5 Big Problems Facing Pontiac for Decision

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, Pontiac Press

Pontiac is facing several major problems. Perhaps they can be tied together wholly or in part. Brief, this is the list:

A—Location of the new road.
B—Downtown shopping problem.
C—St. Joseph Hospital drive.
D—City Hospital financing.
E—New Court House

The Chamber of Commerce and The Downtown Pontiac Association have endorsed the current suggestion for a big arterial highway running through Pontiac a few blocks west of Saginaw Street.

★ ★ ★

This is the route proposed by the Oakland County Planning Commission. The group studied various possible avenues in some detail and suggests that the north-south Detroit-Bay City road cut through Pontiac as indicated. In fact, if the road is located too far from the populous areas, it will not qualify for Federal aid.

Any new road, anywhere, hurts someone.

Most progress does.

★ ★ ★

The proposed road would be a beautiful, 350 foot wide, six lane highway to expedite local and express traffic. It would help shoppers come into the city from the north and the south.

★ ★ ★

Of the estimated cost of $20 million, it is anticipated federal funds would pay $18 million and the state $1 million—if the road is approved before all the outside help is allocated elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

As Harold Blackwood pointed out graphically a few days ago, the value of some downtown property is slowly lessening and he believes several blocks of Saginaw Street stores deserve some tax relief as recognition of their decreasing values.

The new road might help correct this and return these locations to their former worth through increased trade from around the county. If this doesn't happen, tax payers in general will have to assume the amount by which the Saginaw street property is reduced.

★ ★ ★

The need of a new north-south road from Detroit to Bay City is paramount. Probably every resident of Oakland County has driven over the Dixie and it stands as one of the most heavily traveled highways in the country. Its very crowded condition makes it exceedingly dangerous. It needs assistance— badly.

The route through Oakland County of a new road is up to the State Highway Department, with the approval of Federal authorities, the City of Pontiac and Oakland County. Most Pontiac residents are willing and eager to support ANY good road, realizing that wherever it goes, it will affect someone adversely. We don't live in a desert oasis or on abandoned farms. We live in a crowded land of people and activities.

Hence, all progress hits someone.

★ ★ ★

Nor is the original toll road necessarily dead. George Higgins still insists the proposed arterial highway would in no way interfere with the toll road and that he regards both as a wise and practical ideas.

★ ★ ★

The toll road met with strong opposition from some of those along its proposed route. If the same reception is accorded the new highway, Oakland's road situation may well languish in a sea of personal bickering while the Federal funds are seized and used by more alert and more united communities.

This heavily traveled county needs relief badly. It needs new roads. Hundreds of thousands of people are moving here in permanent homes. We need the additional traffic and trade that would flow from a modern set up. It would be unfortunate to see a few citizens battling again to check progress.

Egypt Opens Suez to Ships; Israel to Quit Aqaba Today

Sharm el Sheikh Airlift to Pick Up Last 100 Troops

Cautious Israelis Blow Up Military Installations Before Withdrawal

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)— Israeli forces were scheduled to withdraw today from the last soil they won in the fall invasion of Egypt. About 100 men and a girl will be airlifted from Sharmel Sheikh at the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba. Finnish units of the U. N. Emergency Force will move in.

With no guarantee of how long the U. N. troops would remain in control of Sharm el Sheikh, the Israelis yesterday destroyed Egyptian military installations which had been used to keep ships from reaching the Israeli port of Eilat, at the head of the gulf.

The Israelis blew up concrete pillboxes, bunkers, an ammunition depot and two six-inch coastal guns. They already had spiked the guns after the invasion.

Earlier, the Israelis forces had shipped home valuable supplies of tanks, guns, vehicles and other equipment. Much of it was captured from the Egyptians by the invading force which knifed across the Sinai Peninsula in October and November.

Three hundred miles north, the Israelis completed withdrawal from the Gaza Strip and UNEF was in full control.

The Israelis left behind six Arab municipal councils set up to conduct civil affairs.

Meanwhile at the United Nations in New York the general Assembly hoped to wind up the present phase of its Middle East debate today.

★ ★ ★

Realizing possibilities of more trouble in the Middle East, delegates to the 80-nation Assembly made plans to convene again on call.

Diplomatic sources say the secretary general plans to go to Cairo and Gaza next week.

Clyde Rosebush Killed in Crash

Walled Lake Man, 26, Dies as Car Hits Tree in West Bloomfield

A Walled Lake man was killed instantly early this morning when he apparently lost control of his car and struck a tree on Commerce road near Green Lake road in West Bloomfield Township.

★ ★ ★

Dead is Clyde Edward Rosebush, 26, of 9640 Commerce Rd., an uncle of the famed Rosebush quadruplets of Oakwood.

Rosebush was found dead in his car by a passing motorist, Wayne Denslow of 8720 Gale Rd., Waterford Township, at 4:15 a.m. Coroner Dr. I. C. Prevette said the man had been dead of a broken neck and internal injuries approximately two hours when his body was discovered.

Sheriff's deputies said that Rosebush apparently missed a sharp right curve and had gone off the left side of the road before crashing into a tree 15 feet from the shoulder.

★ ★ ★

Rosebush, employed by the Commerce Pattern & Engineering Co., is survived by his wife, Nancy, and five children.

Detroit Youngster Drowns in Utica

A visit turned into a tragedy for a Detroit mother yesterday afternoon when her 4-year-old son drowned in the Clinton River in Utica.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Baxter, 12945 Santa Clara, Detroit, and her son, William, were visiting at the home of Mrs. Barbara Blakely, 7717 Greeley St., located on the Clinton River when the boy asked to play outside with a pet dog.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Baxter became alarmed when William failed to return an hour later. The child's body was found floating face down in the water and pulled out by passers-by. Revival efforts failed. William was pronounced dead at 4:30 p.m.

More Voting Machines

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo, meeting with the City Election Commission yesterday, approved the purchase of 300 new voting machines. The cost of $435,000 will be budgeted over 10 years. The machines will bring to 3,360 the number owned by the city.

Probers to Demand Definite Answer

Mayor Faces Showdown

WASHINGTON (INS) — The mayor of Portland, Ore., faces a showdown today on a charge made before Senate investigators that he accepted a $500 bribe to "protect" an after-hours dive.

Mayor Terry D. Schrunk insisted yesterday that the charge was "fantastic" and his accusers had "perjured" themselves. But a demand for a flat confirmation or denial of the accusation was left until today.

★ ★ ★

Portland gambler James B. Elkins, in testimony bolstered by his secretary, a bartender, two policemen, a barmaid and an ex-convict dying of cancer, charged that Schrunk was "bought off" by Clifford O. "Jimmie" Bennett, Elkins' erstwhile partner.

Schrunk was to be followed to the stand by Clyde C. Crosby, International Teamsters organizer for Oregon.

Elkins linked Crosby to a combine of Seattle vice lords and labor gambling, prostitution and other illegal activities in Portland and "the whole state of Oregon."

The union leader is expected to face stiff questioning on a real estate deal he allegedly entered with Elkins while serving on a city commission choosing the site of Portland's eight million dollar exposition and recreation center.

According to Elkins, who detailed a shocking tale of union-hoodlum graft in the Pacific northwest, Crosby planned to maneuver the commission into purchasing land he and Elkins held under option.

★ ★ ★

Former Mayor Fred Peterson testified by affadavit yesterday that Crosby threatened to throw teamsters union support behind Schrunk unless police chief Jim Purcell was disposed of.

Bennett was cited for contempt of Congress yesterday when he refused to go any further than state his name and address.

Schrunk contended Bennett was "intimidated" by a prize-winning Portland Oregonian reporter and reneged on an earlier promise to "tell the truth and ask for a lie detector test."

He said the newspaper's attack on him was "strictly a political maneuver" and that the Senate was being "used" so that the charges could be aired under congressional immunity from libel.

He demanded that the committe

Sets Ceiling at $140 Million

Would Hike Seaway Loan

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. would have an increased borrowing capacity of from its present $105 million to $140 million under a bill co-sponsored by Congressman William S. Broomfield, of Royal Oak.

The change is necessary because of construction cost increases, Broomfield said yesterday. As another financial aid, the bill would defer interest paid on loans until the project is completed, he said.

In addition, the bill would authorize the corporation to establish charges for services such as bridge and tugboat facilities.

8 Small Vessels, 1st in 127 Days, Navigate Canal

Test Will Come Later When Israeli Shipping Attempts Passage

CAIRO, (INS) — Egypt threw open the portals of the Suez Canal to limited international traffic today for the first time since war blocked the waterway 127 days ago.

The go-ahead for small ships, up to 500 tons, was given as the Egyptian Navy finally got around to removing explosives from the sunken tug Edgar Bonnet.

Removal of the explosives also allowed Lt. Gen. Raymond A. Wheeler, USA (ret.), U.N. Salvage chief, to resume work on clearing the last two major obstacles from the canal.

Egypt had stopped the U. N. from completing clearance work on the canal until the last Israelis withdrew from captured Egyptian territory.

Complete Israeli evacuation was ending today as 250 Finn soldiers under the U. N. banner moved into Sharm el Sheikh along the disputed Gulf of Aqaba.

About a dozen coastal and harbor craft were expected to make the trip through the canal today.

Eisenhower Uses Fluoridated Water

WASHINGTON (AP) — During President Eisenhower's news conference yesterday, one of the reporters was asking him about his health.

In the course of the discussion, Eisenhower was asked if he drinks District of Columbia tap water or relies on bottled water.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower said that for a good many years in traveling around he has been advised by his doctors to drink bottled water. He said he has been drinking water bottle in the Arkansas Ozarks when he is away from home.

He said that in the White House he drinks the District of Columbia tap water, which is fluoridated.

MEMO TO CAESAR

John's Sermons Incur Herod's Wrath

About the scandal in Herod's court in Galilee, Pontius Pilate wrote to Tiberius . . .

August Caesar:

My compliments to the Empress and to your mother, Livia.

★ ★ ★

Our man Junius, agent for the district of Jordan is proving invaluable. He informs me there has been much loose talk about Herod, our Galilean Tetrach, and his brother Philip's wife. The people are passing the story about by word of mouth and, of course, it grows with every telling.

The gossip reached the ears of this man John, who is now being called "The Baptist" by everyone because he has baptized so many persons in the Jordan. And John, in his public sermons, has repeatedly denounced Herod both for his infatuation with his brother's wife and for certain alleged "cruelties."

As far as Herod is concerned, he should know better. He is behaving like an uncouth tribesman in a village of tents. He apparently has no virtue as we Romans understand the word.

★ ★ ★

But, like your illustrious self, I have never deemed it worthy of a governor to meddle in personal affairs of local people so long as they do not violate the Roman law.

It seems intervention by me will not be necessary, at any rate.

Herod has had this John the Baptist arrested and thrown into prison. He has not, however, passed sentence on him.

Junius tells me Herod was furious at John's public denunciation of the Tetrach's private life. Yet Herod appears half afraid of the wildish man who wears clothing made of camel skin and lives on locusts and wild honey. (Perhaps that is because men who have wronged someone are always afraid of the truth.)

★ ★ ★

Incidentally, the Messiah whose coming John was supposed to prophesy apparently has arrived. He was baptized by John before the latter's imprisonment and the people say a dove alighted on his head as he emerged from the river. Junius is not much impressed. He says the man is from Nazareth, a carpenter's son. He is a mild person and he is called Jesus . . .

(Signed) Pilate.

and be replaced by a modern shopping center with large parking facilities. Many cities in the United States are studying problems like this with various solutions. We can't stand idly by while others progress and prosper.

★ ★ ★

Authorities at St. Joseph's Hospital have agreed upon a campaign budget of three million dollars. The more optimistic local citizens believe the City has a good chance of raising this and preliminary plans are progressing. If the results of these are satisfactory, a definite drive will be launched shortly.

★ ★ ★

With a public subscription for St. Joe's just ahead, the city's General Hospital faces a problem. It can not be completed until additional funds are available, as the original board expended the full appropriation for walls without regard for finishing the job inside. This poses a problem. A second drive for funds would stand very little chance.

The City favors a bond issue, asking the taxpayers to vote additional funds to complete the job. They would like to do this May 20 when they also ask the taxpayers to give the City money for an addition to the sewage disposal plant.

If the May 20th date conflicts directly with the St. Joe Hospital drive, both might suffer a lot, although City Manager Willman says he doesn't think so. Other interested citizens think differently.

★ ★ ★

The Courthouse dilemma may find a verdict in the near future, depending upon the suit which is being waged against the removal to the edge of the city. Apparently this will come to trial soon.

★ ★ ★

City Manager Willman announces that the city has engaged the services of an expert planner to assist with the problems that are tumbling in at the same time. This is a wise move. The whole area needs expert advice so we can proceed in the most economical manner and accomplish the most.

These are stirring times in the history of many civic developments and a careful but courageous solution will be instrumental in determining the future growth or stagnation of this city. Pontiac has prospered and done especially well up to here in many important respects. The future must receive study, care and attention, starting RIGHT NOW. It's time for action and a willingness to work.

Otherwise, the cities manned by the wise and the swift will sweep grandly onward, leaving those that flounder hopelessly, still enmeshed in their own procrastination, ineptitudes and inner bickering.

Negotiations Hit Snag in Strike

Picketing Prevents Oil Deliveries to Homes, Businesses

No progress was reported after all-night negotiations to settle a strike at the Pontiac Standard Oil Co. outlet.

Officials of the company and Central States Petroleum Union Local 102 met last night in an attempt to stop strikes locally and at Detroit distribution yards.

Pickets here continued to parade in front of the yard at 95 W. Pike St, preventing the deliveries of fuel oil to some 3,000 homes and businesses.

In Detroit today, federal mediators were meeting with officials of the Socony Mobil Oil Co. and Local 11-389 in an effort to end the eight-day strike at Detroit Socony terminals.

★ ★ ★

Members of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers' International Union Local 11-389 CIO, walked off their jobs last week cutting off oil from thousands of Detroit metropolitan area homes and businesses.

Members of Local 11-389 represent all terminal and pipeline workers, while Central States Local 102 is made up of drivers, warehouse men and loaders from "bulk plants" like the one in Pontiac.

Officials of Standard Oil Co. and Local 11-389 were scheduled to meet Monday.

Although union officials were not immediately available for confirmation, it was reported that grievances were over higher wages and fringe benefits.

★ ★ ★

Deliveries at the Pontiac plant of Socony Mobil Oil were reported stopped as fuel oil and gas tanks went dry last night. The yard receives its supply from the struck Detroit terminal.

A temporary injunction issued this week stopped the mass picketing at the yard which began Monday. Two pickets are permitted under terms of the restraining order.

Curtail Program of Chest X-Rays

Mobile Units Shortage Cause of Reduction in TB Campaign

Oakland County's campaign to reach a large segment of its residents for chest X-rays has been reduced to a few areas this year, according to A. R. Musson, executive secretary of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Assn.

A shortage of mobile units is responsible for reducing the program, he said, but early next year the area will have a county-wide program.

What mobile units are available are being used to cover the part of the county around Lake Orion, Ortonville, Holly and Oxford, he added.

The units plan to visit Union Lake and Auburn Heights, Musson said. He gave the following schedule for next week:

Union Lake—Monday, 2 to 8 p.m.; Tuesday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Wednesday, 12 noon to 8 p.m. The mobile unit will be at Embree and Gregg Real Estate on all three days.

Auburn Heights — Thursday, 2 pm. to 8 p.m.; Friday, March 15, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. The unit will be at Keego Hardware both days.

Spectacular Blaze Hits Central Detroit

DETROIT (INS) — One fireman was seriously injured and two others suffered minor cuts during a spectacular three-alarm fire last night which destroyed the Union Printing Co. in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

In Receiving Hospital today in temporary serious condition is Sgt. Frank Szopko, 39, of Engine Co. No. 3. He was struck in the face with a blast from a fire hose carrying 70 pounds of water pressure.

Physicians at the hospital said he will suffer no permanent damage although his eyes were hemorrhaging.

Fire Chief Edward Blohm estimated damage at $75,000. He said 15 pieces of equipment and 75 firemen answered the three alarms.

Arson Squad detectives were sent to the scene to determine the cause of the blaze which attracted thousands of spectators in the downtown area.

Vote on School Bonds

COLON (AP)—The Colon community school district will vote on a $735,000 bond issue March 19 which would finance a school site, building of a high school and add one room to the Leonidas elementary school.

Internal Revenue Frowns at Miami Health Deduction

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Internal Revenue Service said "yes," "no," and "maybe" today on the income tax liability of expenses for "reconditioning executives."

Its wavering position on the questclaims by some Miami Beach hotels that the cost for health restoration of frayed business men was deductible as business expense.

"Yes," said Internal Revenue, "if it is a company expense that can be proved to be for business purposes only."

"No," said Internal Revenue, "if it is a personal expense as a vacation which cannot qualify as a medical bill."

"Maybe," said Internal Revenue, "if some portion of the cost is paid by the company 'with the expectation of deriving a business benefit therefrom.' "

As a general rule, a spokesman added, a company will have to show unusual circumstances for any such tax deduction.

Eight Vessels Pass Through Suez Canal

ing a 147-ton Egyptian yacht and the 238-ton creek ship Mikali. The others were Egyptian inland waterways craft.

Other small ships were scheduled to come through the canal from its southern terminus at Suez.

Thus ends one stormy episode in the explosive Middle East. Another episode just as stormy may be about to begin.

The Israeli withdrawal has opened a Pandora's box of dangerous and delicate problems which the U. N. must solve if there is going to be any sound hope for peace in the Middle East.

★ ★ ★

Will the Egyptians now let Israeli ships through the narrow gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal?

"Never," thunders the Egyptian Press.

WARN THEY'LL SHOOT

But if Egypt tries to reimpose a blockade on Aqaba, the Israelis warn they are prepared to shoot their way throughout.

Amid these fiery exchanges, Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser has said nothing. But his associaties suggest he may decide to let the international court settle the question while leaving the disputed Aqaba area under U. N. control.

Will Egypt insist on resuming administrative control of the Gaza strip?

U. N. officials say this poses a critical problem. The whole withdrawal plan was based on restoring the situation to what it was before the Israeli invasion in late October.

★ ★ ★

That means, according to the U. N., the return to the 1949 armistice which placed Gaza under the Egyptians and even gave them the right to maintain a brigade of troops there.

ARMISTICE RENOUNCED

Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion has renounced the armistice, thus almost automatically denying the U. N.'s right of supervision over Israeli-held territory as well as implying that the temporary truce lines now have become borders.

A brewing firm in Monaco wants to export bottled beer to america.

City Also Asks 1-Mill Tax Hike

Bonds Would Finance Hospital Equipment and Sewage Plant

The proposed issuance of $4,350,000 worth of general obligation bonds to finance equipping the Pontiac General Hospital addition and construction of a new sewage treatment plant will be voted on separately May 20, City Manager Walter K. Willman revealed today.

★ ★ ★

"It is a legal requirement that says that the two issues must be separated on the ballot," Willman explained.

At the same time, voters will be asked to vote on a one mill addition to the city's tax structure. This vote must receive majority approval before the bonds can be issued, Willman emphasized.

And for the additional mill to become effective, 60 per cent of Pontiac property owners and their spouses must approve the issuance of the bonds.

★ ★ ★

"They both must be approved," the manager said, stating what was necessary for the financial package to be carried out.

CONSULTS ATTORNEY

Willman was to meet today with Claude Stevens, the city's bond attorney, to learn more about the expected vote which the City Commission approved last month.

★ ★ ★

The proposal if approved, is expected to tack on an additional 1½ mills ($1.50) to Pontiac's present $13.70 tax rate.

The bond issue will be divided: $1,850,000 for equipping the hospital wing and providing a parking lot, and $2,500,000 for the sewage treatment plant.

The remainder of the proposed $3,109,000 plant is expected to be financed by the issuance of approximately $700,000 in revenue bonds.

★ ★ ★

Today's meeting with Stevens was expected to show whether sewage rates and revenue would be sufficient "to swing the revenue bond end of the issue," Willman said.

WHO WILL VOTE

All Pontiac voters will cast ballots for the millage hike, while only property owners and their spouses will be asked to vote on the general obligation bond issue, according to state law.

★ ★ ★

The same was true in November 1954 when property owners approved the original $3 million hospital bond issue.

The half mill to be added to the city's tax rate, along with the mill to be voted on, will come from the unlevied portion of one mill approved by voters in 1954.

Willman is expected to present to the Commission Tuesday night an amendment to the City Charter calling for the millage boost, and ordering the election.

Slate CD Siren Testing for Tomorrow Afternoon

BIRMINGHAM—Additional Civil Defense siren tests are slated for Birmingham tomorrow according to Director Robert Kenning, between 1 and 2 p.m.

Kenning said that during this time, several tests would be run to check tonal register and adjust for a maximum carrying distance.

He reported that the one test conducted last Saturday showed several areas with poor reception and some where the blasts were not heard at all.

"We want to correct these failures," Kenning said, "and find which of the tones is the most effective. The siren heads located on the fire halls on Adams road and West Maple avenue rotate so that there should be no difficulty in hearing the alarms in all parts of the city."

Representatives of both Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. and Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. met this week with commissioners to discuss the proposed severance of relationship between Panhandle and Michigan Consolidated.

Panhandle told commissioners and Arthur Blakeslee, head of the Consumers Power Co. office here that they would be able to turn more gas over to Consumers if they could withdraw service to the other company.

Consolidated, however, said this would have little effect on the nearly 1500 outstanding applications for space heating gas in Birmingham, because of inadequate storage space.

Commissioners said that they would notify federal power authorities meeting in Washington now, that Birmingham needs additional gas supplies. They would not, however, commit themselves to the support of either company.

$2 Million School Ready for '58

Waterford OK's Plans for New Junior High

Final plans and specifications for a new $2 million school were approved by the Waterford Township Board of Education last night.

This is part of a $3.5 million school bond issue approved by voters in 1956.

The new John D. Pierce Junior High School will be located on Hatchery Rd., near Crescent Lake Rd. The 30-acre site is part of land purchased by the board two years ago and adjoins the John Monteith Elementary School which opened last spring.

The new junior high will have a 1,500 student capacity based on 30 children per classroom, according to William Schunck, superintendent.

In addition to the classrooms, there will be a library, two specially-equipped science rooms, facilities for both vocal and instrumental music, shop, homemaking and art rooms.

★ ★ ★

The new school will have the same general floor plan as the Isaac Crary Junior High School on Cass Lake Rd., Schunck said.

A new relationship was worked out with the architect whereby the teaching and administrative personnel were able to make fundamental suggestions in layout, plumbing, lighting, locker room arrangements, library work rooms, administrative offices and counseling facilities.

"This information proved invaluable, particularly from educators already teaching in the Isaac Crary School," Schunck said.

He said the biggest improvement in plans was the cafeteria-study room in the new Pierce School.

GYM CAN HOLD 1,500

In the Isaac Crary School, the cafeteria is in conjunction with the gymnasium.

The Pierce gymnasium will have a seating capacity of 1,500 and will serve as an auditorium as needed, Schunck said.

The building will have four separate areas to house the seventh, eighth and ninth graders, plus a covered bus-loading platform.

"Three wings will serve as classrooms for each grade, with the main body of the building serving all wings.

Contract bids will be opened and awarded sometime around the end of this month, Schunck said and work should begin immediately. School officials plan to open the building in September, 1958.

Bus Window Broken by Pebble, Not Bullet

Pontiac police detectives report the object which broke a window of a National City Lines bus about 8 p.m. Thursday at Baldwin and Tregents streets was caused by a stone or a pellet, not by a gun.

The complaint was reported by Virginia Heath, 69½ Sanford St., driver of the bus. Glass flew into the bus and onto some of the passengers, although no one was injured.

Mink, fox, seal and rabbit fur farms now operate in the Netherlands.

U.S. Court Rules IBC Is Boxing Monopoly

NEW YORK (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Sylvester J. Ryan ruled today the International Boxing Club of New York, Inc., is a monopoly to restrain trade.

He found the club, its officers and affiliates guilty of monopoly to restrain interstate trade and foreign commerce in promoting and presenting professional championship bouts throughout the United States.

The antitrust suit was brought by the government.

Named as defendants, besides the IBC of New York, were the IBC, Inc., of Illinois; Madison Square Garden Corp.; James D. Norris, president of the New York IBC; and Arthur M. Wirtz, Chicago IBC president.

Small-War Markings Found in Suitcase

READING, Pa. (AP)—When Mrs. Rose Guy opened an almost forgotten suitcase in her attic, enough ammunition fell out to start a small-scale war.

★ ★ ★

There were 37 mm. and 20 mm. shells, rifle grenades, a bazooka rocket, the nose-fuse of a plane rocket, a flask of gunpowder, a belt of .50-caliber tracer cartridges, several hand grenades, many clips of .30-caliber ammo and another small arms ammunition.

Mrs. Guy said a friend stored the suitcase in the attic five years ago and never came back.

Transit Head Late for Speech Because of Bus

CHICAGO (AP) — Virgil E. Gunlock, chairman of the Chicago Transit Authority, which operates the city's bus and elevated lines, was 15 minutes late for an important appointment.

Gunlock had taken a CTA bus to a Loop hotel to address the Kiwanis Club.

★ ★ ★

"What happened to me I am certain has happened many times to all of you," he apologized after being introduced as the guest speaker. "Traffic congestion, especially at more than 100 major intersections, has made it impossible for any of our buses to travel very fast."

Student Councils Form 7-School Organization

The organizational meeting of the Oakland B League Student Council was held at the Lake Orion High School on Monday with 30 representatives present from Madison, Fitzgerald, Clawson, Avondale, Troy and Roseville.

After approving the constitution they elected the following officers for the balance of this year: Thomas Trexler, of Clawson, president; Fred Stanbridge, of Troy, vice president; Mary Lynn Shoup, of Orion, secretary-treasurer.

An assembly program committee was appointed to plan exchange assemblies among the member schools this year.

Ernest May, Julie Federicko, Val Joan Urban and Pat Lietke of Orion served as guides and hosts.

The Canadian waters of the Great Lakes, superior, Erie, Huron and Ontario, comprise only about one-fifth of the total fresh water lakes area lying within the Dominion.

Prosecutor to Move Office

The Oakland County Prosecutor's office will move soon from its 1905 quarters to a "new" building, built in 1885.

Before anyone suggests that the 20-year difference involved in the shift is welcome, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem will hasten assurances that it is not.

Ziem's headquarters have been located in two crowded, rambling basement offices of the courthouse.

In two or three weeks, personnel, desks and filing cabinets will be moved next door to the former county health department, 15 W. Huron St.

There is a happy smile on the prosecutor's face as he describes the addition space that will be available.

★ ★ ★

"The building's not much to look at from the outside, but inside it's like heaven compared to what we've had to put up with in the past," he said.

In the two-story building, Ziem, Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor, and Ziem's eight assistant prosecutors for the first time each will have an individual office.

There will be adequate space for clerks, court reporters and secretaries.

Very important from Ziem's point of view is the fact that his law library which has been located in a courthouse corridor, now will be in a separate room—making quiet, undisturbed study possible.

This is sharp contrast to conditions the prosecutor's staff has worked under in past years.

★ ★ ★

County residents visiting the office on business remember the dinky rooms, shared sometimes by two or three employes.

Private or personal consultations were next to impossible.

Conferences of more than a dozen people spilled out into the halls.

Happy as he is with the new building, Ziem hopes ultimately to move back into the courthouse —the new courthouse proposed by the Board of Supervisors.

With this thought in mind, Ziem leans back at his present desk in the courthouse basement and points to a newspaper photograph tacked to the wall above his head.

It shows a county building similar to Oakland's courthouse being tumbled bodily to the ground by demolition crews.

The Prosecutor then says he is "very happy" to move into an 1885 building—for the time being, anyway.

Students Walk Out After Professor Raps NAACP

Racial Issue May Close Negro College

ALCORN, Miss. (AP) — Alcorn A&M College for Negroes may close this weekend because of a deadlock between state authorities and leaders of a student boycott.

Reports circulated that a final attempt would be made today to call students into a mass meeting to persuade them to stay, but most of the 585 students already were packing their belongings to go.

★ ★ ★

Student leaders said no one will return to class in the all-Negro state-supported school until Prof. Clennon King resigns or is fired. They accuse the history professor of getting the school into a "controversial situation" by writing a series of newspaper articles critical of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and integration leaders.

★ ★ ★

State college board members told Student Council members bluntly yesterday the coeducational college will be locked up and students dismissed if they don't return to classes. The board's carefully worded statement did not give an exact deadline. The board refused to take up King's status until students are back in class.

At a mass meeting last night the students met with derisive applause, and some boos, the board's threat to close the 74-year-old school. They left the meeting singing the school's alma mater and shouting "Let's go home." There was no disorder.

At their dormitories, the students packed their belongings and exchanged goodbys. Without exception students questioned on the campus said they were leaving the school.

★ ★ ★

Dr. J. R. Otis, whose dismissal as A&M president was disclosed yesterday by Gov. J. P. Coleman, pleaded vainly with the students to return to class. He warned they were liable to suspension and told them he was recommending that King be discharged.

Coleman did not say why Otis was being dismissed. The educator, who has been hospitalized recently with ulcers, had said he was resigning because of ill health.

Small European Cars Don't Suit Americans

Europe is whipping herself into a mild lather over the export of "little cars." Fiat, Italian manufacturer, now enters the scene, probably prompted by Volkswagon.

Friends, calm down.

Americans don't go for tiny cars.

★ ★ ★

Many years ago, General Motors was questioned in an open meeting as to one of these little deals that runs 35 miles on a gallon and attains a magnificent 58 miles an hour down hill, with the wind and wide open.

The answer was direct and simple. "General Motors will build little cars as soon as the American people will buy them." This goes for Ford and Chrysler, too. They manufacture the thing that sells and if the American public develops a yen for tricycles, you'll see little three wheelers rolling off assembly lines in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The American buyer is a curious and cagey individual. He expresses marked enthusiasm for a lot of things he likes to look at, but which he wants someone else to buy and drive.

He isn't interested himself.

Passing years prove this.

★ ★ ★

Chevrolet and Ford are already manufacturing small cars which are terrific, but the total production of the Corvette and the Thunderbird combined won't bring a healthy yawn from either concern. Hence, we adjure our good European friends to make haste slowly.

★ ★ ★

Personally, we don't intend to roll over in an automobile during 1957 and we aren't entertaining the slightest thoughts of a head on collision with a hadcap motorist. We don't even propose to side-swipe a neighbor, BUT IF WE DO, we want a standard sized car instead of a midget job that's about drive-shaft high to the opposition. And—sobering though it may be—some forty thousand motorists will go to their deaths in traffic accidents in 1957.

★ ★ ★

Europe needs small cars.

They're necessary.

If you only get two cups of gasoline a week, mileage is the most important thing there is. Then when the Suez affair gets straightened around and you still are paying from one hundred per cent up for gas, you'll continue to look with favor on a fly weight job that's almost weaned.

European cars fit European purposes.

Ours fit ours—fortunately.

Israel Withdraws

After much understandable delay, Israel has started to withdraw its troops from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba.

The invasion in the first place was the result of Egyptian interference with peaceful commerce, continued threats that Israel would be destroyed and commando raids. At the request of the United Nations, Israel did withdraw from all but two points until implied guarantees of safety were given.

★ ★ ★

Israel's action is technically unconditional, complying with the General Asembly's resolution that no nation invading another in the face of United Nations disapproval should set conditions for its own withdrawal.

But as Foreign Minister Golda Meir said in her statement before the Assembly, withdrawal is based on certain assumptions which make it an act of faith in assurances given by Secretary General Hammarskjold, the United States and other powers.

These provide for the stationing of U. N. police forces in both Gaza and Aqaba to prevent further Egyptian raids and Israeli retaliation. They also assure freedom of passage through the Strait of Tiran and the Gulf of Aqaba.

After the formal statement of withdrawal, Mrs. Meir addressed herself to the Middle East states in these moving words:

"We all come from an area which is a very ancient one. The hills and valleys of the region have been witnesses to many wars and many conflicts . . . It is also a part of the world which is of ancient culture . . . and has given humanity three great religions.

". . . Can we from now on, all of us, turn a new leaf, and instead of fighting each other, can we all, united, fight poverty, disease and illiteracy? . . . I can here pledge the government and the people of Israel to do their part in this united effort."

The way may now be open for a permanent settlement of these Middle Eastern problems. Certainly Israel has expressed such a desire.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

'Seneca' Method Sparks Romance

Roger used Seneca's technique to shatter Marilyn's infatuation for Tom and wake her up to her true love. Poets make us believe romances spring up without forethought, but we psychologists offer you the true facts by which you can build your own love affair. Scrapbook these actual case records.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-323: Roger D., aged 27, is the dentist who started dating Marilyn, as described yesterday.

"Dr. Crane, Marilyn is a wonderful girl," he informed me, "and I have fallen in love with her.

★ ★ ★

"In fact, I suggested marriage, but she told me she didn't love me like that, although she was fond of me and always wanted to be friends.

"So what do you advise next?"

SENECA TECHNIQUE

Well, this is usually the spot in a developing romance where the "Seneca technique" works a miracle.

When Seneca was asked for advise in a similar situation by a young Roman lad, Seneca said:

"Go to the archer. See how he handles his bow. With one hand he pulls it toward him but with the other he pushes it away."

Phrased in modern slang, that means "Keep 'em guessing."

So I suggested that Roger tactfully apply a little of that "pushing away" strategy.

★ ★ ★

For he had been dating Marilyn steadily at least twice per week and sometimes oftener.

Without fully realizing what was happening, Marilyn had thus come to rely upon Roger for happiness and dates and jolly camaraderie.

Roger was thus an emotional crutch. Marilyn leaned on him probably more than she ever dreamed.

And to wake her up to her dependence on that emotional crutch, I suggested that Roger take the crutch away.

Luck was also with us, for the next week Roger's cousin Nancy was due in town. She was good looking and gay. So Roger started taking Nancy around for a week.

★ ★ ★

Marilyn didn't know, however, that Nancy was his cousin. She thought Nancy was a relative of one of Roger's college chums.

Marilyn met Nancy and recognized in her a very formidable threat. Futhermore, Marilyn missed the regular telephone calls from Roger. And she felt a great homesickness to be with Roger on their standard date nights.

In other words, Marilyn suddenly felt helpless when the emotional crutch was taken away from her.

Competition is a very valuable means of perking up a stodgy company or even a complacent lover.

And it began to disturb Marilyn.

Later in the week she called my office on some trumped up excuse, but really she wanted me to reassure her.

★ ★ ★

"Dr. Crane, do you really think Roger loves me?" she asked, and I replied that I had thought so until I saw him out with a strange girl recently.

Next day Marilyn called me again and tearfully explained that she had cried herself to sleep the night before.

"I suddenly realized that I was head over heals in love with Roger," she confessed. "Dr. Crane, I can't live without him."

Why, I thought you told me when you broke off with Tom that you could never love anybody else," I reminded her. "You're feeling lonely but surely you don't love Roger."

"Oh, but I do, and my whole heart:" she protested fervently. "And my miserable romance with Tom is just a bad dream. I hope I never see Tom as long as I live. But I can't live without Roger. I love him truly."

So Roger and Marilyn were married a few weeks later.

Stalin's Spirit Still Lives 4 Years After His Death

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Soviet Premier Stalin died four years ago this week, but his spirit still is very much alive.

★ ★ ★

Moscow radio at 4:07 a.m. March 6 (8:07 p.m. EST March 5), 1953, announced to the world the death of the madman in these words:

"The heart of the comrade and inspired continuer of Lenin's will, the wise leader and teacher of the Communist Party and the Soviet people—Joseph Vissarionovich Stalin—has stopped beating."

Death was attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage. He was stricken late March 1. His rage at Yugoslav Marshal Tito's signature of the Balkan treaty with Greece and Turkey the day before might have brought on the stroke.

★ ★ ★

His first setback on what was believed a determined effort to take over the entire world occurred when the North Atlantic alliance was created.

PURPOSEFUL MADMAN

Stalin was rated a madman by those who carried out his many purges and who managed to survive him. But he was a madman with a purpose.

★ ★ ★

Some reports say that purpose was war, that his death spared the world an atomic conflict. The big unanswered question of course still is: Will his "rule-by-committee" successors avoid an atomic conflict with the West?

The triumvirate that took over when the 73-year-old Stalin died was composed of Georgi Malenkov, as Premier, and V. M. Molotov and Lavrenti P. Beria, as deputy premiers.

By summer Beria was denounced as a traitor, as one trying to become another dictator through his secret police forces. By December he and uncounted followers were executed and dumped into unmarked graves.

★ ★ ★

Malenkov embarked on a policy of stressing consumer rather than heavy industry goods, but by Feb. 8, 1955, the pudgy Premier resigned and was succeeded by Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, the goateed man who had been defense minister.

STRONGEST FIGUTE

Indications then were that Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev had emerged as the strongest political figure. Those indications still hold good today, but undoubtedly Khrushchev's prestige has been lowered by the Red reverses in Poland and the revolution last fall in Hungary.

★ ★ ★

Speculation about more changes soon in the Soviet hierarchy stem from the Polish-Hungarian events and a belief that under the Soviet system another dictator inevitably must arise.

Khrushchev, who himself denounced Stalin as a bloodthirsty monster a year ago in a secret party congress, has reversed his field somewhat.

Last New Year's at a reception he boasted:

"The imperialists call us Stalinists. Well, when it comes to fighting imperialism, we are all Stalinists."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Iodin Ration, Calcicaps Keep Couple Well, Happy

Wisconsin reader says she is 49 years old, and her hair is as blond as it was at 18. She continues:

"We take iodin ration and find it really makes us want to live. When we stop it for a month or two, melancholy returns.

I have noticed that during periods that I don't take iodin ration, white hair sprouts at the temple and forehead hair line, so it's back on the iodin ration and color reappears.

"My husband has rheumatiz. If he takes his calcicaps regularly he has little or no trouble. If he doesn't he can scarcely walk.

"Your teachings are a great blessing for poor people . . . God bless you and keep you . . . "

★ ★ ★

I wonder why the Wisconsin lady and her husband don't take the iodin ration or the calcium and D regularly if they want to hold back white or gray hair and joint disability.

NEEDED DAILY

I have said here scores of times that these are essentials of good nutrition—everybody needs them every day in the year, just as everybody needs daily bread 'n' butter or meat 'n' potatoes.

I might as well holler down the rain barrel. Ninety-nine out of a hundred who dabble with the nutritional essentials regard them as medicine and discontinue them after a few weeks, as the Wisconsin lady and her husband did.

Remember, this is nutritional iodine—the wee bit you get in iodized salt or a shore dinner or a can of salmon. Iodine or iodide in medicinal doses may give unpleasant or alarming effects. If you are at all confused about it send stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet The Iodin Ration.

★ ★ ★

In any case the use of iodine or iodide as medicine should be left to the judgment of the attending physician.

Whether correcting iodin deficiency prevents premature graying or fading of the hair or, as many correspondents have declared, restores more or less of the natural color which has been lost, I don't know.

But I can't help being impressed by the volume of testimony from readers.

The only allusion to this in the Iodin Ration pamphlet is in this recital of the common manifestations of iodin deficiency:

". . . so do many mature adults have no pep or ambition, a tendency to drop off in a doze at any time anywhere, although they sleep long hours every night; to put on more and more slacker flesh, have a dry sallow skin, lusterless, dry, falling, prematurely graying hair, and in some instances develop a melancholic outlook and manner which, to their friends, is so different from their former cheerful disposition . . . "

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

In answer to questions about postal workers' wages, few people know the starting salary is $3660 a year. After 13 years they get $4510 and after 25 years, $4710. Six per cent is deducted for retirement, the government helping none, besides the usual deductions. ductions.

Many of them do quit and in some cities the turnover is as high as one-third. But workers with 10 or 15 years seniority hesitate to start at the bottom somewhere else. Because only an act of Congress can increase salaries, it is even more difficult. Here's hoping our raise goes through.

It is nothing less than a crime to think of charging to go to state parks. Many who could not go at all if they had to pay can go and enjoy them for just a day. If prices had kept pace with taxes a ten cent article would now cost roughly $12.60 if the proposed budget of nearly $72 billion is allowed, and this doesn't include state and local taxes.

I have seen 15 men a month from there who needed and got help from the same woman, and she deserves only proise. Small European Cars Don't Suit Americans

Europe is whipping herself into a mild lather over the export of "little cars." Fiat, Italian manufacturer, now enters the scene, probably prompted by Volkswagon.

Friends, calm down.

Americans don't go for tiny cars.

★ ★ ★

Many years ago, General Motors was questioned in an open meeting as to one of these little deals that runs 35 miles on a gallon and attains a magnificent 58 miles an hour down hill, with the wind and wide open.

The answer was direct and simple. "General Motors will build little cars as soon as the American people will buy them." This goes for Ford and Chrysler, too. They manufacture the thing that sells and if the American public develops a yen for tricycles, you'll see little three wheelers rolling off assembly lines in Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

The American buyer is a curious and cagey individual. He expresses marked enthusiasm for a lot of things he likes to look at, but which he wants someone else to buy and drive.

He isn't interested himself.

Passing years prove this.

★ ★ ★

Chevrolet and Ford are already manufacturing small cars which are terrific, but the total production of the Corvette and the Thunderbird combined won't bring a healthy yawn from either concern. Hence, we adjure our good European friends to make haste slowly.

★ ★ ★

Personally, we don't intend to roll over in an automobile during 1957 and we aren't entertaining the slightest thoughts of a head on collision with a hadcap motorist. We don't even propose to side-swipe a neighbor, BUT IF WE DO, we want a standard sized car instead of a midget job that's about drive-shaft high to the opposition. And—sobering though it may be—some forty thousand motorists will go to their deaths in traffic accidents in 1957.

★ ★ ★

Europe needs small cars.

They're necessary.

If you only get two cups of gasoline a week, mileage is the most important thing there is. Then when the Suez affair gets straightened around and you still are paying from one hundred per cent up for gas, you'll continue to look with favor on a fly weight job that's almost weaned.

I have said here scores of times that these are essentials of good nutrition—everybody needs them every day in the year, just as everybody needs daily bread 'n' butter or meat 'n' potatoes.

I might as well holler down the rain barrel. Ninety-nine out of a hundred who dabble with the nutritional essentials regard them as medicine and discontinue them after a few weeks, as the Wisconsin lady and her husband did.

Remember, this is nutritional iodine—the wee bit you get in iodized salt or a shore dinner or a can of salmon. Iodine or iodide in medicinal doses may give unpleasant or alarming effects. If you are at all confused about it send stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet The Iodin Ration.

★ ★ ★

In any case the use of iodine or iodide as medicine should be left to the judgment of the attending physician.

Whether correcting iodin deficiency prevents premature graying or fading of the hair or, as many correspondents have declared, restores more or less of the natural color which has been lost, I don't know.

But I can't help being impressed by the volume of testimony from readers.

The only allusion to this in the Iodin Ration pamphlet is in this recital of the common manifestations of iodin deficiency:

". . . so do many mature adults have no pep or ambition, a tendency to drop off in a doze at any time anywhere, although they sleep long hours every night; to put on more and more slacker flesh, have a dry sallow skin, lusterless, dry, falling, prematurely graying hair, and in some instances develop a melancholic outlook and manner which, to their friends, is so different from their former cheerful disposition . . . "

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady. If a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Stalin's Spirit Still Lives 4 Years After His Death

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

Soviet Premier Stalin died four years ago this week, but his spirit still is very much alive.

★ ★ ★

Moscow radio at 4:07 a.m. March 6 (8:07 p.m. EST March 5), 1953, announced to the world the death of the madman in these words:

"The heart of the comrade and inspired continuer of Lenin's will, the wise leader and teacher of the Communist Party and the Soviet people—Joseph Vissarionovich Stalin—has stopped beating."

Death was attributed to a cerebral hemorrhage. He was stricken late March 1. His rage at Yugoslav Marshal Tito's signature of the Balkan treaty with Greece and Turkey the day before might have brought on the stroke.

★ ★ ★

His first setback on what was believed a determined effort to take over the entire world occurred when the North Atlantic alliance was created.

PURPOSEFUL MADMAN

Stalin was rated a madman by those who carried out his many purges and who managed to survive him. But he was a madman with a purpose.

★ ★ ★

Some reports say that purpose was war, that his death spared the world an atomic conflict. The big unanswered question of course still is: Will his "rule-by-committee" successors avoid an atomic conflict with the West?

The triumvirate that took over when the 73-year-old Stalin died was composed of Georgi Malenkov, as Premier, and V. M. Molotov and Lavrenti P. Beria, as deputy premiers.

By summer Beria was denounced as a traitor, as one trying to become another dictator through his secret police forces. By December he and uncounted followers were executed and dumped into unmarked graves.

★ ★ ★

Malenkov embarked on a policy of stressing consumer rather than heavy industry goods, but by Feb. 8, 1955, the pudgy Premier resigned and was succeeded by Marshal Nikolai Bulganin, the goateed man who had been defense minister.

STRONGEST FIGUTE

Indications then were that Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev had emerged as the strongest political figure. Those indications still hold good today, but undoubtedly Khrushchev's prestige has been lowered by the Red reverses in Poland and the revolution last fall in Hungary.

★ ★ ★

Speculation about more changes soon in the Soviet hierarchy stem from the Polish-Hungarian events and a belief that under the Soviet system another dictator inevitably must arise.

Khrushchev, who himself denounced Stalin as a bloodthirsty monster a year ago in a secret party congress, has reversed his field somewhat.

Last New Year's at a reception he boasted:

"The imperialists call us Stalinists. Well, when it comes to fighting imperialism, we are all Stalinists."

Explains Salary Situation of Post Office Workers

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

In answer to questions about postal workers' wages, few people know the starting salary is $3660 a year. After 13 years they get $4510 and after 25 years, $4710. Six per cent is deducted for retirement, the government helping none, besides the usual deductions. ductions.

Many of them do quit and in some cities the turnover is as high as one-third. But workers with 10 or 15 years seniority hesitate to start at the bottom somewhere else. Because only an act of Congress can increase salaries, it is even more difficult. Here's hoping our raise goes through.

'Charge for Parks but Boast Salary'

It is nothing less than a crime to think of charging to go to state parks. Many who could not go at all if they had to pay can go and enjoy them for just a day. It is too bad Michigan is getting so poor in some ways but can boast of officials' salary. Just plan out long trips and we'll pay for them, and burden us with more taxes.

'What if Prices... Kept Tax Pace?'

We have a history that tells us the Federal government revenues for the year ending June 30, 1906. They are: total receipts—$594,914,715; total expenditures—$568,727,565, showing a surplus of $26,187,141. If prices had kept pace with taxes a ten cent article would now cost roughly $12.60 if the proposed budget of nearly $72 billion is allowed, and this doesn't include state and local taxes.

'Try Hollywood if You're Perfect'

Well, "happy 34-24-34," and Carlotta, if you are of perfect shape and what not, why don't you try for Miss Pontiac this time or maybe go a little farther and get into Hollywood? I have the good looks, personality, hips and waist, but the wool and orlon sweaters don't shape up to fit the other good features about me. But maybe Grandpa would think so.

Urges Influence for Court Change

I wish to draw the attention of Oakland County and state residents that it is through their influence on representatives of our State Legislature that we will be able to obtain some badly needed laws to clean up the court system of Michigan.

I refer to a three-year battle with the courts to obtain justice for my two children, one who needs daily medical attention. As far as I'm concerned, any man who even tries to prevent the same thing happening to other youngsters gets my vote.

Wherever liquor goes, crime goes. Either one breeds the other. If any state would legislate itself dry, it would enjoy the finest absence of crime and traffic fatalities that has ever been known. What could be more worthwhile to civic-minded people?

I see Jackie Gleason was kicked out of a night club in New York.

I understand his fans are kicking him out of television by viewing him less and less frequently. Both decisions are probably right.

'Office of Welfare Deserves Praise'

In reply to the letter about the Welfare Department, the woman behind the window talks to many people each day, all with troubles, needing help. Each has a turn and must wait. There is no favoritism. I know the sign says the office closes at 3 p.m., but it rarely deos. The waiting room is cleared before closing.

I have seen 15 men a month from there who needed and got help from the same woman, and she deserves only proise. If Mrs. St. Dennis thinks they are impatient in Oakland County, she should try for help in other counties. I think the Welfare, as a whole, is doing a wonderful job and should be thanked, not kicked, and they should get more wages, even if the taxpayers do pay them. I am a taxpayer.

Calls for Total Available Levy

School Board Examines Proposed Budget in Detail

An item-by-item review of the preliminary 1957-58 operating budget was made last night by the Pontiac Board of Education and the administrative staff.

The board was told that the proposed budget, although it is at a record high of $7,563,263, represents an approximate $3,790,000 cut from the minimum amounts requested by the system's division heads.

Superintendent Dana P. Whitmer said the total budget figure was within the limits allowed by a long-range plan which is designed to finance both operational and capital improvements to 1960-61 without requiring additional tax millage.

The board is expected to levy the full 18.75 mill rate to finance the program, which will mean a 2.49 mill increase over thepre sent school tax.

Whitmer pointed out that the proposed budget is higher than the current one because material costs have increased, plant expansion has upped total custodial costs and salaries will go up due to the normal schedule of increases for teachers and principals.

★ ★ ★

As background to the budget, the board was given an analysis which showed that a total enrollment increase of 700 is expected next September.

The enrollment boost is expected mainly in the elementary grades. The junior high schools show an anticipated drop of 287 students, but the senior high school is expected to increase by 265.

The new budget, Whitmer stressed, will hold the line on per pupil costs. The figure given is $373 per student, or less than 2 per cent higher than the current figure.

The board also examined a comparison of the Pontiac School System with others in Oakland County and the Detroit Metropolitan Area.

Among Oakland systems, Pontiac ranks third in valuation per pupil, second loewst in total taxes levied and third in per student costs.

★ ★ ★

In a study of 49 Detroit area systems, Pontiac ranked second to Dearborn in number of students, 12th in valuation per pupil; fifth in maintaining the lowest tax rate and 19th in costs per pupil.

The board will meet again next Thursday night to continue its budget work.

Eden Suffers Again From Fever Attack

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP)—Sir Anthony Eden has suffered another attack of high fever, delaying his planned visit to the Bay of Islands northwest of Auckland.

Dr. W. E. Henley said the vacationing former British Prime Minister was resting in bed but there had been no recurrence of the abdominal inflammation that caused his earlier attacks of fever.

Grand Jury Indites 'Scandal' Magazine

CHICAGO (AP)—A federal grand jury yesterday returned a six count indictment charging Confidential magazine and its distributing company with mail obscene or crime-inciting matter and giving information on abortion.

★ ★ ★

Named in the indictment were Confidential Inc., of New York, and the Kable Printing Co. of Mount Morris, Ill. No individuals were named.

The indictment was based on an article published in the March 1956 issue entitled "The pill that ends unwanted pregnancy," written by N. E. Benson. The government charged that the pill referred to in the article was described "in a manner calculated to lead another to use or apply it for producing an abortion."

The meximum penalty is $5,000 on each count.

★ ★ ★

In New York, Robert Harrison, Confidential publisher, said he had no comment pending an examination of the charges. Kable officials were not immediately available for comment.

Woman Accused of Child Stealing Offered Babies

HALIFAX, England (AP) — Mrs. Doreen Harris, who told police she stole a 16-day-old baby because she could not have children of her own, has received letters from 10 mothers offering her theirs.

★ ★ ★

Police disclosed the letters yesterday as Mrs. Harris, 23, was brought into court with her husband John, 30, for a pretrial hearing on the baby stealing charge. The infant, little Jane Hardcastle, was recovered by police after a two-day search last weekend.

★ ★ ★

Police said one of the letters offering Mrs. Harris a baby came from a woman with four children. She said Mrs. Harris could have any one of the four. Another came from a woman who offered the baby she expects to have next month.

Ike Can Use Military Force if Requested

Mideast Resolution Clearly Warns Reds

By ROSE McKEE

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower's Middle East resolution which Congress passed yesterday is a serious and far-reaching step in American foreign policy.

The resolution declares that this country is prepared to fight to help any of several Middle East nations which may be attacked by "international communism."

Lawmakers said this is clear warning to Russia she must reckon with the U.S. if she moves against the general area of the ancient Holy Land.

The resolution is the first defense document to mention international communism by name.

SLOWED SOVIETS

It already has forced the Soviets to slow down their infiltration activities in the Middle East. Diplomatic reports from the strategic area indicated that Moscow reacted to the doctrine even before final congressional approval was given.

The new doctrine is far more sweeping than the "defend Formosa" resolution which became law on Jan. 29, 1955. It applied only to the island of Formosa and the nearby Pescadores Islands.

The new resolution takes in the whole wide area of the African-Asian crossroads, which includes a number of countries. Congress didn't even try to limit the area extending from Libya on the West to Pakistan on the East, and from but roughly referred to it as Turkey on the North to Saudi Arabia and Ethiopia on the South.

PROMISES AID

Moreover, the U.S. promises for the first time to go to the aid of countries even though it does not know they will want help. U.S. armed forces actually are to be used, however, only if the victim of a Communist attack wants the assistance.

The doctrine is the latest in a chain of collective defense arrangements against the Communist threat which the U.S. has helped draw up over pretty much the whole free world. Central and southern Africa are the only large Free World areas not tied to this country in mutual security pledges.

The Truman Doctrine of 1947, which gave weapons but not armed forces to Greece and Turkey, launched the world-wide network. That same year 21 American states joined in the Rio Treaty.

The North Atlantic pact cemented 15 nations in 1949. In 1951, the U.S. exchanged defense pledges with the Philippines, Japan and the Australian area. A pact with South Korea followed in 1953.

In 1954 eight nations joined hands in the Southeast Asia security pact.

The Formosa resolution was the last such step until now.

In its collective defense pacts, the U.S. promises to take action against an aggressor in accordance with its constitutional processes. But this reference to the Constitution is omitted in the Formosa and Middle East resolutions.

The Formosa document "authorizes" the President to use armed force against an aggressor. The Middle East doctrine declares that the U.S. is "prepared" to fight.

★ ★ ★

The new resolution also authorizes the President to spend, free of restrictions, up to 200 million dollars of already appropriated funds to help Middle East countries strengthen their defenses and their economies. This is considered ammunition against Communist infiltration by subversion.

MIAMI—Twenty-nine per cent of the money tourists spend in the Miami resort area goes for lodging, 21 per cent for food, 14 per cent for clothing.

Gray Leads Suit Parade for Easter

NEW YORK (INS) — The most fashionable lady in the Easter Parade this year will be the girl in the gray flannel suit.

★ ★ ★

Women have whole-heartedly adopted men's favorite medium, gray flannel suiting, fashion coordinator Midge Powell reports. Mrs. Powell says this color and fabric stand No. 1 on the Easter suit parade, with feminine navy blue suits running second.

In spite of the popularity of the loose Chanel-type suit, the fitted classic is still the favorite for spring wear. Mrs. Powell says suits with leather-belted jackets are particularly good for '57, and even the easy-fitted suits are being worn buttoned.

The suit expert noted that her surveys for Handmacher-Vogel also show that navy and black are the favored colors in the elegant city silk suit.

"There's been no demand for tweed this spring," she said. "But suits with back interest are doing nicely."

★ ★ ★

The tremendous popularity of the gray flannel suit, she added, has brought gray back as a top color for the first time in about three years. Perennial navy, however, ranks as completely stylish again this year.

Katharine Cornell Finds TV Exciting, Democratic

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (INS) — Katharine Cornell, rehearsing for her second TV appearance, is thoroughly sold on the medium as a force for democracy as well as a fascinating field for an actress.

★ ★ ★

Miss Cornell is starring in "There Shall Be No Night," on NBC-TV, March 17. Her TV debut was made last April in "The Barretts of Wimpole Street."

The great lady of the theater was interviewed in the rehearsal hall during lunch hour. She wore a beige sweater set and tweed skirt.

Occasionally she dipped into a brown paper bag to pull out a sandwich she had prepared for herself. In between nibbles she chattered in charming and untemperamental style.

★ ★ ★

"I don't believe there would have been a Hitler if there had been television," she said. "Sitting in your own home with a few people, watching someone get up and rant, you can't be caught by the tremendous pull of mob psychology. That was Hitler's tremendous strength.

"I visited Germany one summer during the Hitler era, and you could see the mob effect. But you don't feel that pull when you are seeing something right in your own room. Five or ten people can't get excited the way 100,000 can. Passion and over-emotionalism sort of put you off and become embarrassing."

★ ★ ★

When it comes to television as an entertainment medium, Miss Cornell is full of personal and general enthusiasm.

"I find it fascinating, and new and I enjoy it very much," she said, and added with a smile, "of course, I'm exhausted now. I shall enjoy it much more the day after the show."

★ ★ ★

The actress is impressed with the sensitivity of the television camera, which picks up the smallest movement and makes it meaningful. She is pleased that Robert Sherwood's "There Shall Be No Night" has been updated, so that it takes place during a Hungarian anti-Communist uprising, instead of during the 1939 Russian invasion of Finland.

She is most pleased at being allowed to play the role without frantic and meaningless movement just for motion's sake.

INTELLIGENT AUDIENCE

"The television audience," she said, "is vast, fantastic and I will say intelligent. They can appreciate sincerity.

★ ★ ★

"We underestimate the public constantly. No doubt there are many people who don't want to hear anything serious at all—people who are too tired, or who don't want to think. But the very fact they are tired shows they have been using their minds and are intelligent.

"Audiences don't have to be fed pap constantly, and I think television has shown that."

The lack of an audience doesn't bother Miss Cornell, who said:

"I enjoy rehearsals. Some of the best performances ever done are performed the last day or two of rehearsals, before the show goes before an audience.

★ ★ ★

"The lack of scenery, costumes and makeup brings the play down to the essentials, and if the actor is sincere he can catch it very much better."

Official Still Isn't Keen on Women in the Army

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Senate Armed Services Committee has approved the Pentagon appointment of former Rep. Dewey Short (R-Mo) after Sen. Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) sharply questioned him on his opposition to women in the armed forces.

★ ★ ★

The committee yesterday recommended full Senate confirmation of Short to the $20,000-a-year post of assistant Army secretary for civil functions.

Also approved were the nominations of former Assistant White House News Secretary Murray Snyder as assistant secretary of defense for public affairs, and Maj. Gen. Emerson C. Itschner as Army chief of engineers.

Sen. Smith, in questioning Short, recalled that the former congressman opposed a bill granting regular status for servicewomen in 1948.

At that time, he characterized women in the armed forces as "deadly" because of the "biological differences" of men and women.

★ ★ ★

Asked by Mrs. Smith if his views had changed, the 58-year-old Missourian said, "not much." But he added:

"I would never discriminate against the fair sex because I have a mother who is a woman . . . and I married one."

But Mrs. Smith persisted that "since the biological differences" Short referred to "had not changed," did Short still feel the same way?

To which the ex-lawmaker replied: "I don't think God has changed His views on that."

Observatory Tour Taken by Sorority

Alpha Delta Kappa Told About Work at Lake Angelus

Members of Zeta Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa sorority toured the McMath-Hulbert Observatory at Lake Angelus Thursday evening and heard Dr. Keith Pierce tell of the work being done there.

Dr. Pierce explained that by means of the solar telescope, pictures of the sun's action are filmed at regular intervals.

"Venus has never been seen as it is continually covered with clouds," he remarked. "The thoughts of interplanetary travel began about 1810 when Galilea built the first telescope through which he looked at the moon and thought he saw mountains and craters."

Clifford Bennett assisted the speaker by showing slides that illustrated scientists' explanations and conclusions concerning climatic conditions, vegetation and habitation of other planets in our solar system.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Pierce concluded by saying that he believes with present knowledge we could reach the moon with a small atomic bomb. It takes a speed of 23,000 miles per hour to escape from the earth's gravity and at that speed one could reach the moon in about 116 hours.

Joyce Jones served as chairman for the evening.

White House Receptions Are Festive

Elegance, Beauty of Mansion Set Off Official Pomp

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — White House receptions are colorful, stirring affairs. Those privileged to attend are impressed by the elegance and beauty of the historic setting and the pomp and circumstance of the presidential procession accompanied by the catchy music of the dashing red-coated Marine Band.

It is quite true, as one guest observed looking over the scene at one of this year's functions, "No court in Europe could match this."

Because of the lateness of the schedule for the official entertainment at the White House, President and Mrs. Eisenhower have had only three receptions this season, but they have been huge affairs designed to include all segments representative of government and diplomatic life in our capital.

The first affair, and traditionally the most glamorous, was for the diplomatic corps in January. More than 1,000 guests, representing some 82 different nations and many dressed in exotic native costumes, attended.

★ ★ ★

The second in February was for top members of the judicial and military branches of the government.

DISTINGUISHED GUEST

A special guest at the second was a former distinguished resident of the White House, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the World War I president.

Arriving in a White House limousine shortly before the appointed hour of 9, she was the only guest to enter through the north portico entrance.

Most guests come through the east entrance, leave their wraps on the ground floor and stand in line, inching up the staircase to the East Room, and then to the Blue Room to be received.

So that more of the guests, already assembled in the East Room, will see the stately procession, the President and First Lady, members of the Cabinet and their wives, together with the military aides, turn left after they come down the red-carpeted marble staircase from the second floor and pass through the great ballroom instead of going directly to the Blue Room as in past years.

★ ★ ★

The Marine Band, stationed on one side of the entrance foyer, announces the President's arrival with "Ruffles and Flourishes" and plays "Hail to the Chief" as he reaches the East Room.

RECEIVE GUESTS

The Eisenhowers receive guests in the Blue Room after each name has been announced by the aides.

Guests move on into the State Dining Room where the Cabinet has already gathered and where they help themselves to a nonalcoholic punch and sweets.

The President and First Lady retire after about an hour, there is dancing in the East Room, and the whole thing is over shortly after 11 o'clock.

At all three receptions (the last was held Tuesday for members of Congress and other government officials) Mrs. Eisenhower wore her beautiful inaugural ball gown of jewel-embroidered citron yellow lace over taffeta, a decision reached the night of the first reception when a guest confided she had not until that moment seen the dress.

In announcing her intention, Mamie said, "That way as many people as possible will get a chance to see it."

May Even Clear Up Skin Trouble

Exercise Won't Harm Complection

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I need to do exercises very much but I heard that exercise causes skin trouble. Is this true? I am very much worried because I need the exercises but I am a teenager and am afraid it might affect my complexion. I already have some skin trouble."

Don't worry about exercise adversely affecting your complexion—if anything, it will help it.

A. Exercise could not possibly hurt your complexion. I cannot imagine where anyone got such a crazy idea. It will more likely help clear it up. Many teenagers have skin trouble because the little oil glands are more active at that age. Wash your face several times a day with soap and water.

★ ★ ★

Q. "I have just lost 16 pounds but I am in practically no better shape now than I was before I dieted. I am 5 feet 5 inches tall and weigh 152 pounds. I know that is too much but what should I weigh? My bust measures 35, waist 26 and hips 38 inches."

A. You should weigh about 123 pounds so you are a little overweight. Lose this last weight gradually and concentrate on hip exercises.

Q. "I go to my doctor often but still stay overweight. I am a vegetarian and eat only moderate amounts. I am 5 feet 4 inches tall and weigh 145 pounds. My bust measures 39, waist 29 and hips 39. My age is nearer 60 than 16!

"Here is my question: Do you think I should try to pull my weight down to 130 pounds? One of my doctor friends thinks so. I feel fine!"

A. Yes, you should lose that 15 pounds for the sake of your health as well as your appearance.

★ ★ ★

Q. "My daughter is not yet 25 but she has little lines all around her eyes. What causes these and what can she do for them?"

A. Your daughter is so young that I imagine the lines you mention must come from characteristic facial expressions, or eye strain. Check these, and remedy either cause or both. Also have your daughter apply an eye cream, patting it in around the eyes each night before retiring.

Should Girl Take Gift to Hostess?

To Stay With Pair While Visiting Boy at College

By EMILY POST

The mother of a young girl writes me as follows: "My daughter, who is 18 and has been keeping steady company with a young man for over a year, has been invited to a military ball at his college several hundred miles from here.

"A young couple with two children, for whom this young man sits occasionally, graciously offered to let her stay at their house whenever she visits him. I would like to know what my daughter's obligations are toward them? Should she take a present to the hostess, or what?"

Answer: Before she leaves, I think your daughter should ask her hostess if she won't let her pay something for staying there. If she refuses, your daughter thanks her appreciatively and when she returns home she either sends her hostess a present or toys for the children.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Are there any rules governing the selection of godparents for a first baby? My husband's brother and his wife are expecting their first baby and since they were godparents for our first child I naturally assumed that my husband and I would be asked to be the godparents.

"But instead, they are having the couple who were the best man and matron of honor. They insist that this is traditional. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: There is no fixed rule about the choice of godparents, and while not strictly traditional, the maid of honor and best man are very often chosen for the godparents of the first baby.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son became engaged just recently. His fiancee is working here in this city but her parents' home is 500 miles away and there is no possibility of our meeting her family before the wedding. Should I write her mother and if so, what do I say?"

Answer: Merely write how much you like her daughter and say that you are looking forward to meeting them. This should be a natural impulse of friendliness surely easy to follow.

The music board of First Congregational Church will present a March Music Vesper Sunday at 7 p.m. in the church. Taking part in the program will be (left to right) Mrs. Martin Wager of Dixie highway, Charles A. Wilson of Grayton road and Mrs. Jack Wignall of Clarkston. The program, open to the public, will also feature an opening worship service under the direction of the Youth Group of the church and the Rev. Karl W. Ostberg.

Tricks for Spot-Cleaning

Spot cleaners do a fine job in removing some stains, but all too often you wind up with a ring circling the cleaned area.

To prevent this, follow this method: Before you attack the spot with the cleaning fluid, fold a thick pad of cheesecloth or turkish toweling and place it directly below the stain.

Use another piece of cheesecloth or toweling to apply the fluid to the right side of the fabric, for all but grease stains. Grease stains should be attacked from the wrong side to push the dissolved grease out rather than rub it in.

Start at the edge of the spot and sponge toward the center, using the cleaner sparingly and working gently around the stain.

Feather it out as you go to keep a definite edge from forming.

The pad beneath the spot will absorb the stain as you work, so move it frequently.

There's one exception—for satin, start at the center of the spot and work out.

A hat with a veil is always flattering. If you wear glasses, a filmy maline or fine mesh veil will dim that glassy glare without interfering with vision.

Meeting Conducted by Philathea Class

Mrs. Florence Harcourt opened her home on Dwight avenue Tuesday evening to members of first Philathea Class of First Baptist Church.

Larry Powell of Clarkston presented accordion selections during the program portion of the meeting. Others participating were Mrs. Warren Westcott, Mrs. Howard Barnett, Mrs. H. H. Savage and Mrs. Warren Westcott.

Give slightly cracked china dishes a 45-minute bath in boiling milk. The cracks will become invisible and the china will stand almost as much wear as when new.

Love of Work Saves Time, Labor

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Why is it that some people can handle a dozen jobs at once, plus all kinds of volunteer work and an active social life, and stay calm, serene and attractive? And other people with the same schedule are jittery, wound-up, nervous wrecks?

★ ★ ★

I used to think it was a matter of health, temperament or thyroid. But recently I've found that the answer is more simple, really, than that. It's merely a matter of interest.

Mrs. T., for example, is a housewife with two children. She has a small ranch-type house in the suburbs and a hard-working, but underpaid, husband. Mrs. T. decided to go back to work when the children began school.

However, she never really cared for the field she was in before marriage and now she likes it even less. So her job bores and infuriates her.

Then, because she is not interested in her job, she fills her lunch hours with shopping or dates with the girls, thus exhausting herself even more.

At home in the evening, she is a nervous wreck. She has been so rude to the women who keep house for her during the day that three have already left and she may never get another.

Her husband and children, of course, pay the worst price of all.

"Well," Mrs. T. sighs, "that's what happens when you combine work and homemaking."

But it needn't, and it never does when the woman loves the work she's in.

★ ★ ★

I think of Betty Torino, who is vice president of a food company.

She loves her job so much that she gives the impression of never working at all. She loves food and enjoys experimenting with it and dreaming up recipes and labor-saving tricks.

She has a husband and two children and lives in a big house in Englewood, N. J. She also does a lot of volunteer work in the community.

Betty is no healthier or younger than Mrs. T. She just happens to love her work. And loving your work is the biggest time and labor-saving device there is!

Is Television a Monster Dominating Your Home?

Video Still Stifles Conversation With Guests and Family Members

By RUTH MILLETT

"What is television doing to old-fashioned good manners?" a reader asks.

★ ★ ★

And then she cites instances of what often happens to the drop-in or the invited guest these days if the guest happens to arrive in the middle of a TV program.

"The guest is waved to a chair, almost grudgingly, if whoever answered the door missed a few lines of dialogue.

"His presence isn't regarded as a welcome treat but more as an intrusion.

"Or if the parents aren't listening to TV and the children are, it's the same old story. While the television set blares forth, the host and hostess and guest try to talk above it, after the hostess explains sweetly, 'It's the children's favorite program.'"

Those aren't the only examples of the rudeness of some TV addicts.

TIME OUT FOR TALK

Wives complain to me that the only time they can make a remark to their husbands without being shushed is during commercials.

★ ★ ★

Children, in some homes, find it impossible to compete against the TV set for their parents' attention. Nothing they want to talk about seems quite as important to their parents as whether or not some TV killer is going to be caught or how some TV tearjerker is going to end.

So the children are told with a frown to keep quiet.

There were those who said that the American family would in time learn to relegate TV to its rightful place. But that hasn't been true in all homes.

In quite a number—judging from my mail—it is still the one-eyed monster.

Guy Bevington is the faculty adviser to the group of four students who will attend from PHS, Mel White, Lynn Benter, Claudia Wasik and Gail Cedrick (alternate).

The job of the alternate is to be prepared on every question in case of an emergency fill-in. Formerly the alternate was not taken unless needed; but in the last few years it has been the practice to take the alternate along.

Eighty schools in southern Michigan will participate in this event. They are from as far north as Bay City. Each school has been assigned a certain country to represent.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac will represent France. Each school participating in the meetings will take the same views on the problem as the country which it represents.

The purpose of the event is to acquaint students with the work of the United Nations, the problems involved for peace, and the position of the United States in world leadership.

The PHS Band qualified to enter the State Band and Orchestra Festival at the District Festival held last Saturday in Ypsilanti. All the judges rated our Band with Division I ratings; the highest.

Science Teachers Spark New Interest

C. H. MEYERS

Science teachers of Oakland County are banding together, united in an effort to stimulate their pupils toward greater interest in this age of rapid scientific advancement.

Spearheading the organization of the Oakland County Science Teachers Club is C. H. Meyers, head of the physical science department of Waterford Township High School.

"Main purpose of the club is to bring industry and the classroom closer together," according to Meyers.

Spurring the membership of 50 is the feeling that there is a considerable lack of interest in science among many school students.

Members feel that by learning more from contacts with industry, they will be able to stir more interest in their students.

★ ★ ★

"Industry is branching out into entirely new fields that we should know about," Meyers said. "The one sure way to learn about these things is to get together with manufacturing leaders, have demonstrations, series of talks and discuss new ways of presenting it to our students," he added.

For the first session March 28 a representative of Park Davis company will give a demonstration of bio-chemistry.

Says U.S. Commits Financial Suicide

DETROIT (INS) — President of the United States Rubber Co. warned yesterday the U.S. is committing financial suicide.

H. E. Humphreys Jr. told the annual meeting of Associated Business Publications the future economic progress and personal freedom of the American people are threatened by the federal government's recent reversion to taxing and spending philosophy and policies of the past.

"Our new administration seems to have discovered an old hat worn by previous administrations and has found that it fits," he said. "It means that big government with its excessive spending, huge national debt, inflation run-away, welfare plans, threatened controls and progress-stifling backbreaking tax load is still with us."

Humphreys called on business publication to help carry the story to the people "so they will rise up and insist our government recognize the folly of its taxing and spending policies."

Wayland Woman Awaits Return of Song Sparrow

WAYLAND (AP) — Something like Capistrano on a small scale, one Michigan's pioneer bird watchers hopes soon that spring temperatures will bring the seventh annual return of a banded song sparrow.

Mrs. Mark Short of rural Wayland 3½ years ago became the 12th person in Michigan to receive a bird-banding permit from the Federal Fish and Wildlife Service.

The particular bird Mrs. Short seeks this year is a song sparrow she banded in 1950. Two summers ago, Mrs. Short banded a mate brought back by her perky visitor. The pair returned last spring to make themselves a home and raise a family.

The sparrows are highlights in Mrs. Short's bird-banding avocation. Her ledgers show she has banded more than 75 varieties of birds. A retired teacher, she has served at schools in Plainwell, Dorr, Miner Lake and Allegan.

Mrs. Short is proud of her contributions toward new knowledge about migratory instincts of song birds. A robin she banded was found in Ardmoor, Pa., and a bluebird in Cottonwood, Ala. Both examples helped substantiate a Fish and Wildlife Service finding that birds have an east-west migration, besides their annual north-south treks.

Rams, Rochester Reach Finals

By BILL CORNWELL

Never-say-die St. Frederick has reached the final round of the Class C district basketball tournament at Pontiac High.

The Rams turned the trick Thursday night by conquering an old nemesis, crosstown rival St. Michael, in an overtime hair-raiser at the PHS gym.

PETERS

St. Fred came from behind to chalk up a 55-44 decision and qualify for a shot at the district title Saturday night. Coach Gene Wright's squad will meet the winner of tonight's Almont-Mt. Clemen's St. Mary game.

Sharpshooting Rochester advanced to the Class B finals with an 87-64 triumph over Oxford. The survivor of tonight's Avondale-Clarkston test faces the Falcons Saturday for the district crown.

St. Mike let an almost certain victory slip through its fingers. The Shamrocks collapsed in the halftime, 21-16, and their margin was upped to 35-25 going into the final quarter.

Dan Dropps, whose stellar rebounding and 15-point scoring effort in the 1st half guided the Mikes to their supposedly safe lead, suffered a leg injury early in the 4th period and retired to the bench.

St. Fred quickly took advantage of the weakened foe. The Rams whittled away at the deficit and Tom Derocher climaxed the rally by dunking the tying basket with 20 seconds remaining.

Regulation time ended at 44-44. The Shamrocks evollapsed in the overtime, failing to score a single point. Ed Kast and Derocher each bagged two field goals as the Rams completely dominated the extra session.

Scoring honors went to St. Fred's Dick Nickerson, who meshed 12 of his 19 points during the last quarter surge. Derocher connected for 15. Dropps and Chuck Brown tallied 17 and 13 respectively. It was the "rubber" match between the two schools and gave the Rams a 2-1 edge for the season.

Rochester's wide margin of victory is deceiving. The underdog Wildcats gave the Falcons fits in the 1st half before yielding to superior scoring power.

Oxford set a blistering pace in the 1st two quarters. Hitting the bucket from all angles, the Wildcats held the upper hand until the fading moments of the 2nd stanza when Rochester finally gained the lead, 42-40.

The Wildcats doggedly hung on in the early minutes of the 3rd period, but eventually folded under the pressure as Rochester won going away.

Four Falcon players scored in double figures, headed by Dave Peters with 26 points. Carl Roland topped Oxford's three-pronged attack with 20.

Cranes Finish Third in ISL Score Totals

Cranbrook finished 3rd in combined team scoring for the fall and winter sports seasons in the Inter-State League, it was announced today.

The Cranes compiled 7 5-6 points by gaining 1st place ties in wrestling and soccer, and a deadlock for 3rd in football. They were winless in the basketball league. Cranbrook won the all-year title in 1955-56.

Barons, Eaglets in Finale

Hills Swamps Oak Park

By H. GUY MOATS

It's Bloomfield Hills and Orchard Lake St. Mary's coming down to the wire for the Class B district cage title at Bloomfield Hills on Saturday night at 8 o'clock. There will be no game on Friday.

Eaglets won their place by beating Keego Harbor on Wednesday.

Last night the Barons rumbled over Oak Park's club 64-46.

Hal Trott used about everybody on his bench, making frequent substitutions after the 36-23 halftime count. However, he kept his ace marksman Dave Drury on the firing line most of the evening to keep the scoring fires burning.

Dave was a "dead-eye Dick" dumping 'em in from the outside on accurate one-handers. He also varied his style with driveins for easy layups. He hit five baskets in his 1st six tries, and had eight for 11 to total 20 points. His all-around play was the bright spot of the game.

Two other Barons were in double figures, with Bob Elston leading the way in the 1st period with nine, and a total of 15. Randy Barrett topped Elston by one point, taking up the slack in Bob's 2nd half scoring with a 10-point production that included six straight gift shots.

Mike Detmer's 17 and Bill Bailey's 15 topped the Oak Park scoring. Parkers were small, overpowered by the taller Barons. Oak Park got almost half its total via the foul line, netting 20 shots to go with 13 buckets.

Boys Club Nips Bussey's, 53-51

Boys Club advanced to the final round of the Class D City Basketball League playoffs with a 53-51 victory over Bussey's Whirlwinds last night at Lincoln Junior High.

A 4th quarter rally won the game for boys Club, which trailed after three periods, 45-41, in the see-saw battle. The two teams tied for the 'D' American League title during the regular season.

Terry Houston sparked the winners with 20 points, but Perry Williams of the Whirlwinds netted 21 to take scoring honors.

Pietz Market eliminated Green's P & H, 50-42, in the loser's bracket of the double-knockout tournament. Bill Hayward rang up 20 points for Pietz while George Miller topped Green's with 13.

Circulate Walled Lake Petitions

Asking Tax Supported Library

WALLED LAKE—The Planning Board of the Walled Community library is in the process of circulating petitions which ask that the proposal for a tax supported library be placed on the April 1 election ballot.

This action was taken at the suggestion of the City Council.

★ ★ ★

On Feb. 19, representatives of the library board submitted a $5,000 budget to the city council as follows:

Salaries	$2,740.00
Books, binding, etc.	950.00
Periodicals	50.00
New services	250.00
*Operation	1,000.00
	$5,000.00

*Includes insurance.

At that meeting, board offered to donate services for the ensuing year, eliminating the biggest item on th budget. Members then asked th council for an appropriation of $2,250 to defray the cost of other items on the budget.

Since it felt that the registered voters of Walled Lake should decide the issue, council members advised the library board to circulate petitions asking for a vote at the April 1 election.

★ ★ ★

The library is currently housed in the Ramsey Building in downtown Walled Lake. It was opened last summer without the aid of public funds and has been operating on funds raised through donations and from the sale of library cards. The library came into being only through voluntary board members.

Education Board Gives Directives

Architects Proceeding on Working Drawings With New Rules

ROMEO — Architects designing plans for the new high school are proceeding with their working drawings in view of a May 20 deadline, following directives issued by the Board of Education last night.

★ ★ ★

They will authorize to include four items of equipment in their specifications which will be taken on separate bids.

They are lockers and kitchen, home economics and lab equipment to cost an estimated $61,000.

The new building will cover 44,400 square feet and will include 15 teaching stations, cafeteria lobby, administrative offices and gym.

The Board decided to eliminate the band room in preference to two additional classrooms on an alternate bid.

Total estimated cost of the building and equipment is $718,000.

The amount raised by the high school bond issue in April 1956 was $750,000. This figure was to cover site acquisition, architectural fees, the building and other specified items.

Interest on investments and other income have netted enough to pay for the 20-acre high school site during the nine months following the election, educators report.

★ ★ ★

The board itself will take bids on bleachers and classroom storage cabinets, eliminated from the base bid. According to the present building schedule, bids will be let May 20.

Council approved the ideas of the planning commission in regard to street lighting in the city. They will take no action in widening Pontiac Trail until such time as the state and county plans for this road are known. However they are going ahead with plans to install traffic lights at three of the city's most danagerous intersections.

Persons driving in the city are reminded that the ordinance concerning stopping for school busses is in effect. Traffic in both directions must halt when a school bus stops.

Waterford Tax Collection Down

Township Lists 2 Pct. Decrease in Payments Over 1956 Period

Waterford Township's personal and property tax collections are down 2 per cent from last year's total payments, according to a report from Treasurer Dorcus Tibbals.

The spread for 1956 totaled $2,061,661. To date, about 85 per cent of the overall township tax has been collected. Last year at this time, more than 87 per cent of the taxes had been paid, the report stated. The previous year's spread was about $1,700,000.

Tax payment deadline was March 1. Thereafter, a 4 per cent penalty, plus ½ per cent interest was added to residents who default in tax payments.

Mrs. Tibbals said that collections were heavy during the first part of the collection period, which begins Dec. 10, but the usual heavy rush at the end of the period, the last two weeks of February, failed to materialize this year.

One-third more dog licenses were issued in the township this year over last; 1,583 licenses were issued from the treasurer's office for a total of $1,927.

After March 1, all dog licenses are issued by the Oakland County Treasurer's Office, and the fee of $1 for males and $2 for females is doubled.

Rusty Milk Can Becomes Issue in House Debate

LANSING (AP) — A rusty milk can was the issue of a 15-minute debate in the House yesterday.

Rep. Gilbert F. Wales (D-Stambaugh) displayed the five-gallon can to other members in asking them to reject a bill dealing with milk dispensers.

★ ★ ★

The measure, sponsored by Rep. Edson V. Root Jr. (R-Bangor), would permit containers from which bulk milk is dispensed to be built of "hot dipped tinned steel, stainless steel or other corrosive resistant material."

★ ★ ★

Wales said the can, its lid badly rusted, had been brought to the hearing of the House Agriculture Committee by the director of the State Department of Agriculture.

The director, he said, reported that a state dairy inspector had found 24 cans similarly rusted in one day's work. All were made of tinned steel, he said.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Raymond C. Wurzel (R-Port Huron), a dairyman himself, scoffed. He doubted the can Wales displayed had been in use when it had been found that rusted by the inspector.

"That can had been rusting for at least six months, and the inspector that allowed the dairy to use it after previous inspections ought to be fired," he said.

Wurzel said Michigan has an adequate dairy inspection system to prevent use of rusted cans.

★ ★ ★

"All I know is what the agriculture director told me," Wales replied. "The people of Michigan shouldn't be drinking milk that comes from cans like this one."

He urged that the proposed law be amended to require stainless steel construction for all bulk milk dispensers.

The measure was expected to come up for vote today.

Squirrel (ly) Visitors Start Fire in Attic

ROCHESTER — Fire Chief George Ross here believes furry little visitors in the attic of a house occupied by James Wilcox, farm manager of the Allen Sheiden estate at 5931 Sheiden Rd., yesterday started a fire which resulted in about $1500 damages.

★ ★ ★

The blaze doused by firemen around 5:30 p.m., burned the roof off the house and damaged upper-story contents. Ross said he was not sure, but advanced the theory that there are many more squirrels in the area than usual this year. He thinks some of them got into the attic and chewed at the wiring.

The battered chief was discovered earlier this week in a Bloomfield Hills ditch. It was later claimed by a Southfield Township man who said it had been removed from his lawn.

Donaldson was given the statue by M. E. Long, 19315 Riverside Dr. It is presently being studied by the "medicine men" at Pontiac Motor Division to see if the chief can be patched up for display.

Brings Talent to Township

Directing 'High Ground'

By WILDA MAY
Sylvan Manor Correspondent

When "High Ground," the fourth production of the year-old Township Players of West Bloomfield, takes the stage tonight and Saturday, its audiences can be sure that while the actors are for the most part amateurs, the production will be on a professional level.

Muriel Donegan, of this township who is directing the melodrama, brings a lifetime of experience to the task of guiding the cast through a demanding portrayal of the story, concerning a young convicted murderess on her way to execution, who with her guards is forced to take refuge in a convent during a sudden flood.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Donegan has been an active and successful performer in nearly every branch of the theater.

MRS. DONEGAN

In St. Paul and other cities of the Middle West, Mrs. Donegan played practically all the classic child parts—"Fauntleroy," "The Littlest Rebel," and leads in "Snow White," "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and many other plays with children as major protagonists.

During the awkward teen-age period when most "child stars" go into temporary eclipse, Mrs. Donegan switched to musical comedy where her singing and dancing talents came into play.

With brief interludes of return to the "legitimate" drama, Mrs. Donegan concentrated more and more on the musical aspect of the theater and eventually gravitated into vaudeveille, where she produced many of her own elaborate dance productions, carrying an orchestra as well as a dozen-odd artists.

Mrs. Donegan and her husband agreed that the "two-a-days" were too hard, and, tiring of the "road," they were anxious to settle down in one place. Donegan became an advertising man and Mrs. Donegan a homemaker — with occasional forays into little theater activity as a rewarding hobby.

★ ★ ★

The Donegans moved to the Detroit area in 1946 and after connections with several little theater groups, moved to the West Bloomfield area where last year they and a few neighbors founded the Township Players. The Donegans have alternated in directing, and acting in, the Township Players' productions of which "High Ground" is the fourth.

Rams, Rochester Reach Finals

By BILL CORNWELL

Never-say-die St. Frederick has reached the final round of the Class C district basketball tournament at Pontiac High.

The Rams turned the trick Thursday night by conquering an old nemesis, crosstown rival St. Michael, in an overtime hair-raiser at the PHS gym.

PETERS

St. Fred came from behind to chalk up a 55-44 decision and qualify for a shot at the district title Saturday night. Coach Gene Wright's squad will meet the winner of tonight's Almont-Mt. Clemen's St. Mary game.

Sharpshooting Rochester advanced to the Class B finals with an 87-64 triumph over Oxford. The survivor of tonight's Avondale-Clarkston test faces the Falcons Saturday for the district crown.

St. Mike let an almost certain victory slip through its fingers. The Shamrocks collapsed in the halftime, 21-16, and their margin was upped to 35-25 going into the final quarter.

Dan Dropps, whose stellar rebounding and 15-point scoring effort in the 1st half guided the Mikes to their supposedly safe lead, suffered a leg injury early in the 4th period and retired to the bench.

St. Fred quickly took advantage of the weakened foe. The Rams whittled away at the deficit and Tom Derocher climaxed the rally by dunking the tying basket with 20 seconds remaining.

Regulation time ended at 44-44. The Shamrocks evollapsed in the overtime, failing to score a single point. Ed Kast and Derocher each bagged two field goals as the Rams completely dominated the extra session.

Scoring honors went to St. Fred's Dick Nickerson, who meshed 12 of his 19 points during the last quarter surge. Derocher connected for 15. Dropps and Chuck Brown tallied 17 and 13 respectively. It was the "rubber" match between the two schools and gave the Rams a 2-1 edge for the season.

Rochester's wide margin of victory is deceiving. The underdog Wildcats gave the Falcons fits in the 1st half before yielding to superior scoring power.

Oxford set a blistering pace in the 1st two quarters. Hitting the bucket from all angles, the Wildcats held the upper hand until the fading moments of the 2nd stanza when Rochester finally gained the lead, 42-40.

The Wildcats doggedly hung on in the early minutes of the 3rd period, but eventually folded under the pressure as Rochester won going away.

Four Falcon players scored in double figures, headed by Dave Peters with 26 points. Carl Roland topped Oxford's three-pronged attack with 20.

Cranes Finish Third in ISL Score Totals

Cranbrook finished 3rd in combined team scoring for the fall and winter sports seasons in the Inter-State League, it was announced today.

The Cranes compiled 7 5-6 points by gaining 1st place ties in wrestling and soccer, and a deadlock for 3rd in football. They were winless in the basketball league. Cranbrook won the all-year title in 1955-56.

Barons, Eaglets in Finale

Hills Swamps Oak Park

By H. GUY MOATS

It's Bloomfield Hills and Orchard Lake St. Mary's coming down to the wire for the Class B district cage title at Bloomfield Hills on Saturday night at 8 o'clock. There will be no game on Friday.

Eaglets won their place by beating Keego Harbor on Wednesday.

Last night the Barons rumbled over Oak Park's club 64-46.

Hal Trott used about everybody on his bench, making frequent substitutions after the 36-23 halftime count. However, he kept his ace marksman Dave Drury on the firing line most of the evening to keep the scoring fires burning.

Dave was a "dead-eye Dick" dumping 'em in from the outside on accurate one-handers. He also varied his style with driveins for easy layups. He hit five baskets in his 1st six tries, and had eight for 11 to total 20 points. His all-around play was the bright spot of the game.

Two other Barons were in double figures, with Bob Elston leading the way in the 1st period with nine, and a total of 15. Randy Barrett topped Elston by one point, taking up the slack in Bob's 2nd half scoring with a 10-point production that included six straight gift shots.

Mike Detmer's 17 and Bill Bailey's 15 topped the Oak Park scoring. Parkers were small, overpowered by the taller Barons. Oak Park got almost half its total via the foul line, netting 20 shots to go with 13 buckets.

Boys Club Nips Bussey's, 53-51

Boys Club advanced to the final round of the Class D City Basketball League playoffs with a 53-51 victory over Bussey's Whirlwinds last night at Lincoln Junior High.

A 4th quarter rally won the game for boys Club, which trailed after three periods, 45-41, in the see-saw battle. The two teams tied for the 'D' American League title during the regular season.

Terry Houston sparked the winners with 20 points, but Perry Williams of the Whirlwinds netted 21 to take scoring honors.

Pietz Market eliminated Green's P & H, 50-42, in the loser's bracket of the double-knockout tournament. Bill Hayward rang up 20 points for Pietz while George Miller topped Green's with 13.

Cornel Directs New Film in Which He Also Stars

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—I visited the set of "Devil's Hairpin" at Paramount on the first day of shooting, with Cornell Wilde doubling in brass as the male star and director.

His beautiful blonde wife, Jean Wallace, is his leading lady, and she wore a skin-tight dress which Edith Head said she designed to make her look sexy. Well, Jean did.

Cornel said shooting the picture was easy because he had worked so hard for four months on the script, studying every angle of car racing.

He said that Jean will also be in his next picture, "Arrow Into the Sun," and he's already sent the script to Fredric March. "But," said Cornell, "I will not direct this one, which is the story of the conflict between the Indians and the Mormons."

The mastermind behind Elvis Presley, Colonel Tom Parker, of course, has taken over Hugh O'Brian's cross-country tour. Hugh's act will be called "Wyatt Earp's Western Variety Show," based on Hugh's TV characterization of Earp. There will be 20 people in the show, including cowboys, rope twirlers, etc.

The show opens Sunday in Denver, followed by 12 other cities in a two-week span. Hugh also takes over Jackie Gleason's TV show on March 30.

Poor Jackie, I was sorry to hear he was bounced out of the Stork Club. Everybody likes him and hates to see him get that type of publicity.

'DESK SET' DONE

Small wonder Walter Lang brought in "Desk Set" four days ahead of schedule with two such pros as Katharine Hepburn and Spencer Tracy.

Walter said that in all his years as a director he has never had an experience such as he had when Katie and Spence did nine pages of dialogue between 9 in the morning and 2:30 in the afternoon, in one take. "They were letter perfect," he said. "And this didn't include still pictures we took." Walter's something of a pro himself.

As soon as Gig Young finished "Desk Set" he went to New York to see his bride, Elizabeth Montgomery. Gig's next assignment is "Teacher's Pet" with Clark Gable and Doris Day.

U-I will not do "Calypso Joe" because it so happens that Allied Artists owns the title and signed Herb Jeffries. Herb will sing a Calypso number called "Po-Mule."

Head man Steve Brodie, speaking for Allied, says his company is going to take advantage of the current Calypso craze and rush "Calypso Joe" into production starting March 18.

Eddie Fisher, therefore, will not do "Calypso Joe" for U-I but he is negotiating for another property.

BECOMING WRITER

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Jane Powell's husband, Pat Nerney, is leaving the family automobile business to turn writer. He's had a novel accepted and will concentrate on TV plays.

The Wendy Martin signed for Victor Herbert's "Eileen," for Lux Video, was discovered by Wynn Rocamora.. He heard her auditioning at the Mocambo and promptly signed her.

Today, John Emery, formerly married to Tallulah Bankhead, tested for the John Barrymore role in "Too Much, Too Soon" at Warners.

The many admirers and friends of Dean Martin had ringside seats at his opening at the Sands in Las Vegas. Frank Sinatra with Jimmy Van Heusen, the Donald O'Connors, Jack Benny, Desi and Lucy, Debbie Reynolds, Nanette Fabray with Ranald MacDougall, Phil and Alice Faye Harris were among those who liked Dean's show.

Remove Flat Moles, Pathologist Advises

LOS ANGELES (INS) — A well known pathologist warns that flat, brown or black hairless moles should be removed when they are in areas of irritation because they can kill swiftly if they become malignant.

Dr. Lauren V. Ackerman, professor of surgical pathology at Washington University, told a medical forum in Los Angeles yesterday:

"Everyone has moles, a minimum of 10 or 20. Flat brown or black hairless moles generally are the type that become malignant. They should be removed when they are in body areas subject to irritation, such as in the areas of collars, belts, shoes or straps."
