State Senate Okays School-Aid Measure

From Our News Wires

LANSING—The Michigan Senate gave final approval today to Gov. William G. Milliken's $1-billion state school aid bill, including $25 million for parochial schools, and sent it to the House.

The action, accomplished by a negative vote refusing to reconsider and overturn the earlier favorable vote, ended a 1½-day effort by parochial foes to block the bill, which is a major part of Gov. William Milliken's educational reform package.

Today's vote was 29-14, a bare majority, against reconsideration.

The Senate originally gave its approval in a 22-15 vote in November, but opponents of the parochial section had the bill held over for the second vote.

A defeat for the bill, considered the keystone to Milliken's package, would have killed any chances of passage of any portion of this year.

Parochial opponents, who had successfully blocked a final vote on the bill last night, staged a number of delaying tactics during the morning in an attempt to stall a vote today.

At one point, State Sen. Basil Brown, D-Detroit, began reading from the Book of Genesis in what he said was an attempt to explain his position on the matter. Brown is a vigorous parochial opponent.

After Brown had read for five minutes, he was stopped by presiding officer Thomas A. Schweigert, R-Peotaseky. Schweigert said Brown was merely attempting to filibuster. The decision was upheld by the Senate.

Today's vote also was a victory for Senate Republican leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, who had been outmaneuvered by parochial opponents last night when he attempted to get the bill moved.

Anxious to get the bill out of the Senate once and for all, Lockwood surprised his colleagues by securing a "call of the Senate," a maneuver in which all the lawmakers are locked in the chamber.

Parochial foes immediately launched a filibuster which ended two hours later in a 17-16 vote to adjourn.

WAS IN LOUNGE

Lockwood, expecting the filibuster to last into the night, had retired to a Senate lounge and was himself surprised by the unexpected move to adjourn.

The vote was taken before he could move to keep the votes he was counting on his side.

Sen. James G. Fleming, R-Jackson, cast the deciding vote to adjourn. Fleming said he voted for adjournment because he "deplored" Lockwood's strategy and felt Lockwood was being "unfair."

LEADERS OF FILIBUSTER

Sens. James D. Gray, D-Warren, Roger Craig, D-Deerborn and L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford Township, led the talkathon.

Bookstore Clerk Found Guilty in Magazine Sale

A Pontiac man faces a one-year jail term after being convicted today of selling an obscene magazine to a 15-year-old girl in a downtown bookstore.

George M. Williamson, 25, of 784 Auburn was found guilty by Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziern.

Williamson, a part-time employee at the Adults Only Bookstore, 12 N. Saginaw, sold the magazine to the teen-ager last April. State law prohibits the sale of obscene material to anyone under 18 years of age.

The girl, now 16 and an 11th grader at Pontiac Northern High, purchased the magazine on the instructions of Pontiac police who had asked her assistance in making a case against the sale of such material.

SUSPICIOUS

During his trial, Williamson testified that he was suspicious of the girl's age but did not ask for identification after being told by another clerk that she was "all right."

In his closing statement, Assistant Prosecutor Charles Cooper pointed out that Williamson had stated on the witness stand that he knew the contents of the magazine and that it was his job to ask for proof of age.

Williamson, employed full time as a press operator at Pontiac Motor Division, will be sentenced by Judge Ziern Jan. 6. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Ziern decided the case after Williamson had waived his right to a jury trial.

Cases are still pending against two other clerks from other Pontiac stores where the girl purchased similar magazines while working for police.

Police have requested that the girl's name be withheld.

School Center Stall Ending

By MARY SUNDSTROM

With a cut in educational facilities, resuffling of construction funds, and cooperation of the State Legislature, construction of Pontiac Schools' Human Resource Center can begin next month.

The cuts and resuffling were accomplished last night as the Pontiac School Board expressed its intent to proceed with construction of the center. The legislative cooperation has been partly provided.

The board adopted the changes in a plan proposed by administrators and the center's designers.

Board members Russell Brown and Christopher Brown were absent.

Under this plan, portions of the two elementary school wings will be left uncompleted until more funds are available. This will cut enrollment by 400 pupils.

PLAGUED WITH TROUBLE

The center, originally planned to house 1,800 elementary pupils and community facilities, has been plagued with financial troubles, namely, high bids and the threatened loss of a $1.1-million federal grant.

Designers of the project have been going over bids since they were opened Nov. 4 and found to be about $2 million above available funds, to determine where costs could be cut.

David Lewis of Urban Design Associates, Pittsburg, Pa., suggested to the board that the entire project could be built for $3.5 million, except for part of two of the building's wings.

The board approved this plan, including the stipulation that the elementary wings be completed for the additional 400 pupils when funds ($400,000 at today's prices) are available.

DEVELOPED A PLAN

Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said school officials had devised a plan to make $5.6 million available for construction.

He said about $4.6 million is available now from the October 1967 bond issue, the March 1968 bond issue, a $1.1 million grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Oakland Schools reimbursements for special education facilities in the center.

An additional $1 million could be added to the available amount by borrowing funds from the March 1968 bond issue, now earmarked for other purposes, Whitmer explained.

He said $500,000, tentatively reserved for elementary school rehabilitation and another $500,000, tentatively reserved for equipment, furniture and contingencies for the planned new Central High School, could be borrowed for construction of the center.

SMALL BOND ISSUE?

Whitmer said these two $500,000 fund additions could be replaced by their original purpose either by presenting voters with a small bond issue in the next year or two; or by selling $1 million worth of bonds in 1973.

Carryover Surplus Is Likely to Put Budget in the Black

Revenues in the Pontiac School District are expected to exceed expenditures this year, due to a surplus carryover from last year's budget of about $1.2 million.

An interim operating budget for 1969-70 of $26.1 million was unanimously adopted by the Pontiac Board of Education last night. Board members Russell Brown and Christopher Brown were absent.

About $21.3 million is expected to be available for operation this year, according to Schools Business Manager Vernon Schiller.

The carryover was planned at the time of voter approval of a 6.25-mill increase in March 1968, in hopes of extending use of the millage for five years, said Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

ANTICIPATED DEFICITS

He explained that the plan was to build up a balance during the first two years of millage revenue to pay for anticipated deficits in the fourth and fifth years after millage approval. The millage is in its second year.

The record budget adopted last night — $2.4 million higher than last year's — is not the final operating budget, Schiller explained.

NOT YET COMPLETED

He said the final budget will be presented to the board when salaries and wages for all employee classifications have been determined. Contract negotiations with administrators and secretaries have not yet been completed.

The largest budget increase — $2.1 million over last year — is in instruction, including teacher salaries.

Salaries for all personnel in the school district amount to 86.8 per cent of all expenditures. All other expenditures for operation total only 13.2 per cent.

Salaries for instructional personnel total 77.1 per cent of all costs.

Transportation costs total one per cent, fixed charges, 2.2 per cent; administration, 3.85 per cent; operation and maintenance 13.9 per cent and other (attendance, health, food services, etc.) 1.85 per cent of all expenditures.

Woman Heads Church Council

DETROIT (AP) — "Our old ways of doing things are not adequate," says the first woman president of the National Council of Churches. "There must be big changes and they must be made faster than we think possible."

One of the first changes recommended by Cynthia Wedel, elected to the church post yesterday, is the granting of a great deal more power to blacks in the organization.

Related Story, Page B-1

She predicted they would get more power in high council posts and pledged that she would be open to guidance from them and from the young and poor.

Mrs. Wedel, an Episcopalian from Alexandria, Va., was elected near the close of the interdenominational organization's triennial general assembly.

STEP TOWARD CHANGE

She succeeds Dr. Arthur Flemming, a Methodist, as head of the council which includes 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 42 million members.

In a step toward change aimed at broadening council membership, the assembly authorized council leaders to explore with nonmember denominations their possible participation in a more flexible organization. In it, members could choose what programs they wanted to share or avoid.

Mrs. Wedel won election yesterday over a Negro clergyman, the Rev. Dr. Albert Cleague, pastor of Detroit's Church of the Black Madonna, by a vote of 382 to 93.

In reaction Dr. Cleague called the council "a white racist institution" that lacks sensitivity to the "fires of anguish in people" and the plight of blacks, Indians and the poor.

BLACK CANDIDATE LOSES

Another black candidate, the Rev. Leon Watts of New York, an African Methodist Episcopal Zion minister, was defeated in a bid to become the council's general secretary, its top administrative post.

He lost to the incumbent, Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, a white Baptist, by a vote of 100 to 382.

Tax Reform Passage Seen in '69 'No State Stress on Crib Deaths'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief House tax architect says despite major alterations made by the Senate in the tax reform bill, Congress will agree on legislation and send it to the President before Christmas.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said in an interview: "We simply have to finish it."

"There would be too much confusion if we did not—for example on withholding the surtax after Dec. 31," the Arkansas Democrat added.

One provision in the massive bill continues the income surtax at 5 per cent through June 30, 1970. The current 10 per cent surtax expires Dec. 31.

The Senate is scheduled to finish its work on the bill not later than next week.

This would leave only a week and a half for a conference between the two bodies to reconcile the differences and for final action in both chambers before Christmas.

"We'd have to work late, but we could do it," Mills said.

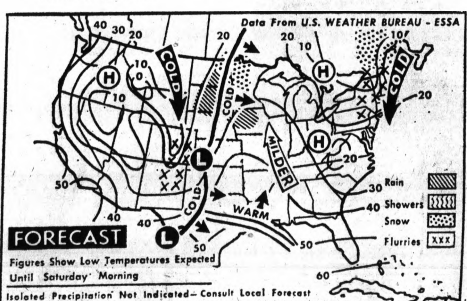

The principal difference so far between the two bills results from adoption of an amendment by Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., to raise the personal income tax exemption from $600 to $800. This

FORECAST

Figures Show Low Temperatures Expected Until Saturday Morning

Isolated Precipitation Not Indicated—Consult Local Forecast

NATIONAL WEATHER—Rain or snow are forecast for tonight from the Mississippi Valley to the Rockies. Snow flurries will continue in the Northeast. Sunny and dry weather will prevail in the far west and from the eastern Mississippi Valley to the Southeast.

In a special memorandum to newsmen, the command said armed guards to prevent desertions were reported accompanying North Vietnamese units infiltrating into the South. Desertion has been a problem in the South Vietnamese army for years.

The U.S. Command said its reports came from three North Vietnamese defectors who escaped last August and September.

Talks Reportedly Proposed U.S. Contacts Red China

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has made a high-level contact with mainland China — and may have urged that the two nations resume ambassadorial talks.

The State Department, adopting an extremely cautious attitude, acknowledged only that the U.S. ambassador to Poland, Walter J. Stoessel Jr., and "Chinese officials" met Wednesday at a Yugoslav reception in the Palace of Culture in Warsaw.

Privately, State Department officials said Stoessel conferred briefly at the reception with an aide of the Communist Chinese charge d'affaires, Lei Yang. They characterized the meeting as a "chance encounter" but gave the impression the two diplomats did more than merely exchange pleasantries.

U.S. analysts, however, remained cautious on the prospects of renewing the talks. They said they detected nothing in Peking's public posture to indicate China was ready to talk again. Probably further quiet diplomatic exchanges will be required to set in motion the machinery for renewing the discussions.

Two of them said they were pirates, both born in Ha Tay Province and both with the North Vietnamese army's 3rd Division.

One, 17 years old, arrived in South Vietnam last March. He reported that a number of men from his battalion deserted in North Vietnam while moving south and that 10 soldiers who attempted to desert were shot by the unit's officers, the U.S. statement said.

The other private, 32, said he arrived in the South last April and that his unit was under guard on the way down because 35 men had deserted.

The third defector, a 16-year-old guerrilla, told interrogators that he saw the bodies of two soldiers who had deserted from their unit near Hue in September and were captured by a North Vietnamese sapper battalion.

Since the postponement, the Nixon administration has waited for an appropriate moment to try to get the talks going again.

On Aug. 8 Rogers told the National Press Club in Canberra, Australia, the United States would "soon be making another approach to see if a dialogue with Peking can be resumed." At a Washington News conference 12 days later, Rogers said the approach would be made "at the appropriate time." On a CBS program Nov. 18, Rogers said, "We, some along the line," will make a suggestion to renew the talks.

strong in the House for the easily-understood increase in the personal exemption.

A possible compromise would be a smaller increase in the exemption, coupled with an adjustment in rates—especially the top rates on earned income, which Mills wants to reduce as provided in the House bill.

"ALL THINGS POSSIBLE"

Mills' only comment on this suggestion was "all sorts of things are possible."

The drive to enact the tax bill this year picked up even more steam yesterday when Sen. Russell Long, D-La., who is handling the bill in the Senate, moved to add to it the 15 per cent Social Security benefit increase already approved by the Ways and Means Committee.

Leaders Discuss Nixon Funding-Bill Threat 'Congress Won't Need Post-Yule Session'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairmen of the House and Senate appropriations committees say Congress can complete work on money bills this year without a post-Christmas special session threatened by President Nixon.

The President, meeting yesterday with Republican congressional leaders, warned he might call a special session for Dec. 26 unless all appropriations bills were acted on.

"The President is very firm that action must be taken," Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott told reporters.

SEES NO PROBLEM

Although only five of the year's 13 regular money bills have cleared Congress, Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House committee, said "I see no serious problem. It's our responsibility to do it and we will."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate committee, said later during debate on a continuing resolution to keep federal agencies in operation until Congress adjourns, "I think we will get the bills through before the end of the session."

But the usually optimistic Mike Mansfield, Senate Democratic leader, told a reporter "it's going to be nip and tuck."

The keys, he said, are the $70-billion defense appropriations bill, scheduled for House action early next week, and the bill covering the departments of labor, and health, education and welfare, scheduled to be marked up by the Senate committee next Tuesday or Wednesday.

Lewis said his firm's investigation of the bids also brought to light some discrepancies. He said chalkboard bids were incorrect and about $100,000 too high.

Also he said some miscellaneous metals were bid twice, adding about $50,000 to bids.

The school district can issue that amount in 1973 under state law because the total school district debt will be under 5 per cent of the state equalized valuation, explained Whitmer.

Lewis said his firm's investigation of the bids also brought to light some discrepancies. He said chalkboard bids were incorrect and about $100,000 too high.

Also he said some miscellaneous metals were bid twice, adding about $50,000 to bids.

STATE RULING

The other recent financial threat to the resource center was an attorney general's ruling that a school district may not receive direct grants from the federal government, as was the case of the HUD grant.

Legislation to rectify the problem has passed the State House and is expected to pass the Senate sometime next week, Whitmer said.

The bills must pass through both houses and be signed by the governor by Dec. 19.

If the deadline isn't met, the project will have to be rebid, causing further delay in starting construction.

Lewis said the outside walls of the entire center will be constructed, but the area for the additional 400 pupils will not have the inside walls constructed and completed until the funds are available.

The projected center, to be built just east of City Hall, will accommodate all pupils from McConnell and Central schools and parts of Wilson and Baldwin. It was designed with integration of pupils as a primary goal.

BIRMINGHAM — The salary battle between the city and the Birmingham Police Officers Association still is stalemated.

No significant progress was made this week toward resolving the salary issue reportedly both sides are about $300 apart.

The BPOA's current demand calls for a $10,000 maximum salary after 18 months service. The city's latest counterproposal reportedly is $10,300.

The award was in recognition of the Campus Center building and residence Hall at General Motors Institute in Flint, the first phase of a GMI campus development program for which Tarapata-Machabon-Paulsen Associates also prepared the master plan.

Watchdog Panel Set for Judges

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Warren E. Burger today appointed 10 federal judges to oversee the off-bench activities of all federal judges.

Three of the 10 judges, working together as a review committee, are to receive reports every three months of payments of more than $100 any federal judge acquires for out-of-court activity.

A second, seven-member committee will function as an advisory panel. This group will pass judgment on teaching, lecturing, writing, work with charitable organizations and service on boards of colleges, churches and other nonprofit institutions.

Burger's announcement said this committee will give its opinions "upon request." Presumably this means unless the seven review judges are asked what they think about an off-bench job they will give no advice nor render an opinion.

Last month the U.S. Judicial Conference, sitting under Burger's leadership, decided to reverse a ban on most off-bench compensated activities that had been recommended in a spring meeting when Earl Warren was chief justice.

The conference decided, while doing a turnaround, to have a three-judge panel receive and keep secret—reports on any out-of-court job that paid more than $100.

Burger said the two committees will serve until the American Bar Association completes its current study of revising the canons of judicial ethics and until the new canons are adopted by the judicial conference.

Dersarkissian was charged with murder, assault with intent to kill and violation of the firearms law.

The dead man, tentatively identified as Nathaniel Brown, was lying at the third-story landing when police entered the building.

The wounded man, William Miller, 57, was found lying on a sidewalk outside the building. Police retrieved him shortly after the shooting began. Miller was reported in satisfactory condition with a back wound.

Before Grand Jury Today

Woman to Testify in Tate Murders

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A young woman, whose attorney pledges she will tell who killed Sharon Tate and six others, testifies before a grand jury today. Prosecutors are seeking to indict the bearded leader of her hippie-style clan with conspiracy to commit murder.

Attorney Richard Caballero said Thursday night that Susan Denise Atkins, 21, will waive rights against self-incrimination and "tell the grand jury exactly what happened" in a gambble that her voluntary testimony might save her from the gas chamber.

Miss Atkins, charged with murder in a separate case, accompanied members of the clan as they killed Miss Tate, actress-wife of Polish film director Roman Polanski, and the others last summer, Caballero said. But he said she was temporarily insane, under the clan leader's "hypnotic spell" at the time and "had nothing to do with the murders."

Miss Atkins' jail cell conversations led to arrest in the Tate case. But the Los Angeles Times, to which Caballero made his statements, said prosecutors were expected to seek her indictment anyway.

MELCHER TO TESTIFY

Also among the 18 scheduled witnesses was producer Terry Melcher, 27-year-old son of singer-actress Doris Day. Melcher has declined comment.

Miss Atkins' attorneys said Melcher was visited by Charles M. Manson, 35, known as the leader of a quasireligious clan of hippie types who knew Manson as "God" and "Satan."

Manson was unsuccessful in seeking Melcher's help to record some songs when Melcher lived in the Tate home in fashionable Bel Air before Miss Tate and her husband moved in, the attorneys said.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Aaron Slovitz said Thursday he would ask the grand jury to indict SOUGHT KILLERS — Paul J. Tate, father of actress Sharon Tate, is shown in this recent Defense Department photo before he resigned as an Army intelligence lieutenant colonel to search for his daughter's killers. Tate, 46, said he grew a mustache and heard to masquerade as a hippie during his four-month search. He declined to say how successful he had been.

Manson on a charge of conspiracy to commit murder, and would seek murder and conspiracy indictments against at least five other persons.

THEFT SUSPECT

It was the first word that Manson, held for trial in Indio, Calif., on charges of possessing stolen property and driving a stolen vehicle, would be a target for prosecution in the slayings.

Shot or stabbed with Miss Tate, 26, at her rented $200,000 home last Aug. 9 were Hollywood hair stylist Jay Sebring, 45, coffee heiress Abigail Folger, 26, Polish playboy Wojtyck Prokowsky, 37, and Steven Parent, 18, a friend of the caretaker.

A wealthy market executive, Leno LaBianca, 44, and his wife Rosemary, 38, were stabbed to death at their Hollywood home the next day.

Miss Atkins' lawyers said she told them that members of Manson's group, who dressed in black for the occasion, committed the Tate slayings, then killed the LaBiancas to prove their nerve. They reported she said Manson was not with them.

OTHERS CHARGED

Police have said three of the indictment targets are Patricia Krenwinkel, 21, in custody in Mobile, Ala.; Charles D. Watson, 24, jailed in McKinney, Tex.; and Linda Louise Kasabian, 20, arraigned here Thursday. Police said they were arrested on murder warrants in the Tate case and were involved in the LaBianca slayings.

In addition to them and Miss Atkins, the Times said, others against whom prosecutors are expected to seek indictments are Steve Grogan, 18, also known as Clem Tufts, and Leslie Sankston, about 20, a young woman. The newspaper identified them as members of Manson's hippie-style "family."

Slovitz said Miss Atkins, charged with murdering Malibu musician Gary Hinman, with whom Manson is said to have lived for a time, told a cell mate about the Tate and LaBianca killings.

The cell mate — Shelley Joyce Nadell, 31, of nearby North Hollywood, charged with forging prescriptions to obtain narcotics — told Miss Atkins' story to police, Slovitz said.

According to her account, clan members killed some persons in addition to the Tate and LaBianca victims, Slovitz said, but Mrs. Nadell did not specify how many or who they were.

Wesley Russell, attorney for Mrs. Nadell, said she told him she learned clan members "felt the slayings and the brutal cuttings would help release the souls of the victims."

"They were all on acid and the more they stabbed, the more they enjoyed it," Russell, a former deputy district attorney, said he was told.

He said Mrs. Nadell "broke the case" by telling police about Miss Atkins' statements. But Slovitz said: "The Atkins girl talked to others and we have a statement from one other witness."

Slovitz said Miss Atkins could become one of the prosecution's "principal witnesses" if she waives her privilege against self-incrimination.

Neither she nor any of the other witnesses would be granted immunity, Slovitz said.

An attorney for Mrs. Kasabian said she "definitely" had nothing to do with any of the slayings and has only "scuttle-but" knowledge about them.

But the attorney said he would seek to keep Mrs. Kasabian separate from others in the Tate case because "That jail is full of people involved in this thing."

Police said earlier in the week they were holding five women, unidentified, as material witnesses.

In Mobile, an attorney for Miss Krenwinkel asked a circuit judge to free her on grounds no warrant had been issued in Los Angeles when she was taken into custody Monday on a Mobile arrest.

She was arrested on a warrant sworn to by police Capt. Don Riddle, who testified he did so on the basis of a call from Sgt. William Cary of the Los Angeles Police Department. The judge took the request under study.

Ex-Army Rebel Sticks to Radical Path

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Lewis, 32, began working for sentence was to expire, so that Howard B. Levy, the Health Policy Advisory Center (Health PAC) this fall and his American Civil Liberties Union lawyer could pursue an appeal through the courts.

He had been court-martialed for disobeying an order to train Green Berets at Ft. Jackson, S.C., and for seeking to promote "disloyalty and disaffection" among U.S. soldiers.

For Levy, the central issues in his 1968 decision to challenge the Army and his 1969 decision to join the health protest were personal "commitment" and "responsibility."

Urges Help for Addicts

We are in accord with Circuit Judge ARTHUR MOORE's conviction that "halfway houses" be established for rehabilitation of drug victims. In support of his contention, he cited the case of a couple on whom he had been obliged to impose a jail sentence after conviction of having illegally attempted to obtain drugs earlier in the year, but who had in the interim been cured of their addiction.

MOORE

The jurist's plea for institutional provision short of jail commitment for such unfortun-

ates, however, faces opposition on the part of County authorities who have approved a comprehensive program for treatment of drug addicts. The organizational plan, after many months delay in creation at a cost of $6,000, would take six months to implement.

But in the drug-abuse area, time is of the essence, and immediate action to deal with it is imperative. It would seem that Judge MOORE's call for remedial facilities for those in the grip of narcotics could be synchronized with the County's long-range approach to the problem—a problem that has grown to emergency dimensions and should be so viewed.

Winter Here for Yearly Visit

The metabolism of nature is so finely balanced that not a living creature escapes the influence of the seasons. As winter approaches, the sap recedes from the trees, small creatures burrow into the ground and store up stocks of food, animals put on their winter coats and man surrounds himself with a thousand and one wondrous contrivances of technology that make winter one of the most enjoyable periods of the year.

Yes, winter is nearly here. It arrives December 21 (the shortest day of the year)—just one jump ahead of Santa Claus. Whatever man's other accomplishments, it is doubtful if he can ever change the march of seasons.

Those who wish to beat Old Man Winter have but one recourse. They can follow the sun, as it moves south. For those who remain in the North, the time has come to get out the Christmas tree trimmings, sleighs and popcorn poppers, as well as the more high-powered devices of winter sports and settle down to enjoy the days of the new season.

Tom-Tom Talk Off the Air

"Darkest Africa" is turning pale. ("Africans" have not yet adopted electric signals but possess, however, a system of communication quite as effective," famed explorer HENRY M. STANLEY could write some 90 years ago. "Their huge drums by being struck in different parts convey language as clear to the initiated as vocal speech.")

Today, most Africans are no more able to interpret a tom-tom message than visiting Americans, reports the National Geographic Society. Once the mainstay of primitive communication, village drums have grown silent. Tribes that once relied on drums now use the mails, despite the fact that the old way was cheaper and faster. The same is true of tribesmen around the world.

In India, says the Society, relays of drummers could once send a message 300 miles in just 17 minutes.

The U.S. Post Office, which is not exactly famed for delivering communications at the speed of sound, could do worse than to take a look at this art before it vanishes completely.

Fund Raising Keeps Churches Busy

By DAVID POLING
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Association

Every organization I know has its fund-raising problem. As soon as the PTA gets down to business, it wants to collect dues. When my son starts playing Little League baseball, the people in charge let me know that I am now a member of the Booster Club and that is $2 by return mail.

Even the peace groups won't let me protest the war without writing a check for some treasurer who is acting rather hawkish at my slow pay.

No group is exempt or free from this chore. The senior class at high school will shortly shame me into purchase of a dozen tickets for their play—my boy is a senior. (He just tells me it will be two dozen—he's also in the play.)

And we have not mentioned the church, where fund-raising has become sacred, computerized and the most time-consuming, energy-draining activity around.

In my new book, "Funny, You Don't Look Christian," Weybright and Talley, $3.95, Robert Herold hits the nerve like an untrained dentist probing for a cavity.

He has an essay called, "The Religion of Fund Raising," which describes the ordeal of the saints: "One fund-raising firm instructs callers to pray three prayers. (Printed prayers are furnished if needed.) A prayer is said before getting out of the car, another just before the member fills out his pledge card, and a final clincher before the caller leaves. The member doesn't have to worry only about appearing cheap before a fellow member; he also has the Almighty frowning over his shoulder."

In an even more critical tone, J. Elliott Corbett creates a paraphrase of Jeremiah in his book, "Prophecy on Main Street" (John Knox Press, $4.95).

"Thus says the Lord:

O, you Christians, strength of my arm, voice of my mouth, compassion of my heart, Step off your merry-go-round!

Break through your monotonous cycle! You who raise money to erect buildings, so you can expand your program, you need more money to erect more buildings.

"O, when will you start being the church:

Stop making the church a place to go, and make it something to be."

PERMANENT PART Money and budgets and fund-raising will always be part of the religious community.

These little chores run straight through the Bible but this dare not become an end in itself. If it does, we will indeed have a religion of Fund-Raising and its chief opponent will be the follower of Christ.

Haynsworth Humiliation Unfair

WASHINGTON—When the Senate of the United States, in all its august dignity, voted down the nomination of Judge Clement Haynsworth to the Supreme Court, it opened a veritable Pandora's Box. For what it said, in truth, was that any man in public life should have no interests—ideological or financial. He was refused a post because he had extensive stock holdings. Slice it however you wish, that was the sense of the Senate when it humiliated the judge.

Sen. Charles Percy, a millionaire Republican from Illinois, saw this point—and he had the decency to put all of his fortune into a "blind trust" to avoid the possible censure of his constituency.

Our Security Won't Slip With Banana Umbrella

I hate to stir up the ABM controversy again, but I fear Mr. Nixon's $10-billion Safeguard system has been rendered obsolete while still in the planning stage.

This will come as a blow to many experts who had hoped it wouldn't become obsolete until it had been completed.

Like most modern weapons it has been rendered obsolete by a superior system—this one developed by my friend, Mr. John Chase Lewis, the noted industrial designer and sculptor.

As Mr. Lewis points out, the prime function of any missile system is to instill feelings of security in a nervous populace.

BETTER SYSTEM

Drawing on modern technology, Mr. Lewis has created a better system. He calls it the Activated Banana Missile. Mr. Lewis' ABM system contemplates deploying thousands of giant plastic bananas around our cities. Each would be installed in a prominent position as constant reassurance to passers-by.

As these ABMs would contain neither dangerous explosives nor inflammable fuel, the all-too-prevalent worry of an accidental disaster would be eliminated in a twinkling.

In the more nervous areas, such as the suburbs, Mr. Lewis says, towering bananas would throw off hum day and night, creating an atmosphere of purposeful power.

LOW-LEVEL BANANA

The plans also call for a low-level banana for coastal defense. Cuban MIG that recently slipped through our present multibillion-dollar defenses into Florida, Mr. Lewis agreed that the low-level banana would not have stopped the intruder either. "But," he accurately points out, "it would've been a hell of a lot cheaper."

There will be some, of course, who contend that bananas have little to do with the reality of thermonuclear war. But I say a nation which can accept that reality can wholeheartedly accept the security provided by a banana umbrella.

Voice of the People:

'Our Tax Money Wasted Lighting County Offices'

Our County courthouse and the new school administration building are beautiful structures. The citizens of Oakland County should be most proud to have these facilities. But with inadequate funds from our tax dollars to provide better school conditions, better facilities for the people at the Pontiac State Hospital, and numerous other worthy causes, is it necessary to burn all the lights on all the floors in both buildings far into the night? It's a waste and unnecessary.

Instead of our public officials demanding more money and more ways in which to spend it, they might try to conserve a few wasted dollars and put them to better use.

BURNED UP AND TAXED OUT

Several Viewpoints on Money for Schools

Many never pay their fair share of school taxes. If "Mother of Six Children" sends them all to school, at the known expense of $700 per child, her family is costing the taxpayer $4,200 per year. How much school tax does she pay per year? Mrs. "Mother of None" pays $400 per year, for what? I am in favor of an increase in state income tax to pay for education.

If people want good schools with full-time teachers and high taxes, let them move to the Utica Community School District where teachers are among the highest paid and the school bus drivers are paid $3.25 per hour. They just voted a $9 million bond issue.

W. H. WAGNER
4150 MORNINGVIEW, UTICA

All school districts crying for more school money should look into the reasons for need and sort out the corruption in elected officials, misuse and misappropriation of funds. Parents should teach their children to make the most out of the schools they have and quit setting bad examples for their children to follow. Teachers striking, vandalism, etc., do not make for a good education.

'True Meaning of Christmas Is Ignored'

I feel that someone should bring to the attention of the public that the true meaning of Christmas is being ignored. Christmas is so commercialized and isn't spent in the way it should be. So many Americans take such little time for Christ during the rest of the year, it wouldn't hurt if they would celebrate Christmas at church and devote a few hours to the fact that Jesus was born in a stable in Bethlehem.

Answer Critic of Aid to Private Schools

A letter from Erich H. Werner implies that Catholics are so wealthy that we have no right to expect help from the State to continue our schools. Has he ever considered the large tax portion allotted for schools and education? Did it ever occur to him that Catholic taxpayers have paid the same public school tax he has?

MRS. SUSAN CARRY
18 CAMLEY

We ask some State help now rather than turn our children over to the already overcrowded public schools. Mr. Werner wrote of the vast wealth of the Vatican. There is wealth there, but people will never know the tremendous turnover of money in that treasury. The Vatican is responsible for the whole world. We cannot fathom or understand all that has to be done with that money.

MRS. SUSAN CARRY
18 CAMLEY

In answer to Erich Werner's letter concerning Educad, the State of Michigan and the public school system tell us they are in trouble. Do they expect parochial school parents to be so glibly as to believe their tale of woe? They have built elaborate schools with carpeting, swimming pools, gym equipment, air conditioning, etc. Now they haven't enough money. Their willing is aimed at getting free tax money from parochial school parents while giving nothing in return.

If public schools are in such dire straits, why not tap the Federal Government? What is spent in one year for foreign aid, space programs and ABM would make the Vatican look like a poor relative.

I do not resent paying school taxes. I do resent those who would gobble them up without sharing a small slice with my children.

Couple Escapes City

Woes Fade in Woods

By KEN HARTNETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — The year before, Maria spent each day yawning and for her husband, Jim, anger was a way of life.

They were in the city then, two struggling artist-radicals—youth, vaguely in love, and talented.

But, he hated the fawning patrons who came to judge and occasionally—only occasionally—buy their paintings. He hated the bills and the bill collectors. He hated the television set and the concrete cubicle that was their apartment.

And, most of all, he hated his job with its formalities and routines.

YAWNS AND HATE

And she feared the competitiveness of her work against his and feared that his seething anger would sooner or later seize on her. And she also hated the city with its congestion and rules and distractions. So, she yawned and he hated her yawning.

So one day, this past summer, he quit his job. She quit hers. They gathered the possessions they loved, which were few, and packed them into a rented pickup truck and headed for the great forests of the Pacific Northwest.

They found a little cabin by a remote lake. The owner rented it to them for a fraction of what they had been paying in the city and they settled down.

She began baking bread and learned how to clean the trout that he found in the lake. And he began cutting lumber for their wood stove.

HAIR GROWS LONG

He let his hair grow long so that it tumbled down his shoulders and he threw away his razor. His muscles grew hard. He stopped smoking cigarettes.

Their few neighbors let them alone or when they dropped by did so to drop off a grouse or a pheasant. No one seemed to care that they wore their hair long or decorated their home with musty old portraits and pop bottles or that his only job was pumping gas down on the highway when a few dollars could come in handy.

They know it can't last that long. He isn't angry anymore sooner or later the population and she yawns only when she is surge will find them, their cash tired.

Taxpayers Who Profit From Charities Reform Bill Target

WASHINGTON (UPI) Taxpayers who profit from their charities are major targets of the tax reform bill being debated in the Senate.

But not as much as in the House, passed measure.

Maybe you don't know it, but there are ways of giving to charity and finishing up with more money than you started with.

You heard it right the first time. There are gimmicks in the tax law so that some wealthy people can give whopping amounts to charity and be left with more cash in the bank than if they hadn't been charitable at all.

70 PCT. BRACKET

For example, a businessman finds he will finish the year in the 70 per cent income tax bracket. From there on, for every $100 of individual income, he keeps only $30; the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) gets the rest.

He might just as well be charitable, so with his tax lawyer they work out a deal where his charity will not only cost him nothing, but he'll profit from it.

Here's how he does it: The businessman gives, say, $100,000 of his inventory to some favorite charity. It's a bone fide deal. The inventory is worth $100,000 on the market and the charity can get that amount for it. The merchandise or property, or whatever it happens to be, only cost the businessman $50,000.

Hidden Radar on Pennsylvania Turnpike Ended

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The days of hidden radar are over on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Commissioner Frank McKelka has decided that all radar must be visible to the public," said Capt. C. S. Graci, commander of the turnpike police detail. "It must be placed in an area where drivers can see it for 120 feet in either direction."

"I don't care if we never make an arrest providing we can reduce fatal accidents."

Such a reduction has taken place this year. From January through October, there have been 64 fatalities — 30 fewer than in the first 10 months of 1968.

If he had sold that inventory and given the cash to the charity, he would have had to pay $35,000 in taxes, 70 per cent of the $50,000 gain. So he saves that $35,000 in individual income taxes.

SECOND BENEFIT

But that's not all. As a second benefit, he is allowed to deduct the full $100,000 the charitable organization will get from the fair market of the inventory. And that means he saves $70,000 more in taxes on other income he acquired just so long as he hasn't gone beyond a 30 per cent ceiling on his gross income.

Now add those two figures together: It comes to $105,000. The charity gets $100,000. The businessman saves $105,000 in taxes. Result: He has made a profit of $5,000 by giving away $100,000.

There's no question it has worked that way.

The Senate Finance Committee, in its report on the tax reform bill, noted somewhat caustically that:

"In cases where the tax saving is so large, it is not clear how much charitable motivation actually remains. It appears that the government, in fact, is almost the sole contributor to the charity." Nevertheless, the committee did not go as far as the House in ending those gimmicks. The House plugged five loopholes used by donors to profit from their charities. The Senate appears to be coming along with two of them — the most important.

It takes manpower to transport the 10-foot Scotch pine that will grace the Moses Wisner home on Oakland Avenue during the Christmas season. Tom Brown of James Street pulls the tree with the help of Larry Williams, 16, Eason Street. Mrs. Paul Bemman with children, Cathy, 5, and Paul, 4, bring up the rear. The tree came from the Bemman property on Rattale Lake Road,

Three Generations Travel to N.J. for Betrothal Party

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Young Jennifer-Lynn Harlan is a very well-traveled young lady for her age, which is five months. Not only did she accompany her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James (Susan) Harlan of East Maple Road in Birmingham, to Metamora for Thanksgiving dinner, but immediately thereafter she, and a few relatives, took a trip East.

Metamora dinner hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bunt, parents of Susan. Bunt, once upon a time the head of Cranbrook's science department, is now headmaster of Kingsbury School in Oxford. Another guest around the dinner table was Estella Adams of Birmingham, great-aunt to Susan.

Then the trip East, to Westfield, New Jersey, where the Arthur Browns announced the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia, to Ted Bunt. Also in the caravan besides the Harlans and the Bunts was Ted's twin, Terry.

Mrs. Pauline Johnson of Birmingham was in Lansing for a cocktail party given by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Haynes. The occasion was the Friends of the Library Christmas dinner immediately following at MSU's Kellogg Center.

START THE PARTYING

The Howard H. Fitzgeralds II of Echo Road are inviting various and sundry friends and neighbors to cocktails today at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club as they have for some years past, getting the holiday party season off to an early start.

Women Invade Lloyd's of London

LONDON (AP) — Lloyd's of London, the world's biggest insurance organization, crumbled today as a bastion of gentlemanly exclusivity. It admitted gentlemen into the club.

For the first time since the business was born in an aromatic 17th century coffee house, women have been elected as underwriting members.

But although each lady's investment of $30,000 and her reserves of at least $100,000, independent of her husband's money — are accepted, she will not be allowed to take part in active business.

As one London newspaper put it today: "They are to be merely sleeping partners."

Twenty-five of 46 women considered for the exclusive ranks were formally elected Wednesday by an all-male committee headed by chairman Harry Maule.

Among their privileges: The right to lose their money down to the last blade of grass on their country estates, and the right to eat in the captain's dining room.

The women are entering a unique organization. Lloyd's 3,000-plus underwriting members joined as individuals and are personally liable for losses. Corporations cannot belong.

They accept almost any kind of risk, barring life insurance. They will insure against the possibility of a multiple birth as readily as hurricanes in the United States or disasters involving giant jets and ocean liners.

Losses have been heavy recently. Lloyd's latest figures, for 1966 — accounts are closed after three years — gave losses of $44.4 million, $48 million less than in 1965.

A year ago, the organization opened its doors to foreign members to spread the risks and cater to the rise of international companies among its customers.

CALM ACCEPTANCE

But the ladies elected Wednesday had apparently no trepidation over the future of their independent means.

"I'm merely taking advantage of something which wasn't open to women before," said Margery Hurst, millionaire's head of Mayfair's Brook Street Bureau, reputed to be the world's largest secretarial agency.

"It's useless to me," she said. "In my

Celebrate Yule at Wisner Home

A look at Christmas as it was a century ago will be afforded Oakland County residents in the annual "Victorian Christmas Open House at Pine Grove," Sunday from 2 to 7 p.m.

Sponsored by the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society, the exhibit at the Wisner Home will include decorations of that period, a ten-foot Christmas tree, refreshments, and a program.

Several special exhibits will include the dining room table set for the Christmas feast with antique dishes and silver.

Reservations may be made for guided tours during the evenings of Dec. 8 through 12. A fee is charged. A silver donation will be taken on Sunday.

Parking will be available at the Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church parking lot, across the street from the Home.

Weighty Problem Besets Town's Top Administrator

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you get a lot of letters from kooks, and this one will probably go into that pile, but believe me, this inquiry is sincere.

My husband is a large man and noticeably overweight. He is particularly flabby in the region of his chest. To get to the point, Abby, he could use a brassiere!

Is there a place where they sell brassieres for men? I am not going to mention this to him until I can find one. He is aware of his problem, Abby. He's not an unreasonable man and I think if she would put her teeth in.

She says she doesn't care how she looks. I have begged and pleaded with her, and even threatened to refuse to be seen with her until she puts her teeth in, but still no results. Can you help me?

LIN IDAHO

DEAR L: If she refuses to go back to the dentist who made them, insist that she see her physician for a thorough check-up (mental and physical). Her trouble could be higher up. Three years is a long time for a pretty 43-year-old woman to remain toothless.

Accident Calls for Apology to His Hostess

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: The top back of an antique chair was accidentally broken during a dinner party recently at my home. The occupant of the chair was a tall, heavy man who had tilted it back, and it broke. He apologized jokingly to my husband. I was out of the room when it happened and he did not apologize to me.

I would like to know how one should act if one should accidentally break an antique in someone's home. — Mrs. J. T.

Dear Mrs. T.: Your guest misbehaved. His apology to your husband should have been serious, and it should have included an offer to have the chair repaired himself or to pay the bill if your husband took care of it. Furthermore, he should have apologized to you.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a woman who is 43 and here is my problem. Three years ago she had all her teeth removed and was fitted with dentures. She wore them home from the dentist's office and promptly removed them, and placed them in the medicine cabinet where they have been ever since.

She refuses to wear her dentures, and she won't go back to the dentist who made them although he has said that he would make them fit. She is a pretty

National Council of Churches Elects Laywoman President

By United Press International
DETROIT — Mrs. Cynthia Wedel, first woman president of the National Council of Churches, is living evidence that femininity and forcefulness can go together.

Although she is every inch a woman — in apparent speech, manner and attitudes — she is also a highly competent executive and can preside over large gatherings with aplomb.

Her leadership abilities were demonstrated in two previous council posts, as vice president and associate general secretary and during a three-year term as president of Church Women United. She has also held high office in her own denomination, the Episcopal Church.

During her three years as council president, a non-paying job, she will retain her salaried position as associate director of the National Resource Center for Volunteering in Washington, D. C. She is a professional psychologist with doctorate.

QUEEN'S CARDS

Dear Mrs. Post: I learned from your Etiquette book that I should sign our Christmas cards as I did last year.

John and Mary Hill

Sarah, Mary, Timothy and Bill

However, I noticed recently the Queen of England lists the male children first: Charles, Edward, Andrew, Anne (the boys are listed respectively to age) but Anne is obviously placed last, being female. Would you advise me? — Mary Hill

Dear Mrs. Hill: The Queen of England writes her children's names in that order because it is the order of succession to the throne, and therefore the order of importance. In America, a girl undoubtedly in the rest of England girls' names take precedence over boys' and are listed that way, with the oldest girl's name first, and the older boy's name before the younger's.

MRS. WEDEL

VITAL

At 61, Mrs. Wedel has the vitality of a much younger woman. Her figure is trim but her hair is still reddish-brown, with only a few streaks of grey.

She is a warm, friendly, gregarious person with a quick wit and the ability to get along with almost anyone. Her hobbies, when she has time for them, are cooking and reading.

Jewish Youth Different

Attitudes Are Changing

By JUNE ELERT

"We are living in a time when Jewishness has never been more exhibited in America," said Dr. Marshall Sklare, Marshall Sklare, sociologist and authority on contemporary Jewish life, in his keynote address this morning before the Women's Division, Jewish Welfare Federation of Detroit's forum on "The Challenge of Change."

JUNE

concept upon which the upward Jewish mobility was based."

This is that reward is on the basis of merit or the establishment of an upper strata "meritocracy" which took the place of the old concept of aristocracy. Anti-Semitism has again reared its head, though its extent is debatable.

Jewish youth is saying that anti-Semitism is not the result of Gentile attitudes, but is rather created by those Jews who exploit Negroes. This, said Dr. Sklare, is a serious charge which is causing division in the Jewish community, causing Jews to look askance at friends, relatives, coworkers.

Among youth there is also a new hostile attitude toward Israel. The old anti-Zionist thought, "Zionism would make Jews less acceptable in America."

The new anti-Israel attitude is based on anti-capitalist sentiments and the idea that to support Israel is to support America, which supports Israel.

Imperialist ideas. Student revolutionaries share some traits in common, he said. "They have weak identification with an historical religious tradition; they are largely the offspring of second-generation Americans; they are members of a minority group; they share an emotional sensitivity; they have little concern with controlling their personal impulses; they come from affluent backgrounds, from permissive and supportive families."

Jewish youth, he said, is abundantly possessed of these qualifications for campus militancy. So there is among Jewish youth a militancy which is not concerned with a Jewish issue.

Another problem facing Jewish parents is intermarriage. Dr. Sklare said, "We are feeling the press of this problem more now than ever before and we are relatively inexperienced in dealing with it."

Young Jewish children are asking their parents, "Why isn't the whole world Jewish?" and older youngsters query, "Why is it so important to be Jewish?"

Job Raises Needed to Meet Living Costs

By ANNE TAYLOR

AP News Feature

Considering that prices are climbing and that the value of the dollar is diminishing, many people think they are due for a raise. Here's what Mrs. H. E. of Madison, Wis., has to say on the subject:

"For the past eleven years I've baked for a private girls' dormitory, and my work includes plain baking and fancy cakes, etc. I've been making $2 an hour for the past two years and want to ask for a raise.

"With the increase in the cost of living, what do you think would be a fair wage for me to ask?"

I would hesitate to name a specific figure without knowing more details. I can, however, provide you with some guidelines to help you in setting a figure.

Remember, the average worker has had a decrease in take-home pay in the past year, largely the result of inflation and higher taxes. For example, the buying power of an average nonfarm worker with three dependents was $78.23 in May, but a year earlier it was $78.47, despite low pay.

You must also take into account the national average of wages for unionized bakers, which is roughly $3.30 an hour in your area.

We'll leave the amount up to you, but certainly you are entitled to broach the subject with your boss.

HOUSEWIVES

Mrs. D. K., of East Moline, Ill., claims that she needs a raise from her husband to meet the rising cost of living, but that her husband "explodes" over the subject.

"I have six children at home to feed and clothe," Mrs. D. K. writes. "I have three teenagers—two girls and a boy—plus two girls and a boy who are younger. . . . My husband keeps telling me I should fix well-balanced meals, and believe me, I'd love to — but try fixing 'balanced' meals on $75 to $80 every two weeks.

"How do you ask your husband for a raise when he thinks you are already overpaid?"

Dear Mrs. D. K.: Facts, and figures, we like to think, can settle any argument. Here, then is some support for a raise.

After studying recent surveys, I estimate that for a family of your size in your area of the country it would be necessary to spend close to $100 every two weeks for a minimum food plan.

Let me point out that it is possible but difficult to achieve well balanced meals with a minimum budget of the type I describe. It is a bit easier, of course, on a moderate budget of $110 every two weeks.

However, it doesn't do you much good to obtain a raise from your husband if he is stymied in obtaining one from his employer. You cannot scrimp anymore on your food budget. A pay raise for your husband, then you — is really the answer.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Stratton of Beachland Boulevard announce the engagement of their daughter, Kathleen Yvonne, to Michael M. Cogswell. He is the son of Mrs. Frances Cogswell of Lansing and Maurice Cogswell of Nashville, Mich. Miss Stratton attended Central Michigan University, the school from which her fiancé will graduate in January.

Hammond Organ Society

Program Is Announced

In addition to a special musical program, Hammond Organ Society members and guests will be addressed Tuesday by Mayor William H. Taylor on "Our Time Is Now."

Donald W. Button of Oxford, member of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra and organist of Second Church of Christ, Scientists, Detroit, will perform at the organ.

Gabriele Settembrini, a Neapolitan with considerable experience in the opera houses of Italy, is also scheduled to entertain.

Winding up the program list is Mrs. Loyal Nancarrow of Troy, who will display her musical talents in a rendition of some of the organ tunes she used to play in the Royal Opera Theatre as accompaniment for the old silent films.

The event in downtown Grinnell's will start at 7:30 p.m. and is open to the public.

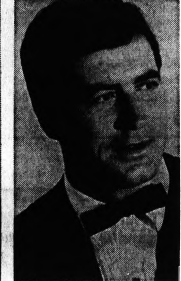

Conservation experts estimate that there are more deer in the United States now than when the Pilgrims landed.

Clothier Wants Men to Consider Fashions

Now is the time for all good women to come to the aid of their men — for the boys need encouragement, assistance of nagging to help them update their wardrobes.

No longer can a suit be judged wearable just because the seam doesn't sag or the elbows shine, according to Joseph Daroff, president of the giant 'Botany' 500 clothing firm.

Fashion has caught up to the stronger sex in a big way, and even the man who doesn't want to be the sartorial swinger in his circle finds himself looking dowdy in outdated apparel, according to Daroff.

The features that give clothing its newness today are easy to spot, Daroff states. If a jacket lapel is less than three inches wide, it's old-fashioned. The tiny lapels of other seasons will date a suit faster than any other feature.

STRAIGHT IS OUT
If the suit jacket hangs straight and has three- or four-inch vents, it has passed into the limbo of Salvation Army.

The new clothing has a slight shaping at the waist which coupled with the newly designed higher armholes and squared shoulders, gives a man a neater, trimmer, more masculine look.

And now is the time to spruce him up, Daroff suggested. Now through January mark the dates for the heaviest clothing sales of the entire year, he said.

Whether the gals are dressing up the man in their lives for Christmas, or whether he himself is getting a new start for the new year, nobody knows for certain. But now is the time.

Shape's the thing... His shape, that is, not her's. The gentle waist suppression in the jacket, balanced by straight trousers, gives a man a whole new figure and look for fall. Widened lapels and deeper vents also stamp this as new. By Botany 500. Available locally.

Detergent Cited for Investigation by Trade Board

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission wants to find out if housewives are encountering a health hazard through the prolonged use of detergents containing enzymes.

The FTC said Thursday it will investigate the effect on health of such detergents after citing studies showing that plant workers exposed to high concentrations of enzymes suffered illnesses such as dermatitis and asthmatic conditions.

The Procter & Gamble Co. meantime, took issue with the commission's implication there is a health hazard connected with the use of enzyme detergents.

"There is no basis for such an implication," the firm said in a statement. "Exhaustive research and extensive use of enzyme detergents in millions of homes have clearly shown that these products are perfectly safe for the consumer."

The FTC released a U.S. Public Health Service report showing enzyme detergents and laundry products are becoming common.

I never thought I'd understand what made those investigators involved in the Spanish Inquisition go to such lengths, engage in such desperate measures as the rack.

Understand, I did not say I go just that, after 17 years as a mother, I grow a bit desperate for answers myself.

Every parent knows the pattern. The big questions aren't too hard to handle. It's the little ones that get to you. One doesn't mind so much asking, "Where did you go?" and getting, "Nowhere" for an answer.

One need only be a good listener and receptive to criticism and soon you'll get the whole story. One need only relax and wait and sooner or later a son will ask, "Know that Crazy Carl did at the vestigation and I doubt even homes have clearly shown that these products are perfectly safe for the consumer."

Margaret's house and HER mother thinks I'm old enough to have my ears pierced."

But the little questions. Oh, those little questions that answered with stony stares, quizzical looks, shrugged shoulders, or a "Huh?" or, worse, a "Who, me?"

If there's a reader who has ever been given a sensible answer to "Who took my tweezers?" will you please write and tell me where you finally found yours? I mean, "nobody" took mine and I'd really like to find them.

INFORMATION PLEASE
If, at the same time, you could let me know how you discovered just who at your house is always leaving the butter dish on top a toaster, I'll be grateful.

I am not asking for the impossible. I certainly don't expect ever to find out who was in the bathroom last and forgot to jiggle the handle so the toilet would stop running. After all, that's champion-type information that only Spanish Inquisitors could extract from anyone around here.

I realize it really is "nobody" who loses the caps off toothpaste tubes, hides empty soft drink bottles under beds and so far this year has melted a good 20 bars of soap by leaving them under dripping faucets.

And I understand "nobody" spilled cranberries in the refrigerator and then set a milk carton in them.

However, "somebody" cut off all those fronds of wheat missing from my dining table centerpiece and I'll never take "Who me?" for an answer.

Birth Control Is Province of All Doctors

SAN FRANCISCO (WMNS) — A specialist in family planning has cautioned her fellow doctors that family planning is "not the private domain of a few specialists," but is vital to the practice of all good medicine.

As examples, Dr. Mary E. Lane, clinical director of the contraception service of the Margaret Sanger Research Bureau in New York, cited a man with a heart attack whose wife should certainly not have a fifth baby, an "already overburdened mother" who should not have to cope with a grandchild and a teenage daughter, a young impoverished couple who should not yet begin their family, and an already neglected child who should not have another brother or sister.

Good medicine, Dr. Lane believes, deals with human relationships as well as illness or potential illness. Because of this, "more is involved in contraception than the mere swallowing of a pill" and doctors can help patients improve the patterns of their lives.

DAVID HARPER

Christmas Poem Gives Pleasure to World's Children

Equally well-known and well-loved, is Clement Clarke Moore's classic poem, "A VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS," which this professor of Greek and Oriental literature created as a special gift for his children who expectantly awaited the arrival of gift-bearing "Santeklas" as Saint Nicholas was then called.

On that Christmas Eve in 1822 while shopping for the family's holiday turkey, Moore composed what was destined to become one of the most famous poems in the English language. It was not till the following year, that the poem was first published in the TROY-SENTINEL and received the title "An Account of a Visit from Saint Nicholas," though it is far better known as "Twas The Night Before Christmas."

Translated into almost every foreign language, embossed in braille and recited throughout the Christmas season at home, on the stage, radio, screen and television, Clement Moore's special gift to his own family has brought Christmas cheer and delight to countless others throughout the world.

'Unconscious Infanticide' Ascribed to Mothers of Poor

WASHINGTON, D.C. (WMNS) — Latin American mothers of note that smaller families — Latin American mothers can relieve the family tensions too many children engage in that lead mothers to unconscious infanticide to rid themselves of burdensome babies, suggests Dr. Benjamin Viel, a distinguished medical professor at the University of Chile.

Distraught mothers in large, poor families may kill by ignoring serious illnesses, without admitting to themselves that they want their babies to die, the doctor suggests. This would explain why, in Santiago, first-born infants die at the rate of 60 per 1,000 while infant deaths rise to about 100 among the third- and fourth-born and to 300 per 1,000 in families with 10 or more children.

"We must face the shameful fact," adds Dr. Viel in a paper published by the Population Reference Bureau, "that high mortality continues through the pre-school years." Children under five account for nearly half of all Latin American deaths. Countries with lower birth rates also have lower child death rates.

'Oh, What a Tangled Web'

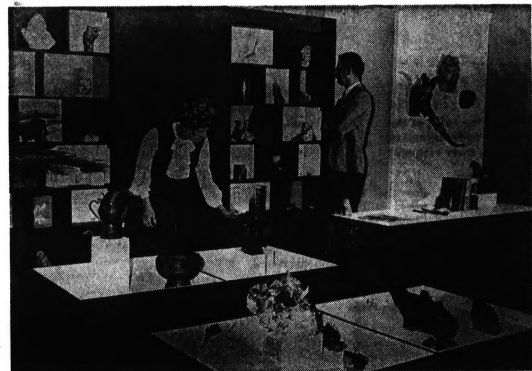

LONDON (AP) — Five years ago, 20-year-old Beryl Anderson was fed up with the Women's Royal Air Force. Her mother's lover, 43-year-old Benjamin Beach, obliged and married Beryl, which got her out of the WRAF.

Ben kept on sleeping with his new mother-in-law, a London court was told Thursday, and Beryl remained a wife in name only. Mrs. Beach asked for an annulment so she could marry another man and her husband could marry her mother. The court refused.

It said that under the present divorce law it could annul a marriage only if it took place under duress. It said there was no evidence of that, and called the marriage "a dishonest dodge to get out of the air force."

Beryl said she didn't know what to do. Legal advisers said she has no grounds for a divorce.

There may be only one Cher, but she's a one-and-only of many faces... from the Buster Brown bangs and casual pants suits of her early rock days to the high fashion look donned for a Vogue magazine spread, to the hippie Indian garb she packed off to Muscle Shoals, Ala., to record her latest, "Muscle Shoals."

She Is Singer, Actress, Wife, Groovy Mother

NEW YORK (NEA) — Cher, Ebony hair flows down her shoulders. It covers her forehead in shiny bangs, hooding brown eyes that leap out of her face. Her singing voice is husky and sensual. Cher. Her face is ex-pressionless. Not since Kelly Smith have audiences seen a deadpan equal to Cher's.

Born Cheryl LaPierre, Cher dropped out of high school, fell in and out of love with acting and turned on to singing to become one of the darlings of the rock music scene. Her Sony and Cher and sent phonograph needles humming, has been her sheepskin-clad, Svengali.

The two met in a coffeehouse in 1963. Sonny was a "weird" unknown (he was hairy long before the Beatles did their thing).

"I liked him as soon as our eyes met," Cher has said. Sonny liked what he saw, too. He took Cher for a wife and singing partner in 1964. Their first disc was "The Letter," recorded under the improbable names of Caesar and Cleo.

CHANGED NAMES

They switched the names to the rock music scene. Her Sony and Cher and sent phonograph needles humming, has been her sheepskin-clad, Svengali.

followed it up with "I Got You, Babe" (another Sonny original) and they became teeny-bopper heartthrobs. That was in 1965. "We were known as perennial teen-ages for years," said Sonny, who is 34.

CHER NODS. She's not a talker. She bares her tonsils to sing, occasionally to comment, sometimes to correct singer-husband Sonny, who talks a lot but seldom says anything.

"We were trying to get a studio," Sonny began, "that is a sub... sub... sub..." His voice trails off, as he searches for the word.

Cher, who is examining the ends of her hair in detail, murmurs, "Subsidary, you know, like an annex."

DAUGHTER

Chastity is mentioned. "Chastity" is the name of the movie starring Cher, produced by Sonny. It is also the name of their baby girl, born last March.

"She is a groovy baby," says Cher.

The baby is nine months old.

Sonny says gently, "Oh come on, honey."

"She is," says Cher, still examining her hair. "She's a hip, colossal, super baby. She's not like other kids." Another silence.

Sonny talks on about Cher's career plans. "She is great in 'Chastity,'" he says. Sonny wrote the script and music for the movie about a girl in search of herself. The pair financed and produced the movie themselves.

Monologist Reaches the Heart of Audience

By LINDA A. CABRAL

This week's Birmingham Town Hall audience needed extra handkerchiefs. The four monologues delivered by Betty Jo Hawkins stirred the tear ducts of young and old.

Using a minimum of props, Mrs. Hawkins created varied characters.

She also performed "Trilogy and Post Script."

In this, she is first a young girl telling her parents that she and her boyfriend have set their wedding date. The daughter first mentions the situation of one of her friends, who "had to get married."

As the parents sink into shock, Mrs. Hawkins' character reassures her family amid appreciative laughter from an understanding audience. Part two of the trilogy had Mrs. Hawkins dressed in a loose-fitting smock with an elastic hairband holding back unkempt locks. Pregnant with her third child, she has had an argument with her husband — the subject, in-laws.

PHONE CALL

The audience gets the gist of the going-on through a telephone call to Mama that is interrupted when hubby comes up the driveway with a candleburning in a store-bought apple pie.

"He remembered my birthday," says the joyous daughter, as the audience sighs and suppresses sniffls.

In shapeless chapeau and horn-rimmed eye glasses the now-older heroine speaks to Mama on the day of the marriage of her oldest daughter.

"I should feel so fulfilled and great," she laments, "but I just feel old and sad and ugly."

With a violet shawl and hair net, Mrs. Hawkins finishes her monologue. Mama is dead and daughter is now speaking to her daughter, Amy, who is leaving after a visit.

Sew Victorian for Young Girls on Your Gift List

Today, the young crowd likes the "old" look — fashions with a quaint Victorian air.

As part of your Christmas sewing, give the young miss with old-fashioned tastes a dainty lace-embellished petticoat. Make it up in a fine cotton lawn.

A dirndl half-slip in a mini-length is an easy style to make. It takes only about one and one-half yards of fabric. Make an elastic waistband and edge the slip with a deep border of crocheted-type cotton lace.

Instead of white, choose a lace in a rich ecru color. For the slip, use pale beige cotton.

Fruit Tops Dessert

Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

The first response to our request for favorite holiday recipes of readers comes from Mrs. Frances Wheeler of Pontiac. How about some more from all you other good cooks?

Mrs. Wheeler says her dessert, which she has made for years, can be very pretty for Christmas when red and green cherries are used.

HEAVEN'S DELIGHT

By Mrs. Frances Wheeler

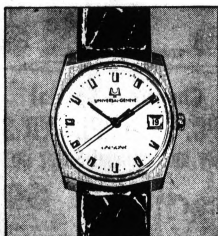

1 large angel food cake
1 small package lemon gelatin
1½ cups milk
2 eggs, separated
¼ cup sugar
1 pint cream, whipped

1 cup chopped maraschino cherries
1 cup chopped pecans
1 flat can crushed pineapple, drained
½ cup boiling water

In double boiler, place egg yolks, milk and sugar. Cook until mixture is consistency of thin custard. Cool. Add gelatin which has been dissolved in boiling water. Cool until thick and syrupy. Fold in whipped cream and stiffly beaten egg whites.

Line a greased 9x13 pan with slices of angel food cut about ½-inch thick. Cover with layer of pudding. Repeat, ending with pudding layer. Top with cherries, drained pineapple and nuts. Chill until serving time. Makes 15-16 servings.

Man Beats Boyhood Idol in Checkers Showdown

DETROIT (UPI) — Kenneth M. Grover's moment had come after 28 years of waiting, and he wasn't about to blow it with a risky move.

So he played it "more or less safe" in the final three games with his boyhood idol, 62-year-old Newell Banks of Detroit. The strategy worked, and yesterday Grover became the world champion of 11-man ballot checkers.

"I've been waiting for 28 years to beat him," said Grover, 61, of Taholah, Wash. "It makes me world champion. I defeated Newell Banks, champion of the world for 54 years."

Final victory for Grover came by playing Banks for three straight ties after winning the first game of a four-game playoff. It was a quiet ending to more than 30 hours of intense concentration "of looking at that board every second of the time, no smiling, no 'hello John how are ya.'"

ONE LESS MAN

Eleven-man ballot checkers differs from regular checkers in that the players use one less "man," thus opening up the number of possible moves and countermoves.

"It's all natural ability from the beginning," said Grover. "You can't memorize moves like you can in regular checkers."

The championship, played at a Detroit hotel, started Thanksgiving Day. After 20 matches, Grover and Banks each had won two games apiece and tied 18.

In the first game of the four-game playoff, Grover decided to gamble. "In the midpart of the game I saw something — and I said to myself I go here and simply it and take a lie — but then I said to myself I better go for broke." He did, won the game and went one up on Banks.

COME TO HIM

"With one game ahead I decided to play it more or less safe for ties and let Banks come to me," he said.

For Banks, the championship match might be his last. For after 54 years as world champion, he plans to retire.

"He was my star in my mind when I was a kid," said Grover. "Banks had been a boy wonder at 5 years old. If you know anything about checkers, you've heard the name."

Mental Health Effort Urged by Milliken

EAST LANSING (AP)—Gov. William Milliken says the public is aware of mental health problems but has not given enough support to mental health programs.

In remarks to the annual meeting of the Michigan Society for Mental Health, the governor said Thursday "We are still looking for the key—the key that can unlock the public conscience and transform talk into action."

He added that money alone is not enough.

"The sad fact," the governor said, "is that in some cases, more money has only been used to extend programs that were ineffective or inadequate in the first place."

However, he followed that comment with an outline of various improvements in Michigan mental health programs.

"Despite these improvements," he said, "the demand for admissions has continued to increase, and we cannot accommodate all of those who should be accommodated."

Blind Teacher Gets Dearborn Job Back

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP)—"Oh: It will be one of my happiest days," Pauline Fucinari says about next Monday.

Not everyone feels that way about going back to school, which is the cause of her excitement.

DISCIPLINE CITED

But Miss Fucinari is blind and 24 years old, and she's going back to Fordson High as a 10th and 11th grade social studies teacher. A court order she sought is sending her back.

Miss Fucinari, blind since birth but holding a master's degree in social science from Eastern Michigan University, was fired as a teacher last spring. Her dismissal came one day before she would have attained tenure and been subject to removal only for proven cause.

The Dearborn Board of Education said Miss Fucinari was unable to maintain discipline in classes and stressed reading too much.

Miss Fucinari went to court, and Circuit Judge John M. Wise ordered the board Wednesday to return her to her job.

She insists she had no disciplinary problems with her pupils, despite her blindness.

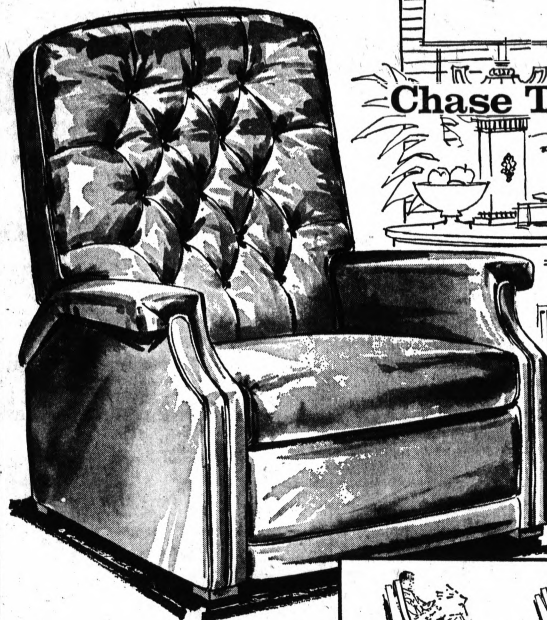

"When they come into my classes," she said, "I tell them the rules. There aren't many. For instance, I don't mind if they chew gum, but if they pop it they're thrown out. No one ever walks out without telling me where they're going."

"You don't have problems as long as you keep them interested and keep things moving," she said.

Black Publisher in Jackson Murdered

JACKSON (AP) — Crime lab experts pored over the blood-spattered Jackson apartment of a slain Negro publisher today, searching for a key to his violent death.

The body of Charles Cade, 45, was found Thursday evening in his bachelor apartment near the southern Michigan city's downtown shopping mall. On the walls of an entrance hall were scrawled the words "Black Nigger," said an associate, who confirmed the misspelling of the second word.

James J. Murphy, editor of Cade's Jackson Blazer, said his employer's death was racially motivated but apparently unrelated to recent reports of gunfire and two shooting deaths in Jackson. Murphy said the de-rogatory words were written in blood, presumably Cade's.

Cade was reportedly shot to death, but police declined to confirm the cause of death pending the State Police crime lab examination of the apartment and body.

WAVE OF CONCERN

The death triggered a wave of concern throughout the city of 50,700 which has suffered through uneasiness and tension in the past few months over two unsolved shooting deaths which appeared to be the work of a sniper.

During the past week, there have been numerous reports of gunfire, and Gov. William Milliken sent two representatives to investigate allegations that the city was becoming "virtually an armed camp."

The Blazer's editor, Murphy, today applied that description to the city in asking for help from the governor. Mayor Maurice Townsend said he shared concern about "growing tensions."

"We're all hopeful that this latest incident is unrelated (to earlier shootings) and that it is a racially motivated matter at all," Mayor Townsend said in Kalamazoo, the Ledger.

Freeway-Lighting Maintenance

State Legislator to Seek Probe

LANSING (AP)—A state legislator says he will ask Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and the Public Service Commission to investigate "fantastic" rates charged by private utility companies for maintenance of freeway lighting systems across the state.

Rep. Jelt Sletsema, D-Grand Rapids, says his estimates show the State Highway Department's practice of contracting with utility companies may raise the cost by as much as 80 per cent.

Under a bill which becomes effective Jan. 1, the highway department assumes responsibility for maintaining freeway and major highway light poles.

It has decided to hire contractors to do the actual work, Sletsema said.

According to his figures, a light pole would be $65 under $325,000 bill for maintenance of the contract system.

Frozen Ponds Hold Dangers for Sitting Ducks

DEARBORN (AP) — Ducks that don't go south shouldn't rest on frozen ponds.

That was the conclusion reached Thursday by Jim Yardley and Booker Bryant of the Michigan Humane Society. They were called to a frozen pond in Henry Ford's Greenfield Village where a noisy wild duck was frozen by its tail feathers.

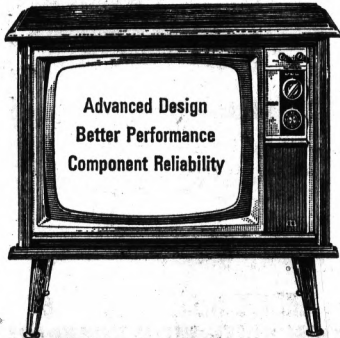

The duck was one of a small flock which has remained at the pond, occupying a small corner which remains unfrozen because of moving water.

"He just must have got out in the middle overnight and got stuck," said Bryant. The men took him to an animal shelter on the grounds for recovery. "He seems to be doing very well," Bryant observed.

HOW WYN SOCK SAVED CHRISTMAS

By Paul Gringle

Joined U.S. Cabinet in 1905

One Bonaparte U.S. Success

PARIS (AP) — The story of a Bonaparte who made good in America is retold this month in a semi-official military publication called Revue de Defense Nationale.

Charles - Joseph Bonaparte, grandson of Napoleon's youngest brother Jerome, accepted on May 21, 1965, an invitation to join the U.S. Cabinet. The invitation came from a friend of Harvard days, Theodore Roosevelt.

President Roosevelt had his State Department make discreet inquiries with Paris to see whether the French government saw any objection. Paris replied favorably. Bonaparte became secretary of the Navy July 1, and later attorney general, in a Cabinet reshuffle.

The emperor's brother Jerome was only 18 when he met Elizabeth Patterson, the daughter of a family high in Baltimore society. The young lieutenant ignored the opposition of the First Consul of France, left his post as second in command of the frigate Epervier, and married Elizabeth before the Roman Catholic archbishop of Baltimore Dec. 24, 1803.

NAPOLÉON ADAMANT

Napoleon remained adamant after the marriage, which ran counter to his plans for his brother. He obtained a civil annulment since Jerome had married under age without his mother's consent, but failed to obtain the consent of Pope Pius VII to a religious annulment. So he "persuaded" the archbishop of Paris to void the religious marriage.

Jerome took his pregnant wife to Lisbon in 1805, in an attempt to win over Napoleon, by the emperor. But he was summoned under escort to Milan and after 11 days Napoleon imposed his will. Jerome later became king of Westphalia, in Germany.

Elizabeth was sent to England, where her son Jerome Napoleon was born. The couple saw each other only once again, a chance encounter in a museum in Florence.

Their son married Suzanne May Williams of Baltimore in 1828 and had two sons. The older, Jerome Napoleon Jr., became a cavalry officer in the United States and also in France under his cousin, Napoleon III.

HARVARD DOCTORATE

Charles-Joseph, the future Cabinet member, was born almost 21 years later. He was educated at the French school in Baltimore, took a doctorate of law from Harvard in 1874, became a member of the Maryland bar that year and married Ellen Channing Day of New England.

His story, as related in the magazine by Regional de Warren, French consul-general in Philadelphia, says Bonaparte was noted for his free defense of the poor before the courts, his fights against corruption in the civil service and politics, and his liberal views on the color question.

Roosevelt pushed him into Maryland politics and made him a member of the executive council of a federal commission on Indian affairs. Bonaparte made a thorough tour of the reservations and wrote a stinging report on conditions.

As secretary of the Navy, Bonaparte supported Roosevelt's policy of a strong Navy as an all-important deterrent to war.

SYMBOLIC ACT

One of his acts, doubly symbolic, was to ask France in 1906 to return the remains of John Paul Jones to the United States. They have been at the U.S. Naval Academy since 1908.

Bonaparte also laid the groundwork for the 1909 circumnavigation of the globe by a major task force. This show-the-flag voyage was designed largely to discourage aggressive Japanese moves in the Pacific.

His one major setback was to underestimate public and congressional opposition to his plan to have the frigate Constitution, "Old Ironsides," sunk at sea. He said her restoration would cost the price of a new vessel. But Congress went ahead and voted the necessary funds.

It's the holiday season, 1795. Jacob Beam and his family are buckboarding it around the Kentucky countryside. Chinning with the neighbors. Giving gifts. Jacob Beam is giving his closest friends a bit of himself. Some Beam Bourbon. It comes right from his own choicest grains. His own secret formula. And his secret knack for making the best-tasting, lightest Bourbon within a two days' ride. It's a rare gift, because Jacob never seems to be able to make enough to keep up with the demand.

Today, T. Jeremiah Beam, pictured here, makes Jim Beam Bourbon just like Jacob did, generations of Beams ago. And he's gift-wrapped it in a handsome holiday package. Give it to some of your friends and you'll sort of be doing what old Jacob did. You'll be giving a bit of yourself. And that's still the rarest gift of all. "World's finest Bourbon since 1795."

SOPHISTICATED LEARNING—Students of Waterford Township's Mott High School yesterday watched as $400,000 worth of computer equipment was delivered. School officials call it the most sophisticated individualized computer learning system in a school in the country. Some 20 units were purchased with federal funds given to the school system's Indocom project. There to admire the equipment were (from left) seniors Christine Childs, Jim Durnbaugh and Stephen Stuk.

NATO to Challenge Reds on Troop Cuts

BRUSSELS (AP) — Fourteen foreign ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization agreed today to challenge the Soviet bloc to discuss mutual troop reductions as a demonstration that the Communists are really serious in proposing a European security conference.

2 in Car Found Unconscious

Two young people were found unconscious early today in an automobile that was destroyed in an accident a West Wide Track and Lafayette.

Lemalle Holmes Jr., 23, of 228 Ferry is in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital under observation for facial lacerations. A passenger, Marley Williams, 29, of 228 Ferry was treated and released after he gained consciousness.

According to police, Holmes lost control of the car driving on an inside lane of West Wide Track, skidded and rolled 40 feet over the embankment on the extreme east side of the street and slammed into the Lafayette curb.

The decision to renew the 18-month-old offer to talk troop reductions emerged at the wind-up session of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers. The ministers were completing a joint declaration on East-West relations and on the Soviet bloc call for a Pan-European security conference in the next six months.

Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann of France also opposed to a West German proposal that the alliance reject the Soviet bloc demand at its Moscow summit meeting Thursday for international recognition of the East German regime. Schumann said such a rejection would imply acceptance of the principle of negotiations between two blocs, and France opposes the division of Europe into blocs.

WXON Seeking Channel Switch

WALLED LAKE — WXON-TV, Inc., operator of WXON-TV, has requested permission to change from Channel 62 to Channel 20, the Federal Communications Commission announced yesterday.

A WXON spokesman said the request to change to a lower frequency stemmed from a belief that "the lower UHF channels, where available, are better received on older television sets."

"You can cover the area a little better with a substantially lower channel because the tuners on older sets are more sensitive to the lower frequency," he said.

The FCC also announced receipt of application for the transfer of licenses of Jackson, Mich., radio station WKHM and WKHM-FM, from Jackson Broadcasting Corp. to WKHM Inc.

MASERU, Lesotho (AP) — Organizers of this southern African kingdom's first animal welfare society say the group will try to check on the treatment of impounded beasts and provide food and water for pack animals.

Harvard Hall Seized by Black Protesters

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Authorities announced today that 50 and 100 blacks through loudspeakers outside seized Harvard's University Hall today, blocking windows after the seizure that those inside were trespassing and would be liable to trespass charges.

The blacks made no immediate response, and there was no evidence at that point of police. University Hall, Harvard's main administration building, was the scene of an anti-ROTC takeover last spring led by Students for a Democratic Society.

It ended when police swept in and arrested nearly 200 persons on trespass charges in an early morning melee that left several persons injured.

It has made a variety of demands ranging from greater Negro enrollment at the 33-year old Ivy League institution to improvements for Negro laborers employed by the school. The university has an enrollment of about 15,000.

TURNED AWAY — The demonstrators moved into the building before the start of the business day, and employees reporting for work were turned away.

They made no immediate attempt to communicate with university officials. The administration said shortly after the takeover that it was uncertain about the blacks' demands.

Police Counselors OK'd

The addition of two police counselors to serve two junior high schools each was approved by a 4-1 vote of the Pontiac School Board last night.

Police counselors work in secondary schools in a cooperative arrangement between the school district and the City of Pontiac, to serve as a resource person to school personnel in preventing juvenile delinquency and as a member of the guidance team.

Police counselors have been working in each of the senior high schools since 1965 and one additional police counselor was assigned to Eastern Junior High in 1968.

The plan is to have three police counselors for the six junior high schools in the city, with each counselor serving two schools, said Assistant Supt. William Leacy.

The school district and city share the salaries of the counselors. Salaries have not yet been determined for the new counselors, but will be worked out when police officers are assigned to the positions.

Voting against the proposal was board member Dr. Robert R. Turpin, who said he feels the district should use approaches for controlling the problems in the schools other than police counselors.

He added he feels the police counselors are doing a good job.

Board members Russell Brown and Christopher Brown were absent.

BONDING REQUEST

The board also voted last night to go to the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission again for approval to issue $4 million in bonds.

The commission failed to approve a request to issue $3.4 million in March for the purpose of completing the Human Resource Center, remodeling and additions to the Kennedy and Eastern Junior, adding classrooms to Northern High School and purchasing portable classrooms for Madison Junior High.

Schools Business Manager Vernon L. Schiller said he had been told at that time by the commission the school district should use proceeds from a $19-million bond issue sold in 1968, until additional funds were needed.

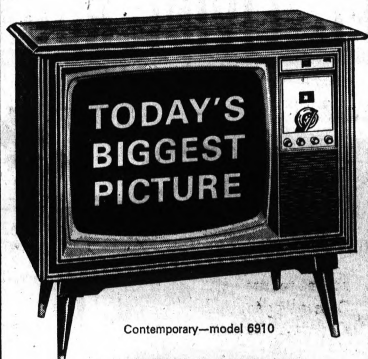

He said he was assured by telephone the commission would approve the request at this time since the funds are now necessary.

Since it takes a period of several months to prepare and receive approval on a bond issue, Schiller said it is appropriate to submit a request to the commission now in anticipation of selling the bonds in the spring of 1970.

The $4 million will complete the $23-million school district bond authorized by school electors in March 1968.

'Laugh-In' Has Woes

By GENE HANDSAKER
BURBANK, Calif. (U) — On a recent day when television's audience-ratings champion "Laugh-In" had skidded into seventh place, star Dan Rowan said good morning to staff comic Alan Sues.

"Don't speak to me!" snapped Sues, who plays the eye-rolling, bell-tinkling sportscaster Big Al. "I only talk to people who are No. 1."

Sues was kidding, of course. But in "Laugh-In," seen Monday nights on NBC by TV's largest over-the-season average audience, a claimed four million people — in trouble?

On the surface it would seem so.

• Goldie Hawn, 23, the smart blonde who acts dumb, leaves after this season to continue a movie career she has just begun in "Cactus Flower" with Ingrid Bergman and Walter Matthau. She may return occasionally for a guest bit.

• England's Judy Carne, 30, the "sock-it-to-me" girl who repeatedly has been hit with water, shot with arrows, showered with ping-pong balls, fallen through trapdoors or had buildings collapse on her, is returning to her first love, the stage.

• Worst of all, producer-head writer Paul W. Keyes quit with a blast to a trade columnist that the show was "slanted, vulgar and dirty."

MYSTIFYING

Ex-"Laugh-In" associates say they're mystified by Keyes' resignation and deny his charge.

"If I thought the show was that, I wouldn't be involved with it," says Rowan, who adds that he has no hostility toward Keyes but does feel hurt. "What he said didn't make sense. The guy had been totally involved with the material he was knocking."

Keyes' outburst — which he now refuses to discuss, saying he spoke in a moment of anger — underscored the question: Does "Laugh-In" have problems?

Answer: It certainly does. They're the kind any star or producer would give two points off his latest Nielsen for — the problems of staying on top.

That's where it has been twice in the last four weeks ratings. On successive tabulations, the No. 1 spot has gone to "Laugh-In," "Gunsmoke," "My Three Sons."

The Nielsen national listings issued Tuesday gave CBS' "My Three Sons" 28 per cent of the potential audience for the week of Nov. 17-23. NBC's "Bonanza" was second with 27.4, CBS' "Gunsmoke" third with 27.3, "Laugh-In" fourth with 26.9 and NBC's Walt Disney fifth with 25.8.

"Laugh-In" executive Ed Friendly says that show would have been No. 1 or 2 if a half-hour live telecast from Apollo 12 hadn't disrupted it midway through on the West Coast.

He says average ratings for the 10 weeks of this season show audience leaders to be, in order, "Laugh-In," "Bonanza" and "Gunsmoke." "Laugh-In" also led the averages last year.

With a record like that, what are the problems?

BACKBREAKING JOB

"Keeping it fresh and getting it done," says Carolyn Raskin, who stepped up from coproducer to producer when Keyes left.

Friendly, president of Schlatter-Friendly Productions, which turns out the show in association with stars Rowan and Dick Martin, says: "The problem is that it's the most backbreaking, time-consuming man-eater of any series ever attempted."

But basking in the seasonal averages, he adds: "All my life I've been hoping to have such problems. If people will just say we can't keep it up, maybe our luck will hold out."

As a series "Laugh-In" began

Jan. 22, 1968, in 43rd place, and 14 shows later, at the half-season's end, had climbed to fourth. In the next full season, and so far in this, it has been No. 1 in the averages.

Rowan says, "Keyes' resignation and what he said — which he later told me he wished he hadn't said — undoubtedly hurt the show. He was a workhorse. His absence was sorely felt, but the cavity is slowly being filled."

NOT REGRETTED

Keyes, an independent producer, says: "I don't regret my three years with the show, but I would have regretted it if I'd stayed. It's my past. It's a good show; I watch it every Monday."

Keyes has written jokes for some of President Nixon's speeches, and a recent crack by Vice President Spiro Agnew — that he had been assigned Air Force 13, a glider — is attributed to Keyes. It was he who brought in Nixon for prelection taping of "sock-it-to-me" flash appearances on "Laugh-In."

Body Chemistry of Fat, Starving Persons Called Oddly Alike

NEW YORK (UPI) The odd, hidden thing about a well-fed fat person is that he is behaving metabolically like a starving lean person, according to Dr. Walter M. Bortz, a physiological scientist who concentrates on obesity.

The fat person's body chemistry is burning relatively more fat and relatively less blood sugar than is normal. "This is the precise metabolic setting found in starvation in the lean," said Bortz. It is the vestige of an ancient human adaptation which probably saved the race from extinction. At one time people survived periods of famine by living on body fat they stored in periods of plenty. By getting fat, "the hibernating bear and the migrating bird effectively anticipate their needs," said Bortz. So did people, in the long ago.

NO LONGER USEFUL

But the adaptation no longer is useful for well-fed people "aside from extraordinary circumstances such as shipwreck or arctic life," said Bortz. Now it "generates liability to health and life."

At the Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia, vastly improved techniques have permitted scientists to pinpoint metabolic differences in the fat and the lean.

These he explained to the American College of Physicians in its technical journal. Those differences, definitely exist, he said, but despite many reports to the contrary, they are not the cause of obesity. Rather, they are the result.

The name Massachusetts is a combination of three Algonquin Indian words meaning "near and great mountain."

VARSITY CLUB INITIATES

Varsity Club Initiatives were held during school hours Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Each initiate was assigned a proctor to which he was a slave for the three days. He had to do exactly as his proctor wished and had to bring his proctor bags of candy and other goodies.

Freshmen at Holly are in the midst of a magazine drive. They have canvassed Holly armed with pens and order pads, seeking subscriptions. They cannot be undersold. If a person has a coupon for a magazine they will sell the subscription to you for that price.

Money obtained from the magazine drive will be used to build up the freshmen treasury.

Mrs. A. A. Hartz, head of the Holly home economics department, and her home economics classes packed 28 boxes of candy, cookies and other goodies to send to area boys stationed overseas for the Christmas holidays.

Club at Mott Hunts Homes for Foreigners

By GEORGIA ROSEWALL

Finding homes for South American exchange students is the immediate goal of the Foreign Exchange Club at Waterford Mott High School.

"This is an opportunity for various Mott families to learn about a foreign culture on a personal basis," said Teri Featherston.

"We definitely need a home for a high school boy and more students may be placed if additional families show interest," she added.

Any WMH family desiring more information should contact Mrs. Clayton Toth, Foreign Exchange Club sponsor.

CANDY CANE SALE

Club members are now organizing their second annual candy cane sale which will begin Dec. 16.

Profits will go towards sending students abroad this summer.

A stationery and recipe card sale is also being planned for early January. Price is $1 each.

Meetings are held every Monday immediately after school in Kennedy-E.

TREAT FOR TEACHER

Guest speakers and movies on foreign countries are presented.

Four drafting students introduced Mott's teacher from Taiwan to American culture by treating him to an old-fashioned Thanksgiving dinner.

Turkey, pumpkin pie, and the traditional trimmings were served to drafting teacher James Wei by Bob Meyer, Paul Swanson, William Elliot and Jim Jenkinson.

They collected money to help pay for the dinner.

ADDS OWN TOUCHES

"I was very surprised," said Wei.

Adding his own touches like sweet rice and mushrooms, he said "It was a very good dinner."

Quest (English) class is having a Film Festival Wednesday during school and Thursday at 7:30 p.m. to show films that the students themselves made.

Ranging from documentary to satire to social comments, the films will be shown at 50 cents for students and 75 cents for adults.

Profits will go towards the cost of making the films and future Quest projects.

DIFFERENT OUTLOOK

With basketball season getting under way tonight, class competition and the awarding of the spirit horn took on a different outlook.

Throughout the week classes competed by donating money, the class that raises the most wins the spirit horn.

Sponsored by the cheerleaders, the money collected will go towards the purchasing of a scoreboard, first-aid kits and other necessities.

Tonight the Corsairs will meet North Farmington away. Junior varsity game starts at 6:30 p.m. with Varsity at 8 p.m.

WTH Yule Dance Tonight

Northern High Ski Club Adding to Membership

By GARY SHERWOOD

The Pontiac Northern Ski Club is now opening membership to new interested members.

The club, under sponsors Jay Bates, biology instructor, and Helene Swanson, business education teacher, held its first meeting yesterday.

Dues were lowered to $2 to promote a larger club.

The club will ski on Mondays after school at Pine Knob.

Student Union this year is down 200 members from last year, starting Monday, it will reopen its membership drive to gain more students.

The cost will still be $8 and will include all home basketball games, swimming and wrestling meets, Polaris and the 1970 yearbook.

Sponsor Miss Swanson noted that "other groups, such as the Polaris, and sports teams are suffering and having to make cutbacks due to the low membership this year."

Membership in the Student Union, now consisting of a little more than 600 students, allows the student to save up to $14 on school functions.

MUST COOPERATE

However, in order to work, at least one-third of the school must cooperate.

This is a worthwhile operation which includes representation from each homeroom to collect money and issue passes.

Winner of the Ugly Athlete Contest was Bruce Bennett, member of the football team. The six boys together collected $140.71 which goes to the International Club.

Last week, the faculty basketball team squeaked past the seniors 36-35. A lot of credit has to go to player-coach Jay Schutt, English teacher, for coordinating his team from being nothing to very lucky.

As for Mel Reeves, player-coach of the seniors, it was a hard fought battle all the way before giving up to age in the final seconds. Incidentally, it was the closest the seniors have ever come in beating their "superiors."

Officers for the Girls' Athletic Club are Peggy Teague, president; Bev. Gibson, vice president; Terri Durfee, secretary; Judy Long, treasurer; Barb Liddy, sergeant-at-arms; and Sandy VanHook, historian.

The club has been competing in volleyball lately against other area schools. Basketball will soon start, followed by swimming. Sponsors are Judy Fallon and Octavia McCall of the faculty.

In a cheerleading clinic last Saturday at Pontiac Catholic, varsity cheerleaders, represented by Sally Campbell, Dorothy Duncan, and Denise Vallad, took first place in congeniality. Junior varsity cheerleaders also took first in the same classification.

joyable club. Anyone interested in riding should join."

Tuesday a pep assembly was held prior to the first basketball game of the season. During the assembly, cheerleaders presented Principal Helen Bulla with a second-place trophy for their efforts in area cheerleading competition.

Varsity affirmative debaters Bill Youngquist and Mark Erlinson beat Pontiac Northern in their debate Tuesday.

Winning on the junior varsity negative side were Ina Johnson and Terry Haskins against Walled Lake Central.

The next debate is scheduled for next Wednesday at PNH.

Last night students played the faculty in basketball.

"At first not many boys were showing up, they thought the club was just for girls. Now that the club is under way we have plenty of both boys and girls," said Barbara Allomong, history teacher.

Besides riding, the club has been busy electing officers—Debbie Pass, president; Pat Majors, vice president; Lynn Herrington, secretary; and Pat Tugwell, treasurer.

Miss Allomong and Alicia Pollard are the sponsors.

FUTURE EVENTS

Future activities planned include all-day riding and hayrides.

Student Karen Johnson summed up the feelings for the club, "It's really an en-dance. Students heading up the various committees are Dan Villella, Tony Poulos, Ed Bertrand, Rick Newland, Debbie Lundgren, Sue Neff, Jim Main and Chris Vanduesen.

The dress is casual. Admission charge is $1.50 stag and $2.50 drag. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

"A first in this area" describes the Riding Club, one of the new extracurricular activities this year.

Business meetings are held each Monday after school. Horseback riding sessions start at 2:30 p.m. Thursdays.

AT DOUBLE D RANCH

Riding is done at the Double D Ranch in Clintonville. Student transportation is provided to and from the ranch by varsity club members.

W. Bloomfield Adds an Honor: a Junior Miss

By PEG BAKER

A new title has been added to the collection at West Bloomfield, this time a Junior Miss. Saturday four girls from WBH competed against seven girls from Walled Lake in the annual pageant sponsored by the Union Lake Jaycees.

Representing WBH were, Debbie Summers, Kathi Martin, Pam Cherney and Cheri Bradford.

After rehearsals, nervous flutters and mounting tension the girls were given final briefings by the judges and left to their own resources on the stage.

Each girl gave a four-minute talent presentation and walked in their formal gowns. They were judged on scholastic achievement, talent and poise.

Winning the title of Junior Miss and a $200 college scholarship was Kathi Martin, daughter of Mrs. Richard Martin of Mandale Drive, West Bloomfield Township.

Second runner-up was Cheri Bradford. The Girls Athletic Association volleyball team defeated six other area teams Nov. 22 to walk away with the volleyball championship held at Pontiac Northern.

West Bloomfield opens its basketball season tonight at Clarkson. The annual student-faculty game is scheduled for tomorrow night at Abbot Junior High. Tickets will be $1 at the door. Proceeds go towards the athletic fund.

At Walled Lake Central

History Club Is Formed

By JOANNE SANDERSON

Walled Lake Central has a new History Club.

Sponsor of the club is Glenn Ruggles, social studies teacher.

The purpose of the club is to "trace and record the history of the Walled Lake region."

To achieve this goal, the club is turning to the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, which provides that historical sites found throughout the United States be put on a national register.

WILL BE HONORED

The law also provides that once these sites are registered they will be honored as much as possible by highway developers and urban renewal projects. This national register is kept by the secretary of the Interior.

In turn each state will designate a commission to carry on the project in the same manner as the federal project. The Michigan Historical Commission is already boosting the project.

Actually the Michigan Historical Society has been in existence since 1955. Since this time the commission has gathered information on over 2,300 sites. The chief aim is to survey all sites of historical significance and help preserve them.

The club is trying to recapture the history of this area on film. It is gathering old photos to help in the quest.

BECAME INVOLVED

Students became involved last year as part of the American History classes

CHRISTMAS JOY — With Christmas comes the trimming of trees and a holiday dance for Waterford Township students tonight from 8-11. Decorating the tree for the festivities are Margie Libby, Dan Villella (foreground) and Tony Poulos. Admission price is $1.50 stag and $2.50 drag.

Dinner Honoring Christian High Set

By LAURA KIRKPATRICK

An annual Christmas dinner to honor Oakland Christian High School will be held Thursday at 6:30 p.m. at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church, 404 Oakland. James Bowden, superintendent at Lansing Christian School, will be the main speaker.

The dinner will also mark the launching of "1,000 Friends of Oakland Christian High School."

Special music will be women's trio composed of Mrs. Martin Wiles, Mrs. Raymond Breder, and Mrs. Ward Reid.

An Oakland Christian student, Mark Allebach, will play a piano solo.

The second six weeks marking period ended last Tuesday. Report cards were issued today.

Avondale Picks 3 Seniors for Teen Program

By PATTI ANDRUS

Avondale High School has selected three seniors for the 1970 Outstanding Teen-agers, Diane Eldon, Randy Cornell and Gary Price.

Under the sponsorship of the nonprofit Outstanding Americans Foundation, the Outstanding Teen-agers of America program provides an opportunity to recognize and encourage outstanding young people.

Avondale's three nominees were selected according to such factors as leadership, community or school service, extra-curricular or religious activities, scholarship and sports.

Diane Eldon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Eldon, South Boulevard, Troy. She is a member of the National Honor Society, Future Teachers of America, and was chosen Miss Daughter of American Revolution for this year. Diane plans to attend Oakland University and be a music teacher.

COUNCIL MEMBER

Randy Cornell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cornell of Greenwood Street, Pontiac Township. Randy is a member of the Student Council, Future Teachers of America, newspaper staff, football and baseball team.

Gary Price is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Price, Vermorel Drive, Troy. He is captain of the football team, vice president of the National Honor Society, a member of the Student Council and the Varsity Club.

A certificate and plaque sponsored by the Optimists Club will be presented to the student with Gary's name engraved on it. It is in recognition of his leadership, athletics and academics.

Gary plans to go into the field of law and political science. He also wants to play football in college.

Each one of these students will receive a certificate recognizing the honor.

Store Open Monday at Utica Stevenson

By ROXANNE BURKE

The staff of Stevenson's own campus store, the "Mount Olympus Titan Shoppe" tentatively has set Monday for its grand opening.

The initial idea for the Shoppe originated last spring as a project for business management and organization classes under the supervision of the instructor, Mrs. Hazel Henson.

The classes drew up plans for the store and presented them to the board of education. They then received a loan not to exceed $4,000 for merchandise and one not to exceed $4,500 for equipment.

"As far as anyone knows, this is the first time in the history of the Utica Community School System that students have planned and proposed a course of study," Mrs. Henson said.

STUDENT-OPERATED

The store itself has grown into a student-operated business. The staff, headed by Chris Cundick and Roxanne Burke and Marlene Szumski as adviser consists of some 30 Stevenson students who have examined and ordered merchandise, transacted business affairs and kept records of all accounts under the guidance of Mrs. Henson.

Jerry Hale, junior, and sophomore Bob Burke are serving as managers-in-training.

Due to the late arrival of showcases and other fixtures, the opening of the Titan Shoppe was postponed from its hopeful early November date and left a big question mark.

It wasn't until two weeks ago when the overdue supplies arrived that the Dec. 15 date was set. Now the only thing the Shoppe lacks is its Christmas spirit and book shelving.

Top RAH Teen-Agers Chosen

By PAT VOLL

The Outstanding Americans Foundation (OAF) announced last week the three students from Rochester Adams High School among those selected as Outstanding Teenagers of America for 1970.

The three are seniors Mike Hall, Scott Kennedy and Denise Marecki. They were the three nominated by the school and will compete for state and national awards in the Outstanding Teenagers of America program.

Scott and Mike are outstanding athletes and members of the Varsity Club.

Scott is president of the National Honor Society this year at Adams.

Mike was a member of the United Nations Affairs Class in his junior year and is active in other organizations.

Denise organized the first Pep Club in her freshman year. She was vice president of the Future Nurses Club last year and serves as a Criticizer at Rochester's Crittenton Hospital.

Denise was a representative on the Homecoming Court at Rochester High last year and again this fall at Adams.

The recipients of these honors were selected on the basis of ability and achievement. They will compete with other winners in the state for the Governor's trophy awarded annually to the most outstanding teen-ager of each state.

Each of the 50 state winners will be eligible for one of two National Outstanding Teenagers of America awards and college scholarships, made available by the OAF.

John Putnam, president of the foundation, has said it is the goal of this awards program "to recognize and encourage the ability and achievements of today's youth. They are America's leaders of tomorrow."

Rochester Adams art classes held their art show Wednesday. The classes sold their projects such as printed stationery, silk screening and Christmas decorations. Pottery and sketches were also sold.

DECORATED WITH HONORS — Enjoying the recent art show are Rochester Adams seniors (from left) Mike Hall, Denise Marecki and Scott Kennedy who were selected as Outstanding Teen-agers of America for 1970. They were chosen on the basis of ability and achievement.

THEY'RE IN — Among the nearly 300 bowlers who have already qualified for the championship rounds of the Pontiac Open bowling tournament are three of these four bowlers. Dotie Senter (642) and Bill Locke (601) left, teamed up in the Mix 'N Match doubles. Marlene Shears (614) right qualified but her partner Bob Lorenz missed last Sunday. All qualifying ends this weekend at nine sites in the area. A target score of 600, including handicap, is needed for a bowler to earn the right to take part in the championship rounds.

Highs in Qualifying May Be Bettered

"I'm not going to press to be high qualifier. I just want to get my 600 and then I'll start thinking about the big money."

This is how one bowler put it who failed in his first attempt to qualify for the 13th annual Pontiac Open bowling championship.

Some bowlers will be shooting to do better the high totals in qualifying and win some of the added money. Others however feel it would be better not to have that pressure, just hit their target score and then wait for the championship rounds to be concerned about scoring.

In either case, all qualifying will end about 10:00 p.m. Sunday night.

SUNDAY JAM

All nine houses have their squads set and a jam could result for the mid-afternoon Sunday squads. Cooley, Billy G. Lanes and Firebird Lanes have Saturday squads, and other houses may add them.

Bowlers should check with the house in which they desire to qualify for specific squad times.

Among the added prizes in qualifying there are high qualifying, high series and high games in each qualifying house.

Several bowlers are leading in some houses in two and even all three categories.

Bob Chamberlain leads all three divisions at Cooley with his 690 series and 257 games high.

John Zoellner's 740 actual and 761 total are the top scores in any house. He fired the series last week at North Hill while Fran Bertram was hitting the high game of 275.

HIGHS MAY FALL

Many of the highs may fall in this final weekend of qualifying. It is almost certain that the highs at 300 Bowl will tumble.

Ed Hawley's 667 leads the qualifying but a 605 actual currently stands as high series by Gary LaClair, who also has the current high game of 242 there.

Howe's could have a change in lead where Steve Olesick, Sr. leads with 685 high qualifying and 673 high series. A 700 total might result in Howe's qualifying this weekend.

Larry Lucas and S. B. Saylor are tied for high game there with 266. They will each receive identical prizes should the tie stay.

At Airway Lanes, John Rossetta and Bruce Martin are tied for the lead with 67's. If this should remain, they will each win a prize but have a one game rolloff for the high qualifying trophy. Rossetta lead with the high actual series with 633, while Jim Rutkowski's 234 is the high game at Airway.

William Sommerville has two leads at Collier with his 688 total and 635 actual series, but Jim Pincumb currently leads the high game honor with 247.

At Billy G. Lanes, formerly Maple Lanes, Billy G. himself is making a sweep of the three divisions with his 704 actual and 288 high game.

William Foster with 725 tops the big qualifying list at Firebird Lanes. Doug Swords is high series' leader with 667 and Jim Gillespie's 277 high game will be tough to beat.

Duane Rogers holds two leads at West Side with his 723 total and 689 high series, while Bob Little is tops in high game with 265.

HIT TARGET ONLY

Bowlers do not have to beat these high qualifying scores in their bid for championship money. They need only hit the target score of 600 or better, including their handicaps, to qualify.

Presently 286 bowlers have already qualified and there is a possibility that 300 more may qualify this final weekend alone, which would send almost 600 in the semifinals, Sunday Dec. 14, at Firebird Lanes.

If this happens there would be two squads set up for Saturday Dec. 13, and bowlers could request these squads to alleviate the jam on Sunday.

Shirley Painter is supervisor of the tournament semifinals at Firebird Lanes.

These are the current highs in qualifying:

Bengal Talked Once Too Often

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Last weekend Tiger Pitcher Pat Dobson chided team officials with lacking guts to make personnel changes during the trading season.

But Dobson found out different Thursday night when the Tigers traded him.

"I bet they don't make a deal to improve our defense," said Dobson Nov. 30. "They're just afraid to make a change."

Dobson said the pitchers were getting the blame for errors actually made by the infield.

General Manager Jim Campbell, stung by Dobson's criticism, sent Dobson to the San Diego Padres, who finished 41 games out of first place in the National League's Western Division last season.

SECOND DEAL

In return, Detroit picked up Joe Nickro, a 25-year-old right hander.

Manager Mayo Smith said, "Dobson's criticism had nothing whatever to do with the deal."

The deal was the second for the Tigers in two days of bargaining at the Miami Beach baseball meeting.

Earlier, the Tigers had sent Joe Sparrano—who had also been in the manager's doghouse—to the Montreal Expos in exchange for pitcher Jerry Lee Robertson.

The Tigers now have six pitchers who have been starters in the majors — Denny McLain, Lolich, Earl Wilson, Mike Killebrew, Robertson and Nickro.

Everything Ready for Grid Game of Year

No. 1 Longhorns Set to Skirmish No. 2 Arkansas

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — All is ready for college football's Game of the Year.

The synthetic grass at Fayetteville has been vacuumed.

President Nixon has his tickets.

A national television audience estimated at 50 million is waiting.

Texas vs. Arkansas, No. 1 vs. No. 2.

The game pits Texas, averaging more than 44 points a game, against Arkansas, with the best defense in the land against scoring.

The winner earns the Southwest Conference championship, a spot in the Cotton Bowl opposite Notre Dame and the inside track to the national championship.

SUGARY CONSOLATION

The loser goes to the Sugar Bowl in New Orleans and a far less glamorous date with a 7-3 Mississippi team.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles says Texas' execution of its relative simple offense will be the Razorback's biggest problem.

"They are exact in what they do," he said. "Faking is the big problem. They have their bread and butter plays and they come at you with them."

"What you have to do in defending against the triple option kills your pursuit," Broyles said. "You must commit a man to each hole, even though you'd rather not. If one man misses, there'll be no help until the ball carrier gets to the safety. And they've got blockers cracking at safety."

PASSING ATTACK

And, as Oklahoma found out, the Longhorns can pass.

The soopers massed nine men on the line of scrimmage, jumped off to a 14-0 lead and then succumbed when quarterback James Street began finding split end Cotton Speyer.

Arkansas, however, has not conceded.

As one coach put it: "We've got a contract to fulfill. We'll be there."

Utilizing the pro-type attack, Arkansas has averaged more than 35 points a game and has not scored less than three touchdowns in any game.

The Arkansas offense blends the running of Bill Burnett and Bruce Maxwell with the passing of quarterback Bill Montgomery.

NOTHING SPECIAL

"Texas is so sound defensively," says Montgomery. "They line up and say, 'Here we are, come after us with anything you've got, we're gonna stop it.' They're such good players, so well-coached, that they don't have to do anything special."

"For instance, they put a great deal of pressure on the passer with just their four down linemen," he said.

Coach Don Brenaux, who Broyles recruited from Florida State two years ago to install the pro-style offense, says the Texas defense is sound.

"You almost know what they will be in," he said. "They have certain adjustments they make regardless of who they play. They have basically an eighteen man front, but they're versatile."

"We've got to do a good job on our pass protection," Breax said. "And our short-yardage and goal-line plays are very critical."

Detroit Quintet Wins

Don Palacios and Hamon Cross each scored 24 points last night to lead Detroit Bible College to an opening basketball victory over Macomb Community College, 67-63. Frank Wojnicki hit 22 for Macomb which trailed, 34-22, at the half.

2 Wolverines Placed on All-American

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Last week when tight end Jim Mandich received the award as the University of Michigan's Most Valuable Player in football he said: "In my heart I feel there was no one outstanding individual. It was a individual — there were at least two. All-American team."

Well, there was no "one" outstanding individual — there were at least two. Mandich and safety Tom Curtis have been named to the Associated Press All American team.

Mandich follows a long list of outstanding ends at Michigan that includes such greats as Bennie Oosterbaan, Ron Kramer, and Jack Clancy.

In his three years the 6-foot-3, 220-pound captain from Solon, Ohio, grabbed 111 passes for 1,415 yards and seven touchdowns. This season he snarled 42 for 583 yards and four TDs.

SECOND PLACE

He is second behind Clancy in number of catches and yardage, but he prides himself on his blocking.

"Tight end is a rather new position," Mandich said earlier this season. "They're always finding new dimensions for it."

Blocking, he said, "is just as big a challenge as getting open and catching a pass."

Curtis, a 6-foot-1, 187-pounder from Aurora, Ohio, has been an outstanding defensive back for three years. He intercepted 25 passes in three years to place second on the all-time NCAA list. This year he picked off eight for 156 yards.

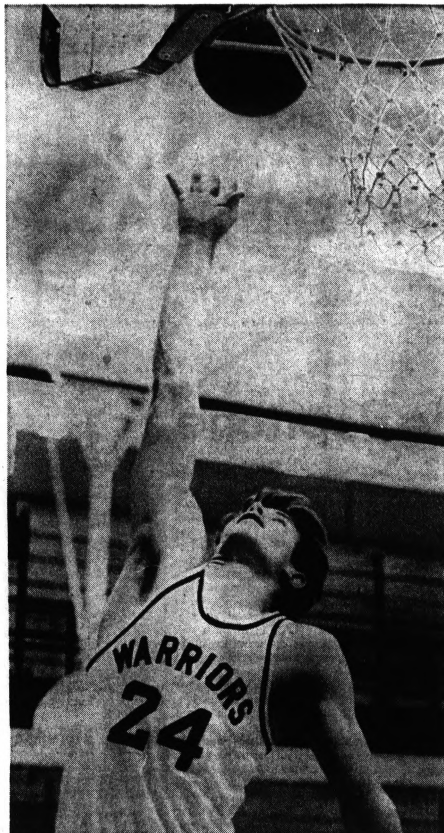

HONORABLE MENTION

Fellow defensive back Barry Pierson, who intercepted seven enemy aerials this year, was named to the honorable mention list along with Wolverine linebackers Henry Hill and Marty Huff, defensive end Cecil Pryor, offensive tackle Dan Dierdorf, fullback Garvie Craw, and tailback Billy Taylor.

Michigan State's Ron Saul, a guard, was named to the third team offense. Spartan defensive tackle Ron Curl, and linebacker Don Law were honorable mentions, along with offensive guard Keith Volk and defensive tackle Mike Stewik of Western Michigan.

Taylor is a sophomore. Huff, Dierdorf, and Curl are juniors, and the rest seniors.

Fans Jeer Wings Into Tie With Boston, 4-4

DETROIT — The fans in Olympia Stadium may have awakened the Detroit Red Wings to facts of National Hockey League life just in time last night.

They let loose murderous howls when it looked like the Wings simply weren't interested in winning the game with Boston which ended in a 4-4 deadlock.

The Red Wings trailed by three goals at the outset and 4-2 entering the final 20 minutes.

The only other NHL game played had a 70-foot shot by Jacques Lemire trickle between goalie Tony Esposito's legs to give Montreal a 1-0 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks.

SLUMP BROKEN

Lemire's 11th goal of the season and 21st point was the first score by the Canadiens against the Black Hawks after 156:02 scoreless minutes.

Montreal moved within two points of a tie with idle New York in the East Division with the Canadiens' sixth unbeaten game in a row. Detroit moved a point up on Chicago, which lost only for the second time in 14 contests, in their fight for fourth place.

It was a goal by Wayne Connelly, his seventh, with a bare 1:57 to play which earned the Red Wings their tie. The 13,560 fans at Olympia, who had jeered when the club trailed 3-0, rained litter on the ice and halted play for five minutes after Connelly's shot from close range caught the upper left hand corner of the net.

Frank Mahovlich had brought Detroit within a goal of Boston only 4:44 earlier with his second goal of the game and 12th this season, a power play score which deflected off a Bruin defender past goalie Ed Johnston.

Pistol Pete Fires Away in LSU Win

Maravich Scores 43 in Season Opener Against Oregon St.

By the Associated Press
Pistol Pete is shooting those baskets down again.

Pete Maravich, the 6-foot-5 All-American from Louisiana State, started his senior year in college basketball (LSU) by throwing in 43 points Thursday night to lead the Bayou Tigers to a 47-2 victory over Oregon State.

Pistol Pete, the No. 1 scorer in the college game as a sophomore and a junior, put on a dazzling performance that delighted his father, Press Maravich, LSU coach.

"I think he did a great job of playmaking," said his dad. "He threw the ball behind his back, between his legs and around his ears for seven assists. He shot well from the floor and the free throw line."

"Pete's like a light bulb," the elder Maravich added. He sure lit up the court with his 43 points, a bit shy of his 44.2 point average last season, on 14 field goals and 15 of 19 from the foul line.

CAREER TOTAL
The 43 points boosted Pete's career total to 2,329. He needs only 645 more to shatter Oscar Robertson's all-time career total of 2,973 during the Big O's days at the U. of Cincinnati.

Across the country from Baton Rouge, in Las Cruces, N.M., New Mexico State lived up to its national sixth-place ranking by crushing Wichita State 108-76.

The Aggies, led by 32 points from 6-8 junior Jeff Smith, wiped out an 11-point deficit and won going away from the Shockers.

'Polar Bears' of Silver Lake Host Ski Meet

Bridge Tricks From Jacobys

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY

"I ought to give up you!" groaned the Unlucky Expert. "Maybe I ought to give up cards entirely. In fact maybe I should stay in bed and avoid the chance of a street accident."

Junior Editors Quiz on SABBATH

QUESTION: Why did Christians change the original Sabbath to Sunday?

ANSWER: In the Bible, Exodus 20, verse 8, we read: "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy," and further on, "Thou shalt not do any work" with this explanation given in verse 11: "For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth... and rested the seventh day, wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it."

Our quotations are a part of the 10 commandments given to Moses to transmit to the Jewish people.

Jews regard their Sabbath as a day of spiritual rejoicing. By abstaining from everyday tasks, they can more fully concentrate on religious and intellectual ideas.

By 313 A.D., Christianity had spread far beyond its obscure original beginning. The Roman Emperor Constantine procured toleration for it by the edict of Milan, and in 336 A.D. he moved the seat of the empire to the ancient city of Byzantium, which he renamed Constantinople. A convert to the new faith, he spread its influence far and wide.

It was following this time that Christians, desiring to preserve the idea of the Lord's Day, decided to Christianize it by transferring it to Sunday, the day of the resurrection of Jesus. Soon all the Christian world adopted Sunday as its own Sabbath.

Dean Envisions Machine as Pet

STREETSVILLE, Ont. (AP)

"I can even see the day when a machine becomes a pet," said Dean Irwin M. Spiegel of the University of Toronto's Engineering College.

He plans a three-year study of the feasibility of machines that would cry, blith and produce other emotions now reserved for humans.

"Don't go that far," we advised. "The roof might fall on you! What is your latest tale of woe about?"

"Cautious Cal who sat West ought to give up cards entirely. In fact maybe I should stay in bed and avoid the chance of a street accident."

an ace against a slam unless he thought he had another trick in reserve so I decided to go against normal percentage play. In line with that plan I dropped the king of diamonds from dummy so that I could win the second diamond in my hand.

"He was nice enough to lead a second diamond. I won, played the jack of trumps and finessed. The 10 followed for a second finesse. Then over to dummy with the ace, ace of clubs followed by ruffing the eight of clubs so as to be able to pull the last trump and dummy reserve so I decided to go against normal percentage play. In line with that plan I dropped the king of diamonds from dummy so that I could win the second diamond in my hand.

"Perfect play!" we said. "What's so terrible about that?"

Somehow or other the contract at every other table was no-trump. There was nothing to the play since all declarer had to do was to concede a trick to the ace of diamonds and claim his slam. I received the same bottom score I would have had for down one.

"Don't quit!" we advised. "You played perfectly, although with complete lack of success."

Moth Larvae Hit Pine Trees

Bushy tips, brown needles at twig tips, twisted, curled branches and excessive resin on buds are signs of European pine shoot moth damage to pine trees.

The insect attacks Scotch, red, mugo, Japanese red and black, Austrian and jack pines, especially young ones.

They cause stunting and deformed growth.

The adult moth has a wingspan up to three-quarters of an inch. Its forewings are reddish-orange with silvery, irregularly forked bands. The hind wings are brown or dark gray.

EGGS

The females usually lay eggs by the first of July. The eggs hatch in 10 days. The larvae feed by mining into the base of needles, destroying leaf tissue.

When fully developed, the caterpillars are about three-quarters of an inch long.

They hibernate under pitch masses or in a mined bud through the winter as larvae and emerge as moths the following June.

Another serious pest of pine varieties is the spittle bug, recognized by frothy masses of spittle dripping from trees.

DAMAGE

Damage includes yellowing of foliage, loss of growth and death of twig terminals.

This insect destroys by sucking, feeding on the sap in the twig tissues.

Christmas Idea for Small Fry

There are many different kinds of seeds that can be strung into necklaces.

Watermelon seeds make a pretty black necklace and pumpkin seeds a cream colored one.

But Chris is using sunflower seeds and kidney beans because it is winter time and both of these are easy to buy from a store. The only trouble is that they are so dry they have to be soaked in water to soften them in order to stick a needle through them.

This soaking isn't needed when seeds are freshly gathered from the garden. Chris soaks a few at a time of each kind of seed in a saucer and meanwhile strings those seeds, but with this seed she pushes the needle through from one end to the other.

You'll see a completed necklace using the same two kinds of seeds around Chris' neck. The materials for these necklaces are easy to find—just needle (not too fine, but very sharp), thread, scissors and seeds. If you wear one of these necklaces to school, every one of your friends will want one threads on one red kidney bean too.

USE NEEDLE

First Chris threads on 20 sunflower seeds, sticking the needle through the middle of a necklaces to school, every one of your friends will want one threads on one red kidney bean too.

Trees are playing an increasingly more important role in muting noise.

"Hush" belts of trees are being recommended by government experts around airports.

Everywhere, in city, town and countryside, trees are being planted to reduce traffic din, according to a recent survey by the Bartlett Tree Research Laboratories.

For years, hospitals, schools and churches have found that trees hush traffic decibels.

CUT NOISE

Residents along busy streets have cut down the noise of passing autos and trucks by trees strategically placed around their houses.

Now traffic experts have found that trees planted along thoroughways and parkways play a safety role.

The public meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. in the Royal Oak Woman's Club, 404 S. Pleasant at Fourth, Royal Oak.

Conservation

Conservation seeks to insure to society the maximum benefit from the use of our natural resources.

That is why new highways that lace the nation are being landscaped with belts of trees.

The trees serve three purposes: to beautify, to mute the constant traffic roar heard in adjacent communities and to cut down on the number of highway accidents.

SAFETY FACTORS
This last purpose is just now being realized. Noise of autos and trucks passing each other at high speeds causes rising tension in the drivers or motorists.

Increased tension, in turn, contributes to accidents. Noise-reducing trees have become a safety factor.

Similarly, it has been found that belts of trees around airports reduce the whine and roar of jets heard in nearby communities and thus contribute to better living.

Now tests are being made to determine whether properly placed trees along highways will disperse fog that lies in low pockets.

Preliminary studies show that needles of pines and firs do break up fog particles to a certain degree, far faster than do the leaves of deciduous trees.

The time may come when belts of pines may be planted on the "foggy bottoms" of highways to make travel safer.

Merchants Expect No Lag in Yule Sales, UPI Survey Shows

NEW YORK (UPI) — The government's anti-inflationary brakes have started to grab, a nationwide United Press International survey of pre-Christmas sales prospects indicated today.

But it still will be a bountiful Christmas as far as the merchants are concerned.

Although President Nixon has appealed for restraint in buying to curb inflation, most stores expect Christmas shopping to be almost on a par with last year's.

However, the UPI survey of Yule shopping prospects indicated that storekeepers don't expect sales to be up to the record level of 1967.

FEDERAL SURVEYS

This dovetails with Commerce Department surveys which show that last December's retail sales were down almost half a billion dollars from the 1967 pace and will be down again this December.

Aside from the over-all slump, this Christmas season, will see less cash in the merchants' tills because more people are using credit cards.

Consumer psychology shows a clear "cooling off" and determination by shoppers to get more for their money this Christmas than last.

Merchandise managers also told UPI they expect any increase in dollar volume, if it materializes, to be inflationary rather than real. They put the figure, if it materializes, at more than 50 per cent.

EXPECT AN INCREASE

Three of Manhattan's large department stores — Macy's, Gimbel's and Bloomingdale's — said they expect an increase over last year, particularly in their suburban units, but that's as far as they went.

On the other hand, Brooklyn's Abraham & Strauss Co. said its sales, both in downtown Brooklyn and suburban Long Island, are running well ahead of last year's in both dollar and unit volume.

Jordan Marsh in Boston said its sales will be ahead of last Christmas but not nearly as good as the firm hoped for earlier in the year.

Filene's of Boston expects only a dollar gain, none in actual merchandise volume. But Mel's a chain of shopping center self-service stores in greater Boston, expects the same 5 to 7 per cent rise as last year.

A LITTLE BETTER

Wanamaker's Gimbel's, Lit Brothers and Strawbridge & Clothier, all of Philadelphia, said they expected sales a little better than last year's.

In Pittsburgh, downtown department stores expected only modest increases, but Lowell Walkup, manager of the Albert self-service shopping center department store, forecast a 7 to 8 per cent rise.

Downtown and suburban department store managers in Indianapolis expect a big increase in credit sales, which have been up all year, and an over-all increase in yule sales based on more buying of quality. One manager was surprised at the demand for high priced wigs.

In Chicago, a Marshall Field executive said the company expects a good holiday season while a vice president of Carson Pirie Scott & Co., said dollar volume will be up but the actual number of transactions may be down.

Pets Are Costly to California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — From within and without, in buildings and in fields, insects, mites and animal pests caused at least $431 million in damage in California in 1968, officials say.

More than half — $293 million — was to agriculture, but a big share also was to structures and stored food of various kinds, the state agriculture department reported.

Piano Parked in Wrong Spot

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — A deliveryman left a piano on the sidewalk outside Sam Cohen's furniture store and a traffic cop hung a ticket on it. Cohen said the same thing happened to two beds recently and it cost him $8.40 in fines.

The merchandising manager of Montgomery Ward's store in the Old Orchard shopping center said: "Christmas is not going to be as exciting as last year."

He also said the proportion of credit sales has been up all year, but we have started opening branches on Sundays and that has helped very much.

The general manager of Chicago's new west suburban Yorktown shopping center said much.

late November sales traffic was excellent, indicating a probable Christmas pickup.

In Detroit, promotion manager Leo Sachs of Crowley's more for their money. They also are more style conscious than ever, he said.

GE STRIKE FELT
Kenneth Williams, president of Stewart's, Louisville's largest store, expected a 3 to 5 per cent rise in dollar volume over last year but "unit volume may be lower."

The General Electric strike, he said, had hit fairly hard in Louisville where G-E has 15,000 employees, many of whom owe back bills.

In the Iowa farm belt, O. W.

Kirkeby, manager of the J. C. Penney store in Des Moines, said it will all depend, as usual, on the weather.

President Harold Brockey of Rich's in Atlanta sees a probable 6 per cent gain over last year's record season for the store. The slowdown in automobile sales this fall may dent Atlanta's J. P. Allen said, continues good in spite of cause people to spend money on Co., said unit sales, especially recession talk.

Christmas shopping that might have gone into a down payment on a new car, he said.

Edwin Stern, head of a car-rage trade specialty store in Baton Rouge, said he expected a sales increase, "but not a substantial gain."

Peter J. Stelling, president of stores' regular business, he said, continues good in spite of recession talk.

California Tax on Church Businesses Goes Into Effect Jan. 1

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) Ronald Reagan extends the California state's corporation tax to business on Jan. 1. The law requires all businesses directly operated by religious organizations but unrelated to their spiritual function. Church and state officials alike say they cannot at the moment think of a specific business which isn't taxed now but will be under the new law.

Such things as cemeteries, films, for instance, it would be taxed. The new law requires all publications, old-age homes and other activities directly associated with church functioning won't be considered unrelated income. They will remain tax-free.

WOULD BE TAXED

But if a church ran a movie house devoted to family type Jewish. He says he was surprised at how easily the bill their tax-exempt status when it went through and became law. Most major denominations had endorsed some such form of legislation.

The National Council of Churches and the U.S. Catholic Conference issued a joint appeal last May to the U.S. Congress to eliminate special income tax immunity which the churches enjoy on unrelated business income.

All such bodies make an important distinction, however, concerning tax exemptions on their houses of worship. A major suit is now pending before the U.S. Supreme Court, brought by a citizen named Frederick Walz against the New York City Tax Commission. The Walz complaint alleges that tax exemptions for churches and synagogues violate the American Constitution's church-state separation tradition. The Rev. Glen Holman, who represents the Northern and Southern California Councils of Churches in the state capital, was asked if revenues under the new state law might reach $1 million a year.

"I would doubt it would be that high," he said. William R. Burke, legislative counsel for the Roman Catholic bishops of California, said he would be surprised if "a great deal of tax money" resulted from the law.

"NO IDEA" James T. Philbin, who will be administering the new law, conceded that "We have no idea" how much money will come in. Deciding whether a church-related business is taxable will be difficult, he said, but he expects that churches will be fair about reporting income if it appears the law affects them.

The California corporation tax rate is 7 per cent of net income. Businesses run by churches get a special $1,000 deduction. Businesses in which a church holds a controlling interest, but which are actually run by lay management, are not affected because those already are taxed.

"The big investment churches have is usually more in things they lease out, such as owning a hotel or motel," said the Rev. Mr. Holman. "Or they have it in stocks and bonds. The mainline denominations don't want to be bothered with operating businesses. Most aren't going to be affected."

The minister has found almost no concern about the new law, explaining: "I haven't had more than two or three inquiries from church."

'Pot' Doesn't Stir Daughter of Governor WASHINGTON (UPI) — "I don't think there is anything wrong with smoking pot myself," said Meg Peterson. With her mother standing by with a quizzical look, the 15-year-old daughter of New Hampshire Gov. and Mrs. Walter Peterson added she had some friends in Peterboro, N.H., who smoked it.

Meg was among children of the nation's governors attending an all-day conference on narcotics and dangerous drugs Wednesday at the invitation of President Nixon.

Both Meg and her 13-year-old brother, Andy, an eighth-grader, said the schools use "scarce techniques" by having a state policeman come in to deliver drug lectures to the students.

LIGHTED CIGARETTE Meg added that in her school a teacher brought in a lighted cigarette and those students who recognized it was marijuana instead of tobacco were hauled off to the principal's office.

She did not elaborate on what happened to them.

Child Escapes Injury as Truck Hits Carriage LONDON (UPI) — A truck careening out of control Wednesday hit a baby carriage containing Julie Whymark, 2, and smashed it against a wall as her mother looked on in horror.

Then, from the debris, a giggle. The girl escaped without a scratch. Her mother, Mrs. Valerie Whymark, 22, was treated for shock.

Suspects Can't Take Miniskirts MEXICO CITY (AP) — The district attorney's office has ordered secretaries to drop their hemlines below the knees.

It said suspects and witnesses making statements "become extremely nervous when secretaries in miniskirts are taking shorthand."

HRC, Education Board'

School Units to Meet?

By MARY SUNDTROM

The child may finally meet with its parent. The child is the Pontiac School District's Citizens Human Relations Committee, while the parent is the school board.

Committee Chairman Charles Harrison Jr. found himself on the tag end of last night's school board agenda and made known the committee's dissatisfaction with the way the board has reacted to its recommendations and invitations to its meetings.

He said the committee is concerned with the seeming lack of interest on the part of board members in its proceedings, its judgment and its recommendations.

"We want to know why we do not receive any responses to any of the recommendations we've sent to the board," Harrison said.

EXPRESS INTEREST

Specific answers to specific questions were not given by board members, although William Anderson and Dr. Robert Turpin expressed their interest in the committee and a desire to meet with the citizens' committee to discuss the relationship between them.

Mrs. Elsie Mihalek also said she would like to meet with the committee at a convenient time for board and committee members.

Mrs. Lucille Marshall said she feels the committee is worthwhile if it is workable but indicated she feels the committee is now an undesirable "demanding agency."

John K. Irwin Jr. did not say whether he feels the committee is desirable, or if he wanted to meet with the committee.

Mrs. Mihalek suggested administrators set up a time to meet with the committee to discuss the problems between the two groups.

House Unit Slashes Foreign Aid Budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Appropriations for the embattled foreign aid program may tumble to a new low point this year, possibly $1 billion less than the spending ceiling sought by President Nixon.

A House Appropriations subcommittee is reported to have whacked the aid measure down to the neighborhood of $1.6 billion, including deep slashes in the major economic aid components.

President Nixon had sought a $2.6-billion spending ceiling for the over-all program in the year that began last July. The House is expected to cut the aid measure down to the neighborhood of $1.6 billion, including deep slashes in the major economic aid components.

President Nixon had sought a $2.6-billion spending ceiling for the over-all program in the year that began last July. The House is expected to cut the aid measure down to the neighborhood of $1.6 billion, including deep slashes in the major economic aid components.

One of the major fights looms in the military section of the bill. The subcommittee, headed by Rep. J. E. Parnell, D-La., was said to have added $54.5 million to finance a squadron of fighter planes for Nationalist China.

The House, in the separate authorization bill, approved authority for the planes but promptly knocked it out.

In 1968, Congress cut about $1 billion from President Johnson's foreign aid authorization request, leaving it below the $2-billion level for the first time at $1.97 billion. But the actual appropriations to finance the global aid program dropped to $1.75 billion.

The money figures reportedly set by Parnell's subcommittee are scheduled for examination by the parent unit next Monday, and possibly the House on Tuesday. He is one of the leading backers of the Nationalist China planes.

A move is expected to be made in the full committee to restore $50 million for South Korea—a figure said to have been okayed by the subcommittee.

OTHER CUTS

These deep cuts were reported chopped in the economic aid package by the subcommittee:

- Development loans, for which Nixon asked a $975.5 million and the House cut back to $425.5 million, down to $285 million in actual money. These loans, supposed to be repaid with interest at 2 percent for a grace period and 3 percent thereafter, must be used to buy U.S. goods and services.
- Alliance for Progress loans for Latin America, reduced to $200 million from an original $437.5-million authorization request cut back to $337.5 million by the House.

- Supporting assistance, used primarily to increase the capability of countries to defend against Communist expansion, set at $300 million compared with a $514.5-million authorization request that was pared $100 million by the House.

JFK Estate Put at $1.8 Million

Press Given Inventory Filed by His Brother

BOSTON (AP) — Former President John F. Kennedy's real and personal property was valued at $1,890,646.45 at the time of his death in 1963, an inventory on file at the Massachusetts Department of Corporations and Taxation shows.

The inventory, filed by the executor of the late president's estate, his brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, became available Thursday when Atty. Gen. Robert H. Quinn told Tax Commissioner Cleo F. Jaill he could furnish copies to the press.

Quinn's opinion now opens all such inventories to the public. Kennedy's only real-estate listed was his Hyannis Port home, where house and land were valued at $46,240.

Included in his personal estate were stocks, bonds and accrued interest valued at $715,239.23; mortgages, notes and cash at $116,377.37; furniture and furnishings in the Hyannis Port house, $2,965; and "other miscellaneous intangible personal property," $1,009,814.85.

NAVY PAY

Among the intangible property were these items: Retirement pay and allowances, as U.S. Navy officer on retired list by reason of physical disability, $17,247.20; death benefit, under Civil Service retirement system, $16,980; accrued president's salary and allowance for the period of Nov. 1-22, 1963, $8,993.06; accrued royalties from Harper & Row, publishers, $4,535.89; partnership interest, Merchandise Mart, Chicago, $577,341; and copyrights on four books, $275,000.

Among sums owed the late president and listed as "receivables" were $62,734.27 from a trust set up for him in 1936; $21,615.23 from a trust set up in 1926 for his late brother, Joseph P. Kennedy Jr.; $21,646.19 from a trust established in 1926 for his sister, the late Kathleen Kennedy Harrington.

The inventory showed that Kennedy's various checking accounts contained almost $114,000; that he held no war-related stocks, and that he had loaned a sizeable sum to his sister Patricia and her then husband, actor Peter Lawford.

Supporting assistance, used primarily to increase the capability of countries to defend against Communist expansion, set at $300 million compared with a $514.5-million authorization request that was pared $100 million by the House.

Hunger Conference Tells Nixon Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's White House hunger conference has told him in effect what has been done so far, the nation's hungry is not enough and what should be done should be done now.

The $300 delegates from all walks of life showed acceptance of a statement calling on Nixon to declare a national hunger emergency, the government to guarantee an annual income floor of $5,500 and free lunch and breakfast programs for poor children.

A delegation of six participants planned to meet with the President today to stress the concern of the conference.

"There is a hunger and malnutrition emergency in this country today," the conference statement said Thursday. "Therefore, the President must immediately declare that a national hunger emergency exists, and under existing authority must now free funds and implement programs to feed all hungry Americans this winter," the statement said.

INTERIM MEASURE

As an interim measure only, all present food programs should be reformed and expanded, the statement said. This will be part of hundreds of recommendations to the President on virtually every conceivable aspect of food, nutrition and health.

The statement also cited what many anti-hunger crusaders consider congressional obstruction. All food programs should be switched from the Agriculture Department to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare with corresponding shifts in congressional committee responsibilities, it said.

The President's conference chairman, Dr. Jean Mayer, said there was "an escalation of concern for the poor" at the conference, and "I am perfectly satisfied with the results."

Before the conference closed, Mayer said the President had decided to give priority to establishing food stamps in 307 U.S. counties without them and approving the allowable purchasing power of food stamps from the current $65 to $106 a month for a cause of four.

Generation Gap Gets Magistrate

BANGOR, Pa. (AP) — A youthful magistrate thinks his age may serve as an advantage now and then. Elected magistrate of northampton County's largest magisterial district on Nov. 4, Sherwood R. Grigg, 25, of Bangor is aware that a number of young people will be brought before him during his six-year term.

"I can talk to them on their level," Grigg says. "And perhaps when they see how young I am, I can get the respect of my own age group. I certainly hope so."

Marriage Logistics Solved, Gina, George Set Nuptials

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Love triumphs over everything. Last week Gina Lollobrigida and George S. Kaufman cancelled wedding plans for Dec. 18 or Dec. 19. . . now they've changed their minds again and will marry here around mid-January.

It was dismal last week. Gina had to be in Rome for "Snow Job," with Hugh O'Brian. It would take weeks. Kaufman would have to be here, she would have to be there.

Suddenly the movie's start was postponed. Gina flew here to surprise Kaufman. They were together for the Thanksgiving weekend and emerged with the plan for a wedding here at the end of the picture. Kaufman will go to Rome for Christmas and be partied by his soon-to-be-wife. What happened to their problem that they couldn't marry because she had to live in Rome and he in New York? Sort of vanished. They'll live in his town house in New York and in hers along the old Appian Way outside Rome.

Greatest night in NY was maybe the salute to Toots Shor at the Hilton with names like Averell Harriman, Earl Warren, Arthur Goldberg and Omar Bradley passing drinks along to Toots. Bob Hope complimented Toots and Bob Considine on their book, "Toots." Bob said "Toots came up with the title—they gave him a week to think up one." Toots in his speech said, "Pardon my back," and Johnny Carson replied, "It beats your front." Pat O'Brien kissed Toots, saying "Man O' War, I Love You," letting everybody know he thought Toots is champion of all time. They all agreed that Toots can keep a secret—the reason being, he forgets them.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .
Phyllis Diller's "Hello, Dolly!" opening date: Dec. 26 . . . Jim Backus may join "Front Page" Broadway cast . . . Robert Shaw's seven children will fly here from London to visit him, in shifts, while he rehearses "Elmer Gantry," the first two arrive this week . . . "The Way It Is," a nude show now charging a $7.50 top in previews, will zoom to $25 for New Year's Eve. Ann Miller was out of "Mame"—sprained an ankle on stage; Charlotte Fairchild subdued . . . Jean Pierre Amont was at Camelot with daughter Tina and artist Frederick Pardo, whom she'll wed next month.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A conscience is like a haunted house. You know it's there, but you don't go out of your way to use it."
EARL'S PEARLS: A diehard Democrat said he's invented a Spiro Agnew doll: "You wind it up—and then you wish you hadn't."
Comic Mickey Freeman thinks Pres. Nixon's right about there being a great silent majority. "I worked in front of an audience like that last night." . . . That's Earl, brother. (Publishers: Hall Syndicate)

Airline Patronage No Swimsuits Is Up in Michigan Allowed on Beach

LANSING (UPI) — Airline passenger counts were up nearly 8 per cent in Michigan during the first 10 months of this year compared with 1968 figures, the State Commerce Department reported yesterday.
The department's Aeronautics Commission said 7,842,791 in-bound and out-bound passengers were counted at airports serving commercial airlines compared with 7,286,647 during the same period a year ago.

KAHULUI, Maui, Hawaii (U) — Judge Sam King has an order set aside for nudists and sunbathing on the island of Maui.

The Family Court judge from Honolulu suggested that a beach be set aside for nudists and that signs be posted informing the public that it would be unlawful to wear clothing there.

Ballet Pirouettes to New U.S. Image

NEW YORK (AP) — When asked 15 years ago to be on the Melissa Hayden and Jacques d'Amboise joined the new, shaly New York City Ballet 20 years ago, ballet was generally considered something for sissies in the United States, and American ballet was a thing to be sneered at in Europe. Things have changed a lot since 1949. For instance:

1. When Miss Hayden and d'Amboise aren't starring in the strongly established New York City Ballet, they are off doing guest appearances with companies in cities that didn't have ballet companies 20 years ago or any idea they would ever

2. Under government sponsorship schoolchildren are seeing ballet first in many places—building a solid ballet audience for the future.

3. New York is considered the ballet capital of the world now with its resident New York City Ballet. American Ballet Theater, Joffrey Company, Harkness Ballet and American Ballet Company, many times with two of them performing at the same time in different theaters.

4. And in Europe, America is considered to be the place where the ballet excitement is these days and American companies are given warm receptions.

CHANGE IMAGE
Why has ballet pirouetted across America?

D'Amboise, husky 6-foot-2 father of four, and other male dancers who combine athleticism and grace with no embarrassment or affectation, have helped change the sissy image.

Miss Hayden says, "Ballet is entertainment to begin with. There's nothing mysterious or remote about it. When children are taken to it, they're being exposed to an art form. But they don't know that. They respond to it and like it."

In this country, music has been prime among the arts. I think the younger generation is looking for something different than their parents had. They're already expressing themselves in music with rock, and it could be one reason they like ballet. Their parents didn't have it."

PICTORIAL APPEAL
D'Amboise says, "The appeal of ballet is tremendous pictorially. Besides the motion of the dancing there are sets and costumes. In a symphony there's never any visual change. They sit and play the way they've done for hundreds of years."

Miss Hayden recalls being

Yule Star-Crossed in West's Astrology

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — I am late with my astrological charts for December, and several readers have complained about it.

They pointed out that they had many important decisions to make this month, but wouldn't dare proceed until I had finished their horoscopes.

I apologize for the delay, which was unavoidable. When I started work on the charts, I discovered that Venus was residing in the second house of Jupiter, with Scorpio rising.

WEST
This could only mean one thing: My zodiac had one or more bad tubes. So I took it to the neighborhood zodiac repair shop and just now have gotten it back.

BELATED HOROSCOPE
Belatedly, then, here is your horoscope for December:

Capricorn (Dec. 21-Jan. 20) — A dirty old man in a red suit will invite you to sit in his lap. Slap his bewiskered face!

Aquarius (Jan. 21-Feb. 18) — This would be a good month to brick up your chimney. Avoid standing under mistletoe.

Pisces (Feb. 19-March 20) — You will make a long journey but when you reach your destination, you will find there is no room at the Holiday Inn.

Steer clear of men who have everything.
ALDERGIC TO EGGNOG
Aries (March 21-April 20) — People born under this sign are likely to be allergic to eggnog. Someone you love will suffer a broken clavicle as a result of being kicked by a reindeer.

Taurus (April 21-May 20) — Think twice before taking any sleigh rides. You will be given an opportunity to drop money into a pot.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) — This will not be a good month for buying or receiving gifts.
Cancer (June 21-July 21) — You will have to exchange something that is two sizes too large.

BEWARE OF BELLS!
Virgo (Aug. 22-Sept. 21) — Someone close to you will forget to remove his stocking before hanging it by the fireplace.
Libra (Sept. 22-Oct. 22) — Beware of jingling bells. Wait at least 30 more days before baking any fruitcakes.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Someone in your family will stab himself with a pine needle.
Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 20) — Your investment in artificial snow will finally pay off. With cunning, you can corner the market in used evergreen trees.

School Center Stall Ending

By MARY SUNDRSTROM

With a cut in educational facilities, reshuffling of construction funds, and cooperation of the State Legislature, construction of Pontiac Schools' Human Resource Center can begin next month.

The cuts and reshuffling were accomplished last night as the Pontiac School Board expressed its intent to proceed with construction of the center. The legislative cooperation has been partly provided.

The board adopted the changes in a plan proposed by administrators and the center's designers.

Board members Russell Brown and Christopher Brown were absent.

Under this plan, portions of the two elementary school wings will be left uncompleted until more funds are

Carryover Surplus Is Likely to Put Budget in the Black

Revenues in the Pontiac School District are expected to exceed expenditures this year, due to a surplus carryover from last year's budget of about $1.2 million.

An interim operating budget for 1969-70 of $20.1 million was unanimously adopted by the Pontiac Board of Education last

He explained that the plan was to build up a balance during the first two years of millage revenue to pay for anticipated deficits in the fourth and fifth years after millage approval. The millage is in its second year.

The record budget adopted last night — $2.4 million higher than last year's — is not the final operating budget, Schiller explained.

NOT YET COMPLETED

He said the final budget will be presented to the board when salaries and wages for all employee classifications have been determined. Contract negotiations with administrators and secretaries have not yet been completed.

The largest budget increase — $2.1 million over last year — is in instruction, including teacher salaries.

Salaries for all personnel in the school district amount to 86.8 per cent of all expenditures. All other expenditures for operation total only 13.2 per cent.

Salaries for instructional personnel total 77.1 per cent of all costs.

Transportation costs total one per cent; fixed charges, 2.2 per cent; administration, 3.95 per cent; operation and maintenance 13.9 per cent and other (attendance, health, food services, etc.) 1.85 per cent of all expenditures.

the board that the entire project could be built for $5.5 million, except for part of two of the buildings wings.

The board approved this plan, including the stipulation that the elementary wings be completed for the additional 400 pupils when funds ($400,000) at today's prices) are available.

DEVELOPED A PLAN

Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said school officials had devised a plan to make $5.6 million available for construction.

He said about $4.6 million is available now from the October 1967 bond issue, the March 1968 bond issue, a $1.1 million grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and Oakland Schools reimbursements for special education facilities in the center.

An additional $1 million could be added to the available amount by borrowing funds from the March 1968 bond issue, now earmarked for other purposes, Whitmer explained.

He said $500,000, tentatively reserved for elementary school rehabilitation and another $500,000, tentatively reserved for equipment, furniture and contingencies for the planned new Central High School, could be borrowed for construction of the center.

SMALL BOND ISSUE?

Whitmer said these two $500,000 fund additions could be replaced for their original purpose either by presenting voters with a small bond issue in the next year or two; or by selling $1 million worth of bonds in 1972.

Medina's comments were his first public statements about what happened at My Lai 4, a hamlet in Song My village, since the case fell into the world spotlight last month.

Medina has not been charged, but one of his subordinates, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., faces court-martial in the deaths of at least 109 Song My civilians.

On Bailey's advice, Medina refused comment on anything relating directly to Calley or the charges against him.

Medina met the press in uniform and wearing the Silver Star and Bronze Star for gallantry, after appearing before a Pentagon panel which is trying to determine if the Army's original investigation of the incident was proper. Calley was to appear before that panel today.

Medina revealed what was apparently one mistake in the operation. He said intelligence sources had reported there would be no women or children in the village after 7 a.m. and the assault was set for 7:30. But Medina said he did see

DETROIT (AP) — "Our old ways of doing things are not adequate," says the first woman president of the National Council of Churches. "There must be big changes and they must be made faster than we think possible."

One of the first changes recommended by Cynthia Wedel, elected to the church post yesterday, is the granting of a great deal more power to blacks in the organization.

Related Story, Page B-1

She predicted they would get more power in high council posts and pledged that she would be open to guidance from them and from the young and poor.

Mrs. Wedel, an Episcopalian from Alexandria, Va., was elected near the close of the interdenominational organization's triennial general assembly.

STEP TOWARD CHANGE

She succeeds Dr. Arthur Flemming, a Methodist, as head of the council which includes 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations with 42 million members.

State Senate Okays School-Aid Measure

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Senate gave final approval today to Gov. William G. Milliken's $1-billion state school aid bill, including $25 million for parochial schools, and sent it to the House.

From Our News Wires

LANSING — Parochial opponents in the Michigan Senate successfully outmaneuvered a surprise attempt by Majority Leader Emil Lockwood last night to secure final Senate approval of the controversial issue.

Lockwood immediately vowed to resume his efforts today.

'I Did Not See Any Massacre' — Capt. Medina

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — Capt. Ernest L. Medina the man who was in charge and at the scene for nearly two hours when the alleged Song My massacre took place, has denied seeing or ordering a mass murder of Vietnamese civilians.

With combat medals on his chest and criminal lawyer F. Lee Bailey at his side, Medina told a Pentagon news conference yesterday his version of the March 16, 1968, assault on Song My.

"No, I did not shoot any child in My Lai, and no, I did not order any massacre in My Lai. I did not see any massacre in My Lai," the 33-year-old Army captain said.

"I did not see any civilians shot at My Lai. I did see some bodies of women and children that had been killed in My Lai village, since the case fell into the world spotlight last month.

FIRST STATEMENT

Medina's comments were his first public statements about what happened at My Lai 4, a hamlet in Song My village, since the case fell into the world spotlight last month.

Medina has not been charged, but one of his subordinates, Lt. William L. Calley Jr., faces court-martial in the deaths of at least 109 Song My civilians.

On Bailey's advice, Medina refused comment on anything relating directly to Calley or the charges against him.

Medina met the press in uniform and wearing the Silver Star and Bronze Star for gallantry, after appearing before a Pentagon panel which is trying to determine if the Army's original investigation of the incident was proper. Calley was to appear before that panel today.

Medina revealed what was apparently one mistake in the operation. He said intelligence sources had reported there would be no women or children in the village after 7 a.m. and the assault was set for 7:30. But Medina said he did see first," Lockwood said. "I've already been logged to be recognized first tomorrow morning."

Parochial is part of a billion-dollar school aid bill which is the key to Gov. William G. Milliken's entire education reform package. The bill allocates $25 million for private schools.

RECONSIDERATION VOTE

The Senate approved the bill 22-15 in November, but its opponents succeeded in having it held over pending a reconsideration vote.

If the school aid proposal were rejected by the Senate, it would spell disaster for Milliken's hopes for education reform this year.

Anxious to get the bill out of the Senate once and for all, Lockwood surprised his colleagues by securing a "call of the Senate," a maneuver in which all the lawmakers are locked in the chamber.

Parochial foes immediately launched a filibuster which ended two hours later in a 17-16 vote to adjourn.

WAS IN LOUNGE

Lockwood, expecting the filibuster to last into the night, had retired to a Senate lounge and was himself surprised by the unexpected move to adjourn.

Ex-Hospital Chief Sues Trustee Board

By DICK ROBINSON

A $300,000 suit was filed this morning against the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees by former hospital administrator Harold B. Euler, fired last June.

Euler of 133 Ottawa and his wife Genevieve are seeking the damages in Oakland County Circuit Court stemming from the fact the 11 trustees wouldn't tell Euler specifically why he was fired.

The Eulers allege that the trustees' actions and statements after the firing were "false, libelous and defamatory," caused Euler "loss of financial gain as a businessman" and resulted in "great mental anguish, pain, suffering and humiliation."

Euler, semi-incapacitated, claims she suffered a lapse of medically-unexplainable blackouts following the "shocking" dismissal of her husband June 19.

DEFENDANTS NAMED

Named as defendants in the suit are trustees Lynn D. Allen Jr., Aleck Cappasalis, John L. Duke, John W. Emerson, Robert P. Grant, Harold S. Goldberg, John Munro, Mrs. B. B. Roush, Isaac Smoot, Elwood C. West and Victor Woods.

Euler was unanimously fired by the board 11 months before he could have retired at age 65.

The vote was taken before he could move to keep the votes he was counting on his side.

Sen. James G. Fleming, R-Jackson, cast the deciding vote to adjourn. Fleming said he voted for adjournment because he "deplored" Lockwood's strategy, and felt Lockwood was being "unfair."

Fleming said Lockwood should have announced his intention to press for the reconsideration vote earlier instead of waiting until late in the afternoon.

LEADERS OF FILIBUSTER

Sens. James D. Gray, D-Warren, Roger Craig, D-DeARBorn and L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford Township, led the talkathon.

Lodge lambasted Lockwood and his followers, saying, "The stench of this permeates the Senate. You'll answer for your perfidy."

The effect of the maneuvering was further delay for other elements in Milliken's package. A new draft of a bill to consolidate some 60 intermediate school districts into 10-15 regions was delayed in printing. More bills remained tabled or ignored in the controversy.

The former administrator says he "watched in amazement and shock" as "the defendants refused twice to discuss the matter" with him. They "ordered him to have his desk cleared out by noon the following day."

The suit contends the trustees' "conspiracy to injure Euler's reputation" and on several occasions denied him a hearing, an opportunity to resign or a satisfactory explanation of why he was fired.

'LACK OF COMMUNICATION'

At first, board chairman Cappasalis offered the reason that the firing was "in the best interest of the hospital." Later the board said Euler was fired because of a "lack of communication" with the board.

Euler's Attorney, Clarence K. Patterson of 804 Community National Bank Building, said the board refused to "acknowledge" "lack of communication" was the only reason.

Patterson explains that he sent a letter to the trustees Aug. 28 demanding that they make public the reasons Euler was fired, to clear him of the inference that he was "guilty of gross impropriety" or he "wasn't qualified to hold that office."

The trustees replied Sept. 18 through their lawyer, City Law Director Sherwin

Vietcong to Observe 3-Day Holiday Truces

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietcong announced today that its forces would observe Christmas and New Year's truces of three days each, two days longer than those proclaimed yesterday by the Saigon government.

The Vietcong radio said the Christmas truce would start at 1 a.m. Dec. 24, 12 noon (Pontiac time) Dec. 23 and end at 1 a.m. Dec. 27. It said the New Year's truce would run from 1 a.m. (Pontiac time) Dec. 30 to 1 a.m. Jan. 2.

President Nguyen Van Thieu proclaimed 24-hour cease-fires to start at 6 p.m. Christmas Eve and 6 p.m. New Year's Eve. The U.S. Command said American forces would join in the truce proclaimed by Thieu.

The U.S. Command said today it had received reports for the first time in the war that North Vietnamese army officers executed at least a dozen of their soldiers who tried to desert.

In a special memorandum to newsmen, the command said armed guards to prevent desertions were reported accompanying North Vietnamese units infiltrating into the South. Desertion has been a problem in the South Vietnamese army for years.

The U.S. Command said its reports came from three North Vietnamese defectors who escaped last August and September.

Two of them said they were private, both born in Ha Tay Province and both in the North Vietnamese army's 3rd Division.

One, 17 years old, arrived in South Vietnam last March. He reported that "a number of men from his battalion deserted in North Vietnam while moving south and that 10 soldiers who attempted to desert were shot by the unit's officers," the U.S. statement said.

The other private, 32, said he arrived in the South last April and that his unit was under guard on the way down because 35 men had deserted.

The third defector, a 16-year-old guerrilla, told interrogators that he saw the bodies of two soldiers who had deserted from their unit near Hue in September and were captured by a North Vietnamese sapper battalion.

Talks Reportedly Proposed

U. S. Contacts Red China

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has made a high-level contact with mainland China — and may have urged that the two nations resume ambassadorial talks.

The State Department, adopting an extremely cautious attitude, acknowledged only that the U.S. ambassador to Poland, Walter J. Stoessel Jr., and "Chinese officials" met Wednesday at a Yugoslav reception in the Palace of Culture in Warsaw.

Privately, State Department officials said Stoessel conferred briefly at the reception with an aide of the Communist Chinese charge d'affaires, Lei Yang. They characterized the meeting as a "chance encounter" but gave the impression the two diplomats did more than merely exchange pleasantries.

U.S. analysts, however, remained cautious on the prospects of renewing the talks. They said they detected nothing in Peking's public posture to indicate China was ready to talk again. Probably further quiet diplomatic exchanges will be required to set in motion the machinery for renewing the discussions.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers is on record in favor of renewing the U.S.-Communist Chinese ambassadorial talks in Warsaw or in another mutually acceptable city.

The 13th meeting of these talks, which started in Geneva in 1955, was postponed suddenly by Peking Feb. 18. Peking denounced the United States then for having granted political asylum to a high-ranking Communist Chinese diplomat two weeks earlier.

Since the postponement, the Nixon administration has waited for an appropriate moment to try to get the talks going again.

On Aug. 8 Rogers told the National Press Club in Canberra, Australia, the United States would "soon be making another approach to see if a dialogue with Peking can be resumed." At a Washington News conference 12 days later, Rogers said the approach would be made "at the appropriate time." On a CBS program Nov. 18, Rogers said, "We, somewhere along the line," will make a suggestion to renew the talks.

Tax Reform Passage Seen in '69

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief House tax architect says despite major alterations made by the Senate in the tax reform bill, Congress will agree on legislation and send it to the President before Christmas.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, said in an interview: "We simply have to finish it."

"There would be too much confusion if we did not—for example on withholding the surtax after Dec. 31," the Arkansas Democrat added.

One provision in the massive bill continues the income surtax at 5 per cent through June 30, 1970. The current 10 per cent surtax expires Dec. 31.

substitutes for a system of rate reductions in the House measure.

POSITION WELL-KNOWN

Mills followed his usual rule of declining advance comment on what stand he will take in the conference, where he will be chief House spokesman, but his general position is well-known. He thinks raising the personal exemption is a poor way to reduce taxes because it means more saving for a high-bracket than a low-bracket taxpayer. Moreover, he advocates a tax system with the fewest exemptions and deductions and the lowest rates.

But Mills also knows sentiment is strong in the House for the easily-understood increase in the personal exemption.

A possible compromise would be a smaller increase in the exemption, coupled with an adjustment in rates—especially the top rates on earned income, which Mills wants to reduce as provided in the House bill.

'ALL THINGS POSSIBLE'

Mills' only comment on this suggestion was "all sorts of things are possible."

The drive to enact the tax bill this year picked up even more steam yesterday when Sen. Russell Long, D-La., who is handling the bill in the Senate, moved to add to it the 15 per cent Social Security benefit increase already approved by the Ways and Means Committee.

The House is expected to pass the increase, in the form of a separate bill, next week. After that, Mills is expected to put aside his usual objection to irrelevant Senate amendments on House bills and accept the provision in the tax bill conference on the ground it is identical with legislation already approved by the House.

'No State Stress on Crib Deaths'

Oakland County's health director today discounted published reports on the significance of new state assistance into the probe of the county's crib deaths.

"What we're doing now since November, simply, is using state facilities — Wayne State and Michigan State universities — to conduct tissue and blood samples of crib death victims," Dr. Bernard Berman explained.

"The state has certain facilities available to use all along," Dr. Berman said.

Earlier this week, Berman disputed a report by his deputy, Dr. Richard E. Olsen. Olsen had termed the 20 crib deaths from July through November "an epidemic."

"I believe Dr. Olsen and I differ on the word epidemic," Berman said. "Epidemic means 'sudden outbreak' and I do not consider 20 crib deaths over five months a sudden outbreak."

"We're concerned about crib deaths, of course, because we can't prevent them. But next month we will have more than a dozen child deaths due to fires, falls and poisoning, and I would rather have parents more concerned about things they can prevent," Dr. Berman said.

The Senate is scheduled to finish its work on the bill not later than next week.

This would leave only a week and a half for a conference between the two bodies to reconcile the differences and for final action in both chambers before Christmas.

Leaders Discuss Nixon Funding-Bill Threat

'Congress Won't Need Post-Yule Session'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairmen of the House and Senate appropriations committees say Congress can complete work on money bills this year without a post-Christmas special session threatened by President Nixon.

The President, meeting yesterday with Republican congressional leaders, warned he might call a special session for Dec. 26 unless all appropriations bills were acted on.

"The President is very firm that action must be taken," Senate GOP Leader Hugh Scott told reporters.

SEES NO PROBLEM

Although only five of the year's 13 regular money bills have cleared Congress, Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House committee, said "I see no serious problem. It's our responsibility to do it and we will."

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate committee, said later during debate on a continuing resolution to keep federal agencies in operation until Congress adjourns, "I think we will get the bills through before the end of the session."

But the usually optimistic Mike Mansfield, Senate Democratic leader, told a reporter "it's going to be nip and tuck."

The keys, he said, are the $70-billion defense appropriations bill, scheduled for House action early next week, and the bill covering the departments of labor, and health, education and welfare, scheduled to be marked up by the Senate committee next Tuesday or Wednesday.

STATEMENTS CITED

In a letter to Birnkant Nov. 12, Paterson cited four statements.

Birnkant replied in a letter Nov. 24 which said, according to the suit:

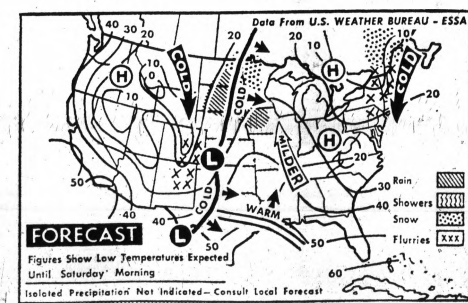

"There was no understandable basis for the trustees to give any further consideration to this matter... it was never the intent of the board of trustees to, at any time, defame anyone."

Board Ready to Go on School Center

The school district can issue that amount in 1973 under state law because the total school district debt will be under 5 per cent of the state equalized valuation, explained Whitmer.

Lewis said his firm's investigation of the bids also brought to light some discrepancies. He said chalkboard bids were incorrect and about $100,000 to high.

Also he said some miscellaneous materials were bid twice, adding about $50,000 to bids.

STATE RULING

The other recent financial threat to the resource center was an attorney general's ruling that a school district may not receive direct grants from the federal government, as was the case of the HUD grant.

Legislation to rectify the problem has passed the State House and is expected to pass the Senate sometime next week, Whitmer said.

The bills must pass through both houses and be signed by the governor by Dec. 19.

If the deadline isn't met, the project will have to be rebid, causing further delay in starting construction.

Lewis said the outside walls of the entire center will be constructed, but the area for the additional 400 pupils will not have the inside walls constructed and completed until the funds are available.

The projected center, to be built just east of City Hall, will accommodate all pupils from McConnell and Central schools and parts of Wilson and Baldwin. It was designed with integration of pupils as a primary goal.

Medina said he arrived at the hamlet after 10 a.m., and there were units until noon. During that time, he said, he shot and presumed he killed a woman who, though already wounded, made a suspicious movement after his back was turned.

Medina also said he received orders from his operations officer "to make sure there weren't any civilians, any women and children being killed. I put this information out over the company command net (radio network)."

Medina was critical of the nation's news media for coverage of the affair, calling it "very biased and unfair, not only to myself but to any other soldier in uniform."

He said some of those who were at My Lai and later released pictures or accounts of what happened did so, in some cases, to make money.

Some of the men who have voiced accusations about alleged killing of civilians at My Lai were those "I've had certain disciplinary problems with," he said.

Meanwhile, an aide to Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said the senator has asked the Pentagon to investigate charges of "indiscriminate killing" of civilians in Vietnam. Percy's aide said the charges were made in a letter to the senator from Anthony Martin-Trigona of Champaign, Ill., who had visited Vietnam as a newspaper correspondent.

City, Police Salary Talks Stalemated

BIRMINGHAM — The salary battle between the city and the Birmingham Police Officers Association still is stalemated.

No significant progress was made this week toward resolving the salary issue reportedly both sides are about $300 apart.

The BPOA's current demand calls for a $10,000 maximum salary after 18 months service. The city's latest counterproposal reportedly is $10,300.

Noel Gage, the BPOA attorney, said some "clandestine" negotiations were held this week between some city officials and two of the policemen in an attempt to work out a solution.

No formal negotiations with a mediator were held this week. Gage could not say when the next formal negotiation would be scheduled.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — For the seventh consecutive year, a principal of the architectural firm of Tarapala-MacMahon-Paulsen Associates Inc. has earned an honor award for building design from the Detroit Chapter, American Institute of Architects.

Maurice B. Allen Jr., vice president of the firm and chief designer of the winning project, accepted the award at a dinner at the Whittier Hotel in Detroit last night.

The award was in recognition of the Campus Center building and residence hall at General Motors Institute in Flint, the first phase of a GM campus development program for which Tarapala-MacMahon-Paulsen Associates also prepared the master plan.

Bookstore Clerk Is Found Guilty

A clerk employed by a Pontiac bookstore was found guilty today of selling an obscene magazine to a 15-year-old girl.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem rendered the verdict against George M. Williamson immediately after hearing final arguments this morning. Williamson had waived a jury trial.

Williamson, 25, of 784 Auburn faces a jail term of up to one year when Ziem sentences him Jan. 6. He was released on $1,000 bond pending his sentencing.

Williamson was charged with selling the material to the girl while she was working undercover for Pontiac police last April. State law prohibits the sale of obscene material to anyone under 18 years of age.

ADULT ONLY BOOKSTORE

The magazine was purchased in the Adult Only Bookstore, 12 N. Saginaw.

In his closing statement, Assistant Prosecutor Charles Cooper noted that Williamson had testified that he knew the contents of the magazine and that he was suspicious of the girl's age though he didn't ask for her identification.

Cases are still pending against two clerks from other Pontiac stores where the girl purchased similar nudist magazines.

Yesterday that the letter claims the killings were committed by members of a Marine company under Maj. Charles Robb, former President Lyndon B. Johnson's son-in-law.

But Robb said in Las Vegas, Nev.: "I know of no single instance in which any of the civilians were injured or killed."

By SHIRLEY GRAY

Young Jennifer-Lynn Harlan is a very well-traveled young lady for her age, which is five months. Not only did she accompany her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James (Susan) Harlan of East Maple Road in Birmingham, to Metamora for Thanksgiving dinner, but immediately thereafter she, and a few relatives, took a trip East.

Metamora dinner hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bunt, parents of Susan. Bunt, once upon a time the head of Cranbrook's science department, is now headmaster of Kingsbury School in Oxford. Another guest around the dinner table was Estella Adams of Birmingham, great-aunt to Susan.

Then the trip East, to Westfield, New Jersey, where the Arthur Browns announced the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia, to Ted Bunt. Also in the caravan besides the Harlans and the Bunts was Ted's twin, Terry.

Mrs. Pauline Johnson of Birmingham was in Lansing for a cocktail party given by her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Rumsey Haynes. The occasion was the Friends of the Library Christmas dinner immediately following at MSU's Kellogg Center.

dividuals and are personally liable for losses. Corporations cannot belong.

They accept almost any kind of risk, barring life insurance. They will insure against the possibility of a multiple birth as readily as hurricanes in the United States or disasters involving giant jets and ocean liners.

Losses have been heavy recently. Lloyd's latest figures, for 1966 — accounts are closed after three years — gave losses of $44.4 million, $48 million less than in 1965.

A year ago, the organization opened its doors to foreign members to spread the risks and cater to the rise of international companies among its customers.

CALM ACCEPTANCE

But the ladies elected Wednesday had apparently no trepidation over the future of their independent means.

"I'm merely taking advantage of something which wasn't open to women before," said Margery Hurst, millionaire head of Mayfair's Brook Street Bureau, reputed to be the world's largest secretarial agency.

"It's useless to me," she said, "in my

Celebrate Yule at Wisner Home

A look at Christmas as it was a century ago will be afforded Oakland County residents in the annual "Victorian Christmas Open House at Pine Grove," Sunday from 2 to 7 p.m.

Sponsored by the Oakland County Pioneer and Historical Society, the exhibit at the Wisner Home will include decorations of that period, a ten-foot Christmas tree, refreshments, and a program.

Holiday music will be provided by children from the Wisner School under the direction of William Hargett; Merritt Olsen and his son, William, of Birmingham, playing dulcimers and accompanied by Harold Rood on the violin, and Mildred Barnett on the old-fashioned pump organ.

Several special exhibits will include the dining room table set for the Christmas feast with antique dishes and silver.

Reservations may be made for guided tours during the evenings of Dec. 8 through 12. A fee is charged. A silver donation will be taken on Sunday.

Parking will be available at the Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church parking lot, across the street from the Home.

General chairman for the affair is Mrs. Richard J. Wright. Decorations are by Mesdames John Napley, Edwin Adler and Alfred Ayres. Mrs. Douglas Hoard and Mrs. Wendell Green have charge of refreshments.

income tax bracket it would all go in tax."

Lady Cathleen Hudson, 46, applied out of loyalty to her husband who has battled ardently for female membership. She complained that all the barriers had not been removed.

"If I were 20 years younger," she asserted, "I'd certainly campaign for women to take part in the business side."

There was no explanation of why they couldn't. Lloyd's has its secrets. Someone once said it would be easier for a spiritualist to define ectoplasm than for anyone to define Lloyd's true nature.

Lady Dashwood joins her husband, Sir Francis Dashwood, the premier baronet of England, in the ranks. Lady Scott, wife of ex-soldier Sir James, declared: "It's a gamble — and I'm looking forward to it."

The Countess of Inchnage, her shooting dog Sheba at her side, said in her Mayfair residence: "I'm not a businesswoman. I like the country best. But it is nice that Lloyds have opened their doors to women."

She leaves Kenya on an elephant hunt next month.

Weighty Problem Besets Town's Top Administrator

DEAR ABBY: I'm sure you get a lot of letters from looks, and this one will probably go into that pile, but believe me, this inquiry is sincere.

My husband is a large man and noticeably overweight. He is particularly flabby in the region of his chest. To get to the point, Abby, he could use a brassiere!

Is there a place where they sell brassiers for men? I am not going to mention this to him until I can find one. He is aware of his problem, Abby. He's not an unreasonable man and I think I brought one home he might wear it. Please don't use my name or town as my husband is the mayor. Thank you.

MRS. BLANK FROM BLANK

DEAR MRS. BLANK: Sorry, but I'm blue in the face from looking in the yellow pages, and I can't find a shop which sells ladies' lingerie for gentlemen. Buy a large brassiere in a women's shop, and if "His Honor" doesn't have a "fit," alter it to fit him.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 22 years to a woman who is 43 and here is my problem. Three years ago she had all her teeth removed and was fitted with dentures. She wore them home from the dentist's office and promptly removed them, and placed them in the medicine cabinet where they have been ever since.

She refuses to wear her dentures, and she won't go back to the dentist who made them although he has said that he would make them fit. She is a pretty woman and would look 20 years younger if she would put her teeth in.

She says she doesn't care how she looks. I have begged and pleaded with her, and even threatened to refuse to be seen with her until she puts her teeth in, but still no results. Can you help me?

DEAR L: If she refuses to go back to the dentist who made them, insist that she see her physician for a thorough check-up (mental and physical). Her trouble could be higher up. Three years is a long time for a pretty 43-year-old woman to remain toothless.

Guest Remains in Attitude Over Accident

Of The Emily Post Institute

Dear Mrs. Post: The top back of an antique chair was accidentally broken during a dinner party recently at my home. The occupant of the chair was a tall, heavy man who had tilted it back, and it broke. He apologized jokingly to my husband. I was out of the room when it happened and he did not apologize to me.

I would like to know how one should act if one should accidentally break an antique in someone's home. — Mrs. J. T. Dear Mrs. T.: Your guest misbehaved. His apology to your husband should have been serious, and should have included an offer to have the chair repaired himself or to pay the bill if your husband took care of it. Furthermore, he should have apologized to you.

QUEEN'S CARDS

Dear Mrs. Post: I learned from your Etiquette book that I should sign our Christmas cards as I did last year.

John and Mary Hill

Sarah, Mary, Timothy and Bill However, I noticed recently the Queen of England lists the male children first: Charles, Edward, Andrew, Anne (the boys are listed respectively to age) but Anne is obviously placed last being female. Would you advise me?—Mary Hill

Dear Mrs. Hill: The Queen of England writes her children's names in that order because it is the order of succession to the throne, and therefore the order of importance. In America, and undoubtedly in the rest of England girls' names take precedence over boys' and are listed that way, with the oldest girl's name first, and the older boy's name before the younger's.

National Council of Churches Elects Laywoman President

By United Press International
DETROIT — Mrs. Cynthia Wedel, first woman president of the National Council of Churches, is living evidence that femininity and forcefulness can go together.

Although she is every inch a woman — in apparent speech, manner and attitudes — she is also a highly competent executive and can preside over large gatherings with aplomb.

MRS. WEDEL

Her leadership abilities were demonstrated in two previous council posts, as vice president and associate general secretary and during a three-year term as president of Church Women United. She has also held high office in her own denomination, the Episcopal Church.

During her three years as council president, a non-paying job, she will retain her salaried position as associate director of the National Resource Center for Voluntarism in Washington, D. C. She is a professional psychologist with doctorate.

In private life, she is the wife of Dr. Theodore O. Wedel, a prominent Episcopalian theologian who was for many years warden of the College of Preachers at Washington Cathedral.

VITAL At 61, Mrs. Wedel has the vitality of a much younger woman. Her figure is trimly but her hair is still reddish-brown, with only a few streaks of grey.

She is a warm, friendly, gregarious person with a quick wit and the ability to get along with almost anyone. Her hobbies, when she has time for them, are cooking and reading.

Women Invade Lloyd's of London

LONDON (AP) — Lloyds of London, the world's biggest insurance organization, crumbled today as a bastion of gentlemanly exclusivity. It admitted gentleness to the club.

For the first time since the business was born in an aromatic 17th century coffee house, women have been elected as underwriting members.

But although each lady's investment of $36,000 and her reserves of at least $180,000, independent of her husband's money — are accepted, she will not be allowed to take part in active business.

As one London newspaper put it today: "They are to be merely sleeping partners."

Twenty-five of 46 women considered for the exclusive ranks were formally elected Wednesday by an all-male committee headed by chairman Harry Manoe.

Among their privileges: The right to lose their money down to the last blade of grass on their country estates, and the right to eat in the captain's dining room.

The women are entering a unique organization. Lloyd's 3,000-plus underwriting members joined as in-
