

Further Upswing in Economy Seen by Heads of GM

By DAVID J. WILKIE

NEW YORK (AP) — There is tangible evidence that consumer confidence is reviving, General Motors' top chief executive officer said today.

In an address prepared for delivery at a meeting of 550 top business leaders, Frederic G. Donner, GM board chairman, said that as confidence increases there will be further improvement in employment and industrial activity.

It will also bring, he said, "a year of substantially increased volume" for the automobile industry.

The meeting was one of a series preceding the opening of the General Motors Motorama here Thursday.

GM Has Reached No Decision Yet on Smaller Car

NEW YORK (AP) — John F. Gordon, president of General Motors Corp., said today that GM has not yet definitely decided to produce a smaller car in its U. S. factories.

Gordon made the assertion in welcoming newsmen and others to the first press conference of the new top management team of GM held here. It was a preliminary to the opening later this week of the General Motors Motorama.

Along with Frederic D. Donner, board chairman and chief executive officer of the corporation, he explained some of the objectives of the corporation's small car studies.

"I know you would like me to tell you which way the cat is going to jump—or even when," Gordon said in anticipating a question about the small car. "I'm sorry that is impossible to say as yet."

"All I can say is that we have not yet reached the point of no return."

General Motors, along with Ford and Chrysler, has been carrying on preliminary studies of the small car market for the last several years.

Bomb Damages Peoria Temple

Early Morning Blast Shatters Windows at Illinois Synagogue

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — A crude bomb hurled at the annex of a Jewish temple early today fell into an outside stairwell, exploded and shattered several windows in the three-story structure.

Damage to the rear annex of the Anshai Emeth Temple was termed "very small" by Rabbi Joseph Ginsberg, who serves the 700-member congregation. No one was in the temple or annex at the time, and there were no injuries.

"Nothing like this has ever happened here before," said Rabbi Ginsberg. "The local situation with regard to our relations with the community has always been very good."

Police said the bomb was fashioned from a two-inch pipe several inches long with a two-foot fuse attached. The stairwell where it landed leads into the annex basement. Police reported the bombing had occurred about 12:30 a.m.

Robert Briscoe, former Jewish lord mayor of Dublin, will address a gathering at the Agudas Achim Synagogue in Peoria tonight, but Rabbi Ginsberg said he did not see any connection between the Briscoe appearance and the bombing.

The temple, built in 1895, is five blocks from Peoria's downtown section. The annex was constructed in the 1920s, Rabbi Ginsberg said.

Police disclosed today they have corroborated a suspect's statement that a bomb plot against the Atlanta (Ga.) Jewish Temple was hatched at a meeting of an anti-Semitic underground organization here last May 5.

Officers have the names of the five men who attended the meeting.

Authorities appeared to be on the verge of cracking wide open a terror attack on Jewish synagogues and temples in the South.

Local authorities, working hand in hand with the FBI, were confident they were on the right track of a solution.

2 More Rockets Hinted in Offing for Air Force

Venus May Be Next; Nov. 7 Reported Date for Next Moon Try

NEW YORK (AP) — The Air Force was reported today to have been authorized to launch two space probes in addition to the three lunar shots originally assigned it last spring.

A Los Angeles dispatch to the New York Times said informed sources revealed this Monday.

One is likely to be an attempt to gather scientific data in the vicinity of the planet Venus, it was reported.

The Times story also said in part:

It was revealed also that the Air Force has tentatively scheduled Nov. 7 as the date for its next attempt to send a rocket around the moon.

This firing would be the last of three lunar shots originally assigned to the Air Force last spring.

Air Force officials declined comment on the disclosure that two more space missions have been authorized, or on the November schedule for the next lunar firing.

Informants said the two additional launchings were authorized about two months ago and will be carried out after the first of the year.

The nearest Earth and Venus come to one another as they circle in their respective orbits around the sun is 26 million miles. The nearest the moon and earth come together is about 221,500 miles.

Failure of the Air Force Pioneer missile to reach the area of the moon has been attributed to a three-degree error in trajectory.

In Washington today, the Defense Department and Air Force both admitted they committed what was probably a historic blunder Saturday when they announced that the "Pioneer" moon rocket had escaped the pull of earth's gravity.

About 90 minutes after the rocket was launched from Cape Canaveral, and when it was some 20,000 miles above the earth's surface, a previously prepared press release was issued proudly asserting that the lunar probe rocket was "the first man-made object known to escape the earth's gravitational field."

It was no such thing. And officials acknowledged today it was never intended to escape from gravity since it was headed for the moon which itself is within the earth's gravitational influence.

The blunder was a sample of difficulties encountered in handling the sensational rocket launching. Some reporters and several officials considered that information on the whole lunar probe program could have been handled better and faster.

'Moon Rocket Failed'

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda wrote off Pioneer today under a headline which read "The American moon rocket has failed."

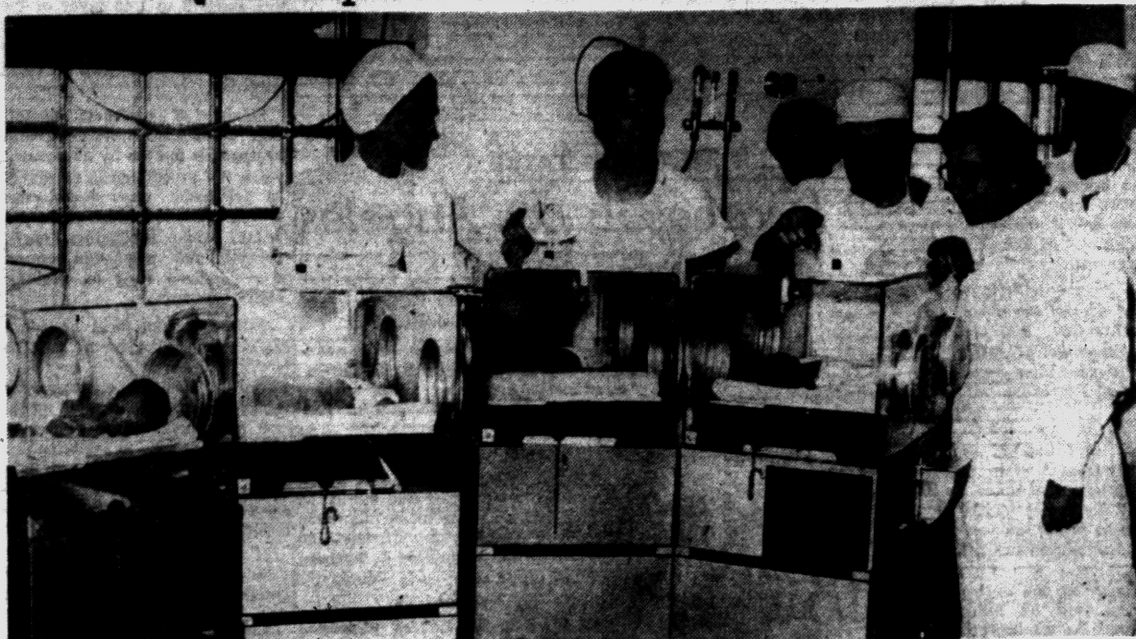

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — The University of Michigan has made an "absolute minimum" budget request of $36,788,270 for next year.

Quadruplets Remain in Incubators

4 Girls Believed Identical

Clawson Quads Gaining

DETROIT (AP) — The 1½-day-old Ullman quadruplet girls were doing well today, each in her own incubator.

At Northwest Grace Hospital, where the girls were born Sunday night, doctors prepared to determine whether they are identical. Tests were arranged.

"They appear to be identical," Mrs. Ullman, whose husband said Dr. Jean M. Holdredge, staff pediatrician.

The four — Helen, Martha, Marion and Catherine, each four pounds at birth — were born to Mrs. Julia Ullman, 40, herself a twin and mother of two other children, ages 1 and 2½.

Doctors said the babies may be kept in the incubators three to four weeks until they weigh five pounds.

Ullman admitted his five-room, one-floor ranch house in Clawson would be "a little crowded."

"But we have three bedrooms," the happy father said, "and we'll make out all right."

"I can't tell them apart," Mrs. Ullman said. "I'm going to have to keep the tags on them for quite a while."

"They all had wonderful, healthy cries."

The babies were born a month and a half premature, the third set of quadruplets in Detroit. But, records show that in one case all quads died soon after birth and in the other case two of the quads died.

Chances of giving birth to quadruplets are about one in 750,000. Had they expected four children? Doctors told Julia and Charles to expect multiple birth after taking X-rays about a month ago.

"I thought maybe twins, perhaps triplets," Mrs. Ullman said. "Certainly not four."

There were seven new settlements late yesterday and last night.

The GM strikers have been out on local issues since the Oct. 2 settlement of the national contract with the United Auto Workers which provided an estimated wage increase of 24 to 30 cents spread over three years.

Chrysler's latest settlements of wildcat walkout put a full force to work following last week's idleness for 15,000 employees.

The company and the UAW continued to negotiate separate contract clauses for 8,000 salaried office workers and engineers. UAW President Walter Reuther and Chrysler Vice President John D. Leary headed the bargaining teams.

GM reported these settlements over the last 24 hours: (location, plant and number of employees in that order).

Detroit, Ternstedt, 3,950; Saginaw, Chevrolet Transmission, 1,046; Grand Rapids, Fisher Body, 2,150; Marion, Ind., Fisher Body, 2,100; Bedford, Ind., Fabricast Division, 780; Kokomo, Ind., Delco Radio, 3,250; Anderson, Ind., Guide Lamp, 3,400.

GM President John F. Gordon said he was "confident" the strikes would be ended by Oct. 20, the date for ratification of the corporation's new contract with the UAW.

Supreme Court Upholds Ruling on Big Project

$5 Million Farmington Job Gets Green Light in 4-4 Decision

Michigan Supreme Court justices, splitting 4-4, have given the Oakland County Department of Public Works another shot in the arm by ruling it can legally proceed with the contested Farmington sewage disposal system.

The high court "affirmed by equal division" a decision of the late Oakland Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick when he denied an injunction to a West Bloomfield attorney which would have upset the $4,900,000 project.

The judge ruled matters of health far outweighed the rigid provisions of the 15-mill taxing limitation under which townships are bound.

Irving I. Cohn, of 3777 Interlaken Dr., sued in March as a taxpayer saying, in effect, the 1957 act under which the project was being created was unconstitutional.

He said West Bloomfield and Farmington Townships, participating communities, would have to tax above the 15 mills to reimburse the county for constructing the system.

Justice Leonard W. Carr, who wrote the opinion affirming Judge Hartrick's decision, said there was no proof that the townships would have to exceed this limit to meet their contractual obligations, taking into account other available revenue sources.

Justice Eugene F. Black, one of four justices seeking to reverse the lower court decision, said the 15-mill limitation has been "bruised, beaten and backed to the brink of sterile and forceless words."

"I'm gratified," was the comment from Harold K. Schone, director of the county DPW when he learned the green light had been given to the project.

But Schone said he would have to wait to read the full opinion before knowing whether it permitted other department projects, tied up by the appeal of Cohn's, to go ahead or not.

Symbolic Coffin Is Center of Requiem for Pope Today

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Requiem services for Pope Pius XII continued today before a symbolic coffin in St. Peter's Basilica as more cardinals arrived to elect his successor.

The late pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church was buried Monday in the grotto beneath St. Peter's. An empty coffin was placed in the church for mourning Masses that continue through Sunday.

The titular Bishop of Adana, Msgr. Diego Venini, stepped before the coffin in the Chapel of the Chorus and celebrated today's Mass.

On Sunday, when the nine-day mourning period ends, the cardinals will receive special envoys of foreign governments paying their respects to the late Pope.

The U.S. envoys will be Secretary of State Dulles, former Ambassador to Italy Clare Boothe Luce and John A. McCone, director of the Atomic Energy Commission.

About a dozen cardinals were expected to arrive today to join the 28 already in the Vatican. All but two of the 55 cardinals probably will be here for the conclave beginning Oct. 25 to elect a new pope. The two who won't make it are Alojzije Cardinal Stepinac of Yugoslavia and Josef Cardinal Mindszenty of Hungary.

Man on Moon in 12 Years

CHICAGO (AP) — Man will be on the moon in 12 years, predicts Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, Army missile chief.

Medaris, commanding general of the U.S. Army Missile Command in Huntsville, Ala., made the prediction at a news conference at the National Electronics Conference.

After calling the Air Force rocket moon a spectacular success, Medaris said the Army is right on schedule with a moon shot of its own.

He said chances are about 50-50 the Army moon shot will get into the area of the moon.

He added that chances are not good the rocket, using a Jupiter ballistic rocket for the first stage, will orbit the moon.

Medaris said the Army intends to have more ground control over its shot. This indicated the Army may be able to make in-flight corrections in direction.

Chinese Keeping Island Strength

Nationalists Not Ready to Reduce Garrisons Across From Reds

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Vice President Chen Cheng said today the Nationalists will not reduce the strength of their garrisons on the off-shore islands.

Chen told the newspaper Ta Hwa (Great China) Evening News the Communist buildup in areas facing the islands was for purposes of offense. For this reason, he said, the Nationalist garrisons could not be cut.

Chen's statement came amid reports from Washington that the United States would press Nationalist President Chiang Kai-shek to reduce the off-shore island garrisons.

The Nationalists reportedly will not consider any sizable withdrawal unless the United States gives unequivocal guarantees of immediate intervention if the Reds attack the weakened outposts.

The United States has not been willing to do this so far. Washington's idea reportedly is to give Chiang's forces more firepower and better weapons so they can defend the islands with less troops.

This presumably was urged by U.S. Defense Secretary Neil McElroy in two conferences with the Nationalist President Monday.

Local Man Ist to Beat Champion

A first was recorded in Pontiac last night when a 40-year-old General Motors Truck & Coach worker became the first player ever to beat blindfold chess and checkers champion Newell W. Banks during his annual exhibitions here.

Delos A. Dunham, of 272 Cottage St., was successful for the first time in many years in a game of checkers with Banks in an exhibition held at the Adah Shelly Branch Library.

Dunham had played to many draws with Banks in previous matches here, but this was his first victory.

Gaining draws with Banks Monday night were Dunham's father, Robert E., 61, of the same address, and Clair Atwood, 60, of 671 W. Stirling Ave., and Dwight Fisher, 61, of 800 N. Leroy St., Fenton.

Last night represented the fourth year in which the elder Dunham and Fisher had played to draws, while it was the second year for Atwood.

Banks came out the winner in 15 chess games; he played and won another nine checkers contests. The exhibition was sponsored by the Pontiac Chess and Checkers Club.

Campaigning for Election:

Bagwell Wants Improved Economy; More School Funds Concern Williams

By The Associated Press
Gov. Williams championed more money for education and Paul D. Bagwell, an improved economic climate for Michigan in campaign speeches Monday.

Expounding on now familiar themes, Democrat Williams made a series of speeches in Detroit and Republican Bagwell, his rival for the governorship, did likewise in Bay City.

Elsewhere on the out-state campaign trail Republican Sen. Charles E. Potter cracked at Harry Truman the day after the former Democratic president made his Michigan visit.

Potter, denouncing Democratic administrations as a cause of higher prices, said in a talk at Petoskey that "if any one man can be called the architect of the high cost of living" it would be Truman.

The senator, fighting to retain his seat against the bid of Democratic Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, made comparisons of what he said were the price rises during Democratic and Republican administrations.

Potter said that in the seven years Truman was in the White House prices went up 50 per cent. He said they have increased only 8 per cent in the six years of the Republican administration.

Williams, in one of his Detroit speeches, said he would "keep pounding" for an institute of science and technology at the University of Michigan which the last legislature refused him.

The Governor, talking to an audience at the University of Detroit, charged the Republican-controlled legislature with having pursued a "dangerous" policy toward public education.

He said the legislature short-changed Michigan's future by cutting the budgets of institutions of higher learning. He said the state will need a science and technology institute in order for education to keep pace with its requirements and for the state to meet industry's needs for its "new age."

"The progress of Michigan tomorrow depends on the support of education today," Williams said.

At Bay City, Bagwell repeated a request to Williams to join with him in setting up an impartial committee for the study of the economic situation in Michigan.

The Republican standard bearer said that Williams has failed to support the State Economic Development Commission in its work with industry although the agency has spent two million dollars in the last 10 years.

Bagwell said Michigan has lost automobile plants to other states, adding, "If the administration had taken an interest in these problems six or eight years ago we might have some of the answers now."

Bagwell said that by 1975 the state's population will have increased by one million and in order to accommodate this new industry must be brought in and present industry expanded.

Rio Grande Threatens Texas

91 Degrees in Los Angeles

By United Press International
More showers were predicted Tuesday for the Rio Grande Valley where three weeks of heavy rains have sent the rampaging river toward a new flood crest.

Workers toiled around the clock to open a relief channel which would divert the floodwaters into the Gulf of Mexico before they reached Brownsville, Tex., and caused major flooding.

A late summer heat wave blanketed southern California and heavy smog added to the discomfort of residents in Los Angeles.

Elsewhere, most of the nation enjoyed fair, mild weather, although a pocket of cold air in the northeast dropped readings into the 20s in northern New England and near or below freezing in northern New York State early Tuesday.

Work began Monday digging a mile long, four-foot deep trench from the Rio Grande to an untried floodway to divert the river water to the Gulf.

Some flooding occurred in Brownsville Monday in the wake of a four-inch downpour while Harlingen, Tex., was soaked with a two-inch rainfall.

In Los Angeles, the mercury shot to 91 degrees Monday in the area's second early autumn heat wave. The normal temperature in the city for this time of year is 77 degrees. Another hot day was predicted for Tuesday.

A warming trend occurred during the night from the upper and middle Mississippi Valley east into the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley and parts of the middle Atlantic coast.

The heaviest rain during the night occurred in the southwest in parts of Arizona and New Mexico and into western Texas and the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Some drizzle and fog were reported in the northern Great Lakes and light showers spattered parts of Pennsylvania and Maryland.

Weathermen predicted fair skies over most of the country Tuesday.

Further Business Gain Seen by GM Heads

few could afford to own one."

He described the recent three-year agreement negotiated between General Motors and its workers as "reasonable and constructive from a business standpoint and fair and equitable from an employee standpoint."

Donner and Gordon indicated at a news conference yesterday that the recession is definitely on the way out.

The conference, a prelude to the Motorama, was the first full-scale meeting with the press for the new GM management team. "I don't know that we are in a recession now," Donner said when asked why GM had revived the huge show at a time of recession. "As we take a look at various indices they all seem to be pointing up. I think the Motorama timing was pretty good."

Donner said he agreed with other car makers who have predicted 1959 sales of approximately 5 1/2 million cars. "You can include in that figure or drop out expected sales of foreign-made cars," he said. He gave no estimate of imported car sales, but other industry experts have put the figure as high as 400,000 units. Donner said GM has been importing 3,600 of its European-built cars monthly.

Donner said car prices would not have to be readjusted because of the agreement with the United Auto Workers. The terms of the agreement, he added, were not inflationary.

5,000 Due Back at GMC Here

12-Day Strike Officially Ends With 9-1 Vote to Return by Union Men

The 12-day strike at GMC Truck & Coach Division was over today after new three-year contracts won overwhelming approval at a UAW Local 594 ratification meeting last night.

Approximately 600 union members voted 9 to 1 in favor of the national GM contract and the local wage and seniority agreements which negotiators settled on early yesterday.

Signing of contracts meant that about 5,000 workers would be back on the job by tomorrow, when full production is expected to get under way. Some employees were to report for work today, while production, engineering and inspection crews were ordered back on regular shifts tomorrow.

Andrew Wilson, local president, called the new contracts "satisfactory."

Earl A. Maxwell, company personnel director, commented on the new agreement saying the major change made was in seniority provisions, and that "both the company and union feel these provisions improved over the last document we had."

No progress was reported in negotiations at Fisher Body and Pontiac Motor divisions, which have been idled over local issues since Oct. 2.

A membership meeting of Fisher Body Local 596, UAW, was scheduled for 11 a. m. Saturday in Lincoln Junior High School auditorium. Gerald W. Kehoe, local president, said he would ask for ratification of the national contract at the meeting.

Try to Halt Cut of Judges' Pay

Supervisors of County Seek Lansing Sanction to Boost Salaries

Oakland County supervisors today looked to Lansing for sanction to boost circuit judge salaries back to $23,500.

Faced with a 1954 state law limiting pay on the circuit bench to $22,500, the board of supervisors yesterday reaffirmed its September decision to cut salaries $1,000 next year. The vote was 38 to 35.

Supervisor Carl Ingraham asked the county to ignore the law, saying that the attorney general had ruled it unconstitutional. But supervisors followed the recommendation of Novi Township Supervisor Fraser Stamen, salaries committee chairman.

"In view of the clear language of the act, we are obligated to follow it, despite the attorney general ruling," said Stamen.

At the same time, the board's legislative committee was asked to prepare legislation allowing the county to boost its share of the judges' salaries.

The state law does not affect the $12,500 which the state contributes to circuit judge pay, but it does hold down the county share to a maximum $10,000 a year. Oakland has been paying $11,000.

Supervisors, in other business, approved the spreading of 1958 school, county and township taxes. Totaling $50,870,307, the taxes are collectable in December for the 1959 operating year.

The only objections came from Independence and Farmington Townships, which unsuccessfully tried to appeal their county equalizations this year.

Eastern Pupils Top Winners in Ford Contest

Industrial art students at Eastern Junior High School have won 18 awards in this year's Ford Industrial Arts contest. The awards will be presented at an assembly Wednesday morning.

Students at Eastern won more awards than any other junior high school in the country, taking both first and second places in the drafting classification.

The school also won first and second in 1955 and since 1950 when Eastern first entered the nation wide contest they have won more awards than any other junior high.

Of the 18 awards, six are cash prizes and 12 are place or "gold pin" awards.

Other than the two top awards, the remaining cash prizes were for taking fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth places.

The winning students will be presented their awards by Richard Fell, head of the vocational department of the Pontiac School System. The assembly is scheduled for 8:35 a.m. in the school auditorium.

In the table of measures, a troy (a word seldom used in modern times) is one pound or twelve ounces.

The Day in Birmingham

Winter Recreation Plans Announced by Girardin

BIRMINGHAM — Winter recreation plans were announced today by Birmingham Recreation Director Robert Girardin.

The artificial rink at Eton Park will be ready for use next month, he said. Reservations may be made now for club or family skating parties.

A 15-week program at Birmingham High School gymnasium and swimming pool will get under way Nov. 3. Basketball, badminton, volleyball and other activities will be offered in the gym. An instructor in each of these sports, as well as swimming, will be on hand at all times.

The family swim program at Derby Junior High School pool will begin Nov. 6. Sessions are scheduled for each Thursday from 7 to 10 p.m.

Boys in the 13 to 17 age group have until the end of the month to sign up for the hockey leagues, Girardin said.

Marty Pavelich, former Detroit Red Wing star, will conduct hockey clinics for boys nine years old and up each Monday.

Girardin reminded fencers that Istvan Danosi, internationally known instructor, is available to instruct a class in Birmingham. Registrations for all recreational activities may be made at the Recreation Office in the Municipal Building.

William T. Schusterbauer, representing the 11 families in the Brookside alley paving district, thanked city commissioners last night after they approved a petition for equal assessments. The work will be done in the spring.

Thanks also came from Irvin Cohn after his rezoning request was granted. Cohn plans to build multiple dwelling units in the Woodward Avenue-Colonial Court area.

The project had been delayed because the rear of his property had been zoned for single-family use.

Commissioners took no action on City Manager L. R. Gare's proposed changes in the open lot zoning ordinance. The matter was turned over to the Planning Board to study and report.

Thursday will mark the 35th anniversary dinner of the Birmingham Business Women's Club when it meets at Devon Gables.

Mrs. Louise Cobb will present the club's history. Past presidents will be honored and new officers installed.

Birmingham alumnae of Kappa Alpha Theta will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. Christian Beukema, 441 N. Glenhurst Rd., Birmingham. Highlight of the meeting will be a silent auction in which members will do bidding in writing.

Mrs. Max Tunnicliffe, national vice president, will report on the summer convention held last June in Pennsylvania.

Car Hits Tree on M15; Midland Couple Hurt

A Midland couple was injured Monday when their auto struck a tree on M15 north of Clakston, according to State Police.

Joseph Thatcher, 41, is reported in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital today. He suffered fractures of the jaw, cheek bone and nose, police said. His wife, Eleanor, 39, who was driving, was treated for minor injuries and released.

She told police she saw traffic stopped for road repairs ahead of her as she came over a hill crest. She hit the brakes and skidded off the road into the tree, said troopers.

GIRL BEHIND THE BADGE—Alluring Lura Patricia Counts, 28, demonstrates to a reporter her proficiency with night stick and handcuffs after her appointment as police chief of Aurora, Ill. Aurora's embattled Mayor Paul Egan attempted to fire the entire city police force, including its chief — a man — but was not backed up by the city council, ended up naming Miss Counts as chief.

Cagelings Flee Tiffany's; Broadway Goes Wild West

Birds and Bull Make Bid for Freedom

NEW YORK (AP)—Animal antics had New Yorkers asking about the birds and the bull Monday.

First, eight tropical birds being unloaded for window display at Tiffany's jewelry store in midtown fluttered from their cages in a kaleidoscopic splash of brilliant color.

The birds escaped to a freedom that will probably prove fatal in the frosty October climate of the city.

STAGES SOLO ACT

Monday night, a Brahma bull which had just participated in the rodeo at Madison Square Garden went into a 1,600-pound act of his own.

As he was being herded with other bulls into a basement pen, he leaped through a side door and romped into the gray yawning canyons of steel and concrete on Manhattan's West Side.

Pedestrians went his way and that away in a hurry.

Rodeo rider Dan Taylor, Dublin, Tex., mounted a crafty cow horse named Hines and armed with a lasso gave pursuit. He finally roped the bull near Broadway.

FLYING HIGH

The birds still on the loose are two African paradise pintails with eight-inch tail plumes; a pair of paradise whydahs also from Africa; two Napoleon weavers; and a couple of fire finches, from Australia.

They came from the private aviary of Edward Marshall Boehm and his wife, of Washington's Crossing, N.J. The birds were to be on exhibit in Tiffany's to brighten a display of Boehm's ceramic sculptures.

Presents
Belong to Girl

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: My son and his wife were married only a very short time when they found that they were not suited to each other and are having the marriage annulled. His wife lived in this town only a short while before her marriage and did not have too many friends. Most of the wedding presents she received came from our friends and relatives. Many of these presents haven't even been used.

"Our friends do not want their presents returned to them but they feel that my son should have them. Would it be proper for him to ask for them? It doesn't seem fair that she should keep the expensive rings and all of the gifts too, while he gets nothing."

Answer: Considering the fact that the presents came from his friends and relatives, it would be only fair to return the presents she received from them to him. But if she chooses to claim them, strictly speaking she has a right to keep them as they were sent to her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: One of the secretaries in my husband's office did a favor for him recently and to show his appreciation he bought her a pin for a present. I do not think that this was a proper present to give in this situation and that something more impersonal such as candy, writing paper, etc., would have been in better taste. What do you think?"

Answer: You are quite right, an impersonal present would have been in much better taste.

Colorful, Versatile, Easy to Sew

Sheerest Wool Is a First for Fall

The first fall dress is traditionally one of the finest, sheerest wool—and this season is no exception.

For the home sewing set, we suggest one of the designs below in Signal Red Rosella, a crispy, easy-to-handle worsted crepe by Forstmann.

Rosella is a fabric used by top-flight designers season after season. It's a practical fabric for home sewing—because it's versatile. As you can see, it looks equally well in a shirtwaister, trapeze, sheath or two-piece lightweight suit.

EASY TO MAKE

And the patterns are simple to handle and easy to sew. For despite their smartness, they are simply constructed and each pattern includes Pat-O-

Rama, a visual assembly guide which enables you to sew with ease and assurance.

All patterns illustrated are from the current issue of Fashion, a magazine for women who sew. Any of the patterns below may be ordered separately. To order, send 35 cents each for patterns No. 8155, No. 8227 and No. 8228, and $1 for F-18, to Sue Barnett, The Pontiac Press, 1150 Avenue of the Americas, New York 36, New York.

Dear Abby . . .

Brother Is Doing OK,
So Live and Let Live!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: The following, concerning my sister-in-law, may sound absurd but it is true. My brother earns over $8,000 a year, but by the way my sister-in-law hangs on to every nickel, you'd think they were on welfare. When the kids take a bath she throws in socks and towels to be washed along with the kids, to take full advantage of the soap suds.

"You could break your neck in her house because she is too cheap to keep a light burning anywhere excepting where they are sitting. She uses a hand sweeper because it costs money to plug in the vacuum. I could go on and on. I told my brother he should talk to her, but he says to mind my own business as he's the one who has to live with her."

TOLD OFF

DEAR TOLD: When you can get such sterling advice from your brother, you don't need me.

"DEAR ABBY: What is a husband supposed to do when his own wife sides with their two teenage boys against him? We have been eating either hamburgers or hot dogs for Sunday supper every Sunday for three years. Why? Because the boys like them.

"I travel and eat home only two nights a week. They will not eat steaks or chops or chicken, although I pay the bills and never said anything was too high. But my wife won't fix it. When I complain they say, 'Let's take a vote' and I'm outvoted three to one. Can you solve this?"

OUTVOTED

DEAR OUT: You are out of luck unless you cart home a single steak and fix it yourself. If you hadn't given an inch at a time, you'd still be the ruler."

"DEAR ABBY: There is no sense in telling a girl who is in love with a married man to have a talk with her clergyman, a psychologist or anybody else. A person who is in love is stricken with a disease and nothing can cure her except time. I ought to know. I spent 22 years of my life on a married man. I wish someone would have given me a good swift kick in the pants. It wasn't worth it."

SORRY

DEAR SORRY: TIME does not cure all diseases, but when the "sickness" is an emotional one (and love is) the only answer is to find a doctor who will help you to understand your emotions. You could have saved yourself 22 years and a kick in the pants.

"DEAR ABBY: Please don't laugh at my problem as it is very hard to figure out. For me at least, my girl friend sent me her picture. She wrote across the bottom, 'Yours, till eternity. Love, Doris.' Only she spelled 'eternity' 'iter-nuty.' A few people have noticed this and I am embarrassed. Should I send it back to her and ask her to correct it? Should I try to correct it myself or should I ditch the picture?"

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: If you can't correct it quietly yourself, send it back to her and ask her to correct it. She'd feel worse if she found out you ditched the picture. (P.S. — Buy her a dictionary for Christmas.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO MISS SHUGA: A man who will step out on his wife (to whom he has given his sacred vow to love and cherish until death) certainly would not hesitate to lie to you. Get wise!

Gail Barber

The couple will be married Saturday at First Congregational Church.

But Liz doesn't mind. She likes men almost as much as men like her. And that, above all, is the reason for the greatest joys — and tragedies — in her life.

It is a far more important reason, for instance, than the legend that she has a "father complex"—a legend which is exploded by a careful look at the ages of the men she has dated.

"Just show Liz a man over 45, and she flips," a friend once said.

But Eddie Fisher, who announced he was leaving Debbie Reynolds after dating Liz, is only 30—four years older than the raven-haired beauty.

Arthur Loew Jr., whom she also dated since the death of her husband, Mike Todd, in a plane crash last spring, is a young man.

TODD WAS OLDER

True, Todd and her second husband, Mike Wilding (43 to her 23 when he married her), fitted the "father" legend.

But Liz was only 24 when he became her first mate. And football hero Glenn Davis and William Pawley Jr., son of a former ambassador to Brazil, were in their 20's when they courted her.

A statistician could go on and on pointing out that Stanley Donen, Howard Hughes and others were far older than she when they dated her.

But the only thing that stands out in any figuring is that there is no figuring Liz when it comes to men. She simply likes them all when they appeal to her.

"And what is wrong with that? That's what I want to know," said entertainer George Jessel, who spoke the eulogy over Todd's grave.

"The father complex business is nonsense. Most of our experts are too apt to get mixed up with Freud. What's wrong with a normal, healthy instinct?"

Nothing, in general, anybody would agree. But in particular, Liz—who was never deprived of any material asset during a plush upbringing in England and Hollywood—has managed to get herself involved with men who sometimes were otherwise involved at the time.

USED TO 'EVERYTHING'

"It's nothing intentional or mischievous on her part," says a close friend. "It's just that she's so used to having everything she wants that she never considers the fact that she can't have something. And with her beauty, nobody else stands a chance."

Until now, the men in Liz' life have not slowed her ascent as a star. And it's doubtful if even her alleged involvement with Fisher at the time of his marriage to Debbie will hurt her.

"Liz is a motion picture actress and should be judged as that alone," said Jessel.

As a performer, she is in greater demand than ever. Only days after the Eddie-Debbie breakup, she signed a contract to make "Two for the Seesaw" for $500,000 and 10 per cent of the gross.

She has come a long way from the girl who was awarded a trophy by the Harvard Lampoon for "so gallantly persisting in her career despite her total inability to act."

If, as the bright boys say, there is no such thing as bad publicity, then the Widow Todd is a genius. Continued success seems a certainty in her future—almost as certain as the men who will help her enjoy it.

For Heaven's Sake! Why Not Look Neat

By RUTH MILLETT

A girl who hasn't yet got her man writes: "In a recent column you said that women ought to pay more attention to how they look when they are around home, buying their groceries at the supermarket, and around town.

"But I keep asking myself, is it so important? Do the details of dress matter so very much?

"It seems to me that the people who are really alive, know how to live, do something with the abilities within them, are not the ones who care about the way they look every minute of the day and night. They are too busy getting things done, looking after someone else's interests, learning to get along with and understanding people, making someone happy.

"You've got to be pretty self-centered to always stop to consider if everything matches, is perfectly becoming, exactly suitable, hair at its best and face on just right.

"Maybe I'm wrong, but I think you'll find the correctly dressed, neatly arranged, spick and span gals among the old maids — not the married ones.

"You see, I'm the kind who can't go out to the garbage can without being sure that every hair is in place. But being careful to always look 'just so' hasn't got me a husband."

I thoroughly agree that the woman who is nothing but a clothes horse isn't likely to get much fun out of life, have a lot of friends, or to be especially attractive to men.

But a woman doesn't have to be a clothes horse or self-consciously concerned with how she looks every minute of the day to look neat and appropriately dressed for whatever she happens to be doing.

For the life of me I can't see any excuse for a woman to run around a shopping center with her hair in pin curls and with shirt-tail flapping over rumpled shorts or to tight jeans.

A blouse and skirt are just as comfortable, just as inexpensive, and just as quick to get into.

Any woman ought to have too much pride to run around in public with curlers in her hair.

Looking your best may not as yet have captured you a husband. But when you get one, looking as well as you can will certainly help you hold him.

A wool coat, suit or dress will lose its "wear wrinkles" if allowed to rest for 24 hours after each wearing.

A Bowl of Soup for Mrs. Jones!

Of course, not everybody is going to observe Sweetest Day by taking a bowl of hot soup to a neighbor who's confined to the house or alone and ill—but it's typical of the sort of thoughtfulness we mean when we speak of the spirit of Sweetest Day.

Your particular way of observing Sweetest Day may be a long postponed letter to a friend or relative, a visit that you "just couldn't get around to," or an unexpected gift—in fact, any special act of thoughtfulness is an appropriate Sweetest Day gesture.

Go out of your way to make someone else happy and Sweetest Day will be a day of happiness for you too.

Widow Plans to Appeal

Mother Sentenced to Die for Poisoning Daughter

MACON, Ga. (AP) — Plump, blonde Annette Donovan Lyles, convicted and sentenced to die for poisoning her daughter, awaited word from her attorneys today on chances for a new trial.

A Bibb County Superior Court jury convicted the 33-year-old widow of murder Monday night. Her attorneys immediately filed notice of appeal, and this automatically stayed the date of execution, which had been set for Dec. 5.

Mrs. Lyles is also accused by the state of poisoning two husbands and a mother-in-law with arsenic. She was tried only in the death of her 9-year-old daughter, Marcia Elaine Lyles.

The former restaurant owner accepted the death verdict calmly. The only visible reaction was when her alabaster skin reddened and she bit her lip.

Judge Oscar Long set a precedent when he told Mrs. Lyles she might remain seated while sentence was pronounced.

The courtroom was jammed as it had been every day of the trial. Long set a hearing on the motion for a new trial for Dec. 12.

If the buxom widow loses her appeal, she will be the first white woman to die in Georgia's electric chair. Only one woman, a Negro, has been electrocuted in this state.

The case was given to the jury at 3:27 p.m. The verdict was announced at 10:08 p.m.—an hour and 41 minutes after the jury began its deliberations.

In an unsworn statement allowed under Georgia law, Mrs. Lyles made a blanket denial of all the state's charges and in the specific case under which she was being tried, that of Marcia, maintained there was no motive.

She said she received only $1,750 from insurance while her expenses, including hospital bills, special nurses and burial, amounted to $5,000.

"I did not give my child any poison—I did not kill my child," she said.

The state charged she murdered for hate and greed.

She a "knowledgeable abnormal interest in 'root doctors, spiritual advisers and fortune tellers.'"

She said she burned seven-day candles—green for luck and money, white for peace, and red for life and once burned a black candle in attempting to break up a romance between her boy friend, airline pilot Bob Franks, and another girl.

5th Bomb Explodes in African Chapel

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—A homemade bomb exploded today in the private chapel of the Roman Catholic Bishop of Kumasi. It was the fifth such attack on the chapel.

Bishop Andrew Van Den Bronk lives less than 10 yards from the point of explosion but was unhurt. The blast ripped and scorched a carpet in front of the altar and damaged the bishop's pew.

The 55-year-old bishop said the bombs were set off in an attempt to frighten him away from his post. He blamed a group in Kumasi who think the post should be held by an African. Bishop Van Den Bronk is a Dutchman.

Find Lost Tot Alive in Kentucky Hills

MUNFORDVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A search party found 2-year-old Harold Wayne Amos unharmed about midnight, some 12 hours after he wandered into rugged cave-pocked hill country in south central Kentucky.

Several hundred volunteers joined state and local officers in the search that ended when a six-man group found the boy nestled in head-high weeds about 1½ miles from his home.

He told them, "I've been sleeping."

He was thinly clad against temperatures that dropped into the 40s, but apparently suffered no injuries except scratches.

The boy wandered away from the home of a sick neighbor near Bonnieville. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Amos, had gone to help the neighbor.

British Military Patrol Kills Greek Cypriot

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—A British military patrol killed a Greek Cypriot who failed to halt when challenged Monday night, authorities announced. The shooting occurred in Limnatis village near Limassol.

A bomb was thrown at a military patrol in Nicosia today but exploded harmlessly. Bombs thrown at a three-vehicle army convoy in the Larnaca district also failed to do any harm.

Here's What to Do in Case of an Accident

By PHYLLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK — The "average American housewife" is possessed of one delightful, but dangerous, trait.

She won't allow her mind to dwell on trouble. She has been taught, by characters like Scarlett O'Hara and her easy-going husband, to put off till tomorrow the worries she could be brooding on today.

Thanks to this blithe outlook, life among the push-buttons is somewhat pleasanter than it was in the days when grandma was afraid to open the windows on the unhealthy night air, afraid to answer the telephone on a rainy day, afraid not to worry about tomorrow.

Life is also, as Dr. John Henderson points out, more in question. As a result of the "casual outlook," housewives have only a vague idea of what to do in case of a household accident (and last year there were 4,228,000 serious ones.) And what she does know is spiced with myth and superstition.

This is national "Emergencies Can't Wait" Week. In honor of the occasion, Dr. Henderson—official first aid authority for the event—suggests that housewives take the following rules into the forefront of their crania, for easy access when accidents happen:

1. Never carry an injured person from the scene of an injury. "This causes hundreds of tragedies. Recently a little girl fell down some stairs in Elizabeth, N.J. The mother picked her up and carried her to bed. The fall had injured the child's spine. Picking her up killed her."

2. Make sure an accident victim is breathing; this is the first consideration, taking precedence even over bleeding. "Even trained first aiders become panicked and forget this. Artificial respiration, applied quickly, can bring a victim back to life. Taking time to call a doctor may prove fatal."

3. To some degree shock follows every accident. Many victims die of it, rather than of their injuries, because the person attending them doesn't understand what to do. "Relieving pain tends to reduce shock, as does placing a victim in a reclining position with his feet raised above his head. Both should be done."

4. If a child, or someone else, swallows poison, don't wait to see what will happen. A common belief is that the best thing to do is to make the victim vomit—but actually this causes increased harm in many cases. "The only sure thing that can be given immediately to all poison victims is water, which dilutes the poison. And rush them to a hospital."

Good Doc Henderson's last bit of advice is "read a recommended book on first aid. Read it carefully. Then, knowing what to do if an emergency arises, you can worry less than ever."

It's sort of like when you carry an umbrella. It never rains.

South African Beauty Now 'Miss World'

LONDON (AP)—A willowy, 18-year-old honey blonde from South Africa with 35-23-36 measurements is Miss World of 1958.

The judges picked 5-foot-7½ Penelope Anne Coelen from 20 contestants Monday night. She was a favorite all the way with the crowd.

Along with the title Penny won 500 pounds ($1,400), a beige sports car and contracts for personal appearances.

The American entry, Nancy Anne Corcoran, New York City, was among the 14 girls who didn't make the final round.

John P. Gass, Royal Oak

Clayton Passara, Roseville
William A. Sella, Berkley
Driving privileges of William M. Nitz, Royal Oak, and Thomas J. Scribner, 33 Allison St., were taken

Ford brings Thunderbird elegance to the low-price field with

THE WORLD'S MOST BEAUTIFULLY PROPORTIONED CARS

AWARDED THE GOLD MEDAL for beautiful proportions—by the Comité Français de l'Elegance at the Brussels World's Fair

The new Fords for 1959 have a casual kind of elegance—the fresh crispness of design that distinguishes the Thunderbird. They are beautifully different from all other cars—and from all other Fords. This new beauty was recognized at the Brussels World's Fair where the 59 Fords, at a special preview, received the Gold Medal of the Comité Français de l'Elegance for beautiful proportions!

They have a straight-through appearance... a clean-cut look that is very open and airy, because the entire glass area has been designed to give you the modern picture-window feeling of indoor-outdoor living. The new thin-line roof is actually a sensational engineering achievement—to give you even greater safety. Yet it has an almost delicate look, a gracefulness and openness that will make riding in any other car seem "old hat" to you.

And this easy elegance is traceable to the sporting heritage of the beautiful Ford Thunderbird. These Fords are altogether new.

But the most beautiful difference of all is money in your pocket. The 59 Fords are the stand-out buy in the low-price field. They are superbly designed to give you all the supreme beauty, comfort, power and performance that only Ford's creative engineering can bring you. And Friday—you'll be able to get that New Ford Feeling in the World's Most Beautifully Proportioned Cars—but only at your friendly Ford Dealer's.

'Choke Up' Costs Duren $250

22 Braves Charged $50 Apiece for Loose Talk

NEW YORK (AP)—Ryne Duren couldn't keep his temper and the Milwaukee Braves couldn't keep a secret.

The result? Duren is out $250 and 22 members of the Braves are out $50 apiece today as a result of punitive action by Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

Frick's wrath fell on Duren because the New York Yankee pitcher made a "choke up" gesture at umpire Charlie Berry in the 10th inning of the sixth World Series game after Johnny Logan walked.

Duren was annoyed when Berry called the fourth ball on Logan and walked from the mound and said something to the umpire. That didn't bother Frick.

But when Duren turned back to the mound, he placed his hand on his throat, the traditional "choke up" sign in baseball. The count had been 3-2 on Logan and Duren is accused by Frick of having indicated Berry didn't want to call a strike on Logan before the partisan Milwaukee crowd.

Berry said catcher Yogi Berra blocked his view of Duren, so he didn't see anything. Likewise, Charlie Segar, Frick's assistant who was running the Series in Frick's absence, said he saw nothing.

The mass fining of the Braves was move involved. It marked the first time in the history of the World Series that almost a whole team has been fined.

It came about because someone told out of class how the Braves were going to share their Series swag. This is not de rigeur. The commissioner's office insists it alone can make the announcement.

Card Tourists Win

HONOLULU (AP)—An unearned run in the fifth inning gave the touring St. Louis Cardinals a 5-4 victory over the Hawaii All Stars last night.

ANXIOUSLY WAITING — Pontiac Northern's first basketball coach Dick Hall anxiously watches and awaits the completion of the school's new cage court. Northern's first varsity team to enter competition will be the cagers. Completion date for the gym is expected by mid-November.

Athletic Staff Musters Varsity Candidates

Pontiac Northern Sports Facilities Shape Up

Construction work is still going on at Pontiac Northern High School, and even though the athletic plant is a long way from being completed, Northern's staff of coaches isn't letting the grass grow under their feet.

The varsity football coach, Ed Heikkinen, has been doing triple duties as he looks ahead to Northern's first gridiron entry in 1959 which will play a nine game schedule.

Head basketball coach Dick Hall is also watching the Northern hallways hoping to eye a few rangy prospects for his squad which will open varsity competition December 2nd at Lake Orion.

Bill Willson, who organized Pontiac Central's wrestling team, is now preparing a mat squad for Northern and he will also handle the school's golf team. Baseball will have Arnie Wilson as head coach, track will be handled by Dick Marsh and Ed Dauw is the swimming coach.

All the athletic facilities are located conveniently together in the north section of the school and grounds. Three tennis courts are already completed. The track is completed and the football practice field is already showing green growth. There will be two grid practice fields and three ball diamonds.

Other outdoor facilities included in the plans for completion by 1961 are outdoor archery, ice rink, a three hole golf layout, and on its natural terrain a ski slope.

Exit onto the outdoor athletic fields will be made from two separate wings, one with the basketball gymnasium and locker rooms and the other with swimming pool, handball courts, rifle range and intramural locker rooms.

"The layout of these facilities are wonderfully convenient," said Hall, who eagerly awaits the opening of the gym for the cage squad. Completion of the gym has been set for mid-November and till then Northern cagers will workout at Madison Junior High when practice sessions begin.

Big feature on the 16-game basketball schedule is first varsity contest between Northern and Pontiac Central, February 2nd. It will be the only meeting between the Chiefs and the Tribe from the north end to be played on the PNH court.

Northern's first basketball schedule is an ambitious one with a mixture of A and large B schools, including Lake Orion, Rochester, Grosse Pointe, Thurston, Waterford, Cranbrook, Detroit Catholic Central, Hazel Park plus PCH.

Heikkinen, Northern's head grid coach, still assists Jesse MacLeay at Pontiac Central. He helps with the scouting and he also has a 35-man squad of his own, made up of all sophomores who play a six game card with other soph teams.

The Northern sophs practice at Wisner and Heikkinen himself gathers up his yearling gridders and drives them by bus to Wisner. "All our sophomores are pretty small," said Heikkinen, "but there's a lot of spirit out there." His Tribe has Melvindale, Waterford, Lake Orion, Roseville, Cranbrook, Rochester, Hazel Park, Berkley and Pontiac Central as its 1959 schedule. The games will be played on Friday nights when PCH is on the road or on Saturday nights.

WEST JORDAN, Utah (AP)—Knockout artist Lamar Clark, 181, disposed of two opponents last night in a total of 3 minutes, 27 seconds.

Clark, of Cedar City, Utah, floored Ricky Smith, 181, of Alameda, Calif., twice, then caught him with a right hand for a knockout in 2:32 of the first round.

Then, taking only a between-rounds breather, Clark chopped down Oscar Talley, 179, of San Francisco, in 55 seconds of the first round.

Both fights had been billed for four rounds. They were Clark's 13th and 14th professional victories and his 12th and 13th knockouts.

Merry's Choice Wins Feature at Jackson

JACKSON — Merry's Choice, smartly rated by Clarence Haynes, finished strongly on the rail at Jackson Harness Raceway Monday night to hold off the late close of Solid Harmony and Zip Abbey in the featured Dearborn Pace.

A crowd of 2,531 turned out as Leon A. Slavin's half-mile trotting track opened its third week of action and became the last pari-mutuel plant now in operation in Michigan. The crowd wagered $99,716 on the nine-race program.

Rangers Call Goalie From Buffalo Club

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Rangers Monday called up goalie Marcel Paille of the Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League to fill in for the injured Gump Worsley.

6 County Teams Are Undefeated

The 1958 high school football season is four weeks old and a check of Oakland County prep records reveals that only four teams have perfect marks. Two other county clubs are undefeated, but ties mar their slate.

County schools boasting unbeaten-undefeated records are Walled Lake, Farmington, and West Bloomfield, all with 4-0 marks, and Royal Oak Shrine, which stands 3-0. Unbeaten but deadlocked are RO Dondoro and RO Kimball, both 3-0-1.

Three Oakland area squads also enjoy spotless slates — Northville, Brown City and Lapeer, all at 4-0. Another area team, Armada, carries three wins and one tie.

Five teams tumbled from the undefeated ranks last weekend. The casualties were Pontiac Central, Almont, Brighton, Clarkston and Highland Park St. Benedict.
