In Dirksen Amendments

Curbs Asked for Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois proposed today to cut down the attorney general's power in the civil rights bill to bring suits to open up places of public accommodation.

This was a key feature of Dirksen's amendment for the public accommodations title of the bill, which he finally unveiled today.

The second major part of his amendment would provide that states which have public accommodations laws would have exclusive jurisdiction over such cases for 180 days before a federal suit could be filed.

Thirty-four states and the District of Columbia have such laws.

The amendment, which Dirksen has jealously guarded for weeks, was the last of 70 proposed changes which he has been presenting to the bill's managers and administration of officials in a series of meetings in his office this week.

PRESSURE EASES

In advance of Dirksen's disclosure, Senate leaders announced there will be no session tomorrow in the civil rights debate. It was another sign the pressure through prolonged sessions was easing off.

Senators applauded when Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant leader, said the Senate would recess at the close of today's business until Monday.

The Senate has met every Saturday since the debate started March 9 except for the Easter weekend.

On one Saturday, the leaders could not obtain a quorum, but they were able to do so on all the other occasions.

16 Votes Lost by Wellbaum

Still Hbs Big Margin in Election Recount

With 12 precincts left to be counted today, Emmett S. Wellbaum has lost 16 votes in the recount of votes cast April 29 for District 7 City Commission candidates.

With 16 of his votes invalidated, Wellbaum's margin over former mayor Robert A. Landry dropped to 335 votes. It had been 351 when the recount started.

The Oakland County Board of Canvassers has been proceeding at a much faster pace than first predicted by county officials.

Canvassers resumed the recount early this morning at Lincoln Junior High School with hopes that it would be completed today.

When the board quit late yesterday afternoon, it had covered 31 of Pontiac's 43 precincts. When the recount started Tuesday, county officials expected to cover four or five precincts per day.

Wellbaum, a write-in candidate, was sworn in as the District 7 commissioner April 27. Landry, who was the District 7 incumbent April 20, asked for the recount.

Results of the 12 precincts recounted yesterday showed Wellbaum losing eight votes, Wellbaum losing eight votes.

Landry's attorney, Milton R. Henry, has challenged the vast majority of votes for Wellbaum on grounds that his last name alone, without an initial or first name, does not sufficiently identify "what Wellbaum" the vote was cast for.

Canvassers ruled they will accept the last name alone as valid, but Landry and Henry have indicated they will contest this in a court suit.

Storm Threat Is Predicted

Scattered thunderstorms are forecast for tonight with temperatures turning cooler over the weekend. Lows will be near 32 and the highs about 72.

There's a chance of showers tomorrow.

Precipitation will total less than an inch in showers during the period. Sunday is expected to be fair and mild, the weatherman said.

Sixty-four was the low recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. By 1 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 69.

SLAIN OFFICER'S EQUIPMENT—Loaded revolvers and handcuffs that belonged to two slain Fredericksburg, Va., policemen were found in a suspect's suitcase in Inkster today. The suspect was arrested after a wild

LBJ Well Received After Race Appeal

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—President Johnson got a massive public reception today in the streets of Atlanta after making a forceful appeal for "justice among the races."

Johnson's eight-mile motorcade through this city in the Deep South drew cheering crowds estimated by police at more than 500,000.

The President frequently stopped his car after leaving a closed car to ride in a convertible. He stood on the trunk and spoke to the crowds through a megaphone.

Streets were jammed with people. They crowded about the President's car when he stopped to comment on a sign that said, "We're the school that gave $100 to the camel driver"—a reference to a famous Pakistan-inspired trip of a Pakistani camel driver.

In an earlier speech, Johnson urged rejection of extremists "who seek to stir old hostilities and kindle old hatreds."

Johnson's call for racial justice drew applause from a breakfast audience that included members of the Georgia Legislature.

RACIAL PEACE
In his prepared text, Johnson had suggested that much of the South would find racial peace "before the end of racial strife in the cities of the North."

Johnson dropped this sentence when he delivered his speech, but the White House said he stood behind the prepared statement.

A check in police records, however, showed that none of the three revolvers registered by Lacau had the serial numbers of the weapon found in the wreckage.

Sheriff Walter Young asked the FBI disaster squad to use their special fingerprint techniques to make positive identification of the dead: Coroner Dr. William Bogart refused to allow relatives to view the remains.

GMTC Sets Sales Record

All-Time April High for Retail Deliveries

Domestic retail deliveries of trucks and buses built by GMC Truck & Coach Division hit an all-time April high, Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and divisional general manager, announced.

Last month's deliveries totaled 9,811 units. This represented a 20.6 per cent gain over the corresponding month of 1963 and set a new April delivery record.

The April sales figure was also the best for any month for GMC Truck & Coach since October, 1951.

Earlier this week, General Motors announced the sale of more cars in April than in any month in its 55-year history.

GM sold 422,517 new cars in April, well ahead of the previous high mark of 414,943 set in October, 1963.

Pontiac Motor Division also reported that Pontiac and Tempest sales set a new record. April sales totaled 83,187, the seventh consecutive monthly sales record since the introduction of 1964 models.

Try for Escape Ends in Fatal Auto Collision

BRUCE W. LEIKETT

DETROIT (AP)—A young Detroit police officer who will be questioned in the slayings of two Fredericksburg, Va., policemen was seized today after a high speed auto chase that ended in a collision and death for another car driver.

Badly injured in the collision, Bruce Walter Leikett, 26, described as an ex-convict with a car theft record, was held as a police prisoner in Wayne County General Hospital following his capture in a predawn car chase.

Police of suburban Wayne said Leikett would be questioned in both the Fredericksburg officers' killings and the slaying of a North Brunswick, N.J., filling station attendant.

Guns and handcuffs found in Leikett's wrecked car were identified as those taken from the slain Fredericksburg officers, police said.

A gun of the same type as that used in the slayings of the policemen and the service station attendant also was found in the car, police said.

NEW NAME
Leikett's arrest brought a new name into the case. Police at Fredericksburg and at Newark, N. J., said Leikett was not known to them previously.

Already, others had been mentioned as sought in the three slayings but subsequently were cleared.

At the hospital, Leikett's collision injuries were described as too serious to permit questioning.

He was reported to have suffered head injuries and a collapsed lung.

SPOTTED IN WAYNE
The car driven by Leikett was spotted about 2:30 a.m. in Wayne.

Lt. Bert Haslam and patrolman Andy Spisak said Leikett stopped at their order and then started off again and they pursued him at 100 miles an hour.

In suburban Inkster, the fleeing car and another collided at an intersection. The other driver, said David Ferrell, 24, of Taylor Township, was killed.

Leikett's car was a 1964 model (Ford) carrying New Jersey license plates, police said.

Haslam said he and Spisak were about to pass the car when they noticed the New Jersey plates.

A car with New Jersey plates reportedly was seen near the predawn slayings Tuesday of Sgt. R. G. Wright, 31, and patrolman William Frank Mines, 27, of Fredericksburg, Va. The two officers were shot to death in their scout car behind a shopping center.

17 Prisoners Die of Suffocation in Congolese Jail

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI)—Seventeen of 22 prisoners died of suffocation when they were locked in a small cell without windows in the South Kivu Province town of Mwenet-Ditu, the Congolese press reported today.

The newspaper quoted a communique on the case issued by the South Kivu ministry of interior.

It said the door of the jail was normally left open but the escape of two prisoners led to the police locking the men in and barricading the door with an auto engine block.

The incident happened April 23, the communique said.

State GOP to Pick 48 Delegates

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Michigan Republicans met today in Grand Rapids to choose 48 delegates to the GOP National convention. Overwhelming support was indicated for Gov. George W. Romney as favorite son leader of the delegation.

Backers of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, however, sought to seat at least a handful of delegates pledged for their man for the 1964 presidential nomination.

The 48 Michigan delegates will be chosen tomorrow.

Most observers believed Goldwater would land only four or five delegates pledged to vote for him on the first ballot.

On a recent visit to Detroit Goldwater predicted he would land 18 votes.

NOT CANDIDATE
Romney repeatedly has insisted he is not a candidate for the nomination, although acknowledging he would accept a draft.

Romney has requested the Michigan delegation to "keep its powder dry" by going unpledged to the national convention at San Francisco in July.

The GOP state central committee already has resolved support for the governor as the favorite son.

Two Goldwater-committed delegates are expected to come from Wayne County's 14th Congressional district.

FORMER 'BIRCHER'
This district is headed by Richard Durant, a former member of the John Birch Society who has clashed with Romney over political philosophy.

Other Goldwater delegates may be chosen by Saturday morning caucuses in the First District in Wayne County and by traditionally-conservative southwestern Michigan districts.

Emotion Chokes Truman in Huge Senate Welcome

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman got a thunderous welcome back to the Senate on his 80th birthday today and was so overcome with emotion he couldn't make a speech.

The former president helped make history, however, by the few remarks he did make. He became the first ex-president to address the Senate during an official session in the chamber, under a rules change adopted last year.

"I'm a little overcome," he said, his voice choking. "This is one of the greatest things that has happened to me in my whole life." But he said, because of his emotion, he couldn't take advantage of the opportunity to make a speech.

Moving at a pace that would tax the strength of men many years his junior, the former president started his day with an impromptu news conference in which he predicted President Johnson would do as well in November as President Franklin D. Roosevelt did in 1936.

The prediction was one item in an impromptu news conference that interrupted his traditional before-breakfast walk—and cut it short—right in the middle of Farragut Square only three blocks from the White House.

Truman set out with the intention of strolling about two miles but found himself surrounded by cameras, microphones and a tangle of electronic equipment wires that he came to a halt to field the questions of accompanying newsmen.

Truman was still settling problems right and left as he did upon arrival here yesterday. But he still had the worry that bothered him then.

"The worry: That will Boss, the former first lady whom he left at home in Independence, Mo., think about the goings-on here?"

"She's always afraid that I will insult somebody I am not supposed to insult," Truman said yesterday.

Employees May Walk Out at Two Food Store Chains

A possible strike against A&P and Wrigley's supermarket chains, both with a score of stores in Oakland County, may be called by the Retail Store Employees Union.

Herschel Womack, executive secretary of the union's Local 678 in Detroit said today the two companies would be faced with a walkout unless new contracts are negotiated.

Some 14,000 members of the local, which has a jurisdiction covering eight counties of southeastern Michigan and about 600 food stores, will vote on a strike action this weekend. This would authorize union officials to call a strike at any time.

Womack said old contracts covering Kroger, Food Fair and National supermarkets have also expired but the main union effort will be directed at gaining settlements with A&P and Wrigley.

"They're the ones refusing to negotiate and the others are watching them to see what happens," he said.

Womack said the union proposes a pay increase of 35 cents an hour, up from present maximums of $2.24 an hour for store clerks and $2.29 an hour for checkers.

But he listed the key issue as establishing a pension plan covering both full and part-time store employees, and extending health insurance, holiday and vacation benefits to part-timers.

"We don't want the public to get panicky," said Womack, who told the union's plan will be to strike only one chain at a time so shoppers can turn to other stores for food.

The same union last fall called a strike against several Detroit stores. The strike against Wrigley's, which lasted seven days, ended only after the union agreed to a settlement.

Only supermarket employees not directly involved in a strike action would be meat department employees who are members of the butcher's union.

3 File Petitions for School Post

Both incumbents and a former Junior Chamber of Commerce president have filed petitions for the two seats on the Waterford Township Board of Education at issue in the June 8 election.

Robert Fields and John Boardman, whose terms expire next month, both seek reelection. Also in the race is Dean A. Salley, 6299 Jameson, last year's president of the Waterford Jaycees.

Petition filers will not officially be considered candidates until signatures are verified Monday, according to James Denfielder, assistant superintendent of Waterford Schools.

The candidate filing deadline is 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Besides the selection of two school board members, the election also will include three community college proposals.

Unregistered voters must register at the township clerk's office by 5 p.m. Monday to be eligible to vote June 8.

According to Hamlin, prior experience in county government is required to serve on ways and means.

NO CHANGES NOW

He said the committee is filled now, and he has no intention of changing it at least for another year.

VISIBLE FOR MILES—Flames shot hundreds of feet in the air from a raging barn fire at 1570 S. Rochester Road, about a mile south of the Rochester village limits last night. Some 80 firemen from three departments, Rochester, Brooklands and Avondale, saved an adjacent empty cattle barn and nearby house. Lost in the $25,000 fire, besides the main barn, were 38 hogs and 2,300 bales of hay. The building was on the old W. A. Fisher farm, now owned by Mount Elliott Cemetery Association, Detroit.

To Buy Courthouse Site

County Declines Offer

Oakland County officials yesterday turned down an option from San Oil Co. to purchase the county's old downtown courthouse site for a service station. They said the offer was too low.

Meanwhile, the County Board of Auditors obtained options to purchase approximately 45 acres adjacent to the County Service Center.

San Oil Co. offered the county $100,000 for the old courthouse site at Huron and Saginaw. The site, now being used by the county as a parking lot, has been appraised at $275,000.

The oil company proposed to operate the parking lot in conjunction with a gas station it would build on the corner.

This was the first purchase offer the county has received on the site since offering it for sale nearly two years ago.

The Service Center options were obtained at the direction of the County Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means and Buildings and Grounds committees.

The owners of the property, which is landlocked behind the county's Children's Village site on the west side of Telegraph, have offered to sell at $33,626.

Yesterday, buildings and grounds committee told the auditors to have the property appraised before any offer to purchase is made.

The county now holds 60-day options on the property.

POSSIBLE EXPANSION

Chairman of the Board of Auditors Daniel T. Murphy Jr. said the county needs the property in the event that the Children's Village has to be expanded.

The village's present site is deemed adequate for building needed through 1980.

All three members of the board of auditors, Murphy, Secretary Robert Lilly and Vice Chairman John Austin, have agreed that they don't think the county should be in the real estate business. Several of the county supervisors have expressed similar feelings.

"We are trying to get rid of surplus property and consolidate our holdings at the County Service Center and in south Oakland County," said Austin.

"We plan to get out of the real estate business as soon as possible."

OFFICE BUILDING

The county also is trying to sell its five-story office building at 1 Lafayette. Most of the departments have been moved to the service center. The building was appraised at $220,000.

County officials presently are talking with Berkeley School District officials about the purchase of a 23-acre site in Southfield for a new south Oakland health center.

The school district has offered to sell the parcel for about $200,000. It is located at Greenfield and Catta.

The county's present health center in Royal Oak is no longer deemed adequate to meet health needs in south Oakland county.

Accident Injures 2; Jams Traffic

Two Pontiac women were injured in a traffic accident on Telegraph this morning which caused a mile-long tie-up north and south of Quorton, Bloomfield Township.

Treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, and released was Mrs. Nellie Schlanek, 57, of 9 Ruth. Mrs. Mack Weydemeyer, 54, of 98 Oliver is reported in good condition at the hospital.

The two were in separate cars waiting to turn east onto Quorton when Mrs. Weydemeyer's vehicle was struck in the rear by a southbound semitruck and trailer.

Her car was pushed into Mrs. Schlanek's by the impact. Driver of the National Tea Co. truck was Derwood Baumgart of Garden City. He was ticketed for failing to have his vehicle under control.

Baumgart and his rider Peter Thomas of Wayne were thrown onto the pavement by the force of the crash. They suffered only minor injuries. Baumgart's truck was passing another vehicle at the time of the accident, shortly after 8 a.m.

The traffic snarl was created by Baumgart's truck, which jackknifed across the southbound lanes, and Mrs. Schlanek's car which blocked northbound vehicles.

Street in City to Be Closed for Five Days

City Traffic Engineer Joseph Koren today advised motorists—particularly Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body—of the traffic jam to avoid using Montcalm between Saginaw and Baldwin next week.

Beginning Monday, Grand Trunk Western Railroad will close Montcalm at the railroad crossing between Baldwin and Saginaw.

Railroad crews will install one new track and rebuild the grade to provide a smoother crossing for motorists.

Weather permitting, the work is expected to be done in about five days.

Mrs. Harris, who had a 32-caliber pistol under her pillow but didn't get a chance to use it, said the men blindfolded her.

They hit her about the face and body and threatened her life until she told them where the money was, she said.

Last Stronghold Crumbling

Colombia Winning War on Bandits

ARMERO, Tolima, Colombia (AP)—The government is on the verge of stamping out the last stronghold of barbaric banditry in this nation, which has been plagued by 15 years of savage rural violence.

The recent slaying of "Sangre Negra," Black Blood—one of the country's most notorious bandit chiefs, wiped out the No. 1 spot on the most-wanted desperado list.

"Sangre Negra"—born Jacinto Cruz Usma 31 years ago—was one of the ruthless, self-proclaimed protectors of the poor who ruled this northern part of the central Colombian department of Tolima for more than a decade.

MACHETE AND GUN

They governed by the law of the machete and the gun.

Now the last remnants of bands once led by Sangre Negra chiefs flee for their lives, pursued by the country's national and a handful of other renegade police and an infantry outfit.

The army plans to divert its attention soon to ex-bandits running a Communist-led independent republic in southern Tolima. But for the moment it wants to mop up the bandit remains in the north, and cure the area's ills to prevent a new flare-up. Only the bandits and the army move at night.

INTELLIGENCE TEAMS

In civilian clothes or masquerading as bandits, specially trained six-man intelligence teams roam the countryside seeking traces of the gang. At headquarters, soldiers and peasants come and go on the red-tiled corridors.

Harvard Men Are Unruly After Police Called In

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—What began as a raid on Radcliffe women's dormitories erupted into a noisy three-hour demonstration by nearly 4,000 Harvard students Thursday night.

The outburst was brought under control after the arrival of three Metropolitan District Commission police dogs and their trainers.

Police called for the dogs after Harvard's dean of arts, Robert B. Watson, pleaded without success with the students to disperse.

Authorities said the demonstrators, good-natured and orderly until the dogs arrived, changed into a jeering and booing crowd. Police said bottles and firecrackers were thrown at the dogs and their trainers.

Radio Firm Head Dies

BOSTON (AP)—Melville Eastham, 79, founder and retired president of General Radio Co. of Concord, Mass., died Thursday.

A warm breeze carries the fragrance of lime trees from nearby orchards where captured bandits and collaborators wait army rations guarded by sentries.

At nightfall peasant agents slip away from battalion headquarters to keep tabs on their villages. The army's network of informers operates throughout the towns and settlements of northern Tolima.

HOPE FOR REWARDS

Some serve as guides, others slip into battalion headquarters only at night, hoping to claim reward money. The remaining bandits no longer stand and fight. Roaming in small bands, the harried men quarter themselves in farmhouses, sometimes for days. From large landowners they squeeze protection payments that insure the lives of ranchhands and cattle, and the harvest on coffee and fruits. From small landowners and tenant farmers they demand food, shelter, medical supplies and messenger services.

If turned down, they kill. They have, in the past, sometimes almost exterminated villages. Last March, "Desquite," at 27 one of the bloodiest bandit leaders, blamed for 100 slayings, fled with three of his lieutenants. Two army-trained police teams, lying in ambush in a nearby ravine, cut down Desquite and his men before they could escape. The helicopter pilot who flew the bodies out of the mountain canyon to battalion headquarters says, "People came from miles around to see Desquite dead—they were so happy it was like a festival day."

The army has a peaceful civic-military action program. Teams of doctors and road builders will help bring the half-deserted area back to productive life.

The army built a graveyard beside a lonely mountain road on the site of a 1963 bandit ambush in which 15 unarmed, bound soldiers died. One of the army's mountain guards is kept gapping in the rains.

This one is for the bandit leader called Tarzan.

For Rochester Council

Budget, Zoning on Agenda

ROCHESTER — Village Council is scheduled to adopt the 1964-65 budget following a hearing Monday night, as well as a decision on the proposed rezoning for construction of an Elk Lodge.

A tentative total of $467,200, first presented April 13, is expected to be okayed by the council to cover the next fiscal year's expenditures.

Under terms of the proposed budget, which includes elimination of council members' pay, the village will retain the present 18.5-mill tax levy.

In contrast with the silent endorsement given the budget by village residents is the controversy which has surrounded the proposed Elk Lodge.

The Avon-Rochester-Pontiac Township Regional Planning

GIVEN OKAY

On the other side of the fence, Avon Township, which owns the park across from the proposed site, has given its okay to the Elks' plan.

Monday council will make the choice of rejecting the rezoning request or setting up a public hearing.

The Elks argue that the property, now zoned for one-family residential, should be changed to general business.

Their stand is based on the premise that should the proposed building be constructed, it will act as a buffer between the industrial and residential properties in the area.

OTHERS CONTENT

Village planning consultants Vilcan-Leman & Associates of Southfield contend introduction of a general business zone will preclude further residential development.

The property in question is now owned by Howard McGregor Jr., whose farm is just west of the site.

A low building with a paved parking lot is planned by the Elks with a later addition of a park and swimming pool.

Both sides of the issue will be aired at Monday's 7:30 p.m. meeting.

In addition to considering the budget and rezoning items on the agenda, the council will also discuss proposed street improvements on Lyander and Elizabeth.

Milford to Air 1964-65 Budget

Hearing is Held on Zoning Ordinance

MILFORD — With last night's zoning ordinance hearing behind them, Milford residents will gather Monday to consider a proposed $251,750 village budget for 1964-65.

The Village Council last night listened to comments on the proposed code, took them under advisement and will reconvene the hearing at its May 25 meeting.

The 76-page ordinance, designed to facilitate the village's master plan, would replace four pages of regulations now controlling zoning.

Monday's hearing is set for 7:30 p.m. The figure to be discussed by residents is some $1,350 higher than this year's.

It provides for a new policeman, two new police cars, a dump truck, a roller for the Department of Public Works, installation of a combination ice skating rink - tennis court at the new village park and a $500 raise for the village manager.

Award Six Seniors MSU Scholarships

Six high school seniors were awarded scholarships to Michigan State University club of Oakland County at its annual scholarship banquet.

Phil Skillman, president of the alumni club, presented the scholarships. Dr. John A. Hanah, MSU president, was keynote speaker.

The recipients were: Robin G. Berglund of Berkeley High School, James G. Stephens of Pontiac Northern and Sylvester V. Quittiquit of Waterford Kettering High School.

TO BE CITED — Homer D. Strong, 8560 Gale, White Lake Township, will receive a distinguished alumni citation at Wayne State University's 96th annual reunion at Cobo Hall, Detroit, tomorrow. Strong, a 1939 WSU alumnus, has been director of alumni relations at the university for 20 years.

LEONARD F. TERRY

Appointed to Replace Supervisor

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The Pontiac Township Board last night by unanimous consent appointed Leonard F. Terry to replace resigning Township Supervisor Leroy Davis.

Terry's appointment will become effective May 27, Davis' official termination date.

An excavating contractor, Terry, 47, lives at 3285 Lapeer. He is a lifelong resident of Pontiac Township and attended Pontiac Central High School.

The appointee was defeated at the polls twice by Davis, by 89 votes in 1961 and by 16 votes in the 1963 balloting, after a recount.

He was trustee on the township board from 1956 to 1958. A Republican, Terry will remain in office at least until the next township election. Due to the new constitution, the date of the next local-issue balloting has not yet been determined.

Davis, a 62-year-old Democrat who was elected to his post four times, is resigning "due to the pressure of private business interests."

Area Hospital Starts Class for Diabetics

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Botsford General Hospital will begin its fourth series of classes for diabetics next week.

Class material will follow the same pattern as that used by the Oakland County Department of Health.

Teachers for the free sessions are Mrs. Florence Meiers, executive dietitian, and John Colline, registered nurse at the osteopathic unit.

The 7-9 p.m. classes will start Tuesday. The other four are scheduled for May 19 and 26 and June 2 and 9. They will be held in room 107E of Farmington High School, Shawneese at Orchard Lake.

Diabetics must have written approval from their physicians to attend.

Methodist Men Plan Banquet for Distaff Side

COMMERCIAL TOWNSHIP — The Methodist Men of Commerce are in the midst of plans to honor and entertain the distaff members of their families. They will serve the annual mother-daughter banquet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Arrangements also are being made for a husbands-wives night May 18. Planning the 6:30 p.m. event at the Maxwell House in Walled Lake are Lee Mohnkern, David Mansfield Sr. and Mark Ellenwood.

New executive officers of the group will be installed that night.

U. S. Approves Loan for Alpina Industry

ALPENA (AP) — A $50,000 loan to Alpina Industrial Development Corp. was approved by the Federal Small Business Administration Thursday.

The Alpina group, composed of businessmen and residents, applied for the loan after raising $87,500 to bring Universal Fluid Dynamics Co. to Alpina. The total funds will be used to purchase a plant and machinery for the firm.

'Unwilling' Volunteers Replaced in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — Police-Fire Chief James A. Decker claims he's having no trouble at all replacing — in double numbers — the volunteer firemen who resigned Tuesday night.

"We've got 26 to 28 now and six or eight more have applications out," Decker said today.

The Volunteer Firefighters Association had 11 members when it broke from the city — two others had been suspended by Decker as "agitators."

Of the 11, four have remained with the department. The city's four full-time police-fire officers as well as five volunteer policemen have joined them.

Decker said the men who have been accepted are qualified to fight fires — others have been turned away.

11 QUALIFIED

Of the present members, 11 are qualified in all phases of the work, he said.

"They can do anything with this fire truck or with the hoses," he commented. "Five of these 11 are available 24 hours a day. They live and work here, not in Detroit."

"They would be available at a moment's notice, which is what they didn't have before. The other six are available during the evening hours."

The remaining 15 in the reorganized corps have had work in the field, Decker said. He is planning a training program to upgrade all of the new men.

MOST CAME BACK

"Most of the old fire department is back," he reported. "They'd been here for years and resigned because of the pressure from this other group."

The firemen quit Tuesday in protest to the way their department was being reorganized.

"Now we can get the job done the way it should be," Decker said.

'Hootenanny' Is Set for Orion PTA Confab

LAKE ORION — A barber-shop quartet will join other music groups at the Blanche Sims Elementary PTA's "Hootenanny" 8 p.m. Monday at the school.

The program will be under direction of Joyce Delamater, vocal music teacher in Lake Orion. Election of new PTA officers for the 1964-65 academic year will also take place at the meeting.

AREA NEWS

Area PTA to See Films of Pupils

ORION TOWNSHIP — Films showing pupils at work and play throughout the school year will highlight Monday's 8 p.m. meeting of the Proper School PTA.

Last September, Clinton M. Galbraith, school principal, began filming the children during classroom activities.

Included will be scenes taken of kindergarten children who were completely unaware a camera was being focused on them as they went about their daily routine.

Also featured will be youngsters in the first through sixth grades enjoying school parties and working on constructive projects and science experiments.

Before adjournment, Mrs. Thruce Wichman, first president of the Proper PTA, will conduct installation of new officers for the 1964-65 school year.

TWO OF THE 767 — Preparing to "blast out" the news of the film "Music Man," to be in Rochester at the Hills Theater 7:30 p.m. May 19 are would-be trombone players, Jane Jerome (left) and Pat Arcure, both 14 and 8th-graders at Central Junior High School.

The special showing of the movie will be used to raise some $750 for the Rochester chapter, American Field Service (AFS). Standing in the middle of the two music-makers is Kathy Stoutenburg, 17, a senior who visited Austria last year under the AFS exchange program.

Utica High Senior Wins Scholarship

UTICA — Barbara Schnell, an all-city student at Utica Community High School, has been named winner of an Alvin M. Bentley Foundation scholarship to Western Michigan University next fall.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Schnell, 874 Leslie, Barbara is a Brotherhood Essay Contest winner. She is also captain of the high school cheerleaders and was a representative to Wolverine Girls State.

Her scholarship will amount to $750 for the 1964-65 academic year and is one of the major awards presented to 54 state universities and colleges by the foundation this year.

Agricultural assets in the United States amount to $214 billion and are equal to about three-fifths of all corporation stocks on the New York Stock Exchange.

Fagan-Rembach. Rites

Pair Wed in Waterford

HOLLY — The altar of Christ Lutheran Church, Waterford, was banked with white gladioli and carnations for the recent wedding of Irene Rembach and Bruce Lane Fagan.

A pearl embroidered lace cap held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a spray of rosebuds and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Karl Kilmer was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Larie Ann Walter of Clarkston, niece of the bride; and Rose Fagan, sister of the bridegroom.

JUNIOR BRIDESMAIDS — Attending as junior bridesmaids were Connie Marie Rembach of Pontiac and Brenda Lynn Kilmer, both nieces of the bride.

Joseph R. Rembach, brother of the bride, served as best man. Groomsman were Harold Fagan of Fenton and George Fagan of Holly, brothers of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Morgan Moss and Frank Barnes, Judy Kilmer, niece of the bride, was flower girl and Danny Fagan, nephew of the bridegroom, ring bearer.

A reception was held in the church parlors after which the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls and New York.

Auditions Tomorrow for Troy Arts Festival

TROY — Long black capes, handkerchief mustaches and insensitive actors and actresses are being sought by the entertainment committee of the Fourth Annual Troy Arts Festival.

All will be featured in the melodrama "He Done Her Wrong, or Wedded But No Wife," to be presented as part of the festival June 19, 20, 21.

Avon Twp. PTA Unit Will Install Officers

AVON TOWNSHIP — Installation of new officers will mark Wednesday's 8:30 p.m. meeting of the Brooklands-Avon PTA at Brooklands School.

Preceding the business session, rooms will be open for an art show at 7 p.m.

Anyone sensitive to boos and kisses is warned against joining the cast. However, all audience members will be searched for rotten eggs and overripe tomatoes prior to the performance.

Tryouts for the "gay nineties" production will begin tomorrow and continue through next week. Rehearsals are scheduled the following week.

TALENT SHOW

The arts festival's entertainment committee has also extended the deadline for application to the talent show "Pathway to the Stars."

Any seventh or eighth grade student living in Troy can arrange an audition for the show by contacting Beckwith or Mrs. Reeder before May 15.

Cosponsors of the show are the Troy Drama Workshop and former Troy resident Miss Donna McKechnie, coming to Detroit in a starring role in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," June 15 at the Fisher Theater.

Mrs. Jeanette Allen, principal of Poppleton Elementary School, will be mistress of ceremonies.

Romeo School Fair -- Lots of Food, Fun

ROMEO — Fun, food and rides galore are in store for youngsters and adults alike attending tomorrow's Elementary Schools Fair at South Grade school.

In addition to the wide selection of test-tube-toppers to be offered during fair hours, from 2 to 7:30 p.m., guests will also be able to try their luck in a fish pond, duck pond, shooting gallery and other booths.

Gifts, ranging from plants to needlework, will be on sale. And, especially for the children will be a merry-go-round, stage coach and fire truck rides and the eery thrills of an authentic spook house.

Proceeds will be used for school equipment.

Highest Wallace Vote Seen in Maryland

BALTIMORE, Md. (UPI) — today and is expected to ring up his largest primary vote total. Wallace took 34 per cent of the Democratic votes cast in Many Wallace backers believe he can defeat the favorite son, Sen. Daniel Brewster, who is standing in for President Johnson.

Brewster, however, is confident of obtaining the state's convention delegation on the first ballot for Johnson but also believes the racial situation will give Wallace many votes.

It promises to be a heated campaign in many respects because Maryland has been the scene of several violent demonstrations in the past year — principally in Cambridge and Princess Anne.

SEVERAL STEPS
Maryland integrationists are taking several steps to counteract appearances by Wallace. One group says it will picket Wallace wherever he appears.

Wallace has scheduled a campaign appearance in Cambridge Monday night. Also coming to town Monday night are some of the most militant Negro leaders in the nation who were summoned by Cambridge integrationist Gloria Richardson.

They include Lawrence Landry, the Rev. Milton Galamison of New York, Stanley Branch of the committee for Freedom Now of Chester, Pa., and John Lewis, president of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Wallace says his campaign will continue to be one against the civil rights bill now before the U.S. Senate.

The administration is doing what it can to aid Brewster, and several leading liberal senators will campaign for him. They include Sens. Hubert Humphrey, Edward Kennedy, Maurice Neuberger, Gaylord Nelson, Abraham Ribicoff and Edmond Muskie.

Don R. MacDonald

The community lost an outstanding personality and civic figure in the death of Don R. MacDonald.

A graduate of Pontiac Central High School and a resident of the city for nearly a half-century, he established Don R. MacDonald, Inc. in 1922 and headed it until his retirement in 1958.

Mr. MacDonald was active in public affairs, having served as president of Sylvan Lake Village, as a member of West Bloomfield Township Board and an Oakland County Supervisor. He had also officiated as the township's justice of the peace.

Mr. MacDonald was a zealous worker for the betterment of the area and welfare of his fellow men. No call on his services for a worthy cause ever went unanswered. His engaging character had won a host of friends and made him a sought-after companion in recreational and sports pursuits.

We can ill spare such sterling citizens as Mr. MacDonald, and his passing will be deeply mourned by all who knew him.

Skeptics of Authorship Irk 'Bard's' Fans

Among the 38 plays and 154 sonnets attributed to the man whose 400th birthday the world is presently memorializing, there is not one mystery thriller.

But although WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE eschewed the Whodunit, he and his works undoubtedly created the outstanding enigma in literary history.

Although nobody seems to have questioned the authorship at the time of appearance during the 16th century, scholars for more than a century have been turning out a spate of fairly heated arguments over just who wrote the classics.

Literary sleuths are in two camps there—so-called "Stratfordians," who maintain that they've long had their man in the person of the Bard of Avon himself—generally recognized as the penman of literature's pre-eminent product.

But those who see Shakespeare as the first known beneficiary of a ghost-writer—the anti-Stratfordians—have over the years arrayed a pretty formidable list of "true Shakespeareans." The dramatic personae includes 57 posthumous designees among whom purportedly is the phantom literary genius. Among them, however, the six long-established front runners still pace the field: Francis Bacon, Christopher Marlowe and the Earls of Oxford, Derby, Essex and Rutland.

It would be a guess as to how many books attempting to pin down authorship have been written. But the Folger Library in Washington, D.C., has 25,000 books of Shakespeareana alone, with this anniversary year steadily swelling the bibliography.

The controversy, however, while inconclusive, does indeed accomplish something. It sends each new generation back to SHAKESPEARE to try to find the truth within those wonderful words, said by many anti-Stratfordians to contain cryptic grammatic key to the identity of the author.

But as one authority has well put it, "I vote for Will of Stratford. All the contenders seem to have taken the same facts and proved 10 different things—and thereby knocked each other out of the ring. There couldn't be THAT many Shakespeareans."

It seems to us that the title of one of the Bard's plays prophetically capsules the historic hassle: Much Ado About Nothing.

Sour Viet War Is Baffling U.S.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON—The sour war in Viet Nam is baffling American officials but, in trying to figure it out, they must be setting a record for think-tanks and look-sees.

Now President Johnson is sending Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara hustling back to Viet Nam again for another look, his fifth in 12 months, plus five he made to Honolulu for conferences on how to win the war.

Squads of other officials have been over to one or both places, including Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff; President Johnson when he was vice president; and Aft. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy. Johnson and Kennedy made Viet Nam a stop on their world tours.

This is a list of the trips and the sayings:

January 1962—McNamara's first trip to Honolulu for an American military conference on Viet Nam. He came away saying he felt "encouraged."

February 1962—McNamara announced a new U.S. military command in Viet Nam and flew back to Honolulu for another conference.

'GREAT CONFIDENCE'—February 1962—While McNamara was in Hawaii, Robert Kennedy was in Viet Nam saying "we have great confidence in President Diem."

May 1962—McNamara took his first plunge into Viet Nam and left saying he felt "tremendously encouraged."

July 1962—Despite his encouraged feeling, he went to Honolulu for another think-tank with the U.S. military. He came away a little gloomier, though now winning in Viet Nam might "take years rather than months."

September 1962—This time Taylor to Viet Nam. He told reporters the "Vietnamese are on the right track." If so, they sure got off it later.

EMOTIONAL FLAMES

June 1963—By now Viet Nam was in emotional flames made bright by Buddhist monks protesting Diem's treatment. Kennedy sent Henry Cabot Lodge over as ambassador to see what he could do.

September 1963—McNamara and Taylor back to Viet Nam. On their return they reportedly held a Senate committee: "We are winning out there" and things "are progressing very well on both the military and political fronts."

November 1963—This was the month in which McNamara and Taylor may have wished they hadn't made that statement in September. Diem and his brother were assassinated. President Kennedy was slain in Dallas, and the new President Johnson said he would carry on Kennedy's program in Viet Nam.

December 1963—McNamara back to Viet Nam. Once more: "Optimistic."

NEW MILITARY JUNTA

January 1964—The military junta which got rid of Diem was thrown out by Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, who took charge.

March 1964—McNamara back to Viet Nam. Not so sunny this time, said "the path to victory may be hard." And no wonder.

Last weekend Red frogmen were credited with sinking a U.S. aircraft ferry.

May 6, 1964—Johnson announced another McNamara trip to Viet Nam.

David Lawrence Says:

Prayer Amendment Is Solution

WASHINGTON—A unique idea has come from the chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, Rep. Emanuel Celler of New York, Democrat.

He has suggested that maybe the House and Senate should pass a joint resolution "advising" the Supreme Court of the LAWRENCE United States that Congress is in favor of voluntary worship in public schools, and calling for an affirmation of that principle by the court.

Lots of people for years have tried to "advise" the Supreme Court, but to no avail.

The members of the court, who are appointed for life, can make any rulings they please, and the only recourse is to adopt a constitutional amendment to reverse any decision of which the people disapprove.

Actually, there have been many drafts of a new amendment to the Constitution on the question of prayer in the schools, but there are some people in Congress who feel that maybe the problem can be solved another way.

Rep. Celler, for example, points to a case in a federal court in New York which upheld voluntary worship, and he says maybe the Supreme Court will uphold this concept before long.

Nothing in view. Meanwhile, those who favor a constitutional amendment are convinced that nothing is going to be done by the Supreme Court, and that the only way out is to adopt a new amendment.

The situation has been pointedly summed up by Dr. Charles Wesley Lowry, an Episcopal minister here who now is president of the Foundation for Religious Action in the social and civil order.

It was in questioning Dr. Lowry that Chairman Celler of the House Judiciary Committee suggested a joint resolution to "advise" the Supreme Court.

Dr. Lowry nevertheless stood by his testimony, as follows:

"The years 1962 and 1963 will appear to posterity as years of revolution in the relations of church and state, religion and government in the United States."

FIRST STAGE

"The first stage was the decision which struck down the nonsectarian New York school prayer. As this prayer had been developed by an interfaith effort, developed by and under Catholic, Protestant and Jewish leaders, its demolition created a furor."

"There was a tremendous outburst of indignation throughout the country."

"The atmosphere also in both houses of Congress was very heated. The most outspoken alarm and anger were voiced."

"Then it was, Mr. Chairman, that something quite singular occurred."

"A combination educational and public relations campaign was initiated, aimed at explaining the court, smoothing down the ruffled feathers of the Congress, quieting the fears of the people, developing support for an extreme liberal outlook on issues of religion in the public schools, and generally preparing Americans for a further and more decisive action by the highest court."

"Members of the Supreme Court themselves got into action to explain their decision—in itself an unusual act."

Bob Considine Says:

18-Minute Film Captures Joy of Just Being Alive

'WORLD'S FAIR, N. Y. — You'll need 12 solid days and nights properly to see this great show on earth, allowing one hour to each exhibit. I'll need 12 years at the rate I'm going.

I keep returning to the same few exhibits that fascinated me the first day. That's like reading the first paragraph of CONSIDINE "Gone With the Wind" over and over again. But that's the way this kook is crumbling.

The exhibits are Pieta in the Vatican pavilion, General Motors, Ford and now a brilliant new stumbling block: the 18-minute film "To Be Alive!" which dominates, yea, glorifies, the Johnson's Wax pavilion.

The basic genius of "To Be Alive!" is trim, cosmopolitan Walter P. Margulies, president of Lippincott and Margulies, world's largest industrial design and marketing consulting firm.

Mr. Margulies goes back a bit in the fair business. He worked on the design staff on the Paris Exposition of 1877, had a hand as a junior architect in the fashioning of seven pavilions at the 1939-40 New York World's Fair.

This time he set out to produce, in addition to a startling pavilion, a film as breath-taking as its theme is simple. He had never made a film before and thus was not bound by tradition nor hampered by convention. He needed a second genius to bring his theme of life all the way to life.

FIVE BLOCKS AWAY

He could not find him in Hollywood or Germany, Italy or England. Six months and 27 interviewed producers later, he found Francis Thompson and Alexander Hammid five blocks from his New York office.

There were not proper tools in the arsenal of the camera world with which to film Margulies' dream. So Thompson and Hammid created a wonderful three-camera cluster, "Tri-Arc 335," set sail with it through Europe; Africa and the United States and, in time, were able to fling one hour and 32 minutes of super film

"They were joined by various eminent Protestant clergymen, some as individual voices, others in concert."

AMENDMENT EYED

"So we come back to the remedy of a constitutional amendment."

"I was originally reluctant to resort to it, because I am such a believer in the Constitution as we have known it. . . . I am, however, now persuaded that an amendment is the only sure, clear, and definite answer."

on their three 18-foot wide screens.

Thompson's definition of "To Be Alive!" is as good as any which has attempted to assay its god.

He says, "Although life appears to have become a frustrating round of meaningless activity for millions of people in today's complex society, we've suggested that there are other millions who preserve a sense of the underlying wonder of our world, have a capacity to delight in everyday experience, and to find intense joy in simply being alive."

Great Britain has a scheme for warning all and sundry on the roads about inexperienced drivers.

Those learning to drive must display on front and back bumper a large placard bearing a capital "L" in red—for "learner." Everybody gives the "L" cars a wide berth.

Strangely enough, Britain does not require that American drivers learning to drive on the left side of the road be branded with the "L."

A home state driving license is all the qualification needed to take the road in England, Scotland, Wales or Northern Ireland and close battle with the lorries.

The American and other foreign driver does, however, have an identifying badge. A window sticker in the colors of the Union Jack and bearing the legend "Visitor to Britain" is affixed to the rear window of cars delivered to drivers from abroad, nearly all of whom are used to approaching traffic on the right.

'State Beauty Blessed—Let's Keep It That Way'

It's nearly time for the annual exodus to beaches, state parks and lake cottages. How nice and neat they look—now.

Just forget about those first few cans you throw away—they won't show much. Just throw your melon rinds, banana skins, etc. on those nice white beaches—they add color. Never carry home empty boxes or bottles—they're twice as heavy as when you brought them.

Don't worry about broken beer bottles or rusty cans as long as it's someone else's child who gets cut.

No, you don't have to clean up the mess but it's costing more and more of your money to pay someone else to do it. Couldn't we all take care of our own messes?

God blessed this state with such an abundance of beauty. It defies description many times. Let's treat it with respect and leave our children a real and lasting heritage.

Writes on Lodge's Position in Politics

Something new has happened in the low level to which our politicking has plummeted. Judging from the success of Lodge, Nixon and Scranton, if one wants to obtain an office, merely announce you do not want to be a candidate.

Lodge is a typical example of the fact that it is impossible to recognize a man from the images the liberals paint. Lodge was an extreme liberal in domestic policies, but supported conservative, traditional foreign policy until the middle 1940's. It is only the conservative angle the liberal image artists are using today, to paint the usual false image.

Lodge has one political aim this year: to stop conservative Goldwater. When liberals of both parties connive together to beat a constitutionalist, it's a fine kettle of fish.

Says Investigate Plan to Assist Elderly

The President proposes spending a billion dollars next year to end poverty. A national convention will be held trying to tell America how to end poverty. House Bill 5218 had 40 cosponsors during a recent session of congress. But it was bottled up in committee.

Get that bill passed and the legislature would have $40 million to use for education, roads or other things. It starts off easy—one-half of one per cent on incomes over $5,000 for six months, then two per cent. It is the Townsend plan. If a former city employee got from $150 to $200 a month from this plan, need the city worry about his keep?

I am 90 years old and can't get out to Townsend meetings, which are now wonderful social clubs for elderly people.

I hope you will investigate.

Discrimination—No. 4

Africa Race Views: Study of Extremes

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In the fourth of five dispatches dealing with discrimination around the world, United Press International correspondents report on Africa.)

By JOHN MARTINO

In its racial attitudes, the African continent is a study in extremes.

South Africa is probably the only country in the world where race discrimination is not an embarrassing aberration but the very foundation of the social system.

The whites—numbering 3.2 million out of a total population of 16.2 million—control South Africa politically, economically and socially.

The country has become a symbol of the "separate but unequal" concept.

Under the South African apartheid ("separate development"), policy, marriages and sexual relations between whites and non-whites are forbidden.

NO UNIONS

African workers may not form trade unions and any African strike is automatically illegal.

Africans may not work in a "white" city without a special permit.

Certain categories of labor are barred to nonwhites.

They may not live in white residential areas except as servants; they must use separate entrances, elevators and counters in official buildings; they must use separate buses and travel in separate coaches on the railways, be treated in separate hospitals, go to separate schools, get married in separate churches and when they die, be buried in separate cemeteries.

INCREASED STRESS

Recently the South African government has laid increased stress on the positive side of apartheid.

This, popularly called the "Bantustan" policy has as its aim the eventual creation of a series of black-controlled tribal states within the borders of South Africa.

These states will eventually cover about one-eighth of the country's total area—most of it fertile, high rainfall territory.

Complicating the racial problems of South Africa are the three British High Commission Territories of Swaziland, Bechuanaland and Basutoland.

FORM ENCLAVE

They border the republic and in the case of Basutoland form an enclave within South Africa.

In these territories the British are pursuing a policy of multiracialism and increasing political rights for the black majority.

In Black African nations—including the former British and French colonies as well as the Portuguese possessions, the general story is no discrimination, with blacks and whites generally mingling freely.

ALL-WHITE CLUB

There are some fascinating sidelights however.

There is an all-white club in the Nigerian capital of Lagos. Officially the club admits Negroes, but they have shown no inclination to join.

In the Congo, where whites and blacks mingle freely in public, there are bars where blacks don't like seeing a white face.

In Nyasaland, where discrimination is outlawed, Africans can drink in a white bar freely but traditionally no white would be caught dead in an African bar.

In Southern Rhodesia, which has a militant white government, discrimination exists at all levels of life.

GIANT CHECKERBOARD

At the root of it is the "Land Apportionment Act" which divides the country into a giant checkerboard of white and black areas across which the races do not move.

The barrier is carried through to educational, social and employment levels.

There are racially divided medical facilities, schools, hotels and transport.

However, there is no law in Southern Rhodesia enforcing segregation and there is no law enforcing integration, either.

RESERVE RIGHT

A simple sign over the premises reading "right of admission reserved," gives the proprietor the right to bar Africans.

If the African enters the premises and refuses to leave when asked to do so he can be evicted and charged with trespassing.

This happens frequently and leads to some strange situations.

In Salisbury's most expensive hotel, "Melkies," it is a common sight to see Africans sitting in the lounge drinking. But they are barred from the bars, which are all male-white.

Tomorrow: Discrimination in Asia and Latin America.

Iowa Prisoners in 3rd Uprising

ANAMOSA, Iowa (AP)—Tear gas and gunshots quelled the third inmate uprising in seven months at the Iowa Men's Reformatory yesterday. Acting Warden Benjamin Baer said charges would be filed against 16 to 24 ringleaders of the insurrection. The charges probably will mean additional sentences for the leaders and transfer to a maximum security prison.

Baer, state director of corrections, was sent to the reformatory by Gov. Harold Hughes a month ago to restore order. A few days after he arrived, prisoners demonstrated to protest the price of instant coffee in the commissary, and visiting room accommodations.

The April 8 disorder was minor compared with yesterday's uprising and one last October, which resulted in more than $200,000 damage.

Yesterday's riot broke out at 3 p.m. when a guard found three unauthorized inmates in the prison laundry. He locked up two of them, but the third broke away and raced into the yard.

Barry Arrives for Vacation at W. Virginia Spa

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, a leading candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, arrived Thursday at the Greenbrier Hotel "for a rest." He refused to see newsmen and would not discuss his campaign.

The Arizona senator joined Mrs. Goldwater, who arrived at the Greenbrier earlier in the week.

A hotel spokesman said the Goldwaters usually spend a week or two every spring at the spa but probably will stay only for the weekend this year.

Schools Can Seek

Balance of Races

ALBANY (AP)—New York State's highest court has ruled for the first time that school districts may actively seek racial balance in public school enrollments.

The court of appeals, in a 6-1 decision handed down yesterday, held that in drawing attendance lines for a new school, racial factors could be considered.

Mrs. Becky Aldridge, mothers of the missing girls, both told police their daughters had told them they were going riding with a boyfriend.

The missing girls are Linda Aldridge, 16, her sister, Jeanette, 6, and Joy Posey, 14, and her sisters, Darla Jean Butler, 8, and Sharon Lynn Butler, 4.

Mrs. Aldridge informed police yesterday of the disappearance of her daughters and Mrs. Butler filed a missing persons report earlier in the week.

ROUTINE INFORMATION

When Mrs. Aldridge's report came into the missing persons bureau, officers processed it as usual and asked the distraught mother for some routine information to complete the report and help find the girls.

Then someone noticed an amazing similarity between the disappearance of the Aldridge and the Butler girls.

First of all, they all disappeared about 2:30 p.m. Monday. Both teen-age girls of both families were supposed to be baby sitting with the younger girls while their mothers were away from home.

Both of the older girls telephoned their mothers and told them they were going riding with boyfriends and taking their sisters along. And both said the boyfriend was driving a black Mercury sedan.

DEALER'S PLATES

Mrs. Butler's daughter told her the car had dealer's license plates on it.

Police noted that the girls lived in different neighborhoods and attended different schools.

J. F. Choate of the Missing Persons Bureau said disappearance of teen-agers was common about this time of year when report cards come out, but in this case "it's different because the younger sisters are along."

Choate speculated the girls may still be in Fort Worth because no black Mercury with dealer tags had been stopped anywhere in the state.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Drug Firms Often Good Samaritans

Drug companies are in business to make an honest profit. But, like all groups that profit from man's misfortunes, they are often under heavy attack from the government and other sources.

Let's take a look at the other side of the ledger. When an outbreak of botulism, a very rare form of food poisoning, occurred in Kentucky, a drug manufacturer provided a supply of botulinus antitoxin without cost.

This is an example of what is known as a public service drug.

The total demand for it is so low that, even though the company may have spent more than $1 million on research and development, it cannot hope to make any money on it.

It therefore supplies the product when needed at the cost of production or at no cost at all.

OTHER EXAMPLES

Among the many other examples are an antivenin for victims of a black spider bite, an intravenous solution for persons with acute ammonia poisoning, concentrated fibrinogen for those rare persons whose blood lacks this substance necessary for clotting and an antidote for cyanide poisoning.

In the same general category there is a well-known manufacturer of formulas for infant feeding.

After five years of research and the expenditure of more than $85,000, this company developed a formula for infants with phenylketonuria, a disease which, if it is not treated with the proper diet, results in mental retardation.

There are not many children who need this formula; but those who do need it badly.

PRICE KEPT DOWN
The price has been kept down the cost of production for the parents of these unfortunate children.

After four or five years on the proper diet, the danger is past and the children can return to a regular diet.

State Representative to End Long Career

LANSING (AP) — Rep. Don Vander Werp, R-Fremont, Thursday confirmed reports that he is ending his 28-year legislative career.

"I guess I've been at it long enough," said Vander Werp, who was first elected to the House in 1932. He served two years in the House and 22 in the Senate before dropping out of the legislature for four years. He was again elected to the House in 1960 and 1962.

Ninety per cent of the beans and 80 per cent of the tomatoes raised in this country are canned, as well as 60 per cent of the green pea crop and more than half of the sweet corn crop.

This is, however, not the only type of public service our drug manufacturers perform.

They provide postgraduate instruction for your doctor in a variety of ways: through sponsoring special courses, lectures, scientific motion pictures, closed circuit telecasting of clinics from teaching hospitals and the publication of scientific reports and surveys. These fringe benefits help your doctor to take better care of you.

None of these services would be possible, however, if the drug companies could not make an honest profit on the everyday drugs needed by thousands of people.

UP Rail Fight Starts July 8

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first crucial round in the battle over the future of railroad freight service in northern Michigan will be July 8.

The Interstate Commerce Commission Thursday set a hearing for that date at Cheboygan, Mich. It will consider petitions for discontinuing rail ferry service across the Straits of Mackinac and rail service along 343 miles of track in northern Michigan.

Two of three owners of the ferry are railroads seeking to abandon northern Michigan track. They are the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads. The third owner is the Soo Line. The other railroad seeking to end freight service in the Detroit & Mackinac Railroad Co.

The ferry, Chief Wawatam, "is the key" in the fight to retain rail service, said Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley. Kelley has joined a number of northern Michigan communities in fighting the petitions.

ALL WILL FALL. Kelley said if the ferry service can be saved "all other petitions would fall." Mackinac Transportation Co., which operates the ferry is under Coast Guard order to repair it or quit operation. The firm has asked for extended time to repair the vessel.

Kelley has filed suit in U. S. District Court for an injunction against the railroads. He said the court order is necessary to prevent "irreparable damage" to the state, numerous freight shippers and consignees and employees of the railroads.

The attorney general recently toured northern Michigan to enlist support for the fight in the courtroom and before the ICC.

Risk Jobs for Jail Terms

White Activists Tell Why They Back Negro

By JAMES CLOTFELTER
Of The Durham (N.C.) Herald
CHAPEL HILL, N.C. — Why have white professors and students in this university area risked jobs and social ostracism to demonstrate and go to jail for Negroes?

"It is not enough for the Christian to say there must be justice," says a Duke University professor of religion.
"An act of some sort is necessary to give some substance to your words."

The professor, Dr. Robert T.
Osborn, 37, who has a wife and three children, was convicted of trespass for joining Negroes in a sit-in at a Chapel Hill restaurant. He was given 90 days on the roads in March and is appealing the sentence.

Osborn is one of four white men who told in separate interviews why they made the transition from "over coffee liberals" who talk about equal rights to activists who try to do something about them.

He said he had found the Christian Church in the South usually unable "to change the moral climate" — and universities "generally ineffective in influencing the basic beliefs of students."

Osborn, an ordained Methodist minister, said years as a

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS SPECIAL REPORT mere talker "have confirmed for me a basic theological insight: the Word is never effective until it becomes flesh, becomes action."

Another white man who joined Negroes in efforts to complete desegregation of Chapel Hill is William H. Wynn, 35. An assistant professor of psychology at the University of North Carolina, he also is appealing a 90-day sentence for the same sit-in.
Wynn is married and has a year-old daughter. "I felt called upon to do something," he explained in describing his participation in a sit-in.

'MAN SHOULD ACT'
Wynn said his views on race stem from his "fundamentalist religious background — the Church of Christ, which taught that men should do what they can to establish justice on earth.
The individual is called upon to question and to search for justice."

John Dunne, 21, and Pat Cu-sick, 32, are two white activists who quit the University of North Carolina last year. Both are now serving 13-month prison terms.
They pleaded no contest to charges of resisting arrest, trespass, and street blocking during February demonstrations.
They were sentenced by a superior Court judge on April 24.

Dunne and Cusick recently participated in a week-long fast protesting refusal of city fathers to adopt a free public accommodations ordinance.

"I had the feeling that I was not free; that I could not face a Negro without him seeing while instead of seeing me," Dunne said.

FULL SCHOLARSHIP
Dunne, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, and a graduate of Choate prep school, won a full tuition scholarship to the University of North Carolina. He dropped from the university as a senior to work with the chapel Hill Freedom Committee and led mass demonstrations which resulted in the arrest of more than 200 persons.

Dunne said the moral dimension of trying to decide on the racial issue is similar to a man drowning. "If a man is drowning and you have a chance of saving him and you don't, then you may not be found guilty in court, but you are morally guilty of killing him."

"Segregation is morally evil," Cusick said. "If a person cooperates with evil, it is an immoral act."
Cusick was born and raised in Gadsden, Ala. He said his great-grandfather is reputed to have founded the Ku Klux Klan in Etowah County, Ala., after the Civil War.

MORALLY WRONG
As a teen-ager, he attended a Catholic boarding school in Alabama which taught him that segregation was morally wrong.
Then he "led arguments against the faculty in trying to prove it was morally right."

In December, while serving a 30-day sentence growing out of a demonstration, Cusick fasted two weeks when he was placed in a segregated prison camp.
"I, as a person," he said, "can not cooperate with segregation in any way, whether it be in Chapel Hill or in a white prison camp."

Nebraska is the only state in the Union that has neither a state income tax nor a general sales tax now.

Deposed Yemen King Battles Egyptians for Sheba's Throne

LONDON (AP) — From a southwest corner of the Arabian Peninsula are the 2-year-old republicans of the deposed king of Yemen fighting to restore the throne of Sheba's throne. Ranged against him in the

But the king—Imam Mohammed al-Badr—fights on. Thousands of loyal tribesmen have joined him in the mountains. The Republicans have the support of Egyptian air support.

Recent reports from Yemen said Egyptian troops had pushed the royalists into three mountainous pockets, and many wavering tribes had turned toward the republicans. But royalists still sweep down from the mountains to raid Egyptian convoys, and vanish into the un-mapped hills when the shooting gets too hot. The king is quartered in northwest Yemen not far from the border with Saudi Arabia. His tribesmen are virtually bred for guerrilla war. Their goats provide milk and meat enough. Coffee grows wild. The United Nations, with no success whatever, has urged the two sides to disengage and the United Arab Republic and Saudi Arabia to withdraw their support. The Saudis claim they have stopped direct aid to the monarchists.

Arts Festival at Kettering

Second Annual Event Entitled 'New Forms'

By JOY McREYNOLDS

Creating a pleasant diversion from the everyday routine of high school students, colorful exhibitions were assembled for the second annual arts festival week.

Assuming the theme "New Forms," the festival is designed to display achievements of project producing classes.

Highlights of the week included an all-school assembly Wednesday morning, and a combined presentation of drama, music and art departments, entitled "Scenes from Carousell."

Enabling parents of WKHS students to view the exhibits, a combination parent teacher organization meeting and open house was held Wednesday evening.

A portion of the program was devoted to a gymnastics exhibition, under the direction of sponsors Carol Kratz and Jacqueline Puhl, and a spring style show, sponsored by the homecoming department.

Concluding the festival week will be the band concert scheduled for last Friday. It will be presented in the gym tonight.

A Saturday evening performance has been planned to afford the public an opportunity of viewing "Scenes from Carousell," at no charge.

COUNCIL BALLOTING

Underclassmen cast their ballots today for 1964-65 student council officers.

Campaigning for the office of president was Dale Mansure and Patrick Nitter, while Patricia Godehian and Tamzin Rosegrant vied for vice president.

Other candidates included Judith Belfuss, Sandra Johnson and Linda Tarlton, recording secretary; Phyllis Anderson, Connie Cordon and Sue Johnson, corresponding secretary; and Ole Anderson, William Guthrie and Timothy McGrath, treasurer.

In order to raise funds for the sending of students abroad, the WKHS foreign exchange club sponsored a pancake supper in the CAI building Tuesday evening.

English Group Sets Banquet

Monday Dinner Date
at Pontiac Northern

By SUSAN KILLEN
The annual English communications banquet will be held at Pontiac Northern High School Monday.

This dinner is held to honor all those who have participated in the Pularis (the school newspaper, the Avalanche (the yearbook), the Northern Players and the dramatics and forensics groups.

Mrs. Mildred Wiersma, head of the PNH English department, is in charge of the banquet. At 6 p.m. there will be a reception and punch.

Dinner will be served in the Northern cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. Lowell Ekland from Oakland University will talk on higher education.

All members of the staffs and their guests, plus faculty sponsors are invited to attend.

Members of the Pontiac public school's co-op club from PNH will be attending their employer-employees banquet Tuesday, at Pine Knob in Clarkston.

Dinner will be served in the Northern cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. Randy Adler, senior from PNH will act as toastmaster, and Patricia Stewart, also a Northern senior, will give the invocation.

Tickets are now on sale for the Northern junior prom, May 16. "Blue Heaven" will be one of the last events of the junior class this year.

Members of the PNH a capella choir traveled to Jefferson Junior High School Wednesday morning to present an assembly.

Under the direction of Michael Dempsey, the choir performed numbers from "Porgy and Bess," "Gonna Build a Mountain," "Geronimo" and several folk songs.

Choir members are now preparing for their annual spring concert, "The Sound of Music," May 22.

SENIOR TRIP
Final exams for Pontiac Northern seniors will be given May 25 and 26. This is the week before the students leave for their senior trip, an excursion to Camp Tammam.

Underclassmen will take their exams June 9 and 10. Seniors will be graduated June 10, their final day of school. Final day for underclassmen will be June 12 as they return to receive their final grades.

Others in the top 10 in order of their point standing are Nona Becking, Janet Lessiter, Jane Miller, David Townsend, Nancy Grod, Bruno Jandasek and James Exline.

Emmanuel Seniors Take Trip

By TIM MAYER

Emmanuel Christian High School's graduating class of '64 held its annual senior trip to Sarnia, Ont. this week.

Leaving the underclassmen to their books Monday, seniors returned Wednesday morning after three days of relaxation.

Featured on the retreat were inter class softball, bowling, miniature golf and swimming. Each night, there were special speakers delivering Christian challenges to the class.

Highlight of their stay at the Sahara Motel was a banquet with Ted Iskendarian of Flint, an engineer at Chevrolet.

Class sponsor William Yost supervised the trip.

Opening Night at BHHS for Annual Variety Show

By KAREN TRIMMER

"That Was the Year That Was," the annual musical variety show at Bloomfield Hills High School, will be presented tonight and tomorrow at 8:15 p.m. in the school's little theater.

The program will highlight the past year's headline news events. The 13 satirical skills will include 20 musical renditions.

Hosts Byrum, Bert O'Malley, Robert Black, Larry Parrot, and Robert McConigal will be featured in satires including the war on poverty and the film "Hud."

Eric Linder, Janis Adams, David Reuther and Cynthia Skalsky will serve as narrators of the event.

Election of student council officers for next year is taking place at BHHS and winners are to be announced today.

RUNNING FOR OFFICE
Running for president are Jon Hipps, Marvin Booth and Gregory Lau. Other candidates include Gary Fischer, Joan Carter and Edward Perlman, vice president; Janet Byl, Barbara Calhoun and Karen Trimmer, secretary; and Sterling Speira, Geoff Smith and Fred Beagle, treasurer.

A new summer activities program has been planned by the recreation department and its director, Edwin Wichert.

Courses in tennis, golf, basketball, trampolining, physical fitness, and senior life saving will be among this year's program.

Counselors for a summer day camp for elementary school children will be teen-agers of high school age with talent in dancing, art or swimming and with the ability to get along with children.

Waterford High Holds Student Council Election

By MARY BARNINGHAM

Junior Jerry Charter was elected president of next year's student council when students at Waterford Township High School went to the polls last Friday.

Pamela Clark, also a junior, was chosen vice president. Her duties will include taking charge of all student council social events.

Other officers include Sandra Egebreiten, corresponding secretary; Carol Petar, recording secretary, and James Lefurgy, treasurer.

Captain of next year's varsity cheerleading squad is Cynthia Rieves. Others chosen are Barbara Field, Sharon Goo, Karin Hunt, Nancy Kimball, Pamela Morgan, Janet Pfeuffer, and Lunn Schallt.

After a month's practice, these girls were chosen by faculty members and senior varsity cheerleaders. Final cuts were made on the basis of their ability to do one standard cheer and one which they had to make up themselves.

Latin students, dressed in togas, will participate in chariot

CIRCUS GROUPS

Club sponsor is John Makowski. Heading committees for the circus are David Ramsey, Janet Leach, William Boroska, Larry Price, James Miller, Nancy Hunt, Leanne Poffenberger and Kenneth Main.

Formal initiation ceremonies took place this week for new members of the National Honor Society.

Choir Featured at Yearly Event

Music Department Offers Full Program

By DIANE OLSEN
The Pontiac Central High School vocal music department will present its annual spring concert tonight at 8 p.m. in the auditorium.

Heads of the vocal music department, Yvonne Hamlar and Robert Satterling, will be directing.

Featured on the program will be the a cappella choir of 100 voices, which in a recent festival received three superior ratings.

Their selections will include "The Last Words of David," "Christ, Be Thine the Glory," by Heinrich Schütz, and Miklos Rózsa's "Hosanna" from the movie "King of Kings."

On the lighter side, this choir will do "Michael, Row the Boat," and "The Telephone Hour" from "Bye, Bye Birdie."

OTHER GROUPS

Other groups singing will be the girls choir, junior girls ensemble, sophomore girls mixed ensemble, senior girls ensemble, and the barbershop quartet.

Accompanists will be Joyce Livingston, Edith Payne and Tom Howard.

Yesterday morning the annual National Honor Society assembly was held for all seniors and the parents of those being accepted into the society.

STUDENT SPEECHES

Special speeches were given by Sarajane Serwin, Cheryl Wharff, Richard Northcross and Chuck Hubbard.

Counselors Vera Adams, Mrs. Leo McDonald, and Gerald Hunt had charge of the ceremony and Mrs. Arthur Buyera gave each student a certificate.

2 Avondale Youths Take Senior Honors

By PAT KLEIN

Michael Dobosenski and Robert Anderson have been named valedictorian and salutatorian of the class of 1964 at Avondale High School with averages of 3.89 and 3.72 respectively.

Mike is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis D. Dobosenski of 3845 Brimfield, Auburn Heights. Following graduation, he plans to enter Oakland University to become a mathematics teacher.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Anderson of 2395 Devondale, Bob is a member of the National Honor Society and science club.

He was a Michigan mathematics prize competition winner of $150 scholarship and a silver medal.

Bob is also a Boys State representative from Rotary and plans to attend University of Michigan to study nuclear physics.

Other students in the top 10 of the senior class are Linda Teasdale, Carolyn Priett, Diane Becker, Sandra Bragen, Norman Williams, Sylvia Janick, Beverly James and Kenneth Major.

Father-Daughter Johnson Team Recruit for Antipoverty War

AP Photos

ON BACK OF CAR — President Johnson stands on the back of an open car in Knoxville, Tenn., yesterday to address a crowd near the University of Tennessee. Sharing the microphone with him is his daughter, Lynda Bird, in her stocking feet.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The father-daughter team of Lynda and Lyndon Johnson have been seeking recruits for a war against poverty in six states with touches of humor and tales of ancestors.

They have joshed each other and, in the process, exhorted applauding thousands to lend "heart and hand" in eliminating poverty from the land.

Side by side, the 55-year-old President, wearing a Texas hat, and his tall, 20-year-old daughter, barnstormed farms and towns Thursday by plane, helicopter and car.

When President Johnson climbed on the back of a convertible at Knoxville, Tenn., his smiling daughter kicked off her shoes and joined him to talk to a crush of students from the University of Tennessee.

HUMBLE BEGINNING

And Johnson time and again—with hoarse throat toward the end—reminded audiences that he came from humble beginnings and knew poverty first-hand.

Sitting on the broken concrete steps of a tenant farmer's home at Rocky Mount, N.C., he said "I was born the son of a tenant farmer in a family of seven" and "my daddy worked on halves"—sharing profits with the landlord.

Johnson said that when his father died, "he left a hard-earned and frugally saved $25." The President declared that all he wanted for every family was "what my mother wanted for me, what every mother wants for her child—the chance for an honest living, an honorable job, and a decent future."

LOCAL CROWDS

When Johnson couldn't use his own ancestors to gain rapport with the local crowds, he summoned those of his longtime Texas friend, Sam Rayburn, the late speaker of the House.

In Tennessee, he noted that Rayburn was born in Roane County in that state and that Tennessee gave the Republic of Texas its first president—Sam Houston.

Johnson proved he had close ties with Georgia by announcing on his arrival in Atlanta that "more than 100 years ago, my grandfather was elected sheriff of Henry County, Ga."

Besides that, his great-great-grandfather, John Johnson, was born in Oglethorpe County, near Mableton, Ga.

JOKING COMPLAINT

By the end of the long day, Lynda jokingly complained that her smooth-talking parent had "used all my lines about what I wanted youth to do."

So, she said, "I just want to tell you that I agree with my father which is something that not all young people always do."

Lynda suggested a practical beginning for an antipoverty program. "If everybody would just try to teach one person," she said, "it would make considerable inroads" in the problems of illiteracy.

Johnson laughingly said his daughter was a school dropout because she cut college classes to come on the two-day trip. But Lynda contended it was "a cram course" in such things as sociology and economics and especially in "physical fitness, trying to keep up with my father."

Once when the President whispered to her, Lynda admonished aloud, "Stop coaching me, dad—you'll get me in trouble."

All in all, Lynda proved herself quite capable of following in the footsteps of her campaign veteran parents and she got plenty of compliments.

One came from a woman running alongside the motorcade in Rocky Mount. "Hey, pretty face!" she called out to the President's daughter.

Firms Quizzed on Flying Habits

Some 250 area business firms are receiving questionnaires meant to determine how much they use air transportation and what it would take to attract wider use of airport facilities in Oakland County.

The forms have been mailed out by the County Board of Supervisors' aviation committee to firms in Oakland and Macomb counties.

Responses to the questionnaires will be used by an aviation consulting firm, Leigh Fisher Associates of San Francisco, as part of a current study of the airport needs of Oakland County.

The west coast firm is conducting the four-month study for the board of supervisors for $19,000.

The supervisors expect to learn specifically whether Pontiac Municipal Airport in Waterford Township or county-owned Allen Airport in Orion Township should be developed further and, if so, to what extent and how soon.

QUESTIONS ASKED

Some of the questions being asked area firms are:

Does your company use chartered, leased, company-owned or scheduled airlines planes and how often in each case?

Where do these flights originate, and, if from other than Pontiac Municipal or Allen Airport, how come?

Where are company aircraft based and why?

Does your company make use of scheduled air cargo and air freight service and to what extent?

The form also asks what additional airport facilities the company might require in the Pontiac area.

The City of Pontiac has asked the county board to join in financing expansion of Municipal Airport to meet existing and future needs.

Walkout Threatened on St. Louis Line

CHICAGO (UPI) — Defiant railroad firemen buckled under a Federal Court order today and ended their wildest walkout against the strategic Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railroad in Illinois.

But a strike threat by workers on the St. Louis-Southwestern Railroad (Cotton Belt) raised the possibility of more trouble on the tracks despite a nationwide rail agreement.

U.S. District Court Judge Julius Hoffman issued the temporary restraining order prohibiting members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen (BLFE) from manning picket lines at the EJE's sprawling yards in Joliet, Ill.

The railroad is a key outer-belt line girdling Chicago and crossing every major trunk rail road serving the nation's rail hub.

Firemen started picketing the Joliet yards yesterday afternoon and it was not until U.S. marshals personally read the restraining order to each picket that the walkout was broken.

If the strike had continued, it would have affected 1,200 employees.

Spokesmen for the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern said the walkout had little effect on the line's operation. Supervisors operated trains when the union men refused to work.

A representative of BLFE President H. E. Gilbert had earlier vowed to get the striking workers back to their jobs.

"We've stopped three and I'm sure we'll stop this one," the spokesman said.

WILDCAT WALKOUTS

He referred to the short-lived wildcat walkouts by firemen and enginemen yesterday against two other key Illinois railroads and the posting of pickets at the giant Pennsylvania Railroad yard in Pittsburgh.

Union spokesmen said the Joliet walkout was triggered by the alleged abolition of half the EJE firemen jobs in south Chicago, which they said was a violation of the rail agreement.

Firemen on the Cotton Belt—headquartered at Tyler, Tex.—also claimed the railroad violated the pact by firing more firemen than the agreement called for.

What Shall I Do?

College Work Is One Woman's Answer

By JANET ODELL.
Pontiac Press Women's Editor
"Where are you going, dear?"
"Out."
"What are you going to do?"

"Well, three mornings a week, June Post (Mrs. Ivan) of Empire Street in Sylvan Park's subdivision goes to school."

A French education major in her junior year at Oakland University, she has discovered a whole new world of the world of ideas.

Or, shall we say, that she rediscovered it?
June Post went to college during the depression days. After two years at Hope College, she decided that the business world would offer her more.

JOBLESS GRADUATES

Friends were graduating, only to find themselves jobless. But people with business education were working.

After a business college course, she worked in a law office and loved it. She married and began raising a family of two boys, Dick, now 17 and David, 11. For some years this contented her.

But with maturity came the nagging thought that she had left something important unfinished. She began to regret not getting her degree.

At the time, living in Birmingham, she toyed with the idea of going to Wayne State University. However, the thought of driving so far discouraged her.

Then Oakland University was created.
Still she did little but think and mention her dream to a few people. She had even convinced herself by now that she was too old.

That was until the day she discussed the question almost idly with William Lacy, assistant superintendent of schools.

NEEDED PUSH

He not only encouraged her

50th Reunion for Central

Fifty years after graduating from Pontiac (Central) High School the class of 1914 will gather for a luncheon and visit at 1 p.m. June 27 at the Elks Temple.

The committee working on the reunion would appreciate any information about any class members. Among those to contact with reservations or information are Mrs. Morley J. Newman and Mrs. G. Lewis Cheal, both of Lake Orion.

Symphony Will Meet

The annual meeting of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra Inc. will be May 26 at 7:15 p.m. in the Ottawa Drive home of Mrs. Maxwell L. Shadley.

Directors will be elected and annual reports read.

Unloading decorations for Zeta Zeta Omega's dance Saturday are (left) Mrs. Gary Hetherington of Gateway Drive, general chairman, and Mrs. William De Quis of Strathdon Way, ticket chairman. The dance to be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Rochester Country Club is open to the public.

to complete her degree with a major in education so that she could teach, but he telephoned the university to make an appointment with the registrar for her.

Mrs. Post didn't feel out of place or too old as she had feared. There were and are lots of women her age — and older — who are happily earning college credits.

It's an exciting world of which she is now a part and she enjoys it all.

"I started thinking again," she says, "and began understanding children and teachers again."

But she does not minimize some of the difficulties she had at first in getting used to studying.

"You really have to want it (education)."

ROUTINE CHANGED

There were adjustments to be made in daily living. Some activities had to be dropped and others rescheduled. By now, life moves smoothly.

Ivan Post is used to having a studious wife.

Their sons have become accustomed to a mother who totes an armload of school books home—even as they.

Eight Members of White Shrine to Make Trip

The Worthy High Priestess of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, Mrs. Arthur L. Berry, and seven members of the local group will leave Friday and Saturday to attend the organization's Supreme Session in Los Angeles, Calif.

The group gathered for a business meeting Wednesday in the Roosevelt temple. Cecil Diehl was installed as third wiseman and John Balch was elected to receive the degree of the order later this month.

Delegates to the convention are Mrs. Samuel Smith, Mrs. Nina Payne, Mrs. Wayne Reeves, Mrs. Ruby Cummings, Mrs. Nellie Stalcup, Mrs. Mark Sartell and Mrs. Gay McNally.

Set Evening of Dancing for Sorority

Members of Zeta Zeta Omega sorority will swing their partners at a square dance Saturday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Rochester Country Club.

Norman Hill will call the dances for both sorority members, their husbands and the general public. Admission will be charged.

Mrs. Gary Hetherington is general chairman for the affair. Helping her are Mrs. William De Quis and Mrs. Bernard Toutant.

Her mother, Mrs. Fred Kleff, who lives with the Posts and keeps things on an even keel when June is in school, approves of her daughter's regime.

Mrs. Ivan Post of Empire Street sets out briskly for her classes at Oakland University. Homemaker and mother, she became a student a couple of years ago and hopes to have her degree in 1965.

Bar Association Women Study Heart Conditions

"Mr. Pump," a movie on heart conditions, was introduced at the Wednesday luncheon and annual meeting of the Oakland County Bar Association Auxiliary held at Pine Lake Country Club.

Presenting the program on care of the heart patient were Val White of the Michigan Heart Association and Dr. Michael C. Kozonis.

Outgoing president, Mrs. Cecil McCullum, conducted the annual business meeting which included the election of new officers.

Mrs. Douglas Booth is president; Mrs. Robert Anderson,

Contest Results to Be Revealed at School Fair

Highlight of the Emmanuel Christian School fun fair May 15 will be the announcement of winners in an essay contest.

Topic for the essays is "The Person Who Has Influenced My Life the Most."

Three goals are set for the fair, to make working friends for the school, provide an opportunity for Christian family fun, and to financially assist parent-teacher fellowship projects.

Chairman of the fair is Nick Radford.

Any contributions to the green garden shop will be appreciated. Contact Mrs. Glen R. Nelson of Rochester.

Mother's Day Meeting Theme

A Mother's Day program highlighted the meeting of Mizpah Temple No. 7, Pythian Sisters, Thursday in Fellowship Hall.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Lewis Ellis, Mrs. Adelbert W. Ayers and Mrs. Clarence Mahaffy.

Mrs. Charles Parks, a guest, joined the members in preparing cancer dressings.

Cranbrook Closes

Because of the presentation of degree shows by graduates of the Cranbrook Academy of Art, the Academy's galleries will be closed to the public on Saturday and Sunday, May 16 and 17.

An avid reader herself, perhaps she has contributed more than she knows to that daughter's determination to round out her education. And become a teacher.

Long Trip With Man Not Proper

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: A good friend is driving to the West Coast. Before I knew this I made plans to fly to the coast to visit relatives. We will be going about the same time, and he suggested that I cancel my plane reservations and drive with him.

This would save me plane fare and give me an opportunity to see the country. Would the laws of propriety sanction this?

A: I'm sorry, but your traveling this distance alone with a man would not be proper and will surely invite unpleasant criticism.

Q: In filling in the names of the parents on birth announcements, how are they correctly written?

A: Should it be Mary and John, Mary and John Brown, or Mr. and Mrs. Brown?

Would our signature be the same to intimate friends as it would be to acquaintances who do not call us by first name?

A: To intimate friends you sign the announcements Mary and John. To acquaintances who might not know who Mary and John are, you add Brown.

Q: My husband has always made it a firm rule not to lend any book of his extensive collection. He loves his books too well, he says, to risk having them mislaid or lost.

How then can I tactfully refuse friends who occasionally ask to borrow one of these books, without offending?

A: Simply explain that they are your husband's books and he has made it a rule never to allow one of them to be taken out of the house.

WSCS Installs Officers at Luncheon Meeting

standing work were Mrs. Lyle Saum, Mrs. Jess Troyer, Mrs. Frank Gray, Mrs. M. to H. Bank, Mrs. William Bullock and Mary Sue Terlice.

A salad luncheon was served by the Marion Shaw Circle with Mrs. Clarence Ponn as chairman.

Mrs. Richard Eldridge was chairman of the hostess group, the Ortho Lane Circle.

Cheater Gets Cheated

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: The boy who sits in front of me in history is very smart and gets 100s on almost all his tests.

I was stuck during a test last week and asked him for some answers. He gave them to me. WRONG!

I didn't know it until we got our papers back. He got 100 and I got 65!

I was plenty mad and told him I thought he was a dirty cheat.

I admit I wasn't very honest to ask him for the answers, but don't you think he was twice as dishonest to have purposely given them to me wrong?

CHEATED.
DEAR CHEATED: Don't expect to find an honest partner for a crooked deal.

DEAR ABBY: What can a woman of 42 do to get a compliment out of her husband? I have spent hours in the beauty parlor getting a new hairdo. No comment.

New Feminine Supervisor Both Idealistic and Practical

By MIRIAM NEAL

Who's afraid of Mrs. Arnold Simson? Most members of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors probably neglected to blink when she was appointed a city representative from Pontiac Tuesday night.

And Mrs. Simson? Says she: "Let's face it, I'm just a plain Jane who likes to bake bread when I have time."

She firmly believes that a mother's place is in the home and for that reason is not overly enthusiastic about her appointment.

WHY CHOSEN?

Then why was she chosen as Pontiac's first woman representative since 1861 when Margaret E. Hill retired after six years?

Without trying to second guess the City Council, a careful observer can glean qualities which qualify Mrs. Simson for the position.

She will never hang curtains in the courthouse windows or sink an axe through the supervisors' council table. She is neither a flag-waving-suffragette nor a kitchen-clutcher.

Her belief: "Contribute the most you can without taking too much time away from home." Translated, this means that whenever Mrs. Simson leaves her Brooklyn Avenue home it is for a very good reason.

PET PROJECTS

In the past she has worked on four pet projects: the Baldwin-Walton Community Club, Waterford Great Books study group, First Congregational Church work, and work with children.

In the community club, she has worked on and led an active campaign against litter.

In Waterford Great Books she tackles great ideas expressed well with an alert mind.

In the church, she conducts one service apiece for two youth groups each week.

Part of her work with children includes teaching piano and according to the blind children under the care of Mrs. George Carhart.

She has also been active in boys club work, PTA and Matinee Musicals.

PONTIAC'S FUTURE

She believes that "there's a possibility for Pontiac to be much more than it is."

She is interested in the zoning problems; she believes the county should have more control locally, and she is concerned with the unused space in the present TB sanatorium.

She admits that additions such as Oakland University and the Pontiac Symphony have contributed a great deal to Pontiac but insists that the city needs a lot of physical improvement and that residents should be more concerned with its appearance.

The home she likes to stay in currently houses Arnold Simson, a bookbinder at Pontiac Motor Division, and a son Val Jean, aged 10.

FORMER RESIDENTS

Away from home are: Anton, working on his doctorate in economics at Syracuse University; Arnold, who recently earned his doctorate and Marvel, who is majoring in voice at Eastern Michigan University.

Mrs. Simson also has three grandchildren.

She says she lives her life according to an old quote that hovers in her memory: "Make you the world a bit better because you have lived in it." So. Are you afraid of Mrs. Simson?

ADK Sorority Welcomes New Officers

Epsilon chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa sorority welcomed officers for the coming year Thursday evening in the Davisburg home of Mrs. Nelson VanNatta.

The hostess presented a handmade cherrywood gavel to Mrs. Cornelius Crowley, re-elected as president.

Others installed were Mrs. William VanderZee, vice president; Mrs. Clinton George, recording secretary; Mrs. Van Natta, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Gerald Burley, treasurer.

Completing the list of officers are Mrs. Leon Yale, Mrs. Charles Hampshire, Mrs. Gordon Rice, Helen Kinney and Mrs. John Landon.

Mrs. Genevieve Van't Roor assisted the hostess.

Carol Duvall to Speak at Breakfast

The annual May breakfast for the Pontiac branch of the Association for Child Education will be held at Devon Gables at 9:30 a.m. Saturday.

Carol Duvall, of WWJ-TV's "Living" series, will discuss "Scenes Behind the Screens" during the program. Mrs. Duvall is a ten-year veteran of radio and television.

Among the special guests expected to attend are the superintendent of schools and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Dana P. Whitner.

Assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum, William Lacy and his wife will be there, along with Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Crew.

Norma Pond is chairman of the affair. Assisting her are Helen Cudini, Sonie Bosworth and Margaret Wilmont.

Tipacon ABWA Honors Mothers at May Meeting

Tipacon chapter, American Business Women's Association, honored mothers of members Wednesday in the Waldron Hotel.

Dr. Sarah Van Hoosen Jones and Miss Alice Serrell took the audience on a pictorial armchair cruise of the Mediterranean, including port stop attractions.

Touring the Holy Land, landmarks of biblical history were highlighted.

Returning to New York aboard the 'Queen Elizabeth,' the travelers recorded an unforgettable first glimpse of the Statue of Liberty.

WINS SILVER

The national office of ABWA presented a sterling silver sugar and creamer to Tipacon chapter for meeting the membership quota at the recent Hand-of-Friendship tea.

Dorothy Virtues will represent Tipacon chapter on the Pontiac Press World's Fair tour.

Patricia Fiorani, the chapter's scholarship recipient for the past three years, was commended on her graduation from Oakland University as a student of distinction.

Members will be guests at Camp Oakland for the June 3 meeting.

Will Maintain Temperatures

Ice bucket buying? A new stainless steel ice bucket keeps cubes whole for four hours or more; when converted to a hot-dish keeper, maintains temperature of food up to 2 hours.

Here's how to care for your stainless steel bucket: Before first use, clean inside well with soap and water, and rinse well. After each use wash with sudsy water, rinse and wipe dry. For best results, do not immerse the bucket and do not use abrasives.

Shower Hints for the Bride

Shower for the bride? Key the happy event to one central homemaking theme such as cooking. Have each guest bring a gift that will start the bride on first cookery and take her through the gourmet stage.

Well-designed pots and pans, sturdy measuring cups, cutlery and mixing bowls are among many gifts made of easy-care, long-lasting stainless steel.

With each gift the guest can bring along several of her own favorite recipes—samples of easy-to-do dishes for first meals and more difficult recipes for later on. Hint: type or write recipes on 3x5 cards for easy keeping.

To Meet in June

Daughters of Mokanna No. 70 will meet June 3 with Mrs. Walter Shelton, Farmer Street.

Mrs. Victor Bodamer and Mrs. Albert Kugler entertained the group at luncheon Wednesday.

Revised Edition of 'Stork Facts' Now Available

Gone are the days when pregnancy was mentioned only in whispers, and expectant mothers hid behind closet doors. Today, expectancy is an exciting time with the future Mom maintaining her interest in her appearance and in the world around her.

Most of all, of course, she's interested in the wonderful event she's looking forward to—the birth of her baby. She wants her baby to have the best possible start in life, and usually she's very curious about the changes she notices in herself in the months before the baby arrives.

"STORK FACTS"

To answer her questions, a booklet called "Stork Facts" was written by The Maternity Center Association and first published more than 11 years ago. Over two million expectant mothers have requested copies since the first printing.

Just recently, "Stork Facts" has been revised and updated to include physicians' modern and most recent findings on pregnancy and infant care. Included in the booklet are details about baby's month-by-month development before birth, advice on Mom's diet, health and grooming during pregnancy, choice of hospital, baby's layette, information on what Mom can expect on "delivery" day, and even a last-minute check list for Dad!

If you are "expecting" you can obtain a copy of "Stork Facts" by writing to "Stork Facts," 465 Fifth Avenue, New York 17, N.Y., giving your name, address, and month of expectancy.

Kitchen Better for the Laundry

Think thrice before locating laundry appliances in the basement. If you put them elsewhere you may save many a burdensome climb hauling the family clothing and linen up and down a flight of steps.

If space can be found in the kitchen, laundry can be done without sacrificing time for supervising children and for doing marketing and cleaning chores. Kitchens also are ideal locations for laundry areas.

Wednesday Ceremony Unites Pair

The Darold E. Hilliers of Norton Street announce the marriage of their daughter, Ethel Diane, to Edward Ajoian.

Justice of the Peace Emmet Leib performed the Wednesday afternoon ceremony.

The bride, who chose a street-length dress of blue arnel styled with pleated skirt, was attended by Irene Mitchell.

Precautions Could Save Your Life

Death or serious injury can result from a simple household chore unless safety precautions are used and dangers known.

Recently, two cases were reported where housewives were using a well known toilet bowl cleaner.

Not satisfied with the way it was working on stains, each woman added some household bleach and stirred the mixture with a toilet bowl brush.

Death came in a few minutes to one of these women. The other, younger, survived but needed a long period of hospitalization and treatment.

TAKE PRECAUTIONS

To make certain this never happens to a member of your family be sure that you never combine cleaners and bleach.

Keep them stored in separate places, well away from food storage and medical supply areas. (Vinegar and other acid will also liberate chlorine gas from bleach.)

Never let children play with such compounds.

The full circle skirt that zips part way down the front is here teamed with a cool yellow shirt. The print is pale blue background with yellow flowers and big white dots. Print is cotton poplin, blouse crisp cotton broadcloth. About $13 for the skirt and $7 for the blouse locally.

Quicker Zippers

Youngsters will find zippers easier to open and close if you slip a small key chain with a charm through the opening on the tab of the zipper.

It's been 65 years of married life for Mr. and Mrs. William Martyn of Waldo Street who celebrate their anniversary Sunday. Married in Alpena, they have lived in Pontiac 39 years. Among the six children are Otto Martyn and Mrs. A. J. Cadieux, both of Pontiac, three grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. The family will celebrate with a dinner Saturday at Devon Gables.

Why Grow Old?

JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

As those of you know who have been reading this column this week, I am bringing you my 9-Day Reducing Diet which gives you a loss of from five to 10 pounds in nine days.

I am delaying my usual question box because I want to give you the menus for both Saturday and Sunday to guide your marketing for the week-end.

Here are the menus for Saturday:

BREAKFAST

Two slices crisp bacon
One thin dry slice of whole wheat toast
One-half grapefruit
Black coffee

DINNER

Chilled orange juice
Serving of baked or broiled chicken
Celery

Olives (only two or three)
One-half cup lima beans
One roll

SUPPER

Scrambled eggs
Lettuce and cucumber salad
One glass skimmed milk

If you have missed some of the menus this week or would like to have the complete diet for future reference, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for that booklet to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Steak and Potatoes are Even Included in This Tasty Diet."

There's Room for Fun in Every Budget

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Sometimes I wonder about all the reports that people are having more fun these days. More books, more bowling alleys, more fishing tackle, more trailers, more ski fashions, more travel aids.

And yet too many letters keep coming in to this column, saying "We never spend a thing for entertainment." "We haven't done anything or been anywhere for ages." Or, "There's never anything left for fun."

It's a sad story, and I'm beginning to believe it reflects more than a lack of money in many cases. Before you say, "Oh yeah!", hear me out.

When the cost of living puts the squeeze on the income, one of the first things that goes to pot is the frame of mind. Depression gets to be a habit.

"We can't afford it!" becomes the family's theme song. A guilt complex sets in if anybody says: "How's for the movies to night?"

I contend that a certain amount of entertainment or relaxation ought to be a "must" in every budget. I know what the answer to that will be from a lot of you:

"How can I throw money around when I ought to be putting it toward the bills?" Well, the real answer is that a well managed budget, like a well organized life, must seek a way of including privileges as well as obligations.

ENTERTAINMENT BASIC
Too often the "entertainment" fund is not even put down on paper when people conscientiously make out their budgets. It isn't considered a basic necessity.

But in my books it is basic. Enjoyment renews your capacity for hard work. The price of a little fun increases your earning ability.

The young wife of a business man came to me the other day with her financial problem. He's making $1,100 a month. She's obsessed with the idea that allowing $20 a month for "entertainment" is stretching the budget.

They have two small children, and she's trying to live entirely in the future, attempting to cover every expense the family will run into for the next hundred years.

GOOD THING

What's the worrying about most in "wasting" that $20 a month on something as unimportant as "fun." Her husband is giving her trouble because he thinks a little fun is a good thing.

Actually, this family would be happier, healthier, and eventually more prosperous if she would consider "entertainment" a real budget item and devote a reasonable $70 a month toward family enjoyment and relaxation.

Statistics, incidentally, say that from two to 10 per cent of the annual income is a justified expenditure for entertainment, including vacations. I say it's a necessity.

Some families spend a handsome amount for household gadgets, under the guise of necessity, and feel they can't afford to have friends in for dinner because that would be extravagant. I wouldn't object to this manner of spending if they'd only recognize it as the kind of fun. If they enjoy those surplus gadgets, then the money is well spent.

FRITTERING

I'm convinced that in many cases where nobody has any fun, the trouble is that money is simply frittered away.

"Frittering" is a national avocation with most of us

Pick Delegates for Convention

Three members of American Gold Star Mothers, chapter Nine, were named to attend the national convention in Asheville, N.C.

Representing the local group June 29-July 1 will be Mrs. Sybelle Stevens, Mrs. Edna Matheny and Mrs. Lola Ert. Entertaining the chapter for luncheon Wednesday was Mrs. Mae Archambeau of Watkins Lake.

The June 3 meeting will be a picnic luncheon at the Clarkston home of Mrs. Benjamin O. Cote.

We're stuck with a fine in many cities for "littering." It's a pity we're not fined for "frittering."

Funds that could go toward family entertainment often get lost in the slot machine to while away the time, via a parking ticket that wasn't necessary, through the purchase of an item that caught your eye in a store as you went down the aisle, a "bargain" nobody needed, by a large repair bill because you neglected to fix something simple around the house that would have taken five minutes, by too many short hops in the family car that could have been consolidated into one sensible shopping expedition, and through carrying extra money in your pocket for "emergencies."

We usually make those emergencies if we can afford them, you know.

BETTER USE
If you don't have an item tagged "entertainment" in your budget, then allow for one from now on. Round up the few dollars you fritter without really getting any pleasure out of them, and put them to better use.

Unless you actually call that expenditure "entertainment," you'll never get the real psychological benefit out of it.

Once you accept the fact that fun is a good investment, and should be taken seriously along with groceries and shoes, it won't hurt your conscience any more than buying a bottle of vitamin pills.

Select Right Grass Seed for Luxurious Lawns

"Permanent grasses such as bluegrass and red fescue should make up the major portion of a lawn seen mixture," advises James Beard, Michigan State University turfgrass researcher. "Cheap, quick-growing lawn mixtures are not necessarily the best buy because they may contain large quantities of temporary and weedy perennial grass which are unsuited for a beautiful lawn."

moved, and their nitrogen requirement is about 6 to 8 pounds of the actual element per 1,000 square feet.

RECOMMENDED MIXTURE

The recommended mixture for these lawns includes Merion Kentucky Bluegrass; Kentucky Bluegrass (Newport, Delta, Park or Common); and Creeping Red Fescue (Pennlawn, Rainer, or Common).

Beard points out that many pounds of grass seed are wasted each year because the seed is not adapted to a particular site, environment, soil condition, management level or use. He lists these different conditions and the recommended grass mixtures as follows:

• Sunny areas of medium to low maintenance. These are average, weedless lawns that require 2 to 4 pounds of actual nitrogen per 1,000 square feet. Recommended for these areas is a mixture of Kentucky Bluegrass (Common, Park or Delta) and Creeping Red Fescue (Pennlawn, Rainer, or Common).

• Sunny areas of high maintenance. These are well-watered lawns that have clippings removed, and their nitrogen requirement is about 6 to 8 pounds of the actual element per 1,000 square feet.

Beard says 15 to 25 per cent ryegrass should be added to the mixture under the following adverse conditions: (1) When seeding at a poor time of the year (middle or late summer, for example); (2) When planting on areas subject to erosion; and (3) When planting during droughty periods when the area cannot be properly irrigated.

"To obtain a high quality turf, avoid using bentgrass, redtop, tall fescue, and timothy in the seed mixture," adds Beard.

Old Favorite Serves as Groundcover

In places where other groundcovers or edgings do not do so well, try the old-fashioned variegated goutweed (Aegopodium), suggest the Union garden tool horticulturists.

It was one of the favorites of the old gardens and grows almost anywhere in sun or part shade.

Hedge Roots Need to Be Controlled

Are hedges robbing your flower or vegetable garden of needed food and moisture?

If so, dig a trench 24 to 30 inches deep along the edge of the garden, facing the hedge, and place upright in it sheets of corrugated iron well-coated with paint to form a root-proof barrier.

If corrugated plastic is available, it will be even better since it cannot rust.

Then refill the trench with soil and plant your garden.

CATHY'S GARDEN—Cathy has outlined a C in the soft soil and is planting radish seeds in the mark so that, when they grow, she will have a bright green C to say that Cathy planted these seeds.

Child's Own Garden

C Stands for Cathy

Cathy is a very little girl—only three years old—but she knows that the letter C stands for Cathy. So, here she has used a hoe to draw a C in the soft soil early in spring.

And, in the mark she has made, she's planting radish seeds. When they sprout, the C will be all green with radish leaves.

Cathy loves to pull up radishes, wash them at the sink, cut off the leaves and the "tails," which is what she calls the roots, and put them in a pretty plate for use on the family dinner table. Cathy likes to eat radishes too.

If she were a bigger girl she might like to print her whole first name in the soil and plant seeds to make it grow green.

Some towns and villages do this so strangers will know the name of the place they are visiting.

PLANT VEGETABLES
Usually the name of the town is planted with a low-growing flower.

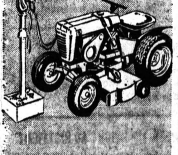

But it's more fun to plant vegetables because then you can eat what you've grown.

Radishes are best to use because seeds sprout in a few days, and the radishes are ready to eat about three weeks later.

If you can wait longer than that to eat the vegetables, try planting seeds of a green lettuce and a red lettuce.

Don't Allow Thatch to Accumulate

Thatch accumulation could be the main reason why your lawn is suffering from disease or drought problems, according to James Beard, Michigan State University turfgrass researcher. "Thatch is defined as a highly intermingled layer of living and dead stems, leaves and roots of grasses which develop between the layer of green vegetation and the soil surface," explains Beard.

"The higher rates of nitrogen fertilization, development of more vigorous grass varieties, increase in watering and Michigan's cooler climate for mid-summer growth have contributed to the thatch problem."

Beard says that accumulations of one-half inch or more can contribute to disease activity, reduce drought resistance and in hill aeration and water movement into the soil.

To control thatch in small areas, Beard suggests vigorous raking with a steel garden rake to remove dead vegetation.

REMOVE CLIPPINGS

"Much of the thatch problem can be stopped before it gets started by removing clippings," comments Beard.

"Where clippings are not removed, the rate of thatch accumulation is increased two or three times."

That accumulation on a lawn can be measured by cutting a pie-shaped wedge two inches deep into the soil, removing the plug and examining the vertical cross section.

"Superficial examinations from the surface are not effective in determining whether the amount of thatch is greater than the one-half inch minimum," says Beard.

SPRINGTIME GLORY—Harvey Birdstrup, 410 Shore View Drive, Waterford Township, has an eight-year-old Magnolia Soulangiana that is truly a delight to behold. "It has blossomed every year," said Mr. Birdstrup, "but this year's blossoms are especially beautiful." For those of you who would like to try your hand at this springtime glory, it is hardly in our area. Shrubs should be transplanted in the spring and placed in a sunny, well drained location. For prolific blooming, magnolias require rich soil with plenty of water to drink during dry spells.

Tie a String Around Your Finger

This Sunday's Mother's Day

The second Sunday in May gives us a chance to show Mom just how much we appreciate her. A lovely flowering or foliage plant will provide a lasting and growing gift.

And with the increasing popularity of plants, you can choose from a wide assortment at local florists and garden centers.

Make your selections practical as well as attractive. Give a little thought to Mother's preferences and needs.

Get plants that can be transferred to the garden or patio for the summer to add to her out-of-doors enjoyment, too.

If mother has a large bay window that gets strong, bright sun—a row of red and pink geraniums in small red clay flower pots will provide a vibrant color accent at the foot of the window. And they can be planted right into an outdoor window box or terrace planter for the summer months.

CHRYSANTHEMUM

Another flowering plant that has turned into a year-round favorite is the clay-potted chrysanthemum. Now "cushion-made" to control legginess, chrysanthemums come in a great variety of sizes and colors, ranging from whites and bronzes to strong golds, reds and pinks.

Choose one or more to blend with Mother's color scheme. They like sun, need a great deal of water and should be kept in a cool spot. If you get the hardy mum plants, they can be planted in the garden after they've been enjoyed as house plants.

And, if you select a large plant, suggest to Mother that she might like to use it to furnish a pleasant greeting to visitors—with its clay pot and matching saucer set directly next to the front door.

Combination pots are among the most popular purchases for Mother's Day. A large clay pot with any combination of geraniums, petunias, fuchsias and lantanas, varied with foliage, will be prized.

It's wise to buy the professionally grown product since growers know from experience just what types of plants—and how many—will fit comfortably in a single clay container.

Combinations will be particularly desirable to Mother because they'll provide bright, cheerful colors, together with contrasting shades of green.

If she prefers foliage plants

—there are handsome multi-colored Caladiums in large clay pots suitable for decorating the living room or for use on a shaded terrace or patio.

CALADIUMS

Caladiums can also be used to advantage in a sheltered garden border where the plant will be protected from the wind.

A collection of small clay-potted peperomias make an interesting and different gift. This pleasant green plant comes in 15 common varieties and grows well in moderate shade.

They need a good supply of water but since overwatering is a danger with peperomias, make sure the plants are in porous clay containers, which will automatically leach out excess water and harmful salts.

Perennials Depend on Foresight

Praised to the skies by experienced gardeners, perennials, nevertheless, often disappoint beginning gardeners.

The explanation? Perennials take planning and intelligent care—points emphasized in a Pennsylvania State University correspondence course on Perennial Gardens.

They need planning because most perennials require a season or more of growth before they flower. And since they are often purchased when dormant, it takes planning to make a selection based on how they are supposed to look weeks or months later.

Despite the name, only a few perennials can be planted and left to grow without care. And this care through the seasons, year after year, requires planning, too.

Weeds need pulling, insects and diseases must be controlled, and most need dividing and re-setting every 2 to 5 years.

PROPER ATTENTION

So, perennial really means the plants will come up and bloom year after year only if given proper attention.

For gardeners who refuse to plan ahead, certain plants like petunias and pansies, can be picked up by the flat at roadside stands in the spring—sort of ready-made flower borders.

The few kinds of plants that can be sold in bloom are handled by roadside dealers. It's good business for them. But gardeners using this method limit themselves to a few, fast growing varieties.

Learn how to plan for perennials and give them the proper attention by studying the Penn State correspondence course.

To enroll, send your name and address with $2.50 to Perennials, Box 500, University Park, Pennsylvania.

About four-fifths of all tomatoes harvested in this country are canned.

Remember Mama!

Living Rose Plant Ideal

Giving mother roses on her day may not be a new idea, but presenting her with a fragrant bouquet on a living rose plant is a novel and a great gift idea. It surely will prove a more lasting and treasured remembrance.

Mom will not only appreciate her favorite rose and color on this special occasion, but she'll enjoy cutting her own bouquets for many years after the plant is transferred to the garden.

Local nurseries have "potted up" most of the rose favorites and have them growing and ready for gift-giving. Many of the plants will be displaying their best flurry of flower and foliage.

Roses are forever a favorite with the ladies—young or old. Vibrant reds, delicate pinks and cheerful whites are their color preferences.

Which ones will impress mother most? Only a top, prize-winning variety will do on her special day. Nurseries will be featuring the year's top choices, the 1964 All-America Roses—Granada and Saratoga.

EXCITING BLOOMS

Both of these extraordinary roses will make a prize present. Granada gives large, fragrant flowers in the startling color combination of scarlet, nasturtium and lemon yellow. The fragrant, big pure white blooms of Saratoga are equally exciting.

Orange-red Tropicana, delicate pink Royal Highness, and the deep reds John S. Armstrong and Christian Dior are a few other famous AARS winners that are certain to please.

Rose gardeners who haven't planted yet can also take advantage of potted roses as the opportunity to set out some more varieties in their own gardens.

Container, or potted roses are the closest thing to "instant roses"—and the easiest kind to transplant into the backyard. They have no catching up to do since their roots are established and the plant has already started growing.

To plant a container rose, simply remove the plant from the container by cutting down each side of a paper pot with a knife (have metal containers slit at the sides at the nursery, leaving the plant intact) and place in a large, deep hole which allows for some space around the earthen ball.

Fill in the hole with soil to about the top of the earthen ball and tamp the soil firm. The bud union, or large knuckle on the rose plant, should be at about ground level. Then, water well.

Pick out a sunny spot with good drainage. Remove the plant from the pot gently, holding the earthen ball rather than lifting from the top.

The growing plant immediately take its place in the garden and continue to be a beautiful flowering gift.

Discourage Crabgrass Growth Early

As you approach your annual lawn-care program, it is well to remember that you can do much to discourage your turf foe from settling on your property in the first place.

There are several steps you (or your wife and children) can take in your normal weekly lawn attack which require no extra involvement.

When seeding or reseeding use a good-quality lawn seed mixture. The extra money you spend will be more than saved by better germination and a healthier turf.

You can be reasonably certain that where crabgrass develops in a new lawn, and a good seed mixture was used, it came from seed which was in the soil at the time of planting.

Since crabgrass germinates in the spring, fall-seeded lawns get a head start on this weed grass and will become more solidly established before the crabgrass can interfere with it.

FALL SEEDING

It is universally agreed by turf experts that fall seeding is ideal for turf renovation or establishment.

Since crabgrass seeds may germinate over a long period during summer months, control is difficult. Moist surface soil favors germination.

Frequent shallow-watered lawns are more likely to be highly infested with crabgrass and also are more inclined to develop a weak, shallow root system on the permanent grasses.

Less frequent applications with large amounts of water applied each time will help to discourage crabgrass germination and will encourage deep-root development of permanent grasses, since the surface of the soil will become dry between waterings, and the moisture will be held in the lower soil area.

Fertilize your lawn in fall or early spring to help the grass grow thick and dense. Where lawns are thick and growth is vigorous, late-spring fertilization helps maintain this active growth.

Crabgrass growth will be somewhat retarded by the shade and competition from basic lawn grasses.

Such fertilization of a thin lawn will often benefit the crabgrass more than the permanent lawn grasses. Since at this time of year, the crabgrass has faster growth rate than desirable lawn grasses.

LAWN PEST

But remember — crabgrass doesn't actually need a fertile soil to become a serious lawn pest. Its growth and spread are slightly slower on infertile soils, but just as inevitable unless you do something about it.

Since crabgrass is seldom a serious problem in shaded areas, it follows that any practice which competes with the young crabgrass seedling will be an effective control.

Raise your mower to a two-inch height of cut during May and June. Where permanent grasses are dense, the additional shade slows the growth of the crabgrass seedling.

However, where the lawn is thin, with much soil exposed, raising the cutting height will be of little value. These spots should be carefully seeded in the fall and treated with the proper pre-emergence herbicide in the spring.

Caladiums are an interesting shade loving plant.

CRABGRASS KILLERS—Many producers of fertilizers and other garden chemicals now market chemicals that kill crabgrass seed before it germinates. One of the most widely used of these is Dacthal.

Handy Lawn Faucets Save Many Footsteps

The season is fast approaching for those blessed with a green thumb and one of the biggest assists you can give yourself in nurturing your lawn and garden is through the installation of conveniently located lawn faucets.

By having these faucets installed around your house, garage, and yard you will be able to provide ample amounts of water to your garden and lawn areas when and where they are required.

Additionally, such installations will save you the trouble of unrolling and dragging several lengths of hose to where the water is needed.

For those living in cold weather regions there is no longer any worry about remembering to shut off the out-door faucets in winter. A non-freeze faucet is available and is designed with a built-in shut-off valve to protect the pipes from freezing. This kind of faucet is installed at a slight downward angle that allows natural draining of the water when the valve has been closed.

The location of lawn faucets should be given careful consideration when you and your contractor plan the plumbing system for a new home. In existing homes, contact your plumbing contractor to arrange for the installation of additional faucets.

Sphagnum Moss

Inhibits Damp-Off

Sphagnum moss is an ideal seed starter for your spring plants. It inhibits the bane of every gardener's existence, damp-off, while holding enough water to encourage the seeds to germinate.

Prevent Area Soil Erosion

Windbreaks have been established in many areas of the United States to prevent soil erosion.

They also help to prevent loss of water from plants, according to the American Association of Nurserymen.

In England, recent studies of windbreaks shows that with them there is less water evaporation from the soil than in the open.

Plants tend to adapt to unusual conditions. In windy locations, leaves become thicker and smaller, with the space between the nodes shorter.

Windbreaks with about 40 to 50 per cent permeability of the wind, such as plant forms or both fences of various kinds, produce the greater reduction in wind speed and the least eddying.

Eddying sometimes can, as in the use of solid barriers, produce more damage than the wind itself.

Creeping phlox can be purchased in a variety of colors. They are an ideal perennial plant for rock gardens or planted retaining walls.

Cairo Tightens for Visit by K

UAR Quietly Sets Security Precautions

CAIRO (AP)—Maximum security precautions are being quietly tightened for the arrival of Premier Khrushchev Saturday, and special communication equipment has been installed to give the Soviet leader instant contact with Moscow.

Troops, police and plainclothes agents from Egyptian army intelligence have been assigned to guard Khrushchev. Reports said as many as 200 Soviet security agents will accompany the premier.

Special telephone lines to Moscow were reported being set up from Cairo and Aswan, 430 miles to the south, to Moscow.

Khrushchev's route will take him from Alexandria, his port of landing, to Cairo, Port Said and other points.

FURTHER PRECAUTION
As a further precaution, two special planes have been sent from the Soviet Union to take Khrushchev around the United Arab Republic. Soviet sources said the premier would not fly aboard Egyptian planes—many of which were built by the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev's ship, the Armenia, will arrive for a festive welcome at Alexandria Saturday morning. With President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Khrushchev will immediately plunge into a busy schedule.

There will be a series of speeches and talks with Nasser, visits to factories, the pyramids and sphinx, and tours of the massive Soviet-financed Aswan High Dam project. But 13 afternoons have been kept free so Khrushchev can rest.

Next Thursday, after the dedication ceremonies at Aswan, Khrushchev and Nasser will spend a day fishing in the Red Sea from the official yacht Hurryia.

The Soviet leader's flight home is scheduled for May 25 but unofficial sources said there is a possibility he will stay one more day to rest.

City School Census Set to Start Today

Pontiac school census takers were to begin their annual count of all children in the school district today. The door-to-door census will continue through May 31.

Some 40 census takers will visit area homes in the annual count of all children up to 20 years of age.

Paul C. Allison, director of child accounting and census, said that it is important that all handicapped children be recorded in order that special programming can be arranged.

The 1963 census count was 37,101 children. Of these, 10,690 were below 5 years of age.

Between 1946 and 1961, more than 3.6 million immigrants came to the United States.

Farmer Suffocates as Fire Razes Home

SCOTTVILLE (AP)—Dairy farmer Joseph Klarski, 55, died Thursday in a fire which destroyed his home about six miles south of here.

Robert Bonner, Mason County coroner, ruled smoke inhalation and suffocation the cause of death. Klarski was a bachelor.

Clergyman, 101, Dies

HAMDEN, Conn. (AP)—The Rev. Jerome Greer, 101, the oldest alumnus of Nebraska Wesleyan University, died Thursday. The Methodist clergyman took his first pastorate in Hanover, Mass., in 1893.

More than 7,000 persons are employed in the distilling industry in the state of Kentucky, the Bourbon Institute reports.

Before being processed cranberries must pass a "bounce" test in which they are rolled down an incline over a number of hurdles. Those that reach the end of the course are considered in prime condition for canning.

Show Rise for April

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has announced that motor vehicle tax collections funds for the first three months of the year amounted to $91.93 million, an increase of $4.62 million over the same period last year. The department will retain $43.21 million of the total, counties will receive $32.17 million and cities and villages will get $16.54 million.

Science Quiz

By BOB BROWN

PROBLEM: You and a horse. NEEDED: A rule, a scratch pad, and a pencil.

DO THIS: Measure the height of the stair or steps, then find out how much energy is used in climbing it. HOW? Multiply the height by your weight to get foot-pounds of energy. Suppose you weigh 110 pounds and the stair is ten feet high. You have used 1,100 foot-pounds of energy.

To change this into horsepower, another figure must be added: time. Horsepower is 33,000 foot-pounds per minute, or 550 foot-pounds per second.

If you climb the stair in five seconds, then your power is 1,100 divided by 5 times 550, or four-tenths of a horsepower.

"Science Circus" by Bob Brown, is a book of 153 of these experiments. It is sold in bookstores.

JFK Mimic Sees Pilgrims as 'New World' Promoters

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Vaughn Meader, the comedian who sounded so much like John F. Kennedy, is taping a TV show titled "America Is a Nice Place to Visit but..." which will spoof American history, starting with a gag about the Pilgrims allegedly coming here for ulterior reasons.

"Everybody knows the colonists really came to America to beat up the Indians," Meader explained to me at ABC between taping, "but the Indians got even by teaching them to smoke tobacco."

Meader will satirize rich funeral parlor operators and a scholar who invented three new digits was elected president of A.T. & T., and named Digitarian of the Year. Meader has engaged Rip Taylor, "the crying comic," to satirize Huntley, Brinkley and Walter Cronkite. At the conclusion of each day's sad news broadcast, he will fall on the floor weeping.

The show will conclude, "America Is a Nice Place to Visit, but... We wouldn't Want to Live Anyplace Else."

Meader just had some sad personal news. One floor of his duplex apartment was destroyed by fire. He had no fire insurance.

There's a new nudity battle blowing up on Broadway—over whether the 12 nudes in the "Folies Bergere" will be permitted to go nude... or will be required to wear "parties"... while the imported show opens at the Broadway May 28. Producers Stephen W. Sharnat and Arthur Lesser hope the city will allow the French girls to work as they do in Paris, and add, "If New York objects to Paris nudes going nude, Gen. de Gaulle may get very mad at the United States!"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Veteran actor Horace McMahon, who attended Fordham Law School, finally plays an attorney for the first time in a "Defenders" TV'er (and doubling into a Jackie Gleason program). Liz Ashley and George Peppard did their dancing (and smooching) at Trude Heller's... Sam Spiegel squired Romy Schneider to the jam-packed Copa to see Sammy Davis Jr.... Sammy's Copa dressing room is jammed with well-wishers after each show, and comedienne Tote Fields cracked: "There are more people in there than in most night clubs around the country..." Danny Thomas is flying in to attend the Friars' dinner to Joey Bishop here Sunday... Kentucky Derby winner Bill Hartack told his ambition at the Chateau Madrid: to play his guitar on TV.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Some people are so proud of their ancestors, you'd think they were responsible for them."

EARL'S PEARLS: A youngster saw a peacock for the first time and shouted: "Look—the chicken is in bloom!"

Comic Bob Melvin spotted footballer Paul Hornung in his Copa audience and said, "There's an athlete so well off he wears a Jersey with an unlisted number." That's earl, brother.

No Need to Tow; Here It Is Now

LONDON (AP) — "You can't park in here, sir," said the policeman at the police pound. "This place is for cars the police have towed away."

"I know it is," replied Vasco Lazzolo, an artist, "I'm just trying to save trouble."

"But this is for cars that have been illegally parked," interrupted the bobbie.

"I know it is," said Lazzolo. "If you'll just listen I can explain everything."

"But you're not illegally parked," the cop broke in.

EXPLANATIONS

"That's what I'm trying to explain," said Lazzolo. "I'm not parked illegally—yet. But I will be pretty soon."

"I don't understand," said the policeman.

"I've got to catch a train at Waterloo station," Lazzolo said. "If I park my car there, you will tow it away."

"Then don't park it there, sir," said the policeman.

SAVE TROUBLE

"I'm not getting through to you," said the artist. "If I park at Waterloo station you'll tow my car away and park it in here. I'm trying to save both of us trouble by parking it here now."

The bobbie thought a moment.

"I'm sorry, sir," he said with a note of finality. "You just can't park here. It's against all regulations."

Giving up the battle, Lazzolo drove to Waterloo station, parked it in a no parking zone and caught his train.

When he returned yesterday, his car was gone.

"I went straight to the pound," he said today, "and of course my car was there, parked where I tried to park it in the first place."

He paid his fine of two pounds ($5.00). Before he drove away, the artist said:

"I'd have been willing to pay the fine to begin with."

The new order speeds the ouster of deviates by allowing offenders in certain kinds of serious cases to resign from the service and escape court martial.

NEW YORK (AP)—The following public notice appeared today in the New York Times: "Abbe Lane Cugat, also known as Abbe Lane, my wife, having left my bed and board on March 23, 1964, notice is being given to all that I am not to be held responsible for any bills, debts, purchases and any and all obligations of any kind incurred by my wife as of the aforesaid date."

It was signed "Xavier Cugat, 200 E. 57th Street."

JFK: A bronze bust of President John F. Kennedy has been presented to his widow for the Kennedy Memorial Library.

It is a gift of the late president's three military aides: Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton of the Army, Capt. Tazewell T. Shepard Jr. of the Navy and Brig. Gen. Godfrey T. McHugh of the Air Force.

The sculptor is Felix de Weldon, who designed the two Jima monument in Arlington, Va.

The bust will be placed in the White House Cabinet room until the library at Cambridge, Mass. is completed. A plaque bears this quotation from Kennedy's inaugural address:

THE QUOTATION

"Now the trumpet summons us again—not as a call to bear arms, though arms we need—not as a call to battle, though embattled we are—but a call to bear the burden of a long twilight struggle, year in and year out, 'rejoicing in hope, patient in tribulation'—a struggle against the common enemies of man: tyranny, poverty, disease and war itself."

DEVIATES: The Navy has issued a toughly worded new order stressing that homosexuals "are security and reliability risks" and providing an avenue for getting them out of the service faster.

"Their prompt separation from the naval service is essential," said the order from Sec-

Aimed at Urban Snarls

Hope to Revive Transit Bills

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite previous setbacks and more obstacles ahead, House leaders hope to revive soon two major administration measures dealing with local and long distance transportation. They are more optimistic about their chances with an urban mass transit bill already passed by the Senate and now bottled up in the House Rules Committee. * * * Committee members agree that the bill will be cleared for a House vote if and when a nose-count of potential supporters indicates a fair chance of passage. Currently the measure is scheduled to reach the House floor late this month.

TRANSPORT SNARLS

It would set up a $500-million program designed to help untangle urban transportation snarls over a three-year period. The money would be used for outright grants to help cities and other public bodies buy transportation snarls over a three-year period. The money would be used for outright grants to help cities and other public bodies buy transportation equipment. It would be parceled out at the rate of $100 million the first year and $200 million each of the following two years.

As passed by the Senate more than a year ago, the bill carried a $750-million price tag, $375 million for grants to public bodies and $375 million in loan guarantees.

The long distance transportation bill twice has been rejected by the House Rules Committee, the most recent setback being by an 87 vote.

However, the rules committee chairman, Howard W. Smith, D-Va., said he expects another effort will be made soon to win clearance for floor consideration.

RELAX CONTROLS

The bill would relax some government controls over railroad freight rates and allow railroads to haul farm and fisheries products at rates more competitive with other forms of transportation. At the same time it would tighten Interstate Commerce Commission jurisdiction over rates on bulk commodities hauled by barge lines and other water carriers.

The administration reportedly promised the railroads action on the bill in exchange for settlement of the threatened rail strike.

Shocks British Friends

Half-Nude Scene Pays Off

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Janine Gray's shocked British friends will take more kindly to her attire in her second Hollywood film.

She's playing a lead with Robert Morse and George Maharis in "Quick, Before It Melts," a comedy set in Antarctica. Janine is quite properly covered up with sweaters over sweaters topped by parka.

prove it, I demonstrated how it would look with one party on and one off for the director, Arthur Hiller. He is a rather shy man and was a bit unnerved, but he sided with my argument.

So she did the scene pasty-less. It was a comedy sequence in which James Garner bursts into James Coburn's London apartment. Janine dresses hastily while the men engage in an argument, oblivious of her.

Janine, a shapely blonde with a haunting resemblance to Kim Novak, admitted that the reaction among friends and family in the isles was a bit testy.

MOTHER'S LETTER

"My parents were alarmed," she said. "My mother wrote me to ask what nasty kind of business I was engaged in. After I explained the whole thing, they weren't so concerned."

"But I was really surprised at the reaction among my friends in the entertainment business when I returned to London. They said, 'Really, Janine, did you have to do that sort of thing?' They seemed to think I had done something terrible."

She has no regrets whatsoever, especially after seeing the press coverage her strip drew in England.

"I don't know how else I could ever have gotten such exposure (sic)," Janine commented. The hubbub led to "Quick, Before It Melts," and now she hopes to stay in Hollywood for more roles.

State to Improve M15

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department reports work will start Monday on a $484,743 modernization project on nearly 10 miles of M15 in Tuscola County, near the Genesee County line. A 15-mile detour will be in effect throughout the summer during the work.

In the 30 years from 1920 to 1950, population increased 77 per cent in Mexico, 90 per cent in Central America, and 83 per cent in South America.

He Had a Banner Birthday

DECORAH, Iowa (AP)—Somebody flubbed and flags in honor of VE Day, the day of allied victory in Europe during World War II, were put up a day in advance yesterday.

When people telephoned Bill Walker, Chamber of Commerce manager, and Bob Bernatz, street commissioner, they were told:

"Today the flags are being flown in honor of Sam Sande's birthday. They also will be flown tomorrow in honor of VE Day."

Sam was a member of the crew that put up the flags.

Signs Indicate Johnson Has Confidence of Business World

By STEPHEN F. GREEN
HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—There were plentiful signs, as the Business Council began weekend meetings with high administration officials today, that President Johnson has gone far toward winning the confidence of business.

Several of the 100 top industrialists here for the council's spring conference—mostly Republicans—told reporters privately they feel Johnson has shown sympathy and understanding for the problems of business.

Some said they believed this view was widely held in the industrial and financial community.

MORE COMFORTABLE
One explained: "They feel a lot more comfortable with him than they did with President Kennedy.

"They think he really listens to them when he asks for their advice, and they know he always did ask advice from business friends, when he was senator and vice president."

The head of a far-flung retailing operation with headquarters in the Middle West told a newsman: "I just saw him in Athens (Ohio). He's a real charmer."

Johnson made a speech Thursday at Ohio University, Athens.

Said another: "He got off on the right foot with business men from the start by cutting the budget and promising a dollar-a-value for every taxpayer's dollar spent."

The $11.5-billion tax cut, part of the federal pay rolls, and the President's apparent appreciation of the role of corporate profits as a basic ingredient of economic growth were among other factors cited as appealing to business leaders.

Most of the council's active membership—which embraces many of the biggest names in industry—have had close contact with Johnson since he became president. Two of them, railroad president Stuart Saunders and auto manufacturer Henry Ford II, headed the Business Committee for Tax Reduction.

About one-third of the council's members were among the 70 prominent industrialists and financiers who were Johnson's guests at a White House dinner last week and heard the President pledge:

"For as long as I am president, the leaders of industry and finance are going to be welcome in this house."

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and several of his aides at the Justice Department were to address the council's closed meeting today on the implications for businessmen of the pending civil rights bill.

Other high government officials, including Chairman Walter W. Heller of the President's Council of Economic Advisors; Chairman William McG. Martin of the Federal Reserve Board; and Sargent Shriver, director of Johnson's attack on poverty, were on the weekend schedule.

SECRET — Mayor William H. Taylor places in a safe a sealed envelope containing two predictions made by Detroit magician Karrell Fox, right, about May 16 events. The contents will be revealed May 17 at Pontiac Central High during a 7:30 p.m. benefit performance, featuring Frank Fontaine, for the Columbia Avenue Boys' Club. Fox said he has foreseen the headlines that will appear in The Pontiac Press May 16 and the box score of the Pontiac Central-Flint Central baseball game that will be played that day.

S. Viet Vehicle, Crew Captured by Cambodia

SAIGON, Viet Nam (U-P) — A Cambodian tank knocked out a Vietnamese armored personnel carrier on the border today and captured the vehicle and its crew.

Military sources said at least 10 other Vietnamese vehicles were poised on the frontier, ready to move in to retake the personnel carrier if ordered to do so. It appeared doubtful, however, that the order would be given.

Cambodia, meanwhile, charged that 13 South Vietnamese armored vehicles crossed its border yesterday and attacked the village of Taey, in southeastern Cambodia two miles inside the frontier.

Military authorities in Phnom Penh, capital of Cambodia, said a rural guard and five villagers were killed at Taey.

It was not known how many men were aboard the M113 carrier or if there were any casualties. Such vehicles usually carry a crew of four and 15 soldiers. South Viet Nam's strongman premier, Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, said he regarded the incident as small and expressed hope that "it won't develop into anything bigger."

The armored carrier was reported hit miles south of Tay Ninh. It was part of an armored personnel company making a sweep along the border.

No Americans were involved in the new border incident.

Informants said the Cambodian M24 tank, apparently lying in wait and opened up on the Vietnamese armored car with a salvo from its 75mm recoilless rifle.

The tank then quickly moved up to the stricken vehicle, the sources said, and Cambodian soldiers surrounded it. Vietnamese at the scene did not report seeing any casualties.

City Show Star to Be 'Crazy'

Television Character to Aid Boys' Club

Frank Fontaine, known to millions only as Crazy Guggenheim is coming to Pontiac to help the Pontiac Boys' Club open its new branch on the northside.

Fontaine, who entertains weekly as "Crazy" on the Jackie Gleason TV show, will headline a benefit program at Pontiac Central High School Sunday, May 17.

An added note of mystery was provided yesterday by Karrell Fox, nationally known magician, who will also appear on the program.

Fox wrote out predictions of the Press headlines May 16 and the Pontiac Central-Flint Central baseball game to be played that day.

They were put in a sealed envelope and locked in a safe in the office of Mayor William H. Taylor Jr.

ON THE STAGE

The envelope will remain there until May 17, when Taylor will bring it directly to the first of two shows and present it to Fox on stage.

There will be shows at 7 and 9:30 p.m.

Also on the program are The Chantones, who record for Capital Records; the George Alfano Orchestra; and Robin Seymour, Detroit area disc jockey, who will be master of ceremonies.

Tickets are $2 for general admission and $2.50 for reserved seats.

SALE DOWNTOWN

They're on sale at the downtown and Pontiac Mall Grinnell Stores, all Pontiac fire stations, the downtown and Tel-Huron Osmun's Stores, Cley Haskill Photography Studio and the Boys' Club on East Pike.

"We hope to sell 5,000 tickets," said Cressy Larson, boys club director.

"We think we've got a wonderful show here and hope the citizens will support us."

Proceeds will be used to purchase furnishings and equipment for the new Columbia Avenue Boys' Club, which is slated for opening in about three weeks.

The club will serve some 4,000 youngsters on Pontiac's northside.

From the Press Box

All that remains now for Pontiac to have an entry in the United Football League in 1965 is for Pontiac itself to say so. At the meeting of the UFL franchisees a few weeks ago in Charleston, West Virginia, it was recorded into the minutes that Pontiac would have the first chance to accept or decline an entry for the 1965 season.

But Shelton, the local representative to the UFL meeting, is confident that Pontiac will accept the opportunity.

"Right now we are making plans for incorporation and the decision to sell stock at $10 per share has been okayed by the local businessmen who are interested in the football team," Shelton said.

He noted that Montreal, the newest entry in the league reported a working budget of $250,000. Other cities where the UFL has been successful like Toledo and Wheeling the budgets were set up for $125,000 and they have operated well in the black.

NEW FRANCHISES

Cleveland has retained its franchise but moving its operations into Canton, Ohio. Other league cities are Joliet, Ill., Grand Rapids and Indianapolis.

Some 40 Pontiac area businessmen have already pledged in excess of $50,000 for a Pontiac entry. Even though this is far short of the $100,000 goal, Shelton feels that sale of individual stock and interest shown by another 20 businessmen will put Pontiac in the league in 1965.

BASKETBALL NEXT

Along with UFL in football, the newest in minor league pro operations have started in basketball and baseball.

The Midwest Professional Basketball League which now has entries from Holland, Grand Rapids, Battle Creek, Chicago, Benton Harbor, Muskegon and Toledo has Pontiac people dickering for a franchise also.

Ray Noll, commissioner of the cage circuit in Grand Rapids, reports that a general league meeting is scheduled for early June and any bid from Pontiac would have to be made at that time.

Bob Bolton, Wallied Lake High coach who is stimulating interest for Pontiac's bid, shows in figures that franchise costs are relatively low and almost every club finished on the right side of the ledger in the first year of operation last year.

Initially, $1,500 is needed in escrow for a franchise and this is returned to the club after operation begins. The cost by teams to the league is $800 for operation and the expenses per game including player payroll is about $1,000.

It was noted that Battle Creek, last place entry in the league averaged 1,000 fans per game and managed to stay on the money making side of the ledger.

Bolton and several other basketball minded individuals in the area are looking for interest from at least 12 people.

"The successful franchises in the league were duties are dispersed figure about 12 people, for sound operation," said Bolton. He is hoping to make the trip to Grand Rapids in three weeks with a dozen names in pledges.

Speaking of the United Football League, United Baseball League and Midwest Basketball League, Grand Rapids and Toledo have entries in each.

As it is, this could all be molded together in a unique form type conference featuring the same cities to be represented in a sort of all-sports league.

The football, basketball and baseball operations could come under a single governing body with individual heads and be known as the United All-Sports League.

This would put the college style of seasonal competition into a unique intra-city conference. Who knows, it could be expanded to golf, swimming, track and a full schedule of sports.

Bolton holds the basketball interest. Separately they are interested in those who are interested.

POWER HITTER — Rookie outfielder Tony Oliva of the Minnesota Twins holds a cheese and cracker sandwich and his grand slam homer ball in one hand yesterday after the 9-1 win over Los Angeles. Oliva hit his sixth and seventh homers of the season. He is batting .427 with 18 RBIs.

Mother Helps Twins' Oliva

By The Associated Press

Credit Tony Oliva's mother and Fidel Castro for giving Minnesota the hottest all-around hitter in the American League today.

Oliva, the Twins' rookie right fielder, ranks second in the league with a .427 batting average.

He hammered two home runs, one of them a grand slam, six singles and drove in five runs. The output gave him a .561 average in his last seven games.

The 23-year-old Cuban would not even be in the United States today, let alone in the AL spotlight, if Mrs. Oliva hadn't offered some sage advice three years ago.

Oliva, in the country for the first time, was homesick and telephoned his mother for advice.

"You can come back any time; it is your home," Mrs. Oliva said. "But if you come here, you may not get permission to go back to the United States."

Fidel Castro, of course, was dictating departures at the time. That cured Oliva's homesickness.

Now it's Minnesota's opposition that is sick.

Three other games were played in the AL Thursday.

New York knocked off Washington 9-6, Cleveland overpowered Baltimore 9-4 and Boston whipped Detroit 7-3.

The Yankees got a tie-breaker single from Tom Tresh in the seventh and added two runs in the ninth for their victory over the Senators. New York tied the game 6-6 in the sixth when Bobby Richardson singled, stole second and scored on Hector Lopez' third hit of the night.

Former Yankee Bill Skowron hit a two-run homer in the first and helped put the Senators into a 6-5 lead in the fifth with a sacrifice fly.

Dick Howser rapped three singles and knocked in four runs as Jim Grant won his second game for the Indians against two losses. Howser brought home two runs in the sixth and another two in the eighth.

Unbeatable' Tiger Duo Fizzles

Bosox Rookies Lead 7-3 Win Over Detroit

Regan Fails to Post Second Win; Navarro Yields Home Run

DETROIT (AP) — The once almost unbeatable Detroit Tigers duo of manager Charlie Dressen and pitcher Phil Regan has fizzled.

Regan, the Tigers' biggest winner last year when he recorded 15 victories, was 13-3 after Dressen took over in June.

After pitching a nifty five-hitter in this year's opener, Regan has had four chances at a second victory. But he's fished each time, despite a creditable performance against Minnesota a couple of weeks back.

His latest failure came Thursday as Boston rookies: Dalton Jones and Tony Conigliaro connected for two-run homers to power the Red Sox to a 7-3 triumph.

Dressen cannot explain what Regan may be doing wrong. His only comment was "he's pitching in their alley," meaning he's letting some of the pitches slip into an area where the batters can get a good crack at the ball.

"We talked over the various Boston batters before the game," Dressen explained.

"And we thought we had Jones pretty well pegged. But Regan let one get away from him, and away it went."

Conigliaro's ninth-inning clutch hit off Julia Navarro.

Jones' homer, his fifth hit in the two-game set, gave the Red Sox a brief 2-0 lead.

But the Tigers scored their three runs in the bottom of the inning on four consecutive singles.

Batted in the first run, while Don Demeter chased home the other two. Both hit singles.

After the third-inning, Boston pitcher Jack Lamabe was almost invincible as he surrendered a sixth-inning single to Bill Freehan and set down the remaining 18 batters without any difficulty.

Robin Roberts and Mickey Lolich were the probable starters.

"I know Al Kaline, isn't hitting," Dressen admitted. "But I can't see where he's doing it except when he's swinging goes."

Kalene hasn't been given a crack at the good pitcher. He has drawn more than one-fourth of the walks issued to the team so far this year.

Godfrey outdistanced PNH's John Samulow by five yards on the final leg of the mile relay.

This gave the Vikings five points in the last event of the meet and broke a 52-0 tie.

Walied Lake now is 5-0 in the I-L.

Farmington's Dennis Hunt ran a 4:20.1 mile to lead the Falcons past Waterford, 62-47.

Kettering rolled past Bloomfield Hills, 72-37, and L'Anse Creuse tripped Romeo, 58-51.

Steve Pittner of Walied Lake was the only double winner.

Trade Rumors Hit Sagging Dodger 9

By The Associated Press

Officials of the Los Angeles Dodgers beginning to be concerned with the spattering start made by the defending world champions?

That seemed to be the big question today following two developments—still another loss by the w. k-hitting Dodgers, 2-1 to the Houston Colts Thursday night, and a trade report involving pitcher Johnny Podres.

Denied by the Dodgers, the report stated flatly that Colt officials had been offered Podres, who in his only appearance on April 25 was struck in the elbow by a Warren Spahn pitch and has been on the mound for only two innings this season.

"I know nothing whatsoever about it," said Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi. "I haven't talked to anyone on the Houston club. There's absolutely nothing to it."

The loss to the Colts was the 13th in 22 games for the Dodgers and left them six games behind the National League leading San Francisco Giants.

The Dodgers are in front of the Colts and New York Mets.

In all, the Dodgers have scored only 73 runs and hit only 14 homers—eight by Frank Howard, Maury Wills, who collected four hits against the Colts for a 300 batting average, is the only regular hitting over .300.

The team is batting .235, eighth in the league.

While the Dodgers were battered in their single in the eighth gave San Francisco a 7-4 edge over the Chicago Cubs, Clay Dalrymple's two-run homer started Philadelphia on the way to a 9-6 victory over Milwaukee.

St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 4-2 and the New York Mets mipped Cincinnati 3-2.

Dalrymple, hitless in 22 previous trips to the plate, had mired his homer off Hank Fischer following a single by John Herrnstein, snapping a 2-2 tie.

The Phillies took it from there. Herrnstein had a double and two singles which were night.

Art Mahaffey, tagged off by homers by Joe Torre and Eddie Mathews, needed Jack Baldschun's relief help before getting the victory.

The Giants went into the eighth trailing the Cubs 6-5, but singles by Jesus Alou and Willie Mays—the third hit for each—set up Haller's game-winning single off Lindy McDaniel.

National Open Qualifying Set

Expect 2,300 Golfers to Bid for 150 Berths

NEW YORK (AP)—Play will get under way May 25 to start reducing 2,300 entrants to 150 for the National Open golf championship.

The exact number of golfers who want to try for the title June 18-20 in Washington, D.C., won't be known until the entries are rechecked.

But the U.S. Golf Association said Thursday there are about 2,300, which falls short of the total the past two years.

Local qualifying for the Open will be May 26-28 at 59 locations while sectional qualifying is set for June 8-9.

The exact number of entrants—2,474—was set for the Open at Oakmont, Pa., in 1962. A total of 2,392 golfers entered last year for the tournament at Brookline, Mass. This year's Open will be held at the Congressional Country Club.

Among those golfers exempt from qualifying are the last five winners of the Open—defending champion Julius Boros, Jack Nicklaus, Gene Littler, Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper.

Titans Take Two From Alma College

ALMA (AP)—Detroit boosted its season baseball mark to 13-3 with 2-1 and 11-2 victories over Alma in a nonleague double-header Thursday.

Tom Engel's two-out homer highlighted a two-run rally in the seventh to give the Titans the opener. Detroit trailed 1-0 going into the inning when Rico Zuccaro slammed a triple and scored on Tom Siedlaczek's sacrifice fly. Engel's homer followed.

Bill Stanforth hurled a two-hitter to outduel Alma's Jim Bristol, who gave up four hits, including three by Zuccaro.

Arnie Jent pitched and baited Detroit to victory in the night-cap. He drove in three runs on three hits and fired a seven-hitter. Alma now owns a 4-13 record.

BOWLING

The Frank Jennings Trophy, emblematic of the championship in the Pontiac Traveling Classic League, will be presented tonight at the circuit's annual banquet.

Festivities are slated to begin at 7 p.m. in the 300 Bowl banquet room with the host house receiving the championship trophy.

"300" took the title last Sunday in the playoff final against Wonderland Lanes, after losing the first of the best-of-three matches.

Wonderland won 17-14 as Tim White scored 10 points on 256-247-680; but "300" offset White's efforts in the second and third matches for 22-11, 21-9 victories and the title.

Joe Foster's 660 and 638 bowling sparked the winners while Bob Murphy contributed 640 and 652 efforts. The victory was the first PTCL championship for "300."

RESET TOURNEY

The 300 Bowl High Scores Tournament has been reset for 3 p.m. May 17 to avoid a conflict with Mother's Day. A banquet will follow at 5 p.m.

Monroe Moore, whose appearance on the national television Make That Spare Show now has been set back until the summer series, qualified in the Greater Detroit Bowling Proprietors Association Masters Tournament last weekend.

He'll bowl at 6:30 p.m. next Friday in the 32-bowler, head-to-head eliminations against Bob Lukanowski. The competition is double elimination and will be held at Harbor Lanes.

Winners of the first round will bowl again at 9:30 p.m. that night while losers will go again at 11 p.m.

Final league results last week found the Lakewood Lanes team taking first place in that house's Ivy League. Bob Hockey's 186 average led the champions.

Vance Chapman, who had the season high series at 689, rolled 255-205-651 as anchor man for Huttenlocher Agency last week while the opponents (Bonded Insurance) had a 221-211-621 by George Gleason, their anchorman.

The Wonderland Lanes

Ladies Classic had a 222-525 by Loretta Breen in last week's action which also saw Thompson's Inn finish in first place.

The Airway Queens League ended the season with the final holding a comfortable first place lead. League secretary Fran McCallum hit 224-541 to lead the final day's action.

Mable Bush had 202-514 and Naoma Johnston 515 among the other top scores.

ELKS TOURNAMENT

There were no changes among the top three leaders as the Elks #810 eighth annual Mixed Doubles Tournament concluded last weekend.

Mildred Wilhelm and Joseph Schwarz of Ferndale and the Royal Oak Lodge won the tournament with a 1311 total.

Pontiac's Eutha Bradshaw and Nelson Fields were the runner-up team with 1283.

Ruth Hartman of Ann Arbor came in last weekend and hit 245-244-671 to boost her and William Koeller into fourth place. She took women's high game and high series honors for the tourney.

Men's honors went to Pontiac's Frank Phelps with 257 and Royal Oak's Dick Weiss with 663.

Player Takes Lead in Colonial Tourney

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Gary Player, first round leader in the $75,000 Colonial National Invitational Golf Tournament with a crisp two-under-par 68, says he will be happy with straight par from here on out.

"I'm not greedy," the slim little South African said with a grin. "I'll take three 70s."

The heavy wet weather which hampered many of the big names in Thursday's opening round was predicted again for today. Accurate driving, always important on the 7,122-yard Colonial, was especially vital because of the weather.

Player said his driving "was the best I've ever done in this country. They all went up the middle. I picked a spot on the fairway and the ball just seemed to go there."

One stroke behind was scrappy Tommy Jacobs of Bermuda Dunes, Calif., who also played a near-perfect round off the tee. Both Jacobs and Player were in the rough on only one drive, and they each took par on those holes.

SUB-PAR
They were the only two players in the 72-man field to shoot sub-par golf. The last time par proved so tough for an opening day was in the 1963 U.S. Open.

Groupe at par 70 were Gary Brewer of Dallas, Ray Floyd of St. Andrews, Ill., Al Bessell of Merchantville, N.J., and Jerry Edwards of Fort Worth.

Arnold Palmer blew to a 74, 75, one stroke ahead of Jack Nicklaus at 76. Defending champ Julius Boros shot a 77.

Little Hawk Earns Award

MONTREAL (AP)—The big bruising Chicago Black Hawks, known for their rock 'em and sock 'em style of play, had some of their image shattered today with the selection of Ken Wharram as the top gentleman of the National Hockey League.

He was voted the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy.

The Hawks set a league record when they were charged with 1,116 penalty minutes during the 1963-64 season. Wharram served only 18 minutes.

Besides being a nice guy, Wharram is a whiz of a hockey player. He was picked for the right wing post on the NHL's first team after playing the full schedule of 70 games, scoring 39 goals and getting 32 assists for 71 points; Ken is a 5-foot-9, 155 pounder, a mighty mix among his hulking teammates.

CLEAN PLAY

The Lady Byng Trophy is awarded to the player who best combines effectiveness and clean play.

Wharram is the first Hawk to win the trophy since Bill Mosienko was selected 19 years ago.

Wharram received a total of 120 of a possible 100 points in the voting by sports writers and sportscasters from the six NHL cities.

Dave Keon of Toronto, winner of the Byng the previous two seasons, was second with 69 points. Camille Henry of New York was third with 50. High-scoring Bobby Hull of Chicago was fourth with 28.

Wharram collected $1,500 for his latest honor. He's made a total of $5,000 over his salary. He drew $2,000 for being selected for the All-Star team, $750 for being a member of the second place team, and $750 for the losing semifinal in the Stanley Cup playoffs.

Kettering Linksters Set School Record

Kettering's golf team, set a school record for a four-man squad by trimming Romeo, 152-198, yesterday at Pontiac Country Club.

Jim Howe and Rick Hurd paced the team with 37s; Mike Kemmerer turned in a 38, and Warren Smith added a 40. The old record for a foursome was 158.

In other matches, Detroit Sacred Heart downed Orchard Lake St. Mary, 3-2, and Milford turned in a 155-163 decision over West Bloomfield.

Teeing Off

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

In a picturesque setting on Noble road just a short distance northeast of Oxford, an old barn with adjacent silo stands overlooking 3,098 yards of fairways.

The trees covering the acreage are evidence as to why the sign over the barn says Mulberry Hills Golf Club.

The barn isn't really a barn as such. It has the entire frame work of an old barn but now after two years the conversion into a golf course clubhouse is shaping into form.

The smell of horses, cows or barnyard animals are gone, and the tales about the tee shots on 5th 6th or 7th holes hitting Bessie the cow are strictly mythical.

The good old country atmosphere still prevails at Mulberry Hills however. The big steel-bar door that once separated the horse stable from the cow pens now is well finished to separate the grill from the equipment shop.

The locker rooms for men and women are still in the process of being built and work has started on a lounge where the 44-foot silo will be the focal point.

We suggested to Franklin 'Hank' Clayton that the silo be attached to the lounge and that a spiral staircase be built to the top, and from an observatory tower the entire course could be seen with a telescope. This would make a few of the mulligan golfers more honest.

At any rate, the two years' growth of the fairways and greens are ahead of schedule, and the nine holes are more deceiving than their appearance when standing on the tees.

THAT 5TH HOLE

One could go along with respectability for seven holes but then the eighth and ninth holes could bring out all the golfers in one sudden burst.

The longest holes are four to six where pars of 5-4-5 are required but as pretty as the 8th hole is, its treachery would take its toll if the golfer isn't straight, high and accurate.

About 100 yards from the tee is a pond that could be as big as Lake Erie for the golfer who hits the ground hugging sizzler and another 50 yards more are two huge mulberry trees which could return a good drive right back into the water.

Another 200 yards away is the green sitting picturesquely on a plateau, but the troubles don't end there. The slightest over-club and an artery of that lake on the front side will cost a penalty stroke.

The play at Mulberry hasn't been heavy but even so, no one has managed to birdie the hole in two years. In fact as far as is known par-36 has still been the best score reported.

The course had one ace in its short life on the 167-yard 7th hole, but Clayton is thinking about some sort of ceremony for the first affirmed birdie or eagle turned in on No. 8.

Maybe the hole is too tough for the average golfer," says Clayton, "but a few of the better golfers who have been out here like the challenge."

Clayton is already laying plans for another nine in the apple orchard area of the acreage and for converting the top of the barn into a dining area.

There are openings for league and open golf play is available at Mulberry Hills and there is the special honor for being the first bird to birdie that 8th hole.

P.S., with two penalty strokes we know of one writer whose first crack at the par-4 and 358 yard hole was a fat 9 strokes.

SHORT PUTTS

Mrs. Queenie Wickstrom of Oxford is bewildered about a seemingly priceless trophy she has in her possession.

She went to dispose of rubbish this week and returned home with a shiny trophy. It wasn't for having the most or cleanest rubbish, but she just happened to find it at the dump.

Inscribed on the cup is "SPOE Thomas Trophy, State Golf Tournament, Pontiac, 1922."

On the other side is listed the name of only one recipient, Leo Archambault, September, 1940.

Heads Pro Mat Card

Professional wrestling returns to Pontiac Saturday night after a two-week absence, and sharing top billing on the card will be Leaping 'Larry' Chene and Ricky Crusher Cortez.

Other bouts have Louie Kline meeting Johnny Gates, Bill Ledger battling Don Barnes, Miigle Pancho Lopez and Little Brutus are paired in the fourth bout.

The first match will start at 9 p.m. at the National Guard Armory.

$43⁴⁰ A MONTH

Based on manufacturer's list price for 3-door sedan with one third down at 6% for 36 months. Fresh air heater, turn signals, oil filter, self-adjusting brakes, electric windshield wipers, and steel belts included. Wheelwell fairs extra.

No wonder Charlie's bustin' with pride! Falcon's outselling the "Big Three" and other compacts by almost 2 to 1. And we mean to keep it that way—with low, money-saving prices you just won't be able to resist!

Enjoy the widest choice in the compact field—17 different Falcon models. Enjoy the newest styling—Falcon has a new total performance look for '64. And Falcon has the plushiest ride—thanks to wider rear tread, improved suspension and additional insulation.

If you really want to go, specify the optional 164-hp V-8—the kind that enabled Falcon to win both its classes in this year's Monte Carlo Rallye. Another sporty option is a 4-speed stick shift. M59 CONSTRUCTION — This photo taken at M59 and Pontiac Lake Road looking southeast shows a portion of the 3.4-mile M59 construction zone between Elizabeth Lake and Airport roads. The $1.3-million State Highway Department project will widen the existing two-lane road to five lanes. Work started in January and the road is scheduled to be open to through traffic by Labor Day. Local traffic only is permitted now. Paving is slated to begin about May 15 in the area of the new bridge west of Crescent Lake Road and between Pontiac Lake and Crescent Lake roads. When these two sections are completed, paving will begin at the west end of the project and proceed eastward to Elizabeth Lake Road. The road project combined with school construction program and the expanded water system project, both also in progress, total nearly $15 million.

WATER PROJECT STOCKPILE — Stored on M59 near the township hall are hundreds of water mains, pipe joints and miscellaneous other materials to be used in Waterford Township's expanded water system now under construction. The project will interconnect the existing 19 separate water systems and make township water available to 85 per cent of the population. Presently, there are 4,050 customer connections servicing about 30 per cent of the population. Besides joining the existing systems, the project will include construction of three water storage facilities with a capacity of 8.25 million gallons.

Three Major Constructions

Waterford Projects Total $15 Million

By JOE MULLEN
Three major construction programs totaling nearly $15 million are in progress in Waterford Township. Included are the $7.35-million water project which will interconnect the township's 10 existing water systems, a $6.25-million school building program and the $1.3-million M59 (Highland Road) widening project.

Water system construction got under way last week. Completion is slated within a year.

Some 135 miles of water main will be laid to interconnect the present systems and make township water available to 85 per cent of the population.

Now there are 4,050 customer connections with an average of 3.7 persons per connection. This represents 30 per cent of the population.

3 STORAGE FACILITIES
Besides joining the existing systems, the water project will include construction of three storage facilities with a capacity of 8.25 million gallons.

An underground storage tank at Whitfield near Maceday Lake will contain 6 million gallons.

A 1.5 million gallon capacity tank will be erected at Shaddick and Mark and a 750,000 gallon elevated tank is slated for the Main-Walton area.

Presently, a 75,000-gallon capacity tank on Josephine Street is the only storage facility.

WATER MAINS
Mains ranging in size from 6 to 36 inches in diameter have been delivered to numerous township locations. They will be laid at a depth of 7 feet.

All mains will be laid on county roads. Temporary detours will be imposed but no major traffic rerouting is anticipated.

A federal grant of $500,000 will be applied to the cost of the program and the remaining cost is being financed through a $6.85-million bond issue.

The bonds were sold March 31 to the First of Michigan Corp. at an interest rate of 3.75 per cent over 30 years.

CONNECTION FEES
Revenue from connection fees and water use charges will retire the bonds.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works is acting as agent for the township on the water project.

Construction work on the school system's $6.25-million school building program over the next five years began early this year.

The building program calling for six new school buildings and eight additions to existing schools was approved at the polls last June.

NEW SCHOOLS

Under construction now are new elementary schools in Section 12 and 21 of the township and additions to Waterford Township High School, Cray Junior High School and five elementary schools.

All these projects are slated for completion by school opening in September.

The new school in Section 12 is on Beacham and will be named Silver Lake Elementary School. The Section 21 school on Farm Road will be called Riverside Elementary School.

Additions presently are being made to Burt, Cooley, Grayson, Leggett and Monteth elementary schools.

LARGEST PHASE

The largest single phase of the school construction program will be a new junior high school north of Loon Lake.

Construction on this $2.5-million facility is scheduled to begin in June with completion set for September 1965.

A $4.25-million bond issue will finance the total construction program. A subsequent $2-million bond issue will finance furnishings in the new units.

The M59 project involves widening of the road from two to five lanes between Elizabeth Lake and Airport roads, a 3.4 mile stretch.

LOCAL TRAFFIC

Work began in January and the road is scheduled to be open to through traffic by Labor Day. Local traffic only is permitted now.

A new bridge over the Clinton River west of Crescent Lake Road is slated for completion by June 15.

The five-lane bridge replaces the former two-lane structure which was dismantled in January.

Paving is slated to begin also between Pontiac Lake and Crescent Lake roads.

WEST END

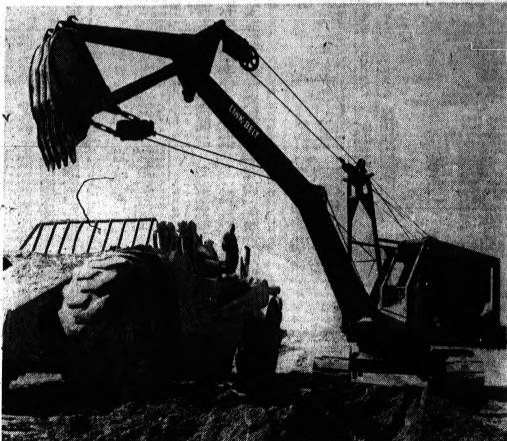

When this is completed, paving will begin at the west end of the project and proceed eastward to Elizabeth Lake Road.

The road-widening is a State Highway Department project.

NEW BRIDGE — The five-lane bridge under construction over the Clinton River west of Crescent Lake Road is scheduled for completion by June 15. A major phase of the M59 road widening project, the new bridge replaces the former two-lane bridge which was dismantled last January when work on the road began. Construction of the bridge necessitated a restriction on-through traffic. Local traffic, however, has been permitted in the 3.4-mile construction zone between Elizabeth Lake and Airport roads.

DITCHING OPERATION — The rumble of heavy equipment has become a part of the routine for those living or working in the vicinity of the M59 construction project. Here a giant earth-moving machine combines with a power shovel in a ditching operation just north of Pontiac Lake Road. Local traffic has been allowed to proceed through the 3.4-mile construction zone since the project began in January.

READY FOR MAINS — Trenching machines set to burrow into the ground an even seven feet are being utilized by crews laying water mains in Waterford Township. The task of laying 135 miles of water main began last week. Mains range in size from 6 to 36 inches in diameter. All mains will be laid on county roads. Temporary detours will be imposed due to the project but no major traffic rerouting is anticipated. Completion of the entire township water project is slated within a year.

HIGH SCHOOL ADDITION — Construction of the addition to Waterford Township High School is proceeding on schedule and is slated for completion by September. The addition to the rear of the existing building will provide six new classrooms and allow expansion of several existing facilities. These include the library, cafeteria, instrumental music room and drafting room. Also scheduled for expansion are the metal, wood, power mechanics and auto shops. The WTHS addition is a part of the school system's $6.25-million building program to meet the needs of a rapidly growing school district.

SCHOOL GOING UP — Construction of the Silver Lake Elementary School is proceeding on schedule with completion slated for the start of classes in September. This new elementary school is one of six new school buildings and eight additions included in the Waterford school system's $6.25-million building program. Approved last June by the voters, the building program will span a five-year period. Presently under construction are two new elementary schools, additions to Waterford Township High School and Cray Junior High School and five elementary school additions. All will be ready this fall.

THERE'S A HOLE—The family cat was in the hole at the back of his house yesterday. So Moe Wroten (right) of 4740 W. 10 Mile, Novi, and his wife and neighbors and Novi police spent five hours trying to get Fluffy out of the foot-wide 35-foot deep hole. Hero of the day was Robert Sutter (left) of the Anti-Cruelty Association, who brought Fluffy out on the end of a "cat pole."

Racial Justice Asked by LBJ

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—President Johnson, touring the Deep South, called today for "justice among the races." And he suggested that much of the South will find racial peace "Before the end of racial strife in the cities of the North."

Johnson made his dramatic appeal for the civil rights cause in an address prepared for a breakfast meeting with members of the Georgia Legislature.

His remarks, canvassing what he termed the "many troubles" of the South, were certain to be regarded as unusually significant.

Winding up a six-state tour of poverty-pocked Appalachia, the President suggested that in searching for racial justice, Georgia and the South "have a sure and faithful guide—the Constitution of the United States."

He declared: "Because the Constitution requires it—and because justice demands it—we must protect the constitutional rights of all of our people."

"For no one of us is fully free until all of us are fully free. And the rights of no single American are truly secure until the rights of all Americans are secure."

Johnson said that "racial problems have deep roots in Southern soil." However, he emphasized his view that such problems are not peculiar to any single section, saying: "They also trouble the passions of men on the shores of Maryland, in the streets of Philadelphia and in the streets of New York."

GOP in State to Choose 48 for Convention

Wide Support Shown for Romney to Lead Favorite-Son Group

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Michigan Republicans met today in Grand Rapids to choose 48 delegates to the GOP National convention. Overwhelming support was indicated for Gov. George W. Romney as favorite-son leader of the delegation.

Backers of Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, however, sought to seat at least a handful of delegates pledged for their man for the 1964 presidential nomination.

The 48 Michigan delegates will be chosen tomorrow.

Most observers believed Goldwater would land only four or five delegates pledged to vote for him on the first ballot.

On a recent visit to Detroit Goldwater predicted he would land 18 votes.

NOT CANDIDATE

Romney repeatedly has insisted he is not a candidate for the nomination, although acknowledging he would accept a draft.

Romney has requested the Michigan delegation to "keep its powder dry" by going unpledged to the national convention at San Francisco in July.

The GOP state central committee already has resolved support for the governor as the favorite son.

FORMER 'BIRCHER'

This district is headed by Richard Durant, a former member of the John Birch Society who has clashed with Romney over political philosophy.

Other Goldwater delegates may be chosen in Saturday morning caucuses by the First District in Wayne County and by traditionally conservative southwestern Michigan districts.

Rain, Cooler for Weekend

Occasional showers and cooler temperatures are forecast for the weekend, the lows near 52 and the highs about 72. Precipitation will total less than an inch in showers during the period. Sunday is expected to be fair and mild, the weatherman said.

GMTC Sets Sales Record

All-Time April High for Retail Deliveries

Domestic retail deliveries of trucks and buses built by GMC Truck & Coach Division hit an all-time April high, Calvin J. Werner, vice president of General Motors and divisional general manager, announced.

Last month's deliveries totaled 9,811 units. This represented a 20.6 per cent gain over the corresponding month of 1963 and set a new April delivery record.

The April sales figure was also the best for any month for GMC Truck & Coach since October, 1951.

Earlier this week, General Motors announced the sale of more cars in April than in any month in its 55-year history.

GM sold 422,517 new cars in April, well ahead of the previous high mark of 414,843 set in October, 1963.

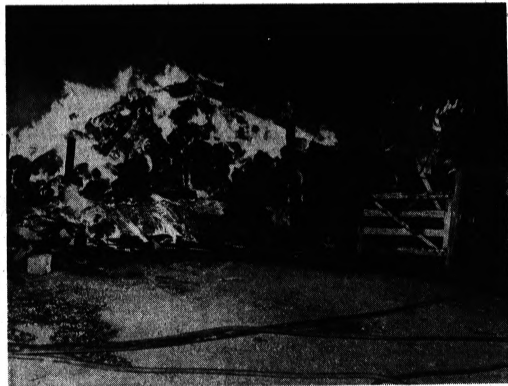

Pontiac Motor Division also reported that Pontiac and Tempest sales set a new record. April sales totaled 86,187, the seventh consecutive monthly sales record since the introduction of 1964 models.

Greek Leftists Protest

U. S. Fleet Presence

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Greece's Moscow-line United Democratic Left party today assailed the presence of U.S. 6th Fleet unit in Greek ports and asked the government to oust them immediately from Greek waters.

Several hundred leftist demonstrators last night picketed the ships anchored at Piraeus Bay near Greece's major port of Piraeus.

VISIBLE FOR MILES—Flames shot hundreds of feet in the air from a raging barn fire at 1570 S. Rochester Road, about a mile south of the Rochester village limits last night. Some 60 firemen from three departments, Rochester, Brooklands and Avondale, saved an adjacent empty cattle barn and nearby house. Lost in the $25,000 fire, besides the main barn, were 30 hogs and 2,300 bales of hay. The building was on the old W. A. Fisher farm, now owned by Mount Elliott Cemetery Association, Detroit.

Hopes Ride on Dirksen Changes

No Rights Bill Debate Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders announced today there would be no session tomorrow in the civil rights debate. It was another sign that pressure through prolonged sessions was easing off.

Senators applauded when Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant leader, said the Senate would recess at the close of today's business until Monday.

The Senate has met every Saturday since the debate started March 9 except for the Easter weekend.

On one Saturday, the leaders could not obtain a quorum, but they were able to do so on all the other occasions.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, assistant Democratic leader and floor manager of the bill, has expressed hope the talks will produce agreement on a package of amendments that will make it possible to muster the required two-thirds majority to choke off a filibuster by Southern opponents.

He said he saw little chance of making headway in the Senate debate, now in its 51st day.

Today's study was of changes Dirksen wants in the Public Accommodations section.

A key figure in negotiations aimed at breaking the Senate's impasse over the House-passed measure, Dirksen already has presented 60 proposed amendments to other sections in conferences held in his office this week.

Participating in the conferences have been Senate leaders of both parties and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and his top aides in the civil rights field.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, assistant Democratic leader and floor manager of the bill, has expressed hope the talks will produce agreement on a package of amendments that will make it possible to muster the required two-thirds majority to choke off a filibuster by Southern opponents.

He said he saw little chance of making headway in the Senate debate, now in its 51st day.

Dirksen told newsmen the presentation of his amendments to the section of the bill prohibiting discrimination in privately owned places of public accommodation would mark "the end of the trail as far as my proposals are concerned."

335-Vote Edge for Wellbaum

City Election Recount Proceeds at Fast Pace

With 12 precincts left to be counted today, Emmett S. Wellbaum maintained a 335-vote margin over former Mayor Robert A. Landry in the recount of votes cast April 20 for District 7 City Commission candidates.

The Oakland County Board of Canvassers has been proceeding at a much faster pace than first predicted by county officials.

Canvassers resumed the recount early this morning at Lincoln Junior High School with hopes that it would be completed today.

When the board quit late yesterday afternoon, it had covered 31 of Pontiac's 43 precincts. When the recount started Tuesday, county officials expected to cover four or five precincts per day.

Wellbaum, a write-in candidate, beat Landry by 351 votes according to results certified by the city's board of canvassers.

SINCE SWORN IN

Wellbaum has since been sworn in as the District 7 commissioner. Landry, who was the District 7 incumbent April 20, asked for the recount.

Results of the 12 precincts recounted yesterday showed Wellbaum losing eight votes, bringing the total to 167 votes last so far.

Landry's attorney, Milton R. Henry, has challenged the vast majority of votes for Wellbaum on grounds that his last name alone, without an initial or first name, does not sufficiently identify "what Wellbaum" the vote was cast for.

Canvassers ruled they will accept the last name alone as valid, but Landry and Henry have indicated they will contest this in a court suit.

Wayne Police Seeking Link With Shooting of 2 Virginia Officers

DETROIT (AP)—A suspect in the slaying of two Fredericksburg, Va., policemen was arrested today following a high-speed police chase through two suburbs that ended with a fatal collision.

Sgt. Robert Trower of suburban Wayne police said the captured man, badly hurt in the crash, was identified as Bruce Walter Leikett, 26, address unknown.

Two guns and handcuffs taken from two slain Fredericksburg, Va., policemen were found in Leikett's car, Trower said.

Trower said Leikett's car was pursued because it answered the description of a car reportedly driven by Lewis Henry Wells, San Quentin prison parolee.

Police at Fredericksburg since said Wells was no longer considered a suspect.

SPOTTED IN WAYNE

The car driven by Leikett was spotted about 2:30 a.m. in Wayne.

Lt. Bert Haslam and patrolman Andy Spisak said Leikett stopped at their order and then started off again and they pursued him at 100 miles an hour.

In suburban Inkster, the fleeing car and another collided at an intersection. The other driver, Joe David Ferrell, 21, of Taylor Township, was killed.

Leikett's car was a 1964 model (Ford) carrying New Jersey license plates, police said.

Haslam said he and Spisak were about to pass the car when they noticed the New Jersey plates.

Children's Art Is 'Priceless' With Tag Off

LOS ANGELES (AP)—While reporters and photographers buzzed about a group of artists discussed how much their work was worth.

"I'll take $10, myself," said one.

"No, $200,000," said another. Actor Cary Grant and film director Jean Negulesco were among those who noticed the work—a 14-by-3-foot mural—and made inquiries about buying it.

It's a watercolor called "A Trip to the Airport," and it was done by 28 Los Angeles first graders. Grant and Negulesco spotted it (on separate occasions) at Los Angeles International Airport.

WAS PRICELESS

It turned out to be priceless.

No one knew whose it was, to ask the price.

The tag with the artists' identification had fallen off the back. A citywide hunt for the creators ended when teachers at Aldama elementary school recognized it as the mural of Bonnie Hallacre's first-grade class.

The airport, sponsors of a children's art display, returned the work to the artists yesterday.

AP Photos

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman, feeling just fine thank you on his 80th birthday today, solved problems right and left but confessed that a worry was gnawing at him.

The worry: What will Bess, the former first lady whom he left back home in Independence, Mo., think of his performance in Washington?

"She is always afraid," he said, "that I will insult somebody I am not supposed to insult."

So far Truman, special guest of President Johnson and the nation, has avoided insulting anybody.

But he has given an elder statesman's advice on several problems including:

1. How long should a president work each day. Fourteen hours, Truman said flatly.

AVOID ASSASSINATION

2. How can a president avoid being assassinated as he rides through crowds. "Put back the two secret service guards who used to ride on the rear bumpers," Truman said.

Truman arrived from Independence yesterday in an Air Force plane, and quickly went to Johnson's defense on the handling of bound dogs. The President had got into some hot water recently by lifting "Him" and "Her" by the ears.

When a newsmen inquired whether that was the way to handle hounds, Truman asked:

"Have you ever had any hounds?"

"No," the newsmen said.

"Then what the hell are you hollering about?" Truman said.

"That's the way to handle hounds."

Ex-President Is 80 Today

Employees May Walk Out at Two Food Store Chains

A possible strike against A&P and Wrigley's supermarket chains, both with a score of outlets in Oakland County, may be called by the Retail Store Employees Union.

Herchel Womack, executive secretary of the union's Local 876 in Detroit said today the two companies would be faced with a walkout unless new contracts are negotiated.

Some 14,000 members of the local, which has a jurisdiction covering eight counties of southeastern Michigan and about 600 food stores, will vote on strike action this weekend. This would authorize union officials to call a strike at any time.

Womack said old contracts covering Kroger, Food Fair and National supermarkets have also expired but the main union effort will be directed at gaining settlements with A&P and Wrigley.

"They're the ones refusing to negotiate and the others are watching them to see what happens," he said.

Womack said the union proposes a pay increase of 35 cents an hour, up from present maximum of $2.24 an hour for store clerks and $2.29 an hour for checkers.

But he listed the key issue as establishing a pension plan covering both full and part-time store employees, and extending health insurance, holiday and vacation benefits to part-timers.

"We don't want the public to get panicky," said Womack, who told the union's plan will be to strike only one chain at a time so shoppers can turn to other stores for food.

The same union last fall called a strike against several Detroit area Montgomery Ward stores which the union won.

Supervisors Assigned to Committees

Pontiac's new appointees to the County Board of Supervisors were named to committees yesterday by Board Chairman Delos Hamlin.

Edward A. Maier was assigned to the board's aviation committee, Howard O. Powers to drain committee, Victor Woods to civil defense committee, and Mrs. Arnold Simpson to the tuberculosis sanatorium committee.

Maier also was appointed by Hamlin to the county's special committee to study use of the downtown courthouse property.

The city commission sought to have one of its board appointees placed on the county's ways and means committee.

As controllers of county finances, this is considered one of the board's most important committees.

REQUEST DIRECTED

The commission last Tuesday directed Mayor William H. Taylor Jr. to request that one of the city's supervisors be placed on ways and means.

Commissioner Robert C. Irvin pointed out that the city is the largest contributor of county taxes, paying about 16 per cent of the county budget annually.

When Hamlin made the appointments to ways and means two weeks ago, he said he couldn't reserve a seat for a new Pontiac supervisor, as he did on other committees.

According to Hamlin, prior experience in county government is required to serve on ways and means.

NO CHANGES NOW

He said the committee is filled now, and he has no intention of changing it at least for another year.

3 File Petitions for School Post

Both incumbents and a former Junior Chamber of Commerce president have filed petitions for the two seats on the Waterford Township Board of Education at issue in the June 8 election.

Robert Fields and John Boardman, whose terms expire next month, both seek reelection. Also in the race is Dean A. Salley, 6229 Jameson, last year's president of the Waterford Jaycees.

Petition filers will not officially be considered until dates until signatures are verified Monday, according to James Ben Herder, assistant superintendent of Waterford Schools.

The candidate filing deadline is 4 p.m. tomorrow.

Besides the selection of two school board members, the election also will include three community college proposals.

Unregistered voters must register at the township clerk's office by 5 p.m. Monday to be eligible to vote June 8.

A cooling trend is expected from the Plains into the upper Great Lakes region while temperatures over the Rockies and Great Basin will rise. Little change expected elsewhere.

DOG AFTER STUDENT—A Harvard student takes off just ahead of a police dog straining at the leash as authorities seek to break up a noisy demonstration last night at Cambridge, Mass. The affair started when students gathered outside Radcliffe women's dormitories and disrupted traffic. When the police appeared with dogs, the students started singing civil rights songs.

To Buy Courthouse Site

County Declines Offer

Oakland County officials yesterday turned down an offer from Sun Oil Co. to purchase the county's old downtown courthouse site for a service station.

Meanwhile, the County Board of Auditors obtained options to purchase approximately 45 acres adjacent to the County Service Center.

Sun Oil Co. offered the county $100,000 for the old courthouse site at Huron and Saginaw. The site, now being used by the county as a parking lot, has been appraised at $275,000.

The oil company proposed to operate the parking lot in conjunction with a gas station it would build on the corner.

AT DIRECTION

The Service Center options were obtained at the direction of the County Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means and Buildings and Grounds committees.

The county now holds 60-day options on the property.

POSSIBLE EXPANSION

Chairman of the Board of Auditors Daniel T. Murphy Jr. said the county needs the property in the event that the Children's Village has to be expanded.

The village's present site is deemed adequate for building needs through 1969.

All three members of the board of auditors, Murphy, Secretary Robert Lilly and Vice Chairman John Austin, have agreed that they don't think the county should be in the real estate business. Several of the county supervisors have expressed similar feelings.

"We are trying to get rid of surplus property and consolidate our holdings at the County Service Center and in south Oakland County," said Austin.

"We plan to get out of the real estate business as soon as possible."

OFFICE BUILDING

The county also is trying to sell its five-story office building at 1 Lafayette. Most of the departments have been moved to the service center. The building was appraised at $220,000.

County officials presently are talking with Berkeley School District officials about the purchase of a 25-acre site in Southfield for a new south Oakland health center.

The school district has offered to sell the parcel for about $200,000. It is located at Greenfield and Catalpa.

The county's present health center in Royal Oak is no longer deemed adequate to meet health needs in south Oakland county.

Bride Sets Outfit of Suntan-on-Buff

DELRAY BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — John Dawson says his daughter's marriage tomorrow will be "a simple and just old-fashioned home wedding."

Nearly everybody there, except the lawyer conducting the service, will be naked.

Sixteen-year-old, black-haired Sissy Dawson met Charles D. Morrow, 23, a sailor, two years ago and it was love at first sight.

Morrow's ship is in dry dock so he has time for marriage and a short honeymoon in Miami Beach.

At 4 p.m. Saturday, Miss Dawson, wearing a white filmy veil to set off her limited-suntan and clutching an armful of fresh flowers, will marry Morrow who will have nearly combed his hair and shaved.

OUTDOOR CEREMONY

The outdoor ceremony beneath the slash pines and near an Olympic-sized "bathing-suits - not allowed" pool will be at Miss Dawson's home, the Sunny Acres Lodge Camp.

Dawson, a lean man whose hair is turning gray, is owner of the camp and secretary-treasurer of the American Nudist Camp Association.

Dawson will be the couple's best man, and he is determined the wedding will be dignified. He will have to carry the bride's ring in his hand because he won't have a pocket to put it in.

"The press will try to make a football of this thing," he said. Only a few selected newsmen were invited to the wedding. Dawson feels newspapers were responsible for internal strife in the nudist camp for the founders of the camp.

3 BRIDESMAIDS

Miss Dawson, who will be accompanied by three nude bridesmaids to the altar, is pleased pink by the nude wedding.

"It will be the largest nudist wedding ever held, and think of the money I saved on a bridal gown."

More than 200 people have been invited. With the exception of a few "special guests," and the lawyer, everyone will be undressed, including a cluster of musicians.

The lawyer, Paul Whitlsey said, "I have no intention of performing any civil marriages in the nude."

"I do not know how this idea originated."

Security Men, Strikers Brawl

Brief Fight Starts in Essex Wire Dispute

PULASKI (AP) — Workers and company security men of the strike-bound Essex Wire Co. staged a brief, fist-swinging and club-wielding brawl Thursday night in this tiny Jackson County community.

Essex Wire, located in Hillsdale, was struck by the International Union of Electrical Workers 71 days ago.

State police said no arrests were made and no persons were injured seriously in the fight.

Some 50 pickets, workers and company security men staged the fight at a Pulaski intersection.

CALLED BY RESIDENTS

State police were summoned to the scene by residents after William Ellsworth, 42, called on the pickets and security men to stop the brawl.

Ellsworth said the participants arrived at the intersection in 25 cars. The fight started when the cars stopped at the intersection.

Police said pickets at the Essex plant had followed a group of nonunion Essex workers from the Hillsdale plant as the nonunion workers left in company cars.

The use of nonunion employees during the long strike has been one of the major issues involved in the Essex dispute.

ESCORT HOME

Nonunion workers have been escorted to their homes in company cars during the strike.

Ellsworth said he fired the shotgun blasts when the brawl spilled onto his property.

When state police arrived, the brawl had ended and the participants had fled in their cars.

Armed Forces Slate Program

BIRMINGHAM — The U.S. Marine Corps School Band will join with the Army, Navy and Air Force to present a fast-paced Armed Forces Week program at Seashell High School Wednesday.

The program in the football stadium will begin at 7:30 p.m. It will feature the 47-member band, the U.S. Navy's Tars and Rifles Drill Team, Sealford Air Force Base's Ambassadors in Blue Drill Team and the Mock Mockers.

Mayor Charles Renfrew will welcome the band to Birmingham and introduce Miss Armed Forces Week and her court of princesses.

Appearing with Diane L. Cernate, Miss Armed Forces Week, will be a uniformed princess from each of the armed services.

The concert will include "The Armed Forces Week March," written especially for metropolitan Detroit's observance by Raymond J. Meurer.

Opening of the annual Kingwood girls at the 3:30-5:30 p.m. event.

The show, which features painting, weaving and ceramics done by Kingwood art students, will be open to the public from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays through May 24.

Harriet P. Sheppard

Service for Harriet P. Sheppard, 20-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard P. Sheppard Jr., of 807 N. Redding, Bloomfield Hills, will be 3 p.m. Sunday at the Manley-Bailey Funeral Home, Birmingham. Burial will be 3 p.m. Tuesday in the Village Cemetery, Weymouth, Mass.

The girl died yesterday after a long illness.

She was a member of the Kirk in the Hills Presbyterian Church.

Surviving besides her parents are two sisters, Betty and Jane, both at home; and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Philbrook and Mrs. Willard P. Sheppard, all of Massachusetts.

Memorial contributions can be made to the United Cerebral Palsy Research Foundation, 321 W. 44th St., New York, N.Y.

His body will be at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. after 7 p.m. today.

Mr. Stanford was a member of the St. Alban's Episcopal Church, Auburndale, Fla.

Surviving are his wife Jane R.; two sons, Russell E. L. and Brooke L. Stanford, 74, of Winterville, Fla., will be 10 a.m. tomorrow at the Temple of Memories, White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Stanford, owner of Stanford & Co., formerly of Detroit, an irrigation equipment and installation company, died Monday after an illness of two years.

Also surviving are two brothers, fourteen grandchildren and a great-granddaughter.

Memorial contributions can be made to the Heart Association.

2 City Women Hurt in Bloomfield Twp.

Two Pontiac women were injured in a Bloomfield Township traffic accident this morning.

Mrs. Mack Weidemeyer, 54, of 98 Olive, and Mrs. Nellie Schlanek, 57, of 9 Ruth were listed in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

The 8 a.m. accident at Lone Pine and Telegraph reportedly involved two semitrucks and a several cars. Details were not immediately available.

4 Rob, Beat Woman, 70

Pontiac police said four men broke into the house of a 70-year-old widow early today and stole $430 in cash plus a $50 in after beating and threatening her.

Mrs. Sallie Harris, 383 Bloomfield, told police she was aroused from sleep during the night by the four who forced open her upstairs bedroom door.

Mrs. Harris, who had a 22-caliber pistol under her pillow but didn't get a chance to use it, said the men blindfolded her.

They hit her about the face and body and threatened her life until she told them where the money was, she said.

Many events are on Truman's schedule today, including an off the cuff talk at the National Press Club and a dinner meeting with old buddies of the famous World War II Truman investigating committee.

But it is unlikely that any will surpass an event of yesterday when Truman got the Grand Golden Cross of Austria in the plush home of the Austrian ambassador.

Truman on this occasion proved himself adept at shifting from bourbon to champagne and back again without stripping a gear.

Street in City to Be Closed for Five Days

City Traffic Engineer Joseph Koren today advised motorists—particularly Pontiac Motor and Fished Body plant traffic—to avoid using Montclair between Saginaw and Baldwin next week.

Beginning Monday, Grand Trunk Western Railroad will close Montclair at the railroad crossing between Baldwin and Saginaw.

Railroad crews will install one new track and rebuild the grade to provide a smoother crossing for motorists.

Weather permitting, the work is expected to be done in about five days.

For Rochester Council

Budget, Zoning on Agenda

ROCHESTER — Village Council is scheduled to adopt the 1964-65 budget following a hearing Monday night, as well as decide on the proposed rezoning for construction of an Elk Lodge.

A tentative total of $467,300, first presented April 13, is expected to be okayed by the council to cover the next fiscal year's expenditures.

Under terms of the proposed budget, which includes elimination of council members' pay, the village will retain the present 18.5-mill tax levy.

In contrast with the silent endorsement given the budget by village residents is the controversy which has surrounded the proposed Elk Lodge.

The Avon-Rochester-Pontiac Township Regional Planning

GIVEN OKAY

On the other side of the fence, Avon Township, which owns the park across from the proposed site, has given its okay to the Elk's plan.

Monday council will make the choice of rejecting the rezoning request or setting up a public hearing.

The Elk's argue that the property, now zoned for one-family residential, should be changed to general business.

Their stand is based on the premise that should the proposed building be constructed, it will act as a buffer between the industrial and residential properties in the area.

OTHERS CONTENT

Village planning consultants Villan-Leman & Associates of Southfield contend introduction of a general business zone will preclude further residential development.

The property in question is now owned by Howard McGregor Jr., whose farm is just west of the site.

A low building with a paved parking lot is planned by the Elk's with a later addition of a park and swimming pool.

Both sides of the issue will be aired at Monday's 7:30 p.m. meeting.

In addition to considering the budget and rezoning items on the agenda, the council will also discuss proposed street improvements on Lyander and Elizabeth.

TWO OF THE 767 — Preparing to "blast out" the news of the film "Music Man," to be in Rochester at the Hills Theater 7:30 p.m. May 19 are would-be trombone players, Jane Jerome (left) and Pat Arcure, both 14 and 8th-graders at Central Junior High School.

The special showing of the movie will be used to raise some $750 for the Rochester chapter, American Field Service (AFS). Standing in the middle of the two music-makers is Kathy Stoutenburg, 17, a senior who visited Austria last year under the AFS exchange program.

Utica High Senior Wins Scholarship

UTICA — Barbara Schnell, an all-A student at Utica Community High School, has been named winner of an Alvin M. Bentley Foundation scholarship to Western Michigan University next fall.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond O. Schnell, 3744 Leslie, Barbara is a Brotherhood Essay Contest winner. She is also captain of the high school cheerleaders and was a representative to Wolverine Girls State.

Her scholarship will amount to $750 for the 1964-65 academic year and is one of the major awards presented to 54 state universities and colleges by the foundation this year.

Agricultural assets in the United States amount to $214 billion and are equal to about three-fifths of all corporation stocks on the New York Stock Exchange.

Auditions Tomorrow for Troy Arts Festival

TROY — Long black capes, handiebar moustaches and insensitive actors and actresses are being sought by the entertainment committee of the Fourth Annual Troy Arts Festival.

All will be featured in the melodrama "He Done Her Wrong, or Wedded But No Wife," to be presented as a part of the festival, June 19, 20, 21.

Avon Twp. PTA Unit Will Install Officers

AVON TOWNSHIP — Installation of new officers will mark Wednesday's 8:30 p.m. meeting of the Brooklands-Avon PTA at Brooklands School.

Preceding the business session, rooms will be open for an art show at 7 p.m.

Anyone sensitive to boos and hisses is warned against joining the cast. However all audience members will be searched for rotten eggs and overripe tomatoes prior to the performance.

Tryouts for the "gay nineties" production will begin tomorrow and continue through next week. Rehearsals are scheduled the following week.

TALENT SHOW

The arts festival's entertainment committee has also extended the deadline for application to the talent show "Pathway to the Stars."

Any seventh or eighth grade student living in Troy can arrange an audition for the show by contacting Beckwith or Mrs. Reeder before May 15.

Cosponsors of the show are the Troy Drama Workshop and former Troy resident Miss Donna McKemie, coming to Detroit in a starring role in "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," June 15 at the Fisher Theater.

Mrs. Jeanette Allen, principal of Poppleton Elementary School, will be mistress of ceremonies.

Romeo School Fair -- Lots of Food, Fun

ROMEO — Fun, food and rides galore are in store for youngsters and adults alike attending tomorrow's Elementary Schools Fair at South Grade school.

In addition to the wide selection of taste-tempters to be offered during fair hours, from 2 to 7:30 p.m., guests will also be able to try their luck in a fish pond, duck pond, shooting gallery and other booths.

Gifts, ranging from plants to needlework, will be on sale. And especially for the children will be a merry-go-round, stage coach and fire truck rides and the very thrills of an authentic spook house.

Proceeds will be used for school equipment.

Milford to Air 1964-65 Budget

Hearing Is Held on Zoning Ordinance

MILFORD — With last night's zoning ordinance hearing behind them, Milford residents will gather Monday to consider a proposed $251,750 village budget for 1964-65.

The Village Council last night listened to comments on the proposed code, took them under advisement and will reconvene the hearing at its May 25 meeting.

The 76-page ordinance, designed to facilitate the village's master plan, would replace four pages of regulations now controlling zoning.

Monday's hearing is set for 7:30 p.m. The figure to be discussed by residents is some $1,350 higher than this year's.

It provides for a new policeman, two new police cars, a dump truck, a roller for the Department of Public Works, installation of a combination ice skating rink, tennis court at the new village park and a $500 raise for the village manager.

Award Six Seniors MSU Scholarships

Six high school seniors were awarded scholarships to Michigan State University club of Oakland County at its annual scholarship banquet.

Phil Skillman, president of the alumni club, presented the scholarships. Dr. John A. Hannah, MSU president, was keynote speaker.

The recipients were: Robin G. Berglund of Berkley High School, James G. Stephens of Pontiac Northern and Sylvester V. Quilguit of Waterford Kettering High School.

TO BE CITED — Homer D. Strong, 8950 Gale, White Lake Township, will receive a distinguished alumni citation at Wayne State University's 90th reunion at Cobo Hall, Detroit, tomorrow. Strong, a 1939 WSU alumnus, has been director of alumni relations at the university for 20 years.

LEONARD F. TERRY

Appointed to Replace Supervisor

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The Pontiac Township Board last night by unanimous consent appointed Leonard F. Terry to replace resigning Township Supervisor Leroy Davis.

Terry's appointment will become effective May 27, Davis' official termination date.

An excavating contractor, Terry, 47, lives at 3245 Leaper. He is a lifelong resident of Pontiac Township and attended Pontiac Central High School.

The appointee was defeated at the polls twice by Davis, by 80 votes in 1961 and by 16 votes in the 1963 balloting, after a recount.

He was a trustee on the township board from 1956 to 1958. A Republican, Terry will remain in office at least until the next township election. Due to the new constitution, the date of the next local-issue balloting has not yet been determined.

Davis, a 62-year-old Democrat who was elected to his post four times, is resigning "due to the pressure of private business interests."

Area Hospital Starts Class for Diabetics

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Botsford General Hospital will begin its fourth series of classes for diabetics next week.

Class material will follow the same pattern as that used by the Oakland County Department of Health.

Teachers for the free sessions are Mrs. Florence Meters, executive dietitian, and John Colline, registered nurse at the osteopathic unit.

The 7-9 p.m. classes will start Tuesday. The other four are scheduled for May 19 and 26 and June 2 and 9. They will be held in room 107E of Farmington High School, Shiawassee at Orchard Lake.

Diabetics must have written approval from their physicians to attend.

Registration can be made at the Oakland County Health Department in Pontiac.

Methodist Men Plan Banquet for Distaff Side

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The Methodist Men of Commerce are in the midst of plans to honor and entertain the distaff members of their families.

They will serve the annual mother-daughter banquet at 6:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Arrangements also are being made for a husbands-wives night May 18. Planning the 6:30 p.m. event at the Maxwell House in Walled Lake are Lee Mohnkern, David Mansfield Sr. and Mark Ellenwood.

New executive officers of the group will be installed that night.

U.S. Approves Loan for Alpena Industry

ALPENA (AP) — A $350,000 loan to Alpena Industrial Development Corp. was approved by the Federal Small Business Administration Thursday.

The Alpena group, composed of businessmen and residents, applied for the loan after raising $87,500 to bring Universal Fluid Dynamics Co. to Alpena. The total funds will be used to purchase a plant and machinery for the firm.

'Unwilling' Volunteers Replaced in Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — Police-Fire Chief James A. Decker claims he's having no trouble at all replacing — in double numbers — the volunteer firemen who resigned Tuesday night.

"We've got 26 to 28 now and six or eight more have applications out," Decker said today.

The Volunteer Firefighters Association had 11 members when it broke from the city — two others had been suspended by Decker as "agitators."

Of the 11, four have remained with the department. The city's four full-time police-fire officers as well as five volunteer policemen have joined them.

Decker said the men who have been accepted are qualified to fight fires — others have been turned away.

11 QUALIFIED

Of the present members, 11 are qualified in all phases of the job, he said.

"They can do anything with this fire truck or with the hoses," he commented. "Five of those 11 are available 24 hours a day. They live and work here, not in Detroit."

"They would be available at a moment's notice, which is what they didn't have before. The other six are available during the evening hours."

The remaining 15 in the reorganized corps have had work in the field, Decker said. He is planning a training program to upgrade all of the new men.

MOST CAME BACK

"Most of the old fire department is back," he reported.

"They'd been here for years and resigned because of the pressure from this other group."

The firemen quit Tuesday in protest to the way their department was being reorganized.

"Now we can get the job done the way it should be," Decker said.

'Hootenanny' Is Set for Orion PTA Confab

LAKE ORION — A barber-shop quartet will join other music groups at the Blanche Sims Elementary PTA's "Hootenanny" 8 p.m. Monday at the school.

The program will be under direction of Joyce Delamater, vocal music teacher in Lake Orion. Election of new PTA officers for the 1964-65 academic year will also take place at the meeting.

ORION TOWNSHIP — Films showing pupils at work and play throughout the school year will highlight Monday's 8 p.m. meeting of the Proper School PTA.

Last September, Clinton M. Galbraith, school principal, began filming the children during classroom activities.

Included will be scenes taken of kindergarten children who were completely unaware a camera was being focused on them as they went about their daily routine.

Also featured will be youngsters in the first through third grades enjoying school parties and working on constructive projects and science experiments.

Before adjournment, Mrs. Thure Wichman, first president of the Proper PTA, will conduct installation of new officers for the 1964-65 school year.

Fagan-Rembach Rites

Pair Wed in Waterford

HOLLY — The altar of Christ Lutheran Church, Waterford, was banked with white gladioli and carnations for the recent wedding of Irene Rembach and Bruce Lane Fagan.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Joseph Rembach, 5180 M57, and the late Mr. Rembach. The bridegroom is the son of Howard Fagan, 117 Railroad, and the late Mrs. Fagan.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Stanley Rembach of Drayton Plains, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over silk taffeta and tulle. Made by her mother, it featured reembarbrodered Alton lace trim and a chapel train.

A pearl embroidered lace cap held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a spray of rosebuds and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Karl Kilmer was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Larie Ann Walter of Clarkston, niece of the bride, and Rose Fagan, sister of the bridegroom.

JUNIOR BRIDESMAIDS

Attending as junior bridesmaids were Connie Marie Rembach of Pontiac and Brenda Lynn Kilmer, both nieces of the bride.

Joseph R. Rembach, brother of the bride, served as best man. Groomsmen were Harold Fagan of Pontiac and George Fagan of Holly, brothers of the bridegroom.

Ushers were Morgan Moss and Frank Garner. Judy Kilmer, niece of the bride, was flower girl and Danny Fagan, nephew of the bridegroom, ring bearer.

High Year Leveling Off

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—Business will go on for several months being better than a year ago. But how much better than it is right now, that's the rub.

Expectations of a leveling off are based on a number of factors that will be glossed over by the official statistics yet to come which will picture how good things were in March, April and May.

Steel production has leveled off, for the time being at least. And the summer's normal slowdown seems as sure as anything can be in that cyclical industry. Steel's spring boom could make a summer doldrums harder to bear.

Auto production will continue strong, as dealers build up inventories prior to the wage talks due in early summer, and to the model changes which may come early this time and be more noticeable than a year ago.

MODEST PICKUP
Retail trade is flourishing in May as Americans deck themselves out for spring and summer and return their homes. But any big pickup traceable to more take-home pay from the federal tax cut has yet to show.

Many retailers are reported counting on only a modest pickup from this source at best. They expect to beat year-ago figures, but chiefly because of population changes and other factors under way before the tax cut.

Construction spending hit a peak in March and held level in April. Good weather in May should keep it high. But the new construction that business is proclaiming in announcing future expansion plans probably won't hit the brick and mortar stage before autumn or later.

But Americans who have been encouraged to expect a real sput in the economy just around the corner may be patient. And those who expect all the problems to be solved quickly are likely to be disappointed.

Whatever the effects of the tax cut, they may be a time in coming. The effects could be a healthy rise in an already flourishing economy, or a sudden over-enthusiastic boom, with another round of inflation or in a buildup for a bust. And then, the effects of the tax cut might be all but lost in an already huge economy.

IMMEDIATE PROBLEMS

In any case the immediate problems aren't going to disappear, despite any wishful thinking. Unemployment hopefully will decline, but not enough. The currently pleasant improvement in the nation's chronic deficit in the balance of its payments in international financial dealings doesn't remove the basic problem of a large volume of dollars going abroad for other reasons than trade.

Labor-management clashes, as exemplified in the upcoming negotiations in the auto industry will still whirl around in the roads of automation on jobs in factories and offices, around the dispute over how increased profits should be raised to attract investors, to raise wages, to cut prices.

Times may well go right along getting a bit better. But those who look for the millennium may be disappointed.

TOKYO (AP)—Communist China today denounced Moscow's proposal for an international conference of Communist parties this fall as part of a plot "to accelerate an open split in the international Communist movement."

A Peking broadcast said such a meeting is not likely within the next four or five years "or even longer."

Peking made the statement in rejecting a Soviet timetable calling for a preparatory Chinese-Soviet meeting this month, to be followed by an international conference of Communist parties in the fall to deal with the split between the two big giants.

In a letter sent yesterday to the Soviet Communist party, the Chinese Communists suggested a year from now would be the most appropriate time for a meeting between their two parties.

TOKYO (AP)—Adm. Kichisaburo Nomura, Japan's ambassador to the United States when his country attacked Pearl Harbor, died today after a long illness. He was 86.

Nomura and special envoy Saburo Kurusu received one of the stiffest tongue-lashings in diplomatic annals when they arrived at the State Department on Dec. 7, 1941 bringing Japan's rejection of the latest U.S. peace formula. Bombs had just begun falling on the Pacific outpost.

Seething with anger, Secretary of State Cordell Hull kept Nomura and Kurusu waiting 15 minutes in an anteroom. They entered Hull's office smiling and bowing and handed him the Japanese note. He read it slowly, without betraying his fury, even at the sentence, "The immutable policy of Japan is to promote world peace."

TONGUE LASHING
Then Hull exploded, telling the two shocked envoys:

"In all my 50 years of public service, I have never seen a document that was more crowded with infamous falsehoods and distortions—infamous falsehoods and distortions on a scale so huge that I never imagined until today that any government on this planet was capable of uttering them."

Nomura, who had been assigned to Washington nine months earlier, repeatedly denied any advance knowledge of the attack which brought the United States into World War II.

Dixie Senator's Kin Backs Rights Bill
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A nephew of Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., has joined a group of 435 Southern Presbyterian ministers and laymen in a strong endorsement of the civil rights bill.

The kinsman, the Rev. William D. Russell of suburban Decatur, said Thursday night he favored a strong civil rights bill but would look upon any effective compromise as a step in the right direction.

Russell, 29, and married, is a chaplain at Grady Memorial Hospital here. He worked in the senator's Washington office from 1953 to 1960.

DESERTION PENALTY
Desertion carries a penalty of dishonorable discharge and two years in prison. Betraying secrets could bring a death penalty.

The sources denied speculation that Russell had served as a spy for the West during his time in East Germany.

Seeks Support to Fight Cong

Rusk to Ask NATO for Viet, Cuba Help

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk files to Europe today to urge NATO allies to contribute more to the fight against Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam and to support the U.S. economic boycott of Cuba.

Rusk will attend a meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign ministers at the Hague next week following a visit to Brussels.

On the eve of Rusk's departure, Undersecretary of State George Ball sharply challenged the idea attributed to President Charles de Gaulle of France that the Atlantic alliance serves the defense of the West and should be preserved but that its organization is a bad idea.

Some U.S. officials said this reasoning could lead to a conclusion that the basic defense pledge of NATO should be preserved but that the military command system should be radically altered or weakened if not actually abandoned.

NATO DANGERS
Ball did not mention France or de Gaulle by name, but his speech at Georgetown University in some ways the most outspoken discussion of the dangers facing NATO heard in a long time.

"The Atlantic world feels increasingly strong and confident of the future," Ball said. "There is danger that, if this happy state persists for long, some may be tempted to regard the obligations of a massive enterprise such as NATO as unnecessary heavy, and some of our European friends—out of a sense of newfound confidence—may be led to consider NATO as too much an American show."

There is already an apparent trend that way."

Officials said Rusk would welcome any suggestions for improving or strengthening NATO, but he does not expect decisions at the Hague conference on NATO issues.

What he hopes to accomplish is agreement by individual allied leaders to provide greater assistance to the embattled government of South Viet Nam—assistance in the form of technical expert in transportation, agriculture, and the like and also direct economic help.

The United States reportedly does not intend to press at this time for other countries to build up large military missions there.

Steels Lead Market Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels and Chrysler resumed their market leadership today as the stock market moved higher. Trading was active.

Moderate gains outnumbered losses among key stocks. Chrysler, swamped with buyers Thursday as it staged a breakout above its previous yearly high, rose 1/4 to 50 1/2 on an opening block of 20,000 shares, widening the gain later.

Steels moved higher but by lesser margins than Thursday. Jones & Laughlin added about a point. Republic and U.S. Steel rose fractionally.

Ford and General Motors also gained fractions as the Big Three of the auto industry moved ahead together. American Motors and Studebaker showed scant change.

Thursday the Associated Press average of 90 stocks rose .9 to 307.4, a new high.

Prices were narrowly mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Gainers included Brown Co., Scurry Rainbow Oil and New Jersey Zinc.
