Detroit Resident Also Perishes in 2-Car Collision

Mrs. Emily Burdick and Mrs. Hazel Burman Are Killed Today

Two Pontiac area women and a Detroit woman were killed this morning in a two-car collision at U.S.23 and M59, about eight miles east of Howell.

The dead are:

Mrs. Emily Burdick, 51, of 2450 Marx, Pontiac.

Mrs. Hazel Burman, 61, of 2536 Cole Rd., Lake Orion.

Mrs. Richard J. Larsen, 58, of 489 Henry St., Detroit.

Three persons, including Mrs. Larsen's husband, Richard J., 58, were seriously injured.

The other two were Mrs. Minnie Kearney, 52, of 18320 Hazelwood, Roseville; and Mrs. Esther McKenzie, 57, of 339 W. Clarkston Rd., Lake Orion.

State Police said Larsen was driving north on U.S. 23 when another car driven by Mrs. Burman failed to observe a stop sign on M59 and rammed the Larsen automobile.

Mrs. Kearney was a passenger in the Larsen car. Mrs. Burdick and Mrs. McKenzie were riding with Mrs. Burman.

The injured were taken to Mellus Hospital in Brighton and McPherson Memorial Hospital in Howell.

Mrs. Kearney, Mrs. McKenzie and Larsen are reported in serious condition with internal injuries, severe cuts and broken bones.

Coe, Cudd Ousted in Canadian Test

LONDON, Ont. (AP) — Veteran Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City and young Bruce Cudd, Western amateur champion from Portland, Oregon, were eliminated today in the 3rd round of the Canadian Amateur golf championship.

Coe, former U. S. amateur king, lost 2 and 1 to Mike Pidarski of Winnipeg, Man. The 21-year-old Cudd miscalculated on the 18th hole and was beaten 2 up by D'Arcy Boucher of Hull, Que.

Meanwhile, Harvey Ward of San Francisco, played his 1st competitive round since Friday and easily defeated Elliott Godel of Montreal, 6 and 4.

Dick Tracy Promoted

ZANESVILLE, O., (INS)—Years of faithful sleuthing have paid off in real life, if not in fiction, for detective Dick Tracy.

Tracy, public eye on the Zanesville force, has been kicked upstairs to sergeant. He got there by scoring a fearless 96.2 on a civil service examination.

GOP Offers to Appropriate $400,000 for Dorm at Ionia

LANSING (AP)—The Republican Legislature today proposed to appropriate a flat $400,000 for the construction of a new dormitory at the Ionia Reformatory.

Gov. Williams had asked the special session for an appropriation of $660,000 for the emergency construction.

The Senate Finance Committee, headed by Sen. Elmer R. Porter (R-Blissfield) put in the bill calling for the $400,000 appropriation.

The measure also contained $50,000 for a farm dormitory at the State Prison of Southern Michigan to house 110 men and $10,899 to hire four additional guards for the Cassidy Lake Training School.

Williams, in a personally delivered message, asked for a 234-man dormitory with individual rooms to relieve dangerous overcrowding.

Porter said that the committee would propose that the capacity be left unchanged but that the cost be reduced by providing rooms for only about half the men. The rest would be housed in open-type wings.

Porter added that the committee probably would ignore the governor's request for $318,000

Farm Measure Passes, Commie Bill in Trouble

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate early today passed and sent to the White House the administration's compromise farm bill, handing President Eisenhower a smashing legislative triumph.

The controversial bill was passed by the Senate shortly after midnight following a last-ditch fight by farm state senators which threatened temporarily to defeat the measure.

Earlier the House approved the bill 208 to 47 after beating down a farm bloc move to kill it.

The surprise Senate attack on the bill was so determined that Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif) sought a recess to regroup his forces in a new session later today.

But Democrats demanded a roll call vote on Knowland's move. The Californian finally withdrew his recess motion after enough supporters of the bill reported on the floor.

Thirty-one Republicans and 13 Democrats voted for the bill; 22 Democrats, five Republicans and independent Sen. Wayne Morse (Ore.) were opposed. Sens. Potter and Ferguson of Michigan voted for the bill.

Senate Democrats were joined by some farm state Republicans in the last minute attack on the compromise, which puts reduced flexible price supports on five basic crops for the first time since World War II.

The bill gives the President most of his farm goals. It also gives Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson a chance to prove that lower supports will reduce huge and costly farm surpluses and give farmers a better break in the long run.

May Remove Forces in Korea

Pentagon Officials Deny Knowing of Withdrawal of Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP)—Diplomatic sources said today the United States is considering withdrawing three divisions from the Korean mainland but a Pentagon spokesman said "the Army has no knowledge of an early withdrawal of troops from Korea."

Officials of the South Korean National Assembly reported in Seoul, however, that this nation plans to take three of its six divisions out of Korea by the end of the year.

Diplomatic officials in Washington, declining the use of their names, said that there has not yet been any firm decision on the matter.

Philip Han, minister from the Republic of Korea, said Korean officials here have been conferring with top men at the Pentagon and the State Department in an effort to forestall any such withdrawal of troops.

Han said the withdrawal of any U.S. troops would "harm the morale" of South Koreans and would be "strategically wrong" in view of what he called the buildup of Communist forces in North Korea.

State Department officials declined to make an immediate public statement. Inquiries were referred to the Pentagon, where a flat "yes" or "no" could not be obtained.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Army chief of staff, has gone on record as declaring any substantial weakening of U.S. ground strength in the Far East must be avoided.

Veteran Solon Dies Suddenly in Washington

Michigan Congressman Shafer Was in Congress for 18 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Congressman Paul W. Shafer, a veteran of 18 years in the U.S. House of Representatives, died yesterday in Walter Reed Hospital.

The 61-year-old Republican from Michigan's third congressional district died after complications set in following surgery Friday. The operation was performed to correct a liver condition.

Shafer, a member of the House Armed Services Committee, died just six weeks after the death of his wife in Battle Creek, July 5. His physician said he had been failing since Sunday.

Shafer's death shocked his friends both on Capitol Hill and at his Battle Creek home.

On Aug. 3 he had been renominated for a 10th term in office. He was first elected to Congress in 1936. The term began in January, 1937 and Shafer had been a member of the House since that time.

A few hours prior to Shafer's death, Michigan Republican state central committee headquarters in Detroit said it had received a letter from the lawmaker designating the membership of the Republican committee from his district. The letter was dated Aug. 12.

This committee is expected to nominate a candidate to replace Shafer on the ballot in the November election.

Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard said in Lansing that statutes indicated this committee is empowered to select the candidate since ballots for the election have not been printed.

Shafer was born in Elkhart, Ind. He entered the newspaper field with his late brother, Chet. The two men published newspapers in Elkhart, and at Battle Creek and Bronson, Mich.

Shafer got his political start when elected Battle Creek justice of the Peace in 1929 and again in 1933. And when Republican Rep. Henry M. Kimball died in office in 1936, Shafer was elected as his succesor by a margin of 4,000 votes.

The margin of that first victory for a House seat was just the beginning. Shafer was never seriously threatened in any of his re-election bids. And only two years ago, he was re-elected on the crest of a 40,000 vote lead.

Shafer is survived by two sisters, Mrs. H. Earl Kanaga of Battle Creek, and Mrs. Frank King of Three Rivers.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

German Strikers Brawl With Police

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—A thousand striking metal workers brawled for an hour with 400 policemen today before Munich's huge Siemens electrical plant. It was the city's biggest riot since the strike idling 220,000 Bavarian Metal workers began 10 days ago.

Twenty-one persons were injured but there were no arrests.

The battle started when pickets attacked nonstrikers on their way to work. Two hundred policemen waded into the fray, swinging rubber truncheons. Flying squads of pickets counterattacked the police from the rear and 200 more police were rushed into the melee.

Shortly after the riot most of the pickets left the scene and the plant management said 90 per cent of their 2,000 employes reported for work.

REP. PAUL W. SHAFER

Hoover's Son Is Dulles' Aide

Senate OKs Selection of Herbert Jr. as New Undersecretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Herbert Hoover Jr. won unanimous confirmation today as undersecretary of state.

His name was brought up shortly after the Senate met and was approved without debate by voice vote.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee quickly approved his nomination after the White House announcement last night. He was confirmed by a voice vote this morning shortly after the Senate met.

Hoover succeeds Walter Bedell Smith as right-hand man to Secretary of State Dulles. Smith is retiring at 58 from the military - diplomatic career on which he embarked 43 years ago.

"I am very much honored," Hoover told reporters. But he would say no more pending final Senate action.

Hoover, a petroleum engineer, has been an adviser to Dulles for about a year. As a troubleshooter he recently won worldwide attention and praise for his part in settling the three-year-long British-Iranian oil dispute.

His appointment caught many off guard. As recently at last weekend—and four months before that—he had been saying he would not accept the position.

The undersecretary's job involves a lot of paperwork, among other things, and associates said Hoover had a typical engineer's dislike of desk work.

Another factor was a basic disagreement over tariffs reported between Hoover, on the one hand, and Eisenhower and Dulles.

Wholesale Drop in Coffee Prices Reflected Here

Coffee prices for Pontiac area housewives have already begun to ease in some stores following cuts in the wholesale price of coffee in New York yesterday. More grocers are expected to follow suit as soon as confirmation is received from wholesalers.

One chain of supermarkets even anticipated the drop by trimming four cents a pound off the price Saturday, bringing its price level on all national brands to $1.19.

An independent supermarket slashed prices 10 cents a pound on all coffee this morning on the basis of the wholesale cut announced by Hills Brothers. The store manager said the market would absorb the loss as the cut doesn't affect coffee already in the store.

Most stores are holding prices at current levels until they get definite information from their suppliers that prices will be dropped.

All were confident, however, that when the drop comes, it will be passed along to consumers.

The cut in wholesale prices came when the Brazilian government reshuffled its complicated foreign exchange setup. While Americans will pay less in dollars for coffee beans, the coffee farmers will get just as much in Brazilian currency.

UF Elects Two, Sets $525,823 as Drive Goal

Olson and Muldowney Named as Trustees; Quota Up 7.8 Pct.

Two new members were elected to the Pontiac Area United Fund Board of Trustees Tuesday, as the 1954 campaign dates were set and the goal of $525,823 announced.

They are Marvin J. Olson, plant manager of the Fisher Body Pontiac Division, who fills the vacancy caused by the resignation of Carl Moyer; and Harold J. Muldowney, new president of the Community Chest of Pontiac.

Muldowney replaces Harold Howlett, whose resignation as Chest president was made known Tuesday.

The United Fund drive will start Oct. 19 and end Nov. 4.

United Fund leaders were confident that the $525,823 goal would be met. The quota is 7.8 per cent more than the 1953 goal, but only 3.8 per cent greater than the amount raised in last year's campaign.

William B. Hartman, United Fund board president, said the increased sum is urgently needed to meet the growing demand for United Fund services in the area.

The 1954 United Fund combines in a single drive the requests of 55 health and welfare agencies.

Fund requests for these agencies had totaled $488,506, but were reduced to $404,822 by volunteer budget panel members, who made detailed studies of each agency's need. The final approved sums are considered the least possible in order to maintain adequate services for the people of this area.

The $525,823 goal includes reserve funds against contingencies and collection losses.

Quiz on McCarthy May Be Postponed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Watkins (R-Utah) said today the special Senate committee to investigate charges against Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) may have to postpone for a few days the scheduled Aug. 30 start of its public hearings.

Watkins, head of the committee, made the statement at a news conference held in connection with former Republican Congressman E. Wallace Chadwick's taking on the job of counsel to the group.

Watkins also said he had been advised that McCarthy's defense counsel, Washington lawyer Edward Bennett Williams, had refused to accept as a fee any part of a $10,000 fund the committee had set aside from its own money to provide McCarthy with counsel.

Williams had announced last night he considered it would be "improper" for him to accept money from the committee.

Ordinance Read to Commission; Ruling Due Soon

Proposed Bond Issue Is $3 Million; Was Rejected Last April 3

City property owners probably will be asked for a second vote Nov. 2 on a proposed $3,000,000 tax-supported bond issue for expansion of Pontiac General Hospital.

Pontiac City Commission last night passed first reading of an ordinance placing the proposal on the November ballot.

If given the expected final approval next week by commissioners the ordinance will take effect.

With a slight wording change, the ordinance is the same presented to property owners April 5 which failed to obtain the needed 60 per cent "yes" vote, although a majority of 6,031 favored it with 4,766 opposed.

Voters April 5 did approve a 1-mill ($1 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation) tax - limit increase to back a bond issue, and no second vote is required on approval of tax money to retire the bonds.

City Manager Walter K. Willman last night reaffirmed his former statement that only half of the 1 mill authorized would be taxed, if bonds are issued, with the hospital paying the other ½ mill from its income.

"We could still hold our tax rate at the 1953 figure of 13.80 mills," said Willman ($13.80 per $1,000 of valuation).

He explained the ½ mill would in part take the place of the 2 mills now taxed for debt payments no longer needed after this year. The other 1½ mills now used for debt retirement will be used for public improvements other than

Vietminh to Return Gen. De Castries

LONDON (AP)—Peiping radio announced today that Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, the French commander at Dien Bien Phu, will be among 280 French officers to be turned over to the French by the Communist-led Vietminh.

The broadcast gave no exact date, but a dispatch from Hanoi said the exchange of prisoners between the French and Vietminh was scheduled to begin today at Viet Tri on the Red River.

De Castries was taken prisoner when the French fortress in Indochina fell on May 7 after holding out in the face of greatly outnumbered forces. De Castries' performance won him a battlefield promotion to brigadier general from colonel and praise from Western leaders, including President Eisenhower.

Native of Pontiac Joins Klondike Rush, Stays in Alaska as Trapper and Guide

By JOE HAAS
Pontiac Press Staff Writer

SKAGWAY, Alaska—This furthest north port on our cruise came into being with the Klondike rush of 1898. It now is a ghost town.

It was here the gold seekers left their boats and commenced their long unmarked overland trek through treacherous mountain passes to the Klondike.

JOE HAAS

It then quickly grew to a town of 10,000. It now has less than 500.

In Skagway's boom days it had 50 saloons, a dozen gambling joints and all of the accessories that go with them.

Today it has a far different claim to distinction; in fact, two claims. It is the southern terminal of the White Pass and Yukon Railroad, which leads up into that same Klondike region, now no longer being strongly worked for gold, and it has become known as "the flower city of Alaska."

The railroad was built to make easier access to the gold fields, and is a marvel of engineering skill.

The flower gardens are also possible for two reasons, the enterprise of the few remaining citizens and the almost limitless daylight through the short summer.

It is found that flowers, vegetables, fruits and most all other vegetables will grow as much in two months under the midnight sun as in five months in the hours of daylight like we have in Michigan.

Today I ran across a Jason (Jase) Moore who was born in Pontiac on Whittemore street in 1880. He attended the Union School on E. Pike Street when the building was new, and joined the Klondike rush in 1898—and hasn't since been back.

He divided his last frozen sandwich with a fellow tramper in the Yukon Pass, suffered frozen feet and was barely rescued from freezing to death or starvation. His quest for gold was not successful, so he helped build the railroad.

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—Board of Education members last night awarded the general contract for the first of an anticipated three phases of construction to enlarge the Birmingham High School.

The low bid of $273,000 submitted by R. Stewart and Co., Inc. was accepted.

Eight classrooms and a new study hall, plus additions to the library, cafeteria and another study hall will be included in the first phase. The one-story structure, extending east and west, will be constructed in the inner court between the library and science wing.

It is anticipated that the new wing can be started at once to relieve crowded conditions there by the end of this fall's semester.

Supt. of Schools Dwight B. Ireland had previously stated that the high school is so crowded that no students will be transferred there this term.

Instead, about 150 students entering the seventh grade will be kept at Adams School, which will be used as a junior high school.

Voters approved a $3.5 million bond issue in June which will provide for the high school addition, a new junior high school and the purchase of additional building sites.

It was announced last night that bids for the purchase of $1,750,000 building and site bonds will be received by the board on Sept. 14.

An interview last night was probably the last one to be held by the committee investigating the July fire which took the lives of Mrs. Maureen Couper and her only children, Danny and Larry.

Committeeman Charles Kass said a self-imposed deadline of Aug. 31 has been set by the three-man committee.

"No one realizes more than we do, that the longer this investigation goes, the less value it will be," he said. "But, unfortunately, mechanical and not man-made delays are holding us up."

All testimony that has been transcribed has been put in order, Kass said.

The investigation was called after a few neighboring witnesses charged negligence on the part of the fire and police department in extinguishing the blaze that started in the den of the Couper residence at 1189 Brookwood.

City commissioners this week authorized the hiring of Clark J. Adams, attorney, after receiving a temporary injunction restraining the city from selling or restricting zoning on six-city owned lots which voters approved the sale of at the Aug. 3 election.

The suit has been brought by Mr. and Mrs. Mike Harabedian, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Haack and Mr. and Mrs. Young J. Moore.

The plaintiffs own property near the city lots, in the Maple, St. Andrews, Yorkshire, Coolidge block, which the Commission has refused to rezone from single family residence to business zoning.

Two to Do Consumer Information Work, Part of Extension Program

Two new marketing and consumer agents, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer of Middle Straits Lake and Mrs. Marjorie Gibbs of Royal Oak are now working in the Detroit area for the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service.

The consumer information program is a part of the new Extension agricultural marketing program made possible by recent action of the Michigan Legislature.

As agents, Mrs. Lawyer and Mrs. Gibbs will give homemakers the know-how for getting more food value and dollar value from every food dollar spent.

They will guide homemakers towards improving family diets and food buying practices—ultimately helping not only the consumer but making for more efficient marketing of all agricultural food products.

Prior to her appointment as a consumer information agent Mrs. Lawyer served for six years as the home demonstration agent in Oakland County. Before that time she was a marketing specialist in the Chicago office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Mrs. Gibbs, the second consumer information agent appointed to the Detroit area, has served since 1948 as a senior home economist with the home service department of the Consumers Power Co. in Pontiac.

Working with Extension marketing and retailing specialists, these two consumer information agents will be bringing facts to the food buying public about commodity sources, supply changes, price changes and quality changes in fresh foods.

They will also keep food shoppers up to date on the local situation in frozen, canned and dried foods.

Mrs. Lawyer and Mrs. Gibbs will be working out of the new consumer information office located in room 317B in the Boulevard Bldg. at Grand Blvd. and Woodward in Detroit.

Pontiac Native Goes to Alaska, Stays

He was a trapper and guide for many years, and now is a breeder of dogs, having attained some fame by crossing the collie with the Eskimo huskie. For over 50 years he has manipulated a dog team in the long winters.

When told that we were trying to get a new courthouse in Pontiac, Moore was not aware that we ever had built the present one, thinking its brick antecendent was still doing business as it was when he left Pontiac 56 years ago. He remembers of selling papers to Judge Smith in his court room there.

Some of Alaska's leading cities have no railroad or highway connection with the outside world, Juneau, its capital, being one of them. Even its automobiles (including a good number of Pontiacs) must be shipped in by boat.

The territory's greatest need is better highway facilities to reach it. The Alcan Highway is a poor excuse, according to those who have used it, despite the propaganda in its favor. A Skagway merchant who tried to manipulate it says it is a tire wrecker, car buster and vertebrae disjointer over most of its distance. He handed me the following poem about it:

Its winding in and winding ou
Fill my mind with serious doubt.
Whether the guy that built this route
Was going to hell or coming out.

Skagway's streets of tumble down buildings still carry their original names, such as Golden North Hotel, Last Chance Bar, Nugget Cafe and Golden Horizon Ranch.

The town has a civic mindedness that is commendable. Its natives have dramatized "The Shooting of Dan McGrew," based on the life and end of a notorious character of the gold rush days. This is done for the entertainment of tourists, the proceeds going into a town improvement fund.

At the top of the famous Inside Passage, claimed by world travelers to be the most scenic waterway on earth, Skagway occupies a geographical position that ever will keep it on the map in large letters. But it needed a gold rush to one of the world's most inaccessible spots to bring this out.

Koreans Say U.S. Will Pull Out Men

pressed opinion, Defense officials said they were inclined to interpret the reports as meaning the United States might be planning to move some troops from South Korea to nearby Okinawa.

Facilities are being developed on that island, wrested from the Japanese in World War II, to house substantial U.S. forces.

Diplomatic officials in Washington said, however, that if the troops are moved from Korea, they might be sent to the Hawaiian Islands.

These sources said the thinking behind the proposed withdrawal was that U.S. air strength would provide the main bulwark against Red aggression.

There are now six U.S. divisions in Korea: the 1st Marines and the 2nd, 3rd, 7th, 24th and 25th Army divisions. Which of these would be removed under the proposed plan could not be learned.

Two divisions—the 40th and 45th—already have been sent back to the United States.

If the withdrawal takes place, it would be under the same presidential order which brought the first two divisions back from Korea.

President Eisenhower's announcement of plans to cut back Army strength in Korea was issued last Dec. 26 from his Augusta, Ga., holiday office.

He called the withdrawal of two divisions "an initial step" and said U.S. ground forces in Korea would be "progressively reduced as circumstances warrant."

This announcement, five months after the Korean fighting ended, characterized the withdrawal plans as calculated to keep free world defenses fluid in the Pacific and, at the same time, "promote a climate of peace."

American officials said South Korean President Syngman Rhee was made fully aware of America's plans in this regard during his recent visit to the United States.

They emphasized that U.S. forces will remain in Korea and, as Eisenhower said in his Dec. 26 announcement, U.S. Far East forces "will be maintained at appropriate levels" to fulfill U.S. commitments there.

In addition to Ridgway, Secretary of Defense Wilson and other Pentagon officials have spoken out against reducing U.S. military power in the Western Pacific to a point which would invite Communist resumption of the war in Korea or open acts of aggression elsewhere.

In the Northeast and Far West sections of the United States more than 98 per cent of babies are born in hospitals.

Hospital Bond Issue Vote Likely Nov. 2

"In my book there would be no tax raise," said Willman, "The 13.80 figure would be protected."

Although some commissioners expressed opposition to the bond issue, they all felt the public should be allowed to decide.

Mayor William W. Donaldson (District 3) has said that crowded conditions at the hospital have not abated and every reason for the expansion formerly advanced still holds.

Last night Commissioner Floyd P. Miles (District 4) said, "This is a county responsibility along with the city. But it's up to the city residents to decide if they want the entire load."

Commissioner Harry W. Lutz (District 7) said, "I can't see the city of Pontiac working to benefit the whole county. If there's a recession they get the service and we get the debt."

Donaldson stated that the bond issue would mean holding the tax rate where it is rather than letting it drop a half mill. "It only means 20 cents a week for three months to the average city home owner," he said.

If approved, the bonds would be bought back over a 30-year period through 1985. The first tax levy for their payment would be in 1955.

In his opinion, Willman stated, the extent of a hospital expansion would depend on the number of rooms which could be built for $3,000,000.

A 200-room addition has been talked of in the past, but there is some doubt 200 rooms could be financed with the proposed sum.

GOP to Urge Cut in Ionia Dorm Fund

to hire an additional 116 guards and probation and parole officers except for a few extra guards at the Cassidy Lake probation camp and a few extra probation officers.

The legislators agreed that some prison construction money would be appropriated. Some members favored the open-type dormitories.

The open-type building would be against the recommendation of Warden Garrett Heyns of Ionia and other penologists. They told the "Little Legislature" three weeks ago that open dormitories encourage perversion. This was one of the reasons the "Little Legislature" turned down Williams' request to it for $225,000 to build an open dormitory.

Taking this as a cue, Williams called the full Legislature into special session today and presented it with detailed plans for the room-type dormitory.

He asked also for an unspecified amount of money to hire 103 new guards and 13 new parole and probation officers to further ease what he said was an emergency of mushrooming prison population.

The governor had arranged for the full panoply of opening the session in person at a joint convention with the state officers and justices of the Supreme Court present.

Dr. John Bolts Eastward at Worst Time for West

By DANIEL DE LUCE

BONN, Germany (AP)—Dr. Otto John's treason to the West is a kind of political hydrogen bomb.

In four weeks since the Bonn republic's security chief — a noted protege of the British Secret Service—deserted to the Soviet zone, his explosive case has:

1. Poisoned Allied-German relations and strengthened Russian diplomacy.

2. Shaken the European army project, which faces the French National Assembly's crucial vote in a couple of weeks.

3. Thrown grave suspicion that all German and Allied intelligence organizations may contain other Soviet double agents.

4. Humiliated Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's government and high Allied officers, who had worked here with John for years in top-secret anti-Communist espionage.

1. Dead by his own hand, U.S. Counterintelligence Capt. Wolfgang E. Hoefer is still a mystery figure. The German-born naturalized American had been John's school chum in boyhood. He shot himself when questioned by other CIC officers in Berlin three days after John's treason.

2. Mrs. Lucie Marlen John, seven years her 45-year-old husband's senior, has been left stranded by him in the West. For her, much public sympathy is expressed.

3. A half dozen night club cuties are bereft of the companionship of Dr. Wolfgang Wohlgemuth, the "parlor Bolshevik" who squired John in his car into Berlin's Soviet sector the evening of July 20. Thrice married, author of a book on hot trumpet playing and patron of Kurfuerstendamm gay spots, Wohlgemuth has not risked a return to his lucrative Western medical practice.

Glib and dapper, Dr. John is treated as a distinguished guest by the Soviet zone regime and appears to relish the West's consternation. He and ex-Field Marshal Friedrich Paulus, defeated Nazi commander at Stalingrad, are now propaganda pals in the Red "peace camp."

Paulus is writing to survivors of the German officer corps in the Bonn republic, inviting them to do their utmost to kill the EDC and to agitate for reunion with East Germany on Russia's terms.

Paulus dangles the prospect of revived careers for the officers in a new national army and harks back to historical periods when German power in Europe was based on alliance with Russia. Intelligence sources estimate East Germany's armed forces at present at 130,000 men.

Dr. John is expected to become a weekly commentator on the big Communist radio station Deutschlandsender, with his political messages beamed at West Germany.

His song is pitched in a different key than Paulus', but it means the same thing for Russia.

He declares former Nazis are back in government power in Bonn — the percentage actually is less than in East Germany — and that incorrigible German militarists are plotting with the United States to attack the Soviet Union.

Dr. John calls on West Germans to imitate the British, who he says are striving to find a modus vivendi with the Communist half of the world.

And he repeats dramatically what many of his countrymen already fear — if there is another war, Germany will be obliterated by atomic weapons at its very start.

The timing of John's treason is one of its most disturbing features to Allied diplomats. Closely associated with the British Secret Service for 10 years, he bolted eastward just when Britain and the United States had hit a post-war peak of dissension in their grand alliance.

Natty in blue suit and wine-red tie, he appeared last week on a flower-decked East Berlin stage to assail what he called the "warmongering" United States and its best German friend, Chancellor Adenauer, to 400 world newsmen. It was almost the very hour that former Prime Minister Clement Attlee and seven other British laborites had chosen to take off on a flying visit to Red China.

Saginaw Walk Repair Slated

Wrenn Says Work Will Begin Soon in Business Area

At Pontiac City Commission meeting last night City Engineer Lewis M. Wrenn was directed to proceed with repair of sidewalks on Saginaw street in downtown Pontiac.

Commissioner Harcourt S. Patterson requested the program, saying the business section sidewalks needed immediate work in several spots.

Wrenn said he would begin work as soon as possible.

In other action, a SDD package liquor license was approved for Joe, Jim and Paul Felice at 220 S. Telegraph Rd. and a SDM package beer and wine permit for Shamon Garner at 27 Mechanic St.

Action was deferred for two weeks on a request from Max A. Maxim that a tavern license be transferred from 65½ N. Saginaw St. to 922 Highwood Blvd.

Engineer's cost estimates were accepted and public hearings on intention to construct set for Aug. 24 on proposed construction of curb, gutter, drainage and related work on:

Wolfe from Edison to Glenwood.
St. Clair from Montcalm to Kennett.
Summit from Hudson to Montcalm.

A communication from Andrei Csiki of 825 E. Pike St. was referred to the City Plan Commission inquiring for information on moves necessary to rezone lots 3, 4 and 5 of Merrimac Subdivision to commercial.

A resolution was approved accepting deeds from the State Department of Conservation for parcels of land to be used in street improvements.

A proposal was referred to the plan commission to vacate parts of Hill street and Chandler avenue to allow traffic outlets from the new city hall.

Confirmation was deferred of special assessment rolls for construction including:

Curb, gutter, drainage and related work on James K from Voorheis to the city limits, Mansfield from Joslyn to Laurel, Francis from Pike to Chandler and Smith from Josephine to James K.

Engineer's cost estimates were accepted and public hearing set for Aug. 31 on proposed construction of curb, gutter and drainage on Young and Wing from Montcalm to Kennett.

Special assessment rolls were confirmed for placing road-mix oil on Emerson from Baltimore to Pennsylvania and Second from Joselyn to Ivy.

Farm Bill Passes, Red One Held Up

press conference he believes a majority of the farmers support the overall goals of the administration.

Meanwhile, administration leaders worked behind the scenes today to find compromise language to keep House-Senate legislation "outlawing" the Communist party from damaging existing anti-subversive laws.

Both houses went firmly on record Tuesday for outlawing the party by stripping it of its legal rights and making membership a crime.

But the wording of the provisions brought up a possibility of a veto by President Eisenhower and set the administration hard at work trying to find a compromise to carry out the intent of the law-making bodies without weakening existing laws.

The House dumped the measure into the laps of a House-Senate conference committee which had the job of working out the problem.

The big stumbling block was a relatively short section, sponsored by the Democrats, which would brand as a criminal anyone who "wilfully or knowingly" becomes or remains a member of the Communist party. Active Reds would be subject to stiff jail sentences and heavy fines.

The administration strongly opposed the provisions on grounds it would nullify Communist-control laws now on the books and wreck the government's anti-subversive drive.

Its spokesmen talked of hopes to work out a compromise in a Senate House conference committee, but Democrats insisted that the section had been approved and should not be changed.

House Republican Leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) said if the bill reached the White House with the disputed section included it would not become law. That was a clear implication President Eisenhower would veto it.

If it chose to do so, the administration could kill off the bill short of the White House merely by failing to call a conference committee meeting to consider it.

Ike Gets Bill to Bar Pensions

House OKs Measure Aimed at Alger Hiss, Other Similar Cases

WASHINGTON (INS) — A bill aimed primarily at Alger Hiss which would bar a federal pension to any U. S. employe convicted of a felony received final congressional approval today and was sent to the White House for President Eisenhower's signature.

The House approved the Senate's version of the measure, which would also bar payment of government benefits to any federal worker who invokes the Fifth Amendment before congressional or federal court investigators.

Hiss, a former State Department official, is now serving a five-year term in the Lewisburg, Pa., Federal Prison for falsely denying having given government secrets to Communist spy courier Whittaker Chambers.

The measure approved today would apply to members of Congress and federal judges and would deny federal benefits to individuals convicted of any of a long list of felonies.

In final debate on the House floor, Civil Service Committee Chairman Edward H. Rees (R-Kan.) made it clear that the bill would not affect persons already receiving pensions.

Hogs, Sheep Killed in Stockyard Blaze

MONTREAL (AP) — A two-hour fire destroyed a hog and sheep stable in the Montreal Stockyards last night, killing some 2,000 squealing animals awaiting slaughter and causing damage estimated at more than a million dollars.

Firemen feared the heat-maddened hogs, sheep and calves inside the two-story brick building would escape and run beserk through the yards but the building collapsed on top of them.

Clergymen Ask Church Unity

Council Delegates Hear Four Speakers Urge Closer Union

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Representatives of 170 million Christians today renewed their efforts to carry out Jesus Christ's prayer "that they may all be one."

Hopes for a closer union of Christ's followers were expressed before leaders of 163 denominations from 48 countries at the meeting of the World Council of Churches.

Keynote speeches on unity were made last night by clergymen of four different denominations from four different countries.

They lai dthe groundwork for later discussions.

Bishop Anders Nygren of the Church of Sweden recalled Christ's prayer not long before his crucifixion. The bishop said:

"Jesus prayed 'that they may all be one.'

"One must now take that prayer seriously, that Jesus shall not have prayed in vain."

He also stated:

"If we were not one in Christ we would not be assembled here. And if we were not disunited we would not be here either, for this conference is meant to be a step on the way toward overcoming this disunity."

* * *

Canon O. S. Tomkins of the Church of England mentioned differences over such things as a definition of unity, but said:

"It may be that, by every standard of human achievement, the unity of the church is an impossible task and to think of it is an idle dream. But we are not limited to human achievements. Christ has made us his own—and he is not divided.'

The Rev. Georges Florovsky, New York City, of the Russian Orthodox Catholic Church said:

"The very sting of Christian tragedy is in the fact that, in the concrete setting of history, many divisions have been imposed, as it were, precisely by loyalty to Christ by a sincere zeal for the true faith."

The Rev. V. E. Devadutt, president of the Baptist Union of India, made this comment:

"A church that lives out of communion with another church is taking upon itself a dreadful responsibility for it is saying in effect to its sister church: 'You are not founded on Christ.'"

The World Council itself does not arrange mergers of denominations but it seeks to bring about the understanding that may lead to consolidations among them.

Speeder Insists on 60, Not 50 as Police Say

FITCHBURG, Mass. (AP)—Maurice C. Ellis, 19, of West Townsend, charged with speeding, vigorously disputed police testimony in district Court yesterday that he was doing 50 miles an hour.

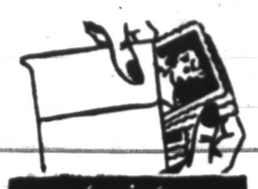

He interrupted several times to insist he was doing—not 50—but 60.

Judge A. Z. Goodfellow imposed a $15 fine and commented:

"The least I can say about you is that you are mighty honest."

No part of the United States is entirely exempt from electrical storms, although they are comparatively rare on the Pacific coast. On the average, thunderstorms are twice as frequent in Ohio as they are in northern New England.

Pakistan, India in Water Feud

Countries Have Mutual Need for Supply From Indus River

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The mutual need for Indus River basin waters has embroiled India and Pakistan in one of their bitterest disputes.

Each nation is heaping accusations on the other in this struggle for waters of the Indus and five tributaries—vitally needed by both for irrigation and power.

The atmosphere has become so tense many Western diplomats are apprehensive India and Pakistan may become irrevocably estranged.

The long-smoldering Indus dispute burst into flame last month. It began when India and Pakistan gained their freedom in 1947. The division of the subcontinent, after the British left, placed the headwaters of the Indus Basin in Indian hands. However, the waters fed an intricate canal system irrigating millions of acres inside Pakistan's borders. Thus, Pakistan had the pipeline, but India controlled the taps.

India said it needed the waters for its own irrigation system. Pakistan retorted it needed them to keep its fertile lands from reverting to desert.

Two years ago the World Bank entered the dispute and got India to promise not to tamper with the Indus Basin in any way that would harm Pakistan.

Last spring the bank came up with a proposal, exact details of which have not been released. India accepted the recommendation, but when Pakistan wavered, the Indians said they no longer felt bound to hold up their own river development projects.

On July 8, India's Prime Minister Nehru pressed a button which opened the gates of the Nangal Dam, sending waters from the River Sutlej into the Nangal-Bhakra canals. Pakistan angrily protested that India had violated international commitments. Nehru and other Indian officials insisted they meant no harm to the Pakistanis, but asserted they had to go ahead with the development plans.

"If Pakistan goes without water it will not be our fault," one Indian official declared. "We have given them seven years to find alternate water supplies and they have done nothing."

Pontiac Club Ready to Loan Hospital Beds

Elmer Betts of the Pontiac Civitan Club said today the club's hospital bed and chair program is expanding slowly but that nine beds are now available for needy persons.

The hospital beds are loaned to persons financially unable to stay in the hospital, Betts said, or to those who are able to go home if such a bed is available.

Maximum time for one person to use a bed is 90 days and any individual or organization may call Betts at FE 2-1018 or write him at 220 Cottage St., Pontiac.

A separate fund has been set up for the purchase of additional beds and since the program was started six years ago the group has increased its holdings from 1 to 9 beds.

About 25 persons use them annually, Betts said, but the group could expand its activities tremendously with more facilities. The group's other permanent program is backing the Camp Fire Girls.

Yachtsmen of Grand Lake, Colo., boast theirs is the country's highest anchorage—8,369 feet above sea level.

Negro spirituals are sacred folk songs created or modified by the Negroes in America. Although many of them have been arranged and interpreted by known composers, their words and music are traditional and their individual authorship is not known.

The Attlee-Bevan Safari

Regardless of their reasons for going, the trip of eight Britons to Moscow and Peiping is unlikely to have the results they expect.

It is true that Messrs. Attlee, Bevan and six others aren't traveling as representatives of the British government. Rather, they are individual members of the British Labor Party who are being taken on a conducted tour of the two capitals of world Communism.

Naturally, they are seeing only what their hosts want them to see. Naturally, too, vodka and sweet talk flowed freely.

A safe guess is that British workers watching this safari into two slave states should be prepared for a shock. It will come when they discover that the Reds' propaganda machines interpret the visit as a tribute to the two Communist regimes.

Moscow and Peiping in the past have given pleasant and lavish parties for important visitors. But none has brought the modification of Communist policies without which there can be no easing of international tensions.

In some quarters it is believed this trip is being seized upon by the Reds to start a peace drive aimed at wrecking EDC and driving a wedge between Britain and the United States.

Nine More Reds Convicted

Bit by bit the Department of Justice is pushing back the homefront Red tide.

Latest proof of this came in the conviction of nine admitted Communists on charges of conspiring to teach overthrow of our Government by violence.

The verdict ended the longest trial in the history of Philadelphia's U. S. District Court, 47 days. Members of the jury, seven men and five women, who had been listening to the case since March 5, agreed after eight hours of deliberation.

The Government had hoped to see all nine Communist leaders immediately removed from circulation. But the court set August 23 for hearing of a defense motion for a new trial.

The fact remains, however, that the Administration, with the aid of the Smith Act, is making good on its promise to wage relentless but wholly Constitutional war on subversives.

That's what the people voted for in November, 1952.

Autonomy for Tunisia

There is encouragement for France as well as the West in the effort of Premier Mendes-France to smooth out Franco-Arab relations in Tunisia.

The Premier's program was dramatized by his flight to Tunis. There he gave immediate proof that his government wants no more Indochinas by the offer he made to Sidi Mohammed el Amin, the 72 year old Bey of Tunis.

That plan included an all Tunisian government with full control over domestic affairs and with France retaining direction of defense and foreign policy. Also proposed was a police shakeup to safeguard the rights of all Tunisians including 3,000,000 Arabs and Berbers, 168,000 Frenchmen, 88,000 Italians and 100,000 Jews.

This program includes as full a measure of autonomy as the Tunisian Nationalists long have sought. Yet no one knows better than Mendes-France that new challenges and problems confront the French and Arabs alike, not the least of which is security.

For these reasons the experiment in Franco-Arab co-operation will be watched by Western eyes with sympathetic interest.

Invitation to Tragedy

Two Detroit children are dead because a cardinal rule of water safety was violated.

The victims, a girl 13 and a boy 6, were drowned in Walled Lake when a 14 foot boat carrying 11 persons suddenly overturned.

When the small craft started its ill-fated trip, it carried only five passengers. Then four more, three of them adults, were picked up.

But it was not until two young women swimmers climbed aboard, swelling the passenger list to 11, that the inevitable happened. The greatly overloaded craft capsized plunging everyone into 20 feet of water.

Ruth Couch and Wayne Nunnery would be alive today if the adults in that boating party hadn't ignored that safety rule — never ride in an overloaded boat. To do so is to court death for yourself and others.

Note to after-dinner speakers: If you tell a joke to an assemblage of 100 persons, 90 of them are bored because they have heard it before; five don't think it funny; three fail to get the point, and two enjoy a chuckle. That's an awful waste of circulation.

A small boy isn't happy unless he is doing one or more of these three things: (1) Eating; (2) getting dirty; (3) making a lot of noise.

Why don't the automobile accessory people place on the market a muffler for the back-seat driver?

Quiet Park Next to Dixie Offers Contrast in Life

Daffynition:

Las Vegas: A "wet" hole in the desert, filled with suckers and minks.

One of the most serene and beautiful spots in Oakland County is directly beside the turbulent and hustling Dixie Highway, a marked contrast. It is the little park 18 miles northwest of Pontiac, with all picnic facilities, where hundreds in quiet surroundings watch the ever rushing traffic. It is the pride of its who has been on the job many years, and keeps it in fine condition. It is the only spot along this highway where the two contrasting spectacles in our life come so close together.

The city hall that Pontiac gives up on the completion of its new one was built in 1908 at a cost of $9,739.42. Previous to that time the present Central Fire Station was used for a city hall, having been built in 1867, six years after Pontiac became a city, and at a cost of $12,000.

After last year's disastrous experience, feels that the Detroit Tigers haven't done such a bad job in their early 1954 spurt, and usually give the customers their money's worth, even if they couldn't maintain the pace.

Stu Whitfield

enjoys spending as much time as possible at his cottage at White Lake, near the place where he was born 70 odd years ago.

A letter from a former Pontiac resident,

Abner Hortensen,

now living at Smith Creek, Macomb County, says: "The Grand Trunk is discontinuing all passenger service on its Detroit-Port Huron line, which runs through this community. This is the place where in 1863 a 16-year-old newsboy named was kicked off one of those trains because his electrical experiments had set fire to the baggage car. That car and the old depot now are in Greenfield Village."

Mildred Glass Was Pleasantly Surprised While Pontiac General Hospital Patient

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

For a number of years I have resided in the village of Lake Orion and have read in your paper numerous complaints pertaining to the Pontiac General Hospital.

Recently, as an emergency, I was admitted to this hospital. I certainly was pleasantly surprised and a little indignant at the misrepresentation of the hospital.

Everyone does his utmost to make the patients comfortable and they all do their work cheerfully under crowded conditions that would test anyone's patience. The food is deliciously prepared and ample for all appetites.

I have at various times been a patient in four different hospitals but wish to state that my stay at Pontiac General has been the most pleasant.

Mobile Home Owners Not to Be Frowned On

Good for "C.M.B." and his or her idea regarding the revision of restrictions on mobile homes! It's about time the public, in general, became educated to the effect that people who pay the price for and live in mobile homes are not to be frowned upon as undesirables. Many well-to-do and/or retired people occupy them nowadays.

All townships should have restrictions pertaining to sanitation of all homes regardless of the type. Why not let people live in homes on wheels that are completely modern and attractive wherever they wish as long as sewage and water facilities are properly installed and the surrounding terrain is kept neat and attractive. Wouldn't they be more desirable in any neighborhood than some of the shacks with outside one or two-holers which can be seen in nearly every district?

I hope people will think it over as it is supposedly the people who have the say in making the restrictions in a community. Here's hoping they will look into the situation and take a broader viewpoint in connection with the livability of homes on wheels and the type of people who occupy them.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Dogs Can Be Trained Via Psychology but 'Forget' When Humans Are Absent

Sandy is one of our two dogs. She belongs to Daniel. And she knows she shouldn't sleep on the davenport. But when we are gone, she invariably tries to do so. She also uses deceptive strategy on Mrs. Crane, for she is a smart fox terrier. But her conscience doesn't seem to bother her when we human "policemen" are away.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-387: Rev. Duane Hulse, aged 32, is a clergyman in Sheboygan, Wisconsin, who married my cousin.

Recently he dropped in for a visit while he was here in Chicago at a conference.

As he started to sit down on the davenport, he noticed a couple of new wooden mousetraps lying on the cushions.

"What's the matter?" he inquired. "Do you have mice in the upholstery?"

I shook my head.

"No, those are to keep the dog off the davenport," I replied, "For she once stuck her nose in a trap that was set. It went off and snapped the tip of her nose.

"Ever since then, she has avoided mousetraps. So we buy a few new traps and lay them on the chairs and davenport. We don't set them, so they will not go off and snap a human being, either, but they are mighty fine protection for our upholstery.

Pain is one of the most efficient teachers, both of dogs and children, which is why a little corporal punishment is not amiss if applied judiciously.

In psychology we would say that

And in this case, we have capitalized on her dislike in order to keep her off the furniture.

For dogs are smart creatures in many ways. They know wrong from right. They fear human "policemen," as it were, but apparently do not have effective conscience that operates when human beings are gone.

For example, Sandy knows that she is not supposed to sleep in our upholstered chairs, even though we may fail to place a mousetrap thereon.

But she will hop into a chair, nevertheless, if we are not present or if the mousetrap is missing.

Time after time I have watched Sandy trick Mrs. Crane. Yesterday I was at the far end of the house.

But I could see Sandy curled up in a comfortable upholstered chair. Then she heard Mrs. Crane's footstep at the top of the stairway.

So Sandy jumped out of the chair and trotted into the dining room where she has a box in one corner.

She hastened to her box, then turned around and slowly walked to meet Mrs. Crane.

When my wife entered the room, Sandy stretched thoroughly to intimate that she had been sleeping in her box and had just awakened.

But I had seen her trickery from the back of the house. And I have witnessed this little act repeated on numerous occasions.

For instance, she will also get up in the bay window of the living room to watch the passers-by along the street. But Mrs Crane scolds her for doing so.

Consequently, if she hears Mrs. Crane's step on the stairway or at the front door, Sandy will jump down and run out to her box in the dining room, after which she will put on that "stretch & yawn" act of hers.

She also has a hunger for affection, so she will come upstairs to my study and demand a chance to jump into my lap.

If I pet her for about one minute, she is then satisfied and doesn't ask for this privilege again the rest of the day.

But the next day, I must give her this lap privilege all over again or she whines and barks.

Aunt Het

If the women o' this country ever unite in a set-down strike, they'll find they've got power enough to boss the universe.

David Lawrence Says:

Congress Awake to Reds; Outlaw Bill Badly Written

WASHINGTON — The dramatic effort of Congress trying in the last few days of the session to write a bill that will reflect its deep-seated contempt for the Communist Party in the United States is unquestionably evidence of the nation's alertness to the dangers of infiltration by subversive elements.

Since Republicans and Democrats in both the House and the Senate joined by overwhelming votes to approve various proposals of different phraseology—but all of them rendering the Communist organization illegal as a political party and calling it a conspiracy—there can be little doubt that many months of agitation on this subject have finally had a cumulative effect.

For Martin Dies, Democrat, long the foe of the Communists, and the man who was berated by the Roosevelt administration for "seeing Reds every night under the bed," it has been an experience in vindication as he sees the Democratic Party leaders sponsoring his bill to outlaw the Communist Party, while the Republicans join in passing it.

But, unfortunately, some of the new problems to be created by the bill just passed are greater for the enforcement agencies of the government than they have been before, and perhaps the new bill is so worded that it will be rendered inoperative in part when the courts get to examining the constitutionality of some of the phrases.

The administration did not handle itself too well on the issue, and Republicans in Congress found themselves outmaneuvered by Democrats, though so far as the country is concerned there will not be too much concern over the fact that the Democrats and Republicans vied with each other to outlaw the Communist Party.

The Department of Justice wanted the powers so phrased that it could prosecute the leaders and those who teach the overthrow of government.

It is not prepared for the task of putting 25,000 Communists in jail, which is what is called for if the pending bill becomes law. For the new measure would require that all Communist members be arrested and tried.

The guide for juries would be to convict anyone who has been listed as a member or has contributed money to the Communist Party or has made himself subject to its discipline or has written or spoken in any way that carried out the plans of the Communist organization. But it stipulates that an alleged member must be proved to have known the purposes of the organization.

There were objections from some of the constitutional lawyers in the Senate but because of the politics—that is, the hazard of being recorded against anything which condemns the Communist Party—the vote was virtually unanimous in every instance.

The fact remains that trying to write laws on the floor of the Senate or House is not conducive to the enactment of clear-cut legislation.

It may well be that the effort to load down the measure with clauses impossible to enforce or conflicting with sections of existing laws against subversives will so confuse the issue as to make difficult the actual attainment of the objectives of the legislation.

There has been talk of a presidential veto—which, politically at least, would embarrass the President—but this is not likely. The tendency nowadays is to accept unpalatable legislation and seek immediate amendment at the next session, and that's probably the wisest course to follow, especially with an election coming on in November.

All sorts of predictions are made that the new measure, if enacted, will be held invalid by the courts but, to save other sections of the bill, what is known as a "separability clause" has been attached so that, if one part is held unconstitutional, that will not affect the validity of the other parts.

One thing is clear—this Congress is well aware that Communists must be uprooted and that infiltration in labor unions and American institutions of all kinds must be stopped.

Whether the votes just recorded by the Democrats in Congress will spare them the "20 years of treason" type of attack in the coming campaign or whether the Republicans will nevertheless point to the belated nature of the voting to outlaw the Communist Party, the fact remains that it's almost unanimous—nearly everybody in Congress wants to see the Communist influence driven out of America.

Baering Down

We'll have peace when the pins are out of the war maps and back in the shirts.

I've worn out my best wall map following the spoor of Dulles chining himself on parallels. We've finished second in more spots than a plumber's helper.

Best news we had this week was the king of the Congo cannibals ordered toast for breakfast. But that's balanced by Winnie Churchill putting Suez up for grabs.

After seventy-two years of relentless friendship the English finally gave up trying to harness camels to hacks.

Wasn't so long ago Montgomery and General Electric whiskers were using sand for ballast in their shoes. Then we went over to help Mussolini out of Libya. He found out too late that playing a violin with a saw was not music.

We sure helped Premier Mendes-France out of Indo-China with a lavish farewell.

When it comes to coat-holding we also do a good job on the trousers.

General Kai-shek is safe on Formosa because we went to his rescue. The General isn't sure whether we are running a first aid or a travel bureau.

Then we went to the rescue of Churchill's Suez aquacade. We certainly were a big assistance in packing Winnie's portable exodus.

In case you don't like it where you are we will forward our catalogue of interesting armistices and charming parallels. Syngman Rhee is still wondering how he is south of the Yalu with a good song ringing free.

Word has gone around the Near East look out for Dulles driving up in a moving van.

Whatever Type of Allergy You Cuddle, Brady Says to Adopt High Calcium Diet

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

In 1819 John Bostock described "A Periodical Affection of the Eyes and Chest" to which he himself had been subject since he was about 8 years old. His annual bout began the first or middle of June and subsided the middle of July.

He opined the trouble was due to "a close moist heat, also a bright glare of light, dust or other substances touching the eyes."

In 1831 Elliotson asserted that hay fever was caused by pollen and in 1856 Blackley began a series of studies of the subject which gave us most of our present knowledge of hay fever.

Even so, there is much merit in the query of a reader who says the late Dr. — had declared he had never heard of hay fever when he was a medical student. How come?

I was practicing in Penn Yan—no, I had moved to Elmira the year the late Dr. — received his degree. On thinking it over I decided not to say I heard of hay fever when I was in medical school.

I can't for the life of me remember about that, but certainly hay fever was discussed in many medical textbooks and in medical journals published years before either of us began the study of medicine.

It does seem that physicians are finding a steadily increasing proportion of the population subject to allergy, a peculiar sensitivity to, and intolerance for certain substances of animal or vegetable origin, such as shell-fish, pollen, horse dander, cat hair, feather dust.

As nearly as I can learn, no one has advanced a plausible explanation for this hypersensitivity.

It is my belief, as though anybody cares, that the underlying factor of this American hypersensitivity is what I have harped on here for years, namely, calcium deficiency.

Yes, indeed, my friends, whether your allergy manifests itself as hay fever, hyperesthetic rhinitis, machine gun sneezing fits, hives, giant hives (angioneurotic edema), spasmodic asthma, neuralgic headache, migraine or moist eczema, let me tell you the first thing to do, regardless of any special treatment, is adopt a high calcium diet and supplement the diet with an optimal daily ration of Ca & vitamin D, as described in Little Lesson 26, The Calcium Shortage, for which send 25 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Fleet to Defend Isle of Formosa

Sen. Alexander Smith Backs Ike's Reminder to Red China

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said today the American 7th Fleet should be able to block any Chinese Communist attempt to invade the island of Formosa.

"The Communists might be able to mass thousands of sampans which could be ominous," Smith said in an interview. "But they could never cross against the modern naval vessels of our 7th Fleet. We're not worried about that."

Smith, chariman of the Far East subcommittee of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, approved President Eisenhower's declaration yesterday that any Communist invasion of the Chinese Nationalist-held island would have to run over the 7th Fleet.

The President served that calm but measured reminder to the Reds in answer to a question at his news conference.

Premier Chou En-lai said only last Friday that Communist China would capture Formosa, headquarters of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists, and warned the United States against interfering.

A reporter asked the President what would happen if the Reds did move in force against Formosa.

Eisenhower said orders to the 7th Fleet to defend the island are still in effect.

"That has been our policy and it should continue to be," Smith commented.

Asked if his group had any information on whether the Communists are serious in threatening to take Formosa, Smith replied.

"I think they're bluffing, but of course you never know when you're dealing with Communists."

On the use of other forces, Smith commented: "We might have to use some air, but we have plenty of that on Okinawa."

The Pentagon said yesterday that on the average four destroyers and a tender for planes make up the Formosan patrol. However, the 7th Fleet contains three large carriers with supporting cruisers and destroyers. Military officials said these could be rushed to the area in no more than 36 hours.

PIN-WORMS MAY BE A FAMILY AFFAIR

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms . . . ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. Jayne & Son, specialists in worm remedies for over 100 years.

8th Army Plan Worries ROKs

South Koreans Report U.S. Set to Withdraw Some Troops

SEOUL (AP) — The South Korean Assembly will meet tonight to discuss plans reportedly under consideration in Washington to pull "part of the U.S. 8th Army" out of Korea, Assembly Chairman Lee Ki Poong announced.

An informed source said President Syngman Rhee was advised by aides now in Washington that the U.S. National Security Council will make a decision "within two days."

Rhee and other ROK government officials long have demanded that three South Korean infantry divisions be formed for each U.S. division pulled out of South Korea.

Twenty South Korean divisions and seven divisions of U.S. and U.N. troops now are in South Korea.

Demonstrations against the reported withdrawal were being scheduled throughout South Korea tomorrow, official sources said.

An 8th Army spokesman refused to comment on the report.

"This is a time when South Korea must oppose any withdrawal of U.N. troops from Korea in view of the fact that the Communists are building their strength in the North," Lee said in a statement.

In Washington, an Army spokesman said he had heard nothing of any troop withdrawal from Korea.

Church Meeting Smooth, but With No Big Decisions

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A big Christian omnibus, loaded with assorted travelers on the Lord's highway, is rolling along fairly smoothly in this well-groomed university town.

But exactly where it's going, or whether it'll get there, nobody knows.

Up to now, the Assembly of the World Council of Churches hasn't produced any pillar-of-fire decisions, but it's doing a lot of talking, and figuring, and it has the atmosphere of big doings.

In mammoth McGaw Hall at Northwestern University, where the main meetings are held, it looks like a staff meeting of the universe, with the sages gathered to probe the mysteries.

Under the white floodlights, they sit at long tables in the great arena, fingering the dials of their earphones, tapping with pencils, occasionally scribbling a note.

Signs — reading Ethiopia, Mexico, Iran and a host of other lands — tell where the 600 voting delegates came from.

Behind them, in rows of chairs, sit 800 other nonvoting church representatives in packed rows of chairs.

And behind that, in the always-full bleachers, are some 4,000 onlookers.

At the front hangs a great blue-and-white banner as high as a building, with the symbol of the world body — a ship with a cross as its mast.

On one side of the stage, in glass-enclosed booths, is the battery of translators, who relay the words of the meeting over the earphones in the varied tongues of these varied Christians.

There is a similar scene, although on not so large a scale, a couple of miles away in Chan Auditorium, where visitors meet to hear famed churchmen speak.

Between these two centers of contemplation flows a two-way stream of 20 chartered buses. The ride is free.

Scores of other buildings on the Northwestern University campus—dormitories, sorority houses, administration buildings, have turned into part of this temporary headquarters of the council.

There are mimeograph shops, conference rooms, exhibition halls, press rooms and a special 40-line telephone board set up to serve the complex operation of the meeting.

It is being covered by some 600 news and religious press reporters, a number second only to that which covered the 1952 Republican convention. Western Union reports they're sending out more than 100,000 words a day.

It all costs money — a cash outlay of $385,000 which was provided by individuals, foundations and members of the council.

Bonneville Dam Invisible to Sailor Hooked by Fish

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

BONNEVILLE, Oregon (INS) — Watching the salmon and steelhead leaping up the famous fish ladders at Bonneville Dam, I noticed a young man beside me whose interest was really hooked.

He wore a faded blue denim jumper, with 431-60-52 printed in big black numerals across the back. Not once did he cast even a glance at the engineering marvel of the dam itself with its 1450 foot spillway, nor at the magnificent country all around.

The fish are a fascinating sight, it's true. Each year over a million "go upstairs"—watched by an annual average of 500,000 visitors. But the spellbound young man fascinated me too.

I finally spoke to Mr. 431-60-52. He said he was Bill Flavell, 20, of Omaha, Neb., a fireman in the Navy "since '52—gettin' out in '56."

After which he gave his full and loving attention to the leaping fish once more, and when he dragged himself away at last I thought, "he still hasn't seen one blessed thing at Bonneville except those fish."

Strangely, I envied him his absolute single-mindedness. For one of the things that drive many tourists nuts is a conflict of interest, a desire to see everything, go everywhere, miss nothing.

Even experienced travelers like my small family had just been torn apart by such a conflict, a few miles east of Bonneville at Biggs Junction, faced by a fork in the road.

To the right went Route 30, which we'd been following along the glorious Columbia River headed for Portland and the Oregon Coast beyond. To the left went Route 97, south to Bend, Crater National Park and Klamath Falls.

And our emotional trouble rose from just two words on the Route 97 sign—two words we hadn't seen once on any of the thousands of road signs we'd looked at as we'd driven across nearly the whole width of the U.S.A.

The words were, "To California."

Having spent four of our last ten summers in the "Golden State," we'd definitely decided to give it a miss this time and explore places we'd never seen. But that decision had been made way back home in the East—and now that big sign and its arrow seemed to pierce us all to the quick.

"Gosh," I heard myself say. "How I'd love to see those redwoods again, and San Francisco, and the Coast Highway all the way down to LA."

"And this time," my 12-year-old said, "we might be luckier about the bears in Yosemite, and really get to spot a couple."

"California, Here I Come," my older son whistled, reaching for the maps.

We decided to talk it all out over lunch. It wouldn't have been the first time we gave the old heave-ho to carefully crayoned road maps and headed in some brand new direction. In our stile of impulse touring, rigid itineraries are simply no go.

Toting up mileage figures we found it was nearly 1,200 miles to Los Angeles one way and 1,300 another.

"And, gee," one boy said, "we've never been to the coast of Oregon."

"We did say we'd stay up north and keep cool," said the other.

"If we went south a thousand miles," I pointed out, "we couldn't go home through Montana and see Glacier National Park again."

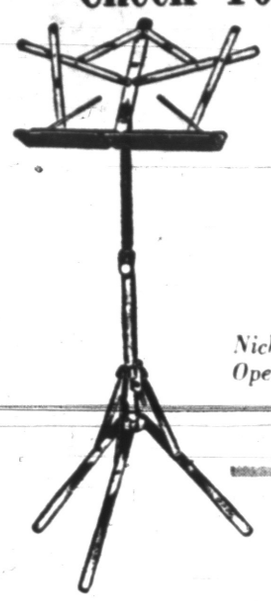

In the end the Oregon Trail won out for this trip over our beloved California, and soon anticipation about Oregon forests and beaches was again leaping as high as salmon on man-made ladders.

But you see why, an hour or so later at Bonneville, I suddenly envied that single-minded boy in the lettered jumper, who couldn't see the dam for the fish.

Atomic Era Hits Old Ohio County

Once Peaceful District Booms With New AEC Construction Project

WAVERLY, Ohio (INS) — Once-peaceful Pike County is paying the price for what passes for progress in this atomic era.

The huge, billion - dollar - plus atomic energy plant itself—neatly tucked away in its 3,700 acres—is hidden from sight, to a considerable degree, by a low-lying range of Pike's famed hills.

But the impact of its construction cannot be missed. The shape of the very earth itself has been changed—literally. Huge earthmovers, bulldozers, power shovels, and cranes, are everywhere, working around the clock in the haze of their own dust.

They have shattered for all time the serenity of what used to be one of Ohio's most delightful and secluded areas.

Then came the atomic plant.

Crazily and unbelievably, the area boomed. Workers on the AEC project alone number more than 20,000 now, and are increasing every week. They are expected to hit 25,000 this fall.

That doesn't include those on other construction projects—highways, schools, residential and commercial buildings. It doesn't include their wives and children.

Where do they live? Everywhere.

Forty-four trailer camps have mushroomed in the area where there were only two small ones before. They were actually adjoining each other in some instances.

Waverly, the county seat, now is five times as large as it was before, area considered. The smaller communities — Piketon, Sargents, Wakefield, Jasper, Beaver, Stockdale—also are bursting at the seams.

Schools are going up as fast as possible. So-called temporary buildings—concrete block structures which it is hoped, will be ready for the school year this fall—are being rushed to completion, including a 13-room unit in the central district, an 11-room unit at Piketon and an 18-roomer at Scioto Local district.

The sleepy village, as it used to be in Pike County, has just ceased to exist. Bustle is the order of the day—and night—everywhere. Recreation facilities, such as they are, are taxed beyond all reasonable limits. Drive-in theaters which have dotted the landscape are crammed to capacity night after night, regardless of program.

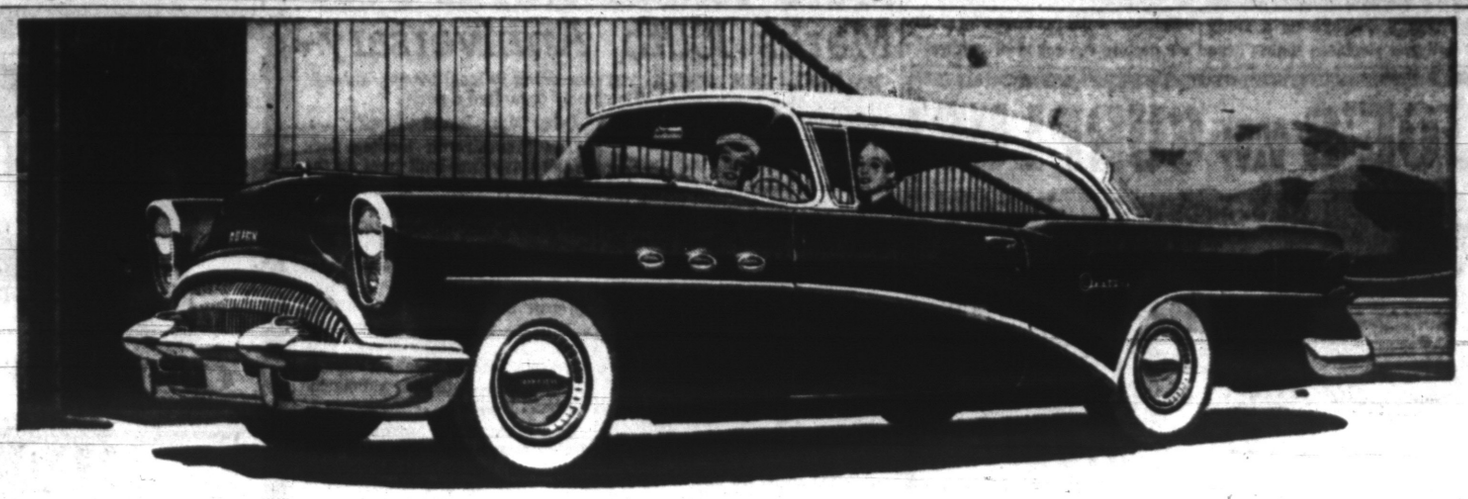

The five lucky holders of liquor licenses in the county are really making a killing. Such permits have been frozen since 1949, so the liquor spots have really hit a bonanza.

Prices, surprisingly, haven't skyrocketed, except for rents which of course, have gone out of sight. Housing just isn't to be had. But meal prices at the roadside stands that are pressed into service as restaurants aren't too far out of line with what they are in the remainder of the state.

Dire Tire Warning

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (UP)—An apartment house management pulled no punches in its warning to non-residents to stay out of its parking lot. A sign posted at the lot said: "Keep off or we'll flatten your tires."

Heather, which grows in Scotland on land too poor to support grass, is called "poverty plant" by the British.

Buick's biggest hit brings you a 3-way bonus

1. You get the car that's in step with tomorrow

From stem to stern, Buick today is styled a year ahead—with long, low glamor lines, with the very look of tomorrow, and with that broad panoramic windshield that many other cars won't have till 1955. Equally important, you get in Buick advanced V8 power, big room, luxurious comfort, the famed Million Dollar Ride—and all for prices that start just a few dollars above those of the so-called "low-price three." Is it any wonder, then, that Buick today is outselling all other cars in America except two of these "low-price three"?

2. You get the car that's a sure high resale value

Buicks have always had a high trade-in value. But the 1954 Buick has an extra advantage in its year-ahead styling. That means your Buick will stay well up in the style parade for years to come—will stay fresh and new-looking well into the future. So you're bound to be way ahead in actual dollars when trade-in time comes.

3. You get a bigger allowance from our volume business

Every month's sales figures this year have firmed this fact: Buick sales are soaring; Buick is outselling all other cars in the nation, regardless of price range, except two of the "low-price three." So with this tremendous volume, we can—and do—offer higher trade-in allowances. Come in, see and drive a new Buick—then check for yourself that our volume business really does mean a far bigger allowance for you.

Come see for yourself why—

Officer Misses Gunfire

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — One of a group of Vietnam information officers visiting Malaya on a study tour suffered sleepless nights here because he missed the sound of mortar fire in his hometown of Hanoi. Dinh Trinh Chich said he had learned the art of restful slumber despite the sound of gunfire.

Hal Boyle Says:

Mare Island Naval Base Marks 100th Anniversary

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP)—Did you ever hear of a community raising $200,000 to throw a birthday party for a naval shipyard?

It is a bit unusual. But the citizens here have chipped in that amount to celebrate next month the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Mare Island Naval Base by brusque David G. Farragut, later to become America's first admiral.

The long, low island at the northern end of San Francisco Bay had been bought by the Navy for $83,491, and was the first link in its chain of defenses of the Pacific Coast.

Farragut, who had joined the Navy at the age of 10, was 50 years old then. He had no way of knowing that within another decade he would become the hero of the battle of Mobile Bay, eternally famous for his command, "Damn the torpedoes—full speed ahead."

But Mare Island—named after a lady horse that fell off a flatboat and swam ashore—has produced many another hero since Farragut in the last 100 years. Through five wars it has built 490 naval vessels, repaired thousands of others, served for a century as a major base of America's sea might.

Today it serves the same durable purpose. It is the home of a great portion of our "mothball fleet," carefully cocooned against rust and ready on short notice to prowl the sea lanes again.

The entire community is proud of Mare Island's long, proud record. It launched the dreadnaught battleship California — and also Elsa Maxwell. Elsa came here as a refugee from the 1906 San Francisco fire and earthquake, and, according to local legend, immediately organized a party.

Other Mare Island "firsts":

The first aircraft landing deck in the Navy was built here on the U.S. Pennsylvania in 1911.

So was the first Navy oil tanker, the Navy's first oil-burning vessel, its first all-welded hull, its first electrically propelled ship (later it became the Langley, our first aircraft carrier) and the largest submarine ever built, the old Nautilus. The destroyer Ward, built here in 17 record-breaking days in 1918, sank a Japanese submarine at Pearl Harbor.

The Mare Island yard didn't exactly launch bandmaster Paul Whiteman, but he once served as a Navy musician here.

During the last World War, the shipyard—its shops are among the largest on earth—employed 40,000 workers, including 9,000 Rosie the Riveters, and subcontracted assembly jobs through 50 communities as far East as Denver.

Since Farragut founded it, the yard has grown from 1,000 acres to 2,446, and today is perhaps the largest naval installation in the world. Its equipment has risen to a book value of $180,000,000. Its 13,000 employes have an annual payroll of $55,000,000.

Each year its schools graduate 600 trained technicians with the skill to keep on turning out the long line of ships that have kept America's shores inviolate for nearly a century and a half.

But to me one of the most human factors about this sprawling yard is that it not only built the ships that carried men into battle for their country—it also in postwar years made a great record as a naval rehabilitation center for amputees. It taught them to walk on new hopes and new legs.

The war-scarred men who were helped here to rebuild their broken lives are certainly among the brightest testimonials to Mare Island's first century. To repair a ship is an achievement certainly, but to repair a man is a glory.

Red China Cruiser Reported in Service

HONG KONG (AP)—Independent Chinese reports published here today said Red China's only cruiser, the Chungking, has been reconditioned and rearmed and is now in the north China harbor of Tsingtao.

The report aroused unusual interest because of Peiping's current campaign of threats to invade Formosa.

Formerly the British light cruiser Aurora, the Chungking was given to the Chinese Nationalists after World War II.

Her crew defected to the Reds from the Shanghai anchorage in 1949 but Nationalist bombers sank the ship at a mooring in Hulutao harbor, Manchuria. Recently there have been reports that the Communists refloated her and took her to Port Arthur for refitting and regunning by the Russians.

The body of Sir Walter Raleigh was buried in St. Margaret's church, London. The head was embalmed and kept in a leather bag by his widow as long as she lived. What became of it after it was inherited by her son is not known.

Connecticut with a population of two million and an area of 3,202,500 acres has two million acres of forest land.

BACK-TO-SCHOOL

Typifying the thousands of Oakland County students returning to classes next month are these five youngsters.

Louise and Christine Offer of 832 Ann St., Birmingham, strike the pose they will assume daily when they return to Holy Name School. Louise is a fifth grader and big sister will attend eighth grade sessions.

Going back to school is old stuff for Pontiac High senior Deanna Bradley (bottom) of 108 Spokane Dr., but she's looking forward to opening day.

Pontiac Area Schools Slate Openings

With the fall term less than a month away, students are stocking up on clothes and supplies that will get them off to a good start in the new school year.

Students aren't the only ones preparing for the resumption of classes. Desks are being dusted off and corridors swabbed down for the mass back-to-school movement in September.

In the Pontiac Public School System alone, a peak number of 17,269 students is forecast for the 1954-55 year. Last year's top enrollment was 16,312.

Oakland County educators expect an increase of about 16,000 students over the 100,000 in the county last year.

The county's rural schools will open on Sept. 9. That is also the date for resumption of classes in all of the Catholic schools in the county, including those in Pontiac.

Pontiac Public Schools also will reopen Sept. 9. All except kindergarten students will return that day. Elementary pupils will remain in school until noon on the opening day, but senior and junior high school students must remain all day.

Kindergarten teachers in Pontiac will enroll new pupils Sept. 9 and 10 from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1 to 3:30 p. m. Actual kindergarten sessions begin Sept. 13, with youngsters remaining in school only an hour and a half during the first five days.

Students will return to Emmanuel Christian School in Pontiac on Sept. 8.

Although all of the schools will reopen in the first part of September, the dates vary from district to district.

A spotcheck of various districts provided the following scheduled back-to-school dates:

Rochester Community Schools, Sept. 13; Walled Lake Consolidated School District, Sept. 9; Huron Valley School District (Milford), Sept. 3 for elementary through 9th grade and Sept. 7 for 10th through 12th graders; Birmingham Public Schools, Sept. 7; and Bloomfield Hills Public Schools, Sept. 7.

Lake Orion Community Schools, Sept. 9; Oxford School District, Sept. 7; West Bloomfield School District, Sept. 9; Avondale School District, Sept. 7; Clarkston Community Schools, Sept. 13; and Waterford Township School District, Sept. 8 for kindergarten through 6th grade and high school students, and later in September for 7th and 8th graders.

Jumper Look High Fashion

To Be Seen on Campus in Corduroy, Velveteen and Tweed

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

The high school and college girl returning to the campus this year will be in high fashion if she follows the advice of local merchants who have built their stock around the four main fashion looks—the jumper look, the bulky look, the blouson look and the pants look.

The jumper comes in corduroys, velveteens, tweeds and wools and the wool jersey blouses worn with them come in many beautiful colors.

Cuff links are interesting — they're large and some even have bold plaid designs. These accessorize the tailored shirts which are so popular this fall.

There's the bulky look in sweaters . . . one in particular has a turtle neck plus a hood. This is better for the exotic-type and is worn particularly well with the toreador pants which every college girl will be wearing.

We can't say enough about colors this fall—they've never been so gay. Green tones and orange hues are the big color news.

The news in blouses is the man tailored shirt that becomes a feminine blouse with lace treatment or tiny ruffles. Here again the cuff links come into the picture and the college bound girl will find a large assortment of both blouses and links in local stores.

Skirts are either very slim or very full, and come in beautiful tweeds and mixed fabrics. Some stores are showing clutch bags of matched material which will be good on the campus this fall.

Lamb's wool and cashmere sweaters still are the favorite campus sweater and a particularly new cashmere sports a tiny Peter Pan collar.

Alpaca and baby chinchilla coats are favorites for high schoolers and campus belles. Those shown in the Pontiac area come in beige and gray.

The boy coat will be popular with this crowd and there will be a choice of fabric in tweed, wool, zibelaine and fleece.

The blouson look also is found in suits which are necessary for the college crowd. The boxy suit comes with blouses either matching or contrasting.

The middy look is popular, but Pontiac merchants have remarked that with one exception which is the same type as last year's, there has been no definite change toward the 1920 fashion style.

The bust line is still full and the hemline still remains flattering.

Skirts and bolero jackets may be purchased separately and are good for fall.

Not to be overlooked are the Bermuda shorts which come in stripes, plaids, bright colors and the ever popular charcoal.

And, before you complete your tour of fasihon shops you'll want to try the new kilt which probably will become a part of every college girl's wardrobe.

Joan Newnam (right) shows us a Gene Edwards alpaca-lined, tan leather jacket which promises to be the "campus-pet-of-the-year." Her Evan Picone imported 100 per cent wool, camel-color skirt with self-belt is also available in charcoal or grey. The brown cotton print three-quarter sleeve blouse, tan string gloves and brown Old Maine Trotter loafers complete her costume.

The alligator-grain hatbox (left) is topped by a genuine alligator bag and matching brown pumps by Troyling. Brown kid gloves complete these accessories.

GOP Running Slate of Native Dark Horses

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — Two days after three candidates for the Republican nomination for governor of Kansas appeared at a rally here, a Salina Journal reporter asked 20 persons on the street if they could name the aspirants.

Two named all, 5 named one and 13 could name none.

Bald Pate's a Charm

WALHALLA, S. C. (AP) — Bald-headed Claude T. Kay is convinced his clean pate is a good luck charm. Whenever he enters a raffle or contest, Kay rubs the ticket or entry blank across his shiny dome. So far, he's won a turkey, a 15-pound ham, and three sports prediction contests.

U. of Calif., Yale Get Atom Smashers

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — The U. S. Atomic Energy Commission has authorized construction $1,200,000 atom-smashers at the University of California's radiation laboratory and at Yale University.

The new atom-smashers, or accelerators, unlike those in use, will be capable of splitting elements with heavier atomic weights than their predecessors.

Present atom-splitters are capable of smashing elements of an atomic weight of four or less, while the new accelerators will bombard atomic nuclei of elements ranging nine to 28 in atomic weight.

The Berkeley machine will be used primarily by the radiation laboratory's nuclear chemists, headed by Dr. Glenn T. Seaborg, while the Yale machine will be utilized principally in the studies of the reactions of very heavy particles to nuclear bombardment.

School Future Dark for '53 Babies

The new babies who thronged into American homes at an all-time record rate last year don't know it yet:

But they are probably going to find worse school facilities when they toddle into the first grade than their brothers and sisters have now — even as jammed in as they are.

That's because the present school construction program, huge as it is, is not keeping up with the school population increase.

The nation would have to build elementary and high school buildings at more than twice the present annual rate to have all the schools that will be needed in the fall of 1959.

The college outlook for 1953's babies is even more disturbing:

The U. S. Office of Education estimates that the enrollment in colleges by 1965-1966 will be 4,008,000, compared to 2,444,000 last year.

The Office of Education doesn't estimate beyond 1965-1966, but some experts have guessed that college enrollment will be between 4,500,000 and 5,500,000 in 1970.

Francis H. Horn, president of Pratt Institute (Brooklyn, N. Y.), says it might reach the latter figure. Various scholars have estimated the lower enrollment.

They point out that the college-age population will reach 13,600,000 by 1970, compared with 8,000,000 in 1954. And that the percentage of persons in that age group who go to college has risen fairly constantly since 1900, and the rise is not likely to halt abruptly.

Even the current proportion of those who go to college, 28 per cent, would produce a college population of 4,684,000 in 1970.

Colleges haven't even begun to plan to provide facilities for that many students. The leaders in higher education are now at the stage of remolding policies to fit the new situation.

They are asking such questions as: Shall we plan in 1970 to give a college education to the same proportion of college-age people as we now do? If so, shall new colleges be founded, or shall the old ones be expanded?

Should a new type of education, intermediate between high school and college, be provided to avert flooding the colleges?

School leaders no longer look forward to a peak school population, as they did as late as a year ago. They had thought then that the flood crest of postwar babies would reach the first grade in 1954, and that the peak school population would be reached sometime in the late 1950s.

That was based on the notion that the high postwar birth rate would fall off in 1953 and continue to recede for a few years. But no such thing happened.

The 1953 births were an all-time record—3,967,000. So far as the population experts know now, the stork might make more and more trips to the U. S. each year for the indefinite future.

Other things are happening, meanwhile, to make the outlook still more harrowing for the school administrators:

Children come to school at an earlier age than they used to; more of them go to kindergarten, and they stay in both elementary and high school longer. That helps swell the school population.

The nation now needs 340,000 classrooms for public elementary and secondary schools.

The country is now building 50,000 classrooms a year, for which taxpayers are spending more than they ever before have spent on education.

But to have all the schools that will be needed by 1959, one well-informed expert points out, the 500- nsi½0. ETAOIN UN UNUN country would have to build 117,500 classrooms a year.

If we continue to build only at the rate of 50,000 a year, he says, the shortage will amount to 407,000 classrooms by the fall of 1959—taking into account the growing school population and the obsolescence of buildings.

Los Angeles Fights Against City's Smog

LOS ANGELES (INS) — The most intensive effort yet made to determine the exact cause of Los Angeles' smog will get underway this year.

At a cost of nearly $78,000 the Los Angeles smog control authority plans to spot 10 oxidant recorders throughout the length and width of the city.

The recorders, designed to determine the exact amount at any given time of oxidizing properties in the air, will relay hourly reports to survey officials.

State Doctors Study Conflicts in Youngsters

EAST LANSING (INS) — Two Michigan State College psychologists are trying to find out what happens in the minds of children who don't get their way.

Dr. Harold H. Anderson and his wife, Dr. Gladys L. Anderson, are studying social conflicts in children on a world basis. They have just returned from Europe, and have completed the testing of 7,750 children in six countries.

It will take the Andersons two years to correlate their data and analyze and interpret what happens to the thoughts of children after conflict. The findings will be put under four headings: hostility and aggression, ambiguous or indecisive conclusions, submissions, and creative problem-solving.

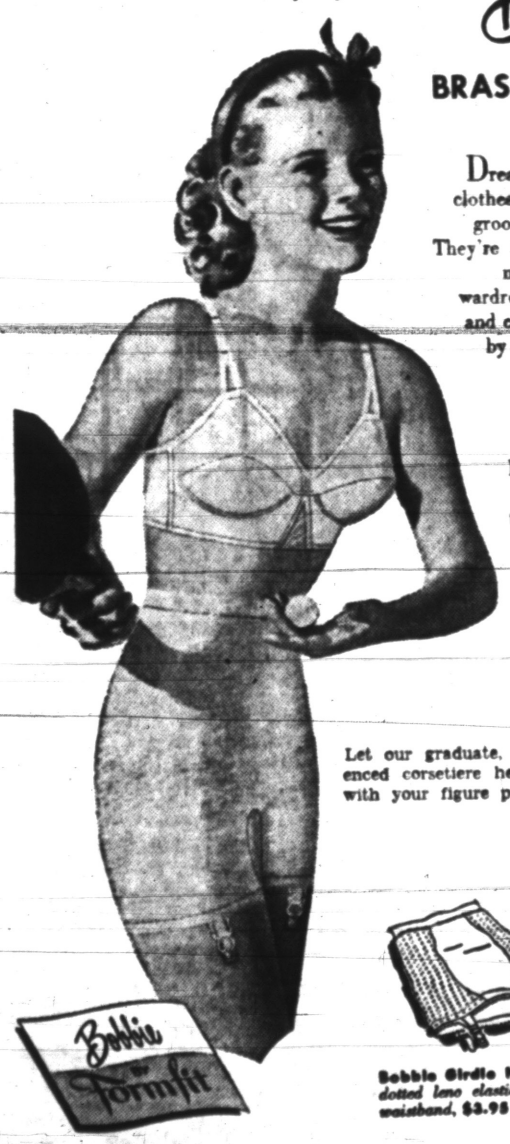

To parents and psychologists this will mean additional information about children in regards to anxiety, escape from reality, lying, cheating, deception, punishment and fair play.

The tests, which the Andersons gave to seventh graders in Sweden, Germany, Norway and England, consisted of incomplete stories to be completed by the children.

Movie Schools Dwindling Away

No Child Stars Today to Fill the Once-Bustling Studio Classrooms

By BOB THOMAS

The little schoolhouse isn't what is used to be in Hollywood.

Years ago, the schools of the major studios were filled with young stars and hopefuls. Today the textbooks are covered with dust and the desks are empty. There are no year-round students at the studio schools.

The fact is that there are no child stars today. There are several reasons for this. For one thing, the studios have uncovered no youngsters with the magic talents of a Shirley Temple or a Margaret O'Brien. Also, they aren't looking.

The nature of movies has changed. Since the war, Hollywood has concentrated on the hard realities of life. There has been no room for such sentimental excursions as "Skippy," "Little Miss Maker," "The Kid" or "Little Lord Fauntleroy."

I paid a call to the MGM school, which used to be the busiest of all the studios. Once there were 18 regular students under contract, plus as many as 150 juvenile extras on a single day.

I found only two pupils. One was bright-eyed Sandy Descher, who was playing Van Johnson's daughter in "The Last Time I Saw Paris." The other was Roberto Dominguez, enacting a role in "Green Fire."

Head teacher of the MGM school is Mary McDonald, who combines the admirable assets of being soft spoken yet firm with her students. She has the distinction of being the most famous alumni of any school in the world.

Although she has no more regular students, Miss McDonald generally has at least a couple to keep the school open. And on some days there will be enough child extras working on a picture to swell the school to its oldtime size.

"The state law requires at least three hours of schooling a day for child actors," Miss McDonald explained. "That must take place between the hours of 8 to 4.

Are child actors above average intelligence?

"Not necessarily. Most of them have vivid imaginations, an essential to acting skill. But there is no essential relationship between acting talent and IQ."

WARDROBE MUST — Pretty shoes are an important item in the college or high school girl's wardrobe, and here attractive Esther Diem models a halter-style black suede pump, after selecting the suede pump (left) with patent and rhinestone trim, both by Foot Flair. Her colorful velveteen casuals by California Cobbler have felt flowers outlining the vamp.

Esther knows that color in shoes sets the style this year so she has selected the tucked-toe, low-cut pump in honey color calf and the avocado-green pump on the right with smart stitched detail, both by Paramount.

A "must" on the campus are the suede oxfords in charcoal or black and the cinnamon-color loafers. These casuals by Trampeze complete her wardrobe and assure her of the right shoes for classroom or dating.

Large Handbags Are Favored by 'Teens

Everywhere that Teen-age Tess goes, her oversize handbag is sure to be present. For who carries with her more paraphernalia than the high school student? Pencils, notepads, date books, souvenirs, homework and often her lunch all must go into this combination handbag and traveling case.

Safety Check of Car Stressed

Brakes, Tires, Steering Should Be Inspected Before School Opens

School time is car check-up time for the conscientious motorists, for cautious as he may be about driving, unless his car responds perfectly to his touch, there's always the danger of serious injury to some youngster.

Brakes require inspection to make sure they will hold firmly. Tires need checking to make sure treads are not so worn that skids will be inevitable on quick application of brakes.

Windshield wipers must function perfectly to assure drivers positive vision in wet weather. Horns that don't sound clear warnings lead to trouble.

Steering mechanisms with too much play in them, or not enough, can sometimes spell disaster.

A special fall check-up, necessary anyway after a summer of hard driving, is advised to put the motor car in safe driving condition for the time when carefree children will be going back to school.

But the checkup itself is not enough. The attitude of the car driver is equally important.

On this point especially, says the A. A. A., all police and safety authorities are in complete agreement.

Youngsters, and especially the younger ones, who cannot be expected to account for their own actions in traffic, would have a much better chance, says the A. A. A., if every driver were willing to accept his responsibility and pledge himself in advance of school openings to be extra careful in residential and school areas.

The Greeks and Romans had cheese as staple food at least a thousand years before the beginning of the Christian era.

Hypnotic Effect Could Cause Spelling Trouble

MINNEAPOLIS — Ruth Roe claims to know why some people are bad spellers. It's "orthographic hypnosis" or in plain language—too much reading of imaginative spelling.

In short, she says, one bad speller makes another.

As chief mail clerk for Minneapolis. Honeywell, Miss Roe explains that most of her assistants come to her as fair spellers.

But unless they stay on their toes the daily contact with such peculiar spellings as Sonnywell, Handiwell, Honeybuckets, the Honey Corporation, Honey Well or Minneapolis Hunnywell, Miniapoulis, Minniesoda, has a hypnotic effect and they soon find themselves making the same mistakes.

But as chief mail clerk Roe wrote in a recent memorandum to her staff, "We may have our troubles but the real heroes are the postmen—those stalwart fellows who get through in spite of rain, hail and snow and still get the mail to us no matter if it's misspelled or not."

TEEN ATTIRE—Vivacious Ellen Niedelson models her favorite school costume for the sub-teen set. Her brown and white striped "boy's" shirt by Judy Kent crisply complements the gold and brown nubby wool tweed skirt with "easy walking" pleats and self belt. Ellen carries a wool-lined nylon gabardine "buckle" jacket by Adorables.

Kindgergarten Primer

Preparing Tot in Advance Eases First Day at School

Preparing your child for his first day of school can be just as natural as buying his first pair of shoes. If your relationship with your youngster is sound and warm, going to school takes care of itself.

Child experts — teachers, psychologists and social workers — agree that preparation for school should start years before you even think about a first grade primer.

If you are honest with your child and respond to his interests, he will grow up feeling he can trust most people, including his teacher.

Speak clearly to your child, tell him what he wants to know. But don't push him into learning to read or write before he starts school, unless he really shows a steady interest in it. Get him attractive books, read to him, teach him songs. If you build up his background of experience, his maturity will help him adjust to school.

As that first day of school approaches, there are some definite things you can do to make it a happy one.

1. Examine your own attitudes toward school and your child's emergence into the world of education. Your son or daughter will take with him to school your fears, dislikes, positive feelings. Although going to school is a big step for your youngster, it is just as big a change for you.

2. Take your child to school before the term begins, if the school permits it. Both of you should be familiar with the classrooms, bathrooms, the general layout. The simple strangeness of the school atmosphere may frighten the child when he begins school; this first trip will make it easier for him.

3. If you can, call up neighborhood children who are also starting school and have your child meet them. This way he will see at least a few familiar faces.

4. Give your child a physical checkup. Poor eyesight or hearing, if undetected at the beginning, may retard his learning.

5. Keep your child's clothing comfortable, easy to handle. When he's in school, he wants to be as self-sufficient as possible. Give him buttons and zippers he can manage.

6. Your son or daughter should have as many playmates as location provides. If the youngster's used to being with friends his own age, the crowded schoolroom environment will not phase him too much.

7. Don't overprepare the occasion, but let your child know in a positive way what school is going to be like. He's going to learn, he must listen to other persons in addition to mom and dad, he's going to have to get along with other children. Be casual about this briefing, and above all be realistic about it.

On that first day, take your offspring to school. He's still not old enough to make the crossings himself. If you tell him you'll meet him at a certain time and place — be there.

If he is tearful about leaving you, see if you can sit in the room with him for a little while. If he really gets difficult and refuses to go, most psychologists feel he should not be forced. His teacher can be helpful in such a situation.

And when your child begins his first term, be alert to signs of unhappiness. Don't expect him to learn how to read immediately; his teacher will decide when he's ready for it.

Going to school is a tremendous change in any child's life — but it can be as easy as A. B. C.

'Should I Let My Boy Play?' Parents Ask

IMPORTANT STEP—Putting the best foot forward is a big thing in starting to school. Scott Wilson of Birmingham tries on oxfords while his mother wonders about small fry saddle shoes. Saddles and smart loafers cut classroom capers for high school and college campus. From tots through teens the fit is the all-important thing and deciding factor.

"Should my boy participate in high school and college sports?"

That's a time-honored question asked by parents each fall. The boy wants to play. Mom and Pop sometimes disagree.

Many educators and coaches would answer with a quick "Yes." Some, however, have reservations and modifications.

Dr. Charles A. Bucher, professor at New York University's School of Education believes that the sports program in some colleges has gone astray.

Says Dr. Bucher: "We have heard the cry of de-emphasis of college sports. But what should be demanded is a re-emphasis of sports.

"Athletics in our schools should be an integral part of the educational program. As such they help develop good citizens with a sound standard of values.

"A great many athletes today are not getting it. The emphasis is on winning at all costs.

"A well-rounded athletic program should have all the students participating in some form of sports. More boys should play on varsity squads. Enlarged intramural programs should be instituted.

"Don't get me wrong, I'm all for sports. In fact, I think we should have more sports for more students. Such sports as tennis, golf, bowling should be worked into programs.

"But the emphasis should be on the students themselves—not on the spectators or gate recipts for big Saturday games."

A good motto would be 'A student for every sport and a sport for every student.'"

Dr. Bucher, who has coached collegiate basketball and baseball teams, also believes that women should participate in intra-mural activity in preference to inter-collegiate competition.

"All the benefits of sports for girls can be gained from intramural activity with some interscholastic competition, about three or four games a year," the educator continued.

"The emphasis for young ladies should be placed on the social values fun and the development of skills rather than the high pressure of winning at all costs.

"To say that a boy or girl should not participate in school sports is entirely erroneous. For their physical and mental well being the youngsters should engage in such extra-curricular activities.

"They must have good leadership, that is, good coaches and advisors plus the proper equipment.

"As teachers and parents we must take it upon ourselves to see that our schools have the proper atmosphere for a correct sports program."

A different approach to the same subject was taken by a successful high school football coach.

"The emphasis especially in high school, should be on inter-scholastic sports," claims Joe Coviello, head football mentor at Memorial High School in West New York, N. J.

Coviello's teams won 43 out of their last 44 games. Since 1946 his teams lost only three contests.

"I can think of no better activity for a high school boy than participating in inter-scholastic sports," asserts Coviello.

"By playing against boys from other schools they have an opportunity to measure their potential. It's a scrimmage for later life. They can see themselves achieve a goal in a highly competitive atmosphere—the same sort of thing they'll be facing when they go into the business world.

"Remember a small percentage of the boys who play in high school sports ever get to college. This is a real education for them.

"If athletics are removed from school programs the kids are going to play anyway. They will form outside teams which will be poorly equipped and supervised. Many youngsters will be injured seriously.

"Intra-mural sports aren't the answer. The real competitive spirit is missing. Boys and girls who participate in intra-murals have a lackadaisical attitude. They, therefore, get very little physically and mentally out of such competition."

Perhaps the question of boys and girls participating in school sports can never be answered in a short, terse sentence. There are many conflicting views from many sources.

The best approach should be a happy medium. Take Dr. Bucher's "A sport for every student and a student for every sport" and add Coach Coviello's "competitive sports serve as a scrimmage for later life" and we have—all students competing in inter-scholastic sports closely supervised by competent individuals.

There would be few spectators and lots of youngsters filling every nook and cranny of every stadium and gymnasium.

Is that bad?

Chart Change in Child's Height

Full Length Mirror in Room Is Marked Each Year

Your son, looking in the mirror to adjust his tie, before starting off to school for the new term, will stand about two inches taller this year than last. And your daughter, if she is in the "grades" will have gained about as much.

Since watching and recording these leaps to maturity are one of the chief pleasures of parenthood, and good grooming one of the problems of youth, June Cabot, Libbey-Owens-Ford home arts consultant, has come up with on idea to take care of both.

She suggests installation of an extra full length door mirror, in the child's room or in the bathroom, with feet and inches marked off on the frames, and provision for recording annual back-to-school heights.

Presence of the easily installed mirror can also be a silent reminder to junior to take a second look at himself before dashing out with carelessly combed hair.

Full length mirrors are available in standard door sizes and for mounting with plastic clips. The yardstick markings and numerals may be painted on the door frame, or to protect the finish, plastic tape can be used for the markings.

Today's children grow more rapidly thanks to better diet and health facilities. Boys add about two inches a year from fifth to 17th birthdays; girls about the same from their fifth to 13th, and only fractions thereafter.

Here is a list of average measurements in inches for boys and girls from 4 to 17.

Age	Boys	Girls	Age	Boys	Girls
4	41.0	41.1	11	56.3	56.7
5	44.1	43.6	12	58.3	59.1
6	46.4	46.0	13	60.7	61.0
7	48.5	48.1	14	63.1	62.2
8	50.7	50.3	15	66.1	63.2
9	52.7	52.2	16	67.6	63.4

Accessories Make Clothing Do Double Duty

The teen-ager's accessory list may show that by adding more collars or belts, she will be able to effect more variation in her school costumes. Separate collars in pale pastels or bright prints give dash to fall outfits.

The shirt she stole off the boys' backs, is a perfect mixer with separates. Her collection this fall should include solid colors, such as hot orange or brilliant turquoise, and a print in one of the whimsical patterns of animals or abstract motifs.

In choosing shoes, carefully check the colors on your wardrobe list and select shoes in a tone that will co-ordinate with your outfits.

Be your own fashion editor. Plan your clothes and co-ordinations with care and thought. You will find your wardrobe more mixable, and give the impression of more changes.

School Lunches Need Variation

Good Eating Habits by Child Best Guarantee of Balanced Diet

Since lunch time is the one meal during the day when most children are beyond the reach of mother's immediate supervision, it is the meal that requires her most careful attention in order to make sure the youngsters have a properly balanced diet.

The problem will vary in relation to the facilities available in the many different schools. It also will vary in relation to the foods that the school is equipped to serve.

Only one-fourth of the nation's schools are under the national school lunch program. Most of the others have cafeterias of their own. Yet it is in the lunch box the child carries from home to school that mother can exert her greatest effective influence.

Her first step in assuring that her child is properly fed at noon time, is to become acquainted with the facilities of the school her youngster is attending. Her second is to make sure that home training has developed good eating habits in her child so that he will make proper selections when choice is offered at school.

Her third step concerns the lunch box that is carried from home to school, and especially what is in it.

Knowing what the school can provide, which, as a minimum is the essential milk a child should have, mother can prepare the contents of the lunch box in appetizing form to make certain the youngsters have the food they need.

Whatever goes into the school child's lunch box should be prepared with a view to stimulating the youngsters appetite. Mothers

New Eyeglass Designs Make Wearing Pleasurable

Reluctance of children to wearing glasses is gradually but happily becoming a thing of the past, which should make it easier for parents to solve any problems of vision for their youngsters before the school term starts.

Need for constant alertness on the part of parents to these problems is indicated by surveys which show that nearly 30 per cent of America's school age children would benefit from eye care.

Periodic eye examinations are recommended as an important safeguard against the inevitable penalty of poor vision which is poor grades and worse, inability to absorb the learning for which children go to school.

Perhaps the fact that adults, especially women, have discovered that well chosen frames can prove as decorative as carefully prescribed lenses are important, has had something to do with the greater acceptance of glasses by children. The example set by their elders is usually followed.

In any event, rugged young lads who should be wearing glasses balk less when they learn that they can have masculine shatterproof lenses mounted in frames duplicating those dad wears.

Sister finds glasses more acceptable too when she see that mother and the older girls she admires, no longer hesitate to flaunt their modish specs in public.

Co-eds and teen-agers, reared during a period when importance of good vision has been dinned into them and during which, also, fashion put its magic touch on glasses, actually want more than one pair—casuals for classroom and a dress up model for date nights.

Tests and interviews with thousands of school children of all ages made by the opthalmic department of Bausch & Lomb Optical company reveal the need for parents to be aware of signs indicating that the youngsters need professional eye care.

Among such signs are frowns, rubbing of eyes, holding books too close to the eyes, covering one, headaches, a distaste for reading, and suddenly lowered grades on report cards.

Glasses may not be necessary, but it's best to be on the safe side, for unattended eye problems can lead to worse than temporarily poor grades. It can mean handicapping personality development for years to come.

Topcoats With Zip-Out Lining Are Popular

The styles shown this year are exceptionally handsome as well as practical. The coats are cut with squared shoulders, the buttons show and the shorter balmacaan collar will be popular. The softer tweeds, combining three or more colors, look especially well in this cut.

The more formally cut, single breasted coat with notch collars and flapped pockets, is shown in gray and dark blue fleecy wool velour, and the belt-in-back polo coat in natural tan velour continues in style.

NOTES ON LEARNING—Danny Marlowe sells Susan Jones on the value of note taking in classes as they browse through a downtown Pontiac variety store. The features of an attractive and practical zipper ring binder are as interesting for back-to-school conversation as the striped cotton dress and cardigan that Susan wears and the neat slacks and polo shirt and sweater that Danny has traded for dungarees.

3 Pairs of Shoes Are Minimum for School Child

The well managed wardrobe for the school child requires an absolute minimum of three pairs of shoes, at least one pair of rubbers and a pair of galoshes for really bad weather.

In addition to a pair of shoes for dress-up, there should be at least two pairs for day to day school wear and play. This is necessary to make way for frequent change, which in turn helps to insure foot health.

Just as good sense dictates that children should never wear the same pair of shoes on two succeeding days, neither should they wear the same socks more than one day.

Stockings should be changed anew every time the child bathes his feet.

Children should never be permitted to put on either shoes or socks that are damp, nor should they be allowed to wear socks with holes in them. Repairs should be made before they are permitted to wear them again.

Helpful Hints Given for 'Big' Wardrobe

"Sunday Best" calls for a neat, dress-up coat. A deep pile coating offers warmth and good fashion in deep colors and rich textures.

Shirts, sweaters, blouses and skirts should be versatile, practical and adaptable to varieties of combinations. The boy-tailored shirts, so popular with school girls, take well to mixing-and-matching with skirts, jumpers and cardigan sweaters.

One solid color skirt or jumper can be the basis of excitingly different outfits when combined with the bold stripes, plaids and dots that rate so high in this year's classrooms.

Climate, age and the fashion customs of a particular school have bearing on a classroom wardrobe. In a "dungaree" kindergarten, daughter will need more play-clothes than in a "dressy" sixth grade.

But in every variation of the back-to-school theme this year, the emphasis should be on a neat, well-put-together look.

Warmth, Looks Are Combined in Wool Shirts

Because many boys wear sport shirts and slacks under a short outer coat during the milder winter weather, it is well to make sure that the shirt is warm enough, by buying wool sport shirts with long sleeves.

Three will be the minimum needed to keep a boy going through the week and allow for washing and dry cleaning.

With the same objective of assuring adequate warmth, mothers favor wool socks and, when choosing boys' undershirts, are likely to prefer the T-shirt type.

White Collars Head for the Schoolroom

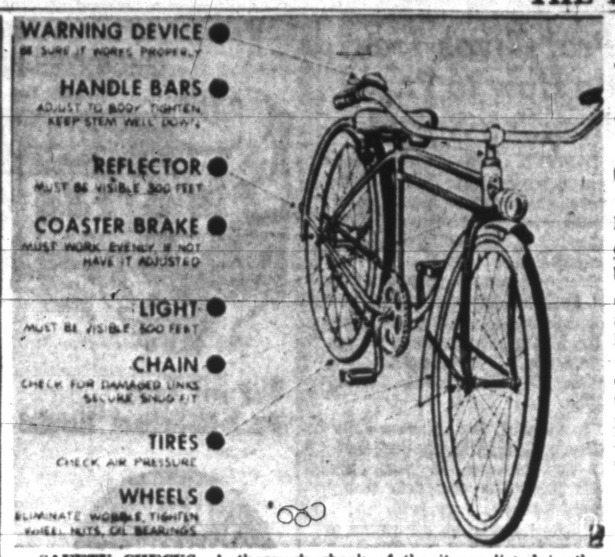

The white collar—neat signature of career women—will make a new and important appearance in classrooms this fall. Big puritans, tiny Peter Pan, newsy sailor collars top grade school girls' dresses of every fabric and almost every style.

Broadcloth, pique, even ribbed cotton knit make bright white collars that are removable for washing and thus approved by mothers who may formerly have avoided white. Even white leather is present, and well received, because it can be washed clean and with a damp cloth.

Rooms Children Free

PHILADELPHIA (INS)—Several Philadelphia hotels have instituted a family rate plan to encourage increased travel for family groups. The plan provides that children under the age of 14 will receive the facilities of hotels without charge when accompanied by their parents.

SAFETY CHECKS—A thorough check of the items listed in the diagram above to make sure they are all in top shape will help cut accidents involving bicycles.

Belt Circles Globe

WASHINGTON (INS) — A vast rain-forest encircles the earth between the tropics, says the National Geographic Society. It extends across northern South America, Central Africa, parts of India and the Malay peninsula, the East Indies, and northern Australia. Half the continent of South America is covered by this forest belt.

Average Bike Is Not Built for Two, Youngsters Told

Lt. Joseph Koren, chief of the Pontiac Police Traffic and Accident Bureau, warning against double riding, said that the major contributing factor causing bicycle accidents is the violation of this law.

Dual riding, Lt. Koren pointed out, is just one of many violations that lead to accidents. Next to that, mechanical defects top the list. Accidents caused by violation of traffic rules is also near the top, the lieutenant stated.

"A bike rider is just as responsible to traffic laws as a car driver," Koren warned. Parents who knowingly allow children to violate city bicycle ordinances are responsible before the law, he said.

Every child, parent and guardian should study the booklet governing bicycle operation issued by the Pontiac Police Dept. when licenses are issued, Koren said.

"The Traffic and Safety Bureaus are trying to promote safety through education more than through law enforcement," Koren stated. However, he pointed out, when persons neglect to learn and practice safety, then enforcement is necessary.

The bicycle inspection check list shown above, if observed, will help avoid many accidents, Koren said.

White Elephant Moves

TOKYO (UP)—Taka-Chan a four-year-old elephant that had spent most of its life on the seventh floor of one of Tokyo's largest department stores, was led carefully down seven flights of stairs and taken off to the Ueno Zoo. A gift from Thailand nearly four years ago, Taka-Chan was getting just a little too large for the department store.

Identities Patrol Boys

Plan Swallow Study

OMAHA (INS)—Livestock Conservation, Inc., has formed a Hardware Committee to study ways of preventing the loss of cattle from swallowing metal objects.

Assistant General Manager Mike O'Connell reports that in 1953 nine per cent of the cattle condemned at livestock markets were suffering from pericarditis, an ailment also known as "hardware disease."

List of Questions Help Student Choose School Best Suited to Him

How does one go about choosing a suitable college?

The question is simple; the answer complicated.

It's complicated because there are many different kinds of educational institutions, many different kinds of young people. And the young people have different kinds of goals and they are beset by different kinds of environmental problems — including that of money.

Educators say that to arrive at answers to the first question, you must first ask (and answer) others.

First question to ask is: What kind of education do you want?

The answer to that will begin narrowing the field.

Do you want a liberal arts education?

If you do, you at once eliminate all the schools which are specialized or vocational.

You now may choose among state or privately supported institutions, the smaller college within a university, the college for men or women, only, or the co-educational school; the college in the small town or small city, or the big city college.

In the college within the great university, such as Harvard, you may expect instruction from some of the world's outstanding scholars. But it may often be impersonal, lacking the intimacy, the personal contact, to be found in the smaller college, perhaps in a smaller town.

The college or university in or near the big city may offer cultural advantages and environment not found in the smaller communities — drama, music, art. But it has drawbacks, too. It is part of the big city whose life swirls about it. And the city offers competing interest and distractions.

The institution in the smaller city is itself a more closely-knit educational community and the college is relatively more important in the town in which it is located. And the smaller town offers fewer distractions. Also, location may offer special opportunities. Example: Dartmouth College where accessibility to mountains makes possible participation in extensive outdoor and winter sports activities.

Here, we may ask another question: How mature is the student? The less-mature student may be happier and more successful in the school in the smaller community, where there is greater intimacy and accent on personal contact with the faculty.

What are his future plans?

Will he engage in further study, seek another degree, enter a graduate school for vocational training in a special field?

To integrate his undergraduate schooling with his future, further education may involve choosing not only among elective courses, but among schools.

Most high schools now have not only large files of college catalogs, but aso increasingly good guidance and counseling services by members of their faculties.

These teachers have knowledge not only of higher educational institutions but also of the student, himself. They can advise the student who seeks an education which will equip him directly for a vocation upon graduation, in agriculture or business, in teaching, in manufacturing. There are good specialized schools, such as textile schools, as well as special courses in universities.

For such students, there are the great scientific-and-engineering institutions, such as the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, California Institute of Technology, and many others.

There are other fine colleges, such as Boston's Simmons College, where young women receiving Bachelor of Science degrees are specifically equipped for vocations ranging from library work to publication, from social work to professions in the health field, merchandising and many others. Similar programs — extending from business administration — even to public relations — exist in many colleges and unversities — such as Boston University.

Does your son want to enter the hotel business? He should find out about the specialized instruction an institution like Cornell University can offer in this field.

Another question may still further narrow the field. Do you live near enough to a college or university so that attendance is possible without living in a dormitory?

This, of course, is linked with the inevitable question of finance.

Sometimes institutions in smaller cities or towns have lower board-room costs than those in cities.

The financial-aid-picture which includes scholarships, also can be surveyed. Although the word, scholarship, implies a grant for distinction in the field of studies, it is almost invariably linked nowadays with economic need and is granted for that reason, as well as for scholarly attainment or promise.

Some scholarships are linked with a special area or town. Some colleges — like Wellesley — would encourage (with scholarships) more daughters of farmers and working men to join the student body.

But colleges also have economic help programs — offices whose special function is to help students to obtain outside earnings. These offices may also determine how many hours a week a student may safely work without endangering his scholastic standing. A student may earn $300 or $400 a year (sometimes more) in this way, and perhaps an equal amount on summer vacation.

Many institutions now also have funds at small interest from which students may borrow — and repay after graduation.

Other institutions, like Boston's Northwestern and Suffolk Universities, have work-and-study programs, especially arranged for the student who must work.

And there has been a recent trend toward general-education-two-year colleges, or college curricula, for the student who must shorten his years of preparation.

TV Endangers Teeth

LONDON (INS)—Television teeth are a new worry for mothers of young children. A committee of experts of the British Dental Association warned parents that children while watching TV can also be harming their teeth by sitting with their heads between their hands and pressing their jaws as they become more and more engrossed. This distorts their mouths, the committee said.

Prof Gives Tips on How to Triple Reading Speed

DENVER (INS)—Most persons can double or triple their reading speed and have a better understanding of what they read by following a planned program for reading improvement.

Dr. McCord recommends the following tips for persons desiring to develop more efficient reading habits.

1. Spend a few minutes daily striving to read 30 per cent faster than is usual for you. This will fix habits of speed. Gradually increase your rate.

2. After you finish an article or story of from one to two thousand words in length, write a brief summary of it. This will help improve comprehension.

3. Practice at first on easy material, such as your daily newspaper. Then gradually begin including more difficult technical material.

4. Keep a record of your progress by timing your speed of reading occasionally. This will give a measure of your improvement.

5. Keep practicing faithfully, day after day, for at least twelve weeks. Longer would be better.

Instigates Tape Recording Club

DALLAS, Tex. (INS) — Harry Matthews, a Dallas printer, spends much time and money trying to create international friendship and understanding through tape recordings.

The hobby the 44-year-old linotype operator started in 1952 has grown into "World Tape Pals," an association for the exchange of recorded tapes. Matthews estimates he has spent $2,000 on the enterprise in the past year and a half.

World headquarters of the organization is in a bedroom of Matthews' home. The printer's equipment consists of a tape recorder, an old typewriter, a file of letters and tape recordings from over the world.

World Tape Pals comprises some 500 members in 33 nations. They have been introduced to each other by Matthews through tape recordings.

Members operate by mailing each other tape recordings bearing messages and music of their native lands. The object of the exchanges is to create better international understanding, friendship and communication.

Matthews says that although problems arise occasionally because of technical differences of members' tape recorders, most tapes are interchangable.

"We trade a lot of music since it it is the international language," Matthews explains, "but where there are no language barriers we hope to start off more long distance conversations on such subjects as freedom."

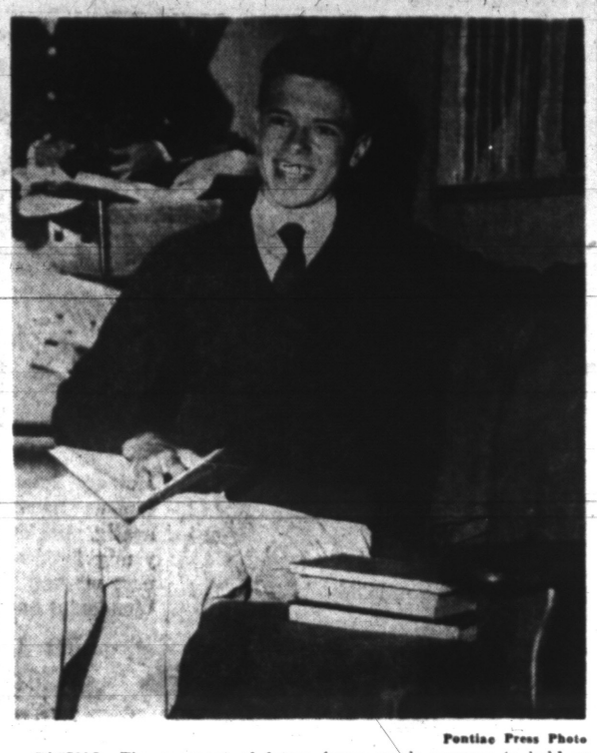

An interesting recording was received by Matthews from a teacher in Denmark. It gave details of the school in which the sender teaches and explained in broken but good English:

"Our children go to lower school from ages seven to 14. Danish arithmetic and writing are the most important subjects in our school, but English, German and French are taught too."

The tape also contained a musical greeting with music recorded by the Royal Orchestra of Denmark conducted personally by King Frederick IX and a capella singing by Danish children.

In addition to World Tape Pals, Matthews has founded what he calls "World Tape for Education" to promote interest in such tapes as the one from Denmark. Matthews is secretary of World Tape for Education. Other officers are located in Connecticut, Lousiana, Colorado and Texas.

Matthews also publishes a small paper called "Tape Topics" which is dedicated to the activities of World Tape Pals.

CASUAL—The prospect of future home work appears to hold no terrors for Tom Hollis, all decked out in his back to school outfit. His slacks are 100 per cent wool in a smart grey flannel, and he sports a V-neck sweater in the new charcoal grey color and made of pure lamb's wool. The sweater can be easily worn under the new nub checkerboard weave, sports coat draped over the sofa, and in addition, the patch-pocket coat can be just as easily adapted to on-campus as well as off-campus wear.

Chamber of Commerce Gets Crazy Queries

LONDON (AP) — The London Chamber of Commerce says it was called on to answer these among other queries last year:

Who makes metal crossbows and bolts?

Did the Cutty Sark ever call at Bangkok?

Where can we buy whales' teeth?

Cumbersome Clothing Is Not Recommended

Children in some elementary schools are graded on "ability to dress alone" and layers of unnecessary clothing will cause embarrassment and button frustration.

New Credit Basis for Latins Urged by Industrialist

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP) — American industry will have to grant long, easy credit terms to Latin American customers, if it expects to met stiff European competition south of the border, according to an industrialist who made a recent survey of the situation.

"Letter of credit business is falling off and will fall off still more as European competition, notably from France and Germany, increases," said William Anders, chemical engineer for the Pfaudler Co., who made a two-month survey of industrial development in Mexico, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia and Venezuela.

"The reason is obvious," Anders continued, "French and German sales representatives are all through South America soliciting business. And they extend three to five-year credit terms for American dollars, the unit of exchange in all the countries."

If the United States wants to stay in business in South America, credit terms will have to be liberalized, Anders added.

More Art Needed

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Every new school should have a small art gallery, according to Mr. Karl With, professor of art at UCLA, he says that "there is a tremendous hunger among young people today to learn more about all kinds of artistic expression." School galleries, he emphasized, need not be larger or expensive and displays should illustrate a central idea to educate as well as entertain.

The flashlight was invented about 1898.

Creek Causes Confusion

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — A witness in Common pleas court referred to a "krik." The court stenographer, a recent import to Connecticut from Brooklyn, N. Y., cupped his ear and asked the witness to repeat. The stenographer finally got it—c-r-e-e-k. Amused, Judge Vine R. Parmelee said: "Haven't you gotten over that Brooklyn accent yet? We call it a 'krik' up here."

Catholic Schools Slate Opening

Units Being Readied for Sept. 9 Return of Students

New Catholic schools in this area are being prepared for Sept. 9 opening, according to the office of Monsignor Deady, parochial school superintendent of the Detroit Archdiocese.

Scheduled for opening in Pontiac is St. Benedicts School on South Lynn St. This new school will have 12 classrooms to house grades one through six and will accommodate about 500 students.

Teaching nuns for St. Benedicts will come from the Dominican Order at Oxford.

In Birmingham, Our Lady Queen of Martyrs will open six new classrooms for an enrollment of 285 students. Adjacent to the church, this school is located on Pierce St.

Rushing for completion is the new St. Andrews School in Rochester. Four classrooms are scheduled for opening on Sept. 9 to take care of grades one through six.

According to Father Harry Paul, head of St. Andrews Parish, they expect about 200 students and the teaching nuns will be from the Dominican Order in Adrian. They will make their home on the Fisher Farm, South Rochester Rd., until a convent is built on the Romeo St. hillsite of the new school.

The parish of Our Lady of the Lakes in Waterford is conducting a school building fund drive during this year to raise money to build a school within the near future.

Last year, Our Lady of Refuge School opened in Orchard Lake to accommodate students in that area.

SWEATER 'n SHIRT—Dennis Huff likes the looks of this smooth sportshirt of fine, lustrous cotton chambray. In blue, tan, aqua, corn and melon, the long sleeve model is styled with the popular button-down collar. The material is wrinkle-free and it can't shrink over one per cent. The colorful dupondale nylon sweater is another of the model's favorites for this fall. Fleecy softness is combined with sturdiness and long-wearing ability. Colors go from white to black with coral, carolina, maize, green aquatone, camel, claret, tulip, rust, glen and steel in between.

CHICAGO (INS)—Mrs. Elsa Mae Cole, employe of a Chicago cleaning shop, noticed a bulge in a pocket of a men's suit that was to be cleaned. The bulge was a wallet—containing $600.

Don't Push Child Into First Grade

Children do not all grow up at the same rate. Just as some grow faster than others, so do some children mature faster.

A youngster who seems very young and immature may not be ready to enter first grade even though he has passed his sixth birthday.

Many schools have tests they use to determine whether a child is mature enough to learn to read and do all the things first grade children are expected to do.

If according to such tests your child is not ready for first grade don't put him into the class anyway just because he's six years old. All that will happen will be that he'll get very discouraged. He won't be able to do what the others do, he'll feel like a failure and soon he won't try.

It's a lot better just to go slowly, wait a year or a term and let Johnny grow up until he's ready to tackle first grade with interest and success. If you do wait you'll find that his whole school career will be much more satifactory than if you pushed him in before he was ready.

Good Luggage Important for College-Bound Student

Few things can be more embarrassing for the girl, and the boy too, who is going away to college, than arriving on the campus with battered, obviously borrowed luggage.

Planning the college student's luggage wardrobe in terms of the matched set is the answer, for here is a formula that permits of expansion and replacement as the four years roll on and requirements change.

Three to four pieces of hand luggage are considered essential for the well groomed coed. Among them may be a pullman or wardrobe case, an overnight or weekend case, a train box or fitted cosmetics case, and a hat box.

The male student will find a two suiters and a matching companion piece excellent starters. A brief bag should be in his luggage-wardrobe also, for it can serve as an overnighter as well as for books and papers.

Both Ed and Coed will find a sturdy trunk a very useful article. It may be shipped ahead filled with linens, blankets, seasonal clothing changes, and what have you.

Considered a must for college students is the laundry case either in lightweight fiber or aluminum with adjustable lid to take care of varying capacity requirements.

Fashions play as important a part in choosing luggage for the college student as in choosing clothes. The girls can have a plaids, fabrics, plastics and dyed field day choosing from colorful leathers.

The boys, usually more conservative, will cling to the ginger and sun tan shades of leather so popular among men.

Experts advise choosing student luggage for quality rather than price, because better materials and construction will prove the best investment in the end.

False Fuzz Helping Britons Face Public

LONDON (INS) — British gentlemen are resorting to falsies to help them keep a stiff upper lip when faced with taxing social situations.

The latest fashion fad among the dandies was revealed when a bumper crop of false mustaches sprouted under acquiline noses at Ascot race track, society's showplace of fashion.

The fake fuzz appeared in all shapes and sizes—from generous drape to skimpy trim.

Gerald Rex, director of a London firm called Wig Specialists Ltd., said he sold more than 70 of the mustachios to Ascot-bound dudes. The gentlemen paid $3 a piece for the camouflage.

Rex attributed the run on his merchandise to "Ascot nerves." He said male racegoers "seem to get a new and improved bearing and are better able to face people" if they have mustaches to hide behind.

"Many of our customers look military enough," he said, "but some seem to have rather babyish faces."

Short Jackets Are Favorites Among Youths

Parents should keep in mind that there is a favored "costume" for school wear for boys, that is worn in most parts of the country. This is a hip-length jacket, slacks and an open throated shirt.

Boys find this the best outfit for the bike ride to and from school and, besides, "that's what all the other fellows are wearing."

Boys have such fixed ideas on this subject, that little is to be gained from trying to get them into other clothes for everyday school wear. However, it is important to see to it that the slacks, jacket, and shirt are warm.

Worsted flannel slacks in one of the dirt-concealing gray shades, or, tan or navy dull-finished gabardine, are good choices.

There is a wide range of sturdy, warm wool short coats in the mackinaw cut, and zipper closing jackets. The mackinaw type is new this fall, and its heavily napped fabric is good wind and weather protection.

DUAL PURPOSE—The three piece suit (left) worn by Sheryl Lapies is this year's well organized plan for on and off campus wear. The jacket is both suit and coat in red chinchilla and has a slim grey flannel skirt and checked pulldown sweater. Dolores Hooker (right) wears a pert burnt orange corduhoy jumper, cut smooth to the hips, then full gored skirt; delicious with its own grey print little shirt of aamsutter cotton.

Classroom Togs Delight Juniors

By JANET ODELL

An apple for the teacher may still be in style, but you would have trouble finding a slate for your scholar to take to school. There are, however, any number of other items you may buy for Junior or junior Miss.

Junior will be a miniature edition of his older brother in blue jeans or corduroys and a sport shirt, either T-shirt type or plaid flannel.

The young lady may wear a cotton dress with sailor collar and bright tie or her newest tweed skirt and gay printed blouse.

If your kindergartner needs an apron for painting and other messy play, you have a choice of one made of faded blue denim or a clear plastic cover-all.

Every grade schooler needs and wants a new pencil box. Masculine tastes will probably run to the gigantic plastic knife holding an assortment of supplies. If your young hopeful is a bit weak in arithmetic, buy him an adding machine pencil box; there's even one that does multiplication.

Today's pencil tablets display pictures of cowboys, spacemen or television characters. Rulers are gay as jewels, no longer just a plain piece of wood. To prolong the life of crayons, there are crayon holders and crayon sharpeners.

One gadget that appealed to us was a zippered plastic envelope to fit notebooks. It is designed to hold all the miscellaneous tools a student needs.

Lunch containers have gone glamorous. Gold embossed plastic print is the new material from which the lunch bags are made. As for thermos bottles, you can buy tall ones or short ones — fat ones or skinny ones — regular size tops or wide-mouthed ones.

Tell your junior high student that he can now get pencils in his school colors with the name of the school imprinted thereon. School bells ring soon, and the stores are ready with innumerable supplies.

Julius LaRosa Headlines Show Slated for Flint

One of the biggest entertainment packages ever assembled featuring the tops in popular and dance music will be offered in Flint starting Aug. 28.

The King-sized package, offered on three separate nights, includes two dances to the music of the country's two leading dance bands. Then follows a show and a dance headlining Julius La Rosa. All will be presented at the IMA Auditorium in Flint.

Ray Anthony, "The young man with a horn," and his orchestra will appear on opening day. Ralph Flanagan follows two days later, offering his danceable style of music on Monday, Aug. 30.

La Rosa, the 24-year-old singing sensation and former member for the Arthur Godfrey troupe, heads the final show and dance, to be presented Wednesday, September 1. The Billy May orchestra with Sam Donahue will furnish dance music as well as the background music for La Rosa. The Teen Trio, formerly the "three chicks" of Fred Waring fame will also appear on the La Rosa show.

Lefties May Cut Up

LONDON (INS)—There are so many left-handed dressmakers in Britain today that manufacturers are now producing special left-handed shears. Retailing at 15 shillings they are shaped to fit the left hand so that left-handers can cut in comfort.

Check Library for Guidebooks to Scholarships

There are important books in libraries which list large numbers of scholarships and other kinds of financial aids.

These include "Your Opportunity," published by Theodore S. Jones, Milton 87, Mass., a former college dean; "Scholarships, Fellowships and Loans," (2 volumes) published by the Jewish Vocational Service of Greater Boston, Dr. Norman Feingold, director, at 72 Franklin St., Boston, and "The College Handbook" published by the College Entrance Examination Board, 425 West 117th St., New York 27, N. Y.

Students Are Early

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UP)—Students at the Stephen Foster School here knew the answer was a United States president when their teacher, Elizabeth Travis, treating them to a special baseball "lesson," asked: "Who threw out the first ball to start the game?" Back came the answer: "George Washington."

Box Play Cleans Street

CHICAGO (INS) — A Chicago housewife believes in the saying that when children don't play in a park, they play in the street. Mrs. Shirley R. Nemerow noted a sandbox in a park near her home. But no sand and youngsters were spurning the box. She called it to the attention of park officials. They filled the box with sand and now the little boys and girls are staying off the street and out of danger of passing automobiles.

The fish was a symbol of Christ in early Christian art.

Child's Health Is Parents' Job

School Medical Service Should Not Supplant Care at Home

Health services which schools provide, can at best only supplement the watchfulness and care of parents, say the health experts at the Office of Education in Washington, D.C.

They think the school nurse and teachers should keep an eye out for health problems of school children which the parents may fail to observe and that from there the parents should carry on, with—if the occasion calls for it—further help from a doctor, dentist or community health agency.

The Office of Education points out that in many communities the teacher herself must perform many health services for her pupils.

She does not diagnose or prescribe medicine. But during the school hours she often does detect a child who is acting under par.

The teacher and school nurse, working together, says the Office of Education, can see that the pupils are in the sort of top health which is necessary for good class work.

School nurses usually keep vision and hearing records of the children, measure their weight and height at regular intervals, note the general condition of the children's teeth, mouth, skin and scalp, and their nutritional status and habits of speech and action.

These reports are then passed on to school authorities and to parents.

A report on school nurses by the National Education Association and the American Medical Association says that if there is a school nurse on the staff, teachers expect her to know how to interpret various health conditions among the children and to tell them the significance of what they observe.

In many communities nurses and teachers confer regularly on the health problems of particular pupils. The nurse may suggest the type of help that is needed and check with the classroom teacher regularly to learn what the family is doing about the health problem.

The Office of Education points out that the basic health care is primarily the duty of parents—the provision of decent clothing, adequate meals, a comfortable home and necessary medical and dental care. But the school nurse can, and does, spot developing health problems and warn teachers and parents.

School health authorities recommend that school nurses and parents get together for a talk, either at the time of a medical examination of a child, or soon thereafter, to plan for a follow-through program to secure medical care. About 43 per cent of American cities arrange for such conferences with parents regularly. About 41 per cent hold such conferences only for special cases.

READY FOR FIRST DAY—Marlyn Jane Mulder is a bit shy as she steps into the classroom in her embossed print. Its bib front is stark white and its bouffant skirt bells out over an everglaze petticoat. Burl Ives' Actions Reflect His Homespun Philosophy

With big, genial Burl, whose musical tale of the "Blue Tail Fly" in familiar to millions, it is his philosophy—the rule he lives by. And if his portly figure, pink cheeks and easy smile are reliable indicators, it is a rule that has served him well.

Lounging in a chair recently in his tiny dressing room at Warner Brothers' studio, where he is playing in the film "East of Eden," the soft-spoken folk singer took a puff on his cigar, studied the rising smoke and explained it this way:

"I have no feeling about anything like land. I'm from a farming family. The earth was here thousands of years before I was, and it'll be here thousands of years after I'm gone."

He pointed his cigar at an expensive Italian motorbike parked outside and went on:

See that motorbike. It was given to me, but this is the first time I've seen it in three or four days. The kids on the set have been driving it around all the time."

Boats are something Burl loves to talk about — if he can't be aboard one.

When he isn't working, he virtually lives aboard the vessel and sails around the Florida coast and down to the Bahamas with his wife Helen, and his five-year-old son, Alexander.

"Oh, yes!" he laughed. "A fellow might as well have fun. When you're dead, you're dead a long time, they tell me."

Burl has been going places since he left Eastern Illinois State Teachers College during his junior year and set out to see the country with 15 cents in his pocket and a banjo under his arm.

It was during this wandering that Burl, whose early ambitions included coaching football and emulating the "hell fire and brimstone" preaching of one of his relatives, built up much of the repertoire of folk tunes that later made him famous.

In 1933, he landed in New York, took a job in a cafeteria and enrolled at the New York University music school. He was "discovered" five years of struggle later when he crashed the auditions for the Broadway musical "The Boys From Syracuse" and won a small part.

Next came "I Married An Angel" and "Heavenly Express," and by 1940, he was launched on radio in a role he had played in real life for years, that of "The Wayfaring Stranger."

Tourist Rate Climbs

LONDON (INS)—The number of American tourists visting England is increasing at the rate of 24,000 a year.

Headache Unknown on 'Hangover Isle'

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (INS) — Sailors aboard the Navy destroyer U.S.S. Hanna at San Diego have found an island in the Marianas which they have nick-named "Hangover Isle."

But not for the obvious reason.

According to the crewmen, who recently completed a 41,000-mile tour at sea, the island is populated by a group of friendly natives with a sweet tooth for aspirin.

The sailors say the natives go around all day popping the bitter white pills into their mouths just like they were mints. As far as the natives are concerned they probably taste like mints.

Navy doctors made extensive medical surveys of the populace and found that the large scale consumption of headache pills had not harmful effects, at least that were detected.

Planter Hats Seen as Teen Favorite

For the coming term, high school girls have taken the "planter hat" for their own. Adaptations of fedoras and Safari helmets appear in furry looking felts banded with soft fabric strips that resemble the grown-up chiffon trailers.

The teen-ager's version of the planter features crown and brim that are large, but toned down from the high fashion styles of last spring and summer. Bright colors make the bands younger, and to some have been added jeweled clips to catch the fabric.

Back-to-School Colors to Be Vivid This Fall

The back-to-school clothes picture is in vivid technicolor this year, with the emphasis on autumn shades. Orange glows provide the brightest colors for browns, grays or navys.

Collars, Belts Match

Catering to the teen-ager's taste for pert co-ordination, leather-designers offer matching belts and tie-on collars that make any outfit into a costume.

50 Per Cent of Teachers Mix Marriage, Careers

The modern school marm has been emancipated from her old maid stereotype. And for good reasons!

Fifty years ago a woman was forced by school regulations to choose between matrimony and the classroom. Today, except in some scattered communities, a woman can mix marriage with teaching. The result? At least 50 per cent of the nation's 729,000 female teachers are married.

This is not the only change in the picture during the past half century.

Today's teacher is generally better educated. In the past only a high school diploma and a few years of training qualified a man or woman for teaching. Now, at least one college degree and a major in education are compulsory in most states.

Although the present crop of teachers may not be better than its predecessors, most educators agree their methods and preparation are better.

You don't have to reach back to the 1900s to view a change in classroom atmosphere. As recently as ten years ago, discipline was the byword in many a public school class. Children were to be seen and not heard. Correct sitting posture included stiff backs, and hands clasped firmly on the hard wood desks.

Today's classroom is not chaotic, but the youngsters are given more freedom of action and expression. As one school superintendent says:

"School is fun today, both for children and teachers."

Part of this fun comes from the relationships between the modern teacher and the pupil. Through special courses and study in psychology, the instructor has a better understanding of children.

Morris E. Siegel, who is celebrating 50 years with the New York Board of Education, says a teacher now has a more professional attitude. He is trained for a specific purpose. Back in 1904, many men went to teachers' training school to steady them until they could enter another field.

Often women became teachers because they were not allowed in other professions. As a result, women teachers, even now, greatly outnumber the men. There are two women for every male instructor.

As the usual population increases, so do the number of young teachers. The average teacher's age now is about 40 and the field is constantly being refreshed by young men and women needed to staff new and expanded schools.

Modern instructors compete for a child's attention with television, comic books and similar conveniences. The problem of juvenile delinquency, although it existed even 50 years ago, has zoomed in importance and concern.

School teachers in any era are dedicated to help youngsters become responsible citizens. But the school marm or man of today is better trained—both psychologically and vocationally—to teach the ABC's of learning and living.

Make Advance Shopping Trip Before Buying

It's a good idea to make an advance shopping trip without the children.

This will enable parents to visualize what is shown in relation to school wardrobe requirements and budgets, and turn up much information that will speed the actual buying trip.

Typewriter Will Help Child With Homework

A typewriter to which the child may have access—and if he is old enough, a portable model of his own—teaches a useful skill, neatness, accuracy, especially good spelling.

A small radio for the school child's room will make it easier for parents to divert his attention from television to studying which can be done better in privacy and to a background of music.

1955 will mark the 150th anniversary of the discovery by white men of New Hampshire's famed Old Man of the Mountains.

2 Texas Counties Hit by Rabies Outbreak

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP) — A U.S. Public Health Service official says Houston and Harris County's rabies problem, in terms of incidence, is the worst he has ever seen in this country.

"I feel very strongly right now that a mass immunization campaign must be made," Dr. Ernest S. Tierkel of the health service's communicable disease center at Atlanta, Ga., said yesterday.

How About 'Dry Gulch'?

DETROIT (UP) — A theater showing a revival of the 25-year-old silent film, "The Man In The Iron Mask," with Douglas Fairbanks Sr., advertised: "There is no reason to stay home. There is none older on television."

Find 1,000-Yr.-Old Cellar

UPTON, Mass. (UP) — An old stone vegetable cellar on Charles Pearson's property may have been built 1,000 years ago, archaeologists estimate. Vilhjalmur Stefansson, noted Arctic explorer who inspected the cellar recently, said it resembled one found under ice inside the Arctic Circle and another in Japan.

Changes Seen in Rural School

Warm, Well-Lighted Classrooms Supplant One-Room Buildings

The little red school house is now a vanishing American. It has had to yield to more adequate, consolidated plants, served by buses and serving larger territories.

"The rural educational landscape is no longer dotted with one-room schools and the old academy buildings of the 1880s," says a report of the Central School Boards Committee for Educational Research.

"In their place stand modern brick schoolhouses—seldom elaborate—well lighted, well heated, and designed with thought to the educational program.

"It takes 50 years for an educational invention to reach complete diffusion. The Central School movement has progressed for 40 years. The remaining 10 years should see the job completed.

"The standards by which our schools must be measured are not those of 40 years ago; they must be today's standards. Our goal must be our best estimate of what boys and girls in 1960, 1970, or 1980 will need to cope with the world around them."

35,000 in Extension Work

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (UP) — The University of Illinois College of Agriculture estimates that more than 34,000 homemakers served as local leaders in carrying out home economics extension programs in Illinois last year.

IQ Tests Determine Intellectual Growth

Parents of school-going youngsters will become familiar with the term IQ, or Intelligence Quotient.

The IQ is really an index of rate of intellectual growth, and the score may change with the child's age and experiences. Your child's score is "high" or "low" depending on how others have scored.

This is how the IQ is derived: MA (mental age as measured by tests) divided by CA (actual chronological age) multiplied by 100.

AFL A-Union Will Vote Today

If Workers OK 6-Cent Offer, CIO May Be Left Out on a Limb

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — About 4,500 AFL production workers at two atomic plants here vote today on whether to accept a previously rejected 6-cent hourly wage increase—and maybe pull the rug from under a rival CIO union holding out for more.

AFL leaders recommended that the workers accept, apparently reviewing the earlier stand in the light of a Taft-Hartley injunction slapped on the CIO last week when it called strikes over the same issue at other atomic plants here and at Paducah, Ky.

A source close to the situation says a favorable vote by the AFL workers—members of the Atomic Trades and Labor Council—could be expected to have a marked effect on the 4,500 CIO Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers members.

Carbide and Carbon Chemicals Co., which operates all four plants for the Atomic Energy Commission, has always granted identical increases to both the CIO and AFL. Thus, says the observer, if the AFL accepts the 6 cents, "the CIO will have a lot of arguments pulled right out from under them."

The CIO workers operate plants producing the nations entire supply of uranium-235, used in hydrogen and atomic weapons. They also rejected the 6-cent offer, and during the four months since negotiations started they struck once, from July 7-11.

The AFL workers, in two less critical but still vital plants, also authorized a strike but their leaders never called one.

Both unions at present have scales ranging from $1.58 to $2.40 an hour. The increase is sought to offset a 23 per cent increase in rent recently placed on government-owned housing here.

Asked his reaction to the AFL voting, President Emerson Pownall of CIO Local 288, said: "We've turned it down. I don't know what's going to be the outcome of the vote taken by the AFL. But I don't know why they'd accept it."

At the outset, the CIO asked a 21-cent hourly raise, the AFL 19 cents. When negotiations collapsed in April, the President's panel stepped in. It returned its proposal for a 6-cent raise in June.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Dr. Sheppard Returns to Jail

Freedom Short-Lived as Grand Jury Indicts Him for 1st-Degree Murder

CLEVELAND (AP)—His freedom cut short by a first-degree murder indictment, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard was back today in the dim, 4 x 8-foot jail cell he occupied from July 30 until Monday morning.

The handsome, 30-year-old osteopath was eating cherry pie in the kitchen of his father's home when sheriff's deputies came to rearrest him. They let him finish eating.

He was there for supper after visiting with Chip, his 7-year-old son. The boy has been living with an uncle since the July 4 morning when his mother was clubbed to death in her bed.

The deputies arrived at the senior Sheppard's home an hour after six men and nine women grand jurors returned the indictment charging that the athletic osteopath "unlawfully, purposely and of deliberate and premeditated malice, killed Marilyn Sheppard," his 31-year-old pregnant wife.

Sheppard had been free on $50,000 bail for 29½ hours. During most of that time, the grand jury listened to a parade of 15 witnesses testifying on the case. They deliberated about 40 minutes.

Common Pleas Judge Arthur H. Day set 9:15 a. m. Friday for the arraignment of Sheppard, who will then enter a plea. Since his first arrest July 30, Sheppard has maintained his innocence and clung to his story that a prowler killed his wife and injured him in a fight.

The osteopath and his parents displayed no emotion as handcuffs were slipped over his husky wrists last night.

His mother rushed to fill a tan paper shopping bag with a red sweat shirt, blue hobby trousers and other clothing. She tucked in some oranges and bananas.

Sheppard kissed his mother as they stood in the front hall. His father grasped his hand and said: "Take care of yourself, son."

At the county jail, Sheppard showered, changed clothing and was returned to his old cell on the fourth floor.

Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan, waiting for him, complained that "it was unnecessary to pick him up now," since he was out on bond.

Corrigan, whose petition for bail won Sheppard's release Monday, said he would seek release on bail again at the arraignment.

Stung on Bee Violation

Marion E. Hoover of 124 Gladstone St., Pontiac, was fined $10 and assessed $10 costs Aug. 10 by Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy for violating the state apiary inspection laws by illegally selling bees. The complaint was signed by Hyrthal Harsh, state apiary inspector of the Michigan Department of Agriculture.

Clawson Adds Two Precincts

Polling Places Doubled, Clerk Reveals; All Four to Have Vote Machines

CLWSON — Oakland County Clerk Lynn D. Allen today announced a re-districting of this city from two to four precincts, with all four to be equipped with voting machines for the first time.

Clawson City Clerk Gertrude Gadger reported that there are now 9,000 residents in the city, compared to slightly more than 5,000 in 1950. There are nearly 4,000 registered voters here, she said.

Under the new set-up, voters will continue to register at the clerk's office, but voting will take place in each of the precincts.

In drawing up the new districts, 14-Mile Rd. and Main St. were made the dividing lines of the four sections. The new precincts and their voting places are:

1. Kenwood School, 240 Nahma
2. Blair Library, 416 N. Main
3. Parkland School, 499 Parkland
4. Old High School, 150 John M.

Mrs. Gadger said the City Council has ordered two voting machines for each of the precincts. They will be delivered in time for the November election.

Dog's Personality Reveals Master, Veterinary Says

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (INS) — A California veterinarian claims she can tell what kind of a master a dog has simply by exploring the pet's personality.

Attractive, 32-year-old Dr. Kerry Willetts bases it all on her belief that different types of persons like different qualities in dogs.

Bachelor — wants a tough, he-man type of dog with a tendency to bite. He likes to think of his dog as something of a "killer."

Spinster — is a one-dog woman. She feels the dog relies solely on her and will not eat unless she does the feeding.

Older childless people — want a dog they can spoil like a child. It's a 50-50 chance, the doctor relates, the animal will turn out mean, just like a pampered child.

Child — is more concerned the dog has a waggly tail than any trace of pedigree.

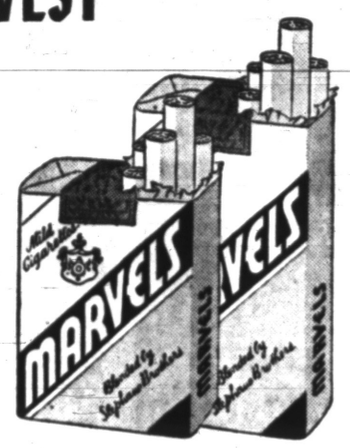

Young married woman — wants a dog she can kick out of the house when the kids aren't looking.

Dr. Willetts claims that dogs — some dogs that is — can understand up to 500 words, so it is little wonder they reflect the outlook of their owners.

Dr. Willetts concluded that the smartest of all dogs are French Poodles, Toy Fox Terriers, German Shepherds and Dobermans.

The oldest Seventh Day Baptist Church in America still stands at Newport, R. I. The church was built in 1729.

Cave-In Kills Worker Here

Sewer Pipe Layer, 45, Buried Five Minutes in Excavation

A Detroit construction worker was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital Tuesday afternoon when a 20-foot excavation embankment was jarred loose by a steam shovel, burying him about five minutes.

Identified by hospital authorities as Ernie Voza, 45, of 13472 Shields, he was finally unearthed by fellow workmen from beneath approximately eight feet of lumpy excavation near Fairmont Ave. and Carlisle St.

According to Ben Fink, 31, of Detroit and field superintendent for the Green & Klein Builders, Voza was standing in the hole while a shovel was being operated from above.

"All of a sudden the side collapsed and dirt buried Ernie," Fink said. "We warned him not to stand in there when the shovel was working, but he stayed any way."

Vosa, a sewer pipe layer by trade, according to Fink, had been with the company about six months when he came from Italy with his family. Since he has been here, Voza had been working with the home-building company in the north section of Pontiac where 170 GI homes have been erected.

Build Beauty With Tools of Poise

By ANITA COLBY

Shine — like a star — you are near the end of the course, and I am sure that your body and mind are things that you hold proud today.

I want that to show in your demeanor. I want you to learn the tools of poise — of seeming so queenly, so gracious that even though you are quaking inwardly, you know the devices that bring calm to your own nerves and pleasure to others.

Suppose we pretend you're going to a small, intimate gathering.

Before you even get to the party, the first thing you do is dress yourself with an eye to your future peace of mind.

Don't wear a veil you can't get out of to a tea — or a fussy pair of gloves that won't carry easily to a cocktail party — or a wide hat to the theater — or high heels to climb about in a football stadium.

Don't overdress for any occasion. It's again better to rely on understatement. Dress suitably, carefully.

Once you're sure you won't be pulling at a girdle, tucking a blouse in, fidgeting with a scarf, hiking up a skirt, your attention can go entirely to the business of handling your mind and body.

Little Relaxers

1. With body relaxed and turned slightly sideways in a chair, let your knees slant to one side, your feet fold one behind another on the floor at the other side of chair. Let hands lie, palm up, lightly holding one another in your lap. Fingers cup loosely, your hands are relaxed.

If you have to shake them out first — wring them a while to do so. But find this easy fall — one back into palm of other hand.

Keep your lower spine against the back of the chair, your shoulders loose and low, your head nicely poised, not drooping, not stiff. Your look is one of interest, of reception — you can talk and be talked to.

2. For a more alert, intimate posture — listening to one person, perhaps, I rehearsed a crossed-knee position that still was not too eager, too breathless looking.

It's prettiest if you lean your knees away from the person you're talking to, and turn your upper torso to face him directly.

Then loosely clasp your fingers — never that white-knuckled gripping — and hang them by one wrist from your crossed-over knee. It composes nicely, whichever wrist is uppermost.

3. If you have nice hands, I'll pass along a pretty gesture that Susan Hayward uses a lot. She drops hands loosely in her lap, the right one on its back, lightly holding the first two fingers of her left, as it rests on her thigh.

It makes the most of long slim fingers without seeming to ask for attention. Another variation for good hands is to lay the left fingers across right's wrist or middle arm.

4. Perhaps your memories include, as mine do, that wonderful Karsh photograph of Mrs. Roosevelt, with her hands clasped in front of her on a desk or table. It has a warm concentration — an attentiveness and concern that has held many minds.

This position can imply all degrees of intentness, depending on how relaxed you keep your hands. It is a restful device at a desk, or a table after bridge or luncheon is over. Practice it.

I have suggested four possibilities for you to concentrate on to maintain an easy and quiet position. The main thing now for you is to experiment with yourself.

Find what is easiest for you to do prettily. Decide that you will learn how to look at ease — and then try to forget you've learned anything. Do it so often it becomes a habit — a good habit.

Controlling Voice

There is an exercise you can start today, and keep up for the rest of your life. That's voice control. It would be fine if you have a piano to help you at first.

Clark Gable told me how Josephine Dillon, Hollywood's fine voice teacher, helped him to place his voice by working him down the scale to the rich bass level that is his present famous speaking voice. You might try to find your best level by speaking — not singing — a long sentence and matching your voice tones on the keyboard.

It may surprise you to find how high and shrill many of your tones are. Keep them light, but as low as is comfortable for your vocal chords.

Repeat your best key note over and over until you can always find it — even mentally when you're alone — walking, or riding to work, leaning over a file case or a kitchen sink.

Hum yourself a happy key; vary it up and down so that you have a fairly wide level of operation for your speech to work against.

You may need to pitch your speech two or three notes lower than your present girlish treble — and you can do this even without any kind of musical instrument, just by listening.

Actually what anyone wants to hear is a warm, flexible voice. No good getting below middle C if you're going to keep it to a monotone once it's down there.

Experiment for range, and once you begin to sound squeaky, excitable, duck back down again. Get a book you like and read out loud to yourself, using as much expression as you can put into a lower-register voice.

Think of various situations in your own life, and try to remember things you said and how you sounded. Did your voice live up to the occasion? Right now, can your voice show laughter without giggling? Enthusiasm without screaming?

How good an actress are you? How agile is your voice? You know, you can do anything you've made your mind up about.

Work on your voice. Find its best level, train it to interpret the good feelings you have for the world and its people.

Watch your lips in a mirror as you speak. Don't mouth. Don't keep the tight, flat lips that make for nasality. Don't exaggerate facial expressions any more than hand and arm types.

Round your lips enough — speak slowly enough — to let good tone and clear enunciation come through. Don't dribble away the sound of a sentence; don't run downhill to a lost murmur.

Now do your reading all over again to see how you improve. And then, once more. Now do you like to listen to the sound of your own voice? Then others will.

Here are some simple suggestions to help you correct the following:

MONOTONY OF TONE

Sing "Aaah," starting at your lowest tone, and Aaah, Aaah your way up to the highest holding it as long as possible.

SHRILL, HIGH PITCH

Try humming until you feel the resonance in cheeks and nose. Relax the vocal chords and repeat round vowel sounds in low tones.

TIRED, STRAINED VOICE

Yawn widely a number of times, to relax face, tongue, throat, and do the neck, head-roll exercise.

MUMBLING

Watch yourself in a mirror, and open your mouth as if you were about to yawn, feel the jaw drop as you say, "Farm, barn, yarn, harm, arm, dark park, lark." Try long "i's": "Like, mike, blind, kind, dine, fine, pine." Now try with your teeth closed and see the difference.

SENTENCE STUMBLING

Watch yourself and cut out the opening, "Er," "Uh," "Well," "I mean," "You know" — all the meaningless mutterings you use to stall for time. Know what you want to say — and say it. But don't blurt out things without thinking.

TONES OF VOICE

Watch it for insincerity, complaints, or accusing overtones. Drop your voice and slow your speech to make greater warmth, sincerity and affection sound out from you. Practice "How do you do" so it sounds like, "How nice to see you."

Now, to acquire lilt, strength and control: Read aloud and make sure you're getting expression, flexibility and warmth across, not flat, dull monotony of sound.

The "smile" in the voice of a good telephone operator comes with actually smiling as she says, "Number, please?" Try it on your own "Hello," "Good morning" and "How are you?"

Baby's Play Corner Is Ideal Solution

By the time he's a year old, baby needs his own place to play. If you can't give him his own room, then set off a corner of a room that he can have to himself. Here he should have his toys collected, things that he can play with without fear of a reprimand.

Hep Fashions Are Jumperin' for Fall, Winter

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — The fashionable joints are jumperin'!

There's nothing bigger for fall and winter, style-wise, than the jumper — Those sleeveless part-dresses that you can wear with any number of blouses.

The formal jumpers are cut, usually, on the same sleek lines as the sportier models and look sophisticatedly peachy either with, or without, blouses.

Newest treatment of jumpers are those few with ribbed, wool-woven midriffs. Oldest treatment are those that button from neck to himline—have narrow leather belt, will travel.

Coming Events

Pilgrim Class of Central Methodist Church has postponed the Friday meeting until further notice.

Ladies Aid Society of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church will hold an all-day meeting Thursday with Mrs. David Anderson, 733 Corwin Ct. A cooperative luncheon will be served at noon. This meeting was originally scheduled for Aug. 26.

Here's a Pleasant Way to REDUCE Without Starving Yourself

As everybody knows, excess weight is often nothing more than lazy calories stored up in the body. Superfluous fatty tissue is not only disfiguring, makes us look older, but imposes an extra strain on the heart, lungs, kidneys, and other vital organs.

Every normal, intelligent man or woman would like to shed these aging, ugly useless pounds of fat but the strain of rigid dieting is just plain discouraging.

Now, at last, here is a pleasant, easy and most sensible way to reduce. Doctors know that increasing protein intake literally burns up useless, often harmful calories stored up in fatty midriffs and elsewhere. That is why they often recommend high protein diets—plenty of rich (and costly) steak for example. The high amino acid content of the steak helps burn up unnecessary calories.

INEXPENSIVE — HELPFUL

The Wm. T. Thompson Vitamin Laboratories now make available these same vital amino acids in tasty tablet or powder form under the name of Poly-Ams. Inexpensive Poly-Ams are a 65% predigested blend of 12 amino acids, including all the essential ones, because science has learned that all the essential amino acids must be taken at the same time for full utilization of their benefits.

In addition, you also receive 90% of your minimum daily requirements of Thiamin and Riboflavin, 3 milligrams of Niacin and other members of the B-Complex vitamins.

Reduce With POLY-AMS

Control Your Calories Consumption and Take Poly-Ams. You Will Quickly Notice That You Look and Feel Better.

Blackmail Won't Work

Overly Generous Parents Trying to Insure Old Age

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. R. is 71 years old. She lives with her daughter and this child's family. One evening recently she was asked to go to her room in order to leave the downstairs free to her grandchildren who were entertaining friends.

Nobody remembered to bring her a plate of the ice cream and cake she knew were being served.

So Mrs. R. sat down and wrote a letter. Among other things, it said:

"All my life people have told me I was too generous to my children. Now that I am old, what have I got? Even this room and the food I eat are begrudged to me . . ."

Perhaps Mrs. R.'s children begrudged giving to her because she gave to them to insure a return.

This column is for middle-aged parents who may be giving too generously to insure protection of their old age.

It is in middle age that we become acutely aware of old age.

Usually it is while we are still struggling to meet the needs of adolescent children that we are faced with those of our aging parents.

In the changes age has made in them, we see time's threat to us. And terror rises up in us.

We suddenly look at the children in whom we are investing our strength with anxious, secretly wondering eyes. We think, "How far can I count on them when I am old?"

Unless we can recognize our terror as an echo from our childhood fears of helplessness and desertion, it can manipulate us into the same placative behavior that characterizes any 5-year-old who fears abandonment by mother.

Just as this scared child will try to be "nice" to retain his parent's goodwill, fear of helpless old age can blackmail us into generous gestures we can't afford.

We may yield to young people's presures for smarter cars, big weddings, more expensive educations than we'd planned on.

But our scared efforts to bind not insure us content in our old age. We naturally resent having our children to us in obligation will to connive for what we think is owed us. Giving in begrudgment, surely we can expect only begrudged giving in return.

Though helpless children believe that powerful parents are their security, grownup persons do not make other people their security. What they trust is their own creative power to meet life's risks and changes.

Most of us have glimpsed this power in moments of pain and stress we have to work through alone. Our peace rests on it, not on the willingness of a child to feed and shelter us.

New Laundry Bags Make Work Easier

Whether you do your washing at the neighborhood launderette or in your machine, a new nylon net laundry bag will come in handy. It has the ordinary amount of space plus two separate pockets on the outside for colored things, so you can "pre-sort" your clothes as they get soiled.

This bag is also a convenient washing aid for your more delicate garments. Put them in the bag, and toss the bag into the washing machine, for soapsuds and rinses go right through the net.

PETUNIA!

List Requirements for Wash Fabrics

To be safely washable, a fabric should not shrink or stretch out of shape and fit, should not change color, and should retain its special finish after laundering.

"Will it wash?" depends on the construction of the dress, slip cover, or whatever else you want to launder—seams wide and secure enough to prevent pulling and raveling, washable or detachable trimmings and buttons, fast color sewing thread and zippers, removable shoulder pads, and styling simple enough for easy ironing.

About seven million men under 38 in the United States are fathers of young children.

Newcomers Are Puzzled

Should They Accept Bids?

By EMILY POST

A wife writes: "My husband was transferred to this city several months ago. We joined the country club here and several organization When we meet people at these different club gatherings they are very friendly toward use and many of them have said, "Do come to see us."

"(1) Is it proper to go on such a casual invitation when they have never called on us? (2) When we meet people we like is it permissible for me to invite them to our house first? I would appreciate your help in this matter as I do not want to do anything that could be criticized."

Answer: (1) They wouldn't say it if they didn't mean it, so going to see them would be all right; (2) If their manner to you is obviously friendly, there is no reason in the world why you couldn't say, "Do come to see us."

After all, since you are members of their club, you are no longer strangers.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a passion for pearls and would like to have a pearl engagement ring instead of the usual diamond solitaire.

However, a friend of mine tells me that a pearl engagement ring is bad luck and will bring a married life full of tears. Have you ever heard of this?

Answer: It is an old superstition dating back to the ark, but to take it seriously would be very foolish.

Dear Mrs. Post: If a fruit or fish cocktail is the first course at dinner, is it put down directly on the service plate, or must it first be put on a small plate?

Answer: It is put on the service plate.

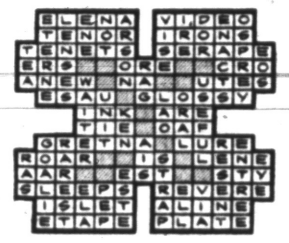

Dear Mrs. Post: I would like your opinion on giving a copy of your etiquette book to a friend for a birthday present. Could this possibly be taken as an insult?

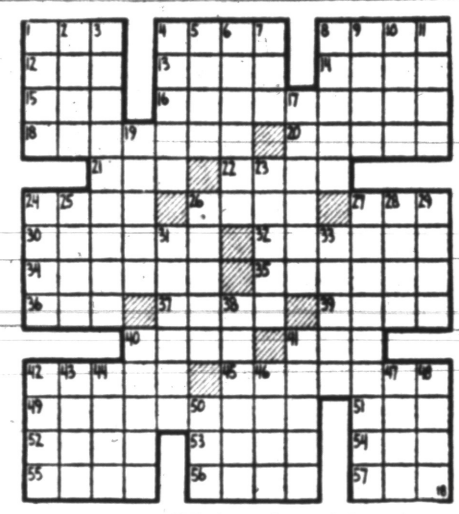

Answer: No more than the gift of an encyclopedia or an atlas would be.

Needs No Ironing

A good choice to keep you comfortably fresh-looking around the house this summer is a sleeveless, boat-necked cotton dress that wraps around to button and bow at back. It needs no ironing.

Ann Sothern Takes Fling at Night Life

'Private Secretary' Sings and Dances During Summer

RENO, Nev. (INS) — Glamorous Ann Sothern, who for the summer season switched from "Private Secretary" to theater and nightclub headliner, likes living in hotels.

Sitting happily in her hotel suite at Reno's Riverside Hotel, Miss Sothern said:

"It's such a pleasure to get out of the home. I think women are delighted just to be in a hotel. No worrying about what to cook for dinner, about getting the laundry done, no problems about the garden . . . everything is done for you and you just enjoy it."

Miss Sothern has some useful tips about making hotel life a thoroughly relaxing experience.

"What you pack is of first importance. It needn't be much if you choose carefully. The first rule is to take things that can be doubled—one skirt and three or four varied tops, for instance.

"Take cottons that can be easily laundered and nylon and dacron that require such simple care."

Her own problems are more complex and require the assistance of a maid because during the summer season she is appearing not only at the Riverside Theater restaurant with her own show, but is going to Las Vegas and to New York.

Keeping evening clothes in top condition requires expert attention.

"But on ordinary trips away from home I take care of my own things," she said. "A traveling iron is a must. But watch them—some are inclined to get a little hot.

She is amused that audiences are surprised to find the perfect secretary singing and dancing on the stage.

"I started out in musical comedy," she explained. "This is just completing a circle for me. I've done just about everything but this is my first time in theater-nightclubs.

"And the amazing thing is that normally I never go to nightclubs."

But Miss Sothern welcomes the change . . . even though it is exhausting work, a "change of work is a vacation."

She returns to television in the fall . . . a "Private Secretary" who has had a fling at glamor for her "vacation."

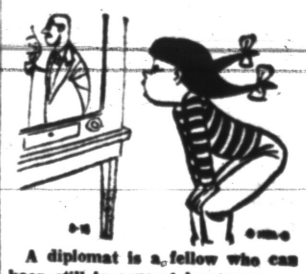

Dry Suds Launder Napped Upholstery

Dry suds, made by adding soap flakes to a small amount of hot water and beating with a rotary beater, can be used to clean napped upholstery. Take up top suds with small brush and scrub gently with a circular motion.

Use rubber spatula to remove soiled suds, wipe with sponge that's been wrung out in warm water and then with dry cloth. To speed drying process, play electric fan on the fabric.

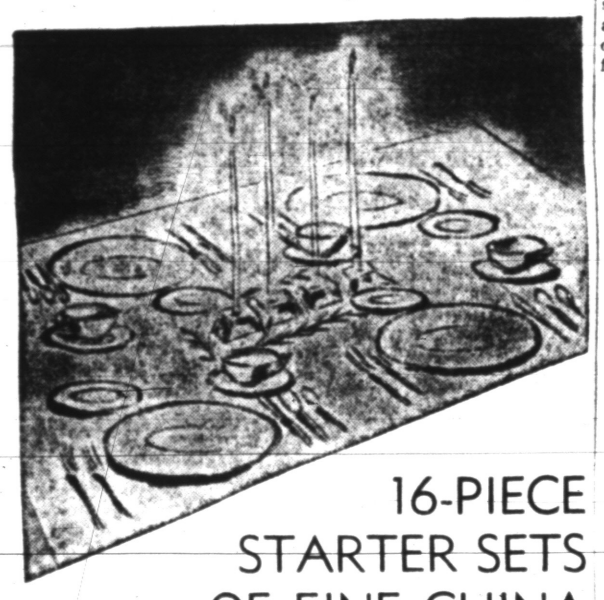

Clean Dirty Mops

It will make your housework easier in the long run if you make it a rule never to put away a soiled mop. It will only add dirt instead of removing it the next time you use it.

'Here Comes Mr. Jordon' to Continue Through Aug. 29

'Unearthly' Hilarity Rocks Will-O-Way as Play Opens

By DONNA ANDERSON

Producer - director William W. Merrill has brought another newcomer to the stage and has teamed him with one of the season's favorites, George C. Scott. Results? Completely satisfactory.

"The newcomer is punching Paul Barry and Tuesday's opener, Harry Segall's "Here Comes Mr. Jordon," suits him fine.

In-the-know when it comes to the fight game, he is right at home as Joe Pendleton, the pugilist-pilot who is victimized by an overzealous messenger from heaven and winds up dead 60 years ahead of schedule without anybody — or any body.

You'll be just as confused as Joe's friends as the charming Mr. Scott in the title role and the messenger, Robert Bryson, comb the world to find a place to keep Joe's inner being.

You'll have a terrible time keeping body and soul together!

Joan Haddid and Larry Johnson drown husbands in the bathtub and stuff them in refrigerators—but that's all right. They provide a body for Joe, for a while at least.

Martha Craig plays Joe's heartthrob and Douglas Drury doffs his Russian accent from "You Can't Take It With You", only to end up in a straight jacket. As Joe's fight manager, the body-hopping routine tends to confuse him.

Others in on the heavenly hilarity are Mary Shorn, Lois Raisin, Linda Lewis, Martha Buhs, Byron Webster, Bonnie Johnson, Margaret Keusch, Ken Krezel and Frank Dowse.

"Here Comes Mr. Jordon" will play through Aug. 29 at the West Long Lake road playhouse, excluding Mondays. But a word of warning . . . Be careful driving home after the play.

Robert Bryson had an ominous gleam in his eye as he studied his gold encrusted list of who's who in heaven—and watch out for flying saxophones.

"My Three Angels" by Sam and Bella Spewak is next and last for Will-O-Way.

Creswell Group Hears Speaker

Mrs. William Bray was hostess in her Orlando avenue home for the Monday meeting of the Eleanor Creswell Society of the Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

Guest speaker for the day was Mrs. Peter Van Lierop, missionary who has recently returned from Japan and Korea. "Temples of God" was her theme.

She told of the strange temples and shrines she visited. She also cited examples of "living temples," self - sacrificing Korean people whom she worked with there.

Mrs. Walter Napersky was in charge of devotions and special guests were present from the Drayton Plains United Presbyterain Church. Mrs. Donald Wilson assisted the hostess.

Air Conditioning Keeps Car Cool

FORT WORTH, Tex. (INS) — Now you can air-condition your station-wagon without sacrificing seating or storage space.

One company has introduced the new unit in a compact case designed for overhead construction. (Units are installed in the trunks of other passenger automobiles).

Available in either 2-ton or 2 1-3 ton models, the unit case is only 6¾ inches deep, clears the top of the windows and does not take up head room. It usually is installed across the top of the vehicle just forward of the rear seat.

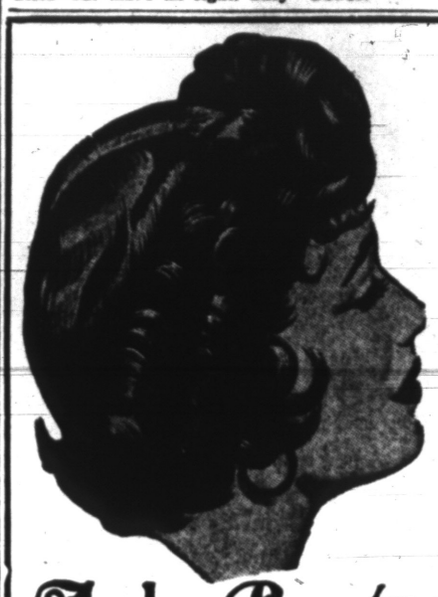

In keeping with the new trend for custom-look cars, the cooling case can be painted, or covered with plastic or fabric, to match the interior of the station wagon. Refrigerant lines can be worked in under the upholstery or window frame, or wrapped with matching tape.

Methodist Circles Conduct Meetings

The Prospect street home of Mrs. B. B. Johnson was the setting for the Tuesday meeting of the Mary Eddy Circle of Wilson Avenue Methodist Church. Mrs. G. E. Fisher led devotions.

Mrs. Fred Johnson of Ferry avenue opened her home for the meeting of the Mildred Pierce Circle. Mrs. Sadie Ritter was in charge of devotions.

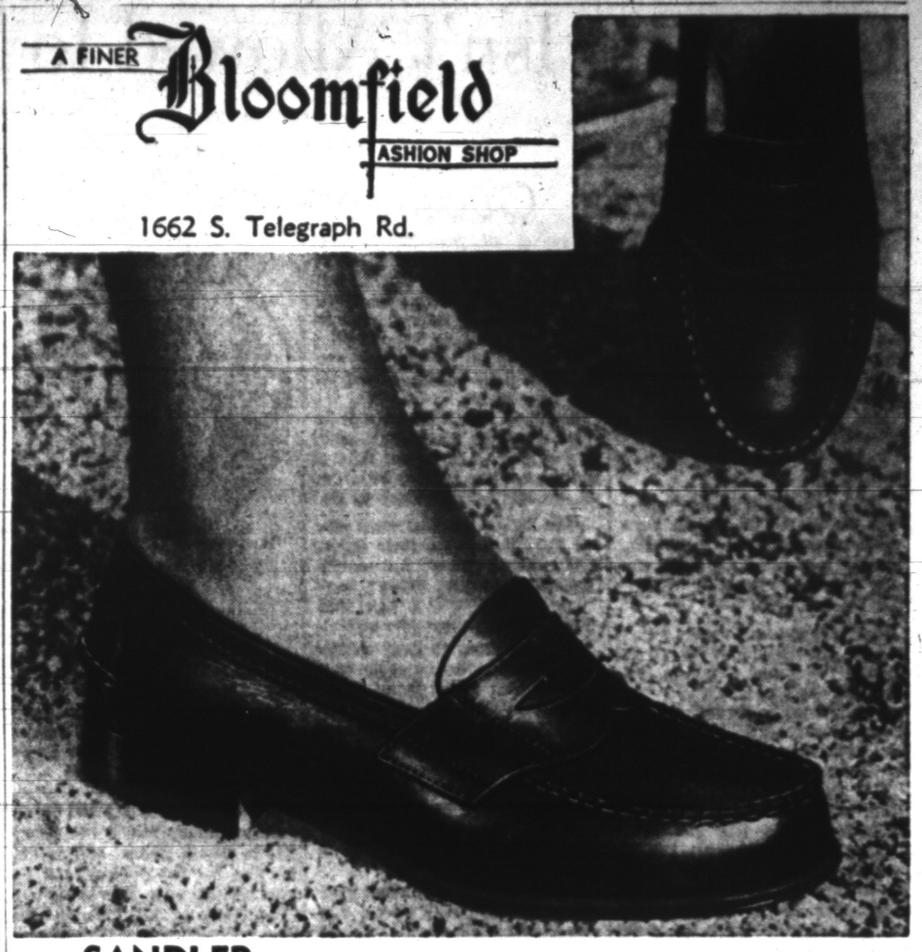

Grace Wilson Circle met with Mrs. Ross Woodworth of Hazel avenue. The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Carrie Young.

Girl Who Isn't Allowed to Have Dates Shouldn't Tell Lies to Save Face

Your Turn Will Come!

Parry Friends' Questions

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

The girls ask you if you have dates with boys. You have to answer. They rattle away about the fun they had last night — where they went, who was there, who said what, and so on. You have to listen.

One girl may even produce a letter from a boy friend and stick it right under your nose. You have to read it.

They consider it perfectly normal to be thinking about boys all the time, going out with them, "being in love." They think any girl who doesn't date is missing all the fun. And they say so.

And you loathe feeling different from your friends. You hate to see them doing things you can't do. Your pride is cut to shreds.

You figure the only way to save face is to lie your way out of your fix. As this girl does:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm 14, a sophomore in high, and I feel as mature as the girls in my class, who are 15, 16, even 17. But my parents say I'm too young to go out with boys, even on double dates. (My father thinks double dates are as bad as single ones).

"This bothers me so much that, whenever anyone speaks of dates, I feel terribly left out and I make up stories about the dates I have. What else is there for me to do?"

First of all, your family isn't depriving you of anything you've already had. It's just that, in general, they think you're not quiete ready to make dating arrangements. But confront them with a definite date to do something special with some nice boy—and see how they react.

Meantime, why stew so over the girls' needling? They don't really give a hoot whether you date or you don't. They care so little that you shouldn't care enough to lie.

Just keep very quiet when other girls talk about their dates. Such silence doesn't necessarily indicate that you haven't anything to say. It's a sign that you don't blab about your affairs.

You can listen to their chatter, take mental notes on their expereinces, then shrug it all off as no concern of yours.

The questions they ask that seem embarrassing to you are just incidental to them. Pure curiosity. When they ask, "Do you go out with boys?" you can answer with a vague, "Oh, not very much," as though you weren't really interested in boys.

If the girls quiz you about your plans for going to a dance, you can answer nonchalantly, "I don't think I'll go," as though you'd thought it over and decided you had something better to do.

If they twit you about missing out on fun, answer back, "That all depends on your point of view. You have your fun. I'll have mine —when I'm ready." And that's no lie!

Short buttoned onto skirt for small figure. Long with big sailor collar for the larger and it won't show glaring figure faults.

Miss I. W.—Both day and dressy versions of the middy are plentiful, in tweed, flannel and jersey. They're not for children, but for ultra-sophisticates. This is the real Chanel look of the 1920's and the new "slouch" look of 1954—casual, elegant.

Apple Pie Champion Tells Recipe

Marilyn Taylor, 18, in Her Last Year of 4-H Work

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Oakland County's apple pie champion gives us her recipe. Eighteen-year-old Marilyn Taylor of Pine Knob road made five pies before the fair in order to get just the one she wanted. She will now go to East Lansing and enter a pie in a larger field of competition.

Marilyn is in her last year of 4-H work. She plans to enter Michigan State in the fall where she's sure she will continue to enjoy school.

PRIZE APPLE PIE
By Marilyn Taylor

Pastry for two crust pie
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
6-7 cups Transparent pples, sliced
1 teaspoon flour
Butter

Sprinkle a little sugar over unbaked pie shell. Mix rest of sugar, cinnamon and flour with apples. Lay apples in layers around on the crust. Dot with butter and sprinkle a bit more cinnamon on top. Put on top crust. Bake in a 425 oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 325 degrees and bake about 35 minutes more, or until apples are tender.

When your wave begins to droop, it's time to use a quick set. There is nothing more damaging to your crowning glory and your morale, too, than a wilted head of hair. This waving fluid dries in one-third the usual time.

Helps Hair Roots

When brushing your hair, you'll get best results if you assume a slightly upside-down position. You might lie across your bed allowing your head to hang over the side. This stimulates circulation, nourishes hair roots.

Too Much Shop Talk Is Bad Sign

Carrying On About Jobs Often Shows Dissatisfaction

By ANNE HEYWOOD

It seems to me that the people who talk shop all the time, who are forever carrying on about their jobs, are not the ones who love their jobs.

They are the ones who think they should be loving their jobs, who wish they could, and who protest too much.

Mostly, if you really love your job, you discharge it on the premises to your full satisfaction, and turn to other matters in your free time.

The other day, at a business women's luncheon, I saw a good example of this.

Half the women were chattering frenziedly about their work, but down the table a bit was a serene young woman who was doing more listening than talking.

I made up my mind to get a chance to talk with her and see if my hunch was right—that she was one who really did like her work.

Well, she was, and no wonder. She has one of the most unusual jobs I've ever heard of.

This is a museum devoted entirely to children, with all kinds of displays and activities, story-telling hours and craft classes, all geared to the children.

It has a huge collection of toy trains, and a microscope club for junior scientists, a doll club for young ladies who want to make dolls and dresses based on those in the museum's collections.

There's even a pet club where young members learn about the care of pets, using the museum's collection of live animals.

It is Miss Tullock's responsibility to see that the whole thing runs smoothly, and she loves every minute of it. She always did love children, and was always interested in the arts and sciences.

She didn't plan things this way; she just did each job that came along the best she could, and one day, out of a clear blue sky, she was offered her present job.

If you find yourself talking shop incessantly and boring your kin and kith, better face the fact that maybe you dislike your job.

Then take steps to find one you can love—and it is always possible. The business world is so full of so many kinds of jobs that if you'll honestly look around, you'll find one you can really love.

Women Should Take Protective Care for Nails

The mature woman would do well to become her own manicurist. For the more care she gives her nails, the better their condition. After forty, the nails tend to become brittle. So, you can develop the professional touch in preserving their beauty.

First, remove all old nail polish. Use cotton dipped in an oil polish remover. If you find it hard to remove the polish from the edges of the nails, use the tip of an orangewood stick dipped in the remover.

File and shape the nails. Use a long, flexible file and for best results, file only in one direction.

For a smooth base to apply your polish, buff the nails briskly. Then scrub the nails with warm soapy water and dry thoroughly. Work gently around the cuticle with an orangewood stick wrapped in cotton. Use the stick to remove any stubborn bits of dirt under the nails.

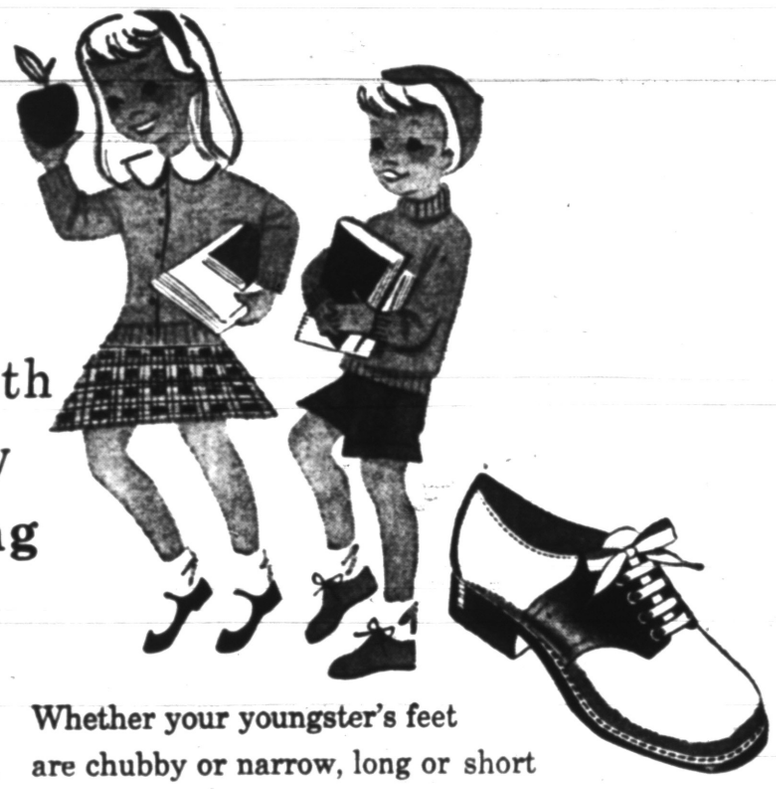

Apply a coat of polish-foundation. Let this dry, then apply a single coat of polish. Let this dry thoroughly.

Don't become impatient and blow on your finger tips, or fan them hoping to speed the drying. This will cause bubbles in the polish and an uneven finish.

When your fingernails are completely dry, apply a second coat of polish. When this is dry, you can apply nail sealer if you want to be certain of a lasting, chip-proof manicure.

A popular choice for the cashmere devotee is this link cardigan with short turned-back sleeves. A chain link edging gives a designer touch to the soft collar—a border of self cashmere that looks like tiny bows.

Fall Collared Cashmeres Come in Variety of Styles

Collared cashmere sweaters are favorites in the back to school and fall collection of Hadley cashmeres.

Leading in demand is the turtle neck, with long or short sleeves, all in one color or with white collars on pastel or grey sweaters. College girls love them with jumpers, suits or just as all around toppers for their campus and date costumes.

There are many other new collars in the Hadley collection, in pullovers and cardigans. A herringbone collar is a new design note, and the soft convertible collar that can be worn high or open for casual wear is a popular choice.

The favorite touch is a chain link edging of self-cashmere for collars — an effect of tiny bows made with cashmere braid. Collarless cashmeres are also found in the collection, buttoned in front with contrasting edgings to placket neckline, and turned back cuffs. These are excellent for fine over-blouses or good tucked into skirts.

For dressy wear there is a pretty scoop with brief sleeves, the neckline bordered with hand crocheted edging, a deep-V neckline with scalloped trim and a cutout design to underscore a high, round neckline.

Hadley's new ascot, first such cashmere accessory on the market, can be worn with the pullovers and cardigans to make a designer style of a classic sweater.

Norma D. Smith Becomes Bride

Norma Darlene Smith became the bride of Murray W. Titsworth in an outdoor ceremony on the shore of Ocqueoc Lake Aug. 9, with members of the immediate families present.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Norman D. Smith of Holly, formerly of Pontiac.

Incinerate Garbage

It's a well-known fact that flies are the greatest transmitters of disease. Rats, mice and other insects also play their part. A gas incinerator will eliminate messy, unsightly, and unhealthy piling up of garbage in warm weather.

This new long-sleeved turtle-neck sweater promises to become a campus classic this season. It has a wonderful fit to the fine-gauge collar, thanks to a back zipper. It can

Last Housekeeping Chore Is Bathroom

The bathroom usually comes last dring the daily housekeeping routine. This is logical because most women use it as a kind of utility room when straightening the nearby bedrooms.

Before you clean up the bathroom is a good time to launder "those little things" and hang them to dry out of your way. Always be sure to keep soap conveniently at hand for this wash basin laundry.

"Operation Treadmill" continued in the American League today. The New York Yankees won their eighth in a row, 11-1 over Philadelphia, and again failed to close the three-game gap on the Cleveland Indians who came from behind in the last of the ninth and nipped Detroit 4-3.

Both Chicago teams won doubleheaders. The Cubs whipped Cincinnati 5-0 and 6-1. The White Sox defeated Baltimore 2-0 and 3-1.

Boston edged Washington 4-3 in their private battle for fifth place in the American League.

A single by Bobby Avila with the bases loaded in the ninth brought victory to the Indians after Detroit twice had held one-run leads. Bob Lemon, who won his 17th game, drove in the tieing run in the ninth with a single. Lemon's record shows eight victories in the last four weeks.

The Yankees turned an easy victory into a runaway at Philadelphia with six runs in the ninth inning. Bill Skowron's pinch hit grand slam homer was the big blow.

Billy Pierce and Virgil Trucks combined for the White Sox' shutout victory over Baltimore. Pierce, who struck out five in a row at one point, was lifted after walking two men in the eighth. The Sox beat Bob Kuzava for the second time in a week in the nightcap with an 11-hit attack.

Brooklyn scored twce in the first inning on a walk, a single by Pee Wee Reese and a double by Walt Moryn. Surkont walked seven in the first five innings but only his first inning pass to Junior Gilliam hurt him. In the fourth he struck out Duke Snder with the bases loaded and two out.

Three years ago Branch Rickey invited a group of sportswriters to attend the 1954 World Series in Pittsburgh. The only way Pittsburgh will see the 1954 World Series is by television. But the old master's amazing assortment of Greying veterans and fuzzy-cheeked youngsters apparently is going to have a lot to say about where the series will be played.

The dead-last but dead-game Pirates own today's longest winning streak in the National League — five games, including a 4-2 triumph last night over the bewildered Brooklyn Dodgers. Pittsburgh has won nine of its last 11, the best record by a Pirate team since 1949 over a stretch of 11 games.

Pittsburgh's streak became the longest when the Milwaukee Braves were beaten 4-1 by St. Louis, ending a nine-game string. The league-leading New York Giants capitalized on the misfortunes of the Dodgers and Braves with an 8-3 victory over Philadelphia. This put the Gianst two games in front of Brooklyn, 4½ ahead of the Braves.

Max Surkont, one of the pitchers Milwaukee decided it didn't need this season, beat the Dodgers on five hits as Frank Thomas drove in three of the four runs.

Booker Top Hitter
Jets' Nine Dominates Class A Statistics

Statistics released today by the Pontiac Parks & Recreation Department for its 1954 regular-season Class A Baseball League show the reason for the Pontiac Jets' supremacy.

Regular-season champion Jets placed three men among the circuit's top hitters and three of their hurlers among the leading seven pitchers.

Jets' 1st-baseman Judge Booker paced hitters with a sparkling .472 mark, followed by Les Stone of the Auburn Merchants with .405 and Don Russell of the Jets with .403.

Warren Hagyard, also of the Jets, was the top pitcher with a 4-0 mark. Marv Caswell of GMC and Ken Campbell of Auburn had 3-0 records and Jim Williams of the Jets had 2-0. Jack Hruska of CIO was the league's busiest pitcher, working 54 innings. Caswell and Herm Bishop of GMC had the most strikeouts, 36, and Caswell gave up the fewest hits, 10 in 23 innings.

Oliver Buick and General Motors battled to a 4-4 standoff yesterday before darkness halted their City Class A Baseball League semi-final playoff game.

Game will be replayed this afternoon at 5:30 at Wisner Field. Winner of today's game will meet the Pontiac Jets for the championship Sunday at 2 p.m.

Oliver, trailing 4-1 after 6⅓ innings of play, came up with a 3-run rally in the last of the 7th to throw the game into a deadlock. Buickmen took advantage of three walks and three GMC errors to score the three runs.

GMC's Marv Caswell gave up only two hits, struck out eight and walked four. Don Ernst relieved him to retire the last man in the 7th. Larry Cates gave up three hits for Oliver, fanned four and walked four.

CADDIE TOURNEY MEDALIST—Dick Hauff, 17, a Persian-born war orphan, shows his score card after shooting sub-par golf in the afternoon round of the 36-hole qualifier Tuesday at the National Caddie Golf tournament at Columbus, O. He carded scores of 76-70—146. Hauff was adopted by an American army major during World War II.

Ex-Refugee Favorite in U.S. Caddie Meet

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A decade ago he was a hungry, homeless and frightened kid, dazed by the death of his mother and father as war came to his native Persian hills.

Today he's the No. 1 choice to win the fifth National Caddie golf championship.

That's the big leap made by 17-year-old Dick Hauff of Chicago, who yesterday fired 76-70—146, two over par for Ohio State University's 7,120-yard par 72 "Scarlet" course, to lead the 36-hole qualifier by six strokes. Seven birdies were on his card.

The fine score earned a $250 college scholarship for the gritty kid. He has another $250 coming from the 1952 tournament in which he was voted the outstanding sportsman. And if he survives the match play which starts today and winds up Saturday, he'll add another $1,000.

He'll enroll in Florida State College at Tallahassee in September, shortly after his 18th birthday on Aug. 31.

Dick, as a six-year-old, was found by American soldiers. The GI's adopted him, but his No. 1 sponsor was Maj. Frank Hauff of Chicago.

Dick is 5 foot 5 and weighs 142. He played football for Arlington Heights High School in Chicago but likes golf, which he took up five years ago, much better. He's just like any other caddie-trained American kid, and he does his bag-toting at the Rolling Green Club in Chicago.

Hauff, in today's first round, went against James Dolan of Worcester, Mass., who qualified with 83-86--169. All 53 entrants got into the match play round, no matter what they fired in the qualifier.

Back of Hauff in the 36-hole test were Eugene Borek of New York, and Dick Burgoon of Harrisburg, Pa., who fashioned 75-77--152. John Chimienti of Harrisburg was next with 74-79--153.

Cobb, Speaker and Wagner Hardy Men

NEW YORK (AP)—Ty Cobb, who played 24 years in major league baseball from 1905 to 1928, established countless records in his 3,033 games in which he participated.

Cobb, Tris Speaker and Honus Wagner are the only men who played 100 or more games 19 seasons in the majors. Wagner and Speaker did have this triumph over Cobb: They played their 100-game years consecutively. Cobb split up the years on which he equalled their records.

Olson, Castellani Plan Final Workouts for Bout

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Final workouts were planned today by Carl (Bobo) Olson and Rocky Castellani for their 15-round middleweight title fight in the Cow Palace here Friday night.

Manager Sid Flaherty broke up Olson's training camp at Nice in Lake County yesterday and brought Bobo here for a brisk 10-round workout in Newman's Gym.

Castellani, remaining at his Bermuda Palms training quarters in San Rafael, worked the last four of 153 rounds he has boxed since July 14.

Meanwhile, Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, visited the Castellani camp and said he was pleased with the setup for the fight. He expressed hope the gate for the televised bout would exceed $200,000.

Castellani's manager, Al Naiman, who claims that Olson is having a tough time getting down to 160 pounds, was unhappy about the weigh-in time, set for 9:00 a.m. Friday.

Olson "will dry out overnight to make it," said Naiman. "Then he'll pick up pounds. If he weighs in at noon, he won't be getting the best of it."

Basilio Beats Harper

The bout, originally scheduled outdoors at Fort Wayne's Zollner Stadium, was staged indoors at the Allen County Memorial Coliseum.

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (AP)—Tony Lazzeri Jr., son of the former major league baseball star, will play guard on the University of Santa Clara basketball team this season. He was ineligible last season because of the transfer rule.

Remember?

Western Michigan College has sent quite a number of baseball players into the major leagues. Today's personality did not play big league baseball, but he still is rated as one of the Broncos' all-time best. He spent a long and successful amateur career in the sport and is particularly well-known in these parts. His identity is on today's final sport page.

Turner Hopes Andrews Is Step to Title Bout

CHICAGO (INS) — Fifth-ranked Phil Turner of Philadelphia, hoping for another shot at the welterweight boxing title, sets out toward that goal when he battles Al Andrews tonight in a 10-round scheduled bout at the Chicago Stadium.

The bout will be televised nationally over the CBS network.

Georgia Eyes 2nd JC Title

Macon Lad Spearheads Bid in Junior Golf Test at Albuquerque

The 9th annual tourney begins today on the 7,250-yard University of New Mexico course with a field of 108 contestants taking part.

Only 106 of these met the 164 or better it took in the 36 holes of qualifying play ended yesterday. The other two were from the Canal Zone and entered the tournament under a ruling allowing all entries from foreign countries to play despite their qualifying scores.

The Georgia bid for a 2nd straight champion meets its most serious opposition from a strong California team headed by Phil Rodgers of San Diego, who lead 73-72—145.

Each state or country was entitled to send a four-man team to qualify for the 72-hole, medal play tournament. Both Georgia and California qualified four men, with the California team edging Georgia by four strokes for the team championship.

Pirates Boast Longest Streak Under Rickey

Win Over Dodgers Is 5th in Row, Best Since 1950 Season

PITTSBURGH (AP) — There's no pennant talk buzzing in the home of the Pittsburgh Pirates today but the loyal fans who have insisted General Manager Branch Rickey will produce a winner are bursting at the seams.

The Pirates are in last place in the National League but 20,102 fans turned out last night to watch them spot the Brooklyn Dodgers two runs in the first inning, then come through with a 4-2 victory for their fifth consecutive win. The crowd was the largest to watch a night game here this year.

The Pirates now have won nine of their last 11 games—tops since 1949 for them.

The victory over the Dodgers was only the third in 13 meetings with the club this season. But it was enough to send the long-suffering Pirate fans home in good spirits.

"I told you Rickey would produce," one fan chortled. "He's building a winner. The Pirates will be okay."

Dodger Manager Walt Alston, somewhat dour over dropping two full games back of the pace-setting New York Giants, commented:

"There's no question the Pirates are a young and hustling ball club. They've improved since I last saw them. They'll improve more."

The club finished seventh in 1951, Rickey's first year at the helm. It was last in 1952 and 1953.

Rickey said recently he is quitting as general manager when his five-year contract expires next November.

Season Tickets Going at MSC

Over 14,000 Already Sold for 4 Home Games; Purdue Test Popular

EAST LANSING (AP) — Sale of season tickets for Michigan State's four home football games already has passed the 14,000 mark, college officials said today.

Individual game tickets still are available for the Purdue, Wisconsin, Washington State and Marquette games.

Purdue, the home-coming game on Oct. 23, is leading the sales. Wisconsin, here on Oct. 2, is second. Both figure to be sell-outs by game time.

On the away card, the Notre Dame game Oct. 16 has long been a sellout. Good sales also are reported for the Iowa, Michigan and Minnesota games with the Indiana game trailing.

TUESDAY'S STARS

BATTING—Willie Mays, New York Giants, tripled and hit three singles in four times at bat as the Giants defeated Philadelphia, 8-3.

Rangers Face Strong Ohio Team Sunday

In polo, you've got to have the horses. And this year the Ivory Rangers have got 'em, which helps wielders rank with the foremost high-goal polo teams in the country.

The Rangers, off to an encouraging start in their effort to better last season's record of 30 victories and only three defeats, will put their prestige on the line against an upset-minded Youngstown (O.) Polo Club aggregation at 3 p.m. Sunday at the Ivory Polo Grounds, Lahser and Eight Mile Roads.

John F. Ivory, boss of the Rangers, credits the team's surprisingly strong play of the past two seasons (they won 54, lost seven and tied one in the 1952 and 1953 campaigns) to the fact that his players are better mounted than most.

Rocky Refuses to Use Makeup

Turns Down Requests by Photographers to Wear Grease Paint

Marciano said he would gladly cooperate with cameramen but he bluntly refused to use makeup.

"I'm not looking for an Oscar, I'm a fighter" said the champion.

After making peace with the cameramen and posing endlessly for pictures, Marciano donned the gloves and boxed four rounds. He worked two rounds with Keene Simmons of Bayonne, N. J., and two rounds with Bob Golden of Denver, Colo.

Sally Wins WDGA Weekly Tournament

Pine Lake's fast-rising young star, Sally Sharp, yesterday won the weekly Women's District Golf Association tourney at Plum Hollow. Sally will take part in the Pontiac Press area golf clinic on Aug. 24, at Pontiac Country Club.

Sally was forced to go an extra hole to take the event, against Margaret Watkins of Country Club of Detroit. Both finished with 83s, but Sally fired a par 5 to edge Miss Watkins' 6.

Four were tied for the runner-up spot, Mrs. Keith LeClair, Mrs. Robert Marsh, Clara June Mosack and Irene Bretzlaff, all with 85s.

Los Angeles' Bradley Leads in Junior Meet

BALTIMORE (AP)—Foster (Bud) Bradley of Los Angeles took a two-stroke lead today into the second round at the Hearst National Junior golf championship on the Mt. Pleasant course.

Bradley, winner of the recent USGA match play championships, got off to a shaky 39 going out, but recovered with a two-under-par 34 coming back for a one-over-par 73. Par is 36-36—72.

Lions to Play 'From Memory' Against Eagles

Parker Says Detroit 11 Not Ready; Stanfel Injured

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Coach Buddy Parker of the Detroit Lions said today his National Football League champions definitely were not ready for their game with the Philadelphia Eagles here Thursday night.

The Lions, fresh from a 31-6 triumph over the College All-Stars, held their first practice drill for the Eagles game Tuesday. They were scheduled to have another drill today.

"We're definitely not ready for this one," Parker admitted, "if we win it, they (the Lions) will be playing from memory."

Parker's offensive unit suffered a severe blow when star guard Dick Stanfel was admitted to the University of Michigan hospital for treatment of an ankle injury.

The Lions also announced that Larry Fowler, a guard last year for Michigan State, was placed on the reserve list. Fowler received orders to report to the army.

Club Golfers' Best Ball Trips Cary Middlecoff

Standout amateur golfers from three Oakland County clubs combined efforts Tuesday to defeat Dr. Cary Middlecoff, 2 and 1, at Knollwood Country Club in the annual Bonds for Israel drive.

A total of 123 persons purchased $500 bonds as their admission to the exhibition.

The 3 amateurs, Harvey Hubar of Franklin Hills, Milt Elson of Tam O'Shanter and Sherwin Ross of Knollwood, played their best ball against Middlecoff. The golfing dentist from Memphis fired a 32-37—69, 3 under par. Hubar received a trophy as low amateur with 75. Elson posted a 77 and Ross, 80.

'Big Stick' Policy Aids Minors' Pilot

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP)—Roland LeBlanc learned much about the big stick policy in his service with the U. S. Marines. Since becoming manager and catcher of the Lynchburg Cardinals he has been making trouble for opposing Piedmont League pitchers. He is hitting around .381 which keeps him in the photo-finish race for top honors in this Class B circuit.

Trabert-Seixas Are Unimpressive in Winning Their 1st Start in National Doubles Net Tourney

By BOB HOOBING

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—From a Davis Cup point of view, the Americans are off to a poor start in the 74th National Doubles tennis tournament.

Tony Trabert of Cincinnati and Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, who eight months ago ran through Australia's Lew Hoad and Rex Hartwig in straight sets for their Davis Cup doubles victory, were unimpressive yesterday in struggling to a 9-7, 7-5, 7-5 triumph.

Though seeded first in this event, Trabert and Seixas were bothered by Richard Sorlien of Wynnewood, Pa., and Robert Forbes of Philadelphia—former team captains at Harvard and Stanford, respectively unknown twosome that had never before played together. Seixas, off his singles game in recent months, was far from his best.

Several of America's future Davis Cup hopefuls ran into difficulty too. Jerry Moss of St. Petersburg, Fla., third ranked National Junior singles player, and David Harum, of Coral Gables, Fla., were on the verge of losing to oldtimers Gerald Stratford and Edward Chandler of San Francisco when they forfeited. Stratford and Chandler were at match point when they called it quits, 8-6, 7-5, 3-6, 8-7 and 40-30.

Chandler said later: "We would not have gone anywhere in the tournament anyway. The kids will get a lot of fun out of playing another round tomorrow. We'd both be tired and stiff and after all we did come here to defend our Seniors' title. We want to concentrate on that."

Don Flye of Tacoma, Wash., and Bill Quillian of Seattle defeated Andrew Paton of Ann Arbor, Mich. and Robert Brobac of Philadelphia 11-9, 6-3, 6-3 after a slow start. The pair today face the third-seeded Australian 17-year olds, Roy Emerson and Ashley Cooper, 6-3, 8-6, 7-5, conquerors of Dr. Robert Freedman of Springfield, Mass., and Dever Hobbs, Providence, R.I.

The top-flight Aussies advanced through yesterday's second round in polished, effortless style. No. 1 seeded Hoad and Rosewall eliminated Don Reid of Australia and Regin Kamo, Japan, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1. Second-rated Hartwig and Neale Fraser stopped Esmond and Alastair Martin of Glenhead, N. Y., 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Rosebuds Wither, 2 Other City Nines Still in Action

Rosebud Market, Pontiac's Class E champions, joined Griff's Grill of Class D on the sidelines in Michigan Recreation Association tournament play Tuesday as the Market nine bowed to Battle Creek Elks, 2-0, at Saginaw.

Pontiac's Class F and Midget representatives, Lunsford Market and Boys Club, respectively, played at Jackson this morning against Wyandotte entries in their 1st tourney action.

Rosebud fell before the 2-hit shutout hurling of Battle Creek's Tom Dula who struck out 10 Pontiac batsmen. Singles by Ron Kind in the 4th and Len Biallas in the 5th were the lone safeties for the Pontiac club.

The western Michigan team tallied in the 1st on 2 infield errors and added another in the 3rd on a single, hit batsman and 2 walks. Whitey Larson of Rosebud yielded only the one hit and struck out 3, but walked 6 in addition to the hit batsman.

Burkemo was last year's champion.

Zuverink's Fine Effort Blasted by Late Single

Detroiter Has Best of Argument Most of Way With Bob Lemon

CLEVELAND (AP)—A big reason Cleveland manager Al Lopez isn't yanking out his hair by the handful over Al Rosen's current batting slump is Bobby Avila whose 9th inning single won the Indians a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers last night.

The little Mexican second baseman has taken up the slack this month while Rosen is having the most batting trouble of his major league career.

The best of Avila's previous five seasons with the Indians was in 1951 when he hit .305, had 10 homers and batted in 58 runs. Currently he's hitting .326 with 12 home runs and 44 RBI.

Rosen, benched last night by bursitis pains in his left shoulder, may not play today or in Thursday's double header.

"I'd like to play," Rosen said, "but if the shoulder doesn't feel any better, there's no use. It's too late in the season to be taking chances. Besides, (Hank) Majeski can do the job."

Majeski, at 38 the oldest Indian in the wigwam, went hitless last night but has a .318 batting average second only to Avila. During his August slump Rosen has made only eight hits, two of them homers, in 60 trips to the plate and his batting average has skidded 30 points.

If Avila has been a pillar holding up the Indians' attack, Bob Lemon, who singled home the tying run last night, has been the standout of a pitching staff that allows the opposition an average of only three runs a game.

Lemon's eight-hit triumph last night was his eighth without defeat during the past four weeks. Only he and Virgil Trucks of Chicago have pitched 17 American League victories, and Trucks has lost six to Lemon's five.

Tiger hurler George Zuverink bested Lemon until the ninth, yieldinly only three hits and held a 3-2 advantage despite three Detroit errors.

But before the lanky, sinker-ball artist could get two men out, the Indians had tagged him for four more hits, including Avila's winning blow.

Rip Needed Coach

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Eldon (Rip) Repulski, star St. Louis Cardinal outfielder, said he wanted to play baseball when he went to Sauk Rapids, Minn., high school. "We couldn't enter our team in the high school league," he said, "because we couldn't get a coach."

Negroes Have Made Good in Major Leagues

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK (INS) — Thinking about it, it seems remarkable that in such a comparatively short time Negro baseball players have made themselves established starts of a sport which once banned them on the basis of an unwritten law.

It seems only yesterday that Branch Rickey, then running the Dodgers, introduced Jackie Robinson into the majors with the Dodgers.

Since then more than a score have come up and made good and many more are now in the minors waiting for a shot at the big time. Two Negroes, Willie Mays of the Giants and Larry Doby of the Indians, are leading their respective leagues in home runs and Doby also tops the American League in runs batted in.

Still another, Minnie Minoso of the White Sox, is second only to Irv Noren of the Yanks, in hitting in the American. You could pick a very formidable team from Negro regulars now playing in the majors.

You could pick your outfield from Doby, Al Smith and Dave Pope all of the Indians, Monte Irvin and Willie Mays of the Giants, Minoso of the White Sox and Bill Bruton (leading base stealer of the majors) and Hank Aaron, both of the Braves.

Since Luke Easter is back in the minors, you'd have to put Jackie Robinson on first, a position he has played for the Dodgers, and for the rest of your infield you would have a choice of Junior Gilliam of the Dodgers, Ernie Banks and Gene Baker of the Cubs, Curt Roberts of the Pirates, Chuck Harmon of the Reds and Hank Thompson of the Giants.

Don Newcombe of the Dodgers and Brooks Lawrence of the Cardinals could be on the mound and back of the plate Roy Campanella.

New Sports Car Mark Set by British Racer

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (INS)—British speed merchant Capt. George E. T. Eyston set a new international record yesterday when he drove his tiny MG sports car 1,450 miles at an average speed of 120.70 miles an hour.

Capt. Eyston, driving over the famed Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah, also smashed 17 intermediate American and International Class F records.

Slow-Playing Foe Rattles, Defeats Morey

But Goodloe Advances in Canadian Test by Staying Calm

By JOE FALLS

LONDON, Ont. (AP)—Dale Morey was unnerved. Dynamite Billy Goodloe refused to be ruffled.

As a result, Goodloe, the Valdosta, Ga., roundman, was still in the Canadian Amateur golf championship today while Morey, Indianapolis veteran, watched from the sidelines, victim of a big upset.

Goodloe, meanwhile, was unperturbed by a costly error made by his caddy and defeated Howie Johnson of Houston, Tex., 1-up.

Goodloe held a 1-up lead going to the 16th hole. But he lost it by forfeit when his caddy cut up the putting green by removing the pin then patting the grass down again.

"The incident didn't upset me a bit," he said, and went on to prove it by winning the 17th and halving the 18th.

On the other hand, Morey's nerves were strained taut over the precise snail-like play of Simonson, who was warned by the tournament committee to speed up his game.

Morey, runner-up in last year's U.S. Amateur and a toughened competitor, clearly was off his game, playing 16 holes in 4 over par. Simonson, meanwhile, was even over the par 70, 6,480-yard London Hunt and Country Club course.

Twenty-nine Americans headed by defending champion Don Cherry of Wichita Falls, Tex., shot past the second round.

Advancing with Cherry were Campbell; Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City; Bruce Cudd of Portland, Ore., and Hobart Manley of Savannah, Ga. Harvey Ward of San Francisco, moved by default.

Arizona Jockey Wins 5 Times in 7 Tries

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Jockey Charles Guinup of Tucson, Ariz., brought in five winners out of seven mounts at the Nebraska State Fair Meet Tuesday. On Monday he had ridden four winners in five races. The two big days gave Guinup a record of 15 wins, a second and a third in 29 mounts during the current meet.

Domestic Grid Notes

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP)—The West Virginia University football squad reports some domestic notes, rather than a new T formation. Halfback Eddie Dugan and tackle Jerry Urda were married. Press Golfing Clinic Starts Earlier, Aug. 24

Pontiac Press golf clinic and match, Aug. 24, at Pontiac Country Club will begin at 3:30 p. m. according to a change in time announced today, to permit better use of daylight hours.

Fans are reminded again that the clinic and match are free to all who wish to see them. They should keep in mind the new time for the clinic in which National PGA champion Chick Harbert and former pro king, Wally Burkemo, are the big attractions.

Along with the two links stars will be two fine young players, among the area's best. Sally Sharp, Pine Lake Country Club champion, and busy Lloyd Syron, who has been testing his skill in many of the big tourneys the last two years.

Change in time for the Pontiac Press affair was determined to make sure that the clinic and match starting at 4 p. m. will be completed in daylight, so that all may see all of the fine opportunity to learn how the stars do it.

'Big Fish Derby' Nears Concluding Stage

Florida Divers Catch Giant 7-Foot Jewfish

410-Pounder Landed After Hour Struggle At St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. Aug. 18 (UP) — A 7-foot, 410-pound jewfish was caught by skin divers near the new Sunshine Skyway Bridge in Tampa Bay.

Jim Renner was the one who put the spear to the giant Monday, and he was helped by Hardy Bryan Jr., Hardy Bryan III and Lorlin Bryan.

Local fishermen believe the big fish is the one known as "Ole Mose" who has been nipping at sportsmen's fishing lines for years.

The big fish swirled at them and everyone scattered.

But Renner discovered the fish had a blind side. He slipped up back of him and triggered a spear into the fish's back. He used a CO-2 gun.

The fish snapped the line attached to the spear but Renner swam near the giant and tied a cable to the loose line.

Landed after an hour's struggle, the fish was brought to Municipal Pier here. His captors believe if "Ole Mose" had been placed on scales immediately after being caught he would have weighed more than 500 pounds.

Kentucky Angler Bussed by 'Hit-and-Run' Bass

HARRODSBURG, Ky. (UP) — Ed Reed and Hollie Chilton take the fishermen's prize on this story about the one that "got away."

They were fishing on Salt River when up swam a bass weighing about three pounds.

Pontiac Press Photo

GANG PAINTING — A 30-man crew of brush wielders slapped on a lot of brown paint out at Oakland County Sportsmen's Club a few days ago, and the above picture is proof of the exploit. The "gang" spent just one and one-half hours on the job of coating the exterior of the log-style clubhouse which will be headquarters for the National Skeet Association's annual, 7-day tournament, starting Aug. 30 and running through Sept. 5. The nation's biggest skeet event will take place on a new 20 field layout at the club's Townsend Lake site, at Waterford. In the picture are, from left — Paul Gaber, Milt Stevens, George Hanson and William Kreklow, with Cliff Nevelle high up on the ladder.

County Anglers Still Have Time to Get Big Ones

Pontiac Press Contest Winds Up Labor Day; 3 Awards to Be Won

Oakland County fishermen have less than three weeks remaining to try for one of the three $50 U.S. Savings Bond awards in the Pontiac Press' 1954 big fish derby.

Contest, which has divisions for bass, pike and bluegill, ends on Labor Day.

But there is still plenty of time to get those big ones that could win the top prizes. Cooler weather, such as that experienced on the last several mornings (today was another fine one) should help to stir up the husky bass, pike and bluegill on county lakes.

BASS — 6 pounds 8 ounces, caught by Bruce Reynolds of Milford.

PIKE — 10 pounds 13 ounces, caught by James Sherrod of Oxford.

Biggest fish — weight only considered — in each division will bring a $50 bond to the lucky angler entering it in the "derby." Entries are confined to FULL-TIME Oakland County residents (summer residents are not eligible. Members of the Pontiac Press staff or their families also are excluded.

* * *

Fish must be taken in Oakland County waters on hook and line, and must be brought to the Press sports department for weighing, measuring and photographing. Fish must not be cleaned prior to entry.

Non-Residents Like Michigan Fishing Waters

WASHINGTON (UP) — Michigan, Minnesota and Wisconsin continue to be the states which attract most fishermen who are non-residents. But other states are creeping upon their records.

Tennessee, for instance, has issued 231,000 fishing licenses to non-residents. This rise in Tennessee's popularity among fishermen is attributed to the long chain of lakes which have been built behind government dams.

Catches in these Tennessee lakes range from 17-pound walleyes, 14-pound largemouth bass and 10-pound smallmouth bass to 3-pound crappies.

McGraw, Torgeson to Lead Detroit Lions

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Coach Buddy Parker of the Detroit Lions Tuesday named veteran defensive tackle Thurman McGraw and center Lavern Torgeson as co-captains for the 1954 season.

McGraw and Torgeson succeed Les Bingaman and Doak Walker. McGraw, product of Colorado A & M, who now resides in Ft. Collins, Colo., has been with the club four years. Torgeson, former Washington State star who lives in Tacoma, is playing his fourth season with the team.

Birmingham Horse Wins 4th Race at Wolverine

Second dead heat of the meeting was run in the feature 6th race, with Hot Scot and Senator Comet hitting the wire together in two minutes 72-5 seconds.

Unwary Anglers May Learn to Play 'Splish'

By JACK PATTERSON

The tremendous increase in interest in outdoor sports since the end of World War II should by now be apparent to everyone. It is attested to, among other things, by the birth of a national weekly magazine devoted exclusively to matters of a sporting nature. In an effort to get with the times, insofar at least as August lethargy will permit, we have decided to formalize a sport long known to fishermen—the combination fishing and swimming expedition—by giving it a title. For lack of a better word we'll call it Splish. The experiences of some recent participants in this pleasant little game will give a pretty good idea how it goes and also point out the names of the local champions of the moment.

PATTERSON

Elmer "Pat" Pettengill was fishing the other night with national casting champion Ben Hardesty on a nearby private lake. The bass were sulking and after a reasonable amount of effort was expended without taking a record breaker, the fishermen headed for the beach.

When he judged that that the boat was ashore, Pat lightly leaped out to tie up the painter. Owing to a slight error in navigation, however, Pat landed, not on the shore as he had confidently expected, but in about ten feet of water. Hence Oakland County's first Splish champion was crowned.

Rather similarly afflicted was Dr. Vernon Abbott who was fishing from his pram in the beaver ponds that mark the upper reaches of the Gilchrist. Vern forgot for a moment the ancient maxim of physics that for every action there is an equal and opposite reaction. In short he leaned too far outboard and the pram shot out from under his feet leaving him deposited on hands and knees in a mixture of water and that particularly gooey black muck for which Canadian guides have such an apt though unprintable word. So you see? It's a game that can be enjoyed by anyone. Try it the next time you go fishing.

Since time is apparently unwilling to turn backward, though entreated so to do by countless juke boxes, it proceeds in its inexplorable march, taking August and the summer with it. Gunners are getting itchy and longing for the smell of burning powder. For the big game hunters the wait is not long for Sept. 1 will see the season open in the great game areas of the Canadian Rockies.

Scatter gunners are somewhat worse off, but they'll have an opportunity to watch America's greatest skeet shots work out at the NSSA champion shoot at the Oakland County Sportsman's Club from Aug. 30 through Sept. 5. This is the world's series of skeet shooting and deserves the attention of all scatter gunners.

Meanwhile the fishing continues to be fine most everywhere. Slower than at peak seasons, true, but the determined, patient fisherman can do well. It takes more time to locate the fish but they're active now in the warmer waters and they need food to keep moving. Trout fishing is good in most northern streams despite the fact that tradition frowns on August flyrod work. Grasshoppers are musts, but at the other end of the scale, small spiders fished dry or small nymphs will also do business. For lake work for panfish three words only: Consider the cricket.

Sporting Trappers

LA PLATA, Mo. (UP)—Sportsman Glen Crawford offered a $5 bonus for each female mink released alive from traps. He figured it would assist in increasing the mink population. There were four reported releases. But each trapper agreed with the motive of sportsman Crawford and declined the bonus.

Track Takes Steps to Eliminate Cheap Horses

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (UP)—A new rule aimed at eliminating cheap horses went into effect at Hagerstown today as the half-mile track opened its 10-day summer meeting for thoroughbreds.

The regulations prohibits owners from entering horses six years old and up which have not earned $1,000 either this year or last in six or more starts.

Five Pound Bass Leads Fish Contest

A five pounder, 19½ inches long, now leads the bass division of the Kensington Metropolitan Park fishing contest in which trophies are offered for bass, pike and panfish. John R. Schwartz, 19720 Conley, Detroit, caught the fish with an artificial lure while trolling.

Contest runs through Sept. 12.

Tops for pike is eight pounds, 11 ounces, caught by Carol Tapp, age 14, of South Lyon. Her mother, Mrs. Donald Tapp, leads the adult division with an eight pound pike. Panfish are running small, tops for the bluegill-sunfish division being eight ounces and for the perch-crapple division, six ounces.

Piersall Has Arm Checked

Red Sox Outfielder Was Injured in Exhibition Game Monday

BOSTON (AP)—Boston Red Sox outfielder Jimmy Piersall hustled back from Washington today for examination of his throwing arm, apparently injured by a throw to the plate in Monday night's exhibition game with the New York Giants.

Piersall was out of the lineup last night as the Red Sox beat Washington 4-3. He took a few pregame throws and reported that "the arm hurts like blazes."

He said, "I don't know what it is, but it feels that I've pulled something. I couldn't throw the ball across a room."

Loss of Power Is Traced to Incorrect Hip Pivoting

By SAM SNEAD

Correct Hip Action

Much of the power of the golf swing originates in hip action, and likewise much loss of power can be traced to incorrect pivoting of the hips.

Today's player is showing quite good form, especially in the action of his hips. Notice (A) that the player has shifted his left side out of the way of the swing, an action which will follow the clubhead to hit "through" the ball, and beyond, without interference.

The next time you're out at a driving range watch the men and women hitting the ball. You will probably notice that even before impact many of them are practically facing the direction in which the ball in supposed to be heading.

That, of course, is entirely wrong. They've let their hips get out of control as early as the start of the downswing, pivoting too fast and too far. Try to pattern your swing after today's player, with his straightened left leg at impact and his wrists completely uncocked, "sprung" for a powerful golf shot.

Nice 'Cushion' Gone, but Giants Still Hold Lead

'Really a New Season' Durocher Observes on Eve of Philly Tilt

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—He's not quite as confident as he was back around the All-Star game, but Manager Leo (Shakewell) Durocher of the New York Giants has not exactly counted his club out of the National League race.

"I know we've lost that fat cushion we had," he said today as he prepared to send the Giants against their cousins, the Philadelphia Phillies. "But the fact is we're still in front and we've got as good a chance as anybody. It's really a new season with some 40 games to go."

Durocher was glad to see the Phillies arrive on the scene last night, especially since he was unlikely to see their ace, Robin Roberts, who tamed the Brooklyn Dodgers Monday night. The Phillies have been as easy as pie for the Giants and last night's 8-3 triumph was their sixth in a row over them.

The Lip has been criticized by everyone including his own front office for changing the lineup around too much, but as he said:

"We've got to get some runs. Therefore Ray Katt will be our catcher from now on. Bobby Hofman (who got three-for-four and knocked in four runs) will not stay on first base. Whitey Lockman is my first baseman."

That means catcher Wes Westrum, whose batting average is a poor .196 goes back to the bench—the spot he was consigned to before the season opened, and Hofman to his pinch hitting chores.

Durocher knows that this is the time he must pull his club up. The Giants still have five more games at home before they shove off for the West Sunday night. Their victory over the Phillies, plus Brooklyn's loss to the pesky Pittsburgh Pirates stretched their margin to two games.

There were other good signs:

1. Johnny Antonelli, Durocher's "stopper," went the distance for the first time since July 28.

2. Willie Mays, who carried much of the hitting load in the early-season success of the club, has been tapering off, but went four-for-four, including a triple.

"Maybe Willie will get hot."

He was right. There was no maybe about it.

Track Probes Stimulation of Mister Black

CHICAGO (INS) — Track stewards plan to call additional witnesses today in the case of the stimulation of Hasty House Farm's Mister Black, winner of last Saturday's $25,000 Grasland Stakes at Washington Park.

Dr. Alex Harthill, a Kentucky veterinarian authorized to practice in Illinois, told the stewards at the first day of the inquiry yesterday that he administered "kidney medicine" to the four-year-old South American colt last Wednesday and Thursday to relieve a constructed muscle condition.

He added it was possible that traces of the medicine (amphetamine) had not been cleared from the horse's system by Saturday when Mister Black set a new track record in beating Brush Burn.

Baltimore Sends Poole to Giants

Barney Is 3rd Member of Family to Play With New York Pro 11

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—Barney Poole, veteran Baltimore Colts end and former college great at Army and Mississippi, has been traded to the New York Giants today for an undisclosed draft choice at next year's National Football League meeting. The announcement was made by the Colts yesterday.

Poole, a 260-pound defensive standout with the old Dallas Texans and New York Yanks, is the third member of the Poole family to join the Giants. His brother Jim and cousin Ray preceded him.

Coach Weeb Ewbank said release of the 30-year-old Poole was in line with Colt plans to rebuild with youngsters. He indicated the promise shown by Colt rookie end Jim Mutscheller of Notre Dame was a factor in the Poole trade.

Durocher, Rhodes Are Fined by Giles

NEW YORK (AP) — Manager Leo Durocher and outfielder Dusty Rhodes have been fined by National League President Warren Giles for their heated argument with Umpire Art Gore during the New York-Brooklyn game in Ebbets Field last Saturday. The fines were announced Tuesday night by the Giants.

The argument came after Gore had called a third strike on pinch hitter Rhodes.

Durocher was fined $75 because of remarks he made to Gore. Rhodes was fined $25 for delaying the game after he had been thumbed out.

Hacker Still Throwing HR Balls; Williams in Slump

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—The gopher ball bug that bit Warren Hacker of the Chicago Cubs in 1953 is after him again this year. The big righthander leads both major leagues in number of home runs allowed with 29, including 14 in his last eight games. Hacker topped the majors last season with 35.

Slumping Ted Williams has collected only two hits in his last 23 at bats, resulting in a 26-point drop and dimming his chances of winning the American League batting title. The Boston Red Sox slugger is hitting .340, seven points below Irv Noren's pace-setting mark. Ted has batted 250 times officially, with only a remote possibility of reaching 400.

Joe Frazier, the St. Louis Cards' rookie who derailed Milwaukee's drive last night with a three-run pinch hit homer, has produced 18 pinch blows in 45 trips for a .400 average. He needs only five to break the all-time mark set by Sam Leslie of the New York Giants in 1936.

Sandy Consuegra of the Chicago White Sox sports a good-looking 14-3 won-lost record, yet he's failed to finish 12 of his 15 starting assignments. Two of his complete games were shutouts.

Johnny Sain, the Yankees' reliever de luxe, has issued only nine bases on balls this season. The veteran righthander has given up only a single walk in his last 14 appearances. He's fanned 25 and allowed 49 hits in 63 innings.

Bill McGinnis, a star 230-pound tackle from Latrobe, Pa., is entering West Virginia University. He will major in business administration, minor in physical education.

Eight reasons why you are living in

America's Age of Opportunity

America is growing – and changing – at an astonishing rate. Every one of these changes opens up new opportunities for businessmen, for farmers, for housewives, for industrial and office workers. You see below just eight of the many ways our country is changing – and just what these changes mean to you.

THE CHANGE: Our population is expanding tremendously. By 1960 there will be about 180 million people in the U. S.

THE OPPORTUNITY: This means ever-increasing demands for homes and everything that the American people eat, wear and enjoy.

THE CHANGE: In spite of higher prices, Americans now have over twice as much spending power as in 1940. And savings are at an all-time high.

THE OPPORTUNITY: Whatever you make, whatever goods or services you sell, the public now has greater power to buy.

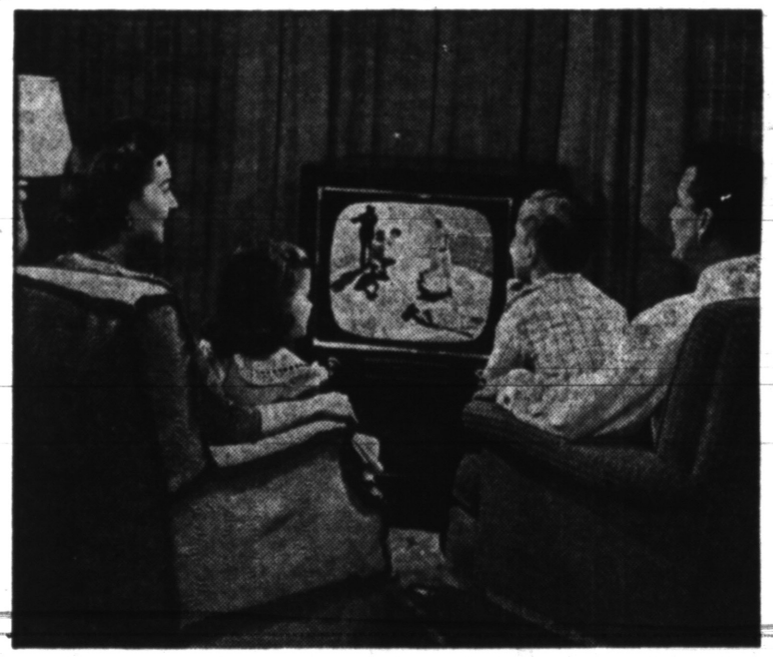

THE CHANGE: We're going suburban. New suburban communities are springing up like magic all over the U. S.

THE OPPORTUNITY: Each suburb needs scores of new shops and service businesses – to say nothing of houses, streets, schools.

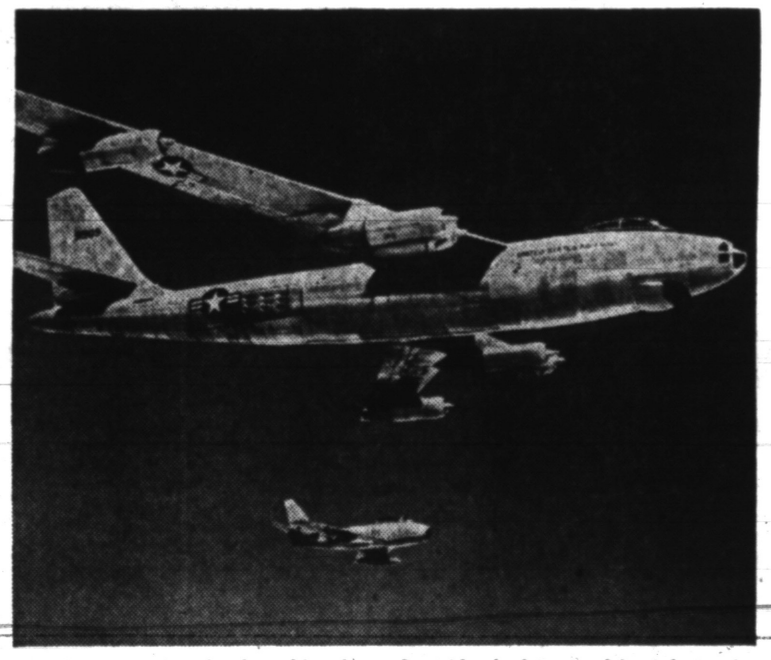

THE CHANGE: We've more leisure time and travel time. Over 40 million Americans now have paid vacations.

THE OPPORTUNITY: Big demand for highway restaurants and shops. Also boon to hotel and travel business, to sports, hobby, entertainment fields.

THE CHANGE: Today Americans are buying far more newspapers and magazines. Almost every home has a radio, and 28,000,000 have TV.

THE OPPORTUNITY: As our horizons broaden, we develop new wants. Demand steadily rises for all types of goods and services.

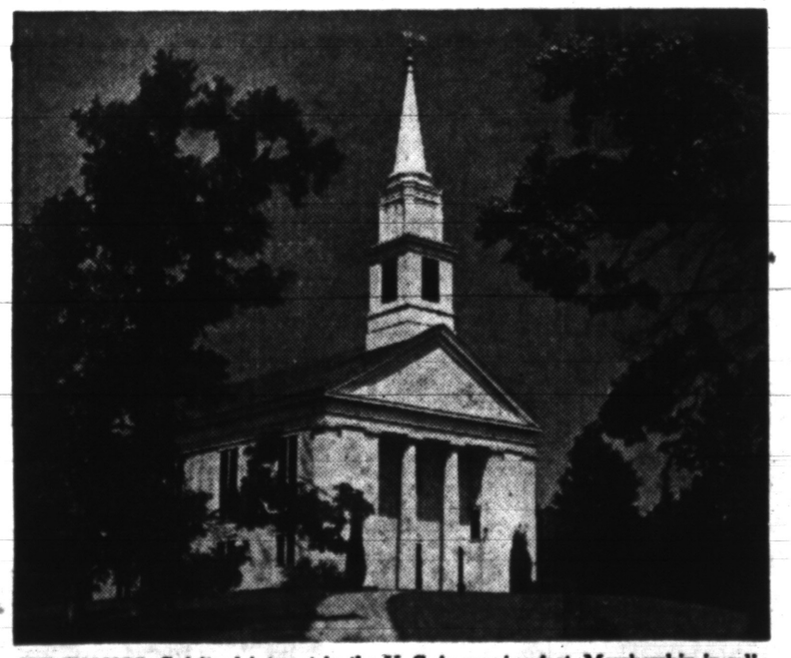

THE CHANGE: America is making fantastic strides in jet propulsion, electronics and atomic energy.

THE OPPORTUNITY: Completely new fields are now being opened up – fields that can change America as greatly as did the steam engine and electricity.

THE CHANGE: Due to the war and to our amazing growth, there is now a $500 billion backlog of demand for capital goods and services.

THE OPPORTUNITY: New construction – schools, factories, highways, houses and offices – are needed now as never before.

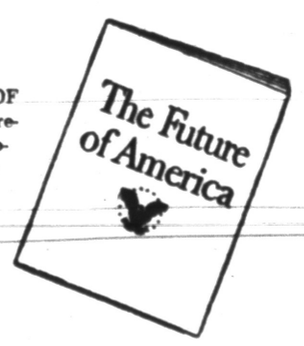

THE CHANGE: Spiritual interest in the U. S. is growing fast. Membership in religious congregations has increased twice as fast as our population.

THE OPPORTUNITY: Our spiritual gains can help us to lead richer, fuller lives – and help us to make the most of our material gains.

RENNEL REDUCES LOST 24 POUNDS

Rennel Concentrate gets top billing from thousands of Mich. users. So many men and women report that when excessive fat fades away, usually the body returns to its normal course and better health results. Choosing the right reducing aid brought good results to Mrs. Mary Hill, 587 Harmon, Detroit 2, Mich. She writes, "I am 36 years old and my weight was way above normal. This overweight caused my ankles to swell all the time and my blood pressure was extremely high. Less than two months ago I started to take Rennel and with it have already lost 24 lbs. I eat quite normally and still lose from three to five lbs. each week. My feet and ankles are back to normal and so is my blood pressure. Naturally I am so thankful and I cannot praise Rennel enough for what it has done for me."

Just another satisfied user of Rennel Concentrate who has made it do for her what she wanted it to do. If not pleased with the very first bottle return it to the manufacturer for your money back. Priced at $1.40. For best results get Rennel.

Taxi Driver Discovers $10,000 in Gems in Cab

NEW YORK (AP) — A Brooklyn cab driver walked into a police station last night and handed the desk lieutenant a cloth jewelry bag.

"I just found these in the back seat of my hack" said Fritz Morris.

Police said the bag contained valuables estimated at $10,000.

If the gems aren't claimed within 90 days, they will be returned to Morris, police said.

Scientists estimate that there are more than 100,000 species of fungi.

Half Sprite, Half Woman

By DICK KLEINER

(Third of Five Articles)

NEW YORK (NEA) — When Audrey Hepburn wants to go to the movies, she goes to the movies. Other stars may request private screenings, but Audrey Hepburn just picks up her purse and goes to a theater. And you could have knocked a certain Paramount executive over with a dropped option one day last winter.

"I was passing the Paramount," he said, mentioning one of the largest Broadway movie houses, "and there was a line outside. About halfway down the line was Audrey Hepburn, standing there just like anybody else."

This facet of her personality has puzzled the Paramount executive, as well as others he's told the story to.

And they've all decided that her willingness to stand on line does not indicate that she feels strongly about democracy so much as that it wouldn't occur to her to do anything else.

"She was brought up along certain lines," the executive says. "People do things according to certain rules.

And the rule is that when you want to go to the movies, you just to go out to the movies. It would be foreign to her makeup to seek special favors, or to do anything else."

This theory of Why-Hepburn-Is-So-Hepburnish holds that she is an extremely average person, in her own eyes, and was brought up to believe (and practice) that decent, respectable people always behave decently and respectably.

As an example of decency and respectability in action, there is this story. If Audrey Hepburn would have said she used a certain product, she would have been given a check that ran well up into five figures. This is the advertising stunt called "the endorsement"—"Belinda Glotz uses Mrs. Looselips' Mascara."

The proposition was turned over to Miss Hepburn routinely. "But I don't use it," she said. "It would be preposterous for me to say I did." She turned it down.

It wouldn't have been decent or respectable, since it was not true. There was no hesitation; it simply was not proper.

But Audrey Hepburn, like many other human, departs in certain ways from the mold. She has her own private idiosyncracies.

Her biggest personal problem is shyness. She is shy almost to the point of a fault. She has been shy most of her life, and her sudden fame, of course, aggravated the problem. Adulation and shyness don't mix too well.

She will tell no one—not even her closest advisers at the movie studios or at the theater—where she lives in New York. She has an apartment, but no one knows where or what kind of a place it is.

While she was in Ondine here, her usual practice was to head directly home after the theater. There was none of that stopping off at El Morocco or Sardi's for a late supper, like most of the stars do. Too public for Audrey Hepburn.

On the other hand, she is not a stick-in-the-mud. On dates her last few months here—generally with co-star Mel Ferrer—there'd be dinners and dancing at some out-of-the-way spot.

She has always been popular with men (and, before that, with boys) and there's never a shortage of escorts.

Essentially, she's a happy person. She has a good, although quiet, sense of humor, and can laugh at her own problems. She has many friends — she makes them slowly, keeps them long. She can fall asleep easily—always a sign of a happy, well-adjusted person—and takes 15-minute naps frequently during the day.

She takes an almost childish delight in getting presents. It doesn't matter what's inside. She just likes to tear the wrapping off and see what it is and who gave it to her.

But there is nothing childish about her in her business dealings. She makes most of her own decisions, although she takes the advice of a select few, notably her lawyer, an elderly family friend. He advises her mostly on her financial matters.

She leaves her contracts and such affairs mostly up to her agent, although she has definite ideas about what she wants and what she should get.

She's not dedicated to money, but she knows the value of a buck. Recently, she changed agents, a decision she made herself and the break was made quickly and neatly.

Add all this up and you have Audrey Hepburn, with one exception. And that's her personal charm, a feature that is perhaps here greatest single asset. It may take a while for it to make its presence felt, but her friends say the more you know her, the more you want to know her.

(Tomorrow: A curious mixture.)

ROLE OF SHY PRINCESS in "Roman Holiday," which included this scene, came easy for Audrey Hepburn, shy most of her life.

THEATER-GOING AUDREY has an escort here as she enters theater for Oscar awards, but for movies she just stands in line.

U.S. Producer Seeks Rights to Christie Play

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—American money is being offered for the motion picture rights to "Witness for the Prosecution," a murder mystery by Agatha Christie. On my last night in London, Van Johnson and David Lewis took me to see this play, which has had a most successful run.

"The Mouse Trap," by the same author, is another play that's bringing them in. What with all the books Miss Christie writes, I should say she's one of the richest women in England.

After the play Van and David took me to the Caprice for supper and we met Bea Lillie, who's arranging to open her play in London, provided she can get Eadie and Rack and Reginald Gardiner.

New York was alerted for the arrival of Marilyn Monroe, who is supposed to join Joe DiMaggio there. When I left she had not yet put in an appearance. The press was waiting to get interviews.

If Marilyn ever goes to London she'll be mobbed. I'd say that Marilyn is the top Hollywood star there. I base this on the reams and reams of publicity in the London newspapers which print every scrap of news about her—even on the days when the political situation was tense with discussions on the deal made with Egypt.

The best news that greeted me in New York is the good business motion pictures are doing. I really believe TV has been a blessing in disguise. Our studios knew they had to turn out good products and at less expense—and believe me, they're doing it.

"On the Waterfront" will give Harry Cohn another reason to cheer; "Caine Mutiny" is still going strong; "Susan Slept Here" played to capacity houses in London and New York. "The Egyptian" opens in New York next week and Jean Simmons, Gene Tierney and other top stars will be in the big town for the premiere.

I have no wish to start a feud with director Willie Wyler, for whom I have always had great admiration as both a director and a person. But I can't go along with his contention that there is no young actress in Hollywood 19 years old who is good enough to play the daughter role in "Desperate Hours."

After testing two dozen young players, Wyler says he is leaving for the east to hunt for an unknown.

Every day the human heart pumps nine to 10 tons of blood.

Peaches Are Potent

SENECA, Ill. (AP) — Carrying a large revolver, a gunman walked into A. J. Wick's store and said: "This is a stickup!"

Wicks, 60, dropped to the floor behind the counter and picked up a can of peaches. As the would-be bandit turned to leave, Wicks hurled the can of peaches and the man ran in panic.

Free Port of Hong Kong Is Show Window to East

WASHINGTON—Hong Kong, an oasis of plenty on a continent of want, is the free world's bright and bulging show window on Red China's coast. In spite of wars, embargoes and the Bamboo Curtain, it remains a busy beachhead on the edge of the Communist World.

"Hong Kong Hangs On," in an issue of the National Geographic Magazine, is the strange story of a barren island that became one of the world's biggest ports in less than a century. The author is assistant editor George W. Long, recently returned from a six-months' tour of the Orient.

"On Queen's Road, main street of Victoria port, you can watch the world go by, for Hong Kong is one of its busiest crossroads," Long says.

When the British merchants set up a trading base on rocky Hong Kong Island in the 1830s, it was inhabited only by fishermen and pirates. Today nearly nine-tenths of Hong Kong's population of 2,250,000—all but 20,000 of them Chinese — live packed into 6½ square miles of Victoria on Hong Kong Island and Kowloon across the middle-wide harbor. Parts of the island city average 2,000 people per acre, 14 times as many as Manhattan.

A vast international market place, Hong Kong's downtown stores show a bewildering display of goods. Shoppers can buy anything from Paris frocks and perfume to fine British tweeds, Swedish cutlery, Swiss watches, German cameras, Italian glass, and a thousand well-known products made in the United States.

A free port, the colony levies almot no import duties, and prices are surprisingly low.

Although commerce has dropped to something less than half its 1951 peak—before allied embargoes on trade with Red China—Hong Kong has not suffered a severe business slump, Long reports.

Its merchants for years have been opening up new markets, especially in Southeast Asia—countries like Malaya and Indonesia. Even in 1950 only 30 per cent of its trade was with China; now it's only 20 per cent.

Moreover, new industries employ thousands. New textile mills and modern plastic works dramatize the industrial revolution that has taken place recently in Hong Kong. Negligible six or seven years ago, local industry today accounts for one-fourth of all exports. "Made in Hong Kong" labels carry the colony's name over half the world.

A wave of refugees, pushed out of China by the rising tide of communism, has swamped Hong Kong since World War II. Today the colony shelters at least half a million. Some 300,000 squatters live in drab shanty-towns plastered like wasps' nests on hillsides near Victoria and Kowloon. Slowly the government is resettling them in planned communities—a giant task.

Sweeper Fascinates

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex., (INS) — Children living on the Fort Sam Houston army reservation are warned to "beware of the street sweeper." The post's safety director warned parents that too many small children are playing in the streets and seem to have a "fatal attraction" to the fascinating mechanism of the big sweeper.

Perfect Air Nozzle

AUSTIN, Tex. (INS) — University of Texas scientists have perfected a supersonic air nozzle believed to be the first such instrument ever to permit wind-tunnel tests of high-speed aircraft. University scientists say the supersonic nozzle can vary wind velocities from two to four times the speed of sound simulating acceleration in flight.

Borax Counteracts Dry Rot of Beets

GENEVA, N. Y. (UP)—Small amounts of borax added to the soil will check black spot or dry rot of beets by correcting a deficiency of boron, a vegetable specialist advises.

Borax is an excellent source of boron, pointed out Prof. Charles B. Sayre of the Cornell University Experiment Station. It can compensate for the deficiency, usually found on alkaline soils or soils recently limed.

Boron is best applied in the form of fertilizer borate, said Sayre. Fertilizer manufacturers convert pounds of borax required into an equivalent amount of fertilizer borate to insure the correct application.

Other crops likely to suffer from boron deficiency are cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower, turnips, rutabagas, celery and alfalfa. Sayre said that any of them might well follow beets that have been fertilized with borax.

The mockingbird is the state bird of Texas.

Steels Are Drag on Mart Today

Utilities and producers of building materials also tended to lose ground while motion picture and rubber stocks improved. The rest of the market was irregular.

Trading began at a brisk pace with prices thoroughly mixed. Then the pace slackened as steels, aircrafts and oils weakened. Slowly the market started to recover from its lowest point and by early afternoon was only nerrowly depressed.

Sperry Corp. jumped more than four points after directors decided to raise the dividend and split the stock. But the issue settled somewhat below the high.

Others on the rise included Chrysler, Packard, Goodrich, Northrop Aircraft, Lockheed, General Dynamics, General Electric, Kennecott, Dome Mines, American Cyanamid, Baltimore & Ohio, Northern Pacific, Standard Oil (NJ) and Loew's

No War This Year

Auto Makers Get Back to Seasonal Business

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry still is pretty much a seasonal business.

This has been demonstrated in the first full postwar year of the buyers' market. For all practical purposes the 12 months just ended have been closer to normal than the industry has experienced in more than a decade.

Certainly they have been the first in which war or threat of war had no effect on car demand. So, in effect, the industry has been getting back to an era of seasonal influences.

It has been a tradition in the industry that peak production and retail sales come in the first half of the year. That will be demonstrated in the 1954 record unless all indications are wrong.

So far this year the industry has built 3,600,000 passenger cars. Authoritative estimates put retail deliveries during the period at about 3,425,000. The sources making these estimates also say the total for the year will come close to 5¼ million. If that figure iis realized 1954 will become the industry's third best year.

The industry achieved its highest sales valume in 1950 when 6,326,438 cars were delivered. Second best was 1953 with 5,738,989. To take third place this year's volume needs only to top the 1951 total of 5,060,903 retail deliveries.

Third or fourth, 1954 will go into the industry record books as one of the most unusual years in that its production and sales volume was achieved chiefly by two companies — General Motors and Ford.

Certainly the volume of Chrysler and the smaller companies figured only slightly in the industry's over-all total.

Most industry experts appear to agree that unless the near future brings renewed threats of scarcities seasonal factors will remain in control of the car market. This doesn't mean a decline in production or sales volume.

What it means is that 60 per cent or more of output and retail sales will come in the first half of the year, with the largest volume concentrated in the April-June quarter.

As far as over-all retail demand is concerned, the sales authorities say, the 1925 total easily could match that of the current year. They count scrappage, tradeins and first time buyers as changing relatively little from year to year.

Milk Price Continues Seasonal Advance

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Agricultural Marketing Service reports that fluid milk prices continued to make seasonal advances in August at both producer and consumer levels.

Reports from around the nation show that retail prices of fluid milk advanced from July levels in 32 markets. Tis is about one of every four markets reporting.

The retail price for standard grade milk delivered to homes in 25 major cities averaged 22 and six-tenths cents per quart this month. This is an increase of three-tenths of one cent per quart from July, but a slight decrease from last August.

Prospect Point Elevator in Operation at Niagara

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The Prospect Point elevator leading to the base of the American Falls was reopened to the public today.

The elevator, a popular tourist attraction, was closed shortly before the rockfall July 28 when an estimated 185,000 tons of rock collapsed into the Niagara River gorge.

Small Examined by Psychiatrists

Attorney Hoffman Says Unfair Treatment Given Acquitted Slayer

IONIA, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Kenneth B. Small, acquitted love triangle slayer committed to a mental hospital, was examined yesterday by Neuropsychiatric Institute of the University of Michigan Hospital.

Officials of the Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane, where the 31-year-old Detroit dentist was sent by a court order last Thursday, said he underwent "a one-way supplementary examination" by psychiatrists.

They refused any further comment regarding the examination.

Meanwhile, Ionia Circuit Judge Morris K. Davis denied a bench warrant to transfer the dentist to the county jail or release him on bond.

Judge Davis said he would not transfer Small from the hospital to the jail since the latter had been condemned as unfit.

Leo Hoffman, the dentist's attorney, asked for the bench warrant. He charged that his client was being subjected to "unusual treatment" at the hospital.

"I've seen him," Hoffman added, "and I know he is sane now. If he shows up insane at the hearing (Sept. 8) it will be blamed on the hospital."

Judge Davis will conduct the hearing.

Show Business

Barrymore Has Quick Comebacks but Resents Alimony Paybacks

By EDDIE CANTOR

He was the greatest "Hamlet" these eyes have ever seen. The most versatile actor in America. He was Orson Wells in spades.

He could play high comedy and low. He even stooged for Joan Davis and Rudy Vallee. He was colorful on and off. He was John Barrymore.

One time I told him that I might change my radio format and become a "private eye." He laughed, "Edward, my son, there can never be anything private about your eyes!"

In his lifetime he paid a fortune in alimony, and resented it. He defined alimony as "Gasoline and oil for a car which is up on blocks in a strange garage."

Outside of Ziegfeld, John Barrymore was the most lavish man with money that I ever knew. Once when he appeared on my radio show we went out together for lunch.

In front of the Brown Derby in Hollywood he was accosted by a pretty shabby looking character. "Mr. Barrymore," he said, "can you give me two bits? I haven't had anything to eat since yesterday."

John took him by the arm and said, "Why don't you join Mr. Cantor and me for lunch?" The fellow was taken aback. "What? In these clothes?" He had on a ragged jacket, no tie, and sneakers.

Barrymore said, "My dear man, that can be remedied," and took him directly across the street to the Broadway Department Store. Twenty minutes later the man emerged in a new suit, shirt, tie—the works.

It was a very pleasant luncheon, with Barrymore's guest eating ravenously. When it was over and as we were leaving the Derby Barrymore said, "How did you enjoy your lunch?"

The bum said, "Swell, what time do we meet for dinner tonight?"

3 Youths Guilty of Having Liquor

Three Pontiac minors, charged with illegal possession of alcohol, pleaded guilty Tuesday when they appeared before Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum.

Billy C. Spicer, 18, of 45 Allen St.; Yerl C. Bills, 20, of 345 Midway Ave.; and Connie E. Fields, 17, of 388 Midway Ave., were ordered to appear for sentencing Aug. 21. All three were released on $25 bonds each.

The trio was arrested Monday night at Sanford and Perry Sts. by Pontiac Police who said the youths were drinking beer in their car.

Ike Opens Books to Clear Charge

Is Shocked at Mitchell's Criticism of Dixon-Yates A-Energy Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower says the books are open for inspection of a controversial power contract in the TVA area. Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell says he's glad Eisenhower is ready to disclose "the whole story behind the Dixon-Yates deal"

Mitchell's latest blast at the power contract came in a statement he issued in Chicago last night after Eisenhower had told his news conference he is astonished at Mitchell's criticism of the way the matter was handled.

The ruckus was stirred up on Monday when Mitchell—in a Chicago debate with Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall—charged that the President issued a personal order for award to the Dixon-Yates syndicate of a long-term contract to sell power to the Atomic Energy Commission in the TVA area of the middle South.

Mitchell said Eisenhower did so over the protests of both the AEC and the Tennessee Valley Authority and with Competitive bidding. And the Democratic party leader mentioned in this connection the President's friendship with famed golfer Bobby Jones, an officer of one of the companies associated with the Dixon-Yates group.

The furor extended to Capitol Hill, where both Democrats and Republicans voiced doubt that the Eisenhower—Jones friendship had figured in the handling of the contract.

In Atlanta, Jones said he "resents the implication" that a company enjoyed presidential favor because he had stock in it.

Answering Mitchell's charges that there is a "raw deal" in the making, Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday every single action he takes involving contractual relationships of the United States with anybody—except when the question of national security is involved—is open to the public.

The President said any of the newsmen present could go to the Budget Bureau or the AEC and get the complete record of the case.

Reporters were told at the two agencies that it would take a few days to get the material ready for publication. They also were informed the data probably would be available by the end of the week.

Eisenhower said he knew when he went into politics he would be subjected by many types of strange characters to many kinds of innuendo and allegations. But he was a little astonished, he said, that such innuendo should include a private citizen of the character and standing of Bob Jones.

There is no gentleman he knows, the President said, of whose integrity and probity he is more certain.

Guard to Direct Holiday Traffic

Governor Says Some Units Must Help Police Cut Labor Day Toll

LANSING (AP) — State Police today had blunt instructions to get busy on an intensive safety drive over the Labor Day weekend.

And the National Guard was told some of its units would be ordered out to assist.

"I have given you fellows two weeks to develop a program," Williams told a meeting yesterday. "We do not have anything operating yet."

Though National Guard officials were missing because they were at the annual encampment at Camp Grayling, Williams said:

"The Guard can get out for parades on holidays. I can't see why they can't get out to save lives."

Williams said that Guard officials apparently thought he was asking for volunteers when he suggested two weeks ago Guard units could be used for patroling and other safety work.

"I plan to order out sections of the National Guard," Williams said at the meeting. "They would get regular pay and be under the usual insurance protection.

The reduction of traffic fatalities over holidays is as much an emergency as anything. The public safety is threatened."

He told representatives of State Police, the Office of Civil Defense and county sheriffs at the meeting that he is determined to cut Michigan's holiday traffic deaths.

The state led the nation in deaths over the Fourth of July with 35, he said. Twenty-one were killed over Memorial Day this year and 31 over Labor Day last year, he added.

First Requisite Is Acting Ability

TV Casting Man Sees Intelligence as Next and Glamor Last

By SYD KRONISH

NEW YORK (AP)—What does a TV talent scout look for when auditioning new faces?

Milo Frank, casting director and chief talent scout for CBS-TV, was glad to answer.

"Ability to act is the prime requisite, naturally," says Frank. "But there are six other important qualities that must be met. They are posture, clean-cut appearance, intelligence, self-confidence, personality and glamour.

"The first thing I note is posture—especially of girls. It is a key to character.

"By clean-cut appearance I mean an interest in personal attire.

"Inteligence speaks for itself. Believe me, I rate it high in picking talent.

"Self-confidence is important because it reflects the seriousness as well as honesty of the performer.

"Personality is an undeterminable quality. It's a sort of magnetism. To me it's more important than actual appearance or good looks.

"Lastly, glamour. But this is never the prime requsite in spotting new talent."

Frank is ahandsome energetic fellow who could pass for a leading actor himself. During World War II he was a line officer with the Marines and later served as a Japanese language interpreter. After the war he became an actor's agent and talent scout in Hollywood.

One of his first "discoveries" was his own wife, Sally Forrest.

Frank also was responsible for bringing TV actor Charlton Heston to Hollywood's attention.

As a casting director and talent scout he gets many tips about budding talent. But he admits candidly that most discoveries are the product of a talent scout's own hard work and diligent hunting.

3 Pontiac Youths in Godfrey Show After Air Win

Three Pontiac boys and a Bronx youth won over other competition on Arthur Godfrey's TV and radio Talent Scout program Monday evening, Aug. 16.

"The Four Joes," Kenny Davis and Steve and Pete Antos, all graduates of Pontiac High School, and Louis Tulianello of the Bronx, N. Y., walked away with the largest number of vots on the show by presenting their rendition of "Side by Side."

For the rest of the week the quartet will be featured on Godfrey's morning show. Steve and Pete are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. George Antos of 16 S. Saginaw St. and Kenny's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ross Davis of 14 Eddy Court.

Formerly known to local residents as "Two Sharps and a Natural," the Pontiac boys joined the armed forces in 1951. It was at this time Louis joined the act.

Strange Quirk of Fate Saves Sleepy Lad, 10

WILMINTON, Calif. (AP)—George Wise Jr., 10, fell asleep while reading in a back bedroom, and his mother decided not to move him to his own room.

During the night a car swerved from the road and smashed into the front of the house, killing the family dog Cookie, asleep on George's bed.

BEAUTIFUL WIFE—Janet Blair will play the title role in "The B. W." story of a mother who is chosen Mrs. America, on one of this month's productions for Circle Theater.

Susan Hayward Victor in Court

Gets Divorce, Custody of Twins and Assets of Over $1 Million

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Actress Susan Hayward has a divorce today, along with $1,293,319 in assets and custody of her twin sons.

Actor Jess Barker, the erstwhile husband, has the family station wagon.

This was the decree yesterday of Superior Court, where the actress' suit was vigorously opposed by Barker. The trial last June included testimony that Barker threw her nude into the swimming pool at her home, and that Miss Hayward stuck a cigarette in his eye.

Barker received the privilege of visiting the 9-year-old sons on alternate weekends. At one point in the litigation he turned down a $100,000 settlement because it would have been paid in $10,000 yearly installments and would look like alimony.

Barker wanted half the community property, but Miss Hayward successfully contended that all this was hers because of a prenuptial agreement permitting her to keep all she earned after their marriage in 1944.

The assets ruled to be hers include a million-dollar movie contract and $293,319 in cash. Barker's bank account, it was testified, amounted to about $5,000, and in 1951 and 1952 he earned $665 while the actress was earning $374,068.

The source of their marital trouble, Miss Hayward testified, was Barker's refusal to work. He, in turn, charged she was an "icy woman" and "an absentee mother."

General Gets High Post on U.N. Team

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.—(AP) Brig. Gen. C. Stanton Babcock, 50-year-old veteran of war in the Pacific and diplomacy in the United Nations, moved into the No. 3 post of the permanent U.S. delegation to the U.N. today.

Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. named Babcock to succeed John C. Ross, member of the American delegation since 1946. Ross resigned, Lodge said, because of urgent family and personal reasons but agreed to stay on until Oct. 15 as a delegation consultant.

Gold Prospector Says He's Wary of Telephone

Niece, 13, Saves Man From Drowning in River

ESSEX, Md. (AP) — John Lapin, who's 36 and can't swim, is still around because he has a niece who's 13 and can.

6 Nations Meet for EDC Talks

Opposition to French Revisions in Treaty Mounting Rapidly

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Leaders of the six European army nations came to the Belgian capital today for crucial talks on the French demands imperiling the projected European Defense Community.

From all sides opposition mounted to French Premier Pierre Mendes-France's proposals for major revisions in the EDC treaty. But reports from Paris said Mendes-France would tell his colleagues at the foreign ministers' conference opening here tomorrow that only his new European army plan could be approved by the French National Assembly.

Many observers doubted that an acceptable formula could be worked out for the six-nation army in which a rearmed West Germany would pool her troops with those of France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

U.S. officials in Washington already have expressed fears that the long-nurtured EDC plan, first proposed in October 1950 by France's then defense minister, Rene Pleven, is doomed.

So far the five other EDC nations have given evidence of nothing but opposition to the French proposals. Critics contend they rob the army plan of much of its supranational aspect. All argue the amendments would require new parliamentary approval by the four nations—all but Italy and France—which have ratified the pact. The The West Germans consider the proposals raise new discriminations against them.

Mendes-France was reported ready to answer the critics with the argument that even a much-modified army plan is better than no army at all, and that the EDC pact as now drafted cannot win approval in his National Assembly.

French sources said Mendes-France believes a treaty amended as he proposes would secure approval of a majority of the lower house's entire 627 members. Only this majority can override an adverse vote in the French senate, the Council of the Republic.

The Mendes-France amendments among other things, would allow any members to withdraw from EDC if American and British troops were pulled out of Europe, limit the EDC treaty's length to that of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, forbid the stationing of German troops on French soil and withhold final French ratification pending a new try at settlement with Russia of the German question.
