Threat of War Lessening in the Caribbean

Tension Still High as OAS, U. N. Units Call Meetings on Situation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Organization of American States decided by a vote of 18 to 0 today to send its special committee back to Haiti and the Dominican Republic to work for a settlement of the dispute between those two countries.

From Our News Wires

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic—The immediate threat of war between the Dominican Republic and Haiti appeared to recede today but tension remained high.

The Organization of American States (OAS) and the U.N. Security Council called meetings today to discuss the situation between the Caribbean neighbors sharing the island of Hispaniola 50 miles from Cuba.

The Security Council was expected to leave it to the OAS.

The Haitian government sought and received permission for a military plane to land in Curacao, but canceled its request a half-hour before the aircraft was due to arrive.

The Haitian request last night said the purpose of the trip was to "pick up passengers," but the mystery surrounding the bid stirred speculation that President Francois Duvalier might be seeking to flee the country.

In New York, Haiti's foreign minister said the situation there has been exaggerated and he would urge President Francois Duvalier to allow the press "free entrance" to the country.

Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers told a news conference he did not think conditions in Haiti were critical enough to justify the evacuation of all U.S. citizens.

★ ★ ★

Chalmers was in New York to protest to the Security Council what he called aggression by the Dominican Republic.

★ ★ ★

"At this moment," he said, "it seems to me it's verbal aggression, but verbal aggression is the first step toward armed aggression."

"WANT TO BE FREE" — Negroes clap and sing "I want to be free" as officers urge them to move on during racial demonstrations in Birmingham, Ala., yesterday. State Troopers reinforced Birmingham police today, armed with tear gas, riot guns, carbines and sub-machine guns.

Negro Leader Announces End in Birmingham

Settlement May Come in 24 Hours; Group Sticks to Demands

From Our News Wires

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — A halt was called today in the massive racial demonstrations that filled the city's jails with more than 2,200 Negro civil rights demonstrators.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the Negro integrationist, who led the massive protests and spent eight days in jail himself, made the announcement less than an hour before President Kennedy was to hold a nationally televised news conference.

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and the Rev. Fred Shuttlesworth, president of the Alabama Christian Movement, appeared at a news conference while state police were containing a huge crowd of Negroes only a block away.

King said a settlement in the racial problem could come within 24 hours.

King said "we are still holding out for the four original demands." They were:

- Better employment opportunities.
- Desegregation of downtown lunch counters.
- Release of the estimated 1,200 Negroes still in jail as a result of the protest marches.
- Creation of a biracial committee to work out plans for gradual desegregation of public schools.

SERIOUS NEGOTIATING

"We have been engaged in serious negotiating sessions all morning," King said.

In Washington, Rep. Adam Clayton Powell said earlier that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy had told him that "something very big" was due to break in the Birmingham situation.

Powell called a news conference to say he was asking the attorney general to act under existing law to arrest Birmingham officials who are subjecting Negroes to water hoses, police dogs and mass arrests.

Powell said the statute under which the federal government could act now in Birmingham

Police Form Barricade

From Our News Wires

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. — Helmeted state troopers formed a human barricade today between the white and Negro sections of this racially torn city.

Hundreds of troopers and deputies from outside the city poured in to reinforce Birmingham police, outflanked and overrun twice during Negro civil rights demonstrations yesterday.

Related Stories, Pages A-2, B-7

Patrol cars were parked at intersections in the main business district.

About 150 troopers ringed Ingram Park, the site of Tuesday's outbreak when firemen used hoses to quell the surging crowds.

★ ★ ★

CONTROL AREA

Control of a four-block area surrounding a park adjacent to a Negro church was turned over to the state troopers, ordered in by Gov. George Wallace yesterday.

Birmingham city officers were doing little more than keeping traffic moving.

An officer told newsmen the highway patrol's orders were to do everything possible to maintain the peace and to keep Negroes confined to the area around the church where a mass meeting of Negroes was under way.

The officer implied that resistance to the efforts would be met with whatever force was necessary.

State Public Safety Director Al Lingo said approximately 575 patrolmen had moved into the city. But this number included sheriff's deputies and deputized National Guardsmen along with 250 Highway Partolmen, it was announced later.

Riot-trained patrolmen were backed by 90 State Conservation Department officers and 90 Alabama Alcoholic Beverage Control Board agents.

MOUNTED DEPUTIES

Also arriving were 20 members of the Montgomery County sheriff's posse with their horses and 30 mounted deputies of the Dallas (Selma) County sheriff's posse.

A state official said 125 National Guardsmen were deputized as special state officers. They are not acting as guardsmen, he emphasized.

Lingo said the troopers were under direct orders of Wallace. They are equipped with tear gas grenades, riot guns, carbines and sub-machine guns, he said.

In the face of these developments, integration leader the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. said: "This movement is getting bigger and bigger. There'll be no stopping until we move segregation from the city."

Goals of the campaign, King has said, include desegregation of downtown public facilities such as lunch counters, rest rooms and water fountains; better employment opportunities for Negroes; establishment of a biracial committee on racial problems; and dropping of charges against all Negroes arrested for picketing, parading and other demonstrations.

Students Enjoy Studying Press

By JOE MULLEN

Third graders at Haviland Elementary School in Waterford Township did things a little differently yesterday and the youngsters loved every minute of it.

Teacher Mrs. Vi White conducted the entire day's lesson from Monday's Pontiac Press.

The children were especially interested in front page items dealing with strife between Haiti and the Dominican Republic, and the racial demonstrations in Birmingham, Alabama.

Spelling became particularly fascinating yesterday because the lesson originated from the daily crossword puzzle.

Even arithmetic seemed pleasant. The children paged through the paper and made up problems from the advertisements.

The textbook-to-newspaper switch proved beneficial even to the teacher.

Mrs. White, a teacher for 15 years in the Waterford system, said some of the boys in the class pointed out the won-lost percentage formula in baseball team standings.

Lingering over the sports pages as boys are prone to do, they examined the Kentucky Derby account, and discussed the geographical location of the Blue Grass State.

Lessons in safety were offered by accounts of local auto accidents in the newspaper.

Georgia Grile, senior at Waterford Township High School and a member of the future teacher organization, used the newspaper for conversational French lessons.

Residents Recall Day Germany Surrendered

By JIM LONG

Eighteen years ago today the war in Europe ended.

It was V-E Day. Halfway home. Japan was still to be defeated. Its surrender would come four months later.

But now it was V-E day and Hitler's "invincible" armies had fallen.

Unless reminded, the date May 8 holds no particular significance to the man on the street. Jog their memory a little and that day a long time ago comes vividly to mind.

"Yes, of course I remember. I know exactly what I was doing when I heard the news," was the general reaction.

The 18 years seem like only yesterday for most.

For Mrs. Sonja Fleetwood the war was more than just a headline. She was surrounded by it.

★ ★ ★

A native of Bielefeld, Germany, Mrs. Fleetwood, then only a youngster of 13, said she remembers the peace announcement came after the Americans had taken over the city.

★ ★ ★

"All of a sudden church bells were ringing, sirens were going and people everywhere were waving white flags," said Mrs. Fleetwood, 390 Robert.

"We were happy but I don't think there was any celebration. Probably because it was too good to be true.

A U.S. citizen since 1958, Mrs. Fleetwood will revive further memories of the long battle when she visits her homeland in two months.

When Williams learned of the cease fire he was in a hospital in Paris, a casualty from a hand-to-hand battle with a German soldier during a night reconnaisance near Berlin.

"I wasn't in good enough shape to celebrate," said Williams, 4083 S. Mill, Dryden, "I was still sipping soup through a straw when I got word."

William's right cheek and jaw had been smashed by the butt of a German rifle when his patrol came across an enemy machine gun emplacement.

★ ★ ★

"It happened about two months before the peace," Williams said. "I heard the news on the radio while I was passing the time away making gun handles from plastic.

CLERK IN HOSPITAL

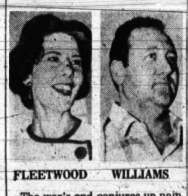

Robert L. Barker, 46, an attorney also was in the hospital when he first got word of the surrender, but not as a patient.

Barker, 1796 Hiller, was the chief clerk at a station hospital in Great Bend, Kan. at the time.

★ ★ ★

"I remember the brass put a curfew on. Nobody could leave the base," said Barker, then a sergeant major.

"They didn't want us to tear the town apart," he said. "And we probably would have."

Allen Airport Project Gets FAA Approval

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, announced today that the Federal Aviation Agency has approved plans to develop the county-owned Allen Airport for general aviation use.

★ ★ ★

This qualifies the airport, located in Orion and Pontiac Townships, for matching state and federal funds under the national airport plan, if and when the site is further developed.

The airport would be developed for corporate type general services, for use by private industries.

The next step is a general study of the county-wide aviation needs, according to Hamlin.

The decision on such a study would be up to the Board of Supervisors.

Consideration should be given that both the proposed county airport and the existing Pontiac Municipal airport should come under one authority so not to be competitive, Hamlin said.

City Creates New Bureau

The Pontiac City Commission voted unanimously last night to create a new bureau of community relations and appointed its first director.

★ ★ ★

Proposed by Mayor Robert A. Landry, the new bureau will go into operation June 1 under the direction of Mrs. Patricia Kleindl, formerly in the city's urban renewal office.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Landry said the activities of the city have grown over the years with municipal operations widening in scope. He said the problem of informing the community is important and requires action by the Commission.

Established to "handle mail and correspondence for members of the City Commission, and other duties as assigned," the new bureau will be responsible directly to the Commission.

All information obtained by the community relations bureau must go first to the Commission before it is released to any other city official or person.

Rap JFK on Ole Miss

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Legislative investigators today linked the University of Mississippi desegregation riots with Kennedy political ambitions and blamed the violence on federal planning errors and tactical blunders.

★ ★ ★

The General Legislative Investigating Committee, in its formal report to Gov. Ross Barnett and the Mississippi Legislature on the Oxford crisis, termed the riots last Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 a "tragic chain of events and errors."

After linking the Oxford situation with national politics, the committee asserted:

That marshals were "displayed" to attract a crowd of students;

That the President illegally took control of the Mississippi National Guard, the only means the governor had of controlling crowds;

And that the marshals turned a student demonstration into a bloody riot by firing into the faces of the students as state highway patrolmen were moving them back.

★ ★ ★

If the President had exercised care in the responsibility he assumed, the report said, "The tragic events would not have occurred."

"One fact that stands out above all others," the committee said, "is that so long as the governor of the State of Mississippi was permitted to be responsible for the enforcement of law and maintenance of peace, there was no violence or injury of any kind."

In Washington, the Justice Department issued a statement saying the report was "characterized by bias, factual errors and misstatements."

The statement disputed almost every contention in the report. It differed with the legislative committee's version of how the rioting began, and said the presence of the marshals was arranged by Gov. Barnett and that the governor approved their number.

The committee, which took more than 2,000 pages of sworn testimony from 90 witnesses, said the tragedy cost two lives, many injuries and millions of dollars damage needlessly. The rioting followed enrollment of James H. Meredith, a Negro, in the university last fall.

The report, a committee statement said, "demonstrates that the sole reason the rioting was permitted to continue for more than eight hours was that the entire operation was a tragedy of federal blundering, disorganization and total disregard for human safety and human life."

Solon Blasts Dixie Police, Pushes Rights Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee today accused Birmingham, Ala., police of using "barbaric" tactics to quell Negro demonstrators and called for swift passage of civil rights legislation.

★ ★ ★

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., pointed directly at Birmingham and Greenwood, Miss., in his verbal indictment opening hearings on 90 assorted civil rights proposals.

"The actions of the state police and officials were barbaric despite the provocation of taunts of the children," he said.

"Police clubs are bludgeons. Fire hoses and dogs have been used on defenseless school children who are marching and singing hymns in protest of denials of civil rights."

★ ★ ★

Celler said the actions of the communities were "blotches on the records" of Alabama and Mississippi and "our image abroad has been tarnished."

STRONG BACKING

Strong endorsement for civil rights legislation also came in testimony from Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., and Reps. Steven Derounian, R-N.Y., and William T. Cahill, R-N.J.

★ ★ ★

Keating told Celler that it was up to the House to provide the leadership for a civil rights bill.

Despite scheduled hearings in the Senate, Keating said, "Past experience offers no hope for optimism that any civil rights bill will be able to survive a full committee filibuster and the other obstructionist parliamentary devices which we have learned to anticipate."

"For those who would be complacent with the past record," Celler said, "I need only refer to what is occurring as reported on television, radio and in the press."

JOINED BY REPUBLICAN

Celler was joined in his strong call for prompt action by Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, the ranking Republican on the committee.

★ ★ ★

Both leaders of the House Judiciary Committee called for understanding and an absence of rancor during the hearings.

Board members were still working on a revision of the recount rules today, but planned to finish up the chore this afternoon.

"Cars were bumper to bumper. You couldn't get a cab or bus. I finally had to walk."

Only a few persons questioned by The Pontiac Press failed to remember exactly what they were doing on that day 18 years ago.

All could remember it was a happy day, a prayerful day.

British Intelligence Blasted by Spy Imprisoned in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Greville Wynne, a Briton, accused the British Intelligence Service today of having tricked him into a deal that landed him in a Soviet prison as a spy for his homeland and the United States.

"That's why I am here," Wynne despondently told the three-judge military court in the second day of a Soviet show trial that has put him in the dock with Oleg Penkovsky, a Soviet scientific official. Both have confessed to spying.

★ ★ ★

In three hours of testimony, the British businessman said he had delivered packages of film and other matter back and forth between Moscow and London, unaware that he was working as an assistant to Penkovsky.

'GREW ANGRY'

"He said a high agent of the British Intelligence Service "grew very angry" when he was asked what was going on.

Without naming the agent, he said he was told Penkovsky's activities were wholly in accord with the wishes of the Soviet Union. Otherwise Moscow wouldn't give Penkovsky visas for trips to London, one as the head of a Soviet trade delegation, he quoted the agent as saying.

★ ★ ★

Time after time Wynne's testimony clashed with that of Penkovsky.

Both pleaded guilty Tuesday at the opening of the trial.

Penkovsky disputed Wynn's claim that he was only a courier for the information the Russian collected for Britain and the United States.

★ ★ ★

"He was not only a messenger," Penkovsky testified. "Wynne must not minimize his role."

Under questioning by the military prosecutor, Lt. Gen. Artyom Gorny, Penkovsky said he had been "an honorable, ordinary Soviet man") until 1960.

Gorny referred to testimony that Penkovsky had planned to flee to the West and that he had been promised a job in either the British or American intelligence services.

Penkovsky said he rejected the idea when Western agents proposed it.

Locate Hideout of 4 Escapees

Captured Con Tells of Abandoned Home

JACKSON (UPI) — The four dangerous convicts who escaped from the state prison at Jackson last month hid out for five days at an abandoned county old folks' home, police said today.

Authorities inspected the old building this morning after one of the convicts captured yesterday revealed the hiding place.

The escapee, James Hall, 41, was captured near Carthage, Mo., when his stolen car crashed into a ditch. The other three prisoners were being sought in the Chicago area.

★ ★ ★

Hall told authorities that he and his three companions hid out in the abandoned home six miles west of the prison.

Authorities went there today and found evidence the men had stayed there for several days.

★ ★ ★

In one room of the building they found the remains of old chicken bones and egg shells. They theorized the men fed themselves by stealing chickens and eggs from a farmer across the road.

Authorities found prison clothing which the men had discarded when they came across civilian garb left in the building.

The building had a stove so the convicts kept warm. There were beds with blankets where the men slept.

The electricity had been disconnected when the building was abandoned but the convicts managed to turn it on again, police said.

GOP Names Four Lawyers for Judgeships

The names of four Oakland County attorneys were sent last night to Gov. George Romney as the County Republican organization's recommendations for appointment to two new circuit judgeships the county will get in September.

The order in which the county GOP executive committee listed them was:

James S. Thorburn, Royal Oak attorney and president of the Oakland County Bar Association.

Phillip Pratt, Pontiac attorney and former president of the county Bar Association.

Theodore F. Hughes, Royal Oak attorney who once served six months as an appointed circuit judge in Oakland County.

George F. Taylor, Oakland County prosecuting attorney since 1959.

Thorburn and Pratt are considered the most likely to receive the appointments by Romney to fill the two vacancies to be opened on the county's Circuit Court bench Sept. 5.

Although Romney has not signed the bill yet, he is expected to do so soon, probably next week. Announcment of his appointments is anticipated soon after he signs the bill into law.

Pontiac Pair Tours Amidst Haiti Terror

By JIM DYGERT

A Pontiac couple went sightseeing in Haiti last week, and became tourists in the midst of terror for three nervous days.

"I'm still shaking," says Edwin H. Gaukler, 53, of 1095 Voorheis.

Gaukler and his wife, Shirley, 40, returned late Monday from a vacation trip that took them on a spur-of-the-moment visit to the Haitian capital, Port-au-Prince.

That's the city where Haitian President Francois Duvalier is attempting to hold control of his impoverished nation in the face of a threatened revolt May 15 (expiration date of Duvalier's term).

"Duvalier will be dead by May 15," predicts Gaukler, who says he talked to many of the dictator's secret enemies.

★ ★ ★

The moment of greatest tension came for the Gauklers as they were about to leave Haiti by plane, they report.

Gaukler says he and his wife smuggled out the first news of Duvalier's martial law and strict curfew when they left.

"A reporter gave me a message and a roll of film and I stuck them in my coat pocket," Gaukler said. "I was to take them to Miami.

★ ★ ★

"The plane was all ready to go, and suddenly the engines stopped. We were really sweating. I had stuck the film behind a seat and the note in Shirley's handbag, but I was afraid we would be searched."

TURNED FILM OVER

They waited it out about 15 minutes. But the wait was not for them, after all. They turned the film and message over to another reporter in Miami, Gaukler said.

Haitian officials had clamped a tight censorship on news, Gaukler said. "There weren't even any newspapers to read."

But the Gauklers were up to date on the Haitian situation. Members of an Organization of American States commission investigating the internal conflict and the frayed relations between Haiti and neighboring Dominican Republic stayed at the hotel where the Gauklers had a room.

"We became acquainted with several of the commission members and their guards," Gaukler said.

Gaukler said he was mistaken for one of the OAS investigators when he stepped off the plane in Port-au-Prince last Tuesday. He was greeted warmly and politely.

"We thought it was just their native hospitality," Mrs. Gaukler said.

Haitian Scene Snapped by Local Couple

Gaukler has no one but himself to blame for being shaken.

TROUBLE BREWING

"We were in Puerto Rico and I heard there was trouble brewing," Gaukler said. There was a threat of conflict between Haiti and the Dominican Republic over Haiti's detention of Dominican diplomatic personnel as enemies of Duvalier.

"I wanted to see Haiti before it was too late," Gaukler said. "I missed seeing Cuba and now I never will."

The Gauklers did not see fighting and killing, but heard shots they learned later had killed some Duvalier opponents.

★ ★ ★

Although their sight-seeing was restricted, Gaukler said they weren't sorry they went.

"I like to go where there's something happening," he said.

★ ★ ★

"I wanted to stop at Birmingham, Ala., on the way back to see the antisegregation demonstrations, but Shirley wouldn't go for it."

Pontiac City Affairs

OK Planning Recommendations

Seven recommendations of the City Planning Commission were approved last night by the Pontiac City Commission.

Among the recommendations was one to deny the rezoning of property at West Huron and Lincoln, which provoked lengthy arguments at the planning commission's hearing last week.

The land, located on the northwest corner of Huron, is next to the site of a large clinic now under construction.

Dr. H. H. Swanson, a dentist, had sought commercial zoning of the parcel. He wanted the C1 zoning because it would enable him to construct a large building and provide for more off-street parking.

SOUGHT CHANGE

He sought to change the zoning from personal use to commercial 1.

Although the City Commission denied the requested rezoning, the commissionrs suggested that the matter be appealed to the zoning board of appeals, which could grant a variance of yard requirements.

* * *

Approval there would allow Dr. Swanson to use the property as he had planned, but would not rezone the land.

Other recommendations of the planning commission were also concurred with by the City Commission.

The commissioners denied a request for C1 rezoning for 208 W. Howard and for the rear of property at 358 Oakland which fronts on Howard.

* * *

The city also concurred that the alley on the north side of W. Huron between Thorpe and Lincoln should not be closed and that it should be improved and maintained as a city alley.

ALSO DENIED

Commercial zoning for six lots to the west of 554 Franklin Road was also denied by the commission.

An effort of the Oakland Coal & Paint Co. to have property south of the railroad tracks and west of Bethune School rezoned to commercial was denied, but the commission did rezone the land from residential to manufacturing.

According to a report from the planning commission, this rezoning would allow the use planned by the company. The company reportedly will rent some of its land to other companies.

* * *

The City Commission concurred with a report by the planning commission to vacate Hill between Bliss and Pike, and Auburn and the City Hall; and Bliss between Hill and Parkhurst; Chandler between the City Hall parking lot and the proposed street which is west of and parallel to Parkhurst; and Cherry, a short street southeast of City Hall, for the civic center development.

OK RECOMMENDATION

Another recommendation of the planning commission was approved by the City Commission. This called for vacating part of Walnut between Wessen and the railroad tracks for the construction of the water works community center.

* * *

In other action, the commission accepted the city engineer's estimate for two-inch bituminous concrete resurfacing, curb replacement, and related work on Mohawk from Huron to Spokane.

The engineer estimated the total cost at $18,124. The assessed cost would be $5,239, while the city's share would be $12,884.

Hearings were also held on the intention to black top the following streets:

Harvey from Ditmar to the south end of street; Howard from Adelaide to Johnson; Inglewood from Oakland to Monticello; Stanley from Walton to Chicago; and Third from Fuller to Arlene.

A hearing was held on the special assessment for construction of a sanitary sewer and related work on Crayton and Asterwood from 200 feet west of Grayton to the city limits.

Another hearing concerned the construction of a water main in the northeast side of Oakland from Sarasota to the railroad tracks.

Still another hearing was held on the special assessments for curb, gutter, grade, gravel and related work on Arlene from Madison to Perry.

Lawyers to Aid in Recount

State Accepts Bar Unit Offer

Feel Attorneys Should Rush New-Con Check

LANSING (AP) — The Board of State Canvassers has accepted an offer by the State Bar of Michigan to help in the recount of the April 1 vote approving a new state constitution.

The board decided on the outside aid after Elections Director Robert Montgomery said it would take five or six weeks for his staff to conduct the recount unaided.

With the help of a team of attorneys, Montgomery said, the recount could be cleaned up in two or three weeks.

Montgomery was instructed to ask the bar to furnish up to 25 lawyers to assist in the recount.

The board, still working on recount rules, stuck by its target date of starting the recount next Monday.

Democrats have asked for a recount in 1,891 precincts and the coordinating committee for the new constitution—acting with Republican backing—has petitioned for a recount of 103 precincts.

There were duplications of 25 precincts in the two petitions, however, leaving the total to be recounted at 1,969 of the state's 5,209 precinct total. Of these, 1,350 are machine precincts and 619 paper ballot precincts.

ASK FAST RULING

The attorney general's office was asked for a fast ruling on whether absentee ballots could be counted in machine districts.

An Ingham County Circuit Court decision holds they can not.

Tom Downs, former constitutional convention vice president and legal advisor for the Democratic State Central Committee, asked that they be counted.

Downs said he wanted the count as a basis for a Supreme Court test of the lower court ruling.

"We will go to court over it if we think the difference in the absentee ballot count might be enough to change the results of the election," Downs said. "If there is no such indication, the matter will be dropped."

★ ★ ★

Montgomery recommended that the 77 counties to be recounted be divided into two categories.

SIX GROUPS

One would consist of six groups, each containing between eight and 13 counties. The smallest of these groups has 84 precincts to be counted and the largest includes 146 precincts.

A team would clean up the recount in one group at a time.

Sixteen other counties, all with more than 30 precincts to be recounted, would be tackled separately. These include Wayne with 257 precincts, Oakland with 206 and Kent with 118 precincts to be recounted.

Others in this category include Berrien, Calhoun, Genesee, Ingham, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lenawee, Macomb, Muskegon, Ottawa, Saginaw, St. Clair and Washtenaw counties.

Commission Disgusted

Farmington Rec Plan to End

FARMINGTON — The 15-year-old Farmington area recreation program is destined to skid to a stop at the end of the approaching summer season.

★ ★ ★

Recreation commission members have "registered out-and-out disgust" in a letter sent to both Farmington city and township officials.

Discouraged by apathy of residents and lack of available funds, the commission has decided to halt its six-week summer program.

The largest recent disappointment came April 1 when township voters turned down a half-mill operating fund request by a 3-2 margin.

★ ★ ★

"This would have cost the average family about $7 a year," Commission President Mark H. Sitts pointed out.

Also contributing to the final move is a United Fund (UF) decision to cut allocation to the recreation program.

BUDGET AMOUNTS

In the total annual budget, the UF has usually been counted upon for $4,800, the township for $2,100, the city for $750 and the schools for $450.

However, the UF claims the area served by the recreation program is now 90 per cent capable of supporting itself, Sitts said.

Thus it chopped $1,600 off this year's allocation and planned to do more slashing in the future.

To help make up the difference, the city hiked its share to $1,150, but so far the township has taken no action.

★ ★ ★

"They claimed they mislaid our letter for a budget request," Sitts said. "Considering the viewpoint of the board, we couldn't expect much."

The commission has proposed that the UF pay the full $4,800 this year and make that its final payment.

Sitts said the letter to the city and township was more than a threat — the program will end in August.

★ ★ ★

"Let it be missed," he commented. "They won't appreciate what they have until they don't have it anymore."

AREA NEWS

Two From State Lash Freeman

Farm Bureau Duo Hits Agriculture Dept.

LANSING (AP) — Two spokesmen for the Michigan Farm Bureau yesterday verbally attacked the U. S. Department of Agriculture and its secretary, Orville Freeman, for allegedly interfering with the vote in the coming wheat referendum.

Freeman earlier charged the farm organization with using diversionary tactics in the wheat issue.

The farm bureau opposed the federal wheat plan and has urged a "no" vote when it is submitted for approval May 21.

Clarence Prentice, secretary-manager of the organization, said Freeman has made the wheat issue "personal."

★ ★ ★

"And personal it is," Prentice added. "The very question involved is one which would grant to the secretary himself almost unlimited authority to manage the affairs of the farmers he condemns.

"His attack on the Michigan Farm Bureau and also his vigorous use of public funds and the time of his agricultural stabilization and conservation staff people to get this authority creates a personal vested interest that motivates this attack."

Farm Bureau President Walter Wightman, meanwhile, said in Boyne City that the ASC, in a "travesty on democracy," is trying to influence citizens votes.

★ ★ ★

He added:

"Our problems are not those of a sick industry. Farming, if left alone, is a healthy industry. If there is anything sick about it, it is sick from doctoring and governmental meddling."

SHIRLEY DOUGLAS

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shepard, 985 W. Clarkston, Orion Township, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their foster daughter Shirley Thomas to Airman 2. C. Kenneth James Britt of Plattsburg, N.Y. He is the son of Mrs. Bertha Britt, 935 W. Clarkston, Orion Township, and James Britt, of 46 Smith, Lake Orion.

Record Budget OK'd in Shelby

$376,000 in Spending Passed for Township

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A record budget of $376,000 for estimated spendings in 1963-64 was approved by the Shelby Township Board at last night's regular meeting.

Included in the budget, which covers expenses until March 31, 1964, is a general fund expenditure of $257,222. This is up $13,667 from last year's general fund figure.

The operational, or general fund cost breaks down into $105,927 for the administrative department, $65,870 for the police department, and $56,200 for the department of public works.

★ ★ ★

Also a part of general fund listings is $29,225 for the building department and planning commission.

The total budget lists $12,600 for water department spendings and a fire department budget of $106,000.

The fire department is financed by a two-mill tax approved by voters in 1953.

Township Clerk Mrs. Mae Stecker said today that the budget increase is due to minor cost hikes in almost all operational categories.

★ ★ ★

The board has submitted its tentative budget to the Macomb County Allocation Board and expects a decision some time this week.

The township requested 1.5 mills from the county. Last year it received one mill.

Miss Turrell Weds in St. George Church

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Georgia M. Turrell became the bride of Jerome V. Katz in an afternoon ceremony Saturday at St. George Greek Orthodox Church, Pontiac.

Parents of the bride, of 8800 Gale Road, are Mr. and Mrs. George C. Hanna, 648 Hadley Road, Ortonville.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Katz of Chicago, Ill.

For her wedding the bride chose a street-length dress of blue taffeta with white lace trim. A crystal crown held her blue illusion netting veil.

★ ★ ★

She carried a white carnation and rose bouquet.

Maid of honor was Carol D. Binns, niece of the bride. Nicholas T. Mitchell of Birmingham was best man.

Serving as ushers were Daniel B. Binns and Michael Schilling, nephews of the bride.

★ ★ ★

The home of the bride's parents was the setting for the reception that followed the 3 p.m. nuptials. Upon their return from a Niagara Falls honeymoon, the newlyweds will reside in White Lake Township.

Agency to Consider Police Overtime Pay

LANSING (AP)—A state trooper's demand for overtime pay over the past six years was to be considered by the State Civil Service Commission at its two-day meeting which began yesterday.

Trooper Charles Weber of the Romeo Post has brought the test case to determine whether state police are entitled to overtime pay while working their regular 56-hour week.

Council to Continue Sewerage Planning

WALLED LAKE — City councilmen here last night voted to continue their half of the plans for a Walled Lake-Novi sewage system.

The decision to spend another $8,000 on engineering followed a report by Mayor Milton Parrish on the Michigan-Washington Conference of Community Officials.

★ ★ ★

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Oakland County, assured the mayor that sewer and water projects have top priority for accelerated public works programs, Parrish said.

However, he was also told applications far outnumber projects for which funds are available.

"They emphasized that matching funds are of the utmost necessity," Parrish reported.

★ ★ ★

The maximum of $8,200 which the council agreed to spend will pay for preliminary planning of lateral lines.

The council last fall committed itself to spending up to $24,000 on plans for a Walled Lake-Novi sewage treatment plant and main trunkline.

Total cost of the joint project has been estimated in the neighborhood of $1.5 million, while the lateral lines are expected to be about $620,000.

COMPLETE PLANNING

Preliminary planning should be completed before application is made for federal funds.

Before the vote was called, Councilman William C. Staman suggested that a public meeting be held on the proposed project.

"We really don't know what the people want," Staman said, adding, "100 people could do a better selling job than seven councilmen."

★ ★ ★

Parrish noted that the planning must be started immediately "or we're not going to get the (federal) money if it is made available."

Councilman Robert J. Buffmyer said the planning expenditure was necessary "to get the answers for the people."

"We could look awfully foolish to open up a question-and-answer period and not have any answers," he commented.

"If we don't get this engineering, everything we've spent so far has gone down the drain."

County 4-H Agent Picked to Train in Washington

JACK WORTHINGTON

An Oakland County 4-H Extension Agent is one of six in the country selected by the National 4-H Foundation to attend six-week training sessions in Washington, D. C., this summer.

★ ★ ★

Jack Worthington, of 2623 Hathon Waterford Township, will receive training in leadership and citizenship while at the national 4-H center.

He, along with five other extension agents, will work with Charles Freeman, program leader of the foundation's citizenship and leadership education activities.

In addition to his training, he will assist with assemblies and discussion on American heritage, international understanding, and other activities to be provided for 4-H youth visiting the center.

Last year some 1,300 4-H'ers from across the nation attended Citizenship Short Courses at the national facilities. These week-long programs combine classroom lectures with field trips around the capitol city.

★ ★ ★

A 1946 graduate of Romeo High School, Worthington received his bachelor's and master's degrees in agriculture from Michigan State University.

He has been an extension agent in Oakland County for the past nine years and prior to that was an agent for St. Clair County.

Worthington also gained experience in the teaching of agriculture, from 1950 to 1952.

In addition, the 34-year-old agent has been a leader of county recreation programs.

He is scheduled to attend the program at the national center between May 27 and July 5.

Seniors View College Plan

The educational plans of half the 1963 graduating high school seniors would be altered by a community college in the area, according to a survey released yesterday.

The survey, taken last spring by the Oakland County Citizen's Advisory Council, cited figures showing that 4,137 of the 8,208 eleventh graders in the county would consider going to a junior college within driving distance.

Almost a fifth of this year's graduates are interested in two-year courses which could be continued at a four-year college, the survey revealed.

Present plans call for a community college with three different campuses, one in Troy, another north or northwest of Pontiac, and a third in the Farmington-Novi area.

If approved June 10 in a county-wide vote, the junior college would hold its first classes in September 1964.

The survey also reported that nearly 2,000 students would enroll in a local college if one were within driving distance, and another 2,000 said they would probably enroll in such an institution if one were available.

Ninth-grade students will present a socio-guidrama and then discuss the value of these playlets in helping them to understand some of their own problems.

★ ★ ★

Parents will have the opportunity to hear excerpts from actual counseling interviews concerning a variety of topics.

Highland Girl Is Married in Chapel Rites

HIGHLAND — The marriage of Mary Lee Wilson and Aaron Leroy Sanford was solemnized Saturday evening in the Edith Cobb Chapel of the First Congregational Church, Pontiac.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Malcolm Burton.

★ ★ ★

Parents of the bridal couple, who will live in Orion Township, are the F. Dale Wilsons, 1257 W. Highland Road, and the Robert Sanfords, 3355 Mahopac, Orion Township.

A princess style dress, with side panels and hemline outlined with lace, was chosen by the bride for her wedding. Her flowers were a cascade arrangement of white carnations centered with yellow rosebuds.

A tiny pearl headpiece held her shoulder-length veil.

Jean Wilson was her sister's attendant. Karl Stuel served as best man.

Following the wedding, a dinner reception for the bridal party and immediate family was held at Devon Gables, Bloomfield Hills.

MRS. FREDERICK GAFF

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin L. Norris of 3406 Nichols, Auburn Heights, announce the recent marriage of their daughter Sandra Kay to Frederick Gaff. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gaff of 3079 Eastwood, Auburn Heights. The wedding took place in the home of Rev. Lola P. Marion, 1105 James K, Pontiac.

Same Old Romney

LANSING (AP) — Being back in the familiar surroundings of his own paneled office, Gov. George Romney discovered yesterday hasn't brought any change in the questions asked of him.

★ ★ ★

Meeting capitol newsmen for the first time since his return from a much - publicized week in Washington, Romney found himself being asked:

"Are you a candidate for president in 1964?"

"Will you be a candidate?"

"Would you accept a draft for the nomination?"

★ ★ ★

"No."

"No."

"That's an iffy question on which it would be presumptuous of me to comment."

★ ★ ★

In what turned out to be a thorough post - mortem of his visit to the nation's capital, Romney said those who see him as a Republican presidential possibility next year "aren't seeing very straight," and added:

"I was as amazed as anyone by the publicity that developed while I was in Washington, but my position has not changed.

"All I am doing is refraining from saying what I will do when my present term as governor expires. I am concentrating on Michigan's problems, taking on some assignments that relate to presenting Michigan in a favorable light."

Clearly intent on debunking the speculation that reached a new height while he was in Washington to address the National Chamber of Commerce and visit with friends, Romney went on to scoff at reports that his candidacy is being pushed by former President Dwight Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard Nixon and former GOP National Chairman Leonard Hall.

"I think I met Len Hall a couple of times . . . but I haven't talked to him since 1960," he said. "As for Eisenhower and Nixon, I haven't talked to them or had any communication with them for months."

He said his widely publicized meeting with Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Arizona, was in the interests of party unity, meaning they discussed ways in which organizational support for Goldwater's own candidacy could be kept from creating permanent division within the Republican party.

Romney also told newsmen:

Whether New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's divorce and remarriage would have any effect on his presidential chances "is not something for me to comment on but for the delegates to the GOP convention to decide."

● Romney himself has no personal preference among any of the men mentioned as possible candidates on the Republican ticket.

● He does not know which of the potential GOP candidates has a political philosophy most closely akin to his own, "because I've never had a chance to sit down and talk extensively enough with any of them to know."

● There will be one more trip to Washington, on May 22, to deliver an address at the National Press Club.

Housing, Land Officials Define Community Plans

What should be the benefits of a well - planned community?

★ ★ ★

Both spoke Monday at a conference on "Metropolitan Goals and Guidelines" in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

First, according to Weaver, the community should provide its citizens with the type of surroundings they want.

Second, he added, the community should be entirely functional, providing its citizens with what they need.

To these, Zeckendorf adds that a community must be beautiful if it is to have any lasting value.

"If you build a city that has the lasting qualities of Athens or Rome, you don't have to worry about becoming obsolete," he told planners, economists and others at the recent meeting in Detroit.

"Therefore, I urge you to spend a little more money — or, if you will, a lot more money — on assuring yourselves edifices of great beauty and site plans of great concept and the . . . longevity of your city will take care of itself."

WELL QUALIFIED

Zeckendorf is well qualified to speak on the subject of true value in real estate. His firm purchased the United Nations Building site in New York when it was still the odious scene of slaughterhouses.

Because of the smell, the property was deemed undesirable at the time.

Once the slaughterhouses were removed, so was the bad smell, and the value of the property and that around it more than doubled.

★ ★ ★

Weaver said he long has been trying "to persuade communities to lift their eyes from the merely physical, and to look to the social and humanitarian implications of their development."

This entails, he said, giving all of the people a way of living they want and need; it means giving "the most freedom of choice where people are to live."

This will attract growth and "those areas that want to grow, and adopt policies to facilitate growth, will attract population, industry and commerce," he said adding:

"Those areas that resent growth, and want to remain as they are will see their strength gradually drift away."

CAUSES, RESULTS

Racial ghettos, slums, blight, run-down schools, traffic strangulation, runaway industry and declining commerce are some of the causes and results referred to by Weaver.

★ ★ ★

He predicted that the Detroit metropolitan area, if the growth-rate continues, can expect a population increase of two million persons by 1980.

"To accommodate at the present population density will require the development of 1,-900 square miles of (additional) land — or half the present metropolitan area," said Weaver.

Other considerations besides space he added, are schools and shopping centers, industries, recreation facilities, utilities and transit needs.

Once the needs are determined, planning can begin, Weaver said. But he warned against too rigid planning.

Romney Sets Europe Trip

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney will spend about two weeks in Europe in the latter part of August, he announced yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The governor said he and his family will go to England to meet son Scott, who is completing 1½ years of missionary work for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (Mormon).

★ ★ ★

Romney said he would spend some time in England and probably some time on the continent, returning to the U.S. after Labor Day.

GOP Wins Offices in N. Carolina City

HIGH POINT, N.C. (AP)—Republicans swept aside 20 years of Democratic rule in this North Carolina furniture and textile center Tuesday.

Republican Floyd D. Mehan defeated incumbent Democratic Mayor Carson Stout by 524 votes in the heaviest balloting in recent years. Republicans ousted five Democratic councilmen seeking re-election.

The GOP victory followed a similar Republican sweep of state legislative and county offices here last fall.

Hospital's Expansion Commendable Effort

Lending brick and mortar affirmation to the old saw "Big Oaks From Little Acorns Grow," is the enlarged Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

Celebrating completion of its expansion with an open house Sunday, the facility started at an Auburn Avenue location in June 1953. It had 26 beds then.

★ ★ ★

In early 1956, the Pontiac Hotel was acquired and converted to hospital use for the expanding institution.

Capacity there reached 151. Now, with completion of the addition making space for 406 patients, it becomes the county's largest hospital.

It is, moreover, the largest osteopathetic hospital in the United States.

★ ★ ★

The initial working personnel list of 36 has increased to 875.

The PRESS extends heartiest congratulations to Administrator HARRY WHITLOW and his executive medical staff.

The impressive development of their enterprise has had a bolstering economic effect on downtown Pontiac.

Firearm for Protection Worth Risk Involved?

The combination of children and firearms often is fatal. Recent happenings in the Pontiac area bear this out.

★ ★ ★

Children are more curious about guns than almost anything we can think of. Unfortunately, this curiosity is often coupled with a lack of knowledge.

In some cases, the knowledge is gained at the expense of killing or wounding another person.

Parents who choose to have dangerous weapons around their houses must either lock them up and keep the key on their person, or explain how guns work and the dangers they pose.

★ ★ ★

Even with a careful training program, accidents happen. It is still the "empty" gun which kills most people involved in gunshot accidents.

One of the reasons for having a gun — defense of the home or business — makes quick availability of the weapon paramount.

But in gaining this assurance against loss of life or property, one must weigh the protection against possible misuse of the weapon — with dire consequences.

★ ★ ★

Gun owners with children must make the decision: Is the protection afforded worth the inherent risks?

Residents Contribute to Success of Pontiac

We have been as hard pressed in keeping up with congratulatory expressions on Pontiac Motor Division's 1962-63 production and sales milestones as has the Division in meeting ever-increasing demand for its products.

Now another rousing tribute is indicated and herewith offered.

The number of cars produced in April exceeded 60,000, 375 higher than the record established in March of fabulous 1955.

★ ★ ★

Elaborating on this breath-taking achievement, General Manager E. M. (PETE) ESTES attributed part of it to "outstanding support we have received from the home folks."

Better than 36 per cent of the new cars sold in the metropolitan Pontiac area were Pontiacs and Tempests.

★ ★ ★

"That's better than one of every three cars sold," the executive pointed out. "Surveys indicate no other General Motors home town had greater loyalty to its automobiles."

With our salute to "PETE," his fine organization and the loyal and enthusiastic workers for their superb accomplishment goes a like bow of commendation to our area car buyers.

They have clearly demonstrated that they know a good thing when they see it.

There's Unreality in N-Ban Talks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — One of the troubles with looking at a clock is that it seems convincing. The hands point to the very latest minute in the history of man.

But even as you look the second-hand is already moving into the next minute. The minutes melt into hours and the hours into days and years. Time begins to look unreal.

MARLOW

This has been the history of all the years of talking between the United States and Russia about disarmament and banning nuclear tests. There has been an unreality about them minute by minute from the beginning.

Last week the Russians said they were a waste of time and, as if to prove it, the French two days later announced preparations to make the Tahiti Islands in the Pacific a nuclear testing center.

★ ★ ★

The fact that the United States and Russia since the war have been in a desperate contest to get ahead of each other in arms has been only a minor factor in the failure of their talks. The real one was and is distrust.

There could be no disarmament that either side would accept without a foolproof inspection system. They couldn't agree on that.

And, even if the negotiators agreed, the U. S. Senate could never approve stripping this country of its arms while another Communist giant, not a party to the treaty, kept on arming.

COULD HARDLY WORK

An American-Russian agreement to ban nuclear tests could hardly work, or be approved by either side, if Red China and France were free to build and test their own nuclear weapons, which is what they're aiming at.

But if there was an American-Russian agreement to ban nuclear tests, the two sides would still keep all their nuclear weapons unless there was an agreement to disarm. So far disarmament has been a fantasy.

Both sides have tried to make some propaganda mileage, for whatever that's worth, by presenting an appearance of willingness to disarm and stop testing.

★ ★ ★

But after all these years the rest of the world could hardly be blamed for being skeptical, particularly since the United States and Russia are skeptical of each other.

The clock grinds on and one thing melts into another.

The United States would have to be doubly skeptical about any agreement with Russia — so long as Moscow's ally, Red China, not a party to the agreement — was free to arm and test.

RUSSIAN SKEPTICISM

The same goes for Russian skepticism about the United States so long as the American ally, France, not a party to the agreement, is free to arm and test.

David Lawrence Asks:

Who's Running Military, Anyway?

WASHINGTON—Sooner or later, the Congress of the United States will have to assume the responsibility specifically imposed by the Constitution to see to it that military functions are performed hereafter by military men and not by civilian officials.

LAWRENCE

Was the latest change in the Joint Chiefs of Staff a rebuff to Adm. George W. Anderson Jr., the head of the United States Navy, because he courageously refused to agree with the civilian secretary of defense on military policies essential to strategy?

The episode has focused attention on the confusion in military planning which prevails today.

The White House explanation is that several members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in recent years have served only a single two-year term anyhow.

But it has been taken for granted that competent chiefs still far away from retirement age could be given two terms.

It is noted, moreover, that on the same day that the termination of Adm. Anderson's service was announced, it was made known that Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, chief of the Air Force, would get only a one-year extension of his two-year term.

He, too, had opposed the secretary of defense in connection with the award of the TFX contract.

What seems not to have been taken into account is the fact that, as long as the power to extend the tenure beyond the two-year term exists in a flexible form, a question will be raised as to why a competent and efficient military chief like Adm. Anderson wasn't continued in office, especially since he happens to be only 56 years old and his successor, just appointed, is also 56.

The prevailing view at the Pentagon among military men is that Secretary McNamara is demanding absolute conformity to his views.

Sen. Richard Russell, Democrat, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, has just said that Adm. Anderson's concept of the role of the Navy in today's national defense strategy is as sound as any he knows.

NO ONE BETWEEN

During World War I and World War II, the chiefs of the Army and Navy sat at the President's elbow. There was no one between them and the commander-in-chief.

The purpose of Congress in creating the Defense Department was primarily to secure coordination in many matters of administration, especially questions that are largely of a nonmilitary nature.

It was never intended that the secretary of defense would become virtually a commander-in-chief of the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Secretary McNamara, it has just been officially stated, made the recommendation to President Kennedy that Adm. Anderson be replaced and that Gen. LeMay be appointed for only one year instead of the normal two-year term.

High officers who dare to oppose the secretary can be deprived of promotions and otherwise intimidated.

It is not a healthy situation for the military operations of the United States. It could impair the morale of military men throughout the country.

A thorough investigation of the usurpation of power by the civilians in the Defense Department, from top to bottom, is really needed.

For there is only one civilian who has been given the power under the Constitution to govern the military branch of the government, and that is the President of the United States — and there is no power in the Constitution which enables him to delegate military functions to anybody but his subordinate military officers.

Bob Considine Says:

Let's Take Another Look at More Pay for Soldiers

NEW YORK — There are two sides (sometimes nine) to every situation. Lately we've been plugging for passage of the first across-the-board pay raise for service personnel in the past five years. The response has been fine, till now.

CONSIDINE

Well . . .

"Now let an old lady of 65 years have her say," writes a vigorous New Yorker. "Let me have my say about these cry baby career soldiers.

"No one breaks there arm to stay in the service. Most of them can't make a living outside and they no it. Some lowely private does most of their work and they get the credit for it while they walk around pulling the rank.

★ ★ ★

"Don't tell me I don't know what I am saying for I have been around the service for 43 years, having been married twice after being widow of a so called carrer soldier who died with 29 yr. 6 mo. service, and am a widow now of a 30 year retired service man who couldn't make more than $1.50 an hour.

"If a man can't raise his family on his wages on the outside he changes his job for bettery pay, so why don't these grade men quit this service and go outside and compete with labor?

"Thanks for reading this and this something that always makes my Irish blood boil."

★ ★ ★

(Ed. Note: That scuffling sound you just heard was made by three Marine Corps drill instructors taking to the woods in fright.)

Toots Shor woke up at the crack of noon on his birthday the other day to find a letter from his beautiful young daughter Kerry. It was his birthday, and the event had moved the fine girl to prose.

"Who is my father?" the note began in her clear schoolgirl hand. "He is a man who gives me all the love and understanding I could ever need . . . a man who copes with any problem I may have with great insight as if it was his own . . . a man whom everyone wishes to call his friend because of his amiable and striking manner-isms . . . a man who brings warmth and gratification to the life around him . . . a man who makes me feel proud and privileged to be able to say today:

"You deserve the happiest!-
Kerry."

★ ★ ★

Genuinely moved, as he should have been, Toots carried the note to his restaurant to show to a table of his cronies.

All read it with interest but without comment until Jack O'Connell, editor of the American Weekly, asked him, "Who's it to?"

Winner of 'Sugar Cookie' Compliments The Press

I always wondered if "sugar cookie" bets were paid off—and if so, how? Now I know. It was delicious.

★ ★ ★

When we moved from Detroit to the country eight years ago, I was hesitant about switching my subscription from the Detroit papers to The Pontiac Press. Actually, I finally did this because my son, delivering your paper in this area at that time, was so persuasive.

★ ★ ★

I have never been sorry. The Pontiac Press has excellent, concise news coverage, the right columnists and a fine editorial page. I shall miss Howard Heldenbrand's handling of The Man About Town column, but know that he will enrich the reading matter in your editorial columns as wonderfully as he managed to fill the void left by the death of Joe Haas.

Here's to continued success in the publishing of your very interesting Pontiac Press—but watch those "sugar cookie" bets. And don't become involved in a bakery business sideline.

Readers Discuss Waterford Schools

Waterford schools have the essentials for a good basic education. I have yet to see a school in our entire system going overboard.

Has "Enough" ever worked with or even met any of the school board members? They are all well-qualified and dedicated to the betterment of our system.

★ ★ ★

Taxpayers will be asked to pay more taxes this year, but it will not be enough to notice or complain about. People want their children to have the best education possible, but many are not willing to pay that extra amount to get them out of our already overcrowded classroom.

★ ★ ★

Without the help of every resident of Waterford Township, your child's future will be mighty uncertain.

Pat Pyle
WTHS Senior

As the 21-year-old son of a Waterford elementary school teacher, I would like to point out a few things to "Enough."

★ ★ ★

Waterford schools were built in a modern concept to provide a more comfortable atmosphere for learning. With all this, the teacher can still do just so much. Many children don't want to learn and are not encouraged by their parents.

★ ★ ★

Our country needs better schools and needs to keep its good teachers, but this is expensive. So parents cry when the tax rate is raised, or if it isn't they blame the teachers for letting their children grow up to be a society of non-thinking morons.

Old Enough to Understand
Young Enough to See Ahead

A word to the property owner who is so worried about a raise in his taxes: What do you think will happen to your property value if our schools fall so below par that people seek other districts to live in because of their children's education?

★ ★ ★

We are growing so fast we must meet the demand for schools, libraries and culture. If we do not, try to sell your house in five or ten years. You may have a lake nearby, but some family will buy a house not even as attractive for the same money in the city where the schools have been and continue to be superior.

★ ★ ★

If it were not for distressed aid monies the schools would have suffered from the last "no" vote. According to a Michigan state survey Waterford High and Crary Junior High have some of the worst facilities in the state.

Neighbors' Dogs Posing Problem

I'll be happy to comply with your editorial "Beware of All Dogs" and hereby promise not to throw my arms around a strange one. But what is the procedure when the neighbors' dogs come over and bark as if we are intruding on their privacy? Are we faced with spending $500 on a fence we don't want because ordinances are not enforced?

Excessive Words

The Arkansas Statesman (Little Rock)

Hoffa's Truck Still Rolls

The New York Times

James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, has repelled what many observers considered the most serious challenge to his prestige since the union's expulsion from the AFL-CIO for corruption in 1957. Truck drivers in the Philadelphia area voted 2 to 1 to reject a secession movement that was organized by anti-racket forces and was backed by George Meany of the AFL-CIO.

Hoffa's practices and associations are so offensive that it may seem difficult to explain why the rank and file should once again rally to his support. But we think the most obvious and also the most valid reason is that Hoffa worked harder than any of his foes at mobilizing votes in the Government-run election.

He spent most of the last 15 weeks in Philadelphia, endeavoring to persuade the 8,000 teamsters and their families that their interests would be best protected by sticking with him.

He also spent a good deal of his union's money and he made many reform promises he may find hard to keep. But, unlike the federation's high command, he did not content himself with issuing statements from afar.

Hoffa relied on the same vigor him perseverance to the criticihim invulnerable to the criticisms heaped on him by two Presidents of the United States, three Secretaries of Labor, the Attorney General, dozens of Congressmen and many top unionists. Until his opponents within labor show an even greater determination, they are unlikely to shake his grip on the country's biggest and strongest union.

Cherry Pies

The Christian Science Monitor

Sen. Philip A. Hart of Michigan found in a Washington grocery store the other day some 8-inch frozen cherry pies with only 40 cherries each in them. To one who comes from the state that produces 60 per cent of the nation's cherries, this was significant and saddening.

★ ★ ★

An old song used to express concern over a young man's choice of a bride in the refrain, "Can she bake a cherry pie, Billie Boy?" Senator Hart perhaps feels that the question should be addressed to the commercial packers who put up wares for supermarket freezers.

★ ★ ★

What he proposes, however, is a "truth-in-packaging" bill which presumably would give the consumer some inkling of the paucity of cherries in the cornstarch filling.

★ ★ ★

Indeed, comparing the frozen pies with the generously fruited kind served in the Senate cafeteria, Mr. Hart estimated that an 8-inch pie baked by the latter recipe would contain an average of 108 cherries.

★ ★ ★

The Michigan senator's researches may or may not persuade a committee to report his bill. The findings may have more immediate significance in the area of merchandising than of lawmaking. For somewhere there must be a juicy market waiting for a 108-cherry pie.

All the quakes were slight, but noisy.

The tremors came at 12:49, 2:30, 5:47 and 9:20 p.m. Tuesday. Each time the dishes rattled, hundreds of residents began calling the local police stations.

There was absolutely nothing the police could do about it, except at the Hermosa Beach station. The quakes caused the doors on the filing cabinets there to fly open. The officers spent the five hours alternately answering phones and shutting cabinet drawers.

Indonesia Commies Park in Peking Camp

WASHINGTON (AP) — High American officials are now counting Indonesia's Communist party —the largest outside of the Iron Curtain countries — in Peking's camp in the leadership dispute between the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Authoritative sources said that the switch of Indonesian Reds to the Chinese hard line must be considered one of the major Soviet disappointments of the past year and a cause for a serious reappraisal inside the Kremlin.

The Russians invested up to $2 billion in arms andeconomic aid for Indonesia in a strong effort to retain influence there.

The development was no source of particular satisfaction to Washington and other non-Communist capitals. Under pressure from the PKI—Partei Communist Indonesia—Indonesian President Sukarno appears to have veered increasingly away from the neutral foreign policy he had long proclaimed.

OFFICIALS UNHAPPY

U.S. officials were particularly unhappy about a recent Afro-Asian journalists conference which opened with a keynote address by Sukarno. The conference appeared to be under the control of the PKI and ended with a volley of resolutions denouncing the United States in a virtual carbon copy of Peking's sharpest anti-American propaganda charges.

★ ★ ★

The conference was similar to the Chinese Communist-engineered meeting in Moshi, Tanganyika. For a second time, the Soviet Union was frozen out on the grounds that it was not an Asian power and could not be represented at an Afro-Asian meeting.

The United States has tried, apparently without dramatic success, to coax Indonesia away from the Communist camp.

Last fall it approved a $17-million emergency loan to Indonesia as a means of encouraging pro-Western elements there.

★ ★ ★

Frank M. Coffin, deputy administrator of the Agency for International Development told the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee Tuesday that the administration decided that a loan to finance imports from the United States of spare parts and raw materials would enable part of Indonesia's industry to resume operations.

But, he said, no further substantial aid will be given unless Sukarno's government stabilizes the economy.

Sweden Answers U.N. Pleas for Permanent Military Power

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP)—If the United Nations is to have a future, Secretary General U Thant told Swedes last year, it must have the military to keep peace. Sweden is answering the call.

Premier Tage Erlander sees a new Swedish-Danish-Norwegian emergency force earmarked for U.N. operations as the forerunner of a permanent U.N. military arm empowered to maintain peace in world trouble spots.

The Swedish leader endorsed a permanent U.N. "fire brigade" in an interview with The Associated Press.

Asked if the new Scandinavian emergency force might lead to a larger U.N. military arm of many nationalities, Erlander replied, "I would hope so."

The three Scandinavian countries agreed last month to equip a joint emergency force of 3,000 men for U.N. service. Erlander said the force should be maintained permanently for use as needed by the United Nations.

Separate Swedish, Danish and Norwegian forces serve with other nations under U.N. command in the Congo and the Middle East. Thant called these emergency forces a key first step toward a permanent U.N. police power in a speech at Uppsala last year.

Political bickering and skyrocketing costs which threatened to bankrupt the United Nations have placed the future of these two peacekeeping missions in grave jeopardy.

The U.N. General Assembly will meet in special session May 14 to try to hammer out a workable plan for financing U.N. peacekeeping operations.

Leading the way to wider international cooperation is nothing new for the tall, unpretentious Erlander, Europe's senior chief of a freely elected government. The 61-year-old Socialist has held office continually since 1946.

Turning to affluent Sweden's foreign aid program he said: "it is true that Sweden presently devotes some 0.2 per cent of her gross national product to the developing countries. But I would like to stress that this aid has been increased from 50 million crowns—$10 million—to 175 million crowns—$35 million—in two years.

He said there is widespread support in Sweden for an increase in the country's foreign aid program to 1 per cent of the national income.

Erlander also called for wider economic cooperation within Europe.

"The process of widening economic integration between the European countries cannot be brought to a halt in the long run," he said, referring to the French veto of Britain's bid to join the European Common Market.

Sweden had applied for associate membership in the six-nation Common Market and had planned to join after Britain.

Erlander pledged support for American efforts to liberalize tariff regulations in forthcoming talks with the Common Market countries — France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

He said he hoped the rival trade bloc, the Europan Free Trade Association of Sweden, Britain, Denark, Norway, Austria, Portugal and Switzerland, would pursue a policy of cooperation with the Common Market.

★ ★ ★

"Nowadays, no country alone can pursue a policy of economic expansion. That is why it is to the interest of all of us to cooperate more actively in those fields," he added.

The premier also:

1. Called for an international agreement "to stop the spread of nuclear weapons to other nations."

2. Said highly industrialized Sweden could produce nuclear weapons "a few years" after deciding to produce raw materials for the weapons, but added, "we have not yet decided whether the Swedish defense force shall be equipped with nuclear weapons."

3. Said cold war tensions are increasing and cited the dead-locked nuclear test ban talks at Geneva as an example. "It is much more difficult now to reach an agreement than after the Cuba incidents," he said.

Junior Editors Quiz on HELEN KELLER

QUESTION: What is Helen Keller famous for?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Helen Keller's remarkable story began when she was 2 years old and had a brain illness which destroyed her sight, her hearing and left her unable to speak.

Picture to yourself poor Helen entirely shut off by herself, unable to communicate with others.

She made no progress until she was 7; then, on the advice of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, Anne Sullivan came to teach her.

Patiently, persistently, Anne worked out a way of communicating with Helen by a kind of hand alphabet. Soon, Helen could connect words with objects; after that, she made amazing progress.

Our upper picture shows her listening to Anne speak by placing fingers on Anne's throat, nose and lips. Soon Helen could write on a Braille typewriter; by 16 she had learned to speak and went to school, and then on to Radcliffe College. She graduated in 1904, Anne staying with her to help.

Now Helen decided to try to help other blind and deaf people. She began to give lectures, to collect funds from wealthy people, to write books for the benefit of other distressed people.

She became famous because she rose above a great handicap to serve others. Like her favorite dog beaming at her, all the world loves Helen Keller.

FOR YOU TO DO: Read one of Helen Keller's books. The titles of some are: "The Story of My Life," "The World I Live In," "The Song of the Stone Wall," "Out of the Dark."

No Recession, Dillon Predicts

NEW YORK (AP)—There is no recession in the nation's economy on the horizon, Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon said yesterday.

He told the New York Chamber of Commerce that he was "hardly inclined, either by relief or by occupation, to predict that a recession was in the offing."

"On the contrary," he said, "despite our high rate of unemployment, I believe that our present economic activity shows every promise of continuing on the upswing."

Dillon said that President Kennedy's tax program also would mean lower taxes for virtually everyone.

He pointed out that the belief behind the program is that the vitality of the economy is dependent on the vitality of private enterprise.

the dacron* blend story for summer per Hart Schaffner & Marx

What they do is simple. Hart Schaffner & Marx take an excellent fabric: wool, or mohair, or silk—and combine it with Dacron polyester for added wrinkle-resistance, crease-retention, coolness and light weight. The rewarding result is luxury with the purposeful plus of keeping you as impeccably dressed at the end of a wilting day as when you began it.

VIRACLE . . . DACRON AND WORSTED

The look and lightness of the finest tropical: supple and quietly luxurious, here in 55% Dacron and 45% worsted. The color tones are iridescent—a hallmark of the very few finest Dacron-worsted blends. In suits at 79.50.

MOLLAIRE . . . DACRON/WOOL/MOHAIR

Mohair is the newest look of luxury: lustrous, crisp, and very collected. The addition of 25% wool gives it a smoother, softer hand—while 22% Dacron adds a cooling touch. HS&M Mollaire suits are priced at $85.

VIRASIL . . . DACRON/WOOL/SILK

The classic, nubby texture of luxurious silk, with the wrinkle-shedding qualities of Dacron and the cool porosity of fine wools. A most distinctive blend (55% Dacron—33% wool—12% silk), which you'll find in HS&M suits at 89.50.

Our collection of HS&M summer sport coats is equally interesting.

Not Proper for Fiance to Pay Bill

By The Emily Post Institute

Q. My fiance is working temporarily in a resort hotel in another state. I had a week's vacation recently and he asked me to come down and spend it with him.

I thought that since he invited me he would pay my expenses at the hotel but he didn't even offer to do so and I had to pay them myself which I could ill-afford to do.

Wasn't it up to him to pay since I went on his invitation?

A: It was not up to your fiance to pay your hotel bill. For him to have done so, would have been improper.

★ ★ ★

Q: My boy friend's parents will soon celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. He and his two sisters have planned a surprise anniversary party for them and I have been invited.

This will be my first meeting with his parents and I am anxious to do the right thing.

Would it be proper for me to bring them a present? I don't want to seem as if I am buying their approval, but an anniversary is usually an occasion for a present, is it not?

A: Good friends usually do take, or send, a gift to the anniversary couple, but as you have not as yet met them, a present from you is neither necessary or expected.

Maybe He'll Learn

Keep Faithless Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN VUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has had this other woman for over four years. They came to me and begged me for a divorce, saying they loved each other.

I said, "That's just too bad because I have six kids who need a father."

I am in no shape to start hunting another man and, besides, I got married once and that's enough for me.

I don't bother him and he doesn't bother me, but I hate to see him mooning around the house like a sick calf.

What does a woman do when she finds herself in this fix?

NO HAPPINESS

DEAR NO: She hangs on—as you're doing. Some men get tired of the chase and come to realize that there's no place like home.

Others need professional help.

If your husband doesn't "come to" of his own accord and conscience, seek help from a marriage counselor or your minister.

DEAR ABBY: You advised "FRUSTRATED" that any money a wife earns is HERS. In some states, the earnings of a wife, unless provided otherwise by a prenuptial agreement, fall into the community property existing between husband and wife.

Furthermore, the husband as head and master of the community, has the exclusive administration of the wife's earnings. Repectfully,

E.K.L. (New Orleans)

★ ★ ★

DEAR MR. L.: "FRUSTRATED" took a job as substitute teacher to earn money for "extras." Her husband, she stated, was a professional man and an adequate provider.

She worked in order to buy herself a mink stole, which her husband considered a "frivolity."

I still say that morally, under the circumstances, the wife is entitled to spend her earnings as she wishes.

I was merely settling a family argument. If she had wanted legal advice, she would have gone to a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: I have gone to the same beauty operator for several years. Lately, every time I arrive for my appointment, my operator tells me she is running about an hour late.

She says it is because the patrons before me have come late. I finally got tired of it and quit her.

My husband doesn't like the way my new operator does my hair and he wants me to go back to the old one.

ASH BLONDE

★ ★ ★

DEAR ASH: When a customer is late for an appointment, SHE is the one who should be kept waiting.

Even if her tardiness was unavoidable, it is not fair to throw everyone else off schedule.

I think you are right. Shop around for another operator. And reward the prompt ones with your patronage.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Surname Collector" that she may add my name to her collection.

David Feeblecorn (Brainard, Minnesota.)

Mother's Day Gift Should Be Original

By JEANMARIE ELKINS

Today's mother, no matter what her age, is likely to be interested in a variety of things outside her home and immediate community. A gift to honor her on Mother's Day should not only reflect her interests but should show a bit of original thought.

A shopping tour of Pontiac reveals a number of unusual gift ideas for that special person on Mother's Day.

★ ★ ★

If the woman in your life is a nomad at heart, an ideal gift for her would be a traveling straw sun hat. These hats come in a variety of colors and may be folded for packing and still retain their shape. Many come with matching handbags.

The potential mermaid with a love of the sea would love a set of pictures made from sea life including shells, small fish, seahorses and coral.

TEAKWOOD JEWEL BOX

Anyone interested in the cultures of the Orient would love to have a hand decorated oriental jewel box made of teakwood.

For the home decorator partial to Early American, there is a beautiful authentic coffee grinder available. One of its best features is that it really works. (Editor's note — Freshly ground coffee makes a superior beverage.)

To complete the picture there is an early American wall telephone which happens to be a radio in disguise.

Florida home decorators are using lots of hanging flower gardens. These artificial flowers feature buds which pull out for easy cleaning. Individual flowers may be purchased for those who wish to make their own arrangements.

★ ★ ★

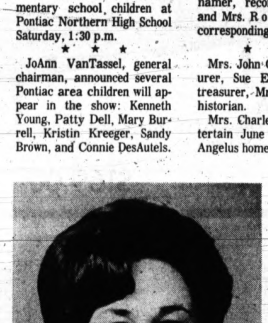

For the busy mother who is always on the go a wig would be the ideal gift. Wigs are available in synthetic or real hair from $25 up. A hair piece may be purchased which can be worked into the hair set to give the effect of tipping.

The wigs and hair pieces are available or may be ordered in a wide variety of colors and shades. Gift certificates are also available.

If mother has indulged in one too many banana splits there is a local establishment which rents vibrator belts by the month.

Shopping information on any of the above mentioned articles may be obtained from The Pontiac Press Women's Department.

OU Confab Covers Woman Today

"What Is Woman's Place in This Perplexing Century?" This question is the title of a continuing education conference to be held at Oakland University May 22 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Conference planners promise no answer to the question.

★ ★ ★

The conference is planned as an exploration — with psychologists, sociologists, homemakers, mothers, career women, part-time working women and university faculty members all participating in the program which is open to any women in the area.

The program opens with two psychologists, Dr. Elizabeth Drews of Michigan State University and Dr. Frederick Wyatt of the University of Michigan, giving a woman's and a man's view of "What Is a Woman Like."

By midmorning, the audience will enter a discussion of the images of perfection of "What Should She Be?"

★ ★ ★

Following a luncheon served at round tables for further discussion, women will be offered a choice of concurrent panels for the homemakers; the homemaker looking toward a subsequent career; the homemaker with simultaneous employment; and the career woman.

Panelists are planning to cover such provocative topics as "the strange defensiveness of the happy homebody; the part-time tightrope . . . from gilded cage to any job?; and full-time tiredness . . . are employers ever flexible? are husbands? are chidren?"

CONFERENCE SPEAKERS

Conference speakers include Mrs. Elizabeth Cless, assistant to the dean for liberal arts programs, general extension, University of Minnesota, who will describe the Minnesota plan for the continuing education of women.

Mrs. Louise Cain, special assistant to the vice president for academic affairs, University of Michigan, will talk on other educational programs for women.

Dr. Ruth Useem of the department of sociology, Michigan State University, will give the afternoon lecture: "Women Enroute from Farm to What Future?"

★ ★ ★

Panelists will include Mrs. Mildred Jeffrey, director, community relations, International Union, UAW; Dr. Audrey K. Wilder, dean-emeritus of women, Albion College; and Dr. Ralph Green, psychiatrist and director, Haven Sanitarium.

Appropriately enough, the conference planning committee did not ask the University's chancellor to welcome the women to the campus. They asked his wife, Mrs. Durward B. Varner.

★ ★ ★

Anyone interested in this conference may obtain further information and reservations by calling Oakland University, extension 2147.

Sorority Unit Hears Talk by English Girl

"We do not speak of a hope chest in England, we call it the bottom drawer," remarked Leslie Seymour as she spoke Sunday to the Omega Alpha mother-daughter breakfast at Devon Gables.

Leslie is Pontiac Northern High School's American Field Service (AFS) exchange student.

★ ★ ★

Her American mother, Mrs. Eugene Hoisington, spoke briefly of the opportunities afforded a family that opens its home to someone from another country.

Toastmistress was Mrs. George Morrow, with Lillian Jacobs, Northern counselor, extending AFS greetings, and Mrs. Douglas Green giving the invocation.

Chairing the breakfast arrangements were Mrs. George Turner, assisted by Mrs. Richard Fox and Mrs. Dorothy Londick.

Retiring officers were recognized. Final meeting of the year will be held today at the home of Mrs. Londick on Otsego Drive.

Youngsters with a little imagination can make these attractive gifts for Mother's Day. Mother will always treasure something made by the hands of her own children.

Children's Small Presents Mean Great Deal to Mother

Mother will love these small gifts, made by her youngsters on a small budget. Any child can put together either of these gifts for Mother by a judicious trip to the local "five and dime" store.

The amusing, pert "lady in a hat" is an inexpensive apothecary jar (which, incidentally will serve a variety of uses after the candy is eaten) approximately 10" high.

★ ★ ★

Cut a 2-inch blue paper star in half and glue on the jar for eyelashes, using a small star for mouth. For hat brim, cut a 7-inch circle of pink construction paper with a hole in the center to fit over lid of jar.

CUT STRIP

Cut strip of pink crepe paper, 1½ by 10 inches from crown of hat; flute paper on one side only, gather around edge and tie around crown of hat with gift ribbon. Use a strip of pink crepe paper, flute the edges, gather and tie around neck of jar for collar and tie with a bow.

★ ★ ★

Fill the jar with assorted candies and surprise Mother by putting it at her place at the breakfast table.

Another project for a child to undertake for Mother is a sweet flower pot, simply made with either a clay flower pot or a large cottage cheese container.

Cover container of flower pot with pastel gift wrap paper and tape in place.

Place two or three real or plastic flowers in container and fill with assorted candies and chocolates which will hold flowers upright. Tie large satin ribbon with bow around container.

Tap Lightly for Crushed Ice

More spring to the tap! It's an ice tapper made of a new flexible plastic with two-headed stainless steel dome for two-way tapping.

Readers' Helpful Hints

Tricks for Losing Weight

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Successful reducers often devise little tricks or "crutches" to help support their will power. These are quite valuable and really help. The following are a few which readers have used and passed on to me.

★ ★ ★

"Dear Josephine:

"Your column is a great help to me. I gain weight easily and have to watch my diet constantly. Here is a formula I developed one day when coming home from a two hour session at the dentist.

"Calories can cause cavities as well as pounds, so right after each meal I brush my teeth and put on fresh lipstick. Then whenever I am tempted to snack, I remind myself that I will have to stop and brush my teeth and put on lipstick again or take the lazy way out and not eat.

"It worked wonderfully with me. Just that little 'stop and think' made the difference."

"Dear Josephine:

"Here's a trick which made me stick with my calorie counting until I lost twenty founds of overweight. When I am dieting I am especially careful about my make-up and hair. I look as attractive at all times as I possibly can because this gives me a glimpse of the goal I am shooting for—the most attractive me.

★ ★

"Dear Josephine:

"When I start out to lose weight I have a member of my family take acandid shot of me. I pin this up on my bedroom door and look at it several times a day.

"I also pin up a picture of a stunnng outfit I would like to wear but can't until I become slimmer. This really puts the heat on me."

★ ★

"Dear Josephine:

"I have never been terribly overweight but ten pounds often slips up on me. Then I buy a dress in the size I should wear but which is too tight for me at the time—and then I lose until I can wear it with pleasure. In other words, my size is a sixteen and when that is too small I never change to an eighteen."

I think it would be fun if all of you would write to me about little tricks you have used when reducing or about any beauty tricks you know. These will be valuable to other readers and you can exchange ideas and experiences this way. Address your letters to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Royal Rites Use Works of OU Professor

The musical scholarship of an Oakland University professor was demonstrated at the royal wedding of Princess Alexandra in Westminister Abbey which was attended by Queen Elizabeth and other royalty.

The Oxford University Press has written Dr. Walter Collins, head of Oakland's music department, that his edition of "Gloria in Excelsis Deo," the well - known 11th century hymn written by Thomas Weelkes, was played and sung at the royal wedding.

The Oxford University Press also said that Dr. Collins' editions of two more of Weelkes' hymns will be given their premieres at a concert in the Royal Albert Hall in London May 20. The two hymns are "All People Clap Your Hands," and "Give Ear, O Lord."

Collins' edition of "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" is the first complete and accurate version of the famous anthem. It had been published in 1915 with the second soprano part missing and with some inaccuracies in the manuscript.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Collins, who has written the first critical evaluation of the life and works of Weelkes, with the help of a grant from the American Council of Learned Societies, discovered the missing parts six years ago when he was a Fulbright scholar at Oxford.

At that time also, he learned from his researches that existing editions of the anthem were inaccurate, and his own edition was published by the Oxford University Press. It subsequently has become a best seller in its field.

Cassini Does Sketches for the First Lady

NEW YORK (AP) — Oleg Cassini, Mrs. John F. Kennedy's fashion designer, acknowledged today he was preparing sketches of maternity clothes for the First Lady.

★ ★ ★

Previously the White House had announced that Mrs. Kennedy was ordering nothing new and planned to use maternity clothes she had worn in 1960 when she was expecting John Jr. The Kennedys' third child is due in August.

★ ★ ★

Cassini said: "I am continuing as usual in designing her clothes. I don't see why there should be a departure in style, just a slight technical difference. I'm preparing some sketches now, and continuing in the same casual, elegant mood."

★ ★ ★

Since she is expected to spend a quiet summer away from Washington won't the maternity designs be more casual than usual?

"Frankly," replied the dapper designer, "I never knew what she would wear where or when, except on very special occasions."

Vows Said in Pontiac Ceremony

The Christian Missionary Alliance Church was the setting for the Saturday marriage of Barbara Anne Hale to Merle Leland Shaver.

Parents of the bridal couple are the Clarence R. Hales of South Hospital and the Maurice Shavers of Barker.

★ ★ ★

For her wedding, the bride chose a sleeveless ballerina-length white Chantilly lace dress with matching bolero jacket. Her veil of nylon illusion fell from a pearl tiara. White carnations and pink roses rested on her small white Bible.

★ ★ ★

Attending the couple at the six o'clock ceremony were Larrine Joseph and David Hubbard. Guests were seated by Robert Bowers of Cadillac and James Teelander.

★ ★ ★

A brief northern Michigan honeymoon followed the reception in Knights of Pythias Hall. The couple will reside in Pontiac.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice: When I put sleeves in my dress, there were no pleats or wrinkles, and yet the sleeves feel tight. Am I doing something wrong?

Mrs. M. G.

* * *

Dear Mrs. M. G.: Always remember that the sleeves must be larger than the armhole; and eased in to fit. Also, after the sleeve has been double machine-stitched under the arms, clip the seam allowance to release the fabric.

Perhaps my leaflet called "All About Sleeves" will help you. You may obtain it by sending 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press.

FISHERMAN'S TIP

Mrs. T. A. says: My Fisherman Husband happened to read Sew Simple, and wants to add his two-cents worth.

Use small lead sinkers as weights, every two or three inches, to keep your light weight skirts hanging straight. They also work fine for keeping sheer, light weight curtains and drapes from flying out the windows with the slightest breeze in spring and summer.

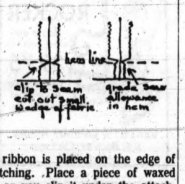

(Thank you, sir. Perhaps some of our other male readers will come up with a few more good ideas—if so, please share them with us.)

Dear Eunice: It seems that wherever there is a seam that has to be turned up in a hem-line for either jackets or skirts, this place is shorter and pulls up a little. Is there any rule to follow for this?

MRS. K. L.

* * *

Dear Mrs. K. L.: There is a little trick that releases the fabric at the fold or hem-line. Also a way of grading these seams so they will appear less bulky. See illustrations.

Dear Eunice: How do I keep the yarn from catching on the buttonhole attachment when I am making the buttonholes on my cardigan sweater?

Mrs. L. K.

Dear Mrs. L. K.: Grosgrain ribbon is placed on the edge of the sweater to keep it from stretching. Place a piece of waxed or tissue paper over the sweater as you slip it under the attachment.

When it is in place, you may remove the paper. Replace it again after the buttonhole has been made to avoid pulling.

* * *

Dear Eunice: What causes "puffiness" between the buttons when my suit is buttoned?

Mrs. M. M.

Dear Mrs. M. M.: The "puffiness" is caused by the way the buttons were sewed on to your garment. You must leave a long shank of thread on the buttons, this shank must be longer for heavy fabrics.

If the button is loose enough when the garment is closed, the garment will be perfectly smooth between buttons.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

When in doubt about the amount of fabric to purchase because the width is not the same as the width marked on your pattern, cut a piece of newspaper or a large paper bag the exact width of the fabric you will use. This paper will be a yardage guide.

Lay the pattern on the newspaper (just as you would on your fabric), measure the exact length you need, add a few inches for safety and purchase only this amount of fabric.

This is a real economy saver on luxury or expensive fabrics.

Mrs. C. F. Gullixson, Vancouver, Wash., wins a Tailor Trix pressing board for this money saving suggestion.

Birmingham Breakthrough Important to South's Negroes

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Relman Morin has won two Pulitzer Prizes as an Associated Press reporter, one for reporting of the Little Rock, Ark., integration crisis. He has covered the civil rights campaign from the beginning — Little Rock, Clinton, Tenn., Oxford, Miss., and now Birmingham.)

By RELMAN MORIN

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Little Rock was one school, Central High, and eight Negro children.

Oxford was one Negro student, James H. Meredith, enrolling in the University of Mississippi.

Birmingham is a whole city, a bright, handsome community of nearly 350,000 in the heart of the deep South — the biggest target, by far, of desegregationists in the anguished and continuing battle over civil rights.

MORIN

This is what gives special meaning to the quiet words of a Negro clergyman: "If we break through here, we break through everywhere."

This is the core of the story in Birmingham today, the determined drive for a breakthrough.

★ ★ ★

Negro leaders say it means, primarily, desegregation of downtown eating places, equal job opportunities, the hiring of qualified —they stress the adjective—Negroes in downtown stores.

"The organization won't settle for less than 80 per cent desegregation downtown," said one.

He added, "We're not even talking about the schools now, just the stores and the lunchrooms."

The conversation takes place in the corridor of the Baptist church at 16th Street and 6th Avenue, one center of the "breakthrough movement."

The church is jampacked, on the ground floor and the balcony, with about 1,400 Negroes. Others listen through partly opened side and front doors.

APPLAUD KING

They applaud loudly when the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., symbolic leader of the civil rights movement, calls on President Kennedy to "take a forthright stand."

They begin singing, clapping with the rhythm of a hymn, "something's got a-hold of me."

They seemed good humored. They laugh and wave their palmfrond fans when another speaker describes an incident in Ingram Park, fronting the church, a center of the disturbances in Birmingham in the past few days.

★ ★ ★

"These children," he says, "ran after the policeman so that he would arrest them. But he wouldn't arrest them no matter how hard they ran."

The Birmingham jails already are filled to capacity. More than 2,400 Negroes have been arrested in the past few days.

King goes to two other churches. They, too, are packed to the roof. There is more singing and more exhorting.

The streets of Birmingham are supremely quiet. It is not much of a night-life city, anyway, and it looks little different now than on any night. There are no clusters of men on the street corners—as there were in the first few nights in Oxford after Meredith entered the university—and no signs of tensions as there were at Little Rock.

★ ★ ★

The lobby of the Gason Motel, where King is staying, is quiet except for the incessant buzzing of the telephone switchboard and the operator saying, again and again, "Dr. King is not in."

The only evidence of anything amiss is in front of another hotel where a group of state highway patrolmen stand, talking, beside some police cars. They were ordered into Birmingham Tuesday.

They are near enough to the Baptist church to hear the Negroes chanting—

"Something's got a-hold on me."

New pep for tired husbands!

No wonder so many women complain that their husbands come home "too tired out to step out"! The churning tensions millions of men face on their jobs constantly drain them of the energy and vitality they might otherwise have.

- That's why many doctors recommend supplementing the daily diet with Kretschmer Wheat Germ, nature's great "bounce-back" food. Made from the germinating heart of the wheat kernel, wheat germ is the most healthful food known, according to official U.S. Department of Agriculture studies of the nutritive values of foods.
- Kretschmer Wheat Germ actually provides a total of 30 naturally balanced nutrients essential to good health, vigor and stamina! In addition, it acts like a spark plug to help the body use other high-energy foods more fully.
- Serve your husband this remarkable natural food every day for breakfast and see for yourself how much more zip and vitality he has!
- Use these delicious, tiny toasted flakes as a cereal, on cereals, or add to pancakes and scrambled eggs.
- Kretschmer Wheat Germ is great for the entire family, so be sure to get some. Look for it in vacuum-sealed glass jars in the cereal section of your food store. Choose either regular or Sugar 'N Honey.

Pontiac Airport Rates High With Those Who Use It

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the sixth and last in a series of articles on Pontiac Municipal Airport — present and future.)

By DICK BUCK
Telegraph Editor

The quickest way to check an airport's performance is to talk with the people who use it.

Chats with those who base their planes and in some cases their businesses at Pontiac Municipal Airport revealed:

★ ★ ★

● There are no major complaints about the way the city is running the airport. Sentiments run from calm satisfaction to enthusiastic praise.

● Virtually everyone contacted feels that a new, long north-south runway is probably the most urgently needed improvement.

● An instrument landing system (ILS) would be a helpful addition but it's something that can wait a couple years if necessary.

● This is much more than just a Pontiac airport, with a number of nonlocal pilots making the city airfield the home base for their planes and commercial operators attracting business from a wide area.

● The control tower crew stands in high esteem for the smooth way it handles traffic.

● The airport needs more hangars.

★ ★ ★

Private pilot Ralph Weems, who flies for pleasure, explained why he keeps his plane at Pontiac Municipal although he lives in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

"This is a friendly place, not cold like some airports. Service for the plane is good and the control tower people are excellent. I wouldn't want to go anywhere else." Weems has been flying out of Pontiac for over a year.

USED BY SOLON

State Rep. Joseph A. Gillis, D-Detroit, has been using the local airfield since 1940, for business and pleasure flights.

He's a member of the United and Land o' Lakes flying clubs — groups which pool money to buy and maintain planes and use them on a co-op basis.

★ ★ ★

Gillis sees Pontiac Municipal's development lyin in the general development lying in the general airline service. He thinks a new north-south runway will promote the expected growth.

The legislator-lawyer said an ILS isn't urgently needed because a navigational radio aid northwest of the airport provides a good approach to the long east-west runway, though not with the refinements of ILS.

Gillis pointed out that there are several ILS-equipped airports nearby if Pontiac is weathered in. These include Flint, Detroit Metro, Willow Run and Windsor.

★ ★ ★

Floyd B. Dandison of Orchard Lake spoke for the 45 active members of the Land o' Lakes club.

He joined Gillis in applauding the city's winter battle in which maintenance crews kept the airport from being closed at all because of snow on the runways.

★ ★ ★

Dandison joined the north-south runway chorus and said he thought an ILS would "be a big boon because it would keep the airport open longer."

The flying club's operations manager explained that the group's three planes are used for both business and pleasure and the members come from scattered areas of Oakland County and surrounding areas.

WANTS MORE HANGARS

A call for more hangars came from H. Beatty of Birmingham who uses his plane mostly on business. Beatty said he was subleasing hangar space from Land o' Lakes and would prefer to deal directly with the city.

★ ★ ★

The city leases 50 "T" hangars at $30 a month in the northeast corner. Subleasing costs more and is sometimes on a month-to-month basis. Airport manager Homer Hoskins says the proposed master plan makes provision for more hangars of this type.

Beatty uses the airport frequently and said he was pleased not only with snow removal from runways but also in the hangar area. He said an ILS "wouldn't be a bad idea."

A fairly new tenant at Pontiac Municipal, E. Hellonen, likes it "real well." Hellonen said he lives close to Detroit City Airport but is satisfied to do his flying from Pontiac.

He moved his plane three weeks ago from Allen Airport "because I prefer Pontiac Municipal's hard-surface runways and the control tower." Pleasure motivates Hellonen's flying.

★ ★ ★

The airport has three major "fixed-base operation" firms on its landscape. These are businesses whose nature requires location on an airfield, since they sell and service aircraft.

Philip L. Stomberg, executive vice president and general manager of Aerodynamics, Inc., (ADI) feels Pontiac Municipal offers advantages because of its emphasis on general aviation.

★ ★ ★

ADI is the Michigan sales and service organization for Piper Aircraft, Inc. "Our sales item is well suited to this type of airport," Stomberg said.

'NEEDS NEW RUNWAY'

He thinks facilities and improvements at Pontiac Municipal have been above average but feels the field needs a new north-south runway to promote growth.

Also plugging for the new strip is Gene Baker, president of Commander Aviation Corp., Michigan distributor of Aero Commander planes. He sees an ILS as a need which can be filled later.

Baker said, "Confusion over possible development of the Allen Airport by the county may make it difficult to get money for the new runway here. It also may be keeping some operators from developing facilities because of uncertainty."

He said his own company is hampered by limited hangar and ramp space. Commander's building was full all winter of planes in for repairs, maintenance or new equipment and some customers had to be turned away, according to Baker.

He would like to see more hangar space available on a lease basis. "We realize that the city has a problem putting up buildings for lease since no state or federal matching funds are available to finance them," Baker admitted.

★ ★ ★

However, he said the space problem makes other airports with larger facilities "tempting" but said Pontiac still seems generally best for Commander.

In a different situation is Barber's, Inc., the Cessna sales and service representative.

Barber's leases land from the city but owns its building. That means it pays a personal property tax to Waterford Township, in which the airport is located.

HITS ASSESSMENT

Barber's President A. C. McCarthy feels the assessment is too high. "It makes it hard to attract trade and will discourage improvements."

Airport Manager Hoskins replies that anyone who owns property in Michigan has to pay tax on it and that few taxpayers think the rates are low enough.

McCarthy otherwise is quite satisfied with Pontiac Municipal. Like most others, he puts high priority on a new runway to make the airport more usable for planes with two or more engines.

Problems? Pontiac Municipal Airport has some. But it also has plans to eliminate as many as possible.

★ ★ ★

Those who are satisfied customers now are likely to become more satisfied. The number of customers will grow as the airport grows.

★ ★ ★

The present is bright at Pontiac Municipal. The future looks even brighter.

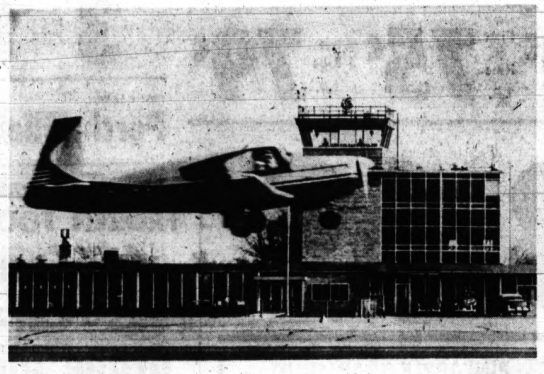

(End of Series)

Field Hard to Reach

Pontiac Municipal Airport thrives despite a handicap of unfavorable highway accessibility.

Congested, two-lane M59 is the main route from the city to the airport. The drive is often slow and aggravating.

Airport Manager Homer Hoskins expects the planned widening of the highway to boost business at the airfield. He's confident more people will use the airport when it's easier to reach.

SMOOTH TAKE-OFF—With the terminal and control tower providing the background, a plane hits the air at Pontiac Municipal Airport. Pilots at the airport are high in their praise of the way the control tower crew handles traffic and the general manner in which municipal is run.

Tony Curtis' Film Star Wife Retiring to Stay a Woman

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Christine Kaufmann, Tony Curtis' 18-year-old German bride, is retiring from her acting career.

The piquant beauty applies simple logic to her decision to quit: "You cannot be a woman and an actress."

It's Christine's theory that a successful glamour girl soon becomes a relentless, driving individual who loses her femininity and eventually her husband.

Christine definitely does not want to lose her husband.

She and Tony relaxed this week in his dressing room between scenes of "Monsieur Cognac" in which they costar, happily discussing Christine's decision.

"I'm delighted she's retiring," Curtis said. "Unless you can work in this business on your own terms, it's a terribly boring, degrading profession. Fortunately, I'm in a position to work on my own terms. Christine isn't."

"I'm retiring because I don't like to work in pictures," Christine added, with just a trace of German accent.

"I don't find it interesting. Anything I work at I like to learn something from. As an actress, I'm not learning anything except that I shouldn't be in this business."

Tony broke up laughing. "She's bright, isn't she?" he added.

"It is impossible to be an actress and a wife because you come home feeling and looking like a slob. You can't do both jobs well. And I prefer to be a woman to being an actress."

Christine made it clear she does not plan to become a professional "movie star wife."

Making a career of being Mrs. Tony Curtis is almost as nauseous to her as being a cutie pie actress.

"I want to be Tony's woman, if you know what I mean," she said solemnly. "That is very different from being his 'wife.'

"That's the important thing, being a woman. It takes masculine drive to become a major star, and I'm not willing to become the kind of female that some movie stars have."

"I didn't help her make the decision," Tony said. "I don't want her to blame me later if she ever regrets giving up her career."

Christine, who became an actress at 7, has starred in 30 European movies and three American pictures.

Couple Beats Own Telegram

PORT ELIZABETH, South Africa (AP)—Post office officials here have red faces.

Two 19-year-old Rhodes University students sent a telegram from Bushman's River Mouth, about 70 miles east, to Port Elizabeth and then walked here before the telegram was delivered.

The hikers sent the telegram on a Saturday saying they would arrive Monday.

* * *

They arrived Monday afternoon. The telegram was not delivered until the next morning.

* * *

The record-breaking hike began at East London and followed 170 miles of coastline to Port Elizabeth.

It took David Blaker and Phillipp Esselaar five days and nine hours to cover the distance, breaking the previous record of about six and one-half days.

'Rocky Moved Rites Up Due to Speculation'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Republican campaign official said yesterday Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller advanced the date of his wedding in order to quiet speculation over when it would take place.

* * *

Victor A. Johnston, director of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, told a reporter he was notified several hours in advance of Rockefeller's marriage Saturday to Margaretta Fitler Murphy.

Johnston said GOP National Committeeman George L. Hinman, a top Rockefeller adviser, telephoned him that "there has been so much speculation" in the newspapers and over radio and television and that Rockefeller had been under "such tremendous pressure" for a statement, that the governor had decided to marry earlier than planned.

* * *

Johnston said he was called because it was necessary for Rockefeller to cancel plans to speak Thursday night of this week at a dinner in Washington honoring Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., a potential rival for the 1964 GOP presidential nomination, for which neither is an avowed candidate.

Plight of the Young Singer Saddens Opera's Cinderella

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Roberta Peters, the Cinderella of the America opera set, believes it is becoming more and more difficult for talented young singers to earn a living, much less fame.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Miss Peters, coloratura star of the Metropolitan, doesn't deny that her own legendary luck might catch up to an occasional artist — if the glass shoe fits, wear it — but finds it less likely that it might have been a decade ago.

★ ★ ★

"I made my debut (in 1950) when Nadine Conner unexpectedly became ill," she remembers.

"It was, I believe, the first time an American singer has ever been allowed to step out and sing a star role without ever having appeared professionally before. And I'm certain it hasn't happened since."

In fact, her story of overnight success is such a completely unrealistic act of God, nature and management, that perhaps it shouldn't even be considered in an appraisal of opportunities and the lack of them.

★ ★ ★

"It has, as you know, always been customary for young American artists to have to go to Europe to gain their experience and a big name, before they're accepted in their own country. But now even that is becoming increasingly difficult.

"Europe has come back on its feet now, and the countries that once accepted American singers are trying to push their own people. You can't blame them.

"The question is: why can't America, which has always been on its feet, push OUR own people?"

It was mentioned that Russia had provided the "proving grounds" for pianist Van Cliburn's stardom.

But that, indicated Miss Peters, was as much a fateful phenomenon as her own success story. "Russia offers one opportunity—the chance for already recognized American artists to become even better known.

ONLY BIG NAMES

"The 'Gosskonzert' (Russia's central bureau of concert management) wants only the big name stars from America today."

The only way in which the United States can assist the thousands of young people with great artistic talent, she believes, is to establish "some kind of subsidy, either at the state or federal level."

It would also help if we'd recover from our national feeling of cultural inferiority, and recognize that the U. S. has "some of the greatest voices" in the world.

As the situation is now, many people still tend to denigrate the American artist while revering—almost sight-unseen, ear-unopened — the artist who has been approved by critics in the old world.

★ ★ ★

"So much more is expected of American singers, for instance," said Miss Peters. "Italians come over here and can get by with singing only Italian — Germans only German. But American singers? We have to know how to sing French art songs, Lieder, everything."

Miss Peters, herself, began studying French, Italian and German the same year that she began studying voice. At the age of 12, she became so convinced that she would be an opera singer that she devoted her entire life to it.

Not stopping with languages and music, she also took ballet, tennis and fencing lessons. When her grand moment of Cinderelladom came, at age 20, she already knew 20 complete operas.

★ ★ ★

So Roberta Peters didn't really need a fairy godmother — or a subsidy.

She had her own talent, her own ambition, and "don't forget for a moment—incredible luck!"

U.S., Britain to Test Accidental N-Hazards

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The United States and Great Britain have scheduled a series of joint tests northwest of Las Vegas to determine hazards of accidentally touching off nuclear device explosions.

The Atomic Energy Commission said none of the experiments will result in a nuclear detonation.

The first test is designed to obtain data on hazards of inhaling small particles of plutonium if a plutonium-bearing device were destroyed.

Enjoy Being Bored? Here's More Pleasure for You

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—As a man is known by his enthusiasms, so he equally gives himself away by what bores him.

To one who appreciates the real pleasures of boredom the 20th century is a source of endless joy.

A constant climate—or a constant paradise—pall upon the palate. To stay human we need to dislike as well as like. We are fortunate in that probably never before in history has there been so many things to give us a big fat yawn.

★ ★ ★

Here's one man's list:

All New York Yankee baseball fans.

Shaving every morning.

Musical alarm clocks.

Sonorous-voiced radio and television announcers who intone the news as if doom were in the saddle—and riding mankind.

Any good-looking girls under 50 who get up and offer me a seat on a crowded bus because I look so old and worn.

Teen-age boys who have a 2-foot fox tail hanging from each handlebar of their bicycles.

LITERARY SHOWOFFS

Literary showoffs who never read a book unless it's on a best-seller list.

Literary showoffs who refuse to read any book that does become a best-seller.

Old soldiers who at reunions insist on telling how they won the second World War when I want to tell how I won it.

Any movie that costs more than a dollar—and any Broadway show priced above $4.40.

Roadside hamburger and hot dog stands built to rival the Taj Mahal in splendor.

All able-bodied doormen under 65 years of age.

Airmail stamps that don't have enough glue to make them stick to the envelope.

Litterbugs who travel 50 miles to a beach just to find a place to leave an old orange peel.

Any telephone number with more than seven digits.

Young couples who act on a public park bench as if they were Antony and Cleopatra floating down the Nile on a barge.

PARTY ATHLETES

Cocktail parties at which the guests show each other new judo holds after the second martini.

Talkative barbers who think Milton Berle is slipping—and that they can take his place as a stand-up comedian.

People who push the up-button in an automatic elevator just as you lumber up to the door.

Practical jokers of any and every kind.

Bearded young beatniks who think Henry Wadsworth Longfellow was a bewhiskered old fraud simply because he wrote verse the ordinary man can understand.

Cops who can write traffic tickets with either hand.

Airline hostesses who let lady passengers chainsmoke cigarettes, but want to throw a middle-aged male off the plane if he tries to light up a teentsy-weentsy little old cigar.

So what bores you? Me?

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Breast Cancer Is Puzzler for Medicine

(First of two related columns.)

In spite of progress made in many fields, breast cancer is still something of an enigma. It is the leading cause of death from cancer in women.

It is estimated that one woman in 18 will develop breast cancer at some time in her life.

One fact that has assumed great importance is that there are at least two types of breast cancer, one that depends on the hormonal balance in the body, and one that does not.

★ ★ ★

The chances for effective treatment are a little better in the hormone - dependent type than in the other.

The only lead we have to the cause is that the prevalence appears to be greater in those women who are late in starting to have the menopause.

Some observers have stated that the prevalence is greater in women who have had no children or who have not nursed their babies, but the evidence is not convincing.

Unfortunately, the number of mothers who do not nurse their babies has increased in the last 25 years. But the general prevalence rates for breast cancer have not appreciably changed.

Breast cancer rarely occurs on both sides, but women who have had one breast removed for this cause have a 10-times greater chance of getting cancer in the remaining breast than have the general run of women.

WASTE OF TIME

It is a waste of time to try to tie a breast cancer up with a bump or bruise received in the near or distant past.

A recent bump may be merely the thing that brought the tumor to a woman's attention. It is in no way causative.

One hopeful aspect of the problem is the fact that about 95 per cent of breast cancers are now first discovered by the victims themselves.

This is a result of a nation-wide campaign to teach women the technique of self-examination, in addition to having periodic checkups by their doctors.

In case of doubt, your doctor can easily determine the nature of a breast tumor by getting an X-ray examination, using a special method.

Such an examination may reveal a tumor that is too small to be felt. The final clincher is the microscopic examination of tissue removed for biopsy.

Many a lump in the breast turns out to be a benign cyst.

When so proved, it should not be considered a forerunner of cancer.

On the other hand, pain of recent origin that is present on only one side and does not appear in two or three weeks should be reason enough for a thorough examination by your doctor.

REMOVAL

After a great deal of controversy, authorities now agree that once the diagnosis is made, the only safe treatment is a radical removal of the breast.

This means removing in one mass not only the breast but also as much of its lymphatic drainage field as possible.

This field extends into the armpit. The removal of anything less is almost sure to be followed by an early return of the disease, either near the original site or in the lungs, bones or liver.

When the operative incision is healed, the treatment is not over by any means.

Most doctors now advise intensive X ray of the region of the removed breast to kill any remnant of cancer that may be present.

Failures of this procedure in the past may, among other things have been due to not using large etnough doses of X ray.

★ ★ ★

Should the tumor return in spite of expert care, some benefit may be obtained by surgical removal of the ovaries, the adrenals, or both. The fact that some women live 20 years or more after removal of a breast cancer and others a few months indicates that there is still a lot we don't know about this disease.

'John Doe' Pays Tax

ATLANTA (AP) — "John Doe Anonymous" has paid the Georgia Revenue Department $693 in income tax.

The payment received Monday was in seven U.S. postal money orders issued at Chattanooga, Tenn.

The return listed the payee's taxable income for 1962 at $12,750.

Fred Cox, income tax supervisor, speculated that the money might be from moonshine whisky sales, a lottery or some other form of gambling — or just income the sender didn't want his wife to know about.

But 90 Per Cent Go Back

Drug Addicts Can Be Cured 2 Ways

BY HARRY FERGUSON

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Curing a person of the drug habit is one of the supreme challenges to medical science.

A study of 1,900 persons released after treatment at the Public Health Service Hospital at Lexington, Ky., showed that 90 per cent of them went back on drugs again and usually within six months.

★ ★ ★

There are two ways in which an addict can get the treatment at Lexington and the other federal hospital at Fort Worth, Tex. If he has been convicted of a federal offence, the judge can order him to take the cure.

Or he can enter the hospitals voluntarily, provided beds are available, and if he is able to pay he is charged $9.50 a day.

Right from the start, the odds are heavily against him being cured. More than one-third of the voluntary patients can't take it, and leave within two weeks.

★ ★ ★

The prisoners, of course, are forced to remain.

By the end of the first month, one-half of the voluntary patients have given up and departed. Fewer than one-third of them stay as long as the doctors consider necessary.

Then one out of ten succeeds in freeing himself of drugs.

GRADUAL WITHDRAWAL

Treatment consists of a gradual withdrawal of drugs by giving the patient decreasing doses. Up until 1945, the patients were given injections or morphine.

They called this "going to the shooting gallery."

Sometime during World War II, a synthetic drug called methadone was developed in Germany. It bears only a slight chemical relationship to morphine or heroin and is now used in the public health hospitals.

★ ★ ★

Now the patients say they are "going to the cocktail lounge," meaning they are going to drink a small glass or reddish-colored methadone.

For a person lightly addicted, the withdrawal period can be over in four days, but the heavy addict needs between 10 and 12 days.

Either way, the patient is deathly ill because all methadone does is flatten out the peaks of pain in an attempt to make life endurable.

After complete withdrawal of drugs, there is a convalescence period of two weeks. The patient begins to have an appetite and gains strength, but he will be restless and irritable for several months.

★ ★ ★

Then the treament shifts from the body to the mind. A narcotics usually is listless and indifferent to everything except where he is going to get his next shot.

OTHER INTERESTS

At the Lexington hospital, an attempt is made to get him interested in something — softball, boxing, watching television, bowling, going to the movies, playing in an orchestra, theatricals, or writing for the hospital newspaper called "The Blue Grass Times."

The doctors would like the patient to remain in this drug-free environment for at least five months. Then he is on his own.

Against all the odds, some persons are cured. One of them founded Narcotics Anonymous after he had been to Lexington eight times.

Another one is now a public official in his home town.

And there is one man who owns a small business on the West Coast and telephones Lexington every Christmas eve to express his thanks.

Bad as the narcotics problem is in the United States today, there was a time when it threatened to engulf the nation. Around 1913-14 one American out of every 400 was an addict of some kind.

★ ★ ★

Chinese imported into the West Coast as laborers brought their opium pipes along and that habit spread eastward across the nation.

Opium was given to Civil War wounded to ease their pain, and hundred of thousands of addicts were created on the battle fields.

There was no law against any opiate drug in the United States, and thousands of persons became addicts by taking patent medicines heavily loaded with opium.

The invention of the hypodermic needle in 1853 made it easy to shoot narcotics straight into the blood stream.

TRAGIC MISTAKE

Then occured a tragic medical mistake. In 1898, the Germans began the commercial production of heroin, which is an opium derivative, and it was hailed as a miracle drug and recommended as a cure for persons addicted to opium and morphine.

Actually, heroin is three times as powerful as morphine. For five years, heroin was pumped into persons seeking a cure for drug addiction before an article appearing in the Alabama Medical Journal in 1903 challenged the theory that heroin was a cure.

By 1914, the devil was loose all across the United States and the underworld had discovered there was a big business in selling adulterated heroin.

★ ★ ★

The result was the first action on the part of the federal government—the passage of the Harrison Narcotics Act in 1914.

It allows the federal government to license drugs for medical purposes and to war against the illegal transportation and sale of narcotics.

Under a Supreme Court decision of last year, addiction itself is not a crime. Possession of narcotics is punishable by imprisonment for from two to 10 years for a first offender.

★ ★ ★

Five years is the mandatory minimum sentence for selling drugs. For subsequent offenses, prison sentences range up to 40 years, and a person who sells to anyone under 18 years of age can get the death penalty at the discretion of the jury.

The result is that addiction is on the decline in the United States, but a new peril has risen and the Federal Narcotics Bureau is helpless to do anything about it.

REVIEW OF OUTSTANDING SPECIAL EVENTS

DETROIT LIONS VISIT MALL

B'WANA DON BRINGS FRIENDS

The famous television personality B'wana Don invited everyone to visit him and his jungle friends at a special autograph party held in The Mall. He presented pictures to each one attending plus gave many acts performed by his trained jungle animals.

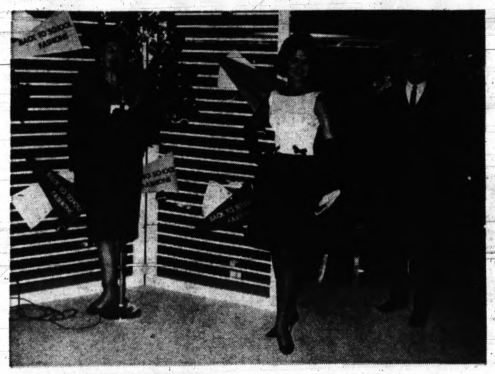

1963 AUTO SHOW

When the new 1963 model cars were introduced, The Mall held its first Auto Show with the cooperation of the Pontiac Area New Car Dealers Association. The spacious indoor area permitted shoppers to view all the latest models that were beautifully displayed for a 6 day period.

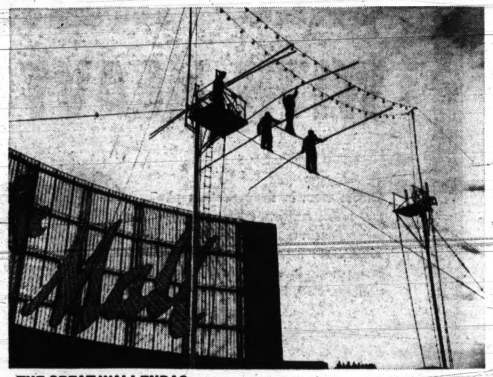

ART LOVERS HAD A FIELD — DAY

THE NEWEST IN FASHIONS

Periodically during the year The Pontiac Mall presented the latest fashions to style-conscious shoppers in Fashion Shows held in The Mall. Professional models assisted Mrs. Jackie Crampton in the presentations. Mrs. Crampton is the Mall's fashion coordinator and has her own show on WJBK-TV called "Bridal Previews".

THE GREAT WALLENDAS

The Great Wallendas made their first public appearance since their tragic accident at the Shrine Circus in Detroit earlier that year. The performance was a benefit show which drew an attendance of thousands of people to view this great spectacular held at The Mall.

FRESH WATER SAILOR'S DREAM

Pontiac area boat dealers displayed and demonstrated over 65 boats ranging from canoes to cabin cruisers. "Old Salts" and novices alike felt the call-to-the-sea as they strolled among the gleaming craft. An aluminum boat with its own motor and trailer were given away free.

TREASURE OF GIFTS AND VALUES

An outstanding sales event offering many prizes and outstanding values from all of the merchants in The Mall. Metal Treasure Chest keys were given out with a special section in The Pontiac Press. Hundreds of dollars worth of Free Prizes were given to persons with keys that would open the locks on the Treasure Chests.

THE NORTH POLE WAS BROUGHT INSIDE THE MALL

During the Christmas season the center of The Mall was transformed into Santa's Fantasy Land . . . with all the glitter and tinsil and dreamy-eyed youngsters to go with it. Santa talked with his little fans and presented each of them with candy canes . . . inside his giant igloo.

"I'LL MEET YOU AT THE FOUNTAIN"

It's an expression often used by shoppers when they are planning another exciting visit to The Pontiac Mall. This sparkling fountain is the centerpiece in the delightful decor that adds to the pleasure of your Mall shopping. Many people toss coins in the fountain for luck. This money is periodically donated to various local charities.

BUDDING SCIENTISTS EXHIBIT THEIR TALENTS

Frequently during the year local schools used the Mall facilities to show their projects and abilities to the thousands of Mall shopers. The scene above is from the recent Science Fair held by the Waterford Jr. and Sr. High School students.

THE ALPS IN MINIATURE

Georges Odier, ski instructor and skiing authority demonstrated his abilities on a specially constructed ski slope inside the completely enclosed Mall Shopping Center. He gave free instructions to many Pontiac area ski enthusiasts. On many occasions The Mall presented other noted authorities on various subjects of interest.

Mom Will Like Special Eggs

Mother's Day should mean "mothering" mother with all the tender, loving care possible. One way is to serve her a savory breakfast-in-bed brunch . . . a new variation of everyone's favorite Eggs Benedict. Serve this special treat with luscious hot asparagus and piping hot coffee.

★ ★ ★

These devilicious eggs are so easy to prepare, even the youngsters can whip them up in no time. Let them try their hand at helping Mother on her own special day. It only comes once a year — and this "unsung heroine" will be mighty proud!

Baked Ham and Eggs

1 4½-oz. can deviled ham
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 teaspoons lemon juice
4 eggs
4 pieces of toast

In each of four custard cups place 1 tablespoon mayonnaise, combined with ½ teaspoon lemon juice, add 2 tablespoons deviled ham. Top with a raw egg. Bake at 350 degrees until egg is firm about 20 minutes. Invert onto a piece of toast.

Sandwich Jam Layer Between Dough Sections

Almond extract gives these bar-type cookies interesting flavor.

Jam Bars

1½ cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ cup butter
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract
1 egg
¾ cup thick jam or preserves
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon cloves

Sift together the flour and baking powder. Cream butter, sugar and almond extract; beat in egg thoroughly. Add sifted dry ingredients and stir to blend.

Spread a little less than half the dough into a buttered baking pan (about 11 by 7 by 2 inches). Mix jam with cinnamon and cloves; spread over dough. Drop remaining dough in blobs over jam; spread carefully with small spatula.

Bake in a hot (400 degrees) oven until lightly browned, about 20 minutes. Place on wire rack to cool; cut into squares; remove with spatula to wire rack to get cold. Store in tightly covered container.

Asparagus Season Is Here---'Nuff Said!

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Fresh asparagus is in abundance now, so make the most of the all too short season.

In my mind fresh asparagus will always be associated with my first spring as a homemaker. That was before the days of frozen foods and we ate asparagus only in season.

★ ★ ★

I was a student at the University and keeping house too. It required real juggling of the limited food budget to enjoy luxuries like asparagus and fresh strawberries. I've never lost my appreciation for either one.

Asparagus Napoli has a tomato sauce flavored with basil. Over this goes grated cheese to be browned in the broiler briefly. A delightful luncheon dish.

Asparagus Napoli

2 pounds fresh asparagus
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup sliced mushrooms
2 tablespoons fresh frozen chopped chives
One 8-oz. can tomato sauce
¼ teaspon dried basil
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

★ ★ ★

To prepare fresh asparagus, wash, then cut off and discard firm, light colored base. Cook whole spears, covered, in boiling, salted water until just tender (15-20 minutes). Arrange spears on buttered heat-proof baking dish.

Melt butter or margarine; add mushrooms and saute until soft. Blend in chives, tomato sauce and basil. Pour over asparagus and sprinkle with cheese. Place under broiler until sauce bubbles and cheese is lightly browned.

Serve with additional Parmesan cheese. Makes six servings.

★ ★ ★

Asparagus Rollups are a glorified kind of sandwich. These might also be a luncheon treat, but on the other hand, they'd be elegant at a cocktail party.

Asparagus Rollups

12 slices white bread
Soft butter
1 pound soft cheddar cheese
1 can or jar (7 ounces) pimientos (drained and chopped)
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
24 cooked fresh asparagus stalks

Cut crusts from bread and use a rolling pin to flatten and spread slices. Arrange bread in a jelly roll pan or on heavy foil and spread one side generously with butter.

Beat together the cheese, pimientos and mustard. Turn bread and spread unbuttered side with cheese mixture.

★ ★ ★

Place two asparagus spears in the center of each bread slice, fold over edges to center to make a roll. If necessary, secure rollups with toothpicks. Bake the rollups, in the jelly-roll pan or on foil in a hot (425 degrees) oven until bread crisps and browns slightly — about 10 minutes. Cover tips of asparagus not covered by bread with foil before baking. Serve hot.

If you like, you may heat any remaining cheese spread with a little light cream, over hot water or over very low heat, and serve over the rollups. Makes 6 servings.

Note: If you wish to broil the rollups, arrange them on a broiler rack set over the broiler pan; cover asparagus tips showing with foil. Broil until toasted. Turn rollups; cover tips again and broil to toast under sides of bread.

Be sure to cook some asparagus to be used in salad. The version is garnished with deviled eggs.

Asparagus and Egg Salad

1 pound asparagus (cooked)
French dressing
Salad greens
4 hard-cooked eggs
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
2 teaspoons prepared yellow mustard
Sliced cucumber and tomato

Marinate the asparagus in French dressing and chill; drain and arrange on salad greens. Halve the eggs; remove yolks and mash with mayonnaise and mustard — taste and add salt if necessary.

Spoon yolk mixture back into egg white cavities. Add eggs to salad plates with cucumber and tomato. Makes 4 servings.

★ ★ ★

The dressing in which the asparagus are marinated may be spooned over the salad greens.

Freezing Meat

Observe these suggestins when you put meat in your freezer: wrap tightly, label carefully, thaw in wrapping in the refrigerator and cook as soon as possible after thawing.

Sardine-Bacon Combo Is Filling

Husbands and teen-agers find these sandwiches properly filling

Three Layer Toasted Rolls

4 frankfurter rolls
¼ pound cheddar cheese (grated)
3 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 can (3¾ ounces) sardines
8 slices bacon

★ ★ ★

Separate rolls and slightly toast tops and bottoms in the oven or broiler. Mix cheese and mayonnaise; spread roll halves with mixture; arrange drained sardines over cheese.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile cook bacon in a large skillet until a little less than half done; place a strip of bacon lengthwise over sardines and cheese on rolls; broil until bacon is very crisp and brown and cheese is slightly melted. Makes 4 servings.

Curried Soup

Perfect for a spring luncheon is curried soup. Blend one can each cream of asparagus and chicken soups with 2 soup cans milk, and ¼ teaspoon curry powder. Heat; do not boil. Garnish each serving with toasted chopped almonds. Enough for 4 servings.

Teacher Policy to Be Viewed

Proposals for the modification of policies affecting teachers will be discussed tomorrow night by the Pontiac Board of Education.

* * *

The proposed policy changes were drafted by School Supt. Dana P. Whitmer and a committee made up of representatives from the two teachers' groups.

Among policies to be recommended to the school board is a sabbatical leave plan.

The sabbatical leave proposal allows teacher to study, do research or travel for one year with the school district paying him a partial salary,—about one-half his annual salary.

* * *

Other policies to be considered by the school board tomorrow night concern sick leave days, payroll deductions and a teachers' salary schedule for 1963-64.

In other actions, the Pontiac board members will consider proposed boundary change and special housing arrangements for next year.

Pay Tribute to Woolley

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — Friends and admirers of Monty Woolley paid final tribute today to the actor, known far and wide for his crotchety role in "The Man Who Came To Dinner."

* * *

He was "a real trouper," said author Frank Sullivan, a friend who was chosen as an honorary pallbearer for the funeral in Bethesda Episcopal Church.

* * *

Woolley, 74, died Monday in an Albany hospital of kidney and heart ailments.

Red Chinese Tried India Indoctrination

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Chinese Communists apparently tried to indoctrinate some of their Indian army prisoners from the border war, Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan told Parliament Tuesday.

* * *

Chavan said 27 officer prisoners who returned last week had been taken on a tour of China, and "the intention must have been indoctrination.

"Countereforts are being taken to de-indoctrinate the officers," he added.

$3 License Rocky Was Busted

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller didn't have even a thin dime—for which his grandfather was famous—when it came time for him to shell out $3 for a license for his marriage to Margaretta Murphy.

This is the way the story was told:

Rockefeller last Friday asked Helen D. Logan, Mount Pleasant, N.Y., town clerk, to come to the home of his brother, Laurance, in Pocantico Hills.

The governor's personal secretary, Carl Spad, drove her to the house, where the governor and his second wife-to-be were waiting.

The papers were completed, and then there was an awkward pause.

"Just one more thing," Mrs. Logan said.

"What's that?" asked the governor.

"Three dollars for the license," said Mrs. Logan.

Rockefeller reached into his pocket, then withdrew his empty hand. Slightly abashed, he said, "I haven't any money."

* * *

His secretary came to his rescue and handed Mrs. Logan three one-dollar bills.

Castro Touring Areas

MOSCOW (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro flew today from the south Russian city of Volgograd (Stalingrad) to Tashkent, capital of Soviet Uzbekistan, the Soviet News Agency Tass reported.

Castro left Moscow Monday for what is believed to be a two-week tour of the East Asian Soviet republics and Siberia.

YOUR CHILD MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS
1 OUT OF 3 DOES

Fidgeting, nose-picking, a tot-wanting special itch are often telltale signs of Pin-Worms...ugly parasites that medical experts say infest 1 out of every 3 persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it.

To get rid of Pin-Worms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do . . . and here's how they do it:

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily.

Don't take chances with dangerous, highly contagious Pin-Worms which infect entire families. Get genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge . . . small, easy-to-take tablets . . . special sizes for children and adults.

Ships Wait Off Haiti to Pick Up British

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Two British warships, the frigate Londonderry and the destroyer Cavalier, took up patrol off Haiti Tuesday for the evacuation of Britons in an emergency.

★ ★ ★

Another Royal Navy destroyer, Caprice, is expected here today to refuel and join the British patrols against Cuban exiles using Bahamas bases for raids on Cuba.

LA to Give Nixon Dinner

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles is planning to give former Vice President Richard M. Nixon a testimonial dinner before he moves to New York.

The dinner was proposed Tuesday by Warren M. Dorn, chairman of the county board of supervisors, and Mayor Samuel W. Yorty who agreed that the city, county, Chamber of Commerce, bar association and the Greater Los Angeles Press Club should sponsor it.

State Senator Raps Lottery Proposal

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — A Republican state senator has criticized proposals for a state lottery as "frivolous, potentially dangerous and ruinous fast buck schemes."

★ ★ ★

Sen. Harry Litowich of Benton Harbor noted an apparent increase in interest in a state lottery since New Hampshire approved a state sweepstakes.

★ ★ ★

Litowich cited debate on the issue by the constitutional convention and said "It was their decision that Michigan does not need such bizarre approaches to fiscal responsibility."

Road Department OK's Battle Creek Project

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has announced approval of an engineering report recommending the modernization of 9.7 miles of M66 north of Battle Creek.

The project, to be started in early 1966, is estimated to cost $1.14 million.

N.Y. Sen. Javits to Introduce Bill for TV Debates

WASHINGTON — New York Republican Sen. Jacob K. Javits says he will introduce a resolution in the Senate next week calling for television and radio broadcasts of "great debates on major issues" in the Senate.

In a magazine article, Javits said the move toward televised Senate debates is inevitable.

He feels the placing of TV cameras and micophones in the Senate would not be an invasion of privacy, since some senators now use TV forums for major policy pronouncements and often come directly from the Senate floor to face TV interviewers.

Technicality Rules Out Delegate to Boys' State

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — "It could have been a lot of fun," Sherry Leeright said when notified of selection as a delegate to Wyoming Boys' State, an American Legion course in government for high school boys.

But Sherry was disqualified on a technicality. She is a girl.

Dems Will Sponsor Weekly Program

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Democratic party announced yesterday that it will begin sponsorship of a 25-minute radio program each Sunday, featuring interviews, party news and editorial opinion.

State Chairman Zolton Ferency said the series — titled "The Democratic Platform" — will be aired over Detroit station WJR beginning May 12.

"Using the medium of radio in a regular fashion such as this is dramatic departure from the customary styles of communication between a political party and its members and friends," Ferency said.

Grand Haven Voters Reject School Issue

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Grand Haven School District voters yesterday rejected a $3.4-million 2,410 to 1,899.

The bond issue would have provided funds for a new junior high school, three grade schools and expansions to four existing grade schools.

Salk Tells About His New Institute for Biological Studies

AP SPECIAL REPORT
By WALTER GRAY

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The Salk Institute for Biological Studies is under construction on a cliffside overlooking a stretch of chalk beach where the blue and emerald waters of the Pacific come to rest and roll back out to sea.

BACKGROUND — SPECIAL REPORT — OF THE NEWS

Situated atop Torrey Pines Mesa, the institute will tower above a grove of gnarled dwarf pines which cling to the face of a crumbling, yellowish sandstone cliff.

The Torrey pines range downward to a deep ravine where morning sea fog frequently drifts in to cloak their haunting shapes.

The spot has attracted others, notably a group of millionaires who vied with Dr. Jonas Salk for it.

They offered to pay $2.5 million for a 50-year lease of the property and intended to convert it into an executive golf course. A spokesman for the group told the San Diego City Council: "Top pros have said it would make one of the finest golf courses in the world."

TOOK NO PART

Typically, Dr. Salk took no part in public discussion of contending proposals for use of the $1-million plot of land and eventually it was awarded to his sponsor—the National Foundation.

Dr. Salk, who developed the antipolio vaccine 10 years ago, has been quoted as having called the site "Utopia." But in an interview he said he hadn't.

★ ★ ★

The institute will be a $15-million plant with two deluxe laboratories where a body of biochemists will begin their research not later than July 1964. One of Dr. Salk's aides said some of the scientists will start to work in a temporary laboratory at the institute within three months.

Later on, philosophers, historians of science and others will join the staff.

UNHAMPERED RESEARCH

Research at the institute will be unhampered by pressure. There will be no crash projects—undertaken to lick a single, devastating disease, for instance, cancer, or to develop a particular thing, such as an atom bomb.

Dr. Salk at present is experimenting with viruses and predicts that it will one day be possible to control as many as 109 diseases with a single, over-all antivirus vaccine.

★ ★ ★

"The way to fight cancer is to immunize man from all viruses that affect him," he said. "It may be a shotgun approach but it may be the only way."

On the road to such a discovery, however, it is possible that the very roots of nature will be tapped—with far-reaching effects.

For instance, scientists probing the biological nature of man could turn up a method of altering personality patterns, potentially a contribution to the mental and spiritual well-being of man.

DEATH KNELL

But such a discovery, if it falls into the laps of evildoers or even well-intentioned bunglers, could sound the death knell for some of the most cherished values of Western civilization: uniqueness of character and individual freedom.

How could such a discovery be controlled?

Seated in a black swivel chair behind a neat, modern desk, Dr. Salk said in carefully measured words that there is a difference between the workings of the minds of scientists and laymen, such as newsmen.

★ ★ ★

"Your focus is prospective, you are looking ahead to discover what might happen—what might be news," he said. "Mine is perspective—looking at what has gone before."

"There is no answer to your question at present," he added. "That is why historians and philosophers will be at the institute."

Place-Dropping's Newest Snob Sport

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Place-dropping is a gay little sport, the rules of which are very similar to those of name-dropping.

★ ★ ★

The main difference is that in place-dropping the players win points for where they have been, rather than for whom they have been with.

WEST

It is possible to place-drop and name-drop at the same time, but this tends to get complicated and should only be attempted by the more advanced players.

Place-dropping points are awarded in two categories—the fashionable and the remote. For example, Monaco has a rating of 30 points in the fashionable category and Samarkand is worth 50 points for remoteness.

★ ★ ★

Some places, such as Hyannis Port when the Kennedys are at home, are classed as remotely fashionable and are scored in both categories.

A player must, of course, be able to drop the place into a conversation in order for the score to count.

During my recent trip to Venezuela (10 points), I traveled with a group of highly skilled and dedicated players, all of whom were more far flung than I.

I found myself badly outclassed and, in desperation, began to drop places I had been as a soldier in World War II. Resorting to involuntary wartime military travel is considered bad form.

UNSPORTSMANLIKE

When the other players discovered what I was doing, I was ejected from the game for unsportsmanlike conduct.

The winner, by a wide margin, was Myron Glaser, a far-flung travel writer for the Washington Daily News. However, it was a tainted victory.

His occupation gives him professional status, and amateur place-droppers ordinarily do not compete against the pros except in open tournaments.

★ ★ ★

Glaser took a commanding lead in the third round, or Chukker, by dropping Old Rag Mountain, Va. It caught the other players completely off guard.

He not only scored 15 points for remoteness, but received a 25-point bonus for dropping a place where the other players hadn't been and a 50-point bonus for dropping a place they had never heard of.

After the match, I asked Glaser if such a place actually existed or whether he had been bluffing.

"Yes, Virgil, there really is an Old Rag Mountain," he said. "Some day I'll take you there."

Our expedition is scheduled to get under way within a few hours from the time I write this. The current American expedition to Mt. Everest may overshadow ours somewhat, but we are not doing it for the glory.

If all goes well, my next dispatch will come from the summit of Old Rag. Don't miss it if you can.

Prince Philip Razzed by British Film Actor

LONDON (AP) — Prince Philip rose to make an after-dinner speech Tuesday night and for the first time on record got the bird.

"Liven it up," shouted actor Tom Bell, sitting a few feet away. "Tell us a funny story."

★ ★ ★

"Go on," he said. "Tell us a funny story."

The prince was not amused.

"If you want a funny story," he said, "I suggest you engage a professional comic."

Film stars Brian Forbes and Richard Attenborough smothered Bell.

★ ★ ★

Later Leslie Caron, chosen as British actress of the year for her performance in "The L-Shaped Room," apologized to the prince and explained that Bell was feeling a trifle boisterous.

"That's all right," said the prince, "I took it in the right spirit."

★ ★ ★

Bell was unrepentant.

He told newsmen later: "I'm not at all sorry. It's about time somebody told him. He should liven himself up."

The queen's husband, presenting awards at the annual British Film Academy dinner, ignored the interruption. Bell returned to the attack.

Actress' Son Faces Narcotics Charge

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —Patrick Joseph Farrow, 20, son of actress Maureen O'Sullivan, faces prosecution on a charge of narcotics possession — just two weeks after his conviction on a similar charge.

He was arraigned Tuesday before Municipal Judge Henry H. Draeger, who set his preliminary hearing for May 17. Bail was set at $2,625.

★ ★ ★

Farrow was arrested Sunday by police who said they found narcotics in his car.

Two weeks ago, he was fined $250 and placed on five years' probation after being found guilty of narcotics possession.

The United States aircraft carrier Saratoga flight deck has an area of four acres.

Tigers Finally Discover Winning Combination

Pontiac Press Photo

WINNER TIMED — Bob Willson of Pontiac Northern hits the tape as Fred Zittel, a member of the Pontiac Central coaching staff, catches the final time of 2:10 in the 880 run yesterday at PNH. Central won, 74⅔ to 34⅓.

Chiefs Defeat Northern, 74⅔ to 34⅓

PCH Runner Surprised by Time

By DON VOGEL

The only surprise in Central's 74 2-3 to 34 1-3 track victory over Northern yesterday went unnoticed by all except a half a dozen people.

Ted Lewis, Central quarter-miler, was confronted by coach Wilson after anchoring the Chiefs to an 80-yard victory in the mile relay.

★ ★ ★

"How fast do you think you ran that 440?" asked the coach.

"I don't know," replied the lithe athlete, surprised at the query, "fifty-three (seconds)?"

"Fifty-two," Wilson reported with a grin.

"I did!" he exclaimed with a more surprised look.

With that, Lewis turned and headed back toward his teammates, still shaking his head in wonderment.

Wilson explained that Lewis had also won the regular 440 in the same time.

★ ★ ★

"He was pushed in that event," said the coach, "but his time was no better than when he had an easy time in the relay.

"The reason is that Lewis was tense and tight in the regular 440 while he was relaxed on the last leg of the relay. If he could relax and run loose when pushed, he would be even faster.

"The same applies to several others," he added.

Despite the fact that hurdle ace and high jumper Tim Thompson, high jumper Gerald Henry and broad jumper Les Hanspard were not with the team, PCH had more than enough talent to win its third meeting with PNH.

MISSED MEET

Henry was out with illness. Hanspard with an injury and Thompson for disciplinary reasons. A couple of PCH relay specialists also missed the meet.

PNH was without the services of Eddie Perry, a top contender in the 100 and 220, because of a pulled muscle.

Charley Humphrey of Central was the star of the meet, winning both hurdles, running on the victorious 880 relay team, placing second in the broad jump and third in the pole vault.

This added up to 15¼ points. It was Humphrey's first appearance in a relay.

Jim Harris scored 13 points for the Huskies. He won the broad jump, high jump and was second in the 100. Ted Hindman garnered wins in the 100 and 220 for the Chiefs and ran on the 880 relay for 11¼ points.

Bob Wilson picked up Northern's other first with a six - yard triumph in the 880.

Jim Cummings tossed the shot 50 feet 4¼ inches and Wilbert Preston won the mile for the Chiefs.

John Stewart copped the pole vault as expected, but the PCH star stopped after clearing 12 feet 9 inches. He was obviously having a problem with the PNH pit and was being hampered by a brisk wind quartering from the front.

LUNGE FOR SECOND — Jim Harris of PNH (second from left) lunges at the finish line to edge out PCH's Otis Newkirk for second place in the 100-yard dash. Ted Hindman (right) of Central won easily. John Cojocar of Northern is the fourth place runner. Hindman also won the 220. Harris was first in the broad and high jumps.

'Dinner Call' Ends Game; Huskies, Skippers Win

"Don't you have to get back for dinner?"

With this plea the game between Orchard Lake St. Mary and Detroit St. Agatha was called after six innings yesterday by mutual agreement.

At the time, OLSM held a 25-3 lead built on 20 hits and six errors by the losing home team.

OLSM's cause was aided by St. Mike's which upset Royal Oak St. Mary, 4-2, with Gary Kraft throwing a three-hitter and fanning seven of the Irish.

Other games saw Pontiac Northern, Waterford and Berkley post Inter-Lakes League wins, Milford triumph in the Wayne-Oakland loop, RO Kimball remain undefeated, and Avondale and Memphis even their league records.

The win was the Eaglets' fourth straight and leaves them atop the Northwest Catholic League. In their last start, the Eaglets had pounded St. Fred's, 22-0.

SIX RBI'S

John Stolnicki's two doubles and single for six runs batted in led the winners' attack. Winning pitcher Larry Janiszewski also had three hits, as did Paul Legaj who scored five times.

★ ★ ★

Roger Cook drove in the first two St. Mike runs, but it was Tim Droppe's single and Kraft's triple that scored the clinchers against ROSM.

Mike Marcum was the winning pitcher and banged out a single, triple and solo home run in PNH's 6-2 victory at Farmington. The Falcons only collected three hits in the game.

The win pushed the Huskies to a 4-1 league mark, one game behind unbeaten Berkley which defeated Walled Lake, 8-3.

Waterford remained in contention at 3-2 by taking an eight-inning, 7-6 victory over Southfield yesterday. Stan Grant drew a one-out, bases-loaded walk to force home Dave Tinkus with the winning marker.

Tinkus pounded out two doubles and two singles, scored four times and drove in two runs to help Chuck Ahnen notch the win.

Ed Sparkman's two-hitter kept Milford in the tight Wayne-Oakland race with a 7-0 victory at Holly yesterday. Gary Powers scored the first of his two runs in the opening inning for the only run Sparkman needed. Randy Clinard later added a two-run triple.

Kimball pushed across eight runs in the first two innings by hitting only one ball out of the infield to whip Port Huron, 8-4.

Steve Wilson was the winning pitcher as the Knights are now 4-0 in the EML.

Avondale evened its mark at 3-3 in the Oakland A conference with a 6-3 victory over Oak Park. Lynn Thorpe fired a six-hitter and fanned eight. He also had two hits in the game.

★ ★

Memphis scored eight unearned runs at Almont to square its mark at 2-2 in the Southern Thumb loop with a 10-3 win. Dennis Oland made the only noise for the losers by tripling in two runs and tallying the third one himself.

Piontkowski was the winning pitcher and had two singles for Memphis.

Big Tiger Investment Paying Off

Freehan Swinging Torrid Bat

DETROIT (AP)—At 21, Bill Freehan has a cool $100,000 stashed away, a .500 batting average, the major league's hottest hitting streak and an ambition.

"I hope I have a future in baseball," said the Detroit Tigers' rookie sensation.

The Tigers spent $100,000—and possibly a much as $135,000—on that future. They're getting paid off on the biggest investment in their history only two years later.

Freehan cracked a two-run homer, a 440-foot triple and a double Tuesday night as the Tigers climbed out of last place with a 6-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

NINE FOR 10

The 6-foot-3, 200-pound ex-Michigan football end has had nine hits in his last 10 at bats. He has reached base 12 of his last 13 appearances at the plate. His home-run off the facing of the upper left field deck was his third in three games. He has hit for 25 total bases in his 22 at-bats for a fantastic 1.136 slugging average.

★ ★ ★

The ironic part is Freehan expected to return to the minors when the Tigers trim their roster to 25 players Thursday. Instead he has become the Tigers' No. 1 catcher, taking the job away from Gus Triandos, who'd been enjoying a comeback at 33 until he reported sick Sunday.

★ ★ ★

"Really, I didn't think I was going to stay here beyond the cut-down date, said Freehan, "my being so young and with only one full season in the minors."

For a rookie who admits feeling pressure, Freehan has been remarkably cool as a receiver and batter.

SOME RESENTMENT

"Of course there's pressure on guys who've gotten a big bonus," he said. "Other parents see a kid get a lot of money just because of a little athletic ability and they resent it. The other players resent it, too.

"But if they offer it to you, you'd have rocks in your head not to take it.

★ ★ ★

"I didn't sign just for the money. I wanted to play baseball. But at the time I signed, after my sophomore year at Michigan, it was because they offered me the money."

Freehan said he's never seen a penny of his bonus. His father has invested it for him.

★ ★ ★

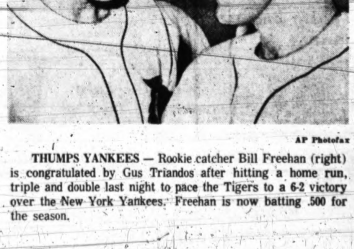

"I want to be a consistent good hitter," said Freehan. "By a good hitter, I mean .300. Last year at Denver I didn't feel I had a good year with a .283 average. I must have tried 10,000 different batting stances trying to get back into a hitting groove and now I'm not even sure which stance I have."

Golfer's Ace Worth Size in Sandwich

PHOENIXVILLE, Pa. (AP) — When the Kimberton golf course opened last year, a local sandwich shop offered a life sized sandwich of any golfer who made a hole-in-one.

Monday, Joe Degelman scored an ace on the 135-yard ninth hole, with a pitching wedge.

The 6 foot, 4 inch, 300-pound Degelman is waiting for his life sized sandwich. The shop says he'll get it.

THUMPS YANKEES — Rookie catcher Bill Freehan (right) is congratulated by Gus Triandos after hitting a home run, triple and double last night to pace the Tigers to a 6-2 victory over the New York Yankees. Freehan is now batting .500 for the season.

Frank Lary Sent to Knoxville

Foytack Fined $500 for Leaving Game

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Tigers today optioned former pitching ace Frank Lary to Knoxville of the Sally League to let him work out the mysterious arm ailment that has destroyed his effectiveness in the last two years.

A Tiger spokesman said the necessary waivers had been obtained from all major league clubs and Lary, an eight-year veteran, had given his consent. His consent was necessary under league rules.

It was hoped that a regular turn on the pitching rotation at Knoxville, a Tiger farm club, would bring Lary into shape.

Lary, whose middle name is "Strong," has mastered the New York Yankees more consistently than any other pitcher in the history of baseball. His record against the Yankees is a sparkling 28-11 and at one time he won 13 of 14 from the perennial league champs.

In 1961, Lary had a 23-9 mark, led the league with 22 complete games and pitched four shutouts.

★ ★ ★

A pitcher who would like to see more action, Paul Foytack, was fined $500 by the club for leaving a game early.

WENT HOME

The Tigers announced that on April 24, Foytack changed into his street clothes midway in the game with Los Angeles and went home in protest over his lack of work. "It was a silly thing to do," Foytack admitted.

Foytack, who had a 1.20 earned run average in spring training, has a 6.55 era with an 0-1 record during the regular season.

Freehan Leads 6-2 Triumph Over Yankees

Shortstop Job Belongs to McAuliffe; Mossi Picks Up Victory

DETROIT (AP) — Manager Bob Scheffing juggled his lineup 18 times in 19 games while the Tigers skidded from first to last place before he found just the combination he wanted.

Now that he has it, he's keeping it — for a while anyway. It means strapping Bill Freehan, the major league's hottest hitter currently, is the No. 1 catcher. And it means Norm Cash is over his injury and ready to play first base every day.

★ ★ ★

Freehan continued his torrid pace last night as the Tigers made it out of 10th place after a four-day struggle with a 6-2 victory over the New York Yankees.

The $100,000-plus bonus catcher lined a two-run homer, a 440-foot triple and a double and scored three runs. His three hits lifted his batting average to .500 and he goes into tonight's game with the Yankees riding a streak of nine hits in 10 at bats. With three walks thrown in, Freehan has reached base 12 of his 13 trips to the plate.

Scheffing parried the question whether Freehan has taken the regular catching job away from Gus Triandos and then confirmed it by saying:

"This was the first time we've all been together. And I'm keeping my infield the same, too."

Dick McAuliffe, thus, has won the shortstop job, the Tigers' weakest link. McAuliffe, who was the regular second baseman through spring training, played the last three games at short and did an outstanding job in the field.

RIDE HOME

Cash returned to the lineup after missing seven games with an infected ankle. He had a single and rode in on Freehan's homer off the facing of the upper left field deck in the fourth.

The victory lifted the Tigers from 10th into a tie for eighth with Minnesota. It was Detroit's fifth triumph in the last 18 games and produced the club's first complete pitching performance in eight games.

Don Mossi went the route for his third victory and had a shutout until Tresh's two-run homer in the ninth. Mossi, beating the Yankees for the second time this season, yielded seven hits and made only 98 pitches over the nine innings.

Freehan got the Tigers going off loser Bill Stafford with his triple off the center field fence. McAulieff scored Freehan with a single. Freehan touched Stafford for his third homer in three games in the fourth and led off the seventh with a double into the left field corner. He advanced to third on a grounder and scored on Bubba Phillips' fly.

★ ★ ★

The Tigers added two runs in the eighth on Jake Wood's single, Billy Bruton's triple and Al Kaline's single.

The crowd was only 16,705, lowest ever for a Yankee night game in Detroit.

WHY, GRANDMA! — What a big smile she has after receiving a trophy at the 300 Bowlers League banquet last night. Mrs. Anna Mayeri, 74-year-old kegler in the league, was honored as "the youngest bowler" and now can proudly show her seven great-grandchildren her bowling trophy.

Keglers Honor 'Grandma'

Her teammates call her "Grandma," and in fact she is a great-grandmother seven times.

* * *

Her average is nothing to brag about—it climbed four pins this season to 123—but last night she received a trophy and probably the biggest round of applause at the Tuesday night 300 Bowlers League banquet.

Mrs. Anna Mayeri of Keego Harbor won a trophy for "the youngest bowler" (she is 74) at the completion of her first season in the 300 Bowlers League.

She began bowling 14 years ago (in the Lakeland Ladies circuit at Sylvan Lanes) because as she says, "it seemed like everyone was doing it."

Although she has never bowled a 200 game (her highest to date is in the 180s), Mrs. Mayeri continues to participate for the best reason of all.

* * *

"I like it," she explains.

And the Jack Loveland team's young-at-heart "Grandma" is liked by everyone in the Tuesday night keg league.

Karras Decides Not to Sign Wrestling Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Alex Karras, defensive tackle of the Detroit Lions, said yesterday he has given up wrestling and wants to return to football in 1964.

Karras and Paul Hornung of the Green Bay Packers were suspended indefinitely by National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle after admitting they had bet on games.

Both will miss the 1963 season, but what happens after that depends on Karras and Hornung.

"They must avoid trouble or incidents that would reflect on pro football," said Rozelle, visiting Detroit for a meeting of NFL publicists.

* * *

"It's true a person may be innocently involved in incidents. But these things still reflect on the game," the commissioner said.

Karras says Rozelle will not be able to find anything wrong with him in months to come.

EAST LANSING (AP) — Western Michigan jumped to an 8-1 lead after five innings and held on to score a 9-5 baseball victory over Michigan State yesterday.

Noted Horseman Dies

CHICAGO (AP) — Emil Denemark, 68, one of the pioneers of Chicago thoroughbred racing and breeding in Illinois, died Tuesday after a long illness. He had been confined to his home in suburban Riverside for the last year with a bronchial condition.

Aguirre Takes Back Seat to Buhl

CHICAGO (AP) — Bob Buhl is the worst batter baseball ever has recorded. The Chicago Cub pitcher has not hit in 86 times at bat.

Tension will mount in Wrigley Field today as Buhl goes to the plate against the Pittsburgh Pirates. Every one knows the 34-year-old right-hander can take care of himself on the mound.

* * *

"I guess, Bob's in somewhat of a batting slump," says Cub vice president Charlie Grimm. "In fact in all my years in baseball I've never seen a worse one. But we don't want to bother him by telling him what he's doing wrong at the plate. Some time he wil get a hit and we'll stop the game and present him the ball."

John Phillips, whose bread and butter have been baseball statistics for 43 years, says Buhl's 0-for-86 has to be the all-time low ebb of batting.

NEW RECORD

"Buhl's major league batting average is .086 based on 615 times at bat," says Phillips. "Clem Labine is .075, but he was officially at the plate only 227 times. Nobody on record has been up as many as 86 times without a hit like Buhl."

* * *

Buhl seems to be worse than such notoriously weak batters as Lefty Grove of the old Philadelphia A's and Lefty Gomez of the New York Yankees of 30 years ago and modern day wonder Hank Aguirre of the Detroit Tigers.

BOB BUHL

* * *

"Each time I go to the plate I have a determination to get a hit," said Buhl, who steps back from a pitch as if it were a striking cobra. "I'm up there swinging but nothing happens. All I think about is making contact.

"The pitch I really like to see is a fast ball waist-high. I can't hit a curve to save me. And I guess all the other pitchers know this because that's about all they give me. In my life time I've never hit a home run. I've got a couple of doubles but don't remember when.

STOLEN BASE

"Last year I drove in a run with a sacrifice fly—it was a helluva season at the plate for me. I also stole my first base. It was fun.

* * *

"But I'm paid to pitch. I'm not worrying about hits."

Buhl didn't remember when he got his last hit.

Jim Burgin With 3-Pound Rainbow From Deer Lake

Big Rainbow Acts Like Carp During Struggle With Angler

"I thought it was a carp. It didn't break water once, just kept running back and forth down deep."

This was how Jim Burgin, 2365 Pontiac Road, described catching a 21½-inch, three-pound one ounce rainbow last Sunday morning in Deer Lake.

★ ★ ★

The trout is the first entry in rainbow division of The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby. A 4½-pound northern still leads the pike class. There have been no bluegills entered. No entries will be accepted in the blackbass division until the season opens June 1.

Burgin and Jake Webber of Pontiac were drifting off the dropoff along the north shore when the rainbow took a night-crawler about 9:30 a.m.

"It took me 20 to 25 minutes to land the trout," said Burgin. "I was using a spinning outfit with four-pound test line and I couldn't use much pressure."

It was the only trout taken by the pair. Burgin said they did catch a few bluegills. He plans to have the fish mounted.

WEIGHT COUNTS

The Press Derby is open to all residents of Oakland County. The fish must be caught in the county.

Weight is the only determining factor. All entries must be brought to The Press Sports Department between 7 a.m. and 2 p.m. Monday through Friday and 7 a.m. to noon Saturday. No entries will be accepted Monday.

Fish taken from private and commercial waters, Lakes Angelus and Sherwood are not eligible.

Savings bonds will be awarded to the winners. The contest ends at noon Sept. 4.

Raymond L. Freebury, 1344 Nancywood, caught a pair of 21-inch rainbows while fishing the Maple River near Pellston. His father, Raymond E. Freebury, 695 Blaine St., took two 17-inch browns.

★ ★ ★

Of all the rainbow waters in the county, Maceday Lake continues to be the most productive. Still fishing or drifting with night-crawlers or small minnows just off the dropoff has been very effective.

Stream fishing has slowed. Most of the planted trout have been caught and the remaining fish are getting more difficult to catch each day.

Bluegills are hitting outside the weeds near the bottom during the day, but can be taken in shallow water at dusk with poppers.

State Campsites to Bulge Beginning Memorial Day

By The Associated Press

Michigan camping facilities will get their first real workout of the season on the Memorial Day weekend.

A preview of the crush of campers is expected at Holland State park this weekend, when visitors will swarm in for the Holland tulip festival.

★ ★ ★

Holland was next to tops in popularity among camp parkers last year with 6,876 permits issued. The Waterloo recreation area was the most popular with 6,983 permits.

A continuation of the camping boom is forecast for both the state parks and forests this season.

The parks had 830,231 campers last year, a 16 per cent increase over the previous season. They turned away 38,814 disappointed outdoor enthusiasts as camping sites filled up.

There have been 992 camp sites added with 9,952 now available in the state parks.

Harold Guilluame, of the Conservation Department parks division, said he still expects turnaways this season — the first at Holland this weekend.

EASE PRESSURE

The state forests helped take some of the pressure off the state parks last year. They attracted more than 100,000 campers and saw an attendence increase of about 14 per cent.

The parks charge a fee of $1 a night plus 25 cents for electricity. They offer what almost amounts to luxury camping for the money — electricity, hot showers, modern toilets, laundry facilities and the fatherly protection and advice of park rangers.

The state forest camping is free but facilities are much more primitive. All the state forest camping sites are located on lakes or streams and are in fairly isolated areas.

"We attract the real campers, the people who want to get away from it all and back to naure," said a member of the forestry division.

"Then after a few days they want to move into a state park to wash their clothes and get a hot shower," countered a member of the parks division.

★ ★ ★

The state forests take some of the overflow from the state parks when campers are turned away. They generally attract two different types of campers, however.

Camping will be permitted on only five public fishing sites this season, the conservation department has announced. This is a sharp cutback from 1962, when 270 fishing sites were open to camping.

Lack of funds to develop the sites on par with sanitation standards set by the state health department was responsible.

This is expected to work little hardship on campers, since most of the fishing sites are only big enough to permit access to a lake or stream or the launching of a boat.

Colonial Golf Tourney Tees Off With Pro-Am

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A pro-amateur tournament today precedes the opening of the $60,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament on Thursday.

Nobody turned in a score card, but Jack Nicklaus was one of golf-dom's elite who toured the Colonial course Tuesday in warm up rounds.

The field was cut to 66 when Ed Furgol was sidetracked by dental surgery and business commitments caused Paul Harney to cancel.

Michigan's Gobblers Objects of New Study

State conservation commissioners are talking turkey these days.

The bobwhite quail can still flush from under a hunter's feet without fear of being gunned down.

And the cunning fox will continue roaming the woods and fields with a price on its head.

Commissioners are taking a long, hard look at Michigan's wild turkey population with thoughts of asking the legislature for an open season, possibly by 1964.

The initial restocking program started with a flock being released in the Allegan state forest. The birds have just about reached the saturation point in this area. Other turkeys were released near Newaygo, Roscommon, Rose City, Kalkaska, Gladwin and private stockings have been made in other locations.

Residents of these areas report seeing the turkeys in increasing numbers, particularly from Rose City to Mio.

QUAIL SAFE ANOTHER YEAR

The quail bill cleared the Senate with ease and was reported out of committee in the House. At this point, the same thing happened as last year.

Representatives from Oakland, Ingham, Lenawee, Branch, Hillsdale and Eaton counties struck their counties from the bill. It had to be referred back to committee and this killed it.

All measures to do away with counties failed. A couple of bills to take control of the deer herd away from the Conservation Department never got to first base.

Groundwork was completed recently by the Conservation Department for a follow-up survey to check possible effects of agricultural insect sprayings on wildlife in Berrien County.

★ ★ ★

After selecting 90 grain fields within the county's planned treatment area, department workers searched some 31 miles of fence rows, woodlot borders, and other brushy cover where wildlife normally make their homes. When and where sprayings are completed this month, possible wildlife mortalities will be studied.

The department's financial picture took on new complications this week with the announcement that Michigan will have an additional $149,250 in federal monies for game and fish projects in areas troubled by low employment.

Although the allotment offers the chance of doubling game and fish improvements in these problem areas, it leaves department budget planners with the difficult task of shifting more programs and personnel to come up with monies that will qualify as matching state funds.

This latest apportionment brings to nearly $750,000 the amount of money earmarked for Michigan to put more men back to work under the two-year federal Accelerated Public Works Program. Terms of the program require the department to match this figure dollar for dollar.

MUSKIES OBJECT OF STUDY

Final preparations have been made by the Conservation department and Ontario Department of Lands and Forests to learn more about muskellunge in Lake St. Clair, one of the Midwest's top musky fishing waters.

Creel-census slips were mailed last week to some 500 members of the Michigan-Ontario Muskellunge Club who will cooperate in the survey scheduled to start early this month. The cooperators—mostly owners of private cruisers who regularly fish the lake for muskies—are being asked to record the length and weight of their catches, areas where fish are taken, their lack of fishing success, and other information.

Guides and owners of boat liveries will also assist in the survey.

YOUNG RANGER — Pietro Parravano, of Ann Arbor, 13-year-old son of Italian born parents, yesterday was made an honorary National Park ranger by Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall. Pietro, a ninth grader at University High School, had written the secretary that he wished to become a ranger trainee. Udall decided he would be an honorary until "he is old enough to be accepted as a trainee."

Udall Predicts Dunes Passage

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A bill establishing the Sleeping Bear Dunes national lakeshore in Michigan will be passed by Congress, Secretary of Interior Stewart Udall predicted yesterday.

Udall, who appeared at the University of Michigan to address the first national conference on Outdoor Recreation Research and later at a meeting of the Detroit Forum, said 95 per cent of the state's citizens supported the proposal to set aside a public recreation area along northern Lake Michigan near Traverse City.

He added that most of the current opposition comes from "people who can't look beyond the edge of their noses."

Udall said that in other states, opposition usually subsides when objectionable features are worked out of park plans.

The opposition in Michigan now seems to be over the question of the size of the proposed recreation area — a point that could be worked out by compromise.

$100 Million Needed

Island Project Bogs Down

LANSING (UPI) — A plan to string 20 artificial islands across beautiful Lake St. Clair is in a sort of no man's land right now.

There has been some opposition to the idea and some support, although neither very loud.

Apparently the Utopian scheme proposed by Paul Lutzeier, an administrative aide to Secretary of State James M. Hare, has failed to excite the imagination of enough people to launch the plan.

Money is the biggest obstacle to making Luzeier's dream for a recreation spectacular come true. He estimates the project would cost perhaps $100 million, a preposterous sum in a state where "we can't afford it now" is becoming an administration budgetary byword.

Lutzeier has bumped into a stone wall in raising even $50,000, the estimated sum needed to set up a pilot study.

In the words of Charles E. Millar, chief of the Conservation Department's land division, "The idea has cooled off quite a bit" since it was proposed to the conservation commission last winter.

WANTED STUDY

Millar said the commission, before taking a position on it, wants a study made. Other conservation groups and concerned organizations have listened to the plan but also have taken no action except to agree with Lutzeier that the island chain idea has merit.

Boating interests and conservatives who want to leave the lake alone are opposed to the idea, Millar said.

The islands, if built, would start at the south end of the lake in Detroit and run parallel along the shoreline. Jefferson Avenue residents, who now enjoy a clean view of the lake, also are cool to the proposal, according to Millar.

On the other hand there are many, like Lutzeier, who feel the plan would offer a solution to the problem of disposing of industrial wastes.

★ ★ ★

Under his plan, junk would be dumped into Lake St. Clair as fill, creating a chain of islands that would stretch from Detroit to Walpole Island.

One of the aims of the proposed study would be to determine what type of fill could be used safely without polluting the lake, and how much is available.

Lutzeier still is optimistic about his dream which began in 1945, when he was working for the Detroit City Planning Commission. Obviously, though, it takes a long time to make an island, even of the artificial variety.

Jets Net Three Aides

NEW YORK (AP) — Weeb Ewbank, new head coach and general manager of the New York Jets, announced the signing of three assistant coaches today, Chuck Knox, Walt Michaels and Jack Donaldson.

Nest Only in Michigan

Warblers Start 'Home'

Somewhere between Michigan and the far-off Bahama Islands, about 1,000 rare members of the songbird family are winging their way northward on an annual journey that will cover nearly 1,500 miles.

Their destination: The east-central sector of this state's northern Lower Peninsula. Their estimated time of arrival: Early this month, possibly around May 10, with latecomers expected during the following two weeks or so.

Their collective name: The Kirtland's warbler.

★ ★ ★

Highly regarded among ornithologists and bird watchers, this rare songbird might well have been named the Michigan warbler; it has never been found nesting in any other state.

Anyone bent on adding the Kirtland's warbler to his list of bird sightings in the United States will have to seek out dense, young stands of jack pine in the northern Lower Peninsula's east-central area. For this is where the bird makes its home during the warm-weather months.

Surveys run in 1961 indicated that the bird's summer range takes in parts of Alcona, Crawford, Iosco, Kalkaska, Montmorency, Ogemaw, Oscoda, Otsego, Presque Isle and Roscommon counties.

In recent summers, Ogemaw and Oscoda counties have hosted more than half of the world's population of 1,000 or less Kirtland's warblers.

HANDSOME FELLOW

The Kirtland's warbler itself is a wee bit of a bird, smaller than an English sparrow; the average adult weighs only about 14 grams. Although not as colorful as some of its fine-feathered friends, the Kirtland's warbler is a handsome little fellow.

★ ★ ★

It is bluish-gray above, streaked yellow below, with two white wing bars.

The bird's best trademarks are its loud, full-throated song and its wagging tail which never seems to stop.

As mentioned earlier, the Kirtland nests almost exclusively in dense stands of young jack pine, five to 15-feet tall which are mixed with more open patches of brush and scattered trees. Small wonder this bird is also called the jack-pine warbler.

Fight Over Air Crash Investigation

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — The federal government and a University of Southern California faculty member are embroiled in a feud over an unlikely subject: air crash investigation.

The dispute stems from a recent decision by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) and the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) to establish a school for accident investigation.

SERLING

Southern Cal (USC) has had such a school for 10 years and the dean, Carl Hancey, accused the government of everything from wasting money to an invasion of private education.

★ ★ ★

The CAB-FAA school will be located at FAA's air academy in Oklahoma City. It will be called the national aircraft accident investigation school. It will open next September with a class of 20 for a six-week course limited for the time being to CAB-FAA personnel.

Hancey, in an interview appearing in the trade publication Aviation Daily, charged that the school was nothing but "a further attempt by the FAA to wrest control of accident investigation away from the CAB."

CAB and FAA officials denied this.

A CAB spokesman pointed out that both agencies investigate crashes (the CAB handles the major accidents and the FAA takes care of crashes involving light aircraft) and that both need a continuing cadre of trained investigators, taught by experts who have worked on actual accidents.

★ ★ ★

"We aren't trying to compete with the USC school," the CAB official said. "We need a school of our own to train men in our own procedures and methods."

'REQUEST BY HALABY'

Hancey claimed that FAA Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby asked him last year to help that agency train investigators.

Aviation Daily quoted him as saying that "at his (Halaby's) request, we compiled here at great cost in time and money a staff study on just what you would need for such a school.

"He asked me to bring the study to him in Washington when it was completed. I did and he kept me cooling my heels for three days. I never got to see him so I mailed him the report.

"I have never even received a thank-you for our work, yet this information is now being presented around Washington almost word for word by the FAA as its justification for such a school."

★ ★ ★

A top FAA official said Halaby attempted to return one of Hancey's telephone calls while the latter was in Washingon a few months ago but was unable to reach the USC dean.

The spokesman said that later, Halaby wrote Hancey "a warm letter thanking him for his help."

Halaby told UPI an accident investigation school has been a pet dream of many persons interested in air safety.

CONSIDERED CONTRACTING

He said at one time, the CAB and his own agency considered contracting with USC or some other school for a crash investigation school.

"The idea was rejected because no school offered what the CAB and FAA wanted," Halaby said.

Hancey contended in the Aviation Daily interview that the FAA-CAB plan was "the sort of federal foot in the door to education and the actions of an empire builder that we cannot stand still for." He threatened to take the issue to Congress.

A CAB official called this charge "ridiculous" and Halaby—at whom the "empire builder" accusation obviously was aimed—commented, "I honestly don't know what all the shooting's about."

Preliminary figures indicate the registration of over 65 million passenger cars in 1962, a 3.7 per cent increase over 1961.

Ann Arbor Minus Buses for One Day

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The city suffered a one-day disruption of bus service yesterday, while one public transportation firm went out of business and a new one was formed.

The City Bus Co., which has operated the seven-bus line here since 1959, suspended operations last night, claiming financial problems. A new firm, the Public Bus Co., starts operations today.

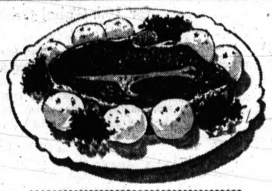

The new firm is headed by Leonard B. Jones of nearby Dexter, a driver for the defunct transportation firm. The City Council approved the new bus service at its weekly meeting last night.

Issues Win Speculative Favor

Market Up in Moderate Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Selected issues won speculative favor as the stock market advanced in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Gains of most key stocks were fractional but there were wider moves among a number of the more volatile issues.

★ ★ ★

General Motors, moving ahead fractionally, touched a series of historic peaks and paced the other motors to a slight rise.

Steels were unchanged to a bit higher. Oils recovered. A generally higher trend prevailed among tobaccos, rails, utilities, airlines, electronics, aerospace issues, and electrical equipments.

Nonferrous metals were irregular with Kennecott and U.S. Smelting weak.

Merger reports helped some of the rails.

HITS NEW PEAK

GM touched a new peak of 72 in further response to its favorable dividend news. Ford, Chrysler and American Motors inched higher. Studebaker was about unchanged.

★ ★ ★

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were mixed in moderate trading. Brandywine Raceway was off about a point and Paddington "A" more than that. Among fractional losers were South Coast Corp., Creole Petroleum, and Kaiser Industries. Small gains were made by Mead Johnson, Giannini Controls, Napco, Technical Materiel, Campbell-Chibougamau, and Great Basins Petroleum.

Bonds Open Narrowly Mixed

NEW YORK (AP)—Bond prices opened narrowly mixed today.

Over the counter dealers in U.S. Treasury securities said most issues were unchanged in quiet trading.

Rails dipped a bit in corporate dealings on the New York Stock Exchange. Industrials and utilities were irregular.

Changes were small throughout the list. None exceeded a point even among the usually volatile convertibles.

Must Understand

Information Alone Won't Make Education

By LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Information alone does not make an educated man. In addition to knowing the facts he must understand the relationship between the facts.

DR. NASON

We say a person who has skill in this process grasps situations quickly. He has a penetrating mind. He has a way of getting at the root of the matter. We say he understands.

Little or nothing is known of the process in the brain through which information is changed to understanding. We do know that understanding comes suddenly.

Also, we know something of the circumstances associated with the process. A student must desire a solution. He must take time to think about the problem.

★ ★ ★

In some cases understanding comes immediately in the classroom or during a study period. More often it is delayed.

The acquiring of understanding during sleep is so startling that it often awakens the sleeper. Students can take advantage of this work on the part of the brain during sleep by getting the information and ideas in mind before bedtime.

★ ★ ★

Then he can review the problem early in the morning and attack it again, usually with good results.

NEED INFORMATION

The study of rules and applications, or the study of new vocabulary in a language, responds to this evening-and-early-morning routine. Of course, to gain understanding the necessary information must be present before the process can take place.

There is a wave of interest in the manner in which information is presented to students. Program-teaching is a new name for an old process.

★ ★ ★

Teaching machines make use of this programmed approach. The danger is that knowing too little about it, we neglect the most important last step in the process of learning — the transformation of information into understanding.

Students must not be allowed to succeed and make high grades in school merely through memorizing facts and processes. Teachers should make sure that tests do not call for information only.

Science and math teachers should make sure that their tests call for understanding as well as the ability to carry out the processes.

JUST FOR 'As'

As one student related to me "I only worked hard enough in high school to make As. It was easy to grab enough to pass the tests." In trouble at college, he had to struggle for understanding.

He made the necessary effort to piece together the bits of information he was gaining, both while reading and while listening to lectures.

It is not sufficient merely to follow the work that is done in class. Or to follow the author's words and thoughts while reading from the textbook.

The information and ideas must be put together in the mind as one would put together a jigsaw puzzle.

Then one sees the over-all design.

By OSWALD JACOBY

Once in a while when you have a choice of plays you have a definite right way and wrong way. Other times you have a good play and a poor play. It is rare indeed that all you have is a guess.

South ruffs the third diamond in dummy and leads the king of spades. Then he plays a second spade. East follows and South is at the crossroads. Should he finesse the jack or should he try to drop the queen?

JACOBY

As a matter of strict mathematics the drop offers the better chance of success, but there is more to this hand than strict mathematics.

South should finesse because if he finesses he will make the hand whether or not the finesse works.

Actually it does work whereupon South pulls the last trump and eventually tries the heart finesse to see if he can make an overtrick. That finesse will lose, but his contract will be safe.

Suppose the finesse fails to work. West will win a trick with the queen of trumps, but he will have to give the trick back on his next lead.

If he leads his fourth diamond South will trump in dummy and discard his jack of hearts. If a heart is led South will make his jack. If West leads a club South will win with the jack; cash the ace of clubs; enter dummy with its last spade and discard the jack of hearts on the king of clubs.

What do you do?

A—Bid four spades. You expect a diamond lead which will make your king of diamonds a sure trick.

TODAY'S QUESTION

This time your one spade was followed by two diamonds by West; two spades by North and three hearts by East. What do you do?

What's School? City Wonders

What is a school? This is the question the Pontiac City Commission wants answered by the State Supreme Court.

The commission authorized the city attorney last night to file the necessary papers for a "leave to appeal a temporary Circuit Court restraining order" against the transfer of Spadafore's Bar.

★ ★ ★

The bar, formerly located at 6 N. Cass, seeks to move to a new location at 79 N. Saginaw. Its present building must be relocated because of construction of the perimeter road.

A group of downtown realtors and merchants filed a Circuit Court suit several weeks ago to prohibit the transfer, claiming the bar would be within 500 feet of a beauty school.

The commission, which had previously approved the proposed transfer, seeks a Supreme Court ruling on the meaning of the word "school" in the state statute on liquor licenses.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge Arthur C. Moore has approved a continuing injunction restraining the proposed transfer of the bar.

The commission voted 5-2 to carry the fight to the high court. Commissioners Milton Henry and Charles H. Harmon voted against the motion.

Indict Dealers in Grain Case

State Pair Charged in Corn Shortages

DETROIT —A federal grand jury yesterday indicted two Monroe County grain dealers on charges of disposing of 217,900 bushels of corn belonging to the Commodity Credit Corp. (CCC) and stored in Lenawee County.

★ ★ ★

The 11-count indictment named Bud Haddix, president of Haddix and Sons Elevators, Inc., Monroe, and Haddix and Sons, Inc., Blissfield, and his son, Jack, manager of the Blissfield elevator.

The indictment charged the corn, stored by the CCC in the Blissfield elevator, was disposed of between Jan. 1 and July 12, 1962.

In addition, the two were charged in the indictment with collecting $1,500 in storage fees from the CCC for the corn they allegedly had disposed of.

★ ★ ★

The CCC said last July that investigators had uncovered corn shortages totaling more than 500,000 bushels at the Haddix's elevators in Monroe and Blissfield.

However, Assistant U.S. Attorney John H. Shepherd said yesterday's indictments cover only the Blissfield shortages.

★ ★ ★

Each count in the indictment carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and-or $10,000 fine.

Judge Grants Duke Divorce

EDINBURGH, Scotland (AP)—A judge today gave the Duke of Argyll a divorce after describing the lovely duchess as "a highly sexed woman who had ceased to be satisfied with normal relations."

★ ★ ★

Judge Lord Wheatley held that the duchess had committed adultery with four men, including West German diplomat Sigismund von Braun, brother of the U.S. rocket expert, Wernher von Braun.

Seeks to Curb Travel Abuses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., said today he would push for approval of House-passed legislation to curb congressional travel abuses — perhaps with some additions of his own.

Dirksen said he would ask for time to appear before the Senate Rules Committee considering the bill tightening restrictions and reporting requirements on lawmakers' travel expenses.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., of the rules committee promised prompt action. There seemed little doubt that Senate Democratic leaders would join in support of the junket-control effort.

The bill, as passed by the House, would limit foreign travel by lawmakers to members of committees authorized to go abroad, and would place spending of counterpart funds under the same rules applied to U.S. dollars. More detailed public accounting for money spent would be required.

Man Robbed While in Car

A Pontiac insurance man was robbed of $254 in cash and checks shortly after midnight when he stopped his car for a traffic signal at Orchard Lake Avenue and Johnson.

★ ★ ★

William G. Baldwin, 28, of 966 Premont, told police a man came up to the open window of the car and demanded his wallet after striking him on the shoulder with an unknown object.

Cary Grant, Pushing 60, Dazzles Gals of All Ages

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Cary Grant just demonstrated this week that—at 59—he's still the champ glamour boy . . . that age hasn't much to do with masculine attractiveness. Grant went to a cocktail party to help his friend, Major Riddle of the Las Vegas Dunes, launch his book, "The Weekend Gamblers' Handbook." The women there . . . teenagers, middle-agers, and old-agers . . . stood around gasping for breath. When he left, the females said, sadly, "Let's go; what are we hanging around for?" Later Arline Francis (now of "Tchin-Tchin") remarked, "They don't seem to make men like that any more—not with his kind of grace and looks and charm and style." (Oh, I don't know!)

WILSON

Eighteen-year-old Brenda Lee's honeymoon with Ronnie Shacklett is a great success—playing her first NY cafe, she captured the Copacabana with all the authority of a Sophie Tucker. What stage presence. Only 4-feet-11, she took complete command of the toughest room in the country, in a way that must have left her bridegroom, watching from a nearby table, pretty impressed with the kind of star she's going to be when she gets a few years on her.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A big Hollywood TV star is all mixed up—his sponsor wants him back next year, but his wife dropped him.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Do you remember, sighs Herb Sherry, when you could put a kid through college for what it now takes to put him through summer camp?

EARL'S PEARLS: Tact is the ability to make your blind date think she got the worst of it.

Embattled Producer David Merrick was named in a poll as one of America's best dressed men. A reporter asked how many suits he had, and Merrick answered: "What kind do you mean—settled or pending?" That's earl, brother.

Federal Size Hit by Romney

CARO, Mich. (AP)— There is a growing willingness in America for people to turn to the federal government to solve problems arising in their own back yards, says Gov. George Romney.

★ ★ ★

Romney made his remarks at the dedication of Caro Community Hospital Tuesday.

Romney praised the community for financing the hospital completely with local funds raised in a voluntary drive.

"The fact that you were able to complete the construction of your new hospital without a penny of federal money doubles my respect for your community's accomplishment," he declared.

★ ★ ★

The governor said that the list of problems which are willingly referred to the federal government for solution "is already disgracefully long, and it is growing longer each day."

He added:

"In varying degrees, the federal government touches the lives of all of us in a hundred different ways each day. I am sure that the founders of our nation would be amazed if they could be alive today to see the dimensions to which the federal government has grown."

Romney said many people who promise federal money practice a deception that federal help does not necessarily mean federal control.

★ ★ ★

"I strongly dispute this contention," he said. "You can be sure that the federal government does not distribute its largesse without retaining some authority to say how it will be spent."

College Caper Is Bermuda Spring Worry

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)— Bermuda officials have decided they need more chaperones and new diversions to cope with the hordes of college students who invade this British colony each spring.

★ ★ ★

Everyone insists that there has been no breath of scandal. They just feel that with the annual pilgrimage growing so rapidly, things could get out of hand. Last year, Bermuda played host to 3,810 college men and coeds. This spring the number soared to 7,607.

What worries officials and hotelmen is that the number of faculty members and chaperones did not grow in proportion.

The mass arrivals have overtaxed Bermuda's entertainment and housing facilities.

Bermuda officials are drawing up plans to make things more enjoyable for the youths and less nerve-wracking for their hosts.

★ ★ ★

The government will give more free hamburger broils and chicken fries for smaller and more manageable groups.

There will be rugby games between American students and local British army and police teams.

And there will be chaperones. "We are going to insist on chaperones in the future," said Michael Fountain, official in charge of handling student groups.

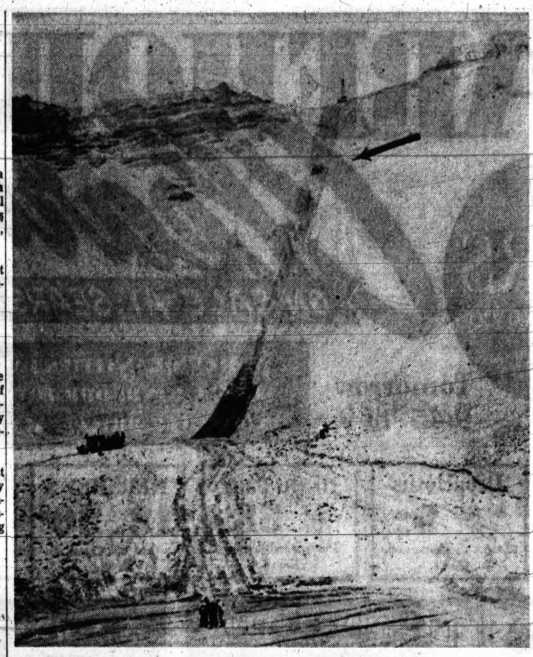

Detroit Firm Offers Low Airport Bid

LANSING (AP) — A Detroit electrical contracting firm, W. D. Gale, Inc., has submitted the apparent low bid of $329,628.04 for extensive lighting work on the new Kent County airport cascade site, the state aeronautics director reports.

Director James Ramsey said the project includes two features new to Michigan airports: centerline runway lights placed about 25 feet apart, and high speed turnoff taxiways with centerline lights 12½ feet apart.

Red Cross Chief to Quit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther says he plans to retire as president of the American Red Cross next March 31. Gruenther, who will be 65 March 3, has been head of the Red Cross since Jan. 1, 1957.

MANMADE HOLE — Newsmen gather at the bottom of Sedan Crater on the Nevada nuclear test site yesterday, getting their first look at the 320-foot-deep hole blown in the desert floor by a thermonuclear device July 6. Second Series May Overlap

Networks Consider Two-Show Combos

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — In the very high network and film studio echelons, executives are quietly considering the feasibility of having Dr. Gillespie of NBC's "Dr. Kildare" series refer an occasional patient to psychiatrist Stark of NBC's "11th Hour" series next season.

★ ★ ★

Result of this procedure—novel in television if not in real life—would be to provide a two-part medical drama played out on different series.

If it works, we may well be treated to a whole new cycle of intra-television, inter-locking entertainment—"Ben Casey" sending his neurosurgery patients to the psychiatrists of the new "Breaking Point" series or vice-versa; lawyers Lawrence and Kenneth Preston of "The Defenders" getting their clients acquitted and then sending them on to "The Nurses" for after care.

ABC, which has a pair of matching programs called "Arrest" and "Trial" scheduled for next season, is planning something along these lines. These related shows on Sunday nights will tell the story of a man-hunt in the first 45-minute segment, followed by a second 45-minute show about the same man's courtroom experiences.

One can only imagine the possibilities of such a vogue. A fellow who had narrowly escaped hanging on "Bonanza" could ride off into the sunset—to join "Wagon Train" three days later. Or Marshal Dillon could bring his desperado, caught during Saturday's "Gunsmoke," before "The Virginian's" Judge Garth the following Wednesday.

Cross-references are not exactly new to television. They were favorite devices of the Warner Brothers when they were turning out television detective stories in wholesale lots for ABC.

Often the "Hawaiian Eyes" received jobs from the "77 Sunset Strip" gumshoes. When "Bourbon Street Beat" sank in its channel, a surviving member of the detective partnership moved from New Orleans to join the Hollywood firm—for just one season.

★ ★ ★

There are advantages in tying together shows in their way but there are big problems in pulling it off. For one thing, there might be a sponsor conflict and networks hate to plug shows on a rival network. Film studios avoid references to the product of another.

Plan Osteopath's College

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Plans for a new $30-million Michigan osteopathic college campus in Detroit, Grand Rapids or Flint were disclosed here today.

★ ★ ★

The House of Delegates, governing body of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOPS), unanimously approved the project.

The MAOPS is concluding its 64th annual conference.

Financing details and a project starting date on the college will be announced soon at a kickoff dinner, MAOPS officials said.

The proposed Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine would include a 600-bed teaching hospital, a research center, dormitories, a school of nursing and administrative buildings on 80 acres of land.

Dr. Donald L. Cummings of Grand Rapids, chairman of the College Development Committee, said:

"Our decision to implement this program was not a hasty one. It is based on a three-year study which carefully considered such important questions as financing, location, faculty recruitment, student potential and operational costs."

Flash Flames Kill 3 Aboard N-Submarine

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Demands for an investigation were voiced today after a flash fire of undetermined origin killed three workers aboard the nuclear submarine Flasher Tuesday.

Two workers were injured, one critically.

★ ★ ★

The Flasher, an attack submarine of the Thresher class, caught fire at the docks of its builder, the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

The accident is not expected to delay the Flasher's launching, scheduled for June 22.

★ ★ ★

The Thresher disappeared in the Atlantic Ocean April 10 with 129 men aboard.

"All submarines of this class should be given a thorough going over," Rep. William L. St. Onge, D-Conn., said in Washington.

He asked that an investigation be undertaken at once to determine whether sabotage or possible defects in construction methods was responsible.

Jay Gould, the American railroad magnate who died in 1892, was a country store clerk in his youth.

It's White Carpet Wedding

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Love conquers all, even city traffic.

City officials yesterday granted a request to reroute traffic from busy Academy Avenue for a short time next Saturday.

The request was from Dennis Cabral and Palma Mastrostefano who plan to be married Saturday in Blessed Sacrament Church, located across Academy Avenue from the bride's home.

Miss Mastrostefano will walk from her home to the church on a white carpet stretched across the street.

Job Is Offered to Negro Pilot

Court Rules Airlines Can't Discriminate

DENVER (AP) — Marion D. Green says he is delighted to be offered a job that would make him the first Negro pilot for a United States airline.

★ ★ ★

The offer was made yesterday by Continental Airlines, two weeks after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that states can forbid discriminatory hiring by interstate carriers.

Green's contention that he was denied a job by Continental solely because he is a Negro was upheld by the Colorado Anti-Discrimination Commission.

Continental appealed, challenging the commission's authority. It also denied Green's accusation.

★ ★ ★

Green, 33, said he would accept Continental's job "if Mr. Taylor (T. Rayber Taylor of Denver, Green's attorney) and I judge that we have here a bona fide offer of employment."

Green left the Air Force in 1957 after learning that major airlines had agreed to bar racial discrimination in hiring flight crews.

"The irony," he said, "is that Continental is not one of the major airlines that signed the agreement."

★ ★ ★

Green said he made more than 600 job applications, including 35 airlines, among them Pan American, Trans World, Eastern, American and United.

"The case against Continental," Green said, "was processed with deliberate speed, whereas the others were not."

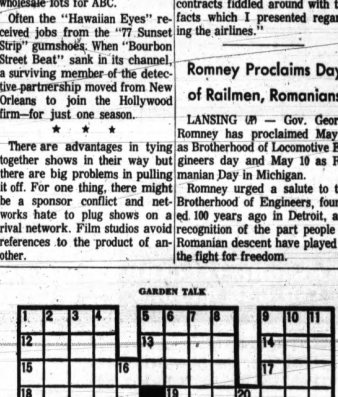

He said antidiscrimination commissions in New York, Michigan, Washington state and "the President's committee on government contracts fiddled around with the facts which I presented regarding the airlines."

Romney Proclaims Days of Railmen, Romanians

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has proclaimed May 8 as Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers day and May 10 as Romanian Day in Michigan.

Romney urged a salute to the Brotherhood of Engineers, founded 100 years ago in Detroit, and recognition of the part people of Romanian descent have played in the fight for freedom.

EARL A. MAXWELL

Two Key Positions Filled for Area UF

Glenn H. Griffin, owner of the Sparks - Griffin Funeral Home, has been elected president of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Re-elected to fill their present positions were Fred V. Haggard, president of the Oakland County AFL-CIO Council, vice president, and Alfred C. Girard, president of the Community National Bank, secretary-treasurer.

Re-elected as trustees were Bert Henson, Milo J. Cross, Mrs. William Harrison, Abe Lapides and Milo McLintock.

The term of each Pontiac Area United Fund office is three years.

John Fitzgerald, editor of The Pontiac Press, was elected to fill the unexpired board term of Harold Fitzgerald who recently resigned.

Griffin has actively worked for the United Fund in past years. He was campaign chairman in 1953, was elected to the board of trustees in 1956 and was advance gifts chairman in 1959.

Earl A. Maxwell, personnel director of GMC Truck & Coach Division, has been named chairman of the Industrial Division of the 1963 Pontiac Area United Fund campaign.

The appointment was announced today by E. M. Estes, general chairman of this year's drive.

"I am certain that we will get the needed support to provide the necessary and worthwhile services to our residents," Maxwell said, accepting the assignment.

★ ★ ★

Starting date for the 1963 United Fund campaign is October 15. The goal for the drive will be set at a later date.

The industrial division includes Baldwin Rubber Co., Consumers Power Co., General Motors' Fisher Body, Truck & Coach and Pontiac Motor divisons, Jig Bushing Co., Pontiac Varnish and Universal Oil Seal, along with nearly 80 smaller plants in the Pontiac area.

Residents Recall Day Germany Surrendered

By JIM LONG

Eighteen years ago today the war in Europe ended.

It was V-E Day. Halfway home. Japan was still to be defeated. Its surrender would come four months later.

But now it was V-E day and Hitler's "invincible" armies had fallen.

Unless reminded, the date May 8 holds no particular significance to the man on the street. Jog their memory a little and that day a long time ago comes vividly to mind.

"Yes, of course I remember. I know exactly what I was doing when I heard the news," was the general reaction.

The 18 years seem like only yesterday for most.

For Mrs. Sonja Fleetwood the war was more than just a headline. She was surrounded by it.

★ ★

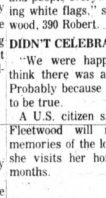

A native of Bielefeld, Germany, Mrs. Fleetwood, then only a youngster of 13, said she remembers the peace announcement came after the Americans had taken over the city.

"All of a sudden church bells were ringing, sirens were going and people everywhere were waving white flags," said Mrs. Fleetwood, 390 Robert.

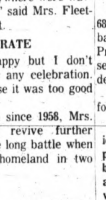

DIDN'T CELEBRATE

"We were happy but I don't think there was any celebration. Probably because it was too good to be true.

A U.S. citizen since 1958, Mrs. Fleetwood will revive further memories of the long battle when she visits her homeland in two months.

FLEETWOOD

WILLIAMS

The war's end conjures up painful memories for Bill Williams, 39, a body builder at GMC Truck and Coach Division.

When Williams learned of the cease fire he was in a hospital in Paris, a casualty from a hand-to-hand battle with a German soldier during a night reconnaisance near Berlin.

"I wasn't in good enough shape to celebrate," said Williams, 4083 S. Mill, Dryden. "I was still sipping soup through a straw when I got word."

William's right cheek and jaw had been smashed by the butt of a German rifle when his patrol came across an enemy machine gun emplacement.

"It happened about two months before the peace," Williams said. "I heard the news on the radio while I was passing the time away making gun handles from plastic.

Threat of War Lessening in the Caribbean

Tension Still High as OAS, U. N. Units Call Meetings on Situation

From Our News Wires

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic—The immediate threat of war between the Dominican Republic and Haiti appeared to recede today but tension remained high.

The Organization of American States and the U.N. Security Council called meetings today to discuss the situation between the Caribbean neighbors sharing the island of Hispaniola 50 miles from Cuba.

The Security Council was expected to leave it to the OAS.

The Haitian government sought and received permission for a military plane to land in Curacao, but canceled its request a half-hour before the aircraft was due to arrive.

★ ★ ★

The Haitian request last night said the purpose of the trip was to "pick up passengers," but the mystery surrounding the bid stirred speculation that President Francois Duvalier might be seeking to flee the country.

Dominican President Juan Bosch called Haiti's dictator Duvalier "a mad man." Tuesday night in a radio - television statement on the crisis, but indicated he is moving cautiously.

Bosch said if the United States found the crisis grave enough to order the evacuation of U.S. citizens from Haiti, "we shall continue to think the problem is more serious for us."

"We have to be careful and vigilant," he declared.

This seemed to hint at a state of alert rather than full - scale mobilization or any intention of imminent military action against the Duvalier regime.

EVACUATES 68

A commercial airliner took out 68 dependents of American embassy personnel from Port-au - Prince today in the first of a series of evacuation airlifts ordered by Washington.

The plane left Port-au-Prince for Miami.

An estimated 106 other Americans, of whom 84 were dependents of military personnel boarded a charter flight which arrived while the first plane was being loaded.

The OAS met in closed session in a new attempt to resolve the crisis and keep it from becoming a United Nations issue.

★ ★ ★

The executive session preceded a public emergency session of the OAS council.

OAS officials were told that both African and Russian diplomats had encouraged Duvalier to take the 11-day old dispute with the Dominican Republic to the U.N. Security Council.

"WANT TO BE FREE" — Negroes clap and sing "I want to be free" as officers urge them to move on during racial demonstrations in Birmingham, Ala., yesterday. State Troopers reinforced Birmingham police today, armed with tear gas, riot guns, carbines and sub-machine guns.

575 Troopers in Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Heavily armed state troopers swarmed into this racial trouble spot today, ready to aid Birmingham officers facing their seventh day of massive Negro demonstrations.

Gov. George Wallace, a militant segregationist, announced Tuesday he was ordering 250 riot-trained highway patrolmen to Birmingham.

State Public Safety Director Al Lingo said early today, however, that the number was being stepped up to 575 troopers, virtually the entire manpower of the state agency.

Lingo said the troopers were under direct orders of Wallace. They are equipped with tear gas grenades, riot guns, carbines and sub-machine guns, he said.

Lingo said the patrol force was being bolstered today by sheriff's posses from several Alabama counties.

The Montgomery and Dallas county officers brought their horses which have proved successful in crowd control in other areas.

In the face of these developments, integration leader the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. said: "This movement is getting bigger and bigger. There'll be no stopping until we move segregation from the city."

King, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, spoke at a jammed mass meeting in a Negro church in the wake of a day during which thousands of Negroes infiltrated the downtown business district and milled about the streets in the heart of the city.

★ ★ ★

Goals of the campaign, King has said, include desegregation of downtown public facilities such as lunch counters, rest rooms and water fountains; better employment opportunities for Negroes; establishment of a biracial committee on racial problems; and dropping of charges against all Negroes arrested for picketing, parading and other demonstrations.

Administration Eyes Situation

No Action Seen Yet on Dixie Agitation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said today that "every avenue of executive authority is being explored with reference to racial difficulties in Birmingham, Ala."

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy and his administration kept a long-range watch on the tense racial situation in Birmingham today, but with no indications any immediate federal action was likely.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy, on record as hoping that citizens of both races in the Alabama city will work out a solution themselves, was primed for a question on the issue at his news conference this afternoon.

How far he might go with an answer was uncertain — he could stop with a cautious "no comment" or elaborate.

But White House officials said Kennedy naturally was aware that the Birmingham situation was almost certain to confront him and was prepared for some sort of reply.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Rep. George Andrews, D-Ala., called on the President and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, to use their influence to persuade "professional racial agitators" to leave Alabama.

In identical telegrams, Andrews urged them:

"Please use your influence to persuade all outside professional racial agitators, such as Martin Luther King and his lieutenants, to leave Alabama. They are deliberately agitating racial disturbances and advocating violence."

King is one of the Negro leaders who have been directing the parades of Negroes in Birmingham during the last week calling for the end of segregation there.

STANDBY BASIS

The President and the attorney general worked late on a standby basis last night, awaiting reports fr om Justice Department officials in Birmingham.

The various possibilities in the Birmingham situation were explored at a lengthy conference at the White House yesterday. Political, legal and other implications were considered.

Civil Rights experts, Justice Department officials, members of the White House staff and a representative of the Democratic National Committee sat in.

The party man was Louis E. Martin, deputy chairman of the Democratic Committee.

★ ★ ★

The President's special counsel and top adviser, Theodore C. Sorensen, conducted the seminar.

No solid decisions on a course of action apparently were reached — and some government officials see little legal ground for positive federal action.

★ ★ ★

At the moment, the apparently prevailing view is that persuasion talks on the scene in Birmingham by Justice Department officials are the chief possibilities open to the administration.

City Creates New Bureau

Division Will Direct Community Relations

The Pontiac City Commission voted unanimously last night to create a new bureau of community relations and appointed its first director.

Proposed by Mayor Robert A. Landry, the new bureau will go into operation June 1 under the direction of Miss Patricia Heindl, formerly in the city's urban renewal office.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Landry said the activities of the city have grown over the years with municipal operations widening in scope. He said the problem of informing the community is important and requires action by the Commission.

Established to "handle mail and correspondence for members of the City Commission, and other duties as assigned," the new bureau will be responsible directly to the Commission.

★ ★ ★

Although no formal mention was made of it, the new bureau reportedly will be set up on a 90-day trial basis. Several commissioners indicated they would go along with the idea for that time.

★ ★ ★

The Commission also authorized the city manager to set up office space for the new director. The Commission ordered that all city departments cooperate with the new bureau.

All information obtained by the community relations bureau must go first to the Commission before it is released to any other city official or person.

Governor Indicates He'll Sign Canton Bill

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has turned a deaf ear to Democratic demands that he veto bill or disqualify himself from considering it at all.

Refuting arguments that the bill has a "conflict of interest" due to Romney's position as an American Motors stockholder, the governor indicated yesterday he will sign the bill when it comes to his desk.

Charges by Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency that the bill — by wiping out some $280 million in so - called "negative balances" of certain corporations — would furnish them with a "multimillion - dollar gift certificate" were echoed by other Democrats.

Rep. Joseph Kowalski, D - Detroit, House minority leader, said Romney should make a "full and open public disclosure" of the negative balances and should disqualify himself from consideration of the bill, turning it over to Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski.

Lesinski said he believed it "incumbent upon Romney, as the principal stockholder of American Motors, to disclose how much he would benefit personally from this bill."

He added that in the unlikely event Romney disqualified himself from consideration of the Ford - Canton bill, he probably would veto it "although I would listen to arguments the other way."

The dispute centers around a provision of the bill which, in boosting the rates at which employers pay taxes to the state unemployment compensation fund, allows those companies in arrears to the fund to have their debts wiped out, as an incentive for business improvement.

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney today said he would agree to call a special legislative session to help Detroit school officials deal with a financial crisis.

Students Enjoy It

Press Used for Lessons

By JOE MULLEN

Third graders at Haviland Elementary School in Waterford Township did things a little differently yesterday and the youngsters loved every minute of it.

Teacher Mrs. Vi White conducted the entire day's lessons from Monday's Pontiac Press.

The children were especially interested in front page items dealing with strife between Haiti and the Dominican Republic, and the racial demonstrations in Birmingham, Alabama.

★ ★ ★

Spelling became particularly fascinating yesterday because the lesson originated from the daily crossword puzzle.

Even arithmetic seemed pleasant. The children paged through the paper and made up problems from the advertisements.

The textbook - to - newspaper switch proved beneficial even to the teacher.

Mrs. White, a teacher for 15 years in the Waterford system, said some of the boys in the class pointed out the won-lost percentage formula in baseball team standings.

★ ★ ★

Lingering over the sports pages as boys are prone to do, they examined the Kentucky Derby account, and discussed the geographical location of the Blue Grass State.

Lessons in safety were offered by accounts of local auto accidents in the newspaper.

Rap JFK on Ole Miss

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Legislative investigators today linked the University of Mississippi desegregation riots with Kennedy political ambitions and blamed the violence on federal planning errors and tactical blunders.

★ ★ ★

The General Legislative Investigating Committee, in its formal report to Gov. Ross Barnett and the Mississippi Legislature on the Oxford crisis, termed the riots last Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 a "tragic chain of events and errors."

After linking the Oxford situation with national politics, the committee asserted:

That marshals were "displayed" to attract a crowd of students;

That the President illegally took control of the Mississippi National Guard, the only means the governor had of controlling crowds;

And that the marshals turned a student demonstration into a bloody riot by firing into the faces of the students as state highway patrolmen were moving them back.

★ ★ ★

If the President had exercised care in the responsibility he assumed, the report said, "The tragic events would not have occurred."

"One fact that stands out above all others," the committee said, "is that so long as the governor of the State of Mississippi was permitted to be responsible for the enforcement of law and maintenance of peace, there was no violence or injury of any kind."

The committee, which took more than 2,000 pages of sworn testimony from 90 witnesses, said the tragedy cost two lives, many injuries and millions of dollars damage needlessly. The rioting followed enrollment of James H. Meredith, a Negro, in the university last fall.

The report, a committee statement said, "demonstrates that the sole reason the rioting was permitted to continue for more than eight hours was that the entire operation was a tragedy of federal blundering, disorganization and total disregard for human safety and human life."

★ ★ ★

It quoted Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, in charge at Oxford, as telling highway patrol executive Gwin Cole, "We are sorry, somebody jumped the gun (in firing the tear gas)."

Solon Calls for Action on Rights Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee today accused Birmingham, Ala., police of using "barbaric" tactics to quell Negro rioters and called for swift passage of civil rights legislation.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The chairman of the House Judiciary Committee — pointing directly at Birmingham, Ala., and Greenwood, Miss. — said today immediate action is needed by Congress on civil rights legislation.

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., referring to the racial unrest in the two Southern cities, said "Our image has been tarnished abroad."

"What we have witnessed," Celler said in his opening statement as the committee began hearings on 90 civil rights bills, "is a blotch on the record of these two states."

★ ★ ★

"For those who would be complacent with the past record," Celler, said, "I need only refer to what is occurring as reported on television, radio and in the press."

JOINED BY REPUBLICAN

Celler was joined in his strong call for prompt action by Rep. William M. McCulloch, R-Ohio, the ranking Republican on the committee.

Both leaders of the House Judiciary Committee called for understanding and an absence of rancor during the hearings.

★ ★ ★

Celler earlier this session introduced the President's civil rights bill. McCulloch and nine other Republicans introduced the GOP version, which is stronger and broader than the administration's bill.

Celler said that the absence of civil rights for Negroes has "led to smoldering resentment by the dispossessed and this smoldering resentment has to explode.

"If we could put ourselves in place of the Negro and experience day by day the humiliations which the Negro faces," Celler added, "there would be no difficulty in enacting strong civil rights legislation.

"When humiliation leads to violence," Celler said, "we deplore the violence but fail to understand the humiliation."

★ ★ ★

Celler said that in his opinion the outstanding problem remaining in the field of civil rights was achieving rights for all qualified persons.

He said this was a national not a sectional problem, and pointed to his own state of New York where Americans of Puerto Rican descent cannot vote because they cannot read and write English.

British Intelligence Blasted by Spy Imprisoned in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Greville Wynne, a Briton, accused the British Intelligence Service today of having tricked him into a deal that landed him in a Soviet prison as a spy for his homeland and the United States.

"That's why I am here," Wynne despondently told the three-judge military court in the second day of a Soviet show trial that has put him in the dock with Oleg Penkovsky, a Soviet scientific official. Both have confessed to spying.

★ ★ ★

In three hours of testimony, the British businessman said he had delivered packages of film and other matter back and forth between Moscow and London, unaware that he was working as an assistant to Penkovsky.

'GREW ANGRY'

"He said a high agent of the British Intelligence Service "grew very angry" when he was asked what was going on.

Without naming the agent, he said he was told Penkovsky's activities were wholly in accord with the wishes of the Soviet Union. Otherwise Moscow wouldn't give Penkovsky visas for trips to London, one as the head of a Soviet trade delegation, he quoted the agent as saying.

★ ★ ★

Time after time Wynne's testimony clashed with that of Penkovsky.

Both pleaded guilty Tuesday at the opening of the trial.

Penkovsky disputed Wynn's claim that he was only a courier for the information the Russian collected for Britain and the United States.

★ ★ ★

"He was not only a messenger," Penkovsky testified. "Wynne must not minimize his role."

Under questioning by the military prosecutor, Lt. Gen. Artyom Gorny, Penkovsky said he had been "an honorable, ordinary Soviet man" until 1960.

Gorny referred to testimony that Penkovsky had planned to flee to the West and that he had been promised a job in either the British or American intelligence services.

★ ★ ★

Penkovsky said he rejected the idea when Western agents proposed it.

V-E Day Recalled by Residents

he first got word of the surrender, but not as a patient.

Barker, 1796 Hiller, was the chief clerk at a station hospital in Great Bend, Kan. at the time.

"I remember the brass put a curfew on. Nobody could leave the base," said Barker, then a sergeant major.

"They didn't want us to tear the town apart," he said. "And we probably would have."

BARKER MEGGITT

Pontiac police Lt. Ray Meggitt, 40, then a Marine platoon sergeant, was in Port Orchard, Wash., 18 years ago.

"I had just left home and was on my way to my ship drydocked in Bremerton when I heard the news. I rushed back and told my wife.

"We sure were happy. We hoped it was the beginning of the end.

"There wasn't much celebrating on ship. We were still looking toward V-J Day and until then there still was a war going on."

HEARD NOISE

Loud noises outside heralded the victory for Mrs. George Eugene, 50, of 417 Lowell.

Mrs. Eugene, a waitress at the Elks Club, said she was ironing "when I heard a lot of hollering.

"I ran outside to see what was happening and someone told me the war was over.

"People all over were jumping up and down with joy. I joined in and started shouting as loud as any of them."

EUGENE BANKS

A three-hour walk home on May 8, 1945, is remembered most by Mrs. Olen Banks, 40, of 24 Michigan, employed in the dietary department at Pontiac General Hospital.

"I was working in the cafeteria at General Motors Truck and Coach that day," said Mrs. Banks. "We were allowed to go home early after we heard the good news.

"Cars were bumper to bumper. You couldn't get a cab or bus. I finally had to walk."

★ ★ ★

Only a few persons questioned by The Pontiac Press failed to remember exactly what they were doing on that day 18 years ago.

All could remember it was a happy day, a prayerful day.

Calls Romney Willkie of '64

Goldwater Reports Move for Governor

ANDOVER, Mass. (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said last night Gov. George Romney of Michigan is "the Wendell Willkie substitute of 1964."

Goldwater said the "kingmakers" of the Republican party were massing behind Romney as the next presidential candidate.

He singled out former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and former Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall as prime supporters of Romney.

Nixon's move to New York City was "in large part" so he could more actively participate in the campaign to nominate Romney, Goldwater said.

The Arizona Republican, often mentioned as a frontrunner for the GOP presidential nomination, was at Phillips Andover Academy to speak on domestic politics.

'DOESN'T WANT BID'

Goldwater said Romney "told me he doesn't want" the presidential nomination.

Recalling the boom for Willkie in 1940, Goldwater described Romney as "the Wendell Willkie substitute of 1964."

When asked to comment on a "draft Goldwater" movement, he replied, "Nobody ever gets drafted for any political office. If there is a movement it will be because I will have said, 'Let's go ahead.'"

Regarding his present plans, he said he was a candidate for re-election to the Senate next year and beyond that "we'll see what happens."

GOP Names Four Lawyers for Judgeships

The names of four Oakland County attorneys were sent last night to Gov. George Romney as the County Republican organization's recommendations for appointment to two new circuit judgeships the county will get in September.

★ ★ ★

The order in which the county GOP executive committee listed them was:

James S. Thorburn, Royal Oak attorney and president of the Oakland County Bar Association.

Phillip Pratt, Pontiac attorney and former president of the county Bar Association.

Theodore F. Hughes, Royal Oak attorney who once served six months as an appointed circuit judge in Oakland County.

George F. Taylor, Oakland County prosecuting attorney since 1959.

★ ★ ★

Thorburn and Pratt are considered the most likely to receive the appointments by Romney to fill the two vacancies to be opened on the county's Circuit Court bench Sept. 5.

That's when the judgeship bill would go into effect. It's 90 days after the scheduled June 7 adjournment date of the legislature.

Although Romney has not signed the bill yet, he is expected to do soon, probably next week. Announcment of his appointments is anticipated soon after he signs the bill into law.

Happy Birthday, Harry

Truman Tickled at Age 79

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman, who says he wishes people would forget about his birthdays, turns 79 today — obviously tickled they remember.

★ ★ ★

The anniversaries "only make me a year older," he remarked yesterday, but you wouldn't know it, unless you observed that he doesn't walk quite as much as he used to.

The former president was to begin a busy day by greeting 10,000 or more fellow Baptists at Municipal Auditorium. They are messengers (delegates) to the 1963 Southern Baptist Convention.

At a luncheon in a downtown hotel, he expects to hear, by telephone, from President Kennedy, Chief Justice Earl Warren and comedian Jack Benny, an old friend who delights in exchanging quips with Truman.

★ ★ ★

On the guest list for the luncheon were Govs. John M. Dalton of Missouri and Frank B. Morrison of Nebraska; Avraham Harman, Israel's ambassador to the United States; Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore.; Lawrence W. Wetherby, former governor of Kentucky; and Charles Murphy, undersecretary of agriculture.

Riot Troopers Strengthened in Birmingham

Police appeared almost powerless at times to cope with the surging masses, but there were no serious incidents.

Authorities said at least 10 policemen were injured, none seriously. Most were struck by thrown rocks.

There were no confirmed reports of any negroes being injured.

There were these other developments:

● Gov. Wallace, in a speech before the Alabama Legislature, threatened murder prosecutions if the Negro demonstrations result in violence and death.

The governor said he would take whatever action necessary to preserve law and order—perhaps including calling out National Guard troops, although there was no official word on this.

● The White House reported that a Justice Department representative had succeeded in bringing Negro and white leaders together in Birmingham for their first meeting on the racial problem.

● Former baseball star Jackie Robinson said at New York that he plans to visit Birmingham within the next week or two to take part in the mass protest.

● Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, called on NAACP branches throughout the country to conduct "peaceful sympathy picketing" in support of the Birmingham demonstrations.

● Nineteen rabbis planned to leave for Birmingham to give what they termed "testimony in behalf of the human rights and dignity" of Negroes in Birmingham.

Pontiac Pair Tours Amidst Haiti Terror

By JI DYGERT

A Pontiac couple went sightseeing in Haiti last week, and became tourists in the midst of terror for three nervous days.

"I'm still shaking," says Edwin H. Gaukler, 53, of 1095 Voorheis.

Gaukler and his wife, Shirley, 40, returned late Monday from a vacation trip that took them on a spur-of-the-moment visit to the Haitian capital, Port-au-Prince.

That's the city where Haitian Presicent Francois Duvalier is attempting to hold control of his impoverished nation in the face of a threatened revolt May 15 (expiration date of Duvalier's term).

"Duvalier will be dead by May 15," predicts Gaukler, who says he talked to many of the dictator's secret enemies.

★ ★ ★

The moment of greatest tension came for the Gauklers as they were about to leave Haiti by plane, they report.

Gaukler says he and his wife smuggled out the first news of Duvalier's martial law and strict curfew when they left.

"A reporter gave me a message and a roll of film and I stuck them in my coat pocket," Gaukler said. "I was to take them to Miami.

★ ★ ★

"The plane was all ready to go, and suddenly the engines stopped. We were really sweating. I had stuck the film behind a seat and the note in Shirley's handbag, but I was afraid we would be searched."

TURNED FILM OVER

They waited it out about 15 minutes. But the wait was not for them, after all. They turned the film and message over to anothr reporter in Miami, Gaukler said.

Haitian officials had clamped a tight censorship on news, Gaukler said. "There weren't even any newspapers to read."

But the Gauklers were up to date on the Haitian situation. Members of an Organization of American States commission investigating the internal conflict and the frayed relations between Haiti and neighboring Dominican Republic stayed at the hotel where the Gauklers had a room.

"We became acquainted with several of the commission members and their guards," Gaukler said.

Gaukler said he was mistaken for one of the OAS investigators when he stepped off the plane in Port-au-Prince last Tuesday. He was greeted warmly and politely.

"We thought it was just their native hospitality," Mrs. Gaukler said.

Haitian Scene Snapped by Local Couple

Gaukler has no one but himself to blame for being shaken.

TROUBLE BREWING

"We were in Puerto Rico and I heard there was trouble brewing," Gaukler said. There was a threat of conflict between Haiti and the Dominican Republic over Haiti's detention of Dominican diplomatic personnel as enemies of Duvalier.

"I wanted to see Haiti before it was too late," Gaukler said. "I missed seeing Cuba and now I never will."

The Gauklers did not see fighting and killing, but heard shots they learned later had killed some Duvalier opponents.

★ ★ ★

Although their sight-seeing was restricted, Gaukler said they were nt sorry they went.

"I like to go where there's something happening," he said.

★ ★ ★

"I wanted to stop at Birmingham, Ala., on the way back to see the antisegregation demonstrations, but Shirley wouldn't go for it."

Pontiac City Affairs

OK Planning Recommendations

Seven recommendations of the City Planning Commission were approved last night by the Pontiac City Commission.

Among the recommendations was one to deny the rezoning of property at West Huron and Lincoln, which provoked lengthy arguments at the planning commission's hearing last week.

The land, located on the northwest corner of Huron, is next to the site of a large clinic now under construction.

Dr. H. H. Swanson, a dentist, had sought commercial zoning of the parcel. He wanted the C1 zoning because it would enable him to construct a large building and provide for more off-street parking.

SOUGHT CHANGE

He sought to change the zoning from personal use to commercial 1.

Although the City Commission denied the requested rezoning, the commissionrs suggested that the matter be appealed to the zoning board of appeals, which could grant a variance of yard requirements.

* * *

Approval there would allow Dr. Swanson to use the property as he had planned, but would not rezone the land.

Other recommendations of the planning commission were also concurred with by the City Commission.

The commissioners denied a request for C1 rezoning for 208 W. Howard and for the rear of property at 358 Oakland which fronts on Howard.

* * *

The city also concurred that the alley on the north side of W. Huron between Thorpe and Lincoln should not be closed and that it should be improved and maintained as a city alley.

ALSO DENIED

Commercial zoning for six lots to the west of 554 Franklin Road was also denied by the commission.

An effort of the Oakland Coal & Paint Co. to have property south of the railroad tracks and west of Bethune School rezoned to commercial was denied, but the commission did rezone the land from residential to manufacturing.

According to a report from the planning commission, this rezoning would allow the use planned by the company. The company reportedly will rent some of its land to other companies.

* * *

The City Commission concurred with a report by the planning commission to vacate Hill between Bliss and Pike, and Auburn and the City Hall; and Bliss between Hill and Parkhurst; Chandler between the City Hall parking lot and the proposed street which is west of and parallel to Parkhurst; and Cherry, a short street southeast of City Hall, for the civic center development.

OK RECOMMENDATION

Another recommendation of the planning commission was approved by the City Commission. This called for vacating part of Walnut between Wessen and the railroad tracks for the construction of the water works community center.

* * *

In other action, the commission accepted the city engineer's estimate for two-inch bituminous concrete resurfacing, curb replacement, and related work on Mohawk from Huron to Spokane.

The engineer estimated the total cost at $18,124. The assessed cost would be $5,239, while the city's share would be $12,884.

Hearings were also held on the intention to black top the following streets:

Harvey from Ditmar to the south end of street; Howard from Adelaide to Johnson; Inglewood from Oakland to Monticello; Stanley from Walton to Chicago; and Third from Fuller to Arlene.

A hearing was held on the special assessment for construction of a sanitary sewer and related work on Crayton and Asterwood from 200 feet west of Grayton to the city limits.

Another hearing concerned the construction of a water main in the northeast side of Oakland from Sarasota to the railroad tracks.

Still another hearing was held on the special assessments for curb, gutter, grade, gravel and related work on Arlene from Madison to Perry.

OU Confab Covers Woman Today

"What Is Woman's Place in This Perplexing Century?" This question is the title of a continuing education conference to be held at Oakland University May 22 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Conference planners promise no answer to the question.

★ ★ ★

The conference is planned as an exploration — with psychologists, sociologists, homemakers, mothers, career women, part-time working women and university faculty members all participating in the program which is open to any women in the area.

The program opens with two psychologists, Dr. Elizabeth Drews of Michigan State University and Dr. Frederick Wyatt of the University of Michigan, giving a woman's and a man's view of "What Is a Woman Like."

By midmorning, the audience will enter a discussion of the images of perfection or "What Should She Be?"

★ ★ ★

Following a luncheon served at round tables for further discussion, women will be offered a choice of concurrent panels for the homemakers; the homemaker looking toward a subsequent career; the homemaker with simultaneous employment; and the career woman.

Panelists are planning to cover such provocative topics as "the strange defensiveness of the happy homebody; the part-time tightrope . . . from gilded cage to any job?; and full-time tiredness . . . are employers ever flexible? are husbands? are children?"

CONFERENCE SPEAKERS

Conference speakers include Mrs. Elizabeth Cless, assistant to the dean for liberal arts programs, general extension, University of Minnesota, who will describe the Minnesota plan for the continuing education of women.

Mrs. Louise Cain, special assistant to the vice president for academic affairs, University of Michigan, will talk on other educational programs for women.

Dr. Ruth Useem of the department of sociology, Michigan State University, will give the afternoon lecture: "Women Enroute from Farm to What Future?"

★ ★ ★

Panelists will include Mrs. Mildred Jeffrey, director, community relations, International Union, UAW; Dr. Audrey K. Wilder, dean-emeritus of women, Albion College; and Dr. Ralph Green, psychiatrist and director, Haven Sanitarium.

Appropriately enough, the conference planning committee did not ask the University's chancellor to welcome the women to the campus. They asked his wife, Mrs. Durward B. Varner.

★ ★ ★

Anyone interested in this conference may obtain further information and reservations by calling Oakland University, extension 2147.

Card Party to Be Held by Auxiliary

Pontiac Press Photo

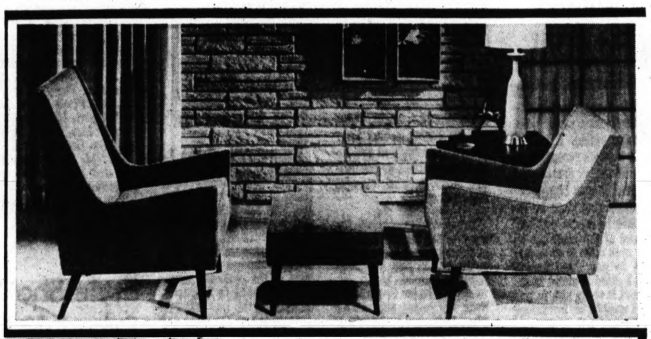

Proceeds from the card party, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars, will go toward assisting veterans' rehabilitation. Mrs. Ayers Miller of University and Mrs. Otto Zander of North Johnson are serving on the party committee.

Fight Over Air Crash Investigation

By ROBERT J. SERLING
UPI Aviation Editor

WASHINGTON — The federal government and a University of Southern California faculty member are embroiled in a feud over an unlikely subject: air crash investigation.

The dispute stems from a recent decision by the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) and the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA) to establish a school for accident investigation.

SERLING

Southern Cal (USC) has had such a school for 10 years and the dean, Carl Hancey, accused the government of everything from wasting money to an invasion of private education.

* * *

The CAB-FAA school will be located at FAA's air academy in Oklahoma City. It will be called the national aircraft accident investigation school. It will open next September with a class of 20 for a six-week course limited for the time being to CAB-FAA personnel.

Hancey, in an inerview appearing in the trade publication Aviation Daily, charged that the school was nothing but "a further attempt by the FAA to wrest control of accident investigation away from the CAB."

CAB and FAA officials denied this.

A CAB spokesman pointed out that both agencies investigate crashes (the CAB handles the major accidents and the FAA takes care of crashes involving light aircraft) and that both need a continuing cadre of trained investigators, taught by experts who have worked on actual accidents.

* * *

"We aren't trying to compete with the USC school," the CAB official said. "We need a school of our own to train men in our own procedures and methods."

'REQUEST BY HALABY'

Hancey claimed that FAA Administrator Najeeb E. Halaby asked him last year to help that agency train investigators.

Aviation Daily quoted him as saying that "at his (Halaby's) request, we compiled here at great cost in time and money a staff study on just what you would need for such a school.

"He asked me to bring the study to him in Washington when it was completed. I did and he kept me cooling my heels for three days. I never got to see him so I mailed him the report.

"I have never even received a thank-you for our work, yet this information is now being presented around Washington almost word for word by the FAA as its justification for such a school."

* * *

A top FAA official said Halaby attempted to return one of Hancey's telephone calls while the latter was in Washington a few months ago but was unable to reach the USC dean.

The spokesman said that later, Halaby wrote Hancey "a warm letter thanking him for his help."

Halaby told UPI an accident investigation school has been a pet dream of many persons interested in air safety.

CONSIDERED CONTRACTING

He said at one time, the CAB and his own agency considered contracting with USC or some other school for a crash investigation school.

"The idea was rejected because no school offered what the CAB and FAA wanted," Halaby said.

Hancey contended in the Aviation Daily interview that the FAA-CAB plan was "the sort of federal foot in the door to education and the actions of an empire builder that we cannot stand still for." He threatened to take the issue to Congress.

A CAB official called this charge "ridiculous" and Halaby—at whom the "empire builder" accusation obviously was aimed—commented, "I honestly don't know what all the shooting's about."

Preliminary figures indicate the registration of over 65 million passenger cars in 1962, a 3.7 per cent increase over 1961.

Ann Arbor Minus Buses for One Day

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The city suffered a one-day disruption of bus service yesterday, while one public transportation firm went out of business and a new one was formed.

The City Bus Co., which has operated the seven-bus line here since 1959, suspended operations last night, claiming financial problems. A new firm, the Public Bus Co., starts operations today.

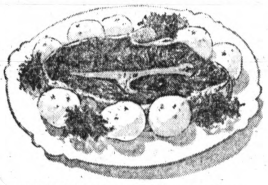

The new firm is headed by Leonard B. Jones of nearby Dexter, a driver for the defunct transportation firm. The City Council approved the new bus service at its weekly meeting last night.

Gains Fractional

Market Edges Actively Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market edged higher early today in moderately active trading.

Gains of most key stocks were fractional.

General Motors inched to another historic high following its strength yesterday on favorable dividend news. Chrysler advanced a fraction.

American Motors and Studebaker leaned to the upside while Ford was about unchanged.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem and Republic Steel were steady following a report that the steel industry appears headed toward labor negotiations without a fixed strike deadline being imposed.

Rock Island advanced a full point on word that it has reached an agreement on merger terms with Union Pacific, which showed no immediate reaction.

IBM picked up a point and Xerox moved up 2 points or so. American Photocopy, yesterday's most active issue on news of a licensing agreement with Xerox, again is in demand and moved ahead fractionally.

Gulf Oil added a fraction, the excitement of its huge secondary offering now out of the way.

Federal Size Hit by Romney

CARO, Mich. (AP)— There is a growing willingness in America for people to turn to the federal government to solve problems arising in their own back yards, says Gov. George Romney.

* * *

Romney made his remarks at the dedication of Caro Community Hospital Tuesday.

Romney praised the community for financing the hospital completely with local funds raised in a voluntary drive.

"The fact that you were able to complete the construction of your new hospital without a penny of federal money doubles my respect for your community's accomplishment," he declared.

* * *

The governor said that the list of problems which are willingly referred to the federal government for solution "is already disgracefully long, and it is growing longer each day."

He added:

"In varying degrees, the federal government touches the lives of all of us in a hundred different ways each day. I am sure that the founders of our nation would be amazed if they could be alive today to see the dimensions to which the federal government has grown."

Romney said many people who promise federal money practice a deception that federal help does not necessarily mean federal control.

"I strongly dispute this contention," he said. "You can be sure that the federal government does not distribute its largesse without retaining some authority to say how it will be spent."

College Caper Is Bermuda Spring Worry

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)— Bermuda officials have decided they need more chaperones and less diversions to cope with the hordes of college students who invade this British colony each spring.

* * *

Everyone insists that there has been no breath of scandal. They just feel that with the annual pilgrimage growing so rapidly, things could get out of hand. Last year, Bermuda played host to 3,810 college men and coeds. This spring the number soared to 7,607.

What worries officials and hotelmen is that the number of faculty members and chaperones did not grow in proportion.

The mass arrivals have overtaxed Bermuda's entertainment and housing facilities.

Bermuda officials are drawing up plans to make things more enjoyable for the youths and less nerve-wracking for their hosts.

* * *

The government will give more free hamburger broils and chicken fries for smaller and more manageable groups.

There will be rugby games between American students and local British army and police teams.

And there will be chaperones. "We are going to insist on chaperones in the future," said Michael Fountain, official in charge of handling student groups.

Cary Garnt, Pushing 60, Dazzles Gals of All Ages

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Cary Grant just demonstrated this week that—at 59—he's still the champ glamour boy . . . that age hasn't much to do with masculine attractiveness. Grant went to a cocktail party to help his friend, Major Riddle of the Las Vegas Dunes, launch his book, "The Weekend Gamblers' Handbook." The women there . . . teenagers, middle-agers, and old-agers . . . stood around gasping for breath. When he left, the females said, sadly, "Let's go; what are we hanging around for?" Later Arline Francis (now of "Tchin-Tchin") remarked, "They don't seem to make men like that any more—not with his kind of grace and looks and charm and style." (Oh, I don't know!)

WILSON Eighteen-year-old Brenda Lee's honeymoon with Ronnie Shacklett is a great success—playing her first NY cafe, she captured the Copacabana with all the authority of a Sophie Tucker. What stage presence. Only 4-feet-11, she took complete command of the toughest room in the country, in a way that must have left her bridegroom, watching from a nearby table, pretty impressed with the kind of star she's going to be when she gets a few years on her.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A big Hollywood TV star is all mixed up—his sponsor wants him back next year, but his wife dropped him.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Do you remember, sighs Herb Sherry, when you could put a kid through college for what it now takes to put him through summer camp?

EARL'S PEARLS: Tact is the ability to make your blind date think she got the worst of it.

Embattled Producer David Merrick was named in a poll as one of America's best dressed men. A reporter asked how many suits he had, and Merrick answered: "What kind do you mean—settled or pending?" That's earl, brother.

Red Cross Chief to Quit

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther says he plans to retire as president of the American Red Cross next March 31. Gruenther, who will be 65 March 3, has been head of the Red Cross since Jan. 1, 1957.

Detroit Firm Offers Low Airport Bid

LANSING (AP) — A Detroit electrical contracting firm, W. D. Gale, Inc., has submitted the apparent low bid of $329,628.04 for extensive lighting work on the new Kent County airport cascade site, the state aeronautics director reports.

Director James Ramsey said the project includes two features new to Michigan airports: centerline runway lights placed about 25 feet apart, and high speed turnoff taxiways with centerline lights 12½ feet apart.

It's White Carpet Wedding

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — Love conquers all, even city traffic.

City officials yesterday granted a request to reroute traffic from busy Academy Avenue for a short time next Saturday.

The request was from Dennis Cabral and Palma Mastrostefano who plan to be married Saturday in Blessed Sacrament Church, located across Academy Avenue from the bride's home.

Miss Mastrostefano will walk from her home to the church on a white carpet stretched across the street.

Second Series May Overlap

Networks Consider Two-Show Combos

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — In the very high network and film studio echelons, executives are quietly considering the feasibility of having Dr. Gillespie of NBC's "Dr. Kildare" series refer an occasional patient to psychiatrist Stark of NBC's "11th Hour" series next season.

* * *

Result of this procedure—novel in television if not in real life—would be to provide a two-part medical drama played out on different series.

If it works, we may well be treated to a whole new cycle of intra-television, inter-locking entertainment—"Ben Casey" sending his neurosurgery patients to the psychiatrists of the new "Breaking Point" series or vice-versa; lawyers Lawrence and Kenneth Preston of "The Defenders" getting their clients acquitted and then sending them on to "The Nurses" for after care.

ABC, which has a pair of matching programs called "Arrest" and "Trial" scheduled for next season, is planning something along these lines. These related shows on Sunday nights will tell the story of a man-hunt in the first 45-minute segment, followed by a second 45-minute show about the same man's courtroom experiences.

One can only imagine the possibilities of such a vague. A fellow who had narrowly escaped hanging on "Bonanza" could ride off into the sunset—to join "Wagon Train" three days later. Or Marshal Dillon could bring his desperado, caught during Saturday's "Gunsmoke," before "The Virginian's" Judge Garth the following Wednesday.

Cross-references are not exactly new to television. They were favorite devices of the Warner Brothers when they were turning out television detective stories in wholesale lots for ABC.

Often the "Hawaiian Eyes" received jobs from the "77 Sunset Strip" gumshoes. When "Bourbon Street Beat" sank in its channel, a surviving member of the detective partnership moved from New Orleans to join the Hollywood firm—for just one season.

* * *

There are advantages in tying together shows in their way but there are big problems in pulling it off. For one thing, there might be a sponsor conflict and networks hate to plug shows on a rival network. Film studios avoid references to the product of another.

Plan Osteopath's College

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Plans for a new $30-million Michigan osteopathic college campus in Detroit, Grand Rapids or Flint were disclosed here today.

* * *

The House of Delegates, governing body of the Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons (MAOPS), unanimously approved the project.

The MAOPS is concluding its 64th annual conference.

Financing details and a project starting date on the college will be announced soon at a kickoff dinner, MAOPS officials said.

The proposed Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine would include a 600-bed teaching hospital, a research center, dormitories, a school of nursing and administrative buildings on 80 acres of land.

Dr. Donald L. Cummings of Grand Rapids, chairman of the College Development Committee, said:

"Our decision to implement this program was not a hasty one. It is based on a three-year study which carefully considered such important questions as financing, location, faculty recruitment, student potential and operational costs."

Flash Flames Kill 3 Aboard N-Submarine

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Demands for an investigation were voiced today after a flash fire of undetermined origin killed three workers aboard the nuclear submarine Flasher Tuesday.

Two workers were injured, one critically.

* * *

The Flasher, an attack submarine of the Thresher class, caught fire at the docks of its builder, the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp.

The accident is not expected to delay the Flasher's launching, scheduled for June 22.

* * *

The Thresher disappeared in the Atlantic Ocean April 10 with 129 men aboard.

"All submarines of this class should be given a thorough going over," Rep. William L. St. Onge, D-Conn., said in Washington.

He asked that an investigation be undertaken at once to determine whether sabotage or possible defects in construction methods was responsible.

Jay Gould, the American railroad magnate who died in 1892, was a country store clerk in his youth.

Job Is Offered to Negro Pilot

Court Rules Airlines Can't Discriminate

DENVER (AP) — Marlon D. Green says he is delighted to be offered a job that would make him the first Negro pilot for a United States airline.

* * *

The offer was made yesterday by Continental Airlines, two weeks after the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that states can forbid discriminatory hiring by interstate carriers.

Green's contention that he was denied a job by Continental solely because he is a Negro was upheld by the Colorado Anti-Discrimination Commission.

Continental appealed, challenging the commission's authority. It also denied Green's accusation.

* * *

Green, 33, said he would accept Continental's job "if Mr. Taylor (T. Rayber Taylor of Denver, Green's attorney) and I judge that we have here a bona fide offer of employment."

Green left the Air Force in 1957 after learning that major airlines had agreed to bar racial discrimination in hiring flight crews.

"The irony," he said, "is that Continental is not one of the major airlines that signed the agreement."

* * *

Green said he made more than 600 job applications, including 35 airlines, among them Pan-American, Trans World, Eastern, American and United.

"The case against Continental," Green said, "was processed with deliberate speed, whereas the others were not."

He said antidiscrimination commissions in New York, Michigan, Washington state and "the President's committee on government contracts fiddled around with the facts which I presented regarding the airlines."

Romney Proclaims Days of Railmen, Romanians

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has proclaimed May 8 as Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers day and May 10 as Romanian Day in Michigan.

Romney urged a salute to the Brotherhood of Engineers, founded 100 years ago in Detroit, and recognition of the part people of Romanian descent have played in the fight for freedom.
