Yankees Do It Again — 7th Flag in 8 Years

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Casey Stengel and his New York Yankees won the 1956 American League championship in a run-away. But it was on a treadmill after July.

The clincher came last night when Mickey Mantle rapped his 50th homer in the 11th inning to give the Bombers a 3-2 win over the Chicago White Sox.

The Yankees, those much despised, much respected and much worshipped pin-striped businessmen of baseball, were out of first place just 10 days—and those in the first month of play—while winning their 22nd pennant to pad their own Major League record.

They took the lead for good on May 16 and although they had to wait until September to clinch it, the race was all over on July 20.

The Yankees had just come off ar. 11-game winning streak and were in the process of rolling up a 23-6 record for the month of July that put them out of reach.

The Yankees, who now have won just two flags less than the rest of the now-active American League clubs combined, went into July with only a two-game lead over Chicago's White Sox. By month's end, they were nine games ahead of Cleveland, 13½ ahead of Boston.

This is the 7th Yankee pennant for Stengel, "that feller" who has missed only one in eight seasons as Yankee manager. Only Cleveland, winning 111 games to New York's 103 in 1954, has been able to break through the 65-year-old professor since he took over in 1949 after Bucky Harris failed to put pennants back-to-back.

Casey, who never finished higher than 5th in nine seasons of National League managing with Brooklyn and Boston, now is one shy of Joe McCarthy's record as the all-time winningest Yankee skipper. Only the late Connie Mack, who won nine with the late Philadelphia Athletics, ever won more than eight in the AL.

Meanwhile, the race in the National League remained in a topsy-turvy state as Milwaukee moved to within one percentage point of Brooklyn by defeating Pittsburgh, 6-4, while the Dodgers were losing to St. Louis, 6-5.

Protest Sounded by North Enders on Railroad Site

Group Given Assurance by City Commission of Yard Objection

An overflow crowd of 160 protesting north end residents was assured by the City Commission last night it hadn't budged in its objection to the site of the $700,000 Grand Trunk Western Railroad industrial support yard.

It went a step further by unanimously agreeing to proceed with its program to extend Stanley avenue north, a potential bottleneck in the railroad's planning.

"We've had meetings with the Grand Trunk and have voiced our objections," Mayor William W. Donaldson told a crowd, some of which were forced to sit in the corridors. "As far as this commission is concerned we haven't changed our opinion."

Commissioners emphasized that they still planned further meetings with railroad officials upon the return of City Manager W. K. Willman.

Leslie H. Hudson, chairman of a special committee of the Weaver - Owen - Hawthorne Comunity Club, issued a stern request in a five-page report that the city extend Stanley avenue "immediately."

"Our people were promised by your body that Stanley avenue would be extended, and that the extension would be completed this year," Hudson said. "We hold you to this committment."

The report stressed that the

Rumor Denied by Knorr

DETROIT (INS)—Fred Knorr, who will take over as president of the Detroit Tigers Oct. 1, denied emphatically today a report that the new manager of the baseball club will be named this Sunday.

Knorr said: "There will positively be no announcements until after Oct. 1."

Knorr's statement was in answer to rumors that Tiger shortstop Harvey Kuenn would replace Bucky Harris as manager of the club.

Addresses Nation Over TV Tonight

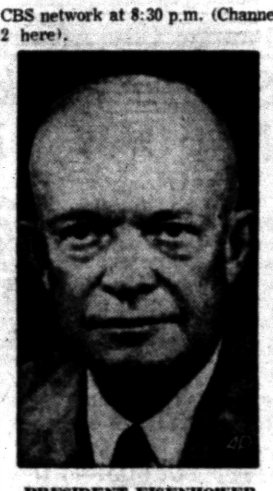

Ike to Kick Off Drive

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower makes his formal radio-television debut of the campaign tonight with a $79,000 half-hour speech whose principal subject will be peace.

His prepared address from a Washington TV studio will deal with the current Suez crisis, as well as the administration's record over the last three-and-one-half years in advancing the cause of world peace.

White House aides said it will meet head-on Democratic campaign charges that the U. S. is losing the Cold War. It will cover domestic issues as well, but the accent will be on foreign affairs and the global struggle against communism.

The first major radio-TV address of the President's campaign will be carried over a nationwide CBS network at 8:30 p.m. (Channel 2 here).

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER

The bill to the Republican national committee is $79,000, about one-third what the Democrats paid out last week for Adlai Stevenson's debut from Harrisburg, Pa.

The Democratic candidate's address was carried on three major networks simultaneously. Republicans feel that TV viewers are likely to be offended if all the channels are pre-empted by a candidate with their favorite programs blanked out.

Tonight's talk is the first of five or six major ones planned by President Eisenhower during the campaign.

He flies to Iowa to deliver two farm speeches Friday, but neither is billed as major. One will be at the National Plowing Contest at Newton, and the other to a group of GOP leaders and editors at the Des Moines airport.

Bulganin Sees Talks as Means to Prevent War

Reds Claim Agreement Will Protect Egyptian Rights, Give Free Canal

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Bulganin said today the Soviet government would be ready to take part in a six-power conference of heads of state to avert war over the Suez crisis.

Participants would be the United States, Britain, the Soviet Union, France, Egypt and India.

Bulganin said such a conference could "undoubtedly" provide a solution to the Suez crisis which would preserve the sovereignty of Egypt as well as guaranteeing freedom of passage through the Suez Canal for vessels of all nations.

Bulganin also said the Soviet government would have no objection to submitting any agreement reached by the conferees to the United Nations for ratification.

Bulganin said the Soviet government is ready to attend such a

No Comment in Capital on Receipt of Red Offer

WASHINGTON (INS) — The U. S. was noncommittal today to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's offer to attend a summit meeting on the Suez crisis.

State department spokesman Lincoln White said:

"I wish to make no other comment than to say that the countries which have been making every effort to realize a just and peaceful solution of the Suez question are continuing to do just that in London today."

Remedial Steps Necessary

Williams Asks Action to Help Unemployed

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams today issued a strong new plea to the Legislature to take "remedial steps" in the face of still mounting unemployment.

He urged anew his proposal for sharply increasing unemployment compensation benefits and extending their duration.

In addition, he called on lawmakers again to offer tax relief to 28,000 employers of from four to seven workers who first became subject to unemployment payroll taxes earlier in the year.

The governor, in two messages to the Legislature, presented as well a couple of fresh proposals.

One embodied a comprehensive plan for retaining those among 30,000 persons classed as permanently unemployed who can qualify for special training to improve their work skills under state and federal laws.

The second was for a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age from the present level of 21 years to 18.

The Republican controlled legislature, which in four previous meetings of its special session showed no disposition to accept Williams' recommendation, was expected to disband again after reconvening at 2 p.m. without acting on the size of benefit checks,

Cool, Fair Weather Outlook for Thursday

Today's gray skies and drizzle will end tonight, the weatherman says, but clear skies tonight may bring a record low temperature with them.

The record low was 40 degrees, set in 1901. Weather Bureau forecasts say the temperature may drop to 40 tonight.

Tomorrow is forecast fair and cool, with temperatures rising Friday and falling again Saturday or Sunday. Precipitation is predicted to average near a tenth of an inch in scattered showers Friday or Saturday.

In downtown Pontiac, lowest temperature last night was 50 degrees. The mercury rose to 52 at 2 p.m.

Adlai Praised by Dixie Solons

House Dems Contend His Aggressiveness Will Win Complete South

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson conferred today with two House Democratic leaders who said afterward they like the type of campaign he is waging for the presidency.

Rep. Spence (D-Ky), chairman of the House Banking Committee, told newsmen the 1956 Stevenson is "more aggressive" and is conducting "an excellent campaign."

Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va), who heads the House Rules Committee, predicted that the Democratic nominee will carry Virginia this year. Stevenson lost that state to Eisenhower four years ago, along with Tennessee, Texas and Florida in the South.

Asked then whether he believes Sen. Byrd (D-Va), who withheld his support from Stevenson in 1952, will back the party ticket this year, Smith replied:

"Ask Byrd."

Stevenson told a news conference Monday that he feels his chances of carrying all the Southern states this year are "very good." Agreeing on that, Smith said he thinks the situation in Virginia "pretty well reflects" the outlook in the rest of the South.

Mrs. Wyatt Maintains Innocence

Sherry Accuses Mother of Inflicting Other Injury

Seven-year-old Sherry Wilkinson, major witness in the cruelty case against her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wyatt of Keego Harbor, made new charges against her mother yesterday as pre-trial examination in the case finished.

Sherry said her mother broke her arm and leg "by twisting them" while the family lived in Howell before moving to Keego Harbor last year. Mrs. Wyatt, the only other witness questioned, continued to deny all the charges.

West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle, who bound both Wyatts over to Circuit Court for arraignment Monday at 1:30, said the testimony indicated treatment of Sherry was "cruel and inhuman."

Oakland County prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem conceded the case against Wyatt is weaker than the case against Mrs. Wyatt, but Dieterle agreed that "any person with any humane feelings" would have seen that Sherry received medical treatment for her badly burned right hand.

Sherry has charged her mother held her hand over a gas burner. Doctors have said two years of treatment may restore partial use of the hand, deformed by the burn.

On the witness stand yesterday, Mrs. Wyatt said:

"I think we have kept our 12 kids clothed and fed as well as any others in Keego Harbor. I am doing the best I can.

"I never took Sherry to a doctor because I didn't think the burn was serious enough."

She explained all Sherry's "accidents" happened while she was not watching the child.

Defense attorney Milton R. Henry, reviewing evidence from two days of pre-trial examination, told the court no actual cruelty or negligence by Wyatt was shown in testimony.

He said Wyatt worked long hours to support the family.

Detroit Water Board Hit on Fluoridation

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Detroit Water Board rendered a "distinct disservice" to the city by issuing an anti-fluoridation report, a University of Michigan public health expert said today.

Dr. Vlado Getting, professor of public health practice at the university, said the "unsubstantiated and unscientific" findings of the Water Board "will further deprive Detroit children of the needed amount of fluorides to prevent tooth decay."

He said claims the addition of fluorides to drinking water is unhealthy are "completely unsubstantiated bunk."

Shopping Center Request Fails

Pontiac Refuses to Drop Time Limit Imposed by Waterford Ultimatum

Pontiac city commissioners overruled a request from the new Elizabeth Lake-Telegraph road supermarket attorney that the city drop its nine-month annexation-or-disconnect-ultimatum.

The commission last night held firm to its decision that Waterford Township detach the 80-acre store site for annexation to Pontiac within nine months or disconnect a temporary sewer connection at the supermarket.

Donald Barris, the center's attorney, had asked the nine-month limitation be dropped. The center opened today.

Commissioners tabled action on possible "refinement" by City Attorney William A. Ewart.

The city's decision follows a Supreme Court ruling that the hook-up to the city system in 1955 was illegal as originally stated by former Port Huron Circuit Court Judge Eugene F. Black.

Nathaniel Agree, owner of the $2,500,000 incomplete Pontiac Shopping Center, told the commission last night he had no objection to the resolution on the matter which was formally written into record.

The city ruled the nine-month proposal stood. The store may continue for this period to tie into Pontiac's sewer. The city will fix the "rate compensation" to be paid for its use, the resolution read.

Milford's $10 Million Home Project Growing

By REBA HEINTZMAN

MILFORD — Construction of a $10 million real estate development has been launched on a 1,400-acre tract of land between here and Commerce.

* * *

The developers, Jim Cole and Lewis Easlick revealed yesterday that they had purchased 32 farms of more than 2,400 total acres for the project.

There will be 41 miles of lake-front lots available when the project is completed some time next year, according to Cole.

Four big lakes will be connected by water-ways, leading from one farm to another. The largest lake, on the south side of Commerce, will connect with the Lakewood Village and Cedar Shore development near M59.

WORK UNDERWAY

It will be a mile wide and have a depth of 30 feet at the Sleeth Road Dam to be constructed next month. The lake, not yet named, will equal the size of Union Lake, Cole said.

Huge draglines, bull-dozers, tractors and cranes have been working day and night for the last eight months, preparing the acreage for water-ways and the flooding of the land, he said.

The most recent project completed was the breaking of west Commerce Road to install a 72-foot culvert leading from the Murray property to the new lake site. Water now pours through the culvert into the lake.

NO WEED GROWTH

With crews working around the clock, the big steel pipe was laid and covered in less than 48 hours. A dangerous road dip has been eliminated and, although open to traffic, Oakland County Road officials say it will be blacktopped next spring.

A new feature is the permanent elimination of weed growth. Deep excavation insures this, Engineer Cole said. "We spent $50,000 on Lake Neva in experimenting."

Another new idea is the "Swim Islands". There will be five small islands 'built' into the lake on Commerce road, where residents may sun bath, picnic and moor boats. The entire lake will have sand beaches.

Bridges will be constructed high enough to permit water-travel between lakes. Two dams, now in the process of construction, will control the water-level.

Northwestern Highway will cross Ford Road near Cooley Lake Road. Drag-line work has been completed there to connect with the highway.

All winding roads in the new area will be blacktopped. Lots will have about 110 feet of lake frontage and 200 feet to the roadway.

Pot-O-Gold Swelling With 900 Big Dollars

Racked by indigestion, the swollen Pot-O-Gold is yearning to unload its contents—standing now at $900.

That's a heavy load for any pot, but it will get worse if nobody manages to solve Puzzle No. 15. Results will be announced tomorrow.

Unless some Press reader cracks the maze, Puzzle 16 will be worth $1,000 to a winner, with an extra $25 if the winner is a Press subscriber.

If some lucky reader has won the $900, of course, we'll start over at a prize of $100 for Puzzle 16.

Second Leader Pleads Guilty

Marroso Joins Keating in Changing Plea Over Income Tax Charges

A second former official of the Pontiac Teamsters Local faces sentencing after changing his plea yesterday to a charge of income tax evasion.

* * *

Samuel J. Marroso, 42, of Utica, pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Thomas P. Thornton in U.S. District Court in Detroit.

Marroso was indicted in February on a charge of evading $2,469 in taxes by understating his income by $15,464 from 1950 to 1952.

Also indicted and awaiting sentence is Daniel J. Keating, 53, of 2902 Oak Grove Dr., who changed his plea last week to guilty to avoid payment of $850.70 in 1950.

NO DATE SET

Judge Thornton set no sentencing date, pending probation department reports. The maximum sentence is five years in prison, a $10,000 fine or both.

Both men served as business agents for AFL Teamsters Local 614. Neither are connected with the local now. Marroso also was business agent for Local 247 in Detroit.

The charges resulted from a 1954 labor rackets grand jury investigation. Marroso and Keating with two other Teamsters leaders were imprisoned then on convictions of conspiracy to accept bribes.

Williams Asks Action on Unemployment

the period of time over which they may be paid or the payroll tax question.

Williams said unemployment in the state now is estimated at 280,000, and that working men and women in the manufacturing industries of the state have lost 325 million dollars in wages since last Jan. 1.

"The largest part of this loss has occurred since June 13 when I first asked you to take remedial steps," he said.

"More than 100,000 of the jobless have received no unemployment compensation at all, and 58,434 more have exhausted their benefits, inadequate as those benefits were."

Williams' basic proposal would bring jobless pay benefits to an average level of about two thirds a worker's wage. Their duration would be extended from the present 26 weeks to 39 weeks.

Police Jail Suspect in Blinding of Riesel

NEW YORK (UP)— Police announced today the arrest of Theodore Rij, shadowy 43-year-old figure wanted for questioning in the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

The FBI has been conducting a nationwide search for Rij, a dressmaking firm executive. Authorities said he was believed to have been the driver of a car figuring in the transportation of one or more men allegedly involved in the acid hurling last April 5.

Police gave no details of his arrest, but it was learned he would be turned over to the FBI following an appearance at a police station in Manhattan.

conference at any date and place convenient to the other powers. He suggested Geneva as a possible site.

Bulganin made his statement in answer to questions submitted by International News Service, an American news agency.

Kingsbury Smith, vice president and general manager of INS, submitted the questions by cable to Bulganin, who in additional remarks said:

"As is well known, the Egyptian government has already expressed its readiness to re-examine, together with other interested powers, the Constantinople convention of 1888 and to conclude an agreement on freedom of passage through the canal.

"This proposal of Egypt's opens the possibility of a peaceful solution of the Suez problem. It is obvious that such an agreement on freedom of passage through the canal must be achieved in the final analysis through examination of this problem at a broad international conference with the participation of all interested nations."

The first question asked of Bulganin was:

* * *

"In order to prevent the threat of war in the Middle East, is the U.S.S.R. government prepared to take part immediately in a meeting on the level of heads of states with the governments of Egypt, India, France, Great Britain and the United States?"

Bulganin's answer: "The Soviet government has already spoken in favor of a just and peaceful solution of the Suez problem by means of negotiations. In order to assist such a solution of the problem, the Soviet government is prepared to take part in a conference of the heads of governments of Egypt, India, France, Great Britain, the United States and the U.S.S.R."

Offer Prayers of Gratitude

'Feast of Sukos' to Mark Synagogue Celebrations

Pontiac Jewry this weekend will celebrate the traditional Feast of Sukos—the feast of tabernacles.

On this holiday, Jews offer prayers of gratitude, just as they did thousands of years ago, for the blessings of nature and for God's goodness to man. It was first celebrated in ancient days as a holiday of thanksgiving to God for his gift of the harvest, and today as then, it is observed at the time of year when farmers of the land of Israel have just finished gathering and storing their crops.

Sukos is the holiday after which the Pilgrims patterned America's Thanksgiving Day.

The holiday's principal theme is struck by such prayers as the one which reads: "The earth is Thine and the fullness thereof; help us to realize that the blessings we enjoy are but tokens of Thy love and that when we use Thy gifts in the service of our fellowmen we offer thanksgiving unto Thee.

At Congregation B'nai Israel, Rabbi Israel Goodman announces the following services: Sukos service tonight at 6:30; Thursday, 7:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m.; Friday 7:30 a.m. and 9:15 p.m.

The Junior Congregation will meet at the synagogue at 10 o'clock Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings.

At 7:30 this evening, Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein will lead the family service at Temple Beth Jacob. A Sukos Holiday Service will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday and at 8:15 p.m. Friday.

Sukos services for next week will be announced Saturday.

Pontiac City Affairs

South Park Subdivision May Never Materialize

Plans for a proposed South Park Subdivision in Pontiac's southeast corner were stymied last night when the city's engineering consultant team decided against more homes in the area due to an overloaded sewer system.

A report from the Toledo firm of Jones, Henry & Williams showed 463 acres presently being drained by the sanitary sewer. "The present sewer will not carry an additional load," the firm reported.

A representative of a Detroit building firm, Morton Scholnick, had sought an answer to whether 350 new homes could be constructed in the area. Scholnick said last night: "The report seems to be quite conclusive."

Mayor William W. Donaldson assured Scholnick the city would take steps to build a "release sewer" to lessen the sewer load, as recommended by the report.

OTHER BUSINESS

Other items on a 15-point slate tackled by the City Commission in a 3½-hour session involved the approval of two agreements, one for paving the east-west runway at the city airport and the other for work in the Chambers-Bowen Subdivision.

Commissioners adjourned until next Wednesday for their weekly session instead of their usual Tuesday night meeting. The switch was accepted to allow several members to attend a service club meeting.

No action was taken on a $349 bid to raze a city-owned home at 53 S. Parke St. other than to refer the matter to City Manager W. K. Willman.

ACCEPT DEED

Acting City Manager Lewis Wrenn said the house "was too good to wreck." "We advertised to sell the house and not to wreck it," he added.

A warranty deed was accepted from Oakland County for the old city market property on Mill street which the city purchased three years ago on a land contract.

Approved was the transfer of a liquor license from Norma E. Luttrel lto Harry E. L'Hote at 691 Orchard Lake Ave.

No objections were voiced on special assessment rolls to finance public improvement work on Astor street from Auburn to Pike and from Maine to Michigan, or for Gillespie and Diston streets from Bagley to the east line of lot 4 of Lakeside Homes Subdivision.

A communication from the Oakland County CIO Council expressing its appreciation to city departments for aiding in the Labor Day celebration was read to the commission.

Truck Wheel Runs Over Youngster, 6

Six-year-old Timothy Lintz, of 5875 Pine Knob Rd., Independence Township, received a fractured pelvis and a ruptured bladder when he fell off a truck and was run over in a field next to his home Tuesday afternoon.

He was reported in satisfactory condition at the Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital today.

Frank Smith, 23, also of 5875 Pine Knob Rd., was the driver of the truck.

He told investigators he did not realize the boy was still on the truck when he drove into the field for a load of dirt. On his return trip, he said he saw Timothy lying on the ground.

Smith said the boy apparently fell off while standing on the running board and the back wheels passed over him.

Melvindale Woman Hurt in Two-Car Accident

A Melvindale woman suffered shoulder bruises requiring hospital treatment in a two-car accident at Willow and Messena roads in Commerce Township Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Rita G. Hendershott, 62, of 17955 Wood St., was sent home following treatment at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Mrs. Helen S. Davis, 46, of 14218 Ilene Ave., Detroit, which collided with a vehicle operated by Hartley E. McCleod, 57, of 96 Florence St.

Waterford Youths Plead Guilty to Simple Larceny

Pleading guilty to simple larceny, two Pontiac youths paid $30 each in fine and costs in Justice Court yesterday.

Phillip Hill, 17, of 69 Marion St., and Thomas H. Charbonneau, 20, of 109 S. Josephine Ave., were arraigned before Justice Willis D. Lefurgy of Waterford Township.

They had been arrested Sunday by Township police and charged with the theft of a cigarette lighter, cigarettes, and other articles from a township home.

Royal Oak Man Named Area Kiwanis Official

Elmer Hartwig of Royal Oak was named lieutenant governor of the fifth Kiwanis district of Michigan at the 39th annual convention of Kiwanis International yesterday in Detroit.

The convention closes today after the 1957 state officers are chosen.

North Enders Protest on Railroad Yard Site

protesting group had no objection to the railroad wanting an auxiliary yard. "Our only objection is the location they have chosen."

The railroad has proposed to construct the 3,000 by 300-foot yard south of Walton boulevard, north of its belt line, and between Stanley on the west and Baldwin on the east.

Commissioners have been reluctant to give their okay to the project because it will interfere with the extension of Stanley Avenue, a part of their 1956 capital improvement program.

City officials recommended an alternate site which would allow for the Stanley extension. They suggested one further southwest paralleling Telegraph road.

Last night's report asked that a suggestion from Charles H. Blackman, consulting engineer hired by the city to study the two sites, be studied further. He suggested construction of grade separations at Columbia, Montcalm, and Oakland streets.

Mrs. George Gray, president of the community club, urged defeat of the yard in their neighborhood. "We want to improve our area and not be known as the slum area down by the switching yards."

Hudson spoke of disadvantages of the yard relating to traffic in the area, property valuations, fire and police protection, hospitals and churches.

Acting City Manager Lewis Wrenn said the city would now begin grading the portion of Stanley owned by the city. "A condemnation suit would have to be filed to acquire a 43 by 200 piece for the rest of the right-of-way," he added.

Commissioners expressed doubt whether action would be taken until City Manager W. K. Willman returned from a manager's conference in Canada Sept. 23.

Alfred the Alligator Is Back in His 'Home'

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP) — Alfred the truant alligator was returned to his Lincoln Park Zoo pen last night after three days of freedom in a nearby lake.

Pontiac Deaths

Frances Elizabeth Feneley

Frances Elizabeth Feneley of 35 E. Howard St. died at her home this morning at 12:45. She had been ill several months.

Born in Oakland County on Jan. 6, 1873, she was the daughter of Charles and Elizabeth Wilkinson Feneley.

Miss Feneley, a resident of Pontiac 46 years, attended Pine Lake School and was a member of the Central Methodist Church.

She leaves two brothers, Wright and Bert, both of Pontiac, eight nephews and six nieces.

Miss Feneley's body will be at the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home from 7 o'clock this evening until noon Saturday. It will then be taken to the Central Methodist Church for service at 2 p.m. Burial will be in Pine Lake Cemetery. Dr. Milton H. Bank, her pastor, will officiate.

Bandit Cheated, Turns Informer

Brink's Robber Tells Why He Turned State's Evidence in Trial

BOSTON (UP) — Star prosecution witness Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe indicated in testimony yesterday that he turned informer against his alleged partners in the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery because he was cheated out of about $95,000 of his share of the loot.

He told the Superior Court jury that the loot was divided shortly after the Jan. 17, 1950, robbery, with each of 11 men receiving $100,000.

Because he expected to be picked up for questioning about the robbery, he said he entrusted to Joseph F. McGinnis, 52, a suitcase containing $100,000.

He said that when he regained possession of the suitcase from McGinnis, described by the prosecution as the "brains" of the robbery, it contained only $98,000.

He said he took $5,000 from the suitcase and turned over $93,000 to Adolph (Jazz) Maffie, another of those on trial. He said he never saw any part of the $93,000 again.

Others on trial are Michael V. Geagan, 47; Thomas F. Richard, 49; James I. Faherty, 45; Anthony Pino, 48; Vincent Costa, 42; and Henry Baker, 50.

O'Keefe pleaded guilty to the robbery but has not yet been sentenced. Two others accused of the crime, Stanley Gusciora, 36, and Joseph Banfield, 45, have died.

Waive Examination in Bogus Check Case

Two county men waived examination and were bound over to Circuit Court on an uttering and publishing charge yesterday.

Jack L. Woodruff, 26, of 90 Collier Rd., Pontiac Township, and Clarence O. Ayotte, 35, of 1400 Sugden Lake Rd., White Lake Township, were remanded to the Oakland County Jail under $3,000 bond following their arraignment before Waterford Township Justice Willis D. Lefurgy.

The pair were arrested Sept. 15 by Waterford police on a charge of passing a false check at a Township store. They reportedly had cashed several other such checks throughout the area over a period of about 10 days.

Name Rowston Liaison for County Democrats

At a meeting of County Democratic candidates Monday, Pontiac City Commissioner Philip E. Rowston was named coordinator and liaison man to serve all candidates in their campaigns for election Nov. 6.

Rowston was defeated in the Aug. 7 primary in his bid for nomination as Democratic candidate for State Senator.

Sorry, Our Mistake

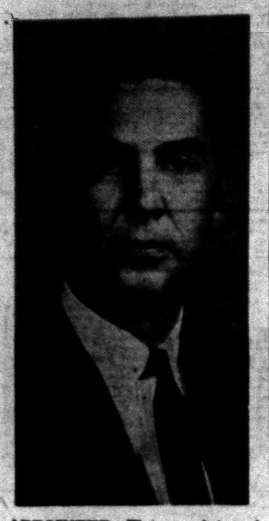

An auto accident story in Monday's Pontiac Press erroneously listed Darrell Bottorff, 30, of Waterford Township, as a passenger in one of four cars involved in a crash in that Township. Bottorff was a passerby who stopped to aid an injured party and then was hurt himself when a fourth car piled into the wreckage.

The Day in Birmingham

All School Switchboard Starts Operation Today

BIRMINGHAM — Completion of staff for Birmingham Public Schools is in sight with a number of substitute teachers still taking classes.

Two teachers were approved for hiring last night at the Board of Education meeting.

APPOINTED—The appointment of John Z. DeLorean as Director of Advanced Engineering for the Pontiac Motor Division has been announced by E. M. Estes, chief engineer. A native of Detroit, DeLorean has earned degrees from Lawrence Tech, the Chrysler Institute and the University of Michigan. He spent seven years in the engineering departments of Chrysler and Studebaker-Packard before joining Pontiac Motor Sept. 4.

A new switchboard, serving all the public schools here, went into operation this morning with several more lines being added.

* * *

With only 55 enrolled at the Christian Day School of Our Shepherd Lutheran Church instead of an expected 100, the school board has decided to retain the full staff of three teachers in expectation of the top enrollment by the winter term.

School officials indicated disappointment in registrations for the school, offering first six grades.

Three local officials tomorrow may receive a "thumbnail estimate" of costs for enlarging the sewage treatment plant, required for the North Evergreen plan or to handle sewage no matter what plan is made for piping in the area if the authority's interceptor plan is dropped.

* * *

City manager James K. Schone, Public Works director, L. R. Gare, and James Juhl will be acting for the authority at the meeting with the Ann Arbor engineering firm representatives.

To date, no close estimate of costs has been obtained.

The authority's meeting this week was canceled, and one may be called for next week. Regular session is on first Tuesday of each month.

* * *

New child Study club of the First Congregational church will meet tomorrow at 12:45 p.m. at Mrs. Curt Snider's home, 6160 Worlington, to slate future programs.

Co-chairmen are Mrs. Dalton Lamb and Mrs. Heleman Cardon. They or the church office will take reservations.

Mrs. Grace C. Moynahan

Mrs. Grace C. Moynahan, 59, of 185 Filbury Rd., died yesterday in the Alexander Nursing Home, Royal Oak, after a long illness.

She was the widow of B. John Moynahan, president and owner of the Mid-West Fiber Glass Fabricators and Moynahan Metals Co.

A native of Chicago, Mrs. Moynahan was an association member of the Detroit Athletic Club.

Funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at St. James Episcopal Church, Birmingham. Burial will be in White Chapel Cemetery. Her body will be at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. until noon Friday, when she will be taken to the church for service.

Mrs. Moynahan is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Robert E. Field of Birmingham; her stepmother, Mrs. Russel Boyer of Darien, Wis; a sister, Mrs. William Harnes of St. Louis, Mo., and two grandchildren.

OK Blacktop for Hills Drives

School Board Agrees Work Should Be Done Immediately

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Blacktopping of school driveways and parking lots for four schools here at a cost of about $21,000 was approved by the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education last night.

Blacktopping will be done immediately on acceptance of a bid because "bad weather would make driving difficulties especially at the new Eastover School."

Besides Eastover the project includes Bloomfield Hills High School, Vaughan and Wing Lake Schools.

"Bloomfield Hills Elementary schools have one of the lowest pupil-teacher ratios in the country," Supt. Eugene L. Johnson told the board last night. "With new schools being planned, but probably not going into operation for about two years, the ratio may become higher until then," he added.

There are from 19 to 27 students in classes, except in four classes having about 30 students.

Advertising to sell bonds will be early in December, according to a timetable for the recently-approved bond issue set up by the school attorney last night.

The Uniform Vehicle Code, a plan standardizing traffic laws and signs throughout the U.S., was formulated 30 years ago.

Flashing Electric Eye Gives Police Hysterics

PROVO, Utah (UP)—Police rushed to the Timpanogos school when lights began flashing off and on. But they soon left the problem in the laps of the school authorities.

The culprit was an electric eye, which was supposed to turn the lights on at dusk and off at dawn.

Officials said the device apparently had been tuned so finely that the lights which it turned on caused it immediately to turn them off again.

First Service Club in Area

Hills Lions Elect Officers

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — First service club in the Bloomfield area, the Bloomfield Lions Club, elected officers yesterday at a meeting at Kingsley Inn.

The club, sponsored by Pontiac Lions, formed last Friday and includes members from Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Township and Bloomfield Village.

Meetings will be at 12:14 noon each Tuesday at Kingsley Inn.

Membership, now at 26, will probably rise considerably before charter night in October, according to new president Robert J. Stadler, Hills City Clerk.

Other officers are Thomas J. Elston, first vice president; Samuel J. Reeves, second; Dominic Pettraino, third; J. Wesley McDonald, secretary; Homer J. Case, treasurer; Charles E. Galloway, Lion tamer and Chief Stanley Kevern, tail-twister.

Directors are: Supervisor Arno Hulet, Postmaster John J. Redmond, Otis Takis and Anson Priehs.

Growth in the area has brought about the feeling of need, according to Stadler, who says there will be many projects undertaken by the group.

Mobile Voter Sign-Up Units Rejected

Pontiac city commissioners last night all but turned down a Democratic-sponsored proposal to allow mobile voter registration units to operate in the city.

After a lengthy debate on the subject, a move to table the request was passed by a 4-3 roll call vote of the commission. Voting against the motion were Commissioners Philip Rowston, John Dugan, and John Carry.

The proposal was offered by Robert R. Boyer, chairman of the City Democratic Committee and financial secretary of Local 653 UAW-CIO of Pontiac Motor Division.

* * *

"Although this resolution is offered by the City Democratic Committee, its intent is strictly non-partisan," Boyer told the City Commission.

He added that all interested groups in the city would be invited to participate in the plan.

The group asked city commissioners to advise City Clerk Ada R. Evans to allow "responsible organizations to have mobile units travel into neighborhoods for the purpose of taking registrations."

Mrs. Evans warned of possible registration duplication and the failure of a similiar move in 1952 by the Chamber of Commerce which she termed "unsuccessful."

Boyer expanded the proposal by explaining that the several units would go into the neighborhoods, park, then the volunteer workers would canvass door to door to inform them of the presence of the units.

Commissioner Floyd Miles said "registration is a city function and should be kept devoid of party activities."

"Throughout the hour-long discussion, during which several citizens in the chambers urged acceptance of the proposal, commissioners stressed they favored any means to boost registration but argued about the "mechanics of the move."

Mrs. Evans said there were seven registration centers in the city including City Hall.

Commissioners said by tabling the move the matter was dead "at least for this year," because of only 17 more days to register before the Oct. 8 deadline.

Electric Car With Tiller Is a Thriller, Not a Killer

HASTINGS (AP)—A woman driver who has to keep both hands on the controls drives one of the safest cars in town.

* * *

Mrs. Harold Phillips also boasts the quietest-running of cars; one with so much window glass part of it is shielded by lace curtains, and so roomy the driver can climb in standing up.

It's a 1915 Milborn Light Electric auto—the purring machine that was the delight of women in the early days of motoring.

Mrs. Phillips is one of the few electric auto enthusiasts who uses her car for more than just a toy. Her husband searched five months to find one in running condition so she could drive it on her daily round of errands.

270 MILES FOR $2

Mrs. Phillips drives six to nine miles a day for a cost of about two dollars a month to keep the car's dozen 12-volt batteries charged up.

The car is navigated with a tiller. Mrs. Phillips says it's a two-hand operation — "I can't wave to my friends when I drive by."

Bumpers from a Model T Ford fend off modern traffic. Turn signals, a stop light and rear view mirror were added as safety devices.

* * *

Decorative touches include white ruffled curtains hung from rods along the rear side windows and an antique bud vase which Mrs. Phillips fills with flowers in season.

Every night the batteries—four in front and eight in the rear—are charged in the Phillips garage. They propel the car at a top speed of 22 m.p.h.

The Electric gives an exceptionally smooth ride, Mrs. Phillips says. It has five forward speeds and two reverse and is so quiet the only sound is the whisper of the speedometer.

Whirring along in her Electric, Mrs. Phillips says she recalls her favorite jingle:

An Electric is a precious thing—
All shiny glass and polish.
And if you'd drive one every day,
Speed laws you'd soon abolish!

THERE NEVER was a better time to start enjoying a gorgeous new Buick.

Take today's low Buick prices. Frankly, who can tell if they'll ever be as low again?

Take trade-in allowances. Buick is more strongly than ever in America's top three best sellers, so we can afford to give you the benefit of any doubt.

Take the season. Isn't it time to trade your present car before its value goes down?

Above all, consider all you get in a '56 Buick. Advanced styling, power, ride. And wonderful new advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow*—with a double helping of take-off and a sweet new kind of control.

So doesn't it all add up to a real bonanza of value? Drop in and we'll prove that it does. And hurry—the sooner, the smarter!

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

Bonanza Trade-in Allowance

—because your present car is at its peak value right now. And because—with Buick so solidly set as America's No. 3 Best Seller—our bigger sales volume permits us to make you an even better trade-in allowance.

Bonanza Buy

Buick prices start right next to those of the smaller cars. But those Buick dollars buy you a whole of a lot more automobile—more room, more power thrill, more styling freshness, more ride stability, more solidity of structure—the Best Buick Yet.

Bonanza Resale

A Buick always resells high. But the '56 Buick will bring you even more money when you trade it because it carries today's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow.* It's the most advanced transmission yet developed—and the only one that breaks with the past to bring you the switch-pitch performance and gas savings of the modern plane's variable pitch propellers.

It's a great time to buy a Buick

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen
Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

Bob Considine Says:

Mountains of Farm Surplus Grow Higher

WASHINGTON (INS) — How to sell, give away and barter for the nation's nine billion dollar surplus farm products is a problem seemingly without solution.

* * *

We are lending $235 million to India to buy up some of our surpluses, notably wheat. We'll pick up the $50 million (plus) tab for shipping the stuff there, too.

"We've lent Japan $60 million to buy up some of our excess cotton which, like the wheat, was purchased from U.S. farmers who raised more than they could sell on the open market.

We have enough surplus wheat now to fill a train of railroad cars that would reach from Los Angeles to New York and back to Pittsburgh. There's enough cotton lying around to provide 150 house dresses for every American woman or 190 shirts for the old man.

* * *

We advance up to 80 per cent of the money with which the farmer builds bins to hold the grain he is going to sell the government, and then pay him storage rent.

* * *

We have pumped 78 million bushels of wheat into the holds of 342 moth-balled merchant ships anchored in the Hudson near West Point, the James River at Ft. Eustis, Va., on Puget Sound at Olympia, Wash., and in the Columbia River at Astoria, Ore. In all, the storage rent comes to a million dollars a day.

BARGAIN SALE

"Why don't you hold a bargain sale and clean out the surplus?" people ask Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson. Others want to know why there is still hunger in this country with so much publicly owned produce lying unused.

* * *

Truth of the matter is that the Agricultural Act of 1949 prohibits the sale domestically of goods at prices calculated to "discourage or deter" ordinary trading.

It doesn't apply to export sale, but there we are faced with increased production overseas (thanks partly to our aid), the ability of competing nations to undersell us, transportation costs, foreign tastes, etc.

(For example, a number of nations are convinced we make the world's worst cheese, a depressing fact when one realizes we have about 300 million pounds of it on ice.)

* * *

We've whipped up a swapping arrangement with 29 countries whereby we give them wheat, corn, grain sorghums, barley, flaxseed, oats, rye, tobacco, cottonseed oil, peanuts, dried skim milk, linseed oil, cottonseed meal, soybeans, rice and cotton for such things as fertilizer, cotton yarn, antimony metal, beryl ore, cadmium, industrial diamonds, high carbon ferrochrone, crude iodine, manganese ore, and free rent on buildings such as our embassies, consulates, trade missions and the like.

We've unloaded about half a billion dollars worth of stuff since 1950, that way, and received perhaps a fourth of that in return.

Some of the perishable produce (butter, cheese, milk, eggs) are turned over regularly to school lunch programs and — through approved welfare organizations — to needy people here and abroad.

* * *

There have been contributions to the armed forces, drought areas and disaster places here and abroad. But the incredible mountains continue to grow.

In 1953 we had enough surplus cotton to take care of all the nation's cotton goods manufacturing for seven days. Today the nation's cotton mills could run for 113 days on the surplus cotton.

In 1953 we had no rice surplus. Today the government has enough rice to sate the country's appetite for rice for 256 days.

* * *

If a great blight killed all the wheat now growing in the U.S. we'd have enough in the bins and the holds to blunt the nation's hunger for nearly a year.

* * *

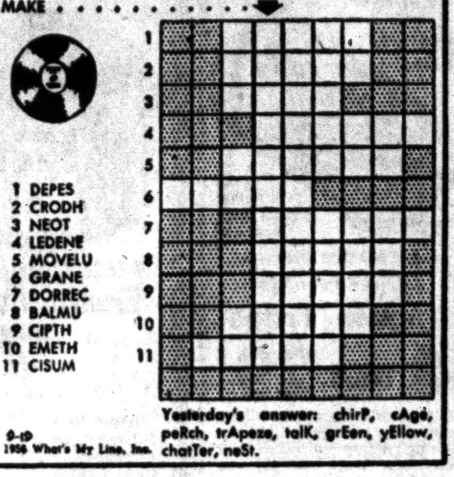

We have more corn than a year of Saturday nights on TV, nearly a billion bushels, and more than 100 million pounds of wool, and enough dried milk to coat the Lincoln highway, plus nearly a billion pounds of tobacco.

Only $2,152,000 of it (one-tenth of the 1 per cent) burned, was stolen or spoiled last year — a government report mournfully states.

Mrs. Roosevelt Talk Set Oct. 3 in Detroit

DETROIT (UP) — Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will speak here Oct. 3 at a rally sponsored by the Volunteers for Stevenson-Kefauver, a revived group of the Volunteers for Stevenson of 1952.

A spokesman, Ben Goldstein of Detroit, said the organization was formed to help the Democratic presidential ticket and is not interested in any other Democratic candidates.

However, he said the Democratic State Central Committee has agreed to an arrangement under which funds collected will be shared equally by the local Democratic party organization, the national committee and the volunteers.

Some 300 volunteers have made plans to raise at least $150,000 to support the Stevenson-Kefauver campaign.

The normal plowing depth is around six inches.

Last of Wildlife Stamps to Picture King Salmon

WASHINGTON (UP) — The third and last of the special 3-cent stamps emphasizing wildlife conservation in America will feature a King Salmon.

The Post Office Department said the issue will have its first day sale at Seattle Nov. 9.

The stamp, printed in green and in special delivery size, will depict the King Salmon on the annual upstream migration to spawning grounds.

Autumn Coming

The Fall Equinox occurs at 8:36 p.m. Saturday, September 22. At that time the length of day and night will be equal and the sun will be well on its way back toward the southern horizon.

★ ★ ★

Already some of the "early" trees are beginning to turn into Autumn colors with the smaller roadside shrubs showing the way in this annual color show. In the northland the ferns are turning brown, fall flowers are enjoying their final fling, and the summer birds already have taken flight.

People who have counted on weekend outings will not be sorry to see the present summer end. No matter what the Weather Bureau folks may say, there have been only two completely pleasant weekends since the first of July, so the new Fall season may well prove a pleasant period since Nature so frequently manages to even things out.

Farewell to Summer.

Hail to Autumn.

May there be plenty of golden, lazy days, along with plenty of those briskly sunny ones that let us all know that Winter is approaching round the corner, come December.

★ ★ ★

Michigan residents feel themselves fortunate in having variety in their weather. The one thing about which they almost always may feel certain is that tomorrow will be different.

The four seasons usually do bring heat and cold, sunshine, rain and snow; calm, tranquil days and quiet nights and storms that shake the houses and buffet giant trees about.

One of the interesting things about this new fall season is that mystery still surrounds it. Nobody knows for sure whether it will be predominantly somber or bright, moist or dry. We must rise each day to learn what Mother Nature has provided us.

★ ★ ★

We know much of it will be pleasant, and that the rainy days are necessary to restore moisture to the ground, and perhaps also to enable us to appreciate the brighter days that follow.

Dr. Hornung Reports

Many Pontiac as well as Detroit people will be interested in the report made recently by Dr. HEINRICH HORNUNG, German public health official, regarding several highly publicized "fluoride poison" cases in Detroit and Saginaw.

Detroit is interested because of the current disagreement between the Detroit Board of Water Commissioners and the Detroit City Council as to the desirability of adding fluoride to the Detroit water supply to protect that city's children from tooth decay.

The council has suggested that fluoridation be begun. The Water Board opposes such action.

Pontiac residents are interested in the report because the so-called poisoning cases were used to frighten people here prior to the vote on fluoridation of the Pontiac water supply. As a result, the proposal was turned down.

★ ★ ★

Dr. HORNUNG made his study at the request of the U. S. State Department. His findings were that the poison cases cited by Dr. GEORGE WALDBOTT of Detroit never existed at all. "His reasoning (regarding these cases) is tarnished by an emotional bias," said Dr. HORNUNG of Dr. WALDBOTT.

Dr. Hornung testified to Dr. Waldbott's qualifications in the field of allergies, but took issue with the methods employed by Dr. Waldbott in his efforts to halt the fluoridation of public water supplies.

It will be interesting to see what effect Dr. HORNUNG's report will have on the Detroit situation. Highland Park recently resumed fluoridation of its water supply.

★ ★ ★

Fluoridation long has had the approval of the American Medical Association and many other dental, medical and public health associations.

David Lawrence Says:

Louisville Integration Plan Works

WASHINGTON — Voluntarism—which is the opposite of coercion—may furnish the key to an easing of racial tensions in handling the school problem.

It has just been tried out in Louisville, Ky. The method used may not be the whole answer nor the solution in all cases. But what happened in Louisville is the most interesting story that has developed thus far on the matter of "integration" and "segregation."

It is first necessary to understand the meaning of these particular words. Contrary to some published reports, Louisville did not put into effect "forced integration," as the term is used.

What Louisville did was to avoid "compulsory integration," just as it avoided "compulsory segregation." Dr. Omer Carmichael, the superintendent of schools in Louisville, first of all took the position that the Supreme Court in its 1954 decision did not say a word about "compulsory integration" but merely outlawed "compulsory segregation."

ADVANCE NOTICE

So he talked it over far in advance with parents' associations and other civic groups and came up with a plan that has just been put into effect. It is called "voluntary integration." It is described in detail in a copyrighted article in a magazine, one of whose traveling editors, after several days of intimate study of the Louisville situation, writes:

"The way it is working out, a lot more white children than Negroes are being integrated. More than 80 per cent of all white pupils in Louisville are now going to school with Negroes. But fewer than half of Louisville's Negro pupils are going to school with whites. What's happening is this:

"Most white children, when assigned to a predominantly Negro school, are voluntarily transferring to another school where there are no Negroes, or at least fewer Negroes. Such transfers have been requested by 85 per cent of all white children assigned to formerly all-Negro schools.

TRANSFERS—KEY TO EFFECT

"Many Negroes also are voluntarily transferring out of white schools back to their old schools. This has been done by 45 per cent of all Negro children assigned to schools that were formerly all white.

"This is the 'voluntary' part of the integration plan which was put into effect when Louisville abandoned compulsory segregation with the opening of school last week.

"Louisville parents are given a choice. If they object to integration in the school to which their children are assigned, they may ask that their children be transferred to another school where there is little or no racial mingling. Such requests are granted if administratively possible. Out of more than 2,700 requests for transfer, only about 250 requests have been denied. As a result, despite rezoning of Louisville's 75 school districts without regard to race, nine schools have remained all Negro, 11 have remained all white. Although 55 schools have been mixed, only a few Negroes are to be found in most of these mixed schools . . .

PARENTS NOTIFIED

"When the city was rezoned to eliminate racial division, parents were notified, well in advance of school opening, of the schools to which their children had been assigned. This gave parents time to request transfers. Officials say that most white parents seeking transfers agree to settle for a school containing a few Negroes. But some specify an all-white school. Assistant superintendent of schools Samuel V. Noe says: 'When it comes to that, we can't guarantee them anything. Our schools are open to both races. A Negro child is entitled to enter an all-white school if he wants to.'

"As a result of this policy, the effects of integration vary greatly from school to school. The least effect is being felt in the high schools. No white pupils at all are enrolled in the city's one high school that was formerly restricted to Negroes. That school is still all-Negro. In each of the five high schools formerly restricted to whites, there are now some Negroes—but only a few. None has more than 40 Negroes. One has only three. In all, a few more than 100 Negroes are winding up in mixed high schools.

"One school official commented: 'If we have had any surprise at all, it is the number of Negro students who wanted to transfer back to their all-Negro schools'."

The latest figures show 33,004 students enrolled in mixed schools, and 11,793 in either all-white or Negro schools. Many people are moving their residences to get into other school districts. The problem is by no means solved in its entirety.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Alcohol Is a Narcotic—as Many Families Know

In a piece titled Alcohol Is a Narcotic recently, I quoted here the plea of an unhappy girl: "My father drinks to extremes. He will not go to Alcoholics Anonymous nor permit our pastor to talk to him. He has made us all so unhappy . . ." (Signed, Doris B.)

As intern in a large charity hospital, a country doctor, a general practitioner and member of the staff of a semi-private hospital in the city, I have seen the misery and sorrow such drinking brings upon children, parents, brothers, and sisters; and that's why such alcohol addicts should be treated as narcotic addicts, in my opinion. That is, they should be committed to a suitable hospital under control of the physicians, for a term sufficient for a course of medical treatment for addiction, together with whatever help family, friends, spiritual advisers or Alcoholics Anonymous can give them.

In God's name, cries one reader, what could be more tragic than that? To my mind, the situation described by Doris B. is far more tragic than that.

My "antediluvian" notion that alcohol is a narcotic is all wrong, according to one Edward L. Morris, who signed his open letter as Executive Director of Portal House, Chicago. A committee of the World Health Organization said "alcohol must be considered a drug whose pharmacological action is intermediate in kind and degree between addictive-producing and habit-forming drugs"—if you understand the difference — "so that compulsive craving and dependence can develop in those individuals whose make-up leads them to seek and find escape in alcohol."

That's pretty confusing, but on coming to, I must say the WHO composed a good description of the way narcotic works.

Since Tony was a pup I have recommended, whenever I had the opportunity, that the man or woman with the alcohol problem get in touch with an A. A. group in the community where he or she lives or works.

One or more A. A. groups listed in telephone directory. Every member of A. A. has been through it — knows something about the battle the victim must wage and will give him or her every kind of help to win.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to diseases, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Remarks About Democrats Slanderous, Says Reader

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I would like to express my thoughts and my feelings about the expressions made by Frank C. in regard to the former presidents of the Democrat party. I've not always been a Republican. But I know many, many thousands died under Abraham Lincoln, but it had to be done to keep America free from slavery.

There has never been a war declared or fought by the United States that didn't have the wholehearted support of the Republican leaders. But it had to be fought to stop the spearheads aiming at our democracies and I am sure that the Republican party and the Democrat party would not welcome the vote of a man who would make such slanderous remarks about the great leaders of our nation, because it shows signs of mental weakness.

And if all the world were just like Frank C. what kind of a world would it be? If he doesn't vote, his vote won't be missed.

Maneuvers by the West Pinch Egypt's Treasury

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

The Western allied nations have taken economic precautions in the Suez Canal crisis as traffic through the vital waterway slows.

* * *

If the users' association makes a test run soon Egyptians say their ship will be denied access. This then would open up the prospect of an economic war against Egypt.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser in the short run has a flexible margin to work on, but in the long one his prospects are not bright if he collides with the West in economic hostilities.

After he nationalized the Suez Canal Company the British took three economic front actions. The treasury directed that cash, securities and gold held in Britain on behalf of the canal company should not be turned over at Egyptian request without treasury permission.

* * *

The treasury also brought under its control all transfers into and out of Egyptian pound sterling accounts, and the Board of Trade prohibited shipment of munitions and war materials to Egypt.

NOT ALL FROZEN

The treasury did not freeze all movement to and from Egyptian accounts, merely authorized itself to stop all transfers if it wished to do so.

* * *

Most large transfers have in fact been prevented, but small sums can be withdrawn from Egyptian accounts by resident Egyptians.

The blocked Egyptian sterling account is valued at more than $300 million, but British trade with Egypt is not at a standstill at the moment.

Exporters have to face difficult decisions on whether they should continue shipping cargoes in the hope that their payments in blocked sterling might be released in the not too distant future.

It is estimated that only about half of the shippers using the canal are paying Egypt directly in transit fees. So that is not quite the gold mine that Nasser envisaged in his surprise nationalization move.

ASSETS DWINDLING

Egypt's non-sterling assets amounted to approximately $268 million at the end of March. London estimates are that it is possible that her non-sterling assets within her own control now amount to about $140 million.

This is allowing for declines since March and for controls imposed by France and the United States, and also the fact that perhaps one-half of Egypt's gold holdings of $168 million were held in the United States.

Egypt's payments deficit was said to be running more than $84 million yearly before the fight over Suez began.

The Cairo government has increased its trade with the Soviet bloc in the last year, largely on a barter basis. It's not clear whether Russia and other Communist-ruled nations will go beyond barter arrangements and extend credit.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Your Car Behavior Tells a Lot

Do you have "empathy" or the ability to project yourself into another person or thing? The way you drive an auto will reveal many personality traits about you. Hot rod drivers and those who gun the motor on a take-off, are usually afflicted with inferiority complexes. So they try to show off like supposed "big shots."

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-369: Col. Franklin M. Kreml is famous for his work in promoting traffic safety.

Some years ago he asked me to teach the psychology course at our Northwestern University Traffic Institute, which offers specialized instruction to picked police officers from all over the land.

Incidentally, the modern police officer is a smart man. His I.Q. is very high!

In fact, the men whom I taught at the Traffic Institute made higher grades on the mental tests that I administered, than did my senior students in the Liberal Arts College at Northwestern University.

* * *

So banish from your mind all thoughts that policemen are "dumb cops." Instead, they are both smart and versatile, with knowledge of law, medicine, civics and Applied Psychology.

"Dr. Crane," asked one of my police students, "don't you think it might be possible to psychoanalyze a person by the way he handles his automobile?"

And that was a very shrewd query, for you can make many valid deductions about a person in that manner.

NEW DRIVER TEST

For example, a person who guns his motor unduly at the take-off may be compensating for a deep-seated inferiority complex.

"People beat me in everything else," such a kid may think, "so I'll restore my ego by showing them that I can get away from a stop light before anybody else."

* * *

That also explains much of the high speed driving on the highways.

"If my car can pass all others on the road," these inferiority

complexers think, "then that suggests that I can surpass everybody in other respects."

That is an illogical conclusion, but you have all seen scores of such "juvenile" speedsters, even though their calendar age was 40 or 50.

People who lack prestige in business or social realms, may likewise try to inflate their ego by gloating over the power of their automobile motor.

Again they make the fallacious error of thinking:

"If my car has the highest horse power, that will indicate that I am powerful and dominant."

Teenagers, as well as thir parents, often take out their pent-up ire on the innocent family car.

* * *

Thus, they slam the door with a bang when they get into the driver's seat. They grow violent if the motor doesn't start at once.

Wives have told me about their husbands who would actually kick the car or punch the auto radio when it failed to work.

And one young husband would grow so violent, he'd take a brick or a tire tool and smash the windows and headlights on his own auto.

After he calmed down, then he'd grow remorseful. And as he considered the cost of the repairs, he'd grow angry at himself for his own stupidity.

Some drivers never show "empathy" as regards their own automobile. They don't remotely imagine that it grows thirsty for water in the radiator.

Nor do they dream of the wrenching and "pain" of the tires when they spin the rear wheels on a take-off or turn a corner on two wheels.

A careful driver has feelings for his car as well as for the safety of other motorists. So he checks oil and gas, as well as air pressure in his tires.

Others are as sadistic with their cars as their forefathers were similarly cruel to horses.

We need a new Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Automobiles!

You high schoolers might develop an interesting "Personality Test" based on the way a person treats his automobile and his fellow motorist.

Perhaps your teachers in English can assign such a topic to combine psychology with English theme writing.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Health Nurses Will Teach

Expectant Parent Classes to Begin on Tuesday Night

A deluge of questions is expected by staff nurses of the Oakland County Health Department Tuesday night when they begin teaching expectant parent classes at the county health department, 1070 N. Telegraph Rd.

• • •

Sponsored by the Oaklanr County Medical Society, the Oakland County Health Department, Pontiac City Health Department and various adult education departments, the classes are open to parents expecting first children.

The first four classes, held weekly, will center around the mother. There will be opportunity for discussion of family adjustments, growth and development of the baby before birth, labor and delivery, Miss Gaston said.

The last four classes will cover feeding of the baby, what the new baby is like and baby's first year.

Audio-visual aids will supplement discussion. Conducted hospital tours are arranged during the series of eight classes.

• • •

Time for th eweekly Tuesday meetings is 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and open ot both parents. Registrations can be made or information obtained by calling the health department at FE 2-9255, Miss Gaston said.

Ohio City Loses Phone Service

Police Call Emergency After Armed Strikers Attack Company Men

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — This Ohio River town of about 40,000 people was without telephone service today. All calls going in and out of the city, as well as local calls, were suspended after incidents of violence in a two-month-long phone strike.

• • •

Police Chief Hugh Rudity declared an emergency. He ordered all police personnel and auxiliaries to report for duty.

A local "hot rod" club organized its members to act as couriers for hospitals in the area.

Telegrams were the only means by which residents of this southern Ohio community could communicate with friends or relatives outside the city.

• • •

The struck Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. closed its exchanges in Portsmouth and in Sciotoville, a small village near here, last night. Company President C. E. Williams said the action was taken after an attack earlier yesterday on five supervisors who were repairing cables in the Sciotoville area.

Williams said the five employes needed hospital treatment after a group of 25 men attacked them with clubs.

The strike by approximately 600 operators and service personnel began when representatives of the company and Communication Workers of America were unable to reach agreement on a new contract to replace the old one-year contract.

Police Widow Passes Test for Texas Force

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Mrs. Jimmie Schultea, 29, whose detective husband was killed in the line of duty, has passed the oral examination for entering police training school.

• • •

Robert Schultea, a vice squad detective, was shot to death while investigating a disturbance at a bar last month.

Sidney Hughes, city civil service director, said Mrs. Schultea passed the oral exam "with flying colors." She still must pass the physical examination.

• • •

"Roberts and I talked it over before he was shot and agreed I should apply," she said. "I am more determined now than ever to be an officer. I want to follow in his footsteps."

A Penny's Worth of Gas Causes a Gun Battle

ATLANTA (AP)—A wild exchange of shots at a filling station near downtown Atlanta turned out to be an argument over one penny's worth of gasoline.

• • •

Detectives gave this account:

James Cotton, 19, drove his car into the filling station and asked for 40 cents worth of gas. The attendant, C. D. Dalton, put in 41 cents worth.

Cotton refused to pay the extra cent, left the station after an argument and returned with a pistol.

Dalton fired, Cotton returned the fire. Dalton shot again, and Cotton took to his heels.

• • •

Both men showed up in City Court yesterday to answer charges of disorderly conduct. The trial was postponed to allow attorneys to seek additional evidence.

O-JIB-WA BITTERS! THE ONLY MEDICINE TO HELP MY ARTHRITIS

"After suffering for such a long time, it's great to be up and around again, and I'm thankful for O-JIB-WA BITTERS," says Mr. George Stubbs, 3205 Campbell, Dearborn.

"I haven't been able to work in over two years because of arthritis all through my system. Every joint was stiff and ached with pain. My neck was so stiff that I had to turn my whole body to move my head. It got so bad that my wife had to help feed me, and assist me getting in and out of bed. I was like this all through the winter and tried about everything offered for arthritis to no avail. Then a friend of my son's recommended O-JIB-WA BITTERS because she had received so much help from it. In fact, O-JIB-WA was always recommended so highly, I decided to try it, and in about two weeks, I could see that this was the medicine that would help me. The pain and stiffness was leaving me, and I could move about more freely. I'm in pretty good shape now for my age. My wife is also bothered with arthritis in her fingers and back, so I'm going to get her started on this wonderful product at once. I think that O-JIB-WA BITTERS is as good a medicine as anyone can take. It has done wonders for me, and I will always praise it to the highest, to anyone who needs it."

Mars Is Cold: Below Freezing

U.S. Navy Astronomers Contact Planet Using Strong Radio Waves

WASHINGTON (INS) — Navy astronomers, who earlier this year announced they had received "radio" waves from the planet Venus, say they have also succeeded in contacting Mars.

* * *

The radio missions actually are set up by surface temperature. They showed that Venus is hotter than boiling water, but that the temperature on Mars is slightly below freezing.

The contact with Mars was made at the Naval Research Laboratory outside Washington, with a 600-inch radio telescope. The scientists said the signal from Mars was so weak that more than 50 measurements were necessary to establish the certainty of the detection.

A team of three astronomers took the measurements. They are Cornell H. Mayer, Timothy T. McCullough and Russell M. Slonaker.

Radio detection is one of the newest methods employed in astronomy. Many distant galaxies of hot stars have been detected, but the radio contacts by the naval laboratory have been the first to determine temperatures on the comparatively cold planet.

* * *

The scientists said they were aided in their work by the recent close approach of Mars to within 35 million miles of the earth. The best contacts were made on two clear nights during the week of Sept. 9.

* * *

The announcement said "this work in radio astronomy is a part of the Navy's larger program in studying the physics of space."

Humphrey to Speak

DETROIT (AP) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn) will address the fourth annual Williams Day Dinner sponsored by Young Democrat Clubs of Michigan Saturday in Detroit. The dinner is a tribute to Gov. Williams.

Ex-Miss America to Wed in Gown Worn at Contest

DENVER (INS) — Sharon Kay Ritchie will wear the white gown that helped her win the Miss America title when she weds singer Don Cherry Saturday in Denver.

A simple ceremony is planned with Colorado Woman's College President Dr. Val Wilson officiating. Miss Ritchie was a student at the college when she entered the contest for the 1956 beauty title.

The couple, who met last May in Wichita Falls, Tex., will live in a 3½ room New York apartment.

No More Toll Roads Needed?

AAA Official Says U.S. Program Is Adequate to Meet Demands

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An executive of the American Automobile Assn. predicts the new federal highway building program will eliminate the necessity for toll highway construction on a large scale.

At the 54th annual meeting of the AAA, Russell E. Singer, executive vice president, said "The 40,000-mile national system of interstate and defense highways, for which the federal government pays 90 per cent of the cost, will provide the necessary highway facilities between large centers of population." He added:

"To attempt to build and finance parallel toll facilities would be wholly impracticable."

Singer said delegates of affiliated motor clubs face major battles with representatives of trucking interests over tax rate differentials when state legislatures meet next year.

"Don't fall for the argument that the gasoline tax is a fair measure of road use," Singer said. "Don't forget that the passenger car and light vehicle owner pays 80 per cent of that tax."

$100 or $1,000; It's Up to Fans and Puzzle 15

...If you feel sorry for old Pot-O-Gold, and would help it reduce its bulging waistline, pick up your pencil and earn yourself some money with the puzzle below. It's worth at least $100 plus worlds of fun and mental stimulation. Read the clues carefully and then take a good look at the rules before filling in the empty spaces. It can mean money in your pocket.

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 16 must bear a Tuesday, Sept. 25, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner, no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers, will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

SERVICE WHILE YOU WAIT — Keeping anxious eyes trained on the roadside cobbler, a barefooted customer shows impatience as he waits for his moccasin to be mended so that he can return to his play after the forced interruption. $100,000 Explanation Too Much for $1 Gift

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. (AP)—A State Health Department official has decided not to take a $1 donation and add it to the $663,999 in federal funds for New Mexico hospital construction.

When Mrs. Louise Masters reported the state had the money, someone suggested a $1 donation to make the amount an even $664,000 and ease a division problem.

"We decided all the paper work needed to explain that $1 donation to the federal government would cost about $100,000," Mrs. Masters said.

Belle of the Bell

READING, Pa. (AP)—Six-year-old Susan Loose of nearby Wyomissing Hills figured something was wrong when she heard bells ringing every time she breathed. The girl was rushed to Reading hospital where physicians removed a small bell from her throat. She had accidentally swallowed it while playing.

Detroit Youth Wins Theater Scholarship

A 17-year-old Detroit boy was awarded the men's work scholarship from Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater this week.

* * *

Donald E. Gongwer was presented the scholarship by Mrs. Celia Merrill Turner, director of the theater.

This is the first semester this men's scholarship has been offered. Competition for the scholarship was open to any male 15 years or older with theatrical experience and need for financial aid. Cost of registration and tuition for one semester is covered.

* * *

Fall dramatic classes at the theater opened Monday but applications are still being accepted for Saturday classes for eight to 11 yearolds, 11 to 13 yearolds and four to seven year olds, Mrs. Turner said.

Shivers Voices Support for Ike

Sen. Daniel Comes Out for Stevenson-Kefauver Immediately After

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Gov. Allan Shivers said yesterday he wil support Republican President Eisenhower for re-election. Almost immediately, Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex), gubernatorial nominee, came out for Democratic presidential nominees Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver.

* * *

Both Shivers and Daniel bolted the party in 1952 to support Eisenhower against Stevenson. Texas went Republican.

Shivers told newsmen he would support President Eisenhower as "the best Democrat in the race." He said he did not think Stevenson had changed his ideas of a "strongly centralized government."

* * *

Shivers also said a "brainwashing campaign" is being waged against Texas voters in an effort to convince them that "the party is the most important issue — not the candidate."

Daniel made his statement after a telephone conversation with Stevenson.

* * *

"In view of Mr. Stevenson's statements that he would not reopen the tidelands fight against Texas and that he opposes use of force in school integration cases, it is possible for me now to say definitely that I will support the Democratic nominees for president and vice president," Daniel's statement said.

Daniel's headquarters said his statement was not prompted in any way by Shivers' comments.

Science Develops New Tablets

Relieves Painful Monthly Cramps For 3 out of 4 Women Tested! Gives Greater Relief Than Aspirin!

Boston, Mass. (Special)—New promise of relief for women who suffer tortures of monthly cramps and nervous tension is found in an amazing new tablet . . . developed especially to relieve this female discomfort. It offers greater relief than aspirin during that distressing period each month!

Doctors report remarkable results. For 3 out of 4 women tested, pain and cramps were stopped or strikingly relieved. Even on the first day, many had no nagging headaches, no backaches or other functionally-caused distress . . . were also less jittery the trying week before their period!

The new tablet contains not just one or two ingredients but a unique combination of special medicines. That's why this new discovery offers more relief than plain aspirin! Unlike such "general-purpose" remedies, it acts on the cause of distress. Has amazing power to calm uterine contractions, also works through a woman's sympathetic nervous system.

Called "Lydia Pinkham's Tablets," the formula was developed by the world's largest manufacturer devoted exclusively to relief of women's ailments! Easy-to-take new Pinkham's Tablets are now available at all drug stores without a prescription.

So don't suffer needlessly. Take Pinkham's Tablets yourself. See if you don't feel worlds better this very month. See if you don't escape much of the irritability and discomfort—both before and during those "difficult days." (For liquid form . . . ask for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

New York City Crusade Planned by Billy Graham

NEW YORK (INS) — An eight-week crusade to establish New York spiritually on the same plane of world influence it now occupies materially, will be launched next May by evangelist Billy Graham.

"New York will be the most prayed-for spot on the face of the earth," the evangelist declared. "But we're not coming here to clean up the city. Our aim is to get the people to dedicate themselves to God.

"Then we'll send them to their own churches — Catholic, Protestant or Jewish. We hope in this way to see the forces of crime at least lose a skirmish. The rest will be up to God."

The eight-week drive, to cost some $900,000, will include a series of spiritual meetings nightly in Madison Square Garden with "matinees" to be held in a ball park on Sundays.

Pledges and cash already received total more than $300,000 Graham said. Roger Hall, chairman of the crusade's executive committee said the rest would be raised before the drive opened.

None of the money is to be used for salaries, Hall said.

Water System Ready

PEWAMO (AP) — Village officials say Pewamo's $120,000 water system will go into operation this week to serve about 115 houses and businesses with new wells, a 75,000-gallon water tank, new pump house and distribution lines. The village of 500 persons has bonded itself for 30 years to pay for the developments.

FUN WITH SHADOWS — 3

The Swan

Set up the shadow theater we showed you how to make yesterday on a table before your audience, and if you have a curtain keep it closed so the show will be a surprise. You will need an assistant to arrange the lighting, draw the curtain and work the strings.

Here is another shadow to add to your show.

Cut from a piece of thin cardboard a piece of scenery to look like reeds by a pond. It should fit inside the front opening of the theater. Thumb tack it in place.

Put your hands in the position shown to make the swan appear to be floating from behind the reeds. Practice the movement, and also try fluttering the feathers, moving the neck gracefully and opening the beak. Take care that the shadow of your head and body does not also appear.

Have your helper experiment with holding the light in different positions until you have the best possible results.

(Jill Pelletier, Bay City, Mich., first submitted this idea. Junior Editors awards $10 for a useable idea, so send in yours care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP Newsfeatures.)

Navy Unveils Model Satellite for Space Travel

NEW YORK (AP)—The Navy has unveiled a full-scale model of the gleaming metal ball that will whiz into outer space as the world's first man-made satellite.

* * *

The tiny globe will circle the earth in a search for the secrets of space.

The shiny sphere is 20 inches across and weighs about 21 pounds when packed with its miniature instruments. Several small discs — the eyes, ears and fingers of its metal brain — pock the smooth surface of the ball.

Four radio aerials about a yard long stick out from the satellite. Radios inside will relay data back to earth.

* * *

Present plans call for launching the satellite during the International Geophysical Year starting July 1, 1957.

Entrance Test Dates for Coast Guard Set

DETROIT (INS) — Rep. Louis C. Rabaut (D-Mich) has announced that competitive examinations for entrance to the U. S. Coast Guard Academy will be held nationwide Feb. 25 and 26, 1957.

* * *

Graduates of the four-year academy course receive a bachelor of science degree and a commission in the Coast Guard.

Austrian to Teach at Washington

Blonde Ph. D. Will Instruct in German at American U

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—Miss Inge Hanisch, a school teacher from Austria, will teach German at American University here this year, but if called upon could easily conduct classes in at least eight other languages.

The personable blonde doctor of philosophy is one of more than 500 American and foreign teachers participating in the U. S. Office of Education's Teacher Exchange Program this year.

TAUGHT IN AUSTRIA

In the Austrian Alpine town of Klagenfurt, not far from Vienna, Miss Hanisch has been teaching English at a school for girls—an eight-year language study for all Austrian students.

A native of Czechoslovakia, the vivacious school marm got her education in Vienna and at the venerable German University at Prague, where she says she studied eight languages at once. Besides German and English, she speaks Czech, Russian, Italian, French, Latin and Greek.

"Europeans need to know many languages," she says, "because countries are so close together. You can cross four borders in one day on a trip."

Clarence Cecil Wall, superintendent of Mount Vernon, is urging Maryland officials to control development on 1,500 acres in their state fronting the Potomac for two miles, to help "preserve the view as it was in George Washington's day."

He says he isn't worried about estate owners of five acres and up who leave most of the trees on their places intact. He thinks this will keep the view mostly as is.

Daughters of the American Revolution attending their annual Continental Congress here next spring will likely see their beautiful headquarters enhanced in a new garden setting with blooming shrubs and trees.

At least this is the dream of the new president general, Mrs. Frederic A. Groves of Cape Girardeaux, Mo., who during summer visits here noted the "sparsity of plantings on the grounds surrounding Constitution Hall and other DAR buildings.

"So many women are garden-conscious today," the Missouri lady added, "that I believe there would be great interest in beautifying our grounds."

DEEON JANET UTLEY

Mr. and Mrs. L. Clare Utley of Ottawa drive announce the engagement of their daughter, Deeon Janet, to Victor Philip Shaner, son of the Herbert Shaners of Wheaton, Ill. She is a graduate of U. of M. and he is attending the University of Illinois. A Dec. 29 wedding is planned.

Pontiac Club Hears Talk on Service

Federation Leader Helen Harris Tells of Girls Town

Helen Harris, president of the Michigan State Federation of Women's Clubs, was the speaker at the Monday luncheon meeting of the Pontiac Women's Club. Mrs. Forrest Brown served as chairman of the meeting, held at Ted's Restaurant.

Speaking on, "Choose Ye Whom Ye Shall Serve," the theme of the federation this year, the speaker pointed out that an individual or a club should find the place where it can help most, saying further that our greatest potentiality is to do everything possible to broaden our horizon.

Miss Harris, also a vice-president of the board of directors of Girls Town, spoke of the organization's project, which she affirms is a real contribution to the aid of young girls in helping them to adjust themselves, and learning to believe in people.

Girls Town, she said, is a kind of place that will create a healthy state in self, give adequate religious training in the religion of their choice and careful judicial care that will enable them to get along with people.

MRS. LEWIS TALKS

Mrs. I. M. Lewis, president of the Pontiac Women's Club addressed the past presidents of the group, Mrs. Ray S. Falk, Mrs. Joseph Panter, Mrs. E. E. Johnston, Mrs. Eleah Patten, Mrs. W. E. Blynn, Mrs. M. E. Baldwin and Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Baldwin gave the response in behalf of the past presidents.

Assisting with the program arrangements were Mrs. Phillip Aspinwall, Mrs. Ray Ward, Mrs. Guy Bevington, Mrs. Howard Simmons, Mrs. Ivan Long, Mrs. Nettie Hymers and Mrs. Charles Smith.

Serving on the luncheon committee were Mrs. Archie Allen, Mrs. Fred Bohlman, Mrs. J. Gardner Lewis and Mrs. Baldwin.

Donna Reed Raps Sexy Film Stars

Says Public Wants Beauty, Talent — Not Sensationalism

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Donna Reed's against the Hollywood tendency to measure female talent with a tape measure.

This actress, who has plenty of sex appeal in a well-scrubbed kind of way, claims:

* * *

"I don't believe it's necessary to take off your clothes or hit the headlines in a scandalous kind of way to become popular with the public."

Miss Reed, who recently returned from filming "Beyond Mombasa" in the Mau Mau territory of Kenya, puts the blame for chesty, cheesecake movie queens on the movie industry itself.

"I don't think Hollywood and the public are together on this thing," she declared indignantly. "Oh, everybody agrees about Marilyn Monroe — she's sensational and she's also an exception.

NOT THE PUBLIC

"But I think these women who hit the headlines have embarrassed half the moviegoers out of the theater. It's the industry—not the public—that likes girls who flit around the world with six or seven lovers. Women may read about these things secretly in magazines, but they wouldn't be caught dead seeing the same women in a movie house.

"Some of the people in this industry ought to go on a personal appearance trip around the country and see what people say. The stars fans want to talk about are Doris Day, Debbie Reynolds and people like that."

For added ammunition in this argument, Donna Reed points to the bugaboo of movies — television.

* * *

"If the public really wanted tape-measure actresses," she declared, "we'd have bosoms staring us in the face every time we turned on the TV set.

DIFFERENT POLICY

"But television has adopted a different policy, and it certainly is a definite policy. They want pretty, ladylike and somewhat talented actresses.

* * *

"There's been terrific pressure on me at times to go in for this cheesecake kind of thing, but I'm stubborn and feel talent and ability pays off. Sometimes I think the other way is the easy way out here.

"If you're willing to pose half-dressed they're dying to get you in pictures. Then you do have to deliver—not much, but a little."

"The Iowa-born, farm-reared actress has another beef about the way movieland is treating its women. She doesn't like what they're doing with makeup these days, claiming that Elizabeth Taylor is about the only woman who doesn't need camera and makeup flattery.

Dean's Career Shapes Up After a Blundering Start

College Law Study Proves Blind Alley; James Finds Himself in Acting Role

By JOSEPH R. MARSHALL
INS Staff Writer

Nobody at the University of California at Los Angeles, hard by Hollywood, ever imagined slouching, withdrawn, unprepossessing James Dean would ever become the material of a myth.

Mild of manner, peering near-sightedly through thick glasses, slouching in casual clothes so that he appeared shorter than his 5 feet 10, he seemed like thousands of other college boys.

He was even a little less noticeable than most, for he didn't mingle much, wasn't outstanding in his studies and made few friends. His roommate, William Bast, has said that Dean was "not happy" at UCLA. His interest in drama apparently was still abiding but far from overriding.

A fairly good high school athlete, he first enrolled at Santa Monica Junior College (now Santa Monica City College) as a physical education major. On the side he studied dramatics and announced on the school's FM radio station.

* * *

Giving up physical education, he transferred to the University of California, planning to major in law and minor in theater arts.

STUDIED LAW

Apparently he was fairly serious about the law. He paid much of his way by working through the campus employment agency as a projectionist for classes using visual education. He joined Sigma Nu Fraternity and at first stayed clear of the non-fraternity theater arts youngsters.

Dean wrote later, when an established actor: "Just for the hell of it, I signed up at UCLA for a pre-law course. But that didn't pan out — I guess I wasn't serious enough about it. Law calls for a certain talent for dramatics, but I guess it wasn't my cup of tea."

He played the role of young Prince Malcolm in the theater arts department production of Macbeth. The department's newspaper, "Spotlight," criticized his performance: "Malcolm failed to show any growth and would have made a hollow king."

* * *

But Dean's face and acting caught the attention of a Hollywood agent. An offer to represent him so flattered the young man that he decided perhaps he might try an acting career.

DAD DISAPPROVED

He reported, "By then I had a notion that acting might be the career for me. When I mentioned acting to dad (dental technician Winton Dean, living in Los Angeles) he didn't think it was such a hot idea. . ."

* * *

Until this time he had showed evidence of talent, but not exceptionally so. Then a group of theater arts students led by Bast arranged with a well known character actor James Whitmore, who lived near the campus, for acting seminars. Dean was the last student asked to join the nine-member group.

As Whitmore led the youngsters into serious study of acting, Dean showed the first signs of the temperament that was to mark him and his myth.

He was distinctly sensitive to the idea that anyone connected with the theater was effeminate. A fraternity brother made a few remarks at a stag party. A fist fight started, and Dean was ousted from Sigma Nu. Or, as he later reported, he was kicked out of a fraternity for "busting a couple of guys on the nose."

GREW MOODIER

Dean became more moody. He would take long walks, sit alone for hours, grunt in answer to questions and ignore others. His agent got him his first professional job — $30 for dancing around a jukebox for a commercial. He read for a part, John the Baptist, and was signed to play in an Easter TV feature, "Hill Number One."

Whitmore told Dean, about this time, of the need for intense concentration to play a part. Practicing a scene, Dean lost himself in his part. Apparently for the first time he was an actor.

His role in "Hill Number One" got critical praise but no jobs. Dean went to work as an usher at CBS in Hollywood, and was fired within a week. Dating costs forced him to work in a parking lot. He got a few bit parts on television.

After becoming a star, Dean said, "I realized I was an actor because of Jimmy Whitmore.

"There's always someone in your life who's big, who opens up your eyes. For me, that's Whitmore. He made me see myself. He opened me up, gave me the key."

Dean left UCLA and got three bit parts in the films, "Fixed Bayonets," "Sailor Beware" and "Has Anybody Seen My Gal." That was all.

On Whitmore's advice, he made another major decision. He left for New York's well-pounded pavements, headquarters of television, and the City of Broadway.

(Tomorrow: Young Dean tastes his first real success.)

Perfect Housekeeper Misses a Lot

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I think the woman in the home has a difficult choice to make when it comes to deciding how perfect a housekeeper she is going to be and what degree of perfection she will try to impose on her family.

I myself am most responsive to a charming physical atmosphere and could not live happily for long in the midst of clutter—but I would rather live in a house that is happy than one which is well-decorated if I had to choose.

In my estimation any woman who sets the goal of perfection in housekeeping is going to miss a lot of fun and will make her family uncomfortable. Perfect housekeeping is a constant job and an impossible goal unless you are living alone.

If you set this standard for yourself you are certain to be frustrated, tired and your family will be, too, if they ever come home.

When I go into a beautifully decorated home, with nary a rose out of line, I always think a bit jealously, "Oh, Me! My house never looks that way."

Then I think, "But where is the work basket, the paint pot? Where are the magazines, the skis in the corner, the roller skates in the hall? Where is the pipe on the table? Where is the natural clutter which is bound to occur if the house is lived in vibrantly, unless someone is doing a 24-hour clean-up job?"

Of course either extreme is bad but it seems to me that some women prefer outside order to inside order. Far too many women make entertaining a chore because they are perfectionists. Therefore, they do not entertain often and when they do have no fun.

I must admit that at our house the walls have been damaged in some rooms because of snapshots which have been put there with scotch tape; that one of my daughter's sketches usually is lying about some place; that all over the house books are left open where the reader stopped reading; and that the cat almost clawed off one of the legs of the ping pong table.

* * *

However, there always is a snack in the ice box and a warm welcome for our friends. I guess it is a good thing that I never tried to be a perfect housekeeper because I am not the type. I am too interested in other things.

Maybe you are too, but perhaps you are in the rut of perfectionism. It can be an awfully dull rut. It also can lead to fatigue and can inhibit your natural gaiety and warmth.

Tomorrow: "Here are Facts for Young and Old About Exercise."

Any woman who sets the goal of perfection in housekeeping is going to miss a lot of fun and will make her family uncomfortable.

Scholarship Fund Drive Planned by PTA Council

Twenty-one local PTAs were represented at the Pontiac Council of PTA meeting Monday evening at Hawthorne School. Lester Stanley, scholarship chairman for the council, and his assistant, Horton Southworth, conducted the meeting.

Ways and mans for raising funds for scholarships were discussed. Many local groups are planning special fund raising projects and others will include a designated amount in their budget.

October and April were designated as "Dimes for Scholarship" months. During these two months, a silver collection will be taken up during the local meetings, with the proceeds being contributed toward the fund.

Refreshments were furnished by members of Hawthorne PTA. Mrs. William Mihalek, council president, and Mrs. Robert Lake, council treasurer, presided at the tea table.

Beverly Ann Bruce Is Wed

The Rev. James W. Deeg of Oakland Park Methodist Church officiated at the wedding service Saturday when Beverly Ann Bruce and Robert Joseph Tronthom exchanged their nuptial vows.

White gladioli and carnations decorated the altar for the candlelight ceremony, performed in the presence of 100 guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin T. Bruce of West New York avenue are parents of the bride. Robert, of Colgate street, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Tronthom of Flint.

For the service the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle, fashioned with a fitted bodice and a high neckline with inserts of the tulle at the neckline. An insert of lace banded the bouffant skirt.

She carried a bouquet of white rosebuds, carnations and lilies of the valley. Her headpiece, a tiara accented with seed pearls and iridescent sequins, held a hand rolled shoulder-length veil.

ATTEND BRIDE

Bridal attendants were Sandra J. Cooper, maid of honor, and Mrs. Eugene McNabb. The maid of honor wore ballerina-length turquoise crystalette and carried pink rosebuds and carnations.

Mrs. McNabb wore a similar gown in a shrimp color and carried yellow rosebuds and carnations.

Robert's brother, Thomas Tronthom of Flint, served as his best man. Ushers were Thomas Bruce and David Ferguson.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bruce wore a beige lace dress with beige and brown accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds. Mrs. Tronthom chose a blue dress and a corsage of pink rose buds.

After a reception held in the Union hall on Baldwin avenue, the bride changed to a pink suit with black accessories and a corsage of white rosebuds.

Dark Bread Takes Prize at State Fair

Mrs. Korcynsky's Whole Wheat Loaf Wins Sweepstakes

BY JANET ODELL

When a local cook wins the State Fair sweepstakes in bread making, that's news. Mrs. Ben Korcynsky, a several-times winner of blue ribbons at the fair, won the big prize this year.

We're happy to give you her recipe for 100 per Cent Whole Wheat Bread, her prize-winning bread.

Mrs. Korcynsky considers cooking and baking a hobby, rather than a chore. She is also an avid gardener, having an acre of ground with which to work. Flowers are her specialty.

100% WHOLE WHEAT BREAD
By Mrs. Ben Korcynsky

2 cups milk
⅓ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 teaspoons salt
2 packages yeast
¼ cup lukewarm water
6½ cups unsifted whole wheat flour
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Scald milk until puckery film forms on the top. Add sugar and salt and let cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water, add to cooled milk. Add three cups of flour. Beat well. Add three more cups of flour.

Turn on floured board and knead with remaining ½ cup of flour. White flour may be used for the kneading.

Turn into greased bowl and let rise until double in bulk, about one hour. Punch down, separate into two parts and let rest 10 minutes.

Shape into loaves and place in greased pans. Brush with melted shortening. Let rise until double. Brush again with shortening. Bake at 400 degrees for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 375 degrees and bake another 40 minutes.

MR. and MRS. DORAN F. THOE

To reside in California are Mr. and Mrs. Doran F. Thoe, who were married Saturday evening in St. John's Lutheran Church. The bride is the former Margaret M. Schaper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Friedrich Schaper of Germany. Doran is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Thoe of Murphy street.

Thoe-Schaper Wedding Performed in City Church

At a confirmation of rite Saturday evening in St. John Lutheran Church, Margaret M. Schaper became the bride of Doran F. Thoe. The Rev. Carl W. Nelson performed the 8 o'clock ceremony in the presence of 200 guests.

Margaret is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Friedrick Schaper of Dusseldorf, Germany, and Doran is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fremont Thoe of Murphy street.

Given in marriage by William F. Park, the bride chose a gown of Chantilly lace fashioned with a Queen Anne collar and chapel-length train. A Queen Anne style headpiece of pleated tulle, trimmed in pearls and sequins, secured her fingertip veil of French illusion.

She wore a strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white orchid with streamers of lilies of the valley on her white Bible.

SISTERS TO TAKE PART

Joyce and Janet Thoe, sisters of the bridegroom, were maid of honor and junior bridesmaid respectively. They were gowned alike in ballerina-length gowns of green taffeta, accented with streamers of pleating that fell from the waist to the hemline. They carried cascade arrangements of butterscotch chrysanthemums.

A floor-length frock of white nylon tulle over taffeta accented with bow knots of sequins was worn by Karen Berglund for her duties as flower girl. She carried a basket of white petals.

Serving as best man for Doran was Ronald Kilgore. Ushers were Robert English and Frank Arnold. Danny Holmquist, cousin of the bridegroom, performed the duties of ringbearer.

RECEPTION HELD

A light blue ribbon lace dress with rose accessories was worn by Mrs. Park as she greeted the guests at the reception held in the church parlors. Her corsage was of Talisman roses.

Mrs. Thoe chose a midnight blue crepe dress with black accessories for her son's wedding. Her corsage was also of Talisman roses.

Assisting at the reception were Gertrude Schaper, sister of the bride, Mrs. Raymond Jacobson, Mrs. Craig Romeo and Judy Jacobson.

For traveling to Mojave, Calif., where the bridegroom will be stationed with the United States Marine Corp, the bride changed to a gray flannel suit with black accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Altar Society Slates Dinner

The Rosary Altar Society of St. Vincent de Paul Church will sponsor a benefit dinner Sept. 29 at the church hall. Proceeds will be used to purchased a station wagon for the sisters of St. Frederick School.

Final plans were completed at a Tuesday evening meeting of the group when committee chairmen were appointed. Mrs. Joseph Spadafore will serve as kitchen chairman and Mrs. Betty Doyon as dining room chairman with Mrs. Paul Duren assisting.

* * *

Mrs. Orbe Quarrels will direct the clean-up committee with Mrs. John Nickerson. Mrs. Marshall Sprague will handle publicity.

The group also has set Nov. 10 and 11 as dates for the annual church bazaar.

PTA Activities

Wever School PTA will hold a get-acquainted family picnic Thursday at 6 p.m. on the playground.

Executive board of Lincoln PTA will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the school office.

Sweaters No Task

Nylon and orlon sweaters are so washable that there is no need for special care during sudsing and rinsing. If you like an extra-fluffy finish put them into your clothes dryer for a few minutes after laundering.

Gift Puts Hostess on the Spot

Refusal of Pay for Requested Purchase Is Embarrassing

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: "I live out in the suburbs. Last week I telephoned a friend who lives in the city and asked her if she would buy me several pairs of a certain brand of stockings (which I like very much and which I cannot get out here,) and bring them with her when she came for the weekend.

"She brought the stockings but would not take the money for them. She said they were a present from her. I feel terrible about this as I was the one who asked her to get them.

"Would it be proper to send her a check for the price of the stockings, or might this hurt her feelings?"

Answer: Under no circumstances send her a check. Her gesture was a spontaneous one and should not be refused. However, you do not have to ask her again to do such an errand.

Dear Mrs. Post: "When is a friend introduced as John Jones and when as Mr. Jones? This often puzzles me and I would appreciate your help in the matter.

Answer: Whether or not he is an intimate friend of yours, a man in his thirties or over, is ordinarily introduced as Mr. Jones.

But if he is an intimate friend and also being introduced to other intimate friends, all of whom you call by first name, it would be proper to call him John Jones. If you are all in your teens you would, of course, introduce everyone without titles.

Dear Mrs. Post: "At the present time my husband is ill in the hospital. He received many flowers and gifts from his friends. He is too ill to write thank-you notes for these presents. Under the circumstances, am I expected to write thank-you notes for him?"

Answer: Yes, unless he'll be well and able to write them himself very soon.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if at any time is it permissible to pick up bacon in the fingers?

Answer: "At a lunch party, it would be wrong but at a family meal when the bacon is dry, it would be all right."

Loretta Ann Tipolt and Duane H. Brown were married Saturday evening. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tipolt of Drayton Plains. Duane, of Baywood drive, is the son of Mrs. Kathleen Brown of Rosshire court.

MR. and MRS. DUANE H. BROWN

Duane H. Brown Takes Loretta Tipolt as Bride

Two hundred and fifty guests witnessed the Saturday wedding of Loretta Ann Tipolt and Duane H. Brown. The double ring ceremony was performed in Christ Lutheran Church, Drayton Plains.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Tipolt of Drayton Plains, wore a gown of lace and nylon tulle over taffeta, fashioned with short sleeves and a round neckline scalloped and trimmed with seed pearls and sequins.

She wore a single strand of pearls and small pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. Her flowers were white carnations, gladioli and stephanotis.

A ballerina-length gown of aqua net over taffeta was worn by maid-of-honor Shirley Tipolt. She carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli. Bridesmaid Dorothy McConnell of Yale, wore a gown styled like the maid of honor's in rose color. She carried salmon colored gladioli.

* * *

Nancy Wirth, cousin of the bridegroom, wore a frock of light blue net over taffeta for her duties as flower girl. Stephen Tipolt, brother of the bride, was ringbearer.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Duane, of Baywood drive, son of Mrs. Kathleen Brown of Rosshire court, had Donald Jewell as his best man, with Fred Wirth as attendant. Ushers were Harold Tipolt and William Joss.

For the reception, held in the Oakland County Sportsman's Club in Waterford, Mrs. Tipolt wore a peacock blue taffeta dress and a corsage of rust and yellow chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Brown chose a brown suit with a corsage of rust and yellow chrysanthemums.

Following a honeymoon trip to New York the couple will make their home on Cass Lake.

For traveling, the bride changed to a blue knit suit with navy blue accessories. Her corsage was from her bridal bouquet.

Fellowship Class Has Fall Meeting

The Fellowship Class of Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church held its first meeting of the fall season at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pearsall on Kemp street.

Mrs. Kenneth McQueen presented devotions. George Hollis, Mrs. Robert Walker and the Rev. Myron Everett offered prayers.

Activities of the class were discussed during the business meeting conducted by Mrs. McQueen, president. A Halloween Masquerade party is planned for the October meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nuse were guests at the meeting.

Experience Can Be Ball-and-Chain

By ANNE HEYWOOD

My mother had a friend who was a wonderful dressmaker. But she had one big trouble — she couldn't bear to throw a scrap of material away.

If there was a piece left over, she would make an extra flounce, a big bow or a side panel — and she would ruin the whole dress.

I think of her when I hear people say, "I hate the job I'm in, but I can't throw away the experience," or "I'm not fond of the field I'm in, but I put in two years of education for it, and you can't throw that away."

They're a lot like my mother's friend—they're so anxious to use every scrap of their training and experience, that they ruin the success of the whole production.

* * *

Mary was in that position. Mary had trained to be a bookkeeper, "because bookkeepers can always get a job."

HATED EVERY JOB

Yet, Mary hated every job she got. But she couldn't change because how could she throw away all that training?

When I met her, Mary was 31 and looked 40. She had had two years of training in bookkeeping, plus 11 years of experience.

She would, if she changed to a better field, be throwing away thirteen years.

But—and this is the important part—if she stayed, she'd be throwing away her whole life!

HOPELESS FUTURE

Assuming that, at 31, she had even twenty-five years more to go, she'd be throwing away those 25 years.

Mary had never thought of it that way and it gave her a start. She loved working with people, so I suggested that she take some personnel courses at night, while staying in the hated bookkeeping.

After she finished the course, we went after a job as office manager in a small company where office management involved hiring and supervising, as well as bookkeeping. She got it and she loves it.

VARIED JOB

She's still using the bookkeeping to some extent—but she's doing plenty of other things along with it, working with people which she loves. Eventually, perhaps, she'll be able to delegate the bookkeeping entirely.

There's no excuse, really, for people to put in a lifetime at work they hate. After all, we frequently take our training when we're too young to know what we really want.

Better than being stuck with it for life, resolve to add to that training the skills you really love and make some kind of combination.

* * *

It isn't necessary to throw away the training entirely, but neither is it necessary to have a lifetime of discontent!

Plan Hekker-Susin Nuptial After Hong Kong Romance

By DOROTHY JEAN ZACK

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A Romance that began in Hong Kong is bringing Frank Hekker here today for a busy week of social events before he takes Dolores Susin as his bride.

Three showers have honored Dolores, daughter of the John J. Susins, and both she and her bridegroom-elect will be feted at cocktails after their rehearsal dinner Sept. 28, on the eve before their wedding.

It was a Sunday morning in Hong Kong, with Lt. Comm. Hekker in that far city for Naval business and Dolores on one of her many trips inspired by her work in an airlines office in Detroit.

"The church was crowded and he moved to make space for me," recalls Dolores. "Then after Mass we were talking and then having breakfast together."

* * *

That was a year ago, and John has visited here and she with him at his family's home in New Jersey. They became engaged this May.

OUT OF NAVY

Discharged now, the former Navy man is using his pilot's training in a post with the same airlines, Pan American, that Dolores left on Friday.

* * *

Their plans to live in Long Island, in a modern, new home on Long Island overlooking the Sound, are told by the couple, who share a love of travel.

Dolores, who narrowly missed being Miss Michigan several years ago, has held several other titles, including Miss Young Republican.

She has been honor guest at showers given by coworkers and by Mary Lou Gade and Ostrid Johannasen and Marion Petsch at the Gade home, 18666 Warwick, Beverly Hills, both last week.

On Friday, she was guest at another shower given by Mrs. Carroll Gates and Mrs. Joseph Rizzolo, both of Berkley, and Mrs. Hugh Christie, at the latter's home in Royal Oak.

The bridegroom's parents, the Frank Hekkers, will entertain for the rehearsal dinner, and later the wedding party will be honored at cocktails by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Feltz at their Birmingham home.

MRS. ZEDER SETS TEA

Hostessing a tea tomorrow from 2:30 to 5 p.m. at her home will be Mrs. James Zeder of Orchard Ridge Road, with honorees being new members of the Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

Auto-harp music by Mrs. Alice Steutz, such as she played for the Honolulu Symphony Orchestra for several years, will star for the afternoon. She belongs to two local music groups.

Pouring at tea tables will be Mrs. Graham John Graham, Mrs. Gunnar Karlstrom, Mrs. James McPhail, Mrs. H. Ben Ruhl, Mrs. Whiting Raymond, Mrs. Lewis B. Sappington, Mrs. Roger Kyes and Mrs. Leroy Dahlberg.

* * *

Chairman of the tea is Mrs. William J. Bird, and hostesses are Mrs. George A. Jacoby, Mrs. Robert Wardropp, Mrs. Benjamin Brewster, Mrs. Earl Bartholomew, Mrs. Edward Proctor and Mrs. Donald Stanton.

* * *

Youthful enthusiasm for the Cotillion's plans for five events this year was evidenced by 20 acceptances to membership being received by Monday, just two days after invitations were mailed, reports Mrs. Ernst F. Kern. 300 are expected.

LeBaron School PTA Members Meet Staff

LeBaron School's new principal, Mrs. Golda Holecheck, introduced her staff of teachers to the 250 parents attending the first fall PTA meeting at the school.

Members of the PTA executive board also were introduced by Mrs. Kenneth Lyons, president. Mrs. Leland Cotter, youth chairman, appealed for leaders for the growing Cub Scout and Camp Fire Girls troops.

Colors were presented by Cub Scouts Larry Westphal, Billy Midkiff and Bruce Mann.

Permission to purchase new equipment for the PTA kitchen and to increase the monthly attendance prize was given by the association.

Mrs. Charles Laflin assisted the committee in arranging the refreshment table and Mrs. Robert Burnes and Mrs. Gordon Hicks presided at the tea table.

Hadassah Board Holds Meeting

Members of the executive board of Pontiac Chapter of Hadassah met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Leon Sirlin of Elsinore drive.

Mrs. Sam Chafets, program chairman, announced that program plans for the season have been completed, with programs arranged for the chapter meetings scheduled for September, November, March and May.

Mink, Gems Now Trim Seat Covers

Women who run a hectic pickup and delivery service for their youngsters can dash around with flash.

The latest style note for automobile interiors — mink or jewel-trimmed seat covers.

A manufacturer with retail outlets across the country is featuring them. The covers are of clear plastic and are dotted along the top ridge and sides with mink, pearls, rhinestones, ebony or silvery medallions.

Only the mink is genuine; the jeweled touches are fake.

So far, said the spokesman, mink and pearl are the two favorite trims selected by women for their cars in the Chicago area.

The fancy seat covers retail for about $40 a set — the same set left undecorated costs $25.

Women have been trimming plastic raincoats with rhinestones and pearls, using a special jewelry stapler available at notion counters. And they can do the same thing with the car seat covers.

THE CURL'S THE THING!

Hair will be worn all lengths this fall . . . from short short to long. So feel free to choose the length becoming to you.

After making this decision, your most important consideration then becomes the cut and the amount of curl needed for your particular requirement, hair texture, shape of face, length of neck, for they are all factors to be considered when choosing a hairstyle and a new permanent. Giving advice in these matters is a special service with us, we can help you if you will call for an appointment.

Protect Your Eyes With Care and Rest

You are on your last pair of eyes —take care of them. If you're on a job where eye protection is needed, don't gamble—use it. Make sure you are getting enough rest and an adequate diet, because a lack of either is bound to affect the efficiency of your eyes.

Use an eye lotion to ease the strain that comes from long periods of "close" or detail work and give your eyes a break from time to time throughout the day by resting them completely for a few seconds. You will be surprised how quicly they will respond to proper care.

Simplicity, Lack of Clutter Keynotes Joyce Collection

Famous U. S. Designer Uses Fur Trim, Leaves Waist Undefined in '56 Styles

One of the nation's top designers, master of understatement Ruth Joyce, shows a collection this year of "As You Like It" finery.

Simplicity, the uncluttered look and complete absence of a defined waistline are noted throughout the collection. Combining her craftsmanship with beautiful materials, Miss Joyce brings her clientele costumes which will make them feel completely elegant.

The "covered up" look for evening is this designer's idea of a good look. And fashion editors and the buyer agree that it is beautiful and feminine. Colors and materials do the job.

One dress of silk organza which had two layers of pink and one white over a pink taffeta underdress drew applause from editors attending the press showing recently.

* * *

"She is absolutely prophetic" editors agreed during the show, particularly when the Spanish line was shown. Favored by the designer and her partner, Don Nagel, this line was modeled by the petite designer herself.

Typical of the line was a lace sheath evening dress which had back fullness beginning at the knees in a fan-shaped inset.

Deep mink cuffs on push-up sleeves accented the matching cocoon jacket.

* * *

One of the most important costumes is a late day dress. The dressy costume is of Rodier's black wool pique featuring a double-breasted jacket to waist, with ermine collar and reveres.

The sleeveless dress is superb with a V-neck and this treatment of diagonal folds in V-shape from shoulder to the snug waist. The skirt has back fullness.

Hats designed for the collection were surprisingly small, but smart.

Shellac Strings on Tennis Racquet

If your tennis racquet has been working overtime this summer, look it over carefully before you put it in its press for storage.

You may prolong the life of the strings by shellacing them, and it will help protect them too from grit and dust.

Trench Coats Colored

No longer confined to the formerly standard tans and putty shades, trench coats now are made in deep blues, charcoal grays, and bronze browns. Iridescent shades of the medium and dark tones are on the upswing in popularity, too. You can also find the same in single-breasted styles.

Tips to Promote Washing Safety

COLUMBIA, Mo. (INS) — The combination of a wet floor and a possible short circuit in a washing machine can prove dangerous to a homemaker.

Rubber overshoes are a fine protection against the possibility of an electric shock if short circuiting should occur, said Amy Kelly, a member of the National Safety Council.

A dry mat on which to stand while laundering also gives protection, she said, but keeping the mat dry is often difficult.

Miss Kelly, state extension agent, as well as Safety Council member, pointed out that, when buying a washer, it is wise to inquire whether the machine is automatically grounded or will require grounding when installed.

Method of Applying Decorative Motifs

When you paste small fruit or flower motifs to your kitchen cabinets, recipe boxes, or refrigerator, it is suggested you put a little of their cement on a piece of paper and use a toothpick to transfer it.

Apply some to the ornament, a little to whatever is to be decorated, press motif into place, and hold for a minute.

Jealous Fear Seen as SOS for Aid

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Last year Joan had a teacher who wore eyeglasses. Now when she plays school, she likes to wear some old lenseless rims her Grandma gave her.

One day coming home from the library, she found her little sister Elsie wearing them. Shouting "Give me those!" she grabbed at them; but Elsie eluded her by ducking out the front door.

Rushing to the kitchen, Joan cried to her mother, "Elsie's got my glasses! Make her give them to me. They're mine! Grandma gave them to me . . ."

"Elsie isn't going to harm those old rims," her mother said. "If you'd let her play with them, she'd get tired of them. But you make such a fuss over them, you make her think you've got something so wonderful she wants it."

BURSTS INTO TEARS

Joan rejected this reasoning, good though it was. Bursting into furious tears, she cried, "Oh, I'm so sick of everything!" and fled to the bathroom.

* * *

We can't reason with a jealous child. No matter how wise our counsel he can't listen to it because he's so afraid we're going to cheat him. So let's not inflict the reasoning on him.

Instead, let's try speaking directly to his fear, saying to Joan, "Don't be afraid I'm going to cheat you." And calling Elsie from the yard, say, "Give the eyeglass rims back to Sister. They are hers and you can't play with them unless she says so."

To jealous Joan, it will be a great relief to hear us put that fear of our cheating her into words. She doesn't dare know how it worries her.

* * *

Yet it is the secret feeling which intensifies her anger when Elsie seems intent on mistreating her, oppressing her not only with rage at her sister but with the really frightening suspicion that we want her mistreated.

EXPOSURE HELPS

When we expose it to her in words, showing ourselves comfortable and unimpressed by it, it loses much of its alarm for her. If we continue to speak of it as natural but unalarming, her angers at Elsie will lose their desperation.

Joan fears we'll let her little sister cheat her of her eyeglasses because, as she sees it, we have allowed Elsie to cheat her of the total attention she once enjoyed as an only child.

If you can feel back to your own jealous suspicions that your parents were cooperating in your mistreatment by younger children, you will know exactly how to use this column's suggestion.

MR. and MRS. JACK HARRIGAN

Married Saturday evening in Central Methodist Church were Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harrigan. The bride, the former Jane M. Baker, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Baker of Dwight avenue. Jack is the son of Mrs. William Harrigan of Kaleva and the late Mr. Harrigan.

Jane M. Baker Becomes Bride of Jack Harrigan

Baskets of white gladioli and asters decorated Central Methodist Church for the Saturday wedding of Jane M. Baker and Jack Harrigan. The Rev. John W. Mulder of Walled Lake Methodist Church performed the 7:30 o'clock ceremony in the presence of 125 guests.

Jane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Baker of Dwight avenue, chose a gown of Dupionni silk accented with Italian lace. Sequins and seed pearls trimmed the neckline. The hooped skirt, accented with inserts of the lace, extended into a chapel sweep.

A headpiece of matching silk and lace secured the bride's fingertip veil of silk illusion. On her lace covered Bible she carried a white orchid and stephanotis.

Mrs. Robert Hutton of Rochester was Jane's matron of honor. Jean McLeod served as bridesmaid. The attendants were gowned alike in cafe au lait parfait gowns fashioned with scoop necklines accented by cocoa-colored velvet collars. Their tiny nose veils were held by velvet bandeaus.

ATTENDS BRIDEGROOM

Jack, son of Mrs. Wm. Harrigan of Kaleva had Ted Harrigan as his best man. Ushers were R. Glenn Baker, Alan McCarthy of Northport and William Swart of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. Baker greeted her guests at the reception held in the church parlors, wearing a beige lace gown with pink accessories. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and carnations.

Mrs. Harrigan chose a blue lace dress with pink accessories for her son's wedding. Her corsage was also of pink rosebuds and carnations.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Richard E. Porritt, Mrs. William Gentry, Mrs. Eugene Carey and Mrs. Gerald Bourdeau.

* * *

For her honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, the bride changed to a navy blue suit with matching accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside in Mt. Pleasant where the bridegroom is enrolled at Central Michigan College.

Women Golfers at Orchard Lake Plan Luncheon

The final luncheon for women golfers at Orchard Lake Country Club will be held Friday at 1 p.m. Social chairman is Mrs. A. S. McCall.

General chairman for this year's activities was Mrs. Vernon B. Myers. Golf prizes will be awarded at the luncheon.

Officers for next year include Mrs. Reed Alexander, chairman; Mrs. Frederick Adams, vice chairman; Mrs. Robert S. Glover Jr., secretary and Mrs. Patrick Reilly Bird, treasurer.

Stork Shower Fetes Mrs. Ronald Schemel

Mrs. Milton Foltz entertained at a pink and blue shower at her home on Granada drive Monday evening. The affair honored Mrs. Ronald Schemel also of Granada drive.

Guests attending were Mrs. Bernice Martin, Doris Martin, Mrs. Leslie Burdo, Mrs. LeRoy Veatch, Mrs. Andy Condo, Mrs. C. E. Hanson, Mrs. Edward Gammey, Mrs. Lyle Thayer of Detroit; Mrs. Charles Hamlett of Lake Orion and Mrs. James Fennelly of Clawson.

Sunset Club Meets at Wilson School

The Sunset Club, sponsored by the Pontiac Department of Parks and Recreation, met at Wilson School for its first fall meeting.

Guests at the Thursday evening meeting were Mrs. Hattie Canterbury, Mrs. Bertie Anderson and Mrs. Mabel Cummings of Caro. The next meeting will be held Sept. 27 at the Wilson School.

Plaintive 'I've Tried' Plea Is Sign of Failure as Wife

Marriage on Rocks? Seek Solution in Own Faults, Not by Changing Mate

By RUTH MILLETT

"I've tried to be a good wife," those whose marriages are close to the breaking point usually say somewhere in their letters to me.

And with that sentence they dismiss their responsibility for the fact that the marriage is failing. If they have "tried," they reason it must be the husband's fault that the marriage isn't happy.

No woman who tells herself and others that she has "tried to be a good wife" and lets her responsibility rest on that, has the slightest chance of improving her marriage relationship.

Only by going a step further and admitting "but I must have failed somewhere" is she putting herself on the road to a better marriage.

* * *

For this important question naturally follows that admission: Where have I failed?

The woman who is willing to go back over the years of her marriage, looking not for her husband's faults and weaknesses and mistakes but for her own, is sure to find many ways in which she has failed.

And those are the mistakes that she can correct, those are situations that she can change.

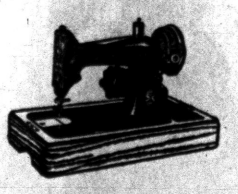

For she can change herself, she can contribute more, she can swap her hopeless cry of "I've tried to be a good wife" for "I'm going to be a better wife."

She can change herself much more easily than she can ever change her husband. So instead of worrying about how he has failed she will get further by finding out where and why she has failed.

"I've tried to be a good wife" is the defense of the woman who has given up.

"I'm going to be a better wife" is the conviction of the wife who is determined to make her marriage succeed.

500 Scouts to Camporee

Five hundred Boy Scouts from Lake Orion, Waterford, Clarkston, Ortonville, Rochester and Drayton Plains, will converge on the Metamora Recreation Area at Lake Minnewanna, this weekend, for their final camporee of the summer.

Boys will pitch their tents after 4 p.m. Friday and camp will be broken up on Sunday afternoon.

Harry Walters of Waterford, in charge of this and similar Scout outings, said that maps and program of activities are now in the mail for the boys.

Among special features planned for the event will be a "magic" campfire on Saturday night.

Parents are welcome to visit the boys, Walters said.

Your PTA Is Planning:

Hudson Covert Workshop Led by MSU Specialist

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Hudson Covert school PTA will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at the school to hear Dr. Russell Jenkins of MSU's department of communicating skill conduct a workshop.

He will lead discussion of "What the PTA can do for me and what I can do for PTA."

Community singing and refreshments are planned.

Metamora

The first meeting of the fall season for the PTA will be held at the schoolhouse on Thursday at 8 p.m.

Waterford

Waterford Center PTA members will gather at 8 p.m. Thursday, at the school for a short business meeting and a program featuring introduction of teachers and visits to school rooms by parents.

Refreshments will be served by the executive board members.

Mrs. Harold Friedline, president of the Dublin School PTA, has returned home from a Detroit hospital, finding preparation for the year's activities readied by numerous committees during her three-week absence. She'll resume leadership for the Oct. 15 meeting.

School Aid Goal Urged by Cobo

Mayor Claims Williams Blocking Development in Highway Plans

DETROIT (AP)—Mayor Albert E. Cobo of Detroit says the state is morally obligated to keep school aid at $190 per pupil for the next school year "even though revenues fall off."

The Republican candidate for governor said in a television talk last night if elected he will "recommend the Legislature fulfill the promise it made to the schools.

"I'm told that declining revenue raised the danger of not meeting that goal," Cobo said. "It would be wrong not to meet it after school administrators have prepared their budgets on that expectation."

Two-thirds of the state sales tax revenue is earmarked for schools.

Cobo said his Democratic opponent, Gov. G. Mennen Williams, has been an obstructionist in highway development.

"Now that I have advocated four-lane highways to speed traffic and develop the state industrially and agriculturally, he has joined the 'me too' chorus," Cobo declared.

Cobo also said Williams has joined the effort the Detroit mayor claimed to have initiated to get natural gas into the Upper Peninsula.

"After eight years of doing nothing, he's kind of late in realizing what a boon that would be to the industrial growth of the Upper Peninsula," Cobo said.

Missionaries to Start Series

Seven Churches Share Week's Program; Slate 3 Daily Programs

ORTONVILLE — A round robin missionary conference beginning Sunday at the Baptist church here will include seven other area churches and feature talks by missionaries from four organizations. It will last eight days.

The conference opens Sunday with sessions at 11:30 a.m. and 7:45 p.m. here. Succeeding events will be at Baptist churches at Rochester, Mariette, Imlay City, Lapeer, Drayton Plains, Lake Orion and Oxford.

Place of meetings will be announced from the pulpit at preceding gatherings. Daily symposiums, will start Sunday at the Lake Orion church, and will be at 2:30 p.m. on days thereafter.

Representatives will be from the Association of Baptists for World Evangelism, the Hebrew Mission Inc. Mid-Mission Board, Hiawatha Independent Baptist Missions, and the Christian Mission Youth Camp at Lake Arm.

The Rev. Edward Hakes, president of the Grand Rapids seminary, will also be one of the speakers.

Some missionaries to attend have just recently returned from such places as Japan, Africa, Brazil. Mabel Post, who plans to attend, is an appointee to a Hong Kong misison.

Saturday night, a get-acquainted banquet for pastors, and missionaries and their wives will be held at Lapeer.

Speakers Sunday will be the Rev. Robert Trylick at the morning program and the Rev. Raymond D. Creer in the evening.

Robert Morris of Oxford is chairman of the missionary conference which will conclude Sept 30. A banquet on Sept. 29 at 6:30 p.m. at the Oxford Elementary School will be for friends and members of all churches taking part.

September Road Toll Jumps in Michigan

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan's highway death toll showed a sharp rise in September, State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs reported today.

Childs predicted deadlier months ahead unless both drivers and pedestrians pay more attention to their job of saving lives.

Childs said that as of Sept. 17, police counted 99 persons killed in 80 accidents in September.

If the present trend continues, Childs estimated total deaths for September will approach 200 compared to last year's total of 159 for the month.

"The early fall and winter months are the most deadly of the year with pedestrian deaths, especially, always showing an increase."

Spiritual Goals Set Meeting Theme

WALLED LAKE — "Goals for the Quadrenium" will be topic of Mrs. E. L. Clark, WSCS district secretary of spiritual life of Mt. Morris when the Walled Lake society meets Thursday in the Methodist Church parlors.

Mrs. Clark will be introduced by Mrs. A. J. Koenig for the afternoon prgram.

Earlier, sewing of cancer pads will start at 10 a.m., and Mrs. A. J. Hoening will lead the prayer group at noon, and luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m.

Saturday Rite Unites Couple at Imlay City

IMLAY CITY — Barbara Jean Bissett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bissett, Imlay City, became the bride of Harvey Meirow, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Meirow, Dryden, at a ceremony performed at the Methodist Church, Imlay City, Saturday.

Rev. Leo Burch officiated in the presence of the immediate families. Attendants were Norma Bissett and Thomas Seidell.

WCTU to Elect

DRAYTON PLAINS — Local chapter of the WCTU will meet at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at Mrs. Delbert Martin's home, 4770 Walton Blvd., for election of officers.

State Finance OKs Bond Issues

Approves Borrowings of Huron Valley, Macomb and Birmingham

LANSING (AP) — Another batch of city and school district borrowings coming to nearly 20 million dollars has been approved by the Municipal Finance Commission.

Of the total, $12,268,000 in bond issues were proposed by the city of Detroit.

Okayed at its meeting Tuesday were these Oakland and Macomb county issues:

The Huron Valley School District, $1,200,000, in Oakland and Livingston counties, for site purchases and new buildings.

The Birmingham School District, $500,000, for operating expenses prior to December tax collections.

The Roseville School District, Macomb county, $1,500,000, for sites and buildings.

Midland Man Faces First-Degree Murder

MIDLAND (AP)—John Wicks, 67, was under a first degree murder charge today in the rifle slaying of a neighbor farmer, 33-year-old Charles E. Maxson, who was shot down yesterday while feeding his chickens.

* * *

Wicks stood mute at his arraignment and Municipal Judge Henry Hart ordered him held without bond for examination Sept. 25.

Police Chief Douglas Craig said Wicks admitted shooting Maxson in the climax to a three-year feud in which the older man accused Maxson of poisoning water running through his property and trying to poison his food.

* * *

Wicks walked calmly into the sheriff's office, rifle in hand, after the shooting yesterday and surrendered. At the time armed officers were pumping tear gas shells into Wick's home in belief he had barricaded himself there.

Seek ACS Location Before Work Begins

WALLED LAKE — Problem of finding temporary headquarters for the American Cancer Society's Walled Lake Branch was discussed when branch members met Friday. Plans for work cannot proceed until a location is found, according to Margaret Dennis, general chairman.

2-Car Crash Hurts Garden City Couple

A Garden City couple were treated for minor injuries at the Goodrich Hospital in Ortonville yesterday following a two-car accident in Brandon Townshop.

Walter C. Wolosiewicz, 32, of 6904 Lathers St., one of the drivers, was released after treatment for cuts of the head and left leg. His wife, Shirley E., 30, had a cut cheek.

The other car involved was operated by Grank J. Tower Jr., 28, of 6410 Lakeview Dr., Clarkston.

Clayton Beach Takes Jonesville Bride

LAKE ORION — Clayton C. W. Beach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beach of Lake Orion, claimed as his bride, Joyce Myrtle Swank in a Saturday evening ceremony at Jonesville First Methodist Church.

* * *

Joyce is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh L. J. Swank of Jonesville.

Three hundred and twenty-five guests watched as the bride walked down the aisle in a gown of Chantilly lie and nylon tulle over slipper satin. The costume was floor length, with chapel sweep and her fingertip veil of French illusion was caught by a lace headdress.

Her bouquet was of white galmelias and yellow roses.

Bridal attendants were Dorothy Swank, the bride's sister, and Alice DePew, Norma K. Lang and Mary Jo Lewis, all of Jonesville.

Acting as best man was Robert Shaw of Fenton. Donald Kline of Lake Orion, Richard Swank and Harold Fegats of Jonesville were ushers.

Following the reception, the newlyweds left for a two weeks tour of Northern Michigan. They will reside at 303 West Chicago, Jonesville, where he is a trooper at the State Police Post.

Kentucky Area Shuts Schools to Negroes

STURGIS, Ky. (AP)—Eight Negro pupils were turned away from Sturgis High School today when H'Earl Evans, principal of the school, read an order from the Union County School Board forbidding them to enter.

The Negro youths arrived at the school in an auto driven by Shelby Garnett, father of one. A crowd estimated at 250 had gathered and as the Negroes approached the school, about 100 people, including many students, moved near the entrance to the building.

After Evans read the letter from Carlos Oakley, superintendent of the board, he asked the Negroes if any of them had possessions in the school. Two of them said they had books in the building.

Lt. Col. Clarence O. Busch escorted the two into the school at Evans' request and they retrieved their belongings.

Farm Bureau Elects Staff at White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Officers of the White Lake Farm Bureau are Chairman Clare G. Voorheis, vice chairman Theodore Trocke, and secretary treasurer Ronald C. Voorheis.

Others recently elected are Raymond Wheeler, discussion leader; James Reid, assistant; Edgar Thompson, minute man; and Mrs. Carol Steinbaugh, woman's committee; Alex Dalton, recreation chairman; Mrs. Frank Ruggles and Mrs. Leonard Freund, flower chairmen; and Mrs. Clare Voorheis, publicity chairman.

Fraction of Corn Safe

LANSING (AP) — Only a small fraction of the state's corn crop, about one seventh, is safe from frost, compared with three fourths at this stage of 1955.

In reporting this Tuesday, the State - Federal Crop Reporting Service said that last week's generally dry weather was helpful in maturing corn but many more warm, sunny days are needed.

Start Final Plans for Berkley City Hall

BERKLEY — Final plans for the construction of a new city hall here will be made at next Monday's council meeting, Mayor William R. Judy said this morning.

The new building will have 6,700 feet of floor space and will be built adjacent to the present 28-year-old city hall on Coolidge, south of 12 Mile Road.

Judy said $112,000 is waiting in the capital improvement fund to start the $136,000 one-story structure.

The improvement fund was started by the city some years ago.

The council decided, when they realized when they had this amount ready, that there was no reason to put off the pay-as-you-build project any longer.

Architects Smith, Hinchman and Grylls will be present at next Monday's meeting to go over plans with council.

The old building will be converted into a police and fire department, Judy said.

Monroe A-Plant OKs Hearings

Will Answer Objections From Unions on Safety of Proposed Reactor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Power Reactor Development Co. of Detroit has agreed to an Atomic Energy Commission hearing on whether its permit to build a big atomic power plant at Monroe, Mich., should be suspended because of public hazard.

* * *

The company, however, maintained construction work could not possibly endanger public health and asked the AEC yesterday to keep its building permit in effect pending outcome of the hearing.

Three major unions asked for the hearing, contending "there is insufficient information available at this time to give assurance that the Power Reactor Development Co. can be operated at this site without public hazard."

The Detroit firm, set up by 26 private companies, plans to undertake pioneer industrial electric development with a 40½ million dollar plant located 30 miles from Detroit and Toledo, Ohio. It would produce 100,000 kilowatts of electric power to be distributed by Detroit Edison Co.

The plant would be a "fast breeder reactor"—a type of atomic engine that produces more fuel than it uses as it goes along.

Walther League Plans Picnic for Congregation

UTICA — A congregation-wide picnic is planned Sunday by the Trinity Lutheran Church, with arrangements being made by the Walther League.

A divine service starts the event, at 11 a.m. and games for all ages and a softball game between oldsters and youngsters is planned, as well as the picnic meal.

Funds will be raised by a future gymnasium at the Trinity Lutheran Schoo..

Be Considerate of Rover During His Week

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—This is "National Dog Week" so presumably throughout the country our furry friends are being given treatment worthy of a wag.

The order of every dog week (which is similar to cat week, except that elderly ladies don't pay as much attention to it) is this:

Dogs are supposed to be given awards, a better grade of biscuit and bone, more affection, a proclamation from the President and some kind words on the radio by mayors.

Boys Clubs and Camp Fire Girls are urged to do good deeds for dogs during this week, and the kindlier burglars of America are advised to cut down on their activities over the weekend with the intent of giving watchdogs a real good rest.

* * *

All in all, an air of tender goodheartedness prevails across the land—touching the lives and hearts of all but the dogs.

NO REAL PROFIT

What do the dogs get out of it, really, except a few unaccustomed pats, maybe an itchy ribbon around the throat, and the right to enter the parlor and take a look at the plaque the mayor gave their masters for good canine citizenship?

* * *

Can they climb up on the sofa to get a better view of said plaque?

No, Rover, dog's best man can carry dog week just so far. We would like to recommend that for the remaining four days of this annual tribute week, dog owners face reality.

Don't give canines a lot of false surface allegiance. Show them deep down that you truly care and do it in the little ways that mean so much:

1.) Don't just talk to your dog, putting him at an immediate disadvantage as you do the other 358 days of the year. Bark with him.

* * *

2.) Give him one of the new plastic doghouses with the awninged terrace and the screened windows. He will love you for it, and so will your cleaning woman.

3.) If you live in the city, take him for a ride in the country and introduce him to some squirrels. If you live in the country, take him to the city and let him growl at some mink stoles.

* * *

4.) The devil with mere better-grade soup bones, give him a sirloin steak.

5.) If the dog is young, allow him to chew up some old bills and estimated tax forms. This will be a good outlet for his emotions and yours.

6.) If he is old, give him a saucer of beer and let him sleep in the sun.

7.) If he is big and male, at all times keep members of your wife's garden club from pawing him. If he is female, be a sport and let her spend a night on the town.

8.) And at the tail end of the week, let your dog know how genuinely he is loved. Give him the leg of a milkman.

BOAC Picks Wayne Over Willow Run Site

DETROIT (AP) — British Overseas Airways Corp. is moving its operating base here from Willow Run Airport to Wayne Major Airport because of a change in route from Detroit to London.

BOAC said its new routing will be Chicago-Detroit-Montreal-Glasgow-London. The stop at Montreal replaces one at Detroit. The airline will begin using Wayne Major facilities Nov. 7.

The British corporation is the second airline to serve notice of a move to Wayne Major. American Airlines has tentatively agreed to the move. Pan American has been operating there about a year.

Hal Boyle Says:

Veteran Reporter Dedicates Life to Truth

NEW YORK (AP)—In a world of easy cynicism and much self-doubt it is rare and refreshing to find a man in his 80th year who is robustly sure he has spent his life in the best possible way.

* * *

Such a man is Joseph E. Sharkey, retired dean of the world's diplomatic reporters and a top war correspondent between the era of Richard Harding Davis and Ernie Pyle.

"I couldn't think of a better life than the one I've had," he remarked on returning from Paris for his first visit to his homeland in eight years.

* * *

As a boy in Cambridge, Mass., Sharkey looked at a map of the world and told himself, "I want to see all of it." As a student in Harvard University he read a phrase in Raph Waldo Emerson's journal that stirred him deeply: "Truth is beautiful."

These two things determined his career. For 40 years he roamed the world as an Associated Press reporter guided only by one objective: To find the truth—and tell it.

* * *

Sharkey, whose by-line has been carried from scores of foreign lands, still totes with him a battered volume of Emerson's essays.

"They have been a great consolation to me," he remarked. "Truth is beautiful. And what is more important today than that countries know the truth about each other's real problems?"

* * *

Sharkey, slender and scholarly, looks more like a retired schoolteacher than a famous correspondent. But most reporters look like reporters only in the movies.

"As a diplomatic reporter, and I was a reporter, never a journalist," he said, "I never found it necessary to affect striped pants or a cane. I sometimes use a cane now, but not for social prestige."

* * *

Sharkey, hardier than he seems, covered riots, rebellions, and revolutions in Korea, Ireland, Greece and Russia.

In 1920 he traveled across Siberia for 29 days in a boxcar with British troops in 60 below zero weather to get a scoop on Adm. Kolchak's abortive plan to set up a White Russian government. Before he got his story he had to pull out his pistol to dissuade a Russian droshky driver who had decided to rob him.

* * *

"I caught the last train out of Omsk," he said. "Adm. Kolchak came down to tell me goodby, and the next day the Bolshevists executed him."

After the first world war, Sharkey covered top international conferences in Washington, Genoa, The Hague, Lausanne, Locarno and Geneva, where he reported the rise and fall of the League of Nations.

* * *

He became friend and confidant of such statesmen as Lloyd George, Briand, Austen Chamberlain, Benes and De Valera.

"Diplomats I generally found to be nice people," he observed, "looking for a compromise that would best serve their country's interest.

"Even Mussolini. He was a very merry sort of fellow, before he started grabbing. I interviewed him the day he was nipped in the nose by an assassin's bullet, and he sat on his desk and swung his legs like a schoolboy. But he did come to a bitter end."

* * *

Three countries — France, Belgium and Greece — officially honored Sharkey for the honesty of his dispatches. With him on most of his journeys was his wife, Beatrice, descendant of one of Napoleon's staff officers.

She had been active in Greek refugee work. When she died a few months ago, Sharkey searched through their Paris apartment until he found his Greek government decoration — the Knight's Cross of the Order of the Holy Sepulchre.

"I put that cross on her breast when she was buried," he said, "because I knew it would please her."

The old man who had written thousands of yesterday's great byliners sat in silence then, alone with his memories of the years when he searched the world for truth, which is beautiful.

Roof With New Slant May Appeal to Skiers

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—They're serious about skiing in this Upper Peninsula city.

School Superintendent Hugh H. Holloway has proposed a high school building with a ski run from the roof, blending with the architecture. He also suggested an ice skating rink and an outdoor warm water swimming pool.

Stevenson to Speak at Oklahoma Fair

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential hopeful, will speak at the Oklahoma State Fair here Monday, but as the windup of a triple-header.

Monday is traditionally school children's day, and the show always is loaded with thrills.

When Stevenson was booked for a speech, the management just added him to the program which now reads:

Monday Grandstand Program—Aut Swenson's Thrillcade auto show, Hollywood animal acts, and Adlai Stevenson.

Hart to Be Speaker

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart is scheduled as principal speaker Saturday at the Kent County Democratic fund drive opening. Finance Chairman Martin S. Packard says the group's quota this year is $13,000, marked for national campaign needs.

Expert Fears Growing Squeeze Population Pressure Poses Problem: Too Many People, Too Little Water

By EDWIN DIAMOND

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (INS) — Is this the picture of the American future:

Too little water in half the nation and too many people in the other half?

Dr. Firman E. Bear, an agricultural scientist, yesterday termed population pressure the nation's "imminent problem" and said:

"The future looks highly exciting but we'd better go slow about encouraging our young folks to hurry and produce a lot more of us."

Dr. Bear, former chairman of the Rutgers University soil department, spoke at the 130th annual meeting of the American chemical society in Atlantic City.

SERIOUS TONE

He said it was "high time that serious thought be given to the question of how many people we can afford in this country."

Dr. Bear gave this picture of the growing population squeeze:

1. Of approximately 2,000 million acres in this country, half of this acreage "will always have too little water — even after milking the clouds and extracting supplies from the sea — to support more than very sparse populations."

2. "Remaining acres — some of the most productive land we have —is rapidly lost to cities, superhighways, factories and reservoirs."

Dr. Bear thus raised once again the hotly-debated scientific issue first formulated by the English theologian Dr. Thomas Malthus (1766-1834), in his "Essay on Population."

The Malthusian theory held that population tends to multiply faster than the supply of food and that only famine, pestilence and war could control it.

Dr. Bear gave Malthus a new twist, holding that the U.S. could probably produce enough food to feed one billion Americans well—but warning there may be no room to put everyone.

Now! A FUEL OIL THAT CLEANS AS IT BURNS

"Twin-Action" Mobilheat!

Remarkable New Additive — result of years of research — gives Mobilheat a new cleaning action. Now, it not only burns hot as ever, but cleans as it burns!

Helps Prevent Main Cause of Burner Troubles — Sediment, long a major source of trouble in burner systems, is reduced to a minor cause so long as you use twin-action Mobilheat.

Helps Clean Out Accumulated Sediment — Mobilheat's twin action gradually cleans out sediment already present.

Fewer Service Calls — Now, burner shutdowns due to screen, filter and nozzle plugging are greatly minimized. Result — fewer service calls.

GMC shown at right is Model F350 fitted with 16-foot van. It's powered with a 140 h.p. six-cylinder engine—has over-size axles rated at 4,500 lbs. front; 14,000 lbs. rear. It's designed for 18,000 GVW truck work. The smaller truck at left is GMC's popular ½-ton pickup with a 130 h.p. six-cylinder power plant.

Why settle for less than Blue Chip performance?

IT doesn't take a new GMC owner long to spot the difference—especially if he's just switched from another make truck.

Take the way every Blue Chip GMC is "engined." An ultra-modern power plant gives him flashing response, sparkling road-pace—and record fuel economy.

Hydra-Matic* is another eye-opener. Right away he appreciates its time and effort saving in traffic. And later on, he cashes in on the big maintenance savings.

And every trip he can carry a bigger load. For GMC chassis are rugged—GMC axles are extra-capacity.

So he hauls more—and hauls it comfortably. GMC cabs are man-size and deep-cushioned. Recirculating ball-bearing steering makes handling free and easy. Close-quarters parking's a cinch with Safety Power Steering.*

And at every stop, a Blue Chip GMC attracts admiring attention. With that distinctive boulevard styling, it's a smart advertisement-on-wheels for any business!

One for your kind of truck-work? Our truck specialists will help you select just the Blue Chip model that will do your job most profitably. And our truck servicing experts always stand ready to help you keep it a Blue Chip top-profit-maker. Drop in and get acquainted!

Endless Rise in Business Costs Blamed for Conclusion

Gradual Inflationary Groundswell Seen by U. S. Economists

(Second of three articles.)
By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A growing number of economists, inside and outside the government, suspect this country is headed into a long, gradual inflationary groundswell.

The view is not unanimous. Some expect 1957 to bring back a stable index, once the economy has adjusted to the wave of price mark-ups which hit consumers this summer and still continues.

But many point with concern to the endlessly rising cost of doing business, and especially to the yearly rounds of wage increases—including contracts which carry built-in annual pay boosts for three to five years ahead.

Government analysts say productivity has been falling behind cost increases.

One adviser to the White House said privately today:

"We've been building cost into the economy faster than productivity has been taking it out.

"By now, I think, even the unions realize that nobody can pay for it except the consumer."

The price outlook, as seen by this official, is: "Some further increases, but not anywhere near as sharp as they have been."

The August consumer price index, to be issued next week, may show a slight decline from the all-time high established in July. Food prices generally are dropping.

This is not necessarily reassuring, for the September index may be up again. For one thing, meat prices will reflect today's sky-high quotations for livestock.

And many industries are preparing to break further bad news to consumers.

Business papers indicate the next few months will see a lengthening of the list of price markups which already includes such items as television sets, refrigerators, washers and dryers, typewriters, ranges, rugs, mattresses, shoes, luggage and kitchen utensils.

* * *

The 1957 cars and trucks will come in at higher list prices. Clothing may reflect currently rising costs of wool and synthetic fibers. Sewing machines, phonographs and lamps are ticketed for boosts.

Auto parts may jump as much as 10 per cent. Canned food prices are expected to reflect the higher cost of cans—which in turn will reflect the higher cost of tinplate.

Additional price hikes are expected on such widely assorted items as fuel, beer, farm implements and cement. And prices of steel, aluminum and other basic materials may go up again.

* * *

A hint as to the expectations of businessmen was given in Washington last week, at the meeting of directors of the 28,000-member National Sales Executives. The directors polled themselves on the question: Does your company expect to raise, maintain or lower prices on its products during the next 12 months?

Of those polled, 54 per cent expected their prices to go up, 42 per cent said they would hold present prices, 4 per cent said they would "follow the industry trend." Nobody expected lower prices.

* * *

Rising wage costs are usually blamed when prices go up. The NSE was no exception. An official said that 78 per cent of the executives polled expected their companies to raise wages. He said: "If you expect higher wages, you expect higher prices."

On the labor side, it's a matter wages go up when prices rise, unof vice versa. To insure that ion leaders are showing revived interest in escalator clauses based on living costs.

The total personal income of Americans has been rising recently at annual rates as rapid as 1½ billion dollars a month. It continued to set successive all-time records even while serious unemployment beset the auto industry.

The inevitable conclusion of the economists is that there will be ample spending power to sustain high business activity—and high prices.

Pueblos Favor Democrats

Indians Beating the Drums to Sway New Mexico Vote

SANTE FE, N. M. (INS)—New Mexico's Pueblo Indians have discovered the power of the ballot, and apparently intend to use it.

* * *

Pueblo leaders clair some 6,000 of their brothers will vote this fall. That is six times as many as voted in 1952.

Indian leaders have learned politicians invariably ignore a non-voting group, and as John Rainer of Taos, puts it:

"We are now a voting force to be reckoned with."

Some forecasts of the Indian vote in New Mexico this year are as high as 8,000.

AFRAID OF TAXES

In 1952 only five per cent of the state's 20,000 Pueblo Indians voted. Leaders said a majority did not register for fear voting would invite state taxation.

However, tribal govenors have discredited that fear, pointing out the state can not legally tax reservation property.

The registration campaign has paid off with Laguna Pueblo reporting 75 per cent of its 5,000 members registered, about 3,750. Tesuque, Cochiti and San Ildefonso report 100 per cent registration. Progress also is being made at Santo Domingo and Taos.

* * *

The campaign includes distribution of instructions telling Indians how to register and how to use voting machines.

Democratic Gov. John Simms, who is seeking re-election, claims his party will receive most of the Indian vote. Pueblo leaders regard Simms as a "friend of the Indian," because he has taken what they term an "unprecedented gubernatorial interest" in their problems.

At the same time Indian leaders have expressed dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration, speaking of what they term "broken promises," bad appointments to the Interior Department and a Republican Justice Department they claim is trying to cheat them out of aboriginal land claims.

* * *

Laguna Gov. John Paisano said the great majority of his people are registering Democratic.

MUSKEGON (AP) — The County Board of Supervisors has agreed to place on the Nov. 6 ballot the question of financing a $3,300,000 bond issue for a new courthouse and jail.

Approval would mean a $1.20 tax increase for Muskegon County taxpayers on each $1,000 assessed valuation for 20 years.

Hollywood Headlines

Paul Douglas Will Follow Jan Sterling to the Stage

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — You can imagine how happy Jan Sterling is that she, too, will be on Broadway in the late Robert Sherwood's last play, "Small War in Manhattan," a few months before Paul Douglas open in "A Hole in the Head."

Paul is almost as excited as Jan, who hasn't been on the Broadway stage for seven years. She leaves in time to start rehearsals the first of November, taking with her their 11-month-old son.

"Jan opens Christmas week," said Paul, "and I am not finished with my picture 'Protection for a Tough Racket,' with Jean Simmons, at MGM. I will take time off for opening night."

Paul thinks it is a good omen that Garson Kanin will direct Jan. He authored "Born Yesterday," which made a star of Paul and later brought Jan to Broadway in Judy Holliday's role.

You can expect to see Gene Tierney back on the screen before long looking more beautiful than she has in some years.

Gene had luncheon with Spyros Skouras, president of 20th Century-Fox, and her agent, George Chasen, in New York a few days ago and both report that she has never been in better spirits or brighter than she is today.

Gene has one more picture on her contract with 20th but she has never been well enough to fulfill it. Now that she has apparently gotten Aly Khan completely out of her system and is interested once more in her career, 20th will find a property for her.

GAY DORIS DAY

I've never seen Doris Day as gay as she was in Las Vegas. She seemed so happy and more like the Doris of years ago.

She told me that she starts "Pajama Game" at Warners in early November, and then if MGM doesn't pre-empt her she will co-star with Clark Gable in "Teacher's Pet."

The most serious romance Lori Nelson has had is with publisher Robert Petersen. Except for publicity purposes, Lori hasn't dated anyone else since she met young Petersen two months ago.

He was formerly a press agent with MGM, and when he left that job several years ago he started some automobile magazines and is now regarded as the most successful publisher in that field. He's also made plenty of money since he left his press agenting job.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: While dining at the Oyster House, Nancy Valentine revealed that she and her bridegroom, Fred Tillinghast III, have an April stork date.

Famed conductor-composer Buddy Bregman, who separated briefly from his wife, the former Gloria Haley (Jack's daughter), is back home again.

$15,000 VOCALIZING

Betty Hutton persuaded Kirk Douglas to pay the Mary Kaye Trio $15,000 to sing the title song of "Spring Reunion." The trio is doing good business at the Crescendo.

A Ciro's duo was Stuart Cramer, former husband of Jean Peters, and Swedish beauty Siv Bering, who is another one who's supposed to look like Grace Kelly.

Scott Brady's father, Lawrence Tierney Sr., hosted a birthday luncheon for Scott and presented him with an oil painting of famed clown Emmett Kelly.

Diana Dors will houseguest Jack Fishman, editor of London's "Empire News" who gets here in a week to look over Hollywood.

On the stroke of midnight Saturday, Bogey telephoned Lauren Bacall in Las Vegas from his boat to wish her happy birthday.

Muskegon Chosen as Port

MUSKEGON (AP) — Port officials have announced that Muskegon will be the winter layup port for at least 10 large ore carriers which were part of the fleet diverted to this West Michigan port during the steel strike earlier in the year.

Mecosta Fair Opens

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — The Mecosta County Fair opened Tuesday for a five-day run with nearly twice as many exhibits entered over last year. Fair Board officials said 399 exhibitors registered.

Fair Attracts 92,000

ALLEGAN (AP) — The 104th annual Allegan County Fair drew 92,000 visitors during its six-day run ending Saturday. Officials said attendance figures Saturday reached 22,000, second only to a one-day mark set during the fair's centennial in 1952.

Veteran Michigan prep official Dave Beauvais of Detroit will conclude his long service as a basketball official with the coming winter season . . . says Dave "I'm going to quit the strenuous business of calling basketball games after this winter. I'll still handle football, however, where it doesn't take so much out of you." He is a well known official to area teams.

STALLING THE DODGERS — Stan Musial (left) and Ken Boyer of the St. Louis Cards are a happy pair after their home runs last night defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-5, to trim Brooklyn's lead over Milwaukee to a slim percentage point.

St. Louis Stalls Dodgers' Drive in 6-5 Victory

Braves Within Single Percentage Point by Beating Bucs, 6-4

The St. Louis Cardinals, who hooked up with Brooklyn in those stirring pennant battles of the 1940s, have stolen a page from the past to leave the Dodgers with only a skinny one-percentage-point edge in the National League race today.

* * *

This time the Cardinals, 13½ games back in fourth place, aren't concerned with the flag, but they put their finger in the pie last night to knock off the Dodgers 6-5 on Ken Boyer's ninth-inning home run while second-place Milwaukee was rallying to defeat Pittsburgh 6-4 and reduce Brooklyn's advantage in the lost column to one game.

And while the senior league continued to battle it out, the New York Yankees went out and clinched the American League pennant, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 3-2.

Cincinnati virtually was jarred out of the race by losing a twi-night doubleheader to Philadelphia's "spoilers" 4-3 and 7-4. The Redlegs are now 4½ games out.

The New York Giants split a pair with Chicago's Cubs, winning 8-2 after a 4-2 defeat.

Mickey Mantle's 50th home run wrapped up the Yankees seventh pennant in eight seasons. It came in the 11th inning to defeat and eliminate the White Sox while giving the Yankees a tie with their league record of 182 home runs set in 1936.

Cleveland reclaimed second place from Chicago with a 1-0 and 6-0 twi-night sweep against Washington. Kansas City trimmed Boston 6-5. Detroit defeated Baltimore 6-2.

The Cardinals, who beat Brooklyn in the first major league pennant playoff in 1946 during the several flag scraps between the two clubs a decade ago, blew a 4-0 lead before riding in on Boyer's two-out, two-run homer. Gil Hodges' two-run homer seemingly had given the Brooks a fourth straight victory in the seventh.

HO, HUM—AN OLD STORY — It's the same old story for the New York Yankees, winning another pennant. Yesterday the Yanks clinched their 7th pennant in eight years by defeating Chicago, 3-2. The usual heroes were Mickey Mantle with his 50th homer, pitcher Whitey Ford who won his 19th and catcher Yogi Berra who drove in tying run, leaving him three short of a 1,000 RBI's for his career.

Oosterbaan Confident of "M" Grid Team

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Coach Bennie Oosterbaan exudes unusual confidence in his University of Michigan Wolverines, and says they could round into the finest Michigan squad in several years.

The Wolverines haven't had a perfect season since 1948, and the veteran Michigan coach certainly isn't predicting one. But he is far from dissatisfied with his squad's showing so far.

With the opener just 10 days away, Oosterbaan says:

"I think we're going to have two fine teams. After that, depth is a problem. And even with our first and second string, we're going to have to depend a lot more than usual on sophomores."

But the sophomores who must be counted on, Bennie adds, "are fine prospects and we expect them to come through."

* * *

The Wolverines ran through two drills yesterday apd were scheduled for two more today before going to one-a-day practices.

* * *

Asked if the club is further along than at the same time last season, the Wolverine pilot replied:

"We're in good condition physically. The line essentially is the same as last year with a few exceptions, but the boys may be a little more determined than last season. The same thing applies to the line and the backfield. If we don't have too many injuries, we'll be all right."

The line is big and mobile and husky backs will cause the Wolverines to depend more and more on the single wing offense. In other words, it will be the same old Michigan single-wing attack with new power.

* * *

Outside of the usual injury problem, Oosterbaan says there are two other problems in the backfield. He said:

"We'll probably go with two untested sophomores, and we won't have a strong passing game."

Lewiston Holds Big Archery Celebration

Lewiston's annual archery celebration is set for Oct. 1-Nov. 5. The big affair starts Sept. 29 really, when registrations of bow hunters will be made. Big day is Wednesday, Oct. 3, when lucky bow hunters who get the first five deer receive trophies. A special award of $100 will go to the hunter who first bags an adult deer and a black bear—"and you've got to prove it" say Lewiston Boosters and Sportsmen's league officials.

Many Oakland county bow hunters are expected to participate in the events.

AL Pennant Clinched

Yanks Ready--Casey

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Casey Stengel, slugger Mickey Mantle and the rest of the pennant-winning New York Yankees are ready for "whoever wins the National League race."

* * *

"Bring 'em on," shouted Stengel last night after his Yankees had clinched it with a 11-inning 3-2 victory over the White Sox on Mantle's 50th homer of the year.

Mantle's blast added zest to the end of a dull American League race. It won the pennant, tied the American League record of 182 homers hit by one club—the Yankees of 1936—and made Mickey the only Yankee other than Babe Ruth to reach the 50 mark.

* * *

Ruth did it four times and set the all-time record of 60 in 1927, a total which has eluded Mantle and other great slugers. Mickey is now eight games behind Ruth with little chance to equal or surpass the Babe.

The pennant was the seventh for the Yankees in the last eight years, all under the fiery Stengel who individually carried the load of noisemaking in the otherwise business-like atmosphere of the Yankee dressing room.

* * *

Mantle expressed surprise that he was the only other Yankee besides Ruth to hit 50 or more home runs in one season.

"I feel pretty good about it," said Mantle. "It is something I'll always remember. Naturally I'm glad I got it because it helped Whitey (Ford) win his 19th game. You know he's trying for 20 this year."

* * *

Mantle's homer came off Chicago's left - handed ace Billy Pierce, who received a lot of credit from Stengel.

"I don't care who wins the National League race," said Stengel. "We beat Pierce tonight. Have they got anyone in that league who's as good as Pierce?"

Stengel also commended his club saying it "has been great, at times it's been lousy. But it's a first-class club and it's in condition so we're not afraid of anyone in the National League."

Bears Tackle Indians

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Denver's rested Bears tackle the weary Indianapolis Indians tonight in the opening game of the American Assn. Governor's Cup playoff finals.

The Indians nicked Minneapolis, 2-1, Tuesday night to win their semifinal series, 4-3. Denver cinched its berth in the best-of-seven finals Sunday against Omaha.

Detroit Softball Team Wins 1st Round Game

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The Lincolns of Detroit won their first game in the World Series of the Amateur Softball Assn., 3-2, over Sealmasters of Aurora, Ill., last night.

Other first - round results included:

Levittown, N.Y., 5, Salt Lake City 0; San Diego Jets 6, Stewart, Tenn. 0; Tampico, Mexico, 6, St. Paul 1.

U of D Meets Marquette

14 State Grid Teams Vie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The state's collegiate grid teams plunge into the season's first full weekend of action with 14 Michigan teams engaging in 10 contests.

While the league activity is still a week away, the warm-up games will provide plenty of excitement. Six Michigan squads will meet out-of-state opponents, two of them on opponents' home grounds.

The big game is the Marquette-Detroit clash at U of D stadium Saturday afternoon. Both schools are rebuilding and there's no heavy favorite in this one.

In other games involving out-of-state foes, St. Cloud comes to Michigan Tech, Hope travels to Heidelberg, Adrian goes to Defiance, Wabash comes to Albion and Kalamazoo entertains Valparaiso.

Hillsdale, unbeaten in 17 straight outings, may run into unexpectedly rough sledding with Eastern Michigan. The Dales conquered Gustavus Adolphus 17-0 in their opener last weekend and this will be the first contest for Fred Trosko's Hurons.

Central Michigan travels to Western Michigan and once again it will be the opener for one club and the second test for the other.

Central, which must patch up a leaky pass defense, escaped with a 38-33 decision over an inspired Bradley eleven last week. Western suffered damaging losses through graduation and transfers and will be a two - touchdown underdog in this one. Central took last year's game, 27-12.

Sam Ketchman's Ferris Bulldogs will be favored over Olivet's Comets, coming out for the first time under new coach Hank Paul. Ferris triumphed 12-6 in their 1955 meeting.

Another new coaching debut is scheduled at Alma, where Art Smith's crew takes on Northern Michigan's Wildcats.

Oakland B Games Head List

Prep Gridders Begin League Play

With season opening non-league games under the belt, many high school football teams in the Oakland County area plunge into league warfare this Friday.

Although several squads still have another round of non-league opposition on their schedules, action begins in earnest in the Oakland B, Wayne-Oakland, Southern Thumb, South Central and Bi-County circuits.

Competition in the Inter-Lakes, Eastern Michigan and Saginaw Valley conferences does not get under way until next week. Pontiac High won't start its SVC campaign for another two weeks.

Three games will inaugurate play in the Oakland B League, two of them crucial tests.

Avondale's title-hungry Jackets invade Troy to meet the improved Colts and defending champion Madison visits hopeful Lake Orion, with each team anxious to get off to a winning start.

Clawson will be favored over Fitzgerald in Friday's other Oakland B encounter at Van Dyke.

Clarenceville opens defense of its Wayne-Oakland crown at Milford while injury-riddled Clarkston journeys to Brighton for the remaining W-O tilt.

Action is heavy in the Southern Thumb loop, with three games on tap. New Haven will be at Almont, Memphis at Armada and Dryden at Brown City.

The Bi-County League opens on two fronts. Utica goes to South Lake while defending champion Center Line entertains Lakeview. Oxford welcomes North Branch in the only South Central engagement.

Also on Friday, Bloomfield Hills' reviving Barons initiate their last season in the Southeast Suburban Conference against invading A. E. Smith of Wyandotte.

A full schedule of games over the weekend will open the Suburban Catholic League campaign, highlighted by Saturday night's St. Frederick-Orchard Lake St. Mary clash and Sunday afternoon's St. Michael-St. Benedict tussle, both at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium.

Punting Added to Peaks' Job

EAST LANSING (AP) — Clarence Peaks is getting to be the indispensable man in the Michigan State football backfield.

* * *

In past seasons, Peaks has worked at the quick kick. Coaches liked the distance he got from his boots.

* * *

This year, he is being groomed as the full-time punter.

In a booting drill yesterday, Peaks was consistently getting away kicks 50 and 60 yards from the line of scrimmage.

He also alternated at the extra point tries with end Dave Kaiser, figured on as the mainstay in the point after touchdown department.

* * *

Kaiser, who became an overnight sports celebrity with his tie-breaking field goal in the Rose Bowl game with UCLA, also will be counted on for the longer shots.

Kaiser also may get a few punting chores when Peaks isn't available.

Chief Harriers Show Promise in First Meet

In their 1st fall test, a practice meet with Waterford's Skippers, PHS Chief harriers yesterday showed a lot of promise.

New cross-country coach Mike Andonian (his first fulltime PHS coaching job) saw three Chiefs finish in a tie at 6:26 for the mile-and-a-quarter run. First nine finishers were Chiefs, with Skippers' Keith Cadman first Waterford runner to break the tape.

Meet, at Beaudette park, was unofficial because Skippers were able to start only four runners. Pontiac's squad numbered 17.

Rog Coats, Pete Cox and Tom Sampey finished together. Chuck Johnson was 4th, and Don Evans, Harvey Hessell, Charles Saylor, Renfrew and Payne rounded out the next six places. Bob Shell, Ken Young and Jim Smith were Waterford runners. Skipper eligibility list was not available in time to provide a full squad, Andonian says.

10 Top U.S. Pacers in Field for 'Jug'

DELAWARE, O. (INS) — Ten of the country's top three year old pacers were entered today in Thursday's 11th annual Little Brown Jug, with Bachelor Hanover established as the pre-race favorite.

Bachelor Hanover, the top money winning two-year-old of last year, drew the number 9 post position in the race, worth a total purse of $52,666.

Billy Haughton, the country's No. 1 dash and money winning driver, will be in the sulky in an effort to grab the winner's share which will total $29,602.

TUESDAY'S FIGHTS

Keep Rackin Up Points

LIVERMORE, Calif. — The annual Livermore swimming championships turned out to be a personal triumph for 12 - year - old Johnny Rackin. He won the high point trophy with 33 points out of a possible 35 by finishing first in four races and second in another.

Rackin set a 100-meter freestyle mark of 1:06.4 in the 11-12 year group and negotiated the 100-meter individual medley in 1:17.6.

A total of 2,145 young swimmers took part in the three-day meet.

Talbert Upsets Australian Ace in Coast Event

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Billy Talbert of New York, captain of the U.S. Davis Cup team, is still a good tennis player at the advanced athletic age of 38. He beat the No. 3 Australian star, Neale Fraser, by scores of 2-6, 6-4, 6-3 in the Pacific Southwest Championships yesterday.

This upset was one of many. Mike Franks of UCLA came from behind to whip Sweden's Ulf Schmidt, 4-6, 7-5, 6-4. Another Bruin, Mike Green, downed Chile's Luis Ayala, 8-6, 6-3.

The No. 5 Australian, Mal Anderson, beat Sam Giammalva of Houston, ranking Davis Cup hope of the future, 9-6, 6-4.

Althea Gibson, runnerup for the National championship, beat Geri Shepard of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-0.

Gets Unanimous Call

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Charlie Cotton, Toledo, forced the fight all the way to win a unanimous 10-round decision over Henry Hank here last night. Both fighters weighed 152.

Lane, Lightburn Open New Arena

Tangle Tonight in TV Bout at Biscayne Bay Affair

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Lightweights Kenny Lane and Ludwig Lightburn open Miami's new $250,000 Biscayne Arena tonight with a 10-round nationally - televised fight regarded as a "take your pick" affair.

Lane, 24-year-old southpaw from Muskegon, Mich., is ranked sixth in his division and has won 43 of 48 fights, three by knockouts. His 1956 victims include Isaac Vaughn, Enrique Esquerda, Danny Davis, Ralph Dupas and Glen Flanagan.

Lightburn, a rangy 22-year-old from British Honduras, is ranked No. 9 in his division and has won 41 of 48 ring battles, 13 of them by knockouts.

"I'll try to nail him one or two good ones to stop him before he can start a flurry," Lane said of his 135-pound opponent. "Anything can happen in a fight and Lightburn is always in shape and always on top of you. He likes to flurry in every round."

The fight will be judged on a point system, with 10 points going to the winner of each round and nine or less to the loser.

The fight, launching the new Biscayne Arena built by Maj. W. H. Peeples Jr., will be televised and broadcast by ABC, starting at 9 p.m. (EST).

Called Strikes on Lou Gehrig Hard for Grieve

There are two 60-year-old umpires in the major leagues, three crowding 60 and three past 50. But William Turner Grieve is among the missing. He retired last January.

"I always wanted to quit before I got to be 60," says Bill Grieve who fulfilled every one of his assignments during 18 years in the American League.

The Baseball Register says Grieve was born in 1900 and that means Curley, as they knew him in his semi-pro baseball and basketball days around Yonkers, N. Y. was wed at 17.

"That's not so," says Billy. "I was married at 21, I wanted to umpire so badly that I lied about my age. I was born in 1896. I broke into organized ball late, at 38, in the Northwestern League and came up to the majors in 1938 at the age of 42. I wanted to get into another business before I reached 65." He's now a salesman for a distillery.

Grieve had few rhubarbs during his long big league career. He was the quiet type and shied away from players off the field.

Grieve received his first great shock in 1939, his second year in the majors.

"I was working an intra-squad game for the Yankees at Miller Huggins Field in St. Petersburg," says Grieve as though the game were played last spring. "Lou Gehrig took called strikes without taking the bat off his shoulder.

"I felt terrible when Lou turned around several times and said."

" 'Bill, where was that pitch? Was it really a strike?'

" 'It was a strike, Lou,' I told him each time he asked. Sometimes I wished I didn't have to call those strikes.

"I hate to admit it but I guess I was the first one to realize Lou Gehrig was losing his reflexes.

Gehrig was forced to quit May 2, 1939 after playing 2,130 consecutive league games from 1925 through 1939. Lou passed away June 2, 1941 as the result of multiple sclerosis.

Pee-Wee Gridders Start League Activity Saturday

The Pee-Wee Football League, Pontiac's newest arrival in youthful gridiron activity, opens its five week season this Saturday at Beaudette Park.

Sponsored on a voluntary basis by PTA groups and local merchants, the Pee-Wee organization will feature competition for all boys from ages 9 through 12 who weigh not more than 110 or less than 55 pounds. No boy can participate if he is above the 6th grade or below the 4th.

Seven teams representing six elementary schools will take part in the league. Members are the Whitfield Cubs, Whitfield Lions, Wilson Rams, Emmanuel Crusaders, Scotch School Red Devils, Webster and Bagley. Each team will play a five - game schedule.

Three games are scheduled for Saturday's opening round. The Cubs meet the Rams at 6 p.m., Lions face the Crusaders at 7 p.m., and Webster plays the Red Devils at 8 o'clock.

Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department facilities are being used for the Pee-Wee program.

But Tebbetts Won't Quit

Double Loss Stuns Redlegs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Birdie Tebbetts, a fighter from way back, hasn't given up the ghost in the National League pennant chase, but the fiery pilot of the Cincinnati Redlegs certainly sounds like a man whistling past the graveyard.

The Redlegs dropped a twi-night doubleheader to the Philadelphia Phillies last night, 4-3 and 7-4, losing a golden opportunity to pick up ground on the league-leading Brooklyn Dodgers and their shadow, second-place Milwaukee.

As things stand today, Cincinnati is third, 4½ games behind the Dodgers and Braves with nine games to play. It would take almost a complete collapse of both the Dodgers and Milwaukee for the Redlegs to get to the head of the class.

But Tebbetts refused to bow his head until the slide rule experts say his boys are done officially. Sitting in the quiet Cincinnati dressing room, the one-time catcher calmly held court for the press.

"We still got a chance," he said. "We won't give up until it becomes a mathematical certainty we're out."

APBA Attorney to Answer Suit

DETROIT (INS) — Circuit Judge Joseph A. Moynihan today gave Bertram Robb, attorney for the American Power Boat Association, 15 days to file an answer to a suit brought by Horace Dodge, who is seeking to have the Gold Cup race declared no contest.

* * *

Dodge, owner of the entrant My Sweetie Dora, claimed his boat was "bumped" out of the race because trials were held contrary to the rules, after his craft had qualified.

Judge Moynihan set Sept. 27 for a hearing on Robb's motion to dismiss Dodge's show cause order.

The University of North Carolina has had two seasons in which its football teams failed to win a game. That happened in 1888 and in 1891.

GAINS 14th — Paul Foytack gained his 14th win yesterday in defeating the Baltimore Orioles, 6-2, to move the Tigers to within 2½ games of the 4th place Boston Red Sox.

Now 2½ Games Behind Red Sox

Tigers Gain on 4th Place

DETROIT (AP) — Either the fans didn't know or didn't care, but the Baltimore Orioles until yesterday were the sharpest thorn in the side of the Detroit Tigers this year.

And before the smallest crowd of the season — 2,223 — the Tigers at least temporarily eliminated the prickle by beating Baltimore 6-2.

Baltimore's record against Detroit now is 13 victories against 8 losses. That leaves Chicago the season's leading trouble maker percentagewise for Detroit with a 12-7 record.

Barring rain, the Orioles will contribute to another Detroit accomplishment today — passing the million mark in attendance at Briggs Stadium. Through yesterday's game, Tiger home attendance was 999,143 or 857 short of the magic number which Detroit has hit for the past three years.

Ray Boone brightened an otherwise dull game yesterday when he lined a powerful 400-yard grand slam homer in the third to give the Tigers the four winning runs.

Paul Foytack (14-12) held his control and went the distance for the Tigers while loser Connie Johnson (8-11) was yanked at the end of the 4th. Foytack gave up eight hits while the Tigers took all their seven hits from Johnson.

The Tigers' other two runs came in the first and 4th. Harvey Kuenn, who led off for Detroit in the 1st, walked, took third on a single by Jack Phillips and went home on a long fly by Charlie Maxwell.

In the 4th, Red Wilson singled, went to second on Foytack's sacrifice, took third when he was caught off base and Baltimore third baseman George Kell bobbled the ball for an error and came home on a long fly by Kuenn.

In making their bid for 4th place and the first division, the surging Tigers now have won 11 of their last 12 games.

Detroit's victory coupled with Boston's 6-5 loss to Kansas City last night leaves Detroit 2½ games behind the Red Sox.

Detroit Fight Friday on TV

Berrios Meets Chestnut at Olympic Stadium in Featherweight Bout

DETROIT (INS)—Miguel Berrios, who meets Ike Chestnut in a nationally-televised bout at Denight, scored the best victory of troit's Olympia Stadium Friday scored the best victory o fhis career last month when he decisively trounced Flash Elorde in San Francisco.

Elrode, who beat champion Sandy Saddler in a non-title bout, was a top favorite to whip Berrios. But the little battler son seven out of ten rounds to defeat the flash.

The bout had originally been scheduled for a nationwide telecast, but the cilmax of the Republican convention in San Francisco took priority that night. While Berrois was giving Elorde a pasting, Television fans were tuned in on President Eisenhower's acceptance speech.

As he watched Berrio work out today at the Motor City gym, his manager, Jimmy D'Angelo said he had no regrets that his fighter's biggest win wasn't telecast.

Race Horse Winner Won't Keep Animal

Although she would "like very much" to keep the fine youngster she won after naming it at Hazel Park, Mrs. Jane (G.R.) Learned today said she guessed she would sell the yearling colt. Mrs. Learned, 46 Chippewa, named the colt "Rhythm Time" and last night was informed that her name was selected, and she was awarded the horse.

"It was a beautiful animal," Mrs. Learned said this morning. "But I don't think I'll keep it. I never won anything in my life, and I was overwhelmed by the news." She is the daughter of the Ray Taylors, long time interested in thoroughbreds.

Colt will probably be sold at auction Thursday night, with bids starting around $5,000, the Pontiac woman was informed.

Wiffi Wins Tough One

Teenagers Pose Threat in U.S. Test

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Teenagers, threatening to make shambles of the 56th USGA Women's Amateur golf tournament, faced opposition today that could teach them respect for their elders.

* * *

Joanne Gunderson, 17-year-old blonde who played the sharpest second-round match yesterday, was matched with defending champion Pat Lesser in an all-Seattle feature.

Both play out of Sand Point Club but they never have met in a tourney match.

Tall Joanne, USGA Junior champion, shaved three strokes off par yesterday and had to play only 10 holes to crush Elsie Johnson, Jenkins, Ky., 9 and 8.

Little Clifford Ann Creed of Opelousas, La., another 17-year-old who relaxes before a match by playing with a yo-yo, wore a coonskin cap while cutting up Mrs. Elaine F. Woolworth, Noroton, Conn., 8 and 7. Clifford Ann shot 1-over-par 37 on the front nine.

* * *

A 103-pound Louisiana girl today ran into a really rough match player, Barbara McIntire, Toledo, Ohio, who lost the playoff to pro Kathy Cornelius in the Women's National Open. Barbara whipped Marcie Manley, Indianapolis, yesterday, 6 and 4.

* * *

Anne Quast, 19-year-old Western women's champion, was 1 under par for 14 holes in a 6 and 4 victory over Curtis Cup player Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore. Today Anne faced another Curtis Cupper, Barbara Romack, Sacramento, Calif., 1954 winner of the USGA Women's Amateur tournament.

* * *

Margaret (Wiffi) Smith, also 19, entered this tourney as a favorite after capturing the British and French titles this spring. But yesterday she looked as if she could have used the experience she missed by passing up three major U.S. tournaments this summer.

Wiffi was five strokes over par and had to play an extra hole to get past 51-year-old Mrs. Harrison Flippin, non-playing captain of the U.S. Curtis Cup team.

* * *

Only two Michigan entries remained in the running today.

Beside Wiffie Smith there was Mrs. Carl B. Tuttle of Detroit, who defeated Mrs. Charles E. Ray of Indianapolis, 7 and 5.

Those falling by the wayside yesterday were:

Margaret Watkins, Grosse Pointe Farms, who lost to Mrs. Mary Ann Reynolds of Albany, Ga., 4 and 3.

Helen J. Grinnell of Detroit, who bowed 1-up to Mrs. Philip Cudone of Montclair, N. J.

Mary Agnes Wall of Menominee, who lost 4 and 3 to Mrs. John Pennington of Williamsville, N. Y.

$672,000 to Michigan

LANSING — State forests returned a record high of $672,000 to the people of Michigan through the sale of wood products during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1956.

State forest revenue was $81,000 more than the previous record, set in the 1954-55 fiscal year. Money from the sale of wood products from state forests is used for reforestation.

Williams Leads Mantle in Race for Bat Crown

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ted Williams of the Red Sox today held a six-point lead over the Yankees' Mickey Mantle in the torrid American League batting race.

Williams collected three hits, including a home run, in four at bats in last night's game against Kansas City. He upped his average to .356, and with 368 times at bat, needs 32 in nine games to qualify for the championship.

Mantle had a single in addition to his pennant-clinching homer against the White Sox. His average remained at .350.

Problem for Terps

Army Calls Up Ace Back

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Quarterback Frank Tamburello and the University of Maryand's football aggregation today faced a problem posed by the selective Service Board ordered Tamburelboys from Syracuse on the other.

Yesterday the State Selective Service Board orderes Tamburello, the school's senior quarterback and sparkplug of last year's third undefeated Terrapin season in five years, to report for military service Oct. 1.

* * *

The big question was whether Tamburello would play in Saturday's opener here against Syracuse in order to save his eligibility for any time he might return to Maryland. As a senior, if he plays so much as one minute he would be barred from ever playing again for Maryland.

Last night neither Tamburello nor Head Coach Tommy Mont had any decision to announce, Mont said he was "very shocked" by the sudden conclusion of the drawn out draft case, and that he was leaving it entirely up to Tamburello as far as playing Saturday was concerned. Syracuse, which had a 5-3 record last year, is not in the class of a major menace, but it's not regarded as a push-over, either.

Best Fishing in Fall

Bird Outlook Also Bright

BY JACK PATTERSON

This column's nomination for top perch fisherman of the season must go to Byron Cole of Sylvan Shores Drive. We saw some samples of his handiwork, taken recently from Burt Lake. Among the largest fish were several that stretched a good 15 inches. Those are perch. Small minnows, fished with a fly rod in about 12 feet of water did the business.

PATTERSON

While busily hauling in outsize perch, By also took a limit of nice walleyes and had his hands full releasing scads of pike which ran up to four pounds or so. This experience serves as a reminder that the bigger northern lakes like Burt, Mullet, Black, etc. offer their best fishing in the fall when most everyone has put away his fishing tools for the season.

* * *

Rainbow runs in open streams are slow but should pick up as fall progresses and should reach a peak about the time snow begins to fly.

* * *

We've received a lot of inquiries about the outlook for grouse and pheasant hunting during the season which opens Oct. 1. Checked with Andy Ammann of the state game division for the latest word and there appears to be little change from earlier estimates. Ruffed grouse on an earlier census appeared to be slightly up in the Upper Peninsula, steady to down somewhat in the upper half of the Lower and about the same as last year in the southern part of the Lower. Latest rural carrier census, dated Monday, shows no significant change. Grouse generally had a good breeding season with good broods and a good survival rate.

* * *

It should be mentioned that even though the northern part of the Lower still appears to be suffering from a cyclical decline when viewed as an entire area, hunters shouldn't be discouraged.

* * *

Last year, conditions were much the same but there were many regions within the "depressed" area where birds were rather plentiful, shooting good.

Sharptails in the U.P. enjoyed a good nesting season and a high survival rate. Though a decline is evident in sharptail population, it is not expected to register more than 10 per cent below last year's rather plentiful supply.

* * *

Prairie chickens are believed by the game division to be all but extinct in the U.P. Chickens still exist in substantial numbers in certain areas of the Lower but continue to be protected by law.

* * *

Outlook for pheasants is mixed. Overall picture indicates a decline, particularly in less-favored areas. Bad weather disrupted or delayed hatching. Hunters can expect a larger proportion of immature birds. In prime pheasant territory there does not appear to be any particular cause for misgivings as far as the pheasant hunter is concerned.

Fall Field Trial

Setters in 2-Day Test

Irish Setter Club of Michigan will hold its fall field trial Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 22 and 23, at the highland Recreation area. Entries for the AKC licensed event will close at 8 p.m. Friday.

Chairman of the trial is Tom Moffat of Pontiac. Charles Benton of Farmington, William Law of Berkley; Ted Stronski and Robert Baringer of Detroit; Ed McIvor, club president, of Dearborn and Joe Frydrych of Warren are assisting. Field marshal will be Ralph Crawford of Allen Park and M. Barringer, Detroit, is trial secretary.

Judges include Dick Wood of Livonia, Ed VanTassel of Detroit and Mack Triplet of Cleveland.

Stakes include open derby, all-age, puppy, gun dog, novice and amateur gun dog. The latter is open to all AKC pointing breeds. All others are for Irish Setters only. Novice stake is limited to dogs that have not placed in a recognized trial.

No birds will be shot in any stake. Birds will be liberated pheasants obtained from the state. Handlers may ride with the permission of his running mate.

There will be trophies for one through four placings in each stake except the all-breed which is a money stake. Two rotating trophies and ribbons also will be presented.

Contact Tom Moffat at OR 3-9839 for any further information.

Training Class Opens Thursday

Dog owners interested in obedience training are invited to attend the 1st fall meeting and demonstration of the Southern Michigan Obedience club Thursday night at Daniel Whitfield School. School is on Orchard Lake avenue, just west of the Telegraph road intersection.

Trained dogs, demonstrations of class work and other features will be offered. Program begins at 8 o'clock. There is no charge.

Regular classes begin Sept. 27.

27 Whooping Cranes Still in Existence

LANSING—The latest census of the rare whooping crane indicates 27 of the big birds are still in existence in the nation, according to the federal Fish and Wildlife Service.

In 1941-42 there were only 15 whoopers, but the size of the flock increased to 34 in 1949-50. Despite efforts by conservation agencies to save the birds from extinction, natural losses and careless or malicious gunfire have held down the growth of the flock, which winters in Texas.

'Mr. Trouble' Still Gives Foes Bad Time

TORONTO (AP) — Carl Sawatski, tabbed "monsieur trouble" in Montreal during the International League semifinal playoffs, may well have earned the English translation of the monicker in Rochester.

* * *

"Mr. Trouble," burly catcher who "slaughtered" the Montreal Royals while the Toronto Maple Leafs were taking the best-of-seven semifinal 4-1, is continuing his assault on the Rochester Red Winds as the Leafs make a bid for their first Governor's Cup since 1934.

* * *

The International League's All-Star receiver blasted home five runs last night, including four with a pair of homers, as the Leafs took the opener of the best-of-seven final playoff 11-8.

CHASING THE HOME RUN RECORDS

Cincinnati Redlegs—210 (major league team record is 221 set by New York Giants in 1947).

New York Yankees—182 (ties AL team record set by Yankees in 1936).

American League—1,010 (breaks record of 973 set in 1950).

National and American combined—2,160 (record is 2,224 set in 1955).

Solunar Tables

Here are the best fishing periods in the Pontiac area for the coming week, as set in the specially prepared solunar tables, provided by John Alden Knight. Major periods last for an hour and a half, minor ones somewhat shorter:

Hornets Build 'Cross Section' Nest on Window

E. G. Clark, 2625 Silver Lake road, has a curious piece of insect architecture on the pane of a basement window. It's a big hornets' nest that started out all right at the house sill, but became a sort of cross-section structure in which the busy household activities of the colony could be observed.

* * *

It's just like the nest had been sliced in half to reveal the cells, movements of the insects and how they prepare for the long winter hibernation, Clark explained.

* * *

"We would be glad to have any school group studying biology or natural history come and see the nest," Mr. Clark suggested. "We would like to have them call us before planning the visit." Clark's phone is ORlando 3-1785.

Boys Learn Gun Safety

OCSC Program on Monday

Third annual OCSC Boy's Hunter-Safety Program will be held at the clubhouse, D. R. Wilson Sportsmen's Park, next Monday evening (Sept. 24), 8 o'clock. It is anticipated that upwards of 300 boys will attend.

Special invitations have been extended to Pontiac High School, Pontiac Boy's Club, Clarkston High School, Waterford High School, and the OCSC Juniors.

A specially arranged program to acquaint boys with existing hunting conditions will be the prime objective. They will be offered hints and worthwhile suggestions in order to thoroughly enjoy the fall hunting season in a safe and sound manner.

Following major issues will be discussed:

Gun Safety.
Farmer-Hunter Relations.
The Conservation Officer.
Pheasant Hunting.
Duck Hunting.
Deer Hunting.

Following a brief intermission, the world renowned gun safety film, "Showman Shooter," featuring Herb Parsons, will be shown.

Meeting will be under the supervision of OCSC Officers. Conservation Department will be represented by Oakland County officers Howard Johnson, Warren Kendall, Cyril Adams, and Harold Stoll.

Plans Set for 'Outdoorama'

Final arrangements have been made for the big 2-day "Outdoorama" at Multi-Lakes Conservation Association's clubhouse on Reed's Lake, three miles north of Walled Lake. Events, all of which are free to everybody, get under way Saturday, conclude Sunday evening.

A novice gundog field trial, an all-around competition for Michigan's most accomplished sportsman, demonstrations of shooting, archery, fly-tying, casting and entertainment of many kinds are expected to provide a big two-days program.

Among ace demonstrators expected to show their stuff are Lester Coykendall, state police pistol expert; international skeet champion Chet Crites; national skeet champion, Tom Tomlinson; Ervin Ketzler, five times national archery champion.

"Everybody, including the women and children, are invited" says co-chairman Walt Horstman.

Lindsay, McCarthy Out of Exhibition

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP)—Illness will keep veteran Ted Lindsay and recruit Tom McCarthy out of the lineup tonight when the Detroit Red Wings meet the Edmonto Flyers in an exhibition hockey game.

Lindsay is hospitalized with a severe cold and McCarthy is recovering from an appendectomy.

Bucyk played 39 games with Detroit last year. Dea, a top scorer for Edmonton last season, drilled in a pair of goals in the Wings' opening exhibition game against the Flyers last Saturday.

Coast 9 Wins Title, Texans in 2nd Spot

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Houston, Tex., defeated Battle Creek, 6-5, last night to win the runner-up spot in the World Series of the American Amateur Baseball Congress.

Tacoma, Wash., had quickly wound up the championship with 1-2-3 victories over Houston, Battle Creek and East Chicago, Ind.

In a sudden-death playoff ordered to decide the runner up, Battle Creek whipped East Chicago, 7-0, yesterday. The Michiganders out-hit the Texans, who drew a bye in the afternoon, 9-7, but committed five errors while Houston played perfectly afield.

Birmingham Harriers Break Viking String

Birmingham's cross - country team handed Walled Lake a 22-39 setback Tuesday afternoon in a dual meet at Walled Lake, marking the end of 19 straight victories for the Viking harriers.

Tom Fontaine of Birmingham finished 1st in the time of 10:54 Walled Lake's captain, Charles Wilson, came in 2nd. Benn of Birmingham took 3rd and the loser's Bill Hosley placed 4th.

The Vikings, who had not dropped a cross-country decision since 1952, lost out when the Maples' Benson, Boyd and Landis grabbed the next three positions.

Walled Lake meets the Waterford runners Friday on the Skipper course.

Lions Drop Texan

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions football squad was down to 40 today, leaving just five to be cut before the National Football League deadline of Sept. 30.

Latest Lion to feel the axe was Conrad Mogourk, rookie halfback from Texas A&M. He was released yesterday.

PCC to Change Aid Code but Pattern Not Yet Set

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Changes can be expected in the Pacific Coast Conference athletic code governing aid to football players and other athletes, but just what revisions should be made remains a subject of disagreement.

* * *

The heads of the nine member institutions, with one absent, met yesterday for an exploring trip into the code provisions. Some wanted a stricter code, some wanted it more lenient.

* * *

"Nearly everybody in the room had a plan or a piece of a plan," commented Dr. Robert G. Sproul, president of the University of California and chairman of the Presidents' council.

* * *

Plans discussed included that of the Ivy League, stricter than the present PCC code, the Big Ten plan recently approved by its faculty group, and another put forth by a committee appointed in May by the PCC itself.

* * *

The PCC plan proposes a standardized work program that would cover room, board and other costs of attending school. The campus work-aid program would pay for the student's actual costs of room and board, books and laundry and $15 miscellaneous monthly.

* * *

For this the student must work a specified amount of time, with a four-hour minimum during the season in which he participates in intercollegiate athletics and 10 hours a week in the off-season.

* * *

Dr. Sproul pointed out the presidents passed no resolutions but merely discussed the various proposals. The next meeting will be held in about a month.

Boys' Pin Loop Starts '56-57 Season Saturday

Ike Expands Plans for Tour

Adds Airport Speech, Visit to Mamie's Home in Nearby Boone

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has expanded the plans for his upcoming trip to Iowa to include an airport speech in Des Moines and an overnight stay in Boone, where Mrs. Eisenhower was born.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower will fly to Des Moines Thursday afternoon and motor about 60 miles to Boone.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will stay at the home of Mrs. Eisenhower's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Joel Carlson. Mrs. John S. Doud, Mrs. Eisenhower's mother, was born in the house now occupied by the Carlsons. Mrs. Eisenhower was born in another house in Boone.

After his appearance at the national field days and plowing contest near Newton, Iowa, at midday Friday, Eisenhower will motor to Des Moines for an informal address at the airport there before he returns to Washington.

Mrs. Eisenhower has not visited the Boone homestead since July of 1952.

* * *

Hagerty said that from Boone Eisenhower will drive to the plowing contest 10 miles west of Newton, Friday. The President will have luncheon on the grounds and about 1 p.m. will officiate as honorary chairman of the contest, giving awards to state and regional plowing contest champions.

Eisenhower will speak off the cuff briefly and leave about 1:45 p.m. on the 40-mile drive to Des Moines.

U.S. Earmarks Oil for West Europe Use

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is setting up plans to ship from 500,000 to 1,100,000 additional barrels of oil daily to West Europe in the event Middle East oil supplies are interrupted.

H. A. Stewart, director of the Interior Department's office of oil and gas, at a news conference called it a measure to prevent "slow petroleum starvation."

Present were officials of state oil regulatory commissions from Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and New Mexico who assured Stewart their states could immediately step up production by more than the needed amount.

Thomas Jefferson was the first official ambassador from the U.S. to France.

Marine Recruit to Explain Punch

Corps Probers to Weigh Claim That Sergeant's Blow Caused Hernia

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (UP) — A Marine recruit was called on today for details of a punch in the stomach he says brought on a hernia operation.

* * *

The closed hearing of charges by Pvt. Donald Hamisfar, 20, Norwalk, Ohio, contrasted with the much-publicized trial of Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon last month in the drowning of six recruits on a night march.

Hamisfar was called to appear before his battalion commander and the unnamed supply corporal he says hit him in the stomach because he failed to use 'sir' in asking a question.

* * *

Marine doctors said Hamisfar was born with the hernia and there was no evidence the condition had been aggravated by the alleged blow.

Hamisfar underwent a successful operation Aug. 28. He says he was hit Aug. 23. He had been on the base only two days.

The recruit was visited by his mother Mrs. R. L. Hamisfar at the hospital last week. After she returned home she said Marines at the recruit training base here "are afraid to talk, afraid to tell you anything."

* * *

She said her boy got good treatment at the hospital but wanted to get out of the Marines, but did not know whether he would seek a discharge. Hamisfar said he has not made up his mind.

Massachusetts Dems Will Support Furcolo

BOSTON (UP) — Massachusetts Democrats nominated former U.S. Rep. Foster Furcolo to run for governor at the head of their state ticket in yesterday's primary.

* * *

The Republican slate of statewide candidates was unopposed as endorsed at the GOP State Convention.

Among several congressional nomination contests, interest centered in the 7th Dist. where Rep. Thomas J. Lane (D-Mass) own renomination to run for his ninth term. Lane recently completed serving a four-month federal sentence for income tax evasion, to which he pleaded guilty.

* * *

Lane piled up a vote of 25,182. The nearest of his four rivals, State Sen. Andrew P. Quigley, polled 12,743.

Ike, Stevenson at Plow Contest Over Weekend

NEWTON, Iowa (UP) — The name of the affair at which President Eisenhower and Adlai Stevenson will speak here this week is the "National Field Days." It is a three-day event, Thursday through Saturday.

One of the top events at the Field Days is the National Plowing Championships at which state champions from Tennessee, Minnesota, Missouri, New York, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, South Dakota, Nebraska, Indiana and Iowa are entered in either or both the two divisions, contour and level land.

The Field Days designation derives from conservation demonstrations. They have become a main event at the annual program giving examples and demonstrations of conservation of water and soil resources.

The President is to give an informal address at the Field Days Friday and his Democratic opponent, Adlai Stevenson, follows him Saturday.

Kin of Late Comedian Arrested in Assault

LOS ANGELES—The daughter of the late bazooka-playing comedian Bob Burns has been arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon.

* * *

Police said Barbara Ann Burns, 18, of Hollywood, yesterday pointed a pistol at actor Don J. Covert, 31, an acquaintance of five days. She denied it, saying she was carrying the gun for protection against Covert.

* * *

Miss Burns was released later on a writ of habeas corpus, but Covert was jailed when officers said they discovered outstanding traffic warrants against the actor carrying a total bail of $85.

Chaplin's Former Wife Weds Banker Saturday

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Lita Grey Chaplin, second wife of movie comedian Charlie Chaplin, will marry Pat Longo, a banker, in a quiet ceremony Saturday night.

Miss Grey, now 48, and Chaplin were wed in 1924 when she was 16 and he was 32.

Youngest Radioman

ASHEVILLE, N.C. (UP) — Charles Lambright, 17, has received his commercial radio-telephone operator's license, first class, from the FCC. Reported to be one of youngest persons to be licensed, Lambright is a freshman in electrical engineering at North Carolina State College in Raleigh.

Plan City-Within-City

NEW YORK (UP)—Vincent Astor has announced plans to build a 75-million-dollar "city-within-a-city" on fashionable Park Avenue.

A gleaming, 46-story metal and glass skyscraper will form the heart of the business development. The project will include a sunken garden, shops, restaurants, bank, garage and a helicopter landing on the roof.

The 1956 national price support level for wheat is $2 a bushel.

Gerber on N.Y. Exchange

FREMONT (UP)—Stock of the Gerber Products Co., a major processor of baby foods, was admitted to trading on the New York Stock Exchange yesterday. The stock had been traded over-the-counter since its public distribution in 1955. Gerber shares opened at $52 each on the exchange.

There are 175 fairs and festivals scheduled for the months of September, October and November in Spain.

Request Granted

ROME (INS) — When bank clerk Gacomo Sali pleaded for time to prove he was innocent of the charge of stealing from his employer, the judge gave him five years—behind bars.

Adventurous Boys Elude Manhunt, Nap in Woods

PAW PAW (AP) — While a 50-man posse and airplane searched for them near Allegan, two 13-year-old boys were 35 miles away, out to "see the sights" with 30 cents between them.

State Policie found Ronald Taylor of Elkhart, Ind., and Robert Wilson of Allegan, after the pair spent the night sleeping under a tree.

The boys were found 15 miles south of Bangor, about 24 hours after they disappeared near Emerson Lake.

102-Year-Old Buried

FLINT (AP)—Just five days after her 102nd birthday, funeral services were held today for Mrs. Julia M. Gundry.

Born Sept. 12, 1854, she lived to see the name of her hometown, Munday, changed to Rankin, a small village seven miles south of Flint. She died Saturday in a Flint hospital. A son, Fred cox, of Rankin, survives.

Changes Small in Grain Market

CHICAGO (AP)—Price changes in grains were small during early dealings on the Board of Trade today.

Most cereals eased at the start on a light accumulation of overnight selling orders. Once these were satisfied the market stabilized and some futures climbed back above the previous close.

Trade attention was centered largely on the closing out of September futures. This was the last day for trading in these deliveries.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅜ to ½ lower, Sept. $2.25½. Corn ⅛ to 1 cent lower, Sept. $1.50. Oats unchanged to ¼ lower, Sept. 72⅛. Rye 1 to 1¼ higher, Sept $1.52¼. Soybeans 1 cent to ½ higher, Sept. $2.34½. Lard unchanged to 5 cents a hundred pounds lower, Oct. $11.60.

Hedging pressure and scattered profit-taking caused a slight dip in wheat during the early trading particularly in the absence of any important export business. Dealings were rather slow on this selloff.

Production to Begin for Studebaker Cars

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Studebaker-Packard Corp. said yesterday it will start production of 1957 Studebaker sedans, station wagons and Hawk sport cars Thursday.

Harold E. Churchill, president, said truck production will be resumed next week.

The first 3,200 employes were called back to work last week as body plant and feeder lines started operations. Churchill said about 7,500 hourly workers will be on the job "when the company reaches scheduled output."

The 1957 Studebaker models will be announced publicly in late October.

Tito Greets Khrushchev at Belgrade Airport

BELGRADE (INS) — Nikita Khrushchev was greeted by Yugoslav president Marshal Tito when he arrived at Belgrade Airport today for a "private" visit to the Balkan country.

It was believed the boss of the Soviet Communist party intended to vacation at Tito's summer residence on the island of Brioni.

Lapeer Retarded Youth to Have New Play Area

Retarded children will get an 80-acre playground near Lapeer.

Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo yesterday turned over the city-owned land to the Michigan Association for Retarded Children for development into a camp.

The land was given to Detroit last week by Ben Lemberg, a Detroit builder, who said he hoped it would be used for such a camp.

Hardy Improving

BURBANK, Calif. (AP)—A spokesman at St. Joseph Hospital says Oliver Hardy, of the comedy team of Laurel and Hardy, continues to improve, but his condition still is serious. The portly comedian spent a restful day yesterday, attendants said. He suffered a stroke last Friday.

DETROIT EGGS

DETROIT, Sept. 19.—(AP) — Eggs, cases included, f.o.b. Detroit, federal state grades:

Whites: Grade A jumbo 60; large 54½-58 weighted average 57; medium 36-v0 wtd. avg. 38; small 23-26 wtd avg 24. Grade B large 49-53 wtd avg 52.

Browns: Grade A large 53-56 wtd avg 54; medium 37½-38 wtd avg 37½; small 25½-26 wtd avg 25½. Grade B large 42. Checks 28.

Commercially graded:

Whites: Grade A extra large 54; large 51-53; medium 34. Grade B large 42.

Browns: Grade A extra large 52; large 50-51; medium 33-34; small 21-22. Grade B large 40.

Comment: Market steady on top quality large with supplies not large but ample as demand is not aggressive. Mediums are easy as production and supply are heavy with offerings excessive in some instances and discounted to clear. Demand fair to good. Smalls steady with production declining but supplies are adequate and clearing fairly well.

CHICAGO BUTTER AND EGGS

CHICAGO, Sept. 19.—(AP)—(Chicago Mercantile Exchange) — Butter steady; receipts 909,000; wholesale buying prices unchanged; 93 score AA 60½; 92 A 58¾; 90 B 58; 89 C 55½; cars 90 58½; 89 C 56½.

Poultry

DETROIT POULTRY

DETROIT, Sept. 15.—(AP) — Prices paid per pound for top quality live poultry f.o.b. Detroit up to 10 a.m.

Heavy type hens 18-19, light type hens 14; hybrid hens 15-16; heavy type broilers or fryers 3-4 lb. Gray crosses 22-23 barred rocks 23-24; caponettes 4½-6 lb. 24, 5½-6½ lb 26-27; ducklings 30; turkeys heavy type young hens 29, heavy type young toms 27.

Comment: Market steady. Receipts rather light as first receivers are buying cautiously and close to needs. Demand to kosher butchers is very light as their needs are already taken care of for the holidays this week. Balance of the trade is moderate to slow and offerings on all classes of poultry are adequate.

CHICAGO POULTRY

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (AP)—Live poultry about steady; receipts 1,461 coops; (yesterday 1,883 coops, 200,000 lbs) f.o.b. paying prices unchanged; heavy hens 16-17; light hens 13-16; Barred Rocks 22-23; old roosters 15-16; caponettes under 4½ lb 21-22; over 4½ lb 23-25.

Royal Oak Chemist Escapes 2nd Charge

Detroit detectives say Edward Graham, Royal Oak chemist charged with the murder of a Midland grocer, will not face another slaying charge in spite of previous suspicions roused by his poem "JoAnn in Memoriam."

* * *

Detective Lt. Glenn Coller said investigation showed Graham wrote the poem about a cousin who died of polio in 1952.

* * *

The poem, found in Graham's personal effects after he was arrested in the Sept. 3 slaying of Eugene Duncan, led Detroit police to question the 30-year-old former school teacher about the unsolved slaying of JoAnn Gillespie in 1953.

* * *

Coller said the investigation also cleared Graham of having any part in two other unsolved Detroit slayings.

Even Steven in Stock Deals

NEW YORK (AP)—The Stock Market showed higher tendencies at times today but was holding about even in the early afternoon.

While most changes were narrow, a handful of specialties chalked up gains of 1 to 3 points a share.

Overall the market appeared to lack the steam for a good rally after closing in the minus column in eight of the last nine sessions.

Investors pursued a cautious course, showing extreme selectivity in their buying. Trading was running at around 2,000,000 shares for the day, compared with yesterday's 2,200,000 shares.

Attention was focused on the second Suez conference which got under way today in London. Britain told the opening session that the United Nations Security Council should be consulted "at some stage" of the Suez talks.

National Supply, ahead around 3, Visking and Royal Dutch, both up between 1 and 2, fared better than the rest of the market.

Curtiss-Wright, U. S. Gypsum, Mack Trucks and International Paper tacked on around a point.

There was a block of 9,200 shares of Northwestern Railroad, off 1 at 25½. Allied Chemical and Dow were down around a point.

Most steels were ahead major fractions, although U. S. Steel held about steady. Motors and aircrafts were irregular. Chemicals were mostly lower.

Fractional losers included Goodyear, United Aircraft, Caterpillar, American Cyanamid, Anaconda and Boeing.

The Associated Press average at noon was up 10 cents at $179.80, with industrials ahead 20 cents, rails up 40 cents and utilities down 10 cents.

The average dropped $1.90 yesterday for its biggest loss in almost a month.

UM Telescopes Monitor Sun

Picks Up Radio Waves Sent From Outer Space Toward the Earth

ANN ARBOR (INS)—Astronomers and electrical engineers with an ear for radio signals from the sun and outer space plan to build two radio-telescopes in Michigan for better listening.

* * *

Prof. Leo Goldberg, chairman of the Department of Astronomy and Prof. Stephen S. Attwood, head of the electrical engineering department at the University of Michigan, are supervising construction of the units.

A 28-foot scooped-dish radio telescope, similar in appearance to a radar receiver, has been ordered and will be erected this summer, the professors report.

They say it will pivot on a telescope-type mount and track the sun across the sky, scanning a band of frequencies not yet explored.

Prof. Goldberg says that by 1957 they will have a larger unit trained on the sun by day and the galaxies by night. Support for the work is being provided by the Office of Naval Research through the university's Engineering Research Institute.

Radio-astronomy has become an integral part of astronomy, claims Prof. Fred T. Haddock, former Navy researcher.

He says it is the second and largest "window" in the earth's atmosphere.

* * *

He explained that the other "window" is visible light, which, unlike radio waves, is affected by atmosphere.

Cash Dividends by Corporations Show Increases

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cash dividends paid by corporations during the first eight months of this yeaar ran 15 per cent above the same period of 1955 and seemed well on the way to a new annual record, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said figures covering corporations issuing public reports showed dividends in August amounted to 293 million dollars, or a gain of 30 million over the month in 1955. August typically is a light month for dividend payments.

This gain brought total dividends paid in the first eight months to $6,400,000,000, compared with $5,564,000,000 for the smilar period a year ago. This was a gain of about 819 million dollars.

The report showed dividends were up for nearly every industry group with automobiles and nonferrous metals showing the biggest gains. Advances of 10 to 20 per cent were shown by most of the other manufacturing groups.

Bendix Develops Electronic Injector

DETROIT (AP) — The Bendix Corp. has developed a fuel injection system for automobiles that operates electronically. The system is called "electrojector."

* * *

It uses transistors. Bendix officials describe it as the first application of electronics to basic automobile performance and say that it provides a practical solution to the problem of supplying a precisely synchronized supply to each engine cylinder under every possible operating condition.

It is said to be the first injection system which does not require a special drive off the engine.

Malcolm P. Ferguson, Bendix president, said the system provides an additional 10 to 20 horsepower compared to the latest four-barrel carburetor. He added that it achieves quicker starts and warm-ups and eliminates the "smog" problem created by unburned fuel exhausted from the engine and that it is a system with a minimum of moving parts.

U.N. Lawyers Seek a Ruling on Sea Rights

GENEVA (INS)—United Nations experts on international law want to see upheld the traditional principles of the freedom of the seas and believe that territorial waters should be limited to 12 miles from shore.

* * *

In its latest report to the U.N. General Assembly, the International Law Commission bluntly declared: "No State may purport to subject any part of the high seas to its sovereignty."

It called for the maintenance of the basic rights of freedom of navigation, freedom of fisheries, freedom of lying underwater cables and pipelines and freedom of air traffic over the seas.

The commission agreed that international law does not permit the "territorial sea" to be extended beyond a distance of 12 miles.

* * *

While the U.N. body's recommendations have no binding power, they are held significant in that they reflect the firm opposition of an authoritative group of experts to recent practices tending to extend the authority of States to the open seas.

Surviving Mrs. Ignasiak are her husband, Harry; two children, Albert and Joan, both at home; two brothers, Henry Van Havel and Maurice Van Havel, both of Utica; two sisters, Mrs. Alice Howcroft of Richmond and Mrs. Susan Crombiz of Detroit; and her father and stepmother, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Van Havel.

Oakland Hardwaremen Plan Monday Meeting

Members of the Oakland County District, Michigan Retail Hardware Assn., will meet Monday at Aunt Fanny's Restaurant at 2244 N. Woodward Ave. in Royal Oak.

A session for store owners and managers is scheduled from 3 p.m. to 6, according to William Hiltz, of Berkley, who is chairman. A dinner meeting is at 7, he said.

Iraq's wheat production climbed to 900,000 tons in 1955 from 480,000 in 1954.

Detroit Police Ticket Youths

Jaywalking Summonses Cut Down on Accidents for City Children

DETROIT (INS)—Public safety officers have instituted a plan to give children traffic tickets and so far, the plan has been 100 per cent effective.

* * *

In June 115 tickets were issued to youngsters for jaywalking, running from between parked cars, playing ball in the street and riding bikes across busy intersections.

Juvenile officer Richard D. Drainville said, "before we started the scheme, children were hurt in accidents on an average of twice weekly. Since the tickets there haven't been any mishaps."

Any child who receives a ticket must take it to his parents who are required to sign it and mail it to the police department. Drainville explained:

"This has a two-fold purpose. Both the child and his parents become aware of his safety habits away from home. And we on the department can find where the trouble areas are and correct them."

* * *

After a child receives three such tickets, the parents are called in.

"This isn't done to embarrass anyone," Drainville added, "but it sure helps to straighten out the child."

Kefauver Urges Dem Food Plan

Claims Secreted Report Shows Stamps Would Ease Farm Problem

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver said today a still secret report of the Agricuture Department shows that a food stamp plan, pledged by the Democrats in their platform, would be workable.

* * *

He said the study, ordered by Congress, also shows that the estimated cost of the plan "is considerably less" than the Eisenhower administration proposes to spend on its farm program next year.

"And what is more," the Democratic vice presidential candidate said in a statement, "the Eisenhower plan calls for us to plan under our 'surplus' instead of feeding it to our undernourished citizens."

* * *

Kefauver said the Democrats do not claim that a food stamp plan for channeling surplus farm products to needy citizens would be a "cure-all for the farm problem," but he said, "It will be a mighty long step toward curing it."

Kefauver said the Agriculture Department report estimates that 1 out of 10 American families is not getting enough to eat and that a food stamp plan would increase retail food sales by about 3 per cent.

He added that this compared with an annual over-all surplus of farm commodities that has run "from only 2 to 4 per cent throughout these years of the Eisenhower-Benson farm depression."

* * *

He said the department report estimates a food stamp plan would cost about 1½ billion dollars a year.

Minister Wins Case to Retain His Pulpit

NEW YORK (AP)—The Rev. William Howard Melish, long the center of a parish feud over his alleged left-wing views, has won a legal battle to keep his post as rector of a Brooklyn church.

* * *

State Supreme Court Referee John MacCrate ruled yesterday that the Rev. Mr. Melish is the legal rector of Holy Trinity Episcopal Church. The referee said a quorum of the vestry was not present when the rector was ousted and another man named to succeed him.

The Rev. Mr. Melish said the referee's decision "means a complete vindication."

* * *

But an attorney for the Rev. Dr. Herman S. Sidener, who was chosen to succeed the controversial rector, said he will appeal the referee's decision.

Scientists Wait to Study World's Oldest Man (?)

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A leathery little man with jet black hair was en route to New York today where scientists may determine if he is the world's oldest living human.

* * *

Juan Pereira, who stands 4 feet 4 and weighs only 75 pounds, arrived last night from his native Colombia en route to Cornell Medical Center. There he will undergo physical scientific and historic testing.

Estimates of his age range as high as 167 years, but the spry little Indian cannot read or write and does not know how old he is. He agrees, however, that the 167 figure is about right.

Dr. Jose Miguel Restrepo, an authority on human age, estimated Pereira's years at more than 120.

* * *

One report has it that an 86-year-old woman in Pereira's native village remembers him as an old man when she was a child.

Doctors who examined him in San Vicente de Paul Hospital at Medellin, Colombia, reported that while his wrist joints and radial artery were those of an extremely old man, his blood circulation was that of a youngster. His heart action and blood pressure showed unusual vigor, they added.

Pereira, said his interpreter Flavio Correa, recalls events which happened in the days of Simon Bolivar, who died in 1830. Bolivar was a South American hero.

Truck-Car Collision Injures Two Persons

Two persons were hurt in a truck and car crash in Avon Township yesterday.

Truck driver Carl F. Altz, 22, of 45460 Cass St., Utica received cuts over the right eye and Mrs. Terexsa Haldeman, 46, of 58810 Van Dyke Rd., Washington, a passenger in the car, had cuts over the left eye and a bruised arm. Both were treated by the Avon Clinic.

The Haldeman woman was riding with her husband, Fred, 56, when the accident occurred at Parkdale Rd., just west of Dequindre Road.

Rock 'n' Rollers Spark GI Riot

Nine Arrested During Brawl in Club Dance at Newport, R. I., Base

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — About a dozen servicemen were hospitalized and nine others under arrest today as a result of what police described as a riot during a rock 'n' roll dance at the Newport naval base enlisted men's club last night.

* * *

Police said both white and Negro servicemen were present at the dance, for which Fats Domino and his band provided the music, but they could not say immediately whether racial issues were involed in the melee.

One source said the brawl appeared to involve a dispute between Marines and Sailors.

Some of those hospitalized suffered from deep cuts apparently inflicted by broken bottles.

The nine servicemen in custory were arrested outside the enlisted men's club in what appeared to be a continuation of fighting that began inside, where some 2,000 persons were present.

The riot began as lights of the club went out shortly before midnight.

* * *

One sailor said: "Man, it was murder! There must have been a thousand bottles and chairs flying around a second or two after the lights went out."

When the lights went on again five minutes later, the club was littered with broken glass and furniture.

No charges were placed against the arrested servicemen immediately.

Waives Examination in Bad Check Charge

A former Detroit businessman accused of passing bad checks drawn on his defunct company waived examination in Justice Court yesterday.

* * *

Benedict D. C. Palmer, 27, of Royal Oak, former joint owner of a heat treating equipment form, allegedly passed 17 to 20 checks totaling some $1,400 since his company closed in March.

* * *

Arraigned yesterday before West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle, Palmer waived examination and was bound over to Circuit Court for arraignment Monday. Bond, set at $1,000 was not furnished.

Suspect Wrapped Up —in Theft Evidence

CINCINNATI (AP)—Detectives believe a man arrested here yesterday was all wrapped up in evidence.

Detectives William Wood and Robert Melden said that when they stopped the man near a railroad yard they found he not only was wearing three suits of overalls but also had 10 sheets wrapped around him. The sheets were stamped "Pullman Co."

The man was ordered held on suspicion pending a check with the Pullman Co.

IT'S UNBELIEVABLE, BUT TRUE

DESIGN R-20—75 ft. long brick ranch house with just enough wood paneling to set off the exterior. This 1½ bath, 3-bedrm home has center entrance hall. Beautiful U-shaped kitchen with dining nook. Let us show you how the study or third bedrm. can be made a part of the living area by sliding back the folding wall, which, when necessary will give you a 34 ft. long living area in addition to good traffic circulation and a conveniently located porch you will find plenty of closets, cabinets, and built-ins. You will like the convenient location of the washrm. near the grade entrance. Has attached 22'x24' garage. All this, built on your lot or ours for $16,900.

Nixon Explains 'New Plateau'

Says Adlai Description of Ike's Administration Contains a Mistake

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Vice President Nixon tossed a light verbal jab at Adlai Stevenson today after a complimentary reference to the Democratic presidential nominee last night in a speech at Whittier, Calif.

In a speech prepared for delivery here, Nixon chided Stevenson for having asserted in a recent talk at Harrisburg, Pa., that Democratic administrations had lifted this country to "a new plateau of abundance."

Westerners, he said, know what a plateau is —."It is a tableland. It doesn't reach upward. It might even run downhill."

"The Eisenhower administration," he said, "is not content to rest on any flat plateau. Since the plateau of 1952 was reached, when our opponents said Americans never had it better, the gross national product has increased from $345,229,000,000 to $408,300,000,000. And the average gross wage of American jobholders, who now number a record 66,600,000, has risen from $65.89 per week to $78.60 per week in that same period."

A banner-waving, horn tooting crowd that occupied all 2,500 seats in the high school auditorium heard Nixon make what was billed as his first major address last night at his home town of Whittier.

At Whittier he clung to the GOP theme of "peace, progress and prosperity" and said "one good term deserves another" for the Republicans.

Josh Logan Sidetracks Discussion About Gena

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Two girl scouts sat talking in Sardi's. I was one of them.

"You like girls and I like girls," exclaimed that dynamic directors' director, Joshua Lockwood Logan 3d, "so . . . let's talk about girls.

"Or, better yet . . . just girl. Gena Rowlands!" he specified.

"This honey-haired, long-limbed blonde beauty's going to be a big star," continued Josh the Genius about the emoter from Cambria, Wis. "She reminds me a little of Marilyn . . ."

"Ah, yes, Marilyn," I drooled. "When you directed her in 'Bus Stop,' did she have that nervous stomach or didn't you notice her stomach?"

GENA

"You like to talk about her, too, don't you?" His mustached lip turned up in an understanding smile. "In England they're rapping her. Of course they are . . . she's taken over England.

"The girl is loaded with fears," hastened on the boy from Texarkana who now belongs to the world. "She's got this terrific censor thing inside that says 'That's not good enough.' If she can control her emotions and health she can become one of the greatest stars we've ever had.

"Now there's Audry Hepburn. One of the most civilized girls I've ever met! Some girls get so besieged they clam up, not Audrey. Grace Kelly's also a girl of her word. When she says she won't do any more movies, this is no phony thing. Mary Martin . . ."

"Ahhh, yes, Mary," I drooled again.

". . . probably can't be uncoupled from TV and from Brazil to do 'South Pacific' in the movies which I'll likely do. My God, she looks 10 years younger than she did 10 years ago! But Gena has as big a chance as anyone.

"The public has one year to see Gena on stage and then never again!" Josh drank the last of his coffee. "Hollywood'll take Gena and will never let her come back. Gena . . ."

"Gena who?" I said.

★ ★ ★

"Rowlands!" he frowned. "The girl I've been talking about all this time! But gosh, I see I've got to go. Thanks for coming. It was nice being able to talk about Gena this way."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . . . . .

Faye Emerson took off on another month's trip to Europe. A flock of eateries booked "farewell parties" for Jayne Mansfield but she announced the "only official one." . . . Lillian Roth's hoping to see "I'll Cry Tomorrow" on the B'way stage—and Susan Hayward says she's interested.

Red Buttons'll concentrate on making movies . . . John Houser's going to Russia to look into hotel possibilities for Conrad Hilton.

Prince Rainier brought along nine cases of his favorite French champagne . . . Gina Lollobrigida refused to join a circus parade at the Paris premiere of "Trapeze" because, "I don't like to show my body" . . . Sid Caesar installed a barber chair in his office, to cut haircutting time.

Jayne Mansfield's muscle man, Mickey Hargitay, walks her Great Dane down B'way while Jayne's emoting . . . Dancer Helen Gallagher and Frank Wise, both of "Pajama Game," will wed . . . Sammy Davis Jr. will be named "Mayor of Showbusiness City."

Actress Dorothy Malone introduced Charlie Simonelli to her parents at The Harwyn . . . Marlene Dietrich gave her accompanist, Buddy Pepper (he's also Lisa Kirk's accomp.), a $650 watch . . . Lola Fisher, who got her big break understudying in "My Fair Lady," had to postpone her trip to H'wood—still too busy understudying the ailing Julie Andrews.

Earl's Pearls . . .

Don't smoke in bed. The ashes you leave may be your own.—Jewell (Kans.) Republican.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Warner Bros. is about to release "Giant," and an exec said, "I hope the picture does better than the team did."

TODAY'S WORST PUN: Roger Price tells of the reformed gangster who studied spiritualism. He went from bad to medium.

Sportscaster Chris Schenkel claims horseracing is the easiest event to cover: "You never have to run after the winning horse, asking him to say a few words into the mike." That's earl, Brother.

Kitten Beats the Heat —in a Home Freezer

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The weather has been hot of late in southern California but the 6-week-old Siamese kitten of Mrs. Ruth Simms has found a way to beat it without finding the kitten, but when she went to the home freezer to thaw meat for the next day a loud wail greeted her. There stood her pet, shivering, frost on its fur.

Mrs. Simms placed the animal in a towel, and soon it was purring as though nothing had happened. She estimated the kitten had been in the freezer 13 hours.

English Actress Asks for Jumper When She Wants Sweater

By EMILY BELSER

NEW YORK (INS) — Pity the poor acting girl—especially when she can't speak Americanese!

★ ★ ★

Jeannie Carson is really up the lingo tree when it comes to shopping on this side of the Atlantic.

The young British actress, who is playing a Scotch miss in the new Saturday CBS-TV series, "Hey, Jeannie," has to haul an American gal friend along on all her local shopping sprees.

"At first I tried it alone," said the pert redhead, "but I soon found out my mistake. First thing I did was to go into a store and ask for a jumper.

★ ★ ★

"Now 'jumper' in plain British means a sweater, but the saleslady brought me a dress with no sleeves and very little neck! So I tried again. This time I asked for a 'woolly.' That really stopped the poor woman.

"Know what she brought me? Long woolen underwear!"

FRUSTRATED CLERK

The saleslady was very upset, according to Jeannie.

"Imagine," she said, imitating the poor frustrated clerk, "wool underwear in the summertime!"

★ ★ ★

Jeannie, who is rated as the second-highest-paid feminine star in England (Vivien Leigh is first), has had other shopping problems too.

She must remember that when she wants to purchase a plain, ordinary girdle in Yankeeland she mustn't dash up and ask for a "rollon"; when she wants a garter belt she can't shock the clerk by asking for a "suspender belt," and when her little heart desires a spool of thread she shouldn't cause turmoil by requesting a "reel of cotton."

"I went in a shoe store the other day and asked for a pair of court shoes," Jeannie related, "and the shoe clerk all but rolled out the red carpet. All I wanted was a pair of pumps as they are called in America."

★ ★ ★

The British actress also has her troubles with the food situation.

In merrie old England, "porridge" means oatmeal, "tinned goods" are canned goods, "Boiled sweets" are hard candy, "water biscuits" are crackers and "sones" are just plain biscuits.

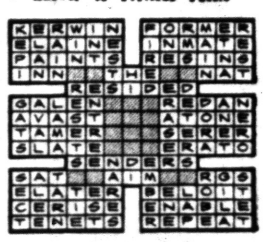

CHIPS ARE CHIPS

"About the only English term that seems to be familiar to people here," the actress declared, "is chips. Everybody seems to know that means French-fried potatoes."

★ ★ ★

At which point, Jeannie ended the interview, put on her mackintosh, adjusted her suspender belt and tripped her court shoes out into the damp New York night.

AAA Cites Safety Mark

GRAND HAVEN (UP)—The American Automobile Assn. has cited Grand Haven for its record of no pedestrian deaths for a year and 4 months without a traffic fatality.

Home Deodorants Can Be Deadly

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.—(INS)—The growing use of "little blue lights" — ultra-violet rays — as home deodorants and commercial sterilizers was cited as a potential health hazard.

* * *

The charge was one part of a strong indictment of the gas ozone, popularly thought to be a health-giving, beneficial friend of man.

Ozone is the form of ordinary air with more oxygen rather than the ordinary air we breathe—it has three atoms of oxygen rather than the usual two in its chemical structure, the extra atom coming from the oxidizing effect of the sun's ultra-violet rays.

Some mountain resorts have boasted of the ozo ne-content of their "clean air." And ultra-violet lights have been employed as "miniature suns" to oxidize undesirable odors coming from home stoves, bathrooms and to sterlize public food and drinking-dispensing machines.

WORSE THAN DIOXIDES

But a group of air pollution experts told a session of the 130th annual meeting of the American Chemical Society the ozone product of these little blue lights was a highly poisonous gas—100 times as hazardous as carbon monoxide.

And Dr. Herbert E. Stokiner of the U.S. Public Health Service said ozone was "without question" a component of Los Angeles-type smog—pollution caused by the sun's ozone-making effect on hydrocarbons thrown into the air from auto exhausts and other sources.

Dr. Stokiner and Dr. Sidney Mitler of Armour Research Foundation, Chicago, both cautioned that the minute amount of ozone inhaled from these bathroom deodorizers and vending machine sterlizers might not be a great public danger at present by Dr. Stokiner added:

* * *

"These ozone-makers are of so little value when compared with their potential hazard to health that it seems advisable to eliminate them."

CAN CAUSE DEATH

Ozone, it was pointed out in a discussion of air polluition at the meeting, can cause death if inhaled in large amounts. It is believed to affect the nervse endings in the lungs, causing the outpouring of toxic (illness-causing) body chemicals.

* * *

Recently, the U.S. Air Force became interested in the ozone problem at altitudes above 50,000 feet when the sun converts ordinary air into relatively large amounts of ozone.

Dr. Stokiner said the first cases of human injury from ozone exposure were found reoentl yamong welders using new "inert-gas shielded" arc-welding processes.

New College Course

HOLLAND (UP) — Hope College has announced its first apprentice training program this fall in a four-year evening school course which will equal two years of college pre-engineering work. Spokesmen said it will combine "on-the-job training and related engineering studies."

Japan Again to Seek Red Peace Treaty

TOKYO (INS) — Japan has announced Ambassador Shunichi Matsumoto will leave Tokyo by air Thursday on a mission to Moscow to sound out Russia on roadblocks in the way of a peace treaty.

Matsumoto was chosen as the special envoy after a note was received from Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin agreeing to resumption of peace talks.

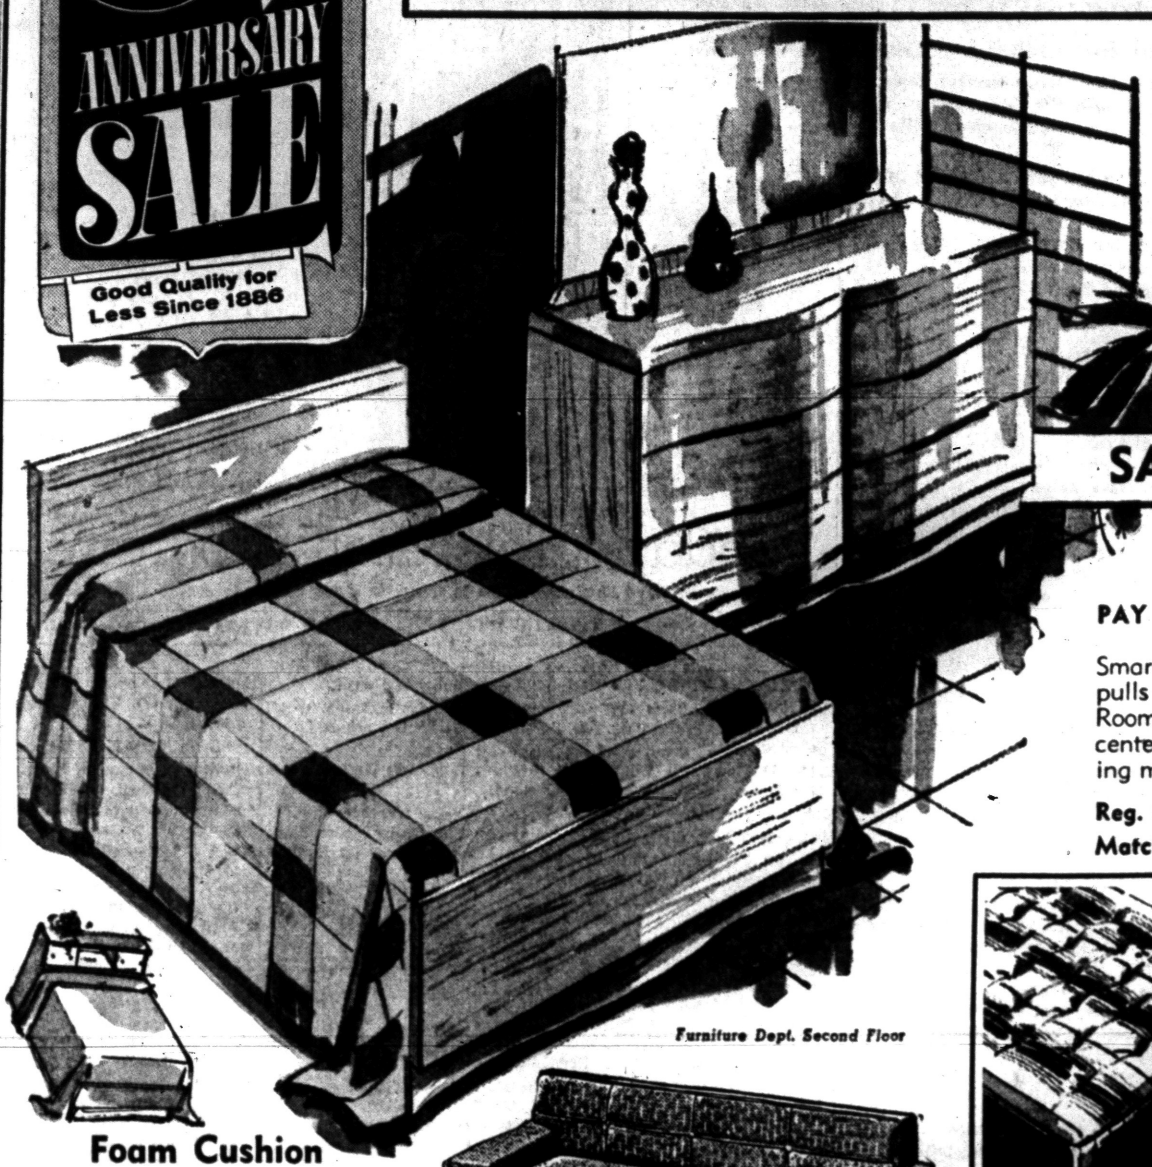

The Bulganin note, however, failed to mention Japan's request for return of two islands in the Kurile group — Kunashiri and Etorofu — which Russia has occupied since the end of World War II.
