Snow to Increase Holiday Hazards

New Miss Front Page to Greet the New Year

Watch for tomorrow's Press.

Watch and see.

The Press now has completed one solid year of Miss Front Pages and we're happy about them all. In fact, we issued a general call and ten responded for a group picture which we printed Friday. It resulted in one of the most discussed photos of the year.

But now for 1958!

Miss New Year is a sweetheart.

She really has charm and oomph. Hold your breath for she's worth it.

'Take It Easy!' Police Warning to Celebrators

Straley Again States: Jail, Not City Streets, for Drunk Drivers

Hazardous driving conditions caused by an expected three to four inches of snow had local law enforcement officials doubling their requests that drivers take it easy today — both on the road and at their New Year's Eve parties.

The State Highway Department cautioned that bad driving conditions had already developed in several parts of the state and that snow and sleet may blanket most of the southern Lower Peninsula by nightfall.

Officials in Oakland County began doubling their road patrols today in an effort to keep county roads accident-free over the New Year's holiday.

Sheriff Frank W. Irons warned drivers to be especially careful. "This is one of the worst accident periods throughout the year," he said.

"While we will be using every available man on the roads, our most valuable asset is the defensive driver. There are more drunk drivers on the roads at New Year's

Snow, Colder Here

For tonight, the U.S. Weather Bureau predicts up to four inches of snow and colder in the Pontiac area. The low will be 20 degrees. The outlook for Wednesday is snow flurries and cold with a high of 24-28. The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 28. The reading at 2 p.m. was 33.

each year, and it is best for everyone to give the other fellow the right of way."

STRALEY SPEAKS

Pontiac Police Chief Herbert W. Straley announced a similar vigil will be in operation by a maximum of patrol cars on city streets through Wednesday night.

"There is no room for drunk drivers on city streets, but we have plenty of room for them in jail," he stated.

State Police at both the Pontiac and Redford Posts will put additional patrols on the highways in a maximum trooper coverage planned during the 36-hour period from noon today through midnight Wednesday.

Troopers will work 10 hour shifts and will be assisted by National Guardsmen, making more cars available for service. Unmarked detective cars will also be used for road patrol.

At both State Police Posts and the Sheriff's Department detectives will perform desk jobs to relieve troopers and deputies for patrol duty. National guardsmen are also reported ready to help sheriff's deputies.

Figures show that nine persons were killed in traffic accidents throughout the state during the period from 6 p.m. Dec. 31, to midnight Jan. 1, a year ago.

GRIM REMINDER — These shoes represent the 107 pairs of shoes left empty by traffic deaths in Oakland County during the past year. State Police records show the 107 dead as a slight improvement over the 114 toll for 1956, but greater care on the part of drivers could have cut the figure far below the 100 mark. Local authorities attribute the drop to a more vigilant road patrol and better traffic safety education during 1957. Their only hope now is that the 107 total will not be boosted by parties carelessly celebrating New Year's Eve.

Fights Attempt to Blame Him for Defense Lag

Says He Wanted Higher Budget but Ike Saw No Chance for Passage

Former Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson today said the press, public and some politicians were attempting to make him the "scapegoat" for alleged shortcomings in the country's missile program.

He emphatically denied to The Pontiac Press that President Eisenhower had any part in the criticism of himself, and said he has "no criticism of the President" on this matter.

But he did say the President ordered his defense budget, which he said he had recommended be "just under 40 billion dollars", cut.

He explained further: "The country has to maintain a healthy economy while also maintaining the security of the country. We cannot have a good defense establishment without a balanced budget."

Wilson also said he blamed the people as much as Congress for the budget cut. "They were pressing at home for no boost in taxes," Wilson said.

Last night, a reporter who talked with him by telephone from Chicago quoted the former Defense secretary as saying "President Eisenhower is trying to make me the goat for the Sputnik and that's not right."

This morning, Wilson insisted he had not said that, stating:

"If I was quoted in that manner, then it was not correct. What I said was that some people in the country are trying to make me the scapegoat."

The former defense secretary repeate dthat he had favored a higher defense budget for the 1957 fiscal year.

But Eisenhower, he said, felt Congress was in "no mood" to accept one higher than the $38,500,000,000 budget submitted last January.

And, said Wilson, "I always felt the man to have the last word on the budget was the President."

Wilson's statement was issued

1957 Happenings in Review

Year Packed With Events of Sorrow, Humor, Import

When bells and whistles tonight herald the coming of a new year and the passing of the old, Pontiac can look back on twelve months that have been filled with news of high importance to the area and its residents.

The year has had its share of tragedy; there has been news of crime and disasters; the inevitable passing of men and women who were leaders in the community; and there have been events whose real impact on this growing area will be felt over many years ahead.

To record them all would be an almost impossible task. Nevertheless, following is a summary of the major happenings locally in the months of 1957.

Jan. 3 — Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson announce the donation of their $10 million Meadow Brook estate near Rochester to Michigan State University for a branch college. They also give $2 million to erect a school building there.

Jan. 4 — A Selfridge Air Force Base jet crashes southwest of Utica. Rocketing debris from the explosion damages one home, narrowly misses others. The pilot had bailed out.

Jan. 10 — The Board of Education approves final plans for the first $3.2 million section of the new senior high school, to open in September, 1958 for 1,000 northeast side students.

Jan. 14 — Pontiac General Hospital moves patients to its new annex at the county contagious hospital. The annex is to be used until the $4 million addition is completed.

Jan. 17 — Royal Oak Chamber of Commerce asks that the county seat be moved from Pontiac to Royal Oak.

Jan. 18 — A $200,000 fire hits Utica Junior High School.

Tax Rate Held in Pontiac

Jan. 22 —Pontiac holds its tax rate at $13.70 as the City Commission adopts a record $5,381,779 budget for 1957.

Jan. 24 — A Navy transport, bearing home the body of a Pontiac naval officer killed in an airplane crash, itself crashes and burns as it attempts to land at Willow Run Airport. The pilot is killed.

Jan. 24 — Vandals fire Auburn Heights Elementary School, causing $25,000 damage.

Jan. 24 — Mrs. Sally Wilson, 24, dies as flames envelope her Highland Township home. Her husband and four children escape, badly burned.

Jan. 27 — Oakland and Macomb advisory committee established for proposed MSU branch college. Harold A. Fitzgerald elected chairman.

Jan. 30 — Atty. Gen. asks Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem to investigate charges that Waterford Township police are running a "speed trap" on Dixie highway.

Jan. 31 — Fire causes $150,000 damage to Union Lake Village supermarket.

Feb. 1 — Pontiac's first auto show in five years opens a three-day stand attended by thousands.

Auto Crash Kills Two Teachers

Feb. 2 — Two Longfellow Elementary School teachers die in auto crash near Battle Creek. Dead are Mrs. Stella Zeil, 53, and Mrs. Charlotte Harpham, 41.

Feb. 6 — General Motors Corporation announces it spent

Next 2 Years 'Crucial'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) states: "In my opinion, the next two years will be perhaps the most crucial in this country . . . we have about two years to save ourselves from destruction."

Willow Run Planes Halt

WILLOW RUN (INS)—Heavy fog prevented landings and takeoffs at Willow Run Airport for a three-hour period early today. Landings and takeoffs were cancelled between 2:30 and 5:30 a.m.

Nab Transient in Double Killing

Youth Held as Suspect in Bar Slaying; Partner Died in Police Chase

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Russell Wayne Carpenter, 21, wanted in a double slaying in a Washington, D.C., bar, was arrested last night by a patrolman making a routine check of transients.

The FBI said he would be jailed in Miami.

Arraignment was slated on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder, said Special Agent John H. Williams.

Patrolman Larry Wald questioned the hitchhiking Carpenter, who showed him a wallet containing pictures that matched FBI circulars and a driver's license bearing the name of the wanted man. Wald arrested him.

Police Sgt. E. E. Graham said Carpenter related that he separated in Miami Beach from Henry Clay Overton, 44, after arriving there Sunday.

They left the car and split up. Later Overton went back for the car and headed North. He was killed in a head-on auto collision Sunday night at Wrens, Ga., that fatally injured Charles N. Wray, 42, a construction worker from High Point, N.C.

Graham said Carpenter told of throwing away a .45-caliber pistol at Miami Beach. He was unarmed when arrested.

Overton and Wray, who was driving to his job at the missile center at Cape Canaveral, Fla., were killed in a collision during Overton's 100-mile-an-hour flight in the stolen car from the Georgia state patrol.

The shooting at the Washington bar stemmed from a quarrel over a $10 drink tab. Police said two men left the bar, but returned and started shooting with a .45-caliber pistol and a sawed-off shotgun.

George Kaldes, 33, owner of the bar, and Kenneth Fisher, 32, a guitar player, were killed.

Predicts 130 Will Die

CHICAGO (INS)—The National Safety Council predicted today that 130 persons would die in traffic accidents on the nation's streets and highways during the New Year holiday.

Area Churches Plan New Year Services

Congregations of city and county churches of the Pontiac area will ring out the Old and ring in the New Year with religious rites tonight.

Members of the Parkdale Church of the Nazarene will meet from 8 to 10 o'clock tonight for worship. The evening will close with a social gathering.

The Zion and Clintonville Churches of the Nazarene will observe New Year's Eve with members of the First Church of the Nazarene, 60 State St. Festivities will begin at 9:30 p.m. and close with a Communion service.

Watch Night will begin with a praise service at 8 p.m. in the Salvation Army Citadel, 29 W. Lawrence St. Refreshments and an hour of fellowship will follow. The meeting will close at 12:10 a.m.

The Rev. Robert W. Hoover, assistant pastor, will be in charge of the 10:30 Watch Night service at Newman AME Church.

From 9 until 10:30 tonight, games and fellowship for all ages are on the agenda at Bethany Baptist Church. Refreshments will be

Babson's Forecast for '58 Tomorrow

Babson's Business and Financial Forecast for 1958 will be published in tomorrow's issue of The Pontiac Press.

A careful checking of the Babson predictions made in the forecast for 1957 upholds the remarkable average of the past years by being 88 per cent correct!

Over the past 19 years Babson's forecasts have held a high level of accuracy, hitting 95 per cent one year, never below 76 and usually in the high 80s.

Oh, Go Ahead and Kiss Her; It's New Year's!

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The midnight kisses and crowded celebrating of New Year's Eve tonight may help spread Asian flu, an Iowa State Health Department official warned today.

Intimate contact among large numbers of people is a dandy way to spread respiratory diseases such as Asian flu, said Dr. Ralph Heeren, director of the department's communicable disease division.

He took the calculated-risk attitude toward the problem, however, and added that this New Year's Eve comes a little too soon after the last big wave of Asian flu for New Year's Eve contacts to cause any widespread outbreak.

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP) — A traditional New Year's Day show will be presented tomorrow to convicts in San Quentin Prison, a 50-act "Show of Stars." It is sponsored by the Theatrical Federation of San Francisco and features night club and stage stars.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The 1958 New Year's Day Tournament of Roses Parade will have a king as well as a queen.

The queen, as usual, will be the make-believe variety, but the king will be the real article.

He's King Edward Masinga of South Africa. He'll be in town to watch the parade as a guest of the State Department.

Israel Shakeup Is Imminent

Ben-Gurion Resigning; President May Ask Him to Form New Cabinet

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli President Izhak Ben-Zvi today was expected to accept the resignation of Premier David Ben-Gurion and his five-party coalition Cabinet, then ask Ben-Gurion to form a new government.

The 71-year-old Premier announced the resignations yesterday. There was widespread speculation he would exclude from his government the two small left-wing parties with which he has been feuding over Cabinet unity.

Ben-Gurion accused one of the parties, Achduth Avodah (Labor Unity), of endangering Israeli security by leaking a secret Cabinet decision.

The decision, reached over the opposition of the two Achduth Avodah Cabinet members, was to send a two-man mission to west Germany on military and security matters.

The Cabinet had been in office since Dec. 3, 1955.

Night Club Prices Average About $15 Per Person

Farewells for '57 Range From Nostalgia, Bedlam to Prayer

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

That extraordinary evening with its strange mixture of gaiety, sentiment, nostalgia, silliness, contemplation, noise, bedlam and reverence is at hand again..

Tonight is New Year's Eve.

As 1957 bows toward the exits, there are plans for the usual variety of yearend celebrations ranging from frolic and braying horns to sober reflection and prayer.

Prices in the nation's night clubs, taverns and other points of celebration are about the same as last year, averaging around $15 a person in most cities for dinner, dancing, paper hats and noise makers, with drinks extra. But you could pay a lot more—or a little less — according to the spot.

★ ★ ★ ★

At the same time, religious leaders set down messages of hope and plans for justice and dedication to God in the year ahead. Thousands of churches planned "Watch Night" services with music and devotions.

EMPHASIS ON PEACE

In New York City's St. Patrick's Cathedral, there will be a special New Year's Eve Mass, with emphasis on peace and brotherhood among peoples of North, South and Central America.

In Colorado Springs, the Add-a-man Club, which takes on one new member a year from among those who join in an annual climb up 14,100-foot Pike's Peak, will make its 32nd annual mountain trek.

In Las Vegas, Nev., where establishments were reported booked solid for the evening's whoopla, one hotel announced it will hold a New Year's Day "hangover party from 10 a.m. until cured."

In St. Louis, a $25-a-person champaigne supper will be held at the Hotel Chase as a benefit for the city's 85-member symphony orchestra. It will play a pop concert under direction of Boston conductor Arthur Fiedler.

The price top in Boston for dinner and dancing averaged $10. It is the first time that no place in the city had a $20 top.

In Baltimore, "The Block" — a three-block bright light strip which does an estimated 10-million-dollar annual night club business — expect a 10 to 40 per cent drop in New Year's crowds due to plant layoffs in the area.

A tendency toward parties at home and in suburban bars also is noted.

At many other places, however, night clubs report capacity reservations.

Generally, prices were reported little changed. As usual, they are higher in the big cities, and flossy clubs.

In Chicago, the top is $24.60 a person at the Chez Paree for a steak dinner and entertainment. Drinks and tips are extra. The Ambassador's Pump Room is charging $20 a head for midnight supper and dancing.

In New York City, the Waldorf-Astoria's Empire Room set a price of $37.50 a person; the Hotel Ambassador, $30; the Stork Club, $15; the Latin Quarter, Copacabana and St. Regis, $25.

In many cities, numerous clubs simply declared "open house" with no minimums set. Others fixed minimums of $2 to $10 — spend it how you wish, and go on from there.

Detroit, the Statler Hotel, expecting a capacity crowd, set a $10 per person cover charge, with floor show. The Wonder Bar offers dinner at $12.50. Elmwood Casino, the area's biggest night spot, set a $7.50 cover.

Potter Asks All-Powerful Missile Czar in Cabinet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Potter (R-Mich) has urged appointment of an all-powerful missile czar with cabinet rank to head a new federal science agency.

He said the United States' missile program needs someone with more authority than has James R. Killian, the President's scientific adviser.

"I question whether he (Killian) has the authority to crack heads together and give the program the leadership we need," Potter said in an interview on a transcribed radio program.

Although Potter said "I think we are better off than we think we are" in missile development, he urged the appointment of a missile czar and creation of a science academy similar to West Point and Annapolis.

Killian, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was named to his advisory role shortly after Soviet Russia launched its earth satellite.

Potter also told interviewers that he would go along with the expected administration budget of 74 million dollars. He is a member of the Senate Appropriations Committee.

He said he hoped Congress could avoid a tax increase or raising the debt ceiling this session but added he doubted it's no defense programs could be cut substantially to make room for more missile spending.

"It's very difficult to cut something which is on the books," Potter said.

STATE UNEMPLOYMENT

Speaking of unemployment in Michigan, the Senator said that expected mass production of the Army's Jupiter missiles at Detroit would cut the jobless situation.

But he accused the Democratic state administration of Gov. G. Mennen Williams of "using business as a whipping boy" forcing industries to leave the state.

Potter also said he had received information from an unnamed Canadian Federal Senator from Ontario that Canada may push for a toll-free seaway.

The 1954 act putting the United States into the Seaway project in partnership with Canada provides for tolls high enough to pay all costs within 50 years.

URGES LOW TOLLS

Potter and other Midwestern Congressmen have urged tolls as low as possible when the giant waterway opens in 1959.

Potter said today a toll-free seaway would constitute a "breach of faith" even though he personally would prefer it.

However, Potter said today "we have a commitment" when asked by a reporter whether he would propose such action. He referred to the stipulation in the 1954 Seaway Act that tolls must pay U. S. costs in the project within 50 years.

Dr. N. R. Danielian, chairman of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Assn., and a leader in the Midwestern fight for low tolls, echoed Potter's position.

Both Potter and Danielian warned that the Canadian viewpoint should be taken into consideration in setting tolls. They obviously referred to reports circulating here that Canada might pull out of its partnership with the United States and finish the seaway itself if tolls are set higher than Canada wants. It has been estimated this woud cost Canada an additional 50 million dolars.

That would mean the United States would lose its 96 million dollar investment to date. Congress has authorized spending of 140 millions and the Canadian Parliament has authorized 300 millions to be spent.

PRELUDE TO THE BLAZE — It will be a mighty big blaze Saturday night when members of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. put the torch to a huge star to be shaped from these trees being unloaded at Edison and Montcalm streets. The occasion will be the annual "Burning of the Green" ceremony which will officially mark the end of the Christmas season in Pontiac. A half-hour program of carols will precede the lighting of the star at 7 p. m. Trees, like those being unloaded here by Harry George and James Beeler, department workers, can still be taken to the field.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What is corpuscular radiation? Does it affect the earth's weather to any significant degree?

Corpuscular radiation is, in the simplest form, a sort of electric current. It takes the form of charged particles which come into the earth's atmosphere from the sun. It is, then, a radiation from the sun.

Yes, corpuscular radiation plays a major role in determining the earth's weather, according to many able meteorologists.

It has the effect, when in an abundance, to heat the polar regions, as apart from the equatorial regions. This produces extreme contrasts in the weather within short distances but generally makes for warmer, drier weather on most of the earth.

C. of C. Praises City Commission for Leadership

The Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce praised the "capable leadership" of members of the City Commission during the past year in a letter read to commissioners last evening.

"Your devotion to the arduous tasks which you have accepted, your intelligent handling of perplexing problems, your patient dealing with the desires of individual citizens, and your final actions for the continued development of Pontiac deserve the praise of all the people," the letter read in part.

It also commended City Manager Walter K. Willman and the city's administrative staff.

Wilson said the decision to separate Project Vanguard (the earth satelite program) from the military missile program was made by the President personally on recommendations of Budget Director Percival Brundage and after discussion in the National Security Council.

Far from fearing that interservice rivalry would retard missile development, Wilson purposely "put the Army in business with the Air Force" in developing a 1,500-mile missile because of the stimulating effect of competition. However, Wilson added, "some of the people in the services get a little childish" in the things they say about one another.

The former defense secretary also scoffed at the reported recommendations of the Gaither Committee, which said the United States is far behind Russian scientific and military progress and urged that all efforts be made to close the gap.

Wilson said he had never even heard of H. Rowan Gaither Jr., former chairman of the Ford Foundation, until his appointment as chairman of the Gaither Committee, and added:

"I don't know what his qualifications are . . . I don't think his comments are especially valuable.

"This business of appointing a committee to look into something without giving the committee any responsibility is an interesting development. It's wrong. I wasn't cheered over the Gaither report."

Wilson refused to state exactly how much higher a 1958 budget he wanted, but remarked:

"I'd say it was closer to $40 billion than $38,500,000,000."

The former cabinet member admitted that had a larger budget been adopted some of the additional funds "certainly" would have gone into the rocket and missile program, but he said the satellite projects would have received none of it. He pointed out:

Wilson, president of General Motors before his appointment as defense secretary, called the nation's reaction to Russia's Sputnik launching "immature," and said he was "surprised to say that least" at the excitement it caused.

REALISTIC APPROACH URGED

He said a more realistic approach to the satellite problem is needed and added:

"Everybody knew what the Russians were doing and now everyone is as excited as if new Olympic marks had been set or there was a new record for the 100-yard dash."

Pontiac City Affairs

Officials Whip Through Final Meeting of Year

The last meeting of the Pontiac City Commission for the year 1957 was written into record in short order last night as commissioners whipped through a short six-point agenda in 26 minutes.

A public hearing was set for Jan. 7 on the assessment roll covering unpaid weed-cutting costs accrued during the past summer.

The commission agreed to three payments for those citizens who will be assessed for the storm drain project in the block bounded by Glendale, Menominee, Genesee and Telegraph roads.

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles moved for five payments, and fellow commissioners accepted, for the paving and curb work on Columbia avenue from Baldwin to Stanley avenue.

Accepted was a right-of-way agreement from the Board of Education for water mains in the vicinity of Fern avenue.

Commissioners agreed to meet Jan. 9 in an informal session to begin their work on the 1958 budget and capital improvement program.

Other than commissioners, the only person attending last night's brief session was Rev. W. E. Welton, pastor of the Parkdale Nazarene Church, who gave the invocation and benediction.

Answers Filed to Pending Suit

Dr. Sullenberger Seeks $250,000 in Damages Following Suspension

Answers to the law suit of Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger, heart specialist suspended last month from Pontiac General Hospital, were filed today.

Dr. Sullenberger, of 208 E. Iroquois Rd., is seeking $250,000 damages which he alleges he received by being suspended Nov. 13 from the medical staff of the city hospital.

Two answers, both filed by Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart, were made on behalf of the City of Pontiac, the hospital's Board of Trustees, and Carl I. Flath, hospital director, all of which were named as defendants in the suit filed Dec. 2.

A Dec. 9 show cause hearing was postponed indefinitely. No future date has been agreed upon as yet, Ewart said.

The hospital director has said Dr. Sullenberger did not appear before the Board of Trustees on three occasions set up to review the case.

Dr. Sullenberger is also seeking a permanent injunction against the hospital upholding his suspension.

This occurred, according to Flath, after a "review of his professional and personal behavior," and for "infringement of certain rules and regulations of the medical staff by-laws."

Answers for two medical staff committees and the medical staff itself, other defendants named in the suit, are expected to be filed next week, according to Ewart.

Driver Brings Patients to Hospital—Himself 2nd

A cab driver who had just delivered a patient to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Monday, made a prompt and unexpected return as a patient himself, according to the hospital and Pontiac Police.

Harold G. Hale, 50, of 4052 Lamont St., Drayton Plains, was just leaving the hospital parking lot when he collided with a southbound auto on Woodward driven by James F. Tinker, 20, of 5248 Marconi St., Clarkston.

Both drivers were treated at the hospital for minor injuries and released. They told police they failed to see each other in time to avoid the collision.

Thief Plans Ahead for New Year's Party

Pontiac Police are looking for a thief today who, from all indications, may be throwing quite a New Year's Eve celebration tonight.

It was reported Monday that someone had entered the Sanford Inn, 568 S. Sanford St., through an unlocked window. The thief then broke down a door to the bar and escaped with 38 bottles of assorted whiskies and three boxes of cigars, totally valued at $153.25.

Keep Guests' Car Keys Until They Can Drive

The survival of the guests "may rest in the pocket of the party-giver," Coleman said, so keep the keys until the guests are able to drive home.

Law Prohibiting Vehicles on Walks to Be Rewritten

BIRMINGHAM—A final decision to request the rewriting of the ordinance which prohibits vehicles on public sidewalks was made by city commissioners last night.

City Attorney James Howlett was asked to rephrase the ordinance so that it would permit the use of light tractors on public sidewalks when engaged in snow removal.

Commissioners also said that whenever possible they would go along with requests from property owners that the snow not be removed by the city from private walks.

Assistant City Manager Robert S. Kenning said objections were made because in one of two instances the broom had torn the sod at the edge of the sidewalk.

Another householder claimed damage to the plastic hose of his underground watering system. A third said simply that he liked to shovel snow.

UPHOLD RESOLUTION

Commissioners voted unanimously to uphold the resolution passed recently in Ferndale asking that Madison Heights be barred from quitting the 12-Town Drain System. It was reported that the Heights had asked to withdraw since only a part of this city would benefit from the drainage program.

Birmingham commissioners said that in their opinion the withdrawal of any community again will slow down the 12-Town program.

"It's been slowed already through technicalities and litigation," Commissioner Carl Ingraham said.

"It is my belief that we have had enough slowing tactics and that for a change we should bend all our efforts toward speeding this thing up.

"Plans on paper are doing nothing to relieve flood conditions," he said.

Dr. Preston Slosson, former professor of history at the University of Michigan, will be the guest speaker at the Jan. 6 session of the Oakland County Chapter of the United Nations, Inc. The lecture will be given at the Community House, beginning at 8 p.m. His subject will be "Territorial System of Government."

Dr. Slosson has B.S., A.M. and Ph. D. degrees from Columbia University, New York.

In 1944, Hillsdale College awarded him an honorary degree of doctor of law. He has taught many summer sessions here and abroad and has been active in radio work since 1941.

John W. McGill, president of Sheffield Estates Subdivision, said first prize in the home-decorating contest was awarded to Fred Steinle, 1860 Humphrey St. Second prize went to James D. Schmidts, 1910 E. Lincoln Ave., and third prize to A. J. Smith, 1617 Sheffield St.

McGill said he thought the efforts put forth by residents makes this subdivision one of the best-decorated in the city.

Police Chief Ralph W. Moxley said bad driving conditions have been predicted for tonight. He asks that all partygoers use extreme caution when driving.

Richard A. Connell

Service for Richard A. Connell, 36, who died unexpectedly Monday at his home, 767 Glengarry Rd., Bloomfield Village, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the William Vasu Funeral Home, Royal Oak. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery.

A real estate broker and one of the founders of Melody Circus, he was the son of Richard A. Connell, owner of the Hazel Park Racetrack.

Besides his parents and wife, Mary, he leaves two sons, Richard A. IV, and Paul S., and a daughter, Annette.

In lieu of flowers, the family has asked that donations be made to the Michigan Heart Fund.

Mrs. Richard Jamieson

Service for Mrs. Richard Jamieson, 34, of 4135 Walnut Hill Dr. will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be at White Chapel Memorial Cemetery with Dr. John A. Zisser of Westminster Presbyterian Church officiating.

She died Sunday at her home following a lengthy illness.

The former Nancy Hazer, she served two years with the Women's Marine Corps during World War II. She was a member of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Detroit, and the PEO Society. She also was a member of the Osage Garden Club of Birmingham.

Surviving are her husband, Richard K.; two sons, Jeffery and Peter J.; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hazer, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Laura Halliday, all of Birmingham.

Beer Bust Ends Badly for Grocer and His Assailant

HAMTRAMCK (INS) — Ever been to a beer bust?

According to police Bobrowski refused to give a customer a $10 loan. The result: A beer bust. Six bottles of beer were smashed over Bobrowski's head. A bottle of catsup was tossed in for good measure.

This was revealed by Hamtramck police today with the arrest of Roosevelt Hollins, 24. Hollins entered the store last Friday and asked for $10. Bobrowski refused.

Police said Hollins then asked for a dozen bottles of cold beer. When the grocer turned to close the refrigerator, Hollins started banging him over the head with the bottles.

Bobrowski required 25 stitches in his head.

Hollins will be arraigned today in Municipal Court.

Army Reserve Site Still Sought in Area

No decision has been reached on where a new Army reserve training center in Pontiac will be located, according to Brig. Gen. L. S. Bork, chief of the Michigan Military District.

He said the transfer of funds from a proposed center in Flint to Pontiac was holding up the purchase of a site. "This money is what we need to buy the land," Gen. Bork said.

He predicted the completion of the purchase by the end of January.

Earlier this month Gen. Bork said there were five possible locations for the building, which has been delayed nearly two years.

Waterford Township Bills Ferndale Firm for $2,361

The Township Board, at a jam-packed meeting last night, voted to send an itemized account of repairs and operating costs at the Coleman-Friedman sewer plant to the Peal Building Co., 111 E. Nine Mile road.

A representative of the company, however, said last night that the firm wouldn't pay the bill.

Abe Friedman, whose company erected the plant behind the Isaac Crary Junior High School, argued that his firm already had paid almost four times as much for the plant as had been anticipated.

"The township should pick up this repair bill," he maintained.

The controversy came during a five-hour meeting highlighted by pro-and-con discussion of other subdivision improvements, including street lighting and water.

Friedman said that the sewage plant had already cost his firm $115,000, although its original estimated price was only $35,000.

The board, however, insisted that the developer adhere to an agreement in which the firm promised to bear the cost of maintaining the four-pump station until at least 85 families had moved into the subdivision and were utilizing the service.

Last night, it was stated, only 40 families had tapped in so far. Clerk James Seeterlin said that another $2,500 put up by the company for maintenance of the system already had been spent.

"We've spent $2,361 more out of our utility fund to repair the plant and intend to get it back," he said.

In other action, the board approved a special lighting district in the Cass Lake-Highland subdivision after a heated session for and against the project.

An overhead system of eight street lights was approved for an assessment district bounded by Lakefront, Cottage and Grinnell avenues, at an annual rate of $2.54.

The water problem hit the growing Highland Estates subdivision on M59. The pipeline contractor, Ray Welch, said he would not flush out any more new water lines until he had been paid by real estate developers for work already done.

The board promptly decided not to issue any more occupancy permits until the matter is cleared up. Only four of the 300 homes planned for the subdivision are occupied and these will not be affected.

The township last night abandoned its three-year-old ordinance requiring peddlers to take out a $5 license as "unenforceable."

Seeterlin said, "Let's face the facts. Although the idea behind the ordinance is good, actually we have no authority under state statute to require peddler licenses.

"We shouldn't bluff the public about this."

Foul Weather Greets New Year for Most

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It looked like a very wet New Year's Eve, weatherwise, in most of the Eastern half of the nation today.

Cold weather clung to the north central region.

Snow, sleet and rain hit much of the mid-continent and wet weather was forecast for most areas eastward to the Atlantic Coast.

Warm, moist air from the Gulf of Mexico which moved northward into the Mississippi Valley and the Southern and Central Plains and most of the mid-Mississippi Valley.

Snow falls during the night ranged from 1 to 3 inches in northwestern Missouri and in eastern parts of Kansas and Nebraska.

Khrushchev Named '1957 Man of Year'

NEW YORK (AP) — The person who dominated world news "and left an indelible mark — for good or evil — on history" last year was Nikita S. Khrushchev, Time magazine said last night.

The news magazine named the Soviet Communist party boss its "1957 Man of the Year" in the Jan. 6 issue.

A "onetime cornfield commissar," Khrushchev "took men into a new era of space and posed . . . the United States with the most dramatic military threat it had ever faced," Time said.

"In 1957, Nikita Khrushchev did more than oversee the launching of man's first moons. He made himself indisputed and single master of Russia . . ." it said.

Martin Recalls Close Squeak in '57

Debt Limit Hike Inevitable

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts said today it appears almost inevitable that Congress will have to increase the national debt limit.

The present statutory debt ceiling is 275 billion dollars and "we are awfully close to it now," Martin told reporters.

"They had to do a lot of manipulating to keep within the limit last fall; it was a close squeak."

Martin said he considered "the prevention of inflation or deflation" one of the major issues of the new session which starts next Tuesday.

"It will require a lot of skill and bold leadership to prevent either," he said.

Americans Interpreted by Way They Sit

U.S. Posture Gets a Twist

CHICAGO (INS) — A University of Colorado professor reports that the informal ways in which Americans stand and sit often come in for criticism and ridicule abroad.

Dr. Gordon W. Hewes said at the 56th annual meeting of the American Anthropological Association in Chicago that interviews with foreign students from 17 countries showed that the typical American posture receives "strong disapproval."

In the matter of sitting, he said, several Asians and one West African felt that it was uncomfortable to cross the knees while sitting in a chair, as well as disrespectful to superiors.

Dr. Hewes added that students from Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Yugoslavia found American villains in iron country films were regularly identified by their informal posture in situations where Europeans would stand rigid.

The anthropologist said embarrassing situationn may crop up when one culture interprets the body movements of people in a different land.

The most vivid example, according to Dr. Hewes, was cited by one Yugoslav student.

The youth remarked that a posture, which in the Philippines is suitable for elderly people of both sexes, was the "come on sign of prostitutes" in his country.

Dr. Hewes said one of the most interestiing postures is the prayer positions which are strikingly similar the world over. He said:

"Some of these may well arise from the common experience of small children requesting food or attention."

Delegates to Afro-Asian Conference Hit at West in Middle, Far East

CAIRO (AP)—The leftist African-Asian conference lined up today behind a demand that Western "imperialists" get out of the Middle and Far East. It made no reference, however, to vast areas dominated by the Communists.

The Political Committee approved the imperialist resolution last night after blocking attempts to accuse the United States of "inhuman atrocities" in South Korea.

The committee also rejected an attempt to mention the United States in a resolution attacking racial discrimination.

Anup Singh of India reminded delegates that the conference already had been labeled anti-Western and Communist-inspired. He cautioned against singling out the Americans.

The imperialism resolution calls for "freedom of self-determination, sovereignty and complete independence for the entire African-Asian area.

The resolution lashed out at the Eisenhower Doctrine and Baghdad Pact as interfering with independence of Arab nations. It also condemned military alliances which "create overriding spheres which influence and endanger peace and suppress peoples' aspirations."

Detroit Edison Co. Past President Dies

DETROIT (AP)—James W. Parker, former president of Detroit Edison Co., collapsed and died at noon yesterday while eating lunch with his family at a downtown club here. He was 71.

Parker joined Detroit Edison in 1910, became its president in 1944, and retired in 1951. Since his retirement he had lived at Ann Arbor.

During World War II Parker served as consultant on engineering and technical problems for the War Production Board and the War Manpower Commission.

Parker was lunching with his wife, Verna, and a stepson, Paul Dow, when he collapsed. A fire department rescue team worked more than 20 minutes trying to revive him.

Before taking over presidency of Detroit Edison, Parker served as chief engineer, vice president and general manager.

He was a past president and member of the executive committee of the Assn. of Edison Illuminating Co. and a director of the Edison Electric Institute. He also was a past president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Mumps Up in City but Down in County

The number of mumps cases reported in the county last week decreased from the previous week, although city cases continued to rise, according to Dr. John D. Monroe, health director.

In Pontiac, 21 persons were reported to have mumps last week compared to two the previous week. The Oakland County Health Department reports 41 mumps cases occurred throughout the county, compared with 78 previously.

Other communicable diseases reported to both departments follows:

PONTIAC	Past Week	Prev. Week	Year Ago

Wheelchair Sharp-Shot Bags His Second Deer

JONESBORO, Ark. (INS) — Hosea Gipson of Jonesboro, Ark., is paralyzed from the waist down and can't walk, but he bested three companions in their annual deer hunt.

Gipson bagged his second deer in as many years — a 160-pound, 17-point buck. He made the kill while sitting in his wheel chair.

Junior Editors Quiz on PREHISTORIC MAN

QUESTION: Did they ever find the 'missing link?'

ANSWER: Quite awhile ago, people who were investigating what seemed to be the evolution of man from monkey-like creatures thought there must be a "missing link" between some of the forms of higher apes and more primitive man.

Actually there was no one creature which could be called rightfully the missing link. But one which filled a major gap in the evolutionary chain was discovered in Java more than 60 years ago by a Dutch scientist named Dubois. From a few bones, scientists reconstructed a man-like creature with flat skull cap, heavy ridges over his eyes and massive jaws. He wouldn't be the sort of fellow you'd like to meet in a dark alley, but he walked fairly erect. He has often been called the missing link.

FOR YOU TO DO: Visit a museum, if you can, and see how scientists have "reconstructed" ancient fossils of men, dinosaurs and other beasts from relatively few remains. There are books that will tell you how they can do this, and with what degree of accuracy.

Dems Label Ike's Program Step in the Right Direction

WASHINGTON (AP) — Influential congressional Democrats said today the Eisenhower administration program for bolstering scientific education is good but doesn't go far enough.

President Eisenhower endorsed at Gettysburg, Pa., yesterday a proposal for a billion-dollar federal outlay in the next four years to promote education, particularly in science and mathematics. The states would have to match about 600 millions of this amount.

The program was laid out by Secretary of Welfare Folsom as the administration's answer to accumulating evidence the United States is dropping behind Russia in scientific education fields.

The program would provide for 10,000 scholarships yearly, worth an average $700-800 a year, to help worthy high school students attend college.

It also would make available, on a matching basis, federal funds to help states employ more mathematics and science teachers, speed laboratory quipment purchases, boost teachers' pay, or take other steps to improve teaching systems.

Limited grants to colleges, fellowships for graduate students, and other steps are included in the proposed program.

Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark), sponsor of a foreign students' exchange program and a former president of the University of Arkansas, voiced disappointment that the program "is so modest."

"I'm for it although I wish the administration had urged a bolder program in this critically important field," he said.

Executive Secretary William G. Carr of the National Education Assn. said the estimates "are far below a realistic appraisal of the needs which our schools confront." Carr said the need is for at least a billion dollars now, with the amount rising to five billions a year within the next five years.

Sen. Mansfield of Montana, assistant Democratic leader and a former college professor, said in a separate interview the program "represents a step in the right direction. At least, it is a recognition of the fact that we are behind the Soviet Union in the field of science and education and that we have to catch up."

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) called the administration proposal "less than a half measure to meet a challenging problem."

Rep. Boyle (D-Ill), one of the sponsors of the school construction legislation defeated in the House last year, said he was disappointed no provision was made in the program for federal aid in the building of classrooms.

Subway Strike Threat Settled

N.Y.'s Transit Service Assured in Tentative Agreement Today

NEW YORK (AP)—A settlement was reached today ending the threat of a New Year's Eve subway strike and a walkout on city-owned bus lines.

The tentative agreement worked out in City Hall negotiations does not cover nine private bus lines, including one in suburban Westchester, also threatened with a strike.

A possible walkout on the private lines also was averted, however, when tentative agreement was reached on a separate contract.

A special citizens committee, appointed late yesterday by Mayor Robert F. Wagner to assist in negotiations, announced at 2:40 a.m. that the dispute between the Transport Workers Union and the Transit Authority had been resolved.

The new pact, which is to run for two years, gives the Transit Authority's 31,000 employes a package increase of 32½ cents an hour. It is subject to union membership ratification later this week.

The settlement provides an immediate wage increase of 15 cents an hour and another wage boost Jan. 1, 1959, of 10 cents an hour. The remainder went for fringe benefits.

The present contract expires at midnight tonight.

Present subway wages range from $1.79½ to $2.37 an hour. The prevailing wage on city-owned buses is $2.13 an hour and from $2.06½ to $2.14 an hour on the private lines.

Covered by the settlement are 1,700 drivers and mechanics on city-owned bus lines in Queens and Staten Island. All are represented by the Amalgamated Assn. of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes.

Transit Authority Chairman Charles Patterson said the agreement will not result in an increase in the 15-cent fare.

Britons Facing New Problem in Troubled Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Members of Nicosia's British Club were warned today that the masks they wear to their New Year's Eve ball must not be too effective. The wearers still must be recognizable.

The warning resulted from emergency regulations to combat the Greek Cypriot rebellion against British rule of the east Mediterranean island. One decree prohibits wearing of any disguise.

Tonight's ball will be the first masked affair in two years. Previously club officials feared members of Eoka, the Greek Cypriot underground, might slip in to plant a bomb. Tension has eased considerably this year.

Arts, Crafts Council Will Serve North

GRAYLING (AP) — The Northern Michigan Development Council plans a meeting here Jan. 10 to help form an Arts, Crafts and Home Industry Assn. for a 33-county area in northern Michigan.

The meeting follows initial plans made last month at Mount Pleasant for the formation of the association.

Election of officers and establishment of bylaws are planned for the meeting.

The council also announced another meeting late in January to launch plans for an industrial area meeting scheduled for March.

He Shakes 6,234 Hands

Long Furrow Plowed by Year's Best Liar

By EDWARD CLARK

BURLINGTON, Wis. (AP) — The towering tale of a plowman's South Dakota odyssey was declared the lie of the land this year by the Burlington Liars Club.

Harry Berogan of Mission, S.D., reaped the rewards of prevarication with his story of a farmer who showed, like Einstein, that time is only a relative matter—except to a wife:

Berogan claimed:

"We have a farmer out here who has a field so long that he started out last spring with a tractor, plow and a drill, and was gone so long that his wife drew three widow's pension checks. She thought he had got plowed under.

"But he got back the other day. When he got to the other end of the field, he traded his plow and drill for a combine and harvested on the way home."

One of the honorable mention stories in this year's contest came from Texas, the home of tall men who assert they tell nothing but tall truths about their realm on the Rio Grande.

Davis F. Boone of Marshall, Texas, lassoed the liar's label with this attempted libel on the largest state:

"Much as I hate to admit it, I have just discovered something in Texas that is not the biggest!"

Boone need say no more. Any Texan can tell you Boone's the biggest liar in Lone Star State without going any further.

A story calculated to wring the tears from a top sergeant won honorable mention for Clinton R. Hauette at the U.S. Soldiers Home, Washington, D.C.

"During the dry season last fall I lived on a small ranch near Broken Bow, Nebraska," said Hauette. "The wells all went dry, and my children were crying for water.

"In order to get them a drink I had to pull up our well and run it through the wringer."

Here's an honorable mention story from Eddie Grabinski, Portland, Ore., which is strictly for the birds:

"Once I had a very smart woodpecker. He used to peck on flint rocks in the wintertime so the sparks would keep his feet warm."

Industrial Clime Here Is Praised

Tax Burden Lower in Michigan, Say Business Leaders

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's industrial climate and tax structure was praised by prominent state businessmen here yesterday.

Dan Gerber, president of Gerber Products Co., of Fremont, said: "Of the three states in which our company manufactures, our tax burden is lower in Michigan than in the other two — New York and California."

John S. Coleman, president of Burroughs Corp., of Detroit, said: "I know that Michigan has the most favorable industrial climate. There should be an educational campaign in all segments of the community to sell that fact."

Both men spoke at the 10th anniversary meeting of the Michigan Economic Development department. Gerber is president of the Michigan Economic Development commission which heads the department. Coleman is a former commission member.

Other speakers included Lawrence P. Walsh of Ontonagon; William McGaughey, vice president of American Motors; Ernest L. Anthony, dean emeritus of the Michigan State University college of agriculture; Guy Oswald, former business representative of the United Carpenters and Joiners of America, and Charley Slayman, industrial realtor from Cleveland. All are former commission members.

Reflections

HAPPY NEW YEAR:

1957 has been good to us. For many it has been filled with wonder, excitement and fulfillment of life-long dreams. 1957 gave us serum to help control polio; planes that cross the country in 3 hours; technique to use nuclear power for peace-time use; a missile that traveled 4,000 miles into space; an incident that brought all of America closer together. Indeed, 1957 has been filled with wonders! Now we are going to turn the page.

1958 will be a year to explore, to find answers, to bring to reality some of the aspirations we hold in secret recesses of our mind. 1958 will bring greater wonders because we're a wonderful people. May it bring you peace of mind, prosperity, good health and happiness.

P. S. We not only wish you a Happy New Year we offer you counsel to help you realize it—facts regarding funeral procedure, costs and legal rights.

Announce New Way to Drain Sinus Cavities Without Discomfort

New tablet invention for sinus sufferers acts both to drain clogged sinus cavities and relieve distressing head pains

New York, N. Y. (Special) Announcement has been made of a new tablet invention which has the remarkable ability to help drain clogged sinus cavities and thus relieve congestion and pressure. The headaches, pressure pains, stuffed-up head, nasal drip, clogged breathing—all the unrelenting symptoms the sinus sufferer knows so well—are attacked directly by improving drainage of the sinus areas.

Most remarkable of all is the fact that this is accomplished with extraordinary speed and without discomfort of any kind. This new tablet does its remarkable work internally, through the blood stream. It deposits into every drop of blood plasma a new medication which is carried to the sinus area, where it shrinks the swollen doors to the sinus cavities and helps drain away the pain-causing pressure and congestion.

The shrinking substance in this new tablet has been so successful topically in promoting drainage of the sinus cavities that it is now prescribed more widely by doctors than any material for this purpose. This new medication is now available at drug counters without the need for a prescription under the name, Dristan® Tablets. Dristan Tablets cost only 98¢ for a bottle of 24 tablets. Buy and use Dristan Tablets with the absolute guarantee that they will drain away pain-causing pressure and congestion of the sinus cavities, relieve the pain and distress, or your full purchase price will be refunded.

Hearings Slated on Extra Funds

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House appropriations subcommittee will start hearings Jan. 8 on a Defense Department request for emergency funds for missiles and other special defense purposes.

Chairman Mahon (D-Tex), indicating he approves the move, said in an interview he expects the department to ask for $1,200,000,000 to supplement funds already provided for the present fiscal year.

Secretary of Defense McElroy had announced earlier he planned to ask a billion dollars in supplemental funds.

"From what I know of the details, it makes sense to me," Mahon said. "The missile program must be expedited. I think they are ready to go into procurement of the missiles, to speed up monthly procurement."

Asked what he thought of a defense budget of about 40 billion dollars for next year, Mahon said, "It sounds like a conservative program."

A somewhat similar reaction came earlier from Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz), chairman of the full Senate Appropriations Committee, but Sen. Chavez (D-NM), who heads the Defense Appropriations subcommittee, has predicted "some rough going" in Congress for a program of that size.

No official figure has been given, but there have been indications that the current year's defense spending, originally estimated at 38 billions and since increased to 38½ billions, will be topped by one to two billions in next year's budget.

Mahon said he opposes appropriation of funds for a second atomic-powered aircraft carrier at this time and believes that "anti-submarine warfare ought to be the top priority of the Navy." He said he was encouraged by the promising prospects of the Navy's submarine-based Polaris missile, now under development.

Cuban Rebels Warn Against Eve Parties

HAVANA (AP)—The Cuban Ministry of Interior issued what appeared to be a record number of permits for night-long public New Year parties tonight despite rebel warnings against big celebrations.

Followers of rebel leader Fidel Castro circulated bulletins calling on Cubans to mark the new year with mourning for countrymen killed by President Fulgencio Batista's forces and for civil liberties put in cold storage by the suspension of constitutional guarantees.

The rebels warned that celebrations might be broken up by gunfire, bombings or "other sabotage." The government assigned troops and police to guard night clubs, hotels and the homes of wealthy Cubans and Americans scheduling parties.

Object to Twins Treated as One

MELBOURNE — Parents who treat twins as a single unit are condemning them to emotional shocks later in life, say specialists in Melbourne, Australia. A scientific group has been studying the subject under a Nuffield Foundation grant.

The problem applied especially to identical twin females, but also applied to twins of mixed sexes. Twins who grow up as a pair suffer mental torture when they begin adult life apart, girl twins often refusing marriage through fear of being parted, the study showed.

Parents should dress twins differently they decided.

Communists Jail 379

BERLIN (AP)—Communist East Germany sentenced 379 political prisoners in 1957, the League of Free Jurists said today. The league, anti-Communist West Berlin organization with underground contacts in the East, said five persons were sentenced to life imprisonment while the rest got lesser terms.

Roundup of Wacky Mishaps

Dull Year for Some; Unforgettable for This Bunch

By PAUL JONES
Director Public Information, National Safety Council
(Distributed by INS)

So 1957 was just another year?

Try to tell that to Dr. Guy Jones. Or George Bates. Oh John Arends. Or to dogcatcher Donald Baird.

For it was in 1957 that:

—Dr. Jones was vaccinated by a cow.

—Arends suffered severe injuries by becoming a father.

And dogcatcher Baird was bitten not by a dog, but by a dog owner—a mad one!

The oddities listed above were only a few of the weird and wacky happenings uncovered by the National Safety Council in its annual roundup of freak accidents.

The dizzy details:

The case of the vaccinated veterinarian occurred in Wadesboro, N. C., where Dr. Guy Jones got a syringe full of vaccine in his arm when a cow he was preparing to inoculate suddenly lunged against him.

PREPARED FOR ANYTHING

George Bates, of Evanston, Ill., is aware, of course, that in today's traffic a driver must be prepared for almost anything. Nevertheless, he was startled when a flying canoe zoomed down the highway straight at him, crashed through his windshield and clobbered him good. It had been blown loose from the top of an approaching car by a high wind.

John Arends, of Olympia, Wash., can tell you what any man knows—that becoming a father is no picnic. After an all-night vigil at the hospital, Arends proudly rushed up to kiss his wife as she was wheeled from the delivery room. At the whiff of the ether, he passed out cold, landed on the concrete floor. Mother and child? Doing fine. Father? Two broken teeth and a banged-up face!

And in East Los Angeles, Calif., dogcatcher Donald Baird was bitten good and hard by a lady who seemed upset because Baird was trying to impound her pet. "It's a dog's life," moaned Baird.

As a professional landscaper, Harry Westcott, of Mt. Upton, N. Y., knows better than to saw off a limb on which he is sitting. But he did saw off one to which his safety rope was attached.

Fifteen-year-old Susan Thomson, of Madison, Wis., didn't invite her father to go along when she took the family car for an unauthorized spin which ended when she banged into a tree. He couldn't have gone anyway. As governor of Wisconsin, he was busy at the moment attending a highway safety conference on teenage driving.

DOG COULDN'T STEER

In San Diego, Calif., a car rolled out of a driveway, crossed the street and crashed into the porch of a home. When police arrived they found the driver happily wagging his tail.

His name was Jack and his owner, Don Snyder, had forgotten to set the hand brake when he left the dog alone in the car. Jack had climbed behind the wheel, put paw to gear shift, and let 'er roll.

When three-year-old George Wilkins' mother found him playing with matches in the Wilkins home in San Antonio, Tex., she picked him up to warm his seat. It already was warm. Matches in Georgie's hip pocket had set his pants on fire.

Mrs. Charles Drennon, of Memphis, Tenn., still doesn't know for sure that the little light in the refrigerator really goes out when you close the door. She was still peering intently inside when she slammed the door shut. Her nose wasn't broken, the doctor said—just good and sore.

Thomas Ciappa, of Oswego, N. Y., wondered if it wouldn't be smart to have his brakes relined. He decided definitely it would be when his car kept right on going through the door of the brake-testing station. Damage, $300.

THUMBS A BRUISE

It was bound to happen sooner or later, of course, and it did—to Melvin Carter, of Kinlock, Mo. Trying eagerly to hitchhike a ride, Melvin edged a bit too close to traffic and a passing car whacked his outstretched thumb so hard he had to have it treated.

And in Auburn, Mich., George Pero literally gave up his seat—to a strip-run driver. As Mr. Pero leaned over his car, parked beside the highway, a passing auto caught his trousers and deftly whisked them off, leaving him standing there red-faced.

Even in a city as big as Chicago, a man and his wife will occasionally run into each other on the street. But Dr. and Mrs. Alex Buchholz did it the hard way—each driving a car. Dr. Buchholz, uninjured, insisted on taking the other driver to a hospital for personalized treatment.

In Plant City, Fla., Mrs. Lizzie B. Morgan took a direct route to reach the automobile licensing bureau for her driving test. She stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake and crashed into the building which houses the bureau.

In Chicago, Mrs. George Reithal solicitously entered the darkened bedroom where her husband lay recuperating from a badly sprained ankle, tripped over the crutch protruding from his bed, fell and broke her arm.

One of Charles Combs' farmhands at Olney, Ill., knew a surefire way to get rid of those wasps in the barn. He would burn them out. It worked. The wasps went up in smoke. So did the barn, 5,000 bales of hay, 2,000 bushels of barley, a utility shed, a garage, three drums of gasoline, and 200 loads of manure.

In Los Angeles, two safety award-winning taxi drivers — George Madden with 15 years without an accident and Harry Hayman with eight—made out accident reports the same day. They had collided with each other.

U. of M. Rates Seventh in 1957 Enrollment

WASHINGTON (INS)—The U. S. Office of Education said today the University of Michigan—with 26,370 students—ranked seventh among the nation's universities in enrollment this year.

The office reported student enrollment reached 3,058,000 at 1,890 colleges and universities and set a new record for the sixth straight year.

Farmers, at their death, leave a greater number of children under the age of 16 than persons in any other occupational group.

Security for You

Wife: File Husband's SS Card Safely!

By RAY HENRY

Wives have as big a stake in knowing the Social Security benefits their husbands have earned as the men themselves.

The reasons: The survivor payment program is mainly to benefit a man's wife and children should he die. And, the retirement payment program is nearly as important to a man's wife as it is to him since she usually can draw payments as soon as he starts.

Thus, as a wife, you should be a backstop for your husband in case he doesn't have the time or interest to keep informed on his rights.

Here are some of the things you can do:

—Be sure a copy of your husband's Social Security number is filed in a safe place, preferably along with your insurance policies and other family papers.

Then, without regard to what your husband has done with his Social Security card, you'll always have the number handy in case you need it in an emergency.

Putting the number with the other family papers will also be a reminder, if your husband dies, to apply for Social Security due you and your children.

—Have your husband check his Social Security account every three or four years to see if it's accurate because there's a time limit beyond which certain corrections can not be made.

You can get a special post card form from any Social Security office on which to request a statement of the earnings credited to his account.

If after the statement is mailed to you, there appears to be an error in his record, he can get help from his local Social Security office to get it corrected.

—Should your husband become too disabled to work get in touch with your Social Security office to see if he's entitled to disability payments or to have a disability freeze put on his Social Security record.

If he's totally and permanently disabled, and he's past 50, chances are he's eligible to draw monthly payments of from $30 to $108.50. If he's badly disabled and below 50, he can have his record frozen as of the time he was disabled and the period of disability won't count against him when he's due payments.

—Even if your husband doesn't plan to retire when he reaches 65, he should have a talk with the Social Security office. He may be entitled to some monthly payments if his earnings are not over $2,080 a year or if he doesn't work some months.

The visit will also be helpful to both of you to know what his payments will be when he does retire and to lay the ground work for eventually collecting the payments.

—You should get in touch with your Social Security office when you reach 62, the earliest age at which you can draw retirement payments.

Although you'll not be eligible to draw payments until your husband starts drawing them, you'll have learned the correct procedure to follow when you become eligible.

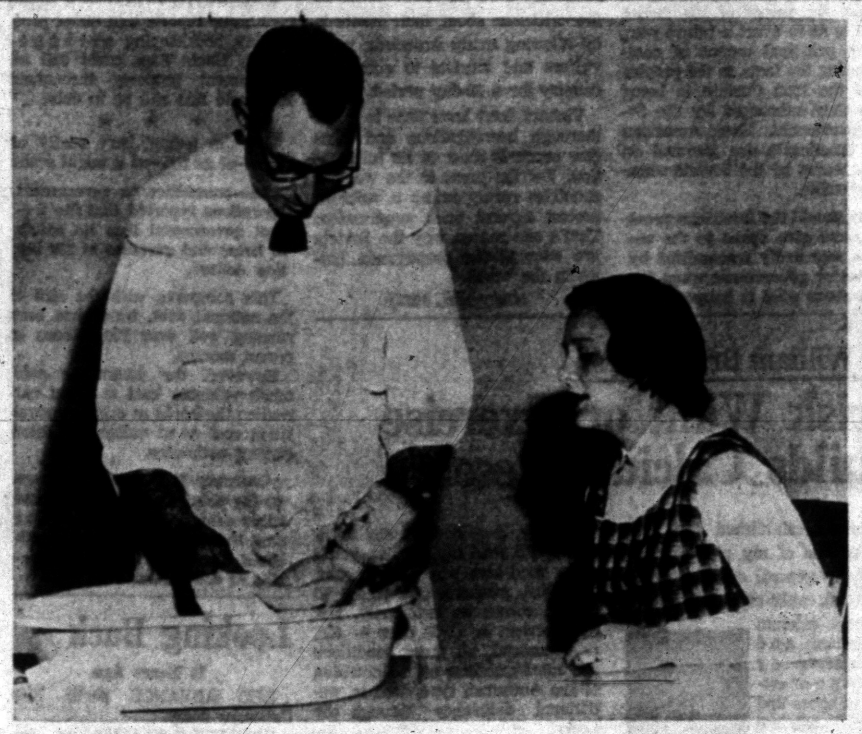

—Be sure to get in touch with your Social Security office as soon after your husband's death as possible.

If you have children under 18, or you're 62 or over, you may be entitled to monthly payments immediately.

At that time, you can also file for the lump sum death payment due you to help pay your husband's burial expenses.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

IT'S DONE THIS WAY—Oscar Boyea, 533 Avon Rd., who became a father three months ago, shows Ann Lund, 290 Reitman Ct., Rochester, how he learned to give a baby a bath when he was enrolled in an expectant parents class this fall. Mrs. Lund, a public health nurse who taught the class, is expecting a baby soon. A similar class will be taught in Pontiac beginning January 13.

Pontiac to Offer Courses to Aid Expectant Parents

Pontiac City Hall will soon become an information center for expectant parents.

Beginning Jan. 13, Pontiac parents-to-be will be able to find out the answers to their many questions. This class is the first held at the city hall in several terms.

At the completion of the course, father will be given a gold lapel safety pin and become members of the Expectant Fathers Club. A wallet-sized membership card indicates they are "temporarily in good standing, because of their delicate condition, and need for sympathy and understanding."

For the first time since the program began in 1952, each couple will be given a certificate of acheivement upon completion of the course according to Margaret Gaston, education director of county public health nurses.

Registration for the eight-week course will be held Jan. 6 at the Pontiac City Health Department, city hall.

OTHER CLASSES

Five other classes will be conducted in Pontiac, Royal Oak and Birmingham.

At the Oakland County Health Department, 1070 N. Telegraph Rd., a course will be held on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. Registration for these classes will be conducted Jan. 7 at the county health department.

Two more classes, beginning Jan. 22 and 23 will be held at the health department office in Royal Oak, 2401 E. Fourth St. Registration for these classes will be held Jan. 15.

Registration for the class conducted at the Birmingham office, 151 W. Martin St., is Thursday. This class will meet each Monday beginning Jan. 6.

NO COURSE FEE

The classes will be conducted by public health nurses and are sponsored by the Oakland County Medical Society, the city and county health departments and various adult education departments. There is no course fee.

The first four meetings will be concerned with the mother. Discussions will be held on family adjustments, growth and development of the baby before birth, labor and delivery.

The last four classes will cover feeding the baby, the characteristics of a baby and baby's first year.

Audio visual aids are used to supplement discussions and conducted hospital tours are also arranged. Each class will be limited to 12 couples.

Registration for all classes will be held from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. and all classes begin at 7:30 p.m.

U. of M. Relic to Be Razed

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan's fourth oldest building is doomed for destruction in February.

The 77-year-old Romance Languages Building will be razed. A tradition-rich structure, it was constructed in 1880 at a cost of $46,000. It first served as a museum.

In 1923, it housed about 75 per cent of the university's museum relics. Shortly thereafter it was converted into a classroom building for language students. A new museum was built.

The only structures on campus older than the Romance Languages Building are the president's home, the observatory and the Economics Building.

Detroit Tops in Safety for Size in December

CHICAGO (AP) — Detroit kept its traffic safety lead among the major cities of the United States through December.

The National Safety Council said that Detroit topped all other cities of more than one million population with a record of 2.8 deaths per 10,000 registered vehicles in the first 11 months of 1957.

Ann Arbor and Benton Harbor were among 117 cities which reported no deaths during the period.

Oceans Provide Lecture Topic

Effects of Sea Water to Be Discussed at Cranbrook School

A summary of how 20 nations are studying the oceans to find out the ways they affect living things will be discussed Jan. 8 at the auditorium of Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills.

This lecture is the fourth in a series selected for investigation during the International Geophysical Year. The entire program is presented by Wayne State University in cooperation with five co-sponsoring organizations including the Cranbrook Institute of Science.

Dr. C. O'D. Iselin, member of the IGY technical panel on oceanography, will speak on "The Secrets of the Ocean" at 8:15 p.m. Iselin is director of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution and is an associate professor of physical oceanography at Harvard University.

The broad study using several techniques and a large fleet of research ships of the 20 nations has been conducted to learn more about how the exchange of warm and cold watrr affects weather and other climatic trends.

The lecture is open to the public without charge.

Coeds' Pup Proved to Be Rabies Victim

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—The preliminary diagnosis of rabies in a pet dog, which touched off a scramble by Florida Southern College to notify vacationing students throughout the country, has been confirmed, the State Board of Health reported.

The puppy, Freckles, frolicked with and was petted by scores of members, pledges and visitors at two sorority houses. It died Dec. 23 at the home of a student who took charge of it for the vacation.

The college has warned by telephone 100 persons who might have been in contact with Freckles. Fourteen who were bitten or scratched by the dog are taking antirabies shots.

Public Should Have Full Gaither Report

The controversy over the Gaither report is somewhat alarming and certainly open for debate. If the United States Government is to have top secret documents such as the Gaither report, then let's keep them secret.

On matters such as this when the entire welfare of the country is at stake, we seem to be sorely lacking in diplomacy. If the report cannot be kept secret, then it should be released at once to the public.

The current handling of the Gaither report is causing widespread speculation and in many cases the rumors will not be true. Often such stories do much more harm than telling the truth.

The report was started last spring at the request of the President for a study to be made for the National Security Council. The Gaither committee was the result.

The committee soon found it could not make intelligent recommendations on a program of active and passive defense against nuclear attack unless it went into the whole subject of the Nation's defense picture and Soviet capabilities. This has been done over a six month period.

Now the findings are starting to leak out in driblets and in some cases pretty sizeable chunks. People are beginning to wonder just what the score is concerning our national defense, and perhaps rightly so.

At the offset the Gaither Committee had a top priority mandate from the President. It could and did command the most authoritative and secret information from the Department of Defense, the Office of Defense Mobilization, the Atomic Energy Commission, the National Science Foundation and the Central Intelligence Agency.

The caliber of men on the committee and its advisory panel was such that they compelled great respect for their findings.

With this background for the report it certainly has all the earmarks of being very authoritative and we are inclined to believe that the American people should be told its findings.

Rumors and false information will do far more harm than knowing the truth.

Natural Resources Now Being Developed

Oakland County's numerous lakes once were considered to be a great liability. But they have become one of our greatest assets.

Several of our highest hills until recent years were branded as worthless. They could not be used for farming, and always were carried on the wrong side of the ledger.

But changing times are bringing those hills into the same category as the lakes. If you don't think so, just try to buy one.

The marvelous growth of skiing is doing the trick. Within the last few years it has made greater progress than any other outdoor sport, either summer or winter.

At least three-fifths of Oakland County's 25 townships have hills that beckon the skier. Several of them already are in position to accommodate those who enjoy the exhilarating feelings that come from contact with this health building pastime.

While Mount Holly jumped the gun on the others last year, when it installed snow-making machinery, and is not dependent on the whims of an unreliable weather, others now are following suit.

No similar area in the entire nation has such ski development possibilities so contiguous to such a large concentration of population.

Nationally famous ski areas, such as Lake Placid and Sun Valley, are much further away from the millions from whom they draw their trade.

All such areas in our county are close to paved highways, and are easier of access than any other in our own state or elsewhere.

The Pontiac vicinity surely is destined to become the skiing mecca of an area even much larger than our own State of Michigan, although our Southern Peninsula alone already has over 60 ski parks in operation.

While the monetary investment in a ski resort, together with its power tows, snow making equipment, restaurant, lounge, toggery shop, equipment for rental, parking lot and other accessories, runs up into six figures, it has already been proven it is an attractive financial venture in Oakland County.

Burning the Trees

Flattery: Like perfume, to smell and not swallow.

At this season, when you're wondering what to do with that old Christmas tree, you'll find it to be a spectacular and snappy fireplace fuel if handled properly. Remove the branches and feed them to the flames gradually, and you'll have a colorful pyrotechnical display.

The trunk will add fuel to the flames, but must have some encouragement from the branches or otherwise. But be sure your screen is in place, and do not put more than a branch or two on the fire at one time.

In a number of local homes that have fireplaces, a

Christmas Tree Party

is given for the neighborhood youngsters whose homes do not have one, and they bring their trees to add to the enjoyment of the occasion.

A deodorized pet skunk that has been given the name of of Waterford, even eating out of the same dish with them.

Among those making an effort to have the robins stay with her all winter is of 2802 Old Orchard Drive, who gives them a varied diet to ascertain what they like best.

Mrs. Ivan Wilcox

A quite unique Christmas greeting was that from

Arthur and Madelon Pound

of Ann Arbor, formerly of Pontiac. It was an original composition, closing with,

"This isn't prose and isn't verse:
Limps, like us, but might be worse."

Mrs. Leon F. Smith

of 255 South Waverly St., Dearborn, Mich., has a blue and white double woven coverlet, with "A. W. Van Doren, Weaver, Avon, Michigan; Lucy L. Perin, 1851" woven in the corner. She wonder if anybody can inform her about its makers of 106 years ago. It is understood that Van Doren lived at Stony Creek, near Rochester, from 1838 to 1864.

David Lawrence Says:

Our Papers Are Best Soviet Tool

WASHINGTON — The American press and radio are unintentionally the best instruments of propaganda the Soviet Union has in the world —and the Soviet government, with deliberate intent, is the worst enemy and most persistent saboteur of American news that the United States faces in the world.

LAWRENCE

This absence of reciprocity was conspicuously illustrated by the propaganda conference of hand-picked representatives of Afro-Asian nations held at Cairo last week by the Communists. The American press and radio spread widely the distortions uttered there. They were in many instances given first-page display.

Here and there were some pointed comments on the editorial pages warning that the conference was Communist-inspired. There was, of course, some important news in the Cairo conference itself, but the contrived nature of the Soviet domination of the whole thing and the behind-the-scenes activities were not exposed on the same pages that told of the Afro-Asian conference.

THEY GET AWAY WITH IT

Had any American or European official uttered such a criticism, it would have been widely printed on the news pages, too.

The Soviet government gets away with many things like this, including a strict censorship over what American correspondents send out of Moscow. No protest against this censorship has been made in a long, long time by any national organization of news writers or editors in America or elsewhere.

So apparently the Soviet government feels it can go ahead with its censorship without alienating world opinion.

The Moscow government, moreover, selects carefully what correspondents it will let enter the Soviet Union. Data about each prospective correspondent must be submitted in advance and the Communists make up their own minds who will be admitted.

WHIMS RULE

They give no reasons for rejections. Likewise, only certain newspapers and magazines are favored and, no matter what the scope of the publication has been in covering for many years news from the capitals of the world, the Communists discriminate against it according to their own whims.

Less than a dozen American newsmen are permitted to reside in Moscow all the year around. They are restricted in their travel and are not permitted to send out news that the government doesn't like.

There is no explanation as to why the Soviet system of suppressing news, and its refusal to let radio stations and newspapers in Russia print the statements of the American government, is not subject to persistent criticism in the United States.

CAN'T RECIPROCATE

Much is being said nowadays in America about the importance of reaching the minds of the Soviet people so as to avert a future war, but the principal means of communicating the facts to the peoples behind the Iron Curtain is being deliberately sabotaged by the Soviet government. Even American radio broadcasts are jammed on the air waves by the Soviets whenever possible.

Why should the American press and radio give space to the untruths repeatedly transmitted by the Soviet government when the truth about what is happening in the world is kept out of the Soviet newspapers and its radio and television broadcasts?

The Soviet authorities have shrewdly tried to offset some of the criticism about their methods by allowing many American news writers and tourists to enter the country for a 30-day period.

Visitors don't have time to make thorough investigations and Moscow conceals most of its information. Yet the press in the western countries rarely raises a voice in protest against such suppression. That's one reason why the Soviets are winning the propaganda battle in the world.

The Country Parson

Dr. William Brady Says:

Brisk Walk or Exercise Builds Calcium Reserve

It is an established fact, and not just one of my pipe dreams, that daily general exercise—ideally a brisk walk of a few miles—promotes calcium metabolism and good reserve or storage of calcium in bones and teeth — calcium upon which the body can draw when it is needed.

DR. BRADY

Upon this physiological fact we base the practical medical observation that prolonged confinement to bed, prolonged disability, or just habitual inactivity or "relaxation," as the overprivileged American youth has learned to call it, depletes the calcium reserve and, as a consequence, impairs the strength of bones, muscles, nerves.

Calcium depletion accounts for the notorious liability of one who has been long confined to bed to break his hip, say, soon after he begins to move about. It accounts, too, for the peevishness, irritability, impatience and propensity to grumble, pout or shed tears over the neglect or lack of sympathy on the part of those around him or her.

As I have tried to teach here, a growing child or adult should consume daily not less than 1½ pints (three glassfuls) of whole milk, skim milk, buttermilk or the equivalent in cheese, peas, beans, greens, nuts and peanuts to keep his or her calcium metabolism at a healthy level.

And vitamin D being essential for good utilization and retention of calcium in the body, every growing child or adult must get a good daily ration of vitamin D from one source or another.

ROLL SOMERSAULTS

Now it stands to reason, I hope, that if I were cultivating the rheumatiz, as I'm afraid a lot of your poor souls are, I wouldn't be rolling somersaults. I believe it has maintained my good calcium matabolism.

In the booklet Chronic Joint Disability (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) I describe what in my opinion is the nature and the best prevention and relief of rheumatiz. Dr. Osler called it chronic rheumatism and said it "more commonly comes on insidiously, in persons who have passed the middle period of life . . . the poor, particularly washerwoman, day laborers . . ."

And so was born a fashionable name for it, "arthritis" — but no reputable physician, no recognized authority, so far as I have learned, explains what may be the difference between "arthritis" and rheumatiz.

Anyway, dear doctors and folks, if you will read my booklet, you'll get a good idea why chronic joint disability, whatever you please to call it, comes on insidiously, just as pyorrhea or CVD does — for, as I contend, all three conditions are manifestations of malnutrition of the American type, that is, nutritional deficiency through the years.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Resolve, Even if You Backslide

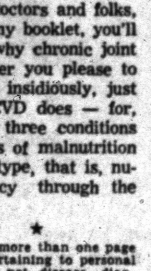

Clarence fails to get his home work done on schedule. His mother is overweight. And his dad smokes heavily. Should they all resolve to change? Even if they might occasionally backslide? This is a good debate topic for high school or church societies. Scrapbook this case for future use.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, our topic next week deals with making good resolutions," Clarence began.

DR. CRANE

"For example, my dad smokes. My mother is 25 pounds overweight. And I procrastinate about doing my homework.

"If we make good resolutions and then break them, doesn't that make us neurotic and unhappy?

"What does psychology suggest in such cases?"

MAKE RESOLUTIONS

If Florence Nightingale had drifted with the spirit of her age, she would never have resolved to renovate the handling of wounded soldiers.

If Dr. Jenner had not resolved to work and buck unfavorable public opinion regarding his theory of vaccination to stop smallpox, then some 40,000,000 Americans now living, would be dead or so badly pock-marked they'd be nauseating to view.

The idea is father to the deed, so it is well to make good resolutions.

"Not failure," said Lowell, "but low aim is crime."

So aim high, even if you don't attain your goal. And get your family to join you in mutual competition to get rid of slavery to bad habits.

During the past few months Dr. Daniel Horn and Dr. E. Cuyler Hammond gave us the report of an intensive survey of 188,000 men as regards the medical disadvantages of tobacco.

This investigation was sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Horn estimated that heavy cigaret smoking lops off 7 to 8 years from your lifespan, due to lung cancer, plus coronary heart trouble.

Moderate smokers lose 2 to 3 years. Cigar smokers shorten their lives an average of 1½ years, while pipe smokers lose maybe three months.

The average cigaret smoker burns up $100 annually on the ends of his cigarets.

But if he earns $5,000 per year and shortens his life by only two years, that means he loses $10,000 in earning capacity, plus the $5,000 he spent over a 50-year span of smoking.

So it costs him $15,000, or an average of $300 EACH YEAR in cold cash.

DIETING ADVICE

Each pound of surplus fat likewise helps shorten life. So you dieters can add to your lifespan and also save an average of at least $2.50 per pound in groceries by dissolving away that roll of excess upholstery around your equator.

Plump wives, make a deal with your smoking husbands! You go on a diet while they quit tobacco. Add the salvaged money to your vacation fund or give part of it to your church.

When quitting tobacco, use candy coated gum and carry it in the same pocket as your former cigarets, so your arm will have

You dieters should dehydrate yourself for 10 days, till you lose the first 10 pounds as per the booklet mentioned below.

And, teenagers, make an agenda of your next day's duties! Write down your chores and studies. Then check them off as you finish them. I'd never get half of my work done without such an agenda.

And work on the 24-hour plan. Don't think too far ahead, for that is discouraging. Quit tobacco or overeating "just for today." Use short goals!

Send for my booklet "How to Lose 10 Lbs. in 10 Days," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). It also contains a calorie chart.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Voice of the People

'We Must Change Attitude Toward Our Engineers'

Never in the history of western civilization have foundations of Democracy been so dangerously shaken. But America shouldn't blame an outside enemy for the situation.

Colleges have maintained a policy that discouraged higher education, particularly in engineering, but far worse is the attitude of industry toward engineering ability. I've done successful work in four types of engineering jobs and have yet to see where ability to do the job has been the deciding factor in employment.

In this country, engineers are often selected for the church they attend, their lodge, or because they grew up on the same street as the personnel director. Department heads and personnel directors worship degrees on one hand and political expediency on the other. The middle ground is shied away from, and that's where the best and most ability lies. Many applicants are denied employment because department key men fear the new men's ability will surpass their own.

It isn't Russia's psychology that has upset us, but her simple dynamic progress has upset our psychology. Unless America fans the sparks of her native ability, we will go the way of all powers in history that got away from the soil — oblivion.

Harry Dean

Offers Resolution for All Americans

I have a suggestion for everyone in this country. As a New Year's resolution, why don't we all decide to stop talking about our "disgrace" at having not launched the first Sputnik? It's like having a conniption fit because your neighbor gets a new car first. The only difference is that on a national level, it's particularly sickening.

Hurray for Our Side

'What Does Parker Have to Say Now?'

Well, how about a few thunderous cheers for our Lions? They really left the Browns in a cloud of dust, and I'm just wondering what old Buddy Parker has to say now. It may well have been his cutting remarks that inspired the Lions to make that last winning streak. Maybe we should send him a couple of dollars of that bonus money.

Better Account Needed of Federal Property

WASHINGTON (INS) — A House committee reports that under present-day bookkeeping arrangements, Uncle Sam could sell all government property throughout the world and still be in debt.

But the ledger isn't really as black—or as red—as it might seem.

The committee on government operations reported that the federal government lists its assets at home and overseas at 256 billion dollars.

This compares with the size of the national debt, which has been running well over 270 billions in recent months.

However, the committee said, much valuable land is being carried on the books at original acquisition cost or at values far below current estimates.

Chairman William L. Dawson (D-Ill) pointed out that the 1,366 acres comprising the Presidio at San Francisco, currently worth about 50 million dollars, is carried at one dollar.

The same price applies to Governor's Island, New York and the 1,030 acre Philadelphia Navy Yard. Donated airfields at Jacksonville, Fla., Little Rock, Ark., Kansas City, Mo., and Smyrna, Tenn., have "no value" in the government's account books.

"The house committee on government operations," Dawson said, "is anxious to issue an inventory report covering assets of the federal government which will represent a more realistic approach to evaluating federal realty."

Third New College to Be Established in County

Rochester Site Purchased by Christian Foundation

ROCHESTER — Plans were announced here yesterday of the opening of a third new Oakland County college.

The North Central Christian College Foundation, Inc., has purchased a 37-acre site near Rochester for a co-educational junior college.

The Board of Directors of the foundation, which represents the Churches of Christ, said the school plans to enroll its first students in September, 1959.

The site of the college is the estate formerly owned by the Maxon Advertising Agency of Detroit. It is located at 820 W. Avon Rd., about one mile west of Rochester in Avon Township.

Arrangements for the sale were made by the office of Max A. Hartwig, Rochester realtor. Purchase price was not announced but was estimated in six figures.

This will be the third new college established in Oakland County. Michigan State University plans to open its Oakland Branch near Rochester in the fall of 1959, and construction is now under way on Columbiere College, a four - million - dollar training college of Jesuit priests and brothers in Springfield Township.

"The North Central Christian College Foundation is made up of business and professional men from Michigan and Ohio who are members of the Churches of Christ," said G. Wheeler Utley, foundation chairman.

UNDENOMINATIONAL

"This sponsoring group plans to pattern the new school after Christian colleges already operating in many parts of the country. Undenominational, its purpose will be to furnish a Christian education in accordanc ewith a state-approved curriculum. When eventually expanded into a four-year school, the college will grant accepted arts and science degrees."

On a site long known for its elaborately landscaped beauty, the present buildings consist of a large residence which will be used for classrooms, a caretaker's home, and several other smaller buildings.

Ample land is available for future classroom and dormitory buildings. The Clinton River forms one boundary. In addition, there are two small lakes on the property.

Effective immediately, the foundation will make its headquarters on its newly acquired site. It will also use the property for youth rallies and other purposes, consistent with the plans of the foundation.

"Rochester was chosen as our preferred location," Utley said, "because of its accessability to the general metropolitan area, its scenic beauty and atmosphere of suburban cordiality, and the fact that it is one of the fastest growing areas around Detroit with a steady influx of people who will be able to make good use of the cultural facilities we will develop.

"We are happy to be in Rochester and we intend to serve the entire area in such a fashion as to make the community proud of the college we will establish," he said.

Velma Miller Speaks Vows at South Lyon

SOUTH LYON—The Presbyterian Church was the scene of the evening wedding of Velma Miller and Pvt. Robert C. Lukacs. The Rev. Lewis E. Bender performed the rite.

The bride wore a white ballerina-length gown of lace over taffeta, featuring a full skirt and fitted bodice. A sequin turned band held her fingertip veil. On a white Bible, she carried a handkerchief edged in lace belonging to her grandmother and a bouquet of roses and a white orchid.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Miller of 305 Washington St., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lukacs of Dearborn.

Gingellville Church Program Set Tonight

GINGELLVILLE — The Gingellville Baptist Church has planned a New Year's Eve program to begin at 9 p.m. at the church. Following a social and recreational period under the direction of Miss Joan Strine, refreshments will be served. Mrs. Thomas Price is the food chairman.

At 11 p.m. the group will convene for a devotional hour and see the film, "The Bible on the Table."

Friends of the church are invited to welcome in the New Year at the church with the members and their families.

BARBARA FRANCES DICK

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth C. Dick of Coral Gables avenue, Lathrup Village, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara Frances, to Lovell George Shore Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lovell George Shore of Birwood avenue, Detroit. Miss Dick graduated from Southfield Township High School and attended Michigan State University. The prospective bridegroom graduated from Principia High School in St. Louis, Mo., and Michigan State University. An April wedding is planned.

DORIS HAWKINS

The engagement of Doris Evelyn Hawkins to Jerry K. Wolfe has been announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hawkins of 1271 Livernois Rd., Rochester. Son of Mrs. Mary Cummings and Louis Wolfe, the prospective bridegroom has made his home with his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Ward Brockman, 202 Lysander St., Rochester. The wedding date has not been set.

SANDRA HENDERSON

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Henderson of Dequindre road, Rochester, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra, to George Nagaitis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Helwig of Anchorville.

Romeo Police Hunt Culprits Nativity Sheep 'Strayed'

By LEE WINBORN
Press Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — A passing motorist saw sheep in the middle of Mellen street here Sunday night and notified village police.

Sgt. Ernest Haase was sent to the scene to retrieve the animal while the dispatcher started checking possible owners.

Mrs. Richard Sammond, of Sammond Pleasant Lodge, was called and asked if one of her sheep was missing. She said she hadn't looked lately but went outside to investigate.

Sure enough, one of the 12 life-size, plywood sheep in the nativity scene on the front lawn was gone. In a matter of minutes, the stray animal was returned to its rightful place near the shepherds.

But that wasn't the end of it. Early yesterday morning Mrs. Sammond found that some 40 light bulbs which had illuminated the driveway were gone. So were the large bulbs in the Christmas candles on the porch. Now the rest-home owners are debating whether to decorate again next Christmas.

Nor were the holiday trimmings thefts confined to the lodge. Police said similar incidents have been quite widespread in the village during the holidays and a search for the culprits is under way.

New Hudson

New Hudson Square Dance Club will hold a New Year's Eve party in the school gymnasium. Herman Scheel will be the caller.

Imlay City

Methodist Youth Fellowship will have a fun program from 8 to 11 o'clock New Year's Eve, with a Watch Night service to follow at the church.

Sacred Heart Ushers Club and choir members, their wives and husbands will hold a potluck supper at 7:30 Saturday evening in the Community Room.

Metamora

Young people of Pilgrim Congregational Church are planning a Watch Night service this evening in the new basement room at the church. Adults also are welcome. Prayer meeting and Bible study this week will be held on Thursday evening instead of Wednesday evening because of New Year's Day.

Blood Drives Slated at Rochester Church

ROCHESTER — The Avon Tube Division of Higbie Manufacturing Company will hold a blood bank January 7 at St. Andrew Catholic Church from 1 to 7 p.m.

Mrs. Russell W. Nowels, local blood bank chairman, has asked Mrs. Donald C. Baldwin and her committee to register the donors.

Nurses' aides will be headed by Mrs. George W. Akers; receptionists by Mrs. John C. Plassey, and registered nurses by Mrs. Robert L. Blome.

Mrs. Robert H. Wilson will assist as a Gray Lady. The canteen is in charge of Mrs. Fred A. Weihe, Jr.

The Rochester Community blood bank will be at St. Andrew Church Feb. 4 from 2 to 8 p.m. Registrations are being taken by Mrs. Robert Sanford, OL 6-2681.

Pick Utica Man to Head Lodge

Scouting Honor Society Elects Officers, Hears Selfridge Officer

UTICA — Frank Breza of Utica was elected lodge chief of Chippewa Lodge No. 29, Order of the Arrow, at the annual meeting and banquet Saturday night in the Utica Methodist Church.

Other officers elected were Richard Trombley of Mt. Clemens, vice chief in charge of chapter operations; Lyle See of Milford, vice chief in charge of committee operations; Ronald Card of Pontiac, treasurer, and John Smith of Milford, secretary.

About 90 members of the lodge, affiliated with the Clinton Valley Boy Scout Council, attended the event from all parts of northern Oakland and Macomb counties. The Order of the Arrow is a national honor society of Scout campers and leaders.

The new lodge chief was formerly vice chief in charge of chapter operations and has been active in lodge committee work for a number of years. He has been given the Vigil Honor, high national recognition for service awarded to only a few hundred men and boys in the country.

Retiring Lodge Chief Paul Heil and his adult advisor, William Genette, both of Milford, were cited for their service to the lodge.

Two Officers Unopposed

7 File for Romeo Council

ROMEO — Only two local officials will be unopposed in the village primary elections Feb. 17. They are President Joseph E. Rymill and Assessor Glenn Levin.

Seven men, including the three incumbents, filed for election to the Village Council by the 4 p.m. deadline yesterday.

Petitions were turned in for Willard E. Bird, Howard Pallister, James Q. Womble and Russell Arnold.

The names of the three incumbent trustees, David E. Pettibone, Fred Hebert and Donald Payne, also will appear on the ballot in the spring election, unless one or more withdraw within the 72-hour limit.

The other post which received the most interest among local office-seekers was that of treasurer. Three women and one man are seeking the post which is being vacated this year by Grace R. McKay, who is retiring.

They are Mrs. Edna Hamilton, Miss Alma Jean Haines, Mrs. Lawrence Hosner and Col. William M. Cooley.

Sidney J. White will run against incumbent William M. Oming for the office of village clerk.

Filing for reelection to their present posts as library directors are C. E. Preston and Edgar A. Priest. They are unopposed.

4 Women Play Leading Roles in Our Community During 1957

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE
Women's Editor, Pontiac Press

As the old year leaves us, and the new approaches, it is time to count our blessings—a time to think about those who have made outstanding contributions to our community. There are too many to name, but a few stand out significantly.

As we thought of those whom we would like to tell you about, we thought of women who have been leaders in various professions, businesses and religions. We decided upon women engaged in psychiatry, religion, science and farming.

POINT WITH PRIDE

This year of 1957 is International Geophysical Year, and we point with pride to Dr. Prince who is playing an important role in this scientific undertaking through the study of solar activity.

She is a University of Michigan professor of astronomy, assigned to McMath-Hulbert Observatory at Lake Angelus. At the solar research station she conducts investigations in solar - terrestrial relationships in the hope that the cosmic environment of the earth may be more clearly understood.

During this year (IGY), the scientist explains, the sun has risen to maximum activity and "we have been able to make new observations of certain aspects of solar activity because we (at the observatory) have a new and excellent grating in the spectroheliograph of the 50-foot solar tower."

Dr. Prince has had many honors heaped upon her during her years of work at the observatory since 1947, and this year was given full professorship at the University of Michigan in the College of Litterature, Science and Art.

HIGHEST AWARD

In 1956 she won the Cannon Prize, the highest award given to women in the field of astronomy.

She has been appointed a delegate to the International Scientific Radio Union Conference to be held at Boulder, Colo., in August. She also is a member of the U. S. Solar Technical Panel for IGY.

Her other memberships include American Association of University Professors, Phi Beta Kappa, American Astronomical Society and the American Geophysical Union.

We turn to Dr. Sarah Van Hoosen Jones for one. Until recent years she carried on the family tradition of farming, taking many honors for her prize-winning cattle along the way. She has been called the only woman master farmer in Michigan.

CLINGS TO TRADITION

We look to her, too, as a person who clings strongly to tradition, and as one who is just as excited about the future.

Her main interest this year is the new branch of Michigan State University at Rochester where she has donated 200 acres of her 400-acre farm for educational purposes, and where she is a member of the planning committee.

Dr. Jones' life reads like a story. It was expected that she would study medicine like her famous aunt, "The Petticoat Surgeon," Dr. Bertha Van Hoosen. But the land always beckoned, and Dr. Jones heeded the call.

This same call was heard by her maternal grandfather, Joshua Van Hoosen, who, following a trip around the Horn to Sacramento, Calif., in 1852, settled at Stony Creek, one mile from Rochester, and purchased 60 acres of land. By the time of his death, he had acquired 260 acres of land on the present site.

NAMED BY FAMILY

Still earlier, in 1822, her great-grandparents had halted their ox team and covered wagon on the banks of this same creek and decided to call it "Stony Creek." They built the first log cabin upon this site, which had awed them with its hills and valleys.

And so it goes—three generations of farm-loving people. The old homestead acquired one-story wings flanking it on either side, and the beams in the library come from the first barn built by Dr. Jones' grandfather.

Two parts of the farm are centennial. The first part was 100 years old in 1923, and the second addition had stood 100 years in 1954.

Dr. Jones received three college degrees even though poor health kept her from attending school until she was 11 years of age. She received a bachelor of philosophy degree from the University of Chicago, moving on to the University of Wisconsin to receive a master's degree in animal husbandry. From then on she says her life "just bloomed."

STUDY OF GENETICS

A "new" science began at that time called genetics (study of inheritance in plants and animals). It was during World War I and Dr. Jones was left to keep the experiments going until the men came back from the war.

In 1921 she got her doctor of philosophy degree in genetics. She was offered an assistantship at the University of Wisconsin, but once again the farm beckoned.

And it proved a good beckoning, for Dr. Jones went on to win citations as a master farmer. Handling the full management of the farm, 300 acres were tilled, the main product being purebred Holstein-Friesian cattle.

NATIONAL HONOR

Top recognition came in 1943 when she received the national honor for premier breeders at the National Dairy Cattle Congress.

She gave up major farming after the death of her mother and aunt (1952) and closed the little country store, "The Sign of the Black and White Cow."

Then she decided to do some traveling, so in 1953, she and her bookkeeper and companion, Alice Serrell, attended the Queens coronation. (Dr. Jones' first trip was around the Pacific in 1923).

This led to future trips and in 1956 they took a trip around the world. What lies ahead for Dr. Jones? She hasn't made any definite plans for travel, but she'll be enthusiastic about whatever happens.

DEDICATED TO OTHERS

For those who dedicate themselves to others we looked to Dr. Anne W. Becker, psychiatrist and clinical director of Pontiac State Hospital.

In her role she supervises and coordinates psychiatric care of patients, but love for humanity and a feeling for the less fortunate are qualities she possesses aside from the "line of duty."

She believes strongly that "we owe it to ourselves to use whatever abilities we have to help others." And, she says, "this work, of all the work I've done, gives me the most satisfaction."

There were times when it seemed almost impossible to get through the hardships of medical school, but she is happy for it now. She attributes a great deal of the encouragement and inspiration to her mother.

LIVED OVERSEAS

When she was 4 years of age her parents moved to Europe, living in Ireland, Holland and Belgium, and she was raised tri-lingually. Returning to the States when she was 12, she continued her education, graduating from Pontiac High School.

She received a B.A. degree from Wayne State University and another B. A. in library science from University of Michigan where she received a master's degree in linguistics. Her M.D. degree was conferred by University of Illinois, and she has been certified by the American Board of Neurology and Psychiatry.

Becoming interested in psychiatry in medical school, Dr. Becker was dedicated by the time she did her internship in San Diego County Hospital. She spent the next three years in experience at Colorado State Hospital and one year at Illinois State Training School for Girls.

Coming to Pontiac State Hospital in 1953 as a staff psychiatrist, she moved up to assistant clinical director of the women's division and director of medical education before becoming clinical director of the hospital.

MOTHER OF TWO

Dr. Becker has two daughters, Johanna, 6, and Rebecca, 3, for whom she does a great deal of knitting and sewing.

Besides her professional work and homemaking, she devotes time to service projects through the Zonta Club and is a consultant for Temple Beth Jacob Nursery School.

For one whose spiritual guidance has helped solve the problems of many, we turned to Capt. Louise Michalsen (Mrs. Magnus A. Michalsen) of the Salvation Army. It is her duty to help those with troubled lives, but it is rewarding work.

Young people, often deeply troubled, come to her for guidance, assured that she will take their problems to heart and in to her confidence.

And many have felt the sincerity of her faith in these sometimes trying times. During this season's holidays she was especially busy, making sure every needy family had a Christmas basket, and that these families have adequate housing and clothing throughout the year.

Her church work at the Salvation Army headquarters consists of leading the primary department and working with junior soldiers. Young people are a major interest with her and she enjoys her visits among members of the Citadel.

Those who have come to depend upon her are warmed by her ready smile and look forward to the morning service which she leads.

She has assisted the schools with various "problem" cases and works with parents on these problems. Very often she is called in the nighttime by parents who are concerned about their teenage children.

MARITAL GUIDANCE

When there are marital problems, often she is consulted. Some of these are referred to the person's religious leader or in some cases to a psychiatrist where special help is indicated.

She has a very full day at the Citadel, and she has a busy one at home with three boys, Paul, 12, David, 10, and John, 2.

Waxworks Established for Capital

Display Designed to Rival London's Mme. Tussaud

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Another sight to see will be available to capital visitors with the opening of the new Washington Historical Museum — an all-American "waxworks" designed to out-Tussaud London's world-famed Mme. Tussaud's.

Some 14 historical tableaux dramatizing highlights of the country's development, and 26 figures, from Columbus to Eisenhower, will be feated in the museum being readied by Historic Figures, Inc., a private educational commercial project, for an auspicous Feb. 22 premiere.

PLASTIC SUBSTANCE

The uncannily lifelike figures, modeled from a secret plastic substance — not wax — by Baltimore sculptor Henry Berge, will be housed in a remodeled brewery stable in the capital's swankily reclaimed "Foggy Bottom," near the State Department and overlooking the Potomac.

Frank L. Dennis, chief of policy at the United States Information Agency, a lawyer and former newsman, conceived the idea and is president of the corporation of 17 stockholders. One of the five directors will manage the museum.

However, Dennis and his chic socialite wife, Kitty, who is doing the research on furnishings and the physical characteristics of the figures, are so fascinated with the project it occupies their every spare moment.

PLENTY OF REDHEADS

"Did you know that Columbus, Washington, Lafayette, Churchill and Eisenhower all are redheads and that the left ring finger of Herbert Hoover's hand is permanently swollen from a baseball accident while he was at Stanford University?"

To get the exact coloring of John Hancock's eyes, the Dennises traveled to the Boston Museum to look at the Copely portrait.

"We hope to constantly increase our showing to embrace all American history according to an orderly plan," Dennis said.

"It's our intention, after the basic things are done, to go through each state, have the people, maybe the high school students, decide what is their state's most dramatically important incident."

One of the most captivating features of the museum is the Children's and Poets' Corner with such imaginative creations as Tom Sawyer, Ichabod Crane, Orphan Annie, Paul Bunyan and Evangeline on display.

Tonight Combines Regret and Hope

May 1958 Be the Best Year Ever!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Here we are again! New Year's Eve! There are two evenings during each year which have their own special quality: Christmas Eve and New Year's Eve.

Tonight is a blending of many emotions. We think of those we love, those who are with us and those who are far from us, and of those we have loved and lost.

Tonight is a combination of regret and hope, of the awareness of lost opportunity and future chance, of fun and nostalgia. It is a great tide of emotion which brings to life, with its laughter and tears, most of our human experience.

Such nights as this render us a service. They jog us out of our ruts and out of our daily narrow viewpoint. They act as a purge for humdrum and negative living.

Actually, it is a good thing that a night like this comes only once a year because of the intensity of the emotions we experience.

I sincerely hope that 1958 will be the best year ever for all of you! I hope that the New Year will ring out tears and ring in laughter, ring out despair and ring in hope, ring out pessimism and ring in optimism, ring out poor health and ring in good health.

I hope all of you have a wonderful 1958!

Tomorrow: "Ah, Love! Here's Some of What's Been Said About It."

When Mrs. G. S. Brodie of West Walton boulevard celebrated her 80th birthday the past week, her grandchildren were on hand to celebrate the occasion with gifts and a family get-together. Quick Icing Mixture Is Fudge, Too

Here's an interesting, yet simple recipe for a chocolate frosting. In families where everyone loves peanut butter it should make a big hit. It'll make fudge too.

Mrs. Howard Morgan has such a family. Her three boys and three girls love Mama's cooking. Mrs. Morgan belongs to the Lorraine Manor Garden Club. She likes to get out and meet people.

CHUNKY FROSTING
By Mrs. Howard Morgan

2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
¼ pound margarine
3 tablespoons chunky peanut butter (plain style will do).

Mix sugar, cocoa and salt. Add milk and margarine. Stir over heat until margarine is melted. Bring to a boil and boil 2 minutes.

Add peanut butter. Stir until it melts and mixture loses its shine. Frost cake. For fudge, beat mixture longer and pour into buttered pan.

MRS. JOHN W. SAWYERS

Married Saturday afternoon were Elizabeth Rodgers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Rodgers, and John Warren Sawyers, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sawyers.

Elizabeth Rodgers Weds in Rite at Trenton Church

Altar vases of white gladioli and carnations decorated Trenton Methodist Church for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Elizabeth Rodgers of West Pike street and John Warren Sawyers of South Paddock street. The Rev. Herbert C. Brubaker performed the candlelight ceremony before 100 guests.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert R. Rodgers of Trenton. Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sawyers of Terre Haute, Ind., are parents of the bridegroom.

Her fingertip veil was held in place by a silk cap with matching trim. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white camellias surrounded by white roses and ivy.

She wore a blue velvet headband and carried a cascade of arrangement of pink roses and pink carnations with white feathered carnations blended around the edge.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

To receive guests at a reception in the church parlors Mrs. Rodgers chose a blue afternoon dress with white accessories and a pink cymbidium orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue afternoon dress with light blue accessories and a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

Before leaving on an East Coast trip the new Mrs. Sawyers changed to an aqua wool jersey sheath dress with beige coat and brown accessories. The couple will live on West Pike street.

The bride was graduated from Milwaukee-Downer College and Mr. Sawyers is a graduate of Rose Polytechnic Institute.

Dear Abby . . .

If You Think Hubby Is Being Taken In by Mama, It's Advisable to Call a Spade a Spade — Dig Me?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: After keeping my mouth shut and my eyes open for a full year I know it is not my imagination, but how can I solve my problem? It is my mother. She is acting a play for my husband!

ABBY

She and my father were divorced because she couldn't keep her hands off one of my college professors. She would come to visit me (when I went to college) and stay for weeks, just hanging around this college town and meeting him on the sly.

Now she phones my husband at work and pretends to have something important to meet him about, but I know her tricks. She is young looking, very attractive, and my husband is only human. Please help me?

WORRIED SICK

DEAR WORRIED: Being "human" doesn't excuse anything. It takes two to tango. If you think hubby is being taken in, call a spade a spade. Dig me?

DEAR ABBY: Would you please be kind enough to write a few lines in your column explaining that I was not the ALICE who wrote that letter saying my husband drank a lot and I was afraid to drive with him when he got in that shape?

My name happens to be ALICE and when my husband saw that letter he said he knew I wrote it and we had an awful row. Thank you, Dear.

ALICE B.

DEAR ALICE: Unless I have permission, I never print the full name of a writer — but the ALICE whose letter I printed lived west of the Rockies.

DEAR ABBY: Have things changed since I was in the business world? I worked for years and would never think of addressing my boss by his first name.

Where my husband works (and he is considered an executive) all the girls in the place call him "Jimmie" and it just burns me up. When did the proper formalities fall out of favor, or could it be that in my husband's case, he has encouraged such familiarity?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: Some places of business have a less formal atmosphere than others. Most girls who are on "first-name basis" with their bosses have no desire to get to first base — relax!

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know what you think of a 17-year-old who has to kiss everyone goodby before he leaves the house — even his aunt! I think he is a first-class sissy.

DEAR LIBBY: I'd have to see his aunt first.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of three small boys and therefore do not have any girls' toys around the house. My middle son, aged 3, has been asking me to get him a doll and he asks for it constantly.

I see nothing wrong with getting him one but my husband strongly objects. This small issue is causing a big fuss. Your opinion would be appreciated.

E. F.

DEAR E.F.: Your "middle" son probably misses the attention he had as a baby because he is no longer the baby, so he wants a "baby" of his own.

I see no harm in getting him a male doll, but if he continues to favor girl's activities to boy's, by all means consult your doctor.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HAZEL: That he-man from Milwaukee is full o'hops. Better find out what's brewin'!

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Hal Boyle Says:

New Year's Eve ... a Gamble in Survival

NEW YORK (AP)—Going to a New Year's Eve party isn't so much an adventure in enjoyment anymore as it is a gamble in survival.

It is also a test of endurance. A wise host today will refuse to admit any guest to one of these shindigs unless he can produce proof he has recently passed a physical examination and is fit enough to play college football or join the police force.

What the guest himself needs, of course, is a special one-day insurance policy, protecting him from all hazards of life, limb, mind and morals. But what company would be crazy enough to knowingly guarantee anybody going to a New Year's Eve party? None. Not even if the applicant agreed to wear a suit of armor, which, by the way, is probably the most suitable type of clothing at such affairs.

Why do so many Americans deliberately inflict the self-punishment upon themselves incidental to attendance at New Year's Eve? My theory is that it is like a trip to the zoo—you meet such interesting animals, many of them bearing an almost eerie resemblance to human beings.

The despairing pundit—"Russia is going to throw up a Sputnik the size of Rhode Island next April," he says. "We might as well drink and be merry. It'll all be over with us by the end of the year."

The blonde gardener—This dizzy lame, married 15 years, likes to plant things, chiefly lipstick marks on strange men, and winds up making herself a blooming nuisance.

The sightless groper—He is a handyman—too handy, in fact. Even when he gets too blind to see what girl he is talking to, his sense of touch never leaves him. A girl who gets in a corner with him has to box her way out.

The night-blooming stunt man—He does a headstand for half an hour, bets he is the only one at the party who can leap over the sofa without bending his knees. At 1 a.m., he has the Christmas tree down on the floor in a life and death struggle and is mumbling to it, "Say uncle—and I'll let you up."

The long ago and far away fellow—Suddenly he feels a need for the friends of his youth, and before the host can stop him he has put in long distance calls, at the host's expense naturally, to old pals in Hong Kong, Cairo and Sydney, Australia.

Nobel Prize Winner Scans Science Situation in U.S.

Rates Thought Over Cash

NEW YORK (INS)—Nobel prize winner Dr. C. N. Yang thinks Americans overrate dollars at the expense of deep-thinking.

The 34-year-old Chinese scientist, who received the 1957 Nobel award in physics with fellow-worker Dr. T. D. Lee, was asked why a technological country like the U. S. has such a scarcity of scientific personnel and young people interested in entering the field. Yang answered:

"There has not been enough respect in the U. S. for learning and for learnedness. The emphasis in technology in the United States was primarily connected with the acquisition of money, only accidentally with the acquisition of knowledge."

Although Yang's work is involved with sub-atomic particles, he looks forward to many scientific advances brought about by mechanisms installed in artificial earth satellites.

He said: "To be able to make observations free from the disturbances from our atmosphere would certainly lead to important developments in astrophysics and in meteorology. Whether these developments would lead to greatly increased understanding of the atom and the nucleus is difficult to predict."

Yang, who came to the U. S. in 1945 under a scholarship and is now connected with the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton, N. J., feels that both the scientist and the press have a duty toward helping the layman understand new discoveries and theories.

He said:

"The scientists, as fellow citizens, do have, in my opinion, a responsibility to inform the public of that part of their knowledge that is of general interest, or that is of practical importance to the general population."

He cited such publications as "Scientific American" and "Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists" as two examples of "the number of very good magazines that serve to transmit the scientists' messages to the public." He added:

"If one feels that the transmission has not functioned too well in the past, a very good start to a rectification is to ask the science editors or commentators to spend more time reading more carefully these magazines instead of trying to go after sensational fragmentary pieces of information which are of 'news value.'"

Will Ask Russia to Prove Intent

Require Concessions on Disarmament Before 2nd Summit Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States was reported preparing today to insist that Russia prove its good faith by new disarmament concessions before this country will consider a second East-West summit conference.

This basic strategy unfolded as top officials drafted President Eisenhower's reply to Russian Premier Bulganin's newest bid for a meeting of Communist and free world leaders.

Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles were understood to be increasingly reconciled to the inevitability of a new round of talks with the Soviets, but far from enthusiastic about the prospects.

Their attitude, in the face of Allied pressure for new discussions, appeared to be developing into this pattern:

1. New talks should be confined strictly to the disarmament deadlock and should not include discussion of political problems.

2. These discussions should be held either on a foreign ministers' level or lower, such as within the United Nations Disarmament Commission, to test Russia's professed willingness to ease tensions.

3. The door to a multination summit conference, bringing together Eisenhower and Bulganin, will remain open as a follow-up to any promising disarmament negotiations.

If Russia rejects new disarmament talks or refuses to offer concessions, Eisenhower and Dulles will vigorously oppose any new summit conference. Their view, officials said, is that it would harm the West by sending hopes skyrocketing, only to see them tumble in disillusionment.

Charter Buses Await Phoenix Celebrators

Safety buses will be available on a charter basis to groups of 40 or more celebrants shuttling to and from New Year's Eve parties.

So has Police Chief Charles P. Thomas.

Couple Fulfills Family Wishes, Wed 2nd Time

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A young Nigerian couple spoke their marriage vows for a second time on Sunday, thousands of miles from the scene of their first wedding.

The second marriage ceremony for Mr. and Mrs. Isaac A. Grillo fulfilled their family's wishes that they be 'married in the eyes of God.'

The Grillos were married the first time last July in their native Nigeria by the Supreme Court of that country, just before they had to fly back to the United States to continue their schooling.

"We wanted a church wedding at home but there wasn't time," said Grillo, a third-year medical student at Kansas University.

The bride's father, a Baptist minister in Africa, and her brother, T. A. Adejunmobi, a theological student in Louisville, urged the religious ceremony.

The bride, Arinade, was more nervous than during the first wedding. Her eyes were filled with tears during the ceremony at the Green Street Baptist Church here.

Black-Eye Pea Lovers Invite New Recruits

TAYLOR, Tex. (AP)—The National Black-eyed Pea Assn. of America, Inc., plans to start off 1958 by throwing open its membership to anyone in the world.

"The primary prerequisite," said Acting President Elmore R. Torn, is that the proposed member declare in writing his friendship for the black-eyed pea. The organization is devoted to furthering the tradition of eating black-eyed peas on New Year's Day.

Russia's population (in including the satellites) is 193 million.

Planning Lavish Home for Growing Family

By BOB THOMAS

They are Dinah Shore and George Montgomery, who are now building a magnificent house complete with white-quartz fireplaces, waterfalls, seven bathrooms and 8,500 square feet of living space. Don't get me wrong. The Montgomerys aren't putting on the dog; they're much too down-to-earth for that. But they need a large place to house their growing family and many enterprises. Both have worked hard, Dinah on her TV grind and George making five pictures this year. So why shouldn't they enjoy the fruits of their labor?

Located in the foothills above the end of the Sunset Strip, the Montgomery manse has a breath-taking view of the Los Angeles Plain. Value of the property alone has been estimated at $100,000, and the house would cost the average builder at least $225,000.

"But it will run considerably less than that," said the wily Montgomery. "The reason is that I am my own architect, contractor and builder."

George gave me a tour of the place, which will be completed in another six weeks.

The living room is a large expanse with a wall of glass, a great white-quartz fireplace in the middle, sunken bar and plenty of wall space for the Montgomerys' collection of modern art. The space between the breakfast and dining rooms is a glass indention which gives the impression that a 60-foot avocado tree is growing right in the house.

The bedroom wing features rooms for the two children, their nurse, plus a recreation room for them. Dinah's clothes closet might make a living room for some folks, but it has to be immense to accommodate her TV wardrobe.

There are "his" and "hers" bathrooms, spacious affairs with much marble and slate, and the master bedroom features a chimney-less fireplace. The smoke is drawn out through a lower flue.

Out of the white quartz of the bedroom fireplace will flow a waterfall which drops to a children's wading pool. This is cantilevered out and above the main, 60-foot pool into which the water again falls. All around is virtually a jungle of tropical plants.

300-Mile Winds Common 60 Miles Up

FT. MONMOUTH, N.J. (AP) — Winds of 300 miles an hour and temperatures 100 degrees below zero Fahrenheit are common at an altitude of 60 miles, the Army says.

The Army Signal Engineering Laboratories here says this has been determined from preliminary examination of data gleaned from rocket firings at Ft. Churchill, Man., Canada, this past summer.

Aerobee rockets loaded with 19 high-explosive grenades each were used in a series of five firings to explore high-altitude weather as part of the International Geophysical Year, the Army said.

The grenades were ejected from the nose cones at pre-set intervals up to 60 miles. The explosions were picked up by delicate sound devices on the ground.

The Army explained that the time it took for the sound of each blast to reach the ground gave an accurate indication of winds and temperatures.

As George Wilson put it after the game Sunday, "It was really a team victory" for the Lions over the Browns.

You could single out many individual performances in certain key plays, but as a unit the Lions offered good argument to ex-coach Buddy Parker's disparaging remark that "this team had no desire, no drive."

Joe Schmidt, whom we've always maintained to be the [illegible], said in the locker room after the game, "We often heard there were at least four other teams with better personnel than we had, and maybe it was so, but the personnel of this team had more in its heart than most every other team."

JUNKER GREAT PROSPECT

If we were to single out any player, our choice for outstanding player honors would go to big Steve Junker, the rookie end from Xavier University in Cincinnati.

Jim Brown, who has been great with the Browns this year, may get the "Rookie-of-the-Year" honors in the NFL but Junker could easily make it a dead heat race for the award.

The freckled 6-foot-3 and 220-pound redhead started the year slowly gaining experience. But after a few games under his belt, he not only took over a starting position but finished the season as the best scoring pass receiver and second only to veteran Jim Doran in passes caught and yardage gained.

He finished with 35 receptions for 506 yards and seven touchdowns. Doran caught 38 passes for 776 yards and six TD's.

WANTED CRACK AT OFFENSE

As an outstanding two-way college player, the Lions weren't actually sure which way he would go, offensively or defensively, when he reported.

Coming back with Junker from the Chicago All-Star game in which he received several votes for his playing, we asked him which way he would rather play.

"I'll play whichever way they want me to. I just hope I can make this team. As for a choice, I would rather play end offensively. I like to run, and there's nothing like the thrill of laying a good block to help one of your runners shake loose."

The Lions' private eye, Bob Nussbaumer, was high on the big end after watching him play with the All-Stars. Junker could catch but his big problem was knowing what to do with the ball after he caught it.

"Nussbaumer gave me a few tips and I learned a few things about getting out of the grasp of a defensive man," said Junker.

One could say Junker learned extremely well as a rookie and a few of the Browns' defensive backs would hardly dispute this.

BLUEJAY STAR — Southfield forward Cliff Solberg scored 10 points and did some stellar rebounding last night to help the Jays win the Northwest Suburban Christmas Invitational basketball tournament with a 58-47 victory over Livonia Bentley in the championship final at Farmington.

Lions Will Seek New, Younger Players

Wilson Claims Shifts Needed to Retain Title

Champs' Coach Says Club Behind Schedule in Future Building

DETROIT (AP) — Rookie coach George Wilson says the World Champion Detroit Lions "have strung along too far" with some of their older players and must make bold personnel moves for the 1958 season.

"I know it sounds cruel and cold," said the coach of the newly crowned National Football League champions "but that's exactly the way this game is — cruel and cold. I'm no sentimentalist. You can't afford to be in this business."

The Lions have a dozen players who either are crowding or have passed age 30, and collectively are one of the oldest teams in the league.

"You just can't sit still in this league," said Wilson as he was interviewed 24 hours after his team walloped the Cleveland Browns 59-14 in the title game in Detroit.

"Sure, we're the champs now and it's a great feeling. But the real trick is to stay on top."

Wilson said old age is "one thing nobody has learned to slow down."

"I think a team has to have four or five new faces every season, win or lose," he added. "A lot of teams have waited too long, held on to players over the hill. I don't have to name them but the Lions are behind schedule in this department and I told the directors that very thing when I got the job."

Wilson declined to name particular trouble spots on his own club but said he and his four assistant coaches will get together before long to discuss possible player changes.

"We've talked about it a little," he said. "Five heads are better than one and our coaches agree that we have to bring in some new faces either by trades or some other methods.

"It's so easy to hold on to a guy too long. Veterans always seem to want to play 'just one more year' — especially when you've just won the title. But I know we've got some guys — maybe five or six of them — who won't be able to make next year's club. If they come to camp, they'll come here with the understanding that they have to show us something real good in order to stick."

"But I always ask myself one question," Wilson said, "I ask myself 'is this ball player gonna' feed my kids?' You've gotta' keep making changes or the bottom falls out. Players can't keep going forever. If it happened to my brother I'd have to cut him."

Upset Bentley, 58-47; Walled Lake Bows

Jays Win Tourney Crown

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

By BILL CORNWELL

The package arrived a few days late, but Watts didn't mind the delay because it contained a 58-47 victory for his Bluejays over Livonia Bentley in the championship finals of the Northwest Suburban Christmas Invitational basketball tournament at Farmington.

Bentley, undefeated in seven starts, was heavily favored to whip the Jays, who entered the game with a mediocre 3-4 record.

But the Jays, 61-49 victims of Bentley in their 1957-58 season opener, disregarded the odds and completely outplayed the Bulldogs to hand Watts a belated Christmas gift and a happy New Year—all wrapped up in one.

The vastly improved Jays, sparked by guard Tom Ridley and forward Bob Shull, refused to fold under a 28-27 halftime deficit and bounced back impressively after intermission to win going away and take the title.

Farmington, East Detroit and Hazel Park were other winners yesterday as this 1st annual round-robin tourney concluded a successful three-day stand with afternoon and evening twin bills in the Farmington High gym.

The host Falcons were forced into overtime before subduing Redford Union, 57-54, for 3rd place; East Detroit rallied to conquer a fighting Walled Lake quintet, 74-63, for 5th position, and Hazel Park took 7th spot with a 68-56 victory over Detroit Thurston.

Bentley's big scoring guns were closely checked by an alert Southfield defense. Tom Eveland's 15 points paced the Bulldogs and George King added 12. Ron Gabel, Bentley's rangy center, was held to six points.

Southfield, trailing by one point at halftime, captured the lead for keeps midway through the 3rd quarter on a field goal-free throw combination by Ridley. The Bluejays steadily widened the gap and had leads of 7 to 11 points during the 4th period.

Ridley topped the point-making parade with 18, followed by Shull with 16. Cliff Solberg, who starred on the backboards along with center Todd Grant, made 10 points for the Jays.

Sophomore Harvey Chapman tallied only four points, but all of them came in overtime to save Farmington. The score was 51-51 at the end of regulation play. Dewey Nichols led the victors with 19 points while Union's Harry Munger netted 17.

Walled Lake surprised East Detroit by grabbing a 24-16 1st quarter edge, but the Shamrocks caught fire and won decisively. Ron Schutt of East Detroit and Walled Lake's Dennis McClelland were scoring kings with 24 and 23 points respectively.

Jerry White meshed 18 points as the Parkers chalked up a convincing triumph over Thurston. Joe Bird connected for 22 in a losing cause.

An estimated 4,000 spectators watched the holiday tournament. The final standings: 1-Southfield, 2-Bentley, 3-Farmington, 4-Union, 5-East Detroit, 6-Walled Lake, 7-Hazel Park, 8-Thurston.

Moore Passes Howe in Scoring Race to Land in NHL 2nd Place

MONTREAL (AP)—Dickie Moore, a Montreal winger who for years was plagued with a bad shoulder and trick knees, made the most rapid advance in the top circles of the National Hockey League scoring race last week, according to figures released today.

The sharp-shooting 26-year-old fired three goals and collected four assists to vault over Detroit ace Gordie Howe and move into second place a point behind linemate Henri "Pocket Rocket" Richard, the scoring leader.

Howe found the pickings comparatively lean last week after a scoring outburst that spanned several weeks and threatened Montreal's domination of the top scoring berth He was held to a single assist in three games and fell four points behind Moore.

The scoring leaders:

Fate of Motor City Tourney in the Balance

DETROIT (AP)— The fate of the crowd-poor Motor City Basketball Tournament at the University of Detroit will be decided this week.

University of Detroit Athletic Director John Mulroy said:

"We won't make any decision until after we check the receipts and discuss the situation thoroughly."

The two-day tournament drew 2,376 for first-round games Friday night and 2,910 for the consolation and championship games Saturday night. The total of 5,286 was 3,000 less than the worst two-night figure in the tournament's previous five years.

Player Claims Coach Kept Him on Bench

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Dan Nolan, star Lehigh University quarterback who won a berth in the Blue-Gray football game but rode the bench of the entire game, said yesterday Blue coach Murray Warmath of Minnesota excluded him from the game in favor of his own Minnesota quarterback.

"Warmath didn't even know my name. He kept calling me 'Norton' and had me playing right halfback during one practice and defensive safety the next day," Nolan complained.

Mountaineers Still No. 1 in National Cage Ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Idle West Virginia, unbeaten in its first eight games, still clung to first place today in the weekly Associated Press basketball poll of sports writers and sportscasters.

Kansas, which knocked off Kansas State in the final of the Big Eight conference tournament last night, 79-65, closed in on the Mountaineers who won't resume play until Thursday against Canisius. K-State retained its No. 3 spot in the rankings, which include all games played through Saturday night.

Kansas ran its unbeaten string to 10 with its three victories in the Big Eight Tourney and K-State chalked up nine before suffering its first loss.

Kansas has a Thursday date with Oklahoma State while Kansas State is idle until Jan. 6.

North Carolina held fourth place by winning the Dixie Classic. St. Louis, Wake Forest and North Carolina State were their victims in that tournament. The finale with NC State was a tight ball-control game which North Carolina took 39-30. Their next start is Saturday against Wake Forest.

Cincinnati squeezed past Drake in its only game last week to remain, but lost to Bradley last night 79-73. They remained in fifth place.

San Francisco won the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City, defeating Denver, Niagara and Oklahoma City. The Dons moved up a peg to sixth. Maryland, which lost to Memphis State last night in the Sugar Bowl finals, 47-46 was seventh.

Michigan State, winner of three games on the road against Iowa State, UCLA and Southern California, was eighth, followed by Mississippi State which swept the Mississippi State tournament title. Kentucky was tenth, beating Utah State in its only start last week.

West Virginia received 48 firsts from the 116 voters who named 53 different colleges on their ballots. Kansas with 25 firsts was next.

On the basis of points with 10 for first, nine for second and so on down the line, West Virginia had 981, Kansas 929, Kansas State 774 and North Carolina 760.

The leaders with points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis (first place votes and won-lost records through Saturday in parentheses)

Yardley Regains Point Leadership

NEW YORK (AP)—George Yardley of Detroit, who went on a scoring binge and wound up with 128 points in four games last week, has taken over first place in the scoring race of the National Basketball Assn.

Yardley got an assist when Bob Pettit of St. Louis suffered a broken finger. Until he was injured Pettit was the leader.

But now, according to NBA statistics released today, Yardley is 66 points in front of Pettit, 877 to 811, and holds an edge in percentage, 28.3 to 27.0.

The scoring leaders:

	G	F	Pts	Pct.

Wilt Sparks Kansas Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Basket master Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain may not be a one-man team, but he'll do until one shows up on the scene.

The fabulous 7-foot All-America scored 38 points—almost half his team's total last night in Kansas' 79-65 victory over Kansas State in the final of the Big Eight tournament in Kansas City.

This was a battle between two of the behemoths of the country. And Chamberlain, who had been going along at a 31.5 per-game clip, outdid himself. Not only was he the big man in the scoring department, but he controlled both backboards as though they were custom-made for him.

So Kansas State went down to its first defeat of the season in 10 games, and Kansas, which is one rung ahead of State in this week's Associated Press poll of the top teams in the country in second place, swept to its 10th triumph in a row.

Three other major tournaments were settled last night, and there was one big surprise. Memphis State, a decided underdog, captured the Sugar Bowl title by edging previously undefeated Maryland, 47-46.

This was a defensive battle and it went to three overtime periods before Bob Swander hit for a field goal and two free throws to pull it out for Memphis State.

The other two tournament windups—the Holiday Festival in New York, and the Queen City in Buffalo, went according to form.

Temple, a fast-breaking outfit and possibly the best in the East, sailed past California, 69-59, for the Holiday Festival championship. In addition to winning the ball game, the Owls came up with a top candidate for All-America honors, Guy Rodgers, who was voted the most valuable player in the field.

Iowa had more trouble with Syracuse, but came out on top in the title game in the Queen City event, 58-52.

Kansas State and Maryland weren't alone in their woes, though. Both Cincinnati and Michigan State, each of which had been fondly hoping to go to the top in the national rankings, tasted defeat for the first time.

Bradley hit a hot streak and whipped Cincinnati 79-73, in a Missouri Valley game in Peoria, while the University of Washington downed Michigan State, 71-69.

At Burlington, Vt., St. Michael's won its own tournament by vanquishing Adelphi, 77-57.

The Gator Bowl and All-American city tournaments also opened, each producing a doubleheader. In the Gator bowl, in Jacksonville, Fla., Florida defeated Clemson, 76-64, and Georgia turned back South Carolina, 77-58, in first round games.

In the All-American city tournament in Owensboro, Ky., Ohio U. stopped Washington and Lee, 65-54, and Kentucky Wesleyan outshot Southern Illinois, 61-59, also in first round game.

Elsewhere, high ranked Kentucky rolled over Loyola of Chicago, 75-42; Drake scored a 73-56 Missouri Valley triumph over North Texas State; Minnesota smothered Yale, 74-53; Alabama (making good on 41 free throws) nosed Brigham Young, 77-74; Utah topped Wisconsin, 72-70, Tennessee clobbered William and Mary, 84-62, and Columbia halted Valparaiso, 66-64.

Michigan State skidded to its first basketball setback of the season last night but Iowa's Hawkeyes won the Queen City championship at Buffalo in warmups for Big Ten openers Saturday.

Michigan State dropped a 71-69 decision to Washington after seven successive triumphs and Iowa rallied in the second half to defeat Syracuse, 58-52.

In other non-conference games, Minnesota returned to action with a 74-53 romp over Yale; Wisconsin lost to Utah, 72-70, and Michigan defeated Arizona, 88-76.

Michigan State, a solid favorite over Washington, opened up an early nine-point lead only to have the Huskies storm back and take a 40-39 halftime edge. Michigan State went ahead six times in the second half and each time Washington rallied to regain the lead. Doug Smart paced the Huskies with 28 points and John Green was high for the Spartans with 21.

Michigan handed Arizona its first setback as M. C. Burton and Pete Tillotson scored 20 and 18 points, respectively. The Wolverines trailed 40-38 at halftime but turned on the heat in the second half and won going away.

Before the conference race opens Saturday two other games remain to be played. Notre Dame is at Northwestern tonight and Yale is a Ohio State tomorrow night.

'Blackout' Probe Sought

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Potter (R-Mich) formally asked the Justice Department today for an antitrust investigation of the blackout of the Detroit area in the telecast of last Sunday's National Football League championship game.

Potter said last Saturday he would request the investigation unless Bert Bell, NFL commissioner, rescinded his blackout order. Bell didn't, and in Detroit only fans with tickets saw the Lions wallop the Cleveland Browns, 59-14.

The senator asked Atty. Gen. Rogers to review the law permitting the blackout and to study contracts between the National Football League and television networks.

Potter also asked for comment from Chairman John Dorfer of the Federal Communications Commission.

Bucks Heavily Favored in 44th Rose Bowl Clash

It's OSU Ground Power Against Oregon Passing Tomorrow at Pasadena

That's how the 44th Rose Bowl game stacked up for tomorrow as the two teams wound up workouts today for the tradition-packed classic.

The odds-fellows have Ohio, Western Conference champion three of the last four years, as 20-point favorites. This could be a bit on the optimistic side since the Webfoots, co-champions of the shaky Pacific Coast Conference, haven't been beaten by more than 7 points in 10 starts this season. Ohio has an 8-1 record, Oregon 7-3.

With sophomore fullback Bob White acting as chief bulldozer, the Bucks are irresistible in cracks at the middle of the line, the spot the Ducks appear most vulnerable. On the other hand the Oregons specialize on the aerial route, the weakest link in the Buckeye defense.

Ohio's passing defense strategy is to give the foe the short ones, while defending in depth until lack of territory bunches the defenders and puts a halt to the drive. The Bucks feature pursuit tactics as solid as those practiced by the FBI.

Although 9 opponents completed 59 of 119 passes for 840 yards against the Bucks, the alert Ohioans grabbed off 15 enemy aerials and allowed only 3 touchdowns through the air. Oregon has completed 66 of 127 passes in 10 games for 839 yards — and seven touchdowns.

Ohio, in one less game, has outrushed the Ducks 2,681 yards to 2,058, but the three top toters stack up about the same. Don Clark, back in action after missing two games, tops the Bucks with 655 yards in 118 carries, White has 552 for 89, and Dick Lebeau 355 for 84 — a total of 1,562 yards for 291 tries.

No Comment From Sooners

'Devils' Optimistic

MIAMI, Fla. (INS) — Duke football coach Bill Murray pronounced his squad in "the best physical condition since mid-season" today and took an optimistic view of his Blue Devils' chances of beating mighty Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl New Year's Day.

"Now it's up to the boys," the personable Duke mentor said as he called an end to the grueling two-a-day practice session he has been holding since last Friday. He commented:

"We expect surprises and we have done all we can to get the boys ready for them. Physically and mentally they are ready to go and I think we can win."

If coach Bud Wilkinson, miracle man of the Big Eight conference, had any similar beliefs concerning his heavily favored Sooners, he kept them to himself.

"Run, run, run—faster, faster, faster," were his shouted instructions today as he put his squad through its last full scale drill.

Both teams will visit the Orange Bowl tomorrow to get the feel of the turf. They'll run through a few exercises, then retire to their respective hotels to await the 1:45 p.m. (EST) kickoff.

Wilkinson's guarded outlook notwithstanding, there was considerable joy in the Sooner camp as the players hung up their practice togs. It was sparked by an announcement that ailing quarterback Carl Dodd will be ready to play.

However, trainer Ken Rawlings tempered the good news by saying Dodd "may not be up to full efficiency." Dodd suffered a badly twisted ankle in practice last week.

The Duke Blue Devils took heart in the fact their star fullback, Hal McElhaney, will answer the opening gun. McElhaney was off to a great start this year before suffering an ankle injury against Rice. He reinjured the ankle in the North Carolina State game and his absence was blamed in large part for Duke's poor showing late in the season.

State Gymnasts Place Well Up in AAU Tourney

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—John Pesha of New York won the all-around men's championship in the National Junior AAU Gymnastics meet last night.

Pesha, representing the Westside YMCA, scored 107.5 points to 105.2 for Ted Muzyczko of Michigan State and 104.1 for Jay Werner of Penn State.

HOMETOWN WELCOME — Jim Pace, University of Michigan All-America, smiles as he receives a plaque, representing his stardom with the Wolverines and with Little Rock, Ark., Dunbar High. Principal L. M. Pontiac Skaters Dominate Meet at Rolladium

Pontiac skaters took 1st places in four of five divisions in the Pontiac Rolladium Invitational skating meet held here last weekend.

David Marchewka teamed with Diane Grassi to win the juvenile dance and also had a hand in taking honors in juvenile pairs competing with Rejianna Sluder.

The duo of Mary A. Clouse and Louis Parker took the senior dance crown while the senior - senior dance was won by Pat and Madeline Birney.

Spangler Paces Baptist Victory in 'Y' League

Gerland Spangler scored 15 points to lead Stone Baptist to a 28-27 victory over Matthews-Hargreaves in men's YMCA Intramural League basketball action Monday night at the "Y" gym. In other games, Hasse's Pharmacy defeated Utica, 36-27, and GM Tech forfeited to the Eagles.

Air Battle Expected in Cotton Bowl Game

The game will be televised by the Columbia Broadcasting System at 3:30 p.m. CST.

A sellout crowd of 75,000 will watch the Naval Academy try to match wits with the Southwest Conference champions from Houston.

Rice coach Jess Neely will alternate his two passing wizards in an atempt to beat the Annapolis visitors.

Neely predicted:

"You're liable to see that ball thrown all over the field tomorrow."

Forrestal led Navy to a brilliant season. He is not the runner Hill or Ryan is but is rated as one of the top signal callers in the nation.

Against archrival Army, Forrestal let backs Ned Oldham and Harry Hurst do the work and he may repeat the order against the Owls.

Neely feels his two passing threats can turn the tables for his team. "It's a rare thing when you get two players who are equally good in running, passing and defensive ability. Hill may be a bit stronger physically if there is an edge."

He refused to single out any Navy stars but praised the team generally as a "good strong club with a lot of deception and power."

Defensively speaking, Rice will have to cope with a tough forward wall led by tackles Bob Reifsnyder, Tony Anthony and end Pete Jokanovich. Even without injured Tony Stremic, the Middies will be rugged.

RICE ACE—All-America quarterback King Hill will lead the Rice Owls against Navy in the Cotton Bowl game at Dallas tomorrow. He was the leading choice in the pro league's draft last month.

Shifts in Sight for Browns' 11

CLEVELAND (AP)—After a highly successful season—if you can overlook a 59-14 lacing by the Detroit Lions in Sunday's championship game—the Cleveland Browns are looking forward to next year.

With a strong contingent of rookies on the roster this season, coach Paul Brown said last night he is planning further changes, but mentioned none specifically.

"Even though we had a big turnover this season we certainly don't plan to stand pat. The changing has to continue," Brown added.

"That's not only because of Sunday's game. There were a lot of peculiar twists in that one."

Brown said no one talked of retirement after losing the National Football League's championship game at Detroit. Don Paul mentioned quitting earlier in the week. Brown added, but said he was planning another season with the team on the train trip back from Detroit.

Ed (Big Mo) Modzelewski, who turned down a coaching offer this season, has a conference coming up with Jim Tatum, North Carolina University Coach.

Indiana Ace Boosts Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Indiana's Archie Dees, the defending Big Ten all-games basketball scoring champion, has taken a long lead in the point-making column although the Conference season doesn't begin until Saturday.

Dees has poured in 173 points in seven games for a 24.7 average. Pete Tillotson of Michigan moved into second place with 151 points in eight games for an 18.8 average.

New Year's Skiing OK

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

At least six West Michigan winter sports resorts, rejoicing over new fallen snow late Monday, reported skiing good to excellent today as outdoor sports enthusiasts headed into the most active period of the winter season.

The West Michigan Tourist and Resort Assn. last Saturday reported good skiing at Caberfae, near Cadillac; Boyne Mountain near Boyne Falls and Walloon Hills at Walloon Lake with snow ranging from four to eight inches.

New reports, according to the tourist association, were as follows:

Mt. Mancelona at Mancelona: Five to 6-inch base snow, two inches of new fluff. Will be open New Year's Day, Saturday and Sunday. New T-bar lift in operation.

Thunder Mountain Lodge east of Boyne Falls: Four to 6-inch base, 6-inch fluff, skiing very good to excellent, New Pomalift operating.

Ward Hills near Branch: Two to four inches packed base and a covering of fluff after a day-long snow Monday. Skiing good. Will be open throughout the week.

Sugar Bowl Foes Hit Peak

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Mississippi and Texas, two teams who started the 1957 football season with slim prospects, climax it tomorrow by meeting each other in the Sugar Bowl.

Some 80,000 spectators are expected to rim the poinsetta-bordered field for the 2 p.m., EST, kickoff. The game will be televised nationally (NBC).

Texas began the season with the remnants of a team that had lost nine of ten games in 1956, a horde of sophomores and a new coach in Darrell Royal. The combination resulted in a record of six 1957 triumphs, three defeats and one tie.

The pre-season situation was almost as gloomy at Mississippi where Coach Johnny Vaught greeted only 14 returning lettermen, the smallest number of Ole Miss veterans since 1946. But a bit of remodeling here, some patching there and the development of a formidable line produced a team that won eight of 10 games, losing one and tying one.

Both teams wound up second in their loops, Mississippi behind bowl - ineligible Auburn in the Southeastern Conference while Texas fininhed behind Rice in the Southwest circuit. Although the Longhorns shut out Arkansas, 17-0 and Mississippi lost to the Porkers, 12-6, the Ole Miss team is a three-point favorite because of its overall team speed. Each team also conquered Tulane.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

1. If finishing sideways at the foul line is your problem, work on keeping your left foot pointed at your target. Keep your right toe on the approach behind you, too — this will help prevent swinging your body to the side. We show perfect form for both the feet in today's drawing.

2. If you drift in your approach to the foul line, concentrate on going straight with each single step. Take one step at a time and make sure you move forward in a straight line.

3. If you start too fast and ruin your timing, keep in mind that your footwork should be like an auto's acceleration. The first step should be your slowest and shortest — just like first gear. Next comes the second step which, like second gear, is a bit faster. The final two steps are where you reach maximum speed, just as you do when shifting into high gear.

Prison Director Calls Overcrowding Serious

WASHINGTON (INS) — Federal Prison Director James V. Bennett reported today that overcrowding in U.S. penal institutions reached a "critically dangerous point" in 1957.

Bennett said in his annual report that the total population was 20,800, a net increase of 500. Some 16,500 offenders were committed and 16,000 were released, including 4,024 on parole.

The report also showed that approximately one-third of the 1957 population was 25 years of age or less.

Of of the new inmates, 3,160 were under 21 and 2,230 were in the 22-25 age group. The remainder were holdovers. Half of the under-21 received indefinite sentences under the Youth Corrections Act.

MANY 'GUINEA-PIGS'

In his year-end survey, Bennett cited prisoners who participated in scientific experiments "of benefit to mankind." They served as guinea pigs for the effects of hallucinatory drugs, which produce symptoms akin to schizophrenia, and their possible antidotes.

Prisoners at five federal penitentiaries have undergone various psychological experiments, while others submitted to polio and industrial noise tests.

Bennett also noted that the output of Federal Prison Industries, Inc., has reached big-business levels.

With gross sales of products produced in prisons listed at $26,692,012, profits reached a total of $4,571,109. Some 4,115 prisoners were employed on a wage basis in shops in 23 prisons.

Donald Raymonds Win on Christmas Lighting With Nativity Scene

Second prize was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Robinson of 40 Robertson Ct., in Clarkston. Two big trees, in their front yard were lighted blue and white. A silver "Merry Christmas" sign, hung under the eves' with indirect lighting effects.

The Earl Liestmans' of 366 S. Roslyn won third prize and their house and grounds were completely bathed in bright lights. Shrubs had concealed lighting and two imitation lanterns hung at the front corners of the house.

Old Brokerage House Adds Name of Smith

NEW YORK (AP)—The brokerage house of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane will change its name on March 1 to honor a man who started with the firm 41 years ago as a $7-a-week runner.

The new name is Winthrop Hiram Smith, 64, a directing partner. The firm's new title will be Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith.

However, his mother Mrs. Marian B. Beane, Greenwich, Conn., will continue as a limited partner.

Beane said he is retiring to form his own firm or to become associated with another member of the New York Stock Exchange.

Yearend Trade Rises Heavily

Key stocks rose from fractions to a point or more in a broad advance that took in most sections of the list.

The ticker tape soon fell behind the pile-up of transactions. Wall Streeters called the rise chiefly a technical recovery from an oversold condition.

While selling to establish tax losses continued there was considerable reinvestment and some of the typical "window dressing" by investment companies. The news continued spotty. The drop in the U.S. Treasury bill rate to its lowest point since August 1956 was seen as a new sign that money actually is being eased, a matter of great encouragement to Wall Street.

Gains of around a point or more were made by Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Ford, Caterpillar, United Aircraft, Grumman, Allied Chemical and Union Carbide.

Westinghouse Electric, American Telephone, Gulf Oil and Amerada also added around a point apiece.

Other gains were made by U.S. Steel, Boeing, General Dynamics, Radio Corp., Anaconda, New York Central, Pennsylvania Railroad, Sinclair, Standard Oil (New Jersey) and Johns-Manville.

Opening blocks included Fruehauf Trailer, unchanged at 9 on 10,000 shares; Grumman, up 1⅛ at 17⅝ on 2,000; U.S. Steel up ½ at 51½ on 2,500; and General Motors up ⅛ at 33⅜ on 3,000.

News in Brief

Pontiac Police reported Monday that someone had broken into Greggs Bar, 505 E. South Blvd., and escaped with 30 pounds of steak valued at $17, a total of 76 fifths of whisky valued at $325, and an undetermined amount of money from a bumper pool table and a Muscular Dystrophy canister.

Ralph M. Keller, 46, of 1096 Island Dr., Milford, pleaded guilty to drunk driving before Keego Harbor Justice James Southart, Monday, and paid a fine of $85 plus $15 costs.

Educator Koczman Succumbs in Britton

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Britton High School for Supt. of Schools Rudolph Koczman, 34, brother of Walled Lake High School track coach John V. Koczman.

Superintendent at Britton for the past six years, Koczman died Sunday of cancer. Surviving are his wife, Margaret, and three children.

Koczman attended Eastern University, University of Pittsburgh and the University of Michigan, where he received his bachelor and master's degrees. Burial will be in Maplegrove Cemetery, Dundee.

Ford Official Warns of Sales Drop in '58

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co. economist George P. Hitchings says consumer hesitancy in making commitments may cause car sales to drop below normal in 1958.

But, he said in a statement yesterday, fear of an economic decline should not hold back buyers. He added, "We have the ability to cope with such a decline, should it develop, and lay the groundwork for renewal of the long-run uptrend."

Government expenditures, he said, will increase in 1958 and "postponement of normal buying is not warranted for the great bulk of consumers and business firms."

Fortune's Business Outlook Optimistic

Fortune's economists predict that following the letdown at the end of 1957, the economy should level out and turn up in the spring. The gains will widen in the second half of 1958 and probably accelerate further in 1959.

But the magazine warns that over the next eighteen months as a whole, the rise will be at a moderate pace.

Ike's Budget Nearly Finished

He Makes Near-Final Decisions at Gettysburg Farm Home

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower makes the all-but-final decisions today on the 1958-59 federal budget—expected to be the largest peacetime spending program in the nation's history.

Right afterward he planned to meet with Dr. James R. Killian Jr., his special scientific adviser.

Otherwise the outlook was for a quiet, family-type New Year's Eve on the Eisenhower farm. Little if any festive greeting of 1958 was in prospect.

The President also received from Washington the latest typewritten draft of the State of the Union message he will give Congress Jan. 9.

His budget message goes to the lawmakers shortly afterward. Estimates in government circles are that the budget will be in the neighborhood of 74 billion dollars, compared with 72 billions for the current fiscal year ending June 30.

Defense spending in the light of recent Russian missile and other advances accounts for most of the increase.

Chrysler Building Sale Tops All Deals

NEW YORK (AP) — The 71-story Chrysler Building—world's second tallest—and two other structures have been sold in the city's largest real estate transaction.

Sold with the Chrysler Building were its 32-story annex and the 30-story Graybar Building across Lexington Ave. from the others.

No price was disclosed. In previous negotiations, which failed, 66 million dollars had been asked for the properties.

Ferndale Bank Teller Held in Embezzlement

DETROIT (AP)—Joseph V. Gragg, 23-year-old former teller at a Ferndale bank, was charged with embezzlement in a warrant issued Monday by U.S. District Judge Arthur F. Lederle.

Gragg, an employe of the Ferndale Branch of Detroit Bank & Trust Co. for eight months prior to Oct. 25, was held in El Paso, Tex., on federal mail fraud charges, said Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert E. DeMascio.

The warrant charged Gragg with the embezzlement of $790 from the funds of two customers. The shortage was discovered Dec. 5.

Poppa Loses Bets but Is Glad It's a Boy

DETROIT (AP) — Lee Goren waited so long for a son that he felt he ought to advertise its arrival. He did — on a 25-foot billboard.

"I wanted a boy so badly I could have burst," said the 31-year-old businessman, father of two girls. "I was sure it was going to be a girl again," he said. "I laid bets on it all over town. Lost a lot of money but it was worth it."

Northville to Issue High School Bonds

NORTHVILLE —Northville Public and Washtenaw Counties will issue $1,850,000 in general obligation bonds for construction of a new high school and additions to an elementary school.

The proposed bond issue was the largest item among $6,084,250 in public borrowings approved yesterday in Lansing by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

'Parliament of Science' to Organize

Try to Influence Congress

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (INS)—American scientific leaders disclosed today that they will seek to organize a permanent "Parliament of Science" in Washington to influence legislation in Congress.

A call is being sent out asking representatives from all scientific fields to meet at the capital next month or in February, after President Eisenhower presents his budget.

The main purpose of the meeting, which was planned at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, will be appropriations for scientific research and education.

However, the group will stand ready to give advice and assistance in any matter that involves the technological race with Russia.

The preliminary meeting was authorized yesterday by the AAAS council in a decision reversing the usual policy of this organization to stay out of politics. The AAAS is a federation of 271 scientific associations.

"RED" SKELTON

Asthma Imperils Skelton's Life

Comedian Almost Dies as Attack Brings On Heart Failure

His wife Georgia summoned a fire department rescue squad and his personal physician in time to revive him.

He was later taken by ambulance from his Bel Air home to St. John's Hospital in Santa Monica.

His doctor said he was sleeping and "progressing satisfactorily." He said his condition was still serious but not critical as it was when he arrived at the hospital.

The physician said the asthmatic phase of the attack was complicated by accumulation of fluid in the lungs and the combination, depriving the heart of oxygen, brought on the heart failure. He added, however, that "it was not a heart attack and no indication that the heart was bad to start with."

"If there are 10 steps to death, you can say that Red took nine of them," the doctor said.

Mrs. Skelton said her husband has suffered from a chronic asthma condition for 20 years.

"But he never had an attack like this one," she said. "When it came on he took his asthma pills the same as always, but this time they had no effect.

"The attack kept getting worse and worse so that he began to gasp for air. His face turned red and I thought he was going to go. His pulse got very low."

She said that Red was working at the time on material for a film to be shot today with Crosby. His own television show, on the air tonight, already had been filmed and he was to do a skit with Crosby on the Bel Air golf course for showing Jan. 12.

"Red told me just the other day that he didn't think he was good enough to work with someone like Bing," Mrs. Skelton said. "In fact, he hasn't slept for three nights worrying about it.

"I know he's great, so does everybody else, but he doesn't think so."

She added: "Then we got news about Richard today that wasn't good."

She did not elaborate but said doctors had put their 9-year-old son, suffering from leukemia, under a new medication.

There are more than 150 tribes of American Indians represented on the various reservations in the U. S.

Rally Carries Monday's Rise

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures moved higher on the Board of Trade today, extending a rally which developed late yesterday following a letup of liquidation.

Buying of wheat at the outset of trading was fairly good and prices advanced as much as a cent a bushel in early dealings. Short-covering together with profit-taking was partly responsible for the upturn of the bread grains.

Soybeans moved higher, influenced by higher opening prices for vegetable oils. This is first day notice for tendering January beans and offers early in the session totaled 1,800,000 bushels.

Trading in corn was light and mixed. Some interests were reported buying the May contract and selling July on spread orders. Corn receipts at Chicago today were 33 cars compared with 60 a week ago.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was unchanged to ¾ higher, March $2.19⅛; corn ½ to ⅞ higher, March $1.15¼; oats ¼ to ⅝ higher, March 63¼; rye ½ lower to ¼ higher; March $1.29; soybeans ¼ to ¾ higher; January $2.22¼; and lard was 2 to 10 cents a hundred pounds higher, January $11.72.

U.S., Soviets Agree to Exchange of Ideas

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today the United States and Rusnia have agreed "in principle" on exchange of information in many areas of science, industry ad the arts.

The Times said in a Washington dispatch that the general agreement, with details not yet spelled out, has been reached as a result of Wanhington conferences held since October between William S. B. Lacy, U. S. State Department official in charge of East-West cultural exchange, and Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaroubin.

The newspaper said:

Agreements so far cover scientific exchanges in a broad field and exchange of industrial specialists in such fields as metallurgy, mining, chemicals, and electric power.

The conferees also have approved visits between the two countries of experts on construction and agriculture and leaders of various fields in the arts, education and athletics.

Aide for Miriani

DETROIT (AP) — Delmar L. Canady will become Detroit Mayor Miriani's secretary Thursday at an annual salary of $10,114. Canady, 36, has been director of the flight training program at the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station for 18 months.

Actor Receives 3 Prizes in Row

Lands Two Big Movie Roles and TV Stardom in 'Maverick'

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Hollywood's tricky wheel of fortune has been spinning overtime for a tall, dark and handsome fellow named James Garner, whom I'm picking today as the screen's No. 1 Mr. Lover Boy of 1958.

His lucky number has come up three consecutive times, at odds, any gambler will tell you, of about three million to one.

James Garner was playing bit roles in movies at Warner Bros. when he hit his first career jackpot. They were casting the role of a Marine captain to play Marlon Brando's pal in "Sayonara."

At first the studio thought about hiring a big-league star but Brando's name, it was decided, was enough box-office bait to trap Miss and Mrs. America.

So Garner was cast in the role and he will explode on the screen, I believe, like Clark Gable did 25 years ago.

REPLACED HESTON

Charleton Heston, the star of "Darby's Rangers," walked out of the role in a row over money, and on eight hours' notice the studio elevated Garner from supporting player to star of the picture.

Two days after he completed "Darby's Rangers," Garner was at home when his wife, pretty onetime movie bit player Lois Clarke, called him to the phone. It was his lucky number again.

"The studio is starting a new telefilm series," Garner told his wife after the phone conversation, "and I'm it."

"Oh," said Lois, "what's it about?"

"Somes Western series called 'Maverick', " Garner replied. "Sounds rough, though. It's for Sunday night opposite Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen."

CHAMPS IN TROUBLE

Today "Maverick" is staggering Sullivan and has smothered Allen, but at the time Lois tried to smile when she said:

"Well, honey, you can't win all the time."

Big, slow-talking, slow moving, 29-year-old Garner, with piercing black eyes, worked as a bit player in the movie "The Girl He Left Behind," and the jobs he left behind to become an actor could fill a "What's My Line?" program.

He's been in the Merchant Marine, a Los Angeles carpet layer, a fighting man in Korea, a bathing suit model in New York and a gasoline station attendent in Hollywood.

He's a Norman, Okla., lad who was named James Baumgarner—Hollywood changed that quick enough—and he was an infantryman for 14 months in Korea and has a Purple Heart about which he laughs:

"I was being chased back eight miles behind the lines when I got hit by a piece of shrapnel in the behind."

But it was no laugh at the time—he was one of 36 men who survived from a group of 125 near the town of Chipori.

THE WRONG WORK

As a gas station attendant before that, he had struck up a friendship with a customer, Hollywood producer Paul Gregory. So he went to Paul for advice on something better.

"Why not try acting?" suggested Gregory, who had always kidded him about being a "lady killer." Gregory was about to produce "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial" on Broadway and he gave Garner a role in the play.

But I'm afraid audiences won't remember him. For a solid year he sat on the stage of a New York theater every night as one of the six Navy judges and didn't say a single word.

"But I listened and studied between curtains," Garner told me. "I also understudied John Hodiak and worked as his valet."

Later he played the Hodiak role in a road company of the play and returned to Hollywood two years ago for a Warner telefilm which won him a studio contract.

Bomb Rips Bedroom; Detroit Pair Unhurt

DETROIT (AP) — A Detroit couple escaped injury when a dynamite bomb blew a hole in their bedroom wall shortly after midnight. The bomb broke windows and sprayed the bedroom with small chunks of plaster.

Mrs. Alma Straehle, 45, told police that neither she nor her husband, George Straehle, 61, knew of any reason for anyone to bomb their house.

They were asleep when the bomb exploded and blew a six-inch hole in a wall 10 feet from their bed.

Inspector Albert Langtry, chief of the police scientific laboratory, said the bomb was made of one stick of dynamite with a three-inch fuse. The fuse took about 90 seconds to burn, Langtry said, giving the bomber time to get away.

Actress' Body Entombed Near Father, Mother

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—The body of silent screen star Norma Talmadge was entombed near those of her father and mother yesterday at a private ceremony.

The former actress, who died the day before Christmas at the age of 60, was laid to rest at the cathedral mausoleum in Hollywood Memorial Park Cemetery near the resting places of her parents, Frederick and Margaret Talmadge.

Her sisters, Constance and Natalie, themselves famous stars of the silent screen era, attended the service with Walter M. Giblin, Constance's husband, and Natalie's son, James.

The service was conducted by Dr. William Samuel Meyer, pastor of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church in Los Angeles.

Miss Talmadge succumbed to a stroke complicated by pneumonia at the Las Vegas, Nev., ranch home where she and her husband, Dr. Carvel James, has lived in virtual seclusion for years.

Police Cameras Set for Mummers Parade

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Philadelphia's Mummers Parade, one of the nation's most colorful New Year's Day spectacles, will be watched with special eyes tomorrow — police department movie cameras.

Dep. Police Commissioner Howard R. Leary said three police movie camera teams would photograph the parade of 12,000 Mummers from a variety of vantage points. The films are expected to reveal degree of police efficiency, traffic and pedestrian conditions, and the possible presence of juvenile gangs, pickpockets and other undesirables among the watching throngs.

Brown to Aid Governor

LANSING (AP) — The hiring of Charles S. Brown, 36-year-old Detroit attorney, as a special administrative aide, has been announced by Gov. Williams. Williams said the salary will be paid out of funds raised at a recent birthday dinner for the governor.

Ciro's Skids to a Close

Mount Vernon, George Washington's 500-acre estate on the Potomac River in Virginia, is saluted by each United States Navy vessel that passes.

Tiny Recorder's Fine — but It Won't Play Back

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — If you're up on things, I guess you're aware that practically everybody today is an engineer, a scientist, or an electronician. Everybody, that is, but old Slowpoke Wilson who gets in a clammy panic when the fuse blows out in the kitchen.

WILSON

I trust the Defense Dept. won't lose interest in me merely because my B. W. claims that I only need to be in the same room with any mechanical contrivance to cause it to break more or less permanently.

"What about the midget tape recorder I bought you for your birthday?" she is fond of inquiring.

Is it my fault that the long cord that goes with the amplifier treadle that hooks on the dingus that you put into the doodad that sticks in the socket, tripped her, her mother, and several relatives from Wilkes-Barre, Pa., when they happened to drop into my "study"?

What gay plans we had for the midget recorder—we were going to be ever-so-jolly smuggling it into private conversations and then playing back the stolen dialogue later.

Well, it never seems to play anything back, and while I don't mean to be harsh, that seems to be a rather serious defect in the machine.

"It's all your fault," the manufacturers keep saying to me.

It is something about batteries, they insist on yelling at me. I don't quite understand what they are talking about, but they seem to be honest people, so perhaps they are just nervous.

To be perfectly honest, I don't see what place batteries have in an electronics age, anyway. I thought we were getting along on electronics now and had dispensed with batteries, didn't you? Perhaps we artistic people can straighten them out. Electronics of course, but batteries—indeed!

3 Bombers to Aid in Hurricane Study

WASHINGTON (INS) — The Air Force has assigned three bombers to aid the Weather Bureau in forecasting research during the 1958 hurricane season.

The Air Force announced yesterday that a B47 Stratojet and two TB50 Superforts with airmen and ground crews will provide support for the hurricane research project.

The planes will be used to "develop hurricane forecasting techniques" and not for the "dissipation, dispersal, or control of the movement of tropical storms," the Air Force said.

Special flights will be conducted over the Atlantic, Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

U.S. Traffic Deaths Down About 2 Pct.

CHICAGO (AP)—The nation's traffic accidents killed nearly 35,000 persons in the first 11 months of this year, about 2 per cent lower than the 1956 toll for the comparable period.

The National Safety Council, which reported 34,880 deaths up to Oct. 1, compared to 35,770 for the same period in 1956, termed the traffic accident picture as definitely encouraging.

"The low mileage death rate reflects improved behavior by the man behind the wheel and increased effort by enforcement agencies and public officials," the Council said.

The mileage death rate—deaths per 100 million vehicle miles—up to Dec. 1 was the lowest on record for a comparable period, 5.7 against 6.1 for the first 11 months last year.

Homemade Bomb Kills

DETROIT (AP) — A homemade bomb he constructed from a carbon dioxide capsule and .22 caliber rifle shells cost Douglas Klinger, 15, the loss of parts of two fingers on his left hand. It exploded when he held the device in his hand and hit it with a hammer.

Indiana Crash Kills Grand Haven Woman

MUNCIE, Ind. (AP)—A Michigan woman was one of two persons killed in a two-car collision two miles north of here yesterday.

Police identified the dead as Mrs. Jean A. Nickey, 29, of Grand Haven, Mich., and Mrs. Margaret Fipe, 53, of Gaston, Ind.

Florida was once a colony of Spain and Great Britain. It was later ceded to the United States.

Wisdom Tooth Transplanted

It Takes Root, Grows in Place of Molar for Dental Milestone

NEW YORK (INS) — Two dental scientists reported today a wisdom tooth has been transplanted to take the place of a missing molar, a milestone in dental surgery.

The successful transfer was reported in the Journal of the American Dental Association by Drs. Chester C. Fong and R. Gordon Agnew, of the University of California, who said that in certain patients the operation can be successful 90 per cent of the time.

The technique described is much like that involved in transplanting a bush or tree. All the roots are lifted with the tooth and sunk into a properly prepared cavity in the jaw bone.

The transplant was made five years ago, but the doctors waited until they were certain of success before reporting.

The patient, 16 years old at the time, had lost one of her lower first molars because of an abscess. She reports that the transferred wisdom tooth, taken from the lower jaw, feels just like her other natural teeth. It has lined up perfectly in the bone and is sensitive to hot and cold, indicating normal nerve development.

Bankruptcy Petition Filed by Dick Contino

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A voluntary bankruptcy petition listing debts totaling $51,983 has been filed by accordionist Dick Contino.

Contino, 27, said his debts include legal expenses, fees to booking agencies, back union dues, a $1,300 gambling loss in Nevada and nearly $8,000 in back income taxes.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Must Like Your Life to Be Gay Tonight

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Along about dusk today, the frantic search for joy begins . . . the annual struggle toward midnight, and obligatory oblivion to sobriety.

Be happy, man, even though it hurts.

DEPENDS ON YOUR MOOD

Tonight turns out to be the wildest, mildest, happiest, saddest, friendliest, loneliest night of the year—depending on the emotional condition of the man in the celebrant's seat.

Statistics aside, along with inhibitions, it is the longest night in the year for the philosophic, melancholy people who take to whisky.

SOME WON'T GO

On the other hand, a lot of people don't go to parties at all. There's been a big trend in recent years toward refusing to go out on New Year's Eve, because it's dangerous on the road and equally dangerous in the neighbors' rec-reation room, so why not stay home and enjoy a quiet evening?

Look at your hands. Think over the past. Listen to the clock tick. It's not like the good old days when we could take it, eh, mother?

A growing group of the smart cynics test New Year's Eve, having tried it in saloons and salons of all forms without working up the expected degree of glee. About yesterday, they all left home for other climes — remote mountain inns, resort spas, Europe—their object, to get away from "it all" and avoid the sights and sounds of maudlinity.

At midnight they sing "Auld Lang Syne," about as moody and brooding a ballad as any ever composed, and they laugh on top and curdle underneath, while kissing strange and not particularly amenable lips.

That's why it doesn't matter whether you go to a party, to church, to the Stork Club or grandma's — you've got to like yourself and the life you live, in order to be happy this night.

And there are not enough people who do.

Williams Plugs Michigan's Best

Worldwide Trademark When Seaway Opens 'Vast New Markets'

MUSKEGON (AP)—Gov. Williams put in a new plug for his "Michigan's Best" seal of quality plan yesterday, saying it could become a "world wide trademark" with the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Williams has tried for all of his nine years in office to win legislative approval of the plan, under which premise Michigan farm products would be labeled as "Michigan's Best."

In a noon talk prepared for the Farm-to-Prosper Roundup here, he said he was confident the program would be adopted next year because of strong backing from farm groups.

The St. Lawrence Seaway, he said, will be a "tremendous new economic factor" for the Muskegon farm area and its industrial and business enterprises.

"The people of England or France can breakfast on fruits from Michigan when the Seaway opens direct traffic between Muskegon and European ports," he said. "The Seaway can, if we plan for it now, open vast new markets.

"Think of what this can mean to Michigan agriculture, and think how lucky the people of England would be if they had Michigan farm products to eat. The 'Michigan's Best' label could become a worldwide trademark."

Williams said Michigan agriculture also needs an expanded farm marketing program, including research in new uses for farm products, consumer education programs, retail outlet promotions, new packaging methods and improved advertising programs.

But because the state faces a 20 million dollar deficit this year and increased expenditures next year, he said, "farm marketing assistance in 1958 will necessarily be limited."

Trinidad's Cigarette, Whisky Taxes Hiked

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP)—Higher taxes on automobiles, cigarettes and whisky were included in the 1958 budget for Trinidad presented last night by the chief minister of this British colony, Dr. Eric Williams.

The leader of the People's National Movement, which holds 13 of the 24 seats in the one-house Legislature, outlined his budget in a 12-hour speech.

The budget is expected to be passed without substantial change. Effective immediately, it raised the purchase tax 10 per cent on cars weighing under 3,000 pounds and 15 per cent on bigger cars. Local cigarettes will cost the equivalent of 2 1-3 cents more a pack, whisky 36 cents more, rum 27 cents and local beer about half a cent.

Expect Top Democrat to Score in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Roland V. Libonati, Chicago Democratic leader, was expected to score an easy victory today in the special New Year's Eve election for representative in the 7th Illinois Congressional Dist.

Libonati, 57-year-old lawyer and a leader in the Illinois House of Representatives for 11 terms, was opposed by Anthony Catena, auto repairman and Republican nominee.

There appeared little doubt of the outcome in the overwhelmingly Democratic district which kept the late Adolph Sabath in the House for 46 years and sent Democrat James B. Bowler to Congress in 1954 and 1956 by 3 to 1 margins. Bowler died last summer. In the Nov. 12 primary, Libonati got 81 per cent of the total votes cast.

Pin Out of Tot's Lung

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—John E. Doot Jr., 2½, doesn't eat in great amounts, according to his mother, but he does "eat just about everything." The boy was returned home over the weekend from Blodgett Memorial Hospital where attendants said a two-inch corsage pin was removed from a tube leading to his right lung. The boy had swallowed it, blunt end first, Dec. 26.

260 Ships Pass Soo

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—Vessels passing through the Soo Locks in December totaled 260 and carried freight totaling 899,837 tons.

Looney Larcenies of 1957

Stolen: 1 Kitchen Sink, False Teeth

NEW YORK (NEA) — It looked bad there for a little while. But 1957 finally turned out to be perfect in the loony larceny department. Somebody stole the kitchen sink—from a grocery store in San Antonio, Tex.

And at least one thief dismantled a house in Visalia, Calif., while the owner was away, although he did leave the foundation.

Real estate was very popular all around. Some thieves in Birmingham, Ala., removed a two-car garage.

What is a home without a site? At Penn Yan, N. Y., 100 feet of Keuka Lake shoreline property was stolen. Enterprising purloiners backed in trucks during the night and hauled away 5,000 or 6,000 cubic feet of lakefront land.

GOT HIS GOAT

In Cleveland, Ohio, on probation for mail robbery, a man committed bigamy, forgery and assorted theft, then went to San Francisco, had himself appointed a probation officer. Results—a four-year sentence as a probation violater.

A drug-addicted convict in Walla Walla, Wash., state penitentiary eagerly ripped open a package of three hollowed-out religious books. Instead of an expected 3,000 Benzedrine-type pills he found a note from the warden: "To whom it may concern—pill smuggling in this prison has been discovered."

In London, two men tried to burglarize the U.S. Embassy and were convicted on evidence given by Police Constable George Washington.

Burglars in Glasgow used eight pounds of butter to grease the floor in a grocery store, slid the store's safe to the door to their waiting getaway truck.

VERY FULL SKIRT

A lady's skirt was searched and found to contain a chicken, two pounds of butter, oranges, a small ham, a pound of perch, some chopped beef, a box of tissues, a bottle of laxative, two cakes of soap, headache tablets, two combs, a bottle of shampoo and two bottles of hair bleach. The shoplifter explained: "I didn't pay for the bleach because I didn't want my friends to know I bleach my hair."

Burglars are mean. They walked off with the poor box, $300 in cash and a $250 mahogany pulpit in Akron, Ohio.

The poor box in another church in Waukesha, Wis., had $3.50 stolen. The boys responsible then spent the money at a church festival.

A bank robber in Denver was nabbed as he boarded a bus. He readily surrendered the $11,200 loot, but when the arresting officer grabbed the dollar bill he was holding for bus fare, he protested: "Hey, that's my money."

VERSATILE CROOK

Beverly Hills, Calif., had a versatile crook. Arrested for running a red light, officers found that the car was stolen, that the thief was a two-time loser for burglary and forgery, had passed $12,000 worth of bad checks. "I usually travel by air," he complained, "air depots take bum chocks."

A gunman in Washington, D. C., testified that he had declined the sum of $2,500 offered him for murder because "when I get done paying taxes out of that, what would I have left?"

A Miami man found wearing four pair of pants, a sweater, two denim jackets, an overcoat, gloves, and three hats, explained that he traveled quite a bit and didn't like suitcases.

Mo-Pac Head Sees Railroad Expansions

ST. LOUIS (INS) — The president of the Missouri Pacific Railroad has voiced high optimism for the long-range future of America's railroads.

Russell I. Dearmont, completing his first year as head of the far-flung utility, based his bright forecast on the anticipation that business expansion in the next few years will flow from the nation's growing population.

Dearmont said he feels the outlook is very favorable because of the fact that railroads are the low-cost mass transportation agency.

He observed that he found it hard "to accept the views of many that the railroads should get out of the passenger business as fast as they can." He said he believed that if the critics would "do more constructive thinking and less talking about quitting," a way could be found to improve the situation.

"The automobile is handling the major part of traveling done by our people," he said, "but because highways are becoming more crowded every day . . . and casualties are increasing at such a terrific rate" many people on overnight trips will ultimately return to passenger trains for the safety and comfort they offer.

Dearmont also was optimistic about the West-Southwest territory which Mo-Pac serves. He commented that "the industrial potential of this territory is tremendous" and pointed out that 189 new industries—with an estimated capital of $35,665,000—have located in the region within the first 11 months of 1957.

Dearmont said he was hopeful that from Senate hearings on the economic plight of the railroads, at which he will testify, next month will come legislation to correct inequities.

New York Critics Rate 'River Kwai' Best of '57

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York film critics have named "The Bridge on the River Kwai" as the best motion picture of 1957.

Alec Guinness received the best actor award for his role in the picture, and the best actress prize went to Deborah Kerr for her work in "Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison."

Here comes 1958, rocketing in. We hope you find it a whiz-bang of a year, just crammed full of joy and success.
