Senate Defeats New Action on Literacy Tests

Mansfield's Attempt to Limit Debate Fails Virtually Killing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today beat down for a second time a motion to limit debate on the administration's voting literacy test bill. The action probably will result in the pigeonholing for this session of Congress of a measure to establish a sixth grade education as qualification to vote in federal elections.

The Senate last week rejected a similar cloture motion by a vote of 53-47. But it voted 64-35 then against shelving the bill in a maneuver calculated to permit members to express their support for a measure they knew wasn't going to be passed.

Just before the vote today, Sen. Francis Case, R-S.D., served notice he will seek to call for a substitute for the literacy test bill a proposed constitutional amendment to accomplish the same purpose.

He said many members who favor the purpose of the legislation have honest doubts about the constitutionality of proceeding by passage of a law.

The bill's advocates contend that its passage by Congress would go a long way toward elimination of discrimination against Negro voters. Its critics called the proposal an unconstitutional invasion of the right of states to fix the qualifications for voters.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told reporters he would move, after failure of the cloture motion, to take up other business.

Mansfield indicated he would ask the Senate to consider a measure dealing with textile agreements.

11th N-Explosion Set Off by U.S. in Pacific Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 11th blast of the U.S. nuclear test series in the atmosphere was set off today near Christmas Island in the Pacific.

The announcement from the Atomic Energy Commission and the Defense Department said it was another shot in the intermediate yield range, and the device was dropped from an airplane.

That has been true of all but two of the shots so far. Intermediate range covers a blast equivalent to between 20,000 and 1 million tons of TNT.

The time of the shot was given as about 10:30 a. m. Pontiac time. AEC Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg says indications are that the United States is getting the information it seeks in the Pacific tests.

To Vote on Constitution

LANSING (AP) — The Democratic State Central Committee will meet soon to decide whether to promote or reject the proposed new state constitution. Democratic State Chairman Joe Collins said today.

Creator of 'Nancy' Gets Cartoon Award

ERNE BUSHMILLER

Nancy, the lovable mop-headed imp appearing regularly in The Pontiac Press funnies, has won her creator the National Cartoonists Society award for "the best humor strip of the year."

A handsome plaque confirming the judgment by fellow cartoonists was presented to Ernie Bushmiller at the society's recent dinner meeting in New York City.

Bushmiller is a recognized master of the "gag-a-day" comic. He originally created bright-eyed little Nancy as a supporting character in his successful "Fritz Ritz" strip. Nancy and her young friend Sluggo soon stole the scene from her aunt Fritz.

To satisfy readers, leading roles were switched and the strip title was changed to Nancy.

U.S. Diplomats Try to Get Laos Factions to Talk

But Neither Royalists
Nor Rebels Willing for Get-Together

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — American diplomats strove today to bring the warring factions in Laos to the conference table but the feuding princes so far could not agree on conditions for resumption of peace talks.

Reliable sources said the U.S. diplomatic effort, backed up by an open show of military might, was making little headway toward getting pro-Communist forces back behind the cease-fire line.

Prince Boum Oum's royal government called Prince Souvanna Phouma, the neutralist leader vacationing in Paris, to return home for peace talks.

Souvanna agreed, but only if Boum Oum sent a delegation to the rebel headquarters in the Plain des Jarres for talks with his aides to draft a preliminary agreement.

U.S. ambassadors in Vientiane and Paris served as intermediaries in delivering the exchanges. Neither the government nor Prince Souvanna showed any inclination to modify their demands.

NO WORD OF ADVANCES

There was no word of further advances by the pro-Communist who overran government outposts in the northwest and sent 2,000 royal troops fleeing across the Mekong River to neighboring Thailand.

Diplomats in touch with rebel headquarters in Khang Khay said leaders of the Red-leaning Pathet Lao warned that the sooner talks get under way toward setting up a coalition government the better.

After driving 100 miles beyond the cease-fire line in a week, the rebels reportedly threatened an all-out offensive unless a political settlement is reached.

BELIEVED OFF THAILAND — A Marine helicopter lands on the flight deck of the aircraft carrier Valley Forge during training maneuvers in the Atlantic last year. The Valley Forge is presumed to be part of a vanguard of the 7th Fleet moving into position off Thailand.

The carrier is thought to be carrying a complement of 2,000 Marines with helicopters capable of landing them ashore.

To Get New Aid for Defense Against Reds

U.S. Aide Gets Consent
Though No Commitment
Made Here Yet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thailand has agreed to admit U.S. combat Marines from the 7th Fleet and will get further U.S. aid to shore up her anti-Communist defenses, sources said today. Informants said Gen. Paul D. Harkins, U.S. military advisory commander in South Viet Nam, conferred with Thai authorities yesterday and was given consent for the Marine landings.

Meanwhile, though, Pentagon sources said no decision has been made on if and when the Marine battalion landing team would go into Thailand.

They said the United States still has to make an independent decision on whether to commit that force.

It was indicated that about 1,000 of the Marines would be landed. If the U.S. order was issued, and that these would be used to augment the 1,000 men of the 27th Army Infantry Regiment's battle group which is expected to move up to the Mekong River area in northeast Thailand shortly.

The sources said the U.S. troops could be expected "to take physical military action" to prevent Communist forces from penetrating Thailand, if the Thai insist on the SEATO treaty or a bilateral agreement with the United States and Thailand.

The army battle group is being sent to an area along the Mekong River which the sources said appear to lie in the path of advancing pro-Communist Pathet Lao forces in Laos.

They said "as of now there has been no decision to put U.S. troops in Laos."

FOCUS ON MEKONG

The general defense line would be the Mekong River which forms much of the boundary between Laos and Thailand.

Van Allen Belt Is 'Fatal' After 24-Hour Period

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An almost certain death awaits the astronaut who flies for more than 24 hours in parts of the earth-circling Van Allen radiation belt.

The warning about the lethal dangers of the wide ring of radiation came from its discoverer, Dr. James A. Van Allen, during a closed meeting of a House appropriations subcommittee.

The testimony was made public today.

The University of Iowa professor told the congressmen that radiation readings from high-flying satellites indicated that the part of the belt stretching from 2,000 to about 40,000 miles above the earth was "uninhabitable."

"Anyone flying in this inner region for as much as a day would very likely have a fatal dose of radiation in any present type spacecraft," he said.

Van Allen stressed, however, that the ring was not an absolute barrier to sending a man to space explorers to the moon.

"I do not wish to leave the impression that the radiation belt constitutes a barrier in any absolute sense to extending our space flight capability and our space flight program," he said.

MOON POSSIBLE

Van Allen said men could travel to the moon because they would spend "only a few hours in the intense radiation area and during that time the cumulative dosage is not severe."

But he indicated that exposure of even a few hours in the radiation ring would be heavier than would be tolerated for persons working with X-ray machines or nuclear reactors.

Safety Checks Set Wednesday

C. of C. Is Sponsoring
Free Auto Inspection
Through Saturday

Pontiac area motorists will get their first free vehicle safety check in two years this week as the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce begins operating vehicle safety check lanes Wednesday morning.

There will be three safety check lanes operating in Pontiac through Saturday.

On W. Huron Street at Crofoot school, on Orchard Lake Avenue just west of Beaudette Park and on Montclair Street at Lincoln Junior High School.

Only the W. Huron lane will be open weekdays from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. All lanes will be open evenings from 5 p. m. until dark and all day Saturday.

The check includes brakes, horn, muffler, front and rear lights, turn signals, rear view mirror and windshield wipers. All those passing inspection will get safety check stickers for their windshields.

Officials emphasize there is no obligation on the part of motorists to have faulty equipment repaired.

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — Milovan Djilas, former vice president of Yugoslavia, was convicted today of disclosing state secrets and sentenced to 9 years and 9 months of strict imprisonment.

Should We Bomb Red Bases in China in an Asian War?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Serious deterioration of the situation in Laos could revive an old argument over whether to strike at supply bases inside Communist China.

Reliable informants said today some U.S. military leaders in the Pacific suggested recently that thought be given to hitting at bases in south China's Yunnan Province, believed to be a source of supply for pro-Communist forces across the border in Laos.

The idea reportedly was advanced as one of a range of measures that conceivably could be taken if the United States should decide to commit itself completely in the struggle to keep the Communists from overrunning Southeast Asia.

It was understood U.S. civilian leaders were not very receptive to the suggestion.

Military officials who spoke of hitting at bases inside Red China reportedly voiced a belief it would not bring on direct Chinese military intervention in Southeast Asia and thus a possible major war with the United States.

The dispute over whether the Communists should be allowed a "privileged sanctuary" in China dates back to the Korean conflict when President Harry S. Truman fired Gen. Douglas MacArthur from command in the Far East.

MacArthur was sacked mainly because he persistently advocated publicly that he be allowed to bomb Red bases in Manchuria.

He did so in the face of U.S. policy to keep the war inside Korea, even though masses of Communist Chinese troops had poured into North Korea to fight U.S. and U.N. forces.

In more recent times, some military men privately have indicated a feeling that the United States ought to consider military action against North Viet Nam, from which the Communist guerrilla war against the pro-Western government of South Viet Nam is being directed, supplied and reinforced.

It was not clear at what point U.S. military officers now proposing consideration of direct action against Red Chinese bases in Yunnan would want to take such action—in event the pro-Communist were about to engulf all of Laos, if pro-Western Thai troops into Laos, which is landlocked, has few good roads and poor airfields.

U.S. officials have said there is no evidence any Chinese Communists so far have made an appearance in Laos.

Few American military men favor the idea of sending U.S. troops into Laos, which is landlocked, has few good roads and poor airfields.

AT DEDICATION — Everybody was pleased with this "swap" that took place Saturday at Michigan State University Oakland. Sebastian S. Kresge, (right) founder of the Kresge store chain and creator of the Kresge Foundation, got a line portrait of himself and MSUO got a new $1.3-million library. Presenting the drawing during dedication ceremonies are (from left) C. Allen Harlan, Chancellor Dr. D. B. Varner, Samuel Kresge and his father. The library was built by Kresge Foundation funds.

Kresge Attends Ceremonies

The $1.3-million Kresge Library, which overlooks sprawling Michigan State University Oakland from the highest point on campus, was dedicated to the university Saturday.

The three-story brick structure, dominant feature of the MSUO campus and focal point of the 300-foot-long main in the academic area, was presented by Sebastian S. Kresge.

The 64-year-old founder of the Kresge store chain and creator of the Kresge Foundation which provided the money for the open building, made a trip from Florida especially for the dedication ceremony.

He was introduced by James C. Zeder, vice president of the MSUO Foundation.

"Mr. Kresge and MSUO have two things in common," Zeder said. "Both believe in good hard work and fundamental principles."

He cited as examples, Kresge's position as one of the nation's most important and successful businessmen and MSUO's rigorous liberal arts curriculum, high standards and "concentration on the things that contribute to learning."

The modern building was accepted by C. Allen Harlan, member of the MSUO Board of Trustees. Harlan is also chairman of a new committee called Friends of the Kresge Library, established to raise funds for book purchases.

Presiding at the ceremony was Chancellor Dr. D. B. Varner. A brief talk on the library was given by David Wilder, university librarian. The dedication was preceded by an open house and tour of the new building and followed by a luncheon at the Oakland Center.

The air-conditioned library has a capacity of 200,000 volumes. It has open stacks so that students may go directly to the shelves themselves and get the books they want.

It now accommodates 1,200 students and can be enlarged to three times its present size in future years.

IRS Officials to Look at Sites Offered by City

The Internal Revenue Service announced today it will send a delegation of officials to Pontiac Wednesday to look at sites offered by the city for a proposed IRS data processing center.

The announcement came from Douglas Barnes, director of the IRS regional office in Chicago. Barnes said officials would meet with city commissioners and administrators at city hall at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday.

"We will show them the 44-acre site on Orchard Lake Avenue across from Beaudette Park and any alternate sites they may wish to see," said City Manager Robert A. Stierer. "We also plan to discuss terms of offering the city-owned land to the IRS here."

A luncheon will be held following talks. The Orchard Lake site has been officially offered to the IRS for its $2-million center. Other sites have just been mentioned as possible alternatives.

Officials will also be inspecting sites offered in Port Huron and Detroit. The proposed building is to be located somewhere in the Detroit Metropolitan area.

"WILL DO EVERYTHING:" "We will do everything we can to convince IRS officials that Pontiac is the best site," Stierer said today.

Pontiac has several advantages over Port Huron in that it is more centrally located, easily accessible via freeways and closer to Detroit, Stierer said.

Temperatures during the next five days will average about seven degrees above a normal high of 69 and a normal low of 48. Beginning about Wednesday warmer weather is expected as the weekend nears, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau report.

Precipitation will total one half to one inch in showers possibly tonight, Wednesday, and again next weekend.

Showers (Maybe) Late Today

Here comes summer — or the likes of it—for today is the warmest so far this year in the Pontiac vicinity.

Following this afternoon's 90-degree temperature, there is a chance for late afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

Cooler weather expected late tonight with a low 54 will precede Tuesday's mild 70 high.

Sukarno Escapes Assassination

SINGAPORE (AP)—Indonesian President Sukarno reportedly escaped an attempt on his life today when an assassin tried to gun him down at an outdoor prayer meeting in Jakarta.

Jakarta Radio said Sukarno escaped unharmed, but that five other persons, including two government officials, were injured slightly. The broadcast said police had seized the gunman who reportedly was acting on orders of the Darul Islam group of Moslem fanatics.

NO OFFICIAL WORD
Because today is an Indonesian national holiday, communications were irregular between Jakarta and the outside world. It was believed news reports of the shooting were being held up by censorship.

J. Muzhar, information officer

As a result, security forces took "certain measures," the broadcast went on.

"A person suddenly attacked and fired shots at President Sukarno," it said. "With God's protection, the president was not harmed by the attack."

The attacker was arrested immediately and investigation is now under way.

WOUNDED
As a result of the incident, five persons were slightly injured.

The Indonesian embassy in Tokyo said the injured were Zainul Arifin, speaker of Indonesia's house of representatives; K. H. Idris Chaid, deputy speaker of the consultative council; Assistant Police Inspector I. Dajit and Police Brigadier Sukarno, Sarag's bodyguards, and Mohammed Nur, a palace official.

The gunman was not identified. The embassy said that "after the above incident, the situation was calm, and the prayer service was carried out as it ought to be."

The Darul Islam sect launched a rebellion against the government in 1953, two years after the 1,000 East Indian islands and their 90 million people were granted sovereignty by The Netherlands.

The group has fought the Indonesian government ever since in an attempt to set up a Moslem state. Government military action has reduced the sect to scattered bandit groups that carry on terrorism in rural areas.

Area Man Dies; Wife Driving

Milford Engineer Killed as Car Crashes Into Culvert, Overtakes

A 31-year-old engineer was fatally injured early yesterday when a car driven by his wife crashed into a culvert and overturned less than two miles from their Milford home.

Kenneth M. Brause, 745 Knight Drive, died at 4 p.m.

Sunday in Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital after 1½ hours after the accident on Commerce Road near Dun Lake Road in Milford Township.

His wife Caroline, 35, suffered only minor injuries. She was treated and released at the hospital.

Mrs. Brause, who was driving east toward their home in Milford, said she hit a bump in the road and lost control of the car.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, who estimated the car was traveling about 55 miles per hour, were unable to find any defects in the road when they investigated the mishap.

The Brauses are the parents of one child, Jeffrey. The victim's body is at the Richardson-Bird Funeral Home, Milford.

K in Bulgaria; May Formulate Peace Policy

SOFIA, Bulgaria (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev flew into Bulgaria today on a "friendship mission" which may produce a new peace policy for the traditionally troubled Balkans.

Informed observers believed Khrushchev planned to deal with the political situation in southeastern Europe, perhaps as a counter to the recent Atlantic Pact meeting in Athens.

Before leaving Moscow, Khrushchev spent five hours yesterday at the country house with his son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the government organ Izvestia, was entering a presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger, U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson also was a guest.

An official announcement said the occasion was "completely social," except for a 10-minute "business talk" between Khrushchev and Thompson. There was no indication of the matters they discussed.

U.S. Marine Landing Okayed by Thailand

circumstances might arise under which U.S. forces would find themselves in part of northern Laos where the Thai boundary falls away from the Mekong River.

It was stressed that alerts issued to U.S. forces in the United States and the Pacific were of a precautionary nature.

Sources said the elements in the United States were put on notice that they might be called on to provide forces to back up units in the Pacific if Adm. Harris D. Felt, the U.S. commander there, decided he needed replacements.

The move involving the Marines was ordered by President Kennedy as part of his broad strategy to bolster anti-Communist defenses in Southeast Asia.

It also was aimed at getting U.S. troops into position for quick intervention in Laos itself should the need for such action be necessary and desirable.

In rapid developments:

2,000 MARINES
The Marine detachment of 2,000 combat-ready men moved into Southeast Asian waters as part of a 71st Fleet aircraft carrier task force.

Other elements of the powerful 7th Fleet were steaming toward the crisis area under orders issued Saturday by Kennedy.

There are differences and divergences. But he insisted the rift was not serious.

De Gaulle's determination to make France an atomic power is at the heart of the quarrel.

The stern old general is convinced that France must have its own nuclear striking force to remain a first-rate power. He fears that it was would break out, the United States would be too busy with its own defense to worry about Europe.

U.S. policy, recently reaffirmed by President Kennedy, is against any proliferation of atomic weapons or any expansion in the number of atomic powers.

WON'T HELP
The United States can do nothing to stop France from building its own atomic bomb, but it is resolved to do nothing to help.

That applies also to the planes and missiles to deliver the warheads.

The application of this policy has been piling to France. De Gaulle has been too proud and too cautious to ask for any American secrets that are guarded by the McMahon Act. But he would like to have material and information that only Britain, now gets from the Americans.

REJECTED OFFER
France recently offered to buy from the United States a gaseous diffusion plant for manufacture of an atomic submarine, missile guidance systems and parts and propellants. The American answer was a flat no.

OK Contempt Conviction
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today conviction of Maurice A. Hutchinson, president of the Carpenters Brotherhood, on a charge of contempt of Congress for refusing to answer questions asked by the Senate Racketeering Investigative Committee.

Germany's Ulbricht Visits Czech President
VIENNA (UPI) — East Germany's Communist party and government boss Walter Ulbricht arrived in Prague today for an official state visit aimed at "an intensification of the friendly relations between our two countries."

He was greeted at Prague's Ruzyn airport by Czech President and first party secretary Antonin Novotny.

FINF BY PRODUCTS
The answer is still no, however, for such items as miniaturized electronic computers. The result is likely to be that France will develop on her own in missile guidance systems and then be able to benefit commercially from the experience. The go-it-alone attitude developed in program already has given France a long lead on its European rivals on many specialized products.

France now is spending about $500 million a year to develop its nuclear strike force. This will enable by 1965 to have the same plants are expected to be ready for service. France already has triggered five acknowledged nuclear explosions at its Sahara testing ground.

Some American officials have said that, with its limited budget, France can never hope for anything but a pen stock atomic missile, which might be useless. France recognizes that its effort is dwarfed by the programs in the United States and Russia. But it may still have most destructive force on the Western European continent.

The Day in Birmingham

4 Candidates to Contend for 2 School Board Posts

BIRMINGHAM — Four candidates will vie for the two expiring Birmingham Board of Education posts in the June 11 annual school election while two candidates will seek one position open on the Birmingham Hills school board.

Birmingham candidates for the two-year terms are Richard P. Bagnard, incumbent secretary; Earl A. Welley, 2404 Pembroke St.

Malcolm Lovell, incumbent trustee whose term is expiring, will not seek another term since he is moving out of the school district.

In Bloomfield Hills, David W. Lee, incumbent president, will be challenged for the one-year term by Bernard E. Sullivan of 3655 Forest Hill Road.

Voters in the Bloomfield Hills school district also will be asked to decide two proposals.

Approval is being sought to renew a 7.6-mill tax levy for operations for 15 years and increase taxes by three mills, mainly for salary improvements.

Adopting to set $100,000 in bonds to finance the construction of a swimming pool in the district, probably at the senior high school, is also being requested.

Approval of the bond issue would mean a tax increase of about one-third of a mill for 28 years, according to Supt. Eugene L. Johnson.

He said that the actual tax increase, including the hike needed to pay off the bonds, would only be about 2.8 mills because the school board is planning to reduce bond indebtedness by approximately one-fourth of a mill.

NLRB to Move Against 2 Dailies

Formal Complaint to Be Issued Against Detroit Papers After Strike

DETROIT (AP) — The National Labor Relations Board regional office in Detroit said today it would issue a formal complaint against the city's two daily newspapers charging them with unfair labor practices.

The charges, brought by a group of craft unions, stem from the suspension of publication by the Detroit News during a teamster strike at the Detroit Free Press last month.

Thomas Roumell, NLRB regional director, said the final draft of the complaint was being prepared for delivery today. The action follows failure of the Detroit Publishers Association, which represents the two dailies, to arrive at a voluntary settlement.

In a preliminary ruling, Roumell had asked the News to answer by last Friday the charges of an "apparent violation."

Robert Butts, DNPA executive secretary, said there would be no voluntary settlement forthcoming. "We will not act until we see the formal complaint," Butts said.

Roumell said the complaint stems not only from the recent month-long strike and so-called "lockout" but from a short trip last February at the Free Press.

Thunderstorms Sweep State

Rains Blow North of This Area and Out Into Lake Huron

By The Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms swept across the state Sunday from Pontiac in Oceana County to Saginaw.

The storm claimed the life of a fisherman and several cottages were set afire by lightning on the Lake Michigan shore.

The Detroit Weather Bureau said today there were no major damage or injuries were reported.

In a highly localized storm in Oceana County, Harvey Nourie, 59, of Purchase, was knocked into the water by lightning as he fished on Hart Lake near Pentwater.

His companion, Lawrence White, 50, of Kalamazoo, told sheriff's deputies that Nourie was standing in their 14-foot outboard, pulling in the anchor, when the bolt struck.

North of Hart, near Pentwater, lightning struck a cottage at North Beach, traveled through electrical wires to a second cottage and burst into the ground.

Smart Guy Finds Way Out of Cutting Grass This Year

BY DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—According to my analyst I should talk about this as much as possible for only in that way can I rid myself of the fears and anxieties that have been troubling me this spring.

I understand now what was causing my neurosis and I am able to face up to it and I am able to cut it without shame. The turning point came during either my third or fourth session on the couch.

That was when my analyst discovered that I was in the advanced state of "digitaria singulinalphobia," which is another way of saying "fear of crabgrass."

He emphasized that my change from a wholesome, clean-living suburbanite to a pitiful, quivering mound of inhibitions and repressions came about from reading garden supply advertisements.

CREEPY UP

It began creeping up on me early last March while there was still frost on the ground. I picked up a newspaper and there on one of the inside pages was an advertisement for "Crab-Out."

"Don't let crabgrass ruin your lawn this summer," it admonished. "End all of your crabgrass worries with just one application of Crab-Out."

Soon "Crab-Out" was joined by ads for "Krab-Klout," "Krab-Kill," "Crab-Quik," "Crab-Down," "Crab-End," "Krab-Kleen," and assorted other chemical preparations.

All bespoke the hideous consequences that would ensue if I didn't get out there and spread some of the stuff on my lawn before the crabgrass got big enough to strangle and choke the "desirable" grass.

Some two nights after the first ad appeared, I woke up in the middle of the night in a cold sweat. There in the dark stillness I could hear, plain as plain, crabgrass growing in the lawn outside.

TERRIFYING

It made a kind of crunching noise and it was terrifying. A few nights later I was awakened again. This time I could hear muffled cries of "help" from the desirable grass.

But here's the worst of it: Even in the broad daylight I didn't have the courage to venture onto the lawn and render assistance.

I was seized by a suspicion that it was a trap and that the real aim of the crabgrass was to strangle me.

I told my wife about the plot the first time she suggested that the grass needed cutting. If I put even one foot off the sidewalk, I said, it would get me.

Since then, she has been doing the grass cutting and I've been visiting the analyst. And, like I said, I'm a lot better now.

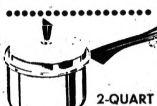

By next spring, I may have nerve enough to run the mower again myself.

U.S. Delegate in Geneva Outlines Plan for Space

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States called on the 17-nation disarmament conference today to keep outer space free of nuclear weapons.

U. S. Delegate Charles C. Stelle outlined a three-point American plan for ensuring that space satellites and other vehicles fired into the atmosphere do not contain nuclear weapons. He spoke to the conference's 36th plenary session.

"We must have agreement to ensure that outer space becomes an impetus to man's peaceful progress and not a battleground of the future," Stelle said.

He said future space launching should be controlled by a network of ground bases, or possibly space-born instruments to check against unreported launchings.

MUST BE INSPECTED
Prelaunch inspections by some international body should be used to check against the arming of spacecrafts with nuclear weapons, he added, and advance notification of launchings given to permit such inspection.

The U. S. proposals were contained in the draft outline of a disarmament treaty presented to the conference on April 18. Today was the first time they had been spelled out in detail.

Stelle said the four basic principles of the American plan were:

- Prohibition of the orbiting of weapons of mass destruction.
- Peaceful cooperation in space.
- Notification of prelaunch inspection.

—Control of the production of boosters for space vehicles.

"We now have the opportunity to extend the peaceful development to the more important region of outer space," Stelle said. The major powers agreed two years ago that the whole Antarctic continent should be a nuclear free zone.

Cubans Say Pirates Fired on Patrol Boat

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A Havana telecast said a "pirate ship" fired upon a Cuban navy patrol boat off Cuba's north coast, killing three crewmen and wounding five.

The telecast from CMQ, the government station, said the attacking vessel hurried away after the assault Sunday.

There was no identification of the assailant ship. The patrol boat 5228 was hit off Santa Cruz del Norte, a fishing port 40 miles east of Havana, CMQ said. The telecast was monitored in Key West.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro made no reference to an attack on the patrol boat in his speech to students attending a Mothers Day observance at an air force base near Havana.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months. In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of medicine, anesthesia or strapping of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

5 Millionth '61 Car

New Auto Mark Hit

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry, with sales running at near record levels, produced its five millionth 1962 model car today.

The milestone came eight weeks earlier than in 1961. The five millionth 1961 model was not assembled until July 7.

Ward's Automotive Reports said that by the end of this month 1962 model output will surpass the 5,400,000 cars made in the entire 1961 model year, not concluded until early August.

The industry is shooting for 630,000 assemblies in May, which would be a high for the year and the second best for the month on record.

The best previous month this year was January when 628,583 cars rolled off the assembly lines.

Fatima Pilgrims Pray for Peace in the World

FATIMA, Portugal (AP)—More than 100,000 pilgrims held night-long prayers and joined Sunday in processions and masses for the "conversion" of Russia and for peace in the world and in Portugal's overseas territories.

In Lisbon, Oporto, Coimbra and other Portuguese cities, there were similar processions and prayers.

It was 45 years ago, on this then-bare mountainside of the Serra da Iva, that three little shepherd boys claimed the Virgin Mary appeared to urge them to tell everyone to pray for the conversion of Russia and world peace.

Let's Stop Degrading Michigan's Name

Earlier in the week, the Voice of the People had a letter asking whether Michigan was the worst-run state in the Union.

The Pontiac Press doesn't think this is true, but no fair-minded individual anywhere can deny that we create this impression across the Nation because of our unending failures and inability to agree upon a constructive program. Certainly our internal bickering may place us first in the Nation's estimation — even if our own Michigan citizens don't agree.

We've had very unfavorable publicity from coast to coast. No other state has suffered under a governor who has been heralded far and wide as the cause of an unhappy economic climate.

Currently, the GOP blames the Swainson Democrats and the Democrats blame the Senate Republicans. Perhaps both are right. This much is true: unless the current bloodletting ceases and ceases now, we're going to heighten the national impression of our legislative ineptness.

This newspaper opposed an income tax for an extended period of years believing this was a Federal prerogative. However, in sheer weariness at the Michigan muddle and several years of inconclusive action, we throw up both hands in abject surrender.

Let's restore order. Let's balance our books and build instead of continuing to drag Michigan's name through the mud by weeks, months and years of temporizing. Let's DO SOMETHING.

Guest Editorial British Papers Discuss Spain, Portugal

From our British Information Services, we find an interesting discussion of the unrest in Spain and Portugal.

The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) refers to the clandestine Communist parties, whose actual organization is small but whose role could be decisive.

This is at once the strength and the weakness of both regimes — more particularly of Dr. SALAZAR'S. The overwhelming majority of people does not want to change its present dictatorship for a Red one as it could be this concession to democracy is liable to open the door to communism. If Dr. SALAZAR made way for a liberal government, nothing is more likely than that this would be speedily overwhelmed by one of the extreme left. The paper comments:

"The problem of preserving the benefits of this ruler has given is complicated by uncertainty about the succession. General Franco has provided for the restoration of monarchy to Spain, but the identity of the uncrowned king is unsure. Dr. Salazar, whatever he may have in mind, has never declared it."

The Daily Mail (Conservative) says that to write off General FRANCO and Dr. SALAZAR as tyrants detested by the people is not the whole truth. FRANCO is infinitely preferable to any other civil war. SALAZAR gave firm government to a country which was dissolving in communism. Both have served their countries well, but perhaps too long. The Daily Mail declares:

"Sheer boredom, the intellectual and social tedium arising from unchanging rule, a muted opposition and a dumb press bears down upon the young, who must protest or burst. This, added to Portugal's troubles in Angola, and the Gos and labor conditions in Spain, is undoubtedly the reason for small but significant signs of unrest. It is time these two ancient and cultured peoples, who have contributed so much to our common civilization, began to play their full part in the world today."

The Man About Town column will resume June 1.

Washington

Economic Dream

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Establishment of a $1.8 billion international fund for the stabilization of export markets will be the big business before the 10th annual meeting of the United Nations Commission on Commodity Trade in Rome, May 14-20. W. Michael Blumenthal, deputy assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, will be chief U.S. delegate.

If this complicated enterprise can be set up, it could have tremendous influence on the success of not only the Alliance for Progress in the Western Hemisphere, but also for President Kennedy's foreign trade expansion program and all free world international trading.

There is as yet no blueprint to show how this business would work, if it will work at all. It is still a gleam in the eye of a lot of farsighted people who recognize the economic dislocations caused in many countries by fluctuating commodity supplies and prices.

International coffee trade offers a prime example. A coffee study group of six importing and six exporting country representatives which has been meeting in Washington for several months has just requested U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant to call a formal conference of all coffee-producing and consuming countries in New York, beginning July 9.

The idea of commodity market stabilization was included in the Alliance for Progress Charter signed in Punta del Este, Uruguay, last August. Its final section called for analyzing "the proposal for establishing an international fund for the stabilization of export receipts" and for preparing "a draft plan for the creation of a mechanism for compensatory financing" in fluctuating markets.

For an oversimplified example of how it might work, take the case of Colombia, a principal coffee exporter. Every time the New York price of coffee drops one cent a pound, Colombia's coffee producers lose $7.5 million.

Colombia now has an Alliance for Progress development plan which will cost roughly $800 million a year. Any year there is a bad crop or even a bumper crop which drives down prices, Colombia doesn't have the foreign exchange to carry on development work. All it can do is cut back.

The alternative would be to set up an export stabilization fund, to which all coffee-producing countries would contribute. Any time an exporting country had a bad crop year and a shortage of foreign exchange, it could draw on this reserve by a temporary loan which would tide it over. This would enable the country to carry on its development plan.

This was the situation which Jorge Mejia Palacio, Colombia's minister of finance, described at the opening of the Inter-American Development Board of Governors meeting in Buenos Aires last month. And the most important decision taken at Buenos Aires was to explore possibilities for stabilizing commodity markets.

Teodoro Moscoso, United States coordinator for the Alliance for Progress, has the idea that any plan worked out by the IADB should be limited to stabilizing exports so that funds can be guaranteed for carrying on development programs.

The Rome U.N. meeting will of course tackle the problem on a worldwide scale. Export stabilization would then function something like the International Monetary Fund.

Merrily We Roll Along

David Lawrence Says:

Need Plan to Encourage Business

WASHINGTON—There's a crying need for "productivity" of tax rates. The United States government needs money with which to balance its budget. It can cut some of its expenses, of course, and postpone some of its spending programs. But this will not be a sufficient stimulus.

What is most important is a program to encourage business operations so as to generate more tax money—more receipts from corporations and individuals.

To put the national economy back on its feet is the most urgent problem before the country today. This cannot be done if government policy is used in a restrictive and frustrating way.

It can be achieved only if the federal government recognizes clearly the facts of fiscal life — that the Treasury is a 32 cent partner today in corporate profits and must act as a cooperative instead of an uncooperative partner.

Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, Democrat, has a realistic concept of what's going on. He is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and a man who speaks his mind frankly and authoritatively. In a speech just delivered to the Delaware Bankers Association, he says:

"This nation has been on a deficit financing basis for 25 of the past 31 years. There was a $4-billion deficit last year, there will be a $7-billion-to-$10-billion deficit this year, and there will be another deficit of $2-billion-to-$3-billion in the coming fiscal year."

"We are told that the fiscal situation will be all right if we balance the federal budget over a cycle of years, and that this will be taken care of automatically if the federal government will only spend enough to raise the gross national product high enough to produce the necessary revenue."

"NEVER HAS WORKED" "This is evil fiction. It never has worked. It is not working now, and I can prove it. It will not work in the future, and it is dangerous to rely on it. A prudent government would balance its budget by stopping nonessential expenditure. This is not being done."

The hard fact is that continuing deficits ultimately end in bankruptcy. When a nation goes bankrupt, its assets are not taken over and sold to satisfy its debts. Its money becomes worthless; its economy disintegrates;

The Country Parson

"I guess you can find out more about a man's religion by buying a used car from him than by hearing him pray."

Its form of government fails and changes. The Virginia senator points out, too, that previous federal deficits have been "a prime factor in inflation which continues to reduce the value of the dollar."

What this means is that since 1939 the dollar has gone down from 100 cents to 61 cents as of March of this year. Sen. Byrd says he suspects that, when the figures come in, it will be found that the dollar has gone down further in April and May.

Sen. Byrd says that, if the balance-of-payments deficit grows more serious and American gold flows to other countries in larger and larger quantities, there will be talk of "diluting the dollar's gold base or negotiating on our policy of offering the gold-or-dollar option in foreign payments."

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Like It or Not, Old Sol Speeds Up Facial Aging

Sun baskers have to face the fact that their skin ages prematurely as the result of exposure, and overexposure, to the ultraviolet rays of Old Sol.

Compare the color and texture of your protected skin areas, however, with the color and texture of the exposed areas, such as the neck, "dowager's hump," liver spots, skin transparency, dryness of skin, itching skin, chin blemishes and a mustache for the ladies, a receding forehead if not total baldness for the men?

If this proof on your own body is not sufficient, compare the relatively youthful appearance of a city dweller's face with the weather-beaten features of a farmer or sailor of the same age who has actually had to expose himself to the elements.

What of other unpleasant features of the aging skin, such as creases, wrinkles, bags under the eyes, crow's feet, sagging facial contours, double chin, rooster's neck, "dowager's hump," liver spots, skin transparency, dryness of skin, itching skin, chin blemishes and a mustache for the ladies, a receding forehead if not total baldness for the men?

Well, other than avoidance of excessive exposure to sunlight, agencies such as the American Medical Association and Food and Drug Administration have nothing to suggest with respect to the prevention of these changes. Nor do they have any high regard for cosmetic applications that purport to delay or reverse the aging process.

Makers claimed the devices would revitalize and restore firmness to facial muscles, firm sagging facial contours, tone flabby muscles, stimulate facial circulation, remove creases of skin and the "dowager's hump" and generally improve skin texture.

NOTHING BUT TENDLE

These products did nothing more than impart to the skin a tingling sensation by means of wet pads connected to a small power transformer.

Nor did the skin specialists that attended the symposium of the medical association provide more comfort for the cosmetics.

"Cosmetic applications might lubricate the dry, senile skin, but, regardless of content, they have little, if any, effect on wrinkling," states the Journal of the American Medical Association in an editorial. However, the editorial concludes sign payments." He emphasizes that "we dare not consider action in either direction while the dollar is under fire of domestic deficits and declining value."

It is obvious that the cause of the trouble is not deficits by themselves but failure to embark on a program that looks toward a rapid growth of tax receipts.

This can be done not merely by revising Treasury regulations on depreciation so as to encourage plant expansion and modernization of equipment but by a general change in the attitude of the administration and its advisers toward business as a whole. There must be a dynamic means of generating a flow of profits so that investors will find it attractive to participate in America's enterprises, both here and abroad.

Voice of the People:

'Writer Must Not Realize Many Teen-Agers Good'

As a Pontiac area teen-ager, a letter signed "Retired" demands rebuttal. Wherever the proposed mail would be beneficial, I am not qualified to say. In the last sentence the writer blandly implies all teen-agers are second-rate or inferior citizens.

In the boy who moves his lawn, delivers his papers or runs next door in this category? What about scouts who work with younger children, student nurse's assistants and teen-age sales clerks? Are the students who are studying to be teachers, doctors and social workers unknown to "Retired"? How do you think of the boy who has stopped to change a tire or be of some other aid to a stranger's need when they see his attitude?

Does "Retired" not know any teen-agers whom he would exclude from his implication?

Sociologists believe one's character develops from his concept of other's thoughts toward him. In other words, if you tell him he is bad, he will become bad.

'Make Car Inspection Mandatory in State'

Your editorial on auto safety checks suggests to me the tax boys in Lansing could capitalize on this. They're always trying to dream up new ways to bring our state out of the hole.

Let's not make the auto inspection mandatory twice each year with a fee of $1 for each inspection? Windshield checks could be issued to indicate that that inspection has been satisfactory.

Violators could be assessed a nominal fine if caught operating an uninspected vehicle.

Why doesn't the legislature do something sensible that would improve driving safety and bring in a sizable chunk?

The old Hodges House Hotel is one of the biggest assets the city has. It can be made charming and practical and it can set a pace which will put new life into the area.

Put a hitching rail in front and a horse to it now and then so kids can give it humps of sugar. Get rid of the pale green paint from the exterior to make it cheerful and outstanding. Refurbish the interior in the spirit of a hundred or more years ago.

Hodges House should be one of Pontiac's attractions for tourists. Save this hotel. The past is worth preserving because it enriches life.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Use Psychic Trigger to Relax

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE M-413: Susie Q., aged 20, is a very attractive girl.

"Dr. Crane," her mother began, "when Susie was about 15, she was very irritable."

"One of her friends then gave her a black, woolly Scottie dog."

"Now we have it stored away in a clothes closet. But when Susie is nervous or disturbed at bedtime, she'll still ask me where she can find that Scottie."

"It is bedraggled and badly frayed, for the other children have played with it, but Susie seems to grow relaxed and sleep more soundly whenever she has her Scottie in her arms at bedtime. Why?"

PSYCHIC TRIGGERS

Babies also get used to a relaxed, happy mood when they nurse on a full bottle of warm milk. Mothers usually wrap the bottle in a flannel diaper or wool blanket to keep it from sliding off the baby's chest.

So the baby thus grows accustomed to the flannel or wool cloth against its chest.

In later years, long after it has been weaned from the bottle, it may still tend to hold a piece of soft cloth against its chest as a means to relaxation and sound asleep.

Susie uses this toy wool dog

The Almanac

By United Press International
Today is Monday, May 13, the 134th day of the year with 231 to follow in 1963.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Mercury.

On this day in history: In 1803, explorers Lewis and Clark set out on their expedition to the Pacific Coast. In 1935, Filipinos ratified their constitution in a special election.

In 1940, Nazi airplanes bombed the Dutch city of Rotterdam, killing some 20,000 persons.

In 1948, the state of Israel was born as Britain ended her 31-year rule in Palestine.

A thought for the day: British statesman Arthur James Balfour said, "Biography should be written by an acute enemy."

for that same purpose. It is a psychic trigger that releases tension and thus acts as a pre-sleep ritual.

Millions of people, now mature adults, still resort to similar child-hood triggers to gain proper relaxation at bedtime.

Some say their prayers to obtain a state of release from the tension of the workday world. This is an ideal pre-sleep ritual that everybody might well imitate.

Alas, a lot of neurotic folks attempt to doze themselves off with tranquillizers. They swallow sleeping pills of a chemical sort to drift off into slumber.

But such chemicals impose an extra load upon your kidneys, liver and generally your heart, for they must be destroyed and eliminated from your blood.

So it is far better to cultivate psychic triggers for sound sleep, since they don't tax your liver or kidneys or heart.

BREAK IN SLEEP

If you now have insomnia, just realize that it doesn't kill anybody. So stop fighting it, for the more you grow agitated by your own sleeplessness, the faster your heart beats. Thus, your heart must work harder.

The main purpose of sleep is just to get you into a horizontal plane, for that lowers your blood pressure and also slows down your pulse rate, thereby resting your heart.

And your heart gains almost as much benefit, even if you are still awake, as you do when you lie in the horizontal plane.

So don't fight insomnia. Shrug it off. Take some hot milk

North Central Patronage Up

Outbound Patronage 33
for April; Mail and
Freight Volume Rises

North Central Airlines patronage continued its steady climb upward last month at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

There were 33 passengers on outbound flights in April compared to 27 the month before, according to J. O. Edwards, station manager.

Substantial gains also were shown in the volume of mail and freight carried by outbound planes.

NCA outbound flights carried 519 pounds of air mail in April compared to 299 in March, and 652 pounds of air express compared to 251 in March.

However, air freight dropped from 2,123 pounds in March to 1,405 last month.

Inbound flights carried 18 passengers last month compared to 27 in March. Inbound air mail was up to 656 pounds in April from 381 in March. Air express totaled 161 pounds last month compared to only three pounds the month before.

Air freight on inbound flights was 2,924 pounds in April. The March total was 3,657 pounds.

100 Area Teens to Attend Romney Rally May 19

About 100 teen-agers from Oakland County are expected to take part in a political rally and parade of high school students in Lansing for Republican gubernatorial candidate George Romney.

The rally, set from 10 a.m. to noon May 19, will be staged by more than 1,000 teen-agers from counties across the state.

Oakland teens are being lined up for the affair by Republican women's groups and county headquarters personnel at 744 S. Adams Road, Birmingham.

Students will make a mile-long march to the state capital building from Lansing's Eastern High School. Romney will address the group.

Oxford Man on Bond Over Larceny Charge

A former Oxford funeral director and two-term president of the village's chamber of commerce, John L. Reid, has been charged with larceny by conversion by a Lake Orion gas station operator.

Reid, 27, 39 W. Burdick St., Oxford, is free on $250 bond, pending examination at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday before Orion Township Justice of the Peace Helmer G. Stansback.

The complainant, Orley Groesbeck, 511 Bellevue St., Lake Orion, charges he a warrant that he paid Reid $120 for telephone book covers which he never received.

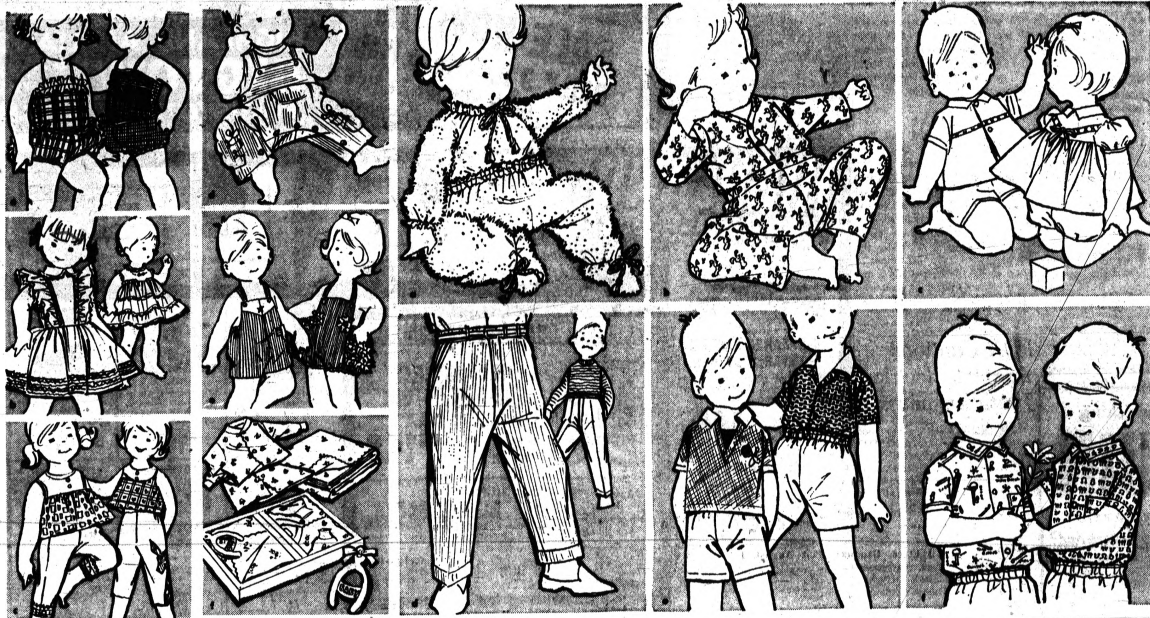

The telephone book covers were to be used for advertising purposes, Groesbeck said.

Primaries Set in Maryland, Pennsylvania, Nebraska

By The Associated Press
Primary elections will be held in Maryland, Pennsylvania and Nebraska Tuesday, ending a campaign that ranged from dull to blistering.

The hottest scrap has been in Maryland where the race for the nation was enlivened by a tape recording alleging a $50,000 campaign contribution in return for some city judgeships.

Overtures of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's administration are present in the Pennsylvania and Nebraska elections.

SEASON SEEN 'IN'
In Nebraska, Fred Seaton, former Republican senator and secretary of the interior in the Eisenhower cabinet, appears sure to win the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

In Pennsylvania, Eisenhower's home state, Congressman William Scranton is running for the GOP gubernatorial nomination with Eisenhower's approval.

In all, voters will be choosing nominees for governorships in all three states, Senate seats in Maryland and Pennsylvania, and 38 House seats.

Oregon voters decide Friday on candidates for governor, senator and four House seats.

SEEK NOMINATIONS
Seven Democrats seek the Maryland gubernatorial nomination, but the race has narrowed down to three men—Gov. J. Millard Tawes, paving contractor George Mahoney of Baltimore and David Hume, Texas-born lawyer and son-in-law of financier Cyrus Eaton of Cleveland.

Mahoney has bid for governor or senator in every primary since 1950 and has lost every time, sometimes by razor thin margins. In the 1950 primary he polled the most popular votes, but former Gov. Preston J. Lane won the nomination on the basis of county unit votes, similar to electoral college votes.

Fgel was added to an already warm campaign when Baltimore political leader Jack Pollack played for newsmen a tape recording he allegedly made of a 1958 meeting with Tawes, whom he supported. According to the tape, he gave Tawes $5,000 for election expenses in return for a promise that Tawes would name Pollack's choices to Baltimore city judgeships.

Tawes in a televised reply last week conceded that he discussed patronage with Pollack in 1958. But he said, the politico's demands grew too great and in 1959, after he took office, he broke with Pollack.

Pollack announced his support of Mahoney in the current campaign.

SEEKING POST
Democrats also will choose a senatorial nominee with U.S. Rep. Daniel B. Brewster and State Sen. Blair Lee III the front-runners.

Two former congressmen apparently have the major Maryland Republican nominations well in hand. Frank Small Jr. seeks the gubernatorial nod and Edward T. Miller is running for the Senate seat held by Sen. John Marshall Butler, who is retiring.

BLAST TO DEM
Seaton has ignored his two Nebraska GOP foes to concentrate his fire on Gov. Frank Keim, only elected Democrat in the normally Republican statehouse.

Morrison, on the other hand, is faced with a split in Democratic party leadership and a determined bid for the nomination by Mrs.

Filipino Delays Visit to States

President Is Sad Over U.S. Rejection of War Damage Bill

MANILA (AP)—President Diosdado Macapagal has postponed his state visit to the United States indefinitely because of the U.S. House of Representatives rejection of a long-pending Philippine war damage bill.

Macapagal said in a nationwide radio television address tonight: "While reiterating my gratitude for the invitation that the American President so kindly extended to me, it is with deep regret that I am constrained to postpone the date of the visit."

He put off the visit—scheduled for next month—until such time as "circumstances will permit me to go on a state visit, which would be most pleasant, because it would be acceptable to our people."

Macapagal explained that "the feeling of resentment among our people and the attitude of the Congress of the United States negate the atmosphere of good will upon which my visit to the United States was predicated."

"I feel that our people would never understand how, under the circumstances at this time, I could go to the United States and dwell on the subject of good will. At this present moment, the word will sound empty."

FDA Cautions Against Electric Toothbrushes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has warned purchasers of Vibra Dent electric toothbrushes that the devices are capable of transmitting severe or even fatal electric shock to the user if dropped in water.

The FDA said it had seized 224 of the toothbrushes May 8 in New Orleans. But it said that some 50,000 Vibra Dent electrical toothbrushes and gum massagers, distributed since last February by the Chase Manufacturing Co., of New York City, are in commercial channels. It said steps were being taken to remove the devices from the market.

The FDA said in a statement that the possibility of shock was due to motor and cord units that were not sealed.

The device was described as a vibrator about the size and shape of an electric razor. The toothbrush attachments and the finger-shaped gum massager fit individually into a shaft extending from one end of the vibrator.

Ralph G. Brooks, widow of the Sparran, State Grange master, in the GOP gubernatorial primary. If it was young and vigorous, Scott entered the race, with Eisenhower's support, to head off another candidate, Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside. Then he and Woodside both withdrew in favor of Scott's choice, Scranton.

Former Philadelphia Mayor Richardson Dilworth is expected to whip two other candidates in the bid for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Congressman James E. Van Zandt, Republican, and Sen. Joseph S. Clark, Democrat, have no primary opposition for nominations to Clark's Senate seat.

A Stinker Either Way

If You Don't Gossip, You're Repressed

BY PHYLIS BAYTELLE
NEW YORK — I learned today that I am an unbalanced personality.

That's not all. I also have "diffused frustrations," and you can't imagine how bad those can be. They lead to my family and my job, but pay alcoholism, stomach ulcers, high blood pressure and neurosis.

The fact that I appear happy and rather calm on the surface has nothing to do with it; I am rigid-minded and repressed. I love that no never mind: I dislike the entire human race, it seems, myself included.

What makes me such a stinker? I don't like to gossip. I don't even like to hear gossip from other people. And according to "Science Digest," which this month quotes numbers of mental and medical authorities on the matter, gossips in America are a small and emotionally troubled minority.

To wit: "People who as a matter of principle never allow themselves to gossip tend to be rigid-minded, repressed personalities and not well-balanced emotionally," claims a University of Southern California psychiatrist Dr. Charlotte Buhler.

"They are not really close to anyone, and as a rule are suspicious and distrustful of others."

On the other hand, "the most well-balanced individuals are those who LIKE to gossip and thus benefit from the emotional release it affords."

This emotional release is, according to a psychoanalyst, quite a tangible feeling: "Most people hesitate to express frankly their feelings about another person directly to his face. Instead, they temporarily repress those feelings — and then express them later to a confidant."

"This is why women, who have to repress more, use . . . gossip more freely than men, who in our society, are more apt to be allowed to say what they think."

He concludes that "gossip is an instrument of free expression and free communication, which forms an integral part of our democratic way of life."

This may be true, but I'd hate to try to explain it to the schoolboy who rids himself of repressions by swearing about his teacher, and then gets his mouth washed out with soap.

The trouble with gossip, even honest and unembellished gossip (which is hard to hear), is that it leads inevitably to the passing of judgment on the behavior of persons who are not present to defend or explain themselves. And if that is an integral part of our democratic way of life, disintegrate me.

I read these arguments in favor of story-swapping while waiting in the office of my doctor (not a psychiatrist, by the way.) After my annual check-up, he said I was fine. No no-gossip ulcers, heart strain or high blood pressure. Not even a rigid mind, far as he could tell, or an overt hatred for the human race.

Of course, what does the doctor know? He's one of those fellows too busy to have any desire to listen to gossip. Neurotic from stethoscope to toe.

Birds do not usually begin incubating their eggs until the full complement has been laid. Otherwise the resulting young would be of different ages and sizes, and the larger ones would get all the food.

Soph Represents MSUO in Science Competition

A Pontiac sophomore will represent Michigan State University Oakland later this month in the Midwestern region finals of a national scientific competition sponsored by the Chemical Rubber Co. of Cleveland, Ohio.

David R. Blank of 1133 Berkeley Ave. qualified for the contest when he recently won MSUO's second annual Freshman Chemistry Award.

Missing Child Returns Happily on Horseback

SANTA CRUZ, CALIF. (AP) — Barbara Andlove's adventure of being lost overnight in Big Basin State Park ended happily Sunday in a horseback ride with a sheriff.

James returned her to park headquarters.

Barbara disappeared Saturday afternoon while hiking in the park with her mother and older brothers and sisters.

Personality Stories Touch Home

BY BOB CONSIDINE
NEW YORK — As one who has caught countless planes by a whisker, and then asked the stewardess if I was on the right one as it thundered irrevocably into the sky, my sympathetic understanding goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood.

The Woods, who are from Brit-ain, had a bit of trouble leaving it last week. They arrived here aboard the Queen Elizabeth clutching American airlines tick-ets to Texas and Pan American World Airways tickets for their re-turn to Britain a couple of weeks hence.

You may know the rest: They went to Miami, stepped on what they assumed was their Texas-bound plane, and were carried back to London. Wrong tickets, alas.

Pan Am put them up overnight in London, then flew them back here—their third crossing of the Atlantic in the course of their short trip—and American finally deposited them safely in Dallas.

It's a wonder it doesn't happen more often. Planes look pretty much alike in this jet age and the ebb and flow of passengers streaming through a single gate—but headed for different parts of the land or the world—can get mighty confusing.

Few years ago a Puerto Rican who spoke no English boarded a plane at Idlewild pre-sumably headed for San Juan.

He possessed neither hat nor coat, though it was the fall of the year and chilly in New York. But he had no worries; soon he'd be in rainy San Juan.

An hour later, high over the At-lantic, the stewardess came to his seat and asked him if he'd have a drink. The man didn't drink. He thought she was ask-ing him his name.

"Juan Martin," he said shy-ly.

She brought him a martini. He assumed it was all part of some crazy American ritual, so he drank it. It bit him like a bolt of light-ning. After a bit he saw the same girl, this time slightly blurred, and beckoned to her. He wanted to say that he felt, somehow, that something was wrong. But how to say it? First, he felt, he must identify himself.

"I," he said, touching his chest, "Juan Martin."

"Certainly," she said, and winked off to get him another.

They carried him off the plane at Gander, still sobbing his name. It was freezing. Poor stiff nearly croaked before they finally got him on a plane back to New York and on to San Juan.

The plot of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is given away quite early in the Roman scandal which pro-mises to be a big hit on Broadway.

An actor kicks Zero Mostel in the seat of the pants. Spoiled the ending, for me.

Much of a similar nature hap-pens thereafter in this Hellzapop-pin. But it can be awfully funny. Better go soon, however. Mr. Mostel, a magnificent clown, is called upon to go through physical ordeals nightly which would cave in Rafter Johnson. Mr. Mostel is in shape, true, but it is the shape of a barrel.

Tomorrow night at Carnegie Hall a great band will change lead-ers in mid-stream.

Long 'Peace' Ends; Reds Shell Matsu
TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists shelled the Matsu Islands Sunday for the first time in almost 19 months, the Nationalist Defense Ministry reported.

The ministry said the Commu-nists fired 22 rounds at the little islands at the northern end of the Formosa Strait.

It did not disclose whether the defenders replied to the attack, but the Nationalist policy had been to ignore minor shellings.

The ministry said the Commu-nists also carried out one of their routine attacks on the Quemoy Islands, hitting them with 44 shells.

Makes 1st Appearance Since Syrian Escape
CAIRO (UPI) — Former U.A.R. Vice President Abdel Hamid Serraj made his first public ap-pearance today since his escape from a Syrian prison hospital. He attended dawn prayers with President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Serraj had been jailed for trial after a Syrian army coup ended the country's three and one-half year union with Egypt last Sep-tember.

Compare Proposed With 1st State Constitutions

(Editor's Note — This is the second in a series of dispatches comparing the proposed new constitution with the constitution of 1908 and the 1850 constitution. Today's in-depth view covers the Declaration of Rights and the judicial article.)

By A. D. UNDERWOOD
LANSING (UPI) — One of the reasons men began writing constitutions was to spell out rights which were fundamental and could not lightly be dismissed by kings or rulers.

Michigan's first constitution had a brief bill of rights stating that all political power was inherent in the people; government was the institution for the protection, security and benefit of the people; and no man or set of men were entitled to special privileges.

A specific declaration of basic rights was dropped from the 1850 constitution but individual rights were stated in other articles. These were once again grouped in a section on rights in the 1908 document.

During the 54 years the present constitution has been in effect, two major additions by amendment have been added to the rights article.

The first was adopted in 1908 and amended in 1952 to provide a list of weapons exempt from the right that the "person, houses, papers and possessions" of individuals be secure from unreasonable search and seizure.

The basic right had been in Michigan constitutions since the state was organized as part of the language providing for legal warrants.

The list of weapons exempt from the provision was added as an assistance to police. Narcotics were added to the list in 1952.

The so-called "search and seizure" provision caused bitter debate and red-hot lobbying by police agencies during the recent constitutional convention.

The proposal offered in the Democratic "substitute" constitution clearly outlined the difference in philosophy across the votes on the issue cut through party lines.

"The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized."

The enumeration of items excluded from protection against search was retained by a series of relatively close votes. The language was somewhat simplified.

The other changes by amendment came in 1950 when a section defining subversion was added. Michigan thus became the only state with a constitutional provision making subversion a crime.

Five other states have mild mentions of the matter.

The convention jumbled the provision in a bipartisan voter of speeches about witch-hunters, hysteria and "shades of Joe McCarthy," the deceased Wisconsin senator whose attacks on communism inspired the provision.

Democrats sought the addition of a section spelling out at length "equal protection of the law." The Republican majority rejected it as unnecessary.

There was general agreement that the state had a good bill of rights.

The rights guaranteed by the constitution are to be preserved by the courts.

There were few changes in the 1908 constitution in the court system established in the 1850 constitution. During the years the present constitution has been in effect, the only change in the article was addition of language setting out nonpartisan elections for judges.

The proposed constitution has a new concept for the court system based on a unified judiciary with the addition of an intermediate court of appeals between the circuit courts and the state Supreme Court.

There were other major changes — elimination of justices of the peace in the constitution, elimination of circuit court commissioners, and elimination of the fee system of financing local courts.

Most of these were adopted with bipartisan support but the Democrats departed from the majority in their substitute by opposing a new provision allowing the Supreme Court to appoint to fill vacancies in the judicial system.

The minority wanted to retain the present appointive power of the governor in such cases.

RIGHT OF APPEAL

A new guaranteed right of appeal in criminal cases, written into the bill of rights, was directly tied to the creation of the court of appeals.

An attempt by some delegates to provide for constitutional "family courts" failed and the jurisdiction was retained by probate courts.

The probate system was reorganized from top to bottom and the legislature was given the power to combine counties under one probate court.

The legislature would be able to provide for statutory courts under the new constitution, similar to the recorder's court in Detroit and the superior court in Grand Rapids.

There was broad agreement on one provision added to the judicial system, a requirement that all judges of courts of record be attorneys.

The action of the convention on the judicial article gave Gov. John B. Swainson's pre-convention commission on the judiciary a good batting average on the major recommendations it made.

There were recommendations of addition of the court of appeals, keystone of partisan disagreement.

a unified court system, and elimination of the justices of the peace and circuit court commissioners.

The citizens' commission also recommended elimination of constitutional probate courts, and the continuation of both J-P courts and probate court as statutory bodies.

One important addition to the judicial article, also given as a reason for the reorganization and addition of the appeals court, guarantees judicial review of rulings by administrative agencies by the courts.

Despite the differences between Democrats and Republicans on some areas of both the rights and judicial articles there was basic cooperation and agreement in construction of both.

This was not the case in some other areas.

Next: Legislative apportionment, addition of the court of appeals, keystone of partisan disagreement.

GOP Threatened by Extremists?

Wayne County Control Sought by Groups Using Intimidation—Stahlin

LANSING (AP)—Sen. John Stahlin, R-Mich., charged Saturday that bribery, intimidation, misrepresentation and threats of physical violence were used by "extremist groups" trying to seize control of the Wayne County Republican organization.

Stahlin called for a full scale investigation of his accusations in a letter to Michigan's Fair Campaign Practices Commission.

The Rt. Rev. Marshall R. Reed, Methodist bishop of Michigan and chairman of the commission, could not decide whether to hold a hearing until he had received copies of the charges and had conferred with other commission members.

Stahlin said that the groups were playing upon anti-Semitic and anti-Negro sentiments.

The commission was asked specifically to investigate the activities of the John Birch Society, George Lincoln Rockwell, Inc. (American Nazi Party), the Sons of America, the Independent America Party and other groups.

The candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor said that Richard Durant, a regional leader of the John Birch Society, had knowledge of some of the activities. Durant is chairman of the GOP's 14th District organization, which includes Grosse Pointe and part of Detroit.

Stahlin said several of the groups are supporting the candidacy of Rockwell T. Gust Jr., who also is seeking GOP endorsement as lieutenant governor candidate.

Said Stahlin, "Gust's consistent refusal to disallow support from these elements casts serious doubts on the integrity of his candidacy."

Building on Coast Halts With Shutdown

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Northern California's $3.5-billion construction industry slowed to a complete halt today under a shutdown order by contractors which could affect 130,000 workers.

Members of the Associated General Contractors (AGC) issued the order Friday in retaliation for a series of scattered strikes which had idled projects valued at nearly $4 million in the 46-county area.

Contracts with laborers, cement masons, carpenters and construction teamsters expired May 1. The 7,300-man Laborers Union began a series of strikes on key projects, and the other three organizations observed the picket lines.

The shutdown was expected to have a tremendous impact on the economy of California. It will halt work on public buildings, schools, state colleges, hospitals, bridges, highways, homes and dams, including the massive Feather River project.

Group to Send More Radios to South Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agency for International Development plans a five-fold increase in the number of radio receivers to be provided South Viet Nam. The stepped up program will provide about 250,000 in the next 12 months.

An official said the program originally called for 50,000, with 20,000 to be paid for by the South Viet Nam government and 30,000 by the agency. The additional 200,000 will be paid for by U.S. aid funds.

The radios will be given or sold to civilians to provide closer ties between villagers and the central government in Saigon.

Officials OK After Boat Capsizes in Zambesia

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—A United Nations investigator and South Africa's ambassador to the U.N. were reached from the Zambesi River Sunday when their boat capsized during a fact-finding tour of Africa.

Unharmed after 15 minutes in the water were Ambassador B. G. Fourie and Dr. Martinez de Alva, vice chairman of a U.N. committee investigating charges of racial discrimination.

The South African government aides in the boat also escaped injury.

Peron's Hold on Argentina's Workers Still Tight U.S. Rocket Engine Tests Successfully

Editor's Note — Juan D. Peron, seven years after he was sent into exile, still retains a strong hold on the labor movement. What is the source of this bond? The following article attempts to explain.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A half dozen of us sat in a grubby flyinfested churriguera—steak house—in the heart of the Buenos Aires province industrial area where Peronism was born.

"You want to know why we are Peronists," said a hard-bitten old militant. "Once we would have followed anyone who would promise us he would make things better for us. Today we can follow no body except Peron. We have been indoctrinated and we do not believe them."

The little cafe is in an area which is so strong for Peronism that in the tense days after the March 18 Peronist victory at the polls, which ignited Argentina's current crisis, authorities contemplated holding down bridges leading across the river to the heart of the capital to prevent Peronist supporters from swarming across. They swarmed across 17 years ago and helped ride Juan D. Peron to power.

The Peronists remember that in 1945, Peron's power as minister of labor had risen so high that it frightened the Argentine military and the generals arrested him and incarcerated him on Martin Garcia—the same exile island chosen last month for deposed President Arturo Frondizi.

They remember it was their enormous clamor which brought Peron out of exile, the presidency.

"When I think back, before Peron, I cry inside of me," said

the old militant. "I remember the misery."

"I was 7 years old when I went to work. I worked at herding horses. We lived in a one-room shack of tin, all of us—mother, father, children—in one room. At 14 I went to school. It was the law then that we had to wear white stocks. But I did not even have shoes."

"My father could not pay for white stocks for his children. So he had to go before the court and get a tarjeta de pobreza—a ticket of the poor—and they gave me a smock. . . . I went to school only two years. My father died. I had to work. I went to work in the meat packing house and gradually became a butcher."

He worked, he said, sometimes for a peso an hour, sometimes for as little as 25 centavos, and often no more than a few hours a day. But he conceded there was no hunger. Argentine always had—and has today—an abundance of food.

"We could eat, but we could not dress. We could not afford shoes for our children. There were never enough pesos to clothe my wife and children. We lived in a shack made of tin."

"Then came Oct. 17, 1945. Evita (Peron's wife) came here. I was working and my hands were covered with the blood of animals. She shook hands with everyone. I was going to wipe my hands first, but she would not let me. She took my bloody hands in hers and shook my hand."

"Later that became El Dia de Lealtad—the day of loyalty, the day Peron came back."

The Peronists were not particularly interested in the economy.

WANT DIGNITY
"What did we want?" the old militant demanded. "We wanted dignity—dignity. You ask about democracy, about dictatorship. Was Peron a dictator? If we all wanted him of our free will? Democracy? Democracy for which of us? For just the class?"

The Argentine economy was about to break down when the military swept Peron out of office in 1955. It showed the effects of Peronism shortly after, and still shows the effects today. But the Peronists do not see it that way. They see what happened since as an attempt of the military and upper classes to take vengeance.

What about the reports that Peron will "turn to the left" in an alliance with Communists and Castroists in his attempt to return to Argentina and power? The old militant denied any interest in Communism and Castroism.

"All we want," he insisted, "is to live as Christians and not as animals. We will not be Communists and Castroists unless they make us be, by making us feel capable of producing 400,000 pounds of thrust."

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP)—The largest solid fuel rocket engine ever built by the United States is considered a success by officials.

It contains many features to be used in future moon rockets.

The engine—called an applied research motor—burned out its capacity of 100,000 pounds of solid propellant in 120 seconds with a mighty roar of flames in a test Saturday.

Lockheed Propulsion Co., builder of the engine, said it was capable of producing 400,000 pounds of thrust.

Plan to Probe State Officials

One-Man Grand Jury to Investigate Charges of Fraudulent Bids

LANSING (AP)—Business dealings between a Lansing contractor and several state officials will be investigated by a one-man grand jury.

The inquiry was requested by Ingham County Prosecutor Leo Farhat, who said state police had found "strong inferences" of irregularities in the awarding of some paving contracts.

The one-man jury probe was ordered on the weekend by Circuit Judge Louis Coash.

Farhat said the police investigators, Det. Sgt. Arthur Stock and Trooper Max Little, reported that "several high ranking state officials may have received benefits and favors from a Lansing contractor who regularly does business with the state."

Several paving contracts awarded by the State Building Division in 1957, 1958 and 1959 are to be scrutinized, Farhat said.

'FALSIFIED BIDS'
He said the preliminary investigation allegedly disclosed that the contracts had been awarded on the basis of "fraudulent and falsified bids" submitted by the unidentified contractor. One of the bids, Farhat said, was for paving of a driveway and parking lot at the state police headquarters at East Lansing.

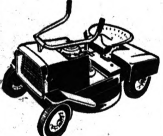

Farhat revealed that state police began a check last January when they learned that a contractor was awaiting trial on charges of embezzlement and fraudulent bidding in a school paving contract.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley said the state was compelled to seek the grand jury probe "because we have been unable to obtain the full cooperation of all principals involved in the case."

Kelley said earlier that W. T. McVicker was suspended from his post of chief of sites and urban planning for the Building Division pending an investigation.

He said it was alleged that McVicker paved the driveway of his home with asphalt purchased for use at the State School for the Blind at Lansing.

Pontiac Branch, Association for Childhood Education, gathered for the 30th annual May breakfast Saturday in the Hill-side Room at Devon Gables.

Conference for PTAs Is Tonight

Parent Teachers Association workers of Oakland County will meet this evening for their annual spring conference at Hazel Park High School.

Mrs. William U. Porter of Troy, director of District VII, and the presidents of the 21 councils have planned to make the 7:30 p. m. event a worthwhile one.

"Eye to the Future" will serve as the evening's theme. Following greetings from Carl R. Anderson, representing the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers, and introductions of council presidents, there will be work shops covering every phase of parent-teacher work.

Garden Group Re-Elects Mrs. Bohlman

Mrs. Fred Bohlman has been re-elected president of the Waterford Branch, Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

Others returning to their respective offices, are Mrs. Dalton Etinger, vice president; Mrs. William Baer, recording secretary; and Mrs. George Stout, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. F. A. Fischer was named treasurer and Mrs. Earl Springer, parliamentarian.

Mrs. David Edstrom was hostess for the group's annual meeting Thursday afternoon. Assisting her with arrangements were Mrs. Ralph Bump, Mrs. Eugene Cleland and Mrs. James Green.

Mrs. Charles Woods, guest of Mrs. Edstrom and a former club member, presided at the tea service.

Pair Marks 25th Year

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond L. Cole, of Lincolnshire Drive, Waterford Township, Sunday during an open house marking the couple's silver wedding anniversary.

Presiding at the tea table were Mrs. Hazel MacGill and Mrs. Norman Dyer. Mrs. Cole's sisters, Jane Danton and Mrs. Leo LaPointe, were hostesses for the affair.

Miss Harmon planned the program and Mrs. Harry Killa, Mrs. James Kiny and Mrs. Vincent Lindberg assisted with arrangements. Mrs. Frederick Holmes handled publicity.

Program booklets and table decorations were made by fourth-grade students of Bethune School under the supervision of Mrs. Clarence Barrow and Vina Watson.

Honored guests were Dr. and Mrs. Dana P. Whitmer, Mrs. and Mrs. C. W. and the Gerald Whites, also past presidents Mrs. Harold Muldowney and Miss Virtues.

Tryhalls Tell of Sylvia Ann's Engagement

Dr. and Mrs. Sylvester W. Tryhall of Willow Lane, Orchard Lake, announce their daughter Sylvia Ann's engagement to Richard M. Leslie of Chicago.

The bride-elect was graduated from Kingswood School, Cranbrook and the University of Michigan where she was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta. She is a member of Sigma Gamma.

Her fiancé, the son of the Richard S. Leslies of Battle Creek, was graduated from the University of Florida and the University of Michigan Law School. He was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta and Delta Theta Phi.

A July wedding is planned.

Transatlantic Group Meets

Mrs. Nancy Whelan of Pioneer Drive was hostess to the Pontiac Branch of the Transatlantic Brides and Parents Association for a business meeting.

Following the session Mrs. Leroy Bailey of Lake Orion was feted with a baby shower. During the evening meeting an auction of various articles and food was also held to raise funds for the club.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Morris Strong of Tilden Avenue,

'Newcomers' Plan Dinner to Close Year

John Hiltner presented a travel film "Historical Virginia" before the Newcomers Club of Pontiac in the home of Mrs. Michael Presby of Sleepy Hollow Drive. Annual reports were presented and the following officers accepted unanimously: Mrs. Francis McDowell, president; Mrs. Robert Larson, vice president; Mrs. Sam Sneed, secretary; Gerald Berry, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Hahn, publicity chairman.

The club year will close with the May 23 dinner at Rotunda Inn.

Mrs. Julian Greenlee and Mrs. Larson assisted the hostess.

School Sets Open House

Our Lady of Refuge Cooperative Nursery School plans open house from 8 to 10 p. m. Tuesday in the Our Lady of Refuge Church hall on Commerce Road.

Mrs. Melvin Eiler, a director of the Temple Beth Jacob Nursery School and teacher at Laura Smith Haviland School, Waterford Township, will be present to discuss "The Purpose of Nursery School."

Our Lady of Refuge school is non-sectarian and run on a cooperative basis — with parents and teachers working together during each session with the children.

Initiated by a minority of parents who felt the need of a nursery school in that area, the new school has been established in just one year.

Clothing in Bad Taste for Gift

By The Emily Post Institute.

Q: One of the schools in our city is giving a course in self-defense. I am one of a group of women who is taking this course. Our instructors (four) are volunteers who work hard and spend many hours with us. We would like very much to show our gratitude for their efforts.

We are planning to buy them each a gift and had decided on shirts, but one of the women is objecting on the grounds that it is too personal and would be in very bad taste. Most of us feel that as we will be giving these shirts as a group, thus making it an impersonal gesture, it would be quite all right.

Will you please give us your opinion, and if you do not approve, can you suggest something else that we might give?

A: I agree that to give shirts to these men will be in bad taste. To those of them who smoke, pocket lighters would be proper and most probably welcomed gifts. To the non smokers, you could give fountain pens or wallets or key rings.

Q: My daughter is to receive her engagement ring next week and I would like to know what, if anything, I should say to her fiancé when this takes place. Do I offer congratulations? Also, I intend to give my daughter a set of sterling flatware and would like to know if it should be marked with her maiden initials or the initials of her future husband?

A: You do not congratulate your daughter's fiancé. You simply admire the ring and show some affection to him such as welcoming him into your family with a kiss. It is much more practical to have the silver marked with the initials that will be hers rather than the ones she will soon be relinquishing.

Details on the announcement as christening of a baby are described in the new Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "The New Baby." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a addressed, stamped envelope to the Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

Let Neighbors Stay Home; They Can Be Sad Together

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We moved into a new home about a year ago. The first neighbors we met were the people next door. They are nice people, but they are so depressing! All you have to do is talk to them in the morning and your day is ruined. You don't dare ask them how they are feeling.

They are always "miserable"! They complain about everything. We've met other neighbors and want to give a get-together.

I would feel guilty excluding these people because they were so nice to us when we first moved in. They are lonely. But I'm afraid if we invited them they would ruin the party for everybody. What would you do?

DEAR UNDECIDED: If you are friendly enough with them to give them some tips on how to be better company and, consequently, more popular and less lonely, by all means do so. If you aren't, let them stay home and tell each other how miserable they are.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are separated and I am expecting. I am getting a divorce as soon as the baby is born. How should I word the birth announcements?

Should I say, "Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown announce the birth," etc.? Or should I say, "Mr. Henry Brown and Gloria Tomlin Brown (which will be my legal name after I am divorced) announce the birth," etc.?

SEPARATED AND EXPECTING
DEAR S. AND E.: Under the awkward circumstances, I suggest you skip the formal announcements. Write a personal note to those you wish to inform.

DEAR ABBY: I am a normal teen-aged girl of 13. Like any other girl I like to talk on the telephone when I get home from school. I never talk more than two hours. My mother says that it is too long, yet she doesn't stop me. Do you think two hours is too long to talk to friends?

PHONE BUG
DEAR PHONE BUG: Indeed I do. About an hour and forty-five minutes too long, to be exact.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letter from the young woman whose "ex" owed her $300. Her problem stemmed from the fact that she had no note from him acknowledging the debt.

If the woman were to write to her "ex" and demand that he pay her the $300 he owes her, she would hear from him promptly protesting that he did not owe her $300 — but only $30. This should be sufficient evidence for her to collect the debt in any court.

Lake Orion's Brownie Troop 296, led by Mrs. Rex Kelley, is constructing a dragon 24 feet long for the festivities. It will sport talcum powder make and have flashlight eyes. (See story on Page 18).

Cancer Film Tonight

"A Breath of Fresh Air" is the Michigan Cancer Foundation's new film on the technique of breast self-examination.

The story of a woman who learns to protect herself against the leading cause of cancer deaths among women today—a type of cancer which annually takes the lives of 24,000 Americans—will be shown this evening, at 8 p.m. in Pontiac Northern High School.

A physician will be present to answer questions during the program scheduled for ticularly for employed women in the Pontiac area. Admission is free.

For That Instant 'at Home' Look

For a real morale-builder at moving-day sessions, try this: launder the curtains before you pack them. Then hang them up clean the day after you move in.

Clean curtains give a wonderful lift to a home which may still require considerable arranging to make it livable.

Local School of Business Sets Dance

At a Spring Reign Dance Friday names of the king and queen, selected by Pontiac Business Institute's fraternity and sorority will be announced.

Sponsored jointly by Tau Beta Gamma Sorority and Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity, the annual affair is held at the school on West Lawrence Street.

Queen candidates are Sandi MacDonnell and Karen Goddard, Birmingham; Marlene Rock, Berkeley; Barbara Harthun, South Roslyn Street; and Sandi Sheldon, Lake Orion.

Candidates for king are Gene Caszmadia and Robert Watson, Pontiac; James DeClerck, Uca; Nick Tomi, Birmingham; and Owen Truett, Royal Oak.

Sorority Sets MSUO Tour

Omega Mu Sigma Sorority members are planning a June breakfast and campus tour of Michigan State University in Oakland. Assisting Mrs. Carroll Harper, chairman, are Mrs. Kris Cates and Mrs. Melvin O-Springer.

Formal initiation for new members, Mrs. Merritt Snyder and Mrs. Russell Gustafson, was conducted in a candlelight ceremony in the Draper Avenue home of Mrs. Joseph McCarthy. Mrs. Ray Peterson was cohostess.

Queen Mary Unit Arranges Meeting

Queen Mary Section of the Needlework Guild will meet May 31 at the Seneca Street home of Mrs. David Bickler-staff.

Mrs. Harvie Little of Wall Street was hostess to the group for its business and social meeting Thursday afternoon. During the gathering members sewed baby garments, in addition to hearing Mrs. Charles Clarke's report on the articles made for the ingathering and appropriating funds for yarn.

Queen candidates for a Spring Reign Dance Friday, sponsored jointly by Pontiac Business Institute's Tau Beta Gamma Sorority and Phi Beta Kappa Fraternity are, from left, Sandi MacDonnell, and Karen Gould, both of Birmingham; Marlene Rock, Berkeley; and Barbara Harthun, South Roslyn Street. The semi-formal annual affair will be open to invited guests.

BIRMINGHAM—BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Many Birmingham-Bloomfield Hills couples attended dinner parties prior to seeing the benefit premiere for Camp Oakland Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben D. Mills of Bloomfield Hills dined with film star Jane Wyman and other members of the premiere committee. Their hosts at the Detroit Club event were Camp Oakland President and Mrs. Walter Gehrk of Pleasant Ridge.

Mrs. Mills was chairman of Camp Oakland, sponsors of the premiere of Walt Disney's "Bon Voyage" at 8:30 p.m. in the Ford Auditorium.

The William A. Daniels of Burning Bush Drive, Bloomfield Township, invited four to dine with them at the Detroit Athletic Club. Their premiere-going guests were Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Chapin of Dearborn and the Grinfeld S. Wessels of Lake Park, Birmingham.

The DAC was also the scene of another pre-premiere event given by the Walter R. Denison of Oakland Street, Birmingham.

Guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Arthur Moore of Woodward Avenue, Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Winston of Lakeside Drive and Mr. and Mrs. James W. Holmes of Willow Lane, all of Birmingham; and Walter E. Simmons II of Grosse Pointe.

At the Detroit Club were more theater-goers in a group dining with Mr. and Mrs. Austin Harmon of Bennington Road, Bloomfield Hills. Guests were the Robert Halsteads of Fairfax Road, Birmingham; the C. Hugh Whitlows of Pilgrimage Road, Birmingham; and the Malcolm W. Wellys of Turning Bush Road, Bloomfield Township.

Mrs. and Mrs. Mills invited members of the premiere committee and their husbands to be their guests for an after-theater dinner party with the Wessels as guest of honor at the gathering.

8,000 to Participate

Girl Scouts Set Celebration

Some 8,000 Girl Scouts of Northern Oakland County Council will gather with parents and friends Friday evening 10 p.m. at the Windsor Stadium to celebrate 50 years of Girl Scouting.

The program will open with 300 Scouts in uniform marching behind the American and World Flags and 8,000 Scout voices will be heard in songs practiced especially for the golden anniversary.

Giant trefolls of Brownies and Intermediates will be outlined in the stands by other scouts wearing large yellow daisy collars. The symbol of Girl Scouting will be one of the formations performed by the Pontiac Central High School Marching Band, directed by Richard Moore.

Heard for the first time will be a stirring arrangement of the "World Song" by Jean Sibelius. Robert Peterson, director of the Intercity and High School Orchestra, arranged the number for 80-piece band.

TO ILLUSTRATE WORK A huge, fire-breathing dragon will help interpret the international phase of the scouting program. Other floats and field events will show the audience what scouts learn and do in their troops in the areas of arts and crafts, homemaking, camping, sports, games and folk dancing, including American.

Greek, Slavic, Danish, Scottish and Irish dances will be done in costume and an international float with flags and costumes from many countries will close this part of the program.

A senior choral speaking chorus will interpret the Girl Scout laws.

Senior Scouts will also dramatize the senior special interest groups of Wing, Service, Marine, Explorer, International Friendship and Trail Blazers. The round-up delegates and alternates will also give a demonstration.

The Curved Bar Award, highest award in Scouting, will be presented during the program and special recognition will be given to graduating seniors.

Mrs. Elwyn Tripp, council president, will recognize the Girl Scout adult volunteers.

Honored guest for the evening will be Mrs. Katherine Shields of Garden City, member of the first Girl Scout troop in Savannah, Ga., in 1912.

The program will close with singing of taps after all Scouts have formed a friendship circle on the field.

The Golden Anniversary Committee includes Mrs. John McNeely, Mrs. Ernest Pierce and Mrs. John Marshall. Melvin L. Whittle is managing director.

Souvenir booklets will be available at the stadium.

News of Birmingham

BY RUTH SAUNDERS BIRMINGHAM—Mr. and Mrs. Scott B. Hayes of Cleveland, former Birmingham residents, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Miller at their home in Lakewood Court. Mr. and Mrs. Miller gave a Sunday morning brunch for their guests.

Mrs. Hayes was to be present at the Sunday christening of tiny Ann Miller at Christ Church Cranbrook. Mrs. Hayes is the baby's godmother.

Dr. and Mrs. Clayton H. Gordon invited a group of friends to have cocktails with them Saturday evening before going over to Meadowbrook

Hold Event for Moms, Daughters

Some 130 members and guests attended the annual May mother-daughter banquet sponsored by the Loyal Philanthropic Class in the First Baptist Church. The First Baracca Men's Class served the dinner and the Eunice Philanthropes handled kitchen details.

Mrs. Joseph Minton, former class president, was toastmistress. Mrs. Herbert D. Flemington gave the invocation and Mrs. Anna Fremont welcomed the assembly. Cynthia Anderson gave the response.

"Mothers of the Bible" was the topic chosen by guest speaker Mrs. H. H. Savage, wife of former pastor Dr. Savage. Mrs. Albert Leighton and Ann Latona gave special readings.

Mrs. Gordon Hicks, Cleo Belle Coleman and Mrs. Delmar Hetherington comprised a string ensemble, accompanied by Mrs. Hetherington and daughter Marsha at the piano.

Connie Barron sang one of her numbers in Spanish and Judy Coleman played accordion solos. The Baughey Trio also performed.

Mrs. J. O. Wideman, class president, and Mrs. Henry Bateman, vice president, were cochairmen. Flower arrangements and decorations were by Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Bateman and Pearl Hudson. Program cochairmen were Jessie Rodgers, Josephine Dietrich and Harriet Siegrist.

The evening closed with benediction by Mrs. Nellie Munro.

Hi-InfidelityMarriage Partners Are Due Privacy

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

(Editor's Note — A condensation of Abigail Van Buren's new book "Dear Abby on Marriage" is appearing daily in The Pontiac Press in 24 installments under the serialized title "Hi-Infidelity.")

"Whether thou goest I will go" is a tender and meaningful article of conjugal faith. But it contains no warrant for the corrosion of individuality or invasion of privacy to which some partners in marriage feel their marriage license entitles them.

I pity the wife wed to a man who insists on knowing all the intimate details of her private life. On the other hand, more burdensome than an albatross around a man's neck is a 110-pound woman on his back.

DEAR ABBY:
I am ashamed to admit it, but last week I took a quick look through my husband's wallet and found a silly Valentine. It was a picture of a caveman hitting a woman over the head, and underneath it said, "YOU SLAY ME." It was signed "Lenore." I asked my husband who Lenore was and he said, "Oh, just some dizzy dame at the office." Now I am heart sick, hurt and disillusioned.

WHAT TO DO?
What not to do would have been more like it. Tampering with his wallet or digging into his pockets can produce a mountain of suspicion from a molehill of lint. It rarely fails.
Marriage is sharing, and demands cooperative effort. But a few ground rules of privacy must be established at the start.

KEEP HANDS OFF MAIL.
For instance — mail. I think married people should keep hands off each other's mail. If either wants to share the contents of a letter, it can be read aloud. The U. S. Post Office says a letter is his or hers. I say it is none of the other's business.

To the Lady of the House — if your spouse gets a phone call, don't insist on knowing who called. And if the bell tolls for thee, you're not obligated to hear him. Don't ever lie about it. Just insist on your privacy.

When the Mister arrives home, he can tell the little woman about the highlights of his day and then listen when the Missus counters with the same. But neither should be expected to report an hourly log of his daily activities.

THERE ARE OTHER AREAS.
So much for the mail, telephone calls and an accounting of the day's events. These are the more obvious areas of privacy. There are others involving judgments of men, personal preferences and politics.

It is important that certain interests, habits and individual traits of each partner be marked "NO TRESPASSING."
What about the special friends that each partner had before the knot was tied. Keep them — if they aren't a source of irritation to your mate. Married couples should not ignore their single friends, but constantly including a third wheel can result in a pretty rough ride.

When your friends rub your mate the wrong way, rub them out of the picture. Your best friends should be the friends you have in common. His or hers are fine. But ours is better.

No sooner have they returned from the office where their work is both arduous and dangerous than husbands find numerous domestic tasks such as washing the dishes or children.

"Why don't you sit down, dear, while I do the dishes," says the thoughtful wife as she ties her apron around his waist.

It is a strange thing that the very generation that has seen the development of labor saving devices of all types has also seen the growth of chores for men. Labor-saving gadgets don't save time. Men want their wives' company in the evenings, and they quietly get on with the job because it seems pointless to sit in the parlor while their wives are slaving in the kitchen.

NOT THAT DURABLE
Every man imagines that he is a tough, fearless machine which can go on indefinitely without rest. And some women appear to share this delusion. I realize it would be impossible to convince men that this is not the case, so I appeal to women.

Madam your husband is not that durable.
It is quite a different matter with the husband who has a long weekend. In the absence of domestic help, every family member must pull his weight on weekends if they are ever to be able to get out on family.

In a world where so many wives go out to work to augment the family income, moreover, there is every reason why husbands should do some work at home if they have time. This type of work will certainly not do them any harm.

SHOULD HELP HUSBY
We know that the women of this generation are less likely to suffer from coronary artery disease than their mothers or grandmothers were. If we are to admit that the physical activities of running a home are beneficial to a woman, there is every reason why a little physical help of this sort should help a husband.

Every case will have to be dealt with on its merits. It is no good thinking that any man, however little time he has at home, is fit to help in the home, or that every woman is fit to go out to work.

It is obviously true that no woman can handle two full-time jobs. It is equally true that a man who does a hard day's work has not the physical powers left to do a great deal of domestic work.

ALL SHOULD ASSIST
But what about the rest of the family? Housework may be full-time work for one person or part-time work for several. If the whole family helps, they will get through it without causing hardship to anyone of them.

There must be a system of priorities in all families. If a couple has several young children, it is up to the husband to lend a hand when he comes home, whether he feels like putting his feet up or not.

However uncertain and frustrating a man's working life is, being the head of a family gives him a solid, permanent background. The family circle should be a fortified position into which he can retire with confidence, knowing that however much they may squabble among themselves, all members of the family are on his side at heart.

The really mature man is sure of himself, but how many men today feel sure of their family position in the same way as the 19th Century father did?

HEAD OF HOUSE
He knew he was head of the house, that everyone would obey him, and that his wife and children respected him even if they did not love him. In the process of humanizing themselves, modern fathers have killed their sense of security.

To combat this sense of insecurity, a wife must be a psychologist, just as the Victorian wife was a psychologist. She knew that it was essential to keep her husband's facade intact.

Not only did she think he was perfect and that his word was law to herself and to her children, but she did her best to convince him of it.

One of the most important things about being able to carry responsibility is the ability to have a mental purge every now and then in the form of a discussion of your worries with someone you can absolutely trust.

ACT AS BUFFER
This person may have no knowledge of the facts, may be quite untrained and even unintelligent. This description might even fit a wife. Every woman whose husband carries great responsibilities should be prepared to act as the sponge-rubber buffer.

The essential point is that you must be more than merely at his side. You must always be on his side in these discussions. It won't help his worries if you start arguing with him and point out he is wrong on a decision, because he already has made it, and perhaps given his orders.

On the other hand, at times he may discuss something with you on which he has not yet issued a directive. Then it is valuable to give him the advice which springs from an outside mind.

Always remember that your husband's bad temper or his violent complaint is not directed at you. It is directed at the person or situation worrying him.

You may do him a great deal of good merely by sitting by placidly and allowing him to let off steam. You must suffer in silence and realize that it all is part of your job.

If you are wise, you will reserve your own list of worries and annoyances until after your husband has gotten his off his chest.

Tattoos Hard To Remove

Q. How can a tattoo be removed?

A. Removal of a tattoo is difficult and disfiguring because the only sure method requires surgery and, usually, skin grafting. "Tattooing" may be on the way out. The tattoo parlors of New York City have been closed by the Health Department. There is a sound medical reason for this move. About one or two persons of every thousand tattooed develop viral hepatitis. The disease is passed along from infected persons via dirty tattooing needles. Other cities may follow New York's example in prohibiting this ancient craft which thrives in the seaports throughout the world.

Homogenized Milk

Q. What advantages has homogenized milk over plain milk?

A. The butter fat and vitamin D in homogenized milk is more evenly distributed and more efficiently digested, especially by infants and young children. Homogenizing also improves the flavor of milk.

Robert Gray Writes 'Eighteen Acres Under Glass'

New Book About White House of Top-Notch Caliber

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON—The rash of nervous-eye-view books about the White House occupants and little except embarrassing footnotes to history.

The exultant, near-strutted, checks and housekeepers who "tell" in a ghosted chit-chat often color the backstage gossip with their own resentments; and make catty comments about their employers and the VIPs who came to call.

Of a decidedly different caliber is the new Doubleday book, "Eighteen Acres Under Glass," authored by President Eisenhower's former cabinet secretary, Robert Gray.

The handsome, 35-year-old bachelor who began his White House career under "assistant president" Sherman Adams, not only possessed a ringside seat at the daily unspooling of history, but an observant eye and ear as well.

Stops Constipation due to "Aging Colon"

Relief, doctors say, has in new laxative known as LYDIA'S 3 essential of prompt regularity.

As you grow older, the internal muscles of your colon wall also age, lose the body's natural propelling force from the body. Stagnant bowels contents dry out and strain so the toilet to stimulate the urge to purge. Of all leading laxatives, only LYDIA'S gives you its special 3-way relief.

(1) COLONAD prevents the formation of dry, hardened waste for easy passage without pain or strain.

(2) Helps remove baby colon muscles with unique rebelling action.

(3) Acts gently on the nerve reflexes that stimulate the "mass movement" of your lower colon.

COLONAD relieves even chronic constipation overnight, so you're a happy mother. Introduce LYDIA'S today.

own typewriter, Gray has produced an important guide to the particular brand of Cabinet-style government.

Fortunately, he has also crowded the volume with previously untold anecdotes and historical sidelights that could have made headlined features at the time.

The author discloses, for instance, that no one was as surprised as Clare Boothe Luce when President Eisenhower announced her resignation as ambassador to Italy and her replacement by James D. Zellerbach.

According to Gray, Clare submitted her resignation while ill from arsenic-poisoning during the fall of 1955, but was persuaded by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles to stay on until after the election.

When in December the White House phoned her to report the impending announcement, she was flabbergasted.

Says Gray: "Unfortunately we had forgotten women's ancient precept: Her health had changed, and so had her decision to resign; yet we were powerless to undo what had been done."

Richard M. Nixon, the running mate in 1952 and 1956, may be surprised to learn from Gray's book that:

"During the Republican convention of 1956 the President confided to a small group of intimates that if he could have his dream dictated, with no need to make it salable, Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson would have been his vice presidential choice."

Gray reports that while Ike was out of the country in March of 1960, Nixon opened the regular Cabinet session in the Eisenhower manner with a moment of silent prayer.

The lone telephone at the President's empty Cabinet place stridently began to ring, but was ignored until the prayer ended.

When Bryce Harlow eventually answered it and announced that he was calling from Paris, Nixon quipped: "Coming when it did I was sure the caller was either the President—or God."

Some of the sidelights are fascinating as character studies. Gray quotes Eisenhower as saying: "Life ought to be an accumulation of happy days. If you don't have some fun every day, that day is wasted."

He added that a man should take his job seriously, but never himself.

Throughout his two terms, Ike began every Cabinet session except one with prayer. The single exception, according to Gray, occurred when Secretary Dulles immediately drew Ike into the long, confidentially handled, about Soviet policy. Before taking up the next item, the President said:

"This morning, with Mr. Krushchev on my mind, I forgot our moment of prayer. This is a tradition that is very important to me; so we will have it today as a benediction."

Gray further illustrated the President's devout quality by quoting this bit of Eisenhower philosophy: "If I can ever in my lifetime repay any of the wonderful gifts God and this country have given to me and to my family, then I shall be eternally grateful."

It is obvious from the book that Gray felt a certain awe for his commander-in-chief, but he was not the only one. Even the President's favorite and closest brother, Milton, when writing to him at the White House began his letters: "Dear Mr. President."

The lone exception was apparently Ike's irrepresible Irish appointments-secretary, Tom Stephens, who was not above playing practical jokes even on the President. Sometime after the famous heart attack, Eisenhower summed up several top advisors to a meeting to discuss whether he should seek re-election.

The atmosphere "became more and more tense as the President asked each of those present for an opinion." Finally he asked Stephens what he thought, and Tom replied with serious mien:

"Mr. President, I am sure you can win. But if you don't intend to run you ought to say so publicly at once, as a courtesy to others of us who want to get our candid day under way."

Roundup of Candidates, Issues

School Board Hopefuls File

Candidates for positions on the board of education in 20 areas school districts filed their nominating petitions over the weekend. Following is a roundup of candidates and propositions that will appear on the June 11 ballot in each district:

AYONDALE—Two 4-year terms: R. Grant—Graham, incumbent, president; and Earl Wilson, incumbent, vice president; and James A. Laughlin, 330 Grace St. Also on the ballot will be request for a five-year school operating tax increase and a $1.29-million bond issue for school construction. The operating tax proposal would raise five mills for three years and three mills for two years.

BLAY CITY—Two 4-year terms: Francis Spencer, incumbent, vice president, and Howard Caldwell, incumbent, treasurer.

ALMONT—Two 4-year terms: Fred Eschenburg, incumbent, and Robert Currey, incumbent, treasurer.

LAPEER—Two 4-year terms: Dr. Edward Green, incumbent, president, and Dr. Robert Stern, incumbent, secretary.

Voters will also be asked to renew a three-mill operating tax.

TROY—Two 4-year terms: Russell Kaufman, incumbent, secretary; and Mrs. Elizabeth Hotton, incumbent.

UTICA—One 4-year term: George H. Bietz, 5310 Van Dyke Road; Arthur Chase, 8640 Valley Circle; and William W. Porter, 11453 Delvin St.

Two-year unexpired term of post vacated by resignation of Charles Bannow. Robert D. McEwen, 4222 Jeffrey St.; Everett L. Van Wullen, 4208 Utica Road; Herbert A. Tedsen, 11450 Farthing; Paul L. Olson, 53333 Villa Circle; Charles W. Cooper 8941 Shamov St.; and Mrs. Richard Shaw, 5542 Broward St.

Incumbent George F. Roberts, secretary, and Harry J. Morgan, appointed to Bannow's unexpired term, are not candidates for reelection.

ROCHESTER—One 4-year term: Frank Wolf, 211 Reimann Road; A. E. Gurley, 2459 Stoddard St.; and Mrs. Virginia K. Allured, incumbent appointed to fill unexpired term of post vacated by resignation of Larry Felton.

One 2-year unexpired term of post vacated by Felton's resignation: Norman E. May, 207 Orchard St.; and John Patterson, 2748 W. Tienken Road.

Current holder of 4-year term, Victor Zink, is not seeking reelection.

A 4½-mill school operating tax increase will also be on the ballot.

CLARENCEVILLE—Two 4-year terms: Albert Hartom, incumbent president; Dr. Herbert J. Kagen, 2061 Weyher St.; Richard Wood, 2079 Gilman St.; Mrs. Margaret Harnden, 2037 Brentwood St.; and Gilbert Jacobs, 19475 St. Francis St.

The renewal of four mills for operation and the addition of one mill also will be requested. There would be no tax increase because bonded indebtedness will be reduced by one mill, school officials said.

DUBLIN—Two 3-year terms: Eric L. Spiller and Norman Scott, both incumbents.

One 2-year term to fill a vacancy.

LYON TOWNSHIP—Two 4-year terms: Donald Coe, incumbent treasurer; Wilford Heidt, incumbent; Martin Miller, 1290 10-Mile Road; Leslie D. Smith, 1100

caney; Mrs. Margaret Linton, 1007 Grayview Road; Mrs. R. Anne Knox, 884 Cascade Road; and Onni Kuhn, 9730 Mandon Drive.

FARMINGTON—Two 4-year terms: Leland Clifford, incumbent president, and Vernon P. Fisher, incumbent treasurer.

Authorization to transfer $300 from one debt fund to another debt fund also will be requested.

HOLLY—Two 4-year terms: Howard Chanter, incumbent secretary; Jack Bennett, incumbent; and Freeman Peace, 1337 Fagen Road.

HURON VALLEY—One 4-year term: Charles Martin, incumbent; and Ronald Fremlin, 820 E. Wardlow Road.

A two-mill operating tax increase for five years also is being requested.

WALLED LAKE—Two 4-year terms: Joseph W. Long, incumbent; Charles E. Hutton, 111 S. Pontiac Trail; Sheril F. Pennell, 2550 Benstein Road; and William A. Hornett, 2359 Ethel Drive.

Voters also will be asked to approve a two-mill tax increase for operations.

LAKE ORION—Two 4-year terms: Hugh Brady, incumbent, secretary; Keith Middleton, incumbent; Dale Spear, 2586 Lance St.; and William Bonning, 440 Inlandside Drive.

OXFORD—Two 4-year terms: Ted Pearson Jr., incumbent, president, and Louis C. Coryell, incumbent, treasurer.

A proposal asking renewal of the eight-mill operating tax due to expire this year will also appear on the ballot.

ROMEO—Two 4-year terms: Mrs. C. Harold Willis, incumbent; Raymond Wilson, incumbent, treasurer; and H. C. Kernaghan, incumbent appointed to unexpired term of post vacated by resignation of Dr. Ralph Renwick.

One-year unexpired term of post vacated by Dr. Renwick's resignation: Harold O. Wainwright, 824 W. 32 Mile Rd., and Mrs. Walter Shepley, 381 Chandler St.

WEST BLOOMFIELD—One 4-year term: Mrs. Frances M. Leaf, incumbent secretary.

A two-mill tax increase for operations also will be requested. The total tax rate, however, will not be increased since the school board intends to reduce bonded indebtedness by two mills.

CLARKSTON—One 4-year term: Walter Wilberg, incumbent, 5200 Sashabaw Road; Hudson L. Nolen, 549 Condale; Ronald Lepore, 6710 Laureton; and Richard L. Anderson, 6139 Eastlawn, all independent Township.

BREAK GROUND FOR CHURCH—In festivities following yesterday's morning worship service ground was broken for the new Calvary Lutheran Church on a site just north of the Clarkson village limits, west of M15. Taking part in the ceremonies were, from left, E. W. O'Brien, of the Waterford Construction Co., general contractor; Martin Gustafson, chairman of the building committee; Paul A. Johns, pastor, and T. Neel Eubank of Flint, architect. The congregation, organized Jan. 2, 1961, now numbers 108 adult members and 117 children.

Rochester Elks Honor 'Mother'

Program at Temple Is 1st of Annual Occasion; Minister Speaks

ROCHESTER—Members of Rochester Elks Lodge No. 225 paid tribute to Mother with a program directed by Basil Hughes yesterday at the Elks Temple.

Rev. Edgar A. Lucas, pastor of St. Philip's Episcopal Church and a member of No. 225, delivered the address in behalf of the lodge.

This was the first observance of an annual affair in keeping with the agenda of the Grand Lodge's calendar of special events.

Clyde A. Bartlebaugh, exalted ruler, opened the meeting and introduced the various phases of the ceremony which was open to the public.

Program soloists were Adele Carragher, Marcia Braun and Benjamin Evans. Introductory and closing music was rendered by Cliff Sepe at the piano.

Mrs. Linda Martin, mother of Jack Martin, past exalted ruler, and Mrs. Caroline Sprattley, mother of William Sprattley, one of the two oldest mothers in attendance, were presented with a certificate by Esquire Richard Stranahan in behalf of the lodge.

An informal tea followed the affair with Mrs. Basil Hughes, Mrs. Louis Chesnik and Miss Cathy McCotter pouring. Mrs. William Bridge and Mrs. Lee McCotter served as aides.

Romeo Campaign Launched to Aid Center for Youth

ROMEO—Door-to-door canvassing in the second annual Join Coin drive for support of the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center began today and will continue through Friday.

Some 85 square miles in the Romeo School District, the area served by the youth center, will be covered in the campaign.

A folder entitled "It's Your Youth Center," explaining the services and facilities of the center, will be distributed by volunteer solicitors.

The door-to-door canvass is the last of three phases in the drive. The second phase, aimed at business and professional men, entered its final week today with half of its anticipated total of $1,000 already in.

Clubs and organizations were asked for support in the first phase.

Bird Chapter Sets Party in Clarkston

CLARKSTON—The John C. Bird Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a luncheon and card party at the Masonic Temple Wednesday beginning at noon.

Cochairmen for the luncheon are Mrs. Gerald Erick and Mrs. Jess Sparkman. Mrs. Robert Farnum and Mrs. William Stined are in charge of prizes and other arrangements for the card party.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the chapter or at Geny's Colonial House. Mrs. Vernon Kath will take reservations.

Addison Twp. People Battle County on Road

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—A road that goes north and south is nevertheless caught in a vicious circle here.

And stalemate in the circle is a controversy between township residents and the County Road Commission.

Both sides agree the 12 or so miles of Rochester Road from Rochester to Leonard are in bad shape, but they don't agree over what should be done about it.

Residents want a complete overhaul of the road's surface and lay-out. "This area will never develop its potential until something is done," says former Township Supervisor Ramsford Bromley.

The county will only patch up the road, however, says Hiland M. Thatcher, chairman of the county road commission.

"That's all they've been doing for 30 years," says Bromley.

"The traffic count doesn't warrant more than that," says Thatcher. "We have so many other roads in the county with 10 to 15 times as much traffic that are in the same shape."

"It would cost $50,000 to $80,000 and we don't have that kind of money to put into a road with the light traffic it has."

But Bromley blames the low traffic count on the road. "It's so bad that no one drives on it unless he has to. People stay away from Addison Township because the road is so bad."

Township clerk Bob McCallum says the road is so rough and bumpy and has so many holes that "I don't think the Indians would even take it back."

Bromley adds that passing the many big gravel trucks that use the road is impossible on more than half the road between Lakeville and Rochester. He says motorists use M24 or Van Dyke Road to drive toward Detroit.

"This area has the greatest potential in the county," says Bromley. "It has land, it has lakes and it has beauty. But it doesn't have good roads."

"We have a beautiful area lying dormant and it will continue to lie dormant unless something is done, concludes Bromley, who owns a grocery, gas station and motel at the corner of Rochester and Lakeville roads.

"In approving its budget last month the school board granted pay increases to teachers of $300 each. In addition $300 annual increments are given. The pay schedule had been the lowest in the county."

Bartlett said the 2.5 mills that would have been transferred would have provided more than enough funds for the salary increases.

Bartlett said there was heavy opposition to the millage request in the Green Oaks area of the district. This is in the Livingston County portion of the school system.

The total vote was one of the highest ever recorded in the school district, according to the superintendent.

Millage Defeat Forces Lyon School Unit Action

SOUTH LYON—Alternate proposals needed to counteract the defeat Saturday of a millage request will be considered tonight by the Lyon Township Board of Education.

A 5.5 millage proposal that would have provided the school district with about $140,000 annually for operations was rejected over the weekend by a vote of 622 to 472.

The proposal would not have required a tax increase.

Of the total millage, four would have been a renewal of recently expired taxes, and the remaining 1.5 mills would have been converted from a building and site fund into the operating fund.

Superintendent Frank Bartlett said the board has several alternatives it can consider.

"First, the board can decide to hold another special millage election sometime in the near future."

Special School Unit Organized in Utica

UTICA—A special committee to familiarize administrators, teachers and laymen with all aspects of school operation and to plan for future development of the school program has been formed here.

Richard Stave, attorney and the city's justice of the peace, has been named chairman of the committee, known officially as the United Planning and Advisory Committee.

The committee's first project will be to review the school's financial situation.

Wins Contract to Extend Rochester Post Office

ROCHESTER—A $229,500 contract for alterations and an addition to the post office here has been awarded to Martin Trost and Sons, East Detroit.

Work on the project, to include demolition of an old apartment building now used by the post office adjacent to its main building and construction of an addition in place, is scheduled to begin June 1.

Meeting Slated at Walled Lake PTA Council

WALLED LAKE The Walled Lake Council of Parent-Teacher Associations will hold its "Council luncheon" at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Walled Lake Senior High School.

Following a brief business meeting, the recipient of the Council's annual scholarship award will be announced by Mrs. C. O. Ginter, scholarship chairman.

New officers also will be installed. They are Mrs. Edward Bousque, president; Harry Gerhals, father vice president; Mrs. Joseph Olson, mother vice president; DeForest McIntyre, teacher vice president; Ivan Cox, treasurer; Mrs. Arild Weborg, recording secretary; Mrs. Floyd Daniels, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Watson Stringer, historian.

Topics to be discussed at the meeting include membership, programing, use of PTA funds, libraries and library services, and the YMCA program.

Probe Area Fire; Store Roofs Burned

MADISON HEIGHTS—Firemen here are investigating a blaze that burned gaping holes in the roofs of two stores in a cement block building on John R Road yesterday morning.

It is believed the fire started in the S & S Bakery Shop at 2826 John R Road and spread to the nearby Gates Beauty Salon at 2828 John R Road.

Damage was estimated at $15,000 by Fire Chief Joseph Sloan. Two adjoining stores also were damaged by smoke.

No one was in the building at the time of the blaze, which kept firemen occupied for two hours.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Galant, of Grrosse Pointe Farms, announce the engagement of their daughter Christine Louise to Philip M. Hargrave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal L. Hargrave, of 6955 Orchard Lake Road, West Bloomfield Township. A fall wedding is planned.

Vigilance Tax Group Seeks Statewide Help

DEARBORN—The Vigilance Tax Committee has begun at tempt to solicit statewide legal and financial support for a court battle which tax opponents say they will carry to the Supreme Court.

Berkley Mayor George Kuhn, committee chairman, said Saturday that the committee has authorized a statewide letter campaign to garner fund aid.

Kuhn said some 250 cities and villages have shown sympathetic interest in the cause and are being asked for financial support.

He said the committee's treasury report showed $1,500 already pledged by Detroit area governments for support of the suit filed in Wayne County Circuit Court last Thursday.

The committee has also resolved to oppose the retaliatory income tax plans being considered by some communities in the Detroit area.

"Until the fate of the Detroit tax is decided in court, we resolved on other cities should consider an income tax," Kuhn said.

"Should Detroit prevail, however," he added, "any city would have the right to self defense."

The House and Senate also will be urged to override Gov. Swainson's veto of the Bowman bill, which would have barred cities from taxing nonresidents.

Says Rock 'n' Roll Has Bad Influence

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—"It is Friday, May 11," was played one day on the portal of Bamberg Cathedral. Police picked up four teenagers and said they were the culprits. When rock 'n' roller Bill Haley sang in a Berlin concert hall, infuriated teenagers nearly wrecked the place.

In Bamberg, two girls leaped to their deaths from the 15th floor of a house. In their farewell letter, they said they were "called by the dead Jimmy" — a reference to James Dean, the late movie actor killed in a German pop tune as the "first to make youth meaningful."

These incidents are cited by a German Protestant pastor as extreme examples of what influence popular music can have on West German teenagers, now buying almost half the 40 million pop records annually sold in West Germany.

Pastor Guenter Hegele, 33, feels that to finger-raising, moving lectures are needed to alert young people to pop's potential harm. He says youth just must be made to think about what they listen to so they can differentiate between good and bad pop.

"It's about the same with the movies," he says. "A bad movie cannot do me much harm if I am aware why it is bad."

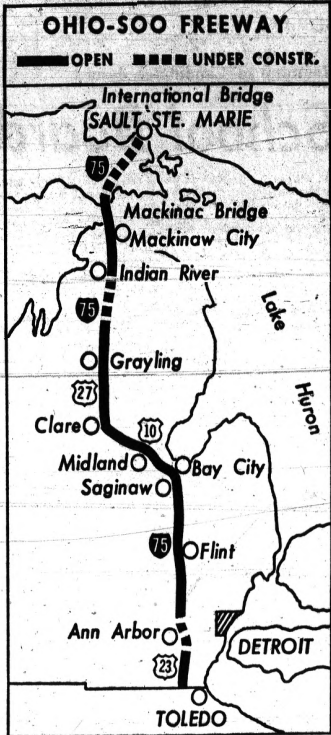

He likes quite a few pop tunes himself. An occasional disc jockey at Radio Munich, he recently made his debut on the national television network, which earned him the billing of "Schulzenpfeifer" or "pop tune pastor."

"Rhythm," Hegele says, "is an elementary power in life. But the danger is that the precious strength of juvenile enthusiasm is spent on an unsuitable object. Man has only a certain quantum of devotion. If we spend it in our enthusiasm over the whipping rhythm of some pop tunes, it will be lacking elsewhere: in school, on the job, in love and marriage."

N-Tests in Pacific Called Successful

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Glen T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission says indications are the government is getting the information it sought in the current series of nuclear tests in the skies over the Pacific.

Except for this remark Seaborg was as tight-lipped Sunday on a series.

recorded television interview with Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., as the government has been in announcing firing of the tests.

The 16th Pacific explosion was announced Saturday. It was described as an air drop of intermediate yield—meaning a blast equivalent to 30,000 to 1 million tons of conventional explosive forces. The government also announced an underground test of intermediate yield at the Nevada proving ground, the 22nd in that series.

Johnson Gets Offers After Defending Title

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harold Johnson of Philadelphia successfully defended his National Boxing Association crown here Saturday night, winning a unanimous 15-round light heavyweight decision over challenger Doug Jones of New York. In so doing he added New York State, Europe and Massachusetts to his title domain.

Johnson, a surprisingly light 171½ pounds, induced fight up to his reputation as a master boxer. His 10 years of experience was written all over his face as he outboxed Jones with his left hand, battered him with overhand rights and counterpunched the junior fighter into submission. Jones also weighed 171½.

The referee's decision was unanimous in his verdict, referee Dave Beloff scoring the fight 74-61, Judge Nick Spano 71-63 and Judge Zack Clayton 74-61. Johnson scored a knockout if not a technical victory, his 68th against only 10 defeats.

Since the fight was an easy victory for the champion, most of the post bout talk was on what's ahead for him.

Spartans Take 'M' Bucks in Track Meet

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State University trackmen were honored to a razor-edge sharp victory for the Big Ten competition this week and demonstrated their edge Saturday with an impressive triangular victory here.

The Spartans came out ahead of conference rivals Michigan and Ohio State.

In their first track win over arch-rival Michigan in a decade, the Spartans accumulated 75½ points, compared to Michigan's 64½ and OSU's 14½.

Speedy Sherm Lewis, better known for his football prowess at a halfback slot on the Spartan varsity, led MSU with 15½ points, finishing first in the 100-yard dash and second in the 220-yard dash and broad jump.

Ergas Lepis of Michigan and Paul Warfield of Ohio State were the only double winners. Lepis took the mile and the 800-yard run and Warfield set a new track record with a 24 ft. 6½ inch leap in the broad jump. The Buckeye star also won the 220-foot hurdles.

It's Kelley Again in AAU Marathon

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Johnny Kelley of Groton, Conn., scored an easy victory in the National AAU Marathon Sunday, the seventh consecutive time the slightly built school teacher had won it.

Kelley, representing the Boston A.A., encountered little opposition in the 26 miles, 385 yard trip, though he finished in his slowest time in six years—2 hours, 27 minutes and 39 seconds.

He was more than three minutes ahead of the second place man, L. A. Alex Breckenridge of the U.S. Marine Corps, who was caught in 2:30:46. George A. Terry of the Electric Boat Co. Kelley's brother-in-law, ran third.

Kelley and Breckenridge pulled ahead of the field 75 yards after the start and matched strides for about 10 miles before Kelley slowly pulled away and opened up a one minute lead after 15 miles.

John A. Kelley of Watertown, Mass., no relation to the winner, finished fourth. This Kelley, 54 years old, won the event in 1955.

TRAFFIC JAM — New York's Mickey Mantle beat out a slower runner and second in the opening game against Cleveland yesterday and tripped over Indians' hurler Dick Donovan (20), who took the throw too late.

Joe Franconi watched the action while umpire Cal Drummond gave the "safe" signal. The Indians swept a double header from the Yankees.

Pott Ties Arnie at 281 in Colonial

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Arnold Palmer and Johnny Pott tied today to square a little matter of $7,000 and the championship of the $40,400 Colonial National Invitation golf tournament.

Palmer, in one of his rare golfing lapses, necessitated an 18-hole playoff which he bogied two of the last three holes yesterday and missed a 12-foot birdie putt on No. 18 that would have given him his sixth current title.

The numerical Pennsylvania soared to 7.35 in the final round of the tournament and enabled Pott, with a one-under-par 68, to move from seven strokes back into a tie at 281.

But he slammed his second shot into the water on the left side of the green and was tagged with a penalty stroke. He put his fourth shot five feet from the hole, then missed the putt that would have given him a tie.

The double-bogey six, his second at 18 in two days, gave him a 74 appearance, even of which he emerged the victor.

Former National Amateur champion Jack Nicklaus, who has finished in the money 15 of the 16 times he's played as a professional, trimmed one stroke from par for a 69, a 284 total, fourth place and $2,000.

A stroke back were Jim Ferree and Gary Brewer, closing with a 69 and 72 respectively, who picked up $1,750 each. Bo Wingler and Doug Ford occupied the 285 bracket for $1,500 apiece.

Defending champion Doug Sanders and Gary Player, who blew his title aspirations with a dismal 78, finished at 286 for $1,500.

Palmer, the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions winner last week, is making his 10th playoff appearance, seven of which he emerged the victor.

Busy tucking away the Waco Turner Open at the same time, Pott has gone into overtime three times, winning only once, at the Dallas Open in 1960.

PORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Money winners in the Colonial National Invitation golf tournament were Arnold Palmer and Johnny Pott, who tied at 281.

Palmer, in one of his rare golfing lapses, necessitated an 18-hole playoff which he bogied two of the last three holes yesterday and missed a 12-foot birdie putt on No. 18 that would have given him his sixth current title.

The numerical Pennsylvania soared to 7.35 in the final round of the tournament and enabled Pott, with a one-under-par 68, to move from seven strokes back into a tie at 281.

But he slammed his second shot into the water on the left side of the green and was tagged with a penalty stroke. He put his fourth shot five feet from the hole, then missed the putt that would have given him a tie.

The double-bogey six, his second at 18 in two days, gave him a 74 appearance, even of which he emerged the victor.

Former National Amateur champion Jack Nicklaus, who has finished in the money 15 of the 16 times he's played as a professional, trimmed one stroke from par for a 69, a 284 total, fourth place and $2,000.

A stroke back were Jim Ferree and Gary Brewer, closing with a 69 and 72 respectively, who picked up $1,750 each. Bo Wingler and Doug Ford occupied the 285 bracket for $1,500 apiece.

Defending champion Doug Sanders and Gary Player, who blew his title aspirations with a dismal 78, finished at 286 for $1,500.

Palmer, the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions winner last week, is making his 10th playoff appearance, seven of which he emerged the victor.

Michigan Nine Eyes Repeat

By The Associated Press

Michigan's Wolverines, holding a slim one-game lead over Illinois, will attempt to capture their second straight Big Ten baseball title while on the road this weekend.

Michigan and Illinois both turn doubleheaders Saturday to bow the race into a two-team affair. Ohio State, dropping a pair to Michigan, can do no better than gain a tie title and then only if the Buckeyes win their last three games while Illinois and Michigan both lose three.

Michigan, with an 11-1 record, will be at Northwestern (5-4) Friday and at Wisconsin (6-4) for a pair of games Saturday.

Illinois, with a 10-2 record, is at home and needs Minnesota (8-7) Friday before closing the season with a doubleheader against Iowa (5-4) Saturday.

This weekend's action will end the race except for Iowa and Minnesota—who have a three game series the night of May 18-19, but both clubs have long been eliminated from championship consideration.

Michigan had to rally to down Ohio State, 5-4, in 10 innings before hammering the Buckeyes, 12-2, in the nightcap. Illinois downed Purdue, 2-1 and 2-0; Michigan State defeated Indiana, 4-0 and 7-4; Northwestern beat Minnesota, 6-7, 9-5 and 9-8; and Wisconsin whipped Iowa, 7-2, before losing 4-3 in 12 innings.

Three-run homers by Jerry Sutton in the first game and George Auer in the second game secured the decisive run in the 12th inning.

Pat Richter's home run and double provided Wisconsin with its triumph over Iowa but the Hawkeyes came from behind to tie the second game and finally pushed across the decisive run in the 12th inning.

from Indiana. Both games were limited to seven innings because of a late start and in each game MSU scored the winning runs in the final frame.

WIBC Tourney Nears Windup

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The last big week of action in the Woman's International Bowling Congress national tournament produced one new record and new leaders in singles, doubles, and all events.

The 42-day pin marathon ends Wednesday night with new champions assured in all five categories.

Last week's big news was made by Martha Hoffman, a 50-year-old secretary from Madison, Wis.

Miss Hoffman, who has won a bowling grand slam in 1952 with national, state, and city championships, rolled a 296. It was the highest single game in WIBC tournament history. She had a 603 series to replace Doris Porter of Los Angeles as the singles leader.

TAKE LEAD

Sandy Hooper and Jean Cowger of Oklahoma City rolled 1,238 to take over the doubles lead, and Miss Hooper took all the events lead with 1,804.

The WIBC also wound up its 65th annual convention this week, awarding the 1964 tournament to Minneapolis. The 1963 tournament will be in Memphis, Tenn.

MSU Coaches Like Rush and Brown

By BILL CORNWELL
EAST LANSING — Jerry Rush and Charlie Brown, Pontiac Central's two contributors to Michigan State University football, figured strongly in Duffy Daugherty's plans for the 1962 season.

"This was made clear both during and after Saturday's 6th annual Old Timers game at Spartan Stadium as the MSU varsity sponsored a disgruntled Alumni squad, 31-6, before 10,823 fans.

Rush, a sophomore-to-be, saw considerable action during the 2nd and 3rd quarters and is one of four sophs listed among Duffy's first 22 men.

Brown, who played strictly defense last fall in his sophomore year, went both ways Saturday and started the contest at offensive guard.

The Spartans' big, mobil line of Ernie Clark, Jim Bobbit, Ed Budde, Dave Belman, Matt Snorlon, Herb Paterna and Brown limited the Old Timers to a negative 19 yards rushing.

One Old Timer lineman praised Rush. "That second-stringer Duffy put in there in the 2nd quarter was no easier than the other guy," he said.

"Jerry is a real great prospect," Daugherty enthused. "He'll play a lot for us next fall."

Assistant coach Bart Smith went even further.

"Jerry has all the necessary skills to be a great one," Smith said. "He has a fine attitude and he's a terrific competitor."

Rush, who stands 6-foot-4, now scales close to 250 pounds—and none of it is fat. He weighed 225 when he graduated from PCH in 1960.

Homers Out of Fashion This Year in Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Seldom, even in the fickle field of female fashions, has anything ever gone out of style so fast as the home run in Los Angeles.

Four hundred and forty homers were hit here last season. A major league record of 248 was established in 82 games at band box Wrigley Field, where a month of average strength could knock the ball into the seats with a folded towel.

At the Coliseum, where the shortstop and left fielder played side by side, there were 192 homers in 77 games.

Baseball Teams in MIAA Set for Showdown

By The Associated Press
A showdown began today between defending champion Alma and Kalamazoo for the MIAA baseball championship.

The season winds up with a string of five double-headers today and Tuesday during which runners and Kalamazoo will be appearing twice in its effort to overtake league-leader Alma.

Kalamazoo (6-2) is at home for a double-header today with Hope (3-4) and then plays two games Tuesday at Olivet (3-5).

Alma (5-2) meets Albion (4-3) in its finale Tuesday. Albion, with a chance to sneak in for the title, plays a double-header today at Calvin (0-8).

Calvin is at home in another double-header Tuesday.

The 440 major league homers hit here last year averaged out to 2.77 per game. In the first 31 games at Chavez Ravine, there have been only 29 homers. This is an average of 0.94 per game—barely one-third the 1961 average here.

ONE HOMER
Sunday was typically trouble-free for the long-batters. The Chicago White Sox got 16 hits and the Angels got 10. Of the 26, only one was a homer.

Chicago led a four-run lead in the seventh inning, when rookie Tom Burgess helped pull the Angels into a 5-5 tie with a three-run homer, his first in the majors.

But the White Sox tore into four Los Angeles pitchers for seven runs in the eighth and finally won it 15-6.

Ridan Invades Pimlico for Preakness Tuneup

BALTIMORE (AP)—A workout was scheduled at Pimlico today for Ridan, the beaten favorite in the Kentucky Derby who will get a second bid for the Triple Crown.

Other Derby horses expected to compete are Sunrise County (5), Crispin Sultan (6), Green Hornet (7) and Prego (15).

Other probabilities are Greek Money, winner of Saturday's $5,000 Preakness Prep by seven lengths in a three-horse betless exhibition, and Flying Johnnie.

The arrival of Ridan increased to nine the number of probable Preakness starters already slated at Pimlico. Two others, Jalpur and Vimy Ridge, are expected from New York either today or Tuesday.

TOUGH RIDE
Ridan finished third in the Derby after proving difficult to handle for jockey Manuel Ycaza, who complained that the colt tried to bear in with almost every stride.

Ycaza will be aboard again Saturday as he shoots for the winner's share of the $150,000-added purse over the mile and three sixteenths distance.

George B. Widener's Jalpur won the $38,000 Withers Mile at Aqueduct Saturday. He covered the distance in 1:35.95 over a fast track, just two-fifths of a second over the Withers record.

Like Jalpur, Vimy Ridge did not complete in the Derby. But the English-bred colt broke the American mile record for a turf course in winning the Senatorial Stakes at Laurel.

NEW THEATRE
Vimy Ridge is trained by Tom Barry, who saddled Cavan and Ollie Ash to victories in the Belmont Stakes in recent years. Some observers think he may have developed another distance runner in Vimy Ridge.

Gains Berth Alongside Jones and Marshman

Rog Has Been Third or Higher Last Three Champ in 2nd Row

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Former winner Rodger Ward will start his 12th straight 500-mile auto race May 30 in the front row, flanked by the hottest young drivers the Indianapolis Motor Speedway has seen in many years.

Ward, who has been no worse than third in the last four Memorial Day classics, will be sandwiched between Parnelli Jones, first driver to break the one-minute barrier at the 2½-mile track, and smooth Bobby Marshman.

The 26-year-old Jones, defending champion of the USAC spring car circuit, led twice in his first Indianapolis appearance last year but fell back to 12th after his magnum went sour and he caught a flying bolt over dead line. Marshman started one last, 33rd, and finished seventh.

Jones, from Torrance, Calif., and the 25-year-old Marshman, of Pottsville, Pa., were sensational in the 10-mile qualifying runs which will continue next weekend. Jones upped the record to 150.37 miles an hour with a record single lap at 150.73. Marshman's 149.34 average was third-best, behind Ward's 148.07.

A. J. Foyt Jr. of Houston, Tex., last year's winner and USAC national big car champion the last two seasons, will start directly behind Jones in the middle of the second row with a 148.07 qualifying mark. He is flanked by two other veterans, Len Sutton, Portland, Ore., 146.18, and Shorty Geisler, Seattle, 149.02.

Twenty-one cars have qualified, leaving 12 starting spots to be filled next weekend. All are powered by conventional engines except a rear-engine Thompson Special qualified at the good speed of 147.88, by Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., a veteran of European road races. The first appearance at the Speedway, Gurney put a stock-block car into the lineup for the first time since Harry Miller built a 1936. Gurney's car is one of three based on bored-out Ford aluminum blocks, built by Mickey Thompson of Long Beach, Calif., for a number of many speed records.

TOO SLOW
The first 21 qualifiers averaged a record 147.65 miles an hour. Eddie Sachs won the pole position last year at 146.50. He led the race but lost a wheel in practice Saturday and never got up to qualifying speed after the damage was repaired.

Also still unqualified are Troy Ruttman, Dearborn, Mich., winner in 1962, and Jim Rathman, Melbourne, Fla., the 1960 winner. Both made attempts last Sunday but didn't finish the runs. Drivers have three chances.

High wind limited Sunday's activity to two completed qualification runs, by veterans Eddie Johnson, Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, and Bob Veith, Fort Bragg, Calif. Norman Hall, 36, an ex-cop, suffered serious head, leg and back injuries in his second crash of the weekend. He hit the concrete outer wall coming out of the southeast turn both times, tearing up a Dean Seale in a practice run Saturday and wrecking on the first lap in a Forbes Special Sunday.

Day in a Forbes Special Sunday.

Pros, Cons of Medicare Congressional Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy next week will turn up the heat in hopes of melting some congressional ice in the path of his program for medical care to the aged through Social Security.

He is scheduled to participate in a Madison Square Garden rally in New York Sunday — the centerpiece of more than 30 meetings throughout the nation to drum up public support.

The administration's medical care plan, the King-Anderson bill, has been bottled up in a House committee.

Last week President Kennedy invited seven leaders of the American Medical Association (AMA), which spearheads the opposition, to a White House discussion. Neither President Kennedy nor AMA budged an inch.

The King-Anderson bill would provide health insurance for the elderly through an increase in Social Security taxes. Whether it passes or not, it's almost certain to provide campaign ammunition for both sides in next fall's congressional elections.

It would affect directly 14.5 million voters.

For the past year, the King-Anderson bill has been immobilized in the House Ways and Means Committee where it lacks the votes needed to bring it to the House floor.

WHAT IS THE BILL?

Exactly what are the provisions of the King-Anderson bill? What health plans are available to the elderly now? What are some of the alternative plans? What's the case for and against King-Anderson?

Let's consider these questions in sequence.

THE BILL

It would provide certain types of medical care for all people 65 or older who are retired and receiving monthly Social Security or Railroad Retirement benefits. Those eligible would get:

Inpatient hospital services for up to 90 days — after they have paid the first $10 a day for up to nine days and after they have paid a minimum of $5. The minimum, charged for a single day's stay, would discourage people from entering hospitals unnecessarily.

Skilled nursing home services for up to 180 days — provided the patient first is treated in a hospital.

Outpatient hospital diagnostic services — after the patient has paid the first $30 of the charge for each diagnostic study.

Home health services for up to 240 visits during a calendar year, including intermittent nursing care, therapy and part-time "home-maker" services.

Not covered under King-Anderson would be physicians' and dentists' fees, the cost of drugs and certain other health items.

The health services would be financed by an increase in Social Security taxes in this manner:

SOCIAL SECURITY TAX

The taxable earnings base (that is, the part of your salary on which you pay Social Security taxes) would be raised from the present $4,800 to $5,300.

Payroll contributions from the employee and the employer would be raised 1/2 of 1 percent and from the self-employed 3/4 of 1 percent, beginning in 1963.

For example, a person earning $5,300 a year would contribute $13 a year to the health insurance program, or so would his boss — a total of $26 a year.

2. HEALTH PLANS — PRESENT AND PROPOSED

What health plans are available to elderly persons right now?

The Kerr-Mills Law, in effect since October 1950, provides a wider range of benefits (including physicians' and dentists' fees) for fewer people than King-Anderson.

The bill was co-authored by Rep. Wilbur Mills (D-Ark.) and Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.). Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Kerr-Mills provides financial aid through federal-state funds for persons 65 and over who do not qualify for old age assistance yet are unable to pay medical bills. These are the "medically indigent" emergency cases.

Then the West Virginia Welfare Department announced sharp cutbacks in its program and a tightening of eligibility requirements. The department said a financial emergency existed.

Others would pay a graded premium of the premium "until the self-insufficiency point, where the individual would pay the entire premium."

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (N.Y.), a foe of King-Anderson, has proposed in a Senate bill a compromise plan that would be financed partly through Social Security and partly through federal funds.

As an added feature, the Javits plan would enable the government to reimburse elderly patients for their private health insurance plans. This, says Javits, would stimulate the growth of private plans.

Another bill, offered by Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ore.) and especially favored by Republicans, would cover the elderly on a voluntary basis with premiums up to $125 per person credited against his or her federal income taxes.

The Health Insurance Institute counts more than 136 million persons over 65 had some form of population—as covered by some form of private health insurance plans.

BUYING VOLUNTARY

It figures that approximately 53 percent of the noninstitutionalized elderly patients for the year of 1961 and that the elderly are buying it at a faster rate than any other segment of the population.

The institute says 1,300 organizations are in the health insurance business, including some 880 insurance companies, 78 Blue Cross plans, 69 Blue Shield plans and more than 300 different plans in industry, community and college.

CASE FOR KING-ANDERSON

What arguments have been advanced in favor of King-Anderson? President Kennedy has put it this way:

Those who are 65—16 million today in the United States—go to the hospital more often and stay longer than their younger neighbors.

"Their physical activity is limited by six times as much disability as the rest of the population. Their annual medical bill is twice that of persons under 65—but their income is only half as high."

"Today, only about half our aged population has any health insurance of any kind—and most of these have insufficient coverage."

"This program, of course, would not interfere in any way with the freedom of choice of doctor, hospital or nurse."

"It would not specify in any way the kind of medical or health care or treatment to be provided."

Proponents of King-Anderson say current plans, including Kerr-Mills, are inadequate.

"No commercial carrier, either singly or in groups," says Rep. King, "can give the great majority of the older people what they need for what they can afford to pay."

As to the effectiveness of Kerr-Mills, says Sen. Anderson, only 4/10 of 1 percent of the nation's 16 million people 65 and older are receiving help under its provisions.

6. CASE AGAINST KING

Opponents, led by the American Medical Association, contend the plan would be a start toward socialized medicine which would endanger professional freedom and lower medical standards.

Dr. Leonard W. Larson of Bloomington, N.D., president of the AMA which claims 108,000 doctor-members, says King-Anderson would make the secretary of health and welfare "literally the czar of American medicine."

Foes also assert that King-Anderson would cost $4.4 billion annually by 1983, compared with the Kennedy administration's estimate of $2.5 billion by 1980.

Opponents also say they doubt that the economic status of the aged is as tough as painted by supporters of King-Anderson.

"In many respects," says the AMA, "the aged are better off than any other group."

Their liquid assets are higher and have risen faster than any age group.

Hospital reports they have less difficulty obtaining payment from patients over 65 than from younger patients."

Rep. Corman maintains current plans are adequate to care for the aged. He has inserted in the Congressional Record what he called a comprehensive list of "guaranteed lifetime health insurance programs" now available. The list took 10 pages.

"It is a tragedy," says Corman, "that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare does not help in disseminating the good news of the health insurance that is available in our society so that our people can avail themselves of it."

5. THE OUTLOOK

Both sides have conducted vigorous campaigns looking toward the approaching showdown in Congress.

Last year, the AMA financed a pamphlet called "Socialized Medicine and You," designed for mailing by doctors to their patients. Posters carrying the same message were hung in doctors' offices. Physicians were exhorted to write their congressmen.

At least 30 state medical societies are planning to send representatives to Washington to voice their opposition to King-Anderson.

On the other hand, a special task force led by Assistant Secretary of Health, Welfare and Education Wilbur J. Cohen has been gathering all available information favorable to the bill as ammunition to use before Congress.

OPTIMISTIC

Last week House Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass., expressed optimism about the bill's chances in the House. He said congressmen returning from their Easter vacation reported public sentiment was overwhelmingly in favor of the plan.

Dr. Leonard W. Larson, AMA president, contends on the other hand that more and more people, including elderly citizens, are switching from support to opposition.

Congressional observers generally believe the prospects for the bill's release for floor action by the Ways and Means Committee have brightened in the past few weeks.

In any case, Democratic leaders in the Senate have made it plain that they plan to offer King-Anderson as an amendment to a House measure on the Senate floor if the House should fail to send a medical care bill to the Senate this year.

And Rep. King says that if the Ways and Means Committee should fail to clear the measure for floor action he'll file a discharge petition to bring it out. This is a rarely-used device requiring approval of a majority (218) members of the full House.

Now administration strategists figure public pressure might swing a few crucial votes in ways and means—one reason why the President, a recognized political character, is stepping in personally.

I Want to Be a Fireman'

Parental Pat on Back Important to Student

By LESLIE J. NARON, Ed. D.
Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

When your signal son reaches the "I'm going to be a fireman" stage, go right along with him.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

In planning your play at no-trump the first step is to count the sure tricks. The next step is to look around for enough additional tricks to insure making the contract. After that, you can and should think about overtricks, but not before.

South can count two hearts, three diamonds and two clubs for a total of seven sure tricks. At no-trump contract, he has two potential extra tricks in hearts if he can finesse successfully for the queen and break the suit. He may also gain an extra trick in clubs if the finesse for that queen works. But finesse don't always Say, "That's fine, be the best fireman in town."

In his early strivings and successes as well as in those in later years, he needs your help and support.

Goals need not be permanent. But the habit of setting goals is important. Students with goals in mind are most successful.

You can encourage your child to be goal minded by accepting the normal ambitions he has at various ages. That will help him form the habit of setting goals and working towards them.

My studies of the scholastic achievements of superior high school students show that the most successful of them have selected fairly precise educational goals. Gifted and superior children usually select goals early — many of them by the seventh grade.

GOALS IMPORTANT

Looking into the backgrounds of 40 persons who had already achieved eminence, Dr. Victor Goetzl, president of the National Association for Gifted Children, found that they had clear ideas of their goals at an early age.

Also that their home life had greatly influenced them in the choice of goals. They had no conflict with their parents over goals, but, on the contrary, encouragement or even pressure.

This ties in with my own observation that there are no conflicts about goal choices between parents and successful high school students. Among the less successful, goals often were nonexistent, or conflicts with parents existed.

Students who felt that their parents approved of their goals did better than those who thought their parents disapproved. For some, encouragement developed into actual pressure. For them, however, grades were lower and adjustment to both school and society were lower.

TALK IT OVER

Are you sure your son or daughter knows how you feel about his objectives? It's what he thinks that you feel that is important.

When children don't know how their parents feel, there has been a breakdown in communications. What they need to do is sit down and talk things over. After such a talk, I have seen both parent and student happily surprised to find they were in agreement on goals all the time.

Parents are the key people, in other words, when it comes to helping students settle on their goals. It's parental approval and support that counts.

work and if South looks further he can find two sure tricks in the spade suit.

All he must do is lead spades twice. The defense will take the ace and king, whereupon South will wrap up those two needed tricks in spades.

Can anything bad happen to South while he is setting up those two spades? No! He still has two stoppers in each of the other suits and has plenty of time.

What about the finesse? He can try them later if he wishes, but his first job is to make sure of his contract.

Greek Royalty Marries Prince Juan Carlos in Colorful Ceremony

ATHENS (AP) — Prince Juan Carlos of Spain and Princess Sophie of Greece were married today in a joyous wedding that thrilled peasants and nobility of both countries.

The dashing prince, groomed by Generalissimo Francisco Franco to occupy the long vacant Spanish throne, married the daughter of Greece's rulers in a Roman Catholic ceremony.

Within two hours they were to go through a second ceremony in the Greek Orthodox Cathedral to comply with Greek law and the princess' faith. Pope John XXIII gave special approval of the Catholic-Orthodox union after the princess pledged that she would bring up her children in her husband's Roman Catholic faith.

Church bells rang, artillery guns roared out a salute and a gathering of 120 royal guests looked on with excitement as the prince, 24, and the princess, 23, took their vows with "Nei"—a Greek word that sounds like "nay" but means "yes."

WE ARE UNIFORM

The Most Rev. Benedict Prinitis, Roman Catholic archbishop of Athens, officiated at the ceremony in the Cathedral of St. Denis.

Juan Carlos, a curly-haired six-footer, wore the uniform of a Spanish army officer.

The tall, slim bride—known as the "sad-eyed princess"—smiled happily and was so excited she almost tripped over the 20-foot train of her wedding dress. The gown had a regal flaring skirt with a tightly fitted waist and long sleeves.

Creator of 'Nancy' Gets Cartoon Award

Nancy, the lovable mop-headed imp appearing regularly in The Pontiac Press funnies, has won her creator the National Cartoonists Society award for "the best humor strip of the year."

A handsome plaque confirming the judgment by fellow cartoonists was presented to Ernie Bushmiller at the society's recent dinner meeting in New York City.

Bushmiller is a recognized master of the "gag-a-day" comic. He originally created bright-eyed little Nancy as a supporting character in his successful "Fritzi Ritz" strip. Nancy and her young friend Sluggo soon stole the scene from her Aunt Fritzi.

To satisfy readers, leading roles were switched and the strip title was changed to Nancy.

Mansfield's Attempt to Limit Debate Fails Virtually Killing Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today beat down for a second time a motion to limit debate on the administration's voting literacy test bill. The action probably will result in the piggybacking for this session of Congress of a measure to establish a sixth grade education as qualification to vote in federal elections.

The Senate last week rejected a similar cloture motion by a vote of 54-46. But it voted 64-35 today against shelving the bill in a maneuver calculated to permit members to express their support for a measure they knew wasn't going to be passed.

Just before the vote today, Sen. Francis Case, R-S. D., served notice he will seek to call up as a substitute for the literacy test bill a proposed constitutional amendment to a compulsory law.

He said many members who favor the purpose of the legislation have honest doubts about the constitutionality of proceeding by passage of a law.

The bill's advocates contend that its passage by Congress would go a long way toward elimination of discrimination against Negro voters. Its critics called the proposal an unconstitutional invasion of the right of states to fix qualifications for voters.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told reporters he would move, after failure of the cloture motion, to take up other business.

Mansfield indicated he would ask Senate to extend a measure dealing with textile agreements.

Marines, Troops on Laotian Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — American forces throughout the United States and the Pacific area were under alert today as permission was awaited to land U.S. combat Marines in Thailand, which borders Communist-embattled Laos.

Seek to Resume Peace Confab

U.S. Envoys Striving to Bring Feuding Princes Together for Talks

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — American diplomats strove today to bring the warring factions in Laos to the conference table but the leading princes so far could not agree on conditions for resumption of peace talks.

Should We Bomb Red Bases in China in an Asian War?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Serious deterioration of the situation in Laos could revive an old argument over whether to strike at supply bases inside Communist China.

Reliable informants said today the Pacific suggested recently that thought be given to hitting at bases in south China's Yunnan Province, believed to be a source of supply for pro-Communist forces across the border in Laos.

The idea reportedly was advanced as one of a range of measures that conceivably could be taken if the United States should decide to commit itself completely in the struggle to keep the Communists from overrunning Southeast Asia.

It was understood U.S. civilian leaders were not very receptive to the suggestion.

Military officials who spoke of hitting at bases inside Red China reportedly voiced a belief it would not bring on direct Chinese military intervention in Southeast Asia and thus a possible major war with the United States.

The dispute over whether the Communists should be allowed a "privileged sanctuary" in China dates back to the Korean conflict when President Harry S. Truman fired Gen. Douglas MacArthur from command in the Far East.

MacArthur was sacked mainly because he persistently advocated publicly that he be allowed to bomb Red bases in Manchuria. He did so in the face of U.S. policy to keep the war inside Korea, even though masses of Communist Chinese troops had poured into North Korea to fight U.S. and U.N. forces.

In more recent times, some military men privately have indicated a feeling that the United States ought to consider military action against North Viet Nam, from which the Communist guerrilla war against the pro-Western government of South Viet Nam is being directed, supplied and reinforced.

It was not clear at what point serious consideration of direct action against Red Chinese bases in Yunnan would take shape in action — in event the Communists were about to engulf all of Laos, if pro-Western Thailand were seriously endangered, or if Chinese soldiers actually entered the Laotian struggle.

U.S. officials have said there is no evidence any Chinese Communists so far have made an appearance in Laos.

Few American military men favor the idea of sending U.S. troops into Laos, which is landlocked, has few good roads and poor airfields.

Van Allen Belt Is 'Fatal' After 24-Hour Period

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An almost certain death awaits the astronaut who flies for more than 24 hours in parts of the earth-circling Van Allen radiation belt.

The warning about the lethal dangers of the wide ring of radiation came from its discoverer, Dr. James A. Van Allen, during a closed meeting of a House appropriations subcommittee.

The testimony was made public today.

The University of Iowa professor told the congressmen that radiation readings from high-flying satellites indicated that the part of the belt stretching from 2,000 to about 40,000 miles above the earth was "uninhabitable."

"Anyone flying in this inner region for as much as a day would very likely have a fatal dose of radiation in any present type spacecraft," he said.

Van Allen stressed, however, that the ring was not an absolute barrier to sending a team of space explorers to the moon.

"I do not wish to leave the impression that the radiation belt constitutes a barrier in any absolute sense to extending our space flight capability and our space flight program," he said.

Walters Delay Meal Arguing Over the Tip

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hundreds of guests at a charity dinner stared into empty fruit cups last night while a contingent of red-jacketed waiters talked turkey with officials of the Waldorf-Astoria hotel about tips.

About 1,200 guests, who paid $50-a-plate to attend the 37th annual dinner of the Jewish Chronic Disease Hospital, had just put away the tantalizing contents of the fruit cup when the waiters balked at further service.

They told management they wanted 12 per cent of the meal's cost as a gratuity, a spokesman explaining such matters usually were arranged in advance.

Boy Shot, Killed in Try to 'Win' Police Chase

DETROIT (AP) — A 14-year-old boy was shot and killed last night in a police chase. Officers said he ran a red light and then tried to get away in a car reported stolen earlier in the night.

The victim was identified as David Carson. Police said he escaped last Wednesday from the Wayne County General Hospital where he had been undergoing psychiatric treatment.

WASHINGTON (AP) — No consideration is being given to the suggestion that the U.S. Navy use its fleet of 14,000 U.S. Navy ships and National Guardsmen because of the new crisis in Laos, informed defense Department sources said today.

Kresge, 94, at Presentation Gives Library to MSUO

The $1.5-million Kresge Library, which overlooks sprawling Michigan State University Oakland, is the highest point on campus, was dedicated to the university Saturday.

The three-story brick structure, dominant feature of the MSUO campus and focal point of the 300-foot-long main in the academic area, was presented by Sebastian S. Kresge.

The 84-year-old founder of the Kresge store chain and creator of the Kresge Foundation which provided the money for the building, made a trip from Florida especially for the dedication ceremony.

He was introduced by James C. Zeder, vice president of the MSUO Foundation.

"Mr. Kresge and MSUO have two things in common," Zeder said. "Both believe in good hard work and fundamental principles."

He cited as examples, Kresge's position as one of the nation's most important and successful businessmen and MSUO's rigorous liberal arts curriculum, high standards and "concentration on the things that contribute to learning."

The modern building was accepted by C. Allen Harlan, member of the MSUO Board of Trustees. Harlan is also chairman of a new committee called Friends of the Kresge Library, established to raise funds for book purchases.

Presiding at the ceremony was Chancellor D. B. Varner. A brief talk on the library was given by David Wilder, university librarian.

The dedication was preceded by an open house and tour of the new building and followed by a luncheon on the library grounds.

The air-conditioned library has a capacity of 200,000 volumes. It has open stacks so that students may go directly to the shelves themselves and get the books they want.

It now accommodates 1,200 students and can be enlarged to three times its present size in future years.

AT DEDICATION — Everybody was pleased with this "swan" that took place Saturday at Michigan State University Oakland. Sebastian S. Kresge, (right) founder of the Kresge store chain and creator of the Kresge Foundation, got a fine portrait of himself and MSUO got a new $1.5-million library. Presenting the drawing during dedication ceremonies are (from left) C. Allen Harlan, Chancellor Dr. D. B. Varner, Samuel Kresge and his father. The library was built by Kresge Foundation funds.

Showers (Maybe) Late Today

Here comes summer — or the likes of it — for today is the warmest thus far this year in the Pontiac vicinity.

Following this afternoon's high in the 80s temperatures, there is a chance for late afternoon and evening thundershowers.

Cooler weather expected late tonight with a low 54 will precede Tuesday's mild 70 high.

Temperatures during the next five days will average about seven degrees above a normal high of 65 and a normal low of 48. Beginning about Wednesday warmer weather is expected as the weekend nears, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau report.

Precipitation will total one half to one inch in showers possibly tonight, Wednesday, and again near the weekend.

Winds southwest 15-25 miles will shift late tonight to northwest, bringing light northerly tomorrow.

A mild 66 degree at 5 a. m. was the lowest temperature recorded preceding 8 o'clock today. By 1 p. m. the mercury read 65.

Sukarno Escapes Assassination

SINGAPORE (AP)—Indonesian President Sukarno reportedly escaped another attempt on his life today when an assassin tried to gun him down at an outdoor prayer meeting in Jakarta.

Jakarta Radio said Sukarno escaped unhurt, but that five other persons, including two government officials, were injured slightly. The broadcast said police had seized the gunman who reportedly was acting on orders of the Darul Islam group of Moslem fanatics.

NO OFFICIAL WORD

Because today is an Indonesian national holiday, communications were irregular between Jakarta and the outside world. It was believed news reports of the shooting were being held up by censorship.

Thunderstorms Sweep State

Rains Blow North of This Area and Out Into Lake Huron

By The Associated Press

Severe thunderstorms swept across the state Sunday evening, with heavy rain falling in the Lake Michigan shore.

The storm claimed the life of a fisherman and several cottages were set afire by lightning on the Lake Michigan shore.

The Detroit Weather Bureau said today there were unconfirmed reports of two small tornadoes near Alpena. No major damage or injuries were reported.

In a highly localized storm in Oceana County, Harvey Nourie, 50, of Parchment, was knocked into the water by lightning as he fished on Hart Lake near Pent Water. His companion, Lawrence White, 50, of Kalamazoo, told sheriff's deputies that Nourie was standing in their 14-foot outboard, pulling in the anchor, when the bolt struck.

North of Hart, near Pentwater, lightning struck a cottage at North Beach, traveled through electrical wires to a second cottage and burned it to the ground. The first cottage suffered smoke damage.

Scout Executive Named Secretary of Oakland GOP

A 30-year-old Battle Creek man today was named the new executive secretary of the Republican Committee of Oakland County.

Jack L. Slater Jr., district executive for a Boy Scouts county, will succeed William J. Barker, who resigned last week. Slater will take over the new job June 1.

A political science major at the University of Michigan, Slater was graduated in 1955. He has worked in scouting since then, except for a two-year stint in the Army.

Slater married a former Huntington Woods resident, Dorothy Ann Ramsey. The couple has one child, Mark.

Moslem Maid Is Sought

Two Children Slain in Algiers

ALGIERS (AP)—Two Jewish children were found dead in their homes today with their throats cut and police are searching for a Moslem maid suspected of the killings.

The Indonesian embassy in Tokyo said the injured were Zaimi Arifin, speaker of Indonesia's house of representatives; K. H. Idham Chalid, deputy speaker of the consultative congress; Assistant Police Inspector I. Dajast and Police Brigadier Sudikmo, Sukarno's bodyguards, and Mohammed Nur, a palace official.

The gunman was not identified. The embassy said that "after the abortive incident, the situation was calm, and the prayer service was carried out as it ought to be."

The Darul Islam sect launched a rebellion against the government in 1952, two years after the 3,000 East Indian islands and their 50 million people were granted sovereignty by The Netherlands.

The group has fought the government ever since in an attempt to set up a Moslem state. Government military action has reduced the sect to scattered bandit groups that carry on terrorism in rural areas.

'Not Yet Sure of Space Needs'

Biologist Says Science Not Ready to Give All Data for Building Ships

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A biologist said today that science is not yet able to give the engineer the information he needs to design spacecrafts capable of supporting astronauts in good working condition during long flights away from the earth.

As a matter of fact, he said, biologists are not sure just what lines of study would be most useful in getting this information.

The scientist was Dr. Colin S. Pittendrigh, professor of biology at Princeton University. He delivered a lecture on space and the life sciences for overseas broadcast by the Voice of America.

Some requirements are obvious. For example, Pittendrigh said, the right conditions of temperature, moisture, oxygen, and carbon dioxide can be specified.

But there are possible "second-order effects" of space flight which must be taken into account.

"The plain fact," Pittendrigh said, is that the biologist is not in a position even to inform the engineer fully which features of our environment he must emulate and how precisely he must simulate them."

Outwardly the bonds of friendship are as strong as ever. But an undercurrent of reluctance, submissiveness or outright obstruction thwarts cooperation on almost any new project that is brought up for study.

Hits 'Turbulence' in Office of Drain Chief; Eyes Job

A controversial shakeup in the 12 Town Drain office swelled into a political campaign issue today as a Pontiac Township Democrat launched his bid to unseat Drain Commissioner Daniel Barry.

Roy J. Russell, blaming Barry for "turbulence" in the drain commissioner's office and the 12 Town Drain project, said he will seek the Democratic primary nomination to oppose Republican Barry in the November general election.

Russell, 32, of 436 Grey Road, lost to Barry in the 1960 election by some 23,000 votes.

In his announcement, Russell referred to a personnel shakeup in Barry's office last week in which two secretaries were fired and the 12 Town coordinator, Ashton J. Berst, resigned in protest.

Barry reportedly fired the secretaries, Mrs. Marie Griffith and Mrs. Marj McGee, because they refused to circulate his nominating petitions.

Russell charged that "Barry seems to be more concerned about his political future than his responsibilities to the taxpayers who are footing the bill for this multi-million-dollar (Twelve Town) project."

"It is becoming more evident as each day passes," Russell said, "that responsible administration of the Twelve Town organization is lacking."

Russell is secretary-treasurer and a board member of McAlpine Engineers, Inc., a Birmingham engineering and surveying firm. He was recently appointed branch manager of the Birmingham section of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Death Notices

EDWARD J. WHITNEY

ROMEO — Service for Edward J. Whitney, 81, of 283 N. Bailey St., will be 2 p.m. Wednesday at Roth's Home for Funerals. Burial will be in the Scotch Settlement Cemetery.

A retired thresher, Mr. Whitney died yesterday morning after a long illness. He was a life member of the Oddfellows Lodge.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Margaret Mair; a grandson, and two great-grandchildren, four sisters, Mrs. Henrietta Keeler of Washington, Mrs. Ralph Fisher of Fremont, and Grace Brennan of Cape, also survive.

British Conservatives Lose Ground at Polls

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Macmillan's Conservatives lost 181 seats in last week's local council elections. In the elections which started last Monday, the resurgent Liberals gained 510 seats and the opposition Labourites 381.

Independents lost 75. Twenty-three results are still to come.

The Conservative Daily Telegraph said today "No one in the government sees this as anything less than a serious political setback."

OK Contempt Conviction

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court affirmed today conviction of Maurice A. Hutchinson, president of the Carpenters Brotherhood, on a charge of contempt of court.

The Gaule's determination to make France an atomic power is at the heart of the quarrel.

The stern old general is convinced that France must have its own nuclear striking force to remain a first-rate power. He fears that if war should break out, the United States would be too busy with its own defense to worry about Europe.

U.S. policy, recently re-affirmed by President Kennedy, is against any proliferation of atomic weapons or any expansion in the number of atomic powers.

WONT HELP

The United States can do nothing to stop France from building its own atomic bombs, but it is resolved to do nothing to help France in its determination to build its own atomic power.

The application of this policy has been galling to France. De Gaulle has been too proud and too cautious to ask for any American secrets that are guarded by the McMahon Act. But he would like to have material and information that only Britain got under the Americans.

REJECTED OFFER

France recently offered to buy from the United States a gaseous diffusion plant for manufacture of enriched uranium, blueprints for an atomic submarine, gaseous diffusion systems and parts and propellants. The American answer was a flat no.

Milford Engineer Killed as Car Crashes into Culvert, Overtakes

A 31-year-old engineer was fatally injured early yesterday when a car driven by his wife crashed into a culvert and overturned less than two miles from their Milford home.

Kenneth M. Brause, 745 Knight Drive, died at 4 a.m. Sunday in Pontiac's Metropolitan Hospital.

His wife, Caroline, 28, suffered only minor injuries. She was treated and released at the hospital. Mrs. Brause was driving east toward their home in Milford, said she hit a bump in the road and lost control of the car.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, who estimated the car was traveling about 35 miles per hour, were unable to find any defects in the road when they investigated the mishap.

K in Bulgaria; May Formulate Peace Policy

SOFIA, Bulgaria (UPI) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev flew into Bulgaria today on a "friendship visit" which may produce a new peace policy for the traditionally troubled Balkans.

Informed observers believed Khrushchev planned to deal with the political situation in southeastern Europe, perhaps as a counter to the recent Atlantic Pact meeting in Athens.

Before leaving Moscow, Khrushchev spent five hours yesterday at the country house where his son-in-law, Alexei Adzhubei, editor of the government organ Pravda, was entertaining presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson also was a guest.

An official announcement said the occasion was "completely social" except for a 10-minute "business talk" between Khrushchev and Thompson. There was no indication of the matters they discussed.

Yugoslav Cries 'I'm Not Guilty'

Former VP Dijilas in Court on Charges of Betraying Secrets

BELOGRADE, Yugoslavia (UPI) — Former Vice President Milovan Djilas today proclaimed his innocence and defied the court which is trying him in secret on charges of "betraying state secrets."

"I will not answer any questions," he said, "and I will not defend myself."

Djilas, 50, was arrested in 1954 and sentenced to a three-year term in prison before the three-judge court closed its doors to the public.

"I am not guilty. I am actually here because of my moral disapproval."

Djilas, who has been imprisoned repeatedly for criticizing communism, spoke in a high, clear voice.

His attorney, Milovan Vukobratovic, opposed a prosecution demand that the trial be held in secret, but Yugoslav judges overruled him.

E. Germany's Ulbricht Visits Czech President

VIENNA (UPI) — East Germany's Communist party and government boss Walter Ulbricht arrived in Prague today for an official state visit aimed at "an intensification of the friendly relations between our two countries," according to Prague radio.

He was greeted at Prague's Ruzyn airport by Czech President and first party secretary Antonin Novotny.

Some American officials have said that, with its limited budget, France can never hope for anything but a pea shooter atomic program, which might be useless.

France recognizes that its effort is dwarfed by the programs in the United States and Russia. But it may still have the most effective force on the Western European continent.

FINKE BY PRODUCTS

The answer is still no, however, for such items as miniaturized electronic computers. The result is likely to be that France will develop its own use in missile guidance systems and then be able to benefit commercially from the experience. The go-it-alone atomic development program of the French has given France a long

The Day in Birmingham

4 Candidates to Contend for 2 School Board Posts

BIRMINGHAM — Four candidates will vie for the two expiring Birmingham Board of Education posts in the June 11 annual school election while two candidates will seek open positions on the Birmingham Hills school board.

Birmingham candidates for the two-year terms are Richard P. Barnard, incumbent secretary; Pelt Topping, 89 Argyle St.; Walter W. Selover, 3135 Middlebury Road; and Earl A. Welley, 2494 Pembroke St.

Malcolm Lovell, incumbent trustee whose term is expiring, will seek another term since he is moving out of the school district.

In Bloomfield Hills, David W. Lee, incumbent president, will be challenged for the one 4-year term by Bernard E. Sullivan of 3535 Forest Hill Road.

Voters in the Bloomfield Hills school district also will be asked to decide two proposals.

Approval is being sought to renew a 7.5-mill tax levy for operations for 15 years and increase it to three mills, mainly for salary improvements.

Authorization to sell $500,000 in bonds to finance the construction of a swimming pool in the district, probably at the senior high school, also being requested.

Approval of the bond issue would mean a tax increase of about one-third of a mill for 28 years, according to State, Eugene L. Johnson.

He said that the actual tax increase, including the hike needed to pay off the bonds, would only be about 2.8 mills, because the school board is planning to reduce bonded indebtedness by approximately one-fourth of a mill.

The Child Study Club of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will hold a luncheon - meeting May 24 at 12:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Dwight Brooks, 840 Shepherd Avenue.

The great speaker will be Rev. Raymond A. Fennar, pastor of the church. He will discuss

U.S., France Split in N-Policies

PARIS (AP) — France and the United States have been split by the atom. A relationship between the two old allies have been skidding toward a historic low.

Outwardly the bonds of friendship are as strong as ever. But an undercurrent of reluctance, submissiveness or outright obstruction thwarts cooperation on almost any new project that is brought up for study.

NOT SERIOUS

President Charles de Gaulle is expected to talk about French-American relations Tuesday at one of his rare news conferences.

Foreign Minister Maurice Couvreur told the National Assembly's foreign affairs committee last week, "it is clear that

5 Millionth '61 Car

New Auto Mark Hit

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry, with sales running at near record levels, produced its five millionth 1962 model car today.

The milestone came eight weeks earlier than in 1961. The five millionth 1961 model was not assembled until July 7.

Ward's Automotive Reports said that by the end of this month 1962 model output will surpass the 5,408,000 cars made in the entire 1961 model year, not concluded until early August.

The industry is shooting for 650,000 assemblies in May, which would be a high for the year and the second best for the month on record.

The best previous month this year was January when 628,583 cars rolled off the assembly lines.

Last week's output of 156,994

cars was a new high for 1962. The previous weekly high was 153,614 in the week ending April 18.

Fatima Pilgrims Pray for Peace in the World

FATIMA, Portugal (AP)—More than 100,000 pilgrims held night-long prayers and joined Sunday in processions and masses for the "conversion" of Russia and for peace in the world and in Portugal's overseas territories.

In Lisbon, Oporto, Coimbra and other Portuguese cities, there were similar processions and prayers.

It was 45 years ago, on this date, that three little shepherds claimed the Virgin Mary appeared to urge them to tell everyone to pray for the conversion of Russia and world peace.

Let's Stop Degrading Michigan's Name

Earlier in the week, the Voice of the People had a letter asking whether Michigan was the worst-run state in the Union.

The Pontiac Press doesn't think this is true, but no fair-minded individual anywhere can deny that we create this impression across the Nation because of our unending failures and inability to agree upon a constructive program. Certainly our internal bickering may place us first in the Nation's estimation — even if our own Michigan citizens don't agree.

We've had very unfavorable publicity from coast to coast. No other state approaches us. And no other state has suffered under a governor who has been heralded far and wide as the cause of an unhappy economic climate.

Currently, the GOP blames the Swainson Democrats and the Democrats blame the Senate Republicans. Perhaps both are right. This much is true: unless the current bloodletting ceases and ceases now, we're going to heighten the national impression of our legislative ineptness.

This newspaper opposed an income tax for an extended period of years believing this was a Federal prerogative. However, in sheer weariness at the Michigan muddle and several years of ineffectual action, we throw up both hands in abject surrender.

Let's restore order. Let's balance our books and build instead of continuing to drag Michigan's name through the mud by weeks, months and years of temporizing. Let's DO SOMETHING.

Guest Editorial British Papers Discuss Spain, Portugal

From our British Information Services, we find an interesting discussion of the unrest in Spain and Portugal.

The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) refers to the clandestine Communist parties, whose actual organization is small but whose role could be decisive.

This is at once the strength and the weakness of both regimes — more particularly of Dr. SALAZAR's. The overwhelming majority of people does not want to change its present dictatorship for a Red one as it could be this concession to democracy is liable to open the door to communism. If Dr. SALAZAR made way for a liberal government, nothing is more likely than that this would be speedily overwhelmed by one of the extreme left. The paper comments:

"The problem of preserving the benefits each ruler has given is complicated by uncertainty about the succession. General Franco has provided for the restoration of monarchy to Spain, but the identity of the uncrowned king is unsure. Dr. Salazar, whatever he may have in mind, has never declared it."

The Daily Mail (Conservative) says that to write off General Franco and Dr. SALAZAR as tyrants detested by the people is not the whole truth. Franco is infinitely preferable to another civil war. SALAZAR, gave firm government to a country which was dissolving in communism. Both have served their countries well, but perhaps too long. The Daily Mail declares:

"Sheer boredom, the intellectual and social tedium arising from unchanging rule, a muted opposition and a dumb press bears down upon the young, who must protest or burst. This, added to Portugal's troubles in Angola and Goa and labor conditions in Spain, is undoubtedly the reason for small but significant signs of unrest. It is time these two ancient and cultured peoples, who have contributed so much to our common civilization, began to play their full part in the world today."

The Man About Town column will resume June 1.

Washington

Economic Dream

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Establishment of a $1.8 billion international fund for the stabilization of export markets will be the big business before the 10th annual meeting of the United Nations Commission on Commodity Trade in Rome, May 14-20. W. Michael Blumenthal, deputy assistant secretary of state for economic affairs, will be chief U.S. delegate.

If this complicated enterprise can be set up, it could have tremendous influence on the success of not only the Alliance for Progress in the Western Hemisphere, but also for President Kennedy's foreign trade expansion program and all free world international trading.

There is as yet no blueprint to show how this business would work, if it will work at all. It is still a gleam in the eye of a lot of frightened people who recognize the economic dislocations caused in many countries by fluctuating commodity supplies and prices.

International coffee trade offers a prime example. A coffee study group of six importing and six exporting country representatives which has been meeting in Washington for several months has just requested U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant to call a formal conference of all coffee-producing and consuming countries in New York, beginning July 9.

The idea of commodity market stabilization was included in the Alliance for Progress Charter signed in Punta del Este, Uruguay, last August. Its final section called for analyzing "the proposal for establishing an international fund for the stabilization of export receipts" and for preparing "a draft plan for the creation of a mechanism for compensatory financing" in fluctuating markets.

For an oversimplified example of how it might work, take the case of Colombia, a principal coffee exporter.

Every time the New York price of coffee drops one cent a pound Colombia's coffee producers lose $7.5 million.

Colombia now has an Alliance for Progress development plan which will cost roughly $800 million a year. Any year there is a bad crop or even a bumper crop which drives down prices, Colombia doesn't have the foreign exchange to carry on development work. All it can do is cut back.

The alternative would be to set up an export stabilization fund, to which all coffee-producing countries would contribute. Any time an exporting country had a bad crop year and a shortage of foreign exchange, it could draw on this reserve by a temporary loan which would tide it over. This would enable the country to carry on its development plan.

This was the situation which Jorge Mejia Palacio, Colombia's minister of finance, described at the opening of the Inter-American Development Board of Governors meeting in Buenos Aires last month. And the most important decision taken at Buenos Aires was to explore possibilities for stabilizing commodity markets.

Teodoro Moscoso, United States co-ordinator for the Alliance for Progress, has the idea that any plan worked out by the IADR should be limited to stabilizing exports so that funds can be guaranteed for carrying on development programs.

The Rome U.N. meeting will of course tackle the problem on a worldwide scale. Export stabilization would then function something like the International Monetary Fund.

Merrily We Roll Along

David Lawrence Says:

Need Plan to Encourage Business

DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—There's a crying need for "productivity" of tax rates. The United States government needs money with which to balance its budget. It can cut some of its expenses, of course, and postpone some of its spending programs. But this will not be a sufficient stimulus.

What is most important is a program to encourage business operations so as to generate more tax money—more receipts from corporations and individuals.

To put the national economy back on its feet is the most urgent problem before the country today. This cannot be done if governmental power is used in a restrictive and frustrating way.

It can be achieved only if the federal government recognizes clearly the facts of fiscal life — that the Treasury is a 52 per cent partner today in corporation profits and must act as a cooperative instead of an uncooperative partner.

Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia, Democrat, has a realistic conception of what's going on. He is chairman of the Senate Finance Committee and a man who speaks his mind frankly and forthrightly. In a speech just delivered to the Delaware Bankers Association, he says:

"This nation has been on a deficit financing basis for 25 of the past 31 years. There was a $4-billion deficit last year, there will be a $7-billion-to-$10-billion deficit this year, and there will be another deficit of $3-billion-to-$5-billion in the coming fiscal year."

"We are told that the fiscal situation will be all right if we balance the federal budget over a cycle of years, and that this will be taken care of automatically if the federal government will only spend enough to raise the gross national product high enough to provide the necessary revenue."

'NEVER HAS WORKED'

"This is civil fiction. It never has worked. It is not working now, and I can prove it. It will not work in the future, and it is dangerous to rely on it. A prudent government would balance its budget by stopping nonessential expenditure. This is not being done."

The hard fact is that continuing deficits ultimately end in bankruptcy. When a nation goes bankrupt, its assets are not taken over and sold to satisfy its debts. Its money becomes worthless; its economy disintegrates;

The Country Parson

"I guess you can find out more about a man's religion by buying a used car from him than by hearing him pray."

its form of government falls and changes."

The Virginia senator points out, too, that previous federal deficits have been "a prime factor in inflation which continues to reduce the value of the dollar."

What this means is that since 1939 the dollar has gone down from 100 cents to 46.1 cents as of March of this year. Sen. Byrd says he suspects that, when the figures come in, it will be found that the dollar has gone down further in April and May.

Sen. Byrd says that, if the balance-of-payments deficit grows more serious and America's gold flows to other countries in larger and larger quantities, there will be talk of "diluting the dollar's gold base or reneging on our policy of offering the gold-dollar option in foreign payments."

Dr. Harold Hyman Says:

Like It or Not, Old Sol Speeds Up Facial Aging

Sun baddies hate to face the fact that their skin ages prematurely as the result of exposure, and overexposure to the ultraviolet rays of Old Sol.

Compare the color and texture of your protected skin areas, however small in extent, with the dried, coarse, leathery, wrinkled or dark-spotted appearance of light-exposed regions.

If this proof on your own body is not sufficient, compare the relatively youthful appearance of a city dweller's face with the weather-beaten features of a farmer or sailor of the same age who has necessarily had to expose himself to the elements.

What of other unpleasant features of the aging skin, such as creases, wrinkles, bags under the eyes, crow's feet, sagging facial contours, double chin, "liver spots," skin transparency, dryness of skin, itching skin, chin blemishes and a mustache for the ladies, a receding forehead? If not total baldness for the men?

Well, other than avoidance of excessive exposure to sunlight, agencies such as the American Medical Association and Food and Drug Administration have nothing to suggest with respect to the prevention of these changes. Nor do they have any regard for cosmetic applications that purport to delay or reverse the aging process. Indeed, the Food and Drug Administration has just seized, on charges of false and misleading label claims, some 200 "beauty power" devices.

It's a fact, however, that the devices would revitalize and restore resiliency to facial muscles, firm sagging facial contours, tone flabby muscles, stimulate facial circulation, remove creases of skin and the "dowager's hump" and generally improve skin texture.

NOTHING BUT TINGLE

These products do nothing more than impart to the skin a tingling sensation by means of wet pads connected to a small power transformer.

Nor did the skin specialists that attended the symposium of the medical association provide more comfort for the consumers.

"Cosmetic applications might lubricate the dry, senile skin, but, regardless of content, they have little, if any, effect on wrinkling," states the Journal of the American Medical Association in an editorial. However, the editorial concludes that "we dare not consider action in either direction while the dollar is under fire of domestic deficits and declining value."

It is obvious that the cause of the trouble is not deficits by themselves but failure to embark on a program that looks toward a rapid growth of tax receipts.

This can be done not merely by revising Treasury regulations on depreciation so as to encourage plant expansion and modernization of equipment but by a general change in the attitude of the administration and its advisers toward business as a whole. There must be a dynamic means of generating a flow of profits so that investors will find it attractive to participate in America's enterprises, both here and abroad.

with some encouragement for those whose vanity or professional careers demands positive action. For, in expert hands, surgical abrasive techniques, plastic surgery and the application of chemicals may prove successful for varying periods of time. With these exceptions, however, the rest of us will have to wear our wrinkles as "service stripes." And wear them, I hope and trust, with a certain pride.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Use Psychic Trigger to Relax

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE M-413: Susie Q., aged 20, is a very attractive girl. "Dr. Crane," her mother began, "when Susie was about 15, she was very ill."

"One of her friends then gave her a black, wooly Scottie dog. While she held it, she held it in her arms when she fell asleep."

"Now we have it stored away in a clothes closet. But when Susie is nervous or disturbed at bed-time, she'll still ask me where she can find that Scottie."

It is bedraggled and badly frayed, for the other children have played with it, but Susie seems to grow relaxed and sleep more soundly whenever she has her Scottie in her arms at bedtime. Why?

PSYCHIC TRIGGERS

Babies also get used to a relaxed, happy mood when they nurse on a full bottle of warm milk.

Mothers usually wrap the bottle in a flannel diaper or wooly blanket to keep it from sliding off the baby's chest.

So the baby thus grows accustomed to the flannel or wool cloth against its cheek.

In later years, long after it has been weaned from the bottle, it may still want to hold a piece of soft cloth against its cheek as a prelude to relaxation and sound sleep.

Voice of the People:

'Writer Must Not Realize Many Teen-Agers Good'

As a Pontiac area teen-ager, a letter signed "Retired" demands rebuttal. Whether the proposal mail would be beneficial, I am not qualified to say. In the last instance the writer blindly implies all teen-agers are second-rate or inferior citizens.

Is the boy who mows his lawn, delivers his papers or lives next door in this category? What about acoustics who work with younger children, student nurse's assistants and teenage sales clerks? Are the students who are studying to be teachers, doctors and social workers unknown to "Retired"? How do young people who have stepped to change a tire or the top of some other kid in a stranger's feet when they see his attitude?

Does "Retired" not know any teen-agers whom he would include from his implication?

Sociologists believe one's character develops from his concept of other's thoughts toward him. In other words, if you tell him he is bad, he will become bad.

'Make Car Inspection Mandatory in State'

Your editorial on auto safety checks suggests to me the tax boys in Lansing could capitalize on this. They're always trying to dream up new ways to bring our state out of the hole.

Why not make the auto inspection mandatory twice each year with a fee of $1 for each inspection has been satisfactory.

Violators could be assessed a nominal fine if caught operating an unregistered vehicle. Why doesn't the legislature do something sensible that would improve driving safety and bring in a sizable chunk?

'Make Old Hotel Tourist Attraction'

The old Hodges House Hotel is one of the biggest assets the city has. It can be made charming and practical and it can set a pace which will put new life into the area.

Put a hitching rail in front and tie a horse to it now and then so kids can give it lumps of sugar. Get rid of the pale glass store fronts; paint up the exterior to make it cheerful and outstanding. Refurbish the interior in the spirit of a hundred or more years ago.

Hodges House should be one of Pontiac's attractions for tourists. Save this hotel. The past is worth preserving because it enriches life.

North Center Patronage Up

Outbound Patronage 33
for April; Mail and
Freight Volume Rises

North Central Airlines patronage continued its steady climb upward last month at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

There were 33 passengers on outbound flights in April compared to 27 the month before, according to J. O. Edwards, station manager.

Substantial gains also were shown in the volume of mail and freight carried by outbound planes.

NCA outbound flights carried 519 pounds of air mail in April compared to 299 in March, and 652 pounds of air express compared to 251 in March.

However, air freight dropped from 2,123 pounds in March to 1,485 last month.

Inbound flights carried 18 passengers last month compared to 27 in March. Inbound air mail was up to 554 pounds in April from 381 in March. Air express totaled 161 pounds last month compared to only three pounds the month before.

Air freight on inbound flights was 2,924 pounds in April. The March total was 3,457 pounds.

100 Area Teens to Attend Romney Rally May 19

About 100 teen-agers from Oakland County are expected to take part in a political rally and parade of high school students in Lansing for Republican gubernatorial candidate George Romney.

The rally, set from 10 a.m. to noon May 19, will be staged by more than 1,000 teen-agers from counties across the state.

Oakland teens are being lined up for the affair by Republican women's groups and county headquarters personnel at 744 S. Adams Road, Birmingham.

Students will make a mile-long march to the state capitol building from Lansing's Eastern High School. Romney will address the group.

Oxford Man on Bond Over Larceny Charge

A former Oxford funeral director and two-term president of the village's chamber of commerce, John L. Reid, has been charged with larceny by conversion by a Lake Orion gas station operator.

Reid, 27, 38 W. Burdick St., Oxford, is free on $200 bond, pending examination at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday before Orion Township Justice of the Peace Helmar G. Stanback.

The complainant, Orley Groesbeck, 511 Bellevue St., Lake Orion, charges in a warrant that he paid Reid $120 for telephone book covers which he never received.

The telephone book covers were to be used for advertising purposes, Groesbeck said.

Police Invite Visitors to Station in Waterford

Residents of Waterford Township are invited to visit the township police station during Police Week, May 13-19.

The week was so designated by proclamation of Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson to enable the public to learn more about the complex functions of a law enforcement agency.

Personality Stories Touch Home

BY BOB CONSIDINE
NEW YORK — As one who has caught countless planes by a whisker, and then asked the stewardess if I was on the right one as it thundered irretrievably into the sky, my sympathetic understanding goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wood.

The Woods, who are from Britain, had a bit of trouble leaving it last week. They arrived here aboard the Queen Elizabeth clutching American airlines tickets to Texas and Pan American World Airways tickets for their return to Britain a couple of weeks hence.

You may know the rest: They went to Idlewild, stepped on what they assumed was their Texas-bound plane, and were carried back to London. Wrong tickets, alas.

Pan Am put them out overnight in London, then flew them back here—their third crossing of the Atlantic in the course of their short trip—and American finally deposited them safely in Dallas.

It's a wonder it doesn't happen more often. Planes look pretty much alike in this jet age and the ebb and flow of passengers streaming through a single gate—but headed for different parts of the land or the world—can get mighty confusing.

Few years ago a Puerto Rican who spoke no English boarded a plane at Idlewild presumably headed for San Juan.

He possessed neither hat nor coat, though it was the fall of the year and chilly in New York. But he had no worries: soon he'd be in rainy San Juan.

Beats Commuter Bus

LEICESTER, England (UPI) — Ron Barlow, 22, has solved his commuting problem by running the seven miles to work every morning in less than 45 minutes. He said it takes a bus-riding neighbor just under an hour.

An hour later, high over the Atlantic, the stewardess came to his seat and asked him if he'd have a drink. The man didn't drink. He thought she was asking him his name.

"Juan Martin," he said shyly.

She brought him a martini. He assumed it was all part of some crazy American ritual, so he drank it. It hit him like a bolt of lightning. After a bit he saw the same girl, this time slightly blurred, and beckoned to her. He wanted to say that he felt, somehow, that something was wrong. But how to say it? First, he felt, he must identify himself.

"I," he said, touching his chest, "Juan Martin."

"Certainly," she said, and whisked off to get him another. They carried him off the plane at Gander, still sobbing his name. It was freezing. Poor stiff nearly croaked before they finally got him on a plane back to New York and on to San Juan.

The plot of "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is given away quite early in the Roman scandal which promises to be a big hit on Broadway.

An actor kicks Zero Mostel in the seat of the planes. Spoiled ending, for me.

Much of a similar nature happens thereafter in this Hellzapoppin. But it can be awfully funny. Better go soon, however. Mr. Mostel, a magnificent clown, is called upon to go through physical ordeals nightly which would cave in Rafer Johnson. Mr. Mostel is in shape, true, but it is the shape of a barrel.

Tomorrow night at Carnegie Hall a great band will change leaders in mid-stream.

The band is that of the North American Air Defense Command, conducted by Maj. Frank Azolina. It is a superb organization, as all will attest who have heard it in concert or on the air.

Azolina's father, Chief Warrant Officer Philip J. Azolina, conducted Army, Army Air Corps and USAF bands from 1911 to 1951.

The major's brother, Nick Azolina, conducts, too, and is about to take over the Continental Air Command band at Robins AFB, Georgia.

At the end of Tuesday night's tribute to Irving Berlin, called "From Tin Pan Alley to Orbit," and just before the playing of the anthems, Maj. Azolina will call his 71-year-old father out of the audience and hand him the button.

"So he can always say, 'I once played a concert in Carnegie Hall.'"

Polhemus of Mason, N.H.; and Maj. Raymond R. Wagner of Horicon, Wis. The crew received the McKay Award, shown at center, in Armed Forces Day ceremonies at nearby Andrews Air Force Base.

Long 'Peace' Ends; Reds Shell Matsu

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists shelled the Matsu Islands Sunday for the first time in almost 19 months, the Nationalist Defense Ministry reported.

The ministry said the Communists fired 22 rounds at the little islands at the northern end of the Formosa Strait.

It did not disclose whether the defenders replied to the attack, but the Nationalist policy has been to ignore minor shellings. The ministry said the Communists also carried out one of their routine attacks on the Quemoy Islands, hitting them with 41 shells.

Makes 1st Appearance Since Syrian Escape
CAIRO (UPI) — Former U.A.R. Vice President Abdel Hamid Serraj made his first public appearance today since his escape from a Syrian prison hospital. He attended dawn prayers with President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Serraj had been jailed for trial after a Syrian army coup ended the country's three and one-half year union with Egypt last September.

MAKE OVER PERON

Peron's Hold on Argentina's Workers Still Tight

U.S. Rocket Engine Tests Successfully

Editor's Note — Juan D. Peron, seven years after he was sent into exile, still retains a strong hold on the labor movement. What is the source of this bond? The following article attempts to explain.

By WILLIAM J. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina — A half dozen of us sat in a grubby fly-infested charroguero — a small house in the heart of the Buenos Aires province industrial area where Peronism was born. "You want to know why we are Peronists," said a hard-bitten old militant. "Once we would have followed anyone who would promise us he would make things better for us. Today we can follow no body except Peron. We have been indoctrinated and we see clearly. We have heard the words of the politicians and we do not believe them."

The little one is in an area which is so strong for Peronism that in the few days after the March 18 Peronist victory at the polls, which ignited Argentina's current crisis, authorities contemplated holding draw bridges leading across the river to the heart of the capital to prevent Peronist supporters from swarming across. They swarmed across 12 years ago and helped ride Juan D. Peron to power.

The Peronists remember that in 1955, Peron's power as minister of labor had risen so high that it frightened the Argentine military and the generals arrested him and incarcerated him on Martin Garcia — the same exile island chosen last month for deposed President Arturo Frondizi.

They remember, too, their enormous clamor which brought Peron out of exile, the presidency.

When I think back, before Peron, I cry inside of me," said

the old militant. "I remember the misery."

"I was 7 years old when I went to work. I worked at herding horses. We lived in a one-room shack of tin, all of us — mother, father, children, — in one room. At 14 I went to school. It was the first time that we had to wear white smocks. But I did not even have shoes."

"My father could not pay for white smocks for his children. So he had to go before the court and dress. We could not afford shoes for our children. There were never enough pesos to clothe my wife and children. We lived in a shack made of tin."

to work. I went to work in the meat packing house and gradually became a butcher."

He worked, he said, sometimes for a peso an hour, sometimes for as little as 25 centavos, and often no more than a few hours a day. But he conceded there was no hunger. Argentina always had — and has today — an abundance of food.

"We could eat, but we could not dress. We could not afford shoes for our children. There were never enough pesos to clothe my wife and children. We lived in a shack made of tin."

"Then came Oct. 17, 1945. Evita (Peron's wife) came here. I was working and my hands were covered with the blood of animals. She shook hands with everyone. I was going to wipe my hands first, but she would not let me. She took my bloody hands in hers and shook my hand."

"Later that became El Dia de Lealtad — the day of loyalty, the day Peron came back."

The Peronists were not particularly interested in the economy.

WANT DIGNITY
"What did we want?" the old militant demanded. "We wanted dignity — dignity. You ask about democracy, a bout dictatorship. Was Peron a dictator if we all wanted him of our free will? Democracy? Democracy for which of us? For just the class?"

The Argentine economy was about to break down when the military swept Peron out of office in 1955. It showed the effects of Peronism shortly after, but still shows the effects today, But the Peronists do not see it that way. They see what happened since as an attempt of the military and upper classes to take vengeance.

What about the reports that Peron will "turn to the left" in an alliance with Communists and Castroists in his attempt to return to Argentina and power? The old militant denied any interest in communism and Castroism.

"All we want," he insisted, "is to live as Christians and not as animals. We will not be Communists and Castroists unless they make us be, by making us feel we would have nothing to lose."

REDLANDS, Calif. (AP) — The largest solid fuel rocket engine ever built by the United States is considered a success by officials. It contains many features to be used in future moon rockets.

The engine — called an applied research motor — burned out its capacity of 160,000 pounds of solid propellant in 130 seconds with a mighty roar of flames in a test Saturday.

Lockheed Propulsion Co., builder of the engine, said it was capable of producing 400,000 pounds of thrust.

Plan to Probe State Officials

One-Man Grand Jury to Investigate Charges of Fraudulent Bids

LANSING (UP) — Business dealings between a Lansing contractor and several state officials will be investigated by a one-man grand jury.

The inquiry was requested by Ingham County Prosecutor Leo Farhat, who said state police had found "strong inferences" of irregularities in the awarding of some paving contracts.

The grand jury probe was ordered on the weekend by Circuit Judge Louis Coash.

Farhat said the police investigators, Det. Sgt. Arthur Slack and Trooper Max Little, reported that "several high ranking state officials may have received benefits and favors from a Lansing contractor who regularly does business with the state."

Several paving contracts awarded by the State Building Division in 1957, 1958 and 1959 are to be scrutinized, Farhat said.

'FALSIFIED BIDS'

He said the preliminary investigation allegedly disclosed that the contracts had been awarded on the basis of "fraudulent and falsified bids" submitted by the unidentified contractor. One of the bids, Farhat said, was for paving of a driveway and parking lot at the state police headquarters at East Lansing.

Farhat revealed that state police began a check last January when they learned that a contractor was awaiting trial on charges of embezzlement and fraudulent bidding in a school paving contract.

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley said the state was compelled to seek the grand jury probe "because we have been unable to obtain the full cooperation of all principals involved in the case."

Kelley said earlier that W. T. McVicker was suspended from his post of chief of sites and urban planning for the Building Division pending an investigation.

He said it was alleged that McVicker paved the driveway of his home with asphalt purchased for use at the State School for the Blind at Lansing.

Roundup of Candidates, Issues.

School Board Hopefuls File

Candidates for positions on the board of education in 20 area school districts filed their nominating petitions over the weekend. Following is a roundup of candidates and propositions that will be on the ballot in each district:

AVONDALE—Two 4-year terms: R. Grant Graham, incumbent, president; and Earl Wilson, incumbent, vice president; and James A. Laughlin, 350 Grace St. Also on the ballot will be request for a five-year school operating tax increase and a $1.25-million bond issue for school construction. The operating tax proposal would raise five mills for three years and three mills for two years.

CLARENCEVILLE—Two 4-year terms: Albert Hartom, incumbent president; Dr. Herbert J. Kagen, 20361 Weyher St.; Richard Wood, 20379 Gilman St.; Mrs. Margaret Marden, 20377 Brentwood St.; and Gilbert Jacobs, 19475 St. Francis St.

The renewal of four mills for operation and the addition of one mill also will be requested. There would be no tax increase because bonded indebtedness will be reduced by one mill, school officials said.

CLARENCEVILLE—Two 4-year terms: Albert Hartom, incumbent president; Dr. Herbert J. Kagen, 20361 Weyher St.; Richard Wood, 20379 Gilman St.; Mrs. Margaret Marden, 20377 Brentwood St.; and Gilbert Jacobs, 19475 St. Francis St.

The renewal of four mills for operation and the addition of one mill also will be requested. There would be no tax increase because bonded indebtedness will be reduced by one mill, school officials said.

DUBLIN—Two 3-year terms: Eric L. Spiller and Norman Sator, both incumbents. One 2-year term to fill a vacancy: Mrs. Margaret Linton, 1007 Crayview Road; Mrs. R. Anne Knox, 8484 Cascade Road; and Onni Kuhna, 9730 Mandon Drive.

FARMINGTON—Two 4-year terms: Leland Clifford, incumbent president, and Vernon P. Fisher, incumbent treasurer. Authorization to transfer $300 from one debt fund to another debt fund also will be requested.

HOLLY—Two 4-year terms: Howard Chanter, incumbent secretary; Jack Bennett, incumbent; and Freeman Peace, 1337 Fagen Road.

HURON VALLEY—One 4-year term: Charles Martin, incumbent; and Ronald Fremlin, 820 E. Ward Road. A two-mill operating tax increase for five years also is being requested.

LYON TOWNSHIP—Two 4-year terms: Donald Coe, incumbent treasurer; Wilford Heidt, incumbent; Marvin Miller, 12900 10-Mile Road; Leslie D. Smith, 11040 Mile Road.

NOVI—Two 3-year terms: Russell Taylor, and Arthur Heslop, both incumbents; Mrs. May Skellinger, 46777 12-Mile Road; and Dick Trafalini, 46133 Grand River Ave.

WALLED LAKE—Two 4-year terms: Joseph W. Long, incumbent; Charles E. Hutton, 111 S. Pontiac Trail; Sherill F. Pennell, 2530 Benstein Road; and William A. Hornett, 2339 Ethel Drive. Voters also will be asked to approve a two-mill tax increase for operations.

LAKE ORION—Two 4-year terms: Hugh Brady, incumbent, secretary; Keith Middleton, incumbent; Dale Spurr, 2586 Lance St.; and William Bonning, 40 Indianapolis Drive.

OXFORD—Two 4-year terms: Ted Pearson Jr., incumbent, president, and Louis C. Coryell, incumbent, treasurer. A proposal asking renewal of the eight-mill operating tax due to expire this year will also appear on the ballot.

ROMEO—Two 4-year terms: Mrs. C. Harold Wills, incumbent; Raymond Wilson, incumbent, treasurer; and H. C. Kermaghan, incumbent appointed to unexpired term of post vacated by resignation of Dr. Ralph Renwick. One-year unexpired term of post vacated by Dr. Renwick's resignation: Harold O. Wainwright, 824 W. 32 Mile Rd., and Mrs. Walter Shepley, 381 Chandler St.

WEST BLOOMFIELD—One 4-year term: Mrs. Frances M. Leaf, incumbent secretary. A two-mill tax increase for operations also will be requested. The total tax rate, however, will not be increased since the school board intends to reduce bonded indebtedness by two mills.

CLARKSTON—One 4-year term: Walter Willberg, incumbent, 920 Sashabaw Road; Hudson L. Nolen, 549 Consoile; Ronald Lepere, 6710 Laurenton; and Richard L. Anderson, 6139 Eastlawn, all Independent Township.

BREAK GROUND FOR CHURCH — In festivities following yesterday's morning worship service ground was broken for the new Calvary Lutheran Church on a site just north of the Clarkson village limits, west of M15. Taking part in the ceremonies were, from left, E. W. O'Brien, of the Waterford Construction Co., general contractor; Martin Gustafson, chairman of the building committee; Paul A. Johns, pastor, and T. Neel Eubank of Flint, architect. The congregation, organized Jan. 2, 1961, now numbers 108 adult members and 117 children.

Rochester Elks Honor 'Mother'

Program at Temple Is First of Annual Occasion; Minister Speaks

ROCHESTER — Members of Rochester Elks Lodge No. 2225 paid tribute to Mother with a program directed by Basil Hughes yesterday at the Elks Temple.

Reva, Edgar A. Lucas, pastor of St. Philip's Episcopal Church and a member of No. 2225, delivered the address in behalf of the lodge.

This was the first observance of an annual affair in keeping with the agenda of the Grand Lodge's calendar of special events.

Clyde A. Bartelbaugh, exalted ruler, opened the meeting and introduced the various phases of the ceremony which was open to the public.

Program soloists were Adele Carragher, Marcia Braun and Benjamin Evans. Introductory and closing music was rendered by Cliff Serre at the piano.

Mrs. Liria Martin, mother of Jack Martin, past exalted ruler, and Mrs. Caroline Spratley, mother of William Spratley, being the two oldest mothers in attendance, were presented with orchids by Esquire Richard Stranahan in behalf of the lodge.

An informal tea followed the affair with Mrs. Basil Hughes, Mrs. Louis Chesnik and Miss Cathy McCotter pouring. Mrs. William Bridge and Mrs. Lee McCotter served as aides.

Romeo Campaign Launched to Aid Center for Youth

ROMEO — Door-to-door canvassing in the second annual Joan Cain drive for support of the Romeo Community Youth and Civic Center began here today and will continue through Friday.

Some 85 square miles in the Romeo School District, the area served by the youth center, will be covered in the campaign.

A folder entitled "It's Your Youth Center," explaining the services and facilities of the center, will be distributed by volunteer solicitors.

The door-to-door canvass is the last of three phases in the drive. The second phase, aimed at business and professional men, entered its final week today with half of its anticipated total of $1,000 already in.

Clubs and organizations were asked for support in the first phase.

Bird Chapter Sets Party in Clarkston

CLARKSTON—The John C. Bird Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold a luncheon and card party at the Masonic Temple Wednesday beginning at noon.

Cochairmen for the luncheon are Mrs. Gerald Urlick and Mrs. Jess Sparkman. Mrs. Robert Farnum and Mrs. William Stoddart are in charge of prizes and other arrangements for the card party.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the chapter or at Gentry's Colonial House, Mrs. Vernon Kath will take reservations.

Addison Twp. People Battle County on Road

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — A road that goes north and south is nevertheless caught in a vicious circle here.

And stalemated in the circle is a controversy between township residents and the County Road Commission.

Both sides agree the 12 or so miles of Rochester Road from Rochester to Leonard are in bad shape, but they don't agree over what should be done about it.

Residents want a complete overhaul of the road's surface and lay-out. "This area will never develop its potential until something is done," says former Township Supervisor Ransford Bromley.

The county will only patch up the road, however, says Hiland M. Thatcher, chairman of the county road commission.

"That's all they've been doing for 30 years," says Bromley.

"The traffic count doesn't warrant more than that," says Thatcher. "We have so many other roads in the county with 10 times as much traffic that are in the same shape."

"It would cost $50,000 to $80,000 and we don't have that kind of money to put into a road with the light traffic it has."

But Bromley blames the low traffic count on the road. "It's so bad that no one drives on it unless he has to. People stay away from Addison Township because the road is so bad."

Township clerk Bob McCallum says the road is so rough and bumpy and has so many holes that "I don't think the Indians would even take it back."

Bromley adds that passing the many big gravel trucks that use the road is impossible on more than half the road between Lakeville and Rochester. He says motorists use M24 or Van Dyke Road to drive toward Detroit.

"This area has the greatest potential in the county," says Bromley. "It has land, it has lakes and it has beauty. But it doesn't have good roads."

"We have a beautiful area lying dormant and it will continue to lie dormant unless something is done," concludes Bromley, who owns a grocery, gas station and motel at the corner of Rochester and Lakeville roads.

Meeting Slated at Walled Lake PTA Council

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Council of Parent-Teacher Associations will hold its "Council Roundup" at 8 p.m. tomorrow at the Walled Lake Senior High School.

Following a brief business meeting the recipient of the Council's annual scholarship award will be announced by Mrs. C. O. Ginter, scholarship chairman.

New officers also will be installed. They are Mrs. Edward Beattie, president; Harry Gerbaiss, father vice president; Mrs. Joseph Tuma, mother vice president; De Forest McIntyre, teacher vice president; Ivan Cox, treasurer; Mrs. Arild Weborg, recording secretary; Mrs. Floyd Daniels, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Watson Stringer, historian.

Topics to be discussed at the meeting include membership, programming, use of PTA funds, libraries and library services, and the YMCA program.

Probe Area Fire; Store Roofs Burned

MADISON HEIGHTS — Firemen here are investigating a blaze that burned gable holes in the roofs of two stores in a cement block building on John R. Road yesterday morning.

It is believed the fire started in the S & S Bakery Shop at 2826 John R. Road and spread to the nearby Gates Beauty Salon at 2828 John R. Road.

Damage was estimated at $15,000 by Fire Chief Joseph Sloan. Two adjoining stores also were damaged by smoke.

No one was in the building at the time of the blaze, which kept firemen occupied for two hours.

Millage Defeat Forces Lyon School Unit Action

SOUTH LYON — Alternate proposals needed to counteract the defeat Saturday of a millage referendum would have to be considered tonight by the Lyon Township Board of Education.

A 6.5 millage proposal that would have provided the school district with about $140,000 annually for operations was rejected over the weekend by a vote of 82 to 472. The proposal would not have required a tax increase.

Of the total millage, four would have been a renewal of recently expired taxes, and the remaining 2.5 mills would have been converted from a building and site fund into the operating fund.

Superintendent Frank Bartlett said the board has several alternatives it can consider.

"First, the board can decide to hold another special millage election sometime in the near future, or it can decide on deficit spending," Bartlett said.

"WOULD GO IN REAR"

"If they decide not to go to the voters, we would have to go into the red to balance the 1962-63 budget because we already have an obligation since we raised the salaries of teachers."

In approving its budget last month the school board granted pay increases to teachers of $300 each. In addition $200 annual increments are given.

Bartlett said the 2.5 mills that would have been transferred would have provided more than enough funds for the salary increases.

Bartlett said there was heavy opposition to the millage request in the Green Oaks area of the district. This is in the Livingston County portion of the school system.

The total vote was one of the highest ever recorded in the school district, according to the superintendent.

Special School Unit Organized in Utica

UTICA — A special committee to familiarize administrators, teachers and laymen with all aspects of school operation and to plan for future development of the school program has been formed here.

Richard Stave, attorney and the city's justice of the peace, has been named chairman of the committee, known officially as the United Planning and Advisory Committee.

The committee's first project will be to review the school's financial situation.

Wins Contract to Extend Rochester Post Office

ROCHESTER — A $229,500 contract for alterations and an addition to the post office here has been awarded to Martin Troff and Sons, East Detroit.

Work on the project, to include demolition of an old apartment building now used by the post office, is scheduled to begin June 1.

CHRISTINE L. GALANT
Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C. Galant, of Grosse Pointe Farms, name the engagement of their daughter Christine Louise to Philip N. Hargrave, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neal L. Hargrave, of 6965 Orchard Lake Road, West Bloomfield Township. A fall wedding is planned.

Vigilance Tax Group Seeks Statewide Help

DEARBORN — The Vigilance Tax Committee has begun at tempt to solicit statewide legal and financial support for a court battle which tax opponents say they will carry to the Supreme Court.

Berkley Mayor George Kuhn, committee chairman, said Saturday that the committee has authorized a statewide letter campaign to garner fund aid.

Kuhn said some 230 cities and villages have showed sympathetic interest in the cause and are being asked for financial support.

He said the committee's treasury report showed $1,560 already pledged by Detroit area government units for support of the suit filed in Wayne County Circuit Court last Thursday.

The committee has also resolved to oppose the retaliatory income tax plans being considered by some communities in the Detroit area.

"Until the fate of the Detroit tax is decided in court, we resolved no other cities should consider an income tax," Kuhn said.

"Should Detroit prevail, however," he added, "any city would have the right to self defense."

The House and Senate also will be urged to override Gov. Swainson's veto of the Bowman law which would have barred citizens from taxing nonresidents.
