Editorial: Student Rights Hassle

People have always said that I'm a rambling man, especially when it comes to my editorials. But here we go anyway.

It looks like there's going to be a big hassle in the residence halls over the rights of residence hall officials to search rooms in the dormitories without a search warrant. What the law says, what the University says, and what the students say, are three different things. Some people say that when we signed our residence hall contracts, we signed away our rights to privacy and freedom of illegal search and seizure. Others say that a search warrant is required. To try and clear this hassle up, we'll try and get hold of all the applicable University rules. This may turn out to be rather inte-

At any rate, if in fact as resident students we DO give up our rights of privacy and freedom of unwarranted search and seizure, this should not be the case. We are legal adults, entitled to the full rights and privileges of the constituion. IT SHOULD NOT BE A CONDITION OF DORMITORY RESIDENCE THAT WE MUST SIGN THESE RIGHTS AWAY. What that does, in effect, is to put the University above the law, and say that it does not require a search warant. We've seen too much already of what happens when certain people put themselves above the law.

While administrators may have more understanding of University policies and the law than the students do, that does not give them the right to take our rights away from us.

As to students vs. the Administration, we're starting to get some more of that on this campus. Believe me, that's a sign of a healthier state of affairs on this campus than we've seen in a long time. The students have been too busy fighting among themselves to see what kind of bill of goods the University is selling us. The administration just loves it when we have white vs. black, commuter vs. resident, straight vs. freak, liberal vs. conservative, etc., etc., etc., . All these divisions serve to divert us from the games that the administration is playing with us.

I don't mean that conflict is always necessarily good; what I mean is, that on balance, conflict between the students and the University is a lot better than conflict between students. I would love it if there were no need for conflict between students and administration, but unfortunately, there is.

So what this campus needs is less polarization of students, and more unification. The students can then really start to act in their own interests.

We received an unsigned letter to the editor this week. It was signed, but only with the legend "A concerned student". We would be glad to print the letter if whoever wrote it would by some means identify themselves. If they would step forward and identify themselves, we will print their letter; if he wants his name withheld, we will do so.

We're pleased to add to our staff a new and our only regular political commentator. Him Cummer will write some thought provoking, stimulating articles, which will incite considerable criticism. These articles will be on the conservative side. So, to balance his point of view, we'd like a liberal columnist, and so would he. Lively discussion of the issues on campus and in the nation will hopefully add some life to Focus. And to all of you wiseacres who say that nothing will ever breathe any life into Focus, NYEAAAH!!! And who says that Focus editors don't have anything intelligent to say?

Almes A. Cummer

"Without freedom of thought there can be no such in filling out the questhing as wisdom, and no such thing as publick liberty, without freedom of speech; which is the right of every man, as far as by it he does not hurt and control the rights of another: and this is the only check it ought to suffer and the only bounds it ought to know"

> Benjamin Franklin 1722-Dogwood Papers

With that stirring comment I bid all readers of this space, "Welcome." This is my firstcolumn with Focus: Oakland. I intend to create a political interest format in which I will write on any and Rochester!!!!!!!! and all topics. I owe allegiance to none but my country and myself. Thus I will be solely responsible for any errors contained herein. I offer (Choosy people chose Fireno subterfuge but only reality as I see it. With that in mind I shall begin...

Due to the boisterous outcry from the Leftist piazza concerning the recent Chilean crisis, I feel the time has come to speak out from the "other side". For some unknown reason there have been a number of forgotten facts concerning Chile which have been obscured by the dust of those who have trampled up to the podium of moral righteousness. Let me begin by advancing a few major points and discussing each one briefly.

Does anyone recall Chile's Foreign Minister General Olsmael Huerta point out at a past U.N. meeting that Fidel Castro (yes, the famed liberator of Cuba!) had sent in arms for insurrection, underground? And that these weapons were enough for a small militia of TWENTY THOUSAND? Senor Fidel also sent in Manuel Pineiro, head of Cuba's secret police, for organizational purposes. Again, let me point out, this was long before the military had any massive support for a coup. The military didn't even know about the Cuban dictator's

FOCUS: OAKLAND Is The IM Building Double - Parked?

The controversy between resident and commuter interests over Parking Lot 0 (behind the I.M. Building), was resolved in a 50/50 compromise at a meeting between resident and parking commission representatives last Wednesday afternoon.

This compromise allows small dorm residents about 54 parking spaces for a total of 93 resident cars. The overflow of resident cars will be required to park in the resident parking area (Lot L) north of Vandenberg Hall.

At this meeting with Glen Brown, Assistant Vice-President of Campus be ticketed. Development and Mitch Livingston, Assistant Director of Residence Halls, and three small dorm representatives presented their bids for parking spaces. Anibal House was willing to settle for a 50/50 compromise whereas Pryale bargained for 85 parking spaces and Fitzgerald bargained for 93 spaces. Livingston reported that Residence Halls decided to settle for a 50/50 compromise at which point Pryale and Fitzgerald were forced to the parking commission officials, also agreed to the compromise. Brown had prepared four blueprints on various ways to divide the parking lot in the best interest of both residents and commuters. It is expected that the plan dividing the parking lot so that residents may park closest to the dorms and commuters may parking closest to the I.M. Building entrance will be adopted.

Each organization presents the SAB with a budget each term and the SAB in turn funds the organization according to their needs. If an organization has any money left over from the fall term, it is transferred to their winter term budget. However, at the end of the winter term, any money left over is returned to the SAB. JOACHIM RAFF (1822-1882) SYMPHONY NO. 5 IN E ("Lenore")

LONDON PHILHARMONIC ORCHESTRA BERNARD HERRMANN, conductor

During his lifetime, the Swiss-born composer Joachim Raff was ranked with Brahms and Wagner. In England he was hailed as the leading symphonist of his day; in Germany, he was one of the most frequently performed composers of the 1870s. Raff was enormously prolific, with an output of over 200 opus numbers (and many unpublished works), and his music covers a broad spectrum of styles. Yet today he is virtually unknown to the large musical public.

In Raff's Fifth Symphony--one of the composer's most important works (performed here for the first time on records)--we encounter a forceful and imaginative musical personality. The symphony is a programmatic evocation of a supernatural tale, Gottfried August Blrger's "Lenore"--a famous German ballad of the era.

This striking theater piece by the outstanding contemporary English composer Peter Maxwell Davies is today securely established in the growing international repertory of the avantgarde, and Nonesuch is proud to present its premiere recording, performed under the composer's direction.

Eight Songs for a Mad King is scored for voice, flutes, clarinets, violin & viola, cello, Keyboard instruments, and percussion. The texts, which trace the decline into total madness of King George III and incorporate sen sentences actually spoken by the mad king, call for a virtuoso vocalist to deliver the expressive and demanding speech-song role, with its extremes of register and uncon-

The ensemble's recording of Mr. Davies' Vesalii Icones, also conducted by the composer, will be issued on Nonesuch in coming months; both albums were preduced in England by Unicorn Records Ltd. with the collaboration of film-director Ken Russell, and are made available for the first time in the U.S.A. on Nonesuch.

ORAZIO VECCHI (1550-1605)
L'AMFIPARNASO
A Madrigal Comedy

The works of Orazio Vecchi mark the culmination of the 16th-century Italian madrigal style. A strikingly original composer, Vecchi wrote in every idiom of his time, bringing to the comic vocal forms an unprecedented gaiety and lightness. L'Amfiparnaso is Vecchi's best-known composition; written expressly for performance without costumes or scenery, it is a masterpiece of musical theater. The vocal quintet portray a zany cast of characters drawn from the traditional commedia dell'arte.

Moravian Teachers' Choir Antonin Tucapsky, conductor

Founded in 1903 by Ferdinand Vach, the Moravian Teachers' Choir has continued its activities u uninterruptedly, touring Europe successfully on many occasions. It was for this outstanding ensemble that the great Czech nationalist composer Janacek wrote many of his finest choral songs; those heard here are presented for the first time in a modern recording.

Among the nine contained in this album, we also find a stirring ballad based on a text by Bengali poet-philosopher Rabindranath Tagore.

Oakland's crosscountry team won both ends of a double-dual meet defeating the University of Detroit, 23 to 32, and Sienna Heights College, 20 to 35, (low score wins) last Wednesday on the OU course.

The two victories boost OU's record to 2-2.

All five Oakland runners ran excellent races.

Crossing the finish line first in the three team race was OU freshman Prentice Randerson. Randerson, barely working up a sweat, covered the grueling 4.7 mile course in 26:09, 30 seconds ahead of the field.

Teammate Mike Stouffer kept pace with Randerson for the first three miles. Stouffer finished third with a time of 27:07.

Maurice Freed, 28:09, fifth; Dick McCormick, 28:24, seventh; and Jeff Nichols, 29:56, twelfth.

I added a class a few days after the last day for adds. There was a late charge of $5 assesed to my bill. What Gives?

A. You were charged a special late fee which was authorized by the University Senate last March. There was no mention of the fee in the original schedule of classes for fall because the schedule had already gone to press. The revised schedule also made no mention of the fee since the exact amount of the fee hadn't been determined. Lowell Ruggles, Oakland Registrar, told us that the $5 fee did away with the need for students to petition the Senate Committee on Instruction. Mr. Ruggles pointed out that with the old method for late adds, a student would be held in limbo until the committee acted upon the petition. Now, students adding classes late simply get the instructor's permission and pay the $5 fee.

Students Services has full time professional counselors. George Jackson, Director of Special Programs (125 Vandenburg 7-3262), said that students can receive both counseling and tutorial aid. There are help seminares now in learning skills and mathematics. Seminars in Chinese, psychology and sociology are planned. The dean of Freshman's Office (129 NFH 7-3260), is another good recourse for any problems that you might have.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: A University Congress member claims Oakland student's biggest problem is to stop administrative steamroller tactics by increasing student input. Do you agree?

15% YES

"... The administration doesn't believe that students exist." "...If you have more student interest, anything's possible."

85% NO

"If we had more money, we could have more of a say." "... The problem? It's commuters, everybody knows that!" "...No interest." "...It's all the commuters fault." "...This place needs some booze!"

What's New in OU's Community Service

How About a Job Market?

The Oakland University Community Service Program is presenting its fourth annual Volunteer Job Market. The Volunteer Job Market will be open to the surrounding communities of Oakland University.

What is a Volunteer Job Market? Well, for those of you who are not informed, the Volunteer Job Market is a get-together involving different community agencies from the surround community where they inform the students about their services and the benefits they offer the community. The purpose of the Volunteer Job market is to give students a chance to see what Community Service is all about. The agencies will talk to the students about what they have to offer giving the students a chance to get an inside look at the agencies. So why not come out and shop around on October 30th from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. at the Oakland Center (Firdside Lounge). Chances are you will find an agency with your purpose

Q. Why doesn't Oakland offer a physical education major for education students? A. If you can wait for a few years you might be in luck. A minor concentration is currently offered and plans for a major concentration are being considered. The Michigan Board of Education is considering teacher certification for the Physical Education minor. Director of Athletics, Mr. Corey Van Fleet, explained that there has been some reservations over creating a Phys. Ed major. Limited staff and facilities and competition with other Michigan Universities makes the neeed of a Phys. Ed. major at Oakland questionable at this time.

Q. I'm a chemistry major interested in graduate school but I have no money. Are there any scholorships that I might qualify

A. You may qualify for the National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowship. 500 awards will be made for the academic year 74-75. The awards are good for $3,600 per student per year, and are renewable. For more information about graduate study fellowships contact Lorn Coleman, Career Advising and Placement Office, at 377-3250.

Q. Is it true that there is a big push by the major auto companies to hire women?

A. Yes and No! Oakland-In-Action talked to representatives from two of the major auto companies. They stated that women applicants get no special preference. Both companies emphasized that they are always looking for qualified applicants (female or male). To find out what types of jobs are available call Ron Kevern, Director of Career Advising and Placement Office at 377-3250. The office has contacts with major corporation employment recruiters and sets up job interviews for students seeking post graduate employment. Mr. Kevern urges all Oakland students to explore career opportunities, and to do so

At 11:00, the parade ensemble will meet on Oakland University's campus. Marching bands, antique cars, and special interest groups will be participating. These groups include dorm floors, clubs, student organizations, as well as cheerleading squads.

At halftime, contestants in the Mr. and Ms. Oakland University competition will be announced. Winners of the car decoration contest will receive cash prizes. Participation awards will be given to parade organizations, who will also perform during halftime. Concessions will be by the Village Project.

Q. Where are the new university catalogs? I keep hearing that they are coming out soon but I still don't see any around. I didn't get a catalog at orientation and would really appreciate having one.

A. The catalogs were here. Close examination of the catalogs showed severe binding damage. Half of the catalogs were shipped back to the bindery. Many of the remaining catalogs are being sent to high school counselors by Oakland's Admissions Office. Lowell Ruggles, Registrar, told Oakland-In-Action that he hopes to have enough catalogs to distribute to the student body before preregistration. But don't run to the registrars to pick up your copy yet. In the interum, there are "advance copies" available at the various departmental offices, Charlie Brown's, the registrars, and the library.

Q. Is there any place on campus where you can go for advising, counseling, or just to get some extra help with classes?

A. Help for students is available from faculty, staff, and students. There are chief faculty advisors in all departments as well as many other faculty which are willing to aid students. Student advisors can also help and are available in most departments.

Chile-The Honest Revolt

continued from page 2 Allende was elected by the people, thus excusing his provacative actions. I don't know if you call 36% of a united faction democratic. That means that 74% voted against the late Doctor. The vast majority of Chileans were not going to take Allende's continuous castrations of their human rights, thus the overthrow. While allowing militant Leftists a free hand in nullifying the freedom of movement (taking over schools, burning, rioting), Allende sent out his squadron of repression to quell sincere opposition. The people had seen through the man who spoke of a "...commitment to peaceful means."

The fifty thousand striking truck drivers; the thousands of people who stood limp as they saw lifetimes of sweat become "nationalized", (i.e. confiscated) without their consent, will remain as the only reason for the hole in Allende's head.

Granted, Chile may be without a democracy for some time to come. But who made it all possible? The C.I.A.? No, even Senator Peace. Love, Dove, Mike Mansfield has attested to any governmental un-involvement. I.T.T.? Does anyone realistical ly believe that I.T.T. would risk another avalanche of public backlash as it has received from past frustrations.

Who else could have made it possible? Well, maybe, just maybe, the obvious--the "martyr" of Santiago, Dr. Salvadore Allende Gossens?

Maybe, just maybe... James A. Cummer
