FHA Liberalizes Mortgage Terms

Down-Payments Pegged Lower, Interest Raised

New Policies Intended to Bolster Construction of Low-Cost Homes

WASHINGTON (INS) — Lower down-payments and a higher interest rate for homes purchased under FHA guarantee went into effect today.

The more liberal mortgages will make it easier to buy a house, particularly low-cost homes, and are intended to bolster home construction.

Builders said the double action will result in a shot in the arm for the housing industry which has been seeking government relief for two years.

The changes reduced by about one-half the cash outlay required for purchase of medium - priced homes insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

The greatest reduction in down-payments will be at the lowest price level and the smallest in the highest price ranges.

In addition, the FHA hiked mortgage interest rates from 5 per cent to 5¼ per cent and placed controls on the amount of discount that can be charged.

★ ★ ★

The Veterans Administration also imposed discount control over GI home loans, but the interest rate remains at the 4½ per cent maximum which Congress refused to increase.

TO SPUR HOUSING

The action was taken under the housing act signed by President Eisenhower July 12 in an effort to spur government - backed housing programs which have been responsible for about one-half of all homes built and sold since World War II.

Fresh Air Dormitory

PRIVATE CAMPUS — Central Michigan College Senior Dave Whitlock of Rochester had his own private campus this summer, as he camped out while attending the school's summer session. He lived in a tent pitched six miles from the school, and said he never slept better in his life. Not during classes, either.

Rochester College Senior Has Own Private Campus

A college senior, majoring in economics, certainly knows a lot more about the value of money than about the rugged life of the outdoor campsite.

At least this was true for David Whitlock, 25, of Rochester when Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant closed its doors on the regular school year this June.

But Whitlock, a Korean War veteran attending classes on the GI Bill, decided to apply his college learning to his own pocketbook. He determined to save money from his government checks while going to school, and in the process took an accelerated course in outdoor living.

In order to save on meals and room rent, the 1950 Rochester High School graduate pitched a tent near the Chippewa River, six miles off campus. There he lived during the eight-weeks summer term, with a cot, an oil stove and an oil lamp for occasional peeks at his text books.

During the days Whitlock would be at college, going to classes, studying and editing the college newspaper.

At night, the Air Force veteran would return to his campsite where there were only birds and chipmunks to discuss economics with.

Couples driving cars in a nearby lovers' lane provided little company for serious discussion on mcnetary theories.

Whitlock found the best thing to do was go to bed, since the sun shining in his eyes usually woke him up around 5:30 a.m.

When the sun didn't wake him, the birds did. And they started their morning raucousness even earlier.

If the rain didn't bother him — Whitlock put up his tent in a 30-mile-an-hour, rainswept gale and after that all other storms were easy — neither did people.

"Evidently everyone thought I was a little odd or something," he says. "As if, like Greta Garbo, I wanted to be alone."

Summer school exams were over last week and Whitlock returned home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Whitlock, 1266 Wash St.

★ ★ ★

To add to the money already saved, he's working as a machinist in the factory where his father is a business agent.

A nice normal existence now, Whitlock says. He even sleeps in a bedroom and takes his meals with the family, indoors.

Billy Resumes Crusade

NEW YORK (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham resumes his New York crusade tonight with a meeting in Madison Square Garden. Graham took last night off for rest.

Management-Labor Tieups Probed Today

'Sweetheart' Contract Allegedly Was Made by Johnny Dio

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "sweetheart" contract allegedly engineered by New York racketeer Johnny Dio today comes under scrutiny of senators investigating improper labor - management practices.

"Sweetheart" is the term used for labor contracts in which union officials and employers allegedly reach terms to benefit themselves, but which provide few benefits for the workers bound by them.

Dio, also known as John Dioguardi, was convicted in a New York court last month of a union shakedown conspiracy involving two New York electroplating firms. He has not yet been sentenced on the charge.

Testimony at that trial indicated that the Equitable Research Associates, Ind., which he set up as a labor consultation service, actually was a shakedown racket to sell labor peace for a price.

Dio himself is expected to be summoned later as a witness.

Sleek, wavy-haired Milton Holt, secretary-treasurer of Teamsters Local 805, refused to tell more than his name and Flushing, N.Y., address. He declined to say whether Dio actually controls this local.

★ ★ ★

Holt even invoked the Fifth Amendment when Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) asked, "Do you care what you are doing—you and those like you . . . trying to obstruct the work of your government in trying to provide better working conditions?"

Kennedy said Holt is under indictment on charges of lying under oath to a grand jury investigating Dio's activities.

Philip Kazansky of Monticello, N.Y., prosperous looking recording secretary of Teamster Local 269, also refused to answer questions about Dio or union affairs.

Both witnesses said their answers might tend to incriminate them.

★ ★ ★

Another witness, Sam Getlan, swore he never had heard of a Teamsters Union local in New York which had listed him as its president in 1956. Now, he said, did he cast a vote recorded as having been cast by him in the election of New York Teamsters Joint Council 16.

Dispute Problem Given to Meany

AFL-CIO Builders Ask President for Formula on Jurisdictional Issues

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—The AFL-CIO Building and Construction Trades Department has handed the problem of solving jurisdictional disputes in the building trades back to George Meany, president of the merged union.

By a unanimous vote at the department's special one-day meeting yesterday, the group asked in effect for a clarification of a letter sent by Meany to the department last July 1.

The letter suggested a formula for solving jurisdictional problems.

No resolution was proposed suggesting the department disapprove the AFL-CIO merger because of the old jurisdictional question, although the Teamsters Union said in Washington last week its delegation would support such a resolution today.

But Midwest Teamsters head James R. Hoffa, who hopes to succeed Dave Beck as president of the Teamsters, said the report presented by a jurisdiction study committee contains "the meat of the resolution."

Fair, Pleasant Days in Store for Pontiac

The Pontiac area can expect more sunny and pleasant weather, the U. S. Weather Bureau says. The temperature will dip to 54-58 tonight, but tomorrow it will rise to a high near 80.

Modern Bo-Peep Will Snip Lamb's Tail

4-H Queen to Be Crowned Tonight

How to remove a lamb's tail in three easy steps.

This is one of the many things one can learn to do when browsing through the 17th Annual Oakland County 4-H Club Fair which opens tonight at 7.

Highlight of tonight's program will be the crowning of the 1957 Fair Queen. Eleven girls have been entered by their own 4-H clubs throughout the county.

Selection of the queen is expected to be made by 8 p.m. at the fairgrounds on N. Perry St. and Walton Blvd.

Chopping off the tail of the 1957 kin to Little Bo Peep's pet won't allow sheep much of a wag, but according to the pretty 18-year-old brunette instructor of this operation, "It simply must be done."

She is Beverly Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sanders of 1625 W. Hamlin Rd., Rochester.

THEY'LL DEMONSTRATE

"Learn by doing" is the 4-H slogan and Beverly is one of a group of 4-H members which will demonstrate some of the many things they have learned in club work tomorrow at 1 p.m. during a demonstration contest.

★ ★ ★

Beverly, who owns six sheep now and has aspirations of a flock of "about 50," claims there are several reasons why a lamb's tail must be snipped.

An important one is that "They take one dollar per 100-weight off for each sheep that has a tail when you try to sell it and that's

Senate, House Leaders Say Ike, Legislators Not Yet Satisfied

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) predicted after a White House conference with President Eisenhower today that Congress will change the Senate's civil rights bill before passing it finally.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, told reporters the "general feeling is that the bill is not in satisfactory form at the present time."

★ ★ ★

House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts, speaking with newsmen separately after GOP congressional leaders had held a weekly conference with Eisenhower, said of the civil rights bill:

"It is unacceptable to the President in the form it is now in. He intimated strongly that it didn't meet what he is seeking to obtain, the right of all people to vote."

Asked if Eisenhower had said he would veto the bill in its present form, Martin said the President made no such statement but "it might well be vetoed unless it is materially changed."

Martin said Republicans in the House "will fight the Senate bill as it now is and hope for a reasonable compromise in conference."

★ ★ ★

The Senate reduced the House-passed bill to what is primarily a right-to-vote measure. It also provided for jury trials in all criminal contempt cases, an amendment which has drawn vigorous fire from the administration.

Knowland said Martin told the conference he thinks there is a good chance the House will send the bill to a conference committee.

Democratic leaders have been trying to maneuver House acceptance of the Senate version. That would send the measure to Eisenhower for his approval or rejection.

Knowland said Eisenhower made it clear "he was disappointed in the amendments."

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, told reporters he hopes the Senate will reach a final vote on passage tomorrow or Thursday. It cannot be changed in form in the Senate except by unanimous agreement, which Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) said he would oppose.

McElroy Takes Pentagon Office Next to Wilson---Doubts Dissolve

WASHINGTON (INS) — Neil H. McElroy today moved into a Pentagon office next to Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, virtually removing all doubts that he is preparing to succeed Wilson in the cabinet post.

Defense officials refused to comment on McElroy's activities, but conceded that the Cincinnati industrialist was at work in an office that shares an entrance lobby with Wilson's suite and also is connected by a private hallway.

★ ★ ★

One source said that McElroy, president of Proctor and Gamble Co., was studying problems he would face when and if he receives the formal appointment to succeed Wilson as defense secretary.

The 52-year-old soap manufacturer flew to Washington Monday from Cincinnati, and lunched with Wilson in the secretary's private office immediately after his arrival.

McElroy, for whom a packet of defense department documents was being prepared for his later study, was expected to leave Washington later in the day to fly back to Cincinnati.

Among the documents, it was learned, is a long-range analysis written by Wilson of the accomplishments under his administration and the goals for defense that he and his associates have projected into the future.

'NO CONCLUSIONS'

A spokesman for McElroy said earlier that the Cincinnati industrialist is being actively considered as Wilson's successor, but that "no conclusions" had been reached.

This source said that McElroy and Wilson discussed during their Monday conference "problems that would be connected with a move of this kind."

Asked if he meant a switch from being president of Procter and Gamble Co. to secretary of defense, the spokesman replied: "Of course."

The spokesman, although admitting McElroy is a top candidate to boss the nation's armed forces, said he has not been offered the post outright.

★ ★ ★

He emphasized that it is an "important step" for the government and for the 52-year-old industrialist, personally, and added:

"It hasn't reached the stage where he can say yes or no."

One of the "problems" presumably discussed with Wilson yesterday is the question of disposing of financial interests in companies

First Lady Doing Well After Operation Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower underwent an operation today for a "benign" condition, not a tumor. The White House said the operation was "not serious."

The First Lady, 59, was reported to be in "good condition" following the surgery.

The operation was performed at Walter Reed Hospital by an Army gynecologist, Dr. Humbert L. Riva.

Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Mrs. Eisenhower entered the operating room about 8 a. m. and the surgery was concluded two hours later.

While the operation was in progress, the President was meeting at the White House with Republican congressional leaders.

★ ★ ★

Soon after the operation, Mrs. Eisenhower was able to talk with the President by telephone. Haggerty said he would visit her this afternoon.

Lansing, State Call Road Truce

Judge Asks Disputants to Negotiate Differences on Highways

LANSING (AP) — A truce intervened today in a court battle between the city of Lansing and the State Highway Department over traffic control on a portion of U. S. 16, main Detroit-Muskegon artery.

The disputants, at the urging of Circuit Judge Marvin J. Salmon, agreed to suspend hearings on an injunction sought by the state in an effort to negotiate their differences.

Salmon called for a report at 9 a.m. Wednesday. He said two close neighbors ought to be able to arrive at a better working relationship than to fight their controversy out in court.

The state asked the restraining order to prevent the city from interfering with its edict for one-way traffic on portions of U. S. 16 and M78 in northeast Lansing.

Since July 29, the city has defied the Highway Department one-way order. On that day, city employes masked the state-erected one-way signs and dispatched police-patrols to guarantee two-way operation.

IF NEGOTIATIONS FAIL . . .

Presumably, Judge Salmon will go ahead with hearings on the injunction request by Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie unless the parties report progress in their efforts to negotiate.

The state contends one-way traffic provides more efficient control and is safer. The city disputes this, and has been backed up by merchants fearing loss of business under one-way operation.

Before the truce, City Clerk Millie Brown said from the witness stand that the city never officially had turned over the affected portions of city streets to the state for use as trunklines.

She implied that for this reason, if no other, traffic control jurisdiction remained in the city.

If no agreement can be reached, the case is expected to go to the Supreme Court to further spell out the measure of state control over trunklines within cities.

Youths Invited to Air Views at Meeting Tonight

Seek Plan to Keep Teenagers Busy, Out of Trouble

By SYLVIA de STEIGER

If people keep busy, they stay out of trouble.

This common thought, which opposes idleness and loafing, can be connected with Pontiac's teenage recreation problem.

As in all groups of society, there are good and bad teenagers. Usually, the bad ones, if caught, are directed to a juvenile officer. In trying to straighten them out, he gives them encouragement and ideas on what to do to keep them busy and out of mischief.

Discussions of Pontiac's recreation for teens with local juvenile officers indicate facilities are inadequate. Some officials even suggest they are hampered in their work because of insufficient activities to keep teens busy.

MEETING TONIGHT

Juvenile and Safety Deputy Steve Navarre, Oakland County Sheriff's Department, will try to find some answers to the teen recreation problem tonight.

An open meeting for area teenagers, called "Teenagers Speak Their Mind," will be conducted tonight by Navarre at Madison Junior High School, 1275 N. Perry St. at 7:30 p.m.

Navarre said discussion of the possibility of a drag strip for teenagers as well as an open forum on general teen problems will be held.

★ ★ ★

William Coy of the Detroit Parking Association, who helped organize a drag-strip teen association in New Baltimore, and Arthur J. Bogue, manager of the Pontiac branch of the American Automobile Association, will attend the meeting.

PLAN GIRLS' SESSION

A similar teen gripe session is being planned soon for girls, Navarre said.

"Today's teens are living a much faster pace and want more excitement and thrills," Navarre said.

"Some girls are even losing their femininity because, through their natural desire to be with boys, they don't want to be left out.

"Pontiac has grown so fast it got behind in providing facilities for teens. We need something such as a teen center which will be open to boys and girls and under adult supervision," he pointed out.

Navarre said it has been proved dances in Pontiac don't go over with teens. Yet, they work fine in Lake Orion and Auburn Heights, according to him.

"By meeting with teens we hope to find some answers to what the young people want and why they don't support facilities offered to them," he concluded.

Pontiac Police juvenile officers, Sgt. Henry O. Hoyt and officer James R. Lafnear suggest that, if the idea of a teen center materializes, there should be more than one.

The centers, they feel, should number from four to six, located in various parts of the city.

Their reasons were two: parents don't or shouldn't want their children to have to go to the center of town for nightly entertainment; most teens wouldn't have sufficient transportation.

"Kids need a place where they can mingle with their friends and sip a coke for several hours . . . a place for them, yet under supervision. This would help keep them off of the street corners. They can't do this in a drug store because they take up too much space and hinder the owner's business," says Lafnear.

"If delinquents tell us they got into trouble because they had nothing to do, it's just an alibi," Hoyt claims.

★ ★ ★

Lafnear, also an active leader in the Pontiac Boy's Club, said this

Farm Surplus Bill Goes to Ike

Slate Increase in Goods for U.S. Sale or Barter With Foreign Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to the White House a bill increasing to four billion dollars the amount of farm surpluses which the government can barter or sell to foreign nations.

The measure, extending the Agricultural Trade Development and Assistance Act to June 30, 1958, also authorizes bartering—but no sales—with Communist satellite countries of Europe.

Previously, the satellites were barred from participation in the program. Russia and Red China still are excluded.

The Senate passed the bill by voice vote yesterday, nearly a month after the House had passed it.

The increase of one billion dollars, from three to four billions, was made in a section of the bill under which surplus contracts can be sold to friendly foreign nations for their currency. The money from such sales is used for paying various U. S. obligations abroad, buying strategic goods and building military housing.

The measure increases by 300 million dollars the amount available for farm surplus disposals to help friendly foreign people in emergencies.

Oman Strife Goes On – Seek Quick End

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP)—British jets swept over rebel-held territory in the interior of Oman today as ground forces prepared to strike.

The Royal Air Force Venoms and Meteors flew eight sorties against the forces of the rebel Imam of Oman yesterday and claimed to have damaged two vehicles.

★ ★ ★

The ground forces are reported drawn up for an attack against the Nizwa fort, which the British believe is headquarters of the Imam's troops.

The rebels are fighting for a religious leader who is challenging the authority of the Sultan of Muscat of Oman, who asked for British help to put down the revolt.

LONDON (AP)—Britain's top military leaders conferred today on plans for a quick end to the Oman rebellion which threatens to embroil this country in a new Middle East crisis.

While the meetings were going on in an atmosphere of rising criticism, Arab League representatives both in Cairo and the United Nations were weighing the prospects of appealing the Oman rebels' case to the world organization.

British officials are worried that unless the uprising is quickly put down, anti-Western propagandists may be able to stir up Middle East public opinion in favor of what they are already calling the fight of the rebel leader, the Imam of Oman, against "colonial enslavement."

Britain fears a long campaign may lead to a further loss of prestige in the Persian Gulf area where she has fabulous oil interests.

But to act more forcefully than she has already, especially with her own ground forces, might get Britain once more tagged with the "aggressor" label as she was during last year's Suez invasion.

Woman Shoots, Kills Boy Friend

Divorced Mother of 2 Said He Was Seeing Another Girl

PORTLAND, Me. (INS) — Red-haired Mrs. Beatrice E. Castelluzzo, 34, divorced mother of two, today was accused of killing her boy friend with nine shots from a .22 calibre pistol after discovering he was seeing another woman.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Castelluzzo, charged with slaying James H. Speirs Jr., 36, divorced father of five, was arraigned in municipal court where a continuance until Aug. 13 was granted by Judge Sidney W. Wernick, who ordered her confined, without bail, at Cumberland County Jail.

Detectives said Mrs. Castelluzzo admitted in an alleged confession:

"I kept company with him for nearly two years and I supported him.

★ ★ ★

"Once nursed him through pneumonia. I bought him an auto. I bought the gasoline, and the tires and the oil.

"I cooked for him. I clothed him.

"Then I heard rumors that he was going around with another girl. I checked up on him and I found his car once parked near the home of this woman. It was the car I had bought him."

Police quoted Mrs. Castelluzzo as saying she had gone to a Little League baseball game last night with Speirs, who formerly headed a Portland area semi-professional twilight baseball league.

After the game, she told authorities, they went to her apartment to watch a fight on television. When Speirs started to leave after the fight, Mrs. Castelluzzo told investigators, she accused him of leaving her to go to another woman. She became enraged, she told officials, and shot him when he laughed at her.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Raymond Perron, occupant of a neighboring apartment, told police Mrs. Castelluzzo ran to her apartment after the shooting, screaming: "I killed Jimmy. I killed Jimmy."

Discuss Making Waterford a City

Public Meeting Tonight to Be Question, Answer Period on Incorporation

A public meeting will be held at the Waterford Township hall at 7:30 tonight to discuss incorporating the township as a city, according to David Hertler, 4146 Airport Rd.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by the Waterford Township Taxpayers Study Committee on Incorporation, the open meeting will be a question and answer session, chairman Hertler said.

The disadvantages and advantages of home rule will be explained, along with data gathered by the group during the past year.

Waterford Township now has five small settlements in its 31 square mile area, and more than 42,000 residents.

The Study Committee has listed as some of the advantages of city government, construction of sewer and water facilities. These facilities encourage industry, and help broaden the tax base.

At one meeting, Dr. C. L. Friedland of Wayne University presented disadvantages of incorporation, saying that with the formation of city government, higher taxes inevitably develop as the residents demand more services.

Many representatives from surrounding areas that have incorporated into city government have presented their reports and experience to the study group.

Petitions have been circulated in the Waterford area at Andersonville road and Dixie Highday, for incorporation as a village. However, the signatures have not been filed with the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

At tonight's meeting, it is hoped that all interested persons will be on hand to express their views concerning the circulation of petitions throughout the township, and possibly some action will be taken on the matter, Hertler said.

The Day in Birmingham

Drama in Council Room Sees Facility Approval

BIRMINGHAM — City Commission meeting last night took on a dramatic aspect when "standing room only" was the theme during the hearing of necessity on the Quarton Lake Estates sewer.

★ ★ ★

After a two-hour session, with many arguments against the necessity, commissioners approved the facility and told residents they may be heard again when the confirmation on the assessment roll is held.

Several persons said that they had had no flooding conditions in their areas and saw no reason for the building of the Pine street and Raynale storm sewer lines.

Commissioners told them that the Pine Street Sewer was already on the books. This was instigated in 1947, when two districts, one for this line, and one for the Maple avenue line, were created.

The Maple line exceeded estimated costs to such an amount that the second line was abandoned for the time being. Some $5,000 of unexpended balance and interest remains and will be used to defray the costs of the new sewers.

The area has been greatly expanded. Thus, it was pointed out, will cost those in the Pine street area little more than the deficiency roll would have cost had the work gone on 10 years ago.

Ralph Main, former mayor, commissioner and Oakland County Drain Commissioner, said he felt the city had an obligation to pass this assessment. Several other persons backed Main's statement.

Others pointed out that whether basements were wet or not, each resident has an obligation to those who are troubled. "The rain," he said, "falls on all of our properties. The run-off flows as one, overtaxing present sewers, as well as in some cases creating a surface water problem."

One of the most common complaints was that the commission could not pinpoint the exact number of flooded basements.

The answer to this, they were told, was that not everyone reports this problem.

Located at the southeast corner of Eaton and Derby roads, the former Derby Well site was rezoned last night to single-family residence.

The property is being offered for sale by the city.

Franklin Cemetery Assn. Auxiliary will hold its regular meeting and annual election Thursday. The affair will be a picnic and 1 p.m. luncheon at Birmingham's Springdale Park.

★ ★ ★

In the event of rain, the group will meet at the Community Hall in Franklin.

Beverly has made a mock lamb for the demonstration. She'll use a jackknife as the weapon.

"It only takes about three minutes, but if you want a winning demonstration, you have to use charts and explain the procedure," Beverly said.

Beverly added: "It should be a sunny warm day so the lamb won't mind the shock of not having his tail."

Beverly was graduated from Rochester High School in June. She was one of five teens who won 4-H scholarships granted by the National Farm and Garden Association.

Beverly said judges had only one criticism to make the last time she demonstrated the tail-cutting project.

"They didn't approve of the iodine being in a chow mein bottle, so I'll make sure that doesn't happen again," she promised.

Other events tonight include the announcement of the public speaking contest winners at 7 p.m., and a minstrel show by the Macomb County Service Club, the only group participating in the fair not from Oakland County.

Tomorrow morning the county 4-H livestock judges will be selected at 9 a.m. A tractor, plowing and operators contest is scheduled for 1 p.m.

Annett Fights Sylvan Pollution

A prominent Pontiac realtor wants the Pontiac City Commission to help curb pollution in Sylvan Lake, the City Commission agenda shows.

What Bruce J. Annett of 2799 Sylvan Shores Dr., Waterford Township, really hopes for is a joint conference of the communities bordering the residential lake that has suffered from pollution for the past two years.

Annett, acting both as a resident on the lake and as a realtor, he said, has written the Oakland County Health Commission plus the Pontiac, Sylvan Lake, Waterford Township and West Bloomfield Township governments.

"I'd like to see them all get together and come up with a joint plan to end the pollution," he explained.

Pontiac borders on the eastern side of the lake and controls the dam at the Clinton River. Annett's letter is part of a 15-point agenda set for Pontiac commissioners tonight.

Eleven items concern the 1957 public improvement program. Also scheduled are reports on furniture that is to be purchased for the new Public Safety Building and on the annual payments by the Pontiac Housing Commission to the city in lieu of taxes.

In addition to being president of Procter and Gamble, McElroy is a director of the General Electric Co. and Chrysler Corp., both big government contractors.

Wilson, former president of General Motors, had to sell 39,000 shares of stock in that company when he became secretary in 1953.

Wilson has announced his intention of resigning but no date has been set, primarily because the administration has had difficulties finding a successor. However, it is now believed he will step down shortly after taking a vacation in Michigan late this month.

McElroy has been mentioned as a possible successor for the past six months. Lately, two other candidates popped up—General Electric President Ralph J. Cordiner, author of the incentive pay plan for the military, and Clarence B. Randall, chairman of the board of Inland Steel Corp.

Reports that McElroy had the inside track became more prevalent last Saturday when he confirmed he would visit Washington for an undisclosed purpose. He flew into the capital from Cincinnati yesterday and remained overnight.

Red Party Boss Almost Cheered Out of Dinner

MOSCOW (AP) — The Kremlin's top brass turned out for a World Youth Festival party in the Kremlin last night and Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev again grabbed most of the limelight.

Shouts of "Khrushchev, Khrushchev!" and "Friendship, friendship!" rose repeatedly from the crowd.

The party leader broke up his enthusiastic audience when he directed to Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov a stage whisper that boomed out over the public address system: "Friendship is friendship, but we got to eat."

Seated with Khrushchev and Zhukov at a long table set among the trees were Premier Bulganin and other members of the Communist party's new Presidium. The Soviet officials all pitched in at waving to the crowd, clapping their hands and exchanging toasts.

Most Western ambassadors did not attend the party.

What is the greatest danger from lightning to swimmers?

Since lightning does strike water, contrary to some people's belief, swimming is dangerous when lightning is observed, especially if it is seen to the west. But Swimmers killed by lightning are usually not burned, they are paralyzed.

So, artificial respiration is as important for lightning-struck swimmers as it is for drowning victims.

Lightning strikes boats and automobiles, but all-metal cars (apart from convertibles) are safe havens. Boats near land are safer than boats far out to sea. Boats or ships with tall masts are most likely to be struck.

Swimming or bathing is never permissible during lightning storms.

12-State Milk Strike Scheduled Aug. 14

DETROIT (AP) — Plans for a milk strike designed to tie up deliveries in Michigan and 11 other states were announced today by the Dairy Farmers Cooperative Assn. of Michigan (DFC).

Samuel Bailo of South Lyon, secretary of the Michigan group, said the strike has been set for Aug. 14.

Bailo, who is an organizer and vice president of the National Dairymen's Assn., said the strike also would affect Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey and six New England states.

He added the strike would be supported by farmers in Wisconsin and Illinois who have agreed to prevent shipments of milk from those states.

Bailo said the Michigan DFC is demanding $6 a hundredweight for drinking milk. He said members of his organization were not satisfied with an agreement made by the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. with the Detroit dairies last week.

The agreement, effective Aug. 1, set the price at $5 a hundredweight, an increase of 35 cents.

Refrigeration Store Robbed of $547 in Cash

A break-in at Daubenspeck Refrigeration Store, 12 N. Cass Ave., resulted in the theft of $547.44 in cash Monday, Pontiac police reported.

Mericus McCoy, of 3445 Watkins Lake Rd., Waterford Twp., told police that someone had broken into the store between noon and 1 p.m. yesterday, then pried open a cash drawer.

Declare GM Dividend

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of General Motors Corp. have declared the usual quarterly dividend of 50 cents a share, payable Sept. 10 to stock of record Aug. 15.

FHA Liberalizes Mortgage Terms

market has been blamed for the decline of one-third in the volume of new homes during the past two years.

Higher interest rates combined with "reasonable" discounts are expected to draw more money for FHA housing. Lower down-payments will create more buyer demand in the sagging market.

Under the new schedule, the required cash outlay will be 3 per cent of the first $10,000, 15 per cent of the next $6,000, and 30 per cent of the remainder.

Down-payments will be reduced from $300 to $180 on a $6,000 home, from $700 to $300 on a $10,000 home, from $1,950 to $1,050 on a $15,000 home and from $3,200 to $2,400 on a $20,000 home.

The old schedule on down-payments had been 5 per cent of the first $9,000 and 25 per cent of the remainder of the purchase price.

This hike in interest rates, the second in eight months, brought talk today of congressional action to limit any further increases.

Seek Plan to Keep Teens Occupied, Out of Trouble

organization plus the Ys do offer a variety of recreational facilities but the problem of bringing boys and girls together normally still remains in Pontiac.

SUGGEST QUESTIONNAIRE

Hoyt suggests each teen be given a questionnaire when school opens this fall to find out what teens want and if a teen center were available, would they attend and would their parents let them?

★ ★ ★

"Parents don't discipline and instruct their children enough today," says Pontiac Policewoman Patricia Sweeney.

Disagreeing with a teen center proposal, Miss Sweeney felt the boys and girls today are becoming "too intimate too early."

"A teen center would take away the parents' responsibility to their children and shove it on to someone else," she said. "Many parents today sacrifice themselves and give children more than they had when they were young."

"Others would be happy for such a place to get the kids out of the house," she thought.

Miss Sweeney said much of a teen's recreation should center around and originate from and within the family.

Policewoman Bernice Berger claims many times she is at a loss when talking to problem girls and trying to suggest recreation to keep them out of trouble.

"There is really nothing in Pontiac for them. A girl's club, comparable to the boy's organization is needed," she added.

"It should be organized for girls as young as 10 to 14 years old so they could be caught before they become delinquent.

"With the help of skilled chaperones, they could be taught useful vocational hobbies and projects.

"I sympathize with the girls today. There isn't enough work for them in the modern home to keep busy. They need more job opportunities, and such an organization could help prepare them," Miss Berger theorized.

Another help would be organized transportation and supervision to the area lakes for swimming, she added.

★ ★ ★

Robert T. Coyle, boy's probation officer of the Oakland County Juvenile Court added: "I firmly believe if teen have a good home and relationship with parents, enough recreation will be provided by and for them.

Dems' Civil Rights Bill Goes Far Beyond Intent

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democrats aimed at one bird in the civil rights bill. But they used a shotgun and hit everything in sight.

★ ★ ★

They acted so hastily in amending President Eisenhower's civil rights bill—with the help of a handful of Republicans—that right now they don't know all they hit or the full effect of what they did.

At least 40 laws, many government agencies and all the federal courts are affected. That much is known.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower reportedly will veto this bill if the House agrees to what the Senate did and sends it to him. Because of the measure's widespread and uncertain effect, it's hard to see how he could do otherwise, even though vetoing it puts him on a political hot-spot with Negro voters.

The bill was intended to protect Negroes' voting rights. It gives them far more protection than they've ever had. But its effects go far beyond voting rights.

The Eisenhower administration proposed letting the attorney general step in when Negroes' voting rights are violated. He could ask a federal judge for a court order to stop the violations.

Anyone disobeying could—after a trial on a charge of civil contempt—be jailed until he complied. Anyone disobeying after it was too late for compliance could be given a flat jail sentence for criminal contempt of court.

In both cases—civil and criminal contempt—the judge, without a jury, would do the trying and sentencing under the administration's proposal. There is nothing new in this. Trial by judge for contempt of court has existed throughout American history.

In a very few instances there have been specific laws permitting trial by jury in cases of criminal contempt. The Constitution guarantees jury trial for crimes but not for contempt of court.

A crime—being a violation of state or federal law—is an offense against the state or the government. Contempt of court is an offense against the authority of a judge and his power to command compliance with his orders.

Southern Democrats did not argue against trial by a judge alone for civil contempt. But for criminal contempt they demanded a jury trial. Some Northern Democrats, avoiding a split in the party agreed to that and then went far beyond it.

Thirty-nine Democrats and 12 Republicans — with 9 Democrats and 33 Republicans opposing them —voted to provide trial by jury in every criminal contempt of court case. That's a huge order.

A number of laws provide for court orders—and trial by a judge for criminal contempt — but no one knows how many. The latest count, before the vote Thursday night, was 40.

Tied in with those laws are many government agencies—like the Securities and Exchange Commission, the National Labor Relations Board, the Federal Communications Commission — which depend on court orders for final carrying out of their rulings.

Also affected are such laws as the Antitrust Act and the Fair Labor Standards Act which, with the government trying to carry them out, depend in the end on a court order to compel compliance.

The courts would still have great authority to get compliance through civil contempt action.

Whether or not people who are in criminal contempt of court should be tried by a judge or jury is a legitimate and profound question. The Senate could have voted jury trial for contempt of court in voting rights cases and stopped there.

But it went beyond that in a way hardly fitting consideration of an amendment so far-reaching. Ordinarily in questions of such magnitude both houses of Congress, before voting, would do this: They'd hold hearings to get the views of federal judges, the federal agencies involved, the American Bar Assn. and all other interested parties. No hearings have ever been held on this.

No one except senators had a chance to give views. The Democrats slammed this legislation together on the floor of the Senate.

Zhukov May Replace Bulganin

New Red Shakeup Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic officials speculated today that new jobs may be in the offing for Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov.

★ ★ ★

The speculation about another Kremlin shakeup was inspired by the circumstances surrounding party boss Nikita Khrushchev's rendezvous in Romania last Thursday and Friday with Yugoslav President Tito.

Bulganin missed those talks—believed to have dealt with prime satellite political topics—and also was omitted from the list of officials joining Khrushchev in a scheduled visit this week to East Germany.

Speculating on new Kremlin moves is an uncertain business at best, diplomatic officials conceded, but they hazarded guesses that:

1. Bulganin, noticeably shrinking in prominence since Khrushchev thwarted an attack on his leadership last June, might be kicked upstairs to the presidency. This powerless post now is held by the aging Klementi Voroshilov.

★ ★ ★

2. Zhukov, President Eisenhower's World War II comrade in arms, might succeed Bulganin as premier, giving Khrushchev a chance to cash in on Zhukov's high personal popularity with the Russian people and making official a general belief that Zhukov now rates second only to Khrushchev in Russian power.

★ ★ ★

But there has been speculation abroad that the premiership might go instead to Anastas Mikoyan, the deputy premier and economic expert named to accompany Khrushchev to East Germany.

The State Department yesterday declined comment on such speculation.

Bulganin is widely reported to have sided with deposed Soviet leaders Georgi Malenkov and V. M. Molotov during the fateful Central Committee struggle last June 22-29. Ever since, he has taken a conspicuous back seat.

Zhukov, on the other hand, reportedly helped Khrushchev win in the struggle for power, and apparently has gained stature since.

ERIE, Pa. (INS)—The decomposed bodies of two babies, possibly twins, were found last night among unclaimed packages left in rental lockers at an Erie bus station. Coroner Warren W. Woods and Dr. John Fust, pathologist at Hammon Hospital, said the infants seemed to be fully developed and possibly were twins who perished shortly after birth. Police said the bodies were in a metal box sealed with cellophane. They were found as the bus company was disposing of an accumulation of unclaimed packages.

Firemen Fight Blaze in Pontiac Home

The current drop in temperatures may be cooling to most Ponhot time for Pontiac firemen this morning.

For over an hour firemen battled a blaze at the home of Frank West, 232 S. Anderson St., which caused an estimated $700 damage.

The fire started when an oil furnace in the rear of the one story frame house turned on as the temperature dropped to 55 degrees at 6 a.m.

West was not home at the time. The fire, which was confined to a hallway, was reported by a neighbor.

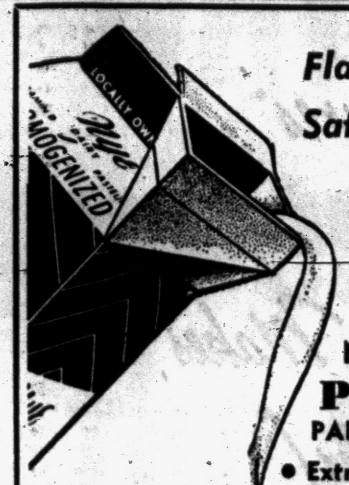

Women Return to Work After Strike at Dehoco

DETROIT (AP) — Some 100 women prisoners walked off their jobs in the laundry of the Detroit House of Correction in suburban Plymouth yesterday.

They returned to work five hours later after a meeting with acting Supt. Leo Goss.

None of the other 300 women in the prison joined the demonstration.

Goss said the women left their jobs after learning that two prisoners had been placed in isolation.

Security for You

Three Million Paid Too Much Tax

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Nearly three million people last year paid more Social Security tax than they had to.

If you're one of them and you haven't claimed a refund, there's still plenty of time to do so.

How could you overpay your Social Security tax?

By working for two or more employers and earning more than a total of $4,200 last year.

For example: Suppose you worked last year for the ABC Widgit Co. which paid you wages of $3,800 and for the DEF Widgit Co. which paid you $3,600. Under the Social Security law, both companies were required to deduct a two per cent tax for Social Security from the money you earned. Each company had to do so without regard to the deductions being made by the other.

This means that you paid Social Security tax on $7,400 in wages or a total of $148. The ABC Widgit Co. deducted $76 (two per cent of $3,800) and the DEF Widgit Co. deducted $72 (two per cent of $3,600).

And, it means that you paid too much tax. Under the Social Security law, you only needed to pay the two per cent tax on $4,200 of what you earned last year—or $84.

HOW DO YOU KNOW

So, now you're due a refund of $64. That's the difference between the $84 you needed to pay to meet the requirements of the Social Security law and the $148 you actually paid.

How do you know for sure whether you overpaid your Social Security tax?

Get out your federal withholding tax statements for last year. On each statement, you'll notice a small square with these word printed in it: F.I.C.A. employe tax withheld, if any.

Now, total the amounts of money you find entered in the square on each of the withholding statements. If the total is more than $84, you're eligible for a refund.

How do you claim the refund?

Since the Internal Revenue Service collects the taxes for Social Security, it's to the IRS that you apply for the refund.

FILE AT DISTRICT OFFICE

The claim should be filed at the office of the District Director of Internal Revenue where you filed your income tax return. It should be made either on a Form 843 which you may get from your District Director or on an amended tax return.

If you need help in claiming the refund, you can get it from the internal revenue people.

Incidentally, if you fail to claim the Social Security tax overpayment during the year in which you made it, you may claim it within the following two years. After that, no refund is possible.

For example: Suppose you overpaid your Social Security tax for 1955. You have until Jan. 1, 1958, to make your claim.

Although an employe may claim a refund if he paid too much tax because he worked for two or more employers, his employers who had to match the employe's deductions may not claim a refund.

* * *

The Social Security law views such employer payments as part of the cost of running a business.

In 1955, more than 60 million dollars was paid out in refunds to 2,90,000 workers. The average refund was about $19.

Ionia Reformatory Warden to Leave

IONIA (AP)—The warden of the state reformatory here—Dr. Garret Heyns—is leaving Michigan to take a $20,000-a-year penal post in the state of Washington.

Appointment of Dr. Heyns, 66, as director of the Washington State announced over the weekend from Department of Institutions was Olympia, Wash. Dr. Heyns is to take his new office about Sept. 1.

In his new post the veteran Michigan prison expert will have general supervision of Washington State Prison and Reformatory as well as three mental hospitals and several children's institutions.

Dr. Heyns said he was sorry to leave Michigan, but that he could "not resist" the challenge offered in Washington. He said he did not seek the post and that it came to him "out of the blue."

"I dislike to leave Ionia and Michigan," he said, "because of the fine prison program that has been developed in the state."

Dr. Heyns has twice been warden at Ionia Reformatory. He has been in office since 1944. He served before then under appointment by the late Gov. Frank Murphy, but left with a change in state administration.

"Why, he was in here only yesterday"

That's how it happens—quick—like that! In communities all over America, people "who were here only yesterday" are gone forever—killed in highway traffic accidents. Don't let it happen to you!

BACK THE ATTACK ON TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS

Here's how you can help:

1. Drive safely, courteously yourself. Observe speed limits, warning signs. Where traffic laws are obeyed, deaths go DOWN!
2. Insist on strict enforcement of all traffic laws. They work for you, not against you. Where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go DOWN!

Wives' Nightly Wandering Exposed

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the subjects husbands like to discuss is the odd behavior of their wives.

The other evening I was attending an informal kitchen caucus of husbands at a party, when one suddenly volunteered:

"The thing I can't understand about my wife is why she likes to get up and prowl around the house at night after everyone else is asleep."

There was a moment's silence, then every other husband present exclaimed in a surprised chorus:

"Does your wife do that, too?"

Well, apparently all wives are prowling insomniacs. Each husband testified that, scores of times in his marital career, he had awakened to find his better half padding around the premises all alone.

What do the wives do after they get up? Here are a few replies the husbands made:

"My wife stares down at me mutters, 'How can you sleep so peacefully, you big oaf?', and then goes into the living room, curls up on the sofa and watches the late late show."

★ ★ ★

"Mine walks around from room to room in the dark, like Lady Macbeth. Really eerie."

"Mine just gets out a picture of us on our wedding day—and yawns at it."

"You know why I think they can't sleep at night?" offered one young hen-pecked husband. "It's because their conscience is bothering them—for all the mean things they said to us the day before."

★ ★ ★

Could this really be possible? The husbands looked at each other in wild surmise.

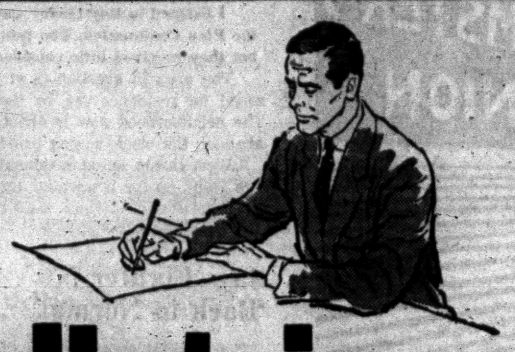

"Nonsense!" broke in a time-worn old husband, wise in the ways of wives.

"It isn't insomnia—and it isn't their conscience. Did you ever stay home and watch how wives operate? They work half an hour, then flop on a couch and nap for 15 minutes.

"Then they get up and go to the grocery store, and come home and nap for 15 minutes. Then they get up and dust the furniture for half an hour, then flop on the couch for another quick quarter hour of shut-eye. So it goes all day long.

"By nightfall they've put in a 12-hour day, all right, just like they brag. But one third of the time—four full hours—they spend taking naps. No wonder they complain they can't sleep at night, and get up and prowl the house."

Well, wives? We pause for reply.

ANIMAL QUIZ

QUESTION: Which has more bones in its neck, the giraffe or the sparrow?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: The sparrow. Like most mammals the giraffe, despite its very long neck, has only seven neck-bones, or vertebrae. The sparrow has 14.

The giraffe is the tallest of the mammals, growing up to 18 feet in height. It lives only in Africa — and, of course, in a lot of zoos, where this handsomely spotted character is a major attraction.

A giraffe is very fast and can outrun most horses. If you can get a good look at his eyes, which is rather difficult, you will see that they are strangely beautiful — brown, with long lashes. In the middle ages, the giraffe was known as the cameleopard, because people thought he had the characteristics of both a camel and a leopard. One striking thing about the giraffe is that he's absolutely mute and can't cry out no matter how much he feels like it.

It's Now Our Second Biggest Industry

"Thar's gold in them hills," is an expression that originated in our western states when the precious metal was found there.

And the same is true of numerous Oakland County hills—in the sand and gravel wealth they have produced, or still hold in reserve.

★ ★ ★

Long considered a liability on account of their non-productive soil and continual erosion, which made them undesirable for agriculture, they are proving to be one of our county's greatest assets.

Sand and gravel production now steps into second place among our industries, figured on a dollar basis.

For the better part of a century after the first white settlers came here 140 years ago, farming was our county's principal industry.

It held that place until succeeded by manufacturing in the early days of this century. It now is pushed into third place by sand and gravel.

This is not so largely on account of decreased farming, largely occasioned by the agricultural land being taken over by subdivisions, as it is by the growth of sand and gravel developments.

★ ★ ★

Up at Oxford, within the memory of present residents, commenced the digging of sand and gravel. It was given a new value by the discovery of a U.S. formula for making cement, which when mixed with them formed concrete.

This was the start of a new era in highway and building construction.

Previously, Germany had a near-world monopoly on the manufacture of cement, their Dyckerhoff brand having been imported here at a cost that prohibited its general use.

★ ★ ★

But our nation's chemists found that a cement (they called it Portland), could be made from the marl found around our lakes or a species of rock which is common in many localities.

That Oxford venture grew to mammoth proportions, and has spread over 19 of our county's 25 townships, with drillings that show good deposits in most of the others.

Thousands of miles of good highways in Michigan and other states, and much of the building construction in Detroit, Pontiac, Flint and other Michigan cities has been made possible by it.

★ ★ ★

Those once considered worthless hills have been brought to ground level or far below it, some of them being succeeded by lakes, so eager is the sand and gravel sought.

Some idea of the magnitude of the production can be gained from the fact that over 100 carloads per day leave our county, this being in addition to the large home consumption.

★ ★ ★

Our county already has some subdivions located on sites that only a year or two ago were a succession of miniature grand canyons and mountain peaks. On them beautiful homes are appearing.

Probably no other similar area in the nation produces more sand and gravel than Oakland County. And gigantic as it now seems, some of the principal operators in the work say that "the ground has not yet even been scratched."

★ ★ ★

As it assumes second place among our industries, just reflect a little on its employment, money value and other features that make to build a great county.

Red Output and Trade Far Below Free World

The current report of the United Nations on world trade includes some interesting figures on production.

For instance, non-Communist world trade with Red China in 1956 rose by 33 per cent and with Russia, 30 per cent. Trade by Communist nations of Eastern Europe with non-Communist nations increased 15 per cent.

This sounds like a tremendous step up. Actually, however, the trade of all Communist nations with non-Communist nations last year was only three per cent of total world trade.

★ ★ ★

Using Red China's own figures, industrial production including steel rose 25 per cent in 1956. Total steel production was 4 million tons and Soviet Russia's production was 49 million tons. The United States steel output alone was 105 million tons.

While the Communists are gaining percentagewise, they are far from closing the gap in total world production and trade.

A more or less open family feud has been definitely settled for all time. I'm referring to my old friends

Susie, whom we proudly claim down here as a former Pontiac Press girl, and her husband are real golfers.

They've been jockeying back and forth for some time now as to which one could produce the lowest score.

Honors were close to even when this season began. Susie had turned in a beautiful 81 at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club and had broken eighty elsewhere. Dick, meanwhile, had managed to do an even 80 as his best on the course where it counted.

But something happened and I mean something big. In all my 200 years of exciting, thrill-packed living I never heard of anyone in golf breaking a personal mark by eight shots. But that's what one of them did. AND IT WAS DICK.

Playing in a club match where all putts were important and with a full foursome double checking, Dick turned in a 72.

Susie, we all love you here at The Press, but you'll have to hunt for a new target. Dick has handled that division for all time.

Sorry; but space limitations prohibit this column publishing cribbage or other card game scores.

'Just a Minute, Bud'

David Lawrence Observes:

The Lesson of Sen. Walter George

WASHINGTON — The past speaks to the present. That is one way of expressing the significance of the life of Senator Walter George of Georgia, whose death is being mourned by the whole country.

LAWRENCE

For in George's career is a poignant lesson to all those "modernists" who have been confusedly demanding the vigorous exercise or executive "leadership" and punitive discipline by the President over members of his own political party. Here is the story that made political history.

The time is 1938. Franklin D. Roosevelt, author of New Deal reforms, finds Senator George, Democrat, out of tune with his legislative proposals, particularly Roosevelt's scheme to "pack" the Supreme Court.

Heeding the cry that Presidential "leadership" must compel obedience to its commands, Roosevelt undertakes a "purge." He makes a speech advising the people of Georgia to defeat their senator for renomination in the forthcoming primaries.

There is nothing personal in the dispute—just a piece of political pressure to require a senator to forget his own convictions and obey the dictates of the White House. Roosevelt speaks in Georgia—in the presence of Senator George, on the same platform—as follows:

NOT A LIBERAL

"The senior senator from this state cannot possibly, in my judgment, be classified as belonging to the liberal school of thought . . . let me make it clear that he (Senator George) is, and I hope always will be, my personal friend. He is beyond question a gentleman and a scholar . . . I am impelled to make it clear that on most public questions he and I do not speak the same language . . .

"I have no hesitation in saying that if I were able to vote in the September primaries in this state, I most assuredly would cast my vote for Lawrence Camp."

The people of Georgia resented the attempt to "purge" as an unwarranted interference in their affairs. They renominated and re-elected Senator George by an overwhelming vote. He continued for years to serve his country irrespective of party politics.

What would have happened to the career of Walter George if the "purge" had been successful? The Senate and the nation would have lost the services of a statesman just because he chanced to disagree with a President. It's a lesson worth pondering.

The episode underlines, of course, a tendency that still prevails today in so-called "liberal" circles—the very places where it might be thought there would be unwavering confidence in the right of the people in each state to select their own representatives without coercion from the President or anybody else in the federal government.

SAME DEMANDS ON IKE

But the demand which arises even now and is pressed upon President Eisenhower—that he must "crack the whip" over dissident members of his party — is due to a curious faith in Presidential power.

When the late Senator McCarthy was the center of controversy, Eisenhower told his press conference one day that he had received leters from the public urging that he "remove" the Wisconsin senator from office.

A year ago, when Senator Wiley was up for re-nomination in Wisconsin, there was a consistent effort to persuade Eisenhower to throw his weight behind Wiley and thus take part in the primaries. Some leading newspapers in the east editorially criticized Eisenhower for failing to use the primaries as a means of Presidential or party discipline.

All this proceeds no doubt from impatience with dissenting viewpoints and involves a certain intolerance of any opposition. The image which too many people, even in intellectual circles, have of a President is that of a benevolent dictator.

It isn't a smooth-working machinery, but the tasks in governing 170,000,000 or more people in a democratic system are never as "simple" as they are under a dictatorship.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Brushing Teeth No Way to Guard Against Decay

A reader writes: "My dad never used a toothbrush, never had a cavity and never lost a tooth. He never ate sweets. (Mrs. M. J.)"

DR. BRADY

The fact that he never used a toothbrush is merely negative. Use of a toothbrush has nothing to do with prevention of tooth decay — as has been pretty well shown by the millions of Americans who use toothbrushes more than any other people and have more tooth decay than any other people.

On the other hand it is notable that the civilized people who have the least tooth decay never brush their teeth at all. I refer to the inhabitants of Tristan da Cunha as they were prior to 1949.

The fact that your father never ate sweets is negative too. It would be more instructive to know that he did eat.

I think the notion that sweets favor decay of the teeth and therefore children should not have such food or should have very little of it is silly, but I'm willing to let the dentifrice and the candy makers fight it out.

★ ★ ★

Clinical observations clearly indicate that the activity and extent of dental caries" (decay, cavity formation) "may be quite unrelated to the degree of mouth cleanliness. Relatively clean teeth may be extremely carious, and filthy mouths may be wholly free from defect." So said Russell W. Bunting, D.D.Sc., Prof. of Oral Pathology, University of Michigan School of Dentistry.

Dr. Bunting further asserted:

"Except when carried to an extreme and impractical degree these measures" (tooth brushing etc.) "have failed to give any high degree of protection against the disease" (dental caries, cavity formation, tooth decay).

I believe that the condition of the teeth is determined by nutrition from the year before you are born up to the present.

A toothbrush, especially a used toothbrush, is repulsive to my sense of cleanliness, so I prefer to cleanse my mouth after eating with plain soap and water, when I can conveniently do so.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan.

Mr. Blackwood Criticizes Zoning Policy of Groups

Members of both the Plan Commission and the City Commission seem to place business ahead of homes. In the case of West Huron Street, they are likely to take the same attitude.

I listened to Roy Cooley and ten associates plead their case before the Plan Commission. The people in the audience felt sorry for them, but they received little consideration.

The area in question is at the foot of Franklin Boulevard. It was zoned for residence use by the original zoning body and properly so. The neighborhood now is about the same as then. They might as well abandon the whole zoning principle and let things go their own way.

West Huron street residents are facing trouble unless civic authorities stand up for residential rights.

There are lots of people who claim to be Christians with their tongues but not their hearts. The person who signed himself a Christian can't be a Christian because he has never read his Bible. I suggest he read St. Matthew 24:3-14 and St. Luke 21: 6-36. Another passage would be the last of the 13th chapter of St. Mark. If he can't find it in the Bible, if he has one, I will be glad to show him.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Names Two Factors in Accidents

Alcohol is a big cause of automobile accidents. But inertia is another, for narrow bridges could be widened in a few hours by the method outlined below. And the cost would be negligible. When you groan at the 40,000 who are killed each year on the highways, think of the 2,000,000 injured, such as the coed described below. She is worse than dead!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case V-356: Victor G., aged 29, is an alert traffic officer.

"Dr. Crane, in one of our recent tragic holiday week ends," he began, "we found that out of 13 traffic deaths in Chicagoland, 9 of them were directly traceable to alcohol.

DR. CRANE

"Why will the American public complain about our terrific traffic toll and yet make no serious murmur against one of the greatest causes of deaths on the highway, namely, John Barleycorn?

"And even when we apprehend drunken drivers, they are often given a scolding and let off lightly, unless they happen to have killed somebody.

"Every alcoholic driver is a potential killer, so why wait till he runs over somebody or wrecks another car before he is treated as a serious menace?"

40,000 AUTO DEATHS

Last year over 40,000 American men, women and children were killed by traffic accidents.

And the injured list runs about 50 times more than the dead, so we have close to 2,000,000 bruised, cut and maimed.

Many of these injured suffer only minor damage. But a large number lose an arm or leg, or have their ears or nose torn off and an eye even gouged out.

★ ★ ★

Some even become permanently feebleminded. A friend of mine is the father of a lovely college coed. She was recently riding with two boys.

They were going rather fast and crashed. The coed lay unconscious in the hospital for a week. Now she is up and around.

But her brain was injured permanently by the brain hemorrhage, so her mental age is about that of a normal three-year-old.

She can't read or write. She can't even tie her own shoes: She is permanently feebleminded:

This brilliant college woman is now an idiot.

★ ★ ★

Think of the sorrow her parents feel as they watch her babyish ways and realize she will require close supervision as long as she lives.

This girl is simply one of the nearly 2,000,000 injured persons each year who do not die.

So don't focus exclusively on the 40,000 death rate. Think also of the injured, many of whom are worse off than if they were actually dead:

ALCOHOL, INERTIA

This girl's boy friends had been drinking. They weren't staggering drunk. But it takes only one beer to affect a person's reaction time and thus render him liable to fatal accidents.

★ ★ ★

But another cause for accidents is the archaic type of highways we still have, with narrow bridges over culverts and tiny streams. They are supposedly two-way in width but functionally are only one-way bridges.

A year ago I told you how Mrs. Crane and I missed death by a mere matter of two inches on Route 41, about 60 miles south of Chicago.

A car ahead of us suddenly stopped on the main highway because its driver feared to enter a narrow two-way bridge because a large truck was barreling down upon the bridge with a mammoth trailer hooked on behind.

Well, the truck struck our car and then turned over on the side of the road. Fortunately, nobody was seriously hurt.

But several other wrecks have occurred at that same narrow bridge, and two weeks ago I was told that four more people were killed there. It is my guess that perhaps 10 or 12 have died at that same narrow bridge in recent years.

★ ★ ★

Yet such bridges could be widened in a matter of a few hours and with little cost, by simply laying a few steel rails crosswise of the bridge so they would extend a few feet wider than the present narrow roadway.

Macadam could then be used to elevate the roadbed by the six inches needed to cover this quick elevation for the steel rails. Think of the savings in lives.

This Time for Peaceful Purposes: Nuclear Engine Experiment

Atoms to Explode in Japan Once More

TOKYO (INS) — Uranium atoms will soon explode in Japan for the first time since Hiroshima and Nagasaki were bombed 12 years ago.

This time the atom explosions will be slow and controlled and instead of a destructive blast they will produce heat to power an experimental nuclear engine.

★ ★ ★

When the engine or reactor goes into continuous operation — by the fall — it will mark Japan's formal debut in the atomic energy age.

The atomic reactor — capable of generating 50 kilowatts of electricity — is located in Tokai Village approximately 70 miles north of Tokyo.

★ ★ ★

The fission of uranium atoms will produce heat which will be transferred to a water boiler. The boiler will power a generator to produce current capable of lighting up 500 bulbs of 100 watts each.

TAKING BUGS OUT

Japanese and American scientists at Tokai Village, carved out of the wilderness, are taking the bugs out of the reactor to get it in continuous operation.

Tokai Village represents a victory for forward-looking elements in Japan who have won a victory over atomic-reluctant persons who still recall Hiroshima and Nagasaki with bitterness.

The experience Japanese scientists obtain from the reactor — powered by 22 pounds of uranium fuel from the United States — will be applied to Japan's first commercial power reactors.

Japanese leaders and the Atomic Energy Commission have virtually decided to buy a Calder Hall type reactor from England and an experimental model from the U. S.

Because power-short Japan needs atomic energy urgently, government leaders say Tokai Village is a much-needed proving ground for the great numbers of atomic scientists the Japanese will need to keep their atom industry "a-fizzin."

In addition to the reactor at Tokai Village, there is an atomic energy laboratory where basic research on isotopes and atomic structure is being carried on.

LANGUAGE PROBLEM

American scientists who helped assemble the reactor last spring were forced to labor doubly hard because of the fact that there is not a single reactor plan written in Japanese.

But it won't be this way for long at Tokai as the Japanese reactor and atomic savvy go into high gear.

Planning to Nationalize 'Few' Tea Plantations

COLOMBO (AP)—Ceylon's Marxist agriculture minister, Philip Gunewardena, told the House of Representatives today he is going to nationalize "a few" efficient large tea plantations to help small farmers who are getting poor prices for their tea.

Gunewardena said the volume of production by the big plantations was too much competition for the smallholders.

500 Battle Flames in National Forest

Sawtooth Blaze in 5th Day

HAILEY, Idaho (AP) — Sweating firefighters retreated again yesterday before a raging timber blaze in the Sawtooth National Forest and continued looking for a battleground to end their five-day fight with the flames.

The fire broke out Friday in a heavily timbered mountain basin. As 500 firefighters poured into the scene 50 miles northwest of here, wind swept the flames through the timber.

By last night, nearly 1,000 acres of fir and pine had been consumed but officials hoped to control the advance of the fire sometime tomorrow.

They had expected to end the fight yesterday, but winds, which have carried the flames over several bulldozed firebreaks, swept it out of control again.

★ ★ ★

Horses and helicopters have been kept busy hustling water to the weary battlers.

★ ★ ★

Forest Service authorities planned to bring water trucks into the fight today as the fire burns down a mountainside to a more accessible altitude.

★ ★ ★

It will take a week to mop up small fires within the big burn area once the main blaze is under control, authorities said.

Discuss Parade, Demonstration

Chamber of Commerce Group Plans Display on Fire Prevention Week

A gala parade and demonstration program to mark Fire Prevention Week were discussed yesterday by the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

Tentative plans call for a giant parade up Saginaw street Wednesday evening featuring the latest in fire equipment, antique equipment (including a steam engine that actually fought the Chicago fire of 1871), bands, drill teams, pretty baton twirlers, military units and trick horseback riders.

After the parade there will be demonstrations of the latest fire-fighting techniques at the North Side Field and displays of equipment.

The evening will be culminated with a fire hose battle between the defending champions, Waterford, and the Brooklands Fire Dept.

Arrangements for publicity, the parade and educational displays were discussed by the committee which will meet again in September.

FBI Adds Charges to Escaped Prisoners

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The FBI has added charges of theft of government property to other charges three Schuylkill County jail prisoners incurred by breaking jail Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The men happened to pick an official FBI car as their escape vehicle.

The fugitives were spotted walking along a South Philadelphia street and captured after a short chase yesterday.

★ ★ ★

They took an automobile that had been parked in a Pottsville, Pa., garage over the weekend by an agent assigned there, Agent Carl Hennrich said.

U.S. Sending More Jets for Philippine Defenses

MANILA (AP)—The United States is sending more jets to bolster the Philippine republic's defenses.

The U.S. Air Force announced a squadron of supersonic F100 fighter-bombers will move from Okinawa to Clark Field in mid-August. Last month the Air Force delivered a squadron of F86 Sabre Jet fighters to the Philippine Air Force. Filipino pilots are training in them at Clark Field.

Presidential Potential Seen for Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) says Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) "definitely has presidential potentials" for 1960.

In an interview recorded for radio broadcast in Los Angeles, McClellan recalled that the Arkansas delegation supported Kennedy for the Democratic vice presidential nomination in 1956.

"I think they would do so again," he said. "I think they would support him for president next time. Of course, I can't foresee what the situation will be in 1960. But he's highly regarded. He definitely has presidential potentials."

Objections Voiced to Clean Election Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Comptroller General Joseph Campbell says he doesn't want to ask congressmen personal questions — especially about a subject so personal as campaign funds.

★ ★ ★

He noted that, in effect, Congress is his employer, and he doesn't want to spoil what he says has been a most harmonious relationship.

The official thus voiced his objections to provisions in a proposed clean elections bill which would require him to make an accounting of campaign expenditures reports, and point out violators to the attorney general.

His views were included in a report of the Senate Elections subcommittee made public yesterday.

Mideast Maxim Called Success

But Ike Warns Against Complacency to Reds by Free World

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower says his Middle East doctrine has been successful in preserving world peace and has served as "an unmistakeable warning to international Communism against all forms of aggression."

However, Mr. Eisenhower in a report to Congress yesterday cautioned against any complacency on the part of the free world that the Reds have abandoned their ambitions in the explosive area.

He emphasized the resolution designed to keep the Middle East crisis from exploding into war has helped lessen tensions.

In a progress report to Congress, Mr. Eisenhower noted the U.S. has pledged $174,200,000 in military and economic aid to build up anti-Communist strength in the Middle East since the Eeisenhower Doctrine went into force March 9.

But the President's report said that despite the lessening of war risks in the Middle East, "no grounds for complacency exists."

It reported: "The United States must persevere in the course upon which it has embarked if the high purposes embodied in the resolution are to be realized.

"To do otherwise would be to break face with the nations of the Middle East to the detriment of our own national security and the cause of world peace."

German Chief of State to Visit Pope This Fall

BONN, Germany (AP) — For the first time in 54 years, a German chief of state is going to visit the Pope.

The Federal Bulletin announced today that West Germany's 73-year-old Protestant President, Theodor Heuss, will make a state visit to the Vatican in November.

The last German chief of state to call on the Pope was Kaiser Wilhelm II, who visited Leo XIII in 1903.

Eating With Fingers Causes Strike on Island

COLOMBO (AP) —Colombo's telecommunications workers struck for 20 hours yesterday, paralyzing the island's telephone and telegraph system in a dispute over table manners.

Clerks and the technical staff said they would not allow office boys to use their canteen. The clerks said they ate with knives and forks but the office boys used their fingers.

★ ★ ★

Prime Minister Solomon Bandaranaike intervened personally to settle the dispute with a Solomon's judgement. The canteen will be divided into two sections, one for finger shovelers and one for cutlery wielders.

Reds Hold Up 82-GI Convoy

U.S. Accuses Border Guards in Germany of Arbitrary Action

BERLIN (AP)—The United States has accused Russian border guards of "irregular, irresponsible and arbitrary action" in holding up a U.S. Army convoy en route to West Germany.

An Army spokesman said a convoy of 28 trucks carrying 82 GIs was stopped yesterday at a Soviet checkpoint outside West Berlin. It was bound for West Germany over the military highway running through East German territory.

The Russians asked for the soldiers' identification cards and for the first time insisted on comparing the pictures on them with the soldiers' faces. The convoy commander offered the Soviets his assurance that the soldiers and pictures matched. The Russians refused to accept his word and the American ordered the convoy back to West Berlin.

★ ★ ★

Maj. Gen. Barksdale Hamlett sent an officer to Soviet headquarters in East Berlin with a sharp oral protest, the spokesman said.

Vaccine Will Solve Polio Problem—Salk

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Jonas Salk says the killed virus vaccine he developed "will solve the problem of paralytic polio." But he doesn't rule out development of "other ideas and variations" in antipolio vaccines.

Salk returned yesterday from the fourth International Polio Conference in Geneva. He was asked about the recent recommendation of a 12-nation panel of the World Health Organization for trials of a polio vaccine made from live virus which could be taken through the mouth.

★ ★ ★

"The consensus of fact indicates," Salk replied, "that all countries which are vaccinating are using the killed virus vaccine." He said he is convinced that the killed virus holds the answer to eventual elimination of the disease. But he added that development of other types of antipolio vaccine is possible.

Salk estimated that more than 300 million persons have received the Salk vaccine in both the free and Communist worlds.

Approve Final Pan-American Highway Link

PANAMA (AP) — The Pan-American Highway Congress last night approved preliminary plans for the last major, 100-million-dollar link in the hemispheric thoroughfare. The United States is expected to foot two thirds of the bill.

★ ★ ★

The committee approved an engineering report saying it was feasible to span the 465 miles of jungle between Panama and Colombia. Then it adopted a formula for the financing of preconstruction surveys. The formula is expected to be applied also to construction costs.

★ ★ ★

It was estimated that a survey for the Panama portion of the route will take 14 months and cost about $1,400,000. Additional surveys must be made on the Colombian side before the final route can be recommended.

The financing plan calls for the United States to contribute two thirds, Panama and Colombia two ninths and the other Latin-American countries the other ninth.

Charged With Making Annoying Calls to Chicago Women

Police Snag Alleged Phone Culprit

CHICAGO (AP)—Police said a man who made a series of annoying telephone calls to wives of prominent Chicagoans over a period of two years was arrested last night as he made an extortion call to a society matron.

Robert Mettleman, 32, was seized in a tavern after police equipped with walkie-talkies traced a call to Mrs. William Wood Prince, wife of the vice chairman of Armour and Co. and head of Union Stockyards Co.

He was not immediately charged.

★ ★ ★

Police said an intensive manhunt had been under way for more than a year but the caller previously eluded arrest by seldom spending more than a few minutes on the phone each time, preventing a trace of the call.

Sometimes the caller demanded money, sometimes he made obscene remarks and frequently he asked the women for dates which he never kept, police reported.

Teams of detectives were assigned to work with the Illinois Bell Telephone Co. after Prince complained to police more than a year ago.

★ ★ ★

On July 16, police said, Mittleman demanded $25,000 from Mrs. Prince and telephoned to slash her if she refused. He called six times since then and was arrested last night as he asked for $500.

The arrest was made in a liquor store phone booth through split-second timing by police and telephone workers.

The origin of the calls had been narrowed to an area on the South Side where teams of detectives patrolled with walkie-talkies.

★ ★ ★

They sped to the liquor store when the phone company—which had rigged a direct line to the Prince home on the Northwest Side—reported another annoying call.

Mittleman, a 6-foot, 6-inch tube sprayer for the National Video Corp., told officers he made the calls "just for kicks."

Hold Burial Rite for Sen. George

High Officials, Humble Friends Attend Funeral at Vienna, Ga.

VIENNA, Ga. (AP)—Former Sen. Walter F. George was buried in a sun-dappled cemetery yesterday while the great and the humble bowed in tribute to a man who did much for peace in a troubled world.

A delegation of congressmen, an ambassador and a governor joined with hundreds of Georgia friends at the brief interment service.

The tenant farmer's son who spent 34 years in the Senate and became special ambassador to NATO was eulogized as "a great and good man . . . who loved truth."

Those were the words of the Rev. L. C. Cutts during the simple funeral service in the red brick First Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was present as President Eisenhower's personal representative.

Flags were flown at half staff on all government buildings and on naval vessels at Eisenhower's direction. State Flags also were at half staff.

George died in his sleep Sunday at the white frame house in this south central Georgia town of 2,000 where he had been battling a heart ailment for many weeks.

Man Who is Blind Chops Timber Like an Expert

MOSCOW, Idaho (INS) — Fred Robison chops down trees with the precision of a skilled woodsman—even though he is blind.

★ ★ ★

Robison is a tree farmer and also cultivates other crops near Moscow, doing all his own work.

His wife, Grace, pitches in only to advise her husband on the direction a tree must fall to avoid damaging other trees. Mrs. Robison said:

"Fred says running the farm is his job and keeping house is mine."

Robison has been blind for 37 years. He chops down trees that are inferior, saws them into stovewood and loads them on his pickup truck.

★ ★ ★

His wife drives the truck home and then he takes over again, unloading it; splitting logs into smaller sizes and stacking them in the woodshed.

Like all farmers, Robison helps out other farmers in big jobs like loading and baling hay.

His neighbor, Orrin Crooks, said: "Fred works right along with the best of them."

Texas County May Have Found Lost Weekend

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—Dry Red River County may have a rare liquor cache in its own back yard, if a local legend is true.

★ ★ ★

Heavy rains this spring altered the course of the Red River. A fisherman, Benny Budgett, following the new course, recently uncovered the mast of a large, long-buried boat.

★ ★ ★

District Clerk Eugene Bowers recalled that a boat loaded with 200 barrels of whisky, according to the legend, sank near there in 1855. At that time it was common practice for cotton boats to carry many items of cargo although about 1876.

Report Impounding of USW's Ballots

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee reportedly has asked all locals of the United Steelworkers to impound ballots used in President David J. McDonald's re-election six months ago.

★ ★ ★

Letters have been written by committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy to the union's more than 2,500 locals, it was learned, asking that the ballots be preserved beyond the Aug. 12 date fixed in the union's constitution as the time they could be destroyed.

★ ★ ★

McDonald, who won the election by an announced margin of nearly 2-1, issued a public statement several months ago pledging full cooperation in any investigation the committee might undertake.

Donald Rarick, his opponent, a steelworker from McKessport, Pa. claimed when the union election results were announced there had been "irregularities."

Handiness Top Feature of Ike's Retreat

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Feature Writer

Handiness is the alluring feature of President Eisenhower's chosen vacation retreat at Newport, R. I., on Narragansett Bay.

Just about everything the President enjoys by way of recreation is within easy reach of the vacation White House on Coasters Harbor Island.

And so are the necessities of presidential vacation life like speedy air transport, a large functioning communications set-up and a ready-made security system.

The Eisenhower vacation home for three or four weeks will be the 12-room, white frame official residence of the Newport Naval Base commander, Rear Adm. Henry Crommelin.

Crommelin, newly named to the post, won't be dispossessed by the important guest. The admiral has net yet moved into the two-story house tucked in trees behind the base administration building.

The naval base occupies the mile long Coasters Harbor Island. The Island is connected by an easily guarded causeway to Newport, which itself is on a larger island Aquidneck.

Less than 10 miles by boat across the bay is the big Quonset Point Naval Air Station, where the President will arrive by air in mid-August to begin his vacation. Quonset is 350 airline miles from Washington.

The President is expected to spend a large part of his leisure time on the fairways of Newport Country Club, a member-guest golf course just 15 minutes from the naval base.

The 6,566-yard, par 72 layout has a reputation in golfing circles as a rugged course.

The Newport CC is the successor to the Newport Golf Club, one of five charter members of the U. S. Golf Assn. and site of the first USGA Open and first USGA Amateur tournaments, both in 1895.

Newport waters offer some fine fishing grounds and the President has been known to dip a line in his spare time. Nearby ponds abound in bass.

Although salt water fishing is not an Eisenhower enthusiasm, Narragansett Bay is a favorite haunt of bluefish and mackerel anglers while some 25 miles out in the Atlantic are some of the finest tuna fishing grounds on the East Coast.

Another item of interest to a president who dabbles in painting might be the birthplace of Gilbert Stuart, the American portrait artist who specialized in painting presidents. It's across the bay in North Kingstown.

Stuart's best known work is an unfinished portrait of George Washington, the standard portrait of the first president. Stuart portrayed in oils the first six chief executives before he died in 1828.

On the opposite side of Newport, facing the sea, are the fashionable mansions, promenades and beaches of the "Gold Coast," relics of the days (circa 1890-1910) when Newport was the summer home of New York's wealthy society.

There's ultra-exclusive Bailey's Beach; the Breakers, Cornelius Vanderbilt's 70-room mansion now paying attraction for tourists; and the Cliff walk, a picturesque promenade along the shoreline.

It might be comforting, too, for President Eisenhower to know that he will be among friends in Newport. The city gave him 58 per cent of its vote in the 1952 presidential election and 63 per cent in 1956.

Teachers Falling Below Standard

Michigan School Boss Lynn M. Bartlett Sees One-Fifth Under Par

LANSING (AP)—Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, states that about one-fifth of the teachers manning Michigan grade and high schools this autumn will fall short of meeting "acceptable modern standards" for the work.

Bartlett said the teacher shortage problem has not been solved, with prospects that it will continue for years.

He said Michigan probably will recruit about 2,500 teachers from other states this fall, a practice which from an overall viewpoint, he said, amounted to "robbing one state to staff another."

The number of full time teachers required to staff schools was estimated at 54,500. About 11,000 of them will be drawn from the ranks of persons with sub-standard qualifications, Bartlett said.

He said about 5,400 persons who taught in Michigan last year are leaving school work for reasons of marriage, illness, retirement, military service or other employment.

PERCENTAGE REPORT

Bartlett called "disheartening" an estimate that only 60 per cent of young persons who train for secondary school teaching and 80 per cent who prepare for the elementary field actually accept teaching positions.

He said relatively unattractive pay was in part responsible.

At the same time, he said, it was "encouraging" that teacher certifications for Michigan College and University graduates reached 5,852 in the last school year, and is expected to rise about 20 per cent in the coming year.

Bartlett said reports on teacher recruitment this summer varied widely in different communities, with some filling up staffs easily and others having great difficulty.

Couple Supply Squid Nerves to MIT

By BOB CONSIDINE

ALLENHURST, N. J. (INS) — Several statements affecting our relations with the Allies, and with reason, were made here over the weekend.

We had a talk over the weekend with the most remarkable husband and wife fishing team on earth: Lou and Eugenie Marron, who live at Brielle, N. J.

Lou and his artist wife hold incredible records, most of them established while fishing off Iquique, Chile. He's an oil man (she prefers pastels) who had added much to the sum total of marine knowledge by fishing for such seats of learning and research as the University of Miami and M.I.T.

Their latest kick—which they finance—has been supplying M.I.T. with the nerves of giant squid. The horrifying creatures are caught with a series of hooks which imbed themselves into their tentacles.

★ ★ ★

The nerve in question is removed after stunning the monster with an electric charge, frozen, and then sent along on its endless journey to Boston.

M.I.T. believes it may someday provide the answer to the ability of one person to recover from disease that kills another person. But it is too early to speak of such things, the Marrons say.

Small girl-type friend of ours named Priscilla Meehan nearly caused us to drive off the road when she broke a long silence in the car in which we were riding with this hitherto unmentioned announcement:

"My sister," Priscilla said, while we pondered the outcome of the civil rights bill, "has had her ears punctured for earrings." Somehow, none of us was ready for it.

Jimmy Thomson, one of the classier men in golf, had a Bobby Jones story that was new. Seems a real dyed-in-the-wool duffer who plays at Jones' favorite course was relating the story of how he hit a three-wood on his second shot on a short par four hole.

Seems that the ball richocheted off the caddy, hit a tree, bounced around through a rock garden, broke up a nearby picnic, shot back on the course, rolled through two traps, climbed on the green and went into the cup.

★ ★ ★

"You must have had a very bad drive to have to use a three-wood for your second on a short hole like that," Jones commented.

The duffer thought a moment and then asked, "Did you ever have a two on the hole, Bobby?"

There was silence for the next week, or year.

Just to See Europe

Voyage Across Atlantic Easy for Four Novices

CHICAGO (AP) — A 43-foot yawl dropped anchor in Chicago yesterday looking for all the world like any of the dozens of boats ending a weekend pleasure cruise on Lake Michigan.

Aboard the Fare Well were four suburbanites who previously had never sailed anything larger than a dinghy on a Midwest lake. They had just completed an 8,000-mile, 124-day trip across the Atlantic from Bremen, Germany.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Alfred Wolfarth, 58, of Mount Prospect, explained the voyage was "to give us a chance to see Europe."

With Wolfarth were his wife Caroline, 58, their son Robert, 32, and a family friend, Robert Jobin, 46, of Elmhurst.

They left Chicago in March for Bremen, where they bought the boat, outfitted it and took on provisions.

They sailed April 12 and after passing through the English Channel, cruised the Mediterranean, then to the Canary Islands and Bermuda. They reached Chicago by way of Erie, Oswego and Welland canals and the Great Lakes.

Ports of call included Holland, England, France, Spain, Portugal, Gibraltar, French Morocco, the Canary Islands, Bermuda and New York.

They were becalmed 24 hours and later hit 60 m.p.h. winds at the end of Hurricane Audrey.

★ ★ ★

"The only time I was frightened," Dr. Wolfarth said, "was near the beginning when we sailed across the English Channel. Our boat, with a 55-foot mast, rode out 40-foot waves. We had a German sailor aboard going to England and he didn't appear frightened. I figured I shouldn't be either."

He said the roughest part of the trip was a five-day period when there was practically no wind.

"We made only 20 to 40 miles a day. When the wind was good we covered 180 miles a day. The only time we used the engine was in harbors. We had fuel enough for only 100 miles.

★ ★ ★

"We didn't miss any of the trappings of civilization, but a shower bath is going to feel mighty nice," Wolfarth said. "Salt water will never replace landlubber's liquid when it comes to scrubbing."

Mrs. Wolfarth said the crew ate mostly canned foods prepared on a kerosene stove.

Would he recommend such a voyage to everybody? He said he certainly would.

But He's in Cuban Hot Seat

Trouble Unusual for Smith

U.S. Ambassador Earl Smith, who has become the center of controversy in Cuba, is a quiet-spoken investment broker who hasn't been in any troublesome fights since he was a Yale heavyweight boxing champion in the 1920's.

However, Smith became embroiled in a explosive situation this week when he publicly deplored Cuban police action agaist a group of women at Santiago who were protesting the regime of Cuba's President Fulgencio Batista.

His remarks stirred up unofficial Cuban demands that he be withdrawn from the post he assumed a week ago and a request from the state department that he send a full report on the episode.

Smith's prowess as a college heavyweight isn't surprising in as much as he stands six and a half feet tall and, at 53 years of age, is still an ardent golfer and sportsman.

Before being named to the diplomatic post, Smith was a successful and wealthy investment broker and a staunch Republican supporter.

GOOD FUND RAISER

He served as GOP state finance chairman in Florida and was recognized as a highly-successful fund raiser.

Smith has a home on the Palm Beach "gold coast" next door to a former ambassador to England in the Roosevelt administration, Joseph Kennedy, of Boston, who is father of Sen. John Kennedy and Robert Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

But he has spent most of his time in New York City where he is well known in social circles and where he was a senior partner in the brokerage firm of Page, Smith and Renick, a member of the New York Stock Exchange since 1926, and a director of the New York Central Railroad.

Smith was born in Newport, R.I. The Ambassador is now married to Florence Pritchett, who has appeared on a number of TV panel shows and has her own shop in Palm Beach where she designs women's sports clothes.

He was formely married to Consuelo Vanderbilt, daughter of the late William K. Vanderbilt.

Germans Free to Wear War Decorations

BONN, Germany (AP)—Beginning today, Germans will again be permitted to wear decorations won during the regimes of Kaiser Wilhelm and Adolf Hitler.

The old black, white and red decorations will once again become legal wearing apparel, with one important change — all swastikas, the Nazi emblem, must be removed. The German colors now are black, red and gold.

Wearing of the old decorations had been banned under Allied occupation and during the first two years of West German sovereignty.

TALK ABOUT ECONOMY...

FORD$ CO$T LE$$ PER MILE!

Fords cost less to buy!

No doubt about it! Model for model, right across the board, Ford cars are the lowest priced* of the low-price three. And don't be fooled by those "low prices" now being quoted for some "stripped down" models in the medium-price field. Remember, a '57 Ford equipped the way most people want a car today—with automatic transmission, heater and radio—costs hundreds of dollars less than these medium-priced cars, *similarly equipped.

*Based on comparison of manufacturers' suggested retail delivered prices

Fords cost less to run!

In the only nationally recognized test of gasoline economy, the 1957 Mobilgas Economy Run, a Ford Six delivered more miles per gallon than any other car entered! This, remember, was no "priyate test" conducted for the benefit of a single manufacturer. This was grueling competition between 12 different makes of cars, 24 cars in all . . . supervised every mile of the way by officials of the United States Auto Club. And when the rugged 1568-mile test was over, Ford led all other cars regardless of size, weight or price in the thing you want most—actual miles per gallon!

Fords cost less to trade!

Latest official auction sale figures on used cars show clearly that the new kind of Ford commands a higher price than either of its two low-priced competitors. The men who bid at these auctions are professional buyers—men whose very livelihood depends upon their expert knowledge of cars. They pay more for used Fords because they know that Fords hold up in value. Like thousands of Ford owners from coast to coast, they have discovered that Ford is worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it, too!

Fleeting Mountain Figure Is Behind Revolt in Oman

BY JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

The "gray eminence" behind the Imam of Oman's revolt in Eastern Arabia is an old roguish character named Suleiman Bin Hamyar.

British officials who are trying to quell the revolt at the request of the Sultan in a territory which might yield rich oil dividends, also regard Suleiman as the villain.

Suleiman, Sheikh of the Bani Riyam, is undisputed ruler of the Jebel Akhdar, or "Green Mountains" which jut up 10,000 feet from the flat swirling deserts in the Omani interior.

He long has been regarded as a trouble-maker for the Sultan, who lives at Muscat on the coast. A British explorer years ago described him as "a powerful if not very congenial personality."

HIS WORD IS LAW

But Suleiman's word is law in the mountain fastness which has been penetrated by very few Westerners, or other outsiders.

Nobody knows the age of this old warrior, but those who have seen him describe him as strongly built in contrast to many of his diseased minions, and whose strong face wears a triangular, gray beard.

Suleiman was involved in the brief revolt in December, 1955, when British-led Sultanate troops rolled into the Imam's capital at Nizwa and found that the Imam and his brother, Talib, had fled into the mountains above.

James Morris, then a correspondent for the London Times, accompanied the British expedition and told of it in "Sultan in Oman" (Pantheon).

At Nizwa word spread among the Sultan's troops that Suleiman's camel-riding warriors might swoop down on them at night in a surprise attack.

WAITED AND WORRIED

There were a few jitters while the troops and the Sultan waited to see if old Suleiman would come out of the mountains and acknowledge the sovereignty of the Sultan instead of attacking.

There was some nervousness when a great dust pillar was sighted along a rough, rocky road in the "Green Mountains." When the pillar approached closer it turned out to be Suleiman riding in an American convertible — believed to be a gift of King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

A Negro slave clung to the baggage top, and when the car stopped in these strange surroundings he jumped off and opened the door with a flourish.

Morris described richly-dressed Suleiman as having the expression of "unfathomable foxiness."

Suleiman swore fealty to the Sultan although it was predicted at the time that Suleiman would wait for a time, then revolt again.

600 Rookies Police Danger Zones

New York Acts to Curb Rash of Juvenile Violence

NEW YORK (AP)—The city's 600 student policemen start pounding beats tonight on shadowy streets where youth crime is most likely to erupt.

The emergency move was ordered yesterday after a hastily called meeting of city and state officials. They met to plan a counterattack against a recent rash of juvenile crime.

There have been three killings and a series of beatings and brawls involving teenagers in the past 11 days.

★ ★ ★

The young rookies will be armed with nightsticks and pistols. Each rookie's beat will be linked with two others manned by experienced patrolmen.

The rookies are going into battle in such potentially dangerous areas as the Red Hook section of Brooklyn and Washington Heights in Manhattan. They will walk their beats from 6 to 12 p.m.—the critical hours for teenage violence.

The rookies are probationary patrolmen enrolled at the police academy. They were sworn in last June 28.

The city's 23,000-man regular police force are under a special order alerting them against outbreaks of juvenile crime. Teams of detectives have been assigned to areas where youth gangsterism occurred recently.

The department also ordered a special watch on taverns that may be selling liquor or beer to youths under 18.

The meeting of city and state officials brought together Gov. Averell Harriman's State Youth Commission, the City Youth Board and Police Department youth crime experts.

After the meeting, William R. Peer, executive secretary to Mayor Robert F. Wagner, made the announcement about the rookie patrolmen.

He added, however: "This does not mean that more police is the specific for eliminating juvenile crime. . . .

★ ★ ★

"The responsibility for keeping kids out of trouble goes back to the parents," Peer said. "They should know where their children are, especially at night. Although we are doing all we can, the problem will never be solved until parents realize their responsibilities."

The mayor's secretary disclosed there were 29 deaths from juvenile violence in the city in 1956. The count so far this year is 22.

Man Can Guard His Wife Against Widowed Misery

BY BEULAH STOWE

There is a woman in her 70s alone in her eight-room house in a city in Nebraska. Her husband died two years ago, she has no relatives and few friends, and she is afraid.

She nails the windows shut. She has five locks on the front door, three more locks on the inside of her bedroom door. She sometimes goes out on the front porch, puts a two-by-four across the door, and nails and hammers it tight with the strength born of desperation.

Then she goes around to the back door and scurries in and bolts herself into the house from the inside.

She needs help, but she won't let anyone help her.

Her husband could probably have prevented this situation, had he been able to foresee the misery he was bequeathing his wife as a result of their once-happy life for two.

He was a successful attorney. There were no children. They lived closely together. They talked over everything together. They were well-to-do, and they were self-sufficient.

★ ★ ★

His widow's legacy includes a house, an income, unreasonable fear, loneliness, and distrust.

FOUR THINGS

No man would intentionally leave his wife in such an unhappy situation. Here are four things every man past 50 should do to prevent misery for his wife in future years:

1. Allow her to develop her own personality. The shy woman who dedicates herself to her husband and nothing else is asking for a widowhood of being only half of a person.

2. Help her develop friends. Friends must be cultivated; they will not appear by magic when the husband dies.

3. Keep her informed on business and financial affairs and tell her whom to turn to — besides you.

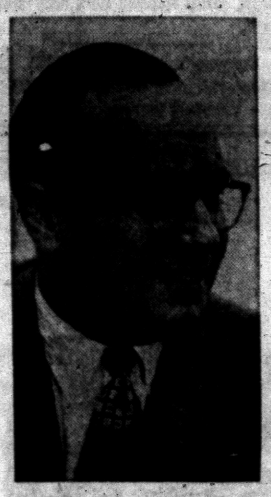

4. Encourage her to make contacts outside the home where she can be useful. A job or a charity or something that has to be done will be an anchor when she is left alone.

★ ★ ★ ★

Q — "I am 59 and plan to retire at 65. My wife tells me I should cultivate a hobby to keep me busy after retirement, but I am too tired at night to do anything but sit." — Percy H.

A hobby can make you eager to retire and have more time to spend on it, and can add to your income after retirement. Go hobby hunting this weekend.

300,000 U.S. Babies Owe Life to Progress

Four words — "It might have been" — have been called the saddest words of tongue or pen. But in one respect at least, they are the happiest we can imagine.

★ ★ ★

According to Health Information, Foundation, at least 300,000 American infants are now alive who would have died before their first birthday if the mortality standards of 40 years ago had prevailed last year.

★ ★ ★

Instead, advances in medicine and increased public awareness of health information have cut the infant death rate by 75 per cent since 1915. Four decades ago, 1 in 10 children died in the first year of life. Now the death rate is 1 in 40.

★ ★ ★

Improved prenatal care, more births in the hospital rather than in the home, and regular visits to the doctor during infancy are some of the main factors in this dramatic improvement.

BUT MANY DIE

The story is a long way from ended, however. Although 300,000 infants were saved last year, 108,000 died — and many of these deaths could have been prevented by better health practices.

The first week of life is still the most dangerous with respect to fatal illness. Sixty-five times as many infants die during those first seven days as during the entire 12th month of life.

★ ★ ★

Health Information Foundation believes that the answer to this problem will come, not through any earth-shattering discovery, but through better understanding and a closer relationship between hospitals, physicians and the public.

No Swooning for Frank

It takes all kinds to make the world of Hollywood.

Lanky, quizzical Frank Lovejoy has been married for 17 years to the same woman, and says he knows nothing at all about women, never has understood what makes them tick and never expects to.

"I don't win all the fights I get into either," says Frank. "I don't always knock out the villain. Sometimes he knocks me out. I don't always charge to the rescue of a maiden in distress—if it looks dangerous I may duck under the nearest table."

UNUSUAL ROLE

Such an atypical character naturally would gravitate to an untraditional role, and that's just what he has done in his new TV series Meet McGraw. As he appears on the TV screen, McGraw is a dead ringer for Lovejoy.

★ ★ ★

He's a private eye who doesn't wear a trench coat and doesn't carry a gun. He doesn't have a blonde, curvy assistant with a low neckline and he doesn't fall in love each week. He ambles in and out of the action with a bored expression.

"I kind of like this guy McGraw," says Lovejoy frankly. "He's not a superman. He's just a guy who tries to do the best he can, and is interested in saving his own neck quite frequently."

★ ★ ★

Despite his claim that he doesn't understand women, Lovejoy has some definite ideas about how they should be treated. Sort of gallant, old-world ideas.

REGULAR GUYS, TOO

"I don't treat all women as if they were just bodies," says Frank. "I prefer to view them as people. Some of them can even be good companions, with a sense of humor and an understanding of fair play. Lots of women are regular guys too."

★ ★ ★

Lovejoy is married to an actress, Joan Banks, with whom he used to work in radio. They have two children, Steve, 11 and Judy, 14.

Be Stylish 'in the Red' This Year

PARIS (INS) — It's fashionable to be "in the red" this year and here is how to do it "a la Francaise."

For sports wear combine red with navy blue, white or gray as accessories or complementary clothes.

TO LOOK DRESSY

If you want a red outfit to look dressy wear it with black accessories and diamond or rhinestone jewelry.

For a striking effect Paris fashion designers combine red with mauve or purple. Red, combined with green and gold looks Oriental.

The smartest red Paris styles are by Jean Patou and Madeleine de Rauch. Patou dresses a lady in red for around the clock. Made of red wool crepe the outfit is a town suit with a wrist-length jacket and an all-pleated skirt.

Under the pleated skirt a second, slim red skirt replaces the petticoat and combines with a decollete top to a cocktail or dinner dress.

ON BEACH, TOO

Madeleine de Rauch wants women to look like flames on the beach as well as in the city. She used bright red shantung for Indian-inspired "punjab pants" with their fullness caught in a band at mid-calf height. They are worn with a strapless sun top and a loose collarless jacket, both of shantung in matching red.

Another red-hot style is a chiffon shirtwaist dress, a matching red wool coat, red cloche hat and red kid pump shoes.

Mrs. Robertson Honors Son's Bride-Elect at Tea

Mrs. Don Robertson of East Hammond Lake drive entertained 75 guests at a tea Sunday afternoon honoring Susan Strunk, bride-elect of Bruce Robertson.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Merle Voss and Mrs. Fred Hoenstine presided at the tea table which was decorated with a white and silver tablecloth, pink roses and white chrysanthemums.

Following the tea, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robertson entertained the bridal couple and out-of-town guests at a buffet dinner in their home on Washington street. The decorations again followed a pink and white color scheme, and the table was centered with a bride's cake.

DINNER GUESTS

Guests of honor included Susan and Bruce, Mr. and Mrs. Farrell H. Strunk, Mr. and Mrs. Don Robertson, Audry Horton, Ruth Hadden, Opal Lewton, Mrs. Astrid Anderson, Pauline Herrick and Ethel Herrick, Carrie Ann Charles and Brooks Robertson also attended.

★ ★ ★

Susan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Farrell H. Strunk of Lansing. Bruce's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Robertson of East Hammond Lake drive. The couple will be wed in a Sept. 7 ceremony in Lansing.

Don't Scorn Husband's Brainstorm

He May Become A-Age Successor to Edison

If your husband starts drawing plans on the tablecloth some night and shows an unnatural interest in space ships, don't laugh. He may turn out to be the Edison of the atomic age.

This is advice from a woman who knows. She's a strawberry blonde from Canaan, Conn., who has a happy smile and can afford a mink coat just because she didn't telephone a psychiatrist when her husband developed symptoms of inventoritis.

Gloria Williams isn't the worrying kind. When she married a handsome young lieutenant commander in 1948, she didn't object when husband Ross started experimenting with plastics right in the middle of the honeymoon. Instead, she helped. She told him he was wonderful. And so he was.

★ ★ ★

For several years the Williams apartment in New York was a part-time laboratory Gloria had been a packaging expert for a cosmetics company and knew something about chemistry and such, so she became a valued assistant to her inventive husband.

The result of all this is a thriving factory in Canaan, turning out carloads of little paper towels, moistened with skin freshener lotion and packaged in moisture proof foil-and-plastic envelopes. Simple, but so was the safety pin.

These moist, compact disposable washcloths were first introduced on airlines, and now are considered everyday necessities in many homes. They are sold in drug and department stores all over the country, often pop up in such unlikely spots as Cairo or Pompeii.

Mothers take along a supply when they go traveling with the children. Seafood restaurants pass them out instead of finger bowls.

KATHLEEN LaFOUNTAIN

The Jed W. LaFountains of Drayton Plains announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen, to Robert Leightley. Robert's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Leightley of North Perry Street. No date has been set for the wedding.

Better Start Shedding Pounds Now

Are Your Fall Clothes Too Snug?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is time to remember how rapidly the next few weeks will pass. Before we know it summer will be gone and fall will be upon us, with a huff and puff. I am sure you know what I am thinking! This is just the camouflage before I throw the hook into you.

★ ★ ★

What about getting into those fall and winter clothes? Have you gained a few pounds during the hot months, or are you going to buy some new clothes? Had you promised yourself that you will never again go shopping when you are overweight? Even 10 extra pounds can make that a chore instead of a pleasure.

This week I have been printing some letters from Marathon winners. This one will give you cause for thought.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: This is the third year I have joined your Eight - Week Self - Improvement Marathon. I do not know what I would have done without it! Every year I lose from 15 to 18 pounds (all I need to lose). I also drop inches and look like a different person but, come fall and winter, I have gained them back.

★ ★ ★

"I have a friend who always sends for your Marathon when you print letters from winners in the late summer. She gains in the summer, uses Marathon and loses, and then gains it back during the next summer. She is writing to you again this summer.

"We are disgusted with ourselves and wish you would give us some advice as to how to stay the way we are at the end of Marathon. I guess we are just weak-minded and shouldn't expect you to help. Thanks."

THEY'RE JUST HUMAN

This writer and her friend are not weak-minded but just human. They evidently have will power once they make up their minds. I think I can give them, and any of you who are in the same boat, some helpful suggestions.

Can you still fit into last year's fall and winter outfit? Or will you have to buy a new wardrobe this year because you have gained so much weight? Now is the time to lose that added summer weight and Josephine Lowman tells you how in her Marathon booklet.

In the first place don't go haywire the minute you stop dieting. Add just a few hundred calories to your daily intake and only a few of the things you like especially and had given up, not all of them.

With a dieting period as long as eight weeks you will have somewhat lost your craving for the rich calorie - packed foods, anyway, so that is is easier to use them moderately and occasionally. Do not let it become a habit again.

Second, make an absolute rule that you never will become more than 5 pounds overweight, 6 at the most. If you go on a trip where part of the fun is eating foods which are different or if you have houseguests or an especially gala week on so, enjoy them, but not past 5 or 6 pounds worth.

★ ★ ★

Usually those who gain easily lose easily. Anyway if you go after the first 5 pounds as soon as they arrive in the spots you least want them, you never will have a big reducing job on your hands.

TO GET INTO SHAPE

If you missed my Eight-Week Self - Improvement Marathon and want to get in shape for fall and winter clothes, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the Marathon booklet. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Best Seats Are Saved for Friends

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: Do you think it fair for those coming early to a lecture, recital, concert, of anywhere else where seats are not reserved, to save the best seats for their friends who arrive later. Last week my husband and I went to a recital given by a dancing school which my daughter attends.

"We went fairly early so that we could get good seats. When we arrived, however, we found that all of the seats up front were being reserved for friends. Some people were reserving as many as five seats. Isn't this bad manners?"

Answer: I agree with you that it is unfair for anyone to reserve more than one or two of the best seats for expected friends. If a group would like to sit together in the front rows they should all come early.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The invitations to our daughter's wedding have just come back from the printers and I noticed that the Mr. was omitted from in front of the bridegroom's name.

"I thought this very strange and called the printer about it. He informed me that it was improper to use Mr. when the name was followed by Junior. Will you please tell me if he is right about this?"

Answer: He is wrong. The suffix has nothing whatever to do with his title. Correctly he should be "Mr. Henry Jones Jr."

"Dear Mrs. Post: Does one have to buy an item that typifies a particular wedding anniversary? Don't you think it would make more sense to buy something you know for sure would be very acceptable, regardless of what year they are celebrating?"

Answer: To your second question, "yes," very decidedly, if you know of something that they want and you can give it to them. Otherwise it would be more suitable to buy something that typifies their anniversary.

Water First-aider for Clothes Spots

Clear water often provides excellent first-aid for spots on clothing. Applied as soon as possible after staining, water will frequently prevent the spot from "setting."

Spotting sticks of a chalk-like substance can be purchased in many stores as well at some railroad station news stands. Simply apply the chalk, then brush it off and with the exception of severe stains, the spot will usually disappear. But don't try to remove stains from delicate fabrics such as silks or rayons. Let your cleaner do it. He is an expert and can do wonders providing he knows the nature of the stain.

Way to Express Personality

Rug-Hooking Is Home Art

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (INS) — If you're looking for a way to express your personality and at the same time beautify your home, try rug-hooking.

Mrs. John A. West, wife of an army officer stationed at San Antonio, highly recommends the hobby as satisfying and appealing to all ages of men and women.

Mrs. West took her first lesson in rug hooking seven years ago and has been hooking "like mad" ever since. She has taught many others in public and private classes and won prizes for her work.

"I read every book on the subject I can lay my hands on," she admits, and "I even go to bed with these books."

According to Mrs. West, everyone has a little bit of the artist inside and rug-hooking brings it out.

Two persons working the same design will invariably come up with something different, she said, "because they can't help hooking their own personality in it."

Bona-fide hookers call their art 'painting with rags" she pointed out.

Once the hobby is taken up the hooker is a scrap saver. Worn woolen blankets, clothings, etc. are used, and some are dyed to make good accents.

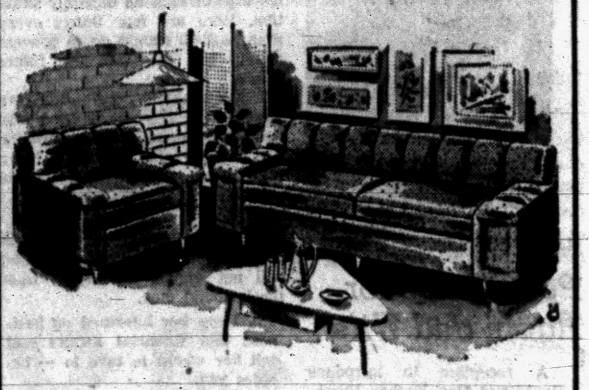

And when you've made beautiful rugs for every room in the house from the scraps, there is still a lot of decorating to be accomplished.

Hooking is good too for pictures, footstool covers, doorstop covers, coffee table tops, purses, shopping bags, lamp shades, hats and chair sets.

Phyllis Battelle Says:

Do What You Want, but Don't Discard It

NEW YORK (INS) — The time approacheth shortly when the little woman of America will stand solemnly and alone, facing her annual August's end problem.

The little woman is in her little house looking over her slightly wilted, mildly mildewed, remnants of summer clothes and furnishings. She will wash them, she decides, tuck them away to rest and refurbish themselves for summers to come.

Then, suddenly, she remembers her responsibility to her country. It speaks to her now—the still, small voice of the national economy—saying:

"Throw away those dresses, madame." (And that slipcover, and that measly screen TV set, and that luggage that's been all the way to Hoboken and back.) "We are counting on you to keep the weavers weaving and the spinners spinning and the big board booming down on Wall Street . . .

★ ★ ★

"This is the age of 'planned obsolescence,' madame. If you persist in saving things, you simply are not playing the game."

"I JUST CAN'T"

The little woman stops. Steve Says finally:

"I just can't. If I throw it away, I may regret it one day."

The hardest thing about being a real womanly woman in an age of relative prosperity is that your house inevitably must bulge at the beams.

This is because women, more than any other known sex, have: 1. A love of acquiring new possessions, mixed with 2. A loathing for discarding anything.

Men, as far as we have observed, cling only to such small-storage items as pipes, slippers and small address books; but women will swear eternal devotion to any inanimate friend—from dolls twice the size of their own infants, to a highboy that great-grandma should have bequeathed to the Salvation Army, but didn't.

Some women tend to hide their tender sentiments under the guise of practicality. She will just keep Eunice's baby carriage in the attic, Mrs. Jones says, because when Eunice (who is now six) has a baby of her own, she may need that money for Salk vaccine and what-all.

Mrs. Smith still has, stored away, some yellow chiffon frocks from the 1920's. They were blue when Mrs. Smith was being courted to the strains of the gramophone (which is in the cellar, along with 43 Rudy Vallee records). She is keeping the dresses because "you know how fast styles change."

But most women not only are willing to admit they're sentimental, but proud of it. These are the girls with closets, cellars and attics full of "lucky" dresses, "first love" letters, celluloid clowns won at state fairs, baby's first shoes and christening robes and locks and bassinettes, and old, non-functioning wedding gifts.

None of these museum pieces, of course, has anything to do with a woman's desire for new and fresh additions to her storage dilemas. After all, you can't take it with you, so you may as well spend the accumulations of prosperity.

TALKING TO YOU

It all boils down to this—and I'm talking to YOU, small voice of the planned-obsolescence economy.

You can make a woman buy, but you can't make her discard. Inevitably, the most obsolete commodities in America will be millions of houses which a country full of sentimentalists has grown out of.

MR. AND MRS. LEWIS L. COLLINS

St. Benedict Church was the setting Saturday for the wedding of Janet Ruth Yarber and Lewis L. Collins. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Yarber, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Collins.

Janet R. Yarber Speaks Vows in St. Benedict Rite

Vases of white gladioli and fern banked the altar of St. Benedict Church for the 10 a.m. wedding Saturday of Janet Ruth Yarber and Lewis L. Collins. The Rev. John Hoar performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert A. Yarber of Lakeview avenue. The Floyd Collinses of Giddings road are the bridegroom's parents.

For her wedding the bride wore a gown of clipped lace and nylon tulle. The bodice, fitted and appliqued with lace, featured long tapered sleeves. The square neckline was accented with a soft rolled edge of lace.

The bouffant skirt was made of five tiers of appliqued lace over tulle ending in a chapel train. Her headpiece, fashioned of iridescent sequins and pearls in pill-box style, held a veil of illusion.

Dorothy Gireux served as the maid of honor, with Dorothy Burch and Sonja Winnesten as bridesmaids. The maid of honor was gowned in pale blue nylon sheer over blue taffeta fashioned with a large taffeta bow in back ending in long streamers.

The bridesmaids wore similar gowns in yellow. All the attendants wore large open-crowned nylon net headpieces matching their dresses and carried cascade arrangements of yellow and blue glamellias.

Norene Yarber served as her sister's flower girl. She wore a dress of pink nylon organdy over taffeta and carried a nosegay arrangement of white glamellias and pink sweetheart roses.

Robert Collins assisted his brother as best man. Ron Klubnock and Charles McWethy were groomsmen while Dave Yarber and Ivan Kerr seated the guests. Teddy Kerr was the ringbearer.

A reception was held at the Auburn Heights Community Club.

Keep Hands Dried

Even with automatic dishwashers in more homes, women have their hands in water often during a day. Chapping and roughness result from lack of care. Always dry your hands thoroughly each time you remove them from water. When you're finished with a job, apply hand cream or lotion.

Onions Give Casserole Distinction

Mrs. Benson's Dish Alternates Layers of Vegetables

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Onions add a great deal to any dish—if you like the flavor—and most people do. This potato casserole with onions is easy to fix, a cinch to bake and delightful to eat. If you have an electric roaster or skillet, use that on hot days.

Mrs. John Edward Benson is today's cook. She cares for an invalid relative so is confined rather closely to home. Television is her hobby, she says, and she enjoys neighborhood get-togethers.

POTATO-ONION DISH
By Mrs. John Edward Benson

3 medium potatoes
2 medium onions
Salt and pepper
Milk

Alternate layers of sliced potatoes and sliced onions in a greased casserole. Dust each layer with salt, pepper and flour. Fill dish with milk. Bake at 350 degrees about 1½ hours. Serves three or four.

Hot Bath Takes Oils

Long, hot, soaking baths may make your skin tingle. But are they good for you? Too much hot water robs the skin of necessary oils. A tepid bath actually is more relaxing.

Gay Ann Wightman, cousin of the bride, was flower girl.

Wed in Gingellville

Kay Carter Speaks Vows

GINGELLVILLE — The Gingellville Baptist Church was the scene of the candlelight ceremony, Saturday, uniting Kay Dawn Carter and Joe E. Hayward.

The bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace with handkerchief pointed peplum over a tired nylon net skirt over satin. The scalloped lace formed the Empire neckline, and the long sleeves tapered to a point at the wrist.

A heart-shaped headpiece, embroidered with seed pearls and tiny sequins held her veil of bridal illusion. Her bouquet of pink sweetheart rosebuds was centered by two white orchids.

Louise Freeman, cousin of the bride was her maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Eleanore Gingell and Arline Green. Carol Davis, cousin of the bride, of Pontiac was the flower girl.

Finds Remains of a Tombstone in Back Yard

NORTH BRANCH — While digging in the rear yard of his home at 6823 Monroe St. this week, Stuart Gardner's spade grated on a bit of sandstone, which was revealed to be the remains of an old tombstone.

Workmen, fitting the pieces together, discovered the etching to read: "George M. Abbott Departed this life July 25, 1871, Aged 72 Years, 9 months and 18 days."

Following this was a verse, whose only legible words were "Dear Father."

There is no available history on this pioneer.

Leaders Meeting to Aid Farmer

Washington Conference Would Develop Plan for Improved Unity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of nearly 30 specialized farm organizations meet today to see if they can develop programs that would put more money in farmers' pockets.

Commodities to be represented included dairy, poultry, grains, cotton, fruits and vegetables, wool, hogs, cattle, peanuts, sugar, rice and soybeans.

The two-day closed conference has been called by the National Milk Producers Federation. Participating leaders said it is being held in an effort to restore unity to a farm bloc divided over government aid policies.

Leaders declined to predict whether they would be able to make any headway. They said the principal purpose of the meetings is to "explore the possibilities" of developing farm programs for the various commodities and then joining hands to put them through the next session of Congress.

Development of these plans would come at later meetings next fall, they said.

The national general farm organizations have not been invited to participate. But Herschel Newsom, master of the National Grange, has given his personal endorsement to the idea.

New Weeder Carries 4 Men

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—They weed celery while lying down on the Weesles brothers' farm in Montague Township—and they get twice as much done as the farmer who bends over all day ending up with a backache.

★ ★ ★

A "carry-all weeder," carrying four men, moves down the rows of celery covering about 2,000 feet per hour.

The weeder consists of a steel frame mounted on pneumatic-tired wheels. The frame is divided into four sections, each long enough to carry a man lying on his stomach on a stretched piece of canvas resembling a cot.

A 2½-horsepower engine propels the machine and one of the weeders steers the machine down the rows by means of foot pedals.

Shaded by an awning over the machine, the four men can weed about two acres a day—just about double what it would take four men to cover in stooping or kneeling positions.

Sound plush? Ben Weesies, one of the farm owners, says it is.

"It saves a lot of backaches and, this way, adds to the workers' comfort and reduces the labor cost to the grower," he says.

Carry-all weeders are not new. Their main drawback, many farmers say, is that it requires real stamina to do good work throughout the day because of the way the weeder moves steadily along the rows. "It's almost like automation," says Weesies, "but you still need your hands to pull the weeds."

$60,000 Blaze Levels Two Barns at Lapeer

LAPEER — Two barns on the farm of Dexter Salmond burned yesterday, six miles south of Lapeer with an estimated loss of $60,000.

The loss included an Ayrshire bull valued at $2,000, 75 tons of hay, 500 bushels of oats and wheat and various farm equipment.

Salmond said the loss was partly covered by insurance.

'LIVING' IN A CHAIR — Mrs. William Asselin of Sallee Court, Ortonville, is working here on one of her many activities while confined to a wheelchair after being stricken by polio. Making these moulded religious plaques goes along with church librarian, needlework and homemaking on her agenda.

'Sitting in Wheel Chair Doesn't Make Cripple'

Polio Victim Leading Rich, Full Life

By MARTHA LEWIS
Ortonville Correspondent

ORTONVILLE—Living a full and rich life in a wheel chair would present a problem to most of us, but to Mrs. William (Helen) Asselin of Sallee court here, it is accepted with courage and cheerfulness.

★ ★ ★

It was four years ago this month that she was stricken with paralyzing polio. She spent one year at the Sister Kenny Foundation, Farmington.

Although she has no use of her lower limbs, is partically paralyzed on the right side, and has little use of her arm and hand, she is an excellent homemaker.

She is quick to give her daughters Colleen, 9, and Donnabeth, 7, full credit for the help they render, saying, "I couldn't manage without the girls." Last year she assisted with a local Brownie Troop and is planning to work with them this year as one of the many activities that occupy her time.

★ ★ ★

While hospitalized, Mrs. Asselin learned various kinds of needlework and said "in the beginning it was necessary for someone to hold the crochet needle, but before long I had mastered that difficulty and could handle it alone." She is an accomplished knitter and her handmade sweater sets are in demand by friends and neighbores.

Mrs. Asselin's most recent hobby is making moulded religious plaques. Some are done in water colors and sprayed while others are enameled. She will use some in the Junior Youth Group of which she serves as assistant leader.

Also, she is librarian at the Baptist Church here where the family members worship.

Her prespective is, "life is what you make it, and because someone must sit in a chair, doesn't necessarily make him a cripple."

Mrs. Asselin feels it is "my religious faith that helped me to accept my condition."

To Draw Up Petitions for Novi Incorporation

NOVI TOWNSHIP — Drawing up petitions and taking a census are the first jobs facing a special committee which seeks the incorporation of Novi Township into a village.

Committee members include Walter Tuck, chairman; Dirk Groenenberg, Russell Button, Keith Metcalf and Dicron Tafralian.

It is the same committee which tackled the problem of finding out whether Novi Township would benefit from village incorporation. The committee recommended that Novi become a village after a study of advantages and disadvantages.

The committee was originally appointed by the Novi Board of Commerce in answer to requests that the board find out if Novi residents would profit from village incorporation.

Residents who attended a recent meeting approved a motion which stated that the present Novi Board of Commerce committee be made an executive committee of a new association being formed to consolidate Novi Township into the village of Novi.

The motion also stated that associate memberships would be available to interested parties.

Residents also approved a motion asking that the committee be authorized to draw up petitions and take a census as soon as possible.

Both motions were passed by large majorities in a hand-raising vote.

She was taken to Goodrich Hospital but was transferred to Hurley Hospital, Flint where surgery was to be performed at noon today.

The horse was drinking water when the tot reportedly ran up behind and startled him. She was reported in fair condition last night.

Brides Stood Up? Big Joke in Borneo

SINGAPORE (AP) — When a wedding does not come off on the day in question, it is a big joke among the Ibans of Borneo.

P. Majumdar, director of the film, "The Long House," about the Ibans, said he witnessed such an incident while making the film.

While the Iban bride sat cross-legged on the floor, hair ornately decorated with flowers, a messenger announced her father had gone pig-hunting.

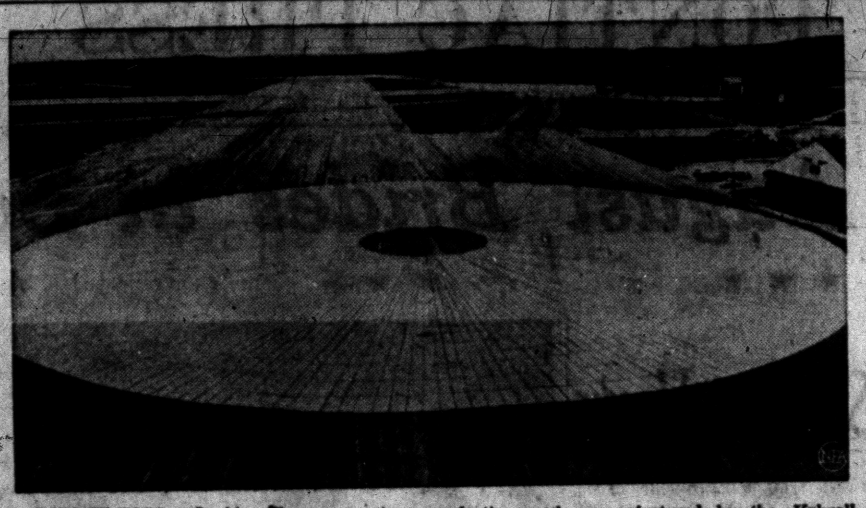

The radiant bride did not burst into tears. She just roared with laughter. The guests agreed to return the following day.

TOPS IN TOPS — Looking like a gargantuan flying saucer, this giant plastic roof, the largest ever built, sprawls across the landscape in Manchester, N. H. The huge translucent roof, equal in area to three football fields, will cover the United States pavilion at the 1958 World's Fair in Brussels, Belgium. Constructed of 2,100 plastic panels, manufactured by the Kalwall Corporation, it is more than 340 feet in diameter and will span a 72,000-square-foot roof area. The roof is actually a "sandwich" panel of plastic sheets over an interior aluminum grid and its rim will rest on two concentric rows of gold-colored steel columns.

New York Mercury Falls Near Record

NEW YORK (AP)—The temperature fell to 57.8 degrees at 5:50 a.m. today — two-tenths of a degree above the record low for the date in New York City.

The record low for Aug. 6 was 57.6 in 1934.

★ ★ ★

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast that the temperature would rise to a high near 75 today, and dip into the upper 50s tonight.

The chilly weather was attributed to a cool mass of Canadian air extending as far south as northern Florida.

Temperatures in the 40s were reported during the early morning in upstate New York and in New England, and the mercury plunged into the 30s in some mountainous areas of central and western Pennsylvania, the weather bureau said.

Hopes to Help Negro Race

Harry Belafonte Unspoiled by Million-a-Year Income

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How does a million dollars feel?

Harry Belafonte ought to know. The onetime janitor, now the hottest attraction in the show business, will earn more than that in 1957. I asked him how it felt.

"I can't feel it," he replied before going out before a packed house at the Greek Theater, "because I never see it. Most of it disappears to the government, expenses, etc. Out of the million, I maybe get only $100,000." With a backward glance at his poor days, he had to laugh at himself: "Only $100,000!"

★ ★ ★

The dough is a comfort, he admitted, but it hasn't changed his life.

"I'm no happier than I was when I was earning $350 a week," he commented. "That bought me all the things I needed.

★ ★ ★

"I don't throw my money around. I have only an apartment in New York. I still own just one car. Artistically, I'm still doing the kind of work I want to do, with no compromises. And my friends are the same ones I've had for years."

But the difference now is power. He has the power to reach the widest audience imaginable—the first of his race to do so. He feels deeply the responsibility that goes with such power.

For instance, tonight he is appearing on Nat King Cole's NBC television show. He will receive a couple of hundred dollars and donate that to charity. Belafonte is able to draw $40,000 for a guest appearance.

He explained: "When I found out that Nat was trying to break down the resistance to sponsoring a TV show starring a Negro, I told him I'd be glad to go on with him. I said I'd do anything on the show he wanted me to.

★ ★ ★

Belafonte is making another gesture in playing New York's Waldorf Astoria Hotel for five weeks starting next month. He could earn much more elsewhere. But he is returning because the hotel booked him as the first Negro to play the Waldorf.

★ ★ ★

Belafonte admitted that the acceptance of himself as a performer gets him in places where other Negroes are barred. But he is willing to be the trailblazer in hopes that others may follow.

"For instance, when they tried to hang the 'matinee idol' tag on me, my reaction was that it meant the acceptance of me by a vast audience," he commented. "That is significant: That 4,407 people out there tonight will accept me as an individual and a performer."

He plans to reach an even wider audience in the future. He is now negotiating a three-picture deal with 20th Century-Fox. I asked if he were limited in what he could do on the screen because he is a Negro.

★ ★ ★

"Five years ago, I might have been," he said, "but not now. There's nothing I can't do on the screen. Producers realize I can be a draw. If there were any doubts, they were dispelled by the financial success of 'Island in the Sun'—which I still say is a stinking picture."

Kitchen Timer Aids Salesmen

Called Part of Modern, Sincere Approach by Steel Firm's Agents

CHICAGO (INS) — A Chicago area steel corporation has found a new device in the field of selling—a kitchen timer.

Irwin D. Harris, board chairman of Rolled Steel Corporation in suburban Skokie, says the use of the timer is part of the modern approach in sales, which makes the high-pressure salesman as out-of-date as high button shoes.

★ ★ ★

Most of the firm's sales are handled by telephone. As the saleman talks with the prospective client, he can observe how much time he is taking by the timer which is on his desk.

The object, Harris says, is to keep to the point if a sale seems likely, and if not, to close the conversation quickly to avoid becoming obtrusive.

Like other firms Rolled Steel once leaned toward the extroverted selling approach. Now, Harris declares, effective selling can be done on the phone by persons who are inherently modest, provided they can develop honest enthusiasm.

"The startling fact of the matter," he adds, "is that introverts have become some of our most successfull salesmen.

"Just put yourself in the place of the steel purchasing agent. You've been deluged by a series of fast-talking, high-pressure salesmen. Nobody likes to be bludgeoned into buying, and such a pressurized blowhard can easily outlive his welcome, and that of his company's wares.

"In contrast, a salesman who is less noxious, but obviously knows his business, can gain the confidence of purchasers. His very syness may well convey the impression of sincerity."

India's Cotton Crop Off

BOMBAY—India's cotton textile industry has been hurt by a sharp deterioration in the domestic raw cotton-supply position. While consumption has risen to a new high, a trade estimate places the current Indian crop at only 4,800,000 bales against an earlier estimate of 5,500,000.

Would Abolish Nuclear Arms

Mayor Makes Plea on the 12th Anniversary of Hiroshima Bombing

HIROSHIMA (AP) — Hiroshima Mayor Tabao Watanable called for abolition of nuclear weapons and an end of their testing today, the 12th anniversary of the atom-bombing of his city.

Some 20,000 persons assembled in Peace Memorial Park for the annual ceremony. Standing before the white stone cenotaph built on the spot where the bomb exploded, Watanabe said in a proclamation: "It is only a foolish illusion to try to maintain peace by the might of possessing atom and hydrogen bombs, and experimenting with them.

"Present tests of nuclear weapons are undermining the existence of mankind. Radioactive elements, once taken inside the body, not only corrode from within but continue wreaking genetic havoc with the offspring."

As he concluded at 8:15 a.m.—the time the American B29 dropped the bomb Aug. 6, 1945 sirens and temple bells signaled the start of a minute of silent prayer and the release of 700 pigeons.

The crowd included Prince and Princess Mikasa, the first representatives of Japan's royal family to attend the memorial ceremony. The prince laid a flowered wreath at the foot of the memorial arch.

Brazil is officially known as the Republic of the United States of Brazil, according to the law.

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS

Fight managers and promoters have often been, accused, and probably with good reason, of throwing the lamb into the lion's den.

The late Jake Mintz was criticized many times for mismatching some of his proteges against more experienced boxers a little too fast.

The Rademacher-Patterson fight as an example may turn out to be the greatest mismatch in history of boxing.

Winning or losing as far as Rademacher goes is probably down the line behind the concern for the money, glamor and attention the fighter, manager and promoter will get.

GREENWALD MAKES IT AN ART

All managers, fortunately, don't look for a fast and early kill at the gate.

Art Greenwald, the personable gentleman who sets up Mickey Crawford's fight schedule, figures there's an art to everything, including the road a boxer takes up the ladder of success.

When Greenwald took over the managerial rights from Crawford's dad, Patsy, he promised the older Crawford that Mickey's future wouldn't come to an abrupt end because of attempting to jump to the top rather than climb.

MANAGING A HOBBY FOR HIM

For Greenwald, who is financially set, managing fighters isn't the means of last resort when the purse gets thin. He has given Crawford, a talented artist, a job with his studio, but for him it's more of a hobby to be Mickey's manager than his benefactor.

★ ★ ★

It's interesting to note how Crawford has been moved through his 18 professional fights in the past year. Until March of this year, four-round prelims were all Greenwald cared to discuss.

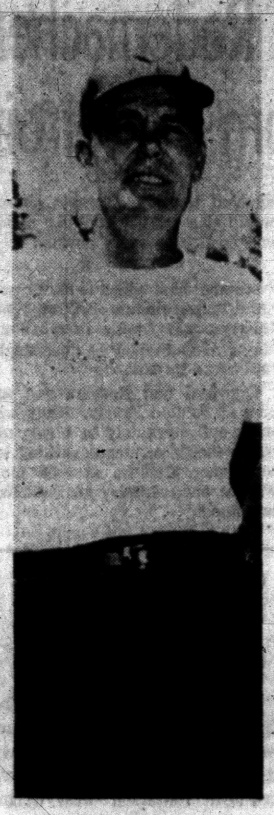

He wanted Crawford to get the attention but not at the expense of a beating. After a few fights in New York's St. Nick arena and then in Miami Beach, Greenwald finally decided it was time for Mickey to step into the 10-round class.

★ ★ ★

The first 10-rounder for Crawford was a big name and so were those which followed. They were names like Paddy DeMarco, Al Kennedy, Bud Smith and Pat Lowry, all talented boxers, but names which were coming down instead of going up.

Yet they were boxers who would give Crawford the tests he needed before thinking about Carmen Basilio, Tony DeMarco, Isaac Logart, Vince Martinez and a few other welterweights.

Crawford passed those tests and took some hard knocks doing it. When he meets Sammy Rodgers in Pontiac, August 13th he will face another fighter with his sights set upward.

OPTIMISTIC — Coach Buddy Parker of the Detroit Lions hates to admit it, but he is more optimistic about the Lions' chances this year in the NFL than he has been since the 1953 championship team.

Bunning After 14th Win Against Tribe

3-Game Series Will Be Factor for 4th Place

Record Minneapolis Crowd Watches Tigers Beat Redlegs, 6-5

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers will send Jim Bunning after his 14th victory tonight in the opener of a significant three-game set with the Cleveland Indians.

The Tribe pulled into a fourth-place tie with Detroit last night on a 7-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

With time beginning to run out for the Tigers in their fight to post a better-than-fifth-place-finish for the first time in seven years, Detroit desperately needs at least the long end of the Cleveland series.

Not since 1950 when they finished second in the American League standings has Detroit placed in the first division. Last year they had to depend on a last-half surge to pull into fifth.

Right now the Tigers have won 50 games and lost 52. They have 52 left to play and will have to win 32 of them even to match last year's mark of 82-72.

Detroit last year posted a 43-30 won-lost record after the All-Star game break. But in the weeks since the mid-season classic this year they have won only 11 and lost 13. Only Kansas City has a poorer showing.

Frank Lary had to rescue Al Aber last night when the Tigers edged the Cincinnati Reds 6-5 in an exhibition game in Minneapolis.

Riding a 6-1 edge going into the ninth, Aber gave up four runs including a two-run homer to George Crowe before Lary was called in to choke off the threat.

A record crowd of 21,689 packed Metropolitan Stadium and saw Detroit outhit the National League sluggers 14-7.

The Reds got only one run off starter Billy Hoeft, Duke Maas and Aber in the first eight innings.

Aber, who came on in the fifth got credit for the victory.

Signs for $25,000

Another Bonus Player Added to Tiger Squad

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The Detroit Tigers added another bonus player to their roster yesterday.

He is 19-year-old George Thomas of Minneapolis, a 6-foot-3½, 190-pounder who scout George Moriarity says can so "just about everything."

★ ★ ★

The former University of Minnesota sophomore was signed to the pact when the Tigers stopped in Minneapolis for an exhibition game with the Cincinnati Reds.

Thomas' contract is a duplicate of the one awarded earlier in the season to Steve Boros, University of Michigan player from Flint. He'll get $25,000 stretched over three seasons.

Under a new American League directive it is not necessary for bonus players to join their club immediately. As a result, the Tigers won't put Thomas on the active list until Sept. 1.

Thomas, who bats and throws righthanded, played shortstop in his sophomore year at Minnesota last spring. He hit .308, including six home runs. In the last few months he has been playing third base, outfield and pitching with a semipro ball team in the Minnesota Valley League. His average is .409 and includes seven home runs.

Thomas was a nine letter winner at Bloomington High School here where he played shortstop and pitched. He had a .350 batting average in prep school.

General manager John McHale said the Tigers first want to learn what spot the youth plays best before assigning him a position. "He has a great arm and is a big kid and can do just about everything," McHale said.

Thomas' brother, Jerry, an All-America pitcher at Minnesota last spring, was signed by the Tigers earlier this year to a minor league contract.

New Trainer for Titans

Edward R. Abramoski, presently the assistant athletic trainer for the Detroit Lions, was named today as the head trainer for the University of Detroit succeeding Dr. Raymond Forsyth.

He was assistant trainer at Purdue for four years and is a native of Erie, Pa.

"MUSCLES" MAINS — Gil Mains, 6-foot-3, 240 pound veteran Detroit Lions' tackle uses 150 pound Marv Brown as a muscle test at the Cranbrook training camp. "I'd hate to have him grab me by the head if I were carrying the ball," said Brown, a rookie, "who knows where my head would be."

Parker Is Optimistic but Fears Tighe's Woe

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Head football coach Buddy Parker of the Detroit Lions doesn't want to be in the same shoes as Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers.

During spring training in Florida, Tighe looked back on the Tigers' great spurt of the 1956 season and found himself overly optimistic when the team broke camp from Lakeland.

★ ★ ★

Parker also looks back on the 1956 campaign when the Lions jumped from the NFL cellar to title contention, losing out in the final game to the Chicago Bears.

Now the Lions have made a couple of deals, and Parker admits he just can't help feeling that this will be the year to win it all.

It's too much of a risk to go out on the limb to be too optimistic, Parker figures, but he can't see why the Lions should not be stronger.

★ ★ ★

The big keys in the bright prospectus are fullback John Henry Johnson and quarterback Tobin Rote.

Johnson, a 207-pounder, came to the Lions from San Francisco where he was the league's second best ball carrier in 1954. An injury hampered him in 1955 and last season he regained some of his form by gaining 301 yards rushing along with 90 yards as pass receiver.

Rote, a 6-foot-3, 220 pounder, was one of the outstanding passers in the league last year, and even opposing teams now admit the Lions with Bobby Layne have the strongest quarterback combination in the NFL.

★ ★ ★

With Johnson and Rote-Layne, along with Gene Gedman and Hopalong Cassady, this could be the best backfield assembled in Detroit since the title quartet of Layne-Walker-Harder and Hoernschmeyer.

Another reason for Parker's silent optimism is the defensive backfield. Last year Jack Christiansen, Jimmy David and Yale Lary were all picked for all-pro team and now Val Joe Walker and rookies Doug Peters and Terry Barr will bolster the safety patrol behind the line.

First and last major scrimmage will be held Thursday afternoon at Cranbrook in preparation for the Aug. 14th game with the Browns at Briggs Stadium.

Three From Michigan in Money

deVicenzo Takes Tam Title

CHICAGO (AP) — Virtually all of the top name golf pros were girding themselves today for the start of the game's richest event — the $101,200 "world" championship.

While they waited for practice rounds on the Tam O'Shanter course where the battle for a $50,000 first prize and $50,000 exhibition tour contract begins a 72-hole grind Thursday, talk centered on Gene Littler.

Littler's course record-matching 63 yesterday all but rubbed out the fact that Roberto deVicenzo won the all american title.

It was Littler's last round effort that drew the applause, and not de Vicenzo's final 70 which gave the hefty Argentine, now a club pro in Mexico City, a 72-hole tally of 273 — 15 under par — and the $3,500 first prize.

Littler's final round equaling Lloyd Mangrum's mark set in 1948, ballooned him to second place with 277, worth $2,300.

★ ★ ★

Sam Snead was third with 278. Then followed Paul Harney with 279 and Art Wall Jr. Dow Finsterwald, Fred Hawkins and Bob Rosburg at 281.

Three Michigan professionals, led by former U. S. Open Champion Jack Fleck of Rochester, finished in the money.

Fleck, finishing in a two-way tie for 10th, won $875 with rounds of 71-72-69-71 — 283. Tom Talkington, Ypsilanti, in a two-way tie for 12th, won $775 with a card of 72-71-71-70 — 284. Walter Burkemo, Franklin, had a 71-70-73-72 — 286 good for a six-way tie for 16th and $490.

★ ★ ★

Littler would have won a $10,000 prize for breaking the tourney mark if he eagled the last hole. Probably with thoughts of Lew Worshams feat of 1953, when he eagled the 18th to win the "world" crown with the last shot in the field, Littler pulled out a wedge. He was 120 yards away. The shot was near perfect. It hit in front of the pin and skidded to a stop 2½ feet beyond. He was down with a birdie 3.

De Vicenzo is the first foreigner to win a team title since south African Bobby Locke in 1950.

The other All American winners Men's amateur—Don Cherry with 295 for a one-stroke margin over Howard Everitt, Northfield, N. J., salesman.

Women's pros — Patty Berg for the fifth time with 302, a two-stroke edge over Jackie Pung in winning the $1,500 top prize.

Women amateurs — Clifford Ann Creed, 18, Opelousas, La., player with 320 for a 12-stroke bulge over Lois Drafke of Chicago and Sandra Clifford, Mexico City.

Cardinals Leading NL in Road Trip Record

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With less than eight weeks remaining, that bristling National League pennant race may have a strange wind up. The honored home advantage may prove to be like Jonah and the whale—it ain't necessarily so.

St. Louis, in first place by a half game, has more games remaining on the road (29) than at home (22). But the Cards are tops in the league with a 30-18 road mark for a .625 percentage.

Second place Milwaukee has 25 left at home, 25 left on the road—but it shouldn't matter either way. The Braves are exactly the same at home (31-21) as away.

Brooklyn's third place Dodgers are best at home with a 31-20 record and play 26 of their remaining 50 at Ebbets Field. But that home bulge is padded with a 16-4 record against the tailenders and the remaining 26 games in Ebbets are split evenly among contenders and the three-team second division.

Cincinnati splits its remaining 50 at home and away, with a 30-22 record at Crosley Field and a 28-24 mark abroad. Philadelphia has 26 remaining at home, 23 away, but the Phillies have been only slightly better in Connie Mack Stadium (28-23) than on the road (29-25).

The Dodgers added to their "get fat" trick against the little three with a 5-2 victory over the New York Giants last night in the only NL game scheduled. Cleveland ended the New York Yankees' winning streak at eight games with a 7-2 decision in the only American League contest.

The Brooks, 2½ games out of first, broke a 2-2 tie with a fifth inning run that scored without a hit, then added two more in the seventh to overcome Willie Mays' one-man show for the Giants. The Dodgers couldn't stop Mays, who had four hits including his 25th homer good for two runs, until they had to.

Mays came up with two out and two on in the ninth. Clem Labine relieved Don Drysdale to nail Willie on an infielder grounder.

Mike Garcia, who hadn't beaten the Yankees since Aug. 3, 1955, with a nine-hitter. He walked six, got the job done for the Indians was backed up by Gene Woodling's three-run homer and a bases-loaded single that drove in two runs. Don Larsen lost it to remain winless against Cleveland in his career.

Cyclist Still Climbs at 60 Years of Age

MUSKEGON (AP) — Motorcycle riders called him "the old man of the mountain."

And despite an admitted 60 years, and a son, Gordon, who is already a veteran of national hill climb competition, Howard Mitzell will be the favorite to defeat the field for the 11th time in his riding career when the national championship hill climb is held at Muskegon's big sand dune, Mt. Garfield, Sunday, Aug. 11.

Howard started his hill-climbing at York, Pa., where he now operates a trucking concern. He leaves it on weekends during the summer to compile climb points to qualify for the nationals, held most years at Muskegon.

That first hill climb was when he was just 16 years old, 44 years ago. Since that time he had been national hill climb champion 11 times.

Water-Jumpers Pointing for National Marks

SAN DIEGO — Now that the four minute mile and seven foot high jump have been achieved, water skiers wonder what the ceiling will be for their jumping event.

They expect to see new records set in the 15th annual American Water Ski Association National Championships here Aug. 23-24-25 and they will probably be right.

The men's record for flying off a six-foot ramp at more than 35 miles an hour was broken in four national championship meets in a row until Alvin (Butch) Rosenberg's 125-footer in 1955 stood up against last year's assault.

3 Prep Coaches on Clinic Panel

MT. PLEASANT, (AP) — Three Michigan high school coaches will be on the six-man panel at the annual Central Michigan College coaching clinic here next week.

Andy McDonald of Flint Northern, Okie Johnson of Muskegon Heights and Joe Cook of Lakeview will join Terry Brennan and line coach Bill Walsh of Notre Dame and basketball coach Floyd Stahl of Ohio State. The five-day clinic, a regular feature here since 1939, starts Monday.

More than 350 coaches are expected to attend.

Begorra, an 8-year-old bay horse by Bimelech-Begum II, won seven races and $28,595 during 1956. He also won his first start in 1957.

Ski Tow Charges May Be Increased

LANSING (AP) — The State Parks and Recreation Division has proposed an increase in ski tow charges at Porcupine Mountains State Park following completion of improvements now in progress.

Under a proposal submitted to the state conservation department director, the daily charge for adults would be set at $2.50 and for children under 18 at $1.

Present rates are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students on weekends and $1 for adults and 50 cents for students on week days.

Arthur C. Elmer, parks division chief, said that with completion of a new tow installation is expected by December.

From Doormat to Giant Killer

Stadium Reaches 'A' Finals

Stadium Inn, the "doormat" of the City Softball League's American division during the regular season, is turning out to be the "giant killer" of the Class A playoffs.

Sunday the Stadium nine bounced Birmingham, 2-1. As if one upset wasn't enough, Stadium pulled another last night by defeating Elks No. 810, 4-0.

The triumph vaulted Stadium into the championship finals of the 'A' tournament. Louie's Tavern also uncorked a surprise to reach the Class B finals and favored Pontiac Police made the final round in Class C.

Ed McManus pitched a dazzling three-hit shutout to spark Stadium's win over the Elks. Bicmar Inn continued the upset wave in Class A by eliminating Birmingham, 4-1, behind the two-hit hurling of Lynus Grant.

Louie's scored four runs in the 6th inning to upend National loop champion Richard's Tavern, 6-5. CIO Local 653 sidelined Eddie's Bar, 10-3, in the other 'B' attraction.

Elmo Burgess twirled a six-hitter as the Policemen nosed out Deni's Corner, 2-1. Franklin Products ousted Pontiac State Hospital, 9-1, to complete yesterday's Class C program.

Ready for NFL Champions

All-Stars Have Quarterback Talent

CHICAGO (AP) — There'll be no shortage of quarterback talent with the College All Stars this year.

★ ★ ★

Coach Curly Lambeau, with a vivid recollection of what happened when the Stars were dumped by Cleveland 26-0 last year, has four of the nation's best quarterbacks ready for the New York Giants Friday night at Soldier Field.

★ ★ ★

Prepared to lead the All Star attack are Paul Hornung of Notre Dame, John Brodie of Stanford, Len Dawson of Purdue and Jim Harris who directed Oklahoma to the national collegiate title.

Last year the All Stars started fast with All America Earl Morrall of Michigan State at quarterback. Morrall had the collegians marching towards the Cleveland goal when he was injured and taken out of the game.

After that, the Stars were unable to put together a serious offensive threat and Cleveland coasted to victory.

★ ★ ★

Two years ago when the Stars defeated Cleveland, 30-27, it was largely the leadership of quarterback Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame which inspired the triumph.

★ ★ ★

If the stars are to beat the Giants—current 10-point favorites—either Hornung, Dawson, Brodie or Harris will have to turn in a professional job. All have the capabilities and an indication of their potential is the fact that all but Harris were first choice picks in the National Football League draft.

Hornung was Green Bay's bonus choice. Brodie was grabbed by San Francisco. Dawson is headed for Philadelphia and Pittsburgh landed Harris.

Hornung and Harris, both excellent passers although not in the same class with Brodie or Dawson, are more dangerous since both are capable runners and will not hesitate to run if the Giants contain the All Star receivers.

★ ★ ★

On the receiving end the Stars have a lot of capable receivers. There are Joe Walton of Pittsburgh; Lamar Lundy, a 6-6 giant from Purdue, Tom Maentz and Ron Kramer of Michigan; Mike Sandusky of Maryland; and Brad Bomba of Indiana.

Piazza to Ask Rademacher to Meet Groom in Detroit

Michigan fight promoter Julius Piazza told the Press today that if Pete Rademacher is unsuccessful in his fight against Floyd Patterson, August 22nd, he would invite the current amateur champion to Detroit to meet Osee Groom.

"I think even Groom would be too much for Rademacher and Osee has had only 17 amateur fights and four pro bouts," said Piazza.

Groom, who will appear in a preliminary bout on the Mickey Crawford-Sammy Rodgers feature at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium next Tuesday, Aug. 13th, was the 1957 Golden Gloves heavyweight champion of Michigan.

He swept into the finals in Chicago before losing a decision to Joe Hemphill, a boxer whom Groom defeated once before in the AAU Olympic trials in Louisville.

★ ★ ★

In the Wisner four-rounder, Groom will meet Bill Pickett who held similar titles in New York state boxing circles.

Rademacher has had 79 amature fights, winning 72, of which 35 were knockouts. He also holds a win over Hemphill.

"Groom is a rugged boxer, he hasn't had too much experience even as an amateur, but he could give Rademacher more than he could realize," said Piazza.

★ ★ ★

Groom is 6-2 at 210 pounds and Rademacher is 6-1 at 210 pounds. Piazza said however that since Rademacher is just trying to gain prestige by fighting Patterson, he doubted that the Olympic champ would ever consider fighting someone he figures is a "nobody."

★ ★ ★

Another bout added to the Crawford-Rodgers feature will be light heavyweight Ducky Dietz (boxing's Alvis Presley against Hugh Rader of Dayton, O.

Crawford and Rodgers will arrive in Pontiac Friday. They will work out alternately in a ring set up on the Cass Avenue parking lot to Wisner Stadium at 5:00 p.m. Friday aund 4:000 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

HE'LL NEED IT—Pete Rademacher wields a butcher's cleaver to show how he intends to handle Floyd Patterson.

Only Referee Will Officiate at Title Fight

NORTH BEND, Wash. (AP)—The Washington State Athletic Commission today decided to leave the verdict in the Pete Rademacher-Floyd Patterson heavyweight title fight Aug. 22 in the sole hands of the referee.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Charles P. Larson of Tacoma, commission chairman, said there would be no judges for the scheduled 15-round bout at nearby Seattle between Patterson, young punch for pay champion, and Rademacher, the Olympic titlist.

★ ★ ★

Larson said the name of the referee would be announced within a few days. Larson said six nationally-known figures were under consideration to be the third man in the ring.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile Rademacher, sleek sassy, started the last lap of training at his quarters in this mountain community 25 miles east of Seattle for his splash into the professional ranks.

Knee Surgery Faces Snider

BROOKLYN (AP)—Duke Snider, Brooklyn's ace centerfielder, may be forced to undergo surgery on his ailing left knee after the end of the 1957 season.

★ ★ ★

Snider, 30, said today he had been advised by the Dodgers' trainer, Dr. Harold Wendler, that an operation on the knee probably would be the only permanent cure. Snider, sidelined for the last three games with a recurrence of the ailment first incurred playing high school football, intends to talk to Buzzy Bavasi, Brooklyn general manager, before taking any further action.

Bone Thrives on 'Birdies'

Gene Bone of Pontiac went birdie happy yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The 25-year old assistant golf pro at Tam O'Shanter fired a five-under par 63 at the Detroit Golf Club yesterday in the pro-seniors best meet.

Bone teamed with Carl Herrud, 55, of Grand Rapids for a best ball card of 60. He then teamed with Maurice Cole of Orchard Lake for runnerup score of 61.

★ ★ ★

In carding a 29-34 against a par of 33-35, Bone has six birdies including four in a row from the second through the 5th holes.

This is a preliminary event to the annual Michigan Senior's championship.

Jets Spank Union, 9-5

CIO Out, Title to Shaw's

After a brief stay at the top of the Class A City Baseball League, the CIO Local 594 lost all chance of winning the loop title last night.

The CIO boys took over 1st place last Friday by defeating Shaw's Jewelers, 3-2. Their trip back down started Sunday when they bowed to Griff's Grill in the 7th inning, 5-4.

Yesterday the Pontiac Jets completed their fall, pounding out nine hits at Wisner Field for a 9-5 victory.

The CIO's setback handed the league crown to Shaw's. The Jewelers finished their schedule with a 15-5 record while the runner-up Union is out of contention on a 13-6 mark.

Pitcher Ron Falkenhagen, Ed Mullins and Louie Seay rapped two hits apiece and Judge Booker blasted a two-run triple to pace the Jet triumph. The Jets spotted the CIO a 1-0 lead, then gained the upper hand for keeps with four runs in the 3rd inning.

Falkenhagen hurled the distance for the Jets and gave up seven safeties. Don Picman and Jim Wagner were on the mound for the CIO, with Picman the starter and loser.

Griff's Grill hopes to wrap up 3rd place today by downing Thomas Die & Stamping at Wisner at 5:30 p.m.

Garrett Hurls Police to Win

Bob Garrett pitched a sparkling two-hitter for the Pontiac Police Monday in the opening round of the city Class D junior baseball playoff, but he almost lost the decision.

His teammates were forced to rally for two runs in the 6th inning to edge the Keego Harbor Boys Club, 2-1, and draw 1st blood in the best-of-three series.

The winner meets Cranbrook in a 2-out-of-3 playoff for the 'D' title.

In 1st round Class E action, Oxford defeated the Boys Club, 7-4, and Lytel-Colgrove blanked Clarkston, 1-0, behind the two-hit hurling of Bob Diamond.

Jesse Hodge smacked a three-run homer as the Tigers blasted the Yankees. 28-3, and the Boys Club downed the White Sox, 15-2, in Midget games.

First round Class R results: Tel-Huron 10—Clarkston 8, Boys Club 8—Stewart-Glenn 0; Midget results: LeBaron 8—Wever 2—Washington forfeited to Hawthorne.

Russo Decisions Lynch

Eggs, Pigeons Take Air at Stormy St. Nicholas

NEW YORK (AP) — Storm flags were flying at old St. Nicholas Arena. Pigeons flew through the smoky air, raw eggs splashed into the ring and bloody spectators went to the hospital.

★ ★ ★

In the ring Danny Russo of Brooklyn was punching out a split decision over Eddie Lynch of New York in last night's eight-round feature. It was a real brawl with both boys cut around the left eye, almost as wild as the ringside scene.

★ ★ ★

Police sat near the neutral corners in case the decision produced a new outburst. There were catcalls and boos but no brickbats.

Two New York spectators among the 1,405 paying $2,871 went to the hospital. They claimed they were hit by a flying chair. One had a scalp cut, the other a fractured nose.

★ ★ ★

Lynch, a local favorite has his pigeon loving fans who let them fly around the arena when he fights. This was a gala occasion, his first main event and his third fight since getting out of the Army.

A raw egg splattered on the working press during the pre-fight introductions.

★ ★ ★

Another egg squashed in mid ring after the second round. The hen fruit prompted a warning from the New York State Athletic Commission's inspector Joe Tepper "no more eggs or no more fight."

★ ★ ★

That did it. Even the firecrackers stopped popping. A man with a horn kept right on blowing.

★ ★ ★

At the end Judges Nick Gamboi (5-2-1) and Harold Barnes (4-3-1) voted for Russo who weighed 148 to Lynch's 151 pounds. Referee Barney Felix thought Lynch had the edge 4-3-1. The AP card was 5-3 for Russo. Russo now has a 11-3 record and Lynch 11-2.

Hart Still Far Apart of Lions

No Settlement Made on Contract Issues With Big Fullback

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions and veteran Leon Hart are every bit as far apart today as they were when they opened 1957 contract talks three weeks ago and there's no sign that the two major issues are even close to being settled.

The argument boils donw to about $2,000 and a clause that would keep the professional football club from waiving, trading or selling the 28-year-old former Notre-Dame All-American, who has been a Lions standout for seven seasons.

Hart, who made the switch from end to full-time fullback and led Lion ball carriers last season with a 4.6 average each time he carried the ball, said last night "I don't like the idea of being a holdout and I want very much to play football this year."

General Manager W. N. Kerbawy predicted confidently "he'll come around."

★ ★ ★

"Leon's holdout period usually last five or six days," said Kerbawy. "actually I expected him in camp today. But I'll give him two or three more days. If he hasn't reported by Thursday we'll consider him a 14 karat holdout."

MacKay-Flam Duel Looming

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — Barry MacKay, big game blaster from Dayton, looked past his second-round match today in the Eastern Grass Court championships to a duel with second-seeded veteran Herb Flam in the third round.

★ ★ ★

"I still don't have a big win over a top U. S. player on grass," said the Davis Cup hope from Ohio. "I've beaten some of them indoors like Vic Seixas and Dick Savitt, but not on grass. And that's where it counts."

★ ★ ★

MacKay's 6-4, 190-pound frame bounced into the corner of the U. S. Davis Cup picture yesterday with his 6-4, 4-6, 6-3 upset over fifth-seeded foreigner, Japan's Kosei Kamo.

Top-seed Australian champ Ashley Cooper plays another Davis Cup hopeful, Tulane collegian Ron Holmberg, Brooklyn, N. Y., after sailing past Dick Highley, Glen Ridge, N. J., 6-1, 6-2.

The event is sponsored by the Lake Orion Archers Club with E. L. Pierce, the president, Bill Ardelen, Arthur Stone and Richard Sinclaire the committee.

In case of rain the date will be Aug. 25.

This One Got Away, but It Was a Grebe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

This is the season of fish stories, but not all of them are limited to fish.

★ ★ ★

Consider, for instance, the Pennsylvanian spinning for trout in Cowan's Gap Lake. Game protector Ed Campbell reported the angler felt a dandy strike, stopped the running line, and when his catch broke water, was treated to a fancier display of aerial antics than any trout fisherman has a right to expect.

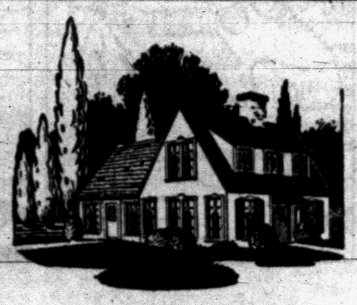

★ ★ ★

And small wonder. He'd hooked a diving grebe instead of a fish and the bird took off with his bait.

Kramer-Pancho Dispute Looks Bound for Court

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Promoter Jack Kramer and his biggest star, Pancho Gonzales, both say their dispute over Pancho's pro tennis contract probably will go into court. The two men conferred with their lawyers yesterday in an unsuccessful attempt to resolve the matter.

A spokesman for Kramer said their contract calls for Gonzales to get 20 per cent of gross receipts but he wants 30 per cent.

Safety Measures Protect Ike on Plane Trips

NEW YORK (INS) — President Eisenhower's personal pilot disclosed today he and his co-pilot eat two hours apart on any flight with the chief executive to make sure they don't both fall ill at the same time.

This precaution against the effects of a possible case of food-poisoning, accidental or not, is one of several which Col. William Draper said are taken to safeguard the President's life while he is in the air.

Writing in Look Magazine, Draper also said that on trips over water, he rarely lets his plane, Columbine III, wander more than 15 minutes away from a rescue aircraft or an accompanying Navy ship.

Before taking off, he added, all baggage going aboard the plane must be inspected. Six parachutes are provided for every five passengers. The plane is under constant guard while on the ground.

★ ★ ★

"No standard of perfection ever seems good enough," the pilot said. "A small oil leak will keep us up all night. Two tests would be enough but we make 10 . . . We put in new engines after 600 hours . . ."

★ ★ ★

Draper added that the Columbine III is flown to the California plant where it was built after every 1,000 hours of flying time. There it is stripped down and "virtually rebuilt."

Borge Mixes Chopin and Hens for Wrigleys

Several hundred persons were guests of Wrigleys Supermarkets last night at the firm's annual Corn Fest, held this year at Will-O-Way on West Long Lake Road. Barbecued dinner was served at tables set in the orchard behind the Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater, with strings of Japanese lanterns adding color to the scene.

Later the guests were entertained by Victor Borge. His presence on the program was appropriate as Wrigleys Supermarkets this week are adding Rock Cornish hens from Borge's Vi-Bo Farms in Connecticut to their line of poultry.

Borge is widely known as a comedy-pianist. But another of his activities is operation of a 436 acre farm in Southbury, Conn., where about 250,000 Rock Cornish hens are raised each year.

Laborer Kills Bank Cashier

Refused to Cash Check; Man Wanted Money for His Inventions

LAGRANGE, Ind. (AP) — A 5-foot-6, 110-pound laborer who says he is an inventor, shot and killed a bank cashier at nearby Wolcottville yesterday after the banker refused to cash a check for him.

Sheriff Myron Welker said Richard Klink, 47, shot Maurice Kent, 43, three times with a rifle after Kent refused to cash a check for $500 made out by Klink.

Klink had no account in the bank. He said he wanted money for his inventions. Sheriff Welker said he is not normal.

Prosecutor Richard DeTar said first-degree murder charges would be filed against Klink.

Sheriff Welker said Klink kept muttering something about the "banks helping the Communists." He quoted Klink as saying his act would open credit a little at the bank.

"I hope he dies," Welker quoted Klink as saying as Kent was carried away on a stretcher. Kent died later in a hospital in LaGrange. Wolcottville is nine miles south of LaGrange.

Klink was seized by Richard Targgart, publisher of the Wolcottville Herald; and Fred Rittenhouse, an auto salesman, as he left the bank with his rifle. He gave no resistance.

Say Plant Stimulator Can Also Aid Grass

EAST LANSING (AP) — Gibberellin, the amazing stimulator of plant growth, works on grass, Michigan State University scientists reported today.

Results of application of Gibberellin on experimental plots were described at the 11th annual nursery and Landscape Management Conference on the MSU campus.

Researchers said soil fertility levels must be kept high to retain the bright green color of grasses.

Described as "very responsive" to the growth stimulator were Kentucky bluegrass, rought stalked bluegrass, merior bluegrass delta blue and Bermuda grass. Other varieties were less responsive in varying degrees.

Merger Is Brewing: Crankshafts and Beer

JACKSON (AP)—Muskegon Motor Specialities Co., manufacturer of crankshafts and spindles, is going into the brewing business. The company has arranged to acquire Red Top Brewing Co. of Cincinnati via an exchange of stock.

Shareholders of the two companies will be asked to approve the merger at special meetings this month.

Full Employment a Factor

Prosperity Behind Economic Ills

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The pains of prosperity can be just as irksome as any other kind. Officials have been laying many of our ills today to the good times.

Top men in the U. S. Treasury tell us that prosperity is one of the reasons we have a steadily increasing cost of living, why we have tight credit and dear money and soaring interest rates, one of the reasons we have big government spending and a big federal debt that grows ever more costly to manage.

The thinking behind much of this is the goal of full employment — or, more accurately, a minimum of unemployment. So many people are employed today that the total of personal income is at a record high. This means that consumer spending is at a record high too. And this has contributed to the business confidence in continuing good times that has sparked the big boom in industrial expansion.

★ ★ ★

Consumer goods are for the most part in ample supply. Not all capital goods are. The urge of so many corporations to build new plants and equip them with new machinery and tools—and to do all of this right now if not sooner—is what has led to the tight money situation, and the rising price level in the view of the Treasury officials.

Full employment, with a scarcity of labor in many of the skilled trades, has set the stage for the annual increase in the wage scales.

Tie the business expansion boom to a tight labor market and you get the demand and supply situation that keeps prices rising. As long as employment is so high and the total of personal incomes so high there will be little real consumer resistance to high prices. And so the spiral goes merrily on.

These are the pains of prosperity.

But just as the body in time can fight off many diseases, so can the economy. There are some built-in remedies.

The rush of business to expand put such a pressure on the investment fund market that credit became tight and interest rates started to climb. As they rise they cut off the ability of first this and then that company or municipality to build a new plant or a new public facility. As the boom levels off some of the pains are alleviated.

★ ★ ★

Also as industries have expanded they have built up greater capacity to produce. A striking example is the aluminum industry, which in a very few years has gone from a state of acute shortage to one of abundance and at least temporary oversupply. Many other industries are now in position to produce more than they can market. The resulting competition for sales is the best bet the consumer has that prices won't be boosted out of sight.

Carefully Guarded in Past

Testimony May Disclose Atomic Stockpile Areas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee has published testimony which may disclose for the first time the locations of six secret stockpiles of atomic weapons in the United States.

Such information has been closely guarded in the past.

Testimony released by the committee over the weekend showed the subject came up in a routine session when Brig. Gen. William R. Shuler was asked why more money was needed for entertainment at bases operated for the Armed Forces Special weapons Project.

Shuler, Army construction director, replied that the special weapons project was charged with providing "technical, logistical and training services" to the military.

And, he added, the project also was responsible for "all national stockpile sites" for atomic weapons and for some testing areas.

The men stationed at project bases, the general said, are on "24-hour mission . . . and are not allowed passes in general."

Then, without specifically saying the bases were atomic stockpile sites, the general named six bases scheduled to get snack bars and other off-duty entertainment facilities:

Clarksville in Montgomery County, Tenn., near Ft. Campbell, Ky.; Killeen near Ft. Hood, Tex.; Bossier in Bossier Parish, La.; Medina near San Antonio, Tex.; Lake Mead near Las Vegas, Nev.; and Manzano near Albuquerque, N. M.

Although it has been general knowledge that atomic-type weapons have been stored in areas convenient to training and operational bases, inquiries as to stockpile locations have been turned back on grounds the information was classified.

Firestone Raises Tire Prices 3 Pct.

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An increase of 3 per cent on the price of most tires and tubes was announced today by the Firestone Tire & Rubber Co.

★ ★ ★

The increase, effective immediately, follows similar price advances by two other major rubber manufacturers, Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and the B. F. Goodrich Co.

★ ★ ★

Firestone said recent advances in wages and higher costs of materials and transportation made the increase necessary.

★ ★ ★

The general price advance in the industry followed negotiation of a 15-cents-an-hour wage package with the United Rubber Workers Union two weeks ago.

Probe Says 16 Reds Hold Union Offices

WASHINGTON (INS)—Senate investigators charged today that 16 accused Communists are now holding offices in the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers in New York and New Jersey.

Chief Counsel Robert Morris of the internal security subcommittee said that some of these officers occupy "rather important positions" in the union.

All of them, he said, have been identified by congressional witnesses as members of the Communist Party who switched from the United Electrical Workers Union to the AFL-CIO organization.

The United Electrical Workers was kicked out of the CIO in 1949 on charges it was Communist-dominated.

Morris said that the subcommittee has been trying to subpoena the 16 union officials but that some of them have been asking for delays, pleading that they needed time to get lawyers.

BALTIMORE—It was not until 1909 that investigators discovered that infantile paralysis was caused by a virus.

Find Baby Suffering From Dehydration

ST. JOSEPH (AP) — A baby girl sought for medical care after she was described suffering from extreme dehydration was brought to St. Joseph Memorial Hospital today.

Detective William Mihalik found 3-month-old Joyce Anne Murphy on the nearby Cecil Griffith farm where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Murphy of Parkin, Ark., are employed as berry pickers.

He said the baby appeared to be in fairly good condition.

Mihalik was summoned by Mrs. Griffith, who telephoned that a family employed at the farm, five miles north of Benton Harbor, answered the description released by police.

Joyce Anne is the youngest of five children traveling with the Murphy couple, Mihalik said. The police search started Friday night.

A nurse at the hospital said an unidentified couple entered to seek care for the child, but disappeared when she left them alone for a few minutes.

The nurse described the child as suffering from extreme dehydration.

Mrs. Murphy told Mihalik they left the hospital with their child when they thought the nurse had gone away permanently.

Wilson, Ike's Office Deny Disagreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both the White House and Secretary of Defense Wilson have denied reports that Wilson and President Eisenhower disagree on a proposed new budget system.

★ ★ ★

"There is no difference of opinion whatsoever," Wilson said in a statement yesterday.

"Definitely misinterpretations," said White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, commenting on newspaper accounts which said Wilson's views conflicted with Eisenhower's.

The reported difference was over a budget change bill, recommended by the Hoover Commission and supported by Eisenhower. It would provide for year-to-year appropriations by Congress for federal departments, even though some of their major projects would require money in more than one year.

Navy to Reduce Size of Fleet

Mothballing Sixty Ships Will Not Hurt Fighting Power, Officials Say

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy plans to put 60 ships—including the battleship Iowa and 26 other combat vessels — into mothballs soon to reduce expenses.

In announcing the cut yesterday, the Navy said there would be little effect on fighting power because of the new atomic-powered submarines and other modern vessels scheduled to join the fleet by next June.

While the older ships are being laid up, 23 new vessels and 10 ships being converted to more modern weapons will be added to the fleet, the Navy added.

Other ships to be deactivated will include 8 destroyers, 16 destroyer escorts, 2 submarines, and in the noncombat category, 5 transports, 5 landing ships, 2 attack cargo ships and 21 minesweepers and mine hunters.

★ ★ ★

The specific vessels will be picked soon, the Navy said.

The removal of the Iowa from the fleet leaves only one battleship, the Wisconsin, on active duty.

The cuts come in the wake of a Pentagon order to the Navy to reduce its personnel by 15,000 men, and to hold down spending.

12 McCarthys Greet Priest

Dozen Relatives at Dock to Meet Jesuit Returning After Red China Ordeal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Father Charles J. McCarthy is getting acquainted today with nephews and nieces born during a decade he spent in the Orient, the last four years in Chinese Communist prisons.

Arrested for "ideological sabotage" at Shanghai in June 1953, the 45-year-old Jesuit priest was released last June 14 and returned to San Francisco yesterday aboard the liner President Hoover.

He was greeted by an even dozen McCarthys — three brothers, two sisters-in-law, four nephews and three nieces. "I've dreamed of this day," he said.

Father McCarthy said he didn't see any signs of imminent collapse of the Red regime.

He told reporters of hardships he suffered in five prisons. He lost 25 pounds but has regained his normal weight and appears healthy.

"The government is cruel, crooked and deceitful — I know from experience," Father McCarthy declared. He added that there is smoldering discontent in China but the people, under strict party control, can't do anything about it.

Spitfire Wife Victor in Fight; Car Is Weapon

ALHAMBRA, Calif. (AP) — An outraged wife chased her husband around town in her 8-year-old car, repeatedly ramming his brand new one, police said.

When the dust settled the husband had fled afoot, leaving a car that was ready for the junk yard, and his spitfire spouse was in jail. Police reconstructed yesterday's events this way:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smallfield, both 42, argued while drinking at their home. The subject: Other women. Smallfield departed before his wife had finished the dispute.

He hopped in his car, then she in hers.

She caught up with him and banged into him, shouting: "I'll teach you."

She slammed into him again and shouted, "Turn around and fight like a man."

After hit No. 3 the husband lit out for the side streets, and lost his pursuer.

Then he headed for his office. That was a mistake. Mrs. Smallfield was lying in ambush. Whammo! Another crumpled fender.

Smallfield abandoned ship. As he hiked away, he heard repeated crashes as his wife slammed her car again and again into his.

Booked on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, Mrs. Smallfield admitted all, police said.

"But," she told officers, "you would have done the same thing yourselves."

Woman in Fair Condition After Being Shot Twice

A Pontiac woman is in satisfactory condition today after being shot last night during an argument with her brother-in-law.

Mary E. Williams, 50, of 51 Elizabeth St., was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with two bullet wounds in her left hip.

Police arrived at her home just after the shooting and arrested Carl Reddic, 67, who lived with her, on charges of attempted murder.

Committee Cuts School, Other Projects by $279,158,380

House Notes AF Academy Extravagance

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee slashed $279,158,380 from a supplemental money bill today and told the Air Force not to make its new academy "a monument to governmental extravagance."

★ ★ ★

It approved $1,581,590,587 of the $1,860,748,967 President Eisenhower had requested for miscellaneous programs, mainly for military construction.

Included in the total approved was 12½ millions of the 35 millions requested for a new Washington airport at nearby Burke, Va., a project fought bitterly by both Maryland and Virginia senators.

★ ★ ★

The committee cut $8,332,000 from the $29,169,000 requested for construction at the new Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo. It expressed dissatisfaction over "the evident lack of concern for cost factors."

Some contracts have been let at costs as much as three times original estimates, it said.

The steady increase in air traffic into and out of Washington, the committee said, makes it imperative that the area have a new airport by 1960. The estimated over-all cost of the proposed new airport at Burke is 60 million dollars. The committee said the full construction cost will be amortized over "a reasonable number of years, thereby costing the taxpayers nothing."

★ ★ ★

For military construction, the committee recommended $1,521,500,000 of the $1,764,500,000 requested. It complained of "a lack of coordination and agreement on objectives between the office of the secretary of defense and the three services" in the family housing field.

The committee approved $2,410,000 of the $3,875,000 the Army requested for administration of the Ryukyu Islands but rejected the entire $9,200,000 sought for a new electric power plant for the islands. It said the islands now are using less than 40 per cent of the output of the existing generating plant.

★ ★ ★

Other allotments included:

Fifteen millions for disaster relief for states and local areas suffering major disasters.

$13,317,000 for the Tennessee Valley Authority, a reduction of $1,465,000.

HAY MAKER — This device — part of a farm machinery manufacturer's "hay in a day" system — is a crop dryer. It eliminates the threat of weather, enabling the farmer to dry hhis hay or grain overnight. The crop dryer is hooked up to a crop drying wagon. Heated air is forced through connecting ducts and held by a canvas cover. The dryer can handle as many as four of the drying wagons at a time. The wagons hold 2½ tons of hay. The dryer is being demonstrated at New Holland, Pa.

2 Drown in Flash Flood

LAS VEGAS, N. M. (AP)—A minister and his young daughter drowned in the flash flood which swept the Las Vegas area early yesterday after 2.79 inches of rain fell in the mountains to the north.

The victims were the Rev. Emil LaPorte, 41-year-old pastor of the Southwest Bible Fellowship in Las Vegas, and his 10-year-old daughter, Laura.

★ ★ ★

LaPorte was driving near Sapello, a small community north of Las Vegas, when the surging water tossed his car off the road into a gulley.

Sheriff Bob Martinez said damage appeared lighter than was expected. About 25 persons were evacuated from their homes in Las Gallinas Canyon, 17 miles north of Las Vegas. A dozen to 18 families were evacuated from low spots along the Gallinas River south of town.

★ ★ ★

The Gallinas stayed within its banks through Las Vegas, a town of about 14,000 in north-central New Mexico. Only light rain fell here.

The mountain downpour burst the dams on three small lakes upstream and their 90 million gallons of water coursed down the Gallinas.

Mrs. Dorothy Tejada told officers her family drove across the river north of town and it was only a trickle but two minutes after they heard a roar and water surged two to three feet deep in some of the houses along its banks.

Auto Strikes, Kills Five-Year-Old Girl

A 5-year-old girl was dead on arrival at Avon Center Hospital, Rochester, at 5:15 p.m. Monday after being struck by a car near her home.

★ ★ ★

Margaret Elrod, daughter of Mrs. Lottie Kulasczewski, 47728 Ryan Rd., Shelby Township, Macomb County, was hit by an auto driven by Thomas Wells, 30, of 35 Waldo Ave., Pontiac.

State Police at the Center Line Post said the girl had been playing with friends along Ryan road, just north of M59, when she ran in front of Wells' car.

★ ★ ★

Wells told police he did not have time to avoid her. He was released after questioning.

6 of Family Killed in Airplane Crash

MONROE, La. (AP)—A grandfather, his three sons and two grandchildren were killed yesterday when their plane crashed in an empty field.

★ ★ ★

The single engine aircraft apparently stalled and dived into the soft earth, almost burying itself. Only a piece of the tail was visible.

★ ★ ★

Killed were the grandfather, J. W. Johnson, 73, Monroe; William Noble Johnson, 45, and his 17-year-old daughter, Zanastatia; Audrey G. Johnson, 43, and his 5-year-old son, Robert; and A. O. Johnson, 52, San Luis Obispo, Calif., pilot and owner of the plane.

Mayor Shot by Foe Has 2nd Operation

DETROIT (AP) — Garden City Mayor James Tierney, shot five times July 25, has undergone a second emergency operation and still is in critical condition.

★ ★ ★

The 52-year-old mayor's wife, Luella, disclosed the second operation yesterday and said it was ordered after doctors found Tierney had an infection in the abdominal cavity. It was performed Friday, and doctors reportedly expected a "crisis" to last through today.

★ ★ ★

A first emergency operation followed wounding of Tierney in a City Hall shooting. Lester Ellerhorst, a contractor and long-time Tierney foe, is accused of the shooting which climaxed a quarrel over quality of construction in a new Garden City police station.

★ ★ ★

Tierney reportedly has recovered from pneumonia that developed after he was shot.

Pacts Boost Syria's Dependence on Reds

CAIRO (AP) — Western diplomats in Cairo consider Syria has increased its dependence on the Soviet Union as a result of Russia's reported agreement to offer the Arab country technical and economic aid and to let Syria postpone paying for the arms it is buying from the Red bloc.

★ ★ ★

Arab informants said yesterday the agreements were reached in Moscow talks between Syrian Defense Minister Khaled el Azem, Army Chief of Staff Gen. Tewfik Nizam el Din and Soviet officials.

The Soviet aid offer was reported at 200 to 300 million Syrian pounds (65 to 100 million dollars).

Syrian government circles were said to regard the Soviet moves as a victory for Syria. Cairo diplomatic sources felt it meant a further swing toward the Soviet camp by President Nasser's closest ally.

Following Egypt's lead, Syria has bought arms from Communist bloc nations over the past two years and now appears to have outstripped Egypt in the lean toward the left.

Capac Girl, 6, Killed in Bike-Truck Collision

CAPAC (AP) — Hazel Diane Withun, 6, of rural Capac was killed last night and her 14-year-old sister, Florence, critically injured when the bicycle on which they were riding collided with a pickup truck on M21 east of here.

Sheriff's deputies said the driver of the truck, Raymond G. Stockmeyer, 31, of Reese, was released after making a statement. Stockmeyer said he did not see the girls until the accident.

Both the truck and the bicycle were headed west on M21 at the time of the accident.

Pigeons Go to Judge Over Housing Troubles

OMAHA (AP) — For some weeks two pigeons tried to build a nest but every time they got one well underway a janitor at the courthouse would tear it up.

Finally they built one on a window ledge in the courtroom of Dist. Judge Jackson B. Chase.

"They will not be disturbed," said Judge Chase.

He presides over Domestic Relations Court.

Waterford OKs Liquor License

Township Board Also Sets Penalty Charges on Delinquent Taxes

After several weeks delay, the Waterford Township Board last night gave its approval for the first time to a liquor license applicant.

The license approved was for David Dunsky, who wants to sell package liquor at 4568 Dixie Hwy.

Board members said they had hesitated over Dunsky's application, since it was the first request since the present board was organized in April.

An explanatory letter from the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, describing the routine involved in granting new licenses, helped convince the board last night.

★ ★ ★

A check for $13,195 was approved for the Weissman Construction Co. as partial payment for the sewer work under way in the Sylvan Shores subdivision.

REZONE 17 LOTS

Other busness included the rezoning from residential to commercial of two acres and 17 lots in a triangle shaped parcel at Scott Lake, Williams Lake and Chevrolet Rds. The township zoning board and the Oakland County Planning Commission previously had approved the change.

★ ★ ★

Another parcel of 1¼ acres off Walton boulevard near Indianwood Manor Subdivision was considered for rezoning from residential to commercial. The matter was tabled for further study, since the change had been turned down by the plan commission, although approved by the zoning board.

Treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Olson, was asked to send form letters to residents of Sylvan Shores Subdivision who are delinquent in tax payments for sewer construction under way there.

★ ★ ★

Deadline for payments of this year's taxes was set last night for Sept. The taxes were due Jan. 1.

LATE TAX PENALTIES

The board voted two penalties for residents who fail to pay by Sept. 1. A flat 6 per cent of the total tax will be charged, in addition to an extra one-half per cent for each month's delay since the first of the year.

Clerk James Seeterlin was authorized to advise township residents of delinquent water and sewer bills. Deadline for payment was set for Sept. 1.

In the monthly police report presented by Capt. Millard J. Pender, there were only seven traffic tickets issued by the depleted police department. They all were handled by Justice of the Peace Donald Adams.

★ ★ ★

The department answered 497 calls, made 32 arrests and reported 38 traffic accidents. They drove police cars a total of 718 miles.

In the treasurer's report for July, there was $41,178 received and $37,366 disbursed, leaving a total balance of $78,089.

Complaints have been coming into the township hall regarding fire alarm installations, Supervisor Elmer Johnson said. Salesmen who have not applied for a peddler's licenses apparently are selling equipment door-to-door, said Johnson who warned that, before buying equipment, residents should check with the fire department.

Thorpes Plead Guilty to 2 of 3 Charges

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Floyd and Anne Thorpe pleaded guilty yesterday to two of three charges in the embezzlement of $75,166 in state license-plate funds.

Mrs. Thorpe, 43, former manager of a secretary of state branch office in St. Clair Shores, pleaded guilty to a charge of embezzlement.

★ ★ ★

Her husband, 48, pleaded guilty to a charge of aiding and abetting the embezzlement. Maximum sentence on either court is 10 years.

Both stood mute on a charge of conspiracy to embezzle.

Circuit Judge James E. Spier continued $100,000 bond on both. No sentence date was set.

The Thorpes were arrested June 4, in Corpus Christi, Tex. They had been sought 15 months over Canada, the United States and Mexico in the disappearance of the state funds.

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Plans have been completed for a Commerce Methodist church Sunday School picnic to be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday at the John F. Ivory Polo Grounds in White Lake Township.

All members of Sunday School and Vacation Bible School classes and their families have been invited to attend. Features planned include pony rides and a weinie roast. Ice cream and soft drinks will be served.

In charge of picnic arrangements are Mrs. Russell Thompson, Mrs. Gerald Maynard and Mrs. Milton Hogg.

Sales Resistance High

WARREN, Ohio (AP) — Sales resistance has reached a new high here.

A local magazine salesman told sheriff's deputies a woman answered his knock with a pistol in her hand, kept it pointed at him during what he described as a "brief and unsuccessful sales pitch."

Ernie Kovacs Sought as Permanent Panelist on 'What's My Line'

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Peggy Lee signed with Frank Sinatra for three ABC-TV shows, including the "live" premiere and two films. . . The Voice also wants Kim Novak for his premiere but has to get Harry Cohn to nod, which isn't easy. . .

Despite all the noise, network shows aren't racing to Hollywood. The 1957-58 season will see 124 hours and 35 minutes of network shows originating in little old New York while only 63 hours and 40 minutes will come from Hollywood each week, according to a Broadcasting-Telecasting magazine tabulation.

"What's My Line" wants Ernie Kovacs as the first permanent panelist in Fred Allen's old chair. . .

The ancient TV gimmick of "saluting" some "name," thereby collecting a flock of said celebrity's pals on stage, is the basis of a new NBC series starting Sept. 19 and to be called "Command Appearance" . . .

Playhouse 90's version of that best seller "Guestward Ho" next fall also will be a showcase for a CBS series. . .

LOOKING FOR SHOW

Philco, whose "Playhouse" was a distinguished pioneer TV drama series, is looking for a new show.

The nighttime CBS-TV Jimmy Dean Show is getting and holding surprisingly tall ratings . . .

Zsa Zsa Gabor says her projected TV series centers around "a character just like me." . . .

Dick Shawn may take to TV regularly in Ring Lardner's "You Know Me, Al," with Abe Burrows scripting.

Ex-Broadway columnist Paul Hawitz got a nice advance for a TV giveaway called "The Money Game" . . .

FAMILY MOVES

"One Man's Family," a durable radio pioneer, has switched to daytime on NBC.

Mindy Carson will give up singing if her acting lessons take. . .

British TV has "Naughts and Crosses," known over here as "Tic Tac Dough."

Mickey Spillane's TV stories are sent in story-line form to Hollywood where they're being scripted and filmed without Mickey's presence and sans most of their violence. . .

Dispute by Technicians Knocks Welk Off Air

NEW YORK (AP)—Work stoppages by ABC-TV technicians in four cities knocked the popular Lawrence Welk show off the network last night. The dispute disrupted other programs off and on earlier in the day.

But near midnight a settlement was reached between the network and the National Assn. of Broadcast Employes and Technicians (NABET).

The dispute was over ABC's premiere yesterday of a TV program, American Bandstand, previously seen only locally in Philadelphia.

Streetcars no longer run in Edinburgh, Scotland, having been replaced by buses.

U. of M. Makes Artificial Kidney

Mechanical Organ Aids Patients Suffering From Mal-Function

ANN ARBOR (INS)—The University of Michigan has developed a new artificial kidney that saves patients from internal drowning and tides an injured or diseased kidney over the critical hours it needs for healing.

★ ★ ★

Urologists at the University Hospital explain that a patient with a non-functioning kidney can literally drown in his own juices if his kidney is not doing its job of separating wastes from the blood and removing them from the body.

The kidney device, known technically as an extracorporeal hemodialyzer, is similar in purpose to the hospital's artificial pump in that it is a mechanical substitute for a vital organ.

Used primarily in patients with acute temporary kidney failure, the device tides the patient over his critical period by "washing" poisonous waste products from the body or removing excess fluid from the blood that has accumulated as a result of kidney failure.

The artificial kidney is a large, square-shaped device composed of a series of cellophane layers, resembling a "dagwood sandwich." Each layer is separated by one thin cellophane membrane.

Unlike the artificial heart pump, which shunts blood directly from where it enters the lungs, the artificial kidney can be conveniently connected to a vein or artery in the patient's arm.

The artificial kidney is used primarily on patient's with temporary renal failures. Persons suffering from shock, blood loss, trauma, ingestion of chemical poisons, and other ailments can be helped by the artificial kidney.

Nordic Council Maps Resource Development

HELSINKI—The Nordic Council—a consultative body consisting of legislators from Sweden, Norway, Finland, Iceland and Denmark—at a recent session in Finland's capital urged the member governments to work on plans for exploiting the rich timber resources of northern Finland and for building—as a joint project—a wood-processing plant in northern Norway.

Wilson Changes Mind About Being a 'Walker'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—I invited myself walking the other night with New York's No. 1 Pedestrian, Henry Blackman Sell, 67, who hoofs our pavements and parks 5 to 10 miles a day.

★ ★ ★

It was a mistake . . . because now he's got me doing it.

"How much have you walked today?" I had just asked the distinguished editor, food-packager and gourmet, a Whitewater, Wis., boy.

WILSON

"Five miles," he announced.

"Well, I think I'll walk with you—to the corner," I said.

Making it those 60 paces left me worn out. "Where are you going now?" he inquired.

★ ★ ★

I lied. I mentioned a famous restaurant nine blocks distant, thinking that would be too far for him.

"I'll walk with you!" he sang out.

Huffing and puffing while trotting beside my young chum while he talked so excitedly of the other pedestrians, Phil Silvers, Jack Pearl, Bernard Baruch, and Bugs Baer, I determined to become a walker myself.

So I walked all over town hunting pedometers.

★ ★ ★

I walked more miles to find out how many miles I walked than anybody. And after buying one, I discovered my son Slugger already had one. So if you see somebody walking along very briskly, with a 10-mile look in his eye, that won't be me . . . that'll be Henry Sell.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Diana Barrymore's publishers say her Mike Wallace TV interview boosted slumping sales of her book . . . Elvis Presley will do an album of romantic ballads . . . Previewers say Dorothy Malone's work in "Man of a Thousand Faces" may get an Academy Award nomination. Singer LaVerne Baker decided to keep the tatto on her arm—making her the ontly tattooed gal singer in the business . . . Nat (King) Cole starts his first starring movie, "St. Louis Blues," in October . . . Some N.Y. churches now have signs at the entrance banning Bermuda shorts.

DOROTHY

Malaya Wins Independence

Singapore Now an Orphan

SINGAPORE (AP)—This island of nearly 1½ million people, once known as the "Crossroads of Asia," becomes something of an orphan this month when neighboring Malaya wins its independence.

Since the early 19th century, when this onetime mangrove swamp became one of Asia's largest trading posts, Singapore has been closely tied to the adjoining Malayan mainland. Although governed separately, the two territories maintained strong economic ties.

★ ★ ★

Now, with independence around the corner for Malaya, the colony of Singapore is anxious to make those bonds permanent.

The Malays, who will be the biggest minority in their own country, oppose union of Singapore and Malaya for two prime reasons:

1. Bringing Singapore's 1¼ million Chinese into the federation would push the Malays down to No. 2 spot.

2. Malay leaders recognize a strong Communist influence in Singapore. Extreme leftist groups control some of the key unions and have an effective weapon in the large body of Chinese school students whose loyalties seem to be tied to Red China. The Malays feel they are going to have enough trouble combatting the jungle guerrillas who have been fighting their government for years without taking on this added headache.

★ ★ ★

British officials point out, however, that for Malaya to sever economic ties with Singapore would be like cutting off a right arm. About 77 per cent of Malaya's trade now hinges on Singapore's banking and port facilities. Singapore has one of the world's finest ports and it would take much more money than Malaya can afford now to match it.

The British, in an effort to curb political unrest in the colony, have granted it a measure of self-government. Next year it will be known as the state of Singapore, but Britain will retain control of defense and foreign affairs.

★ ★ ★

The matter of internal security — dealing with the Communists and other civil problems — has been turned over to a seven-man council consisting of three British delegates and one from the federation.

Invention Craze Strikes Japan

Patent Officials Face Backlog of Applications From Gadget Creators

TOKYO (INS)—Japan is being hit by an "invention fever" today and patent officials are moaning that it will take them years to catch up on the backlog of 200,000 inventions that have piled up in their office.

★ ★ ★

Commenting on the current invention boom, a patent agency official said:

"This is a sign that Japan's national economy has been stabilized."

He said up to now, most of the companies and the people have had their hands full just trying to make ends meet due to economic hardships which followed Japan's disastrous defeat in World War II.

★ ★ ★

The officials said "of some 153,000 applications filed last year only 120,000 have been examined. With leftovers from the previous years, the backlog is now 200,000—or more than the average annual number of applications."

A typical example of an invention which paid off rich dividends is the case of a housewife who invented a portable icebox.

Today, Mrs. Hatsuko Sasaki is the owner of a prospering firm which manufactures 2,000 iceboxes per month and still cannot meet soaring demands in the hot summer months.

The 36-year-old housewife realized that during the lean postwar years, very few families could afford such luxuries as an electric refrigerator.

So she went ahead and built a small portable icebox which was cheap enough to be within reach of the masses. She kept improving on her product and received a patent for it in 1954.

A department store which once laughed at her icebox, is one of her biggest customers today.

★ ★ ★

The invention craze has resulted in the organization of an amateur group known as the "Saturday Inventors Group." This group meets every Saturday to discuss inventions and receive tips from experts in various fields.

SAN FRANCISCO — The Golden Gate and the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridges were designed and constructed to resist possible hazards of air attacks.

OTTAWA — Canada has about 228,300 square miles of fresh water by area.

Missiles Expert Asks for Simple Guided Rockets

VAN NUYS, Calif. (INS) — A missile systems expert says that pushbutton planes demand far more of man than is required in the operation of conventional aircraft.

Stanley A. Hall, head of the Human Factors Staff at Lockheed Aircraft Company's Missile Systems Division at Van Nuys, says: "No device small enough to place inside a missile has yet been developed that can perform with the capability of a human."

★ ★ ★

Hall explains the "feel" of a plane, the visual cues and the auditory patterns are all lost in remotely human-controlled missiles and that no really "effective" substitute has been found for obtaining such data and information.

"Twenty-five men," he says, "are required on the ground to take the place of one man that has been taken out of the air."

The executive believes that industry must take a "new look" at the role played by man in the missile age and seek new ways to simplify missile systems operations.

★ ★ ★

"People still have to assemble and maintain the device," he says, "and there are definite limits to the amount of complexity a man can handle."

Hall believes that there is no such thing as "human error" in the context of a missile. The fault, he says, is in the system and the equipment—not the man.

He said equipment must be designed that will elicit proper responses from man and also utilize the unique and highly developed capabilities which man himself represent.

Science Can't Match Reservoirs' Efficiency

MIAMI — Scientists still have a long way to go before they can compete with nature in water production. The cost of distilling salt water runs about $1 per 1,000 gallons compared with an average industrial cost of about 10 cents per 1,000 gallons for fresh water. And ways of trying to ensure an adequate water supply, such as cloud seeding to produce rain, are still not nearly so efficient as storage.

Finland Serves as Big Window

Provides Europe View of Russia's Frontier; Is Playground for Both

HELSINKI — As Western Europe's big window on the Russian frontier, Finland has become a popular stamping ground for travelers shuttling between East and West.

Many a tourist, however, who passes through this ultra-modern capital lingers on to explore the attractions of the Finnish countryside.

Not since the Olympics in 1952 has Finland done so much to enhance its pristine charm with comfort and convenience. Several hotels in Helsinki have been remodeled, and new inns have sprung up throughout the lake region and as far north as the Arctic Circle.

Room reservations, too, are now a simple matter, thanks to the opening of the Hotel Center at the Railway Terminal in the capital.

Prices in Finland are now low by American standards. One dollar at the tourist rate buys 325 Finn marks, close to 100 marks more than at the official exchange. First-class hotel rooms run $5 with breakfast and service in the capital. A complete meal in a restaurant averages $1.50.

Exquisite local products, such as Arabia china, ceramics, glass, soft wool rugs and hand-blocked linens, sell for a fraction of their price in other parts of the world.

Dozens of new excursions now operate to all corners of the land, says an airline report from Helsinki. Highly successful with visitors are the trips via water coach through the lake country north of the capital.

There are also a number of unique junkets, designed for the roving pioneer. These range from shooting the rapids near Kajaani to pitching camp with Laplanders high above the Arctic Circle.

No place in North Carolina's 1,224-acre Mount Mitchell state park is less than one mile above sea level, and most of it is much higher.

Cabaret Tax Cut 10 Per Cent

House OKs Measure Which Goes to Senate; Treasury Opposed

WASHINGTON (INS) — The House voted yesterday to reduce the federal cabaret tax from 20 to 10 per cent.

The bill, approved on a voice vote, now goes to the Senate which refused to lower the tax in 1954 when Congress reduced all other exeise taxes to the 10 per cent level.

Sponsors of the bill, led by Rep. Aime Forand (D-RI) said the "onerous" tax was responsible for throwing hundreds of musicians as well as hotel and restaurant employes out of work.

The Ways and Means Committee report on the bill said consumer spending in all eating and drinking establishments rose 102 per cent between 1943 and 1956 but dwindled 40 per cent in places subject to cabaret tax.

Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) who led the limited opposition to the bill, charged that the cabaret tax should be the last—rather than the first—tax to be reduced.

WHAT TAX COVERS

The tax actually covers any restaurant where entertainment is provided.

Rep. Marguerite Stitt Church (R-Ill) called it "long-needed legislation."

The bill was opposed by the Treasury Department. Forand told the House: "On general principles, the department is opposed to the loss of a nickel regardless of the merits of the case."

The bill would cost the government a loss of revenue estimated at 21 million dollars annually. Forand argued that some of the loss probably would be made up through higher income tax receipts from persons who would be put to work by the bill.

Girl, 19, Indicted on Murder Charge

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — Elaine Soule, a 19-year-old clerk-typist from Freeport, Long Island, N. Y., was indicted last night by the San Mateo County grand jury on a murder charge in the slaying of her roommate.

★ ★ ★

The victim, Catherine Marie Elvins, 20, daughter of a prominent Seattle physician, was struck 26 times with a flatiron and stabbed 20 times in the chest last July 24 in the apartment she shared with Miss Soule in nearby Burlingame.

★ ★ ★

"The motive was money," Dep. Dist. Atty. Howard Hartley quoted Miss Soule as saying—a $160 check sent the victim by her mother, Mrs. Naomi Elvins, wife of Dr. Richard E. Elvins of Seattle.

Hartley later said "We're less and less interested in the check as a motive and more and more interested in the quarrels" which neighbors reported the young women had constantly.

West Germany Reduces National Debt Slightly

BONN, Germany (AP)—West Germany cut its national debt less than half of 1 per cent—to 20½ billion marks ($4,900,000,000)—in the fiscal year ended last March 13.

The Finance Ministry reported today the reduction during the year was about 100 million marks (nearly 24 million dollars).

Outstanding indebtedness includes 4,200,000,000 marks (nearly a billion dollars) owed the United States and 1,400,000,000 marks (332 million dollars) owed Britain for economic aid after World War II.

TV Tough Boys Get Beaten Up by Two Youths

NEW YORK (AP)—Two teen-age brothers who have appeared in "tough guy" roles in television dramas were beaten up by two youths in a park in upper Manhattan yesterday.

Police gave this account:

A half dozen youths confronted Dennis Mahoney, 16, and Patrick, 14, as they were walking in Highbridge Park.

One of the group stepped forward and said to the brothers: "You guys are supposed to be tough guys, aren't you? Well, let's see you prove it."

Two of the group then punched and kicked the brothers, who fled. The Mahoney boys' parents took them to Jewish Memorial Hospital.

Dennis was kept at the hospital for treatment of a brain concussion. His condition was reported satisfactory today. Patrick was treated for a bruise over his right eye and sent home.

The brothers identified their assailants. Detectives arrested two 16-year-old boys, John Matthews and Thomas P. Ryan, and charged them with assault.

Oliva said in a prepared statement that he had been offered support from "many sectors" but preferred to continue serving in the army he now commands.

"My main ambition," Oliva declared, "is not to be president of the republic but a soldier willing to sacrifice all, including life, in defense of the majesty of the law."

Convict Thumbs Ride With Police Sergeant

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. (AP)—Bradley Caldwell, 21, of Henniker, N.H., thumbed a ride from the wrong man yesterday when he escaped from a work detail at county jail.

He was picked up by Foster F. Corliss and given a ride—back to jail. Corliss, a state police sergeant, drives an unmarked cruising car.
