Diem Promises Congress He'll Keep Fighting Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ngo Dinh Diem told Congress today South Viet Nam, not yet two years old, is in a more critical position than any other free Asian country.

But he pledged to continue the fight against communism.

In a speech prepared for a joint session of Congress, he thanked the United States for its moral and material aid.

"My people appreciate both its great import and its profound significance," he said.

Diem's appearance before Congress followed a meeting with President Eisenhower at the White House to discuss means to safeguard Diem's strategic Southeast Asian country.

He also was invited to lunch with Vice President Nixon at the Capitol. He arranged to receive Secretary of State Dulles in a mid-afternoon call at Blair House.

Tonight he will be the guest of Secretary and Mrs. Dulles at a formal dinner.

NO LONGER PASSIVE

In his speech, the Vietnamese leader said the Asian people are no longer resigned and passive, but are impatient and eager to reduce their "immense technical backwardness."

"They clamor for a rapid and immediate economic development," he added. "The leaders of Asia, whatever their ideologies, are all faced with the tragic urgency of the economic and social problems of their countries."

He said they are now debating whether democratic or totalitarian methods should be adopted to meet their urgent economic needs.

He said the interests of Viet Nam are identical with those of the free world.

"Your and our fight is one and the same," he said. "We, too, will continue to fight communism."

Deadline to File for School Posts

Nominating Petitions Due Saturday; Offices Close 4:30 P.M. Friday

Saturday is the deadline for filing of nominating petitions for school board candidates, but to date none have been turned in at the Pontiac Board of Education office.

Louis H. Schimmel, board president, and Robert B. Oliver, both veteran members, have announced their intentions to seek re-election for four year terms.

In Waterford Township, four candidates already have filed for the two three-year seats at stake. They are Barbara Inglehart, 1312 Hospital Rd.; Charles W. Walters, 6020 Southward Dr.; Elizabeth S. Adams, 2711 W. Walton Blvd.; and Lester K. Carlson, 4131 Grayton St.

Mrs. Adams, board president, is the only incumbent. She has completed one three-year term. The other seat is that of Mrs. William H. Vann, a former board president, who was appointed to complete the unexpired term of Elmer Johnson. She is not seeking election.

Nominating petitions must bear the signatures of 50 school district property owners. While they can be filed as late as Saturday, both the Pontiac and Waterford school offices close at 4:30 p.m. Friday and are not open Saturdays.

The elections will be held June 10, with the two candidates receiving the highest votes elected. There are no run-offs or primaries.

26 Forest Fires Lash Michigan, Raze 750 Acres

New England Mobilizes as Blazes Race Over Timberlands

OSCODA (INS) — There have been 26 forest fires in the Upper Peninsula and the northern part of Lower Michigan in the past 48 hours.

One of the state's worst forest fires in years yesterday burned through 750 acres in the Huron National Forest, 13 miles west of Oscoda.

The blaze consumed a 200-acre stand of 25-year-old red pines and destroyed a ski chalet and equipment shed at the ski bowl near Oscoda.

The fire raged out of control to within two miles of Foot Village, a settlement of 50 or more homes and resort cabins.

It leaped the Au Sable river and burned an additional 200 acres of swampland before being brought under control near a dry plains area.

Wind swept the fire into part of the Alpena State Forest.

Upper Peninsula fires, including a 600-acre blaze three miles north of Escanaba, were reported under control. The Escanaba National Guard unit was called out to battle the flames.

Other fires within the past few days were reported near Rock, Waucedah, Southern Marquette County, Perkins, Crystal Falls, Cisco Lake, Newberry, Menominee County and in Lower Michigan north of a line from Bay City to Muskegon.

BOSTON (INS) — Massachusetts today mobilized an army of men and equipment in a desperate battle against woodland blazes that have swept large areas of the state and forced declaration of a state of emergency.

Little chance of rain to soak tinder-dry woodlands was seen by the Weather Bureau as another hot, dry, windy day threatened to kindle new fires and re-kindle old ones.

The situation in brief:

1. Every adult and every private vehicle in Massachusetts was made liable to emergency service in fighting fires at the discretion of Maj. Gen. John J. McGinnis, head of the state's civil defense forces.

2. A column of fire, six miles wide, advancing on beach resorts south of Plymouth, with an undetermined number of buildings destroyed by flames.

May Close State Forests

OSCODA (INS) — State conservation officials may ask Gov. G. Mennen Williams to close all Michigan forests to the public unless rain ends the threat of fires in the next few days.

Area Group Protests Taxes

60 Women Claim Snub by Williams

About 60 housewives, mostly from Oakland County, went to Lansing yesterday to complain about taxes, and instead found they had kicked off a political scrap.

The lady lobbyists buttonholed legislators but were miffed when shooed away from the governor's office by an aide.

Gov. Williams immediately offered to shake hands with the women, but added he was only willing to speak with a small committee.

The housewives turned him down and said they would return next week with their numbers increased to 500.

As a result of the visit, Sen. Clyde H. Geerlings (R-Holland) rose on the Senate floor to say:

"At the time the women were waiting, the governor had time to shake hands with 200 visiting school children. How is it he didn't have time to see women interested in economy?

"I don't think he had the courage to meet them."

In reply, Sen. Charles S. Blondy (D-Detroit) said he met the women and they had "nothing constructive to offer except they didn't want more taxes."

The women thought differently, however.

Two chartered busloads of them came in a spontaneous movement they said, from several communities, including Walled Lake, Orchard Lake, Novi Township, Birmingham, Pontiac, Bloomfield Township, Farmington and four or five Wayne County cities.

Brewery Men Tell of 'Deals'

Big Dave Gets Scolding From Rackets Probe Group Today

WASHINGTON (INS) — Anheuser-Busch brewery officials admitted today the firm had "abnormal relationships" with Teamsters' boss Dave Beck and were accused of working to the detriment of Union members and the company's competitors.

Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) issued the sharp reprimand at a Senate rackets committee hearing after John L. Wilson, executive vice president of the St. Louis brewery, told of seeking Beck's aid to help settle a 1954 strike and determine wage demands of California workers.

Dwight David Ingamells, general counsel for Anheuser-Busch, also testified that Beck's powerful Union position played an important role in the award of a big Budweiser distributorship to Dave Beck Jr.

The elder Beck has been accused of misappropriating $322,000 in Union funds and otherwise using his Union position for personal advantage.

Wilson identified a telegram sent by Beck to Anheuser-Busch stating he would "insist" that the National Building Trades president intervene in a Los Angeles strike involving the brewery and other unions. Beck assured the company there "will not be a tie-up" in Los Angeles.

Wilson said he could not recall exactly when the Los Angeles labor dispute was settled but conceded that it was "about the time" that Beck stepped into the dispute.

Committee council Robert F. Kennedy told Wilson this action proved "Mr. Beck's interests were close to yours and not in the interest of Union members."

Wilson also said that he conferred with Beck in Chicago to determine whether brewery firms would hold fast in opposition to Teamsters' Union wage demands. He said he wanted to find out whether one brewery might settle the dispute by itself and force other companies to meet the demand for higher wages.

It was the second day of a new series of hearings. On the first, there was testimony that Beck got his son established in the beer and liquor distributing business in Seattle when junior came out of the Army in 1946.

Michigan Enters Courthouse Suit

Attorney General Says He Won't Take Sides in Oakland Case

The state yesterday intervened in the lawsuit tying up construction of a new Oakland County courthouse.

Attorney Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh said his office did not expect to take sides in the case.

"There's a large number of legal questions concerning the way in which building funds have been collected," Kavanagh said. "We want to see the taxpayers and the people protected."

Kavanagh said he was requested to step into the suit by Auditor General Frank S. Szymanski.

"We've reviewed the charges for some time, and hope ultimately to get a Supreme Court decision," Kavanagh said.

The Oakland County Taxpayers' League, an independent group, brought the suit against the Board of Supervisors, charging the board with padding budgets and then illegally transferring surpluses to its building fund for a new courthouse.

NO COMMENT

Szymanski was not available for comment. His deputy, Alfred H. Lawrence, said intervention was requested in an attempt to solve a number of controversial issues.

"We would like to have a court decision on just how much money can go into building funds without the express vote of the people," Lawrence said.

One of the issues, he said, is

Civic Groups Back 'Yes' Hospital Vote

Ten Pontiac area civic, labor and business organizations — representing thousands of persons — have endorsed a "yes" vote for the May 20 city hospital election issues.

Endorsements have been made by: Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, League of Women Voters, Pontiac General Hospital Women's Auxiliary, Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council, the Pastors' Assn., The Rema, the Oakland County Medical Assn. Auxiliary, the Manufacturers' Assn., Oakland County CIO Council and the Board of Directors of the Retail Merchants Assn.

According to Carroll L. Osmun, chairman of a new Volunteer Hospital Committee, the groups have gone on record in recent meetings as favoring passage of three hospital issues on the ballot.

"However," Osmun added, "they are all strongly in favor of voters accepting all six propositions on the ballot."

Voters this month will decide a $4,550,000 general obligation bond issue and a corresponding one mill to be added to the city's tax structure.

The bond issue will be divided into $1,500,000 for equipping and completing the city hospital $330,000 for a 300-unit parking lot at the hospital, and $2,700,000 for partially defraying the cost of enlarging the city's sewage treatment plant system.

The hospital committee was organized this month to seek public support of the hospital propositions. However, it too favors approval of all six issues on the ballot.

Temperature to Dip, Showers to Fall

Grab rain gear and warmer garb, Pontiac residents. The weatherman has predicted showers and thunderstorms this evening and cooler with a chance of occasional showers tomorrow.

The low tonight will be 46 to 50, with the mercury expected to climb to a high of only 56 to 60 tomorrow, as compared with yesterday's high reading of 80 degrees.

The lowest temperature recorded in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 57. The mercury registered 78 at 2 p.m.

Board Meeting Tonight to Make Loan Decision

Financial Crisis Due to Delay in State Aid, Hassle Over Bonds

Delays in state aid and a legal hassle concerning Michigan bond issues will force the Pontiac Board of Education to borrow an undetermined amount to finish out its fiscal year.

The board meets tonight to decide how much to borrow in the form of tax anticipation notes.

Reason for the money shortage, according to Superintendent Dana P. Whitmer is that the state has not delivered its final quarter instalment of school aid.

The state had promised Michigan school districts $190 per child, but sales tax revenue fell far below predictions. The result is the schools are shortchanged from $19 to $24 a child.

School officials, Whitmer said, are anticipating the Legislature will make good the missing funds with a deficiency appropriation tacked onto House Bill 371 which sets aid levels for next year.

Another headache, Whitmer added, is a legal wrangle which has effectively prevented sale of a $2.7 million bond issue which Pontiac School System had hoped to sell by now.

The matter concerns the legality of a state constitutional amendment under which some local bond issues have been issued.

The Pontiac bonds are not being offered under this disputed section, Whitmer said, but bond buyers are steering clear of all Michigan issues until the matter is settled.

"It will be about a month before the Supreme Court acts on this case which is still in the lower court," the superintendent continued, "and we won't offer our bonds until then."

Without the bond money in hand, the school board lacks funds to pay contractors now working on local school construction, he said.

"We are not as bad off as some school districts," Whitmer added, "because we have a contingency fund to draw on, but we are going to need additional money before everything straightens out."

Other matters before the board tonight will be the choice of inspectors for the school election June 10, and the opening of bids for rehabilitation projects at several older schools.

Otto Hufziger, assistant superintendent, will give progress reports on the new high school, the Franklin road school site and the parking situation near the senior high school.

Ezio Pinza, 64, Succumbs in Sleep

Opera, Musical Star Dies

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Ezio Pinza, who became a Broadway matinee idol as the middle-aged lover of "South Pacific" after a quarter century of international opera fame, died in his sleep today at the age of 64.

Death came to the handsome, six-foot grandfather at 2 a.m. at his home here. His wife and children were at his bedside.

His physician, Dr. David H. Fogel, said the former Metropolitan Opera basso, "passed quietly in his sleep."

The doctor said death followed a stroke suffered April 30, after which Pinza "gradually went down hill."

WON ACCLAIM

From there he went on to win acclaim in opera houses on both sides of the Atlantic.

His romantic lead as the planter playing opposite Mary Martin in the musical comedy "South Pacific," which opened in 1949, made him a symbol of mature sex appeal to women from bobby-soxers to grandmothers and gave inspiration to other aging fellows whose hearts were still warm. His "Some Enchanted Evening" became a theme song.

EZIO PINZA

Pinza had suffered two heart attacks. One was at Vervia, Italy Aug. 26, 1956, which kept him in an Italian hospital for a short time. The second came at his home here last Dec. 3. He was in critical condition for about three weeks then at Greenwich, Conn., hospital.

In addition to the doctor, those at Pinza's bedside when he died were his wife, the former Doris Leak; their two daughters, Clelia, 15, and Gloria, 6, and their son, Peter, 13.

STARTED AT 18

He never thought of singing as a life work until 18 — an age when most opera fledglings have amassed a decade of sober study.

Serving Term in Jackson After '53 Case

New Trial Sought by Convict

By PETE LOCHBILER

Michael J. Gisondi, one of two men convicted of the 1952 "revenge" murder of a Hazel Park tavern owner and his son, has petitioned Circuit Court for a new trial.

A hearing is scheduled for 1:30 p.m. Monday before Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland, who four years ago sentenced Gisondi, 28, and his alleged partner, Harold Hummell, 26, to life imprisonment for first-degree murder.

Gisondi, of Eagle near Lansing, and Hummell, a former Detroiter, were convicted by jury March 2, 1953 of the fatal shooting the previous Aug. 18 of Vidos Vinokurow, 60, and his son, Joseph, 31, in their Oak Gardens tavern, 21630 John R, Hazel Park.

Gisondi's petition, Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said, is based on his testimony during trial that he was not at the tavern and wasn't involved in the shooting.

GETS HEADLINES

Hummell, whose name returned to the headlines when accused of burning a fellow-inmate to death at Marquette State Prison last fall, gave the same testimony as Gisondi's.

But it was brought out during trial, Taylor said, that this was in contradiction to an earlier statement in which Hummell incriminated Gisondi.

While on the stand, Hummell explained this contradiction by saying he had originally thought Gisondi had "squealed" on him.

RECALLS SEARCH

Monday's court action recalls the nationwide search following the crime. Both men had escaped from Ionia State Reformatory less than a month before the killings.

MICHAEL J. GISONDI

A break in the case came with the story of a 16-year-old Indiana girl that Hummell and Gisondi had confessed the murders to her during their flight from the state.

The FBI arrested Gisondi in San Diego, Calif. early in September and Hummell was picked up in a small Arkansas town a week later.

APPEARS IN COURT

Extradited here, Hummell appeared in court as a self-styled cowboy, wearing a western outfit and calling himself a modern-day Billy the Kid.

While in Oakland County Jail, he was accused as the leader of an attempted jail break.

He openly boasted about the killings, claiming that the younger Vinokurow had welched on Hummell's share of some racetrack bets.

TELLS STORY

Hummell willingly told the story of his early days as a racetrack stable boy and later as a prize fighter. He said once he would "never be taken alive."

Hummell had been convicted of armed robbery and was serving time in Jackson Prison when transferred to Ionia, where he met Gisondi, the less colorful of the pair.

Gisondi steadily maintained his innocence throughout the criminal proceedings.

However, the 1953 jury's decision against Gisondi was seen as a strong point for Monday's hearing, Taylor said. The court record shows, he explained, that Judge Holland explicitly told the jury not to convict Gisondi unless persuaded beyond a reasonable doubt of his guilt.

REMAINS IN JAIL

While the hearing takes place, Gisondi will remain at Jackson Prison, where he and Hummell were sentenced by Judge Holland.

Hummell subsequently gained a bad prison record and was transferred to the tougher prison at Marquette.

He was charged with throwing an inflammable fluid into the cell of James Wiley Hudson last Nov. 17, while Hudson slept and touching it off with a match.

Hudson, a convicted killer and a leader of the 1952 Jackson Prison riots, died after reportedly naming Hummell as his attacker.

Area Women Claim Snub by Governor of school money, increasing family tax burdens, and Gov. Williams' proposed corporations profits tax.

A spokesman, Mrs. Norma Popek of Orchard Lake, said the list of interested woman had grown to 500, and more would have attended yesterday except that "many mothers had baby-sitting problems."

Mrs. Popek, a mother of four, said originally only two carloads had been planned, but the number increased rapidly when the word got around.

The incident at Williams' office came at the end of an all-day tour.

Women had spoken individually with legislators in the morning, lunched with many of the lawmakers at noon, and then appeared formally in the House and Senate in the afternoon.

When they appeared in the governor's outer office, an administrative assistant, John Sweeney, told them the governor had a busy schedule and couldn't give them an audience.

CHILDREN APPEAR

About that time, the children began marching through to get their quick handshake.

The women's delegation retreated with scathing comments, and Sweeney followed them out into the corridor with offers of a meeting of the governor and four or five women, or else a reception such as the children had.

Both offers were angrily rejected.

"Where do you have to go to meet the governor," one woman remarked, "a CIO picnic?"

Press Secretary Paul Weber said the offers were standard procedure in the office and were made to prevent overcrowding of the limited seating capacity.

The Day in Birmingham

Classrooms May Be Added With No Tax Increase

BIRMINGHAM—Louis A. Bauer, chairman of the Citizens Committee on Education, has submitted the group's latest report that brings good news to taxpayers in the district.

A survey has revealed the additional classrooms that will be needed over the next three years, can be provided at no increase in taxes. The complete recommendations and findings were accepted by the board of education at its Tuesday meeting.

The board accepted the committee's recommendation that voters be asked to grant authority to sell $6,800,000 worth of unlimited tax bonds at the June 10 election. The building program, through 1960, would thus be financed.

Included in the projected plans would be the construction of a new 20-room elementary school on a site already owned by Westchester Village, south of Maple avenue and west of Cranbrook road.

A new junior high school, to accommodate 1,500 students and planned to take 2000 if needed. This site is yet to be acquired.

Rehabilitation of the 40-year-old Baldwin School to extend its useful life as an elementary school as long as needed, and whatever other uses the board of education designates beyond that time.

A service building on land now owned at the corner of Eton road and Lincoln avenue. This would serve to house buses, store cafeteria and school supplies and the consolidation of service shops.

Calling these the "minimum requirements," Bauer said all are based on enrollment facts.

Baldwin school presents one of the major problems of the plan. The committee reports that some consideration was given the idea of selling it, and using the fund toward other building. The plan was discarded in favor of keeping Baldwin in the system.

Architects have assured the committee that the school can be rehabilitated and put into a condition that will permit its being compared favorably with other schools in the district.

Helicopters Rescue 4 From Roofs in Texas

DALLAS (AP)—Helicopters flew to the rescue of at least four persons marooned on rooftops at Christoval, 20 miles south of San Angelo, today after a cloudburst dumped more than seven inches of rain on that resort city.

Flooding Pecan Creek inundated the highway between the two cities and knocked out communications lines.

Blinding downpours, so heavy they halted traffic, also fell between Snyder and Big Spring last night.

Know the Weather

BY E. H. SIMS

The jetstreams are still something of a mystery but more is being learned about them every year. During World War II, U.S. pilots were surprised to discover they sometimes suddenly encountered fast-moving air currents, or streams, which affected their speed considerably. This was always at high altitude.

These air currents flow generally west to east, like the weather. They sometimes shift south and north, as weather fronts do, changing with the seasons, to different latitudes during different times of the year.

An Air Force bomber, hitching a lift on one of them this year, crossed the country in something over three hours, west to east. In the Pacific an airline found that utilizing an air stream over that ocean eliminated one fuel stop, and cut flying time appreciably.

Just why jet streams form, and how, are still questions not fully answered. But they are up there and often flow at a speed of 100 knots, or better. The airlines plan to take increasing advantage of them. Some experts believe they exert an influence on our weather, or at least represent symptoms of changing patterns of weather.

Chrysler Vote Favors Strike

Detroit Paper Reports Company Will Receive Tank Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Stamping division employes of Chrysler Corp. voted 15,306 to 549 in favor of striking over job security and other grievances, Pat Caruso, president of Local 212, United Auto Workers, announced today.

Caruso said the vote will be submitted to the international executive board of the UAW in Detroit. Any strike action has to be approved by the international union under the UAW constitution. Local 212 has about 23,000 members.

The strike vote was conducted by secret ballot yesterday and today.

Unauthorized strikes resulted in closing of three Chrysler divisions in the Detroit area last Friday and since then there have been sporadic walkouts.

WAKE OF SUIT

The strike decision came in the wake of a company five million dollar damage suit and an appeal from Walter Reuther for "restraint" and maintenance of "normal operations."

A Detroit paper reported from Washington today that a contract for 900 medium tanks "will be awarded Chrysler Corp. before the end of the week."

The manufacturing operations, the News said it learned, will be in the Detroit arsenal, now idle. The newspaper added the tank contract was expected to make more than 1,500 jobs.

Chrysler was left as the only bidder still in the field when Alco products withdrew from negotiations a few days ago, the News said.

Top Michigan Dems Meet at Haven Hill

Top echelon Michigan Democrats gathered today at Haven Hill Lodge for discussions on politics and state government.

Their talks may lay the foundation at least for selection later of the candidates the party will send against U. S. Sen. Charles E. Potter in 1958.

Gov. Williams' future will be discussed, as will that of incumbents and aspiring elected state officials.

The three days of parleying was to focus at the start on how Democrats should meet immediate state problems.

On today's agenda were highways, education, mental and public health, the aging and state taxation and finance, issues on which Democrats and Republicans currently are locked in legislative conflict.

News Flashes

LONDON (AP) — The British Air Ministry said a U. S. Air Force KC97 aerial tanker plane with seven fliers aboard, ditched in the Atlantic Ocean 500 miles west of the Azores today. Headquarters of the U. S. 12th Air Force here announced later that a raft carrying the seven crewmen had been spotted by a search plane several hundred miles off the Spanish coast.

Three U. S. Navy ships were racing to the scene after leaving a convoy 100 miles from the ditching point. All shipping in the area was alerted. Weather in the area was reported bad.

SANDUSKY, Ohio (AP)—A Michigan couple was killed instantly today when their car went off the Ohio Turnpike, about four miles west of Sandusky-Norwalk interchange. The Turnpike Patrol identified the victims as Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Shreve of Rt. 1, near Charlotte.

Mrs. Shreve, 52, was driving, the Patrol said, when the car went off to the left into a wide medial strip, traveled "a considerable distance" and dropped 25 feet down a gradual decline to a Baltimore & Ohio Railroad right of way, ending up against a concrete pillar of a bridge over the B&O track.

Link 2 More Boys to Royal Oak Bomb

A second pair of boys arrested last Monday in connection with the Dondero High Oak School "bombing" at Royal Oak admitted their parts in the plot today.

A 14-year-old told Det. George Tedder of the Royal Oak Police force that he had made gun powder which he tried to sell to the "school bombers."

A second juvenile, 15 informed Tedder that he had exploded several bombs and rockets in vacant fields in Royal Oak.

The first pair of boys, arrested May 1 after a smoking bomb was extinguished in a third floor classroom at Dondero, are in the Oakland County Children's Home. They are scheduled to appear before Judge Arthur Moore.

Takes Over Schools

MUSKEGON (AP) — Richard B. Warren held office today as superintendent of Muskegon public schools, succeeding veteran educator C. W. Bemer, who resigned.

The school board yesterday granted Bemer's request that his resignation be given immediate effect instead of waiting until June 30, his scheduled retirement date.

Gives Tips on Courting

LONDON (INS) — An English grammar school headmaster was chided today by a London newspaper for giving teenagers "helpful talks on courting." The Daily Sketch noted that "courting is an art youngsters have to learn for themselves and there is no fear that they will

Interservice Efforts Land Unusual Catch

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)—Interservice cooperation landed an unusual catch from a fishing pier here yesterday.

Maj. Joe S. Tubbs of Ft. Story and Lt. (jg) R. R. Cathcart of the Little Creek Naval Amphibious Base were fishing when a loon grabbed the bait and snarled both lines.

The bird was hauled in and released. After all, birds are out of season — especially where a fishing license is involved.

Amsterdam Tourists See Reclamation

Amsterdam Tourists here see the reclamation works designed to turn Ysel Lake into a vast farmland. The road passes through the twin fishing villages of Spaknburg and Bunschoten, where life remains largely untouched by the ways of the 20th Century. In contrast is the modern town of Hilversum with its lovely villas, perfect gardens and streamlined towers.

Amsterdam is just overnight from New York via airlines. They operate daily flights at a round-trip tourist fare of $558. Schiphol Airport, just outside Amsterdam, one of the most modern in Europe, is exactly 13 feet below sea level.

Higher Prices on Talent Aid New Tunesmiths

NEW YORK (AP)—Higher prices on song-writing talent are giving a lot of newcomers a chance at breaking into the Broadway musical big-time, trade magazine Variety reports.

Top tunesmiths get 10 per cent of boxoffice gross, and usually get a share of the show because of prestige, compared to a six per cent minimum for tyros.

The result is that at least five new teams have been hired by producers to show their stuff in show business sector dominated by Rodgers & Hammerstein, Cole Porter, Frank Loesser and Irving Berlin.

Voters Reject Tax Hike

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Voters Tuesday turned down a proposed 4½-mill increase in taxes for school expenses. The vote was 3,553 in favor of the increase; 3,686 against. Part of the increase was planned for higher teachers' salaries.

A new five year industrialization plan drafted in Egypt has as its main theme a raise in the standard of living for the working classes, Cario reports.

West Germany, Britain 'Agree'

Macmillan, Adenauer Say Their Main Policy Aims Coincide

BONN (AP)—British Prime Minister Macmillan and West German Chancellor Adenauer announced today they are "in full agreement on the main aims of their policies."

A communique issued after two days of talks here made no mention of differences still existing over Britain's plans to cut her forces in Germany. But a diplomatic source said the two government chiefs had moved "much closer together" on the question after starting out "miles apart."

Apparently the West Germans still hope to get a modification of the British plan. The communique said West German Defense Minister Franz Josef Strauss will visit London soon to "discuss defense questions of mutual interest."

It also said Macmillan and Adenauer had agreed on the "need for NATO to retain an effective deterrent against aggression, including an adequate shield of land, sea and air forces for the protection of the territory of the member states."

The question apparently was what constitutes an "adequate shield."

Britain already has started carrying out its plan for withdrawing nearly 30,000 men from its army in Germany and trimming the supporting tactical air force by nearly half. The move resulted from Britain's desire to reduce defense expenditures and at the same time streamline its forces for the nuclear age.

Adenauer urged a halt to any more troop withdrawals until NATO makes a detailed review of the European defense position. One top German military planner insisted that what is wanted on Germany's attack-vulnerable northern plain is manpower now and not atomic weapons in the future.

Artist Blames Hollywood for Derailing His Career

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Hollywood ruined me," said Harry Lachman, a famous painter who became a film director and now at 71 has returned to his brush and easel.

Never heard of Harry Lachman?

Well, he was a pioneer impressionist whose works hang in half a dozen leading museums and won him the French Legion of Honor. Opera singer Mary Garden once bought one of his paintings with a $3,000 check she had just received for singing "Aida." Endorsing the check to Lachman she said, "Art for art!"

SHIRLEY'S DIRECTOR

Remember "Baby Take a Bow," the picture that springboarded Shirley Temple to stardom? Lachman directed it.

Actually, Lachman, a slender, wry witted man with fabulous memories, has had five successful careers—as illustrator, photographer, impressionist painter, movie director and businessman.

Born in La Salle, Ill., and orphaned at 4, he never attended an art school in his life.

"But at 19 I was a magazine illustrator selling covers to the Saturday Evening Post and Cosmopolitan," he recalled.

Then he switched to the still camera and became one of Chicago's top photographers of children. One of his best portraits was of a sensitive - faced child named Dickie Loeb, later to grow up and become the partner of Nathan Leopold in an infamous murder.

PAINTED IN PARIS

Soon after, Lachman went to Paris where he painted for 18 memorable years as a contemporary of Monet, Renoir, Matisse, Rodin and Modigliani.

Modigliani, slowly starving and soon to die by his own hand, mistook Lachman for a tourist at their first meeting, offered to paint his portrait for one franc.

"At that time he was even giving his paintings away for haircuts," said Lachman grimly. "Now they are priceless."

Lachman sold 45 of the 55 paintings at his first one-man show, including two to the Luxembourg Museum.

He accepted an invitation by director Rex Ingram to help make "Mare Nostrum," then became a director himself.

"Then I am taken to Hollywood, and I am ruined," he said ruefully. "I made a really great picture with Spencer Tracy called 'Face in the Sky.' The critics said it was 'an artistic gem,' a frightful thing to say about a picture then."

NOVELTY MAKER

Lachman then became a successful novelty manufacturer. Last year he took up painting again at the urging of Armand Hammer, a Manhattan art gallery owner, and Mrs. Grace Robinson, former wife of Edward G. Robinson, movie actor.

Lachman, who has an exhibit now at the Hammer Gallery, is exuberant because he feels he has regained his old mastery of the brush.

"It was a mistake ever to give it up," he mourned. "The films were not worth it. I lost 30 years out of my life."

Blossoms Expected to Be in Full Bloom

HOLLAND (AP)—City Park Superintendent Dick Smallenburg today described park tulips "in fine shape" and said many would be in bloom by the weekend.

Holland, which celebrates its famous tulip time festival May 15-18, maintains about eight miles of tulip lanes throughout the city.

Smallenburg also predicted the city's Japanese cherry trees would be in bloom for the weekend to provide a colorful preview for festival visitors.

TOY BANKS — 4. The Terrible Giant

Toy banks were made in enormous numbers from around 1870 onwards. They held their great popularity for about 30 years; by 1910, however, they began to disappear. Today only a tiny number of the thousands of toy banks made during their heyday can still be found.

The little mechanical banks usually cost one or two dollars, but some as much as $4.50. The livelier the action, the more popular — and costlier — the banks were. Many foundries had designers busy just to satisfy the demand.

Here's a popular example, the Terrible Giant. Paste this picture down on cardboard and color with crayons. Cut out the parts. Put a small box behind the base and as you drop the coin, swing the giant's arm with the club. (First, of course, you must attach the arm tab by a brass fastener behind the belt buckle. Push the tongue straight out through the slit in the mouth — from the back. Fold down at the dotted line X. From behind, fold forward along dotted line Z and push this part out front through the slit in chest. Paste to chest at dotted space above slit.

Hot-Weather Theater Viewed in New Book

NEW YORK (AP)—Curiosity made David Dachs write a book—the first cross-country guide for theater fans to summertime show business.

"The popularity of hot-weather theater is growing constantly," explains Dachs, "but no one ever got all the information into one place for fans who like to go traveling on vacation and see shows too."

Dachs has been compiling his data for two years, and in "Straw Hat 1957" lists barns, tents, festivals and pageants in 34 states and also Canada, plus where to stay and where to eat.

Congress Again Asked to Return Nazi Assets

In January 1946, the United States and 17 Allied nations, excluding Russia and Poland, signed the Paris agreement setting forth the ratio of German assets they would control in lieu of reparations.

These were but a small part of the true reparations and the Allies also agreed to limit their demand to enemy assets within the boundaries of the respective Allied nations. The assets were to be disposed of in a manner to assure that they would never return to German ownership or control.

Congress in 1948 indorsed the Paris agreement by passing the War Claims Act which stated that German and Japanese assets should not be returned nor should their former owners be compensated. Congress further stipulated that enemy assets should be liquidated and the proceeds used to pay war claims of Americans, such as civilian internees or captured service men.

In the Bonn Convention of 1952, approved by the Senate, the West German Republic joined the U.S., Britain and France in an agreement that the seized assets should not be returned. The West German government agreed to compensate its own nationals for their losses. West Germany has not done so and pressure again is being brought on Congress to scrap the agreement, says a Washington correspondent for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Each session since President Eisenhower took office Senator Dirksen, Illinois Republican, has been arguing for the return of German assets. This year the bill bears the name of Sen. Olin Johnston, South Carolina Democrat. If it should be approved, the cost to the American taxpayer would be about one billion dollars.

Florida's Democratic Senator Smathers is fighting the Dirksen-Johnston bill. He has been joined by Sen. Hennings, Missouri Democrat. The Department of Justice supports their stand that the bill would reverse policies agreed on by both branches of the Government by the German government as well. It also would discriminate against our Allies who thus might be put under pressure to take similar action.

In 1954 and 1955 a German lobby in Washington spent $750,000 trying to regain one property—the General Aniline Corporation — an I. G. Farben company. General Aniline on which bids are now being taken, is valued at $110 million.

Senator Smathers contends that pressures on Congress have been brought by the former director of I. G. Farben and prominent figure in the Hitler regime, Dr. Herman J. Abs. Two Washington law firms are carrying on the campaign for German clients.

If this iniquitous bill goes through, our former enemies would get $600 million, most of it going to German war industrialists who helped Hitler. The United States taxpayers also would have to pay $400 million for war claims of individual Americans against Germany.

There doesn't seem to be any justification whatever for such a measure.

India and Kashmir

The U.N. Security Council in 1949 authorized a plebiscite of the people of Kashmir on the question of joining India or Pakistan.

India's Prime Minister Nehru agreed to this but later blocked the idea and "incorporated" the territory without any vote of the Kashmiris. India justified this by saying that Pakistan in joining the Southeast Treaty Organization and the Baghdad Pact and in accepting U.S. military aid had made the incorporation necessary. Pakistan's action, of course, has nothing to do with the Kashmiri question.

Sweden's representative on the Security Council, Ghnnar Jarring, has just returned from a mission to India and Pakistan to discuss further steps in resolving the conflict. Pakistan agreed to his proposals in principle but Nehru's reply indicates that he considers the matter closed.

The Man About Town

It Goes to Macomb

Top Adult Scouting Event of 1957 to Be at Utica

Fair weather: What it is always when good fellows get together —the storm doesn't break until they get home.

The cordial good feeling that always has existed between Oakland and Macomb Counties in Boy Scout work is exemplified in the 1957 annual dinner of the grownups in which will be held in the latter county. This is the biggest adult get together of the year in the council, when the top scouters and their wives break bread together and lay plans for the well nigh 10,000 youngsters and oldsters in their work of manhood building during the ensuing year.

For many years it has been held in Pontiac or at some other Oakland County point. But this year it goes to Utica, where it will take place at Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church at 6:45 on the evening of May 16. The speaker is to be

Harry D. Hoey,

Headmaster of Cranbrook School. Silver beaver and other awards, and election of officers will complete the program.

Here's a personal tribute to

whose funeral will be held at Oxford Friday. For 30 years a correspondent of this paper, she also assisted her late husband for many years in conducting the lunch wagon at farm auctions in the Pontiac area, and was known and loved by thousands of people.

Although not yet completed, the new

already is attracting outside attention. The City of Dearborn is planning to spend a million dollars in a similar way, and sent a delegation here, headed by its safety director, to make a study of the building which they frankly admitted has some features beyond their budget limitations.

By gathering moths last autumn, and bringing them into the heat of her home at staggered intervals, of Birmingham has had butterflies hatching out all winter. But Wednesday morning she had her most joyous surprise. A cocoon that had dried up and appeared dead burst out in a yellow and black tiger butterfly with a wingspread of four inches.

Mrs. Winnifred Hilliker

An East Detroit man purchased the sodding for the lawn at his new home, and it looked beautiful. But when the family was away for a weekend somebody stole the sodding. Could that happen in Pontiac?

Now that the Leonard black panther scare has been revived, my good friend, manager of the Royal Oak Zoo renews his offer to pass judgment on photos of any footprints which the animal is alleged to have left.

Frank McInnis,

This Ought to Be a Beauty

David Lawrence Says:

U. S. Ignored Same Budget in '56

WASHINGTON — It's curious what a difference only 16 months makes in the public attitude toward the very same issue—the budget problem.

LAWRENCE

Who, for instance, except a handful in Congress, protested in January 1956 when President Eisenhower submitted his estimates for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1957? Yet that budget is hardly any different from the one he has proposed for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1958, which now is under attack.

Judging by the furor which has swept the country, the people have been led to believe that the $71.8-billion budget for the coming fiscal year is a record for "peacetime"—as if the "cold war," with its enormous military expense constitutes a normal era. Yet in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1953—six months after President Eisenhower took over from the Truman administration—the Federal budget was $74.2 billion.

Going back to the atmosphere that prevailed in January 1956, one can reread the newspapers of that month and find therein lots of commendation for the President's budget. Most significant is the recognition at that time that the Eisenhower administration had done a good job of trimming the budget.

SAME BUDGET

In fact, when that same budget, submitted to Congress in January 1956, was started on the long process of preparation, which covers 18 months, a recession or economic "readjustment," as it was then called, had been going on since 1954.

The fact is that there was a reversal noted in January 1956 of the previous trend and a resumption of "spending." It was due largely to the critical situation abroad and to growth of the programs already authorized by previous Congresses.

The best way to obtain an understanding of the whole problem of budget-making is to compare the record for the fiscal year 1953 and what now is being proposed for the fiscal year 1958.

EXAMINE EXPENDITURES

How did it happen, for instance, that the total budget was $74.2 billion in 1953 and now it is proposed to spend less—namely, $71.8 billion—for 1958? The only way to get an answer is to examine the expenditures for national security and the total of all the other operations.

In 1953 the government spent $52.8 billion for national security and proposes to spend for the same items next year $45.8 billion. That's a saving due largely to the ending of the Korean War.

How does this compare, then, with the fiscal year 1957 which ends this June? The national security total was $43.3 billion for 1957, and now it is up to $45.8 billion for 1958. Foreign aid and military assistance for 1958 are less than for 1957. The international situation has required more money for planes and guided missiles. The Russians are reported gaining in air power. Congress itself added $960,000,000 more for airplanes last year than the President had requested.

CAUSE INCREASE

Looking at the non-defense total for 1953, we find $21.7 billion. Then, in 1956, it went up to $25.5 billion and for the next year it is estimated by the President at $26 billion. The increase from 1953 is directly due to farm aid, veterans benefits, higher interest rates and programs enacted by Congress in the last four years.

When the non-defense expenditures are separated into categories, it is found that, compared to 1957 fiscal year, veterans benefits are up $176,000,000. Who in Congress will do battle with the veterans organizations if he wants to retain his seat?

In social welfare—which includes pension and retirement programs, public assistance, health projects, and the like—there's an increase of $506,000,000 as compared with 1957. Few men in Congress will vote for repeal of these growing items.

The bill for agriculture is up $264,000,000, as compared with the previous year. Who in Congress will vote to turn down farm aids?

When percentages are applied, it will be discovered that 36.2 per cent of next year's budget is for non-defense items, as compared with 37.1 per cent the previous year—a decrease.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Enlarged Tonsils Natural; They Ward Off Infection

"My little boy will be 3 next month and the doctor says his tonsils should be removed this summer, as they are diseased. Two children in our town died during this operation, and we are therefore greatly worried. Yet we are fearful that rheumatic fever or something of the sort may develop from the tonsils as they are." . . . (R.L.M.)

DR. BRADY

Children 2 to 10 years of age have one or two attacks of sore throat or tonsillitis in the course of the coddling season (winter and spring) whether their tonsils have been hacked out or not.

In some instances, children who have been subjected to the atrocity known as "tonsillectomy" may have only mild or no sore throat afterward; but in as many or more instances, they continue to have recurrent attacks of sore throat or tonsillitis.

The truth is that the enlarged (hypertrophied) tonsils of children are usually not "diseased" at all, but merely enlarged. This enlargement is a manifestation of health.

It is nature's way of protecting the child from infection, particularly from the CRI—common respiratory infections—which account for most "diseases of childhood," including poliomyelitis.

NEVER TONSILLECTOMY

Children SHOULD have enlarged tonsils at this time of the year. Only when there is obstruction of breathing or impairment of hearing by the enlarged tonsils is surgery advisable—and then only minor surgery, not the major operation called tonsillectomy.

What the child needs is tonsillotomy, which is instantaneous, as safe as extraction of a tooth, and as effective in every respect as the dangerous tonsillectomy.

Tonsillotomy, a minor operation, may be done in the doctor's office, with or without anesthesia. It consists in placing the ring of the tonsillotome (a guillotine-like gadget) around the portion of tonsil that is to be sliced off, pulling the trigger, and the operation is over.

GIVE BOY CHANCE

R.L.M. should give her little boy a reprieve. There is no urgency—unless the doctor becomes impatient. Just see to it that he gets his daily cod liver oil—a teaspoonful every day. He will probably take it without difficulty if his elders do not manifest any repugnance to it.

If he will not take it straight, one of the mixtures of cod liver oil with malt syrup, equal parts, a dessertspoonful a day, may please him.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Drop Blood Pressure With Weight

Charley streamlined his figure by shedding 36 lbs. of excess weight. Meanwhile, his blood pressure also dropped by 29 points. And he slept more soundly. In fact, he found he was as refreshed after eight hours of slumber as he previously had felt after nine, so scrapbook this case and prolong your own lifespan, too.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-376: Charley N., aged 47, is the fat sales executive with a blood pressure of 174 whom I described yesterday.

CRANE

He agreed to follow my dehydration diet, although he first asked me to give him drugs to take off his weight.

Personally, I am not so fond of the drug method. I've tried it myself on several occasions, and I don't like the excessive load it places on the heart.

For example, I recently used one of our modern medical prescriptions to help dieters.

But my heart, which normally runs 70 beats per minute, was racing at 92 beats all day.

Even when I retired at midnight and was otherwise relaxed, my pulse was still 92.

So why penalize your faithful heart in this manner to lose a few pounds when you can do it more sensibly without drugs?

After explaining this to Charley, I persuaded him to limit his food to 1,200 calories per day, of which he was to take 500 in protein items. And he was to ration himself the first day to one total glass of liquids.

KILL HUNGER

"One of the best ways to kill hunger is to dry up your saliva and your gastric juice," I warned him.

"So restrict your fluids. And even then, take your liquids between meals."

We human beings are rare among mammals in routinely flushing down our food with liquid at meal time.

Most animals eat their food dry; then later seek a drink of water.

But we grab a doughnut or sweet roll at breakfast and bite down a couple of times; then take a swig of coffee or milk to wash it down.

Even if you don't want to pay attention to calories, if you will resolutely refrain from taking any liquids at meal time, you'll automatically reduce your caloric intake without intending to do so.

For you will lose interest in doughnuts, rolls, cake and even bread, to a large degree, if you can't moisten these substances to flush them down the hatch.

CHARLEY'S REPORT

Charley reported to my office at the end of the first 10 days. He felt exultant for he was actually down 12 pounds.

This was partly fluid loss from his dehydration schedule, but after these first 10 days he now could drink normally.

Meanwhile, his food quota was now raised from 1,200 calories daily to 1,600.

"That seems rather bountiful," he grinned, "especially after I got on to your system of omitting all fluids at meal time.

"For I have learned to drink between meals. And I find I fill up on less calories if I must chew my food instead of flushing it down with coffee."

Three months later, Charley again reported. His weight was now down from the original 196, to 170.

He had lost 26 pounds. But what was even better, his blood pressure had meanwhile dropped from 174 to 155.

And when he finally levelled off in weight at 160 pounds his blood pressure levelled off, too, at 145.

"What's more," he added, "I don't require as much sleep now as I did when I was fatter. I feel just as rested on eight hours as I used to on nine."

That reduction in necessary sleep time is true in most dieters, I have noted it myself when I have lost weight. For the blood stream isn't cluttered up with as much excess waste products, so we bounce back to normal faster.

So send for the Diet Chart mentioned yesterday, enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

City Symphony Program Brings Residents' Praise

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

It was with great delight, pleasure and pride that I left Lincoln Junior High where our symphony orchestra gave the first performance of the Chippewa Symphony by Oakland County's own composer, Celia Merrill Turner. It is a work with a program, with real characteristic music of the character involved and, for a symphony, it is unusually melodious.

The fact it was initially performed by a good, small orchestra instead of a world-famous organization is insignificant. Time will be the best judge. I predict the Chippewa Symphony will take its place beside the great master classical works.

I pray the Creator of all greatness, the Inspirer of all beauty will continue to inspire the composer to still greater and better masterworks. I say to Michigan in general and Oakland County in particular, take a bow.

Labor, Business Offer Problems

Some of Governor Williams' diehards state industry is just bluffing when it says his tax program leads them to expand in other states rather than in Michigan. First, we have the concrete proof of the scores of plants the three automotive leaders have already established elsewhere. There's no discussion about these. Those jobs have been lost for good and all.

Then there's the current example of Chrysler which is moving a big operation out right now. This isn't a future possibility. It's taking place at this moment. Thousands of jobs are vanishing right now.

Worker

What about monopolies we have, which they say we don't have? Chain stores and others are fast eliminating the possibility for small business to function under pressure of big business. It is all a matter of getting rich while the middle man goes broke in the general trend.

Chain stores stay open overtime, including Sundays. Then, if they are successful in pushing small business to the wall, the chain stores go on bankers hours. Call it what you will, but it's the law of the jungle in living reality.

Wesley Slingerland

Drayton Plains

I have worked on production lines in auto plants for 28 years. I could very easily do 50 per cent more work and not get tired. Production workers have it easy with their coffee breaks and relief periods, but maintenance workers beat all.

I know maintenance workers who never work hard, but cry their eyes out when the company engages an outside contractor to do work in the plant. As for being mechanics, 90 per cent of them could not lay out a job if they had to. It is about time that the men went to work.

Disgusted Auto Worker

My husband is employed by Fisher Body cafeteria. His union is the same as the rest and he will have to pay the 50 cents increase in dues, but he received no raise in pay or cost of living pay as the shop will get. I would like to know why the cafeteria gets passed up in this; they have to live as well as anyone else. Most of the men there have families and I think they deserve much more than they get.

Ike's Alter-Ego Sherman Adams Is Self-Propelled Dynamo of Energy

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
INS Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (INS) — The hardest working, best informed politician in America positively absolutely does not want to be president, thank you!

That's the word from "assistant president" Sherman Adams, who observed cryptically during an exclusive interview today at his White House desk:

"You wouldn't have to be around here very long to see why I wouldn't want the job."

Certainly the frosty-haired, blue-eyed 58-year-old Yankee could not fear the ardors of the world's No. 1 job. No one asks him to put in those back-breaking 11-hour days, six-days-a-week that he promptly assigned himself on becoming President Eisenhower's unique alter - ego more than four years ago.

In the world today, only Sherman Adams knows better than the President himself the exact state of our nation and the world.

Sherm sees everything Ike sees — from daily intelligence reports to secret defense evaluations to political grassroots samplings — but in their complete form before they are condensed for the President's perusal.

Thanks in large measure to Adams, Ike has time for the golf games that Sherm misses, except for an occasional Saturday afternoon at Burning Tree.

What is it like to live with this dedicated, self-propelled dynamo? Rachel Adams, mother of his four grown children and his devoted helpmate during 34 strenuous wedded years, was quick to answer.

"A temper? Oh my, yes, he has one," she smiled, "but I wouldn't have a man that didn't. He has to let off steam once in a while, and his home is as good a place as any, for that."

Sherm's normally stern visage softens perceptibly as he talks of his work. With intimates, the icy aloofness softens as he talks zestfully of anything from hi-fi music to the latest dig against him in the press.

"The assistant president" outlined a typical day:

He rises at 6 a.m., tunes in the hi-fi set and devours a New York and Washington paper before attacking a farm hand's breakfast. But that's on the easy days.

BREAKFAST CONFERENCE

More frequently, he drives himself at breakneck speed to the White House to digest the intelligence reports, before holding a 7:30 a.m. breakfast conference on legislative or political problems.

Once or twice a week, he conducts an 8:30 a.m. staff meeting to probe the sore spots — and there are many this year—in the progress of the legislative program and the budget.

Sherm's telephones jangle constantly. In an average day this week he held approximately 10-minute phone conversations with each of the following: USIA Administrator Arthur Larson, Treasury Secretary George Humphrey, Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, Acting Secretary of State Christian Herter, Foreign Aid Chief John B. Hollister, GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn, Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Atomic Energy Chairman Lewis L. Strauss and Protocol Chief Wiley Buchanan.

Adams' sessions with the President are sporadic. He may confer with him a dozen times a day, or once.

All-important White House meetings — cabinet, security council or legislative leadership — are crammed into busy mornings. Lunchtime finds Sherm in business conference again with the politicos who have a problem.

STREAM OF CALLERS

Afternoons bring a steady stream of callers, sandwiched between cramming sessions on highly secret governmental reports.

Of his pace-killing job, second only in importance to the President's, Adams mused thoughtfully: "Every instruction I give to someone has to be an interpretation of what the President himself would do, if he were giving it.

"I must reflect what his probable attitude would be on any given subject. Believe me, you have to have a better than .500 batting average on that score!"

Sherm usually knows when 6:30 p.m. rolls around. He's hungry. Except for one or two social engagements a week — this week to Mrs. Merriweather Post's square dance and to dinner with the visiting Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem — his evenings are brief and identical.

Dinner, cooked by his attractive spouse who also does the laundry and housework, is ready when Sherm's convertible screams to a halt outside.

The hi-fi set goes on, the 143-pound Spartan takes on nourishment, and then—just as the lights begin to twinkle along embassy row—the Adams' lights go out.

The master of the house is asleep.

Police Think Costello Knows Who Tried to Rub Him Out

NEW YORK (AP)—At about 10:55 p. m. last Thursday, racketeer Frank Costello's skull was lightly creased by an assassin's bullet.

Although Costello is one of the nation's most notorious underworld figures, there was no evidence that at that moment he was any less law-abiding than his eight million fellow New Yorkers.

And yet, today, a week later, Costello, who was set upon, is behind bars. And the thug who shot him is free.

It was an unexpected denouement in the life of the man the underworld knows as "Uncle Frank"—a man whose swarthy face is seamed like a waffle iron and whose taste in fine clothes is offset by a rasping voice that still pronounces coin as "kern."

Last Thursday was a quiet day in the life of the 66-year-old racketeer, who came here as a boy from his native Italy.

At noon Costello spent some time with gambler Frank Erickson and racketeer Little Augie Pisano in a favorite hangout, the men's bar of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Later, Costello spent three hours in the Hotel Biltmore's Turkish bath.

In the evening Costello and his wife were dinner guests of Al Miniaci, a cigaret and juke box machine man, at L'Aiglon restaurant on the East Side. Others in the party included Generoso Pope, owner of a weekly newspaper; his wife, John J. Miller, a columnist for Pope's paper, and Philip Kennedy, manager of a modeling agency.

Later, the party moved to the nearby Monsignore restaurant.

Costello left shortly before 11 p.m. to take a telephone call at home from his Washington lawyer.

Costello left a cab and entered 115 Central Park West, where he has an apartment. As he did so, he heard what sounded like a firecracker and felt a moistness above one ear.

He said he did not hear the gunman nor see him as the thug fled out of the building after the single shot and escaped in a black sedan. Costello's head wound proved trivial.

"I'm sure it was a punk," Costello said, "who wanted to be feared by saying he was the one who shot the boss. But I'm not the boss . . . I'm out of action."

But police called Costello a liar and Chief of Detectives James B. Leggett declared:

"He recognized the gunman or he knows why someone wanted to kill him. But he's not telling us."

More than 60 detectives were thrown into a hunt for a gunman.

A police guard was placed on Costello.

There was speculation that the police would never get the assassin alive. It was assumed that Costello's trigger-quick cohorts might get to him first.

The district attorney's office gave the police a hand by putting Costello before a grand jury Tuesday. When the racketeer refused to answer questions, he was sent to the workhouse for 30 days for contempt.

Out of these proceedings came an intriguing facet of the investigation. In a pocket of Costello's jacket after he was shot, police found a note which read:

"Gross casino wins as of 4-26-57 $651,284. Casino wins less markers $434,695. Slot wins $62,844. Markers $153,745. Mike $150 per week. Jake $100 per week. L $30,000. H $9,000."

The note apparently had something to do with a big gambling operation. "Markers" are the gambling term for IOU's. "Slot" could mean slot machines, in which Costello long has been interested. "Casino" could refer to a gambling center—or it could be a private code word for almost anything.

The note seemed to contradict Costello's claim that he is out of the rackets. Police think that if they can decipher it, they may have a clue in the assassination attempt.

Museum Shows Medical History

Over 500 Microscopes Form Prize Collection Dating From 1600

WASHINGTON — Rags, bones, hanks of hair — and the world's finest collection of microscopes — occupy equally honored places in Washington's Armed Forces Medical Museum.

This institution, the only one of its kind open to the public, uses actual specimens to portray medical history. Among them are the scalp of a Chippewa Indian, the bones of battle casualties, and the well-preserved mummy of an ancient Peruvian girl.

The museum was founded by the Army in 1862 to collect evidence of Civil War wounds and diseases in the hope that study of such specimens would enable surgeons to provide better care, says the National Geographic Society.

When Dr. John Hill Brinton became the first curator, his collection comprised three small items. Now a division of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology, the exhibit-crammed Museum occupies a long two-story building at Ninth street and Independence avenue in Southwest Washington. About 1,000 people visit it daily.

The Museum's most prized possession is its microscope collection. Numbering more than 500 instruments, the exhibit ranges from an antique model of 1600 to a massive electron microscope built in Germany in 1944 and purchased by Adolf Hitler for his personal physician, Dr. Theodore Morrell.

Visitors can trace medical progress from the crude surgical instruments of the American Revolution — when doctors solved their problems by amputation — to color pictures of modern plastic surgery. The museum also boasts an outstanding collection of preserved human tissue, illustrating both war wounds and the ravages of disease.

Pre-Columbian skulls from South America give evidence that brain surgery was practiced in ancient times. North American pharmacology is represented by a Sioux medicine bag, complete with weeds, roots, and bright paint to frighten off the demons of disease. Arrows taken from the bodies of slain American soldiers also feature the Indian display.

Tranquilizer Pills Put Boy to Sleep for Nearly a Day

DENVER (INS) — Mrs. Donald Seick of Denver hid the tranquilizer pills but it didn't make any difference — her four-year-old son Donald, Jr., found them.

Young Donald promptly swallowed a dozen of the pills after finding them in a cupboard high above the refrigerator, then he went out to play.

A few minutes later, a neighbor's child ran in and told Mrs. Seick her son was sleeping in the alley. Meanwhile, a nearby resident was administering artificial respiration to the snoozing boy.

Donald later received emergency treatment at the Denver General Hospital where doctors said the artificial respiration undoubtedly saved the boy's life.

Physicians said that tranquilizers act much like barbituates and are exceedingly dangerous if not taken under direction.

They estimated Donald's sleep was so deep that he could have undergone major surgery without additional anesthetics.

The boy slept nearly a full day and when he awoke, admitted, "I took them pills. . . ."

Why Not? He's From Texas!

Midget Rattles Off Big Ideas

NEW YORK (AP) — By all psychological standards, Jerry Kent Nye should be as introverted and repressed as a collapsible opera hat.

Jerry is a circus midget — and he's from Texas.

"Not just from Texas, pod'ner," he corrected, rising menacingly to his full 49 inches, "But from Houston, Texas. That makes a difference. Houston happens to be the biggest city in the biggest state."

Even a half-pint from 10-gallon country finds enormous satisfaction in dwelling on the enormity of his native state.

"People say Texans brag a lot," said Jerry, "but that's just not true. I've never yet run into a Texan who truly appreciates the greatness of his home state.

NOT BRAGGARTS

"Instead of being braggarts, most Texans, when the subject of Texas comes up, get to feeling so sorry for people who don't live there that they forget to give half the facts. Just think, now, where would this country be without Texas? Think about it."

"See what I mean?" he asked after a period of silence. "We Texans take a lot of abuse, but when you get right down to it, we're a pretty close-mouthed lot."

Just then a bell summoned Jerry to duty. He put on a fire helmet and red raincoat, climbed aboard a tiny fire engine and raced off to glory.

THOUSANDS CHEER

Thousands cheered as Jerry dashed up a ladder into a burning building and rescued a television set by jumping with it into a net, ignoring its owner still screaming at the window.

Then Jerry and his fire buddies gathered around to watch a TV program as the building burned to the ground and the woman was left to save herself.

BEFORE AND AFTER — Texan Jerry Nye as himself and in circus makeup. That's a Texas-size fireplug he's leaning against.

Jerry performs twice a day, as a midget in the clown act with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus.

LEAVES TEXAS

Three years ago, he left Texas to join the circus.

"From the time I was 16," he said, "I knew I never would get much bigger. My father is 5 feet 11, my mother 5 feet 9, and my brother, last time I saw him, was getting close to Dad's size. All through high school, I was about 3 feet 10, and my best buddy was 6 feet 6."

Even among midgets, Jerry is a towering figure. At the climax of one of the acts, he winds up hanging from the arena rafters.

"At first it scared me to go up that high," Jerry said. "I didn't like the idea too much. But then I remembered I was from Texas. And what could I do?"

Approves Continuing Draft of Doctors

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee today approved a bill to continue drafting doctors into the armed forces, but on conditions more nearly like those applying to other citizens.

The bill would replace the present act which expires June 30. This law, enacted during the Korean War, was bitterly criticized by professional groups as discriminatory. Among other things, it makes doctors aged up to 46 years subject to drafting, while for other citizens liability ends at 35.

An automobile is stolen in the U.S. on an average of every 2.4 minutes.

Education Group to Investigate Firing

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Education Assn. today announced it has asked the National Education Assn. to investigate a firing by the Monroe board of education.

The Monroe board refused a new contract to Miss Ruth Amen, a teacher in the school system there for 14 years and principal of the Boyd elementary school for the past 11 years.

The MEA said the action was based on the charge of "incompatability" and because it was charged the teacher "could not get along with school policies."

The MEA said it found no justification for the action and said the investigation, made on the request of the Monroe Teachers Club, will be conducted by the National Commission for Defense of Democracy Through Education.

Believes Troubled Thoughts Foster Self-Improvement

June Havoc Claims Worry Is Helpful

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—June Havoc, the girl with the roundest eyes and most astounding legs in New York's fancy East 60s, has also got a couple of astoundingly round philosophies worth listening to. Nothing earth crumpling, mind you. Just thought-provoking.

First, she believes that an appropriate amount of worry is well worthwhile, not only for becoming successful but also for staying slim.

And . . .

If people were brought up lovingly, like cats and dogs, life would be more beautiful.

Miss Havoc, a showgirl since the age of two, has no more pretenses of being a hoity-toit or heroine of the soap opera sort than does her sister, Miss Gypsy Rose Lee.

Both girls have worked since infancy, knocked around the world's backstages, observed almost all kinds of persons in all kinds of situations and have endlessly bewildered themselves by thinking upon, and analyzing, their experiences.

UNSHAKABLE IDEAS

"In other words," says June, "I have seen enough to know that I don't know enough. And yet I can't help formulating some ideas that will stay with me, unshakably, the rest of my life. See what you think of them."

The first philosophy, about worry being beneficial, may at first hearing sound frivolous; but Miss Havoc sincerely believes that if one preoccupies one's mind with well-organized "troubled thoughts," one can scarely help but be improved.

"Choose your worries carefully. Never worry about what other people think—worry only about what you think of yourself. Until you get to like and admire yourself completely, with substantially good reasons for it, continue to be troubled about how to be better," she says.

"Since you can never really admire yourself completely (even Norman Vincent Peale, Dale Carnegie and Elia Kazan couldn't make anybody perfect), you should keep worrying, and keep improving, the rest of your life."

With worry and self-perfecting comes the vibrant need to work. With the need to work, comes work. With work comes growing success and slimming hips.

DOG-CAT THEORY

"Now," says Miss Havoc, breathless but not yet done, "the dog-cat theory."

She has a large menagerie of these items, which she calls "the fur people," in her three-story New York house—and she points to them as the earthiest examples she can think of to illustrate that the spirit of brotherhood is inborn, though unfortunately not inbred.

"The dogs and cats were brought up together and live so intimately that they aren't quite sure which they are. They are so happily one-world that they're even beginning to look alike.

"We call them 'dats' and 'cogs.'"

Not Much Smoke Gets in Eyes of Prisoners

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Macon County jail prisoners have a lot of time on their hands but few smokes.

Sheriff C. W. Peebles says some spend 24 hours a day trying to figure out ways to get cigarettes.

One ordered some cigars and cigarettes from a local firm and paid by check, but the check bounced and the prisoner remains smokeless.

France Now Offers Cut-Rate Fines

PARIS (INS) — If you get a traffic ticket in France, you can settle it with a "cutrate" fine.

It will save you the time and trouble of going to court.

The Official Journal, recorder of all French laws and decrees, says you can pay 900 francs (about $2.55) to settle on the spot a misdemeanor that would cost you up to 1,800 francs (about $5.40) in fines if taken to court.

The same 50 per cent discount is available on fines up to 36,000 francs (about $102).

Easy Does It After Rest

WATERTON PARK, Alta. (AP) — Black bears are out of hibernation in this rocky mountain resort area, but they're not necessarily awake. The first reported bear of the season was seen dozing peacefully in the afternoon sun, in front of the firehall.

U.N. Secretary Visits Israeli

Hammerskjold to Hold Talks With Premier Over Unrest

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold arrived today for two days of talks with Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion on Arab-Israeli conflicts.

It is Hammarskjold's first visit to Israel since last autumn's Sinai invasion.

It was thought here the secretary general would seek to revive the 1949 Egyptian-Israeli armistice, which Ben-Gurion says is "dead." Ben-Gurion in turn wants Hammarskjold to press Egypt to end its state of belligerency against Israel.

Israeli government informants said there is no hope of bringing the old armistice agreement back to life unless some headway is made in getting Egypt to renounce its claim of belligerent rights. Egypt uses the belligerency claim to prevent Israeli ships from using the Suez Canal.

Hammarskjold told reporters at Lydda Airport he had nothing to say other than "I am glad to be received by the Israel government."

U. N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche accompanied his chief.

3rd U.S. Airman Found in Waters Off Japan

FUCHU, Japan (AP)—The U.S. Air Force reported today a third crewman from a KB50 tanker that crashed in the sea has been found unharmed.

It identified him as Lt. Thomas W. Pitcher, Emmetsburg, Iowa, navigator aboard the plane. Five of the eight-man crew are still missing.

A Japanese ccoastal ferry picked up Pitcher.

Two other crewmen parachuted to safety.

11 Who Traveled Rags to Riches Road Named Horatio Alger Award Winners

NEW YORK (INS) — Eleven American men who travelled the "rags to riches" route to the top of their businesses and professions were named today as winners of the 1957 Horatio Alger awards.

The awards are made each year by the American Schools and Colleges Association and will be presented tomorrow morning by RCA Board Chairman Gen. David Sarnoff and Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, both former winners.

The 1957 "Horatio Alger" winners are:

Charles C. Bales, now head of the C. C. Bales Agency, Atlanta, Ga., a life insurance agency with annual sales of almost $50 million, who went to work at the age of 12 for $1.50 a week.

John Bentia, president of Alliance Manufacturing Co., Alliance, O., who sold newspapers as a youth and started as a stock-boy at Alliance.

Thomas Carvel, president of the Carvel Co., Yonkers, N.Y., who followed carnivals and fairs with an ice cream truck until he developed a new ice cream dispensing machine. Today he has more than 1,000 machines in operation in roadside ice cream stands.

Alwin F. Franz, president of Colorado Fuel & Iron Corp., Denver, who sold newspapers in Cleveland at the age of 10 to support his mother, brothers and sisters, and started in a steel mill as an open hearth pitman.

Joyce C. Hall, president of Hallmark Greeting Card Co., Kansas City, Mo., who started out with borrowed capital of $148 to build the biggest company of its kind in the U.S.

Gwilym A. Price, president and chairman of Westinghouse Electric Corp., Pittsburgh, who went to work at 16 following the death of his father, a roller in a Canonsburg, Pa., tin mill, and worked his way up.

Dr. John J. Sheinin, president of Chicago Medical School, who came to the U.S. as a penniless youth from Russia and worked as a laborer until he learned English.

Harry Sugar, president of Aisco, Inc., Akron, O., borrowed $300 from his friends in 1945 to start his own company, now the largest manufacturer of aluminum windows and doors in the world.

John Ware, chairman of the Northeastern Water Co. and American Water Works Co., Philadelphia, who went into business for himself at the age of 14 and whose water companies today constitute the largest privately-owned water system in the world, serving 21 states.

Louis Zahn, president of Zahn Drug Co., Chicago, who sold chewing gum and razor blades in Chicago's loop district as a boy and now heads a multi-million dollar organization he began 25 years ago on a $200 loan.

Frequently taking journeys on his rail lines in 13 states, President Harry A. DeButts of the Southern Railway Company carries a notebook for complaints from both passengers and trainmen.

Russia Wants Japan to Back A-Test Ban

TOKYO (AP)—Russia told Japan today it is ready to agree with the United States and Britain on ending nuclear tests. The Soviets asked Japan to join them in urging a ban on the West.

Soviet Ambassador Ivan F. Tevosyan delivered the Kremlin proposal in a 15-minute meeting with Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi. The Russian proposal replied to a Japanese request April 15 for suspension of Soviet nuclear weapon tests.

Kishi promised to study the proposal. He said in a speech last week, however, that Japan would not be interested in joining Moscow in an appeal to Britain and America until "after the Soviet Union ends its nuclear tests."

"As long as Britain and America continue testing weapons, then we must continue also," Tevosyan told Kishi.

Weeks Cancels Plans to Visit Trade Fair

TOKYO (AP)—Secretary of Commerce Weeks today canceled his plans to attend the 1957 Japan International Trade Fair May 15-18.

Wreckers Fell Old Harnack Home

Razing of Century-Old Residence Will Cut Link With Pontiac's Past

One of Pontiac's visible links with its past will disappear shortly when workmen complete the wrecking of the old Henry Harnack home at 76 Williams St.

The stately survivor of a bygone age will give way to a modern office building for the Pontiac Division of the Automobile Club of Michigan.

The Harnack Home, as it is popularly known, far predates its purchase by the late Henry Harnack. Best estimates are that the house is some 100 years old. It was called the A. S. Lail home when Mr. Harnack purchased it 50 years ago.

Mr. Harnack, who died in September 1955, occupied the home until his death. His four children now all married and living elsewhere, kept the house open with a resident housekeeper until May, 1956, when they sold it to the AAA for $34,000.

SERVED ON COMMISSION

The Harnacks are a distinguished family in Pontiac and Henry Harnack served on the City Commission where he helped formulate the original plans to build the new city hall.

The home contained nine rooms, with servant's room over the garage. There were seven fireplaces in use when the Harnacks bought the place, and a huge, old-style staircase from the attic to the basement.

The massive oak woodwork and marble fireplace mantels, as well as the 30-foot dining room and 45-foot music room and parlor, all spoke of a past age when domestic help was inexpensive and large families and grand entertainments were the rule among the well-to-do.

On the site of the home, the Automobile Club will erect a one-story office building starting about May 15.

According to Fred N. Rehm, assistant to the general manager, bids will be received soon from both Pontiac and Detroit contractors.

Preliminary plans, which are subject to board of directors' approval, show a building of 109 by 50 square feet, fronting on Williams street, he said.

Completion of the structure will take approximately four to five months after construction begins, Rehm added.

Currently the Auto Club is renting office space on North Perry street.

BOWS TO PROGRESS — The Henry Harnack home, 76 Williams St., is being torn down to clear a site for a Pontiac office of the Automobile Club of Michigan. The home was in the Harnack family for 50 years and is believed to be some 100 years old.

Financial Crisis Threatens Haiti

Population Lacks Food as Government Treasury Gets Smaller

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP)—Haiti is in a bad way and many of the country's four million citizens are subsisting mainly on a meatless soup made with wild pineapple as the basic ingredient.

Millions of dollars worth of food gifts sent from the United States have not been sufficient to ease the demand for food in rural areas. The price of rice and beans, top staple foods, jumped 20 per cent in two weeks.

Five months of political crisis and sporadic political strikes, plus poor growing conditions, have intensified the situation.

President Maurice Telemaque of the National Bank of Haiti says the government owes the bank 18 million dollars.

"The government will have to cut down on its spending very sharply," he told this reporter. "That's the only solution to prevent financial collapse. The National Bank of Haiti is unable to help the government further financially."

BYRD FLIGHT RECALLED — This small silk flag held by Nancy Lawrence was carried by Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd on his first flight over the North Pole in 1926. The 31st anniversary of that history-making flight occurs today. Behind her is Byrd's ski-equipped Fokker tri-motor monoplane, now in Henry Ford Museum at Dearborn. Powered by Wright 200 h.p. engines, the big craft had a cruising radius of 1,500 miles at a top speed of 100 miles an hour.

Clouded Mind Clears Again

Psychiatrist Helps Man Rediscover His Identity in Detroit Hospital

DETROIT (AP)—The world is beginning to clear up again for 26-year-old Harry Warner Applegate of Asbury Park, N.J.

"Emergency psychotherapy" is credited for this.

Applegate was found asleep three weeks ago in a bus depot. Upon being awakened, he could remember hardly anything of his own identification.

"Who am I?" he asked a policemna.

Thenceforth, at Receiving Hospital, psychiatrists worked from day to day with the young man. They asked many questions, picking up the smallest clues here and there.

Yesterday came success.

Applegate was identified as the son of Mrs. Anthony Gentile of Asbury Park, who had no word of him for 11 months.

Next week Mrs. Gentile expects to come to Detroit, possibly on Mothers Day. The doctors say her presence may help to restore more of her son's memory.

Senate Vote Set on Ambassador

Approval of New U.S. Envoy to Ireland Is Expected Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate set the stage today for confirmation of Scott McLeod's nomination as ambassador to Ireland over the protest of a sizable number of its Democrats.

The key vote came last night when the Senate rejected 54-22 a motion to return the nomination to its Foreign Relations Committee for further investigation.

Chairman Green (D-RI) of that committee said there were "hundreds," perhaps "thousands," of Americans better qualified for the post than the controversial State Department security chief.

Sen. Clark (D-Pa) called him a "symbol of the witch hunter" who would bring discredit upon the country in his new post.

But Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif) said President Eisenhower has "full confidence" in his nominee. And Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said he was the target of a "smear campaign" by left-wingers.

Just before recess last night, 15 Democrats joined with 39 Republicans — the GOP was unanimous — in rejecting the motion to recommit the nomination.

Twenty-two Democrats, some of whom spent most of yesterday assailing the nomination, supported the motion.

Their defeat meant the fight was all over but the repercussions.

Earlier yesterday the Senate approved Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen's nomination as ambassador to the Philippines, by a voice vote, with Bridges shouting "No."

Goldwyn to Produce 'Porgy and Bess' in '59

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Samuel Goldwyn says two presidents—Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower—have urged him to bring the American folk opera "Porgy and Bess" to the screen.

He announced yesterday he has paid $650,000, plus a substantial percentage, to make it the next Goldwyn movie. He said he would use an all Negro cast, but it will be two years before the film is completed.

"Porgy" has been warmly received in Europe and in Iron Curtain countries.

The Isthmus of Panama (not the canal) runs almost due East and West although it gives an appearance on a map, because of its widing contour of running North and South.

The Twin Cities Chorus, of St. Paul-Minneapolis, recently asked if anyone would donate a piano. They were given an upright weighing 1,100. The donor confessed he couldn't fit the piano through the front door of his new home.

Long Range Project May Cost $3 Billion

U.S. Plans Big Government Building Program

By JOHN KOENIG JR.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is embarking on the largest government building program in its history.

Not since the first days of the republic, when the national capital was being laid out, has the federal government undertaken so ambitious a program.

High priority buildings alone—to be erected in the District of Columbia and in cities around the nation—will run the bill to above one billion dollars.

Estimated costs of the entire long-range program to meet federal building needs across the country run as high as three billions.

Behind the crying need for additional buildings is a backlog of demands dating back to 1940. Not since that year has the government undertaken a major construction project for civilian needs. The Pentagon and other fairly recent projects were military.

The biggest face-lifting will come in Washington itself, where millions of annual visitors soon will begin to see the vast changes.

Unsightly temporary office buildings, some of them dating back to World War I days, will be removed in one of the early phases of the program. The last of the "tempos," so-called, will be gone by 1962.

That will return to park land many acres of ground situated near the White House and the Tidal Basin in the vicinity of the beautiful Jefferson and Lincoln memorials and the famed Japanese cherry trees.

Already approved by Congress are a $37,400,000 addition to the State Department building and a 36-million-dollar Museum of History and Technology for the Smithsonian Institution. The State Department addition is under construction.

Construction of a new Senate office building already is well under way, and the ground has been cleared for a new House office building.

Also provided for by direct appropriations from Congress are a 46-million-dollar building for the Central Intelligence Agency at nearby Langley, Va., and a 10 - million - dollar structure to house the Atomic Energy Commission at Gaithersburg, Md., just north of Washington.

Also planned near Gaithersburg is a new 40-million-dollar building for the Bureau of Standards. A new Geological survey building is to be inside the District of Columbia, but the site is still in question.

Seven other Washington projects, mostly office building, will be undertaken in Stage I, or the 1956-'59 period, in the government's program.

Stage II in Washington (1960-'62) will see the completion of the huge Federal Triangle, a development begun back in the 1930's. Facades of office buildings forming the Triangle along Constitution Avenue and other streets feature giant classical Greek columns.

But two large sections of the area along Pennsylvania Avenue, which forms the long side of the Triangle, were left unfinished when World War II caused a diversion of essential building materials.

In these two sections, much demolition must be done but the real problem will be to make the new structures conform to the classical style of the Triangle buildings which already have been standing a score of years.

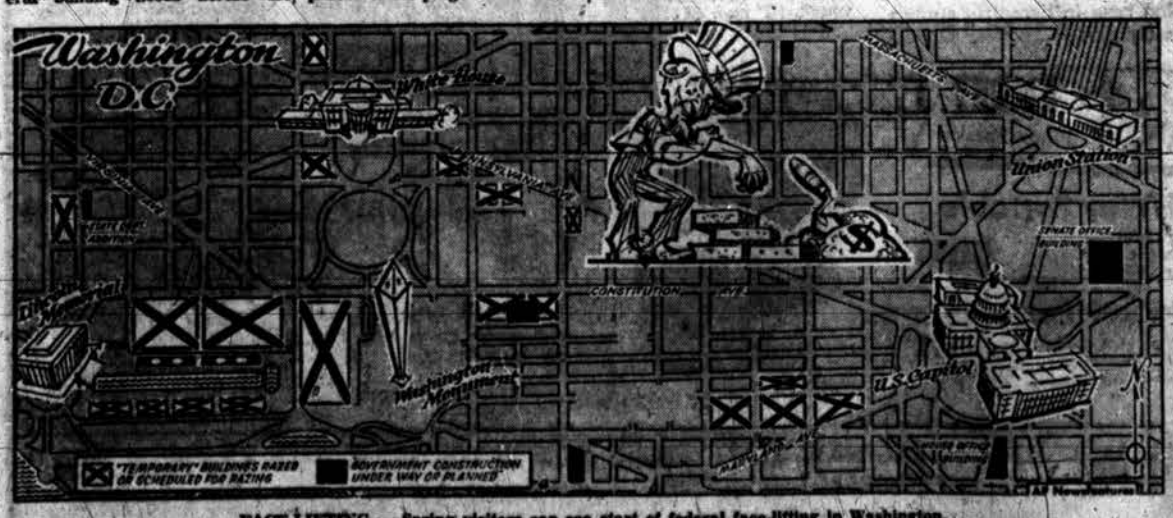
In the Triangle are the hundreds of offices of the Departments of Commerce, Labor, Post Office and Justice, and the Internal Revenue Service, Interstate Commerce Commission, Federal Archives and Federal Trade Commission. New construction will fill out the Post Office and Internal Revenue buildings.

The final, or Stage III, subsequent to 1962, will see new extensions to the Department of Agriculture, General Accounting Office and others.



FACE-LIFTING — Spring visitors can see start of federal face-lifting in Washington.

Laos Brings Memories

Dirty Dan's — City Center

VIENTIANE, Laos (NEA) — Some Americans who have lived abroad reminisce about Montmartre, the St. Moritz and Monte Carlo. But those who have lived in this capital city of the kingdom of Laos will fondly recall only one place—Dirty Dan's.

Dirty Dan's is a hybrid—a sort of Paris sidewalk cafe out of a Chinese hole-in-the-wall.

It is located on Vientiane's main street, the Rue Tafforn, where calm, unruffled customers think nothing of it when cups and plates go flying because a wandering buffalo has bumped into the table.

Because it is set mid-way between the United States Information Service office and the American Embassy, it is virtually a club for the nearly 200 Americans living and working here. For years, it offered the only decent food in town.

Habitues were worried recently that Dirty Dan's might lose some of its charm because they painted the place.

But their fears were unfounded. Half a dozen dogs still sleep out front or fight under your table. You still have to beat the flies to your food.

PRICES LOW

Spending a languid tropical afternoon at Dirty Dan's, one can see almost every foreigner in town and most of them stop in. A cup of coffee is still a nickel; a chateaubriand is 30 cents. Plain beefsteak is a quarter. You have to pay 35 cents for "biftek tartare" and as much as 40 cents for tripes a la mode. The beef is all buffalo, but good.

U. S. Ambassador J. Graham Parsons and his wife used to be regular patrons of Dirty Dan's, but now they have a large official residence and do their entertaining there. However, the dining room faces the city morgue, and just beyond the morgue is the city slaughter house. When the wind comes from that direction, the Parsons definitely prefer Dirty Dan's to their own home.

But despite Dirty Dan's, the morgue and a housing project known as Silver City where embassy families live in aluminum pre-fab huts, morale among the Americans is high and everyone is enthusiastic about the progress of the country.

The Ambassador's wife set off a chain reaction when she taught English to five native ladies. Now teaching English is the chief spare time hobby, for the Laotians are eager to learn and the entire American family ready to oblige.

A typical pupil is Eng, the 13-year-old headwaiter at Dirty Dan's. Eng doesn't go to school, but already he speaks four languages and can quickly compute the complicated exchange rates of half a dozen different currencies in his head.

There are other signs of progress, too. Recently, one-way traffice was decreed for all the town's main roads (there are five) because of the influx of automobiles—there are 5,000 in the entire country.

However, the American aid program is constantly building new roads to establish communication with all the remote villages.

"The best thing for morale is progress and a job well-done," one official commented. "Here we started with nothing a few years ago except the willingness of the Laotians to work with us. We can see the accomplishments."

The Americans just don't want them to get such progressive ideas as painting up Dirty Dan's. Next thing you know, they might screen it.

Hold Burglary Suspects

PORT HURON (AP) — Two 17-year-old boys were held today for investigation of a series of burglaries in three counties. They are Gerald Major and Frank Carpinski, both of Roseville. William Pettengill, St. Clair County sheriff, said the boys told of breakins in St. Clair, Sanilac and Macomb counties.

Mayonnaise inherits its name from Mahon, a port on the island of Minorca off the coast of Spain, where the salad dressing first appeared.

Restrictions Eased on TB Sanatoriums

LANSING (AP) — Two bills to permit county tuberculosis sanatoriums to admit patients with diseases other than TB were among five measures signed into law Tuesday by Gov. Williams.

The plan is aiding at utilizing hundreds of empty beds in TB sanatoriums.

Under the new law, TB patients will be given priority in gaining admittance to county sanatoriums. No state aid will be given to non-TB patients, who must have the approval of the county board of supervisors and the state health commissioner before they are admitted.

Another bill signed extends the deadline for filing applications for the state's Korean War bonus to March 6, 1958.

A fourth measure permits auto dealers to use special temporary license plates, good for 10 days, on cars they sell. They would be valid only until the purchaser acquires permanent plates.

Aids Traverse Industry

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — The Traverse City Industrial Fund, Inc., has announced it will finance 3,200 square feet of additional floor space, at a cost of $27,000, for Traverse Bay Industries, Inc. The marine hardware firm is the sixth industry aided in the past five years by the area fund, which now seeks to raise $50,000 for purchase of a 180-acre tract for industrial purposes.

Prepaid Gifts to Soviet Nationals a Racket

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The Soviet Union is raking in a fortune today from American citizens and immigrants anxious to help relatives behind the Iron Curtain.

It's a racket, but one that nobody can do anything about. Uncle Sam even officially recommends the use of American firms who act as business agents for the Kremlin. He has no other choice.

For thousands of persons are discovering that they now can send duty prepaid packages of clothes, food, medicine and small luxuries to relations in the U.S.S.R.

To do so, however, they must pay a virtual ransom in the form of outlandishly high duties and extra charges set by the Soviets. Otherwise, the recipient of a package in Russia has to pay an enormous duty.

Here's a typical example of what's going on:

Joe Mazionis from Cincinnati—that's not his real name—heard from his cousin in Lithuania (now part of Russia) about a year ago after no word for 10 years.

The letter said it was all right to send packages and asked for clothes. So Joe sent off an 18-pound package of shirts, suits and socks to a special American shipping firm in New York.

Then he was notified it would cost him $36 to get the package to Lithuania, duty prepaid. He paid up and after three months heard the package had arrived.

Here's how the situation is explained by the Commerce Department's Bureau of Foreign Commerce in a pamphlet sent to persons who make inquiries:

"Neither the post office nor any other agency of the U.S. Government can collect customs duties or any other charges levied by the U.S.S.R. on gift parcels sent to residents of that country," it says.

Then it recommends that an alternate method of shipment of parcels with duties prepaid is available through the services of "private firms authorized by contract with the official tourist organization of the U.S.S.R. to accept parcels with all Soviet duties and charges prepaid by the sender."

The Commerce Department explains that it does not "assume responsibility for the services rendered or fees charged by the private commercial firms listed in the enclosed bulletin."

Soviet import duties are charged in dollars per pound for food. For example the fee is 85 cents for a pound of tea. Other merchandise is figured according to the cost of the article. Duty on new clothing is 100 per cent and on hosiery 75 per cent, to mention a few.

Added to this the Soviets tack on what they call a commission fee which is 10 per cent of the article's retail price, an inspection fee of $1.55, another one per cent handling fee and a 50 per cent charge for each invoice. On top of this the sender pays for the firm's service plus regular mail rates.

Financial statements of these shipping firms, which must be registered with the Justice Department, indicate that business is booming despite their high rates.

Parcels to Russia, Inc., in Brooklyn, N.Y., reported, for example, that it collected $37,925 from May to December, 1954, in payment of duties and other charges for gift parcels to Russia. The next six months brought in over $62,000 and the next $127,000. From May, 1956, to November, 1956, the firm collected $225,600 in duties and other charges.

It's the same story for Central Parcel Services, Inc., in Chicago. From August, 1955, through January, 1956, they received $83,388. From August, 1956, through last January their business doubled to $169,708.

Invades Filter Market

NEW YORK (INS) — P. Lorillard Co. introduced today a new brand of cigarettes, Newport, in share of the steadily expanding filter cigarette market.

Stresses Importance of Brushing Gums

BOSTON (AP) — A dental expert says 60 to 70 per cent of teeth are lost, not through decay, but because of gum trouble.

Dr. Clifford Ochsenbein, Austin, Tex., told the Massachusetts Dental Society convention Tuesday that brushing gums is just as important as brushing teeth.

He recommended a downward brush stroke in the upper jaw and upward in the lower jaw.

Dislikes Idea of Retiring on His 100th Birthday

ENDICOTT, N. Y. (AP)—A man celebrating his 100th birthday today disputes the common belief that it's nice to retire young.

John T. Smith retired from the Endicott Johnson Corp. shoe firm when he was in his 70s, but says "I'd go back to work now if they'd let me."

His son Charles, a youngster of 74, says he has no desire to retire from his job at Endicott Johnson.

New Petoskey Attorney

PETOSKEY (AP) — Attorney Howard Campbell has been appointed Petoskey city attorney, succeeding B. V. Halstead, who resigned at the end of his term last month.

Kennedy Kids' Father Keeps Hands Off

(This is the fourth of five articles by a famed reporter on one of America's most remarkable families, the Kennedys of Boston.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

Joseph P. Kennedy, father of the amazing Kennedy kids, including the nation's top young senator, its best known corruption investigator, and the wife of a Hollywood star, says with some heat these days that he is keeping hands off all their lives.

The outspoken former U. S. ambassador to Britain, who freely advised presidents, princes and paupers after becoming a self-made multi - millionaire, is the proudest parent in the land. He regards the seven Kennedy children and a mounting brood of grandchildren as possessions a good deal closer to him than, say the merchandise mart.

He doesn't always see eye to eye with them, being generally more conservative politically. But neither hell nor high water now could move him to intrude in the operation of their lives.

He feels the same way about the way things are being run in Washington. To grasp the measure of his aloofness, during these provocative days, one must dip into Kennedy's past and inspect how moved and articulate he was about events of not too long ago.

Sen. Jack Kennedy, regarded in all polls as of presidential timber and Senate labor management rackets investigator Robert Kennedy, chose public service not long after the father said, at Colby College in Maine on June 17, 1945:

"Preservation of our way of life is not assured by winning the war. We must defend it against cynics who would destroy our ideals and paralyze our aspirations. Utopians who advocate plans to wreck our economic system; those who promote racial discrimination, industrial strife, corruption in public office, and those who would have us shun our responsibilities in a world order.

"Men without training in economics, education in political science, perspective or balance, direct the future of this country because they are the only kind who take the trouble to participate in public affairs. Don't criticize these. Oppose them and all they stand for, by voice and by vote."

Kennedy battled the mounting tax burden before the general hue and cry. He said, on May 25, 1947, "A young man in business today, even if a well paid top executive, can hardly meet living costs, much less save anything for a rainy day. And it is impossible for him to save after taxes enough to provide an estate for his family. Only a life insurance policy stands between his family and destitution in the event of his untimely death."

He could see no sense in the Korean War. He did not hesitate to say so, though a fellow Democrat was in the White House.

Speaking before the University of Virginia Law School Dec. 12, 1950, during the retreat of MacArthur's forces, Kennedy called the Truman foreign policy a "suicidal" one which had "made us no foul weather friends."

He urged that we pull out of Korea, "and any other place in Asia where we cannot hope to hold our defenses." He would have pulled out of Berlin, too. He urged that we spend our defense budget fortifying Canada and Latin America.

"We have no reason to believe that cooperation on their part will not be forthcoming and we can, and should, insist on it."

Kennedy was both attacked and lauded, editorially.

Owner Skips Sentiment Trying to Recover Dog

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — A dog owner skipped the sentiment and ran this ad in the Arkansas Gazette after his dog disappeared: "If you are smart, you will return the collie dog where you got it . . . as you can be identified by your vehicle license. Is the dog worth two years to you in Tucker State (prison) Farm?"

Triplet births occur once in every 9,600 confinements.

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Charles W. Lavender, 30, of Kalamazoo, drowned in the Kalamazoo River Tuesday night while fishing near the Consumer Power Co. Morrow Dam.

Michigan GOP Senators Still Arguing School Aid

LANSING (AP) — Majority Republican senators were at loggerheads over what to do about the school aid issue, and planned to huddle on it again late today.

After an hour-long closed meeting on the subject broke up yesterday, Sen. Frank Beadle of St. Clair, GOP caucus chairman, said no conclusions were reached.

Beadle said the session failed to produce enough support for a beer and whisky school aid tax plan approved by the House to get it through the Senate.

Beadle said the discussions were pitched to the problem of producing 17 to 18 million dollars in new revenues for 1957-58.

Besides beer and whisky, he said, other taxation possibilities hashed over were an increase in the tax on cigarettes, a new tax on individual incomes and a $5-a-car new tax on automobiles calculated to produce 15 million dollars a year.

NOT DISCUSSED

The tax on corporation profits recommended by Gov. Williams was "mentioned but not discussed," he said.

As the school aid bill came over from the House last week, it was estimated by some senators to cost 30 million dollars above currently anticipated revenues for the coming fiscal year.

The beer and whiskey tax plan would produce about 16 million dollars of this.

Beadle said the talks yesterday were keyed to a 17 or 18 million dollar added taxation requirement on the strength of sentiment of Education Committee members to revise the House bill in these ways:

Base the aid distribution formula on $190 a pupil, instead of the $195 approved by the House, and peg deductible millage outstate at the rate of 3, instead of 2% — except for districts with community colleges.

Cut back so-called special aids, including allowances for pupil transportation, the mentally handicapped, tuition and "distressed" school districts.

Queries Pour In on Dust Control

Calls Swamp Clerk in Waterford Regarding Chloride on Roads

Many people in Waterford Township are calling the clerk's office with inquiries regarding the application of chloride on their roads to control dust, according to Elmer Johnson, supervisor.

"The chloride program does not begin until temperatures are higher than 45 degrees during the night," Johnson said, "and the project is under the supervision of the Oakland County road commission," he added.

Some residents are sending in checks to cover their share of the chloriding operation. Waterford Township people pay two thirds of the cost, the township pays one third and it is applied by the Oakland County road commission.

Applications for chloriding are taken at the clerk's office, then sent to the Oakland County Road Commission and work in the township is systematically scheduled, according to Jim Seeterlin, clerk.

Property owners must pay $30 per thousand feet, for three applications of chloride at the time a work-order is applied for, and the township pays $15. Before each application, the road is thoroughly scraped and conditioned, Seeterlin concluded.

3 City Employes Get Postal Awards

Three Pontiac Post Office employes have been awarded citations by the Chicago Regional office for suggestions to improvep postal service.

The three and their suggestions are: Harold L. Clason, clerk, elimination of a public eyesore; John Phillips, mail handler, faster and more economical method of transferring mail; Ezekiel Wright, mail handler, rack to eliminate damage to large X-ray films.

This makes a total of seven awards which our employes have won, including one for superior achievement," commented Leslie H. Dean, acting postmaster. "It makes us very proud."

Bird Nests Use All Materials

Almost Any Location Finds a Patron; May Be Cup, Oven or Jug

WASHINGTON — Across North America millions of birds are hard at work making cups, saucers, ovens, houseboats, jugs, and penthouses in which to lay their eggs.

Some move into unfurnished apartments — old nests of other species or man-made birdhouses. A few gadabouts, avian parasites, build no nests but foist their offspring on chance acquaintances.

The architectural skill of birds ranges from the sublime to the nonexistent. For some birds, home is any old spot on the ground where an egg can be hatched.

USE ALL MATERIALS

Almost every conceivable kind of building material is used, says the National Geographic Society. Mud makes up the juglike nest of the cliff swallow, and forms the foundation for robins' cup nests in city maples.

The chimney swift plucks dead twigs in flight, then glues them together with saliva to shape a half saucer inside a chimney.

Twigs don't interest an eagle. It thinks nothing of carrying limbs the size of an oar to its penthouse atop a tree. Eagles have been known to equip their massive, untidy aeries with lightbulbs, fishplugs, and golf balls.

While most birds build a new home each year, some take over the nests of others. For bluebirds and crested flycatchers, an abandoned woodpecker hole is high on the demand list of avian real estate.

The flycatcher almost always adds a distinctive bit of decoration — a dried snakeskin. Some have gone modern. When snakeskin is unavailable, cellophane will do.

On a woodland floor, the ovenbird builds the nest that gives its name — a dome of coarse grasses, weed stalks, and leaves that resembles and old-fashioned oven.

The black and orange oriole knits together a hammock of plant fibers, string, grasses, hair, and bark. Its pendulous, gourd-shaped nest swings from the end of a branch.

Certain birds, in their search for nesting material, need not look far. Ducks pluck down from their underparts to make a soft, warm nest lining.

Grebes pile up decayed vegetation to form a houseboat, moored to marsh plants. It rises and falls with water level, keeping the babies dry.

The marsh wren weaves itself a ball-like house among cattail fronds. Males arrive at the nesting ground before the females. They occupy their time building several nests. To no avail. The female builds her own. The spurned work of the males may serve to distract predators from the real home.

The cowbird, disdaining to soil its beak with honest labor, lays its eggs in the nests of other birds. Many a hostess bird raises the intruder, fetching food constantly. In some instances, the baby cowbird is bigger than the foster parent slaving for it.

Cannier victims will build a new nest over the cowbird egg. One warbler built seven such nests in succession, isolating a cowbird egg in each of the six understories.

First Training Brings Out Talent

Originality Marks Painting

VINITA, Okla. (INS)—It's art for art's sake at Vinita high school where originality is the keynote in the school's four art classes.

Modern fashions may seem a little wild to some, but no designer has come up yet with anything equal to the project of one freshman student—she is painting pictures on her dress of futuristic automobiles.

Most of the 60 students never had previous art training, and this year for the first time in many years the Vinita school has offered such training.

Nevertheless, one aspiring artist completed a large oil painting of a rural scene that will be placed in a local church. It took her three months working an hour a day to complete it.

Another student assigned to clean her classmates' brushes has turned waste into beauty. She hates to waste paint so the conservative miss gathers dirty brushes and uses palettes and creates her own unusual paintings.

Recently a repairman dropped a quart of tar into the classroom and the student used it to paint part of her latest picture.

Average Family Income in Michigan $6,245

NEW YORK (AP) — Michigan families had an average income last year of $6,245 compared with a national average of $5,736, Sales Management Magazine reported yesterday.

The magazine said a survey showed the national average about $271 above 1955.

Washington, D.C., topped the survey with average incomes of $7,688, the magazine reported.

Holland Scenery Never Constant; Zuider Zee Lake

AMSTERDAM — Holland is a country where the scenery has a habit of changing. What was once the Zuider Zee, for example, is now a lake called Ysel, walled off from the North Sea. What is now Lake Ysel will soon be drained dry to make room for the new provence of Flevoland. Everywhere, as the Dutch push back the sea, watery wastelands turn into green pastures, tiny islands become part of the mainland, and the landscape takes on a new look.

Today, one of the most popular tours of Holland leads away from the conventional sightseeing circuits into the very heart of the kingdom where a new land is being born. This trip, circling what was once the Zuider Zee, covers close to 500 miles in three days. The cost is exactly 185 guilders or just under $50 for the hire of a private car with chauffeur, hot meals and tips.

Travelers leave Amsterdan via Broek, a spick and span little village where the streets are scrubbed daily, and glazed tiles gleam in the sun. Out-side Broek is Monnikendam, a Renaissance town where gabled houses line the avenue and a 16th Century tower clock chimes the hours.

Set Fire Loss at $30,000

Eyes Troop Withdrawal in Honduras-Nicaragua Border Dispute

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP)—Honduras and Nicaragua were to get a plan from the Organization of American States today providing for withdrawal of troops from their disputed border areas within four days.

The border region was reported quiet yesterday as the OAS peace team drafted the withdrawal plan and checked reports of border incidents said to have occurred Monday.

The OAS peace mission was to go from Tegucigalpa to Managua to continue talks on the withdrawal proposals. It was expected that a four-day truce, which expires today, would be extended since it was not believed the talks on troop withdrawals could be completed today.

U.S. Lt. Col. Frank Brinn made an OAS-directed inspection trip to the town of Los Manos, where Honduras charged Nicaraguan troops had laid down a mortar barrage Tuesday. He reported he found no shell fragments, bullet holes or other "obvious evidence"

In Managua, Col. Anastasio Somoza Jr., Nicaraguan army chief, charged that Honduran irregulars were looting ranches in the border regions. He said Nicaragua now has only police stationed at border points, but asserted his government would make full use of its army for defense if necessary.

The OAS mission also is trying to determine which country has the best claim to the disputed area.

Judge Awards Alimony Pegged to Cost of Living

OLATHE, Kan. (AP)—Mrs. Hayne Ellis Jr., 47, got a divorce yesterday, plus a monthly allowance pegged to the cost of living index compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Washington.

Ellis, 42, is an officer of the International Paper Co., with an income estimated in his wife's divorce papers at $35,000 to $50,000 a year. She accused him of neglecting his marital duties. He denied her allegations but did not contest the divorce.

Judge Earl E. O'Connor ordered Ellis to put $1,300,000 worth of his International Paper stock into a trust fund. From it's earnings, Mrs. Ellis will get a monthly payment, based on the cost of living index—in no case less than $1,000 a month. He can keep the remainder. If she remarries the trust is dissolved.

The court also awarded her another $25,000 and a station wagon. Ellis keeps the family home in Mission Hills, a high-toned Kansas City suburb.

A Waterford Township housewife will sit at the speaker's table at the May 18 Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner in Detroit's Masonic Temple, Democratic state headquarters announced today.

Police to Set Example

LANSING (AP)—State police announced that their patrol cars are being equipped with litter bags so police can set an example in a drive to keep the state's highways clear of litter. Throwing rubbish on the highways is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $100, 90 days in jail, or both.

Child Sometimes Eligible for Payments

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

An explosion shook the Cary Poindexter home at Santa Barbara, Calif., last January 10. Gasoline fumes had caught fire in the kitchen.

Mrs. Poindexter, working in the kitchen, was badly burned. She died a few hours later. She left 11 children — including two-year-old twins — and her husband.

She also left a Social Security record which will help support the seven children under 18. Over the next 16 years the payments to the children will total $19,568.

Payments of $114.10 started in January. They'll continue until 1968 when five of the children will have reached 18. Then, the payments will drop to $71.80 a month. This will be paid to Linda and Brenda, the twins, until 1973 when they reach 18.

GETTING PAYMENTS

The children are getting the payments — though their father is working, and contributing to their support — due to special provisions of the Social Security law covering working mothers.

Under these sections, a child is eligible for payments if he:

1. Is the child of a mother who died while fully or currently insured by Social Security.

Generally, to be fully insured, a person must have worked under Social Security since 1936 an amount of time equal to at least half of the time between Jan. 1, 1951 and the time of death.

For example: Mrs. Poindexter would have been fully insured if she had worked under Social Security since 1936 for at least 3 years. That's equal to half of the six years between Jan. 1, 1951 and the time of her death.

CURRENTLY INSURED

To be currently insured a person must have worked under Social Security for at least 1½ years of the last three years before death. Mrs. Poindexter was currently insured because she had worked most of the last three years before she died.

2. Has filed an application for child's Social Security payments, is not married and has not reached 18.

3. Was dependent on his mother at the time of her death.

To be considered dependent, the child must have (a) been getting at least half of his support from his mother, OR (b) been living with his mother or getting support from her, and not living with or getting support from his father, OR (c) been the child of a mother who had worked for 1½ years of the last three years before her death.

Meeting any one of these requirements is enough. It was under the third requirement that the Poindexter children were considered dependents.

FATHER NOT MENTIONED

The first and third requirements deliberately make no mention of the father's part in the support of the child. Thus, it's possible for a child who loses his mother—who was working—to get Social Security payments without regard to the support his father might be giving him.

Under the Social Security law it's presumed in such cases that the mother was contributing to the support of the child and, thus, to some degree, was dependent on her—or she wouldn't have been working. The Social Security payments are made to replace the loss of this support.

Social Security payments are stopped when the child dies, marries or reaches 18. They're also stopped if the child is adopted by someone other than a step-parent, grandparent, aunt or uncle.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

This is a season when women start thinking small thoughts—such as bathing suits and play suits. A Broadway secretary told her boss since he couldn't afford to give her a raise why not give her the same salary — only more often. — Earl Wilson.

Communists Also Lack Schools

Teacher Shortage Hits China

HONG KONG (INS) — Communist China will not achieve sufficiency in engineers, physicians, scientiest and teachers until the end of her third Five Year Plan in 1967.

This is the opinion of Professor Seiya Munakata, Dean of the Education Department of Tokyo University who spent a month inspecting Red China's educational system and progress.

Meanwhile, the Peiping regime is working overtime to produce as many literates as quickly as possible. This system, commented Prof. Manakata, concentrates on quantity at the expense of quality.

He added that Red China was seriously short of teachers, also schools and other educational institutes, but said he found much enthusiasm among students to get on in their studies.

Munakata was among a group of 40 Japanese teachers, led by Sadamitsu Miyanohara, vice-president of the Japan Teachers Union, who were invited to visit China.

Munakata said that the educational system of Peiping was giving preference to the production of engineers, physicians, scientists and teachers in the order mentioned. He indicated that the Chinese were trying to produce an unlimited number of graduates as quickly as possible with a limited number of teachers.

A similar situation prevails in sparetime schools for working men and women, according to an official Communist report from Shanghai. The report said that "too many courses are given in a limited number of hours."

It added that the students have no time to go over the courses and digest the lesson and thus soon forget completely what they have been taught. It said that the students were frustrated by the complexity of subjects.

Teachers, too, have their problems, added the report. It said: "Teachers of classical Chinese complain that for them lessons also mean a race with the clock."

Citing a typical instance, the report said that the Shanghai Municipal Education Bureau ruled that teachers must devote one period (45 minutes) to one lesson in classical Chinese although the lesson might run into 10 pages.

It quoted one teacher as saying that "teaching today is similar to story telling. I must talk as fast as I can. Otherwise, I will not be able to finish the lesson in time."

Doctors Study Heart Victims

Classify Several Types Prone to Such Attacks; Find Men in Majority

NEW YORK — Is there such a thing as a heart attack "type?"

Thanks to recent medical findings, says an article in a recent issue of a national magazine, doctors are now able to determine scientifically the characteristics of persons most apt to fall victim to an early heart attack.

According to a study conducted by the Massachusetts General Hospital on 100 coronary victims under 40 years of age, extremely successful individuals may be especially vulnerable to coronary diseases of all kinds.

In describing the typical personality of a person considered heart attack prone, some of the characteristics are:

a) The subject is male. Almost four times as many men as women die of coronary thrombosis between 35 and 44, although the sexes are almost even when all ages and all forms of heart disease are taken together.

b) He is husky and robust. His chest, trunk, face and hands are noticeably thick for their length, and he has a lot of hair on his body if not on his head. He was a good athlete in school and still indulges in occasional strenuous workouts.

c) His mother was apt to be more energetic and ambitious for him than his father.

d) He has a greater than average appreciation for the finer things in life.

e) He drinks and smokes more than most men.

f) The odds are that he is a rising professional man or business executive who provides well for his family and could pose for a picture of the model father.

Only two of the states, Massachusetts and Rhode Island, are considered to be adequately mapped, according to the U.S. Geological Survey.

Health Leader to Tour

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dr. Donald C. Smith, director of the program in maternal and child health at the University of Michigan School of Public Health, will leave Thursday for a tour of Europe and the Middle East. Dr. Smith will study maternal and child health problems in the area under a fellowship granted by the United Nations World Health Organization.

Mackinac Bridge Rates as Tourist Drawing Card

LANSING — When completed in November 1957 the Mackinac Bridge will be the first motoring link between Michigan's upper and lower peninsulas. Currently the construction of the five mile long bridge is one of the nation's top tourist attractions, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Visitors may view construction operations from special vantage points on land or from excursion boats.

May Resume Aid to Yugoslavia

U.S. Is Reported Ready to End Present Ban on Military Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is reported about ready to resume military aid, including jet planes, to Yugoslavia after banning any weapons shipments for nearly a year.

A top-level decision to end the existing embargo is understood to be near, subject to President Eisenhower's final approval.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland (Calif), a vigorous foe of major military aid to Yugoslavia, is reported to have been advised by administration leaders that they are sympathetically considering such a move.

Under the ruling now taking shape, however, Yugoslavia would not get the full backlog of about 300 American jet fighters previously earmarked for delivery.

The Yugoslavs would receive an undisclosed number of them, a few at a time, over a period of several years. Shipments of American tanks, howitzers and other heavy military hardware would be renewed pretty much according to previous delivery schedules.

Under congressional pressure, the administration banned all military aid to Yugoslavia last Aug. 15, mainly because of suspicion that Marshal Tito might be patching up his eight-year-old quarrel with Moscow.

Congress itself banned use of new foreign aid funds for major military aid to the Yugoslavs, but did not make the ban apply to items previously approved but not delivered.

Castles Abundant in Madrid Suburbs

MADRID — Anyone who wants to live like a Spanish king can find his own castle right in the suburbs of Madrid. Roads radiate like spokes in a wheel from the capital to Castilian castles in Segovia, La Granja, El Escorial, Avila, Toledo and Aranjuez.

Scattered across this terrain of turrets and towers are a number of wayside inns, called paradores, run by the government which is spending $3 million for new hotels in 1957. Many of these state-operated inns are ancient palaces, re-vamped to combine historic charm with modern comfort. At the Parador de Oropesa, ancestral home of the Counts of Oropesa, 93 miles from Madrid, for example, a bedroom fit for a Bourbon prince plus three meals a day costs $5.50 including tax.

In Probe of Grocery Prices

Spotlight Food Gimmicks

WASHINGTON (INS) — A New York state adviser on consumer problems advised House cost-of-living investigators to look into "gimmicks" and "give-aways" sponsored by food processors and marketers.

Mrs. Persia Campbell, consumer counsel to the governor of New York, told a House agriculture subcommittee yesterday that no one knows "to what extent the cost of this promotion offsets the cost reduction assumed to go along with mass operations."

She expressed the hope in a statement prepared for delivery that the committee would "not only point out existing inefficiencies" in the food marketing process, but also "stimulate the companies involved to find effective ways to correct them" and cut food prices.

One area she suggested there might be a chance was in high-quality grocery items.

ELIMINATE SIZES

Mrs. Campbell noted that "with rising income, there has undoubtedly been a trend to high quality selection" of food and that "by eliminating smaller sizes or the less fancy products, in order to maintain or raise prices, an item of food may be put beyond the financial reach of a large number of people."

She also sounded an alarm about the ever-increasing use of packages in food sales. She said there should be more and better standards about the quality of goods that go into the packages.

She commented: "Consumer complaints have come to our attention indicating disturbing experiences with the quality of all or some units in a package."

No longer need you buy a suit now then put it away regretfully when the first sweltering day of summer sets in.

This miraculous blend of Dacron produces a fabric that is light enough and smart enough to be worn from Spring through Summer, and thanks to the magical properties of Dacron it will hold its press, keep its shape and smart lines indefinitely. Day in day out wear means nothing to this superb weave. The extra pair of trousers means that much extra service.

Drop in and see the new plaids, stripes, checks, plain colors, all in the brighter, lighter mood of Spring. Compare these suits with other values around town. We are confident of getting your nod of approval.

Pay Hike Asked in Armed Forces

Seek $49 Million Raise for Certain 'Proficient' Military Technicians

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 49-million-dollar "proficiency pay" raise for certain technicians in the armed forces was recommended to Secretary of Defense Wilson today by an advisory committee.

The Committee on Military Manpower also proposed lump sum bonuses for reserve officers who stay on active duty more than two years.

The final report of the committee, headed by Ralph J. Cordiner, General Electric Co. president, also had a plan to make further reductions in armed forces manpower, now about 2,790,000. Military manpower has been reduced steadily for about three years.

There was no recommendation for an across-the-board pay boost.

In substance, the final report appeared to be something substantially less than the objectives first outlined by the Cordiner committee. Federal budget makers have rebuffed Pentagon proposals for pay raises, basing the objection on the danger of inflationary trends.

Manistee College OKed

MANISTEE (AP)— The city Board of Education has approved a plan to start a community college in Manistee through cooperation of Central Michigan College. Classes will be held at Manistee High School.

Bob Considine Says:

No Wonder Reds Make Poor Ties

NEW YORK (INS)—Khrushchev complains bitterly that things are so bad in the Russian necktie industry that a supervisor must stand behind each worker — and even then they are lousy.

How can the poor blokes be expected to make a good necktie, while under the eye of a commissar who might use it on the worker if it's strong enough to support his weight?

Sen. Jack Kennedy, speaking of his near-miss for the Democratic vice presidential nomination last summer, and recalling a recent event at Churchill Downs, told the Overseas Press Club dinner:

"I stood up in the saddle briefly, to see what was going on, and Sen. Kefauver went past me to win by a nose."

George Kennan, Pulitzer Prize-winning former U. S. ambassador to the Court of St. Ivan, is among the more serious students who have carefully studied Alger Hiss' "Court of Public Opinion."

He met Hiss twice, once when the former State Department official arrived in Moscow with Secretary of State Stettinius and again when he called Hiss and half a dozen other young Foreign Service officers on the mat for a "leak" of an off-the-record talk by Secretary of Commerce Averell Harriman at the National War College.

"We may never know the full story of Hiss and Whittaker Chambers," Kennan observes. "I think it's plain they meant more to each other than either cared to or had an opportunity to reveal.

"If all that Chambers said of Hiss' days on the Communist fringe were true, Hiss could have saved himself all the expense and disgrace by saying, in effect, 'Of course, I fooled around with people like Chambers. A lot of us did at that time. Looking back on it, I now find it a mistake, and I'm sorry.'"

Speaking of the Hiss book, which could very well become a best seller, a tax-pressed author I know says:

"If Hiss is as smart as I think he is, he'll insert a foreword to the effect that he gathered this material while holding a Communist card for six months—back in the 1930s. That should entitle him to capital gains."

Not since the days of Greek mythology have so many animals been flying about. Last year, according to the Department of Agriculture, 63 per cent of the more than 25,000 large animals shipped in and out of the U. S. traveled by air.

Literally millions of baby chicks, tropical fish, chinchillas, monkeys, sloths, anteaters, flesh-eating Piranha fish, reptiles and platipuses (platipi?) also took wing.

Charles L. Gallo, president of Air Express International, owes it all to speed, economy and a desire to lower mortality rates traditional among birds, beasts and other fauna traveling by other means.

Last year 8,900 cattle were flown to Latin American; 5,797 went by sea. The Garrison Hatcheries of Bridgeton, N. J., ships a million chicks a year to Puerto Rico, Jamaica and the British West Indies.

The chicks are flown there in the first 72 hours after hatching, the only period in their lives when they need no handling or feeding. (Reminds me of Bugs Baer's old simile: "As startled as a chicken hatched in an egg beater."

Ordinary horses and mules still go largely by sea, on long voyages, but thoroughbreds insist on the plane.

(We know some horseplayers who'll chip in to send Bold Ruler to Keflavik, already.)

George Jessel denies he shot Costello. "It's Abbott I'm after," he says.

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE — The Soviet humor magazine Krokodil has attacked Russian farm men for giving themselves soft office jobs and sending their womenfolk out to the fields to do all the heavy work.

The caption on a front page cartoon of the periodical reproduced above declared: "In collective farm managements, in the offices of machinery and tractor stations and on state farms, office positions as a rule are occupied by men and hard labor is shoved off onto the shoulders of women."

The cartoon was labeled "Man's Fate" and shows a detachment of five husky male office workers marching into a collective farm office with pens over their shoulders.

In the background is a truckload of women, obviously headed for work in the fields.

Kite Flyers Given Safety Suggestions

DETROIT (INS) — Springtime is kite time and the Detroit Edison Power Co. has the following suggestions for safe kit-flying:

Fly kites in open fields away from overhead wires and streets and roads.

Use wooden kite frames and plain string. Metal frames and wire conduct electricity and may cause injury or death.

If the kite catches on a pole or tree, leave it there.

Don't fly kites during electrical storms. Benjamin Franklin did it but he was "lucky" he wasn't killed.

Compromise Billboard Bill Drafted by Senate Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—A compromise bill to control billboards on the 41,000-mile superhighway system has been drafted in an effort to satisfy all viewpoints.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn), reporting this today, said he thinks the compromise will be approved by the public roads subcommittee he heads and will reach the Senate floor. He has called a meeting for May 17 to consider the compromise.

The new version embodies some ideas from the Eisenhower administration proposal and the bill introduced by Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore), as well as suggestions of various members of the Gore subcommittee.

A key feature of the compromise would reward states which enter into agreements to control billboards, instead of penalizing them for not doing so as the administration originally recommended.

The incentive would be an offer to pay the states 90¾ per cent of the cost of building the interstate system, rather than the 90 per cent fixed in the 1956 Highway Construction Act.

Originally Secretary of Commerce Weeks proposed a penalty provision under which states not agreeing to billboard regulation would get only 85 per cent of the cost of the superhighways.

Advocates of billboard control contend this is the do-or-die year for some action in the field. They say that work on the interstate system linking all parts of the nation will be so advanced in another year that it will be too late to try to stop a rash of advertising signs on the system.

Under a somewhat more liberal exemption provision, signs would be permitted which are "determined to be in the interest of the traveling public and which, by reason of their location, frequency or character, do not impair the safety of travel or interfere with enjoyment of the natural beauty of the area through which the highway passes."

This might meet objections of operators of motels and other businesses located off the interstate routes who testified vehemently against the original bills. The mileage on which billboards are permitted would be limited to some small percentage of the total interstate mileage.

The compromise contains three other exemptions suggested by Weeks, permitting official highway signs, signs advertising the availability for sale or lease of property on which they are located, and signs advertising activities being conducted on properties on which they are located.

The new version also leaves for subcommittee determination the distance from the edge of the superhighways over which control would be exercised. Weeks suggested 750 feet on each side.

Asks What's State Tree Without a State Dog?

LANSING (AP) — Detecting a "strong sentiment" for the adoption of an official state dog, Sen. Charles S. Blondy (D-Detroit) has nominated the Brittany Spaniel.

"I understand we've adopted the robin as the state bird, the apple blossom as the state flower and the white pine as the state tree. Now, what is a state tree without a state dog?" He asked the senate. a state dog?" He asked the Senate. Blondy said his family pet is a French poodle.

Orion Club Sweeps Top Five 4-H Spots

The five blue ribbon winners are Rickey Muir, Bill Middleton, Edward Braid, Tom Middleton and Larry Middleton.

They competed in the western division because the county 4-H clubs missed the eastern contest. The only girl entered, Laura Guthrie, of Pontiac Township, was awarded a white ribbon.

Scare Offensive Kicked Off

New Campaign in Cold War Plotted by Kremlin Leaders

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

Moscow, apparently preparing for a new phase of the Cold War, has been warning the populations of at least 20 nations they face frightful destruction in the event a hot war breaks out.

This scare offensive, keyed to a newly concocted peace drive which will go under the name "the Berlin peace appeal" was Moscow's response to U.S. plans to equip western allies with guided missile and nuclear arms sites. The main Russian objective seems to be to steam up populations in favor of an unconditional ban on all nuclear weapons.

Apart from the genuine worry the Soviet regime seems to feel over the Western program, there are indications the new scare offensive provides a convenient screen behind which Moscow can launch its next combination of political and economic attack, with United States influence as the principal target.

Official warnings from the Kremlin itself have been followed up by concerted Moscow radio propaganda beamed at the countries on the list, and the threats have been followed immediately by softer-toned offers of alternatives to destruction—trade and "peaceful co-existence."

Threats, veiled or direct, have been issued by Moscow radio to Iran, Iraq, Turkey and Pakistan, all linked to Britain in the Baghdad Pact; to Britain herself, and to Norway, Denmark, Iceland, The Netherlands, West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, Libya, Morocco, Tunis, Saudi Arabia, Lebanon, Israel and Japan.

Chief source of Moscow's worry is the prospect of guided missile sites on allied soil, which could send missiles with atomic warheads possibly 1,500 miles. As the accompanying map shows, such missiles fired from Norway in the north or Turkey in the south could reach huge sections of Soviet territory. Even from Britain, the European country most distant from Russia, a missile of 1,500-mile range could almost reach Moscow.

Russia's most violent threats have been directed at West European countries. Typical was the campaign directed at The Netherlands, whose government Moscow accused of turning the country into an American base for guided missiles and atom bombs. Moscow pinpointed the missile site at Soesterberg in western Holland, and said this might happen if war broke out:

"One bomb, dropped on Soesterberg, would suffice to obliterate Amsterdam, The Hague, Utrecht, Amersfoort and the entire area between these towns."

The government of The Netherlands should, it said, "tell the grave truth—that the Soviet Union would, in the event of an attack on it, not shrink from destroying the springboards used for aggression against it."

The tone was similar in broadcasts to other Western countries.

There is an indication in all this that the Soviet Union might be worried that United States development of long range missiles might tip the power balance in favor of the West. If this were true, it would have a political effect on the fortunes of world communism which would not be to Moscow's liking.

Thus, Moscow appears to be attempting by threats and cajolery to destroy the potential and pave the way for further political and economic measures contesting American influence in Europe, Asia and the Middle East.

One means of destroying the potential, Moscow seems to think, is to bring heavy political pressures to bear in the countries involved to prevent the construction of such bases.

Some Western leaders, particularly in Britain, are worried. The fear which this Moscow propaganda reflects, and the very violence of it, could lead to measures of desperation by the Kremlin which might touch off a new world war.

Soviet Ship Is Fifth in Canal This Year

PANAMA (AP)—The 8,287-ton Russian freighter Kronstadt cleared the Panama Canal late yesterday, the fifth time this year that a Soviet ship has passed through the waterway.

The Kronstadt, carrying Cuban sugar for the Soviet port of Nakhodka on the Sea of Japan, arrived here Tuesday.

As in the case of the three previous Soviet ships—one made the trip through the canal twice—the Kronstadt was under close surveillance while in canal waters.

Budding Gardeners Branch Out

Forester Offers Advice to Stumped Tree-Planters

With a lot of do-it-yourself gardeners in the planting mood these days, Pontiac City Forester Donald E. Nagel has offered some advice relative to planting of trees.

If you intend to plant on city-owned property, he warned, you need a permit from the city.

"This is for the protection of the city so we don't get a bunch of damaging trees that tear up sidewalks and whose roots clog sewers," Nagel said.

If you're puzzled as to the type of tree to plant on your property, the forestry division of the Parks and Recreation Dept. offers free advice. Nagel can be called at FEderal 3-7131.

SELLS TREES

If you have found the ideal spot for a tree on your street, the city sells the proper tree for planting and then maintains jurisdiction for its upkeep.

The same is applicable to builders in most city subdivisions, the official said. "The cost is roughly what it costs the city to plant the trees," he added.

Presently the department is undertaking planting additional trees in the eastside Herrington Hills Subdivision. Already 125 of some 363 trees have been planted there by forestry crews.

Cox Brings 'Em Back Alive—to Pontiac

He's Beating Bushes for Teachers

By HAROLD S. COHEN

"Bring 'em back alive" used to be the slogan of the big game hunters who braved darkest Africa in quest of zoo specimens.

Today, the slogan might more appropriately be used by harassed personnel directors in certain fields who set forth regularly to visit the nation's colleges in search of scarce talent.

COHEN

In Pontiac, one such "hunter" is J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent in charge of personnel for the Pontiac School System.

With the chronic teacher shortage growing worse each year, Cox logs thousands of miles annually, often working seven days a week, to bring back qualified teachers for the community.

A typical day for Cox occurred last Friday when he visited three Michigan coleges and "snared" one young graduate.

But his travels often take him far from Michigan. He visits universities throughout the Middle West, New England and as far south as Kentucky and Tennessee. In all some 20 colleges are on his regular list.

The job of persuading the best teachers to come to Pontiac is not an easy one, Cox admits.

Starting salary is a big factor in a teacher's choice and there are some areas that pay more than Pontiac to beginners. But Cox has some strong talking points culled from years of asking new teachers what they liked about the Pontiac schools.

Among these are: Democratic procedure, with teachers included in curriculum planning; in-service courses available in Pontiac; adequate materials available; cooperative school board; reasonable class loads; good press relations; Business-Industry-Education Day; teachers professional organizations; and close to Detroit.

"Another attraction Pontiac has," said Cox, "is two full-time teachers who do nothing but work with the new teachers in our elementary schools and help them over the rough spots."

The real shortage today, Cox said, is in elementary teachers, but future trends show a rising need for secondary instructors coming up.

This year, Cox is seeking to fill 19 new elementary posts, plus replacements for 20 elementary and 20 secondary teachers who have resigned.

"That's better than last year," he added, "when I hired 126 teachers, 40 for new posts."

Despite the shortage, Cox will not hire a teacher without a personal interview. "My job is to decide whether they will meet our minimum standards and then get busy and sell them on Pontiac."

"The job is tough this year," he said, "and it has been tougher each year since I started in 1948. The colleges tell me the situation will ease up in the next few years, but they'll have to show me."

Footnote to Health?

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—Two million of Guatemala's 3,200,000 inhabitants were barefoot in 1957, officials estimate. The government announced that it would distribute 100,000 pairs of sandals to the more needy as start of a campaign to get the barefooted population, mostly Indians, to wearing shoes.

Karl Marx Wrote for New York Paper

NEW YORK (INS) — The little-known story of the days when the father of communism was a correspondent for a New York newspaper is featured in the current issue of "The American Heritage," the magazine of history.

The article by William Harlan Hale covers the 10 years beginning in 1851 "When Karl Marx Worked for Horace Greeley."

This is the period when Marx was mapping out "Das Kapital," and, according to Hale, was virtually dependent on the five dollars per article he received as European correspondent for Greeley's New York Tribune.

Labor at the Crossroads: 4

Both Labor, Management Face Problems

By RELMA MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate investigation of racketeering in labor-management relations will step up the battle over proposed laws touching many of their other common problems.

You hear this on all sides today.

It is a belief shased by union leaders, employers and the industrial relations specialist — who often stands between them — as they watch the McClellan committee hearings.

They agree, generally, that a "climate of public opinion" unfavorable to the unions has arisen from testimony on welfare funds and financial practices of some unions.

Labor says, however, that corruption is not a "one-way street."

But apart from the question of corruption, what are the other great problem areas between the employer and the union?

William B. Barton, general counsel of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, listed five fields where, he said, he believes nw lgislation may b considered by Congress. Thy are:

1. "A federal 'right-to-work' law.

2. "A new approach to applying antitrust laws to the unions.

3. "Plugging loopholes in the sections on secondary boycotts.

4. "Means of getting more democracy in the unions.

5. "Union contributions in a political campaign."

"RIGHT-TO-WORK" LAW

Labor calls it the "right-to-wreck" law. It bans union shop contracts, which require that all employes in a bargaining unit must belong to the union.

Employer groups and the unions disagree as to the effects of such laws. One side advances statistics to show they attract business into a state, raise wages, stimulate economic activity in general. Labor produces other statistics to create industrial strife.

ANTITRUST LAWS

Two years ago, the attorney general's national committee to study the antitrust laws wrote:

"Reported cases indicate that some unions have engaged in some practices aimed directly at commercial market restraints by fixing the kind or amount of products which may be sold in any area or their market price. Such actions run counter to our national antitrust policy . . .To the best of our knowledge, no national union flatly claims the right to engage in such practices."

SECONDARY BOYCOTT

This means an instance where, for example, a union having a dispute with a manufacturer picketts a store that sells his products. Or it may result from a fight between two unions and involve a third party.

DEMOCRACY IN UNIONS

Sen. McClellan D-Ark. has letters describing "dictatorship" in unions. Labor leaders say they try to get more members to attend the meetings, and to participate more actively in union business — but that the majority are "apathetic." Few concrete answers to the problem have been proposed.

POLITICAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Walter Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, testified last October, "We are deeply committed to labor union political action and proud of our role in this field. The things we seek for our members . . . cannot be won at the bargaining table alone."

He added that labor contributions are "just peanuts' compared with contributions of management.

Arraignment Set Monday in Bogus Check Case

Lester Packett, accused of cashing a bogus check here last July, and brought to Pontiac from Tennessee by local police was bound over to Circuit Court Wednesday.

The 24-year-old former Pontiac man was freed on a $300 bond by Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum until arraignment Monday.

Hot Home-made Chowder Tempts but Doesn't Tire

Hot, hearty and homemade—that's our theme for today. Surely there's nothing so tempting, so satisfying as a bowl of soup you've fixed yourself. No long and tedious process is our recipe for vegetable chowder.

There's no old fashioned stew plan simmering on the back of the stove for hours and hours. Instead, we exploit the marvels of vegetables prepared for us to use, vegetables processed at their peak of flavor and vitamin content. And we come up with a generous amount of wonderful soup, enough to serve a round dozen, or allow for bountiful second helpings in an average family.

Teaming quick-frozen lima beans with savory onion, our soup also calls for the added convenience of quick-frozen diced potatoes.

Here's a dish that's substantial enough to double as the main attraction for lunch or supper, savory, nourishing, just plain good. And so quick to fix.

Vegetable Chowder

4 stripe bacon, shredded
1 medium onion, finely chopped
3/3 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic
4 cups water
3 or 4 mushrooms, sliced (or 1 3-oz. can sliced mushrooms)
1 sprig parsley
1 bay leaf
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen lima beans
1 10-oz. pkg. frozen diced potatoes
4 cups milk

Place shredded bacon in large, heavy pan and cook over moderate heat until crisp. Drain bacon on absorbent paper and reserve. Add chopped onion to hot fat (it may be necessary to add more shortening) and cook, stirring frequently until onion is tender, not brown. Add salt to garlic and chop finely. Add garlic and water to onions, and bring to a boil. Add all ingredients except milk and cover pan. Simmer gently about 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Add milk. Reheat. Remove parsley and bay leaf before serving. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Use Potato Soup Sauce

Cooks that know say frozen cream of potato soup makes a wonderfully good sauce for chipped beef. First, pour hot water over the dried beef (4-ounce package) to remove excess salt. Drain. In a saucepan lightly brown the beef in 2 tablespoons butter. Add a can (10¼ ounces) frozen condensed cream of potato soup and 2-3 cup milk. Heat, stirring occasionally. Serve over toast. Yummy! 3 to 4 servings.

Cherries Stud Ham Mousse

Maraschino cherries and ham combine to make delightful fare and have a special affinity for each other when blended into a light-textured mousse. It's the delicate almond flavor of the maraschino cherries that adds a new and delightful taste to the ham.

Maraschino Cherry Ham Mousse

1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 chicken bouillon cube
1 cup boiling water
2 cups ground cooked ham
¼ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely chopped green pepper
½ cup mayonnaise
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon horse-radish
½ cup chopped maraschino cherries (about 20 cherries) drained
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve bouillon cube in boiling water; add gelatin and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Cool. Add remaining ingredients except cream; mix well. Chill until slightly thickened; fold in cream. Turn into 6 individual molds; chill until firm. Unmold and surround with crisp salad greens, if desired. Serves six.

You can use the liquid and oil from canned salmon to replace an equal amount of milk in a white sauce that is to be served with the fish.

Baked Onions Have Oomph

ONION AND TOMATO CASSEROLE — Onions become a nutritious and satisfying main dish when they are cooked in a casserole with fresh tomatoes, green peppers and celery and seasoned with basil. Buttered bread crumbs are sprinkled over the top.

The onion has oomph—no doubt about that.

Its distinctive, pungent flavor has made it perennially popular throughout a long and honorable history. The Greeks and Egyptians ate more of it than any other vegetable. The Israelites in Egypt so enjoyed the onion even during their captivity that when led into the wilderness, they immortalized their craving in a wistful lament (Numbers 11:15), not only for the onion but also for its vital little sisters, leek and garlic.

Few other vegetables have been more lyrically extolled by writers. One called it "the poetic soul of the capacious salad bowl." Another sang

"Let the onion-atom deck the wooden bowl
And, half-suspected, animate the whole."

But to praise and use onion only as the soul of a salad (or as a potent sphere of influence upon the flavor of other foods) is to give it a raw deal, because the onion, on its own, cooks up into such a limitless variety of excellent main vegetable dishes. Boiled, broiled, steamed, creamed, fried or baked in casserole, onions are delicious in themselves and flattering to any meat dish.

Baked Fresh Onion and Tomato Casserole

12 medium onions
½ cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
3 medium tomatoes
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup diced celery
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
½ teaspoon crumbled whole basil leaves
¼ cup flour
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ cup soft bread crumbs

Peel onions and place in a saucepan with boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt. Cover, and parboil 12 minutes. Drain. Place in a 1½-quart casserole.

Dice tomatoes and mix with green pepper, celery, seasonings and flour. Add to onions. Cover and bake in a preheated moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes or until tender.

Combine melted butter or margarine and bread crumbs and sprinkle over the top. Continue baking 10 minutes longer or until bread crumbs are brown. Yield: Six servings.

Ever flavor your refrigerator rolls with grated orange rind? Nice with baked ham and a salad for a ladies' luncheon.

Add Cream Cheese to Berry Shortcake

Halve the cost and double the enjoyment of strawberry shortcake by combining the berries with cream cheese. The Cream Cheese Shortcake topping is prepared by mixing a few fresh or defrosted berries with a package of cream cheese, cream and lemon juice.

Serve in individual shortcake dainties from your grocer's ready-to-eat cake department. Here's all you need:

1 pint strawberries
1 3-ounce package cream cheese
1 tablespoon cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 package shortcake dainties

Blend the cream cheese with cream and lemon juice. Mix with cleaned and quartered berries. Spoon strawberry-cheese mixture on shortcakes. Makes four servings.

THE EXTRA TOUCH TO COFFEE THAT BRIGHTENS THE WHOLE DAY

Put a touch of heaven into your next cup of coffee. Pour in plenty of rich Sealtest Cream. Makes all the difference in the world! Fresh, delicious Sealtest Cream makes everything taste better. So handy—at your door or store.

Sealtest CREAM

Tomatoes, Cheese in Egg Casserole

Good recipe to keep in mind when you aren't sure who is showing up for lunch because you can bake only as many servings as needed.

Baked Spanish Eggs

For each serving—
3 tablespoons tomato sauce
2 green olives
2 eggs
2 tablespoons grated Romano or Parmesian cheese

Put the tomato sauce into a buttered individual shallow baking dish—a heat-resistant glass pie plate that is about 6 inches in diameter and 1 inch deep is fine. Cut olives from pits in thin strips, chop and add to sauce. Break eggs over tomato sauce, without breaking yolks.

Sprinkle with grated cheese, making sure yolks are covered with it. Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven until eggs are firm—about 25 minutes. Serve at once.

Note: Canned meatless tomato-mushroom spaghetti sauce is fine to use in this recipe.

Soup Makes Quick Sauce

Sauces made with cream soups are a great help for homemakers in a hurry. When you make macaroni and cheese, tuna noodle casseroles, or any casserole that calls for a rich cream sauce, use one of the cream soups suggests Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Michigan State University Marketing Information Agent. Then try adding extra seasoning with curry powder, chilir powder, or hot pepper sauce.

Make Hit With Father: Serve Breakfast Steak

Want to make a hit with father? Then serve the "man of the family" steak. Give it to him early in the morning and watch him smile all day.

Thin cut club, rib, T-bone and even sirloin steaks are ideal for breakfast service, for the meat cooks quickly when pan-broiled atop the range.

Plan a delicious breakfast around beef steak. Choose club steaks, rib steaks, or strip steaks so that each "breakfaster" has his own, then pan-broil the meat until juicy and brown.

Serve the meat with sauteed pineapple chunks, prepared by heating the pineapple in the drippings from the steaks. Add hot toast or "Pop's" favorite rolls and plenty of hot coffee.

To panbroil steaks, follow these directions:

1. Choose tender beef steaks and have them cut ½ to ¾ inch in thickness. Thicker steaks are best when broiled.

2. Preheat a heavy skillet and rub lightly with fat. If you wish, cut a little piece of fat from the edge of the meat to grease the hot skillet. (The fat prevents meat from sticking to the hot pan.)

3. Place steaks in hot greased skillet and brown on one side. Reduce heat and turn steaks as often as necessary to cook evenly. Turn and brown the other side.

4. Test for doneness by cutting a slit next to the bone with a sharp knife. When the meat is cooked to the preferred doneness, remove from the pan.

5. Season pan-broiled steaks after removal from cooking pan and serve immediately.

(If steaks chosen for pan-broiling yield a quantity of drippings during cooking, pour off fat as it accumulates to avoid frying the meat.)

Minute steaks—the less tender beef steaks which have been scored by a special machine to cut the fibers and thus make the meat more tender—may be prepared by pan-broiling. As their name suggests, minute steaks cook in less time—one to two minutes per side.

Ground beef patties, ¼ to ½ inch thick, also may be cooked by pan-broiling.

Frozen steaks—thin-cut steaks, commercially or home frozen, may be cooked by pan-broiling without thawing. Follow package directions or the general directions for pan-broiling steaks.

BREAKFAST STEAKS — A quartet of pan-broiled club steaks, garnished with sauteed pineapple chunks is the feature of this breakfast. Start with fruit juice, add hot toast and lots of hot coffee, for a breakfast never to be forgotten. Use steaks ½ to ¾ inch thick.

Fruit and Spice Glamorize Pudding

New twist to apple pudding.

New Apple Betty

1 cup milk
¼ cup butter or margarine
6 slices toast (cubed)
4 eggs
½ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
2 large tart apples (cored and pared and diced)
½ cup (about 20) drained maraschino cherries (quartered)
2 tablespoons brown sugar

Heat milk slowly; add butter and continue heating until butter melts. Pour over toast cubes in 2-quart baking dish. Beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites; add sugar, salt, cinnamon, diced apples and quartered cherries; mix well. Pour over bread mixture. Sprinkle with brown sugar.

Place in a pan of hot water and bake in slow (325 degrees) oven about 45 minutes or until set. Serve warm garnished with whipped cream if desired.

October 9 is the date annually designated by the Dominion of Canada to observe its Thanksgiving day.

Food in Freezer Can Be Saved If Current Stops

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (INS)—What to do until the home freezer starts running again is a problem Grandmother never faced, but it is a very real specter to the modern homemaker.

Hurricanes, tornadoes, floods—or merely a utility pole snapped by an erring motorist—or a mechanical failure at power plant or in the home—can suddenly pose this problem. But there is an answer—or rather several answers, as Miss Lois Oberhelman, Purdue University nutritionist, sees it. Her suggestions:

First try to estimate how long the freezer will be off. If this modern food preservative will be back on the job within a few hours, don't do anything except keep the freezer closed.

Ordinarily food will stay frozen for at least one day if the freezer is not opened, and for as much as two days when the box is fully loaded with food.

But if the emergency situation is going to last a while, then the housewife has three methods by which she can save her family's future food supply. These are:

1. If a commercial locker plant is nearby and has space available, wrap your packages of frozen food in newspapers and blankets, or put in insulated boxes and rush to the plant.

2. If no locker space is available, try obtaining some dry ice. Miss Oberhelman says that 50 pounds of dry ice will keep the temperature at 15 degrees for two days in the average freezer. She added:

"If dry ice is put in the freezer, blankets, quilts or other covering may be placed over the cabinet, but be sure to fasten the blankets so they do not cover the air vent openings. Power may go on unexpectedly and ventilation will be needed.

3. If neither locker nor dry ice is available, then the homemaker can always go back to Grandmother's method. In case of power failure, use the jars, lids, can rubbers and canning kettles of a pre-freezer era.

If the food in your home freezer thaws during an emergency power blackout, then cook it and can it.

How Much Butterfat?

A definite proportion of butterfat is a "must" in the various kinds of cream which you homemakers buy. Half and half cream, for instance, contains from 10 to 12 per cent butterfat; coffee cream is a bit heavier as it contains 18 per cent butterfat; the heavy cream you purchase for whipping must contain 30 to 36 per cent butterfat.

Virginia Ham Must Be Soaked Before Cooking

Here's the traditional method of cooking an aged, old-style Virginia ham—the true Virginia ham, not the flaccid rose-colored meat which appears all over the country, hiding under a sugary crust and a few cloves:

First, cover the ham with cold water and let stand overnight. Hams more than 18 months old will require 24 hours soaking, or if very hard and salty, perhaps as much as 40 to 48 hours.

Second, scrub with a vegetable brush to remove all traces of mould, because even a little of it may ruin the flavor of the whole ham. Use plenty of lukewarm water.

Third, simmer but don't ever boil. Place the ham skin-down in a deep pan on a rack and cover with water. Many people cook their hams with a claret, burgundy, sauternes, cider, and sometimes even champagne. Bring to the boiling point and then cut back the heat immediately, for even a few minutes boiling will make the ham tough.

Cooking time varies depending on the age of the ham. There's one way to tell when it's cooked enough: the flat bone at the butt end will separate from the meat. Now turn off the heat and let the ham cool in its own liquid for several hours.

Fourth, bake, fat side up, on a rack in a baking pan or broiler pan, cover the fat side with brown sugar and stick with cloves or cassia buds. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees F., for about 15 minutes, and enjoy a vivid, never forgotten link with the past.

Poke Dough With Finger

When a recipe says to let your yeast dough rise 'til double in bulk, it simply means this; the impression made by one finger in the side of the risen dough or by two fingers plunged into the top of a ball of risen dough remains there instead of filling up again.

New York's newspapers today are printed in 19 different languages.

You can place hot meat or poultry in the refrigerator cool. It's not true that such practice causes them to spoil. Always refrigerate meat and poultry separately from the broth in which they were cooked.

Mother Lets Children Help Her

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Perhaps Mrs. Don McMillen of Menominee road will have to make her own fancy cake for Mothers Day this year. But her three-year-old daughter, Phyllis, is well on her way to becoming a good cook and can doubtless take over the job in a few years.

Ever since Phyllis and her older brother, Joe, have been able to climb on a kitchen chair they have been "helping" Mama cook. Their younger brother, Matthew, will start taking his turn when he is old enough; right now his age is still counted in months.

Mothers who refuse to let children do things in the kitchen often say they don't like the mess. If they can grit their teeth for a time at the beginning, their patience will pay off. In later years they will be repaid by children who are capable of getting meals when necessary and of being a real help. We speak from experience.

At any rate, the McMillen children help fix vegetables, make gelatin desserts and cool drinks and prepare their own soups. Phyllis makes a beautiful peanut butter and jelly sandwich, her mother says; she works with great precision, copying the way she has seen Mama work.

Phyllis makes cupcakes from a packaged mix. Mrs. McMillen buys a mix that produces just six cupcakes. After they are baked Phyllis makes an orange frosting for them.

PHYLLIS' FROSTING

Put two cups of confectioners' sugar in a bowl. Add two tablespoons undiluted concentrated orange juice. Mix well. Amounts of both sugar and orange juice may be varied to produce a frosting of good spreading consistency.

This frosting should be good spread on sweet rolls. If put on as soon as the rolls come out of the oven, it should give an orange glaze.

Mothers Day is meant to honor mothers everywhere. Mothers are laying good foundations for future years when they work with their children and let the children participate in the work of the home.

"I CAN DO IT, MAMA" — Three-year-old Phyllis McMillen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don McMillen of Menominee road, carefully spoons cupcake batter into paper baking cups. Her mother stands by, ready to help if necessary. The chocolate cupcakes at the right are baked and about to have Phyllis' special frosting spread on them. In a couple of years Phyllis will be able to do the whole job by herself and make her mother a special cake for Mothers Day.

Cooked Vegetables Make Good Salad

Ever use cooked vegetables in a salad?

Three Vegetable Salad

1 cup cooked carrot strips
1 cup cooked snap beans (cut in strips)
1 cup thin strips raw celery
¼ cup mayonnaise
3 to 4 teaspoons lemon juice
Curry powder
Salt, pepper
Salad greens
Paprika

Toss the carrots, snap beans and celery together. In a small bowl mix the mayonnaise and lemon juice; add the curry powder, salt and pepper to taste. Arrange on salad greens; sprinkle with paprika. Makes 6 servings.

Cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg make an excellent combination for spice cake.

When purchasing, select onions that are well-shaped, dry and without sprouts. Keep them in a covered container in a cool, dry place as light and moisture causes them to sprout and decay.

Tips on Buying Veal Come From Expert

In Michigan veal may vary from a few weeks of age to just under one year. This makes for quite a difference in color, flavor and size of veal cuts, says Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Michigan State University Marketing Information Agent.

The best veal will be a light grayish pink. The meat will be very fine in grain and fairly firm and velvety in texture. Veal has little fat, but what there is should be firm and white.

Look for the circle stamp that says the meat has been U. S. inspected and passed for wholesomeness. Look for the packer's brand or a Federal shield shaped grade stamp that is rolled along the cut with a purple vegetable dye. These are good indicators of quality veal.

FRESH ASPARAGUS — Make the most of the season for asparagus because it is so limited. As a change from your regular butter topping serve this spring vegetable with a paprika-sour cream sauce.

A Sure Sign of Springtime

One of the wonderful things about spring is fresh asparagus. The season is not very long, so let's make the most of it.

COOKED FRESH ASPARAGUS

For 6 servings, select 2 pounds fresh asparagus. Cut or break off each stalk as far down as it snaps easily. Remove scales and wash thoroughly. Cook, covered, in a small amount of boiling water (about 1 inch deep in saucepan) to which 1 teaspoon salt is added for 15 to 20 minutes or until just crisp-tender. Drain. Serve with one of the following sauces:

PAPRIKA SOUR CREAM SAUCE

Saute 2 tablespoons chopped onion in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add 2 tablespoons paprika, 1 cup sour cream, ½ cup mayonnaise and 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice. Season with ¼ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon ground white pepper. Serve at once over hot cooked fresh asparagus. Garnish with paprika.

ITALIAN TOMATO SAUCE

Heat ¼ cup olive or salad oil in a saucepan. Add ½ cup diced onion, ½ cup finely diced green pepper and ½ cup finely diced celery and cook until limp and transparent. Stir in 3 tablespoons chopped parsley, 2 cups finely diced fresh tomatoes, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper and ½ teaspoon whole basil leaves and cook until medium thickness, about 10 minutes. Serve at once over hot cooked fresh asparagus.

Mix Bean and Beef for Gourmet Soup

Company Black Bean Soup

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed black bean soup
1 can (10½ ounces) bouillon (beef broth)
½ cup water
2 tablespoons cooking sherry
Thinly sliced lemon
Sliced hard-cooked egg

Mix black bean soup, bouillon and water together in a saucepan. Heat slowly, stirring occasionally. Stir in sherry. Float a slice of lemon and one of hard-cooked egg on each portion after serving. Makes 3 one-cup servings.

Man is affected by 80 diseases also common to animals.

Delicate Cookies Keep Best in Covered Can

Make a few thrifty cookies!

Meringue Cookies

½ cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1½ teaspoons flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 egg
¾ cup sugar
Grated rind of one-half of a large orange

Stir together the rolled oats, flour and baking powder. Beat egg with rotary beater (hand or electric) until it begins to get thick.

Gradually beat in sugar, then grated orange rind. Fold in rolled oats mixture. Drop level tablespoons of the mixture, several inches apart, on a greased baking sheet.

Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven until tawny colored, about 10 minutes. Remove at once with long side of wide spatula, to cooling rack. When cold, store cookies carefully, because they are crisp and hollow, in tightly covered container. Makes about 18.

Various Fats Differ in Making Pastry

How do butter, margarine, lard, hydrogenated fat and oil compare in pastries?

Home economists at Michigan State University report that research shows butter and margarine give a crisp, crackery pastry. Although the flavor is good, this pastry is not so tender and desirable as that made with lard or hydrogenated fat.

Lard makes a flaky and tender pastry. Because it has greater shortening power, less of it is needed than of other fats to make a pastry of equal tenderness.

Oil gives a tender crust that is less flaky. A good product can be made by using one-third cup of hydrogenated fat, one-fourth cup of oil or one-third cup minus one tablespoon of lard for each cup of sifted all-purpose flour.

Cress Adds Tang to Rolls

It's nice to serve piping-hot Parker House rolls with Watercress Butter and a sprig of cress slipped into each fold as the rolls emerge from the oven. The Watercress Butter—good too as a topping for broiled lamb chops or lamb steaks—is ½ cup softened butter with a heaped ¼ cup of snipped crispy-fresh cress leaves and a few drops of lemon juice stirred in.

Sweet Pickles Add Tang to Salad Mold

Emerald Garden is a colorful version of the old favorite, the molded vegetable salad. Chopped sweet pickles and sweet pickle liquid give extra zing to this dish.

Emerald Garden Salad

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¼ cup cold water
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup boiling water
Green food coloring
½ cup liquid from sweet pickles
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup finely shredded cabbage
¼ cup chopped sweet pickles
2 radishes, sliced paper-thin
½ cup chopped celery

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add sugar, salt and boiling water; stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add enough food coloring to make the gelatin an attractive green. Stir in pickle liquid and lemon juice. Chill until gelatin begins to set. Fold in cabbage and remaining ingredients. Pour into four individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on lettuce and serve with French dressing. Makes four servings.

Water Chestnut Chews

Drain canned water chestnuts. Wrap each in a portion of a strip of bacon, "pinning" it on with a wood pick. Place on broiler pan after turning lamb chops or in hot oven until bacon is crisp. Serve piping-hot at once as a garnish for the lamb chop platter. Good too as appetizers—any time.

For an early spring salad, combine rings of Bermuda-type onions with grapefruit sections, salad greens and French dressing made with grapefruit juice. Toss in a chilled salad bowl and serve.

MAPLE NUT LOAF — The maple syrup season is over and the sap has all been made into syrup or sugar. Take advantage of this fresh crop and use some of the syrup in a quick loaf bread. The recipe comes from Vermont, a maple sugar state.

Maple Syrup Flavors Bread

The maple sugar season is always a big event in Vermont. To make that delicious event national, here is a recipe from the heart of the maple sugar country.

Mrs. Harry Hornick of Londonderry, Vermont, the cook, says:

"At our house," where the tea or coffee pot is always on the stove, a slice of maple nut loaf spread with butter, jam or cream cheese is such a delightful way to spend a few minutes while we enjoy the New England countryside through the kitchen windows."

Maple Nut Loaf

2 eggs, beaten
¾ cup milk
¾ cup maple syrup
½ cup brown sugar
2 cups sifted enriched flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)
½ cup chopped nutmeats
⅓ cup melted shortening

Mix together eggs, milk, maple syrup and brown sugar. Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Add all at once to egg mixture, stirring lightly. Add oats, nutmeats and shortening, stirring only enough to combine.

Pour batter into a greased, waxed paper-lined loaf pan (1-pound size). Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F). 50 minutes to 1 hour. Cool thoroughly on a wire rack before slicing.

It's Time to Freeze Beef

If you're fond of high quality beef, and if you have a freezer locker or home freezer, now is a good time to put beef in the freezer. The Department of Agriculture says this is usually the time of year when grain-fed beef, which produces the most desirable steaks and roasts, is most abundant.

Use a sharp knife dipped into water when you are cutting a meringue pie. Repeat the dipping between cuts. The water may be either warm or cold.

Curry in Dumplings Sparks Lamb Stew

"Spring is bustin' out all over" and most of us, bored with dull weather, crave something new—a new hat and suit, of course—but even more important, we crave something new and different for everyday meals, new dishes to perk our winter-weary appetites.

Spring lamb seems to gambol in at just the right time. A Savory Lamb Stew with Curry Dumplings is a meal to enjoy—to relish now—when lamb is at its tender succulent best.

Savory Lamb Stew with Curry Dumplings is a lamb dish that budget watchers can serve often, since it utilizes the low-cost cuts of this epicurean meat. But budget or no—when you spark rich, hearty dumplings with exciting new flavor, and team them with tender meaty lamb, you have a bountiful feast with real appetite-coaxing appeal.

SAVORY LAMB STEW WITH CURRY DUMPLINGS

Stew

1½ pounds boneless lamb stew meat, cut into 2-inch pieces
⅓ cup all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons shortening
2 cups water
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup sliced onion
½ cup one-inch pieces of celery
2 tablespoons finely chopped parsley

Dumplings

1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 tablespoon sugar
¾ teaspoon salt
¾ teaspoon curry powder
½ cup wheat germ
½ cup finely diced pared apple
¾ cup milk

Roll meat in flour. Brown well on all sides in hot shortening in heavy skillet. Sprinkle remaining flour over meat; add water, salt and pepper. Cover tightly; simmer for 1½ hours.

One-half hour before serving, prepare dumplings. Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar, salt and curry powder. Blend in wheat germ and diced apple. Add milk all at once; stir only until flour is dampened.

Mix vegetables (onion, celery and parsley) into hot stew. Drop dumpling dough by tablespoonfuls on top; cover tightly. Cook gently 20 minutes without lifting the cover. Serve immediately on hot platter.

LAMB STEW WITH CURRY DUMPLINGS — A hearty one-dish meal of tasty Lamb Stew with Dumplings appeals to good cooks and budget-wise homemakers. Nut-like wheat germ, tart apples and flavorful curry powder are combined with the usual ingredients to make these dumplings extra special — with extra flavor, extra goodness, extra nutrition.

Tart Red Cherries Ideal in Cake Sauce

RED CHERRY SAUCE

1 can (1 pound and 1 ounce) pitted tart red cherries (water packed)
⅓ cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
Salt
Brandy flavoring

Drain cherries thoroughly. If necessary, add enough water to cherry juice to make 1 cup. Stir sugar, cornstarch and a dash of salt together in a 1-quart saucepan. Add cherry juice slowly, stirring after each addition until smooth.

Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened and boiling; boil 1 minute. Pour over cherries. Add brandy flavoring to taste. Serve warm over hot cottage pudding.

Nonfat Dry Milk Is Boon to Health, Convenience

BY JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Do you use nonfat dry milk at your house? If you don't, you're missing a good thing. Yes, yes, we know, you don't like skim milk, and that powdered stuff tastes. . . .

People on diets have had cause to bless this modern product more than once. It is so easy to keep on the pantry shelf and so simple to use.

What we are interested in today, however, are the ways the average family can use nonfat dry milk. We know that many women do not know how to use it. We know that properly used, it contributes to the family's good health and saves money.

You will be giving your family more of the minerals and vitamins that are available in milk. Nonfat dry milk is a rich source of protein, calcium and riboflavin. Only the water and butterfat have been removed.

Dry milk has other uses. Just the other day we made bread. We used water for the liquid in the bread, then added a heaping half cup measure of dry milk. One-third of a cup is the equivalent of one cup of regular skim milk. We added nearly twice that much, making the bread more nutritious at very little extra cost and no effort. The taste was not affected at all.

You can add a little more dry milk powder to almost any recipe where milk is called for, thus enriching the dish. Try this method with prepared pudding mixes, with muffins and rolls, with cream sauces and with meat loaves. When you fix mashed potatoes the next time, add some dry milk to the potatoes and use the potato water for the necessary liquid. Very simple, yes?

Are your children chocolate milk drinkers? Why not save money by making a prepared chocolate syrup and keeping it on hand for instantaneous mixing?

Chocolate Milk

¼ cup sugar
Dash salt
⅓ cup hot water
1 square chocolate, melted
¼ teaspoon vanilla

Add sugar, salt and water to melted chocolate. Mix well. Boil gently five minutes, stirring occasionally. Cool and add vanilla. Pour into jar, cover and keep in cool place.

At serving time mix 1½ tablespoons syrup with ½ cup nonfat dry milk. Add one cup hot or cold water to make one glass. This will contain twice the usual milk value.

Chicken Tetrazzini is a recipe that appeared in many old cookbooks. It featured sliced chicken in a rich white sauce, combined with spaghetti in a casserole.

A modern version of this recipe uses shrimp in a cream sauce made with nonfat dry milk. There is no reason why you can't substitute chicken if you so desire.

Shrimp Tetrazzini

2 (12-oz.) packages frozen shrimp in shell or
2 cups cooked, shelled, and deveined shrimp
1½ cups thin spaghetti broken in 2½ inch pieces
3 cups liquefied instant nonfat dry milk
⅓ cup flour
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 (½ lb.) package sharp process cheese, shredded
1 (6-oz.) can broiled mushroom slices, drained
½ cup sherry, optional
1½ cups soft bread crumbs
3 tablespoons melted butter

Cook shrimp according to directions on package; shell and devein. Cook spaghetti just until tender; drain well. Pour liquefied instant nonfat dry milk into top of double boiler; sprinkle flour, salt and pepper over surface. Beat with rotary beater until just blended.

Add cheese; cook over hot water, stirring occasionally, until mixture thickens and cheese has melted. Remove from heat; add mushrooms and sherry.

Place spaghetti, shrimp and sauce in 2½-quart casserole; stir gently with spoon until sauce has coated all ingredients. Coat bread crumbs with butter; sprinkle on top of casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 30 minutes, or until sauce bubbles.

Lemon Coconut Snow

½ cup cold water
½ cup instant nonfat dry milk power
2 (3-oz.) packages lemon flavored gelatin
4 cups hot water
¾ cup finely chopped coconut

Pour cold water into deep 1-quart bowl; sprinkle instant nonfat dry milk powder over surface. Beat with rotary beater or electric mixer until stiff, 8 to 10 minutes.

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Chill over ice water, stirring constantly, until the consistency of unbeaten egg whites. Stir in coconut. Fold in whipped milk.

Rinse a 2-quart mold with cold water. Pour mixture into mold. Chill until firm, about 4 hours. Unmold. Serve with center of ring mold filled with berries in season, if desired.

Don't Ask for Money to Buy Gift

Hostess at Shower Should Beware of Commercialism

By EMILY POST

A letter tells me: "I am going to give a shower soon for the daughter of one of my friends. The young lady for whom I am giving the shower wants a special kind of cooking utensils.

"It has been suggested to me that instead of having the guests bring presents I make a notation on the invitation saying that $2.50 will be collected at the shower from each guest to go toward the cooking utensils. What do you think about this?"

Answer: I am sorry but I cannot approve of this. To ask guests to bring a specific amount of money, even though small, has an unpleasantly commercial sound and is not in good taste.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a high school senior and I am faced with a problem concerning graduation announcements. My boy friend and I have been going together for quite some time and although his parents live in this same city, I have seen them only a few times.

"Would it be proper to send a graduation announcement to my boy friend and his parents as a family, or to send them separate announcements, or would it be best not to send them any announcements at all?"

Answer: Your boy friend will certainly know of your graduation and therefore it is not necessary to send him an announcement, and since you say you do not know his parents too well, I would not advise your sending them one—unless your boy friend asks you to.

"Dear Mrs. Post: At a cocktail party, is it necessary to remove one's gloves to drink a cocktail?"

Answer: They may be left on if everything that you touch is dry. For instance, if the glass has a stem on it and the little canapes are dry, you need not take off your gloves.

If the glass is moist and whatever you pick up is buttery, you naturally take off at least one glove.

Often Affects Their Ability to Make Friends

Shyness Besets Many Teenagers

Teenage often is a time of extreme shyness. Regardless of bright exterior, many are so self-conscious and unsure that it affects their ability to make friends.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Although we may think of teenage as a boistrous, outgoing fun age, actually it is often a time of extreme shyness. Most teenagers experience some of this in spite of their bright exterior.

Many of them are so self-conscious and unsure that it affects their ability to make friends and therefore their happiness. At no other time does it seem so important to be popular and to "belong" to the crowd.

A couple of letters before me highlighted the truth of this.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman:

"My girl friends say that I am pretty and likable, but when a boy asks me for a date I always refuse even if I like him because I know I am not really attractive and, anyway, I am so shy that I would not know what to talk about.

"I know that if I keep this up boys will stop asking me to go out but I just can't seem to get over it. Please help me. I am 15 years old."

This is an extreme example but I am sure that it is not unusual and that many girls have this experience to a lesser degree. Men never have been famous for dating a wallflower because they felt sorry for her, especially very young men.

Therefore, when a boy asks a girl for a date it is sure evidence that he thinks she is attractive. A gal need have no fears on that score.

Conversation improves with practice just as any other art does. You cannot possibly feel at ease as you could unless you practice talking with the opposite sex as well as with your girl friends.

Try to forget yourself and think of the boy you are with. Find out what sports he likes, what books he reads, what his general interests are. Talk about school activities will give you a starting point.

Try to forget how you look and what impression you are making. Turn your thoughts toward others. They are probably just about as self-conscious as you are. Make them feel comfortable.

If you would like to have my leaflet written especially for teenagers send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58 "Popularity." Address Joephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Solons Like Rural Style of Dancing

Forget Worries at Party Arranged by Their Wives

BY JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — It took nothing stronger than a tomato juice cocktail or more complicated than a patty-cake polka to get the congressmen to shed their Capitol Hill worries.

A square dance, arranged by their wives at the Congressional Club, was a new experience for some, but it proved a limbering, frolicsome antidote for taut nerves, and over-burdened brains.

Mrs. Page Belcher, who with her husband, the Republican congressman from Oklahoma, is an enthusiastic veteran of the square dance club of their home town, Enid, was chairman of the shindig.

Some 95 lawmakers and their wives ate heartily from a buffet of fried chicken, baked ham and escalloped oysters.

The real business of the evening began with nine squares of four couples each, moving at a vigorous pace with patter and singing calls.

Most of the women wore regular square dance costumes, or full-skirted cotton dresses, and many of the men wore bright-colored loose-hanging sports shirts.

TEACHES STEPS

J. E. Johnson, who came to Washington from Lincoln, Neb., five years ago to work for the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, calls and teaches square dances as a side line.

His wife, who assists him, says most of the congressional couples had already been "exposed" to square dancing.

"There's not an area of the country where it isn't popular, especially among the middle-age groups," she explained.

"The congressmen really let their hair down. They clapped and had such fun. We wish even more would get interested. It's so relaxing for men whose minds are so active."

Among the dancers were Republican Congressmen Clifford McIntire (Me), Robert Harrison (Neb), Fred Schwengel (Iowa) John V. Beamer (Ind), Karl Lecompte (Iowa), Harold Ostertag (NY) and Phil Weaver (Neb) and their wives.

Democratic congressmen attending were Alfred Sieminski (NJ), John McMillan (SC), Ed Edmonson (Okla), Walter Rogers and Frank Ikard (Tex) and Errett Scrivner (Kan) and their wives.

Consider Safety When Choosing Curtain Fabrics

One thing to consider when selecting which synthetic fiber you want for curtains, and other household uses, is how safe the material is against flame.

Nylon, dacron, saran, velon and glass fibers are among the safest, according to Virginia Polytechnic Institute, because these fibers melt instead of blazing. These fabrics also rate high in resisting the fading effects of sunlight.

When washing these synthetics, use medium hot water and avoid harsh twisting and violent agitation in washers. Such action causes creases which often cannot be removed.

Chapmans All Like This Bread

Beaten Egg White Added Last of All to Date Nut Loaf

By JANET ODELL

Every time Mrs. Joseph Chapman's family goes on a trip they want some of her date nut bread. The Chapmans have recently moved to Pontiac from Minneapolis, so have been eating date nut bread.

Mrs. Chapman confesses to having no particular hobbies, says her family is her main interest. She does a bit of sewing and reading in her spare time.

DATE NUT BREAD
By Mrs. Joseph Chapman

1 cup dates, chopped
¾ cup hot water
1 teaspoon soda
1 egg, separated
¾ cup sugar
1¾ cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
½ cup chopped nutmeats

Cut dates into a bowl. Add soda and hot water and let stand until cool. Add egg yolk and sifted dry ingredients. Add other ingredients and stir until flour is mixed in. Beat egg white stiff and fold into batter.

Bake in a greased bread tin in a 325-degree oven for one hour. The Chapmans like this bread spread just with butter.

Bride-to-Be Announces Attendants

Bride-elect Gwenn Rathka announced her bridal attendants at a miscellaneous shower given in her honor Wednesday by Mrs. John Driscoll and daughter, Barbara. The Driscoll residence on Lincolnshire drive was the setting for the affair.

Gwenn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rathka of Rochester, will become the bride of James L. Shelly May 25 at St. Paul Methodist Church in Rochester. He is the son of Mrs. John Shelly of Finley, Tenn., and the late Mr. Shelly.

Barbara Driscoll will serve as the bride's maid of honor. Other attendants will be Mrs. Ronald Guyett and Vandine Shelly.

Attending the shower were Mrs. Rathka, Mrs. Carl Rathka, Mrs. Ronald Guyett, Mrs. Roland Lathrop, Jill Lathrop, Mrs. Agatha Rathka, Dorothy Rathka, Mrs. Robert Vaden, Mrs. Bryan Becker, Mrs. Earl Zimmerman, Mrs. Dora E. Jones and Hazel Rathka.

Allemanders Club Sets Dance Dates

Plans for the dances of the coming fall term and for the annual summer picnic were made at the meeting of the officers and board of directors of the Allemanders Square Dance Club. The recent meeting was held at the Milo Struble home on Woodbine drive.

Mr. Struble, president, chose committee heads and set dates for dances for the coming year.

Marlene Cook Is Given Shower in Ott Home

Bride-elect Marlene Cook was the honoree at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Milton Ott of Beechland street.

Marlene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Cook of North Perry street, will exchange vows with Carl J. Olson Jr. May 25 at St. Michael Church. Carl's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Olson of Wilmington, Del.

Attending the Monday shower were Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Tom Dodson, Mrs. Harry Anderson, Mrs. Don Brooks, Patricia Adams, Mrs. Bud Mathews, Margerete Neeb, Mrs. Archie Cotcher, Mrs. Jerry Abland, Mrs. John Beck and Patricia McGinty.

Others included Janet Mercier, Mrs. Cliff Lebo, Sandra Myles, Mrs. Tony Karembetsos, Mrs. Robert Gierman, Margie Robinson, Joyce Campbell, Mrs. Gene Harden, Mrs. Al Netzel, Melba Young, Mrs. Bob Walter and Mrs. Ray Carpenter.

Shirt-Collar Stays Are Permanent

Junior will find it impossible to lose the collar stays in his new shirts—because now they're permanently attached.

It will be worth mother's while to look for this new idea in boys' shirts. The permanent collar stays are made of washable flexible plastic and heat-resistant rubber—no laundering problem, no ironing problems.

Grouchy, Snapping Man Cheats Both Self, Family

His Homecoming Is Low Point of Day for Resentful Wife and Children

By RUTH MILLETT

Memo to men:

For your wife and children your homecoming is probably the most important moment of the day.

If you habitually come home with a grouch, snapping at the kids, ready to let your wife know that you've had a hard day and all you want is a little peace and quiet, your homecoming is important because it is the low point of the day.

Your wife dreads it. The children dread it. The strain your grouchy arrival puts on the family is likely to last all evening.

But if you usually come home with a smile and a hug for the kids, ready to hear what they have to tell you, and seem glad to see your wife, your family will wait for you each evening anticipating one of the happiest moments of the day.

A man owes that much to his family . . . and to himself. For a man loses, too, when he saves up all his irritation to unload on his family the minute he hits the house.

He has to live in the strained atmosphere he creates. He has to put up with the fear and resentment he arouses in his wife and children. And he is the one who misses the fun and warmth of family life when it is at its best.

All the fun he ought to be a part of will take place when he is away from home.

An habitually grouchy husband and father never gets more happiness than he gives.

Today's Teenagers Frequently Lapse Into Lassitude

They're Bored, Bored, Just Plain Bored With Life

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Most of the nation's teenagers are bored in spite of all the modern entertainment gadgets.

Perhaps they're not bored every minute—but a good part of the day.

Of the boys interviewed in our cross-country poll 78 per cent say they sometimes are bored. The percentage of lasses suffering from lassitude is even higher: 85 per cent.

One girl sighs: "There are moments when I think I will go out of my mind with boredom."

An Arkansas boy says: "My crowd and I often sit in one guy's house for hours looking out of the window. We just can't find that much to do. Of course, if we lived in a big town it would be different."

SAME AILMENT

But a 16-year-old lad from a big town, Chicago, complains of the same ailment.

"I take up new hobbies every couple of months to give me something to think about. But it doesn't work. I guess I'm just a blase individual."

Monotonous as they frequently find their existence, 84 per cent of the youngsters we interviewed feel they get as much enjoyment out of life today as their parents did when they were children.

"I guess all kids are bored sometimes," notes Tommy, 15. "I bet Dad did about the same things when he was young as I do now. He must have been plenty bored a lot of the time."

Comparing their lives with those of youngsters a century ago, our young moderns are almost pitying.

MANY ADVANTAGES

They agree they have many advantages today children of a 100 years ago never dreamed of—television, radio, telephones, motion pictures, airplanes, tape recordings, electrical appliances.

Since automation entered the home with pushbutton appliances to do just about every chore, youngsters have their work around the house cut to a minimum.

Transportation is faster, too. Everything seems to give teenagers more time and less activity.

"Machines do all the work," 15-year-old Sandy of Connecticut says. "There is nothing left for us to do. So we just have to sit around—bored to tears."

"Bored? Why, man, that's not too far from the truth," agrees a Boston lad, 17. "None of the teenagers I know has enough to keep him busy for an hour a day. Certainly we're bored."

Television contributes to their general ennui. It's conceded that TV keeps children better informed on world affairs and in most fields of knowledge.

But knowing more leads to sophistication which in turn can make young people blase. Nothing is a surprise or a thrill any more.

Take the circus coming to town. This used to be one of the year's high spots for a child. Thirteen-year-old Maura says:

"I'll never forget my disappointment when I went to the circus for the first time. Television was much better. You could see the animals closer and that awful smell wasn't there."

In a previous study we explored the fact that participation by young people in sports is steadily declining.

There is an obvious connection between bored teenagers and fewer young people on the playing fields.

THEY'RE NOT IDLE

Youngsters who like sports aren't sitting around twiddling their thumbs for lack of something to do. And the physical exertion keeps them feeling alive, stimulated and interested.

In fact, it has been medically proved that the formative years need strenuous physical activity.

The teens generally are bursting with energy and require sufficient interests and activities to occupy their minds and bodies. Otherwise, they may lapse into lethargy.

Some young people think their humdrum feeling is an inevitable symptom of the growing-up process.

One high school sophomore explains: "Being bored some of the time is simply part of being a teen. Why, everyone I know gets to feeling that way. It doesn't mean a thing. I think it's all a part of becoming adult."

'STATE OF MIND'

One New Haven, Conn., girl, 16, asserts from experience:

"It's all a state of mind. Last year I was always restless and edgy. Since I became a junior I find I am more interested in the things around me and so am rarely, if ever, bored."

This should be a big comfort to 15-year-old Arlene of Mamaroneck, N.Y., who complains:

"We're going through a 'stage,' say all the adults we meet. Well, I hope the 'stage' passes because it's no fun to suffer from a lack of interest in nearly everything."

Probably the most philosophical approach is taken by Annie Lee, 18, of New York City:

"All normal teens are bored sometimes. Besides, who do you know is bursting with interest and energy every minute?

Today's youths find that canned entertainment and automation merely add to their ennui.

Take Weight Off Slowly to Prevent Wrinkled Skin

There's just one safe way to reduce: With a medically approved diet that allows you to take off weight slowly.

Women who brag that they've placed themselves on diets that shed as much as 30 pounds in a month are asking for health problems.

In addition, they don't seem to realize that they're damaging, rather than improving, their looks.

For skin to retain its elasticity, weight reduction must be very gradual. It must be accompanied by careful care of skin and by exercise to keep the body in trim.

If you're planning to go on a diet, consult your doctor first and make sure that he advises it.

Remember that you need a balanced intake of food every single day and that fad diets will only injure both health and beauty.

Simplest Ideas Are Most Salable

By ANNE HEYWOOD

The best ideas are always, it seems to me, the simplest.

Whenever I get letters from people with elaborate and highly complicated ideas for a product, a piece of advertising copy, a patent or a book, I can be pretty sure it's no good.

But when a simple one, a very obvious, why-didn't-I-think-of-that one, comes along, I can be pretty sure it has merit.

I thought of that the other day, when I was interviewing Pauline Rush Evans.

Mrs. Evans is an attractive woman, mother of a grown boy and stepmother of a couple of little children.

She knows a good deal about children and loves them, and, like many of us, she became concerned about the Johnny-can't-read controversy.

WHY SO DIFFICULT?

Why, she began to wonder, was it so difficult to get children to read? Maybe it was television, or the fast pace of modern life or some deep-seated mystery. But maybe it was a lot simpler than that.

Maybe so many of the children's books were just plain boring, that Johnny figured why bother. Maybe if the children had really fascinating stories, they'd read them.

Mrs. Evans went further than that. She began to collect all the old-time children's classics, stories that generations of children had loved for years.

The result was a three-volume set, The Family Treasury of Children's Stories, which includes things as old as Mother Goose and as new as Kon-Tiki.

Part of the idea was to include, for children, some of the stories adults had found fascinating, such as excerpts from Kon-Tiki, Anapurna, The Sea Around Us and others.

DESIRE TO READ

In other words, if you can make Johnny want to read, you can make him read!

If, like so many of my readers, you are trying to think up ideas which will bring you money, recognition or both, remember these two points which Mrs. Evans so well illustrates.

First, deal with the subject matter you know well, the things you find in your daily life.

Second, when you find yourself getting involved and complicated, stop short and change your pitch. It's the simple, plain-as-the-nose-on-your-face kind of idea which is salable!

Here's How Labor Can Clean Up a Union

By REIMAN MORIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—What action can organized labor take to correct abuses when it finds them in a union?

You are seeing the machinery operating now in the case of the powerful Teamsters Union and its president, Dave Beck. The AFL-CIO has used it before with other big unions.

The AFL-CIO is a federation of unions with 15 million members. The Teamsters, with more than 1 million members, is its biggest affiliate. Nevertheless, the federation suspended Beck as a vice president and a member of its Excutive Council.

It took this action when Beck, pleading the Fifth Amendment, refused to tell a Senate committee about his personal use of Teamsters Union money.

That was the first step.

The second is an investigation of charges of "corruption" in the union, conducted by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee. This group is composed of five presidents of big unions, the Machinists, Garment Workers, Maritime Workers, Railway Clerks and Clothing Workers. It will report to the AFL-CIO Executive Council.

If the council follows precedent, it will then give the Teamsters 90 days to correct conditions cited as "malpractice" by the committee — which might mean firing officers held responsible for them.

The fourth and final step could be expulsion of the Teamsters from the AFL-CIO.

"The action of the AFL-CIO Executive Council in dealing forthrightly with Mr. Beck . . . indicates that we are not going to compromise with corruption in the American labor movement," said Walter Reuther, a member of the council.

Last January, using the procedure outlined, the AFL-CIO cited three internationals for misconduct. They were the Laundry Workers, the Allied Industrial Workers, and the Distillery, Rectifying and Wine Workers.

The unions were ordered to clean up in 90 days. That period expires this month. The AFL-CIO is scheduled to review the three cases to determine whether abuses have been eliminated.

Before they merged, the AFL and CIO both went to the extreme of expelling unions.

The CIO booted out 11 internationals in 1949 and 1950 "found to be Communist dominated."

The AFL, a few years later, clashed in a spectacular fight with the International Longshoremen's Assn. on the New York water front. It came about after a state crime commission investigated the ILA.

At its 1954 convention, the AFL expelled the ILA.

It went further. It set out to organize a rival union.

In the second of three elections, the AFL spent over a million dollars trying to win the longshoremen into the rival union. The ILA won the election by a margin of about 200 votes out of 20,000.

Citing that episode, it has been argued that the AFL-CIO, in the last analysis, is powerless to discipline a union.

Union officials, however, attribute the failure of the AFL to win the election, in part, to the improvement of working conditions on the dock.

What will happen in the case of the Teamsters? Here again, the AFL-CIO confronts a big and powerful union. What action will be taken? How effective will it be? Not only labor and management but a whole nation is watching.

Tomorrow: The road ahead in labor-management relations.

Wisconsin Department's Land Under Lake Water

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin Conservation Dept. has bought 54 acres of land on the shore of Hook Lake, but don't try to find it on the map.

When the map surveys were made, the lake was dry and shoreline property owners had extended their boundaries out to the center of the swamp that remained. The lake since has returned and the property owners retreated to the shoreline.

Two Nominated by City Groups

Policemen, Fire Fighters to Pick Representative In Joint Election

Two men were nominated last night at a joint meeting of the Pontiac Police Officers Association and the Pontiac Firefighters Association to be on the ballot for the two groups joint representative on the civil service commission.

They are Theodore Carlson, present commissioner selected by the fire department and Vance Hanger, retired captain of the Pontiac Police.

The election, held between the two groups, will be conducted sometime this week. A write-in blank will also be available on the ballot.

Since the citizens of Pontiac voted to give the Pontiac Police civil service in the April 1 election, the police will now be governed by the same civil service commission as the firemen.

The commission will consist of one representative selected by the fire and police and one by the city manager. Then these two appointments choose a third man to serve on the commission.

The term of Gerald Guinan, city-appointee to the commission, expires Friday.

Post Office Warns Another Cut Likely

WASHINGTON (AP)—Another big fight over Post Office Department funds was brewing on Capitol Hill today, with renewed cuts in postal services a possibility starting July 1.

Postmaster General Summerfield told Congress yesterday such cuts probably will have to be made unless the lawmakers give him 70 to 90 million dollars more in fiscal 1958 than was asked in President Eisenhower's budget.

This statement was made to a Senate Appropriations subcommittee just before it voted to restore 32 million dollars of the 58 millions sliced by the House from the 3¼ billion dollars requested for the postal agency in 1958.

GM Critic of Ike Won't Say More

DETROIT (AP) — A General Motors Corp. executive says he has nothing further to add at present to his letter accusing President Eisenhower of repudiating campaign promises and of a "disturbing swing to concepts of the far left."

At Ft. Benning, Ga., yesterday, W. H. Doerfner, general manager of GM's Steering Gear Division at Saginaw, said, "I am surprised that my private-citizen-to-President letter has been made public. I've had my day in court and I have nothing further to add."

Doerfner indicated he would be interested in any official reply and might have something to say then.

GM headquarters in Detroit said "Mr. Doerfner spoke as a private citizen and his views are his own."

'From Fairyland to Farmington'

Castle Object of Interest for Miles Around

By MARY CELINSKE
Farmington Correspondent

"The Castle" on Middlebelt road near Eleven Mile road has probably excited more interest and comment than any other residence in the South Oakland County area.

As seen when approached from the north or west, the building appears to be an ancient castle, lifted in its entirety from a fairy tale and set down upon a local hilltop.

The hill falls away so sharply that the windows of the "castle" look out upon the tree tops in the valley below, and a stream winding along the base of the hill lends the distinct suggestion of a moat.

"The Castle" was built in 1938 by Howard D. Yoder and his family, who did most of the work themselves. Yoder had "always wanted to build a castle"—so he built one; with a round tower, bell tower, parapet, gargoyle, sunken fountain, circular staircase and many other imaginative features.

Yoders lived in the castle until 1950 when it was sold.

The building was then allegedly used as a plush gambling casino until it was raided by police in October, 1952. There appears to be no clear record of what happened to the place after the raid until it was purchased in 1955 by its present owners, Dr. and Mrs. Sylvan A. Broadman.

The entrance to the house is reached from Middlebelt road, up a drive winding through an orchard.

On a wall near the entrance is a knight's shield and battle-ax, with a helmet superimposed. Beneath this is the owner's name.

The narrow entrance hall, with the coat closet opposite the door, leads to the foyer which is the most striking feature of the house.

Opposite the entrance to the living room, a circular staircase of white ironwork rises gracefully to a balcony at second floor level.

The stairway is wide, the steps broad and low. The conventional rail has been replaced by thick rope covered in wine-red velvet. Mrs. Broadman plans to recover this with needlepoint which she is now engaged in making. On a deep window ledge near the top of the stairs, rests the helmet from a suit of armor.

The foyer is a full two stories high, with a large star cut into the center of the ceiling. The lighted recess above the star is painted midnight blue, creating a striking effect in the all white room.

Walls and ceilings throughout the house are stark white, with the blue in the foyer and the upstairs bathroom the only paint colors used.

Mrs. Broadman chose shades of gray, beige, green and red for every room in her home, and strong colors have been used sparingly. Carpeting throughout the lower floor, stairs and upper hall is sand-tone beige.

The living room, so spacious that a concert grand piano in one corner fails to dominate, looks out upon the treetops below the house on the north side. Outstanding feature of this room is the great fireplace with its raised hearth at the east end.

Over the fireplace is the motto "Burn, fire, burn. Whose hands above this blaze are lifted, shall be with magic touch engifted."

The room is furnished in traditional style, with emphasis on charm and comfort.

The study, three steps below the living room, in the round tower, is a perfect circle. The walls are book-lined floor to ceiling, and deep red drapes hang at the four narrow windows. This room, smallest in the house, is carpeted in a rose, beige and green floral pattern. The flush, circular ceiling light bears another motto. "Through seas of knowledge we our course advance, discovering still new worlds of ignorance."

In this day of dinettes and dining ells, the Broadman dining room, two steps above the living room, seems almost baronial in size. Here a full size Duncan Phyfe dining suite, large buffet and serving table are easily accommodated. Mrs. Broadman has brought color into this room in drapes which match those of the living room, and in the deep rich tones of the oriental rug on which the table stands.

IRON BELL IN TOWER

A sun porch, opening from the west end of the dining room, looks out on the swimming pool, and to the left of the pool is the square tower, in the top of which hangs a great iron bell.

The lower part of the tower is used as a bath house and can be entered only from the side nearest the pool. To the right of the sunporch, stone steps set into the steep hillside, lead down to the stream that flows along the base.

KITCHEN MODERN

The kitchen, with its white tile, cupboards and appliances, also holds the automatic laundry equipment. A large alcove off the end nearest the dining room serves as a breakfast room. At the far end of the kitchen, a short hall leads to the basement and attached garage. From this hall a small bathroom opens.

Upstairs, all bedrooms open from the balcony. Eva Lou, the Broadman's nine-year-old daughter occupies the first room at the head of the stairs. The carpet is sandtone beige, the furniture is blond in color and modern in design.

The children's television set is in this room, and here too, Eva Lou keeps her collection of miniature dolls. These tiny treasures, some only two inches high, were collected for her from all over the world by Mrs. Broadman's brother.

The Broadmans' two boys, Howard, 7, and Alfred 2, share a larger bedroom. Here again the walls are white, and the carpeting gray. Colorful patchwork covers the bed, and both walls and windows on the north side of the room are draped in a red, green and gray leaf print. Furniture in this room is modern.

Two steps above the balcony floor, a short hall leads to the master bedroom. On the left a door opens to the children's playroom and the maid's quarters.

The master bedroom is spacious, light and airy, with an alcove at one end for the twin beds. Walls are white, but the doors to the closet and double wardrobe are padded and covered in black velvet with escutcheons in gold. The carpet is blue gray, and drapes are gray, coral and turquoise on white. In this room, Mrs. Broadman has returned to traditional furniture.

The bathroom is in the upper part of the round tower. This all blue and white room is another perfect circle. The walls are blue tile to shoulder height, with white enamel above. The floor is white tile. All fixtures are white except the bottom of the sunken bathtub, which is blue.

The Broadman family came to Farmington from Detroit. Mrs. Broadman, a registered nurse, is a native Detroiter, a descendant of the Beaubiens, one of Detroit's old families.

The doctor, a certified member of the American Board of Pediatrics, is a native New Yorker.

Niagara Falls in Canada No Longer 'Dry'

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (AP) — The gurgle of liquor will soon be added to the roar of the waterfalls in this honeymoon resort on the Canadian side of the border.

Niagara Falls has gone wet.

Residents voted yesterday to legalize cocktail bars and dining lounges, reversing the decision of a similar plebiscite in 1954.

Previously only beer could be drunk in public; hard stuff purchased from government liquor stores had to be consumed in the home or a hotel room.

Nearly 9,000 of 13,800 eligible voters cast ballots. The vote on cocktail bars was 5,734 for and 3,061 against, an affirmative majority of 65.2 per cent. For dining lounges it was 5,776 in favor and 3,061 against, 65.7 per cent affirmative. A "yes" vote of 60 per cent was needed to permit establishments to apply to the Ontario Liquor License Board for permission to sell liquor by the glass in dining rooms or bars.

In the past the 10 million visitors who come here annually were forced to cross into Niagara Fall, N. Y., if they wanted something stronger than a drop of beer.

Avondale Carnival to Be Held Friday

AVON — The Annual Spring Carnival of Avondale High School will be held at 6:30 p.m. Friday, in the school gym. The crowning of the king and queen will take place at 10 p.m.

The usual games along with boxing, ping-pong and a talent show will comprise entertainment.

Proceeds from the carnival will be divided between the foreign student fund and the tennis court field. The program is being sponsored by the PTSA and the Student Council.

Soldier Faces Charge of Concealed Weapon

Army Specialist 3-C Robert Strevel, 19, of 1619 Joslyn St., was turned over to Army authorities yesterday after he was arrested by Pontiac state troopers, and charged with carrying a concealed weapon.

Strevel, who recently returned from Korea, was en route to Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., yesterday morning when he was stopped by Troopers Joseph Kendzierski and Robert Neigbauer for a speeding violation at Telegraph road and 15 Mile road.

The weapon, found hidden under Strevel's jacket, was a .45 caliber U. S. Army pistol.

Kaline's Streak at 8 as Tigers Win

Al Now Batting .305 After Two Hits Yesterday

Boone Collects 1,000th Base Knock to Help Duke Maas Gain 4th

DETROIT (AP) — An eight-game hitting streak has Al Kaline over the .300 mark for the first time in the 1957 season.

The Detroit Tigers' 22-year-old rightfielder slammed out a double and a triple, driving across two runs in the Tigers' 11-3 victory over the Washington Senators yesterday.

Kaline has rapped out 15 hits in his last 33 times to the plate and raised his average to .305—that's 101 points better than his average before the streak started.

Harvey Kuenn was on base every time up. Charlie Maxwell singled and homered high off the third deck and drove in three runners with his home run and a sacrifice fly. Reno Bertoia had a single and a double in four trips to maintain his torrid pace, first baseman Ray Boone got the 1,000th base hit of his major league career and Jim Bunning pitched four innings of near-perfect ball to preserve Duke Maas' fourth straight victory.

There were many contributors to the Tigers' sixth win in seven games, but no one was happier than Boone. The 33-year-old infielder had failed in 11 at-bats to record his 1,000th hit.

When it finally came, it was a blooper to short right field that three Washington players failed to reach, and it drove in one of the Detroit runs in the fifth inning when they broke up the game with a four-run splurge.

"It was a struggle," said Boone. "It was a lot easier getting my first big league hit than it was getting this one."

The Senators, dropping their 10th straight and their 18th in 22 starts, rapped 10 hits off Maas in the first five innings and twice held the lead. The Tigers' fifth-inning rally and Bunning's pitching helped Maas to a 4-1 record. Bunning held the Nats hitless over the last four innings.

Today is the windup of the three-game series, and Detroit's Frank Lary will oppose righthander Camilio Pascual (1-3).

Saves 11-3 Victory for Maas

Bunning Best Tiger Fireman

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Bunning's frequent and seldom-faulty relief pitching points up both the strength and weakness of the Detroit Tiger bullpen.

The sallow-cheeked Kentuckian ran his string of hitless, scoreless innings to seven and two-thirds yesterday, blanking the Washington Senators over the last four innings to put out the fire and save Duke Maas' fourth straight victory, 11-3 over the powerless senators.

Two days before the 25-year-old sinker ball specialist had retired all eight batters he faced against Baltimore. The only blemish on his performance yesterday was a pair of walks. He struck out four of the Senators.

"He's our ace out there," said manager Jack Tighe after his club's sixth triumph in its last seven starts. "You know, he hasn't allowed a home run this season. That's important, especially when a guy is going in there a lot of times in tough spots."

Bunning, who was in the running for a starting job in the early spring, has struck out 18 batters in 19 2-3 innings and has yielded only five earned runs. Most of them came in his only start — the second game of the season against Kansas City. Bunning failed to last out the first inning and has been a reliefman ever since.

"It's doubtful if Jim has the strength to go full speed for nine innings," said his manager. "He's done such a fine job in relief that he's happy and so are we."

But Tighe isn't happy with the remainder of the bullpen, with the possible exception of lefty Al Aber and veteran Steve Gromek. The Tigers definitely are shopping for two relief men, and Tighe says "it's our No. 1 problem right now — and we have to strengthen our relief pitching if we're going to be the rough team we're expected to be."

He said general manager John McHale agrees with him on this. "I'm certain he's going to do everything possible in order to help the club in that respect," said Tighe.

Tighe would like most to get George Zuverink back from Baltimore, but says the chances appear remote. He's also interested in Don Ferrarese and Bill Wight, two southpaws from the same club.

Tigers are willing to part with Eddie Robinson and Jim Finigan, two of the players they obtained in the winter deal from Kansas City. The Orioles may be interested in both of them because of the knee injury that will keep rookie third sacker Brooks Robinson out for a long spell, and because the Orioles need bench strength, possibly more than do the Tigers.

The Tigers must cut two players by midnight next Wednesday.

"EIREMAN" — Jim Bunning has been the Tigers' "fireman" pitcher this season. Yesterday Bunning saved Duke Maas' 4th victory in an 11-3 decision over Washington.

CHICAGO (AP) — Bill Gorman of Purdue and Bob Klaus of Illinois, each with .583, top Big Ten batting marks, official conference baseball statistics showed today.

Ram Linksmen Win 6th Match

Firing a 4-man total of 183 to Clarkston High's 193, St. Frederick's golfers yesterday chalked up their 6th straight match victory. Rams are unbeaten in dual matches.

Medalist at the Municipal layout was Clarkston's Bill Junglas with 39, four over par. Rams' best were Ed Kast and Joe Keller, with 41s.

Coach Gene Wright today named Ed and Dick Kast, Keller and Bill Raps as his team for Friday's Class C regionals at Brentwood course, Flint.

Drake Leads Dragons to Fifth Track Win

Three 1st place finishes by Jim Drake paced Lake Orion's track team to a triangular track victory at Romeo yesterday. Orion compiled 56 points, Romeo had 49 and Lapeer 32.

Drake totaled 16¼ points by winning the 100, pole vault and broad jump. His 10.4 in the 100 and Jim Neph's winning of the 220 in 23 seconds were among the best showings of the day. The Dragons have won five of six starts.

Walled Lake Nips Crary

Despite winning five out of nine events, Isaac Crary bowed to Walled Lake, 39-38, in a junior high school dual track meet Wednesday at Crary. The Vikings took six 2nd places to spell the difference. Crary's Tim Underwood won the high jump and 100-yard dash and ran a leg on the winning relay team for 11¼ points.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Professional baseball has handed Ralph Young, former Michigan State athletic director and now representative from Lansing, his first political reversal.

Young, who has been trying to get legislation for protecting young athletes from being lured prematurely into professional sports, had his bill defeated by the Senate Judiciary Committee this week.

Last week the House approved it by a lopsided margin, and it was known to be opposed especially by professional baseball organizations.

In proposing the bill Young said, "many young athletes dreaming of big things, sign away their future for peanuts."

The essence of the bill was to require probate court approval of contracts between minors and pro baseball clubs.

Young's intent to protect high school and college minors has received favorable comment from prep and college coaches and officials.

BECOME PROS WITHOUT PLAYING

One Michigan State official recently said, "There must be at least two dozen young boys attending MSU eating out their hearts now because they can't engage in intercollegiate athletics due to a contract they signed. They now find themselves pros without a pro job."

"No college baseball coach would stand in the way of one of his players signing a big pro contract, but many kids are signed strictly for use on some lost farm team," said the official.

COMMENT ON BIG BIG 10 CODE

The Big 10 Code which was accepted recently in connection with the awarding of scholarships has drawn ire and unfavorable comment from conference and other coaches.

"The code will kill the Big 10," said one visiting coach from the East at the MSU coaches clinic last weekend.

A pro coach said the code is the best thing that has happened to schools like Notre Dame, Marquette, Cincinnati and other Midwesterners.

"Marquette will be able to play a few sophomores this year and beat Wisconsin," said the coach, "and Marquette coach John Druze like Notre Dame is making a big haul of freshmen for next year as result of the code."

Essentially the code rules that a Big 10 school can offer a boy only the difference in aid after the conference has determined what the boy's family is capable of paying toward his education. That is, if room, board, tuition and books amounts to $1,500 a year, and the conference determines the boy's family is capable of paying $800, then the school will make up the difference of $700.

It also specifies that Big 10 schools cannot make gestures at a boy until June 15th.

Entry Deadline May 22

10 Schools File for Press Tourney

By H. GUY MOATS

Interest is mounting among area high schools over participation in the 6th annual Pontiac Press Prep Invitational golf tournament May 27 at Pontiac's 18-hole municipal course.

Already 10 schools have filed entries. As many more were expected to join the field of hopefuls before the entry deadline on May 22. The tournament is a fully approved event, and operates under Michigan High School Athletic Association rules and regulations.

Last year's championship Waterford team was practically wrecked by graduation. It also lost its coach in a change of mentors this spring, but will be back in the lists shooting for a 2nd title. Only one member of the titlist five remains, Cleland Chanbaneau. But the squad will be strong again, under the direction of Johnny Coleman who succeeded Pete Evarts. Other top boys at present include Doug Hales and Chuck Canterbury. Coleman will name his others, plus two alternates, later on.

In last year's test, Skippers came from behind a four-point deficit at the turn to win over a fast Royal Oak club by four strokes. Waterford carded 390, Oaks 394. Birmingham was 3rd with 396.

Maples will be back again, also with a new coach, and minus ace Tim Baldwin who battled Skippers' Johnny Wettlaufer for the medals. Wettlaufer won in a playoff. He's gone, too. Mike Conroy and Pete Green are back as nucleus for the 1957 Maples team.

New Maples' coach is football coach Carl Lemle.

Royal Oak has signified its intention of entering the event, but has not filed formal entry.

Other entries include Avondale, Holly, Rochester, Pontiac, Milford, Farmington Troy and Van Dyke Fitzgerald.

Coaches of other invited schools are urged to file their entries as soon as possible, but not later than the May 22 final date.

Tourney is the only MHSAA approved newspaper prep golf test in Michigan. It is a five-man team affair, medal play over 18-holes distance.

Board to Complete PHS Grid Staff

Pontiac High School's football coaching staff is expected to be completed when the Board of Education meets tonight in its regular monthly meeting.

Approval will be given by the staff of head coach Jesse MacLeay, who received the appointment nearly two months ago.

Ed Heikkinen, presently the baseball coach, will probably be retained as MacLeay's top assistant. Heikkinen will probably be approved as backfield coach for Pontiac High.

The varsity grid staff is expected to be completed with Fred Zittle, Dean Wilson and Arnold Wilson.

All were assistant coaches under Ed Graybiel who resigned the head coaching post last December.

Two athletes from the University of Illinois, who will be graduated in June, will be named as additions to the school district faculty.

Steve Szabo, who captained the Illini wrestling team the past season and who was recently named the school's "outstanding athlete of the year," will join MacLeay as freshman football coach and instructor in physical education and science.

Gene Norris, also from Illinois, is expected to share the freshman coaching duties. He will probably assume a faculty position in physical education in the school district.

Both were recommended by MacLeay who terminates his duties at Illinois with the close of the school year in June.

Want "Dream Race"

Pimlico After Top Colts

BALTIMORE (AP)—Pimlico officials anxiously awaited word today from the owners of three top colts to learn whether the Preakness may be a "dream race" or a nightmare.

All they could count on so far for the $100,000-added race was the presence of Kentucky Derby winner Iron Liege and a handful of less glamorous 3-year-olds.

Iron Liege and Gen. Duke, his stablemate who is more highly regarded by Calumet Farm operatives, arrived by train yesterday from Louisville.

Neither appeared the worse for wear, but track officials were nagged by the possibility that Gen. Duke might not recover in time for the May 18 Preakness from the hoof injury which caused his withdrawal from the Derby.

Trainer Jimmy Jones, expected later today, had said he would decide on the Duke's status only after watching him work on the Pimlico strip.

Also still to be heard from were trainer Johnny Nerud, whose Gallant Man was a scant nose behind Iron Liege in the Derby, and Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, veteran handler of Bold Ruler.

Nerud said Tuesday that his decision on Gallant Man would not come until the end of this week. Pimlico had no word from Bold Ruler, who was the Derby favorite but ran fourth on what many observers regarded as an "off" day.

With yesterday's withdrawal of T. Kerr's Round Table, third in the Derby, and John L. Applebaum's Mister Jive, who ran seventh, the only other starter out of nine in the Kentucky classic expected to go in the Preakness is Federal Hill, the fifth-place finisher.

Other likely prospects include Gough Thompason's Inswept and Jules Schwartz' Nah Hiss.

Mentioned as possibles were Gama, Gannet and Cohoes.

HOT DAY—It was really a hot day for slugger Ted Williams who blasted out three homers and was walked as the Boston Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1. Hhe drove in all four runs and pushed his batting average to .474.

Williams Still 'Mr. Big' of Red Sox

Score Waits, Hopes

CLEVELAND (AP) — In a darkened hospital room without visitors, pitcher Herb Score waited out the hours today, knowing he would have some sight in his injured right eye and wondering if it would be enough to continue a brilliant baseball career in only its third major league season.

And thousands of baseball fans everywhere hope and pray with him. Phone calls about him light up the Lakeside Hospital switchboard every few seconds. Telegrams and mail are swamping the Cleveland Indians' strikeout king.

Tell everyone thanks, the southpaw says.

The waiting will go on through today and at least part of tomorrow, Dr. Charles Thomas, eye specialist, has indicated. Extensive bleeding started Tuesday night when a liner from New York Yankee Gil McDougald's bat felled Score. That hemorrhaging has to stop before the tell - tale examination can be made.

There was guarded optimism in Dr. Thomas' reports last night that the 23-year-old pitcher has "improved," and the specialist indicated there would be some sight—the amount doubtful.

"The eye will be saved," Dr. Thomas said. "It is beginning to clear up. I can't tell yet the full extent of the damage."

X-rays were planned for today to learn more about the nose fracture Dr. Thomas said Score suffered and any cheek bone damage.

"There is no brain injury," the doctor said.

While Score himself has admitted to considerable pain, he maintained a cheerful, bantering attitude with teammates and newsmen who talked with him before a ban was put on visiting to give him more rest. And he is putting much faith in prayer.

To his mother, Mrs. Ann Score in Lake Worth, Fla., he sent word asking her not to make the trip to Cleveland. Mrs. Score, who reared the pitcher a devout Catholic, said she was content to stay home and continue the prayers in which she and some neighbors spent most of Tuesday night.

Sharing in her concern was McDougald, who felt so downcast he said at first that he might quit baseball.

Said Mrs. Score:

"It certainly wasn't his fault, and I'm sure everything will come out all right."

Through General Manager Hank Greenberg, Score sent McDougald this message:

"Tell him that it's just part of the game. It wasn't his fault. I don't hold any grudge or ill feeling at all."

BANDAGED — Hospitalized Herb Score, 23-year-old left handed star of the Cleveland Indians, rests at Lakeside Hospital in Cleveland, awaiting word from the doctors on the extent of his eye injury.

Homers Pace Redlegs to 9th Straight Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The red hot Cincinnati Redlegs stretched their winning streak to nine straight games with a 7-6 triumph over Brooklyn. A grand slam homer by sizzling Don Hoak and a pair of four-baggers by substitute first baseman George Crowe furnished all the runs and gave the Reds their first Eastern sweep since pennant-winning 1940 team.

The Reds' second straight in Ebbets Field zoomed them into second place in the National League, a half game behind the front-running Milwaukee Braves who bowed 2-1 to the Philadelphia Phillies. Rookie Don Cardwell was responsible for the Braves' third straight loss with a seven-hitter.

The St. Louis Cardinals pounded four New York pitchers for 19 hits to defeat Johnny Antonelli and the Giants 13-4, while the Chicago Cubs pushed Pittsburgh deeper into the National League basement with a 7-1 victory over the Pirates.

Hoak's grand slammer, in the eighth, came off loser Don Newcombe, and snapped a 3-3 tie with Brooklyn. The victory went to Warren Hacker, who had lost eight straight times to the Dodgers since July 19, 1954.

A ninth-inning Milwaukee run, fashioned by doubles off the bats of Johnny Logan and Bill Bruton, deprived rookie Cardwell of the second shutout of his brief major league career. Philadelphia got but six hits off loser Gene Conley and Red Murff but two of them—singles by Stan Lopata and Chico Fernandez in the fifth—produced one run, and a walk to Harry Anderson, Ed Bouchee's single and Bob Bowman's sacrifice fly in the sixth, scored the other.

Catcher Hal Smith drove in six runs with a home run and two singles and Wally Moon batted in three with a home run and triple to lead the Cards to victory over the Giants. Stan Musial also got three hits to hike his average to .403.

The Cubs pelted four Pittsburgh pitchers for 13 hits and scored five unearned runs on three Pirate errors to give rookie Dick Drott his second victory after the 20-year-old righthander had incurred losses in his first three decisions. Walt Moryn and rookie Casey Wise batted in two runs each for the winners.

Jones Scores 17 Points Against Marquette Team

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Marquette's mile relay team broke a 19-year-old school record in the final event as the Warriors edged Eastern Michigan 64-58, in a dual track meet yesterday.

The Marquette baton unit covered the mile in 3:18.6, eclipsing the old mark of 3:19.1, set in 1938. The relay victory gave Marquette five points and the team victory.

Pontiac's Hayes Jones of Eastern Michigan had the meet's highest individual score, 17 points. He won the high and low hurdles and the broad jump and placed second in the high jump.

Duke Snider of the Brooklyn Dodgers is the only active major leaguer who has hit above .300 in four World Series.

Ted Powders 3 Home Runs to Beat Hose

Accounts for All Runs in 4-1 Boston Victory Over Chicago

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Love him, despise him . . . cheer him, boo him . . . but no real baseball fan can ignore Ted Williams . . . nor the fact that "The Kid," after 18 years, is still "Mr. Big" of the Boston Red Sox.

Williams has been the heart and soul of the Red Sox attack ever since he joined them in 1939. But not since 1946, when he led the team to its only pennant in 38 years—and won the league's most valuable player award to boot—has he demonstrated his importance to the Sox cause as he has this season.

Yesterday was a typical example as Ted smashed three home runs and drove in all the runs as the Red Sox defeated the Chicago White Sox 4-1 for their fourth consecutive victory. The triumph boosted Boston to within 11 percentage points of second place and only a half game from the American League leading New York Yankees who dropped a 10-4 decision to Cleveland.

Tuesday night the .474 hitting Williams walloped a home run, two singles and drove in three runs in a 4-3 triumph over the White Sox. It is no mere coincidence that Boston's streak started the day Ted returned to the line-up after a siege of virus.

Ted's value to the Red Sox is best illustrated by the team's won-lost record. In the 16 games in which Williams has appeared, the team has won 11. In the four he did not, the team lost three. That's the way it's been through the years. In Ted's 14 active seasons with the Red Sox they've finished in the second division only once. The four years he was away, serving Uncle Sam, the team wound up seventh, fourth, seventh and sixth.

Cleveland battered four New York Yankee pitchers for 13 hits for their second in a row against the world champions. Early Wynn supported by three-run homers by Vic Wertz and Gene Woodling and a two-run blast by rookie Roger Maris, earned his third victory.

Detroit inflicted the 10th successive loss on Washington, drubbing the Senators 11-3 for the Tigers sixth success in the last seven games. Baltimore shellacked Kansas City 11-3 behind a 13-hit attack that included home runs by Billy Gardner and Gus Triandos.

Williams' explosive bat coupled with Frank Sullivan's four-hitter contrived to hand the fifth loss in a row to the White Sox. Chicago pitchers were able to retire Williams only once to end his streak of reaching base 11 successive times, five times on hits and six on walks.

Move for Sawchuk Stymies Wing Deals

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings' inclination to regain goalie Terry Sawchuk appeared today to for players.

Detroit wants to get Sawchuk, a former Red Wing, back from the Boston Bruins, whom he quit in last midseason.

The Red Wings' publicist, Fred Huber, explained the situation after talking with general manager Jack Adams, who is in Florida.

Huber said Adams told him the Bruins have yet to say what they would want in players or cash or other considerations in exchange for Sawchuk.

CONCERNED — New York Yankee infielder Gil McDougald, whose line drive struck pitcher Herb Score in the right eye, read the papers in grave concern over Score's condition. McDougald said he would quit baseball if the injury cost the ace southpaw his sight.

Says Hornsby

Score Accident Should Not Hinder McDougald

CHICAGO (AP)—Rogers Hornsby, one of baseball's immortals, had some advice today for Gil McDougald, the New York Yankee whose drive felled Cleveland's ace pitcher, Herb Score.

"I had McDougald in 1950 when I managed Beaumont (Texas League) and he is a very fine lad," Hornsby said in an interview. "I know he feels badly about the Score accident — but that was exactly what it was, an accident and Gil must accept it as such.

"He should not let it disturb his playing. I've hit players with batted balls and I've been hit myself plenty of times. It may shake you up but you can't let it get you down. You certainly don't mean to hit anybody—it's an accident, just like walking out in the street and getting run over.

"Gil is improving as a player every year and is off to a fine start this time," Hornsby continued. "He must remember that such an aceident could happen to anybody. He shouldn't let it interfere with his playing."

Hornsby concedes that electric lights are not like sunlight to play under, but does not believe accidents can be traced to night ball.

"The lights are about as close to sunlight as you can get, and hits can be misjudged in daylight as well as at night," he said. "Baseball isn't like it used to be—it has had to change with the times. They have to play at night to get people into the parks. All the people are working nowadays and can only get to a game if it is at night during the week.

"Baseball is a business. If it can't draw fans, it can't operate. I certainly don't have anything against night ball. The only accidents I can see that could happen at night would be to the muscles because of the coolness."

Big Inning, Errors Help Spartans Win

EAST LANSING (AP)—A seven-run second inning and a big assist from six opponent errors helped Michigan State to a 12-6 baseball win over Western Michigan here yesterday.

Western Michigan, always a potent baseball power, had won seven in a row after dropping its opener to the University of Michigan. MSU now has a 9-4 regular season record.

The seven runs in the second inning came on six hits and four errors. Three were extra base blows, including a homer with a man on by Allan Luce and triples by Bill Mansfield and Gary Warner.

Plan Trust Law Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Celler (D-N.Y.) said today a House judiciary subcommittee will hear arguments in June for and against applying the anti-trust laws to professional sports.

The anti-trust subcommittee has before it a variety of bills, largely inspired by the Supreme Court's action in declaring professional football subject to the anti-trust statutes, although professional baseball is not.

Celler has introduced a measure to apply the laws to baseball. Rep. Keating (R.-N. Y.) is author of one to subject what he termed the purely business aspects of professional sports to federal anti-trust regulation. But the Keating bill would specifically exempt players' contract reserve clauses and rules of the games.

Publinx Qualifiers July 5-14

NEW YORK (AP)—Sectional qualifying rounds for one of the biggest and at the same time one of the most exclusive golf tournaments on the golf schedule will take place at 41 locations between July 5 and 14.

The tournament is the 32nd amateur Public Links championship of the U.S. Golf Assn. — the annual hoedown for the dedicated golfers who go out and buck the mobs on municipal and other public courses to get in their rounds.

It draws more than 2,000 entries each year. It's exclusive because the club members, who form the backbone of most tournament competition, aren't eligible. This one is limited to male amateur golfers who, since Jan. 1, have not had privileges at any private club maintaining its own course or at any course from which the general public is excluded.

The one exception is that a bonafide public course player may hold incidental privileges of a private course provided by an educational institution at which he is a student, a federal armed service of which he is a member or an industry by which he is employed.

The USGA today announced the 41 sectional qualifying sites — four less than last year — and that entries close June 20. Entries must be filed with the sectional qualifying chairmen, who set the exact dates for the 36-hole qualifying rounds in their districts.

Following the pattern established last year, the championship proper at the Hershey Park Golf Club, Hershey, Pa., July 29-Aug. 3, will consist of a 36-hole qualifying round, combined with the inter-city team championship, and a 64-man match play championship. The sectional qualifying rounds will cut the field to 150 for the second qualifying test.

A couple of Oakland County's finest layouts, Plum Hollow and Birmingham, will be the scene of the Michigan sectional qualifying rounds on July 8.

Pontiac's Mike Andonian, 1956 state publinx champion, advanced to the quarter-finals in last year's national tournament at San Francisco.

After eight years of all-match-play, the USGA reinstated qualifying at the tournament site because it felt that playing the team championship for the Harding Trophy on the preceding Saturday made the tournament too long and too expensive for most public links players.

Still this is one tournament for which a player may accept expense money provided by his district. Part of the $5 entry fees goes toward providing expense payments.

Only the defending champion, James (Junie) Buxbaum of Memphis, Tenn., and last year's runner-up, Bill Scarbrough of Jacksonville, Fla., are exempt from the sectional qualifying rounds.

The new champion will be invited to play in the National Amature championship without qualifying and the other semifinalists will be invited to enter the sectional qualifying rounds for the amateur. All others who enter the Publinx are ineligible for the National Amateur and the Senior Amateur.

Four of the 1956 qualifying locations were eliminated — Boise, Idaho, Des Moines, Iowa, Albuquerque, N.M., and Fargo, N.C. The 41 locations for the 1957 sectional rounds:

July 5—Denver; Birmingham, Ala.; Phoenix, Ariz.; San Francisco (two courses); Jacksonville, Fla.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Wichita, Kan.; Louisville, Ky.; New Orleans; Metropolitan New York; High Point, N. C.; Cleveland; Dayton, O.; (two courses) Oklahoma City; Salt Lake City (two courses); Seattle; Milwaukee, Wis.

7 and 13 (18 holes each day)-Los Angeles and Toledo.

8-Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Atlanta, Baltimore; Detroit (two courses); St. Paul, Minn.; Albany, N. Y.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Portland, Ore.; Philadelphia; Pittsburgh; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Memphis, Tenn.

10-Honolulu. St. Louis, Charleston, S.C.

11-Providence, R. I.; Houston, Tex.

12-Chicago, Dallas.

13-Kansas City, Mo.; Spokane, Wash.

14-Peoria, Ill.

SOFTBALL INSPECTION — Tom Belton, Waterford Township Recreation Department director, checks a new softball which will be used Saturday night at the Drayton Plains Ball Park when the Waterford All-Stars meet Shaw's Jewelers in an exhibition game. Looking on are Carl Shell (left), All-Star pilot who guided Drayton Drug to the state Class C softball title last year, and Tom Piersall, Shaw's manager. The Jewelers are defending Pontiac Class A champions. Saturday's game will officially open the 1957 Waterford League softball season.

Sugar Wants to Fight in September

NEW YORK (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson definitely wants to wait until September before he takes on Carmen Basilio in the hottest boxing match of the year.

The four-time middleweight champion visited Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, yesterday and talked Norris out of any thought of a July bout with Basilio.

"After his experiences with Joey Maxim in the heat, Ray said he has a mental block about the hot months," said Norris. He referred to Robinson's TKO by Maxim in the steaming heat, June 25, 1952, the only time Sugar Ray ever was stopped.

Robinson was in no mood to have a long talk with Norris as he was peeved about reports that movies had been taken of his first fight with Gene Fullmer Jan. 2, 1957. He claimed he had an agreement that no movies would be taken but learned they were taken and shown in South America. Norris said if there was any movie revenue Robinson would receive his percentage.

Norris was busy on the phone all day, talking to France and points East and West, trying to line up a June 7 TV fight. A proposed featherweight title match between Cherif Hamia of Algeria and Hogan (Kid) Bassey of Nigeria fell through. Hamia's manager informed the IBC the fighter was going to North Africa to visit his family. It appears now that the Hamia-Bassey bout probably will be staged in Europe, if and when.

The June 7 opening came when Archie Moore said he was not going to defend his light-heavy crown against Tony Anthony of New York on that date. Instead, Archie has signed for a non-title bout in Germany, May 25.

The heavyweight situation came in for some attention from Norris who is on the "outs" with Cus D'Amato, manager of Champion Floyd Patterson. Norris hopes, but doesn't expect, D'Amato will contact him today in answer to his messages.

16-Foot Vault Gutowski's Aim

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Occidental College's Bob Gutowski continues his drive toward a 16-foot pole vault here Saturday night in the West Coast Relays.

Among the more interested viewers will be Cornelius (Dutch) Warmerdam, the fellow who held the outdoor mark for 15 years before Gutowski bettered it with a leap of 15 feet, 8¾ inches April 27.

Warmerdam, now assistant coach at Fresno State College, set his outdoor record of 15-7¾ at Modesto, Calif., on May 23, 1942 and still retains the highest official vaulting mark on record—15-8½ indoors at Chicago on March 20, 1943.

Top competition for Gutowski is expected from the Rev. Bob Richards, who bested him for the gold medal in the 1956 Olympics. Another 15-foot vaulter entered is Southern California's Ron Morris.

Ezzard Helps Court With Juvenile Work

CINCINNATI (AP) — Ezzard Charles, former world's heavyweight fist-fighting champion, has taken a job helping juveniles who get into trouble.

Juvenile Judge Benjamin Schwartz yesterday named Charles a unit leader at the juvenile detention center and said he "will be an example to the boys here of what a person can do to get ahead."

Defending Champ Goes Into Semis

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jimmy Jacobs of Los Angeles, defending champion, won his way into the AAU National handball championship semifinals last night with a 21-6, 21-10 victory over Bob Schoning of Portland, Ore.

Joe Galanto, Bakersfield, Calif., upset Gus Lewis of the Chicago Town Club 21-20, 21-3. Lewis was singles champion in 1947 and 1948.

In other quarter-final matches Bob Brady of San Francisco beat Morris Singer of Los Angeles 21-7, 21-6, and John Sloan of Chicago defeated Harry Dreytus of St. Louis, 21-18, 21-16.

It's Unanimous for Cuban

Valdes Decisions Holman

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Nino Valdes, who has been demanding a higher ranking among heavyweights, backed his claim with a body-thumping victory over Johnny Holman of Chicago in a 10-round televised fight last night.

Valdes, 209-pound Cuban, banged away relentlessly with hooks to the 204-pound Holman's mid-section, and appeared to have Holman groggy in the eighth round, when he switched his aim to the head.

The decision by the referee and two judges was unanimous for Valdes, currently ranked ninth. Holman is unranked.

There were no knockdowns, but both fighters were draped over the ropes after a wild flurry in the eighth. Holman, backed against the ropes by Valdes' hooks was the first to go, and Valdes, lunging forward with more punches, landed atop him.

Referee Ralph Gruman, viewing it as no knockdown, gave both fighters time to crawl back into the ring without a count.

Holman weathered that storm and absorbed more body punching in the ninth, then unleashed an all-out attack for a knockout in the 10th. By that time Valdes appeared arm-weary, but Holman, slowed down by the blows he had absorbed, was unable to land the big blow although Valdes' guard slipped lower and lower in the closing seconds.

Three times Bobby Gleason, rushed to the ropes and shook them in an attempt to help his fighter spring loose from the point where Holman had pressed Valdes in a clinch.

Holman's manager afterwards protested that should make the fight no contest. The Portland Boxing Commission did not allow the protest, but fined Gleason $100.

Flaherty Says Bobo Eyes Ring Comeback

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Carl (Bobo) Olson, the ex-middleweight champion who retired last year after being knocked out in three successive bouts, plans a comeback.

That was disclosed today by Sid Flaherty, who was manager of Olson when the fighter retired.

When Flaherty announced Olson's retirement he said it was for the fighter's own good.

"He has told me he intends to fight again, whether I manage him or not," Flaherty said here. "If he does come back, it will be in this area, and he will fight as a light-heavyweight."

Olson ruled the middleweight ranks in 1953-55.

Olson, who will be 29 in July, has been working since retirement as a greeter at a night club at Vancouver, Wash.

Women Owners Did Well

WEDNESDAY'S HOME RUNS

SOLD BY LIONS — Veteran halfback and end for the Detroit Lions, Earl (Jug) Girard was sold today to the Baltimore Colts. Girard was with the Lions since 1952. He was the Green Bay Packers' top draft choice in 1948 after leaving the University of Wisconsin. It was a straight cash deal.

Lions Send Jug Girard to Colts in Cash Deal

DETROIT — Earl (Jug) Girard, 10-year veteran of the National Football League, was sold today by the Detroit Lions to the Baltimore Colts in what was presumed to be a straight cash deal.

Girard, who came to the Lions in 1952 from Green Bay where he was the first draft choice in 1948, was used at halfback and end by Detroit.

He graduated from the University of Wisconsin and was a key performer in 1952 as the Lions won their first NFL championship since 1935.

During the 1952 campaign, Girard had a total of 222-yards rushing and he scored 24 points. In 1954 he was one of the top pass receivers on the team with 421 and he scored 42 points.

Last year he missed the last two games of the season because of cracked ribs, however he handled much of the Lions' punting chores.

Girard, 30, is a native of Marinette, Wisconsin, and now resides in Detroit.

Just this week at a Press luncheon, Lion officials gave indication several trades were in the offing. Detroit may be interested in getting Babe Parilli from Green Bay or Earl Morrall from San Francisco to bolster their quarterbacking.

Harry Gilmer will not return to the club this year, and this may be the last season for Bobby Layne. Present understudy is Jerry Reichow, last year's rookie from Iowa.

Lakeville Lake 'Kill-Off' Held Up Indefinitely

Because of the objections filed by Dunn Brothers of Lakeville, the fish "killoff" planned by state conservation men for May 14 has been postponed indefinitely. It was reported today that it may not even take place at all.

Instead, the Dunns, operators of a machine shop which takes its power from the waters of the lake, and Lakeville business men have begun a move to procure funds to purchase walleye pike for planting in the lake.

Postponement of the plan to kill off excess bluegill populations by use of a suffocant was announced yesterday by William Mason, of the Imlay City district conservation department fish headquarters.

Fact that Lakeville lake is in reality a millpond, was set up in a court action in 1924, the Dunns reported. That fact had been almost forgotten in plans for the "killoff."

WMGA Weekly Test Won by Mrs. DeBolt

High winds sent many scores soaring in yesterday's weekly tourney at Bald Mountain golf course, for the WMGA. But they didn't stop Pontiac's Mrs. Zadah (R. F.) DeBolt from taking championship flight honors with a sparkling 45-41—86. Mrs. Harry Rosenthal had 48-45—(12 handicap) to win low net honors at 81.

Second flight went to Mrs. H. Beaupre with 96. Others in the top flight were Mrs. Bruce Hilkene and Mrs. C. F. Fox with 89s.

Fitzgerald, Troy Track Contingents Win Meets

Fitzgerald and Troy turned in hard-earned victories yesterday in a pair of four-team track meets.

A 1st place finish in the last event gave the Spartans a one-point win over defending champion Warren in the annual Warren Township meet. Van Dyke was 3rd and Center Line 4th. Troy took its meet with 63½ points besting Lake Shore, Lakeview and Fraser.

Bad Pitch Breaks String

Ted Learns a Lesson at 38

CHICAGO (AP) — Ted Williams, going on 39, isn't too old to learn a lesson.

"I learned one yesterday in the sixth inning," said the Boston slugger who smashed three homers and batted in all the Red Sox runs in their 4-1 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

"As I recall, Bob Keegan had a count of 3-2 on me when I swung—and it was a bad ball. If I hadn't gone for it I would have walked."

Williams' hit the pitch high to left field where Minnie Minoso caught it.

It ended Williams' string of homers.

He slammed one Tuesday night in the ninth inning with a man aboard that boosted Boston to a 4-3 decision over Chicago. In his first two times up yesterday, and the bases empty, he also parked the ball into the stands.

Then he flied out, but got on the beam again in the eighth inning with his third homer of the game, which also scored Billy Klaus who had singled.

The production gave Williams nine circuit smashes for the season, a figure he didn't reach last year until July 26. He wound up 1956 with a total of 24. Williams now has 427 for his career.

When he flied out it also broke a streak of reaching base 11 straight times and five successive hits.

Delany Turns Dramatic

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP)—Olympic mile champion Ron Delany takes on a new role this week.

Delany, a student at Villanova University, will appear in a production of "The Man in the Gray Flannel Toga," to be presented by the university's Turf 'n Tinsel club.

Laker Nine Ranks 2nd

A correction in the Wayne-Oakland League standings today listed West Bloomfield as the 2nd place team in the southern division with a 4-1 record and Northville 3rd with 3-3. The 2nd half of the schedule began today.

Frank Girard, 51, is the dean of Southern Assn. umpires. He has been in the league since 1942.

Disney Film One of 2 Slated at Cranbrook

Walt Disney's "Secrets of Life, from a true-life adventure series, and "Cliff Hangers," with the Alpine Club of Canada attempting to climb a unconquered peak in the Canadian Rockies, are scheduled for the final film program of the season at Cranbrook Institute of Science Friday.

The first showing begins at 7 p.m. and the second, at 8:45 p.m. in the auditorium of Cranbrook School.

Milk Prices Sliced by Detroit Creamery

Detroit Creamery Co., distributors of Sealtest products, yesterday dropped their prices for a retail quart of milk from 23½ cents to 22½ cents, a spokesman announced.

At the same time the price for a half gallon container was dropped from 43 cents to 41. Milk was offered in this form beginning May 1, replacing the company's previous discount schedule.

The spokesman said the drop would allow the company to be "competitive with firms which have retained various discount schedules."

Generally, the price for other Pontiac dairies remains at 23½ cents a quart. Most allow a discount of 3 cents for purchases of 30 quarts or more a month.

The Detroit Creamery spokesman said this system was discontinued because "they considered it to be very confusing to their customers."

Norway has one of the lowest crime rates in the world.

Hollywood Headlines

Movieland's Jackpot Hit by Mickey Shaughnessy

By TOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The fat man chewing on an ice cream sandwich and a candy bar in the middle of the morning appeared to be the least likely candidate for film success.

With glasses, wild reddish hair and an Irish face, he looked like an inflated Mickey Rooney. But Mickey Shaughnessy has hit it rich in films.

He's been around town for five years, but only recently did his career take off. He plays Gregory Peck's punchdrunk pal in "Designing Woman" and puts in a gem of a performance. MGM quickly cast him in "Don't Go Near the Water" and "Until They Sail."

Now he's at Universal playing a hood in "Slaughter on 10th Ave." As soon as he finishes, he dashes back to MGM to be Elvis Presley's criminal mentor in "Jailhouse Rock."

"They're talking about a contract out there," Mickey said in an offhanded way. He might find a comfortable niche at the Culver City lot, where a guy named Wallace Beery reigned for many a year.

Barrel-shaped Mickey is 39 and no stranger to show biz.

"I'm from Philadelphia, so is my wife," he said. "I started as a kid at Coney Island and other joints doing the singing waiter bit. It was stealing, but maybe you could make a couple of bucks for a song."

Mickey worked his way up as a comedian in the saloons. After time out for the Army, he returned to the niteries, climbing in class.

"In 1948, I told my wife I'd play the Copa in New York within seven years," he remarked. "I made it in three."

His night club salary ranged from $1,250 to $3,000 a week.

In 1950, Mickey made another prediction: that he would be playing roles in movies within five years.

He was appearing at the Club Avalon in Wildwood, N. J., in 1952, when a visiting Columbia Studios official dropped by. The Columbia man was looking for fresh types to play in "The Marrying Kind" with Judy Holliday and Aldo Ray. Mickey was one of the freshest, and soon he was on his way to Hollywood.

City Life Not Bad, Says Sociologists

EAST LANSING (AP)— City life is not as band at it's painted or "people just could not survive," says the report of two Michigan State sociologists on a study of urban life.

It is a mistake to assume that people in a large city live with few social ties in a world of loneliness, said Dr. William H. Form and Dr. Joel Smith.

"They may not know the family in t he next apartment or have tea with the lady across the street, as in small communities, but that does not mean they do not develop social ties in other ways."

Even youthful "gangs" serve a useful purpose, the sociologists said. They "represent as much organization as disorganization," they said, and often lead to friendships of high degree.

The sociologists conducted their study in Lansing, a city of 101,500, and in parts of Chicago and New York.

Bartender School Trains Teetotalers

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Denver Waitress and Bartender School trains only teetotalers.

"Absolutely no alcohol is permitted on the premises," says Donald Howe, the man in charge. "Smoking is forbidden, too."

"Clubs and restaurants desire personnel who are able to mix any of hundreds of fashionable concoctions quickly, adroitly and without waste," Howe explains. "We teach our classes by using bottles containing water."

The students spend the first three of about 50 class periods learning all of the trade's equipment. "Only then are they allowed to attempt their first Manhattan," Howe says.

Foundrymen Pick Head

CINCINNATI (AP) — Harry W Dietert of Detroit, has been elected president of the American Foundrymen's Society. The society is holding its annnual meeting here.

The five most common American surnames are said to be Smith, Johnson, Brown, Williams and Jones.

Asks Lake Pilot Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Treasury Department has sent to the House the draft of recommended legislation requiring that ships of 300 tons or larger plying the Great Lakes be piloted by pilots with licenses issued by the U.S. Coast Guard or Canadian authorities.

Sylvan Lake City Adopts Budget

$109,360 Total Is Drop of $4,930 From 1956-57 Figure

The Sylvan Lake City Council last night unanimously adopted the city's 1957-58 budget, which is $4,930 below the present budget.

Approved was a total budget of $109,360 as compared to the $114,290 schedule of 1956-57.

Louis G. Barry, newly - appointed city manager, said the decrease was possible because of completion of a road resurfacing project included in last year's budget.

The approved plan will allow for a continuation of the city's $26.40 tax rate per $1,000 of assessed valuation, Barry said.

From general property taxes will come $49,020; from sanitary sewer debt service ($2 per $1,000) will be derived $4,787; while $6,701 will be income from water system debt service ($2.80 fer $1,000). The remainder will come from miscellaneous income.

The general operating expenses, $20 per $1,000 will be applied from the tax rate. The balance, $1.60 per $1,000, will be for garbage disposal expenses.

Univac's Skill as Cupid Gets Another Test

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—For a while, it looked as though Univac had been completely out of its electronic mind when it said Barbara Smith and John Caran were made for each other.

But there's just a chance the mechanical brain didn't have its wires crossed after all.

Last Oct. 27, after sifting information from hundreds of males, Univac picked John as the ideal mate for Barbara on the "People Are Funny" television show.

They were engaged within four weeks. But this week there was word they had split and Univac's stock went down faster than it could figure out the square root of four.

Things, however, may not be as estranged as they seem. Barbara, 22, a switchboard operator, and John, a 28-year-old advertising man, are going to get together this weekend to see if they can make Univac's romantic arithmetic tally.

Group to Study Homes for Aged

Permanent Committee to Eye Possible Allocation of City Apartments

A permanent study committee has been added to the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council to investigate providing homes for the aged in Pontiac.

The executive board of the council recently approved the addition.

The appointment followed preliminary meetings of a group of local citizens studying the possibility of allocating some Pontiac Housing Commission apartments for use by the aged.

Roy B. MacAfee, executive director of the commission, and former commission member Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein were instrumental in seeking a council committee.

MacAfee this week was appointed committee chairman by Fred V. Haggard, president of the council.

The executive board of the council in other action accepted "with regrets" the resignation of Rabbi Saperstein from the council. He is leaving Pontiac in June for a new assignment.

Opera, Stage Star Ezio Pinza Dies

scarcely read a note — yet flawlessly sang 78 operatic roles to critical acclaim in the world's music capitals.

He rarely practiced, gave his voice no special care. But he also exhibited none of the opera star's customary temperament and tantrums.

After 25 years atop the opera world, he successfully made a difficult transition into popular music and became a matinee idol of Broadway musical comedy.

The seventh child (the only one to live beyond infancy) of a poor couple, he was born in Rome May 18, 1892.

His father, a carpenter from Ravenna, wanted to name the boy for his brother Ezio. But the parish priest, horrified that it had been the name of a pagan general who persecuted early Christians, insisted the babe be baptized Fortunato instead. But everyone always called him Ezio.

MEDIEVAL MOOD

Young Ezio worked in his father's shop (years later, in a $60,000 home in Stamford, he indulged in woodworking as a hobby) — but his ambition was to be a professional bicycle racer.

It was soon apparent that the idea wouldn't work (he kept the bike all his life, however) and he looked for some other career.

There is a story that some friends heard him singing "O Sole Mio" while bathing and suggested he try a vocal career.

His father took him to Bologna. A voice teacher there turned him down (the maestro changed his mind later and gave Pinza lessons) but with the help of the mayor, the hopeful youth got a scholarship to study music at the university. He studied there two years, working at carpentering and as a railroad brakeman to eke out an income.

DRAFTED FOR WAR

His career as a singer began in Bellini's opera "Norma" with a small company at Soncino, near Milan. The year was 1914 — and almost immediately Pinza found himself drafted for war duty. He spent the next five years in uniform, emerging as a captain of artillery.

His postwar debut was in the role of King Mark in Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde" in the royal opera at Rome. He became an overnight sensation. Two years later Toscanini had him singing at La Scala in Milan. In 1926 he was lured to New York's Metropolitan Opera.

There — and in the opera centers of Paris, Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro and London — he was the undisputed monarch of song for two decades. Besides the Met, he sang regularly with the Chicago and San Francisco opera companies.

Possessed of the rare "grandezza" style of the superartist, Pinza sang his way through the villain and hero roles of virtually all of grand opera's repertoire. Perhaps he was most famous in "Don Giovanni," as Mephistopheles in "Faust" and the magnificently mad "Boris Godunoff."

His recordings o classics, and of American folktunes—marked though they were with the heavy accent he never lost—became long run best sellers. His annual income was estimated at $125,000.

EXCEPTIONAL GRACE

Physically as well as vocally he was exceptional. A six-footer with a barrel chest, curly locked, with an aquiline nose and twinkling eyes, Pinza moved with an athlete's instinctive grace.

His main delights were two—fine food and beautiful women. Sometimes too he liked to hunt, fish, play bridge. He was an inveterate fan of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Soon after he established his American opera career, his first wife, Augusta — from whom he had long been separated — instituted a $250,000 alienation of affections suit against Wagnerian soprano Elizabeth Rethberg.

It was withdrawn later — as was the $200,000 breach of promise action against him by a San Francisco woman.

"It is just his Italian background," an attorney claimed. "Sometimes people think he is being romantic when he is just being gentlemanly."

SINGING DAUGHTER

Augusta Pinza went home to Italy with their daughter Claudia. She divorced him and the basso did not see Claudia again for 11 years. In 1947, when she was 25, she made her operatic debut opposite him in "Faust" at San Francisco.

Pinza was married a second time in 1940 to Miss Leak. They met when she was dancing in the Metropolitan Opera ballet.

In 1949 he became a Broadway popular star by creating the role of the middle-aged planter who won the heart of Mary Martin in the Rodgers-Hammerstein smash hit "South Pacific."

"Pinza has given middle age men a new lease on life," one commentator said.

Fourteen months later, Pinza went to Hollywood for a series of films — "Mr. Imperium," "Tonight We Sing," "Strictly Dishonorable." None was outstanding, however, and Pinza felt he was getting in a casting rut.

In 1954 he returned to new Broadway acclaim in the musical "Fanny."

Sterling Plant Runs Full Blast

Ford Parts Division Supplies Chassis Needs to Mercury Also

Chassis parts are rolling from Ford Motor Company's new manufacturing plant in Sterling Township where more than 6,300 employes work in a roofed area the size of 300 average homesites.

The Sterling plant, which encompasses 1,800,000 square feet of floor space, is located on a 150-acre site at Mound and Seventeen Mile Roads, about 10 miles southeast of Pontiac.

Major products of the plant include complete rear axle and differential assemblies, drive shafts and ball-joint front suspension assemblies. Parts are shipped to all of the company's Ford and Mercury assembly plants and production will be added soon to supply components for the new Edsel line which will be introduced later this year.

The Sterling plant is the headquarters of Ford's Chassis Parts Division, which also operates the Canton, O., forge plant which supplies forgings used at the Sterling plant.

Stocks Hit High in Brisk Action

NEW YORK (AP) — Gains by steels, rails and some oils pushed the stock market past its 1957 closing high in brisk trading early this afternoon.

Key issues were up from fractions to a point generally with some gains stretching to around 3.

It was the second time in a week that the market had penetrated the 1957 high in midsession. When it did so last Thursday it failed to hold its gains at the close.

Some of today's earlier gains, however, were moderated and market analysts said that the area of supply represented by the year's high still remains a formidable obstacle.

U. S. Steel and Bethlehem advanced fractionally while Youngstown Sheet was up around a point. Lukens clipped a fraction from an early gain of around 2 and Eastern Stainless Steel, which advanced 4 yesterday, cut in half its initial gain of a point.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY OF "POP"
John L. Hicks, who passed away May 9, 1956.
We often sit and think of him,
when we are all alone.
His voice is still, his work is done,
his children taught and grown.
On this day our hearts go out to the dearest and best of fathers.
His thoughts were never of himself, but always of the others.
No matter when we needed him,
we always found him there;
None can ever take his place, or fill that vacant chair.
Sadly missed by his Wife and Children.

Television Boosts Mickey Rooney's Career as Actor

Escapes Typing as Andy Hardy

Pint-Sized Star Enjoys Playing Mature Roles in TV Dramas

BY OLGA CURTIS

NEW YORK (INS) The happiest hyperthyroid in television is a 37-year-old gray-haired actor named Mickey Rooney.

"I'm getting back there in front, thanks to TV," a blissful Rooney enthused today. "One good TV show and people start saying, 'Gee, maybe this guy has something.

"If it wasn't for television, I'd still be finding out what I've been finding out for 12 years — it's not the easiest thing in the world to play Sir Launcelot if you look like Humpty - Dumpty."

The 128 - pound ex - movie star, who was winning Oscars when he was 19, is unashamedly overjoyed at what he calls "the second phase of my career." Rooney says frankly:

"Look, I was the top boy star in Hollywood when Shirley Temple was top girl. But I'm not a kid any more — and I don't fit the part of Andy Hardy any more.

OVERCOMES IDEA

"I think with this TV splash I've overcome that idea — and it's wonderful. I love to work, you see—I don't smoke, drink, take vitamins or benzedrine — I don't have to because I'm a hyperthyroid who loves to perform."

Either glands or gusto keep Rooney just as bouncy as he was when a kid. Rehearsing for his Saturday appearance as George M. Cohan in the NBC spectacular "Mr. Broadway," Rooney kept singing, dancing, jumping while other actors collapsed one by one.

"Aren't they great?" he kept asking about every other actor. "It's gonna be a great show — cause they're all great!"

The 5 foot 3 performer, who has muscles like a stevedore, admitted sheepishly that he has grown up. The four-times married Rooney (No. 1 was Ava Gardner), once known as a live-it-up fellow, now spends his evenings going to bed early and his weekends either playing golf or swimming with his three sons.

"I've made hundreds of mistakes," Rooney smiled candidly. "But I'll say just one thing — my sons won't be actors unless they want to be.

They're going to have a childhood. I was acting when I was 3 and I never had a chance for a childhood."

THANKFUL FOR TV — Mickey Rooney, shown in his portrayal of the late George M. Cohan, credits television with giving his acting career a big lift. The former child movie star will appear as Cohan in NBC-TV's "Mr. Broadway." The 90-minute color spectacular will be telecast Saturday at 9 p. m.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Texas Negro Loses Role 'for Good of University'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—A 19-year-old coed removed from the lead in a University of Texas student opera because she is a Negro says the action may have been the best to insure harmonious integration at the school.

The coed, Barbara Louise Smith of Pittsburg, Tex., said Dean E. W. Doty of the College of Fine Arts told her she would not appear in the opera because complaints had been made about her having the role.

She was ousted from the production "Dido and Aeneas." State Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs said he had asked she be removed for the betterment of the university.

Two powerful campus groups—the Young Democrats and the Young Republicans — announced they were considering asking for an investigation.

In a signed story in today's Daily Texan, the university's student newspaper, Miss Smith quoted Doty as saying university President Logan Wilson made the decision "to insure my personal well-being. . . and . . . there was a possibility my appearance would precipitate a cut in the university's appropriation by the Legislature."

She said she was shocked by the action, but later "I began to realize that the ultimate success of integration at the university was much more important than my appearance at the opera.

"I believe they (Wilson and Doty) want the same things I do, and are working for superior education for Texas and are trying ous fulfillment of integration at the university.

"I have tried to put myself in Dr. Wilson's place and I believe that had I been in his position, I might have done what he did."

Wilson and Doty could not be reached for comment.

The university began accepting Negro students on the undergraduate level for the first time this year. Graduate classes have been integrated since 1950.

David Shapiro, president of the Young Democrats, said his group and the Young Republicans discussed a resolution asking the university student assembly to investigate.

Identify Flying Object as 1,100 M.P.H. Jet Plane

LONDON (AP)—A mysterious flying object that easily distanced British Javelin jets that rushed up to intercept it over the English Channel last week was identified today as a visitor from France, not from outer space.

The London Evening News said it was one of France's new 1,100-mile-an-hour jet fighters, the delta-winged Mirage, out on a night flight.

'Big Wheel of Steel' Unknown at Home

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Benjamin Fairless, "the Big Wheel of Steel," who comes from Pigeon Run, O., near Canton, was telling me the strange story of how he went home.

A magazine writer asked him challengingly, "Is there really such a place as Pigeon Run?"

"I'll show you," said Ben proudly, and drove the writer to the little community of a couple hundred where he naturally hoped he would be well remembered.

But when he found the little spot where he grew up he began to sense that they didn't remember him much. Fairless began questioning a woman with a small child at the place where he had been born and he noticed the woman grew nervous.

Thereupon Fairless began making a fuss over the baby. He practically kissed the baby.

"Does the name Fairless mean anything to you?" he finally asked her.

It didn't.

"Think a little more," he said. "Don't you know the name Fairless?"

The woman stared at the man who had her child in hand so tenderly. She thought of all she'd heard about such people.

"Well," she began, "are you in politics?"

Ben laughed when he told it. "She thought I was a baby-kissing political candidate," he says.

Derby winner Willie Hartack told several folks he intends to marry pretty brunette Sara Lynn Thompson, of Kansas City, a student at Stevens whom he had on his arm after the race.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Steve Allen and Jayne took a Mamaroneck summer place so he can be with his three sons on the water. . . . Yogi Berra's crack about not being so handsome is cherished by ballplayers. Said he: "I never say anybody hit a home run with their kisser."

New Super Airways to Speed Big Planes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Planes flying across the country soon will be following 12 new super airways.

James T. Pyle, civil aeronautics administrator, said yesterday two of the airways are ready now and the other 10 will be completed in 18 months. A CAA spokesman said the idea is to simplify handling of nonstop flights. He said there now are 50 or more transcontinental air routes.

The system ultimately will link New York and Washington with San Francisco and Los Angeles. The super airways already equipped for use will run between New York and Los Angeles by way of Chicago, Omaha, Denver and Las Vegas, and between Washington and Los Angeles via Nashville, Tulsa, Oklahoma City and Albuquerque.

NAACP Plans Appeal of Texas Injunction

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People was free to operate in Texas today for the first time since last fall, but only under the strict limitations of a permanent injunction imposed against the organization yesterday.

State Dist. Judge Otis T. Dunagan issued the permanent injunction and specified the terms under which the NAACP can operate in Texas. NAACP attorneys said they would appeal the decision.

The limitations prohibit the NAACP from practicing law in Texas; encouraging, instigating or financing law suits in which it does not have a direct interest and soliciting or having others solicit law suits.

Colombia Uprisings Grow as President Regains Seat

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—More turbulence appeared in prospect today for Colombia after the re-election of President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla by the government-picked Constituent Assembly.

Ignoring widespread demands for a popular election, the assembly voted 76-1 last night to give Rojas another four-year term beginning in August 1958.

Violent protest demonstrations led by students and business strikes have kept the country in an uproar since Friday. Troops and armored cars guarded the capitol as the assembly met.

The asembly, which Rojas named to rewrite the constiution, voted two days earlier to suspend constitutional articles requiring popular election of the chief executive and forbidding a president to succeed himself. Rojas took power in a military coup in 1953.

Before and after the assembly meeting, police broke up several scattered demonstrations with tear gas. Reports reached Bogota that from 15 to 50 persons were killed and more than 100 injured Tuesday in anti-Rojas riots in Cali, 185 miles southwest of here. Unconfirmed reports said police used bayonets and gunfire against the crowd.

Five persons were officially reported killed in Bogota and Cali over the weekend.

About 1,000 poorly dressed pro-Rojas demonstrators took to the streets before the assembly meeting and demanded the reopening of all banks and industries.

The government radio claimed "some agitators are coercing stores to oblige them to close" but declared police "will guarantee property with force." Another broadcast said banks that participated in the business strike would be punished by having the interest rates on their deposits reduced.

There was no indication the bankers, businessmen and manufacturers who have led the strike intended to back down. There were food shortages in Bogota as shops remained closed through a second day.

Only banks operated by the government were open. A list of closed commercial establishments made public by the government showed at least 30,000 employes were affected in this city of 325,000 population.

Bogota and Cali were under military rule. Loud-speaker trucks toured the streets calling on merchants to open their stores.

Rojas blames the unrest on a ployers. He said he would stand by labor. Leaders of a dozen important unions in Bogota have announced their support for him.

University students have been at the front of the street demonstrations against the government. Hundreds are under arrest. The army commandant yesterday ordered hundreds of students who belong to the reserve into active military service. He warned that those who failed to answer the callup would be subject to up to two years imprisonment— AND double that if there are disorders.

Rojas apparently still had the support of the army and a faction of the Conservative party. Both the Conservatives and Liberals—Colombia's two traditional parties—backed Rojas' seizure of the government in 1953 from the constitutional regime of President Laureano Gomez, but resisted his plans to continue in office.

Services to Up Specialists' Pay

350,000 Are Eligible for $12 to $50 Monthly Boosts Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson has ordered pay boosts for 350,000 enlisted specialists. But they may not start getting the added cash until the first of next year.

Officials said it would take several months for the Army, Navy and Air Force to decide which of their technicians are eligible for pay increases ranging from $12 to $50 a month. The boosts would be limited to about 15 per cent of enlisted strength.

Wilson signed the pay increase order yesterday after receiving formally the report of a committee he had named to study the military pay structure.

The committee, headed by President Ralph Cordiner of the General Electric Co., also proposed a general overhaul of the military pay system with a view to weeding out the less capable personnel and encouraging the better men to remain in service.

Wilson took no action on this proposal, but said study of major recommendations of the Cordiner report would continue.

Besides the pay increases for enlisted technicians, Wilson adopted a recommendation for lump sum bonus payments to reserve officers who remain on active duty beyond their normal tours. This would become effective in the 1906 fiscal year starting July 1, 1958.

Unlike the technician pay raise, the bonus plan requires congressional approval.

The major features of the Cordiner recommendations would cost an estimated 249 millions the first year. Those portions adopted so far by Wilson would account for only about one fifth of that amount.

The pay raise for technicians would cost about 49 millions the first year. Wilson said the reserve bonus plan would cost about about $230,000 the first year and would rise to more than 5½ millions in the third year.

The technicians' pay boosts would be distributed among the services this way: Air Force, 19 millions; Navy, 15 millions; Army 11 millions; and Marine Crops, 4 millions.

Cake for Prisoners Must Be Pre-sliced

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — State Penitentiary officials here insist that any cake sent to prisoners from the "outside" be sliced.

As one official explained, "It's harder to conceal anything in the cake if it's sliced. Besides it saves the prisoners the trouble of trying to cut it."

Rebel Leaders Aide Captured in Cuba

HAVANA (AP) — The Cuban government today announced the capture of rebel leader Fidel Castro's second in command.

The military intelligence service said Carols Iglesia Fonesca had been arrsted in Santiago along with a lieutenant, Rodolfo Rodriguez Fernandez. They were reported brought to Havana.

Castro, a former student leader who had been in exile in Mexico, has been leading an antigovernment guerrilla band in the mountains of southeast Cuba.

President Fulgencio Batista's government has repeatedly claimed the rebels have been overcome, but it has not yet been able to produce Castro or any evidence that he has left Cuba.

Judge Takes Dim View of Special Headlights

RIDGEFIELD, N. J. (AP)— An 18-year-old motorist offered an illuminating explanation in Municipal Court here last night for having a passenger perched on a front fender of his moving car.

D. A. Abbatiello said his headlights had blown and that the outdoor passenger was holding two flashlights in his hands.

Man Seeks Taxidermist to Fill Out Tax Form

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Questions by confused taxpayers are common this time of year, but H. S. Wagoner, Dayton internal revenue agent, admits this one stumped him.

A man entered his office, picked up two copies of Form 1040, stared at them for a moment, then said:

"I don't know anything about this stuff. Can you tell me where I can get a taxidermist to fill it out?"

Strictly Irish-Kosher

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Several taverns created special cocktails honoring the local visit of Dublin's Jewish Lord Mayor. One is a blend of Irish Whisky and kosher wine. Another version is Irish coffee with matzos floats.
