were flooded, but damage was minor. Wednesday the tides were receding.

But the danger is not over. May's tides will be higher and there is always the fear of a storm.

* * *

"If the winds come, God help us," says one resident.

At one time Seldovia stood safely on her stilts. Even at high tide when more than 20 feet of water moved in, there was room to spare under the boardwalk.

Then came the Alaskan earthquake. Geologists say it tilted the land masses of southcentral Alaska, leaving sunken coastal areas at the mercy of the tides. The land may slip back at least partly to normal, say the scientists, but it's impossible to tell and may take months or years to find out.

Baseball's Opening Day Gives Spring to U.S.

Along with other infallible signs that spring is indeed with us — although snow and chilling temperatures may belie it—is the opening of the baseball season.

Since its inception as an organized sport three-quarters of a century ago, baseball has undeniably become a great national tradition. Opening day ceremonies attract figures of local and national prominence, and the event has assumed quasi-holiday status.

One aspect of the season's opener, for decades puzzling to bio-sociologists, is the disproportionate coincidence of grandmothers' "funerals" necessitating absence from work of numberless office boys throughout America.

So, another season is off the launching pad — with spirits and hopes high on the part of both teams and followers. In fact, no less than 20 managers, piloting the teams of both major leagues, have coyly predicted a pennant for their aggregations.

★ ★ ★

Since one of them is bound to be right, let's trust it's Detroit's Charlie Dressen. And, though one swallow does not make a summer nor one victory a winning season, let's hope that his team's opening game win—the first in four years—is a significant augury of good baseball days ahead.

Go get 'em, Tigers.

Red World A-Rocking

The Soviets are trying massive retaliation against, of all things, the "Twist."

According to a story out of Moscow, over the past 10 years the Communists have tried to popularize no less than 50 home-grown dances that would be acceptable both to party ideology and Russian youth.

★ ★ ★

One of them bore the suspiciously Western name of the "Slag Heap," but evidently it was small potatoes next to the "Mashed Potato" from America, because it just didn't go over.

★ ★ ★

No one expects this, uh, cultural invasion from the West to play more than a small part in ending East-West tensions, but that old Iron Curtain seems to be a-shimmying and a-shaking.

Legislators Unveil Pay Raise Hat Trick

In a shocking display of fiscal irresponsibility, the House of Representatives voted a 43 per cent raise in pay for members of the State legislature and certain other state officials. The bill is now in the Senate for action.

★ ★ ★

Like the recent trial run of a Congressional pay hike (this one was a 44.4 per cent job) the State boost was passed by an unrecorded vote. But the Capitol Hill move backfired when a roll-call vote became obligatory and the proponents shied away from standing up to be counted.

★ ★ ★

The boost the Michigan legislators have in mind (the third large one in five years) would jump their salaries from $7,000 to $10,000 per year and double present expense allowances of $1,250. If the Senate approves the House proposal, Michigan lawmakers would rank with those of New York as the two highest paid in the Nation.

Based on the paucity of legislative statesmanship and meaningful production and the general chaos evident in Lansing's legislative halls, a good case could be made that no raise at all is merited by the legislators — that, in fact, they are now overpaid.

★ ★ ★

But if our elected representatives are not to be denied an increase in compensation, it should be a moderate and realistic one. Moreover, those favoring it should at least have the backbone to make public their position.

Acheson Rapped; MacArthur Not

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In 1950 Secretary of State Dean Acheson talked on the American defense line in the Pacific and got denounced for years afterwards. Republicans made him a punching bag.

MARLOW

It was one of the twists of history — or politics — that Gen. Douglas MacArthur 10 months before drew exactly the same defense line but this went unmentioned by Acheson's critics and defenders.

Among the critics were Sens. Joseph McCarthy and Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. Even when MacArthur died April 5, what he said in 1949 must have been long-forgotten. This writer found no mention of it.

This was the background. In 1949, the Chinese Communists were smashing Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalists on the China mainland. Formosa, an island 100 miles off the coast, belonged to China.

On March 1, 1949, MacArthur in an interview with an English newspaperman, Ward Price, discussed the American defense perimeter in the Pacific. The interview was published in the New York Times March 3.

★ ★ ★

MacArthur said the Anglo-Saxon "line of defense runs through the chain of islands fringing the coast of Asia." He listed them, from the Aleutians to the Philippines, through Japan. He left out Formosa.

FLED TO FORMOSA

In December 1949, Chiang and what was left of his army fled to Formosa. But by then the United States had given up on him and on Jan. 5, 1950, President Harry S. Truman called in newsmen to make a statement.

He said the United States would take no action to defend Chiang and his forces on Formosa, that it was a Chinese problem. This was an administration policy decision.

On Jan. 12, 1950, Acheson supported Truman and explained the decision in a talk at the National Press Club.

★ ★ ★

Repeating what MacArthur had said 10 months before, Acheson put the American defense line in the Pacific off the Asian coast and in the string of islands from the Aleutians to the Philippines. He, too, omitted Formosa.

LEFT DOOR OPEN

While Acheson didn't commit the United States to the defense of any country attacked in Asia, he didn't say the United States wouldn't try to defend it. He left the door open for an American decision later.

A would-be attacker could construe it either way. But the United States had just gone through an experience with Chiang whose government and forces had frittered away American help.

On June 25, 1950, the North Korean Communists attacked South Korea. Truman acted at once: he sent American forces to the defense of Korea, under MacArthur. The United Nations quickly joined in. And Truman defended Formosa from Red Chinese attack.

★ ★ ★

Seven days after the attack started, McCarthy denounced Acheson, saying he "announced last winter that we would not defend Korea and Formosa."

And during the 1952 presidential campaign — MacArthur was keynote speaker at the Republican convention which nominated Eisenhower — they also denounced Acheson along the same lines.

'The President Says All We Gotta Do is Get New Wheels, A New Body An' Get Her Back On The Track!'

David Lawrence Says:

Reports on Barry Win Mislead

WASHINGTON— Maybe two and two don't make four, after all, in national politics.

Judging by some of the TV and radio broadcasts on Tuesday night and subsequent comments in the press, Sen. Goldwater got the highest number of votes in the Republican presidential primary in Illinois but nevertheless suffered a "setback."

LAWRENCE

He, of course, acquired almost all of the 48 delegates chosen this week by the Illinois voters in the Republican party, but the impression conveyed by some of the broadcasters and newsmen was that this didn't mean very much.

What purportedly happened was that speculation attributed to a few persons here and there in the Goldwater camp in advance of the primary was construed as a firm estimate that the Arizona senator would get 80 per cent of the vote.

Out of all the Republican votes cast, Sen. Goldwater obtained between 64 and 65 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Even this isn't supposed to be a "victory," if the comments made on the Tuesday night broadcasts are to be accepted as accurate political analysis.

NOBODY KNOWS

The truth of the matter is nobody could know ahead of time precisely how the citizens of Illinois were going to vote.

In an election in which nearly a million votes are cast, it would be difficult to calculate beforehand with exactness whether a candidate would get 65 per cent or 70 per cent or 80 per cent.

Such commentaries, therefore, on the radio or TV serve only to mislead many people and take away from the victor in the election contest some of the prestige which he deserves when he gets a majority or more.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Goldwater's triumph in Illinois is an important development for many reasons.

VOTE-GETTING STRENGTH

First of all, it shows his vote-getting strength in a populous state which has more than four times as many delegates as were won by Henry Cabot Lodge, the "favorite son" in the New Hampshire primary.

It is to be noted that there were plenty of lead pencils available in Illinois, and there could have been "write-ins" for Ambassador Lodge or anybody else in the primary.

Actual "write-ins" were small in number and all together came to only about 10 per cent of the total vote cast, as against about 50 per cent in New Hampshire.

There wasn't, of course, any organized "write-in" campaign in Illinois, as was the case in New Hampshire.

So, on the whole, the Illinois primary can be viewed as a step forward for the Goldwater candidacy and as a significant piece of political news which will make a favorable impression on some of the leaders in other states who may be sitting on the fence.

It takes more than just a few primaries, of course, to win a presidential nomination.

But anyone managing a pre-convention campaign for his candidate would be glad to get a 71 per cent majority such as was registered in the Illinois primary when the votes of the Arizona Senator and the senator from Maine were added together.

Capital Letter:

Playwright Vidal Adds Footnotes on Kennedy

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Playwright Gore Vidal, who's a sort of relative-once-removed of Jacqueline Kennedy, adds some previously unpublished footnotes to Kennedyana.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

The author of the new movie and Broadway hit, "The Best Man," recalls that at a Washington horse show in 1961, he sat immediately behind the youthful president and first lady.

During a lull in the activity, he and JFK began kidding each other, as was their custom.

"It would be easy for someone to take a shot at you in this crowded armory," Vidal remarked, "but I'm sure the bullet would miss you and hit me."

★ ★ ★

"That would be no loss," Kennedy laughingly quipped.

DISCUSS PLAY

He then launched into a detailed discussion of Edgar Wallace's play, "Twenty-Four Hours," which concerned a plot against the life of a British prime minister.

"It was all in fun, and I certainly had no feeling of premonition," the playwright says, "but it seems eerie in retrospect."

Gore has known the former first lady since her debutante days, but he has recently been carrying on a public feud with her brother-in-law, Attorney General Robert Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Two years ago he penned a biting article in Esquire Magazine accusing Bobby of laying the groundwork to succeed JFK as president in '68.

COULD WIN

The playwright now claims to foresee a possibility that Robert Kennedy could capture the presidential nomination from Lyndon B. Johnson at the Democratic convention this summer, in the event that civil rights demonstrations get out of hand.

"If Gov. George Wallace of Alabama does as well in the Indiana and Maryland primaries as he did in Wisconsin," Vidal says, "and if the Negro civil rights leaders become overmilitant this summer, the moderates like President Johnson could have a rough time of it from the doctrinaires like Bobby."

As Vidal sees it, the "hidden imponderable is the white suburban vote in the big cities—people who are greatly disturbed over their property values."

★ ★ ★

"This is a highly explosive situation," Vidal says. "I'm glad that I'm not running for vice president, because I wouldn't know how to handle it."

It's a safe bet that he will not be asked to run.

Message Didn't Halt Red China

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is true, as Gen. Douglas MacArthur said, that the British government did tell the Indian government to tell the Chinese Communist government that Gen. MacArthur and the U.S.-United Nations forces in Korea would not be allowed to bomb or enter Manchuria in the drive north of the 38th parallel after the brilliant Inchon landings.

CROMLEY

The British did this at the request of the U.S. Department of State.

This roundabout message was sent shortly before the Red Chinese entered the war as MacArthur's forces swiftly advanced northward. It was intended, say U.S. diplomats, to keep the Red Chinese out of the action. It didn't.

It was known in Washington that the Red Chinese were arguing whether or not to enter the Korean conflict. Some of the top Reds said they had to come to the aid of a neighboring Communist country; they claimed there was no way out of it.

★ ★ ★

Others argued that there was a strong danger of getting into a war with the United States. They said this might mean they would have to evacuate the coastal cities and some strategic areas of Manchuria.

The Chinese Reds weren't certain how much aid they would get from the Russians. Some argued they needed more time to build their strength after their takeover of mainland China.

★ ★ ★

With this in mind, there were lengthy Defense-State conferences. At the end, there was agreement that whatever possible should be done to keep the Red Chinese out.

Sending the message to Mao Tse-tung was only the first step.

The Pentagon ordered MacArthur to halt his American and non-Korean U.N. troops well short of the Korean-Manchurian border. He was told that only South Korean troops should be allowed to advance up to the border areas.

The U.S. defense chiefs also ordered MacArthur to make assurances to the Red Chinese they would not be cut off from the electric power they were getting from the major North Korean power plant in the Yalu area.

MacArthur opposed these two orders. They were not carried out.

Once the Red Chinese entered the war, preparations were made at the Pentagon for all eventualities. These included preparations for the possible evacuation of U.S.-U.N. forces from Korea.

★ ★ ★

This turn of events about ended efforts to secure any agreement with the Red Chinese up to the time of the truce talks.

The British did make an attempt to talk to Red Chinese representative Wu when he appeared before the United Nations. They wanted to explore what could be done to get the Chinese Communists to agree to peace. Wu accepted a luncheon engagement. But he would not talk.

As a result, the British whose ambassador in Peking was being ignored by the Red Chinese, were about fed up. One British source says: "By this time we were disillusioned with the Chinese Communists. There weren't any areas for discussion."

So the war moved on until the Red Chinese began to lose. Then they asked for truce talks.

A man stood upon a mountain peak. In His being were incarnate people of all nations. An awesome silence was broken by a voice: "For what purpose are you living?" Bewildered, the man sank to his knees in the presence of the Lord and cried out, "The purpose of my living is everywhere evident. Thousands of things produce a civilization that never existed before. We have conquered distance, split the atom, harnessed electricity." Again came the voice "But for what purpose are you living?" What would have been your answer?

Uncommitted GOP Bets on Ike to Stop Barry

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Uncommitted party leaders appear to be banking on Dwight D. Eisenhower to touch off stop-Goldwater efforts at the Republican presidential nominating convention.

The former president publicly has remained aloof from the maneuvering in the preconvention period in which Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has forged well ahead in the contest for convention votes.

Eisenhower has endorsed practically everybody who has been mentioned prominently for the nomination, and some who haven't. His blanket blessing has covered Goldwater as well as his opponents.

But party pros who haven't committed themselves to support of any individual candidate have formed the strong impression that Eisenhower will abandon his stated neutrality if he fears Goldwater otherwise might win the nomination and pocket the party organization for the next four years.

PROGRESSIVE PROGRAM

Eisenhower has provided plenty of evidence he believes the Republicans can win only if they present a moderately progressive program. He clearly fears that a conservative stance would bring defeat in November and a party split in the years ahead.

If the Republicans who want to stop Goldwater could agree among themselves on a candidate, they would be content for Eisenhower to fill at the convention his contractural role as a television commentator and ask nothing more of him.

★ ★ ★

With less than three months remaining before the convention opens, the uncommitted pros generally agree the field of potential Goldwater challengers has narrowed to Henry Cabot Lodge, ambassador to Viet Nam, former Vice President M. Nixon and Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania.

There is some skepticism about how long the popularity being shown in the polls by Lodge will last.

NO POLITICAL BASE

Nixon, the 1960 GOP presidential nominee, has no political base, having moved from California to New York. He may turn up with only a handful, if any, convention votes.

★ ★ ★

Scranton will be Pennsylvania's favorite son. But the feeling is that he has put handcuffs on any real pre-convention drive to move him into contention.

Given circumstances of this sort, the pros think that delegations and individuals will be coming around to discuss the situation with Eisenhower to learn what he thinks.

★ ★ ★

A signal from the former president that he preferred any one of these three men would start a convention bonfire. If he chose someone else, it would be more difficult to get the flames going but still this might be accomplished.

Mistake by Nurse Caused Baby Harm

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Nurses in a New York City hospital, I read in the Nov. 23, '63 issue of "Health Bulletin," tried to slow the birth of a baby by pressing against the baby's head, until the obstetrician arrived.

Now, six years later, the state Supreme court has awarded the baby's mother $158,000 damages for permanent brain damage to the child.

Medical witnesses testified that the forced obstruction could have cut off the oxygen supply to the baby's brain long enough to cause permanent damage.

Obstetrician, eh?

It reminds me of my little prank in Elmira 50-odd years ago. The doctors there reported births to the leading newspaper, and as a reward the newspaper usually printed that Mr. and Mrs. John Doe were rejoicing at the birth of a seven-pound boy or girl Tuesday. Dr. Richard Roe was the attending physician.

★ ★ ★

This ad bored me. So when I attended the birth of our mail carrier's sixth, I reported it to the newspaper and made sure that the paper said that Dr. William Brady was the accoucheur.

TOO MANY ADS

People who wanted to know what in — was that were referred to Webster's dictionary. I was a member of the board of censors of the medical society, and I believe the prank had a wholesome effect on the doctors who were doing too much advertising.

Now I'd like to know whether the damages in the New York case were awarded against the hospital or against the doctor or against both parties.

I'd like to know, too, whether the doctor was really an obstetrician or just a general practitioner on whom a kindly reporter bestowed the title.

★ ★ ★

Whichever the accoucheur was, I'd like to know whether he had instructed the nurses to prevent the birth of the baby until he could get there, or whether perhaps the smart-Alice nurses perpetrated the malpractice of their own volition, in order to ingratiate themselves with the doctor.

NOT LIMITED

Whether with the doctor's approval or not, this trick of pressing on the baby's head to prevent birth before the doctor arrives is by no means limited to hospitals in New York City.

Readers here, there and everywhere tell me how the nurses insisted on mistreating them like that, and I have little compassion for them — "After all," I tell 'em, "you entered the hospital to have your baby, although you were not homeless.

"As a hospital inmate you must submit meekly to rules and regulations — which are made by the hospital physicians."

Home, I keep telling the poor souls, is the best place to have a baby — if you have a home fit to live in. At home neither nurses nor doctors are likely to try to get away with any shenanigans — again provided you know as much as every adult should know about pregnancy, childbirth and care of the baby.

★ ★ ★

Then while they are squirming under this indictment I send my assistants through the audience with armfuls of my booklets: Little Lesson No. 4, "Preparing for Maternity," and Little Lesson No. 7, "Brady Baby Book."

If you are not fortunate enough to be in the audience, you can still procure either booklet by pressing a quarter and a dime into my grasping hand and providing a stamped envelope bearing your name and address.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady. If a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Petitions Out for Romney

Backers Are Hopeful He'll Seek Reelection

LANSING (AP)—Nominating petitions are being circulated today for Gov. George W. Romney, who has yet to announce his candidacy for re-election.

The petitions have been available for about three weeks at Republican State Central Committee headquarters, said chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr., Romney's 1962 campaign manager.

"We made this start so that Governor Romney could see there's real interest in his running again—that we're hopeful that he will," Elliott said. "We think he's written a great record in his 15 months in office."

Romney said earlier that he would announce his decision "early in 1964" — with "early" being interpreted as some time before the end of April. He is expected to run again, and has made references to next year's legislative program, as though he expects to be in office then.

The committee has petitions for all announced candidates, including Mrs. Elly Peterson of Charlotte, Edward Meany Jr. of Grand Haven and James O'Neil of Livonia — all candidates for the U. S. Senate.

In the case of the governor, even though he has not announced, there was such widespread interest that we had 10,000 petitions printed for those who asked for them," Elliott said. "And we've had requests from practically every county.

"I don't know whether there's any concentrated circulation of the petitions yet," he added, "but every county organization that has contacted me has voiced strong support for Romney's candidacy — and adopted resolutions to that effect at their conventions."

Romney Names Head of Aging Commission

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Romney has named John B. Martin, chairman of the State Commission on Aging and Harry J. Kelley, director, to represent Michigan at the fourth annual conference of state executives in Washington, April 27-29.

For 'Summit,' K Birthday

Soviet Bloc Gathering

MOSCOW (AP)—An informal summit meeting of the Soviet bloc is developing around Premier Khrushchev's 70th birthday Friday.

★ ★ ★

The inevitable topic of conversation is expected to be the feud between the Soviet Union and Red China with its overtones of personal clash between the two nations' septuagenarian leaders.

Mao Tze-tung, whom the Soviet premier criticized personally for the first time in a caustic speech Wednesday, was 70 in December.

LEADERS GATHERING

Communist leaders of Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Mongolia and Poland are gathering for Khrushchev's birthday.

Aside from press references to visitors' arrivals, there was no public indication of celebrations. The diplomatic corps was officially informed it was not expected to turn out for any functions.

★ ★ ★

This is in marked contrast to Stalin's 70th birthday in 1949. Praise of the late leader went on for months. Khrushchev, who has denounced Stalin's cult of personality, was reported by East European Communists to have firmly rejected anything which might look like a repetition.

The official part of a Polish visit to Moscow ended today with the departure for Warsaw of Foreign Minister Adam Rapacki and other lesser members of the delegation. But Polish party secretary Wladyslaw Gomulka and Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz stayed on.

WAS HAPPY

Gomulka said Wednesday he was happy to be able to stay "to continue meetings and talks." Following completion of a new economic agreement and an extension of the Soviet-Polish Friendship Treaty, the talks were believed to be on China.

The only member of the Soviet bloc not yet represented is Romania. Its Communist Central Committee is meeting in Bucharest to consider the latest Soviet attacks on China. So far they have not been published in Romania, which has been trying to steer a middle course.

China is as large as the continent of Europe.

WILLMAR, Minn. (AP) — Mrs. Oscar E. Hedin, 70, has just completed requirements for a bachelor of science degree at St. Cloud Normal School—more than half a century after beginning her studies there.

In 1913 she finished a two-year course at the school which qualified her as an elementary teacher.

Red Lights All Work!

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — When Gerald S. Melamed borrowed his wife's car recently, he noted that every red warning light on the dash lit up when he switched on the ignition.

Rushing back into the house, he asked his wife: "Has your car been running all right lately?"

★ ★ ★

"Well," she admitted, "it's been sort of jerking and jumping along. But there's one good thing — those little red lights on the dash are okay. They all burn now."

There are more than 21 million bicycles in the United States.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — The bronze face of Abraham Lincoln in front of his tomb in Oak Ridge Cemetery has a dark green patina over all of it except for an area of shiny yellow on President Lincoln's nose.

According to an official at the memorial, the shiny nose is the result of an irresistible impulse of visitors to touch the face, sometimes for luck, sometimes to show off for a camera, and sometimes just to feel closer to a great man.

Blasted by Air Force for Role in War

Army Is Flying Missions in Viet Nam

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) —The song about "The Army Air Corps" still fits in South Viet Nam.

U.S. Army fliers are drawing bullets from the Viet Cong and snide remarks from the regular Air Force.

* * *

A "grass roots air force," Army reconnaissance fighter bombers sweep daily over the flat, green Mekong River delta, photographing and harassing the enemy.

The pilots contend their plane is better than any of the combat planes the U.S. and Vietnamese Air Force are using in Viet Nam. It is a twin-engine, Grumman Mohawk, or OV1C.

TOO HOT

Some Air Force men argue it's too hot a plane for the Army, and that the Army is horning in on an Air Force function by using it.

Pilots of the Army's 23rd Special Warfare Aviation detachment who fly the Mohawk say they're not trying to compete with anyone, but are just doing a job. One pilot observed:

"We need the Air Force for cover. Our job is in close ground support. We work directly with infantry division commanders in the field. When they need pictures of the enemy, we can supply them in a few hours, and we can get them where they're needed."

* * *

The turbine-powered Mohawks carry, besides sophisticated camera equipment, rockets and two 50-caliber machine guns. They could carry bombs and napalm tanks, but none of the half-dozen Mohawks in South Viet Nam are permitted this extra ordnance.

* * *

Pilots of the 23rd believe, nevertheless, that they are the only U.S. Army unit flying combat planes in combat anywhere in the world.

PROVISIONAL UNITY

The Mohawks are scheduled for integration into a provisional Army aviation battalion, which will include helicopters, light spotting planes, and transport and administration craft. They are part of the Army's support command in Viet Nam, headed by Brig. Gen. Joseph C. Stilwell.

Stilwell, son of famed Gen. "Vinegar Joe" Stilwell, believes in his air force, and spends a lot of time with it in action. He has been slightly wounded several times while flying in the gunner's position on helicopters.

* * *

Mohawks are hit regularly and ground crews at bases in Vung Tao and Soc Trang sometimes must work 18 hours at a time keeping their craft flying.

Several weeks ago, Capt. Richard E. Urick, Los Angeles, was flying a mission a few miles from Saigon when a Viet Cong bullet hit one engine.

He said later:

"The engine stopped. The prime reason for fear was that the engine was on fire. I put one bottle of extinguisher into it, but the engine continued burning. The second bottle got it out, and I landed safely."

* * *

Mohawk pilots must do all the flying individually. The co-pilot's seat always is occupied by a Vietnamese Army observer whose job is to navigate and call the shots.

Persons employed by hospitals in the United States increased by about 60 per cent over the past 10 years.

Ethnologists believe the first inhabitants of the Philippines were pygmy Negritos — perhaps from the heart of Asia.

Key Bills Die in House Units

LANSING (UPI)—The House of Representatives turned its back yesterday on several key State Senate proposals, including one to reorganize Michigan's executive branch.

The representatives passed up a chance to establish county home rule for the metropolitan counties and to reduce taxes an estimated $12 million.

The defeated tax bills would have made changes in both the state beer tax and the business activities tax.

Another Senate bill to fall by the wayside was the so-called long-truck bill, which would have permitted the lengthening of auto haulaway trucks by 5 feet.

The bills embodying the proposals were killed when House committees refused to report them to the floor on the last day for such action.

The estimated 120 executive departments which were slated to be combined into 16 major departments under the terms of the new constitution will now remain separate entities for at least another year.

The measure was sponsored by Sens. Garry Brown, R-Schoolcraft and Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey and had cleared the Senate several weeks ago with relative ease.

Rep. Lloyd Gibbs, R-Portland, cited "a lack of time to do anything more than rubber stamp it at this session" as the main reason his State Affairs Committee refused to even vote on the measure.

"We have two years to do this," Rep. Gail Handy, R-Eau Claire, said. "There is no reason to rush at it."

Brown said, "They could have put it in the Ways and Means Committee to keep it alive. But I think we have laid a good groundwork for passing it next session."

If the legislature does not accomplish the task within the two years alloted by the constitution, the job of reorganization will then be turned over to the governor's office.

Other bills which failed to beat the deadline to be reported out of House committees included a Senate measure to cut the $6.61 a barrel beer tax by $1.26. The measure would have cost the state about $7 million in revenues annually.

★ ★ ★

Rep. James Folks, R-Horton, said the measure received only five votes from the 13 committee members.

Cemetery Cleared by Hungry Goats

SCHUYLERVILLE, N.Y. (AP) — The Revolutionary Cemetery at the north end of town is neat and clean again thanks to the efforts of eight goats.

★ ★

The animals were placed in the cemetery as a Schuylerville Lions Club community service to eat their way through the underbrush and weeds which were making the grounds an eyesore.

★ ★ ★

Previous efforts at clearance were unsuccessful because it was impossible to use lawnmowers and other machinery in the old cemetery.

Gets Refund Despite Age

BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — While cleaning his attic recently Waldo Newcomer came upon a valuable "antique," a 12-year-old unused American Airlines ticket. He wrote Murt Bush, manager of passenger services in Boston, to determine if he were entitled to a refund.

★ ★ ★

Although the validity of the line's tickets is normally one year from date of issuance, an exception was made in this case. Newcomer got a refund on the $11.39 ticket, minus $1.49 U.S. tax, not refundable on an item over three years old.

Is It War or Peace? Just Ask Your Barber

TUZLA, Yugoslavia (AP) — Ismet Begovic, oldest barber in Yugoslavia, has been clipping hair and shaving beards for 75 years. He is 90, and refuses to retire from the "pleasant smell of soap" and the "newsy gossip" of his shop.

"Just think how many wars there have been in the past 75 years," he says. "And the people of Tuzla have always heard about them first in my shop."

Call Witness in Death Trial

Reluctant to Testify in Killing of Evers

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — A reluctant witness takes the stand today in the windup of testimony in the second trial of Byron De La Beckwith, charged with the murder of Negro leader Medgar Evers.

Martha Jean O'Brien, located by the prosecution only after a search, was one of several rebuttal witnesses to be heard before the case went to a jury.

Miss O'Brien, who testified at the first trial which ended in a deadlocked jury and a mistrial, was needed to corroborate the testimony of drive-in waitress Barbara Holder.

Miss Holder testified she visited a drive-in near the Evers home on the night of the slaying and saw a car resembling Beckwith's and a man who looked like Beckwith in the lot.

* * *

Miss O'Brien told the same story at the first trial.

AT NIGHT CLUB

Defense witnesses said this time Miss Holder was at a night club at the time she said she was at the drive-in.

Beckwith was kept on the witness stand for more than four hours yesterday.

Late yesterday, two police officers and an auxiliary policeman from Beckwith's home town of Greenwood took an oath and swore the defendant was in Greenwood, 90 miles from Jackson, at the time Evers was killed here with a 30-06 caliber rifle bullet.

* * *

Another defense witness, auxiliary policeman Roy Jones of Greenwood, said he saw Beckwith at 11:45 p.m. at about the same spot the night of June 11.

U.S. Stockpiling Statistics

Secret Weapon Is Exposed

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—It is a well-known but little discussed fact that the United States has for a number of years been stockpiling statistics.

WEST

This may be denied, or even ignored, by the Pentagon, but I am convinced that these statistics have an enormous military potential.

We all know from just our own experience that statistics affect the human brain something like chloroform.

Virtually everyone has at one time or another been denumbed by statistics.

* * *

Consider, then, what dire consequences would ensue if statistics, heretofore used only for peaceful purposes, were employed offensively in some future outbreak of hostilities.

STUPEFY WORLD

I am told by unofficial but reliable statisticians that this country alone has on hand enough statistics to stupefy the entire human race.

What started me pondering the possibility of a statistical armageddon was a letter that Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., and Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., sent to their colleagues in the Senate and House this week.

It called attention to the awesome achievement of one of their home state firms, Sterling Drug, Inc., which recently produced its 100,000,000,000th aspirin tablet.

I have been taking aspirins alone or in combination-of-ingredients ever since medical science invented the hangover. But this was my first experience with aspirin in statistical form.

INSTANT STATISTIC

The effect was instantaneous. My eyes began to glaze over at the first glimpse of that 100 billion figure.

The letter, copies of which were dispatched to the congressional press galleries, further deadened my senses by reporting that 100 billion aspirin tablets laid in a line would stretch 700,000 miles, equal three trips to the moon, circle the earth 28 times and treat 50 billion headaches.

If this had been statistical warfare, I would have unleashed a counter volley of statistics obtained from the Commerce Department stockpile.

* * *

I would have anaesthetized Case and Thompson by informing them that Americans last year consumed 27 million pounds of aspirin, the equivalent of 13 billion five-grain tablets, of which the U.S. government used 303,280,000 tablets.

* * *

But in doing so I would have put myself to sleep.

Romans made 55,100,000 phone calls last year to find out the time says the Rome Telephone Service. By contrast, only 750,000 calls were made to the "We'll wake you up" service.

To(e)ld Operator About Robbery Try

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A baby sitter dialed O with her big toe and reported an attempted robbery Wednesday after she had been left bound to a bed post and gagged.

Mary Gibson, 21, said a man ransacked the house. When he left, she pulled the telephone to her side with her feet, kicked the receiver off the hook and dialed the operator with her toe.

* * *

The operator understood her mumblings and summoned police.

A check of the house showed nothing missing.

Fate Is Capricious

ROME (AP)—Over here, Friday the 13th scares hardly anybody. Tuesday is the unlucky day for Italians and 17 is the unlucky number. So it's Tuesday the 17th that the superstitious worry about.

About 1-150th of the earth's atmosphere is above an altitude of 21 miles.

U.S. Communists Seek New Image With Youth Appeal

(EDITOR'S NOTE—In desperation, the Communist party in the United States had to have a new look, something as American as "Mom's blueberry pie." But even that didn't help as decline and dissension increased, as told in this third of four articles on the party's troubles.)

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Upon the hammer and sickle symbol of violent revolution, Communists in the United States are trying to superimpose a picture of "Mom's blueberry pie."

Grabbing for gimmicks in its struggle for political survival, the Communist Party U.S.A.—CPUSA—is trying to produce the respectable, true-blue, all-American Communist.

★ ★ ★

The party's foundering paper, now the twice-weekly Worker, tipped the Communist hand not long ago. It was discussing Soviet Premier Khrushchev's 1957 prediction that U.S. grandchildren would "live under socialism." Said the Worker, which once ridiculed capitalists for promising pie in the sky:

"Not the Russian socialism, of course, but something as American as Mom's blueberry pie."

DESPERATE SEARCH

The picture of blueberry pies betokens a desperate search for a new sales pitch. The old cartoon image of the bomb-wielding, bewhiskered Communist would have to go if the party was to get anywhere in a nation with the world's highest living standard.

★ ★ ★

The party's present low estate, with probably no more than 7,000 mostly superannuated members, came from agonizing years of faithfully mirroring the Soviet party and Politburo. It had tried once before to look American and failed because of its Soviet obsession.

Between then, the 1930's, and now, perhaps a million Americans filtered into party ranks and then out. Today, there are perhaps several hundred thousand successful businessmen, writers, teachers and people of other professions who once were Communist or close to it.

★ ★ ★

The framework of the party remains, but "they're just keeping up the franchise," snorted one former leader who quit in disgust.

OWN VICTIMS

"They're the victims of their own economic determinism," snapped another. Economic determinism to a Communist means development of history indicated inevitably by economic factors. The dogma had much to do with party history.

The party had not lacked for money in the old days. From what leaders hinted, money came from Moscow and there was other money from contributions, dues, businesses set up by the party and odd millionaires with odd predilections for the extreme left.

★ ★ ★

Battered by crises and Kremlin flipflops, the party came apart at the seams after Khrushchev in 1956 revealed the awful truth about Stalin.

Inside the U.S. politburo, then under General Secretary Eugene Dennis, a bitter quarrel raged. Dogmatic old William Z. Foster wanted to throw out worker editor John Gates as an "anti-Soviet revisionist." In the Worker, Gates had denounced the Soviet strangulation of the Hungarian revolt of 1956, another of the rude shocks to the U.S. party's morale. Negro leader Benjamin Davis Jr., seemed all-out to boost himself against all comers.

MONEY PROBLEMS

They fought about money, too. Those on the losing side wanted to know where all the funds had gone. Foster's wing was not about to part with money if it would help the internal opposition. The party's paper was slowly dying, and there was — say men who were on hand at the time—$12.5 million in the party kick then. But Foster's wing apparently preferred to let the paper collapse rather than cough up in those circumstances.

★ ★ ★

In the end, Gates quit the party, as many had before him. Gates had wanted the party to go American again — even to dropping the name "Communist" to indicate independence from Moscow control.

There had been many such protestations of independence before, but it had been all window-dressing. Communists, being told they could pick up the Kremlin line from the world Communist press or Kremlin pronouncements.

AGAINST CARBON COPY

Gates, however, said he really meant it, that he could see no future in the party being a carbon copy of Moscow's.

Gates might have won the inner party battle if he had wanted to fight it out. But suppose he won? What would he have gained? Control? Of what? There was little left to win — just a party of old, tired people with no place else to go.

★ ★ ★

Those who remained as leaders and "apparatchiks" pulled down salaries and settled into the life of revolutionary bureaucrats. In its own way, it wasn't too bad a life. Communist leaders would have a tough time making a living outside the party.

They went through the routine, ground out the leaflets, hoped for a change in the national climate which might improve their fortunes. But nothing short of the gravest of economic depressions would be likely to help them.

CHINESE WING

They had other worries, too. Small as it is, the U.S. party has a Chinese wing, like so many around the world in the backwash of the Soviet-Chinese quarrel. Peking floods New York and the West Coast with propaganda of all sorts, outstripping Moscow, which provides little more these days than collections of Khrushchev speeches.

What about those who quit?

★ ★ ★

Earl Browder, deposed in 1945 for misreading Kremlin intentions, is an ailing man who will be 73 in May, living out his years, with bitter memories, at his Yonkers, N.Y., home.

★ ★ ★

Gates works on research for the International Ladies Garment Workers Union in New York, the picture of a man completely cured of the Communist ailment.

AVOID POLITICS

Others have taken on research projects or various scholarly pursuits, apparently avoiding politics as the plague. Others are just unemployed, some living on the insurance and Social Security they once derided as measures of "bourgeois reformism," theoretically wrong because they dulled revolutionary sentiments.

All face the problem of making a living. Jobs are hard to come by. Preoccupied with subsisting, they have little time for politics. Most seem to have had enough for one lifetime, are not even interested in organizing ex-Communists.

★ ★ ★

"You can't rally around a might-have-been," said one of them bitterly.

Today's leadership seems desperate to bring in new blood. They are looking for it among American youth.

"Thus, Mom's blueberry pie." The new sales pitch is: Why don't you come along with us? We want to be American, too; theres nothing to be afraid of any more.

But there still is much to be wary of regarding the U.S. Communists.

Next: Feeble but dangerous

Each Area Has Own Issues, Conditions

Contradictions Mark South's Desegregation Patterns

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Desegregation moved slowly and haphazardly in the South. Its pace and pattern vary from city to city; there is little consistency of white reaction. This is a report on what is happening and why.)

By DON McKEE

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Violence climaxed a desegregation drive in Jacksonville, Fla. One person was killed and more than a score were injured.

Little more than 350 miles to the west in the the same latitude, racial changes have been taking place in Mobile, Ala., for 10 years with little trouble.

In Macon, Ga., a white church admitted into membership a Negro student from Ghana. In Jackson, Miss., all efforts at integrating churches have failed.

Contradictions like these are evident everywhere in the South.

COMPLEX ANSWER

Why? The answer is as complex as the problem, which covers the spectrum of society. And each community has its own set of issues and conditions.

Yet some of the more apparent factors which may abet or deter peaceful change include:

—Attitudes of government, businesses, churches, integration leaders and segregationists.

—Size and nature of the community, whether urban or rural, industrial or agricultural.

ECONOMIC CONDITIONS

—Percentage of Negroes and their voting power.

—Rate and stage of desegregation.

Much of Georgia's college and university system is desegregated; racial bars have been lowered in private schools, some theaters, restaurants and hotels, lunch counters and libraries in most major cities.

* * *

Change has been made easier by the moderate course of Gov. Carl E. Sanders, elected with the help of the Negro vote—about 14 per cent in Georgia.

Desegregation is most difficult in areas of the South where Negroes are a majority of the population.

11 DISTRICTS

Eleven school districts in Arkansas are desegregated. Most of them are in Little Rock where federal troops enforced a court decree in 1957.

Little Rock theaters, many downtown lunch counters and restaurants are desegregated. But in the delta area of east Arkansas, where Negroes are heavily concentrated, there are no signs of integration.

* * *

In Selma, Ala., where Negroes outnumber white residents, attempts to integrate lunch counters and city facilities have failed. To the North, at Huntsville, where the Negro population is small, a biracial committee is functioning, eight schools and the University Extension Center, public recreational facilities and some motels are desegregated.

Gov. John Connally of Texas said he believed that "the most successful way to integrate is on a voluntary basis." And last summer he worked behind the scenes, meeting with hotel and restaurant owners.

TEXAS CITIES

Desegregation has spread to public accommodations in major Texas cities, although east Texas remains largely segregated.

Biracial bargaining, with an attitude of compromise on both sides, has keynoted much of the peaceful desegregation, surveys by the Associated Press have shown.

* * *

In four years, desegregation of schools has spread to five Georgia cities and two more are preparing for integration.

Quiet change has been the rule in Knoxville, Tenn., which has a committee for peaceful and orderly desegregation. Its schools will be fully desegregated this fall and most other phases of public life are on an unsegregated basis.

Tennessee appears well on the way toward complete desegregation.

Voluntary removal of racial restrictions has underscored change in North Carolina's big cities. In the past several months, four of Charlotte's larger restaurants voluntarily desegregated, joining a large group of hotels and other facilities.

Despite these advances, Negroes still meet strong white resistance to any changes in the rural areas of the state—and in other parts of the South.

Weight Restrictions for Trucks to Be Lifted

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has announced that effective at noon, Friday, all truck weight restrictions will be removed from state highways in the Lower Peninsula, with the exception of M32 from Hillman to Alpena in Alpena County. Weight restrictions will remain in effect in the Upper Peninsula.

Motels Spring Up in Russia --but Where Are the Cars?

MOSCOW (AP)—In the United States, the motel followed the development of travel by private automobile. In the Soviet Union, the motel came first.

To have been opened on the highway that encircles Moscow, just beyond the point at which prefabricated apartment houses are turning rolling farmland into suburb. More motels are planned.

* * *

They aren't exactly motel as you Americans know them. Vehicles go into a parking lot and the customers walk through the lobby and upstairs to their rooms.

The Russians have taken the American word "motel" and put it on combinations of hotel, service station and garage.

TRUCKER'S USE

There are few private cars in the Soviet Union, and not many roads to travel. Trucks are the main highway users. Their drivers get special consideration in reservations at the motel.

Perhaps some day the present trickle of foreign visitors by automobile will swell enough to provide tourist business. At the moment the two motels are primarily used as annexes of Moscow's crowded downtown hotels.

* * *

The motels don't even have names except as affiliates of their downtown connections. But Gregori Suvorov says the motel he manages will some day be independent — "Then we have a name of our own." It is now known as the Motel on the Minsk Highway.

By the standard of many places where foreign travelers find themselves sleeping in the Soviet Union, such as airport hotels, this is a good place to stop.

HAS BATHROOM

Each of 95 rooms has a bathroom, which is an uncommon situation outside a few large Soviet cities. Large windows, bright pictures on the walls and rugs on the floors make the rooms attractive.

An American finds the twin beds a bit trickly. In usual Russian style, the bedding lies loose on top of hard mattresses and a person is supposed to wrap himself in it.

* * *

The price is 1.30 rubles—$1.44—for a bed in a double room, but the desk clerk has the right to move a stranger into the other bed. A lone traveler is allowed to pay for both beds and have a private room.

The price includes use of telephones in the lobbies on the three floors of rooms. There's a television set on the third floor.

* * *

The snack bar in the downstairs lobby is open 24 hours a day and at normal meal times there is a restaurant. Its glass walls on two sides, modern furniture and bright lamp create an attractively Western appearance that is becoming more common in new Soviet construction.

AP Photofax

MOTEL ON MINSK HIGHWAY — Although motoring by private auto is still a pleasure of the future in Russia, Muscovites can avail themselves of a night's stay in a motel. Two units have opened on the Minsk highway, which encircles Moscow. Shown here are an exterior view and a dining room shot of one of the units.

The Afternoon News Available in Morning

MILAN, Italy (AP) — One of Italy's most influential and widely read newspapers is Milan's "Corriere Della Sera."

The name means Evening Courier, but actually it is a morning paper. It started out as an evening paper in 1876, but kept its original name shortly afterward when it changed to morning publication.

Sunny Isles of Greece Are Really Hot Spots

ATHENS (AP) — Iraklcion, Crete, is the hottest city in Greece. Temperatures over the past 30 years have averaged 19 degrees Centigrade (68 Fahrenheit).

* * *

Argostoli, capital of the Ionian island of Cephalonia, is the second hottest city, and Athens ranks third.

Oilmen Are Angered by Income Tax Sketch

WASHINGTON (AP)—No one has ever been known to break out laughing while preparing his income tax, but the Internal Revenue Service likes to pretend things aren't all that dreary.

* * *

So this year, that handy but terribly dull pamphlet, "Your Federal Income Tax," was spruced up with sketches.

You could almost sense a note of accomplishment all the way up to Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin.

HITS SOUR NOTE

But an illustration accompanying an explanation of "oil, gas and mineral depletion," struck a sour note.

Depicted is a ranch-style house, oil derricks off in the distance, curved swimming pools and girls in bathing suits front and center.

* * *

Minor S. Jameson Jr., executive vice president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, wrote Caplin the implication is clear "that the affluent life with private swimming pools is made possible, apparently exclusively, by the depletion provisions in the tax laws."

CALLED PROPAGANDA

"Propaganda," said Jameson. "We see no justification for you to relate swimming pools and bikinis to oil and gas wells."

Oil country newspapers joined the protest. So did Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

Caplin insisted he is innocent. The picture was intended only "to add interest and readability to the text," he wrote Jameson, not as "propaganda against the oil and gas depletion provisions."

But the nation's No. 1 tax collector isn't in the kind of job that collects friends. So Caplin also thought it best to advise Jameson that "the illustration which you find objectionable will not be used in the future."

In 140 years the Senate has sat as a court of impeachment only 12 times and has removed four men from holding Federal office.

Utica Schools Get Cost-Cutting Plan

AREA NEWS

UTICA — The board of education is wondering what to do in case state aid is not improved this year.

Schools Supt. Fred M. Atkinson, who expressed confidence that the legislature will increase school support this year, has come up with a cost-cutting program to put to use if it doesn't.

His proposals, in recommending an estimated $4,465,000 budget, include trimming the district's custodial staff to allow a full-day schedule for third graders and opening of the new Flickinger School.

Atkinson's tentative plan calls for the transfer of day custodians to night duty and the use of matrons to maintain buildings during the day.

★ ★ ★

Thus the school board could eliminate the jobs of several night custodians.

REVISED FIGURES

Revised budget figures indicate an additional $135,787 will be needed to open Flickinger School and maintain full-day schedules for third graders.

Atkinson's proposals include use of contingencies to raise $55,000. The elimination of some custodial jobs would produce another $40,500, he estimates.

Other suggested cuts are instructional, $11,453; administration and school board travel funds, $5,600 and building repairs, $4,000.

★ ★ ★

Already eliminated from the budget is provision for noon-hour supervision which Atkinson originally had proposed. Next year's tentative budget is up about $164,200 over this year's.

SEVERAL WEEKS OFF

The state aid program is not expected to be drawn up for several weeks.

★ ★ ★

Atkinson, who discussed his proposal with custodians before presenting it to the board, said he hoped it would not be necessary to put it into effect. He also noted he did not think it would be.

The custodians, while not "pushing the panic button," did express concern over the possible loss of their jobs, according to a spokesman.

Milk Price Bill Killed by Unit

LANSING (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee Wednesday killed a House-approved bill which would have set minimum retail prices for milk.

A 2-2 deadlock in commttee killed the bill. Milk pricing has been a major issue since 1961 when a bill was vetoed by then-Gov. John Swainson as being detrimental to consumers.

This year, as then, the bill was sponsored by Rep. Andrew Cobb, R-Elsie, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

The two Democrats on the Senate committee, Sens. Charles McManiman, D-Houghton, and Garland Lane, D-Flint, voted for the bill.

Senate committee chairman Harry Litowich, R-Benton Harbor, and Sen. Lester Begick, R-Bay City, voted against it. Sens. Arthur Dehmel, R-Unionville, and Frederic Hilbert, R-Wayland, abstained.

To Exhibit Weaving of Romeo Woman

Some 65 examples of the unusual weaving artistry of Eleen Auvil of Romeo will be displayed during a nine-day exhibition at the Interlochen Arts Academy, Interlochen, beginning Saturday.

Mrs. Auvil's works, which include a custom-designed rug to be shown in Formica House at the New York World's Fair, are sold in leading department stores and decorating shops throughout the country.

The Interlochen exhibition will include upholstery, rugs, stoles, blankets, pillows and three-dimensional woven sculpture.

Mrs. Auvil does her designing in a six-room Victorian-styled studio on Romeo's Main Street, creating depth through blending of such materials as linen and wool, seed pods, mohair, silk and goat hair.

★ ★ ★

She became actively interested in weaving while seeking a degree in sculpture at Cranbrook Academy of Art.

OPENING SESSION

The Saturday opening session from 7 to 9 p.m. will feature a reception for Mrs. Auvil.

★ ★ ★

Jean N. Parsons, head of the Interlochen Arts Academy Fine Arts Department, said the exhibition will be open to the public until 5 p.m. Sunday, following the afternoon concert of the arts academy orchestra; from 3 to 5 p.m. April 25; and from the close of the concert April 26 until 5 p.m.

Oxford Budget Hearing May Be Last for Clerk

MRS. PATRICIA TYRRELL

OXFORD — A proposed 1964-65 budget of $157,500 will be presented to the people of Oxford April 29, at what probably will be the last budget hearing attended by Clerk Mrs. Patricia Tyrrell.

At the same session the budget was presented to the Village Council, Mrs. Tyrrell submitted her resignation, effective May 15.

Mrs. Tyrrell has been a village employe for five years, the past three as clerk-treasurer. Her resignation, submitted for "personal reasons," was accepted with regret by the council.

"I am extremely sorry that she is leaving," Village Manager Michael Kilgore said today. "The village is losing a most capable employe and one who is well respected by her fellow employes and by the community."

Kilgore's budget, now being considered by the council, is $14,249 higher than expected expenditures for 1963-64.

SAME TAXES

However, no additional millage is needed for the adjustment. Village residents will continue to pay the same taxes, determined by the present 20-mill levy.

Among reasons for the increase are a proposed $5,000 street resurfacing program, covering 2½ miles of roadway in the southwest portion of town.

"The biggest item in the budget increase is the capital improvement program of $5,500," Kilgore said. Included in this is installation and maintenance of 29 new street lights in the towntown area, as well as six lamps at residential corners.

★ ★ ★

Also proposed as an expenditure is $3,000 toward the purchase of a new fire truck, which the council hopes to pay cash for in 1965.

'VERY SOUND'

"I feel the budget is operational and expenditurewise very sound," Kilgore explained.

He said millage brings in less than 30 per cent of the revenue, and increases in other income categories have permitted the budget hike.

Spendings for several village departments are upped this year, including the police department from $36,606 to $39,771; fire department, from $14,977 to $16,209; and public works, from $34,463 to $39,326. The water department budget is down from $23,475 to $20,950.

The April 29 public hearing is set for 7:30 p. m. in the council chambers.

Muskegon Man Killed

MUSKEGON (AP)—Jesse W. Harris, 43, of Muskegon, was killed today when his car went out of control on a Muskegon County road and overturned.

New Facilities for the Camper

$95,000 Program at Proud Lake Site

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — When the camping season begins in earnest, families pitching their tents or parking their trailers at Proud Lake Recreation Area will be greeted by bigger and better facilities.

A $95,000 program to add more than 80 lots to the existing 86 now is in full swing.

Workmen have set July 1 as their target date for completion of the project.

A well has been dug, pumping station built and water and sewer lines laid.

★ ★ ★

A toilet and shower building now is being constructed on the camp site along the south side of Proud Lake off Glengary.

FIRST IN STATE

The structure is the first in the state to provide for winter campers.

"We can partially heat it in the winter for people wishing to camp then," Manager Al Masini said. "It will be kept moderately heated all the time."

Masini said a boat launching facility at the camp site also is in the plans.

"Within two or three years this will be one of the leading camp sites in the state," Masini predicted.

2,940 FAMILIES

Some 2,940 families camped at the area last year and at least 5,600 are expected this year.

★ ★ ★

The improvements are being financed through a $20-million bonding program underwritten by the sale of motor vehicle permits by the State Conservation Department.

Methodists Stun Church Merger Talks

PRINCETON, N.J. (UPI) — Merger talks among six major Protestant denominations were thrown into an uproar today by a statement from the Methodist delegation questioning whether the proposed union is feasible or even desirable.

* * *

The confusion generated by the surprise Methodist statement was compounded by a decision of the Episcopal Church delegation to wait for at least three more years before seeking authorization from the denomination's general convention to proceed with the drafting of an actual plan of union.

Both developments caused dismay among the delegates of other denominations, who nevertheless announced their intention of moving ahead as rapidly as possible with the merger negotiations.

Involved in the talks, besides the Methodist and Episcopal churches, are the United Presbyterian Church, the United Church of Christ, the Disciples of Christ, and the Evangelical United Brethren. Together they have about 20 million members.

Representatives of the six denominations have been meeting here at Princeton Theological Seminary since Monday to explore their doctrinal positions on the nature of the ordained ministry and the sacraments of Baptism and Holy Communion. They found a considerable consensus of belief on all of these topics.

OPTIMISM PUNCTURED

The optimism stimulated by their apparent harmony on these topics was punctured yesterday when word leaked out that the Methodist delegation had already prepared a report, taking a dim view of the merger, for submission to the quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Church which opens April 26 in Pittsburgh.

The Methodist report said there might be advantages to the merger but asked "How far are Methodists warranted in compromising their convictions, long held, to achieve such union?"

Among the issues cited by the report as barriers to union was the fact that some of the other denominations do not agree with the Methodist stand on total abstinence.

The report said Methodists were willing to continue with the merger talks as a "long-range future" possibility but saw no prospect of anything coming of them in the next few years.

NO BACKING AWAY

Episcopal Bishop Robert F. Gibson of Richmond, Va., who was elected chairman of the merger conference for the next two years, emphasized that the Episcopal Church delegation had "no thought whatever of backing away" from the merger talks.

He said that a majority of the delegation simply felt that it might be better to achieve a little more progress in preliminary theological explorations before asking the Episcopal general convention to authorize the next step of negotiating an actual plan of union.

The Rev. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, Philadelphia, of the United Presbyterian Church, who originally proposed the merger, said he was "disappointed but not discouraged" by the development.

* * *

The Rev. Dr. Ward Colwell of Washington, D.C., head of the United Church of Christ delegation, said:

"We are going to move full speed ahead with this project."

A similar determination was voiced by the Rev. George E. Beazley Jr. of Indianapolis, Ind., secretary of the Disciples of Christ delegation.

The meeting ended today.

Belgium Eyes Goodwill Move

Hope Up for Doctor Strike End

BRUSSELS (AP) — Hopes of conciliation in the Belgian doctors' strike were raised today.

Social Affairs Minister Edmond Leburton told newsmen last night the government would consider suspension of the strike a goodwill gesture that could lead to negotiations.

Previously, Prime Minister Theo Lefevre had insisted that only the end of the strike could bring about discussions on changes in the health insurance system, the doctors' target.

The doctors also were conciliatory. A spokesman said they considered that the talks, which broke down early Sunday, were only suspended.

* * *

Deterioration of emergency arrangements which the government took over Sunday may be a factor in the easing of tension.

Brussels University professors have warned of a health danger from packed hospitals where it is impossible to segregate suspected contagious cases properly.

Election Date to Be Slated for Detroit Teachers

DETROIT (UPI) — The Presidents of Detroit's two teacher organizations, the AFL-CIO Detroit Federation of Teachers and the Detroit Education Association, were to meet with Superintendent Samuel Brownell today to set a date for a representation election.

The board of education Tuesday night formally approved the election with a change in the wording to call for a "majority" vote to decide the winner, which will have sole negotiating rights.

* * *

The original plan called for the organization receiving the greatest number of votes to be declared the winner.

Board President Leonard Kasle explained the change was necessary to conform to a ruling made by Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley.

Too Nervous for Service

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old boy who is about to be drafted. I am not a coward, but I would just rather not go for two reasons.

ABBY

One is that I am used to my privacy and don't like to have a lot of people around me. The other is I know that I won't be able to adjust to Army life.

The only way out, as I see it, is to get married, but I can't seem to find a girl. Can you help me?

LOOKING

DEAR LOOKING: Look, buddy, if every American male ducked military service for the reasons you give, our country would be a sitting duck for its enemies.

Your survival would be a bigger problem than your "privacy."

And your "adjustment" would be to bondage rather than to a brief hitch for Uncle Sam.

Sign up and grow up. It'll do you good!

DEAR ABBY: Would you please put a word in your column explaining to people that widowed and divorced women are still addressed as "Mrs."?

So many of my Christmas cards were addressed "Miss," or worse yet, no title whatsoever.

This makes a husbandless woman feel like "nothing."

"A MRS.

DEAR MRS.: I have written this many times in my column, and I will write it again.

Once a woman has been married, unless she arranges to resume her maiden name she is never again a "Miss."

★ ★ ★

P. S. Many women choose to omit either the Miss or Mrs. from THEIR correspondence—thus adding to the general confusion.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ELINORE AT S. C.: I don't agree that "a little gossip is nothing." A hole is also "nothing"—but you can break your neck in it.

Get if off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Watch Damage in Cottons

Though cotton is an all-around outstanding fabric for summer wear, it is prone to damage through faulty construction and improper care.

Shoppers are advised to look for garments carrying labels insuring that the fabric is preshrunk and colorfast. When buying colored cottons, look for the words "vat dye" on the label. This identification tells shoppers that the textile has generally good wash and light fastness. The best buying guide a consumer can use in selecting washable merchandise is the Certified Washable Seal of the American Institute of Laundering.

Some Like It Hot

When you feel very tired but have to "keep going," one way to pep up is with a hot-and-cold shower bath. First wet and soap yourself thoroughly to cleanse and refresh your skin.

Then rinse with three or four alternating cycles of hot and cold water. Massage your body while under the cold water, and finally dry yourself briskly with a turkish towel.

The costumes worn by the Swiss guards at the Vatican with wide blue and orange stripes date back to 1505, making them one of the oldest costumes still used in public.

Cleanliness Closet

Exciting news in convertible furniture is a foam-rubber-cushioned chair, which unzips in back to reveal storage space for a fold-out ironing board, steam iron; and electric hair dryer.

This space-saving "chair-closet" comes with or without the appliances.

The Bethune PTA fund raising family banquet will be held at 6 p.m. tonight. Making preparations are (from left) Mrs. D. T. Watson of Detroit, Mrs. Amos Johnson of Granada Drive and Mrs. Neal Smith of Gillespie Avenue. Students and parents will present a talent show and an "Outdoor Education Review" will conclude the program.

Help Weary Legs

A sudsy shower is a great restorative for weary legs — when taken this way.

* * *

First massage your legs with thick soapy lather. Then rinse for five minutes under the shower, or under the bathtub faucet — first with hot water for a minute or so, next with cold water. Repeat with another round of hot and cold rinses.

Mokanna Unit Assists Charity With Festivities

The National Foundation for Cerebral Palsy Children will benefit from the card party planned by the Iraq Caldron, Daughters of Mokanna, Tuesday, at First Federal Savings of Oakland.

The event is open to the public and tickets may be purchased from Mrs. Roger Smiley and her committee at the door.

* * *

Assisting the chairman, Mrs. Victor O. Bodamer, are Mrs. May White, who is in charge of prizes, and Thelma Anderson, refreshment chairman.

The William P. Halls of Oakdale Avenue announce the engagement of their daughter Barbara Lee to John Michael Peters, son of Mrs. Lucy Peters of Rossiter Street and Lawrence H. Peters of Rowley Street. A June 27 altar date is set.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: Everywhere I look, summer clothes seem to have large, bold designs. It seems like most patterns would not be suitable for these materials. What kind of pattern must one choose so that it would look right? Mrs. M. M. E.

Dear Mrs. M. M. E.: Yes, this is certainly the year for bold and colorful prints. They are such fun to wear because they're so gay. You must look for a pattern that has very few construction seams, and that's why so many of the ready-made dresses are cut in one-piece styles.

Ordinarily, I prefer a center-back seam, but with many of these prints, where the design is very prominent, you may eliminate a center back seam. If you do this, be sure to lay the center-back seam line on the fold of your fabric.

Remember to keep the buttons simple, or any trimmings for that matter. Using a cording or bias trim in a solid color to pick up one of the colors in the print is very attractive. Avoid a cluttered look, keep the print important.

Dear Eunice: Some of the pictures of good suits in the fashion magazines show the ends of the collars left open. I can't find any patterns that are made like this, so could you please tell me what the purpose of this is, and also, can we do it without a pattern? Bewildered

Dear Bewildered: This is one of the details that most women wouldn't be aware of. It's just another detail that designers love to add to a garment to give it a new identity, as they say, "anything to be different."

When cutting your collar pattern, allow an extra inch, to the ends of the collar. When machine stitching the collar, stitch the outer edges only. Turn the ends in on the seamline, loosely hem to collar and press. From this point on, the collar is applied as usual. See sketch for details.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

With spring and summer here, most of us are faced with graduations, recitals, and weddings which mean many gathered skirts. This is a real lifesaver and saves not only time, but patience as well.

Cut a piece of string, not thread, two inches longer than area to be gathered. Set your machine for the zig-zag stitch, and machine stitch over the string, be sure not to catch the string in your stitching. This forms a casing for the string, it pulls evenly without breaking once.

Mrs. O. Gladwell, The Dalles, Oregon, is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board for this suggestion.

Dear Eunice:

So often when I have completely lined a skirt as you have suggested, by applying the lining to the labric and making the darts, seams, etc., together, the hem seems to pull back causing the lower edge of the skirt to roll up and not remain flat and pressed. I've almost gone back to partial linings. Help! Mrs. V. G.

Dear Mrs. V. G.: I would almost say that one thing is certain, the skirt lining is pulling the hem up because it is too tight. This is more apt to happen when the skirt is fitted a little too snug at the hips.

To avoid this, push a slight amount of lining above the hem and baste in place. Next baste the lining to the skirt fabric on the fold (hemline).

This will guarantee that the lining is going to stay in place all the way to the end of the skirt. Now baste the skirt about 1 inch above the fold line and press. After you have measured the width of the hem, cut off excess and hem to the skirt lining only.

One of the beauties of completely lining the skirt is to avoid the pulled look from stitches going through, also, the additional weight makes the skirt hang better.

Mrs. C. L. H. says:

When cutting formals out of organza, taffeta, and slippery materials, turn the felt-backed table pads wrong side up so they won't slip off your table. It's also great for pinning sections together. After you are finished, the felt can be brushed with a small piece of nylon net to remove small cuttings and threads.

Their Numbers Are Growing

Married High School Girls?

By JEANMARIE ELKINS

Understanding adolescents, looking at early marriage and parent relations with young married children certainly three controversial subjects.

These three subjects intimately affect not only nearly every man, woman and child in Oakland County, but in the world.

★ ★ ★

The Oakland County Cooperative Extension Service has decided to make materials on these subjects available to its extension study groups.

Wednesday Mrs. Mary Jane Van Meter of the extension service held a meeting of interested study group leaders.

It took a good three hours just to "fly over the subject and touch down briefly on the peaks."

★ ★ ★

But when the women left, they had leadership material and in many cases, an insight into relations with their own children or parents.

TRIO OF PROBLEMS

There are three central problems of adolescents: identity, self-esteem and alienation.

★ ★ ★

In adolescent years each individual is trying to find himself; to find out who he is, what he is and where he's going.

He is neither an adult nor a child. In this in-between stage he must begin to assert his independence while still depending on his parents.

It is a time of conflict.

Society tends to look at the adolescent in a negative way.

It says, in effect, "do as I say and not as I do."

It tells a boy to grow up and act like a man, and then become worried that he is growing up too fast when he does as he is told.

EARLY MARRIAGE

Why the youthful marriage rate? In 60 per cent of the marriages in Oakland County in 1962, both parties were under 20. This is 20 per cent above the national figure.

Many reasons are given for early marriage.

Compared with girls who did not marry in their teens, teenage brides, on the average, had started dating sooner and more frequently, went steady earlier and dated older men more often.

They more often had mothers who married young themselves.

★ ★ ★

To some it's "cute" when five-year-olds have boy friends; when 10-year-olds dress up and have mom or dad drive them to the movies for a date; when 12-year-olds wear a Mickey Mouse ring and are going steady.

But it's horrible when at 15 or 16 they are ready to get married!

★ ★ ★

"Every married couple belongs to three families. They belong first all to themselves. They are the WE of the new family they are founding together. But, at the same time, they also belong to HIS family, and to HERS.

"If they are to establish a strong family unit of their own, they must inevitably realign their loyalties to the place where OUR family comes before either YOURS or MINE."

So says Evelyn M. Duvall in her book, "Being Married."

★ ★ ★

Parents often do not have confidence in their child's judgment and interfere more than they would if they respected it.

Often the young couple has to be more dependent financially on their parents than if they had waited.

EVERYONE'S PROBLEM

Teenage marriage is not just a problem of youth. It's youth's solution to a problem society fosters. Since society fostered the problem, society has a responsibility to help solve it. And each of us is society.

"Teenager" is a catch-all phrase. Obviously a 13-year-old and a 19-year-old are different.

We must trust our adolescents and give them help. They are individuals.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Peters of Rochester announce the engagement of their daughter Pamela to Michael L. Burrill, son of the John C. Burrills of East Boulevard South. The wedding is set for June.

Washable Luxury

The latest white Dacron and cotton pillowcases, embellished with generous borders of beige nylon lace, look luxurious.

But these feminine frills are as easy to launder as any "plain Jane." After washing in soap or detergent suds and rinses, they will drip dry — no ironing needed.

The Garner H. Grogans of West Huron Street announce the engagement of their daughter Shelba to John G. Repic, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Repic of North Branch. June vows are planned.

3 Flags Given by Auxiliary Unit

As part of the Americanism program of the Disabled American Veteran Auxiliary 101, three American flags were presented to area groups.

Commander Williams attended a VA volunteer service recognition banquet in Battle Creek Wednesday, where she accepted a citation for hospital work done for the VA hospitals by the auxiliary.

Delta Zeta State Day Is Saturday

Delta Zeta sorority will hold its annual state day Saturday at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

Mrs. Herbert W. Schnetzky of Timberlake Road will be mistress of ceremonies for the luncheon and province awards. She is president of all Oakland County alumnae groups.

Mrs. Russell T. Costello of Orchard Lake will discuss Panhellenic activities throughout our country. Mrs. Costello national Panhellenic conference delegate, is a former city Panhellenic president.

★ ★ ★

Main luncheon speaker is Mrs. Edwards J. Bergman, the Delta Zeta national director of philanthropies.

Hostess for state day will be the Kalamazoo Delta Zeta Alumnae chapter and Gamma Pi sorority at Western Michigan University.

★ ★ ★

Other area women who will be attending the state day activies will be Mrs. Forbes S. Hascall of Birmingham, past president of Oakland Alumnae; and Mrs. C. Lyle Reese of Rochester.

Wedding Date for Greek King

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—King Constantine announced today that he will marry Princess Anne-Marie of Denmark on Sept. 18.

The 23-year-old monarch, who succeeded to the throne March 6 on the death of his father, King Paul, told a news conference the wedding would take place in Athens. It will follow a six-month mourning period for Paul.

Anne-Marie will be 18 on Aug. 30.

Constantine and the Danish princess have been engaged since January 1963 and, before his father's death, planned to marry next January. But with his accession to the throne and because of his youth, court circles felt a royal wedding would strengthen his position.

Everyone Likes to Take a Dig at Undertakers

NEW YORK (AP) — Socially, the lot of an undertaker is a hard one, says a funeral director.

Frank E. Fairchild Jr. told fellow Rotarians in Brooklyn Wednesday about some of the every-day jibes undertakers have to endure.

For instance, he said, they often are greeted by "Hiya, digger."

NO SICK CALLS

Not only that, he said, but "you can never call on a sick friend because he realizes what you stand for."

"You can never brag about a sale," he added.

Contrary to popular opinion, Fairchild said, "A good funeral director does not get hardened to death or bereavement."

Roundup of World News

Syria Army Troops Smash Third Revolt in 13 Months

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Army troops have smashed the third antigovernment revolt since Syria's Baath Socialist regime came to power in a military coup 13 months ago.

A government spokesman said an uprising in Hamah, 130 miles north of Damascus, was put down Wednesday with two persons killed. The city of 100,000 was still under a 24-hour curfew today, but bakeries and groceries were ordered to reopen, and easing of the restriction was expected.

★ ★ ★

The revolt started as a student demonstration protesting the political arrest of a high school student. The government said a strike developed and was exploited by "reactionary and feudalist elements, who had been infuriated by the government's seizure of their extra land under the agrarian reform law."

MILITARY COURT

More than 30 persons were reported under arrest, and the government set up a five-man military court to try them.

BUKAVU, Kivu Province, the Congo (AP) — Five policemen were killed and a number of civilians injured Wednesday in a raid blamed on African gangs of rebel leader Pierre Mulele.

Rebels armed with lances also attacked the car of Provincial Gov. Pierre Malago when he drove from Bukavu to investigate the violence at the police station at nearby Bagira.

The governor escaped and, using a gun, also rescued his bodyguard, who had been wounded and kidnaped by the Mulele gang.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Sixty-two nations will be invited to the second Asian-African summit conference, to be held in Africa next March.

But Malaysia will not be among them unless the dispute with Indonesia is settled. And a proposed invitation to the Soviet Union was left unsettled because of objections raised by Red China at a preliminary meeting which ended Wednesday.

Israel and white-ruled South Africa also were excluded, but both Viet Nams and both Koreas were invited.

The meeting will be held on the 10th anniversary of the first conference, in Bandung, West Java. The site in Africa for the 1965 meeting will be chosen later.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Gunfire erupted in Lebanon's campaign for a new Parliament and eight persons were wounded near the historic city of Byblos.

Security forces made 47 arrests in the village of Abeidat after an armed dispute erupted Wednesday between supporting groups of two rival candidates.

Two of the wounded were reported in serious condition.

The district goes to the polls April 26 for the parliamentary voting, which is spread over four weekends.

The Beatles Old Stuff

CLYDE, N.Y. (AP)—Workmen who were tearing down a house here found a printed card announcing a dance at Perkins Hall, Tuesday evening, April 9, 1878.

The card also announced: "Music by the Beatles, full orchestra."

Nobody in this central New York village can recall the Beatles of '78 or Perkins Hall.

12 Receive Prison Terms in English Train Robbery

AYLESBURY, England (AP) —Judge Edmund Davies sentenced 12 men today to prison terms ranging up to 30 years for their part in Britain's great train robbery.

Seven men were sentenced to prison for 30 years, two for 25, one for 24, one for 20 and one for three years.

The robbery of the Glasgow to London mail train on Aug. 8 netted the gang 2.6 million pounds — $7,680,000 — the greatest cash haul in modern times.

Davies told the men:

"You have been convicted of complicity in a crime that in its enormity is the first of its kind in this country. I propose to do all within my power to ensure that it will also be the last of its kind.

★ ★ ★

"Your outrageous conduct constitutes an intolerable menace to the well being of society."

★ ★ ★

Those who drew the 30-year sentences were:

Charles F. Wilson, 31, and Thomas W. Wisbey, 33, London racing bookies; Robert Welch, 34, London nightclub owner; James Hussey, 30, London housepainter; Roy James, 29, London silversmith and auto racer; Douglas G. Goody, 34, a London hairdresser; Ronald A. Biggs, 34, a carpenter of Redhill, Surrey.

LESSER TERMS

The others and their sentences were:

Briain Field, 29, a law clerk of Whitchurch Hill, Oxfordshire, and Leonard Field, 31, a London merchant seaman who is not related to the other Field, 25 years; William Boal, 50, a London engineer, 24 years; Roger J. Cordrey, 42, florist of East Molesey, Surrey, 20 years; John D Wheater, 41, lawyer and former British army major of Ashtead, Surrey, 3 years.

The big robbery occurred at a nearby hamlet when about 15 men stopped the mail train with a false red signal and overpowered clerks in the car carrying most of the money.

Most of the cash was in five pounds ($14) notes being transferred from branch banks in Scotland to London.

★ ★ ★

The police have recovered only about 300,000 pounds ($840,000). They think the rest has been cached away by three or four men, so far uncaught, who masterminded the theft.

Still to be tried before Judge Davies are six persons, including three women, accused of receiving portions of the loot.

Air Force purchases of spare parts this fiscal year are estimated at $2,600,000,000. All services bought a total of $4 billion dollars' worth of spare parts in fiscal 1962.

No Parking Meters for Town in Florida

CLERMONT, Fla. (AP) — Nobody wants parking meters anymore. At least that's the opinion of City Clerk Albert Johnson who has searched far and wide for a buyer for the city's removed collection of parking meters.

★ ★ ★

He has asked the City Council to let him get rid of them for whatever he might obtain. The council okayed his request by telling him to dispose of them as he can.

No Privacy for Presidents? Johnson Is Managing Very Nicely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidents often complain that they have no privacy. In fact, they have more than you might imagine.

Washington is a sophisticated, cosmopolitan capital where a presidential caravan can be spotted instantly as it rolls along the boulevards.

Still it's a fact that President Johnson, time after time, is driven around the city after dark without reporters, or the general public, being the wiser.

Johnson told newsmen last week he likes to visit friends in suburban Silver Spring, Md., and even as far away as Hyattsville, Md., 15 miles to the northeast. No such trips have been recorded.

A few months ago Johnson drove 12 miles into suburban Virginia to have dinner with Pierre Salinger, then his press secretary. The directions to Salinger's house were so circuitous that the Secret Service had to summon a White House driver who had been there many times to lead the small motorcade. This trip, too, went unrecorded.

Wednesday night, after attending a hotel reception given in his honor by King Hussein of Jordan, Johnson decided to take off on one of these jaunts.

★ ★ ★

This posed a problem because two reporters had hired a limousine and, with Secret Service knowledge, had joined the presidential motorcade to the hotel. The reporters planned to leave with Johnson and follow him, not so much because they wanted to know where he was going but to be on hand in case his car should have a flat tire, a wreck or other misfortune.

After all, should the President have an accident on the highway, a White House reporter might be hard pressed to explain why he wasn't on the scene.

SOLVE PROBLEM

Well, the Secret Service, acting on Johnson's instructions, solved the problem of the limousine from the Fourth Estate. They ordered two Washington policemen to park their motorcycles so close to the front bumper of the press car that it couldn't join the cavalcade.

Johnson took off for parts unknown, free of pursuit, with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clark, old friends from Austin, Tex. Clark is an attorney.

Facts about after-dark presidential trips frequently remain very secret—proof enough that the President of the United States can move about in complete secrecy, if that's his desire.

Thirty-nine of the states grant divorces upon proof of drunkenness.

Home Rule Bill Dies in Committee; to Be Studied Later

LANSING (AP) — Spokesmen for Wayne County made a fervent but unsuccessful last-ditch appeal Wednesday as enabling legislation for county home rule died in a House committee.

The House Republican caucus, considering the proposal at Gov. George W. Romney's request, voted to back a decision by Rep. Roy Brigham, R-Battle Creek, chairman of the Towns and Counties Committee, to let the bill die.

* * *

They agreed instead to submit the subject to study by a legislative interim committee later this year.

The closeness of the vote on whether to bring the bill out of Brigham's committee—"two or three votes," according to House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston—left some glimmer of hope for Wayne County advocates of the bill.

But even that faded after a hallway confrontation between Brigham and Ed Connor, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

* * *

Connor appealed to Brigham to override the caucus decision, call another meeting of his committee and report the bill to the Ways and Means Committee to keep it alive.

"Give us a chance," he pleaded. "Give us a week to write a bill that will be all right. We need this legislation."

INFORMATION LACK

Brigham told Connor that his committee hadn't been provided with enough information on the bill. "All we've heard is people saying 'we want it, we want it,'," he said.

"While we're at it," said the Battle Creek lawmaker, "I don't understand what makes Wayne County think its problems are any greater than any other county's except in proportion to size."

* * *

The hallway argument finally broke up when Brigham told Connor: "You can put the pressure on all you want. I'm not going to call another committee meeting."

As it passed the Senate earlier, the bill would have allowed Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties to set up charter governments.

ROMNEY SETBACK

In calling Wednesday for it to be brought out to the House floor, Romney said he would agree to having it amended to apply only to Wayne County, and the loss of the bill was a setback for the governor.

Green said House Republicans "recognized the need for home rule" but raised two objections to the bill.

* * *

One was that, because it would permit a charter county government to assess 10 mills for operations, "the feeling was that this could result in a tax increase for some people without their having an opportunity to vote on it or have any say on it," Green said.

The other objection was by members who took the position that home rule legislation should provide for uniformity, Green reported.

STUDY UNIFORMITY

"The feeling was that we ought to have a study made to provide this uniformity," he said, adding:

"It is my own observation that you can come up with much better legislation many times if you have a study of it first."

* * *

Green said he found that, although Wayne County was campaigning for the bill, many lawmakers from Wayne County were divided among themselves on the issue.

The new constitution provides that counties may have county home rule as provided by the legislature, and Romney had made the enactment of enabling legislation a key part of his program this year.

SPONSORS BILL

Brigham, who had stated earlier that the bill was dead, is sponsor of a resolution to set up an interim study committee on the subject.

Green said the resolution would be passed.

Water 'Clean' — Industry Chief

DETROIT (AP)—"Michigan is a clean water state with continual improvement being made," a chemical industry spokesman told a water pollution workshop today.

The day-long conference is sponsored by the Manufacturing Chemists Association to deal with problems and programs of water pollution control.

The "clean water state" description was made by George H. Baker, vice president of Wyandotte Chemicals Corp., in a prepared speech.

MILLIONS SPENT

"Hundreds of millions of dollars have been spent by Michigan industries and municipalities in the abatement and prevention of water pollution," Baker said.

He quoted the State Water Resources Commission as saying that all but one municipality of more than 5,000 population now treat their sewage.

"All but a very small fraction of Michigan's shoreline is safe for swimming, insofar as water purity is concerned," Baker said.

Baker said the chemical industry has a pollution problem, but "we have an abundance of programs that are providing increasingly effective solutions to most of these water pollution problems."

SHARE RESPONSIBILITY

He asserted other industries and some municipalities share the responsibility for water pollution.

Another speaker, H. W. Poston of the U. S. Public Health Service, said:

"More and more, industry will be called upon to measure the quantities of its waste waters, to analyze their contents, and to report the information freely and completely. The 'Confidential File' on materials put into public waters must go."

He said "the idea prevails in many industries as well as municipalities that surface waters may be used as a dump.

"An example comes to mind of a highly toxic metal that is being placed in sealed containers and sunk in Lake Michigan. Other recent examples are requests for permission to dump several tons of sodium, and many more tons of cinders, in Lake Erie," Poston said.

French Memorial to Go

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — The government announced today it will direct the French Embassy to remove a French war memorial from the city since it is considered "a vestige of French colonialism."

De Gaulle Holds the Key

U.S., France May Clash at Trade Talks

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A new clash between the United States and France may be in the making for next month.

NEWSOM

That will be the scheduled May 4 opening in Geneva, Switzerland, of the "Kennedy Round" of talks aimed at expansion of world trade through drastic tariff cuts ranging up to 50 per cent.

The clash, if it comes, also will involve France's partners in the European Common Market—West Germany, The Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg and Italy.

And while the argument involves trade rather than military or political alignments, the line to be followed will be the now-classic one—the U.S. concept of free world unity against communism and President Charles de Gaulle's drive for a Western Europe under French leadership which would act as a "third force" between the United States and the Soviet Union.

The talks, to be held under the auspices of GATT, the General Agreement on Tariff and Trade, are technical and not of the glamorous stuff to attract wide popular attention.

But upon them depends the fate of approximately $1 billion in annual U.S. agricultural exports to the Common Market nations plus literally thousands of industrial items also exported by the United States.

* * *

Agriculture is an important key.

From the start, the United States has insisted that liberalization of world trade in agricultural goods must accompany cuts in industrial tariffs.

FRANCE'S PRODUCTS

Here it runs head-on into France which has agricultural problems of its own and which de Gaulle insists must have first call on the West European market to get rid of its surpluses.

French agriculture, while not so efficient as that of the United States, is producing more now on less land than it did before World War II, and says that by 1970 it can fulfill the grain needs of the entire Common Market.

And a plan which the United States has declared unacceptable proposes a Common Market system of levies which virtually would cut off U.S. grains to Common Market nations and would, in addition, effect all U.S. food exports ranging from marmalade to beef.

* * *

Ally of the United States against this plan is Chancellor Ludwig Erhard who feels that the Common Market nations have made enough concessions to France.

ERHARD DETERMINED

Erhard, further, is determined to make the GATT negotiations a success.

One of Erhard's reasons is his desire to preserve the Atlantic Alliance which de Gaulle disdains.

Another is West Germany's dependence on its own international exports. The celebrated "chicken war" in which the Common Market's so - called "sluice-gate" levies virtually banned U.S. frozen chickens from the West European market, resulted in retaliatory U.S. tariffs against West German trucks.

* * *

Erhard seeks to prevent the spread of such wars to other areas of commerce.

SUCCESS TO WAIT

Success is not anticipated immediately in the enormously complicated discussions of reduced tariffs.

But, in the end, whether they succeed or fail, depends upon de Gaulle.

New Techniques Give Victims Hope

3 Kinds of Strokes All Cause Brain Damage

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth article in a series on diseases of the heart and blood circulation system generally known as cardiovascular disease. The series is produced in cooperation with the Michigan Heart Association, a member of the United Fund.)

There are three kinds of strokes. All cause brain damage, which is irreversible.

★ ★ ★

Damage to the brain is done by diseases of the arteries, which supply blood to the brain. Delicate nerve cells in the brain can die in four minutes if deprived of their supply of blood.

The Michigan Heart Association, however, says that new advances in medical techniques can give stroke victimes new hope, not only for tims new hope, not only for life but for a recovery of health as well as of abilities that may have been lost.

These techniques utilize a marvelous characteristic of the healing process in the human body — the setting up of alternate routes of both nerves and arteries.

When nerves are killed or arteries blocked, the adjoining nerves and arteries have the ability to take over a part of the load carried by the damaged part.

ARTERIES ENLARGE

Laboratory research has shown that arteries adjoining a blocked artery enlarge to carry more blood. Somehow, new nerve paths to accomplish the tasks handled by damaged tissue are made and with practice become habit.

Consequences of a stroke, as of heart attack, depend on size and location of the blockage. If in a big artery serving a large part of the brain is blocked, damage will be large and the consequences serious.

Much depends on location of the damaged area, there are well-defined parts of the brain that control specific parts of the body, arms, legs, hands, feet, face, or specific skills, such as, speech, memory, hearing, sight and reading.

IMPAIRS ACTIVITY

Image to a control center will impair the activity of the part of the body controlled in proportion to the amount of damage, the association explained.

Heart experts say "a turn of fate decides" that the brain gets damaged by a blood stoppage rather than heart or kidneys or perhaps some other part of the body where the consequences are nothing but a temporary ache.

The three main causes of stroke are:

- Clogging of an artery through fatty deposits (thrombosis). This is the cause of 70 to 80 per cent of all strokes.
- Plugging of an artery by a blood clot carried along through arteries (embolus), the source of 5 to 22 per cent of strokes.

These, usually caused by a previous attack of rheumatic heart disease or some severe infection, generally strike young or middle-aged adults.

- Bursting of an artery (hemorrhage), the cause of 8 to 15 per cent of all strokes. This disease, if severe, is most serious and difficult to treat.

★ ★ ★

Former President Franklin D. Roosevelt was one of the most renowned victims of brain hemorrhage, which comes simply from a weakness in the wall of an artery.

Some weaknesses are caused by fatty deposits, while others, present at birth, gradually grow worse as the years go by.

All these types of strokes are made more dangerous and blow-outs or breaks more probable because of high blood pressure, a disease which recent research indicates is present in about three-quarters of all stroke patients.

However, high blood pressure can now be cured or checked with drugs, and the MHA emphasizes that prompt treatment of this disease can reduce the danger of suffering a stroke.

★ ★ ★

Accurate diagnosis of the three types is extremely important as a guide to the physician's treatment which could vary sharply according to the cause, the association added.

MAIN CAUSES—These diagrams show three main causes of a stroke, (from left) clotting, hemorrhage and compression. All three are conditions in which some part of the brain is deprived of blood. These parts die or are damaged, with accompanying illness.

Predict Rise in Seaway Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was told Wednesday that traffic through the St. Lawrence Seaway will reach 50 million tons annually in the early 1970s and is expected to rise to 60 million tons before finally leveling off.

This optimistic picture of seaway operations was painted for a Senate Appropriations subcommittee by Joseph H. McCann, administrator of the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp.

★ ★ ★

He testified in support of the agency's $450,000 administrative budget for the fiscal year starting July 1. Congress appropriates no money for the seaway — that comes from tolls —but must fix a ceiling on administrative spending.

Since it began operations in 1959, the seaway has failed to attract the tonnage its backers predicted. This has caused the corporation to fall behind in its payments to the U.S. Treasury.

Seaway tolls are based on 1958 predictions of traffic which McCann said were made "without the benefit of operational experience."

McCann noted that a report on Seaway tolls will be presented to the United States and Canadian governments by July 1.

McCann said original predictions fixed the leveling off of seaway traffic at 5 million tons annually but that figure now can be expected to rise to 60 million tons.

Total traffic during the 1963 season, McCann added, climbed to 31 million tons, compared with 25.6 million tons in 1962.

The Italian government forecasts that 1.5 million Italians will leave the farms for city or factory jobs in the next 10 years.

Aviatrix on Last Leg of Flight

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Jerrie Mock prepared today to fill the cockpit of her single-engine plane with operatic song along the last 2,800 miles of her attempt to be the first woman to fly solo around the world.

"It was about time a woman did it," she said.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Mock, 38, mother of three, needs only to fly the 1,200 miles or so from Oakland to El Paso, Texas, and then the final 1,650 miles to her home town of Columbus, Ohio, the starting point March 19. She has flown more than 20,000 miles east to west over both major oceans and three continents, singing arias to relieve the loneliness.

★ ★ ★

After the 2,400-mile flight from Honolulu to Oakland in 17 hours and 39 minutes Wednesday Mrs. Mock stepped out of her red-and-white Cessna 180 into the arms of her husband, Russel, 39, a copy supervisor in an advertising agency.

DOUBLE SHOT

"She'd rather have a double shot of scotch right now," confided her husband as he handed her two orchids instead.

About six hours later, Mrs. Mock sat on a bed in an Oakland hotel room, sipped her scotch and told of her loneliness in flight.

★ ★ ★

"I couldn't even get any good music on the plane's radio," she said. "So I sang opera. I'm not a very good singer."

On her current flight the 5-foot, 107-pound aviatrix became the first woman ever to fly solo across the Atlantic Ocean to Africa and the only woman ever to pilot a single - engine plane across the Pacific.

MEN DO IT

"This is something men do all the time," said Mrs. Mock, evaluating her flight. "It was about time a woman did it."

Her husband told of the crowd expected to greet Mrs. Mock when she returns to Columbus either Friday or Saturday.

"The homecoming will be when I decide," interrupted Mrs. Mock, indicating she's in no particular rush.

"Right now, we're going out to get some seafood—I haven't eaten since Honolulu—and then I'm going to sleep.

"I'm going to try for 12 hours. I'm not going to set any alarm clocks," declared Mrs. Mock.

"I'm just a housewife," she said. "I get tired of washing dishes and ironing clothes.

"Maybe I'll want to get out of the house again and take another flight. But this time with my husband in a bigger plane.

"And about this trip I'm going to write a book—"How to Fly Around the World and See Nothing," said Mrs. Mock.

"She just may do that," said her husband.

Fremont Exec Named to Farm Youth Post

EAST LANSING (AP) — Don Gerber, Fremont manufacturing executive, has been named honorary chairman of the Michigan International Farm Youth Exchange Program. Gerber, who has supported the program since it was introduced 16 years ago, this year is sponsoring an exchange between the U.S. and Italy.

Rocky's Ex-Wife Buys New Home

BEDFORD VILLAGE, N.Y. (AP)—Mary Clark Rockefeller, former wife of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, has bought a $145,000 home in this village, 12 miles from the Rockefeller family estate in Westchester County.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Rockefeller's new home, an 11-room Colonial style house, formerly was owned by Mrs. Harold L. Regenstein.

Mrs. Rockefeller also has an apartment in Manhattan and a home in Maine.

A sharp increase has been reported in the trend in group health insurance policies to provide workers with coverage after retirement.

Bridge-Tunnel Open on Florida to N.Y. Highway

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) —The last major water barrier of the north-south Ocean Highway from New York to Jacksonville, Fla., has been spanned with the opening of the 17.5-mile Chesapeake Bay bridge-tunnel.

Traffic began moving across the bridge shortly before sunset Wednesday.

A $200-million revenue toll-bond issue financed the project —12 miles of concrete trestle 30 feet above Chesapeake Bay, where it meets the Atlantic Ocean, two steel bridges, two mile-long tunnels that dip beneath major ship channels, four artificial islands that anchor the tunnels, and 1¼ miles of earth-fill causeway.

Not Fascinated With His Office

LOS ANGELES (AP) — One thing a hypnotist needs, said Dr. William J. Bryan Jr., is a quiet office.

He filed suit in Superior Court Wednesday, asking $55,000 in damages from his landlord.

He said the owners of the building on Sunset Boulevard made noisy alterations after he moved in, then rented space next door to a music publisher. The result: Plunking pianos kept his patient awake.

March egg production is estimated at 113 million, 5 per cent above last year, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said.

S. Rhodesia Regime Arrests Nationalists

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (AP) — Southern Rhodesia's new government put African Nationalist leader Joshua Nkomo and three of his chief supporters under restrictive custody today.

The three men and a woman were ordered confined for 12 months to 100 acres in the Gona-Re-Zhou Game Reserve, on the frontier with Portuguese Mozambique.

Justice Minister Clifford Dupont said police, in a dawn swoop in southeastern Nuanetsi district, arrested Nkomo, Josiah Chinamano, his wife, Ruth, and Joseph Msika.

PARTY OFFICIALS

Chinamano is Nkomo's chief lieutenant in the Nationalist Peoples' Caretaker Council and Msika is the party's foreign affairs official.

The crackdown followed the resignation Monday of Prime Minister Winston Field, whose all-white, conservative Rhodesian Front party had decided he was too moderate in dealing with the self-governing British territory's African majority.

* * *

Field was succeeded by Treasury Minister Ian Smith, who favors strong measures against African nationalists. The Rhodesian Front is pledged to maintain the white minority's rule in Southern Rhodesia and wants independence before the British government can give the Africans control.

A government statement said Nkomo had ignored repeated warnings to refrain from dragging the country from crisis to crisis.

Most species of deer shed their horns every year.

'Panic in Cuba Over Draft'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—One of 28 youths fleeing Cuba to evade the military draft, which also serves as a labor pool, says "there is panic among young men" because of it.

The exile, Angel Robaina, 18, said Wednesday he had escaped from a stadium in Oriente Province where 900 draft youths were concentrated.

'ESCAPED IN CONFUSION'

"I got away during confusion in the stadium and hid for 15 days," Robaina said. "Then I contacted a group that was escaping the island by boat."

Robaina was one of 48 refugees arriving in three boats Wednesday.

Last weekend 28 other youths who didn't want to be drafted arrived by boat.

The Castro government has said draftees will be used to harvest sugar cane and other crops.

VISITS ALGIERS — Cuban Economic Minister Ernesto (Che) Guevara (carrying briefcase) walks with Algeria's President Ahmed Ben Bella at Algiers airport yesterday. Guevara was in Algeria to attend the congress of the Algerian National Liberation Front.

Despite Camouflage, Age Is No Secret

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — How young are you?

Thanks to wigs, antiwrinkle creams, hormone pills and other devices, the inroads of time are so camouflaged that it is getting harder to tell anyone's real age.

BOYLE

It isn't altogether a matter of physical appearance either. The differing generations seem to have confused their normal aspirations and patterns of conduct.

★ ★ ★

Older people are trying to be young again, while lads just out of college are worrying about Social Security.

Here is a box score to test yourself. You're probably still on the sunny side of middle age if—

The mortgage on your home has 19½ years to run.

PET NICKNAME

You still call your wife by the pet nickname of your courtship days instead of aping the children by addressing her as "Mother."

★ ★ ★

Being broke all the time now doesn't bother you so much, because you feel supremely confident that in another five years at most you'll double or triple your income.

You like to open letters because you retain the hope that good news as well as bad news comes by mail.

SPORTS MINDED

It is more fun to play baseball at a picnic than to go golfing with your employer.

You can overhear a conversation between two teen-agers and understand at least half of what they are saying.

Confronted by a long flight of stairs, you automatically go up them two at a time and reach the top without feeling you need to lie down until you can breathe easier.

★ ★ ★

When a stranger dances with your wife at a party, you feel jealous of him instead of grateful.

You don't remember how Shirley Temple looked as a curly haired little girl, or Bing Crosby singing as one of "The Rhythm Boys."

COLLEGE DAYS

You still like to read swashbuckling historical novels running to 500 pages or more, and you can quote offhand some of the longer poems you memorized as a college sophomore.

If a shoelace breaks, you balance on one foot while you tie it instead of looking around for a fire hydrant to use as a support.

★ ★ ★

The only glasses you wear are sun glasses, and the fine print in the telephone directory is no problem.

You'd rather get out on the lawn and cut the grass yourself than sit on the front porch and tell your wife how to do it.

PILL BOX

At the office your desk drawer contains a small box of aspirin tablets—but no pep pills or medicine for an acid stomach.

You'd rather go out and pay to see a good new movie than stay at home and watch a lousy old one on television.

★ ★ ★

You believe most of the woes of mankind can be solved in your own lifetime because, after all, they are merely the result of misunderstanding.

It is unclear in your mind whether Calvin Coolidge was a minor jazz band leader in the 1920s or subbed in the outfield for the New York Yankees when Babe Ruth was off his feed.

You still have the same number of chins you had 10 years ago.

Picket Hit, Cars Damage in Hillsdale

HILLSDALE (AP)—Two cars were overturned and a picket was struck in the head by a possible bullet or pellet in strike incidents Wednesday at the Essex Wire Corp. plant.

★ ★ ★

Pickets of the striking International Union of Electrical Workers upset a car carrying three men at plant gates Wednesday night, police said. The three occupants, identified as workers who live in Jackson, apparently were not injured. Earlier Wednesday, a car bearing four men who said they came from Indiana to seek jobs was overturned.

★ ★ ★

Picket Jack Dunlap, 26, of Hillsdale, was treated at a hospital and released Wednesday night for a wound on his right temple. He was grazed by a pellet from a pellet gun, theorized Police Chief Harold G. Caulkins. The object was not found. Pickets reported hearing "a pop" when Dunlap was struck.

EMERGENCY SESSION

Mayor C. Audrey Paul called City Council into an emergency session at midnight. Councilmen agreed arrests should follow law violations. There have been no arrests since the strike began, Caulkins said.

★ ★ ★

In the car-overturning incident Wednesday night, a picket, Ralph Martin, 30, told police the auto hit him as it drove to the gate. Martin was not seriously hurt, police said.

Named to Lead Lodge Backers

Novice Politician to Handle State Drive

BLOOMFIELD HILLS (UPI) — A man named Johnson has been called on to handle the Lodge for President organization in Michigan.

★ ★ ★

Aben Johnson, a registered Republican and novice politician and no relation to the President, said today he has been sanctioned by the national Lodge for President movement to corral votes among Michigan's 38 national Republican convention delegates for Henry Cabot Lodge, the U.S. ambassador to Viet Nam.

Johnson has already mailed to Republicans throughout Michigan petitions asking the ambassador to return to the United States and begin an active campaign for the GOP presidential nomination.

"They're just beginning to come back in," he said.

★ ★ ★

"We'd like to see the Michigan delegation reflect the seeming wishes of the voters here in the state and their preference and the nationwide preference favor Lodge quit decidedly," Johnson said in an interview.

VERY SMALL

Johnson said his organization is now very small but it is beginning to find support among outstate Republicans. "We're just beginning and we're going to grow," he said.

Who's Afraid of an Artichoke?

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Come now, 'fess up. Have you been passing up artichokes all these years because you don't know how to cook them, much less how to eat them?

Neither is hard to do.

Artichokes are actually edible thistles, natives of the Mediterranean area. They grow in great abundance in California where perhaps some descendants of early growers may tend them.

At this time of year you will find artichokes in large supply.

Now about preparing them:

Just wash them, trim the stems to 1-inch, pull off the tough outer leaves (especially toward the bottom and snip off the tips of the remaining leaves with your kitchen scissors).

Then place artichokes in a large pot (enamel, glass or stainless steel is recommended by the growers) containing about an inch of boiling water. Add lemon juice, allowing 1½ teaspoons per choke. Sprinkle each with ¾ teaspoon salt and cook covered for about 24 minutes to 1 hour, depending on size, or until stems can be easily pierced with a fork.

Some people like to put a little salad or olive oil in the water to give the leaves a lovely shine, and some add a clove of garlic tucked into the heart for extra flavor.

Artichokes are finger food. Just pull off a leaf, dip it in sauce, holding the pointed tip, and run the leaf through your teeth. This scrapes off the delicous pulp.

When you come to the fuzzy or "choke" portion, remove it and set aside. Then you have the delicate heart and bottom to cut and eat.

Artichokes (minus sauce, of course) contain a mere 51 calories, but lots of vitamins and minerals.

Long-time devotees of this fancy looking vegetable consider melted butter the only proper accompaniment. But there are other ways of serving artichokes.

Roman Artichokes, Spaghetti

4 small artichokes, quartered
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 tablespoon olive oil
8 ounces spaghetti, cooked according to package directions
⅓ cup melted butter or margarine
¾ cup fresh parsley leaves
½ cup fresh basil leaves or 1 tablespoon dry basil
1 clove garlic
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¾ cup olive oil
⅔ cup grated Parmesan cheese

While artichokes are cooking, add lemon juice and 1 tablespoon olive oil to the boiling water. Prepare spaghetti; toss with butter.

Combine parsley, basil, seasonings and ¾ cup oil in electric blender to make a smooth paste. Heat slowly about ½ minute. Stir in cheese.

Serve over spaghetti with artichokes. Garnish with additional grated cheese, if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Try serving artichokes as a soup-and-salad course. This is a recipe you will cherish for the coming summer months.

Artichokes and Madrilene

4 artichokes
Boiling water
1 envelope (7-10 ounces) onion salad dressing mix, prepared as directed on package
1 teaspoon salt
2 cans (12½-ounces each) consomme madrilene, chilled
Lemon wedges
Iceman's crushed ice

Wash artichokes; trim stems to 1-inch; pull off tough outer leaves. Cut off 1½-inches of artichoke tops; turn upside down and press firmly. Remove chokes (thistle portion) using sharp knife and metal spoon.

Place artichokes in 1-inch boiling water. Add ¼ cup salad dressing; sprinkle ¼ teaspoon salt on each artichoke. Cover and boil gently 20 to 45 minutes or until stems are fork tender. (Add a little more water if needed.)

Place artichokes in non-metallic bowl; pour over remaining salad dressing. Chill several hours; drain. Fill artichokes with madrilene. Garnish with lemon wedges and served on crushed ice. Makes 4 servings.

In Greece they serve artichokes with lamb shish kebobs. Here is the recipe for the hot sauce they serve with the artichokes—an adaptation of a famous Greek soup.

Avgolemono Sauce

Beat 3 eggs in top of double boiler; gradually blend in ¼ cup lemon juice and 1 cup warm chicken stock or bouillon. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until slightly thickened. Beat until foamy. Remove from heat and serve hot with artichokes. Makes about 2 cups.

ARTICHOKES—MADRILENE

A Roman favorite, Artichokes and Spaghetti A Verde, adds the green of parsley and basil to the pearly smoothness of spaghetti to make it truly a company dish. The columns at the side? Just gilt artichokes (from a spray-on can), run through a thin bamboo skewer (available in variety stores). The bottom artichoke is attached with a bit of putty or clay.

Creamed Peas

Sauced green peas are a new taste treat. To make the sauce simply add dashes of pepper and paprika and ¼ teaspoon sweet basil to 1 cup medium cream sauce. Serve over heated, drained canned peas. Makes four servings.

If you want to avoid stretching pie dough, roll it large enough to fit the pan and let it settle naturally. If pie dough is not stretched, it has a good chance of retaining its shape when baked as a shell.

Frozen Dessert Starts With Canned Peaches

Juicy canned cling peach slices contribute a full measure of eating satisfaction to "Frozen Peach Mold," a colorful and flavorsome make-ahead dessert.

Frozen Peach Mold

1 can (1 lb. 13 oz.) cling peach slices
1½ teaspoons plain gelatin
1 tablespoon cold water
1 package (3½ oz.) lady fingers
1 egg
⅓ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
6 maraschino cherries

Drain peaches, saving 1 cup syrup. Soften gelatin in cold water. Heat peach syrup and dissolve gelatin in it. Cool until slightly thickened.

Line refrigerator tray with lady fingers. Save a few peaches for garnish. Fold remaining peaches into thickened gelatin and pour into cake-lined tray.

Beat egg well. Beat in sugar and vanilla. Fold in whipped cream. Pour over gelatin layer.

* * *

Decorate top with cherries and reserved peach slices. Place in freezing compartment; freeze until firm. Cut into slices to serve. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Beans 'n' Franks

Combine 2 cups baked beans with 2 cups canned apple sauce, ¾ cup ketchup, ¼ cup chopped onion and ¼ cup molasses. Pour into 1-quart size casserole. Top with frankfurters — about 1 pound. Cover and bake in moderate oven — 375 degrees — 40 to 50 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Start Teen Dish With a Mix

The nation's teen-agers aren't gyrating to the Telegraph Twist, they're devouring it, according to the latest word from San Francisco where the new dish was created.

* * *

Named after one of the city's famous hills, the Telegraph Twist is a combination of twisted noodles, frankfurters and peas, baked en casserole.

* * *

Since it may be prepared in slightly more than one-half hour with ingredients usually found on the pantry shelf, the Telegraph Twist is a lifesaver for homemakers who sometimes hear without warning that "the gang's coming over tonight:"

The Telegraph Twist

1 (7½-oz) package twisted noodles with chicken sauce mix
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 (10-oz.) package frozen peas, cooked and drained; or 1 can (1-lb.) peas, drained
2 teaspoons salt
6-8 frankfurters

Prepare noodles and chicken according to the instructions on the package but do not combine cooked noodles with chicken sauce. Add prepared mustard, Worcestershire sauce and drained peas to chicken sauce. Combine sauce with drained cooked noodles; turn into 1½-quart casserole.

Score frankfurters by slashing diagonally; place on top of noodles. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes, until franks are slightly browned. Yield: 4 servings.

Imagination Is Secret of Having Gay Cupcakes

Think of all the toppings you could use to give cupcakes glamour. Here are a few ideas to set your thinking cap awhirl.

* * *

Top cupcakes with honey, chopped nuts and grated orange rind. Embellish frosted cupcakes with walnut halves, tiny gumdrops, semi-sweet chocolate pieces or thin mints.

Spread jam or jelly over the tops of cupcakes and sprinkle with flaked coconut.

Here's an easy way to frost cupcakes. Immediately after removing the cupcakes from the oven top with a chocolate mint pattie. When the pattie melts, spread lightly for an elegant marbled mint frosting.

For tea party prettiness prepare tiny cupcakes and frost with plain or pastel colored butter frosting.

* * *

Tint additional frosting various "flower" colors and with a cake decrator make floral designs on the top of each cake. Arrange your cupcake "posies" on a tiered cake plate.

Wrap in Lettuce

Whenever a recipe calls for a bouquet garni—herbs in cheesecloth — rely on iceberg lettuce for the cheesecloth. Wilt a leaf of lettuce in hot water, then tie parsley, thyme and bay leaf in it. Lettuce adds flavor to a stew, just as herbs do . . . especially to veal. Discard the bouquet before serving.

Press an animal cooky cutter lightly into the frosting on a child's birthday cake, then fill the outline with tinted frosting for a different decoration.

Even Best Meat Can Be Spoiled

CHICAGO — Keep it cool; keep it clean; keep it covered. These simple rules for the handling and storage of meat insure wholesome food with top flavor.

Proper care begins even before you reach the check-out counter. Organisms that could cause off flavors and spoilage come to the surface of food from contact with hands, utensils, clothes, market carts or even suburban breezes. For these reasons, packaging cleanliness and controlled temperatures are of prime importance.

* * *

Know your store. Choose brand names of good reputation. Be alert to packaging conditions when shopping. Reject a package that is broken or excessively wet. Discard a rigid package that is obviously bulged and under tension. Avoid exposing meat packages to warm air.

Refrigerate meat products properly when you get them home. When bacteriologists say that "life begins at 40," they're talking about 40 degrees and bacterial life.

It has been proved that meat held at 40 degrees will keep twice as long as meat held at 50 degrees. Meat held at 32 degrees will keep four times as long as meat held at 50 degrees.

Place meats promptly in the meat compartment of the refrigerator. Fresh meats which are wrapped in market paper should be unwrapped and covered loosely before being placed in the refrigerator. Fresh prepackaged meats should be stored in the refrigerator in the original wrapper.

Fully cooked vacuum-sealed meats should be stored in the refrigerator in their unopened package. Follow the storage directions on the label of canned products. Smoked meats should be refrigerated as carefully as fresh meats.

Plan your menus to serve meat at its tasty best, the American Meat Institute suggests. Use ground meats within two days of purchase or freeze immediately for later use.

Use fresh meat cuts and fresh pork sausage within two or three days of purchase. Ready-to-eat sausages, luncheon meats and smoked meats such as ham and bacon should be used within a week.

America's food processors, shippers and retailers exercise care and diligence in providing the nation with a bountiful supply of nourishing food. Homemakers, too, have a responsibility to protect and preserve the quality of this food supply.

Second Viet Cong Assault Feared

/KIEN LONG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Communist units were reported massing in the Mekong Delta countryside today for another assault on the district capital of Kien Long.

Two airborne companies took up positions within the perimeter of the town which the Communists mauled last Sunday. Reinforcements poured into the civil guard outpost that successfully withstood the assault.

Townspeople demanded to be taken to safer areas. Scores of peasants were pouring in from the countryside of the Ca Mau peninsula, the southern tip of Viet Nam.

The sole American in Kien Long, an adviser with the airborne troops, said intelligence sources reported the Viet Cong wanted to overrun the town again because they failed to demolish the civil guard post Sunday.

* * *

After the attack, the government rushed in reinforcements. The Viet Cong battled them for three days instead of melting away into the countryside, their usual practice.

300 KILLED

American sources said nearly 300 government soldiers were killed or wounded, the heaviest toll of a single engagement in the war. They said civilian casualties might exceed 200. At least 60 Viet Cong bodies were found, and American advisers believed scores more casualties were carried off.

In Kien Long the Communists killed and mutilated the district chief, his wife and child, and killed or wounded a number of other government officials and sympathizers.

Government agents handed out 1,000 piasters ($14) to families of the dead, and 500 piasters to the wounded.

* * *

An estimated three Communist battalions were reported moving around Kien Long, but these reports could not be confirmed. Other reports had Viet Cong units massing near the southernmost district capital of Nam Can, south of Ca Mau.

OCCASIONAL FIRE

Three government battalions converged on the special forces post at Tan Phu last night after combing the region between Lien Long and Tan Phu all day. They made little contact with the Viet Cong, although there was occasional sniper fire and mines were found.

The Communists attempted to lure government forces into a trap by laying out the bodies of prisoners they had killed, and telling the population to inform the troops where the bodies were.

Instead of sending a patrol in to get the bodies, government forces hit the region with artillery shells. The bodies of 20 special forces prisoners were found. They had been killed with pistol shots.

American advisers in the area were generally pessimistic.

"We are just too far at the end of the line," one said. "Supplies are slow coming down here, and we don't get reinforcements in too much of a hurry."

The Cau Mau region is a low priority area in the new pacification plan for Viet Nam.

Poles Curb Movement of U.S. Cars

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Polish government has started restricting the movement of all U. S. Embassy cars as well as the travel of American diplomats.

The Communist regime restricted the diplomats' travel late last month in retaliation for a travel ban against east bloc diplomats in the United States.

But it is understood here that the American travel ban has not been so stringently applied as to bar the movement of cars if restricted personnel are not in them.

The Polish government has sent two notes to the U. S. Embassy charging violations of the travel restrictions. Both involved off-limit movements of U. S. Embassy cars that did not carry American diplomats.

* * *

One incident involved a vehicle driven by a Polish employe of the U. S. Claims Commission, which gathers data to support the collection of $40 million which the Polish government has agreed to pay for confiscated U. S. property.

OTHER INCIDENT

The other involved a U. S. Commerce Department official arranging the American exhibit at the Poznan International Trade Fair. He was detained in an off-limits area because he was driving a diplomatic car and had no credentials to prove he was not a member of the embassy staff.

However, for the period of the Poznan fair, the Polish government has lifted a restriction that would have forced American officials to make a two-hour detour from the main highway between Warsaw and Poznan.

Diem Brother Goes on Trial in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — The younger brother of slain former President Ngo Dinh Diem went on trial today on charges of criminal acts during his administration of central Viet Nam under Diem's regime.

Ngo Dinh Can, 53 and ailing, is charged with murder, extortion, illegal arrests and doing damage to the economy.

Can was in charge of the Hue district near the North Vietnamese border.

It was in Hue, South Viet Nam's religious center, that the campaign of repression against the Buddhists began that led to Diem's overthrow and death last November.

* * *

Can was protected by security agents at the trial. Loudspeakers broadcast the proceedings to crowds outside. Troops and military police cordoned off the courtroom.

Diem and another brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, were killed by soldiers during the military coup that deposed their regime.

About 14,000 school buses are put into service in the United States in a year.

Say Man Tried to Choke Wife

SALINE (AP) — A young mother Wednesday survived an attempt on her life by her husband, arrested later at his University of Michigan job, police reported.

Police Chief James L. Levleit said Joe D. Barrus, 26, assistant supervisor in the university accounting Department, admitted he tried to strangle his wife, Jerre, 24, with a plastic clothesline, at their home here.

Reviving after being left unconscious in the basement, Mrs. Barrus went to a neighbors home for help and the arrest of Barrus followed Levleit said.

* * *

Barrus was taken to Washtenaw County jail in Ann Arbor. He was to be formally charged with attempted murder today, Levleit said.

* * *

Levleit said Barrus admitted twisting a length of clothesline around his wife's neck in the kitchen as she was feeding their 4-month-old baby, then dragging her into the basement unconscious.

Perils of Driving Reach to Grandma

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — All David Phillips wanted for his 16th birthday was his permanent driver's license.

* * *

His father was away on an extended business trip and his mother was ill — so his grandmother, Mrs. Miller Phillips Sr., volunteered to take him to get his license.

* * *

David, who passed his test without difficulty, returned to his grandmother smiling, "Gran, Gran," he began, "the trooper said I'd better drive YOU down to the courthouse to get YOUR license straight — it has expired!"

LESLIE H. HUDSON

Pontiac is faced with the problem of rebuilding our obsolete central shopping area, caused by the trend toward suburban living and the popularity of shopping centers. How fast we proceed rest on your decision to elect a qualified City Commission.

The commission, manager, administrative staff and all municipal employees, through their combined efforts, must work to create the image, that through UNEXCELLED SERVICE—Pontiac is a fine place to live. From this service, municipal employees have the right to expect a standard of living equal to that of industrial and surrounding municipal employees.

With our municipal team united we shall then work to create long range redevelopment plans for vacant urban renewal lands and enlist the aid of all qualified persons. We will restore confidence and respect to our Police Department. We will improve garbage and trash collection, road grading, snow removal, repairs, recreational and all other services.

We will promote a favorable climate for residential, commercial and industrial developers to choose Pontiac as their location. We will find that in working together, Pontiac can be a place to be proud of and after all, ISN'T THIS WHAT WE WANT?"

Cup Series at Olympia Tonight

Detroit's Abel Again to Use 'New Defense'

Tired Maple Leafs Continue Workouts With Series 1-1

DETROIT (UPI) — Sid Abel, general manager — coach of the Detroit Red Wings, plans to use his "new defense" again tonight when the Wings host the Toronto Maple Leafs in the third game of their best-of-seven Stanley Cup championship series.

The series, which has now become a best-of-five affair, is tied at one game apiece.

"We used the defense Tuesday night when we won in overtime, and it worked well," Abel said by phone Wednesday from the Detroit "hideout" at Toledo, Ohio. "We'll continue to use it against Toronto until it proves ineffective."

But, Abel isn't telling what the defensive battle plan is.

"It's tough to explain," he explained. "And, of course, we want the Leafs to decipher it themselves."

"Basically, it involves each player being at a certain spot on the ice at a certain time. We're emphasizing position hockey."

PURSUIT

The Wings are also emphasizing body checking. Constant pursuit of Toronto players paid off in both games at Toronto.

"We lost the opener due to our own mistakes," Abel said.

"And, the second game shouldn't have gone into overtime. We were the better team, but they got the breaks."

"We should be able to keep up the good checking because we don't have one player with a serious injury."

If the Wings take the series from Toronto, they would become only the second team in "modern" National Hockey League history to finish the regular season in fourth place, then win the Stanley Cup. Toronto pulled the trick in 1949.

Although his club looked tired in the two games at Toronto, General Manager-Coach George "Punch" Imlach apparently plans to continue to have his team practice on off days. In fact, he will have his team workout — how strenuously, only he knows — on the mornings of the third and fourth games.

Snider Deal Angers Bavasi

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles Dodgers Manager Buzzie Bavasi was unhappy today about the San Francisco Giants' acquisition of Duke Snider from the New York Mets — but apparently not too concerned.

"Truthfully, I don't feel that Snider's going to the Giants will change the complexion of the race," said Bavasi, "but I'm a little burned up in principle."

The Dodgers manager recalled that the Los Angeles club sold Snider to the Mets last year for $40,000 after repeated entreaties by Met officials George Weiss and Don Grant who said they had plenty of money to spend.

"So what happens: Weiss and Grant turn around and sell the guy to the Giants without even the courtesy of a phone call to me, asking if we want to buy him back."

Would Bavasi have taken Snider back if he had been asked?

"Before letting him go to the Giants? Heck yes."

SPORTS

Tigers' Lary Will Face LA

DETROIT (UPI) — As manager Charlie Dressen put it, "One game does not make a season."

Nor, does it necessarily set a trend for things to come.

★ ★ ★

But, as general manager Jim Campbell laughed, "It's better to have won than lost. And, "It's nice not to have to work our way up from the bottom of the league standings."

GENERAL ATTITUDE

This was the general attitude of the Detroit Tigers officials and players Wednesday as they worked out for 90 minutes at Tiger Stadium.

"I'll use the same lineup I used Tuesday against Kansas City in Friday's game against Los Angeles," Dressen added.

"Can't' break up a winning combination."

The Tigers were quite happy about winning the opener, but all eyes watched intently as Frank Lary threw 15 minutes of batting practice.

★ ★ ★

The 33-year-old righthander, who won 23 games in 1961, two in 1962 and four last year, is scheduled to make his first start of 1964 against the Angels.

"He'll pitch if it's hot or cold," Dressen said. "I thought I'd hold him out if it's cold and start him next week in Los Angeles, but he says he wants to pitch, no matter what the weather.

"And, that's an encouraging sign. Last year he was worried about reinjuring his arm in cold weather. But, this season he's not worried. That's good."

Dressen watched Lary throw the ball lazily to the batters.

"See how he follows through so freely," the 65-year-old field general said. "That's a sure sign that his arm isn't sore anymore."

"Actually, cold weather shouldn't bother a pitcher because he's working and moving all the time."

But, Charlie, what if the temperature really dips, like to the 40-degree mark?

LARY TO START

"Then, we probably won't play at all," he answered. "But if we play, Lary will start."

The team returned to the dressing room and each passed by a cart filled with 12 crates of oranges, three cartons of grapefruits and one bag of cantaloupes.

★ ★ ★

"There's a produce dealer in South Carolina who is a friend of Campbell and some of the coaches and he sent these," Dressen said. "I'll have to write him a 'thank you' note.

"Maybe, later in the season, he'll send some more."

It was a day for optimism — for the players and the fruit flies.

Drake Relays Honor Jones

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Hayes Jones, who won world record renown as a hurdler, Ted Wheeler, former Big Ten mile run champion, and John Kuck, Olympic shot put champion in 1928, were named today to the Drake Relays Hall of fame.

All three will be recognized during the 55th renewal of the relays here April 24-25. As outstanding performers at the track and field carnival in previous years they moved ahead to gain national and international attention.

This is the final year of competition for Jones, former Eastern Michigan sprinter-hurdler, from Pontiac, now living at Detroit. He is considered America's best bet in the 120-yard high hurdles.

He holds world records in hurdles at 50, 60 and 70 yards, is co-holder of the world mark at 45 yards.

Wheeler, now of Maywood, Ill., had one of his biggest years at the University of Iowa in 1956 when he swept the Big Ten half mile and mile races and was on the U. S. team at the Melbourne Olympics, running the 1500 meters.

★ ★ ★

Kuck of Ashton, Idaho, is the only man ever to win both the shot put and the javelin at one session of the Drake Relays and won the shot in the 1928 Olympics.

HORSE DROPS DEAD—Jockey Walt Blum walks away from a three-horse spill at Gulfstream. The accident happened when Fog Bank (on ground) dropped dead of a heart attack in the second race. Blum's mount Ramblin Wreck was not hurt. Jockey Willie Morrisey sits up as his horse, Busy Mac, gets up. Eddie Truman, riding Fog Bank, was hospitalized with broken bones.

Fog Bank Drops Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Jockey Eddie Truman suffered an apparently dislocated shoulder Wednesday when his mount, Fog Bank, dropped dead in the stretch of the second race at Gulfstream Park.

Busy Wac, under William Morriseyl, also went down, and Ramblin' Wreck threw his rider, Walter Blum. Morrisey was bruised and shaken. Blum, leading rider at the meeting with 44 winners, escaped injury but took the rest of the day off.

Ramblin' Wreck finished the race riderless. Busy Wac regained her feet and galloped into the paddock area. Both horses apparently were unhurt.

Bunning Sparkles in NL Debut

Ex-Yankee Returns to AL With a Bang

By The Associated Press

Bill Skowron is home.

That sweet sight for Skowron is the American League, where he starred with the New York Yankees for nine years before being shipped to the National League.

The 33-year-old first baseman, now with Washington, officially marked his return Wednesday night with a home run that ignited a six-run outburst in the second inning, the Senators' biggest inning in two seasons.

The splurge carried the defending cellar champions to a 6-4 triumph over the Los Angeles Angels in the only American League game.

FIRST HIT

Skowron's home run, his first hit as a Senator, was his first in the league since Sept. 25, 1962. Two months after that homer, which incidentally was against the Senators, the Yankees sent him to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

★ ★ ★

Skowron might not have felt like an alien in the National League, but his .203 average didn't exactly make him feel as if he belonged.

He wound up the regular season with a mere four home runs and 19 runs batted in before erupting in the World Series and helping the Dodgers to a four-game sweep of his former teammates.

2 MONTHS ELAPSE

Another two months had elapsed after the series when Los Angeles sold him to Washington. Plummeting from a world champion to a cellar dweller might have been a brutal descent, but Skowron at least is back where he believes he can hit.

★ ★ ★

Following the first baseman's big hit Wednesday night, starting pitcher Bennie Daniels singled in one run, Don Blasingame singled for two more and Chuck Hinton drove in the last pair with a triple.

Jim Fregosi had homered with Billy Moran aboard for a 2-0 Los Angeles lead in the first inning. The Angels made it close with two unearned runs in the sixth.

John Kennedy was the fielding star for the Senators, making three outstanding plays at third base. His spectacular grab of Joe Adcock's smash in the seventh halted a threatened rally.

The Senators go after their second victory tonight, hosting Minnesota. The Yankees and Boston tried to get their season under way for the third time today at New York. Rain washed out their scheduled opener again Wednesday. Baltimore was at Chicago in the only other AL game.

Kettering Nips Oaks

Kettering ran its golf record to 4-1 with a 165-168 decision over Royal Oak Dondero. Rick Hurd led the Captains with a 40. Dondero's Steve Malinowski turned in the low score of 37.

NOW A GIANT — Duke Snider (center) once a great favorite with the Brooklyn Dodgers and then with the LA Dodgers is now a member of the San Francisco Giants. This would have been treason if the two teams were still in New York. Snider was purchased by the Giants from the Mets this week and he was welcomed by players Orlando Cepeda (left) and Willie Mays prior to last night's game in which the Giants defeated Milwaukee, 10-8.

Willie Mays Continues Home Run Spree

By The Associated Press

They're tearing down the Polo Grounds, and Willie Mays is ripping up Candlestick Park.

Mays, 3,000 miles and seven years removed from New York's Polo Grounds, hammered his third home run in two games Wednesday night, triggering a 10-run third inning uprising that carried the Giants to a 10-8 victory over Milwaukee.

★ ★ ★

It was the biggest inning for the Giants since the team pulled out of New York and moved West after the 1957 season.

Mays, the only member of the Giants who played with the club while the Polo Grounds was called home, now does most of his hitting at Candlestick Park.

HOMER SPREE

In the first two games of the season he has collected three hits and three homers. He hit a pair against the Braves Tuesday, then followed with a three-run shot Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The St. Louis Cardinals also came up with a big inning, rapping Don Drysdale for five runs in the eighth inning en route to a 6-2 victory over Los Angeles—their first triumph over the world champion Dodgers in their last five regular-season games.

The Giants started rolling in the third inning after winning pitcher Jack Sanford drew a two-out walk off Bob Sadowski. Before it was over the Giants had lashed six hits — including the homer by Mays and a three-run double by Sanford his second time around.

RELIEF HELP

Despite the cushion, Sanford needed relief help from Bob Shaw, a former Brave. Ed Bailey, acquired by Milwaukee in the trade for Shaw, hit a solo homer off Sanford and Eddie Mathews connected with a man aboard.

★ ★ ★

The Cardinals' winning rally also was started by the winning pitcher when Bob Gibson moved over to second, Drysdale intentionally walked Bill White but got crossed up on his strategy by hitting Charley James with a pitch.

Ken Boyer then rapped a two-run single that broke a 1-1 tie and Johnny Lewis, Curt Flood and Tim McCarver followed with run-scoring singles. Frank Howard got a run back for the Dodgers in the ninth with his second homer in two days.

Ex-Tiger Has 11 Strikeouts

Phillies Record Now Stands 2-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Tony Gonzales' eighth inning homer, following an error, drove in three unearned runs and gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 4-1 victory over the New York Mets Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

The blast broke up a pitching duel between winner Jim Bunning and Tracy Stallard. Bunning winning his first game as a National Leaguer, checked the Mets on seven hits and struck out 11.

TIGER 9 YEARS

Bunning spent nine years in the American League with Detroit.

Bobby Wine opened the decisive eighth for the Phillies with a double. He went to third —after two were out—when first baseman Tim Harkness dropped Amado Samuel's throw, letting rookie Richie Allen reach first safely. Then Gonzalez connected.

★ ★ ★

The Phillies had opened the scoring in the third when Wine singled, moved to second on a grounder and scored on Allen's single.

The Mets tied it in the fifth as Stallard doubled off the left field wall and scored on Tim Harkness' single.

PIRATES 5, CUBS 4

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bill Virdon drove in the tying run in the ninth inning, then walked with the bases loaded in the 12th inning, forcing in the winning run as the Pittsburgh Pirates edged the Chicago Cubs 5-4 Wednesday night.

★ ★ ★

Don Elston had come on to pitch for the Cubs in the 12th and immediately was touched for a single by Bob Bailey. Bailey moved to second on a sacrifice and took third on a wild pitch.

Elston then issued two intentional walks, filling the bases. He got Dick Schofield to pop up but then issued a walk to Virdon that ended it.

The Pirates had tied the game in the last of the ninth, striking for three runs and overcoming a 4-1 Chicago lead built on Ernie Banks' three-run homer in the seventh.

★ ★ ★

Cub rookie Fred Norman had allowed only six hits through eight innings, but the first two Pirates in the ninth reached base and he was lifted in favor of reliever Lindy McDaniel.

Pinch hitter Jerry Lynch singled, loading the bases, before Smoky Burgess smacked a two-run single and Virdon singled in the tying run. Wayne Schurr came on to put down the uprising.

Lefthander Rattles ABC Pins

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Fred Foremsky, a left-handed bowler did everything right in his first American Bowling Congress Tournament appearance as he averaged 228 pins per game over the 12-game classic route for an all time record.

The little El Paso, Texas, pro went into second place in the classic all events standings Wednesday afternoon when he finished his opening nine game with a 2,024 count. Bill Hardwick, the San Mateo, Calif., sensation is leading the classic all events with 2,088.

Then in his second team appearance Tuesday night Foremsky came in with a flashy 718 count for three games to up his 12-game total to 2,742. The record for 12 games in classic division play was 2,738 set by Jack Winters of Philadelphia in the 1962 ABC at Des Moines.

* * *

Foremsky, 27, a television repair shop manager as well as a pro bowler, had back-to-back series over 700 as he finished up with a 709 for fifth place in classic singles to close his afternoon performance.

He and his partner, Dave Moseley, a right-hander, had just taken the classic doubles lead with 1,321, when Foremsky continued his sensational scoring in singles play.

The classic all events champion is determined on the opening nine games of play so Foremsky's 12-game record will not bring him a title.

* * *

Here's how Foremsky piled up his 2,742. In his first team block he had 245-197-191. In doubles he followed with 235-203-244 for 682 and then rolled 225-226-258 in singles for 709. His second team appearance saw him pounding out 245-235-235 for 718.

Foremsky's performance was only part of a scoring splurge in the ABC on Wednesday.

DETROIT TEAM

Detail Tool of Detroit came charging down the stretch with a 1,110 finishing game and totaled 3,108 for second place in the regular division behind the leading 3,117 rolled by 300 Bowl of Pontiac, Mich.

Har-Mar Printing of Milwaukee took third in regular team on a 3,078.

* * *

William Smith, Casper, Wyo., also took second place in regular singles with 717 and Elmer Vandemheen and Dewey Yoho of Tuscon, Ariz., cracked 1,287 for fifth in regular doubles.

Two Promising Amateur Golfers Join Pro Ranks

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Labron Harris Jr. of Stillwater, Okla., the 1962 National Amateur golf champion, and Richard Sikes of Springdale, Ark., runner-up in the 1963 National Amateur, turned professional Wednesday, the Daily Oklahoman said in a copyrighted story.

Both Harris, 22, and Sikes, 24, were members of the United States team which successfully defended the Walker Cup championship against Great Britain last spring.

Harris, son of Oklahoma State University golf coach Labron Harris Sr., was a star golfer for OSU in his undergraduate days. He is in graduate school at OSU.

Sikes, a former University of Arkansas golfer, is a two-time winner of the National Public Links Championship and is a former NCAA champion.

Both Harris and Sikes said they intend to join the PGA tour.

Houston Golf Classic Opens

Rodgers Fires 68 in Practice Round

HOUSTON (AP)—Jack Nicklaus was the popular choice as the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic opened today but Phil Rodgers has looked sharp during practice rounds.

Rodgers, former University of Houston star fired a three-under-par 68 during final practice Wednesday over the 7,223-yard par 35-36—71 Sharpstown Country Club course, where the Classic is being held for the first time.

Six former champions are in the field, with odds ranging from 5-1 for defending champion Bob Charles to 15-1 for Mike Souchak and Marty Furgol.

Charles won last year with a Classic record 269 on the Memorial Municipal Park Course.

Charles, a New Zealand lefthander, picked up $10,000 first place money last year but the top money has been cut by the PGA to $7,500.

Nicklaus did not arrive in time to take any practice shots but most of the other top golfers participated in a pro-amateur Wednesday.

Mets to Dedicate Soggy New Park

NEW YORK (AP)—Although part of the outfield appears more suited for the Olympic swimming trials than for baseball, the $25 million plus Shea Stadium will be dedicated today.

And if the New York Mets, who will make their home in the beautiful, 55,300-seat structure, get a better break from the weather then they've received on the playing field so far, they will open their home season Friday against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

To fit the occasion, the poor ole Mets will commemorate the inaugural with a winless record —0-2.

SOGGY FIELD

After several days of rain, the field is soggy in most spots and wet enough in stretches big enough to hold the 100-meter freestyle.

The weatherman has predicted it will be sunny and mild for a couple of days so the pools may be drained out by game time Friday.

Newbold Morris, the Commissioner of Parks, will preside at the dedication ceremonies. Mayor Robert F. Wagner and William A. Shea, for whom the stadium is named, will head the list of speakers. It was Shea's long and vigorous efforts as chairman of the Mayor's Baseball Committee that helped bring back National League baseball to New York.

★ ★ ★

At nightfall Wednesday, workmen were busy sweeping water off the surface of the outfield with wire brooms. Visitors to the park sank to their shoetops in the spongy sod.

The infield, part of the outfield and foul territories up to the stands were covered by tarpaulins. But underneath the coverings was water.

"It's fine for swimming," commented a sweeper.

The park, whose official name is William A. Shea Municipal Stadium, originally was to have been completed by opening day, 1963. Bad weather, engineering difficulties and labor troubles caused the year's delay.

.21 Pin Lead for Hardwick in PBA Meet

LODI, Calif. (AP) — Billy Hardwick of San Mateo, Calif., held a 21-pin lead over runner-up Wayne Zahn of Atlanta, Ga., at the halfway mark Wednesday of the 24-game qualifier in the Professional Bowlers Association $26,000 Lodi Open.

Hardwick rolled 2782 for his first 12 games. This included a 1,415 block in the afternoon and a 1,367 at night.

But Hardwick had to share the spotlight with three other pros in the 96-man field. Bud Horn of Los Angeles and John Nickell of Dayton, Ohio, both shot perfect 300 games. Dick Weber of St. Louis had a 298.

★ ★ ★

Weber also rolled the highest 6-game high block of the year of the PBA tour, a 1,460. This averages out to a fantastic 243 per game.

Pontiac's Mike Samardzija, Jr. and Monroe Moore both had good opening blocks but fell off the pace in their second six games.

Samardzija was ninth after the first six with 1,351 (243 high, 187 low) and Moore stood 17th with 1,304 (258 to 200).

Joe Bonfiglio's opening block of 1,120 left him well behind the leaders.

Celtics Awaiting Foe for NBA Title Round

BOSTON (AP) — "Sorry you broke your leg, baby."

That macabre bit of humor from Tom Sanders of the Boston Celtics may sum up the roughness expected in tonight's final Western Division National Basketball Association championship game between St. Louis and the Warriors at San Francisco.

The Celtics, growing edgy from the long lay-off as they await the outcome, were commenting on the Hawks-Warriors series after a long workout Wednesday.

"That figures to be a tough seventh game," said Sanders. "You know, go up for a lay-up and three guys tackle you and say, 'Sorry, baby, this is the last game of the season. Sorry you broke your leg, baby.' "

FINAL SERIES

The playoff championship series opens at Boston Garden Saturday night, regardless of the Western Division outcome.

That means that Boston, which won its eighth straight Eastern Division playoff crown by ousting Cincinnati last Thursday night, will have been idle for nine days when the "money series" opens here.

"It'll be like getting in shape all over again," said Tommy Heinsohn.

"It means getting his players to a mental peak again," added Coach Red Auerbach. "And it's tough getting them up after beating the Royals in five games."

★ ★ ★

However, the Celtics were idle nearly two weeks between the end of the regular season and the opening of the Cincinnati series. And Boston had surprisingly little difficulty with the Royals in the best-of-seven semifinal playoffs.

Auerbach will send his squad through another long, full practice session today and taper off with a shooting drill Friday.

OUR PONTIAC MALL STORE IS OPEN EVERY NIGHT TO 9 P.M.

Believe this, and you'll believe anything.

Sweet-talking tire ads, like the one above, are usually meant to get you into the store. Not to sell you the $7.95 tire.

Go to get that tire. And you'll find, most of the time, that it's practically nailed to the floor. While the sweet-talking salesman sells you a more expensive tire. By explaining that the ad didn't really mean what you thought it meant; the tire, it seems, isn't as good as you thought it was.

How could it be?

How could anybody make a tire to sell for anywhere near $7.95—and make it strong enough to withstand the pressures, the heat and the violence of sustained high-speed driving on today's turnpikes and thruways? Is it possible, do you think?

We also advertise an under-ten-dollar tire. (As good as any. Better than most.)

But we tell you what it's for right in our ads.

It's for cars that are used only for in-town driving. Such as going to church. Shopping. Visiting neighbors. Dropping husbands off at railroad stations. And the like.

We don't lure you into the store with double-talking tire ads:

We tell you frankly that for the average driver, who now and again drives at high turnpike speeds for hours at a time, under-ten-dollar tires can prove to be a dead loss.

What's more, we'll tell you the same thing when you come in that we tell you in our ads. And more.

We'll fill you in on the differences between 1st line, 2nd line and 3rd line tires. We'll tell you the differences between first quality and second quality tires—and how they affect your wallet as well as possibly your life.

And we'll explain how you can use original equipment tires as the standard to help you judge tire quality for yourself without having to depend on a salesman. (Even our own.)

We'll even tell you a few easy ways to spot a phony tire ad.

Yes, a tire dealer can be honest with you—and still stay in business.

(We're doing OK. Without bait advertising.)

Take care of yourself.

Central Trims Cranbrook in Opener

CHIEF SCORES — Pontiac Central's Craig Zadosko came across with run No. 2 in the second inning of a game with Cranbrook yesterday. Zadosko's run tied the score at 2-2, and the Chiefs went on to a 6-4 victory in their 1964 baseball debut.

In a pre-season estimate of the Pontiac Central baseball team, coach Melvin Nuss observed that the Chiefs should be a better-hitting club.

The Chiefs made Nuss' prediction look good yesterday as they banged out 11 hits in trimming Cranbrook, 6-4, in their 1964 opener.

With the heavy-hitting barrage, the squad equaled the club's 1963 (1-12) record of one victory.

In other games, Milford shut out Kettering, 2-0, Walled Lake downed Plymouth, 4-1, Roseville stopped Madison, 9-6, and Clawson edged Royal Oak Shrine, 9-8.

PCH had four triples and a double included in the hitting attack.

The Chiefs scored twice in the second, once in the third and put the game away with three runs in the fifth.

Outfielder Bob Foster gave the Cranes a 2-0 lead in the opening frame when he rifled a bases-loaded single into centerfield off Chuck Owen.

TIE SCORE

PCH knotted the score at 2-2 in the second on triples by Neal Roberts and Craig Zadosko and a double by Kelley Gerlinger.

Shortstop Mike Doty, who paced the Chiefs with three hits in three trips to the plate, boosted PCH into a 3-2 lead with an RBI single in the third. Doty collected three RBIs.

The Chiefs put the game on ice in the fifth frame when Willie Logan, who replaced third baseman Tim Carrie in the fourth, chased home two runs with a single.

Cranbrook narrowed the gap in the sixth stanza to 6-3 when Tom Pfass belted a triple over the head of the left fielder, sending Guy Bramble across the plate.

Shortstop Bob Heavenrich knocked in the final Crane run in the seventh inning. The loss was Cranbrook's first, following a spring training trip during which the squad compiled a 2-2-1 mark.

Kettering left 12 men on base in dropping its '64 opening to Milford.

★ ★ ★

The Redskins came up with the winning runs on a single by John McNeill with the bases jammed in the sixth inning. Both runs were unearned.

TAKES LOSS

Bob Bogert took the loss and Ed Sparkman picked up the decision. Sparkman fanned eight in three and one-third innings.

John Thomas hurled a two-hitter and Don Freeman and Buddy Williams rapped out two hits each to pace the Walled Lake victory.

★ ★ ★

Mark Babich belted a triple in the last of the seventh inning to knock in the winning run for Clawson. Shrine had taken an early lead with eight runs in the second inning.

Bill Ripari, Ed Rotoski and Frank Woloscyk collected three hits each in Roseville's victory. Nick Nizza picked up the win.

Kentucky Derby Hopeful Enters 'Good Luck' Test

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Hill Rise, a colt who has needed no help thus far, opens his Kentucky Derby campaign in earnest Friday in the Forerunner, a $10,000 allowance race which has mysteriously blessed many of its past participants.

The Forerunner is nothing unusual. The purse is $10,000 and the distance is seven furlongs. But this race seems to be a goodluck charm for those who use it for a Derby prep.

PAST WINNERS

The Forerunner, which could end up a betless exhibition if the presence of Hill Rise scares off the competition, has produced seven of the past 15 Derby winners.

Ponder started the Forerunner-to-Derby winner's circle path in 1949. Two years later Hill Gail repeated that performance. In 1953, Dark Star scored in the Forerunner and the Derby.

Iron Liege turned the trick in 1957, Tim Tam in 1958 and Tomy Lee in 1959.

Tompion won the Forerunner in 1960 and finished fourth in the Derby. Four-and-Twenty won in 1961 and finished seventh in the Derby.

★ ★ ★

In 1962, Roman Line hit the finish first ahead of Decidedly, but the big El Peco Ranch grey reversed the order in the run for the roses.

TRAINER DOUBTFUL

Bill Finnegan, who trains Hill Rise for El Peco Ranch, has indicated he will not race his colt again after the Forerunner until the Derby Trial April 28 at Churchill Downs.

Hill Rise, co-favored with Northern Dancer for Derby honors, has impressive credentials. He crushed all the opposition on the West Coast and appears to be at a peak in his training now.

Amateurs Fall in Net Match

HOUSTON (AP)—The River Oaks Tennis Tournament moved into the quarterfinals today with two of the three top-ranked amateurs out of the competition.

Second-seeded Chuck McKinley of San Antonio and fourth-seeded Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., teammates on the victorious U.S. Davis Cup team, were victims of upsets Wednesday.

Top-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia and third - seeded Rafael Osuna of Mexico made it to the quarter-finals, but both were extended to three sets.

Laker Golfers Win

West Bloomfield edged Clarkston's golf team, 169-171, yesterday at Clarkston Golf Club. Rick Ecker led the Lakers with a 38; Don Clement posted a 40 for Clarkston.

Lakers Squeeze Out Win in Track Opener

A clear-cut victory in the final event gave West Bloomfield a tight 57-52 track decision over Clarkston yesterday in the Lakers' first meet of the season.

Brother Rice romped past Austin, 66-34, Royal Oak Shrine outran Detroit Serivte, 73-35, and Ortonville Brandon finished second in a triangular meet with Linden and Genessee in other prep results.

The West Bloomfield mile relay team romped home well ahead of Clarkston's entry to break the 52-52 tie and give the home team the victory.

Clarkston's Dennis Sommers and Mark Seath were the meet's only double winners and the latter also took a second.

The meet was close all the way with the two 880-yard relay teams tying.

The Brother Rice win featured two hurdles triumphs for Dave Walter, while Jim Seymour and Glenn Patterson each took two firsts in the Shrine victory.

At Ortonville, Linden (971) ran off with 11 of the 13 first-place finishes in overwhelming the host school (42½) and Genesee (41).

Kent Hall won three events for Linden. The host Black Hawks only first place was captured by Wayne Wills in the 880-yard run with a time of 2:12.1.

Report on Consumer—IV

Installment Buying Bolsters Economy

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth of five dispatches on consumers by the national reporter of United Press International.)

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON — Last year, 190 million Americans agreed to spend $280 apiece on the average for things they wanted to use immediately and pay for later.

Installment buying, basically an American conception, has spread throughout the capitalistic world. The British have a wry phrase for it — "The never never" — implying that you never get out of debt.

It is one of the major pillars that holds up the American economy.

If it stopped tomorrow, it would throw millions of persons out of work, put the nation on the road to a severe depression and doubtless increase the divorce rate because of family quarrels.

GENERALLY HONEST

In 1963, installment buying totaled $53.7 billion, more than double what it was a decade ago. The major item was $22.1 billion in loans to purchase automobiles.

Basically, both parties to any installment buying agreement are honest and scrupulous.

The merchant gives value received, and the buyer meets his obligations every month.

In January, only 1.75 per cent of the Americans doing installment buying were considered delinquent, meaning they were 30 days behind in payments.

COIN'S OTHER SIDE

The other side of the coin is that there are millions of persons who are suckers and there are too many merchants who are gypping the public.

The selling of shoddy merchandise and persuading people to buy things beyond their capacity to pay are major problems for the federal agencies charged with protection of the consumer.

The other day, Mrs. Ora Lee Williams went before the District of Columbia Court of Appeals to seek relief from debt too heavy to sustain.

Her income consisted of $218 a month in welfare payments to support herself and seven children. She alleged a merchant had persuaded her to buy a stereo set for $514 and agreed to pay for it by the month.

LOST CASE

The court found against her. Many states have laws governing such transactions, but the District of Columbia does not.

The court regretted its inability to act and asked Congress to enact legislation to protect consumers.

Door-to-door selling is an old one, and in most cases, honorable form of distributing goods.

One estimate is that the volume of door-to-door selling this year will be as high as $3 billion.

VICTIMS FEARFUL

But each year, the American consumer is victimized by the small percentage of salesmen who are crooks.

The files of the Better Business Bureau in all large cities are crammed with complaints from persons who bought too fast and unwisely.

Elderly women, and especially widows, seem especially vulnerable to fraud.

★ ★ ★

The National Better Business Bureau reported the case of a 71-year-old widow who fell into the hands of men working the dance lesson trick.

LIFETIME LESSON

She had mortgaged her home to buy lifetime lessons and her total expenditure was more than $30,000.

★ ★ ★

It is difficult to prosecute such cases, according to the U.S. Post Office, because the victims are reluctant to testify.

★ ★ ★

They fear it will hurt their standing in the community when the word gets around that they have been taken for suckers.

Search for Trapped Miner

BURKE, Idaho (AP) — A search was continued today for a miner trapped in a cave-in at the Star mine here, after the body of his partner was recovered late yesterday by a 20-man rescue team.

The body of Reed Peck, 41, Wallace, Idaho, was brought up from the near 7,000-foot level of the mine about five hours after he and a companion, Barney McCoy, 47, were trapped in the biggest and deepest zinc mine in Idaho.

The hunt continued today for Peck's companion, McCoy, also of Wallace.

Gus Voltolini, employment manager at the Star, said rescue crews have dug to within six-feet of where McCoy was believed trapped.

McCoy could survive the cave-in if a broken timber held off the mud and rocks and left him an air pocket, Voltolini said.

They were working in the deepest dig of the Star mine here—more than 6,900 feet in the earth. Peck and McCoy were putting in support timbers along a shaft when what miners call a "rockburst" or "air blast" sent rocks and timbers into the shaft.

SMALL EARTHQUAKE

A mining expert says the "rockbursts" are small, local earthquakes. Peck was found in the debris choked tunnel.

The wife and two daughters of McCoy waited for word in their nearby Wallace home.

The Hecla Mining Co., operates the Star mine with its 355 employes. A standby emergency-rescue team was dispatched to the mine after the word came that the men were trapped late Wednesday.

2 Organists, One Organ

POINT LOOKOUT, Mo. (AP) —The festival of arts at the school of the Ozarks is getting two organists for the price of one April 25.

★ ★ ★

Organist Bert Buhrman, who was to perform alone, fractured his right foot and needs Mrs. Buhrman, also an organist, beside him to manipulate the pedals.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Buhrman will have to confine her playing to footwork. She smashed a finger in a car door while hurrying to pick up her husband when he fell, fracturing his foot.

With Top Stars Missing

Oscar Still Puts on Good Show

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Academy aftermath—

It's still quite a show. For all the knocking and the ribbing it gets, the annual Oscar event remains a unique exhibit of glamour and professionalism.

THOMAS

The proceedings are formalized to a fault, and everyone gets weary of the parade of recipients with their effusion of thanks to all hands. But what would we do in their shoes?

The point is that the Academy Awards are a contest, a highly sophisticated competition. And Americans dearly love a race. That's why most of us sit through the dreary speeches and the limitless commercials to find out who is going to win the big prizes at the end.

★ ★ ★

That doesn't mean that Oscar can't be improved. As Debbie Reynolds pointed out before the event, the lack of participation of Hollywood's top names is shocking.

'Twas not always so. Five or 10 years ago, the majority of Hollywood's big names put on their best furs and feathers to make the Oscar bash the ultimate in glamour. Now they appear only if dragooned into service on the program.

BIG PROBLEM

Getting the stars to turn out is Oscar's No. 1 problem. Other matters, including the balloting, appear to be okay.

This year's results evoked as much satisfaction as any since 1955, when "Marty" came through with its Cinderella win. The crowd was pulling for Sidney Poitier, who won for the 14-day "Lilies of the Field" over much more costly entries. The fact that he is a Negro was not overlooked by the voters, but that does not detract from his highly engaging performance.

★ ★ ★

Patricia Neal, whose "Hud" role was scarcely more than supporting, scored another popular victory. Again, sympathy was not overlooked, since she has been plagued with personal tragedy. But she is also a consummate performer, too long underrated.

Melvyn Douglas won over the highly touted John Huston and Hugh Griffith and the heavy campaigns of Nick Adams and Bobby Darin. Adams spent $8,500 in trade paper ads before his nomination, though he made no effort to sway voters afterward. Darin's studio bought many ads for him, although the singer made no outlay himself.

BRITISH BEACHHEAD

The British beachhead at Santa Monica didn't materialize, although the voters were happy to reward "Tom Jones," Margaret Rutherford and Tony Richardson. It was a well-balanced ballot, and everyone, including some of the losers, seemed pleased with the whole thing.

Four State Policemen Receive Citations

EAST LANSING (AP)—Four Michigan state police officers have been cited for meritorious service in the line of duty. Receiving the awards were troopers Norman Smith, of Bridgeport; Lawrence Maile, of Rockford, and Charles Hendershot Jr., and Robert Steward, both of Cheboygan. All were cited for the capture of dangerous, wanted criminals at the risk of their own lives.

Improve Your Reading—XIII

Summarize to Increase Your Knowledge

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the 13th article in a 20-part series designed to improve your reading. Time your reading of this column and compare your speed with that indicated at the end.)

By THE READING LABORATORY, INC.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association

The nastiest questions you can ask someone who doesn't know what he's talking about are:

"Would you outline your position?"

"How would you sum it all up?"

Both methods betray fraud and ignorance, reveal honesty and knowledge. In the final analysis, if you know how to outline, you know how to summarize. There's no substantial difference.

1. WHEN TO READ SUMMARIES? Every chance you get. In assigned course reading, if your text has chapter or section summaries, read all of them before you read the book.

★ ★ ★

Before you read Chapter 1, read its summary first and then again after you've completed the chapter. Do that with all the chapters in the book.

REREAD SUMMARIES

Once you've read the whole book, go back and read nothing but summaries.

2. WHY READ SUMMARIES? Reading all summaries before you read the book is prereading and you're an expert now on the benefits of prereading.

Reading the summary of a chapter before you read the chapter is, again, prereading.

Reading a summary after you've read the chapter and reading all summaries after you've finished the book organizes the essential knowledge for you; if you missed something in your reading, the summaries will tell you.

★ ★ ★

3. HOW TO READ SUMMARIES? If the book is assigned, read summaries for prereading purposes and for organizing what you've read.

MAY BE ENOUGH

If the book is not required, the summary may be enough knowledge; it may tell you the book isn't worth the bother; it may tell you what parts of the book are worth thorough reading.

4. WHEN TO WRITE SUMMARIES? When you're required to; when the knowledge will serve a present or future purpose; for practice.

You may personally never have to write a summary after you leave school, but you'll never escape the need of a neat, summarizing mind.

★ ★ ★

5. WHY WRITE SUMMARIES? Summarizing imposes an obligation on you (before you read) to secure thorough knowledge. Summarizing forces you to distinguish essential from incidental.

MEMORY AID

Summarizing (as with taking notes) helps you remember knowledge in your own words. Summarizing saves you time because, when you later refer to your own summary, all that matters of your former reading comes back to you.

Summarizing of present reading enriches future reading—and vice versa. Before you read a new book in physics, read your summaries of old reading.

You will bring a solid background with you to make the new reading easier, faster, more fruitful. The new reading, in turn, will add depth to old knowledge.

★ ★ ★

6. HOW TO WRITE SUMMARIES? If, you've taken notes the way the Reading Laboratory recommends (see "Some Notes on Taking Notes") and have made an outline (see "The Outline—a Simple File for Mind's Knowledge"), all you need do is this.

CONVERT TO SENTENCES

Try, if possible, to devote only one paragraph to each of the outline's main headings and convert your divisions and subdivisions into the sentences of that paragraph.

If the volume is very thick, you may have to devote a paragraph not only to each main heading of your outline, but also to each of its main divisions.

If the book took 10 large steps (chapters) to make its point, you take no more than 10 very short steps. But make the same point.

(You should have read this column in 90 seconds.)

GI Casualties Up in Viet War

Rate Rises Steadily; Could Reach 900

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The mounting bloodshed of South Viet Nam's guerrilla war has raised the American battle casualty rate.

★ ★ ★

In the first 4½ months of 1964, 324 American servicemen have become battle casualties —32 killed, 292 wounded and two missing. The rate has risen steadily, but if it remained what it is now, the total for 1964 could be expected to reach nearly 900.

★ ★ ★

Last year, total U.S. casualties numbered 503. The total for 1962 was 101, and in 1961 there were fewer than 10.

Since 1961, 131 Americans have been killed in action.

IN AIRCRAFT

The majority of the American casualties have been suffered in helicopters or aircraft, which are especially vulnerable to the Communists' growing arsenal of modern weapons. Most of the enemy's antiaircraft weapons are American made, and were captured in raids and ambushes on government troops units.

Communist Viet Cong training and marksmanship also have improved markedly.

★ ★ ★

Guerrillas have set up practice ranges using dummy helicopters moved by pulleys along cables strung between trees. This helps enemy gunners learn to judge airspeed and to "lead" their fire.

★ ★ ★

When helicopters first went into service here in early 1962, guerrilla units frequently fled in panic. Now they often stand and fight, holding their fire like professionals until the helicopters are within convenient range.

Lorre Left No Will, Wife Tells Court

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Peter Lorre's widow, petitioning to be named administrator of his estate, told Superior Court that he left no will when he died of a heart ailment last March 23.

Anne Marie Lorre, 37, estimated that the actor's estate would be increased by an annual income of $12,500. He also left about $10,000 in cash, according to the widow's petition Wednesday.

Near Cure for Disease in Children

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government scientists have moved a step closer to curing a newly discovered disease that afflicts children with mental retardation and poor vision.

The National Institutes of Health (NIH) announced yesterday that researchers had pinpointed the cause of homocystinuria — an apparently rare hereditary disease found in young children.

A team of scientists reported that the specific lack of an enzyme in body chemicals caused the disease. The enzyme is systathionine synthetase.

"Implicit in the new discovery is the possibility of preventive or curative treatment for this serious disorder," an NIH spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

Studies so far show that the disease may be accentuated if afflicted infants are given cow's milk.

The NIH scientists suggest feeding babies with manufactured milk containing some of the missing chemical "may prevent irreversible damage."

The United States uses 41,200,000 tons of paper every year, or 457 pounds per person.

Lead is 11½ times heavier than water.

For Book, Film Advertising

Leopold Awarded Damages

CHICAGO (AP)—Nathan Leopold, convicted with Richard Loeb of the 1924 murder of schoolboy Bobby Franks, has been allowed invasion of privacy damages for advertising in connection with the fictional book and movie portrayal of his life.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Court Judge Thomas Kluczynski Wednesday ordered Leopold's attorneys to request a hearing for damages on a $1,405,000 suit filed in 1959 against Meyer Levin and 56 others. Levin is the author of "Compulsion," the portrayal upon which the suit is based.

Leopold, 59, was paroled in 1958 after serving 32 years in Stateville Prison for the murder of Franks, 14. Leopold was released from parole last year and is now an instructor at the University of Puerto Rico.

NAMED PLAINTIFFS

The damage suit named as plaintiffs, besides Levin, Simon and Shuster, Inc., New York, a publishing house; Twentieth Century Fox, Inc.; Pocket Books, Inc., New York; Hollywood producer Darryl F. Zanuck and 48 Chicago area movie theaters.

★ ★ ★

The book and movie "Compulsion" identified Leopold in the public mind as the chief character, Judd Steiner, the suit charged, and unjustly appropriated for profit Leopold's name, likeness and personality.

Is It Mr. or Mrs. Hedgehog?

LONDON (AP) — The Henry Doubleday Association appealed today for help in determining the sex of hedgehogs.

The association is a charitable group which seeks non-chemical ways to control pests. It wants to put 1,000 pairs of hedgehogs to breed in walled gardens to control slugs.

"But although hedgehogs are plentiful, we can't tell he from she," said Lawrence D. Hills, the association's secretary. He explained that as soon as a hedgehog is caught, it rolls up into a ball.

"This makes close examination difficult," he continued.

★ ★ ★

"The only thing that can tell a female hedgehog is a male hedgehog," said Edmund Hallam, an authority on British mammals.

Junior Editors Quiz on SHIPS

QUESTION: What are belaying pins used for — besides hitting mutinous sailors?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: On the old fashioned sailing ships, ropes were called "lines." You didn't "tie" lines down; the sailors' word was "belay."

There were many lines coming down from the yards and sails above and these were frequently in use, for hoisting up sails, lowering them or adjusting their position to the wind.

Along the inner side of the ships "rail" — the part of the side above the deck — was a kind of shelf with a series of holes, and in each of these a heavy metal "belaying pin" rested.

Our illustration shows how a line coming from aloft would be "belayed" or fastened around such a pin. It could be unfastened quickly and easily by taking the pin out of the hole.

Our illustration to the right shows what sometimes happened, when stubborn or mutinous sailors took it into their heads to disobey their officers.

A burly mate might snatch out one of the heavy belaying pins and attack the offender.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Learn some nautical language so you can talk on even terms this summer with those who sail boats. An example: the front part of the boat is "fore," the back part, "aft." The right hand is "starboard," the left, "port."

Maybe Commercials Drove Him to Honesty?

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Deputy Sheriff William Gibson stopped by the Ukranian Hall for a special check because the place had been entered the night before and a television stolen.

Noticing that a window had been broken and the building reentered, he went in to see what was missing this time. The television had been returned.

Fairly Active Trading

Airlines, Cigarettes Decline

NEW YORK (AP) — Airlines and cigarette issues took losses in a mixed stock market early this afternoon. Trading was fairly active.

Gains and losses of fractions to about a point peppered the list of key stocks.

The outstanding feature was a 5-point spurt by Texas Gulf Sulphur which was bought very heavily on the company's announcement that it had made a major discovery of zinc, copper and silver in the Timmins, Ont., area.

Airlines were still soft on word of a Post Office proposal which would slash the overseas mail revenue of four U.S. airlines.

PROFIT TAKING

The cigarette stocks forced continued profit taking.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .3 at 305.5 with industrials up .7, rails up .1 and utilities up .2.

* * *

Texas Gulf Sulphur gained ¾ at the opening on a 15,000-share block, then ran up rapidly as the news was published.

* * *

The picture was spotty among other metal producers. Phelps Dodge fell more than a point.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate. General Foam fell 2 points following news of Justice Department opposition to Allied Chemical's plan to acquire General Foam.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. Government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Job Training Key to New Program Aimed at Pontiac Economy

By L. GARY THORNE

Through an ambitious vocational-occupational program, Pontiac school officials have set out to strengthen the local economy, reduce unemployment help meet employer's needs and reduce school dropouts.

The key to these aspirations is a proposed job training for youth and adults.

Plans are under way to kick off the vocational-occupational program this fall.

A community advisory committee, headed by John Riley, director of advertising of The Pontiac Press, will hold an organizational meeting next Wednesday at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

★ ★ ★

Local schoolmen have invited business, labor and public service agency officials to serve on the advisory committee.

This group will advise on the employment needs of the community, training programs that should be established and help in securing competent instructors.

Working with the citizens committee will be Maurice C. Prottengeier, newly appointed director of vocational education and adult education.

The 40-year-old Fitzgerald (Mich.) educator began his job in midyear in order to help organize the proposed vocational-occupational program.

The school district's general proposal covers three areas:

★ ★ ★

● Occupational training for in-school youth not served by existing programs.

★ ★ ★

● Technicians training programs for post-high school youth in business, industrial and health service fields to develop specific vocational skills beyond those of high school.

★ ★ ★

● Adult training and retraining for those unemployed or who wish to upgrade their vocational skills.

School Supt. Dana P. Whitmer admitted that vocational education might not be the entire answer to the dropout problem but thought that with proper counseling some could be reached that aren't reached now.

★ ★ ★

Dropouts, he added, have a number of problems. He thought it unrealistic to think that vocational education would solve all them.

Other members of the new advisory committee will include Max T. Adams, manager, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce; William H. Anderson, Pontiac School Board president; T. B. Bloom, director of personnel, Pontiac Motors; Basil Boyce, Seminole Nursing Home administrator; Rev. Jack H. C. Clark, secretary, Pontiac Area Ministerial Association; James Dickerson, assistant to the chancellor for development, Oakland University; Supt. William J. Emerson, Oakland Schools; and Harold Euler, Pontiac General Hospital administrator.

★ ★ ★

Also, Richard Fitzpatrick, president, Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce; Fred Haggard, president, Oakland County County Council AFL-CIO; Raleigh Hairston of the Oakland County Urban League; Earl Kreps, assistant manager, Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce; Monroe Osmun, president of the Downtown Pontiac Business Association; Ray McKee, of AMT Plastics Company, Troy; John Reineck, city manager; Richard Swain of the U.S. Dept. of Labor; and Dr. Roy Alexander, coordinator of secondary schools, Waterford Township.

Still other members include: Merrill Walls, Michigan Employment Security Commission; Robert Winger, Michigan Department of Public Instruction; Edward Barker Jr., executive vice president, Pontiac State Bank; and Alger V. Connor, director of industrial relations, Fisher Body.

Reflected in County Budget

Vocational Education Seen on the Rise

Concern for more and better vocational education courses is not confined to Pontiac.

The movement holds promise of mushrooming throughout the county and state, according to Oakland Schools Supt. William J. Emerson.

The concern of other school districts in vocational education was reflected by some budget juggling at the county level.

Responding to a request from local school board delegates who annually review the county budget, the board changed its operating budget to include the new position of a vocational education specialist.

★ ★ ★

This specialist, who will not be hired until final income figures are available after upcoming tax allocation hearings, will act as a consultant to local districts.

ASSIST DISTRICTS

He will assist individual districts in establishing and-or updating their vocational education offerings, Emerson said.

Vocational education, despite its history that dates back to the rural economy of an earlier era, remains a complex problem, explains the county superintendent.

The foremost problem is expense, he said.

★ ★ ★

In order to set up meaningful, worthwhile programs, costly equipment and specialized teachers are needed. In addition, large numbers of students are necessary to operate such programs.

KEEP COST DOWN

"Such programs," said Emerson, "can only be offered in the comprehensive high school to keep the cost per-student down to a reasonable level."

The superintendent pointed to a possible solution to the expense problem. Also, it could mushroom the minor beginnings on vocational education problems into a major movement.

Emerson noted that as recent as last winter a report was submitted to the state superintendent of public instruction calling for area vocational schools.

★ ★ ★

Recommended by a 12-member committee of educators, business and labor people, the report actually revived a 30-year-old idea, he said.

"Nobody has done anything about it."

WIDE AREA

The area schools would be set up in such a way as to draw students from a wide area. This would aid those school districts that are not large enough or wealthy enough to offer extensive vocational education programs.

Financing would be on a similar area-wide basis with state and federal funds sharing the load with local taxpayers.

Emerson said the report further recommends that vocational education instruction be programmed into junior colleges.

★ ★ ★

The superintendent said that the committee, which he chaired, had been asked to draft a state plan for vocational education.

FINISHED REPORT

He could not say to what use the state superintendent might put to the finished report.

Admitting that there was no pat answer to problems raised by vocational education, Emerson did say that recent federal legislation contemplates area schools.

He thought that the preparation courses in high school would be vital to the instruction in such vocational centers. Such preparation, he added, is possible without highly specialized and equipped shops.

Educators have fought two conflicting difficulties in setting up vocational education courses.

TOO HIGH

First, if the qualifications for the courses are too high, the student who attends is college potential and will no doubt go on to college.

Second, if courses are timed at the dropout-level student, there is little real benefit.

The big problem is to resolve the high-and-low aspects of vocational education.

Local interest in vocational education was brought home to Emerson through a budget session with school board delegates.

The Oakland County Superintendents Association suggested the county school board wait a year before employing a consultant. (The school board had decided on a "hold the line" policy on next year's budget.)

★ ★ ★

However, the delegates urged the board to include the item. This the board did, reducing the operating balance by $12,500.

Sewer Tap-In Fee Starts Permit Rush

The establishment of a sewer tap-in fee last month created a $1.4-million rush for permits to build new family dwellings in Pontiac.

For many, however, the rush was in vain. The first tap-in ordinance specified that fees had to be paid when a building permit was issued.

It went into effect March 6. There was a last-minute rush from builders to get permits before the new law became effective, thus avoiding the $150 fee for a single-family dwelling.

There were 75 permits issued for new homes and multiple-housing projects last month, most of them coming in the first week of March, according to Carl F. Alt, city building inspector.

The 75 permits represented new housing valued at $1,452,840.

AMENDED ORDINANCE

About three weeks later, the City Commission amended the tap-in ordinance to make fees due and payable when a plumbing permit is issued.

Many of those who rushed to get building permits hadn't applied for plumbing permits yet and ended up having to pay the tap-in fee after all.

Included in the 75 permits were permits for a proposed 65-unit town house type development on East Pike in the urban renewal area and 62 apartment units on Woodward across from St. Joseph Mercy Hospial.

★ ★ ★

Multiple-unit developments normally require only one permit. Permits were also issued for 21 new homes in the urban renewal area.

BOOSTED TOTALS

The big rush for housing permits boosted the March totals to 180 permits issued for an estimated $1,604,458 in new construction, the highest for any month so far this year.

There were 80 permits issued for $172,397 in new construction the month before and 108 permits issued for $121,626 in March a year ago.

★ ★ ★

Last month's total also included 69 permits for an estimated $71,000 in residential alterations and repairs, one new commercial building valued at $45,000 and three permits for $14,500 worth of commercial alterations and repairs.

Police Claim Arrest of 4 Clears Up Burglaries

A score of burglaries, most of them in the Flint area, have been cleared up with the arrest in Pontiac of four Flint Junior College students early today, according to Pontiac police.

The quartet was arrested after police stopped their car at 12:45 a.m. at Auburn and Sanford to question them about a break-in in the Up to Date Market, 330 E. Pike, 20 minutes earlier.

They admitted the burglary, which netted them $5.50 in pennies, and another at the Wilkins Party Store, Pontiac Trail and Orchard Lake, Orchard Lake, earlier in the evening, police said.

On further questioning, three admitted more burglaries in Genesee County, officers said.

Lt. Charles Gale, detective bureau head, said warrants charging the four with breaking and entering in the night time would be sought today.

FIRST TIME

Being held are David E. Moreno, 18; Brian D. Sandburg, 20; Edward A. Christie, 19 and James Toles, 20, all of Flint. Toles said this was the first time he was involved.

Another youth, Robert Rowston, 18, of 2823 Shaddick, Waterford Township, was implicated by the others in some of the Flint burglaries and is being held here for questionhg by Flint police. He was taken into custody at his home this morning.

Three other students at the college also were involved, but police have not yet picked them up for questioning.

★ ★ ★

POLICE DISCOVER

In the car, police found bottles of liquor, believed to have been taken from Wilkins, two pry bars and a pair of leather gloves.

★ ★ ★

Among the burglaries were jewelry stores in Flint and Flushing, grocery stores in Flint and Mount Morris, six gas stations and a junior high school in Flint. All were committed in the last three months, they told police.

The four said they decided to break into the Pontiac market and Orchard Lake party store after they had given a ride home from school to Rowston.

Barry Backer Answers Critic

The way Oakland County's top official Goldwater fan sees it, the county's top official Republican was hypocritical when he denounced last week's secret "convention" by other Goldwater fans.

County GOP Chairman Charles L. Lyle has been in on a few secret meetings, himself, charged Robert F. Smith of Royal Oak, chairman of the county's Goldwater Committee.

"The county chairman's complaints about the closed, unpublicized meeting in a smoke-filled room are ridiculous," Smith said today.

"I don't see how he can claim that such meetings went out with Calvin Coolidge when all delegates from the regular convention were chosen in similar closed meetings and the chairman certainly knows it."

State convention delegates approved at the regular county GOP convention in Southfield last Wednesday were actually selected in "small, closed preacucuses led by Lyle-appointed district chairmen, as in previous years," Smith said.

BARRY BACKERS

The secret "rump" convention denounced by Lyle was held in Birmingham by a small group of ultraconservatives—all supporters of U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination.

The ultraconservatives gathered after their spokesman, Huntington Woods attorney Larry S. Davidow, walked out of the regular convention protesting it was illegal.

They approved a competing slate of state convention delegates which may produce a fight over credentials at the GOP state convention May 9 in Grand Rapids.

Lyle, who said the party wanted an uncommitted delegation of 161 to the state convention where national delegates will be picked, defended his restrictions as necessary to thwart a plan by Goldwater fans to "take over" the regular convention.

Colombia Vote Causes Delay

Envoy to Cali Is Still Waiting

The man picked to represent Oakland County in the Cali region of Colombia is finding it more than a little embarrassing to still be in Oakland County.

In January John E. Madole was named by a local committee to go to Colombia for one to two years. He had hoped to leave nearly two weeks ago.

After several briefings by the U.S. State Department, Washington has flashed the green light, and local funds have been contributed to finance the expedition.

But still Madole, 46, remains grounded.

★ ★ ★

Madole's mission may have become politically entangled in Colombia as the result of a recent election there.

COORDINATE EFFORTS

He was picked to coordinate efforts of the committee here and a similar committee in Cali to assist the burgeoning region in an orderly development.

The project has been envisioned as a practical approach to the federal government's Alliance for Progress with Latin America by cooperation between two local communities.

The committee in Cali is also supposed to pick its representative to come here and work with the county's committee.

★ ★ ★

In fact, the committee here thought a man already was named in Colombia prior to the election.

Apparently, the election has at least temporarily upset arrangements in Cali. And Madole doesn't want to leave without assurance that arrangements are complete at that end.

The State Department has politely inquired as to what is the holdup in Colombia, and is awaiting a reply, said Madole.

Meanwhile, he is growing more apprehensive.

★ ★ ★

Madole gave up a job as the county's civil defense director to take the appointment. Yesterday the county's civil defense committee was interviewing applicants for Madole's former job.

Now he is wondering if he will have any job at all.

"It's embarrassing when my friends ask me how I liked Colombia and I have to tell them I haven't gone yet," said Madole.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors and head of the local Alliance for Progress committee, said he can't understand what has happened in Colombia.

"They assured us some time ago that they were ready to move ahead on this thing and were waiting for us to complete our arrangements."

The envoy from Colombia will find his office at the county courthouse auditorium is waiting for him if and when he can make the trip.

Cincinnati Area Hit by Five Fires

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Fires erupted at five apartment buildings within an hour in Cincinnati's Clifton area early today, but all occupants and firemen escaped injury, an assistant fire chief, Bert Lugananni said.

★ ★ ★

He said the blazes apparently were the work of an arsonist. He said one man had been arrested and was being questioned by police.

★ ★ ★

The fires routed dozens of persons and caused damage estimated by Lugananni at $23,000.

Guild Slates Card Party

LAKE ORION—The Immaculate Heart of Mary Guild of St. Joseph Parish will sponsor its annual spring card party tonight in the Parish Hall.

Tickets for the 8 p.m. event can be obtained at the door. Prizes will be awarded and a luncheon will be served.

The hall is at 36 Beebe, corner of Shadbolt.

Cuban Workers at Gitmo Still Face Ax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is continuing to reduce sharply the number of Cubans working — but not living — at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, it was disclosed today.

The Navy said the last official count showed 1,241 of these Cubans drawing pay as of April 1, compared to 1,800 in February and 2,300 in January before Premier Fidel Castro shut off the local water supply.

"Plans for further action in regard to Cuban employes at Guantanamo are under consideration," the Navy said.

Eventually it is expected that the Navy will dispense entirely, or almost entirely, with the services of Cubans who work at the base but live in Castro-held territory.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson has ordered that the base be made self-sufficient. The Navy reasoned that Castro could also shut off this stream of workers, who arrive and leave daily at the base's main gate.

LIVE ON BASE

Cubans are being encouraged to exile themselves and live on the base, however.

At last count, more than 600 had chosen to leave their homes and remain permanently in Cuban living quarters at the big Caribbean naval installation.

The Navy said the base is still observing water restrictions but that there is an ample supply for necessity.

Storage tanks now contain approximately 15 million gallons of fresh water, with consumption running at 1.5 million gallons a day.

POOLS CLOSED

Normal consumption runs over 2 million gallons a day. The base's eight fresh water swimming pools are still closed.

★ ★ ★

Water is being hauled in by tankers from Port Everglades, Fla. The Navy said that by midsummer the first units of its projected desalting plant will be turning out 750,000 gallons of fresh water a day, with two similar seawater conversion units scheduled for later operation.

Killed in NY Central Park

Hunt Weapon in Slaying of Scientist

NEW YORK (AP) — Police and a U.S. Army unit used mine detectors and magnetic tools today in Central Park seeking the gun used in the slaying of a brilliant Columbia University nuclear physicist.

★ ★ ★

The body of Charles Gallagher Jr., 31, was found in a clump of bushes in the park shortly after dawn Wednesday. He had been shot once, through the heart.

Wednesday night a three-man contingent of the Army's 66th Ordnance Detachment from Bellmore, N.Y., began covering the area of the slaying with mine detectors.

LAKE DRAGGED

At the same time, police dragged the nearby 72nd Street Lake with magnetic tools in hopes of turning up the weapon.

★ ★ ★

There were no signs of a struggle at the spot where Gallagher's body was found, and no evidence of robbery. Gallagher had left his wallet at home, as he often did. He still wore his wrist watch, and in his trouser pockets were some small change and his car keys. The victim's car was found in a Central Park lot at 79th street near where he was shot. His body was found by a stroller.

★ ★ ★

Police Inspector Thomas C. Renaghan said Gallagher returned three weeks ago from a lecture tour in the Soviet Union, and previously had given lectures in several other foreign countries.

Gallagher did research work at Brookhaven National Laboratory, an atomic energy center on Long Island. Officials there said his work was in an area in which this country exchanges information with Soviet Russia.

FBI CHECKING

Nevertheless, Renaghan said, police have turned over to the FBI information concerning Gallagher's 10-day stay in the Soviet Union.

★ ★ ★

Earlier the FBI said there was no evidence of any federal violation in Gallagher's slaying and, therefore, the FBI was not taking part in the investigation.

Gallagher left his home near the university at 8 p.m. Tuesday, telling his wife, Kristin, he would be home late.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gallagher said she did not become worried about her husband Tuesday night because he often slept on a cot at the university while he was on a particular project. Wednesday morning, however, she called police to report her husband missing. Police said she called just as they were trying to reach her, having traced ownership of the car.

Dorothy Jane Cook of Winnetka, Ill., president of the American Bridge Teachers Assn. has contributed an extremely interesting hand to the organization's Quarterly.

JACOBY

It is decidedly not an elementary hand since it involves duck plays in two suits in order to play as safely as possible for a normal game contract. The first duck turns out to be necessary, the second was an unnecessary precaution.

If South is an optimist, he will win the first club and start after diamonds. If they break, he will make 10 or 11 tricks depending on how he handles the spades and clubs after cashing his red cards.

Unfortunately for those ideas, East will win the third diamond and return a club to his partner, whereupon West will set the hand with four club tricks.

Therefore, South should duck the jack of clubs at trick one. He will win the club continuation. When East gets in with his good diamond, he won't have a club to lead. South will make four diamonds, three hearts, one spade and one club.

Have you seen where the second duck play comes in?

It should be made at trick three. South should lead the nine of diamonds from his hand and let it ride after West plays the eight. This play would have been necessary if the East and West diamond holdings had been reversed. This time it made no difference at all.

CARD Sense

You, South, hold: ♠AJ VKJ5 ♦7654 ♣AQ432 What do you do?

A—Bid three clubs. Both opponents have limited their hands and you can afford to compete at the three level.

TODAY'S QUESTION

West bids three spades. Your partner doubles and East passes. What do you do?

Compromise Plan Cracks Revolt

Victory Seen Near for Rockefeller N.Y. Program

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has cracked a revolt by the Republican dominated state legislature on liquor reform law changes and today stands on the threshold of victory.

★ ★ ★

Political advisers of the governor, candidate for the GOP presidential nomination, expect the legislative win to bolster his bid for primary support on the West Coast. He is scheduled to resume campaigning in Oregon tomorrow.

Rockefeller, stung by defeat of his program by the GOP lawmakers last month, offered a compromise plan to a special session of the legislature.

He swung most of the rebels his way but still needs a few Democratic votes before the reforms can be written into law.

★ ★ ★

The critical vote was to be taken today.

CLOSED DOOR EFFORT

The governor's legislative leaders, Sen. Walter J. Mahoney and Assembly Speaker Joseph F. Carlino, worked behind closed doors most of yesterday in an effort to get an agreement on the exact wording of the com promise.

The leaders reported they were sure of 80 assembly and 26 Senate Republican votes. Seventy six "ayes" are needed in the Assembly and 30 in the Senate.

Issues involved include:

● Repeal of liquor price controls and substituting a system under which distillers and wholesalers would certify New York prices are as low as those in other states.

★ ★ ★

● A separate license for taverns without kitchens. At present, grills are required to provide full course meals if drinking is permitted on the premises.

PACKAGE STORES

● Lowering of distances between liquor package stores.

● Prohibition of advertising of liquor prices on all brands.

Scandals centering around the State Liquor Authority triggered the legislative fight on the liquor laws.

Rockefeller said the changes are needed to prevent graft and corruption.

Some opponents countered, however, that good administrative offices would eliminate the need for a change.

COUPLE OF MISTAKES

"The governor made a couple of mistakes and appointed the wrong people to the office," one dissenting upstate senator said.

"Now he wants us to pull his chestnuts out of the fire for him."

In reply to questions from newsmen, Assembly leader Carlino said he thought 16 Democrats would go along with the Republicans but that many may not be needed when the roll is called.

Some five to seven Democratic senators were said to be ready to support the bill.

DOUBLED SUPPORT

Rockefeller doubled his support for the compromise bill since the regular session a little more than two weeks ago when only 30 Republicans were willing to lift price controls. They were joined by nine Democrats.

★ ★ ★

The Senate never had a chance to vote because Mahoney admitted he did not have 30 senators willing to vote yes.

New Showdown in State Senate

To Debate Religion-in-School Issue

LANSING (UPI) — Religion's place in Michigan public schools is apparently headed for another State Senate showdown.

★ ★ ★

The Senate, which has been arguing the issue for 10 years and as recently as two months ago, was prepared today for another debate after its education committee recommended Wednesday passage of a bill providing for public school pupils to be released from classes to attend religious instructions.

Sen. William Milliken, R-Traverse City, the committee chairman, said, "I think we've made a live issue out of an ordinary bill."

The nearly overlooked amendment to a House passed measure would make time off for religious instruction an excused absence.

The education committee's proposal would let a child be absent during school hours for as much as three hours a week for religious instructions if they were requested by the student's parents.

OVERSHADOWS ACTION

The issue overshadowed other "deadline day" action for the Senate, which had to move all but appropriation bills out of committee or see them die automatically.

The release time amendment was sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches, The Michigan Christian School Association, The Michigan Catholic Conference and the Lutheran School Association.

The education committee said it didn't anticipate any requests for released time "on a large scale basis" and emphasized the permissiveness of the act.

★ ★ ★

Most significant in the action was a ruling by State Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley that released time from regular classes would not be a violation of the constitution.

MARKS OPINION

It marked the first attorney general opinion on the subject of religion in the schools since January 1961 when Paul Adams, now a State Supreme Court justice, outlawed prayer reading in the classrooms of 31 counties after the U.S. Supreme Court held Bible reading in public schools unconstitutional.

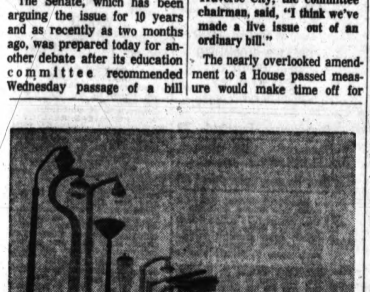
Given the tentative legal go-ahead, the committee adopted the position that "this could be a legally meaningful alternative to the recitation of prayer and Bible reading in public schools, and may be in the public interest to have this alternative available prior to the enforcement of the prayer ban. . ."

Main arguments offered against the time off bill are:

—It requires state consent for a religious observance.

—It attempts to do by legal means what churches and parents already have the power to do.

—Home religious instruction would not be included.



LIGHT DISPLAY—This variety of streets lamps line the end of a Tipton, England, parking lot. They are not rejects, but a display that was shown to visiting council officials so they could pick the best lighting for their areas.

Sentence 2 for Unlawful Taking of Car

One night last month, four teen-agers hot-wired a new car in an auto agency parking lot in Milford and later left it stripped of tires and wheels in an open field.

Sentenced Tuesday were two of them, Fred Felty, 17, of 780 Decker, Walled Lake, and Donald J. C. Payton, 18, of 121 Austin, Novi. Both pleaded guilty March 23 to unlawfully driving away an automobile.

The two were placed on three years' probation with an 11 p.m. curfew by Oakland County Circuit Court Judge James S. Thorburn.

Felty and Payton also were ordered to pay $100 court costs and $69.28 restitution each.

The other two youths accused in the theft are awaiting trial. These two also face larceny and burglary charges stemming from a series of crimes in the Walled Lake area.

All four were among 15 youths arrested by police a month ago. The rest were turned over to Juvenile Court.

Peter Sellers Improves After Heart Seizure

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—British actor Peter Sellers continued to show steady improvement today from a heart seizure he suffered 10 days ago.

Although he remains in serious condition, the 38-year-old comedy star spent two hours yesterday dictating letters and agreed to pose for photographers.

Poverty War Speedup Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI)—House Republicans charged Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., with not giving witnesses against President Johnson's War on Poverty proposals sufficient time to appear before the House subcommittee holding hearings on the bill.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., a leading GOP critic of the $962 million program, said the May 1 deadline to end hearings was "arbitrary" and only a tactic to hasten action on legislation.

★ ★ ★

Other congressional news:

Food: Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., strongly endorsed a proposed commission to study changes in the food industry from the farm to dining room table.

★ ★ ★

Hart, in a statement prepared for delivery before the Senate Commerce Committee, said such a commission could furnish the catalyst for legislation in the entire field of marketing and distribution.

Introduced Sport; Did It Hard Way

LOUISVILLE (UPI) — No one challenges Joe Kitchdorfer's claim that he introduced basketball at St. Xavier High School in 1911. He did it the hard way.

Kirchdorfer, a sophomore at the time, asked officials to adopt the game but was turned down.

He then collected some classmates and played an unofficial game with Louisville Male High.

The next day, Kirchdorfer was reprimanded by St. Xavier but later the school relented and hired a coach.

★ ★ ★

The score of that unofficial game was 95-4 in Male's favor. Kirchdorfer scored both baskets for the losers.

Plaque Marks Aviation First

BELOIT, Wis. (UPI) — A bronze plaque at the side of a highway on the eastern edge of Beloit now marks the site of a development in the history of aviation.

The marker is in the field where the late A.P. Warner, inventor and industrialist, took off and landed his Curtiss pusher biplane several times in November 1909.

He experienced engine trouble on one flight and became one of the first aviators to manage a "dead stick" landing.

Warner sent a telegram to Glenn Curtiss telling him the plane was manageable with a dead engine.

The Early Birds, a group of men who made their first solo flights before Dec. 17, 1916, erected the plaque recently.

S. Africa Eying Search for Oil Within Borders

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (UPI)—The South African government faced with repeated threats of an oil boycott by nations protesting its racial separation policy, is considering oil exploration within its own borders, it was learned today.

Informed sources said the government has made contact with American, German and French concerns to investigate the prospects for joint exploration ventures.

Bankrupt Texan Claims He Can Own Car, Horses

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —Paul Amos Sandblom, bankrupt Corpus Christi investor, claims he can keep his 1964 Cadillac and two registered quarter horses under an old bankruptcy law.

★ ★ ★

The old law provides that a bankrupt person can keep one carriage, a wagon and two horses if he has a family. Sandblom, insurance agent who filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition Jan. 7, has debts estimated as high as $37 million.

★ ★ ★

He is free on $125,000 bond under federal and state charges of selling unregistered securities. The bankruptcy referee gave Sandblom 10 days in which to file briefs before making a ruling on the car and horses.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

One Dissenter of Short Sight

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — The First Baptist Church here ended its vacation Bible school with an exhibit of work that had been done.

One poster showed a teen-age girl in shorts, with the caption: "Shorts Are Not Considered Proper Dress for Church Recreation."

At the side of the poster, a handwritten announcement read: "The idea expressed on this poster is not necessarily the opinion of the artist."

Near Refugee's Memorial

Reds Build New Wall Section

BERLIN (UPI) — East German border guards shifting a section of the Berlin Wall today moved within 10 yards of a memorial to a slain refugee and West Berlin police ordered precautions to prevent demonstrations.

Sixty East German border troops worked until dawn for the third straight night erecting a new section of wall across a war-devastated wasteland close to the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie.

They built the new wall section about 10 feet to the west of the old one to conform with the actual border line.

When work ended today, the new wall was about 140 yards long, with one end at the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie and the other end only 10 yards away from a rough wooden cross.

★ ★ ★

The cross was erected in memory of Peter Fechter, an East Berlin construction worker who was shot and bled to death as he tried to escape over the wall on Aug. 17, 1962.

The shooting set off several days of demonstrations by West Berliners against the Communists, their own police and American troops at the checkpoint. The crowds felt the Americans could have rescued Fechter.

Police feared new demonstrations if the Communist border guards damaged or tried to remove the cross during the rebuilding of the wall.

The East German working parties will reach the cross site tonight if they follow the same schedule as the past few nights.

★ ★ ★

West Berlin officials said the East-West Berlin border line was within four inches of the cross but that it definitely was on the West Berlin side.

Some of the stones of the base lie across the border line, however.

West Berlin Deputy Mayor Heinrich Albertz said the city would not move the cross.

Digs at Carroll Baker 'Bear Fruit' for Critic

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Carroll Baker's a gal who's not to be trusted —by reporters who write things she doesn't like. Now that she's back in Hollywood, after finishing "Mr. Moses" in Kenya and helping premiere "The Carpetbaggers" in Denver, Carroll confesses how she got even with a writer who, she felt, had done "a deliberate hatchet job" on himself, Robert Mitchum and the rest of the company in Africa.

WILSON

"He came back on the set with the owner of the land where we were shooting," Carroll told me. "He had his nose high in the air. He arrived at lunch time. We didn't think he'd have the nerve to have lunch with us.

"We were just having dessert. I had a lovely plate of sloppy fruit salad in front of me. I added a lot of peaches and whipped cream, and some runny rice pudding. Then I walked over to him and dumped it all right into his face. I said, 'Oh, I'm sorry. I tripped.' He just sat there and let it all run down his face and nose. Then he said, 'Was that deliberate?' I said 'Yes.'" Carroll figures she might now be ahead of the reporter by a couple of peaches and a wet prune.

Moderate Regime Aim of New Brazilian Chief

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — Brazil's new military president has promised a moderate regime in which "remedies for leftwing extremism will not give birth to a reactionary right."

★ ★ ★

Gen. Humberto Castello Branco, 63, was inaugurated Wednesday to serve 21 months remaining in the term of leftist President Joao Goulart, deposed April 1 in a coup led by Castello Branco, then army chief of staff.

'ALLIES'

"All democratic and free nations will be our allies," said the new president, "just as all those people who desire to be free and want representative democracy can count on Brazil's support."

★ ★ ★

This was considered by some to hint at a diplomatic break with Cuba, which conservative political leaders have been demanding since Goulart's overthrow.

Cheers and applause from the packed Chamber of Deputies greeted Castello Branco's 17-minute inaugural address, which was viewed as shifting Brazil's foreign policy toward a pro-Western line.

INDEPENDENT LINE

Since Janio Quadros took office four years ago and Goulart succeeded him in 1961, Latin America's largest nation has followed an independent line with leftist, anti-American overtones.

★ ★ ★

Castello Branco put aside a long military career to head the 21-month interim government. Military leaders of the coup have promised elections in October, 1965, for a new president who would take office in January 1966.

WILD CELEBRATIONS

In Rio de Janeiro, 600 miles southeast of this inland capital, Castello Branco's inauguration touched off wild celebrations.

The inauguration attracted nearly all the diplomatic missions, including the Soviet Union's. The U.S. mission was led by Ambassador Lincoln Gordon.

Castello Branco announced a new cabinet to help him attack Brazil's pressing problems, which include runaway inflation, a foreign debt of nearly $4 billion and widespread poverty.

Elly Starts Campaign in Detroit

CHARLOTTE (UPI)—Republican Elly Peterson, out to be the first woman nominated for the U. S. Senate in Michigan by a major party, had her campaign rolling in low gear today.

Mrs. Peterson, after opening her state headquarters in her home community of Charlotte Wednesday, was in Detroit today to help whip a metropolitan campaign team into shape.

She said because of her obligations as assistant chairman of the National Republican Party she will be able to conduct only an intermittent campaign until July 15, when the national GOP convention ends.

"Then I'll leave my Washington post and start the second phase of my campaign, an all-out effort extending to the primary election, and, the Lord willing, the third phase will be the general election campaign," Mrs. Peterson said.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Peterson, who quit her post as Michigan Republican vice chairman March 26 when she first announced her candidacy, has two primary opponents — Grand Haven businessman Edward Meany and State Board of Education member James F. O'Neil of Livonia.

PRIMARY WINNER

The primary winner is expected to face Democratic Sen. Philip A. Hart, who is currently unchallenged within his own party, in the general election.

The only real campaign function Mrs. Peterson has slated this week is a luncheon in Lansing Saturday inaugurating "GROW," the Republican program for the "grass-roots organization of women."

Mrs. Peterson, the wife of Col. W. Merritt Peterson, property and fiscal officer for the Michigan National Guard, said she would have about two weeks in both May and June for state campaigning.

Wallace Visit Hikes Tempo of Indiana Race

Foe in Primary Links Alabama's Beliefs to Dixie Bomb Deaths

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The tempo and the temperature of the Indiana Democratic presidential primary rose sharply today after a one-day visit to Indianapolis by Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

Wallace drew a blistering denunciation from Gov. Matthew E. Welsh of Indiana, whom he will oppose in the May 5 primary.

Welsh, who entered the presidential primary only to claim Hoosier delegates' votes for President Johnson, quickly said he was "not interested" in an invitation from Wallace to debate.

The usually mild-mannered Welsh said in a statement, "This is the man whose beliefs were responsible for the deaths of innocent children in the bombing of a Sunday School class" in Birmingham, Ala.

Outside a chemistry lecture hall where Wallace answered Butler University students' questions, another group of students picketed with signs like "No Racism in Indiana."

'NOT A RACIST'

"I'm not a racist," Wallace told the applauding students inside.

"A racist is one who hates another person in his heart because of his color.

"I would not be a segregationist president. I would be a state and local rights president."

The student audience, asked to choose between the policies of the governors in a mock primary, voted for Wallace over Welsh, 70-55.

New LBJ Deadline Spurs Railroad Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bargaining talks aimed at averting a nationwide railroad strike were spurred on today by President Johnson's implied shorter deadline for a voluntary settlement.

"We should know definitely, not later than next Monday, whether the parties to this dispute will settle it by the process of bargaining and by responsible reason," Johnson said yesterday.

★ ★ ★

"The country expects that answer to be yes," he said after conferring privately with federal mediators and negotiators for five unions and nearly 200 railroads.

Johnson did not say what he might do if the talks fail, but he would have no power to halt a scheduled strike April 25 unless he asked Congress for special legislation.

The five-year dispute over wages, job classifications and working conditions had exhausted all provisions of federal law when Johnson won a 15-day strike postponement last Friday and set up the emergency bargaining talks.

★ ★ ★

"There is no settlement yet," Johnson said yesterday on the sixth day of the talks, "and there can be no settlement until all issues are disposed of."

FIRST INDICATION

His reference to a definite decision by Monday was the first official indication that he will not let the entire 15-day postponement elapse without considering other steps.

"So far, there's been no threat of legislation," said George Reedy, White House press secretary.

"The principal question," Johnson said, it's whether these bargainers can, in 15 days, get over four years of the idea of somebody else settling their disagreements for them. I hope they can. I think they can."

★ ★ ★

He asked for another "definitive" report on the talks by this weekend.

200,000 EMPLOYES

The five train operating unions represent about 200,000 employes.

They are protesting proposed railroad work rules changes which they contend would amount to substantial pay cuts for many workers and eliminate many jobs.

Reveal Details of Arms Freeze

U. S. Proposes Halt for Missiles, Planes

GENEVA (AP)—The United States today unveiled details of its proposal for a freeze on the major powers' stocks of nuclear missiles and bombers.

★ ★ ★

In an effort to counter Soviet charges of espionage, U.S. Disarmament Delegate Adrian S Fisher said no inventory or control of the total number of weapons held by each side would be required, but added that a rigorous control and inspection system would be set up.

Fisher told the 17-nation disarmament conference the freeze was the "most significant and potentially far-reaching" of five arms control measures suggested by President Johnson on Jan. 21.

The freeze would affect:

1. Ground-based, surface - to - surface missiles with a range of more than 1,000 kilometers (621 miles) together with their launching pads.

★ ★ ★

2. Strategic bombers weighing more than 25,000 kilograms (27.5 tons) together with their air-to-surface missiles with a range of more than 100 kilometers (62 miles).

3. Strategic antimissile systems together with their launching facilities.

MRS. M. D. PETRIE

Heads Women in UF Drive

To Lead Volunteers in Area Campaign

A busy Pontiac mother of four, Mrs. Merrell D. Petrie, today was named head of the women's campaign committee for the 1964 Pontiac Area United Fund.

In making the appointment, Bruce J. Annett, general campaign chairman, said Mrs. Petrie will be in charge of dozens of subchairmen and some 1,300 volunteers in the fall fund-raising drive.

Last year, under Mrs. William Brace, the women's division raised $32,644, topping its goal by 113 per cent.

Mrs. Petrie, of 243 Cherokee, is the wife of the executive vice president of American Tape Co. She has been active in past United Fund Drives and served in American Red Cross programs since 1942.

She is president of the Pontiac Federation of Women's Clubs; is past president of Omega Mu Sigma sorority; vice president of the Pontiac Osteopathic Guild, and is affiliated with Parliamentary Study Club and Pontiac General Hospital Auxiliary.

Firing Clause Added to Pact Covering State

Legal Action Could Be Taken Against Michigan Employers

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George W. Romney's $1 hourly minimum wage bill, holding promise of more pay for 100,000 persons near the bottom of the economic ladder, was ready for Senate debate today.

In rapid development Wednesday, the bill was amended to tighten a loophole, approved 5-1 by the Senate Labor Committee and advanced toward debate over Republican opposition.

The bill's floor managers beat off three Republican attempts today to delay debate on the measure. Each time only 12 or 13 Republicans would go on record in voting for postponement.

★ ★ ★

A coalition of Democrats and Romney's Republican leaders mustered majorities of 15 or more votes in the tests.

The committee, headed by Sen. Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids, wrote in a provision making it a misdeameanor for employers systematically to fire help to avoid paying the minimum.

The Senate last year passed a minimum wage bill, but it was killed in the House despite Romney's backing.

★ ★ ★

But last month the House approved the new bill, 91-13, with all voting opposition coming from Republicans representing mostly rural areas.

The bill facing the Senate applies to all employes between the ages of 18 and 65 who work more than 13 weeks for the same employer, and to all employers with more than four employes.

"Any employer who consistently fires people just before the 13 weeks are up would be guilty of a misdemeanor," said Vanderlaan, explaining the committee amendment.

Sen. Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, cast the only "no" vote in committee.

Vanderlaan was able to move the bill to near the top of the

Ready Method of Jury Picking

Will Select From List of Registered Voters

By JIM DYGERT

Because five young women are busy punching holes in a lot of cards; Oakland County's new method of picking jurors for Circuit Court trials should work smoothly when it goes into operation later this year.

When the gals finish their job on five key-punch machines in about three months, all the registered voters in the county — about 300,000 of them — will be listed on cards.

The new system requires that jurors be picked at random from voter registration records by three jury commissioners appointed by the county board of supervisors.

Under the old method, they were picked from tax rolls by township supervisors and city assessors.

★ ★ ★

This system was criticized for preventing juries from representing a true cross section of the county's populace since only property owners could be chosen. So the law was changed.

THREE OF FIVE

Three of the five key-punch machines are stationed at Pontiac, Birmingham and Royal Oak city halls.

Information is taken directly from voter registration records and punched on cards in a code which other data-processing equipment can read.

The other two key-punchers are clicking along at a rate of 120 or 130 cards an hour in the office of County Clerk-Register David R. Calhoun.

These are eating up data from microfilmed copies of voter reg-

Clash of McNamara, LeMay Not Personal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The clash of views between Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Curtis E. LeMay has not led to a clash of personalities, informed sources said today.

Civilian officials and Air Force officers in position to observe McNamara-LeMay relations close-up agreed in separate interviews that the two men still are on civil, if not chummy terms.

The fundamental McNamara-LeMay split is over the future of the manned bomber.

McNamara doubts it will be of much use beyond 1970; LeMay feels a new generation bomber — actually, more a flying missile platform than a bomber — should be built, and that too much reliance is being placed on intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Under prevailing Pentagon rules, a military officer—high or low—may not make public speeches or statements advocating anything that runs counter to policy set by overriding civilian authority.

★ ★ ★

Sources said LeMay has laid down strict orders that there shall be no under-the-table operations in fighting for Air Force projects and ideas.

MAY SPEAK OUT

But the rules permit an officer to speak his mind when his views are sought by members of Congress in the course of testimony before Senate and House committees.

The thing that evoked the Defense Department's strong counterstatement late Tuesday was the treatment LeMay's views received in the Washington Evening Star—an eight-column headline featuring the general's statement that the Soviets were closing the gap on U.S. military superiority.

There were reliable reports that some aides of McNamara tried to dissuade him from putting out the Pentagon statement which declared that U.S. military superiority is increasing.

Car Hits Boy; Injuries Fatal

Troy Child, 4, Struck in Front of Home

Four-year-old Russell Nichols of Troy died early today of head injuries suffered yesterday when he was hit by a car in front of his home at 776 Robinwood.

Oakland Highway Toll in '64

59

Last Year to Date 41

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Nichols, Russell was playing with friends at the side of the road about 6:30 p. m. when the accident occurred.

He was struck by a car driven by Lillian Courville, 19, of 193 Cherry, Troy.

Miss Courville told police she saw the children and slowed her car. She said she heard the car hit something, looked in the rear-view mirror and saw the child lying in the street.

Russell died shortly before 1 a. m. today in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak. His body is at the Sawyer Funeral Home, Berkley.

Warming Trend Due

A warming trend is on the way in the Pontiac area. The weatherman said temperatures will fall to a mild 46 to 54 tonight and soar to a high of 68 to 74 tomorrow.

A few showers may develop late tomorrow. Saturday's outlook is mostly cloudy with showers or scattered thundershowers.

Morning southerly winds at 10 miles per hour will continue at 10 to 20 m.p.h.

Forty-four was the low recording in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The thermometer registered 62 at 1 p.m.

Loose Talk Brings End to Freedom

Raymond D. Puett, 24, who escaped from the Oakland County Jail yesterday by posing as a prisoner scheduled for release, was recaptured two hours later near Rochester.

Puett answered for Albert Burch, 24, in the 8 a.m. roll call for departing prisoners. He then donned Burch's clothes, walked out of jail and hailed a cab.

Deputies realized the wrong man had been set free when Burch stepped out of a shower and asked when he would be released.

Puett's downfall was telling his cabbie about the escape. In a routine check of cab drivers, deputies located the one who drove the prisoner to a bar at M59 and M150, three miles south of Rochester.

Deputy Billy Nolan made the arrest, and Puett's two hours of freedom ended.

Puett, of 2873 Leach, Avon Township, had been in jail since March 12 awaiting trial on a concealed weapons charge. He faces a possible year's sentence for the escape.

Driver Killed in Crash

MARSHALL (AP) — A car plunged into a ditch and hit two trees Wednesday, killing the driver, William T. Prosser Jr., 33, of Battle Creek. The accident occurred four miles northwest of here.

New Dem Plan for Districting

While Gov. George Romney's solution to Michigan's congressional districting problem appeared headed for trouble today, another solution was thrown on the table that would give Democrats a better shot at two Oakland County seats.

The new plan was introduced by House Minority Leader Joseph J. Kowalski, D-Detroit, as Democrats held back from voting on Romney's plan.

Kowalski's plan was frankly designed to "give the Democrats a better chance of carrying the two Oakland County seats," said Rep. Joseph Gillis, D-Detroit.

Romney's and other Republican plans would, on the basis of past voting records, keep the 18th district safe for the GOP by confining it to the southeastern part of Oakland County.

Russians Close News Office; Told of K Death

MOSOCW (AP) — The Soviet Union today ordered the closing of the Moscow office of the West German news agency DPA, which on Monday circulated a false report that Soviet Premier Khrushchev had died.

In a Russian-language transmission, Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the order was issued because the agency, Deutsche Presse Agentur, has been "spreading provocative and false reports concerning the U.S.S.R."

The agency's Moscow correspondent, whose name was given only as Wurzel, "has been asked to leave the Soviet Union within 24 hours," Tass said.

The Tass announcement made no mention of DPA's erroneous report about Khrushchev.

SNEAK PREVIEW — Here's what voters will face at the city election Monday. Across the bottom are the candidates in each district. Voting pointers (levers) are above each name. Above the candidates are the two proposals to be decided. Across the top are numbered slots for write-in votes. There are two write-in candidates campaigning whose names don't appear on the ballot. They are Philip R. Sauer in District 2, and Emmett S. Wellbaum in District 7. If you want to vote for Sauer, you must write his last name in slots No. 6 or 7. If you want to vote for Wellbaum, write his name in slots No. 16 or 17.

Juror List Readied

YEAR'S SUPPLY

Calhoun is in charge of the project, which will make things easy for the three jury commissioners when they begin work next month on the task of coming up with a year's supply of 700 jurors by September.

To do this, the three — Draper Allen, Elmer Johnson and Mrs. Elmer Rowley—will feed the punched IBM cards into an IBM sorter at the county board of education office.

Cards are being filed according to city and township and will be fed into the sorter the same way. The machine will spit out a predetermined number at random for each city and township.

Pontiac will provide 164 prospects, Royal Oak 161, Waterford Township 94 and so forth, at a rate of roughly one for every 500 population (at least seven, however, from every city and township, regardless of size).

1,427 SELECTED

All told, 1,427 names will thus be selected; and from these, the commissioners will hope to get 700 qualified and able to serve as jurors after sending them questionnaires and interviewing them.

When a jury panel of 200 is needed for a month-long jury term, 90 per cent of them will be able to serve because preliminary screening will already have been done by the commissioners, according to those who like the new system.

Under the present system, a panel of 200 gets its first screening from the presiding judge just before a jury term begins. Many times less than 100 can serve.

★ ★ ★

The new system was made possible by state legislation passed at the request of the county after years of pressure from attorneys who criticized the old system and claimed it sometimes resulted in "petty patronage" by rural supervisors.

SUPPORTERS CLAIM

Lawyers and other supporters of the new system charged that some supervisors often put unemployed or retired friends on the list so they could collect the $8-a-day jury fee.

The old system also was criticized for producing "professional jurors" who turned up repeatedly on the juries because the pool from which prospects were chosen was limited.

The county board of supervisors last year decided to start the system on a trial basis after legislators amended the first bill passed at the county's request to cut the term of jury commissioners from six years to two years.

★ ★ ★

Calhoun estimates the key-punch project is costing about $6,000, mostly in wages for four expert key-punchers hired for the job. The machines are leased at $60 a month.

ROTATING BASIS

The fifth machine is run on a rotating basis by girls from various county departments who want some key-punch experience in anticipation of the day when county government will rely more on automatic data-processing equipment.

★ ★ ★

Calhoun says his office will keep one of the machines to punch information changes in the cards.

★ ★ ★

He estimates every year produces 70,000 such alterations (new registrations, address changes, deaths, etc.).

Area Man Honored by Ford Unit

A test engineer at the Ford Tractor Division in Birmingham, Walter W. Sewell, yesterday received the top citizenship award made by the company's Oakland County Community Relations Committee.

★ ★ ★

Sewell of 59140 Van Dyke, Washington, was cited as president of the Romeo Community Schools Board; president of Washington Lions Club; and for work on Washington Elementary School committees and Washington Community Park.

Among six Tractor Division employes honored at a luncheon at Kingsley Inn, Sewell received a town crier's bell symbolizing his community activities.

Plaque awards went to Donald Campbell, 2745 Tallahassee, Avon Township, an implement department employe, for government, youth and church work; and John Couch, 178 Lovell, Troy, a designer, who is president of a subdivision group.

★ ★ ★

Others were Burdette Dzendzel of Southfield for work on the city's planning commission and Democratic Club; Richard Rogers for Royal Oak youth activities; and Gayle Teerman, for Nankin Township civic and Republican party activities.

★ ★ ★

Frank T. Judge Jr., manager of the company community relations committee, commended the men.

★ ★ ★

He said the unique awards program began nine years ago and has spread to 50 company locations.

Dems Want County Seats

Detroit and all of Highland Park, both strongly Democratic areas.

NOW GOP

Richard Milliman, Romney's press secretary, said the governor felt "Kowalski's plan would sew up the 18th congressional seat now held by Republican Rep. William S. Broomfield for the Democrats."

Broomfield last year chose to run for re-election in the 18th district when it was reduced from its former county-wide size to the southeastern cities and the rest of the county went into a new 19th district with Livingston County.

The districting law that made those changes, however, has been ruled unconstitutional and unusable by a panel of three federal court judges who said population differences among the state's 19 districts were too great.

★ ★ ★

Kowalski's plan would have a population difference of only 3,406 between the largest and the smallest districts, compared to 3,585 in Romney's plan.

AT-LARGE ELECTION

State legislators must draw acceptable districts in time for use this year or the state may have at-large balloting for congressmen this year.

Some say the legislature must give immediate effect to any new districting bill for it to be in time. Democratic support would be needed for the two-thirds approval required.

Republican plans would put part of northwestern Wayne County into the 19th and take Livingston County and Avon Township out of it (putting Avon back in the 18th).

★ ★ ★

This presumably would make the 19th a swing district that Democrats might win. But the 18th would still be mostly Republican.

★ ★ ★

Romney had wanted the House or Representatives to vote today on his plan, but Kowalski said Democrats were not ready to vote on it "until we consider a couple more plans which are being drafted."

State Senate Debate Near on Wage Bill

Senate agenda only after a struggle with fellow Republicans. With less than a week before the deadline for passage, each day's delay is a threat to the bill.

10 NOT VOTING

With 10 senators absent or abstaining from the vote, VanderLaan won approval, 15-9, for letting the bill bypass more than 146 House-approved measures also awaiting Senate debate.

The maneuver served also as something of a test vote, with opposition again coming only from Republicans, most of them with rural constituencies.

Democrats were solidly behind the measure. Their caucus leader, Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, has predicted the bill will pass the Senate.

★ ★ ★

The immediate impact of the measure would be felt by hotels, restaurants, car washes and retail merchants, whose management organizations have vigorously fought it in public hearings.

UNION SUPPORT

Labor unions, particularly speaking for waitresses and hotel employes, have just as stubbornly fought for the bill during public hearings.

★ ★ ★

These employes, and many farm laborers, would be among the estimated 100,000 persons who would benefit immediately from the pay floor.

★ ★ ★

The bill calls for a graduation up to a $1.25 minimum over three years, by which time an estimated total of 250,000 employes will feel the benefit of the minimum.

Pictures of Heart Taken With Internal Periscope

CHICAGO (AP) — A surgeon showed scenes from thrilling movies taken inside the living heart with a new internal periscope today.

The periscope is thrust down a blood vessel into dogs' hearts. There, it lights up the interior of the heart, and walls, to take movies.

DECIDE ON SURGERY

A heart specialist then can look through the tube to see what is going on and decide whether surgery is needed to make heart repairs.

An improved, flexible instrument now is being built, said Walter J. Gamble of Children's Hospital in Boston.

HUMAN HEARTS

If it proves safe in animal tests, it will be used to inspect the interior of human hearts.

Gamble and Robert E. Innis of the American Optical Co., Southbridge, Mass., described the new instrument to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology.

Just as a periscope allows the captain of a submarine to see the sky above him, the internal periscope can probe into a body organ without surgery.

★ ★ ★

Gamble has taken slow motion movies of the aortic valve, which opens and closes as the heart pumps blood out into the body. And he has movies of the inside of the right upper chamber of the dog heart, the right and left lower chambers, and the valve between the show surgeons what had to be

Gamble said he had once had a peek at the aorta. In adults, inspection of that great artery might show whether it was affected by the "rust" that underlies heart attacks.

The periscope into dogs' hearts is only about half the roundness of a cigarette and 21 inches long. Through incisions in the neck of anesthesized dogs, it has been pushed gently down through blood vessels into the heart.

Illinois Vote Results Satisfying to Both

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, winner and runner-up in Illinois' Republican presidential primary, have expressed satisfaction with their showing in their first political venture in the midwest.

Goldwater polled 63 per cent of the votes cast for Republican presidential nominees in Tuesday's primary election and Mrs. Smith pulled a surprising 26 per cent.

An estimated 2.2 million voters cast ballots.

Mrs. Smith, who claimed she spent only $85 in two brief Illinois appearances, said in Washington D. C. that her 197,556 votes "rejected political bigotry against a candidate just because she is a woman."

★ ★ ★

With returns from 9,875 of the state's 10,265 precincts, Goldwater received 482,490 votes. Commenting in Washington, Goldwater called his Illinois victory a demonstration that "1964 can be a year of victory for our party."

ONLY CANDIDATES

Goldwater and Mrs. Smith were the only candidates whose names were on the ballot for the GOP presidential vote, but more than 80,000 write-in votes were cast. Some 200,000 other GOP voters expressed no preference for a presidential candidate.

The election was spurred by a bitter Republican gubernatorial contest, which was won handily by Charles H. Percy, 44, Chicago industrialist, making his first bid for public office. Percy defeated State Treasurer William J. Scott, 37, by some 200,000 votes.

Percy, who immediately began his campaign against Democratic Gov. Otto Kerner, collected 586,801 votes to Scott's 361,446. Kerner, unopposed in the primary, received more than 800,000 votes.

★ ★ ★

Henry Cabot Lodge, winner of the New Hampshire GOP presidential primary, led the write-in votes in Illinois. Lodge, ambassador to Viet Nam, had 52,358 votes and was followed by former vice president Richard M. Nixon with 24,812.

Avon Players to Present Circus

BIRMINGHAM — Avon Players will bring their "Silly Circus" to town Saturday to keep local youngsters laughing for 90 minutes.

★ ★ ★

The Rochester group has taken its show a number of times to area hospitals to cheer young patients this year. But at 1:30 p. m. Saturday the performance will be staged at the Community House.

Featured in the show are clowns, tricks and music.

The clowns come in various forms, including harlequin, classic and just plain bum. Children also can expect a visit from Puff the Magic Dragon.

★ ★ ★

A "horse" promises to lead in the trick department. Its components also double as clowns. There will be magic tricks, too, to hold the attention of the children.

ADDED MUSIC

The 12 members of the Avon Players who put on the show have not neglected music. Their 15 songs cover a wide range, with the audience participating in many.

No circus would be complete without balloons, so each child attending will get one, along with cookies and ice cream.

This is the last in this year's series of children's shows sponsored by the Community House, 380 S. Bates.

Tickets now are on sale there or can be purchased at the door. Adult chaperones will be in attendance at all times.

Ballots are to be returned to the chamber office by Monday. New directors will be announced at the group's annual banquet, scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday at Devon Gables.

Early Stratton Tax Trial Sought

CHICAGO (AP)—Government prosecutors say they will press for an early trial of William G. Stratton, former Republican governor of Illinois, who was indicted Wednesday on charges of evading payment of $46,676 in income taxes.

★ ★ ★

Edward Hanrahan, U.S. district attorney, said no date has been set for the trial of Stratton, 50, who was defeated in 1960 for a third term as governor.

Republican spokesmen called the indictment a personal matter, with no relation to the Republican party.

A federal grand jury charged that Stratton evaded payment of $46,676 in taxes on $93,595 income amassed during 1957-1960, Stratton's second and last term in office.

DENIES CHARGE

Stratton, in a statement, denied any wrongdoing.

Government sources refused to say what the unreported sources of income were, but they said this might be revealed during the trial. His salary as governor was $25,000 a year.

Hanrahan announced the indictment the morning after Illinois' primary election, saying it had been kept secret to insure an orderly election.

Utica Schools Get Cost-Cutting Plan

AREA NEWS

UTICA — The board of education is wondering what to do in case state aid is not improved this year.

Schools Supt. Fred M. Atkinson, who expressed confidence that the legislature will increase school support this year, has come up with a cost-cutting program to put to use if it doesn't.

His proposals, in recommending an estimated $4,465,000 budget, include trimming the district's custodial staff to allow a full-day schedule for third graders and opening of the new Flickinger School.

Atkinson's tentative plan calls for the transfer of day custodians to night duty and the use of matrons to maintain buildings during the day.

★ ★ ★

Thus the school board could eliminate the jobs of several night custodians.

REVISED FIGURES

Revised budget figures indicate an additional $135,787 will be needed to open Flickinger School and maintain full-day schedules for third graders.

Atkinson's proposals include use of contingencies to raise $55,000. The elimination of some custodial jobs would produce another $40,500, he estimates.

Other suggested cuts are instructional, $11,452; administration and school board travel funds, $5,600 and building repairs, $4,000.

★ ★ ★

Already eliminated from the budget is provision for noon-hour supervision which Atkinson originally had proposed. Next year's tentative budget is up about $164,200 over this year's.

SEVERAL WEEKS OFF

The state aid program is not expected to be drawn up for several weeks.

Atkinson, who discussed his proposal with custodians before presenting it to the board, said presenting it to the board, said he hoped it would not be necessary to put it into effect. He also noted he did not think it would be.

The custodians, while not "pushing the panic button," did express concern over the possible loss of their jobs, according to a spokesman.

Milk Price Bill Killed by Unit

LANSING (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee Wednesday killed a House-approved bill which would have set minimum retail prices for milk.

A 2-2 deadlock in committee killed the bill. Milk pricing has been a major issue since 1961 when a bill was vetoed by then-Gov. John Swainson as being detrimental to consumers.

This year, as then, the bill was sponsored by Rep. Andrew Cobb, R-Elsie, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

The two Democrats on the Senate committee, Sens. Charles McManiman, D-Houghton, and Garland Lane, D-Flint, voted for the bill.

Senate committee chairman Harry Litowich, R-Benton Harbor, and Sen. Lester Begick, R-Bay City, voted against it. Sens. Arthur Dehmel, R-Unionville, and Frederic Hilbert, R-Wayland, abstained.

Oxford Budget Hearing May Be Last for Clerk

MRS. PATRICIA TYRRELL

OXFORD — A proposed 1964-65 budget of $157,500 will be presented to the people of Oxford April 29, at what probably will be the last budget hearing attended by Clerk Mrs. Patricia Tyrrell.

At the same session the budget was presented to the Village Council, Mrs. Tyrrell submitted her resignation, effective May 15.

Mrs. Tyrrell has been a village employe for five years, the past three as clerk-treasurer. Her resignation, submitted for "personal reasons," was accepted with regret by the council.

"I am extremely sorry that she is leaving," Village Manager Michael Kilgore said today. "The village is losing a most capable employe and one who is well respected by her fellow employes and by the community."

Kilgore's budget, now being considered by the council, is $14,249 higher than expected expenditures for 1963-64.

SAME TAXES

However, no additional millage is needed for the adjustment. Village residents will continue to pay the same taxes, determined by the present 20-mill levy.

Among reasons for the increase are a proposed $5,000 street resurfacing program, covering 2½ miles of roadway in the southwest portion of town.

"The biggest item in the budget increase is the capital improvement program of $5,500," Kilgore said. Included in this is installation and maintenance of 29 new street lights in the towntown area, as well as six lamps at residential corners.

★ ★ ★

Also proposed as an expenditure is $3,000 toward the purchase of a new fire truck, which the council hopes to pay cash for in 1965.

'VERY SOUND'

"I feel the budget is operational and expenditurewise very sound," Kilgore explained.

He said millage brings in less than 30 per cent of the revenue, and increases in other income categories have permitted the budget hike.

Spendings for several village departments are upped this year, including the police department from $36,606 to $39,771; fire department, from $14,977 to $16,209; and public works, from $34,463 to $39,326. The water department budget is down from $23,475 to $20,950.

The April 29 public hearing is set for 7:30 p. m. in the council chambers.

New Facilities for the Camper

$95,000 Program at Proud Lake Site

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — When the camping season begins in earnest, families pitching their tents or parking their trailers at Proud Lake Recreation Area will be greeted by bigger and better facilities.

A $95,000 program to add more than 80 lots to the existing 86 now is in full swing.

Workmen have set July 1 as their target date for completion of the project.

A well has been dug, pumping station built and water and sewer lines laid.

★ ★ ★

A toilet and shower building now is being constructed on the camp site along the south side of Proud Lake off Glengary.

FIRST IN STATE

The structure is the first in the state to provide for winter campers.

"We can partially heat it in the winter for people wishing to camp then," Manager Al Masini said. "It will be kept moderately heated all the time."

Masini said a boat launching facility at the camp site also is in the plans.

"Within two or three years this will be one of the leading camp sites in the state," Masini predicted.

2,940 FAMILIES

Some 2,940 families camped at the area last year and at least 5,600 are expected this year.

★ ★ ★

The improvements are being financed through a $20-million bonding program underwritten by the sale of motor vehicle permits by the State Conservation Department.

No Privacy for Presidents? Johnson Is Managing Very Nicely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidents often complain that they have no privacy. In fact, they have more than you might imagine.

Washington is a sophisticated, cosmopolitan capital where a presidential caravan can be spotted instantly as it rolls along the boulevards.

Still it's a fact that President Johnson, time after time, is driven around the city after dark without reporters, or the general public, being the wiser.

Johnson told newsmen last week he likes to visit friends in suburban Silver Spring, Md., and even as far away as Hyattsville, Md., 15 miles to the northeast. No such trips have been recorded.

A few months ago Johnson drove 12 miles into suburban Virginia to have dinner with Pierre Salinger, then his press secretary. The directions to Salinger's house were so circuitous that the Secret Service had to summon a White House driver who had been there many times to lead the small motorcade. This trip, too, went unrecorded.

Wednesday night, after attending a hotel reception given in his honor by King Hussein of Jordan, Johnson decided to take off on one of these jaunts.

★ ★ ★

This posed a problem because two reporters had hired a limousine and, with Secret Service knowledge, had joined the presidential motorcade to the hotel. The reporters planned to leave with Johnson and follow him, not so much because they wanted to know where he was going but to be on hand in case his car should have a flat tire, a wreck or other misfortune.

After all, should the President have an accident on the highway, a White House reporter might be hard pressed to explain why he wasn't on the scene.

SOLVE PROBLEM

Well, the Secret Service, acting on Johnson's instructions, solved the problem of the limousine from the Fourth Estate. They ordered two Washington policemen to park their motorcycles so close to the front bumper of the press car that it couldn't join the cavalcade.

Johnson took off for parts unknown, free of pursuit, with Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clark, old friends from Austin, Tex. Clark is an attorney.

Facts about after-dark presidential trips frequently remain very secret—proof enough that the President of the United States can move about in complete secrecy, if that's his desire.

Thirty-nine of the states grant divorces upon proof of drunkenness.

Lefthander Rattles ABC Pins

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Fred Foremsky, a left-handed bowler did everything right in his first American Bowling Congress Tournament appearance as he averaged 228 pins per game over the 12-game classic route for an all time record.

The little El Paso, Texas, pro went into second place in the classic all events standings Wednesday afternoon when he finished his opening nine game with a 2,024 count. Bill Hardwick, the San Mateo, Calif., sensation is leading the classic all events with 2,088.

Then in his second team appearance Tuesday night Foremsky came in with a flashy 718 count for three games to up his 12-game total to 2,742. The record for 12 games in classic division play was 2,728 set by Jack Winters of Philadelphia in the 1962 ABC at Des Moines.

★ ★ ★

Foremsky, 27, a television repair shop manager as well as a pro bowler, had back-to-back series over 700 as he finished up with a 709 for fifth place in classic singles to close his afternoon performance.

He and his partner, Dave Moseley, a right-hander, had just taken the classic doubles lead with 1,321, when Foremsky continued his sensational scoring in singles play.

The classic all events champion is determined on the opening nine games of play so Foremsky's 12-game record will not bring him a title.

★ ★ ★

Here's how Foremsky piled up his 2,742. In his first team block he had 245-197-191. In doubles he followed with 235-203-244 for 682 and then rolled 225-226-258 in singles for 709. His second team appearance saw him pounding out 245-235-235 for 718.

Foremsky's performance was only part of a scoring splurge in the ABC on Wednesday.

DETROIT TEAM

Detail Tool of Detroit came charging down the stretch with a 1,110 finishing game and totaled 3,108 for second place in the regular division behind the leading 3,117 rolled by 300 Bowl of Pontiac, Mich.

Har-Mar Printing of Milwaukee took third in regular team on a 3,078.

★ ★ ★

William Smith, Casper, Wyo., also took second place in regular singles with 717 and Elmer Vandemheen and Dewey Yoho of Tuscon, Ariz., cracked 1,287 for fifth in regular doubles.

Houston Golf Classic Opens

Rodgers Fires 68 in Practice Round

HOUSTON (AP)—Jack Nicklaus was the popular choice as the $50,000 Houston Golf Classic opened today but Phil Rodgers has looked sharp during practice rounds.

Rodgers, former University of Houston star fired a three-under-par 68 during final practice Wednesday over the 7,223-yard par 35-36—71 Sharpstown Country Club course, where the Classic is being held for the first time.

Six former champions are in the field, with odds ranging from 5-1 for defending champion Bob Charles to 15-1 for Mike Souchak and Marty Furgol.

Charles won last year with a Classic record 269 on the Memorial Municipal Park Course.

Charles, a New Zealand lefthander, picked up $10,000 first place money last year but the top money has been cut by the PGA to $7,500.

Nicklaus did not arrive in time to take any practice shots but most of the other top golfers participated in a pro-amateur Wednesday.

Junior Editors Quiz on SHIPS

QUESTION: What are belaying pins used for — besides hitting mutinous sailors?

★ ★

ANSWER: On the old fashioned sailing ships, ropes were called "lines." You didn't "tie" lines down; the sailors' word was "belay."

There were many lines coming down from the yards and sails above and these were frequently in use, for hoisting up sails, lowering them or adjusting their position to the wind.

Along the inner side of the ships "rail" — the part of the side above the deck — was a kind of shelf with a series of holes, and in each of these a heavy metal "belaying pin" rested.

Our illustration shows how a line coming from aloft would be "belayed" or fastened around such a pin. It could be unfastened quickly and easily by taking the pin out of the hole.

Our illustration to the right shows what sometimes happened, when stubborn or mutinous sailors took it into their heads to disobey their officers.

A burly mate might snatch out one of the heavy belaying pins and attack the offender.

FOR YOU TO DO: Learn some nautical language so you can talk on even terms this summer with those who sail boats. An example: the front part of the boat is "fore," the back part, "aft." The right hand is "starboard," the left, "port."

Scrapped Cars Hit New Mark

1962 Figures Show Fifth Record Year

DETROIT (AP)—U. S. motorists tossed some 4,681,617 cars—a new high mark—on the scrap heap in 1962.

That was disclosed today in figures released by R. L. Polk & Co., auto industry statisticians.

The number of cars scrapped exceeded the previous high of 4,420,174 set in 1961. It marked the fifth year in U. S. auto history that over four million cars were junked.

SIGNUPS JUMPED

Despite the high volume of cars consigned to the junk yard, Polk said auto registration as of Jan. 1, 1963, topped the 70 million mark for the first time in history.

The scrappage rate in 1962 was 8.1 per cent of cars in use at the start of the year.

★ ★ ★

In fact, Polk said, the 1962 scrappage total exceeded the entire new car registration of 1958—a total of 4,651,002.

The Polk annual survey on car and truck scrappage is regarded in automotive circles as one of the best barometers of auto business. Its figures involve detailed surveys and collections and thus take about a year for compilation.

SCRAPPED TRUCKS

Truck scrappage for 1962 totaled 720,039, compared with 575,903 in 1961. The peak year for truck scrappage remained 1958 with its 780,513 units.

Scrappage of all vehicles in 1962 passed the five million mark for the second time in automotive history. It was 5,401,656, compared with 5,039,287 in 1959.

Total vehicles in operation Jan. 1, 1963, numbered 70,965,449 compared with 68,359,517 a year earlier.

Job Training Key to New Program Aimed at Pontiac Economy

By L. GARY THORNE

Through an ambitious vocational-occupational program, Pontiac school officials have set out to strengthen the local economy, reduce unemployment help meet employer's needs and reduce school dropouts.

The key to these aspirations is a proposed job training for youth and adults.

Plans are under way to kick off the vocational-occupational program this fall.

A community advisory committee, headed by John Riley, director of advertising of The Pontiac Press, will hold an organizational meeting next Wednesday at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

★ ★ ★

Local schoolmen have invited business, labor and public service agency officials to serve on the advisory committee.

This group will advise on the employment needs of the community, training programs that should be established and help in securing competent instructors.

Working with the citizens committee will be Maurice C. Prottengeier, newly appointed director of vocational education and adult education.

The 40-year-old Fitzgerald (Mich.) educator began his job in midyear in order to help organize the proposed vocational-occupational program.

The school district's general proposal covers three areas:

★ ★ ★

● Occupational training for in-school youth not served by existing programs.

★ ★ ★

● Technicians training programs for post-high school youth in business, industrial and health service fields to develop specific vocational skills beyond those of high school.

★ ★ ★

● Adult training and retraining for those unemployed or who wish to upgrade their vocational skills.

School Supt. Dana P. Whitmer admitted that vocational education might not be the entire answer to the dropout problem but thought that with proper counseling some could be reached that aren't reached now.

★ ★ ★

Dropouts, he added, have a number of problems. He thought it unrealistic to think that vocational education would solve all them.

Reflected in County Budget

Vocational Education Seen on the Rise

Concern for more and better vocational education courses is not confined to Pontiac.

The movement holds promise of mushrooming throughout the county and state, according to Oakland Schools Supt. William J. Emerson.

The concern of other school districts in vocational education was reflected by some budget juggling at the county level.

Responding to a request from local school board delegates who annually review the county budget, the board changed its operating budget to include the new position of a vocational education specialist.

★ ★

This specialist, who will not be hired until final income figures are available after upcoming tax allocation hearings, will act as a consultant to local districts.

ASSIST DISTRICTS

He will assist individual districts in establishing and-or updating their vocational education offerings, Emerson said.

Vocational education, despite its history that dates back to the rural economy of an earlier era, remains a complex problem, explains the county superintendent.

The foremost problem is expense, he said.

★ ★ ★

In order to set up meaningful, worthwhile programs, costly equipment and specialized teachers are needed. In addition, large numbers of students are necessary to operate such programs.

KEEP COST DOWN

"Such programs," said Emerson, "can only be offered in the comprehensive high school to keep the cost per-student down to a reasonable level."

The superintendent pointed to a possible solution to the expense problem. Also, it could mushroom the minor beginnings on vocational education problems into a major movement.

Emerson noted that as recent as last winter a report was submitted to the state superintendent of public instruction calling for area vocational schools.

★ ★ ★

Recommended by a 12-member committee of educators, business and labor people, the report actually revived a 30-year-old idea, he said.

"Nobody has done anything about it."

WIDE AREA

The area schools would be set up in such a way as to draw students from a wide area. This would aid those school districts that are not large enough or wealthy enough to offer extensive vocational education programs.

Financing would be on a similar area-wide basis with state and federal funds sharing the load with local taxpayers.

Emerson said the report further recommends that vocational education instruction be programmed into junior colleges.

★ ★ ★

The superintendent said that the committee, which he chaired, had been asked to draft a state plan for vocational education.

FINISHED REPORT

He could not say to what use the state superintendent might put to the finished report.

Admitting that there was no pat answer to problems raised by vocational education, Emerson did say that recent federal legislation contemplates area schools.

He thought that the preparation courses in high school would be vital to the instruction in such vocational centers. Such preparation, he added, is possible without highly specialized and equipped shops.

Educators have fought two conflicting difficulties in setting up vocational education courses.

TOO HIGH

First, if the qualifications for the courses are too high, the student who attends is college potential and will no doubt go on to college.

Second, if courses are timed at the dropout-level student, there is little real benefit.

The big problem is to resolve the high-and-low aspects of vocational education.

Local interest in vocational education was brought home to Emerson through a budget session with school board delegates.

The Oakland County Superintendents Association suggested the county school board wait a year before employing a consultant. (The school board had decided on a "hold the line" policy on next year's budget.)

★ ★ ★

However, the delegates urged the board to include the item. This the board did, reducing the operating balance by $12,500.

Sewer Tap-In Fee Starts Permit Rush

The establishment of a sewer tap-in fee last month created a $1.4-million rush for permits to build new family dwellings in Pontiac.

For many, however, the rush was in vain. The first tap-in ordinance specified that fees had to be paid when a building permit was issued.

It went into effect March 6. There was a last-minute rush from builders to get permits before the new law became effective, thus avoiding the $150 fee for a single-family dwelling.

There were 75 permits issued for new homes and multiple-housing projects last month, most of them coming in the first week of March, according to Carl F. Alt, city building inspector.

The 75 permits represented new housing valued at $1,452,840.

AMENDED ORDINANCE

About three weeks later, the City Commission amended the tap-in ordinance to make fees due and payable when a plumbing permit is issued.

Many of those who rushed to get building permits hadn't applied for plumbing permits yet and ended up having to pay the tap-in fee after all.

Included in the 75 permits were permits for a proposed 65-unit town house type development on East Pike in the urban renewal area and 62 apartment units on Woodward across from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Multiple-unit developments normally require only one permit. Permits were also issued for 21 new homes in the urban renewal area.

BOOSTED TOTALS

The big rush for housing permits boosted the March totals to 180 permits issued for an estimated $1,604,458 in new construction, the highest for any month so far this year.

There were 80 permits issued for $172,397 in new construction the month before and 108 permits issued for $121,626 in March a year ago.

★ ★ ★

Last month's total also included 69 permits for an estimated $71,000 in residential alterations and repairs, one new commercial building valued at $45,000 and three permits for $14,500 worth of commercial alterations and repairs.

City Police Hold Students in Burglary of Party Store

A score of burglaries, most of them in the Flint area, have been cleared up with the arrest in Pontiac of four Flint Junior College students early today, according to Pontiac police.

The quartet was arrested after police stopped their car at 12:45 a.m. at Auburn and Sanford to question them about a break-in in the Up to Date Market, 330 E. Pike, 20 minutes earlier.

They admitted the burglary, which netted them $5.50 in pennies, and another at the Wilkins Party Store, Pontiac Trail and Orchard Lake, Orchard Lake, earlier in the evening, police said.

On further questioning, three admitted more burglaries in Genesee County, officers said.

Lt. Charles Gale, detective bureau head, said warrants charging the four with breaking and entering in the night time would be sought today.

FIRST TIME

Being held are David E. Moreno, 18; Brian D. Sandburg, 20; Edward A. Christie, 19 and James Toles, 20, all of Flint. Toles said this was the first time he was involved.

Another youth, Robert Rowston, 18, of 2623 Shaddick, Waterford Township, was implicated by the others in some of the Flint burglaries and is being held here for questioning by Flint police. He was taken into custody at his home this morning.

Three other students at the college also were involved, but police have not yet picked them up for questioning.

★ ★ ★

POLICE DISCOVER

In the car, police found bottles of liquor, believed to have been taken from Wilkins, two pry bars and a pair of leather gloves.

★ ★ ★

Among the burglaries were jewelry stores in Flint and Flushing, grocery stores in Flint and Mount Morris, six gas stations and a junior high school in Flint. All were committed in the last three months, they told police.

The four said they decided to break into the Pontiac market and Orchard Lake party store after they had given a ride home from school to Rowston.

Barry Backer Answers Critic

The way Oakland County's top official Goldwater fan sees it, the county's top official Republican was hypocritical when he denounced last week's secret "convention" by other Goldwater fans.

County GOP Chairman Charles L. Lyle has been in on a few secret meetings, himself, charged Robert F. Smith of Royal Oak, chairman of the county's Goldwater Committee.

"The county chairman's complaints about the closed, unpublicized meeting in a smoke-filled room are ridiculous," Smith said today.

"I don't see how he can claim that such meetings went out with Calvin Coolidge when all delegates from the regular convention were chosen in similar closed meetings and the chairman certainly knows it."

State convention delegates approved at the regular county GOP convention in Southfield last Wednesday were actually selected in "small, closed precaucuses led by Lyle-appointed district chairmen, as in previous years," Smith said.

BARRY BACKERS

The secret "rump" convention denounced by Lyle was held in Birmingham by a small group of ultraconservatives—all supporters of U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater for the Republican presidential nomination.

The ultraconservatives gathered after their spokesman, Huntington Woods attorney Larry S. Davidow, walked out of the regular convention protesting it was illegal.

They approved a competing slate of state convention delegates which may produce a fight over credentials at the GOP state convention May 9 in Grand Rapids.

Lyle, who said the party wanted an uncommitted delegation of 161 to the state convention where national delegates will be picked, defended his restrictions as necessary to thwart a plan by Goldwater fans to "take over" the regular convention.

Colombia Vote Causes Delay

Envoy to Cali Is Still Waiting

The man picked to represent Oakland County in the Cali region of Colombia is finding it more than a little embarrassing to still be in Oakland County.

In January John E. Madole was named by a local committee to go to Colombia for one to two years. He had hoped to leave nearly two weeks ago.

After several briefings by the U.S. State Department, Washington has flashed the green light, and local funds have been contributed to finance the expedition.

But still Madole, 46, remains grounded.

★ ★ ★

Madole's mission may have become politically entangled in Colombia as the result of a recent election there.

COORDINATE EFFORTS

He was picked to coordinate efforts of the committee here and a similar committee in Cali to assist the burgeoning region in an orderly development.

The project has been envisioned as a practical approach to the federal government's Alliance for Progress with Latin America by cooperation between two local communities.

The committee in Cali is also supposed to pick its representative to come here and work with the county's committee.

★ ★ ★

In fact, the committee here thought a man already was named in Colombia prior to the election.

Apparently, the election has at least temporarily upset arrangements in Cali. And Madole doesn't want to leave without assurance that arrangements are complete at that end.

The State Department has politely inquired as to what is the holdup in Colombia, and is awaiting a reply, said Madole.

Meanwhile, he is growing more apprehensive.

★ ★ ★

Madole gave up a job as the county's civil defense director to take the appointment. Yesterday the county's civil defense committee was interviewing applicants for Madole's former job.

Now he is wondering if he will have any job at all.

"It's embarrassing when my friends ask me how I like Colombia and I have to tell them I haven't gone yet," said Madole.

CAN'T UNDERSTAND

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the County Board of Supervisors and head of the local Alliance for Progress committee said he can't understand what has happened in Colombia.

"They assured us some time ago that they were ready to move ahead on this thing and were waiting for us to complete our arrangements."

The envoy from Colombia will find his office at the county courthouse auditorium is waiting for him if and when he can make the trip.

Cuban Workers at Gitmo Still Face Ax

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is continuing to reduce sharply the number of Cubans working — but not living — at the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo, it was disclosed today.

The Navy said the last official count showed 1,241 of these Cubans drawing pay as of April 1, compared to 1,800 in February and 2,300 in January before Premier Fidel Castro shut off the local water supply.

"Plans for further action in regard to Cuban employes at Guantanamo are under consideration," the Navy said.

Eventually it is expected that the Navy will dispense entirely, or almost entirely, with the services of Cubans who work at the base but live in Castro-held territory.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson has ordered that the base be made self-sufficient. The Navy reasoned that Castro could also shut off this stream of workers, who arrive and leave daily at the base's main gate.

LIVE ON BASE

Cubans are being encouraged to exile themselves and live on the base, however.

At last count, more than 600 had chosen to leave their homes and remain permanently in Cuban living quarters at the big Caribbean naval installation.

The Navy said the base is still observing water restrictions but that there is an ample supply for necessity.

Storage tanks now contain approximately 15 million gallons of fresh water, with consumption running at 1.5 million gallons a day.

POOLS CLOSED

Normal consumption runs over 2 million gallons a day. The base's eight fresh water swimming pools are still closed.

★ ★ ★

Water is being hauled in by tankers from Port Everglades, Fla. The Navy said that by midsummer the first units of its projected desalting plant will be turning out 750,000 gallons of fresh water a day, with two similar seawater conversion units scheduled for later operation.
