Police Pull Switch, Seek Good Drivers

Instead of singling out bad drivers, as is the rule, Pontiac policemen this month will also be looking for good drivers.

A safe driving award program—with $25 bonds as awards—has been launched by the Pontiac Exchange Club, the traffic safety committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and the Pontiac Police Department.

During the month of December, patrolmen will cite good drivers along with their regular patrol of bad drivers.

At the end of each week, the safe drivers' names will be reviewed by a four-member committee made up of Lt. Clayton Randolph, director of the traffic bureau for the Pontiac Police Department; City Commissioner Robert C. Irwin; Dean Wilson, driver education instructor, Pontiac Central High School; and Joseph Gaskala of the Exchange Club.

As each driver is stopped, police will ask him for his name and address. These will be turned over to the committee along with a check of the motorist's driving record.

A $25 bond will be awarded each week to the safe driver selected by the committee. A total of four safe driving awards will be made during the month.

Some Tickets at Door for Roche Luncheon

Officials handling the luncheon in honor of James M. Roche at the Elks Thursday noon announce they will hold two dozen tickets for issuance at the door the day of the meeting.

The president of General Motors will be accompanied by Executive Vice President George Russell. Serving will start at 12:15.

Tavern License Plan Rejected

City Vote, 15-5-2 on Upgrading Proposal

Adoption of a plan for the upgrading of tavern licenses in Pontiac was rejected last night by the seven-man City Commission.

The commission voted 5-2 not to adopt an upgrading plan recommended by a five-man citizens committee.

Major William H. Taylor Jr., who originated the upgrading study committee, joined the vote against the plan.

Upgrading, which would elevate taverns to Class C status, permitting liquor by the glass, was placed before the commission last night by a petition from 10 local tavern owners.

The committee set certain standards for upgrading and stipulated that only three licenses should be elevated each year.

Two commission votes were tallied last night, and there was nearly a third vote that would have asked for upgrading of all tavern licenses.

In addition to the 5-2 vote against the adoption of the recommended plan, there was a 4-3 vote against tabling the third motion for total upgrading. The third motion was eventually withdrawn by its sponsor, District 4 Commissioner Hudson.

Voting against tabling were Hudson, Irwin, Taylor and James H. Marshall.

Tavern owners reiterated their position.

To Reveal Results of Hospital Probe

The results of an investigation into the three deaths at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital will be revealed at 10 a.m. Friday, Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson announced today.

Bronson's office and the Pontiac police began their investigation Nov. 22 after a 14-year-old woman and two children died when mistakenly given injections of ether.

Johnson Seeks to Curb Future Price Increases

President, Economic Advisers Will Map Federal Campaign

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. — President Johnson, concerned about record living costs rising at a close-to-inflation rate, plans an early meeting with key economic advisers to map a federal campaign against further hikes in price tags.

Johnson is expected to meet within the next week or 10 days, with Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, Budget Director Charles L. Schultz, Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board and Chairman Gardner Ackley of his Council of Economic Advisers.

When it occurs, the session probably will be labeled a routine, periodic meeting of the group which, before Johnson's Oct. 8 surgery, got together with him at the White House about once every six weeks.

One reason for passing off such a conference in routine fashion—at least in advance—could be the potential impact on financial markets for stocks, bonds and, equally important, for money.

The "money markets" determine short-term borrowing costs that affect everyone from big industrialists to householders buying a new refrigerator on installment credit.

The Labor Department announced yesterday in Washington that living costs rose by two-tenths of one per cent in October to a historic peak. The increase, the most rapid in some five years, nudged the upper limits of what the government deems noninflationary. However, federal officials avoided the scare word "inflation."

Johnson's concern about a possible new wage-price spiral, born of a significant boost in federal spending to finance the war in Viet Nam, has been evident for months.

It was this concern that prompted him to invite steel wage negotiators to the White House in late August to work out a new contract that would not do violence to federal wage-price guidelines.

The committee set certain standards for upgrading and stipulated that only three licenses should be elevated each year.

Two commission votes were tallied last night, and there was nearly a third vote that would have asked for upgrading of all tavern licenses.

In addition to the 5-2 vote against the adoption of the recommended plan, there was a 4-3 vote against tabling the third motion for total upgrading. The third motion was eventually withdrawn by its sponsor, District 4 Commissioner Hudson.

Voting against tabling were Hudson, Irwin, Taylor and James H. Marshall.

Pleasant weather will continue Friday. The prediction is partly cloudy and mild.

Teen's Luck Runs in Cars (3 of Them)

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

Mary Anne Murray has a problem — what to do with the third automobile she has won in a raffle this year.

"We sold the first Caddy and I gave the second to my mother," said Miss Murray, 17-year-old senior at Eden Hall Convent of the Sacred Heart.

"I don't know what we're going to do with the Mustang."

In the past year, Mary Anne said yesterday, she has won two Cadillacs, a Mustang, a $300 hand organ, a $100 gift certificate and several smaller prizes.

Mary Anne, who already has a convertible, said she plans to quit while she's ahead. No more raffle tickets for her.

GM to Loosen Bus Controls

Accord Ends Long Antitrust Hassle

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Corp. has agreed to loosen its control in the manufacture and sale of buses.

The Justice Department says the company now handles 85 per cent of the nation's intercity and transit buses.

The company government agreement reached yesterday ended an antitrust hassle which began in mid-1955 when the government accused GM of conspiring with four bus operating companies to monopolize the bus market.

The case had been kept from trial for 9½ years because of legal maneuvers. It was scheduled to open later this month.

The settlement was filed in U.S. District Court in Detroit, but announced in Washington by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach.

STILL WILL COMPETE

General Motors Board chairman Frederic G. Donner said the result of the suit would not prevent GM from competing in the field of bus manufacturing.

"General Motors will continue to be a fair and aggressive competitor in the bus market."

"We also will continue to carry on our bus manufacturing and selling activities on the sound basis that has merited the faith and confidence of our customers," he said.

Among the provisions: GM will allow other manufacturers to use all of its current bus patents without royalty payments.

On patents developed in the next five years, GM will charge the next five years, GM will charge (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

EARLY CHRISTMAS — Santa Claus took time yesterday for early delivery of a tumor, will live until Christmas, despite surgery and cobalt treatments.

Santa Arrives Early for Seriously Ill Girl

Santa Claus visited a pretty, brown-haired girl at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday. He came early, because there is some doubt that 5-year-old Diane VanKleeck will be alive for Christmas.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard VanKleeck of 3184 Warren, Waterford Township, Diane has a malignant brain tumor.

Already paralyzed, she has had surgery and cobalt treatments, but doctors hold little hope for her.

Diane's trouble was discovered last July. She was taken to her family physician when her left temple became noticeably swollen.

REFERRED TO SPECIALIST

He referred her to a specialist, and surgery was performed at Pontiac General. It was too late.

Wanting a normal life for her for as long as possible, her parents enrolled her in kindergarten at Dayton Plains Elementary in September.

But, as the tumor grew, so did the pain in her back and neck. And so did her despondency. Four weeks after the term began, Diane was forced to drop out of school.

Her parents kept her home for two weeks. But she finally had to be hospitalized.

Three weeks ago, she became paralyzed.

ADDS TO DISCOMFORT

Her back is now sore from immobility. It adds much to her discomfort.

She finds ways to amuse herself. She prints her name, plays with dolls and watches television. She likes to get cards.

Hearings End on Osteopathic School for City

Backers Give Details on Proposed Facility, Cite Michigan Needs

By L. GARY THORNE

The question of amalgamation of medical and osteopathic doctors in Michigan may have to be settled before the osteopathic college proposed for Pontiac receives state financial support.

Discussion of a merger—and severe criticism of the osteopathic college proposal—highlighted two days of public hearings concluded yesterday before the House State Affairs Committee.

The hearings were held at Wayne State University as a preliminary to further consideration of requests for operating funds for the proposed college, to be located on a 164-acre site, at Auburn and Opdyke.

Osteopaths yesterday gave details of the proposed college, its curriculum, faculty and cost.

Various spokesmen reiterated that a variety of studies, including one by the U.S. Public Health Service, pointed out the need for more medical education facilities in Michigan.

CORRESPONDING NEED

In addition, there exists a corresponding need for more doctors, especially general practitioners or family physicians.

The osteopaths also pointed out that their profession's future doctors now have to go outside of Michigan to obtain their medical education.

A claim by M.D.'s that the vast majority of osteopaths want amalgamation was denied by Dr. J. Vincent Murphy, immediate past president of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOS).

He maintained it was a misrepresentation of the facts to say that 75 per cent of the osteopaths want a merger.

EXPLAINS CHOICE

Dr. Murphy told the House committee why Pontiac was selected.

BEGINNER'S GUITAR

A beginner's guitar is a good bet to increase the popularity of a teen boy. About $32.50 would be the price on this instrument that can help while away the hours this winter.

And he'll appreciate a pop-art sweater with collar and tie knitted right into the pattern. This 100 per cent virgin wool slipover runs about $14.

That isn't all, she'll have gloves to match if mom has been a smart shopper this year.

All three of these teen gifts may be purchased in the area for less than $12.

You may have to do some fancy footwork to get a shot of that teen-age boy of yours on his Bongo Board.

lected as the site for the new college. The college, he said, will be within 30 miles of more than half of the state's population and within an hour's drive of 70 per cent of the state's population.

The former MAOPS president also disputed a Michigan State Medical Society charge that some D.O.'s in the past had been reprimanded for association with M.D.'s.

Dr. Murphy in addition deposed the claim that the proposed college would be a duplication of facilities.

"If we provide 100 new physicians, how is that going to duplicate anything?" he asked.

Doctor Offers Some Tips for Patients' Gifts

Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, today issued a suggested Christmas gift list for hospital patients and a procedure for gift giving.

He also pointed out that postage stamps are needed for patients' Christmas cards.

Dr. Martin said all Christmas gifts to patients should be new because of the therapeutic effect.

Gifts should be donated unwrapped and accompanied by wrapping paper and ribbon so employees and volunteers can prepare each present for a patient's individual needs.

All donations should be mailed or brought to Ted A. Panaretos, director of the hospital's community relations department, according to Dr. Martin.

Among suggested gift items for adults are parlor games, puzzles, items of clothing, candy, books, stationery and ball point pens.

Toys, table games, clothing, candy, cookies, educational items and instruction kits are suggested gifts for children.

The hospital's deadline for receiving gifts for patients is Dec. 23.

ident also disputed a Michigan State Medical Society charge that some D.O.'s in the past had been reprimanded for association with M.D.'s.

Dr. Murphy in addition deposed the claim that the proposed college would be a duplication of facilities.

"If we provide 100 new physicians, how is that going to duplicate anything?" he asked.

SEVERAL CONSULTANTS

The osteopaths called several consultants before the House Committee, including L. W. Mills, director of the office of education of the American Osteopathic Association (AOA).

Mills said that the AOA did not approve of the merger in California, the only state to merge M.D.'s and D.O.'s, and the AOA policy was against merger.

"Amalgamation is the road to the best in health care in Michigan," was the theme sounded by Dr. John J. Coury, representing the MSMS.

A parade of osteopathic doctors and college officials repeated their stand that osteopathy and its practitioners want to remain "separate and distinct."

Representatives of both sides appeared before the 13-member House committee.

Dr. Coury, who opened the morning session yesterday cited the medical society's efforts toward unity of M.D.'s and D.O.'s.

Amalgamation is a firmly set goal of his group, according to Dr. Coury.

Postgraduate education programs and joint hospital staffs were examples listed by the society's spokesman as areas of M.D.-D.O. association.

Construction of the osteopathic college would be an unnecessary duplication of facilities, claimed the Port Huron surgeon.

He indicated that the college's development, particularly with state aid, would discourage unity of M.D.'s and D.O.'s.

Dr. Coury's statement followed testimony Monday by deans from the state's three medical schools. They said the college would be inefficient, expensive and unnecessary.

The House State Affairs Committee voted earlier this fall to keep in committee a Senate-passed bill that would have created an osteopathic college authority.

Later consideration no doubt would have followed to provide state funds.

In putting the bill on the shelf, the committee agreed to reintroduce it in January.

Reject Plan on Tavern Licenses

fairly to compete with Class C establishments.

• Theirs is legal business.

• Business is going out of town.

• They handle only 20 per cent of the drinking trade, 80 per cent of the liquor is bought at take-out stores.

Commissioner "discussion was led off by John A. Dugan, who said he was not a "dry" or "wet." He labeled the liquor issue a political question dating back at least 10 years.

Dugan repeated his previous suggestion that the liquor issue should be submitted to the people for an advisory vote.

"SINCERE"

"The committee was certainly sincere," commented Dugan, "but that doesn't bind me. We get recommendations all the time."

Dugan and Commissioner T. Warren Fowler indicated they had doubts on how three could be upgraded each year.

Commissioner Marshall said that his District 7 did not want any more Class C establishments. Meanwhile, Commissioner Wesley J. Wood said he was not committed to follow the committee's recommendations.

Wood added that a vote of the people may be needed one day on the liquor controversy.

Irwin, who commended the committee for being objective even though some members had personal feelings against liquor, maintained that responsibility for a decision on the question rested with the commission.

Hudson, who said it was time for the commission to give a definite answer, pointed out that the study committee had offered a solution to a long-standing problem "for the betterment of the city."

He countered the "only three per year" arguments by offering the motion for total upgrading.

Hudson immediately moved to table, stating "I'm not going to be trapped by Hudson."

However, the tabling motion, which is not debatable, was voted down. Hudson, who said he offered the former motion to prove a point and was really against total upgrading, then withdrew the motion.

Hudson, whose contention was joined by Irwin, said opposition had been indirect on the upgrading question, rather than direct.

Irwin said the commission appeared to be "grasping at straws to avoid the issue." He said he did not want total upgrading either. Irwin had seconded Hudson's motion.

Mayor Taylor summed up the commission's position in the liquor controversy. He said that he had indicated earlier the commission was split.

"I don't know what else can be done now," he added.

When the five-man study was submitted, the commission had formally discussed the findings, but took no formal public vote.

Pointing out, the stalemate, the tavern owners petitioned for a decision.

FOLLOWED? — "Look who is following me," says Art Hanes (left), defense attorney for KKK member Leroy Wilkins (right), after winding up in the elevator with Leroy Wilkins. Wilkins was in the car with Mrs. Viola Luzzo when she was fatally shot. Wilkins and two others are on trial in federal court in Montgomery, Ala., on charges of conspiring to deprive Mrs. Luzzo of her civil rights.

FBI Agent Says Defendant in Area of Luzzo Shooting

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — A veteran FBI agent testified today that one of three men on trial for conspiracy in the death of Viola Gregg Luzzo acknowledged when arrested that he was in the Selma-Montgomery area the night she was shot.

Special Agent Lawrence G. Gettings said defendant Eugene Thomas, 42, of Bessemer, Ala., however, said "he had no knowledge of this."

Thomas, along with Collier Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, of Fairfield, Ala., and William Orville Eaton, 41, of Bessemer, are charged with conspiring to violate the civil rights of the Detroit mother of five.

Gettings, one of a number of FBI agents testifying in federal court, said prior to questioning Thomas, that the Ku Klux Klan was advised of his constitutional rights to counsel or silence.

Thomas, according to Gettings, said the first time he visited the Selma area was "when Martin Luther King came over the bridge in Selma."

Defense attorney Arthur Hanes asked the judge if he could put on the stand U.S. Asst. Atty. Gen. John Doar as a witness. The judge replied that he could if it were material to the case.

Hanes said he wants to show that Doar's primary concern is prosecuting the Ku Klux Klan.

Traffic Safety Study Okayed

Birmingham Publisher

Heads County Group

The board of directors of the Oakland County Traffic Safety Committee met yesterday at Oakland University, giving formal approval to a just-completed study of the county's traffic safety needs and appointing a chairman for the board's operations committee.

The study, which makes 92 specific recommendations, covers traffic records, police traffic supervision, traffic courts and prosecution, public opinion, traffic engineering, safety and driver education and public information.

James O. Wright, board chairman, described the findings as "a sound, detailed blueprint for action."

"I believe this study is unique," Wright said. "Now we are at the point where active citizen support is needed."

Wright's proposal that Paul N. Averill, publisher of the Birmingham Eclectic, head the newly formed operations committee, was unanimously approved by board members present.

PUBLIC AWARENESS

Function of the new committee is to develop public awareness of the study's recommendations.

The seven-area survey was carried out by some 200 Oakland County officials and citizens.

Durward B. Varner, chancellor of Oakland University and a vice chairman of the board, said the study was an "impressive document" of the county's traffic safety needs.

"If Oakland County can't cope with traffic safety better than any other county in America, then there's something wrong with Oakland County," Varner said.

"Most of the brains of the automobile world are right here in this county — and many of them are active on this committee," he said.

Libraries Fail to Agree on Federation Proposal

With one more day until their deadline, the Baldwin and Bloomfield Township public library boards apparently will not establish a cooperative library system.

Their joint meeting last night was relatively lengthy, attracted an unusually large crowd—25 to 30 persons—but produced no resolution of the differences keeping the boards from establishing a federation.

The Bloomfield Township Library Board earlier this month submitted a proposal to form a federation under provisions of a new state law.

A counterproposal, which deleted several provisions of the original one, was offered by the Baldwin Public Library Board.

Meeting before the joint session, the township library board members last night passed a resolution asking Baldwin to reconsider the first proposal.

"We believe that the township proposal creates a flexible framework for a working system and that the Baldwin amendments and deletions thereto establish instead a dead-end without money, without power and without a real power correction problems."

to acquire either, "the township library trustees said."

The federation—to initially include Birmingham, Bloomfield Township, Bloomfield Hills and Beverly Hills—would be governed by its own board.

However, the library boards would retain their control over internal matters.

Tomorrow is the deadline for submitting federation plans in order to qualify for state aid, which could amount to three cents per capita.

1970 POPULATION

It is expected that the area included in the system proposal will have a population of 100,000 by 1970.

The second in a series of films on mental health will be shown at 8 p.m. today at Birmingham Psychiatric Medical Associates, Inc., 625 Purdy. The public is invited.

Commentary on the film, "The Peeling of Hostility," will be made by Roger Lindroth, M.D., speech pathologist at the clinic. He will discuss how the emotional feelings of anger build up and how they are often revealed in speech.

More Snow, Too

November Colder, Wetter

The weatherman had few surprises for the Pontiac area in November.

The month started pleasantly, as November usually do. But heavy clouds appeared on Nov. 7 from then on it got steadily colder, wetter, and more windy.

Compared with November 1964, this November was slightly colder on the average and there was about one more inch of snow and rain. But the temperature did not dip as low this November, and at its height it was slightly higher than a year ago.

The average temperature for November 1965 was 39.2. Last November it was 42.5.

From a summerlike high of 80 in October, November dropped to a not-so-hot 73. Compared with the low of 13 in November 1964, this year's November low was a balmy 24. The total rain and snowfall this November was 3.64 inches. Last November, it was 2.54 inches.

The temperature stayed around the 50 degree mark until about November 9. From then it began to drop.

Surplus Food Policy Hardened

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reserves of wheat stocks and other edibles and a mounting policy on the disposal of surplus food, largely due to dwindling

U.S. authorities, making this known today, said the new policy will affect India, Pakistan, the United Arab Republic and about seven other countries designated as currency-excess countries by the U.S. Treasury. The designation means the United States has accumulated far more local currency from those countries than it can possibly use in the immediate future.

The new policy, already in progress, is to receive virtually all payments later in dollars rather than in rupees and dirhams. Among the other excess currency countries are Ceylon, Burma, Guinea, Israel, Poland, Tunisia and Yugoslavia.

Coming under this policy will be the proposed sale of $5 million worth of food to the United Arab Republic. The State Department announced Tuesday that President Johnson had approved such a sale and that talks would open in Cairo within two weeks on the terms.

PERIOD OF TENSION

The announcement ended a period of tension between the two countries that started with the burning of the U.S. Information Agency library in Cairo in November 1964.

According to the State Department, part of the cost will be payable in dollars, the rest in Egyptian currency. The policy governing currency-excess countries permits the President to waive the dollars-only restriction when he finds it to be in the national interest.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told his last news conference that the United States is not in the position that one American adviser called the "garbage can approach" in the disposal of surplus food stocks.

"On such commodities as wheat and rice, for example, we do not have vast warehouses bulging with the surplus stocks that we once had," Rusk said.

SHARP CHANGE

U.S. food authorities say that the surplus food situation has changed sharply to a point where the surplus no longer is building up.

For example, U.S. government stocks of surplus wheat were certified at $99 million bushels in November 1964. Now these stocks are down to 736 million bushels and U.S. consumption is estimated at about 600 million bushels for one year. There are some rumors in Congress that the United States should be thinking about strategic reserves of grain, what with the escalating war situation in Southeast Asia.

Other food stocks no longer considered as surplus include rice, dairy products, vegetable oils, soybeans and food grains.

Although the dollar inventory of U.S. surplus commodities is about the same at $6.5 billion, the composition of the stocks has changed markedly. Tobacco and cotton alone account for 40 per cent of the inventory, officials said.

Denies Draft Being Used to Punish Demonstrators

LANSING (AP) — The state director of Selective Service denied Tuesday that his agency is attempting to use the draft to punish young men who demonstrate against the war in Vietnam.

The Democratic State Central Committee said in a resolution Sunday that the draft status of student demonstrators "should not be used as an instrument of thought control."

Col. Arthur Holmes said actions taken so far were for interference with the operations of the Ann Arbor draft board, not for the student's views on the Viet Nam war.

While about 31 young men staged a sit-in in the board's offices, he said, about 200 students picketed peacefully outside.

NAMES NOT CHECKED "We didn't try to find out their names and we wouldn't," he said.

Several students have reported they lost their student deferments and were classified I-A, available for immediate induction, after the Ann Arbor demonstration.

Holmes said local boards have "the right to grant and the right to deny deferments."

He said interference with operations of Selective Service is a violation of the Selective Service Law, and information on any such violations always is passed on to local boards for consideration.

RECLASSIFIED STUDENTS The reclassified students have the right of appearance before the local board and of appeal to the state board, Holmes said. If there is a dissenting vote on the decision of the state board, he said, that decision may be appealed to the Presidential Board of Appeal.

"I know of no activity in Selective Service that in any way infringes on freedom of speech," Holmes said.

Drop in Jobless Pay Noted in Rhode Island

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The Rhode Island Department of Employment Security reports that unemployment insurance benefits paid last month were the lowest in 18 years.

October payments totaled $658,373, down 14.4 per cent from the $769,214 paid in September, and down 24.2 per cent from the $868,080 paid in October 1964.

Electricity was first used in Alexander Bain in Great Britain connection with clocks by train.

Cityhood Vote Due to Be Set

NOVI — Acting on a petition for cityhood, the Village Council is expected Monday to schedule an election to decide the incorporation proposal.

The petition was received by the council Nov. 15, but no action could be taken until the signatures were certified.

Hearing Stated on Road-Paving Rolls in Avon

AVON TOWNSHIP — A public hearing on the special assessment district rolls for road paving in Rochdale subdivision will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 16 at the Township Hall.

Residents have objected to the assessment plan, which requires all property owners to share additional costs normally incurred by owners of corner lots.

An extra assessment is being added to each parcel of land on the rolls to cover the costs of the corner lots.

Several persons have tried to withdraw their names from the original petition seeking the paving, but the township attorney ruled their names are still valid.

The cost of the project is estimated at $56,887.

Utica School Units Unable to Agree

UTICA — The Utica Education Association and the Utica Federation of Teachers, unable to reach a consensus in an informal hearing before the State Labor Mediation Board Monday, will now have to go into formal hearing.

Schools Supt. Phillip Runkel said the main issue to be resolved is who shall be allowed to participate in a bargaining rights vote.

Both groups are seeking exclusive bargaining rights for the district's teachers.

Village Clerk Mabel Ash said she has validated the 126 names as registered voters and property owners, as required by law. The signatures of at least 100 persons were needed.

The petition was circulated by a group of businessmen and industrialists, headed by C. A. Smith, a real estate broker and chairman of the Novi Industrial Development Committee.

The group claims that if Novi becomes a city, friction would end between officials of the village and the small township.

ACCUSED TOWNSHIP — Smith has accused the township of doing nothing to encourage industry to move into Novi.

"The village is going in one direction and the township in the other," he said.

Two unsuccessful incorporation bids have been made in the past, in 1959 and 1962.

Should the village incorporate, it would be necessary for township officials to move into the one subdivision that still remains under township government or forfeit their jobs.

CONTROL UNIT — Presently, a township official can live within a village because the township is the controlling unit. A city government would abolish the township in the area incorporated.

The change of status from village to city wouldn't occur officially at the election — should cityhood be favored — but when voters approve a charter.

A charter commission would be elected at the time the proposal is decided. If the cityhood proposal is approved, the commission would have 90 days to frame a charter.

The village has a population of about 7,000 while the township has some 60 residents living in the subdivision that stands like an island in the center of the village.

ARCHITECTURAL AWARD WINNER — The new Visitors Center Building at Stony Creek Park, a 3,500-acre site six miles north of Utica, is scheduled to open to the public early next year. The building, carrying a "concrete tree" theme, won Michigan's top architectural design award. The Michigan Society of Architects honored designers at Wakely-Kushner and Associates of St. Clair Shores and the Huron Clinton Metropolitan Authority. At the building, located at the park's new main entrance, visitors can obtain information or assistance prior to entering the park.

Preparation for Junior High

Teacher Specialist Plan Set Up in Troy

By JANICE KLOUSER

TROY — Fifth and sixth graders at Big Beaver Elementary School are participating in an experimental program designed to bridge the gap between elementary school and junior high school.

With the new teacher specialist scheduling, which started this fall, educators hope to ease the transition between the self-contained classrooms of elementary school and the departmentalized classes in junior high.

"This transition is a big adjustment for the children," explained Big Beaver principal Clyde Peterson, "and it is one of the major concerns of all educators."

Peterson stressed that the plan does not copy the junior high schools where pupils move from room to room. At Big Beaver, the teachers move from room to room.

Following homeroom period each morning, the teachers rotate between classes, teaching their various specialties.

TEACHERS' CLASSES — Karen Alderman teaches arithmetic, spelling, handwriting and all English classes; Mrs. Mary Brusie, arithmetic, spelling, handwriting and all reading classes; Robert Hoy, sixth grade arithmetic and all science classes; and Eugenia Keeler, sixth grade spelling and handwriting and all social studies.

Peterson said that the plan benefits the teachers by giving them an opportunity to do more study and research in their particular areas.

He pointed out that by specializing, teachers can be more effective in teaching their subject area. It also eases their preparation load.

All four teachers agree that they like the new program. Miss Alderman pointed out that it provides variety for both the teachers and the children and makes for a better learning situation.

She said she feels it is an improvement over the self-contained rooms.

LIKES PLAN — Miss Keeler said she likes the plan, but that it "takes getting used to" as she has always taught in a self-contained room.

The program has one drawback, according to Mrs. Brusie, who feels there is often not enough time in homeroom period for all that has to be done.

Hoy feels the children are "probably getting a better education" and will be better adjusted to junior high school.

Peterson said there also have been good reports from parents and the children.

PARENTS SATISFIED

In a survey taken last week, the great majority of parents indicated satisfaction with the program. They said their children enjoy the program, feel more grown up by having four teachers and seem to be learning as much, if not more, than in a self-contained room.

Peterson said the children have told him they are happy with the system and like having a variety of teachers.

"It's too early for an official valuation yet," he said, "but so far it seems to be working out."

Proposed School Merger Shocks Dublin Officials

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Dublin school officials now are recovering from the initial shock caused by the recommendation that their tiny district be incorporated into the Waterford Township School System.

"I was dumbfounded," Dublin Schools Supt. Nelson G. O'Shaughnessy said of the recommendation which came out of the Oakland County School District Reorganization Committee meeting Friday.

The committee was established early this year to study the three Oakland County School districts without high school programs.

A 1964 state law abolishing districts which do not have kindergarten through 12th grade programs affects the Dublin, Novi and North Oxford school systems in the county.

Dublin officials have been working toward a merger with the Walled Lake district, which now accepts high school students from Dublin on a tuition basis.

MAJORITY IN FAVOR

It appeared that a majority of the reorganization committee members favored such a move at their Nov. 21 meeting.

Therefore, the recommendation Friday came as a surprise to the Dublin officials.

"I never entered my mind that there would be a change," O'Shaughnessy said. "In five minutes, all the plans of four months of study were washed down the drain."

There was not a quorum of the 18 members at either of the committee's last two meetings, but those present were considered to be acting for the committee as a whole.

Neither Eric Spitzer nor Raymond Hoffmann, Dublin's two representatives, attended the session Friday.

NO MEETING

O'Shaughnessy noted there had been no meeting of the Dublin School Board since Friday but said that he had talked to school trustees individually.

"Overall they're quite upset by the action of the committee," he said.

The superintendent commented that the board probably will convene informally before the Dec. 9 meeting of the remember of the Oakland School Board of Education.

He said the emphasis of his motion was on involving only two districts in the move.

AGAINST DEALS

"It's not feasible when you get involved with more than two districts," he said. "I'm against making deals with pieces of land and kids."

Silliman said the committee's recommendation should concern just the merger of Dublin with one district or another.

"Any district would suffer a tax loss — but the larger the district, the smaller the loss," he said.

The Waterford Township district has a total enrollment of 15,458 compared to 7,481 in Walled Lake.

Silliman noted he also favored the merger with Waterford Township because of geographic considerations.

Bordering Dublin on three sides, the Waterford Township district is experiencing most of its growth in its western portion and the merger with Waterford in its plans for building there, he said.

Silliman commented that his motion was "for the sake of discussion."

Further consideration at the Dec. 9 meeting is to result in a recommendation which in turn will be considered at a public hearing Dec. 22.

Any proposal on the fate of the district eventually will be placed on a ballot for final approval.

To Study Separation of 2 Sewer Systems

A supplementary study was authorized last night to determine what is needed to separate the city's combined storm and sanitary sewer system.

The City Commission approved a contract with Jones, Henry & Williams, consulting engineers, to provide data to supplement a previous master plan on the city's sewer needs.

Separation of the two systems has been advised by the State Water Commission to eliminate pollution of three small northside lakes.

Generally, new storm drains would have to be constructed for the separation.

City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling said that separating storm and sanitary sewers was not part of the planning included in the recently-completed master sewer plan, financed under the federal government's "701 planning" program.

Cost of the supplementary study was estimated at $6,000, according to Neippling.

He added that about 15 percent of the city's sewers are combined storm and sanitary facilities.

In other business, the commission approved development of an all-day parking lot on land south of East Huron, west of Arcadia.

At an estimated cost of $3,000, 47 parking spaces are to be put on the land, which is part of the right-of-way purchased for the Clinton River Drain No. 1.

Neippling said the permission of the Oakland County Drain Commissioner would be needed to make use of the land.

The lot will be graded and a gravel surface applied for use this fall with blacktopping added in the spring. Added lighting will be installed in the spring. The ultimate cost would be $11,500, said Neippling.

New bids were received last night for a proposed pedestrian overpass on East Wide Track near Whittemore. Three bids were received.

These were Hill & Thomas Co. of Lansing, $14,250; Shoup Electronics of Detroit, $17,262; and Guardian Engineering & Development of Pittsburgh, $18,900. The last firm submitted an alternate bid of $24,900 for a different type of overpass.

The city engineer is to submit a recommendation on the contract next week.

Two public hearings were held last night. A hearing was held for Jan. 4 on vacating a portion of an alley back of the north-west corner of Baldwin and Montcalm.

Another hearing, this on a special assessment, was set for Dec. 14 on the construction of a water main at Balboa and East Boulevard.

Two items were referred to the City Planning Commission. One was for the vacating of the east-west alley between Montcalm and Lounsbury, from Stanley to Blaine.

The other referral was on a request for manufacturing rezoning of vacant property on the northwest corner of Old Telegraph and Orchard Lake Road.

Carl L. Levin, assistant attorney general assigned to the CRC, represented Moore during the proceedings.

ATTORNEYS William Hartman and Dean Beier were the attorneys for Pulte.

Levin submitted numerous items of evidence, such as advertisements for Pulte homes, in an effort to establish that homes were offered for sale to the total public, not just the white public.

Pulte's attorneys stressed the fact that Pulte's model home office where business was transacted was not a place of public accommodation even though furnished rooms in the house were.

Moore said after testifying that he was pursuing the complaint on discrimination "for the cause of integration."

He said he might still buy property in Oakland County and did not discount the possibility of buying it from Pulte.

Pulte had no comment on the proceedings.

Previous indications were that he would appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, if necessary, if the CRC rules against him.

Assessing Law Aired by Officials

Representatives of all 47 of Oakland County's assessing districts generally are agreed that the Dec. 31 deadline for revamping assessing procedures will be difficult to meet.

The assessors met yesterday with the equalization committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors to discuss a new law calling for assessment at 50 per cent of cash value.

Along with the new act signed into law Nov. 3 came the Dec. 31 deadline.

Vance C. Fouts, chairman of the equalization committee, pointed out that the new act which generally will boost present rates of assessments will not mean a tax hike for the county, school districts or townships.

It could mean a tax increase in cities that spread taxes on assessed valuation rather than equalized valuation, he said.

EQUALIZED VALUATION Pontiac's tax is spread on equalized valuation.

For some communities, the 50 per cent assessing goal will mean little change in present procedures.

Others, in most cases townships, now assess much lower than the 50 per cent figure and will have to make major adjustments.

Springfield Township Supervisor John L. Tarey said he didn't see how he would have time to alter his assessing program by the deadline since he is the only assessor for the township.

MAJOR PROBLEM Other assessors, particularly from townships, agreed that the time factor was a major problem.

The County Equalization Department has been allowed a 50 per cent leeway in figuring assessments prepared by the various assessing districts — from 47 1/2 per cent to 52 1/2 per cent.

Pontiac Chief on Lookout

Need More Qualified Police

By DAVID J. COOK

Bill Hanger — Pontiac's chief of police — is a lawman with a frustrating problem.

Hanger finds himself in the position of being given a long-sought gun, but unable to muster up any ammunition.

The "gun" is a go-ahead from City Manager Joseph A. Warren to hire policemen Hanger feels are badly needed to fight Pontiac's fast-rising crime rate.

The "ammunition" — applicants for the new police jobs — simply has not materialized.

Since given a green light in stepping up police protection, Hanger has received only a score of applications for police jobs.

ONE MAN "Out of these," he says, "we'll be lucky if we can put one man on the payroll."

And while one man is probably better than none, the situation, as Hanger sees it, calls for many more men in blue.

He cited a study by the National Safety Council which pegs police needs for a city of Pontiac's size at 154 officers, detectives and patrolmen.

The city's present complement is only 110, which is seven less than three years ago.

"Some of our people are working six days a week on a straight-time basis," Hanger said. "In some cases, we couldn't handle essential assignments without volunteer help."

In the last three-year period, reported serious crimes have more than doubled, according to the department's figures.

Hanger and Warren both see the eventual solution as lying with Pontiac's citizenry.

The chief emphasizes the need for public support of police activity; the city manager points out that a higher police budget must come from tax dollars.

GOOD PEOPLE "Many people — good people — are becoming concerned about assaults and attacks," Hanger said. "This is exposure to a criminal element they haven't seen before."

"One businessman, who preferred to remain anonymous, even offered to donate money with other businessmen to provide higher police salaries," he said.

In Hanger's opinion, however, pay is not necessarily the most important attraction of a police career.

"Police play a role in protecting the rights of the people," he said. "To young men, we can offer a career of action and challenge."

20-YEAR VETERAN "I talked to a 20-year veteran of our department," he told me. "He had a taste of work in the factory and wouldn't go back for any price."

"When you work 20 or 30 years of your life on something, you want it to mean something."

Warren — who must shoo horn money requests from all city departments into the budget — admitted Pontiac's police needs far outstrip existing manpower.

"We don't give anything approaching adequate or even minimum protection," Warren said.

"But," he added, "all the time we're trying to inch forward through budget appropriations. And that's tough — our over-all municipal service level isn't very high, in spite of our substantial industrial property tax base."

In addition, pointing to booming employment at automobile plants, Warren said, "It's an exceedingly rough time to be recruiting anybody."

In a sense, the city manager's approval of Hanger's request for more patrolmen was qualified.

KEEP PACE Warren feels the department must hire every qualified applicant it can merely to keep pace with the retirement of veteran policemen.

Hanger — who would like a free hand to take on the number of men actually needed — admits that with the dearth of applicants there is little danger of exceeding the department's budget allocation.

Anxious as he is to upgrade police protection in Pontiac, Hanger said sheer numbers will not solve the problem.

"You can't hire incompetent personnel just to save a few dollars," he said.

Canadian Will Speak

LANSING (AP) — Canadian Foreign Minister Paul Martin will be the main speaker in Detroit Tuesday at the Midwestern Regional Conference of Attorney Generals. Gov. George Romney also will address the group.

Decision Is Awaited in Home Bias Case

The Michigan Civil Rights Commission (CRC) is expected to decide in about a month on whether to issue an order seeking to have a Bloomfield Township builder stop discriminating on the basis of race.

This was the timetable set by Sidney M. Shevitz, CRC secretary and one of three commissioners who conducted a public hearing yesterday on a housing discrimination case.

William J. Pulte, president of both the house building firm bearing his name and the associated Beechgrove Investment Co., allegedly refused to sell land in a fashionable Beverly Hills subdivision to a Negro.

Pulte, who admitted in a court fight earlier that he refused to sell property in Georgetown

Green No. 2 to Freeman M. Moore of Inkster, explained his decision yesterday.

He said at the hearing that he told Moore Oct. 29 after learning that Moore was a Negro that the property sale "would not be advantageous from a business standpoint."

DEPOSIT RETURNED Moore's deposit check was returned to him by Pulte.

Moore, 39, assistant principal of Ecorse High School, took the stand before Pulte and gave a similar account of their conversation, which was held in an upstairs office of a Pulte model home.

He said Pulte's comment was that he would not complete the transaction because the presence of a Negro family in the subdivision would harm sales.

Writer to Give Film Lecture

The Waterford Boys' Club will hold its third annual dinner meeting at 6:45 p.m. tomorrow in the Community Activities, Inc., building, 5640 Williams Lake.

Featured will be a film-lecture by J. A. (Jack) VanCoevinger, a wildlife and outdoor writer.

Presentation of the annual "Golden Boy" award to the most outstanding club member in 1965-66 also will highlight the program.

VanCoevinger, of 6150 Commerce, West Bloomfield Township, will show a film entitled "My Greatest Fishing Thrills," a collection of his fishing experiences.

Included in the movie are scenes from Alaska, Florida, Canada, Montana and Michigan. One shows a bluegill being caught in Waterford Township's Loon Lake.

VanCoevinger also showed a film to the club members last year.

Lawmen's Hustle Nips Criminals After Tips

Both Pontiac Police and Oakland County Sheriff's Departments merit commendation for prompt action and the deductive reasoning that led to it.

As a result, a pair of robbers were caught in the act of holding up a local drugstore and three others arrested as the thieves who had burglarized an Ortonville cottage.

In both cases it was the alertness of officers who followed through on tips seemingly unrelated and of lesser import that trapped the two sets of criminals on more serious charges.

Society has no greater protection against the lawless than fast and effective police work in running down those who prey on it. The rising national rate of crime in all categories will assuredly decline as the criminal element increasingly find the odds against apprehension reduced as result of enlightened and conscientious performance by law enforcement agencies.

Contest Fever Soars as Fans Pan for Gold

This is still the land of the gold rush. These days, however, no covered wagons are involved. It's all done by mail or by dropping your name in a box at your local friendly grocer's or whatever.

This year millions of Americans will stake claims on more than $20 million that will be distributed through 250 corporate sweepstakes contests on a national and regional basis.

Such is the estimate of the head of one of the nation's leading contest-judging organizations, through whose portals every year pass 70 million letters containing hopeful entries.

The first giveaway contest in the Country was staged in 1900, with a measly $15,000 in prizes. Today, winners can get anything from all-expenses-paid tiger hunt in India to 50 shares of Comsat, the communications satellite.

One of the latest pots of gold, which will put a gleam in the eyes of parents faced with rising college costs, is a "Scholarship Sweepstakes" that offers a $10,000 scholarship fund or the cash equivalent.

Tested Contest Truism:

● Women contestants outnumber men two to one. Most are married, in the $5,000 to $8,000 income bracket, with two children.

● New York ranks first in the number of contestants, followed by California, Pennsylvania and Illinois.

Entries have even come from behind the Iron Curtain — no doubt a plot to acquire capitalist gold and aggravate the Nation's balance of payments problem.

But there's one fellow who wins in every contest, points out a contest promotion executive, no matter how many lose. That's Uncle Sam, whose Internal Revenue Service keeps constant check on prize winners.

Squirrel Tale Leads to City Skating Rink

Sometimes a public official's job is like living in a squirrel cage.

Take the director of the recreation department of Cleveland, Ohio, for instance. The other day he was trying to explain to city council why the city abandoned its program of outdoor skating rinks some years ago.

Winters weren't cold enough, he said. The ponds were frozen only an average of five days in the season. The cost of building and maintaining rinks was out of proportion to their usefulness.

The councilmen weren't convinced. They wanted an experimental rink.

Clinching argument was made by one city father, who drew on "the laws of nature" to predict perfect skating weather.

The coats on squirrels, he had noticed were heavier than usual this year, and the animals had been stockpiling larger amounts of nuts than last year.

So if the rink turns out to be a fine kettle of slush in Cleveland, who will get the blame? The squirrels? The Councilmen? Don't be nutty.

World's Stage Lacking Color

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — This is intermission time on the world stage.

For most of this century, a succession of colorful men dominated the mind and imagination of the world. Most are dead or retired now.

The rest of this century will have to manufacture new men to take their place.

There were loudmouths among those giants of the past, and actors, orators, fanatics, and true world leaders, whether they were loved or hated.

Of them all, only two still have top billing: Red China's Mao Tse-tung, and French President Charles de Gaulle.

A few others from the past are still in the show but have quieted down from age or circumstance.

At 72, Mao has become a shadowy figure, hardly seen, more a legend than a man. He says little the world hears.

He was never colorful. It is hard to know anymore what his real role is.

De Gaulle, always the actor, is still colorful even if he says nothing and points his nose in the air.

CERTAIN VICTOR
At 75, he seems certain of a new seven-year term as president. But his dominance is limited mostly to France and Western Europe.

President Johnson, a newcomer to the world scene, has concentrated on his domestic problems and stayed pretty much off the international stage.

So it would be strange to say he is a dominant world figure, capturing men's minds.

President John F. Kennedy was the opposite. He was a newcomer, too, but while he was no smash-hit in getting Congress to do what he wanted, he plunged into the international act early.

The result: in less than three years of his presidency, he was a famous and generally admired figure around the world.

For example: Before he was six months in office, he had visited de Gaulle, dined with the queen of England, had a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Vienna, and then had a crisis over the Berlin wall.

Other figures from the past, although still in power, say few lines anymore: Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito, and Indonesia's President Sukarno, very rambunctious until his home-grown Communists recently tried to take the play away from him.

Chiang Kai-shek is still head man on Formosa, but in his more than 35 years before the world audience, he was never colorful, never said much.

Nothing shows the contrast between past and present more than the Khrushchev case.

Bounced over a year ago, he is now in obscurity. Probably not one American in 1,000 could name his successors, much less spell their names.

Verbal Orchids to —
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stephens of Milford; 51st wedding anniversary.

—And Pass The Ammunition!

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Altruism Is Unprecedented

WASHINGTON — The Communists frequently berate the United States as a country of "Rich capitalists." The innocent fact is that American life is permeated with selfishness.

But the Russians should take note of a dispatch the other day from New York over the wires of the United Press International.

It points up a phase of American character which the people not only in the Soviet Union but in other countries as well should know about. It reads as follows:

"Philanthropist William Black, who believes in 'giving away my money while I'm alive' has done just that with another million dollars — this time to New York City's Mount Sinai Hospital School of Medicine."

"The latest donation makes it the fourth time that Black, chairman of the board of the Chock Full O'Nuts Corp., has made a gift of $1 million or more for medical welfare. The money will be used for a new postgraduate school of medicine."

The foregoing prompted this writer to take a look at a pamphlet recently issued by the American Association of Fund-Raising Counsel, Inc., a nonprofit organization which collects data on what is happening in philanthropy.

$19.8 BILLION
It is pointed out therein that in the year 1964, American citizens, business firms and foundations contributed a new high of $19.8 billion to religious, educational, hospital, health, welfare, recreation, character-building and cultural programs.

Out of this sum, individual contributions amounted to $8.5 billion, while nonprofit foundations gave $9.9 billion, and business corporations donated $10.1 million. Charitable bequests amounted to $671 million.

Out of a total of nearly 63 million persons who filed income tax returns in 1962, those who obtained deductions for charity numbered more than 26 million, with gifts totaling $7.5 billion. This does not include contributions by individuals with relatively small incomes who used a tax-report form which doesn't require itemization of deductions.

One of the big factors that is beginning to worry the sponsors of many charitable projects in health and hospital care as well as education is recent legislation by Congress in these fields.

FAULTY IMPRESSION
It is feared that the impression will grow that federal, state and local governments are providing nearly everything and that there isn't the need now for charitable contributions such as has existed in the past.

But as population increases, more facilities for education and medical care will be required, and the drives for financial support to private schools and colleges as well as hospitals are likely to be intensified in the future.

The main point, however, is that the American people — business corporations and individuals — have shown an unselfishness which is without parallel anywhere else in the world.

Today they are not merely helping fellow citizens who are in need, but are sending millions overseas in private donations even while billions of dollars of taxpayers' money is being spent to help the people of other countries.

Maybe some day the Communists will learn what unselfishness really means, and the whole world will be the better for it.

Bob Considine Says:

Many Americans in Dark About U.S. Citizenship

NEW YORK — Lots of Americans don't know beans about the rights and responsibilities of citizenship, the recent CBS-TV quip proved.

Samplings show that the national report card would have to be marked 63 per cent.

Selected congressmen and their wives CONSIDINE scored 85 per cent, commendable but hardly anything to cheer about.

A teen-age group from a St. Louis, Mo. high school — divided between Democrats and Republicans — each came in at 83 per cent, half a point higher than 18 Los Angeles newsmen who were matched against 15 New York reporters. The New Yorkers scored 98.7 per cent.

Make what you wish of it, but the highest mark was scored by a 30-member Kansas University group composed entirely of students opposed to U.S. intervention in Viet Nam.

You're not going to get through the next 25 days without hearing an awful lot of the words of Johnny Marks.

Marks began writing songs after his graduation from Colgate and his music studies at Columbia and in Paris. He was Phil Spector's rooster during World War II from private to captain, won the Bronze Star and, as if that were not enough, wrote "Rudolph the Red-Nosed Reindeer."

It is one of the world's all-time song hits: 43 million records in the U.S., 20 million abroad, three million copies of the sheet music, 300 different records, 35 different arrangements for orchestra, band, choir and instrumental use.

It has been translated into almost every language, recorded by nearly every well-known singer since that night in Madison Square Garden, back in 1949, when it was introduced by the adonids of Gene Autry.

Fifteen new recordings being released this month.

Reader Commends Press for Presentation of News

A newspaper, in keeping and honoring its obligation to the community it serves, is rightfully the eyes, ears, memory and conscience of the community, accurately reporting both local and national happenings in an unbiased, forthright and clear fashion.

The Pontiac Press has, in my humble opinion, served the City of Pontiac with the highest dedication and observance of those principles. In an era when the government claims the right to keep the truth from its citizens, and most news in a paper starts from Washington, The Pontiac Press deserves support and thanks for lighting the candle of truth and nourishing the flame which is in danger of being blown out, leaving us all in darkness.

BOB VERHINE

'Need for Poverty Program Is Our Shame'

A recent editorial asked the question, "where is the stopping point" to Federal spending, such as the poverty program? It will stop when there is no more Crystal Beach wartime project surrounded by all the wealth of Bloomfield and West Bloomfield. It will stop when the people with the means turn and look at the needs of their neighbors. It will stop when all people have an opportunity to live and raise their children without fear of want, in a decent neighborhood in a decent home.

As long as a community turns its back on its responsibility and the needs of its people, others will have to try to make it up some way. The tragedy is not the poverty program; the tragedy is that with all the resources in the Pontiac area there is still need for this poverty program. This is our shame.

If we had all the facilities in our area that you have, we would not need to be transported. We want complete integration. You mentioned "forced integration friendship." We are not being forced upon you or are you speaking for the children in the school. I teach my children what I feel is important, to obey, to respect, and if more parents would spend more time doing the same, your children and mine would live in a better world.

Thanks for your offer to spend your tax dollars for our economically deprived children to have hot lunches. I'm sorry that we cannot afford to give the same offer to you. But your child has been eating hot lunches for years with our tax dollars while our children either went without lunch or walked in the snow, rain and ice.

My child will be a student in your school and will be transported. You should be thankful that your child has the opportunity to sit in school with mine. Some day he may have to come to my child and ask for a job.

AUGUSTINE WRIGHT
SECRETARY, OAKLAND CO., NAACP

In coordination with the thoughts of the lady concerning the wasting of the taxpayers' money in transporting Negro children to all-white schools, I do agree. But as a former student of four predominantly all-Negro schools, I feel that means may be taken by a more qualified staff of teachers. At this point, it appears as if even I, with an eleventh grade education, may teach at Jefferson Jr. High.

Our now existing problem of Negro dropouts, crime and relating problems just may come from inadequate teaching staffs and teaching tactics in these schools. Upon arrival to high school these students are behind and most of them remain there.

Israel Replies to U.S.

The Israel Digest

The Israel Foreign Ministry issued a statement protesting the "unjust attitude" of the U.S. State Department, "which does not distinguish between acts of terrorism kept up for an extended period and the reply to these acts of sabotage." He was reacting to a statement by the State Department dealing with recent Arab acts of sabotage on Israel territory, originating across the border, and the Israel Defense Forces' deterrent and retaliatory operations which followed.

The spokesman said: "It is no doubt the desire of the United States Government that Arab acts of sabotage should cease, but it is doubtful whether the statement of the State Department spokesman serves this aim, since it draws a parallel between the necessary reactions to acts of terrorism and the acts themselves.

"The Israel Government wonders why the U.S. Government has not condemned the more than thirty acts of sabotage which Arab terrorists have perpetrated in Israel territory in the past few months. The Israel Government does not rejoice at the use of force, but it is its duty to maintain quiet in its borders and security for its citizens."

"Al-Falah activities have been carried on for a long time, during which the Arab States involved have not taken any substantial measures to put an end to the terrorist incidents. Nor have the investigations of the U.N. Observers succeeded in preventing further sabotage."

"The Israel Government has declared times without number that — in accordance with the principles of the international law and the terms of the armistice agreements — it would regard every country as responsible for the activities of saboteurs setting out from its territory, and that Israel will act in accordance with this rule."

Romney Says State Will Match Any Money Bid for AEC Lab

JACKSON (AP)—Gov. George Romney declared Tuesday that Michigan would match any other state's money bid in competition for a $300 million national accelerator laboratory.

Romney made the promise to a five-man Atomic Energy Commission team inspecting two proposed Michigan sites for the project which is sought by 45 states.

The team, led by Dr. George Kavanagh, the AEC's research and development deputy director, toured the 8,000-acre Fort Custer site Tuesday.

Kavanagh described the site as "reasonable" — the same term he had used Monday to describe the other Michigan site near Ann Arbor.

REASONABLE SITE

"There is nothing here to rule it out," Dr. Kavanagh told a press conference in Battle Creek. "It is a reasonable site, but I will not compare it with other sites."

Earlier, the team met with area industry and government leaders from the area behind closed doors.

Rep. Paul H. Todd, D-Mich., said after the meeting, "My hopes are much greater than when the day began. The team really has done some homework. They knew what information they wanted, and obtained it here tonight."

The team now will travel to Oklahoma to inspect six possible sites there.

Romney also declared: "We'd appreciate knowing if factors other than sites or availability are going to be weighed. We'd want to be able to consider meeting other considerations such as extra financing and so forth.

SHOOTING STAR — It isn't often a photographer is featured in a major movie, but Sidney Poitier turns the trick with a vital role as a photo-journalist in "The Bedford Incident."

Camera Angles

By IRVING DESFOR

AP Newsfeatures

Three studies of a "photo-journalist" are currently around. They range from a dramatic cinema portrayal to an authoritative book surveying his place in the world today.

The film version is unique because rarely does a major motion picture feature a photographer in a principal role.

It's done, however, in "The Bedford Incident" with Sidney Poitier, Academy Award winner of 1964, interpreting a thorough, thoughtful, photojournalist in today's nuclear world.

Then there is a 50-year backward glance to photographic highlights of newspaper photography as put together and published by the "New York Press Photographers' Golden Anniversary, 1915-1965" edition.

Thirdly we have "Photo-journalism" by Arthur Rothstein, a revised comprehensive study of the photographer's vital role in the world's communication system. It is published by Ampho, New York.

"The Bedford Incident" is a story of naval action aboard a nuclear-armed destroyer on a submarine hunt in the Greenland straits. Poitier plays the part of an accredited photo-correspondent dropped aboard the vessel by helicopter to do a picture story of the patrol and its captain, a controversial figure.

SHOOT FAST

The photographer is shown taking pictures in rapid fire tempo under a variety of difficult shooting situations. At no time while shooting is he ever seen looking at a light meter or making an adjustment in focus, lens opening or shutter speed.

"Is that realistic?" I asked James B. Harris, the film's youthful director and producer.

"It's dramatic license," he answered. "In movies you skip the preliminary sightlines and concert yourself only with the dramatic moments of concentrated action."

We assume he made all the camera adjustments but we don't waste precious seconds to show them. As a result, the film's pace is faster and more forceful because it maintains a continuous meaningful action. It's something amateur fans can do to make their own home movies more exciting."

FASTER IZARIZES SELF

For movie realism, the three 35mm cameras seen on the screen were turned over to Poitier before shooting started in England. The gifted actor carried, handled and took pictures with them until the knack of handling them with professional ease was acquired.

For a fellow in his thirties, Harris has earned considerable reputation as one of the "new blood" in Hollywood ranks. His knowledge of photography started as a high school youngster when he enrolled for evening classes in a photography school in New York City.

Later he considered making music his career but during the Korean War he was assigned to the Signal Corps as a cameraman. Here he met Stanley Kubrick, a photographer for Look magazine.

The friendship developed into a movie-making partnership after the Korean conflict ended. They have a trio of noteworthy films to their credit.

On acquiring rights to "The Bedford Incident," Harris found his knowledge of photography was a useful asset in script research. He was given permission to board a U.S. destroyer outside Norfolk to get authentic atmosphere. He captured that atmosphere down to the minutest detail by shooting available light pictures with a half-frame camera.

He chose the camera because it is so unpretentious no one would be scared at its appearance or place undue importance on the results. Yet from its enlargements, they were able to construct realistic duplicate movie sets for all the interior scenes.

Photo-journalism deserves greater availability than a current movie so we'll discuss Arthur Rothstein's book in a future column.

Hodgkin's Disease Cure Nearer

By Science Service
NEW YORK—Control, if not cure, of the lymph node malignancy called Hodgkin's disease, was reported here as a distinct possibility.

Dr. John E. Utman of Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons told a symposium on Hodgkin's disease that new treatment is available that promises to "extend useful life in many patients and to cure some."

The symposium, which was jointly sponsored by the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md., and the American Cancer Society, included scientific reports from England and Canada as well as from the United States.

Dr. Eric C. Easson of Christie Hospital and Holt Radium Institute, Manchester, England, elaborated on the optimistic report he published two years ago, in collaboration with Dr. Marion H. Russell, which was titled "Cure of Hodgkin's Disease."

The attitude of pessimism among many physicians and patients will be combated with examples of the long survival of a growing number of patients treated, it was noted.

DEFINES CURE

Defining "cure" as it applies to Hodgkin's disease, Dr. Russell said "We can speak of cure when in time—probably a decade or so after treatment—there remains a group of disease-free survivors whose progressive death-rate from all causes is similar to that of a normal population of the same sex and age constitution."

The combination of treatments leading to control or cure of specific types of this complex disease includes at least four different drugs, as well as radiation when X-ray can be tolerated.

About 3,200 deaths annually in the United States are due to Hodgkin's disease, Dr. Utman pointed out. It is both discouraging and encouraging, however, that occurrence of the disease is more frequent than deaths from it.

This could mean that a number of patients live long enough to have their deaths attributed to other causes, but since appropriate therapy does suppress the tumor, there is real hope for the future—even in the lifetime of many patients now afflicted.

Some Accord on Labor Dept.

Want Commission to Head State Unit

LANSING (AP)—Labor and management came to terms Tuesday on at least one feature of the soon-to-be-reorganized State Labor Department.

President August Scholle of the State AFL-CIO and Colin Smith, executive director of the Michigan Employers Unemployment Compensation Council, agreed that the department should be headed by a commission made up of representatives of organized labor, management and the general public.

They were joined by Dan Reed, legislative counsel for the Michigan Farm Bureau who also testified at the opening of a two-day public hearing.

The House and Senate Labor Committees have been studying the department, and possible changes in its structure for nearly five months.

IN AGREEMENT

"I agreed with about 90 per cent of what Smith said, and much of what Reed said," Scholle told the committee. "I've disagreed with them for most of 25 years. I wonder if something is wrong with me."

Smith said he had polled many of the employers and employer associations in his council and found agreement with the labor commission idea. Some 2,000 employers are associated with the council, he said.

Scholle disagreed with Reed over the handling of migrant labor problems.

SEASONAL LABOR

"Migrant, or seasonal, labor is now a transitory problem," Reed told the committee. "We are working out of it faster than many people expected—through the mechanization of harvesting and the elimination of crops that cannot be harvested readily through mechanical means."

Reed said he expected the corps of seasonal workers to be so small in as little as 10 years "that it would not justify the establishing of a separate department or division."

Said Scholle, "You should establish a division of some kind to work in this area. . . there should be regulation of working conditions, housing, minimum wages. . . we should send the children of migrant workers to school—even if it means we have to set up special summer schools."

"We perpetrate a heinous crime against society by letting these children wander from one place to the other—so that as a result we have federal programs teaching 40- and 50-year-old people that '2 and 2 is 4,'" the labor leader said.

Scholle and Smith agreed that the Labor Department headquarters should be established in Detroit.

Prison Strike May Delay Boat Plates

LANSING (AP)—A sit-down strike by prisoners in the license plate department of Southern Michigan Prison may delay first day sales of boat license plates, reports Secretary of State James Hare.

Plate sales were to start today. But Hare urged boat owners to check with their local branch office before going to buy plates.

The inmates staged the sit-down last Wednesday when the boat plates were stamped out but not yet packaged. Hare said some of the employees of the prison industries were working Tuesday, packaging "enough plates to get us started."

Prison officials said Tuesday they expected the prisoners to go back to work in a few days.

They said the sit-down mainly was to bring attention to prisoners' complaints that they were being served too much soft food and not enough meat.

November State Tax Intake Soars

LANSING (AP) — Sales and use tax collections in November soared to their second-greatest increase in four years, Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock said Tuesday.

He predicted continued increases.

Tax collections, reflecting October business, totaled $54.5 million, an increase of $6.68 million and 14 per cent over the same period in 1964.

It was the 46th consecutive month in which monthly collections exceeded those for the comparable month in the previous year.

Lock said preliminary reports from retail sources "indicate the start of the heaviest Christmas shopping in years, so it would appear these increases will continue at least into early 1966."

Lock said sales taxes from auto purchases jumped about 30 per cent over a year ago, stimulating much of the over-all increase.

The revenue announcement was expected to provide new ammunition for legislators opposing a state income tax. They contend new revenue is not needed at a time of record economic growth.

PREDICTED DEFICIT

Gov. George Romney and some tax-minded legislators contend that even with growth and a state surplus, new money is needed to avoid a treasury deficit in two years.

Romney's fiscal advisers have been working lately on a predicted economic growth rate of 6.5 per cent for the current fiscal year.

State Controller Glenn Allen said the sales tax increase—an indicator of over-all economic growth—was no surprise.

But he said the governor would offer no new growth estimate until his January budget message. Earlier in the year Romney had been working with a 4.4 per cent, then a 5.0 per cent growth estimate.

Allen also refused to speculate on the current size of the state treasury surplus, last pegged at $136 million.

Charge Deputy With Perjury

Say Wayne County Lawman Hid Arrests

DETROIT (AP) — Anthony F. Studz, a 18-year-deputy of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, was charged with perjury Tuesday by the grand jury investigating alleged irregularities in the sheriff's road patrol.

Studz, 36, of Inkster stood mute and was freed under $100 personal bond for examination Dec. 10.

The warrant was signed by Grand Juror Edward S. Piggins. Studz was suspended immediately by Sheriff Peter B. Back.

Piggins cited a record from the Detroit Police Department which he said showed eight arrests and two convictions of Studz from 1928 to 1944. Piggins said Studz answered "no" when asked Nov. 8 whether he ever had been arrested or convicted.

TICKET FIXING

Piggins is investigating alleged wholesale ticket fixing by the sheriff's department in suburban Nankin Township.

The warrant was the second issued by Piggins. He charged another witness, Bernard Rakos, a former Nankin Township bar owner, with violating grand jury secrecy rules by publicly commenting on his testimony.

Piggins petitioned Gov. George Romney last week for removal of Nankin Township Justice of the Peace Michael W. Bradley. He accused Bradley of misconduct in office.

Poverty War Progress—3

Scandals, but Youth Corps Popular

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the third of a five-part series.)

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International

WASHINGTON — The Neighborhood Youth Corps has the paradoxical distinction of being one of the most popular and at the same time the most scandal-ridden phase of the war against poverty.

Its glittering successes and equally spectacular failures were reported by UPI reporters in all parts of the country who took part in a nationwide survey of antipoverty programs which are now entering their second year.

The corps is administered by the Labor Department with funds provided by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). It provides part-time employment for poor youths 16 to 21 to encourage them to continue their educations.

It also enrolls some boys and girls who have dropped out of school and have been unable to find jobs. They are employed on "Community service projects."

Contrary to a widespread impression, they do not receive vocational training for skilled occupations. But the corps does try to persuade them to go back to school or enter an apprenticeship program to learn a trade.

CURRENT YEAR

During the current fiscal year, the NYC will spend about $225 million to provide jobs for 280,000 youths. That is the total number who will be enrolled at various times during the 12 months. Actual enrollment at any given time is not expected to exceed 160,000.

UPI reporters found many cities in which local officials and civic leaders were loud in their praise of the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

In Oakland Calif., the juvenile crime rate has dropped during the past year for the first time in 10 years. Police said it was due mainly to the success of the youth corps in taking potential delinquents off the street.

In Seattle, Wash., Police Capt. Kay Twohig reported a sharp reduction in shoplifting. He said it can be traced to the work of the youth corps.

ENROLLED DROPOUTS

St. Louis enrolled 1,800 high school dropouts in its Youth Corps last summer and was delighted to find in September that more than 250 of them had returned to school full-time. Nearly 100 were in class part-time and 130 had found jobs in private industry.

In Cincinnati, about 500 of 1,500 enrollees either have gone back to school or have found regular jobs.

In Sacramento, Calif., George Sorenson, the public school official supervising the youth corps project, told UPI reporter Robert Arthur J. McGinn:

"I'm a hideout Republican. I am pretty conservative and don't go much for giveaways. But this program is working. It's really breaking the welfare cycle of dependency. These kids enjoy working. They are accomplishing something."

PUT TO WORK

In Chicago, 8,000 youths were put to work at $1.25 an hour trimming trees, serving as clerks in welfare offices and helping to clear away rubbish and junked autos from hundreds of vacant lots.

Although newspapermen kept a beady eye on the projects, watching for "shovel-leaners" of the WPA tradition, they found little evidence of loafing.

But from the other cities came a radically different story.

In Boston, all federal funds for the Neighborhood Youth Corps were frozen Nov. 17 after the Boston Traveller disclosed in a copyrighted story that jobs had been doled out to more than 130 youngsters whose family incomes were too high to be eligible under official poverty standards.

Among them were children of well-paid city officials and federal employees, including a fire department captain, a public works supervisor and several post office employees.

The smell of the political barrel also wafted through from families well above the Kansas City, where investigation revealed that 77 of 253 One Youth Corps job-holder supposedly needy youngsters committed to work in a 1965 enrolled in Youth Corps were Thunderbird.

GIFT FROM WHITE HOUSE — Luci Johnson sent this pet hamster to the youngsters in Mrs. Jane Diger's special education class at Post Elementary School in Battle Creek. The class came to Capital City Airport in Lansing to meet their new pet yesterday. Airline pilot Manfred Peck and stewardess Sue Pennington handed the hamster to the children.

For Walking and Parking

Good Washington Thinking

By DICK WEST

United Press International
WASHINGTON — Good thinking deserves recognition wherever it may occur, including Congress and the Post Office Department.

Examples of high class celebration having recently turned up in both places, let us waste no time in rendering them well-deserved salutes.

The post office, as a public service, published a list of safety tips to help pedestrians survive the hazards of winter weather.

It gathered the hints from mailmen who make their appointed rounds in sleet, snow and other treacherous meteorological conditions.

All had sensible advice to offer, but one tip impressed me as being particularly sound and well reasoned. It says:

"Walk on ice with feet close to surface."

To appreciate the wisdom in that, you have only to consider how difficult it would be to walk on ice without getting your feet close to the surface.

UNDER CONSIDERATION

Good thinking also can be found in a proposal that Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N. J., has under consideration for possible introduction in Congress next year.

It calls for the erection of a memorial to the late President Herbert Hoover.

Proposed memorials are rather commonplace. What distinguishes this one is its location. It would be situated on the roof of the new congressional parking garage now under construction near the Capitol.

Widnall's resolution points out that Congress in recent years has spent more than $25 million building garages for members and employees.

But no provision has been made for parking the cars of visitors "and the taxpayers who paid for such garages." The Hoover memorial would help correct this oversight.

Mobutu Is One Constant Amid Chaos

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
As the Patrice Lumumbas, the Tshombes and even the Kasavubus have fallen, one name has remained constant and almost unnoticed in the chaotic five years of Congo independence.

NEWSOM
The name is that of Gen. Joseph Mobutu, who at one time or another has been associated with each of the three named above.

As a member of the national movement prior to independence he worked long and faithfully with Lumumba, who was to become the Congo's first premier.

Later he broke with the left-leaning Lumumba and joined President Joseph Kasavubu in enforcing Lumumba's ouster.

While Moise Tshombe still was trying to wrench rich Katanga Province away from the Congo to establish a separate, independent state, Mobutu was serving the central government in Leopoldville as commander in chief of the army under Kasavubu.

REMAINED IN OFFICE
When Tshombe, in one of his frequent about-turns, returned from voluntary exile to become premier of the central government, Mobutu remained in office as head of the army.

Mobutu is a bespectacled, mild-mannered man, and it may be that both Tshombe and Kasavubu underestimated him in their own developing power struggle.

At any rate, both suddenly found themselves on the outside looking in on a Mobutu firmly seated upon the leopard skin throne which is the Congolese symbol of presidential authority in the Congo.

BANKING ON ELECTIONS
He thus disposed not only of Kasavubu but also of Tshombe who had been banking on the elections in his own bid for power.

And since Mobutu controlled the army, there seemed to be little either could do about it.

Mobutu's actions were within character.

TURNED OVER
He turned power back to Kasavubu in February 1961.

And while his actions this time cannot be described as in the best democratic tradition, he did not act hastily.

Throughout the summer, he had tried to head off a break between Kasavubu and Tshombe, acting only after their feud had paralyzed the government.

Kasavubu, apparently fearful of Tshombe's power in the coming elections, had fired Tshombe as premier in October.

Vote buying freely was charged by both sides.

There is no sign that Mobutu intends a purge. Both Tshombe and Kasavubu retain seats in parliament, and Kasavubu has accepted his own overthrow.

In some capacity both still can serve and the situation, if not good, does not seem wholly bad.

Preschool Twins Are Said Slower

By Science Service
TALLAHASSEE, Fla. - A medical suspicion that twins are slower than other children has been supported by a university study here.

Thirty-five pairs of twins of preschool age were tested for development in language, intelligence, social interaction, graphic expression and other skills by Prof. Ralph Witherspoon, director of the Institute of Human Development at Florida State University.

After testing the children at regular intervals with the help of scientists in seven different fields, Prof. Witherspoon concluded that twins in the 3 to 6 age group were slower than non-twins.

The slowness is not due to heredity, thinks the psychologist. Twins, with their unique closeness, are less likely to be challenged by other people.

They have less need to develop mental and social skills because communication and psychological reinforcement between themselves is so easy.

Dr. Witherspoon supports this thesis by pointing to twins in the study who are placed in a more stimulating environment with other children.

They depended less on each other. Consequently, no achievement difference between these twins and non-twins was found.

Valley Quiet After Fierce Fight

LA DRANG VALLEY, South Viet Nam (AP) - A month of bitter fighting in Viet Nam's central highlands has ended.

American and South Vietnamese troops who maulled four Communist North Vietnamese regiments have left the bloody La Drang Valley and have gone to seek their enemy elsewhere.

Before they left, they reported 2,344 North Vietnamese dead. More are believed to have died in battles beneath the towering hills which mark Viet Nam's frontier with Cambodia, 200 miles north of Saigon.

For days, men of the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division and a brigade of South Vietnamese paratroopers have been searching the region, trying to provoke a fight. Prisoners say that what is left of more than one division of North Vietnamese has slipped away.

SERIOUS SETBACK
Senior American and South Vietnamese officers are convinced they have handed the Communists a serious setback.

During the campaign, American "Flying Horsemen" had to beat back human wave assaults which left North Vietnamese dead headed before their positions. Snipers in trees or lurking in the undergrowth were a constant menace. In some actions U.S. casualties were heavy.

The campaign was triggered Oct. 19 when South Vietnamese irregular troops brushed against forward elements of North Viet Nam's 35th Division concealed outside the barbed wire entanlements of the small jungle fortress of Plei Me.

South Vietnamese troops, stiffened by American advisers, fought desperately around the camp. Vietnamese tanks and U.S. artillery and warplanes smashed the Communist onslaught on Plei Me and the North Vietnamese commander launched a withdrawal.

LAUNCH PURSUIT
American cavalrymen swung into pursuit before the North Vietnamese had time to regroup. American battalions dropped into clearings from helicopters, fanned out and swept through the jungle.

As soon as an area had been searched, it was abandoned. Battalions were moved 40 times between Oct. 26 and Nov. 26 to keep the Communists off balance. Helicopters flew 23,800 hours of 49,000 sorties during this period to move men and supplies.

With the men came batteries of 105MM howitzers to pound jungle hideouts of the North Vietnamese with 31,873 shells during the month.

Cooks, clerks and radiomen sometimes were pressed into service to man the guns. Pilots flew helicopters in shuttle service to bring up shells. Although, the copters flew 1,031 sorties to lift guns and supplies, moving batteries 68 times slightly more than 11,000 tons of supplies were lifted into battle by the big choppers.

Capt. Charles Knowlen of East Holden, Maine, sprang the trap.

Each of the flying cavalry's battle battalions went to the battle.

Brig. Gen. Richard T. Knowles said: "I am tremendously proud of them."

Knowles noted that the Communists maneuvered well and had good fire discipline.

"But we have to do it in a professional manner."

'JUST WANT TO SEE HIM'—Mrs. Agnes McClure of Yonkers, N.Y., holds a picture of her son, Spec. 5 Claude E. McClure, who was freed by the Viet Cong and is now in Cambodia. "I just want to see him," she

Antiwar Leader Also Skeptical

General Feels Freed GIs Brainwashed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The indoctrination procedures and two have been released by the commandant of the Marine Corps believes the Communists will use those two as examples. Communists.

A total of 25 servicemen are brainwashed two U. S. soldiers who criticized American involvement in Viet Nam after their release from Viet Cong captivity.

Gen. Wallace M. Greene told a news conference yesterday that would be his explanation of statements attributed to Sgt. George E. Smith of Chester, W. Va., and Spec. 5 Claude D. McClure of Chattanooga, Tenn.

The two men were freed by the Viet Cong this week after two years in captivity. At a news conference in Cambodia, soon after they crossed the border from Communist North Viet Nam, they spoke well of their treatment by the Reds and expressed a desire to quit the army and lead an antiwar campaign in the United States.

But the man who organized last Saturday's "peace march" on Washington was wary of their conversion.

OWN IDEAS?

"It sounds like they've been indoctrinated. If these were their own ideas, it would be wonderful, but if they are saying this as the result of intense indoctrination, it's not so wonderful," said Sanford Gottlieb, political director of the Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy (SANE).

Gottlieb said what the antiwar movement really needs is "independent-minded people, not those who have been brainwashed by one side or the other."

Marine Maj. Gen. William R. Collins, a member of Gen. Greene's staff who returned from a tour of duty in Viet Nam last July, said Smith and McClure probably were released because they were willing to make statements favorable to their captors.

In Chester, Sgt. Smith's mother, Mrs. Thomas Potts, said her son's statements were inconsistent with letters she received from him while he was a Viet Cong prisoner "unless he's changed a lot in the last two years."

Neither Greene nor Collins had any information to offer on any brainwashing procedures that may be used by the Viet Cong.

Asked whether he would step up indoctrination against brainwashing as a result of the incident, Greene said:

GIs Using 'Four-Footed Radar' as Viet Weapon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Marines are using dogs more and more in the field. The scout dogs, or "four-footed radar," as the GIs call them, are also coming from the United States but they are trained in Viet Nam and matched with Vietnamese handlers.

These handlers are experienced field soldiers. Often on patrols, they are the first to take casualties because they walk with the dogs ahead of the troops.

"By now," said one Vietnamese, "the dogs are accustomed to the odor of the American GI, so that when the VC are in the area, the dog's alert is even stronger."

LAKE TRAINING
"The Viet Cong have been using dogs, too, but they haven't had the training our teams have had, so they're not nearly so effective."

It takes three to five days for the dog to become used to Viet Nam's heat and humidity. Each of the smallest sentry dogs on the island must be between 1 and 2 years old, weigh 60 pounds and stand 23 inches high at the shoulder.

Carnival Game Back
"Shenigans," the carnival game, appears in a new edition for Yule giving. Classic tug makers such as weight guessing, palm reading and snake charming are reconnected in this game competition.

Snakes rather than the Viet U.S. defense perimeter. Radar Cong have proved to be one of the dog's greatest enemies since the first arrivals in July. A few have taken fatal bites and alerted their masters before the snakes could bite them.

U.S. troops dived for bunker positions and bullets whizzed for nearly an hour. When the firing stopped, the dog still was pointing, but the "half circle of men" turned out to be a creek bed. And out of the creek trotted a female dog.

Trainers find one of their toughest jobs is teaching the dogs to arrest their natural instinct of seeking out animals and to hunt humans instead. "It doesn't always work that way."

At Pleiku recently, an alert was sounded at two U.S. installations when a Shepherd pointed toward an open field beyond the

'AMA Refuses Negro Doctors'

Physician Charges
Race Discrimination

NEW YORK (AP) — The president-elect of the National Medical Association has charged that the American Medical Association has refused to open its door to membership by qualified Negro physicians.

Dr. John L. S. Holloman Jr., a Negro, said Tuesday night the AMA permits segregation by allowing its county medical societies to practice racial discrimination.

The NMA has about 4,000 members, most of whom are Negroes.

"In June 1965 the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association refused to take steps to eliminate the practice of some medical societies of barring qualified physicians who happen to be Negro," Dr. Holloman said.

200,000 MEMBERS

In Philadelphia, Jim Reed, a spokesman for the AMA, said the organization has 200,000 members. He declined to estimate the number or percentage of Negroes.

"We don't keep a breakdown on nationality, politics or anything like that," Reed said.

Holloman also contended that the AMA has either "fostered or permitted inferior medical care" to be administered to Negroes.

He said the AMA's delegate body two months ago "decided that, in effect, physicians could and would continue to receive federal funds while maintaining segregation in their office facilities."

'CLEAR VIOLATION'

He said the action, taken in relation to the federally financed Medicare program, was "in clear violation of Title 6 of the Civil Rights Act of 1964."

The Manhattan Central Medical Society, an affiliate of the NMA, is under investigation by the City Commission on Human Rights on a complaint that it denied membership to a white psychiatrist, Dr. Vincent S. Conigliaro.

Dr. Holloman said, "The doctor who applied has every right to be a member unless there is some good reason for denying him, and I know of no such reason."

Sierra Coyote Aids Four

JACKSON, Calif. (UPI)—Four men who survived a plane crash in the rugged Sierra apparently owed their escape today to a pheasant and a coyote.

Two of the four men aboard the private craft hiked 30 miles out of the wilderness yesterday by following a coyote trail.

Charles Newell, 56, and Henry Bianconi, 49, reported that the two others, Paul Crabtree, 54, and Glen Lundeen, 52, were camped near the crashed plane and were eating pheasant shot during a weekend hunting trip. A helicopter was being sent to pick them up today.

"The coyote led the way," Bianconi, a Santa Cruz, Calif., businessman said. He and Newell, a Watsonville, Calif., stockbroker and World War II combat pilot, hiked into Jackson.

"It was a very rugged trip out and we followed the coyote's tracks in the snow," Bianconi added.

Newell, pilot of the plane which crashed Monday while on a flight from Alton, Utah, to Watsonville, said the engine failed and he was "extremely lucky" to find a place to crash-land.

Newell said he and his companions were able to withstand the subfreezing temperatures because of their hunting outfits and a pheasant dinner Monday night at the camp site.

Iowa Amish Face Sale to Satisfy Liens

INDEPENDENCE, Iowa

(AP) — Quantities of grain and two farm animals are scheduled to be sold at the Buchanan County courthouse Dec. 21 to satisfy liens against six old-order Amish farmers who refused to pay fines for violating the state school laws.

The liens were filed in District Court recently after the fines were assessed in Justice of the Peace court at Hazleton. Nine other Amish fathers, who also were fined and refused to pay, face similar action.

County officials said Tuesday the property includes 1,200 bushels of oats, 350 bushels of corn, a horse and a hog.

Perry Miller, Joe E. Bontrager and Joni Petershiem each was attached for 400 bushels of oats, Adin Yutzky for the corn, Uriah Swartz for a horse and Christ Raber for the hog.

PART WAS PAID

Yutzky, Bontrager and Petershiem, each owe $169.25 in fines, Miller owes $169.50, Swartz $34.75 and Raber about $40. Raber's fine totaled more than that but part of it was paid in contributions by Parkersburg residents.

The Amish were charged with failure to have state-certified teachers for 38 children who are taught in two private schools by Amish with only eighth-grade education.

When authorities were getting nowhere with levying of fines, school officials tried last week to force the children to attend the public school at Hazleton. Emotional outbursts by Amish children and women led to a three-week moratorium suggested by Gov. Harold Hughes and accepted by school authorities.

The moratorium ends Dec. 13, a week before the scheduled sale of attached property.

Economic Expert Opposes LBJ Interest Rate Policy

NEW YORK (AP)—A former graduate school of business and the Council of Economic Advisors from 1956 to 1969 in member of the President's administration at the University of Michigan contended there is "a danger of the administration of President Dwight D. Eisenhower." declared Tuesday President Johnson's opposition to higher interest rates is "unintelligent and wholly undesirable." In an address to the 17th National Tax Conference, McCracken said, "Preoccupation with the low-interest-rate-alarm and credit supplies." McCracken was a member of ways to the country to these three potential developments: —Forces making for a greater international balance of payments deficit will increase. —Monetary expansion needed to hold down interest rates of more than $14.5 billion. Grants of $607 foundations totaled $779.4 billion. —There would be a tendency toward government economic controls. Foundations in the United States last year had assets of more than $14.5 billion. Grants of $607 foundations totaled $779.4 billion.

Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko (second from left) in Moscow. They explained their positions to each other without any sign of change by either.

$20 Billion Said Needed

'Industry Must Help in Lakes Cleanup'

CLEVELAND (AP) — The not even a large fraction of the $20 billion would have to be spent there. He said Ohio's target date of 1969 for completion of pollution projects seems, "a discouragingly long way away."

James M. Quigley, assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, spoke at the closing session of the annual meeting of the Great Lakes commission. Quigley said the government will use construction grants available under the Federal Water Pollution Control Act. These funds, however, provide only $150 million for sewage treatment plant construction in all of the United States," he said.

Recommendations adopted by the Federal Water Conference were: — Secondary treatment and disinfection of municipal wastes and the equivalent treatment of all industrial wastes. — Elimination of combined sanitary and storm sewers wherever possible. — Regional planning and design of waste treatment facilities wherever possible. — Continuous monitoring of all industrial waste discharges.

"Much of the $20 billion must come from industries," Quigley said. "There is no way you can escape that fact. A large portion must come from municipalities, a great deal from the states. "Some, but at the very most the worst polluted of the five Great Lakes and much of the pact.

"Here's the route we'll take for our progressive dinner," says Mrs. Ralph Radford of Strathdon Way (left) to Mrs. John Radenbaugh of Elsinore Drive. Both women are members of the Waterford Jaycee Auxiliary and cochairmen of the dinner. Husbands will be guests at the Saturday evening event.

Group Plans Progressive Dinner

The Waterford Jaycee Auxiliary is using a progressive dinner Saturday evening as a money-making affair. Proceeds will be used for their projects at the Oakland County Children's Center.

With their husbands, they will have appetizers at the Frank Larkeys; salad at the Jeffery Cornishes; the main course with the John Radenbaughs; dessert and coffee at the Roy Linns; and a social evening with the David Zuchkes.

Mrs. Radenbaugh and Mrs. Ralph Radford are cochairmen of arrangements.

Committee members are Mrs. Larkey, Mrs. Cornish, Mrs. Zuehlke, Mrs. Richard Gilchrist, Mrs. Dean Salley, Mrs. Robert Wright and Mrs. Gary Kreifeldt.

Brenda Utley Is Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Utley of Henry Clay Avenue have announced the engagement of their daughter, Brenda Maureen, to Mike Wisnadel, son of Wolf Wisnadel of Flint and the late Mrs. Wisnadel.

A Feb. 19 wedding is being planned.

The Lewis Haroutunians of Douglas Drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Judy Ann of Royal Oak, to Douglas Allan Mead, son of the James Meads of Mt. Pleasant. Both are alumni of University of Michigan where he is in graduate study.

Living Gift Is Suitable for Home

By the Emily Post Institute
Q: A friend of mine recently moved into a new house and she and her husband are giving a housewarming party in two weeks.

Instead of buying the usual knick-knack for their house, of which I'm sure they will receive many, I thought it would be a good idea to give them a plant or a shrub of some kind for their garden. Will you please tell me if such a gift will be suitable?

A: If you know the kind of plant or shrub your friends would like for their garden, it would be an entirely suitable gift.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF OPENING

Q: I have just received a printed announcement of the opening of a medical office by a relative of mine in another part of the city.

Will you please tell me if this requires any acknowledgment on our part? My husband thinks we should send him a present for his office or at least a telegram of good wishes.

I don't think we are required to do anything. I would like to know what you think.

A: While no acknowledgment is necessary, it would be a nice gesture on your part, and will surely please your relative to send him a little something for his office with a message of good wishes.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Make Transaction Clear

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My husband is a photographer. It is not a hobby with him. That is the way he makes his living.

We had some friends whose niece was getting married, so these friends asked my husband if he would take their wedding pictures. (Formal shots.) Because she was THEIR relative, we didn't ask for any advance payment.

The wedding took place on a Saturday, after which the couple went on a week-end honeymoon. They came back on Monday and the proofs were ready, so they picked them up.

That was a year ago, and we have heard nothing since. We've sent a bill every month, and several letters, but we have been ignored. These friends of ours have also avoided us. (I guess they are embarrassed.) The "proofs" are actually finished pictures. (They will not fade.) How do we either get the money for the job, or the pictures back?

DEAR STUCK: You can (1) take the couple to small claims court, (2) turn the bill over to a collection agency, (3) charge it to experience and forget it.

And in the future, be sure all parties concerned understand that there IS a fee, and the amount should be clearly stated. There's a chance your former friends thought you were doing it gratis.

DEAR ABBY: My son was recently inducted into the Army. It is his first experience being away from home.

He writes letters to me and tells me to please read them to the relatives as he doesn't have time to write to each one separately.

He says he would love to hear from them once in awhile, and in his letters he asks me to please give them his regards. My relatives say they won't write to him unless he writes to them first.

After all, he is in the Army,

Tom Aston, who directs the theater program at Oakland University stood in the wings for a different drama on Monday.

In the midst of last minute preparations for Thursday's opening performance of "The Fantasticks," he spent 20 hours in a hospital waiting room.

His wife, Pat, gave birth to the couple's second child, a daughter at 11 p.m.

The 6 pound, 11 oz. girl is to be named Kristen from "The Dream Play" by Strindberg.

Dr. and Mrs. Norman J. Goode Jr. of Beverly Hills, announce the engagement of their daughter Kathryn Joan to J. Edward Bradley, son of the James H. Bradleys of Spokane Drive. Both attend Michigan State University where the July bride-elect is a sophomore and her fiancé a senior, affiliated with Delta Upsilon fraternity.

June vows are being planned by Nathalie Clara Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael E. Daniels of Birmingham, and James Timothy Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Harold Roberts of Corry, Pa. Both attend Michigan State University, where she is affiliated with Alpha Delta Phi social sorority.

Pair Leaves for Canada After Vows

The newlywed Mr. and Mrs. William Jerome Douglas Jr. (Sandra Marie Parker) left for a honeymoon in Canada after recent vows and reception in the Evangel Temple.

Their parents are the Lloyd W. Parkers of Lowell Street and Mrs. and Mrs. William H. Douglas of Lawrence Street.

Alencon lace applique highlighted the bride's gown and chapel train of white tulle worn with tiered silk illusion veil.

She held a bouquet of white carnations and greens for the ceremony performed by Rev. Geoffrey Day.

Mrs. Carl Thomas attended as honor matron and Carol Thomas was bridesmaid.

On the esquire side were best man, Carl Thomas with ushers James Boswell and John Lock.

Helps for Him

If a fresh shirt collar is slightly wrinkled, it can be "ironed" over a clean hot electric light bulb.

Heavy set men can look slimmer by wearing shirts with vertical stripes.

To keep the size marks in shoes legible, for future reference, paint over them with a clear nail polish when shoes are new.

Poinsettia Pointer

When using fresh poinsettias, be sure to use a match flame to char the bottom of each stem. Poinsettias, whose stems contain a milky juice, do not absorb any moisture after the stems are cut. Charring the stems seals in the moisture the flowers already contain.

Orchestra, Soloist Score Hit

By RICHARD MORSE
The Pontiac Symphony, under the able direction of Felix Resnick, opened its concert last night with a well-interpretated and performed version of the overture to "Oberon" by Von Weber.
To this reviewer's ear, the orchestra was kept well within the musically defined lines as outlined by the conductor. The result was a sensitive performance of a rather trite and popular overture.

The Haydn Symphony No. 101 was well done, although a little heavy at times. Our contemporary approach to music necessitates a somewhat over-colored approach to all music. My congratulations to the conductor and his orchestra for surmounting the musical obstacles in the telling first movement and the closing section of this delightful work.

SOLOIST

Rodney Stenberg, a 1964 winner of the Grinnell Foundation of Music Voice Scholarship, a graduate of Curtis Institute plus a Fulbright Scholar, joined the orchestra in two arias from "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart.

Mr. Stenberg, obviously one of our coming artists, has a beautifully placed voice, plus an impressive interpretive approach to his art.

He is a fine musician, a claim not all singers can honestly acknowledge. It was a joy to hear him. The orchestra gave a sympathetic accompaniment.

After intermission, the soloist returned and continued to captivate his audience. His remaining efforts served to show his audience his potential as a significant vocal force — no mean feat — considering the challenge of his opening works.

It is this reviewer's opinion that the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra is continually growing musically.

The engagement is announced of Carol Frances Linsenman, daughter of Mrs. Carl J. Linsenman of Pontiac Lake Road and the late Mr. Linsenman, to Wilfred Ray Powell, son of the Howard Powells of Cooley Lake Road.

Offers Fire Rescue Tips

Now that the furnace and fireplace season is here again, the danger of a home fire is always a threat, warns Mrs. Carol C. Kurth, area extension home economist in Oakland County. If you suddenly had a fire, what would you do?

Rescuing victims from a fire can be dangerous, and it should be left to trained firemen if possible.

However, if you should have to rescue people from a fire, Michigan State University safety engineers recommend these precautions:

- Take another person with you if possible. Two people can search a building more quickly and thoroughly, and you can help each other if there is trouble.

- Search from top to the bottom of the building. Be sure to look in all parts of every room. Confused and frightened people, especially children, often hide in closets and under beds.

All About Hems

The lighter the weight of material; the wider a hem should be in a dress. The wider the hem, the better it hides the lower edge of a slip.

Polish on Hanger

Cover a wire coathanger with a coating of clean nail polish to save your clothing from rust spots.

- Inside a smoke-filled room, keep close to the walls and feel under and on beds, in chairs, and over couches. Wear a moistened handkerchief over mouth and nose. If you think the floor is safe, cross from one corner to the other to make sure no one is lying in the center.

SERIOUS BUSINESS

Take every possible precaution during the rescue operation. It's serious business and may mean a life saved.

Boy's Haircut Triggers Parental Revolt

PROVINCETOWN, Mass. (AP) — A 6-year-old boy's haircut has triggered a parental revolt against rules governing the dress and appearance of public school students in this Cape Cod resort.

Rosemary Bowler, principal of the Veterans Memorial Elementary School, sent Romulo DelDeo home from his first grade class one day because she decided he needed a haircut.

"The regulation requires a conventional haircut trimmed so as to be above the ears and not touching the collar," said Miss Bowler. "This young man's haircut did not conform to that regulation."

"I recent being told I have to cut my son's hair," retorted Mrs. Salvatore DelDeo.

Congressional Junketing Seems on Way to Record

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators and representatives seem on their way toward establishing a record for globe-girdling travels during the congressional recess.

The bill for this year's overseas missions will not be known until some time in March when all of the itemized accounts are turned in and published in the Congressional Record.

But it is expected to exceed by far the $306,979.65 spent in 1964 — $239,300.90 for travels by House members and $157,575.30 for expenses of senators.

On the whole, congressmen on missions for House and Senate committees can charge the government for their official expenses. But many say they pay for their own way, including travel by commercial airliner, hotel bills and the like.

All are supposed to pay for entertainment, such as visits to theaters and nightclubs. In most cases they are supposed to pay for their wives if they take them along.

The bulk of the overseas spending is covered by the use of so-called counterpart funds, U. S.-owned currencies which have accumulated largely when surplus farm commodities are sold under the Food for Peace program for local currency rather than U. S. dollars.

Many of those engaged in overseas investigations — the critics call them junkets — have gone and returned. Others are yet to go, and some sizable delegations are currently on tour.

Individual members come and go on unheralded trips. The purpose of the trips include inspection of military installations, investigation of how the foreign aid program is being run, attendance at international conferences, checking into peace prospects in Viet Nam and inspection of how the Al-U. S.-owned currencies which have accumulated largely when surplus farm commodities are sold under the Food for Peace program for local currency rather than U. S. dollars.

But stopovers frequently include capitals such as Paris, London, Rome and Madrid. It is estimated that more than 100 members will hit Paris at some time during the 11-week congressional recess.

Senate travelers include three groups and a large number of individuals. House committees did not sign up later.

An exact tabulation of who went where and when will not be available until the expense accounts are reported.

Viet Farmer's Struggle to Stay on Land Told

By TOM TIEDE
BINH DINH PROVINCE, Viet Nam — (NEA) — They say if you kill a farmer's wife here, he'll grieve. But if you kill his water buffalo, he'll fight. Our side gained a trooper recently because of this. Or rather, the other side lost one.

A highland farmer's tragic story, given in emotional confidence by his son, a soldier, as he sat on a mound of dirt which normally houses ants, just a bullet shot from Viet Cong and government positions.

The boy, 19, is the only known survivor of his father's family.

MOTHER DIED

Last month the mother died from a bullet in the stomach.

The boy was the last to go. Says he, with a shrug: "The Viet Nam army got to me first. When either side asks, you don't refuse."

Barely five feet tall, caramel-colored and skinny as a church cat, the lad bit the filter tip from his cigarette, lit up and mumbled with trembling lip about his father's miseries.

"We were always superstitious people. My father believed in his land as a Christian does his God.

ASK TO MOVE

"He had been asked to move many times during the war, but refused. Thinking, possibly, his land would be angry if he left and then bad things would follow him wherever he went."

The farmer disliked the government in his area. He knew of graft, cheating and mismanagement.

When the Viet Cong moved into the hills surrounding, he felt tip from his cigarette, lit up and mumbled with trembling lip about his father's miseries.

"So," the boy continued, "the hours later of another heart at-

HE BELIEVED

And the old farmer believed. Then they took his third son. His first left for the south in fear. And his wife. A good woman. She left for the village one morning and was late in returning. They found her on the road, dead from gunshot.

The old man turned bitter. Years of war, of insecurity, and now his family was gone.

Still he refused to move. "Where would I go?" he asked wife chosen. But a water buffalo his remaining son. "And the land would be angry."

As if to ease the burden of anguish, the old farmer worked hard to reject the VC. Or perhaps it was only an accident.

His buffalo were a comfort in the fields, they had always been. Indeed, he knew the buffalo even better than his family.

He toiled with the beasts the sun around. He talked to them, nursed them, fed them, housed them, cleaned them and protected them.

Without his animals he could not plow the earth. He could not move his crop. He could not pull a cart nor clear the land.

Children can be conceived. A gift from the gods. "I'm not certain how it happened," said the young soldier.

"It may be that my father be-

"Anyway, they shot the buffalo about a week ago. My father is different now."

His last string to sanity severed, the farmer left his land shortly after.

He said he was going south, if he could make it, and fight; if they would let him.

GLAD HE'S GONE

From where the boy sat, sobbing by now, he could see the father's land. "I am glad he is gone," the young soldier said, snuffing out his cigarette. "But it is unfair. All his life he lived up there, asking no one for anything. Now, old and mad, he must leave."

The boy rose, picked up his rifle and began to go. "Perhaps," he whispered, "the land will forgive him."

Women Do Change Like Chameleons

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Everything changes in this world — but nothing changes more than women.

Compared to the variability of women, chameleons are rank amateurs. Clouds change endlessly. So do waves upon the sea, and colors on the landscape. But none change more than women's moods.

Many things make surface changes in women — such as cosmetics, hairdos, hats, eye makeup, girdles and different skirt lengths.

EXPLODES ALL OVER — But none affects the inner girl. Inside she is still the same that is, until she marries. Then she seems to explode in all directions.

"Is this the same sweet girl I courted?" her wondering husband asks. "I feel like I'm living with a total stranger."

He has made the discovery that all husbands make sooner or later: nothing seems to

Cancer Study Reveals Find

By Science Service
WASHINGTON — Virus particles identical in structure to those of a common African childhood cancer have been found in one 27-year-old U.S. female.

Both the African and U.S. virus particles are of a shape and size characteristic of a herpes virus, such as the one causing cold sores in the mouth. However, this does not necessarily mean that the particles cause cancer, scientists at the National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Md., warned.

Studies of tissue cultures of tumor cells taken from the U.S. lymphoma patient and from Africans having the childhood cancer, revealed the identical structure of the virus particles from the two sources. The particles occur in the nucleus, or cytoplasm of approximately one of 200 cells in the culture.

FBI Cites Boom in Shoplifting

Stolen Goods in 1964
Valued at $5 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — With just 20 shopping days until Christmas, the FBI reported today that shoplifting is the nation's fastest growing form of larceny, having increased 30 per cent in the past five years.

Police last year recorded 184,473 shoplifting cases involving stolen goods worth almost $5 million.

Most shoplifters are women, the FBI said, "probably because of the ease with which the female shoplifter can conceal stolen articles on and around her person."

The FBI's legal term for shoplifting is "stealing." To fit that description, the culprit must take merchandise from a store during business hours and carry it away with the intention of theft.

STEAL FOR PROFIT
Professional shoplifters steal for profit with the intention of reselling the merchandise, the FBI said.

"Usually with little income or means of support, he or she makes it his vocation, primarily working in department stores and specialty shops, though spreading his talent around where it will do the most good." The professional prefers suburban stores over downtown stores because there is apt to be less security in the outlying establishments.

He often trains accomplices and works in pairs or threes, assigning one to distract the attention of the sales person while the other helps himself to loot from the counters.

AVOIDS ELEVATORS
He generally avoids elevators and escalators for fear of being boxed in without chance of escape. Should shoplifting teams feel they have been observed, they will huddle around the display and replace the item.

Among the amateur shoplifters are housewives, persons with small incomes and juveniles — all of both sexes. "They steal for several reasons," the FBI said, "real or imaginary hardship, personal need, an opportunity presenting itself, inability to resist temptation, or — especially with juveniles — for the thrill involved."

The usual items taken by amateurs are lingerie, shoes, costume jewelry and other small articles.

SMALL BUDGETS
Housewives, who sometimes steal because of their small budgets, often take wearing apparel and food and sometimes use their children as accomplices, bawling them out for dishonesty if they are caught in the act.

Narcotics addicts, the FBI said, seek merchandise with high resale value to get the money to feed their expensive habit.

Kleptomaniacs — who are afflicted with an irresistible desire to steal — usually come from upper middle class families and steal items "not because of their value but because they may have some hidden meaning."

But true kleptomaniacs make up less than 1 per cent of shoplifters, the FBI said.

Juvenile shoplifters, for the most part, take things they don't need, the FBI said. "They do not try to profit by their act of shoplifting, and, more often than not, do it as a sort of adventure," the report went on.

ARRAIGNED—Mrs. Dovi-ma Horan Murray, 30, was arraigned yesterday on a charge by her former husband that she kidnapped their daughter from his New York home.

WITH HIS FAMILY — Rear Adm. John J. Hyland, who will leave Washington this week to assume command of the U.S. 7th Fleet in the Far East, is shown with his wife, Florence, and their 10-year-old son, Whiting.

Whiting at their Virginia home. Hyland, a veteran of World War II Pacific combat, will be promoted to vice admiral. The couple has three other children.

Selected Over 72 Senior Rear Admirals

New 7th Fleet Boss Is Bombing Expert

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man picked by President John F. Kennedy as the new commander of the 7th Fleet is a carrier-bombing expert whose planes provide a hefty punch for U. S. forces in the Pacific.

For Rear Adm. John J. Hyland, the 53-year-old soft-spoken, balding Navy air eagle se deep into the ranks of Navy flag officers — Hyland is 11th on the seniority list — for the job on the seniority list — a successor to Vice Adm. Paul J. Blackburn, who is ill in Japan.

THREE CARRIERS
Much of the bombing of North Viet Nam is by planes of the 7th Fleet's three carriers, two in the South China Sea near the Gulf of Tonkin and one farther south.

The new commander plans to leave Friday for Hawaii and conferences at Pacific Command headquarters, then to Japan and then to his flagship, the Academy swimmer who found it more fun to fly and did it in World War II with an abandon appointment as vice admiral.

A "Navy brat," Hyland graduated from the Naval Academy in 1934, 34 years after his father, a Navy captain. He was born in Philadelphia, went to high school in Brookline, Mass., and lists Deep River, Conn., as his official home.

His decorations include the Silver Star for leading a low-level air attack against the Japanese air base at Kure on March 19, 1945; Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal and citations sprinkled with phrases such as "conspicuous gallantry," "heroism," "extraordinary achievement."

FOUR CHILDREN
Hyland has two sons, John J. III, 22, a lieutenant junior grade on the nuclear submarine Sam Houston, and Whiting, 10; and two daughters, Nancy, 21, and Pamela, 18. His wife is the former Florence Whiting of New Rochelle, N.Y.

Hyland, who has been director of the Strategic Plans Office in the Office of Naval Operations, has served previously in the 7th Fleet as commander of the seaplane tender Oso and the carriers Saratoga and Forrestal.

Retiring Farmers Union Chief Sees Federal Price Support End

WASHINGTON (AP) — James G. Patton, retiring president of the National Farmers Union and a militant battler for strong government farm aid, predicted today the end of big federal agricultural programs.

"I believe that we have seen the last of legislation authorizing government programs to stabilize farm commodity prices and supplies," Patton said in an interview. He referred to the 4-year farm bill enacted this year which authorizes broadened government payments to supplement farm income.

Patton said he foresees the day when farmers will be able to go it alone with little or no subsidies or government assistance. "In time farmers will be able to bargain effectively for adequate and stabilized prices for their products," he said.

In a significant statement of his views of the future, Patton predicted that farm bargaining will be carried on by coopera-tives able to control sufficient supplies to obtain farm returns which no longer would need to be supplemented, as now is the case for some commodities, by government payments. Patton and former Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, now general counsel of the Farmers Union, have been strong advocates of payment programs.

A rival farm organization, the American Farm Bureau Federation, long has fought government farm programs. It has been promoting farm bargaining cooperatives.

Ex-Nazi Gets Life for '41 Murder of Prof

HANNOVER, Germany (UPI) — Franz Hunke, 54, a former Nazi SS Sergeant, was sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday for murdering a Jewish professor in Poland in 1941.

Hunke was convicted of killing the professor when he returned late from a Christmas leave.

Patton made it clear, however, that he has no intention of retiring as a farm leader, although he said that under no circumstances would he accept a new term when his present one expires in March. He has headed the Farmers Union for 25 years.

He said he expects to devote his time to international agricultural development, the promotion of the farm bargaining cooperative movement, the establishment of a broad American food-for-peace program, the creation of a world land bank offering easy credit to poor farmers, and the promotion of programs to end poverty wherever it might exist in this country.

"It behooves farmers, their leaders and their organizations," he said, "to search for means by which they themselves can obtain a high degree of farm commodity supply management and marketing through programs operated by coopera-tives. Such cooperatives should include retail food chains and should be open to consumers as well as farmers for membership.

"Unless farmers promote such cooperatives," he added, "the alternative might well be eventual control of food production and distribution by big business organizations including chain stores."

Patton said he had no idea who his successor might be.

Only 'French JFK' Believed to Have Chance to Beat De Gaulle

NEW YORK (NEA) — Five candidates are running against Charles de Gaulle in France's presidential elections, but only François Mitterrand is believed to have even a slim chance of defeating the 75-year-old general.

Mitterrand, 49, has had a distinguished career as editor, lawyer and statesman.

He was a leader of the anti-Nazi resistance movement when German troops occupied Paris. Like de Gaulle, he has what the French call an "image."

The old general is undoubtedly a hero to many Frenchmen. He is a father figure who can take care of everything.

He is a symbol of France's past grandeur.

MUCH YOUNGER
But Mitterrand is 26 years younger than de Gaulle. Younger voters especially see him as a "French Kennedy."

They believe that he will also bring new lustre to France—but a lustre more in keeping with 20th century international and political reality.

As the Dec. 5 elections approach, Mitterrand is increasingly backed by influential pro-democratic groups in France. They include socialists, churches, disgruntled farmers, free enterprise associations and labor unions.

The anti-Gaullists accuse the general of "arrogance" and of confusing his own destiny with that of France. They fear that de Gaulle's ambition to refashion Europe in his own image will eventually isolate France and destroy NATO and the Common Market.

For the first time in recent French history, pro-NATO and democratic forces have decided to discard the petty squabbles that usually divide them and unite behind a popular candidate.

Even the French Communist party is supporting Mitterrand, however grudgingly.

For the Communists, this was indeed a bitter pill to swallow. Mitterrand is strongly in favor of NATO and the Common Market — two international bodies that the Communists, like de Gaulle, hate most.

He is also an opponent of de Gaulle's pet project for the development of an independent French nuclear force.

The Communists, if they had the courage, would side with de Gaulle, who has been playing up to the Russians and their East European satellites in his frantic efforts to banish United States influence from Europe.

However, the Communist party, like Red parties everywhere, is in a state of disarray due to the feud between the Soviet Union and China. Young Communists and leftist intellectuals are demanding a "France-first" policy from their leaders.

They no longer want to be the tail of the Russian kite manipulated by bureaucrats in the Kremlin. And they suspect that de Gaulle, if reelected, will transform France into a dictatorship.

Mitterrand is, of course, fighting an uphill struggle. It is not easy to counteract the mystique of le grand Charles. In France, as elsewhere, it is not easy to defeat the incumbent when the country enjoys economic prosperity.

LOOK BEYOND
But France's democratic forces are looking beyond de Gaulle. If they cannot win this time, they hope to gain a favorable position to fight the subsequent battle against the general's successor.

De Gaulle is at once a heroic and a tragic figure. He, more than any other Frenchman, is concerned with Gaullism without de Gaulle.

His hope is that his policies, which he believes will make France a great nation, will continue after he is no longer there to dominate the political scene.

But Mitterrand's followers are convinced — and this is the consensus in France — that when the old general goes, his personal policies will disappear with him.

Berliners to Honor Relatives of Dead GIs

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin today began to collect money to give a Christmas present to the families of Americans killed fighting in Viet Nam "in defense of the free world."

The city's eight newspapers printed an appeal for funds which they said would be used to send replicas of the West Berlin "Freedom Bell" to relations of fallen American servicemen.

The bell in the tower of the West Berlin city hall is a reproduction of the Liberty

Bell in Philadelphia presented to the city by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, postwar American military governor, as a gift of the American people.

The appeal for funds said that, in past Christmases, West

Berliners mourned prisoners of war still held in Russia, political prisoners in the Soviet Zone and the families split by the division of Berlin and Germany.

"This year the feast of peace and joy will be overshadowed in not a few American families by mourning for a relation who fell far from home in Viet Nam, who sacrificed his life in defense of the free world against the extension by force of the Communist sphere of power," the appeal said.

EVENING BAGS — Golden glow will spotlight her evening when she carries such gifts as these over the holidays. Evening bags have stone-set clasps.

Manhattan got its first steam railroad, the New York and Harlem, in 1832.

'Fire Hose Cut on Death Ship'

MIAMI (UPI) — The staff captain and radio man of the Yarmouth Castle told Coast Guard investigators yesterday of severed fire hoses and broken fire alarms aboard the burning ship.

Four more crewmen of the ill-fated vessel, which sank Nov. 13 with the loss of 89 lives, were to appear before the Coast Guard board of inquiry today.

In another development in the sinking of the Nassau-bound cruise liner, 47 crewmen filed suits totaling $235,000 against the ship's owners yesterday. Several passengers previously filed suits totaling $8 million against the cruise ship firm.

The crewmen's suits, filed separately, alleged the death of the ship was caused by fire alarms and fire-fighting equipment and that it failed to have proper inspections.

Alphonse Martinez, the Yarmouth Castle's chief radio operator, told the three-man Coast Guard board he couldn't send an SOS because the radio room was engulfed in flames when the captain ordered the distress signal sent.

SMELLED SMOKE — Martinez also told of smelling smoke, tracing it to room 610 and smashing the glass on a nearby fire alarm box and pulling the alarm lever. But he said the alarm apparently failed to go off.

Staff Capt. Panagiotis Menegatos told the Coast Guard board he couldn't send the starboard of the ship and found the hose had been cut half about eight inches from the hydrant.

"It looked like someone had cut it with a knife," Menegatos said. "We discovered it when we pulled the hose out of its coil on the promenade deck. It was cut clean through."

There were 308,394,000 life insurance policies in the nation in 1964 valued at more than $799.9 billion.

Man Linked to Ancients

Russian Find Said to Produce New Ideas

By Science Service
DENVER. — A possible link between Neanderthal man and modern man has been found deep in Russian soil.

Evidence uncovered at the Molodova site in the Ukraine implies that Neanderthal man evolved into anatomically modern man instead of disappearing off the face of the earth. Dr. Richard G. Klein of the University of Chicago told anthropologists attending their 64th annual meeting here.

The evidence is a circle of man's molar animal bones stretching over an eight-by-ten-meter area. Some 27,000 pieces of flint date the site to the time of Neanderthal man, some 50,000 to 70,000 years ago.

Directly above this site are similar bone circles dating from a later age, less than 35,000 years ago, when man had already made his appearance. Post holes in these later sites indicate that modern or Cro-Magnon man would cover a large area, 44 yards in diameter with one single structure.

No post holes can be found at the Neanderthal level, said Dr. Klein. However, the bone circles are like those of later date. It is logical to assume that the early "man" also built structures. If he did, he was far more advanced than scientists have believed, Dr. Klein stated.

SITE RICH IN FINDS
No evidence that Neanderthals built structures has been found elsewhere. The Molodova site, for the first time, offers more than stone tools with which to understand the nature of these man-like animals.

Russian scientists have constructed a "fantastic" duplication of the structure, said the anthropologist. They believe it was semi-circular, constructed of wood and bone, covered by skins.

Dr. Klein will make a second visit to the site this winter. His first visit a year ago provided him with material for a doctoral thesis.

FRI	31

QUESTION: Who worked out our present calendar?

ANSWER: Men have long used the time from one full moon to another to measure a month and they have also used from one season to the same time at the next similar season to measure a year.

This can't be done. Julius Caesar, in 48 B.C., ordered a calendar to be used which divided the year into 12 months, some of 30 and some of 31 days, with February having 29 days.

This gave 365 days. The actual solar year, however, had 365 days, 5 hours and 49 minutes. To make up the extra time, Caesar decreed that every fourth or "leap" year, one day was to be added to February. Later, the Emperor Augustus changed February to 28 days, with an extra day in leap year.

With this change, Julius Caesar's system worked fairly well for 1500 years. But since Caesar's year was about 11 minutes and 14 seconds longer than the solar year, the calendar gradually got out of step with the seasons.

In 1582, Pope Gregory XIII corrected Caesar's calendar and drew up the one we still use. He dropped 10 days to make up for the accumulated error, but kept Caesar's general plan.

The error of Caesar's calendar was corrected by adding one extra day to February in years which can be divided by 400, like 1600 and 2000. A yearly error of 26.3 seconds is still left.

FOR YOU TO DO: Check your calendar right now and mark off the birthdays of your family and your best friends.

Moroccan's Disappearance Will Haunt Havana Anti-Imperialist Meeting

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
A mystery rivaling the disappearance of Cuba's Ernesto Guevara will haunt the hall next month when Fidel Castro plays host to an "anti-imperialist" meeting of leftists from Asia, Africa and Latin America.

This "tricontinental conference of solidarity" — evidently born in the minds of Arab and North African leftists — aims to promote revolution everywhere in the underdeveloped world according to advance propaganda. No delegate will be admitted unless he is "anti-imperialist and consistent in the struggle against imperialism."

The conference faces difficulties spawned by the Soviet-Chinese fight for leadership of world communism. It likely will also be plagued by the baffling mystery of what happened to its original preparatory committee chairman.

El Mahdi Ben Barka, a Moroccan politician twice sentenced to death in absentia for alleged plotting against the Moroccan crown, was the brains behind the conference. He has vanished without a trace.

STORY DEVELOPED
Here is how the story developed:

Last summer, leftists in Arab countries made contact with Castro and Mexican leftist leaders on a proposal to prepare for a tricontinental conference. A Cairo meeting was held in early September.

Castro snapped at the idea. It seemed an opportunity to polish his prestige as a Communist leader. He offered Havana as the site, and the date was set for Jan. 8, to coincide with celebrations marking the seventh anniversary of the Castro takeover in Cuba.

Late in September, Ben Barka arrived in Havana to sign invitations as chairman of the preparatory committee. He talked with Castro, and told the Cuban press the conference should result in "a new global strategy, on the scale of three continents, since North America imperialism has adopted a global strategy in its aggressions."

Ben Barka returned to Paris on Oct. 29, a man who accompanied him to a restaurant reported Ben Barka was shoved into an automobile and spirited away by two men posing as police officers. "L'affaire Ben Barka" roiled relations between France and her former protectorate.

NEW CHAIRMAN
A new preparatory committee chairman was named, Yusuf al-Sibai from the United Arab Republic. In Czechoslovakia, en route to Cuba, Sibai deplored Ben Barka's disappearance, adding that "the peoples of Asia and Africa will not forgive the imperialists and their lackeys if they have committed a crime against Ben Barka."

The "if" is interesting. Usually, leftists do not hesitate to accuse "the imperialists" of all crimes.

Castro evidently hopes to make the tricontinental meeting a huge propaganda show in which he will star. In his Sept. 29 speech Castro said the meeting would have "great repercussions." It may, in ways which will not be welcomed by all Communist elements.

Castro himself has been squeamish by the Soviet-Chinese fight. The disappearance of his pro-Chinese guerrilla war expert, Guevara — unseen since early April — seemed connected with a fight over the revolutionary line.

DOOMED MEETING
The Soviet-Chinese battle

doomed an attempt to hold an Asian-African summit meeting in Algeria this autumn. The Chinese would not attend if the Russians were invited, and the Russians insisted on an invitation.

The Havana meeting is a likely new arena for the fight. The prospect evidently worries the organizers.

The plan had been to invite "anti-imperialist organizations" from 100 nations, about half on the basis of "observers." Ben Barka had urged that all participants "set aside any differences they might have."

The professed aims of the conference should please the Chinese. On the agenda is "in-imperialism."

That, basically, is the Chinese line.

More Asian Troops Asked for Viet Nam
WASHINGTON (U)—A call for more Asian countries to send troops to South Viet Nam to fight the Communists has come from South Korea's foreign minister, Lee Tong-won.

Lee said Tuesday after talking with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara the size of the free Asian contingents was "in-imperialism."

Pennsylvania Fire Kills Six Children

QUAKERTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A fire wrecked a wooden house three miles west of this southern Pennsylvania community Tuesday night killing six children.

A seventh child was hospitalized with burns suffered when fire wrecked the home of Chester Allen Sr. in the suburb of Quakertown.

Chester Allen Jr., a son, said those killed in the blaze were his brothers, Eric, 1, David, 11, and four foster children cared for by his parents; Jack Jones, 2, Robin Jones, 8, Penny Jones, 6, and Ronnie Jones, 7.

Students Send Sweets to Yanks in Viet Nam
NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — About 1,000 pounds of homemade cookies and candy are on the way to American soldiers in Viet Nam with Christmas greetings from the students of the U.S. military dependents school in Nuernberg.

An Army spokesman said each of the school's 1,100 students contributed at least a dozen cookies.

You Will Have Three Different Batches of Cookies if You Use These Recipes

What's Christmas without cookies? Even if you've never baked cookies before, you can make a delicious assortment this year. We've developed special, easy recipes for cookies that are out of this world!

Santa's Freckle Cookies are "freckled" with delectable butterscotch morsels in a choco-

Tiny Timmeis are simple little nutted drop cookies with two flavor surprises to make them festive for Christmas. There is crushed pineapple in their brown sugar and butter batter and a generous dotting of butterscotch morsels.

These little morsels give you all the thrill of old-fashioned butterscotch flavor with none of the old-fashioned risks of making it from scratch.

Apple-Scotch Squares are "cake-y" cookies with the fun flavor of old-fashioned applesauce cake but they couldn't be simpler to make.

Melted butterscotch morsels get the cookies off to a fast start toward rich, old-fashioned flavor and the rest of the ingredients are added as easily as you please.

You'll have fun, too, for there is no quicker shortcut to the yule mood than the fragrance of cookies baking in your kitchen.

- 1 cup shortening
- 1 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
- ¼ cup granulated sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 cup mashed, fully-ripened bananas
- 1 6-ounce package (1 cup) butterscotch flavored morsels
- 1 cup raisins

Drop by rounded tablespoons on greased cookie sheets. Bake in a 350-degree oven, 12 to 14 minutes. Remove from cookie sheet immediately. Yield: Approximately 5 dozen.

Tiny Timmies
1 can (8½ or 9 ounces)
crushed pineapple

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt; stir into creamed mixture. Add butter-scotch morsels, pineapple and nuts; mix well.

Drop by rounded teaspoon-

2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon instant coffee
1 15-ounce jar (1½ cups) applesauce
1 cup chopped pecans
Melt butterscotch morsels and butter in top of double boiler.

TRIPLE PLAY — The nose knows it's Christmas when wonderful aromas arise from these cookies baking in your oven.

Semi-sweet chocolate and butterscotch flavored morsels speed and simplify these Christmas goodies.

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1¼ teaspoons salt
¾ teaspoon baking soda

over hot (not boiling) water. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and soda. Cream together shortening, brown sugar and granulated sugar.

Beat in eggs one at a time. Stir in flour mixture alternately with mashed bananas. Stir in melted chocolate, but-

- ½ teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1 egg
- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 1 6-ounce package (1 cup)

De Gaulle Speaks to Nation, Says Election of Any of 5 Foes Would Bring Chaos

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle made a television pitch for reelection Tuesday night, saying much still can be done for progress and peace and France wants a strong man at its head.

He said the election of any of his five opponents "would without fail mark the return to the odious state" of the nation under previous regimes.

The 75-year-old president had planned no campaign speeches, but changed his mind after public opinion polls indicated his and many voters were still undecided about their choice for the election Dec. 5.

One poll published Tuesday by the newspaper France-Soir said 36 per cent of those questioned had not made up their minds. The newspaper Le Monde said 38 per cent in its poll were undecided.

NARROW MAJORITY

France-Soir said 51 per cent of the others questioned were for de Gaulle, 27 per cent for leftist Francois Mitterrand, 6 per cent for rightist Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, 1 per cent for central Jean Lecanuet, and 3 per cent for two minor candidates.

Le Monde gave de Gaulle 47 per cent of the decided voters, Mitterrand 29, Lecanuet 14.5 and Tixier-Vignancour 8.

Few doubt that de Gaulle will be reelected, but some question whether he will get a majority announced Nov. 4 that he was available for another seven-year term.

Sunday. It will be the first time that Frenchmen choose a president by popular vote, and some observers think de Gaulle will quit if he is forced into a runoff. Tuesday night's television speech was de Gaulle's first them address to the public since he which, in certain cases, would automatically throw her into conflicts which she would not want," De Gaulle said.

"The republic wants France, while remaining the ally of its friends, not to practice toward one of them a subordination which would not be worthy of her and

U.S. to Start Huge Airlift of Cuban Refugees to Miami Today

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban refugees start streaming into the United States today in one of the most extensive airlifts of its kind in history.

The first airliner in the scheduled daily movement was expected to land in Miami shortly before noon today with 93 Cubans.

Between 800 and 1,000 refugees are expected weekly starting next week. The airlift, the product of negotiations between the U. S. and Cuban governments, is to continue indefinitely.

Most of the exiles are to be transferred to cities throughout the nation.

One flight daily is expected this week and two flights daily after that. Sundays and possibly Saturdays will be excluded. Refugees qualifying for the migration program are those with relatives in this country.

Parents of children in the United States will be given preference, a U. S. official said.

Since June 1963, the U. S. government is paying the refugees fares.

The flights, between Varadero, Cuba, and Miami, followed boat lifts from Camarioca and Matanzas, Cuba, to Key West, Fla., which brought more than 3,000 refugees. The final boatload of 18 men, 42 women and 23 children reached Key West Tuesday night aboard the U. S.-chartered Skipper K.

This migration followed a September 28 offer by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro to remove departure restrictions. The restrictions continued, in the case of youths of military age, physicians and some technicians.

Nine airlines are to alternate in flying in refugees. The first,

Pan American World Airways, will transport them till Christmas.

Bulle Rock, foaled in 1718 in England, and imported into Virginia by Samuel Patton and Samuel Gist, was the first racehorse in America.

Season's Virtually Over for State's Christmas Tree Capital

LAKE CITY (AP)—"O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum, wie gruen sind deine Blaetter . . ."

That old German Christmas carol (literally, "O Christmas tree, O Christmas tree, how green your leaves are . . .") takes on special meaning in Missaukee County.

Christmas trees are a year-round business in this north-west Lower Michigan county which calls itself the Christmas Tree Capital of the Nation.

And while shoppers figure they have another 30 days or so before lighting up their Christmas tree, for the 130-odd Christmas tree farmers the season is almost over. They soon will start thinking about the planning for the 1966 Yuletide season.

250,000 TREES

Every year some 250,000 trees are cut down in the county and shipped to buyers, grossing about $250,000 for tree growers. In years gone by, Christmas trees more or less were left to themselves for a few years after they had been planted. It was left to nature to produce stately trees.

Not so any more. Today, some 300 adults and students are kept busy most of the year to keep the trees healthy, attractive and marketable.

STARTS IN SPRING

Work begins in the spring with the planting of young trees during the rainy season. Immediately afterwards, the battle against the perennial foe of all plants, insects, starts. Most of the insecticide spraying is done by hand, but some growers have switched to aerial spraying from planes in recent years.

Shearing or pruning of the trees starts in June and continues right through August to eliminate unwanted branches and to generally improve the trees' shape and appearance.

Shortly after that, tree plan-tion workers start a unique process: they paint the trees. The trees are coated with green paint in order to keep them fresh longer.

Unpainted trees ordinarily turn yellow sometime around the September. By painting the trees, growers are able to keep them ready for shipment, usually in cold freezing weather.

Late in September, workers off start the tree harvest, a process that goes on until October. The trees are then cut down and dragged from the fields.

Another process essential to bringing good-looking trees to the market is the baling of trees. The baled-up trees are stored in piles until they are ready for shipment, usually in cold freezing weather.

WOULD SNAP

If the trees were not baled up, the frozen branches would snap of continuous pruning, shearing and spraying to produce the desired Scotch pine — preferably, a tree six to seven feet tall.

Tree growers say the demand is greatest for Scotch pine which make up about 80 per cent of the annual harvest. The next popular kind is the spruce and the rest is made up of red and white pine.

Growing a spruce takes a little longer, from 8 to 10 years, before it can be sold as a Christmas tree.

The first census of manufacturers in the United States covered the year 1809. An act of Congress May 1, 1816, or the inclusion of a census of manufacturers for the first time in addition to the enumeration of the people.

N. Carolina Legislature Told to Realign

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — The judges, are J. Spencer Winston-Salem and Greensboro are located.

North Carolina is under orders by a special three-judge federal court to realign its legislature and 11 congressional districts on the basis of population by Jan. 31, 1968.

The judges based their ruling Tuesday on the Supreme Court's decision that population must be the basis of representation in both houses of a legislature. They said if the deadline is not met the courts would hand down a reapportionment plan in time for the 1966 primaries and elections.

Their decision was made in a suit filed by Renn Drum Jr., 33, a Winston-Salem lawyer.

VOTING POWER

Reapportionment would shift voting power from the state's among the most populous counties to the least populous. Agricultural coastal plain to the industrial Piedmont where the member Senate is based on populations of Charlotte, Raleigh, and Winston-Salem.

Gov. Dan Moore refused comment on the ruling pending study. Reliable sources said, however, Moore probably would call a special legislative session for reapportionment by Jan. 10.

Each of the state's 100 counties now has one representative in the House. An additional 20 House members are divided among the most populous counties. Representation in the 50-member Senate is based on populations of Charlotte, Raleigh, and Winston-Salem.

EYE FOR BEAUTY — A practical Yule gift that may not get much immediate use, but will be appreciated longer is a pair of modern sunglasses with wrap-around styling and distortion-free vision.

OAS Split on Defense Force

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — The 20-nation Organization of American States was as divided as ever today on the question of how best to defend the Western Hemisphere against Communist infiltration and subversion.

Continued differences on this issue marred an otherwise remarkable display of hemispheric togetherness at the Inter-American Foreign Ministers' Conference which adjourned here yesterday.

The conference, first of its kind in 14 years, would have achieved an uncommon note of accord if the question of non-intervention had not been raised again by both sides.

Brazilian Foreign Minister Vasco Leites da Cunha, a supporter of the U.S. plan for a permanent inter-American force to police the hemisphere, warned that economic development alone is no guarantee against Red subversion.

"The OAS must be equipped to provide closer help in the matters of internal and external defense required by new types of infiltration and subversion," Leites said.

QUITE COMPATIBLE

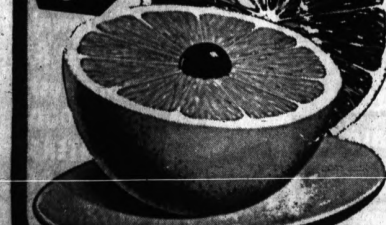

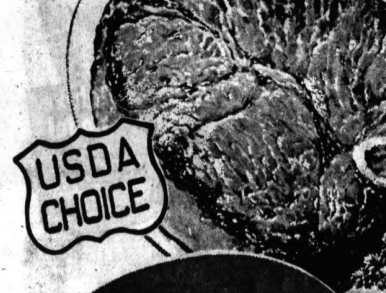

"This need not involve any departure from the principle of non-intervention. On the contrary, the intention is to resort to force only in the event of a necessary to collective action, which one of our colleagues has shown to be quite compatible with the principle of non-intervention."

The first U.S. census in 1790 recorded a population of 4 million for the country.

Colombian resolution which accepted collective action as a legitimate means of defending the hemisphere.

The noninterventionist bloc — Chile, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Mexico, Peru and Uruguay — look exception to a conference recommendation which would make the OAS Council responsible for hemispheric peace-keeping.

This was a reference to a Colombian resolution which accepted collective action as a legitimate means of defending the hemisphere.

Sen. Hart Urges Government Help to Give Shoppers Fair Shake at Store

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart says the federal government should stop "putting band aids on consumer problems" and work at giving the nation's housewives an honest shake at the store.

The Michigan Democrat and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley appeared Tuesday before a consumer protection subcommittee of the State House of Representatives.

Hart said he would ask President Johnson to appoint a commission for a two-year study designed to eliminate deceptive or misleading business practices and lack of product information.

"It seems to me what we have been doing is putting band-aids on consumer problems—long after they are so evident as to have caused too much suffering to our consumers and economy," said Hart.

EARLY TREATMENT

"Preventative medicine — or at least early treatment based on anticipating the problems and dealing with them before infect the economy—would be a better approach," he said.

The hearing in Detroit is the latest in a series aimed at determining Michigan's needs for consumer-protection laws.

Michigan "leads the way in consumer protection," said Hart, but he added that federal officials have been too busy with Viet Nam, civil rights and the war on poverty to bother with "nickel and dime problems."

He sponsored a truth-in-packaging bill and a second measure to establish an Office of Consumers, but both have stalled in Congress.

HELP CONSUMERS

Hart said both bills would help consumers decide more wisely how to spend their increasing income.

"The Great Society should be peopled not only with motivated citizens but with consumers fully utilizing their money to enrich their lives," he said.

Kelley urged all-out war on consumer frauds.

He said such frauds "take millions of dollars out of the pockets of Michigan consumers each year."

At the same time, he said, these millions are diverted from the state's legitimate business enterprises.

Michigan's Legislature, Kelley said, already has taken several steps to protect the public against such frauds.

He cited passage of a home improvement finance act to prevent sharp practices in the home improvement field and legislation requiring the licensing of builders and alterations contractors.

Michigan's 15 most populous counties, Kelley said, have an exchange of information agreement on consumer frauds. Such an exchange might be made national, he suggested.

The first new rail commuter system to be built from the ground up in the last 50 years is now being constructed in the San Francisco metropolitan area. The 75-mile, billion-dollar facility will serve three counties.

Smog's Return in S. California Stirs Cry for Remedial Action

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Smog, after a decade of quiescence, is making a strong comeback in Southern California. And, as the famed sunshine is dimmed and eyes start burning, the outcry to "do something" rings anew.

Recently, however, the state legislature voted down a bill requiring exhaust controls on pre-1966 automobiles, among the chief sources of smog. Additionally a group of oil testifies the story of smog's resurgence is challenging the right of the counties to regulate air pollution late 1940s and early 1950s. Los Angels and the State of California then pioneered control programs.

In 1955, first year the local air pollution control district began monitoring pollutants, there were 35 first-stage alerts — warnings to smog-producing industries to shut down if smog got much worse.

Control measures — special equipment in factories and ban on back yard refuse burning — improved matters and the following year there were but 10 alerts. Each year thereafter the number dropped until there was only one in 1962.

Then, as industries and automobiles multiplied, smog increased. There were three alerts each in 1963 and 1964 and so far this year there have been six.

During periods of no wind a vast mass of polluted air extends from the Mexican border to north of San Francisco and inland to Las Vegas, Nev.

Experts give this reason for the increase, despite control efforts that have cost industry there are 500 new people in Los Angeles County; every week 8,000 new cars; every year nearly 1,000 new industries.

OLDER CARS

Heading the agenda at the special legislative session in February will be the question of what to do about air pollution given off by older cars.

The state already demands crankcase vent controls on all cars, and this year began requiring exhaust controls on new cars.

One attempt to extend this requirement to older cars was defeated by the California Legislature which adjourned early in November. Opponents pointed out that only one firm so far out the country beginning in 1967 — will have to be improved because of an expected increase in the number of automobiles.

Controls also have been placed on such sources as industrial plants. A lawsuit aimed at breaking these controls was filed against the Los Angeles County recently by the Western Oil and Gas Association, which represents major oil companies.

He said devices being installed on new cars in California now — and on cars throughout the country beginning in 1967 — will have to be improved because of an expected increase in the number of automobiles.

The suit challenges the right of the state to delegate policing action to the county's air pollution control district. If successful, it would wipe out more than 100 regulations controlling stationary sources of smog. It would have no effect on automobile smog control since this is policed directly by the state through its Motor Vehicle Pollution Control Board.

use of natural gas instead of oil during the bad smog months from April 15 to Nov. 15.

Hospital Has a New Cafeteria

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Mrs. Leona Jagunich is like a youngster with a new toy. She has a brand new cafeteria to play with, down at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

With the opening of the new wing this fall, a 200-seat cafeteria now serves hospital personnel and visitors. It even draws customers from a nearby motel.

Gone is the small coffee shop on the main floor and the crowded employees' coffee shop near the emergency room.

Mrs. Jagunich supervises 11 employees who serve food 21 hours a day from 6:30 a.m. to 2 a.m. There are four main meal times with short orders available the rest of the time.

Even the sisters who run the hospital now eat in the new room; they received special permission to do so.

It's an attractive place with blue and olive tile on the massive pillars. Draperies are white with an apricot and green design.

The chairs around walnut grained plastic laminated tables have cheery apricot upholstery.

There are gold and cream folding doors to section off parts of the room. The doctors have appropriated one corner where there is a telephone handy.

It's a good place to relax; to talk shop; to write a report; and to eat, of course.

The accepted weight of a bushel of beans in the United States is 60 pounds.

Mrs. Leona Jagunich, dietician at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, is supervisor of the new cafeteria. She is delighted with her equipment which is the latest in design.

Even when all the tables are full, the new cafeteria at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital is not crowded. A clock on the tiled pillar keeps employees on time. The grill in the background is one-way; those working on the other side can't see through it.

Get Swinging Recipes

If you put them all together, you'd have an "Apple Jamboree." And that's exactly what the booklet of favorite apple recipes of today's top song groups, like the Dave Clark Five and Freddie and the Dreamers, is called.

The "Apple Jamboree" contains quick and easy fixins' especially suitable for making and eating while spinning your favorite records.

Besides those of the two groups already mentioned, recipes included are from The Animals, Jay and the Americans, Bobby Sherman, and Dusty Springfield. Their latest photos dot the booklet.

For your copy, send 25c to The Processed Apples Institute, Inc., Box 513, New York, New York 10046, to cover costs.

Here are some examples of the "go-go goodies":

- Dave Clark's Devil Dip
- 1 large dill or sour pickle, cut-up
- ¼ lemon (wedge) cut-up
- 1 3-ounce package cream cheese
- 1 2½-ounce can deviled ham
- 2 cups canned apple sauce
- Dash Tabasco

Place pickle and lemon in blender container; blend 60 seconds. Add cream cheese and deviled ham; blend 30 seconds. Add apple sauce and generous dash Tabasco, blend a few seconds, or until mixture is very smooth and creamy.

Chill and serve with crisp crackers or potato chips and use for dipping. Makes ¾ cups dip.

Freddie's Dream Dogs

- 2 cups canned apple sauce
- 1 16-ounce can baked beans
- 1 pound frankfurters, sliced
- ¼ cup sliced onion
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 8 round picnic buns

Combine apple sauce and baked beans. Pour boiling water over frankfurter slices, simmer 5 minutes; drain. Add to apple sauce mixture. Saute onion in butter or margarine; add to apple sauce mixture. Heat. Serve on picnic buns. Makes 8 sandwiches.

Streusel Topping

Enhances Muffins

A "finishing touch" can often transform something just plain good into something special—as with Streusel Muffins. Good plain, muffins are enhanced by a streusel, or sweet crumb topping.

Blend together ¼ cup each enriched flour and sugar, then cut in 5 tablespoons butter or margarine. Sprinkle about 1 tablespoon streusel mixture over each muffin before baking.

CHIVE DRESSING — Arrange two packages frozen fish portions on greased shallow baking dish. Combine one pint sour cream, three tablespoons freeze-dried chives, two tablespoons anchovy paste and one tablespoon lemon juice; mix well. Spread two tablespoons of this mixture over each fish portion. If desired, top each portion with a tomato slice. Bake at 375 degrees for 15-20 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve remaining sour cream-chive mixture on the side as a sauce. Makes 6-8 servings.

Experts Rap Institution

Razing of Ionia State Hospital Backed

LANSING (AP) — A team of medical, legal and financial experts may have pushed Ionia Wagoner, chairman of the State Hospital a step closer to University of Michigan Department of Psychiatry.

They unanimously recommended the closing of the 80-year-old institution for the criminally insane and the razing of the older buildings so the State Mental Health Department would not be tempted to use them again.

The specialists were witnesses at a House Mental Health Committee hearing on the future of the troubled institution.

They told legislators the hospital had failed to fulfill its purpose of treating the criminally insane, could not possibly hire top personnel because of its isolation and that it was outmoded.

FIVE SUICIDES

The hospital, in which five patients have committed suicide in the past year, has been the subject of two legislative investigations and studies by Aud. Gen. Albert Lee and a medical committee of the Mental Health Department.

"I firmly believe the present function of Ionia State Hospital and office business in writs of habeas corpus because many of the patients are illegally held for treatment.

But most are indigent and cannot afford the services of an attorney."

Watson repeated a medical committee recommendation that the hospital be phased out over a period of two or three years and that a diagnostic center be established in Southeastern Michigan.

EVALUATION IMPORTANT

The center would evaluate each patient referred to the mental institutions by the courts, in order to place them in the proper institutions.

He also suggested that the newer buildings could be converted into a control center for adolescents — an "enlightened containment center."

Several House committee chairmen have suggested that the newer facilities there could be converted into some form of patients are being kept at Ionia at all would make a law-lawyer blanch, I think about one-third of the hospital population would go free if they had the services of a good attorney," Watson said, adding:

"A good lawyer could do a land office business in writs of habeas corpus because many of the patients are illegally held for treatment.

Crime Survey Planned in 4th District

FENNIVILLE (UPI) — A survey on crime and the "extent to which law enforcement has been hampered by recent court decisions," will be undertaken in the seven-county 4th Congressional District, it was announced today.

Edward Hutchinson, 4th District congressman, said Ronald J. Taylor, Benton Township clerk and a member of a St. Joseph law firm, has volunteered to set up and conduct the survey. It will include progress in strengthening them once more," he said.

Hutchinson said, "In recent years we have observed startling increases in the crime rate while the machinery of law enforcement has been obstructed by judicial reinterpretation of constitutional provisions."

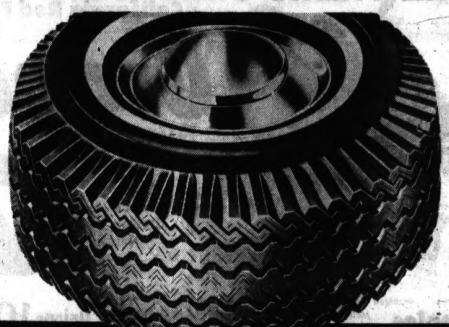

A member of the House Judiciary Committee, Hutchinson and federal enforcement procedures and it now fails to Congress to search out ways to strengthen them once more," he said.

convention site at nearby Miami Beach today, raising hopes that now they'll substitute action for all that trade talk which produced so little here in the minors' camp.

The minor leagues wind up their three-day meetings today and the major leagues will be taking the 30-mile trip down the coast in preparation for their get-together which runs through Friday.

Less than a dozen changes of any real significance were made here. Biggest of these was Alvin Dark's appointment as manager of the Kansas City Athletics.

Heading up Tuesday's limited developments were the signing of free agents Frank Malzone and Ed Crandall by the California Angels and Cleveland Indians, respectively.

The 35-year-old Malzone, former all-star third baseman for the Red Sox, was released by Boston two weeks ago. Crandall, 35-year-old catcher, was released by Pittsburgh Monday when the Pirates drafted Jess Gonder from Richmond.

In their final business meeting today, the minors were to vote on proposed amendments with emphasis on a controversy over how much the majors should pay toward the salary of a player sent down to a triple-A team.

ASKING RAISE
At present, the major league teams pay the first $300 a month. The triple-A teams are asking that this be raised to $700 and the majors have offered a $600 compromise.

Among Tuesday's developments: —Boston finally got around to sending shortstop Ed Bressoud to the New York Mets for outfielder Joe Christopher in a deal that had been hanging fire for several weeks.

—The Mets added Whitey Herzog to a coaching staff that includes Yogi Berra and Sheriff Robinson and revealed they are still looking for a pitching coach.

A job Warren Spahn held until he went to the Giants last season.

One-time Cleveland Manager Kerby Farrell was named manager of Jacksonville Fla. in the International League.

A prospective five-player deal between the Philadelphia Phillies and the Baltimore Orioles bogged down Tuesday when the Phillies asked the Orioles to up the ante.

The Orioles were reported to have offered veteran outfielder Jackie Brandt, pitcher John Miller and one of their minor league players for outfielder

UCLA Eleven Eyes Tennessee

MSU Rose Bowl Foe to Invade Memphis

LOS ANGELES (AP)—UCLA's Tommy Prothro wants thoughts of the Rose Bowl put on the shelf until his Bruins finish with Tennessee this Saturday.

The head football coach was almost grumpy when a sports writer mentioned the Jan. 1 bowl Tuesday. Said Prothro:

"I don't want to talk about it. We're not enough trouble on our hands with Tennessee. They're probably better on defense than offense, but they're good both ways."

Tennessee (6-1-2) is ranked just two runs below fifth-ranked UCLA (7-1-1) among the nation's collegiate teams.

COLD WEATHER
But the contest will be in Vols' country—Memphis—and in probably near-freezing weather.

"They (the Vols) haven't passed much because they're rather beat up running," said Prothro. "They play position football. They give you nothing cheap... and they kick on third down."

Tennessee will meet Tulsa Dec. 18 in Houston's Bluebonnet Bowl. New Year's Day the Bruins host Michigan State.

KEYMAN
Phillips, a speedster from Panama, was the key man in the trade discussion, which may be resolved at Miami Beach.

There was plenty of talk Tuesday, but little action.

Calvin Griffith, president of Minnesota, said the Twins are looking for a second baseman and figure they are in a position to make some team "a mighty good deal."

It is believed the Twins are after Tommy Helms of Cincinnati but the Reds are more interested in using Joey Jay as bait to pick up that little extra help they feel that could lead to a National League pennant next year.

According to John McHale, president of the Atlanta Braves, the Reds already have the best-balanced team in the majors.

Pittsburgh offered veteran pitcher Bob Friend, to the Detroit Tigers for outfielder Gates Brown but were turned down as were the Reds when they offered Jay for a Tiger outfielder.

Lions Reveal Indiana End Has Signed

DETROIT (AP)—Bill Malinchak, star Indiana end, has signed a 1966 contract with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League, the Lions said Tuesday night.

The Lions confirmed Malinchak's signing after reports from Indianapolis that he and the club had come to terms.

Russ Thomas, director of Lions player personnel, said Malinchak had signed for an "undisclosed" amount of money.

Malinchak, 6-foot-1 and 190 pounds, was Detroit's second choice in the third round of the NFL draft. He scored seven touchdowns the past season and caught 44 passes, an Indiana record. He did not appear on the American Football League draft lists.

Thomas said the Lions hope to use Malinchak as a flanker-back.

Malinchak was a member of the Indiana football team that won the national championship in 1956.

Knicks' Coach Takes It Easy Upon Return

NY Five Rips Hawks for Dick McGuire; Royals in High Gear

NEW YORK (AP) — Dick McGuire had to know everything was going to be all right in his New York coaching debut when the Knicks won the opening tip. They hadn't won much else this season.

But if that wasn't enough of a tip-off for McGuire in the Knicks' National Basketball Association game with St. Louis Tuesday night, the two points the Knicks scored after their first half ended should have been.

And if he still needed proof of an impending victory, the easy-going McGuire got it when the Knicks put together a three-point play on free throws late in the third quarter.

Little wonder that, while the Knicks were en route to their 134-110 victory, someone in the crowd shouted, "McGuire for mayor!" And someone else chimed in, "McGuire for governor!"

JOBS SAFE

The jobs of John Lindsay and Nelson Rockefeller are safe, however, as long as the Knicks win — some of the time. That's enough to insure McGuire of the job he took over Tuesday from Harry Gallatin, who didn't win too much of the time.

The Knicks' victory snapped a five-game losing streak and was only their seventh in 22 games this season. Furthermore, the 77 points they scored in the first half represented the biggest halves they've ever had, and the 138 points were high for the season.

"I'd say it's a little false," McGuire said of the Knicks' show in the "We're not that good. I hope so, but I think we've just played a real, real, real good game."

McGuire, who formerly coached the Detroit Pistons, left his job as a salesman for a printing company Tuesday and said he represented a "rookie first time a couple of hours before the game."

"I tried to get across in the few minutes we were together that I wanted them to be a winning club," McGuire said.

He didn't say, though, whether he told them they wanted them to be a scoring club, too.

Oscar Robertson has the Cincinnati Royals moving better than ever.

FOURTH STRAIGHT

The Royals downed the Los Angeles Lakers 126-120 Tuesday night for their fourth consecutive victory and pulled even with the Eastern Division-leading Boston Celtics as far as games won.

Robertson poured in 41 points and collected 14 assists. Just last Saturday night against New York he scored 44 points and notched 16 assists.

EASY WFLYING

The easy method of qualifying will enable a far greater percentage of bowlers to vie for the big prizes at stake.

A total of 86 bowlers moved into the semifinals as result of last Sunday's qualifying, and officials at both houses are expecting nearly 700 kieggers to fill this Sunday's squads.

Bowlers Have Final Chance AAU Opens Gathering in Capital

Time is running short for Oakland County bowlers who want to take a crack at the big prize list of the Pontiac City Bowling Championship which will have its final qualifying Sunday at Huron Bowl and 300 Bowl.

Deadline for entries is Thursday midnight, unless approval is soon received from the ABC for an extension squad Monday night to accommodate returning deer hunters who are unable to make the Sunday squads.

As it stands now, squads will start at 10 a.m. Sunday at both sites with the final bowlers going off at 6:45 p.m. at Huron Bowl.

The target score in qualifying is 600 including handicap, and all bowlers who hit or pass this total will earn their way into the semifinals Sunday morning Dec. 12, at Huron.

The finals will be that afternoon followed by the Actual's Invitational for bowlers with averages of 189 or better or those who hit 618 annual or better in their qualifying.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Amateur Athletic Union opened shop for its 78th annual convention today, still at loggerheads with the rival National Collegiate Athletic Association over who should supervise the participation of U.S. athletics in world track and field competition.

Spokesman for the AAU were restrained in their public comments on the stubborn feud which became the subject of a Senate hearing.

Privately, they were insistent that they were in the right in the battle which will be arbitrated by a special five-man group to be named shortly by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

The dispute became the subject of serious congressional concern earlier in the year when both sides threatened reprisals against individual stars who participated in rival events.

The loss by the U.S. men's track and field team to the Soviets for the first time in the history of the dual event stirred up further controversy.

At the behest of Senate Commerce Committee Chairman Warren Magnuson (D-Wash.), both organizations have agreed to a moratorium in any punitive action and to keep the lid on their public bickering.

The NCAA has declared it welcomes the binding arbitration. Aides to Humphrey and Magnuson were expected to discuss the situation with U.S. officials on a quiet basis this week.

NMU's Mentor No. 1 in State

'Frosty' Ferrazza
Grid Coach of Year

MARQUETTE (AP) — F. L. (Frosty) Ferrazza, who has not had a losing football season in nine years, at Northern Michigan, today was named The Associated Press' Michigan Small College Coach of the Year.

Ferrazza, a native of Iron Mountain, was named the best coach of a small college team in the state in sports by the AP's panel of sportswriters and coaches.

The Wildcats posted a 7-3 record this season, giving Ferrazza a 50-26-2 career record at the Upper Peninsula school. The 50 victories represent nearly 35 per cent of all the triumphs posted by NMU since the sport began in 1916.

Ferrazza, after a brilliant high school career, went to Lake Forest, Ill., College where he won 13 major letters and captained the football, basketball and track teams.

BEGAN CAREER

He began his coaching career as head basketball and football coach at Iron Mountain, then moved to Green Bay, Wis. West where his teams won five conference football titles.

He was head football coach at Marquette University in 1954 and 1955.

His best season at Northern Michigan was 1960 when the Wildcats were 9-1 and battled Lenoir Rhyne to a 20-20 tie in the NAIA playoffs, only to lose a bid to the championship game on total offense.

Baseball's Boss Is No Puppet

PORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Gen. William Eckert says he won't be intimidated in his new job as commissioner of baseball.

The retired Air Force officer bluntly told baseball officials Tuesday night that he won't allow himself "to become a puppet."

Eckert, making his first formal speech since taking the job two weeks ago, said he will take over as commissioner with no obligations to anyone.

"Nobody tied any strings on me, so there aren't any to pull," said the unemotional 55-year-old commissioner, who described himself as a "product of small-town America, with no experience in baseball."

Eckert said as commissioner he will not "overlook or shrink from the hard decisions growing out of disputes, whoever may be involved."

Despite his blunt speech, Eckert said he does not plan to offer any immediate remedies for problems plaguing baseball.

"First I want to see some ball games," said Eckert, who went to only one game last summer. Eckert said he does not believe his lack of baseball experience will hamper him as commissioner because he has had wide experience as an Air Force officer in dealing with people and problems.

"I make no claims to omniscience," he said, "but I practice justice and equity."

Eckert said he was gratified by the "gracious reception" given him as commissioner despite his lack of baseball fame.

"The day after I was named commissioner," Eckert said, "Willie Mays — whom I admire greatly — asked 'who's he?'" Eckert said he planned to change that image by mixing with baseball players, the minor leagues and the public.

"The commissioner foregoes none of the disciplinary responsibilities of office if he lends the authority of his office and the persuasiveness of his nature to advance baseball as our national pastime," Eckert said.

Eckert, who has been seen only briefly in public since arriving for the baseball meetings which started Monday and gave took third baseman Frank Malzone, who had been dropped from the Red Sox, and Cleveland interest in baseball "to include all levels and all ages."

"One of the great things about baseball," the long time mill-announced a trade that sent Larry man said, "is that it is a game that can be played with- out armor."

Eckert's speech enlivened a rather dull day marked by much speculation about player trades but little action.

Reportedly still brewing were the attempts by the Braves to get to pitcher Dick Radatz, Boston's Phillie Phanatic by the Phillies to slugger first baseman Dick Stuart, and by the Cubs to get catcher John Roseboro of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Two veterans cut loose earlier in the week were released by the California Angels and the New York Mets, finally released by Pittsburgh.

Pro Wrestlers Return for Armory Card

The "beauty and the beast" version of pro wrestling will be featured in the tag team match Friday night at the Pontiac Armory.

Canadian Gino Brito and Gary Mayberg, known as the two of handsomest wrestlers in the business, will team in the tag match against a pair of brutes, Crusher Cortez and "The Student."

Cortez and The Student will be a tag team of nearly 600 pounds, Cortez going 290 and Student 295.

The Student, a masked wrestler who also appeared on the football field with the Pontiac Arrows, defeated Tiny Hampton, 285, in his last appearance at the Armory Thanksgiving Eve.

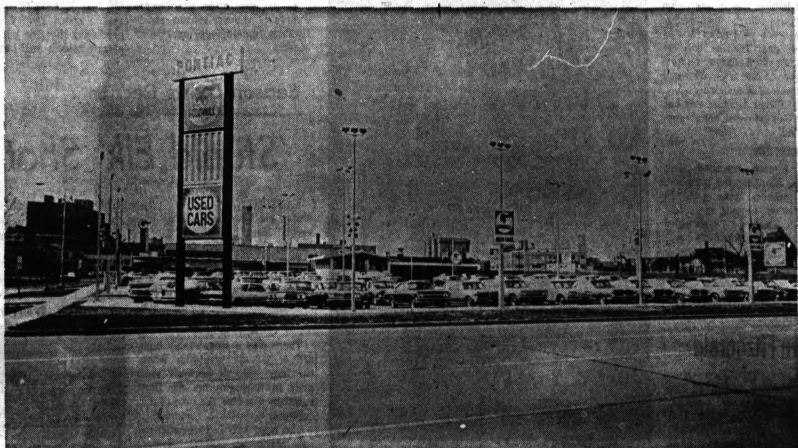

Hampton returns to face Zeles Amara, The Turk, Friday. In the other match, Wild Bill Norris meets Dick Williams.

Normally a Saturday night card, the matches will begin at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

U.S. Reply to Soviets on N-Threat Due

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States was expected to reply today to Soviet charges that it is endangering millions of Europeans' lives with a plan to build 5,000 atomic warheads directed against the Communist states.

Informed sources said the United States would point out to the General Assembly's main political committee that the Soviet Union omitted mention of Western claims that vast numbers of nuclear warheads in the Soviet Ukraine are directed against Western Europe.

Semyon K. Tsarapkin, chief Soviet arms negotiator, made the charge against the United States Tuesday during the debate on a proposal to declare Africa a nuclear-free zone.

Tsarapkin cited a statement by U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara that 5,000 atomic warheads stockpiled in Europe in support of the Atlantic allies would soon be increased to 6,000.

ONE MISTAKE
"One mistake would cause the death of millions of Europeans," the Soviet envoy declared. "We must put an end to these atomic maniacs who have flooded Europe with nuclear weapons."

"Against whom have the Americans stored this monstrous amount of nuclear warheads? They are directed against the Socialist countries of Eastern Europe."

Tsarapkin said the Soviet Union is ready to support denuclearized zones in Africa, central Europe and any other area that may be proposed, if other nuclear powers assume the same obligations.

He asserted that the United States appears interested only in denuclearizing such areas as Antarctica because "there are only a few dozen people there."

MORE RIGID
"It is curious that the U.S. position changes and becomes even more rigid and belittles when proposals are made to denuclearize territories inhabited by men," he said.

Tsarapkin said the Soviet Union links denuclearization with dismantling of all foreign military bases and that this principle should hold in any move to denuclearize Africa.

The United States has accused the Soviets of pushing denuclearization in Europe and other regions to try to point up its demands that foreign bases owned by the West be shut down.

Poland joined in the attack on U.S. warheads in Europe. Ambassador Bobbin Lewandowski said U.S. claims of a foolproof system of nuclear weapon control were weakened by the demands that foreign bases owned by the West be shut down.

Thirty million Americans were plunged into darkness despite the whole array of most sophisticated mechanical and electronic checks and devices," Lewandowski declared, and "a failure in the nuclear weapons control system would plunge hundreds of millions of people into oblivion forever."

Canadian officials said today the U.S. nuclear forces on planes of other Atlantic alliance nations are nothing more than tin cans until U.S. teams arm them on instructions from the U.S. President.

They said nuclear bombs are slung under a certain number of Canadian and West German F104 Starfighter jets in West Germany when the planes are on what is known as "quick action alert."

The bombs are useless until they are armed with various secret mechanical and electronic devices which can be operated only by the U.S. custody team and the U.S. nuclear officer, the officials said.

ARMED GUARDS
In addition, the planes are guarded by armed U.S. sentries in "open" behind closed doors, they said. The planes stay near the planes but not in them.

The planes do not take off unless war starts, whether the bombs are armed or unarmed, the officials said. The alert is to prevent the planes being destroyed on the ground.

The Canadian sources said the same arrangements apply to West Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium and other North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries that have bilateral nuclear agreements with the United States.

They said American nuclear warheads of up to 10 kilotons equivalent to 60,000 tons of TNT have been stored since last year at the Zweibrücken and Baden-Söllingen Canadian air bases in West Germany.

The warheads are firmly in the custody and control of American personnel and can be used only on the authority of U.S. personnel, the officials said.

Meeting Hears Police Plan
More Efficiency Aim of Training Program
A proposed countywide law enforcement training program aimed at increasing police efficiency was outlined today by some 70 officials and police chiefs of Oakland County municipalities.

John S. Slavens, acting chairman of a special committee created by the County Board of Supervisors to study law enforcement problems, then asked officials to present the training program proposal to their boards or commissions.

The study committee previously had decided on the need for more police training. Today's meeting was called to suggest the program to those who would participate.

Slavens said his committee expects to know by mid-December how many communities want to participate in the training program.

Present outline training facilities used by some Oakland County police departments had been terminated by the study committee inadequate to meet the desirable degree of professionalism now required by police officers.

WOULD CUT COSTS
A facility located in the county also would cut training costs by eliminating room and board and travel expenditures.

A 48-week program involving all 40 police units in the county has been suggested by the committee.

The committee hopes the county will approve the approximate $30,000 outlay to conduct a police school. Hopefully tuition would put the school on a self-sustaining basis and permit full reimbursement to the county.

Suggested locations for the school are Oakland University and Oakland Community College.

New Social Security Hours Set

The U.S. Social Security Office, 35 E. Huron, will be open Wednesday evenings till 8:30 and Saturdays till noon for the next three weeks, beginning this Saturday.

District Manager William E. LaRock said the additional hours are for the benefit of Oakland County residents over 65 who are still working and cannot get to the office during regular hours.

There are still many people in the county over 65 who qualify for medical assistance and electronic checks and devices," Lewandowski declared, and "a failure in the nuclear weapons control system would plunge hundreds of millions of people into oblivion forever."

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The destruction of South Viet Nam's 7th Regiment in a savage fighting Saturday, Saigon Saturday. Some U.S. advisers among the casualties.

No major ground action was reported today, but the Viet Cong kept up guerrilla pressure, striking before dawn at three small government outposts in the central highlands south of the big U.S. air base at Da Nang. Communications were dead with one of the camps.

U.S. Marines had their first action in some time in the Hue-Pu Bai area north of Da Nang, exchanging fire with about 20 Viet Cong. The Leathernecks killed one Communist and wounded four while taking light casualties, the spokesman said.

Attacks continued on North Viet Nam with strikes north and south of Hanoi, the capital. U.S. Air Force F-105s Thursday damaged a railroad bridge and cratered several highways northwest of Hanoi, while jets and propeller-driven Skyraiders from the carriers Theodore G. Bess and Bon Homme Richard dropped 30 tons of bombs on freight cars, army barracks and bridges near the coastal city of Vinh, a U.S. spokesman said.

He said Air Force and Navy planes flew 29 armed reconnaissance missions into North Viet Nam in the past two days. All aircraft returned safely, he reported.

Inside South Viet Nam, planes from the 7th Fleet carrier Kitty Hawk dropped 70 tons of bombs in Tam Ky, capital of Quang Tin Province.

Under cloak of night, 20 or 30 Viet Cong crept up to an outpost at Tam Ky, 30 miles south of Da Nang, and pounded a U.S. advisers' billet with small arms fire. No Americans were reported injured.

The Communists also tossed grenades at a nearby district headquarters building, inflicting light casualties on the government defenders, a U.S. spokesman said. No attempt was made from the provincial headquarters in Tam Ky, capital of Quang Tin Province.

Expressway's a Dream Compared to Moon Drive

By FRED FERGUSON
BETHPAGE, N.Y. (UPI)—It was almost a feeling of relief as my car inched toward the expressway to join the mass of metal and humanity on its exodus from the city.

So what, if it meant an hour of bumper-to-bumper traffic on the trip back home? The prospect of coping with four-wheel jockeys who weave in and out of lanes was equally undisturbing.

My days of horn-blowing and flashing that "same to you, buddy" smile were over. I'll never complain of rush-hour traffic again, now that I've had a taste of driving on the "moon."

I took my first—and last— lunar excursion yesterday on a simulated "moon" course built by Grumman Aircraft Co. to test a 31-foot long vehicle designed for moon travel.

It was a good thing the course was simulated (on a television projection screen). If not, I would have wrecked the moon-car on which Grumman had spent three years and $750,000 just to have an operational lunar vehicle, if and when the National Space Agency says it wants one.

FIRST MODEL
Grumman claims its vehicle is the first operative full-scale model. It is shaped like a caterpillar and has spiral wheels designed to "give" when traveling over a soft and bumpy surface.

Aerospace engineers say the vehicle would be sent to the moon to await the arrival of astronauts—and be available to transport them about 250 miles from their base.

Before stepping into the darkened cab of the moon-car, I was briefed on operation of the fingertip controls which provide for quick reaction to bumps—a particular problem on the moon because of its light gravitational pull.

I was told that a "beeping" sound from a signal device in the control mechanism would indicate that the vehicle had wrecked.

NO DIFFICULTY
The first two craters to appear on the screen were passed without difficulty. Then, as gained confidence. The crash indicator began sounding, "beep, beep, beep." It went on for some time.

I was held firmly in the cab by a safety belt. But nevertheless I felt jostled as the moon-car rolled furiously—up, down, backward and forward. It seemed worse than a storm crossing of the English Channel.

In theory, at least, the moon-car was demolished. The mission was a failure, I heard one engineer ask incredulously, "who hit all the craters?"

I learned later that Bob Smyth, the test driver of the vehicle, has been successfully steering the moon-car clear of potholes and craters for a month.

NO TRAFFIC
And the shame of it was that there was absolutely no traffic.

I'll leave the moon-driving to the astronauts. The expressway is A-O-K with me.

Mother and Son Die
HOWARD CITY (AP)—Mrs. Marion Richards, 45, and her son, John, 11, died of injuries suffered Tuesday in a car-trailer collision four miles north of Howard City.

HARD TO BELIEVE — Mrs. Roland Ford looks with mock amazement at a dress she wore just two years ago when she was 150 pounds heavier. The Baltimore, Md., housewife began a crash diet that dropped her from 300 pounds to her present 150 and from a figure of 54-46-63 to 40-32-42. She is holding the award she received from a weight-reducing organization for her achievement.

Farrell's Desert Playground

Charlie's Back at Club Again

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — Charles Farrell is back at his old stand, looking at 64 just as athletic and as handsome as in his heyday as a Hollywood leading man.

Farrell has resumed his duties as managing director of the Racquet Club, which he founded with THOMAS with Ralph Bellamy in 1934 and built into the favorite desert playground of the stars. Six years ago, he sold his interest for a reported million dollars, remaining to oversee the operation.

But Farrell differed with the owners over policy and became estranged from the Racquet Club. The place was sold again, and the new owners saw the wisdom of inducing Charlie's return.

"Well, I ought to know the operation by now," grinned the onetime star, whose geniality can keep guests and help happy. He is always on hand to make a foursome for tennis or join VIP's for dinner.

RECENT VISITOR

One such recent visitor was Janet Gaynor, who dropped in with her husband, producer Paul Gregory. Her reunion with Charlie created a wave of nostalgia, the pair having costarred in "Seventh Heaven" and a string of other romantic films of 30-odd years ago.

"I see Janet every year or so, and we always have a great time together," said Farrell. "She was always afraid she would look wizened when she got older, because she's so tiny. But she looks just wonderful."

Farrell, too. The desert life obviously agrees with him. Minus his wartime Navy service and six costarring years in the television series "My Little Margie," he has wintered here half his lifetime. He became enough of a local figure to serve as mayor of Palm Springs.

THE GOOD LIFE

Though he remains intensely interested in Palm Springs progress, he eschews politics now. He is dedicated to pursuing the fortunes of the Racquet Club and the good life.

"I own the first mortgage on the place—something like $750,000," he explained. The payments come in monthly, which Storm's bedeviled daddy in "My Little Margie." He is grateful to the series for reviving his fame.

But although the shows still ing on the tennis courts or on play on television everywhere, the golf courses that abound this he no longer profits from them.

Doctor Charged With Turning Writer Into a Narcotics Addict

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A Hollywood physician was under indictment today on charges he turned noted screenwriter Sally Benson into a narcotics addict by prescribing a "magic medicine."

Miss Benson, 68, told state narcotics investigators she paid the physician a total of $30,000 in a year-and-a-half period in which he visited her Brentwood home two or three times daily.

Dr. Paul E. Ezra, 32, now in Camarillo State Hospital pending a sanity hearing, was indicted by the county grand jury yesterday on 38 counts of narcotics violations. Investigators alleged Miss Benson, now cured of the need for narcotics, was given codeine and demerol.

Miss Benson earns about $100,000 a year, investigators said. A native of St. Louis, Mo., she authored the novels "Junior Miss" and "Meet Me in St. Louis."

MOVIE SCREENPLAYS

She collaborated on a number of movie screenplays including "Anna and the King of Siam" and she wrote the screenplay for Elvis Presley's "Viva Las Vegas."

Miss Benson said she was referred to Dr. Ezra early in 1963 when she was unable to reach her personal physician. She was recovering from pneumonia at the time.

Investigators asserted the physician charged $40 a visit to her home, and increased her daily dosage of codeine from 2.5 grains to 20 grains.

Dr. Ezra was arrested Nov. 11 on charges of battery and disturbing the peace in an alleged fight with his wife, Sandra. Criminal proceedings were suspended and he was committed to the state hospital pending a sanity hearing Jan. 27.

Loses 150 Pounds

She's Now Half Her Size

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Two years ago, Mrs. Roland Ford, who is five feet tall, weighed 300 pounds and her measurements were 54-46-63.

"I hated to go out of the house," she says.

"I felt like the fat lady in the circus. I wanted to crawl into a hole, but there was none big enough."

Then, she began a "reduce or else" diet through a chapter of TOPS — Take Off Pounds Sensibly.

Today, she is down to 150 pounds, her weight when she married 19 years ago, and measures 40-32-42.

FEEL FINE

"I feel fine now," she said. "Sure I'm a little heavy for my size but I don't want to get too thin."

What's her secret?

"There is no secret to it," she said in an interview.

ducing to 189 pounds. Last Sunday, she reached 150. Mrs. Ford's husband didn't think she would stick to her diet.

"She's been on so many, first down then up, in and out, that I just didn't think she could do it," he said.

The battle isn't over, of course.

"You can't eat anything good," Mrs. Ford said.

"In my case, it's just eating what I have to, and I guess that's how it will always be. I splurge once in a while, like at Thanksgiving."

Democrats Warned:

Take Reagan Seriously

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI)—California Democratic leader Robert Coats has warned his party to take actor Ronald Reagan seriously if he runs for governor as a Republican next year.

"We haven't the faintest idea how many women over 40 are in love with him," he said.

Earl's Monkeying Around With Boston Monkey Dance

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I have received an invitation that I resent. I am invited to come and take lessons in the Boston Monkey. This sneaky sort of invitation subtly suggests that I, Earl Wilson, do not know the Boston Monkey already, or am not proficient in the Boston Monkey. You see how misinformed people are! I can do the Boston backward—and by the way, some people think you look better when you do the Boston Monkey backward.

"By the way, what is the Boston Monkey?" I asked Jimmy Everett, who is teaching it at 11 M, at the Hotel Delmonico, with his sister, Tanya Everett.

"The Boston Monkey is such an improvement on the old Monkey, don't you think?" Timmy said.

"Just what I was saying," I said.

"You're right, the old Monkey just looked like a monkey..." said Timmy.

"Precisely!" I exclaimed.

"But the Boston Monkey, now, has imagination! It originated in Boston, you know. Well, it's a combination of several dances, including the Charleston.

"And the partners even TOUCH!"

"Touch who?" I asked, disbelievingly—so I thought.

"EACH OTHER!" Timmy exclaimed. (Oh, my, but they're getting bold now, aren't they? Dance partners touching each other. What'll they be doing next? Oooh, I love I'm not around to see it.)

"The Boston Monkey," Timmy said, "has more swinging of the pelvic area, and bumps and grinds, with the boy pushing toward the girl, and the girl pushing toward the boy."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Looks more and more like Angela Lansbury'll land "Auntie Mame" in "My Best Girl." Ethel Merman declined to consider it—she doesn't want a long run show, as she expects that one to be! —Sammy Davis's joining the date of the 80th birthday banquet for Harry Hershfield for the NY Cardiac Fund Saturday, Dec. 4.

Sybil Burton Christopher bowed out of the TV special, "Many Worlds of Mike Nichols"—in which Liz and Richard will appear. (In the alphabetical listings, Christopher would have come right after Burton).

—Nat Simon of the Penguin restaurant reports unhappily someone used his mailing list to invite people in for free food and liquor.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Today's teen-agers have lots of leisure time. Look at how much time they save by not getting haircuts.

EARL'S PEARLS: Bobby Vinton claims he visited an upstate N.Y. town so quiet you could hear the reservoir level drop.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Genius is nothing but labor and diligence." —William Hogarth.

Eddie Fisher had three big-money offers from Las Vegas hotels. "I consider that a great compliment now," he says, "—because the owners know I don't gamble any more."

That's earl, brother.

Teems With Fish

Kenya to Develop Big Lake

NAIROBI, Kenya (UPI) — Various international relief organizations such as Oxfam, the Freedom from Hunger Campaign and the World Health Organization, have conducted surveys of the tribesmen's plight and all have come to the conclusion that exploitation of the lake's fish population is the key to relieving the situation.

The lake stretches through nearly 200 miles of barren country, beginning west of Marsabit and ending inside the Ethiopian border.

It teems with fish and crocodiles, but its potential has never been exploited. Recently, a few tough tourists have trekked to the lake's shore lured by the promise of giant Nile perch.

The perch average around 100 pounds each and have been known to weigh up to 300 pounds. Unlike other lake game fish such as the fighting Tiger Fish of Central Africa, they make excellent eating.

Three factors have encouraged the idea of exploiting Lake Rudolph:

- The few tourists who have made the trip returned enthusiastically.
- The appearance of Nile perch fillets on the Nairobi market has created a demand which only controlled, commercial fishing of the lake can fulfill.
- The tribesmen around Lake Rudolph are on the verge of starvation because they have never learned to fish the lake.

Unlike coastal tribesmen, the Lake natives have never even learned to construct a crude canoe. Droughts have killed off herds but the lake, which could supply their food needs, goes untended.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (AP)

—About 13 ocean-going vessels now in lakes Huron and Erie may not be able to clear the Welland Canal in time to reach Montreal for the official Friday midnight closing of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

A spokesman for the Seaway Authority said Tuesday that 40 ocean-going vessels had yet to clear the Welland Canal.

He said 8 were in the system and should be cleared by today and 18 others waiting at Port Colborne should be cleared Wednesday. But 13 ships still in the upper lakes likely would not beat the official closing.

The spokesman said it takes 48 hours to sail from the Welland Canal to the St. Lambert Lock at Montreal. After the official closing of the St. Lambert lock, the canal will be open on a day-to-day basis depending on the weather.

The Welland Canal will stay open until Dec. 15.

State to Release

150 Prisoners Before Holidays

LANSING (AP) — Prison gates will swing open again this holiday season for some 150 inmates of Michigan's penal institutions.

The State Corrections Commission reports prisoners eligible for discharge or parole by Jan. 9 will be released before Christmas. First releases under the program will start Dec. 13.

The Christmas releases are in addition to the regular paroles of some 300 prison inmates a month.

Santa Arrives Early for Seriously Ill Girl

Santa Claus visited a pretty, brown-haired girl at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday.

He came early, because there is some doubt that 5-year-old Diane VanKleeck will be alive for Christmas.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard VanKleeck of 3184 Warren, Diane has a malignant brain tumor.

Already paralyzed, she has had surgery and cobalt treatments, but doctors hold little hope for her.

Diane's trouble was discovered last July. She was taken to her family physician when her left temple became noticeably swollen.

REFERRED TO SPECIALIST

He referred her to a specialist, and surgery was performed at Pontiac General. It was too late.

Wanting a normal life for her as long as possible, her parents enrolled her in kindergarten at Drayton Plains Elementary in September.

But, as the tumor grew, so did the pain in her back and neck. And so did her despondency. Four weeks after the term began, Diane was forced to drop out of school.

Her parents kept her home for two weeks. But she finally had to be hospitalized.

Three weeks ago, she became paralyzed. It adds much to her discomfort.

She finds ways to amuse herself. She prints her name, plays with dolls and watches television. She likes to get cards.

She gets the constant attention of her family. Mrs. VanKleeck works mornings, but she spends most of her afternoons with Diane. Her father comes to the hospital after work. He's a truck driver for the Oakland County Road Commission.

There are other visitors. Her three sisters, Barbara, 16; Susan, 12; and Beverly, 7, come when they are allowed.

Diane was wearing a red ribbon when Santa came yesterday. But her eyes were red too. And she couldn't smile for him, hard as she tried.

He gave her a doll and promised her lots more at Christmas time. Even Santa tells a little lie now and then.

Accord Ends Long Antitrust Hassle

WASHINGTON (AP) — General Motors Corp. has agreed to loosen its control in the manufacture and sale of buses.

The Justice Department says the company now handles 85 per cent of the nation's intercity transit buses.

The company-government agreement reached yesterday ended an antitrust hassle which began in mid-1956 when the government accused GM of conspiring with four bus operating companies to monopolize the bus market.

The case had been kept from trial for 9½ years because of legal maneuvers. It was scheduled to open later this month.

The settlement was filed in U.S. District Court in Detroit, but announced in Washington by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach.

STILL WILL COMPETE
General Motors Board chairman Frederic G. Donner said the result of the suit would not prevent GM from competing in the field of bus manufacturing.

"General Motors will continue to be a fair and aggressive competitor in the bus market," he said.

"We also will continue to carry on our bus manufacturing and selling activities on the sound basis that has merited the faith and confidence of our customers," he said.

Among the provisions: GM will allow other manufacturers to use all of its current bus patents without royalty payments.

LIMITS ROYALTIES
On patents developed in the next five years, GM will charge no royalties during the first five years of their use.

All bus patents developed by GM in the next 10 years will (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

LBJ Seeks to Curb Future Price Hikes

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson, concerned about record living costs rising at a close-to-inflation rate, plans an early meeting with key economic advisers to map a federal campaign against further hikes in price tags.

Johnson is expected to meet within the next week or 10 days, with Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, Budget Director Charles L. Schultze, Chairman William McChesney Martin of the Federal Reserve Board and Chairman Gardner Ackley of his Council of Economic Advisers.

Tavern License Plan Rejected

City Vote Is 5-2 on Upgrading Proposal

Adoption of a plan for the upgrading of tavern licenses in Pontiac was rejected last night by the seven-man City Commission.

The commission voted 5-2 not to adopt an upgrading plan recommended by a five-man citizens committee.

Voting for the upgrading were Commissioners Robert C. Irwin and Leslie H. Hudson.

Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., who originated the upgrading study committee, joined the vote against the plan.

Upgrading, which would elevate taverns to Class C status, was placed before the commission last night by a petition from 10 local tavern owners.

STUDY COMMITTEE
Tavern owners petitioned the commission to act on the plan a study committee headed by Philip Sauer, downtown restaurant owner.

The committee set certain standards for upgrading and stipulated that only three licenses should be elevated each year.

Two commission votes were tallied last night, and there was nearly a third vote that would have asked for upgrading of all tavern licenses.

In addition to the 5-2 vote against the adoption of the recommended plan, there was a 4-3 vote against tabling the third motion for total upgrading. The third motion was eventually withdrawn by its sponsor, District Commissioner Hudson.

Voting against tabling were (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

By Hypodermic Needle
'Can Transfer Knowledge'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Knowledge stored in the brain can be transmitted by hypodermic needle from one species to another.

This is not a tale of mad scientists. Nor does it carry the implication that a chimpanzee, for example, could be transfused by a jab in the biceps into a candidate for membership in the learned societies of the world.

The conclusion that learning can be transferred between species, by injection of a substance manufactured in the brain was reported with all appropriate sobriety today in the proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences.

Experiments leading to this conclusion were performed by Frank R. Babich, Allan L. Jacobson and Suzanne Bush of the University of California at Los Angeles.

They trained some hamsters to grab a pellet of food from a box whenever the little creatures heard a certain click.

Then the researchers "sacrificed" the hamsters and extracted from their brains a substance known as RNA, or ribonucleic acid.

ABDOMINAL LINING
This they injected into the abdominal lining of some rats, members of a different though admittedly related species, who had never heard of the pellet-click free meal gimmick.

The rats thus injected with hamster brainstuff manifested a suddenly acquired understanding of what to do when a food box clicked — they darted in and grabbed the goodies.

Police Pull Switch, Seek Good Drivers

Instead of singling out bad drivers, as is the rule, Pontiac policemen this month will also be looking for good drivers.

A safe driving award program—with $25 bonds as awards—has been launched by the Pontiac Exchange Club, the traffic safety committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce and the Pontiac Police Department.

During the month of December, patrolmen will cite good drivers along with their regular patrol of bad drivers.

At the end of each week, the safe drivers' names will be reviewed by a four-member committee made up of Lt. Clayton Randolph, director of the traffic bureau for the Pontiac Police Department; City Commissioner Robert C. Irwin; Dean Wilson, driver education instructor, Pontiac Central High School; and Joseph Gaskais of the Exchange Club.

As each driver is stopped, police will ask him for his name and address. These will be turned over to the committee along with a check of the motorist's driving record.

A $25 bond will be awarded each week to the safe driver selected by the committee. A total of four safe driving awards will be made during the month.

Hearings End on Osteopathic School in City

Discussion of Merger, Criticism of Proposed Facility Are Heard

By L. GARY THORNE

The question of amalgamation of medical and osteopathic doctors in Michigan may have to be settled before the osteopathic college proposed for Pontiac receives state financial support.

Discussion of a merger—and severe criticism of the osteopathic college proposal—highlighted two days of public hearings concluded yesterday before the House State Affairs Committee.

The hearings were held at Wayne State University as a preliminary to further consideration of requests for operating funds for the proposed college, to be located on a 164-acre site at Auburn and Opdyke.

Osteopaths yesterday gave details of the proposed college, its curriculum, faculty and cost.

Various spokesmen reiterated that a variety of studies, including one by the U.S. Public Health Service, pointed out the need for more medical education facilities in Michigan.

CORRESPONDING NEEDED
In addition, there exists a corresponding need for more doctors, especially general practitioners or family physicians.

The osteopaths also pointed out that their profession's future doctors now have to go outside of Michigan to obtain their medical education.

A claim by M.D.'s that the vast majority of osteopaths want amalgamation was denied by Dr. J. Vincent Murphy, immediate past president of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOPS).

He maintained it was a misrepresentation of the facts to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Teen Too Lucky: Wins 3 Raffle Cars This Year

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mary Anne Murray has a problem — what to do with the third automobile she has won in a raffle this year.

"We sold the first Caddy and I gave the second to my mother," said Miss Murray, 17-year-old senior at Eden Hall Convent of the Sacred Heart.

"I don't know what we're going to do with the Mustang."

In the past year, Mary Anne said yesterday, she has won two Cadillacs, a Mustang, a $200 hand organ, a $100 gift certificate and several smaller prizes.

Mary Anne, who already has a convertible, said she plans to quit while she's ahead. No more raffle tickets for her.

MAKE OVER PAPER

College Funds May Hinge on Merger

say that 75 per cent of the osteopaths want a merger.

EXPLAINS CHOICE

Dr. Murphy told the House committee why Pontiac was selected as the site for the new college. The college, he said, will be within 30 miles of more than half of the state's population and within an hour's drive of 70 per cent of the state's population.

The former MAOPs president also disputed a Michigan State Medical Society charge that some D.O.'s in the past had been reprimanded for association with M.D.s.

Doctor Offers Some Tips for Patients' Gifts

Dr. Donald W. Martin, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, today issued a suggested Christmas gift list for hospital patients and a procedure for gift giving.

He also pointed out that postage stamps are needed for patients' Christmas cards.

Dr. Martin said all Christmas gifts to patients should be new because of the therapeutic effect.

Gifts should be donated unwrapped and accompanied by wrapping paper and ribbon so employees and volunteers can prepare each present for a patient's individual needs.

All donations should be mailed or brought to Ted A. Panaretos, director of the hospital's community relations department, according to Dr. Martin.

Among suggested gift items for adults are parlor games, puzzles, items of clothing, cigarettes, candy, books, stationery and ball point pens.

Toys, table games, clothing, candy, cookies, educational items and instruction kits are suggested gifts for children.

The hospital's deadline for receiving gifts for patients is Dec. 23.

Dr. Murphy in addition decided the claim that the proposed college would be a duplication of facilities.

"If we provide 100 new physicians, how is that going to duplicate anything?" he asked.

SEVERAL CONSULTANTS

The osteopaths called several consultants before the House including L. W. Mills, director of the office of education of the American Osteopathic Association (AOA).

Mills said that the AOA did not approve of the merger in California, the only state to merge M.D.'s and D.O.'s, and the AOA policy was against merger.

"Amalgamation is the road to the best in health care in Michigan," was the theme sounded by Dr. John J. Coury, representing the MSMS.

A parade of osteopathic doctors and college officials repeated their stand that osteopathy and its practitioners want to remain "separate and distinct."

Representatives of both sides appeared before the 13-member House committee.

Dr. Coury, who opened the morning session yesterday cited the medical society's efforts toward unity of M.D.'s and D.O.'s.

Amalgamation is a firmly set goal of his group, according to Dr. Coury.

Postgraduate education programs and joint hospital staffs were examples listed by the society's spokesman as areas of M.D.-D.O. association.

Construction of the osteopathic college would be an unnecessary duplication of facilities, claimed the Port Huron surgeon.

He indicated that the college's development, particularly with state aid, would discourage unity of M.D.'s and D.O.'s.

Dr. Coury's statement followed testimony Monday by deans from the state's three medical schools. They said the college would be inefficient, expensive and unnecessary.

The House State Affairs Committee voted earlier this fall to keep uncommitted a Senate-passed bill that would have created an osteopathic college authority.

Later consideration no doubt would have followed to provide funds.

In putting the bill on the shelf, the committee agreed to reintroduce it in January.

Hudson, Irwin, Taylor and James H. Marshall.

Tavern owners reiterated their position:

- Taverns are forced unfairly to compete with Class C establishments.
- There is legal business.
- Business is going out of town.
- They handle only 20 per cent of the drinking trade, 80 per cent of the liquor is bought at take-out stores.

Commission discussion was led off by John A. Dugan, who said he was not a "dry" or a "wet."

He labeled the liquor issue a political question dating back at least 10 years.

Dugan repeated his previous suggestion the liquor issue should be submitted to the people for an advisory vote.

'SINCERE'

"The committee was certainly sincere," commented Dugan, "but that doesn't bind me. We get recommendations all the time."

Dugan and Commissioner T. Warren Fowler indicated they had doubts on how three could be upgraded each year.

Commissioner Marshall said that his District 7 did not want any more Class C establishments. Meantime, Commissioner Wesley J. Wood said he was committed to follow the committee's recommendations.

Wood added that a vote of the people may be needed one day on the liquor controversy.

Irwin, who commended the committee for being objective even though some members had personal feelings against liquor, maintained that responsibility for a decision on the question rested with the commission.

Hudson, who said it was time for the commission to give a definite answer, pointed out that the study committee had offered a solution to a long-standing problem "for the betterment of the city."

He countered the "only three per year" arguments by offering the motion for total upgrading.

Dugan immediately moved to table, stating "I'm not going to be trapped by Hudson."

However, the tabling motion, which is not debatable, was voted down. Hudson, who said he offered the former motion to prove a point and was really against total upgrading, then withdrew the motion.

Hudson, whose contention was joined by Irwin, said opposition had been indirect on the upgrading question, rather than direct.

Irwin said the commission appeared to be "grasping at straws" to avoid the issue. He said he did not want total upgrading either. Irwin had seconded Hudson's motion.

Mayor Taylor summed up the commission's position in the liquor controversy. He said that he had indicated earlier the commission was split.

"I don't know what else can be done now," he added.

When the five-man study was submitted, the commission had formally discussed the findings, but took no formal public vote.

Pointing out the state legislature, the tavern owners petitioned for a decision.

FOLLOWED? — "Look who is following me," says Art Hanes (left), defense attorney for KKK member Collie Leroy Wilkins, after winding up in the elevator with Leroy Moton. Moton was in the car with Mrs. Viola Liuzzo when she was fatally shot. Wilkins and two others are on trial in federal court in Montgomery, Ala., on charges of conspiring to deprive Mrs. Liuzzo of her civil rights.

To Call 5 More Witnesses in Case Against Klansmen

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Justice Department calls five more witnesses today before it winds up its case against three Ku Klux Klansmen accused of killing Viola Gregg Liuzzo, a white civil rights worker.

Asst. Atty. Gen. John Doar said the testimony today would be relative to the conspiracy charge against the trio. They are charged specifically with conspiring to violate the civil rights of the Detroit, Mich., mother of five.

The defendants are Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, of Fairfield, Ala.; Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer, Ala. They are represented by former Mayor Arthur Hanes of Birmingham.

Mrs. Liuzzo, wife of Anthony Liuzzo, a Teamsters Union official, was shot to death March 25 after the Selma-to-Montgomery march as she shuttled demonstrators back to Selma.

RIGHTS VIOLATED

Since U. S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. had ruled the march was a right of the demonstrators and could be held, the government gained an indictment that Mrs. Liuzzo's right was, therefore, violated. The indictment, which carries a maximum of 10 years in prison and a $5,000 fine, does not mention Mrs. Liuzzo by name.

The government presented its star witness Tuesday — Gary Thomas Rowe Jr., a former Birmingham bartender who testified he was asked by the FBI to infiltrate the Klan and obtain information.

Rowe, on the stand for 3 hours, repeated testimony he gave twice in state court of how he was with the defendants when their car sped past the

He countered the "only three per year" arguments by offering the motion for total upgrading.

Dugan immediately moved to table, stating "I'm not going to be trapped by Hudson."

However, the tabling motion, which is not debatable, was voted down. Hudson, who said he offered the former motion to prove a point and was really against total upgrading, then withdrew the motion.

Hudson, whose contention was joined by Irwin, said opposition had been indirect on the upgrading question, rather than direct.

Traffic Safety Study Okayed

Birmingham Publisher Heads County Group

The board of directors of the Oakland County Traffic Safety Committee met yesterday at Oakland University, giving formal approval to a just-completed study of the county's traffic safety needs and appointing a chairman for the board's operations committee.

The study, which makes 92 specific recommendations, covers traffic records, police traffic supervision, traffic courts and prosecution, public opinion, traffic engineering, safety and driver education and public information.

James O. Wright, board chairman, described the findings as "a sound, detailed blueprint for action."

"I believe this study is unique," Wright said. "Now we are at the point where active citizen support is needed."

Wright's proposal that Paul N. Averill, publisher of the Birmingham Eclectic, head the newly formed operations committee was unanimously approved by board members present.

PUBLIC AWARENESS

Function of the new committee is to develop public awareness of the study's recommendations.

The seven-area survey was carried out by some 200 Oakland County officials and citizens.

Durward B. Varner, chancellor of Oakland University and a vice chairman of the board, said the study was an "impressive document" of the county's traffic safety needs.

"If Oakland County can't cope with traffic safety better than any other county in America, then there's something wrong with Oakland County," Varner said.

"Most of the brains of the automobile world are right here in this county — and many of them are active on this committee," he said.

Libraries Fail to Agree on Federation Proposal

With one more day until their deadline, the Baldwin and Bloomfield Township public library boards apparently will not establish a cooperative library system.

Their joint meeting last night was relatively lengthy, attracted and unusually large crowd—25 to 30 persons—but produced no resolution of the differences keeping the boards from establishing a federation.

The Bloomfield Township Library Board earlier this month submitted a proposal to form a federation under provisions of a new state law.

A counterproposal, which deleted several provisions of the original one, was offered by the Baldwin Public Library Board.

1970 POPULATION

It is expected that the area included in the system proposal will have a population of 100,000 by 1970.

The second in a series of films on mental health will be shown at 8 p.m. today at Birmingham Psychiatric Medical Associates, Inc., 625 Purdy. The public is invited.

Commentary on the film, "The Feeling of Hostility," will be made by Roger Lindroth, M.Ed., speech pathologist at the clinic. He will discuss how the emotional feelings of anger are often revealed in speech correction problems.

More Snow, Too

November Colder, Wetter

The weatherman had few surprises for the Pontiac area in November.

The month started pleasantly, as November usually do. But heavy clouds appeared on Nov. 6. From then on it got steadily colder, wetter, and more windy.

Compared with November 1964, this November was slightly colder on the average and there was about one more inch of snow and rain. But the temperature did not dip as low this November, and at its height it was slightly higher than a year ago.

The average temperature for November 1965 was 39.2. Last November it was 42.5.

From a summerlike high of 80 in October, November dropped to a not-so-hot 72. Compared with the low of 13 in November 1964, this year's November low was a balmy 24. The total rain and snowfall this November was 3.40 inches. Last November, it was 2.54 inches.

The temperature stayed around the 50 degree mark until about November 9. From then it began to drop.

Berliners to Honor Relatives of Dead GIs

BERLIN (UPI) — West Berlin today began to collect money to give a Christmas present to the families of Americans killed fighting in Viet Nam "in defense of the free world."

The city's eight newspapers printed an appeal for funds which they said would be used to send replicas of the West Berlin "Freedom Bell" to relatives of fallen American servicemen.

The bell in the tower of the West Berlin city hall is a reproduction of the Liberty

Bell in Philadelphia presented to the city by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, postwar American military governor, as a gift of the American people.

The appeal for funds said that, in past Christmases, West Berliners mourned prisoners of war still held in Russia, political prisoners in the Soviet Zone and the families split by the division of Berlin and Germany.

"This year the feast of peace and joy will be overshadowed in not a few American families by mourning for a relation who fell far from home in Viet Nam, who sacrificed his life in defense of the free world against the extension by force of the Communist sphere of power," the appeal said.

'Fire Hose Cut on Death Ship'

MIAMI (UPI) — The staff captain and radio man of the Yarmouth Castle told Coast Guard investigators yesterday of severed fire hoses and broken fire alarms aboard the burning death ship.

Four more crewmen of the ill-fated vessel, which sank Nov. 15 with the loss of 80 lives, were to appear before the Coast Guard Board of Inquiry today.

In another development in the sinking of the Nassau-bound cruise liner, 47 crewmen filed suits totaling $235, 600 against the ship's owners yesterday. Several passengers previously filed suits totaling $8 million against the cruise ship firm.

The crewmen's suits, filed separately, alleged the death ship had insufficient fire hoses, fire alarms and fire-fighting equipment and that it failed to have proper inspections.

Alphonso Martinez, the Yarmouth Castle's chief radio operator, told the three-man Coast Guard board he couldn't send

SMELLED SMOKE

Martinez also told of smelling smoke, tracing it to room 610 cut it with a knife. Menegatos and smashing the glass on a nearby fire alarm box and pulling the alarm lever. But he said the alarm apparently failed to cut clean through.

Staff Capt. Panagiotis Menegatos told the Coast Guard board he and another crewman went to a fire hose outlet on the starboard of the ship and found the hose had been cut in half about eight inches from the hydrant.

"It looked like someone had cut it with a knife," Menegatos said. "We discovered it when we pulled the hose out of its coil on the promenade deck. It was cut clean through."

There were 308,294,000 life insurance policies in the nation in 1964 valued at more than $799.9 billion.

Man Linked to Ancient

By Science Service
DENVER — A possible link between Neanderthal man and modern man has been found deep in Russian soil. Evidence uncovered at the Molodova site in the Ukraine implies that Neanderthal man evolved into anatomically modern man instead of disappearing off the face of the earth. Dr. Richard G. Klein of the University of Chicago and anthropologists attending their 6th annual meeting here.

The evidence is a circle of mammoth animal bones stretching over an eight-by-ten-meter area. Some 27,000 pieces of flint date the site to the time of Neanderthal man, some 50,000 to 70,000 years ago.

Directly above this site are similar bone circles dating from a later age, less than 35,000 years ago, when man had already made his appearance. Post holes in these later sites indicate that modern or Cro-Magnon man would cover a large area, 4 yards in diameter with one single structure.

No post holes can be found at the Neanderthal level, said Dr. Klein. However, the bone circles are like those of later date. It is logical to assume that the early "man" also built structures. If he did, he was far more advanced than scientists have believed, Dr. Klein stated.

SITE RICH IN FINDS
No evidence that Neanderthals built structures has been found elsewhere. The Molodova site, for the first time, offers more than stone tools with which to understand the nature of these man-like animals.

Russian scientists have constructed a "fanciful" duplication of the structure, said the anthropologist. They believe it was semi-circular, constructed of wood and bone, covered by skins.

Dr. Klein will make a second visit to the site this winter. His first visit a year ago provided him with material for a doctoral thesis.

26	27	28	29	30	31

QUESTION OR NO QUESTION, WE MUST HAVE CALENDARS!

QUESTION: Who worked out our present calendar?

ANSWER: Men have long used the time from one full moon to another to measure a month and they have also used from one season to the same time at the next similar season to measure a year.

This can't be done. Julius Caesar, in 46 B.C., ordered a calendar to be used which divided the year into 12 months, some of 30 and some of 31 days, with February having 29 days.

This gave 365 days. The actual solar year, however, had 365 days, 5 hours and 48 minutes. To make up the extra time, Caesar decreed that every fourth or "leap" year, one day was to be added to February. Later, the Emperor Augustus changed February to 28 days, with an extra day in leap year.

With this change, Julius Caesar's system worked fairly well for 1500 years. But since Caesar's year was about 11 minutes and 14 seconds longer than the solar year, the calendar gradually got out of step with the seasons.

In 1582, Pope Gregory XIII corrected Caesar's calendar and drew up the one we still use. He dropped 10 days to make up for the accumulated error, but kept Caesar's general plan.

The error of Caesar's calendar was corrected by adding one extra day to February in years which can be divided by 400, like 1600 and 2000. A yearly error of 26.3 seconds is still left.

Moroccan's Disappearance Will Haunt Havana Anti-Imperialist Meeting

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
A mystery rivaling the disappearance of Cuba's Ernesto Guevara will haunt the hall next month when Fidel Castro plays host to an "anti-imperialist" meeting of anti-United States — meeting of leftists from Asia, Africa and Latin America.

This "tricontinental conference of solidarity" — evidently born in the minds of Arab and North African leftists — aims to promote revolution everywhere in the underdeveloped world, according to advance propaganda. No delegate will be admitted unless he is "anti-imperialist" and consistent in the struggle against imperialism.

The conference faces difficulties spawned by the Soviet-Chinese fight for leadership of world communism. It likely will also be plagued by the baffling mystery of what happened to its original preparatory committee chairman.

El Mahdi Ben Barka, a Moroccan politician twice sentenced to death in absentia for alleged plotting against the Moroccan crown, was the brains behind the conference. He has vanished without a trace.

STORY DEVELOPED

Here is how the story developed:

Last summer, leftists in Arab countries made contact with Castro and Mexican leftist leaders on a proposal to prepare for a tricontinental conference. A Cairo meeting was held in early September.

Castro snapped at the idea. He seemed an opportunity to repel his prestige as a Communist leader. He offered Havana as the site, and the date was set for Jan. 6, to coincide with celebrations marking the seventh anniversary of the Castro takeover in Cuba.

Late in September, Ben Barka arrived in Havana to sign invitations as chairman of the preparatory committee. He talked with Castro, and told the Cuban press the conference should result in "a new global strategy, on the scale of three continents, since North America imperialism has adopted a global strategy in its aggressions."

Ben Barka returned to Paris on Oct. 29, a man who accompanied him to a restaurant reported Ben Barka was shoved into an automobile and spirited away by two men posing as police officers. "L'affaire Ben Barka" roiled relations between France and her former protectorate.

NEW CHAIRMAN

A new preparatory committee chairman was named, Yusuf al-Sibai from the United Arab Republic. In Czechoslovakia, en route to Cuba, Sibai deplored Ben Barka's disappearance, adding that "the peoples of Asia and Africa will not forgive the imperialists and their lackeys if they have committed a crime against Ben Barka."

News Analysis

The "if" is interesting. Usually, leftists do not hesitate to accuse "the imperialists" of all crimes. Castro evidently hopes to make the tricontinental meeting a huge propaganda show in which he will star. In his Sept. 29 speech Castro said the meeting would have "great repercussions." It may, in ways which will not be welcomed by all Communist elements.

DOOMED MEETING

The Soviet-Chinese battle

doomed an attempt to hold an Asian-African summit meeting in Algeria this autumn. The Chinese, would not attend if the Russians were invited, and the Russians insisted on an invitation.

The Havana meeting is a likely new arena for the fight.

The prospect evidently worries the organizers.

The plan had been to invite "anti-imperialist organizations" from 100 nations, about half on the basis of "observers." Ben Barka had urged that all participants "set aside any differences they might have."

The professed aims of the conference should please the Chinese. On the agenda is "intensification of all forms of struggle, including armed struggle of the peoples of the three continents against imperialism, colonialism and neocolonialism led by U.S. imperialism."

That, basically, is the Chinese line.

More Asian Troops

Asked for Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP)—A call for more Asian countries to send troops to South Viet Nam to fight the Communists has come from South Korea's foreign minister, Lee Tong-woon. Lee said Tuesday after talking with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara the size of the free Asian contingents was not important.

Pennsylvania Fire Kills Six Children

QUAKERTOWN, Pa. (AP) — A fire wrecked a wooden house three miles west of this southern Pennsylvania community Tuesday night killing six children.

A seventh child was hospitalized with burns suffered when fire wrecked the home of Chester Allen Sr. in the sub-freezing cold.

Chester Allen Jr., a son, said those killed in the blaze were his brothers, Eric, 1, David, 11, and four foster children cared for by his parents; Jack Jones, 2, Robin Jones 8, Penny Jones 6, and Ronnie Jones 7.

Students Send Sweets to Yanks in Viet Nam

NUERNBERG, Germany (AP) — About 1,000 pounds of homemade cookies and candy are on the way to American soldiers in Viet Nam with Christmas greetings from the students of the U.S. military dependents school in Nuernberg.

An Army spokesman said each of the school's 1,100 students contributed at least a dozen cookies.

Experts Rap Institution

Razing of Ionia State Hospital Backed

LANSING (AP)—A team of medical, legal and financial experts may have pushed Ionia State Hospital a step closer to oblivion Tuesday.

They unanimously recommended the closing of the 80-year-old institution for the criminally insane and the razing of the older buildings so the State Mental Health Department would not be tempted to use them again.

The specialists were witnesses at a House Mental Health Committee hearing on the future of the troubled institution.

They told legislators the hospital had failed to fulfill its purpose of treating the criminally insane, could not possibly hire top personnel because of its isolation and that it was outmoded.

FIVE SUICIDES

The hospital, in which five patients have committed suicide in the past year, has been the subject of two legislative investigations and studies by Aud. Gen. Albert Lee and a medical committee of the Mental Health Department.

"I firmly believe the present function of Ionia State Hospital is outmoded and that better treatment for patients there is available at other state institutions," said Dr. Raymond Waggoner, chairman of the University of Michigan Department of Psychiatry.

Dr. Andrew Watson, U-M associate professor of psychiatry and law and a member of one of the committees studying the hospital, said:

"We were able to find very little of what could be called legitimate treatment at Ionia."

And Dr. Benjamin Jeffries, vice chairman of the Michigan Mental Health Advisory Council, said "It is a baldface lie" to send a patient to Ionia for treatment.

WANT REVISIONS

They also asked the committee to press for major revisions in state commitment laws and to change definitions of insanity now used in the laws.

"The fact that some of the patients are being kept at Ionia at all would make a law-tyer blanch. I think about one-third of the hospital population would go free if they had the services of a good attorney," Watson said, adding:

"A good lawyer could do land office business in writs of habeas corpus because many of the patients are illegally held for treatment."

But most are indigent and cannot afford the services of an attorney.

Watson repeated a medical committee recommendation that the hospital be phased out over a period of two or three years and that a diagnostic center be established in Southeastern Michigan.

EVALUATION IMPORTANT

The center would evaluate each patient referred to the mental institutions by the courts, in order to place them in the proper institutions.

He also suggested that the newer buildings could be converted into a control center for adolescents — an "enlightened containment center."

Several House committee chairmen have suggested that the newer facilities there could be converted into some form of juvenile detention center — to ease the pressure on overcrowded state juvenile facilities.

The Mental Health Department already has begun reducing the population at Ionia through an intensive treatment and evaluation program that has returned patients to the courts or to other institutions for treatment.

Court Decisions Eyed

Crime Survey Planned in 4th District

FENNVILLE (UPI) — A survey on crime and the "extent to which law enforcement has been hampered by recent court decisions," will be undertaken in the seven-county 4th Congressional District, it was announced today.

Edward Hutchinson, 4th District congressman, said Ronald J. Taylor, Benton Township clerk and a member of a St. Joseph law firm, has volunteered to set up and conduct the survey. It will include Allegan, Berrien, Branch, Cass, Hillsdale, St. Joseph and Van Buren counties.

Hutchinson said, "in recent years we have observed startling increases in the crime rate while the machinery of law enforcement has been abstracted by judicial reinterpretation of constitutional provisions."

A member of the House Judiciary Committee, Hutchinson will use results of the survey as a guideline. He said Congress is increasingly concerned over "those unwholesome developments and federal legislation to rectify them may be expected."

The great body of criminal law still is within the power of our states to define and enforce, and law enforcement should remain primarily a state function, he said.

"Nevertheless, the federal courts have weakened both state and federal enforcement procedures and it now falls to Congress to search out ways to strengthen them once more," he said.

Central Zips Past Waterford in Opener

Chiefs Control Boards Against Taller Skippers

PCH Five Pulls Away After Slow Beginning for 81-59 Conquest

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Speedy Pontiac Central outclassed Waterford last night by rolling to a surprisingly easy 81-59 triumph in the basketball opener for both squads.

The outcome was surprising in that the tall, experienced Skippers were tabbed as the team to heat in the Inter-Lakes League race and they went into last night's game favored to trim the Chiefs for the first time.

Instead of a victory, the Skippers suffered their ninth setback in a row in the series with the Chiefs that started in 1957.

The Chiefs simply outlasted the Skippers.

After a slow first quarter during which the Chiefs built up a 14-11 margin, PCH found the range for 23 points to take a 37-20 lead at intermission.

PCH COASTS

The lead zoomed to 60-42 after three quarters and PCH coasted through the final eight minutes.

PCH tossed a tight man-to-man defense at the Skippers early in the game and the losers failed to crack it.

Although the Chiefs gave away several inches in height to the Skippers, they controlled the backboards — posting a 42-26 edge in the rebounding department.

Sparking the Central attack was senior forward Jessie Evans, a 6-2½ jumping jack, who poured in 26 points to lead all scorers. He hauled down 14 rebounds.

Evans was just as good on defense as he held Waterford ace Rick Ziem to 16 points, well under the 21-point average he posted last season.

Helping Evans with the scoring were Jim McClelland (13), Prentice Hill (12) and Ross Ludwick (11).

Guard Dave Kline collected 10 points to pace the Skippers, while teammate Dave Frasier added 12.

PCH coach Fred Zittel used every member of his 11-man squad and 10 of them made the scoring column.

MISCELLANEOUS

Both teams threw the ball away several times in the first quarter, and the Skippers used a couple of Central miscues to take leads of 5-3 and 9-7.

But the Chiefs took charge in the closing moments to move into a small lead and they were never headed.

McClelland picked up seven points and Evans added eight in the second period and the Chiefs opened up a lead that reached 16 points with 3:06 left in the first half.

Waterford whittled away at the lead and cut it to eight at the half, but the Chiefs blew it open with a 23-point third quarter.

Both teams were hampered by fouls in the first half. Waterford center Tony Trzos picked up four personals in the first two quarters and Bob Adair and Farris collected three apiece before intermission. Trzos picked up his fifth with 1:48 left in the game.

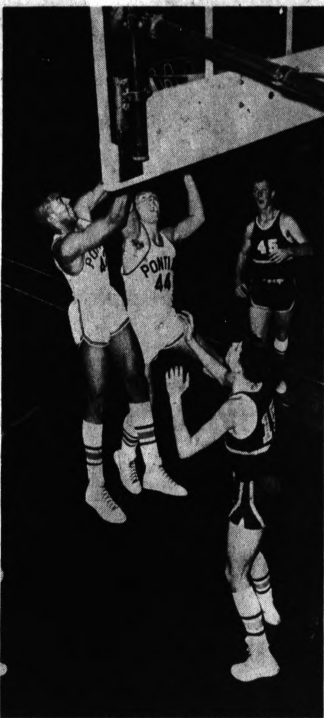

McClelland, a 5-7½ guard, picked up three in the first half and fouled out with 4:24 left in the game.

Hill, who spelled both McClelland and Eddie Pruitt, picked up 10 points in the second half, and his performance indicates that Zittel has some strength on the bench.

REBOUND BATTLE — Pontiac Central's Willie Craft (42) and Ross Ludwick (44) controlled the ball on this play for the Chiefs in second quarter action against Waterford last night. Skippers watching the play are Karl Arrington (15) and Rick Ziem (45).

OLSM Paced by Krogulecki

Good things happen to Orchard Lake St. Mary's basketball squad when it plays St. Francis de Sales.

Back in the 1943-44 season, OLSM won the first meeting between the two, 56-4, and later in the same campaign the Eagles romped, 74-17.

It was in that second game that John Rakoczy, now a priest and coach of the Eagles, set the school scoring record by pouring in 54 points.

Last night, Fr. Rakoczy guided the Eagles to a 71-52 decision over de Sales.

Sparking the Eagles was guard Conrad Krogulecki, who tossed in 30 points, his highest total in a single game in three years with the varsity.

2 Albion Gridders Sign With Steelers

ALBION, Mich. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League signed two Albion College players for "good salaries and bonuses."

Albion coach Morley Fraser said Tuesday, Quarterback Dave Neilson of Pleasant Ridge and tackle Ron Springer of Lansing were the Steelers 19th and 20th draft choices. They were not drafted by an American Football League team.

Ken Stille, director of player personnel for Pittsburgh, signed the two players, Fraser said.

In another game last night, Ortonville opened the season with a 72-67 victory over Waterford Our Lady of Lakes.

The victory was the second in a row for the Eagles and the win over de Sales signaled the opening of the Western North Central League season.

Held to a 12-12 standoff after one quarter, the Eagles, with Krogulecki finding the range, began pulling away and they left the floor at intermission with a 33-23 lead.

Krogulecki picked up 11 points in the second frame and added more in the third as the Eagles outscored the losers, 26-9.

John Stepien scored 13 points and Joe Wojtya added 11 to assist Krogulecki.

COLD SPELL

Waterford OLL suffered a cold spell in the first half and wound up on the short end of a 38-24 lead at halftime.

The Lakers began finding the range in the third and eventually cut the Ortonville lead to three points in the fourth quarter but the winners held on for the decision.

Sophomore Dennis McCulloch, starting his first varsity game, tossed in 24 points, to spark the losers while teammate Doug Springer collected 15.

Wayne Brouseau picked up 21 to lead the Ortonville attack, followed by Barrie Hawley (18), Jim Munsil (14) and Mervin McDowell (10).

Barons Beaten; Northville Wins

Three Wayne-Oakland League quintets picked up non-conference foes last night in opening the basketball season and only one managed to come away with a victory.

Bloomfield Hills led for three quarters but wound up on the losing end of a 64-61 score at Oak Park. Howell dumped Brighton, 72-59, but Northville brought the W-O a victory by trimming South Lyon, 73-45.

Oak Park, down 23-28 at halftime and 46-43 after three quarters, rallied in the fourth frame and gained the lead at 60-58 with just two minutes left in the game.

Oak Park upped the lead to 69-59 with a minute remaining and Hills cut it to 63-61 on a bucket by Dave Robillard, but the winners collected a two-point margin with two seconds remaining to ice the contest.

Ed Holoman poured in 19 points and Rich Goffel added 15 to spark the Oak Park attack.

TOPS HILLS

Paul Augusten picked up 19 markers and Robillard finished with 14 for Hills.

Forward Jerry Immsland tossed in 27 points to lead Northville to the easy win over South Lyon.

The winners held only a 25-32 lead at halftime, but they outscored South Lyon 19-4 in the third and 18-7 in the fourth to turn the game into a rout.

Eric Liddell paced the losers with 12 points.

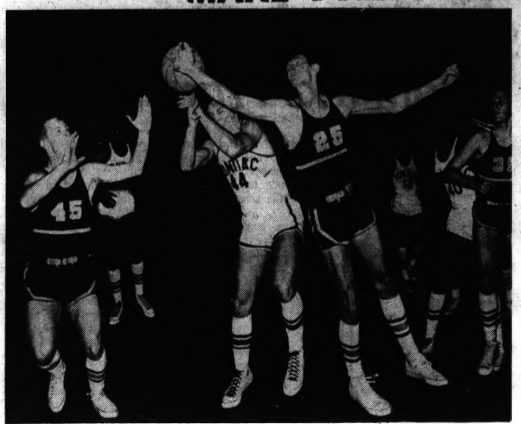

Howell jumped in front of Brighton in the opening quarter, 17-6, and was never in trouble.

Bill Neathamer (24) and Tom Austin (18) sparked the winners.

LEADS LOSERS

Damon Eubank tossed in 24 for Brighton and Rich Musch added 12.

hand is Rick Ziem (45). At right is Randy Bristol (35). It was the basketball opener for both squads and Pontiac Central emerged with an 81-59 triumph.

High Flying Eagles Floundering in NFL

NEW YORK (AP) — Philadelphia ranks second to San Francisco in National Football League statistics for total offense but the Eagles still are struggling along with a 4-7 won-loss record because they have scored only 289 points to 290 by the opposition.

"Our offense has been productive but not productive enough pointwise," said Joe Kuharich, Philadelphia coach.

"We're getting good line play and good pass protection. Norm Snead has made a remarkable comeback. Pete Retzlaff is having a good year."

"What we are looking for is quality and balance so that we can properly mesh our pass and run game. We've been in every game for 50 minutes but we still can't call ourselves successful because we make mistakes at those crucial moments."

The defensive statistics tell part of the Eagles' problems. They rank seventh in total defense and 10th in the vital field of pass defense.

The 49ers show the way in total offense with 4,191 yards and also in passing with 2,713 yards. They also lead the league in scoring with 360 points and in touchdowns with 45.

Cleveland has taken over from Minnesota as the top rushing team with a total of 1,950 yards. Jim Brown has accounted for 1,309.

Detroit, Baltimore and Green Bay, three acknowledged defensive masters, share the lead in the various departments. The Lions are best in total defense, yielding only 2,833 yards. Baltimore has been toughest to run against with only 1,080 yards for the enemy. The Packers, who have been able to remain in the race despite a sagging offense, are first in pass defense, yielding only 1,413 yards against them.

Green Bay also has been stingiest with touchdowns, allowing only 15 scores, eight running and seven passing. They also have yielded the fewest points, 154 points.

The 49ers have done the best job of keeping would-be tacklers off the back of John Brodie with only 144 yards lost in 14 successful enemy raids. Detroit's pass rush has been the most productive. The Lions have smeared the passer 43 times for 369 yards.

The Vols finished second in the Southeastern Conference last season and are given a good chance at the SEC title this season.

RANKED SECOND

The Wolverines were ranked second in preseason polls behind UCLA.

UCLA will not play its first regular game until Friday night against Ohio State, although the Bruins were surprised by the UCLA loss 75-60 in an exhibition last Saturday night.

Low Alcindor, the 7-foot-1 New Yorker hailed as a future star, led the frosh.

The Duke Blue Devils, will unveil a much heralded sophomore in Mike Lewis, against Virginia Tech at Greensboro, N.C. tonight. The St. Joseph Hawks of Philadelphia, play host to Hofstra while Vanderbilt, is at home to Wittenburg.

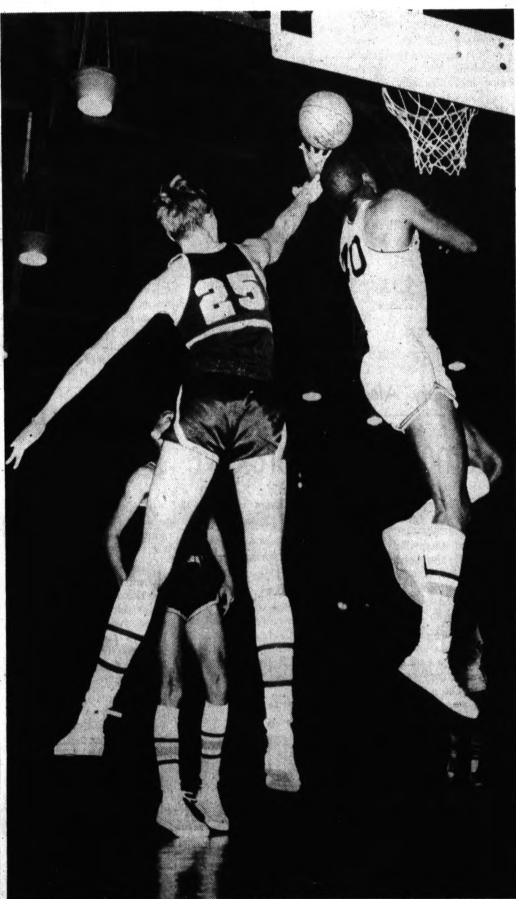

In other games, Minnesota is at home to North Dakota; Kansas entertains Arkansas; Bradley encounters Milwaukee; Wisconsin at Peoria while Kansas is at Creighton.

Ex-Champ Giardello

May Return to Ring

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Joe Giardello, who announced his retirement after losing the middleweight championship to Dick Tiger, may return to the ring to meet contender Joe Archer.

Arnold Giovanetti, adviser to Giardello, said Tuesday the former champ might be interested if promoter Don E. Smith of Pittsburgh slightly increased his $12,000 guarantee.

TWO POINTS — Senior forward Jessie Evans (40) of Pontiac Central outmaneuvered Waterford's Tony Trzos (25) on this second quarter play last night to post two points for the Chiefs. The 6-2½ Evans collected 26 points to spark PCH to an easy victory.

Spartans, Cadets Soccer Opponents

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Pairings for the semifinals of the NCAA College Soccer Championship put Navy against St. Louis and Army against Michigan State at St. Louis Thursday.

The winners will play Saturday afternoon for the title.

St. Louis has won NCAA championships in 1959, 1960, 1962 and 1963 and is unbeaten this season. St. Louis defeated San Francisco 5-2 to gain the semifinals while Navy topped Brown 6-2.

In other quarter-finals Michigan State defeated East Stroudsburg (Pa.) 2-1 and Army beat Trinity (Conn.) 3-1.

Bobby Offers Plan for Latins

Program Would Boost Role in World Affairs

CARACAS (UPI) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., wound up a three-week Latin-American tour here last night by proposing a five-point program to increase the Latin role in world affairs.

Kennedy was leaving for New York today on a KLM Royal Dutch Airlines flight scheduled to arrive at 3:10 p.m. EST.

The meeting at which Kennedy spoke last night was attended by a number of Latin American Communists or by supporters of ousted ex-President Marcos Perez Jimenez — in an unsuccessful attempt to sabotage his speech.

Police arrested two youths "as a precaution," but it was not certain that they were the speech-bombers.

Kennedy's speech went off as scheduled.

"The Latin-American nations have an opportunity and a responsibility to contribute — not only to their own development, but to the drive for economic advancement and human dignity all over the world," he told a group of Venezuelan union leaders.

Kennedy proposed:

1. Establishment of special relationships between Latin-American nations and countries of the developing world "to share experience, to provide technical aid."

2. Independent Latin initiatives "on world-wide concerns from disarmament to the peaceful settlement of disputes in Africa and Asia."

3. "The imaginative creation of new inter-American institutions — to draw the countries of Latin America closer together — to add force and weight to their acts in the world arena."

He suggested the establishment of hemisphere-wide universities and joint research projects in tropical agriculture as steps in this direction.

4. Greater Latin participation in the councils of the West "in sincere and determined effort to draw upon their wisdom in advance of crisis and action — continuing discussion of peace, from Southeast Asia to Berlin."

5. "The countries of Latin America should further their own direct relationships with the countries of Europe — at every level of technical, economic and cultural cooperation."
