UAW to Strike Ford Sept. 17

No Surprise, Claims Bugas; Confabs Go On

Big Three and Union Head Back for More Contract Talks

DETROIT (AP)—The Big Three auto makers headed back into contract talks today with a threat of the industry's first major strike since 1950 hanging over Ford Motor Co.

The United Auto Workers, bogged down in fruitless contract negotiations with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler for almost six months, singled out Ford last night as its strike target and set the deadline for next Wednesday.

Along with the decision to put the main pressure on Ford, an optimistic note came out of a day-long meeting of the UAW's 25-man International Executive Board.

"For the first time in five months," said a statement issued by the union, "we can see a possibility of honorable and equitable settlement on a new contract without the necessity of strike action."

Strengthened now by the auto companies' need for smooth production in the opening weeks of the 1959 model run, the UAW said its hopes of a settlement without a strike were bolstered by a change in the bargaining attitudes of the companies.

"Time finally has wiped out the tactical advantage given the companies some months back by huge inventories of new cars," the UAW said.

Ford Vice President John S. Bugas, head of the company's bargaining team, said the UAW decision came as no surprise to him.

He added that Ford would continue to try for an agreement that is fair to employees, stockholders and the public, "whether it comes before or after the deadline."

General Motors and Chrysler declined comment.

The old contracts between the UAW and the three firms expired over the Memorial Day weekend.

One reason Ford found itself the target of the UAW's strike threat may be that its total of UAW employees—about 110,000—is only half that of General Motors. The strike benefits bill at Ford would be about half that at General Motors.

Most observers figured the UAW's choice was between Ford and GM. Chrysler has about 80,000 employees.

There have been two big post-war strikes in the auto industry. The UAW struck GM in 1945-46 over wages, idling 175,000 for 113 days, and struck Chrysler for 100 days in 1950, idling 89,000 over pensions.

Supreme Court Studies Crucial Racial Issues

By The Associated Press
The U. S. Supreme Court convenes in a momentous special session today to decide the speed of integration at Little Rock, Ark., Central High School.

The decision may affect the lives and customs of millions of Southerners for it is expected to spell out a mandate calling for desegregation in the nation's public schools with "all deliberate speed."

The question is whether the court will allow more time or whether it will call for action now.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus may disclose today what his plans for Central High School are, if the Supreme Court decides that it must admit Negro students when it opens Monday.

Faubus, back from a fishing trip in the hills, scheduled a news conference about the time of the Supreme Court's meeting on the Little Rock integration question.

The Little Rock School Board contends resumption of integration at this time would mean a return to "bedlam, turmoil and chaos" and the destruction of the school system. Integration at Central High last year brought on violence, riots and the use of troops.

The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People says that threats and even open public resistance are not valid reasons for denying Negro pupils a constitutional right to attend mixed schools.

Only one demonstration occurred in the South yesterday.

In Little Rock, they were saying: "I hope they can settle it without any trouble."

That wish stood out in a sampling of opinions taken last night from Little Rock citizens.

As one, Miss Dorothy M. Davis, said: "I'm not in favor of mixing whites and Negroes in school, but I hope they can settle it without any trouble . . ."

Similar comments were made by a number of others.

A former schoolteacher at North Little Rock, Paul Cooper, said he thought the delay should be granted if the school board's reasons are valid.

"I don't doubt that integration is coming," Cooper said, "and I don't know whether the governor's plan will work or not."

He referred to Gov. Orval E. Faubus' announced intention to close Central High if federal authorities try to impose integration.

Benny Hartwick, a City Water Department employee, said of integration: "I'm against it."

What if the Supreme Court orders Central to readmit Negroes? "Then it's hard to say what will happen," Hartwick replied.

There was no indication how soon the Supreme Court would rule, but a decision was generally expected by the weekend.

The Little Rock school is scheduled to open Monday, and the court called its second extraordinary session in two weeks to hear the case in advance of that time.

Here briefly are the conflicting arguments, as set forth in legal briefs filed in advance of today's arguments:

By the school board:
1. It made a prompt start toward integration and has continued.

Here's the word today from another key presidential lieutenant at Eisenhower's vacation headquarters, which yesterday denied Adams already had quit.

However, Eisenhower assistants don't profess to know what the taciturn Adams may be turning over in his mind in the wilds of a Canadian fishing camp where he is on vacation.

Adams himself, reached at the fishing camp, declined comment on the resignation reports.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, emphatically denied a published report that Adams had resigned.

Chiang's Ships Slip Through Red Blockade

U. S. Seventh Fleet Escorts Supply Convoy to Quemoy

TAIPEI, Formosa (UPI)—A Nationalist Chinese sea convoy, escorted by U. S. Seventh Fleet warships, broke through the Communist blockade of Quemoy today and unloaded part of their cargo on a sandy beach amidst a rain of high explosive shells.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the Communists hurled more than 57,700 shells at all the Quemoy Islands during and after the convoy unloading operation. The total set a one-day record in the small war in the Formosa Strait to date.

The American ships did not cross the invisible three-mile offshore line drawn by the U. S. government to keep them out of range of Communist artillery fire and to avoid direct participation in the Quemoy defense.

But three Nationalist landing ships dashed the last three miles to shore alone, unloaded their cargo amidst a hail of Red artillery fire, and raced back into the safety of the Formosa Strait without being hit.

Red shore batteries half-encircling the Quemoy Island complex held their fire until three Nationalist LSM (landing ships, medium) neared the shell fragment-strewn beach to unload.

Then the Communist guns opened up with a fierce bombardment that lasted more than 40 minutes.

"All Hell broke loose on Liao Lu Beach this afternoon," United Press International correspondent Charles Smith cabled from Big Quemoy Island.

Smith and other newsmen took shelter in an underground concrete bunker overlooking the beach during the most intensive phase of the late afternoon shelling after watching supplies unloaded.

Their shelter received several direct hits which shook the underground foundation so violently that a typewriter on which Smith was writing an eyewitness dispatch leaped from a flimsy table.

Aboard the U. S. S. Midway off Formosa, the commander of the U. S. 7th Fleet said today it is entirely up to Peking whether a shooting war breaks out in the Formosa Strait between the United States and Red China.

Conferring for hours with their attorneys, the couple emerged with a brief, bleak statement that the marriage Hollywood/once considered the "ideal" wedding of "the young couple next door" was threatened.

"A separation exists between Debbie and Eddie," the statement reported. "No further action is being taken at this time."

Did they plan to get a divorce? What was the cause of their trouble—Elizabeth Taylor?

These and other questions like them designed to let the world peek into the private life of a famous couple went unanswered. At least for the present.

Friends said Debbie went to Palm Springs. Eddie was reported staying with a friend in Hollywood, and Elizabeth wasn't at her rented Bel Air home.

Returning to her West Los Angeles home after the separation announcement, Miss Reynolds told reporters she had nothing to add to the joint announcement. Then, she said she still loved Eddie.

The speculation continued as to what caused the breakup of the couple's marriage which began Sept. 26, 1955, at Grossinger, N.Y., with vows that they would have six children and "never be apart."

Gossips wondered if Miss Taylor, lovely widow of flamboyant Mike Todd, wasn't the third side of a marital triangle when Fisher squirmed her around New York night clubs.

Planned to Surrender

GEORGE E. STANSFIELD

City Probationer Confesses After Arrest on Tip

Description of Auto in Pontiac Press Put Police on Track

Acting on a tip, Pontiac police last night arrested the hit-run driver who killed a pedestrian in Waterford Township at 10:30 Tuesday night.

Police seized George E. Stansfield, 31, of 22 Augusta St., not knowing he planned to surrender himself today. They traced him through his car, parked at a friend's house at 59 Chamberlain St.

Stansfield, a mechanic, was sought after a resident of Chamberlain came to the police station at 9:45 last night and said the car, parked in the driveway at 59 Chamberlain, fitted the description of the hit-run car as published yesterday in The Pontiac Press.

Stansfield made a confession last night, according to Waterford Police Chief Millard J. Pender.

Chief Pender said he received a call from an attorney yesterday afternoon stating that he would surrender the hit-run driver to police today. The lawyer did not identify his client.

Pender said Stansfield would be arraigned today on a charge of leaving the scene of an injury accident.

Stansfield told Pender that he was driving north on U.S. 10 headed for Drayton Plains when he suddenly saw the victim, Elmer Robinson Jr., 28, of Benton, Ark., in front of him.

He said he could not stop in time, hit the man and heard a loud thump. He said he kept driving because he was on probation for assault and battery in Waterford Township and was afraid to stop.

Stansfield told Pender he circled around and drove past the scene of the accident without stopping and then went to his friend's home, where he left the car.

Pender also took statements from the victim's uncle, James Robinson of Portland, Ark., and a friend whose name was withheld.

They said they had been drinking with Robinson at a Pontiac bar (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Grand Jury Ruling Here Hits Law, Says Adams

Refusal of Oakland County judges to grant a grand jury probe of the Frank Kierdorf case has all but killed Michigan's one-man grand jury law, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams declared yesterday.

But Judge Frank L. Doty doesn't agree. "It was all but killed when the petition was laid in our laps," the presiding judge remarked.

"The law needs revising, there's no question about that," Judge Doty commented when he learned of Adams' statement.

Adams, who was ordered into the 38-day Kierdorf investigation as coordinator by Gov. Williams, appeared before a state legislative committee studying possible changes in the law.

The committee began a series of meetings Wednesday in Mt. Clemens.

The attorney general, who left Pontiac Tuesday disappointed and surprised over the decision of the four Circuit Court judges, suggested four major changes in the law.

1—Attorneys should be prohibited from representing more than one witness called by a grand jury.

2—Defendants should be informed of the testimony of their accusers.

3—The state Supreme Court should be empowered to determine the duration of a one-man grand jury investigation, and the present six-month time limits should be abolished.

4—Petitions for a grand jury should be decided by one judge instead of the entire bench.

The Oakland bench denied a petition of Adams and Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, saying the Kierdorf case centered more in Genesee county, the jury probe would be "time consuming" and expensive, and that most likely the investigation wouldn't uncover any new leads not known already from past investigations.

Hospital Needs More Repairs

Bids for Remodeling at Pontiac General Near $500,000

The Pontiac General Hospital expansion program was faced with a new financial crisis today as it appeared that remodeling costs may soar to as much as one half million dollars more than anticipated.

That was the price tag which contractors put yesterday on replacing defective or worn out heating, plumbing and lighting systems in the original hospital building.

Although city and hospital officials were confident that the added cost could be trimmed to considerably less than $500,000, they glumly admitting that the bill was going to be big.

How and if the extra money was going to be raised was still an unanswered question today.

Lose Appeal to Halt Pontiac Switchyard

Michigan Supreme Court justices yesterday upheld an Oakland County Circuit Court ruling permitting the construction of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad switchyard in Pontiac's northside.

Nine residents of the area where the yard has been built appealed a 1957 decision of the late Judge George B. Hartwick denying an injunction. The persons claimed the yard constituted a nuisance and was in violation of the city's zoning ordinance.

"The yard is not designed to serve some mere public need, but is essential for the operation of the railroad and the proper flow of traffic to and from industrial plants," the Supreme Court justices said.

"The inherent nuisance argument is equally without merit," they said.

City Manager Walter K. Willman told City Commissioners last night that the defective systems had come as a surprise and that money to replace them had not been included in the building program budget.

Replacing the defective systems may push completion of the building program to eight months or a year away, Willman announced in addition. It had been scheduled for completion this year.

Willman said that the defects had been discovered during inspection by city building officials and hospital architects.

'Ideal' Marriage Stumbles

Debbie, Eddie Separate

SEPARATED—Actress Debbie Reynolds returns to her Hollywood home after taking her two-year-old daughter, Carrie, to visit friends.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Debbie Reynolds says she still is very much in love with her husband, Eddie Fisher, despite their decision to separate.

"I'm still very much in love with Eddie," the petite 27-year-old actress said yesterday shortly after announcing jointly with her husband that they are separating.

Conferring for hours with their attorneys, the couple emerged with a brief, bleak statement that the marriage Hollywood/once considered the "ideal" wedding of "the young couple next door" was threatened.

"A separation exists between Debbie and Eddie," the statement reported. "No further action is being taken at this time."

Sunday Closing Laws Opposed

State Bar Group Says Sabbath Sales Is Matter of Individual Decision

LANSING (U) — Opposition to any legislation governing Sunday closing of certain types of businesses has been expressed by a committee of the State Bar of Michigan.

In its annual report, the Bar's Civil Liberties Committee declared that it believes "it is a matter of individual conscience whether or not a person works or refrains from working on Sunday."

The committee also recommended that the Bar continue efforts to secure a law requiring weekly reports on persons arrested without warrant, and oppose granting of authority to the attorney general to summon witnesses and examine them under oath.

The Bar's Taxation Committee recommended:

1. That the state's attorneys again offer their services to the Legislature for a general revision of tax laws.

2. That overhauling of the present inheritance tax law be seriously considered.

3. That the group oppose enactment of any gift tax law at this time.

Recommendations from other committees included ones urging strengthening of the bar's lobbying methods before the Legislature and recommending a continued crackdown on any cases of unauthorized practice of law.

Committee reports will be acted upon by the full membership Oct. 2 during the annual meeting of the State Bar at Grand Rapids.

Hengesbach Faces Arraignment Today

WESTPHALIA (U) — Vincent Hengesbach, 52, faced arraignment in Justice Court today on a first degree murder charge in the slaying of his 63-year-old stepmother, Mrs. Ann Hengesbach.

Clinton County sheriff Percy Patterson and county prosecutor Frederick M. Lewis said Hengesbach took a lie detector test yesterday and the results were unsatisfactory. Patterson said Hengesbach must be given another polygraph test today.

Mrs. Hengesbach, a widow, who lived with her stepson, was found beaten to death in a field Monday. She had been missing for a week. Hengesbach has denied any knowledge of how she died. He told police that on the day of her disappearance Aug. 29-30 he was in Lansing.

Neighbors said the woman and her stepson had not communicated with each other except by written note for six years. The two were said to have argued over property rights.

Topcoat Weather in Eastern Half of Nation Today

By The Associated Press

It was topcoat weather in broad areas in the Eastern half of the nation this morning.

Cool Canadian air continued to spread southeastward during the night, bringing a touch of autumn in areas from east of the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast. Some of it moved into Virginia and headed southward into Georgia.

Chilliest spots were in the northern Great Lakes region where temperatures dipped into the middle 30s. They were in the 40s in most of the Great Lakes region, in the 50s in the Plains and most of the Ohio Valley and New England, and in the 60s near the leading edge of the cool air.

Tropical storm Fifi, losing more of its punch, mustered winds of 40 m.p.h. in squalls today as it moved within 240 miles southwest of Bermuda.

Boy Scouts Ease Pontiac, County Slum Problem

Boy Scouts have once again come to the rescue.

Rescued this time is the City of Pontiac and Oakland County who have tried for more than a year to get rid of the eye-sore of old slum housing in Pontiac's north-west section.

The Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts said they are willing to take some 18 dilapidated housing units off the county's hands and renovate them for use at Camp Agawam near Lake Orion.

The Buildings and Grounds Committee of the Board of Supervisors studied this proposal yesterday and agreed to recommend to the board Monday that the houses be sold to the council for a minimum charge of one dollar per unit.

The standard homes, located on Stanley avenue and Kennel road, were the basis of a controversy in August of 1957 when the city and county argued over who was responsible for letting the condemned housing stand. They had been used for indigent families on welfare.

County officials are more than willing now to accept the Boy Scouts' offer as the homes, vandalized almost to the point of tumbling, could become a liability of the county.

The scouts plan to fix up the houses and use them for staff quarters, storage, a hospital and a winter lodge at Camp Agawam.

who asked if she were falling in love with Fisher.

But friends said the actress did not feel her dates with Fisher had anything to do with the dispute between Eddie and Miss Reynolds because "they have not been getting along."

Miss Taylor was quoted as saying:

"I don't feel that I've taken Eddie away from Debbie because they weren't getting along anyway."

Boyish-faced Eddie, 30, denied that he was in love with Elizabeth or that she was in love with him. Each of the three assured at one time or the other since the reports of a possible romance first came from the East that they were all "very good friends."

Fisher called Todd his best friend and was best man at the producer's marriage to Liz. Eddie and Miss Reynolds cared for Miss Taylor's children after Todd was killed last spring in a New Mexico plane crash.

The singer accompanied Elizabeth to Chicago for Todd's funeral. Recently, Fisher went to New York on business, leaving Debbie at home with their two children. Miss Taylor went East to catch a ship for Europe.

The couple were breakfast, lunch and dinner companions in Manhattan and went to Grossinger's resort near Liberty, N.Y., over the Labor Day holiday.

Fisher stayed with a friend for several hours and then went home for talks with Debbie. They issued a statement that they had a marital "misunderstanding."

There was no explanation of what the misunderstanding was about but slowly it emerged that the couple was reported to be having trouble for a long time before Fisher dated Miss Taylor.

used throughout to act in good faith. Because of severe impairment of the educational system, both present and prospective, it is entitled to a postponement "regardless of the source and motivation of the destructive forces."

2. Thousands of school districts in the South have made no step toward integration and are conducting educational programs without harassment of any sort.

3. Thus, the board says, it would be the height of irony if the Little Rock School District, having made the start in good faith, were denied the postponement it seeks.

By the NAACP, through Atty. Thurgood Marshall:

1. Neither overt public resistance, nor the possibility of it, constitutes sufficient cause to nullify the federal court orders directing the school board to proceed with its desegregation plan.

2. The case "involves not only the vindication of the constitutional rights declared in... the 1954 Supreme Court decision declaring segregation because of race unconstitutional, but the very survival of the rule of law."

"This case affords this court an opportunity to restate in unmistakable terms both the urgency of proceeding with desegregation and the supremacy of all constitutional rights over bigots — big and small."

By the Justice Department, through Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin:

The decision of the court of appeals reversing the Little Rock decision is correct in holding that opposition, violence and unlawful acts do not justify a postponement of the Little Rock desegregation plan.

There is no showing in the record to indicate that determined local authorities cannot handle, if necessary, any future disturbances occurring in or around Central High.

earlier in the evening, and then went to the Dixie Bar across the street from the Jack O'Hearts Bar, 2585 Dixie Highway.

The witnesses said that Robinson told them he was going to the Jack O'Hearts Bar for something to eat.

When they entered the bar he ordered a beer instead of food, left the beer untouched, and started to cross back to the Dixie Bar when he was hit.

The witnesses estimated Robinson had consumed eight beers and two shots of whisky during the evening. Chief Pender said:

Stanfield's car, a dark blue 1951 Ford, was found to bear Robinson's fingerprints on the right fender which was badly damaged.

Police recovered parts of the headlight of the car that hit Robinson who suffered a broken neck and died instantly.

Robinson was employed as a cook with a construction gang working for the Globe Contracting Co. of Detroit. He was assigned to the Grand Trunk Railway camp on W. Sheffield at Baldwin Ave.

He was unmarried and had been in the Pontiac area only a short time, living at the camp.

The Day in Birmingham

Adult Education Program Offers College Courses

BIRMINGHAM — Two college-level courses will be offered this year in the Birmingham adult education program, sponsored by the Board of Education.

Sessions will begin between Sept. 29 and Oct. 6 and will be held from 8 to 10 p.m. at Birmingham High School.

Starting dates for each course are listed at the Board of Education office in Old Hill School on Chester street.

In cooperation with Michigan State University, the new courses will be "Botany for Gardeners" and "Philosophers in Society." Non-credit classes, they are an attempt to bring subjects of the liberal arts college level to adult education programs.

Henry L. R. Chapman, Americas professor of botany at MSU, will teach the gardener group. Educated in England at the Kew Botanic Gardens School, he has been at the university for nearly 25 years.

Dr. William J. Callahan, also of MSU, will instruct the philosophy class. He has taught informal adult education classes in Queen's College and New York University, both in New York.

Classes resuming this fall include basic economics, investment guidance and stock market procedure, reading skills, shorthand, typing, millinery for beginners and advanced pupils, oil painting, piano, square dancing, upholstery, wood working and metal working.

City Engineer Grover Serenbetz said this morning bids would be received Sept. 24 for construction of the concrete training slab at the rear of the Adams Fire Station.

The work is expected to be done this fall, but will not be ready for immediate use by the heavy equipment.

The city of Birmingham has received the right-of-way for a 16-foot easement between Cole and Lincoln avenues. This is for the installation of sewer and water lines and the construction of pavement to permit commercial development of the area.

Whitney Sevin of Lone Pine road, Bloomfield Hills, has been named head of the art department at Franklin College in Franklin, Ind. A former art instructor, he will take over his new position Tuesday.

Russell H. Middleton Service for Russell H. Middleton, one-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Middleton, 1910 Holland Ave., Birmingham, was held this afternoon at Our Shepherd Lutheran Church, Birmingham, with burial in White Chapel Cemetery.

He died yesterday at his home of a heart condition. Funeral arrangements were by Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Surviving beside his parents are a brother, Steven A.; a sister, JoAnn; his paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Newton of Royal Oak; maternal grandmother, Mrs. H. J. Judith and Suspect to Take Lie Tests

REED CITY (U) — Both Judith Roggow, 13, and the 65-year-old man held in her reported abduction are to take lie detector tests.

Sheriff Don Grein of Osceola County said yesterday in arranging the tests he was taking precautions because of apparent uncertainties.

Judith, who told a story of being taken by force from her playhouse Tuesday night and bound and gagged in a field, has been unable to identify the man in custody as her assailant.

State Police said a lie detector test of the man Tuesday night was inconclusive.

Fingerprints Write Crimeless Dramas

CHART FROM FBI FILES — shows identical points of comparison in two fingerprints. Comparison like this solves scores of mysteries each year as intriguing as any on TV dramas.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Fingerprints help solve scores of intriguing mysteries each year that have nothing to do with crime. Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation use the tell-tale ink smudges to locate missing persons and identify victims of fatal disasters ranging from airline crashes to attacks by man-eating sharks.

This little known public service is provided by the FBI's Identification Division which operates the largest and most efficient fingerprint storehouse in the world. The elaborate filing system contains almost 148 million sets of fingerprints belonging to about 74 million people.

The majority of these are contained in the non-criminal section which files prints contributed by more than 13,000 agencies. And agents agree that cases which these prints help solve are often more dramatic than the ones involving notorious gunmen or spies.

A typical example is the case of Gregory LaTraille who walked into the FBI's Los Angeles office and asked agents to find his father whom he had never seen. What little information LaTraille could give was immediately sent to ID specialists in Washington.

Their files contained a set of the father's prints which had been made when he applied for a job with the U.S. Naval Air Station in Seattle. The fingerprint card also listed his street address. With this information, LaTraille was soon able to meet his father for the first time.

The role that a set of fingerprints played in the case of Senora Petra Cardosa de Garcia of Piedras Negras, Mexico, is as dramatic as many TV and movie productions.

The Army notified Senora Garcia that her son had been listed as a deserter, and that her desparately needed military allotment would be stopped. Senora Garcia insisted that a letter her son had written the day before being listed AWOL was so cheerful that she could not believe the charge.

An FBI check soon led to a search through its war casualty file. Surprised agents found that her son's fingerprints compared with those of an unknown soldier buried in an overseas military cemetery. The evidence further revealed that instead of being a deserter, Senora Garcia's son had died a hero.

Caribou Travel in Massive Herds During Migration

WASHINGTON — North America has more migrating land mammals than any other continent, among them caribou, bison and bats. Weather seems to be a prime factor.

The sociable caribou is the most migratory of all deer. In late summer family units begin gathering in herds to move from tundra above the Arctic Circle to the shelter of timberlands. They generally follow a counterclockwise route. Sometimes they press on in spectacularly massive bands, at other times in straggling groups.

In the old days migrating bison formed great, surging rivers of life, joined by tributaries from either side. An army of bison 50 miles long and 25 miles wide splashed across the Arkansas River in 1871. By studying old records it has been found that bison beat out clockwise paths, some herds moving 200 to 400 miles southward in cold weather.

Though bats normally sleep in winter, several American species get the urge to go south. Those that do seem to fancy Bermuda.

Organize Fight Against Farmington Woods City

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP—A citizens committee has been formed to oppose the proposed incorporation of the City of Farmington Woods at the Nov. 4 election.

The organization—the Farmington Township Citizens Committee, Inc.—said it will oppose incorporation on the grounds the move would lead to high taxes, overcrowded schools and destruction of the community's suburban character.

Wendell Brown, township trustee and a 17-year resident of the community, has been named president of the new committee.

He said the committee is planning a public debate with proponents of incorporation a week to 10 days in advance of the election.

"By then, the issues will be clear and a public debate, we feel, would be of extreme importance and interest to the voters," Brown said.

NON-PROFIT CORPORATION

The committee has been incorporated as a Michigan non-profit corporation. It will operate on contributions, gifts and dues. Members' dues are $1 a year.

Brown said the committee plans to remain in existence after the election to help plan the future of Farmington Township.

"For now, however," he said, "our only objective is to defeat incorporation to spare all residents of the Farmington Woods area the detrimental factors that would follow if we became a city."

Elected vice-president of the committee was Donald J. MacKinnon of 25686 Ridgewood; treasurer, Richard Hug of 24780 Springbrook, and secretary, John Lauer of 32605 Nottingham Knoll. Brown lives at 29921 Ardmore.

The area, petitioned for incorporation last May, includes most of the northern half of the township. It takes in nearly 16 square miles from 10-Mile to 15-Mile roads between Inkster and Drake roads.

A 25-member citizens' committee which circulated the petitions said the plan would stabilize the area and prevent the city of Farmington from annexing part of it.

REJECT ANNEXATION

In the Aug. 5 election, residents in an eight-square mile area in the southwestern portion of the township rejected annexation by the city.

At the same time, however, a west of the city voted to incorporate as the village of Quaker Town.

1½-square mile area just north.

Also to be decided Nov. 4 is the proposal to incorporate 4½-square miles in the southeastern part of the township as the city of Clarenceville.

Medical and Civil Defense officials of nine southeastern Michigan counties yesterday launched a model program designed to coordinate medical facilities and personnel of this area in case of enemy attack.

Named director for this Region 1, as designated by the Michigan Office of Civil Defense, was C. P. Anderson, of Detroit. Dr. Otto Engelke, health director for Washtenaw County, was selected as deputy director for Region 1.

Lewis C. Jarrendt, Oakland County CD Director, said an executive committee of the region will study what medical facilities and personnel would be available, including setting up emergency hospitals, and the training of personnel and storage of equipment.

Region 1, which will serve as a guide for other regions to be established by the state, consists of Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, St. Clair, Lapeer, Livingston, Washtenaw, Lenawee and Monroe Counties.

Dr. John S. Lambie will represent Oakland County on the executive committee.

Some 70 doctors and Civil Defense officials met Wednesday at the Oakland County Health Center to formulate plans for creation of the program.

Prisoners Leave Jail to Work

Wisconsin Likes Plan for Outside Jobs and 2-Way Savings

DETROIT (AP) — Jail doors swing open in Wisconsin every day to permit minor offenders to go to work.

On payday the sheriff takes their checks, deducting board and giving most of what's left to the prisoner's family.

"We like it," John R. Gagnon, a Wisconsin prison official, told the 88th Congress of Corrections meeting here in describing operations of his state's so-called Huber Law.

Gagnon said that last year misdemeanor convicts earned $264,000, of which approximately 40 per cent went to their families and 24 per cent to pay for their jail board.

"That means a two-way savings," he continued. "In some cases, mostly alcoholics, it was the first time the man had worked regularly and supported his family."

Austin H. McCormick, a California prison authority, said "This thing should sweep the country" and that California had enacted a similar law last winter over protests of most of the state's sheriffs.

Carl Spier, of Wayne County Recorder's (criminal) Court told the corrections delegates that youths who come back from Michigan's Camp Piquette for first offenders "get along with people much better and are much more employable" than previously.

The camp, opened in 1956, is intended primarily to handle youths with a poor or non-existent home life who, otherwise, would have to be sent to prison.

Won't Prosecute 2 Who Caused Infant's Death

FRANKLIN LAKES, N. J. (UPI) — A heartbroken young father, on the advice of his minister, decided today not to bring any formal charges against two persons who allegedly caused the death of his infant son by refusing to yield a party line phone to his emergency calls.

"On the advice of my minister and family, I feel no good will be accomplished by signing a complaint against the parties involved," Robert W. Brown said in a formal statement. "They will be punished by their own consciences and their own hearts."

Last Saturday, Brown said he urged two unknown gossipers four times to yield the line so he could put through an emergency call for oxygen for his son, five-month-old Robert Jr.

When the party-liners stubbornly refused to yield, Brown and his wife, Beverly, 19, bundled the baby, who was turning blue from lack of oxygen, into their car and sped 10 miles to Paterson General Hospital.

On the wild 90-mile-an-hour ride, Brown ran into bad luck—a two-alarm fire which caused him to detour. Robert Jr. died in his mother's arms as they arrived at the hospital.

Police had said they could take no action until a formal complaint was filed. Brown has said he knows who blocked the line, but police chief Arthur W. Pickering has declined to identify the parties or even to say whether they were men or women.

EYE 'MISS OUTDOORAMA' TITLE — Vying for the title of "Miss Outdoorama of 1958" are these three charming young ladies: (from left) Rosalie Hall, 18, of 5074 Virgie, Orchard Lake; Kathy Lynn, 18, of 1793 Beechcroft, Keego Harbor; and Sue Davis, 17, of 2106 Kratage, Milford. Judging will take place 5 p. m. Saturday during the Multi-Lakes Conservation Assn. sports program at 3860 Newton Rd., Commerce Township.

The winner will receive the trophy (shown on the table) as well as a host of prizes. She'll reign over the two-day event, which closes Sunday. There's still time to enter the contest, open to girls 17-25 years old who have never been married.

VERA BROWN

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Allen of 1445 Hospital Rd., West Bloomfield Township, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Vera Brown, and John Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hopkins of Franklin, N. C. The couple will be married at 7 p.m. Saturday in Emmanuel Baptist Church.

Fires Gun at Children as Police Quiz Him

FORT WORTH, Tex. (UPI) — Police visited the residence of an 84-year-old man here yesterday in response to a complaint that he had been shooting at school children.

Officers were talking with the man in his home when he suddenly grabbed a .22 caliber rifle and fired at a small boy walking in front of his house.

"Those darn kids are always walking across my yard," he mumbled.

Police took him to a mental hospital for observation.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gingell of 4110 Baldwin Rd., Pontiac Township, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Dawn Lucile, to Gregory L. Anspaugh of Escanaba. Both are students at Central Michigan College in Mt. Pleasant. The wedding date hasn't been set.

Pioneer Alaska Gas Company

Bureaucrats Help Save Government Big Money, Keep Selves Warm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Department officials reported today economy-minded bureaucrats have pioneered a natural gas business in arctic Alaska and saved the government big money.

They also are helping themselves keep warm.

Six years ago, the officials related, the Navy drilled for oil near Point Barrow in northern Alaska but found only natural gas. Not needing the gas, the Navy sealed up the wells and departed, leaving behind thousands of dollars worth of pipe that could be hauled out only at prohibitive cost.

Civilian employees of four federal agencies were having their troubles keeping warm in Point Barrow—and they looked with longing at the capped gas wells.

If the gas could be piped into their government offices and living quarters, they thought, it would save hauling coal 150 miles by dog sled and moving fuel oil by water from Seattle.

The employees of the Weather Bureau, Public Health Service, Bureau of Standards and Interior Department decided to try cutting through red tape.

In 1956 they got a Navy waiver permitting their agencies to use the gas free of charge. The Senate Armed Services Committee agreed to this. The Navy also turned over the pipe and other surplus materials lying about the frozen country-side.

Then the Air Force lent a hand, offering the use of bulldozers and other construction gear at Point Barrow. Finally the four civilian agencies made available about $350,000 to build a 5½-mile pipeline and install a generating plant to produce electricity from some of the gas.

Commerce aides said the gas distribution system, which went into operation recently, will save the government $150,000 to $200,000 a year in fuel and hauling charges. At that rate the system will pay for itself in two or three years.

Orion Enrollment Up 219 This Fall

LAKE ORION — Enrollment in the Lake Orion Community schools up to Wednesday was 2,993, Supt. A. A. Reed told the Board of Education last night.

This is 219 more than last year's. The board voted to purchase a radio receiver alert system to be used to warn schools of possible impending disaster. The federal government pays half of the cost, approximately $200.

The Oakland County Civil Defense unit furnishes the base station, which is operated by the Sheriff's Department.

In other business, the board decided to consider purchase of a water softener for High School water system. The hardness of the water is causing difficulties with unit heaters and valves throughout the building, members were told.

Proposes Orion Adopt Electrical Safety Code

ORION TOWNSHIP — Adoption of an electrical safety code and the hiring of an inspector to see that it is enforced has been proposed to the Orion Township Board.

John Walters, local electrician, in making the recommendations, said the most of inspection is not so great that the board can afford to overlook the protection to the homeowner which an inspector would provide.

Orion is the only township in the county without an electrical inspector, he told board members.

Walters suggested the township adopt the Detroit Edison safety code.

Action on the proposal was postponed until the board can meet with representatives of the Lake Orion Village Council and the Edison company to study the code and its requirements.

The board previously had decided against inspection, believing the additional cost beyond the building permit, along with fees for plumbing and heating inspections, penalized the builder.

In other business, George Schick, Lake Orion fire chief, requested the board have the township's fire equipment inspected and evaluated by a state insurance underwriter.

The fire equipment has not had a major improvement in several years, he said, and the township population has doubled during the past 10 years.

"We cannot depend entirely on the help of other townships," Schick said.

The board approved this plan, saying it will act on the needs of the department after the underwriter reports his findings.

Enrollment at U. of M. Will Begin Tuesday

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The lineup to sign up for classes at University of Michigan will form a half day earlier this year.

Almost 1,400 freshmen will register and pay their tuition Tuesday afternoon. Registration for the other freshmen, upper classmen and graduate students will take place Wednesday through Saturday.

The university expects its enrollment to be about 23,000, about 3,000 of them freshmen. Classes start Sept. 22.

Rallies to Fight Negro Baiters

Arkansas White Girl
Quells Segregationists
With Facts, Humanity

VAN BUREN, Ark. (AP)—Jessie Angelina Evans, president of the student council at integration-troubled Van Buren High School, is a girl who speaks her mind.

When 45 white boys dropped out of classes and boycotted the school because 13 Negroes were enrolled, she took immediate action.

Rallying other student leaders, 15-year-old Jessie Angelina—who prefers to be called "Angie"—sought to maintain calm inside the 635-pupil school.

Officials of Van Buren High credit her group with doing much to keep down tension among white pupils who tried to ignore jeering boycotters outside.

A soft-spoken youngster with serious gray eyes, Angie's attitude on integration is that "Negroes have a right to attend a school just as much as anybody."

She went on record with that philosophy at a school board meeting this week after the voluntary withdrawal of the Negro students.

As angry segregationist parents at the meeting shouted objections, the spirited brownette put the question that to her was perhaps the basic point in the whole controversy: "Have you thought what you make those Negro children feel like, running them out of school?"

While members of the school board sat in silence, she told how the student council had polled 180 white pupils at Van Buren High and found that only 45 were against integration.

Looking at the group of parents, supporters of the boycott, she asked: "If we don't object, why should anyone else?"

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Evans, left it to Angie to decide where she stood on integration.

"Then they supported my decision," she said.

Angie's father operates a grocery store and a radio-television repair service. She has an older brother and sister, both married.

A native of Van Buren, Angie has never attended school anywhere else.

Angie regularly attends one of Van Buren's Methodist churches, where she sings in the choir. She is keenly interested in youth activities at the church.

She wants to attend college and become a social worker.

Dems See Big Senate Gains as Primary Turnouts Soar

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats raised their estimates of Senate gains today on the strength of surprising party turnouts at the polls in half a dozen states.

On top of their impressive sweep in Maine's general election Monday, Democrats rolled up greater vote totals than the Republicans in Tuesday primaries in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Utah. This followed an earlier primary trend in such states as California and Ohio.

On the basis of these showings, chairman George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee said he is forecasting a minimum gain to 10 party seats in the Senate. Democrats now outnumber Republicans there 49-47.

"I think we will make greater gains than that, but I have the comfortable feeling that the minimum will be 10," Samthers said in an interview.

Of the 20 Republican seats at stake in November, 12 were won by GOP candidates by less than 5 per cent vote margins in the 1952 Eisenhower landslide. One in Maine, which the GOP won handily then, already has been lost to the Democrats.

Democratic strategists say that if the trend of their increased primary strength carries through to November, they have a good chance of knocking off Republicans in the 1952 marginal states of Arizona, Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, Maryland, Michigan, Nevada, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Utah, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Democrats class two Republican seats in West Virginia in this group also. One of them is held by GOP Sen. Chapman Revercomb, elected in 1956 to fill out the unexpired term of the late Democratic Sen. Harley M. Kilgore. GOP Sen. John D. Hobbittell

Jr. was appointed to the other after the death of Democrat Matthew M. Neely.

To this list Democrats have added California and Minnesota, where they outpolled the GOP in the primaries. They are hopeful about New York and New Jersey.

On the other hand, Republicans have slim pickings from among the 13 Democratic seats that go on the block, although they are optimistic about adding a couple in Alaska when it becomes the 49th state.

In 1952 Democrats won with less than 55 per cent of the total vote in Massachusetts, Missouri, Montana, New Mexico and Rhode Island.

In two of these states, Republican candidates would have to dispose of two potential contenders for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination, Senators John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts and Stuart Symington of Missouri.

Their GOP opponents are now rated as likely to be unsuccessful, as are the Republicans who oppose Senators Mike Mansfield in Montana, Dennis Chavez in New Mexico and John O. Pastore in Rhode Island.

U.S. Studying Fish Crop on Rice Land

By JERRY BENNETT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — You may someday scoff at the idea of eating lobster or fillet of sole when you can nibble on the succulent meat of a buffalo fish raised on an Arkansas or Louisiana farm.

For finding ways to raise tasty fish as a profitable farm crop is the goal of a remarkable research program about to be launched by the U. S. Department of Interior in cooperation with the Agriculture Department.

The project stems from the surprising discovery that rice and fish go together as well in an Arkansas pond as they do on a restaurant menu.

A few years ago Arkansas rice farmers started finding fish in the water used to flood their rice acreage reservoirs. The water came from nearby streams and rivers.

Since rice farmers must let the water stand for about two years before planting a future crop, they decided to make some money during this time by selling fishing permits.

But when they finally drained the area for cultivation, they still found tons of edible fish. Even more astounding was the discovery that the soil's fertility had increased so much that rice production skyrocketed from 55 to 134 bushels an acre.

As a result, about 300 Arkansas farmers are now raising fish commercially and rotating them with rice and other crops on about 60,000 acres. Their average fish yield per acre is about 500 pounds.

Agriculture experts believe that about a million additional acres in Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas, California, Mississippi, and Missouri are also potential producers of sport and commercial fish.

But they explain that several problems must be ironed out before fish raising can become a completely successful farming activity.

One will be to determine which fish are the most suitable for culture in the flooded rice lands. Care must be taken not to select fish which will gobble up too many of the other species.

Methods will have to be developed to prevent, diagnose and treat diseases of warm water fish. Other techniques must be devised to control parasites and diseases which might strike fish before they are used to stock ponds.

Specialists also will try to learn exactly what effects fish have on other kinds of crops. At the same time they will try to find out how these crops affect the fish. Developing economical methods for raising the most desirable species to a marketable size will be studied. And plans will be made on how to harvest the fish crop.

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE Service employee is shown here stocking a catfish brood pen at the Fish Cultural Station in Tishomingo, Okla.

Other major problems are laws in many states which prohibit the sale of game fish. It's hoped these states will follow Arkansas in changing the laws so that fish farming can become a profitable business.

Agriculture experts say that fish-rice rotation also controls certain weeds and insects, conserves water supplies, and assists in flood control.

Preventing pile-ups of farm surpluses by taking land out of production is another important benefit, they explain.

Fish farming has been successfully practiced in parts of Asia since 2100 B.C. Techniques used in China, Japan and Indonesia have been under study.

Funds to carry out the research program have been authorized by Congress. It's estimated that following initial expenditures for building research facilities, the project will cost about $85,000 a year.

Old Steamboat Returns to Serve as Theater

QUINCY, Ill. (AP)—The old-fashioned sternwheel steamboat, the General Newton, has pushed its way up the Mississippi to Minneapolis for a summer of old-time melodrama. The Minnesota University Players will give 99 performances between June 16 and Sept. 1 as part of the Minnesota Statehood Centennial.

Built in 1899 at Dubuque for the United States engineers and sent to the lower Mississippi, the boat was used as a packet hauling passengers and freight between New Orleans and Vicksburg. It will be remodeled after it arrives for its new role.

Science Scores No Lasting Victory—Yet

Grasshoppers Scourge of Entire Globe

WASHINGTON—Since the time of ancient Egyptians, men have fought grasshopper invasions with every weapon they could devise—from rattles, magic spells, and clubs to fire, water, dynamite, and poison.

In recent decades, entomologists have begun to learn about the pests' breeding and swarming habits, and the world's potential danger spots. For the first time, defense tactics, based on modern insecticides, could be used for prevention.

This summer's violent outbreak in Colorado, Kansas, and nearby states is being met by scores of Government pest-control experts. In ground and air offensives, millions of acres of threatened land will be treated with the latest insect-destroying chemicals.

But the struggle against the grasshopper (or locust as it is known in its destructive migratory phase) records no permanent victory.

Every year, sky-blackening swarms of locusts eat through crops and pastures in various parts of the globe, says the National Geographic Society. When weather and other factors favor increased hatching and survival, the flying scourge may sweep country after country.

WORLD-WIDE PROBLEM

This year has seen emergency action not only in the American Midwest but in much of the Near East, especially Iran, Iraq, and Arabia.

Wherever the black legions strike, descriptions of ravaged areas recall Biblical lamentations for the lands that were "as the Garden of Eden before them, and behind them a desolate wilderness; yea, and nothing shall escape them."

Americans began tugging with grasshoppers in the Colonial era. Massachusetts farmers, armed with brush brooms, on at least one occasion swept the squirming insect armies into the sea.

Hordes of grasshoppers sometimes met covered-wagon teams moving west. They ate the pioneers' provisions, stripped the countryside of vegetation needed for their animals, and polluted streams of drinking water.

During the Civil War, the airborne destroyers swooped down on a Union Army encampment on the Little Missouri River. After reducing the surrounding area to wasteland, they ate holes in the camp's tarpaulin covers, and attacked and bit sleeping soldiers till the blood ran.

Probably the most spectacular locust invasion in American history occurred during the 1870's. Devastating swarms of Rocky Mountain grasshoppers rose in Montana, Wyoming, and Colorado, and spread to the Mississippi Valley and much of Texas.

DAMAGE IN MILLIONS

The vast wheat and corn belt west of the Mississippi is still the happy hunting ground of the nation's now most damaging grasshopper—the Migratory species, Melanoplus mexicanus mexicanus. The 1934-38 outbreak there cost farmers more than $315 million.

Against such massive depredations, a few minor virtues can be attributed to the long-legged pest with the powerful jaws. People in various parts of the world have long found grasshoppers a tasty and nutritious food. Many birds and animals wax fat and hearty on locust fare. The insects make good fishing bait, fertilizer, and poultry feed.

The strangest defense of the creatures was recorded at a 16th-century trial in England—The People vs. Grasshoppers. In formal proceedings, witnesses for the prosecution testified on damage to farmers' crops and property. Defense witnesses—nature lovers and scientists—supported the argument that grasshoppers had as much right to life as humans.

After solemn consideration, the judge held that the grasshoppers were guilty of trespassing, and subject to extermination if they remained in the cultivated fields.

PROPOSED NUCLEAR BLAST DETECTION STATIONS

WORLD-WIDE SENTINEL SYSTEM — Some 5,400 atomic policemen may be stationed at 180 posts scattered around the world if the plan coming out of the East-West scientific meeting in Geneva is adopted by the nuclear powers. The scientists are discussing the feasibility of detecting atomic explosions. They report that such a monitoring system, while not entirely foolproof, would discourage any country from attempting to violate an international nuclear test ban. The posts, on land and sea, would be located from about 600 to 2,000 miles apart. Newsmap, above, shows how many are suggested for each continent. Stations would be closest together in earthquake zones in order to distinguish small, underground blasts from the 10,000 earthquake tremors recorded each year. Tentatively, the United States and Alaska would get 10 or 11 stations, Russia 16 or 17, Red China eight and India two or three.

Vote Columbus Prize to Nautilus Skipper

GENOA (AP) — The commander of the U.S. atomic submarine Nautilus is going to get the 1958 Christopher Columbus International Communications Prize.

The award consists of a gold medal showing Columbus and $8,000 in cash. Given for outstanding contributions to sea travel, it went last year to U.S. Rear Adm. Hyman Rickover, the man who sparked the building of the Nautilus.

Genoa's municipal government, which sponsors the annual prize, announced it had decided to honor the Nautilus skipper—Cmdr. W. R. Anderson, 37, Mystic, Conn.—for making man's first undersea voyage under the North Pole.

The Genoese hope Anderson will come over to receive the award at ceremonies Oct. 12, the birthday of the man who discovered America. Genoa considers itself the hometown of Columbus.

Eighty-Four Cake Mixes Bewilder Mrs. Homemaker

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Our folder of new product announcements is beginning to bulge. Before we set off for the Food Editor's Conference we want to clear this folder. Then we'll be ready to tell you of all the new foods presented to us in New York.

In case you haven't counted them lately, you might be interested to know that there are now 84 different cake mixes on the market. You could serve your husband a different cake every week in the year. With one lone exception, all these cake mixes have appeared on the scene since 1945.

One of the latest is a pound cake mix. This is a nice cake to have on hand. It keeps well and is good to serve with fruit or ice cream, as well as by itself. An aluminum foil pan in which to bake it comes right in the box.

Kia to cake, although we call it pie, is Boston Cream Pie. The makings for all three parts — yellow cake, cream filling and chocolate icing — now come in one package.

We gave our sample package to the young homemaker colleague in the corner where we work. She reports that it was "perfectly delicious." Easy to make, this packaged Boston Cream Pie serves 8-10 people. Any leftovers may be kept in the refrigerator.

CUSTARD PIE
A real pie in the new products field is frozen custard pie. It comes in individual size and bakes in half an hour. That's just right when unexpected guests turn up in the evening.

Two bits of news in the cereal field. One producer of bran cereal has added a metal pouring spout to the side of the package. This allows easier pouring and preserves the freshness of the cereal.

The other cereal is a new one we have seen only in a picture. It sounds interesting. You'll probably find your youngsters munching on chocolate flavored corn cereal between meals. Watch for it in your favorite store.

There is a new imitation maple syrup being introduced in some stores now. It is less expensive than the maple-blended syrup we are used to buying.

Here is a tip on storing syrup, one that's new to me. After using, clean the top, then screw the cap on LOOSELY. This, the experts say, lets just enough air in to prevent mold and to prevent crystallization.

Another tip on storing food concerns lettuce. Wash it and place it in a plastic bag. But don't put it in your hydrator. Just set it in the refrigerator by itself. The folks who know say this will prevent rust. We'll have to try it this winter when we are buying head lettuce.

The last two notes in my folder are about widely separated foods — tea and onions!

Have you tried frozen french fried onion rings? All you have to do is heat them in the oven for 8-10 minutes. Serve them the next time you're serving appetizers or snacks.

News about tea is that one tea company now puts out large size tea bags. Each one will make four cups of hot tea or three glasses of iced tea. Each has a handy lifting tape to take it out of the tea pot.

And as an afterthought . . . did you enjoy making iced tea with instant tea this summer? We did. It is so simple. You can make one glass or a dozen with little or no effort.

Layer Sponge Cake
Good Idea: Bake a sponge cake in a regular large shallow pan just as you would for jelly roll. Then instead of rolling the cake, cut it crosswise into thirds. Sandwich layers together with whipped cream and berries or other fruit in season for a glorious triple-deck concoction.

Rotisserie Barbecues Spicy Spareribs

Here's a main course for your electric rotisserie.

Barbecued Spareribs
4 pounds spareribs (cut into 3 rib pieces)
1 medium onion (peeled)
2 peppercorns
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup dark brown sugar
1/2 cup prepared mustard
1/2 cup catsup
2 tablespoons soy sauce
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Place spareribs in kettle with water to cover. Add onion, cloves, peppercorns and salt. Bring to a boil; simmer, covered, 30 minutes; drain. Combine remaining ingredients. Dip each rib piece into sauce.

Place in broiler tray of electric rotisserie. Place tray on second shelf from top. Turn heat to high. Close spatter shield. Broil 10 minutes or until crisp and brown. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Jack Horner Could Find Many Plums

Having a "morning coffee" at your house? Here's your menu.

Fresh Plum Kuchen
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
6 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1 pound fresh purple plums
1 cup firmly-packed light brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in the butter with a pastry blender until particles are fine. Beat eggs enough to mix yolks and whites; add milk and beat enough to blend; stir into flour mixture just until moistened.

Turn into buttered heat-resistant glass baking dish (11 1/2 by 7 1/2 by 1 1/4 inches), spreading evenly. Pit and halve plums and arrange over dough. Mix brown sugar, cinnamon and nutmeg; sprinkle over top.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 25 minutes. Cut in baking dish, remove with spatula and serve warm with butter, if desired.

Quick Method Creaming Good With Dried Beef

With evaporated milk and cream of mushroom soup for the sauce creamed chipped beef can be prepared in a jiffy. Here's how: In a 2-quart saucepan cook 1/4 cup chopped onion with 2 tablespoons butter until onion is yellow and transparent. Add 4 ounces dried beef which has been pulled apart in small pieces, (and rinsed with warm water to remove excess salt, if necessary), and cook gently until edges curl.

Blend in two 10 1/2 ounce cans of soup and one tall can evaporated milk and heat to serving temperature. Try serving this over buttery, toasty English muffins. Makes six delicious servings.

Cranbrook to Take Registrations Saturday

Children's Art Program to Open

The Young Peoples Art Center at the Galleries of the Cranbrook Academy of Art will open its program of Art instruction on Sept. 27. At that time, classes are scheduled for the various age groups from eight through 13.

Registration for these classes will take place next Saturday between 10 a.m. and 12 noon, at the Cranbrook Academy of Art Library. Registration will be on a first-come-first-served basis, since the number of children who can be accommodated in each class is limited.

JOINT ENTERPRISE

The formation of the Young Peoples Art Center was announced last spring and is a joint enterprise of the Junior League of Birmingham and the Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries.

The project will be two-fold: permanent and changing exhibitions devised to stimulate appreciation and understanding of the visual art; and studio facilities and instruction planned for each age level.

The following schedule of classes will become effective on Sept. 27:

Saturday 9:30 to 11 a.m. 12 and 13 year old group
Saturday 1 to 2:30 p.m. 8 and 9 year old group

Saturday 3:00 to 4:30 p.m. 10 and 11 year old group
Monday 4:30 to 5:30 p.m. 8 and 9 year old group
Wednesday 5:00 to 5:30 p.m. 10 and 11 year old group

Courses are for a 10-week period, for which there will be a nominal charge.

Glen Michaels is the full time supervisor of the Young Peoples Art Center. Mr. Michaels, who is a graduate of the University of Washington, did post-graduate work at Yale University and the Cranbrook Academy of Art, from which he received his masters degree. He will be assisted by volunteers from the junior league acting as assistants for each of the classes.

Wallace Mitchell, head of the Galleries of the Cranbrook Academy of Art, has been instrumental in the planning of the project.

COMMITTEE NAMED

The overall direction of the project is in the hands of a committee of the junior league under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Wardrop, assisted by Mrs. John Bagby, Mrs. Bruce Craig, Mrs. Paul McKenney and Mrs. Pierson Smith. In addition to Mr. Mitchell, Harry S. Booth and Zoltan Sepeshy represent the Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries on the governing board.

A special area at the Cranbrook Galleries has been set aside for the Young Peoples classes.

The courses at the center are designed to supplement the art instruction provided in regular school courses. In addition to the regularly scheduled classes, the center will be available for school tours, after Jan. 1, where the visiting children will be given a tour of the exhibitions in the galleries, plus a chance to work with a variety of art materials under the su-

Gentle Firmness Is Answer to Problem

By RUTH MILLETT

"The older my mother-in-law gets the more difficult she is to get along with," writes a harassed wife. "One of the things that makes it so hard to keep her happy is that everything she wants done is a crisis that has to be taken care of immediately."

"If she wants to buy a dress to wear next week, she must be taken to town this morning to buy it. Tomorrow won't do. The fact that I have to change my plans to accommodate her whims doesn't bother her at all."

"To keep peace, I do things when she insists on doing them, for she gets hurt and acts as if I don't want to do something if I dare suggest a change of time or try to fit her demands into my busy schedule."

"For instance, if I should suggest taking her shopping tomorrow instead of today she would be sure to say in a hurt voice to my husband, 'I hoped Jane could take me to town today but she was too busy.' And then I look like a heel who isn't willing to put herself out for a poor, sweet old lady who hates to make trouble for anybody."

Maybe you've been patient too long. Next time she wants you to do something at a time that is inconvenient to you, try asking: "Does it have to be done at this particular time?" If she says it does, then ask the simple question, "Why?"

If there is a real reason, then make an effort to go along with her plans. If there is no good reason at all, say gently that you will be glad to do what she wants at the time you choose. If she puts on a hurt act, ignore it. Beat her to the punch by telling your husband before she has a chance that you have arranged to do such and such a thing for her at such and such a time.

There may be hurt feelings at first, but if you are gracious yet firm, your mother-in-law will find out that the hurt act no longer has the power to make you jump.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Athletics can be instrumentally strong in promoting good foreign relations for the United States, and Ben Snyder of Cranbrook School could be regarded as Oakland County's goodwill sports ambassador.

Snyder held the position of soccer coach at Cranbrook for many years. He is now the head track coach.

Soccer, however, has always been one of his keenest interests, and since it is one of the most universal sports, Snyder conceived the idea of giving foreign students staying here under the American Field service program an opportunity to compete against American boys.

Last year he arranged a soccer match between the Cranbrook team and area foreign exchange students and it proved to be highly successful. Maybe not too successful for his Cranbrook team because the foreign boys won, 5-3.

This Sunday the second annual game will be played and 16 boys from 15 different countries now attending 15 area schools will carry the flag of the United Nations against the Cranbrook varsity.

"This is a wonderful thing for these boys, they sure are enthusiastic about playing this soccer match," said Snyder. "It's too bad we haven't more high schools playing soccer in Michigan, many of these boys would love the opportunity to compete on an American varsity team."

Covering the past 10 years Michigan ranks 9th in the total number of foreign exchange students studying in the U.S. with 122, but in other states such as New York, Pennsylvania and California where prep soccer is played, many of the foreign boys welcome the chance to play on the same teams with the American youngsters.

Game time Sunday is 3:00 p.m. at Cranbrook and if you're there you'll hear such names as Diosdada Beltran of the Philippines, Jyo Kawashima of Japan, Jaime Tortella-Casares of Spain, Hans Heinz Wilcke of Germany, and others.

Cards Talking to Tebbetts

NEW YORK (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals are talking to Birdie Tebbetts about a job — but not as manager.

The Cardinals' discussions with Tebbetts came to light today on the heels of growing reports that Fred Hutchinson would be fired as St. Louis manager at the end of the current season.

Tebbetts came here from his Nashua, N. H., home yesterday to confer with Dick Meyer, executive vice president of the Cardinals.

"Our talk had absolutely nothing to do with a managing job," Tebbetts said, when reached at his home.

50,021 'Back the Indians'

By The Associated Press
That "Back-the-Indians" drive paid off with a crowd of 50,021 and a touch of irony at Cleveland last night.

It was the Tribe's largest night game draw since 1934, the last year they won the American League pennant. But the Indians came through with the same sort of play that has kept the folks away ever since, losing 8-3 to the New York Yankees. Two of their runs were unearned, and the third was hustled home on three walks and a hit batsman.

It was a Bill Veck type deal that brought out the crowd. Fireworks, music, entertainment, and a chance to see the Yankees, who had lost four of their last five games and seven of their last 12, reduce their magic number to five.

The Chicago White Sox, with nothing else to shoot for, padded their second place edge over Boston to 2½ games by beating the Red Sox 7-2. Washington knocked off Detroit 5-4 and Kansas City defeated Baltimore 4-2.

The Indians had seven hits, all singles off rookie Zack Monroe, (4-1), who was relieved by Ryne Duren and Art Ditmar. Elston Howard, Tony Kubek and Hank Bauer each drove in two runs for the Yankees as Don Mossi lost his eighth in 15 decisions.

Southpaw Billy Pierce allowed eight hits and won his 16th for the White Sox, his 150th victory in the majors. He also counted his 1,500th career strikeout, fanning leadoff man Don Buddin. The White Sox broke a 2-all tie with five runs in the eighth off reliever Murray Wall (7-9) with Al Smith hitting a two-run single and Pierce doubling two home.

Boston's Pete Runnels, the AL batting leader, was 1-for-4, losing a point for a .320 average—one point ahead of Kansas City's Bob Cerv, who stayed at .319 with 1-for-3. Ted Williams of Boston was 1-for-3 and remained third at .318.

Rookie Willie Tasby's first homer, a solo shot in the sixth, gave the Orioles a 2-1 lead at Kansas City. But a two-out error and Hector Lopez' 15th homer put it away for the A's in the eighth. Bob Grim (6-6) was the winner. Jack Harshman (11-13) lost it.

2 Teams Share 1st at Tam

Two teams shot sizzling 11-under-par 60s Wednesday at Tam O'Shanter Country Club to share 1st place in Tam's 2nd annual Pro-Member Best-Ball golf tournament.

Joe Thacker, Knollwood pro, and amateur partners Al Posen, Ben Zimner and Herb Charfoos divided honors with Joe Belfore, Country Club of Detroit pro, and teammates Lou Schwartz, Dr. Donald L. Golden and Max Klayman.

Each winning team carded 29-31-60 against par 35-36-71. Five teams shared 2nd place with 61s.

Tom Talkington, head pro at Washtenaw CC, gained individual medal honors among the pros with a score of 34-34-68. Talkington's round included two eagles, three birdies and four bogies.

Jimmy Johnson of Detroit came next among the pros with a 69, followed by Bob Gajda of Forest Lake and Meadowbrook's Chick Harbert, each with 70, and Lakepointe's John Dalrymple with 71.

Sixty amateurs, all Tam O'Shanter members, and 29 professionals played in the 18-hole tournament.

Joe Belfore, Lou Schwartz, Dr. Donald L. Golden, Max Klayman, Ben Zimner, and Herb Charfoos were the winners. Ben Bloom, Ben Lutz, Jerry Avison, Bill Caplan,

LAST HOPE—Michigan's last hope in the National Amateur Golf Tournament in San Francisco lies with Chuck Kocsis, area veteran who defeated John Numm of Rockville, N. Y., 3 and 2 yesterday.

Steelers Make Room for Tracy, Drop 2

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League Wednesday asked waivers on fullbacks Dale Anderson and Dick Young.

Tom Tracy, a back obtained Tuesday from the Detroit Lions in exchange for a draft pick, reported Wednesday. Tracy broke into professional football at Detroit in 1936 when the present Steeler coach, Buddy Parker, was mentor of the Lions. The Steelers now have 43 players on their roster.

WEDNESDAY'S STARS

PITCHING — Juan Pizarro, Braves, gained his first shutout in the majors with a three-hitter that beat the Redlegs 3-0. He walked four, struck out eight.

HITTING — Clint Courtney, Senators, drove in four runs in 5-4 victory over the Tigers, counting the clincher with a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

CHICAGO—Ralph "Burr" Jones, 1938, Yonkers, N.Y., stopped Mickey Crawford, 154, Saginaw, Mich., 10.

Home Run Provides 5-4 Nat Victory

Courtney's Blast Nips Tigers

DETROIT (AP) — Clint Courtney career and his 12th roundtripper has so much confidence in his ability to hit home runs at Briggs Stadium that he'll bet on it.

The Washington catcher offered any of his teammates a friendly $5 bet two days ago that he would hit a home run in the three-game series against the Detroit Tigers.

It's a good thing no one took him up on the offer. Courtney hit one yesterday with a mate aboard in the eighth inning and it provided a 5-4 victory over the Tigers and Paul Foytack.

In fact, old scrap iron — as he is known around the American League — drove in four of the Senators' runs, collecting a double in addition to his seventh home run. The Nats got only five hits off Foytack, who went all the way in absorbing his 12th setback, but all of them were for extra bases.

Charlie Maxwell hit a grand slammer for Detroit. It was the third bases-loaded home run of his career and his 12th roundtripper of the campaign.

The Senators erupted for three runs in the sixth on doubles by Eddie Yost, Roy Sievers and Courtney, plus a walk and Coot Veal's throwing error. The Tigers maintained a 4-3 edge until Foytack walked Sievers with one out in the eighth. Courtney followed with his home run.

Truman Clevenger pitched hitless ball over the last three innings and picked up his ninth triumph. The Tigers failed to muster even a mild threat against Clevenger.

Harvey Kuenn lost more ground in the American League batting race with one hit in four trips. Too, Red Wilson's hitting streak was ended after seven games and the Tigers missed out on a chance to set an American League fielding record.

They had gone nine games without an error, tying a record held by seven teams. But Frank Bolling bobbled Herb Plews' third inning ground ball. The club still has a chance to equal or break the Major League record for errorless games in one season.

Baltimore played 80 errorless games in 1937. The Tigers have played 71 errorless contests this year and have 17 more to play.

Giant Rookie's 'Dumb Baseball' Costs Him $50

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Manager Bill Rigney of the San Francisco Giants said Wednesday night he has fined first baseman Orlando Cepeda $50 for "playing dumb baseball."

Cepeda, a candidate for rookie of the year honors, was thrown out when he attempted to run from first to third on an infield out in the ninth inning Tuesday night as the Giants bowed 2-1 to the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Rigney said the young Puerto Rican had ignored coaches signals several times in the past "and I'm tired of it."

With the score tied 1-1 Cepeda opened the ninth with a single. He was cut down in an unusual double play while racing to third on Jackie Brandt's grounder. The next two batters hit safely, but the Giants failed to score.

Baker O.K. Next Year

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Dr. Joseph Finegold, the Pittsburgh Pirates team physician, said Wednesday that disabled infielder Gene Baker will be able to play again next year. Baker injured a knee in a game at St. Louis about two months ago.

Old Reliable Wing Back in Michigan Grid Drills

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Tradition is winning out at Michigan after a brief sojourn into the razzle-dazzle.

The old, reliable singlewing, backbone of Michigan's former glory, is well along in its comeback.

The T-formation, with its flankers and wing backs, has been a mere "afterthought" at practice. It was the Wolverines' style of attack last season and now it's being shunned.

Michigan's backfield obviously is geared to the singlewing this year. It has the slower power type of runner. The elusive, break-away runner—such as Jim Pace was last year—is missing.

Bob Ptacek, Darrell Harper, Brad Myers and John Herynstein comprise the first ball-tugging unit. There isn't an outstanding passer among them. But Michigan intends to stick with this foursome.

It has questionable quality on the basis of drills thus far.

"The backfield mainly lacks experience," explained backfield coach Bump Elliott.

It's coming along but not fast enough. For instance, Harper (left halfback) didn't play much last year. Ptacek (quarterback) is new starting job at the position.

Chuck Brushes Off Two Foes at Olympic CC

Carries Michigan Hopes in National Tournament After Miles Loses

(Special to The Pontiac Press) SAN FRANCISCO—Sturdy Chuck Kocsis of Royal Oak advanced to the fifth round of the National Amateur Golf Championship today.

The veteran star from Red Run became Michigan's sole survivor in the gruelling match play tournament when Birmingham's young John Miles bowed to collegiate golfer Ward Westlauffer in the afternoon after winning his morning round.

Kocsis, six-time Michigan Amateur champion and a National Amateur finalist in 1936, methodically brushed off two foes Wednesday.

The former Walker Cup player opened with a 3-2 victory over John Humm of Baldwin, N. Y., then eliminated Billy Seanoor, the whiz-kid from Bakersfield, Calif., 5-4.

"I just played steady golf, nothing spectacular," said Kocsis, whose trademark has always been steadiness.

Kocsis meets Clyde Oskin in today's morning match. Oskin, a respected accountant from Bethlehem, Pa., ousted Martin Stanovich yesterday afternoon following the latter's upset of defending champion Hillman Robbins.

Westlauffer, a senior at Hamilton College in New York, sidelined Miles, 5-4, after Miles had upended Jim Vickers, 2-1, in his 1st match yesterday.

Three youngsters test the experience of seasoned campaigners Harvie Ward, Charley Coe and Johnny Dawson in the feature quarter-final matches.

Ward, 1935 and 1936 champion, tangles with the 23-year-old Westlauffer; Coe, 1940 title winner, takes on 22-year-old Dan Morgan of Bakersfield, Calif.; and Dawson, 25-year-old Trans-Mississippi champion of a quarter-century ago, meets Deane Benham, 20, from Silver Springs, Md.

The battle for quarter-final berths went on without L. Robbins, who headed home to Memphis, Tenn., after being ousted by Stanovich in the third round. Stanovich, in turn, was sent to the sidelines by Oskin.

Dr. Frank (Bud) Taylor, who was runner-up for the crown last year, breezed through two matches yesterday and tangles with the lone foreign entrant still in competition, Eric Hanson of Toronto, Ont.

Another former champion, Dick Chapman, 47, runs into 21-year-old Thomas Aaron, the Southeastern Amateur champion from Florida University. Chapman beat Al Sams, Macon, Ga., 2-1, in the fourth round, while Aaron eliminated the National Intercollegiate champion, Phil Rodgers of Houston University, 5-4.

In other matches, Roger McManus, Cincinnati, takes on Claude Wild, Bethesda, Md.; and 20-year-old Dick Foote, Santa Ana, Calif., tangles with 23-year-old Don Bishplough, Miami Beach, Fla.

The quarter-finals are set for the afternoon.

Denver Tourney Begins Today

DENVER (AP)—As the PGA's leading money winner so far this year, Arnold Palmer is a good man to listen to about this game of golf.

The larruper from Latrobe, Pa., says a score of 271 to 273 should be enough to pick up the $2,800 first prize in the $20,000 Denver Open Centennial Tournament beginning today.

The 72-hole medal play event will wind up Sunday at the Wellshire Municipal Course. Par has been cut to 70 for the tournament with only two par 5 holes—No. 1 and No. 18.

The starting field of 109 will be cut to 90 after 36 holes and to 60 for the final 18 holes Sunday.

U.S. Davis Cup Picture Dark

CHICAGO (AP) — How does Australia's Davis Cup captain view the United States' chances of winning back the tennis cup this winter and then keeping it?

"If the U.S. gets past Italy, we'll have to go all out to keep 1935," Esca Stephens said.

But, beyond that the ruddy-faced, balding non-playing captain painted a generally dark picture of Yankee tennis prospects.

Stephens was in Chicago, in connection with the charity exhibitions by his top stars.

Blames Woes on 'Old Pros'

Denver Ad Club Hears President of Bloomfield Advertising Agency

Much of today's merchandising suffers from Old Pro-ism, Ernest A. Jones, president of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., national advertising agency with headquarters in Bloomfield Hills, today told members of the Denver Advertising Club.

"The Old Pro knows every blade of grass in the ballpark," Jones explained. "He knows what was bought in the past and feels he can anticipate what will be bought in the future. He knows everything about the public and a great many things he knows may not be true any more."

A majority of modern advertising and selling is technically good, Jones said, but it is not great because it lacks the "adventurousness idea."

"It is ironic that the Old Pro in his search for the serene security of the sure-thing should engage in the most dangerous practice of all: depending upon last year's ideas in today's market," Jones said.

"Some remarkable things are being accomplished in selling because the man with the off-beat idea didn't know it was impossible." "The irresistible force in selling is the exciting idea skillfully presented at the psychologically right time. Neither people nor corporations can stand against it."

Slight Business Rise for Dow Chemical

MIDLAND (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. says it experienced a slight uptick in business since the end of its 1958 fiscal year May 31.

Dr. Leland I. Dean, Dow president, reported on the upturn at the company's first annual stockholders meeting yesterday.

More than 51 per cent of the outstanding Dow shares were represented at the meeting either in person or by proxy. The shareholders re-elected all incumbent members of the board of directors.

Dean said that the profit squeeze "is not only still with us but has worsened." He said a major factor in the squeeze was the inflexibility of prices in the face of continually rising costs during the recession period.

Other significant factors, he said, were increasingly keener competition among the producers of basic chemicals.

Dow Chemical Co. Buys 425 Acres at Ludington

LUDINGTON (UPI) — Dow Chemical Co. purchased approximately 425 acres of land on the south side of Pere Marquette Lake, but has no plans at present for use or development of the property, Dow officials said today.

"Acquisition of this property gives direct access to lake Michigan and is an excellent site for a power plant or chemical plant, but we have no plans to build anything of this nature on it at this time," said L. N. Carmouche, manager of Dow's Ludington Division.

Graduate student Roger Price, experimenting at the Laboratory of Ornithology, Cornell University, is pursuing a special project which he hopes will earn him a Ph.D. degree. He is studying the hearing of owls.

Grains Steady in Slow Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Grain futures dealings were slow today on the Board of Trade with prices fairly well defended despite the bearish government crop report.

The market steadied somewhat after a hint of broad weakness in early transactions which included a small amount of hedge selling. The offerings, however, were quickly absorbed with only small fractional setbacks.

Wheat was 1/4 to 1/2 cent a bushel higher near the end of the first hour, September 1.86 1/2; corn 1/4 higher to 1/2 lower, September 1.23 1/2; oats unchanged to 1/4 higher, September 60 1/2; rye unchanged to 1/4 higher, September 1.28; soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 lower, September 92.18 1/2; and unchanged to two cents a hundred pounds lower, October 52.00.
