Tokyo Rains Don't Hinder Final Olympic Preparation

TOKYO (AP) — Drenching rains halted over Tokyo and the sun was trying to make its way through clouds Friday as this 10 million plus city seethed with last minute preparations and excitement for its big date with the 18th Olympic Games.

★ ★ ★

The weatherman's latest prediction for the colorful Oct. 10 opening ceremonies, to start in the afternoon, was for cloudy and occasionally fair skies.

Hundreds of housewives in white aprons armed with brooms were sweeping the streets to contribute their bit to give a good impression to the foreign visitors. "That's all we can do," one said.

Black market ticket prices for the opening ceremony at the 80,000 - seat National Stadium had soared to $1,600 on last report. But ticket sales agencies reported that more than 50,000 tickets were left unsold for soccer.

Ranking them by the number of tickets left over, the least popular events seemed to be, next to soccer, boxing, hockey, riding, and cycling.

STILL JUDO TICKETS

The Japanese Organizing Committee now feels it has done everything possible and is sitting back awaiting judgment on whether they have done a good job.

Even the amazing television relay satellite Syncom III is hanging in space somewhere over the equator in the Pacific already and has successfully bounced back and forth TV images from Japan to the United States.

To cover the Olympic Games 927 foreign correspondents have been accredited with the organizing committee.

At the National Stadium, workers Friday set up 350 microtelevision sets on the press tables, each covered with a plastic box to protect it from rain. The TV sets will be connected to a closed circuit and will show only the names of participants and results.

Romney Ousts 3 in National Guard Scandal

Involves Land, Money, Liquor

LANSING (AP)—A land, money and liquor scandal in the Michigan National Guard was bared today after Gov. Romney dismissed the state's adjutant general and two top officers yesterday.

Romney ordered retirement of Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald, the adjutant general. He removed from active duty Brig. Gen. Carson R. Neifert, quartermaster general, and Lt. Col. Versel Case Jr., the quartermaster's executive officer.

Acting on a report of 11 state law violations and 32 errors in auditing by the Guard, Romney called for a reorganization of the military establishment.

McDonald said he was shocked by his dismissal and asserted, "My conscience is clear."

State Aud. Gen. Billie Farnum reported the irregularities to Romney after an investigation.

Farnum said thousands of dollars were involved but it could not yet be stated how much money, if any, the state had lost.

★ ★ ★

"It does not appear at this time that the three officers relieved of duty are guilty of criminal actions," Romney said.

NO BASIS

Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan said the attorney general's office "has concluded there is no basis for criminal action."

Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, president of the State Military Board, said he doubted any courts-martial would result from the probe.

The irregularities disclosed by Farnum extend back to the 1950s, Romney told a news conference.

★ ★ ★

Among the irregularities, he said:

- About 2,832 state-owned lots in the Camp Grayling area were sold for an average price of $29.
- Land sale proceeds were illegally spent.
- Land transactions were recorded improperly or not at all.
- Armory maintenance funds were diverted illegally for improvements at Camp Grayling, salaries, equipment purchases and even a gift for a retiring general.
- Nearly $300,000 worth of liquor was purchased for Camp Grayling from January 1960 through October 1963 in violation of restrictions limit-

Disclosure Is Climax of Long Probe

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Gov. Romney's discharge of three top Michigan National Guard officers yesterday climaxed a long series of investigations that at one time included the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the U.S. District Attorney's office of the western Michigan district, and consideration by a federal grand jury.

The probe eventually went back for disposition by state administrative channels after a U.S. grand jury failed to return an indictment Feb. 3, 1963, in a case involving an unnamed high ranking Michigan National Guard officer who purportedly used federal personnel and property for pesonal profit.

At the time, Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald, the adjutant general, one of the three top officers fired by the governor, appeared before the grand jury as a witness.

Although grand jury proceedings are secret and the U.S. attorney and his staff is prohibited on commenting on grand jury cases, McDonald publicly defended the officer against the charges made by other national guard personnel.

★ ★ ★

The general at the time the case was before the jury, did acknowledge that the officer had used federal property and employes for work on projects in which he had an interest.

Barry Raps Coexistence; Johnson: 'Won't Sell TVA'

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater returned to California today, charging President Johnson was afraid to stand up to communism and was playing a "dangerous game of coexistence with Russia."

Meanwhile, the President toured Tennessee promising he wouldn't let Goldwater sell any part of the Tennessee Valley Authority. He planned to link up with his wife in New Orleans tonight as the First Lady ended a four-day whistle-stop tour of the South on the Lady Bird special.

Goldwater, in the state where his primary victory last June nailed down the Republican nomination for president, lashed out at the President in a speech prepared for the World Affairs Council in Los Angeles. He said:

"In defense of freedom — and if ever the boundaries of the free world are to be enlarged — there will always be risk.

"But I submit that the greater risk in the face of Communist aggression, is to do nothing — still worse, to submit — and worst of all, to seek new and illusory accommodations with an antagonist that has never retreated an inch from a resolute purpose that contemplates the destruction of our world.

RISKS SECURITY

"On all three scores," Goldwater said, "the present administration is playing a dangerous game — filled with risks for American security, and for the hopes of free men everywhere for a just peace."

Goldwater was scheduled to campaign today in Los Angeles, Culver City and San Francisco.

Johnson, in the third day of a six-day campaign trip through 11 states, began the day in Louisville, but made his cracks about the TVA in a speech prepared for Nashville, Tenn.

Goldwater, several weeks ago in Knoxville, Tenn., said he still believed it would be desirable to sell portions of the TVA not directly connected with flood control or hydroelectric power.

"I am not going to sell TVA," said Johnson. "No matter how much they offer—no matter how much they want for it—no matter what names they call it—I'll never sell the TVA.

"In the first place, it doesn't belong to me—it belongs to the people of the upper South," Johnson said. "It belongs to the people of America."

The President said TVA was in danger because "an unsympathetic president in the White House could starve the TVA, pack its board with people who would dismantle it, and undermine its purpose and its usefulness."

U.S. Officer Is Kidnaped

Venezuela Terrorists Gave Warning First

Smolen, 45, of Chandler, Ariz., is deputy chief of the U.S. Air Force mission in Venezuela. He lived in eastern Caracas with his wife and four children. The kidnapers were presumed to be terrorists supporting Cuba's Fidel Castro.

With Smolen when he was kidnaped by two heavily armed youths was his immediate superior, Col. Henry Lee Choate, and a civilian driver who was not molested.

Choate said an anonymous caller phoned the Air Force mission yesterday and said that Smolen would be kidnaped.

★ ★ ★

The call at first was ignored, Choate said, because so many of a similiar nature have been received. This morning Choate had second thoughts about the call and went to Smolen's house.

MEN ARRIVED

The two men started to get into Smolen's car when two youths armed with submachine guns appeared on Smolen's side of the car and ordered him to accompany them.

They sped off and two blocks away picked up three other heavily armed youths apparently covering their escape.

Group Quotas of United Fund Are Revealed

Industrial Target Tops List With $546,500, Two-Thirds of Total

Major division quotas, which comprise the total 1964 United Fund goal of $815,000, were announced officially today by Bruce J. Annett, general campaign chairman.

"The top division quota of $546,500, set for the industrial division, amounts to approximately two-thirds of the entire goal," Annett pointed out.

Jack Brannack, secretary-treasurer of J. L. VanWagoner Agency, heads the commercial division, will be shooting at a quota of $223,642.

Brannack's group consists of educational, professional, chapter plans, small teams and government groups.

The women's division, headed by Mrs. Merrill Petrie, will be responsible for meeting a quota of $31,699 through residential and small business calls in Pontiac, Waterford, Independence and Orion Townships.

"Most industrial and commercial division solicitations are already under way," Annett said. The Women's group will be ready to begin their activities Oct. 13, the official kickoff date.

★ ★ ★

ADVANCE GIFT

The advance gift division, under the chairmanship of John A. Riley, advertising director of The Pontiac Press, solicits corporate and major gifts of $100 or more for industrial and commercial divisions totaling $102,581.

Annett announced that early returns of the advance gifts and commercial division units show a promising increase over last year.

"I feel confident that this trend will continue and that we will be able to meet our goal on schedule," he said.

Report Names Elly, Husband

Included in Farnum List of Land Owners

LANSING (AP)—Col. W. Merritt Peterson, U. S. property and fiscal officer for Michigan, his wife, Elly, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, and scores of officers and enlisted men in the Michigan National Guard found the property they bought within the limits of Camp Grayling was the center of a legal controversy today.

★ ★ ★

Peterson, a member of the Army, and his wife were included in Aud. Gen. Billie Farnum's list of owners of the controversial property on the north shore of Lake Margrethe.

The Petersons, the list showed, purchased 23 lots, approximately 25 by 100 feet, for a total price of $400.

The lots, many of them several city blocks from water and some of them cut in half by new state highways, sold for prices ranging from $4.50 to $100 each.

★ ★ ★

The "sale" of the land, Farnum said, was done under terms of the state law which added large tracts of land to the original Hanson military reservation through tax sales in the 1930s.

LAND EXCHANGE

The law authorized the State Military Board to exchange any land within the boundaries of the 139,000 - acre reservation for other lands within its boundaries.

As the land deal was set up, individuals would make a bid on the land with the quartermaster general. If acceptable, the prospective purchaser would make his check payable to Grayling attorney Charles E. Moore.

When a large enough fund was built up, the quartermaster general would present the matter to the board as an exchange of properties of relatively equal value.

With the board's approval of the "exchange," the attorney would purchase land from the second party. Then, in rapid succession, he would transfer the land now in dispute to the second party, the second party would sign the military land back to the attorney, and the attorney would transfer them to the original depositors.

★ ★ ★

"It may take an act of the legislature to clear title for the 'innocent purchasers,'" said Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan.

Judge: We Know He's Guilty

Free After Admitting Murder

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 42-year-old former mailman who confessed three times to strangling his wife and led police to her buried body has been freed even though the judge said, "We know this man is guilty."

"With a heavy heart," Judge George L. Hart Jr. said yesterday he was directing a U.S. District Court jury to acquit James W. Killough of manslaughter charges. He added, ". . . in fact, it almost makes me physically ill."

The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled all three confessions invalid and Hart said this left the U.S. attorney's office without sufficient evidence to send the case to the jury.

"I think that tonight, felons in the district court can sleep better and the public must have new apprehensions about its safety," he said.

★ ★ ★

Killough's wife disappeared on Oct. 13, 1960. Killough was questioned by police, and after 27 hours led them to her body and signed a confession.

RULED OUT

The first confession was ruled out on grounds that the method of questioning him and the time he was held before he was charged were improper. Two other oral confessions also were barred.

"In this case," Hart said, "defendant on three separate occasions voluntarily confessed of foully killing his wife and throwing her body on a dump like a piece of garbage.

"He led police there. Yet the U.S. Court of Appeals in its wisdom has seen fit to throw the confessions out . . ."

★ ★ ★

"We know the man is guilty," the judge said, "but we sit here blind, deaf and dumb, and we can't admit we know."

U.S. Action Called Bid to Destroy U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union accused the United States today of attempting to destroy the United Nations by insisting upon a showdown over Soviet refusal to pay for U.N. peace-keeping assessments.

Soviet delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko raised the issue at an otherwise routine meeting on the application of Malawi, former British-ruled Nyasaland, for U.N. membership.

He said it is up to the United Nations to solve any problems confronting it, including who should be members and "also the question of whether the organization should exist or not."

He described as "a mockery of the principles of the U.N. Charter" a U.S. memorandum on the issue of paying peace-keeping assessments, presented yesterday.

MUST CENSURE

Fedorenko added he could not fail to censure the attempt of the United States to destroy our organization."

The presentation of the U.S. proposal prompted a suggestion by some diplomats that the assembly postpone its scheduled Nov. 10 opening.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson gave notice to Secretary-General U Thant Thursday that when the assembly opens Nov. 10, the United States will demand that the Soviet Union and nine other delinquent nations pay up or lose their votes in the assembly.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union has hinted it will quit the United Nations if it loses its vote.

The announcement of Stevenson's memorandum to Thant generated talk of postponing the showdown in hopes that the United States and the Soviet Union would work out a compromise.

DECEMBER OPENING

One suggestion was for the assembly to open in December, then adjourn until January.

A diplomat said U.N. officials were considering a two-week postponement, but he expressed doubt there would be one.

Stevenson's memorandum was made public after Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in Washington that the Soviet refusal to pay any of its $55 million debt affected the constitutional structure of the United Nations.

Although the Soviet Union has paid its assessments for regular operations of the U.N., its refusal to pay anything toward the peace forces in the Congo or the Middle East has put it among 10 nations that are now two years behind in total U.N. dues.

DEPRIVED OF VOTE

The U.S. memorandum noted that under Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, any member two years in arrears shall be deprived of its assembly vote.

The United States said "failure to apply the article to a great power simply because it is a great power would undermine the constitutional integrity of the United Nations."

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union contends that assessments ordered by the assembly for the two peace-keeping operations are illegal because only the Security Council has the right to initiate and finance such operations.

The U.S. memorandum cited a 1962 opinion by the World Court that the assembly has the right to levy assessments for the peace operations.

Because some members have refused to pay those assessments, the United States said, "the U.N. has a net deficit of $134 million," of which $117 million is owed to 29 countries for troops, supplies and services.

Hinting that the United States had the assembly votes to deprive the Soviet Union of its vote, the memo claimed "it is the overwhelming conviction of the U.N. membership" that the Congo and Middle East assessments should be paid.

Of the 10 countries that are two years behind, Bolivia, Paraguay and Yemen are expected to pay enough to avoid penalty. Hungary can get ahead by paying its assessment for the regular budget assessments. But the Soviet Union and five of its allies—Byelorussia, the Ukraine, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Romania — are expected to be still behind when the assembly starts.

LUCKY PUP—This pup is in good hands. Eighteen-year-old Hollace Utgard, Oakland University freshman, has a special fondness for dogs. The feeling is mutual.

OU's Queenly Coed Is in Beauty Contest

Have you checked lately? A dog's life might not be so bad after all.

The benefits of being a dog, at least around Oakland University, increased considerably this fall with the addition of Hollace Utgard to the OU campus.

Miss Utgard, 5-foot-3 with dark brown hair and impressive blue-gray eyes, professes a special affection for man's proverbial best friend.

Right now, however, Miss Otgard admits to "trying to become a more feminine female," which she hopes will score points for her in the finals of the Miss York County (Pa.) beauty contest.

The self-acknowledged one-time tomboy will return to Pennsylvania to compete in the two-day finals Oct. 16-17, having already passed the preliminaries in the Miss America-type contest.

Hollace (the "Holly" was abandoned after she discovered three other Holly's at OU) finds beauty-contesting nerve racking "but exciting."

She credits the contest with making her more aware of the importance of manners and good grooming. The pert coed from Hellam, Pa., still likes outdoor sports and sloppy clothing.

Singing will be her talent contribution in the beauty contest, although she has had nine years of piano lessons besides four years of vocal training.

300 to 'Trick or Treat' for U.N. Children's Fund

BIRMINGHAM — Some 300 youngsters again will do their trick or treating for the United Nations Children's Fund.

Plans have been made to conduct the annual UNICEF drive from 2 to 5 p.m. Oct. 25, the Sunday before Halloween.

Young people participating in the event will meet at the First Methodist Church for a short briefing and moment of dedication. They then will canvass homes in assigned areas.

Churches working on the program are the First Baptist, First Methodist, Congregational, First Presbyterian, Franklin Community and St. James Episcopal. Other groups interested in being assigned an area can contact Rev. William Cecil of the First Presbyterian Church.

Last year the young canvassers collected more than $1,000 for UNICEF. The sum provided 25,000 glasses of milk for hungry children and 10,000 shots of penicillin for those who were sick.

LARGEST AGENCY

UNICEF is the world's largest international agency working on behalf of children. It was established in 1946 as a postwar emergency project.

The organization later turned to long-range needs of children in programs of health, disease control, nutrition and social services. It currently is giving assistance to over 500 projects in 116 countries.

Chamber Chief Talks on Profit

Praises Positions of Both Barry, Johnson

Walter F. Carey, U.S. Chamber of Commerce president, said last night he considers the positions toward business profits of both candidates for president a "good omen."

Carey, 6125 Middle Belt, West Bloomfield Township, expressed his opinion in a speech at the annual meeting of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

He indicated he favored neither President Johnson nor Sen. Barry Goldwater. He spoke on the importance of the profit motive in American business.

Carey said every Washington administration since World War II has understood the importance of business profit.

He said Johnson has shown this through the income tax cut and by "concern over the size of the federal budget and need for economy in the interests of still more tax reduction."

BARRY WANTS CUTS

Goldwater, he said, is "running on a platform that calls for cuts in both taxes and spending, too."

"I take it to be a good omen," Carey said, "that both candidates are aware of the old proverb—it takes oats to make the mare go. It takes profits to achieve meaningful prosperity."

The school is located at 1700 Baldwin.

Say Viet Planes Strafed Many Civilians; 30 Killed

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Well-informed military sources reported today that Vietnamese Air Force fighters accidentally strafed a large group of civilians just south of Saigon Sept. 27, killing 30 and wounding 20.

The attack was reported to have resulted from intelligence that sampans moving on a river 30 miles southeast of here were carrying Viet Cong troops. This intelligence proved false after an investigation of the casualties.

The report that civilians instead of Viet Cong had been killed came to light in a report from the local province chief. Informants said the Vietnamese Air Force was taking steps to avoid recurrence.

Communist Chinese and North Vietnam radio transmitters have broadcast in the last several days that up to 400 civilians were killed in the incident, which had not been reported in Saigon. Today's report apparently was in answer to the Communist broadcasts.

Accidental strafing of civilians by air force planes happens frequently here, but the September incident resulted in unusually high casualties. Friendly troops also are occasionally hit by accident.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Khanh said today his armed forces could bomb North Viet Nam or Red China; "the only thing is you must do it in the right place and the right time."

"This is an important decision that will involve complications on the international side and also on the national side," Khanh told a news conference. He said his planes could carry one-ton, two-ton and three-ton bombs.

Asked by a Vietnamese newsman whether the war could be pressed against the Viet Cong without U.S. aid, Khanh said:

"Let's not forget that the United States itself received aid from other nations to gain its freedom and I'm sure the United States will continue to help us to preserve our freedom and independence.

★ ★ ★

"Let us not forget that more than 20 nations are now helping us in our fight, not only the United States."

● Liquor was sold and consumed in armories in violation of statute.

● Individuals were overpaid and underpaid according to federal pay schedules.

● Improper travel expenses were claimed.

NAMES TWO

Romney named Col. Clarence Schnipke, presently assistant adjutant general, as acting adjutant general, and Col. Leo C. Whitaker, presently chief of staff, 46th Infantry Division, as acting quartermaster general.

He recalled Brig. Gen. Howard Arbury, a member of the military board, to active duty for 30 days to head a military reorganization task force that will recommend reorganization and streamlining of the state's military establishment.

Romney asked the military board to submit proposed legislation for the 1965 legislature and the attorney general to recommend legislation designed to clear up problems relating to the improper property sales.

Romney reinstated with back pay Lt. Col. John P. Brown who had been fired by Gen. McDonald a year ago Thursday after Brown complained to the military board of fiscal irregularities and unsound practices.

"Brown rendered a service in bringing this to the attention of the state," Romney said.

"About 75 per cent of the things he alleged turned out to be true."

Farnum said, however, Brown had made fiscal errors and had purchased four of the lots in question.

Gen. Simmons, whose five-member military board unanimously recommended to Romney the three dismissals, did not recommend Brown's reinstatement.

Farnum indicated the land transactions had been the most difficult items to trace and would be the hardest to straighten out.

to McDonald, who was responsible for its operations, was maintenance and repair of U.S. property charged to the State National Guard.

Some of the projects McDonald admitted at the time that the officer initiated were:

● Fabrication of canvas covers for a truck and boat and construction of an ice fishing shanty.

But McDonald said none of the acts was improper and the work on the PX equipment "was under the direction of the post exchange board and the commanding general and it was for the use of the troops."

The general likened the boat cover incident to a "little repair shop where a man comes in and says, 'Can I borrow your tools?' and the fellow says, 'Well, sure, Joe, come ahead.'"

"It's just amazing they are making such an issue of it," McDonald said at the time.

The ice shanty, McDonald said, was not made for any one individual but was used by a number of people and just happened to be stored at the officer's place.

present ownership of all land sales and the surplus funds resulting therefrom," Farnum said in his 15-page report to the military board. "This may be very costly and time consuming," he said.

Some 314 lots were deeded in lieu of payment for work performed and services rendered, Farnum said.

Proceeds from the lots totaled $84,480, he added, of which $5,900.30 is still on deposit.

Gen. Simmons said he believed most purchasers of the lots did not think anything was wrong with the deal.

PURCHASED NO LOTS

He said Gen. McDonald purchased none of the land. Several of the lots went to Moore for his attorney services, Farnum said.

The auditor general's report said 54 unauthorized capital outlay projects at Camp Grayling cost at least $157,785.

That money, he continued, came improperly from armory funds, federal sources and charges for salaries, wages, equipment and armory maintenance.

★ ★ ★

PROPER PROCEDURES

He told the State Department of Administration to begin work immediately with the military to install proper accounting procedures and practices.

★ ★ ★

The governor said "some of these irregularities were in practice before Gens. McDonald and Neifert and Col. Case assumed their top positions several years ago, and some have begun since that time. They all have been continued for several years.

"The irregularities are serious enough to assure me that the public interest demands they be relieved of their responsibilities."

Not Legal to Sell Land at Grayling

LANSING (UPI) — In 1934 the legislature passed a law that let the State Conservation Department turn over to the Michigan National Guard the Hanson Military Reservation.

★ ★ ★

Under terms of the agreement, the military board was to supervise the land, now known as Camp Grayling, and it could, for the betterment of the guard, trade its properties within the reservation for lands also inside the boundaries that were privately owned.

But the law did not authorize the National Guard to make any outright sale of the land.

Yet, since 1958, an attorney general's opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, the Michigan National Guard has sold land in large chunks and often at very favorable rates to members of the military establishment.

★ ★ ★

The sales were a key factor yesterday in Gov. Romney's decision to clean up the situation by firing State Adjutant General Ronald McDonald, Quartermaster General Carson Neifert and Lt. Col. Versel Case Jr., the quartermaster executive officer.

EXHAUSTIVE AUDIT

According to Aud. Gen. Billie S. Farnum, who said his department's investigation of the case probably constituted the most exhaustive audit ever undertaken in Michigan government, a total of 2,832 state-owned lots were sold and another 314 deeded away in lieu of payments for work and services rendered.

★ ★ ★

The average price of the sold lots was $29 but prices on the properties, which measured 25 feet by 100 feet, ranged from $4.50 to $100.

The policy was apparently begun after the legislature discontinued appropriating funds to acquire new land needed for military purposes.

Reuther Expects Progress

Sees Thaw in GM Talks

DETROIT (AP) — A nationwide strike against General Motors entered its third week today as an optimistic note was sounded for a speedup in solving local plant problems.

★ ★ ★

United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther told newsmen yesterday he expected "very substantial movement" this weekend in local negotiations.

"It takes a certain amount of time to build up momentum at the local level," Reuther said, "but there is some significant progress being made—and I think that the weekend will really be very important."

Despite Reuther's prediction of a thaw in the negotiations freeze, more than 100 local UAW bargaining units have failed to resolve their differences with individual plant management.

Latest reports showed that only 20 of 130 local units had reached agreements.

GM and the union agreed Monday on national contract terms, but striking workers will not return to their jobs until the bulk of the local demands have been resolved.

The giant auto maker had turned out about 285,000 new Chevrolets, Buicks, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs when the UAW ordered more than a quarter-million workers to strike Sept. 25.

Tshombe Leaves Cairo After Stealing Show

★ ★ ★

The Congo's 44-year-old premier took a commercial airliner to Athens and then Paris. In Paris he was to take a chartered plane back to Leopoldville.

★ ★ ★

President Gamal Abdel Nasser, who had held Tshombe under house arrest since his arrival Tuesday, freed him after the premier lifted the blockade on the embassies of the United Arab Republic and Algeria in Leopoldville.

In Leopoldville, 24 Egyptians and four Algerians from the two embassies left the Congolese capital Thursday night and crossed the Congo River to Brazzaville, capital of the neighboring Congo Republic.

CLOSES EMBASSY

U.A.R. Ambassador Mohammed Ibrahim Kamel said the hasty departure did not mean a break in diplomatic relations with the Congo but he had been instructed to close the embassy temporarily.

Tshombe had come to Cairo for the nonaligned conference despite a telegram that he would not be welcome. Cairo airport refused his plane permission to land Monday and he flew on to Athens. When he returned early Tuesday, Nasser clapped him into Aruba Palace on the outskirts of Cairo and the conference voted not to admit him.

Angered by Nasser's action and Algerian President Ahmed Ben Bella's outspoken opposition to Tshombe's attendance at the conference, the Congolese surrounded the Egyptian and Algerian Embassies in Leopoldville with police and let no one in or out.

The Congolese premier is hated by many African leaders for his collaboration with Europeans during his secessionist regime in Katanga Province, his part in the slaying of Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba and his employment of white mercenaries against Communist-backed rebels in the Congo.

At th conference Thursday Prime Minister Nirdom Kantol of Cambodia accused the United States of imperialism in Southeast Asia, particularly in Viet Nam.

Vice President Rashidi Kawawa of Tanganyika-Zanzibar shouted that the United States and Britain were "the main props to the apartheid structure in South Africa."

Prime Minister Andre Nayloye of Burundi asserted that the United States is "a great menace" to central Africa. Burundi's capital, Bujumbura, is the headquarters for the rebels in the eastern Congo and Communist China has an embassy there.

Lady Bird's Tour to End at New Orleans

Both of them are busy seeking Dixie votes on separate routes today. Johnson was flying into Louisville, Ky., and Nashville, Tenn., making his way to a $100-a-plate Democratic dinner celebration in New Orleans.

Lady Bird gave her engineer orders to pull out of Tallahassee, Fla., at 5:35 a.m. after a rousing Florida State College homecoming rally with about 3,000 students and an overnight rest stop.

ON PLATFORM

She had to be out on the train's observation platform to greet folks at an engine switching stop at Chattahoochee, Fla., an hour later.

"I've been working on the railroad," Mrs. Johnson jokingly paraphrased the familiar song. But it wasn't really a joke. She had been putting in long, hard days and had made 36 stops and 36 speeches in a span of 72 hours.

★ ★ ★

It was wearying, but rewarding. As Mrs. Johnson put it, there were "bigger and bigger enthusiastic crowds" all the way from Washington to Florida. According to her generous whistle-stop counters, a million people will have turned out to see the President's wife by the time her train reaches New Orleans.

Georgia's Gov. Carl Sanders said the Lady Bird Special started out as a train but seems to be "trying to wind up as a bandwagon."

TRAVELING SHOW

It was all like a traveling road show, with the whole Johnson family getting into the act. The latest to join up was daughter Luci, 17, who did everything from cheering Valdosta, Ga., with word she knew about their football team to lecturing young Goldwater hecklers, on respecting the rights of others who have opposing views.

She just about stole the show at Florida State College Thursday night, with the crowd shouting "We want Luci." To the delight of the big audience, Luci seemed taken by surprise when coeds crowned her with a huge red, white and blue feather headdress and made her an honorary member of their 1964 homecoming court.

She promptly rose to the occasion, delivering a speech on the responsibilities of her generation to prepare for the time when they will be handed their country's problems to solve.

As the Lady Bird Special set out across the Florida Panhandle, into southern Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, Mrs. Johnson entered rural and sparsely populated areas and some of the smallest towns on her schedule. These, she says, are the visits she likes best because she comes from the small town of Karwack, Tex., and those are the places where she feels more at home.

★ ★ ★

Four Western Attaches Return to Moscow Despite Charges

MOSCOW (UPI) — Four western military attaches headed back to their Moscow posts today despite Soviet hints that they may be expelled on espionage charges.

They were expected aboard a 2 p.m. (8 a.m. EST) flight from New Delhi.

The three Americans and one Briton have been accused of taking notes and pictures of Soviet military installations during their trip across the country last month on the Trans-Siberian Express.

They were forcibly searched in a hotel at the end of the train trip, but allowed to continue to Tokyo.

★ ★ ★

The United States and Britain protested. And the Soviets replied with the espionage charges.

HINT WILL EXPEL

The Soviet Foreign Office has hinted they may be expelled. Informed sources said the United States may be planning to have its three attaches make a brief return for appearance's sake and then send them home.

But U. S. Embassy officials said as far as was known, the officers would return to their jobs.

Moscow television last night hinted that if the attaches had not had diplomatic passports, they would have been jailed.

★ ★ ★

'NOT DIPLOMATS'

"They are not diplomats. They are spies," a television commentator said. "If they did not have diplomatic status, they would have found themselves in a place where they could not have gotten out so easily."

The television program, which followed similar reports in the official newspapers, showed cameras, photographs and notebooks said to have been taken from the attaches in the hotel raid in the Siberian city of Khabarovsk.

★ ★ ★

By WILLIAM RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

As helpless onlookers with the deck stacked against them, the United States and its allies take a beating at meetings such as the one in Cairo calling itself "The nonaligned nations conference."

The Cairo deliberations create an impression that a major purpose was to decide whether Soviet or Chinese "anti-imperialism" should be considered superior. If the West had any role, it was that of whipping boy.

* * *

Both Russia and China probably regard the Cairo conference as little more than a curtain raiser for the real battle over the underdeveloped nations.

SECOND MEET IN MARCH

The battleground will be provided next March when the second African-Asian conference — in the style of Bandung in 1955 — is scheduled to open in Algeria.

* * *

Those in charge of the Cairo agenda decided the "nonaligned" conference would discuss such things as peaceful coexistence, colonialism, imperialism, and foreign bases. This automatically made th Communist side the "good guy" and relegated the West to the role of "bad guy."

* * *

The agenda silenced in advance those who might have wanted to penetrate the real meaning of cliches. Few Asian and African leaders would place themselves in the position of defending "imperialism and colonialism." Red propaganda long has attributed imperialist and colonialist intentions to U.S. activities among underdeveloped nations.

The rough handling of the Congo's Moise Tshombe — pictured by dominant voices at the conference as a tool of "U.S. imperialism" — indicated what would happen to anyone who attempted to define prefabricated cliches for what they are.

MOSCOW FARES POORLY

If there was any solace for the West, it was in watching the Chinese-Soviet battle for influence among such nations. Moscow seems to have fared poorly.

The Soviet banner was carried by "nonaligned" Tito of Communist Yugoslavia, but his performance was not outstanding. The Chinese, however, must have been deeply satisfied with President Sukarno of Indonesia. Fresh from a Moscow visit and promises of Soviet "brotherly help" in his program to crush Malaysia, Sukarno hurled battle cries far to the left of the Kremlin.

* * *

Leaving for Cairo, Sukarno was seen off by Soviet President Anastas I. Mikoyan, who called him "our beloved friend and comrade."

Evidently Sukarno was not overly impressed. In Cairo he deplored "peaceful coexistence" and called for implacable enmity for "imperialists." When Sukarno says "imperialists," he means Britain and the United States. He blames them for the creation of the Malaysian nation.

Tito had praised the limited nuclear test ban treaty which the Red Chinese denounce. Sukarno scorned the treaty as damaging to developing nations.

The battle surely will be carried to the African-Asian conference in March. If the Chinese have their way, the Russians will not be represented. The Chinese deny the Soviet Union is an Asian nation. The Russians, despite their help to Sukarno, seemed to get nowhere in convincing him that he should support their claim. But the Russians have not given up the fight to be represented.

* * *

The West will be on the outside looking in once again in March, and once again taking consolation from the background battle between the two Communist philosophies.

The main hurricane months are August, September and October, although the storms do occur at other times.

The Vice Presidency No Longer Is Derided

Almost from the foundling days of the Republic, the office of Vice President was considered but a mandated appendage of the Federal establishment.

Successive holders of the office, though never exactly in the administration doghouse, were never exactly in the White House either.

★ ★ ★

The post has often been regarded as a political graveyard, been subjected to contempt and served as the butt of many a comedian's barbs.

Satirical treatment of the second highest office in the land undoubtedly reached the zenith or nadir—depending on how you look at it—when a popular Broadway musical, circa 1931, revolved around the fumbling fustiness of an imaginary vice president.

He is made to lament that the only way he could get into the White House would be to join a guided tour.

Many of the vice presidents themselves looked down upon the office and treated it with unconcealed disdain. THEODORE ROOSEVELT would have preferred to run again for governor of New York rather than as President-to-be WILLIAM MCKINLEY'S running mate. FRANKLIN ROOSEVELT had to appeal to HARRY TRUMAN'S wartime patriotism to induce him to lend his name to the 1944 Democratic ticket.

Happily, during the past decade, the Vice Presidency has attained the prominence and esteem due the office. The death of PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT in office at a critical time in history did much to accentuate the tremendous importance of the second in command.

Dwight Eisenhower was the first Chief Executive to give his vice president, the able Richard Nixon, genuine executive status and responsibility. The wisdom of this departure from presidential precedent was abundantly proven when Nixon was prepared to assume the reins of government during the two illnesses of the President.

And, of course, the assassination of President KENNEDY and the smooth transition of power to then Vice President JOHNSON indicated to a horror-stricken country as nothing else could how vital to its well being is qualified incumbency of the vice presidency.

★ ★ ★

Of the considerations influencing voter preference for the presidency, a most significant one should be the identity of the vice president who, as we have seen twice within 20 years, might be destined to lead the Nation.

Wastebasket's Status Seen as Still Lowly

The decades have brought vast changes in the appurtenances of daily living. Unbelievable advances in science, engineering, styling have transformed the utensils of mankind from early primitive to modern fantastic.

But there is one article of daily use in home and office that has resisted the trend and held fast to the original concept from which it sprang.

★ ★ ★

It is the wastebasket.

There is nothing remotely inspirational about today's wastebasket. No songs have been composed, no odes written about wastebaskets.

All that could be said about a wastebasket is that it is a hole surrounded by sides. Functional? Yes. Aesthetic? Ugh.

★ ★ ★

But an innovation is at hand in the do-it-yourself disposal dept. Now for only $98.95 (plus express beyond 50 miles of manufacture) you can get an electric deluxe unit that will shred into ¼-inch bits the paper waste slipped into it.

Fine—great, put me down for half a dozen, you say?

But wait. There is a defect — a glaring one—that doesn't meet the eye.

How are you going to rummage frantically through a container of confetti for that important letter or memo that is missing off your desk and intuition tells you was inadvertently tossed into the wastebasket?

Johnson Using Needle Method

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — After watching Sen. Barry Goldwater let himself be needled into using up a lot of his presidential campaign time defending himself, President Johnson has begun to use the needle technique on the Arizonan.

MARLOW

Democrats and Republicans (before Goldwater became the party candidate) accused the senator of being impulsive and trigger-happy. Goldwater has worked hard at trying to erase such an image of him from the public mind.

Last Sept. 22, the New York Times and Washington Post both said as a fact that Goldwater believes his reputation for impulsiveness is his greatest barrier to the White House.

Again and again in this campaign, in speech after speech, he has assured his listeners that he is neither impulsive nor reckless and that he has only one "goal in mind. Peace."

But members of Johnson's administration — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara—have called the senator "irresponsible." And Johnson increasingly has sought to keep Goldwater similarly irritated.

LBJ COVERS UP WELL

It's a good guess that Goldwater, since Johnson is sensitive to criticism, is getting under the President's skin. But, judging from Johnson's reaction in public, the Texan seems determined not to let any irritation show.

When Goldwater began charging the Johnson administration with being "soft on communism" Johnson told reporters: "The new and frightening voice of the Republican party is merely trying out this charge to see if it works. My advice to him would be to drop it."

As he campaigned in earnest in the Midwest Wednesday, Johnson worked the needle technique overtime by referring to various previous Goldwater positions that the senator has sought to get away from.

★ ★ ★

For instance, on Social Security. Before he lost the New Hampshire primary last March Goldwater had talked of putting Social Security on a voluntary basis. It got a bad reaction and his campaign manager said it was a major goof.

WANTS IT STRENGTHENED

Ever since, Goldwater has been insisting he wants to make Social Security stronger. Wednesday, Johnson chose to ignore what Goldwater is saying now and referred to what he had said before the primary without mentioning him by name.

The President said there are those in the land whose policies would bankrupt the Social Security system. He said there are those "who want to make it voluntary."

In 1963 and before that, Goldwater was suggesting the United States get out of the United Nations. But now he is saying he wants to strengthen the U.N.

Again Johnson ignored what Goldwater had said more recently and told his listeners suggestions are made for withdrawing from the U.N.

Since this kind of thing can't go on indefinitely without boring audiences with repetition — and the campaign still has 26 days to go—Johnson almost certainly will have to find new techniques to irritate the senator.

David Lawrence Says:

Campaign Downgrades Voters

WASHINGTON — Each of the two presidential candidates evidently thinks that his opponent is running under false colors.

LAWRENCE

It is hard enough for the public to understand the confusing slogans and characterizations which are emerging on the stump these days, but it appears even more difficult for the candidates to understand each other.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson, for example, said in Indiana he is not sure that "there is a real Republican candidate" running against him. Sen. Goldwater, on the same day in Texas, said he wishes the Democrats would rename themselves the "Socialist Party" as he argues that the Johnson administration favors big government controls that breed "socialism."

The truth of the matter is that both the candidates are concentrating on a form of campaigning which is based on a fallacy — namely, that the general public doesn't understand issues and that these can be misrepresented and votes gained just the same.

★ ★ ★

But what makes the whole thing so puzzling is that this is the assumption of well-educated men, high up in political organizations, who are familiar with the trends of American thought but who have come to the conclusion that the bulk of the voters can be swayed by passions and prejudices as well as by epithets and sweeping denunciations.

★ ★

All four nominees for the presidency and the vice presidency on both tickets — are making the same kind of campaign. They rely on charges and countercharges. The speeches have a strange sameness about them, irrespective of the side from which they come.

WHOLE STRATEGY

Evidently the whole strategy on both sides rests on the belief that the people can be influenced in their votes primarily by emotional appeals and that they do not care to delve into the pros and cons and the basic facts of controversial questions.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps no campaign in the last half-century has been full of such demagoguery as is manifest today.

The mystery is why the top men in the higher echelons in the camps of both Sen. Goldwater and President Johnson have allowed the candidates to become involved in this type of political battle.

★

It can only be inferred that these strategists think, as the late Vice President Curtis once said in a campaign speech, "The people are too damn dumb to understand."

LITTLE DIFFERENCE

But when the campaign is over, and the shouting has died down, and analyses are made of the election, a well-founded conclusion may emerge that, after all, the surface issues made little difference.

★ ★ ★

Again and again, a political campaign against an incumbent administration has raised the cry, "It's time for a change." But the public is not always of the same opinion, unless the opposing candidate is able to make a convincing case that there is, in fact, a "mess in Washington" and that the time has really come for a change.

Bob Considine Says:

Rose Kennedy Stumping Is Limited but Dramatic

NEW YORK — Lady Bird's whistle-stop tour in behalf of her husband's political future has all the trappings of the big time: long, slick train, dozens of correspondents, radio and TV gear, researchers, hairdresser, literary spooks, loudspeakers, good chef and swarms of Secret Service men, FBI, state and local police.

CONSIDINE

Mrs. Rose Kennedy's "whistle-stopping," in behalf of her son Bobby's somewhat less positive political future in New York, is by comparison microscopic, and limited. But more dramatic.

Last Sunday, the neat, energetic mother of the former attorney general opened her tour at Manhattanville College, Purchase, N. Y., where two of her daughters and Bobby's wife attended school.

She spoke for 10 minutes without recourse to the pad of lined yellow paper on which she had written her speech. Later in the day she attended a party-rally in New Rochelle at the home of James A. Farley Jr., and repeated the speech she had memorized.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kennedy is 72. She is stumping for her son in a station wagon, accompanied by two companions. There is no security.

NO SELF-PITY

Her Sunday audiences found her without an iota of self-pity, which is the way it has always been with the daughter of Honey Fitz.

Three of her children and a son-in-law met violent deaths. Her husband is the victim of a paralytic stroke. A daughter is retarded. Her youngest son has a broken back.

Her talk was not about any of that. It was about Bobby; the fact that he "grew up" in New York, that he and all the children had been raised to regard politics as a profession and a field in which they all must take interest.

★ ★ ★

When it was over she took her place in the reception line, patented by her in 1952 when she and the children campaigned for Jack.

Mrs. Kennedy is a remarkable campaigner, tireless, cheerful, interested and with a delightful smidgeon of blarney.

When she tackled the difficult job of convincing the people of Massachusetts that her son Teddy was senatorial timber, though barely 30, she would say to skeptical crowds, "I agree with those of you who are opposed to my son, or, at least, I can understand.

"Jack was 'too young,' as I recall. So was Bobby 'too young,' but they're doing pretty well, aren't they?

"Matter of fact, I wanted Teddy to go into the Church. But the trouble was that he wanted to start out as a bishop."

It isn't steak, but it fills little tummies and keeps them from going to bed hungry. It just takes more time to prepare.

There is a clear answer in September Reader's Digest, by Dr. Mario Lanzo, regarding the Bay of Pigs invasion.

The plans were drawn up under Ike's administration and the invasion under the Kennedy administration. When the area of invasion was changed and air support denied, the results were disaster.

These changes were made against the protests of the CIA and the Joint Chiefs of Staff, although the CIA was later made the "whipping boy."

'Reuther Leads Nation Toward Inflation'

★ ★ ★

What are Reuther's desires and plans for the future — put all smaller firms out of business, have the state take over their plants, and make the U. S. a socialistic state?

★ ★ ★

Inflation comes first. Higher wages and fringe benefits mean cost added to everything along the line. He talks about human dignity. He should show a little himself.

A SMALL EMPLOYER

Medicare and Social Security Comments

Goldwater favors a strong Social Security system. By adding Medicare and increases to the plan, as the Johnson administration proposes to do, it will become insecure or add to taxes taken from workers' pay. Many older people get along well on the present plan.

★ ★ ★

In some respects medicare is not as good as the Kerr-Mills plan already available. It covers only those under Social Security and is not as good as many insurances employers give to employes.

Social Security was intended to be supplemental income.

Great Pioneer

The Hillsdale News

In 1864, a peppery little man named Dr. William Worrall Mayo moved to Rochester, Minn., and established his practice in an office graced by a bust of Abraham Lincoln. He was a doctor by virtue of four months of study at Indiana Medical College. That was common in those days.

★ ★ ★

"W. W." Mayo was not a common sort of man. He was interested in new medical developments, such as Lister's antisepsis. He encouraged his boys, Will and Charlie, to read, study, travel, learn all they could. They became doctors . . . and in due course, they took on other doctors to help out with their growing practice. Eventually they began calling their undertaking the Mayo Clinic.

Both Dr. Will and Dr. Charlie became, 11 years apart, presidents of the American Medical Association. And they and their followers made such a success of the Mayo Clinic that now Rochester has become the world's largest medical center.

All this is worthy of special note just now because Rochester is celebrating the Mayo Centennial and the 50th anniversary of the Mayo Foundation, which the two brothers established in the University of Minnesota Grade School in 1915.

These celebrations are not of importance merely to Rochester, or Minnesota, or even the United States. They are of worldwide significance. For it was in Rochester that the sons developed the private group practice of medicine, a patient-centered clinic that has become a pattern for many others. All of us owe the Mayos a great debt of gratitude.

Valuable Food

The Holland Evening Sentinel

The controversy over artificial sweeteners such as saccharin and cyclamate may turn out to be little more than a tempest in a sugar bowl. One good thing may come of it, however. The hassle may cause a lot of people, doctors as well as laymen, to ask themselves whether the growing fad for avoidance of sugar in the diet is wise.

The current dispute was touched off by the Medical Letter, a publication that reports on drugs and is read mostly by doctors. "Except where intake of sugar must be limited as in some diabetic patients," this journal said, "the unrestricted use of artificial sweeteners makes little sense, especially since their safety isn't beyond question." This drew reactions both from the Food and Drug Administration and from such commercial interests as drug and soft drink makers and food processors.

The FDA said that although the artificial sweeteners had hitherto been considered safe, new tests were being made because their use was growing so rapidly. Thus far it was noted, "the FDA has no evidence that there is cause for alarm." The commercial interests were less calm about the matter. Understandably so, because demand for the sweeteners for use in diet foods and low-calorie drinks has swiftly expanded in recent years.

It is a pertinent question whether, even if the artificial sweeteners are harmless, there is much point in using them unless sugar intake must be restricted for medical reasons. Sugar is a valuable food. Parents would do well to think about a remark by Dr. Louis C. Lasagna, a director of the division of clinical pharmacology at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore: "People who have no need to avoid sugar are doing so, and some of those people, children especially, absolutely need it."

30 Freed for 'Hilda' Efforts

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Thirty House of Detention prisoners — who helped city workers take precautions against Hurricane Hilda last weekend — were released from the city prison yesterday.

Mayor Victor H. Schiro requested the judges of Municipal and Traffic Courts to grant 30 days credit on the sentences of the 60 prisoners who voluntarily worked during Hilda's threat.

★ ★ ★

"These men rendered a service in a time of danger to the community and deserve some consideration for their unselfish action," said Municipal Judge Blair Lancaster.

The other 30 prisoners remain in the House of Detention, but they will be freed 30 days earlier than scheduled.

Life Sentence in Kidnaping

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Joseph Francis Bryan Jr., 26, and exconvict and former mental patient, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday in the kidnaping of a 10-year-old South Carolina boy who was found dead in Florida.

The slender, brown-haired Audubon Park, N.J., man showed no emotion when he heard sentence passed by Federal Judge J. Robert Martin Jr. Bryan's father and married sister were in the courtroom.

Bryan pleaded guilty Wednesday to the kidnaping of Johnny Robison who disappeared Feb. 27 from his home in suburban Mount Pleasant. The boy's body was found March 31 in a mangrove swamp near Hallandale, Fla.

Bryan also faces prosecution in New Jersey, Florida and Tennessee in connection with the kidnaping of three other children, two of whom were also found dead.

He is listed as a suspect in the deaths of David Wulff, 8, of Willingboro, N.J., and Louis (Hackie) Wilson, 7, of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Pentagon Gets Solons' Demand to Close Ft. Ord

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A demand by two California congressmen that Ft. Ord be quarantined because of a meningitis outbreak was referred to the Pentagon yesterday by Sixth Army commander Gen. Frederick J. Brown.

The demand by Reps. J. Arthur Younger and Charles Gubser, both Republicans, followed the death of Patricia Arsenault, Millbrae, Calif. She died just 48 hours after a reunion with her fiance upon completion of 10 weeks basic training at the Army training post near Monterey, Calif.

Her death was attributed to the same strain of meningitis which has stricken 84 persons and resulted in the deaths of 13 at Ft. Ord this year.

Brown, in a reply to the congressmen, said he had referred the matter to the Department of Army because he did not have the authority to close the post.

Hare Issues Statement

Backs State Fee System

Secretary of State James M. Hare has released the following statement about the renumeration of branch secretary of state office employes:

Many have read about the dispute between the Civil Service Commission and the Secretary of State relative to the conversion of 24 fee-type branch offices into classified Civil Service branches.

On the basis of the Civil Service proposal of converting 24 fee branches into Civil Service offices, the system would cost $633,000 annually. On a fee basis, these same operations would cost less than $500,000, a savings of over $133,000 yearly. To offset this additional cost, Civil Service suggested closing several key offices in thickly-populated areas. This would curtail our service.

The third consideration is "service to the public." This is where I feel our argument in favor of fee operations is most overwhelming.

★ ★ ★

Who produces the best results . . . the person who waits in a place of business and has a guaranteed salary no matter what the volume of his business, or the salesman, getting a commission only on what he sells? The obvious answer is the salesman.

MORE COMPLETE

Fee offices provide more complete service. They are often open nights in keeping with the current trend of retail stores.

Every year during the rush period, these branches take their operations into many of the state's smaller communities to offer residents personalized license service.

The fee offices provide better service more economically and more efficiently.

The writer is Henry Jaeger, 36, who spent eight years in prison for the 1954 raid with a dummy submachine gun on a postal pension office in Frankfurt.

★ ★ ★

While in prison, Jaeger wrote a refugee novel "Die Festung" which has been published in various foreign countries. Since his release Jaeger has written two more books and has become an editor for a Frankfurt newspaper.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for Jaeger's publisher, said federal postal authorities have made a formal demand on Jaeger for the entire sum stolen in the Frankfurt robbery.

★ ★ ★

"Jaeger had several accomplices and he received only one fourth of the money," the spokesman said. "He is ready to repay that fourth, plus interest, but he thinks that demanding it all from him is not fair."

2 State Women Killed in Kentucky Collision

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Two Michigan women died Thursday night in the head-on collision of two cars nine miles south of Lexington on U.S. 25.

Fayette County police identified the dead as Mrs. Grace Margaret Raymor, 53, of Greenville, Mich., and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Ida R. Dean, 69, of Saranac, Mich.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower commanded 6,000 men at the Tank Training Center in Gettysburg in 1918. He now makes him home in that Pennsylvania community.

Hart, Elly Spar on Baker Votes

By The Associated Press

Mrs. Elly Peterson said Thursday her Democratic opponent for election to U.S. Senate "has now voted five times to sweep the Bobby Baker case under the rug."

* * *

But, incumbent Sen. Philip A. Hart, speaking in Muskegon, noted he voted twice before adjournment of Congress in favor of investigating the case involving alleged influence peddling in Washington.

* * *

The statements came during a day when a number of candidates, including Mrs. Peterson, appeared before the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce convention in Detroit.

Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor Robert Derengoski told the C. of C. meeting the Democratic administration in Washington, not the GOP administration in Lansing, is responsible for prosperity in Michigan.

OFFICE HOURS

His Republican opponent, State Sen. William Milliken, told the audience he will hold office hours in each county courthouse, time permitting, if he is elected.

* * *

Milliken is running on the ticket with Gov. George Romney who spoke to the Michigan Mental Health Association in Detroit Thursday night after a speech in Grand Rapids during the day.

* * *

Derengoski shares the Democratic ticket with Neil Staebler who planned a luncheon speech today to the Downriver Chamber of Commerce at Wyandotte Yacht Club.

Also appearing Thursday before the State C. of C. session were the two attorney general candidates, Democratic incumbent Frank J. Kelley and Republican Meyer Warshawsky, as well as Democratic Secretary of State James M. Hare.

* * *

Meanwhile, a "bus blitz" of Republican women candidates and wives of GOP men seeking office was on its final tour of a five-day swing through Michigan. Stops for rallies and speeches were planned today at Albion, Jackson, Adrian, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti and Dearborn.

U.S. Copter Pilot Killed by Viet Cong

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Army helicopter pilot was shot and killed by Viet Cong fire today minutes after stepping out of his disabled machine 370 miles northeast of Saigon.

* * *

The helicopter had been supporting a Vietnamese ground action when it was forced down, either by mechanical trouble or enemy fire.

U.S., Canada Ask Joint Group to Study Lakes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Canada Thursday asked the International Joint Commission to investigate water-level conditions in the Great Lakes.

The commission also was asked to study and report on pollution in Lake Erie, Lake Ontario and the international section of the St. Lawrence River.

* * *

The requests were transmitted to the commission, which has U.S. and Canadian members, by Assistant Secretary of State William R. Tyler. His letters were released by the State Department.

* * *

The aim of the water-level study, Tyler's letter said, is to see whether it would be desirable and practicable "to reduce the extremes of stage which have been experienced" in the Great Lakes.

Hubert Heads Into Jersey, Pennsylvania

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey heads into New Jersey and Pennsylvania today for two days of campaigning in states Democrats hope to carry by large margnis Nov. 3.

★ ★ ★

After a day's rest, the Democratic vice presidential nominee had a crowded schedule today and Saturday, including a noon-hour rally in Philadelphia, a talk at Princeton University, a speech in Jersey City and a swing through the Philadelphia suburbs covered Tuesday by GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater.

★ ★ ★

After flying to Philadelphia, Humphrey's first scheduled speech today is at a breakfast in Camden, N.J., sponsored by a United Labor Committee for Johnson-Humphrey.

He then returns to Philadelphia for the rally, before flying by helicopter to Princeton, N.J., for lunch with New Jersey Gov. Richard Hughes at the governor's mansion there and his speech to a meeting of Princeton University students.

PRINCIPAL LINK

Humphrey said in his prepared remarks that President Johnson, like predecessors Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and John F. Kennedy, understands "that the presidency is our principal link binding the past to the present, and the present to the future."

★ ★ ★

"The presidency is the only office in our constitutional system that holds together the many divided parts of the executive . . . and that represents the nation as a whole in the international area," he said.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey referred several times to President Woodrow Wilson — who was a president of Princeton — and said "presidents in the Wilson tradition" understand that "the very word 'president' is a summons to greatness."

Humphrey called Johnson "a born leader" and said that under his leadership the 88th Congress became "one of the most productive congresses since Woodrow Wilson took the helm after his 1912 election."

OPPOSE AGGRESSION

Johnson understands, Humphrey continued, that "there cannot be an American solution to every world problem but . . . also understands the need to oppose Communist aggression and subversion with strength, determination, wisdom, flexibility, restraint and a clear sense of priorities.

★ ★ ★

After the Princeton appearance, Humphrey goes to Trenton for a rally at the statehouse. He winds up the day with a speech tonight at Jersey City in the Democratic stronghold of Hudson County.

Saturday morning and afternoon, Humphrey plans to campaign at a number of shopping centers in the Philadelphia area, before flying to South Bend, Ind., for a night speech at the University of Notre Dame.

Miller Mission: Stem Defeatism

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — Rep. William E. Miller swung his GOP vice presidential campaign back into the Midwest today, on a new mission for Sen. Barry Goldwater — an effort to stem any trend toward defeatism in Republican ranks.

★ ★ ★

Miller's campaign oratory during appearances in Missouri and Tennessee Thursday reflected GOP concern over the affect of President Johnson's claim that he is en route to a record-smashing victory.

Miller entered a counterclaim — that Johnson's campaign has passed its peak and is on the downgrade, while Republican fortunes are on the rise.

★ ★ ★

In Nashville, Miller declared: "I have news for Lyndon Johnson and for any Democrats or Republicans who might be influenced by his claim to think that we do not have a chance.

NO RUBBER STAMP

"This is not a plebiscite we will hold strictly for Lyndon's benefit. There are millions of Americans who won't carry a rubber stamp into the polls."

He added: "To our Republican friends across the land, I say — don't pay the least attention to Lyndon's battle claims. He knows he is slipping or he wouldn't be out working so hard to climb back up the hill."

★ ★ ★

Miller sounded the same theme at a later appearance in St. Joseph, Mo., maintaining that Johnson "is in for a rude awakening when the American people decide how they are going to vote."

Miller, a New York congressman, flew to Quincy Thursday night and today starts a campaign swing through Illinois, with a side trip into Indiana.

MOTORCADE TOUR

Besides Quincy, his schedule listed speeches at Lawrenceville, Ill., Vincennes, Ind., and Evanston, Ill. He will wind up the week's campaign with a motorcade tour of communities in western Ohio Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Miller drew the largest audience of his current tour in Nashville, where a crowd estimated by police at 6,500 gathered to hear him speak from the steps of the city's War Memorial Auditorium.

★ ★ ★

They applauded and cheered when Miller told them: "I don't care what the pollsters or the columnists say. The American people are going to decide this election."

★ ★ ★

In a statement issued in Nashville, Miller said that in the 33 states he has visited during the campaign, there is "a rising tide" that will carry the GOP ticket to victory.

HUNGER FOR CHANGE

"We sense it," he said, "in the enthusiasm of the crowds, in the total lack of enthusiasm for Lyndon Johnson, in the success of our fund-raising efforts and in the hunger of the American people for change."

In St. Joseph, Miller urged his audience to discount Johnson's victory claims.

★ ★ ★

He also told the crowd in the Missouri cattle marketing city that a Goldwater administration would take a thorough look into cattlemen's complaints about importation of beef from foreign countries.

Trade Agency Limits Record Labels, Sales

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has ruled that unless phonographic records have been grooved especially for stereophonic sound the words "stereo" and "stereophonic" may not appear on them.

★ ★ ★

And, the commission also ruled Thursday, manufacturers may not offer special discounts on records sold in supermarkets and drug stores because the practice puts regular retail record stores at a disadvantage.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — U.S. Dist. Judge Sidney Mize has declined to interfere with Philadelphia school officials who suspended Negro students for wearing buttons supporting civil rights organizations.

The judge Thursday refused to issue an injunction sought by the mother of two of the ousted Negro students.

Margaret Burnside and Ora Morris, asked the court to force school officials to let their children wear the buttons.

Book on JFK Brother Auctioned for $2,400

NEW YORK (AP) — A copy of, "As We Remember Joe," a book edited by the late President John F. Kennedy in memory of his brother, has brought $2,400 at auction.

Charles Hamilton Autographs, the auction firm, said Thursday night the price was the highest ever paid for a modern book. A spokesman said Lew David Feldman, a rare book dealer, bought the book, of which only 100 copies were issued.

The total increase in population since the last census exceeds the combined population of the 17 smallest states.

Girl Gridders

By CATHY RICHARDSON

Homecoming excitement is building up for Clarkston High School students. Last year, floats were introduced for the first time.

* * *

This year something totally unique has been brought into the homecoming scene.

To lead the girls on to victory will be two complete squads of cheerleaders, consisting of 12 junior, and senior boys.

* * *

It is hoped that the powder puff game will become an annual homecoming event. It's not often you see football players with pigtails sticking out of their helmets or time outs called so somebody can fix her hair!

ELECT QUEEN

Nominated for sophomore maid were Pamela Affolder, Caroline Giles, Linda McCracken and Shayla Smith.

* * *

Linda Brodkorb, Sue Hampshire, Cynthia Humphrey and Constance Papi have been chosen from the senior class. One of these girls will reign as homecoming queen and another will be senior maid.

The queen and her court will be tapped and begin their reign today at a tapping assembly.

Audition for Touring Chorale

By KAREN TRIMMER

Musically inclined and talented students at Bloomfield Hills High School are being given the opportunity to audition for the Michigan Youth Chorale.

Auditions, which will be held during November, will help select the winners who will tour Europe and South America.

They will spend three weeks singing at several cities during their stops. The applicants will live with families in the various foreign countries during their stays and, it is hoped, develop an understanding and friendship between the countries through a common interest—music.

The Jills, A BHHS female ensemble, are making plans for the celebration of their 10th anniversary. They plan to invite all those girls who served as Jills in past years for an afternoon tea, rehearsal, dinner and concert Dec. 19.

* * *

HAVE PERFORMED

The "B" club, made up of varsity letter winners, is making plans for its annual initiation of new members Dec. 1 and 2.

Plans are also being made to attend a University of Michigan football game and for running the concession stand during home basketball games, as has been done in the past.

* * *

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Under the direction of Steven Velkoff, the photography club is getting under way. Plans to hold a "theory session" every other Thursday throughout the year were discussed at a recent meeting.

Color transparencies will be the main subject under consideration for this year.

All interested girls were invited to the pep club meeting which was held Tuesday in the little theater, Vern Noga, president, explained the new system of membership to the students.

Buying a membership this year will enable the purchaser to be in pep club throughout high school.

New Road Leads to Barren Tragedy Site

LONGARONE, Italy (AP) — The highway to Longarone has been rebuilt, but it is a road that leads to nowhere.

This once-prosperous little industrial town that was wiped off the map a year ago today in the Vaiont Dam disaster is still only a gravel bed haunted by terrible memories.

★ ★ ★

Not one of the town's 300 homes has been rebuilt. Nor any of its dozen factories. There are not even names on 370 of the 1,400 graves which hold the only recovered bodies of 1,917 known dead from one of the worst landslide-flood disasters in history. The actual toll never will be known, but is believed to be more than 2,000.

WIDENED LATER

The rebuilt, two-lane highway down the Piave Valley will be widened later to a four-lane highway, but for the near future a two-lane road is more than adequate.

★ ★ ★

A temporary bridge has been built across the stream bed through Longarone where a 150-foot high flood wave swept everything away.

A little prefabricated chapel has been put up where the town church with its yard-thick stone walls once stood.

A foundation has been laid for a new schoolhouse, but classes for the 40 surviving children are held in a temporary schoolroom up the hill.

PREFAB HOMES

In the distance there are 30 prefab houses for the survivors, but they stand far uphill or down the valley in partly destroyed suburbs.

All else is desolation. There are plans to start large-scale rebuilding of Longarone's homes and factories, perhaps before the end of the year. There has been no rush about it. Even the few surviving town officials wonder whether, or how soon, new families may ever be persuaded to move here.

Longarone itself had 1,269 residents. Only 79 survived. Suburbs and surrounding villages under the Longarone commune had an additional 3,367 population.

Of these, 569 perished, as did 158 residents of the little villages of Erto and Casso, on the edge of the great water power reservoir above Vaiont Dam.

SIDE CRASHED

At 11:15 on the night of Oct. 9, 1963, one whole side of 6,000-ft. Mt. Toc crashed down into the reservoir. The 873-foot high Vaiont Dam, third highest in the world, withstood the terrific shock. But most of the big lake was splashed over the top of the dam and surged down the valley over Longarone in a 150-foot flood wave.

In three minutes nothing was left but the gravel bed.

★ ★ ★

The dam still stands, but the electric power system has been abandoned forever. Most of the reservoir is filled by the great landslide. Waters backing up behind it are channeled off.

Public officials say there is no danger now.

Senator John Strom Thurmond received 39 electoral votes on the States Rights Democratic ticket in 1948. He polled 1,169,021 popular votes.

A Junior Editors Quiz About ROCKETS

QUESTION: Does a rocket's weight decrease as it soars into space?

ANSWER: Let's answer this by asking another question: what is weight? Sir Isaac Newton answered this when, in 1687, he formulated his famous law of gravitation, which stated that all objects attract each other with a force depending on their size and the distance between them.

Since we are all living on the surface of the earth, the very heavy mass of the earth attracts or pulls us toward its center — which is the reason we don't just drift off into space. The degree of pull on things of different size gives them their different weights.

A large thing has more weight than a small thing. Weight changes, however, when we get away from the force of gravity. A man weighing 150 pounds would weigh the same in any country on earth because he would always be the same distance from the earth's center of gravity.

In the same way, a rocket would always have the same weight when standing on the launching pad of any rocket-launching station.

But the moment it shoots upward, the rocket's motor thrust is overcoming the gravity, and the rocket becomes lighter every moment it zooms up into space.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: If you were standing on the moon, would you weigh more or less than on earth? See if you can figure this out, then look up the answer or ask one of your teachers.

VA, FHA Home Foreclosures at Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Foreclosures of homes financed with FHA-insured mortgages are running at an all-time high. The same goes for house loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration.

But, the situation is not cause for alarm, say spokesmen for both the VA and the Federal Housing Administration. They call it an adjustment toward normalcy, from shortly after World War II when realtors eagerly looked for houses to sell up to recent years when supply more nearly met demand.

The VA spokesman put it this way: "A big factor is absence of price appreciation in the past few years. A few years ago a mistake in judgment as to value of a house could be remedied by just holding on to it a year or two. That time has passed."

FHA and VA officials agreed that foreclosures are up or down with the economic pulse of a community or area and the individuals affected. When a military base or an industry shuts down, foreclosures in that area are up.

LET HOUSE GO

When a man is out of a job, he may have to let his house go. The next leading reason, from the individuals' standpoint, is death of a husband or wife, divorce, or costly illness in the family.

The foreclosure trend is not limited to mortgages insured or guaranteed by the government, but prevails, though to a lesser degree, throughout the house financing industry, according to an official of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

By far the biggest share of home financing now is through so-called conventional loans — those obtained from banks, savings and loan associations, private companies and individuals.

★ ★ ★

Data compiled by the board, which insures savings deposited with savings and loan associations, shows that in 1963 conventional loans were used for 77 per cent of all houses bought on time, while the FHA accounted for 15 per cent and the VA only 8 per cent.

OPERATIONS DECLINE

Only World War II and Korean War veterans are eligible for the VA's house loan guaranty program, so its operations in this field are now declining.

★ ★ ★

Foreclosures of conventional loans run at a lower rate, officials of both private and government financing circles agreed, because the buyer generally has had to pay out a larger down payment and, having more of his own money invested, is more determined to hold on to the property.

★ ★ ★

During the first half of this year there were 21,433 foreclosures among the 3,644,000 FHA-insured homes. This was up about one-tenth of 1 per cent over the 18,246 foreclosures out of 3,551,000 mortgages insured by the agency during the last half of 1963.

The agency had approximately 50,000 houses on its hands in June, but sales slightly exceeded acquisitions.

EASING OF CREDIT

While the housing supply and demand ratio was given as a basic reason for the current rate of foreclosures — a rate which appears to have leveled off — another reason cited at the FHA and on Capitol Hill has been the easing or liberalizing of credit requirements to finance purchase of a home.

This was by action of Congress in 1957, 1959 and in 1961, intended to help the little fellow buy his own home.

★ ★ ★

At present a loan of up to $15,000 can be financed through the FHA with only a 3 per cent down payment. On a $15,000 house a buyer would have to put up only $450 of his own money and could stretch payments out over 35 years.

★ ★ ★

INADEQUATE EQUITY

E. A. Camp Jr., executive vice president of the Liberty National Life Insurance Co., a forum on housing and mortgage lending, said: "I take the position that the cause of our trouble mainly revolves around inadequate equity and slow amortization and that a large part of these foreclosures would never have occurred if a reasonable equity had existed either from an original down payment or from accumulated amortization.

"What can we expect of a borrower who is transferred from the city or meets with financial reverses where he has an equity of only 3 per cent? This equity is not sufficient to pay a real estate commission nor prepare the property for sale, much less salvage anything for the owner."

Fall Planting Looks Good

Rain Eases Drought, but Too Late for Summer Crops

CHICAGO (AP) — Plentiful rain and cool weather have alleviated costly drought conditions throughout the nation and buoyed farmers' hopes for the fall planting season.

But, an Associated Press state-by-state survey showed today, for most of the rich summer crops, the rains came too late.

★ ★ ★

Lack of moisture and parched soil caused an estimated $300-million damage to the normally bountiful crops of corn, soybeans, sorghum and wheat. Recent rains have aided fruit growers but livestock and dairy farmers are hard hit by arid pastures and lack of livestock fodder for the winter.

Some farmers are cutting corn for silage in an effort to alleviate the expected feed shortage.

FARMERS OPTIMISTIC

Despite low ground water supplies and lack of adequate subsoil moisture, most farmers are optimistic about the fall crops.

But in some scattered areas, rainfall still is desperately needed.

★ ★ ★

Eastern Colorado is "a powder keg," says Henry Christenson, state soil conservation director. With the weather still balmy and no rain in sight, the newly planted wheat crop is imperiled. Some wheat already is lying in the dust, Christenson says.

SECTIONAL RUNDOWN

Here's a sectional rundown of conditions:

EAST

Virginia — Drought conditions have been relieved by rainfall, but it came too late to help crops. Water shortage has been relieved. Drought relief programs are in progress.

Connecticut — soil dampened 5-10 inches with rainfall ending five-week dry spell. But effects of drought which began in April still prevail and more rain is needed. Drought worst since 1957 and second worst in this century.

★ ★ ★

New York — Two inches of rain last week in the mid-Hudson Valley area eased threat of forest fires. But that sector still is considered a disaster area because of the late summer drought and the damage to crops.

Maryland — The crop reporting service said soils have changed from too dry to too wet.

New Jersey — Drought was relieved by rains last week, but it came too late for vegetable growers. Farmers without irrigation have suffered. But the recent rains helped fruit growers.

Pennsylvania — The soil was moistened last week with a 1-3 in rainfall, erasing a two-month threat of excessive forest fires. Ban on fires in state park fireplaces lifted. But rain came too late for most summer crops.

CENTRAL

Minnesota — Drought broken several weeks ago, now state needs dry, warmer weather for corn and soybean harvesting.

South Dakota — Twenty-six counties have been declared drought disaster areas, where haying and grazing of soil bank acres are allowed. Use of idle acres has alleviated a feed shortage, but some counties in the east central portion will probably face serious problems this winter after the current feed supply is exhausted. Rain two weeks ago helped moisture conditions, but it came too late to help the crops.

Michigan — Agriculture Department has declared 12 drought-stricken counties eligible for emergency loans. September runoff in southern third of Lower Peninsula lowest since 1941 — 16.7 cubic feet per second compared with 16.0 in 1941. Over-all picture of state not considered too serious.

Kentucky — Recent rains have aided drought conditions. Soil moisture condition most favorable since April, but precipitation needed in northern Kentucky.

★ ★ ★

Missouri — Central and northern sections hit hardest by drought with no rain in July and August. Feed grain and soybean yields cut sharply. Fall pasture and farm ponds improved by rain two weeks ago. Fire hazard caused in some wooded areas. In contrast, wet fields have delayed cotton harvest in the bootheel.

Kansas — The state is dry, but has not reached the critical stage. September rains permitted planting of winter wheat in most sections. Very little moisture in the extreme west. More rain needed for wheat, farm ponds and over-all crop situation.

★ ★ ★

Iowa — Soil moisture supplies are adequate for the most part. Some shortage reported, however, and few areas report surplus moisture.

Oklahoma — August and September rains ended drought. Unusually hot and dry weather hurt crops and pastures in all sections except the northeast before the rains came.

★ ★ ★

South Carolina — Recent rains helped relieve dryness in eastern section. Corn seriously stunted in some areas. Smaller apple crop in the northeast because of drought. Twelve counties in northeast and central sections getting federal assistance.

Indiana — Rainfall 4.9 inches below normal in the east central section for the last 13 weeks. Corn and soybean crops reduced, but not seriously. Pastures have been damaged most.

★ ★ ★

Ohio — Frost and freeze this week alleviated much of the state's problems. Some late September rain helped, but still needs moisture to replenish ground water supply.

Texas — Drought appears over in most of the state, with pastures beginning to green and land in good condition for winter wheat planting. Subsoil moisture may be deficient in some places.

WEST

Colorado — Eastern Colorado described as a "powder keg" and if a daylong hard wind should occur, newly planted wheat would blow out of the ground and damage would be heavy. Some blowing last week, but no major damage. Moisture situation getting worse as warm days continue without rain. Some newly planted wheat may die unless there is rain.

New Mexico — September rains came too late for most dryland crops, but has helped winter range prospects and fall planting of wheat. Surface moisture adequate, but short on subsoil moisture. Stunted results expected in the east's dryland crop areas, where sorghum and corn grow.

California — The state has finished its driest year in nine years. The water year ended Sept. 30, but despite the deficiencies, general water conditions are far from critical.

Search Cove Where Queen Is to Arrive

Tight Security Enforced in Quebec

QUEBEC (AP) — Frogmen searched the cold waters of Wolfe's Cove today and plainclothesmen with police dogs patrolled the historic Plains of Abraham as Queen Elizabeth's yacht steamed up the St. Lawrence for the queen's controversial visit to French Canada.

Despite some official denials, there were many signs that security safeguards would surpass anything ever set up in Canada for the visit of a head of state.

Checkpoints were in operation on all roads to make sure that no known extremists in the French separatist movement entered the city. Occupants of all automobiles were required to show identification papers.

The queen, who arrived on Prince Edward Island Monday for an 8-day Canadian visit, is expected to disembark from the royal yacht Britannia at Wolfe's Cove Saturday morning. She will remain in Quebec until Sunday night, when she will fly to Ottawa for the final stop of her visit.

DOCK AREA

Frogmen have been exploring the dock area for several days. They will keep watch on the hull of the Britannia while the queen is here. She and Prince Philip will live aboard, as they did in Charlottetown earlier in the week.

More than 1,000 police will be backed by soldiers and fire brigades on standby. The royal routes through the city will be lined with soldiers. Buses are ready to move police about quickly.

Security authorities have clamped tight restrictions on demonstrations by the separatists.

They also are concerned over a rash of threatening letters and telephone calls.

CALLED RALLY

Le Rassemblement Pour L'Independence Nationale, a separatist organization, has called a rally tonight to voice its objections. Police granted a permit for the rally but made clear they would not tolerate any manifestations after the queen arrived.

Sudents at Laval University will parade in protest this afternoon, crown a queen and stage other mock ceremonies. The Students Association of the South Bank has decided to boycott all events arranged for the queen's visit.

The council of Social Science Students accused Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson and Provincial Premier Jean Lesage of insulting the people of Quebec by inviting the queen in the face of popular objections.

Flew Away to the Roost

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — It was, said the Federal Bureau of Investigation, merely coincidence.

Jack (James) Peak, 49, was arrested on a warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution on a charge of robbing a Pasco, Wash., pawn shop in December 1963.

The arrest was made yesterday at Peak's place of employment, the Robbers Roost pool room.

BLUE SHIELD ANSWERS YOUR QUESTIONS

dependents can be added to your Blue Shield coverage...

? I have Blue Shield coverage for myself. How can I get it for my mother whom I support?

Blue Shield gives you the opportunity to add any and all dependents to your own coverage. The only requirements are that your group must approve the additional coverage and the person must also appear as a dependent on your income tax statement.

? Are Blue Shield and Blue Cross one and the same?

They are two distinct organizations with separate management and personnel, who work together closely to provide the finest and the most economical health-care protection. Blue Shield pays your doctor. Blue Cross pays your hospital. Most people prefer to, and do, belong to both plans; so you often hear them referred to together—as Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

? What does the term, "participating doctor," mean in relation to Blue Shield?

A "participating" doctor simply agrees to abide by the conditions of payment established by Blue Shield. As a matter of fact, the majority of doctors accept the Blue Shield fee as full payment for the service they render to all subscribers with an income of less than $7500 a year.

? Are all Michigan doctors "participating" doctors?

No. About 70% are. Remember, though, that the Blue Shield fee may be paid to any qualified doctor—whether he is a participating doctor or not. Blue Shield gives you 100% freedom of choice in picking your doctor.

? Does Blue Shield protection cover emergency first-aid?

Yes. Benefits are provided for surgical emergency first-aid when rendered by a doctor in or out of his office within 24 hours after the accident. Suturing, fracture care and other surgery are covered without time limit.

Do you have a question about your Blue Shield coverage? Just write Dept. 54, Michigan Medical Service, 441 E. Jefferson, Detroit, Michigan 48226. We will answer as many of your questions as possible in future columns.

Expect Rochester Council to Set Bond Election Date

ROCHESTER — The Village Council is expected to set a date for a $190,000 bond issue election at its regular meeting Monday.

Dependent upon the election, which will likely take place in December, are funds to cover the cost of clearing 30 acres of the village and preparing for industrial development as an urban renewal project.

Also on the proposed ballot will be a request to amend the village charter so as to exempt urban renewal projects from the limitations of a provision covering the sale of property by the village.

AREA NEWS

The village wants to sell $12,000 worth of land in the project area, which would exceed the $2 per capita maximum specified in the charter.

★ ★ ★

PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing Sept. 28 on the issue saw little opposition to the plan, and residents at the hearing were informed that there are two ways of paying for the bond issue without raising taxes.

The area slated for renewal, termed a "blighted" section of the village along east Third Street, is now characterized by substandard dwellings.

Improvements under the project would include regrading of the area, extension of Second Street, relocation and straightening of Paint Creek, new utilities, a new bridge over the creek and a new railroad bridge on Baldwin Street.

★ ★ ★

The village's share of the cost is now estimated at $177,000. The Urban Renewal Administration has set aside $535,928 for the project to cover 75 per cent of the cost.

PREPARING PLANS

Urban renewal director Ernest Reschke is submitting final plans to Washington, including requests for changes in some items of the budget.

★ ★ ★

The government has allowed lower percentages on their share of the cost for some items, claiming that these items will be of less benefit to the overall project than the village has allowed them.

In some cases, the village will go along with changes made by the URA, according to Reschke, but in others will submit documentation supporting its requests for a greater federal share of the costs.

The total village share was set at $190,000 to cover contingencies, attorney, consulting and bonding expenses.

WALLS GOING UP — A large crane lifts cement blocks to the second level of a new building being constructed for the Rochester Church of Christ at 127 E. Avon Road. The structure, to be attached to the front of the old one, will house church offices, a 500-seat auditorium, nursery and 20 classrooms. A unique, gull-wing roof will crown the $120,000 building, and will be put on sometime during the next week. The congregation expects to be using the structure by Jan. 1.

May Be Done by End of '64

Church Adding New Facilities

AVON TOWNSHIP — If all goes as planned, the growing congregation of the Rochester Church of Christ at 127 E. Avon Road will be using brand new office, auditorium and classroom facilities by the end of the year.

A new building is being constructed in front of the old one and attached to it. It will accommodate the diversified activities of a congregation which numbers about 40 families and an average Sunday attendance of around 300 worshipers.

Once the new building is completed, the church will have new offices, 20 Bible classrooms, "cry" rooms for babies and a nursery, as well as a 500-seat auditorium.

The high roof of the auditorium will merge with the roof of the two-story classroom and office section to give the whole building a two - floor appearance from the outside.

The sides of the roof will be higher than the middle, giving a gull-wing effect.

WILL PLACE ROOF

Continental Church Builders, Inc. of Nashville, Tenn., have put exterior and interior walls in place, and the roof will be put on sometime next week.

Cost of the structure is estimated at about $120,000.

★ ★ ★

PARKING LOTS

Parking lots will be laid out between the old building and the minister's house, built about two years ago at the back of the 4-acre lot, and also on the east side of the church structures.

★ ★ ★

Bonds worth $150,000 were sold to cover construction of the building. They will be retired through the weekly contributions of the congregation.

Others will be Tony Spina, Detroit photographer; Richard Albyn, Rochester architect; and other authorities in the field of archaeology.

Area Bicycle Rodeo to Promote Safety

★ ★ ★

While riding through an obstacle course, eating hot dogs and joking with a clown, participants also will be picking up tips on how to handle their bikes.

The event will be held from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Walled Lake Shopping Center on West Maple.

Parents are urged to accompany the boys and girls to learn together the rules which may keep the cyclists alive.

★ ★ ★

The tests will be explained fully to each participant before he attempts the maneuvers. There will be circle eights, straight lines, stops, oral tests of road rules and other safety factors.

SPONSORED BY VFW POST

The program, sponsored by L. A. Sims VFW Post No. 3952, will be conducted by the Walled Lake Police Department with the cooperation of the Walled Lake public school system.

The groups emphasize that the bicycle riders of today are the automobile drivers of tomorrow — the same rules must be known and observed by both.

Many prizes are being offered in the contests Sunday and each participant will be given reflectorized tape for his bike.

A poster contest is being held among junior high school students in conjunction with the rodeo. The youngsters who best depict bicycle safety will be presented with trophies between 3:30 and 4 p.m. Sunday.

Lack of Farm Laborers Faces California Growers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California agriculture is sorely beset in these waning days of the federal program for importation of Mexican farm laborers.

A spokesman for the California-Arizona Farm Labor Association told the California Chamber of Commerce this week that concentrated efforts by growers to recruit domestic workers have failed.

But state officials reply that California has a huge potential labor pool in the state's 400,000 unemployed.

CHIEF PROBLEM

The chief problem, they indicate, is getting the right numbers of people into the right place at the right time.

A meeting of more than 100 farm labor and production experts in San Francisco earlier this week, suggested that county, state and federal officials be responsible for recruiting a substitute work force among domestic workers. The Chamber of Commerce agreed.

But California Gov. Edmund G. Brown took sharp exception Thursday, saying he "emphatically denies its government's obligation to find a substitute for the bracero farm labor program."

Brown's position was buttressed by a report by Dr. Paul O'Rourke, Brown's coordinator between California and Washington for the administration's antipoverty program.

UNEMPLOYED

In the report O'Rourke told Brown that foreign farm labor programs dovetail adversely with the war on poverty.

Continued import of foreign workers would leave California's presently unemployed — whom the war on poverty is designed to help — precisely where they were before the war on poverty began — unemployed, O'Rourke's report said.

★ ★ ★

But, says O'Rourke, that American domestic workers "have American expectations for income and work conditions."

O'Rourke says they prefer unemployment to the hard working conditions and low wages they are normally offered.

Produce and Population Subject of Discussion

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

NEW YORK CITY, Thursday — Food production is not keeping up with population increase, according to Charles L. Coltman, information liaison officer of the Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO).

★ ★ ★

By the end of this century, world population is expected to double and food supplies must treble, just to give everyone enough to eat. Can they?

Even if we were to give away all our surplus to underprivileged nations, it would not provide adequate diets for the world's hungry for more than two or three months.

★ ★ ★

Instead, FAO tried to help people in underdeveloped countries help themselves produce more and better food.

DAY OR LIFE

"Give a man a fish and you feed him for a day," said Coltman. "Teach him how to fish and you feed him for life."

★ ★ ★

FAO, UNICEF and other organizations that are trying to solve the world's food problems are experimenting with such products as soy milk, peanut, fish and cotton seed flour, said the experts from the United Nations who spoke to the food editors under the auspices of R. T. French Company.

The emcee didn't mention any of the company's products, save to state that this is the 80th anniversary of its best known product—mustard.

If you want to feel insignificant, stand on the 57th floor of a building and look out over a city like New York. This we did at breakfast time when we were entertained atop the PANAM building in the Sky Club. Nabisco Biscuit Company was the host organization.

OLD AND NEW

Their oldest and the newest products were part of the breakfast menu. Holland rusk, produced since 1875, was the base for eggs benedict. Team, a combination of rice, wheat, oats and corn, was the new cereal introduced.

Nabisco is now in the candy market with Welch candies and is introducing a line of frozen cakes and pastries. We sampled the Danish pastry which is actually made and frozen in Denmark. You can look for this new line within the next few months. Also on display were their aerosol cans of cheese spread.

I can't help but think when I see all these "squirt" cans of food — like the big one of chocolate syrup shown at the Pet Milk Company yesterday —what havoc an undisciplined youngster could wreak if he had a mind to. I'll leave the rest to your imagination.

Roquefort cheese is not a new food. In fact, it is made exactly the way it was made in the Middle Ages, except that the milk is taken to the factories by jeep instead of by donkey. But marketing changes are being made.

RANDOM WEDGES

Roquefort is now cut in random wedges and sealed in clear plastic at a central plant in New York instead of in individual stores.

And shown today for the first time anywhere and to anyone was a five and a half pound square of roquefort. The traditional shape has always been round.

★ ★ ★

Frank O. Fredericks, president of the Roquefort Association, explained that this shape is still experimental, but that it should be in production in the future.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday evening we attended a post-theater party in Philharmonic Hall at Lincoln Center. Thursday evening we had a reception and party at the Whitney Museum. There is a charm about social occasions in such settings that is present nowhere else.

★ ★ ★

Kitty Carlisle Scores a Victory

By JEANMARIE ELKINS

When you are a well-known personage, there are always people who will walk up to you anywhere and try to talk you into doing something for them.

★ ★ ★

Kitty Carlisle handles this situation by telling them it's a great idea and then says, "Write me a letter."

"If you don't," she says, "They'll sit down right there and try to convince you."

She appeared yesterday before a sell-out crowd at the Birmingham Town Hall because she had told someone to write her a letter.

CAPTURES AUDIENCE

She looked small somehow, standing there alone on the stage of the Birmingham Theater. But from her opening statements, Miss Carlisle had the audience by its heartstrings.

The story of her life, with a definite emphasis on the humorous side, kept Town Hallers smiling.

KITTY CARLISLE

A kaleidoscope of human nature emerged and her mother and late husband Moss Hart were much in the limelight.

Miss Carlisle spent much of her childhood in Europe, with Paris as home base. "My mother wanted me to make a suitable marriage, and to her, that meant well above my station."

Through friends, she spent a marvelous season being introduced at the Italian court, "with all the parties and things every girl dreams about."

★ ★ ★

The audience met Queen Elizabeth in spirit, listened as Miss Carlisle asked politely about the health of Princess Ann (who had just had her tonsils out) and winced as she then began to ask the Queen, "Have you ever had your ton——."

★ ★ ★

The Queen very graciously rescued Miss Carlisle by answering that yes she did remember having them out as a small child and could still remember the mounds and mounds of ice cream.

While she is no raving beauty, she is a striking woman. Her singing voice is not great, but it is pleasant to hear. It is her personality which is outstanding. Open and honest, here is a woman who immediately makes you feel like a friend.

"Isn't she delightful?"

"Her mother and mine are just alike."

★ ★ ★

These comments and many more were heard as the Town Hall audience left the Birmingham Theater, many on their way to the Village Woman's club for the celebrity luncheon.

When asked at the luncheon about her successful marriage to the late Moss Hart she said, "I always did everything Moss wanted me to do."

How did she keep her stunning and youthful appearance?

"Hard work."

As cocktails appeared, through the luncheon tables, she told the women she didn't believe any woman over 40 should drink. It ruins her looks.

★ ★ ★

"People who enjoy their work — that's their hobby," she said in answer to another query.

"With a small talent you can make a very good life," Kitty Carlisle had said about herself.

But in admitting what she considered to be her faults, she showed herself to be the truly wonderful person that she is—Kitty Carlisle, someone Town Hall audiences will long remember.

Lives in Their Shadow

Smothered by Brothers

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am now a high school freshman and I have all new teachers, but I still have the same old problem.

The very first day of school, the English teacher took one look at my name and said, "Oh, you're Marvin's brother . . . I am going to expect a lot from you!"

ABBY

All through grammar school the teachers called me either Marvin or Sidney because they had my two older brothers, and they were both outstanding students.

I am not a bad student, but it is hard to live up to an older brother's reputation.

I am so sick of being known as Marvin's brother, or Sidney's brother, that I wish I could go a thousand miles away and have my own identity.

Why are teachers so stupid?

"MYSELF"

DEAR "MYSELF": Teachers are not so "stupid" as they are thoughtless.

Almost everyone who has had older sisters or brothers has had to walk the same path.

Perhaps you should be grateful that you had two good acts to follow, instead of two bad actors.

DEAR ABBY: Three months ago I met a pretty nurse and we have been going together ever since.

She lived with another man for the past two years in an intimate but unexciting (she claims) relationship.

She is now dividing her time between us. She says she loves me, but she continues to live with this man.

She says it would be impractical for her to move out. I am very fond of her and want her to devote herself completely to me.

Would it be advisable for me to insist on her total loyalty and risk losing her?

★ ★ ★

Or should I knowingly share her and leave things as they are?

Please ignore the question of morality and answer me frankly.

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN DOUBT: One who is concerned with HUMAN relations cannot "ignore the question of morality."

Since morality is what sets us apart from the beasts, and you choose to ignore it, I suggest you direct your inquiry to a veterinarian.

City Firemen Bring Engine to School

Each year during Fire Prevention Week, Mrs. Herman Stenbuck, teacher at the Temple Beth Jacob Nursery School arranges for two city firemen to bring a fire engine to the school.

★ ★ ★

Before the visit children are told about fire prevention week and make paper firemen hats and red paper fire hatchets.

By the time the firemen arrive the three and four-year-olds are almost experts. This year the truck made two visits: today and Thursday.

Why Grow Old?

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't let exercises FLOOR you! It is true that many of the best are mat exercises, which you take while lying on the floor. However, there are others which are just as effective, too!

So if you want to look nippy and less hippy, try these. This isn't a punishment, but stand in a corner with your back, not your face, to the wall.

Stand with your left side toward the wall and your left hand on the wall. Bend your right knee up in front of you and swing it across your body. Pull in that direction. Return right leg to place.

This time bend your left knee up and swing it across the body. Pull in that direction and return leg to place. Continue, alternating right and left.

Strange as it may seem to women who must fight the bulges, some of the fair sex are anxious to develop curves. A straight up and down silhouette gives its owner as much concern as the bulges do theirs.

Today you can buy padded girdles as well as padded brassieres. These make the back hipline appear fuller. However it is always best to develop our own curves when possible. The following exercise will increase the back hipline.

Kneel on both knees with your hands on the floor. Straighten your right leg out behind you, right toe on the floor. Keep your right leg stiff as you raise it up as far as you can. Lower it to the floor. Continue raising and lowering. Keep the leg straight throughout the exercise.

Now kneel on your right knee and straighten your left leg out behind you, left toe on the floor. Raise and lower your left leg. Continue this and alternate legs.

If you have the more usual problem of too large, rather than too small, hipline, you may want my hip slimming exercises. These have been tested in my classes and are effective.

Small Income, Debts Put Family in a Bind

Dear Miss Feeley: We got ourselves in debt five years ago, when we furnished our first apartment. It seems we've been in a vicious circle ever since.

My husband is a federal employe and has had small but steady raises. But our family and expenses have increased, too. We have three children, ages 5, 3, and 10 months.

My husband's take home pay is $160 every two weeks, and after taking out his necessary personal expenses, my net balance is $138 every two weeks or $276 a month.

After paying rent, insurance, and utilities, plus $74 a month on loans from a bank, a credit union, and $20 on a new washing machine, there's $108.10 left each month for food, vitamins, shoes, gifts, contributions and anything else that comes along.

Our total debt is now $1,800. However, we have ten shares of a good stock. This is now being used as collateral on a loan. We have always considered this stock our little hunk of security.

MARY FEELEY

Can you see any possible solution to our problems?

P.C., Brooklyn

* * *

A possible solution, yes, but not a quick and easy one. Those installment payments cut too deeply into the budget — in fact, they total 21.5 per cent of your income and that just won't work.

What are the chances of refinancing one or both of the loans, so you can stretch out repayments i nsmaller monthly amounts? If this can be arranged, you can finish paying off the washing machine (which I'm sure you need, with three small children) and still manage to eat.

Even a low-cost food plan for a family your size figures about $105 a month.

* * *

You don't mention borrowing possibilities on your husband's insurance — but with such young dependents you'd better not tie that up.

NO OTHER OUT

I hate to suggest selling your stock, but unless you can reduce the monthly loan payments I'm afraid you have no other out.

Getting one of the loans off your back would give you some relief. I realize you may never have another opportunity to buy that particular stock under favorable circumstances.

But I believe that continuing to live in your present state of financial desperation will prove a more costly choice.

(You can get Mary Feeley's handy leaflet on Building Financial Stability by writing to her in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Warren Probers Find No Oswald-Ruby-Walker Link

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth and final dispatch of a series dealing with the rumors which followed the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and how the Warren Commission coped with them.)

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Shortly after the assassination of President Kennedy, it developed that his killer, Lee Harvey Oswald, also had attempted to shoot Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker. He also had talked about killing former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

When Oswald's connection with the unsuccessful shooting of Walker became known, it led to widespread rumors that there was some link between Oswald and the general who left the Army in a row over his ultraconservative preachments to his troops in Europe. Walker lives in Dallas.

Some of the rumors investigated by the Warren Commission involved an alleged link among Oswald, Walker and Jack Ruby, the nightclub operator who later killed Oswald in the basement of the Dallas city jail.

After reviewing much evidence and talking to many witnesses, the commission came to the firm conclusion that none of Oswald - Ruby - Walker rumors were true.

A few days after the Nov. 22, 1963, assassination of Kennedy, a German weekly newspaper — and then an American weekend tabloid — published a report that Dallas police suspected Ruby and Oswald of being responsible for a mysterious rifle shot fired at Walker on April 10, 1963.

FABRICATED REPORT

"The commission has been reliably informed that the statement was fabricated by an editor of the (German) newspaper," the Warren report said.

"No evidence in support of this statement has ever been advanced or uncovered. In their investigation of the attack on Gen. Walker, the Dallas police uncovered no suspects and planned no arrests. The FBI had no knowledge that Oswald was responsible for the attack until Marina Oswald (the assassin's wife) revealed that information on Dec. 3, 1963."

This also disposed of the report that Ruby and Oswald were about to be arrested by Dallas authorities but that FBI agents intervened at the request of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and asked the police to hold off for reasons of state.

It is true that the FBI was investigating Oswald at the time of the Kennedy assassination. But this was because of the nearly three years he spent in Russia as a defector. The FBI checkup had been in progress for months and was in no way related to the violence in which Oswald indulged.

PLANNED ATTACK

The Walker incident differed from the Kennedy shooting in that Oswald planned his attack on the general carefully for an estimated period of one to two months.

Oswald photographed the area around Walker's home and studied the neighborhood well in advance of his attack. Then on the night of April 10, using the same rifle with which he killed Kennedy, Oswald fired at the general through a window. He missed, fled immediately and hid the weapon under bushes nearby. He later returned and retrieved the rifle.

Walker reported the incident to police immediately, but until after the Kennedy assassination and Oswald's subsequent slaying by Ruby, police had made no arrests in the Walker case. Furthermore, they were without clues.

* * *

Oswald's motives in shooting at Walker? Difficult to establish. Possibly Oswald reasoned that by destroying Walker, he could raise his own stock with ultra left-wing elements in this country and possibly the Soviet Union. At the time Oswald shot at Walker, he was beginning to have thoughts of returning to Russia.

Marina Oswald told the commission her husband compared Walker with Adolf Hitler. She said Oswald spoke of Walker as "a very bad man, that he was a Fascist, that he was the leader of a Fascist organization, and when I said that even though all of that might be true, just the same he had no right to take his life, he said if someone killed Hitler in time it would have saved many lives."

In any event, the Walker ambush was one of the more direct actions taken by Oswald during his troubled, twisted life. He planned it carefully. He left his wife detailed instructions on what to do if he was arrested or killed. Furthermore, he outlined his plans in writing.

Investigators did not find evidence of such advance planning in the Kennedy assassination other than Oswald leaving his wallet and total cash assets of $170 (except for $13 in his pockets) with his wife before he set out to kill the President.

* * *

The commission noted:

"The Walker incident indicates that in spite of the belief among those who knew him (apparently including the FBI) that he was apparently not dangerous, Oswald did not lack the determination and other traits required to carry out a carefully planned killing of another human being and was willing to consummate such a purpose if he thought there was sufficient reason to do so."

IMAGE OF HITLER

In the case of Walker, this reason apparently was his equating the general with the image of Hitler.

One rumor was that Oswald and Walker probably were acquainted because Oswald's notebook contained Walker's name and telephone number.

The Warren report said:

"It is probable that this information was inserted at the time Oswald was planning his attack on Walker. Gen. Walker stated that he did not know of Oswald before the assassination."

Walker, after issuance of the Warren Commission report, called it a whitewash job and insisted there was conspiracy between Ruby and Oswald in the Kennedy slaying.

REMAINS CONVINCED

Walker remains convinced that Ruby killed Oswald to keep him silent. The retired general said in Dallas this week:

"There apparently was enough between Rubenstein (Ruby) and Oswald so that Rubenstein knew what he might say.

"If that's not satisfactory for a conspiracy, certainly Oswald was involved in an ideological conspiracy with his membership in the Fair Play for Cuba Committee . . . as well as being involved in a conspiracy in his own mind and his own training, in which he had many common associates."

* * *

After Marina Oswald told her story to the commission, ballistics experts compared the badly mutilated bullet recovered from the Walker home with test shots from Oswald's 6.5 Mannlicher-Carcano Italian military rifle with which he killed Kennedy. They came to the conclusion that the same weapon probably was used in both shootings.

KILLING MOOD

Oswald remained in a killing mood and his next preselected target was Nixon, according to his wife.

Accounts of this phase of Oswald's life are so jumbled, however, that there is reason to believe Oswald, or Marina, did not know the difference between Nixon, then out of office, and the then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson.

According to Mrs. Oswald's testimony before the commission, her husband, on April 24, 1963, dressed in what Marina called his "good suit." He pocketed his revolver which had been purchased from a California mail order house, and prepared to leave the house.

Marina said she wanted to know why he was dressed. He told her, "Nixon is coming. I want to go and have a look."

* * *

Actually, Nixon was not in Dallas, nor had there been any news stories speculating or announcing his coming. Johnson, however, was in the Texas city on April 23, a fact widely reported in advance by Dallas papers.

MARINA ALARMED

Marina was alarmed. She said her husband told her he would use the revolver if the opportunity presented itself. Increasingly apprehensive, the Russian woman called her husband into their bathroom. As she told the commission:

"I closed the door and I wanted to prevent him and I started to cry. And I told him that he shouldn't do this . . . I remember that I held him. We actually struggled for several minutes and then he quieted down."

Questioned closely about the possibility of confusion of names of Nixon and Johnson, Marina was positive about Oswald's mention of Nixon. But later in her testimony, she said, "After all these questions, I wonder if I am right in my own mind."

* * *

Oswald apparently succumbed to Marina's pleas and did not leave the house with his revolver on April 24. He did not give his wife the opportunity to argue the point when he went to kill Kennedy. He and Marina were living apart at the time.

Cardiovascular disease in 1962 caused 55 per cent of all the deaths in the U.S., according to the National Health Education Committee.

Northern-Waterford Clash for 6th Time Saturday Night

* * *

The two Inter-Lakes League rivals will be renewing a five-year battle for possession of the Jimmy Dey Amvet Post No. 12 traveling trophy when they take the field at 8 p.m. at Waterford.

Neither squad appears capable of stopping either Walled Lake or Farmington from claiming the I-L title. Both have not shown much offense in their three starts to date.

Waterford, however, has won two of the three and would consider it a good season could it post victories over rivals PNH and Kettering.

Pontiac Northern has only one narrow triumph and two sound beatings in three tries. But continued domination of the Skippers and a victory over Pontiac Central would considerably brighten its season.

SEEK TROPHY

Possession of the Amvet trophy would be visible proof of 1964 gridiron success. This particularly applies to Waterford which has had the prize very little.

The Skippers put the trophy in their case after a 13-7 win in 1959, the first year the two teams met. The following season's 20-20 tie saw each school have possession for six months.

Then began the Huskies' upsurge. In 1961 they won 26-13; it was 18-13 PNH in 1962; and last year Northern romped, 34-6.

The contest two years ago was a bitter pill for Waterford. They led 13-12 and had a share of the loop title in their grasp when a PNH razzle-dazzle play resulted in the winning touchdown in the closing minutes of play.

This season the home standing Skippers are favored to reclaim the trophy which will be presented by Amvet post commander Larry Saxton immediately after the game.

* * *

The Skippers have shown a tough defensive line, as has Northern. But the Huskies have several key linemen nursing injuries and on the doubtful list.

PNH will have a speed advantage in its backfield, but Waterford's passing attack may be stronger. The latter's defensive secondary, though, is weak.

The Huskies must overcome mistakes in ball handling and tackling. Fumbles have been a problem. And the opposition has sprung loose for long gains at key moments.

Waterford's backfield showed spark with No. 2 quarterback Dave Roemensky at flanker back. But it did not produce any points against defensively tough Walled Lake.

* * *

The other Inter-Lake tilt Walled Lake at Farmington, was on this afternoon's slate.

Yanks' Stottlemyre May Decide Series

Young Hurler Turns Tables on St. Louis

3rd Game Scheduled for Yankee Stadium; Play Even at 1-1

NEW YORK (AP) — The World Series was all even at one victory each today but the New York Yankees appeared to have a decided edge over the St. Louis Cardinals because of a rookie pitcher named Mel Stottlemyre.

The young right-hander's name was well known by every member of the Cardinals squad after he whipped them 8-3 with seven hits Thursday for the first Yankee triumph after five straight Series defeats.

"There's nobody like him in the National League," said Ken Boyer, the Cards' captain and third baseman.

* * *

"He's nothing but good," added Bob Gibson, the Cards' ace right-hander who lost despite striking out nine Yankees. "I would have had to be at my very best to beat him today.

"One of our scouts reported that Stottlemyre might be the best pitcher on their staff," said Redbird Manager Johnny Keane, "but I never pictured him that good."

HAPPY TO LEAVE

No wonder the Yankees left Busch Stadium in St. Louis in a happy frame of mind. The next three games, following a day of rest today, will be played at Yankee Stadium. Stottlemyre is scheduled to pitch again Monday.

This prospect left Keane more disturbed than he cared to admit.

Even he would have to admit that the Yankees' pitching picture looked much brighter than the Cards.

Keane is set for Saturday's third game with southpaw Curt Simmons, 18-9, opposing right-hander Jim Bouton, 18-13 of the Yankees. After that he's in trouble.

* * *

He will have to come back with lefty Ray Sadecki and Gibson for the fourth and fifth games. Both were treated roughly by Yankee hitters in the first two games, although Sadecki was credited with winning the opener.

On the other hand, Yankee Manager Yogi Berra has Whitey Ford primed for the fourth game, with his usual three-days rest, to be followed by Stottlemyre.

* * *

Ford didn't have it in the opener when he was beaten by Sadecki, but the veteran left-hander, winner of 10 World Series games, has been almost unbeatable in spacious Yankee Stadium.

While the 22-year-old sinker ball specialist was containing the Cards with only two outfield flies aside from their seven safeties, the Yankees pounded Gibson and three relivers for a dozen hits, including four doubles and a home run.

This gave the Yankees 24 hits in two games, three more than they accumulated in the entire Series against he Los Angeles Dodgers last year.

* * *

"They're a good hitting club," conceded Keane. "Our pitchers are good but there is only one Sandy Koufax. I regard Koufax as a super pitcher."

Koufax defeated the Yankees twice in the Dodgers' four-game sweep last October, establishing a record with 15 strikeouts in the opener.

AP Photofax

SERIES' DEBATE — Catcher Tim McCarver of the St. Louis Cardinals yells at umpire Bill McKinley that a pitch to New York's Joe Pepitone hit the Yankee's bat instead of his thigh. McKinley had the last word and Pepitone took first base.

SPORTS

Boyers Consistent in Series' Batting

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Figuring The Series:

The Boyer brothers, Ken of the Cards and Clete of the Yanks, are even-steven in batting. Each has collected one hit in seven tries for a .143 average. Defensively for the two games, Ken has handled eight chances flawlessly while Clete has made one error in 10 chances.

Roger Craig's appearance as a St. Louis reliever in the ninth inning Thursday was his first in series competition since the fourth game of the 1959 classic. He started that one for the Los Angeles Dodgers, working seven innings in a 5-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

* * *

The Yanks' Mel Stottlemyre, who yielded seven hits in defeating the Cards Thursday, broke into the majors on Aug. 12 with a seven-hit, complete game triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

No one can say that Lou Brock, the Cardinal left fielder, didn't go all out to get the best of Stottlemyre. He hit back to the box his first three trips, the third a smash that caught the right-hander on his wrist. The Yankee rookie got smart, though and retired Brock on a grounder to shortstop Phil Linz in the eighth.

* * *

In a way, the Cards wound up even with Stottlemyre. He fanned four St. Louis batters and Cardinal pitchers struck him out four times.

Somehow, Stottlemyre usually finishes on the long end of a 3-count. Before joining the Yanks his record with Richmond of the International League was 13-3. He won his first big league game, 7-3. His season record with New York was 9-3. And Thursday's score was 8-3.

Bobby Richardson's four hits in 10 tries in the first two Series games has lifted his over-all average in the Series to .284 with 31 hits in 109 at bats covering 31 games.

* * *

Saturday's probable pitchers appear to be evenly matched. The Yanks' Jim Bouton, during the regular season, had an 18-13 record, 11 complete games, four shutouts and an earned run average of 3.02. The Cards' Curt Simmons had an 18-9 mark, 12 complete games, three shutouts and a 3.43 ERA.

STARTED THIS WAY — Yankee batter Joe Pepitone starts to swing at a pitch from Cardinals' Bob Gibson in the sixth inning of yesterday's World Series game. Pepitone checked his swing and plate umpire Bill McKinley said the ball hit the Yankee first baseman. The Cards said it hit his bat. Pepitone went to first and the Yankees broke a 1-1 tie in the inning.

PRELUDE TO A HOMER—Cardinals Lou Brock (left) and Ken Boyer almost collide as they try for a foul fly off the bat of New York's Phil Linz in the ninth inning of yesterday's second World Series game. Linz got life on the play and then crashed a homer. The Yankees won, 8-3.

N. Y. Rookie Was Unknown

Stottlemyre Began Season in Minors

NEW YORK (AP) — Mel Stottlemyre was graduated from little Yakima, Wash., Junior College in 1961 and looked for some way to employ his lanky right arm.

* * *

To his surprise, the most talented, richest and famous club in baseball — the New York Yankees — took an interest.

"I had no big reputation," said the 22-year-old pitcher.

Stottlemyre had just given the Yankees their first World Series victory after five straight defeats, and evened the 1964 classic against the St. Louis Cardinals at one game apiece.

* * *

"This was the last thing that could have entered my mind last spring," he grinned. "I wasn't even on the Yankees' roster when they assigned me to Richmond."

PENNANT HELP

The Yankees brought him up from Richmond Aug. 11 and he won nine games in five weeks to help pitch them to the pennant.

Mixing curves and sliders with his fine sinker, he stymied the Cardinals on seven hits for a 8-3 victory in St. Louis before the teams moved here for the next three games.

* * *

"I just pitched my own game," he said. "I surprised myself because I wasn't nervous, at least not after the first pitch. I felt I had good stuff warming up. I thought I'd do all right."

* * *

Trailing, 4-1, the Cardinals opened the eighth with a single and double, but the Yankee pitching sensation got the next two men to ground out. He walked Bill White and then faced Ken Boyer, the National League's runs batted in leader.

Yankee Manager Yogi Berra said later if Boyer had gotten on base he would have brought in a relief pitcher.

Simmons Ready

Cardinals 'Cranking Up'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — What kind of pitcher is Curt Simmons?

"He's a stylist," says his manager, Johnny Keane of the St. Louis Cardinals. "He's calm and he's cool and — when he's going right — his control's hard to beat."

Simmons, the southpaw with the crank-up delivery, meets right-hander Jim Bouton of the New York Yankees in the third game of the World Series at Yankee Stadium Saturday.

* * *

"One thing about Simmons," Keane said. "Weather doesn't seem to bother him. He can pitch in hot, cool or cold weather."

The Cardinal manager was talking before Thursday's game here won 8-3 by the Yankees. The wind was blowing steadily to right and the temperatures were in the low 60s.

But Simmons was sweating.

"I've made a few jogs across the outfield with the boys," the barrel-chested left-hander said. "I'm going inside shortly because I'm sweating, and I want to be at my best Saturday."

* * *

Simmons, one of the Cardinals' big three pitchers, was a workhorse up the stretch in the pennant drive. He ended the season with an 18-9 record.

How does he feel about pitching in Yankee Stadium, a park about twice the size of St. Louis' Busch Stadium?

"All pitchers like big ball parks," Simmons grinned. "I'm no different. A big park gives the pitcher an edge. Here (in St. Louis), you can get knocked out on a fly ball — especially if the wind carries it to the roof."

Simmons has given up his share of home runs this year. With 23 blasted off his lefty pitches, he trails right-hander Bob Gibson by only two in that department.

NHL All-Star Teams Make Lineup Changes

TORONTO (AP) — Pre-season injuries to leading players are forcing coaches Punch Imlach and Sid Abel to shuffle lineups for the National Hockey League's 18th annual All-Star game here Saturday night.

* * *

Imlach's Toronto Maple Leafs, the Stanley Cup champions, meet an All-Star side made up of players from the over five NHL teams and coached by Abel, whose Detroit Red Wings were finalists last spring.

The Leafs will miss defenseman Allan Stanley, who has an injured knee. Forward Red Kelly is in Tokyo as Canadian government representative at the Olympic Games.

MOORE DOUBTFUL

Imlach called up defenseman Larry Hillman from Rochester of the American Hockey League after a medical examination Thursday afternoon ruled Stanley out for Saturday.

Imlach said he will make a final decision on whether Moore is ready after a team workout this morning.

In Detroit, Abel said Thursday that two and possibly three of his original line-up are out for Saturday. But he expects left winger Camille Henry of New York, previously considered a doubtful starter, will be on hand in Maple Leaf Gardens for the All-Star effort.

TWO INJURIES

The All-Stars lost the services of center Henri Richard of Montreal and defenseman Bill Gadsby of Detroit.

Richard suffered a groin injury in an exhibition game Thursday night and Gadsby strained his back Wednesday.

* * *

Abel said Thursday he has asked for right winger Claude Provost of Montreal to help round up his line-up. Right winger Kenny Wharram of Chicago, who is recovering from a face injury, is a doubtful starter for the All-Stars, Abel said.

The coach of the All-Stars also corrected an earlier NHL announcement that left winger Dean Prentice of Boston will be in the line-up Saturday. He said that in addition to forwards Murray Oliver and Johnny Buyck, the Boston contribution to the All-Stars will include defenseman Leo Boivin, not Prentice.

'Tick' Stirs Debate in Series Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — Yogi Berra heard a "tick." Was it the sound of a ball hitting Joe Pepitone's thigh — or his bat?

And Bob Gibson, who threw the pitch, heard a "noise." Was it a curve ball smacking wood or flesh?

* * *

These hotly debated possibilities filled the air in both the New York Yankees' and St. Louis Cardinals' dressing rooms following the Yanks' 8-3 victory over the Redbirds Thursday in the second game of the 1964 World Series.

HIT BY PITCH

Whatever the answer, the left-handed-hitting Pepitone was awarded first base because plate umpire Bill McKinley of the American League ruled he was hit on the thigh by a Gibson pitch in the crucial sixth inning.

The score was tied 1-1 at the time, with one out and one on, and the Yankees promptly went ahead 2-1 on Tom Tresh's single.

McKinley, who was embroiled in a bitter dispute over the call, said there was no question about it.

"Pepitone took a sort of half-swing at the ball, but he didn't hit it," McKinley said in the umpires' dressing room. "He just sort of half-stepped toward it and the curve ball just came in and hit him right there on the thigh."

He pointed to his right leg. Pepitone had a red spot on his left leg, the place he said he was hit.

"That play was the turning point of the ball game," said Cardinal Manager Johnny Keane. "The game was tight — 1-1. The pitch hit Pepitone's bat. It (the ball) may have hit him, but we heard it hit his bat first."

HEARD IT

Yankee Manager Berra said he really couldn't see what happened because his back was to the infield at the time.

"But we heard a 'tick,'" Berra added, "and when Pepitone came back to the dugout, he said 'It hit me.'"

"Look," countered Cardinal shortstop Dick Groat, "when a guy gets hit by a ball he just doesn't stand there like Pepitone did and wait for the umpire to tell him to go to first. He drops his bat and takes off. I think Pepitone would have done just that if he'd been hit."

"What did he want me to do," snapped Pepitone when he was told of Groat's statement. "Roll over in pain?"

"I thought I saw my curve glance off his (Pepitone's) bat," said Cardinal right-handed Bob Gibson. "I know I heard a noise that sounded like a ball hitting a bat."

"The ball sliced off my thigh," said Pepitone, "and I turned around to the umpire and said 'The ball hit me.' He said 'No swing — take your base. He would have sent me down to first whether I told him or not."

"I was sure his bat hit it," said Cardinal catcher Tim McCarver.

Athletes Fuss, Coach Calm

Wet Weather Limits Trackmen

TOKYO (AP) — For the first time in more than two years of training for the Olympics, George Young missed a morning workout. The American steeplechaser yielded to a third successive morning rain and stayed inside Friday.

"It was pretty tough, just laying in bed," said the 27-year-old schoolteacher from Casa Grande, Ariz. "I had to fight it."

However, the showers eased before noon and most of the American track and field athletes planned afternoon practices.

Few of the athletes fretted about the soggy conditions. And the team physician reported few sniffles.

"As we say in Hartford, Conn., when it rains, it rains on everyone except those in California and Texas," quipped Head Olympic Coach Bob Giegengack.

"We called off three morning workouts for our sprinters. We couldn't chance them slipping and injuring themselves. Our other runners just sloshed through the stuff twice daily.

TAPERING OFF

Ira Davis, three-time Olympian and a fourth-place finisher in the 1960 triple jump at Rome, viewed the rains as perhaps a blessing.

"This should be our tapering off period. The hard work should be behind. The guys need to rest and the rains have kept us inside where we couldn't do anything else."

* * *

Ed Red, javelin thrower from Rice University, said he completed all his heavy work before the bad weather.

I've been doing my conditioning work — gymnastics, weight lifting and running — inside the Tokyo University gym," said Red. The engineering student could be a surprise in what is listed as a weak American event.

* * *

He exceeded 270 feet several times in practice last week.

John Pennel, first pole vaulter to clear 17 feet, has been idle for two weeks by a pinched nerve in his back. He did some jogging in the rain the past two days.

"I hope to vault for the first time tomorrow," said the Northeast Louisiana State graduate.

Pennel is concerned about how well the pole vault runway will hold up. The runway is of red clay as compared to the rubber composition Americans are used to in their country.

* * *

"We'll have to use longer spikes. If there are a lot of vaulters, the red clay will be churned into powder before the day's over."

Two of the American runners, Jerry Siebert in the 800 meters and teen-ager Jim Ryun in the 1,500 meters, had their training set back by sore throats and rain.

* * *

"I've missed five days of conditioning work that I can't make up," grumbled Siebert.

DAWN FRASER

Rainy Weather Brings Order for Tissues

TOKYO (AP) — So many athletes are fighting colds in the rainy Tokyo weather that the drugstore at the Olympic Village had to order extra tissue paper.

Dawn, her pert nose buried in a huge paper towel, rode back to her bungalow on a village bus and sniffed:

"The moment I get out of the water, my nose starts dripping. I guess I better stay in the pool all the time."

* * *

Dawn's cold cut her practice swimming down to a minimum ever since she caught a virus last weekend. But it doesn't show on her performance. A few days ago she came within one second of her world mark of 58.9.

'VILLAGE' CALL — Linda Cooper, the top U.S. woman's platform diver, makes a call from her Olympic Village room in Tokyo to friends in Tachikawa, Japan. She is a strong choice for a gold medal in the 10 meter competition. Her home is in San Bernadino, Calif.

Russians Join Games' Group

USSR Ends Training at Remote Facility

TOKYO (AP) — The 165-member Soviet Olympic track and field team emerged from seclusion and returned to Tokyo Friday and a spokesman pronounced every one of the athletes in tip-top condition and raring to go for 18th Olympiad.

The team, which includes some of the world's long distance running and jumping giants, returned on the eve of the Games which start here Saturday. They wouldn't have cut it any finer without missing the opening ceremonies.

* * *

They had been training under the tutelage of crack Coach Gabriel Korobkov in Utsunomiya, 75 traffic-clogged miles from Tokyo.

Choice of the remote site had aroused envy and displeasure among some other national teams whose training facilities have been limited to the stadium complex in Tokyo.

* * *

Yuri Mashin, head of the Soviet delegation, has refused to say whether the Russians requested the separate facilities or the Japanese Organizing Committee initiated the invitation.

Black Market Tickets $500

Sellout Assured for First Day

TOKYO (AP) — The $2 billion Tokyo Olympic Games open Saturday before a sellout 72,000 in the National Stadium with good tickets going on the black market for as high as $500.

After two days of drizzle, the weather was clearing but the political climate was overcast. North Korea and Indonesia have withdrawn, Ecuador won't compete because of an internal dispute, but the nearly 8,000 athletes and 95 nations remaining made these the biggest games of modern times.

* * *

A single sentence by the Emperor of Japan proclaiming opening of the Games will launch this vast international sports events. Active competition starts Sunday, and ends Oct. 24.

No city has ever extended itself for the games as has Tokyo. Every civic improvement of the past few years — super highways, monorail from the airport to the heart of town, great modern arenas, the 125-miles per hour express from Tokyo to Osaka — all have tagged as Olympic, accounting for the $2 billion grand total.

SEE RUSSIA WINNING

Although the Olympics are supposed to be contested entirely on an individual basis, national rivalry is sure to assert itself.

By any scoring system, Russia is expected to win with a total of around 45 gold medals, followed by the United States with about 35, and Japan with 15.

* * *

In 1962 Indonesia staged the fourth Asian Games in Jakarta but banned Israel and Nationalist China, both Asian Games Federation members.

In the ruckus that followed, the International Olympic Committee suspended Indonesia and the Indonesians retaliated by holding the first Games of the New Emerging Forces (GANEFO) last year.

The IOC later reinstated Indonesia but the International Swimming and Track Federations banned from the Tokyo Olympics those athletes who had competed in GANEFO.

* * *

Although only a dozen or so on each team was affected, the entire squads were withdrawn. No athletes from either nation was expected to win much in the way of medals.

The fervor of Tokyo for the games is beyond western comprehension. The opening and closing ceremonies, and the swimming and track events are sellouts, with most other events close to it.

In Practice Race

U.S. Yacht Shows Wake

ENOSHIMA, Japan (AP) — The U.S. 5.5 meter class yacht Bingo sliced across the finish far ahead of 12 other entries in her class Friday in a team practice race held on these Olympic sailing waters 35 miles southwest of Tokyo.

The 34-foot American racer, with Don McNamara of Marblehead, Mass., at the helm, was 3 minutes, 50 seconds ahead of the Italian Grifone, skippered by Agostino Straulino, and 5 minutes, 29 seconds ahead of the Swedish Rush VII, skippered by Lars Thorn, who won the gold medal in the 5.5 class at the 1956 Melbourne Games.

First reports indicated a disqualification for the Americans with some observers believing that they had crossed the starting line before the gun.

PERFECT TIMING

However, official results indicated the 6.3 footer from New England and his crewmen Frank Scully and Joe Batcheider had timed their start as perfectly as they had sailed the rest of their race.

* * *

Fram III, the Norwegian entry in the 5.5, was sixth, but her helmsman, Crown Prince Harald was not aboard. The prince was in Tokyo to meet Emperor Hirohito.

He will also miss yachting practice Saturday when he carries the Norwegian delegation flag in the Olympic opening ceremony.

* * *

In the star class, German skipper Max Meyer and crewman Bruno Stieth were passed on the first down wind leg by the Japanese Mita II and finished the race in second place 2 minutes and 9 seconds behind the host nation's entry.

Portuguese sailors Manuel Duarte and Pinto Fernando were third. American skipper Dick Stearns with crewman Lynn Williams were fourth. Both are from Northbrook, Ill.

Seaworthy Canoeist

TOKYO (AP) — Bolivia has one entry in the Olympic Games — Inchaustegui in the canoeing. It's a difficult assignment for him. He's used to training thousands of feet above sea level. Here in Tokyo he's canoeing almost at sea level.

Vikings Picked Over Lions

Colts Rated Slight Favorites

By The Associated Press

The Colts, slender favorites in Monday night's game with St. Louis on the strength of their recent victories over the Chicago Bears and Los Angeles Rams, gain added support on being the home club.

★ ★ ★

Johnny Unitas doesn't have to throw all day now that the Colts have running help from Tony Lorick and a revived Lenny Moore.

The Colts should eke out an edge in a tight one that could be a preview of the NFL title game Dec. 27.

NFL

Cleveland 34, Pittsburgh 14 — Saturday night — Steelers hurting with only three linebackers left after injury to Bob Schmidt. Browns should roll with Jimmy Brown having a big day. Cleveland beat Pittsburgh 42-7 in an exhibition that triggered a shake - up by Buddy Parker.

Los Angeles 21, Chicago 14 — Bears still battered without Mike Pyle, Joe Fortunato and Larry Morris. Rams came out of Baltimore defeat in good shape physically. After George Halas' blast at officials, and three defeats in four games, Bears badly need a win in home opener.

Minnesota 21, Detroit 20 — One of the real tough games of the week. Lions' charging defensive line figures to have more trouble catching scrambling Fran Tarkenton than a quarterback who stays on the passer. Despite absence of Tommy Mason, a club good enough to nip Green Bay should take the Lions.

New York 20, Dallas 14 — Let's give Y. A. Tittle one more chance. He can't go on many more weeks without throwing a hatful of TD passes. Don Meredith still question mark although Cowboys say he'll play. Giants must stop Don Perkins and generate a little offense of their own.

Philadelphia 21, Washington 14 — Eagles should give Sonny Jurgensen another rough day with Vince Promuto probably out of the Redskin line. Ollie Matson, Earl Gros and Tim Brown are clicking and the Redskins still are fumbling.

Green Bay 31, San Francisco 21 — Vince Lombardi due to get Jim Taylor back although Herb Adderley has pulled leg muscle. 49ers not to be taken easily with John Brodie on the beam.

Baltimore 28, St. Louis 27 — Monday night — Colts have the balanced attack to give anybody trouble. Cards same type of ball club. Give Johnny Unitas the edge over Charley Johnson and say a field goal or a point can win it.

ALF

Boston 24, San Diego 21 Friday night — Patriots in high gear with four straight while Chargers still are regrouping after disastrous start. The Pats won on the coast so why not in Boston?

New York 17, Oakland 14 — Saturday night — Jets could have beaten Chargers last week. Oakland still looking for first win which is long overdue.

Quebec Back Leading UFL

CLEVELAND (AP)—Joe Williams, Quebec's 6-foot, 195-pound fullback who is averaging more than 90 yards a game, is well out in front in the United Football League individual rushing statistics after six games.

Williams has carried 63 times for 543 yards and an average of 8.6 yards per carry.

★ ★ ★

He also leads in scoring with nine touchdowns—five on runs —and his 85-yard touchdown run against Indianapolis Sunday is the longest in the UFL this season.

Despite Williams' performance, the Rifles went down to their fourth defeat Sunday, trounced 44-7 by Indianapolis, Eastern Division leader with a 5-1 record.

★ ★ ★

Indianapolis is at Toledo (3-3) Saturday night and Wheeling plays host to Joliet (0-6) Sunday night.

Charleston, leading the Western Division with a 5-1 record, goes to Canton (4-2) for a Sunday night game.

Quebec (2-4) is at Grand Rapids (1-5) Saturday night.

After Tonight, PCH Sees Better Days

After Pontiac Central's Chiefs wind up the contest with visiting Flint Central tonight, the squad will be ready to take on the 'easy' part of the Saginaw Valley Conference schedule.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs dropped their first three SVC encounters to teams ranked among the top ten in the Class A prep poll.

NONE EASY

There are no soft touches in the group, but the competition could be a little more to the Chiefs' liking.

★ ★ ★

The series between PCH and Flint Central dates back to 1908. Since that opening game, the Indians have gained a 35-11 advantage with three tilts ending in a tie.

All PCH hands are in good physical shape for the game which will get under way at 8 p.m. at Wisner Stadium.

In losing three games, the Chiefs' offense has been almost non-existent. Their lone touchdown came in a 26-7 loss to Saginaw Arthur Hill.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, the defense, which provided but token resistance in the first two outings, perked up against fifth-ranked Midland last week in an 8-0 setback.

TOUGH TEST

The Flint squad has taken two lopsided decisions — 54-0 over Bay City Handy and 27-0 over Saginaw.

"We'll have to stop his running or passing on the rollouts," Dellerba said. "He has a real good arm."

The Chiefs put a good defensive rush on Midland and the Indians may see some of it tonight.

★ ★ ★

The interior of Flint's interior line has been vulnerable to a strong rush, and the Chiefs could keep the game respectable if they keep Lassiter cornered.

Lassiter, however, isn't the Indians' only threat. They have speedy halfback George Hoey, the scoring leader in the SVC with 24 points.

Prep Grid Card Heavy

★ ★ ★

Hopes were high for the Maples as the squad opened the loop season against Hazel Park last week, but the Parkers dampened the outlook with a 21-20 upset.

Now the Maples have to start over.

They play host to Southfield tonight. In other SEMA games, Berkley has a date at Ferndale and Royal Oak Kimball entertains Hazel Park.

Seaholm (2-1) is expected to to get back on the winning trail against Southfield, a team which has one victory in three outings.

LEAGUE GAME

A key tilt is on tap in the Tri-County League with Oxford (0-0) battling Lapeer (0-0-1). Kettering was slated to play Cranbrook this afternoon in a non-conference tilt and Romeo plays at L'Anse Creuse at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Important games also dot the schedule in the Wayne-Oakland and Oakland A leagues.

Holly (1-1) has a date at Northville (2-0) in the top W-O encounter. Other scraps have Clarkston (0-2) at Milford (2-0), Bloomfield Hills (1-1) at Brighton (0-2) and West Bloomfield (1-1) at Clarenceville (1-1).

In the O-A, Rochester, (1-1) a surprise 26-13 winner over Madison last week, has another rough home encounter with Fitzgerald (2-0) providing the opposition.

★ ★ ★

In other O-A games, Avondale (1-1) travels to Warren Cousino (0-2), Lake Orion (0-2) has a date at Clawson (0-2) and Madison (1-1) entertains Troy (2-0).

Wheels Turn in Grand Prix

International Field Set at Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Wheels begin to spin Friday in the seventh annual Grand Prix, with an impressive field of internationally known drivers pointing toward the big finale Sunday — the 200-mile road race for sports cars.

★ ★ ★

Cars and drivers went into speed trials for grid positions in the qualifying runs Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Foreign drivers entered include Jimmy Clark from Scotland, England's Jack Brabham, Bruce McLaren and John Surtees and Innes Ireland from Wales.

The lap record is 1:31.9, posted last year by Jim Hall of Midland, Tex. The mark has been bettered many times unofficially during recent trials. A recently broken arm will keep Hall out of the race.

Egg and Bacon Shoot at Sportsmen's Club

Trapshooters will be gunning for merchandise prizes when the Egg and Bacon Shoot gets under way at Auburn Heights Sportsmen's Club Sunday.

★ ★ ★

PCH, Vikings, PNH Win

Harrier Records Unsoiled

Two cross country unbeaten records remained unsoiled in two wet meets yesterday.

Walled Lake upped its mark to 6-0 with a 26-39 Inter-Lakes victory over Farmington. Pontiac Central's Bill Hollis won his sixth dual meet in as many starts as the Chiefs defeated Flint Northern 21-35 at Beaudette Park in a Saginaw Valley meet.

Pontiac Northern swept past Waterford 19-44 in the other J-L meet.

Joe Watson and John Carawoski of Farmington placed 1-2, but the Vikings grabbed the next four spots to down the tough Falcons. Watson's winning time was 10:31, a new Walled Lake course record.

Hollis led PCH to its fourth win against two losses with a time of 10:31. Steve Narrin of Flint Northern was second followed by PCH's Bob Wiggins, Martin Acosta and Walt Fraser.

Dave Kay of PNH missed the Waterford course record of 11:17 by two seconds. John Meyer of the Skippers was second. Then came, in order, Northern's Bob Burtch, Nick Ochos, Tim Kaul and Dave Pruitt.

Hills' Teen Top Driver

A Bloomfield Hills teen-ager will try to maintain his lead in the state midget racing car standings in competition Sunday at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club track in Waterford.

★ ★ ★

Leading the pack is Bobbie Schultz Jr., 16, followed by Dennis Foster of Grosse Pointe Woods and Donald Bozak of Waterford.

Competition is limited to drivers 16 years of age and under who drive one-quarter or one-half midget racing cars under sanction of the Michigan Midget Racing Association.

★ ★ ★

Racing will start Sunday at 3 p.m. Drivers will battle over a one-tenth-mile track at speeds ranging from 35 to 40 miles an hour.

Major Hoople Gloats but Picks Oklahoma

Fearless Forecaster

Egad, friends, your congratulatory messages overwhelm me!

Nearly two weeks have passed since the Hoople System correctly forecast that Kentucky—a 20-point underdog — would triumph over No. 1 rated Mississippi and Auburn, and still the laudatory letters pour in.

Predicting this stunning upset was really nothing unusual, as longtime followers of the Hoople Forecasts well know. I dare say no other forecaster had the intestinal fortitude to cast his lot with the Kentucky Wildcats — Harrumph!

However, a Hoople is never one to rest on his laurels, so I have prepared another surprising card for your reading pleasure.

This week we will again witness some amazing upsets.

The Oklahoma Sooners, humiliated by Southern California, will rally their forces to score an astonishing 24-14 victory over archenemy Texas.

Ken Still Quiets Par in Camellia

SUNSET CITY, Calif. (AP) — Ken Still fired a four-under-par 67 to jump into the early lead Thursday in the $25,000 Sunset-Camellia Open Golf Tournament.

The only pro who seemed to have a chance to overtake the 29-year-old Tacoma, Wash., leader was Lou Graham, 26, of Nashville, Tenn., who carded a five-under-par 30 on the front nine, then blew himself out of contention with a 42 for 72 coming in.

PAR BREAKERS

Only 10 players were able to better par over the 6,450-yard, par-71 Sunset Oaks Country Club course. At the windup of first-round shooting the slender, blond Tacoman was still out front by two strokes.

Juan (Chi-Chi) Rodriguez, sick in bed for the past five days with a strep throat, put on an extraordinary display of courage in scoring 33-39-72 over a course he had never seen before.

U-M's Offense Challenged

MSU Defense Rated Strong

Duffy Heaps Praise on Timberlake

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Michigan expects its so-far highly successful running game to meet its toughest challenge of the young season Saturday when it takes on Michigan State at East Lansing.

The Wolverines, with four players over the century mark in yards gained, have rushed for 583 yards in their first two games.

* * *

Quarterback Bob Timberlake has gained an additional 197 yards on passes.

Sophomore Jim Detwiler is the top rusher with 149 yards in 22 carries. Timberlake, Carl Ward and Mel Anthony are the others who have already rushed for more than 100 yards.

SCORE UPSET

MSU, which scored one of the biggest upsets of the season in downing Southern California 17-7 last week, has been outrushed in its first two games but has just about matched its opponents in yards gained through the air.

Though Michigan has a wide edge in the history of the series —Saturday's game is the 57th renewal—the Wolverines have not won since 1955. Their best efforts have been a 12-12 tie in 1958 and a 7-7 deadlock last year.

* * *

But previous statistics and past games won't help anyone in this one.

MSU Coach Duffy Daugherty feels that the Michigan attack presents a number of defensive problems. The major one, he says, is stopping or at least slowing down Timberlake.

"He is one of the finest quarterbacks I've seen in a long time for running, blocking and throwing," Daugherty said.

* * *

"I can't understand how anyone could regard them so lightly," Elliott has remarked in the past. "They had a real good defense last year and are about as strong in that department this year."

Elliott was one of the few who said a week ago he wouldn't be surprised if Daugherty's team upset Southern Cal.

* * *

The Wolverines, who have yet to tighten their defensive secondary as much as Elliott would like, will have to contend with the passing of quarterback Steve Juday.

Juday has completed half of 28 attempts for 136 yards and one touchdown.

Canada vs. States in Handball Final

NEW YORK (AP) — Jimmy Jacobs of Chicago and Bernie Prichard of Canada will meet Saturday night for the singles title in the first World's Four-Wall Handball championships.

* * *

In the doubles semifinals, the Chicago pair of Johnny Sloan and Phil Elbert scored over Mexico's Villerel and Ignacio Hernandez 21-13, 21-7. Milkey Unroth and Henry Teperman of Canada beat Al Rivesi and Tony Caplic of Australia 21-5, 21-14. Sloan and Elbert will play Unroth and Teperman in the final Saturday.

Full Big Ten Grid Slate

Ohio State Tests Strong Illini

CHICAGO (AP)—All Big Ten football teams jump into championship action Saturday with Ohio State's encounter at Illinois' homecoming the major attraction.

* * *

Each game in the first full league schedule appears to be closely contested. There are no clear-cut favorites.

Defending champion Illinois, with a Big Ten 17-6 decision over Northwestern, is ranked No. 2 in the Associated Press poll.

ILLINI FAVORED

The quarterbacking of Red Custardo, the running of such backs as Sam Price, Jim Grabowski and Ron Acks, the pass-catching talent of Bob Trumpy and the solid defense anchored by linebackers Dick Butkus and Don Hansen leave the Illini a seven point choice of the oddsmakers.

* * *

The game will mark the first capacity crowd of 72,000 in four years at Illinois' Memorial Stadium. Ohio State, ranked No. 4, has a strong defense and attack that so far has featured the passing of Don Unverfeth — breaking coach Woody Hayes traditional meatgrinder mode of offense.

* * *

The Gophers, who upset California 26-20, will be making their Big Ten start and are a three-point underdog.

Wisconsin, idle since losing 31-7 to Notre Dame, has had time to regroup for invasion of Purdue. The Boilermakers, who were pounded 34-15 by the Irish last week, are given a touchdown edge.

* * *

Another close one is Iowa at Indiana. The Hawkeyes, with Gary Snook passing for 441 yards in victories over Idaho and Washington, could well be a sleeper in the Big Ten chase.

Unbeaten Notre Dame takes its horde of talent to Air Force. Ranked sixth, the Irish are being boomed a 10-point favorite in the high altitude of Colorado Springs.

MIAA Powers Collide; Titans Play at Villanova

By The Associated Press

Albion plays host to Kalamazoo Saturday in a cliffhanger between two unbeaten, untied teams battling for the MIAA football title.

Eastern Michigan (1-0), which was idle last week, journeys to John Carroll for a Presidents Athletic Conference meeting, while Northwood (2-0) is at Ohio Northern.

Two of the headliners in the state Saturday find Bowling Green at Western Michigan and Northern Michigan at Central Michigan.

OTHER GAMES

Other games in Michigan have Western Reserve at Wayne State and Wisconsin State at Hillsdale.

Detroit is at Villanova, Ferris State at Findlay and Michigan Tech at St. Cloud in out of state clashes.

* * *

Kalamazoo and Albion have split in their last two meetings. Kalamazoo won 19-12 on its way to a perfect season in 1963. Albion scored a 25-14 victory last year and eventually wound up in a three-way tie with Kalamazoo and Hope for the MIAA football championship.

* * *

Detroit, which allowed 267 yards on the ground in a 19-0 loss to Cincinnati last Friday night, can expect another rough game with Villanova.

The Wildcats have scored impressive triumphs in their first three games, whipping Toledo 22-6, Holy Cross 32-0 and VMI 27-7.

Indonesia Now Out of Japanese Games

TOKYO (AP) — Indonesian Sport Minister R. Maladi announced Friday his entire 134-member Olympic team will boycott the 18th Olympiad in Tokyo because 20 of its athletes had been ruled ineligible to compete.

He said the team would leave Tokyo "in the next few days."

Maladi also said Indonesia's President Sukarno was expected to visit Japan during the Olympic Games starting here Saturday, apparently despite the team's decision to withdraw from the Games.

Sukarno is coming here, Maladi said, "purely to promote goodwill between Indonesia and Japan."

School Soccer Program on Recreation Schedule

Pontiac's Olympic Sports Development Program for elementary and junior high school boys and girls will open Saturday at 10 a.m. at Wisner Stadium.

★ ★ ★

On the schedule will be modified and regular soccer competition for teams organized during physical education classes and coached by physical education teachers.

The program, sponsored by the Board of Education, is an effort to promote soccer as an Olympic sport and make Wisner Stadium the area's "Soccer Center."

Lee W. Haslinger, city director of physical education, said that all boys and girls participating in the program should be members of teams organized at school.

Wisner Stadium will be available for use by local schools plus schools outside the Pontiac School District, Haslinger said.

ADVANCE SCHEDULE

All games must be scheduled in advance through the Board of Education, 332-9231.

Haslinger said the "Soccer Center" will operate from Oct. 10 until Nov. 14 with a supervisor on hand for all contests.

ROBBIE ROBERTS

City Bowler 1st at Kazoo

Robbie Roberts finished 39 pins ahead of his nearest competition in the handicap tourney, aided by a 618 actual. Roberts averaged 144 last season while bowling around Pontiac.

The 21-year-old rallied to win the title. He started his bowling with a 147 game, then went on to the 618 total. Some 283 bowlers entered the competition.

The road to the National All-Star Bowling Tournament in Philadelphia for Pontiac bowlers, leads through Flint's Skyway Lanes, and it is a bumpy route at best.

For George Chicovsky — perhaps the hottest bowler in the state presently — the ups and downs of the Eastern Michigan Elimination tournament highway are currently, minor inconveniences.

"Chico" has the lead after 24 games in the men's division which will produce three All-Star qualifiers. He has 5074 pins.

And Shirley Pointer of Pontiac is third in the battle for two women's tickets to the Quaker City. Mrs. Pointer has 4466, trailing Jeanette Robinson of Flint by 107 pins.

Also making a gallant effort to overcome journey obstacles are Pontiac's Mike Samardzija, Jr., Larry Crake, Joe Puertas and Peg Carter.

All survivied last weekend's cut to 18 and are seeking a spot in the top 12 that advance after tomorrow's 12 games. Samardzija currently is fourth, Crake ninth and Puertas tenth among the men. Mrs. Carter is eighth on the women's list.

Following tomorrow's bowling, the dozen leaders in both divisions will enter the head - to-head finals to determine who will continue their drive to Philadelphia and the January nationals.

SPARE PINS

Peg Bender of the Pontiac Women's Bowling Association presently has entry blanks for the state association's 39th annual Women's Championship Tournament opening in January at Lansing's Holiday Lanes.

The reservation closing date is Oct. 24th, while all entries must be in by Nov. 1 for the singles - doubles team event competition.

German Ring Champ Dies

BERLIN (AP) — Walter Neusel, former German heavyweight boxing champion, died in West Berlin Thursday of a heart attack. He was 56.

Neusel, who rose to boxing fame along with Max Schmeling in the 1930s, held the German title from 1938 to 1940. He regained the title for a short time in 1942.

Golf's Arch-Rivals Team at Piccadilly

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus, arch-rivals of the American golf circuit, set out today on a brand of golf they have almost forgotten — a match play tournament with a first prize of $14,000.

Palmer last competed in a match play tournament 10 years ago. Nicklaus hasn't done it since his amateur days in 1961.

The same applied to the other six world stars who lined up here for the Piccadilly World Match Play Tournament over the 6,936-yard Wentworth West course — known to British golfers as the Old Burma Road.

The others shooting for the big prize are Americans Tony Lema and Ken Venturi, South Africa's Garv Player, Bruce Devlin of Australia, and two British Ryder Cuppers, Neil Coles and Peter Butler.

Mart Irregularly Higher

Rails Aim for Record Peaks

NEW YORK (AP) — Rails moved toward record peaks today in an irregularly higher stock market. Trading was fairly active.

★ ★ ★

New York Central, up more than a point, and Pennsylvania Railroad, fractionally higher, made new highs of their own in heavy trading.

Other carriers showed a milder uptrend, but enough to push the rail average past the record closing high of last July 14.

★ ★ ★

This added to the bullish atmosphere in Wall Street. Airlines, oils, electrical equipments, aerospace issues and nonferrous metals moved generally higher, but it was far from a runaway market.

MINOR GAINS

Steels, motors, utilities and electronics showed minor gains and losses.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .8 to 329.2, topping Thursday's record closing high. Industrials were up 1.1, rails 1.5 and utilities .1.

★ ★ ★

Chrysler gained a fraction and Ford was off a fraction. Very slight changes occurred among leading steels.

DROP POINTS

IBM gained 3 and U. S. Smelting more than 4. Xerox dropped a couple of points.

Fotochrome stock and convertible bonds went wild on the American Stock Exchange and trading was halted in both pending an inquiry and possible announcements by the company and the Securities & Exchange Commission. The stock, which sold at 3⅛ before its run up began a few weeks ago, was up 1⅛ at 17¼. The bonds were up 10 at 131⅝.

Among other issues, trading was moderate.

Three Guilty of Burglary

Pontiac Men Broke Into Motorcycle Firm

Three Pontiac men were convicted yesterday by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury of burglarizing the Harley Davidson Motorcycle Co., 372 S. Saginaw, on July 26, 1963.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem scheduled Nov. 10 for the sentencing of the trio. They are Arzo Carson, 23, of 496 Arthur; A. J. Simpson, 31, of 256 S. Sanford; and William Griffin, 25, of 475 Arthur.

The jury returned the guilty verdict after deliberating for one day following the week-long trial.

The three surrendered to Pontiac police following a chase during which time several shots were reportedly fired at patrolman Robert Burns.

Originally all were accused of a second count of assault with intent to murder but later the charges were dismissed because of insufficient evidence.

SMASH HOLE

Police said that an attempt was being made to smash a hole through a double wall between the motorcycle shop and the adjoining Carter Tire Co. when the three were frightened off.

★ ★ ★

When police located the men hiding behind trees near 304 Diston, they also found two pistols, a two-way radio and clothing nearby on the ground.

The three were released on continued $5,000 bond each pending sentencing.

'Peaceful' N-Blast Set Off in Nevada

WASHINGTON (AP) — Another test blast in the effort to develop peaceful uses for nuclear energy was set off today at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada test site.

The AEC said the blast was of low intermediate yield, meaning it had a force equivalent to from 20 to 200 kilotons of TNT. It was the fourth test this year in Project Plowshare, for development of peaceful uses of atomic energy.

Hillsdale to Expand

Executives Touchy on Profit Criticism

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

DAWSON

NEW YORK — Profit time is here again. And as many corporations start to release figures showing increased earnings in the past three months — most of the nation's banks already have — some business executives are getting more touchy about public and government reaction to the record highs.

The administration has suggested that industries with mounting profits might shave prices a little for the consumer's benefit. So far very few have. And when prices are lowered it's usually because of competitive pressures.

Union leaders have pointed to improved earnings as a talking point for higher wage scales and fringe benefits, claiming a larger share of the earnings for labor.

But business spokesmen are stressing that profits still aren't high enough, that the record highs are deceptive, and that industry must have still larger returns if it is to expand and create more jobs.

WANT PRICES RAISED

Some go on from there — as several steel executives have — to contend that prices must be raised, especially if wage scales can't be held down.

The argument that the record earnings mislead the public goes this way:

Rising profits reflect to a large extent the growing volumes of production and sales. And these have been boosted by gains in employment and thus in total personal incomes and by the general spread of prosperity throughout the economy. The business leaders argue that everything else has climbed to a record, and profits are merely following suit.

They go further and say that actually in relation to sales and capital investment, profits are lagging.

UNDER 6 PER CENT

For all U.S. corporations the after-tax return on net worth is estimated at under 6 per cent, or about what it has been for the last four years, although over-all business activity has increased notably.

The ratio of profits to sales, called the profit margin, has firmed up this year. But businessmen insist it is still much too low compared with the early postwar years when business was making a larger return and using that for expansion.

Citing the steel industry as an example, Roger M. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel, said this week that the industry's profits, as expressed in dollars, rose 16 per cent in the first half of this year over the 1947-49 period, and employment costs climbed 56 per cent. But profits as percentage of sales came to 6.1 this year, compared with 7 per cent in the 1947-49 period.

One thing that many business executives and many labor leaders have in common is this: dislike for the government's guidelines on wages and prices. The administration wants increases in wages and prices held within the bounds of increases in productivity—unit output per man hour of labor. Neither management nor labor shows much affection for the government's stepping in as a third party in their wage-price decisions.

PROFITS ARE INCENTIVE

As for profits, business leaders contend that the chance to earn profits is the most effective incentive for increased productivity and efficiency. If profits are to be given a bad name, or even controlled by government, much of the incentive to produce better and more goes a-glimmering.

And the business contention is that profits earned by such incentive-sparked efficency are the real hope for greater economic growth.

Q: "My husband is buying stocks like crazy. I know he cannot afford to do this since our income is low and he has made no provision for the future of our 8-year-old son. I can never find his stocks listed anywhere. Please comment on the list enclosed. I guess I'll have to get him to join Gamblers Anonymous." J.S.

A: It is very hard for many men to resist the lure of the low-priced stock or to cease regarding the market as a glorified roulette wheel.

Your husband's shares — with one exception — are not listed anywhere because most of them have very little value. The one exception is Strategic Materials, which is sometimes found in over-the-counter stock list. They are 4 bid and I believe they should be sold.

C-Through Products is 3¾ bid, and perhaps you can persuade your husband to sell this one, too. United Utilities of Florida is 3⅞ bid. On the balance there is either no market or a bid measured in pennies.

Your husband has embarked on a dangerous and, I believe, hopeless quest for easy money. You have my deepest sympathy but I can do no more for you.

★ ★ ★

Q: "Could you please tell me what has happened to Campbell Soup stock? Please answer, for I need help and cannot afford losses." I.M.

A: There is nothing the matter with Campbell Soup shares. The stock split was over-discounted and brought a runup on price which was unwarranted. Earnings in the first six months of 1964 showed a gain, but were somewhat less than had been anticipated.

You own a fine growth issue which has lifted earnings in every year of the past decade and has doubled dividends during that period.

If you truly cannot afford losses, you should never buy stocks, if you will forgive my saying so. I believe, however, that the decline here is temporary, and I definitely advise you to hold your shares.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

Diplomatic Moves Indicative

China A-Blast Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China apparently has begun a diplomatic campaign to prepare the way for early explosion of a nuclear test bomb and assure maximum political impact in Africa and Asia.

Diplomatic officials say that Indonesian authorities who are close to the Chinese Communists, have been told that the first Red Chinese atomic device will be exploded sometime after the end of October.

The implication of this and other reports which have been published in Paris is that the Chinese Communist officials are now in effect, confirming Secretary of State Dean Rusk's recent forecast of an early Communist Chinese nuclear detonation.

Rusk said Sept. 29 that "Such an explosion might occur in the near future." His statement is known to have been based on late intelligence information, including high altitude photographs, which showed construction of large and advanced atomic installations on the Chinese mainland.

★ ★ ★

The United States also is understood to have had evidence that the Chinese were in the final stage of preparation for testing.

EASY DETECTION

U. S. officials believe the first Chinese explosion will be an atmospheric shot easily detectable by American devices which record earth shocks, sound waves, and the level of radioactive fallout in the air at great distances from a test site.

Speculation is that the test will be held in China's remote Sinkiang Province.

Cancer Study Project Said Gamble by Sabin

MONTREAL (AP) — Dr. Albert Sabin, developer of the oral vaccine, says his new project, cancer research, "is a gamble — I can't say where we will end up."

"We must obtain the basic knowledge of how cancer works before we can develop a cure," Sabin told a news conference at Montreal, where he spoke at fund - raising dinner of the Jewish appeal. Sabin does his work at the University of Cincinnati.

Crane in Pain Flew Mainly to the Plain

VANCOUVER B.C. (AP) — Note to hunters on the plain: If you spot a big, pale grey bird with a red head and wings six feet wide, don't shoot!

It may be Cecil, the crane, who escaped his Vancouver Zoo domain because, Curator Larry Lesage figures, he got a pain from constantly watching a nearby miniature train.

Young Corps in GOP Battle

But now she's out making speeches on her own, an enthusiastic campaigner for the Republican ticket of Barry Goldwater for president and her father, William E. Miller, for vice president.

So is her younger and equally attractive sister, Mary Karen, 17.

They're the feminine half of a young quartet out on the campaign road for the Republicans. The others are the two sons of Goldwater, Barry Jr., 26, and Michael, 24.

The Democrats have barbecues for young citizens, which President Johnson's daughters, Lynda and Luci, attend.

At the GOP jamborees, the fare is "Barry burgers," Polish potato salad made from Mrs. Miller's recipe and soft drinks called gold water.

Libby (real name Elizabeth Anne) admitted in an interview today that she hasn't had a chance yet to try Barry burgers, "but I know they're good."

NOT THE SAME

As for the potato salad — "I've had that for 20 years and it's good."

The jamboree series opened with a rally on the University of Pittsburgh campus last Saturday, with a crowd of about 4,000.

I will continue this Saturday in Chicago. There will be a third rally in Austin, Tex., Saturday, Oct. 17, and a fourth and last rally the following weekend in California at a place still to be decided.

ON WEEKENDS

Of necessity, the jamborees are on weekends because of school. Libby is a senior, majoring in modern languages, at Sacred Heart at Newton College outside Boston. Mary Karen goes to high school there.

★ ★ ★

Libby attends Young Republican meetings in New England, near her college, when she can during the week.

She writes her own speeches.

"I didn't know whom to ask to help me, and then I decided I'd really like to express my own thoughts," she said.

NOT POLITICAL

She doesn't discuss political issues — "I feel I don't know enough about that."

"I talk about the role of youth and what we can do in the election," she said. "I've found so much enthusiasm on the part of young people. They want to do something."

★ ★ ★

Libby said she was a little scared at first with the press conferences and interviews, "but you do become used to it — if you just think of people like ordinary people."

As for campaigning — "I enjoy it very much," she said. "I just love to meet people and see all the different parts of the country."

JAMBOREE SPONSORS

The jamborees are sponsored by Young Americans for Goldwater-Miller, headed by Reps. John M. Ashbrook, R-Ohio, and Albert W. Watson, D-S.C. The organizations include Young Republicans, Youth for Goldwater-Miller, Young Americans for Freedom, and Young Democrats and Independents for Goldwater-Miller.

'Help' Is Helpless; Pair Cries 'Help'

NEWCASTLE ON TYNE, England (AP) — Allan Morgan and his wife advertised for a young housekeeper-nurse to help out around their home and look after their three young children.

Mrs. Cecily Hill applied from London and "We thought our dreams had been answered," said Morgan. They agreed to take her on trial and sent her the money for a one-way train ticket.

At the station they found Mrs. Hill in a wheelchair. She's 77 and lives in a home for the aged.

"We were shocked," said Morgan.

He told her she wouldn't be suitable for the job and bought her a return ticket. She didn't like the idea.

★ ★ ★

Morgan said she insisted on ordering double whiskies at the station bar. Finally he called the police.

Mrs. Hill was adamant.

FAVORITE SPOT

"I like it here," she said from her wheelchair. "I spent my honeymoon here many years ago."

Mrs. Hill is a widow.

Newcastle's welfare committee talked Mrs. Hill into returning to the old folks home in London, but only after she spent three days in Newcastle at the city's expense.

"I was amazed," she said on her return. "They didn't even give me a trial. They just said they couldn't use me.

★ ★ ★

"I could have looked after their home, and I love children. They should have let me try.

★ ★ ★

"Yes, I didn't mention my age. You see, I was born in Ireland and still have a little touch of the blarney."

An American toad kept in captivity ate 9,936 different insects in a three - month period, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Stress on Aid to Disturbed

Romney Lists Goals in Mental Health

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney says Michigan in the next two years will pay special attention to providing services "for the alarming number of disturbed children and adolescents needing treatment."

Speaking to the Michigan Mental Health Assembly, Romney listed this among several major objectives for the state's mental health program.

★ ★ ★

Another, he said, is continued promotion of the expansion of mental health services on the community level.

In addition, he said, "we will continue to support and encourage research in the prevention and treatment of mental illness and retardation."

SAYS BEST YEAR

Reviewing what he called "the exceptional gains which have been realized in the last two years," Romney said 1963 probably would be remembered best as the year in which the community mental health services act was passed.

The law permits a county or group of counties to form a local mental health board to study local needs and submit a comprehensive program plan to the state.

★ ★ ★

If the State Department of Mental Health approves, the state splits the costs with the local board.

Hunt Escapee From Asylum

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Another search was on today for Leslie Douglas Ashley, a one-time female impersonator who drew the death penalty for killing a Houston man in 1961 but later was adjudged insane.

His disappearance from a state mental hospital here was disclosed Thursday. Officers said a woman attendant on leave from the hospital apparently went with him and they probably headed for Arkansas of Missouri.

It was slightly more than 3½ years ago that FBI agents arrested Ashley, now 26, and a girlfriend in a New York City apartment. He and Carolyn Ann Lima were take back to Houston and convicted of shooting Fred Tones, 44, during a sex party in Tones' real estate office. The partly burned body of Tones was dumped in a ditch.

Both were sentenced to die but won new trials on the ground that Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe of Houston had suppressed evidence. Miss Lima, now 21, is serving a five-year term on her second conviction.

Shirley Temple Considers New Career in TV Series

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Another career for Shirley Temple? It could happen.

THOMAS

In the 1930s Shirley became the most successful child star in the history of the movies. Later she made the transition to young-lady roles in films like "The Bachelor and The Bobby Soxer" and "Since You Went Away."

★ ★ ★

After the failure of her marriage to John Agar, Shirley retired to become Mrs. Charles Black, wife of a business executive. Four years ago she returned to acting with her own television show, on which she introduced and occasionally starred in fairy tales.

Now ABC and 20th Century-Fox are trying to induce her to return for a weekly series. She was in Hollywood a month ago for talks at Fox, which she kept solvent in the depression years.

NO SCRIPT

Via telephone from her home at Woodside, south of San Francisco, she commented: "We've been talking about a series since last March, but so far I haven't seen a script. So I can't really decide until I do.

"But I think I would enjoy doing a series. My family likes it when I'm away. At least Charlie says I'm easier to live with when I'm working. And my children are always interested when I'm doing some acting. So I've got some fans rooting for me, anyway."

Shirley, now 35, said she wouldn't mind the travel. Los Angeles is only 50 minutes away by jet, she pointed out, and she got used to the 400-mile commuting during her two-year run with her previous series. She was awarded a 100,000-mile plaque by one air line, and she traveled others as well.

"I understand they don't shoot movies on Saturday any more," she added. "That would give me a long weekend to be at home."

DIDN'T MIND WORK

Until recent years, studios maintained a six-day work week. "But I didn't mind working on Saturdays when I was young," Shirley said. "In fact, I liked it because I didn't have to go to school."

Even without the acting, Shirley keeps busy, as she has all her life. She has been working in educational television in San Francisco. She serves regularly in a children's day clinic. And she was recently made an honorary governor of the San Francisco chapter of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

★ ★ ★

"All my activities are in the morning," she explained. "I'm home by 2 when the children start to come home."

The children are Susan, 16 and a high school senior; Charlie, 12; and Lori, 10. None displays any yen to follow their mother's profession, although Susan is devoted to ballet.

Patrolman Will Fill Waterford Post

Appointment of Patrolman Alton Doud to fill a detective vacancy on a temporary basis was announced today by Waterford Township Police Chief William Stokes.

Doud, 30, of 1319 Jeffwood will begin his new duties Monday. He has been a member of the Waterford force for nearly five years.

★ ★ ★

Doud replaces Det. Jack Hart who resigned this week after 10 years with the department.

PROBLEM LOT — Gathering flowers from her tiered back garden is Mrs. Vera E. Norwall of 827 Provincetown. Once a problem site, the corner lot is now a neighborhood showplace. Railroad ties prevent the higher ground of the adjoining property from shifting. A rose bed is planted on the top level. Petunias, zinnias, snapdragons and portulaca share honors on the lower tiers.

TRAILER YARD — Mrs. Dial Shepherd of lot A-5, Pontiac Mobile Home Park, 229 E. Walton Blvd., displays the engraved placque won by the Shepherds in the management's annual "attractive yard" contest. Grinning her approval at the judges' selection is 4-year-old Lisa Shepherd. Included in the judging team were Arthur Law, Michigan state representative from Pontiac, Harold Keith of the Pontiac State Bank and Don Haigh of Haigh Trailer Park Real Estate Sales, Detroit. The Shepherds and their three children have lived in the park for two and one half years.

MAGNIFICENT MARIGOLDS — The next time the school children sell flower seeds, Mrs. Robert Voss of 2060 Galloway Court, Pontiac Township, will be among the first to stock up. "I bought marigold seeds from my grandson when he was trying to raise money for a school project," said Mrs. Voss. "And I've never seen anything like them. The blossoms measure over five inches across."

Oak Wilt Plagues Trees in Nation

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) —Under a renewed grant of $12,000 from the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, research on oak wilt, a disease that has felled thousands of trees throughout the nation in recent years, will continue at Pennsylvania State University.

★ ★ ★

The fungus can be transmitted by root grafts between healthy and infected trees, or by insects picking it up in open wounds of infected trees and transferring it to healthy ones.

The Penn State researchers also are trying to learn why some oaks — mainly white — are more resistant to oak wilt than the red oaks.

Salt Water Irrigation in an Emergency

BELTSVILLE, Md. (UPI) —Recent experiments conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture Research Service here show that certain vegetables that have a "good tolerance" of salty or brackish water in emergency irrigation are beets, kale, asparagus, and spanich.

Radishes, celery, and green beans can not live when irrigated with salty water.

Dish Garden Perfect Gift for Friends

Almost everyone has a neighbor with whom she is not on a birthday gift-exchanging basis, but who is close enough to warrant a present that says "I remembered."

The perfect solution to this is a small attractive dish garden. It's an inexpensive gift that lasts a long time.

Today's dish gardens — for the home and for gifts—consist of several types of plants, with compatible growing needs, arranged attractively in a planter. The containers, of almost any size, can hold an assortment of plant varieties to supply a fascinating array of plant beauty.

Some of the plants used in dish gardens include: striped sansevieria, aglaonema, variegated peperomia, philodendron cordatum, dracaena godseffiana, neanthe bella palm fatshedera, buxus, crassula, echeveria, sedum, haworthia, and aloe.

★ ★ ★

Dish gardens have a great history. They are direct descendants of the magnificent gardens of Kublai Khan and the lesser Asian gardens of the 12th century.

Grow Plants Under Lights

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's no need for your green thumb to turn brown with the first frost.

With proper fluorescent lighting the home gardener can enjoy summer's green right through winter.

The best arrangement usually is a combination of incandescent bulbs and fluorescent tubes in the ratio of one 40 watt fluorescent to one 25 watt incandescent, said the center.

* * *

WORK WELL

This wave length quality is why the fluorescents work so well. The red wave lengths of light promote vegetative growth while the blue regulate the respiratory system of plants.

The duration of light also is critical. Plants are grouped into short day, long day, and indeterminate with respect to the effect of the length of the day of growth.

Short day plants — chrysanthemums, gardenias, Christmas begonias and poinsettias — need 10 to 13 hours of light per day to flower. The rest of the day in darkness gives the plants time to assimilate food.

* * *

Long day plants need 14 to 18 hours of light to bloom. Included are China asters, dahlias, nasturtiums, and fuchsia.

HOURS OF LIGHT

Indeterminate plants will blossom in varying degrees of abundance with anything from 12 to 18 hours of light.

This group includes most house plants — African violets, gloxinias, begonias, geranium and coleus.

Light fixtures and accessories have been designed specifically for growing plants with fluorescent lighting, but any fluorescent fixture with a reflector will do.

* * *

One good idea: buy an inexpensive automatic timer t turn the lights on and off a required intervals.

Garden tools stay safe and snug in this tool house which can be incorporated into a back yard fence. Structure is framed in Douglas fir 2x4s and has shingled shed roof. Vertical tongue-and-groove fir siding blends with any vertical fence pattern, may be allowed to weather for easy upkeep.

Fully Ripe Squash Will Keep Better

If you are planning to store winter squash and pumpkins, leave them on the vines until they are thoroughly ripe.

They will keep better if they are fully ripe before harvesting. Select the storage place for its moderately warm temperature.

Protection Sought for Plant Life

A fatty acid sprayed on plants is being tested as a protection against frost and drought.

The new treatment with a dilute solution of decenylsuccinic acid, an unsaturated fatty substance, was reported by Dr. Pieter J. C. Kuiper of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station. He found that this preparation sprayed on peach, apple and pear blossoms protected most of the flowers at temperatures as low as 24 degrees.

In greenhouse experiments with bean plants, the station reported that the acid treatment helped resist drying out as well as cold.

During a severe drought last June, Dr. Kuiper reported, young hemlock seedlingss dipped in the solution for 24 hours before planting became well established, while untreated seedlings fared poorly.

The station said the practical value of this breakthrough in knowledge of water relations of plants — an area under intensive study at this experimental plant laboratory, remains to be demonstrated.

Frost and drought are old enemies of gardeners. Thus far, protection against loss of crops and plants from these foes has been mechanical — more recently through plant breeding.

Success of the experiment in protection would be a boon to the backyard grower of tomatoes and tender plants, as well as to the commercial horticulturist.

IRS Unveils Simplified Tax Form 1040

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Cheer up, taxpayers. The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) says it is going to be easier to figure out how big an income tax bill you owe the government.

IRS officials yesterday unveiled a new and simplified version of the form 1040 which many persons use to compute their income tax. It will go out to taxpayers about Jan. 1 for filing returns on income earned this year.

The new form reflects changes made by the Revenue Act of 1964, which reduced income taxes $11.5 billion and made 40 other changes in the tax law.

Officials also said the new form will be easier to fill out, enabling about 22 million taxpayers to use only a single sheet to figure their tax. They said an additional 22 million were expected to use the card form 1040A.

A total of 63 million returns is expected to be filed before the April 15 deadline next year, the IRS said.

It said the face-lifting of the 1040 form was the biggest it has undergone in the last 10 years. The major changes are:

- Taxpayers will list their exemptions on the front of the sheet instead of page two. Children will not have to be listed by name.
- Single line summaries will replace some of the detailed accounting now required on the face of the return.
- The taxpayer will sign his name on page one. The IRS said that many persons forgot to sign when the space was on the second page.
- The form has been revised for the new minimum standard deduction provided in the 1964 law.

Under the new deduction, a taxpayer may claim a minimum of $200 plus $100 for each exemption.

The instructions will contain extra tables to help taxpayers make a choice between the new minimum standard deduction and the regular standard deduction. Taxpayers still will be able to itemize deductions if they wish.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Some Bothered by Blood Pressure Drug

Q—Should I worry about possible side effects from Eutonyl. My doctor prescribed it for high blood pressure.

BRANDSTADT

A—Eutonyl is a brand of pargyline. Although it was originally believed to be free of serious side effects, it has recently been shown that in some persons it causes an increase rather than a decrease in blood pressure.

★ ★ ★

Anyone who is taking this new drug should have periodic blood counts, urinalyses and liver function tests. Persons who take it should also avoid cheese, all alcoholic beverages, cold remedies, sinus decongestants and weight-reducing pills.

SLEEP ATTACK

Following such an attack the victim usually falls into a deep sleep from which he cannot be immediately aroused.

On waking later, he may discover that he has bitten his tongue or wet the bed. If convulsions were severe, his muscles may be sore.

★ ★ ★

Q—Has any progress been made toward finding a real cure for epilepsy? I know there are many drugs to control this sickness.

CURE UNLIKELY

A—I agree with you that a cure is desirable. But in the case of epilepsy, as with so many diseases, the discovery of a cure in the strictest sense of the word is unlikely.

Cure always implies removing the cause, and when the cause is some developmental defect, inheritance of predisposing genes — or simply not known — we have to settle for control.

We are lucky to have found some very effective ways to control epileptic seizures in so many victims.

Q—I am taking Dianabol for osteoporosis. What are the side effects?

BUILD UP

A—Methandrostenolone (Dianabol) is given chiefly to build up the body in persons who are underweight, convalescing from a chronic debilitating disease, arthritic or who have osteoporosis.

It should not be taken by persons with liver disease or men with prostatic cancer.

Large doses in women may cause acne, excessive growth of hair on the face, waterlogging, or menstrual irregularity. These clear up when the drug is discontinued.

Charlton Wallace's article in "Bridge Writers' Choice 1964" shows a rubber bridge hand bid by Phillip and Albert Steiner of Cincinnati. The Steiner brothers, with Charles Hall and Richard Wildberg, also of Cincinnati, won the team championship of the United States in 1934 and promptly abandoned duplicate in favor of rubber bridge.

JACOBY

Charlton points out how they use cue bidding to reach a lay down spade slam with only 18 high card points in their combined hands.

Phil's opening spade bid was normal and, after West's two club overcall, Al chose to bid two spades only. He felt sure that the bidding was not going to die at two spades.

East bid three clubs and Phil decided he would lose nothing by cue bidding clubs.

West passed and Al's six high card points began to look up. A cue bid in diamonds seemed appropriate.

By this time Phil was rolling along in high gear. What could be more logical than a heart cue bid? Nothing at all! Phil bid four hearts.

Al saw no reason to fool around any more. He merely bid two spades to start with. Now his brother had cue bid both clubs and hearts. Al jumped to six spades.

Phil studied a while, but after reviewing the bidding and noting that Al's first bid had only been two spades, he passed and settled for the small slam. It was just as well. Seven is unmakable without the ace of trumps.

Invite Public to Execution

SAIGON, Viet Nam (UPI) — The Communist who tried to set a bomb trap for U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara last May will be executed in public shortly despite opposition of the American Embassy.

A high-level spokesman told reporters last night the embassy is "opposed" to the execution being carried out in public.

Air Commodore Nguyen Cao Ky announced the execution plans. He did not specify the mode. Executions in Viet Nam are usually by the guillotine, one of the legacies of French rule.

The condemned man is Nguyen Van Troi, 24. Government security men had caught him wiring a bomb under the Cong Ly Street bridge over which McNamara's car was expected to pass last May.

Police said Troi confessed that he had intended to explode the bomb at the moment the McNamara party was crossing.

SPECIAL COURT

He was tried and convicted by a special military court and condemned to death Aug. 10.

Commodore Ky said the government would "publicly execute" Troi "perhaps this weekend or some time next week."

He said this would be an "example" to other would-be terrorists.

Ky said two other men are expected to be executed at the same time although they have not yet been tried. He said there was no doubt they would be convicted.

These two are Vietnamese Army soldiers who were caught immediately after grenading a market place last week, killing four persons and wounding 27.

Automation Out; Revert to People

LOS ANGELES (AP) — So many companies were turning to automation that people began to wonder where it would all end.

Well, it already has ended at the clothing firm of Phelps-Terkel, which operates six stores in the Los Angeles area. The company decided that its punch-card accounting system had too many holes in it and that automation ought to go.

★ ★ ★

So, with their latest monthly statements, Phelps-Terkel customers received a machine card with this message on the back: "Please fold, bend, mutilate and staple."

And, on the front: "You are holding the last punched card you'll ever receive from Phelps-Terkel. We've tried to make our peace with automation. But it hasn't worked. Ours is just not a machine business.

FORMER METHODS

"Consequently, we are reverting to our slightly archaic yet highly personalized accounting methods. We think you'll like our new-old billing method better. We know we will."

Dave Phelps, firm president, said this bold step backward was applauded by customers. One wrote: "Thank God for people."

★ ★ ★

"We automated a little less than a year ago," Phelps said. "Some people closed their accounts because they didn't feel a business like ours should."

And, Phelps said, there were technical problems.

JANITOR GETS $5,000

"One time," he said, "a janitor got a check for $5,000 for two weeks' work.

"The question was whether a small company like ours would be getting enough out of it to make it worth while."

★ ★ ★

When the decision was made, the store's advertising firm was called on to compose the notice to customers.

"We saw this as an opportunity to appeal to humanness," said Tom Faust, an advertising man.

WANT EXTRA COPIES

"After the cards went out we got a lot of calls from customers. Some wanted extra copies to pass around their offices.

5 Tons—Not a Scratch

SUTTON, England (UPI) — Royal Air Force Senior Aircraftwoman Shirley Fulford, 20, was lying on a highway unhurt right after a motorcylce accident yesterday when a five-ton truck roared over her. All wheels missed her and Miss Fulford got up and returned to her base.

IN RE: ANNUAL REPORT OF BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS COMMITTEE
To the Oakland County Board of Supervisors
Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

In accordance with Section 4 of Rule XII of the By-Laws, your Buildings and Grounds Committee has made its annual inspection of County-owned buildings and grounds and respectfully presents its report in connection with the same.

Your Committee is pleased to report that from the standpoint of maintenance, appearance and cleanliness the buildings and surrounding grounds present a highly satisfactory condition.

The interiors in general are in excellent condition and the completion of the major renovations at the Tuberculosis Sanatorium and Medical Care Facility will fairly well modernize these two units.

The exteriors of many of the older buildings require considerable work to maintain them in a satisfactory manner. A portion of this work is in progress this season.

Major efforts over the past two years by the Grounds Division of the Maintenance Department especially in the development of the Service Center area in terms of new landscaping and modernization of old landscaping, reflect not only in beauty and appearance but in lessened maintenance cost. This is a part of a long range over-all plan of development which will be taking place over the next several years.

In connection with this program, your Committee wishes to commend the many public spirited citizens, including some members of our own Board, for their gifts of trees, shrubbery and equipment. Letters of appreciation have been forwarded to these persons.

The inspection of your Committee this year vividly disclosed the acute need for the County to provide additional quarters for the various departments and institutions of the County and the fact our present building program is not keeping pace with these needs. The Board of Auditors has been forced to reopen No. 1 Lafayette Street for the housing of the Veterans, Cooperative Extension and Planning Departments. It will be necessary for other departments to follow suit in the near future. These temporary moves have in most instances reflected in inconvenience to departmental operations and in increased renovation and operational costs.

By recent action of this Board we are presently engaged in the renovation of the Tuberculosis Sanatorium and Medical Care Facility which will not only modernize these two units but will go a long way toward providing the necessary number of beds for a more comprehensive sub-acute care program. Progress is proceeding in a satisfactory manner at the Medical Care Facility. Recent developments leading to strong possibilities for securing Hill-Burton monies at the Tuberculosis Sanatorium have presently delayed preparation of architectural drawings. This development is being closely followed by your Committee, the Board of Auditors and the County Engineer.

Work on the first units of the Children's Village under our Federal Grant has been started and should, according to present construction schedules, be completed this year.

A current study prepared by the County Engineer and Auditors covering the building program needs of the County over the next 5 years and indicating the need for even more comprehensive planning is now under study by your Committee. A special report on this subject can be expected.

Mr. Chairman, on behalf of the Buildings and Grounds Committee, I move that the foregoing report be received and placed on file.

IN RE: WATER LEVELS OF THE GREAT LAKES AND THE WATER LEVEL OF SAGINAW BAY AND RIVER
To the Oakland County Board of Supervisors
Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

WHEREAS the waters of Saginaw Bay and River and the adjoining waters of Lakes Huron and Michigan are of vital importance not only to the people of Bay County, but to all other communities located on or adjacent to their shores and whereas any great reduction in either quality or quantity of these waters is a direct threat to the future and well-being of its peoples, and

WHEREAS lowering of the water levels of Lakes Huron and Michigan to an all-time low record as of this date is a direct threat to our welfare and economy by the impairment of water supplies, sewage facilities, shipping and commerce, navigational channels, recreational developments, wildlife and many other items vital to our continued way of life and existence, and

WHEREAS it is a well-known fact that the levels of the Great Lakes rise and fall in cycles of high and low water and over a period of time regains a normal level and this would be somewhat true for the future except that man has changed this by altering the flow of water by deepening the shipping channels throughout the Great Lakes to take advantage of the St. Lawrence Seaway's twenty-seven foot draft and further there is a diversion of the waters of Lake Michigan to the Mississippi water shed for the purpose of disposing of sewage wastes which all result in more waters leaving the lakes than nature can replace by precipitation. This abnormal drain of Lakes Huron and Michigan running unchecked will result in a new record low at the bottom of each succeeding cycle, so that conceivably in time there would only be a series of channels between Bay City and Detroit, and

WHEREAS through the joint efforts and cooperation of Canada and the United States the level of Lake Superior, the largest body of fresh water in the world, is regulated as to the amount of water allowed to flow from it to the other Great Lakes and as a result is still well above any record lows, which leads to a conclusion that a similar program might be feasible and practical for Lakes Huron and Michigan as a solution to a problem;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the Oakland County Board of Supervisors approve a study and survey by the joint action of the United States and Canadian Governments, to seek a solution to the control of the levels of the waters of Lakes Huron and Michigan, in the best interest of all concerned by placing regulating devices at certain strategic points in the connecting channels between Lakes Huron and Erie or wherever the study would indicate the best cost versus benefit ratio.

FURTHER RESOLVED that copies of this resolution be sent to all our representatives in the United States Congress and Senate, to the State Association of Supervisors, Governor George Romney, Michigan Department of Conservation, Economic Development and Health, Dow Chemical Company, Wickes Marine Terminal, Defoe Shipbuilding Company, and any other appropriate persons, agencies or organizations who could lend vital assistance to this project of preserving one of the last of our great natural resources, fresh water. (2) If any bonds or other evidence of indebtedness have been issued to finance a project, the petition for which was filed prior to June 6, 1961 in anticipation of the collection of the installment and interest pursuant to the provisions of this chapter."; and

WHEREAS said Drainage Board deems it advisable and necessary to obtain from this Board a resolution consenting to the pledge of the full faith and credit of Oakland County on the share of the aforesaid bonds issued in anticipation of assessments against the City of Madison Heights and the County of Oakland, and

WHEREAS the said drainage project is immediately necessary to protect and preserve the public health and therefor it is in the best interest of the County of Oakland that said bonds be so sold;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE COUNTY OF OAKLAND, MICHIGAN:

1. That pursuant to the authorization provided in Section 526 of Chapter 21 of the Drain Code, the Board of Supervisors of the County of Oakland does hereby irrevocably pledge and agree that in the event either the City of Madison Heights or the County of Oakland fails or neglects to account to the County Treasurer of the County of Oakland for the amount of any installment and interest for the Sharkey Relief Drains, when due, then the amount thereof shall be immediately advanced from county funds, and the County Treasurer is directed to immediately make such advancements to the extent necessary;
2. That in the event that, pursuant to said advancement pledge, the County of Oakland advances out of county funds, all or any part of said installment and interest, it shall be the duty of the County Treasurer, for and on behalf of the County of Oakland, to take all actions and proceedings and pursue all remedies permitted or authorized by law for the reimbursement of such sums so paid.

IN RE: MEMORIAL FOR GEORGE H. BURT
To the Oakland County Board of Supervisors
Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:

On Saturday, May 16, 1964, Mr. George H. Burt passed away at the age of 74, at his home, 955 North Cass Lake Road, Waterford Township.

Mr. Burt had devoted many years of his life to the general welfare of his fellow citizens of Oakland County, starting during the depression years with the Economic Recovery Administration. He subsequently served as the state-appointed member of the Social Welfare Board and Director from its inception in 1939 to 1958, and as Director of the Department of Social Welfare from 1958 until his retirement because of ill health on January 1, 1963.

During these many years of public service, Mr. Burt always had uppermost in mind, the alleviation of want and need of others. He was always willing and eager to help lighten the burden of those fellow citizens less fortunate than he.

A measure of the loss to the County may be gained from the following extract from a local press editorial:

"Our area loses an estimable citizen and a long-time devoted public servant in the death of George H. Burt . . . His passing will be deeply mourned by all who were privileged to know him."

Mr. Chairman, I move that the foregoing memorial be spread upon the minutes of the Board of Supervisors and that the County Clerk be instructed to forward a certified copy thereof to his surviving wife, Mae.

WHEREAS the above mentioned municipalities constitute all of the parties needed to contract with the County for 100 per cent of the cost of the project,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the said construction plans and specifications and estimates of cost and period of usefulness be approved and the County Clerk is hereby authorized to endorse on said plans and specifications and estimates the fact of such approval and return same to the Board of Public Works;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Chairman and Secretary of the Board of Public Works be and they are hereby authorized and directed to execute and deliver on behalf of said County of Oakland, an Agreement to be dated April 15, 1964, between the County of Oakland, the City of Southfield and the Village of Bingham Farms, which reads as follows:

AGREEMENT
EVERGREEN SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM
SOUTHFIELD-ROUGE ARM

THIS AGREEMENT made as of this 15th day of April 1964, by and between the COUNTY OF OAKLAND, a Michigan county corporation (hereinafter called the "county"), by and through its Board of Public Works, party of the first part, and the CITY OF SOUTHFIELD and the VILLAGE OF BINGHAM FARMS, municipal corporations in the County of Oakland (hereinafter called the "municipalities"), parties of the second part.

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS the Oakland County Board of Supervisors by resolution Misc. No. 3269, adopted August 12, 1957, as amended by resolution Misc. No. 3435, adopted October 13, 1958, did approve of establishment of the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System to serve the Evergreen Sewage Disposal District within which district lies part of the City of Southfield; and

WHEREAS the Oakland County Board of Supervisors by resolution Misc. No. 4115, adopted March 6, 1963, did enlarge the Evergreen Sewage Disposal District to include all of the Village of Franklin and all of the Village of Bingham Farms within the area to be served by the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System, and

WHEREAS pursuant to the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System Agreement, dated November 10, 1958, as amended by amendatory agreements dated December 22, 1958 and February 9, 1959, all between the County of Oakland and the Cities of Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Lathrup Village, Troy and Southfield, the Village of Westwood (now Beverly Hills) and the Townships of Bloomfield and Pontiac, municipal corporations in said County of Oakland, the said county, acting through its Department of Public Works, did acquire the original Evergreen Sewage Disposal System and did finance such acquisition by the issuance of bonds in anticipation of payments to be made by said municipal corporations to the county in accordance with the provisions of said agreement, as amended (herein referred to as the "Base Agreement"); and

WHEREAS the Village of Bingham Farms has entered into an agreement with the county, with the approval of the aforesaid municipal corporations who are parties to the Base Agreement, by which the said village agrees to pay its proportionate share of the cost of such acquisition of the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System and of the operation and maintenance thereof in accordance with the terms and provisions of said Base Agreement; and

WHEREAS Act No. 185 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1957, as amended, grants to the board of public works in any county having a Department of Public Works the power to extend any system acquired pursuant thereto, and

WHEREAS it is necessary to extend said sewage disposal system by construction of the so-called Southfield-Rouge Arm (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "Arm") in said City of Southfield under the provisions of Act. No. 185 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1957, as amended, for the purpose of collecting and disposing of sewage originating within that part of the said district located in said municipalties, and to issue bonds to finance such Arm in anticipation of the collection by the county of amounts to become due under this contract between the county and the municipalities, parties hereto, whereby these municipalities agree each to pay a certain sum towards the cost of such Arm; and

WHEREAS under date of June 1, 1962, the county and the City of Southfield entered into an Agreement providing for the construction by the county of an extension to the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System designated Southfield-Rouge Arm—Section 1 and for the payment of the entire cost thereof by the said city which said Section 1 is an integral part of the entire Arm to be constructed pursuant to this agreement and said Act 185, as amended, so that this agreement, when executed and delivered by the parties hereto, will entirely supplant and supersede said Agreement dated June 1, 1962; and

WHEREAS no other municipality in the Evergreen Sewage Disposal District, as enlarged, is to participate at this time in the construction of said Southfield-Rouge Arm, and

WHEREAS in order to issue such bonds, it is necessary that the county and the municipalities, parties hereto, enter into this agreement; and

WHEREAS the Department of Public Works (hereinafter sometimes referred to as the "DPW") has obtained plans, specifications and an estimate of cost for the construction of said Arm, prepared by Spalding, DeDecker & Associates, registered professional engineers, and a map showing the approximate route of said Arm, which estimate of cost is attached hereto as Exhibit A and by this reference made a part hereof, and which map is attached hereto as Exhibit B and by this reference made a part hereof.

THEREFORE IT IS HEREBY AGREED BY AND BETWEEN THE PARTIES HERETO, as follows:

1. The plans and specifications for the Southfield-Rouge Arm as prepared by Spalding, DeDecker & Associates registered professional engineers, are hereby approved and adopted in the form initialed by the parties hereto under the date hereof, and the estimate of cost thereof is approved and adopted in the amount of ?——as set forth on Exhibit A hereto attached. The said Arm shall consist of sewers located approximately as set forth and generally shown on Exhibit B hereto attached. The said plans and specifications and estimate of cost shall be submitted to the county board of supervisors, together with an ordinance or resolution approved by the Oakland County Board of Public Works, providing for the issuance of bonds by the county as hereinafter provided, in an aggregate principal sum not exceeding the amount of the capital cost as hereinafter defined. If such bond ordinance or resolution shall be adopted by said board of supervisors, then the DPW shall proceed to secure bids for the construction of the project, to secure bids for the purchase of the bonds, to award the construction contracts and to issue the bonds, and shall cause the project to be constructed within a reasonable time thereafter.

2. The said Southfield - Rouge Arm (herein sometimes referred to as the "project") is designed for, and shall be used for, the collection and transportation of sanitary sewage only. Said project may be divided into sections by the DPW for the purposes of construction and the letting of construction contracts.

3. Said Arm being an extension of that part of the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System heretofore constructed and being a part of the ultimate county system to serve the Evergreen Sewage Disposal District as enlarged, the provision of paragraphs 3 through 5 and 11 through 18 of the Base Agreement shall continue in full force and effect notwithstanding this agreement. The said Arm is designed so that by proper extensions said Arm will serve the westerly parts of the City of Southfield, located in the Evergreen Sewage Disposal District and the areas in the Village of Bingham Farms, now included in said District, as enlarged. Properties within said city or said village to be served by said Arm shall be connected to the Southfield-Rouge Arm or to the Evergreen Interceptor only upon such terms and conditions as are prescribed by the city or by said village, as may be appropriate, in addition to the terms and conditions prescribed in the Base Agreement. No areas not in said city or village shall be served by or connected to said Arm except by agreement of the parties hereto in writing. The county or the city or village shall not permit the discharge into said Southfield-Rouge Arm of any sewage in violation of the Base Agreement.

4. Each of said municipalities shall pay to the county, to cover the capital cost of the Southfield-Rouge Arm, a sum equal to that produced by applying the following percentages to the capital cost thereof, to-wit:

City of Southfield ——%
Village of Bingham Farms ——%
Total 100.00000%

The term "capital cost" as above used, shall include all items of cost set forth in Exhibit A attached hereto and any changes thereto and any other or additional items of cost, of a similar type or nature, as may be set forth in any revision of Exhibit A agreed to by the parties hereto, incurred by the county in acquiring and constructing the Arm.

5. The amount to be paid by each municipality shall be divided into 30 annual installments numbered in direct order of their maturities. The aggregate amount of each installment as to each municipality and the division thereof between the municipalities are set forth in Exhibit C hereto attached and by this reference made a part hereof. Said installments shall be due in consecutive numerical order on the first day of April in each year, beginning with the year 1966, and all amounts thereof from time to time unpaid, shall bear interest from the date of the bonds to be issued by the county, at the rate of 6 per cent per annum until paid, payable on April 1, 1965, and on the first day of April in each year thereafter. If the amount of interest due on April 1 of any year on unpaid installments, shall be collected by the county in excess of the amount of interest which the county shall be required to pay upon its said bonds prior to the next contract principal installment due date, then any such excess in the amount so paid after deducting the annual fees and expenses connected with the payment of said bonds, shall be credited pro rata to the municipalities in accordance with the several amounts of interest paid by them in such year, which credit shall be applied on the next interest becoming due. If any municipality shall fail to pay any installment or interest when the same becomes due, then the amount thereof shall be subject to a penalty, in addition to interest, of ½ of 1 per cent for each month or fraction thereof that the same remains unpaid after the due date. Each municipality may pay in advance of maturity all or any part of an annual installment by surrendering to the county bonds issued in anticipation of payments to be made under this contract, of a like principal amount maturing in the same calendar year, with all future due interest coupons attached thereto. Accrued interest upon the amount so paid upon any installment, and accrued interest upon the bonds surrendered, shall be adjusted to the date of surrender and any difference shall be paid in cash. All surrendered bonds and coupons shall be canceled.

6. The percentages mentioned in paragraph 4 above shall be computed upon the estimated cost until the actual cost has been determined. If the actual cost shall be less than the estimated cost, then any surplus from the sale of bonds therefor shall be used to purchase such bonds on the open market, and in such event the aggregate installment from the municipalities in the year or in each of the years in which the bonds so purchased mature, shall be reduced by the principal amount of such bonds and each municipality shall be credited in accordance with its percentage as set forth in paragraph 4 hereof. Any bonds so purchased shall be canceled. The estimated cost above referred to shall be that set forth in Exhibit A hereto or as revised prior to the issuance of bonds. If the actual cost shall be greater than the estimated cost, then the additional amount shall be allocated between the municipalities in accordance with the percentages set forth in paragraph 4 hereof, and the several then remaining installments for each municipality shall be increased accordingly.

7. Each municipality does hereby pledge its full faith and credit for the prompt payment of the aforesaid obligations and shall each year levy a tax in an amount which taking into consideration estimated delinquencies in tax collections, will be sufficient for the prompt payment of any amount falling due before the time of the following year's tax collection, unless at the time of making such annual levy there shall be cash on hand (as provided for in paragraph (2), Section 12, of Act No. 185, Public Acts of 1957, as amended) earmarked for the payment of the current obligations for which the tax levy is to be made, in which case the annual tax levy may be reduced by that amount. Funds for which credit may be so taken, may be raised in the manner provided in paragraph (2), Section 12 of said Act 185, Public Acts of 1957, as now existing or hereafter amended.

8. The county shall issue its negotiable bonds to defray the capital cost of said Arm, which bonds shall be secured by the full faith and credit pledges of the several municipalities under this agreement. Said bonds shall be issued pursuant to the provisions of said act and the applicable general statutes of the state where not in conflict with said act.

9. The provisions of this agreement shall not be modified or terminated so as to impair the security of any bonds issued by the county upon the full faith and credit pledges of the municipalities. It is hereby declared that the terms of this agreement insofar as they pertain to the security of any such bonds, shall be deemed to be for the benefit of the holders of said bonds.

10. The City of Southfield consents to the use by the county of the public streets, alleys, lands and rights-of-way in the city for the purpose of constructing, operating and maintaining the Southfield-Rouge Arm and of any improvements, enlargements and extensions thereto. The city and village reaffirm their covenant and warrant that all sanitary sewage originating in their respective units shall be delivered only to the Evergreen Sewage Disposal System, including extensions thereto, for transportation therein and ultimate disposal. Lands (other than highways) owned by or under the jurisdiction of the city or the village or the county, located within the Evergreen Sewage Disposal District, shall be liable, if sanitary sewage emanates therefrom, to the same extent as privately owned lands, to pay the charges for sewage disposal services with respect thereto.

11. This agreement shall become effective upon being approved by the legislative bodies of the municipalities and by the board of public works and board of supervisors of Oakland County and properly executed by the officers of the municipalities and of the board of public works. This contract shall terminate when the Base Agreement terminates. This agreement, when bonds of the county have been issued and sold hereunder, shall entirely supplant and supersede the Agreement dated June 1, 1962, between the county and the City of Southfield pertaining to the Southfield-Rouge Arm—Section 1, and said latter Agreement shall thereupon terminate and be canceled and the entire project therein described shall thereafter be constructed, financed and operated as a part of the project herein described. Any payments made by said city with respect to said Section 1 shall be reimbursed in full to said city out of said bond proceeds.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties hereto have caused this agreement to be executed and delivered by their respective duly authorized officers, all as of the day and year first above written.

NY Whites Plan Vigil on Mayor

The announcement by Jackson Heights Parents and Taxpayers came Thursday in the midst of these developments:

The school system began truancy proceedings against parents whose children have been withdrawn from the public school system to protest transfers to a different school. The group organized private classes for them.

Police at P.S. 121 in South Ozone Park, Queens, a school affected indirectly by the integration program, held back a rush at the school doors by 100 white parents who had been among 300 picketing the school. Two youngsters, transferred to another school, were refused admittance to P.S. 121, their former school.

A phony bomb threat interrupted classes at P.S. 149, the school where violence broke out and 65 parents were arrested Wednesday for trying to continue a pupil sit-in for the third day.

Bernard Kessler, lawyer for the Jackson Heights group, said all chapters of the Parents and Taxpayers Coordinating Council have been asked to join in the vigil at Mayor Robert F. Wagner's official residence, Gracie Mansion, in Manhattan.

He also said that if city building and fire inspectors find reason to close the group's private school in Jackson Heights, the parents will take their children and books to Gracie Mansion for classes on Monday, even though it's Columbus Day, a school holiday.

About 80 pupils were withdrawn from public schools by their parents to protest an integration measure that "pairs" four largely white schools with four nearby schools that were largely Negro. Lower grades attend one school; upper grades the other.

Israel, Syria Shooting

Poll Shows Gains; Paper Supports Party

Latest Signs Favor Wilson's Laborites

LONDON (AP) — Harold Wilson's Labor party chalked up two major plus signs today as Britain's election campaign got more boisterous.

With the voting only six days off, The Economist, a weekly much read in business boardrooms, plumped for Labor as the better choice for the nation's next government.

The Conservative Daily Mail's national opinion poll reported a heavy swing to Labor in a key northern district and commented: "For the Tories the situation looks alarming."

In the 1959 campaign The Economist backed the Conservatives. The paper's circulation is only 70,000, but it is a top-drawer 70,000.

OPINION POLL

The Daily Mail's opinion poll was taken in Doncaster, one of 70 or so marginal districts which the Laborites must win to get control of the 630-seat House of Commons.

Its poll in Doncaster gave Labor 52.4 per cent, the Conservatives 43.5 per cent with 3.8 undecided and 0.3 for an independent candidate.

★ ★ ★

The Mail's last nationwide poll put the Conservatives a slender 0.9 per cent ahead of the Laborites. The Daily Telegraph's Gallup poll gave Labor a 4.5 per cent lead.

In Birmingham, Prime Minister Douglas-Home faced the roughest meeting of his political career. He was booed and jeered for 50 minutes as he doggedly read a speech to a crowd of 10,000.

★ ★ ★

Wilson had trouble at a meeting in Southampton. Police ejected two longshoremen who tried to shout him down. Thereafter the meeting was quiet.

Boy on Bike Aids in Arrest

NEW YORK (UPI)—A butcher boy on a bicycle beat the city's busy rush hour traffic yesterday and assisted in the arrest of a hit-run driver attempting a getaway in a 1964 Cadillac.

Leopold Castillo, witnessed an accident in which a 65-year-old woman was run down and killed. The driver "sped" away, and Castillo gave chase on his bike.

★ ★ ★

Another motorist notified police and more than a half-mile later patrolman Samuel Baken, in a commandeered auto, and Castillo closed in on the suspect.

Arrested and charged with vehicular homicide was Wallace Holman, 31, a hotel bellboy.

Vows to Make Teen Example

Father Grieved Over Car Death of Son, 5

CHICAGO (UPI)—A grieving father promised today to "make an example" of a high school sophomore who admitted driving a stolen car that struck and killed the man's 5-year-old son on the way home from school.

The high school youth, Gary Gately, 15, admitted the incident when he surrendered to Chicago police yesterday.

"I feel terrible about it," police said the youth told them. "I just wish I could tell the parents of the boy how bad I feel."

Roy W. Salecker, father of the dead child, vowed to prosecute Gately. "I'm going to make an example of him and everyone with him. I'm going to prosecute them as accessories.

★ ★ ★

"I don't want anyone else to go through what my wife and I are going through right now."

STRUCK DOWN

Salecker's son, Gary Lee, was struck down in the street in front of his school Monday while on the way home from kindergarten. He was walking with his brother, Eugene, 7.

"Gene was hysterical," Salecker said. "He even ran into a tree on his way home and he was bruised and yelling and he came home screaming his brother had been hit and struck by a car."

Gately, who refused to talk with reporters, told police he was a member of a group of high school boys who stole cars. He said other members of the group gave him $20 so he could leave town.

★ ★ ★

The youth said he drove to O'Neil, Neb., where he telephoned a friend who admitted stealing the car that struck the Salecker child. The friend told Gately to call his father, and the elder Gately flew to Nebraska and brought his boy home.

Tokyo Rains Don't Hinder Final Olympic Preparation

MORE OVER PAGES

TOKYO (AP) — Drenching rains halted over Tokyo and the sun was trying to make its way through clouds Friday as this 10 million plus city seethed with last minute preparations and excitement for its big date with the 18th Olympic Games.

★ ★ ★

The weatherman's latest prediction for the colorful Oct. 10 opening ceremonies, to start in the afternoon, was for cloudy and occasionally fair skies.

Hundreds of housewives in white aprons armed with brooms were sweeping the streets to contribute their bit to give a good impression to the foreign visitors. "That's all we can do," one said.

Black market ticket prices for the opening ceremony at the 80,000 - seat National Stadium had soared to $1,000 on last report. But ticket sales agencies reported that more than 50,000 tickets were left unsold for soccer.

Ranking them by the number of tickets left over, the least popular events seemed to be, next to soccer, boxing, hockey, riding, and cycling.

STILL JUDO TICKETS

The Japanese Organizing Committee now feels it has done everything possible and is sitting back awaiting judgment on whether they have done a good job.

Even the amazing television relay satellite Syncom III is hanging in space somewhere over the equator in the Pacific already and has successfully bounced back and forth TV images from Japan to the United States.

To cover the Olympic Games 927 foreign correspondents have been accredited with the organizing committee.

At the National Stadium, workers Friday set up 350 miscrotelevision sets on the press tables, each covered with a plastic box to protect it from rain. The TV sets will be connected to a closed circuit and will show only the names of participants and results.

Romney Ousts 3 in Guard Scandal

Barry Raps Coexistence; Johnson: 'Won't Sell TVA'

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater returned to California today, charging President Johnson was afraid to stand up to communism and was playing a "dangerous game of coexistence with Russia.

Meanwhile, the President toured Tennessee promising he wouldn't let Goldwater sell any part of the Tennessee Valley Authority. He planned to link up with his wife in New Orleans tonight as the First Lady ended a four-day whistle-stop tour of the South on the Lady Bird special.

Goldwater, in the state where his primary victory last June nailed down the Republican nomination for president, lashed out at the President in a speech prepared for the World Affairs Council in Los Angeles. He said:

"In defense of freedom — and if ever the boundaries of the free world are to be enlarged— there will always be risk.

★ ★ ★

"But I submit that the greater risk in the face of Communist aggression, is to do nothing — still worse, to submit — and worst of all, to seek new and illusory accommodations with an antagonist that has never retreated an inch from a resolute purpose that contemplates the destruction of our world.

RISKS SECURITY

"On all three scores," Goldwater said, "the present administration is playing a dangerous game — filled with risks for American security, and for the hopes of free men everywhere for a just peace."

Goldwater was scheduled to campaign today in Los Angeles, Culver City and San Francisco.

Johnson, in the third day of a six-day campaign trip through 11 states, began the day in Louisville, but made his cracks about the TVA in a speech prepared for Nashville, Tenn.

Goldwater, several weeks ago in Knoxville, Tenn., said he still believed it would be desirable to sell portions of the TVA not directly connected with flood control or hydroelectric power.

"I am not going to sell TVA," said Johnson. "No matter how much they offer—no matter how much they want for it—no matter what names they call it— I'll never sell the TVA.

"In the first place, it doesn't belong to me—it belongs to the people of the upper South," Johnson said. "It belongs to the people of America."

The President said TVA was in danger because "an unsympathetic president in the White House could starve the TVA, pack its board with people who would dismantle it, and undermine its purpose and its usefulness."

LYNDON KNOWS THE ROUTINE—It seems mandatory for a politician seeking high office to kiss and be kissed by as many babies as possible. It helps promote the "father image." President Lyndon Johnson used the well-known practice and grabbed a baby in Indianapolis, Ind., yesterday.

BARRY'S LEARNING FAST—You have to "fight fire with fire," candidate Sen. Barry Goldwater apparently feels, so he gets into the baby-kissing act in El Paso, Tex., yesterday.

See Optimism in GM Talks

DETROIT (AP) — A nationwide strike against General Motors entered its third week today as an optimistic note was sounded for a speedup in solving local plant problems.

United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther told newsmen yesterday he expected "very substantial movement" this weekend in local negotiations.

"It takes a certain amount of time to build up momentum at the local level," Reuther said, "but there is some significant progress being made— and I think that the weekend will really be very important."

Despite Reuther's prediction of a thaw in the negotiations freeze, more than 100 local UAW bargaining units have failed to resolve their differences with individual plant management.

Latest reports showed that only 20 of 130 local units had reached agreements.

GM and the union agreed Monday on national contract terms, but striking workers will not return to their jobs until the bulk of the local demands have been resolved.

The giant automaker had turned out about 285,000 new Chevrolets, Buicks, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles and Cadillacs when the UAW ordered more than a quarter-million workers to strike Sept. 25.

Group Quotas of United Fund Are Revealed

Industrial Target Tops List With $546,500, Two-Thirds of Total

Major division quotas, which comprise the total 1964 United Fund goal of $815,000, were announced officially today by Bruce J. Annett, general campaign chairman.

"The top division quota of $546,500, set for the industrial division, amounts to approximately two-thirds of the entire goal," Annett pointed out.

Jack Brannack, secretary-treasurer of J. L. VanWagoner Agency, heading the commercial division, will be shooting at a quota of $223,642.

Brannack's group consists of educational, professional, chapter plans, small teams and government groups.

The women's division, headed by Mrs. Merrill Petrie, will be responsible for meeting a quota of $31,699 through residential and small business calls in Pontiac, Waterford, Independence and Orion Townships.

"Most industrial and commercial division solicitations are already under way," Annett said. The Women's group will be ready to begin their activities Oct. 13, the official kickoff date.

★ ★ ★

Annett added that in addition to major division goals, $13,659 remains to be met by township solicitations.

ADVANCE GIFT

The advance gift division, under the chairmanship of John A. Riley, advertising director of The Pontiac Press, solicits corporate and major gifts of $100 or more for industrial and commercial divisions totaling $102,581.

Annett announced that early returns of the advance gifts and commercial division units show a promising increase over last year.

"I feel confident that this trend will continue and that we will be able to meet our goal on schedule," he said.

MAJ. GEN. MacDONALD

BRIG. GEN. NEIFERT

LT. COL. CASE

Involves Land, Money, Liquor

LANSING (AP)—A land, money and liquor scandal in the Michigan National Guard was [illegible] today after Gov. Romney dismissed the state's adjutant general and two top officers yesterday.

Romney ordered retirement of Maj. Gen. Ronald D. McDonald, the adjutant general. He removed from active duty Brig. Gen. Carson R. Neifert, quartermaster general, and Lt. Col. Versel Case Jr., the quartermaster's executive officer.

Acting on a report of 11 state law violations and 32 errors in auditing by the Guard, Romney called for a reorganization of the military establishment.

McDonald said he was shocked by his dismissal and asserted, "My conscience is clear."

State Aud. Gen. Billie Farnum reported the irregularities to Romney after an investigation.

★ ★ ★

"It does not appear at this time that the three officers relieved of duty are guilty of criminal actions," Romney said.

NO BASIS

Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan said the attorney general's office "has concluded there is no basis for criminal action."

Maj. Gen. Cecil L. Simmons, president of the State Military Board, said he doubted any courts-martial would result from the probe.

The irregularities disclosed by Farnum extend back to the 1950s, Romney told a news conference.

Among the irregularities, he said:

- About 2,832 state-owned lots in the Camp Grayling area were sold for an average price of $29.
- Land sale proceeds were illegally spent.
- Land transactions were recorded improperly or not at all.
- Armory maintenance funds were diverted illegally for improvements at Camp Grayling, salaries, equipment purchases and even a gift for a retiring general.
- Nearly $300,000 worth of liquor was purchased for Camp Grayling from January 1960 through October 1963 in violation of restrictions limit-

Report Names Elly's Husband

Included in Farnum List of Land Owners

LANSING (AP)—Col. W. Merritt Peterson, U. S. property and fiscal officer for Michigan, his wife, Elly, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, and scores of officers and enlisted men in the Michigan National Guard found the property they bought within the limits of Camp Grayling was the center of a legal controversy today.

★ ★ ★

Peterson, a member of the Army, and his wife were included in Aud. Gen. Billie Farnum's list of owners of the controversial property on the north shore of Lake Margrethe.

The lots, many of them several city blocks from water and some of them cut in half by new state highways, sold for prices ranging from $4.50 to $100 each.

★ ★ ★

The "sale" of the land, Farnum said, was done under terms of the state law which added large tracts of land to the original Hanson military reservation through tax sales in the 1930s.

LAND EXCHANGE

The law authorized the State Military Board to exchange any land within the boundaries of the 139,000 - acre reservation for other lands within its boundaries.

As the land deal was set up, individuals would make a bid on the land with the quartermaster general. If acceptable, the prospective purchaser would make his check payable to Grayling attorney Charles E. Moore.

When a large enough fund was built up, the quartermaster general would present the matter to the board as an exchange of properties of relatively equal value.

With the board's approval of the "exchange," the attorney would purchase land from the second party. Then, in rapid succession, he would transfer the land now in dispute to the second party, the second party would sign the military land back to the attorney, and the attorney would transfer them to the original depositors.

★ ★ ★

"It may take an act of the legislature to clear title for the 'innocent purchasers,'" said Deputy Atty. Gen. Leon Cohan.

Disclosure Is Climax of Long Probe

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Gov. Romney's discharge of three top Michigan National Guard officers yesterday climaxed a long series of investigations that at one time included the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the U.S. District Attorney's office of the western Michigan district, and consideration by a federal grand jury.

The probe eventually went back for disposition by state administrative channels after a U.S. grand jury failed to return an indictment Feb. 3, 1963, in a case involving an unnamed high ranking Michigan National Guard officer who purportedly used federal personnel and property for personal profit.

Although grand jury proceedings are secret and the U.S. attorney and his staff is prohibited on commenting on grand jury cases, McDonald publicly defended the officer against the charges made by other national guard personnel.

The general at the time the case was before the jury, did acknowledge that the officer had used federal property and employes for work on projects in which he had an interest.

Judge: We Know He's Guilty

Free After Admitting Murder

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 42-year-old former mailman who confessed three times to strangling his wife and led police to her buried body has been freed even though the judge said, "We know this man is guilty."

"With a heavy heart," Judge George L. Hart Jr. said yesterday he was directing a U.S. District Court jury to acquit James W. Killough of manslaughter charges. He added, ". . . in fact, it almost makes me physically ill."

The U.S. Court of Appeals ruled all three confessions invalid and Hart said this left the U.S. attorney's office without sufficient evidence to send the case to the jury.

"I think that tonight, felons in the district court can sleep better and the public must have new apprehensions about its safety," he said.

★ ★ ★

Killough's wife disappeared on Oct. 13, 1960. Killough was questioned by police, and after 27 hours led them to her body and signed a confession.

RULED OUT

The first confession was ruled out on grounds that the method of questioning him and the time he was held before he was charged were improper. Two other oral confessions also were barred.

"In this case," Hart said, "defendant on three separate occasions voluntarily confessed of foully killing his wife and throwing her body on a dump like a piece of garbage.

"He led police there. Yet the U.S. Court of Appeals in its wisdom has seen fit to throw the confessions out . . ."

★ ★ ★

"We know the man is guilty," the judge said, "but we sit here blind, deaf and dumb, and we can't admit we know."

U.S. Memo Spurs Talk of U.N. Delay

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Suggestions to postpone the opening of the U.N. General Assembly were heard in U.N. corridors today after the United States called for a showdown over the Soviet Union's refusal to pay its peace-keeping assessments.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson gave notice to Secretary-General U Thant Thursday that when the assembly opens Nov. 10, the United States will demand that the Soviet Union and nine other delinquent nations pay up or lose their votes in the assembly.

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union has hinted it will quit the United Nations if it loses its vote.

The announcement of Stevenson's memorandum to Thant generated talk of postponing the showdown in hopes that the United States and the Soviet Union would work out a compromise.

DECEMBER OPENING

One suggestion was for the assembly to open in December, then adjourn until January.

A diplomat said U.N. officials were considering a two-week postponement, but he expressed doubt there would be one.

Stevenson's memorandum wase made public after Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in Washington that the Soviet refusal to pay any of its $55 million debt affected the constitutional structure of the United Nations.

Although the Soviet Union has paid its assessments for regular operations of the U.N., its refusal to pay anything toward the peace forces in the Congo or the Middle East has put it among 10 nations that are now two years behind in total U.N. dues.

DEPRIVED OF VOTE

The U.S. memorandum noted that under Article 19 of the U.N. Charter, any member two years in arrears shall be deprived of its assembly vote.

The United States said "failure to apply the article to a great power simply because it is a great power would undermine the constitutional integrity of the United Nations."

★ ★ ★

The Soviet Union contends that assessments ordered by the assembly for the two peacekeeping operations are illegal because only the Security Council has the right to initiate and finance such operations.

The U.S. memorandum cited a 1962 opinion by the World Court that the assembly has the right to levy assessments for the peace operations.

Because some members have refused to pay those assessments, the United States said, "the U.N. has a net deficit of $134 million," of which $117 million is owed to 29 countries for troops, supplies and services.

Hinting that the United States had the assembly votes to deprive the Soviet Union of its vote, the memo claimed "it is the overwhelming conviction of the U.N. membership" that the Congo and Middle East assessments should be paid.

Of the 10 countries that are two years behind, Bolivia, Paraguay and Yemen are expected to pay enough to avoid penalty. Hungary can get ahead by paying its assessment for the regular budget assessments. But the Soviet Union and five of its allies—Byelorussia, the Ukraine, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Romania — are expected to be still behind when the assembly starts.

LUCKY PUP—This pup is in good hands. Eighteen-year-old Hollace Utgard, Oakland University freshman, has a special fondness for dogs. The feeling is mutual.

OU Canine Cavorts With Queenly Coed

Have you checked lately? A dog's life might not be so bad after all.

The benefits of being a dog, at least around Oakland University, increased considerably this fall with the addition of Hollace Otgard to the OU campus.

Right now, however, Miss Otgard admits to "trying to become a more feminine female," which she hopes will score points for her in the finals of the Miss York County (Pa.) beauty contest.

The self-acknowledged one-time tomboy will return to Pennsylvania to compete in the two-day finals Oct. 16-17, having already passed the preliminaries in the Miss America-type contest.

Holloce (the "Holly" was abandoned after she discovered three other Holly's at OU) finds beauty-contesting nerve racking "but exciting."

She credits the contest with making her more aware of the importance of manners and good grooming. The pert coed from Hellam, Pa., still likes outdoor sports and sloppy clothing.

Singing will be her talent contribution in the beauty contest, although she has had nine years of piano lessons besides four years of vocal training.

Injuries Kill 2 in County

Hit-Run, Head-On Mishaps Prove Fatal

Injuries suffered in separate Oakland County traffic accidents resulted in the death of a Flint man yesterday and a Sault Ste. Marie man this morning.

Lester A. Webster, 56, of Flint died at 6:05 p.m. in Pontiac General Hospital from injuries suffered in a head-on crash two hours earlier in Springfield Township.

Sheriff's deputies said that Webster's northbound car and a southbound auto driven by Robert Walker, 19, of 1101 Berkley, collided in the northbound lane in front of 9406 Dixie.

Rollin J. Single, 60, of Sault Ste. Marie died at 9:05 a.m. at William Beaumont Hospital from injuries suffered in a hit-run accident Tuesday in Troy.

Single was found unconscious at 1:30 a.m. Tuesday by three Madison Heights boys on Stephenson Highway south of Maple. The boys covered the injured man and summoned police.

★ ★ ★

Admitted to the hospital in critical condition with a fractured skull and broken leg, Single never regained consciousness.

POLICE ALERTED

★ ★ ★

Laboratory tests of light metallic-green paint samples found on Single's clothing indicate that the car that struck him could be one of the following: A 1951 Buick, 1961 Chrysler Imperial, 1958-59-60 Cadillac, 1959 DeSoto or 1959 Buick.

300 to 'Trick or Treat' for U.N. Children's Fund

BIRMINGHAM — Some 300 youngsters again will do their trick or treating for the United Nations Children's Fund.

Plans have been made to conduct the annual UNICEF drive from 2 to 5 p.m. Oct. 25, the Sunday before Halloween.

Young people participating in the event will meet at the First Methodist Church for a short briefing and moment of dedication. They then will canvass homes in assigned areas.

Churches working on the program are the First Baptist, First Methodist, Congregational, First Presbyterian, Franklin Community and St. James Episcopal. Other groups interested in being assigned an area can contact Rev. William Cecil of the First Presbyterian Church.

Last year the young canvassers collected more than $1,000 for UNICEF. The sum provided 25,000 glasses of milk for hungry children and 10,000 shots of penicillin for those who were sick.

LARGEST AGENCY

UNICEF is the world's largest international agency working on behalf of children. It was established in 1946 as a postwar emergency project.

The organization later turned to long-range needs of children in programs of health, disease control, nutrition and social services. It currently is giving assistance to over 500 projects in 116 countries.

Say Viet Planes Strafed Many Civilians; 30 Killed

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Well-informed military sources reported today that Vietnamese Air Force fighters accidentally strafed a large group of civilians just south of Saigon Sept. 27, killing 30 and wounding 20.

The attack was reported to have resulted from intelligence that sampans moving on a river 30 miles southeast of here were carrying Viet Cong troops. This intelligence proved false after an investigation of the casualties.

The report that civilians instead of Viet Cong had been killed came to light in a report from the local province chief. Informants said the Vietnamese Air Force was taking steps to avoid recurrence.

Communist Chinese and North Vietnam radio transmitters have broadcast in the last several days that up to 400 civilians were killed in the incident, which had not been reported in Saigon. Today's report apparently was in answer to the Communist broadcasts.

★

Accidental strafing of civilians by air force planes happens frequently here, but the September incident resulted in unusually high casualties. Friendly troops also are occasionally hit by accident.

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Khanh said today his armed forces could bomb North Viet Nam or Red China; "the only thing is you must do it in the right place and the right time."

"This is an important decision that will involve complications on the international side and also on the national side," Khanh told a news conference. He said his planes could carry one-ton, two-ton and three-ton bombs.

Asked by a Vietnamese newsman whether the war could be pressed against the Viet Cong without U.S. aid, Khanh said:

"Let's not forget that the United States itself received aid from other nations to gain its freedom and I'm sure the United States will continue to help us to preserve our freedom and independence.

★ ★ ★

"Let us not forget that more than 20 nations are now helping us in our fight, not only the United States."

USAF Colonel Said Kidnaped in Venezuela

He was identified as Lt. Col. Michael Smolen, deputy chief of the U.S. mission to the Venezuelan Air Force.

Smolen was whisked away by two men as he left his house enroute to work this morning.

Officials expressed fear it was the work of the FALN (Armed Forces for the National Liberation), the underground terrorist movement which last November kidnaped Lt. Col. James K. Chenault, deputy chief of the U.S. Army mission.

Chamber Chief Talks on Profit

Praises Positions of Both Barry, Johnson

Walter F. Carey, U.S. Chamber of Commerce president, said last night he considers the positions toward business profits of both candidates for president a "good omen."

Carey, 6125 Middle Belt, West Bloomfield Township, expressed his opinion in a speech at the annual meeting of the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce.

He indicated he favored neither President Johnson nor Sen. Barry Goldwater. He spoke on the importance of the profit motive in American business.

Carey said every Washington administration since World War II has understood the importance of business profit.

He said Johnson has shown this through the income tax cut and by "concern over the size of the federal budget and need for economy in the interests of still more tax reduction."

BARRY WANTS CUTS

Goldwater, he said, is "running on a platform that calls for cuts in both taxes and spending, too."

★ ★ ★

"I take it to be a good omen," Carey said, "that both candidates are aware of the old proverb—it takes eats to make the mare go. It takes profits to achieve meaningful prosperity."

ing liquor sales to periods of field training.

● Liquor was sold and consumed in armories in violation of statute.

● Individuals were overpaid and underpaid according to federal pay schedules.

● Improper travel expenses were claimed.

NAMES TWO

Romney named Col. Clarence Schnipke, presently assistant adjutant general, as acting adjutant general, and Col. Leo C. Whitaker, presently chief of staff, 46th Infantry Division, as acting quartermaster general.

He recalled Brig. Gen. Howard Arbury, a member of the military board, to active duty for 30 days to head a military reorganization task force that will recommend reorganization and streamlining of the state's military establishment.

Romney asked the military board to submit proposed legislation for the 1965 legislature and the attorney general to recommend legislation designed to clear up problems relating to the improper property sales.

★ ★ ★

'RENDERED SERVICE'

"Brown rendered a service in bringing this to the attention of the state," Romney said.

"About 75 per cent of the things he alleged turned out to be true."

Farnum said, however, Brown had made fiscal errors and had purchased four of the lots in question.

Gen. Simmons, whose five-member military board unanimously recommended to Romney the three dismissals, did not recommend Brown's reinstatement.

Farnum indicated the land transactions had been the most difficult items to trace and would be the hardest to straighten out.

"The military has placed themselves in a legal entanglement which will have to be resolved by the State Legislature and the attorney general as to to McDonald, who was responsible for its operations, was maintainance and repair of U.S. property charged to the State National Guard.

Some of the projects McDonald admitted at the time that the officer initiated were:

★ ★ ★

But McDonald said none of the acts was improper and the work on the PX equipment "was under the direction of the post exchange board and the commanding general and it was for the use of the troops."

SMALL REPAIR SHOP

The general likened the boat cover incident to a "little repair shop where a man comes in and says, "Can I borrow your tools?" and the fellow says, "Well, sure, Joe, come ahead."

"It's just amazing they are making such an issue of it," McDonald said at the time.

The ice shanty, McDonald said, was not made for any one individual but was used by a number of people and just happened to be stored at the officer's place.

★ ★ ★

"It's improper in the respect that it's not a normal thing that should be done," McDonald was quoted as saying.

present ownership of all land sales and the surplus funds resulting therefrom," Farnum said in his 15-page report to the military board. "This may be very costly and time consuming," he said.

Some 314 lots were deeded in lieu of payment for work performed and services rendered, Farnum said.

Proceeds from the lots totaled $84,480, he added, of which $5,900.30 is still on deposit.

★ ★ ★

Gen. Simmons said he believed most purchasers of the lots did not think anything was wrong with the deal.

PURCHASED NO LOTS

He said Gen. McDonald purchased none of the land. Several of the lots went to Moore for his attorney services, Farnum said.

The auditor general's report said 54 unauthorized capital outlay projects at Camp Grayling cost at least $157,785.

That money, he continued, came improperly from armory funds, federal sources and charges for salaries, wages, equipment and armory maintenance.

★ ★ ★

PROPER PROCEDURES

He told the State Department of Administration to begin work immediately with the military to install proper accounting procedures and practices.

★ ★ ★

The governor said "some of these irregularities were in practice before Gens. McDonald and Neifert and Col. Case assumed their top positions several years ago, and some have begun since that time. They all have been continued for several years.

"The irregularities are serious enough to assure me that the public interest demands they be relieved of their responsibilities."

Not Legal to Sell Land at Grayling

LANSING (UPI) — In 1934 the legislature passed a law that let the State Conservation Department turn over to the Michigan National Guard the Hanson Military Reservation.

★ ★ ★

Under terms of the agreement, the military board was to supervise the land, now known as Camp Grayling, and it could, for the betterment of the guard, trade its properties within the reservation for lands also inside the boundaries that were privately owned.

But the law did not authorize the National Guard to make any outright sale of the land.

Yet, since 1958, an attorney general's opinion to the contrary notwithstanding, the Michigan National Guard has sold land in large chunks and often at very favorable rates to members of the military establishment.

★ ★ ★

The sales were a key factor yesterday in Gov. Romney's decision to clean up the situation by firing State Adjutant General Ronald McDonald, Quartermaster General Carson Neifert and Lt. Col. Versel Case Jr., the quartermaster executive officer.

EXHAUSTIVE AUDIT

According to Aud. Gen. Billie S. Farnum, who said his department's investigation of the case probably constituted the most exhaustive audit ever undertaken in Michigan government, a total of 2,832 state-owned lots were sold and another 314 deeded away in lieu of payments for work and services rendered.

★ ★ ★

The average price of the sold lots was $29 but prices on the properties, which measured 25 feet by 100 feet, ranged from $4.50 to $100.

The policy was apparently begun after the legislature discontinued appropriating funds to acquire new land needed for military purposes.

Reptile Returns to Roost

LONDON (AP) — Pythagoras, the 6½-foot python, returned home last night, but its disappearance is still a mystery.

"I'm convinced that Thag was pinched," said Dr. Rachael Pinney, who was keeping Pythagoras — Thag for short — for a friend. "Most definitely he was not in the house a few hours earlier."

Last night Elizabeth Carrdus, a student who lives in Dr. Pinney's apartment, returned home and found the python sliding along the top of a chest of drawers. She popped him into his heated cage.

"Someone definitely slipped him back into the flat when I was out," said Dr. Pinney.

The python hunt was delayed a day because Dr. Pinney has vowed not to speak on Wednesdays until Britain renounces nuclear weapons.

PYTHON VANISHED

The python disappeared on Wednesday. When Scotland Yard questioned the doctor Wednesday night, she scribbled her answers on a writing tablet. The police decided to pursue the matter more thoroughly with her the next day.

Expect Rochester Council to Set Bond Election Date

ROCHESTER — The Village Council is expected to set a date for a $190,000 bond issue election at its regular meeting Monday.

Dependent upon the election, which will likely take place in December, are funds to cover the cost of clearing 30 acres of the village and preparing for industrial development as an urban renewal project.

Also on the proposed ballot will be a request to amend the village charter so as to exempt urban renewal projects from the limitations of a pro-

The village wants to sell $12,000 worth of land in the project area, which would exceed the $2 per capita maximum specified in the charter.

* * *

PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing Sept. 28 on the issue saw little opposition to the plan, and residents at the hearing were informed that there are two ways of paying for the bond issue without raising taxes.

The area slated for renewal, termed a "blighted" section of the village along east Third Street, is now characterized by substandard dwellings.

Improvements under the project would include regrading of the area, extension of Second Street, relocation and straightening of Paint Creek, new utilities, a new bridge over the creek and a new railroad bridge on Baldwin Street.

* * *

The village's share of the cost is now estimated at $177,000. The Urban Renewal Administration has set aside $535,928 for the project to cover 75 per cent of the cost.

PREPARING PLANS

Urban renewal director Ernest Reschke is submitting final plans to Washington, including requests for changes in some items of the budget.

* * *

The government has allowed lower percentages on their share of the cost for some items, claiming that these items will be of less benefit to the overall project than the village has allowed them.

In some cases, the village will go along with changes made by the URA, according to Reschke, but in others will submit documentation supporting its requests for a greater federal share of the costs.

* * *

The total village share was set at $190,000 to cover contingencies, attorney, consulting and bonding expenses.

WALLS GOING UP — A large crane lifts cement blocks to the second level of a new building being constructed for the Rochester Church of Christ at 127 E. Avon Road. The structure, to be attached to the front of the old one, will house chuch offices, a 500-seat auditorium, nursery and 20 classrooms. A unique, gull-wing roof will crown the $120,000 building, and will be put on sometime during the next week. The congregation expects to be using the structure by Jan. 4.

Church Adding New Facilities

AVON TOWNSHIP — If all goes as planned, the growing congregation of the Rochester Church of Christ at 127 E. Avon Road will be using brand new office, auditorium and classroom facilities by the end of the year.

A new building is being constructed in front of the old one and attached to it. It will accommodate the diversified activities of a congregation which numbers about 40 famalies and an average Sunday attendance of around 300 worshipers.

Once the new building is completed, the church will have new offices, 20 Bible classrooms, "cry" rooms for babies and a nursery, as well as a 500-seat auditorium.

The high roof of the auditorium will merge with the roof of the two-story classroom and office section to give the whole building a two - floor appearance from the outside.

The sides of the roof will be higher than the middle, giving a gull-wing effect.

WILL PLACE ROOF

Continental Church Builders, Inc. of Nashville, Tenn., have put exterior and interior walls in place, and the roof will be put on sometime next week.

Cost of the structure is estimated at about $120,000.

Second floor classrooms will remain unfinished for the time being, in order to stay within this estimate.

* * *

PARKING LOTS

Parking lots will be laid out between the old building and the minister's house, built about two years ago at the back of the 4-acre lot, and also on the east side of the church structures.

* * *

Bonds worth $150,000 were sold to cover construction of the building. They will be retired through the weekly contributions of the congregation.

After Tonight, PCH Sees Better Days

After Pontiac Central's Chiefs wind up the contest with visiting Flint Central tonight, the squad will be ready to take on the 'easy' part of the Saginaw Valley Conference schedule.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs dropped their first three SVC encounters to teams ranked among the top ten in the Class A prep poll.

NONE EASY

There are no soft touches in the group, but the competition could be a little more to the Chiefs' liking.

★ ★ ★

The series between PCH and Flint Central dates back to 1908. Since that opening game, the Indians have gained a 35-11 advantage with three tilts ending in a tie.

All PCH hands are in good physical shape for the game which will get under way at 8 p.m. at Wisner Stadium.

In losing three games, the Chiefs' offense has been almost non-existent. Their lone touchdown came in a 26-7 loss to Saginaw Arthur Hill.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, the defense, which provided but token resistance in the first two outings, perked up against fifth-ranked Midland last week in an 8-0 setback.

TOUGH TEST

The Flint squad has taken two lopsided decisions — 54-0 over Bay City Handy and 27-0 over Saginaw.

"We'll have to stop his running or passing on the rollouts," Dellerba said. "He has a real good arm."

The Chiefs put a good defensive rush on Midland and the Indians may see some of it tonight.

★ ★ ★

The interior of Flint's interior line has been vulnerable to a strong rush, and the Chiefs could keep the game respectable if they keep Lassiter cornered.

Lassiter, however, isn't the Indians' only threat. They have speedy halfback George Hoey, the scoring leader in the SVC with 24 points.

Prep Grid Card Heavy

★ ★ ★

Hopes were high for the Maples as the squad opened the loop season against Hazel Park last week, but the Parkers dampened the outlook with a 21-20 upset.

Now the Maples have to start over.

They play host to Southfield tonight. In other SEMA games, Berkley has a date at Ferndale and Royal Oak Kimball entertains Hazel Park.

Seaholm (2-1) is expected to to get back on the winning trail against Southfield, a team which has one victory in three outings.

LEAGUE GAME

A key tilt is on tap in the Tri-County League with Oxford (0-0) battling Lapeer (0-0-1). Kettering was slated to play Cranbrook this afternoon in a non-conference tilt and Romeo plays at L'Anse Creuse at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

Important games also dot the schedule in the Wayne-Oakland and Oakland A leagues.

Holly (1-1) has a date at Northville (2-0) in the top W-O encounter. Other scraps have Clarkston (0-2) at Milford (2-0), Bloomfield Hills (1-1) at Brighton (0-2) and West Bloomfield (1-1) at Clarenceville (1-1).

In the O-A, Rochester, (1-1) a surprise 26-13 winner over Madison last week, has another rough home encounter with Fitzgerald (2-0) providing the opposition.

★ ★ ★

In other O-A games, Avondale (1-1) travels to Warren Cousino (0-2), Lake Orion (0-2) has a date at Clawson (0-2) and Madison (1-1) entertains Troy (2-0).

Wheels Turn in Grand Prix

International Field Set at Riverside

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Wheels begin to spin Friday in the seventh annual Grand Prix, with an impressive field of internationally known drivers pointing toward the big finale Sunday — the 200-mile road race for sports cars.

★ ★ ★

Cars and drivers went into speed trials for grid positions in the qualifying runs Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Foreign drivers entered include Jimmy Clark from Scotland, England's Jack Brabham, Bruce McLaren and John Surtees and Innes Ireland from Wales.

★ ★ ★

The lap record is 1:31.9, posted last year by Jim Hall of Midland, Tex. The mark has been bettered many times unofficially during recent trials. A recently broken arm will keep Hall out of the race.

PCH, Vikings, PNH Win

Harrier Records Unsoiled

Two cross country unbeaten records remained unsoiled in two wet meets yesterday.

Walled Lake upped its mark to 6-0 with a 26-29 Inter-Lakes victory over Farmington. Pontiac Central's Bill Hollis won his sixth dual meet in as many starts as the Chiefs defeated Flint Northern 21-35 at Beaudette Park in a Saginaw Valley meet.

Pontiac Northern swept past Waterford 19-44 in the other I-L meet.

Joe Watson and John Carawoski of Farmington placed 1-2, but the Vikings grabbed the next four spots to down the tough Falcons. Watson's winning time was 10:31, a new Walled Lake course record.

Hollis led PCH to its fourth win against two losses with a time of 10:31. Steve Narrin of Flint Northern was second followed by PCH's Bob Wiggins, Martin Acosta and Walt Fraser.

Dave Kay of PNH missed the Waterford course record of 11:17 by two seconds, John Meyer of the Skippers was second. Then came, in order, Northern's Bob Burtch, Nick Ochoa, Tim Kaul and Dave Pruitt.

Hills' Teen Top Driver

A Bloomfield Hills teen-ager will try to maintain his lead in the state midget racing car standings in competition Sunday at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club track in Waterford.

★ ★ ★

Leading the pack is Bobbie Schultz Jr., 16, followed by Dennis Foster of Grosse Pointe Woods and Donald Bozak of Waterford.

Competition is limited to drivers 16 years of age and under who drive one-quarter or one-half midget racing cars under sanction of the Michigan Midget Racing Association.

★ ★ ★

Racing will start Sunday at 3 p.m. Drivers will battle over a one-tenth-mile track at speeds ranging from 35 to 40 miles an hour.

Court Outburst in Murder Trial

Accused Objects to Naming of Girlfriend

KALAMAZOO (AP)—A courtroom outburst by Larry Lee Ranes Thursday interrupted the 19-year-old youth's trial for murder in the killing of Plymouth school teacher Gary A. Smock.

Ranes jumped to his feet and shouted "You're not going to read it. Don't read it, Gene," when defense attorney Eugene Field began reading a psychiatrist's report dealing with the Kalamazoo youth's need for money to help support a girlfriend.

"I'm not going to sit down and he's not reading that name," Ranes shouted. His reference was to the name of a girl friend who has been described but not identified in the week-old trial.

EXCUSED JURY

Fox excused the jury of nine women and five men. Field and Ranes used the judge's chambers for a conference and after 15 minutes returned to the courtroom.

Field then obtained a stipulation from prosecuting attorney John L. Schwendener that the girl's name be left out of testimony, and Field continued reading the statement. References to the woman have indicated she is a thrice-married divorcee, some 12 or 13 years older than Ranes, with whom he has associated since he was 14.

The psychiatric report had been prepared by Dr. William A. Decker, clinical director of Kalamazoo State Hospital and the state's first rebuttal witness.

Decker testified Thursday it was his opinion Ranes was sane at the present time and at the time Smock was shot to death May 29. Decker said Ranes knew right from wrong when the killing occurred.

ADMITTED KILLING

Police have testified Ranes admitted killing Smock, a 30-year-old church youth worker, after Ranes hitchhiked a ride with him.

Another psychiatrist testified for the defense Wednesday. Dr. Donald J. Carek of the University of Michigan said he did not believe Ranes to be sane presently or to have been sane at the time of the killing.

Mars Trip Under Study

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Douglas Aircraft Co., under a space agency contract, is studying what equipment 10 men will need on a three-year spaceship roundtrip to Mars between 1975 and 1985.

The study includes determination of the most favorable launching dates for the 300 - billion - mile journey, the amount of payload that will be possible and choice of the proper course.

Under a separate study, Lockheed Aircraft is investigating the type of reentry vehicle which will be needed to return the Mars voyagers safely to earth.

The vehicle must be designed to survive reentry heating of 35,000 Fahrenheit and speed of 44,000 miles an hour.

Hunter, 13, Loses Left Hand in Mishap

MENOMINEE (AP) — A 13-year-old hunter lost his left hand Thursday when, state police said, he was accidentally shot while he and a 12-year-old companion were trying to put a 16-gauge shotgun back into its case. Donald Brix of Wallace was reported in good condition in a Menominee hospital.

Executives Touchy on Profit Criticism

By SAM DAWSON

DAWSON

NEW YORK — Profit time is here again. And as many corporations start to release figures showing increased earnings in the past three months — most of the nation's banks already have — some business executives are getting more touchy about public and government reaction to the record highs.

The administration has suggested that industries with mounting profits might shave prices a little for the consumer's benefit. So far very few have. And when prices are lowered it's usually because of competitive pressures.

Union leaders have pointed to improved earnings as a talking point for higher wage scales and fringe benefits, claiming a larger share of the earnings for labor.

But business spokesmen are stressing that profits still aren't high enough, that the record highs are deceptive, and that industry must have still larger returns if it is to expand and create more jobs.

WANT PRICES RAISED

The argument that the record earnings mislead the public goes this way:

Rising profits reflect to a large extent the growing volumes of production and sales. And these have been boosted by gains in employment and thus in total personal incomes and by the general spread of prosperity throughout the economy. The business leaders argue that everything else has climbed to a record, and profits are merely following suit.

They go further and say that actually in relation to sales and capital investment, profits are lagging.

UNDER 6 PER CENT

For all U.S. corporations the after-tax return on net worth is estimated at under 6 per cent, or about what it has been for the last four years, although over-all business activity has increased notably.

The ratio of profits to sales, called the profit margin, has firmed up this year. But businessmen insist it is still much too low compared with the early postwar years when business was making a larger return and using that for expansion.

Citing the steel industry as an example, Roger M. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel, said this week that the industry's profits, as expressed in dollars, rose 16 per cent in the first half of this year over the 1947-49 period, and employment costs climbed 56 per cent. But profits as percentage of sales came to 6.1 this year, compared with 7 per cent in the 1947-49 period.

One thing that many business executives and many labor leaders have in common is this: dislike for the government's guidelines on wages and prices. The administration wants increases in wages and prices held within the bounds of increases in productivity—unit output per man hour of labor. Neither management nor labor shows much affection for the government's stepping in as a third party in their wage-price decisions.

PROFITS ARE INCENTIVE

As for profits, business leaders contend that the chance to earn profits is the most effective incentive for increased productivity and efficiency. If profits are to be given a bad name, or even controlled by government, much of the incentive to produce better and more goes a-glimmering.

And the business contention is that profits earned by such incentive-sparked efficency are the real hope for greater economic growth.

Q: "My husband is buying stocks like crazy. I know he cannot afford to do this since our income is low and he has made no provision for the future of our 8-year-old son. I can never find his stocks listed anywhere. Please comment on the list enclosed. I guess I'll have to get him to join Gamblers Anonymous." J.S.

A: It is very hard for many men to resist the lure of the low-priced stock or to cease regarding the market as a glorified roulette wheel.

Your husband's shares — with one exception — are not listed anywhere because most of them have very little value. The one exception is Strategic Materials, which is sometimes found in over-the-counter stock list. They are 4 bid and I believe they should be sold.

C-Through Products is 3¾ bid, and perhaps you can persuade your husband to sell this one, too. United Utilities of Florida is 3⅞ bid. On the balance there is either no market or a bid measured in pennies.

Your husband has embarked on a dangerous and, I believe, hopeless quest for easy money. You have my deepest sympathy but I can do no more for you.

★ ★ ★

Q: "Could you please tell me what has happened to Campbell Soup stock? Please answer, for I need help and cannot afford losses." I.M.

A: There is nothing the matter with Campbell Soup shares. The stock split was over-discounted and brought a runup on price which was unwarranted. Earnings in the first six months of 1964 showed a gain, but were somewhat less than had been anticipated.

You own a fine growth issue which has lifted earnings in every year of the past decade and has doubled dividends during that period.

If you truly cannot afford losses, you should never buy stocks, if you will forgive my saying so. I believe, however, that the decline here is temporary, and I definitely advise you to hold your shares.

Mr. Spear cannot answer all mail personally but will answer all questions possible in his column.

China A-Blast Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist China apparently has begun a diplomatic campaign to prepare the way for early explosion of a nuclear test bomb and assure maximum political impact in Africa and Asia.

★ ★ ★

Diplomatic officials say that Indonesian authorities who are close to the Chinese Communists, have been told that the first Red Chinese atomic device will be exploded sometime after the end of October.

The implication of this and other reports which have been published in Paris is that the Chinese Communist officials are now in effect, confirming Secretary of State Dean Rusk's recent forecast of an early Communist Chinese nuclear detonation.

Rusk said Sept. 29 that "Such an explosion might occur in the near future." His statement is known to have been based on late intelligence information, including high altitude photographs, which showed construction of large and advanced atomic installations on the Chinese mainland.

★ ★ ★

The United States also is understood to have had evidence that the Chinese were in the final stage of preparation for testing.

EASY DETECTION

U. S. officials believe the first Chinese explosion will be an atmospheric shot easily detectable by American devices which record earth shocks, sound waves, and the level of radioactive fallout in the air at great distances from a test site.

Speculation is that the test will be held in China's remote Sinkiang Province.

Businessmen Earning Less Than Dolphin

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP) —Haig, Port Elizabeth's performing dolphin, earns about $5,600 a month — more than most businessmen in this coastal industrial city.

She has made about $86,000—free of entertainment tax—and has been seen by about 350,000 people since her debut early last year, according to officials at the Port Elizabeth Oceanarium. An average of 600 people watch her daily.

Now people overseas will have a chance to see her on film. An advertising film for a soft drink company has been made of her going through her paces.

Cancer Study Project Said Gamble by Sabin

MONTREAL (AP) — Dr. Albert Sabin, developer of the oral vaccine, says his new project, cancer research, "is a gamble — I can't say where we will end up."

"We must obtain the basic knowledge of how cancer works before we can develop a cure," Sabin told a news conference at Montreal, where he spoke at fund - raising dinner of the Jewish appeal. Sabin does his work at the University of Cincinnati.
