Mazey Defends UAW Tactics

Witness in Renda Suit Says Only Intent Was to Solve Reuther Shootings

DETROIT (U.P.) — Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the United Auto Workers, yesterday defended the union's tactics in attempting to solve the 1948 shooting of UAW President Walter P. Reuther.

Mazey, testifying at the circuit court trial of a 4½-million-dollar damage suit against the union, said:

"We weren't dealing with Sunday school teachers. People who are involved in murders never teach Sunday school."

Mazey was on the stand for the second full day in the trial of the suit brought by Carl Renda against the UAW, the Wayne County prosecutor's office, city and state police.

Renda based the suit on a claim of false prosecution in the attempt made on the life of Reuther. He was accused of conspiracy in 1954 on a statement made by Donald Ritchie of Windsor, Ont. But the charge was dropped when Ritchie repudiated his statement naming Renda and four others as the assassins.

Questioned by Renda's attorney, Mazey said the union agreed to pay $25,000 to Ritchie's common-law wife if "he was knocked off by the mob."

Mazey said the arrangement was kept a secret "because we were afraid of a plant in the organization."

"Our only intent," Mazey said, "was to solve the shootings of Victor and Walter Reuther."

Walter P. Reuther and his brother, Victor, were shot and wounded by unknown assailants in separate attempts on their lives. Victor Reuther was shot in 1949. Both recovered from their wounds.

Mazey said, "We have long felt that Reuther's assassins were members of the underworld." He added that when Ritchie "told us he was in the car the night of the shooting (of Walter Reuther) and could finger the assassins, we believed him."

Is there any standard form for government weather forecasts? Is it true that these forecasts sometimes dodge the issue of predicting the weather?

There is no standard form for weather forecasts, as printed in the nation's newspapers, which requires a guess on all of the points of interest to the average reader. One day the forecast might mention winds, or on another day the forecast might skip the precipitation question, forecasting only clouds. These "hedgies" usually mean the forecasters are uncertain about coming weather.

Critics claim the official forecasters should attempt to cover all points of interest in all forecasts, even if they are often wrong. The idea is that they would be right more than wrong and this would be of some benefit.

OTHER MISSILES WAIT

Cape Canaveral is teeming with test missiles—Army Jupiters, Air Force Thoras and Snarks, assorted Navy weapons — awaiting firing schedules. Fitting them in has become a Herculean task for this overworked, overcrowded center.

At Cambridge, Mass., the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory announced that the 6.4-inch, 3½-pound test sphere, once it has entered an orbit, will be known officially as "1957 Gamma" for the third letter of the Greek alphabet.

The name would signify that this was the third man-made moon-of-the-year. If the Soviets

President Plans Long Weekend in Gettysburg

WASHINGTON (U.P.) — President Eisenhower, "feeling fine" after two busy days of conferences, hopes to travel to his farm at Gettysburg, Pa., today for a long weekend of rest, weather permitting.

Yesterday, for the second day in a row, the President put in several hours conferring with congressional leaders regarding the administration's 1958 legislative program.

The leaders reported him looking well and said they noticed no evidence of the slight stroke he suffered Nov. 25. At the end of the day, the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, sent word to reporters that the President was "feeling fine."

The President's doctors have ordered him to take it easy for several weeks, but his work load the last couple of days has been just about what it was before he was stricken.

100 Commuters Die in Train Wreck

this morning finally removed the train above.

The two trains piled up and an overhead bridge smashed down on them early last night in near-zero visibility at a southeast London railway junction.

The two wrecked trains were carrying about 2,000 commuters and Christmas shoppers bound for the suburban town of Hayes and the English Channel towns of Folkestone and Deal, 50 miles to the southeast.

Trains were not operating on schedule because of the thickest fog in recent years which enveloped Britain and parts of the Continent for two days.

The disarranged timetable and lack of visibility were blamed by some for the wreck; but railway officials declined to speculate before a full inquiry.

It was the worst train wreck in Britain since 112 persons died Oct. 8, 1953, in a three-train pileup at the suburban London station of Harrow.

Snow on His Own Road Strands Turnpike Boss

READING, Pa. (U.P.) — The acting chairman of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, Joseph J. Lawler, was stranded in a snowdrift on his superhighway last night.

Lawler, who announced recently that the turnpike is ready for a snowy winter, was driving to Albany, N. Y., for a meeting with officials of the New York State Turnpike.

The subject of their discussion is to be "Snow Removal." Lawler made his way to a turnpike maintenance building and reported his plight. He moved on after the toll road was cleared.

Wife Is Better Late Than Gone With $100

FRESNO, Calif. (U.P.) — Arnold Yerger walked into the police station and reported his wife Valerie missing.

He described her as 23; 5 feet 2; 116 pounds; and blonde.

"And she had about $100 when I last saw her."

"When was that?"

"Oh, May 2," Yerger replied.

"She is the shock absorber for the whole family. A physically fit woman will absorb all the problems and crises of the day and remain relatively calm and serene."

"One who doesn't keep fit will be tense and brittle-tempered although she may be mentally efficient. Her tenseness will transmit itself to the rest of the family."

GMC Truck, Coach Comptroller Named

Appointment of Robert L. Ganter as comptroller of the GMC Truck and Coach Division was announced today by Philip J. Monaghan, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the division.

Ganter, formerly comptroller of the Delco Appliance Division, Rochester, N. Y., succeeds Vincent P. Blair, named yesterday as general manager of Delco Products Division in Dayton.

Ganter is 43 years old and has 21 years of service with General Motors. He was graduated from Ohio State University in 1936 with a degree in business administration and then joined GM as a clerk in the cost department of the Fisher Body Division in Detroit.

In 1941 he was transferred to the Torndell Division where he supervised the cost and financial analysis department.

In 1944 Ganter was made a member of the comptroller's staff in General Motors central office. In 1952 he became director of the operations analysis section and two years later was named director of the cost analysis section. He assumed his recent duties at Delco Appliance three years ago.

Hoffa, Beck Feel Squeeze of 3 Trials

Theodore G. Daley, 29, secretary-treasurer of Yonkers Local 445, is a witness for 13 dissident Teamster members from the New York City area. These 13 are contesting Hoffa's right to the union presidency on the that of other international union officers was rigged.

Federal District Judge F. Dickinson Letts, who has temporarily barred Hoffa and the other officers from taking their posts until the present case is completed, is hearing the evidence without a jury.

'RELAYED SIGNALS' Daley, a truck driver living in Wappingers Falls, N. Y., testified that "four or five men" were in each aisle of the convention hall to relay Hoffa's signals to the delegates.

The State of Washington prepared today to call a truck driver for testimony it hopes will be instrumental in convicting Teamsters President Dave Beck Sr. of grand larceny.

The witness is Martin Duffy, member of the Teamsters Union and the man who purchased a union-owned Cadillac with $1,900 Beck is accused of pocketing.

Duffy is one of a list of 21 witnesses named by the state. Deputy Prosecutor Charles Z. Smith said he hopes to call Duffy today and considers the Teamster a key witness.

City Planners Set Date for Rezoning Hearing

The City Planning Commission set Jan. 8 as a public hearing date for a proposal to rezone a lot on the south side of Ypsilanti avenue from Residential 1 to Commercial 1.

City Planner Henry C. Smith said the proposal is to allow a chain grocery supermarket and four other stores to build on the 242 by 450-foot lot west of Baldwin avenue.

Smith said residents within 500 feet of the proposed rezoning would be notified by mail of the January hearing.

28 Years as Policeman Concluding for Lt. Timm

BIRMINGHAM (U.P.) — A 28-year career as a Birmingham policeman will end Dec. 20 with the retirement of Lt. Henry Timm, Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley revealed today.

Timm, 59, became a member of the force in 1929. He has been especially active with children and was named to head the juvenile division when it was organized seven years ago.

Timm has become well known to all of the youngsters through his traffic safety programs in the schools. He has helped organize many bicycle campaigns, including the check for mechanical performance and the briefing of riders in safety practices.

Lt. Timm and his wife, Gladys, plan to leave their home at 1275 Cedar St. the day after his retirement for Bradenton, Fla. After the completion of their new home there, Timm has indicated that he will begin working again.

Under the direction of Kent McDonald, organist and choir master of St. James Episcopal Church, the Women's Auxiliary will present Nioma Sherman, soprano, and the boys' and girls' choirs in a public Christmas concert.

The affair will be held in the church Undercroft at 2 p.m. followed by a tea an hour later.

Several hundred subway passengers were stranded on a wind-swept trestle over New York's Jamaica Bay as trains stalled on an overwater section of track where snow and ice knocked out power. Some passengers had to wait three hours.

Connecticut officials warned motorists to stay off the Merritt Parkway. Pennsylvania completely closed sections of its turnpike. Speed limits on the New Jersey Turnpike and the New York State Thruway were cut from the normal 60 m.p.h. to 35 m.p.h.

Thousands of autos were stalled throughout the affected region. In Rockland County, N. Y., cars stuck in the snow were backed up as far as seven miles. Westchester County, N.Y., police also reported 1,000 cars abandoned.

Motels and roadside rooming houses were filled by stranded motorists while thousands of others spent last night in their cars waiting for road crew help. Others left their autos for nearby diners.

Tunnel and bridge approaches were kept open only by repeated sanding.

Schools in many areas were closed or the pupils sent home early. New York's 5 p.m. rush hour began an hour earlier as offices closed to give employees more time to get home. In Washington, D. C., thousands of government workers also were sent home an hour before normal quitting time.

At least two persons died in Maryland traffic accidents caused by icy highways.

At Middletown, N. J., Mrs. Thomas Sherank of New Monmouth, N. J., was killed when she slipped and fell into the path of a Jersey Central train as it pulled into the station.

Michael Mangano, 49, Brooklyn, dropped dead while shoveling snow in front of his home.

Mario Albano, 50, Bedford Village, N.Y., was found dead in his stalled auto on the Saw Mill Parkway in Westchester County. Police attributed the death to a heart attack.

Santa Shuns All Publicity

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood, where everything is supposed to be make-believe, has a real, live Santa Claus who has brought Christmas cheer to thousands of persons throughout the country.

He has another name and another identity, but to those startled persons who find checks signed "Santa Claus" in their mail boxes each Christmas, he's the genuine article, right down to the last whisker and the last jolly laugh.

For the 10 years during which he has conducted his one-man gift-giving campaign, Hollywood's Santa has zealously guarded the secret of his identity. A few years ago, however, a writer tracked him down and found behind the white beard and the rumpled red suit a trim, youngish radio executive with a big salary and a novel idea of how it should be spent.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

He got the idea back in 1947 when he was staying at a hotel and by mistake received a telephone call intended for a famous movie actor in another room. The caller was a woman who said her daughter was dying and had made a last wish for a puppy. She had seen one that cost $25. Would he give her the money?

He did, and the child recovered.

"That really started me thinking," he recalled later. "I saw for the first time how much good you could do with a few well-placed dollars."

In the decade since then, Santa has sent checks ranging from $20 to $500 to nearly 3,000 persons, most of them what he calls "pressure cases."

"They're people with specific needs," he says. "When you take care of these needs, you put them back in operating condition."

And so each year the checks go out, usually accompanied by a note specifying what the money is for—a wheelchair for a cripple, a typewriter for an invalid who wants to be a writer, a train ticket to reunite families.

He has friends in all parts of the country helping him find the most deserving cases. And he has set up a corporation to handle the distribution of funds, with "Santa Claus" as the official check signer.

SPREADS THE WORD

Besides doing good with his dollars, he has another major aim—trying to get others to follow his lead. With each check goes a letter telling of the joy of giving which the recipient is asked to copy and send to "a few outstanding men with big hearts in your town."

That's an apt description of Hollywood's Santa—an outstanding man with a big heart.

"People might misunderstand if I used my own name," he said once in explaining his reluctance to disclose his identity. "In this town they'd think it was all a publicity stunt."

Car Colors an Index?

NEW YORK—White is today's favorite in car colors, according to the publication, Product Engineering. In 1954 blue was most popular, accounting for 30 per cent of sales.

One automotive company says blue seems to rise in popularity as the stock market rises; white may be an index of instability, while black, green and gray advance as the markets drop.

Aging Is a Challenge to Face Personally

By RAY HENRY

The interests of older people haven't changed much over the years.

At least, that's the view of Dr. Leo W. Simmons, Yale University professor, who has spent a large part of his 60 years studying the aging of people.

He has studied it through the eyes of people who've recorded it for thousands of years and through his own experience and observations.

From his studies, he has concluded that the basic interests of older people seem to have always been:

—To live as long as possible or until the advantages of death outweigh the burdens of life.

—To get more rest and, thus, to protect and preserve waning physical energies.

—To stay active in group affairs, any such activity being preferable to idleness and indifference.

—To protect and even add to their skills, possessions, rights, authority, prestige, etc.

—To die as honorably and comfortably as possible with the best prospects of an attractive hereafter.

But, Simmons also has concluded, how to satisfy these has always been complicated. The efforts have met with varying degrees of success.

Indeed, he says, it seems that every conceivable way has been tried by people somewhere, sometime to enrich and round off the last years of life.

PROBLEMS INCREASE

The search still continues with the problems of old age greater than ever before, mainly because the world has never before had such a high proportion of people living on what has been called borrowed time.

In fact, civilization has created more problems for the aged, according to Simmons, than it has solved. Now we insure more and more life with less and less in it.

The challenge of today and of civilization, he feels, is to find new ways to put interest and zest in aging and for the aged.

There are some lessons to be learned from the past that Simmons thinks may give some insights for dealing with the future. First, aging can be good or bad, and when it is good it generally is more an achievement than a gift.

Thus, a secret for success for most people facing old age is to find for themselves places in society in which they can age with activity and satisfaction and to continue to be active up to as near the end as possible. Aging must be gamy to the end to be very good.

Second, aging has become a complicated and challenging thing to face personally.

To meet the challenge successfully is somewhat like riding a bicycle—to stop is to go down.

And, people must guard against comparing and choosing between old age and youth. The choice, really, is between aging and dying. It's also a mistake to regard aging primarily as a time of resting. "Old age, for rest," is only a half truth at best. The efforts and plans of life had better go on.

Third, among all peoples a point is reached in aging where any further usefulness appears to be over and the aged person is regarded as a living liability.

Thus, whether life can be good to the last drop, really depends on when and how we drop.

Blaze Destroys Storage Tanks

Louisiana Oil Co. Sees Million Dollar Loss; One Worker Missing

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Fire fighters today battled to restrain a raging fire that destroyed seven storage tanks containing more than a million gallons of gasoline and left one refinery worker missing and presumed dead.

Officials at the Ingram Oil and Refining Co. plant in suburban St. Bernard Parish (county) estimated damage would total more than a million dollars.

The fire was brought under semicontrol late last night when five plant workers dashed into the center of the blazing oil field to close a valve spewing raw gasoline into the flames.

A supply of a fire-fighting chemical was flown in from industrial and military centers in neighboring states. The chemical was shot on the blazing tanks through fire hoses at the rate of about 18,000 gallons per hour.

The missing man was identified as William Welch, company pumper and gauger.

Company chemist Alden Fredrickson said the fire started with the cave-in of a 14,000 barrel blending tank containing about 13,000 gallons of gasoline.

The smoke was visible for miles. Families were evacuated from 24 nearby houses.

F. B. Ingram, vice president in charge of the plant, credited the action of the five men in closing the valve as the turning point. He said it was difficult to control the blaze because the tanks were connected in the refining process and products flow from one to the other.

Israelis Slate Truck Convoy

U.N. Secretary General Works Out Agreement With Jordan

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel scheduled a truck convoy to carry gasoline and other supplies to Mt. Scopus today under an agreement with Jordan worked out by U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to end a two-week dispute.

A joint U.N.-Israeli communiqué issued after four days of talks by Hammarskjöld here and in Amman merely said convoys to the Israeli enclave inside Jordanian territory would be resumed today. It did not mention gasoline.

An Israeli government spokesman said nine drums of gasoline would be on the trucks. An official in Amman said the convoy would be searched by Jordanian military authorities.

The Jordanian spokesman said, "The convoy will carry supplies approved by the Jordan authorities only." He would not say if that included gasoline.

Hammarskjöld planned to fly on to Damascus for a 24-hour visit. He will talk with Syrian officials about Syrian-Israeli border tension before passing through Beirut Friday on his way back to U.N. headquarters in New York.

The secretary general flew to the Middle East last weekend after Jordan refused to pass a gasoline shipment to Israelis stationed on Mt. Scopus.

Mt. Scopus is a 900-by-400 foot ridge east of the Old City of Jerusalem. Two weeks ago Jordan turned back one of the regular Israeli convoys to an Israeli caretaker unit guarding a university and library on the hill.

Woman Prisoner Pleads Guilty to Quit Tubless Jail

CONNEVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A woman prisoner who insists she's innocent has pleaded guilty to forgery and asked to be sent to prison because there is no bathtub for women prisoners in the Fayette County jail.

The grand jury cited the case in recommending that the jail be improved or a new one be built. Sheriff Lester Enoch said there is no bathtub in the three-cell women's section.

The unidentified woman's bid for sentence and bath failed. The judge refused to accept the guilty plea because he felt it was not freely made.

Mad Plaid Skirt Must for Girls

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

One really mad plaid skirt is a must for girls getting back to the classroom grind. A pet of this season is that old favorite, the Hudson Bay blanket, with its fleecy surface, strong colors and giant plaids.

For smart girls who sew their own, local sewing center experts suggest taking a look at some of the new fabrics in piece goods departments. Hudson Bay designs are now available in sanforized cotton, which can be washed with no fear of shrinkage. This new cotton has a fleecy surface which looks much like the warm and wooly blanket originals.

A bold plaid such as this is most effective in a full, gored skirt. For amateur seamstresses here are a few sewing tips: Remember that when sewing a napped fabric, all the nap must run in the same direction. The nap on skirts should run down. Lay out pattern carefully, with all nap in the right direction, and match plaid carefully at seams.

On a full skirt such as this, a narrow hem is best. Hang skirt for a day or so before hemming, so any stretch resulting from the bias cut will hang out. Then mark and cut hem. Sew bias seam binding along edge of hem and turn up not more than an inch of fabric. Blind stitch in place.

Select a trim sweater picking up one of the colors of the plaid to complete the costume. If you wish, you may add a wide belt to emphasize the fullness of the skirt and the trimness of your waistline.

Music-Loving Margaret Gets Honor Degree

LONDON (INS) — A solemn-faced Princess Margaret was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of music yesterday for her devotion to things musical, "from Mozart to calypso, from opera to the songs of Miss Beatrice Lillie."

Queen Mother Elizabeth, chancellor of London University, placed the white academic hood about the shoulders of her jazz-loving daughter.

Margaret curtsied deeply and listened attentively as the university's public orator, Prof. J. R. Sutherland, joined other speakers in extolling her devotion to music.

The official citation described Margaret as "a connoisseur of music and a performer, though alas! in private, of skill and distinction."

Sutherland declared: "It is in music that she finds her greatest satisfaction and delight. Her taste is catholic, ranging from Mozart to calypso, from opera to the songs of Miss Beatrice Lillie."

The academic honor was the first Margaret has received and the first the Queen Mother has conferred on one of her daughters.

PEAR 'N CHEESE PIE—For a happy ending to your Thanksgiving dinner, bring forth this superb Pear 'n Cheese Pie. With this gala treat you may well establish a new tradition at your house. For here's a dessert that's rich-tasting and luscious to eat, yet light and easy on the calories.

Holiday Menu Features Light Fruit-Cheese Pie

This unusual Pear 'n Cheese Pie will remind you of a rich cheese-cake in flavor, although it's much lighter in texture. Skim milk cottage cheese and gelatin help to keep it light, and the non-caloric sweetener, sucaryl, gives it its lovely sweet flavor. Just by using this sweetener rather than sugar, 72 calories have been whittled from each delicious serving.

Pastry has been purposely omitted. You just don't miss it. A light scattering of toasted shredded coconut makes an agreeable topping. If you so wish.

Since your kitchen is sure to be a hubbub of activity on Thanksgiving morning, plan to make this pie the day ahead. You can keep it in the refrigerator until serving time. Here's the good and easy recipe:

PEAR 'N CHEESE PIE (Low-Calorie)

- 1 envelope gelatin
- 1/2 cup cold water
- 2 eggs, separated
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 4 teaspoons sucaryl solution or 32 sucaryl tablets
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1 pound cottage cheese (skim milk)
- 1 cup sliced fresh pears

Soften gelatin in cold water. Beat egg yolks in top of double boiler; stir in lemon juice, lemon rind, sucaryl and salt. Cook over boiling water until thick; add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat and add cottage cheese and pears. Refrigerate until thick and syrupy.

Brown Onion and Ham in Oil to Top Spinach

Here's the way to give spinach brand-new flavor. First add 2 tablespoons olive oil to a pan, then saute in the oil 1 tablespoon finely-chopped onion and 1 tablespoon finely-chopped ham. Add this to hot spinach which has been cooked, drained and chopped, along with 1 tablespoon vinegar and 6 to 8 almonds or brazil nuts, chopped fine. This makes dressing enough for 1 pound of fresh spinach or 1 box of frozen spinach.

Beat egg whites until stiff; fold into thickened gelatin mixture. Turn into a 9-inch pie plate and refrigerate until ready to serve. If desired, garnish with toasted coconut.

Makes 8 servings. Each serving contains 103 calories; 14.6 grams protein; 2.4 grams fat; 5.3 grams carbohydrate.

Foamy Drink Climaxes Party

Sleigh rides they're called, and sleigh rides they are—the perfect holiday beverage for a teenage get-together! A mouth-watering blend of all their favorites—real chocolate, rich coffee, whipped cream and festive candy canes—these mugs-of-foam are enough to warm old Scrooge's heart.

Sleigh rides can be dressed up with candy can stirrers and, with a bit of tangy fruit cake, you have the ingredients for a winter-time party. And, your youngsters will tell you, you've already paved the way to a "real cool Yule!"

Sleigh Rides

- 4 squares (4 oz.) unsweetened chocolate
- 1/2 cup strong, hot coffee
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon vanilla
- 2 cups heavy cream, divided
- Red sugar
- Candy canes

Melt chocolate over hot water and add hot coffee and sugar. Stir until sugar dissolves. Remove from heat and add vanilla. Pour 1 1/2 cups heavy cream into a bowl, add hot coffee mixture and beat with rotary beater until very foamy. Pour into mugs.

Whip remaining cream and top each mug with a spoonful. Sprinkle with red sugar. Use one candy cane in each mug as a decorative and flavorful stirrer. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

When a recipe calls for food being cut julienne-style, cut it into match-size strips.

Oyster Gumbo Calls for Okra

Stews, chowders, bisques, soups are honored 'round the world because they are savory, relatively inexpensive and—when made properly—full of nutrients necessary to a feeling of well-being. With the wide distribution of a great variety of canned and frozen foods, Americans have adopted soups of other lands, and by same token stews and soups peculiar to certain regions are jumping boundaries.

Gumbos, for example, which used to be the South's very own because okra grows south of the Mason-Dixon line, are now becoming popular throughout the United States with the availability of canned and frozen okra. And now that the oyster season is in full swing, the National Fisheries Institute has developed this gumbo recipe for a hearty main dish.

Oyster Gumbo

- 3 dozen oysters
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 2 large onions, chopped
- 2 green peppers, chopped
- 2 lbs. 2 cans tomatoes and okra
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1 bay leaf
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup hot cooked rice

Drain oysters; reserving liquor. Cook slowly in 1/4 cup butter until edges curl, about 3 minutes. Set aside, but keep warm. Meanwhile, melt remainder of butter in saucepan. Add onions and peppers and cook until tender, stirring frequently. Stir in canned tomatoes and okra and seasonings. Cook over low heat at least 15 minutes.

Overcooking doesn't hurt a gumbo so long as the oysters haven't been added. Before serving time, add oysters and rice to gumbo. Cook until oysters are heated through. Makes 5 to 6 generous servings.

Quick Chocolate Drink

For a quart of hot chocolate, heat a quart of milk to the scalding point, then stir in 4 tablespoons fortified chocolate flavored syrup. Pour into cups or mugs and top with marshmallows, if desired.

Pork and Poultry Get Top Priority This Week

How do you decide the foods you will buy for the family? Will you choose the same foods week to week, simply because you have developed eating habits of having certain dishes on certain days. The wise food shopper will study seasonal trends and food supplies says the MSU Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawler. Supplies and customer demand for different foods create price changes. If the amount you spend is important to you, study the market situation before making a shopping list.

This is the time to give pork and poultry priority on the meat list. Larger citrus supplies make the daily selection of Vitamin C easy and economical. Fresh, canned and frozen vegetables provide many choices at a price range to fit any food budget.

MEATS—Fryer supplies are expected to be about ten per cent larger than last December. Since there is less demand for fryers in winter, you can expect to find prices low this month.

Fryers may vary as much as 15 cents a pound from store to store. This is due to differences in size, finish and whether the birds are whole or cut up. The meatier roasting or stewing chickens may be your choice for the same price per pound as some fryers.

More than half the nation's pigs are born in the spring. After a six month period, these have grown to pork chop size and are ready for the fall-winter market. This larger supply of pork, (reaching a peak in early December), brings a price that is naturally pleasure-to-the-purse.

Pork loin cuts, bacon and sausage are in the limelight this week. The loin is divided into three pieces—the rib-end roast or chops, center cut chops or roast, and the loin-end roast or chops.

Pork at home should be loosely wrapped in wax paper and stored in the coldest part of the refrigerator. The best rule is to use it within three or four days. According to the American Meat Institute fresh pork stored in the freezer should be used within 3 to 4 months.

You will find some stores selling hindquarter beef cuts at about ten cents a pound less than last week. Round steak for cooking with moist heat and broiling steaks are cuts to check.

If you are trying to cut meat costs, let variety meats come to your rescue. Most range from 5 to 10 cents a serving and yield 4 to 5 servings per pound. Special emphasis is being given liver, the most popular variety meat.

PRODUCE—Because supplies are getting larger, you will notice a price change in citrus. Both Florida and Texas have more oranges than last year. In December, Florida markets mostly Hamlin and Parson Brown varieties. The first car of Temple oranges has arrived.

December is the peak month for tangerines with more than a third of the annual total coming to market. Supplies are slightly smaller than a year ago.

Grapefruit are sweeter than last month. Let your hand and eyes and vegetables are offered as specials this week. If your supply of peas, corn, applesauce, peaches, fruit cocktail, apricots or beans needs replenishing you may want to check these when shopping.

Fresh sweet corn is selling at summer-like prices. Quality varies from fair to excellent. Cucumber quality is excellent. The lettuce supply is heavy; heads are generally large and of good to excellent quality.

Liquid Smoke Seasons Oven Barbecued Bird

For oven barbecued smoke turkey—no need stuff the bird; just brush the cavity and outside well with liquid smoke seasoning; let stand overnight; and just before you put turkey in oven, brush again with liquid smoke.

As the bird cooks, baste frequently with drippings. If stronger smoke flavor is desired, add 2 are done.

tablespoons to drippings. Buy liquid smoke seasoning from your food store.

Broil Sugared Pineapple

Broil some drained canned pineapple slices to serve with broiled lamb chops. The pineapple should be sprinkled with sugar and drizzled with melted butter or margarine before going under the broiler shortly before the chops are done.

He is Arden Crance, a 17-year-old senior from Parma High School, an honor student and a brilliant two-way player on the football field. Crance lost his left hand in a corn picker shortly after the 1956 season but insisted on the playing football in his final year.
