Traffic Deaths Total 5 So Far in Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan's highway fatality count was surprisingly low as the long Memorial Day weekend neared the half-way point.

Thus far over the 78-hour holiday only five traffic deaths were reported despite crowded highways.

In addition three persons drowned and two persons died in miscellaneous accidents.

However, dead on the nation's highways piled up on schedule today and brought renewed pleas from safety officials as the three-day Memorial Day weekend moved toward the half-way mark.

As the first day of the 78-hour weekend ended, safety experts were cautiously optimistic that the first long holiday of the summer might take a slightly lesser toll than the 350 predicted.

National Holiday Toll

Traffic	124
Drowning	42
Miscellaneous	23
Total	189

However, Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, noted today the figure was running about on schedule, if not slightly higher than earlier estimates.

The toll ran close to the pace which ended up as a record for a three-day Memorial Day weekend in 1955 when 369 died in traffic pile ups.

Warm temperatures in Michigan sent thousands flocking to state parks, beaches and resorts.

Traffic across the new Straits of Mackinac Bridge was running far ahead of ferry boat traffic across the straits over the Memorial Day holiday last year.

Bridge officials estimated 10,.

Break Deadlock - UAW Hoping

Chrysler, Ford, Union Refusing to Budge as Time Slips Away

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union sought to break deadlocked negotiations with Ford and Chrysler today while completing plans for some 300,000 General Motors employes to work without a contract.

Others will do the same in all 126 company plants Monday.

Both management and union termed the Ford and Chrysler negotiations deadlocked and each accused the other of refusing to budge.

The GM extension would have included built-in wage increases totaling 16 cents an hour — a 7-cent productivity increase immediately, a 3-cent cost-of-living allowance increase immediately and a 7 - cent productivity increase next year.

GM said this week that its 10,000 non-union employes would get both the immediate increases. It also said salaried personnel would get the equivalent.

Administrative Aide Resigns at Hospital

Another change in the administration of the Pontiac General Hospital comes with the announced resignation of Administrative Assistant Shirley Dovre.

The hospital's director, Carl Flath, was fired less than two weeks ago. He was the hospital's main spokesman in the fight against Dr. Neil Sullenberger and the bannered physician's $250,000 damage suit which failed.

Miss Dovre, who worked with Flath, said her resignation, effective June 20, was not connected with Flath's firing.

Crash Injuries Claim Victim

It's First Traffic Death in County on Memorial Day Period in 3 Years

George E. Pikula, 21, of 7282 Rutherford St., Detroit, died in William Beaumont Hospital early today of injuries suffered in a traffic accident on Northwestern highway, in Farmington Township, about 1:20 a.m.

It was the first Oakland County traffic death on a Memorial Day period in three years.

His companion, Thomas Manning, 21, of 16631 Mendota Ave., Detroit was admitted to the hospital with a concussion and multiple abrasions.

He has not regained consciousness and is in critical condition, according to a hospital report.

Police have not determined who was driving as both men were thrown from the car.

Assembly to OK De Gaulle as New Premier Tomorrow

PARIS (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle will take over tomorrow as the 26th premier of the French Republic, it was announced today.

With a strong majority vote already assured, the 67-year-old former Free French leader will go before an extraordinary session of the General Assembly tomorrow morning to be invested with sweeping powers to reform the constitution and restore stability at home and in North Africa.

PLANS REFORMS

When the Assembly meets—now expected at 9:30 a.m. (3:30 a.m. Pontiac time)—it will be virtually to vote itself out of power for from six months to a year. De Gaulle has demanded that much time free of interference to install his reforms.

Roger Duchet, secretary general of the Independent (conservative) Party made the formal announcement after a conference with De Gaulle at the latter's hotel.

SIGNALS GO-AHEAD

Earlier, President Rene Coty had signaled the go-ahead for De Gaulle's investiture by formally accepting the resignation of Premier Pierre Pflimlin's outgoing government.

Unconfirmed but apparently reliable reports said De Gaulle had in mind a government of two parts:

—An inner cabinet or "political council" of five members — probably former President Vincent Auriol and heads of key political parties.

—Another 10 ministers picked from leading members of Parliament. Included would be seven "technicians" and three representatives of the labor unions. Among the technicians would be Wilfred

Begin Working Monday on State Police Building

Construction will begin Monday on a new, $60,000 Pontiac State Police Post, according to Sgt. Charles E. Mulick.

The new building will be a tri-level affair at 1295 N. Telegraph road, just north and west of the Oakland County Service Center, said Mulick, officer in charge of the 22-member Pontiac post.

It should be ready by early fall, replacing the converted home in Drayton Plains that has served as Pontiac headquarters the past 5½ years.

Signing of contracts by the State Administrative Board Wednesday means that a long-standing need in this area will be filled. Although the Pontiac post is one of the most active in the state, it has never had its own headquarters. It had been located above the Keego Harbor fire station before moving to 2905 Dixie Highway, in Drayton.

General contractor is Schwanz

Michigan to Receive Big U. S. Contracts

WASHINGTON UPI) — Michigan was to receive work totaling more than $6,000,000 in government contracts announced yesterday.

Five construction contracts by the Army Corps of Engineers ranged from $1,399,000 for harbor work at Harrisville to $44,965 for construction at Emery. Other areas included work at Shelby, Selfridge Air Force Base and bridge work near Battle Creek.

Western Open Tourney at Red Run Goes Into Third Round

The morning rain was expected to favor the better players as the third round of Western Open started this morning at Red Run Country Club.

Eisenhower Runnerup for Girl's Affection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Among other mail, President Eisenhower recently received a letter from a 9-year-old girl.

"Dear Mr. President," she wrote. "I love you more than anyone in the whole world, except, of course, for Perry Como."

Robert K. Gray, White House secretary to the Cabinet, told about the letter yesterday in a speech to wives of Medal of Honor winners.

Pat O'Connor Killed as Auto Flips, Burns

Veteran Racer Elisian Suspended for Causing Fatal 15-Car Pileup

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —Death rode the Indianapolis Speedway again yesterday and claimed the life of one of the country's most popular auto race drivers, 29-year-old Pat O'Connor of North Vernon, Ind.

O'Connor, the 48th to die in the Speedway's history, perished in flames after his car overturned and caught fire in a 15-car pileup on the third turn of the first lap around the 2½-mile brick oval.

Duane Carter, a former race driver who is now racing director for USAC announced:

"I am suspending Elisian from all racing for the safety and well being of himself and his fellow competitors.

"I'm suspending him because of a series of errors in judgment. He'll not race again until he can appeal to the USAC's board of directors."

RATHMAN TALKS

Rathmann, who had topped Elisian's speed in the first day of time trials May 17 to claim the pole position issued his own statement about the disastrous mixup:

"Elisian had the lead in the second (southeast) corner, but I passed him on the backstretch.

"I backed off at the second bush past the cross (the traditional slowdown marker for the northeast turn) to go into the turn normally.

"Elisian went around me on the inside. He was going 50 miles an hour faster than he ever could

This morning's light southwesterly winds (8 to 18 miles an hour) will diminish tonight.

Sunday's high is expected to reach near 83 degrees. Showers are probable again Monday with a high predicted of around 75.

The lowest temperature in downtow Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 60 degrees. The mercury rose to 75 at 1 p.m.

NEW YORK — This is an open letter to the young man — anonymous as a shady story — who wrote the obituary of International News Service in the Press section of the current Time Magazine:

You poor guy:

You write, "On a coronation story, editors could rely on the AP for the dimensions of the cathedral, the UP for the mood of the ceremony, and the INS (sometimes) for an interview with the barmaid across the way."

There is also a reference to "splash - and - dash journalism." That's about all.

Trade Up or Down at the Hot Lot, The Bright Spot. FE 8-0488.

The men and women who sat in our silenced news rooms and read that farewell nose-thumbing felt more than anger. Many of them were seasoned at their trade when you, in all probability, were making you first little jabs at a typewriter.

Their anger was tempered by a pity for you; a pity born of the sadness that one feels in the face of flippant ignorance.

For one, I thought of Floyd Gibbons going down on one of the first ships torpedoed in World War I and surviving to write a brilliant story for INS.

And of Jimmy Kilgallen tracking down Samuel Insull in Greece and practically bringing him back to trial, after turning him into a kind of leg-man for INS.

And Inez Robb in North Africa, and some years later in Texas City, being knocked flat by an explosion, and getting up off the ground to get her story in to INS. And Davis J. Walsh who helped make sports writing a profession.

I thought of Bill Hutchinson driving the opposition nuts at the Scopes trial and getting the great wartime beats on the capture and execution of the Nazi submarine-landed saboteurs, and the decision to retain Hirohito on his throne.

IN THE JUNGLES

I also thought of Richard Tregaskis, Jack Mahon and Bob Brumby, on Guadalcanal; of Pat Robinson in the New Guinea jungles; of Lee Van Atta, flying on so many bombing and strafing missions that MacArthur himself ordered him grounded. And of the incomparable H. R. Knickerbocker and irrepresible Sammy Schulman.

The memory of Pete Huss, Frank Conniff, Larry Newman, Graham Hovey, Joe Smith, Bill Hearst, Lee Carson, Joe Willicombe and the others who went with the troops from the beaches to Berlin filled the cranial room where proud thoughts are stored.

And of Mike Chinigo, crawling to a dead German sentry's phone on the beach in Sicily, making contact with the German commander whose artillery was shelling our landing troops, and (in perfect German) ordering him to cease — " . . . We have driven the enemy back into the Sea." (Gen. Truscott put Mike in for the DSC.)

And of Jimmy Young rotting in a Japanese prison, and Alfred Tyrnauer dumped into one of Hitler's death cells in Vienna for courageously writing the truth about that monster.

Sunday Evening Traffic Expected to Be Heavy

Local law enforcement authorities are now awaiting the expected homeward rush Sunday evening after encountering heavy northbound traffic on major thoroughfares Thursday night and Memorial Day morning.

"The traffic going north on U.S. 10 and Telegraph Rd. was as heavy as I've ever seen it Thursday evening," reported Sgt. Charles Mulick, commander at the Pontiac State Police Post.

Officers at the Redford Post reported heavy traffic on Grand River Ave. and Northwestern highway from noon Thursday to noon Memorial Day.

"After noon Memorial Day the traffic, while still heavy changed to a more general nature rather than mainly northbound," said Corporal Eino Maki of the Redford Post.

A slight pickup in southbound traffic was reported last night, but the concentrated flow is not expected until Sunday when thousands of families begin returning home from the three-day weekend.

Minor property damage and personal injury accidents took a sudden upsurge, especially along Telegraph road during the rush to cottages and vacation areas, according to officials.

Sheriff's Deputies reported traffic around area parks especially heavy yesterday.

Dodge State Park No. 4, on Cass Lake, reported a Memorial Day crowd of 28,000. The record is 32,000.

Pontiac Lake Recreation Area and Highland Recreation Area reported large crowds. While beach and picnic areas were nearly filled to capacity, there was no congestion.

Authorities are urging all those on weekend outings to leave for home with time to spare.

Assembly Agrees to Name De Gaulle

Baumgartner, president of the Bank of France.

CLIMAX TO CRISIS

Today's announcement was a climax to 18 days of the worst crisis in the history of the Fourth republic.

It began with the revolt of the French army generals in Africa on May 13 and reached its peak on Thursday, May 29, with riotous demonstrations in the streets of Paris and Coty's unprecedented demand that the assembly accept De Gaulle as the only man who could save France from a military dictatorship or a Communist-led "Popular Front."

Coty said France was on the verge of civil war.

On May 15, De Gaulle had broken five years of silence by announcing that: "I hold myself ready to take over the powers of the republic."

RECEIVES VISITORS

De Gaulle received a stream of visitors during the morning, presumably outlining to them a stringent five-point reform program for the nation, and working on his cabinet list.

The list was expected to include former President Vincent Auriol, former Premier and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, who probably would be foreign minister, former Premier Antoine Pinay and Pierre-Henri Teitgen, a leading member of the Popular Republican Party.

The program he was expected to outline to the deputies tomorrow would include revision of the constitution vastly increasing executive powers; a new program of equality for Algeria; full powers for De Gaulle to run the country for six months or a year without parliamentary interference; foreign policy based on continued membership in NATO, and restoration of civil liberties.

A majority of the Socialist Party, last real stumbling block to his investiture, swung behind De Gaulle and assured him that he could take office.

Pflimlin also called on De Gaulle today and later told newsmen:

"When I presented my resignation last Wednesday, the president replied that he would not accept it until the moment when it appeared possible to form a new government.

"Since such a possibility is appearing today, the president has just informed me that he has accepted my resignation.

"As is the custom, he has asked me to handle current matters."

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Policeman Injured in Car Accident

BIRMINGHAM — An accident yesterday afternoon which hospitalized a Bloomfield Township police officer was the only mishap reported in this area for the first third of the holiday weekend.

William Simpson, 25 a member of the force for three months, is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Pontiac, being treated for a brain concussion and other possible injuries.

Police Chief Norman Dehnke said his condition this morning is fair.

Simpson, 8 Peggy St., Pontiac, was injured in a police car as he entered Telegraph road from Square Lake road while en route to investigate another accident.

Jacob F. Cipriani, 43 of 2540 Campbell St., Detroit told police he heard the siren but did not stop because he did not see Simpson's car approaching. Cipriani escaped injuries. His wife Joan, 41, and daughter, Christine 12, were treated for minor cuts and then released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a new car and caused about $3,000 damages at the home of Marley Bricker, 1336 Pilgrim Rd. Assistant Fire Chief Stanley Church said the blaze yesterday was reported by a neighbor.

In a routine check of the Howard Johnson's Restaurant, 6450 Telegraph Rd. Bloomfield Township, Police Sgt. Newton Tubbs and Officer Henry Juntunen noticed a cut window screen and saw someone moving in the building.

They called for assistance in surrounding the building and summoned the assistant manager, Dooris Head to unlock the door.

J. W. Smith 26, of 577½ Going St., Pontiac was arrested and charged with breaking and entering after he was found hiding under a coffee urn. Police said he admitted taking the money and cigarettes found in his pockets.

Members of the Birmingham Lions Club are busy these days working as telephone solicitors. They are making hundreds of calls taking orders for their fourth annual ice cream sale. Delivery and collection are scheduled for June 11 between 3 and 8 p.m.

Proceeds of the sale will further the club's work with the blind and Leader Dog program.

Mrs. Clyde H. Wood

Services for Mrs. Clyde H. (Mary) Wood, 77 of 230 E. Wisner St., Alpena, formerly of Birmingham, will be at 1 p.m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Cremation will be at White Chapel Cemetery.

Mrs. Wood died suddenly Thursday night at her Alpena home.

She came to Birmingham in 1908 from Detroit and moved to Alpena six years ago. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church here and was a past matron of Birmingham OES Chapter 220.

She is survived by her husband Clyde H.; two daughters, Mrs. David H. Raup of Birmingham; Mrs. John C. Stratton Jr. of Riverside, Conn.; and eight grandchildren.

go through that corner. He made no effort to back off.

"I'll never forgive Elisian for what he did. Pat O'Connor was the most honorable guy in racing."

ELISIAN TALKS

"The newspaper guys are killing me," Elisian said.

"I haven't been notified that I have been suspended, and as far as I'm concerned, I'm not. I don't know why I lost it (the car).

"I had driven through that corner faster. I have had these hot dogs (race drivers) spin in front of me and run me through the wall on other tracks. It sure wasn't intentional. I liked O'Connor as well as anybody."

Fengler said he is investigating circumstances of the ragged race start, in which the entire front row got ahead of the pace car.

The ragged race start was protested officially by Pat Clancy, Memphis race car owner, but Fengler overruled the protest.

The mishap followed the worst start in the 47-year history of the race.

Jimmy Bryan, of Phoenix, Ariz., missed the pileup by inches and went on to win the race in a Belond Special at an average speed of 133.791 miles an hour.

Only driver hurt besides O'Connor was rookie Jerry Unser of Long Beach, Calif., who suffered a dislocated shoulder when his car flipped over the retaining wall in the mass smashup.

The big wreck, worst since a 7-car smashup in 1930, eliminated the two fastest cars of the time trials—driven by Dick Rathmann and Ed Elisian.

Only one of seven Michigan cars entered in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis finishd th long grind yesterday.

A Novi Special driven by Bill Cheesbourg of Tucson, Ariz., finished 10th with an average speed of 129.149. The Special lined up last in the 33-car field.

The Novi was one of two sleek racing cars representing the Oakland County community. The other Novi, driven by Paul Russo of Webster Groves, Mo., dropped out after 397½ miles because of mechanical trouble.

Russo said his trouble stemmed from the pile-up.

Three other Michigan entries were eliminated by the crackup. They included Dick Rathmann, Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores and Len Sutton, who was driving the Jim Robbins Special from Royal Oak.

Gas Price War Comes to Temporary Halt

DETROIT (UPI) — The gas price battle waging in the Detroit area has halted temporarily while independent dealers wait for the major firms to "stabilize their prices."

To date, the rounds of cuts have brought normal prices down to 25.9 cents per gallon for regular and 28.9 cents for premium. A spokesman for Amro Inc., said he didn't think prices could go much lower.

Start Work Monday on State Police Post

Builders, of Birmingham. Howard H. Stanton has the mechanical contract and Fred W. Moote the electrical. The latter are Pontiac contractors.

The building will follow a new design currently used for all new State Police posts, Mulick said.

Constructed of brick with wood siding, it will house administrative offices, car wash, furnace room and storage areas on the first, or ground floor. Below that will be a lower level with squad room, lockers and more storage space, and on the top floor will be living quarters for unmarried officers.

On the 30,000 square feet site will be located a 16,000 square feet parking lot for patrol cars and the general public, Mulick said.

The land has been leased from the county under a long-term agreement, Mulick said.

Funds for the building were appropriated by the Legislature two years ago, but not released by the State Building Division until this year.

Silent Crowd Watches Burial of 2 Unknowns

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Two sisters, both in their 60s, came at noon and sat in the hot sun to be sure of seats for the burial ceremony of the Unknowns of World War II and Korea.

They arrived at Arlington National Cemetery yesterday some three hours early, but they didn't mind. They sat erect on stone slab seats, waiting quietly.

One was Mrs. Estelle Hughes, 67, who said she was the widow of a World War I soldier. The other was Mrs. Virginia Gormley, 63, who said she has a son who's a colonel in the Marine Corps.

Both women live in the Washington area, but many of the 4,000 persons who later filled the gleaming marble amphitheater had come considerable distances.

For example, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McIntyre of Houston, Tex., who have no children of their own, were outside the amphitheater hours before the interment rites. Mrs. McIntyre sat on a wooden box.

The hot sun beat down on the crowds. Before the day was done more than 400 persons were treated for heat prostration or faintness.

Among the throng in the amphitheater were Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, their merit badges as bright as the decorations worn by the military men around them. There were Gold Star Mothers dressed in white.

The crowd for the most part was quiet, except for some children who didn't realize it wasn't a picnic in the park. One child's cry broke the stillness as the assemblage stood for two minutes in honor of the dead.

There were few tears, no uncontrollable outbursts.

Forty-eight American flags waved gently in the breeze amid the huge marble columns around the circular amphitheater. Colorful wreaths, carried in eight military vans from the Capitol, were banked in front of the domed stage of the amphitheater and beside the tomb of the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

After the ceremonies were over, the thousands filed slowly out of the cemetery, passing rows of gravestones marked by tiny American flags and the red poppies traditional to Memorial Day.

And of Larry Meier, wounded whole covering the Dieppe raid. He never recovered.

Five Traffic Deaths in Michigan So Far

600 cars and trucks crossed the straits span Friday as holiday motorists sought resort areas in the Upper Peninsula.

The low traffic death count in Michigan contrasted with previous Memorial Day weekends. Last year 17 persons died in highway accidents.

The worst Memorial Day traffic death toll was 58 killed in 1941.

Thomas R. Franks, 22, of Detroit was killed Friday when the car he was riding in skidded off a curve on US23, in Livingston County.

Richard Hugh Wilde, 25, of Kalamazoo, was killed Friday when his car ran into a ditch in Macomb County.

Not Under Present Constitution

Will De Gaulle Run Show?

PARIS (UPI) — The real boss in France is the mercurial, unpredictable 595-member National Assembly.

The 1946 constitution gave the assembly sovereign powers. But, with Gen. Charles De Gaulle in power, he will take them away and the premier — for the first time in 12 years — will run the show.

Here is how the division of powers stacks up under the present constitution — unless and until De Gaulle changes it:

PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC: He is elected by a joint session of both houses of parliament for seven years with a maximum of two terms. He presides over full cabinet meetings, signs treaties and laws and designates prime ministers during a government crisis. Otherwise his functions are ornamental.

PREMIER: He is designated by the president and names his own cabinet after being invested by a majority vote of the National Assembly. He has no specific constitutional authority except as chief of the cabinet or council of ministers.

CABINET: The cabinet is appointed by the premier after his investiture by the National Assembly. The ministers have collective responsibility to the National Assembly of the cabinet's general policy. They are equally responsible to it individually for their personal acts. The cabinet must give the go-ahead before the premier may call for an assembly confidence vote.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY: The constitution gives the National Assembly sovereign rights except for those exercised by the nation as a whole through a popular referendum. The assembly has the right to declare war, study and pass laws and vote the national budget. The upper house, the Council of the Republic, or Senate, has only advisory and delaying powers but can not overrule an assembly decision.

Southfield Boy Accidentally Shot Himself to Death

The youth, George Evans, who apparently shot himself, had been missing since Tuesday. The body was found in a clearing near his home with a .22 caliber pistol lying beneath his arm.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Evans.

The mother, who said the pistol belonged to her and had a sensitive trigger, claimed it was used to kill rats around the home.

She theorized the boy was carrying the gun across the clearing when he stumbled or slipped on wet grass, fell and the pistol discharged.

Onion Sets Scarce, Prices Go Zooming

The people who were among the many who bought onion sets from Ernest Campanaro of Walled Lake earlier this year should "really appreciate them," he said today.

Campanaro, owner of the produce department at the Lakeside Super Market, said he had to purchase the "scarce" seed onions for 59 cents a pound this morning at the Eastern Market in Detroit.

His customers, several months ago paid 10 cents a pound when he sold five tons of them.

According to Campanaro, bids went sky high this morning when a farmer came to the market with five 32-pound bags of the scarce sets. Campanaro won the bid for $15 a bag compared to the normal price of $4.40.

Wind Destroys Two Dakota Farms

Rains Sweep Wide Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warm and humid air produced uncomfortably muggy weather over the eastern two-thirds of the country today and triggered thunderstorms and heavy rains across the North Central states.

Fair skies in New England were an exception to the soggy, cloudy picture elsewhere east of the Rockies. Skies were clear and temperatures hot over the Southwest.

Thunderstorms over the northern tier of states produced high winds which destroyed two farms and partially damaged another at Selz, N. D., about 85 miles northeast of Bismarck. The U. S. weather bureau termed it a possible tornado.

A storm near Crawford in northwestern Nebraska tore down telephone lines and pelted the area with hailstones 7 to 11 inches in circumference.

Warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico kept temperatures at 80 degrees during the night as far north as Kansas City while 70 and 80-degree readings were the rule from Texas eastward to the Atlantic. It was 10 to 20 degrees warmer than 24 hours earlier from the Mississippi Valley eastward through the Ohio Valley and to Atlantic Seaboard sections.

Thunderstorms in the Dakotas were widely scattered and rainfall amounts were light in most areas.

Elsewhere in North Central sections, rainfall amounts were mostly light.

Humidity readings over the Great Lakes area were higher than any recorded in the prolonged spell of dry weather there.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham ends his fifth week here tonight with attendance pushing the half-million mark.

The tally is 477,100 in the 16,500-seat Cow Palace. "Decisions for Christ" total 17,254.

He told a crowd of 15,000 last night his six-week crusade will be extended for at least one week, to June 15, and possibly another.

Speaking on Memorial Day, the evangelist said "The liberties we enjoy were purchased by the blood of other men."

It Seems to Me . . . .

Measures Must Be Taken at Once to Avoid Air Collisions

Collisions in the air are altogether too frequent. Furthermore pilots tell you confidentially that the number of "near misses" is even more alarming.

Accidents like this aren't anything new. Your scrivener remembers a collision in the air in 1918, when two army pilots crashed into each other in training.

That's 40 years ago.

Also, VERNON CASTLE, of The Royal Flying Corps, gave his life to avoid hitting a student in the air at a Texas field.

I attribute the current epidemic to two obvious things: speed and the increasing number of planes. It isn't negligence or ineptitude.

The collision of the two transcontinental liners at The Grand Canyon is so purely circumstantial that we'll rule that out. But the others demand immediate study and corrective measures.

Let's sit quietly on the edge of a runway and do a few computations on speed, sight and physical reactions. Two big passenger planes are flying toward each other. Each is going 350 miles an hour or about six miles a minute—a mile in ten seconds. If they're headed toward each other, and one passes Birmingham and the other Pontiac, eight miles apart, each will travel half way in 40 seconds. Really, that isn't very long, is it?

Something no bigger than an airplane isn't particularly noticeable at a distance of eight miles. Remember, these planes are flying toward each other and neither gets the more conspicuous broadside view.

Now let's suppose that it's just a wee bit mirky, and let's introduce those fleecy, intermittent clouds that look so soft and beautiful and yet which are just as deadly as the drabbest fog.

Each airplane can be concealed.

Or, suppose just one is hidden. The collision could be just as swift and just as devastating.

Suppose the one that's concealed fleetingly breaks into the open at four miles? At this distance with perfect visibility, each of the pilots will cover his half of the distance in 20 seconds.

So, two big, fine planes, four miles apart, can crash into each other head-on in twenty seconds.

Pilots do have distractions. They must check their instruments. They must communicate with the field. They must talk to the ground and listen. They must hear route beams. They have to watch right and left as well as head-on. Those big, hurtling shadows can come from any angle . . . . . or from above . . . . . or below.

If two skillful boys see each other AT FOUR MILES DISTANCE they must move swiftly to avoid an accident. Human reactions take a little time and then it takes SOME time for the plane to respond to the controls. It isn't all instantaneous.

Now let's complicate the picture the way it has been compounded lately. Let's toss in a jet fighter such as I rode a month ago. Let's assume the jet is doing 960 miles an hour which is 16 miles a minute or A MILE IN LESS THAN FOUR SECONDS. If the jet were aimed at the passenger plane, it would cover two miles in less than eight seconds . . . . . and of course the other airplane is approaching also. Let your own imagination handle it from here on. Suppose they were TWO miles apart when they first saw each other.

You say, "Let the jets travel at 30 or 40 thousand feet and keep the transports beneath." That is an avowed objective, but even then the jets have to climb to their higher levels and return again right through the transport lanes.

Once I was returning from San Diego in a Navy plane and a kindly major let me take the controls for 160 miles. He told me to fly at 10,000 feet. Three times the major said: "Hey, you're at 11,000 feet," and three times I slid hastily back a bit abashed. If he had explained that east-west and north-south traffic use odd or even-numbered thousands of feet, I would have been more attentive.

Bad weather conditions around airports need even more attention. When the big transports "stack up" and visibility on the ground is poor, we have real danger. They dispatch some to other airports, but even so, it's a hazardous situation.

This whole problem needs study immediately. It needs rules that no one can break. We must work out safety for many times the planes we have today — for just think what's ahead in ten years.

Next fall will be several crashes too late!

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Overheard in the Press Sports Department: "The Yanks are in a slump. They've lost one in a row." . . . . . Magazines are running into some foul weather. Some of the lesser fry have checked out for good and news stand sales are off as high as 40 per cent on some of the others . . . . . New York handed out over a thousand summonses the second day of their anti-litter bug campaign . . . . . A secret operative tells me we'll fire another satellite in June (Navy) and the Army will whisk one aloft in the early fall.

One of those Wayne County bistros bore this sign (I'm told): 'closed on account of altercations." . . . . . Railroad red caps get 35 cents a bag now. Maybe that's why so many people are carrying their own . . . . . London's crime commissioner, Sir John Nott-Bower blames the big upswing of crime in England to TV which features crime 24 hours a day . . . . . Records that used to sell a million are lucky now if they pass 300,000. Parents are more cautions with that teenage spending money.

Overheard in the hall: "He not only lied about the size of his yacht, he made me row the last half mile." . . . . . The other day I met lucky ELIZABETH NEWMAN at GMC Truck who won a Cadillac plus $1,750 in cash in the big GM contest. She's a very personable gal and she must have a lot on the ball. She whipped 285,000 competitors . . . . . Brides, here's a new one. Cook your steak with a blow torch. It's 40 times as fast and is cheaper. The idea came from France . . . . . Unless the government comes up with some aid for the railroads, there will be a few bankruptcies in the days ahead. Our own Grand Trunk's loss is creeping up toward a million dollars a month.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

ROME, ITALY—The Colosseum still reflects the brutal might of ancient Rome. Here 50,000 spectators watched gladiators fight to the death. Two emperors tried to stop the bloody amusements without success. But one simple monk succeeded.

Telemachus, a Syrian, who came to Rome on this sacred mission, went into the arena, tried to separate the gladiators, and pleaded in the name of humanity, to the patrons. He was stoned to death. Yet, his act resulted in an edict abolishing the games forever.

June Bride Legends Are Ancient

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The idea of marrying in June goes back to the Romans, who thought it was a lucky month for weddings, especially at the time of the full moon.

You sometimes hear that June is the marriage month because it was named for and dedicated to Juno, the goddess who was especially interested in young women.

It is much more likely that the month was named in honor of the Juniores, the lower branch of the Roman legislature. May was named for the Majores, the upper house.

The term "honeymoon" comes from a marriage custom of the ancient Teutons, who drank a honey wine for a month (or moon) after the wedding. They say Attila the Hun drank so much of this wine following his marriage that he died.

It is also possible that the honeymoon, as a time away from the former home and the old family ties, symbolizes the period when the groom hid his newly captured bride from her kinsmen while he bargained with them to gain their consent. He was in a good bargaining position if he was already in possession of the "property" for which he was negotiating.

It is bad luck for the bride to step over the threshold the first time she enters her new home. She must be carried over. This may go back to the time when Romulus, who needed wives for his soldiers, solved the problem by luring the Sabine male population out of their villages while his men went in and carried off the Sabine women.

Or it may refer to the cave man days when a man in search of a bride just hit her over the head and carried her home. Why it should have anything to do with good or bad luck is not clear.

In some places it is the custom to hand the bride a poker, a shovel and a pair of fire tongs when she comes into her new home. This is not an invitation for her to get to work, but a ceremonial way of giving her authority over the house.

When the bride comes to the church, if she will leap over a rope at the church gate she will leave all her bad traits and ill-humor behind her.

Don't go in one door of the church and out another. That brings bad luck.

Whichever one of the bridal couple steps out of the church door first after the wedding will be the master in the household.

The bride must weep on her wedding day. It's bad luck if she doesn't.

She must not make—or even help make—her wedding cake.

The real reason for wearing the ring on the fourth finger is that this finger cannot be straightened out except in company with the rest of the hand. It is not easy for the ring to fall off a crooked finger. There is no reason why it should be worn on the left hand rather than the right.

It is especially lucky to be married in old shoes.

The complete wedding dress should not be tried on until the wedding day. One way to be sure you are complying with this superstition is to save one final stitch until the moment the bride leaves for the church.

It is bad luck for the bride to look into the mirror after she is fully dressed in her wedding gown. The way to avoid breaking this rule is to leave one glove off until after you take the last look.

Dr. William Brady Says:

High Calcium Diet Best in Case of Shaking Palsy

To the best of my recollection I never saw a case of Parkinsonism, Parkinson's disease, shaking palsy, paralysis agitans, in the 400-bed charity hospital where I interned for two years. But I had seen and studied a case when I began the study of medicine. The case of Parkinsonism I had studied intensively was a lulu! The lady victim had everything — the mask face, twinkling eye, pill-rolling tremor, rigidity, slow studied movements, body inclined forward, neck extended and rigid, elbows flexed and slightly abducted so that the trembling fingers were at hip level.

DR. BRADY

She walked with reluctant, shortening steps as though she might totter at any moment, but never fell. She kept her eyes wide open and seemed never to wink. When she changed the direction of her vision her eyes remained fixed while her whole head and body turned.

The unsophisticated observer may infer from such a patient's attitude, mask-like expression, and taciturnity that he has lost his marbles. From intimate acquaintance with the patient and other Parkinsonians, I can assure you any such inference is wrong.

In practice, I have found Parkinsonians generally a cut above the common level of intelligence.

In recent years several new drugs or modifications of old drugs have been exploited as superior to the older drugs in the treatment of Parkinson's tremor. As you might expect, I doubt that the new, and of course more expensive, drugs do any more for the Parkinsonian than the older drugs did.

If this comment is brought to the attention of the leading medical merchants of your community (They seldom see one of my pieces unless some one "brings it to their attention") he will probably be too busy to bother with it or he'll marvel at my nerve offering my two-bit opinion against the "accepted" opinion of "recognized medical authorities." Nevertheless it is my belief that the treatment of Parkinsoniam today is not notably different in effect from the treatment generally used in the past.

Now I hesitate, though I feel in conscience bound to add that a high calcium diet is advisable for most Parkinsonians. If for any reason such diet is not satisfactory, then the Parkinsonian should supplement the ordinary diet with a suitable daily ration of calcium and vitamin D.

'Stop Crying Over Trees; We Must Move Forward

Here we go. Hang on to your hat. The bleeding, blubbering sisters that want to "Spare the Tree" are in full cry. The Voice of the People carried a letter weeping over the trees we're cutting down on Perry street.

Let's stop all progress and refuse to cut down a silly tree. Let's take down the Pontiac Motor plant, brick by brick, and grow back the forest that once stood there. Let's level New York City and put back the dear, lovely trees that once graced Manhattan Isle. Let's blast away all our churches, as every one required the elimination of some darling, defenseless trees. Let's quit building schools and water the trees that stand where the schools should be. Let's rip up all the pavements of the land and grow back some "noble sentinels of the forest."

Let's quit breaking into tears over trees that stop progress. Let's go forward. Let's cut down trees as rapidly as our ancestors did and build a nation. Let's follow God's commands and move forward and upward. Let's be adults instead of weepy, weak-kneed babes.

The writer of that letter says "I hate to see my town ruined for the purpose of living." What greater purpose is there than living? That's the Law of the Lord. Live and progress. If living doesn't come ahead of trees, let's all die now.

Whoops, my dear.

State Poitical Enemies Sometimes Cooperate

LANSING (UPI) — Members of Michigan's two major political parties are not always the bitter personal enemies their public statements make them appear to be.

Often, quietly and behind the scenes, members of the Democratic and Republican parties actually cooperate to further their main mutual interest—greater public participation in politics.

Democratic Secretary of State James M. Hare gave a splendid example of this undercover cooperation.

Hare wrote a letter to Republican State Chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer recommending a woman for work in the Republican Party.

"She has retired from the Detroit school system and I think you will get a fine worker for your party," Hare told Lindemer.

He explained he had talked to the woman, a long-time acquaintance, and she said she was interested in working for the Republican Party but didn't know whom she should contact. Hare volunteered to contact Lindemer for her and did.

Lindemer quickly accepted Hare's suggestion but couldn't resist needling the Secretary of State.

"Does this indicate a slight degree of partiality toward the party of truth and virtue," he asked. "We would love to have you join us."

Hare said he was merely interested in seeing a person interested in politics take an active part in it.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and his wife have probably the most ambitious hobby of any member of the state's official family.

Mackie lives on a farm south of Lansing and in his spare time (which Mrs. Mackie says is not much) he works on the farm. Most of the farm operations are carried on by hired help, however.

Mrs. Mackie doesn't get much time to spend on the farm either because she works as a volunteer in the campaign headquarters of Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

Warns A-Power Plant Would Endanger Lives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) was told today it would be playing with the lives of millions if it permits construction of a nuclear power plant near Monroe, Mich.

Ben Sigal, counsel for protesting labor unions, said the AEC's issuance of a temporary construction permit in August, 1956, was partially the result of "tremendous pressure" by business groups.

Sigal voiced his views as the commission heard arguments, at its Germantown, Md., headquarters near here, on the union's fight to halt construction of the fast breeder reactor planned by Power Reactor Development Co. (PRDC).

"The commission ought not to play with the safety of millions of people," Sigal told the commissioners.

W. Graham Clayton Jr., PRDC counsel, disputed the unions' claim of danger and said:

"This is part of an all out effort to get the commission to stop the project."

Sigal denied the unions wanted the 73½ million dollar project dropped.

The AEC staff and the State of Michigan were to present their arguments later.

Clayton opened the arguments by contending it is not necessary to prove as high a degree of safety when applying for a construction permit as is needed when operation is to begin.

In developmental projects such as the proposed reactor, he said, issuance of a construction permit does not mean the AEC has approved final operation of the nuclear power plant.

The PRDC counsel denied the unions' contentions that the combination of privately owned utilities does not have sufficient financial reserves to finance the project.

Sigal contended the AEC had disregarded the law in issuing the temporary construction permit. The commission, he said, had failed to determine whether the project would be safe.

The union counsel indicated his principal objection was the close proximity of the proposed reactor to the Detroit and Toledo metropolitan areas.

Bryan Wins Crash-Ridden Indianapolis Speedway '500' Classic

Only 14 Racers at Finish Line After Pileups

Champ's Victory Dinner Saddened by Death of Pat O'Connor

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Jimmy Bryan, who now has won everything available in championship closed course auto racing, tonight will pick up a check for about $100,000 at a 500-mile race victory dinner saddened by the death of Pat O'Connor.

O'Connor died in his burning car on the first lap of the Memorial Day classic yesterday after the worst start in the 47-year history of the race.

Last year the cars hurried helter-skelter out of the pits, under their own power and tried to line up back of the pace car on a parade lap. Two collided and never reached the starting lineup.

A supposed improvement yesterday was a single file lineup of the cars in their starting order, with engines running, in the pits. They were to be driven into the traditional three-car lines as the pace car pulled away for the parade lap.

Dick Rathman, in the No. 1 starting position, got away too fast and was halfway around the track before anybody else, including Hanks with the pace car, got started. His mates in the front line, Ed Elisian and Jimmy Reece, finally caught up with him and all three were running half a lap ahead of the field.

Rathman was ahead going into the first turn. Elisian tried to pass him on the third turn and lost control. In an instant, that northeast corner of the track looked like a race car junk yard.

O'Connor, a 29-year-old racing veteran from North Vernon, Ind., ran over the rear of the auto driven by Reece, a native Oklahoman now living in Indianapolis.

O'Connor's car overturned and burst into flames. The body was unrecognizable.

A car driven by Jerry Unser, a first-time starter from Long Beach, Calif., ran over two other cars and plunged over the retaining wall but he escaped with a dislocated shoulder.

Of the 15 cars in the mixup, eight were knocked out of the race. Three kept on running. Four got back in the race after repairs.

Chief steward Harlan Fengler said first reports indicated Elisian was responsible for the wreck.

O'Connor's death was the 48th in the speedway's history, including two years of races prior to the first 500 in 1911.

Bryan, winner of the Monza 500 in Italy last year and the United States auto club champion the last two years, started in seventh position in the Belond Special driven to victory in the Memorial Day classic last year by Sam Hanks.

The husky cigar-chewing Bryan missed skidding and spinning cars by inches and found himself in first place at the end of the tragic first lap.

The lead changed 17 times before the Arizona cowboy pulled into the victory circle for the winner's kiss from movie star Shirley MacLaine.

Johnny Boyd of Fresno, Calif., finished 42 seconds back of Amick.

The winning speed, 133.791, was the second-fastest in the history of the race, in spite of the big wreck and numerous spins.

Only 14 cars were running at the finish.

Bryan won $20,850 in lap prizes—$150 a lap for each he led. Amick won $3,900 in lap prizes, fourth-place Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., $2,700 and Boyd $2,500.

The crowd was estimated over 150,000.

KILLED — Young Pat O'Connor, 29-year-old racer from North Vernon, Ind., sat helplessly in car as he spun over another racer and met death on the first lap of the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway race yesterday. A bad start caused a jam and 15 cars were involved in the crash. Two were able to get back into the race.

Press Photographer Tells of 500-Classic Disaster

(Tom Gerls, Pontiac Press Photographer, was on hand for his 5th straight Indianapolis 500-Mile classic yesterday, and was eye-witness to one of the most horrendous starts in history of the event).

By TOM GERLS

INDIANAPOLIS—It was one of the most disorganized starts in history of the Memorial Day 500-Mile Indianapolis Classic.

Without doubt, even most of the drivers were caught by surprise and many out of position when the starter gave the signal by dropping the green flag.

The three front row cars had just passed the rest of the field to take up their positions when the flag dropped.

At this point the starter possibly could have avoided much of the confusion by giving the signal for another lap so that the field could close up properly and straighten up their lines.

But, when the green signal was given, every car made a mad dash to the first corner and there were as many as eight cars abreast.

This is where the jam started. Ed Elisian went into a spin and Dick Rathmann and Jimmy Reece became tangled in the closely bunched corner.

O'Connor, who was moving up, had no place to go and sat helpless as his car hit Bob Veith and then flipped over the car driven by Reece.

O'Connor apparently was fatally injured as he came down on his head after the flip. His car burst into flames.

A moment later Jerry Unser in a McKay Special hurtled the retaining wall and suffered a fractured shoulder, while other cars screeched and screamed to avoid the pileups.

It was one of the most horrifying starts I had ever witnessed and the question is, could it have been avoided?

DEATH CRASH — Pat O'Connor, car number 4, sits helpless as his car flips over the top of the car driven by Jimmy Reece in the first turn of the 500-mile classic. O'Connor's car then turned over, caught fire and burned as he was killed.

Jacobs Slips But Holds Lead

By BILL CORNWELL

Memorial Day was a day of spectacular recoveries and disastrous failures for the "big name" players in the 55th Western Open golf championship at Red Run.

Young Tommy Jacobs, the former USGA Junior champion from Whittier, Calif., who paced the field at the end of Thursday's first round with a phenomenal 64, cooled off to a 71 yesterday, but still retained a two-stroke lead at the halfway point with a score of 135, nine strokes below par.

But the top news Friday was provided by four veteran professionals of the tournament trail—defending champ Doug Ford, Bo Wininger, Lloyd Mangrum and National Open king Dick Mayer.

Each golfer staged a remarkable comeback to escape elimination after disappointing opening rounds. The field was cut to 74 at the 36-hole mark and all four needed great scores to stay alive.

Bill Casper Jr., one of the bright stars of the younger set, and ex-U.S. Open winner Ed Furgol furnished the tragic aspects to yesterday's action by failing to survive the cut, which used 147 as a dividing line.

Ford, who opened with a dismal 75, bounced back strong Friday with a seven-under-par 65, the day's best individual effort, for a 36-hole total of 140.

Wininger's rally was perhaps the greatest of the bunch. After shooting a first round 78, the sturdy Texan rebounded for a sparkling 66 to stand even with par at 144. His 66 was one of two fired yesterday, Gene Littler coming through with the other.

Mangrum came back from his initial 75 to post a 68, featuring seven birdies, for a total of 143, while Mayer carded a 69 to go with his opening 76 for 145.

Ford's round of 65 included 29 putts, three on the 6th green for a bogey, four straight birdies starting at No. 7 and eight "birds" overall, and a canned chip shot for a birdie on the 15th hole. Wininger's 66 was spotlighted by seven "birds" and nine one-putt greens.

Littler, tied with four others for 2nd place at 137, had the hottest putter during his six-under-par spree as he one-putted 10 greens. He also birdied seven holes.

For the first time in 15 tournaments, Casper failed to survive the midway slash. After a first round 71, he soared to an 80 for a score of 151 and disqualification.

The turning point came on the 362-yard 16th hole where Casper took an eight after needing only a three-foot putt for a par four. He missed the putt, then carelessly reached out and tapped the ball toward the cup. It struck his foot for a two-stroke penalty and he finally got down in eight.

Casper went seven over par on the last four holes and the lapse was fatal. Ed Furgol, whose good right arm has not fully recuperated from recent surgery, added a 78 to Thursday's 79 for 157, which dropped him from the ranks.

Joining Littler two strokes in arrears of Jacobs were Bob Rosburg, Doug Sanders, Don Whitt and steady Dow Finsterwald. Sam Snead, Frank Stranahan and Mike Souchak were three shots behind the leader at 138.

Masters champion Arnold Palmer and youthful Tony Lema came next with 139's while Dave Ragan, Jim Ferree, Al Baling and Paul Harney were in Ford's company at 140. Among those in the 141 bracket were Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Ken Venturi and Pontiac's Gene Bone.

South African Gary Player, Mike Dietz of Indianwood and amateur Tom Draper from host Red Run were among 13 golfers deadlocked at 142. After a double bogey on No. 2 and a bogey on the 3rd hole, Player went four below par the rest of the way for a 71.

Max Evans, former assistant pro at Rochester, was in the 143 group while Jack Fleck and Wally Burkemo were even with par 144's.

Only three amateurs—Chuck Kocsis, Bob Whiting and Draper—survived the cut. Kocsis had 145 and Whiting 146.

Jacobs encountered trouble on the back nine after making the turn in 33 with the help of four birdies, three in a row. He had three bogies and a "bird" coming home for 38 and his one-under-par scorecard of 71.

Veteran Toney Penna, who qualified for today's 18-hole session, had to leave the tourney scene for business reasons. Meadowbrook's Chick Harbert, who probably would have been a qualifier, was forced out of action yesterday after six holes by an ailing back.

The 73-man field started touring Red Run this morning at 9:45 with the last threesome leaving the 1st tee at 1:45 p.m. Today's field will be reduced to the low 50 plus ties for Sunday's final 18-hole round.

Tigers Dumped Twice

DETROIT (AP)—Manager Al Lopez asked left fielder Al Smith if he wanted to come out of the ball game to rest his injured leg. But Smith insisted in staying in the lineup while the Detroit Tigers batted in the last of the ninth.

Because of Smith's decision, and inadequate pitching by Tiger moundsmen, the Chicago White Sox edged the Tigers 6-5 in the first game of yesterday's holiday doubleheader.

Southpaw Billy Pierce, who seldom has performed up to par against the team that traded him away, spun a six-hitter that stood up for a 4-2 nightcap victory before 30,411 fans.

All this added up to a disappointing end to the Tigers' five-game winning streak and meant that they failed to pick up vital ground while the New York Yankees were losing a twin-bill.

The Tigers were guilty of poor base running and poor fielding as the White Sox made it eight victories in their last nine starts.

The White Sox had 25 hits in the doubleheader and they included a pair of home runs by ex-Tiger Earl Torgeson and one by Sherm Lollar. All three home runs came in the first game, but it was a ninth inning single by Lollar that brought across the winning run.

Still it took a spectacular catch by Smith to close out the contest. With pinch-hitter Lou Skizas on first and one man out, Frank Bolling hit a towering drive to left. Smith leaped high against the screen and pulled it down and the relay back to first was in plenty of time to double Skizas.

Detroit used four pitchers in the opener and four more in the nightcap.

Jim Bunning, who has completed only one of his eight starts, took the most of the first game punishment as he was batted out in the fourth inning. Bill Hoeft was tagged with the defeat.

Hank Aguirre started the nightcap and was driven out in the sixth when the White Sox iced the contest with two runs that wiped out an early Detroit lead. Red Wilson homered for the Tigers in the first game and Kaline connected in the second. It was Wilson's first and Kaline's fourth.

The same teams meet tonight at Briggs Stadium with Paul Foytack (4-4) opposing Early Wynn (5-2). The series will wind up with a single game Sunday as the Tigers end their current homestand.

U.S. Open Sectional Qualifiers Monday

It's National Open season again and 159 golfers, including virtually all of the star-studded field now competing in the Western Open at Red Run, will seek 29 berths in Monday's 36-hole sectional qualifiers.

Red Run and Plum Hollow are the sites for the Michigan section, part of a nation-wide qualifying program Monday which will see an all-time record entry of 2,150 players bid for 144 places at 28 locations throughout the country.

Michigan's huge field, divided into two groups, will start leaving the 1st tee at Red Run and Plum Hollow simultaneously at 6 a.m. Each group plays 18 holes at each course.

The U. S. Open golf championship is scheduled June 12-14 at Southern Hills Country Club in Tulsa, Okla.

One player has already qualified for the annual classic. Ted Makalena made the grade last Monday at Honoluly, shooting 72-75—147 to top a 15-man field.

A total of 17 golfers will be exempt from qualifying, five of them previous winners. Exempt champions include defender Dick Mayer, Cary Middlecoff, Ed Furgol, Jack Fleck and Ben Hogan.

The 10 players who finished closest to Mayer last year at Inverness in Toledo are others not required to qualify. These include Julius Boros, Jimmy Demaret, Ken Venturi, Fred Hawkins, Sam Snead, Roberto De Vicenzo, Billy Maxwell, Wally Burkemo, Chick Harbert and amateur Billy Joe Patton.

PGA champion Lionel Hebert and amateur champ Hillman Robbins complete the list of qualifying exemptions.

Under regulations adopted by the USGA last year, only the last five National Open winners are exempt. This move forces five ex-champs to qualify Monday—Gene Sarazen, Tony Manero, Sam Parks Jr., Lew Worsham and Lloyd Mangrum. It will be the final year of exemption for Hogan.

Mangrum, now playing at Red Run, will seek his position here, along with most of the others in the Western field.

Yanks Shocked as Nats Take Doubleheader

Cardinals Also Jolt Giants to Cut Lead in NL Race

United Press International

Casey Stengel's moaning but the other managers are laughing today because maybe — just maybe — there will be a pennant race in the American League this year after all.

Just a week ago a grim gag was being told in the A. L. dugouts that "the Yankees might clinch the flag by Memorial Day." But instead that holiday produced a doubleheader loss by the Yankees to, of all people, the Washington Senators, 13-8 and 7-2, to run their losing streak to four games.

The San Francisco Giants, leading the National League, were similarly jolted, 7-6 and 8-1, to the Cardinals.

But, even though that cut the Giants' lead over the Braves to a single game, it wasn't a shocker like the Yankees' humiliation by the Senators. While the Yankees were rolling up wins, Stengel kept talking about the 1953 Yankee team that won 18 traight games and then lost nine straight — now maybe somebody will listen to him.

The panic isn't on yet, of course, because the Yankees still lead by 6½ games but it was stunning to see the Senators outslug the Yankees. Roy Sievers smashed three homers in the twin bill and Jim Lemon two.

The Senators blew a six-run lead in the opening game and then came back to win when Sievers and Ken Aspromonte each clouted a three-run homer in the eighth inning. But they led all the way in the nightcap after Sievers and Lemon homered in the first inning. Chuck Stobbs won the opener in relief while Pedro Ramos went the route in the second.

In other A. L. holiday games, the White Sox ran their winning streak to five games by beating Detroit, 6-5 and 4-2; Boston handed Baltimore its eighth straight defeat, 2-0, before the Orioles took the nightcap by the same score; and the Kansas City A's rallied to win the nightcap, 7-6, after losing the opener, 7-1.

In other N. L. games, the Cubs rallied twice in the ninth inning to beat Los Angeles, 3-2 and 10-8; Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh, 7-4, in the opener and then lost, 12-6; and Cincinnati drubbed Philadelphia in a single game, 10-1.

Frank Sullivan of the Red Sox turned in the holiday's top pitching job, holding the Orioles to two hits — both infield singles by Al Pilarcik — in their first game as Frank Malzone supplied the runs he needed with a two-run homer. Big Arnie Portocarrero snapped the Orioles' losing streak in the nightcap with a four-hit job, his third win over Boston this year.

Ray Narleski's six-hit hurling gave the Indians their opening win as Rocky Colavito and Larry Doby homered in support. Bob Cerv drove in four runs in the nightcap for the A's, three with his 13th homer, but Mickey Vernon's three-run homer in the ninth forced Duke Maas to appear in relief to save the win for the A's.

The Giants lost their see-saw opener in St. Louis in the 10th inning when Ray Crone's wild pitch enabled Dick Schofield to ramp home from third base. Jim Brosnan sackled the Giants on nine hits in the second game, missing a shutout only on Valmy Thomas' homer. Ken Boyer hit two for the Cards in the second.

Ex-Dodgers Walt (Moose) Moryn was the Cub hero in their twin win over Los Angeles. His double was the only extra-base blow in the three-run rally the Cubs staged in the ninth inning to win their opener. And he blasted three homers in the nightcap, including a two-run clout in the ninth inning to win the game.

Milwaukee came from behind with four runs in the ninth to win their opener at Pittsburgh, with the help of loose play by third baseman Frank Thomas. But their four homers in the nightcap were buried under an 18-hit Pirate attack.

Bryan's Father Hopes He'll Quit

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—"Now I hope he'll retire," said R. L. Bryan, switching off the radio after hearing his son, Jimmy won the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

"Jimmy halfway promised me a couple of years ago that he'd quit if he won the big one," said Bryan, a Phoenix fireman.

"I'm not a superstitious man, but I've noticed that Indianapolis winners ever since 1911 have had a record of running into trouble when they kept on racing."

Wrigley Thinks NL Will Be 10 Club Loop in '59

CHICAGO (AP)—Owner Philip K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs says he wouldn't be surprised if the National League expanded from 8 to 10 teams for next season.

The National League doesn't need New York, Wrigley said last night in discussing a report of a move toward a return of the nation's biggest city to the league.

"New York had three teams and didn't seem to be too excited about baseball," Wrigley said. "Now they're blasting the Dodgers for going out to Los Angeles.

Wrigley based his hunch that the league might expand next season on the fact "we have a very impetuous group."

Death Claims Driver in Classic '500' Race

Traffic Deaths Total 5 So Far in Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan's highway fatality count was surprisingly low as the long Memorial Day weekend neared the half-way point.

Thus far over the 78-hour holiday only five traffic deaths were reported despite crowded highways.

In addition three persons drowned and two persons died in miscellaneous accidents.

However, dead on the nation's highways piled up on schedule today and brought renewed pleas from safety officials as the three-day Memorial Day weekend moved toward the half-way mark.

As the first day of the 78-hour weekend ended, safety experts were cautiously optimistic that the first long holiday of the summer might take a slightly lesser toll than the 350 predicted.

National Holiday Toll

Traffic	124
Drowning	42
Miscellaneous	23
Total	189

However, Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, noted today the figure was running about on schedule, if not slightly higher than earlier estimates.

The toll came close to the pace which ended up as a record for a three-day Memorial Day weekend in 1955 when 369 died in traffic pile ups.

Warm temperatures in Michigan sent thousands flocking to state parks, beaches and resorts.

Traffic across the new Straits of Mackinac Bridge was running far ahead of ferry boat traffic across the straits over the Memorial Day holiday last year.

Bridge officials estimated 10,-

Break Deadlock - UAW Hoping

Chrysler, Ford, Union Refusing to Budge as Time Slips Away

DETROIT (AP) — The United Auto Workers Union sought to break deadlocked negotiations with Ford and Chrysler today while completing plans for some 300,000 General Motors employes to work without a contract.

Others will do the same in all 126 company plants Monday.

Both management and union termed the Ford and Chrysler negotiations deadlocked and each accused the other of refusing to budge.

The GM extension would have included built-in wage increases totaling 16 cents an hour — a 7-cent productivity increase immediately, a 2-cent cost-of-living allowance increase immediately and a 7 - cent productivity increase next year.

GM said this week that its 10,000 non-union employes would get both the immediate increases. It also said salaried personnel would get the equivalent.

Administrative Aide Resigns at Hospital

Another change in the administration of the Pontiac General Hospital comes with the announced resignation of Administrative Assistant Shirley Dovre.

The hospital's director, Carl Flath, was fired less than two weeks ago. He was the hospital's main spokesman in the fight against Dr. Neil Sullenberger and the bannered physician's $250,000 damage suit which failed.

Miss Dovre, who worked with Flath, said her resignation, effective June 20, was not connected with Flath's firing.

George E. Pikula, 21, of 7282 Rutherford St., Detroit, died in William Beaumont Hospital early today of injuries suffered in a traffic accident on Northwestern highway, in Farmington Township, about 1:20 a.m.

It was the first Oakland County traffic death on a Memorial Day period in three years.

Assembly to OK De Gaulle as New Premier Tomorrow

PARIS (UPI)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle will take over tomorrow as the 26th premier of the French Republic, it was announced today.

With a strong majority vote already assured, the 67-year-old former Free French leader will go before an extraordinary session of the General Assembly tomorrow morning to be invested with sweeping powers to reform the constitution and restore stability at home and in North Africa.

PLANS REFORMS

When the Assembly meets—now expected at 9:30 a.m. (3:30 a.m. Pontiac time)—it will be virtually to vote itself out of power for from six months to a year. De Gaulle has demanded that much time free of interference to install his reforms.

Roger Duchet, secretary general of the Independent (conservative) Party made the formal announcement after a conference with De Gaulle at the latter's hotel.

SIGNALS GO-AHEAD

Earlier, President Rene Coty had signaled the go-ahead for De Gaulle's investiture by formally accepting the resignation of Premier Pierre Pflimlin's outgoing government.

Unconfirmed but apparently reliable reports said De Gaulle had in mind a government of two parts:

—An inner cabinet or "political council" of five members — probably former President Vincent Auriol and heads of key political parties.

—Another 10 ministers picked from leading members of Parliament. Included would be seven "technicians" and three representatives of the labor unions. Among the technicians would be Wilfred

Begin Working Monday on State Police Building

Construction will begin Monday on a new, $60,000 Pontiac State Police Post, according to Sgt. Charles E. Mulick.

The new building will be a tri-level affair at 1295 N. Telegraph road, just north and west of the Oakland County Service Center, said Mulick, officer in charge of the 22-member Pontiac post.

It should be ready by early fall, replacing the converted home in Drayton Plains that has served as Pontiac headquarters the past 5½ years.

Signing of contracts by the State Administrative Board Wednesday means that a long-standing need in this area will be filled. Although the Pontiac post is one of the most active in the state, it has never had its own headquarters. It had been located above the Keego Harbor fire station before moving to 2905 Dixie Highway, in Drayton.

General contractor is Schwanz

Michigan to Receive Big U. S. Contracts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Michigan was to receive work totaling more than $6,000,000 in government contracts announced yesterday.

Five construction contracts by the Army Corps of Engineers ranged from $1,399,000 for harbor work at Harrisville to $44,965 for construction at Emery. Other areas included work at Shelby, Selfridge Air Force Base and bridge work near Battle Creek.

Veteran Racer Elisian Suspended for Causing Fatal 15-Car Pileup

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —Death rode the Indianapolis Speedway again yesterday and claimed the life of one of the country's most popular auto race drivers, 29-year-old Pat O'Connor of North Vernon, Ind.

O'Connor, the 48th to die in the Speedway's history, perished in flames after his car overturned and caught fire in a 15-car pileup on the third turn of the first lap around the 2½-mile brick oval.

Ed Elisian, 31-year-old Oakland, Calif., racing veteran, was suspended indefinitely by the U. S. Auto Club today for the pileup.

Duane Carter, a former race driver who is now racing director for USAC announced:

"I am suspending Elisian from all racing for the safety and well being of himself and his fellow competitors.

"I'm suspending him because of a series of errors in judgment. He'll not race again until he can appeal to the USAC's board of directors."

points to the fact that Elisian was driving too fast and caused the accident by spinning into Dick Rathmann."

RATHMAN TALKS

Rathmann, who had topped Elisian's speed in the first day of time trials May 17 to claim the pole position issued his own statement about the disastrous mixup:

"Elisian had the lead in the second (southeast) corner, but I passed him on the backstretch.

"I backed off at the second bush past the cross (the traditional slowdown marker for the northeast turn) to go into the turn normally.

"Elisian went around me on the inside. He was going 50 miles an hour faster than he ever could

Western Open Tourney at Red Run Goes Into Third Round

The morning rain was expected to favor the better players as the third round of Western Open started this morning at Red Run Country Club.

Eisenhower Runnerup for Girl's Affection

WASHINGTON (AP) — Among other mail, President Eisenhower recently received a letter from a 9-year-old girl.

"Dear Mr. President," she wrote. "I love you more than anyone in the whole world, except, of course, for Perry Como."

Robert K. Gray, White House secretary to the Cabinet, told about the letter yesterday in a speech to wives of Medal of Honor winners.

More Rain Tonight; Warm Again Sunday

Considerable cloudiness and occasional showers or thundershowers are promised for the Pontiac area tonight and Sunday with little change in temperature. Tonight's low will be around 58 to 62.

This morning's light southwesterly winds (8 to 18 miles an hour) will diminish tonight.

Sunday's high is expected to reach near 83 degrees. Showers are probable again Monday with a high predicted of around 75.

The lowest temperature in downtow Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 60 degrees. The mercury rose to 75 at 1 p.m.

Answers Insults Thrown at INS

Editor's Note: Bob Considine is not a newcomer to the profession of journalism. He has been considered in the past, and is today, one of the top flight reporters in the country. His comments concerning a neophyte reporter for Time Magazine and express the sentiments of many in the journalistic fraternity.)

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — This is an open letter to the young man — anonymous as a shady story — who wrote the obituary of International News Service in the Press section of the current Time Magazine:

You poor guy:

You write, "On a coronation story, editors could rely on the AP for the dimensions of the cathedral, the UP for the mood of the ceremony, and the INS (sometimes) for an interview with the barmaid across the way."

There is also a reference to "splash - and - dash journalism." That's about all.

Trade Up or Down at the Hot Lot, The Bright Spot, FE 8-0488.

Trade Up or Down at the Hot Lot, The Bright Spot, FE 8-0488.

The men and women who sat in our silenced news rooms and read that farewell nose-thumbing felt more than anger. Many of them were seasoned at their trade when you, in all probability, were making you first little jabs at a typewriter.

Their anger was tempered by a pity for you; a pity born of the sadness that one feels in the face of flippant ignorance.

For one, I thought of Floyd Gibbons going down on one of the first ships torpedoed in World War I and surviving to write a brilliant story for INS.

And of Jimmy Kilgallen tracking down Samuel Insull in Greece and practically bringing him back to trial, after turning him into a kind of leg-man for INS.

And Inez Robb in North Africa, and some years later in Texas City, being knocked flat by an explosion, and getting up off the ground to get her story in to INS. And Davis J. Walsh who helped make sports writing a profession.

I thought of Bill Hutchinson driving the opposition nuts at the Scopes trial and getting the great wartime beats on the capture and execution of the Nazi submarine-landed saboteurs, and the decision to retain Hirohito on his throne.

IN THE JUNGLES

I also thought of Richard Tregaskis, Jack Mahon and Bob Brumby, on Guadalcanal; of Pat Robinson in the New Guinea jungles; of Lee Van Atta, flying on so many bombing and strafing missions that MacArthur himself ordered him grounded. And of the incomparable H. R. Knickerbocker and irrepresible Sammy Schulman.

The memory of Pete Huss, Frank Conniff, Larry Newman, Graham Hovey, Joe Smith, Bill Hearst, Lee Carson, Joe Willicombe and the others who went with the troops from the beaches to Berlin filled the cranial room where proud thoughts are stored.

And of Mike Chinigo, crawling to a dead German sentry's phone on the beach in Sicily, making contact with the German commander whose artillery was shelling our landing troops, and (in perfect German) ordering him to cease — " . . . We have driven the enemy back into the Sea." (Gen. Truscott put Mike in for the DSC.)

And of Jimmy Young rotting in a Japanese prison, and Alfred Tyrnauer dumped into one of Hitler's death cells in Vienna for courageously writing the truth about that monster.

A NATION'S FINAL TRIBUTE — Shadows were long in Arlington Cemetery yesterday as high officials and plain people saluted the Unknown Dead of Korea and World War II, united in hallowed ground with the Unknown Soldier of World War I. Servicemen held American flags over the caskets suspended above their graves. President Eisenhower stands behind the World War II Unknown at right. Vice President Nixon stands behind the Korean Unknown. This picture (by AP photographer Tom Freeman) was made from top of the amphitheater.

Sunday Evening Traffic Expected to Be Heavy

Local law enforcement authorities are now awaiting the expected homeward rush Sunday evening after encountering heavy northbound traffic on major thoroughfares Thursday night and Memorial Day morning.

"The traffic going north on U.S. 10 and Telegraph Rd. was as heavy as I've ever seen it Thursday evening," reported Sgt. Charles Mulick, commander at the Pontiac State Police Post.

Officers at the Redford Post reported heavy traffic on Grand River Ave. and Northwestern highway from noon Thursday to noon Memorial Day.

"After noon Memorial Day the traffic, while still heavy changed to a more general nature rather than mainly northbound," said Corporal Eino Maki of the Redford Post.

A slight pickup in southbound traffic was reported last night, but the concentrated flow is not expected until Sunday when thousands of families begin returning home from the three-day weekend.

Minor property damage and personal injury accidents took a sudden upsurge, especially along Telegraph road during the rush to cottages and vacation areas, according to officials.

Sheriff's Deputies reported traffic around area parks especially heavy yesterday.

Dodge State Park No. 4, on Cass Lake, reported a Memorial Day crowd of 28,000. The record is 32,000.

Pontiac Lake Recreation Area and Highland Recreation Area reported large crowds. While beach and picnic areas were nearly filled to capacity, there was no congestion.

Authorities are urging all those on weekend outings to leave for home with time to spare.

Assembly Agrees to Name De Gaulle

Baumgartner, president of the Bank of France.

CLIMAX TO CRISIS

Today's announcement was a climax to 18 days of the worst crisis in the history of the Fourth republic.

It began with the revolt of the French army generals in Africa on May 13 and reached its peak on Thursday, May 29, with riotous demonstrations in the streets of Paris and Coty's unprecedented demand that the assembly accept De Gaulle as the only man who could save France from a military dictatorship or a Communist-led "Popular Front."

Coty said France was on the verge of civil war.

On May 15, De Gaulle had broken five years of silence by announcing that: "I hold myself ready to take over the powers of the republic."

RECEIVES VISITORS

De Gaulle received a stream of visitors during the morning, presumably outlining to them a stringent five-point reform program for the nation, and working on his cabinet list.

The list was expected to include former President Vincent Auriol, former Premier and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault, who probably would be foreign minister, former Premier Antoine Pinay and Pierre-Henri Teitgen, a leading member of the Popular Republican Party.

The program he was expected to outline to the deputies tomorrow would include revision of the constitution vastly increasing executive powers; a new program of equality for Algeria; full powers for De Gaulle to run the country for six months or a year without parliamentary interference; foreign policy based on continued membership in NATO, and restoration of civil liberties.

A majority of the Socialist Party, last real stumbling block to his investiture, swung behind De Gaulle and assured him that he could take office.

Pflimlin also called on De Gaulle today and later told newsmen:

"When I presented my resignation last Wednesday, the president replied that he would not accept it until the moment when it appeared possible to form a new government.

"Since such a possibility is appearing today, the president has just informed me that he has accepted my resignation.

"As is the custom, he has asked me to handle current matters."

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Policeman Injured in Car Accident

BIRMINGHAM — An accident yesterday afternoon which hospitalized a Bloomfield Township police officer was the only mishap reported in this area for the first third of the holiday weekend.

William Simpson, 25 a member of the force for three months, is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital Pontiac, being treated for a brain concussion and other possible injuries.

Police Chief Norman Dehnke said his condition this morning is fair.

Simpson, 8 Peggy St., Pontiac, was injured in a police car as he entered Telegraph road from Square Lake road while en route to investigate another accident.

Jacob F. Cipriani, 43 of 2540 Campbell St., Detroit told police he heard the siren but did not stop because he did not see Simpson's car approaching. Cipriani escaped injuries. His wife Joan, 41, and daughter, Christine 12, were treated for minor cuts and then released from Pontiac General Hospital.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed a new car and caused about $3,000 damages at the home of Marley Bricker, 1336 Pilgrim Rd. Assistant Fire Chief Stanley Church said the blaze yesterday was reported by a neighbor.

In a routine check of the Howard Johnson's Restaurant, 6450 Telegraph Rd. Bloomfield Township, Police Sgt. Newton Tubbs and Officer Henry Juntunen noticed a cut window screen and saw someone moving in the building.

They called for assistance in surrounding the building and summoned the assistant manager, Dooris Head to unlock the door.

J. W. Smith 26, of 577½ Going St., Pontiac was arrested and charged with breaking and entering after he was found hiding under a coffee urn. Police said he admitted taking the money and cigarettes found in his pockets.

Members of the Birmingham Lions Club are busy these days working as telephone solicitors. They are making hundreds of calls taking orders for their fourth annual ice cream sale. Delivery and collection are scheduled for June 11 between 3 and 8 p.m.

Proceeds of the sale will further the club's work with the blind and Leader Dog program.

Mrs. Clyde H. Wood

Services for Mrs. Clyde H. (Mary) Wood, 77 of 230 E. Wisner St., Alpena, formerly of Birmingham, will be at 1 p.m. Monday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Cremation will be at White Chapel Cemetery.

Mrs. Wood died suddenly Thursday night at her Alpena home.

She came to Birmingham in 1908 from Detroit and moved to Alpena six years ago. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church here and was a past matron of Birmingham OES Chapter 220.

She is survived by her husband Clyde H.; two daughters, Mrs. David H. Raup of Birmingham; Mrs. John C. Stratton Jr. of Riverside, Conn.; and eight grandchildren.

Silent Crowd Watches Burial of 2 Unknowns

ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Two sisters, both in their 60s, came at noon and sat in the hot sun to be sure of seats for the burial ceremony of the Unknowns of World War II and Korea.

They arrived at Arlington National Cemetery yesterday some three hours early, but they didn't mind. They sat erect on stone slab seats, waiting quietly.

One was Mrs. Estelle Hughes, 67, who said she was the widow of a World War I soldier. The other was Mrs. Virginia Gormley, 63, who said she has a son who's a colonel in the Marine Corps.

Both women live in the Washington area, but many of the 4,000 persons who later filled the gleaming marble amphitheater had come considerable distances.

For example, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McIntyre of Houston, Tex., who have no children of their own, were outside the amphitheater hours before the interment rites. Mrs. McIntyre sat on a wooden box.

The hot sun beat down on the crowds. Before the day was done more than 400 persons were treated for heat prostration or faintness.

Among the throng in the amphitheater were Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts, their merit badges as bright as the decorations worn by the military men around them. There were Gold Star Mothers dressed in white.

The crowd for the most part was quiet, except for some children who didn't realize it wasn't a picnic in the park. One child's cry broke the stillness as the assemblage stood for two minutes in honor of the dead.

There were few tears, no uncontrollable outbursts.

Forty-eight American flags waved gently in the breeze amid the huge marble columns around the circular amphitheater. Colorful wreaths, carried in eight military vans from the Capitol, were banked in front of the domed stage of the amphitheater and beside the tomb of the Unknown Soldier of World War I.

After the ceremonies were over, the thousands filed slowly out of the cemetery, passing rows of gravestones marked by tiny American flags and the red poppies traditional to Memorial Day.

the war with the AP on Bataan and ended it with INS in Toyko with the capture of Tokyo and with the capture of Tokyo Rose. He and Harry Brundage of Cosmopolitan were the only reporters present when Tojo tried to kill himself.

I thought, of course, of Runyon on a murder trial, or covering an execution, or describing the burning of the Morro Castle.

I thought of the brave lads like Howard Handleman and Lowell Bennett, who was shot down over Berlin and not only escaped three times but got the only stories out of Germany — INS stories, my poor friend.

And of Tregaskis, who never could get close enough, walking down a mountain in Italy, his busted helmet in his hand, the top of his head left somewhere up the hill.

NO BARMAID THERE

I still don't think a wonderful friend I had named Jack Singer was getting an interview with the barmaid the day the Japanese killed him. Death came to him in the ward room of the carrier Wasp, torpedoed into a funeral pyer.

A poung navy pilot who survived the sinking brought along the unfinished INS story Jack was writing, and finished it for him.

There weren't any barmaids on Okinawa the day John Cashman of INS was killed in action. John had lost an arm as a serviceman, hooked on with our sports department, went back to the wars as a correspondent and died.

The first reporter killed in Korea was Ray Richards, INS, who might have been home with his grandchildren. Four other INS men were killed there, too.

Someday, son, venture out of doors and ask a couple of good men like Frank Bartholomew and Alan Gould what kind of a time they used to have when they had even an undermanned team of INS reporters competing against them on a big, fast-moving story.

Someday, son, if you improve, you'll be good enough to change the ribbon on their beat-up mills.

Five Traffic Deaths in Michigan So Far

000 cars and trucks crossed the straits span Friday as holiday motorists sought resort areas in the Upper Peninsula.

The low traffic death count in Michigan contrasted with previous Memorial Day weekends. Last year 17 persons died in highway accidents.

The worst Memorial Day traffic death toll was 58 killed in 1941.

Thomas R. Franks, 22, of Detroit was killed Friday when the car he was riding in skidded off a curve on US23. in Livingston County.

Richard Hugh Wilde, 25, of Kalamazoo, was killed Friday when his car ran into a ditch in Macomb County.

John Finley, 26, of Ypsilanti, drowned while bathing in the Huron River in Washtenaw County Friday.

Boyce Phillips Draper, 22, of Flint, and R. A. Ball, 23, of Flint, drowned Friday in Strawberry Lake in Oakland County.

Steven Hamilton, 30, of Grand Rapids, died Friday in a home fire.

James D. Clearhout, 12, of Oak Park, was electrocuted Friday while helping install a television aerial on a summer cottage near Newberry.

Mrs. Jessie Kuhl, 40, of Sebewaing, was killed Friday when her car left a road 3½ miles southwest of Bay Port and struck a tree.

Stanley Wolski, 73, of Detroit, was struck and killed by a car Saturday while crossing a Detroit street.

George E. Pikula, 21, of Detroit was injured fatally Saturday when his sports car went out of control on Northwestern Highway in Farmington and flipped over several times.

Not Under Present Constitution

Will De Gaulle Run Show?

PARIS (UPI) — The real boss in France is the mercurial, unpredictable 595-member National Assembly.

The 1946 constitution gave the assembly sovereign powers. But, with Gen. Charles De Gaulle in power, he will take them away and the premier — for the first time in 12 years — will run the show.

Here is how the division of powers stacks up under the present constitution — unless and until De Gaulle changes it:

PRESIDENT OF THE REPUBLIC: He is elected by a joint session of both houses of parliament for seven years with a maximum of two terms. He presides over full cabinet meetings, signs treaties and laws and designates prime ministers during a government crisis. Otherwise his functions are ornamental.

PREMIER: He is designated by the president and names his own cabinet after being invested by a majority vote of the National Assembly. He has no specific constitutional authority except as chief of the cabinet or council of ministers.

CABINET: The cabinet is appointed by the premier after his investiture by the National Assembly. The ministers have collective responsibility to the National Assembly of the cabinet's general policy. They are equally responsible to it individually for their personal acts. The cabinet must give the go-ahead before the premier may call for an assembly confidence vote.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY: The constitution gives the National Assembly sovereign rights except for those exercised by the nation as a whole through a popular referendum. The assembly has the right to declare war, study and pass laws and vote the national budget. The upper house, the Council of the Republic, or Senate, has only advisory and delaying powers but can not overrule an assembly decision.

Southfield Boy Accidentally Shot Himself to Death

The youth, George Evans, who apparently shot himself, had been missing since Tuesday. The body was found in a clearing near his home with a .22 caliber pistol lying beneath his arm.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Evans.

The mother, who said the pistol belonged to her and had a sensitive trigger, claimed it was used to kill rats around the home.

She theorized the boy was carrying the gun across the clearing when he stumbled or slipped on wet grass, fell and the pistol discharged.

Onion Sets Scarce, Prices Go Zooming

The people who were among the many who bought onion sets from Ernest Campanaro of Walled Lake earlier this year should "really appreciate them," he said today.

Campanaro, owner of the produce department at the Lakeside Super Market, said he had to purchase the "scarce" seed onions for 59 cents a pound this morning at the Eastern Market in Detroit.

His customers, several months ago paid 10 cents a pound when he sold five tons of them.

According to Campanaro, bids went sky high this morning when a farmer came to the market with five 32-pound bags of the scarce sets. Campanaro won the bid for $15 a bag compared to the normal price of $4.40.

Wind Destroys Two Dakota Farms

Rains Sweep Wide Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Warm and humid air produced uncomfortably muggy weather over the eastern two-thirds of the country today and triggered thunderstorms and heavy rains across the North Central states.

Fair skies in New England were an exception to the soggy, cloudy picture elsewhere east of the Rockies. Skies were clear and temperatures hot over the Southwest.

Thunderstorms over the northern tier of states produced high winds which destroyed two farms and partially damaged another at Selz, N. D., about 85 miles northeast of Bismarck. The U. S. weather bureau termed it a possible tornado.

A storm near Crawford in northwestern Nebraska tore down telephone lines and pelted the area with hailstones 7 to 11 inches in circumference.

Warm moist air from the Gulf of Mexico kept temperatures at 80 degrees during the night as far north as Kansas City while 70 and 80-degree readings were the rule from Texas eastward to the Atlantic. It was 10 to 20 degrees warmer than 24 hours earlier from the Mississippi Valley eastward through the Ohio Valley and to Atlantic Seaboard sections.

Thunderstorms in the Dakotas were widely scattered and rainfall amounts were light in most areas.

Elsewhere in North Central sections, rainfall amounts were mostly light.

Humidity readings over the Great Lakes area were higher than any recorded in the prolonged spell of dry weather there.

Near Half Million Hear Billy Graham

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham ends his fifth week here tonight with attendance pushing the half-million mark.

The tally is 477,100 in the 16,500-seat Cow Palace. "Decisions for Christ" total 17,254.

He told a crowd of 15,000 last night his six-week crusade will be extended for at least one week, to June 15, and possibly another.

Speaking on Memorial Day, the evangelist said "The liberties we enjoy were purchased by the blood of other men."

Death Claims Driver in Classic '500' Race

go through that corner. He made no effort to back off.

"I'll never forgive Ellisian for what he did. Pat O'Connor was the most honorable guy in racing."

ELISIAN TALKS

"The newspaper guys are killing me," Elisian said.

"I haven't been notified that I have been suspended, and as far as I'm concerned, I'm not. I don't know why I lost it (the car).

"I had driven through that corner faster. I have had these hot dogs (race drivers) spin in front of me and run me through the wall on other tracks. It sure wasn't intentional. I liked O'Connor as well as anybody."

Fengler said he is investigating circumstances of the ragged race start, in which the entire front row got ahead of the pace car.

The ragged race start was protested officially by Pat Clancy, Memphis race car owner, but Fengler overruled the protest.

The mishap followed the worst start in the 47-year history of the race.

Jimmy Bryan, of Phoenix, Ariz., missed the pileup by inches and went on to win the race in a Belond Special at an average speed of 133.791 miles an hour.

Only driver hurt besides O'Connor was rookie Jerry Unser of Long Beach, Calif., who suffered a dislocated shoulder when his car flipped over the retaining wall in the mass smashup.

The big wreck, worst since a 7-car smashup in 1930, eliminated the two fastest cars of the time trials—driven by Dick Rathmann and Ed Elisian.

Only one of seven Michigan cars entered in the 500-mile race at Indianapolis finishd th long grind yesterday.

A Novi Special driven by Bill Cheesbourg of Tucson, Ariz., finished 10th with an average speed of 129.149. The Special lined up last in the 33-car field.

The Novi was one of two sleek racing cars representing the Oakland County community. The other Novi, driven by Paul Russo of Webster Groves, Mo., dropped out after 397½ miles because of mechanical trouble.

Russo said his trouble stemmed from the pile-up.

Three other Michigan entries were eliminated by the crackup. They included Dick Rathmann, Paul Goldsmith of St. Clair Shores and Len Sutton, who was driving the Jim Robbins Special from Royal Oak.

2 STROKES BEHIND — Bob Rosburg, of Palo Alto, Calif., blasts out of a trap at the 5th hole at Red Run in the second round of the Western Open yesterday. He is tied with four others two strokes off the leader, Tommy Jacobs, who has 135. (Tourney details on page 17.)

Gas Price War Comes to Temporary Halt

DETROIT (UPI) — The gas price battle waging in the Detroit area has halted temporarily while independent dealers wait for the major firms to "stabilize their prices."

To date, the rounds of cuts have brought normal prices down to 25.9 cents per gallon for regular and 28.9 cents for premium. A spokesman for Amro Inc., said he didn't think prices could go much lower.

Start Work Monday on State Police Post

Builders, of Birmingham. Howard H. Stanton has the mechanical contract and Fred W. Moote the electrical. The latter are Pontiac contractors.

The building will follow a new design currently used for all new State Police posts, Mulick said.

Constructed of brick with wood siding, it will house administrative offices, car wash, furnace room and storage areas on the first, or ground floor. Below that will be a lower level with squad room, lockers and more storage space, and on the top floor will be living quarters for unmarried officers.

On the 30,000 square feet site will be located a 16,000 square feet parking lot for patrol cars and the general public, Mulick said.

The land has been leased from the county under a long-term agreement, Mulick said.

Funds for the building were appropriated by the Legislature two years ago, but not released by the State Building Division until this year.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Measures Must Be Taken at Once to Avoid Air Collisions

Collisions in the air are altogether too frequent. Furthermore pilots tell you confidentially that the number of "near misses" is even more alarming.

Accidents like this aren't anything new. Your scrivener remembers a collision in the air in 1918, when two army pilots crashed into each other in training.

That's 40 years ago.

Also, VERNON CASTLE, of The Royal Flying Corps, gave his life to avoid hitting a student in the air at a Texas field.

I attribute the current epidemic to two obvious things: speed and the increasing number of planes. It isn't negligence or ineptitude.

The collision of the two transcontinental liners at The Grand Canyon is so purely circumstantial that we'll rule that out. But the others demand immediate study and corrective measures.

Let's sit quietly on the edge of a runway and do a few computations on speed, sight and physical reactions. Two big passenger planes are flying toward each other. Each is going 350 miles an hour or about six miles a minute—a mile in ten seconds. If they're headed toward each other, and one passes Birmingham and the other Pontiac, eight miles apart, each will travel half way in 40 seconds. Really, that isn't very long, is it?

Something no bigger than an airplane isn't particularly noticeable at a distance of eight miles. Remember, these planes are flying toward each other and neither gets the more conspicuous broadside view.

Now let's suppose that it's just a wee bit mirky, and let's introduce those fleecy, intermittent clouds that look so soft and beautiful and yet which are just as deadly as the drabbest fog.

Each airplane can be concealed.

Or, suppose just one is hidden. The collision could be just as swift and just as devastating.

Suppose the one that's concealed fleetingly breaks into the open at four miles? At this distance with perfect visibility, each of the pilots will cover his half of the distance in 20 seconds.

So, two big, fine planes, four miles apart, can crash into each other head-on in twenty seconds.

Pilots do have distractions. They must check their instruments. They must communicate with the field. They must talk to the ground and listen. They must hear route beams. They have to watch right and left as well as head-on. Those big, hurtling shadows can come from any angle . . . . . or from above . . . . . or below.

If two skillful boys see each other AT FOUR MILES DISTANCE they must move swiftly to avoid an accident. Human reactions take a little time and then it takes SOME time for the plane to respond to the controls. It isn't all instantaneous.

Now let's complicate the picture the way it has been compounded lately. Let's toss in a jet fighter such as I rode a month ago. Let's assume the jet is doing 960 miles an hour which is 16 miles a minute or A MILE IN LESS THAN FOUR SECONDS. If the jet were aimed at the passenger plane, it would cover two miles in less than eight seconds . . . . . and of course the other airplane is approaching also. Let your own imagination handle it from here on. Suppose they were TWO miles apart when they first saw each other.

You say, "Let the jets travel at 30 or 40 thousand feet and keep the transports beneath." That is an avowed objective, but even then the jets have to climb to their higher levels and return again right through the transport lanes.

Once I was returning from San Diego in a Navy plane and a kindly major let me take the controls for 160 miles. He told me to fly at 10,000 feet. Three times the major said: "Hey, you're at 11,000 feet," and three times I slid hastily back a bit abashed. If he had explained that east-west and north-south traffic use odd or even-numbered thousands of feet, I would have been more attentive.

Bad weather conditions around airports need even more attention. When the big transports "stack up" and visibility on the ground is poor, we have real danger. They dispatch some to other airports, but even so, it's a hazardous situation.

This whole problem needs study immediately. It needs rules that no one can break. We must work out safety for many times the planes we have today — for just think what's ahead in ten years.

Next fall will be several crashes too late!

And in Conclusion . . . . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Overheard in the Press Sports Department: "The Yanks are in a slump. They've lost one in a row." . . . . . Magazines are running into some foul weather. Some of the lesser fry have checked out for good and news stand sales are off as high as 40 per cent on some of the others . . . . . New York handed out over a thousand summonses the second day of their anti-litter bug campaign . . . . . A secret operative tells me we'll fire another satellite in June (Navy) and the Army will whisk one aloft in the early fall.

One of those Wayne County bistros bore this sign (I'm told): 'closed on account of altercations." . . . . . Railroad red caps get 35 cents a bag now. Maybe that's why so many people are carrying their own . . . . . London's crime commissioner, Sir John Nott-Bower blames the big upswing of crime in England to TV which features crime 24 hours a day . . . . . Records that used to sell a million are lucky now if they pass 300,000. Parents are more cautions with that teenage spending money.

Overheard in the hall: "He not only lied about the size of his yacht, he made me row the last half mile." . . . . . The other day I met lucky ELIZABETH NEWMAN at GMC Truck who won a Cadillac plus $1,750 in cash in the big GM contest. She's a very personable gal and she must have a lot on the ball. She whipped 285,000 competitors . . . . . Brides, here's a new one. Cook your steak with a blow torch. It's 40 times as fast and is cheaper. The idea came from France . . . . . Unless the government comes up with some aid for the railroads, there will be a few bankruptcies in the days ahead. Our own Grand Trunk's loss is creeping up toward a million dollars a month.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

ROME, ITALY—The Colosseum still reflects the brutal might of ancient Rome. Here 50,000 spectators watched gladiators fight to the death. Two emperors tried to stop the bloody amusements without success. But one simple monk succeeded.

Telemachus, a Syrian, who came to Rome on this sacred mission, went into the arena, tried to separate the gladiators, and pleaded in the name of humanity, to the patrons. He was stoned to death. Yet, his act resulted in an edict abolishing the games forever.

June Bride Legends Are Ancient

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

The idea of marrying in June goes back to the Romans, who thought it was a lucky month for weddings, especially at the time of the full moon.

You sometimes hear that June is the marriage month because it was named for and dedicated to Juno, the goddess who was especially interested in young women.

It is much more likely that the month was named in honor of the Juniores, the lower branch of the Roman legislature. May was named for the Majores, the upper house.

The term "honeymoon" comes from a marriage custom of the ancient Teutons, who drank a honey wine for a month (or moon) after the wedding. They say Attila the Hun drank so much of this wine following his marriage that he died.

It is also possible that the honeymoon, as a time away from the former home and the old family ties, symbolizes the period when the groom hid his newly captured bride from her kinsmen while he bargained with them to gain their consent. He was in a good bargaining position if he was already in possession of the "property" for which he was negotiating.

It is bad luck for the bride to step over the threshold the first time she enters her new home. She must be carried over. This may go back to the time when Romulus, who needed wives for his soldiers, solved the problem by luring the Sabine male population out of their villages while his men went in and carried off the Sabine women.

Or it may refer to the cave man days when a man in search of a bride just hit her over the head and carried her home. Why it should have anything to do with good or bad luck is not clear.

In some places it is the custom to hand the bride a poker, a shovel and a pair of fire tongs when she comes into her new home. This is not an invitation for her to get to work, but a ceremonial way of giving her authority over the house.

When the bride comes to the church, if she will leap over a rope at the church gate she will leave all her bad traits and ill-humor behind her.

Don't go in one door of the church and out another. That brings bad luck.

Whichever one of the bridal couple steps out of the church door first after the wedding will be the master in the household.

The bride must weep on her wedding day. It's bad luck if she doesn't.

She must not make—or even help make—her wedding cake.

The real reason for wearing the ring on the fourth finger is that this finger cannot be straightened out except in company with the rest of the hand. It is not easy for the ring to fall off a crooked finger. There is no reason why it should be worn on the left hand rather than the right.

It is especially lucky to be married in old shoes.

The complete wedding dress should not be tried on until the wedding day. One way to be sure you are complying with this superstition is to save one final stitch until the moment the bride leaves for the church.

It is bad luck for the bride to look into the mirror after she is fully dressed in her wedding gown. The way to avoid breaking this rule is to leave one glove off until after you take the last look.

Dr. William Brady Says:

High Calcium Diet Best in Case of Shaking Palsy

To the best of my recollection I never saw a case of Parkinsonism, Parkinson's disease, shaking palsy, paralysis agitans, in the 400-bed charity hospital where I interned for two years. But I had seen and studied a case when I began the study of medicine. The case of Parkinsonism I had studied intensively was a lulu! The lady victim had everything — the mask face, twinkling eye, pill-rolling tremor, rigidity, slow studied movements, body inclined forward, neck extended and rigid, elbows flexed and slightly abducted so that the trembling fingers were at hip level.

DR. BRADY

She walked with reluctant, shortening steps as though she might totter at any moment, but never fell. She kept her eyes wide open and seemed never to wink. When she changed the direction of her vision her eyes remained fixed while her whole head and body turned.

The unsophisticated observer may infer from such a patient's attitude, mask-like expression, and taciturnity that he has lost his marbles. From intimate acquaintance with the patient and other Parkinsonians, I can assure you any such inference is wrong.

In recent years several new drugs or modifications of old drugs have been exploited as superior to the older drugs in the treatment of Parkinson's tremor. As you might expect, I doubt that the new, and of course more expensive, drugs do any more for the Parkinsonian than the older drugs did.

If this comment is brought to the attention of the leading medical merchants of your community (They seldom see one of my pieces unless some one "brings it to their attention") he will probably be too busy to bother with it or he'll marvel at my nerve offering my two-bit opinion against the "accepted" opinion of "recognized medical authorities." Nevertheless it is my belief that the treatment of Parkinsoniam today is not notably different in effect from the treatment generally used in the past.

Now I hesitate, though I feel in conscience bound to add that a high calcium diet is advisable for most Parkinsonians. If for any reason such diet is not satisfactory, then the Parkinsonian should supplement the ordinary diet with a suitable daily ration of calcium and vitamin D.

Voice of the People

'Stop Crying Over Trees; We Must Move Forward

Here we go. Hang on to your hat. The bleeding, blubbering sisters that want to "Spare the Tree" are in full cry. The Voice of the People carried a letter weeping over the trees we're cutting down on Perry street.

Let's stop all progress and refuse to cut down a silly tree. Let's take down the Pontiac Motor plant, brick by brick, and grow back the forest that once stood there. Let's level New York City and put back the dear, lovely trees that once graced Manhattan Isle. Let's blast away all our churches, as every one required the elimination of some darling, defenseless trees. Let's quit building schools and water the trees that stand where the schools should be. Let's rip up all the pavements of the land and grow back some "noble sentinels of the forest."

Let's quit breaking into tears over trees that stop progress. Let's go forward. Let's cut down trees as rapidly as our ancestors did and build a nation. Let's follow God's commands and move forward and upward. Let's be adults instead of weepy, weak-kneed babes.

The writer of that letter says "I hate to see my town ruined for the purpose of living." What greater purpose is there than living? That's the Law of the Lord. Live and progress. If living doesn't come ahead of trees, let's all die now.

Whoops, my dear.

An old theory is exploded. Jerry Lee Lewis says it was all right for him to marry wife number three before he was divorced from wife number two as he really married wife number two before he was divorced from number one. Thus for the first time in the annals of man, two wrongs make a right.

State Poitical Enemies Sometimes Cooperate

LANSING (UPI) — Members of Michigan's two major political parties are not always the bitter personal enemies their public statements make them appear to be.

Often, quietly and behind the scenes, members of the Democratic and Republican parties actually cooperate to further their main mutual interest—greater public participation in politics.

Democratic Secretary of State James M. Hare gave a splendid example of this undercover cooperation.

Hare wrote a letter to Republican State Chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer recommending a woman for work in the Republican Party.

"She has retired from the Detroit school system and I think you will get a fine worker for your party," Hare told Lindemer.

He explained he had talked to the woman, a long-time acquaintance, and she said she was interested in working for the Republican Party but didn't know whom she should contact. Hare volunteered to contact Lindemer for her and did.

Lindemer quickly accepted Hare's suggestion but couldn't resist needling the Secretary of State.

"Does this indicate a slight degree of partiality toward the party of truth and virtue," he asked. "We would love to have you join us."

Hare said he was merely interested in seeing a person interested in politics take an active part in it.

State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie and his wife have probably the most ambitious hobby of any member of the state's official family.

Mackie lives on a farm south of Lansing and in his spare time (which Mrs. Mackie says is not much) he works on the farm. Most of the farm operations are carried on by hired help, however.

Mrs. Mackie doesn't get much time to spend on the farm either because she works as a volunteer in the campaign headquarters of Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, who is seeking the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator.

Warns A-Power Plant Would Endanger Lives

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) was told today it would be playing with the lives of millions if it permits construction of a nuclear power plant near Monroe, Mich.

Ben Sigal, counsel for protesting labor unions, said the AEC's issuance of a temporary construction permit in August, 1956, was partially the result of "tremendous pressure" by business groups.

Sigal voiced his views as the commission heard arguments, at its Germantown, Md., headquarters near here, on the union's fight to halt construction of the fast breeder reactor planned by Power Reactor Development Co. (PRDC).

"The commission ought not to play with the safety of millions of people," Sigal told the commissioners.

W. Graham Clayton Jr., PRDC counsel, disputed the unions' claim of danger and said:

Sigal denied the unions wanted the 73½ million dollar project dropped.

The AEC staff and the State of Michigan were to present their arguments later.

Clayton opened the arguments by contending it is not necessary to prove as high a degree of safety when applying for a construction permit as is needed when operation is to begin.

In developmental projects such as the proposed reactor, he said, issuance of a construction permit does not mean the AEC has approved final operation of the nuclear power plant.

The PRDC counsel denied the unions' contentions that the combination of privately owned utilities does not have sufficient financial reserves to finance the project.

Sigal contended the AEC had disregarded the law in issuing the temporary construction permit. The commission, he said, had failed to determine whether the project would be safe.

The union counsel indicated his principal objection was the close proximity of the proposed reactor to the Detroit and Toledo metropolitan areas.

Bryan Wins Crash-Ridden Indianapolis Speedway '500' Classic

Champ's Victory Dinner Saddened by Death of Pat O'Connor

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Jimmy Bryan, who now has won everything available in championship closed course auto racing, tonight will pick up a check for about $100,000 at a 500-mile race victory dinner saddened by the death of Pat O'Connor.

O'Connor died in his burning car on the first lap of the Memorial Day classic yesterday after the worst start in the 47-year history of the race.

Last year the cars hurried helter-skelter out of the pits, under their own power and tried to line up back of the pace car on a parade lap. Two collided and never reached the starting lineup.

A supposed improvement yesterday was a single file lineup of the cars in their starting order, with engines running, in the pits. They were to be driven into the traditional three-car lines as the pace car pulled away for the parade lap.

Dick Rathman, in the No. 1 starting position, got away too fast and was halfway around the track before anybody else, including Hanks with the pace car, got started. His mates in the front line, Ed Elisian and Jimmy Reece, finally caught up with him and all three were running half a lap ahead of the field.

Rathman was ahead going into the first turn. Elisian tried to pass him on the third turn and lost control. In an instant, that northeast corner of the track looked like a race car junk yard.

O'Connor, a 29-year-old racing veteran from North Vernon, Ind., ran over the rear of the auto driven by Reece, a native Oklahoman now living in Indianapolis.

O'Conner's car overturned and burst into flames. The body was unrecognizable.

A car driven by Jerry Unser, a first-time starter from Long Beach, Calif., ran over two other cars and plunged over the retaining wall but he escaped with a dislocated shoulder.

Of the 15 cars in the mixup, eight were knocked out of the race. Three kept on running. Four got back in the race after repairs.

O'Connor's death was the 48th in the speedway's history, including two years of races prior to the first 500 in 1911.

Bryan, winner of the Monza 500 in Italy last year and the United States auto club champion the last two years, started in seventh position in the Belond Special driven to victory in the Memorial Day classic last year by Sam Hanks

The husky cigar-chewing Bryan missed skidding and spinning cars by inches and found himself in first place at the end of the tragic first lap.

The lead changed 17 times before the Arizona cowboy pulled into the victory circle for the winner's kiss from movie star Shirley MacLaine.

Johnny Boyd of Fresno, Calif., finished 42 seconds back of Amick.

The winning speed, 133.791, was the second-fastest in the history of the race, in spite of the big wreck and numerous spins.

Only 14 cars were running at the finish.

Bryan won $20,850 in lap prizes—$150 a lap for each he led. Amick won $3,900 in lap prizes, fourth-place Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., $2,700 and Boyd $2,500.

The crowd was estimated over 150,000.

KILLED — Young Pat O'Connor, 29-year-old racer from North Vernon, Ind., sat helplessly in car as he spun over another racer and met death on the first lap of the 500-mile Indianapolis Speedway race yesterday. A bad start caused a jam and 15 cars were involved in the crash. Two were able to get back into the race.

Press Photographer Tells of 500-Classic Disaster

(Tom Gerls, Pontiac Press Photographer, was on hand for his 5th straight Indianapolis 500-Mile classic yesterday, and was eye-witness to one of the most horrendous starts in history of the event).

By TOM GERLS
Pontiac Press Photographer

INDIANAPOLIS—It was one of the most disorganized starts in history of the Memorial Day 500-Mile Indianapolis Classic.

Without doubt, even most of the drivers were caught by surprise and many out of position when the starter gave the signal by dropping the green flag.

The three front row cars had just passed the rest of the field to take up their positions when the flag dropped.

At this point the starter possibly could have avoided much of the confusion by giving the signal for another lap so that the field could close up properly and straighten up their lines.

But, when the green signal was given, every car made a mad dash to the first corner and there were as many as eight cars abreast.

This is where the jam started. Ed Elisian went into a spin and Dick Rathmann and Jimmy Reece became tangled in the closely bunched corner.

O'Connor, who was moving up, had no place to go and sat helpless as his car hit Bob Veith and then flipped over the car driven by Reece.

O'Connor apparently was fatally injured as he came down on his head after the flip. His car burst into flames.

A moment later Jerry Unser in a McKay Special hurtled the retaining wall and suffered a fractured shoulder, while other cars screeched and screamed to avoid the pileups.

It was one of the most horrifying starts I had ever witnessed and the question is, could it have been avoided?

DEATH CRASH — Pat O'Connor, car number 4, sits helpless as his car flips over the top of the car driven by Jimmy Reece in the first turn of the 500-mile classic. O'Connor's car then turned over, caught fire and burned as he was killed.

Jacobs Slips But Holds Lead

By BILL CORNWELL

Memorial Day was a day of spectacular recoveries and disastrous failures for the "big name" players in the 55th Western Open golf championship at Red Run.

Young Tommy Jacobs, the former USGA Junior champion from Whittier, Calif., who paced the field at the end of Thursday's first round with a phenomenal 64, cooled off to a 71 yesterday, but still retained a two-stroke lead at the halfway point with a score of 135, nine strokes below par.

But the top news Friday was provided by four veteran professionals of the tournament trail—defending champ Doug Ford, Bo Wininger, Lloyd Mangrum and National Open king Dick Mayer.

Each golfer staged a remarkable comeback to escape elimination after disappointing opening rounds. The field was cut to 74 at the 36-hole mark and all four needed great scores to stay alive.

Bill Casper Jr., one of the bright stars of the younger set, and ex-U.S. Open winner Ed Furgol furnished the tragic aspects to yesterday's action by failing to survive the cut, which used 147 as a dividing line.

Ford, who opened with a dismal 75, bounced back strong Friday with a seven-under-par 65, the day's best individual effort, for a 36-hole total of 140.

Wininger's rally was perhaps the greatest of the bunch. After shooting a first round 78, the sturdy Texan rebounded for a sparkling 66 to stand even with par at 144. His 66 was one of two fired yesterday, Gene Littler coming through with the other.

Mangrum came back from his initial 75 to post a 68, featuring seven birdies, for a total of 143, while Mayer carded a 69 to go with his opening 76 for 145.

Ford's round of 65 included 29 putts, three on the 6th green for a bogey, four straight birdies starting at No. 7 and eight "birds" overall, and a canned chip shot for a birdie on the 15th hole. Wininger's 66 was spotlighted by seven "birds" and nine one-putt greens.

Littler, tied with four others for 2nd place at 137, had the hottest putter during his six-under-par spree as he one-putted 10 greens. He also birdied seven holes.

For the first time in 15 tournaments, Casper failed to survive the midway slash. After a first round 71, he soared to an 80 for a score of 151 and disqualification.

The turning point came on the 362-yard 16th hole where Casper took an eight after needing only a three-foot putt for a par four. He missed the putt, then carelessly reached out and tapped the ball toward the cup. It struck his foot for a two-stroke penalty and he finally got down in eight.

Casper went seven over par on the last four holes and the lapse was fatal. Ed Furgol, whose good right arm has not fully recuperated from recent surgery, added a 78 to Thursday's 79 for 157, which dropped him from the ranks.

Joining Littler two strokes in arrears of Jacobs were Bob Rosburg, Doug Sanders, Don Whitt and steady Dow Finsterwald. Sam Snead, Frank Stranahan and Mike Souchak were three shots behind the leader at 138.

Masters champion Arnold Palmer and youthful Tony Lema came next with 139's while Dave Ragan, Jim Ferree, Al Baling and Paul Harney were in Ford's company at 140. Among those in the 141 bracket were Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Ken Venturi and Pontiac's Gene Bone.

South African Gary Player, Mike Dietz of Indianwood and amateur Tom Draper from host Red Run were among 13 golfers deadlocked at 142. After a double bogey on No. 2 and a bogey on the 3rd hole, Player went four below par the rest of the way for a 71.

Max Evans, former assistant pro at Rochester, was in the 143 group while Jack Fleck and Wally Burkemo were even with par 144's.

Only three amateurs—Chuck Kocsis, Bob Whiting and Draper—survived the cut. Kocsis had 145 and Whiting 146.

Jacobs encountered trouble on the back nine after making the turn in 33 with the help of four birdies, three in a row. He had three bogies and a "bird" coming home for 38 and his one-under-par scorecard of 71.

Veteran Toney Penna, who qualified for today's 18-hole session, had to leave the tourney scene for business reasons. Meadowbrook's Chick Harbert, who probably would have been a qualifier, was forced out of action yesterday after six holes by an ailing back.

The 73-man field started touring Red Run this morning at 9:45 with the last threesome leaving the 1st tee at 1:45 p.m. Today's field will be reduced to the low 50 plus ties for Sunday's final 18-hole round.

Tigers Dumped Twice

DETROIT (AP)—Manager Al Lopez asked left fielder Al Smith if he wanted to come out of the ball game to rest his injured leg. But Smith insisted in staying in the lineup while the Detroit Tigers batted in the last of the ninth.

Because of Smith's decision, and inadequate pitching by Tiger moundsmen, the Chicago White Sox edged the Tigers 6-5 in the first game of yesterday's holiday doubleheader.

Southpaw Billy Pierce, who seldom has performed up to par against the team that traded him away, spun a six-hitter that stood up for a 4-2 nightcap victory before 30,411 fans.

All this added up to a disappointing end to the Tigers' five-game winning streak and meant that they failed to pick up vital ground while the New York Yankees were losing a twin-bill.

The Tigers were guilty of poor base running and poor fielding as the White Sox made it eight victories in their last nine starts.

The White Sox had 25 hits in the doubleheader and they included a pair of home runs by ex-Tiger Earl Torgeson and one by Sherm Lollar. All three home runs came in the first game, but it was a ninth inning single by Lollar that brought across the winning run.

Still it took a spectacular catch by Smith to close out the contest. With pinch-hitter Lou Skizas on first and one man out, Frank Bolling hit a towering drive to left. Smith leaped high against the screen and pulled it down and the relay back to first was in plenty of time to double Skizas.

Detroit used four pitchers in the opener and four more in the nightcap.

Jim Bunning, who has completed only one of his eight starts, took the most of the first game punishment as he was batted out in the fourth inning. Bill Hoeft was tagged with the defeat.

Hank Aguirre started the nightcap and was driven out in the sixth when the White Sox iced the contest with two runs that wiped out an early Detroit lead. Red Wilson homered for the Tigers in the first game and Kaline connected in the second. It was Wilson's first and Kaline's fourth.

The same teams meet tonight at Briggs Stadium with Paul Foytack (4-4) opposing Early Wynn (5-2). The series will wind up with a single game Sunday as the Tigers end their current homestand.

U.S. Open Sectional Qualifiers Monday

It's National Open season again and 159 golfers, including virtually all of the star-studded field now competing in the Western Open at Red Run, will seek 29 berths in Monday's 36-hole sectional qualifiers.

Red Run and Plum Hollow are the sites for the Michigan section, part of a nation-wide qualifying program Monday which will see an all-time record entry of 2,150 players bid for 144 places at 28 locations throughout the country.

Michigan's huge field, divided into two groups, will start leaving the 1st tee at Red Run and Plum Hollow simultaneously at 6 a.m. Each group plays 18 holes at each course.

One player has already qualified for the annual classic. Ted Makalena made the grade last Monday at Honoluly, shooting 72-75—147 to top a 15-man field.

A total of 17 golfers will be exempt from qualifying, five of them previous winners. Exempt champions include defender Dick Mayer, Cary Middlecoff, Ed Furgol, Jack Fleck and Ben Hogan.

The 10 players who finished closest to Mayer last year at Inverness in Toledo are others not required to qualify. These include Julius Boros, Jimmy Demaret, Ken Venturi, Fred Hawkins, Sam Snead, Roberto De Vicenzo, Billy Maxwell, Wally Burkemo, Chick Harbert and amateur Billy Joe Patton.

PGA champion Lionel Hebert and amateur champ Hillman Robbins complete the list of qualifying exemptions.

Under regulations adopted by the USGA last year, only the last five National Open winners are exempt. This move forces five ex-champs to qualify Monday—Gene Sarazen, Tony Manero, Sam Parks Jr., Lew Worsham and Lloyd Mangrum. It will be the final year of exemption for Hogan.

Mangrum, now playing at Red Run, will seek his position here, along with most of the others in the Western field.

Smile Wiped Off Casey's Face

Yanks Shocked as Nats Take Doubleheader

Cardinals Also Jolt Giants to Cut Lead in NL Race

United Press International

Casey Stengel's moaning but the other managers are laughing today because maybe — just maybe — there will be a pennant race in the American League this year after all.

Just a week ago a grim gag was being told in the A. L. dugouts that "the Yankees might clinch the flag by Memorial Day." But instead that holiday produced a doubleheader loss by the Yankees to, of all people, the Washington Senators, 13-8 and 7-2, to run their losing streak to four games.

The San Francisco Giants, leading the National League, were similarly jolted, 7-6 and 8-1, to the Cardinals.

But, even though that cut the Giants' lead over the Braves to a single game, it wasn't a shocker like the Yankees' humiliation by the Senators. While the Yankees were rolling up wins, Stengel kept talking about the 1953 Yankee team that won 18 traight games and then lost nine straight — now maybe somebody will listen to him.

The panic isn't on yet, of course, because the Yankees still lead by 6½ games but it was stunning to see the Senators outslug the Yankees. Roy Sievers smashed three homers in the twin bill and Jim Lemon two.

The Senators blew a six-run lead in the opening game and then came back to win when Sievers and Ken Aspromonte each clouted a three-run homer in the eighth inning. But they led all the way in the nightcap after Sievers and Lemon homered in the first inning. Chuck Stobbs won the opener in relief while Pedro Ramos went the route in the second.

In other A. L. holiday games, the White Sox ran their winning streak to five games by beating Detroit, 6-5 and 4-2; Boston handed Baltimore its eighth straight defeat, 2-0, before the Orioles took the nightcap by the same score; and the Kansas City A's rallied to win the nightcap, 7-6, after losing the opener, 7-1.

In other N. L. games, the Cubs rallied twice in the ninth inning to beat Los Angeles, 3-2 and 10-8; Milwaukee beat Pittsburgh, 7-4, in the opener and then lost, 12-6; and Cincinnati drubbed Philadelphia in a single game, 10-1.

Frank Sullivan of the Red Sox turned in the holiday's top pitching job, holding the Orioles to two hits — both infield singles by Al Pilarcik — in their first game as Frank Malzone supplied the runs he needed with a two-run homer. Big Arnie Portocarrero snapped the Orioles' losing streak in the nightcap with a four-hit job, his third win over Boston this year.

Ray Narleski's six-hit hurling gave the Indians their opening win as Rocky Colavito and Larry Doby homered in support. Bob Cerv drove in four runs in the nightcap for the A's, three with his 13th homer, but Mickey Vernon's three-run homer in the ninth forced Duke Maas to appear in relief to save the win for the A's.

The Giants lost their see-saw opener in St. Louis in the 10th inning when Ray Crone's wild pitch enabled Dick Schofield to ramp home from third base. Jim Brosnan sackled the Giants on nine hits in the second game, missing a shutout only on Valmy Thomas' homer. Ken Boyer hit two for the Cards in the second.

Ex-Dodgers Walt (Moose) Moryn was the Cub hero in their twin win over Los Angeles. His double was the only extra-base blow in the three-run rally the Cubs staged in the ninth inning to win their opener. And he blasted three homers in the nightcap, including a two-run clout in the ninth inning to win the game.

Milwaukee came from behind with four runs in the ninth to win their opener at Pittsburgh, with the help of loose play by third baseman Frank Thomas. But their four homers in the nightcap were buried under an 18-hit Pirate attack.

Bryan's Father Hopes He'll Quit

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—"Now I hope he'll retire," said R. L. Bryan, switching off the radio after hearing his son, Jimmy won the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

"Jimmy halfway promised me a couple of years ago that he'd quit if he won the big one," said Bryan, a Phoenix fireman.

"I'm not a superstitious man, but I've noticed that Indianapolis winners ever since 1911 have had a record of running into trouble when they kept on racing."

Wrigley Thinks NL Will Be 10 Club Loop in '59

CHICAGO (AP)—Owner Philip K. Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs says he wouldn't be surprised if the National League expanded from 8 to 10 teams for next season.

The National League doesn't need New York, Wrigley said last night in discussing a report of a move toward a return of the nation's biggest city to the league.

"New York had three teams and didn't seem to be too excited about baseball," Wrigley said. "Now they're blasting the Dodgers for going out to Los Angeles.

Wrigley based his hunch that the league might expand next season on the fact "we have a very impetuous group."

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State scored three runs in the fifth inning breaking a 5-5 tie and defeated Detroit 11-5 in a non-conference baseball game yesterday.
