

Peak Auto Sales Bring Glad News to Pontiac Motor

By AL PHILLIPS
Pontiac Motor Division today finds itself in the midst of an auto maker's dream by selling cars almost as fast as they can be assembled.

E. M. Estes, Pontiac general manager, this morning announced that dealers sold 75,110 cars last month, well over the previous monthly high of 62,913 in April 1962.

Sales have been so good in fact, Estes said, dealers now find themselves with a six-day supply of cars on hand where they ordinarily have 30 days' inventory.

October's record-setting sales were also 20 per cent above the same month a year ago when 62,428 cars were put into customers' hands.

Record breaking is also going on at GMC Truck & Coach Division. Calvin J. Werner, general manager, said truck and bus deliveries totaling 9,370 units in October were the highest since 1951 when 9,333 units were delivered.

To top off a long list of records this surpasses, Pontiac Motor can look back to 1926, the year Pontiac made its debut. Some 76,789 units were sold in that 12-month period, only slightly more than Pontiac delivered last month.

that 12-month period, only slightly more than Pontiac delivered last month.

REASON FOR SALES
Estes said the entire 1964 Pontiac line is doing so well it is hard to pinpoint one reason why.

"I can only say it's because of the terrific acceptance by our dealers and the general public."

He stated Pontiac and Tempest models were meeting with proportionate success.

Sales of the full-size cars were 60,275 while Tempest sales reached 14,835.

The sporty new Tempest GTO has been well received, Estes explained, and Grand Prix also continue strong.

Pontiac "will easily go over the top" of $900 million in sales estimated for this calendar year, Estes commented.

He said division sales last month took 9.9 per cent of the domestic market, to give an added boost to the first nine months average of 8.1 per cent of market.

Word Due Thursday Rocky Is Candidate

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
ALBANY, N.Y.—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will announce his candidacy tomorrow for the 1964 Republican presidential nomination and then take off for Nashua, N.H.

"Governor Rockefeller will make a statement of his plan regarding the Republican nomination for presidency" at 8:30 a.m. (Pontiac time) in the executive chambers of the State Capitol, press secretary Robert McManus said.

A later announcement said Rockefeller also would make his statement on network television.

At 9:30 a.m., he will leave by plane for New Hampshire and hold a press conference at Nashua at 11 a.m.

Rockefeller recently visited New Hampshire for a two-day tour. That state will hold the nation's first presidential preference primary of 1964.

Rockefeller all but made his candidacy official during that visit.

HARDER FIGHT
He noted then that he was running well behind Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for the nomination, but said he saw this as reason to fight harder, not "run for cover."

Rockefeller has set up a political office three blocks from the White House to help advance his candidacy for the presidency, the New York Times said today.

Waterford Vetoes Incorporation

Charter Commission
Balloting Becomes Meaningless Contest

By JOE MULLEN
Waterford Township voters issued a mandate for the status quo yesterday as they overwhelmingly rejected the incorporation proposal at the polls.

A total of 9,354 voters, 40.7 per cent of the approximately 23,000 registered electors, cast 7,091 votes against the proposal and 2,124 for it.

By virtue of the defeat of the proposal, the charter commission race was reduced to a popularity contest.

The top nine vote-getters of 21 candidates would have comprised a charter commission to draft a proposed city charter if the incorporation issue passed. Its defeat automatically washed out the commission.

A consensus of opinion by observers is that an underlying fear of higher taxes was the major factor in the proposal's defeat by more than a 3 to 1 margin.

NEGATIVE BLOC
Prediction predictions generally specified a close vote with the outcome a toss-up. Few observers foresaw the massive negative vote bloc that became apparent as early returns trickled in.

Dr. John F. Naz, chairman of the Waterford Citizens Action Committee for incorporation (WCAC), expressed disappointment at the election results. But he indicated that the push for cityhood is not dead.

However, a new petition for an incorporation vote can not be filed for two years.

Dr. Naz said that his group would hold one more meeting in the near future. He did not disclose the purpose of the meeting.

DEFEAT FACTORS
Anxiety over taxes; reluctance to change the status quo and an advertisement by an opposition group in The Press were cited by Dr. Naz as factors in the no vote.

He criticized the half-page advertisement in Monday's Press because he said it was not entirely accurate and because it did not, specifically who paid for it.

Fred Morningstar, chairman of the Save Waterford Township Committee (SWTC), a group opposed to incorporation; said it was particularly important that the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

According to reliable sources, the plant at 366 E. South Blvd., is scheduled to be closed Dec. 1, if it is not sold by then.

Merrill Walls, employment director of the Pontiac Michigan Employment Security Commission office, said he did not yet have complete details of the plant shutdown.

He said his office will begin a study of the shutdown and its effects next week. "We will also use every effort to find employment for the workers here in the area or where their skills are needed."

But Tax Plan Chances Dim

Romney to Seek Dems' Aid

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES
"LANSING — Gov. George Romney said he would turn today to Democrats to push through his fiscal reform bill."

Several key votes yesterday brought indications that chances of him achieving his objectives were all.

"We are going to have basic tax reform unless the Democrats are more interested in playing politics than in supporting the type of basic tax reform they've supported in the past," Romney told newsmen this morning.

Republican Senate leaders, reeling from a double defeat that all but killed the income tax bill yesterday, indicated earlier today they would seek Democratic help.

In the House, meanwhile, Romney's package — with one major change — was headed for floor action after being approved by the GOP caucus in the skintight vote.

But Republican leaders there reaffirmed their off-stated belief that no program containing an income tax could pass without Democratic assistance.

NEED 34 VOTES
A total of 36 votes is needed to pass a bill in the House, and Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, said he hadn't changed his estimate that between 12 and 20 Democratic votes would be needed on the Romney program.

Following the two reversals for the Romney income tax in the Senate, Majority Leader, Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor, said he felt a "coalition with Democrats" would be the only way to end the stalemate.

STILL CONFIDENT
Romney termed the Senate action "somewhat disappointing," but added that he still is confident of action there eventually.

In the Senate, the first defeat for Romney's income tax bill came when the appropriations committee deadlocked, (5-5) on a motion by GOP members to report it out.

The second came when anti-income tax Republicans and Democrats, some of whom also oppose an income tax, beat off an effort by Thayer's so-called GOP "moderates" to amend a bill on the floor by substituting Romney's.

The governor had made a personal visit to a GOP caucus room for the first time in the special session, but to no avail.

Soviet Leader Says Convoy Obeyed Rules

MOSCOW — Premier

Nikita Khrushchev said today that if the American Army had tried to force its latest Berlin convoy through a Soviet blockade it would have had to roll "over our dead bodies" and possibly have triggered war.

The Soviet leader, in an interview, said the Russians agreed this morning to lift a nearly 2-day-old blockade of 44 American soldiers on the German autobahn leading to Berlin only after they obeyed Soviet control procedures.

"It is difficult to say what would have happened if they had not agreed to that procedure," he said.

Mentally Perplexed? Answer These Questions

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — How can you tell if you're normal? There is great interest in mental health today in a world so confused and confusing that everyone at times feels so mixed-up he must be off his rocker.

The chaos is compounded by the amateur prescribers, who feel that having read 10 pages of Sigmund Freud entitles them to turn every cocktail party into a session of group therapy.

This is the kind of person who used to have a cure for the common cold that never worked. Now he feels entitled to dip his clammy hands into your mind and play marbles with your phobias and fears, or separate your ID from your idiosyncrasies.

Perhaps such a person has you convinced you are hopelessly neurotic.

But are you really?

We have prepared a small guide for the mentally perplexed that may be of help to you. Ask yourself the following questions.

Do you, while making a deposit at a bank, often wonder secretly how hard it would be for the place?

Are you convinced that most repairmen are engaged in a conspiracy to rob you blind?

Does the butcher habitually give your neighbor a better piece of meat than he does you?

Are you sometimes terrified by whether you should eat your desert with a fork or a spoon?

Do you often feel that every other shopper in the supermarket is trying to push in front of you in the checkout line?

During an argument with your wife, if male logic fails to impress her, do you find yourself resorting to shouting?

While shaving, do you talk to yourself in the mirror more often than you did 10 years ago?

Do most of the people you interests, such as yoga and judo bore you insufferably?

After paying your income taxes, do you keep looking behind you for the next few days to see if someone is shadowing you?

HONEST MERIT

Do you feel that if honest merit was truly rewarded in this world, you'd be driving a more expensive car?

Do most of the people you talk to seem to get crazier or more oddball every day?

If you answer yes to all these, quit worrying about your mental health. Your mind is as sound as a nut. You are just neurotic enough to be properly adjusted in a world in which a guy who has no suspicions also lacks the common sense to know what's really going on.

Only by being unreasonable now and then can you stay normal in an abnormal time.

Troy Members Told: Vote No on Salary Hike

By ROGER SRIGLEY
TROY — The City Commission last night called the play for its three members on the County Board of Supervisors to use at today's crucial board session.

The commission voted 4-2 to instruct its board delegates to stand united against the proposed $4,000 pay raise for the new chairman of the County Board of Auditors.

Detroit School Millage Passed

By United Press International

The Detroit Board of Education won a smashing victory yesterday when voters unexpectedly approved by a 2-3 margin a special school millage proposal to keep present school budget levels.

The proposal, to continue the present 7.5-mill school tax ($750 per $1,000 of assessed valuation) for another 10 years, was approved 186,872 to 104,632.

Had voters allowed the tax to expire next June 30, the school budget would have been cut by about $40 million, or one-third.

This would have had the drastic effect of cutting as many as 5,000 employees from the schools' payroll. In addition, the loss of revenue would have forced nearly all grades to go on half days or resulted in bulging classrooms.

SURPRISE VICTORY

The size of the victory came as a surprise because school officials had feared a small turnout would jeopardize chances of passage.

The question is will Troy's supervisors, Mayor Robert J. Huber, and Commissioners James F. Carey and Wallace B. Hudson, follow the dictates of the commission or their own consciences?

Mayor Huber has said for him they are one and the same. He is against the raise.

However, Carey and Hudson don't want the commission to tell them how to vote.

Hudson, absent last night, expressed his feelings in a letter read at the session. "We would be seriously in remiss to instruct our supervisors how to vote," the letter read. "I am most strongly against such instruction."

Siding with Carey and Hudson is Mayor Pro Tem Vincent J. McAvoy. On the other side of the fence are Huber and Commissioners Clifford Sutermeister Jr., Glen H. Houghton and Robert J. Barget.

Again last night Huber said he doesn't challenge Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy's qualifications for the position, but he does think the salary is too high.

He maintained that the commission expressed the feeling of the majority of the people and that the commission's appointees to the county board should thus support the commission.

"If you don't want to support the majority of the commission then you should resign," Huber told Carey.

Commissioner Barget, asked City Attorney Stanley Burke if the commission had the legal right to instruct its appointees how to vote.

"Yes," Burke said, "but they have the right to vote as they choose."

"Then we would have the right to look for another member to serve on the board of supervisors," Barget concluded.

Although no vote was taken on other issues, Mayor Huber said he would move to table the appointment of the new board of auditors member today.

He said he would also propose setting up a five-man study committee to search the area for qualified candidates.

Dinner Slated to Aid Church's Building Fund

THOMAS — A turkey dinner will be served tomorrow at the Thomas Community Hall, starting at 5 p.m.

Proceeds will be put into the Thomas Methodist Church building fund.

OCTOGENARIAN FITS IN — Adrian C. Kett, who turned 88 on Halloween, is the oldest student at Calvin College in Grand Rapids. He is taking a course this fall in philosophy, a field in which he had a long time interest.

Avon Board Will Consider Rezoning for Apartments

AVON TOWNSHIP — Confronted with new plans for an apartment complex proposed on Walton, the Township Board will tonight consider rezoning to accommodate the multiple dwellings.

Builder Sidney Weinberger, head of College Park Development Co., has revised his original scheme for construction of six $80,000 eight-family apartment buildings.

Although the township zoning board gave unanimous endorsement to Weinberger's original rezoning request, the builder has submitted supplementary plans for consideration of the township board, which will make the final decision.

Area PTAs Set Events: Open House, Discussions

ROCHESTER — The PTA of North Hill Elementary School will sponsor an open house for parents beginning at 8 p.m. Monday.

Parents will be able to meet with teachers in their classrooms following a brief business meeting, at which School Principal Mrs. Florence Mortimer will introduce faculty members.

Mrs. Mortimer will also give those attending a brief outline of the year's curriculum.

In conjunction with the meeting, second- and third-grade room mothers will sponsor a bake sale.

LAKE ORION — What do you do if your child has televisionitis?

The answers will be given at Monday's meeting of the Blanche Sims PTA, when the question, "What Organizations are Available for Elementary Children?" is discussed.

Beginning at 8 p.m., a panel of speakers will explain to parents what clubs and other groups their children can join. Guests will include Mrs. Ralph Johnson, neighborhood girl scout chairman; Mrs. Pam ela Harrison, field director for camp fire girls; Scotty Hollens, board chairman for the Lake Orion cub scouts; and John Lessiter, president of the Michigan State 4-H Council.

WALLED LAKE — Two Walled Lake Junior high school PTAs will discuss various aspects of curriculum at 8 p.m. meetings tomorrow.

Reading and language skills will be the topic of Dr. Dodd Roberts, director of language arts, Oakland Schools, at the Walled Lake Junior High PTA session.

"Classes, Courses and Clubs" will be the theme of the Clifford H. Smart Junior High PTA meeting.

Students and teachers will present short skits explaining their activities.

Short Course Due Oxford High Parents

OXFORD — Back-to-school bells are ringing for parents of Oxford High School students.

The school term planned is a short one, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Monday.

Under sponsorship of the high school's Parent Planning Group, mother and fathers of students are invited to attend a "day" of 10-minute classes, condensed versions of their children's regular schedules.

After school is over, teachers will be available in their home-rooms for conferences with parents.

Questionnaires will be distributed to those attending, to be filled out and returned to the school. They will deal with extracurricular activities.

Results of the informal poll will be discussed at the parents' night meeting in January.

Golden Anniversary Will Be Celebrated

ALMONT — Mr. and Mrs. Paul Blumerick, 6489 General Squier, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary at an open house Sunday in the education building of the First Congregational Church.

Relatives, friends and neighbors are invited to attend the affair from 2 to 5 p.m. The Blumericks have a daughter and four grandchildren.

Firm to Study Lake in Area

To Check Wolverine Renovation Possibility

WOLVERINE LAKE — A feasibility study on the renovation of Wolverine Lake will be made by a private engineering firm, it was announced today.

Edward Thompson, president of the Wolverine Lake Rehabilitation Association, said that a contract has been signed with John R. Snell Engineering of Lansing for the lake study.

The contract is between the engineering firm and the association, which represents about 220 families.

Thompson said the study would be completed by April 1, 1964. He added that the results would be turned over to Oakland County Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry.

BARRY ACTION

"It will be up to him to carry the ball then," Thompson commented.

He said the county had a feasibility study made by a Birmingham firm that reported the renovation project would cost nearly $1 million.

"We have high hopes of cutting this figure in half," the Wolverine Lake man said.

Since the village's lake improvement fund was exhausted by the initial survey, the second study is being financed directly from the pockets of Wolverine Lake residents.

Thompson declined to give a figure on the costs of the study. He did say that 220 families contributed to the costs of the study.

Past Officers to Be Feted

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Department Commander C. Oscar Hammond will be guest of honor Saturday when the Post No. 145 of the American Legion fetes past commanders and presidents at its annual banquet.

William Plummer, past 18th District commander and present vice-commander, will act as toastmaster at the event in the Auburn Heights Post Home.

Dinner will be served by the Ladies Auxiliary at 6:30 p.m., followed by an evening of dancing.

Other honored guests include Rosco V. Crowell, principal of Avondale High School, and delegates to Wolverine Boys and Girls State.

Conditions on M218 Draw Council Fire

WALLED LAKE — The City Council agreed last night to officially protest conditions on newly constructed M218.

Letters of protest will be sent the State Highway Department and the Oakland County Road Commission.

Police Chief James A. Decker has complained of traffic hazards along the new highway.

PRESENT FORM

The council's letter will question whether the county wants to take the road over in its present form. The highway is due to be turned over to the county's jurisdiction.

The council also confirmed the appointment of Mrs. Ellen VanHorn of Keego Harbor as deputy clerk-treasurer at an annual salary of $4,000.

In other business, Manager Frank C. Derby presented the 1963 winter tax for county and schools. The total levy is $27.70.

Derby said the city is merely a collecting agency for county and school taxes. He said tax bills would go in the mail Dec. 1.

Detroit Exec Speaks at 4-H Conference

"Growing economic and marketing pressures on American agriculture can only be withstood by developing farmers who understand the concepts of sound business management and agricultural concepts."

This is the belief expressed by L. H. Pomeroy, vice president of marketing, Massey-Ferguson, Inc., Detroit, in Washington, D. C., Monday night.

He was speaking at a dinner which highlighted the annual conference of the National Association of 4-H County Agents.

Oakland County 4-H agent, Jack Worthington is attending the session that runs through tomorrow.

"Our farmers must be as much at ease with financial and accounting techniques as they are with complex machinery

Arraigned on Charge of Manslaughter

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — Placido D. Workman, 47, stood mute yesterday when arraigned on a manslaughter charge in the shotgun slaying of a distant relative early Sunday.

Workman was held on $10,000 bond. Macomb County Justice Francis A. Castellucci set his examination for Nov. 15.

Sheriff's deputies said James R. Miller, 39, was killed by a blast from an shotgun following a party in an apartment the two men shared. It is at 4351 Auburn, attached to the Sunset Grocery Store.

DRINKING PARTY

The shooting climaxed a five-hour drinking party and wrestling match for the gun, which Workman brought out to clear the house of more than a dozen relatives and guests.

Workman told police he clubbed Miller with the muzzle of the double-barreled shotgun when it went off, a blast hitting Miller in the throat.

Workman said Miller came toward him with a full bottle of beer in each hand after threatening "to get me."

and equipment that was unknown 30 years ago," Pomeroy said.

He emphasized the need for farmers to understand money markets and sources of capital.

"Capital has become agriculture's main energizing force and the modern farmer must not only know, as must any businessman, how and where to get capital, he must also know how to use it efficiently, effectively and profitably," Pomeroy said.

He said that the future success of American agriculture and the solution to many of its marketing problems "depend on the skilled farm managers that you will help train."

Farming today is "a competitive business enterprise and the farmer who does not think of himself as a businessman first and a farmer second will not survive as a successful producer and marketer of food and fiber," said the farm machinery company official.

He pointed out that "many of agriculture's traditional products are, in the consumer's mind, targets for change." He added that in some agricultural areas "too much effort is being directed to maintaining the status quo."

"This is being done in defiance of growing competitive pressures from new and better products," Pomeroy said.

MOMS Unit Slates Dinner

AUBURN HEIGHTS — MOMS of America, Unit 19, is sponsoring its annual harvest supper Saturday at the Boy's Club building, formerly the Community Club.

Serving of full course ham and turkey dinners will be from 5 to 7:30 p.m.

Proceeds will be used to provide Christmas gifts for men in service and veterans in hospitals as well as to help needy veterans' families.

Spy Charge Before Jury

NEWARK, N. J. (UPI) — The government's case against two men accused of conspiring to spy for the Soviet Union will be presented today to a Federal Grand Jury.

Both John W. Butenko, 38, of Orange, N. J., and Igor A. Ivanov, 34, a Russian who worked as a chauffeur for the Russian trading agency Amberg in New York, have been held in Hudson County Jail without bail since their arrest Oct. 29.

In Newark Monday, Federal Court Judge Thomas F. Meany denied a motion by their attorneys that bail be set.

The attorneys immediately filed an appeal with the U.S. Third Circuit Court of Appeals in Philadelphia.

A hearing on the appeal will be heard tomorrow by Judges Austin R. Slaley, William H. Hastie and William F. Smith.

Dem Boss' Son to Be Arraigned on Fraud Charge

CHICAGO (AP) — Erwin B. Arvey, 46, son of a Democratic party leader, faces arraignment in U. S. District Court in St. Louis Nov. 18 on a charge of transporting fraudulent securities across state lines.

FBI agents arrested Arvey last week on an indictment charging him with carrying fraudulent bonds with a face value of $200,000 from New York to St. Louis. He also is charged with taking worthless bonds from Chicago to Los Angeles and using them as collateral for a loan.

Arvey, son of Jacob Arvey, Democratic national committeeman from Illinois, is free on $10,000 bond.

Grand Rapids Exec Accused of Lying

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — A pair of city commissioners yesterday accused Mayor Stanley J. Davis of lying about expense accounts he turned in for a trip this summer to a mayor's convention in Texas.

Commissioners Robert Jarno and Leonard Anderson said Davis failed to "properly account" for a $2,400 expense statement he turned in for several trips he made.

The three-member finance committee of Anderson, Jarno and Bernard S. Barto refused to pay the bills.

Davis, who was absent when the charge was made, called the act "a political hatch job and nothing else." He said the city owes him $142 for expenses he paid from his own pocket.

"I'll put my expense account up against any other mayor's in a city this size," he said.

Is Nixon 'a Sleeper' for GOP Nomination?

A favorite pastime of politicians and political parties is that of figuratively burying the opposition. Political history is replete with such gratuitous internment. It is also replete with instances of the one laid to rest in due course to haunt those who had presided at the burial.

Currently, after the third burial of Richard M. Nixon, his ghost is showing signs of restlessness and seems about to abandon the crypt.

The first demise of Nixon was announced on discovery that, though he lost to President Kennedy by a paper-thin margin, he had revealed fatal weaknesses as a campaigner on TV, the medium to which candidates henceforth must entrust their fate.

He was entombed the second time following his defeat for Governor of California. And a third requiem was said over him after the news conference at which Nixon attributed his defeat in part to unfair reporting of his campaign by the press.

The first notable exhibition of a politician's resurrection was furnished by William Jennings Bryan. After being twice defeated for president by William McKinley and leading political oracles to proclaim that both he and the Democratic Party were dead, the Nebraska "corpse" confounded one and all by winning a third nomination in 1908.

Moreover, the presence of Democrats in the White House for 20 of the 40 years beginning with 1913 would indicate that the party's obituary was a bit premature. And giving support to the spiritual exhortation that a man may be down but he's never out was ADLAI STEVENSON's second nomination in 1956 after he'd taken a resounding licking four years before.

Democrats have also acted as pallbearers for the Republican party, only to find that the deceased had walked away from its own funeral. This political miracle occurred in the Congressional elections in 1938, two years after Franklin D. Roosevelt carried every state except Maine and Vermont and correlatively reduced Capitol Republicans to the size of a corporal's guard.

Wouldn't it be a joke if it turned out that the reports of Nixon's death, like Mark Twain's, have been greatly exaggerated?

Automation Invading Literary Competition

The first book to be written by a computer is soon to be placed on the market. In fact, it was written by a number of computers working 40 hours, nonstop.

The "Science Citation Index," an up-to-date listing of scientific literature, contains more than five miles of computer tape representing two and a quarter million lines in five volumes.

Human authors take note: This computer-written opus will sell for $500 a set. Not bad for a first opus by a computer—to say nothing of the movie rights.

School Board Revives Junior College Plan

"...to be or not to be?" This question will again be put to voters on the long-standing proposal of a community college.

The County school board has cranked up its campaign machinery to garner backing for the two-year institution, which, incidentally, will offer both college preparatory courses and terminal vocational and technical instruction.

The Press favored the college proposals last June. It still does.

However, an effective campaign to assure voters of the college's true goals — post-high school education for every youngster regardless of his aim in life — is necessary.

Since the margin of defeat was narrow enough to warrant a second try, the revived citizens committee may anticipate a favorable response once voters can visualize the goal.

Aid Is Handled Like Math Class

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—It's like a gloomy class in arithmetic: subtract, add a little, subtract.

This is the way Congress handles foreign aid, as it did in the past and is doing now. One thing is sure: The President gets less than he asked.

Hostility to the program grows yearly, in and out of Congress, as it has since it started in 1947.

Last January, Kennedy asked $4.9 billion, or almost as much as the year before.

Then the Clay committee came in with its report which seemed to suggest, although this got confused, that Kennedy could do with $4.4 billion.

One of the most constant critics of foreign aid in Congress met this suggestion with some derision. This was Rep. Otto Passman, D-La. He said that the committee suggestion was "absolutely meaningless."

He observed that Congress "cuts the President's foreign aid request an average of $1 billion each year" anyway.

Kennedy, repeatedly quick to compromise when he runs into trouble in Congress, compromised.

On Aug. 25 House Republicans and Southern Democrats made Passman a good present by voting only $3.5 billion.

Kennedy, as he has before when his own Democrats teamed up with Republicans to give him a drubbing, denounced the Republicans and called the House action "shortsighted, irresponsible, and dangerously partisan."

Even Clay came to his rescue and said such a cut could "badly damage the U.S. position in the free world."

This criticism, in view of what followed, may have taken some of the economy out of the Republicans' hands, besides some outright opposition, there is a chilling coldness in the Senate to foreign aid.

The State Foreign Relations Committee, made up of Democrats and Republicans, rejected the House figure of $3.5 billion.

It then decided on $4.2 billion, which is $300 million less than Kennedy asked but $700 million more than the House thought right.

But then the committee's bill went up to the full Senate floor where a fight has been going on for days to chop the committee's figure.

Finally Democrats and Republican leaders got together and decided that what the House approved was too little but what Kennedy and the Foreign Relations Committee suggested was too much.

So the two parties' leaders said foreign aid should be $3.8 billion.

The fight goes on, the Senate hasn't voted. If it votes more than the House, there will be to be the inevitable compromise.

But when all that's finished, this will be just the authorization, or top-limit figure, on foreign aid.

Then the two houses will have to vote the actual money to be spent in an appropriation bill. And, like last year, it may be $1 billion less than Kennedy wanted, which will mean even a smaller total than last year.

That Breath-Holding Is Wearing Thin

David Lawrence Says:

Rocky Will Gain by Candidacy

WASHINGTON—Gov. Rockefeller has everything to gain and nothing to lose by declaring himself a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Whether or not he is successful in getting the nomination in 1964, the lessons of national politics would seem to indicate that anyone prominent enough to try for the nomination in 1964 is likely to try again in 1968 if his own party should lose.

But there's another reason why Rockefeller probably has decided to make an active campaign irrespective of whether he is likely to win.

It is that for several months now, his candidacy has been frowned upon by many women voters. Previously, he was easily the front runner. The explanation of his drop in popularity usually given is the fact that he was divorced and then almost immediately afterward remarried.

What was he to do? Should he abandon national politics, or should he express himself unequivocally on public questions and issues and let the American people judge whether he is capable enough to be their president, thus subordinating personal issues?

From Rockefeller's standpoint, the latter thesis makes sense, because to abandon the campaign for the nomination might imply that he accepted certain aspects of the situation as controlling and that he felt the electorate would not judge him fairly on his actual qualifications to handle the presidency.

VIEWED DIFFERENTLY

But whether he has made a political mistake on the personal side is something that might be viewed differently in 1968 than 1964, especially if someone else is nominated this time and doesn't make a good race and if the issues four years later turn toward those on which Rockefeller will have made an effective exposition. Time often heals many a political ailment.

While Rockefeller's strategy can therefore be analyzed as logical from his own standpoint, the biggest error he has made—one which may really cost him the nomination in 1964—is the position he has taken on public issues.

He recently said, in effect, that under the Goldwater plan any other aspirant is willing to run on a platform that suits the New York governor, he may not support the national ticket.

The voters comment a man who hands on principle, but they don't like to see one of the leaders of a party assume what seems to be an all-or-nothing attitude.

If the course is persisted in and the Republicans lose, it could doom a Rockefeller candidacy in 1968, as he would then be regarded as the man who wrecked the Republican party's chances and made easy the reelection of John F. Kennedy.

Theoretically, the Republican party, in choosing a nominee and adopting a platform, operates on a representative basis. If the national party convention makes a decision, it is customary for defeated aspirants to accept the verdict in good sportsmanship and campaign for the successful nominee.

Sooner or later, Gov. Rockefeller will doubtless state clearly whether he will accept the judgment of the convention on the platform and nominee.

His speeches prior to the national convention advocating particular reforms or changes in governmental policy will receive much more dispassionate consideration inside his own party if he announces that he will support the national ticket.

Napoleon Also Traded Wheat With His Rivals

WASHINGTON—Harry Storms, resident historian of the Press Box, part of New York's famed

Steak Row in the neighborhood of the old New York Mirror, reminds me that Winston Churchill once said something to the effect that "he mortgages his future who forgets the lessons of the past."

With that he sends me an interesting extract from "The Age of Napoleon" that relates to the U.S. wheat deal with Russia, the enemy who is causing us to spend more than $50 billion a year for arms:

"The British government has made it a practice to issue licenses to neutral ships and even to ships belonging to Napoleon's inactive allies and such as Russia and Prussia—for the purpose of exporting British manufactured goods."

"The number of licenses thus issued rose from 2,000 in 1807 to 18,000 in 1810."

This practice afforded some relief to British manufacturers but was highly unpopular with British shipping interests which saw the carrying trade gradually transferred to neutral nations.

"Napoleon inaugurated a somewhat similar system in 1809 to stimulate French exports. In the following year he even permitted the import of certain British colonial goods, such as sugar and coffee, provided manufactured goods of equivalent value were exported by the same carriers."

NO EFFORT

"Even stranger, Napoleon made no effort to prevent the export of wheat from France and allied countries to England, and in 1810 he saved England from the famine that was threatening after two successive harvest failures."

"His motives were not philanthropic but mercantilistic; the English had to pay in specie for the continental grain, and the ships that carried the grain to England had to return empty."

"Thus, by supplying England with food, he produced an adverse effect on her balance of trade and reduced her already dwindling reserves of bullion."

"This, he figured, (perhaps not incorrectly) would work greater hardships on the British ruling classes than the spectacle of a few hundred thousand peasants and proletarians suffering and dying of hunger."

"The number of licenses thus issued rose from 2,000 in 1807 to 18,000 in 1810."

This practice afforded some relief to British manufacturers but was highly unpopular with British shipping interests which saw the carrying trade gradually transferred to neutral nations.

"Napoleon inaugurated a somewhat similar system in 1809 to stimulate French exports. In the following year he even permitted the import of certain British colonial goods, such as sugar and coffee, provided manufactured goods of equivalent value were exported by the same carriers."

his future who forgets the lessons of the past."

With that he sends me an interesting extract from "The Age of Napoleon" that relates to the U.S. wheat deal with Russia, the enemy who is causing us to spend more than $50 billion a year for arms:

"The British government has made it a practice to issue licenses to neutral ships and even to ships belonging to Napoleon's inactive allies and such as Russia and Prussia—for the purpose of exporting British manufactured goods."

"The number of licenses thus issued rose from 2,000 in 1807 to 18,000 in 1810."

This practice afforded some relief to British manufacturers but was highly unpopular with British shipping interests which saw the carrying trade gradually transferred to neutral nations.

Voice of the People:

'Killing-in Some Form-Necessary to Existence'

"Live and Let Live" surely has a myopic view of Christianity! To eat meat, fish, poultry, etc., killing is present. Lamb chops, steak and hot dogs don't grow on trees. To eat any form of plant life—vegetables, fruit, etc., killing of a sort is present. To manufacture paper, shoes, leather, etc., trees and animals must be killed.

The writer is against killing in any form, yet firmly suggests "Vent your murderous instincts on your brothers in crime."

His type of thinking has me worried.

Writes About 'Back Yard Justice'

I see "Disputed" wrote in The Pontiac Press about "back yard justice." I wonder if everyone knows how much organized back yard justice has started. The police department does a wonderful job, but the bad handling of the culprits the voters must correct.

Club President Views Planner's Letter

The letter of "Robert C. Dieball-Waterford Township Planner" in Saturday's YOP, was obviously for the purpose of making political hay at the expense of a club that made an honest effort to bring a qualified speaker to some of the Waterford voters.

I do not question Mr. Dieball's intelligence, consequently I must question his motive. Mr. Dieball says he questions why Dr. Louis Friedland was not allowed to express what would be deemed "opinion." Mr. Dieball stated that he "was led to believe" Dr. Friedland was to present unbiased facts. This is precisely what Dr. Friedland was retained to do and obviously Mr. Dieball answered his own question. The club's position of trying to present an impartial meeting was stated at the beginning of the meeting and Mr. Dieball's command of the English language was sufficient to understand this. It is inexcusable for Mr. Dieball to use, for purpose of ridicule, the name of his office, that all taxpayers must support.

'Court Wrong in Taking Children'

With reference to the article Oct. 30, why has the court waited until Miss Williams had 16 or 17 children to do something? It's impossible to raise a family on the $25,000 she received over a period of 13 years (less than $2,000 a year). The tightwads should have given her three times that.

This poor woman has suffered a lot and has raised them this many years. The people should see that the children are returned to her and she should be appointed mother of the year.

I think the court or persons involved in this dirty trick ought to be prosecuted instead of her.

'Smoke-Filled Road Distorts Vision'

Isn't there an ordinance in Waterford prohibiting left burning where the smoke is blown into the road in the path of cars? I've driven through several and it blocks out more view than fog. People should be more considerate and burn leaves away from the roads or burn them when the wind is going in another direction.

Not Prayer

Some school children were busily engaged on their knees on the floor. The teacher entered, and asked, "What are you doing?" One little fellow explained, "We're shooting craps." "Thank heavens," retorted the teacher, "for a moment I thought you were praying."

Struggle Intensified

The Atlantic Monthly

With this session of Congress approaching its final weeks it is clear that the struggle for power between the President and Congress has been intensified and the reputation of neither endures. Although the overwhelming majority of the members of the House and Senate belong to the President's party, the battle has gone on almost as if they were opposition.

Congress listens intently to the most vocal elements at the grass roots and is much more inclined to exploit the fears and frustrations of the people than the Executive is. With the strong conservative feeling in the country, best expressed in the Goldwater boom, and with the apprehensions aroused by the civil rights struggle, the conflict is likely to grow.

The President has been unimpaired in any sense of legislative leadership. The result has been a lengthy and disheartening exhibit of delay and half measures. Of the several hundred presidential proposals sent to Capitol Hill this year, only a handful have been acted upon. The all-important tax bill still faces uncertainties.

We seldom fully appreciate how confidence abroad in the American system is undermined by congressional indecisiveness and the inability of a President to win approval of his programs. The high promises of the Kennedy campaign, when he pledged a daring, energetic, and innovative presidency, have been blunted by successive congressional battles and the adjustments that Congress has exacted. Too often the initiative has been taken from the President as he has seemed to give way rather easily to reconciliation.

of obstruction on Capitol Hill. Most surprising of all has been his unwillingness to go over the heads of the congressmen in direct appeals to the people. His addresses to joint sessions of Congress and his radio-television reports to the people have been disturbingly infrequent.

The polls indicate the President's personal popularity is higher than that of his Administration. He has succeeded in selling himself as an individual; he has not succeeded in selling his program either to the people or to Congress. This is a weakness that could be fatal to his reputation in the eyes of history.

Criticism of Powell has been frequent, although he is one of only two ordained ministers in the congress. He has denied under oath taking kickbacks from his congressional secretaries, and he has had numerous brushes with the Internal Revenue Service. His third wife, who lives in Puerto Rico, is on his house office payroll at $12,974 a year.

But perhaps the most numerous complaints against Powell have been aimed at his indiscretions, where he has attended all the night spots of the European capitals.

Catholic Church Suffers Under Harsh Czech Regime

By HANS BENEDICT

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (AP) — Under the pulpit in Prague's St. Vitus Cathedral, a lonely woman kneels in silent prayer.

A tourist guide, his voice echoing through the near empty nave, points out the 600-year-old Gothic splendor to a group of visiting Russians. One lights a cigarette in studied boredom.

An old priest shuffles about in the shadows.

The pulpit is closed by an iron grill with a rusty lock. It has been empty nearly 14 years. The last to preach from it was the Most Rev. Josef Beran, archbishop of Prague and Roman Catholic primate of Czechoslovakia.

ARRESTED IN CHURCH

Communists took over Czechoslovakia in 1948. On a Sunday in June 1949, Archbishop Beran preached from his pulpit that "there is but one ruler above us—God." He was arrested on the spot.

The regime released the 75-year-old archbishop last month. Officially a free man, he is still barred from resuming office. Defiant and in indomitable spirits, Archbishop Beran now awaits the outcome of negotiations between the regime and the Vatican. He lives in a Catholic old-age home in the nearby village of Mukarov. On Sundays he celebrates Mass on a tiny altar flanked by wooden statues of Holy Mary and St. Joseph and covered with coarse linen.

His way from the gilded mag-nificance of St. Vitus, through police interrogation and solitary confinement to the little house in Mukarov symbolizes the course of Czechoslovakia's Catholic Church.

Places of worship throughout the country, save a few still serving as cultural showpieces, are disappated. Many have been closed. The clergy, robbed of revenues since all church property was socialized, lacks funds for repairs. Parochial schools were shut down long ago.

Officially, parents are free to send their children to religious lessons but few do. "I would lose my job if I let my boy go to the priest," a Prague factory worker said.

Of the country's 7,000 Catholic priests before the Communist takeover, less than half are allowed to practice their vocation. The others are believed to be in jail or to have taken jobs in factories or collective farms. The number of monasteries and convents was cut from over 1,000 to about 100, most of them serving as old-age homes.

All 14 bishoprics are vacant. The bishops were jailed without exception and sentenced to long prison terms on charges ranging from sabotage and espionage to "antistate activities." Although freed since, the prelates are still barred from their sees except for three who head bishoprics in Slovakia, a part of the country whose ethnic minority is predominantly Catholic. The Protestants, concentrated mainly in Moravia and the western part of Czechoslovakia, are relatively better off than the Catholics. With the help of Protestant officials holding influential positions in the economy, they managed to work out a kind of truce with the regime on a live-and-let-live basis.

Church-state negotiations entered by the Vatican under Pope John XXIII were resumed by Pope Paul VI within the over-

Six Senators Seek Aid for North Areas

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has been asked to create a federal-state regional commission to help bring prosperity to the northern areas of Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota, it was reported today.

The request was made in a joint letter from six Senators — Pat McNamara and Philip A. Hart of Michigan, William Proxmire and Gaylord Nelson of Wisconsin, and Hubert H. Humphrey and Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota, all Democrats.

Copies of their Oct. 24 letter to Kennedy were released today.

The unemployment rate in their areas usually ranges around twice the national average despite valiant efforts by the federal government, state agencies and local communities to remedy the situation, the Senators said in explaining their appeal to Kennedy.

Junior Editors Quiz on WHALES

QUESTION: Why isn't a whale considered a fish?

ANSWER: Both fish and whales live in the water. With their smooth streamlined bodies, flippers or fins and tails, fish and whales have so many outward points of similarity that even such a famous whaling student as Herman Melville, in his book "Moby Dick," insisted that whales were really a kind of fish.

But we know today that whales are not fish, but belong to the great animal group called "mammals." A fish breathe air by straining it from the water, through his gills.

But a whale breathe air directly through his nostrils. He would die, like other mammals, if he remained under water to long.

When he dives down, a whale closes his nostrils tight and has an arrangement for holding his breath a long time.

Even then he must come to the surface regularly for new air. In the coldblooded fish, the temperature of their blood changes with the water temperature.

But the warm-blooded whale's temperature remains the same. Little fish hatch from eggs; but whale babies are born alive and are nourished on their mother's milk, like other mammals.

Notice the difference in tails—the fish tail goes up and down, the whales tail, or fluke, is set across.

FOR YOU TO DO: Compare the skeletons, shown in black in main picture. Both have backbones, but the whale has special ribs to enclose his lungs. Notice that the bones inside the whale's flipper are arranged like fingers. Once he lived on-land-and-walked on legs. There are tiny bits of bone which show where his back legs were.

Cuba Kills 'CIA Agents'

HAVANA (AP)—Two Cubans claimed to have been recruited by the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency for a mission of espionage, sabotage and subversion have been killed, the Cuban press reported Tuesday night.

Juan Armestoy Rodriguez, one of the alleged agents, was killed by police several days ago, the announcement said. Two companions, Francisco Duenas Landin, a native of Perico in Matanzas Province, and Genaro Rios Perez of Jovellanos were captured, the report continued.

Duenas Landin was executed by a firing squad Monday, the report said. Rios Perez was given a 30-year sentence.

Officials said Armestoy was sent on at least four missions to Cuba by the CIA.

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—An American-owned refinery operated on oil reserves today after terrorists sabotaged its twin pipelines to Lake Maracaibo in an attempt to shut it down.

A blast knocked out the second of the two pipelines Tuesday as workmen were beginning repairs on a companion line blown up the previous day.

It was the seventh and eighth time the pipes were sabotaged. The pro-Communist Armed Forces for National Liberation were blamed for the attacks.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Thirty-seven nations have asked the United Nations to launch a 10-year drive costing $1.9 billion to teach 330 million men, women and children how to read and write. Countries where illiteracy ranges as high as 90 per cent would assume the major share of the cost.

About 86 per cent of the farm families in Formosa own the land they till, and rice production per acre has been doubled since 1948.

Economic Aides Say 'Quality' Laws to Mean Higher Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

PRICE WARNING: President Kennedy's top economic advisers have warned that consumers face higher prices if Congress passes "quality stabilization" legislation.

A bill passed by the House

Commerce Committee and pending before the Rules Committee would allow manufacturers of trade-marked merchandise to set a minimum retail price.

"With price competition eliminated, manufacturers would tend to set uniform prices at or near—or in some cases above—the top of the present range," the council said Tuesday in an analysis, which had been asked by the Senate-House Economic Committee.

ATOM COSTS: The Atomic Energy Commission isn't saying if a drop in operating costs for developing nuclear weapons means a cut-back in weapons production.

The AEC announced Tuesday that it spent nearly $697 million for such work in the fiscal year that ended last June 30. This represented a drop of some $9 million from fiscal 1962 when such costs were nearly $706 million.

Costs had risen steadily from the $250 million in fiscal 1954, the first year figures were released publicly, until 1962.

In its financial report for fiscal 1963, the AEC listed total operating costs at $2,713,207,000 compared with $2,895,936,000 the previous year. Weapons development took the biggest slice—nearly 26 per cent.

BROKEN MIRROR: A mirror in the White House Red Room was shattered Tuesday by a visitor who tossed an urn at it.

The visitor, Rodrigo Garcia Canizares, 27, who said he was a native of Cuba but came to the United States via Mexico, was sent to District of Columbia

General Hospital for mental ob-

White House officials said that replaceable. The frame, which son administration (1828-1837), the glass in the mirror is easily dates back to the Andrew Jack, was not damaged.

Senate Backers of Foreign Aid Find Both Parties Split on Bill

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has demonstrated that President Kennedy's foreign-aid program has an almost equal number of enemies and friends in both political parties.

By a seaway 43-40 vote the Senate turned back Tuesday a challenge by Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., against a bipartisan compromise worked out last week by Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen. Sensing the hostility against the program, Mansfield and Dirksen proposed to cut an authorization bill back from the $4.2-billion ceiling approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to $3.8 billion. Ellender asked for an additional reduction of $75 million.

The dire current plight of the program was illustrated by the fact that if there hadn't been some fast footwork by the leaders, Ellender would have won. The Louisiana senator has been proposing foreign-aid cuts for years without coming within hailing distance of a majority.

BEG FOR VOTES

Faced with defeat, administration lieutenants went begging for help among senators who ordinarily support the President but had gone against the Mansfield-Dirksen compromise he was resigned to accepting.

Sen. Claiborne Pell, D-R.I., switched his vote on the Ellender amendment from yes to no. Sens. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., and Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., found it convenient to withdraw their support and to pair themselves with absent opponents of the amendment. The pairing device is used to record the position of senators, one or both of whom may be absent, without influencing the roll-call result. The three changes converted a 43-42 victory for Ellender into a 43-40 defeat. On that test, the Democrats split 29 to 28 and the Republicans 14 to 12, with the majority of each party opposing the amendment. To emphasize the touch-and-go nature of the proceedings, the Senate then turned around and adopted, 42 to 40, an amendment by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore. It cut $25 million off development loan funds and rescinded previous authority to continue this program for the next two years.

This represented an expression of the majority's opinion that there had better be an extensive overhauling of the foreign-aid program next year, or else. On this test the Democrats wound up deadlocked, 29 to 29.

The Republicans voted 13 to 11 in favor of the Morse proposal. Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and floor manager for the bill, told newsmen the program is in very serious trouble. He said he thought the new cut was unfortunate and shortsighted. Morse, in a separate interview, predicted that there will be other and deeper cuts. The foreign-aid debate is expected to continue far into next week.

Allies Criticize Grain Shipping

Hit Stipulation That U.S. Boats Be Used

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The proposed shipping of $250 million in American surplus wheat to the Soviet Union is drawing fire from an unexpected quarter — the United States maritime allies.

A dozen leading maritime nations are expected to protest jointly against President Kennedy's insistence that U.S. vessels get preference in transporting the wheat to Russian ports.

Some of the nations, led by Norway, already have protested individually to the State Department. They argue that the America-first policy is a breach of customary practice in a purely commercial deal.

Besides Norway, those said to be prepared to issue a joint challenge this week are Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Spain, Greece, Belgium, Denmark, The Netherlands and Sweden. Although still undecided, Japan may also join in the protest.

CHARGE MORE When he approved the wheat transaction Oct. 9, the President stipulated that the wheat should move in American vessels whenever available. American ships charge $26 a ton to carry wheat to Russia, compared to the foreign rate of $13 a ton.

The Russians are balking at paying the higher American rate. U.S. officials said negotiations are continuing in an atmosphere of "hard commercial bargaining on both sides."

To try to break the apparent impasse, U.S. officials were understood to have proposed a deal under which only about 20 to 30 per cent of the $250 million in wheat would move in American ships at a top price of about $18 a ton. The Russians have not responded to this proposal yet.

Catholic Archbishop Dies; Oldest in World

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI)—Dr. Daniel Mannix, 99, Roman Catholic Archbishop of Melbourne, died yesterday. He had been the oldest Catholic archbishop in the world.

Dr. Mannix, who was archbishop here 46 years, collapsed Monday at his home. Doctors said he had been suffering from cerebral anemia.

It costs an average of $1.05 a day to feed a member of the U.S. armed forces, according to Maj. Gen. Thomas B. Evans, head of the Defense Subsistence Supply Center.

WOMEN'S SECTION

Women Work to Fill Need

EDITOR'S NOTE — About 24 million women today work outside the home. Historically, they have filled many of the lowest paid jobs in industry and the service occupations. Is it any better now? This second in a four-part series on the recent report of the President's Commission on the Status of Women takes up the problems of the working woman.

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

WASHINGTON — If America's working women were to be like their critics and stay home where they're so often told they belong, it would mean absenteeism for one-third of the country's labor force.

From a feminine point of view, the resultant chaos would be delicious to behold — if women were a vindictive sex.

Just picture it: Executives accustomed to a battery of secretaries trying to hunt-and-peck their own letters. Department stores frantically deploying male personnel to strategic sales centers. Men teachers taking over classes of the defecting schoolmarms and smiling gamely—the first day.

Fortunately for the nation, the frequently discriminated against, often underpaid, women employee needs to work as much as she is needed to work.

ONE IN THREE WORK

The recent report of the President's Commission on the Status of Women says: "Among the great majority of women, as among the great majority of men, the motive for paid employment is to earn money. For some, work has additional—or even primary—value as self-fulfillment."

Millions of women work to support their families entirely or to supplement their husbands' income so their families can do more than merely exist. One in three married women is working; among newwives, it's one in two.

WOMEN EARN LESS

The commission's report points out that although women are represented in the highly paid professions, most women's jobs in government, industry and business are in the low-paid fields.

That's one reason that earnings of full-time women workers average only about 60 per cent of men's. Another is that women are often paid less than men for the same work.

Simply because they're women, opportunities for training and advancement are frequently denied women. The commission discovered that although women constitute one-third of the work force, expenditures for on-the-job training are divided into one-tenth for women workers and nine-tenths for men.

GOT RESULTS

Tackling the problem of discrimination from all angles—and even before its report was issued—the commission requested and got:

1. A directive from the U.S. Employment Service instructing its public employment offices across the country to refer applicants on the basis of qualifications, regardless of sex, and to request employers using the offices to avoid job orders specifying sex except where genuine ly warranted.

2. A Presidential directive instructing federal agencies to make all selections for appointments, advancements and training in the federal service without regard to sex, except in unusual circumstances found justified by the Civil Service Commission.

3. Removal of the Defense Department of specific statutory limitations on the number of women in uniform who can become to top brass.

EQUALITY ENCOURAGED

What is left to be done? For one thing, the commission would like an executive order that:

A. States the principle of equal opportunity for women in hiring, training and promotion, and

B. Applies it to work done under federal contracts (about 20 per cent of women workers).

That done, the commission wants action taken to encourage employers who don't have government contracts to follow the leader and give equal treatment to women.

Then there are all those women (and men) working in hotels, motels, restaurants, laundries and many retail outlets; in agriculture and in non-profit organizations who aren't covered by federal or state wage and hour laws.

Consequently, coverage by the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act should be broadened to take under its wing the millions of low-paid workers who most need its protection, says the commission.

Hat Fashion Show at Membership Tea

"Parade des Chapeaux" a hat fashion show, highlighted the annual membership tea of the Sisterhood of Congregation B'nai Israel Tuesday afternoon at the synagogue.

Models included Mrs. Ben Smith, Mrs. Sol Newhouse, Mrs. Ben Hausner, Mrs. Jerry Margolis, Mrs. Charles Tobey, Mrs. Robert Kavieff and Mrs. Edward Avadenka.

Mrs. Arthur Rosner announced plans for a square dance to be held Nov. 16 at the synagogue. A benefit sale will be held Monday under the auspices of the sisterhood.

Mrs. David Saks, youth group sponsor, read highlights of the revised constitution of that organization to the membership.

HAT PROGRAM

Mrs. Ben Monson, membership chairman, announced the theme for the afternoon, "Hang Your Hat and be at Home with Sisterhood."

Mrs. David Utley was coordinator and commentator for the hat fashion show.

New sisterhood members include Mrs. Hausner, Mrs. Kavieff, Mrs. Tobey, Mrs. Louis Womboy and Mrs. Marvin Jaffee.

Cochairmen for the afternoon were Mrs. Monson and Mrs. Margolis.

Single Girl Asks if Kin Can Stay

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My sister's husband will be coming to this city to attend a convention. I would like to know if it would be proper for him to stay here in my apartment and use the spare bedroom while he is in town rather than go to a hotel.

A: If you were married there would, of course, be no impropriety in his staying in your apartment and using the spare bedroom while he is in town rather than go to a hotel.

Q: What is the proper behavior for a guest who finds himself a stranger at a large party? I was invited to a semi-business cocktail party last week and found that I knew no one at the party but the host.

I felt very uncomfortable and left after about 15 minutes. I would like to know, if in a situation of this kind, it is proper for a stranger to go up to other guests, men as well as women, without being introduced and start a conversation?

A: You may start a conversation with any other guest who seems to be alone and willing to be spoken to.

You can't, however, walk up to two strangers who are talking together unless they speak directly to you.

Q: When eating stewed prunes, should the fruit be cut away from the pit in the dish or may the whole prune be taken into the mouth and then the pit removed to the saucer with the spoon?

A: If the prune is a large one, cut it in half and at the same time take the pit out.

If the prune is fairly small, you put it in the mouth and afterward drop the pit into the spoon with which you are eating, and put it on the edge of your plate.

The clothes of the bride and groom as well as those of their attendants are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Clothes of the Bridal Party."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Niblick Club Elects New Officers

The annual luncheon and election of officers of the Niblick Golf Club was held Tuesday at the Elks Temple.

Mrs. Andrew Condon was elected to golf membership.

The new president is Mrs. Robert Kingsbury. Also elected were Mrs. David Warri-low, vice president; Mrs. Clare Scriven, secretary; and Mrs. William Katich, treasurer.

The championship trophy for the golf tournament was awarded to Mrs. Scriven. First flight winner was Mrs. Donald Long; second flight, Mrs. Ernest Mallory and third flight, Mrs. Benjamin Sweeney.

Mrs. Kenneth Sprung was chairman for the day. She was assisted by Mrs. Manley Young, Mrs. Kaye Allen, and Mrs. Aaron Fox.

Fashions for Opti-Mrs. Club

Mrs. Marvin Barnett of Peggy's presented a showing of holiday fashions at the Opti-Mrs. Club meeting Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Gay Herrington, Mrs. Arley Lowe, Mrs. Charles Manz and Mrs. G. W. Stark, club members, were models. Mrs. Robert Bradley Jr. arranged the program.

Mrs. Julian Galan opened her Lochaven Road home for the meeting. Mrs. Fred Coleman and Mrs. Roy Lewis Sr. were co-hostesses.

Garden Club to Hold Tea and Sale

The Osage Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, will sponsor a scholarship tea and pre-holiday sale of decorative articles, Monday, in the Birmingham YMCA.

Mrs. Ray Embury is co-chairman. Mrs. Earl Rohrbacher and Mrs. Michael Bell comprise the committee for the tea from 1 to 4 p.m. Mrs. Alan Yates is handling publicity.

New this year will be a display of partially-completed planters, candle-boards and centerpiece with instructions and materials to finish them.

Dried plant material and floral arrangements will be sold, also boot bags, bird cages and articles made of burlap, felt and velvet.

NAMED HEAD

Mrs. Frederick J. Stefansky, flower arrangement chairman for the scholarship tea has been appointed general chairman for Wright Kay & Company's table setting contest next spring in Detroit.

The announcement was made as some 55 members of Osage Branch gathered for tea Monday in her home on Dowling Drive.

Mrs. Ira Wilson II of Fox Run exhibits a unique Virginia planter and candle-holder decorated by the Osage Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, for a scholarship tea Monday in the Birmingham Y.M.C.A. She is chairman for the pre-holiday sale of gift items at the affair.

Family Never Sees Dad

DEAR ABBY: My husband works the second shift, which means he leaves home at 2:30 in the afternoon and comes home after midnight.

By the time he wakes up in the morning the children have gone to school. He doesn't ever know he has a family.

I have all the decisions to make and all the discipline problems.

I am fed up with the full responsibility. Don't tell me he is earning a living for "his family."

He has plenty of seniority where he works and could get on the first shift by asking for it. What do you think I should do?

FED UP TO HERE

DEAR FED UP: I think you should tell your husband what you have told me. Unless you have told him so many times he thinks you're kidding.

DEAR ABBY: Just read "ALL MAN'S" letter. He said, "Women drivers, bah!"

I am a woman driver who has been driving since the age of 16. I am now over 60 and have yet to be involved in any kind of accident, stopped for speeding, or given a ticket for over-parking or wrong parking. Show me a man with the same record!

I find that most men are "weaver boys." They weave in and out of traffic to get ahead, and when you reach the next stop light, they are sitting there—waiting.

ALL WOMAN

DEAR ABBY: I have a relative (through marriage) who is far from poor. In fact, she is a lot better off financially than I am. But this woman gives used things for gifts. And she doesn't even bother to have them gift-wrapped. She just puts them in a paper sack.

Last week she gave me such a "birthday gift." I gave it to a needy person. She could have bought me three new powder puffs for 25 cents and I'd have appreciated it more.

What is wrong with people like that?

DEAR HURT: It's hard to say. If she's off her rocker, you shouldn't be critical.

But if she's simply ignorant continue to accept the gifts without comment and pass them along where they will bring some joy.

What's on your mind? For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send 50 cents to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press.

'Ferdinand's' Creator Reports to Taxpayers

The report to the taxpayers to be presented by Pontiac-Oakland Town Hall at 10:30 a.m., Nov. 13 at the Huron Theater will be neither statistical nor somniferous.

For one thing, the reporter is Munro Leaf, creator of "Ferdinand the Bull," the "Watchbird" series, and the "Fun" books ("Manners Can Be Fun," etc.).

For another, his topic is: "I was a Cultural Exchange: A report to the taxpayers."

Leaf is reporting on his recent global tour sponsored by the United States State Department's Cultural Education Exchange program. For four months he traveled in Asia, the Middle East and Europe, conducting seminars at Teachers' Institutes, and conferring with publishers of children's books.

He talked with educators, students, librarians, embassy officials and government leaders.

He launched his literary career by writing the first of the "fun" books in 1934. To his surprise he discovered he was an "illustrator" as well as an author. In 1939 he created "Ferdinand." Since then he has writ-

Country Club Will Sponsor Annual Ball

Bloomfield Hills Country Club will hold its annual ball honoring the club's past presidents Nov. 16.

Serving as hosts for the ball will be the club president and the board of governors and their wives.

They include John B. Poole, president; and James A. Bersford, Frederick J. Colombo, Hanley Dawson Jr., James E. Goodman, Ben D. Mills, George Russell, Robert C. Vanderkloot and Charles H. Whitelaw, board of governors.

Give to Veterans

Veterans in six veterans hospitals will receive Christmas presents because Chapter 9, American Gold Star Mothers, Inc. voted to donate the money.

The decision was made at the Tuesday meeting held at D.A.V. Hall.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer: I dearly love your column, and wouldn't think of making anything without consulting you first. I have had a piece of wool gabardine for many years (doesn't every woman have drawers of fabric she hopes to use someday?) and I am wondering if this type of material could be used now or is it too dated?

Mrs. N. R.

Dear Mrs. N. R.: You have picked an opportune time to go over your supply of fabrics. Now with the tailored look so important in the fashion world, the gabardine, or any hard finish, men's wear fabric is the very newest.

I like to remind all of you however, when you use men's wear fabrics, and make your styles tailored, such as matched collars, you may very easily end up with a garment that looks like it belongs to your husband.

Try softening it a little by using decorative buttons, velvet or silk on the collar, binding part of the jacket collar or pockets with dull satin, or some little detail to break the severe look. Also, most women look better with slightly rounded lapels and curved edges instead of the straight, sharp corners and very narrow lapels.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Ever have blankets that continue to pull out at the bottom of the bed? You may solve this easily by sewing the end of the blanket to the contour end of a worn-out sheet. So simple—no cost—and what a joy!

Mrs. Theresa Rath, Hood River, Ore., is this week's winner of a Tailor Trix Pressing Board.

Dear Eunice: Can anything be done with a collar on my coat that is cut too high in back? This is the type of collar that was cut in one with the front and is seamed in the back. My neck is short and the collar comes up under my hair and is most uncomfortable.

Mrs. C. L.

Dear Mrs. C. L.: Since the coat is already made, there is only one suggestion I can make. Open the center back seam of the collar about two inches from the outer edge.

Put your coat on now and see if this doesn't lay down low enough for comfort. If not, you can rip the collar back a little further. When it has been adjusted to your liking, turn in the raw edges on both edges of the opened seam in back and you will have a "V" at the center back of the collar.

I have seen this done in ready-made coats, so don't be afraid it will make your garment look patched. You'll love it!

HELPFUL HINT

Mrs. C. B. says: A magnetized knife holder screwed to the inside of your sewing machine door makes a good parking place for your bobbins!

Dear Eunice: How can I ever thank you for the great way you have taught us to make bound buttonholes?

I have just had one disaster, that was making them in a very loosely woven fabric. I don't think I cut too far, but the ends did fray out. Can you guess what I did?

Mrs. O. P. M.

Dear Mrs. O. P. M.: My guess would be that you used too long a stitch when you sewed the welts on, and if so, your threads from the loosely woven fabric weren't caught into the stitching line well enough.

When you are working with this type of fabric, it is best to use a much smaller stitch and it wouldn't be wrong to stitch the line twice. I think this will prevent any future problems.

If any of my readers wants a copy of the free leaflet on Bound Buttonholes simply send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and your request to Sew Simple in care of The Pontiac Press.

Dear Readers: Now is the time to begin getting excited about Christmas. I know you'll want my newest leaflet called "35 Christmas Quizzes to Make."

Riskier in Those 'Good Old Days'

WASHINGTON 498—During the past 20 years, the rate of accidental deaths among children and youths under 20 had been reduced by some 20 per cent, reports Anthony J. Celebrezze, secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

In 1942, for example, for every 100,000 young people in the population, 63 died as a result of accidents. In 1962, the rate had been reduced to 31 per 100,000 children.

Why Grow Old?
By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "I have a problem of hair growing on my face. I have used a cream depilatory for a long time. Now the hairs are growing out like whiskers. Is there any way to stop the growth of hair?"

A. The change in your glandular system is probably giving you this trouble. Most women have this problem to some extent from middle-age on. You can have the hairs removed permanently by electrolysis. That's the only way I know to stop their growth.

I am sure you must be miserable with that overweight! You will have to count calories. When the waist measurement begins to match the chest measurements, and you lead with your abdomen, that is a danger signal. For the sake of your comfort, as well as your health, lose those pounds!

Many of the exercises I give for women are equally valuable for men. For instance, the abdominal reducing exercises. You should have your health and blood pressure checked by your doctor before beginning.

Husband "too tired" for good times?

If your husband keeps coming home too "beat" to be gay and stimulating, too worn out to take you out, remember—the hectic "rat race" of today's business requires men to perform like human dynamo day after day, which builds up churning tensions that rob literally millions of husbands of energy and vigor they might otherwise enjoy.

What can you do to help counteract this tension-caused loss of vitality?

Many doctors recommend augmenting the daily diet with nature's remarkable "bounce-back" food, famous Kretschmer Wheat Germ. Made from the germinating heart of the kernel, wheat germ has been established by official U. S. Dept. of Agriculture studies to be the most healthful food known!

• Kretschmer Wheat Germ actually supplies a whopping 80 nutrients important to good health, vigor and stamina!

• Serve your husband this remarkable food every day and see how much more pep and vitality he has! Use these delicious, tiny, toasted flakes as a cereal, on-cereal, or add to pancakes, waffles, scrambled eggs, etc.

• Thrifty, tasty Kretschmer Wheat Germ is great for the entire family, so be sure to get some. Look for it in museum-sealed glass jars in the cereal section of your food store. Choose either regular or Sugar 'N Honey.

• GUARANTEE—(1) Kretschmer Wheat Germ is the most healthful food known. (2) Your family will like its nut-like flavor. If you are not satisfied, just write your name, address, and price paid on back of label and mail to Kretschmer, Cerritos, Michigan, for full refund.

Karen Eicher Married in Chapel

A Presbyterian service in Bond Memorial Chapel on the University of Chicago campus united in marriage Karen Boyd Eicher and Arthur Gilbert Gasche.

The recent double-ring candlelight ceremony was performed in the presence of some 125 close friends and members of the bridal couple's families.

The new Mrs. Gasche is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David N. Eicher of Orchard Lake. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Omar J. Gasche of Chicago.

David Eicher, brother of the bride, and concert pianist Lyle Settle, presented an organ-cello recital of the music of Johann Sebastian Bach preceding the ceremony.

BROCADE GOWN

The bride wore a waist-length ivory brocade gown with bateau neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her four-tier-shoulder-length silk illusion veil fell from a tucked ivory satin sash.

MRS. A. G. GASCHE

With her small hand bou-quet of ivory Cymbidium orchids and cascading ivy and Stephanotis, the bride carried an ivory silk handkerchief fashioned from her maternal grandmother's wedding gown. She wore the bridegroom's gift of pearls.

Linda Levine attended her classmate wearing a street-length gown of soft green sat in brocade styled with portrait neckline and bell skirt. Her bouquet was miniature yellow roses.

Jack Gasche of Atlanta, Ga. was best man for his uncle. Paul and Mark Eicher, brothers of the bride, were ushers.

A reception in the Commons Room of adjoining Swift Hall followed the ceremony. Following a southern-music trip, the couple will make their home in Chicago.

Sandburg Holds an Open House

The parents of students of Carl Sandberg School are invited to attend the November Dinner and Open House.

Visits with the superintendent, the members of the board of education and the teachers will be offered.

The buffet dinner will be served at 6 p.m. Reservations for the Nov. 14th dinner must be in by Thursday.

A short business meeting will follow at 7:30 p.m.

Now Get More for More Money

NEW YORK (UPI) — One measure of rising hospital costs: a health insurance policy written for workers of a large firm 25 years ago listed room and board benefits of $3 a day — with a maximum allowance for other hospital charges of $15.

In contrast, the firm's present plan provides reimbursement for hospital charges of all kinds; for physician's charges for visits at home; for diagnostic X rays and laboratory examinations; for oxygen, ambulances and prescribed drugs. This is typical of the trend of the future, the Health Insurance Institute reports.

Money Doesn't Go as Far as It Once Did

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money — Management

Dear Miss Feeley:
We have four children, ranging in age from 9 to 16 years. My take-home pay is $510 per month.

Will you please tell me how this should be budgeted. Payments on the car and house are $150 per month; insurance, taxes, etc., on house. MARY FEELEY car and people are about $35 a month; car operating expenses about $30.

We are getting deeper and deeper in debt every month and for one who grew up during the depression years $500 seems like a lot of money. Or am I wrong?

B. S., Bedford, Va.

Dear B. S.:
Five hundred dollars is a lot of money — it just doesn't buy very much. Which is the sad story of our times and taxes. Sometimes it just doesn't pay to look over your shoulder. Nostalgia will get you down.

However, since you are wondering what has happened to the dollar, remind yourself that some 24 or 25 years ago the American family could live comfortably on about one-third the amount of money needed today, since taxes and inflation have taken a minimum.

As I've had occasion to point out to bewildered wage earners before, the family making $5,000 in 1939 paid $39 in taxes. Today the same family pays — $1,548.

And as long as we're looking back, let's go all the way back: our pioneer economy which put this country on its sturdy feet depended on some factors we choose to ignore today. One of them is simply that in the early days, the family was a working unit.

As soon as sons and daughters were old enough to rest their chins on the kitchen table, they joined forces with the grown-ups. The income—regardless of whether it was figured in dollars or crops or cattle — was realistically a family affair.

As there were more mouths to feed and more shoes needed, there were more hands helping to provide them.

In contrast, today's head of the house more often than not bears the increasing family load singlehandedly. He provides his children's livelihood for many more years than his forebears did. Today we think of a young person's wage earning years as starting when he has finished his education, be it high school or college.

At least, that's our ideal conception of family life as it should be lived. We put emphasis on formal education in these complicated times — and goodness knows that's where we should put it. But in all justice to himself, the wage-earner must recognize that it doesn't lighten his financial burden — that his single income is expected to spread like a blanket to cover a steadily growing menace. The point is, of course, how to spread the "blanket." In your case, it might stretch like this: Housing, $85; household operating, $40; food, $170; clothing, $30; insurance, $35; personal allowance, $20; loan (car payments), $65; miscellaneous, gifts, etc., $15; medical, $20; car operating expenses, $30.

That gives you a monthly set-up that will just get you by — without allowing for recreation or vacations. However, some families tell me they manage to feed five people on $35 a week — so perhaps you can trim the food allotment.

4 Hundred Pounds of Facial Tissue

NEW YORK (UPI) — Facial tissues are a gift of the trees — products of wood, that is. Paper plates, the paper on which you write notes, the paper citing your balances due — in the mail the first of the month — also come from trees.

Paper, at any rate, is something we Americans use to the tune of 457 pounds a year per person. The American Forest Products Industries, an association which counts such things, figures that if you used no more paper than for facial tissues in a year, you would have used 11,773 average-size packages to consume your 457 pounds. That's a daily use at the rate of seven sheets per minute.

Arrests Due to Mount in Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—More arrests, including a Negro preacher, were expected today in a civil rights campaign aimed at desegregating City Hall and pressuring the City Council into acting on racial equality demands.

Five whites and three Negroes, including a preacher, were arrested yesterday, bringing to 36 the number of arrests since the campaign started last week. Negroes have vowed to expose a new minister to arrest daily in the campaign.

In the state's 6th Congressional District, the parishes surrounding Baton Rouge, a Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) voter registration campaign which started last summer continued.

Today was the deadline for registering to vote in the Dec. 7 Democratic primary election.

REFUSE TO LEAVE
A Tulane University professor, two Tulane students and a Negro man were arrested outside New Orleans Mayor Victor Schiro's office yesterday. They refused to leave after they were denied an interview with the mayor.

Another white teacher and a student and two Negroes were picked up when they demanded service in the segregated city hall cafeteria.

Civil rights leaders urged Negroes to go to the cafeteria every day, at different times of the day.

"You'll be arrested," warned the Rev. A. L. Davis Jr., chairman of the New Orleans Ministerial Alliance, "but if we don't eat, nobody eats."

Mother-in-Law Suffers Shattering Experience

KENOSHA, Wis. (AP) — A man forfeited $50 bail in Kenosha County Court Tuesday on a charge of malicious destruction of property.

Authorities said Richard Hawthorne, 23, threw his mother-in-law's lawnmower through the picture window of her home.

Georgia's Auburn U. Gets U.S. Order: Admit Negro

By United Press International
A federal court struck another blow against Alabama school segregation yesterday by ordering state-supported Auburn University to admit its first Negro student.

District Court Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. ordered the all-white institution to accept Harold A. Franklin at the beginning of the winter term and to accept students in the future without regard to race.

Gov. George C. Wallace has vigorously fought all other attempts to integrate state schools. He forced President Kennedy to call up federal troops to enforce the court-ordered integration of the University of Alabama last year and again in September when white public schools in four cities admitted Negroes.

The order would make Auburn the third college-level Alabama school to integrate. The university and Florence State College are the other two.

• NEW YORK — Apartment dwellers in a Negro section of New York City have refused to pay rent until alleged slum conditions are remedied.

• DANVILLE, Va. — A task force of integration workers arrived today to train Negroes for street demonstrations. Indonesia to Seize Rubber Properties

JAKARTA, Indonesia (UPI)—President Sukarno has ordered seizure of all rubber-processing properties in Indonesia which are owned wholly or in part by Malaysian citizens or managed from Malaysia, the official Antara News Agency said today. It said the order is effective as of last Oct. 20, and will be carried out by the Agrarian minister in cooperation with local and regional authorities.

But Keep on Trying

It's Hard to Forget Irwin Tress

By DICK WEST

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — The "It's a small world" phenomenon works very well in Puerto Rico. I had been here only a few hours when I ran into Irwin Tress.

Yes, I said Irwin Tress. You were expecting maybe Judge Crater?

I knew Tress about 15 years ago when he was a photographer for the International News Service in Miami, Fla. It was in Korea, however, that he became a living legend.

After the outbreak of the Korean War, Lee Ferrero, an INS man in Seoul, began petitioning the home office for additional reporters. Finally, he was notified that help was on the way.

But Ferrero's joy turned to consternation when his reinforcement arrived. In fact, the event was immortalized in a journalistic folk song, the first verse of which went like this:

"My name is Lee Ferrero — And I work for INS. I asked for correspondents. And they sent me Irwin Tress."

Tress is now public relations director at El Comandante.

the San Juan race track. It appeared to me that they were made for each other.

FULLY APPRECIATE
Only someone like Irwin could fully appreciate El Comandante. And vice versa.

Tress conducted a tour of the track one afternoon for me and several other mainlanders from a group of about 500 who came here as guests of the Sheraton Corp. for the opening of a new resort hotel.

"See that floral horseshoe in the track infield?" he said. "That is where Camerero is buried."

"Camerero won 56 consecutive races, more than any other horse in history. Then he developed ulcers and died."

390 IN ROW
"El Comandante also is the home track of Pedro Juan Vinales, a jockey who rode for 11 years without winning a race. He lost 390 races in a row. People said he was the only jockey in the world who could have lost on Camerero."

Finally one day, when there were only three other horses in the race, his horse won. The crowd went wild. They rushed out of the grandstand, hoisted Vinales on their shoulders and threw him in the infield lake.

"Vinales donated his purse to charity and never raced again. He wanted to quit a winner. Unlike Camerero, he is still alive and hasn't a trace of ulcers. There may be a moral there if you care to search for it."

I can believe all of this story except the last part. I bet on seven horses that afternoon, and I strongly suspect that Vinales rode them all.

Exquisite Oriental Art Treasures
Now Yours as Full Color 13" by 36" Prints
Only $1 for One — Or All 4 for Only $3

Imagine hanging in your home these superb full-color reproductions of hand painted Oriental "Beautiful Birds" wall panels. These masterpieces have been faithfully reproduced from paintings created by an Oriental artist who has captured the true feel and glorious colors of ancient hand-brocaded Chinese art treasures.

We have shown one of the 4 panels larger than the others (they are all the same size) to indicate the remarkably beautiful and delicate brush work which went into them. Their true color and craftsmanship can only be suggested in the small size shown here.

Offer Will Not Be Repeated

We urge you to order your panels now while the offer lasts. They may soon be true collectors' items. Each panel is on heavy vellum finish paper with a lovely border—can be "hung" without framing if you wish. You will be delighted with the grace and beauty these art treasures will add to your home. This offer will not be repeated in The Pontiac Press. This is your only chance to order. Be sure to fill in and mail the coupon now.

Dems Design Plan for Redistricting Organization Problem

By JIM DYGER

Both political parties in Oakland County have the same general idea of how to solve an organizational puzzle produced by congressional redistricting without reducing the power of party leaders and nominees.

But Democrats are the first to get to work and come up with a specific method.

It's spelled out in recommendations prepared by a study committee headed by William A. O'Brien of Clawson for presentation to the Democratic County Committee Tuesday.

As proposals for revising party structure to meet the new districting demands, they chart a course that leaders of both parties favor as the best way out of the confusion.

POWER FOCUS

This idea is to keep the focus of power and finances in the hands of the county organization rather than to shift political strength into the two new congressional districts.

Under state law governing party organization, elected precinct delegates have more direct control over selection of their party officers in a congressional district organization.

Delegates elect district officers directly. In a county organization, they vote only on half the membership of the executive committee that chooses the officers. The other half consists of the party's nominees for county and state legislative offices.

The Democratic County Executive Committee usually follows the choice of delegates as expressed in a vote in naming officers, but it is not bound to do so.

RESTRICTS VOICE

Although retaining power at the county level can be justified on grounds of efficient operation, O'Brien's committee appears to restrict the voice of out state. Congressional district committees contain one county or several counties, and the county organizations run the show.

Congressional district committees are named by the party's congressional candidate. Opinions differ as to whether "two or more congressional districts or parts of congressional districts" applies to Oakland County, which now contains the 18th District plus part of the 19th. The 19th also includes all of Livingston County.

POWER CENTERED

Oakland formerly was the entire 8th District and operated in the out state manner with political power centered at the county level.

O'Brien's committee, which included Democrats from Livingston County, is suggesting a compromise setup for Oakland.

The power would stay at the county level, even though the county organization would apparently be informal and unofficial under state law.

But district organization would be patterned after Wayne County's with the exception of choosing officers by an elected committee instead of directly by the delegates.

County's with the exception of choosing officers by an elected committee instead of directly by the delegates.

RESPONSIBILITY

"The basic responsibility must rest with the county committee," says the study committee, referring to such areas as campaigns, precinct organization, publicity, patronage and fund raising.

It notes that in Oakland, unlike Wayne, the election of county officers is a main concern of Democrats. Safe Democratic control of Wayne County offices leaves a strong county organization unnecessary there, it says.

The committee proposes that the district organizations function primarily to handle congressional campaigns and coordinate them with the work of the county organizations.

It also recommends that the county executive committee be enlarged to include the members of the district committees.

HELD MEETINGS

County GOP Chairman Charles L. Lyle, who also hopes "that a strong county organization will remain the main organization," reports that an exploratory meeting has been held with Livingston County Republican leaders.

"We hope to meet again soon to put together a program we can present to our respective committees," Lyle said.

With more confidence than Democrats, Republicans are looking forward to new legislation next spring to clarify the manner of Oakland County party organization.

South Rises Again --on Junk Wings

MERCEDES, Tex. (UPI) — So there are no Japanese Zeroes left! By thunder, the Confederate Air Force will just build one of its own down by the Rio Grande.

Never defeated and always undaunted, the Confederate Air Force received word from Japan today that there simply are no Zeroes left over from World War II.

Said Col. R. D. Nolen of Mercedes: "We'll have to get pieces and build us one, then. If we can get the funds."

NO COMMENT

There was no immediate comment from Col. Jethro E. Culpeper.

The 80 active members of the Confederate Air Force every last one of them a "col-onel"—made up Culpeper as "a good old southern name" and used it to write to Japan for information about a Zero.

Formed in 1957, the Confederate Air Force has a collection of 10 World War II vintage planes. There are F51 Mustangs, a P40 Warhawk, a P28 Lightning and even a B25 Mitchell bomber. Each plane is owned by one or more air force members. They are kept at Mercedes in the Rio Grande Valley.

The Confederate Air Force is dedicated to "preservation of the world's fighting aircraft and pledged to support and promote the great customs and traditions of the Deep South."

Nolen said the air force is dickering for a Spitfire fighter now in Australia. It also would like to buy a German Messerschmidt.

ALL KINDS

The colonels in real life are doctors, lawyers, farmers, school teachers and businessmen.

They even have a "training squadron" of three 16-year-old Texans.

The 80 men who take active part in the air force are from all over the country, and they perform in air shows.

News Analysis

precinct delegates more than the law permits.

Its recommended organization for the 18th and 19th Districts has the delegates elect a 15-man committee which names party officers instead of directly electing the officers.

The puzzle arose because the new districting put Oakland County in a unique situation. Application of state law is confusing.

The law covers two situations.

One applies to a county like Wayne that has two or more congressional districts or parts of congressional districts. The law makes the district organization supreme and any county organization is informal and unofficial.

MAIN POWER

Since precinct delegates elect district officers, they have the main power in the Wayne County system.

The other situation exists

A statement issued by the committee said several branches of the group "have affirmed that they will hold demonstrations and rallies on Nov. 7, 8 or 12."

The demonstrators have demanded:

• The Justice Department prosecute officials in all these areas who have violated the equal protection clause of the 14th amendment and the civil rights act of 1960.

• A civil rights task force, separated from the FBI, be formed and deployed to areas in the South to insure that constitutional rights are being protected.

• The Justice Department ask for injunctions forbidding interference with voter registration work.

• The Justice Department enter Friend of the Court briefs on behalf of civil rights workers where their constitutional rights have been violated.

• And the Congress reinstate in pending civil rights legislation the provision that federal referees be appointed to register voters who claim they have been denied a chance to do so because of their race.

Protest March Called

By United Press International

A University of Michigan student civil rights group has called for a nationwide demonstration to protest alleged mistreatment of four of their number in Georgia.

The Michigan branch of the student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee said it was protesting the plight of civil rights workers and citizens who are continually being deprived of their constitutional rights by officials in the areas of the deep South.

In Detroit, civil rights officials are making plans to hold a "ride to freedom" rally this Sunday afternoon.

Sunday's ride will terminate at Cobo Hall where Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, the controversial New York Congressman, and Mahalia Jackson, the well-known spiritual singer, will address the crowd.

But district organization would be patterned after Wayne

Mme. Nhu Expected to Set Up Home

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mme. Ngo Dinh Nhu was expected to move out of her $80-a-day hotel suite today and set up housekeeping in the Los Angeles area for herself and her four children.

South Viet Nam's widowed former first lady changed her mind late Tuesday about joining her three younger children in Rome today. She said she would have them fly here instead as soon as possible.

Mme. Nhu said she "could not endure the trip at this time," according to George White, manager of the Beverly Wilshire Hotel where she has been staying.

OFFERED HOME

Mme. Nhu has been offered use of the home of Allen Chase, an associate of television star Art Linkletter, in the exclusive Bel Air district. Mrs. Chase said she had received no definite word as yet whether Mme. Nhu will accept the offer.

Chase, who has business connections in Australia and the Orient, met the late President Ngo Dinh Diem several times in Saigon, Mrs. Chase explained.

The children, ages 15, 11 and 4, were flown to Rome Tuesday with permission of the new government of South Viet Nam.

Mme. Nhu had been scheduled to leave this morning on a polar flight to Rome with her eldest daughter, Le Thu, 18, and her Vietnamese secretary Nguyen Thi Tuan, 29.

DECISION FACTORS

Informed sources said Mrs. Nhu's decision to remain in the United States may have been influenced by financial problems, possible difficulty in returning here, an outpouring of sympathy for her in thousands of messages from Americans and profitable offers of speaking engagements and magazine articles.

Mme. Nhu also was believed to be worn out by the emotional strain brought on by the downfall of the Diem government, the deaths of Diem and her husband, Ngo Dinh Nhu, the country's political strong man, and her anxiety over the welfare of her children. She also was recovering from the effects of a minor eye operation performed last Thursday night. A doctor who removed a cyst from her eyelid took out the stitches Tuesday.

A source close to Mme. Nhu said that she left Saigon five weeks ago with $5,000 spending money for herself, her daughter and her secretary. He said she had no money banked abroad.

There have been rumors in Saigon, however, that Mrs. Nhu and her family had large sums of money banked in France and in New York.

Should she need money, however, Mme. Nhu has had many offers of paid speaking engagements, although she has accepted none so far. She also was reportedly offered large sums of money for exclusive rights to her story by at least one American magazine and one French magazine.

Mme. Nhu has received offers of assistance from the Los Angeles County Young Republicans, a group dominated by conservative elements.

Teamsters Unit Sets Demands

40-Man Committee Works With Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 40-man Teamsters union committee sits down today with Union President James R. Hoffa to formulate demands for the first nationwide contract covering more than 400,000 truck drivers.

Harold J. Gibbons, executive vice president, said the Teamsters expected to draw up a package demand of $6 to 70 cents an hour to present to some 20,000 trucking firms from coast to coast.

The package demand would be on top of present Teamsters contracts, now set up on a regional basis.

The present contracts give truck drivers a minimum of $3.00 per hour plus employer contributions of $6 a month for pensions, $3.50 a month for health and welfare and other fringe benefits.

Gibbons said the vote of Teamsters locals throughout the country was "practically unanimous in authorizing negotiation of the nationwide contract."

Only a few locals voted against it, he said. About 600 of the Teamsters' 1.7 million members were eligible to vote.

Hoffa, in an interview about two weeks ago, said preliminary negotiations with representatives of a majority of the trucking firms had begun.

Today's Teamsters conference deals with details of the union's tactics and contract demands.

Defense Aide to Tell of Jobs

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatrick was expected to be the lead-off witness today at the opening of hearings by the Senate subcommittee on Employment and Manpower.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., subcommittee chairman, said the hearings, which constitute the final stages of a six-month investigation of national employment and manpower problems, would continue through November.

In remarks prepared for delivery at the hearing, Clark said "the subcommittee will concern itself with the impact of defense upon our national employment and economic growth."

He said the committee also would discuss diverting the same techniques used on the defense program for organizing scientific and technical data to solve military problems to developing new areas of enterprise and employment in the domestic economy.

Caldron Silenced

Witch Must Go

BUNLEY, England (AP) — "I'm sorry to have to say this," said the Witch of New Forest, "but after what's been happening, witches should remain secret."

After a pause she added: "The world isn't ready for us yet." The Witch of New Forest is Sybil Leek. She said Tuesday she and her husband have been given notice to give up their home and business.

Mrs. Leek and her husband run an antique shop in the front of the building. They live in the rear. In the residential part of the building, Mrs. Leek studies witchcraft and writes on the subject. She also practices witchcraft—and admits it.

AGAINST BLACK MAGIC: "Tolerance and love are the basic ingredients of white witchcraft, which I practice," she explained. "I'm just as much against black magic and black witchcraft as are most people."

She claims that being a witch brought about the nonrenewal of her lease.

Alfredy Hutchings, who owns the cottage, said "my decision has nothing to do with the fact that Mrs. Leek is a witch. What she does with her private life is none of my business."

He said it was a case of wanting to expand his stationery business and needing the property in which the Leeks live and work. The lease terminates Nov. 28.

"There's a sort of witch hunt going on here," Mrs. Leek said. "One person is whipping up the more elements. A load of louts tried to batter down my door the other night."

CALDRON AND ALL: On Halloween, Mrs. Leek and 12 other members of her coven—or witch pack—held a meeting in New Forest, caldron and all.

Since Mrs. Leek revealed she's a witch, letters have poured into her cottage from all over Britain and from many parts of the world.

"We're already packing," she said. "But I have no idea where we'll move."

Untied Boa On the Loose

KOKOMO, Ind. (AP)—A boa constrictor which wasn't very popular with party guests was reported on the loose in Kokomo Tuesday.

Barter Dale Roberts said the 8-foot snake, a pet, caused a commotion among guests at his home when it slithered into the room. He put it in the basement, but it escaped through a window.

Police were looking for the snake, which Roberts said is harmless. He said he had had the reptile since it was 18 inches long.

Filled Peppers Hot Entree

No matter how often you serve your family a popular dish, you can always prepare it differently with just a special touch of the imagination. Here's a new and prize-winning way to prepare the oft-served favorite, stuffed green peppers, that will have them raving about your culinary skills.

Pepper Pleasers

6 large green peppers (topped and seeded)
2 cups potato chips (crushed)
1 pound ground round steak
1 cup tomato soup
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup olive pieces
6 spiced peaches
6 sugar cubes dipped in Orange extract
Melted butter

Mix 1 1/2 cups potato chips, steak, soup, water and olive pieces until just blended. Fill pepper cases, and place in a well greased baking dish, brush with melted butter. Lay peppers alternately beside the spiced peaches.

Top each pepper with the remaining potato chips. Bake 40 minutes in 325 degree oven. Remove from stove and top each pepper case with sugar cube and ignite it, carrying dish quickly to table. Serve with a flourish 1 pepper and 1 peach to each guest.

Bake Your Bacon in Crumb Coat

Here's a brand new idea for cooking bacon. Try this way for Sunday brunch when you have more time than on a workday morning.

Crisp-Crumb Bacon
1/2 pound (about 12 slices) bacon
1/2 cup (about) packaged cornflake crumbs

Have the bacon at room temperature so slices may be separated easily. One at a time, dip bacon slices in cold water and then in cornflake crumbs, coating on both sides. Arrange bacon on a wire rack in a shallow baking pan.

Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until brown and crisp. Makes 6 servings. Bacon can stand in hot shut-off oven on rack for 10 minutes or so if necessary.

Never an End to New Foods

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

Ever since food editors conference we have been receiving word of more new products.

Just this week we had samples of some dry roasted nuts—this time cashews and mixed nuts as well as peanuts. These come in 9 1/2 ounce jars and are prepared without added fat, as you probably know.

Have you tried the canned macaroni? Made with ground beef and tomato sauce, it's an ideal quickie dish. Our newest homemaker in the women's department tried it on her husband, said it was good.

GRAVY AND SAUCES

A new line of sauce and gravy mixes includes onion and mushroom gravy mix as well as an Italian and a sour cream sauce mix. Think of having a sour cream for baked potatoes right at hand on your kitchen shelf.

There are eight mixes in the group.

New for babies are handy canned chicken sticks. Since toddlers love finger food, these are just the thing to keep on hand. They resemble miniature frank.

Perhaps you have already tried the new Spice 'N' Apple cake mix and the Creamy Spice frosting mix that goes with it. We have eaten the cake and like it.

If you want to serve this new cake in a different manner, try the following recipe.

Cranberry Spice Cake

Bake Spice 'N' Apple cake in two 9" round pans directed on pkg. Cool. Fill with 1 pkg. (10 oz.) frozen cranberry-orange relish which has been thawed and well drained. Frost top and sides of the cake with Spicy Cream Frosting.

'Red Flannel' Means Beets

Diced red beets, added to hash brown potatoes, becomes "red flannel potatoes," a rosy potato treat everyone is sure to enjoy. Just preheat a greased frying pan. Add equal parts of diced, cooked potatoes and diced beets (cooked or canned) and one-fourth as many diced onions.

Fry gently until steamy hot and slightly browned. If it's hash you're planning, beets added will make this hearty meat and potato mixture, "red flannel hash."

Liquid Smoke Method

A tenderloin has no waste, and may be served as you like it. Brush the tenderloin with a mixture of 1/2 cup salad oil, 1/4 cup liquid smoke, dash liquid pepper seasoning, juice of one lemon. Season with garlic salt and pepper to taste. Bake frequently with the mixture as the tenderloin cooks.

ing (below). Serve at once or store in refrigerator until serving time, 12 to 16 servings.

Spicy Cream Frosting

Blend 1 pkg. Creamy Spice frosting mix and 1 1/2 cups whipping cream in a small mixer bowl. Chill; whip till soft peaks form.

Note: Fresh cranberries can be used. Put 1 cup cranberries and 1/4 large orange, rind and pulp through food chopper. Mix in 1/2 cup sugar; let stand several hours. Drain well.

Grapefruit Serves as Edible Bowl

Grapefruit season coming up! Here's an idea to gild the lily—rather, gild the grapefruit. If you can get pink grapefruit, so much the better, but the regular yellow fruit makes a pretty dish, too.

First, halve the grapefruit and remove the seeds. Carefully loosen the segments with a sharp knife. Take out every other segment, and in each empty segment, place a shrimp, with the tail end sticking up toward the center. Chill. Four French dressings over the grapefruit just before serving.

When you are pan-frying chops, slash the fat around the edges to keep them from curling.

Can't Eat Nuts? Make Raisin Crunch Candy

Place 1 cup raisins in buttered 8-inch square pan. Boil together 1/2 cup butter and 1 cup brown sugar to hard ball stage. Pour over raisins. Top with 1 (6 ounce) package semi sweet chocolate pieces, spreading as they melt.

Chill 'firm, then break into pieces. They're delectable tidbits for an evening of bridge or TV.

ASTHMA & BRONCHITIS

A quick easy way to combat difficult breathing, coughing, rattling and wheezing due to respiratory attacks of Bronchitis, Asthma and Emphysema is by taking liquid MENTADOL. Also fast to soothe allergy, cold, bronchitis and help ease into sleep, MENTADOL. This usually easy breathing fast, always cough-removes bronchitis, cold, flu, MENTADOL at drugstore. Let it help you.

Authority Proposed to Aid Light Aircraft

DETROIT (U) — The Michigan Aeronautics Commission proposed yesterday formation of a Detroit metropolitan airport authority to solve the problem of providing sufficient airports in a six-county area for light aircraft.

The commission said it would cooperate in forming such a new organization.

The proposal came at a commission meeting at Detroit Metropolitan Airport, where an airplane owner complained it was impossible for any more small civilian aircraft to be sheltered or tied down.

Life Expectancy of Paperbacks to Be Discussed

The life expectancy of paperback books will be discussed by school librarians today at a meeting at Oakland schools.

Mrs. Nell Wagner, librarian at Saginaw High School, will demonstrate a method of reinforcing paperbacks so that 50 instead of six readers can use them.

In addition, a mobile book store — stocking paperbacks only — will be brought to the 4:30 p.m. meeting.

The librarians will be able to inspect 6,000 different volumes available for school libraries in paperback form.

Victim of Cave-In Listed as Critical

Injured in a cave-in Monday afternoon at a Bloomfield Township construction project, Woodrow W. Smith, 34, of Detroit was still in critical condition this morning.

Smith, according to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital officials, has not regained consciousness since the mishap.

He was one of three men trapped under a huge pile of dirt and a tandem dump truck when the side of an excavation gave way.

The accident occurred on Squirrel Road south of Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Township.

October Revenue Up on Mackinac Bridge

ST IGNACE (U) — Mackinac Bridge revenues for the month of October totaled $95,843, an all-time high and 14.6 per cent over October of 1962, according to Prentiss M. Brown, bridge authority chairman.

Bridge traffic was up 16 per cent over October 1962, Brown said. He attributed the increase to "a combination of unseasonably mild weather, improved economic conditions and the new freeways from the southern counties."

Three thousand years ago in Egypt, children were taught to read and write at age 4. School teachers corrected their pupils' papyrus worksheets with red ink.

Requiem Mass Offered for Veteran Reporter

CHICAGO (UPI) — Requiem Mass will be offered tomorrow for Laurence W. (Larry) Kelley, 57, who as a reporter for the old Chicago Herald & Examiner was the first to interview Charles A. Lindbergh after the kidnap-slaying of Lindbergh's son in 1932.

member for the Chicago Sun and worked for the Tribune, the old Sunday Herald-American, the present Chicago American, and the Southtown Economist.

Depressed areas have found that new airports not only increase local interest in flying but are also attracting new industry.

Route Number Switch on 2 Interstate Roads

LANSING (UPI) — The route numbers of two interstate highways in West Michigan will be switched early next year, reports the State Highway Department.

The number of the interstate freeway from Grand Rapids to Muskegon will be changed from

I-196 to I-96. The Benton Harbor-Grand Rapids freeway, now designated as I-96, will become I-196.

New Kazoo Mayor

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Dr. Raymond L. Hightower won the mayor's race here yesterday to replace Paul E. Morrison, who decided to quit the post.

Playboy-Bible Pack Gets Seller Arrested

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (UPI) — A fast-talking salesman who sold Bibles packaged with a subscription to Playboy Magazine was arrested here yesterday.

Police charged David Lee Miller, 28, of Baltimore, Md., with obtaining money under false pretenses after one of his customers complained. Officers said Miller, who claimed to represent a nonexistent firm, sold 20 of his package deals for about $250.

In Denmark, industrial products — machinery, textiles, metals and chemicals — have replaced agricultural commodities as the major exports.

Hollywood Stars Fear Freeway Will Disturb Their Homes

By DIAL TORGERSON

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Actor Clifton Webb gazed at his sprawling, Mediterranean-junk estate mansion, and wondered what it would look like with a freeway running over the top of it.

Said Webb: "No one ever thought it could happen here." But it could, and it might.

In all this city's Mediterranean-junk mansions—not to mention the glass-walled moderns, the French provincials and the Williamsburg colonials—there is a name to conjure fear. The Beverly Hills Freeway.

LINKING ROADS
The state has two freeways—one of which happened years ago to Hollywood, and the other which happened recently to West Los Angeles. It wants to link them so people can get from West Los Angeles to Hollywood.

To connect them, freeway builders announced that they planned the Beverly Hills Freeway — multiple lanes speeding traffic swiftly and smoothly through the sovereign city of Beverly Hills.

Then came a howl of complaints.

Rosalind Russell and Lucille Ball went to protest meetings.

Novelist Irving Stone wrote fund-raising letters for the freeway fighters. The anti-freeway instantly.

HE PROTESTS — Actor Clifton Webb gestures from a stone wall at his sprawling mansion in Beverly Hills, Calif., to show where a projected freeway has been planned.

Big names like Debbie Reynolds had their press agents grind out suitable sentiments.

For Debbie, for instance: "What a shame to ruin one of Southern California's most beautiful areas! I believe in progress but not at the price of beauty, if there is an alternate choice."

Part of the beauty presumably includes the white marble mansion where Debbie dwells with her millionaire husband, shoe manufacturer Harry Karl. Residents of the hill section of Beverly Hills — which is, truly, one of the nation's loveliest residential areas — have decided unanimously that the best place for the freeway is a mile south, under Santa Monica Boulevard. As Rosalind Russell explains it:

SORT OF TUNNEL

"It's called cut and cover, I believe. They cut out the space, put the freeway in it, and cover it over. And there would be no offramps, or onramps. Sort of like a tunnel, you might say."

Exactly like a tunnel, to be precise.

The Beverly Hills Improvement Association wants this cut-and-cover freeway tunneled through the business part of the city, from which neither fume nor commuter could presumably escape.

"There's no question but what a freeway is needed," said Miss Russell. "But they would not have to have offramps. It would only go through Beverly Hills for a mile and a quarter. People could get off before Beverly Hills, or afterward. That way Beverly Hills could be left intact."

Miss Russell has lived 20 years in her French provincial home, built by actress Mary Boland, on Beverly Drive. The

HIGHER COST
"We are studying the cut-and-cover plan," said a state highway division spokesman. "It could be done, but at a much higher cost. There would be the problems of lighting it, and ventilating it."

The exact route through Beverly Hills won't be selected until perhaps January, and the freeway itself probably won't be built for 10 years.

The state plans, of course, to pay for any property condemned. The homes in the hillside area, where the proposed route runs, would cost an estimated $250,000 each.

Those who wouldn't lose homes to the advancing lanes of concrete fear what they call "freeway blight" — a damaging of property values because of noise, smoke, and intruding motorists.

PROTEST MEETING
Meanwhile, the state has to send delegates to each protest meeting to listen to the opinions of people who fear a freeway would harm Beverly Hills.

"There is something touching about these meetings," said Mrs. Merle Kingley, wife of a manufacturer, and a leader in the anti-freeway group. "They have the flavor of the old-fashioned New England town hall meetings."

All agree that bisecting Beverly Hills with a freeway would destroy the charm, the exclusive, elegant quality which, they feel, is Beverly Hills.

"I just don't want to see a freeway ruin the town," said Lucille Ball.

The thought appeals actor Webb. "Where would one go?" he asked.

Or, as author Stone put it: "I've lived in New York, Paris and Rome. I don't wish to have to go back. I don't want to go back to San Francisco, where I was born, or even to Florence, which I love dearly."

"When I travel, this is the place to which I wish to return. This is my home."

City Installs Lights on Perimeter Road

City forces are currently in the midst of the biggest street light installation in Pontiac since new lights were put on Baldwin and Auburn in the late 1940's.

Some 165 street light units are being installed alongside that portion of Pontiac's perimeter road now under construction.

Cost of lighting the loop road from its starting point at Park and South Saginaw to West Huron is estimated at $49,343.

Lighting the entire road around the central business district should reach about $77,250 and call for 149 units when the final road section has been completed.

WELL-LIGHTED
"Whatever sections are opened to traffic this year will be well lighted," assured Roy Hetherington, city electrical superintendent.

"Perimeter road lights have been installed from Oakland to West Huron, and on Cass from Sanderson to the point where Cass meets the big highway at Lafayette," he said.

The new units should be all hooked up and ready to operate within two weeks. New light poles are going up on the east side now.

The lights are 400-watt, mercury vapor units. "The only other place in Pontiac that we have this type of light in use is on East Pike between Mill and Saginaw," said Hetherington.

SUPERIOR ILLUMINATION
"They are generally accepted as superior to fluorescent lighting for illuminating streets because we can much better control the beam, and therefore pinpoint the area to be illuminated."

Crews started setting light poles last Saturday. The city bears the cost of perimeter road street lights, while the state bears a major portion of the cost of traffic signals.

Motorist Put on Probation

John B. Crampton, 26, of 7729 Laven, Independence Township, was placed on a year's probation and ordered to pay $100 costs yesterday for driving under the influence of liquor.

Crampton was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams.

Though originally charged with the high misdemeanor of a second offense of driving under the influence of liquor, Crampton was allowed to plead guilty Sept. 24 to the lesser charge without the second offense designation.

School Worker Jailed for Theft

A school custodian with a long criminal record, who admitted some 40 burglaries in the Milford area, was sentenced yesterday to 5 to 15 years in prison.

Given the prison term by Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziern was Raymond McPhee, 36, of 10950 Elizabeth Lake, White Lake Township.

McPhee pleaded guilty Oct. 7 to breaking into the Lee Brooks Elementary School in White Lake Township. He entered through a window he broke and took typewriters, a tape recorder and other equipment.

He admitted the burglaries, 20 of which were committed at schools, when police questioned him about his absence from his job when one of the break-ins took place.

TOOK SON ALONG
Police said he told them he had taken his 13-year-old son with him on one occasion.

On parole at the time of his arrest, McPhee has served time twice on bad check convictions. His record also shows auto theft and a number of misdemeanor offenses.

CADILLAC (UPI) — I. T. Wedin was re-elected mayor of Cadillac yesterday with 1,817 votes over Fred Weber, who had 683. The First Ward elected Commissioner Charles Underwood with 1,164 votes.

Learn Boxing, Self-Defense; All for Co-Eds

GREENSBORO, N.C. (U) — A Long Island, N.Y., advertiser wants students at the University of North Carolina branch here to take up boxing.

An ad in the current issue of the Carolinian, student newspaper, urges readers to "learn to box—be a master in the art of self defense."

Perhaps the advertiser was misled by the branch's new name—the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. It used to be Women's College of the University of North Carolina.

And 99 per cent of its student body remains very much female.

New Mexico Prison Camp 'a Bargain'

TIERRA AMARILLA, N.M. (U) — Warden Harold A. Cox calls New Mexico Penitentiary's first forestry prison camp "a taxpayer's bargain."

Cox said the cost of keeping a prisoner at the camp is between $2 and $2.50 a day, compared with $3.85 a day in the penitentiary.

Camp work includes fire fighting and conservation and building projects in state forests and parks.

Associate warden C.E. Walker said the camp, which opened in July, is a vital part of the penitentiary rehabilitation program. He said many of the men are due for release in a relatively short time and the transition from prison regimentation to the camp is a valuable opportunity for them.

Greeks Develop Lakes as Gambit for Tourists

ATHENS (U) — The Greek National Tourist Association has started work to develop the little Prespa and big Prespa Lake area near the Greek-Yugoslav frontier as a tourist zone.

Work will be completed by the spring of 1964 for facilities to accommodate 300 to 400 tourists at a time in the region.

Psychiatry Can't Be Exact Science

By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK (UPI) — Since Dr. Russell Barton is a psychiatrist, he is friendly toward psychiatry but in his mind it is important for both psychiatrists and the public to recognize psychiatry is not an exact science like other sciences.

"To assert that some experience and behavior is abnormal implies that normality has been established," he said. "But the range of normal experience and behavior has never been satisfactorily scientifically established."

"For example, in a depressive illness we cannot measure the feeling of misery, unhappiness, gloom, dejection. We can assess it as morbid because it is prolonged, because it does not seek to have an adequate cause (judging 'adequacy' by our previous experience and common sense) or because it is accompanied by other symptoms and signs."

"But there is no way of telling whether the misery is more intense than that experienced, say, in grief at the death of a loved one, by a child unjustly punished, by a conscientious man who has just failed to get promotion, or by a jilted lover."

MAKES COMPARISON

He compared the two specialties, psychiatry and surgery. "The surgeon can't leap to any conclusions because if he does subsequent events, such as the findings of an autopsy, could 'make him look a fool.'"

There is no such exacting scientific reliance on the psychiatrist, and, Barton continued, "some surgeons view psychiatrists with envy and suspicion because they sometimes make startling pronouncements obviously not arrived at with scientific discipline yet claiming the same warrant as the surgeon's systematic conclusions."

Because mental disorders are not yet subject to precise scientific definition and comparisons and because their root causes are factually unknown, Barton recognized a difference between the attitudes of the psychiatrist and the exact scientist.

The latter "is not trusting. He will not accord the status of fact to what he is told unless it can be supported by reliable observation and preferably demonstrated in his own laboratory." But the psychiatrist is the "open-minded man."

CAN'T SEE TRUTH

Such a man "is occasionally duped by specious suggestions and occasionally fails to recognize the truth, but usually, being neither too suggestive nor too suspicious, makes sound and accurate judgments about most things."

The common sense approach is unable to cope fully with mental disorder but "at present a rigidly scientific approach would lead to despair and would have to ignore so much that it is doubtful if the object of our study, the sick patient, would be helped."

In his view psychiatrists in their dealings with distressed human beings "must accept a background of common sense, using science where possible, and never forgetting that the 'facts' we state and the predictions we make in psychiatry today have not the same validity as facts and predictions in most other sciences."

Barton practices psychiatry in London. He developed his attitudes in a series of lectures.

Reuther, Asks Board to Plan Disarmament

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers AFL-CIO, believes that a "national peace planning board" should be created to plan for disarmament just as the nation plans for defense.

Reuther said yesterday the United States cannot drop its guard, but neither can it ignore what he termed "the challenge of a peace race with the Soviet Union." He said the signing of the nuclear test-ban treaty has made arms reduction with inspection a possibility.

The population of India is 10-15,000,000 persons each calendar year, creating at a rate of about year.

Council Eyes Diocese Control

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Proposals before the Vatican Ecumenical Council to extend the powers of Roman Catholic bishops beyond their dioceses promise to generate intense heat. The issue is where to draw the line.

The 2,300 council fathers today began their second day of general discussion of a schema titled "Bishops and Government of Dioceses." Tuesday's 12 speakers all were dissatisfied with the draft.

The cardinals, bishops, abbots and other prelates probably will try to work out extensive amendments rather than call for the rewriting of the schema.

PERIODIC MEETING

At the heart of the schema is the national or regional episcopal conference, a periodic meeting of all the bishops of a country or geographic region.

At present there is no body with real power between the Vatican Curia — the church's central administration — and the bishop in his diocese. National episcopal conferences are encouraged by canon law, last revised in 1918. But canon law says nothing about such bodies possessing authority.

Most speakers were eager that the diocesan government schema, which was written last April, reflect two recent major developments—Pope Paul VI's address on Sept. 21 calling for reform and decentralization of the Curia's vast powers, and the

Police Study Dart Gun Use

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York police force is studying a dart gun for possible use against criminals.

"It is a possible humane weapon of the future," a department spokesman said Tuesday. The gun fires a dart containing a general anesthetic, which acts on the human target like a hypodermic needle and puts him to sleep. Similar weapons have been used to capture animals.

The darts have a maximum accurate range of 45 yards, and can be fired from an air gun, a shotgun or certain types of pistols.

School Bond Beaten

MESICK (UPI) — A $970,000 school bond issue was defeated in Mesick, 361 to 129. The proposal would have provided new high school facilities, including construction of a new building and repair of the existing facility.

council's test vote last week showing most members favor a theological concept that all bishops share with the Pope in responsibility for governing the entire Church.

James Francis Cardinal McIntyre of Los Angeles, however, was more concerned with the schema's idea of putting teeth into national and regional episcopal conferences by defining a juridical status for them.

RADICAL CHANGE

He said a radical change in church structure and a danger to internal church unity could result.

Archbishop Leo Binz of St. Paul, Minn., told newsmen he thought Cardinal McIntyre's thinking — an apparent reluctance to have to accept as binding whatever a national episcopal conference should decide — would prove to be the feeling of about two-thirds of the United States bishops.

Archbishop Binz suggested one possible solution would be for the decision of an episcopal conference to be binding only when it has the approval of two-thirds of the bishops and the concurrence of the Pope.

4 Area Motorists Give Up Licenses

Four-area motorists recently had their drivers' licenses either suspended or revoked by the Michigan Department of State.

John E. Patterson, 57195, Ten Mile Road, South Lyon, was ordered to show proof of financial responsibility after being convicted of drunken driving.

Michael E. Cadwallader, 1402 Hiller, West Bloomfield Township, was ordered off the road because of an unsatisfactory driving record.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to unsatisfactory financial judgments against them were Richard M. Doyon, 32 Edna, and Jerry L. Spitzer, 1002 Dewey.

Grosse Pointe Voters Down Hospital Growth

GROSSE POINTE (UPI) — A divided City Council against permitting Bon Secours Hospital to expand in violation of zoning ordinances, 1,362 to 1,219.

The vote was advisory rather than binding to the council, which asked the electorate to decide the touchy question after an inconclusive public hearing last July.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Respiratory Hazards 1st Hurdle in Life

(Fourth of five related articles.)
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Before an infant is born his heart and kidneys and skeletal muscles are already working.

His lungs, however, do not expand until birth has been completed. The change from inactivity to function in the respiratory system is therefore sudden and must be accomplished smoothly, or the infant is in trouble.

About 25,000 premature die annually in the United States of lung difficulties.

Indeed, the so-called respiratory distress syndrome is the chief cause of death in the newborn.

Although the cause is not precisely known, several factors may be responsible.

In any individual case one or more of these may be operating.

INHALE FLUID
In some cases, the infant may have inhaled some of the fluid that surrounds it prior to birth.

In some, too great a concentration of oxygen in the incubator has been blamed.

Recent studies have shown that clamping the umbilical cord before the baby has taken more than one breath is an important cause.

Another factor is an obscure condition known as hyaline membrane disease.

When the umbilical cord is clamped before breathing is established, the blood pressure in the infant's not-yet fully expanded lungs is so great that the blood plasma may be forced into some of the air sacs.

LUNG SURFACE
This, like drowning from within, cuts down the lung surface that is available for the exchange of oxygen and carbon dioxide in the blood.

The cause of the hyaline membrane disease is still not well understood. A positive diagnosis of this condition is frequently not possible until an examination of the infant is made after death.

In this condition, much of the surface in the air sacs is coated with a membrane that either does not form in fully developed infants or is dissolved by enzymes in the lungs before birth.

In either case, it is clear that an infant needs nearly the full term of pregnancy in order for his lungs to function properly at birth.

RAPID, GASPING
No matter what the cause of the respiratory distress syndrome, the baby's respirations are rapid and gasping.

He must be kept lying on his stomach to prevent further complications from inhaling mucus, saliva or stomach contents.

His stomach must be emptied by aspiration. If necessary, and oxygen must be given, preferably under increased pressure in an air-tight incubator.

About 50 per cent of all infants with this disease die within 48 hours.

RECOVERY CHANCE
If they live three or four days they have a fair chance of recovery, but even then there is danger that the disease may have weakened the heart or left the baby in poor shape to withstand infections.

In spite of all the medical advances of the past 50 years, we cannot do so well for the underdeveloped infant as nature can do by keeping him inside his mother's body until full term is reached.

Which sandwich feels insecure?

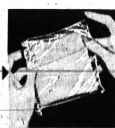

This one might get stale or leak. It might even fall out. You and your sandwich are just never sure with these old-type sandwich bags that come on a roll. They don't have tops. (They've even been known to empty their contents onto unsuspecting laps. Horrors!)

Ah, security...for you and your sandwiches. New Glad Bags have a top that locks! The Fold-Lock Top locks in the sandwich, locks in the freshness.

And—surprise! New Glad Bags are more economical. You get 75 Glad Bags in a handy lift-out box instead of 50 of the kind you tear off a roll. But the price is the same!

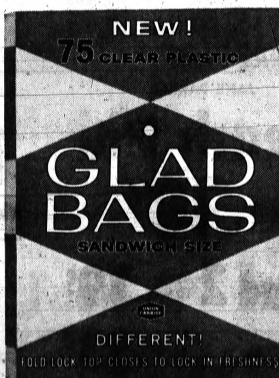

Here you see what makes Glad Bags so special. First, the back flap is extra long so you can tuck it in over the sandwich. Then you flip on the front inside out, so it folds over top of the bag. With these two quick folds the freshness is locked inside!

Big Utility Size, Too!

Try new Utility Size Glad Bags too. They're 25% thicker for greater strength than most bags that come on a roll—so they're strong enough for storing heavy items like your good silver, for keeping bulky foods and for freezing.

Add Oysters to Rich Chowder

For Sunday night supper, Saturday noon lunch or after skating or a football game, many hostesses like to serve a heavy, hearty soup. This one is a bit unusual and very, very good. The heating of the oysters in a thickened sauce to prevent shrinkage was learned long ago and the method is good for making a traditional oyster stew. Heated in a thickened sauce, the oysters stay plump, attractive and savory.

Corn and Oyster Chowder
1 can (12-oz.) cream style corn

1 can (3 oz.) chopped broiled mushrooms
1 quart milk
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons minced onion
2 tablespoons flour
¾ cup clam broth or chicken bouillon
16 ounces frozen oysters, drained
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
Place corn and mushrooms, including broth, in a 2-quart saucepan. Add milk then heat thoroughly.

Meanwhile, melt butter in small skillet. Add onion and cook about 5 minutes, stirring constantly.

Halve the drained oysters, if large, then add to the sauce and cook only until the edges begin to curl. Combine oysters with the hot milk and corn mixture. Heat thoroughly. Add salt and paprika.

Serve immediately in large soup bowls accompanied with oyster crackers. Makes 6 generous servings.

Lettuce Seeds Have Hair Tufts

Did you know that western iceberg lettuce was a member of the flying fraternity? Seeds with tufts of hair or scales are known as parachute fruits, because these bristles act as tiny parachutes that lift the seeds when the wind blows, or the lawn mower whirs by.

Not only lettuce seeds, but seeds from maple and elm trees, or as any lawn fancier can tell you — dandelions — are members of the plant world's flying squad.

This may be the way lettuce was carried from Asia Minor (centuries ago) to northern Europe. There, in the colder climate, lettuce ceased to be loose and stemmy as it was in the Mediterranean basin, and became the firm, crisphead lettuce we know today as iceberg or western iceberg. 80% of the commercial lettuce is grown in California and Arizona.

Stick half a dozen whole cloves into an onion and add it to the water if, which you are simmering a smoked tongue.

Some Sizes to Substitute

When a quantity recipe says serve with a certain size dipper, and you don't have a dipper, here are approximate measuring cup, sizes to substitute:

No. 12 dipper ¼ cup
No. 16 dipper ½ cup
No. 20 dipper ¾ cup
No. 30 dipper 1 ½ cups

It pays to use a dipper or measuring cup in serving ice cream, mashed potatoes, fruit salad or potato salad at church suppers. Uniform servings keep costs down, customers happy.

Peanut Butter Gives Pudding Nutty Taste

There's nothing like a delicious pudding to please all members of the family unless it's a pudding plus peanut butter. Next time you're preparing a package of butterscotch or chocolate pudding and pie filling, start with ¼ cup of peanut butter in the saucepan. Cream the peanut butter until it is softened. Then gradually add 2 cups of milk, stirring constantly until blended. Add pudding mix and blend well before cooking as directed on the package.

Follow the Rules if You're Going to Freeze Meat

CHICAGO—In grandma's day, the freezing of food was an accident that might happen when the cold weather set in. Today many a homemaker's daily menu depends on her frozen food supply.

To get the utmost use and convenience out of home freezer storage space, food needs to be frozen properly. Here are some basic rules about frozen meat from the American Meat Institute.

Refrigerate meat promptly after purchase. The meat has been kept under refrigeration constantly in the super market to preserve its goodness and it deserves the same kind of treatment in your home.

If you plan to freeze the meat, do it as soon as possible. The fresher the meat, the better its keeping quality will be while frozen. Remember, freezing doesn't improve meat; it can only keep the meat as good as it was before freezing.

Wrap meat in meat-size portions, planning on guest meals as well as family meals. Rotate frozen meats so you use first the food which has been stored longest.

Before freezing, have the meat ready for cooking—prepared, shaped, and trimmed just as you want to cook it. For stews, bone and cube before freezing. For beef loaves and patties, grind meat before freezing. Season meat, if you like, with salt and pepper and/or other dry seasonings.

For shorter periods in the freezer (no longer than one to two weeks), prepackaged self-service meats may be frozen in the original store package (film and board or tray). Make sure, though, that there are no breaks in the package.

For longer periods in the freezer, use special freezer wrapping materials. Either of the following methods of wrapping is recommended. A single moisture-vapor-proof sheet or bag which may be tied, taped, heat-sealed, or folded. This single sheet should be strong enough to resist puncturing and tearing.

Or a double wrap consisting of:

a. An inner wrap of moisture-vapor-proof paper, cellophane, polyfilm, aluminum foil, or other special-freezer storage types of packaging materials available on the market. (Ordinary waxed paper is not moisture-vapor-proof and therefore is not satisfactory.)

b. An outer wrap of special packaging material or heavy wrapping paper. If an outer wrap of high heat insulating value is used (several thicknesses of wrapping paper, for example), the meat should be inner wrapped and frozen before the outer wrap is applied.

Meats wrapped in ordinary market paper should be unwrapped and then rewrapped for freezing as outlined here.

A satisfactory method of making a package for freezing is as follows:

1. Use enough paper so the edges may be folded down at least three times.

2. Place the meat in the center of the paper.

3. Separate individual servings (such as steaks, chops, or ground meat patties) with sheets of freezer paper so they will come apart easily before cooking.

4. Bring two edges of paper together above the meat and fold down in ½-inch to 1-inch folds until the paper is tight against the meat.

5. Press the wrap closely to the meat to force out air.

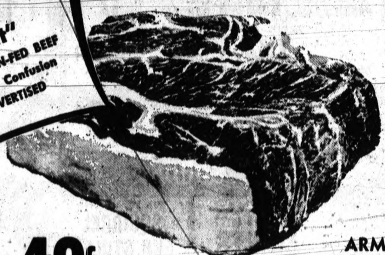

6. Seal edges carefully with freezer tape, or fold over ends at least twice and tie securely. Mark each frozen meat package to show contents, number of servings and date of freezing. Freeze meats promptly at 0 degrees F. or lower.

JUST SAY: "Charge It" FREE PARKING AT OLD COURT HOUSE LOT

Heat's Off, Otto Just Having Fun

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—Who is the happiest football coach in the United States today? "I am," insists Otto Graham, a great quarterback who turned down scores of coaching offers to coach football and direct athletics at the Coast Guard Academy.

There is none of the big-time pressure to win, but the 42-year-old Graham, now a full commander, and his cadets have won all six of their games this season. The Cadets are a solid favorite to take their seventh straight against Central Connecticut State, 1-5, Saturday in one of their two remaining games.

In the 21 years that football has been played at the academy, the best previous mark was 6-1 in 1951.

"It's amazing what he has done since coming here," an academy official said.

"I'm just having lots of fun," said Graham, an All-America at Northwestern and an all-pro with the Cleveland Browns.

"I'm more convinced than ever that I made a wise choice in coming here," he added.

In five years here, Graham reportedly has turned down more offers than most coaches get in a lifetime. His record so far is 23-14.

Said Graham:

"What I like about it here is that we don't have to win at all costs. We want to win, yes, but there's no premium on it. More important, we've been having lots of fun, the players and I."

Deadline Approaching for Press Bowlerama Contestants

Traditional Grid Contests Slated by Preps This Week

The league races are about over and many teams have packed away the grid uniforms, but some traditional games still dot the prep card this weekend. Two of the bigger ones will find Lake Orion playing host to Oxford and Waterford Township meeting Waterford Kettering.

The rapidly developing Avondale-Rochester athletic feud will pick up Friday night at Avondale while Pontiac Central will meet a traditional Saginaw Valley Conference foe at Flint Northern.

Romeo will do battle with Ulica, Holly has a big game with Ulica, and Birmingham Seaholm will play Southfield. Walled Lake will clash with North Farmington and Armada will visit Richmond.

The big Royal Oak rivalry will have Kimball meeting Dendero, while Ferndale will seek the Eastern Michigan League crown at Hazel Park, and East Detroit has an EML contest at Port Huron.

SATURDAY GAME

In Saturday action, Emmanuel Christian will entertain St. Frederick at 2 p.m. on the Wisner Stadium turf, while Royal Shrine will meet Harper Woods Notre Dame in the Soup Bowl game that night at Titan Stadium.

A Friday afternoon contest will find Detroit Country Day playing the Cranbrook reserves, Oakland A champion Fitzgerald will meet Center Line that night and North Branch will journey to Bridgeport for a non-league clash.

Oxford will be favored to

Deer Shoots Back at Idaho Hunter

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (UPI)—The deer shot back. Hunter Bruce Beasley of Idaho Falls bagged his buck yesterday, but the deer got his revenge.

While Beasley and a companion were carrying the deer out of the Fall Creek area east of here, one of its hooves tripped the trigger of a .357 pistol the Idaho Falls man was carrying.

Beasley was in good condition today with a bullet in his right leg.

GAINS RECOGNITION—This season's switch from fullback to guard-linebacker for Michigan State's Earl Lattimer proved a good one last weekend. The veteran Spartan was voted the Associated Press College Lineman of the Week for his outstanding two-way play in MSU's 30-13 upset of Wisconsin Saturday. Don Japiga, Spartan defensive specialist, discusses with Lattimer this week's encounter with Purdue.

Spartan 'Acrobat' Lineman of Week

EAST LANSING (AP)—Earl Lattimer, a Michigan State guard and linebacker who frequently delights the crowd by turning a somersault when running up to his position, has been named Associated Press Lineman of the Week.

"Lattimer is a great morale builder," said offensive line coach Gordon Serr. "He's one of those fellows who talks it up."

Head coach Duffy Daugherty said Lattimer showed a particularly fine attitude in accepting the switch from a ball-carrying back to a blocking lineman.

"He's come through beautifully both offensively and defensively," Daugherty said. "One of our best linemen all season."

Another Big Ten nominee for top lineman honors was Dick Butkus, 235-pound junior Illinois center and linebacker. Butkus led the rush against Purdue quarterback Ron Digavrie to keep the Illini in Big Ten title contention with a 41-21 win.

A leading West Coast nominee was a Norwegian skier, Koll Hagen, converted to American football and doing stand-out work at guard for the University of Washington.

average its loss to Lake Orion last season when the two clash Friday night. The Wildcats won a share of the Tri-County crown with their 6-2 log this season.

The winner of the Kettering-Waterford clash at 8 p.m. Friday night will garner 100 points toward the All Sports Trophy in addition to the satisfaction of a win over an arch rival.

Avondale took a 27-12 pounding from Rochester in the season finale last year and may not be in the Falcons' class again this season.

This year's contest will mark the first O-A loop game between the two near-by schools. Rochester is 3-3 at present and the Yellow Jackets are 2-4 in the league.

Pontiac Central's contest at Flint will be the Chiefs' last chance for a SVC victory in football this year. They have not won once in seven starts this season and have a big game with Intra-city rival Pontiac Northern following the Flint Northern game.

Syracuse Hit by 'Lightning'

Pitt Flash Honored for Igniting Rolly

By The Associated Press

The game was half over, and Pittsburgh was taking a football beating from Syracuse. Going into the third period, the New Yorkers were ahead 21-8.

A swirling snow storm played hide-and-seek with the sun at Pitt Stadium. Lightning flashed. There were sharp thunderclaps.

Then, a bolt struck Syracuse—190-pound, 5-foot-10 bolt Fred Mazurek.

Mazurek streaked 41 yards for a touchdown. He began hitting targets with short passes and, before you knew it, Pitt had scored again.

Manurek shot a pass to end Al Giralgamas: touchdown No. 3 in the quarter, and Pitt led 28-21.

Syracuse added another touchdown in the fourth period. Mazurek went down under a pile of tacklers and had to leave the game with a leg injury. Just before the end, he hobbled back onto the field and drove his team to a clinching score.

The slippery, hard-running quarterback rolled up a total of 255 yards, running and passing. He ran 22 times for 119 yards.

Seaholm's final game at Southfield will find the Maples more interested in the outcome of the Hazel Park-Ferndale contest than the one they are playing.

Ferndale can take the EML title by winning while Seaholm would back in should the Eagles lose. A tie at Hazel Park would give the Maples a share of the championship.

Walled Lake is meeting North Farmington for the first time and will be favored, while Holly will be the underdog at Fenton.

Heavyweight Title Bout Scheduled for February

DENVER (AP)—Mid-February is the time and Los Angeles probably the site for Sonny Liston's defense of his heavyweight boxing championship against Cassius Clay.

In a zany setting Tuesday, they signed contracts for a 15-round title fight expected to gross a record $6 to $8 million.

Two separate Los Angeles groups, one headed by former champion Joe Louis, offered guarantees of more than $1 million for the right to stage the battle.

Jack Nilon, Liston's adviser, said other bids have been received from Minneapolis, Chicago, Miami and Las Vegas. He said the site will be announced within two weeks.

Clay, unbeaten since turning pro in 1960, will get 22½ per cent of the receipts—described as a record for a challenger. Liston, who received 12½ per cent in his challenge fight against Floyd Patterson in Chicago, will get 40 per cent.

Stunts spiced the contract signing at the Denver Hilton. Shouting, "I'm the greatest, here comes the next champion," Clay swaggered in the room.

FUR GLOVES

Liston, who alternately frowned and smiled, pulled out a pair of rabbit fur-covered boxing gloves and asked Clay if he wanted the champion to wear those for Clay's safety.

Clay seemed at a loss for words before waving off the offer with his oft-repeated: "I'm the greatest, I ain't scared of nobody."

Liston's aides then produced a near life-sized photograph of the champion, which he presented to Clay. Inscribed across the photo was this message from Liston:

"Well, Cassius—now that we have signed I don't want nothing to happen to you. I am sending my picture along to guard you."

Clay responded with a right

POETIC LICENSE?—Apparently Cassius (The Poet) Clay feels it is okay to get in a bit on or two before the bell tolls for round one of his now-scheduled-for-championship fight with smiling heavyweight king Sonny Liston (seated at right). Fortunately (for someone), the talkative Clay was restrained "just 10 minutes" by amused onlookers at the Denver, Colo. hotel signing ceremonies yesterday. Clay's attorney Gordon Davidson shields himself in the middle.

'Poet' Cassius Orbits Liston in Latest Ode

DENVER (AP)—Cassius Clay recited a space-age ode here after agreeing to fight Sonny Liston for the world's heavyweight boxing championship in February.

"Liston scored one-round knockouts over Patterson in winning the title at Chicago and in their return match at Las Vegas last July. The second victory over Patterson was his 28th straight and his 35th in 36 bouts."

"If Liston goes back an inch farther he'll end up in a ring-side seat."

Liston keeps backing but there's not enough room. "It's a matter of time until Clay lowers the boom."

"Then Clay lands with a right—what a beautiful swing. And the punch raises the bear clear out of the ring."

"Liston is still rising and the ref wears a frown."

"But he can't start counting until Sonny comes down."

"Now Liston disappears from view; the crowd is getting frantic."

"But our radar stations have picked him up somewhere over the Atlantic."

"Who on earth thought when they came to the fight, 'That they would witness the launching of a human satellite'?"

"Yes—the crowd did not dream when they laid down their money."

"That they would see a total eclipse of the Sonny."

'M' Coach Triumphs in Pro Diving Meet

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (UPI)—University of Michigan diving coach, Dick Kimball, won the first annual world professional indoor diving championship yesterday at the Grossinger Country Club.

Kimball, 28, excelled in spot diving to amass a total of 244.35 points.

His rivals have no cause to rejoice. Tuesday night, Kurt Jarasinski, at 24, the most inexperienced member of his team, won the Democrat Memorial Challenge Trophy over nine testing jumps as the venerable National Horse Show opened an eight-day run in Madison Square Garden.

"We have a young team now," said the 46-year-old veteran horseman who is back in the United States as the non-riding captain of the West Germans. "It will be much more difficult. Actually, we don't have enough time to practice. Why, we had our first team meeting at the airport on the way over here."

Ski Jumping Hits Detroit

Artificial Run Set for Weekend Events

Only the form and equipment will be the same when Detroit holds its first Ski Jumping Tournament Saturday and Sunday at Farwell Field.

The jumpers will take off from an artificial plastic surface instead of snow or ice and they will land on shaved ice.

A steel scaffold, 128-foot high and 338-foot long, has been constructed adjacent to the Light Guard Armory where the second annual Detroit Ski Fair will be running also this weekend.

The ski jump, co-sponsored by the Metropolitan Detroit Ski Council and Briar Hill Ski Club from the Meisick, will begin at 1 p. m. each day and be covered by national television.

The tournament admission is $1 with children under 12 being admitted free if accompanied by an adult. Proceeds will go to the United States Olympic Ski team fund.

Invitations to participate in this weekend's jumping have been extended to 15 Michigan and out-of-state clubs, the U. S. Olympic jumping squad and the Canadian Olympic squad.

Series Offers Skiing Films

The Adventure in Skiing Series presented by the American Youth Hostels will open Nov. 20 in Detroit at the Ford Auditorium with "The White Search" film color.

A second film, "The Sound of Skiing," will be presented Nov. 27 as part of the series. Both programs are slated to begin at 8:20 p. m.

"The White Search" will include the attempts to break the world ski speed record at the Blue Mountain area of Portillo, Chile.

Slalom techniques and 1964 winter Olympic preparations at Innsbruck, Austria are included in the second program. Series tickets may be purchased at area ski shops and the Ford Auditorium box office.

Starr Tests Sore Hand in Green Bay Workout

Great Mephisto Returns for Saturday Wrestling

The Great Mephisto "And Valet" will return to the Pontiac wrestling stage Saturday night for a bout with Louis Kline. The match is one of four on the Saturday card which is slated to get under way at 8:30 p. m. at the Pontiac National Guard Armory.

In other bouts, Jimmy Sikany is paired with The Student, Lord Lansdowne meets Chief White Eagle and the midgets will grapple in the windup.

Upset Marks Touch Play

Pontiac Grid Teams Set for 2nd Round

One upset marked the start of play in the Pontiac Men's Touch Football League playoffs last night at Joyce Park.

West Side Lions dumped Lions, 6-0, on a Roger Reynolds-Bruce Reynolds pass play. The Lions were the only one of the loop's four top teams that did not advance to the playoff semifinals.

The regular season flag, winning Motor Mart Bandits, topped the Pontiac Packers, 27-6, as Mel Nuss, Dick Nichols, Chuck Graves and Don Kah scored touchdowns for the winners.

Al Costello tallied the only six points for the Packers, who trailed, 20-0, at halftime.

Chuck Woodmore hit Bob Gilmore and Sam Cole with touchdown passes and Gilmore ran a pass interception 50 yards to score as the Anderson All-Stars trimmed the GM Raiders, 19-0.

The other contest saw the Misfits win by forfeit over the Victors.

Thursday night the action will resume under the park lights with the Bandits tackling the All-Stars at 7 p. m. and the Misfits will meet the upset-minded West Side team at 8 p. m.

SKILL TO SPARE by Dick Weber

The 2-4-9 Move to the right, roll over the same arrow you use when going for a strike and aim for the 24 pocket.

The chances are you got this

Aim at the 24 Pocket

2-4-9 leave because you hit the 1-3 pocket a bit thin — hit more the 3 than the 1.

You probably had plenty of roll on the ball so it plowed through, taking the 5, but having so much zip it wasn't deflected enough to hit the 9.

At Airway Lanes last week, Joe Foster bowled a 253-211-622 in the Airway "B" Classic.

Jill Grace had a 270 game that night and Don Ogg a 652 series. Bill Landry rolled an all-spare game of 1871.

Doris Burgis of the Alley

Don Fuller's 23 is the top game in the GMC National League this season and Fairway Foods had the best team series, a 3188.

The Double Trouble Mixed League last week had a 224-592 by Ken Ashbaugh and 202 by Betty Farley. The "300" Friday Ladies Classic listed Dorothy White with a 552 and Mary Keller with 226-247 last week.

Lillian Davidowski's 201 topped the Royal Bowlerettes loop Friday and Alice Hefflin's 504 was best in the Wednesday Ladies Classic last week.

In the Friday afternoon Huron Ladies Matinee, Phyllis Derris had a 516 and Jane Mazza 202-514.

BOWLING

Jack McCluskey dominated the scene last week in the Wednesday Nite League action at Auburn Lanes.

He led 203-212-255 for a 690 effort to lead all the loop members. Jim Foster had the only other game over 225, a 231.

The action last week at Royal Recreation in Lake Orion featured a 247-617 combination by Ellen Kemmer of the Royalettes Bowling League.

The 617 was only the second 600 actual in the league's history. Her 247 also is a league high for this season.

At Montcalm Bowling Center last Saturday the Marimont Baptist Church Mixed League had a 509 by E. A. Lundeen, while Marion Bartley (87) and Marjorie-Pittsforth (84) and well above average among the distaffs.

FAIRGROUNDS Bev Kuscheil continues to shine among the Thursday Nite Ladies League members at Fairgrounds Bowling. She rolled 342-590 last week to edge Ethlyn Newcomb (206-560) for top honors.

Harold Pennell had 237-201-636 in the Thursday Nite Senior House loop last week.

Seven 600 series featured the action last Wednesday night in the Huron Bowl "A" League. Jim Casimiro hit 276-694 to lead all the men.

The Wolverine Entertainers' lead was cut to nine points.

That same day at Huron saw Mary Wood lead the Huron Hi-Los results with 237-208-582, continuing her fine performance this year. Oxford Matrices holds the team lead, aided by a 2443 series.

Ed Kleinschmidt's 222-201-608 bowling led the Goodfellows League Friday at "300" while Jim Whistler had a 214-302 duo. Among the Guys & Dolls bowlers, Al Schupback (245-613) and Clint Yerkes (255) were tops Friday.

Don Fuller's 23 is the top game in the GMC National League this season and Fairway Foods had the best team series, a 3188.

The Double Trouble Mixed League last week had a 224-592 by Ken Ashbaugh and 202 by Betty Farley. The "300" Friday Ladies Classic listed Dorothy White with a 552 and Mary Keller with 226-247 last week.

Lillian Davidowski's 201 topped the Royal Bowlerettes loop Friday and Alice Hefflin's 504 was best in the Wednesday Ladies Classic last week.

In the Friday afternoon Huron Ladies Matinee, Phyllis Derris had a 516 and Jane Mazza 202-514.

At Airway Lanes last week, Joe Foster bowled a 253-211-622 in the Airway "B" Classic.

Jill Grace had a 270 game that night and Don Ogg a 652 series. Bill Landry rolled an all-spare game of 1871.

Stringham 11 Advances in Grid Playoffs

Stringham advanced to the championship game of the youth Touch Football League playoffs in Waterford Township by shutting out the Wildcats last weekend, 34-0.

The win gave Stringham a 7-1 mark and the top record in the township recreation league. The playoffs will begin this weekend.

Scott Niederhucke paced Stringham's offense by running for three touchdowns and passing for two others.

Mark Goodman went one better by running for three and passing for a like number of six pointers in the 37-0 victory by the Hutton Bears over the Monteth Chargers.

Deer Season, Annual Press Contest Start Saturday

Long Dry Spell Caused Move by White Tails

Wet Areas Favored; Few Acorns Keeping Animals Elsewhere

Hunters may not find deer in their usual haunts because of the prolonged dry spell when Michigan's firearm seasons open Saturday in the western Upper Peninsula, and Nov. 15 elsewhere in the state.

The Pontiac Press' annual Big Deer Contest will start Saturday. The derby will run until noon Dec. 2, with $150 Savings Bond will be awarded to the Oakland County hunter entering the heaviest buck.

Unless the state has a snow-fall or there are some good soaking rains before the two openings, many whitetails will continue to stick close to streams, marshes and other water areas, according to the Conservation Department field men.

Normally, at this time of year, deer range in upland areas. Above the Straits, they usually retreat to areas of heavy cover when the snow starts to pile up and temperatures drop.

However, because of the early opener in the western Upper Peninsula, deer are still likely to be scattered throughout their summer range in this part of the state when the season starts.

ALL RESIDENTS

The Press contest is open to all residents of Oakland County. Only bucks taken in Michigan during the regular firearm seasons are eligible.

Deer are to be weighed on any state approved scales. A weight slip bearing the name of the hunter, person weighing the deer and a witness must be brought to The Press Sports Department. The buck must be viewed by a member of the Press staff to be eligible.

Pictures will be taken of all winners.

Average winning weight in six of the last seven years has been 229 pounds.

This year's generally poor acorn crop will also alter the hunting picture somewhat. For the most part, deer will not be found concentrated in their favorite feeding areas of other years as a result of the spotty crop.

Some of the best places for hunting deer will be along big bodies of water where acorn supplies exceed this summer's late frost.

Field observations point to another good-sized herd.

NEW LEADER—Joe French of Ortonville holds the three-pound, 12-ounce ringneck he entered in The Pontiac Press' Pheasant Contest. The bird, shot north of Seymour Lake, leads the weight division. French was hunting with Emmett Vliet (right) of Clarkston. The length leader is 40½ inches. The contest closes at noon next Monday.

Classes Set for Archery Instruction

The Pontiac recreation department will start its fall-winter archery program Nov. 13.

Instruction in the use of the bow and arrow at a beginning, intermediate and advanced level will be available for boys and girls, 8 years of age and up. Adults accompanied by a youth will be permitted to participate in the program.

Families are encouraged to take part as a group. All equipment is provided. Classes are scheduled for 5:30, 6:30, 7:30 and 8:30, and are conducted at the Straight Arrow Archery Range, 78 N. Pad-dock.

The first series of classes will run on Nov. 13, 20 and 27, Dec. 4, 11 and 18, and wind up on Jan. 7 and 15.

Olea Banks and his son, Wendell will be the instructors.

Registration will be taken the first night.

Further information on this program can be obtained from the recreation department, FE 3-7131.

How Not to Hunt Deer

LANSING (AP)—Dear Deer-Hunting Buddy:

You love your wife, don't you. Sure you do. So when you go hunting this fall, do these things:

1. Treat every gun as if it were unloaded.

2. Carry your gun loaded into camp or home. Don't bother to break it down or put it in the case.

3. Don't check the gun for obstructions. Dig it into the dirt a little at times. Take any ammunition offered the larger gauge shell your buddy has might be better.

4. Don't control the direction of the muzzle of the gun. Keep it aimed at your body, especially when crawling through fences. Keep the safety off at all times.

5. If you see something moving—shoot. It might be a deer wearing a red jacket. You might even get a cow or your hunting buddy. Make his wife a widow.

6. Wave the gun around like a cowboy in a western. Have fun with your loaded gun.

7. Leave the unattended gun loaded. Don't store the ammunition separately. Some kids might want to go "bang bang" playing cowboys and Indians.

8. Climb trees, go through fences and jump ditches with the loaded gun. At all times, pull the gun toward you by the muzzle.

9. When practice shooting, look for a hard, flat surface. Very interesting things happen when the bullets are deflected.

10. Drink it up while you are hunting. Get jolly the night before and take a jug into the woods.

Kirtland Warblers Nest Twice in '63

Kirtland Warblers, a bird population slowly being reduced, apparently decided to take matters into their own hands this year.

These ground nesting birds that spend their summers only in a stretch of pine in Michigan's north central Lower Peninsula, setup housekeeping twice.

This was reported by Bruce Radabaugh of Royal Oak at the 28th annual meeting of the Michigan Bird Banders Saturday at Oakland University.

Radabaugh pointed out that there are only about 500 pairs of these warblers and conservation officials are seeking to keep them from becoming extinct.

Wesley L. Hall and Marlin E. Marshall, both of Oxford, discussed gains made in raising more bluebirds which are now low in numbers.

FLY LARVA

They cited the blow fly larva as being the chief cause of a sudden drop in numbers among bluebirds. The larva is located in old nests that are put back into use in the spring.

Sergej Postupalsky of Warren, is censusing the bald eagle, blamed progress with taking nesting areas away from this large bird.

He cited road building, new resorts and lumbering along waterways, favorite nesting spots for the eagle. Insecticides used near water also was mentioned.

Conservation Department men also were on the program.

Jack Frye explained the department's program of netting and dyeing whistling swans. G. A. Ammon discussed woodcock banding.

Archery Hunt Planned Dec. 8 at Stylie Farm

The annual bow and arrow rabbit hunt will be Sunday, Dec. 8, at the Stylie Ferris Farm near Perry.

Proceeds from this hunt are used by the Owosso YMCA.

The hunt annually draws bowmen from across the state. Last year nearly 900 archers bagged 70 rabbits during their visit to the 2,000-acre "Cover-side Farms."

The day's activities begin with registration at 9 a.m. and a church service at 9:30. It has been requested that blunt arrows, not field point, be used for the hunt.

The Ferris Farm is located one mile north and one mile west of the M47 and M78 junction at Perry, midway between Flint and Lansing.

Dr. Daniel McGreen of Pontiac was re-elected president and Kay Peltis of Detroit was renamed secretary-treasurer. Hall was elected vice president.

Dream Comes True for Local Men

A dream came true for Lloyd Berry, 180 Rivera, and Joe Hiltz, Union Lake, while moose hunting near Blind River, Ont.

They decided it would raise a few eyebrows if the moose they shot were logged out of the woods without being cut up as is the usual practice.

The two hunters knocked over a 1,600-pound bull and a 1,200-pound cow.

How did they get the two large animals' out of the woods to camp where a truck was parked?

Guide Joe Negobe came up with the answer.

He suggested that they go see his father who was guiding 10 Bay City sportsmen in a nearby area. The men agreed to the task.

The bull was only 50 feet from water and was hauled on skids to the shore. With the moose aboard, the boat had only an inch or so of clearance as guide Joe eased it across the lake to camp.

LIGHTER LOAD

The men returned the next day and handled the lighter cow in the same manner.

When Berry and Hiltz boarded the truck to leave Allen's Northland Camp, the moose carcasses were aboard — headed for Oakland County.

Two other local hunters, Charles Overfield, 2546 David K. Waterford Township, and Charles Holloway, 639 Balboa, drove 1,000 miles to hunt near Perrault Falls, Ont.

Holloway scored on a 1,100-pound bull with an antler spread of 82½ inches. Overfield tagged an 800-pound cow.

"The trip was well worthwhile," said Holloway, "we sure had a good time." It was their first moose hunt.

The Oakland County Sportsmen's Club's South Dakota Safari has returned home.

"The pheasant hunting was almost unbelievable," said Safari leader Jack Greathouse of Dayton Plains. "We saw more birds than on previous trips."

Joining Greathouse were Al Becker, Walled Lake; Al Cross,

REAL WINNER—Ray Kempton, 824 Stirling, stands beside the large moose deer he shot in north central Wyoming on a recent trip. The five-pointer (10 eastern count) scored 142½ points by the Boone and Crockett system. The buck took first place in weekly competition of a contest in Worland, Wyo.

Deaths in Pontiac, Neighboring Areas

ALLAN W. HERSEE
Service for Allan W. Hersee, 70, of 138 Murphy will be at 2 p.m. Thursday in Denison John's Funeral Home with burial in Perry Mount Park Cemetery. Mr. Hersee, a retired pattern maker, died of a stroke Monday after an illness of several weeks.

A member of First Christian Church, he also belonged to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 108 and Oakland County Baracks No. 49. He was a life member of Oddfellows Lodge No. 766 F&AM, both in Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. Hersee leaves his wife, Gertrude.

MRS. GEORGE C. STARK
Service for Mrs. George C. (Breathie E.) Stark, 63, of 40 Hickory Lane, Waterford Township will be at 2 p.m. Friday in the D. E. Pursley Funeral Home.

Mrs. Stark died yesterday after a long illness.

Surviving are her husband; a son, Charles B. of Howell; three daughters, Mrs. Louise Davis of Torrence, Calif., Mrs. Helen Brustle of Waterford Township and Mrs. Betty Irwin of Pontiac.

Also surviving are 15 grandchildren; four great-grandchildren; and a sister.

School Wing Will Be Asked

Pontiac school officials will ask the school board tomorrow to give the green light to a proposed five-room addition to Mark Twain Elementary School, 729 Linda Vista.

Supt. Dana P. Whitmer will recommend that architectural planning begin for five new classrooms, permitting construction to start early next year.

Whitmer hopes to have the addition ready for occupancy by September 1964.

Enrollment projections indicate Twain School will have an enrollment of 727 pupils by 1967. The school's present capacity is 580 with an actual enrollment of 660.

HIKE CAPACITY
The new addition would hike the capacity to 710.

Funds for the new rooms could come from a $150,000 excess in the building and site fund, according to the school chief.

He said the 1962-63 building program fell short of its $3.9 million estimated cost, leaving sufficient monies for the proposed addition.

Parolee Returned to Jail for Robbery

A 20-year-old Pontiac parolee was sent back to the state prison at Jackson yesterday to serve a 5- to 20-year term for armed robbery.

Albert Page of 497 Dittmar was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Stanton J. Dondoro, who found Page guilty of the charge after a jury trial Oct. 8.

Page was accused of taking, at knife point, a watch and $10 from Jerry Cleveland on Elizabeth Street Aug. 10.

He was on parole from a 1- to 5-year prison term at the time. He was sent to prison last year for attempted burglary.

Mr. Cornaire, an employee of the J. L. Hudson Co., Detroit, died Monday.

The Rosary will be recited 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham.

Mr. Cornaire was a member of Our Lady of Refuge Church, Orchard Lake.

Surviving are his wife, Margaret; a son, B. Charles of Mt. Clemens; a daughter, D'Arlene, at home; three sisters and a granddaughter.

JOSEPH D. GUADAGNOLI
OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — Graveside service for Joseph Daniel Guadagnoli, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Guadagnoli, 3065 Silver Bell, was held this morning in the St. Joseph Section of East Lawn Cemetery, Lake Orion.

The baby was dead at birth early yesterday. The body was taken to Allen's Funeral Home, Lake Orion.

Surviving besides the parents are a sister, Lisa Ann, at home; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Cerny of Wisconsin and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Guadagnoli of Oxford.

MRS. EDWIN HOPPE
PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — Service for Mrs. Edwin (Lona B.) Hoppe, 59, of 214 Walnut will be 2 p.m. Friday in the Bossard Funeral Home, Oxford. Graveside service will be at 11 a.m. Saturday in the cemetery at Piquette.

Mrs. Hoppe died yesterday after a long illness. She was a member of the Women's Relief Corps; Chapter No. 266 Order of the Eastern Star and the Oxford Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, all in Oxford.

Surviving besides her husband are a granddaughter and a brother.

THOMAS F. MAGUIRE
OXFORD — Requiem Mass for Thomas F. Maguire, 57, of 15 Hudson will be 9:30 a.m. Friday at the St. Joseph Catholic Church, Orion Township. Burial will follow in Ridgeland Cemetery, Oxford Township.

Mr. Maguire, owner of Maguire's Auto Sales, died unexpectedly yesterday of a heart attack.

Rosaries will be recited at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow under auspices of Knights of Columbus, and 8:30 p.m., both at the Bossard Funeral Home.

Surviving are his wife Irene; four daughters, Mrs. William Johnston of Woodrich, N.J., Mrs. Charles Archer of Needham, Mass., Mrs. Richard Chapman of Oxford and Judith, at home; and a son, Thomas F. Jr. of Oxford.

A retired farmer, Mr. Rugenstein died unexpectedly yesterday morning of a heart attack.

Surviving are his wife, Ida; a son, Nelson, with whom he lived; four daughters, Mrs. Kathryn Rachow of North Branch, Mrs. Leona Korth of Utica, Mrs. Madeline Weig of New Haven; and Mrs. Gladys Blumreich of California; two sisters, Mrs. Minna Odell of Detroit; and brother and 12 grandchildren.

ANDREW M. SKIBOWSKI
AVON TOWNSHIP — Service for Andrew M. Skibowski, 66, of 1933 John R. will be 11 a.m. Friday at the William R. Poter Funeral Home, Rochester. Burial will follow in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Skibowski died yesterday after a long illness.

He was part-owner of the Arrow Fence Co., Royal Oak.

Surviving are his wife, Vivian; two sons, Robert of Rochester and Earl of Utica; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Lambert of Rochester; four brothers, George of Pontiac, Edward of Attica, Frederick of Oxford and Charles of Birmingham; and nine grandchildren.

Judge Ziem acted at the request of Senior Assistant Prosecutor Robert L. Templin, who yesterday filed a Circuit Court suit to close the Steren Assembly Club.

Known as a "padlock proceeding," the suit names Frank J. Vettese and Salvatore Rizzo as defendants.

Vettese, one of 24 who will face a preliminary examination Nov. 19 on charges of gambling contrary, is listed on the club's registration papers.

Rizzo is owner of the building in which the club operated. He is currently in Italy, according to Templin.

Two of the 24 — Eddie Guarella, 45, of St. Clair Shores and Joseph Brooklier, 50, of Mount Clemens — were named before a U.S. Senate committee as members of a national crime syndicate called Cosa Nostra.

The prosecutor's suit asks the court to join further operation of the club.

Jan. 6 was set as the date by which the defendants must file an answer to the prosecutor's complaint to avoid a default judgment closing the club.

Man Robbed of $42
Near Clinton River

Jack Ramsey, 69, of 150 Orchard Lake, was strong armed and robbed of $42 by a lone man last night.

Ramsey told Pontiac police he was walking on a path along the Clinton River between Beaudette and Chapman at 8:45 p.m. when he was jumped. His wallet was taken during the scuffle, he said.

Victims won't be admitted to the recovery room. The room will be located adjacent to the operating room on the second floor.

NECESSARY EXCEPTIONS

Thief Gets Added Jail Sentence

Freddie J. Bledsoe is getting to be a familiar face at Oakland County Circuit Court.

Bledsoe, 22, of 2619 Tawas, Madison Heights, already serving a 1- to 5-year prison term for attempted burglary and facing trial on an armed robbery charge, yesterday was given another 3 to 15 years for breaking and entering a Clawson tavern Jan. 28.

Bledsoe was sentenced by Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt. He was convicted by a Circuit Court jury Oct. 9 after a trial before Judge Pratt.

He was found guilty of breaking into the Center Lounge, 1110 W. 14 Mile Road, and moving out a 450-pound safe containing some $3,000. He was arrested later hiding behind the safe at a gas station.

WAS SENTENCED
Bledsoe was sentenced May 14 to 1 to 5 years for a January attempted burglary at a Madison Heights restaurant. He had pleaded guilty.

In the armed robbery charge, he is accused of holding up a gas station April 14 with a 22-year-old escapee from Pontiac State Hospital.

Safe robbery charges against him in a fourth case were dismissed after Circuit Court Judge Arthur E. Moore ruled Bledsoe was illegally arrested and searched.

These charges accused him of a Feb. 24 theft of a safe containing $6,000 from a Birmingham pharmacy.

WORK ALREADY DONE
They found that much of the work proposed by Landrum & Brown already has been done by the planning commission and for Pontiac Municipal Airport in Waterford Township.

Just how much of a savings this represents cannot be determined until the committee meets again with engineering firms willing to undertake the survey.

At such time it is hoped that some cost estimates will be made available.

Meanwhile, the committee is scheduled to meet again with the planning commission Nov. 19 to discuss further the scope of the proposed survey.

MARKET STUDY
County Planning Director George Skrobis said he thinks the first phase of the survey should be a market study covering the air freight, passenger volume and use of private plants, including those of industry.

Then, he said, an evaluation of sites and number of satellite airports needed can be determined.

Court Okays Club Closing
Circuit Court Judge Frederick C. Ziem yesterday approved a preliminary injunction preventing operation of a Madison Heights club where state and local police arrested 45 in Oct. 11 gambling raid.

Judge Ziem acted at the request of Senior Assistant Prosecutor Robert L. Templin, who yesterday filed a Circuit Court suit to close the Steren Assembly Club.

Known as a "padlock proceeding," the suit names Frank J. Vettese and Salvatore Rizzo as defendants.

Vettese, one of 24 who will face a preliminary examination Nov. 19 on charges of gambling contrary, is listed on the club's registration papers.

Rizzo is owner of the building in which the club operated. He is currently in Italy, according to Templin.

The prosecutor's suit asks the court to join further operation of the club.

No Decision in Airport Plan

Supervisors Group, Commission Meet

The county supervisors' aviation committee met with the county planning commission yesterday to discuss the scope of a proposed airport facility survey. They reached no decision.

However, committee chairman Charles Edwards previously said the survey should show whether Pontiac Municipal Airport or the county's recently acquired Allen Airport in Orion Township should be developed into the area's major terminal.

Yesterday the committee compared a survey scope recommended by Cincinnati aviation consultants Landrum & Brown with information already compiled by the planning commission.

The county officials are seeking to hold down the cost of the proposed survey by preventing and duplication.

WORK ALREADY DONE
They found that much of the work proposed by Landrum & Brown already has been done by the planning commission and for Pontiac Municipal Airport in Waterford Township.

Just how much of a savings this represents cannot be determined until the committee meets again with engineering firms willing to undertake the survey.

At such time it is hoped that some cost estimates will be made available.

Meanwhile, the committee is scheduled to meet again with the planning commission Nov. 19 to discuss further the scope of the proposed survey.

MARKET STUDY
County Planning Director George Skrobis said he thinks the first phase of the survey should be a market study covering the air freight, passenger volume and use of private plants, including those of industry.

Then, he said, an evaluation of sites and number of satellite airports needed can be determined.

Cadets must first pass an entrance examination and a final physical examination. They will graduate as officers in their respective service after completing four years of academy work.

D. P. Vinton Dies at 68
HOLLY — Former construction superintendent Donald P. Vinton, of 1 Laneden, died yesterday following a brief illness. He was 68.

Mr. Vinton was associated with the Vinton Building Co., founded by his father George J. Vinton, was a member of the Amel Schwartz American Legion Post No. 149, Holly, and the Oakland County Volture No. 811 of the Forty Eight.

Surviving are a son, Donald P. Jr., of Holly; two daughters, Mrs. Frank E. Folts and Cora Vinton, both of Virginia Beach, Va.; two brothers, Warren J. of Washington, D. C., and Robert K. of Bloomfield Hills; and a sister.

Service will be held 2 p.m. Friday at Mr. Vinton's home. Burial will be in Lakeside Cemetery, Holly, under supervision of the Lewis E. Wint Funeral Home, Clarkson.

Memorial contributions can be made to the Michigan Cancer Foundation.

Pontiac City Affairs

'Extras' Will Have to Be OK'd

Any "extras" on city contracts that cost more than $500 will require approval by the City Commission from now on.

Commissioners last night approved a resolution to that effect by a 4-0 vote. Commissioner Milton R. Henry wasn't present when the vote was taken.

A motion by Commissioners William H. Taylor Jr. and Charles H. Harmon to put the limit at $1,000 was defeated by a 4-2 vote.

The City Charter provides only for the execution of "minor alterations and modifications" in contracts for public improvements.

LEAVES APPROVAL
The charter leaves approval of such "minor" additional costs as may be necessary in the successful execution of a contract to the city manager.

In effect, last night's resolution defines a "minor" contract extra as anything costing less than $500.

The resolution goes on to specify that anything above that figure will henceforth require approval by the City Commission, as well as certification by the city engineer and manager.

DONT CHANGE
Although most contract "extras" don't change the total amount allocated for an individual contract, they do affect the final actual cost.

This is because most contracts contain a contingency fund to cover just such unexpected additional costs, and the additional costs rarely exceed the contingency.

Appropriately, the commission promptly put the resolution into effect by approving a $996.75 "extra" on an urban renewal site improvement contract with Ann Arbor Construction Co.

The figure covered extra work needed in relocating

Alfred Court due to poor sub-base condition.

ADOPTION DEFERRED
Adoption of an antillitter ordinance which had been tabled for revision by City Attorney William A. Ewart last November was deferred last night. Ewart said he had not had time to make the revisions.

Commissioner Lay L. Zedford, who originally offered the resolution a year ago today, had suggested last week that it be brought back for commission action at this week's meeting.

In other business, commissioners okayed a resolution to pay half the costs involved in installing traffic safety signals near a Grand Truck Western Railroad crossing on Baldwin north of Sheffield.

The railroad will pay the other half. Cost to the city is estimated at $1,135.70.

More Building in Future

What's in Store for Kennedy Home?

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Back stairs at the White House:

The house of President and Mrs. Kennedy outside Middleburg, Va., at a village called Atoka, is posing some interesting problems for the gossip people of the fox hunting country.

The folks down Middleburg way were convinced for a time that the Kennedys, after renting their new Virginia house for more than two months, were about to get rid of the place.

Now, to the consternation of the local gossip, bids are being sought and studied for additions to the house. Actually, the additions being discussed now concern the barn.

DIFFER ON BARN

Mrs. Kennedy wanted a five-stall barn, according to the Middleburg version, but the President wanted a less expensive structure.

After living at Atoka for a few weekends, there seems to have been a new agreement within the family — either a new barn or the addition of several stalls.

It may remain a source of some curiosity to those who live in the Virginia hunt country: Why does Kennedy spend weekends in the area? He does not ride to hounds; he has very few friends in the neighborhood.

If it were left entirely to his preferences, the President would spend most weekends at Camp David, a heavily guarded and highly secluded government establishment in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland.

HUNT COUNTRY FAN

The first lady, however, is a devotee of the hunt country. She's also feeling much better after the August death of their third child, an infant who died after less than two days of life.

Mrs. Kennedy's improved spirits therefore account for her decision to add to the barn at Atoka and possibly put a few new rooms on the house.

The house currently has seven bedrooms. The need for additional sleeping chambers indicates an influx of company. Or more lucrative rentals' next spring and summer.

The place rented for $2,000 a month this year. If the price goes up much more, it might influence the Labor Department's cost of living index.

However, pity the poor Labor Department interviewer who tried to walk up to the front door of the Kennedy house and inquire about current rent levels. This man might end up reading meters in Guam.

Virginia Gets Credit for 1st Thanksgiving

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Virginia's claim to the first Thanksgiving has received official notice from a man from Massachusetts — John F. Kennedy.

In his Thanksgiving proclamation, President Kennedy said: "Over three centuries ago, our forefathers in Virginia and in Massachusetts far from home in a lonely wilderness set aside a time for Thanksgiving."

John J. Wicker Jr. of Richmond, who has waged an almost single-handed campaign for recognition of Virginia's Thanksgiving, said: "Oh, I'm delighted."

"That marks the very first time since 1863, that we have received official national recognition of the historic fact that America's first Thanksgiving was celebrated in Virginia," Wicker claims. Virginians celebrated Thanksgiving at Berkeley Plantation on Dec. 4, 1619, more than a year before the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock.

Waterford Township Votes Against Incorporation

Peak Auto Sales Bring Glad Tidings to Pontiac

By AL PHILLIPS

Pontiac Motor Division today finds itself in midst of an auto maker's dream by selling cars almost as fast as they can be assembled.

E. M. Estes, Pontiac general manager, this morning announced that dealers sold 75,110 cars last month, well over the previous monthly high of 62,913 in April 1962.

Sales have been so good-in fact, Estes said, dealers now find themselves with a six-day supply of cars on hand where they ordinarily have 30 days inventory.

October's record-setting sales were also 20 per cent above the same month a year ago when 62,428 cars were put into customers' hands.

Record breaking is also going on at GMC Truck & Coach Division. Calvin J. Werner, general manager, said truck and bus deliveries totaling 9,570 units in October were the highest since 1951 when 9,333 units were delivered.

To top off a long list of record-setting successes, Pontiac Motor can look back to 1956, the year Pontiac made its debut. Some 76,783 units were sold in that 12-month period, only slightly more than Pontiac delivered last month.

Best October for Industry

Most Divisions Cite Record Car Business

DETROIT (AP)—Auto dealers did a landoffice business last month as they sold more cars than in any previous October in automotive history.

Practically every division of the five U.S. auto companies set new October sales highs, with the industry total hitting a record high of 767,381 cars.

All five divisions of General Motors—Cadillac, Chevrolet, Buick, Pontiac and Oldsmobile—set new marks as GM snagged 412,091 of the October sales.

MORE HIT TOP

Dodge Division of Chrysler also had its best October sales record, while the Chrysler-Plymouth Division had its best October since 1956.

American Motors dealers also had their busiest October sales month. Studebaker sales were down from October 1962.

Baldwin Labor Plans Appeal

To Seek Romney Aid in Threatened Closing

An appeal to Gov. George Romney asking his intervention in the threatened closing of the Baldwin Rubber Division plant will be made by union leaders.

Leonard Yocum, president of United Rubber Workers Local 125, today said an attempt will also be made to pool employee resources to buy the plant.

"I believe most of the employees are willing to contribute their severance pay," Yocum said. "We could probably raise half the purchase price that way, and try to get the rest from local investors who believe in our product, plant and people."

Yocum speaks for some 525 union members, many with years of seniority, who will be jobless if the plant closing is carried out as threatened by Baldwin-Montrose Chemical Co., the parent firm.

DEC. 1 DEADLINE

According to reliable sources, the plant at 365 E. South Blvd., is scheduled to be closed Dec. 1.

Merrill Walls, employee director of the Pontiac Michigan Employment Security Commission office, said he did not yet have complete details of the plant shutdown.

He said his office will begin a study of the shutdown and its effects next week. "We will also use every effort to find employment for the workers here in the area or where their skills are needed."

Rubber Workers local officials have also wired an urgent appeal to Rep. William Broomfield, R-Oakland County, requesting he delay liquidation of the plant.

Skies will continue to be partly overcast tonight and tomorrow, but temperatures will be mild.

Following a low of 40 to 45 tonight, temperatures will shoot up to a high of 58 tomorrow. Friday will be somewhat cooler.

Forty-eight was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The mercury reading at 1 p.m. was 56.

Electors Reject Proposal by Large Margin

Charter Commission Balloting Becomes Meaningless Contest

By JOE MULLEN

Waterford Township voters issued a mandate for the status quo yesterday as they overwhelmingly rejected the incorporation proposal at the polls.

A total of 9,354 voters, 40.7 per cent of the approximately 23,000 registered electors, cast 7,991 votes against the proposal and 2,124 for it.

By virtue of the defeat of the proposal, the charter commission race was reduced to a popularity contest.

The top nine vote-getters of 21 candidates would have comprised a charter commission to draft a proposed city charter if the incorporation issue passed. Its defeat automatically washed out the commission.

A consensus of opinion by observers is that an underlying fear of higher taxes was the major factor in the proposal's defeat by more than a 3 to 1 margin.

NEGATIVE BLOC

Preelection predictions generally specified a close vote with the outcome a toss-up. Few observers foresaw the massive negative vote bloc that became apparent as early returns trickled in.

Dr. John F. Naz, chairman of the Waterford Citizens Action Committee for incorporation (WCAC), expressed disappointment at the election results. But he indicated that the push for cityhood is not dead.

However, a new petition for an incorporation vote can not be filed for two years.

Dr. Naz said that his group would hold one more meeting in the near future. He did not disclose the purpose of the meeting.

DEFEAT FACTORS

Anxiety over taxes, reluctance to change the status quo and an advertisement by an opposition group in The Press were cited by Dr. Naz as factors in the vote.

He criticized the half-page advertisement in Monday's Press because he said it was not entirely accurate and because it did not specify who paid for it.

Fred Morningstar, chairman of the Save Waterford Township Committee (SWTC), a group opposing incorporation, said it was particularly important that the Russians gave in to the British and French and a

A Record Melter

October Was Real Hot Stuff

If you're wagering your pay check or family heirlooms on that fact that October 1963 was an unusual month, weatherwise, you're a winner.

That Indian summer we just went through even had the Indians perspiring. The average temperature was 62.7, well above the 54.8 for last year. Too, it was the brow-moppingst October since area records were started back in 1905.

The closest previous October heat wave was October 1947, when the average was 60.3. This year smashed that record convincingly.

If you had a two-horse parley on October, also betting on the lack of precipitation, you'd have come mighty close to joining that short line at the $100 win window.

We measured 0.50 inches of rainfall, the lowest month in 1963, well below the 1.76 inches for October of last year, and the second driest October in records back in 1905. In 1924, October had only 0.47 inches of rain.

With one of the hottest and driest Octobers on record, perhaps we can get through the winter without any records for cold or snow depth.

ROLLS IN — Photographers and newsmen are on hand early today as a United States Army convoy delayed 42 hours at the western end of the autobahn from West Germany to West Berlin, rolls into the city past eastern checkpoint Bravo.

Russia Demands Control Rights

More Berlin Harassment Seen

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Nikita Khrushchev said today that if the American army had tried to force its latest Berlin convoy through a Soviet blockade it would have had to roll "over our dead bodies" and possibly have triggered war.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—U.S. officials said today they expected further harassment on the Berlin highway despite Russia's backdown in the latest blockade of an American military convoy.

The 41-hour blockade was lifted by the Soviet Union today in the face of Western allied firmness and the convoy permitted to roll across Communist East Germany to West Berlin.

The convoy of 44 men in 12 vehicles, stalled Monday morning in a dispute over clearance procedures, was allowed through the Soviet checkpoint at the western end of the 116-mile access highway to Berlin yesterday at 10:14 Pontiac time and reached West Berlin five hours later.

The Soviets dropped their inspection demands in what was considered a backdown in the face of Western determination to maintain the right of free access to West Berlin.

UNITED ON ISSUE

The West made it plain that it was united on the issue. British and French convoys were sent through to West Berlin last night to emphasize this, and like the Americans; their commanders refused to allow the inspection the Soviets demanded.

The Russians gave in to the British and French and a few hours later gave in to the Americans, too.

But there was no thought here that the Soviet harassment campaign. It was anticipated that the Soviets would again interfere with Western allied traffic to Berlin at a time of their choosing, holding up convoys from the roads ranging from hours to days.

The Soviet high command in Germany appeared to confirm these fears by declaring today it has the right to control West-

REGULATION RIGHTS

In a statement released by the East German news service, the headquarters of the occupation army in East Germany said a four-power agreement of June 29, 1945, gave the Russians the right to "regulate traffic" on the route to Berlin.

It said this agreement was reached at a meeting of the supreme commanders of the allied powers.

Dems Win Key Contests, but GOP Claims Inroads

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats kept control today of such keenly contested posts as the Kentucky and Mississippi governorships and the Philadelphia mayor's chair.

But tallies from yesterday's elections were such as to lead the GOP to speak of "dramatic inroads" into Democratic strongholds.

The Blue Grass State race was close down to the finish line. Mississippi Republicans, mounting their first serious attempt on the governorship since Reconstruction, rolled up a considerable vote in defeat.

In Philadelphia, Democrats kept their grip on City Hall by about 67,000 votes—but this was their smallest margin in a mayoral race in 10 years.

In all of these races—plus some others—the issue of civil rights figured, though in somewhat different ways.

Politicians will be studying the tallies for 1964 omens—to learn, for example, whether a so-called "white backlash" against the militant Negro drive for more and better jobs, freer choice of housing and other aims, will hurt President Kennedy next year.

GOP SATISFACTION

Republicans could look with satisfaction on such states as Indiana—where dozens of mayors' posts switched from Democratic to Republican. The Indianapolis City Hall stayed Democratic by a narrow margin.

In San Francisco, Rep. John P. Shelley, D-Calif., apparently won out for mayor in an election officially billed as nonpartisan. His opponent was Supervisor Harold Dobbs, Republican. The retiring mayor is George Christopher, Republican.

In New Jersey, the Republicans kept control of the State Senate by a sweep, and moved toward taking over the Assembly from Democrats.

In Kentucky, a still-incomplete count showed Democrat Edward T. Breathitt Jr., the winner for the governorship, but by only about 15,000 votes out of

Romney Plan Is Doomed Without Them

Dual Senate Defeat Floors GOP Leaders; House Action Next

LANSING (AP)—Support from minority Democrats appeared to be the last hope today for Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform program to survive a wave of antiincome tax sentiment in the legislature.

Republican Senate leaders, reeling from a double defeat that all but killed the income tax bill yesterday, indicated they will go looking for support, but refused to say when.

In the House, meanwhile, Romney's package—with one major change—was headed for floor action after being approved by the GOP caucus in the skintight vote.

But Republican leaders there reaffirmed their oft-stated belief that no program containing an income tax could pass without Democratic assistance.

Democratic leaders in both houses were sitting back and waiting for an invitation to talk tax reform.

NEED 56 VOTES

A total of 56 votes is needed to pass a bill in the House, and Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, said he hadn't changed his estimate that between 12 and 20 Democratic votes would be needed on the Romney program.

An informal count yesterday showed four of the 52 House Democrats would back the plan, according to Minority Leader Joseph Kowalski, Detroit.

Green said he expected more Republican votes would turn up on the floor than the 28 which instructed the tax committee to report out the bills.

Following the two reversals for the Romney income tax in the Senate, Majority Leader Stanley Thayer, R-An Arbor, said he felt a "coalition with Democrats" would be the only way to end the stalemate.

STILL CONFIDENT

Romney termed the Senate action "somewhat disappointing," but added that he still is confident of action there eventually.

"With the indications of Republican support in both houses," said the governor, "support of those Democrats who have voted for basic tax reform in the past will be sufficient to give the state the improved tax structure we need."

In the Senate, the first defeat for Romney's income tax bill came when the appropriations committee deadlocked, (5-5) on a motion by GOP members to report it out.

The second came when anti-income-tax Republicans and Democrats, some of whom also oppose an income tax, beat off an effort by Thayer's so-called GOP "moderates" to amend a bill on the floor by substituting Romney's.

The governor had made a personal visit to a GOP caucus for the first time in the special session, but to no avail.

"I don't think it changed a single vote," admitted Thayer.

The Romney-backed "moderate" failed on a 20-11 vote to amend the bill on the floor by substituting Romney's then lost by the same score when they tried to keep the bill from being shunted back to committee.

Ski Jumping Hits Detroit

Artificial Run Set for Weekend Events

Only the form and equipment will be the same when Detroit holds its first Ski Jumping Tournament Saturday and Sunday at Farwell Field.

The jumpers will take off from an artificial plastic surface instead of snow or ice and they will land on shaved ice.

A steel scaffold, 120-foot high and 330-foot long, has been constructed adjacent to the Light Guard Armory where the second annual Detroit Ski Fair will be running also this weekend.

The ski jump, co-sponsored by the Metropolitan Detroit Ski Council and Briar Hill Ski Club from Mesick, will begin at 1 p. m. each day and be covered by national television.

The tournament admission is $1 with children under 12 admitted free if accompanied by an adult. Proceeds will go to the United States Olympic ski team fund.

Invitations to participate in this weekend's jumping have been extended to 15 Michigan and out-of-state clubs, the U. S. Olympic jumping squad and the Canadian Olympic squad.

Series Offers Skiing Films

The Adventure in Skiing Series presented by the American Youth Hostels will open Nov. 20 in Detroit at the Ford Auditorium with "The White Search" film clip.

A second film, "The Sound of Skiing," will be presented Nov. 27 as part of the series. Both programs are slated to begin at 8:30 p. m.

"The White Search" will include the attempt to break the world ski speed record at the Blue Mountain area of Portillo, Chile.

Skiing techniques and 1964 winter Olympic preparations at Innsbruck, Austria are included in the second program. Series tickets may be purchased at area ski shops and the Ford Auditorium box office.

Great Mephisto Returns for Saturday Wrestling

The Great Mephisto "And Valet" will return to the Pontiac wrestling wars Saturday night for a bout with Louie Kluge.

Pontiac Grid Teams Set for 2nd Round

One upset marked the start of play in the Pontiac Men's Touch Football League playoffs last night at Jaycee Park.

West Side Lions dumped Lions, 6-0, on a Roger Reynolds-Bruce Reynolds pass play. The Lions were the only one of the loop's four top teams that did not advance to the playoff semifinals.

The regular season flag winning Motor Mart Bantams, 27-4, as Mel Nuss, Dick Nichols, Chuck Graves and Don Kah scored touchdowns for the winners.

Al Costello tallied the only six points for the Packers, who trailed, 20-0, at halftime.

Chuck Woodmore hit Bob Gilmore and Sam Cole with touchdown passes and Gilmore ran a pass interception 50 yards to score as the Anderson All-Stars trimmed the GM Raiders, 19-0.

The other contest saw the Miffits win by forfeit over the Victors.

Thursday night the action will resume under the park lights with the Bandits tackling the All-Stars at 7 p. m. and the Miffits will meet the upset-minded West Side team at 8 p. m.

Orange Collars Latest Apparel Worn by Geese

Hunter's shouldn't think it's some Halloween prank if they see Canada geese in Michigan this fall which are wearing orange collars with black numerals and letters.

Some 200 honkers have been marked at the Seney National Wildlife Refuge to study their movements, and federal game men are now asking Michigan residents to keep them posted on the birds' whereabouts.

Persons spotting orange-collared geese are urged to contact the national refuge or Conservation Department.

They are asked to tell when, where and how many of the birds they sighted. Hunters who happen to shoot these marked geese are reminded to include each collar's serial number in their reports.
