JUDGE WILLIAM J. BEER

FREDERICK C. ZIEM

STANTON G. DONDERO

Oakland County voters turned out in record numbers yesterday to return three incumbents to the Circuit Court bench along with pre-election favorites Frederick C. Ziem and Stanton G. Dondero.

Few surprises came out of the non-partisan balloting with the exception that a forecast election turnout of 85,000 was surpassed by more than 5,000.

Nice weather provided a big incentive, said County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. for voters who flocked to the polls to pick five Circuit Court judges for the next six years as part of the state biennial spring election.

Voters also selected former State Rep. Theodore F. Hughes of Berkley as the county's newest judge and the first to fill the new, fifth judgeship, although only briefly. Hughes won election to a special, six-months term beginning July 1.

Hughes will have to step down from the bench Jan. 1, however, when Ziem and Dondero step up. Hughes, 50, lost his chance to run for the longer, six-year term in the non-partisan primary.

As they did in the Feb. 16 primary, incumbent Judges H. Russel Holland, Clark J. Adams and William J. Beer led the field of 10 candidates Monday and won all the way in a breeze.

UNOFFICIAL RETURNS

Murphy announced these unofficial returns for Oakland's 295 precincts:

Judge H. Russel Holland	46,076
Judge Clark J. Adams	43,427
Judge William J. Beer	41,650
Frederick C. Ziem	38,186
Stanton G. Dondero	32,736
James C. Allen	22,347
Wendell Brown	19,760
Verne C. Hampton	19,334
Milton F. Cooney	17,682
Maurice E. Finnegan	16,792

This is the same order the 10 finished in the primary, except that Finnegan, a Pontiac municipal judge since 1941, and Brown, a Farmington Township trustee, exchanged places.

Ziem, former star athlete at Pontiac High and the University of Michigan, put on an intensive campaign to jump from his present role as Oakland County prosecutor to the highest judicial position in the county.

Ziem, a Republican, has been prosecutor since 1952. He grabbed the fourth judgeship when the first sprinkling of returns started in last night, and held onto it until all precincts had reported.

Ziem, Dondero and the three incumbents will be sworn in officially January 1, at which time their terms begin.

The name Dondero is not a new one in Oakland County. The newly-elected judge's father, George A. Dondero, represented the county in Congress for 24 years before he retired in 1956.

'Direct Power' Method Holds Great Promise

U. of M. Physicist Says Development May Pave Way to Space Travel

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A way has been discovered to produce electricity directly from atomic power, a University of Michigan scientist said today.

Robert W. Pidd, Michigan professor of physics, said the development already has been tested at Los Alamos, N. M.

Pidd predicted the development also would pave the way for interplanetary space travel and would power satellites.

The process does away with boilers, turbines, gas conditioners and generators now used in both conventional and atomic electric plants.

Pidd said, however, it would be some time before a commercial reactor using the new process is built, because there usually is a lag of three to five years between scientific development and engineering construction.

The physicist also said that commercially the new process could not yet compete in cost with electricity produced from coal, but would make atomic-made electricity much more competitive than now.

Electric power under the process is produced from a uranium carbide source surrounded by a plasma or electrified gas made from cesium, a metal.

When a reactor so charged is turned on, Pidd said, fission causes the uranium fuel to have such an energy release that it turns white hot. And at that temperature, which he did not specify, Pidd said a large electric current is produced. The current then is transmitted by the gas to a collector from which it can be put to use.

The technique is called plasma thermalcouple and eliminates virtually all but the nuclear reactor in production of electricity from fission.

Pidd said the development is "enormously simple" and was tested in the Omega West reactor at Los Alamos last Friday.

The university said Pidd played a prominent part in achieving the break-through to direct production of electricity from atomic power.

He predicted the development would perhaps cut in half the cost of power reactors, pave the way for interplanetary space travel because of the tremendous reduction in fuel loads necessary, and would give satellites a long lasting source of electricity to telemeter data to earth.

Happy Oscar Couple

Hayward, Niven Get Best Acting Awards

David Niven, who has been pleasing movie audiences for 25 years now, was similarly honored.

The Brooklyn-born redhead and the debonair Scotsman received the top Academy awards for acting before an audience filled with most of the big names in the entertainment industry.

Burl Ives and the British actress Wendy Hiller won Oscars for best supporting performances.

More than 100 big names—from Ingrid Bergman to Eddie Fisher—gave a nationwide television audience an electronic peek at Hollywood's biggest night of the year.

The acceptance speeches were so short that the NBC-TV show ended some 20 minutes before its two-hour schedule.

Miss Hayward — enacting the role of murderess Barbara Graham in "I Want To Live!" —got the nod on a performance so realistic that it provided fodder for a Bob Hope joke earlier in the evening.

"The movies this year are going in for so much realism," Hope said, "that I was surprised to see Miss Hayward here tonight."

"I thought I had a good chance but I was pleasantly surprised."

Added Sewage Facilities Also Go Down to Defeat

Pontiac voters yesterday sent Civil Service for police down to a crashing defeat and for the third time rejected a bond issue for more sewage treatment facilities.

In an apparent protest against turbulence within the Police Department the past two years, voters repeated State Civil Service Act 78 and placed police back under the old Trial Board.

In the largest biennial spring election turnout ever recorded here, the vote was a whooping 5,026 for repeal and 3,551 opposed.

The $3,300,000 sewage treatment plant bond issue failed to gain even a simple majority, although a three-fifths majority was necessary for its passage.

Property owners cast only 3,884 votes for the bond issue to 4,042 against it.

TOTAL VOTE 11,516

Yesterday's total Pontiac vote was 11,516, exceeding official predictions by more than 3,000.

The highest previous total for a biennial spring election was 10,393 in 1955. The 1957 total was 7,596.

Civil Service for police came to an end two years and six days after the date (April 1, 1957) Pontiac voters moved by referendum to place police under the state act.

With Civil Service as a sounding board, Police Department squabbles burst into the open.

Two years of hectic strife were climaxed just last Saturday when the Civil Service Commission fired Police Chief Herbert W. Straley in what turned out to be its last official act.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston hailed the repeal, and said the City Commission would begin formation of a new Trial Board tonight, with definite appointments possibly coming next week. It was the Commission that called for the repeal.

Hugh Stimson, president of the Pontiac Police Officers Assn., which petitioned for Civil Service two years ago, was surprised by the outcome of the election but voiced confidence that the verdict of the people would be accepted within the department.

"Speaking personally, I believe that the PPOA and the other officers will be able to work cooperatively within the framework of a new Trial Board.

"I feel sure that Mr. (George E.) Eastman could successfully lead the department either under Civil Service or the Trial Board."

It was Eastman, the city's public safety director, who took the fight against Straley to the Civil Service Commission and successfully demanded his ouster.

Earlier Sunday Tavern Hours in City Defeated

A bid by Pontiac tavern owners to open at noon on Sundays instead of 2 p.m. met with resounding defeat yesterday.

Voters refused to repeal the city's ordinance governing sale of beer and wine by taverns by the overwhelming majority of 5,416 votes to 3,398.

Had the change been effected, local restrictions on opening time would have been lifted and the taverns would have fallen back to operating under the less restrictive state liquor laws.

The change was sought by the Oakland County Table Toppers Assn., largely as a counter-measure to an unsuccessful drive by the Pontiac Pastors Assn. to put a proposition prohibiting all Sunday sales of beer and wine on the ballot.

GOP Snags 4 State Offices

1st Victory Since '55 Is Dimmed by Dems' Over-All Gains

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan Republicans jolted the Democratic regime of Gov. Williams by snatching victories for statewide education offices in a spring election upset today.

It marked the first time since 1955 that the GOP mustered strength at the polls to interrupt an upsurge in Democratic power that began in 1948, leaped ahead in 1954 and hit a peak last fall.

"We have passed the turning point. This is the proof. It looks good for 1960," said elated Lawrence B. Lindemer, Republican state chairman.

Lindemer credited the GOP showing partly to a protest against the Williams administration which Republican campaigners blamed for state financial woes, and partly to improved party organization work outstate.

Republicans won one of two University of Michigan regents contests, one of two races for the Michigan State University control board and one berth on the six member Wayne State Board of Governors.

Democrats wound up with 5-3 control of the U. of M. board, ending a four-four Republican-Democratic split, and a firm grip on the MSU board, the State Board of Education and the Wayne State board.

SAYS WILLIAMS BACKED

Neil Staebler, Democratic state chairman, saw in Democratic victories in a majority of the contests an endorsement of the Williams administration.

Democrats scored gains, Staebler said, "despite a vicious Republican attack that included the most expensive last-minute television display ever seen in a spring campaign."

Aside from the 12 statewide education races, these were other major election developments:

1. Supreme Court Justices George Edwards and John D.

Refreshing Showers Not Staying Long

Is there anything more refreshing than an April shower to clean and clear the atmosphere and green the grass?

Showers and thundershowers are predicted for Pontiac this afternoon and evening by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

The Bureau said tonight will be windy and cooler with a few showers and a low of 40 degrees.

The forecast for Wednesday is partly cloudy, rather windy and cool with the high near 55. Today's southerly winds at 20-30 miles an hour will shift to westerly tonight.

Thirty-six was the lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The thermometer reading at 2 p.m. was 51.

Tries Voting Too Late

YPSILANTI (AP)—Elwood Davie, 35, of nearby Sumpter Township, was arrested by State Police yesterday when he entered a voting booth after it had closed. The officers said Davie abused the election workers verbally. He was arrested and jailed on a disorderly conduct charge.

3 Constitutional Changes Approved by Big Margins

DETROIT (AP) — Voters overwhelmingly approved three proposed amendments to Michigan's 56-year-old constitution yesterday.

With little opposition, the three propositions piled up 3-1 or 2-1 margins, needing only a majority of those voting on them. All will take effect May 6.

The most important, winning the biggest vote, empowers the Legislature to deal with the problem of a breakdown of government in the event key government officials are killed in an enemy attack

It gives the Legislature authority, by law yet to be written, to decree how temporary officials may run state and local government if elective officials are killed or incapacitated.

Another proposition gives Constitutional status to Wayne State University, the same as that now enjoyed by the University of Michigan and Michigan State University. It also provides for election of the six-member board of governors chosen yesterday.

Unlike the U. of M.'s and MSU's independence from political control, however, Wayne must furnish the Legislature a "detailed accounting" of all income and expenditures. The other two universities spend their money as they see fit, once the Legislature approves their budgets.

The third proposition changes the State Board of Agriculture to the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, eliminating long-standing confusion between the board and the State Agriculture Department.

Approval of the three proposals brings to 66 the number of amendments to the Constitution since it was adopted in 1908. The last previous amendment was approved in 1956.

Republicans Blanked at Polls

Waterford Dems Take All Posts

Waterford Township Democrats chalked up a complete victory in yesterday's biennial spring election with each of the 12 Democratic candidates winning by a large margin against eight Republican candidates.

An unofficial tally of the ballots showed that 6,417 of the township's 18,824 registered voters went to the polls in the 18 township precincts.

Incumbent supervisor Elmer R. Johnson defeated his opponent Loren D. Anderson, 3,773 to 2,644, and incumbent clerk James E. Seeterlin had 3,778 votes, compared to Richard G. Hamilton's 2,568.

The present township treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Olson polled 3,563 votes against her rival Mrs. Florence J. Allen, 2,839.

Additional township trustees will be high school teacher John Coleman with 3,360; Joseph McGee with 3,290; and Lewis B. Ruelle who received 3,242 votes.

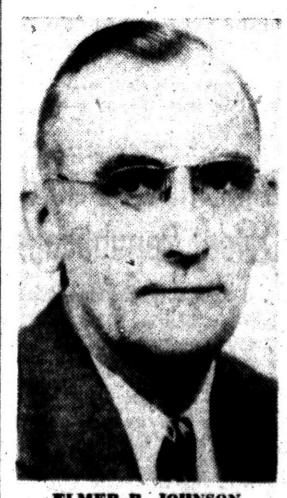

Defeated in the race for trustees were Byron L. Cole with 2,878, Dr. M. G. Prosser, 2,891 and Donald E. Taylor who had 2,869 votes.

Waterford Township's Justice of the Peace Donald E. Adams was unopposed and tallied 4,122 votes to continue in the capacity in which he has served 22 years.

Voters Reject Library Plans in Waterford

The three-point program to finance a $300,000 Waterford Township library was turned down yesterday on all three counts, but it probably will be submitted to voters again.

Defeated was a $300,000 general obligation bond issue, a one-mill tax to pay off the bonds and a half-mill tax to cover maintenance and operation.

The bond issue suffered the worst defeat, 2,873 "no" votes to 2,355 "yes." The one-mill was defeated 3,035 to 2,410 and the half-mill, 2,818 to 2,588.

The bond issue needed a three-fifth majority of property owner votes for passage, the millage issues needed only simple majorities cast by all voters.

Supervisor Elmer R. Johnson said the defeat was disappointing, but indicated plans to put the issues to a vote again before the Jan. 1, 1961 deadline for financing.

All Republicans but Cole and Baldwin Carry County

All Republican candidates for state offices—except two "favorite son" choices to unseat incumbent State Supreme Court Justices George Edwards and John D. Voelker — received winning majorities in Oakland County in yesterday's biennial spring election.

This partially reversed the trend that last fall saw some state Democrats topping Republicans here for the first time in recent history.

Edwards and Voelker, although Democrats, were involved in the high court race on a nonpartisan basis, as were Cole and Baldwin, nominal Republicans.

With all the county's 295 precincts reporting, Maurice F. Cole of Ferndale and William H. Baldwin of Bloomfield Township had accumulated 24,534 and 21,380 votes respectively, to Edwards' 31,331 Voelker's 28,306.

In the race for 12 state educational posts, however, Democrats came out on the short end of the count in Oakland.

County voters favored GOP candidates for University of Michigan Board of Regents, superintendent of public instruction, State Board of Education, State Board of Agriculture (governing body of Michigan Sate University), and the new Wayne State University Board of Governors.

City of Pontiac voters as usual gave the nod to Democrats.

Oakland voters went along with the rest of the state and favored three relatively unimportant amendments to the state Constitution. They will provide for the continuity of government in case of disaster, change the name of governing body of MSU, and officially create the WSU Board of Governors.

Maurice Cole, a county Circuit Court commissioner for 20 years, pulled into the show position in the two-seat Supreme Court test despite the presence of another Cole in the same race.

The second Cole, Kenneth W., a Saginaw attorney running as the Prohibitionist Party's standard bearer, gathered 13,377 Oakland votes in the non-partisan balloting.

Maurice Cole felt the other Cole would have a damaging effect on his chances because of confusion of names.

ing the Straley hearing, the PPOA appeared timid about campaigning to keep Civil Service, and this may have been reflected in the defeat.

Only nine of the city's 44 precincts voted against repeal, and where Civil Service won, it usually was by majorities of a half-dozen votes or less.

Surprisingly, District 1 did not figure largely in the repeal, although that pro-Straley district was expected to send a large anti-Civil Service delegation to the polls.

The vote there—far smaller than expected — was only 245 votes against Civil Service to 113 votes for it.

Defeat of the bond issue left city officials dejected.

"I'm very disappointed that our citizens didn't recognize our proposal was the most practical and economical method of financing the proposed improvements to the sewage treatment plant setup," said Mayor Phillip E. Rowston.

"It would be unfortunate now if the state asks us to make the improvements, in that we will not have the assistance from industry and business to carry the major part of the cost."

Commissioner William W. Donaldson said simply, "It's a shame."

Rowston said the City Commission has no plans in mind at present to try again for general obligation bond financing.

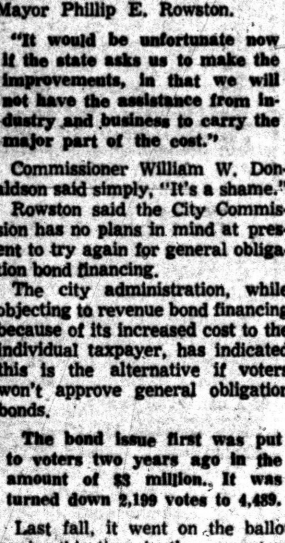

The city administration, while objecting to revenue bond financing because of its increased cost to the individual taxpayer, has indicated this is the alternative if voters won't approve general obligation bonds.

The bond issue first was put to voters two years ago in the amount of $3 million. It was turned down 2,199 votes to 4,489.

Last fall, it went on the ballot again, this time in the amount of $3.3 million, and fared the best so far. The vote was 6,356 to 5,173, just 9 per cent short of the needed three-fifths majority.

Father-Son Banquet Opens Boys' Club Week in Pontiac

Pontiac Press Photos

'BOY OF THE YEAR' — Cressy B. Larson, executive director of the Pontiac Boys Club, presents trophy to Ken McClintock, 18, of 87 S. Parke St., as the club's "Boy of the Year." The presentation was one of the highlights of the annual father-and-son banquet last night at the Boys Club.

'MOST IMPROVED ATHLETE' — Fourteen-year-old Dennis Lofton, of 61 S. Sanford St., accepts trophy from Frank V. Cashman, Boys Club program director, after being voted the club's "Most Improved Athlete of the Year."

Approximately 400 dads and their lads were in the spotlight last night as the Pontiac Boys' Club kicked off its observance of National Boys' Club Week.

The club's annual father-and-son banquet was held in the gymnasium of the Boys' Club Building at 530 E. Pike St.

Serving the banquet meal were mothers and sisters of Boys' Club members.

More than 500 such clubs throughout the nation are holding special events during the week of April 6-12.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston read an official proclamation making this Boys' Club Week in the city.

The proclamation praised the club for "bringing growing boys together in an atmosphere of friendship, tolerance and understanding.

"The services rendered the city by the Boys' Club of Pontiac have been, and continue to be, an outstanding contribution and true cause for civic justification and pride," the proclamation said.

BOY OF YEAR NAMED

Winner of the most-prized trophy was 18-year-old Ken McClintock, 87 S. Parke St., who was named "Boy of the Year."

Also receiving awards were Art Arellano, junior preps; Dick Compton, boxer of the year; Dennis Loftin, most improved athlete; George Mays, outstanding basketball player; Paul Morey, most valuable to club; Art Cook, outstanding contribution to the club by a staff member; Dick Kirby, father of the year; and Pete Vasquez, Charlie Irish Trophy.

Among banquet guests were members of the Pontiac Central High School basketball team; City Commissioner Wesley J. Wood and Board of Education President Glenn H. Griffin.

The banquet marked the 15th anniversary of the founding of the Boys' Club in Pontiac.

Guest speaker was Dr. James McHugh, a Pontiac psychiatrist and mental health specialist. His subject was "The Importance of the Whole Boy."

Observance of Boys' Club Week continues today with a "Special Events Nite." Club members will bring friends and neighbors to the building where all departments will be open for view.

OPEN HOUSE SET

An open house will be held Wednesday night with new members being inducted.

The annual Miss Boys' Club contest will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday. A Miss Boys' Club, a younger sister or relative of one of the youthful members of the club, will be crowned.

Friday night will be devoted to showing of movies, with cartoons getting top billing.

The celebration of Boys' Club Week will end Saturday with the Boys' Club Carnival from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m.

State GOP Halts Upsurge of Dems, Takes 4 Posts

Voelker, both Democratic nominees, romped to easy triumphs in bids for the first full, eight-year terms, thereby retaining a Democratic majority on the high court.

2. Three constitutional propositions all carried in a breeze. The so-called continuity of government amendment went over by a margin of better than three to one.

3. Democrats in the 10th Wayne County House of Representatives District repulsed an all-out Republican bid to seize a clear cut house majority by taking a normally Democratic seat in a special election.

With 5,008 of the state's 5,182 precincts reporting, Democrat Lynn M. Bartlett coasted along on a 41,000 vote lead in a bid for a second two-year term as state superintendent of public instruction.

Here was the latest count in races for the part time, unsalaried posts on various education boards:

U. of M. regents (two seats)—with 5,020 precincts of 5,182 reporting, Democrats Ellis A. Wunsch 566,502 and William K. McInally 623,113; Republicans Ann Timmons Burgess 553,498 and Fred C. Matthaei 582,032.

State Board of Education (one seat) — with 5,020 precincts of 5,182 reporting, Democrat Cornelia A. Robinson 585,111; Republican Charles G. Burns 549,641.

MSU Board (two seats) — with 5,019 precincts of 5,182 reporting, Democrats Earl J. Bjornseth 557,275 and Warren W. Huff 586,011; Republicans Frank Merriman 593,394 and Arthur K. Rouse 546,114.

Wayne Board, six year term (two)—with 5,004 precincts of 5,182 reporting Democrats Melvin A. Bleich 564,389 and Mrs. Jean McKee 586,742; Republicans Ben D. Burdick 578,344 and Eddard G. Durance 546,114.

Wayne Board, four year terms (two) — with 5,019 precincts of 5,182 reporting, Democrats Michael Ference Jr. 590,755 and Leonard Woodcock 600,797; Republicans Albert B. Chennault 553,551 and Dr. Warren B. Cooksey 562,933.

Wayne Board, two year terms (two)—with 5,020 precincts of 5,182 reporting, Democrats Clair White 570,285 and Dr. Dewitt T. Burton 587,801, Republicans Whitney W. Ballantine 559,560 and Dr. Warren C. Lambert 561,248.

But for a record large turnout in Detroit and Wayne County, their main reservoir of strength, Democrats would have fared worse than they did.

Helped by keen interest in local school issues in Detroit, the Wayne vote on the statewide partisan ballot swelled to beyond 430,000, compared with just under 398,000 in the 1957 spring election.

Yesterday was the first time in four years that Democrats had failed to sweep all offices at stake in a statewide election, although President Eisenhower carried the state by a wide margin in 1956.

Fugitive Killed in Gun Battle

Companion Wounded in Fight With N. Carolina Police Officers

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C. (AP)—A desperate escaped prisoner charged with slaying a bank teller was killed and his companion captured during a blazing gun battle with police at a road block Monday night.

Officers said Charles Thomas Bradford, 29, who sat wounded and bleeding in his getaway car after the gun battle, may have committed suicide as Capt. C. R. Williams of the Highway Patrol grappled with him for his pistol.

The gun discharged, the bullet hitting Bradford in the neck. Already severely wounded, the final wound apparently caused Bradford's death.

No Dearborn Raises

DEARBORN (AP)—A pay raise for police and firemen was rejected by Dearborn voters yesterday. The vote was 18,831-13,704. The rejection vote followed the lead of Mayor Orville L. Hubbard. He strongly opposed a pay raise. Dearborn's voters turned out in record numbers.

Hayward, Niven Get Best Acting Awards

she said. "And above all thrilled and honored."

She added that it was the "most nervous day I have ever spent in my life."

Niven won the top actor award for playing a pathetic woman-molester in "Separate Tables." It was one of the few times in his career that he did not play what the trade calls "a David Niven type."

NIVEN HAPPY

Niven said: "Dammit, I must say I wanted to win and I'm happy I did."

He said he couldn't relax either and had to take a swim in an ice-cold pool in order to calm down enough for the big show.

"Gigi" got Oscars for best picture, best screen play based on material from another medium, best directing for Vincente Minnelli, best art direction, best color photography, best song (the title number), film editing, costume design and best scoring of a musical picture.

The music for "Gigi" was written by the "My Fair Lady" team of Frederick Loewe and Allen J. Lerner.

Lerner also got the award for the best screenplay for "Gigi."

Berl Ives, the 300-pound folk singer, took a night off from his show at Las Vegas' Flamingo Hotel to pick up his Oscar. He played a sort of Western Big Daddy in "The Big Country."

Miss Hiller was not in town to receive her award. Earlier she told a reporter by long distance phone from London that she couldn't understand how she ever got nominated. She played the lovelorn hotel manager of "Separate Tables."

CHEVALIER HONORED

One of the most popular awards was a special one given to Maurice Chevalier, who was called to the stand after completing a musical number with a bevy of Hollywood beauties.

Rosalind Russell presented the award to Chevalier.

The Irving G. Thalberg award for outstanding production over the years was given to Jack L. Warner, making one of his first public appearances since his near-fatal auto accident of last summer.

No Clue to Cause of W. Bloomfield $1½ Million Fire

The cause of the $1½ million blaze which swept the Stainless Ware Co. of America plant in West Bloomfield Township Sunday may never be known.

"There just isn't anything left to investigate," said Sgt. Oramel O'Farrell; State Police fire inspector of the Redford Post.

"We know where it started but will probably never know how it began," O'Farrell said. West Bloomfield Township Fire Chief Ben Moshier, whose 45 men battled the furious flames for five hours, agreed with him.

"We don't give up on things like this, but the fire and heat was so intense that its destructive force didn't leave much for us to go by. It just wiped out everything in its path, even clues," Moshier said.

Moshier and O'Farrell spent most of yesterday searching the twisted remains of the 32-year-old plant which employed 300 persons.

Richard W. Lewis, owner of the firm, said the plant was covered by insurance except for rented equipment.

Only Commission Seat in Race Goes to Burgum

BIRMINGHAM — Mayor Carl F. Ingraham and his running mate incumbent Charles W. Renfrew were a cinch to win yesterday's election to fill two seats on the City Commission, each for a three-year period.

They were unopposed.

Ingraham polled 3,615 votes and Renfrew, 3,719.

William H. Burgum whipped his opponent, Claude L. Kidd Jr., 2,770 to 1,040 in a race for the one-year Commission term.

Two members of the Library Board elected to three-year terms were Ann G. Miller, with 3,388 votes, and Daniel Nesbitt, with 3,128 votes.

The four-year term of associate municipal judge was won by his brother, Edward B. Emery with 2,272 votes to 1,628 votes for David F. Breck.

The items picked up on Island View drive included hypodermic needles, medicine bottles and capsules in a small box. The latter had a label saying the contents should be sold only by subscription.

Mrs. Plew's exhibit nearly sidetracked the discussion on parks as officials considered the serious implications of the items.

City Manager L. R. Gare said the items unquestionably came from nearby medical offices. He added that he had personally checked the incinerator there on several occasions and found it satisfactory.

Gare was asked to order an immediate check on the area to halt further incidents.

The Island View drive area on the Rouge River immediately east of Woodward avenue is one of the parcels involved in a 400-signature petition requesting that certain areas be dedicated as parks.

Gare displayed a pile of notes, about six inches thick, already compiled on parks and possible park sites. The petitions were tabled until the city could complete its own analysis.

A three-month-old theft case involving $38 stolen from a money box at the Fox and Hounds Inn was marked "closed" yesterday by Bloomfield Hills Police Capt. Walter Sluiter.

Sluiter said he recognized Pitts' name as that of a former weekend employe at the inn and, through the cooperation of Detroit Police, received a set of prints.

Mrs. Nicholas Takes Stand

Appears Calm, Tired as She Starts to Talk in Her Own Defense

By DON REEDER

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Looking more like a suburban housewife than an accused murderer, Mrs. Minnie B. (Connie) Nicholas calmly took the witness stand today in her trial for the shooting of her wealthy, married lover.

The long-awaited appearance of the 44-year-old divorcee broke a period of increasing tension that has been building up since the trial began March 16.

Every person in the crowded little courtroom listened intently as Mrs. Nicholas recited the story of her life that led to the killing of handsome drug executive Forrest Teel last July 31.

Worn by 15 days in court for her murder trial, the pert little brunette showed no emotion as she started her testimony, less than two hours after the defense opened its case.

"Let's just say I'm wearing down—I'm tired," the 44-year old double divorcee told newsmen as the defense opened its case.

When asked whether she was ready to go on the witness stand, she said:

The defense contends Forrest Teel was shot in a violent struggle with his mistress of 15 years.

The state contends she shot Teel deliberately because he had cast her off for a younger woman.

Clifford said Mrs. Nicholas told him: "I only meant to scare him. You don't shoot the man you love."

Mrs. Mary Popchieff, a general hospital nurse, testified Mrs. Nicholas "appeared to be confused" August 2, the day she came out of a coma from swallowing 75 sleeping capsules. That was the day police and newsmen interviewed her.

When she was asked whether she contemplated another suicide attempt, Clifford said she replied, "I won't have the chance, unfortunately."

Clifford said Mrs. Nicholas reported she followed Teel several times after learning that he was seeing Laura Mowrer, then 29.

"He really raised hell with me for following him," Clifford quoted Mrs. Nicholas as saying. "He never cheated on me, in all these years, before."

bench. He first donned the robes Jan. 1, 1936.

As the figures show, Judge Holland moved out in front fast and stayed there. He tallied twice as many votes yesterday as he did in the last county judicial balloting in 1953.

In that year, Murphy said, 57,000 went to the polls to pick three judges from among Holland, Doty, the late Judge George B. Hartrick and three newcomers.

Murphy predicted when the official figures are in following canvass of Monday's election, which began at 11 a.m. today, the total county turnout might reach an all-time high of more than 90,000.

"The local issues in the townships and cities, plus the attraction of picking the most circuit judges the county has ever had, were the big drawing cards," Murphy said.

Among the three newcomers who sought the position in 1953 was Beer. After being able to garner but 9,496 votes then, the 50-year-old native of Oakland County returned to his law practice until appointed to fill Judge Hartrick's post last August by Gov. G. Mennen Williams.

Beer's name appeared twice on countywide ballots yesterday. Besides being one of the 10 candidates for the five regular length terms, the Berkley resident was unopposed to fill out the vacancy he will hold until the end of the year. For this vacancy position Judge Beer tallied 34,150.

Between Judges Holland and Beer, in the final standings is a name familiar in Democratic circles and state affairs — Clark J. Adams.

Although by law Michigan's circuit judges have a non-partisan status, election returns have given Republicans a 3 to 2 edge on the local bench. Republicans endorse Holland, Ziem and Dondero, while Adams is with Beer on the other side of the political fence.

The 54-year-old Adams, of Waterford Township is the only local judge who has had higher judicial experience, having served a brief period on the State Supreme Court.

A former legal advisor to Gov. Williams and a state representative from Pontiac, Adams was also an appointee of the governor. He first ascended the local bench in 1956.

Although the judicial proceedings in the courthouse are run on a non-partisan basis, it took a cooperative effort of Democratic and Republican state representatives from Oakland to push through a bill to create the fifth and long-awaited judgeship last year.

Along with it came a provision of the governor that the new jurist must take office immediately after the election. Hence, the birth of the unusual warm-up judge to take office in another three months.

This was made all the more unusual when short-term winner Hughes was bumped out of one of the 10 nominee positions for the regular term. Had he been nominated and elected to the regular term Hughes could have stayed on through 1965 when the new terms will expire.

DOUBLE DEFEAT

His opponent for the short-term, Milton F. Cooney, a Pontiac attorney, suffered two setbacks.

A former public safety director for the city, he lost to Hughes (22,094 to 19,981) for the short term and finished next to the bottom in the 10-man race for the regular terms.

Cooney tried to persuade voters to "prevent a year-end change"—which now is a must—by telling them to vote for him twice, for both the short and long terms.

Missing by 10,000 votes of landing among the top five in the balloting was James C. Allen, former mayor of Birmingham and commissioner of the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission.

Allen placed behind Holland, Ziem, Dondero, and Adams (in that order) in the voting in Birmingham's 12 precincts.

Hampton, a Circuit Court commissioner for 21 years and a resident of Bloomfield Township, finished eighth in the balloting.

Pontiac, with the largest accumulation of precincts in the county, 44, voted this way on the 10 judge candidates:

Holland 6,149; Adams 6,006; Ziem 5,205; Beer 4,851; Finnegan 3,696; Cooney 3,439; Hampton 2,687; Dondero 2,342 Allen 1,987; and Brown 937.

Weight Curbs Lifted on Concrete Roads

Vehicular weight restrictions on Oakland County concrete highways will be lifted at noon tomorrow, the Oakland County Road Commission announced today.

Restrictions will remain in effect, however, on blacktop and gravel roads, the commission said. The restrictions apply to trucks and other heavy vehicles, not to passenger cars. They are intended to protect roads during the spring thaw.

Allied Disagreement Over Berlin Widespread

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Editor

Despite the honeyed words of the official communiques, there remain plenty of irritations and differences of opinions among the Western Allies on just how to deal with the Berlin question.

Fortunately, on one significant detail there is agreement: the West must not be forced out of Berlin, nor can it afford to sacrifice any of its riches there as defined under the Potsdam and subsequent agreements reached among the Western Powers and Russia.

But after that, the divergences are both wide and deep.

British newspapers have accused West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of undermining Prime Minister Harold Macmillan who has taken a leading role in attempts to find a basis for honorable negotiations between East and West.

British newspapers have been equally caustic in their criticism of some American generals, including Gen. Lauris B. Norstad, Allied commander in Europe.

The criticism springs from Norstad's firmly stated position that there should be no reduction in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's defensive powers and no agreement reached which would sacrifice its maneuverability.

Among other Allies, including the French, there was general disapproval of Macmillan's trip to Moscow and his private talks wtih Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Despite Macmillan's known record of having opposed appeasement of Hitler prior to World War II, there remains the suspicion that he would not be above some appeasement of Khrushchev now.

BITTER DISAGREEMENT

The very enormity of the tasks facing the foreign ministers and the men at the summit lends itself to bitter disagreement even among friends.

For example, one proposal would unify Berlin but would retain four-power guarantees and would invite United Nations participation to see that the guarantees were kept.

Such a proposal would mean that the city administration either of West Berlin or East Berlin would have to be abolished.

It may be considered certain that neither administration would thus invite political suicide.

Another proposal would lead to the gradual withdrawal of foreign troops in Central Europe, the area finally to include western sections of the Soviet Union.

That idea is reminiscent of the Polish plan of more than a year ago for a neutralized missile and atom-free belt across Central Europe.

Military men scoff at the idea of disengagement and point out that it would take modern missiles only a matter of minutes to cross any neutralized belt which might be set up.

Further, they point out that military maneuvering space in Europe is limited anyway and that any plan to pull Allied forces back from their present positions would give all the advantages to the Russians.

Finally, there is the question of East Germany itself. The ultimate objective of the Russians is to gain international recognition for a permanently separate East Germany.

Any sign of Western retreat here is met by the deepest suspicion both by the Adenauer government and by the West Berlin administration of Mayor Willy Brandt.

It has been obvious that the United States approaches the forthcoming foreign ministers' and summit conferences both with suspicion and pessimism.

There seems only one ray of hope. The question of Austria and Trieste at one time also seemed insoluble but solutions were found.

Rush U.S. Aid to Red Seaman

Coast Guard Cutter Streaking to Trawler on Mercy Mission

KODIAK, Alaska (AP) — A United States Coast Guard cutter slashed through the wind-whipped waves of the Bering Sea early today, rushing to the aid of a critically injured Soviet seaman.

The cutter Storis left Akun Bay on the Aleutian Island chain on an international mission of mercy to the Soviet trawler Pischavaya Industria, located about 100 miles to the north in the general direction of the Pribilof Islands.

The waves crested 10 to 15 feet high and winds of 30 to 48 miles an hour lashed the area, the Coast Guard said.

Object of the emergency trip was an unidentified Soviet seaman who fractured both arms and legs in a tumble into the hold of his ship.

A roundabout request for aid came from the Soviet Embassy in Washington to the State Department. That brought a coordinated effort by the Navy and Treasury Department, which has jurisdiction over the Coast Guard.

The plan was for the cutter to meet the Soviet vessel, administer first aid and then remove the seaman for transportation to a hospital at Anchorage. An amphibious plane was to meet the cutter at Dutch Harbor in the Aleutians to take the injured man on the last leg of the mercy trip.

Coast Guard officers said the seaman probably could be transferred from trawler to cutter by small boat in spite of the heavy seas—if the storm didn't get much worse.

The 230-foot Storis is ued to heavy going. It was one of three Coast Guard boats that followed a Canadian ice breaker through the Arctic Ocean. They became the first U.S. vessels to complete a trip around the continent when they returned to the West Coast by way of the Panama Canal.

Schocke Wins Race in Bruce Township

BRUCE TOWNSHIP — In the only race in Bruce Township, that of Justice of the Peace, James Schocke (D) unseated the incumbent, James J. Comella (R) by nine votes. The tally was 234 for Schocke to 225 for Comella.

All of the other incumbents, exclusively Republicans, were returned to office. They are: supervisor—John M. Bailey, 357; clerk—Conrad Turrell, 360; treasurer—Hazel Kohlhagen, 360; and trustee—Joseph Konarski, 337.

Will S. Sutherland received 338 votes for re-election as a member of the Board of Review. Charles Meeker polled 332 votes for re-election as constable. The other two candidates for two of the three remaining constable posts, Herbert Trieloff and James A. Reynolds, received 337 and 310 votes respectively.

Money and Liquor Stolen From Store

More than $600 and a half dozen bottles of liquor were taken this morning from a Pontiac grocery by burglars who gained entry by breaking a rest room window in the building, Pontiac Police said.

Stolen from cigar boxes behind the counter of Diny's Market, 78 Lull St., was $540 in U. S. currency and $89.30 in Canadian coins, the owner told police.

Labeling of Blood by Race Made Law in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus has signed into law a legislative measure to require labeling of blood for transfusions by race of donor.

Faubus said there was "a great demand by the public" for the bill. He said opposition of some physicians and others boiled down mainly to objections to the administrative detail of labeling.

The bill passed both legislative branches over spirited but numerically-slight opposition.

The measure was patterned after a Louisiana law. It was introduced by Rep. N. B. Murphy of Hamburg, Ark.

Seen as Help for Pro-Red Kassem

Soviets Send Troops, Weapons to Iraq

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—Reports that Soviet-armed Kurdish tribesmen are being shipped through the Suez Canal to Iraq aroused speculation today that the Soviet Union is helping Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem form a pro-Communist Foreign Legion.

Egyptian authorities said three Soviet ships — one carrying 855 fully armed Kurds and the other two loaded with military equipment—passed through the canal since Sunday bound for Iraq's big Persian gulf port of Basra.

The Kurds, though not Arabs, are scattered through Arab regions as well as into the Soviet Union and make up one million of Iraq's 6 million people. Many have long dreamed of carving out their own nation of the areas of northern Iraq, western Iran and eastern Turkey which they inhabit.

Observers at Port Said reported the tribesmen passing through the canal were Soviet citizens of Kurdish origin, from the southernmost regions of the Soviet Union. The United Arab Republic's Middle East News Agency said the Soviet Kurds were trained in guerrilla fighting.

The agency, without giving a source, said more Soviet ships, carrying new groups of Communists, are expected at Port Said en route to Iraq.

There was no foreign confirmation of the Egyptian reports. Nasser has ben waging a bitter campaign against Kassem, accusing the Iraqi premier of letting the Communists get the upper hand in Iraq. Kassem, with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev seconding him, has blamed Nasser for the recent unsuccessful army revolt in north Iraq.

Only a wek ago Kassem hinted he might grant the Iraqi Kurds self-government — a move that would meet with favor in Moscow. The leader of the Kurds is Sheik Mustafa Barzani, a Communist-indoctrinated mullah (priest) who spent 12 years of exile in the U.S.S.R. and returned to Iraq last summer, after Kassem overthrew the pro-Western monarchy.

The Communist-trained Kurds could form the nucleus of foreign legion units which the Egyptian press said Kassem is forming. Cairo papers said their mission is to oppose Arab nationalists in Iraq who want to swing their country closer to the U.A.R. and President Nasser and who are against the growing Communist influence in Baghdad.

The 1,030-ton Soviet ship Gruzia carrying the Kurd tribesmen was closely guarded during a brief stop at Port Said Monday. Officials said they had difficulty getting aboard to make a routine check.

Egyptian authorities said the Gruzia, which came from the Soviet Black Sea port of Odessa, appeared bound for Basra but her papers listed her destination as the Far East.

Another Soviet ship, the Nikilai Brigof, loaded with 9,000 tons of military equipment, also passed through the canal Monday for Basra, the Middle East News Agency reported. The 10,000-ton Soviet freighter Elia Teknikof, with arms for Iraq, moved through on Sunday night, the agency said.

Ithaca Gets 4-H Agent

From Under Their Noses

Two Firemen Hurt in Blaze at Stanton

STANTON (AP) — Two firemen were overcome by smoke in a fire that destroyed a grocery store and a movie theater in this Montcalm County community last night.

Miles Hozner of Sheridan, and David Schwarting of Stanton, both volunteer firemen, were treated at the Sheridan Community Hospital. Their injuries were not serious.

Five fire departments from a 25-mile radius were called to help fight the blaze.

The fire started in the basement of Watson's Market and spread to the Sun Theater next door. The movie house was not operating last night.

Because of low water pressure, water was trucked in by Montcalm County Road Commission vehicles. Hoses were run from a lake a quarter of a mile from the scene.

There was no immediate estimate of damage.

Three states are losing population: Mississippi, Oklahoma and Arkansas. The others are either growing or holding steady.

Variety of hospital-surgical plans helps a group tailor protection to its needs.

Throughout Michigan, employers are now offered a broad range of new Blue Cross-Blue Shield plans, remarkably flexible in benefits and cost.

Now companies can select a "package" of hospital and medical care geared to the coverage and cost the specific group desires.

To go with the new basic Blue Shield M-75 medical-surgical coverage, which provides realistic benefits for surgery, obstetrics, doctor's hospital visits and other medical services, the group can choose ANY of the following Blue Cross hospital care plans:

COMPREHENSIVE CONTRACT. This, the most extensive of Blue Cross plans, will pay the full cost of semi-private or ward accommodations, meals, general nursing, and virtually all other costly hospital services for 120 days.

$50 DEDUCTIBLE CONTRACT. This is a lower-cost Blue Cross plan which provides exactly the same benefits as the Comprehensive Contract, except the patient agrees to pay the first $50 for each hospital visit.

ECONOMY CONTRACT. This costs the least of any Blue Cross plan offered. It pays $14 a day for 30 days toward room, meals, and general nursing care, plus coverage of virtually all other costly hospital services without dollar limit.

SPECIAL FEATURES ALSO AVAILABLE

1. You can increase days of care from 120 to 365 for as little as 10 cents a month extra.

2. Employees may continue coverage under direct-payment contracts after retirement. Moreover, if the firm has a formal retirement program, and agrees to make deductions from retirement checks, the employee can continue group benefits at group rates.

3. Once a year, individuals can join Blue Cross-Blue Shield without belonging to a group. Non-group contracts pay for 30 days of care and up to $14 a day, plus "extra" services without dollar limit.

4. Any child who reaches his 19th birthday while his family is covered by a Blue Cross-Blue Shield plan may convert to his own contract immediately. No examination. No delay.

Blue Cross-Blue Shield offer flexible, realistic health care plans designed to meet the needs of the constantly changing practices of medical science. Remember, no health care plan in Michigan returns more money in the form of hospital-medical services to its members than Blue Cross-Blue Shield.

And Alec knows—a love like this deserves security. Blue Cross-Blue Shield health care helps provide it—even after retirement—and it'll never be canceled because of old age or long illness. What's more, Alec and Mary are protected against unexpected hospital or medical expenses. But then, perhaps you and your family are protected by Blue Cross-Blue Shield, too. Susan: Maturity in Acting
Niven: Not T-Shirt Type

By United Press International

Susan Hayward was born in Flatbush and made her name as an actress in Hollywood—but it wasn't until she became the wife of a small-town Georgia lawyer that she was awarded her greatest accolade—an Oscar.

Just two years ago, Miss Hayward and attorney Floyd Eaton Chalkley were married in a surprise ceremony in Phoenix, Ariz., and announced they would take up permanent residence in his home town of Carrollton, Ga.

It was a complete turnabout for the temperamental actress, who first attracted attention as the "Kiss Girl" in New York modeling circles because of her famous pucker—and later became one of the movies' most adept on-screen seductresses.

Yet Miss Hayward's superb performance in "I Want to Live" showed that the change, if anything, gave her a new maturity—a maturity that contrasted sharply with a past that included attempted suicide and a bedroom brawl with another actress over a man.

Just five years ago, Miss Hayward's personal life appeared to be in a tailspin. In 1954, she was divorced from actor Jess Barker. The next year, she tried suicide via the sleeping pill route.

In 1956, she admitted to detectives that she belted blonde actress Jil Jarmyn on the jaw when Jil found pajama-clad Susan in actor Donald Barry's bedroom.

But it was just about this time that Miss Hayward's acting career surged upward. She turned in a memorable performance in "I'll Cry Tomorrow," which won her her fourth Oscar nomination.

But she lost again, just as she had with the films "Smashup," "My Foolish Heart" and "With a Song in My Heart."

Miss Hayward, 39, was born Edith Marrener, daughter of a wire chief with the Brooklyn Transit Co. She studied art at Girls' Commercial High School and won a $75 prize in competition among high school commercial artists.

With the money she enrolled in a dramatic school following her graduation. Then she began the trips to Broadway producers' offices. She turned to a modeling career for only four months—but it was long enough to start her Hollywood career.

A magazine cover for which she posed brought several offers for screen tests, among them a bid from David O. Selznick to try for the coveted Scarlett O'Hara role in "Gone with the Wind."

She didn't get the part—Vivien Leigh did—but she was in Hollywood to stay.

Her films include "Beau Geste," "Adam Had Four Sons," "Reap the Wild Wind," "Jack London," "The Hairy Ape," "Tap Roots," "Tulsa," "I Can Get It for You Wholesale," "David and Bethsheba," "Snows of Kilimanjaro," "The President's Lady," "Untamed" and "Soldier of Fortune."

She is the mother of twin 14-year-old sons by Barker.

As an actress, Miss Hayward has always been proud of her sex appeal. She once described her famous sloe-eyed look thus:

"I keep my head lowered and look up at a man. Sort of sideways. Out of the corner of my eyes. Especially when he's lighting my cigarette. That'll get him.

"A pouting lip helps, but then mine pout naturally. I've always tried to play scenes with a superior air too. That gives the impression of trying to seduce someone."

By United Press International

David Niven might best be described as the complete gentleman.

Tall, slender, sophisticated and witty, he once told a friend he didn't think he could get past the first grade in today's "method" acting schools.

"I do not look my best in a T-shirt," he said.

A 25-year veteran of Hollywood movie-making, the wavy-haired Scot became best known for his well-dressed, light comedy parts.

It was therefore, a major acting victory for him to win his Oscar for portraying a pathetic, aging man who pretends to be an ex-major in the film "Separate Tables."

ANOTHER BIG ROLE

It was a major victory in another sense, too. No one, including himself, expected that he would ever have another role to match the one he had in "Around the World in Eighty Days."

In the Mike Todd classic, he starred as Jules Verne's Phileas Fogg in a picture marked also by bit part performances by the greatest names in show business.

Niven, 49, was born in Kirriemuir, Scotland, the son of Lady Comyn-Platt (Henrietta de Gacher) and Gen. William Graham Niven.

He attended preparatory schools until he took entrance examinations for the Royal Navy. When the navy toted up his score, it suggested he try for the army.

His first assignment was with the Highland Light Infantry in Malta. He found it dull. Transferred to Dover, he resigned his commission to start a new life in Canada.

After working for several month in lumber camps, he turned to writing and sold a series of articles to a Toronto newspaper. With the money he earned from his literary efforts, he moved to New York.

Soon he ran out of money and was forced to work off a laundry bill by delivering laundry door to door.

Nevertheless, he lived at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel and managed to pay his bills by representing a London wire company in the United States.

AID'S CUBA REBELS

Later he went to Cuba, where he served as a gunnery instructor to revolutionists. Shipping out to U. S. Pacific Coast ports, he ran across the MGM film company which was making "Mutiny on the Bounty" off Southern California. He went immediately into acting.

His 60-odd films include "The Moon Is Blue," "My Man Godfrey," "Soldiers Three," "Kiss in the Dark," "Without Regret," "Rose Marie," "Dodsworth," "Charge of the Light Brigade," "Dinner at the Ritz," Dawn Patrol," "Wuthering Heights" and "Raffles."

Niven has two sons, David Jr., 16, and Jamie, 13. Their mother was the late Mrs. Primula Susan Niven, who died at the age of 28 on May 21, 1946, when she fell down a stairway at the home of Tyrone Power while playing a game of blackout hide-and-seek.

Niven, who served in the British army as an officer from 1939-45, met Prim when he jumped into a slit trench and she was there—serving as a WAF.

"When I landed in the trench," he said, "she squealed and her dog bit me. She said, 'Why the Hell did you sit on my dog?' And I said, "Why the Hell do you have a Pekinese in a trench anyway?' That's how we got acquainted."

In 1948, Niven married his present wife, a red-haired former Swedish mannequin named Hjordis Tersmeden.

East German Plants Boom, Bentley Finds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Russian-dominated East Germany is making alarmingly good industrial progress, Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich) said today.

Bentley, just back from a precedent-breaking trip through East Germany, said he found a greatly accelerated industrial development, "Although it still is not comparable to West Germany's progress."

He said East Germany is becoming a "satellite showcase" for the Reds, "but I would prefer to think that their progress is due more to the industrious German nature — that they are succeeding in spite of Communism."

Jordan's King Hussein Welcomed in the U.S.

The current visit of King HUSSEIN of Jordan to this country is not considered an official one but it is welcomed as an indication of comparative tranquility in his own land.

Twenty-four year old HUSSEIN has ruled for seven turbulent years. One of his first acts, due to pressure from Arab Nationalists states, was to request the British to leave his country. They had been subsidizing Jordan to the tune of $35 million a year. The king was promised a like amount from Egypt, Saudi Arabia and other Arab states but he never received any assistance from them and the United States had to come to his aid.

Two years ago a movement to bring Jordan into the Baghdad Pact raised a storm in Egypt. Observers freely predicted that the Kingdom of Jordan wouldn't last long and that it soon would be divided among its neighbors. That has not happened due principally to the boldness, courage and intuition of Hussein and the men around him.

Last July when the government of Iraq was overthrown and his cousin King FAISAL assassinated, HUSSEIN foiled a plot against his own life. When U.S. Marines moved into Lebanon, British paratroopers came back into Jordan at the king's request.

Jordan never can support herself. It has no oil nor other economic resources and the country depends on United States and British aid. However, it is important as a buffer in the Arab-Israeli struggle and as an outpost of the West and the United Nations. Most of its present population consists of U.N. supported Palestinian Arab refugees and is more anti-Israeli than pro-Jordan.

King Hussein is being welcomed in the United States not only for his fine personal qualities but as a proven and able friend of the West in helping to preserve the Middle East from either Cairo or Moscow domination.

Jack Frost Bit Deeply Into Ground This Year

Although the past winter is rated as rather severe, the ground never was covered with snow to the depth of many former years.

Without this snow covering as a blanket, the frost penetrated into the ground to lower levels than for many years past.

Depending largely on the nature of the soil, the ground in the Pontiac area was frozen to a depth of from two to five feet.

The solid texture of the clay loams resisted the frost, so they were frozen to a depth averaging about two feet.

But the porous gravel and sand areas allowed the frost to seep down to an average of around four feet.

On soil that had recently been worked over through excavation or filling work, and did not have the opportunity to settle back into its normal condition, the ground was frozen solid up to five feet.

The spring thaws are doing a good job at loosening the surface soil, and putting it into condition for cultivation and growth, but it will be a few weeks yet until it loses the effects of the frozen ground underneath.

Spring plowing has commenced in some fields, but whether or not the new crops get a seasonal start depends on what Jack Frost has yet in store for us.

While wheat generally went through the winter in good shape, after the advanced growth it received last autumn, it would have benefited by a better covering of snow during the cold months. It also now runs the risk of "lifting" from the ground if we have too many spring thaws and freeze ups between. The same is true of hay and forage crops that carried over from last year.

The biggest tragedy of the deep freeze promises to be in the resulting condition of our highways (both paved and otherwise) as the frost goes out.

ALAS, there are millions and millions of mild cigarettes, but there isn't a mild cigarette commercial spieler in a carload.

The Man About Town

Want That $250?

Then Don't Forget to Make Those Entries in Contest

Hospital: Where there wouldn't be so many pedestrian patients if we had more patient pedestrians.

The final day in the baseball contest is approaching. The prize is $250 in U.S. bonds. It goes for the nearest correct answer to—

What player who has been at bat at least 25 times will be leading the American League on the night of Thursday, April 23, and what will be his batting average?

Every member of your family can compete, but each entry must be on a separate piece of paper. It costs nothing to enter.

Looks easy, doesn't it? And it is easy, if you'll spend a minute in doing your part. Remember that—

All entries must be received in The Pontiac Press office by noon on Friday, April 10.

And that's Friday of THIS week. Your neighbors probably have already sent their entries. Do you want one of them to win the $250?

Yes, 'twas a hard winter, but

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Orcutt

of Waterford when their food supply in the Clinton River was frozen up, now continue to come to the house every day for handouts.

As we emerge from what we consider a hard winter, it is noteworthy that this very day is the 73rd anniversary of the worst snow storm in Pontiac's history. 'Twas on that Saginaw St. was drifted full. All business ceased and our city was isolated from the world the better part of a week.

Springing into yellow glory within four feet of a snow bank, a forsythia bush in the yard of

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Holdsworth

of Clarkston hurls happy defiance at a lingering winter.

Only a pioneer can remember when our sister city of Flint had the largest buggy whip factory in the world. The auto age put it out of business. However, word now comes to me from of Ann Arbor, industrial development consultant, that if it hadn't died so soon the federal government now would insure its survival through some fantastic financing scheme.

And Doing Fairly Well, Too

David Lawrence Says:

British Press Hurts U.S. Relations

WASHINGTON — What kind of "iron curtain" is there between Britain and the United States?

LAWRENCE

Do the British correspondents stationed in this country send back home an objective story of what's been happening in the American government—or, if they do, is it possible that certain British newspapers ignore the facts and are unaware that they are breeding ill feeling between the two countries?

These questions are important because it is so desirable for the British and American governments to work together nowadays lest there be an enlargement of the already sizable section of public opinion in America which believes that "foreign aid" is superfluous and that "mutual security" is merely an excuse for pouring out American billions.

The latest example of a serious misunderstanding was reported widely last Saturday when the Associated Press distributed throughout this country a dispatch which said in part:

"Do American generals talk too much? A British newspaper claims they do and thus imperil the world's hopes for peace. . . .

"Britain's largest daily, the tabloid 'Daily Mirror' which leans toward Labor Party (Socialist) views, devoted its entire front page Friday to an editorial attack on 'meddling American generals.' . . .

"The 'Mirror' has not been alone in its sentiments. The day before, the laborite 'Daily Herald' and the liberal 'News Chronicle' reported the British government planning to protest recent testimony before Congress by Gen. Nathan Twining, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Gen. Thomas E. White, U. S. Air Force chief of staff, about the war readiness of Allied rocket bases in Britain."

Is it possible that the British people were not informed previously by their correspondents in New York and Washington that the Eisenhower administration had been accused week after week by prominent Democrats in Congress of letting the Soviet Union "get ahead of us," including charges that the "missile gap" is dangerous and that the President has been sacrificing the safety of his own country for the sake of "budget balancing"?

Have the newsmen from Britain told their editors and the British public that this barrage had to be answered publicly and that convincing or reassuring words could come only from the military chiefs in the American government?

Is it possible that the British newsmen do not understand the currents of American politics? They surely must know partisanship isn't much different on this side of the Atlantic from what it is in the battles between the British Socialist Labor Party and the Conservatives in England.

American newsmen in London have reported faithfully to the American people that Prime Minister Macmillan has had to touch on many topics in his debates in the House of Commons that seem unfortunate from an American standpoint—such as "thinning out" of Allied troops and "disengagement"—but this doesn't result in front-page editorials denouncing him for "talking too much."

There are differences of opinion expressed in the press here, and some concern, too, that the British Socialist Labor Party, like its Conservative counterpart under Chamberlain, may drag America into another world war through the paths of appeasement.

But certainly there is no objection voiced to the fullest expression of views by British officials and the press. Indeed, there has been in this country even a recognition of the fact that Prime Minister Macmillan is in a tight spot politically and must maintain a "flexible" position with respect to the "summit" conference, for example, because he is under such heavy political attack by the Socialist Labor Party and its "left wingers."

To cry out that the American generals "talk too much" is misdirected criticism.

Rather it should be directed to all those politicians who not only talk too much but who, when they see a political advantage to be gained, actually appease too much and thus pave the way for an enemy to miscalculate on the West's being too weak or too scared to resist—the very way that world wars in the past have been provoked.

"In reference to your recent article on 'rheumatiz,'" writes a real doctor, "you are correct in stating that the arthritis of older people is one associated with a degenerating or aging process..."

DR. BRADY

I'm sure the doctor doesn't mean to put words in my mouth, but I must insist that I did not so state. What I have said here over and over is that insidiously developing joint disability of a year or longer standing is degeneration of joint tissues.

It is NOT arthritis of any type.

The doctor further explains that as the degenerating or aging process becomes well advanced "it can be designated as chronic arthritis of the degenerative type."

I can't see any difference between degeneration and a process of the degenerative type, except that the latter may break it gently if the patient is not well informed.

The doctor closes his very courteous letter with this plea:

"Please do not introduce any new terms — we have enough trouble teaching interns the old ones."

On the other hand, I learned from experience that if your patient has joint disability of insidious onset and long duration you can't tell him right off the bat that the trouble is degeneration of the joint tissues without risk of driving the patient away. Other doctors are ready and willing to tell him the trouble is arthritis — and thanks to the laxity of medical language most people with joint trouble still imagine arthritis is a specific malady for which there is a specific remedy, old or new.

This notion keeps millions of poor souls with chronic joint disability "trying" one nostrum or miracle medicine after another, as long as the merchant of medicine cares to exploit such credulity.

I gave this difficulty a good deal of thought before I decided to suggest a new name for physical degeneration of joint tissues, a name which I hoped would hold the patient until the doctor could make him see the truth. The name I suggested is RHEUMATIZ, not rheumatism. Now I am not so sure it will do so.

Unfortunately there is still a good deal of snobbishness about labeling chronic joint disability — the $300 snobbishness that made victims of chronic joint disability so eager to have the newfangled, exclusive ailment called "arthritis."

The Country Parson

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Try This if You Can't Get to Sleep

Marsha is a teenager who says she can't close her eyes till midnight, even though she must hop out of bed next morning by 7 A. M. She wants to know how to go to sleep earlier and how to get more benefit from her slumber. Scrapbook this case, for it contains facts about the psychology of sleep.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case B-402: Marsha D., aged 14, is a high school freshman.

"Dr. Crane, I share a room with my youngster sister Sally, who is 12.

"But we both have trouble falling asleep at night. It may take us till midnight before we drop off into slumber.

DR. CRANE

"Since we must get up at 7 a. m., for school, that doesn't give us enough sleep.

"So we are dopey the next night and can't study our homework. Can you give us any suggestions? And how much sleep should a teenager have?"

SLEEP PSYCHOLOGY

Marsha and her sister should have at least nine hours of sleep per night.

This means they should be deep in slumber by 10 p. m., if they must hop out of bed next morning at 7 o'clock.

But to be snoring by 10 p. m., you must go to bed 15 or 30 minutes ahead of that hour, for most of us have a pre-sleep ritual that consumes several minutes.

For example, I start out lying on my back, with my head on the pillow. After I grow drowsy and am about ready to drop off into sound sleep, I roll over on my abdomen and stick my head under the pillow.

And I must kick the sheets out from under the end of the mattress so I can stick one foot out to keep cool. That foot serves much as the radiator of an automobile.

One reason why Marsha and Sally lie awake so long is the fact they talk to each other.

Thus, when one is just dropping into a doze, the other speaks up and thus jolts the first one into wakefulness.

So thay should make it a solemn rule not to speak after the 10 o'clock curfew.

This arbitrary silence is likewise essential if you are trying to get a room full of youngsters asleep.

Children from 6 to 12 years of age will lie awake till midnight, prodding each other by giggles or conversation, although all of them are almost dead for slumber.

But if you place an adult in the barracks or large sleeping room, and he acts as monitor, he can have the entire group sound asleep in about 3 minutes just by forcing them to keep quiet.

Quietness send tired youngsters into dreamland, just as darkness will immediately put chickens to sleep.

SLEEP PRODUCERS

Heavy readers, as well as TV fans, should bathe their eyes with hot water, then cold, and alternate for several minutes prior to going to bed, for this helps increase the blood supply to tired eyes and thus gives them more relaxation.

Also, take a glass of milk or a sandwich just before retiring, for food in your stomach also makes you sleepy.

Don't leave a radio or TV turned on, for the chatter thereon will delay your slumber.

Say your prayers, too, for when you confess your problems and ask God to take over the night shift, you relax faster and will enjoy sounder slumber.

Keep a notebook at the head of your bed, so if any last-minute ideas for tomorrow pop into your head, you can jot them down and thus not try to hold them in memory till morning.

And use an alarm clock, for you will enjoy better slumber if some outside agency is responsible for waking you next morning.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Result of Police Hearings Brings Readers' Response

Now that the Straley hearings are over, maybe I can get some sleep. But where do we stand?

We still have the same factions in the department and until officers learn to work together the taxpayers have gained nothing. Mr. Straley's record and training as a police officer puts Mr. Eastman in the shade, and putting him out of office isn't the first mistake the administration has made.

After listening to the civil service proceedings I believe the attorneys should be congratulated for their fine presentation, both for and against the respondent, and the fair and impartial rulings of the Commission's legal advisor, James Hartrick.

Clarence Smith and Phil Pratt presented the defense with a clarity and conciseness that showed their excellent legal abilities and ethics. Especial note should be taken of the outstanding presentation at issue by our City Attorney, William Ewart, his expert and adroit handling of each witness certainly shows that citizens of Pontiac are most fortunate in having as their legal counsel a man of Mr. Ewart's capabilities.

With the gracious expertness of the old time legal warrior, Floyd Blakeslee, these men conscientiously performed a task that probably was both difficult and distasteful.

Williams, Unions Get Support Here

Williams has done fabulously as Governor. Beset by a Republican House, the gas tax was passed over his head after he vetoed it twice and then delayed it twice more. Big business taxes have been cut three times. Republicans don't like unions in politics and said it's against Lincoln's rules. I say "liar." Labor should back Williams all the way to the White House and as far as contributions are concerned, how about the money Mr. Broomfield got from the Teamsters?

Blames Solons for Funds Lack

U. of M. Hospital Won't Take Children's Cases Until State Pays Again

LANSING (UP)—Auditor General Frank S. Szymanski today blamed the Legislature for lack of funds to care for crippled and afflicted children at the Ann Arbor University Hospital.

Szymanski answered a letter from Dr. A. C. Kerlikowske, hospital director.

The hospital director reported state money for the care of the children was still owed from the previous fiscal year. He said only emergency cases could be cared for pending additional state money.

Szymanski replied that the complaint more properly should be directed to the Senate Appropriations and House Ways and Means committees.

He reported the Legislature has failed to act on a request for a $512,650 deficiency appropriation for the 1957-58 fiscal year and a one million dollar supplemental appropriation for the current fiscal year.

The hospital's decision to accept patients from the state mental institutions at Lapeer, Coldwater, Caro and Northville, the Michigan Children's Institute at Ann Arbor, the Girls Training School at Adrian and cases referred by the state Crippled Children's Commission.

Merit Plan in Car Insurance Hailed by Company Officials

By JACK VANDENBERG
UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT — Most insurance officials feel the merit rating plan of automobile insurance is the fairest way to provide protection for motorists but many of them are skeptical over whether it will be practical, a United Press International survey shows.

The merit plan, which will be tested on a large scale for the first time in California beginning May 1, provides lower insurance rates for motorists with good driving records and higher rates for drivers with poor records.

Under the California plan, the drivers would be divided into three groups — those who have had no accidents or traffic violations in the last three years, those who have had only one violation or accident, and those who have had three or more.

The first group would get lower insurance rates. The second group's rates will remain about the same. The third group's rates will go up.

"We're glad to see other segments of the insurance industry adopt the plan we pioneered three years ago in Ohio and now have out in the pioneer stage," said Charles Eberhard, vice president and treasurer of the National Casualty Co., Detroit, one of the first companies to experiment with merit rating.

"We now provide this plan in Michigan too and will be introducing it shortly in other states. This plan recognizes that safe drivers should be able to earn a preferred insurance rating and that unsafe drivers should pay more for their insurance."

Most state insurance commissioners favored the plan, although many foresaw problems connected with it.

"A driver who goes three years without an accident is at least entitled not to have his rates increased and a man who is a frequent violator should have his rates upped," said Florida Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson, who said he hoped the plan would be extended to his state.

Lawrence Leggett, Missouri insurance commissioner, who already has seen some results of the plan because independent insurance companies are trying it there, also was enthusiastic about it.

"Missouri would welcome such a plan that rewards safe drivers," he said. "It's something we have wanted for a long time."

Most other insurance commissioners preferred to wait to see the results of the California experiment, although they said they "personally think it is a good idea."

This attitude was expressed by insurance commission officials in Colorado, Wyoming, Washington, Illinois and Utah.

Three states, New York, Louisiana and Michigan, which have state-operated "assigned risk" plans which force bad drivers to pay higher rates, expressed different attitudes.

Deputy New York Insurance Superintendent Newell G. Alford Jr. said, "This is the kind of thing we want to see tried."

Louisiana Insurance Commissioner Rufus Hayes said he would wait until the California plan proves successful before considering it for his state.

Michigan insurance officials said the plan offers "great hope" but there also were "a great many things that could go wrong."

Idaho Commissioner Leo O'Connel pointed out the plan would be "workable only in states where authorities maintain adequate traffic accident records."

Miss Fannie Hardy, executive assistant to Arkansas Insurance Commissioner Harvey G. Combs, said she doesn't consider the plan feasible.

"Insurance companies in recent years have paid out more in claims than they have taken in," she said. "This plan will not settle that problem."

"How in the world could state departments keep up with the records," Arizona Insurance Director George V. Bushnell asked. "It would require greatly increased staffs."

Alcoholism Institute Opposes Merger

LANSING (UP)—The Michigan Institute of Alcoholism programs has taken a stand against Gov. Williams' plan to merge the State Board of Alcoholism with the Health Department.

The institute represents 18 official and private agencies working with alcoholics throughout Michigan.

Gov. Williams proposed the merger as part of his program to reorganize state government.

The institute said the merger would reduce the flexibility of the board and endanger gains it has made.

"The whole program," the institute added, "could be swallowed up in another division that had no interest in alcoholism."

Michiko Beat the Crown Prince 'Love Match'

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

TOKYO — This is the week when the future Emperor of Japan marries the beautiful young tennis player who beat him "love match" no matter what the scorer called it.

He being descended from the great-grandson of the sun goddess, who found Japan's ruling dynasty in 660 B.C. — and she being a simple tycoon's daughter — there are certain to be references to "Cinderella marriage."

Say Sayonara to that idea, and consider:

The prince discovered this commoner wearing tennis sneakers; definitely not glass, nor even the currently-popular plastic, slippers.

Her skin is the color of butterscotch, rather than the usual rose petals. Michiko Shoda does not even eat rose peddles (a 19th century oriental custom) so far as is known.

Instead of a fairy godmother to make her attractive, she has a mean backhand.

Rather than pumpkins for a coach, Michoko drives whichever limousine she has a yen for. And her daddy, being a flour mill owner, can give her plenty of yen.

So we, personally, will avoid referring to the April 10th wedding of Crown Prince Akihito as a "Cinderella story." It is not even a "Bobo Rockefeller story" nor a "Grace Kelly story."

It is quite unlike any story in history . . .

Before young Prince Akihito met Miss Shoda in a hot doubles match on the hot 18th of August, 1957, no member of the Japan imperial family ever had seriously considered marrying outside royal circles.

The ruling family had intermarried among its relatives for so many centuries — roughly 27 — that it is surprising to this westerner they don't have peaked heads and blue ribbons, like overbred collies. Descended from the legendary Jimmu, great-grandson of the sun goddess, so the story goes, it is the only dynasty that ever ruled Japan.

Not until their sudden defeat in World War II did the royal family begin, by force, to study Western ways.

Slowly, ever so slowly, the people in the larger cities began to adopt Western clothing (the crown prince met his bethrothed in brief, pleated tennis skirt).

And, as must come to all races, the emancipation of women was the next step.

It is said that Akihito, seeing the trend toward a more democratic Japan, and recognizing it as not only an inevitable but also a beneficial movement, decided long ago to break tradition by marrying a commoner. Some unromantic protestors believe, in fact, that his choice of Miss Shoda was as coolly political a marriage-match as the imperial tradition of selecting a royal mate through study of the blood-lines.

It has been reported that he told classmates at Gakushuin University, years ago, that he wanted to lift the "chrysanthemum curtain" between the throne and the people by selecting an upper-nobility sort of bride.

However, these scoundrels and iconoclasts cannot dim the excited imaginations of the Japanese people, who see the upcoming nuptials as the most poignant love story since Madame Butterfly — and the greatest tribute to the people since time began.

Faithful Flock to God-King

Dalai Lama Starts Inland

NEW DELHI (AP) — Tibet's Dalai Lama prepared to leave the remote monastery town of Towang today and push deeper into India as the Buddhist faithful flocked to pay homage to the fugitive god-king.

The Dalai Lama was expected to continue his slow journey today through the mountainous northeastern zone which is barred to all outsiders because of Naga tribesmen who for years have been warring for independence.

Bomdilla, a military headquarters some 70 miles off, was believed to be the next goal. The journey on horseback was expected to take four or five days.

The party was reported moving in two groups—with a large advance patrol serving as guard to the 23-year-old ruler and his top aides. With the 80 Tibetans is a strong guard of Assam state riflemen and constabulary in addition to Indian army units.

The young ruler, venerated by his people as the reincarnation of Buddha, was reported making frequent stops to bless followers who flock in from the surrounding countryside.

At Sheo, a village just before Towang, the Dalai Lama was held up for several hours by 450 Buddhist monks who offered up special prayers, appealed or blessings and knelt to kiss the ground he trod upon.

En route to Bomdilla lies Barkhar, a village where the sixth Dalai Lama was born. The present Dalai Lama, the 14th will have to make a special stop there.

Reliable sources at Shillong, 150 miles south of Towang in Assam state denied reports the Dalai Lama was sick and fatigued. They said he distributed traditional colored scarves with his blessing to several hundred Buddhists who appeared at the Towang Monastery Monday.

P. N. Menon, chief of press relations for India's Foreign Ministry, headed toward the northeast frontier to intercept the Dalai Lama before foreign newsmen reach him.

Prime Minister Nehru dispatched Menon to learn whether the Tibetan ruler intended to say anything about the Red Chinese campaign to subjugate his homeland that could endanger relations between New Delhi and Peiping. Nehru was expected to insist that in exchange for refuge in India, the Dalai Lama refrain from public statements that would incur Peiping's wrath.

Nehru already has said that the Dalai Lama is being given a haven as a spiritual ruler only and will not be allowed to set up a government in exile.

The British-owned newspaper Statesman reported, however, that the Dalai Lama is carrying with him the red seal—the insignia of his position as head of the Tibetan government. A former prime minister of Tibet, Silun Lukhangwa, told newsmen the Tibetan people believe the seat of their government is wherever the Dalai Lama lives with his red seal.

The Red Chinese have elevated the rival, 21-year-old Panchen Lama to the throne of Tibet, declaring he will rule until the Dalai Lama returns to Lasa, the Tibetan capital.

New Delhi newspapers said Nehru's home state of Uttar Pradesh may play host to the Dalai Lama in exile. They said the 7,000-foot-high hill station of Mussoorie, 150 miles northeast of New Delhi, was mentioned but that no selection would be made until the Dalai Lama is consulted.

Machines Beat Man at His Own Games

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two electronic gadgets that play games with human opponents will highlight an exhibit of communications equipment opening today at the Commerce Department.

One machine plays a game called "21" which involves lighting 21 bulbs in succession. A human player and the machine take turns switching on the lights — one to three at a time — and the one to light the last one loses.

The machine can be set for four intelligence levels. At the simplest level, a human has a good chance to win, but otherwise the odds are with the machine.

Another device plays tic-tac-toe. Since it never makes a mistake, the best a human player can do is achieve a tie.

Unidentified Body Buried in Coffin Brings On Probe

WESTPORT, Con. (AP) — Connecticut's health commissioner is seeking to solve the mystery of a grave with an unregistered occupant.

Stephen Kalabany of Norwalk, was puttering in his family plot in the Greens Farms Colonial Cemetery in Westport last year.

He found a depression in the land and dug down several feet, found a coffin. When he opened it, he said, he saw the body of a man. He covered everything back up again.

Police found no record of a body in that spot. They said that because the cemetery has been in use so long there could be some anonymous bodies resting there.

Polic did not dig into the matter further. They said it was out of their jurisdiction.

Health Commissioner Dr. Stanley H. Osborne, who must keep a record of all deaths and burials in Connecticut, wants the matter cleared up.

Lorin W. Willis, Fairfield County state's attorney, said he is obtaining legal authority to make a search for the body at Dr. Osborn's request.

Willis said he expected to come up with something, if not the body within a few days.

Yankus Is Bitter About Conduct at Farm Auction

DOWAGIAC (UPI) — Farmer Stanley Yankus is nursing bitter feelings about the Saturday auction at which he sold his farm so to get money to emigrate to Australia.

Yankus, who wants to leave the United States rather than bow to the government wheat acreage allotment program, said the auction crowd of 2,300 turned his home into a "three ring circus."

What's more, Yankus said, someone stole $16 from his 13-year-old son.

Takes 4 Lives, Then Kills Self

Man Strangles His 3 Children and Sister, Sets House Afire

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—An ailing father strangled his three children and spinster sister Monday, then died in the home he set afire.

Kirk Kraus, 47, strangled the four with a clothesline. Then he met his wife at the front door as she came home from work.

"Our worries are over," he said. "I killed the kids."

He hit her and grabbed her throat. She twisted free and fled to a neighbor's house where she gasped out the alarm.

Before help came, flames burst from the three-story home. Firemen found dead or dying on every floor, starting at the basement.

They were Linda, 12, Donald, 9, and Richard, 8, and Kraus' sister, Elizabeth, about 50.

On the top floor, near the flames, lay the 200-pound, six-foot Kraus, dying of smoke inhalation in the house where he was born.

A factory worker, he went on sick leave a year ago, stayed weeks in a veterans hospital for surgery on his legs, then spent some time on crutches.

He hadn't worked since. His wife, Frances, was employed as a clerk-typist for the New Haven Register.

At a hospital where Mrs. Kraus was treated, a priest told her the whole story. She took it quietly.

Her two boys were choir boys in a Roman Catholic church.

Negro Wins Judgeship

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — John T. Letts became west Michigan's first elected Negro judge by scoring an overwhelming victory over Murray B. DeGroot for municipal judge in yesterday's balloting.

Hal Boyle Says:

Actor Oscar Homolka Has Come Long Way

NEW YORK (AP) — Oscar Homolk, who once slept on cafe table tops, now has an art collection he values at $500,000.

In the past Homolka has been nominated for the award. But Oscar is still Oscarless. It doesn't worry him.

A crowded lifetime on two continents has left Homolka philosophic about fortune, good or bad. Now starring in the Broadway drama, "Rashomon," he started acting at 18 in his native Vienna for about $9 a month.

"After I was paid for my first engagement," he recalled, "I had to decide whether I would eat or rent a room for the night.

"I decided on eating, and I slept in the coffee house on a table. I lived like that for three months.'

Today he thinks a measure of hardship is good for beginners in show business.

"Those who are sensible give up," he said. "It is too tough for them. But if there were nothing but glamour, too many would stay in the business who ought to get out.

"There's nothing worse than an unsuccessful actor. He has a miserable life."

The beetle-browed actor, noted for his skill at Russian roles, has portrayed Soviet leaders ranging from Leong Trotsky to Premier Nikita Khrushchev. But although he is fluent in English, German and French, he has never learned to speak Russian.

In his youth he spent 2½ years with Austrian ski troops in Italy during World War I.

Oscar loves good living, and one of the sorrows of his life is that he has to diet to keep his chunky frame mobile.

"But you have to make the best of what is possible," he remarked, growling pleasantly as he put on his monocle and inspected his entire lunch—a chunk of ground meat and nothing else.

Here is Homolka:

"Two things I hate most deeply: sloppiness of mind and intolerance. People won't take the trouble to think even to the extent of their limitations.

"Stupid people bore me. I prefer a crook to a stupid person. You can deal with a crook, but with a stupid person you are up against a double wall.

"I don't believe in fear. What is the use of being afraid? That won't change anything.

"Everybody gets at least one big chance, and usually two or three. You can always look back and say, 'That was the moment!'

"Success that is thrown in your lap is one of the greatest of dangers.

"My greatest pleasures are reading and looking at beautiful paintings. I started collecting French impressionists at a time when one could afford to. In collecting, as in anything else, you should aim only at the best. You're never in trouble if you go only for top quality."

Homolka is in no trouble at all. One Renoir for which he paid $15,000 now is valued at $200,000. And it has been a long, long time since he had to sleep on a cafe table.

Children Abduction Charges Dismissed

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Child stealing charges have been dismissed against two men who claim they were offered $5,000 by the ex-wife of a steel executive to abduct the couple's three children and take them to Florida.

Richard Moulton, San Jose, Calif., private detective, and Charles Lewis, Warm Springs, Calif., railroad conductor, were captured at a police roadblock March 30 with two sons of Richard Raese. A third youngster jumped into a swimming pool and avoided being taken from the home that Raese had rented at this desert resort.

The district attorney Monday asked that the charges be dismissed because Raese has left the state with the children. Presumably he returned to Morgantown, W.Va., where he is executive vice president of Greer Steel Co. Without the father in court the state has no case, the district attorney said.

Have Customers Smiling in Jig Time

Grocer, Butcher Fiddle as They Work

By LYDIA ROTHMAN

Down in Birmingham there's a grocery store where the owner's chief delight in life is "to lighten the hearts and feet of my customers."

Stop in any time of day at Olsen's Market and you will find two "old-time fiddlers" behind the meat counter. Over the chopping block is a dulcimer and on a string over the shelves in the back is a "fiddle."

QUICK TO PLAY

At the slightest provocation —or when the spirit moves them—Merritt Olsen, beaming-faced owner of the store, and his butcher Harold Rood, will lay down their butcher tools, pick up their instruments and play some of the liveliest country music you ever heard.

It all started long ago. Mr. Olsen has played the violin since he was 15 and Mr. Rood for as long as he can remember. One day, Mr. Olsen acquired a dulcimer, an ancient stringed instrument played with mallets and used primarily for accompaniment.

The two learned to play the dulcimer and then "Harold brought his fiddle," and so they began playing lively jigs and country songs when business was a little slow or they just felt like it. It all started and has continued because they sincerely enjoy playing.

CUSTOMERS LOVED IT

Soon their playing became popular with customers, and once they were told, in a most forceful tone, to "NOT stop playing" by two ladies—They were dancing a jig right in between the vegetable bins and bread loaves.

Often on a late Saturday afternoon, Mr. Rood will "dare" Mr. Olsen to "play a tune." These sessions last on into the evening until one of their wives calls to remind them that dinner has been waiting.

Country music, like so many other things has become a thing of the past. But the two fiddlers with fellow musicians do still play for an occasional square dance and at the annual Birmingham School PTA affair.

So some time when you are feeling especially rushed or harassed with your shopping, stop in and listen to some authentic and lively fiddle music. We guarantee you'll come out whistling "The Girl I Left Behind Me" or doing a jig to "Red Wing."

Rebekah Lodges Hold Area Meeting

Japan in Grip of Wedding Fever

TOKYO (AP) — Wedding fever gripped the Japanese capital today.

At 10 a.m. a young man wearing bathing trunks, lensless horn-rimmed glasses, a placard, and Chinese characters covering his chest and back stepped from a taxi in front of the Imperial Palace and calmly dived in the moat around it.

Clutching the placard, he swam along the moat for about 200 yards then climbed out into the waiting arms of a policeman.

"Congratulations crown prince wedding," the placard read.

"Congratulations crown prince and Michiko" was the sense of the India-ink writing on his front and back.

"I have been a sandwich man for 10 years in the palace neighborhood," Hisashi Ando, 29, explained. "I wanted to congratulate the crown prince and Miss Shoda."

The police were expected to let him off with a mild reprimand, for Ando's stunt typifies the rising excitement over the wedding Friday of 25-year-old Crown Prince Akihito and Michiko Shoda, the first commoner ever destined to be a Japanese empress.

White, red and blue bunting is strung across the roads. Gay lanterns have been placed over the street light. Cherry blossoms—around the great Imperial Palace grounds, in shrines, in backyard gardens, all along the streets — bring spring glory to the dingy city.

Countless windows display photographs of the crown prince, his Samurai features stern and dignified, and Miss Shoda, a wistful half-smile on her lips.

Wedding presents for the imperial couple are piling up in custom sheds, embassy storerooms and imperial household cellars.

Thousands of young girls and their boy friends are preparing to tie the knot in Shinto shrines and wedding halls at approximately the same moment on April 10 that Michiko and Akihito become man and wife.

Householders living along the five-mile wedding procession are selling space to viewers. Refreshment vendors anticipate a landslide business at exorbitant prices.

Department stores are cashing in on the Michiko boom. Models of a young couple wearing tennis outfits—the pair met on the tennis court—or in bridal costumes fill display windows and counters.

Your Insomnia Is Personal

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

When I talked with Norman Dine, America's number one Public Sandman, at his Sleep Center in New York City recently, I was impressed with his enthusiasm and sincerity. I already have said in this column that he became interested in sleep because he himself suffered from insomnia. He really takes a personal interest in the sleep problems of others.

Many of the devices he has were inspired by working with doctors or with individuals who had unusual problems in sleeping. There is the bed which shifts your position when you push buttons. This was worked out with a physician and is a blessing to those who suffer from arthritis.

Mr. Dine told me about the problem one husband and wife had and his ingenious solution. The husband is a drama critic and the wife a designer. They live in the country but work in Manhattan. The husband, of course, got home late at night and the wife had to be at work around nine in the morning.

He was groggy from lack of sleep, since her alarm clock awakened him early each morning. They brought their problem to Mr. Dine. He advised a vibrator under the mattress on her side of the bed. This gently shakes the wife awake while the husband sleeps happily on.

There is every conceivable device for wooing slumber such as a pulsating mattress, a machine which makes a soothing, rhythmic sound, one which sounds like rain on the roof, and pillows of every size, shape and consistency.

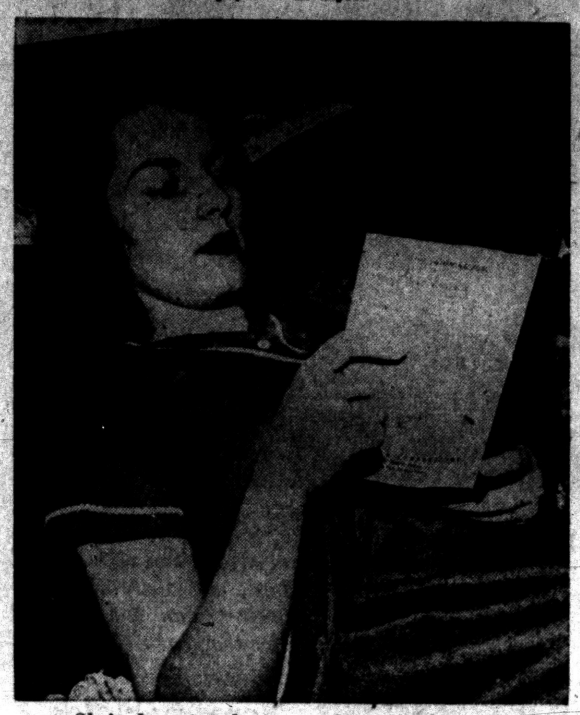

Norman's Sleep Center is like the crossroads of the world. If you are there very long, you will see a large percentage of the world's well-known and famous personalities.

Mr. Dine told me that one day he looked up to see Mary Martin testing a mattress by bouncing on it. He said, "I do not charge anything for the bounces." She replied, "I don't charge anything for the show."

If you have trouble sleeping, you should attack the problem from two viewpoints. First try to learn to control your inner tensions or at least drop them before going to bed. There is a wonderful book which will help you relax. It is called "You Must Relax. Its author is Doctor Edmund Jacobson and it is published by McGraw-Hill Inc.

The second step is to take stock of your sleeping equipment and the atmosphere in which you slumber. Is your mattress right for you? What about your pillows? Is light or noise making sleep impossible?

If you would like to have my leaflet "Shuteye" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 34. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: "Rub a Dub Dub, Everybody's in the Tub—And In It In Style!"

She's learning how to relax — before she tries to sleep.

Forties Are Crucial Years for Planning

RUTH MILLETT

Want to be happy at 60?

Then you'd better start preparing for a happy old age in your forties. That's the advice of Dr. Smiley Blanton who has written a book addressed to the middle-aged called "Now or Never."

Doctor Blanton lists several good reasons why a person should begin in his forties to lay the foundation for a happy old age.

The first reason is that in the years between 40 and 50 a person is at an age where "change and personality expansion are still wholly possible."

By age 40, too, a person should be able to see himself clearly, knowing his own strengths and weaknesses and what he wants out of life. Knowing that his personal characteristics will become accentuated as he grows older, it is high time for him to develop his assets and weed out as many of his faults as possible.

"For many people," says Doctor Blanton, "quite literally this decade is the last chance. It is almost useless to point out to a person in his sixties changes that he should make in his state of mind or his way of life. It is too late."

So if you are in your forties you shouldn't just be coasting along, trying to feel a little younger than your years, shutting your eyes to old age which is just around the corner.

You should be figuring out what you want to do and accomplish in the years ahead. You should be making new friends and strengthening old freindships.

You should be learning new skills and developing new interests. You should be trying to overcome faults that lead to unhappiness and frustration.

You should be living as full a life as possible, instead of limiting yourself to a dull routine.

Mom May Write Notes to Friends

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My son married a girl from another state about six months ago. Many of my friends who were sent invitations to the wedding sent handsome gifts to the bride, whom they did not know. Unfortunately, the marriage lasted only a few months.

"I have just learned that the bride never acknowledged these presents. I know that she should have been the one to write thank-you notes, or if she did not, my son should have done so as the gifts were sent by his and my friends. I feel that since neither of the young people made any acknowledgment, I should do so even though such gifts are in the girl's possession. Is it not my place to write these friends even after this length of time?

Answer: It is not necessary, but I think you really should, and your friends will certainly appreciate it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am going to be married this summer. My parents are deceased and I am planning to have my brother give me away. However, I do not wish to have his wife sit in my mother's place during the ceremony. I would like very much to ask an older friend whom I love dearly, to take my mothers' place. Will you please tell me if this would be proper?"

Answer: If you feel strongly enough about this and your brother and sister-in-law will agree to it, you can seat her in the second pew where he will join her after he gives you away. Your older friend can then sit in your mother's place. I would advise your giving this some thought, however, because you will risk seriously offending your sister-in-law and through her your brother.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me the correct amount to tip a bellboy for carrying one's bags to the room?"

Answer: A bellboy is usually given 25 cents for each bag or 50 cents for even a single one if it is heavy.

Actions Talk Louder Than Words

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: My husband talks in his sleep. I know he does, but he denies it. About a year ago I heard him say, 'You seem to know when I need you the most!' When I woke him up he claimed he had me in mind. Time proved him a liar. Last night I heard him say plain as day, 'I've been sitting in this alley waiting for you. What time do you have to be back at work, Baby?' I shook him and woke him up and when I told him what he said, he said I was the one who was dreaming. Could I be dreaming that I heard him talking in his sleep or do you think otherwise?"

ABBY

NO DREAMER

DEAR NO: It's not what a man says in his sleep that counts, it's how he behaves when he's awake.

"DEAR ABBY: When you send a Get Well card to someone sick, how sick should they be? If they are on the critical list . . . don't you wait at least until they are out of danger? Thank you?"

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Friends do not usually hold off sending a get well card. If the patient is critically ill, they send their good wishes and hope for the best.

"DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to Number One Boy, but Number Two Boy will not stay out of the picture. Number One Boy says that if I am not sure of myself I should go with Number Two Boy, but I know Number Two Boy is not the marrying kind. I like Number Two Boy better than Number One Boy in a few ways because he is more romantic, but Number One Boy is more dependable. Please tell me what to do."

NEEDING HELP

DEAR NEEDING: You had better look for Number Three Boy. When in doubt, keep looking.

"DEAR ABBY: I've been married for about two months and here is my problem. My husband can't seem to get ready to go anywhere on time. Before church he will start getting ready about twenty minutes before the services start. If I try to help him he gets mad! We are never anywhere on time and everybody thinks it is my fault because women are supposed to be the ones who hold everything up."

ALWAYS LATE

DEAR ALWAYS: Your husband (fortunately) is new enough to train. Dawdling is a childish trait and the only cure for it is constant prodding. Keep after him.

"DEAR ABBY: My father thinks he knows everything just because he went to Stanford. He says all States require a blood test before marriage. I say there are three States which do not and they are Nevada, Washington and Minnesota. Am I right?"

Oats and Wheat Flour Make Healthful Cookies

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Your children love cookies and you like to treat them. But you prefer to make such goodies mean something nutritious in their daily diet. Therefore you should like Mrs. Harry Wood's Oatmeal Drop Cookies. Some adults may like them because they are made with vegetable oil instead of solid shortening.

Mrs. Wood belongs to the Sylvan Lake Garden Club and to the Yomar group of her church. She enjoys crocheting.

OATMEAL DROP COOKIES
By Mrs. Harry Wood

2 eggs
¾ cup vegetable oil
½ cup milk
1 cup honey
1½ teaspoons vanilla
2½ cups whole wheat flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon allspice
2 cups raw oatmeal
½ cup nutmeats, chopped
1 cup raisins
1 cup candied fruit, chopped

Beat eggs. Add oil, milk, honey and vanilla. Sift dry ingredients and add. Blend in oatmeal, nuts and fruit. Drop by level teaspoonfuls on a greased baking sheet.

Bake 10-12 minutes at 350 degrees. Mrs. Wood often doubles the recipe which makes about 4 dozen cookies and stores part of them in her freezer.

Army Installs New Pay Setup

Old System Caused Headaches; New One to Insure No Mixup

FT. CAMPBELL, Ky. (UPI)—The old song says that "happy is the day when the Army gets its pay." But it hasn't always been thus for the company clerks, finance officers and others who make out the payrolls.

For even in the "old Army" of World War II, this was a back-breaking job which never seemed to come out quite right.

The payroll system got more and more cumbersome under the weight of vouchers, red lines and carbon paper. Under combat conditions in Korea, the system broke down altogether.

Now, though, the Army has come up with a brand new system designed to streamline the whole business and to insure every GI that he will be paid the proper amount on time no matter where he is.

Under the new system, all of a soldier's financial records are kept on a single voucher form which makes five copies without the use of carbon paper.

These vouchers accompany the GI wherever he goes. On the back side of each sheet are various tables from which each man can quickly check for himself how much he has coming, how much he owes in allotments, the amount of withholding taxes, savings, and so on.

"Anyone who can add, subtract and read can check his own pay," said Maj. B. M. Rogers, finance officer of the 101st Division, adding that 90 per cent of the questions the individual soldier might raise can easily be answered by his first sergeant or company commander.

Bob Considine Says:

Backsliding Baseball Due for Revival Shot

NEW YORK—Casey Stengel and master double-talker Al Kelly should write the pre-season announcements by the baseball brass on prospects for the coming campaigns. Or maybe they do. Year by year they sound ever more like Bob and Ray.

Something like this:

"The coming season will be a banner one for organized baseball," a beloved baseball official quipped today. "Both leagues are beautifully balanced and if that won't make for a lively race for the twin gonfalons, I don't know what will.

"All teams have strengthened themselves by trades. Though some were nipped at the wire last season, like the Washington Senators, they can be expected to come back strongly this year. Advance ticket sales indicate that there is plenty of interest in the national pastime and banner crowds can be expected."

That's right: There is plenty of interest in the national pastime. The national pastime is now racing, flat or buggy. Or bingo. What's embarrassingly apparent is that it ain't baseball.

The game needs to give the public more than the recurrent doses of pablum it leans toward serving. It can't afford to stop improvising, changing, experimenting, or it will croak.

The business is still run largely by men or sons of men who believe solemnly that the public has no more right to demand baseball progress than it has to alter the dogma of a religion or the Bill of Rights.

SAVED BY BABE RUTH

It was once held that Babe Ruth "saved" baseball by his home run sprees that followed in the wake of the sordid Black Sox Scandal and a crafty command decision—long denied—to give the ball more bounce to the ounce.

Unfortunately, baseball, like some reformed drunks, goes in for backsliding. It wouldn't stay saved, even though more and more juice was added to the ball and the Fathers enslaved the pitchers by depriving them of such methods of doctoring up the ball as spitting on it, shining one hemisphere of it, scuffing it up, working mud in the seams of its cover and other ingenious pleasantries calculated to make it leap and lurch like an Academy Award winner.

The home run was consequently cheapened. It was as if, by executive order, every blearied artist in Greenwich Village suddenly could paint like El Greco.

Larry MacPhail then saved baseball. He dipped into the great untapped night-time market. He was profoundly combatted. I remember how old Clark Griffith used to rage. He considered it an obscenity to play baseball under floodlights.

DONKEY BUTTS IN

But one night the old man rented his seedy ballyard to a "donkey-ball" promoter—some fellow who rounded up the town's questionable celebrities and let them play a game of softball in the course of which all base-runners had to mount donkeys and light out for the next base.

The game drew 9,000 paid. Griff's bogus big leaguers were having trouble drawing 3,000 during those long, stifling Washington afternoons.

And so old Griff became the most determined user of night ball, embracing it to such a degree that Shirley Povich of the Washington Post and Times Herald was moved to write, "Clark Griffith has obtained permission from Ford Frick to play seven day games this coming season."

CHANGE OF PLACE

Baseball would certainly have curled up its toes if night ball had not come along. But that, too, palled in time. Baseball had to be saved again. This time the remedy was a change of climate.

The owners of the forlorn Boston Braves, once renamed the Bees apparently in the hope of attracting the hives set, took the team to Milwaukee and struck gold. Other communities looked around for derelict or treasures.

The deplorable St. Louis Browns moved to Baltimore, Connie Macks' crummy heirs to Kansas City, the Giants to San Francisco, the Dodgers (a successful team which wanted to make even more) to Los Angeles. They have fared from fair to fabulously in their new homes.

But the tendency is to let well enough alone, though the years have shown that well enough just ain't. The two or three rich teams still get richer, the performances of the poor ones have now become embarrassing interruptions of the beer and cigaret commercials.

Great sections of the country, fine markets, are being neglected. The American League is as idiotic as the National, failing to put a team in the huge Brooklyn-Long Island suburb section—where the preposterous trotting races draw as many as 30,000 players, for want of something better to do until the players can repossess their repossessed television sets.

Baseball has to keep moving or some day it just won't be able to move anything except the tongues of those who wish the dear old business well, as one would a neglected aunt.

Wanted—30 middle-aged men of various professions, a doctor, lawyer, writer, athlete, salesman, mechanic, etc., to report to the Pontiac YMCA, Saturday May 9th.

If you've reached the age of 26 you're eligible. According to Dr. Thomas Kirk Cureton Jr., Phd. in Health and Physical Education presently at the University of Illinois, men start going downgrade at the age of 26 and this is where middle-age starts.

Dr. Cureton, who has written over 200 books and pamphlets on physical fitness, will visit the Pontiac YMCA to conduct a clinic and lecture. He also wants 30 men who want to find out how physically fit they are.

"Y" director Art Mann is setting up a two day program for Dr. Cureton's visit to Pontiac, and Mann is out trying to recruit men of various professions to take the tests.

"He gives these tests all over the country and although they are not too rigorous, the tests are good for endurance and flexibilities," said Mann.

"Some men who think they are physically sound get a surprise when they fail to pass what appears to be a simple test," Mann added.

Dr. Cureton believes you can turn back the clock in keeping the human body in good condition. "It's not like a car. The more in use, the more it starts to fail," said Mann. "Dr. Cureton believes the more the body is used, the better it gets."

"QUIET MAN FROM THE POCONOS"

Art Wall Jr., former Pennsylvania State Amateur Champion, and the newly crowned Masters champion, has lost the distinction of being the most underrated player on the pro tour, but he says that's the price he doesn't mind paying.

In 30 rounds prior to the Masters, Wall was averaging 68.9 strokes per round and is now on his way to a new mark in winnings, already far over $30,000.

Most amazing facet of his career is his record of 35 holes-in-one, including a 300-yarder.

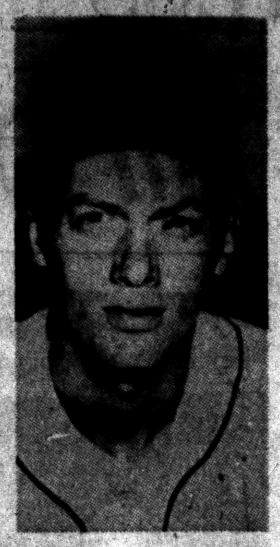

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

How about this guy they call "the quiet man from the Poconos?" He says "I don't talk about them, people think I'm prevaricating." He has 35 to talk about, and most of us dream of the day we can talk about just one.

Joe Kuharich, new head coach at Notre Dame, was quoted recently for the statement, "We'll play to win, of course, but winning is not the sole purpose. I don't believe the public today measures a team by its record. Fans want to be entertained and kept interested."

This is a foolish statement for Kuharich to make. Many football powers have disappeared because of their won-lost record. Who's he kidding?

STARTER — Jim Bunning has been named by manager Bill Norman to start on the mound for the Detroit Tigers this Friday afternoon at Briggs Stadium against the Chicago White Sox in the opening game of the 1959 American League season.

Witt Has Arm Trouble Again; Giants Belt 5 Homers

Pirate Mound Star Ailing

By The Associated Press

Want a new line on Pittsburgh's long lamented chances for the National League pennant? Then forget those exhibition game linescores and cock an ear for the medical report on George Witt's troublesome arm.

The young right-hander, a pitching sensation as a rookie last season when he shrugged off arm trouble and won seven straight for the longest string of the year in the NL, was sent on to Pittsburgh last night for an examination by the club physician.

The trouble centers in a painful elbow, which the freckle-faced redhead thinks was strained originally when he tried to develop a slider two years ago in the minors. The trouble popped up again yesterday and Witt was forced from the mound after one inning as the Pirates finished their stay in Florida with a 2-1 victory over Kansas City.

In other games, the San Francisco Giants, figured to join the Bucs in the National League pennant pursuit, went 11 innings before beating Cleveland 8-6 on Don Taussig's home run. The Boston Red Sox belted the Chicago Cubs 11-3, the Detroit Tigers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-2, the Chicago White Sox beat Washington 9-6, Spokane defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 and Cincinnati smacked Savannah 12-2.

Harvey Haddix, Ron Blackburn and Fred Green took charge of the pitching after Witt's quick exit. They kept the A's blanked until the ninth as the Pirates won their fourth in a row for a 15-12 spring record. Blackburn, working in his first game since returning from service, was the winner as Ramon Mejias squeezed in the winning run in the seventh inning. George Brunet was the loser for the A's, who scored in the ninth on Harry Simpson's home run.

Taussig's two-run shot off loser Hal Woodeshick was one of five home runs by the Giants. Ed Bressoud hit his sixth and seventh of the spring while Danny O'Connell and Felipe Alou each counted once. Curt Barclay won it, after Minnie Minoso's 10th-inning homer, his fourth hit, tied it for the Tribe.

The Red Sox socked four Cub pitchers for 15 hits, handing Joe Scheffernoth the loss in a five-run fifth. Ike Delock won it, finally coming around with a two-hit, one-run job for six innings.

Rookie Norm Cash hit a two-run homer in the fifth that brought the White Sox from behind, then counted two runs with a triple in the ninth. The Sox swung for 13 hits off loser Camilo Pascual and three other Washington pitchers while Turk Lown won in relief of Early Wynn, who went seven.

Lary's 7-2 Win Over Cardinals Ends 13-10 Slate

Team Heads for Home Tomorrow; Jim Bunning to Hurl Opener

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers prepared to head north today, quietly confident that their 13-10 record in the Grapefruit League is an indication of better things to come in the American League.

It was the best Florida record in years for the Tigers, who will be trying to battle their way into the first division for the second time in nine years.

In spring training of 1959, the Tigers showed pretty good pitching, a slightly improved defense and a workmanlike attitude. There is no heady talk of pennant-winning because of a definite lack of power in the lineup.

But before the exhibition season got under way, both manager Bill Norman and general manager Rick Ferrell placed great importance on winning the games that other managers have written off because "they don't count."

"We have to develop a winning attitude," said Ferrell.

It is entirely possible that a winning record, even against oft-jumbled lineups that appear in spring training, will do some good for the sputtering Tigers.

The Tigers scored early yesterday and defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 7-2, and although Frank Lary turned in a good performance in a starting role, the opening day assignment next Friday will go to another righthander, Jim Bunning.

Lary worked the first five innings yesterday at Henley Field, yielding only one run and four hits while striking out three batters and walking one.

His mates got him two runs in the first on Eddie Yost's leadoff triple, Harvey Kuenn's single, two infield outs and a balk. They added two more in the second on four singles, and one in the third when Gail Harris hit a home run over the center field fence.

The final two runs came in the seventh. Neil Chrisley, battling to stick with the club, doubled off the center field fence — then scored all the way from second base on an outfield fly. Gino Cimoli made a diving catch of Larry Osborne's drive to deep center. Chrisley tagged up and came all the way around. Charlie Maxwell's double led to the other tally.

The Tigers leave Lakeland tomorrow by chartered airliner and are scheduled to arrive in Detroit in mid-afternoon.

Leafs, Bruins Play Windup Tonight

Boston Game Will Determine Montreal's Foe

Both Teams Taped and Tired for Big Hour of Decision

BOSTON (AP) — A trip to Montreal for a shot at hockey's coveted Stanley Cup hangs in the balance Tuesday night when the taped and tired Boston Bruins and Toronto Maple Leafs square off at the Garden.

What started as a best-of-seven competition comes down to a one hour, shoot-the-works engagement to decide which club moves into the finals of the National Hockey League playoffs.

Both teams rested Monday as the players bore the marks of rib-jarring body checks after six games of a series which the athletes admit is as rough as any they have ever encountered.

The Bruins' ailing list included defensemen Fernia Flaman and Bob Armstrong groin pulls, Jim Morrison swollen mouth and Doug Mohns strained leg ligaments plus forward Jerry Toppazzini badly bruised ribs.

All but Mohns will be ready according to the club's medical corps.

As for Toronto, Coach Punch Imlach has given the green light to forward Larry Regan, who has been sidelined by a fractured hand. The cast has been fitted so that he can maneuver a stick.

Will the winner be a Boston club which jelled over the last half of the season to finish a strong second or the hungry Maple Leafs who nailed down a playoff spot the last night of the regular campaign?

"Every player will be giving all he has in this one, neither side will be sparing a thing," said Boston Coach Milt Schmidt. "Who can tell what will happen?"

"The home ice is a slight advantage," Schmidt conceded, "but we can't kid ourselves that we're going to have an easy time with the Leafs."

Boston snapped out of a three-game losing streak to edge Toronto 5-4 Saturday night in the Canadian city and deadlocked the competition 3-3 just when it appeared the Leafs were a cinch.

Wyoming Hires Former Star as Hoop Coach

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — Bill Strannigan, former University of Wyoming basketball star, is coming back as head coach. He signed a 5-year contract yesterday.

For the last five years Strannigan has coached at Iowa State where he reportedly turned down an offer of a substantial salary boost to come to Wyoming. His former coach, Ev Shelton, resigned here to coach at Sacramento (Calif.) State College.

Strannigan received $11,000 yearly at Iowa State and is believed to have signed for $12,000 at Wyoming, plus $3,000 in fringe benefits.

His teams at Iowa State won 69 games and lost 46. He formerly coach at Colorado State University, where his 1954 team won the Skyline Conference title.

Pontiac Central Quintet Will Be Saluted Friday

The 1958-59 basketball season was a "blue ribbon" success for Pontiac Central High School and citizens of this city will get a chance to show their appreciation before the week is out.

Pontiac's Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with The Pontiac Press, will honor the Saginaw Valley Conference champions this Friday night with a banquet in the Pontiac Central cafeteria at 6:30 p. m.

The Chiefs won the Valley title with a 9-1 league record, posted a 14-1 mark for the regular season schedule and reached the Class A semifinals of the state prep tournament before losing to Hamtramck for an overall 18-2 slate.

Coming to PCH as guest speaker for this occasion will be personable Forddy Anderson, head basketball coach at Michigan State University, plus a couple of his talented cagers who helped the Spartans win the Big Ten crown for the second time in the last three years.

The Press and the C. of C. are going to present numerous awards to the Chiefs, both individually and on a team basis, as well as head coach Art Van Ryzin and assistant coach Fred Zittel.

Individual awards from The Press will be given to each member of the varsity squad and the two coaches and the C. of C. will present a large team trophy symbolic of the Valley championship for the PCH showcase.

Van Ryzin, named Oakland County's Coach-of-the-Year by a landslide margin, will receive his Press trophy at the banquet and the genial PCH mentor also is due for a gift from the C. of C. The Coach-of-the-Year award was Van Ryzin's second in the last three campaigns.

The Press also will hand out All-County trophies to John Bandy, Harrison Munson and Charley Barge, three members of the team who made the 1959 honor squad with only slight opposition. Bandy received All-State recognition.

Aside from the tourney loss to Hamtramck, the Chiefs' lone setback was a one-point overtime decision to Flint Central at Bailenger Fieldhouse in Flint. They were rated Michigan's No. 1 Class A quintet in the final AP and UPI news service polls.

The MSU players accompanying Anderson to Pontiac are not yet known. Hopes are high that Johnny Green and Bob Anderegg will be the ones.

Banquet tickets for PCH students, faculty and parents of team members are available at the high school. Ducats to the general public can be purchased at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters in the Hotel Waldron and Osmun's.

Howe Declines European Tour

Red Wing Ace Prefers Home to Going Abroad With Bruins, Rangers

DETROIT (UPI)—Gordie Howe, veteran right wing for the Detroit Red Wings, has turned down an invitation to tour Europe with the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers.

Howe said he was asked to join the touring squad but decided against it to give his injured ribs "a rest." He added, "and we have a new baby girl and I'd rather spend the time at home."

Mickoski suffered a pair of shoulder separations during the past season and the operation was necessary to repair damage.

Doctors said Mickoski will need about two months for recuperation. He will probably leave for his home at Winnipeg, Man., within several days.

Howe and teammate Marcel Pronovost, veteran defenseman, have made the Stanley Cup playoffs despite Detroit's last-place finish in the NHL. They have become sportscasters and are doing color narration for games telecast across Canada. Howe is doing the talking in English, Pronovost in French.

Richard Ready to Play Again

MONTREAL (AP) — Maurice (Rocket) Richard, veteran of 121 playoff games, geared himself today for an all-out scrimmage session as the Montreal Canadiens prepared for their ninth straight appearance in a Stanley Cup final.

There was hope also that giant Jean Beliveau, who suffered a back injury in the semifinals with the Chicago Black Hawks, may be able to play.

Junior High Wrestling Tourney Here April 18

Twelve individual championships and a team title will be up for grabs when the annual Pontiac Junior High School Wrestling Tournament is held at the Pontiac Central gym April 18.

All boys interested in taking part should enroll at their respective schools. Coaches will be provided each team.

The teams will be battling for the handsome traveling trophy now held by Madison while the 1st three finishers in each weight class will receive medals.

Named MSU Net Captain

EAST LANSING (UP) — Foster Hoffman, 22-year-old Monroe senior, was named captain of the Michigan State University tennis team for 1959, coach Stan Drobac said today.

Hoffman is a three year letterman and currently ranks second in singles on the Spartan team, Drobac said.

Shift Floyd's Fight to Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Promoter Cecil Rhodes Jr. returns here today hoping to tie together the loose ends after suddenly switching the May 1 heavyweight title bout between champion Floyd Patterson and England's Brian London from Las Vegas to Indianapolis.

Rhodes, a Cranford, N.J., industrialist promoting his first fight, announced the switch in sites yesterday, contending he wanted to escape rumors of gamblers' backing.

The new site of the fight, first title bout in Indiana boxing history, is the State Fairgrounds Coliseum with a seating capacity of about 13,500.

Rhodes, a 34-year-old Harvard law graduate, said there weren't any gamblers backing the Las Vegas, Nev., fight but added: "I don't want that kind of implication."

In Las Vegas, civic leaders scoffed at the announced reason for the switch and said the real reason for the switch was because "resort operators refused to give the financial support requested by the fight promoter."

There was some question about a television contract for the fight, but Al Farb of Indianapolis, co-promoter of the fight, said he believed Rhodes would have it worked out when he returned here.

Rhodes said earlier yesterday he believed the National Broadcasting Co. and the Gillette Co., the sponsors, would agree to switch the telecast to Indianapolis. The telecast would be blacked out in a 75-mile radius from the fight scene.

Gallery said in New York that he had a signed contract for a Patterson-London title fight in Las Vegas and had not agreed to any change to Indianapolis.

"Regardless of what happens the fight will be held in Indianapolis," D'Amato commented.

Lakers Try to Stop Ramsey Tonight

NBA Finals to St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—The Minneapolis Lakers are ready to gamble on a bony baseball pitcher tonight to chill the hottest pinch-hitter in pro basketball, Boston's Frank Ramsey.

The teams resume the National Basketball Assn.'s best four of seven final playoffs in the St. Paul Auditorium with the Celtics leading 2-0.

Coach Johnny Kundla of the Lakers said he plans to give 6-foot-6 rookie Steve Hamilton, a longterm bench rider through most of the season, a crack at stopping the sizzling Mr. Ramsey.

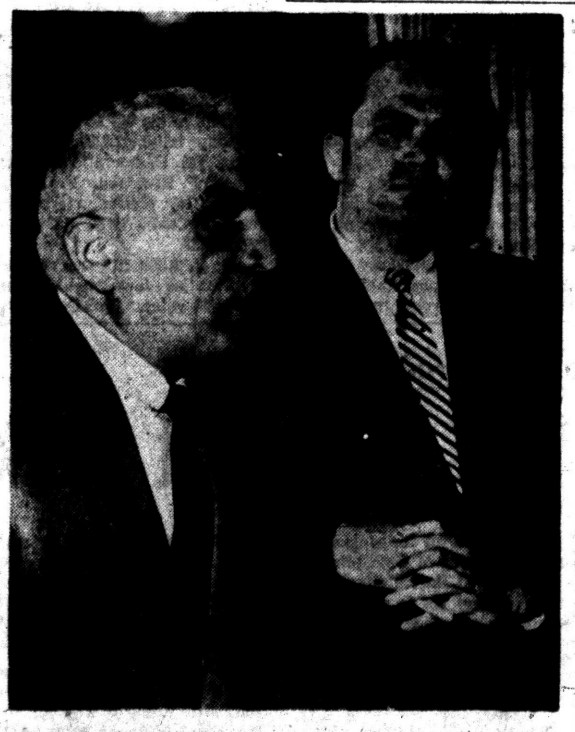

"Hamilton looked pretty fair in Boston Sunday," Kundla said, and I want to see how he'll work out. So when they send Ramsey in to troubleshoot for them I'll probably have Hamilton in there sooner or later."

Hamilton, who played his college basketball at Morehead, Ky., is a southpaw pitcher in the Cleveland Indians chain. He had a 17-14 record with Burlington, N.C., in the Class B Carolina League last year.

Despite his eagerness and long range potential, Hamilton's elevation to help guard Ramsey has the look of a desperation move by the Lakers.

None of the Laker regulars, however, has had much luck with the game-breaking Celtic reserve who has hit 14 of 30 shots and 49 points in 50 minutes of play against the Lakers.

Unless they win this one the Lakers can kiss the series goodbye. Beaten twice in Boston, they can't afford to lose a home game and still retain any sane hope of winning the title.

ANNOUNCES TITLE FIGHT — Cus D'Amato, left, manager of world heavyweight boxing champion Floyd Patterson, announces that Patterson will defend his title against British champion Brian London in Indianapolis May 1. The bout was set originally for April 21 in Las Vegas, Nev. At right is Cecil Rhodes, Cranford, N. J. fight promoter, who will promote the championship battle.

Giants Picked to Dethrone Milwaukee

Improved Hurling Staff, Power, Speed, Youth Reasons for Selection

NEW YORK (AP)—A devastating attack, a vastly improved pitching staff and a combination of speed and youth should enable the San Francisco Giants to dethrone the Milwaukee Braves as National League champions in 1959.

Milwaukee's chances of gaining a third straight pennant are endangered by the lack of a solid second baseman to replace the convalescing Red Schoendienst, a lingering doubt whether the ailing knees of Wes Covington and Billy Burton are completely mended, and an underlying feeling of complacency on the part of the two-time champions.

A two-team struggle between Los Angeles and Cincinnati for the last remaining spot in the first division should further enliven what promises to be a most interesting National League campaign. St. Louis, Chicago and Philadelphia should battle it out for sixth place.

The expected finish:

1. San Francisco
2. Milwaukee
3. Pittsburgh
4. Los Angeles
5. Cincinnati
6. St. Louis
7. Chicago
8. Philadelphia

The acquisition of Sam Jones, the National League's strikeout king and second stingiest runyeilder last year, from St. Louis, and Jack Sanford, another strong, armed right-hander, from Philadelphia, figures to solve the Giants' pitching problem.

These two, together with lefties Johnny Antonelli and Mike McCormick, plus second liners Stu Miller and Curt Barclay and relievers Al Worthington, Billy Muffett and Paul Giel, give promise of a 50 per cent stronger staff than last year.

The antelope outfield of Willie Mays, Jackie Brandt and Felipe Alou may be the best in Giant history. Orlando Cepeda, the rookie-of-the-year of 1958, is back at first base and Jimmy Davenport, another of last year's out-standing rookies, should be even better at third base.

Catching seems to be adequate in the hands of Bob Schmidt and Hobie Landrith. The lone question mark is around second base where the inexperienced Andre Rodgers holds forth at shortstop and Daryl Spencer has been switched from short to second.

ALBION, Mich. (UPI) — Albion College and the University of Detroit yesterday split a baseball doubleheader here.

The Detroit Titans took the first game 4-1 and Albion came back to edge Detroit 5-4 in the nightcap. The Detroit squad profited in the first game from six Albion errors. Gary Mettie took credit for the Detroit win. Albion's Jerry Mastteller threw a three-hitter to take the second game.

UPI Experts Pick Mantle and Mays

Who Will Win Hit Titles?

NEW YORK (UPI)—Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle will regain the major league batting titles while Stan Musial and Ted Williams slip back into the pack this year.

This is the forecast of the United Press International board of baseball experts in its annual pre-season survey. Twenty-seven of the 50 experts picked Mays to win the National League title and twenty-three chose Mantle to win the American League crown.

Musial, who has won seven N.L. championships, was picked by only three experts while the 41-year-old Williams, the A.L. batting king the last two seasons and winner of six crowns in all, got only six votes.

Mays batted .347 last season to finish three points behind Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies, but it was an erratic year for the San Francisco Giants' 27-year-old center-fielder.

Willie hit more than .400 over the first six weeks of the season, went into a long slump and then wound up with a flourish in September. He disclaimed any intention of "aiming" for a batting title this year and said he would be satisfied "to reach .335 and have a good steady year."

Hank Aaron, Milwaukee Braves slugger who has a five-year big league mark of .316, ranked second in the N.L. voting with 11 points. Musial and Bob Skinner of the Pittsburgh Pirates had three each and Duke Snider of the Los Angeles Dodgers, Wes Covington of the Braves, Ashburn and Bill Mazeroski of the Pirates had one each.

Musial, who was 38 last November, batted .337 in 1958 but drove in only 62 runs and hit only 17 homers—among the lowest totals of his career.

Mantle, who won A.L. crowns in 1956 and 1957, batted .304 last season when Williams' .328 was the winning figure. Mantle hit 42 homers and drove in 94 runs but it was generally a disappointing campaign for him. He hit .353 in 1956 and .365 in 1957.

City Duo Still Leads Elks Tourney After Close Call

They had a close call over the past weekend but Arlette and Earl Hagan of Pontiac still held the lead today in the Elks Mixed Doubles Tournament being held here at Lodge 810.

Dorothy and John Diring came up with a big bid to top the leaders from the start. Heading a big Royal Oak delegation, the Dirings combined for the best actual total of the tourney with 1098 but fell two pins short in handicap with 1280.

Three other Royal Oak teams turned in strong showings with one taking over 9th place in the standings.

The event continues through April 26.

Lou Koprince and Paul George may be "in solid" as doubles actual leaders at the Elks National. A slim handicap prevented the local stars from making the top ten in that division at Toledo with 1308.

Shepard Real Estate turned in the best area showing in team competition with 2958 four others bettered 2900.

City Softball Loop Plans First Meeting Wednesday

The first organizational meeting for the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's 1959 men's summer softball program is scheduled Wednesday night at 7:30 in the conference room of the health department on the ground floor of City Hall.

City League competition this season will be conducted in three divisions — classes A, B and C. A total of 24 teams competed in men's softball last year and there is no indication that interest will lessen in 1959, according to John Streit of the Recreation Department.

Based on the anticipation of more teams seeking to gain league entrance this summer, the Recreation Department has set up the following rules for governing entry requirements:

1. A maximum of eight teams in each class.
2. A priority system to control the preference and right of teams.

The system of priority will be as follows:

First priority — Teams that participated in 1958 under sponsors in the city of Pontiac.

Second priority — Teams that did not participate in 1958, but whose sponsors are in the city of Pontiac.

Fourth priority — Teams that did not participate in 1958 and whose sponsors are outside the city of Pontiac.

Tigers Depend Heavily on Him

Hitting Milestones Near for Detroit's Al Kaline

DETROIT (AP)—Before the 1959 baseball season is very old, Al Kaline of the Detroit Tigers will reach several hitting milestones.

He will score his 500th run, get his 1,000th base hit and his 100th home run and drive in his 500th tally.

Still only a shade past 24 years of age, the former bonus baby is starting his sixth season as a big league front-liner. Before he reached his 20th birthday he led the American League in batting and was acclaimed as the "new Ty Cobb."

Possibly no other player in all baseball can do as many things as well as this crew-cut kid who is supposed to lead the Detroit Tigers out of the second-division doldrums.

Kaline has tremendous speed, sharp reflexes at bat and in the field, good power and durability. There is no finer throwing arm in the game. Yet, real, honest-to-goodness stardom has remained an eyelash away for the kid from the Baltimore sandlots.

He is the player the club will not trade now, despite front office talk that "we will trade anyone if we can help our club." Truth of the matter is, the club simply does not feel anyone could, or would, make an offer attractive enough to get Kaline.

The team's dependence upon Kaline is so great that a contending, front-running effort must necessarily go hand-in-hand with a great season by the young outfielder.

The past two seasons have been trying ones for Kaline. He won the batting title in 1955, his second full season in the big leagues. The following year he actually was stronger for the club in many respects, driving in 128 runs — 26 more than the previous year; hitting 32 doubles, 8 more than he had in the title-winning season.

The pressures on him were heavy and Kaline had a tough time handling them. The club called it a lack of maturity. Less kindly sources said it was a case of too much-too soon, that the success thrust upon him was much more of a responsibility and a challenge than the youngster could handle.

Kaline's batting average fell off to .295 in 1957 and he drove in only 90 runs. His long power was off, too. Last season things were even tougher.

Preps Begin Spring Seasons

PNH vs. Walled Lake in School's 1st Track Meet Here Wednesday

The area high school spring sports season was scheduled to get under way officially today weather permitting with more action on tap for Wednesday.

Some of the track teams already had their baptism of fire in the rugged Huron Relays.

Waterford's dual track opener at Wayne headed today's slate which also included the opening round of duals in the Southern Thumb.

Baseball lidlifters were slated for Holly and Romeo. The Broncos were to host annual rival Fenton while the Bulldogs took on Lakeshore. Both are nonleague affairs.

A big event of interest tomorrow will be at Pontiac Northern where the Huskies hold their 1st dual track meet at home or anywhere meeting Walled Lake at 4 p.m.

Southfield starts its baseball schedule Wednesday entertaining Redford Union.

Vote Due on National Chairman Today; May Pick Convention Site

WASHINGTON (AP)—Conservative Republicans were reported urging Postmaster Arthur E. General Summerfield today to seek the GOP national chairmanship.

The party's National Committee, meeting here Friday and Saturday, will name a successor to Meade Alcorn, who is resigning to return to his private law practice.

The committee also may vote to hold the GOP presidential nominating convention in Chicago in the week beginning July 25, 1960.

A site subcommittee, headed by State Chairman Ray Bliss of Ohio, meets here Wednesday. It is understood to have such a recommendation in mind.

The Chicago Tribune reported without qualification today that that city and date had been selected, but named no source for its story. It said formal announcement will be made later this week after a conference of GOP leaders with President Eisenhower.

New York and Philadelphia also have made strong bids for the convention, however, and the formal decision, at least is up to the full national committee.

Summerfield's name was injected into speculation over the chairmanship after it had appeared that Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky might have no active opposition for the post.

He was awarded the company's President's Trophy for the best personnal record in agency building. In 1954, Buck served as training supervisor for an area covering Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia.

The topic of his speech will be, "There Really Is Magic In Believing."

Wolverine Lake Approves Weed Control Program

WOLVERINE LAKE — Voters of Wolverine Lake Village yesterday approved a proposition to finance a weed control program by a 244-168 margin.

The funds will be earmarked specifically for weed control of Wolverine Lake.

The proposition follows:

"Shall an annual tax of four (4) mills per $1,000 of assessed valuation be levied on all land in the village of Wolverine Lake for a period of three years commencing July 1, 1959 to defray the cost of weed control specifically for Wolverine Lake."

Village Clerk John C. Finlayson estimated that the tax increase would produce about $6,400 yearly for weed control for the next three years.

Detroit Voters OK School Bond Issues

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit voters gave heavy approval yesterday to the first school bond issue in Motor City history and to a sharp increase in school taxes.

With 1,300 precincts out of 1,317 reported, the vote for the 60-million-dollar bond issue was 135,040 in favor to 91,986 against. The proposal for a special five-year tax of 7½ million drew 192,767 favorable votes with 108,494 against.

The bond issue money will be used to help finance a five-year school building program.

The millage increase will be used to finance school operations and assist in school construction.

Will Ask Action on Trial Board

Mayor Rowston to Call for Nominations Tonight at City Meeting

City commissioners will be asked tonight to begin formation of a new Trial Board to govern the Pontiac Police Department.

Since Civil Service was repealed yesterday, the Trial Board regulations in the City Charter automatically have gone back into effect.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston said he would ask commissioners to consider new appointments to the seven-member body to get it functioning again.

Appointments may be made definite next week, he indicated.

Two recommendations by a mayor's study committee will be taken into consideration, Rowston said.

The first is that policemen themselves submit the name of at least one candidate for appointment. The Commission may call upon police tonight to start thinking about a candidate, Rowston said.

The second is that only two, or at most three, of the members of old Trial Board be reappointed.

This is to help keep the old friction between police and Trial Board members from reappearing, according to a nine-point report turned in by the committee a week ago.

The committee's other recommendations will be passed along to the reconstituted Trial Board for study, Rowston said.

Reports on Object in the Sky Start Alike, Then . . .

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A glowing, soundless bright object trailing a green tail streaked eastward over central California Monday night.

Most reports agreed it probably was a meteor which broke up toward the end of its flight. All observers reported it at 8:45 p.m. but from there the variations began, depending on who saw it, and where.

Some points, such as Eureka, Calif., and Reno, Nev., said it was traveling southeast. Most, however, ranging from Redmond, Ore. to Modesto, Calif., described an eastward course.

Both Mather Air Force Base near Sacramento and Moffett Naval Air Station near Sunnyvale more than 100 miles to the southwest reported it 'burst directly overhead.

Graham Tired at Close of Drive in New Zealand

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP)— Billy Graham arrived today for the windup of his New Zealand crusade, reportedly "a bit exhausted" from the pace he has been keeping.

"Billy has been warned that overwork may cause a recurrence of his eye trouble," said Leighton Ford, a member of the Graham team. "He probably will rest up awhile before returning to the United States in mid-June."

Because of a fluctuating swelling in the rear of his left eye which blurs his vision, Graham has been ordered by doctors to limit his sermons to 30 minutes. He rested for 10 days after his gruelling crusade in Melbourne, Australia.

March Employment Rises

Jobless Figure Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment declined 387,000 in March to 4,362,000. Employment jumped by 1,106,000 to 63,828,000.

The government, in reporting this today, said the rise in employment and drop in unemployment were both about twice the amount seasonably expected for the month.

It was the biggest February-to-March drop in unemployment since 1950. The employment rise for the month was the biggest since 1951.

Seymour Wolfbein, head of the Labor Department Employment Statistics Bureau, told a news conference that while the improvement was partly seasonal the job picture definitely shows substantial signs of repair from depression damage.

The seasonally adjusted ratio of unemployment to the total work force declined from 6.1 per cent in February to 5.8 per cent in March.

Wolfbein's holding a news conference to release the report was an unprecedented thing.

Ordinarily, the regular monthly job reports of the Commerce and Labor departments have simply been handed to newsmen in printed releases.

The unusual procedure pointed up the administration's gratification over the developments.

Administration officials from President Eisenhower on down had forcast Monday that the report would show great improvement in the job picture.

Wolfbein said one of the really heartening things in the new figures is that practically all of the job improvement was concentrated among males 25 years or over—the prime working group and family responsibility group in the population.

Three Alma Children Die as Home Burns

ALMA (AP) — Three children died today in a fire that trapped them in the bedroom of their home six miles west of here.

The mother, Mrs. Millie Buswell Catlin, suffered severe burns in a futile attempt to rescue them.

Dead are Connie, 10, Jo Ann, 6, and Ronald, 2.

A fourth child, John, 9, escaped the flames by racing downstairs. Firemen said the other children apparently froze with fright.

Deputy Sheriff Gerald Rorabacher said the mother, who was treated for burns and cuts at a hospital here, was too hysterical to give an account of what happened.

The father, Lawrence Catlin, a truck driver, found his one and a half story frame home aflame when he returned from work at 5:30 a.m., but the heat attempt to enter.

Cause of the fire was not determined.

Dies Before Election

5 Business Candidates Win in Saginaw

SAGINAW (AP) — Five candidates backed by city business groups defeated labor-supported nominees in the Saginaw City Council election Monday.

Winners in the race for vacancies on the nine-man council were Paul Wender, Richard Snyder, F. Dewey Stearnes, G. Stewart Francke and William C. Hurley.

Only one incumbent, Charles Koehler, was defeated.

Saginaw voters also rejected by a two-to-one margin a proposal to lower the work week of city firemen from 63 to 56 hours.

Eyewitness Tells of Flight From Reds

Terrified Refugees Clog Tibet Road

(United Press International correspondent A. K. Das has returned to Calcutta following a hazardous trip to the Tibetan border which became an errand of mercy over some of the most rugged terrain in the world. His report on the journey follows.)

By A. K. DAS

CALCUTTA, India (UPI)—Frightened, weary Tibetan refugees huddled against the sides of the snow-capped mountain on the road to freedom from their Communist-controlled homeland.

At first, they were afraid even to admit that they had come from Tibet, fearing they would be sent back. Then they called themselves pilgrims to the Buddhist shrines of India.

Finally, they told their story.

"We came because we did not like to share the fate of the people in the Lhasa uprising," they said. "We want something to eat and to live for and to pray for our Dalai Lama. Could you tell us where the God-king is?"

The cliff-winding road from the Tibetan-Sikkim border to Kalimpong, India, where we began our journey was crowded with thousands of Tibetan refugees. Their faces were lined with despair, defeat and heartbreak as they pushed slowly through the heavy snow toward India.

ROUGH GOING

The road was almost impassable and it was only luck that our landrover, a British vehicle similar to the jeep, was able to make it through to Gangtok in the Indian protectorate of Sikkim.

I was accompanied on the trip by a hardy Tibetan named Larchen, who was a former car driver in Lhasa, and D. V. Singh, an assistant to Kalimpong Police Commissioner Mahendra Singh, who arranged the trip.

The commissioner, who at first attempted to dissuade me from making the attempt, agreed to allow me to go if I would run an errand of mercy—to take along medical supplies to Indian government checkpoints along the Sikkim - Tibetan border. The checkpoints had given all their supplies to the Tibetan refugees.

We met our first lone Tibetan refugee, who rode a stunted Asian pony, about five miles up the road. As soon as we stopped, the man, obviously afraid we would try to send him back to Tibet, spurred his pony and bolted away.

We faced our most hazardous roadblock at the 13-mile checkpost. It had been snowing for hours and a mountain snowslide threatened to come crashing down on us, driving us off the cliff road into the deep gorge 20,000 feet below.

Since there was no way to turn the landrover around, we had to continue on, though by now there was more fear than courage in our hearts.

We continued past one post after another, some of them consisting of only wooden gates across the road guarded by a few Indian soldiers, until we reached Nathula Pass where the 14,500-foot altitude made us dizzy and nauseated.

Across the frightening quiet of the snowy mountains we could see Tibet, white and peaceful with no sign of the struggle that sent the Dalai Lama and thousands of his followers fleeing into India.

We were told of the Chinese Communist artillery units that guarded nearly all the main mountain passes to India, but they were hidden from our sight.

Larchen, our driver, sat quietly at the wheel repeating his Buddhist prayers, and when he was through, he turned the landrover around and we headed back to Gangtok.

Summit Agenda Would Be Very Similar to 1955

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The big issues at the summit meeting of 1955 were German reunification, disarmament and European security. But the six-day conference probably is best remembered because of a phrase: the Geneva spirit.

Although the Big Four agreed only that they should continue their efforts at a meeting of foreign ministers, the world thought it saw a slight thaw in the cold war. The Geneva spirit supposedly was a spirit of East-West friendliness. Everybody was smiling at Geneva.

The 1955 conference had a four-point agenda.

The German problem was given top priority, but it was quickly dropped after it became apparent that nobody was ready to budge from the frozen positions blocking unification of West and East Germany.

There were some new approaches on European security and disarmament, but subsequent discussions proved that the cold war still was only slightly thawed.

The most unexpected move was President Eisenhower's proposal that Moscow and Washington agree to mutual aerial inspection to each other's military establishments. This became a key part of East-West disarmament discussions.

Another important proposal was one aimed at disengaging NATO forces from those of Communist Eastern Europe. The plan was submitted by Britain's Sir Anthony Eden. It called for a limited disarmament program for a belt across central Europe. The Eden plan was somewhat similar to what is now known as the Rapacki plan, named for Poland's foreign minister.

The fourth item on the 1955 agenda was called "development of contacts between East and West."

There was no formal agreement on this question, but contacts between the two sides of the Iron Curtain have increased during the past four years. This is particularly true in the exchange of cultural missions and the easing of tourist restrictions.

Actually this relaxation started before the Geneva conference. Some diplomats insist it was part of a general change after Stalin died, and had nothing to do with the summit meeting. They argue that the improved atmosphere led evident before the meeting and that th eimproved atmosphere led to the agreement to meet.

With the possible exception of this question, the prospects are that a new summit meeting will deal with substantially the same agenda. The leaders seem sure to take up the German problem and various proposals for military disengagement in central Europe.

The chief new factor is the Berlin crisis growing out of the Soviet move to end four-power rule of the former German capital. Likely the stress will be on this rather than the reunification of Germany and a general German settlement—although these two will get a full airing.

Grain Prices Firm, Steady

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures prices shifted toward firmness in early dealings today after some irregularity at the opening of the Board of Trade.

Several contracts in corn, rye and soybeans appeared to be in moderate to good demand and advanced major fractions of a cent. Traders said small cash receipts again had a strengthening influence, especially in corn.

Corn prices have climbed substantially the past few weeks without bringing out any apparent increase in supplies. Only 65 cars came in today for commercial trade.

Export buyers also were active in the corn pit on word that the United Kingdom had purchased a half million bushels for shipment next month.

Wheat was under fairly heavy pressure of profit-taking near the end of the first hour with prices ⅛ to ⅞ cent a bushel lower, May $2.09⅝; corn unchanged to ½ higher, May $1.25¼; oats ¼ to ⅝ higher, May 67⅝; rye ½ lower to ⅝ higher, May $1.42; soybeans ¼ to ½ higher, May $2.26⅞.

"LIVE BETTER BY FAR" — Signing up for a new car on the opening day of an industry-wide sales drive is Harold S. Goldberg (right), of 1079 James K Blvd. Henry Kline, sales manager of the Pontiac Retail Store, is shown here taking Goldberg's order for a sparkling new Pontiac yesterday, beginning of the "Live Better by Far in a Brand New Car" campaign, sponsored locally by auto dealers and The Pontiac Press. Newspapers in 15 Michigan cities have joined nearly 800 others across the nation in sparking the traditional spring sales in the auto industry.

Dealers Plan Special Attractions

New Car Push Under Way Here

Your Pontiac area auto dealer showroom is a dandy place to drop into this week, now that the nationwide "Live Better By Far With a Brand New Car" campaign is officially under way.

Sixteen area dealers are cooperating with The Pontiac Press in the promotional drive and all are planning special attractions for prospective new car buyers.

For instance, at Harold Turner, Inc., in Birmingham, a 20-foot platform is being erected on top of the agency and a new Ford will be displayed there. Turner is the latest dealership to join the drive here.

At Cy Owens, Inc., there'll be pancake breakfasts and hot dog lunches served this weekend.

Free coffee and doughnuts will be featured at Shelton Pontiac Buick, Inc., in Rochester, and Eddie Steele, Inc., in Keego Harbor, plans to give away frozen steaks.

Other members of the Pontiac Automobile Dealers Assn. and non-association dealers in the Pontiac area are expected to announce their plans for special promotions in the next few days.

The nationwide campaign opened yesterday and will continue through April 18, representing the latest cooperative move by dealers and newspapers to insure the traditional spring sales boom in the auto industry.

Newspapers in 15 Michigan cities have joined nearly 800 others throughout the country in combining with the automobile dealers in their cities in what may prove to be the most massive automobile sales campaign in history.

The campaign comes just as the first signs of a seasonal upturn in sales are beginning to appear in retail delivery figures. This suggests that the opening of the campaign may even give an additional boost to dealership actvty.

Olds Sales Up 25 Pct. for March Over 1958

LANSING — Oldsmobile dealers delivered 25 per cent more new cars to their customers during March than were sold in the corresponding month a year ago, Jack F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile's general manager and a vice president of General Motors reported today.

Sales totaled 34,461.

"But there is even more evidence of the increasing popularity of the 1959 Oldsmobile," Wolfram added. "Our sales have increased substantially over last year's performance in each of the past seven 10-day sales periods.

"And—although registrations for the month of February are not yet available for all states, 39 of them show Oldsmobile to be in third place for the month and for the year to date."

APRIL SHOWERS YEAR-ROUND — Pontiac Motor Division's new spray booth tests water tightness of 1959 Pontiacs under cruising conditions. Special vacuum equipment creates the same conditions the car would experience during actual road speeds of 50-60 m.p.h. Attired for April showers, manufacturing office secretary Mrs. Virginia Schons, 639 E. Tennyson St., watches the operation.

First Encyclopedia in Braille Planned

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The American Printing House for the Blind announced Monday it will publish the first Braille encyclopedia.

Publication of 250 sets of 156 volumes each will be made with a $115,500 gift from the Field Foundation of New York and Field Enterprise Educational Corp., Chicago.

The encyclopedias will be used by schools and libraries serving the blind in this country and Canada.

Stereotyping the special edition of The World Book Encyclopedia is expected to take about two years.

'Foster Father' Has Five Rules for Raising Boys

CHICAGO (UPI)—A veteran "foster father" has come up with five rules for guiding a boy to responsible manhood.

Cal Farley, whose 20-year-old Boys Ranch at Amarillo, Tex., has 1,500 graduates, said the rules are "deceptively simple," and therefore easy to overlook.

Writing in "Today's Health," an American Medical Association publication, Farley said.

—Teach the boy to obey. A boy's own rules turn out to be no rules at all.

—Take time to be a boy's companion.

—Be specific with the boy. Uncertainty in youth leaves the door open for lifelong doubt and conflict.

—Give the boy responsibility. Let him learn early how to be part of a team.

—Love the boy. Show him that love is a kind of mutual respect, reflecting itself in one's conduct.

Announce Winners of Peabody Awards

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1958 winners of Peabody Awards for distinguished and meritorious public service in radio and television were announced today.

National Broadcasting Co. won the television news award with "The Huntley-Brinkley Report," while WNEW of New York City was the radio news winner.

Columbia Broadcasting system's "Playhouse 90" took the TV drama prize.

Bennett Cerf, Peabody board chairman, announced the winners at a luncheon meeting of the Radio and Television Executive Society of New York, attended by several hundred broadcasting industry leaders.

Some Joke: Now What to Do With That Coal

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—A practical joker ordered three truckloads of coal sent to the home of Fred W. Fraker, who heats part of his house with electricity and the rest with oil. This was the result:

One dealer sent a driver in an empty truck to ask where to deliver the coal.

Another telephoned to confirm the order.

The other delivered the coal.

Liz, Eddie Unashamed, Are 'Terribly Happy'

By EARL WILSON

LAS VEGAS — How do you feel about Liz Taylor's contention that public opinion isn't the most important thing when you're in love?

Liz was squeezing Eddie Fisher's hand and kissing him and rubbing the back of his neck when I asked her about it. Her answer, as she tossed her head and her diamonds, in perhaps a new and somewhat defiant declaration of independence for glamor girls-in-love.

WILSON

"We respect public opinion, but you can't live by it," were her precise words here where she and Eddie had proclaimed their hopes for immediate wedlock.

"If we lived by it, Eddie and I would have been terribly unhappy during all this turmoil, but I can shamelessly say that we have been terribly happy.

"I am rising above it," she added with a smile of serenity. "Eddie and I are very proud of our feelings for each other and have never tried to hide them. We have been accused of being indiscreet, and rightly so — but we haven't tried to hide anything."

That's what the beautiful young woman said — strong words too. They might scare some people.

Yet, before denouncing Liz, one should think of Ingrid Bergman. She followed her conscience in an equally headstrong way a few years ago and now seems to have recaptured much of the public esteem that she had lost. She may be even more popular today than before. In the immortal words of somebody, the public has a quick forgettery.

Even if you're rich, lady, you gotta know how to cook.

Because with the tax bite getting rougher, you'll have fewer servants, and some day when the cook's sick and company drops in, you'll want to know how to get some ice cubes out of the fridge without breaking your nails.

Having long worried about this, Mme. Louis Vaudable, wife of the owner of famous Maxim's in Paris, is launching "Maxim's Academy" to teach American women and girls "the art of dining—including cooking," "the art of entertaining," and "art appreciation."

She's got a five-week course in Paris for $800, or three weeks for $600, and for $45 a week more you can live with a French family and learn "the art of appreciating French families." Comtesse De Toulouse-Lautrec, whose husband is grand nephew of the great painter, is on the faculty.

Check on 70,000 Jobs for Links to Lung Cancer

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo. — More than 70,000 specialized workers, including cooks, are being checked over to see if their jobs make them particularly susceptible to lung cancer.

In addition to cooks, the other workers are steam-fitters and all others who work with asbestos, welders, painters, lead, zinc and copper miners, workers in the engine rooms of ships and operators of overhead conveyers of molten metals.

The science of epidemiology has a good basis for the suspicion that they are susceptible, and the present checkover is designed to confirm the suspicion.

It was revealed to science writers attending a seminar on cancer research sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

TABULATES ANSWERS

Dr. Lester Breslow, epidemiologist of the California State Dept. of Health, said he had questioned more than 70,000 workers in those fields by mail about their health status, especially in relation to cancer, and was now tabulating the answers statistically.

The study is scientifically significant because whereas epidemiology believes it has proved that cigarette smoking is a major cause of lung cancer, cigarette smoking is not enough to account for the marked increase in the incidence of that disease over the past 40-odd years.

This caused scientific investigators to seek out occupational hazards which might account for "the substantial minority" of lung cancer cases caused by something else, Breslow continued.

So lung cancer patients in 13 California hospitals were tabulated by life-long occupations. These were compared to the occupations of an equal number of patients hospitalized for diseases other than cancer.

Among the lung cancer cases were 14 welders but only two welders were among the controls.

The other proportions were: cooks 35 and 21; molten metals conveyors five and one; steamfitters 10 and 1; painters 22 and 12; lead zinc and copper miners nine and three; marine engine room workers 12 and 6.

Breslow and other epidemiologists on the panel of experts which briefed the science writers emphasized their unanimous agreement that cigarette smoking was a prime cause of lung cancer, but, in their opinion, certain occupational hazards could have a "booster" effect in smokers and affect nonsmokers.

They also emphasized that only a relatively small number of the workers in these occupations would be affected as, they added, is the case among cigarette smokers.

Nevertheless, they continued, an atmosphere in which fats and other food matrials are under high temperatures, such as that in which cooks live, has a hazard other atmospheres don't have.

Asbestos, molten metals and paints contain chemical compounds which in use can be changed into compounds that are cancer-causing to some small or large degree and are taken in by breathing.

Idaho Resort Town Now Center of U.S.

MCCALL, Idaho (AP) — This central Idaho resort town has just learned it may be near the new geographical center of the United States — now that Alaska and Hawaii are part of the Union. Officials took the news calmly.

W. O. Holmes, president of Research Publications, Inc., of San Carlos, Calif., wired city officials Monday he figures the site is near McCall. Later, he told The Associated Press in San Francisco the spot ought to be about 25 miles north of McCall.

"I had hopes it was going to be closer," said McCall's Mayor Art Roberts, "like in the new department store parking lot or something."

"That's pretty rocky country," he added, "I don't think we could set up any pole or anything this time of year."

More newspapers are sold in two days than the total number of passenger cars registered throughout the world.

Truman Spies a Red Herring

Claims GOP Trying to Revive U.S. Hysteria Over Communism

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former President Truman, promising his usual "give-em-hell" type talk, will speak tomorrow at the University of California at Los Angeles.

The seemingly tireless 74-year-old Democratic chieftain in a 30-minute speech before 40 Democratic leaders yesterday said:

"The Republicans are trying to revive hysteria (with the use of Communism as an issue). The Republicans like to live in no issues at all."

He advised listeners to attend tomorrow's talk to hear more about his ideas of his political opponents.

In a more serious vein, the former Chief Executive listed three qualifications he felt a President of the United States should have.

He should be "entirely familiar with the history of government to date, know the Constitution backwards and forwards and know how the legislative branch of the government works."

Asked about whom he will support for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, he said, "before the time comes around, you'll know who I'm for. I'm not one to hide my light under a bushel."

But, he added, "when the Democratic convention meets here in Los Angeles and nominates a man I'm going to support that man."

2 Small Towns Merge Into One in Minnesota

TRIMONT, Minn. (UPI) — This town of 876 residents in southern Minnesota was recently created out of a merger of two communities that had been sitting side-by-side for 56 years.

The two were Triumph (pop. 561) and Monterey (pop. 315). Only a few months ago, the voters of both places overwhelmingly approved getting together. The name of the new locality was created out of the first letters of the names of the two old towns.

"I don't think we'll have much trouble in adapting to the new situation," said Anton Meidle, who was mayor of Monterery and is now mayor of Trimont. "As it was, there wasn't too much overlap in our two towns."

Children from both had been attending the same school, and residents had been using the same municipal liquor store.

One newspaper, the Triumph-Monterey Progress, had been serving both towns and only the first part of the paper's name had to be changed.

But the merger automatically repealed most of the ordinances that had been governing each village. A new set of laws is being used.

Fleeing Bull Hurts San Antonio Child

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—A bull fleeing the packing house rampaged through south San Antonio Monday, injuring a 4-year-old boy and generally stirring up the citizenry.

The big animal after breaking loose pounded by a playground filled with children and ran over Jesse Giles, 4. The youngster suffered only minor injuries.

Academy Awards Show Too Droll for Hollywood

Editor's Note: William Ewald is ill.

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 31st annual Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences awards in Hollywood last night had 120 minutes to fill and, even with the aid of a legion of stars, could barely fill 105 of those minutes.

As seen on NBC-TV, the 1959 Oscar parade was just too much. It had too much in the way of stars with nothing to do but smile; too much in the way of static, head-on camera shots of the Oscar awarders that gave the show an unexpected flatness and monotony, a lack of sparkle and life.

The cameras riveted on the emcees while, I'm sure, some dramatic facial expressions could have been picked up in the audience, I think this is a show that should be filled with suspense, humor, happiness and sadness, excitement and drama.

Instead, we got a tedious procession of winner after winner, star after star. The suspense, the drama were missing. The life was rehearsed right out of the show.

And the ending — shame on Hollywood for that one.

A stage filled with talent milling around looking for graceful ways to exit, is hardly the way to end a show of this kind.

A final boost: when you get 105 minutes without a TV commercial, I guess it can't all be bad.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: It's now definite that the Jack Benny Show and the George Gobel Show will alternate on Sunday nights at 10 starting Sept. 27 for CBS-TV.

Zsa Zsa Gabor, not to be outdone by sister Eva's recent ice-skating act on ABC-TV's You Asked For IT, gets equal time to demonstrate how she fences, plays ping pong and polo on the April 19 stanza.

Ties In Obscene Literature to Delinquency

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An Illinois churchman believes there is a definite correlation between juvenile delinquency and obscene literature.

The Rev. Arthur Zahniser, vice chairman of the Commission for Social Action of the National Assn. of Evangelicals, said Monday: "The commission is convinced that pornographic literature is contributing to juvenile delinquency. We feel it may also be one of the factors which trigger emotionally warped individuals into committing many of the sex crimes reported throughout the nation."

Security for You

Extra Money Not Barred

By RAY HENRY

(Editor's note: The rules on how much other income a person can have and still get social security are complicated. And, many thousands of people are unnecessarily limiting their earnings from work because they don't understand them. This is the first of three columns explaining the rules.)

You're not barred from working and earning extra money if you're collecting social security.

In fact, if you're 72 or older, the amount you may earn is unlimited.

But, if you're under 72 there are some limits on the amount you may earn from work and still get checks every month.

The limits apply to every person under 72 who is eligible for payments —

To the children themselves.

To the wife and children getting social security because the family breadwinner has been seriously disabled and is collecting disability payments.

To the widow over 62 getting payments based on her deceased husband's social security record.

If you're an employe, earnings counted against the limits are your gross wages and salary — wages paid in a form other than cash, such as meals and living quarters (unless you're a domestic worker, in which case only cash wages count) bonuses, commissions, fees and vacation and holiday pay.

If you work for yourself, earnings counted against the limits are your net profit, after expenses, from all trades and businesses you're the sole owner or partner and from the practice of any profession.

These earnings count even though they may not be covered by the social security system.

Next: The limits.

Johnson Will Help President to Aid Nation

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said Monday he would help the President "so long as it helps the strength of America."

Sens. Wayne Morse (D-Ore), William Proxmire, (D-Wis) and Pat McNamara (D-Mich) have criticized Johnson for what they called his one-man rule in the Senate and his too-friendly relations with the Republican administration.

"I shall always respect the office (of president) and I shall respect the man in it, whoever he may be, Democrat or Republican," Johnson told a joint session of the Texas Legislature.

He denied again, however, that he has any interest in the office himself.

When street lights were first installed in Lark, Utah, civic-minded residents arranged the poles so that they spelled out the name of the town in letters large enough to be read from tall buildings in Salt Lake City 27 miles away.

Highest Court Backs Price Cut Complaint

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court has ruled that an appliance dealer cannot get together with appliance manufacturers and distributors in an attempt to put a cut-rate competing retailer out of business.

The decision yesterday reinstated a suit for triple damages brought by Klor's, a San Francisco Appliance Store, against Klor's next-door competitor, Broadway-Hale Stores, Inc., along with 10 makers of radio, TV and household appliances, and eight distributors.

Klor's contended Broadway-Hale got price concessions from the manufacturers and distributors that were not given to Klor's.

The suit was dismissed in San Francisco Federal District Court on the ground that it was a private quarrel between Klor's and Broadway-Hale and was not a public wrong forbidden by the Sherman Antitrust Act.

'Dark Horse' Piggins Tops Detroit Judges

DETROIT (AP) — Most of the entries ran true to form but a dark horse won the Wayne County Circuit Court judgeship race.

With 1,375 of 1,891 precincts reported, Piggins collected 147,701 votes. His closest rival was incumbent Chester P. O'Hara with 146,620.

Thomas M. Murray was third with 144,913, and Wade H. McCree Jr., fourth, with 141,706. Both were incumbents.

Windsor Blaze Still Flickering

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Flames continued to flicker sporadically today in a burned-out four-story downtown Windsor building nearly 36 hours after the blaze began.

Firemen spent the night pouring water on the building but supplies of a drug company stored on its second and third floors continued to burn.

The owners of the ruined Labelle Building at first estimated damages at $750,000 but said later they thought they would be twice that figure.

Police continued to reroute traffic from two main streets near the building because it was feared the walls would collapse.
