Army Will Attempt to Create New Planet

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Army plans to shoot a rocket right at the moon and create a man-made planet, Dr. Wernher von Braun said today.

And the German-born rocket genius predicts "it has a one in two chance of doing just that."

The rocket would never come back.

It would escape from the earth's gravity and be captured by the sun's gravity. Falling into an orbit around the sun, it would become a 30-pound baby planet, revolving around the sun much like the Earth, Mars and Jupiter.

The first attempt probably will be made in the first week of December.

It will be the first of two moon-probe shots by the Army.

The Air Force has so far launched three probes. One soared about 79,000 miles of the 239,000 to the moon in October, then was tugged back by earth's gravity to burn up in our atmosphere.

The Army plans to shoot its probe at such high speed that it will go past the moon and forever escape from the earth. It might pass within 10 to 50 thousand miles of the moon.

It would soar millions of miles beyond earth and the moon until the sun's gravity pulled it into some yet unpredictable orbit around the sun.

Some details of the Army moon-probe plane became known here informally at a space symposium attended by 700 space and medical scientists. The symposium is sponsored by the Air Force's School of Aviation Medicine and arranged by Southwest Research Institute.

The Air Force probes were designed — and given some control — to swing them around the moon once, or into a steady orbit around the moon, or near the moon and then home again.

The small fourth-stage of a multi-stage rocket has to be given an initial speed of 25,500 miles an hour or better. That is the escape velocity to get it forever away from the earth.

The earth's gravity pull gets weaker and weaker the farther you go away from the earth and for practical purposes the rocket can escape from any real influence of terrestial gravity.

The rocket would speed up when it fell under the influence of the sun's gravity and take up its orbit around the sun.

This is presuming it doesn't hit the moon, even if aimed directly for it.

Hitting the moon without guidance control inside the probe would be fantastically difficult. That is partly why Von Braun gives it a one in two chance of escaping to become a planet.

Army experts indicated they would not be unhappy if the probe did hit the moon. It will be sterilized to prevent contaminating the moon with earthly germs if that did happen.

The probe will carry instruments to report particularly on the mysterious band of radiation recently discovered high above the earth. It is designed to give full reports on how far this radiation extends.

Dr. Von Braun predicted a "one in three chance the telemetering will give useful information all the way to the moon."

The reports might be received weakly but usefully for nearly one million miles from earth. The probe's instruments will weigh about 15 pounds and the rocket case another 15.

The Russians could be first actually to hit the moon.

Experts here said the rockets which launched Sputnik III were powerful enough to launch a moon probe equipped with photo-electric eye or other guidance to steer it automatically into the moon.

Chrysler Corp. Hit by New Walkouts

Office Workers, Engineers Start Picket Lines

8,000 Strike in Detroit Area; 80,000 Others May Be Idled

DETROIT (AP) — Some 8,000 Chrysler Corp. office workers and engineers struck at 10 a.m. today after failing in an all-night negotiating session to reach agreement on a new contract.

The strikers immediately set up picket lines at 24 Chrysler plants in the Detroit area and 10 others across the nation.

It was expected the strike would idle some 80,000 other Chrysler workers shortly.

Chrysler's office workers, engineers, cafeteria workers and production workers are represented by the United Auto Workers.

The UAW and Chrysler reached settlement five weeks ago on a new three-year contract for production workers and cafeteria workers.

The office workers and engineers' contracts were left open for further negotiations and these talks ended in the strike today.

The major issues in conflict are the union's demands for adjustments of wage increases and seniority provisions for office workers.

Chrysler has 22,000 additional office workers who do not belong to any union.

UAW officials expressed hopes the office workers strike would be settled quickly so production of Chrysler's 1959 model cars would not be tied up.

Report 250 Dead in Cuban Battle

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban army says a 72-hour battle near Santiago caused more rebel deaths than any single engagement since Fidel Castro launched his revolt almost two years ago.

Government troops killed 244 rebels and possibly more while losing six killed and various wounded, Maj. Gen. Eulogio Cantillo announced last night.

The military commander of the Santiago district said an accurate check of rebel losses was difficult because they "had a great number of wounded."

The army claimed that "rebel and Communist forces had been scattered but are still being hotly pursued" in the area around Santiago, capital of Oriente Province.

Castro controls much of the Oriente countryside.

Rebel broadcasts have claimed more than 20 government troops killed in the bitter battle, which centered on the town of Alto Songo.

Giant Planes Crash at Idlewild; All Safe

From Our News Wires

It skidded in flames 1,000 feet and slammed into a passenger plane about to take on 40 passengers waiting nearby.

No one was killed. Officials said 10 persons were injured, none seriously. All were employes of airlines or the airport.

The cargo plane, a $1,750,000 Seaboard and Western Airlines Super Constellation, and the passenger plane, a $1,100,000 Trans Canada Airlines Viscount Turbo-Prop, were both destroyed.

The four-engine Constellation narrowly missed crashing into the airport's sprawling domestic terminal building, where hundreds of persons were checking in for flights, claiming baggage or milling about. The building was scorched by the flames.

Scores of airport workers fled for their lives before the careening plane as it smashed airport vehicles in its path.

Investigators picked among the flame-ravaged ruins of the giant cargo plane today for clues to the cause of its spectacular, fiery ground collision.

Capt. Ralph Neary, 38, who was in charge of the cargo plane but not at the controls, said:

"We were just taking off when the airplane swerved sharply to the left. What caused it, we don't know as yet . . ."

The cargo plane's skid was broken by the Viscount, or it would have crashed into the terminal building at a point where United Airlines has a ticket counter.

The only persons aboard the Viscount were stewardesses Karen Foch and Jean Bedard, preparing to greet the passengers. Miss Foch was uninjured. Miss Bedard hurt her ankle slightly.

UF Still Lacking $157,288 of Goal With 1 Day Left

Tomorrow Will Reveal Pontiac Area Total in Drive for $501,000

The Pontiac Area United Fund campaign lacked $157,288 of its minimum $501,000 goal, going into the last day of the drive, according to returns tabulated this morning.

"If Commercial and Industrial Divisions returns continue to come in at their present rate, it will be sometime tomorrow before an accurate figure can be tabulated on where we finally stand," stated Philip J. Monaghan, campaign chairman.

The present returns from the Industrial Division total $198,560.

Included in today's report is the final employe and firm contribution of Consumers Power Co., which totals $8,193 and represents an 11 per cent increase over last year. The total 1957 combined employe and firm gift was $7,421.

This year's total included $4,193 from Consumers Pontiac area employes and a $4,000 firm gift.

United Fund plant chairman Robert Lembke said the employes of Consumers have established a new participation record with 91 per cent contributing. Moreover, the average employe gift reached a new peak of $11.40, an increase of $1.62 over the average pledge of a year ago.

Increased acceptance of the Fund's "giving yardstick" as a pledge guide was cited by Lembke as the major reason for the company's fine performance.

The Commercial Division solicitors have set today as the traget date for completing their calls. Their returns, tabulated as late as 11 p.m. this morning, amounted to $121,744 or 67.8 per cent of the Division's $179,371 quota.

"Our workers still have many more calls to make," stated Judge

Nine Circulating Judge Petitions

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Petitions are being circulated by three incumbent Oakland County circuit judges and a number of attorneys hoping to win a place on the Circuit Court bench in next April's election.

Among these is Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, who for some time has considered a judgeship. Ziem, 42, re-elected last week to a fourth term, announced yesterday his decision to seek the new job.

Others either circulating nominating petitions or about to are Judges H. Russel Holland, Clark J. Adams, William J. Beer, former State Rep. Theodore F. Hughes, Circuit Court Commissioner Verne C. Hampton, Pontiac attorney Milton F. Cooney, and Royal Oak attorneys Stanton G. Dondero and Maurice A. Merritt.

On the non-partisan judicial ballot April 6 will be seven positions, five full six-year terms beginning Jan. 1, 1960, and two short terms.

The fifth judgeship was passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor after several attempts to lessen the case load—considered the largest in the state—on the existing four judges.

The two short terms on the ballot will include a six-month term beginning July 1, 1959 for this fifth judgeship, and another for the unexpired term of the late Judge George B. Hartrick.

Judge Beer presently occupies Judge Hartrick's old bench, and will likely hold onto the job ending Dec. 31, 1959 unless he is opposed and defeated for the unexpired term.

Judge Frank L. Doty is not eligible to seek re-election to the Oakland bench due to a state law prohibiting those over 70 years from being a candidate.

Candidates have until Dec. 29 to get their nominating petitions into the Secretary of State's office in Lansing. A primary will be held Feb. 16 for the seven positions.

Petitioners are required to get signatures equalling not less than one per cent and not more than four per cent of the total vote cast for Secretary of State in the county during the last general fall election. There were 193,048 votes cast for the two candidates for this office Nov. 4.

U. S. Honors Veterans in Rites Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation paused today to pay tribute to the American veterans—living and dead—of three major wars in this century.

Veterans' Day ceremonies here and across the land stressed the sacrifice of the 616,619 servicemen who died for their country, and the task of keeping the peace shared by America's 22,723,000 living veterans.

Focal point for the national observance was the hushed acres at nearby Arlington National Cemetery. Solemn wreath ceremonies at the graves of fallen comrades were the order of the day.

Schools, government offices and some businesses were closed in many communities for the 40th commemoration of what was once called Armistice Day in remembrance of the end of World War I — at exactly 11 a.m. on Nov. 11, 1918.

President Eisenhower was not present for the traditional presidential wreath ceremony at the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington late this morning. Sumner G. Whittier, administrator of veterans' affairs, officiated on Eisenhower's behalf.

Whittier said the President joined him in a tribute "to those who served the cause of freedom." He said the nation, in honoring the dead of two world wars and the Korean conflict also honored "the determination of a free nation from Valley Forge to Heartbreak Ridge to defend our liberties under God at the cost of life itself."

HERMAN KIERDORF

Attorneys Seek Another Trial on Silencer Charge

Ex-Teamster Aide, 68, Free on $15,000 Bond in Meantime

Six hours after he had been sentenced to 1 to 5 years in prison for possessing a pistol silencer, former Teamster Union aide Herman Kierdorf was free on bond while his attorneys sought to win a new trial for him.

Attorneys Eric E. Zisman and William F. Dohany began drafting papers requesting a new trial after Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams handed down the prison term to the 68-year-old Madison Heights man.

"Your case is unique in this court as you are the oldest man I have ever been required to sentence," declared the judge before he passed sentence.

When he asked Kierdorf and his attorneys whether they had anything to say before sentencing, Zisman asked that the judge take into account his client's heart condition and age.

Judge Adams said he had considered Kierdorf's age, the fact he had two other felonies on his record, and that he had "led an exemplary life" during the last 10 years, "at least on the surface."

Standing beside Zisman, Kierdorf dropped his head, and blinked a few times when he heard the sentence. He walked to the jury box then to await the short walk over to the county jail.

TRIES TO HIDE

He dodged reporters' questions and tried to hide himself and another prisoner from newsmen's cameras with his overcoat as he walked handcuffed to the jail.

"I think the sentence was a little unjust," he said later. "It wasn't unjust according to law, but it was for a man my age."

"I had a good record before this silly thing came up. He could

Chinese Reds Issue Warning

May Step Up Shelling of Quemoys, Broadcast Tells Nationalists

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Communists warned defenders of the Quemoys today that they might resume shelling every day, the Chinese Nationalists reported. Red shore guns have been silent for four even-numbered days.

The warning, broadcast by loudspeakers on the mainland, did not make clear whether the supply areas on Quemoy would be shelled on even days. Since Oct. 25 the Reds have shelled the supply areas only on odd-numbered days.

Since today was an odd day the Nationalists on the offshore islands are waiting until Wednesday to see what Red gunners would do. Nothing was heard from Radio Peiping.

Radio Peiping announced 17 days ago that the landing beaches and airstrip on the Quemoys would not be shelled on even days. It said the remainder of the offshore islands might be shelled on even days, however.

But in practice, Communist gunners have been inactive on the last four even days. The loudspeaker announcement could simply mean that areas other than the landing zones would now be bombarded on even days once more.

Or it could mean that the Communist alternate-day policy was being abandoned completely in favor of shelling the landing zones daily. Nationalist officials tended to doubt this since Peiping radio had not spoken up.

Food Poisoning Hits 200 Students at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Some 200 University of Michigan students have been treated for food poisoning in a weekend dormitory epidemic.

Sixteen students were hospitalized. None was in serious condition.

The students, all men, are residents of the South Quadrangle dormitory. All eat in the student dining room.

A test of the food served the students over the weekend has been ordered by Dr. Morley Beckett, director of the University Health Service.

Several students reported headaches and nausea Saturday night. By Sunday night more than 200 had reported similar illness.

Start Integration Little Rock Told

Federal Court Orders School Board to Take Positive Steps

From Our Wire Services

ST. LOUIS — The Little Rock School Board was directed by a federal appeals court yesterday to take positive steps to achieve integration in its district, where the four public high schools have been shut down.

The court did not establish a timetable for reopening the high schools. Nor did it spell out just how the integration order should be carried out. These matters were left up to Federal District Judge John E. Miller of Arkansas and the school board itself.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas indicated the Little Rock Private School Corp. will continue operating a senior high school for white students in a private building with private funds.

The three-judge division of the U.S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals, in its unanimous opinion, also outlawed a plan for leasing the public high school buildings to the Little Rock private school group.

BOARD MEETS

The Little Rock School Board decides at a meeting today whether to resign as a group in the face of the federal court order.

If the board decides to resign, it was expected to do so Saturday, the deadline for candidates to file for the annual school elections, Dec. 6.

One of the six board members, Dr. Dale Alford, already has decided not to run for re-election. He will go to Congress as the write-in winner over Rep. Brooks Hays (D-Ark) in last week's general election.

It was considered likely that School Superintendent Virgil T. Blossom would lose his job if the mass resignation occurs. It was reported that the board was planning to buy up his contract, which has 19 months to run at $1,100 a month.

Variety Spices Weather Menu Across Nation

By The Associated Press

A variety of weather was reported across the country today.

Rain and snow and cool air covered wide areas in the West. Skies were clear and it was chilly in sections of the Southeast. Showers and snow diminished in most of the Northeast while it was fair and warmer in most of the central part of the country.

Temperatures dropped into the 30s as far south as northern parts of Alabama and Georgia. They were mostly in the 40s from the Carolinas northward into southern New England. Mild weather continued in extreme southern Florida, with readings in the 70s.

The wet belt of showers and snow from New York and New England into West Virginia was confined mostly to northern New England, where light snow fell. Snow, which measured more than a foot in the mountain areas, was expected to end and fair weather was in prospect from the south Atlantic states northward into northern New England.

Skies were clear in most areas from the upper Great Lakes region through the Ohio Valley and middle Mississippi Valley.

Garden City Mayor Unhurt

Tierney Escapes Death When Bullet Goes Wild

DETROIT (AP)—A shot was fired at James Tierney last night only a few hours after he had been sworn in for his second two-year term as mayor of suburban Garden City. He was not hit.

The 52-year-old Tierney, who was shot and critically wounded at a meeting of city officials in 1957, told police he had parked his car in the garage at the rear of his home when a bullet zipped over his head.

JAMES CLARKSON

Executive vice president and secretary of Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn. James Clarkson was elected a director of the association Monday. He succeeds the late George K. Zimmerman. Clarkson is a past president of the Detroit Chapter of the Society of Savings & Loan Controllers, and a member of the national organization's committee on methods, systems and procedures. He is chairman of the board of trustees of Pontiac General Hospital.

Police found a bullet hole in the rear wall of the garage. They said it came from a small caliber weapon, possibly a .22 rifle.

Police Chief Arthur Nagle said there were no immediate suspects. He said he and his men would check Tierney's neighbors for possible witnesses and also question the mayor's political foes.

Tierney was shot in the stomach five times at a city meeting the night of July 25, 1957. Still awaiting trial for the shooting is Lester Ellerhorst, a local builder, who is charged with felonious assault. The shooting followed a long wrangle over the building of an addition to the city's police and fire station.

Tierney often was near death during the long weeks he spent in the hospital. He was released from the hospital last November and once again took over his mayoral duties. He was re-elected last Tuesday.

Tierney said it was a "near miracle" the shot did not hit him.

"I was putting my car in the garage after going back to the city hall to get some books I had forgotten," he said. "As I started out of the garage I accidentally dropped the books. I bent to pick them up and the shot rang out."

Police said that if Tierney had been standing erect the bullet might have struck him in the head or upper body.

Tierney said "I was scared and I put my head down and ran as fast as I could to the house."

He said the shot might have been fired by someone who disliked his administration.

"I've tried hard for two years, but I can't please everyone," Tierney said. "I've made my share of mistakes, but I can't believe anyone could resort to such violence to correct those mistakes."

But Stress 'Slowing Progress'

Colombo Plan Delegates Hail Eisenhower Program

SEATTLE (AP)—Visibly buoyed by a five-point program for progress handed them by President Eisenhower, 200 delegates to the Colombo Plan conference grappled today with the grim details of bringing about a better life for one third of the human race.

The delegates—Asians in particular — expressed keen appreciation of Eisenhower's attention to detail. They hailed his five specific avenues toward improving living standards among South and Southeast Asians as encouraging take-off points for some stern work ahead. Spokesmen for the six donor countries, 12 recipient nations and three colonies, noted these points in their responses to the President's speech:

1. Although progress continued this year in developing the countries which the plan was created to help, the rate of progress slowed generally. How much was not stated. The meetings on the ministerial level are closed.

2. Implicit in the whole Asian situation is the idea that time is short.

MILLIONS HUNGRY

The President himself noted that millions of people went to bed hungry, had never had enough to eat. Pakistan delegate Mohammed Ali underscored the idea with the warning that "it is futile to talk to hungry nations of economic theories or the blessings of the Democratic way of life. . . . In Asia, the peoples see no rhyme nor reason as to why they should remain ill fed and ill clad when God's bounties have been bestowed for all mankind."

The Ceylonese delegate R. S. S. Dunewardene, noted that trade and trade balances have fallen off, partly because of fear of an American depression.

Politely not mentioned, but well known to every man present, are four recent turnovers in Asian governments — all rooted in the slow rate of progress which their increasing populations have expected since gaining freedom.

Another note of urgency was sounded by Viet Nam's delegate, Foreign Secretary Vu Van Mau, who said the Colombo Plan "has assumed still greater importance in the defense of the countries of Asia against the expansion of Red imperialism."

Secretary of State Dulles, presiding over the final phase of the conference which ends Thursday, said economic growth "is as much an element in the survival of our civilization as the deterring of aggression."

Crude Bomb Turns Trucker Into Torch

ATLANTA (AP)—A truck driver was turned into a flaming torch and severely burned by a homemade fire bomb tossed into the cab of his truck shortly after he drove away from a strike bound steel plant Monday.

A passenger in the truck leaped to safety and was uninjured.

Patrolman R. L. Rhodes, who escorted the truck load of steel from the Atlantic Steel Co., said the fire bombed apparently was thrown from behind some bushes along the street.

The Atlantic Steel Co., was closed Oct. 31 by a strike that idled about 1,400 workers.

Chrysler plants remained on the job in the first hour of the office workers' strike. But under the UAW's traditional policy, it was not expected that any union members would cross the office workers-engineers' picket lines to enter the plants for later shifts.

Dodge assembly operations in suburban Hamtramck were shut down at 11 a.m. and 3,500 production workers sent home. Chrysler said new car drivers refused to drive through pickets between the assembly line and loading docks.

Shortly afterward, a Plymouth assembly plant was closed and 1,200 sent home. Here, Chrysler said a shortage of bodies developed when drivers refused to cross picket lines to bring them into the plant.

Normally, UAW members do not cross picket lines of fellow unionists and this would close all 34 plants where pickets appeared, but shortly after the strike began the UAW moved to prevent further shutdowns.

Representatives of the striking office workers and engineers announced they would not have pickets on duty at normal shift changing times and production workers were being urged to report for work as usual.

Just what effect this would have on situations similar to those that closed Dodge and Plymouth assembly operations here, the UAW said it could not explain immediately.

UAW headquarters announced there would be no strike at any missile or tank plant operated by Chrysler.

Girl, 5, Unconscious Following Accident

A 5-year-old Pontiac girl remained unconscious and in "poor" condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after being struck by a car Saturday afternoon near her home.

Renee Strine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Strine, of 731 Menominee St., suffered head injuries when she ran into the path of a car driven by Beryl B. Roush, 51, of 326 W. Iroquois St.

Police said Roush was driving slowly along Menominee St. near Navajo St. looking for a house number. Roush said he suddenly saw the girl run in front of his car and couldn't stop in time to avoid hitting her.

He also will speak tomorrow at the meeting of the West Bloomfield Kiwanis Club at Rotunda Inn and is slated to be toastmaster Thursday evening at the testimonial dinner for Sarah Van Hoosen Jones being held at Kingsley Inn and sponsored by the Zonta Club of Pontiac.

Reveal Plans of Nixons' Visit to Great Britain

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House announced today some details of the Nov. 25-28 visit by the Vice President and Mrs. Nixon to Great Britain.

Nixon is making the trip primarily to represent President Eisenhower at the dedication of the American Chapel in St. Paul's Cathedral Nov. 26.

He and Mrs. Nixon will be guests of Queen Elizabeth II at a Buckingham Palace luncheon, and attend a dinner given by the English Speaking Union.

Nixon will be honored at a stag luncheon Nov. 25, given by the Pilgrims of Great Britain. The White House said he also will be entertained by Prime Minister Macmillan and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Queen Elizabeth will be the guest of the Nixons at dinner in the home of U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney, Nov. 27.

The chapel commemorates the sacrifices of the British and American peoples in World War II, particularly the sacrifices of the 28,000 members of the U.S. armed forces who lost their lives when based in Britain or who were buried in the British Isles.

'MIGHT GO ANYTIME'

Kierdorf, who, when convicted Oct. 22 by a jury, said it was like a life sentence to him, said yesterday, "I might live six months, six years, or I might go anytime now."

He was freed from the county jail around 8 p.m. after Judge Adams set a $15,000 appeal bond following Zisman and Dohany's filing of a motion for a new trial. The bond was posted by Pontiac bondsman Carman A. Mitchell.

A hearing on whether the new trial will be granted will be held Nov. 24 at 9:30 a.m.

Zisman and Dohany contend Judge Adams "erred in failing to grant a continuation (of the trial) due to the undue publicity and notoriety" given the Kierdorf case.

Kierdorf, who has been in prison twice before, is the uncle of Frank Kierdorf, Flint Teamsters business agent who police believe was burned to death in a bungled arson job in August.

The silencer, which Kierdorf claims is a muffler for a power mower, was turned over to police by a neighbor of Kierdorf's where he had taken it in a briefcase on the day he learned of his nephew's burning.

Tax Men After Beck

TACOMA, Wash. (UPI) — Evidence gathered in a five-year, coast-to-coast investigation will be used in an effort to prove former Teamster boss Dave Beck guilty of income tax evasion, the chief prosecutor said today.

2 Airlines Picketed by Capital Strikers

NEW YORK (AP)—Pickets were set up outside the employe entrances of Trans World Airlines and Eastern Airlines hangars at La Guardia field last night by striking employes of Capital Airlines.

The pickets belong to the International Assn. of Machinists, which has been striking Capital for 26 days. The other two lines are not on strike but Eastern employes have been voting on contract issues.

A spokesman for TWA at the field said that some employes had reported to work at midnight in spite of the pickets and that the airline expected no trouble.

"We're all set for flights through the morning," he added.

The union also has current contract disputes with TWA, Eastern, National, Northeast and Northwest.

Man Gets 2-4 Years for Theft in Pontiac

A sentence of 2 to 4 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson was handed down yesterday by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty for Melvin Hatchett, 22, of Pontiac, for the theft of $55 from a Pontiac store.

Hatchett, of 180 Wessen St., was found guilty by a jury Oct. 23 for the theft of the money from a clothing store on Saginaw St.

Escapes Being Shot Down

King of Jordan Home Safe

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — Jordanians celebrated today the safe return of King Hussein from what he charged was a United Arab Republic attempt to kill or capture him on a flight over Syria.

(U.A.R. officials in Cairo denied the charges. They said Hussein's plane lacked proper clearance to fly over the Syrian Province of the U.A.R.

(President Nasser was reported to be convinced Syrian authorities acted properly but also to be upset by the incident, which worsened U.A.R.-Jordanian relations after a recent improvement.)

Hussein left Amman Airport Monday in a twin-engine transport plane bound for a European vacation. He later reported that two Communist-built MIG jet fighters from Syria set upon him near Damascus, capital of the Syrian Province.

The MIGs tried to force his plane down but did not fire at it, the King said. His pilot dropped down near the ground for a wild hedgehopping flight back over rugged country to Amman.

Hussein, himself a flier, was riding as co-pilot. His pilot said the two MIGs were trying to get into position to fire at the Jordanian plane all the way back.

The charge was made in a broadcast to Jordan's 1,500,000 people, many of whom favor Nasser rather than Hussein. Cairo radio has called in the past for Hussein's assassination.

Question City Man in Murder Case

Albert McGhee, of 326 W. Princeton St., was among those questioned early today in connection with the murder of a Detroit woman identified by police as Catherine Blaney, 38.

Her throat cut and six stab wounds in her body, the former dance hall hostess was found slain at about 1 a.m. today in a parking lot behind a bar at 4233 Woodward Ave., said police.

Police reported she was apparently slain on the rear seat of a parked car owned by William Pate, of Highland Park, owner of the bar.

Pate said his car had last been used by McGhee, a prospective buyer, and told investigators that both he and McGhee were in the bar from the time she left until her body was discovered. Customers verified the statement, police said.

The Day in Birmingham

State Reversal on Access to U. S. 10 Raises Query

BIRMINGHAM — A two-year ultimatum for the construction of access drives along U.S. 10 that will end next April has Birmingham city commissioners wondering which way to turn.

In 1957, all property owners on the highway were told by the city that they had two years in which to construct the drives. City officials believed it a necessity to have the drives installed as a traffic safety measure.

At that time the State Highway Dept. gave the project its blessing in the form of assured financial participation.

A recent change of thinking by highway officials, however, has not only removed this financial assistance but threatens the continued existence of such drives already installed, according to a report from Howard E. Hill, deputy highway commissioner.

While the construction is not prohibited by the state, a warning was sounded in Hill's report that at some future date — probably not before 1962 — a widening of U.S. 10 may mean the removal of all access drives. The cost of the removal would be paid by the city and or property owners involved.

City commissioners last night questioned the outcome of the two-year-old ruling requiring the drives. Mayor Carl Ingraham said he could not see how the city could require construction of the drives in view of the state's new stand.

A complete study of the portion of U.S. 10 within the city limits will be made, after which owners of business properties between 14-Mile road and Oakland avenue will be invited to attend a Commission meeting for open discussion.

In other business, the Commission approved the purchase of nine new automobiles from the Shalla Chevrolet Co. in Detroit.

A Chamber of Commerce proposal to permit free parking in city lots during Men's Shopping Night Dec. 8 also was okayed.

It was a bad night for burglars who attempted to break into the safe at the Michigan Automobile Assn. office, 257 S. Hunter Blvd., last night.

Birmingham Police said they not only failed to open the safe but were unable to remove a punch with which they had tried to force pins out of the lock.

Entry into the building was gained by breaking a window on the north side of the building.

Mrs. Herbert Masters, Birmingham president of the Franklin Cemetery Auxiliary, said the association's annual bazaar will be held in the Franklin Community Church basement at 12:30 p.m.

Eli C. Coil

Service for Eli C. Coil, 64, of 755 Vinewood St., Birmingham, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Manley Bailey Funeral Home, with burial in Acacia Park Cemetery.

Mr. Coil died yesterday at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital following a heart attack. He was branch manager of the Hoover Sweeper Co. of Detroit for 35 years.

Mr. Coil was a member of Shane's Lodge 377, F & AM, Rockford, Ohio.

UF Agency Offers Advice

Marriage Catastrophe Averted

"Frankly, I'm completely surprised," Mr. Brown said. "Why, I don't drink as much as many men I know. Just a few beers now and then, but nothing excessive or worth worrying about."

This was his first interview with a marriage counselor at the Pontiac office of Family Service of Oakland County, a United Fund agency.

The dismayed husband continued "I realize my wife and I haven't been getting along too well lately, but what does she expect? All I ask is the peace and quiet of my home, a few beers and my evening newspaper. I don't spend our money on a lot of outside activities."

According to Estella Martin, executive director of Family Service, "This is very often the reaction we get from husbands. They have no idea what has been happening to their marriage. You might even call many of them innocent bystanders."

Mrs. Brown had come to the Family Service Agency for help. She told a counselor how her husband was becoming "an alcoholic" and "just sat around home drinking all the time."

Case workers pried into her testimony looking for a basis for the trouble, and when they came across the statement "he'll be a drunkard just like my father was" they had found a starting point.

Mrs. Brown had thought of a divorce, but came to this community service agency first. It was a wise and lucky decision. She complained about her husband never taking her out, but just sitting at home becoming a drunkard.

The Browns had argued frequently. She "harped" at him about his drinking. He insisted that he was not going to cut out his "only pleasure in life."

Before beginning work on the case, counselors called in Mr. Brown for a talk. What they had suspected proved a reality.

The fault was on both sides, but most of it was on Mrs. Brown's side. She was suffering from a typical "disease" of young married couples — what one might call "over-comparison."

She had set up the model of a perfect husband in her mind and Mr. Brown was not filling the mold. She had also come from a family in which the father was an alcoholic. He lost job after job, fought with her mother, and failed as a father and provider.

When Mr. Brown (in reality) was enjoying a "few beers" he was (in her eyes) becoming an alcoholic. He was following the bitter road of her own father. She was totally against any drinking for this reason; there was no middle ground, no "few" beers.

Her husband had absolutely no idea of the picture he was creating in her mind when he uncapped a bottle of beer. Also, it was his nature to enjoy his home life and therefore he didn't enjoy going out very often.

This stay-at-home attitude also began to stir up trouble. Mrs. Brown had no hobbies of her own. She wanted him to take her out more often but he'd only answer with "I'd rather come home and open a can of beans than go 'out to dinner."

Counselors worked with the Browns, offering the understanding gained through years of experience and training in this field. Both parties were informed of the others' thoughts and difficulties.

Counselors pointed out many cases to Mrs. Brown where husbands drank moderately in happy families. She was also shown the decided advantage of having a spouse who enjoyed coming home, rather than spending his leisure time "out with the gang."

Mr. Brown, now understanding many of his wife's underlying emotions, agreed to try to show her more attention and see that she got out now and then.

Understanding each other was the biggest factor in this now happy and successful marriage. Through United Fund contributions the Family Service Agency is in many ways serving troubled families in the Pontiac area, as a non-sectarian community service.

Our Sadistic Side Sees Humor in Drunks

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—It must have long astounded the good churchgoers of America to sit back and realize that a drunk—if amiably alcoholized—is considered one of the funniest sights on stage, screen or television.

A pickled personality, uttering incomprehensible dialogue, draws more laughs from more people than the funniest joke in the world. If he is falling over drunk, it is even merrier than if he is only modestly potted; if he speaks idiocy with a slur, more aisles are rolled in than if he makes intelligible chitchat as most social drinkers do.

A great deal of our humor in this sensitive age has been vetoed because of the danger of hurting feelings or offending causes (only Jews can tell jokes about Jews, no one kids the working man, take it easy on psychiatry, watch those funnies on Puerto Rico, Dulles, teenagers, etc.).

Yet, making light of one of the country's greatest social problems — alcoholism — goes on and on. People are bored with one-joke comics, monologues, pantomimes, slapstick. They have become sophisticated, even in the smallest towns, the experts say.

About all you can be sure of, if you're a comedian looking for a laugh, is a good old-fashioned drunk act.

The reason, of course, is that people are sadistic. They like to see someone else in a bad way. Makes them, personally, feel better. It's the same philosophy that applies to the humor in a man slipping on a banana peel—except that watching a man get drunk is even funnier, because it's closer to home.

A man who has never slipped on a banana peel cannot feel fully smug at watching another do it. But almost no adult in America (according to statistics) has not had the sickening feeling of too much alcohol in his system.

An expert on this subject is the comedian named Tom Poston. He is the one with the face of a pop-eyed Stan Laurel.

Poston has acted blotto many times on the "Steve Allen Show," and he now is starring in the Broadway comedy "Drink To Me Only," in which he affably consumes two bottles of whisky a night. (Actually, what he drinks is caramel-colored water; calls himself a "wateric.")

Poston believes that audiences' age-old delight in drunken humor stems from two psychological feelings. First, "the drunk's dignity has been betrayed. He is trying not to stagger, but he does. This makes you feel good, watching him. YOU have such enormous dignity."

Second, there's the forthcoming hangover which, subconsciously, is to be considered by the audience. "Do you realize that with a really bad hangover you are very close to death? If you were that sick with a virus, you'd pass out.

"But you can't—your guilt keeps you awake. And you get no sympathy, no sympathy at all."

Considering that this drunk is going to wake up feeling like death—while you are healthy and tip-top . . . well, how diabolically smug can one feel?

W. B. Grace President Speaks in Detroit

Warns U. S. Must Block Reds in Latin America

DETROIT (AP)—J. Peter Grace, whose company has a 100-year history of business in Latin America, said Monday that the United States must start thinking in terms of a hemispheric commonwealth.

Grace, president of W. R. Grace & Co., said in a speech before the Economic Club of Detroit that such a commonwealth should contain "the mutual and reciprocal preferences and concessions which the name implies."

Pointing to the fact that the dollar-value of Latin American currency is declining, he said that the drop is compounded by the damage of inflation to the U. S. dollar at home.

"Economic illness in Latin America can produce political illness," Grace said, "and the name of that political illness, as you well know, is Communism."

Already the Russians are moving into Latin America's uncertain economic situation with glistening promises of aid, Grace continued, and added that the United States must come through with "the kind of dedicated attitude that stopped Communism cold in Europe."

"In other words," he said, "an attitude which says these people are our friends. They live in the same block and we are not going to let them collapse."

Grace blamed much of Latin America's economic distress on what he called one-crop economies—coffee in Brazil and Colombo, copper in Chile, for example — and said the United States was in good position to help with a cure.

He suggested a sort of training program in which the United States, "with its highly skilled personnel in its stock exchanges, banks, universities and business schools could assist the Latin American business communities in the formation of private capital for industrial development."

Another big help to Latin America's economy would be a tax writeoff for industry similar to the one in effect now in Puerto Rico, Grace said.

He listed Latin America at the top of areas with foreign investments from the United States—a total of 8.8 billion dollars—and said the mutuality of interests will become stronger in the future, "but only if we apply ourselves."

United Fund Supports ACS

Owes His Life to Cancer Education

Today Mr. Burns is a successful area businessman, participating in many civic and community activities.

He is a good husband, and a capable provider for his three children, as well as being in the peak of physical condition appearing 10 years younger than his 53 years.

He spends a lot of time with his family because he owes them a great debt — his life. He also is extremely active in bringing yearly shows and lectures to the many civic and community groups with which he is affiliated.

These "shows" are entertaining, but mostly educational. They are vital in his eyes, since he also owes his life to them and their sponsor, the Pontiac Branch of the American Cancer Society, a United Fund Organization.

Seven years ago Mr. Burns' eldest daughter, Anne, was enrolled in a biology course at an area junior high school.

COMMON PROCEDURE

The school had made arrangements with the local American Cancer Society branch to devote one week of the course to cancer education.

This is a common procedure with many schools. The cancer society provided each student with special educational materials, slides, charts on cell structure and provided the class with films to cover five days work.

She took this knowledge home. Mr. Brown had been experiencing erratic changes in normal bowel habits. He had passed it off as "constipation" or said he'd been "working too hard, not getting enough sleep, and eating erratically."

Anne, very bluntly as teenagers so often put things, said to him one night, "Sounds like a cancer danger signal. You ought to see Doc Evans, Dad."

They talked about what Anne had been learning. She talked her dad into going to a cancer lecture and film showing, that the school's PTA had set up with the aid of the cancer society.

The film and a recognized doctor who spoke were furnished to the group of 30 interested parents at no cost.

IGNORE CURED PERSONS

Mr. Burns found that the most dangerous person was he or she who "knew someone who died of cancer" and ignored the many who had been cured.

After seeing his doctor, the worst was confirmed. Mr. Burns did have cancer, but as his doctor said, it was "in its early stages and the chances for successful operation and removal were in Mr. Burns' favor."

He was in the hospital for two weeks. Then he spent another three or four weeks at home recuperating.

BEDRIDDEN SIX WEEKS

Six weeks of being bedridden and recuperating is but a small fraction of a person's lifetime, Mr. Burns found.

Now he goes back to the doctor for a "checkup" every six months and, because of these "checkups" he is in better health than he was before his cancer was discovered.

He is a cancer society booster all the way and with society aid has sponsored many "educational" programs for the many community and civic groups he is affiliated with.

These films and lectures are a part of the cancer society educational program—a part of the overall program which saves so many lives each year.

They are free for the asking, as are so many society aids to cancer patients and hospitals.

The cancer society is made up of volunteer workers and will continue to offer these vital services to the community as long as there are volunteers and your voluntary contributions to the United Fund.

VOLUNTEER PROJECTIONIST — The struggle for better cancer education is being won each day through the aid of area residents like Mrs. Russell Wainscott, of 323 Tilmor Drive, Waterford Township. As a volunteer projectionist for the Pontiac Branch of the American Cancer Society she shows motion pictures to area groups, free of charge, as part of the society's many United Fund supported services. This film may save the lives of many of its viewers, by urging them to see their doctors for regular examinations.

Memorial Day, Indeed!

EAGLE CITY, Okla. (AP) —John Krause reports his mother, sister, daughter, grandson and great-grandson all were born May 30.

Mother, 19, Held in Baby's Death

Texas Woman Accused of Throwing Daughter Down on Floor

HOUSTON (AP)—Police charged a young mother with murder early today in the death of her 4-week-old daughter, one of three children in the family who have died since 1956 of what was listed as pneumonia.

They accused Mrs. Iris Conrad, 19, of suburban Bellaire with killing the infant by "throwing her down on the floor." The child, Lynda Conrad, died Nov. 2.

Bellaire Police Chief Jack O'Brien would say only that "a statement was made and a charge was filed."

Authorities questioned the woman for about 10 hours before the charge was filed shortly after midnight.

Mrs. Conrad's attorney, William M. Hatten, said "the whole thing has been instigated by the insurance companies."

He said $750 was paid by an insurance company after the death of another Conrad child last May, but that there was no insurance on Lynda. The couple has one living child, Robert, 4.

Others who died include Richard, 3 months, and George Jr., 9 months. Richard died Oct. 29, 1956, and George last May 15.

Mrs. Conrad told investigators in May that George died shortly after she found Robert stomping the baby on her living room floor.

Peace Justice W. C. Ragan said he would not set bond until Mrs. Conrad has been examined by the Harris County psychiatrist.

Rescuer Flies to Aid of Cat Trapped 9 Days

ATLANTA (AP)—The meows of Tennie-the-cat grew weaker today as animal lovers in many parts of the nation offered advice on how to rescue her.

The 2-year-old feline fell into a narrow crevice between two buildings nine days ago.

Firemen, police, the Atlanta Humane Society, owner Clarence Coursey, 67, and neighbors tried without success to release the animal.

Stories of Tennie's plight brought many telephone calls from persons offering suggestions.

At Boston, the Massachusetts Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals announced that an expert animal rescuer planned to fly to Tennie's aid.

Carl Bragner, 27, a former serviceman with numerous dog and cat rescues to his credit, was expected in Atlanta about noon.

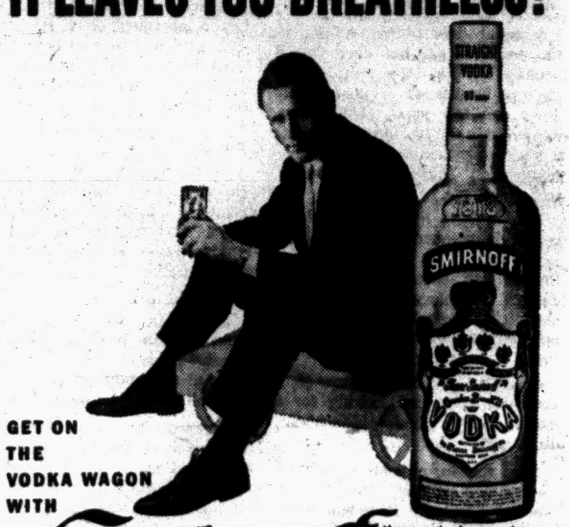

A woman in Danville, Va. told Coursey she had rescued a squirrel from a 100-foot deep well by dropping food in a woman's stocking and then pulling the animal up by a rope.

A caller from Englewood, N.J., suggested to The Associated Press that a wooden ladder made of 2 by 4s be lowered into the hole, and the Savannah Morning News received a call suggesting wet sand until it came within reach.

Coursey, a former restaurant operator, said the cat jumped to a window ledge of a small hotel where he lives and plunged into a four to six inch wide space separating the hotel from an adjoining building. The animal fell about 15 feet.

Coursey dropped food and water to Tennie. He even tried lowering the cat's mother, Prissy, inside a bird cage to lure her offspring out.

Summer Home Looted in Waterford Township

A summer home at 4405 Motorway Dr., owned by Harry Lewis of Detroit, was broken into sometime last night and four men's suits valued at $300 were stolen, Waterford Township police said.

Cadillac Executive Sills Found Dead in Garage

DETROIT (AP)—George D. Sills, 57, manager of dealer-factory relations for Cadillac division of General Motors Corp., was found dead in his car today. The vehicle was parked in his closed garage with the motor running.

The body was found by his wife, Inez, about 4:30 a.m. She said she last saw him when she went to bed about midnight. Awakening and not finding him, she started a search. Police said Mrs. Sills described her husband as in good health and spirits. She was unable to explain why he had gone to the car.

Sills, a native of Detroit and a former University of Michigan student, joined Cadillac in 1937 and had held several executive jobs. His official title was executive assistant to the general manager in charge of dealer-factory relations. James M. Roche is Cadillac general manager.

Key Dem Gains Mean GOP Must Readjust

Elections always bring realignment and adjustments and that is exactly the current national political situation. Perhaps the most significant aspect is the change in influential states.

The Democrats have made gains in northern and western states and in some cases these are crucial points. The Senate will definitely feel the influence from this new Democratic power.

This gain will have Pennsylvania's new governor, David Lawrence, along with winning Democrats Brown of California and Governor-elect Mike Disalle of Ohio. There is no question but what these are all key states and will figure heavily in things to come.

How New York rates Democratically is not quite clear. The split between Governor HARRIMAN and Tammany Boss, CARMINE DESAPIO, badly weakens the Democratic position. The HARRIMAN loss to ROCKEFELLER was a big blow.

Adjustment problems for the Republicans are obvious. Just how they will attempt to make up for the loss of such leaders as BRICKER of Ohio, MALONE of Nevada, KNOWLAND of California and JENNER of Indiana is not yet clear.

The Republicans' lone bright star is Nelson Rockefeller, governor-elect of New York. Whether he can help rally their forces together is an unknown factor at this early date.

The next two years for the Republicans appear to be rather dim right now in contrast to the thoroughly rejuvenated Democratic forces.

The aftermath of the election has left one party's forces shattered and the other's clear and bright for the future.

MSU and U. of M. Don't Know What Trouble Is

Michigan and Michigan State fans take heart—tiny Olivet College, another state school, just won its first game.

And that's not all. By beating Kalamazoo College 20 to 13 Saturday, they ended a 29-game losing streak that goes back to 1954. So the old grads from U. of M. and MSU should not feel too low.

This timeworn policy of hanging the coach in effigy rates in the same class along with the panty raids. Monday's demonstration at East Lansing and an earlier one at Ann Arbor give the overzealous youths a chance to let off a little steam.

Football is merely a game and the outcome should not be taken seriously. After all, colleges are primarily institutions of learning.

Making Progress With a Keen Vision

This finds absolute proof in the fact during the past six years nearly 1,000 subdivision plats have been recorded in Oakland County.

That's by far the largest number among our state's 83 counties.

It is 360 more than were recorded in Wayne County which is in second place.

It is one-eighth of those recorded in all of Michigan.

This is unmistakable evidence of the drift of our state's growth.

Further proof is supplied by the fact that during these same years the building permits issued in our county outnumber the lots in the new subdivisions by nearly 10,000 or by over 21 per cent.

This shows that the excess platting here of 30 years ago is not being repeated, but the development of recent years is on a sound basis.

The people are moving out of the big city, with a confidence that our progress is not of the boom and bust kind, but is based on a solid foundation.

Quintets of Sisters in City and Living Outside

Snow: What we're looking for and hoping we won't see.

When this column reported the five Clack Sisters, with a total age of 400, I knew we were starting something—and we were. We've had reported a great number of quintets that exceed that age, and I've picked the leaders in our city and the leaders from outside.

All born in Oakland County, the five Clark Sisters have a total age of 433 years. They are

Mrs. Cora Carey

Mrs. Adaline Woolman, living in Detroit;

Mrs. Mary Ann Taylor,

a resident of Flint;

Mrs. Ethelena Terry,

residing at Davisburg, and

Mrs. Lela Banfield,

of Wixom.

And right here in Pontiac we have the five Johnson Sisters, with a total age of 424 years. They are

Mrs. Bertha Hyatt

of 308 Oakland Ave.;

Mrs. Alberta Laidlaw

at the same address;

Mrs. Mary Lovell

of 63 North Shirley St.;

Mrs. Louis Howell

of 289 East Pike St.; and

Mrs. Hattie Woodhull

of 36 Oak Hill St.

"Compassion, Comrades, We Bury the Book — Not Pasternak"

David Lawrence Says:

Voters Refuse to Learn From Past

WASHINGTON — American politics ran true to form last week. As of today, it looks like history will repeat and that the Republicans will get another defeat in 1960, no matter who they nominate for the presidency.

LAWRENCE

The theory that what happened in the past is of no significance and that "things are different now" has been adduced again and again in discussions of political affairs ever since the founding of the Republic.

The tragic fact is that the current generation is running true to form in failing to take to heart the lessons of the past.

This correspondent's experience with congressional elections—beginning in November 1910—indicates to him that economic discontent usually wins at the polls, irrespective of party, and that in a contest between conservatism and progressivism, neither faction within a party ever extinguishes the other because convictions are stanchly held.

The cycles in politics seem to repeat themselves. When William Howard Taft was elected in 1908, he received the second largest number of electoral votes polled by any candidate up to that time. He had the sponsorship of Theodore Roosevelt, the incumbent Republican President, who was known as a "progressive"—the synonym for the present-day "modern" Republican.

The first two years of the Taft administration were on the progressive side with one notable exception—his failure to veto a tariff bill which had enraged western Republicans. The "high cost of living" was blamed on the high-tariff policy of the Republicans, and it became the dominant issue in the congressional campaign of 1910.

The country was amazed on the day after the congressional election to discover that for the first time in 18 years the Democrats had won a house of Congress.

The congressional election of that year, however, didn't heal the wounds of the Republican Party—it made them worse. One faction—corresponding to the "modern" Republicans of today—was led by Theodore Roosevelt, who turned on Taft. By 1912 the breach had widened and "T.R." headed a third party of "progressive" Republicans. As a consequence, Woodrow Wilson, Democrat, walked into the White House.

While the Democrats won the presidency by a hair in 1916, our entry into the war in 1917 upset the economy to such an extent that even before the war ended, the Republicans won the House and Senate in the mid-term election of 1918.

Then the conservative Republicans came back into power for a period of 12 years. They won by landslides in 1920, 1924 and 1928. They were benefited in 1924 by the existence of a "radical" Republican Party under the candidacy of the elder Senator La Follette of Wisconsin. The cries of "radicalism" and "socialism" and the possibility of La Follette winning the presidency drew many conservative Democrats away from the party nominee, John W. Davis, himself a conservative. That's how Calvin Coolidge won the presidency.

Today the President is trying hard to hold the conservatives in line with a sound fiscal program, but he is handicapped by the "welfare" boys who go along with the Democrats in believing that the thing to do is to keep the budget unbalanced and maintain "deficit spending."

The true answer to this conflict of view never comes until there is economic adversity. It looks as if the present inflationary cycle will be halted only by a depression. The union bosses, though claiming to be against inflation, are actually feeding it. They have control of the Democratic Party.

This year the demands for higher and higher wages are growing and, of course, this will be followed by an era of higher and higher prices until a buyers' strike sets in. The rising cost of living and the reduced purchasing power of the dollar forbode political and economic trouble.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Poor Nutrition, Alcohol Rob Americans of Vite

The most deceptive, seductive and destructive narcotic is alcohol. Please understand it is not just my notion that alcohol is a narcotic. It is the finding of medical science.

DR. BRADY

A person with vite has a sense of well-being, enjoys good health. Therefore he or she has no need of alcohol or any other narcotic. After all, why benumb one's sense of well-being when one feels just fine and dandy?

There's no blinking the fact that I worry a good deal about what alcohol is doing to our country, and when I think about what it will do to our country in the next generation I become frightened.

I believe in, religiously practice, and recommend to everybody total abstinence. If I just believed in and practiced temperance it wouldn't hurt so much. But recommending total abstinence to the reading public makes social, occasional, light, moderate and heavy drinkers, as well as manufacturers and vendors of beer, wine and liquor wish I were — silenced. And they have some practical ideas on how to make the wish come true.

NUTRITION IMPORTANT

Good nutrition, in my opinion, is the strongest single factor of temperance or total abstinence. The enormous and increasing consumption of alcohol and other narcotics in America is due primarily, I believe, to the national malnutrition and to the failure of medical, health and government authorities to do anything to correct or stop it.

Doctors and others whose knowledge of nutrition is limited sometimes declare that we get all the vitamins and minerals we need if we follow a "well balanced," varied or proper diet — and at the same time they approve or defend the practice of "doctoring" white flour, milk and other foods with dashes of this and that vitamin and/or mineral, avowedly to "fortify" or "enrich" the food.

If this doctoring of refined foods puts back into the foods what has been lost in the refining process, one could object only on the ground that the fool doctoring makes the finished product too expensive. Take for instance the "staff of life." When the name was first used it referred to wheat in its natural state, whole wheat, cracked wheat, wheat meal or flour ground in the grist mill, wheat from which nothing was removed.

Any nutritional effect obtainable from wheat germ, wheat germ oil or vitamin E is most readily obtainable from eating plain wheat. If this doesn't penetrate the ivory send me a 4-cent-stamped, self-addressed envelope for my FREE pamphlet Wheat to Eat.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'You'll Regret Using Police to Threaten Small Child'

I saw a mother tell her three-year-old daughter, as several police car sirens were blowing, that they were coming after her. I imagine it was to make the little girl be good. The mother then forgot it, but even after the sirens had disappeared for several minutes, the little girl said, "Mama, they're not coming after me." Believe me, never teach children a policeman is their enemy. You will regret it much later.

'Give New Coach a Fair Chance'

Since I'm not an alumnus of St. Michael's I'm probably not qualified to write concerning Coach Mineweaser. Even though I don't know the true facts, only rumors as to why we have a new coach, I feel there are two sides to every story.

Both sides should be publicly aired and though Mineweaser was a wonderful coach, let's be fair and give the new man a real chance. Let's give him credit for helping bring our present victories.

Tells How Much Agencies Helped

Our children, 8, 5 and 4, were stricken with muscular dystrophy shortly after birth. The Red Feather, Muscular Dystrophy Association and Crippled Children's Association have helped us with wheelchairs, hospital beds, braces and hospital and doctor bills.

I know if people hear of people geeting help when they need it, they will give for the drives that are on. I can't get out and march, as I have to be home with the children, but please give. These children need so much and maybe we can find a cure for them.

It's too bad the right to work law was beaten in Michigan. In a democracy, everyone ought to have his own rights for himself. I hope the measure is brought up again in 1960 and with a much bigger vote coming then, it ought to pass in this state.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Stresses Positive Thinking

Coaches and athletes, scrapbook this case and read it again before every game or athletic meet! Memorize the remark of Marshal Foch. And you mothers should train your children to have faith in God and a winning outlook so they will not surrender to fear when they are on a sick bed. For fear can hamper the body's capacity to throw off disease!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z-368: In London a few years ago one of my psychology colleagues conducted a very interesting experiment.

It should be of double value for all athletic coaches and their players.

DR. CRANE

This psychologist took a group of soldiers and had them engage in a contest to see which one had the strongest handgrip.

So they seized a dynamometer and squeezed it as tightly as they could.

Their average handgrip was 101 lbs.

Then the psychologist hypnotized these same men and implanted a negative or defeatism idea.

"You are anemic and sickly," he added. "You are feeble and weak. Now seize the machine and grip it just as strongly as possible."

Under this negative suggestion, the men did as told and now their average handgrip was only 69 lbs.

But before he awoke them from their hypnotic trance, the psychologist reversed the previous suggestion and told them they were very strong, powerful, Herculean.

Then he asked them to grip the machine as tightly as possible.

Now they averaged 140 lbs. Notice that this is more than double their strength when they thought they were weak and defeated.

COACHES, NOTA BENE

Coaches, please note well the above experiment, which you will find explained more fully on pp. 372-375 of my college textbook "Psychology Applied."

Better have all your athletes read and re-read this episode, for a man who thinks positively can actually show greater muscular power than one who has an inferiority complex.

True enough, we may not attain quite the peak of performance in the normal waking state which we can show under hypnosis.

But we go in that general direction when we think positively.

And when we feel beaten before we start, we actually lose some of our strength.

Fear can thus reduce a man's muscular output while confidence will raise it!

I'd rather have a team that was over confident than one which was afraid and whipped in its mind before it took the field.

For the only detriment about an over confident team is the fact such players tend to slight proper practice and ignore trivial though very important, details.

A good coach, knowing these hazards, can guard against such carelessness. But he meanwhile realizes his team has a winning or victory morale, which has carried the Yankees and Notre Dame to so many successes.

MARSHAL FOCH

Marshal Foch, the great French leader in World War I, said that "morale is more important than materials."

And a positive or victory morale actually makes athletes stronger.

This means they can throw a javelin or discuss farther and jump higher.

Wrestlers are likewise stronger and swimmers become faster.

A man who says he will get well, can usually take almost every disease in the medical textbook and still recover.

But a person who thinks he will die, can fade away in spite of what we physicians do and which would normally guarantee recovery. Ask any doctor about this phenomenon of a victory morale on the sickbed.

And scrapbook this case with the follow-up tomorrow.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

1 Traffic Code Sought for U.S.

Safety Official Refers to Uniformity as Aid to Safer Driving

BOSTON (AP) — Adoption of the Uniform Vehicle Code by all states was recommended yesterday by a safety official as a stimulus to safer driving.

The suggestion was made by Robert L. Donigan, general counsel of the Traffic Institute, Northwestern University.

He spoke at a regional conference on traffic safety for legislators from 11 states and two territories.

Donigan said the Uniform Vehicle Code, a proposed set of traffic regulations for the nation, would reduce motorists' confusion over conflicting traffic laws in the individual states.

"Too many state codes," Donigan said, "are little more than a jumble of disconnected sections thrown together through the years."

Another speaker, Henry J. Joeffer, assistant general manager of the National Safety Council, Chicago, said the United States in 1966 can expect a traffic accident toll of 50,000 dead, 1,900,000 injured and an economic loss of $7,300,000,000 unless greater safety efforts are expended.

He said 1,081,000 persons lost their lives in traffic accidents between Jan. 1, 1925, and Jan. 1, 1958.

Hoeffer said the toll is only slightly less than the 1,128,000 fatalities of U.S. citizens in all the wars of the nation's 180-year history.

Bob Considine Says:

Red Literary Review Ignores Pasternak

WASHINGTON — "Soviet literature seeks new and durable links with contemporary life, the life of the people," blurbs a handout from the Soviet embassy. "How fascinating it is to trace the development of new relations and characters, and penetrate into the souls of those who are tirelessly creating what is new, who are resolutely forging ahead into the future!"

Okay, Ivan, but what about Pasternak?

The name of the Russian who was forced to turn down the Nobel Prize for literature and was virtually kicked out of his union for daring to suggest in his notable novel that the U.S.S.R. is somewhat short of Utopia, is nowhere seen in the Red embassy handout.

Instead, we learn what the Soviets really want and admire in the way of literature.

"Was it so long ago as the '30s that young Leonid Leonov produced his novel of the builders of the first paper mill deep in a virgin forest, on the banks of the river Sot?" rhetorically asks T. Trifonova, writer of the handout. "Or Llya Ehrenburg wrote his "The Second Day," a novel with a biblical title about the construction of an industrial giant amidst the chaos of the revolutional upheaval? Or Mikhail Sholokhov penned his epic of stormy days on the banks of the quiet Don and the story of how a village embarked upon the unknown path of collectivization?

"In the rural areas where once the hero of 'Quiet Flows the Don' was torn by mental anguish, unable to decide which side to take, what path to follow, there now stand prosperous collective farms that have built electric stations and recreation centers, that raise new varieties of wheat and apples, new breeds of animals and poultry, while the new intelligentsia, both white-haired professors who greeted the first Russian revolution in 1904 as students and young researchers who know the Czarist regime only from books, are working together with the entire people to create artificial cosmic bodies and chemical fertilizers, symphonies and architectural ensembles, paintings and books."

You lost us on the artificial fertilizers, Buster.

With astonishing skill, Trifonova goes through a list of the "most popular" Russian novelists without a single allusion to the work of the eminent Russian whose name is on every literate tongue in the world.

"Fighting on the Way" by Galina Nikolaeva will soon be the No. 1 best seller in the Soviet Union, it seems. "Throughout the novel the authoress shows that while individual mistakes will be corrected and new steps taken to develop the Soviet land, the unity of the Soviet people and the Communist Party will remain unbroken, the socialist foundations of life will remain unshaken, and the features of communism that are emerging will grow in strength and scope," our boy swears.

Then there are such goodies as Daniil Granin's "After the Wedding," in which the happy groom searches his soul and realizes he owes as much fidelity to the collective as the spouse; "The Zhurbins," the saga of a worker's family, and an announcement about the upcoming meeting of the gutless writers claque that tried to cat-call Pasternak out of the country.

"My short review lacks the festive spirit," Trifonova concludes in a massive understatement, "although it is written on the eve of a big national holiday, the 41st anniversary of the revolution. But I did not want to convey the atmosphere of preparations for a holiday; I merely wanted to tell our friends something of what Soviet literature has accomplished this year. Soviet men and women always make an extra effort in their work as one way of marking their holidays."

Parse that, brother. And what's with Pasternak?

IT'S A WONDERFUL WORLD — In the best tradition of Huckleberry Finn, Jake Meanley, 10, crawls up a long tree snag stuck in a sand bar on the Mississippi River near Memphis, Tenn. The charm of the waterway wasn't any more lost on Jake than it was on Mark Twain Huck's creator.

Tells of 2 Radiation Bands to Be Found in Space Travel

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Space travelers face double trouble from dangerous radiation, a scientist said today.

They must survive two different bands of radiation, not just the one recently discovered by explorer satellites.

But a spaceship designed like a club sandwich could take them safely through, said Dr. S. Fred Singer of the University of Maryland.

Its outer skin would be built up in layers of various materials to block out the radiation.

Dr. Singer spoke at the opening of the second international symposium on the physics and medicine of the atmosphere and space. The three-day conference is sponsored by the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine here and arranged by the Southwest Research Institute.

Looking ahead to man's exploration of space, the conference will touch upon proposals for rescuing astronauts from marooned or disabled space ships.

Dr. Singer said there are apparently two bands or haloes of radiation around the earth. Both are a hazard to humans aboard earth satellites or rockets to the moon or Mars.

One is a band of intense or hard radiation discovered by explorer satellites and also detected by Russia's Sputniks.

This band seems to be formed from interactions of cosmic rays from outer space with atoms of the earth's air, Dr. Singer said.

The other band is less intense, or soft radiation, streaming from our sun itself.

Both bands are trapped in the earth's magnetic field and constitute human hazard. The radiation could be lethal over long periods of exposure. Some of it could damage human germ cells or the genes determining heredity.

The intense, hard radiation is most dangerous, Dr. Singer said. He estimated it would take 10,000 pounds of lead shielding around a spherical space ship 12 feet in diameter to keep it from harming human occupants. But that weight is too much for a space ship.

Dr. Singer proposed the club sandwich as a solution.

The outer skin of the ship would be made of a thin layer of lead on top of a layer of tin. Both would reduce the radiation produced when the hard radiation struck metal surfaces.

Under this shield would be an air space, and then an inner skin of metals such as aluminum, titanium or magnesium for more anti-radiation protection while giving structural strength. Under that would be a layer of special material made of hydrogen and carbon which was designed to stop or break up some direct hits by cosmic rays.

The air space between the outer and inner skins would be a meteor bumper. If a speeding meteor struck the ship, it might make a hole in the outer skin, but the impact would be dissipated there and would not puncture the inner cabin, where people were living in pressurized air.

Dr. Singer also mentioned an earlier proposal of his that special unmanned satellites could be sent up to capture or sweep away the most dangerous bands of radiation created by cosmic rays.

Pair Ignores Whistle, Freight Kills Girl

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — The train whistle shrieked desperately again and again as the seven-car New York Centrals freight thundered toward a man and girl walking arm in arm on the tracks. They never turned their heads.

The girl, Eleanor Sendall, 14, was killed.

The man, Anthony Morse, 24, suffered a fractured skull and lost three toes off his right foot. He was taken to a hospital too dazed to explain the mystery of their last walk together Monday.

Police said Eleanor's father had told Morse to stay away from the girl after the father found out that Morse is married and not 19 as he claimed.

After Firemen Leave, Fair Building Burns

CALDWELL, Ohio (AP) — Noble County's fairground here was crowded on two consecutive Sundays by firemen from throughout southeast Ohio, in for special training.

Shortly after they all departed, the grandstand burned — the day before the fair opened.

He shares his loss with your children

This man was a college professor. Unfortunately, his talent to inspire young minds will not be used again.

Why?

An incredibly low salary drove him from the classroom. He was forced to take a job elsewhere to make ends meet.

Alarmingly enough, this sort of thing is happening with increasing frequency. As a nation whose destiny depends on the development of brainpower, how can we afford to let it go on?

Help the college of your choice. Help it plan for a stronger, better paid faculty. The returns will be greater than you think.

New Senators to Get Big Posts

Sen. Bridges' Proposal Cuts Growing Revolt by GOP Liberals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A counter proposal by Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH) took some of the fire out of a growing revolt by the Senate's Republican liberals today.

With the liberals demanding a greater voice in Republican affairs, Bridges proposed to expand the GOP leadership jobs to three and include a liberal in one of the posts.

The New Hampshire senator said in a telephone interview he he will discuss his proposal with President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon next month.

Bridges, who heads the GOP Policy Committee, announced also he will support a move to give Republican newcomers—as well as holdover liberals—at least one important committee assignment each.

In the past, new GOP senators have been relegated to membership on minor committees, with assignments made on a basis of strict seniority. Under the leadership of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democrats have modified the seniority custom to put each new member on at least one top flight committee.

If it is adopted, the Bridges proposal would give such new senators as Kenneth B. Keating of New York and Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania important posts at the beginning of their Senate careers.

It also would move up to more important committee jobs members like Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York and Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky, who were elected two years ago.

Ready to Give Back California to Indians

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The City of San Francisco is ready to give California back to the Indians —or to any one else who will have it.

In this case California is the $145,000, 500-foot relief map of the state which has awed visitors to San Francisco's Ferry Building since the early 1920s. The city pays $1,000 a year for the map space in the state-owned building. It has been told it must get the map out of the building this year.

The city has been trying to sell it but there are no takers. The Board of Supervisors now has authorized chief administrative officer Chester R. MacPhee to give it away.

AND A HAPPY HALLOWEEN, TOO — The frost is hardly on the pumpkin yet, but this highway billboard is already spreading Christmas cheer at Centralia, Ill. Set up by a dairy, the sign draws chuckles from motorists, many of whom are southward-bound to Florida.

Police Pick Up Big Spender

Young Man Is Wanted for Looting $260,000 From Ottawa Bank

DENVER (AP) — Boyne Lester Johnston, 25, of Ottawa, Canada, wanted for embezzling $260,000 from an Ottawa bank, was arrested at a night club here Monday night and an estimated $200,000 of the loot was recovered, police said today.

Johnston, an employe of the Imperial Bank of Canada, told detectives Art Esterling and Gene Ater in an oral statement he took the money because "I wondered what it would be like to have all that money. Now I know."

A $10,000 reward circular from Ottawa authorities led to Johnston's arrest. A police informant called police Monday night told them a man fitting Johnston's description had been drinking champagne at the club for several hours.

Ater said a suitcase found in Johnston's room in the YMCA was crammed full of bills. "It's practically all Canadian money with just a few American bills," Ater added.

Estimate of the amount recovered was made by Johnston who "guessed" he had spent about $60,000 in a 16-day splurge in Los Angeles, Twin Falls, Idaho, and here. Johnston was placed in a city jail cell without charge.

Ater quoted Johnston as saying he went from Ottawa to Los Angeles by plane after the embezzlement was discovered Oct. 25. He said he then went to Twin Falls and came here Nov. 3.

Police also recovered an expensive sports car which Johnston said he had purchased here several days ago for $4,150.

Cross Burns Near Home of Negro Woman Elected

HOUSTON (AP) — A cross burned Monday night in the front yard of Mrs. Charles White, who was elected the first Negro member of the Houston School Board last week.

Three of her five children noticed the flaming cross about 9 p.m. Her husband, an optometrist, quickly extinguished the blaze. He said the cross was about five feet tall.

Mrs. White said she did not think the cross burning reflected the general feeling of the Houston public.

"I feel that the persons who did this are ashamed of their act as they did not show themselves," she said.

"I am ashamed that there are persons who would desecrate a cross in such a way."

The Houston School Board received a petition to recheck results of the election earlier Monday evening. Mrs. White polled about 36,000 votes, approximately 8,000 more than her nearest opponent, incumbent John Glen.

The request forced the school board to delay formal approval of the election results. School attorneys said the board had no right to refuse the recheck.

George Polk, judge of Precinct 56 and one of the signers of the petition, claimed that many of the voting machines were not operating properly.

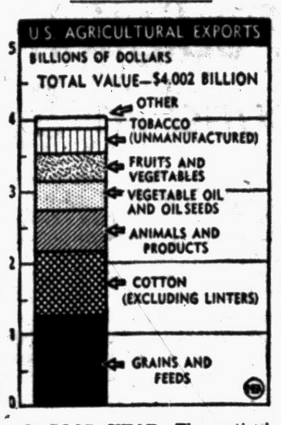

"One of the keys—the ones for Mrs. White—would pull down every time the voter would pull the lever to vote the straight Democratic ticket," Polk said.

"Since the election ended, I have had numerous voters from other precincts complain that Mrs. White had gotten votes that way."

Louis Buchner, superintendent of the voting machine department for Harris County, denied that many of the machines were not working properly. He said a defective mechanism on one machine was fixed as soon as it was reported.

Mrs. White ran on an integration platform.

No integration steps have been made in Houston as yet. She urged an orderly program.

A GOOD YEAR—The nation's agriculture exports in fiscal 1958 (ended June 30), although down 15 per cent from the all-time high set in 1957, were still the third highest on record—slightly over four billion dollars. Legislators See Crucial Session

State's Tax Structure to Be Up for Revision at January Assembly

LANSING (UPI) — Fifty bills are in the drafting stage and the most important are yet to come as administrators and lawmakers prepare for one of the most crucial sessions of the Michigan Legislature.

Emphasis during the 1959 session will be on bread-and-butter issues, the most vital being a revision of the state's tax structure.

The session doesn't start until Jan. 14. But already it is the center of activity in state government.

Administrators are drafting the budgets that will be presented to lawmakers.

And lawmakers are winding up work of the nearly 50 interim study committees authorized by the 1958 legislature.

REPORT EXPECTED

A report on the most important legislative study, a combined effort of citizens and lawmakers to come up with recommendations for revising the tax structure, is expected early next moth.

There has been widespread speculation that a state income tax will be recommended to the Legislature, either by the tax study committee or individual legislators.

Some study committees and some individual lawmakers already have asked the legislative service bureau to prepare bills.

"We have about 50 requests," said bill-drafter Arthur B. Craig. "And we expect a lot more. This looks like a really full session."

County supervisors from heavily-populated Southeastern Michigan have agreed to ask the state to assume a larger share of their welfare costs.

The counties were unsuccessful in their bid before the 1958 Legislature for a 50-50 split in state-local welfare payments. Local units now have to pay 70 per cent of direct relief costs.

That popular American plan — installment buying — has caught on in Austria and has boosted consumer sales tremendously.

Supreme Court 'Saves' Millions

Rules Cost of Living on Job Not Deductible From Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court ruled 6-3 Monday that workmen who pay board and lodging at job sites away from their established residences may not deduct the cost as business expenses on income tax returns.

The court's decision was announced in an unsigned opinion. Justice Douglas wrote a dissent joined by Justices Black and Whittaker.

The case was brought by three North Carolina workmen. Had they won it, the principle would have applied to thousands of other workers at a cost of many millions of dollars to the U.S. Treasury.

The three workmen were James E. Peurifoy, a welder with a residence at Kure Beach, N.C.; Paul V. Stines, a plumber; and John S. Hall, a welder, both residents of Raleigh, N. C.

In their 1953 tax returns they sought to deduct from gross income amounts spent for subsistence and quarters while they worked on construction of a Du Pont plant at Kinston, N.C.

The U.S. Tax Court approved the deductions. The U.S. Circuit Court in Richmond overruled the tax court. The workmen then appealed to the high tribunal, where the Justice Department opposed their contentions.

The government argued tax law permits such deduction only to a taxpayer who, in pursuit of his trade or business, must travel either temporarily or intermittently away from the locality which is his regular post of duty.

The Supreme Court majority said the case turned upon a narrow question of fact—whether employment of the three men was "temporary or indefinite."

The Supreme Court then said the Circuit Court made a fair assessment of the record in the case and found that the employment was not temporarily.

Father, Son Accused of Inciting Thefts

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — Police say they have broken a weird triangle of burglary—composed of an obedient 15-year-old boy who stole to satisfy the whims of a father and his son.

Victor R. Gilbert, 64, and his son, Victor F., 22, arrested Monday night, were charged with receiving stolen goods and held in $1,000 bail each.

The boy, not identified because of his age, implicated the other two after surrendering to police. He will be turned over to juvenile authorities.

Police said that Gilbert and his son would suggest to the boy that they needed such things as radios or other items—and he would then steal them.

On one occasion, police said, the boy even looted a drug store because the Gilberts needed ice cream for a family party.

Sole Survivor of Turnpike Crash

'Wish I Were Dead'—Hines

NORFOLK, Ohio (UPI)—"I wish I were dead." John M. Hines Jr., 41, Detroit, told police investigating the worst crash in the history of the Ohio State Turnpike.

"I was asleep on the front seat," Hines said yesterday. "I don't remember anything after getting on the Ohio turnpike until the crash."

Hines, who is being treated for severe injuries he received in the crash, has been accused of being the driver of an auto which was going the wrong way on the pike. The car careened across the center strip Friday and plowed head-on into a carload of six New Yorkers, killing all six and Hines' companion, Mrs. Claudia Brooks, Detroit.

Hines said Mrs. Brooks was driving the car. He explained that both he and Mrs. Brooks had been planning to seek divorces from their mates.

"I wish it was me, not Mrs. Brooks and the others, killed in the crash. I'm sorry, very sorry," said Hines.

Hines said he was drinking gin at the time because a doctor told him it prevents tuberculosis.

"Gin doesn't make me drunk," he said. "It just makes me sleepy."

Mr. and Mrs. George Bentley and their four children, of Jamestown, N.Y., were the other victims. A mass funeral was to be held for them at Falconer, N.Y., today.

Hines, who has been charged with traffic manslaughter, awaited word from the Erie County, Ohio, grand jury, which announced it would meet tomorrow to decide whether to return an indictment.

Taxicab Firm to Make Cars

Checker Reveals Plan to Turn Out Economy Model 'Superba'

KALAMAZOO, (UPI) — Checker Motors Corp., which has restricted its manufacturing operations to taxicabs the last 35 years, announced today it would start production next month of a new economy car — the "Superba."

Morris Markin, the company's president, said the Superba would be shorter than the conventional passenger car, but would provide more seating space.

Technical details and the price of the Superba, which will go on sale in mid-January, were withheld, pending a press preview.

Markin said the company decided to produce the Superba after a market research survey indicated "a substantial market for a car that would provide maximum comfort, durability and economy."

In addition to providing increased seating space, Markin said, the car will permit "effortless entrance and exit."

The present assembly is geared to handle 100 Superbas a day, if the demand warrants, Markin said, but can be increased.

Board Approves $200,000 Loan

County Borrows Again to Meet Rising Cost of Welfare Load

A further loan of $200,000 was approved by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors yesterday as the county continued to dip into other funds to meet mounting costs of this year's social welfare load.

Fred W. Smith, Royal Oak supervisor in charge of the board's Ways and Means Committee, told supervisors a relief deficit of $1,168,106 might face the county by the end of the year if the current welfare load continues.

Through the first 10 months of this year the county has spent $1,882,572 in welfare cases, supervisors learned.

The county has had to borrow a total of $744,019 from other county funds to supplement the 1958 social welfare appropriation of $960,000, Smith said. These monies are expected to be restored, he added.

Besides the record number of families subsisting on welfare orders this year, Oakland and other counties suffered a financial setback when the state earlier this year cut its share of welfare costs from 50 to 30 per cent.

Begin 2nd Session for World Safety

GENEVA (AP) — The second session of the 10-nation conference on ways to lessen the danger of surprise attack began today behind closed doors of the Palais des Nations.

The United States, Britain, France, Italy and Canada were speaking for the North Atlantic Alliance and Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Albania for the Soviet bloc.

Meanwhile, the delegates to the three-power talks on suspension of nuclear tests decided for the second straight day to forego a formal session and meet privately this afternoon instead. They are trying to see if they can reach a compromise on their agenda.

The Americans and British want the test conference to get to work at once on an international control system to police a ban on nuclear testing. The Russians insist that the first step must be an immediate agreement by all three powers for permanent cessation of atomic and hydrogen bomb tests.

Seek State OK of Bond Issues

Board of Supervisors Pledges Its Support of New County Sewers

Oakland County now looks to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing for approval to issue more than ten million dollars in general obligation bonds to finance the Eight Mile road storm sewer and the Evergreen interceptor sanitary sewer.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday pledged its financial backing of the $4,760,000 Eight Mile road project and the $6,175,000 Evergreen Job.

Supervisors unanimously approved the Evergreen job, but three supervisors cast negative votes for the southend storm sewer project.

Southfield supervisors C. Hugh Dohany and Emanuel Christensen protested the apportionment of Southfield residents' assessments, as compared to what commercial firms are expected to pay. Voting "no" also was Sydney Frid, of Northville.

Harold K. Schone, director of the Department of Public Works planning the Evergreen job, said his department would proceed to take construction bids while the Finance Commission considered the bond issue.

This has already been done in the other job being engineered by the Drain Commission Office.

Schone predicted it would be about 10 weeks before word would come from Lansing on the issuance of the bonds.

The Evergreen sewer is planned to serve 10 communities in an area bordered roughly by Eight Mile road on the south, Greenfield road on the east, South boulevard on the north, and Inkster road on the west. Eight municipalities have signed contracts with the county for paying their share. Contracts from Bingham Farms and Franklin Village are yet to come.

The Eight Mile storm drain will be an east-west sewer paralleling generally the southern boundary of the county and running through Southfield and Oak Park.

Drain Commissioner Daniel W. Barry said approval of the bond issue for this project was required as the city of Detroit would not enter into contracts with Oakland County until bonds have been sold. The county is negotiating with Detroit for "flowage rights" for the Evergreen and two other sanitary sewer projects.

Don't Sell Old Bottles for Yuletide Cheer

Reports have come to the Internal Revenue Service that the sale of old bottles—which is unlawful—has increased.

The service said the refill boys hope to put inferior quality whisky in bottles with expensive brand labels and peddle them for Christmas gifts.

Waterford OKs Bid for Truck

Board Accepts Price of $1,780 Offered by Keego Harbor Dealer

The Waterford Township Board last night accepted the low bid of $1,780 for a three-quarter ton pickup truck from Eddie Steele Inc. of Keego Harbor. Seven bids were submitted in all.

In other business, Clerk James Seeterlin was authorized to get price quotations from various companies for installation of a new gas chlorinator for the Coleman-Friedman sewer plant.

Estimates for repair work or entire reroofing of fire station No. 2 on Walton boulevard were discussed, and prices ranging from $115 for repair to $1,850 for the entire job were referred to the building department for recommendation.

Representatives from the Lorraine Manor garden club were granted their request for landscaping the area around the subdivisions sewer plant on Elizabeth Lake road and M59.

The club has agreed to pay half the $90 that trees and shrubs would cost and the township agreed to pay the other half, with township employes doing the landscaping.

Also discussed was a request from the township recreation board for a planning committee to serve in an advisory capacity in setting up community activity projects.

Several township drainage problems were discussed at length, but action was put off until further information is obtained from the Oakland County Road Commission.

Rochester House Fire Causes $1,500 Damage

ROCHESTER—Fire of undetermined origin yesterday afternoon caused an estimated $1,500 damage to the home of Charles Mitchell, 520 W. Third St.

Mrs. Mitchell, who was at home with her children at the time, said the blaze started in a closet.

Obliging Deer Provides Venison for Prisoners

MUSKEGON (UPI) — Although unable to go deer hunting themselves, inmates of the Muskegon County Jail will have venison anyway, Sheriff Arthur W. Davis said today.

Davis said a motorist hit a buck on a road near Lake Michigan about nine miles north of Muskegon this morning and the deer will be turned over to the jail and venison steaks will be served next Sunday, the day after deer season opens.

Democrat Leads in Illinois Race

CENTRALIA, Ill., (AP) — Charles W. Vursell, veteran Illinois Republican representative in Congress, appears to have lost his bid for re-election to his ninth consecutive term.

George E. Shipley, 31, a Democratic sheriff of Richland County, edged to a 176-vote lead in nearly complete canvassing of 130,000 ballots in the 23rd congressional district.

Results of the canvass of votes in last Tuesday's election were announced Monday. They showed Vursell, 77, a former Salem, Ill., newspaper publisher, with 64,923 and Shipley with 65,099, with official figures available from 14 of the district's 15 counties.

Vursell, however, said he was not conceding the election and added he probably would ask the House to order a recount of ballots "if I lose."

Fayette County clerk Robert Austin said 160 votes from that county had been lobbed off Vursell's total in the canvass. He said the canvass board discovered a 100-vote error stemming from a misunderstood telephone call from the precinct to the county clerk's office on election night. A 60-vote mathematical error also was uncovered in Vursell's Fayette County total.

Shipley, who had been leading by a thin, six-vote margin, added 10 votes to his total in Fayette County, the 14th canvassed.

Shipley is a political newcomer with experience only as sheriff.

SO THAT'S IT! — Possibly dreaming of a future flight into space, a white mouse in Boston "inspects" a cutaway life-size version of a gyroscope that keeps giant IRBM and ICBM missiles on course in their space journeys. The two-pound gyro, made by Minneapolis-Honeywell, has hundreds of precision made parts and is sensitive enough to steer tons of metal hurtling at 15,000 miles an hour. It's also rugged enough to withstand "100-G" shocks and operate with equal efficiency at temperatures of 65 degrees below and 175 degrees above zero. It takes the accurate "feel" of three of these gyros to provide the three-axis dimensional stability on which missiles such as Thor and Atlas ride to distant targets.

Less Billboards by Highways?

States Which Agree to Allow Fewer Signs Will Receive Bonus

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Secretary of Commerce Weeks Monday announced final federal standards for regulating billboard advertising along the national highway network.

States which agree to abide by the minimum regulations will receive a bonus of a half of one per cent of the cost of the new roads. The federal government already pays 90 per cent.

The standards, based on a controversial provision of the 1958 highway law, do not forbid all outdoor advertising. Billboards can be erected within 12 miles of restaurants, motels, filling stations and other businesses which they advertise. Signs will be less than standard size, however, and their numbers will be limited.

Some of the 41,000-mile system is exempt from regulation. The standards generally will not apply to roads running through incorporated municipalities, commercial and industrial areas and along old routes. Weeks said there will be no billboard control along at least 25 per cent of the new highways.

The standards authorize construction of "information sites" off the roads. At these sites, a number of businesses could advertise on directory-type billboards, screened from the main highway.

Also permitted are official signs giving directions or speed limits, and signs advertising the sale or lease of property adjacent to the roads.

Find Some Are More So

They Study Boneheads

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Government scientists say you, dear reader, literally may be more boneheaded than the fellow next door. Or vice versa.

At the U.S. Bureau of Standards, in a small room below ground they laughingly call "The Dungeon," the scientists have been examining heads of living persons.

They are studying certain aspects of hearing deficiencies. In the course of their work they have discovered some of us are more "boneheaded" than others. By measuring resistance to vibration they have learned some people's craniums are 10 times stiffer than others.

It all depends on the weight of the skull and the thickness of its padding of flesh. In general the scientists found the human skull in its present form is about one-tenth as stiff as if it were made of steel.

Leaves Medical Center After Overdose of Pills

Mrs. Mary Florsheim Picking Jones, 38, heiress to the Florsheim shoe fortune, was taken to the hospital after she and her husband had what he termed a minor spat. Jones blamed her condition on a fall from a stretcher as she was taken from their home.

Suspect Air Pollution Causes Fatal Cancer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government scientists suspect that air pollution may be causing some kinds of fatal cancers.

On the basis of studies, they also feel such pollution, worst in cities, may speed death in certain heart disease cases.

The possible relationship between air pollution and mortality from cancer and heart disease was discussed in a booklet made public Monday by the Public Health Service.

Expanding on that report, Dr. Richard A. Prindle said "there is definitely more cancer of certain types in urban areas, and more heart disease of the arteriosclerotic type and other kinds."

Prindle, chief of the air pollution study program, added that "we can't say air pollution causes the heart disease but it seems to hasten death of those affected by heart disease."

The Health Service booklet, prepared for a national conference on air pollution next week, said mortality for a number of diseases—notably certain heart ailments and cancer of the stomach, lung and esophagus—"is markedly higher among city dwellers than among rural people."

Truly Fabulous Gifts Advertised by Texas Store

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas department store has put out a Christmas catalogue with a page of gifts listed as "frankly fabulous." And pardner, they weren't kidding.

Gifts listed include "black gold," a royalty interest in more than 750 producing oil wells in the mammoth SACROC unit in west Texas. Titled "for Your Most Gifted Heir," it was priced at $8,750. But don't rush, someone already bought that one.

"Around the World in 98 Days" is another stunner. It's described as a trip "off the beaten track" to "places bypassed by time itself." There are plenty of those in stock. They are $12,800 for two or $8,000 for one.

Then there's a set of China in Queen Elizabeth's own pattern, 102 pieces for $8,620; 170 ounces of perfume for a mere $2,500, a complete home soda fountain or a set of crystal glasses "the same owned by King Saud for Arabian nights entertaining."

Believes People Learned Lesson

Polio Epidemic in Detroit Falls Off

By The Associated Press

DETROIT (AP) — The cost was high in pain, fear and death but Health Commissioner Joseph G. Molner believes the people of Detroit may have learned a valuable lesson about polio.

A polio epidemic, now in its third month, is showing signs of subsiding.

Only six new cases were reported last week. At the peak of the epidemic in September one week's case count was 81.

The total number of cases for the year now is 630 with 21 deaths, compared with 177 cases and two deaths in the corresponding period last year.

"The loss has been a costly, needless one," said Molner. "But our people should have learned from it that Salk vaccine is the answer."

He referred to the health department's mass of polio statistics to back up his argument.

For example, the last full tabulation taken when the case count stood at 623, showed:

1. Sixty-six per cent of those who had had no shots when they contracted polio came down with a paralytic variety.

2. In sharp contrast only 26 per cent of the polio victims who had had one or more shots developed paralysis.

3. Of 307 paralytic patients, only 20 per cent had had one or more shots.

4. Only two of the 21 who died had been vaccinated. Both had had two shots.

5. Of the 125 who had the full complement of three shots, only 13 developed paralysis. Twelve victims had had a bonus fourth shot but none developed paralysis.

Molner pointed out that the staunchest backers of Salk vaccine don't go beyond the claim that it will help prevent paralytic polio — will not prevent non-paralytic varieties.

The first indications of an epidemic appeared the first week in July when nine new cases were reported. The next week there were 20 new cases. From there the weekly counts climbed until health officials formally declared it an epidemic in September.

When the outbreak of polio reached epidemic proportions, health officials moved in with special clinics offering shots for $1 apiece — or free for those who said they couldn't afford to pay.

Figures are not available on the number of private inoculations, but the public clinics administered 228,694 shots in about two months.

Military Funeral Set for RAF Crewmen

DETROIT (AP) — Selfridge Air Force Base will provide pall bearers and an honor guard at the funeral service tomorrow for six British bomber crewmen who died in a plane crash here Oct. 24.

Services, in which both the British and U.S. governments will take part, will be held in a funeral chapel. Catholic and Protestant chaplains from Selfridge will officiate.

There will be graveside services at 11 a.m. in Oak Ridge Cemetery in suburban Trenton. Duplicate services will be conducted by the Royal Air Force in England at the same time.

Gun 'Stabs' Sailor in Freak Accident

The blast severed the knife and drove the blade into Muchanic's back. He was hospitalized in fair condition.

Casual Clothes Blaze in Fashion Forefront

The California sportswear designers have adopted a new meaning for sportswear. Now it includes casual dresses, skirt-blouse and jacket sets, and novelty play groups. Phil Rose designed the full pleated skirt and Sabrina top outfit at the right, as well as the hip-hugger and Capri pants outfit at the left.

Catalina has splashed vivid colors throughout its sportswear collection. This bathing suit is in "red hot" red, and the open-work sides are also laced in red.

In describing the sportswear picture for resort and spring, 1959, it might be well to take a look at the word "sportswear" and see what kind of "wear" is meant by this overworked term.

Originally it was coined to describe apparel worn for active sports . . . the pedal pushers, slacks, T-shirts and shorts for functional versatility.

California sportswear designers have consistently led the field with their displays of originality, and such style leadership has developed a new facet called "California Sportswear." From the California way of life has evolved a casual aspect of living, displacing the emphasis from "sports"wear to all leisure wear.

Thus the word sportswear has a newer meaning—including now the famous casual dresses, skirt-blouse-and-jacket sets, novelty play groups, sweaters of all descriptions, and still, of course, the active side of the picture: Pants, shirts and swimwear.

With this newer concept of sportswear in mind, here are leading trends for the coming season:

Beginning with the pants picture, most important is the long slender pant that stops short of the anklebone. Secondly there is a rising interest in the mid-calf pant, cut a bit wider, and usually cuffed or trimmed at the cuffline to coordinate with a companion-top.

This season's pants do a wonderful job of showing off their "better half," the varied and colorful topside fashions.

Hanging straight from the shoulder to a point just-above-the-waistline, these tops create a loose, cropped-top look that is both perky and young—and timely.

Colorwise, in addition to blazing solid shades of golden orange and dazzling pink, and the shocking blue-green blendings, there is a sprinkling of Americana — red, white and blue combinations.

White Stag makes fashion news this season with a coordinated line of separates built around a wide selection of matching swimsuits. This one-piece boy-short bathing suit has full fashioned inner construction.

Not Rude to Talk at Door

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other day a woman representative of our church (a complete stranger to me) called at our house soliciting pledges for a new school building fund. I talked with her for about ten minutes at the door. When she left I returned to the living room where my husband was seated.

"When he asked me who it was I told him and he proceeded to tell me how discourteous I was for not asking her into the house. Was this necessary under the circumstances and can I be considered rude for not asking her to come in?"

Answer: You were not rude in not inviting a complete stranger into your living room.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to be married soon and the groom, best man and ushers are going to wear blue suits. My daughter insists that her father has to wear a blue suit too. My husband would never wear a blue suit after the wedding and I feel it is just one more extra expense to get something which will not again be worn.

"Would not a dark gray suit be acceptable for him Also, is it always necessary to have a wine to toast the bride and groom at the reception, or would it be permissible to use a fruit juice?"

Answer: He may wear a dark gray suit. I doubt that in the light of the church, it will be noticed that his suit is gray. I would suggest ginger ale for the toast as it will look more festive in the glasses than fruit juice.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When one wishes to name a child for someone, is it necessary to ask the person's permission to use his (or her) name before doing so?"

Answer: If you use only the person's first name you need not ask for permission, but if you wish to name your son Henry Clark Smith, you must ask Henry Clark if you may do so.

Major McMahon Speaks on Therapy of Laughter

Major Robert McMahon of the Detroit Salvation Army was guest speaker at the Monday evening meeting of Junior Pontiac Women's Club, held in the civic room of Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building.

"Therapeutic Risibility," was the topic of Major McMahon's talk. He said man's life span has increased, but that we live in a world of tension and frustration. The only way to combat this is to be able to laugh when things go wrong and particularly at yourself.

Toss Out Outworn Garment

Do you look through your wardrobe occasionally and decide that a dress or a pair of shoes have seen better days and are now only good enough for "around the house?"

If you do, you've begun to adopt a pretty thoughtless attitude toward your home life and your family.

When a garment is too seedy to be seen by your friends and neighbors, it certainly isn't fair to inflict it upon those who love you most.

If you look well-groomed and attractive while you're doing the housework, even so menial a task as scrubbing floor won't seem like drudgery. And you can look neat and smart at home without putting a sizable dent in the family budget.

Low-heeled casual shoes come in every color imaginable — and they're far more comfortable and a good deal prettier than an old pair with runover heels.

You'll enjoy your chores if you don't look like a drudge. And you'll never get that sinking feeling when an unexpected caller arrives and you know you look a mess.

The knowledge that you look neat and pretty at all times is the most effective moral booster in the world. You'll discover you've developed a new attitude toward your household tasks, and you'll want to take advantage of them as aids to beauty.

Next time you find that you've worn a dress to a frazzle—throw it out! Get yourself an attractive wardrobe for your work at home.

You'll be pleased with your "new look." And your family will be proud of you.

MSUO to Train Volunteers

1-Day Institute Set

Michigan State University Oakland, in cooperation with seven Pontiac area service organizations, tomorrow will conduct a day-long "Leadership Training Institute" for all volunteer workers in the area, to be held at the branch university.

A program spokesman said the purpose of the institute "is to explore and analyze several aspects of human behavior whereby the volunteer leader can better understand himself, his colleagues, and finally those whom he serves."

The program, which begins with registration at 9:30 a. m. and concludes at 3:30 in the afternoon, is open to all volunteers of any service organization in this area, the spokesman said. The only charge will be for a noon luncheon.

Principal speaker will be Dr. Hubert Miller, director of the out-patient clinic at Pontiac State Hospital. Welcoming those who attend will be Dr. Lowell Eklund, director of the Continuing Education Service at MSUO.

Sponsoring the institute, along with MSUO, are the Oakland County Chapter of the American Red Cross, Birmingham Council on Services to Individuals, Oakland County AFL-CIO Community Service Committee, Junior League of Birmingham, Inc., Pontiac State Hospital Citizens Committee, Pontiac Area Central Volunteer Bureau, and the Pontiac Area Community Council.

Hot Suds Daily for Lunch Box

Always wash lunch "pails" with hot soap or detergent suds and rinses as soon as your family brings them home — from work, from school, or from a hiking trip.

This is an important sanitary measure, and sudsing also disperses stale food odors which can make subsequent lunches unappetizing.

Sweaters this year are better than ever — coming in all manner of styles and fabrics. This slipover sweater is of looped mohair accented by a large collar. It comes in a wide range of vibrant colors, and will match up with all kinds of skirts.

Dear Abby . . .

Should Student Be Paid for Top Grades?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: Don't you think if a person gets all A's and B's on her report card she should get something for it? Especially if her parents have an above average income? I always dread for report cards to come out not because of the marks but because the kids always ask me what I got and I don't know what to say. Even kids who get worse marks than me get something. Thank you."—"A's and B's"

ABBY

DEAR "A's and B's": Many parents (and yours are obviously in this group) feel that a child should do his best whether he is rewarded or not. One youngster put it this way. "It ain't what I get if I DO — it's what I get if I DON'T."

"DEAR ABBY: What kind of nonsense did you tell that poor spineless chump who complained because he was "outvoted" when it came to the menu for Sunday dinner? "Sneak home your own steak and maybe the frau will agree to cook it for you!" BIG DEAL!

"My advice would be: "Give the kids their lumps and send them off to bed supperless. Then, to the wife who cooks only hot dogs and hamburgers because the kids like it—give her a good chop on the jaw and set her before the stove to prepare meat fit for a man to eat. Most sincerely,"

R.G.R. ("Wears The PANTS")

DEAR "WEARS": Henry the Eighth is the only man in history who gave his wives a choice between a "hot steak" and a "cold chop"—and got away with it. Your solution is too risky for the average 20th Century man.

"DEAR ABBY: My teenage son had his picture, name and address in a national magazine and several girls wrote to him. He started a correspondence with a 16-year-old girl from Omaha and she called him long-distance a few times. He tells me now that she is coming to spend Christmas vacation with us. She could share a bed with my 12-year-old daughter, but I would rather not have a strange girl coming to visit us.

"We know nothing about her. I wonder what kind of mother would send her 16-year-old daughter to visit a strange boy in another city? How should we cope with this situation? We are respected people in this community." PUZZLED.

DEAR PUZZLED: If your son invited this girl to be his house-guest, he had no business doing so without your consent. If the girl invited herself, she is much too aggressive, and should be discouraged. Have your son write to her and tell her quite frankly that his parents do not approve of her coming. Period!

"DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I give a cocktail party we borrow chairs, glasses, and ice cubes from our neighbors across the hall. They are a nice couple and we like them a lot but they are old enough to be our parents.

"We'd invite them but we're afraid they wouldn't fit into our crowd. My husband says he is embarrassed to borrow these things from them when they're not invited. Do you think we should either ask them to our parties or quit borrowing?" NEWLYWEDS.

DEAR NEWLYWEDS: Invite them. (They might even fool you and decline). But if they come, they could possibly contribute more to your party than the props. Age has nothing to do with being good company.

CONFIDENTIAL TO PHIL: Taking your girlfriend to the annual company Christmas party is like going hunting with the game warden. Don't let her talk you into anything.

U. of M. Alumnae Plan Card Party

Fifty tables are expected to be in play at the annual scholarship card party, a project of the University of Michigan Alumnae Club to be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Community room of Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan building. Proceeds will go to the scholarship fund of the Michigan Alumnae.

The alumnae club has established an annual grant to a qualified student attending U. of M. The club also assists the university in administering Regents scholarships which are awarded annually in the Pontiac area.

Mrs. Theodore E. Wiersema, general chairman of the affair, is being assisted by Mrs. A. V. Martin, table arrangements; Mrs. Raymond Rapaport, decorations; Mrs. Robert Tarr, prizes; Dorothy Cummings and Iama Hook, tickets; Mrs. Vernon Abbott and Mrs. L. L. Dunlap, reception, with Mrs. Collis Scott and Doris Haynes, president, assisting.

Organ music, including Michigan songs and musical comedy arrangements, will be presented by Melvin Staebler, with M. A. Calbi providing facilities.

Tickets and reservations may be secured from any committee member by any one interested in the scholarship project.

No Black? Room Not Complete

CHICAGO (UPI) — A room without a touch of black is comparable to a woman without eyebrows. So says a decorating authority.

"A room always needs a touch of black to punctuate it," she said.

The decorator debunks the theory that every room needs a touch of red. "Avoid red unless it really fits, complements, or matches," she said. "Just one bit of red can ruin a carefully coordinated room."

The decorator's decorating philosophy includes staying away from what she called the ordinary colors, such as navy, maroon and dark brown. She feels that the more subtle the color, the more exciting and useful it is in the home.

She also tries to avoid over use of the neutrals — such as beige or "greige," which is a combination of gray and beige.

"You can make a color like that do too much," she said. "I like to work toward a safe combination rather than beginning with one."

Wrinkled Hose Thing to Avoid

Stockings that wrinkle at the calf and around the ankles detract from a well-groomed look. And they do little to make your legs more attractive.

Perhaps the size isn't correct. Also, stockings will cling to your legs for a good fit if sudsed after the previous wearing.

Sour Cream Smothers Braised Veal Squares

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Veal steak can become a gourmet dish when it is Veal Paprika. It's delicious for a buffet supper, served with broccoli and apricot chiffon pie.

Today's cook is Mrs. Jack Radcliffe of Pine Lake. The mother of two youngsters, she is active in school affairs. Her chief leisure time activity is the West Bloomfield Township Players.

VEAL PAPRIKA
By Mrs. Jack Radcliffe

2 pounds veal steak, one inch thick
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 clove garlic OR 1 small onion
2-6 tablespoons butter or fat
1½ cups boiling vegetable stock OR bouillon
¾ cup sour cream
1 teaspoon paprika

Cut meat into 2-inch squares. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Peel and halve clove of garlic or onion. Saute 3 minutes in butter or fat. Add meat and brown lightly.

Add boiling stock or bouillon. Cover and simmer until tender, about one hour. Remove garlic. Add sour cream and paprika. Heat, but do not boil. Keep warm until serving time.

GOURMET BROCCOLI

Cook one bunch of broccoli until barely tender. Drain. Cook in ¼ cup olive oil in which a clove of garlic has been chopped. Season to taste. Cook briefly, just to tender stage.

Open House Program Set at LeBaron

Parents have been invited to visit LeBaron School during classes this week in conjunction with American Education Week.

On Thursday from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m., open house will be held, when parents may visit their children's rooms to see their work and meet teachers.

At 7:30 a program, "Studying Michigan Schools," will be presented at a PTA meeting in the multipurpose room. The school also is sponsoring a book bazaar all this week.

Homeroom mothers who will be hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Charles Verwey, Mrs. Robert Harris, Mrs. Jewel Moore, Mrs. Delbert Parks, Mrs. Albert Barnett, Mrs. Basil Tucker, Mrs. Joseph Carniuck, Mrs. John Campbell, Mrs. Donald Phillips, and Mrs. Dallas Dillingham.

Double Lather Following an Oil Scalp Massage

Warm oil massaged into the scalp and hair before a sudsy shampoo is all to the good. Just remember to follow up this oil treatment with an extra lather.

Don't rely on just the regulation two sudsings and rinsings. Add another "dose" of clean suds and a few extra rinsings to make your hair shine as it should.

And promise yourself you'll never skip a single night of bedtime brushing. Brushing does much to restore the natural gloss to dry hair.

Many Factors Affect Facial Lines

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The age at which a woman begins to get lines in her face depends on many different things.

First there is the kind of skin she has, whether it is dry or oily, thin or thick. Generally speaking the fair complexioned woman has a thinner epidermis than her brunette sister. Usually her skin is drier also. Therefore she must fight wrinkles sooner and more earnestly.

The gay one may have laughing crinkles at the corners of her eyes and on her nose.

The very viacious person or the one who indulges in extreme facial mannerisms will line sooner. The gay one may have laughing crinkles at the corners of her eyes and on her nose while the facial gymnast may have wrinkles from squinting or lifting her eyebrows or frowning.

A LOT OF LAUGHING

We would hate to do away with the spirit which goes along with the laugh lines, but we could do without those which come from mannerisms which are not attractive anyway. Actually a woman can get away with a lot of laughing if the skin is given proper care.

The climate we live in also has its effect. English women have long been known for their lovely complexions because of the damp atmosphere in which they reside, while those who are constantly exposed to the sun and wind are apt to age sooner skin-wise.

Naturally our health plays an important part. The general body tone is influenced by it and we must always remember that our complexion is nourished from within by the food we eat.

Even our thoughts and emotions affect our outer coating. Worry can make us break out in a rash and an unhappy outlook pulls the corners of the mouth down with resulting lining.

The most important single factor of all is the regularity of the care we give our complexion. Many of the damaging factors mentioned can be controlled or minimized but it takes a real investment many women fail to give.

Regular cleansing and lubrication, fine nutrition and all of the habits which build health, plus a happy outlook, will prolong a youthful appearance.

Berean Class Holds Dinner, Fetes Couple

Plans were made to send a loud speaker to the Rev. and Mrs. Charles Mason, missionaries in South Africa, as a gift from the class.

Mrs. Howard Blackburn was named program chairman for the December meeting which will include a travelogue of the Holy Land.

At the close of the meeting, Rudolph Miller, class president, and Mrs. Miller celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. The couple repeated their marriage vows in a ceremony with the Rev. L. P. Marion officiating. Carl Newman acted as best man, with Mrs. Newman as matron of honor, and Mrs. Ralph Johnson as soloist.

'Eyes' Really Have It

Did you ever see a girl with violet eyelashes?

Well, this fall you're likely to be the girl with violet eyelashes and violet eye-shadow as well.

Offhand, it sounds awful. But on the lashes and the lids, it looks mysterious, sophisticated and dashing. You'll see when you try it.

Save it for late day and evening, of course. If you show up at the office or for a luncheon date batting bright blue eyelashes, you may startle onlookers.

But eye make-up keyed to its proper setting is a different matter and it can turn a plain girl in a plain black dress into a beauty if it's handled with care and good taste.

If you feel really daring, apply royal blue to your lashes, then tip them in violet. Use orchid eye shadow on your lids and you'll get a glint in your eyes that you've never had before.

Leftover Mascara Breaks Eyelashes

To keep that fresh eyed look, remove every trace of eye make-up before retiring. Leftover bits of mascara tend to make eyelashes brittle, breakable. Here again, petroleum jelly comes in handy.

It will remove every trace of eye make-up. Tissue off excess, but reserve the residue to act as a lubricant while you sleep.

Find What We Seek in Meeting People

By RUTH MILLETT

Dorothy is always meeting the most interesting, the most amusing, the nicest, and the smartest people.

Yet Dorothy doesn't have a fascinating job that makes it possible for her to meet "interesting" people.

Dorothy is a housewife in a small city and the interesting people she is always meeting are the same people her friends meet and seldom find to be stimulating.

The reason Dorothy finds so many people unusual in one way or another is that Dorothy looks for qualities in each person she meets that set that person apart.

When she meets another housewife, for instance, she doesn't immediately put her in a mental category—about 30, husband an insurance man, rather pretty, two children, lives in such and such a neighborhood.

No, Dorothy comes away from the meeting with an entirely different picture. She didn't meet a thirtish housewife, whose husband sells insurance. She met a woman whose is interested in art, who is taking painting lessons at the local college, and whose enthusiasm for her hobby has won Dorothy's attention and admiration.

Just hearing Dorothy describe this new acquaintance would make you anxious to meet her—for Dorothy has discovered what it is that makes her different from other housewives.

When Dorothy speaks of the persons she knows it is in terms of their intelligence, their wit, or their special talents — because that is what she looks for in the persons she meets.

So she finds interesting people everywhere. And so could the rest of us—if whenever we meet a person we would look for the thing that makes him different and sets him apart from others.

All too often we housewives tell ourselves that only women with fascinating jobs have a chance to meet fascinating people.

Social Security Sidelights

Right Idea, Wrong Policy

By RAY HENRY
AP News Writer

Notes for and about the older generation:

One proof of a person's age often accepted by the Social Security Administration is an old insurance policy. But, it isn't always.

Take the case of the elderly woman who recently asked for payments at Binghamton, N.Y., Social Security office:

The woman didn't have a birth certificate. So, the claims representative asked if she had any other proof of her age. For example: An insurance policy.

"Ah, yes, yes," she answered. The next day she was back with the fire insurance policy on her home.

A decline in your memory has little to go with your actual age if you're over 60.

That's the conclusion of a study just completed by Duke University.

The loss of memory—if you're over 60—appears to be related to your productiveness and other living conditions.

This is the content of a letter recently received by the Houston, Tex., Social Security office:

"Honey: Will you'all please send my brother a Social Security card? I want him to get a job and get out of here. He descended on me and I'm tired of carrying him around on my back."

Your ability to taste has little to do with your age—if you're an adult.

This was reported in a scientific comparison of a group of people 65 and a group of younger adults. The study was made by research workers at the Brooklyn, N.Y., Hebrew Home and Hospital for the Aged.

But, the research also shows that older people complain a lot more about their inability to taste than younger people.

The Army, Navy, Air Force Register—a weekly tabloid newspaper for the military—has just added a special section called "Security-Scope" especially slanted at its older readers.

It regularly carries articles on investment, insurance, Social Security, housing, retirement experts.

About half of the older people who complain to the University of Miami geriatrics clinic about medical illness actually turn out to have emotional or social problems rather than physical illness.

After a person asks for Social Security disability payments, he's supposed to get his doctor to fill out a medical report describing the person's disability.

Recently, an applicant was tardy in supplying the Baltimore Social Security office with his medical report. So, the office sent him a reminder.

Three days later, the form showed up with the following note attached:

"My doctor claims I can now return to work, so I'm going to another doctor."

Miriani Gives Up Plan to Ease Liquor Laws

DETROIT (AP) — Mayor Louis Miriani has given up his idea of easing Sunday liquor laws.

Miriani said yesterday it's a problem for the legislature and he'll discuss it no further with the State Liquor Control Commission.

A week ago the mayor was deluged with objections by church and temperance groups when he suggested the Sunday liquor ban might be relaxed in certain instances, such as cocktails for private functions.

Ex-Iraqi Premier Condemned to Die

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Fadhil Jamali, former Iraqi premier who has an American wife, has been sntenced to death by a military court.

The court also condemned Monday two former Iraqi army leaders, Gen. Rafik Aref, former chief of staff, and his deputy, Maj. Gen. Ghazi Daghistani. Executions are by hanging in Iraq.

The special military court sentenced them on convictions of plotting to invade Syria and illegally force her into federation with Iraq in 1956 and 1957; of asking U.S., British and Baghdad Pact help in the plot; and of generally endangering Iraq's security and world peace.

This was the first verdict by the five-man tribunal since the revolutionary government began trials of the leading politicians under slain King Faisal II. More than 100 persons are under arrest.

Jamali's wife, the former Sara Hayden Powell of Philadelphia, is still an American citizen. The couple has three children. Mrs. Jamali has a sister, Mrs. Lydia Johnson of Prospect Park, Pa., a suburb of Philadelphia.

The Jamalis met in 1929 when both were attending the University of Chicago. At last report she was still in Baghdad.

Jamali also has served as Iraq's foreign minister and U.N. delegate.

Minnesota is the leading iron ore producing state in the nation, accounting for 64 per cent of all domestic shipments in 1957.

ON A TOOT—The music comes straight out instead of 'round and 'round in this horn which Chief Musician Frank Scimonelli, 38, plays with the U.S. Navy Band. It's an English post horn, and the band is the only one in the nation to use the slim, 30-inch instrument in a solo performance. Scimonelli has made 24 tours with the band across the States.

Dems in Congress Look for More Tax Revenues

WASHINGTON (AP)—Key congressional Democrats are weighing a serious drive in the new Congress to plug long-standing loopholes in the tax laws in an expected scramble for added revenues.

Faced with new government spending prospects and a massive budget deficit, tax experts regard such a move the only feasible alternative to a general tax increase.

No boost in either personal or business income tax rates is now contemplated.

Before retiring, Secretary of Commerce Weeks renewed Monday a suggestion for a uniform manufacturers' sales tax. He said it would permit some cuts in both corporation and individual income tax rates and still increase revenue. But key House members see such a move as at best a last-ditch device.

Yet Democratic leaders of the House, where all tax legislation originates, appear to be committed to at least a start in this direction.

Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, in a post-election statement, called attention to tax law revision hearings to be undertaken by the House Ways and Means Committee when Congress convenes in January.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark), Ways and Means Committee chairman, noted in a forecast of possible tax legislation published last September that "tax differentials and preferences now existing . . . cut our tax base by billions of dollars."

As areas of possible tax revision, Mills pin-pointed the favorable tax treatment now afforded those who convert ordinary income to capital gains, allowances for depletion of natural resources like oil and coal, special rules favoring income of insurance companies, and the favorable tax treatment accorded farm and other cooperatives.

Wholesale elimination of tax preferences—some of them in the law 30 years or more—would be certain to stir up a political hornet's nest.

It would be a reversal of a congressional practice which for years has been to add exemptions, preferences and loopholes to the tax laws to satisfy the demands of special individual and business interests.

Now, however, influential Democrats say enactment of a loophole-plugging bill is a distinct possibility — even a probability — in the new Congress. It would be a two-year program calling for House passage the first session and final Senate action in 1960.

Its impact would be widespread if it materialized to the extent it is now being considered.

Among other things, it would mean elimination or reduction of the 27½ per cent depletion allowance granted oil companies, elimination of tax credits now enjoyed by foreign oil-producing companies, revision of tax exemptions now allowed cooperatives, restrictions on the use of capital gains to avoid ordinary income taxes, and possibly repeal of the dividend income credit for individual taxpayers.

Next Monday the Ways and Means Committee makes a beginning on these problems by going into methods of taxing life insurance companies. Under the present stopgap law, these companies now pay taxes on only 15 per cent of their investment income and none on their premium income.

Further in this direction, the Treasury is expected to recommend another increase in the federal gasoline tax and possibly other highway user excises to meet increased costs of building the interstate highway system.

The Ways and Means Committee is expected to give this problem early consideration. Highway user taxes now go into a special trust fund to finance highway system.

Injured Man Making Trip in Baggage Car

CLEVELAND (AP) — A young Great Lakes seaman, his body encased in a rigid cast, left today for his home in Clearbrook, Minn. He will make the 28-hour trip by baggage car.

Smith wanted to go home, but transportation was a problem. He can't sit upright. Railroad officials found it impossible to fit him into a pullman berth. The solution: A heated baggage coach.

In Chicago and again at St. Paul, Smith and his portble bed will be transferred by ambulance to other trains. His mother, Mrs. Ruth Smith, will accompany him.

Plans for Rochester's Sewage Plant Delayed

ROCHESTER — Any hopes for completing plans on a secondary sewage treatment plant in Rochester this year have been ruled out, Village Manager Paul A. York told the Village Council last night.

In conferring with engineers of the firm of Ayers, Lewis, Norris and May of Ann Arbor, York said he learned that Rochester's application for a federal grant to help pay for construction of the plant would not be acted upon until sometime in 1959.

Realtors John Marmon and John D. Taylor appeared before the Council to make their second request for rezoning of two lots on North Main street in Woodward Heights subdivision to merchantile "A" to permit construction of two professional office buildings.

They presented petitions signed by the required two-thirds of the property owners on both sides of the street.

The Council scheduled a public hearing on the matter for Dec. 8 in the Village Hall.

A letter was received from the Michigan Public Service Commission, stating that a meeting will be held at 10:30 a.m. at the Mill Pond site and the New York Central Railroad crossing to discuss the building of a bridge and a crossing extending E. Fifth street to Elizabeth street.

A shopping center and housing development are being planned for the Mill Pond site.

York recommended that a $14,250 surplus from the village parking fund be placed in the Rochester Branch of the National Bank of Detroit in the form of savings certificates.

First Hint of Yuletide: Ship Christmas Trees

LANSING (UPI) — With the tinkle of sleigh bells still far off, the first hint of Christmas 1958 is in the air as truckloads of Christmas trees are on their way toward the cities.

C. A. Boyer, chief of the Agriculture Department's plant industry division, said Michigan has a "tremendous business in Christmas trees and tree boughs which is estimated at about five million dollars a year."

Boyer said the Christmas tree plantations are centered mostly along the west edge of the state and in the north central area. These plantations grow Scotch pine mostly with such other types as white and Norway spruce, red pine and Douglas fir.

Many trees sold for the holiday season are grown wild also, Boyer said, with the most popular being balsam. In the Lower Peninsula, the native trees are usually harvested in Alcona, Alpena, Presque Isle and Cheboygan counties.

Besides these Lower Peninsula areas, the wild trees, balsam and spruce, are taken from the Upper Peninsula where few plantations are found. Many of these trees go to Wisconsin and Illinois markets, Boyer said.

This year however, the Mackinac Bridge might increase the tree traffic south from the UP, he said, depending on how heavy the market demand is.

Most of the plantations are along Lake Michigan where the sandy and poorer soil cannot often be used for other things, Boyer said.

For the tree harvesters to take wild trees, they must get permission of the property owner and a signed bill of sale, Boyer said, but even with a permanent checking station near Bay City and several mobile checking units, about 100,000 trees are illegally cut each year.

Boyer said a provision adopted by the Legislature about four years ago permits persons to transport up to six trees on the highways without a bill of sale. Boyer blamed this provision for widespread illegal cutting because these smaller loads can't be checked for location or actual sale.

He said the Christmas tree-cutting season runs from mid-October to mid-December with the peak coming about the end of November.

While the Christmas tree operation is a strictly seasonal one, many Michigan people do a year-round business of selling boughs. Boyer said the boughs are sold to florists all over the country.

To Hold Hearing on Incorporation

Oakland Supervisors to Listen to Residents of Proposed Woodcroft

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Township residents of the proposed Woodcroft Village will have a chance Dec. 11 to present their views on whether they wish to incorporate to a committee of Oakland County supervisors.

Supervisors yesterday agreed to a public hearing that day at the Gill Road School before they would take action on petitions from a group of 2,419 residents of the southwest corner of the township wishing to become a village.

Petitions were filed with the county under the old 1895 village incorporation act which leaves the decision entirely up to supervisors. No public vote is necessary under the act.

Arno L. Hulet, chairman of the Board of Supervisors Boundaries Committee, which acts on all suggested territory changes in the county, suggested the public hearing "in order that our committee can fully understand the feelings of the people in the affected area."

The area in question is roughly over seven square miles and is the same territory the city of Farmington unsuccessfully tried to annex in August.

Two Drivers Hurt in Head-On Crash

IMLAY TOWNSHIP — Two men were injured in a head-on auto collision yesterday on Ryder road, a half mile east of Bristol road.

Taken to Bishop Hospital, Almont, were Adam Bruno, 31, of 16393 Burt Rd., Capac, who suffered a cut on his face and chest injuries, and Kenneth Lockwood, 20, of 201 Cherry St., Almont. He received a cut on his knee.

Romeo State Police said Bruno's car, traveling at an excessive speed, crossed the center line and crashed into the Lockwood auto.

He was ticketed for reckless driving. Both cars were total wrecks.

Ex-Treasurer Oming Released on Bond

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP — William M. Oming, 36, ousted Washington Township treasurer, was released yesterday on $2,500 bond from Macomb County Jail, pending examination Thursday in Mount Clemens Justice Court.

Oming is charged with embezzling at least $1,700 in township tax receipts. He stood mute at his hearing last week before Macomb County Justice Francis A. Castellucci, who entered a plea of not guilty for him.

Township and county officials met yesterday to select the Detroit firm of Ernst and Ernst to audit township books described as "a jumbled mess of entries and missing checks" by Romeo State Police.

SUZANNE ZIMMERMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Zimmerman of Maddy Lane, West Bloomfield Township, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Suzanne, to the Rev. Robert F. Urges Michigan to Tax Incomes

Farm Bureau Group Recommends Earners Lift State Burden

EAST LANSING (UP) — Michigan should levy taxes on both personal and corporate incomes if the state's financial condition is as bad as it appears, the Michigan Farm Bureau was told today.

The recommendation will go before the organization in a resolution to be submitted at its 39th annual meeting. Some 1,500 members representing nearly 71,500 farm families opened the two-day session today at Michigan State University.

Robert E. Smith of Fowlerville, chairman of the bureau's resolutions committee, said recommendations for personal and corporate income taxes came out of county farm bureau meetings last month. They grew from reports the state is 20 million dollars in the red and may be 80 million dollars in debt by July 1, 1959.

"We shall recommend support for an income tax with reasonable rates and exemptions only if all the revenues go to the general fund of the state and are not earmarked for any special purpose," he said.

The committee also will urge any income tax replace some of the "unbearable" tax burden on real estate and personal property and possibly furnish state assistance in school construction.

At the same time, the committee said, the state must make moves toward "strict economies."

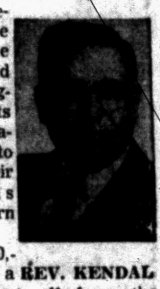

Smith's committee also struck out at efforts of labor unions to organize farmers, contending "no organization can sit on both sides of the bargaining table."

Should the need be shown for new revenues to maintain and improve highways, it said in another resolution, the Legislature might consider a small increase in vehicle license taxes.

Events in Near East Told by Eyewitness

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Members of the First Community Church of Mandon Lake Sunday heard an eyewitness account of the events surrounding the crisis in the Near East by the Rev. Fred G. Kendal, founder of the First Hebrew Christian Congregation in Detroit.

Recently returned from the Holy Land, the Rev. Kendal said "The sudden longing in the hearts of Jews of all nations to return to the land of their inheritance has caused a modern exodus."

Migration of 50,000 Yemenites, a desert people cut off from the world, without telephone or radio contact, to Jerusalem fulfills the prophecies of the Old Testament, he told his audience. One million people have been taken into Israel within the last 10 years, the Rev. Kendal said.

Ceylon Taxes Exports

COLOMBO, Ceylon — Ceylon's government has imposed a duty of four Ceylon cents a pound on tea exports to finance a plan for rehabilitating and developing the tea industry over a seven-year period.

Debby Erwin Marries in Auburn Heights Rite

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Apostolic Church of Christ was the scene Saturday evening of the marriage of Debby Erwin to Paul H. Jokisch. Performing the candlelight rite was the Rev. L. A. Parent.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Erwin of 350 Grey Rd., Auburn Heights. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jokisch of Freeburg, Ill.

For her wedding, the new Mrs. Jokisch chose a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle, featuring a Sabrina neckline, long tapered sleeves and bouffant skirt which formed a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was attached to a crown of sequins and pearls, and she carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations centered by a white orchid.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Dorothy. Bridesmaids were Ruth Ann Hills, Mrs. David Bowen and Edith Geary. The bride's sister, Madeline, was junior bridesmaid.

Best man was Timothy Bowen, and ushers were David Bowen, Dennis McClure, Don Lovett and Duane Wardell of Pontiac.

Upon return from their honeymoon in Canada, the newlyweds will make their home at 170 N. Opdyke Rd.

Put away the stethoscope, doc, the Big Ten is in good health. Just look at the current standings of the conference and it is pretty obvious what we mean.

It has been a long time since Michigan, Ohio State, Minnesota and even the newest member, Michigan State have been found all in one lump in the bottom half of the Big 10.

For many years, Indiana, Northwestern and Iowa have battled to stay out of the cellar with Purdue and Wisconsin making a frequent trip between upper and lower berths.

Purdue hasn't won the title outright since 1929, although it tied Michigan for honors in 1943. And Northwestern hasn't been the sole champion since 1936, even though it did go to the Rose Bowl in 1948 as a second place team.

In the days of B.E. (Before Evashevski), Iowa could count only the 1922 season as its second and last championship year. Now the Hawkeyes are the pacesetters for the rebels from the southern half of the conference.

When any athletic league gets to look like a Yankee-dominated baseball league, the situation becomes unhealthy and the American League showed signs of it the past season.

Not that we're happy to see the state schools change places with the doormats, it's just good to note that the healthy blood does flow from the top to the bottom and not through just five or six places.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Speaking of Indiana, loyal Michigan Staters aren't sure that Hoosiers have come out of the dark basement. At the game in Bloomington last weekend, pennants were sold denoting Michigan State College . . . . . And one Hoosier fan calling for the Spartan coach to be hung in effigy, kept yelling, "Goodbye Biggie."

Trouble at Indiana probably is, they may also think the ball being used is round and not oval.

Julius Piazza, the fight promoter who has a sideline of a chain of pizza shops, has now gone into indoor soccer promotions. Piazza, once a former booter himself, is scheduling three months of competition at the State Fair Coliseum. The first match is scheduled for next Sunday.

On the subject of soccer, Cranbrook finished with an 8-1 record, one of its best in history, under coach John Carrubia who took the reins from Ben Snyder last year.

Snyder however is still a great soccer enthusiast and would like to see the area schools add it to their curricula of sports. The cost and the needs are very small for sponsoring soccer and schools like Pontiac Northern and others in the area with a few acres of ground could offer many more boys the chance to participate in competitive athletics.

Snyder would welcome a phone call at Cranbrook from any athletic director or school if they desire information or help in setting up a soccer program. A few interested schools could become the prep soccer pioneers of Michigan.

LAST YEAR? — Rumors have Bennie Oosterbaan resigning as Michigan's head football coach at the end of the current season, although Oosterbaan has denied them. Reports claim that this will be Bennie's last year and Bump Elliott will become the new Wolverine mentor.

Big Ten Skippers Head the List

Losses Make Coaches Sweat

By The Associated Press

Some college football coaches are beginning to sweat a bit from the heat of burned up alumni who can't understand why their teams can't win consistently, or even at all.

Some other coaches, because they just inherited teams with dubious talent, are serving a year's grace, but are marked men if they don't produce a winner next season.

The Big Ten is having the greatest share of coaching headaches.

The time honored symbol of a coach being hung in effigy by students is becoming so common place that one begins to wonder if it might not be the outcome of a post-fraternity prank rather than the honest-to-goodness ire of football-crazy students.

Michigan State's Duffy Daughterty is the latest to see his image hanging from a tree. It happened last Saturday night after MSU was upset by Indiana, 6-0. The Spartans have a 2-4-1 record, but were picked to finish fourth in the preseason poll by The Associated Press of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Take the case of Ohio State's Woody Hayes. His Bucks, picked in the pre-season poll as the nation champion, have a 4-1-2 mark. But they have lost one and tied a pair in their last three outings. They lost the Big Ten crown to Iowa last week, though they don't face the Hawks until this Saturday.

The culmination of those displays came yesterday at Michigan when Bennie Oosterbaan, in his 11th year as coach of the Wolverines, was rumored to have quit, effective the end of the season. He was "hung" three weeks ago after Northwestern drubbed his team 55-24.

Chalmers "Bump" Elliott, Wolverines backfield coach and former halfback star, was reported to be Oosterbaan's successor. The rumor was denied by Oosterbaan and Michigan Athletic Director Fritz Crisler, the man whom Oosterbaan replaced.

Murray Warmath, Minnesota coach whose team sports an 0-7 record and has lost 10 in a row since last November, is in the deepest jeopardy. He minced no words recently saying that the alumni are just as much to blame for their failure to provide the Gophers with adequate gridiron talent.

Down South, Duke's Bill Murray is supposedly on the fire. He was "hung" after Louisiana State beat the Blue Devils 50-18 Saturday night for their fifth loss against two wins.

Even at Notre Dame, which has not known many coaching changes over the years, Terry Brennan is reported in trouble. The Irish has a 4-3 record, losing 29-16 to Pitt Saturday.

"I'm not so sure about that," Brennan was reported to have replied, unsmiling.

Nebraska Coach Bill Jennings retorted to the students who hung him in effigy after the Cornhuskers lost to Missouri 31-0, two weeks ago.

"Let the students who did the hanging come on out to football practice and let's see how good they are in tackling and blocking," he said. "We'll see if they're as good at playing football as they are at criticizing."

Michigan Coach Says He Has Not Resigned Post

Oosterbaan's Comment Follows Report Elliott Will Take Over

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The annual battle between fact and fancy has started over Bennie Oosterbaan.

The question is the same. Is this Oosterbaan's last season as football coach at Michigan?

"I haven't submitted my resignation," Oosterbaan said yesterday.

The comment came after a Champaign, Ill., newspaper said he had. The report by Bill Schrader, sports editor of the Champaign News-Gazette, said backfield coach Bump Elliott would replace Oosterbaan.

The retirement report said Oosterbaan would become head of Michigan's financial aid program at the end of this season.

"I'll say the same thing I've said for four years," Oosterbaan said. "I have to resign eventually. I can't coach forever. One day these stories will be true."

This has been the shabbiest of Oosterbaan's 11 seasons at the helm. Michigan has won only twice in seven games. Each victory was by a single point.

It could be Oosterbaan will be through after the Ohio State game Nov. 22.

Schrader's story wasn't the first to say so this year. There were articles all denied like this one, that said the same thing last year.

"I haven't gotten any resignation," said Fritz Chrisler Michigan athletic director.

Some observers close to the Michigan athletic scene say Oosterbaan won't retire until he can leave his successor a good team. Others say alumni pressure will become too intense if Michigan loses its two remaining games.

But there are some facts which must be taken into account when judging Oosterbaan's status. Most important is Michigan's sagging attendance.

For years the Wolverines have drawn more customers into their stadium than any other collegiate team in the nation. Such is not the case this year. Last Saturday only 58,778 attended the Illinois game, far below the usual average of about 80,000. Many departed early as Michigan's woeful performance dampened the festivities more than the driving rain.

Another serious problem is recruiting, the cornerstone of good football teams. Michigan has lagged in this area and just now is beginning to pick up steam. It may have started too late to rescue Oosterbaan.

One factor that could save him is his personal popularity. His players adore him and organized alumni groups support him.

All From Pennsylvania

Tigers Sign 4 Youngsters

DETROIT (AP)—Director of scouts Ed Katalinas, who hails from Pennsylvania, today announced that the Detroit Tigers have signed four players from that state.

They are pitchers Harry Stigelman of Millersville, Dick McCue of Lancaster, both right handers; southpaw Clair Jenkins of Conestoga and Joe McCall.

McCall is a first baseman-outfielder who had a high school batting average of .664 and a .440 mark in amateur baseball last summer. McCall was assigned to the Knoxville, Tenn., club in the Sally League. He was signed by scout Cy Williams.

Stigelman, McCue and Jenkins all were signed by scout Ralph De Franco. They will go to spring training with the Erie, Pa., club in the Class D New York-Pennsylvania League.

Michigan Title Fight Tonight

Jeffrey Duels Gresham in Detroit for State Lightweight Crown

DETROIT (UPI) — Leroy Jeffrey, with 187 knockouts in his 210 amateur fights, meets Gene Gresham in a 10-rounder for the state lightweight championship tonight.

Gresham, winner of the 1957 National AAU lightweight title, won 147 of 150 starts as an amateur and has taken 15 in a row since turning pro.

Jeffrey, 1954 All-Army champ, has won 11 professional bouts, nine of them by knockouts. Gresham has eight pro knockouts.

The duo, both from Detroit, will be battling for the title recently relinquished by Kenny Lane, Muskegon, Mich., now rated No. 1 contender for the national crown held by Joe Brown.

Lane was expected to attend and present a gold championship belt to the winner.

Humphries Keg Team Compiles 3323 Series

Records continue to fall in the Huron Bowl Classic. Humphries Real Estate recently exploded for a staggering 3323 series, one of the top scores recorded in Michigan this year. Although no records are available, no veteran bowlers can recall any Pontiac team ever topping 3300.

Humphries' series gained a four-point sweep from Roth Lumber and second place in the league standings.

In a battle between two other strong fives, West Side Mobil took over first place with a steady 1060, 1019, 1089 effort for 3168 and four points from Stroh's Beer. Les Rothbarth posted games of 257, 226 and 228 for 711, while Pat Sweeney's 651 was best for Stroh's.

Montcalm Centre swept four points with a 3126 featuring George Chicovsky's 673. Calbi Music hit 3054 led by Joe Foster with 674 and Ted Sutton 665.

The Humphries line score:

John Nickell	222	205	278	705
Mike Samardzija	237	210	213	660
Don Martell	227	192	246	665

Bill Leigh	192	206	211	609

Northwestern Star Leads Loop Scorers

CHICAGO (AP) — Halfback Ron Burton has maintained his all-games Big Ten football scoring lead and at the same time set a new individual season record at Northwestern.

Burton's touchdown against Wisconsin Saturday gave him 10 touchdowns and four extra points for 64 points—three more than Otto Graham's record of 61 set in 1943.

However, Burton failed to lengthen his lead over Purdue's Bob Jarus who also scored a touchdown Saturday and has 60 points on 10 touchdowns. Burton and Jarus will oppose each other Saturday if the ailing Purdue fullback is taken off the injured list.

Leaders	t	pat	fg	tot'l

Pistons Top 'Foulers'

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Pistons have committed the most personal fouls in the National Basketball Assn. so far this season with two players accounting for almost one-third of the infractions. The Pistons have fouled 234 times in nine games. Walt Dukes has incurred 41 personals—most in the league—while Phil Jordan is runner-up with 35.

Mystery Shot 'Plunks' Fan Watching Game

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—"Something plunked me in the head," said graduate student Ken Matsuda as he watched his San Jose State football team lose to College of the Pacific at Stockton Saturday night.

Matsuda, a halfback for San Jose last year, thought little of the plunking until the area of his head began to swell Sunday night.

The education student from Los Angeles reported to the campus medical facility yesterday and X-rays showed a .22 caliber rifle bullet in his skull. The bullet was removed at San Jose Hospital last night and his condition was reported satisfactory.

LSU Still Tops AP Poll, Iowa 2nd

By The Associated Press

Louisiana State, Iowa and Army still rank 1-2-3 in The Associated Press college football poll this week but two of the three face real tests in games this Saturday.

The No. 1 Louisiana State Tigers, fresh from a 50-18 romp over Duke, tackle a Mississippi State eleven which could cause considerable trouble, and Iowa faces a frustrated Ohio State team which will try to regain a little of its lost prestige by knocking off the newly crowned Big Ten champions.

Only Army has what might be called a breather. The Cadets, who defeated Rice Saturday by virtue of a long "hope" pass in the final minutes, take on Villanova, which is not figured to cause too much trouble.

Only one team of the top 10 of a week ago failed to be voted into that select group this week by the sportswriters and sportscasters taking part in the poll. Northwestern, losing to Wisconsin, dropped to 13th place. The Wildcats were fourth last week.

Replacing Northwestern in the top 10, although not in the same position, is Texas Christian, which moved up from 11th to ninth on its 36-8 victory over Marquette.

Louisiana State got 95 first-place votes in piling up 1,532 points this week. Iowa was a first choice of 52 voters, and its 1,441 points gave it a comfortable margin over Army, which got 999 points without a first-place vote.

In fact, only Auburn, Oklahoma and Mississippi, aside from Louisiana State and Iowa, were named for first place among the top 10 teams. Auburn got six votes for the top spot, Oklahoma three, and Mississippi two.

The top 10 teams, with the first-place votes and the won-lost records in parentheses:

1. LSU	(95) (8-0)	1,532
2. Iowa	(52) (6-0-1)	1,441
3. Army	(6-0-1)	999
4. Auburn	(6) (6-0-1)	976
5. Wisconsin	(5-1-1)	786
6. Oklahoma	(3) (6-1)	783
7. Mississippi	(2) (7-1)	535
8. Purdue	(5-1-1)	289
9. TCU	(6-1)	287
10. Air Force	(6-0-1)	248

North Carolina (2) 218; Syracuse 179; Northwestern 166; Pittsburgh 132; Southern Methodist 67; Ohio State 59; Rice 43; Florida 37; Rutgers (1) 35; Georgia Tech 19.

Ranger, Hawk Scoring Leaders

Canadian Domination Broken by Bathgate and Litzenberger

MONTREAL (AP)—Andy Bathgate of the New York Rangers and Eddie Litzenberger of the Chicago Black Hawks have broken the hammerlock held by the Montreal Canadiens on the National Hockey League scorers.

Bathgate and Litzenberger are tied for the scoring lead, figures released by the league disclosed today. Each has 16 points. Montreal's Jean Beliveau and Bernie "Boom Boom" Geoffrion are right on their heels with 15 each.

A week ago the Canadiens had four players among the first five with Beliveau and Geoffrion sharing first place. The only non-Montreal player in the group was Litzenberger, who was in a three-way deadlock for third.

Boxing Officials Begin Project to Clean Up Sport

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A California attorney starts work today on an information-pooling project which the National Boxing Assn. hopes will sweep racketeers out of boxing and keep them out.

Jack W. Urch, 38-year-old executive officer of the California State Athletic Commission, was named by the NBA yesterday to head the five-man committee working on the project.

The committee's task, assigned by NBA executive secretary Arch Hindman, is to "keep boxing on a high moral plane and give direction and stability to the sport."

Urch hopes to get the 46-member state commissions and numerous local agencies concerned with boxing to pool information on undesirables and uphold each other's disciplinary actions.

"The states that cooperate can become bigger than those that just go ahead and do as they please," Urch said.

He plans to contact all NBA members and ask them for lists of persons whose connection with the sport is "against the best interest of boxing."

"Our instructions are to build up a central file and promote the exchange of information which will be of value in eliminating racketeers from the sport.

"We want to eliminate the case where a licensee is suspended in one state, then just skips to another state and gets back into boxing," he said.

Although under suspension in California, Weill received a license to manage fighters in Illinois and Miami Beach.

"Some states have made a farce of the NBA by not recognizing suspensions or recommendations of other states," Urch said.

"We have a pretty good file in California right now and we've found the same in other jurisdictions. What we're attempting to do is coordinate the situation nationally."

All state agencies concerned with boxing except those in New York and Massachusetts are NBA members.

Making Money Is Navy's Plan

Athletic Official Favors East-West Conference in Future

In a speech yesterday, E. E. "Rip" Miller visualized a nationwide East-West conference climaxing each season in a "true championship game."

"Some day," Miller told a football club luncheon, "we will have an all-America conference made up of Notre Dame, Army, Navy, the Air Force Academy, independents in the East such as Pittsburgh, Syracuse and Penn State, and West Coast teams."

And he said Annapolis would continue its program of aiding high school athletes. Referring to a recent ruling by the Eastern College Athletic Conference forbidding aid to pre school athletes, Miller said:

"We're being criticized because we're running a prep school program. We can't survive without it. One-half of our squad is made up of those boys. I've got news for you. We're going to continue it."

St. Benedict 11 Edges St. Hugo for CYO Title

Third Pontiac parochial football squad to share a league title over the weekend was West side St. Benedict. Bob Gallo's 7th and 8th graders (135 pounders), edged St. Hugo of the Hills 6-0 in a Sunday afternoon tilt at Washington Junior High field before more than 1,000 fans.

The victory, leaving the Bens with a 6-1 loop mark, gave them the CYO grade title as well. This was their 3rd year in the loop. They finished 2nd last year with a 4-2-1 mark.

Team will be honored at a banquet at the church next Thursday, Nov. 20, when letters will be awarded.

Results of other CYO games for area teams:

Warren St. Anne 20, Orchard Lake OLR 0; Warren St. Leonard 12, St. Michael 0; Holy Name (B'ham) 18, Berkley LaSalette 0; Mt. C. St. Mary 38, Clawson Guardian Angels 7.

$50,000 in Awards Lure for Lady Pros

NEW YORK (AP) — Marilynn Smith, president of the Ladies' Professional Golfers Assn., Monday announced a winter tour covering more than 10 weeks for prize money in excess of $50,000.

The tour will open Jan. 9 at Sanford, Fla., with a 54-hole tournament running through Jan. 11.

The dates:

Jan. 9-11, Sanford; Jan. 15-18 Tampa, Fla., Jan. 23-25 to be announced; Jan. 29-Feb. 1 Havana; Feb. 5-8 to be announced; Feb. 12-15 St. Petersburg, Fla.; Feb. 19-22 Lake Worth, Fla.; Feb. 26-March 1 reserved for Daytona Beach, Fla.; March 7-9, Jacksonville, Fla.; March 12-15 Augusta, Ga.; March 12-22, reserved for Columbus, Ga.

DETROIT (AP)— George Wilson will be back next season as head coach of the Detroit Lions.

No matter what his club does in its remaining five games, or where it finishes in the standings, the outspoken Wilson will be back at the helm, the Associated Press has learned.

It is known the directors of the club whole-heartedly approve of Wilson and have agreed privately that the best interests of the front office and the ball team will be served by his return.

Wilson shot the moon in the 1957 campaign, his first as a head coach in the National Football League. Taking a team Buddy Parker quit — and one Parker called the worst he ever saw in training camp — Wilson led the group to a tie for the Western Division title, a victory over San Francisco in the division playoff game and a triumph over Cleveland in the world championship contest.

So far this year, his club has a 2-4-1 record and long ago was counted out of the chase and assigned the role of spoiler.

Though his club is in fifth place in the Western Division race, Wilson is not counting his club out entirely. The Lions meet the San Francisco 49ers Sunday in the first of four straight Briggs Stadium engagements. The 49ers will be followed by the Chicago Bears, Green Bay Packers and New York Giants.

"You have to rate three teams — Baltimore, Chicago and Los Angeles — ahead of us now," Wilson said. "But Baltimore has some tough ones left and the Bears have to play us twice. We could make things pretty good for Los Angeles. Actually, the division is tough enough, and pro football is unpredictable enough, that anything could happen."

Meaning the Lions still have a chance?

"Sure, we have a chance," said Wilson. "I'll admit it's not a very big one — but it's there if you look hard enough."

Fatalities Down 25 Per Cent

Gridiron Deaths Have Decreased This Season

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The mid-season report on football fatalities released today showed that deaths resulting from active participation in the game have decreased 25 per cent as compared to the same period last year.

The report was released by Dr. Floyd R. Eastwood, associate dean at Los Angeles State College and chairman of the Football Fatalities Committee of the American Football Coaches Association.

Figures compiled by Dr. Eastwood recorded 12 deaths due to football play up to Nov. 6, as compared to 16 fatalities last year at the same time. He pointed out that three of this year's deaths were in sandlot play while last year at the same time there were none in that category.

"These sandlot fatalities do not occur under supervised game conditions, but are perhaps inadvisably recorded as football fatalities," he commented.

Dr. Eastwood said that of all the direct fatalities reported over the past 26 years, 23 per cent of them were sandlot deaths.

High school fatalities this year were listed as eight, as compared to 13 last year. There were no semi-pro football deaths this year up to the present time, while last year there was one. In college ranks, there was one fatality this year, while last year there were two.

"All but one of the fatalities were caused by injuries to the head and neck of the players."

Dr. Eastwood said that the American Football Coaches Association had long been campaigning for more improvements in head gear to eliminate that cause of fatal injuries, especially among high school players.

"It is clear from statistics collected in the past 26 years that football as a game is mildly hazardous," he added. "Only 1.5 high school players and slightly over 2.2 in college are fatally injured per 100,000 participant exposures."

Dr. Eastwood's report to the coaches' association last winter showed the total fatalities for 1957 were 21, while in 1956 there were 22.

At that time Dr. Eastwood commented football could not be considered a hazardous activity and added, "It is more dangerous to drive a car, swim or handle firearms than to play football."

Unitas Leaves Hospital, Begins Easy Workouts

Just out of a hospital bed, Unitas was expected to just jog around the turf. He already has been fitted for a special brace.

Dr. Erwin Mayer, team physician, said:

"John will be able to run this week and may be back in the lineup a week earlier than we thought. He will have to miss the next two games for sure, but has a fine chance now of being ready to play against San Francisco.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

Adjusting your game to meet different alley conditions is the mark of a good bowler. Not only an experienced bowler, but a bowler with enough common sense to realize what adjustment is called for.

When I bowl on alleys where my hook isn't as great as normal, I have to make some changes in my game. Or, if my ball is hooking too much, that calls for other adjustments.

Here are some changes I make in the order I generally attempt them:

1. My angle. If the ball isn't going into the pocket, I change my angle. By changing my starting position, I will change the angle of delivery at the foul line. If I'm hooking too much, I will move a board or two to the left. If I'm not hooking enough, I'll move a board or two to the right.

2. My speed. By changing the speed of the ball, I can cause it to hook more or less. A faster ball will not hook as much, while a slower ball will hook more.

3. My delivery. By getting the ball farther out on the alley in delivering, I reduce its hooking action because it won't begin to roll as soon. Released closer to the foul line as illustrated, the ball will start rolling sooner and hooking more.

Duffy Noncommittal, Munn Angry Over Twin 'Hangings' of Coach

EAST LANSING (UP) — Michigan State's faltering footballers passed up their usual practice session yesterday to try to talk out their troubles.

There was no workout as such after the 6-0 defeat by Indiana, the fourth straight Big Ten beating for the Spartans.

Instead, coach Duffy Daugherty was closeted in a secret dressing room session with his team for nearly an hour and a half. The squad then went through only a brief limbering up in the darkness of Spartan Stadium.

"We wanted to have a squad discussion on what we could do to improve our performance," Daugherty said. "There is no dissension on the club," he added.

Daugherty remained non-committal about the double hanging in effigy on the campus over the weekend.

"I have enough problems without worrying about that," he said.

Daugherty was the fourth Big Ten coach to get the hanging treatment this season.

Michigan's Bennie Oosterbaan, and Woody Hayes of Ohio State also have been suspended by dissident students on the local campuses.

Another effigy, found elsewhere on the campus, carried a sign "Duffy—Olivet Needs You." This apparently was written before word had circulated that Olivet had broken a 29-game losing streak by beating Kalamazoo College 20-13.

Michigan State Athletic director Biggie Munn was angered by the incidents.

"You can bet that those who did it never blocked or tackled anyone," Munn said. "I'd like to paddle them. Their poor sportsmanship is showing."

Feeling on the campus was that a sour grapes minority was responsible for the jibes at the popular Daugherty.

Wayne Reginali, Deerfield junior and leader of the "Spartan Spirit," athletic booster group, said he thought the effigy hanging was intended to be humorous rather than malicious.

"Most of our students still think Daugherty is one of the best coaches in the country," he said. "Just a while ago, a group of students gave him a scroll declaring they were 100 per cent behind Daugherty.

"Duffy is very popular with the students," said Dr. John W. Truitt, director of the men's division of student affairs. "I didn't think it would happen here."

Pheasant Entries Close Wednesday

The 1958 Michigan pheasant season concluded yesterday. The Pontiac Press "pheasant derby" also ended at the same time. Oakland county hunters still have until Wednesday noon to file their entries in the two-division contest for $50 and $25 U.S. Savings Bonds.

Current leaders are: heaviest bird, 3-pounds, 12-ounces (Gene Coe), and 40¼-inches long (Paul Pace).

Only full-time Oakland county residents are eligible, but birds may have been taken anywhere in the state during the regular season.

DUFFY JOINS GROUP — Newest member of the select group of Big Ten coaches to be hung in effigy is Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State University football coach. This dummy was found strung up under a scoreboard in Spartan Stadium Monday. The sign beneath the effigy reads: "Goodby, Duffy, Bring Back Biggie," referring to Biggie Munn, Daugherty's predecessor.

7 Teams on Sugar Bowl List

Cal Leads Race for Roses

By The Associated Press

The Bears, with a 4-1 mark, are the only PCC football squad having just one conference loss. Three other schools each have two defeats but they have an outside chance to snatch the rosebuds.

California is definitely the favorite, despite the reluctance of Bear Coach Pete Elliott to accept the role. He's worried about this Saturday's contest with Washington in Seattle, with the Bears favored. If Cal goes according to form and tops the Huskies, it looks as if the Bears will meet Iowa in Pasadena New Year's Day.

After Washington, Cal takes on Stanford in the season closer, the traditional big game that can go either way, and often does. The Bears, however, undoubtedly will be the favorite.

California's three challengers, Washington State, Oregon State and Southern California, have rough going to overtake the Bears.

Seven schools are on the list from which the Cotton Bowl expects to pick its visiting team but which is the hottest prospect isn't being revealed. For that matter, the Cotton Bowl itself probably doesn't know at this stage.

Mississippi, Air Force Academy, Pittsburgh, Syracuse North Carolina, Army and Louisiana State are on the list. But Army is doubtful since West Point never has indicated in the past it would accept a bid anyway. The Southwest Conference champion is host team in the Cotton Bowl, with Rice the favorite.

Army played Rice last week, beating the Owls 14-7. It would be considered unlikely for Army to want to play the same team again even if it decided to go to a bowl.

Louisiana State can't be called a strong possibility in view of its closeness to the Sugar Bowl.

Wings Change Players

International Crisis Hinges on Soviet Threat to Blockade Berlin

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

If Nikita Khrushchev really means what he says about abrogating four-power rule in Berlin and freedom of transport between West Berlin and West Germany, there's going to be a new and dangerous international crisis.

The Western powers stood up to the Soviet Union 10 years ago on this issue and forced a Russian backdown with the successful airlift.

So long as the Russians and their East German satellites only talk about blockading Berlin things will be all right. But if they try actually to interfere with Western control over West Berlin or transport and communications between West Germany and West Berlin, there will be real trouble.

And this time, in contrast to the Berlin blockade, the United States, France and Britain could count on the full support of a powerful West Germany in any countermeasures.

He said four-power rule in Berlin should be ended. He said the agreements under which the West has unhindered transport and West Germany and West Berlin are obsolete and that the Communists should free themselves from them. He said the West should deal with East Germany directly on questions concerning East Berlin and stressed that the Soviet Union would consider an attack on East Germany as an attack on the Soviet Union.

This sounds menacing. If Khrushchev is really serious, then it would follow that the Russians will formally denounce four-power rule in Berlin and the agreements on which it is based, that the East Germans will interfere wtih surface and air transport into West Berlin and that the Soviet Union would regard any action of force by the West to break a blockade as an act of war.

The catch here is that, as Khrushchev no doubt knows, this would mean World War III. It seems questionable that he intends to start the world conflagration, at least in this way.

Even if Khrushchev doesn't want a new world war, however, he still might like to have some increased international tension in the atmosphere. The Russians are in the midst of a crackdown all along the line on malcontents, "revisionists," and intellectuals in general in the Soviet Union and the satellites. Sharply increased tension would give an excuse to press this crackdown faster and harder.

It is therefore possible that the Russians may try to jockey the Berlin question into position as a "Western Quemoy." If so this will be one more in a long series of examples of aggravation by the Communists of international tension for reasons of internal politics in Communist countries.

The U.S. State Department bluntly rejected Khrushchev's proposal. A spokesman quoted recent U.S. statements of readiness to fight for West Berlin.

One of the U.S. statements was issued last May 8 with Britain and France. It reaffirmed their 1954 declaration of determination to preserve West Berlin's security.

In Washington and London, diplomats declared that the Soviet Union alone had no right to abrogate the four-power agreement that regulates Berlin government and access routes. But diplomats suspected Moscow might go ahead and resign as an occupying power in an effort to force the issue.

Rona Jafee in Filmland to View Script of Novel

By BOB THOMAS

Yes, says Rona Jaffe, successful chronicler of the toiling lasses. She's the 26-year-old onetime office worker who wrote "The Best of Everything" and sold it to films for $100,000. It's her first novel and it's bobbing along nicely in the middle of the top 10 sellers.

Rona, an attractive girl who speaks in tones of her native New York, is here to promote the book and look at the film script. She hedged a bit on her all-working-girls-wanna-get-married thesis with three exceptions:

"Girls who are very shy, who fear that married life will interfere with pursuit of their profession or who are disillusioned by too many unhappy romances."

But these are a minor segment of the great feminine working mass, she claimed. The others want a man, period.

That's the theme of her book, and the reviewers state that it contains some rather racy passages. I asked how this affected her personal life.

"My parents?" she replied. "Yes, I was afraid they would be shocked. They didn't read the book until it was published. Fortunately, they liked it.

"My book is the result of working four years in an office myself and interviewing a hundred working girls. I discovered there were five basic types of working girls in New York, so I wrote a story about five girls."

Her types:

1. The well-to-do girl who works out of boredom.
2. The out-of-towner who seeks the glamor life of an actress but fails.
3. The would-be actress who must work part-time to live.
4. The engaged girl earning enough to buy furniture, etc.
5. The divorced mother who must work to support her child.

All are seeking marriage, said Miss Jaffe, and that brought up a natural question: what about her?

WINGED VICTORIES — In the final stages of assembly, numbers of America's latest operational antiaircraft weapon, the Nike Hercules, move along a conveyor line at the Douglas Aircraft Co. plant in Charlotte, N. C. The Hercules, successor to Nike Ajax, is a surface-to-air radio command missile capable of knocking down any manned aircraft or nonballistic missiles known. The missile body, which can carry either a conventional or nuclear warhead, is 27 feet long and is powered by a solid fuel rocket motor. A 14-foot-long solid rocket booster provides initial impetus. Operational since July, first Hercules units are stationed in the New York, Philadelphia, Chicago and Washington-Baltimore areas.

Cuban Partisans Seized in Florida

Federal Men Capture 22 Loading Plane With Munitions

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) (AP)—Federal agents surprised nearly two dozen Cuban rebel sympathizers in the act of loading munitions aboard a plane and charged 22 persons with violating the Neutrality Act.

Two women were among the group seized with an arms-laden B18 bomber on abandoned Prospect Air Field Monday night.

Border Patrol agents blasted a fleeing auto's tire with machine gun bullets, preventing the getaway of five of their prisoners. The airplane pilot, who identified himself as Rodger Steadman, 41, of Miami, a native of Huron, S.D., fled in a truck but was arrested later at a Fort Lauderdale bus station.

Agents said a big assortment of rifles, machine guns, ammunition, medical supplies, boots and field equipment were placed aboard the plane as they watched from concealment.

Some of the material was in packages marked "Fidel." Fidel Castro heads the rebel army which dominates much of Cuba's Oriente Province.

There was no immediate word on where the plane came from or who owned it. Agents said the last owner of available record was the Bank of Anchorage, Alaska.

The two-engined plane landed about dusk on the former airfield which is being developed as an industrial site by Fort Lauderdale. Residents of nearby homes telephoned Broward County authorities. Deputy sheriffs and state and local police reinforced federal officers and helped round up those arrested.

Police said the plane was almost loaded with freight taken from cars and from weeds around the field's edge when the raiders went into action.

William Wetherington, one of the agents, hastily drove an automobile in front of the plane to block its path when it looked as if the plane was about to take off.

South Florida has been the scene of numerous daring attempts to supply Castro's forces.

Moon Lore Influences Farmers in All Ages

WASHINGTON—The moon has given rise to more sense and nonsense than any other unearthly object.

And the idea of getting to it is not new, the National Geographic Society notes. In A.D. 160 a Greek satirist described an imaginary trip to the moon. Ancient observers recognized the lunar effect on tides. Their serious studies of the moon helped develop astronomy.

The public was looking, too. People in every time and place have convinced themselves, without inhibition, of numerous ways in which the moon influences far more than tides—and lovers. Why not weather, plants, animals, even man's daily affairs?

CHARMER AND A CHARM

Much moon lore is whimsical. A maiden who drinks white wine and rose water, then looks at the moon through a silk scarf, for instance, will see the face of her future husband. The best of all lucky charms is the left hind paw of a rabbit killed in a graveyard, by a cross-eyed person, in the dark of the moon.

Some persons believe a sleeper will lose his sight if moonshine falls on his lids, others that sleeping in moonlight will bring insanity. Hence the words lunacy, lunatic, loony and moonstruck.

Moon lore is often taken seriously. Farmers have long been planting and harvesting according to the moon's phases.

Potatoes should be planted in the dark of the moon, preferably on Good Friday; peas, in the light of the moon. The general idea, however, is to sow root crops between the first quarter and the full moon, and leafy plants when it is waning.

To keep vines free of pests, they should be pruned when the moon is in the sign of Leo the Lion. Herbs are most efficacious if gathered before the full moon, which is the best time to give any tonic.

Soap shouldn't be made in the moon's dark phase, otherwise it turns out fluffy. Bacon from hogs killed by a waning moon will curl up in the skillet. Fish bite best when tides are highest at the nearest seaport.

CLEAR MOON, FROST SOON

Weather-making, in folklore, is the moon's great forte. There are numerous rhymes of prognostication, such as:

Pale moon doth rain
Red moon doth blow,
White moon doth
Neither rain nor snow.

An upright crescent moon holds no water, thus means a wet month. If the crescent lies on its back, cupping the water, there's no need to keep the mackintoshes handy. A full moon gobbles up the clouds.

A ring around the moon is not to be ignored. If the halo encircles more than five stars, the weather will be cold—and vice versa. In another version, the number of haloed stars foretells the days before a storm.

Moon worship has been common among primitives. And even the most blase peoples have recognized a "man in the moon." Among Westerners, the moon's features suggest a human face or figure. Chinese see a monkey pounding rice, Indians a rabbit. Samoans imagine a woman placidly weaving.

Legends aside, certain beings are known to keep in tune with the moon. Bermuda fire worms swarm in mating season only after a full moon and at approximately 55 minutes after sunset.

Hope Diamond Rests Safely in Museum

After the dark blue diamond was delivered to the Smithsonian by a postman under guard, it was formally presented by Mrs. Winston. The fabled Hope was accepted by Dr. Leonard Carmichael, secretary of the institution.

The Hope was smuggled out of India about 300 years ago. Since then, it has passed through many hands. A number of its owners died violently and it acquired a reputation of bringing ill fortune.

Actor's Wife Arrested on Drunk-Driving Count

Chief of Police Clinton Anderson said she was abusive, belligerent and uncooperative after her arrest.

Released on bail, she was told to appear in court Wednesday.

City Patrolman Hurt in 2-Car Collision

A Pontiac Police officer was treated for minor cuts at Pontiac General Hospital and released early this morning after the patrol car in which he was riding was involved in a collision.

Officer Raymond Dickinson, 23, of 536 Granada St., was injured while riding in a car driven by officer James A. Teal Jr., 26, of 26 Spokane St.

The driver of the other car, Thomas Farquharson, 52, of 8 Miller St., was arrested on a charge of drunk driving, said police.

Officers said Farquharson, driving west on Nebraska Ave. failed to heed a "Yield Right Of Way" sign and smashed into the patrol car at Earlmore street. A passnger in the Farquharson auto, Benjamin Acosta, 24, of 597 California St., suffered a slight head cut but refused medical treatment, police said.

Lola Albright Freed From Jack Carson

LOS ANGELES (AP) Comedian Jack Carson was divorced Monday by actress Lola Albright. She testified he falsely accused her of infidelities and called her a "bum."

Carson, 48, and Miss Albright, 34, were married in 1952. He was formerly wed to Mrs. Betty Lynn Carson and to singer Kay St. Germain.

City Man Sentenced for Robbing Safe

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams yesterday sentenced Anthony F. Schneider, 24, of Pontiac, to 2 to 5 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for the burglary of a safe at the Pontiac Municipal Golf Course.

A Circuit Court jury convicted Schneider, of 1257 Cherrylawn Dr., Oct. 23 for burglarizing the safe last June of $1,600. Pontiac police said Schneider learned the combination of the safe and secured a duplicate key to the front door of the course clubhouse.

Drayton Plains Youth Gets Term in Prison

Seventeen-year-old Lowell R. Hook, of 5046 Hatchery Rd., Drayton Plains, yesterday was sentenced to 1½ to 10 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for the statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl in April.

The sentence was handed down by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty. Hook pleaded guilty to the charge Oct. 20.

Trailer Court Explosion Seriously Burns Man

Ex-Miss U.S.A., Leona Gage, Set to Marry No. 3

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Leona Gage, who lost her Miss U.S.A. title when officials found she was married, plans to wed for the third time.

Miss Gage, 22, now a show girl at the Moulin Rouge night club here, said she will marry Nick Covacevich, 22, next Monday in Las Vegas, Nev. Covacevich also dances at the club.

The statuesque brunette won the Miss U.S.A. title as Miss Maryland in the 1957 Miss Universe contest. She was deposed when she said she was married to Air Force Sgt. Gene Morris Ennis and was the mother of two sons. Later, she said she had married another airman when she was 14, but that marriage was annulled.

Miss Gage divorced Ennis last February in Las Vegas.

Widows Sue Firm to Force Meeting

Suit in Macomb County Circuit Court was filed yesterday by Mrs. Bridget Garavaglia, widow of Jule C. Garavaglia, and Mrs. Audrey Garavaglia, widow of Louis A. Garavaglia.

The widows filed suit to force the corporation to hold a special meeting of shareholders. The women own 50 per cent of the stock in the firm which their late husbands headed.

They charged they were not consulted on management changes and efforts to hold a board meeting in the past were rebuffed. A hearing was set for Dec. 1.

Romeo Man Sentenced for Burglary Attempt

A 28-year-old Romeo man, Charles Alverson, was sentenced to from 2 to 5 years in the State Prison of Southern Michigan at Jackson for the attempted burglary of a Orion Township store last month.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams imposed the sentence on Alverson, of 3370 Twenty-Eight Mile Rd., who pleaded guilty to the attempted breaking and entering charge Oct. 27.

Soviet Magazine Condemns Attitude

Russian Youths Love Pleasure

LIVING IT UP — Pleasure-loving Soviet youth is the object of scorn in this cartoon from the Russian humor magazine "Krokodil." The frivolous young people are dancing among desks, blithely ignoring signs that plead for farm, industrial and mine workers.

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

"Life is short, so let's not be fools and live it up while we can," said an anonymous letter to the Moscow newspaper Komsomol Pravda describing the feelings of on group of young Russians.

"We're going to grab from life all its pleasures and delights," the Soviet youth continued.

Such young people are not very interested in politics, particularly of the Communist variety. Komsomol Pravda condemned them and other young people like them, but the fact remains they represent views typical of a big cross section of Russian young people.

"They sure are in love with the luxuries of life," said a Russian-speaking American who became acquainted with many of the Moiseyev dancers during their tour of the United States this year.

This is another aspect of the same mood. Komsomol Pravda recently discovered in the Siberian metropolis of Novosibirsk a group of Russian young people who believe in "freedom of morals" and who have established a club where they devote themselves solely to having a good time, usually with the assistance of vodka. The Soviet youth paper again was outraged at the existence of such attitudes.

Russian young people and their hostile attitudes toward the stern and hardworking life prescribed for them by the Communist Party are a frequent subject in the Soviet humor magazine "Krokodil."

Particularly condemned in cartoons in this journal are young people who do not want to migrate to Siberia or the Far North to work under primitive conditions where the government sends them after they finish universities and institutes.

Thus Krokodil pictures two girls sitting in Moscow on a park bench and the one says to the other:

"Again I've had bad luck. This is my fifth husband who has been sent off to work in the provinces."

The cartoon was referring to the fact that many Soviet girls marry men working in Moscow in order to escape having to work in cold and distant areas.

Another constant Krokodil subject is parents who use personal pull to get their children into higher educational institutions. One such published a little while ago shows a mother addressing a father while a girl stands in the background.

The mother says to the father: "It's about time you discussed with daughter which institute you're going to get her admitted to this fall."

The obvious point was that she had flunked out of several previously.

Spoiled children whose parents pamper their every wish and who take full advantage of the situation, young men and women imitating Western fashions and contemptuously indifferent to Communist ideas, youths whose only desire is to dance to Western rythms hour after hour, boys and girls who run away from the construction projects to which they are sent in the Soviet east and north — all of these are the more or less permanent subject matter of a stream of editorials, cartoons and more active measures taken by the Soviet Communist Party.

And the more such papers as Komsomol Pravda and such magazines as Krokodil condemn them the more there seem to be of such anti-political youths who want to enjoy life and are sick and tired of the dull drabness of Soviet Communist society.

Theater Holdup Fatal to Officer

40-Year-Old Major, Fleeing With Cash Box, Shot by Manager

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A 40-year-old major, studying with the Army's brightest officers at the Command and General Staff College, was shot and killed Monday night after robbing a downtown theater of $568.

Parker staggered down a flight of stairs and through the lobby, then collapsed and died face down on main street in the bright light of the Roxy Theater marquee. He still cradled the theater's metal cash box in one arm.

The major's wife, the former Janie McBride of Raeford, N.C., went into shock when she was told of his death. They were living in Leavenworth, Kan., 25 miles northwest of Kansas City, while Parker attended the college at Ft. Leavenworth. They have no children.

"We have been unable to determine any cause for his actions other than that he might have been having some sort of financial difficulties," said an Army spokesman. "There had been nothing to indicate he was overly worried about anything."

Parker, armed with a .32 pistol, grabbed the cash box out of Dugan's hands as the theater manager entered his office.

"I went to my desk and got my gun," Dugan said.

"I caught him at the top of the stairs. I fired three shots at him when he was about 18 feet away from me."

Parker reported in August to the Command and General Staff College and in September started a 10-month course reserved for the Army's most promising officers.

The major, dressed as a civilian, bought a ticket for the Brigitte Bardot movie at the Roxy about three minutes before the holdup.

Police found a dollar bill and a quarter on the sidewalk beside him. He had about $10 in his pockets.

IMAGINE ME EARNING $300 A WEEK

By a Wall Street Journal Subscriber

I remember when I was earning $100 a week. I felt good about it. I dreamed that someday I might earn $200 a week. But it seemed remote.

Then came the flood of rising prices and rising taxes. I had to do something to keep my head above water. One thing I did was to subscribe to The Wall Street Journal. It was a life preserver! It told me things to do to win advancement, to protect my interests and to increase my income. Last year I hit a new high. Just the other day I said to my wife, "Imagine me earning $300 a week!"

That is the wonderful thing about The Wall Street Journal. A few minutes' daily reading of that amazing newspaper has put thousands of men on the road to increased earnings. The Journal helps salaried men making $7,500 to $25,000 a year. It is valuable to small business men. It can be of priceless benefit to ambitious young men who want to win advancement.

Mart Climbing Again Today

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to advance in heavy early trading today with American Telephone rising to its highest price since 1929.

Most leading issues rose fractionally with some gains running to a point or more. There were a few minus signs and a number of stocks unchanged.

Despite semi-holiday conditions because of Veterans Day, turnover was so brisk at the start that the ticker tape ran behind transactions for a 10-minute period. Some big blocks were traded.

General Dynamics was active and up more than a point. New York shipbuilding, helped by news of a navy contract, made a similar gain. Ford was fairly active and up around a point. Eastman Kodak gained around 4 points as blue chips continued in demand.

Union Pacific, Delaware & Hudson, Fruehauf Trailer, Kennecott, Anaconda, Raytheon and Bethlehem were among fractional gainers.

DuPont and Pfizer were ahead about a point. American Telephone trimmed its rise to about a point are the initial trade.

Imported Cars Take Big Bite

September Sales Up to 11.5 Pct. From 7.6 of Total U.S. Market

DETROIT (AP) — Sales of imported cars in September represented almost 11½ per cent of the overall U. S. market. For the first nine months of 1958 they amounted to 7.60 per cent.

Automotive News reported today that sales of imported makes numbered a record-shattering 36,417 units in September compared with 21,807 in September last year; that the nine months total this year amounted to 262,823 units against 144,909 in the same 1957 period.

The trade paper also said that in the September competition among foreign makes Renault moved up to "within a step of Volkswagen as the best selling foreign car." It listed Volkswagen September sales at 5,482 units and Renault at 5,038.

In September last year the figures were Volkswagen 5,307; Renault 2,434.

"Admittedly, the sag in total domestic-car sales in September magnified the market penetration of imports," Automotive News said. "However, sales of 36,000 would provide a penetration of 6 per cent even in whopping 600,000-unit month. And the industry hasn't sold that many new cars in any one month since hurly-burly 1955."

Farm Product Prices Drop 1 Pct. in Month

LANSING (UPI) — The price index for Michigan farmers as of mid-October was 223, one per cent less than the index for September, the Michigan price report said today.

Price decreases during that time were for hogs, beef cattle, eggs, broilers and turkeys. These decreases outweighed the price hikes for wholesale milk and calves, the report said.

For the same period, the all-crops index went up less than one per cent with increases in wheat, oats and clover seed prices.

News in Brief

Robert E. Hess, 19, of 616½ W. Huron St., paid a fine of $85 plus $15 costs Monday after pleading guilty to a drunk driving charge before Keego Harbor Justice James Southart.

A breakin at St. Fredericks High School was reported yesterday in which thieves pried open a milk machine and took an estimated $70 from the money box, according to city police.

'Sell When Price Goes Up'

Baruch Advises Students

NEW YORK (AP)—City College students received some advice on the stock market Monday from an alumnus, class of 1889, who made good.

"Don't follow fads, be firm in your own judgment, and sell when price goes up," they were told by the visitor to the college's Bernard M. Baruch School of Business and Public Administration.

Financier Bernard M. Baruch, 88, for whom the school was named, dropped by, he said, "to see what they're teaching in the classroom these days."

Grain Futures Scarcely Stir

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market scarcely stirred in slow and dull activity during early dealings today on the Board of Trade.

Offerings to sell were very meager and so was demand with prices only minor fractions either way from previous closes. Brokers said there were no influences overnight to attract trading from either side and that a trend toward weakness usually develops eventually in such a situation.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was unchanged to ¼ cent a bushel higher, December $1.94¾; corn ¼ higher to ⅛ lower, December old type contract $1.12⅜; oats ⅛ lower to ¼ higher, December 65½; rye unchanged to ½ higher, December $1.30⅜; soybeans unchanged to ½ lower, November $2.12⅞.

AT&T Stock Sells at $200.75 a Share

NEW YORK (AP) — Common stock of American Telephone & Telegraph Co., the world's biggest private corporation, set a 27-year high yesterday by selling at $200.75 a share shortly before the close on the New York exchange.

The last previous top was $201.75 in 1931. The year before it sold for $274.25.

The rise today came on renewed speculation by some brokers of a possible increase in AT&T $9 annual dividend, paid without a break since 1921.

A spokesman for the company declined to comment. It is a traditional policy of the company, he said, never to take any notice of Wall Street rumors or stock market letters.

SHUCKS!

We just know you'll agree with us that this lovely 3 bedroom brick and frame home with full basement and recreation room, located in excellent West side area, has fine value and convenience to offer. Plenty of extras included. Priced $13,650 — down payment $1,350 FHA.

CRAMPED for SPACE

Do the kiddies need more room to play—to eat — to sleep? Does mother want a 24 ft. living room with fireplace and separate dining room? Does dad want a full basement with gas steam heat? This well located east side home has all this and more. Full price only $9,750 with terms.

WILLIAMS LAKE AREA

For your retirement, this extra well built home has all the extras like plastered walls, shiny oak floors, dining room, large farm type kitchen, 2 large bedrooms, vestibule entrance, and activities rooms with new ledge stone fireplace. This home is in "better than new" condition—only 6 years old! Oh, yes, new aluminum siding, awnings, garage, blacktop drive, nice lawn and shrubs, a variety of fruit and garden, partly Anchor fenced. Owner going north — your chance to own this excellent home for only $15,900.

AN ACRE

With a large ranch type home. Consisting of 1300 sq. ft., oil FA furnace, paved street, in the heart of Waterford. Owner must sell because of illness in family—needs decorating inside, and in consideration of these facts, the home has been priced at a very interesting price of $9,500—$1,500 down. Investigate now—this may be the one.

CHET HUNTLEY: He'll analyze disaster on TV tonight.

To Stress Need for Forewarning

'Ten for Survival' Will Explore 2 Communities Stricken by Flood

NEW YORK — Possibly the strongest factor for survival in a disaster is accurate knowledge of the nature of the impending danger — knowledge which usually leads to effective action.

This will be the chief point of emphasis in "Biography of a Disaster — Rio Grande" on "Ten for Survival," NBC educational television project program series, tonight.

The series, with NBC Commentor Chet Huntley as weekly host, is presented in partnership with the U.S. Office of Civil and Defense Mobilization and the Educational Television and Radio Center.

NBC recently dispatched a task force to Piedras Negras, Mexico, and Eagle Pass, Texas, where in 1954 the Rio Grande flooded both communities with two very different and significant effects.

Their filmed report explores the reasons for the astonishing difference: For the Texas town, the score was no lives lost; for the Mexican village across the river, informed estimates run as high as 2,000 dead.

The film footage to be shown in "Biography of a Disaster" will include NBC writer-reporter Dick McCutcheon's interviews with survivors and rescue workers on both sides of the river. Chet Huntley's studio guest will be Dr. Harry Williams, executive director of the National Academy of Science in Washington, D. C.

"Ten for Survival" is being sent out live to the country's interconnected educational TV stations over NBC's regular network facilities on 10 consecutive Tuesdays.

The series is designed to explore the American people's rejection of the existing knowledge which is man's surest means of survival in the Nuclear Age.

Reuther to Address Students at Yale

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, will give a major address at Yale University Thursday.

Reuther will speak at a meeting sponsored by the Yale undergraduate lecture committee.

The committee is composed of four students who set out last year to get national figures as speakers for a series of lectures on leading political and economic issues.

The University said next winter's speaker will be Henry Ford II, president of the Ford Motor Co.

Taping TV Shows in Face of Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A number of major television live shows are prerecording productions on tape in view of the possibility of a strike of union TV performers against the three networks.

Another bargaining session between the American Federation of Television and Radio Arists and the chains is expected to be held Wednesday.

Current contracts expire at midnight Saturday. The networks are the American Broadcasting Co., National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System.

Union locals in New York City, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco have scheduled so-called strike meetings for Wednesday or Thursday.

Video tape is a major issue in the contract negotiations. The tape permits a show to be recorded and played back immediately without processing. The union is seeking agreement on fees and clearly defined conditions for use of the tape for programs and for commercials.

Confession Stories Are Springboard for Writer

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

Kurnitz, a cosmopolite who has one wardrobe in Paris, another in London, another in Hollywood and none in New York where he's now living, confessed that he did write women's confession stories before becoming a screen writer, playwright and now, a living legend.

"I was voted the Unwed Mother of the Year by the pulp magazines in 1930," said Kurnitz, an ex-Philadelphia copy-reader who look it.

"All my stories started out, 'When I felt this small new life within me.' When Bernarr Macfadden read them, he would burst into tears."

Kurnitz' comedy, "Once More With Feeling," starring Arlene Francis and Joseph Cotten, has inspired Broadway's leading thinkers to hail him as our outstanding wit.

Fifty, and resembling (according to Abe Burrows) "a crooked basketball played who has just dumped a game," Harry could, if he chose, tell people about Billy Wilder's plot for a happy Russian saga.

KURNITZ

"A Communist writer defects to the West," Harry explained. "He escapes. The Soviets murder his family. Then he goes happily back to Russia. That's what he wanted —to get rid of his family."

Assigned to write the Frank Sinatra-Brigitte Bardot movie, he met BB, and admired her dress, for her a new experience. He was in Africa with William Faulkner on "The Last of the Pharaohs." Faulkner got ill.

"There weren't any hospitals there, so we had to get a witch doctor," alleges Kurnitz. "Faulkner disappeared, and on his return he had in his pocket half an airline ticket to Zurich, a city he could not remember having visited.

Harry, who, I must add, is a wondrously warm, gentle person, is also a bachelor.

"But you may say to the women of America," he commented, "that I can be had."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

The photog who accused Frank Sinatra of trying to get him run over backed down on his story . . . George Capri, former Las Vegas hotel owner, is Marie McDonald's new manager, says they'll wed. Marlon Brando's agian dating his old gal, Rita Moreno . . . Dagmar will do a TV'er. She says: "My liver's not working, but I am" . . . Doris Duke visted Las Vegas, where boy friend Joe Castro was working.

EARL'S PEARLS: This is the month for many a young man, notes H. C. Diefenbach—whether to start saving for a Christmas present or stop seeing the girl till '59.

Liberia, Land of Ex-Slaves, Forges Ahead by U.S. Aid

About the size of Ohio or Tennessee, the country covers some 43,000 square miles on the coast of Africa's western hump. Sierra Leone, a British colony now seeking independence, borders it on the north. French colonies—the Ivory Coast and French Guinea—enclose it on the east. Near by is the new nation of Ghana, which received its independence from Britain in 1957.

Among all these colonies, Liberia has long been an independent nation. It was founded in the 1820's by a private American group with the aid of the United States government under President James Monroe, for whom the capital is named. The former slaves bought land from the local tribesmen, paying out:

Six muskets, one barrel of powder, six iron bars, 10 iron pots, one barrel of beads, two casks of tobacco, 12 knives, 12 forks, 12 spoons, one barrel of nails, one box of pipes, three mirrors, four umbrellas, three walking sticks, one box of soap, one barrel of rum, four hats, three pairs of shoes, six pieces of blue baft, and three pieces of white calico.

GROWS AFTER WAR

Liberia's economic growth was slow, but it took a tremendous spurt beginning with World War II. American forces guarded it then, and there were plans to build ship facilities at Monrovia. The success of Allied forces in the Mediterranean made the work unnecessary, and port development waited until after the war.

Since then Liberia has steadily forged ahead, with aid from the United States. Roads, bridges, and a railroad have been built. New crops are being tested. Rich iron ore is exported. A mainstay of the economy, the Firestone rubber plantation, produces tens of millions of pounds of rubber each year. In 1954 it was joined by the Goodrich rubber interests, which are developing another large plantation.

Liberia shows many evidences of American influence. The flag over its ships looks much like the Stars and Stripes—but has 11 stripes and one large star. English is the official language. The constitution, patterned closely after that of the United States, was drawn up by a dean of the Harvard Law School. The country is governed by a President, Senate, House of Representatives, and a Supreme Court.

The population of this chip off the American block is estimated officially at 2.5 million, although others place it closer to 1.5 million. Between 12,000 and 20,000 are descendants of the freedmen.

Flint Replaces 2 Top Officials

Names Ex-Police Chief City Manager, Chooses 36-Year-Old Mayor

FLINT (AP) — Flint has a new city manager — its former police chief — and also a new mayor, both the results of quick city commission maneuvers yesterday.

Harold C. Chirgwin, city manager since 1954, resigned the $16,000-a-year job under pressure and was replaced by former police chief James P. Byars.

In a mayoralty switch preceding Chirgwin's resignation, the commission elected Robert J. Egan, choosing him by a 5-4 vote in rejecting the re-election bid of Mayor George M. Algoe. Algoe had served two terms.

The commission chose Byars city manager by an 8-0 vote after accepting Chirgwin's resignation by a 6-2 vote.

Byars, 59, returns to public office after a four-year absence. He retired in 1954. In 1948 he was dismissed in a political hassle but was reinstated by court order.

Vodka Maker Explains Craze in U.S. Today

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Rudolph Kunett popped into town the other day, popped open a bottle of vodka and popped up with a three-point program for world peace:

"Vodka, vodka and more vodka."

Kunett pleads guilty to being the "father" of the American vodka craze — a craze he says was born as an aftermath of World War II.

What flash of genius inspired him to introduce the tasteless elixir to this country?

"It was nothing inspirational," the slight, 64-year-old president of Smirnoff, Inc., confessed. "When I fled Russia in 1920 after the revolution, all I had studied was philosophy. Vodka was the only practical thing I knew anything about."

Running his hand through his thin gray hair, he continued:

"In 1933, I finally started a vodka plant in Bethel, Conn. I struggled. You could hardly give vodka away.

"I found that the minute I mentioned vodka, people had visions of some liquid fire that was poisonous and was drunk only by barbarians somewhere in the wilds of Russia."

"World War II," he said. "During the war, the government took over all plants that produced alcohol for defense purposes. But at the same time, Russia — the country that had been so remote to most people here — became our ally and more familiar.

"There were pictures of our statemen and theirs toasting each other with vodka in Moscow. Foreign correspondents went into such details as the vodka flowing all evening at diplomatic parties. When the war was over, there was a demand for vodka."

Even the cold war has not altered that demand, he said.

Woman Dies in Crash

PORTLAND (AP) — Mrs. Catherine Hart, 44, of Ionia, was killed Monday night when a car driven by her husband, Robert, skidded off a dirt road near here and hit a tree. Hart and two daughters, Zora, 5, and Tanya, 4, were injured.

Fire Loss Sets Record

NEW YORK — Fires caused a record loss of $1,023,190,000 in 1957, the first time such damage has exceeded a billion dollars. It represented an increase of 3 per cent over 1956 losses and a rise of 43 per cent over 1948.

Flier Aims Jet at Field, Bails Out Near Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — An Air Force pilot from Selfridge base pointed his crippled jet plane at a cornfield, then bailed out at 4,000 feet and landed unharmed yesterday.

In advance of word to the contrary the plane presumably crashed in the field as directed, the air force base said.

The pilot, First Lt. Robert D. Priest, 25, of Cedar Falls, Iowa, said he had trouble with the fuel control of his F86L all-weather jet interceptor.

Priest said he brought the ship down through an overcast, pointed it at the cornfield, and bailed out via his ejector. After he landed he called the base from a farm house.

The area was 20 miles east of Toledo near the town of Bono, Ohio.

Priest, attached to the 94th fighter-interceptor squadron at Selfridge, lives with his wife, Sharon, in Mount Clemens, Mich. He has been at Selfridge since last May.

Counties Can't Collect Taxes Under Appeal

Taxing units must wait until the appeals are finally determined by the commission before making any levy, Adams said in an opinion asked by Charles A. Davis, chief assistant corporation counsel for Oakland County. Adams said the situation applies both to appeals from county equalization of tax assessments or from county allocation of tax rates.

Davis said about six taxing units in the county had spread all or part of their school tax in July while appeals were pending.

Monoxide Fumes Fatal to Mother, Daughter

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Mrs. Hazel May Sinker, 49, and her 4-year-old adopted daughter, Susan, were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in the closed garage of the family home in Roseville yesterday.

Coroner Raymond G. Markle of Macomb County said Mrs. Sinker had taken her own life and that of Susan. The bodies were found in the front seat of the car. The car engine was running.

Mrs. Sinker's husband, Harold, said his wife had been despondent.

Midland Mayor Chosen

MIDLAND (AP)— City Councilman James W. Stevens was elected mayor of Midland Monday night by fellow councilmen. Former Mayor Glenn W. Warren did not seek re-election in the Nov. 4 election.

Woman Employe Cited for 40 Years Service

LANSING (AP) — She's one of the few draftswomen in the state highway department and its oldest employe in point of service.

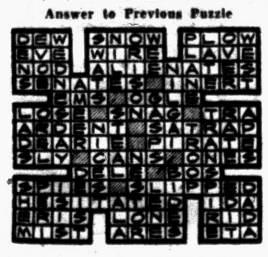

That's why State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and other department officials staged a surprise party yesterday for Miss Ina Butler, who is rounding out her 40th year with the department. Mackie gave her a 40-year-service pin, the first of its kind ever presented.

U.N. Post Given to Dem Senator

Johnson Accepts Job in Bipartisan Effort to Ban Space Arms

SEATTLE (AP) — The administration's appointment of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson to the U.S. delegation at the United Nations marks the start today of a new and strongly bipartisan effort to ban military weapons from outer space.

With President Eisenhower's approval, Dulles said he had asked the Texas senator who heads the Senate Space and Aeronautics Committee to make a statement to the U.N. General Assembly together with Henry Cabot Lodge. Debate on the outer space issue begins within a day or two.

Dulles said Johnson was asked to serve in this role "in order to make clear to the world how much all Americans agree on the importance of this subject."

The Soviet Union also has a resolution before the U.N. on outer space but insists that it cannot give up control unless the United States abandons its foreign bases where long range missiles can be used against them.

Authoratative sources pointed out that the Soviet Union also has missile bases which threaten Britain, France and West Germany as well as the United States.

Sources close to Dulles said the secretary feels strongly that now is the time to ban long-range missiles, while they are still in their infancy.

It was emphasized that the bipartisan approach of the Democratic Senate leader and the Eisenhower administration would demonstrate American political unity on this important issue.

Dulles was said to feel that by limiting the use of outer space to peaceful scientific purposes it would halt rapidly increasing expenditure of funds. Every year these expenses are spiraling higher to a marked degree, it was said.

Fewer than 20 of the 100 islands that make up Bermuda are inhabited.

ANOTHER "BIG E" — The Navy's first nuclear-powered aircraft carrier, the USS Enterprise, is under construction at the Newport News, Va., naval shipyard. Drawing above depicts the carrier under way, while two Navy jets streak past. Work on the huge ship has reached the stage where shielding for the nuclear reactor, which will power the propulsion machinery, is being installed.

Pakistan Aid 152 Million

KARACHI — Pakistan's Government received loans and grants totaling $152,900,000 from the United States last year.

Other countries and agencies that assisted Pakistan were: Canada, $29,300,000; Australia, 5,200,000 pounds; New Zealand, 300,000 pounds; the Ford Foundation, $4,700,000; and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, $112,450,000.

Safety, Self-Sharpened

NORFOLK, Neb. (AP) — Norfolk jeweler Paul Ziegenbein says he has brightened the lives of new mothers by inventing a self-sharpening safety pin.

Accuse 43 in Ghana of Assassination Plot

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—The government accused 43 persons of plotting to kill Prime Minister Kwame Nkrumah and two of his ministers. Twenty were arrested and police hunted the other 23 today.

An official announcement Monday night said the group formed an underground movement known as "Zenith Seven." Its aim was said to be the violent overthrow of the regime following assassination of Nkrumah.

More than 135 million pounds of fish valued at more than 11 million dollars moved through the New England Fish Exchange, which handles every pound of fresh fish landed at Boston.

Army Overseas Tour Available to Enlistees

The Pontiac Army Recruiting Station has announced the scheduling of seven new units for rotation to overseas areas in the near future. A list of vacancies for prior and non-prior service enlistees for direct assignment is now available.

The units are scheduled for service in Europe following a short training period. Any persons interested in the advantages of joining one of these units may contact the Pontiac Recruiting Station.

I'll Seek Re-Election, Says Lynn Bartlett

LANSING (UPI) — Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, said today he will seek re-election in the April 6 general election.

"I have every intention of running again," Bartlett said.

Bartlett said he knew of no opposition to his nomination at the Democratic Party convention, but he said "There may be some."

The Wilsons got married last month. Each day Jim and Anne count the hours 'til they're together. They're eager to share the present . . . happy to dream of the future.

Jim figures that anything so good to come home to needs an extra measure of care. And he intends to provide it.

For one thing, he's already signed up for Blue Cross-Blue Shield protection. Jim knows it offers the most care when it's most needed . . . both today and in the future when youngsters start coming along. It saves him worry about unexpected hospital and medical bills, too.

But how about you? Don't you think your family ought to have the security only Blue Cross-Blue Shield provides? Ask about it, especially the new "M-75" medical plan.
