All New GM Cars Shine Like Magic Under New Finish

By ROBERT B. TARR
Managing Editor, Pontiac Press

You can throw away your polishing rags and if you have any body wax on hand, better use it up fast.

All General Motors passenger cars for 1959 will be finished with an acrylic lacquer which Fisher Body officials claim will retain its brilliance for years.

They showed newsmen at a press conference yesterday afternoon cars finished two years ago, and in constant use under all types of weather conditions, to prove their claim. The "old" finishes still look like new!

The new finish will be called Magic-Mirror, and has been developed through research and testing extending over the past 10 years, according to E. C. Klotzburger, general manager of Fisher Body.

In addition to holding both its brilliance and color tones for long periods, the exceedingly hard finish is expected to give high resistance to road salt, clipping and other causes of exterior body rust.

Klotzburger said that long years of testing under the worst conditions have shown that the new finish retains its gloss at least three times longer and is up to 22 times as color fast as the lacquers that have been used in the past.

"The new lacquer washes free of dirt much easier than past lacquers and enamels because it is highly resistant to common stains from oils, grease, road tars and leaves," he said. "A normal wash job on a car finished with Magic-Mirror leaves it with a 'just waxed' appearance.

"This finish also offers a much higher level of durability and better resistance to blistering. With the conventional finishes, there have been local epidemics of blistering of the car's finish during periods of prolonged rain and severe hurricanes. With the new finish we feel that this type of failure will no longer occur."

Furthermore, he explained, an array of rich, new colors is pos-

Hospital Board Vacancies Due

2 Resignations Come to City Commissioners' Attention Tonight

Two more vacancies on the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees will come to the attention of the City Commission tonight.

The latest to announce his resignation is Edward P. Barrett, who no longer is a Pontiac city resident. Barrett moved yesterday to Pine Tree Trail, Bloomfield Township.

His resignation is effective next Thursday, the date of the hospital board's next meeting.

The other trustee to resign is Harold B. Euler, who has taken over the job of hospital administrator.

Commissioners last week named replacements for two other board members, Willis M. Brewer, whose term expired, and Charles Yeager, who also moved away from the city. Brewer's resignation also becomes effective after the meeting next Thursday.

It is expected that commissioners will review candidates to replace Barrett and Euler at an informal meeting scheduled for tomorrow night.

Commissioners will also receive recommendations from the Planning Commission to change the names of four streets. The switches would have Lakeside drive on the north side of Terry Lake and Lake avenue both changed to S. Merrimac street; Bond street changed to Balboa place; and Maines avenue between East boulevard and Astor street changed to Riverside drive.

Assessment rolls for five neighborhood improvements are up for confirmation.

Boxer Watching Car Becomes Space Hound

RIDGEWOOD, N.J. (AP)— Mrs. Peter Pagano thought her sports car was safe. She left her boxer dog sitting in it, in the parking lot of a supermarket.

When she came out of the store, the dog was sitting in the parking space. The car was gone.

Father of Three Leads Police to Ravaged Body of Kidnaped Blonde

(From Our Wire Services)

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—The body of a pretty blonde stenographer, who was kidnaped, raped and later died of three bullet wounds in her head, was found yesterday in a shallow grave atop a mountain.

Robertson told officers he warned the woman, Marjorie Schneider, 18, that "I'm a crack shot," and then pumped three bullets into her head Sunday morning as she ran from his car.

Robertson then carried the body to the top of a high mountain and dumped it into a shallow hole.

"My God, why did I do it?" Robertson sobbed to officers last night.

No charges have been filed. But District Attorney Mark Smith said he would press for immediate prosecution of the young cement-plant worker.

"We will file first degree murder charges and hold him without bond," Smith said.

The girl's ravished body was uncovered late yesterday—about 36 hours after a gunman had surprised her and three other young people as they sat in a parked car at a lonely lovers' lane four miles southwest of Fort Collins. He shot up the car, robbed the couples and kidnaped the Schneider girl.

FORCED HER TO DRIVE

Robertson, a father of three children, was quoted by Sheriff Ray Scheerer as saying he forced the girl to drive for some distance and that he himself drove a while until a tire blew out.

Newsmen Duck Shells on Quemoy

By GENE KRAMER

SATAO BEACH, Quemoy (AP) —A Nationalist Chinese C46 carrying 19 officers and five newsmen braved dangerously close Communist shellfire to land on the beach of besieged Quemoy today.

Shells from the Communist mainland artillery at Weitou, 7¼ miles away, thudded on the beach as the twin-engine plane from Taipei pulled up short on the sand and its passengers ran for cover in broad daylight.

In an earlier dawn attempt to reach Quemoy the plane was ordered to turn back 55 miles short of its destination when the Nationalists spotted a flight of Red MIGs 10 miles east of Quemoy.

There was no sign of any convoy off Quemoy. But on the beach was the wreckage of a landing ship blown up yesterday when the Reds got two artillery hits on it. The Nationalists reportedly were unloading 175 tons of ammunition when the ship blew up.

Our first sign of danger came when the crew of our low-flying plane donned steel helmets and advised us to disembark quickly and hit the beach sand running.

Lugging baggage, cameras and typewriters, we panted feverishly through the sand as shells thudded 400 yards to the north.

"Goddammit, this is real war, you know it!" grunted Nationalist Col. Yu Wei, who was escorting the newsmen.

At least 30 shells hit nearby during the five-minute scramble across the sand dunes, laced by telephone lines strung on the ground to dugouts overlooking the beach.

Ambulances carried victims of yesterday's shelling to the plane as it stood exposed on the beach near old shell craters. Shells continued to land sporadically at least 300 yards away as the plane took off for Taipei.

Believe 20 Dead in Two Military Plane Crashes

12 Die as U.S. Jets Hit in West; 8 Lost in Japan Transport Wreck

By The Associated Press

Twenty are believed dead in the two U. S. military plane crashes last night and early this morning.

In Spokane, Wash., a giant B52 jet bomber sliced into the side of another at sundown last night and both planes crashed in flames near a busy highway. Twelve of the 16 men aboard were killed.

And in Tokyo, a four-engine plane of an American charter air line crashed into the mountains southwest of Tokyo today while carrying U.S. military cargo. All eight persons aboard were believed killed.

The big Super-Constellation had been chartered by the U.S. Military Air Transport Service from the Flying Tiger Line of Burbank, Calif.

Japanese police reported seeing the plane crash and burn on the west side of Mt. Tanzawa, about 38 miles southwest of Tokyo. Hampered by low clouds, U.S. Air Force planes searched the area for 6½ hours before finding the wreckage scattered over a large area of the mountain district.

"There was no sign of survivors," an Air Force spokesman said.

In the Spokane crash, a 200-pound chunk of landing gear sailed through the air, smashed through a service station sign and skidded to rest on the shoulder of Highway 2, a main link between Spokane and Seattle.

TIRED VICTOR — Gov. Edmund S. Muskie enjoys a very late snack of milk and crackers early this morning in his Augusta home as returns in the first-in-the-nation state elections made him the victor over Republican Sen. Frederick G. Payne for the Senate seat now held by Payne.

Maine Elects Dem Senator for First Time in 47 Years

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Maine Democrats won a U. S. Senate seat for the first time in 47 years and rejoiced today over other major triumphs in the state's final first-in-the-nation election.

The Maine outcome often is regarded as a weathervane as to how the wind may blow in the general November elections.

Gov. Edmund S. Muskie ousted Republican Sen. Frederick G. Payne by a 3-2 margin in a contest bearing undertones of the Bernard Goldfine case.

That gave them four of the five major offices at stake. One Democrat and one Republican won reelection to the House.

★ ★ ★

The election—the last to be held ahead of the rest of the nation—was watched by politicans of both parties for trends and possible campaign issues in the other states.

Muskie was the first Democrat ever sent to the Senate by the normally Republican electorate of the Pine Tree State.

2-County Nature of Kierdorf Case Given as Reason

Statement of Jurists Says Probe Wouldn't Produce New Evidence

Oakland County judges today refused a one-man grand jury to probe the alleged conspiracy to cover up the Flint arson in which Teamster organizer Frank Kierdorf was fatally burned.

The four circuit judges, sitting jointly in Judge Frank L. Doty's courtroom at 10:10 a.m. this morning, turned down the grand jury petition that had been submitted by Atty. Gen. Paul Adams and Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem.

"This is something for Genesee County, not for us," said Judge Clark J. Adams, spokesman for the bench.

With obvious disappointment, Adams and Ziem were told that a grand jury probe here would, in the opinion of the Oakland bench, be frustrated by the two-county nature of the Kierdorf case.

Although an Oakland grand jury would have statewide subpoena power, it could indict only within the county, the judges declared in a prepared statement read by Adams.

The judges said the probe would cost too much and be too "time-consuming," in the light of their belief that it probably wouldn't turn up any new evidence or lead to any Oakland County indictments.

Although the Aug. 3 dry cleaners arson occurred in Flint, Pontiac and Oakland County became involved because Kierdorf, his body covered with second and third degree burns, was dropped off after the fire at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. He died there Aug. 7.

After three weeks of intensive investigation, authorities became convinced that Leaun Harrelson, president of Pontiac Teamster Local 614, and Herman Kierdorf, a Madison Heights resident who is Frank's uncle and a former Detroit Teamster official, both were aware of the arson shortly after it occurred.

Taken into custody for investigation, both Harrelson and Herman denied this.

Adams was forced to admit at a habeas corpus hearing that he did not have evidence enough to seek warrants against the pair.

Announcing that the probe was stalemated as far as police investigation was concerned, the Attorney General and Ziem petitioned for a grand jury Aug. 27 in hopes that it could produce sufficient evidence to produce indictments.

They asked for an investigation of an Oakland County conspiracy to prevent authorities from solving the Flint arson.

They also linked the Flint crime to an arson in a Pontiac apartment house Aug. 20. This occurred at 60 Douglas St. in the apartment of Mrs. Mary Ann Thon, a friend of Harrelson's.

They Hope They Are Getting Off Dead Center

UAW, Auto Heads Talk

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors and the United Auto Workers Union today attempted to exploit the first major break-through in stalemated talks aimed at reaching a new contract.

Both company and Union negotiators yesterday reported the door was opened to an agreement by an "understanding of the issues" reached in meetings yesterday and last Friday.

Ford appeared to be following in GM's footsteps but Chrysler Corp. negotiators continued to report little progress in their talks with the Union. Both also were meeting with the Union today.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther canceled a "public jury" meeting, designed to explain the Union's position in the talks to public officials from Michigan and Ohio, in order to attend negotiations with GM personally.

The company was represented by GM Vice President Louis G. Seaton, its top negotiator.

Both Reuther and Seaton refused to say whether their new optimism was caused by any specific new offer but both agreed there were "improved prospects of getting off dead center."

"Further collective bargaining has led to a better understanding of the issues," they said in a joint statement. "There are indications that further bargaining can get the negotiations off dead center."

Reuther appeared anxious to take every precaution against upsetting the progress that had been made.

In explaining why he canceled the "public jury" meeting, he said, "The Union has decided it is the better part of wisdom to confine the discussions to the bargaining table."

But he said the Union's executive board still planned to meet tomorrow to set a strike deadline and pick a company which would be the first target of any strike that might be called.

He emphasized, however, that a strike would be called only if there was no progress in the negotiations, indicating that if the present pace at GM was continued and broadened to Ford and Chrysler a strike might be avoided.

GM has taken the lead in the talks ever since the discussions of new contracts were opened last spring, with Ford following close behind and Chrysler, which feels its contract with the UAW was unfair, bringing up the rear.

GM was the first to offer the Union a two-year extension of the contract which expired during the Memorial Day weekend. Ford and Chrysler followed suit.

Then, when the old contracts expired, GM was first to withdraw the two-year extension offer, which had "builtin" pay raise features totaling 17 cents an hour, and Ford and Chrysler again followed suit. None of the companies has made any offers since then and the Union has operated without contracts at any of the companies.

Classes Begin Sept. 16-29

MSUO Slates First Courses

The first classes to be held at Michigan State University Oakland will be launched at the Continuing Education Center at Adams and Butler Roads during the period September 16th to 29th.

Dr. Lowell R. Eklund, Director of the program designed principally for adults, announced the final fall term schedule today.

Included are three courses designed for adults who are not primarily interested in a degree program but who wish to pursue an educational program for their personal or professional improvement.

These are "Rapid Reading" taught by Dr. Harry Hahn of the Oakland County Superintendent's Office, "Recent American Literature" taught by Professor Bernard Duffey, and "Recent American History" taught by Professor Madison Kuhn, both of the College of Science and Arts at Michigan State University.

The latter two courses can also be taken for credit if desired.

In addition, several courses in teacher education are being offered. The complete list of courses and their starting dates include:

Introduction to Guidance and Personnel Services, Sept. 22; Teaching of Language Arts in Elementary Grades, Sept. 16; Materials and Methods of Audio-Visual Instruction II, Sept. 17; Readings in Nutrition, Sept. 29; Recent American History, Sept. 23; Contemporary Communities, Sept. 23; Recent American Literature, Sept. 24; Rapid Reading, Sept. 29.

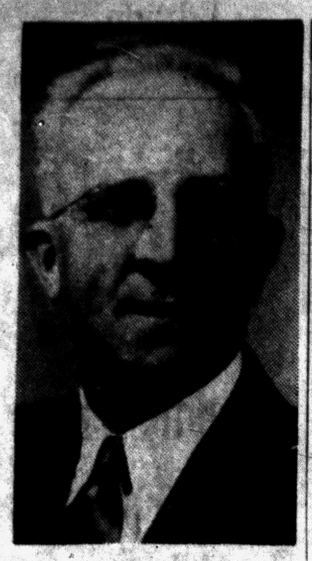

Classes will run for one night each week for three hours, commencing at 7 p.m.

Enrollment will be limited in most classes and persons interested in attending have been urged to contact the Center immediately to insure a registration reservation.

"More courses will be offered in varied subjects as soon as the public needs and wishes have been identified," states Dr. Eklund. "To this end we encourage groups and individuals to contact us to discuss their educational ideas and interests, thereby making it possible to make this, your university, to serve you more effectively."

Dr. Eklund emphasizes that educational experiences can be made available through non-credit programs in virtually any phase of human interest and endeavor. "Our only restriction is that the resulting programs warrant university-level resource people and do not compete with courses being offered in the many excellent adult education programs of the public schools in this area."

Frank H. Marsh Dies Following Illness Over Past Six Months

Frank H. Marsh, owner of Hugus-Marsh Roofing & Insulation Co., died at 11 this morning in Pontiac General Hospital of a heart ailment. He had been in ill health about six months.

A native of Missoula, Mont., he was the son of Archie and Anna Cohen Marsh.

A member of Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, he had been active in the YMCA, the Civitan Club, Pontiac City Club and was a board member of the City Planning Commission.

Mr. Marsh, 64, was a member of Bethany Baptist Church, Pontiac Lodge No. 21 F&AM, the High Twelve Club, Pontiac Commandery Knights Templar and Moslem Temple.

Coming to Pontiac in 1910, he organized his own business of roofing, siding and insulation in 1918.

Surviving are his wife, Natalie, of 18 Illinois Rd.; two sons, Ernest of Pontiac and Arthur of Rochelle, Ind.; and a brother, Dr. Fred Marsh of Flint.

Mr. Marsh's body is at Farmer-Snover Funeral Home.

Adams Disappointed in Setback of Probe

"I am surprised and disappointed," said Atty. Gen. Paul Adams after the Oakland County bench turned down his and Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem's petition for a grand jury.

Indicating that the future of the investigation was "up in the air," Adams added that he saw no profit at present in asking Genesee County for a grand jury.

Ziem declined to comment, saying that the attorney general was the spokesman for the investigation.

Although Adams said he disagreed with many of the reasons the judges listed in their refusal, he was willing to agree with them that if the grand jury had been called "it wouldn't necessarily have produced a solution" to the Flint arson in which Kierdorf was fatally burned.

But the Attorney General stuck to his theory of conspiracy existing here to cover up the Flint crime, despite the judges' decision.

"I'm sure that one or more crimes occurred in Oakland County, arising out of the first crime that was committed in Genesee County.

"I also feel that many of the participants in these crimes are here in Oakland County.

Indications of a conspiracy, Adams has said, include the transportation of Frank by unknown persons to the Pontiac hospital; the destruction of Frank's clothes; and the 13-day flight of Frank's uncle, Herman, of Madison Heights, within 24 hours after the Flint blaze. Herman is a former Detroit Teamster official.

Adams also theorized that there was a connection with the arson of a Pontiac apartment at 60 Douglas St. Aug. 20. The apartment was occupied by Mrs. Mary Ann Thon, a friend of Leaun Harrelson, president of Pontiac Teamster Local 614.

The possibility of a link grew out of the testimony of Harrelson's ex-wife, Iris, who stated that her husband received a telephone call from Herman Kierdorf within a few hours after the Flint blaze.

Harrelson, she said, then left their home, not to return until 5 a.m.

Harrelson has denied his wife's story. He also has denied any knowledge of the Flint arson or of how Frank got to St. Joseph Hospital. So has Herman.

Both men, though, refused to take lie detector tests on this point.

"In this particular case, I feel we are faced with organized activity involving individual members of the Teamsters Union," he said.

"When we are faced with this type of crime we ought to mobilize in order to solve it."

Judges Reject Bid for Grand Jury Probe

day that they needed more time to consider the probe, the judges met for more than an hour yesterday afternoon, Adams said, and arrived at their decision.

Although there was some "pro and con discussion," he said, the decision represented "the united feeling" of the four judges.

The statement commended the "diligent" investigation by local, county and state police. It went on:

"Should a grand jury be ordered, it would of necessity have to rely for information upon those same investigators. There appears little likelihood that any information not already in their possession would be disclosed by further interrogation of the same witnesses.

"Furthermore, and more significantly, a grand jury by statute is limited to the investigation of crime within the county. An indictment can not be issued in this county charging a violation of law in another county.

"Assuming that an Oakland County grand jury was successful in disclosing the identity of those who committed the Flint crime, it could do nothing in that respect beyond passing the information on to the Genesee authorities.

"The calling of a grand jury must be based on something more tangible than a mere desire to solve a crime or the consideration of theories that have been evolved.

"The present grand jury law is certainly no more effective than the ordinary legal processes open to law enforcing officers and agents. It is expensive and time-consuming out of all proportion to benefits derived.

★ ★ ★

"Under such circumstances we are of the opinion that the cost of a grand jury to this county is not justified. The petition is denied."

Admits Assault-Slaying of Colorado Girl, 18

30 miles from the kidnap scene, the girl broke and ran.

"I shouted to her: "I'm sorry I'm such a crack shot but I'm gonna have to do this'," Robertson was quoted as saying. "Then I shot her."

Scheerer said the terrified girl was shot twice in the back of the head from 40 or 50 feet distance, the .22-caliber slugs striking her about an inch apart. Then she was shot behind the right ear at close range, leaving powder burns.

After carrying the girl back to the car, Robertson said, he drove six miles to the foot of a mountain and, wrapping the body in his raincoat, packed it to the top. He said he tossed rocks and brush over the makeshift grave.

Robertson's 24-year-old wife said he came home Sunday night. When he left for work in the morning, officers, who had traced his automobile from a description furnished after the kidnaping, were outside the front door.

For hours Robertson refused to comment on the girl's disappearance. He was taken over a 45-mile radius of hilly countryside before he turned to Scheerer and said calmly: "I might as well tell you what happened." He led the posse to the body.

The girl's brassiere and sweater were in a twisted pile on her head. Her clothing was found hidden four feet away, and a blood-stained raincoat was nearby.

An autopsy showed the girl had been raped, Scheerer said the assault took place before she was killed.

The victim had been a Fort Collins resident for two years. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Schneider, were here since Sunday and accompanied their daughter's body back to their home in Wakeeney, Kan., last night.

Authorities said the murder and Robertson's subsequent arrest occurred in this order of events:

QUARRELED WITH WIFE

Robertson's wife, Darlene, was watching the Miss America pageant on television Saturday night. Robertson and his wife got into an argument, and he took a .22-caliber rifle from a bedroom, fired several times inside the house, and knocked several pictures off the wall.

He stalked out of the house, got into his car, and drove to the Dixon Dam area, across a road atop the dam, and there found the parked car in which Miss Schneider was sitting with her escort, Eugene Farnik, 21, of Estes Park, Colo. Also in the car was another Fort Collins couple, James Coleman, 23, and his wife, Janet, 19.

Authorities said Coleman, a Fort Collins Fire Department employe, and his wife had been estranged for some time before meeting Saturday night. Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. Schneider were rooming together in a Fort Collins apartment. Miss Schneider worked for the Forney Aircraft Company here.

★ ★ ★

Robertson got out of his car and fired eight wild shots into the Farnik automobile. No one was hit.

"This is a stickup," Robertson said. "Get your hands up and come out."

Robertson lined the four persons up against the car, took about $2 from them, and told them to start running.

"Not you, Blondie," he told Miss Schneider. He forced her into his car and drove about 12 miles when he had a flat tire.

He told officers Miss Schneider started running while he was changing the tire. He said he shot her, then wrapped her in a poncho and drove to the Poudre River camp site.

Larimer County Sheriff Roy Scheerer said the slayer apparently worked almost all day Sunday dragging the girl's 112-pound body up the steep incline.

He returned home about 8 p.m. Sunday and refused to tell his wife where he had been.

RALPH W. BEEBE

Long Newspaper Career Closes

Ralph W. Beebe, Former Press Staff Member, Dies at His Home

Ralph W. Beebe, a member of The Pontiac Press editorial staff for 37 years before his retirement a year ago, died early this morning at his home in Sylvan Lake. He had been in impaired health for a number of years, and suffered a stroke during the night.

Mr. Beebe devoted his entire working life to newspapers. He started his career with the Detroit Journal in 1912 and worked on the Moose Jaw, Sask., Evening Times and the Windsor Border City Star before coming to Pontiac in 1920.

He was a reporter for The Press' four years, and became telegraph editor in 1924, a post he held until 1943. He left the wire news desk in that year to devote his time to editorial writing. In recent years poor health and failing sight caused him to forego coming to the office, but he continued his editorial work from his home on Oakwood Avenue, in Sylvan Lake.

Mr. Beebe was born in Detroit Aug. 27, 1892, attended public schools there, and graduated from the University of Michigan. He was a member of the Pontiac Rotary Club, and served two terms on the board of trustees of his village. Continuing his interest in affairs of government, he was a member of the American Press Institute seminar on governmental news at Columbia University in 1951.

He was a member of All Saints Episcopal Church.

Surviving are his wife, Annie Murdoch Beebe; a daughter, Mrs. E. M. (Diana) Steger, of Columbus, Ohio, and three grandchildren.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the Voorhees-Siple Chapel on North Perry Street, and burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Woodward Ave., Detroit.

All Wings in Camp; Skinner Named Scout

DETROIT (UPI)—Jimmy Skinner, former coach of the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League, today was named chief scout for the club.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Adams announced Gus Mortson, defenseman obtained from the Chicago Black Hawks, came to terms over the telephone and will report Sunday after closing out business matters in Toronto. Center Forbes Kennedy reported for practice today, explaining he had missed his plane from Prince Edward Island. All 67 players in the Wings camp, which opened yesterday, are accounted for.

Gale Fifi Veers Away From U.S. Mainland

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Storm Fifi, maintaining 60 mile-an-hour winds edged closer to Bermuda today on a course the Weather Bureau said would take it well to the east of the U.S. mainland.

Showers sprinkled a few areas in the Midwest and West today but generally dry weather prevailed in the Eastern half of the nation.

Scattered thundershowers fell during the night from parts of the Dakotas into Wisconsin, Illinois and Lower Michigan. Falls in most places were light. Hail pelted Duluth, Minn., while a severe electrical storm was reported in the Milwaukee area.

In the West, light thundershowers were scattered across the Rockies and westward into parts of Oregon and Washington. After several days of rain, skies cleared in most of Texas. Showers were reported in parts of Arizona and New Mexico and also in southern Florida. Rainfall of nearly 4 inches was reported in the past 24 hours at Kissimmee, Fla.

Installment Buying Up

CAMBERRA — Australians' installment-buying debt averages about 100 pounds ($224) per family compared with about 4 pounds in 1939. About 60 per cent of the furniture and 65 per cent of the refrigerators are sold on time-payment plans.

Maine Dems Win Seat in Senate by 3-2 Margin

Democrat Frank M. Coffin, a Lewiston lawyer, won re-election over Neil S. Bishop, Stockton Springs farmer. Coffin, when first elected two years ago, was the first Maine Democrat to serve in the House in 22 years.

Rep. Clifford G. McIntire, a Perham potato farmer, was the only Republican in major office to survive the Democratic wave. He won re-election over Gerald J. Grady, a professor of government at the University of Maine.

And while Muskie did not stress it, the man in the street commented frequently that Goldfine lent $3,500 to Payne toward purchase of a house, gave a vicuna coat to him and paid some of his hotel bills.

Economic conditions in Maine apparently were a factor. The state has been hard hit by the nationwide recession.

There were few sharp issues in the campaign speeches. Muskie criticized and Payne defended the record of the Eisenhower administration on foreign policy and economic conditions.

Harlow H. Curtice Opens New Office

FLINT (AP)— Harlow H. Curtice, who retired Sept. 1 as president of General Motors Corp., wasted little time in getting back into harness.

Curtice opened a temporary office on the fifth floor of the Genesee Merchants Bank and Trust Co. building Friday and will move into permanent quarters in the building when they are fixed up.

Curtice continues to serve GM as a member of its board of directors and the important finance committee. In addition, he is chairman of the board of directors of the Genesee Bank and is on numerous civic committees.

Curtice and his wife will sail from New York Sept. 19 on a European vacation that will include a visit with their daughter and son-in-law, Capt. and Mrs. Robert C. Bishop. Capt. Bishop is with the Army Medical Corps detachment at Stuttgart, Germany.

Teeth Will Show if Girl's Lying About Her Age

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI) — Want to be sure your girl isn't lying about her age? Look at her teeth.

Alfred had been charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl. He explained to the judge that he thought the girl, a nurses' aide, was older.

Dulles Doubts Formosa War

Ike Sees Maine Dem Vote as Bad Republican Beating

NEWPORT, R. I. (AP) — President Eisenhower today sized up the Democratic sweep in the Maine elections as a Republican party beating there is no use trying to disguise.

Eisenhower's reaction of disappointment was reported to newsmen at the summer White House by press secretary James C. Hagerty.

Hagerty spoke out shortly after the Republican National Committee in Washington had supplied Eisenhower with final returns on the Maine contests.

Hagerty said Eisenhower also hopes "it may help a little in making everybody work a little harder for the November elections."

That was a reference to contests to be held in the rest of the country in November.

Hagerty replied "I don't know — I haven't any comment" when asked what effect, if any, the Democrats' success in Maine would have on the tenure of Sherman Adams as Eisenhower's chief aide.

But a moment later he indicated once again that he does not look for Adams to leave — willingly or unwillingly — at this time.

In Washington Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said today he does not believe there will be a war over the Formosa Straits Islands if the United States follows its firm policy.

U. S. officials here said today Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's threatening letter to President Eisenhower yesterday would not shake this country from its course in the Formosan Strait crisis.

★ ★ ★

These officials also said the President had taken into account the possibility that any Soviet threat would not be a bluff.

★ ★ ★

Some U.S. officials throughout the crisis have been betting against an actual Chinese Communist invasion attempt on the theory Russia would persuade its Chinese Allies to avoid a major war.

Detroit Youth Killed by Freight Train

Engineer Duane Schwalm of Saginaw said that as his train approached the crossing he saw three youths lying on the tracks.

Schwalm said "The train was moving about 45 miles an hour. I blew the whistle and pulled the brakes. Two of them got up and ran, but the third stood in the middle of the tracks and waved a beer bottle."

★ ★ ★

Ronald Gentry, 21, of Plymouth, and Eddie Armstrong, 20, of Highland Park, were questioned by Wayne County Sheriff's officers.

Detective Sgt. Edward Love said the youths told him "We were just goofing around having a party and drinking some beer."

NEW GOVERNOR OF MAINE — Clinton A. Clauson listens as his wife, Ellen, receives election returns at their home in Waterville, Me., last night. Clauson, 62, a Democrat, won over former Republican governor Horace A. Hildreth for the first four year term as governor. The term previously had been two years.

ANTHONY RENNE

Appoint City Lawyer Assistant Prosecutor

Announcement was made today of the appointment of Anthony Renne as an assistant prosecutor for Oakland County.

Renne, 44, of 3740 Aquarina Dr., Drayton Plains, has been practicing law in Pontiac since 1947. He received his law degree from Wayne State University in 1940.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said Renne will fill the new position of assistant approved by supervisors in July. Renne will be on general assignment for work with the courts, while Walter R. Deninson, another assistant, will aid the Friend of the Court with support cases.

The appointment of Renne brings to eleven the number of assistants on Ziem's staff.

TOULOUSE, France (UPI) — The oldest living Frenchwoman, 105-year-old Mme. Louis Blanc, arrived here from Paris last night on the first airplane ride of her life, accompanied by her 81-year-old daughter, Lea. Mme. Blanc said the only concern she had felt on the hop was for the comfort of "my little girl" who "isn't used to traveling."

No Shortage of Men

DUNN, N. C. (UPI) — There was no shortage of manpower last night when fire broke out in a cotton gin here. Firemen from 12 counties were participating in a training program 65 yards away from the gin.

The Day in Birmingham

Harold McFarland Heads Community House Assn.

BIRMINGHAM — The Birmingham Community House Assn. last night at its annual meeting elected Harold McFarland president for the coming year.

Other officers named were Mrs. Harold Bickner, and Mrs. Raymond Giffels, first and second vice presidents; Mrs. John Joyner, recording secretary; Mrs. Robert Mason, corresponding secretary, and Charles Wiggins, treasurer.

New Board members are Mrs. F. Gordon Davis, Mrs. Fred C. Gould, E. J. Barney, Mrs. Bickner and Wiggins.

A charter amendment was adopted to change the annual meeting from the fall to the first Monday in June, beginning next spring. This was done to allow time for new Board members and officers to familiarize themselves with their work prior to the opening of the busy fall and winter seasons.

Director Mrs. Effie Schaffer, in her report, cited last October as a typical month for Community House activities when the 10 rooms in the building were used for more than 400 meetings.

During the year, House facilities were used by 152,840 persons. There were more than 2,000 organizational meetings, along with such spot events as the Peninsula State Stamp exhibit, regional traffic safety conference, postmasters district meeting, a hotel and restaurant union group gathering, art shows, blood banks and church group activities.

Despite being $7,000 short of its $50,000 fund-drive goal the House operated in the black. This was mainly because major repairs and improvements already had been completed, Mrs. Schaffer said.

The Youth programs included 11 Scout banquets and attendance of 21,000 at parties and dancing classes, and the New Year's Eve dance, co-sponsored by the House with the City Recreation Board.

Senior citizens of the community were served through the men's and women's clubs. The women devoted part of each of their weekly sessions to sewing for hospital patients.

In two years the Senior Men's Club has grown from "three men with an idea" to a membership of more than 80.

The Birmingham City Commission last night approved the Police Department plan to conduct a 30-day test of "no passing" on West Lincoln avenue.

Commissioners rejected the proposal by residents of the street who sought to conduct their own speed traps on the avenue.

Police were instructed to continue radar speed control on the street.

The first fall meeting of the Birmingham Toastmasters Club will begin with a 6:30 dinner this evening at the Birmingham YMCA.

The club is open to any man in the area wishing to participate in a program of public speaking.

Cathryn J. Swanson

Service was held today at 2 p.m. at Nativity Episcopal Church, Birmingham, for Cathryn J. Swanson, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Swanson Jr., 25268 Orchard Grove, Bloomfield Township. Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery, Southfield.

Besides her parents, she is survived by two brothers, William and Philip at home, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Everett C. Swanson of Miami, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Snyder of Walnut Lake.

trons of a nearby tavern. But no one on the ground was hurt.

The eight-million-dollar B52s, prime atom bomb carriers of the Strategic Air Command, were making routine landings at Fairchild Air Force Base when they collided about 1,500 feet over the highway.

Joe Martella, a service station attendant, said both planes were turning at the time.

"I looked up when I heard a tremendous roar from the engines of one plane," he said.

A big hunk of fuselage fell within 40 feet of the highway and burned. The other plane crashed about a mile away. There was a third pile of wreckage in a farmers field, 10 miles west of here.

★ ★ ★

The planes were less than two miles away from the Fairchild runway when they collided. Nine months ago, another eight-engine B52 crashed on takeoff from Fairchild, killing eight.

★ ★ ★

The B52s were carrying some classified materials but officials said these did not include nuclear weapons.

GM Cars Will Shine Under 'Magic' Finish

sible because the base — related to glass-clear acrylic resin — permits the use of metallic powders and pigments in combinations never before used.

"Magic-Mirror colors have the appearance of expensive pearlescent finishes and seem to take on a new depth and a profusion of shades when viewed from different angles."

Research work started for a new body finish in 1948 with GM, Fisher Body paint engineers and paint manufacturers joining forces.

Needed was a versatile finish to withstand intense heat and sun without becoming soft; to resist extremely low temperatures without becoming brittle; and withstand all nature's elements without premature dulling, cracking or other failures. Resistance to wear and ease of repair in the field were other goals.

Many prospective finishes never get beyond the testing laboratory, but a clear methacrylic resin base material proved to be the toughest finish ever produced.

After further research, some Oldsmobiles, Chevrolets and Pontiacs received the new finish in 1956; the next year about 25 per cent of all GM cars were so finished. Owners were enthusiastic and in 1958 about one million cars were finished in Magic-Mirror.

Now, with public announcement of the new finish, all GM cars for 1959 will have it.

British Trawlers Quit Iceland for Better Fishing

LONDON (AP) — British trawlers fished outside Iceland's 12-mile sea border today.

The Admiralty said the trawlers that defied the Icelandic border imposed Sept. 1 were looking for better fishing. It stressed the trawlers did not move in recognition of Iceland's new sea border.

★ ★ ★

Their move killed off temporarily the threat of any new skirmishes between British gunboats and the Icelandic coast guard. Britain sent the gunboats to the waters off Iceland to protect the fishermen from arrest.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday the British trawler owners federation appealed to Iceland to let the dispute go to the World Court at The Hague. It promised to abide by the court's decision.

★ ★ ★

Premier Hermann Jonasson, of Iceland, has said, however, his country will not retreat from its decision to impose the 12-mile limit. The limit before Sept. 1 was three miles.

Salvage Includes Coins

ANNANDALE, Va. (AP)—Fairfax Inscoe, tearing down an old house vacant for a decade found two old chests containing about 200 English coins. He said they appeared to bear the profile of Prince Edward II. Inscoe contracted to raze the house for salvage rights and has sent the coins to a friend for appraisal.

Mass Defiance, Little Rock Plea

School Board Argues Courts May Be Unable to Enforce Segregation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Urging a 2½-year breather in integrating its public schools, the Little Rock school board says federal courts may not be able to cope with state opposition to mixing of races in schools.

The board posed that question yesterday in asking the Supreme Court to reverse a ruling by the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals which struck down a 2½-year delay the board had been granted to integrate Little Rock's troubled Central High School.

In a petition to the court, the school board noted what it called mass opposition to court integration orders "by the people of the state and the state itself."

The board said if the high court's 1955 decision calling for an end to racial segregation in public schools is not sufficiently flexible to allow such a delay, "then it may be seriously questioned whether courts are able to effectively cope" with opposition such as that encountered from the state of Arkansas.

"And perhaps this court should so hold," the school board said.

The Supreme Court meets in special session Thursday to hear arguments whether Little Rock is to be given a postponement of integration until January 1961. That date was set by Federal Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope, Ark., in granting a delay.

The petition sets the groundwork for the school board's arguments before the high court Thursday that Judge Lemley be upheld and the 8th Circuit Court reversed.

"Whatever the answer may be," the board said, "it certainly is not to simply return the school district to the bedlam, turmoil and chaos which has been destroying the school district and has emasculated the educational program."

The board called the case one of tremendous importance and said it "calls for a decision more far reaching, studied and comprehensive than the superficial treatment accorded by the Circuit Court of Appeals."

Autoist Killed in Crash With Swerving Truck

NEW BUFFALO (AP) — Oakley D. Herrick, 55, of Kalamazoo was killed yesterday when his car and a truck collided near here. The truck driver, Ernest Ruthruff, 32, of Cloverdale, was not injured.

Ruthruff was arrested on a manslaughter charge and released under $2,500 bond, pending examination. Police said witnesses reported the truck driver swung over the center line of the pavement to avoid a rear-end collision with another truck that had been halted for a left turn.

Sweep Maine's Election

Dems Dash GOP Hopes for Congress

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats smashed across a staggering blow at Republican hopes of regaining control of Congress with a stunning sweep in Maine's election yesterday.

Maine voters told the nation there is deep trouble ahead for Republican candidates for state and national offices.

A whirlwind of votes carried Democratic Gov. Edmund S. Muskie to victory over GOP Sen. Frederick G. Payne for a Senate seat the embattled Republicans could ill afford to lose.

Democrat Clinton A. Clauson, a former internal revenue collector who had been given only an outside chance in pre-election predictions, upset Republican former Gov. Horace A. Hildreth to keep the governorship in Democratic hands for the third successive time.

The surprising results, after a relatively unexciting campaign, indicated to some political strategists an underlying dissatisfaction with the Republicans going beyond the usual reaction against the administration in power in off-year elections.

Although the potency of Muskie's personal popularity was generally accepted, these strategists were inclined to credit the results of the Senate race to sleeper issues, such as Payne's close association with Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Like presidential assistant Sherman Adams, Payne accepted expensive favors from Goldfine, who made friends with the influential but said he received no favors from them.

Payne's defeat solidified the belief of Democratic lieutenants that the issue of the Eisenhower administration's ethics is one that is likely to speak for itself in other states — as they think it did in Maine — without too much noisy drum beating from them.

Muskie did not mention the matter, but Payne defended his association with Goldfine when asked about it at campaign rallies.

The Democrats have armed their candidates with documented records not only of the Adams-Goldfine case but of other instances where they contend Eisenhower administration officials violated the moral code.

But their advice to these candidates is to hold this ammunition in reserve unless their opponents start "running against Truman" by talking about prior Democratic monkeyshines in Washington.

Democrats thought they saw also in Payne's defeat the impact of unemployment, loss of industries and the general economic recession.

Navy Spaceman Anxious to Try Jump for Moon

NORFOLK, Va., (AP) — Navy Lt. Richard H. Tabor, who lived for 72 hours under conditions almost identical to those on the moon, has a yen to get to the earth's distant satellite.

Shortly after he emerged yesterday from his three-day stint in an altitude chamber that simulated space conditions, Tabor said he would "give my right arm for a chance at the X15." This is the missile-aircraft in which an attempt will be made next year to send a man into space.

Tabor, 36, of Charleston, W.Va., is a physician-pilot. His three days in the space chamber, at simulated altitudes up to 139,000 feet, bettered the previous mark of 44 hours. He was testing a new, lightweight full-pressure suit.

"Boredom was the big problem," Tabor said. "I gave myself a methodical schedule to beat the boredom. Toward the end I experienced a little mental disorder, that is, having trouble thinking methodically. The boredom started catching up, and I got a little off this schedule."

Cmdr. A. L. Hall, who supervised the test, said Tabor's space suit proved its worth and will need only minor modifications.

Atmospheric pressure on the moon is zero. In the altitude chamber pressure was as low as .15 of a pound. At sea level, the pressure is 14.72 pounds per square inch.

Democrats Out to Get Nation's 1st-Time Voters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats are planning a nationwide drive to woo young people who will be eligible to cast their first ballots this year.

The Democratic National Committee announced today that teams of Young Democrats are being assigned to comb birth records and high school graduation rosters across the country to locate names of potential first voters.

"YD solicitors are being recruited to visit each potential first voter, to register him on the poll books and to acquaint him with the programs, policies and candidates of the Democratic Party," Paul M. Butler, Democratic national chairman, said in a statement.

U.S. Will Start New A-Tests

Ten Shots in Series on Nevada Desert Will Begin Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, with its 1958 nuclear tests in the Pacific completed, starts next week an abbreviated series of atomic tests in the Nevada desert.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced the end of the test firing of nuclear weapons at the Eniwetok Proving Ground in the Pacific. It gave few details beyond calling the tests successful.

A few hours later the commission gave out a few details of the forthcoming Nevada test series which the AEC said Aug. 29 calls for only 10 test shots, all of them relatively small.

★ ★ ★

The first test, expected about Sept. 15, will be fired from a balloon. The second, set tentatively for about Sept. 25, is to be detonated atop a 50-foot tower. This would be the lowest firing platform ever used on the Nevada grounds, 90 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

The AEC said about half the shots will be in deep underground tunnels but that none of these is scheduled before Oct. 8.

All the shots are to be concluded by Oct. 31, the date proposed by President Eisenhower for a one-year suspension of nuclear tests. Oct. 31 also is the date tentatively set for the beginning of East-West talks in Geneva, Switzerland, on the banning of tests. Both the United States and Britain have offered to end testing for a year from the commencement of the talks if the Soviet Union continue its own test ban.

In announcing completion of the Pacific tests, the AEC said in a joint statement with the Defense Department: "The tests were successful and contributed to further development of improved weapons for the defense of the United States and the free world."

★ ★ ★

The statement didn't say how many test shots were conducted but 14 nuclear blasts from the Eniwetok-Bikini area were reported between April 28 and July 26.

Hotrods Taking Over Golf Course in Texas

BRENHAM, Tex. (AP) — Tom Whitehead, spokesman for a group of golfers, protested yesterday that management had allowed some players to turn a local course into a race track.

"Full sized automobiles, stripped down to look like hotrods, are used on the course as golf carts," he said. "If you don't move along fast enough they start honking at you."

South Koreans Take Armed Northern Craft

SEOUL, (AP) — The South Korean navy said today it intercepted an armed North Korean vessel off the east coast, killing two men and capturing four others in a gun battle.

★ ★ ★

Three South Korean seamen were reported wounded in the encounter yesterday. The Communist craft, a 20-ton wooden boat, was reported badly hit, but a spokesman said he did not know if it sank.

★ ★ ★

The navy said the Communist boat carried espionage agents. It said a navy patrol boat spotted the Red craft 90 miles south of the armistice line and gave chase. When caught some 45 miles offshore, the Communists opened fire and the navy boat shot back.

Senate Primary in Florida Today

Should Provide Clues to Southern Thinking on Segregation

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Florida's Democratic voters decide today between Sen. Spessard L. Holland and Claude Pepper in a senatorial primary which should provide some further clues to Southern thinking on segregation and party loyalty.

Nomination is considered equivalent to election.

Both Holland and Pepper have Southern backgrounds and have come out for segregation, but from different points of view.

Holland has contended the Senate filibuster is the most effective way of beating back further compulsory civil rights legislation. He has said Pepper turned from the thinking of the South by trying to abolish the cloture rule while he was in the Senate.

Holland has declared he is determined to do whatever he can to change the school integration law which he contends was created by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Pepper has accused Holland of trying to stir race hatred and of using what he called the "Ku Klux Klan approach." He said he wants to work out the racial problem in a "Christian, lawful and acceptable manner."

Pepper has accused Holland of voting with the Republicans "four out of five times on major issues.

★ ★ ★

Holland said he always voted Democratic on matters of procedure, organization and jurisdiction. He said that on issues he voted his own convictions.

Pepper is 58, Holland 66.

None of Florida's eight congressmen has opposition in the Democratic and Republican primaries which are being held simultaneously.

Polish Immigrant's Son Maine's Senate Choice

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — A statehouse janitor leaned on his mop yesterday and said:

"I read in some paper that Muskie talked in a speech as if he thought he was something special. Well, he is something special, there's no getting around it."

Before the night was through, the voters of Maine had displayed once again how "special" their tall governor, Ed Muskie, is to them.

By a landslide vote, they topped their gifts of two elections as governor by making the 44-year-old lawyer the first Democrat Maine ever sent to the U.S. Senate by popular vote. His opponent was Republican Sen. Frederick Payne.

Even people of known Republican leanings were seen to nod their heads in smiling approval at the news of another triumph for Rumford-born son of a Polish immigrant tailor.

"I am very happy," Muskie told The Associated Press, "but you never can recapture the feeling of the first big one."

★ ★ ★

His victory was both personal and a victory for his party. But it was a party Muskie himself played a large part in rejuvenating.

The rebirth started in 1954 when Muskie, Rep. Frank M. Coffin, who won re-election yesterday, and a small group of younger Democrats sensed that the time was ripe for rebuilding the party.

Any politician under 50 who wins major office is called a boy wonder. But Muskie was only 35 when he became the leader of the Democratic minority in the Maine House.

He was elected Democratic national committeeman at the age of 38, and governor at 40.

One of a poor family of six children, Muskie worked his way through Bates College, graduating with honors, and Cornell University Law School.

He served three years in the Navy as an engineering officer in World War II and entered politics within a year after he returned to practice law.

As governor, he succeeded in getting most of his program through two Republican legislatures.

His appeal to legislators, as to voters, is partly one of personal warmth. Although he talks to people looking down from his 6-foot-4 height, he never gives the impression of "talking down." And his arguments and facts are nearly always so well organized that even would-be opponents are likely to end up thinking, "Why haven't we always done it that way?"

In his first term as governor, he won bipartisan support for revamping the state's development efforts, placing more emphasis on seeking new industry.

His second Legislature, also Republican-controlled, bought his proposal for state guaranteed loans to build modern factories.

In his second term also, the Legislature passed a complete revision of public school administration and adopted a number of changes in basic government recommended by a survey team Muskie persuaded the 1955 Legislature to employ.

Muskie's pretty brunette wife, the former Jane Gray, will become a senator's lady at the age of 31. Married in 1948, they have three children and today announced they expect a fourth—on Christmas Day.

Wants to Stop Racial Mixing

Newly Formed Group in Van Buren, Arkansas, Backs School Boycott

VAN BUREN, Ark. (AP)—The leader of a newly formed anti-integration committee declared last night that racial mixing must be ended in Van Buren public schools.

"It has to be stopped now," said Sam Cox Jr., chairman of the group which supports a white student boycott of integrated Van Buren High School.

The 13 Negroes enrolled at the 635-pupil school have stayed out of classes since last Thursday when 45 white students banded together in a strike against integration.

Boycott members threatened to keep the Negroes out of school by force.

Several methods of blocking integration permanently were discussed by the committee, one a plan to build a Negro high school.

Cox, a 30-year-old truck driver, has three children but none of high school age. He said he joined the committee because the high school situation eventually would affect his children.

An attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People sought injunctive relief in the controversy yesterday. But U.S. Dist. Judge John E. Miller rejected U. Simpson Tate's petition to have the Van Buren school board cited for contempt in failing to protect the Negro pupils.

Judge Miller advised Tate to file a suit by Sept. 19 and added that he would hear the case on its merits Sept. 25 or 26. He told the Negro attorney he would consider a petition for a temporary restraining order Sept. 19.

★ ★ ★

Tate, regional counsel for the NAACP, flew back to his headquarters at Dallas last night and Negro leaders here indicated none of the 13 Negro pupils would return to Van Buren High before court action is taken.

About 20 of the striking students went back to classes yesterday.

Waterford Vote May Be Slated

Township Board Talks of 2 Additional Trustees by New State Law

Waterford Township residents may be asked to vote on two additional trustees to the present five-member township board at the November election.

This was the main topic for discussion at last night's regular township board meeting.

A new state law effective this Saturday permits two additional trustees in townships with more than 10,000 residents. The present Waterford Township population is estimated at more than 44,000.

The project must be placed on an election ballot for voters decisions before action is taken by the township board.

If the proposition is approved, the new trustees could not be elected until four months following the voters' approval of the project.

This would mean it would miss the primary election in February and have to be placed on the ballot in 1961. The matter was tabled for action at next week's meeting.

In other business a proposed bicycle ordinance was discussed. the ordinance follows the state law, and the only question was the amount to be charged for the bicycle plates.

Board members agreed that the fee would not be a source of revenue but would cover only the cost of the license.

Whether to require entrance and periodic physical examinations for all Waterford Township police and firemen was discussed due to a recent heart attack victim who was on duty at Fire Station No. 2.

The matter was tabled for further study.

Board members approved a 1.32 mill township tax rate which has been allocated to the township by the Oakland County Allocation Board. This is the same rate as last year's tax spread.

August Averages Warmer, Wetter Than Last Year

August, the last month of the true summer when everyone tries to enjoy their last fling at warm weather sports, gardening and fun before the chilly fall, was on the average over 10 degrees warmer than last year in the Pontiac area.

The mean temperature was 71.9 degrees compared with 61.3 degrees last year, according to area weather reports.

Last month's highest temperature was 95 degrees on August 3. An average high of 82.4 was recorded throughout the month. This compares to an average high of 80 degrees 12 months ago.

Although it was warmer last month, rain also fell on eight days, which means twice as often as the previous August record.

Last month's early mornings and late evenings were agreeable for golfers and dancers respectively, the average low recorded being 62 degrees. The eighth month of last year, an average low of 70.9 degrees was recorded.

Holding Stepson in Brutal Killing

Clinton Prosecutor Says Farm Woman Murdered With Blunt Instrument

Covered with corn stalks and a bed quilt, the body of Mrs. Anna Hengesbaugh, 63, was found in a field near her home yesterday. She had been missing a week.

Vincent Hengesbaugh, the stepson, was arrested. Clinton County Prosecutor Frederick Lewis said he would be held for "investigation of murder."

Authorities quoted Hengesbaugh, who took part in the search for his stepmother, as saying he had no knowledge of how she came to her death.

A post mortem showed that Mrs. Hengesbaugh died of shock and a brain hemorrhage. She had been beaten over the head with a blunt instrument, officials said.

Prosecutor Lewis said evidence indicated that Mrs. Hengesbaugh had been beaten to death in her bedroom and her body dragged from the house into the field several days ago.

A three-foot length of binder twine was tied around one leg. There were blood stains on the bedroom floor, sheriff's men said, and a bloody blue jacket was found in a box in the garage.

When the body was found, Lewis said "There's no doubt about it—it must be homicide."

Lewis said he was investigating stories of neighbors that Mrs. Hengesbaugh and her stepson had quarreled over property rights since her husband's death a few years ago.

Mrs. Hengesbaugh was last seen alive the night of Aug. 29 when baby-sitting for a neighbor. A search was started for her when neighbors expressed concern over her absence.

Britain's Tolerance Becoming Questionable

What's the matter with the British Empire?

For centuries, she has more or less openly bragged of her great tolerance in all things. Especially has she been a bit smug about her acceptance of colored people and the extremely friendly relationships which the two races enjoyed under the benign influence of the British flag.

★ ★ ★

The element that passes for "juvenile delinquents" in England (or as J .Edgar Hoover prefers, "young criminals") has revolted against the colored people. These marauders have committed a series of raids on the colored districts and have engaged in riots sufficient to call out large forces of British bobbies.

★ ★ ★

Certainly this is a misfortune in every sense of the word. The whole world will greet the news with regret. However, this may mean that a complacent John Bull can pipe down when it comes to giving us a lot of unasked advice on how to deal with old Central High down in Arkansas. Various British dignitaries have been quite outspoken on occasions.

★ ★ ★

It's time they started cleaning up at home. They seem to have a domestic problem of their own.

Tax Bureau Promises Settlement Explanation

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) now pledges fuller explanations when it makes settlements of overdue income taxes.

For years scrupulous taxpayers have been irritated by its practice of announcing that a certain delinquent owes a huge sum and then later without explanation reporting that a settlement has been reached for about one-tenth of the amount claimed.

Critics of this procedure have maintained that everyone who pays his own taxes promptly has a proper interest in knowing that everyone else does so too. He is the one who pays the difference when others don't pay their share.

Probably most settlements can be explained satisfactorily. But suspicion is aroused when the bureau claims vast amounts due and then settles for a few cents on the dollar. Perhaps IRS has had to guess how much income has gone unreported. When disclosure is finally forced, the bureau wants to be sure it claimed enough.

IRS has its own troubles. Settlement of these claims calls for a lot of investigation and good judgment and is sometimes a rather delicate matter. In promising a fuller though not complete explanation the bureau is acting in self-protection. By not being as frank as possible it has added to public suspicion and misunderstanding.

Communist Ideology Denounced by Nehru

It has taken a long time and many incidents finally to convince Prime Minister NEHRU that Communism is bad.

In an article published in a New Delhi magazine, India's Premier declared:

"Communism comes in the wake of disillusionment and offers some kind of faith and some kind of discipline. But in spite of its apparent success, it fails partly because of its rigidity but even more so because it ignores certain essentials of human nature."

The Indian statesman stressed man's basic need for moral and spiritual values. He emphasized Communism's association with violence and it never seeks to change by persuasion or peaceful democratic measures, but by coercion, destruction and extermination.

The Premier has kept his country neutral in the cold war and his criticisms of Communism in the past have been mild, even toward Russia in the Hungarian revolt. The West doesn't escape his censure entirely though. The democracies are simply criticized in the article for unspecified inadequacies.

★ ★ ★

However, this is the first time Prime Minister NEHRU has struck at Communism and its attendant evils. He is so highly regarded in Asia and Africa that his blunt attack could be of great help there in the free world's struggle.

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Disunity Could Bring On War

WASHINGTON — Disunity and defeatism—the curse of the democracies of our times—could bring on a third world war.

LAWRENCE

At the very time when the President of the United States is acting in accordance with the letter and the spirit of a resolution — adopted in January 1955 by the overwhelming vote of both parties in Congress—that authorized the use of American armed forces to defend Formosa, the wisdom of that decision was openly questioned by the foremost spokesman of the Democratic Party on foreign policy—Dean Acheson.

The former secretary of state issued a scathing attack on his own government's policy. His defection from the American position was widely broadcast last Saturday.

It was a detailed argument in favor of the Chinese Communist side of the controversy by the same man who withheld American support from the Nationalist government at a critical period when Chiang Kai-shek was fighting for the survival of the free government on the mainland of China.

Just 24 hours after the Acheson statement was publicized, Premier Khrushchev boldly demanded the withdrawal of the American armed forces from the Far East and warned that an "attack on Communist China" would be considered "an attack on the Soviet Union."

President Eisenhower lost no time in reminding the Soviet Premier that he should concern himself with the aggressive operations of the Red China regime and restrain his ally, instead of worrying about the defensive tactics of the United States in the Far East. For there hasn't been and isn't the slightest intention on the part of the United States forces to "attack" Communist China.

As Secretary Dulles said in his statement, authorized by the President after a conference in Newport on Sept. 4, "Neither Formosa nor the islands of Quemoy and Matsu have ever been under the authority of the Chinese Communists." He added:

"Since the end of the second world war, a period of over 13 years, they have continuously been under the authority of free China, that is, the Republic of China."

★ ★ ★

The statement pointed out that the United States has a mutual assistance treaty with free China and called attention to the finding in the congressional resolution of January 1955 that "the possession by friendly governments of the western Pacific island chain, of which Formosa is a part, is essential to the vital interests of the United States and all friendly nations in and bordering upon the Pacific Ocean."

★ ★ ★

Secretary Dulles reminded the world that the same resolution of Congress — which authorizes the President to employ the armed forces of the United States for the protection of Formosa—also calls for "the securing and protection of such related positions and territories of that area now in friendly hands and the taking of such other measures as he (the President) judges to be required or appropriate in insuring the defense of Formosa."

For several days now there has been a mischievous propaganda encouraged inside the United States demanding, in effect, that the President notify the enemy of what his military advisers tell him is the proper course to follow in the detailed military measures to be taken in defense of Formosa and the related island positions.

If this were a major war, such demands would be regarded as plainly out of bounds. Indeed, it is the very spread of the belief that the United States government does not have the backing of the Congress or the people today which is in itself doubtless stimulating Khrushchev and his Chinese ally in Peiping to grow bolder and bolder in testing out American resoluteness and firmness.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Wheat Germ Helps Body Turn Starch Into Energy

Deploring the fact that millers discard the "hearts of wheat," that is the wheat germ, to make white flour, Robert R. Williams, Sc. D., who, with Tom D. Spies, M. D., first synthesized thiamin (vitamin B1) said:

DR BRADY

"Man commits a crime against nature when he eats the starch from the seed and throws away the mechanism necessary for the metabolism of that starch."

One of the functions of vitamin B complex, particularly B1 (thiamin), is to maintain good carbohydrate metabolism (normal utilization of starch and sugar). This should interest everyone who has inherited the tendency and is training for or has already developed diabetes.

The preponderance of medical opinion is against this concept, but there is a good deal of clinical evidence that vitamin B complex may be in fact what I have called it in this column—"poor man's insulin."

But, my stars, this is not the only reason why there should be a bushel, sack, peck or crock of plain wheat in every pantry—wheat as it comes from the thresher. Another function of vitamin B is to maintain the tone (firmness, elasticity) of involuntary muscle throughout the body—the muscle wall of the heart and arteries as well as that of stomach and intestine. Good muscle tone. This means good circulation and good digestion.

GET FREE PAMPHLET

In my FREE pamphlet Wheat to Eat, (available on request if you provide a stamped, self-addressed envelope), I give a variety of recipes for ways to use plain wheat in the everyday diet. Most of the recipes were contributed by readers of this column who have found that plain wheat is good to eat.

Any one with teeth may advantageously cultivate the habit of chewing wheat in the raw every day. There's no better way to get all the vitamins and minerals that grow in wheat.

For the best breakfast porridge you ever ate, crack or grind the wheat in coffee mill, place in double boiler, cook 15 minutes the night before, set on back of stove, and next morning put on fire just long enough to heat it through.

One farmer (not the one who set me right about feeding skim milk to the pigs) told me that "on the farm we always ate our own wheat for breakfast and sometimes for supper. We usually toasted the wheat a bit before grinding, as that gives it a nutty flavor. I find now that a bushel of wheat, all prettied up and flabbergasted in the latest fashion, costs me about fifty times as much as the farmer gets for his wheat."

Eyah, and some people pay 65 times as much for a pretty package of wheat germ or wheat germ oil (vitamin E) as it costs in the kernel.

Readers Object to Charges Made Against Police Chief

I agree with Observer. How can a small group of policemen make such absurd charges against their chief and get away with it? I've been told that the chief can't do anything because of civil service.

★ ★ ★

The police officers association has charged Straley with everything from soup to nuts; now they're charging him with lying to a newspaper reporter. I'm for getting up a petition to make the association put up or shut up.

★ ★ ★

It seems to me if these officers did more work they wouldn't have so much time to complain.

Conscientious Objector

The police association wants the chief fired because he helped Burke get a parole. Burke was eligible for one and the chief had a right to help him if he wanted to. It wasn't very smart for the chief, but what business is it of the association?

★ ★ ★

It's time they minded their own business in Pontiac. We got gyped on that civil service thing we voted. The association proves every few months that it was a bad mistake by the voters.

★ ★ ★

If law enforcement in Pontiac is going to be ruled by petitions from the association, let's fold up and move out to Waterford. They run nicely without a police force. Maybe we'd be better off if we dropped half the current association and saved their wages for the taxpayers.

'Union Members Look to GOP'

Senator Ives said the "unholy alliance of Jimmy Hoffa, the National Association of Manufacturers, the chambers of commerce and other disassociated groups dropped the bill for the full count."

And Sam Rayburn sat on it for a month. All in all, it was a mess. The Democrats are opposed to a labor bill that means business and if union members want legislation to guarantee a clean head to their organizations, they'll have to bank on the GOP.

'That Will Really Be Some Investigation'

That will be a great "investigation." Hoffa names his henchmen or those connected with his union activities and they "investigate." Hoffa thinks we're dumber than we are.

Electors in 10 States Cast Votes in Primaries Today

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ten states hold primary elections today, leaving only Rhode Island and Georgia to select party nominees for the November general election.

At stake were nominations for eight U.S. Senate seats, seven governorships and 59 house seats in Arizona, Colorado, Florida, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.

Georgia, where nomination is tantamount to election, holds its primary tomorrow, while Rhode Island holds its Democatic primary Sept. 17 and a Republican contest Sept. 25.

There are several key primary races today.

Former Sen. Claude Pepper is trying to make a comeback in Florida, battling against third-term seeker Spessard Holland for the Democratic nomination.

Gov. Ernest W. McFarland of Arizona was fighting against national committeeman Stephen W. Langmade for the Democratic Senatorial nomination in his state. Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater, who beat McFarland in 1952 and became a prominent GOP conservative in his first term, is unopposed for renomination.

Also without opposition for renomination is Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) who'll run against lone Republican candidate Vincent J. Celeste, a Boston Lawyer.

In Minnesota, Rep. Coya Knutson is seeking Democratic renomination against Marvin A. Evenson, a businessman supported by Mrs. Knutson's husband who has been waging a fruitless "Coya Come Home" campaign.

Democratic Sen. William Proxmire has one opponent in his Wisconsin bid for renomination for the seat once held by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. Republicans, who split before the special election which sent Proxmire to the Senate last year, are uniting now behind Roland J. Steinle, a former Milwaukee judge, as their Senatorial nominee.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Break 'Triangle' to Cure Stutter

Billy is a slave to a common nuisance habit. But when he speaks Spanish, he is free from its dictatorship. For he then alters one of the three corners of the "stutter triangle." Scrapbook this case or mail it to some friend who needs the advice herein. This is the latest psychiatry on the subject.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"But, Dr. Crane," his worried mother began, "I have noticed an unusual fact this last year.

"Billy has an uncle in Mexico who has invited Billy to visit him during next Christmas holidays.

DR. CRANE

"So Billy has been taking Spanish lessons for a year so he can try to speak with the natives.

"And he is doing very well in his Spanish. But the odd part of it all is the fact he doesn't stutter in Spanish.

"As soon as he reverts to English, however, he stutters terribly."

STUTTER PSYCHOLOGY

Stuttering is a very specific type of habit. You can understand it better by use of our psychiatric "stutter triangle."

★ ★ ★

Stuttering thus can be indicated by the three corners of a triangle, for it involves:

(1) Conversing;

(2) In one's native tongue (English in the U. S. A.);

(3) With an audience of human beings.

Change any corner of the "stutter triangle" and you help free the victim of his nuisance habit.

Thus, alter the normal speaking tone at (1), as by singing or reading or pitching one's voice higher or lower than usual, and the stutterer may suddenly be free of his slavery.

Or let him speak with pebbles in his mouth, a la Demosthenes, or bite down on his tongue with his molars and then hold the tongue imprisoned as he launches into his first sentence. Then he may speak smoothly.

HELP FOR STUTTERERS

Alter item (2), and you stutterers may also find a magical release from your slavery.

★ ★ ★

For example, Billy learned to stutter in English. Now that he is speaking Spanish, he does not stutter. For Billy has thus broken a link in the 3-link original chain which caused his first stuttering.

In a similar way, he can change the item at (3), as by talking to his dog or to horses or to trees, or even to the waves (a la Demosthenes).

Just alter any corner on the original stutter triangle and you have broken the pattern to which you stutterers have become enslaved.

For example, a confirmed stutterer will not stutter if he tries to be a ventriloquist!

Did you ever hear a stuttering Charley McCarthy?

In fact, ventriloquy is an excellent hobby for stutterers, since it diverts their attention from the human audience and also causes them to alter their normal speaking voice.

Actually, vocal stuttering is a cousin to many other nuisance habits that develop from social shame, humiliation or tension.

For example, blushing and spastic colitis are a similar nervous reaction. So is angina pectoris.

I once suffered from a stuttering wrist, which developed as I was sitting at a banquet session, waiting to deliver an address.

I lifted my cup to my lips, not realizing the waitress had refilled it with scalding hot coffee.

So I burned my lips and tongue, and by the involuntary withdrawal of the cup, I even spilled part of its contents in my plate.

Two weeks later, at another banquet, I started to lift my cup to my lips and my hand "stuttered" so violently, it spilled coffee. But by changing hands, I was O.K., for that altered the original pattern!

Deficit in Funds for County . Rules Out Most Pay Raises

Most Oakland County employes will go without pay raises next year as the county is faced with an operating deficit caused by increased social welfare assistance this past year.

Frazer W. Staman, chairman of the Salaries Committee of the Board of Supervisors, reported to supervisors yesterday that a survey indicates that salary rates of employes "are in most instances in line" with salaries paid by other business concerns in this area.

"We therefore recommend no general salary adjustments for county employes," Staman reported.

But the belt-tightening did not affect four elected officials. Pay hikes ranging from $1,000 to $1,500 were recommended for the county treasurer, drain commissioner, prosecutor, and sheriff.

A discussion on these and other recommendations of the Salaries Committee will be held by the supervisors next Monday when they meet to approve the revised 1959 budget.

Staman's committee has recommended that the newly-merged position of county clerk-register of deeds receive a 1959 salary of $11,250. The old clerk's job paid $10,250, while the register received $9,750.

Total salaries and salaries reserve for 1959 will amount to $5,108,899, out of a proposed budget of $12,285,723. The 1958 total of salaries was $4,972,656.

John C. Austin, vice chairman of the Board of Auditors, said the increase was due to the suggested pay boosts for the elected officials, and 25 new positions recommended for next year.

The committee did not rule out entirely pay raises for employes. Staman recommended that a special fund be set up in order "to make such salary adjustments . . . to rectify any inequities which may arise, provided such changes will not affect budgetary procedures of the county."

Other business taken up at Monday's meeting included:

A report from Charles E. Cardon, chairman of the Civil Defense Committee, in which he said that the county could not proceed with drafting a disaster plan until a similar survival project is completed by the state.

Approval of a county-large assessment roll totaling $178,705.06 "for the purpose of locating, establishing, constructing, maintaining, cleaning out, deepening and extending county drains" for the year 1958.

Approved by-laws for the Huron River Watershed Inter-Governmental Committee on which Clayton G. Lilly represents the county.

Agreed to a timetable for numerous drain projects being constructed in Oakland County. This was in reply to a State Health Dept. request that such a schedule be drafted.

Creation of a coordinator for community organizations for Royal Oak Township to steer a youth program in that area. That the new position of coordinator be under the supervision of the Juvenile Division of Probate Court, and that the county allocate $1,550 for salary of the coordinator for the remainder of this year.

Approved the loaning of $29,000 from the county's General Fund to the Department of Public Works for the purchase of a site in Southfield on which a sewage pumping station will be built to be used in conjunction with the proposed Farmington Interceptor. Pastor Wins Degree After 36-Year Effort

COVINGTON, Va. (AP)—Just about the proudest of 1958 college graduates is the Rev. Richard Guy Sheltman, 58. He got his A.B. degree from Randolph Macon College 36 years after beginning his work at the college in 1922.

Financial difficulties forced him to drop out of school. Came the depression of the 1930's and it took him 13 years to repay money he had borrowed to go to school. In 1945 he decided to get that degree. He used extension courses and went to night school while serving as pastor of Mt. Carmel Methodist Church and working week days as supervisor in the finishing and dyeing room of a rayon plant. He passed his final examinations with flying colors.

Crowded Jails Keep Many Idle

Penal Expert Explains Big Stumbling Block to Rehabilitation

Roberts J. Wright, Valhalla, N. Y. said here are now 200,000 persons in state and federal prisons. Wright said many of them are forced to remain idle because there are not enough skilled jobs to go around and 75 per cent of the convicts never had any particular trade before being sentenced.

★ ★ ★

State Supreme Court Justice George Edwards was scheduled to address the congress today. Gov. G. Mennen Williams will talk at a convention banquet Thursday night.

Wright said proper rehabilitation of convicts is vitally important because 90 per cent of all persons imprisoned today will be returned to society.

Statistics show that about 70 per cent of the people released on parole turn out to be successful. Of the other 30 per cent, 15 per cent commit new crimes and are returned to prison and 15 per cent are sent back because of technical violations of parole.

Wright said that despite the good showing made by ex-convicts, the public is reluctant to accept them and admit they have paid their debt to society.

Claims Reds Intend to Grab Quemoys

HONG KONG (AP) — Cambodia's Prime Minister, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, said today that Red China's top leaders told him in Peiping recently they were going to seize the Nationalist offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

"They said, however, they would not try to take Formosa at this time," Sihanouk reported.

The prince, his country's dominant political figure and former ruler, arrived in Hong Kong en route to New York for the opening of the U.N. General Assembly Sept. 16. Aides said he probably would also confer in Washington with top U.S. officials.

Sihanouk said he felt Nationalist China should hand over Quemoy and Matsu to Communist China.

"It would be good for the United States, for the people of the Republic of (Nationalist) China and for everybody in the world," he declared.

Miami Beach Glad the Hurricanes Are Back

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

MIAMI — The skirts of one of those girlish hurricanes was giving the death rattle to palm trees, the surf was tossing up big, like the gusher on a prehistoric whale.

And what were they doing in the office of Hank Meyer, known on warmer days as "Mr. Miami Beach"?

Chuckling and yakking about how great it was.

"We're glad the hurricanes are back," they were saying. "It means the weather patterns are returning to normal. It'll be a good, warm winter.

"We can handle hurricanes. No seaside place in the world is built against them like Miami Beach is. But we can't handle cold winters."

It's a matter of westerly winds, nicknamed "westerlies," which carry the weather embedded in them. When the westerlies are behaving "normally," they bombard Florida with storms in September, and leave her softly sunning by December.

Lately, the winds have diverted the hurricanes to the upper east coast in September, and anybody who doesn't know what happened to Miami last December can't read headlines.

Not only Miami weatherman Gordon Dunn, but also Seminole Indian prognosticator Howard Ocecola (a student of sowgrass and its effects on snakes and storms) insist that "there is no reason to expect anything like the cool of last winter."

In preparation for a warm resort season, then, there are five new big hotels and motels, with 1,300 rooms and suites getting ready for the $40-a-day set.

The biggest and most costly is scheduled to be the $20-million "Diplomat Hotel and Country Club," the first flossy resort to have its own 18-hole golf course and championship tennis courts.

Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Fred Perry are to be the pros and this is, in view of its cost and its size, "this year's hotel."

Whatever turn the climate takes, the hundreds of hotel owners whose monstrous multi-colored palaces overhang the surf will not lower their rates.

Meyer, publicity man for the Beach, believes, as they do, that rate-lowering is no solution. "People have the same psychology about Miami Beach as they have about Broadway shows and baseball teams. They might have a bad season, but it doesn't discourage them from trying again the next year, whatever the cost."

At least 75 per cent of the Miami Beach resorters, anyway, are "regulars." They come down every year, regardless of weather. Last year a great number of them returned to their homes early.

But it hasn't stopped building. It hasn't discouraged the beach boom. And it won't, Meyer contends, affect business-as-usual this year.

Only the winter '59 weather can do that. And obviously, it's going to be peachy.

"We used to be the hurricane capital of the country," they say, "and it looks like we will be again. What could be more auspicious?"

Answers Rickover Charges

Prof States U. S. Children Are Better Taught Today

(Rear Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, in a recent interview with United Press International, strongly attacked progressive or "the Dewey school" of education and warned that it was weakening the nation. In the following dispatch, written at the suggestion of UPI, one of the U. S. pioneers of progressive education, an ardent advocate of the principles of the late John Dewey, replies.)

By WILLIAM H. KILPATRICK
Emeritus Professor of Education Teachers College, Columbia Univ.

Admiral Rickover states as his fundamental conception that "the main function of schools" is not to "adjust" to life, but "to impart knowledge" to children and youth.

Charles Darwin in 1858 gave the intelligent world a new thought outlook, specifically a new conception of behavior and of the place of thinking, namely that behavior is, and properly must be, the effort to meet a life situation, and that the function of thinking is to help carry on life in the best possible way. William James and John Dewey extended this idea of behaving and thinking into education as a further effort to meet life's needs.

The proper aim of education is life itself, to make life as fine and as rich as we can. Knowledge is an essential to this, much thoughtfully digested knowledge. But life is ill-served by memorizing book knowledge. Our better elementary schools and our too few better secondary schools teach more knowledge and teach it better than did the older type schools. These better schools aim at life, at all-round character, not simply at book knowledge; and they develop a richer and better character for meeting life's needs than did their predecessors.

1. Dr. Ralph Tyler, America's foremost student of educational evaluation, says explicity, on the basis of definite tests that 6th grade pupils today equal the 8th grade pupils in the 20's.

2. Dr. George D. Strayer, who has surveyed more school systems than anyone else in the U. S. says: "On the fundamentals children today are doing much better than their fathers and mothers or grandparents did. They are reading more and they read better; they spell better and they are as competent in the fundamentals of arithmetic as any other generation, and they write better and more interestingly than their parents did."

3. The Eight-Year Study, which was supported by interested corporations to the extent of $600,000, gives the following report for the graduates of the six most modern type high schools in its study after they had graduated four years later from college. The comparison is with a like number of college graduates equal in all respects except that the latter had attended typical non-progressive secondary schools:

"Consistently high academic averages and more academic honors . . . clear-cut superiority in the intellectual intangibles of curiosity and drive . . . the intelligence and ability to think logically and objectively, and active and vital interest in the world about them . . . (They were) more frequently concerned with democratic values and the importance of assuming their share of responsibility for the general welfare . . . more often cooperative, tolerant, and self-directing."

Await Ruling on Integration

Charlottesville Residents Look to Federal Judge for Key Decision

HARRISONBURG, Va. (AP) — Charlottesville residents looked to a federal judge today for a decision on whether their school officials were justified in rejecting the applications of 30 Negro pupils for admission to white schools.

Paul was to resume a hearing today on the merits of the school board's reasons for turning down all 30 Negro applications. School officials defended their action yesterday and attorneys for the Negro students argued that the rejections were not justified.

In previous court sessions in this desegregation case, Paul has cautioned that if he feels Charlottesville school officials engaged in racial discrimination in turning down Negro applications for white schools, he will take over the job of assigning pupils himself. Charlottesville schools are due to open Monday.

The Charlottesville case has consumed more than three years. Paul told City School Supt. Fendall R. Ellis the guidepost of deliberate speed erected by the Supreme Court for desegregation cases "means nothing in Charlottesville. This litigation has been going on for years. You haven't done anything."

The 74-year-old judge directed the school board of Warren County to admit 22 Negroes to the county's only high school—a white school.

He would not stay the injunction himself, but he did give the county one week in which to seek a formal stay pending appeal from one of the three justices of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court.

ARE THEY MY REAL PARENTS?

How could this eighteen year old girl know for sure? Fourteen years earlier, when war was raging in Europe, she had been separated from her parents who were thrown into a slave-labor camp. Since then, the parents had tried vainly to trace their daughter. At last, through one of the OVERSEAS AID Programs of America's religious faiths, the family was re-united. But only when the young girl heard her mother sing a hauntingly familiar lullaby did she know for sure—they were her parents.

Red Tentacles Envelop Markets of World

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Analyst

Communist trade tentacles reach out all over the world these days—but the Reds score their greatest trade successes with countries which have surpluses they can't sell easily on free-world markets.

To such countries, many of which are highly dependent for their economic well-being on only one or a few commodities, the Communists hold out attractive proposals to trade needed Communist-bloc goods for the surlus or unsold commodities.

When such deals work out, as they have in many cases, they sometimes result in a situation in which the country ends up in considerable degree dependent on the new Communist-bloc markets.

When they don't work out they still often result in advantage to Communist countries through the good impression made by the original offers.

Iceland and Uruguay are good examples of cases where the deals have worked out favorably for the Soviet Union and other Communist countries. Uruguay is largely dependent for foreign exchange on the Uruguayan wool crop which has to compete with Australian and other wool on the world market. The Russians moved into a situation in which the Uruguayans were having difficulty disposing of their wool at prices they considered reasonable. As a result, the Soviet Union now is the largest buyer of Uruguayan wool and has furnished Soviet products, particularly petroleum, in exchange.

FISH FROM ICELAND

In Iceland, a small country dependent on its fish exports, the Russians have long been purchasers of a large part of the fish catch. Communist-bloc trade nowadays amounts to well-over one-quarter of Icelandic foreign trade. The Icelanders get much of their imports, including oil products, from the Soviet Union.

The basis for the large trade between Communist countries and the United Arab Republic is barter of Egyptian cotton for arms and other exports from Communist-bloc countries. In 1956 Egypt was selling over one-third of its total exports to the Communist bloc and getting about one-seventh of its imports in return.

In Burma the Communists made use of the rice surplus of that fertile country to make a big trade deal. They bartered Communist products for the Burmese rice under contract and came out a big factor in Burmese foreign trade, accounting for more than one-seventh of both Burmese exports and imports in 1956.

This kind of trading, based on Communist willingness to accept products and commodities which are in some degree drugs on the world markets, is responsible in large degree for Communist penetration of important markets in Afghanistan, Iran, Turkey, Ceylon, Indonesia, India and other countries.

AIM AT BRAZIL

The Russians and other Communist countries are now aiming at Brazilian trade. Offers have been made to accept Brazilian coffee, cotton and other products in exchange for Communist oil and other products.

The Soviets also seek big credits in the United States for purchases of machinery and other industrial equipment.

The largest Soviet foreign trade with free-world countries in 1957, according to Soviet figures, was done with Finland and Britain. The trade with Finland is a hangover from the immediate postwar period when the Finns built up industries to satisfy Soviet reparations demands. These industries are unable to compete generally with similar industries in other Western countries and must continue to find their markets in the U.S.S.R.

The Soviet trade with Britain is highly varied and represents in part a renewal of the pre-war Soviet trading pattern in which Britain was Russia's largest foreign customer and source of foreign commodities. Communist-bloc countries as a whole also do a substantial trade with West Germany. But the Communist-bloc countries have never succeeded in making big inroads into markets in more industrially advanced nations.

It's in the underdeveloped nations and those dependent on export of one or a few commodities that the Red trade opportunities are consistently greatest.

Extend Phones to Russia

BERN, Switzerland (UPI) — The Swiss postal services has announced that telephone service between Switzerland and the Soviet Union, which was restricted to calls to Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev and Kharkov in the past, has been extended to all cities in the USSR.

Reds Sentence German in Baby Bonus Racket

BERLIN (UPI) — East German insurance salesman Hans Donau was sentenced to eight and a half years imprisonment for falsely registering 42 births and 44 deaths, it has been reported.

The East Berlin newspaper National Zeitung said Donau registered the births to collect Soviet zone government bonuses given for twins and all children over the third born in a family, and the deaths to collect life insurance. The paper said he stole and forged certificates for presentation to registry offices.

A fashion contrast, from the smart lines of this wide-collar Dior French tweed suit to a sleek cocktail dress to the bouffant elegance of an ankle-length gown, is represented in these photos. This suit is featured in black, brown and beige wool.

Half Century Since Winston, Clemmie Braved Critics to Speak Nuptial Vows

LONDON (UPI) — In 1908, London gossips gave Winston Churchill's marriage to gray-eyed Clementine Ogilvy Hozier six months.

★ ★ ★

This Sept. 12, Sir Winston and his "Clemmie" celebrate the 50th anniversary of a marriage that has been described as one of the most successful of the century.

★ ★ ★

By the standards of 1908, there was good reason for tongues to wag in disapproval of the match. For although Clementine Hozier was born a blueblood, she had no money — a social "crime" of the first order to fortune-conscious match-making mamas of the day.

MONEY NO OBJECT

But this objection made no sense to swashbuckling young Prime Minister-to-be Churchill, who by then already had seen more action in his 33 years than most men do in a lifetime.

And slender brown-haired Clementine, who had been courted by the pick of London bachelors for six seasons, appreciated that it was a man of experience she was marrying on that historic day in 1908.

His adventures in the Boer War, in Cuba, India and the Sudan were legend; and was he not already a member of the cabinet as president of the Board of Trade?

★ ★ ★

Clementine was the daughter of a Scotsman, Col. Sir Henry Hozier, who saw adventure in China, Abyssinia and India. Her mother was Lady Blanche Hozier, daughter of the Earl of Airlie.

★ ★ ★

Clementine's bringing-up was Victorian. She took school seriously and mastered French during her childhood days at a convent school in Dieppe. Later, at Berkhamsted School in England, she surprised everyone with her French accent.

She was interested in social work and had thought of making it a career. She also wanted to attend Girton, the first women's college at Cambridge, but was packed off to London before being allowed to go "blue stocking."

LOST HER HEART

It was there, at a dinner party given by Lady St. Helier and High Court Judge Lord Helier in their home at Portland Place, that pretty, aloof Miss Hozier met sandy-haired Winston Churchill, and lost her heart.

★ ★ ★

The wedding at St. Margaret's Westminster, drew a record crowd of the season. King George sent the bridegroom a malacca cane with the Marlborough crest in gold, and he and Queen Mary sent personal messages of congratulations.

Churchill himself said:

"I was married and lived happily ever after."

There is no one secret of success for a marriage such as this: particularly one that never escaped either the glare of publicity or the scrutiny of world public opinion.

★ ★ ★

Certainly Winston Churchill, himself has contributed as much to the partnership as the wife he calls "Clemmie," or, when he is most endearing, "Dear Cat."

Perhaps "Clemmie's" mother more than anyone long ago put an unerring finger on what was to make the marriage go.

WINSTON IS GENTLE

"Winston always is gentle and tender to those he loves," she said.

Fifty years later those who know him most intimately express the same feeling in another way.

Said a friend:

"I think the marriage is so extraordinarily happy because Churchill is very affectionate with women. No matter what his mood he simply cannot be unkind to them."

Attentiveness to one's wife is far more difficult to maintain in public than in private life.

But Sir Winston has managed. Unfalteringly he has maintained that "Clemmie" rates the first place of prominence at his side. Unlike the wives of other prime ministers she never has remained in the shadows.

"Sir Winston wants her to be noticed and makes sure that she is," a friend summed up. "And what could be more flattering to any wife — particularly when one's husband has made history?"

Sleeves are the newsmakers in this courtly Dior gown of pink gros de londre. The dress is accented by a high level surplice bodice and a bold puffed ankle-length skirt. The oversized self bow on the skirt is a Saint Laurent trade mark.

Accent Buttons

Pearl buttons, the size of a silver dollar or larger, are a new-looking, fashionable as well as functional trim for young coats, jumpers, chemise overblouses and trapeze dresses.

Hospital Auxiliary Meets

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Auxiliary opened the season Monday with a meeting in the auditorium of McAuley Nurses Home.

Officers for the year are Mrs. Walter Williams, president; Mrs. C. B. Wilson, Mrs. John R. Davis, Mrs. Ralph L. Polk, Mrs. John Wood, Mrs. Charles O'Connor, Mrs. Peter Davidson and Mrs. Harold Brady, vice presidents.

Other officers are Mrs. H. Guy Moats, recording secretary; Mrs. Harwood Bacon, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. John A. Reid, treasurer.

The annual membership tea will be held Oct. 28 at the home of Mrs. Polk on Lone Pine road. Mrs. F. O. Rorabough was named chairman of the social committee with Mrs. Carleton Wright and Mrs. C. F. Dick assisting.

Mrs. E. A. Christie presided at the coffee hour.

Fiance Can Pay All Bills

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would like very much to have my friend and her husband and my fiance as my guests at dinner and the theater. The theater tickets will be bought in advance, but I do not know how to go about arranging to pay for the dinner without causing embarrassment to either of the men. My name is not known in the hotel where we will be eating. Is there any way I can prevent having the bill rendered when the others are present?"

Answer: Give the money to your fiance beforehand and ask him to be bar er for you. There is nothing either unusual or improper in this.

"Dear Mrs. Post: At a dinner in honor of a golden wedding anniversary couple, should the clergyman be asked to say grace before the toast is drunk to the "jubilarians" or immediately after; in other words, is the wine for the toast considered part of the meal?"

Answer: Grace is often said before the "jubilarians" sit down at the table, or just after they are seated, before any food or drink is touched. Afterward all except the honored couple rise for the formal toast to them.

Dear Abby....

Counselor, Heal Thyself!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: For 8 years I was connected with Domestic Relations Court and have helped hundreds of people with their problems, but I can't seem to solve my own. I am married to a woman who is a good wife and mother but I don't love her. I love another woman who works with me. We've tried to break off but can't live without each other. Should we spend the rest of our lives living a lie, or should we break up our families and live decently together?' — MIXED UP

ABBY

DEAR MIXED: Romances of this type are too hot not to cool down. Use a little self-discipline and practice what you preach.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl with a problem. He is a 16-year-old boy. Nobody noticed him until I noticed him . . . and then he got stuck-up because everybody noticed him and now he doesn't notice me. I would like to get him back. Please tell me how I can do it. Thank you." — NOT NOTICED

DEAR NOT: Go out of your way NOT to notice him. If others noticed him only because YOU noticed him, they will quit noticing him . . . and when nobody is noticing—grab him.

"DEAR ABBY: What would you say about a pregnant woman who does nothing but sit and talk about her "condition?" She has two other children, but to hear her talk, you'd think this was her first. No matter what else you are talking about, she brings the conversation back to her "condition." Her friends, and especially this writer, are so tired of listening to her yak that we could all scream. How can we shut her up?" — ALSO PREGNANT (but not advertising)

★ ★ ★

DEAR ALSO: This poor soul is using her "condition" to get attention. Let her yak. She won't have the "forward look" forever.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a girl of 15, but am very mature for my age. I go with a boy who is 21. My mother doesn't care for him because he doesn't like to dress up. He wears jeans and doesn't even own a pair of dress pants. When I date him I have to lie about who I am going with, and he sends somebody else to the door to get me. I don't like sneaking around, but there is no other way to get to see him. Can you help us solve our problem? He is a very nice boy." — P AND H

DEAR P AND H: A "very nice boy" doesn't send somebody else to the door to pick up his girl. If you don't know better at 15—he should know better at 21. He's not as nice as you think he is.

"DEAR ABBY: I know this is none of my business, but I am very curious. Although your name is certainly DUTCH, I have the feeling that you are of LATIN origin. Am I right?" — CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Go to the foot of the class.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I am a widow in my late thirties and for the last three years have been keeping company with a stubborn bachelor of 60 who has quite a bit of money. The mutual friend who introduced us said if I played my cards right I could have him, but I don't know what I am doing wrong.

★ ★ ★

"He buys me Sunday supper and takes me to a show, but I'm not any closer to marriage now than I was three years ago. Should I look for a man closer to my age even if he has less money? I wouldn't have wasted time on this one if he was poor." — DISCOURAGED

★ ★ ★

DEAR DISCOURAGED: Three years is long enough. Keep your eyes open for somebody else—and you'd be wiser to count his YEARS—not his MONEY.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO J. C.: Are you sure your marriage is legal? Only Congress has a right to declare war!

Subtle Perfume Is a Powerful Influence

Are you aware of what a powerful influence perfume is in our everyday lives asks the president of a famous perfume company? I urge women to use perfume not as a weapon but as a subtle advocate.

When a woman thinks in terms of her clothes she considers first her "activity." She wouldn't wear a cocktail dress to call for her children at the local school. Yet she often does this with her perfume.

To keep one scent on your dressing table and to use it with regularity that one does the hand soap on a basin, is not being aware of your own activity coordinating with your own scent.

Now that we have considered "activity" we cannot overlook the prerogative that belongs to women alone — her moods! If she is looking forward to a date with a man, her choice will depend on her thoughts about him. (A tip to men who find women an enigma).

Gardens Topic of Panel Talk

Members of the Holiday Farms Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association held a panel discussion on "Putting the Garden to Bed" Monday evening at the home of Mrs. John Campbell on Lynsue lane. Cohostess was Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton.

Forming the panel were Mrs. Joseph Lewis who spoke on bulbs; Mrs. Lewis Ruell, speaking on perennials; Mrs. Charles Zamek, evergreens, and Mrs. Alfred Lowman, roses.

Legion Unit Planning Reception

Chairman is Mrs. Milton Yerkes. Honored guests will be Charlotte Osmun, Nancy Donaldson and Kay Hamilton.

Elected treasurer was Mrs. Ray Jewell. Mrs. Roger Dean, Mrs. Leo Mineweaser, Mrs. Yerkes and Mrs. Robert Conant will serve on the entertainment committee for both post and auxiliary.

Floyd Cremer, commander of the post, spoke to the members on future plans for the groups.

Much too fudgy.

How "corny" can one get? It is no effort at all for me. Anyhow I am having fun and hope you are also. To get down to real business, fudge and such foods add something to our waistlines (too much) and little to our egos.

Let's face it! There is nothing which makes a woman look younger and slimmer than a slim waist. This makes her feel younger, too. Yet this is one of the first places in which we are apt to thicken up. You can carry quite a bit of weight in the hips and still have a lovely figure, IF you have a girlish waistline. Here are some exercises which are most effective.

This time raise your left leg to upward right angles to the body position, and lower it, touching the floor on the outside of your right leg. Continue, alternating right and left. Keep both knees stiff throughout this exercise and touch the floor as far away from the opposite leg as possible.

2. Lie on the floor on your back with your arms in the same position. Keep the knees stiff as you roll from side to side. Make the roll as big as you can.

3. Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Take a cane or a broom handle, one end in each hand. Let your arms hang in front of you. Raise the handle overhead. Stretch up-up as high as you can. Bend trunk and touch feet with the handle. Again raise the arms overhead and stretch upward. Lower arms. Continue.

4. Same starting position. Bend the trunk and touch the right end of the broom handle to the left foot. Raise trunk and raise arms forward shoulder height. This time touch the left end of the broom handle to the right toe. Raise trunk and arms. Continue, alternating right and left.

This exercise will slim your waist if done regularly.

MR. and MRS. LAWRENCE MORRIS

Irene Kamachos and Lawrence M. Morris were married Saturday. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kamachos and Mr. and Mrs. Manley Morris of Jackson.

Irene Kamachos Wed to Lawrence M. Morris

Married Saturday in St. Benedict Catholic Church were Irene Kamachos and Lawrence M. Morris. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kamachos of Hazel avenue, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Manley Morris of Jackson.

The bridal gown was of white satin, lace and nylon chiffon. Features of the gown included a Sabrina neckline, long, tapered sleeves and a chapel-length train of lace over satin. Chrysanthemums formed the bridal bouquet.

Mrs. David Morris of Lansing was matron of honor. She wore a toast-colored dress of acetate taffeta with scalloped neckline and full, pleated skirt. Her picture hat was of pleated nylon chiffon. Her bouquet of chrysanthemums matched her gown.

Bridesmaids Mrs. Frances Amos, the bride's sister, and Marilyn Tomkins wore gowns of gold and yellow, respectively. They were identical to the honor matron's. Their bouquets were of gold and yellow chrysanthemums.

For a honeymoon in Northern Michigan, the new Mrs. Morris changed to an avacado green chemise with matching accessories. Upon returning, the couple will reside on Murphy street.

Join Your Husband in Year's Gypsying

By RUTH MILLETT

He is planning to retire in two years and all he talks about is selling the house and buying a trailer so that he and his wife can move from place to place and be free of responsibilities.

She can't think of anything worse than having to give up the home she loves, say goodbye to old friends, and spend the rest of her married life cooped up in a trailer, always on the move with no plot of ground to call home.

"How can I talk him out of this notion?" she asks. "He thinks after working for 40 years at the same job he has a right to do what he wants to do when he retires. I want him to be happy, but I truly don't think he will be any happier without a home or friends than I will."

My suggestion is that you stop pulling against him and fall in with his bright and rosy plans. Only insist that he make one concession to you. That you rent the house instead of selling it, and give trailer life a year's trial before you definitely pull up roots.

Anything can happen by the end of a year spent traveling around the country. Your husband may be sick and tired of pulling his home behind him. He may hate the cramped living quarters. He may be lonely for his old friends.

He may long for a plot of ground on which to raise a garden. He may be anxious to get back home and start making improvements on the house he still owns.

Or, and this is perhaps a little more unlikely, you may find that you like the life of a modern day gypsy. That you enjoy being able to choose your climate, move on when you get tired of a place and make new friends in different parts of the country.

But don't burn your bridges behind you. Hold on to your home until you have had a chance to find out how you both react to trailer life.

To Wash Blender 'Blend' Soap

An easy and efficient method for cleaning a blender is to put soap or detergent and a small amount of warm water into the jar.

★ ★ ★

Place it on its base, turn on, and let the suds "blend" for about 30 seconds.

★ ★ ★

Drain, rinse and dry the jar. Then, let it spin for 5 or 10 seconds more to evaporate any water remaining around the cutter blades and bearing.

Blouses Revive Tired Wardrobe

Blouses have a way of reviving tired wardrobes. If you aren't wild for the sack, you can still follow the style with a straight skirt topped with a chemise blouse.

Daily Laundering Keeps Tights Snug

Fiber Glass Chairs Are Washable

Comfortable contour chairs for modernistic living rooms or recreation rooms are being made of fiber glass frames and light chrome legs.

Soap or detergent suds are all that's needed to keep these pieces of furniture handsome looking.

Common Towels Can Be Health Hazard

Most homemakers are fully aware that decent standards of cleanliness and health require a separate towel for each member of the family.

★ ★ ★

But quite often, in places of employment, common towels are used—that is, one towel for everybody! This constitutes such a health hazard that one state is legislating to outlaw this practice.

Fastidious homemakers make it a rule to provide plenty of clean "personal" towels—and see to it that used towels are replaced promptly.

Emilie Lou Is Learning Joy of Cooking Early

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Out at Twin Beach school there is one sixth grader this fall who's already a good little cook. Emilie Beaupre has been working with her mother for the past three summers to learn simple cookery. Her mother says she is now able to get a meal all by herself.

★ ★ ★

BUTTERSCOTCH OATMEAL COOKIES
By Emilie Lou Beaupre

1½ cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup shortening
¾ cup brown sugar
¾ cup white sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoon hot water
Nut meats
1 package (8 ounce) butterscotch chips
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups quick-raw oatmeal

Cream shortening and sugar. Add beaten eggs, then hot water. Add flour mixed with soda. Add chopped nuts, oatmeal and vanilla. Add butterscotch chips last.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on cookie sheet and bake 10-12 minutes at 375 degrees.

Cathy Johnston Honored

Cathy Johnston, who will become the bride of Harvey Hessell Friday evening, was honored at a miscellaneous bridal shower Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Leonard Laity on Pingree avenue. Allie Baakko and Mrs. Robert Laity were cohostesses.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mrs. Everett Johnston of North Johnson avenue, and the prospective bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas of North Tasmania avenue.

Attendans for the wedding will be Mrs. Bruce McColl as her sister's matron of honor, and Robert Baker as best man.

Attending the shower were Mrs. Johnston, Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Harold Blanchard, Mrs. Sam McMurray, Mrs. Adrian Coon, Maxine Kemp, Mrs. Jack Hunt, Mrs. Irene Lane, Mrs. William Guenther, Mrs. Bruce McColl, Mrs. Harrison McColl, Mrs. Ray Patton, Mrs. Cecil Lankford and Mrs. George Hicks.

How to Dry Cotton T-Shirts

Cotton T-shirts and knit underwear can be put in an automatic dryer with bath towels or bed linens. Remove before completely dry, block to original shape size and finish drying on top of dryer.

If allowed to tumble too long the cottons appear to shrink and must be redampened to regain their shape.

Basic Rules for Foot Care

Basic rules for the care of children's feet are: 1. Never go barefooted. 2. Never wear shoes without socks. 3. Change socks daily. 4. Special care should be used in the selection of proper socks and correct shoes. 5. Feet should be washed, dried and powdered daily. 6. Socks and shoes should be examined periodically to be sure that the child has not outgrown them.

Exercises Relax, Ward Off Lines

Head and neck exercises are relaxing, but they also ward off early signs of crepy skin. One simple one is to bend your head back as far as it will go.

Then return to normal position. Do this 30 times at least three times a week if you can't do it every night.

Better to Restrain Attention Seeking Child

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

When Ann's parents have you to dinner, Ann takes you over until her bedtime at 9:30.

Barely have her parents greeted you before Ann herds you upstairs to see her movie projector. At dinner she tells you everything she did on rainy days at camp this summer. After dinner, bringing out the beaded belt she made, she describes every detail of its manufacture.

Try and stem her chatter to ask her parents what they think of the Middle East crisis—and Ann at once reasserts control of the conversation by announcing, "We had a camp song. Would you like to hear it? It goes: 'Oh, whispering pines and campfire glow . . ."

They refrain from this correction lest they "humiliate" Ann by suggesting that her insistent chatter is boring.

It is terribly boring.

And Ann knows it. You can tell she knows it by the strain that enters her voice as your attention begins to wane. She knows the exact moment when your disinterest becomes irritation. As she jumps up to sing the camp song that forces your attention back to her, a look of desperation comes into her face.

At bedtime, knowing that she's failed to command your approval of her as more interesting than her parents, she can't bear to leave the scene of her failure. So there are protests and tears of frustration that embarrass everyone.

It is cruel to encourage children to imagine that their conversation is endlessly fascinating to adults.

If this strikes us as true, we'll lose our fear of that firm "That's enough now, Chatterbox," and will be able to protect Ann against the bored irritation of dinner guests she now feels obliged to entertain for two hours.

We "humiliate" children like Ann, not by correcting them but by giving them social responsibility that's too heavy for them. It is very noble of us to want to spare them "humiliation"—but this desirable end is not accomplished by allowing them to make offensive little fools of themselves.

Married Saturday were Mary Lou Wilson and James Miller Russell III. Parents of the couple are the Fred A. Wilsons and Mr. and Mrs. James M. Russell of Skaneateles, N. Y.

MRS. JAMES MILLER RUSSELL III

St. Bede Church Scene of Russell-Wilson Nuptials

St. Bede Church of Birmingham was the setting for the Saturday wedding of Mary Lou Wilson and James Miller Russell III.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Wilson of Birmingham, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James M. Russell of Skaneateles, N. Y.

Mrs. Frank Roller attended her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Trintje and Sue Russell, sisters of the bridegroom; Mrs. Terry Barr, Anne Williams, Sarah Himes and Mrs. Norman Knauss. Marianne Roller, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

The attendants wore identical full-skirted gowns of iridescent green taffeta with softly draped chiffon necklines. Illusion and velvet formed their headpieces, and they carried colonial bouquets of yellow roses and ivy. The flower girl wore a maize Swiss organdy dress with a headpiece of yellow roses and carried rose petals in a white tulle basket.

Assisting William Sims, best man, were ushers Dwight Allen, Bert Hills, William Allyn, Dwight Winkelman, Joseph Robert and Jim Keebler.

Following a reception at Red Run Golf Club, the new Mrs. Russell changed to a dove gray chiffon wool suit with gray accessories for the honeymoon in Bermuda. The newlyweds will make their home in Ann Arbor.

Toys Can Indicate Child's Interest

"Government and school officials who are seeking ways to attract more youngsters to careers in science will find an answer in this year's new playthings.

For if a youngster can't be lured by the many fascinating new science toys, that field probably is not for him."

Short Hems Emphasize Your Walk

Exercise your knees and legs, if you'd stand the short-skirt test. Your legs will show, even if you don't adopt the chemise. Newer dresses have short skirts.

★ ★ ★

"It's not the shape of your legs that is the main consideration, either," says a director of a Fifth Avenue beauty salon. "The way you move your legs is important, and this too may be corrected with practice."

How should you walk for that look of grace and charm?

"Stand some distance from a full length mirror, and walk directly toward your image, watching your legs. The toes should be straight forward, pointed neither out nor in. Feet should be parallel, close together.

While standing, lift one leg, bend it at the knee and stretch it forward; then in the same bent position move it to the side. This may be done too while lying on the floor, moving the leg up and to the side.

This helps to limber the knee joint for an easy, graceful walk, as well as to shape the knee.

Here are two cautions: Never stand with your knees in a locked position, pushed back as far as they will go, because it will give them an unbecoming half moon shape.

STRESS FLEXIBILITY

Stiff ankles which will cause you to walk more like a duck than a woman should be avoided too, if you'd walk gracefully.

Ankles should be flexible and muscles must be strong because current shoe heel fashions allow you such a small point of contact with the floor. You must come down on them firmly if you are not to wobble.

Ankle exercises stretch the tendon and reduce or build up if necessary the back of the ankle.

Here is one for slimming and flexibility: Sit on the floor, resting weight on hands in back. Lift right leg and rotate feet with circular motion — up, side, down. Then reverse—down, side, up. Repeat with left foot. Do this 10 times, each foot.

Fashions Latest—Jewels in Hair

Straight from Paris comes new attention and new excitement for one of the most flattering fashions of the year—jewels worn on the head and in the hair.

The trick lies in fastening the most beautiful pin you own to a simple narrow transparent head clip, sold in most variety stores. The clip hugs the head securely and hidden under the hair, it leaves the pin to glitter apparently suspended by magic in the new coiffeurs.

Pictures Will Dress Up Bathrooms

Today's bathrooms are colorful, cheerful rooms that reflect the same amount of decorating care as is lavished on the rest of the home.

One of the nicest ways today's homemakers are brightening up the bathroom is through the use of framed pictures. Most bathrooms can boast plenty of empty wallspace, even after the addition of towel racks and cabinets.

And even when wallspace is at a premium, smart decorators are finding new and unusual places to hang gay pictures.

And don't worry about the heat and humidity harming your pictures. A glass over your favorite reproductions or water colors will protect them, and oil paintings will stand up under all but the most hazardous conditions.

Discuss Future With Students

With youngsters returning to classrooms, this is the season when many parents find it fruitful to start a discussion of future careers for both boys and girls.

It is never too early to start discussions, but family conferences should not be delayed beyond the start of the senior year in high school. Studies take on a new meaning for a student who knows where he is heading.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS

(20)—Landing on the Moon

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

(1) Since the Moon has no atmosphere to support wings or parachutes, landing upon it will have to be done entirely by means of using rockets for brakes. Even though the Moon's gravity is weak (one-sixth that of Earth's), considerable force will be needed to counter the Moon ship's momentum in its fall.

The entire operation will be a delicate maneuver, probably handled by automatic instruments. Some type of radar altimeter will control the rocket motors to fire them at the precise moment and strength. Gyroscopes will maintain the ship's perpendicular attitude.

It is thought that much of the Moon's surface is covered with fine, pumicelike dust, here being spewed upward by the rocket blast of the approaching ship. Determining the thickness of this layer of dust will be important before landing, lest the ship be engulfed by it.

(2) The first men step out upon the surface of the Moon, but still in space in terms of atmosphere and temperature. Temperature extremes, estimated by astronomers, range from 212 degrees F. (the boiling point of water) at noon, to -238 degrees F. at midnight. A step from sunlight into shadows means a difference of hundreds of degrees.

(3) A forbidding "moonscape," unrelieved by meadow or forest or any form of life that we know of, greets the landing party. All about are craters, some as much as 10 miles in diameter. Ringed and walled plains, up to a hundred miles across, are also part of this vista, along with two-mile-wide crevices and the vast plains called "seas." Towering above all are the jagged mountains, the highest 30,000 feet above the average level. Unsoftened by wind or rain, they appear needle sharp. From the Moon, men view the Earth as no one before has seen it — remote and lovely, a blue jewel set in a black sky. It makes the Moon seem all the more harsh and lonely.

Next: The Lunar Colony.

But Some Talk of Advancing Age Limit

Most Top Men Favor Forced Retirement

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—Perhaps all of you know of at least one man who has come up against a mandatory retirement rule in his company and had to step down and out much against his will.

His plight arouses pity. But the rule is spreading in industry.

And more companies seem to find it best for everyone, although in some board rooms there is discussion of advancing the retirement age — 65 seems to be the norm—in view of the increasing life expectancy that insurance company statistics reveal.

Most executives, although facing the situation themselves, seem to approve of it. But more men begin preparing for the day well in advance and have their plans well blocked out—some for a life devoted to hobbies, but many with a new business career in mind.

More companies are starting up advisory programs to train employes to meet the situation when it arrives.

To see how company presidents themselves feel about executive age and retirement problems, Dun & Bradstreet has queried heads of 162 companies, representing 25 billion dollars in total assets and 30 billion dollars in annual net sales.

★ ★ ★

It reports today in its publication Dun's Review and Modern Industry that three out of four of the manufacturing concerns now have mandatory retirement rules.

Four ou of five of the executives favor the idea in principle.

Four out of five already have a successor in mind for their own job.

The average age of the 162 presidents is 55. The average president has had the top job for seven years now. On average he has a nine-man team of immediate subordinates, their age averaging 52. Their slightly older boss thinks theirs is about the right age for such a team.

Most of the presidents think executives are most productive in the years between 40 and 60. Understandably, presidents who are younger than the average cite their youth as making it easier to conceive and carry out long-range planning. Those older than the average cite their experience as a prime asset.

With their own retirement from 10 to 15 years away, only about half have firm plans yet. Those that do frequently mention the opportunity for travel, hobbies, more civic activity, family pleasures. But many say they plan a new career in business or politics. Setting up as consultants appeals to many.

Many of the corporate presidents cite as one of their chief problems what to do about aging employes with long executive service records who are beginning to slip. Some ease up on the older man's duties. Some favor company programs to help executives prepare to retire—and, if it seems best, to help him retire before reaching the mandatory age.

The survey stuck in one question outside the corporate field. It reports that 6 out of 10 of the corporate presidents say they would favor an age limit — and health requirements rules — for candidates of the United States presidency.

To Be in Court Anyway

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — William W. Hoffman had the best excuse possible for getting out of jury duty. He returned the mailed summons to the court clerk calling attention to a fact which had been overlooked. He is William W. Hoffman, the presiding judge.

CITIES SERVICE
FIRST to Announce a Solution for
"ENGINE RUMBLE!"

Finds both cause and solution of the newest problem and biggest mystery confronting motorists!
New ultra-high compression engines are now confronting the American motorist with a new mysterious phenomenon which automotive engineers are calling "Engine Rumble." "Rumble" is a low vibrational sound that makes you think the engine is coming apart.
"RUMBLE" is an unusual condition afflicting the engines of some of the highest powered '57 and '58 cars using today's best gasolenes.
At various speeds, depending upon the mileage on these cars, a very disturbing sound occurs – like a thud, thump or a rumbling vibration. A sound that makes you think the engine is coming apart.
RESEARCH SCIENTISTS at Cities Service have discovered that "rumble" is caused by an accelerated rise in pressure in engines with 10 to 1 compression ratios or higher. This accelerated pressure rise sets off structural vibrations heard as "rumble."
Cities Service researchers found further that "rumble" could not be eliminated by increasing the gasolene's octane or any other common method of dealing with engine problems. Instead, they saw the need for a completely new and different kind of protection – and so they perfected ANTI-RUMBLE.
CITIES SERVICE ANTI-RUMBLE is now contained exclusively in Cities Service SUPER 5-D GASOLENE.
Perhaps you have experienced "rumble," perhaps you have not. But in either case, no longer must you run the risk of "rumble" in your automobile. Now, AT NO INCREASE IN PRICE, you can get exclusive Anti-Rumble protection plus maximum octane and all other top performance features with Cities Service SUPER 5-D GASOLENE . . . more than ever the gasolene for true luxury driving.

New Research Laboratories at Cranbury, N. J.
THIS GREAT ANTI-RUMBLE GASOLENE is now in the pumps at Cities Service stations throughout your area. Ask for it by name – NEW SUPER 5-D, at the price of ordinary premiums . . . exclusively at Cities Service, where true luxury driving begins.
CITIES SERVICE
New Anti-Rumble
now added to the five other top performance features found only in Cities Service SUPER 5-D Gasolene.

Brandon Beehive of Activity Preparing for Saturday Fair

BRANDON TOWNSHIP—There's a beehive of activity out Brandon way this week as farm families are busy readying their animals, displays of food, farm products and handiwork for the annual Community Fair, being sponsored Saturday by Brandon Grange 973.

The 60-year-old Grange Hall will make a much better setting for the fair this year, according to Mrs. Vernon Hutchings, general chairman. It has undergone extensive renovations during the past few weeks.

All entrants should have their exhibits at the hall no later than Friday evening, she said, so that they can be properly recorded.

Among those participating in the event will be the Huff family, whose farm is at 2220 Hadley Rd. Three generations of Huffs are taking part.

Leman, the grandfather, will show a blanket which his father used when he fought in the Civil War. His son, Howard, will display his DeKalb hybrid corn; and his daughter, Jedine, 11, will show her pet lamb, Ralph. She also will display canned and baked goods. In the County 4-H Fair this summer Jedine took first place with her brownies and second with sugar cookies. She also got a red ribbon for photography.

Howard Huff has been a member of the Grange for more than 20 years. Leman, Howard and the latter's son, George, farm 275 acres, but mainly are dairy men. At the present time they are milking 39 cows, using all modern equipment.

The elder Huff was born on this farm more than 80 years ago. The land has been tilled by four generations of Huffs.

★ ★ ★

Judges of the fair entries will come from the Oakland County Extension office in Pontiac. The awarding of ribbons will begin at noon, Mrs. Hutchings said.

HOBBY SHOW SLATED

At 11 a.m. there will be a hobby show for people of all ages.

Booths, featuring needlework, homemade candy, canned and baked goods, will be set up. All items will be for sale. There also will be a fish pond.

Leman Huff and Mrs. Wallace Guile will host an old-timers get-together from 7 to 8 p.m.

The fair will close with an auction sale of all exhibits, the proceeds from which will go into the Grange's building fund.

Camp Agawam Has New Look

Annual Fall Conclave Completes Construction of Quonset Lodge

LAKE ORION—Boy Scout Camp Agawam has a new look after the construction work accomplished last weekend during the annual fall conclave of Chippewa Lodge No 29 of the Order of the Arrow.

Lodge Chief Frank Breza of Utica said the lodge quonset building has been completed and a parking lot and pow wow grounds constructed next to it. Other service projects include building of a second lodge ceremonial campfire ring, trimming of trees and work on the camp chapel.

This largest meeting ever held by the lodge included induction of 88 candidates from all parts of Clinton Valley Council into the Order, a national honor society of Boy Scout campers and leaders.

About 180 persons attended the Saturday night banquet which was addressed by William J. DeGrace of Pontiac, lodge adviser and council public relations chairman. He reviewed important events of the lodge's 31 years, recommended a "brainstorm" session of young leaders on camping promotion and urged a training program for lodge officers and committee chairmen.

DeGrace cited Paul Heil of Milford, past lodge chief, area chief and assistant national chief, for his outstanding leadership, both locally and nationally.

J. Edward Stoughton of Pettibone Lake was named chairman of the winter banquet.

Commendations were given Jack Fitzgerald of Pontiac for his leadership to the lodge building committee and King Stetler of Pontiac for service as honors master of the conclave.

Displays will be set up by the various groups of the church.

Public Hearing Set in Romeo

Sewer Installation and Special Assessment to Be Issues Sept. 29

ROMEO — The Romeo Village Council last night set Sept. 29 as the date for a public hearing on establishment of a special assessment district and on installation of a sanitary sewer on Minot street, between Chandler and Morton streets.

Construction of the sewer, to cost $3,040, is scheduled to start next Monday. This action was taken upon receipt of a petition signed by property owners on the street favoring the move.

The regular rubbish pickup day was changed from the first Thursday to the third Tuesday of each month, beginning Nov. 18.

The Council then authorized Village President Joseph Rymill to sign a contract with the State Highway Dept. covering village maintenance of state trunk lines in Romeo for the next 12 months.

Local government officials extended the deadline for payment of village taxes to Oct. 10 and authorized removal of 19 elm trees afflicted by Dutch Elm disease.

Brandon School Board Decides:

We'll Serve Without Pay

BRANDON TOWNSHIP—The five-member Brandon Township Board of Education last night voted unanimously to serve this year without pay to help relieve the hard-pressed school district of some of its financial burden.

Just last Thursday, voters rejected for the second time this summer a five-mill tax increase proposal to raise money for operating expenses. The hike would have meant an additional $33,000 in tax money, and made the district eligible for another $19,000 in state aid paid to distressed school systems.

Brandon Board members are paid at the rate of $10 a meeting. They meet 12 times a year regularly, in addition to a number of special sessions.

Judge Disapproves Cooperative Driving

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—It was an unusual arrangement, all right, and it was done to impress two girl friends in the car, two teenage boys told the judge.

But the girls said they weren't impressed, and neither was the judge.

The youths were observed by a state highway patrolmen as they drove 70 m.p.h. toward Mansfield on U.S. 308. One boy, 18, was in the back seat, leaning over the front seat and driving. His companion, 17, was on the right hand side of the front seat and operating the gas pedal.

★ ★ ★

Plan Grange Contest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Grange has announced plans for its annual rural community service contest for 1959. Prizes totaling $60,000 will be awarded to local grange units winning awards. The contest will emphasize beautification of communities.

Today the world speaks through more than 110 million telephones.

Police Indicted in Girl's Death

2 Officers to Be Tried for Murder in Shooting at Michigan Elopers

HARRISBURG, Ill. (AP)—Two Harrisburg policemen have been indicted on murder charges in the fatal shooting of a 14-year-old Michigan girl.

Glenn Schwartz, 26, and Winston Gidcumb, 33, were indicted by a Circuit Court Grand Jury yesterday for the shooting of Margo Hallwood, of Millington, Mich., July 21.

She was riding through Harrisburg on an elopement trip with Del Whitaker, 17, also of Millington, when the two policemen, in Schwartz' personal car, attempted to halt them for a traffic violation.

The officers, both in uniform, were using Schwartz' car because the regular squad car was in a repair shop.

An inquest jury reached an inconclusive verdict in the girl's death after hearing Schwartz testify that the officers failed in repeated attempts to halt the car, driven by Whitaker.

Schwartz testified the officers fired warning shots. He said one shot may have ricocheted from the pavement and struck the girl. Whitaker told the inquest he believed the pursuing car contained robbers or thugs.

Of the total U. S. rural road mileage, the percentage that is surfaced has risen from less than 8 per cent in 1904 to more than 65 per cent as of current estimates.

States Offered Cut of U.S. Tax

To Include Acceptance of Responsibility for School, Sewer Costs

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — An offer of incentive payments was held out today to induce low income states to accept financial responsibility for their own vocational education and sewage treatment construction programs.

★ ★ ★

Under the proposal, approved late yesterday by the Joint Federal-State Action Committee of the National Conference of Governors, the federal government would make available to the states 40 per cent of the revenues it now receives from the 10 per cent federal tax on local telephone bills.

★ ★ ★

It will be offered with administration backing at the next session of Congress in the form of a bill amending federal tax law to provide:

1 — A tax credit for each state of 3 per cent of the current federal tax of 10 per cent collected within its borders on local telephone bills.

2 — Authority for the U. S. Treasury to distribute the revenue equivalent of an additional one per cent of its 10 per cent levy on local telephone bills. This revenue, amounting to $36,900,000, would be distributed among the 31 states for whom the 3 per cent tax credit would fall short of the money they now receive in federal grants for the two programs.

★ ★ ★

Eleven states would receive only the 3 per cent tax credit. But they still would enjoy surpluses above their current grants ranging from 50 per cent in Washington state to 220 per cent in New York. The others are: California, 201.2; Connecticut, 63.8; Illinois, 134; Maryland, 54.1; Massachusetts, 115.1; Michigan, 80.7; New Jersey, 128.6; Ohio, 71.7 and Pennsylvania, 59.

6 Russians to Tour MSU Tomorrow

EAST LANSING (AP) — Six Russians on a tour of American veterinary medicine education facilities will tour the Michigan State University campus Wednesday, the school announced.

★ ★ ★

Their visit, to last a little over a day, is part of a Soviet-American educational exchange program.

Charles H. Cunningham, professor of microbiology and public health in the college of veterinary medicine, will guide the tourists.

Plan to Enlarge Flint Tried in Court Today

FLINT (UPI) — Proponents of a plan to create a "New Flint" six times the city's present 30-square mile size get a court hearing today on their efforts to let the voters decide.

The Genesee County Board of Supervisors was ordered to show cause in State Supreme Court why an election on the "New Flint" issue should not be held.

The board has refused to approve petitions asking for referendum on the plan at the Nov. 4 elections.

Fox Has Six Friends Who Can Make Scents

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP) — When three residents of Lowhill Township tracked a gray fox to his den, they discovered their game was entertaining company.

The fox ran out, followed by six skunks who inflicted the usual punishment of their breed on the "raiders."

County Court Agents to Attend Convention

James W. Hunt, director of the Juvenile Court of Oakland County, and Mrs. Rosalind B. Hill, county agent for Probate and Juvenile Courts, will attend the annual convention of the Michigan Assn. of County Agents for Probate Courts beginning Wednesday for three days.

Ortonville Church Plans Sept. 11 Harvest Festival

ORTONVILLE — The Methodist Church of Ortonville is sponsoring its Harvest Festival on Sept. 11. The church will be decorated with flowers and vegetables.

Ladies of the WSCS will serve a turkey dinner beginning at 5:30. Gerald Bandy is in charge of reservations.

There will be booths of fancywork, baked goods and homemade candy.

Mrs. Dane Guisbert is general chairman, and Mrs. Joseph Roman, dinner chairman.

To Be Used as Nursing Home

Pine Knob Estate Is Sold

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP—Sale of the Pine Knob Estate in Independence Township to Dr. Harley J. Robinson of Bloomfield Hills has been announced by Bruce J. Annett, president of Roy Annett, Inc., Pontiac realtors.

Purchase price was more than $250,000, it was indicated. The estate contains 460 acres, including a 20-acre private lake, a 19-room English manor and two other houses.

The property was originally developed at a cost of more than $1 million by the late Col. Sidney D. Waldon. Ford Hospital bought the property from Mrs. Waldon seven years ago and used it as an annex for their main hospital in Detroit.

Dr. Robinson, of East Hickory Grove road, plans to use the property for a nursing home, with possible future expansion into a general hospital, it was reported.

2 Ex-Lapeer Deputies Ask to Change Pleas

LAPEER — Two former Lapeer County sheriffs deputies, charged with taking indecent liberties with a runaway 14-year-old Charlotte girl last June, sought to change their pleas to not guilty yesterday when they appeared in Circuit Court yesterday for sentencing.

Judge Timothy C. Quinn said a pre-trial investigation has turned up many new angles in the case. He told the accused, Ronald Baker, 28, of Columbiaville, and William Dougherty, 23, of Lapeer, if they were not convinced of their guilt, he would permit them to withdraw their guilty pleas.

Prosecutor George D. Lutz asked:

"How do I proceed now? Should I start my investigation all over and rearrest them?"

Judge Quinn continued bond of $500 each for the pair until the questions of procedure could be studied.

Both men were fired as deputies after the accusations were made.

Winter Takes Sting Out of Millions of Bees

BLOOMFIELD, N.J. (AP)—Winter took the sting out of millions of bees in hives across the state.

Paul Schindler, a bee-keeper, said the extreme prolonged cold paralized the bees. Millions starved to death in hives when they were unable to reach honey, only inches away.

Japan to Insist on Trying GI

Tokyo Newspapers Call Mishap Another Girard Case Shaping Up

TOKYO (AP) — Justice Minister Kiichi Aichi said today the Japanese government will insist on jurisidction over a young American airman whose shot from a U.S. air base gate killed a young Japanese music student on a passing train.

Tokyo newspapers indicated that if the United States doesn't turn A3C. Peter E. Longpre of Lakewood, Calif., over to the Japanese, the Americans will have another Girard case on their hands.

Aichi told a Cabinet meeting he didn't think the shooting occurred during "performance of official duty" although Longpre was on guard duty at the entrance of Johnson Air Force Base when his carbine went off Sunday.

The 19-year-old airman said the gun fired accidentally and he did not know it was loaded. The bullet passed through a window of a passing train and hit Sachiyuki Miyamura, who was on his way to play a musical engagement at the base 20 miles northwest of Tokyo.

The Air Force is still investigating the shooting and is holding Longpre.

Under a U.S.-Japanese agreement, offenses committed by American military personnel in performance of duty come under U.S. military jurisdiction, while off-duty offenses are handled by Japanese courts.

In the controversial case of Specialist 3.C William Girard in 1957, Japan maintained similarly that although on guard duty on an Army firing range, Girard was not performing his assigned duty when he shot a Japanese woman scrap collector in the back and killed her. After a transpacific dispute in which congressmen and newspapers in both countries heatedly joined in the U.S. Supreme Court finally upheld the Japanese jurisdiction. Girard got off with a suspended sentence.

POWER PILLS—About the same size as medicine capsules, uranium oxide pellets are loaded into four-foot-long stainless steel tubes at Pittsburgh, Pa., during the construction of Belgium's first atomic power plant. Being built by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation, the nuclear power reactor will have a core of 32 tube bundles, each with a total of 132 tubes, bringing together a critical mass of more than 557,000 pellets. The first ever to be exported by a U. S. company, the 11,500-kilowatt power plant is scheduled to begin operation in late 1959 at Mol, near Brussels.

Green School PTA Sets Meet Teachers Night

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The Parent-Teacher Assn. of the Green School in West Bloomfield Township will hold its first meeting of the new school year at 8 p.m. Thursday at the school. It will be "Meet the Teacher" night.

Mrs. Campbell Harvey, president of the League of Women's Voters of West Bloomfield Township, will be the featured speaker.

Cochran-Day Vows Said at Rochester

ROCHESTER — Nancy Ann Day became the bride of John T. Cochran in a double-ring rite Saturday morning at St. Andrew Catholic Church. The Rev. Edward Baumgartner celebrated the Nuptial Mass.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Day of Walnut boulevard, Rochester, and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Cochran of Peach Tree Lane, Rochester.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie, featuring a neckline of appliqued Alencon lace re-embroidered with seed pearls. Her bell skirt ended in a chapel train, and a Juliet cap of seed pearls held her fingertip veil. She carried a crescent bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Mary Jane Puertas served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. William Gray of Rochester, Nancy Wright of Pontiac, Sylvia Ghainer of East Lansing and Mary Lynn Marquard of North Muskegon.

MRS. JOHN T. COCHRAN

Carolyn Sibary of Rochester was the junior bridesmaid, and flower girl was Sandra Bonfiglio, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bonfiglio.

Jack Elmer of Detroit was the best man, while ushers were Andrew Isola of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.; Peter Palazzolo of Cincinnati, Ohio; Charles Miller of Detroit; and Richard and William Day, the bride's brothers.

Ringbearer was Thomas Peters, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Peters.

A wedding breakfast was served at Devon Gables for the wedding party, and the reception took place in the evening at the Clinton Valley Hall in Utica.

The bride is a graduate of Western Michigan University. Her husband attended the University of Detroit and is affiliated with Delta Sigma Phi Fraternity.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The experts have eliminated the University of Michigan from the 1958 Big Ten race.

Very few of the forecasters see the Wolverines doing any better than the 3-3 record and the 6th place status of 1957.

Since the Michigan grid picture is being painted so pessimistically the result should then not come as a shock.

If the Wolverines have a bad year you'll hear, "we told you so." But if things go unexpectedly well, we wonder if anyone will even whisper "hurray for Bennie."

"A lot of teams have been written out of the race in the past, and they've done well," says athletic director Fritz Crisler.

It happened last year. Wisconsin was picked near the basement with its host of sophomores. As it turned out, the Badgers finished in a 4th place tie.

So, chins up you Michigan fans. Those sophomores at Ann Arbor could surprise a few people.

HENPECKED WOLVERINES

Michigan freshman coach Wally Weber, who can bring out a chuckle every time he opens his mouth, gave his reason why the experts see dismal days ahead for the Wolverines.

"There are 12 married guys on the varsity and everyone thinks they will be too henpecked to play football," he jests.

As it stands, the entire probable starting backfield will be made up of female-domesticated males.

Four Others Still in Contention in Second Round

County Stars Draper and Miles Foes Today at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Greater Detroit's contingent in the National Amateur Golf Championship scored two victories, lost two matches and drew a pair of byes in the first round of play yesterday.

Chuck Kocsis, Royal Oak, defeated Richard Price, Longview, Wash., 3 and 2, after holding a 3-up lead after nine holes. Kocsis was runnerup two years ago.

★ ★ ★

Ray Lovell, Detroit, 3-up after nine holes, blew the lead and Col. John W. Kline, Westover Air Force Base, Mass., got the decision, one up.

Two-time United States Amateur champion Harvie Ward, who ran into trouble with golf's hier-archy last year, starts his comeback today against a confident blond collegian from Ohio State.

Ward drew a bye as the 1958 National Amateur tournament opened Monday. He faces a tough test today in 18-year-old Jack Nicklaus, the 1958 Trans-Mississippi king. Should Harvie win, he'll tie the record of the great Lawson Little of 15 consecutive match play victories in this tournament.

Ward won in 1955 and 1956 but drew a year's suspension in 1957 for expense money irregularities. He's favored today.

There were some close calls but no major upsets in the 72 first round matches. Defending champion Hillman Robbins of Memphis, Tenn., Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor of Pomona, Calif., runner-up a year ago, and America's Cup member Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia fell into that category.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Those advancing to today's second round included such name players as Billy Joe Patton, Charlie Coe and Rex Baxter from the triumphant America's cup team, and Bill Campbell, former captain of the U.S. Walker cup team.

Opening day scores included:
Kocsis defeated Price, 3 and 2.
Weyand, Detroit, defeated Castagnetto, 2 up.
Col. John Kline, Westover Air Force Base, Mass., edged out Lovell, Detroit, 1 up.
Robbins, Memphis, Tenn., defeated Dr. Gordon Emerson, Minneapolis, Minn., 2 up.
Dr. Taylor, Pomona, Calif., defeated Jack Berliteau, San Jose, Calif., 1 up.
Hyndman, Philadelphia, defeated John Cain, Lubbock, Tex., 1 up.
Jack Nicklaus, Columbus, Ohio, defeated Dick Baird, Fresno, Calif., 3 and 2.
Rex Baxter, Amarillo, Tex., defeated George Boutell, Phoenix, Ariz., 7 and 5.
Tim Holland, Rockville Centre, N.Y., defeated John Jonsek, Lancaster, N.Y., 2 and 1.
Campbell, Huntington, W.Va., defeated Bob McReynolds, Portland, Ore.
Patton defeated Joe Switzer, St. Louis, 8 and 6.

FIRST ROUND BYES

TKO for Greaves in 8th

Pontiac Press Photo

GO AWAY — "Irish" Eddie O'Hara, light heavyweight from Milwaukee, Wis., leans as far back against the ropes as he can in an effort to stay away from Wilf Greaves of Detroit in their eight-round bout last night at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium. O'Hara tries to ward off the aggressive Wilf with a shoving right hand on the head. Greaves, Canadian middleweight champion, was awarded a technical knockout in the 8th round when referee Tommy Driscoll stopped the fight after seven rounds.

Referee Stops Fight at End of 7th Round

Close to 1,000 Fans Watch Benefit Bouts in Wisner Stadium

By BILL CORNWELL

Close to 1,000 spectators filed into Wisner Stadium last night in hopes of seeing a slam-bang performance by Wilf Greaves, the up-and-coming middleweight fighter from Detroit.

There was plenty of "slam and bang" but not much else as Greaves gained an unimpressive technical knockout over "Irish" Eddie O'Hara of Milwaukee in the final round of their scheduled eight-round bout.

Referee Tommy Driscoll stopped the fight at the end of the 7th round when O'Hara appeared "out on his feet" and under Michigan rules, Greaves was awarded a TKO in the 8th.

The Greaves-O'Hara match was the main attraction of a six-bout card sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police with proceeds donated to a couple of worthy local charities.

Three eight-round bouts, one six-rounder and two four-rounders comprised the program. Only one fight went the distance as LeRoy Jeffrie, a Detroit boxer with a quick left hand, earned a unanimous six-round decision over Mexico's Celso Hidalgo in the light weight class.

The best fight on the whole benefit card was the eight-round semifinal between veteran Henry Hank of Detroit and Saginaw's Leffie Walker in the middleweight class.

Hank scored the only clean knockout of the evening when Walker went down for the count at 2:57 of the 6th round.

Pontiac's Buddy Harris was the only local fighter on the card and it just wasn't Buddy's night. He ran into a promising newcomer from Detroit, Gene Gresham, and bowed to a TKO at 1:38 of the 8th in a scheduled eight-rounder.

The Greaves-O'Hara bout was a rough-and-tumble affair with both fighters, especially O'Hara, receiving warnings from the referee for repeated hanging-on.

Greaves, the aggressive Canadian middleweight champion, spotted O'Hara a height and reach advantage as well as 10½ pounds in weight.

Wilf Greaves, Detroit, 162½, def. Eddie O'Hara, Milwaukee, 173, TKO (8).
Henry Hank, Detroit, 158¾, knocked out Leffie Walker, Saginaw, 161½, 2:57 (6).

Delvecchio Gets New Assignment

Wings Hopeful Shift From Center Will Give Alex New Urge

In it, Adams told the Detroit Red Wing hockey player that big money is just around the corner. The Wings' general manager, and other club officials, always have felt that Delvecchio can be just as great as he wants to be.

Trouble is, they say, he never has wanted to be great. Just good.

The Wings' first major experiment of the 1958-59 season is the switching of the big fellow from center to left wing. The Wings have an abundance of adequate center men—Forbes Kennedy and Norm Ullman, along with newcomers Len Lunde and Gerry Melnyk—but there is a shortage of good wingers.

"Alex never has lived up to our expectations," said Adams as the Wings opened camp yesterday. "Maybe part of it is because he's played center. We've switched him around on various lines, and maybe settling him down to one position with one steady line will do the trick."

Battle On for 2nd Spot

United Press International

If the war is over in the major league races, somebody forgot to tell the second-line troops.

The Pittsburgh Pirates, for instance, aren't giving much of a chance of catching Milwaukee in the National League but they'd still like a cut of that second-place money. So would the San Francisco Giants.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox and the Boston Red Sox gave up the pennant ghost long ago. But they're waging a close struggle to determine who winds up in the runner-up spot behind the Yankees.

Starting tonight, the Red Sox and the White Sox tangle in a final three-game series at Chicago, with the White Sox holding a narrow one-half game margin.

This series is so important to the Red Sox, who are shooting for their highest finish in nine years, that Ted Williams plans to swing back into action for the first time since Aug. 25 when he was sidelined with a heavy cold. The 40-year-old slugger may not be in tonight's starting lineup but he will be ready for pinch-hit duty.

The Pirates haven't finished as high as second in the National League since 1944. However, they opened a 2½ game bulge over the thrid-place Giants by knocking off the Cincinnati Redlegs, 4-1, in Monday's only major league action. Now they're ready for the Giants, who invade Pittsburgh for the final time starting tonight.

Prior to tonight's contest, Pittsburgh and San Francisco will resume their uncompleted game of July 27, which was interrupted in the eighth inning with the score tied 3-3. A double victory for the Pirates would just about clinch the runner-up spot.

★ ★ ★

Curt Raydon and Don Gross cooled off the Redlegs last night by collaborating on a four-hit pitching job. Gross took over in the seventh inning when Cincinnati loaded the bases with none out. He induced pinch-hitter Walt Dropo to hit into a double play, allowing one run to score, and then retired Johnny Temple on a pop fly.

Roberto Clemente of the Pirates equalled a major league record by banging out three consecutive triples. It was only Cincinnati's third defeat in their last 15 games.

Race Promoter Runs Away With Receipts

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A stock car race promoter skipped with the gate receipts Sunday while the drivers sat at the starting line waiting for him to post prize money, the sheriff's office said Monday.

Several hundred racing fans were in the stands of the Five Flags Motor Speedway at the time. The races were canceled.

Reilly said the owner of the speedway, L. H. Williamson, also told him that Jenkins paid the rental for the speedway with a worthless check.

Sitting Fighter Gets KO Along With Opponent

Smith, 133¼, who once won the title of "The World's Worst Fighter," battered Espinia, 133, to the canvas with a right to the head in the third round.

Smith sat down on the canvas to wait for Referee Pete Giarusso to begin the count. Giarusso made the count and ruled that it went for both fighters.

Tigers Open Last Home Stand Tonight

Bunning Gets the Nod

DETROIT (UPI) — A defeat from elimination for the pennant — a goal they haven't seriously considered for some time — the Detroit Tigers find time fast running out for hopes of even a second or third place finish.

★ ★ ★

At season's start, the Bengals felt they could better last year's fourth-place finish. Now it's a fight to even gain that.

Jim Bunning (10-10) tonight opens Detroit's last home stand against the Eastern clubs and it might well be figured a last stand of all sorts.

Last place Washington, the opponent for the next three games, will have Russ Kemmerer (6-14) on the mound.

The Nats hold an 11-8 advantage over Detroit and have won four of the last five games played in Briggs Stadium.

Following the Senators, Detroit hosts Baltimore — Currently tied for fourth with the Tigers — for two games.

Going into tonight's game, the Tigers are four games behind second place Chicago and 3½ in back of third place Boston.

It was thought the Tigers, who in past years have come up with good efforts in September — known as the "salary drive" — would come to once they reached home grounds. But in five games since returning home, they won only two and gave their pitchers almost no support.

Surprisingly enough, the Senators' appearance brings together two teams that have been the most successful against the club that almost certainly will represent the American League in the World Series.

Detroit has a 10-10 record against New York while the Nats won 10 and lost 12 to the Yanks. Kansas City, New York's doormat last season, has a 9-11 mark against the league-leaders with two games to go.

Mickey, Beverly Meet in Playoff

DALLAS, (AP) — Only Mickey Wright and Beverly Hanson stayed behind today as the women's golf tour moved on to Jackson, Miss. They had a date to play 18 holes to see who got first money in the $8,500 Dallas Women's Open.

★ ★ ★

Miss Wright, the San Diego, Calif., blonde who's National Open champion, and Miss Hanson of Indio, Calif., who has become the leading money winner of the year, tied at 284 yesterday when Miss Wright skied to a 5-over-par 77 on the final round. She had started out with a four-stroke lead over Miss Hanson but it melted away before a string of bogeys.

★ ★ ★

Miss Hanson wound up with a 73 and regardless of whether she wins first or second money today will be the leading money winner of the year. First money would give her $12,640.50 while second money of $961.40 would make it $12,354.55. Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., has $11,925.30 counting $365.25 she won in the Dallas Open.

Plan Scrimmage and Clinic Friday at Walled Lake

Football fans in the Walled Lake area will be treated to a pre-season look at the Viking football team and get a chance to brush up on the rules at a combination clinic-scrimmage to be held at the high school field Friday starting at 7 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The Walled Lake High School staff will stage the clinic which will include explanations on rules changes, acquainting the fans with the team's style of play and an introduction of the squad members.

★ ★ ★

The Vikings will meet Cranbrook in a scrimmage to complete the program. a drive to sell season tickets will also be started at the affair.

Finsterwald Victor

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., who prefers a no-nonsense finish in the money rather than gamble for first, played his cautious brand of golf yesterday and slipped into the championship of the $17,000 Utah Open. He carded a 66 for a 267 total.

Finsterwald, a 1958 PGA champion, trailed Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., by two strokes—201 to 199—going into the final round of the 72-hole affair at the Salt Lake Country Club.

Dodgers Process Server

Aragon Lets Check Lay

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Art Aragon, less easily tagged by a process server than by Carmen Basilio, still had a paycheck waiting for him at Olympic Auditorium today. And possibly a process server too.

★ ★ ★

Basilio, the man who flogged Aragon for eight rounds last Friday and won by a knockout, picked up his check for $65,976.40 yesterday. He planned to take his family to Disneyland today and is expected to head East, by way of Yosemite National Park, tomorrow or Thursday.

★ ★ ★

There was a check for $63,500 ready for Aragon, but the Golden Boy didn't show. An Olympic spokesman said the check would still be there today.

A process server was at the payoff ceremony, waiting to hand Art papers in a $20,000 suit brought by Texas promoter Jimmy Parks. The server waited about two hours, then gave up.

★ ★ ★

Parks' suit results from a proposed San Antonio fight that was never held. Dick Goldstein, who was to have been Aragon's opponent, accused Art of asking him to take a dive. Aragon was convicted of fight-fixing charges, but the charges were dropped after he won a new trial.

★ ★ ★

The Aragon-Basilio match produced a new California gross gate record of $236,521.10 and a new net gate record of $203,078.10. The recent Harris - Patterson heavyweight title fight, also at Wrigley Field, established the previous gross record, $234,183.25.

Major Loop Expansion Long Way Off

AL Tells Frick It's Opposed to Any Spread

Commissioner's Hopes Dashed as Joint Meet Comes Up Today

CHICAGO (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick was definitely on notice today that the National and American Leagues have no immediate interest in expansion.

Frick, who had hoped to use today's joint session as a sounding board for his long nurtured idea of two 10-team leagues, which eventually would blossom into three eight-team circuits, has been told in no uncertain terms that the time for expansion is not yet ripe. In fact, it may be a long time off.

The American League, in a special session yesterday, told the commissioner right quick how it stood on expansion. It unanimously opposed spreading out beyond its eight clubs.

As General Manager Frank Lane of Cleveland put it, "There was absolutely no sentiment for expansion on the part of any club."

The National League, which Frick hoped, and still hopes, would reincorporate New York into its charter and add another large city, did not even bother to hold a meeting. The only business concerned schedule making for 1959.

Only two clubs—Milwaukee and Chicago — strongly favor expansion. The others are either dead set against it or don't care one way or another.

National League President Warren Giles explained why he didn't even bother to call a meeting for the purpose of discussing possible expansion.

"In the first place, he said, "expansion will require unanimous consent of the members. I've never heard any sentiments expressed sufficiently for me to believe that we could get a unanimous vote. And even if we did get it, then there would have to be three-quarters assent to decide which two cities would be accepted as members."

★ ★ ★

Frick, who would like to see the majors spread all over the map of the U.S., said if it were up to him, he'd start the expansion ball rolling tomorrow. Unfortunately, he said, he does not have the authority to tell the owners how to run their leagues.

★ ★ ★

"The commissioner thinks expansion is desirable," Giles said. "But he first has to sell the clubs on the idea before anything is accomplished. That's not going to be easy."

But Four Others Are Strong Contenders

Northville, Holly W-O Picks

By CHUCK ABAIR

Northville and Holly finished 1-2 in the Wayne-Oakland League last fall and pre-season forecasts have them headed back to the top positions in 1958.

They appear the best on paper although West Bloomfield, Milford, Bloomfield Hills and Brighton are rated strong enough to give both annual powers a run for their money.

Northville has a good nucleus back from the team that won seven straight league contests and eight of nine overall despite the loss of such stars as Dick Biery, Bill Yahne and Dick Buckley.

Hard-hitting fullback Bill Walker and rugged halfback Bob Starnes are back to lead the offense behind such talented linemen as 240-pound Jeff Goodrich, tackles Nelson Schrader and Bill Chizmar, who weigh 210 and 200, respectively, and placekicking center Wade Deal.

A slow start could prevent Holly from finishing in the first division again with several veterans departed. A lot will depend upon the success of converted fullback George Coggins and other former sub backs now taking over starting jobs.

Heading the Bronco line will be Carl Schwartz, who has lettered for three years. Defensive back Darrel Kinney is another experienced hand coach Al Gratsch will be counting on to help spark another winning season.

"If we come up with a quarterback, we might have a real good season," comments Milford boss Dick Yeager despite the fact his strong 1957 eleven was riddled by graduation.

He admits inexperience will hurt the Redskins but says they will have better overall speed and size. Jim Scheibner and Len Weese are currently dueling for the important signal-calling job left vacant by the graduation of star Pat Kelley.

Fullback and defensive ace John Zeeman and veteran ends Terry Anderson and Don Renirie are proven performers while line hopefuls include such beefy youngsters as Merle Gidley, a 235-pounder, and Jim Hartwick, 219.

Just having John Lucadam around for a final fling makes West Bloomfield a contender. The Lakers could give everyone trouble if Art Paddy can come up with some boys to give the three-year star a hand—especially pass receivers.

He should be able to field a sturdy forward wall with John Kelchner, John Jordan and Jim Ford back plus Dick Stier, a transfer from Fitzgerald. Several boys who saw action as sophomores could come along to make the Barons definite threats.

Brighton's squad is reportedly the best at that school in 10 years. It includes 10 returning starters and Sean Lavan, who was All-League as a sophomore two years ago but ineligible in 1957.

Winners of only two loop starts a year ago, the Bulldogs expect to bounce back to take at least twice that number led by a defensive line averaging 207 pounds a man. Ron Visel and Keith Williams appear set with Lavan in the backfield.

Clarenceville failed to post a victory a year ago and has only three veterans among 11 lettermen. Quarterback Jon Nelson and front linemen Carl Fox and George Roberts are the bright spots in an otherwise gloomy outlook for the Trojans.

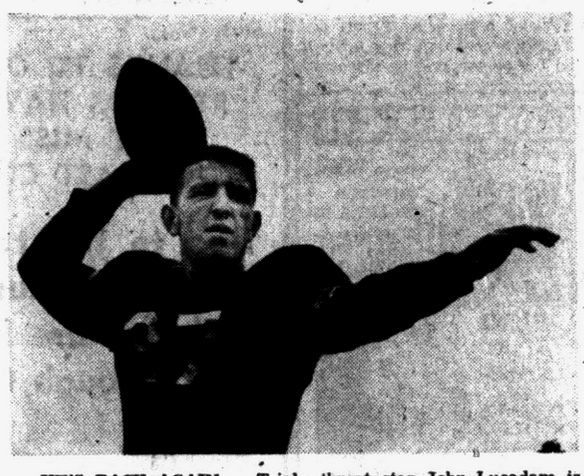

All but Bloomfield Hills and Clarenceville will open season play Sept. 19 getting a taste of outside competition before the league wars begin Sept. 26.

West Bloomfield will play host to St. Michael in what should be an interesting local battle while Clarkston is at home against Oxford. Milford travels to Avondale and Holly meets traditional opening night foe Grand Blanc at home in the other tilts involving Oakland County contingents.

Northville, which has not been beaten in its last 17 W-O outings, goes to Plymouth seeking revenge for successive one-point defeats the last two years. Brighton makes its debut at South Lyon.

1. Northville
2. Holly
3. W. Bloomfield
4. Brighton
5. Bloomfield Hills
6. Milford
7. Clarkston
8. Clarenceville

Ex-Chief Walter Beach 'Mr. Everything' at CMC

MT. PLEASANT, Mich. (AP) — His name is Walter Beach, the third, but at Central Michigan they just call him Mr. Everything.

The fleet junior halfback from Pontiac is threatening to wipe the records of even the great Jim Podoley out of the Chippewa books. Podoley now is starring in the pro ranks and Beach would like nothing better than to follow in his one time-teammate's footsteps.

Beach scored 66 points last season, good for second place in the state scoring race. He rushed for 1,144 yards (a new varsity record), led the state in pass receiving with 27 receptions for 313 yards and was third in total offense — though he did not complete a pass.

As a freshman at CMC, Beach played alongside Podoley and though he had to take a back seat to the great halfback, Beach picked up a lot of football know-how from the all-time Central great.

Coach Bill Kelly stays away from comparisons and will be just as happy if the fans wait until Beach's career is concluded before they draw any comparisons between the two backs.

"All I can say is that both of them are terrific," said the diplomatic Kelly.

Last season, as a sophomore, Beach set a new Interstate Conference rushing record with 747 yards in 100 tries. His most prized mark, of course, is the CMC season rushing record. Beach raced for 1,084 yards last season — five yards more than Podoley's previous record.

In two seasons, Beach has gained 1,497 yards on the ground. Podoley's four-year total is 2,775 — but with a couple of good seasons Beach can erase most of the records established by the slender star who now is performing for the Washington Redskins.

Series Opener at Milwaukee

National Leaguers Get First 2 Tilts at Home Starting Oct. 1

CHICAGO (AP) — Commissioner Ford Frick yesterday announced the 1958 World Series will open Wednesday, Oct. 1 in the city of the National League pennant winner.

With Milwaukee and New York having all but clinched their respective races, the first and second games will be played in Milwaukee. Oct. 3 was set aside for travel with the Series resuming in New York on Oct. 4, 5, 6.

If more than five games are needed, Oct. 7 will be used for travel to Milwaukee with the sixth game being played Oct. 8 and seventh on Oct. 9.

All games will start at 1 p.m. Local time except for the Sunday date in New York which will start at 2 p.m.

Ticket prices will be the same as last year—$10 for box seats, $7 for reserved seats, $2 for bleachers and $4 for standing room. The prices include federal tax but not state and city taxes.

Pistons 'Sell' Flint Contest

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit Pistons' general manager Nick Kerbawy announced today the Pistons will play the Minneapolis Lakers in Flint Oct. 20 in a unique pre-season pro-basketball game.

Kerbawy said the game has been "sold to a supermarket chain and they will handle tickets and promote the game."

This is the first time this has been done in National Basketball Association history, according to the Pistons' general manager.

Under the setup, he explained, the supermarket will give one ticket who makes a $39 purchase or has sales slips totaling that amount within a prescribed period.

A spokesman for the Detroit team said the arrangement may be the beginning of a "healthy financial pre-season setup." He indicated other such deails were "in the works."

Spartans Still in Top Shape

'M' Has Injury Problems

By The Associated Press

Michigan had injured players all over its camp while Michigan State was going along in almost perfect shape today and the Detroit Titans were mourning the loss of a quarterback to the Army.

The fullback slot, Michigan's best fortified position a week ago, has popped up as its biggest trouble spot. The Wolverines are down to their No. 5 man at the position.

Starter John Herrnstine turned up yesterday with hairline fractures of the cheek and nose as the result of a bump in Saturday's scrimmage. Top understudy John Walker of Walled Lake is nursing a hip wound and so it goes. End Gary Prahst and center Jim Byers are others ailing as the Maize and Blue start work on defense.

Michigan State went through a heavy scrimmage Monday and coach Duffy Daugherty announced one will be held each day this week.

Second stringer Art Trombley of Bay City is the U. of D. play leaving for the Army.

Tony Hanley was promoted to Trombley's job yesterday and hit five of eight passes for 126 yards and three touchdowns in a sparkling start. First team QB. Lou Faoro hit five of seven flips in the same drill.

Elsewhere, Notre Dame had three-fourths of its backfield out with injuries while Minnesota had five backs hurt, Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn demoted five regulars yesterday for shabby performances in a Saturday scrimmage. Woody Hayes is stressing defense over offense at Ohio State.

NBA Proposes Ban on Charles, Jackson

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—If the National Boxing Assn. has its way, neither Ezzard Charles nor Hurrican Jackson can get a foot in a ring.

The NBA, holding its 39th annual convention here, yesterday adopted resolutions recommending that state NBA commissions suspend the two heavyweights if they try to fight again. The votes were unanimous.

Latin-Americans Win All-Star Tilt

Latin-American All-Stars came through with a thriller in the recent baseball battle at Port Huron with the Blue Water Stars. The Latinos took the 13-inning battle 3-2 after the Blue Waters club knotted the count at 2-all in the seventh. L-A Stars scored in 1st and 4th innings.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Latin-Americans used three hurlers, Dick Goldsworthy (4 scoreless frames), Joe Worholik (gave up PH's 2 runs), and D. Winfield.

There were 300 spectators, most of whom stayed for the picnic that followed the game.

Kim Novak Lives Alone; 'Where Can I Find Man?'

By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer

"Isn't that a romantic place to dine at night? I eat by candlelight and look at the stars. It could be the most romantic spot on earth except that it's no fun dining alone—but I do."

I suggested that the house is too much for a single girl, that it's a home for a married couple, that maybe Kim has reached the point where she should get married.

"I agree," she answered, "but where can I find a good man? I don't want any playboys or the fellows who date everybody in town."

She admits that the phone calls from eligible men dropped after the publicity about the Dominican playboy's fabulous gifts of expensive sports cars.

Kim feels that the Trujillo publicity gave her a reputation she didn't deserve. Trujillo was introduced to her at a party at Zsa Zsa Gabor's house. He was presented as unattached. He had already applied for divorce.

"What is wrong with dating a man whom I found charming, intelligent and handsome? I didn't know until I read it in the papers that he had a wife and six children back home."

"I have no other," she said with finality.

Kim's loneliness stems from the longest movie vacation she has had since becoming a top star. She finished "Bell, Book and Candle" several months ago and won't start another picture until next month.

Her dog, Tracy helps keep prospective suitors away. He would make two of Rin Tin Tin and is big enough to saddle.

But the dog is an occupational necessity. Kim has had several frightening experiences with overzealous fans pounding on her door.

Waterford to Resume Cultural Center Plans

Plans for acquiring a cultural center in Waterford Township will be resumed at a meeting of the Waterford Library Committee, to be held at 7:30 tonight at the home of Rev. Walter Teeuwissen.

Last October the township board accepted an offer from Frank Steere of a 17-acre site with a stipulation that a library and cultural center be constructed on the land.

Since that time, extensive surveys have been made by the 11-member committee, and three subcommittees have collected facts and ideas relating to construction, costs and services of libraries in communities similar to Waterford.

Chairman of the building committee Carroll Appel is expected to present a progress report and various ways of acquiring funds to build the center, will be discussed.

Fireball in Sky Spotted by Many in Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP) — A red fireball with twin vapor-like tails was spotted bobbing about in the sky yesterday by numerous suburban Detroit residents.

The phenomenon was reported to police by residents of Dearborn, Oak Park, Ecorse Township, Wyandotte and other western Wayne County communities.

Independents Beat Out Jersey Voting Machine

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Independents in this city have beaten the machine—the voting machine, that is.

City Clerk Edward J. Barrone says there are so many independent candidates for office in the November election that there isn't room on the voting machines to name them.

The machines allow only nine names for each office, and there are 11 candidates for a seat in Congress, 21, for the Hudson County Board of Freeholders and 17 for the Boulevard Commission.

★ ★ ★

Sentenced in Shooting

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Evelyn Wink, 33, was sentenced in Recorder's Court Monday to serve 3 to 15 years in Detroit's House of Correction for the shotgun slaying of her engineer husband, Stephen, 43. A jury convicted her of manslaughter. She testified she shot her husband accidentally during a domestic quarrel at their home in Detroit last May. Her attorney said she will petition for a new trial.

Detroit Train Derails

DETROIT (AP) — Six cars of a 25-car Detroit terminal railroad freight train derailed Monday when the engine hit a broken switch, tearing up 300 feet of track. No one was injured, but traffic was rerouted for nearly three hours.

Plan to Raise Level of Lakes

Circuit Court Hearing to Settle Dam Issue at Lake Oakland

Waterford and Independence Township property owners fronting Lake Oakland and Woodhull Lake, will have their lake level raised one-half foot, if there are no objectors at the 9:30 a.m. Friday hearing in Oakland County Circuit Court.

This was announced by Drain Commissioner Dan Barry, who added that should the court establish the new lake level, from 957.5 to 958 feet above sea level, construction bids would be asked immediately.

For years, an old dam located on a parcel of property between the two lakes, has been a bone of contention as to just who would maintain and keep it in operation.

A new design has been completed to rebuild the structure, making it possible to raise or lower the lake level, or keep it the same. The county would then assume the responsibilities of maintaining the dam, Barry added.

Engineers who have made extensive surveys of the area, estimate that the rebuilding work would cost approximately $7,000 and property owners benefiting and those abutting the two lakes would pay for the construction work.

★ ★ ★

The area is so large and the cost comparatively small, that commissioners feel that the entire amount could be paid within one year's time.

Waterford Library Begins Operation for 15th Year

Organized in 1943, and sponsored by the Waterford Book Review Club, the library now boasts more than 6,500 volumes with some 2,000 readers registered at the Community Activities Center.

The library is open from 7 to 9 p.m. Tuesdays, and from 9:30 to 12 m. and 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Wednesdays. It is also open from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. Thursdays.

From 10 a.m. to 12 m. Saturday mornings, special attention is given to children desiring books, and the library is closed Mondays and Fridays, Mrs. Valentine said.

Add Phone Exchange in Drayton Plains

An Orlando 4 exchange has been added to Michigan Bell Telephone Company's Drayton Plains zone in Waterford Township according to manager Robert McQuiggin.

He explained that the new number had been added because of the tremendous growth in the area, and after the company reaches the 10,000 mark, it becomes necessary to change the first digit.

At the present time, there are 8,319 main-users connected to the Orlando 3 exchange, plus 1,681 extensions. The company has installed 400 new numbers in their central offices for future growth in the township.

★ ★ ★

The new John Pierie Junior High School, which opens Monday was the first of three connections to be assigned in the Orlando 4 grouping, McQuiggin said.

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress Mamie Van Doren wants to call it quits after three years of marriage to Ray Anthony.

The actress asked for custody of their son Terry, 2, support for herself and the boy, and $2,125 monthly expenses pending trial of the divorce suit.

The couple married Aug. 28, 1955. It was the second marriage for each.

Ike's Authority to Enter War Reflects Fast-Moving Times

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nothing in these changing times shows better the changes being forced on a democratic society than the authority given one man to put us into war if and when he alone decides it's necessary.

There have been two startling examples in the past few weeks: when President Eisenhower sent troops into Lebanon and the 7th Fleet into the Formosa Strait, not knowing whether these moves might trigger the Russians and Red Chinese into action.

The Constitution says only Congress has the power to declare war. And Congress is jealous of that power. But it had given Eisenhower beforehand a blank check to use American forces in the Far East and Middle East if necessary to halt the Communists.

Several presidents in American history—acting on their own constitutional authority as commander in chief of the armed forces—have sent American forces into action without waiting for congressional approval.

But, with the exception of President Truman's action in Korea, these were minor episodes compared with what might have followed Eisenhower's use of the armed forces.

Perhaps three things can be pointed to as responsible for inducing Congress—before any actual use of force was considered imminent—to give a president the right to use that force on his own judgment alone:

1. The stepped-up pace of war making—on the ground and in the air—that might make a sudden decision by the President necessary without waiting for action by Congress.

2. Assumption by this country, after more than a century of isolation, of free-world leadership and responsibility for being the bulwark against Communist aggression.

This meant assuming obligations for the defense of its allies and friends, an obligation which might be impossible to fulfill if American action were delayed too long.

3. The vivid experience of Truman in 1950 when, confronted with the lightning attack of the Communists against South Korea, he ordered American forces into action and only consulted congressional leaders later.

Truman felt he had to act fast to save South Korea from being overwhelmed. In this new age—of jets and missiles—similar sudden action might be necessary to prevent a Communist sweep elsewhere.

Eisenhower didn't and couldn't know when he sent troops into Lebanon, after the revolution in Iraq, whether the Soviets, seeing United States forces practically in their back yard, might retaliate in some way that could lead to war.

In Lebanon there was no evidence of Communist attack, but Eisenhower said the friendly Lebanese government asked for help to save it from being overthrown.

Likewise when Eisenhower ordered elements of the 7th Fleet to convoy ammunition ships to the island of Quemoy—three miles off the China mainland—he didn't know whether the Red Chinese might retaliate.

A major war was a possibility in both cases.

Hoffa's Lawyer Testifies Today

Fitzgerald Says Fee for Legal Work Was Not Too Much

WASHINGTON (AP) — George S. Fitzgerald testified today he was the unpaid lawyer for a Teamster welfare fund when he received a fee from real estate promoters who borrowed a million dollars from the fund and never paid it back.

Fitzgerald, Detroit attorney and former Democratic national committeeman from Michigan, told the Senate Rackets Committee the $35,000 fee previous witnesses said he receivd in connection with the loan was "an adequate but not an oppressive fee." He has said he split it with others, and got $15,750 for himself for legal work.

The fee came from the Winchester Village Land Development Co. of Detroit, which got the loan in 1955-56. "I had no financial interest as such in the Winchester Land Development Co.," Fitzgerald testified.

The committee heard testimony last week that the welfare fund may be left holding the bag for a loss of as much as $650,000 on the loan. Fitzgerald says there will be no loss on the loan.

Fitzgerald first testified he wanted to clear up what he termed an inaccuracy in statements naming him as counsel for the welfare fund. But he later said "I was attorney for the fund" on an unpaid basis, He said his fees came from the Detroit Teamsters Union Council, and not from the fund.

As to the propriety of the fee, Fitzgerald said the borrower paid it, "which is standard practice as far as Michigan is concerned."

He contended witnesses erred in telling the committee last week the Winchester firm's assets may fall $650,000 short of covering the loan. He said the welfare fund is foreclosing on the mortgage.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Abe Green, Winchester's chief backer, also is under subpoena.

Kennedy said the testimony then will shift to circumstances which impelled federal court-appointed monitors to block a scheduled election earlier this year by Springfield, Mo., Teamsters Local 245.

The committee is investigating charges of improper practices by the union's president, James R. Hoffa, and Vice President Harold J. Gibbons. Both are expected to be called back to the witness stand for questioning, possibly next week.

To Enroll 20,000

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne State University student registration, which started this week, is expected to reach nearly 20,000 enrollments.

Stock Market Spurts Upward

Key issues advanced from fractions to about a point. There were scattered losers.

Motors did better than they have recently, moving ahead in brick dealings as hopes ran high for an early settlement of the industry's labor difficulties.

Some exceptionally large opening blocks were traded. Disney rose ⅛ to 33 on 30,000 shares and Norfolk & Western was off ¼ at 69½ on 25,000.

Eastman Kodak rose more than a point. Chrysler and American Telephone were ahead about a point each. Fractional gains were made by U. S. Steel, General Motors, Ford, Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott, American Cyanamid, Du Pont, General Electric, Royal Dutch and Pan American World Airways.

★ ★ ★

Two-Car Collision Injures City Woman

A two-car collision at Woodward Ave. and Earlmoor St., resulted in minor injury Monday afternoon to Mrs. Hazel Sutton, 65, of 1674 Beverly Ave., according to Pontiac Police.

She was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released. The driver of the other car involved, Gloria M. Foote, 26, of 58 Hazel St., was uninjured, said police.

Dennis Crosby Files to Adopt Wife's Son, 7

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dennis Crosby has asked court permission to adopt his wife's 7-year-old son by her first marriage.

★ ★ ★

Dennis, a son of Bing Crosby, married the former Pat Sheehan in Las Vegas, Nev., last May 4.

The petition filed yesterday asked that Franz Nicholas Gregory von Duuglas-Ittu be known henceforth as Gregory Crosby, with "rights of support, protection and inheritance."

City Firm Gets School Contract

Fredman Co. to Build $908,320 Junior High Structure at Southfield

SOUTHFIELD — A contract for the construction of a junior high school at 11-Mile and Evergreen Rds. was awarded last night to the J. A. Fredman Construction Co. of Pontiac by the Southfield School Board.

Acceptance of the firm's bid of $908,320 was recommended by O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach Associates, Birmingham architects. Seventeen construction companies bid on the general construction.

Bids to sub-contractors were awarded to the H. L. Johnson Co. for heating and plumbing, $347,870; Jones Sherman Co., electrical equipment, $131,400, and Gold Star Products Co., kitchen equipment, $44,670.

The School Board also authorized bids for kitchen equipment for the John Grace and East Southfield elementary schools. They will be opened Oct. 13.

Grain Futures Steadier Today

CHICAGO (AP)—The grain futures market steadied itself a bit after a general weakness in early dealings today on the Board of Trade.

The overnight accumulation of offerings were quickly absorbed and a small amount of scattered buying followed, which dealers said could have been hedge lifting. After the first few minutes, prices generally were within small fractions of a cent either way from previous closes.

Trading had virtually stalled near the end of the first hour with wheat ⅛ to ⅝ cents a bushel higher, September $1.85⅛, corn was ¼ to ½ lower, September $1.23¾; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, September 60⅛; rye ¼ lower to 1¼ higher, September $1.27½; soybeans ¼ to ⅝ lower, September $2.19¾; lard unchanged to 10 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $12.55.

The supply of feed grains and feed concentrates are expected to be at a high record of more than 230 million tons for the coming marketing year, which one grain firm noted is equal to 11-3 tons for each of the 169 million animals estimated to be on all farms in the United States. But that rate of consumption, the firm added, is about 50 per cent more than is likely to be consumed under the most favorable conditions.

Kitchen in Living Room Losing Out in Germany

A working committee on the modern kitchen reported that more than 80 per cent of the homes going up this year in West Germany will have kitchens just big enough for cooking. This compares with 1950 when 80 per cent of new homes still contained the huge "wohnkueche" where mother cooked while the rest of the family used the other end of the same room as a living room.

German Auto Will Sell Through S-P Subsidiary

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — The Daimler-Benz organization of Germany will make seven million dollars available to a subsidiary of Studebaker-Packard Corp. The subsidiary will take over distribution of Mercedes-Benz cars, a letter from Harold Churchill, S-P president, to stockholders said.

Daimler-Benz will make available on a deferred payment basis up to six million dollars in Mercedes-Benz vehicles and one million dollars in parts and accessories.

Chipper After Experience

Lost Woman Amazing

She was "quite chipper and in good spirits," said the two women searchers who found her.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Schaffley, who got lost Sunday on a berry-picking trip in Osceola County woods, is recovering in Mercy Hospital from her cold and wet overnight experience.

The elderly Mount Clemens visitor had become separated from her husband, Frank and another couple, Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Vincent, when they all went picking blackberries.

At least 450 persons took part in a search for Mrs. Schaffley. The searchers included State Police from five posts, a State Police plane and a Coast Guard helicopter from Traverse City.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The two Mrs. Beebes found her about two and a half miles from the spot she had disappeared.

"She hailed us and then asked for a drink of water," they said. "She seemed quite chipper and in good spirits even though she was hungry, cold and wet."

Girl, 8, Killed by Car; Police Hold Driver

ADDISON (AP) — Hannah Annita Martines, 8, was struck and killed by a car last night in front of her home a mile and a half west of this Hillsdale County community.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Martines.

Sheriff Fred Brown said the driver, Harold Rhodes, 43, of North Adams, was taken into custody for investigation of a felony.

Brown said Rhodes fled after his car struck the girl. He said Rhodes was taken into custody after the man's wife called police and told them her husband thought he had struck "someone or something with his car."

Leaving Midland Bank

MIDLAND (AP)—Paul D. Bywater, president of the Chemical State Savings Bank in Midland, announced Monday he will retire in December. Bywater joined the bank as cashier in 1930 and was appointed president in 1949.

TV Advertisers Disappointed

Quality of Programs Served Upon Screens Disenchants Public

By CHARLES MERCER

Some in the industry believe the recession is not the only cause of sponsor disenchantment. And certainly a recession is not the cause of the viewing public's disenchantment with the programs some sponsors have been offering.

The network pitch for the advertising dollar is based on two beguiling theories: The audience rating theory and the star theory. In turn, the advertising pitch to the public is that a star or a large audience-rated show is the best entertainment.

It hasn't quite worked out that way. There are disappointed advertisers whose programs collected large audiences. It is often forgotten that the financially destitute, too, watch television. A sagacious system for polling a program's buying audience rather than its viewing audience has yet to be devised.

Item: Frank Sinatra was a resounding flop as a TV weekly regular last season and will not return on a weekly basis next season.

The other day when I asked Herbert Brodkin, one of next season's new producers of "Playhouse 90," his definition of a star, he replied: "You can tell a star by how much you have to pay him—and it's a great way to miscast a show."

The other day I asked myself for a definition of the rating theory and came up with this: Television, a tremendous invention, built itself a beautiful cathedral and then found it had to invent something to worship: The rating theory.

Isn't it time to propose another theory?

Why not simply offer a good show?

A good show is a carefully conceived idea, meticulously developed and produced, with a sense of pace and dramatic tensions. These are the standards that make "Twenty-One" as good as "Camera Three" and the Perry Como Show as good as "Show of the Month."

★ ★ ★

Chrysler Gets Contracts for Jupiter Rocket Work

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Robert J. McIntosh (R-Mich) has announced award of two contracts by the Detroit Ordnance District Dept. of the Army to Chrysler Corp., Detroit, for work on the Jupiter missile.

Work will be performed at the Michigan missile plant, Sterling Township, Macomb County, Mich. The dollar value of the contracts is $1,574,000 and they will provide continued employment for 600 employes for approximately two years.

Red Cross Parley Set

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's first annual state Red Cross conference will be held in Lansing's Civic Center Oct. 12-13. Some 1,000 Red Cross workers are expected to attend. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, president of the American National Red Cross, will address the conference.

Things Have Changed Since Mary Won Title

By EARL WILSON

ATLANTIC CITY — Do you remember when girls said "Mercy!" instead of "Drop dead, you dirty rat slob!"?

The only girl who ever won the "Miss America" title twice, still does. Now that she's in her 50s, Mary Campbell is so shy about having worn the crown both in 1922 and 1923 that she hesitated to accept a free trip to the pageant.

WILSON

"When I go to Atlantic City now, I walk under the Boardwalk, instead of on top of it—mercy!" the Miss Ohio of 36 years ago told me by phone from New York, where she now lives.

"I got so tired of the publicity I didn't ever want to hear about 'Miss America' again," she said.

She and her husband, Fred Townley, of the Du Pont atomic division, have their own home half a block from the Hudson River on W. 103d St. She remembers with terror when there was a rash of headlines about her being "missing."

★ ★ ★

"Mercy!" she exclaimed. "I'd married Fred 11 years after Atlantic City. He was in Wall Street then. I'd never told my new friends this thing happened to me. I was just a quiet housewife."

I implored her to let me photograph her today.

"No!" She laughed but was firm. "I've had two major operations in the last year. I must be a little haggard-looking."

She weighed 140 when she won — and still does. "I had such a tiny foot . . . only a 3. Mercy, nowadays they're all 7s and 8s."

MARY CAMPBELL

★ ★ ★

"I was pretty naive when I was starting," she laughed. "Mercy, after all, I was only 15. I came home and told my mother I had won the Miss Columbus title and they said it was because of my figure. I said, 'Mother what's a figure?'

"My mother said, 'It's none of your business!'"

As she says, "Mercy!"

Destination: Berlin Fair

To Ship Bit of Kalamazoo

By DAN RYAN
Of The Kalamazoo Gazette

KALAMAZOO —A little bit of Kalamazoo is going to Germany this month as a giant display of how people live, work and play in a middle-sized city in the United States.

The display, complete with several residents of the west Michigan city, will be the featured U. S. exhibit at the Berlin Industrial Fair opening next Saturday.

The sponsoring U. S. Information Service and the U. S. Department of Labor estimate that more than 250,000 persons will visit the exhibition in the shadow of the Iron Curtain. They figure about one-third of them will come from East Germany.

Kalamazoo, a city of about 60,000 population, was chosen the subject of the display because of its diversified industry and wide range of racial and national groups.

The exhibit will fill the 20,000 square feet of floor space in the Marshall House, the United States' exhibit hall in Berlin.

Next will come pictures, models and maps showing the industrial and educational facilities of Kalamazoo, including displays on city government and such cultural assets as the civic players and the symphony orchestra.

The Department of Labor is sending two industrialists and three workers. The industrialists are William Race, president of Sutherland Paper Co., and Theodore McCarty, president of Gibson, Inc., manufacturer of stringed musical instruments.

Two of the working men will be Gibson employes who are accomplished musicians. They are Rembert Wall and Julius Bellson. The other will be Robert Cooper, a mailman.

Neil Van Stelle, president of the Kalamazoo Labor Council, will appear as a representative of Michigan and Kalamazoo labor unions.

After meeting the Kalamazoo residents the German viewers will move into a display of the products manufactured in Kalamazoo. The giant exhibit includes the work of more than 50 industries ranging from paper plates to vitamin pills and from fishing tackle to taxicabs.

The Berlin Industrial Fair will run through the end of September. After that portions of the Kalamazoo exhibit will tour major cities of Germany.

A smaller but similar exhibit of life in Kalamazoo was taken on a tour of Great Britain several months ago. Sponsored by the U. S. Information Service, this display of home life, work and community life in Kalamazoo was seen by more than 200,000 persons in England, Wales and Scotland.

"We feel the British exhibit was very successful," said Jack Masey of the U. S. Information Service in Washington. "Now, by enlarging it about 10 times and adding the Department of Labor's presentation, we believe we can bring this important message to the very edge of the free world—Berlin."

Brooklyn Man Shot in Chase

Accused of Attempting Bribe to Secure House Offered as TV Prize

NEW YORK (AP) — A Brooklyn man, wounded by a detective in a chase, is accused of offering a $3,000 bribe to two mail sorters in attempt to win a $30,000 house on an audience participation TV giveaway show.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Bernard Patten of Queens said Mignone offered the bribe to two 16-year-old boys employed by the Radioland Mail Service Inc., of Queens. The firm handles mail for The Price Is Right, which offers prizes both to contestants in the studio and to the audience.

Two district attorney's detectives went to Brooklyn to arrest Mignone. They said Mignone ran into an alley, one of the detectives fired a warning shot, the bullet struck the side of a building and ricocheted into Mignone's cheek.

The Queens district attorney's office said Mignone tried to rig the giveaway this way:

Last month the show displayed a photograph of a home and invited viewers to send in postcards up to Aug. 29 estimating its value. The house was to be awarded to the person coming closest.

Early this month, the show announced the price for the home as $30,050.90. Mignone erased his own address on two cards, substituted that of the TV quiz program and listed his "guesses" as $30,250.90 and $32,050.80.

Mignone then approached Robert Griffin, who works for the Radioland firm, and asked him to slip the phonied cards in with the legitimate mail. Griffin and his fellow employe, Frank Killane, were to get $3,000 between them if Mignone won the house.

★ ★ ★

Queens Magistrate Corning McKennee signed a warrant for Mignone's arrest on a charge of attempted bribery in offering an illegal gratuity. In addition, Mignone was charged with felonious assault for allegedly kicking one of the detectives who arrested him, and unlawful flight to avoid prosecution.

Judge Favors Criminal

DETROIT (AP)—Michigan Supreme Court Justice George Edwards Monday gave the annual congress of the American Correctional Assn. a program for remaking criminals into useful citizens. Edwards told 1,200 penal officials that the prime concern of the law should be rehabilitation, after which should come protection of society and deterring of other criminals. He urged courts to show more interest in the criminal as an individual.

It's Really a 'Hot' Car

DETROIT (AP) — Whoever took Berge Kojolian's automobile Monday is in for a rude shock if caught, tried and convicted of auto theft. Kojolian is a special deliveryman for the Highland Park Post Office. Ordinary car theft has a maximum penalty of five years but the maximum penalty for theft of a mail car is a fine of $10,000 and 10 years in federal prison. Kojolian's car bore signs reading "U.S. Special Delivery."

Brucker's Son Named

DETROIT (AP)—Wilber M. Brucker Jr., son of the Secretary of the Army, has been appointed to fill a vacancy on the staff of the Detroit College of Law. He will move to the faculty after being associated with a city law firm.

Improved 'Voice' Program Back on TV Screens

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—A new and greatly improved Voice of Firestone returned to the home screen on ABC-TV last night.

For 30 years on radio and television the program has been offering fine music by outstanding artists. At times in recent seasons it seemed to neglect essential showmanship and simply focused its cameras on a concert stage. At times it seemed to be condescending toward any music that was not so-called classical.

Now it has set out to show that good music — whether "classical" or jazz or somewhere in between —is worthy of good showmanship and good words.

The debut of the new program revealed improved staging. It presented an excellent new "narrator" in John Daly—one whose interpretations could be used more fully than they were last night.

The premiere guests were Rise Stevens, Jo Stafford, operetta stars Doretta Morrow and Ray Middleton and flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya, presenting selections that ranged from "Habanera" to "Sunny Sido of the Street."

An important element in the new series is its capacity to widen one's musical interest. What numbers were "best" in the first program depended entirely on a viewer's personal tastes.

Q. Can children "outgrow" crossed eyes? M. S. P.

A. No. children with crossed eyes tend to see double, and so suppress the sight of one eye. If treatment is not obtained, precious vision in the suppressed eye will be lost — even if the eyes appear to straighten by themselves later on. Early treatment for crossed eyes is essential.

Q. Will television damage the eyes? B. J. L.

A. No. You and your family can watch television as much as you like, providing the set isn't kept on while the room is completely dark. Too much contrast between light from the screen and the rest of the room may cause eye fatigue. Make sure the picture is properly adjusted, and don't sit too close to the set. If you develop headaches or eyestrain from watching television you are in need of an eye examination.

A. At the present time there are 314,000 blind men, women, and children in the United States. Each year another 27,000 persons of all ages lose their sight. Much of this blindness could be avoided through periodic eye examinations.

Hal Boyle Says:

Giants From Space Could Toy With Man

He is boss of the circling mudball he dwells on. But it is a pretty small potato in the awesome garden of the sky, and man himself may rate only as a minor two-legged insect in the vaster scheme of things.

To most of us, the idea of life on other planets is a pleasant fiction of science writers. We laugh at cartoons showing little green-eyed bug-and-manlike creatures landing here in space ships and demanding, "Take me to your leader."

Dr. Shapley is no alarmist about any imminent invasion from Mars or Venus, where he doubts any advanced form of life exists. But in a way he is much more alarming than any science-fiction writer.

Does life exist on any other planet? In the huge theater of the heavens, Dr. Shapley believes it reasonable to assume there is life on at least 100 million planets—and, more likely, on perhaps 100 trillion planets.

What kind of life? Probably many forms we are familiar with here on Earth. But Dr. Shapley can visualize others. Trees that walk, for example, and animals which, weary of mobility, may from time to time put down roots into the soil and vegetate for a while.

There may even exist higher forms of life than man which have developed senses beyond his own five limited avenues to knowledge—taste, sight, scent, touch and hearing.

His chilling assessment puts a new light on the whole situation. Many of us now, instead of putting out a hospitable welcome mat for visitors from outer space, may want to hang up a "Not at home" sign.

All along we have thought of our neighbors from way up there as freaks. And it may turn out we are the freaks.

If they arrive here before we go there, will they come as friends? Or will they, perhaps seize us for use as food for their pets, bait to go fishing, or live toys to entertain their children?

"We cannot escape humility," he says, "and as groping philosophers and scientists we are thankful for the mysteries that still lie beyond our grasp."

Dr. Shapley can go on being as thankful as he wants to. Frankly, we aren't at all.

The man in the Moon now looks like a celestial spy to us—what's he doing wide-awake up there when everybody down here is asleep? And if a stranger alights from a flying saucer in our vicinity, he'll get no glad hand from us.

We plan to throw a rock at him, then rush to the nearest phone, and call John Foster Dulles — collect.
