Must Write Out Own Tax Form

Nation Is Told Service Will Only Answer Their Questions on Income

DETROIT (U.S. Taxpayers will have to fill out their own income tax returns from now on, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

A. M. Menninger, district director, said the Washington office directed that beginning with the 1955 returns the service will be restricted to answering questions.

In past years, taxpayers could go to the Federal Building here with their withholding statements and other information and a revenue service worker would make out the return.

Menninger said the new "do-it-yourself" policy was nationwide. It was ordered to save the revenue service money.

Last year about one-sixth of the 2½ million income taxpayers in Michigan got help from the service in filling out returns, Menninger said.

Red China Threatens

BERLIN (U.S. Communist China's deputy Premier Chen Yi was quoted today as saying Red China will invade Formosa if negotiations with the United States break down.

3 Area Groups Pledge More S-D Day Support

Additional support for President Eisenhower's Safe-Driving Day campaign, Dec. 1, came today from Pontiac labor, postal and transportation leaders.

Fred R. Haggard, president of the CIO Council; Leslie H. Dean, postmaster, and E. W. Dreascher, transportation superintendent of Pontiac City Lines, Inc., urged citizens to help keep S-D Day accident-free.

And the Greater Pontiac Community Advisory Council added its voice to the growing list of backers.

S-D Day was designated a city-wide endeavor by Mayor William W. Donaldson. It is locally sponsored by the safety committee of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce.

The purpose was explained by Paul Meridith, a committee member.

HOLIDAY SCENE — Careful there, Mom, not too much. The expert advice Mrs. John Donley, of 119 Perkins St. is getting comes from her four children, Sharon, 17, and Kathleen, 14, in the back row, and Patsy, 11, and Jimmy, 5, closer to the big bird. Their claim to "expert" title comes from their consumptive ability, not their culinary endeavors.

Trustee of Hospital Asks 'Inefficiency' Investigation

A trustee on the board at Pontiac General Hospital last night asked that the group call in an outside research and auditing firm to look into reported inefficiency in the operation at the hospital.

Trustee Harold B. Euler requested the action in order to confirm in his mind whether reported inefficiency does exist.

"I have not been able to investigate these reports as I would like to, due to my outside business, and I feel that as a trustee these matters should be looked into," Euler stated.

"Reports of missing books and ledgers are known even though I cannot definitely mention specific examples," the trustee declared. "That is why I would like an audit for a 30-day period to be presented at one of our future meetings."

Painting Spree Precedes Annual Football Contest

The blue and white colors of Royal Oak High School were discovered early this morning painted on Birmingham High School's exterior walls, railings, the bronze war memorial, mail boxes, speed and parking signs, windows and sidewalks.

The letters "RO" and "ROHS" were also smeared across windows and other spots. Police state damage is considerable, but estimates will not be determined until holiday vacationing school authorities look at the situation.

Football teams of both schools played their annual Thanksgiving Day game this morning, but police did not rule out the possibility that it could have been other than Royal Oak students responsible for the vandalism.

AEC May Face D-Y Court Fight

Commission Decides Not to Pay Damages for Canceled Contract

WASHINGTON (U.S. Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) decision to pay no damages to the Dixon-Yates group on a cancelled private power contract headed for a court fight today. The issue may involve millions of dollars.

Figuring heavily in the AEC's action, announced last night, was a legal opinion that New York financier Adolph H. Wenzell, "while having a conflicting private interest, acted as one of the principal advisors to the government in the negotiation of the contract."

This opinion by AEC General Counsel William Mitchell in effect confirmed charges made by Democrats who had fought the power contract from the beginning.

The commission's action also amounted to a victory for these Democrats who argued, after President Eisenhower ordered the pact cancelled last July, that no money settlement should be made with the Dixon-Yates group because of the conflict of interest they alleged.

FOES APPLAUD

Underlying the long standing Dixon-Yates controversy was the public-vs.-private power issue and the dispute was almost certain to echo in the national election campaigns next year.

Sens. Anderson of New Mexico and Gore of Tennessee, two of the leading Democratic foes of the Dixon-Yates contract, applauded when they learned that the AEC had informed the Mississippi Valley Generating Co. its power contract "is not an obligation which can be recognized by the United States."

The AEC action means it does not intend to pay any of the costs incurred by the Dixon-Yates group for site acquisition, preliminary work on the power project, and the like.

Equals Millions of Tons of TNT

Russia Explodes H-Bomb With Greatest Power Yet

WASHINGTON (INS)—Soviet Russia has exploded a super-bomb in its current series of tests of atomic and hydrogen weapons.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced last night that the explosion was Russia's largest thus far and was in "the range" of megatons—equivalent to millions of tons of TNT.

This indicated that the Soviets had touched off an H-bomb. The largest atomic weapon known to have been set off by the U. S. was only half a megaton—equal to 500,000 tons of TNT.

America's first hydrogen bomb, set off in 1952, was equal to five million tons of TNT. The super-giant which spread lethal quantities of radioactivity over 7,000 square miles in the Pacific on March 1, 1954, was roughly equivalent to 13 million tons of TNT.

Holiday Shines on Gettysburg and Skid Row

GETTYSBURG (U.S. — At their farm home here, President and Mrs. Eisenhower were a symbol of our traditional Thanksgiving celebration.

With them to partake of a turkey dinner and some pleasant family talk were the Eisenhowers' son, Maj. John Eisenhower, their daughter-in-law and their three grandchildren.

"The children" got in yesterday from Ft. Belvoir, Va., where Maj. Eisenhower is stationed.

A 40-pound bird contributed by the turkey industry was roasting for the oven.

WASHINGTON, Pa. (U.S. — Mrs. Blanche Horner, 40, gave thanks today.

Mrs. Horner is confined to a wheelchair by arthritis. Six years ago fire destroyed the family home and killed two of the Horners' nine children.

Four years later another child died of spinal meningitis. Last year Mrs. Horner's husband, James, died of cancer.

Yesterday another fire leveled the family home. Mrs. Horner and her children were rescued. Mrs. Horner said: "We have our lives to be thankful for, and our faith in the Lord."

CHICAGO (U.S. — The spirit of Thanksgiving was evident in Judge Hyman Feldman's Monroe Street Court yesterday as he faced 270 men from the Skid Row district.

Judge Feldman freed the men of drunk and disorderly conduct charges.

Then each man was given a ticket for a Thanksgiving Day dinner later at the Salvation Army headquarters.

State Traffic Drive Gathers Momentum

LANSING (U.S. — Plans for a gigantic traffic life-saving campaign in Michigan were being broadened to the grass roots today.

A conference of public-support groups yesterday urged that local safety organizations conduct in the next 30 days a series of area conferences for schoolmen, mayors and police chiefs and judges who handle traffic law violations.

This recommendation came out of the third conference called this week by Gov. Williams to put steam behind his proposal for a 15-month campaign to cut Michigan traffic deaths by 200.

Police groups agreed on a stiffer enforcement program and judges and prosecutors promised to cooperate, although withholding positive commitments to crack down in all cases.

The public support groups include local safety councils, the press, television and industry and civic groups.

Williams told the group that stricter enforcement of traffic laws can only be accomplished "if the public wants it and that means that public support groups like you will have to carry a large part of the burden."

Higgins Charges Law Seeking to Hit Turnpike

Michigan Turnpike Authority Chairman George N. Higgins charged yesterday a bill introduced in Lansing Nov. 4 to ban the State Highway Department from improving roads adjacent to the toll road was drawn up simply to "sandbag" the turnpike.

The measure was sponsored by Rep. Herb Clements (R-Sanilac County).

"It was an attempt," said Higgins to place the MTA in the position of opposing all road improvement within a wide area on both sides of the turnpike route to assure the toll road would be built.

"The turnpike authority is definitely not opposed to development of all highways in southeast Michigan, and we have never taken that position. Only a very limited number of possible projects would cut into toll revenues."

Clements' bill was defeated before it reached the House floor.

Mercury to Go Up Slightly Tomorrow

The weather menu for Thanksgiving offered an atmosphere that was partly cloudy, windy and cold. The high will range from 30 to 34 degrees. The low tonight will be from 20 to 24.

Tomorrow it will be mostly cloudy and not so cold with a high between 36 and 40 degrees.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 24 degrees. The thermometer registered 26 at 11 a.m.

Ten Nominated for Five Posts; Election Planned

Nominees for the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors were announced today. Five of the 10 will be elected later for three year terms. They are Donald D. Bergeson, D.D.S., Alex Clark, Eugene W. Crandell, Frank S. Lyndall, John E. Madole, Edward A. Maier, Ellisworth M. Ogg, Curtis E. Patton, George N. Petroff, M.D., George E. Wyman.

Members of the nominating committee are Bruce J. Annett, Glenn H. Griffin, Ralph T. Norvell, George M. Watson and Harold A. Fitzgerald, chairman.

Plan Could Cut Competition for Traffic Volume

Change Seen as Aid to Proposed Turnpike Through the Area

By BURDITT C. STODDARD

A possible route shift for a north-south freeway backed by State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler, opening the way for construction of a toll road by the Michigan Turnpike Authority (MTA) loomed yesterday in Ann Arbor.

The MTA made public a letter from Ziegler listing planned projects which might compete with the proposed toll road.

MTA Chairman George N. Higgins said the list did not include a relocation of U. S. 10 (Woodward) which would be in direct competition to the turnpike and probably make the pay-road impractical.

Higgins said he could only conclude that Ziegler had abandoned plans for a previously announced north-south freeway which would closely parallel the toll road route.

But Ziegler later told the Pontiac Press he has not scuttled plans for a north-south freeway. However, he described a route extending from the north end of Northwestern Highway which would lie farther from the turnpike route than one previously outlined by him.

The MTA also approved a relocation of its route east of Pontiac to avoid bisecting Herrington Hills Subdivision, a 370-home development. The change had been requested by city officials.

Ziegler's letter to the MTA included the following projects which, he said, might compete with the toll road:

1. A four-lane, divided highway over 32 miles between Fenton and Clio to be started in 1956.

2. The extension of Northwestern (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

'You Can Skip the Cranberry Sauce!'

"MMMMM-BOY!" — Robert Maloney, 5, of New York, demonstrates what he'll be doing today when he sits down with 150 other children for the traditional Thanksgiving dinner at the Children's Aid Society's Rhineland Center in New York. Approximately 1,364 turkey dinners are being served today at the society's seven children's centers in the city.

reason behind the request. He did not clarify this point.

Euler's request was referred to the Finance Committee of the board, for investigation.

Immediately three trustees claimed they had initiated the move for the request with Babcock refuting their statements.

Trustees and Treasurer Harold S. Goldberg said he "resented the insinuations" in Babcock's statements and demanded that he change what he had said.

Member of the board Mrs. B. B. Roush declared that at one time she had received "hundreds of names" voicing opposition to Hospital Director Miss Lauretta Paul but that her suggestion for a study at the hospital did not necessarily stem from this public opinion.

Vice-Chairman Willis M. Brewer voiced open opposition to Miss Paul but placed most of the blame on the lack of efficient personnel to work under her.

Brewer charged that Miss Paul's staff had hired numerous business managers during the past years. He was corrected by the director, who stated that he had reference to office managers, for the hospital has had but one business manager.

The board settled this item by discussing the rapid turn-over at the hospital and the failure to keep trained personnel at relatively low pay scales in certain sections of the hospital.

Miss Paul mentioned five to six departments which had a reputation for efficient work in the past and declared this was because they were being paid wages equal to similar departments in other hospitals.

Earlier Chairman Babcock read a proposed letter which dealt with the problem of lack of information on top management salaries with which he said Pontiac General was confronted.

The letter was approved by the board members and is to be sent to "trustee operated hospitals about our size in similar communities," the chairman reported.

Council Announces Adult Education Plan

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Losing no time in bringing about full utilization of the new Bloomfield Hills High School, the PTO Council has announced plans for an adult education program, "which has long been an objective."

Still very much in its organizational stages, the program is now being developed for all adult residents in the school district.

Forms have just been mailed to feel the public pulse on a number of classes in the home-making, hobby, music, language, art, science, math, craft, language, health, recreation and other special fields, with Hills residents invited to add comments and suggestions.

Courses will be held in the evenings, once or twice a week, and will be led by trained instructors. Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Stacey, co-presidents of the PTA council said there will be notification of the classes to be offered and other information, as soon as results have been tabulated.

Sentenced on charges of driving under the influence of liquor, James F. Gilbert, 33, Auburn Hotel, paid a $100 fine.

Darwin Butler, 32, of 2985 Pontiac Rd., pleaded guilty to reckless driving and paid a $35 fine.

Sonnenstein, near Pirna, is to be the center for airplane output in East Germany.

The Day in Birmingham

Therapeutic Swimming Begins Dec. 1 for 3rd Year

BIRMINGHAM — Birmingham's polo patients, or others striving to overcome some crippling ailment, are perhaps counting their blessings on an even greater extent than the more fortunate on this Thanksgiving Day.

For there are no stronger proponents of any recovery program than the victims themselves. That is why Mrs. Peter Decker, a polo patient, has been spearheading publicity for the therapeutic swimming program which Mrs. Decker said yesterday will begin Dec. 1.

Sanctioned by the Recreation Board for the third year now, the weekly half-hour program will take place at the Barnum School pool, from 6:30 to 7 p.m. each Thursday. Lifeguard for the ern Highway to U.S. 23 near Fenton as a four-lane, divided highway. Work to start after completion of the John C. Lodge Expressway in Detroit in 1957.

The above two projects are part of the north-south freeway described to the Press yesterday by Ziegler as a superhighway he said he intends to complete within five years.

The commissioner said the freeway would go north from the Lodge Expressway, out Northwestern Highway and the proposed Northwestern extension passing about 13 miles west of Pontiac, then northwesterly to hit the west bypass of Flint; moving north to Clio, on to the east bypass of Saginaw and connecting at Kawkawlin with a four-lane highway to Standish.

This route is farther away from the toll road location than a proposed route exhibited by Ziegler last spring at meetings in this area protesting the MTA plans.

Higgins said yesterday the Northwestern extension would not hurt the toll road unless carried past M28 in Oakland County.

Ziegler's plan makes the extension part of the north-south route carrying from Detroit to Standish above Bay City.

Other planned projects listed in Ziegler's letter were:

1. Extension of the Toledo-North Expressway from Rockwood north to the Detroit Industrial Expressway. This would cause some trouble, Higgins said.

2. The widening of M24 from Opdyke Road to Lake Orion, which is now in progress. Turnpike Authority Chief Engineer E. Thomas Baker said this would help the toll road by acting as a "feeder" road.

Turnpike revenue would also be cut, said Higgins, if Southfield Road were made a four-lane facility.

Aside from extending Northwestern past M28, widening Southfield, extending the Toledo-North Expressway or building a north-south freeway immediately adjacent to the toll road route, "we don't care what he (Ziegler) does," Higgins stated.

"Ziegler has tried to create the impression we oppose all new construction in a wide area on both sides of the turnpike route. But this is not true. We hope he will work on other roads in that area. "After the toll road had been operating for about five years, he could improve any road he wanted to, without exception."

Higgins stated he has been speaking at numerous meetings in communities along the proposed toll road route and "once the people get the true picture their opposition, if any, lessens."

Baker said a problem had cropped up involving two Nike guided missile sites near Detroit. One in Rouge Park and another between Pennsylvania Avenue and Sibley Road.

He explained the proposed route runs between each site's radar tower and launching structure and might interfere with the radar beam which touches off the missiles' launching device.

The engineer said he is conferring with Army authorities and expects a solution can be found.

Progress is being made, said Baker, on a relocation proposed by Ford Motor Co. officials through Dearborn to miss two churches.

Authority Consulting Engineer Murray D. VanWagoner said discussions are under way with Detroit officials and they "may be persuaded to go along with the route through Detroit, at least reluctantly."

In Pontiac, Baker said, the route will be moved slightly to the west to avoid bisecting Herrington Hills Subdivision. The change will require taking out two houses, he added.

Possibility of relocating the interchange planned at the city's northeast corner from Perry Street to Walton Boulevard is still being studied, he explained.

Youth Escapes Injury in Bicycle-Auto Mishap

Eleven-year-old Dale Folsom, 472 N. Saginaw St., escaped serious injury when he turned his bicycle into the side of a car at 4 p.m. yesterday. He went home to treat scratches on his leg. Dale told police that he intended to turn left at Saginaw and Howard Sts. when he struck the right side of a car driven by Nathaniel Hall, 75 Orion St.

group will be Donald Grothe, Birmingham High School instructor and counselor, who assisted in the same duties for last year's program.

Mrs. Decker said mostly polo patients have availed themselves of the facilities in the last two years the swimming period has been offered, but added that it is also beneficial to those who may have suffered bone breaks, etc., where any stiffness now exists.

She reminded that participants must have a letter of permission from their physician sent to the Recreation Board office. Children, she said, should be accompanied by an adult and only persons living within the school district are eligible for the therapy program.

Last year the group continued meeting through May, said Mrs. Decker. She asked that anyone interested call the office in the Hill School building for full particulars.

Almost completed is the city's fall tree planting program, according to Charles Gale, city forester. This entailed the planting of about 500 trees, he said, including Norway and sugar maples, morain locusts, northern planes and pin oaks.

Twelve unusual varieties are to be placed at Elton Park, with 20 new columnar maples along the business district on West Maple between Pierce and Southfield and the side streets adjoining this section of Maple. Evergreens, shrubs and flowering crabs were planted earlier as part of the city-wide beautification program.

Gale said it will be impossible to handle more individual requests for tree planting in the current project but said these may be included in the spring program. At that time more small trees, evergreens and shrubs will also be added to the city nursery.

An educational prize is being offered by the Franklin School PTA to the grade with the highest percentage of paid parental membership by Nov. 30. It has been announced.

Last year's 98 per cent membership made possible the purchase of an opaque projector for group classroom study and an FM radio to receive educational programs. The PTA has also contributed $450 in books to the school library. Membership chairman is Mrs. W. H. Worcester.

School Construction Bids Will Be Taken

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Two special meetings have been called for next week by the School Board, with construction bids for the Wing Lake School addition to be received Monday and bids for a new elementary school at the Westview Road site (between Squirrel and Adams Roads) to be opened Thursday.

Other action at Tuesday's meeting saw the board take action on an additional three acres of property adjacent to the present 12 acre elementary school site on West Long Lake road.

A recent change in the school district's boundaries, affecting some 10 families who were formerly in the local district but now find themselves in the Avondale district, will be referred to the Oakland County Board of Education. However, board members assured the group they would aid in every way possible.

Pontiac Deaths

Sylvester E. Dust

Sylvester E. Dust, 78, of 222 Osmin St. was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital yesterday.

Born in Alpena, Michigan, June 22, 1877, he was the son of Ernest and Charlotte Thalls. Dust and married Agnes Morrison in Alpena on June 30, 1915. He has been a resident of the city for 38 years.

He is a retired employee of the Grand Trunk Western R. R. in Pontiac and a veteran of the Spanish American War. Besides his wife Agnes, he is survived by a daughter Kathryn McCreeby of Pontiac and a brother and two sisters: William Dust of Glen Echo, Maryland, Mrs. Etta D. Reagan of East Smethport, Pennsylvania and Mrs. Ralph Richardson of Alpena.

Funeral will be at 2:30 p.m. Saturday from the Voorhees-Siple Chapel with the Rev. Paul R. Havens of the First Methodist Church officiating.

Williams Refuses Session on Free Vaccine Clinics

LANSING — Gov. Williams has refused to let the special legislative session consider establishing free clinics for distributing the Salk polio vaccine.

The request was made by Rep. Fred W. Zinn (R-Battle Creek). Williams, on the advice of Dr. Albert E. Henstis, state health commissioner, said he found no basis for Zinn's charge that the current distribution program through either public clinics or private physicians had "bogged down."

Judge Annuls Passport Tactic

Bans State Department Use of Personal Matter to Decide Bids

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge Luther W. Youngdahl has ruled out use by the State Department of confidential information in passing upon passport applications. Decisions of the department's passport office "must be substantiated by evidence contained in the record," Youngdahl said yesterday in the most far-reaching opinion on the subject so far from any federal court.

"When the basis of action by any branch of the government remains hidden from scrutiny and beyond practical review, the seeds of arbitrary and irresponsible government are sown," Youngdahl said. "More and more the courts have become aware of the irreparable damage which may be, has been, and is, wrought by the secret informer and the faceless talebearer whose identity and testimony remain locked in confidential files."

In several cases here in recent months, courts have said persons denied passports are entitled to a "quasijudicial hearing," but never said just what that meant. Youngdahl did. It means, he said, "due process of law."

Business Asked to Aid Colleges

Private Schools Told Government Need Not Give Building Money

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Independent colleges should go to business rather than to government for resources to care for expanding needs, says Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of the board of General Motors.

Leaders of the several big firms sounded this note at a one-day Pacific Coast conference on industry and higher education.

The conference, sponsored by the Council for Financial Aid to Education, heard estimates that American colleges and universities will double their enrollment to five million by 1970 and within the next decade will need eight billion dollars in additional building and endowment funds.

Business and industry must help to meet those needs, with no strings attached, speakers said.

Irving S. Olds, former chairman of the board of U. S. Steel and now with the New York firm of White and Case, said the aim of the conference was to encourage "unrestricted gifts" to colleges and universities.

Corporations, he said, should let the schools decide how the money should be spent. Dr. Courtney Brown, dean of Columbia University's graduate school of business, said industry must find ways to aid education without trying to influence it.

In ancient Babylon and Assyria, brides were auctioned once a year in front of the temple, the price for beautiful girls being turned over to the less beautiful as dowries so that every girl eventually found a husband.

Okay Plan to Drop Passenger Service

Discontinuance of passenger service on trains traveling from Pontiac to Caseville and Richmond on the Grand Trunk Railroad was authorized today by the State Public Service Commission.

The commission's ruling will affect eight mixed trains operating in the Lower Peninsula, and will go into effect Jan. 1, 1956.

The action was prompted by the railroad's contention at a November 13 hearing that it was losing money on the passenger service. With the exception of the Pontiac to Caseville run, each of the trains operated on a daily schedule.

A commission spokesman stated that the move will not affect freight service on the trains.

Yugoslavia's airline now has regular services from Belgrade to London, Paris, Athens, Cairo, Istanbul and Beirut.

For Our Many Blessings Let's Give Thanks Today

Today truly is one of great thanksgiving for all 165,000,000 of us Americans.

Never before in the long history of this great national festival have we had so many blessings. Never before have so many been able to share so abundantly in the bounty of our land.

First among our blessings, of course, is the faith of our fathers, the faith which today fills our churches with prayers and songs of gratitude to the Creator of all things.

All of us are prayerfully thankful that our President has made such excellent progress toward complete recovery from his illness that he is back at the helm.

We are grateful for the fact that we possess such great economic and political stability. As a result the President's illness caused no noticeable change in the operation of our national Government. One of our greatest blessings is that our only revolutions are technological — not political.

As a Nation we are fortunate that our prosperity is so soundly based and carefully safeguarded by our Government that we can look forward confidently to still higher standards of living. This, in turn, has enabled us to help less fortunate peoples.

Finally, it is reassuring to know that in this divided world our Government is maintaining defenses sufficiently strong so that we can face the future unafraid.

Love of Water Delays Victory Over Malaria

Our Foreign Economic Assistance (FEA) officials have discovered that natives' passionate love for water has delayed scientific victory over malaria in Thailand.

Details of this story are told by LEON HOWARD in the Los Angeles Times. Thailanders, he points out, like any kind of water—clear water, muddy water, running water, stagnant water. They just like to have it around.

Farmers build their houses on stilts over irrigation or drainage ditches and on piles driven into the beds of rivers. They even edge them over the banks of narrow canals. There is so much water in fact that it cannot be oiled for mosquito control and the result is that malaria is so widespread that it isn't considered a disease.

So strongly ingrained is this native attitude that the entire FEA malaria control program appeared stymied. The natives laughed at the western idea that there is any connection between those harmless little anophelines mosquitoes and their shakes and pains.

But an 80 year old woman saved the whole program. She finally consented to have her home sprayed. The next morning her neighbors were aroused by her shouts of rejoicing. Although mosquitoes never had bothered her, she had spent the first night in her life free from the discomfort of bedbugs!

It took more than a year for her experience to influence inhabitants of other settlements. Gradually, however, all families began to welcome the spray brigade and FEA now believes final victory over malaria is possible within a few years.

Three Nations Study Ocean Food Resource

A byproduct of the human family's rapid growth is a tripower decision to make a comprehensive survey of food resources in the North Pacific Ocean.

As might be expected, sponsors of the survey are three Pacific powers, the United States, Canada and Japan, all with long coastlines. In making it 20 ships will be used and the research crews literally will carry on investigations beneath the surface of a wide expanse of ocean about which little is known.

One objective of the study is information which will be of value to the fishing industries of participating nations. Facts also are sought on marine life in general, the chemical composition of sea water and the effect of weather on oceanic conditions.

Fantastic though it seems in these days of crop surpluses, there is strong support for the theory that food for millions more people can be found in the sea. There even is talk of growing sea vegetation on land and of using microscopic marine life for food.

For the United States and Canada the information which may be gathered in this project will be mainly of scientific value. But it is easy to see that great benefits may be realized by Japan and other overpopulated countries where food is far from abundant.

Patients at TB Sanatorium Ask to Finish Cure There

Ninety: An age you cannot expect to reach by indicating it on the speedometer.

Medical Director of the Oakland County Tuberculosis Sanatorium.

Dr. James Chens, says this long drawn out agitation about its future has created an unrest and anxiety among the patients that is not conducive to their cure. They have presented a petition to State Senator William S. Broomfield stating that "In view of the success of this institution in the treatment of tuberculosis, we ask that we be allowed to complete our cure here, rather than be moved to other quarters." The petition bears 115 names, 95 per cent of the patients, the few others being cases that were not available. Nobody refused to sign the petition.

"Is Thanksgiving losing its real touch and meaning?" writes

"Lover of Our Traditions," who asserts that the former exchange of thanks in communion with others or in church services, is being displaced with feasting in an era when we also on the other 364 days in the year eat too much.

James Marlow Says:

Tangled Situation in Palestine Involves U. S., Russia as Well as Arabs, Jews

WASHINGTON — Palestine's tangled story involves not only the Jews and Arabs but the United States and Russia. It may, if war breaks out, set off the spark that ignites the world. This is the background:

Palestine, about New Jersey's size, has 1,600,000 people, half of whom entered there in the past 10 years. Of the total, 1½ million are Jews, 70 per cent of the rest are Moslems.

From the time the Romans crushed them in 70 A. D. the Jews, until recently, did not have a majority in Palestine. Nevertheless, through the centuries they looked upon it as their homeland.

The Turks, when they jumped into World War I on Germany's side, held not only Palestine but the surrounding Arab areas. To win the Arabs from the Turks, the French and British promised them that if the Allies won they would break up the Turkish Empire into Arab states.

Britain also—in the Balfour Declaration of 1917—said it would look with favor on the creation of a home for Jews in Palestine. The Jews at that time were only one tenth of the population in Palestine.

NET UP ARAB STATES

The Allies won and began setting up the Arab states, under French and British control. The League of Nations also gave Britain a mandate — which meant control but not ownership — of Palestine.

Came World War II and the massacre of Jews in Germany. It stung the world's conscience—the Western world's, that is. The Jews, worldwide, meanwhile, had been pushing for a nation of their own in Palestine. They could always point to that British Balfour Declaration of 1917. The British had never made good.

Jews poured in

At war's end the British said they would quit Palestine. Jews poured in. Arabs feared Jewish immigration would swamp them. Besides, they objected to creation of a new Jewish state. But in 1947 the United Nations approved this idea: partition Palestine, letting part of it be a Jewish state, part an Arab state.

On May 14, 1948, the Jews proclaimed the independence of Israel. The next day Egypt, followed by other Arab countries, attacked Israel. The Jews, outnumbered, fought the Arabs and, by the time an armistice was agreed on, held not only what the U. N. had intended to be Jewish Palestine but most of what had started out to be Arab Palestine.

MAJOR SORE POINT

That armistice line—besides the Arabs' hatred of the Jews and their refusal to recognize Israel as a state—was one of the sorest points.

Early this month fighting broke out between the Egyptians and Israelis in one of those zones — called El Aja — on the frontier between Egypt and Israel.

By itself this would have been bad enough. But the fighting began shortly after Egypt reportedly had ordered 80 million dollars worth of arms from Communist Czechoslovakia. It meant Russia was beginning to make solid contact with the Arabs.

The West, but particularly the United States, while helping Israel get on its feet wanted not only to keep the friendship of the Arabs but to keep them away from Russian influence.

NO COMPROMISE

Then British Prime Minister Eden made a proposal — the United States hasn't gone along with it—which infuriated the Jews. He suggested Jews and Arabs settle their differences by making "compromises." The Jews said what he really meant was that they should give back to the Arabs that part of Arab Palestine which they had conquered in the fighting of 1948-49. They said no.

They appealed to the United States for arms. This country said it would consider their request. At once Egypt warned the United States that if it gave the Jews arms it would lose the friendship of the Arab world of which Egypt is leader.

The United States wants to keep the Arabs friendly but, because of the large Jewish population in this country, has to think twice about refusing Israel arms.

If full-scale war breaks out in Palestine, it could in the end involve this country and Russia.

An Unexpected Lump in Your Throat Is Evidence of Close Relation to God

Marilyn demonstrates "empathy," which is a new term in psychology. Paste this case record in your scrapbook for it contains several ideas which we psychologists offer about the unique sensation of a lump in your throat when you witness self-sacrifice and true love. Cultivate this divine trait in your children while they are young and idealistic.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-304: Marilyn M., aged 19, is a lovely college coed who serves as YWCA president on her campus.

"Dr. Crane, am I peculiar?" she began with a smile.

"For when I hear certain types of great music or listen to the climax of a sermon, a lump comes into my throat."

"In fact, my throat aches until I often become conscious of the pain. And tears also spring into my eyes."

"Why is that? Am I just unduly sentimental? Is it a sign that I haven't matured sufficiently?"

LUMP IN THROAT

No, millions of intelligent adults get that unique experience of a lump in their throats.

It is not a sign of undue sentimentality or juvenility but an evidence of the close relationship of human beings to God Almighty.

The human brain is the nearest organ to Divinity that exists in us. And the vocal cords are

Pontiac Resident Opposes Township Merger Plan

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I read an article in last Friday's Press stating that a well-known Drayton Plains resident suggested annexation of Waterford Township by the City of Pontiac. He mentioned something about advantages and benefits to both communities.

And then there appears in Monday's Press an article by a prominent Pontiac organization endorsing the merger.

And again Tuesday in the Press another article by the prominent resident of Drayton Plains stating that he already has received many favorable comments on the proposed annexation. I wonder if any of them were from Pontiac home owners and property taxpayers.

I cannot see any advantage or benefit to Pontiac from such a merger. Pontiac property owners would be taxed homeless to pave Waterford streets, build their water and sewage systems and schools, etc.

After they build up, we of Pontac might consider annexation. And to the City of Pontiac, let's not appropriate any taxpayers' money to finance an investigation by a qualified planning firm, because I am sure most Pontiac home owners can see that the advantages of said merger are greatly outweighed by the disadvantages.

Hal Boyle Says:

Whatever Has Happened to Spirit of Thanksgiving?

NEW YORK — Sidewalk musings of a pavement Plato:

Whatever has happened to the old-fashioned Thanksgiving?

The formal religious quality of Thanksgiving seems almost to have disappeared. A minister here estimated only one of ten people would go to church on this holiday.

Something that doesn't seem as bad to me as it does to the minister.

There are many days of the year in which men pay gratitude to their Lord in church.

But Thanksgiving is a more personal time, when a man's God can be thought of as leaving a candlelit, prayer-loud cathedral to go out of doors and see his people taking gifts of food and fun while they laugh out loud.

It is the informal religious quality of Thanksgiving that is important, but time seems slowly draining it away, too.

We are so overburdened with plenty that many regard Thanksgiving as a chore rather than a celebration. We groan, "gosh the turkey'll be on the table for days and days."

The yen is for a slimmer, smaller bird that won't last on the plate so long. Some heathen voices are even heard to moan, "I don't like turkey."

Don't like turkey? A man might just as well quibble about how the sun shines on America.

The turkey is more native to this land than any treasonous voice raised against it. It fed the people in a time when hunger was a problem and plenty hadn't yet become an ordeal.

The splendid fat silhouette of the turkey is America's oldest symbol of abundant fruitfulness. The owl cries "who-o-o-o," but the turkey says "gobble, gobble!" And that appetizing exclamation forecasts his own fate. He is gobbled.

Whatever has really happened to the old-fashioned Thanksgiving? In the city it too often has lost its country flavor, the savor of the land.

Thanksgiving is the holiday of the year that most has the rich taste of the earth about it. It is above all days a celebration of the joys of the stomach. It is a full belly against the empty threat of winter. It has a cider tang.

Mankind has hungered so many generations in so many places in the dark, Thanksgiving Day is America's bounteous answer. It is a long feast that usually begins in sunlight and at the close is lit by candles. The sun doesn't really set on Thanksgiving day. It just creeps off.

Whatever god man prays to walks himself among his people in this land on Thanksgiving day and whispers a saying as old as the old world itself: "Good Appetite." It is the day when eating is a form of worship.

So the day after Thanksgiving you have to eat turkey hash? More than two thirds of the race of mankind cannot know the wealth of turkey hash—because they never even get to see the turkey!

At the climax, you will find that Sidney Carton voluntarily lays down his life for Charles, whom Sidney's sweetheart really loved.

So Sidney exchanges clothes with Charles and takes his place at the French guillotine. That's the type of unselfish love which will give you a lump in your throat and an ache in the region of your heart.

For unselfishness and true love are Godlike. When we see them or experience them, even vicariously, we show our own Divinity by getting a lump in the throat.

EMPATHY

We psychologists talk about "empathy" as a condition in which you can read yourself into the role of another person.

It is a correlate of high intelligence, plus extroversion of our personality and often a characteristic of religious teaching.

Some people have difficulty projecting themselves into the position of others, so they have less sympathy and less understanding of hapless folks.

But a well trained girl like Marilyn, can easily feel sympathy. For sympathy is simply a form of empathy. Would that we had more Marylins.

Mrs. America Applies for Visa to Visit Russia

ROME (INS) — Mrs. America of 1955, who believes women are better peace makers than men, says she will apply for a Soviet visa today in the hope of visiting Moscow on a personal goodwill mission.

In everyday life Mrs. America is Mrs. Ramona Dietemeyer, 35-year-old blue-eyed blonde mother of five children, and wife of Carl Dietemeyer, editor of "The Nebraska Farmer."

Mrs. Dietemeyer, whose home is in Lincoln, Neb., said she mentioned the plan to visit Moscow to Alexander Vlasov, during his recent visit to California as head of a Soviet housing delegation.

She said she told Vlasov:

"I believe women of different countries, especially housewives and mothers, are better peace makers than men. Therefore, they must know each other better."

Mrs. Dietemeyer said Vlasov replied:

"It's a wonderful idea. You have all my backing."

Vlasov recently came under heavy fire from Communist officials in Moscow for overstressing the decorative features of Soviet architecture.

Mrs. Dietemeyer said she will visit West and East Berlin and go on to Moscow from there if she gets her visa.

Budget Surplus to Supply Wayne U. Pay Hikes

DETROIT (U)—Wayne University teachers are going to get pay raises of about $300 annually, but not from the same funds as primary and secondary school teachers who also will receive salary increases.

Oren E. Thomas, vice president for finance at the municipally owned university, said the raises will come from $180,000 budget surplus.

The State Legislature recently allocated 12½ million dollars for increases in teachers' salaries.

Jerusalem Doll Factory

JERUSALEM — A doll factory is being built in Jerusalem that will produce some 25,000 to 35,000 dolls a month. The plant will employ about 120 workers full time and give part-time employment to some 300 families in the area, who will make doll parts at home.

Not Required to Sign Axle Pacts, Ohio Told

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio is not required to sign motor vehicle reciprocity pacts with other states, the Ohio attorney general's office has told the second District Court of Appeals.

The Appellate Court gave Ohio the choice of signing a new pact with Michigan or explaining why it would not. Two Michigan trucking firms asked the court to compel Ohio to sign a new agreement exempting Michigan trucks from Ohio's axle-mile tax.

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese government, in an attempt to quell American charges that cheap Japanese cottons are flooding the United States market, states it will no longer approve contracts

The government previously had suspended export license applications on four specific cotton items considered most competitive in the United States market—gray and bleached cloth, velveteen and corduroy.

Ferguson 'Wonder Car' — a Revolution in Automobile Manufacture

By STANLEY GODFREY
LONDON — The new "wonder" car developed by Harry Ferguson has set Britain dreaming of a way out of her sagging position in the world's car export rankings—even though details of the car are secret.

Government, industrial and military officials are said to be excited over the new auto.

Harry Ferguson is the tractor magnate whose patent battles with Ford Motor Co. won him nine million dollars in infringement costs. Reported to be completely new in concept, the Ferguson car is said in British press accounts to threaten to revolutionize the auto-making industry.

Already four big motor manufacturers are said to be courting Ferguson for a share in mass producing the new auto which does away with conventional brakes, gear box, clutch and transmission. Government experts who have watched a military version of the car on exhaustive tests are reported convinced it is the biggest advance in military transport since the first tank lumbered over the top in Flanders in World War I. So far no details of the new auto have been made public—but a number of "leaks" has enabled the following picture to be pieced together.

The secret of the new car is a large pressure chamber pumping out hydraulic fluid to drive—and brake—all four wheels by small turbines and to operate the independent suspension system and other power units.

The engine is merely a subsidiary of this hydraulic system. It could be carried on a trailer hooked behind the car and linked to it with a single oil pressure cable.

The motor is close-coupled to the hydraulic pump, which compresses oil in a pressure chamber.

From this chamber, high pressure oil jets are taken to small turbines which drive all four wheels through short, flexible couplings.

Braking is effected by a simple two-way valve. When the brake pedal is depressed, the power jet is directed to the reverse side of the turbine to produce an even stopping pressure on all four wheels.

It is claimed this braking system minimizes skidding, since pressure would be constant on all four wheels.

The engine and pressure chamber are under the rear passenger seat, giving improved road holding characteristics.

Oil fluid from the pressure chamber can be used to operate powered steering and spring bumpers, build-in jacking to lift the car, hood-raising and trunk opening.

Last weekend Sir Miles Thomas, boss of the state-owned British Overseas Airways car joined Ferguson as a top sales and production director with full government blessing.

"Mr. Ferguson's car could give us a world beating lead in motor exports," he told newsmen.

"It does not require any extravagant expenditure on new machine-tool equipment," he said, "and with a really mass volume of production could bring down the costs."

Thomas was emphatic that the invention should be exploited by Britain alone. Asked if foreign companies would be interested in building the car if British firms turned it down he declared: "I view that prospect with horror."

The tabloid Daily Sketch, urging swift government action to exploit the new car, said the cost of manufacture should be offset by government contracts.

"If Ferguson gets the brushoff here who could blame him if he took his invention abroad," it said. "We'll bet the Americans would be interested." Other newspapers took the same line.

See a Lawyer—Before You Sign Any Legal Paper

ANN ARBOR — "When in doubt, see a lawyer," a University of Michigan law professor warns.

Prof. Marcus L. Plant, who doubles as the university's Big Ten faculty representative to the western conference, says a paper you sign is usually binding.

"You should be especially careful," Prof. Plant says, "about signing any note or promise to pay, particularly if a large sum is involved."

"A good rule to follow is if you don't understand it thoroughly, don't sign it — see a lawyer." One of the main sources of danger, says Prof. Plant, is in real estate transactions where, sometimes, hidden complications are seen only by a lawyer.

"Many people who try to conduct their own legal affairs do so because they have a fear that a lawyer will overcharge them," he adds. "That attitude is unwarranted and stems from the activities of a very few unscrupulous lawyers."

To be sure, says Prof. Plant, when you want to see a lawyer, consult your local legal aid bureau, your banker or your clergyman — but above all, contact a lawyer before you get in trouble. And let him keep you out of it, not get you out of it.

Columns of Tobacco

WASHINGTON—When the Capitol was rebuilt in 1816 after the British had burned it in the War of 1812, the architect, Benjamin Henry Latrobe, in planning the columns that support the dome in the old Senate wing chose a Corinthian type. But instead of using the traditional acanthus leaves he used tobacco leaves.

Britain now estimates its tourist dollars at an annual total of $140,000,000.

UM Geologist Advises Prospectors to Be Wary of Slick Salesmen

ANN ARBOR (AP)—If you're looking for a get-rich scheme, like drilling for oil—better stick to the scientific methods. A fanciful gadget like a doodle bug or forked stick won't help.

A University of Michigan professor, Geologist Kenneth K. Landes, says that oil-finding doodle bugs come in assorted shapes and sizes, but they have one thing in common. They don't work.

The doodle bug, usually sold by a slick salesman, is supposed to find oil anywhere. Prof. Landes says science can't guarantee results, but its by far the safest method.

To help, he says, oil usually occurs in sandstone or limestone areas that have been warped by the movement of the earth into subterranean domes.

UNDERGROUND LAKES

The oil, says Prof. Landes, is not in great underground lakes as many people suppose. Instead its found in the pores of the sandstone and limestone rock.

In Michigan, Prof. Landes says, the oil is found mostly in limestone formations. Usually the geologist can spot a likely-looking area by checking places where the rock juts out of the surface.

But in Michigan the bed rock is covered by glacial debris. A gadget is used which can measure the rise and fall of the bed rock below the surface to tell the geologist where the domes are.

Still drilling for oil is a gamble. Seven or eight wells are sunk for every one that's hit. Even if oil is discovered in one well, it has to pay for six or seven bum ones.

If that sounds bad, Prof. Landes says, people who don't get expert advice from geologists hit only one producing well in 32 attempts.

Thank You Chain Will Aid Needy in Buffalo Area

NEW YORK (INS)—A "thank-you" chain which has reached around the world since last Thanksgiving Day forges its 100th link today in Buffalo—with the city's needy as the beneficiaries.

The unusual chain began on Thanksgiving Day, 1954, when Mrs. Ruth Herkel of Aetna Springs, Cal., won $200 on CBS-TV show, "On Your Account." She asked that her winnings be given to a young Army sergeant who had saved her from drowning.

This "thank you" gesture by the California woman started something. When the sergeant got his money, he appeared on the show and named a third "thank you" link, to whom he donated his winnings.

The chain continued until "link 99"—Mrs. Kenneth McCarthy of Kenmore, N. Y.—selected as her "thank you" recipient Thomas Hopkins of Buffalo, who got her husband a job.

The winnings this time are 100 turkeys, raised at a special turkey farm in New York City. Hopkins requested that the turkeys, flown to Buffalo, be given to a Buffalo charity. They will help feed 1,000 persons today, through the cooperation of the Salvation Army.

Soviet Theater Seeks U.S. Plays

Criticism of Red Stage Begins Effort to Live in Moscow Dramatics

MOSCOW (AP)—For the first time in 25 years Soviet literary figures have gone looking for American plays to translate for the Moscow theater. It's part of an effort to revitalize the Russian stage, also reflected in demands for more new Soviet plays.

Culture Minister N. A. Mikhailov criticized Russian stage stereotypes last week and the criticism was repeated in stronger words by Pravda, the Communist party organ.

One of the first evident results in the campaign is the importing of foreign companies. A British troupe, starring Paul Scofield and Diana Wynyard, arrived this week for a series of performances of Shakespeare's "Hamlet."

This company, directed by Peter Brooks, is the first group of British actors to play in Moscow within living memory. France's Comedie Francaise was here last year.

Soviet translators and authors are having trouble with American and other Western plays because Soviet drama concentrates on ideological and materialist conflicts, while the West concentrates nowadays on the psychological.

Thus there is a question whether Tennessee Williams' "Streetcar Named Desire" is suitable on sociological grounds or is too introverted. Other plays under consideration range back to Eugene O'Neill's "Anna Christie" and up to William Inge's "Bus Stop."

"We prefer light plays, but light plays which show real earthy American people," said one would-be translator.

A translator gets 4 per cent of the take for each performance throughout the vast Soviet Union. The translator of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," for example, collected two million rubles—$500,000 at the official exchange rate.

Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman" and "The Crucible" already have been translated and performances are expected sometime this season.

Canadian Gold Bricks

Mines at Yellowknife in Canada's District of Mackenzie produce gold molded there into 60-pound bricks. A ton of ore yields 1/2 ounce of the metal. Each brick, about the size of a building brick, is valued at about $25,500, says the National Geographic Society.

The Gold Coast now exports timber from 18 species of trees, Accra reports.

Beware of Those Holiday Diet Resolutions

By PHYLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Customarily people make their resolutions on New Year's Day. These pledges usually involve whisky and the better life, which are to be given up and taken up, respectively.

For smaller scale resolves, however, there is no time like Thanksgiving.

This is the day when you lie on the sofa, listening lethargically to the battle of mince pie vs. turkey—with the anticid referee—and vow nevermore to be a pig.

"I will never," you say, provided you can speak, "let my eyes do an injustice to my intestines again."

A resolution like this, of course, is easier said than executed. It should not be pledged lightly. One must search his soul first, to make dead certain that he really wants to transform himself from pig to mental breakdown in high. Like sylph.

For the path of the reformed pig is rocky, and the incidence of mental breakdown is high. Like all heroes who have struggled for an ideal, few will understand him. And they will label him erratic and temperamental and possibly a bum.

First, there is the seemingly simple matter of counting calories. Before dieting became popular, this was an easy addition job, but now it requires long division, calculus and intuition.

In any six books containing calorie charts, the divergence in figures is so wide that much work must be done to derive the "mean calorie count" of, say, "noodles, unenriched, boiled, 1 cup."

There's the additional problem of having to find the size, condition and quantity of foods listed in charts. Many reformed fat men have reverted after unsuccessfully searching for 1/4-by-10-inch watermelon slices, 4-by-3-by-1/4-inch half-but steaks and one-twelfth of a sponge cake which is 8 inches in diameter.

Lower Incomes May Affect Farm Plans

WASHINGTON (INS)—Declining farm income is expected to have a very pronounced effect on farmers' building plans for next year.

According to the best estimates, all farm construction in 1955 is expected to reach about one billion, 400 million dollars.

The forecast for 1956 is one billion, 350 millions—a drop of 50 million dollars, or about four per cent. However, the decline could be much more drastic if the present cost-price squeeze continues unabated.

There will always be someone at some dinner party who says, "Come on, honey, you need your green—have an olive, at least."

To which the dieter will have to reply, "Yolks, they're the worst kind. Seventy calories in the green, 105 in a ripe."

"Dig him," someone will remark. And there will be fighting.

A similarly tense situation will arise when the dieter goes for dinner at mother's house. It need not be his mother, it can be anybody's mother.

No Entrance Into Big War, Considine Says

PITTSBURGH (INS)—Bob Considine, International News Service correspondent and columnist, said in Pittsburgh this week that he is convinced the United States will not be involved in another big war.

Considine spoke at the kick-off dinner meeting of the Divine Providence Hospital campaign to raise $1,500,000.

He said:

"We have the bombs and delivery equipment that will force upon the world a long period of peace as long as we remain strong and keep our guard up."

The columnist paid tribute to President Eisenhower at the Big Four Conference last July, saying: "He spoke in basic simple Kansas English to these people (the Reds). He stunned them and shook them. They couldn't understand his frank talk."

Atom Decision Not Permanent

Dutch Parliament Given Assurance That A-Pact Is Not Binding

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP)—The Dutch government has assured Parliament that American help in building the nation's first test atomic reactors does not mean the Netherlands are committed permanently to U.S. nuclear methods.

The government stressed the Dutch-American agreement will not interfere with future European atomic cooperation, but will enable the Dutch to get a head start in construction of their reactor.

The government wanted to ratify the treaty—initiated in Washington June 14—without debate. Parliament objected, fearing it meant an irrevocable choice in nuclear methods which would impede European atomic cooperation.

The government urged speedy ratification because of time already lost during the negotiations.

The Dutch have guaranteed that security will be maintained, with no data to be used for military purposes and only screened personnel employed.

A letter from the U.S. State Department expressed hope the agreement "will lead to other broader agreements between our two governments concerning the peaceful applications of atomic energy." It expressed U.S. willingness "to enter into immediate negotiations to that end."

CAA Orders Checks for Holiday Flights

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration has ordered intensified safety checks on passenger-carrying planes throughout the heavy traffic period of the Thanksgiving weekend. Starting at once, the campaign will continue through Monday, Nov. 28.

It means long and irregular hours rather than holiday time off for CAA safety agents, since the order specifies particular vigilance in "periods of heavy flight activities regardless of (the) hour."

Union Pier Resident Killed in Tree Accident

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—John Vorel, 32, of Union Pier, died Tuesday in a Michigan City, Ind., hospital of injuries suffered earlier in the day when a tree fell on him.

Vorel and a neighbor were felling trees at Union Pier, about 20 miles south of St. Joseph on US12, by digging under the roots and pulling them down. One tree came down and lodged against another. The two men prepared to pull the second tree down when the first suddenly fell and crushed Vorel.

Parking Area Expands

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The city council has approved a plan to expand Ann Arbor's large off-street parking program. Two decks will be added to a three-deck structure in the campus area, one of two in the city. Five surface lots will be blacktopped. Total cost is put at $250,000.

EVERYBODY'S HAPPY—Fourteen men employees of the child welfare division of the Wisconsin Public Welfare Department have found what they say is a good way to get rid of Christmas and birthday ties they hate.

Grandfather Wasn't Kidding About His Cold Winter Days, Weatherman Says

WASHINGTON (INS)—The weatherman courageously crawled out on his favorite limb today to announce that winters really may be getting milder.

Actually, the weatherman said, statistics show that at least some American grandfathers aren't exaggerating when they mutter that "winters aren't what they used to be when I was a boy."

There are many localities in the U. S. where average winter temperatures are definitely a bit higher than they were half a century ago.

However, added Philip Clapp, acting chief of the weather bureau's extended forecast division, the rise has only been a couple of degrees and "there is a question whether this warming trend is real or artificial."

Clapp pointed out that the higher readings in many places may be due to increasing industrialization. He explained that smoke hovering over a city, for instance, is apt to prevent the escape at night of whatever warmth there had been during the day.

In addition, he said, carbon dioxide, a by-product of coal and oil, "has a very strong absorption of infra-red rays," and that too may be responsible for adding a fraction of a degree to winter temperatures.

But what about the fact that many glaciers in the northern hemisphere are known to be receding? Doesn't that prove the world is getting warmer?

Not necessarily, Clapp said. That may be due merely to a shift in the pattern of winds which dedicates the courses that ocean currents follow. It is possible that some of the warm-water currents have been diverted to more northerly paths.

At any rate, scientists hope to get an answer to this whole question of what is happening to the world's weather from their studies during the international geophysical year in 1957-58.

That's when 40 nations get together to make the most thorough examination ever of almost all natural phenomena by pooling every bit of information they can gather.

Lady Bandits Raid Fashion Dress Shop

MEXICO CITY — A raid by "Fashion Bandits," headed by a stunning blonde, has the police bewildered. A few minutes after a store opened its doors, 15 women pushed their way in and grabbed merchandise worth $240, stuffing it into bags they had brought along. They might have got more had not saleswoman Dolores Sanchez Luna dashed out, despite threats of being knifed by several women guarding the door. Her screams frightened the female thieves. Within minutes they had disappeared, using taxis, streetcars and buses in their getaway. Frightened employees of the shop said they could not recognize any of the women, so the police were stumped.

LISBON, Portugal — The island of Timor, shared by Portugal and Indonesia, boasts horsemen who rank with the American cowboy in skill, says the National Geographic Society. They hunt wild water buffaloes with muzzle-loading flintlock guns. On the upland savannas roam sturdy ponies and some of Indonesia's largest herds of cattle.

Modern Eskimo Heroes Discover Igloos

By ARTHUR EDSON
AP Feature Writer

The Eskimos, both members of the Alaska National Guard, were honored at the Pentagon Monday for leading a party to the speedy rescue of 11 members of a Navy patrol plane shot down by the Russians over the Bering Sea June 22.

M. Sgt. Willis Walunga, 31, and Sgt. I. C. Clifford Ikno- kinok, 28, got citations and had Navy wings pinned on them, quite unusual for earthbound landlubbers.

If they were impressed, they didn't show it. They seemed more interested in, and amused by, reactions to their comments on life as it is lived on St. Lawrence Island, only 30 miles from the Russian border.

IGLOO—OH, YES
Most people are aware by now that most Eskimos don't live in igloos, and Walunga drove that point home neatly.

"Igloos? Sure, I've seen an igloo. The same place you saw an igloo, in a geography book." Dressed in their warm winter costumes, they dropped by the Smithsonian Institution for a look at how scholars think Eskimos live.

"Interesting," observed Walunga, the more talkative Eskimo.

Flint to Drop Proposals on Taxes From Ballot

FLINT — Flint's City Commission has voted to withdraw alternative proposals for an eight and one-half mill property tax increase or a one per cent wage tax from the ballot in a special election set for Dec. 6.

The ballot still will carry proposals for an eight million dollar bond issue and a one and one-half mill property tax boost for the next five years to finance the project.

Money for the rejected tax proposals would have been applied to the city budget. Either would have added about $3,700,000 to the current budget of approximately six million dollars.

Sturgeon are rare fish except in some Russian waters.

"I now have seen the second kayak of my life. I saw one, on a rack, in Nome once. We use open skin boats."

Walunga and Ikno- kinok hunt for a living, when they aren't national guarding. They aren't particular about what they get, walrus, seal, fox or whale.

"We eat them all, except the fox," Ikno- kinok said.

"The walrus is good eating," Walunga said. "Walrus liver is better than cow's liver."

With Christmas coming on, it's dismaying to report this, but facts must be faced up to courageously: There's a reindeer shortage on St. Lawrence Island.

"Overgrazed," Ikno- kinok said. "We're down to 200."

Walunga, a father of three, says this worries Eskimo small fry, too.

SANTA CLAUS TOO
"Sure they believe in Santa Claus," he said. "They think he lives at the North Pole. But maybe we have enough reindeer left."

Well, it's a relief to know the Eskimos are on the job, not only because they saved 11 fliers and hustled them off to a hospital, but also because they seem so alert at a place where alertness is needed.

TAKE THIS EXAMPLE:
They were walking through that incredible maze of inner corridors in the Pentagon when a reporter asked Walunga, "Which way is north?" Without even bothering to look for moss on the Pentagon walls, Walunga jerked his thumb over his shoulder. "Back that way," he said.

The reporter dropped over to Ikno- kinok, who hadn't heard the exchange, and asked him the same question. "Right behind me," he said.

A check with one of our native guards, who had a roadmap of the Pentagon terrain, showed the Eskimos were right.

The awed consensus: "A clever, useful people, these Eskimos."

WASHINGTON (INS) — Many astronomers feel sure the large dark areas on Mars represent vegetation. A canal-like network could reflect 50-mile-wide bands of plant life growing in old river valleys. However, the lines do not meander; some shoot out like arrows for 1,500 miles. Unlike true rivers, they sometimes intersect.

Old-Time Night Clubs Were Real Honkeytonks

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Thanksgiving always makes me want to reminisce.

A few midnights ago, I saw an old playmate, Frankie Hyers, once the champion insulter of the old "Club 18."

There, birthdays were really celebrated. The fortunate lady or gentleman whose birthday it was would be brought a birthday cake by Frankie Hyers, or Pat Harrington, or a scholar known as Fatso Marko.

Just as the celebrator was about to partake of a bite of the angel-food, the whole cake would be whipped out of his grasp by a great yanking on some contraption to which it was attached, and this would be followed by Harrington, Hyers and (at times) Jackie Gleason, yelling:

"Get lost, you bum!"

Nowadays New York cafes are more polite. The little old lady who goes out on her 72d birthday can feel reasonably sure that she can have a birthday cake without some clown hauling her bridgework out just when she gets set to have a hunk.

"Happy Birthday" was once a little corny—but lately I have observed quite a number of so-called sophisticates doing the cake-and-candle-bit in the swank tanks. Indeed, not long ago, I saw a birthday cake magically produced on about 15 seconds' notice at the Hotel Plaza Rendezvous Room, one of the most luxurious dineries this side of the moon.

Styles seem to change in night-clubbing, too, you see.

"Get a load of the hat on that broad!" was one of the salutations Harrington and Hyers used to hurl at a lady patron. Or if she was wearing a new mink coat she got never mind how, one of the insulters would bellow, "Who shot the couch?"

Perhaps she had a new Dache, which she was proudly wearing.

"What do ya mean wearing that?" they'd scream.

Once there was a lot of roughnecking in cafes. Fights were frequent. El Morocco had the best fighters and it was said that Errol Flynn would fight nowhere else.

Today the clubs are run by businessmen. They are responsible folks.

Comedian Joe E. Lewis mentioned to me how he once worked in an out-of-town club which clipped the customers. He protested against this practice one night and announced that just for that he would quit at the end of the week.

"They gave me my paycheck and I knew it was a stiff. It was for only about $1,000 but I knew it was a stiff."

Joe E. thereupon took the check to a very tough-man-about-town and got it cashed. The tough party found out quickly that it was a stiffie too... but he had an idea. So the next night he brought in a big party. He ordered wine. He brought in the chorus girls for drinks.

The management was greedily rubbing his hands, for it figured now with this big party, it would get off the nut for the week.

Quarts of drinks were quaffed and finally the tough-man-about-town, who was the host, boomed out:

"Check, please."

The management inflated the check as was its custom and presented it to the host of the party. With a big smile, he produced the club's own rubber check to pay the bill. The management thought it was very inconsiderate of him.

But in today's enlightened epoch the bosses are traveled and dripping with culture.

Interest Rate to Be Increased

Boost Effective Dec. 1, Says Department of Agriculture

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department states it is increasing the interest rate 1/4 of 1 per cent a year on private funds used to help finance the government's multi-billion-dollar farm price support program.

The increase, effective Dec. 1, will boost the annual rate to 2 1/2 per cent. The rate charged farmers for such loans will remain at 3 1/2 per cent. The government will absorb the rate increase to private lenders.

In cases where banks or other private lending agencies—operating under agreements with the department—service as well as provide funds for the loan, the interest and service payment of 3 per cent a year will be made compared with 2 1/4 per cent now being paid.

The department said it was making the increases to encourage private lending agencies to retain their investments in price support loans and thus relieve the federal treasury as much as possible of the burden of providing funds.

It said that the increase would bring the interest rate to private lenders in line with recent increases in rates on short term government and commercial borrowings.

Local Band to Play at National Parley

The Pontiac High School Band will represent Class A student musical units in a concert December 15 when the American School Band Directors Association will convene in Detroit for a three-day national meeting.

The local band, which is conducted by Association President Dale C. Harris, was chosen by convention planners as being representative of all state Class A units.

Purpose of the convention is to allow an exchange of ideas between the 175 members.

Polish Pianist Arrives

NEW YORK (AP)—Mme. Halina Czerny-Stefanska, Polish pianist, arrived by plane today for a four-week concert tour of the United States and Canada. Friends said she is the first Polish artist to visit the United States in eight years.

Natives Swamp Firm With Picture Orders

OMAHA (INS)—The Union Pacific Railroad has a message for the jungle drums of British West Africa:

"Sorry, but we can't print any more photographs."

Some time ago, the public relations department, as a good will gesture, printed a negative re-road for living on the Gold Coast of Africa.

The natives apparently passed the word around on their "talking drums" and the Union Pacific was swamped with requests from Africans who wanted their snapshots developed and printed.

Although the company politely explains that it is in the railroad business and does not want to compete with commercial photo finishing firms, it still receives films to be processed each time a boat from the Gold Coast docks at New York.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR

JUNIOR EDITORS

AMERICA GIVES THANKS—4

The Family Feast

Thanksgiving is a dearly loved festival of home and harvest celebrated by Americans all over the world.

The first Thanksgiving was celebrated at Plymouth by the thankful Pilgrims.

When George Washington became President he proclaimed Nov. 26, 1789, a day of national thanksgiving. But for many years there was no regular national Thanksgiving Day in the United States.

In 1863 President Abraham Lincoln proclaimed the last Thursday in November as a day of national thanksgiving. This proclamation is now made each year by the President of the United States. Governors of each state issue a similar proclamation.

Here is a Pilgrim family and their Thanksgiving turkey. With the turkey went home grown vegetables and cranberry sauce. And there were plenty of pumpkin pies too.

Paste this picture on cereal box cardboard and color it with crayons. Put it up in your dining room to honor the brave little band who took time to give thanks in the wilderness long ago.

Junior Editors pays $10 for any reader's idea that is used. Write your suggestion to "Junior Editors" in care of this newspaper; it cannot be acknowledged or returned.

TOMORROW: Through the woods to grandmother's house.

Herr Winkler Wins by Artful Gambling

BERLIN—So successful has been Herr Winkler, "the gambler who always wins," that German casinos are reported in Berlin to be thinking of joining up to make it worth his while not to play.

This young German devotes himself entirely to West Germany's seven casinos and is reputed to have become a millionaire.

His system apparently is based on "doubling up"—doubling the stakes whenever he loses. He has a paid observer in each gambling place. He studies their reports, compares and collates them, and on the conclusions drawn bases his application of the unbeatable system.

He plays always in a black mask which both adds to the mystery of his success and enables him to escape, when he leaves, the questions of people who want to know his system. They do not recognize him.

Private School Student Enrollment Increasing

NEW YORK (INS)—Privately controlled elementary and secondary schools, sometimes considered "exclusive," will have more than 4,600,000 students this year, an increase of more than 725,000 over last year and a higher proportion (12.8 per cent) of the total school enrollment.

These figures, based on government studies, reflect parents' growing concern with education, especially preparation for college, said Rudolf Neuburger, president of The Tuition Plan, which handles pay-as-you-go financing of school tuitions and other fees.

Caribbean Area Has New Large Aquarium

WILLEMSTAD, Curacao — The recently formed Caribbean Marine Biological Institute has opened a two-story headquarters at Piscadera Bay. It includes a large aquarium.

The institute's purposes are to study live Caribbean marine organisms—particularly in the vicinity of the Netherlands Antilles—to cooperate with groups active in this field, and to assist projects aimed at deriving benefit from marine life.

Canning of food by the hermetic sealing process was invented in France late in the 16th Century, primarily as a move to preserve the food needed to feed Napoleon's armies.

Norway and U.S. Renew Fulbright Study Contract

OSLO—Norway and the United States have agreed to renew for a second five-year period an educational-exchange contract under the Fulbright Act.

Norway will contribute the equivalent of $250,000 each year. Nearly 900 exchanges of scholars have taken place between the two countries since the program began.

TV Revenues Rocket

WASHINGTON — The Federal Communications Commission reports that total television broadcast revenues during 1954 amounted to $393,000,000 compared with $105,900,000 in 1950.

Gals Reacting to Revised Keyboard on Typewriter

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The secretaries' reaction to a radical change in typewriter keyboards ranged today from cries of horror to the comment:

"Well that's one way to get a new typewriter from the boss."

One secretary, Miss Barbara Henley, doesn't see anything new in the keyboard on which the government has started tests in hopes of improving the efficiency of its thousands of typists.

She began using the revised keyboard 17 years ago in an experiment.

"The ease of typing and accuracy are astounding," she said. "And it only took me about three weeks to switch over in 1938."

She uses a specially built typewriter. In speed tests, she said she reached 138 words a minute on a standard model equipped with the revised, or Dvorak, keyboard compared with 50 words and many inaccuracies on a regular machine. On an electric typewriter with the special keyboard, she hit 150 words a minute.

Miss Henley's comment may bring hope to other gals who look on a possible change with pessimism.

"My first reaction was to think of all the girls over 25," said Miss Ruth Ruth, secretary of an electric company. "What will they do? Half would need to go back to school."

In general, the typewriter keyboard hasn't been changed in more than 50 years. The revised system, devised by August Dvorak of the University of Washington, puts the vowels on the second row where a typist's fingers normally rest. Other letters most frequently used also are changed.

Mrs. W. A. Dorrance and other secretaries at an insurance company agreed the present keyboard is like an old friend and they wouldn't like to see a change.

Miss Ethel Hoehn, who heads a local chapter of the National Secretaries Assn., commented: "There is room for progress. Anything that lessens work for the secretary gives her more time to other tasks in the office."

When Miss Marguerite Reiter heard about the revised system, she quipped:

Detroit Streets to Have Another Traffic Sign

DETROIT (INS)—Another traffic sign will be on Detroit streets next week.

The sign, an inverted triangle, says "Yield Right-of-Way."

Officials said the advantage of the new sign is that a motorist doesn't have to come to a full stop unless traffic conditions so require.

State Motorists to Use More Gas, Hare Says

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James M. Hare says Michigan motorists will apparently use 8 per cent more gasoline during the current fiscal year than they used in the previous fiscal year.

The state anticipates gas tax revenues of about $142,470,000, Hare said. Of this total, $106,920,000 will be credited to the motor vehicle highway fund and $35,550,000 to the highway construction fund, established by the Legislature last spring to finance a system of arterial, four-lane highways.

In the first four months of this fiscal year, Hare said, the state has collected $50,037,366 in gas taxes.

Setback for Prosecutor

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Kalamazoo County Prosecutor Jacob A. Dalm Jr. is out one new overcoat. He said someone took it from the cloakroom of the Legislature Tuesday while he was attending a governor's conference.

Credit the Turks for Development of the Cigarette

NEW YORK — The cigarette came to the United States from Turkey by way of Paris and London.

The Turks are credited with the development of cigarettes to approximately their present form.

During the Crimean War the French and English were Turkey's allies and the European officers learned to like the Oriental paper-wrapped "cigars."

They took the makings back to Paris and London. Before 1870 a new smoking vogue had started. By 1872 American tobacco makers were producing cigarettes. Some Turkish tobacco has always been used in them.

Warm Iron Lungs Getting Cool Air Conditioning

CHICAGO (U) — Polio patients confined to uncomfortably warm iron lungs are promised relief by air conditioning.

It's the idea of Toku Inouye of the research staff of the University of Illinois Research and Educational hospitals. He began research two years ago after he noticed that many polio patients were near heat exhaustion while sealed in the mechanical respirators.

Temperatures inside the iron lung have gone as high as 107 degrees, he said.

At Inouye's suggestion, Edward Kurek, an air conditioning engineer, redesigned an air diffuser. The unit enables temperatures to be maintained at 80 to 85 degrees.

Confusing to Natives

HARRISBURG, Pa. (U) — "Down town Pittsburgh," said the sign on an overpass near here and about 250 miles from Pittsburgh. Motorists gasped, "Where am I?" Robert R. Coleman, chief engineer of the state highway department's traffic division, explained it. "We had just made the sign," he said, "and were only testing it for visibility and readability."

Russia to Talk on Disarmament

Takes the Floor Today Before United Nations Commission

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Russia had the floor before the U.N. Disarmament Commission today amid speculation whether she would offer some new disarmament plan or merely echo her perennial demands for a ban on atomic weapons.

Soviet Delegate Arkady Sobolev was to lead off the discussion in the 12-nation commission's second day of its new talks. The United States, Britain and Canada were expected to follow with brief statements.

Observers doubted Sobolev would comment yet on France's new compromise plan, although it offered surprise concessions to the Soviet arms position including a call for a ban on the use of nuclear weapons.

Any Russian enthusiasm for the French plan probably would be tempered by France's insistence on effective disarmament controls and implementation of President Eisenhower's plan for reciprocal U.S.-Soviet inspection and exchange of military blueprints.

The United States insists any plan for arms cuts and nuclear bans must wait until the Russians show willingness to join in the Eisenhower "open sky" plan.

The Russians have made it clear here and at the Geneva foreign minister's conference that they will not accept the Eisenhower proposal unless it is tailored to meet Soviet demands for immediate prohibition of the atomic bomb and step-by-step arms reduction.

The French also called for prohibition of atomic test explosions for military purposes. Shortly after Moch spoke, the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced that the Russians have set off their greatest nuclear blast yet.

Sources close to the disarmament commission said it is press-

Farmers Study New Program

Plan Offers Competition in World Market Prices; Accept Parity at Home

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Nobody could blame Patrolman Ernest Pallas if he wondered whether he should have taken up a less hazardous occupation—say that of a stunt pilot or stepladder.

In a single day yesterday he nearly had a smashup as he chased a speeder in his patrol car; got butted in the stomach as he and some fellow officers were rounding up a cow that escaped from a slaughter house, and was bitten by a dog belonging to a lost boy he was taking home.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A court-approved agreement has ended the three-year legal battle over television rights to the life of cowboy star Tom Mix, killed in a 1940 auto accident.

A contract for 13 television films to be made in the next year by Tom Mix Inc., was approved yesterday by Superior Court.

Mrs. Thomasina Mix Andre, daughter of the actor, had objected to the latest series of contracts. The dispute was settled by adding guarantees which could provide the estate with an income for the next 10 years.

The corporation is headed by the widow, Mrs. Mabel Mix, the cowboy star's fifth wife. Television actor Montie Montana will portray Mix in the TV series.

Actress' Daughter Weds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Jane Harding, 25, daughter of actress Ann Harding, and Alfred P. Otto Jr. of Piedmont, Calif., were married yesterday in a church ceremony attended by the bride's mother and stepfather, conductor Werner Janssen. Otto is a stock broker here.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Delegates to the 89th annual convention of the National Grange today were considering a six-point program that would permit farmers to compete at any price in the world market while accepting a parity price at home.

Under the two-price plan farmers would compete in the world market freely, accepting only "our fair share of the world market."

At home they would comply with parity based on the high cost of machinery, labor, taxes, land and the like. They could raise only their normal quota for domestic markets but any amount grown above that could be sold, at the farmer's risk, in competition anywhere.

Delegates started discussion of the program yesterday after hearing a talk by Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson in which he said nobody should make a political football out of the farm problem.

Benson told the delegates that a 400-million-dollar-a-year soil bank idea is being worked out in Washington that would permit farmers to use fallow land for grazing or for such fertility-building crops as soy beans.

He said the plan calls for the government to pay the farmer if he did not harvest any cash crop from the land. This might be in new legislation being shaped now, Benson added.

Group to Head Address on Management Methods

Daniel L. Beck, of Detroit's Executive Selection and Training Institute, will address members of the Pontiac Exchange Club at a noon luncheon tomorrow in the Waldron Hotel.

Beck's talk will concern scientific methods used in hiring or promoting employees and the value of aptitude tests in schools and business.

The speaker is a past president of the Detroit Sales Executive Club.

Gothamite Selling Acre Plots on the Moon

GLEN COVE, N. Y. (INS)—Selling the Brooklyn Bridge seems to be out of date in the atomic era.

New Yorkers now are being offered the moon—or parts of it. The Long Island promoter of the scheme is limiting his offering to one-acre plots and charging only one dollar.

He reportedly already has 4,500 buyers. Each gets for his buck a map showing how he can spot his land with a telescope, a general quickie to an acre of crater bottomland.

But as in many a deal, there is fine print, for the unwary. In this case, the buyer is told he has no mineral rights on his land.

The scheme is being developed by Robert R. Coles, former chairman of New York's Hayden Planetarium. For the project he has established the Interplanetary Development Corporation with offices at Glen Cove.

LAWYERS ARE PUZZLED

Coles said he is convinced that man soon will reach the moon and to his knowledge no one has claimed title to it—so why shouldn't he.

Several New York lawyers are scratching their heads over the matter, but none is willing to comment seriously.

The head of the securities bureau of the New York State Attorney General's office said he would look into the situation.

Another law expert said the legality of the venture might be determined by the type of deed the lunar purchaser was sold. It was explained that a quitclaim to be of much value requires that the holder also lay hands on his property.

Incidentally, Coles has left the path open for others to follow. He has claimed only the Copernicus Crater on the northeast quadrant of the moon. Apparently, he's satisfied with the two million acres there.

About 3,000 other craters have been observed by astronomers.

Men, Dogs Curious

All animals, except man and sometimes foolish dogs, respect the skunk's desire to remain aloof, says the National Geographic Society. Only in rare emergencies, when starvation motivates them, will coyote, cougar, and mink risk the skunk's noxious barrage.

Counselor Tells Women About Asia

Mrs. Louise Halliday Carpenter, counselor of foreign students at Michigan State University, was speaker at the Pontiac Woman's Club Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Carpenter stressed that Americans should not boast of the advantages of America but give the foreign student an over-all picture of life in America. She was presented by Mrs. Alfred Coles, chairman of the day. Mrs. Carpenter is adviser to the International club at the University.

The three elementary needs of Asia as stated by Mrs. Carpenter are education, land reform and more food. She noted that, "If we give these it will bring a better feeling between our countries."

Mrs. I. M. Lewis, president of the Women's Club gave a comprehensive report of the State Federation Convention held in Jackson.

Mrs. Lewis quoted Mrs. C. E. Walker, state president, who spoke of juvenile delinquency. In combating delinquency she said, "The only reform is to come through the reform of religion of young people, who should be taught to have greater reverence for the church."

Provide Curios for Walls

NEW YORK (INS) — You can fill up those blank wall spaces by turning the wall into a curio cabinet.

Every family collects things, from beautiful old fans to old door knockers. But few families have a curio or open-type cabinet in which to display odds and ends these days. So hang them on the wall in an eye-appealing arrangement.

Been to Mexico lately? If you returned with a big sombrero, put it on the wall. Drive nails into it at odd places along the tacked down brim and hang other vacation mementos like castanets, marimbas, etc.

You can do the same with other vacation souvenirs, regardless of the place visited.

Pretty sea shells, particularly when painted in shades that go with a room's color scheme, make a delicate-looking wall display. The same is true of driftwood.

Some of Grandma's old things, like a hand-painted fan or an easily framed cameo brooch, are other nice wall touches. Mementos from an old house—a brass eagle door knocker or a graceful piece of grillework—make interesting additions to a room's decor. The door knocker, of course, belongs in a colonial-type room, while grillework would be more in the provincial tone.

And if you are a serious collector of stamps or coins, these can be framed and mounted to make lovely displays—as well as conversation pieces.

Homemakers Meet in Anderson Home

Mrs. Kenneth Anderson of Wenhonah drive was hostess to the Modern Homemakers Extension Club Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Valentine Yanuszeski was welcomed into the club and Mrs. Eugene Perko was a guest of the group.

Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Harold McAllister taught the lesson of making Christmas corsages, trimming candles and discussed patterns for other Christmas decorations.

Most of the three-day convention will be held at the church with the exception of the annual Saturday evening banquet, which will be served in one of the General Motors buildings.

Meet Girl and Then Plan Parties Together

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
"Dear Miss Woodward: I live in a very small town and there isn't a whole lot to do, particularly when I'm not allowed to dance or go to shows.
"And I like a girl! I have little to do with her myself, though a friend of mine helps her with her school work quite a bit (at school, not at home).
"I take part in all of the sports activities, so I have practice every afternoon after school, and have to ride in the players' bus (we can't take girls with us on the bus). My question is: What can I do about her?"
Answer: It's a question of time and place—and what to do with your time when you're there.
There's school five days a week. There's time between periods and at lunch hour. And it's easy enough to meet this girl if your heart's set on it. Walk with her between classes, meet at her locker to chat for extra minutes, sit with her to eat lunch.

You'll get acquainted with her gradually so you can lead up to a suggestion that you drop around to see her on Saturday or Sunday at her house. And get better acquainted.

Then the two of you can organize doings for your crowd—hate and hound chases, hare sleigh rides, skating parties, hikes on foot or on bikes, and wiener roasts, game parties at each other's homes.

You can make your own fun, think it up and put it into action. All you need is a bit of cooperation from her and the other girls.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I have no 'after school' friends. At school I have lots of friends and we have a wonderful time together. But I'm the last one to get off the train and when I get home—nobody.
"So I do my home work, watch television and wish. Everyone seems to have 'after school' friends—but from 3 o'clock on, I have absolutely nothing to do. Can you help me?"
Answer: It's obvious that your school friends don't live in your neighborhood, but there must be a girl or two living within walking distance of your house. How about them for after-school time?

And what's to prevent your bringing two or three girls home with you after school once or twice a week? And why not stop off at somebody's house before taking the train for home?
If you start inviting your school friends to your house and make them feel welcome and have fun there, they'll return the compliment.
Start the ball rolling. Instead of sitting back lonely while you wish. You'll find there's really plenty to do if you start it.

Celebrating Christmas Was Once Outlawed

Celebrating Christmas was frowned upon by Puritans in the early New England colonies. They did not observe holy days. The observation of Christmas and the making of mince pies were forbidden by blue laws in the Massachusetts and New Haven colonies.

Banana Cake Keeps Moist for Days

Sylvan Lake Cook Bakes Choice Treat for Husband's Trip

Pontiac Press Home Editor
Her husband took this cake up north with him when he went hunting. That shows what a favorite Banana Cake is in the Raymond Dombrowski home. Mrs. Dombrowski says her family wants the cake without any frosting on it.

Former Detroit residents, the Dombrowskis moved to Sylvan Lake in order to be near a lake. They're all swimming and boating enthusiasts.

Mrs. Dombrowski is a member of the New Sylvanites Club and the Sylvan Lake Garden Club. She is the vice-president of the West Bloomfield High School PTA.

BANANA CAKE
By Mrs. Raymond Dombrowski
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
3 beaten eggs
Pinch of salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 large banana
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 cup sour milk

Cream shortening and sugar together, add eggs, salt and vanilla. Mash bananas. Sift dry ingredients. Add bananas to first mixture, then add flour alternately with milk. Bake in 2 greased layer cake pans for 30 minutes at 375 degrees. If frosting is desired, use a plain white frosting.

Christmas Celebrated on Two Different Dates

It took the Christian church more than 400 years to decide on a date for Christmas. Three dates seemed to be in the running—March 25, Dec. 25 and Jan. 6.

Theophilus of Antioch was supposed to have written around 180 A.D. that the Gauls were celebrating the birth of Christ on Dec. 25. This preference spread because Dec. 25 was a Roman feast day celebrating the victory of light over darkness.

The Eastern church still clings to Jan. 6.

What's the last ditch move to restore luster to drooping hair? Rub each strand with a silk handkerchief. Those few who have actually done this say it works.

Despina Mitchell Speaks Vows Before 300 Guests

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nicholas bride; and Mrs. David Wilkins of Detroit.

They were gownned identically to the maid of honor, wearing yellow headpieces and carrying crescent-shaped bouquets of brilliant yellow-gold fugi chrysanthemums, croton leaves and golden wheat.

Flower girl Stephanie Stevens wore a daffodil-colored organdy frock and a small yellow hat. She carried a flower-decorated basket of rose petals.

RECEIVES GUESTS
At the reception held in the VFW Memorial Building in West Bloomfield Township, Mrs. Mitchell received guests wearing a champagne silk peau de soi cocktail-length dress with brown accessories. She wore a cymidium orchid corsage.

Mrs. Nicholas chose a street-length dress of cocoa crepe and lace with beige accessories and a corsage of teal roses.

When the couple left on a three-week tour of Florida, Cuba and New Orleans, the new Mrs. Nicholas was wearing a charcoal gray suit with black accessories. On their return the new-laws will reside in Pontiac.

Out-of-town guests attended from Detroit, Weirton, W. Va., Chicago and Canada.

Glass marred by shallow, surface scratches can be repaired by rubbing the scratches with felt soaked in a mixture of glycerin, water and red rouge.

Married in a double-ring ceremony Sunday afternoon were Despina Mitchell and Thomas Nicholas. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchell of Cass-Elizabeth Lake road, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nicholas of Cooley Lake road.

Imported Fabric Boasts Striking, 'Off-Beat' Look

NEW YORK (INS)—A little dab of the unusual can make a great deal of difference in a room's decor—and those odd touches are easy to achieve with curtain and upholstery fabrics.

Some of the latest imports from Italy and Sweden follow the "off-beat" rule in fabric design.

Probably the most striking is made of a synthetic fiber and cotton. Patterned to imitate mosaic tile designs, it looks remarkably tile-like when used for upholstering a chair seat.

The colors used were beige, several shades of green, turquoise and pink.

Along the tailored line, one Swedish fabric was an effective combination of widely separated coffee-colored stripes against a black background.

Observe Strict Caution for Outdoor Lighting

For outdoor decorations use only weatherproof outlets and wiring. Never try to change bulbs or make any change in the wiring, while the current is on. Snow or other winter dampness has caused many tragedies in connection with electricity.

A coat of wax applied to leather and plastic purses will protect the finish. Apply to small sections at a time and rub with a clean, soft cloth.

MR. AND MRS. RALPH H. DeMINO Ruth A. Marfio Becomes Bride in Galloway Church

Galloway Lake Methodist Church was the setting Sunday afternoon for the marriage of Ruth Ann Marfio and Ralph H. DeMino.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Marfio of Mott street. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor DeMino of Emerson avenue.

The Rev. Kenneth Stephens officiated at the 4 o'clock ceremony in the presence of 150 guests. The altar was decorated with white chrysanthemums.

Her ballerina-length gown featured a bodice of lace with a round neckline and a bouffant skirt of tulle. A small headpiece secured her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a bouquet of white carnations, American Beauty roses and stephanotis.

Carolyn Campbell was her only attendant. She was gowning in a ballerina-length red velvet dress with a fitted bodice and full skirt. Her bouquet was of American Beauty roses.

Lawrence DeMino, brother of the bridegroom, was his best man. Seating the guests were Victor L. DeMino Jr. and William B. DeMino, also brothers of the bridegroom; Edward Smith and Wayne Fisher.

Sudsing Reveals Organdy Beauty of Old Curtains

The saucy crispness of ruffled cotton organdy curtains results from know-how in laundering. Your organdy curtains will give you more satisfaction for less effort if you watch the following points:

1. Wash organdy curtains often to bring out their beauty and fresh crispness. If in doubt, gather several layers together in your hand and look through them against the light.
2. If you do them in the washing machine, first enclose curtains in a mesh drawing bag or in a pillow slip basted loosely along the top to prevent sagging and roping. Put only two or three curtains in each bag so that soapuds and rinses can circulate freely.
3. Non-crisped organdy curtains need to be starched. Starch all the curtains from each room at the same time so that they will be uniformly stiff.
4. Hang organdy curtains "half-and-half" over a rod or line so that top and bottom hems are even with each other. Smooth out wrinkles and pull hems and ruffles gently into line with your fingers.

Girl Dreads Visit With Man's Folks

Asks How to Make Good Impression on His Family

By EMILY POST
"I have just recently become engaged to a man who lives in another city. His mother has written me a very nice letter and has asked me to come and visit them soon so that they may meet me.
I plan to visit them this coming weekend.

"They are complete strangers to me and the thought of being on parade is giving me a bad dose of the jitters. I am to meet mother, father, sisters, brothers and uncles and aunts as well.

"Won't you please tell me how to be a composed and well-behaved houseguest and how to make the right impression? It is so important."

Answer: The very first advice to you is, forget the word "impression." To think too intently about what they think of you is the one way to make you self-conscious and tense and ill at ease.

If you keep in mind that those who love him most are probably just as nervous about your impression of them as you are about theirs of you, that thought may help.

As for advice as to how to be a perfect houseguest whether you are staying with in-laws-to-be or anyone else, perfection will be measured by your ability to adapt yourself easily and quickly to the ways of the family.

And if you really want to make the right impression on your fi-nance's family, then try to be responsive and good-tempered and appreciative of whatever effort they make to please you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I had been seeing a certain young man quite steadily for the past six months.
Recently he stopped seeing me and the reason is that he has become interested in another girl.

"My friends are beginning to ask me about him and I find it very embarrassing to know what to answer. If I tell them I no longer see him, they want to know all of the details and I don't wish to discuss it. How can I tactfully handle this situation?"

Answer: You need say only "I am no longer seeing him" and then say no more.

When skin changes color with the sun, it's a good time to take a flyer with a new color of lipstick. One new one promises to be longer lasting, if the setting period is 20 minutes.

Charming Draw Draperies Enhance Decor of Room

Draw draperies have many purposes, one being for dividing up a room. For example, draw draperies can convert an unattractive room section in a bedroom into a dressing alcove.

Other styles of draw draperies include lined ones for picture windows and unlined ones for smaller window types. The latter can be turned out in cotton sheers or solids, depending on the effect you want.

Here are some tips from local sewing centers on making draw draperies:

For room dividing, measure from ceiling to floor. To this, add 6 inches—and one-inch seam allowance at top and 5 inches for bottom hem (with no turn-in). This will give you the length of each drapery panel.

For width of drapery needed, allow twice the measurement of room width that you want to partition. Hang panels from a ceiling traverse rod.

MAKING DRAW DRAPES
To make reversible draw draperies—a print on one side and solid color on the other—first turn and press single hems—2 1/2 inches wide—down sides of panels. Then turn and press 5-inch bottom hems.

When turning bottom hems, miter each corner and press.

Finish top of one panel with ordinary for stiffening, then turn raw edge down and press in place. Turn down raw edge on the other panel top and press in place.

Blind stitch all hems, sides and bottom. Place both panels wrong sides together. Machine stitch together down sides—two inches in on hems. Put pleats in curtain top, and draperies are ready to hang.

For an added touch, you can use a valance. One of the best for this purpose is a simple flounce with a stiffened, pleated heading. The finished depth should be about one-eighth of the drapery length. Allow twice the room width for pleating.

Health Important in Teen Years

In centuries past, delicately swooning females and pale creatures languishing behind their lace handkerchiefs were considered the epitome of womanly beauty.

The keystone of the American kind of beauty is good health. And never are the habits that make good health more important than in the teen years. Health that is wrecked in the teens may never really recover.

This doesn't mean that the only beautiful teens are the tennis racket-swinging girls. A young lady who has no wild enthusiasm for outdoor sports can still be healthy and beautiful.

Too often, teenagers, because of their seemingly boundless energy, run themselves right down to a nub. One teen-ager was subject to a series of racking colds.

She was put in the hospital and the prescription given her was a balanced diet, and lots of it, eaten regularly, and a 10 o'clock bedtime. In her busy life she had been ignoring these "unimportant" things.

Teenagers need their health habits for beauty, even though they might die of humiliation if anyone knew they drank milk instead of coffee.

Catholic Family Center
Has Reception for 400

Two open-house receptions Tuesday formally introduced to Pontiac the Catholic Family Center's new quarters on Franklin boulevard.

Mrs. Clare Seery took part in the afternoon ceremony in which a room was dedicated to the memory of her husband, former president of the Center's board of directors.

The 400 guests attending the reception inspected the building's new facilities for counseling and assisting in family problems.

The Rev. William Suedkamp, acting director of Catholic Charities of Detroit officiated in the afternoon at the blessing of the building.

The Center, now a United Fund agency, was established in Pontiac in May, 1947. It functioned on North Saginaw street until a year ago when expanding services necessitated a move to larger quarters.

Volunteers have been working this past year helping to redecorate and furnish the rooms.

Primary function of the center is to give counsel to families and individuals with problems, regardless of race or creed.

People seek help for such problems as marital difficulties resulting from alcoholism, inadequate income, bad housing, and physical and mental health.

Other ways in which the Center can be of help is where there is discord between parents and children, between parents and relatives and in the problem of the aged.

Placement of children resulting from death of either parent; care of illegitimate children; religious difficulties, problems of placement of mentally or physically handicapped and personal problems are among those handled by the Center.

There the individual meets a trained worker who conducts the initial interview and seeks to determine some of the factors causing the trouble. Future interviews are then arranged. The solution may come from one or may take many interviews.

Hours are from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Director of the Center is the Rev. John Trese, and Leonard R. Jagels is executive director.

IF 5-foot-2 and hippy—

Box pleat on jacket repeated on the skirt, slims the back view. Avoid jacket that ends at broadest part of hips.

Boleros and just-below-the-waist-length jackets are in scale for short women but with a hip problem, the suit that flows easy over the hips, with enough length to just cover hips, is perfect.

Girl's Best Friend Won't Listen to Reason

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD
You'd think two girls who were best friends would understand each other completely. They're together so much of the time that they should become mind readers. At least they ought to comprehend each other's points of view. They've enough background experience to go on.

Yet, sometimes it's impossible for one girl to make the other see the light. She can explain herself and her attitude until she's blue in the face, and the other won't be reasonable about it.

It amounts to two conflicting points of view for which there is no compromise. As in this girl's case:

"Dear Miss Woodward: My girl friend thinks I'm trying to ruin her future with her steady. (We're both 13). My mother found out that I've been hanging around with boys, that I like a certain one, and that my girl friend has a steady boy friend.

"She doesn't want me to go with my friend to see the boys. She says I'm too young. She's put down quite a few restrictions, too."

"I really don't mind, as it's only for the time being. She doesn't mind my talking to boys, but she doesn't want them hanging around us all the time."

"But my girl friend is mad because I'm not allowed to go out with her. She thinks I'm doing it on purpose to break her up with her boy friend. She just won't listen to reason. What shall I tell her now?"

Alimony is the means by which some women relieve themselves of the drudgery of housework.

Answer: Go through it all with her just once more, patiently and calmly, then announce that you aren't going to discuss it again.

Tell her, first of all, that it's your mother's doing. She has a right to approve or disapprove of the things you do, and, being the boss, can make all the restrictions she wants. They are binding on you. They don't really concern your girl friend.

Go on to show her that with you out of the picture temporarily, her own show can still go on. Maybe it was easier for her to see her boy friend often with you along to keep her company. But some other girl can keep her the same kind of company for the next little while.

You would understand if she started to run around with some

Third Graders Hold Program

A unit of work on the American Indian culminated in a Thanksgiving program given by the third grade room of Crofoot School.

The program was given three times to accommodate the entire school enrollment and parents of the children.

The program was announced by Dyanne Hayes and Carolyn Spangberg as choir director. A short skit, singing, and pantomiming, recitations and piano selections comprised the student program.

Mrs. Michael Gilsky, chairman of the homeroom mothers, served refreshments assisted by Mrs. Thomas Fowler and Mrs. Ralph Rotsel.

other girl. It wouldn't bother you a bit 'cause you'd understand the reason.

Tell her you want to be with her as much as possible, always keeping your mother's restrictions in mind. There are loads of things to do together without boys around. Talk them up, sell them to her.

Biggest point of all: If she's going to have a steady, she should handle him by herself—he's nobody's business but hers.

If she can't be reasonable about any of this, give it up, and go blithely your own way.

(Copyright, 1955)

Tinted Coiffure Requires Care

Tinting hair is a very important and personal boon to many women. Many would just as soon give it up as give up their girdle—which is never.

Many women who thought they would never do it, and, in fact, even disapproved of the idea, now cling to it in their maturity.

What people who are outside the family think of the matter depends upon what they know.

If they're never conscious that a friend owes her hair color to artifice rather than nature, they are probably not conscious of the fact that they consider her younger.

Yet how quickly a woman who tints her hair can sense a patronizing attitude on the part of her youngsters if she lets her hair grow out.

For women who work outside the home, it may have become pure necessity. How seldom does a personnel department fret about the age of a brown-or black-headed woman?

How often are antagonistic questions asked of a gray-or white-headed woman, even if she's prematurely gray?

In an ideal world, perhaps, these problems would never come up. It is somewhat bitter to consider that gray at the temples proves a man "experienced" but proves a woman "too old" for a job.

If you do tint your hair or are planning on it, keep it up to date. Letting it grow out a little is far worse than having the natural color.

When Washing Clothes, Make Fabric Allowance

RALEIGH, N.C. (INS) — When the homemaker does her washing these days, she must watch out for the type of fabric she's laundering.

According to Julia McIver, North Carolina State College extension specialist in textiles and clothing, the homemaker must make allowances for certain kinds of fabric finishes.

Cottons, for example, frequently are treated with resin finishes—a finish which helps to lend wrinkle-resistance to the fabric. This resin finish also gives a glazed sheen to cottons. It may not only add attractiveness to the fabric, but it may also save you ironing time.

However, if you're going to use a bleach on one of these resin-finished fabrics, Miss McIver cautions you to use a bleach of the perborate type rather than the popular chlorine bleach.

These resins absorb chlorine which will discolor and weaken the fabric. Fabric labels will tell the fabric finishes, and also should include special laundering instructions.

Ban on Heroin Angers Doctors

British Medics See the Under Government Halt of Drug Manufacture

LONDON (U.S.)—A revolt of British doctors is brewing over a government decision to ban the manufacture and sale of heroin, the pain-killing drug used in the last stages of disease.

Many of the nation's famous hospitals are openly stockpiling enough heroin to last for years. Thousands of physicians have protested that the order condemns countless sufferers to months of unnecessary agony.

The ban takes effect Dec. 31. It was ordered in line with a U.N. campaign to wipe out illegal traffic in the drug. Britain already bans both its import and export. A spokesman for the British Medical Assn. declared: "We are determined to fight to the last ditch against the ban, which cuts across the freedom of the doctor to prescribe what he thinks necessary for his patients."

Some doctors have claimed the move is like taking a sledgehammer to crack an egg. The last government count put the number of registered heroin addicts in this country at 52. Doctors say the ban could open a lucrative black market in the drug and lead to more addiction.

Prohibition of the drug in the United States, said the association spokesman, "only drove it underground and made it fashionable for people to 'carry a shot.'"

Health Minister Iain Macleod has said that substitute drugs which will not lead to addiction are available for use as pain killers. Many doctors dispute this.

"There is no substitute," one London doctor commented, "Heroin is the perfect pain reliever."

A spokesman for Guy's Hospital, London, one of the nation's top teaching and research hospitals, reported: "We have built up a stock for several years and it can be assumed that everyone else is doing the same."

Declining Enrollment
SEWANE, Tenn. — The University of the South, Sewanee, planned in 1857 to be the "greatest university in the world," has an enrollment of about 600 in this centennial year.

The university, now the educational center of the Episcopal Church in the South, opened with $2,500 donated by mission-minded Englishmen.

One of every seven American jobs is in the field of highway transportation and allied industries.

Dakota Senator Predicts:

Congress May Restore Farmer Price Supports

WASHINGTON (U.S.) — Sen. Young (R-N.D.) predicts the Senate Agriculture Committee will approve restoration of high level farm price supports soon after Congress reconvenes in January.

The new farm program should be ready for consideration by the Senate by the first of February, Young said in a "news letter" to constituents.

The North Dakota senator predicted that the committee, of which he is a member, will approve "by a very close margin" legislation to reinstate 90 per cent price supports for the basic crops.

The administration's flexible system of supports applies to the 1955 crops, the first time in years that the high mandatory supports have not been in effect.

The committee will give serious consideration, Young said, to views on which farmers seemed most agreed at hearings held by the committee this fall in various farm belt areas.

FARMERS WANT SUPPORTS

"The great majority," Young said, "were agreed on several important points. Farmers believe unquestionably that until a better program is found, 90 per cent supports should be reinstated. They want the higher supports applied only to the very best quality wheat, corn, and other products, with lower supports for poorer quality commodities."

"They feel the most feasible way of getting the badly needed out in production is to take 20 to 40 million acres of land out of production and place it under a soil conserving program. Farmers would be paid rental or incentive payments to take this land out of production."

"Witnesses everywhere expressed interest in improving conditions for smaller farmers, including many veterans. There was a surprising amount of testimony, too, favoring production controls on the bushel or unit basis rather than allotted acres. Disapproval of the so-called modernized parity formula was expressed in many areas."

Young said farmers everywhere at the hearings expressed great concern because of the "drastic drop in farm prices since 1951 and the sharply rising costs of everything they have had to buy during the same period."

During the winter when cows eat dry feed, butter may be almost white in color before coloring is added.

British Youngsters Now Grow Taller

LONDON (INS)—British women are getting taller, and it's not only because heels and hats are higher.

Added to the subterfuge of fashion there has been a genuine three-quarters of an inch increase in the average height of children since 1938.

Those school girls, who were measured by the London County Council in a survey, are now bringing their inches to work.

Young typists in London are noticeably taller. A girl 5 ft. 10 inches once drew glances. Today, on high heels, she often towers above the lunch-hour crowd.

Father of 8 Gets Traffic Count Held Off for Turkey

DAYTON, (AP)—The eight children of Lawrence L. Knopp, 33, will have their dad home with them today, thanks to an understanding judge.

Municipal Judge Neal F. Zimmers, before whom Knopp appeared yesterday on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while his license was suspended, placed the case on the open docket.

When Zimmers learned of the eight Knop youngsters — nine months to 13 years old—he said: "After all, it's Thanksgiving and there are extenuating circumstances—eight of them."

Reds Crusading at India Exhibit

South Asia Industries Event Gets Iron Curtain Friendship Campaign

By EUGENE LEVIN
NEW DELHI (AP)—The Communist world is staging a strong campaign to win friends and customers at the Indian industries fair, largest ever held in South Asia.

On hand with impressive exhibits are Russia, Red China, East Germany, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania and Hungary. The exhibits range in size from Hungary's 8,000 square feet to 58,000 for Red China. All are attracting big crowds, with the Indians particularly curious to see what their Chinese neighbors are doing.

There are also displays from the United States, West Germany, Britain, Austria and the Netherlands, and smaller stalls from several other non-Communist countries.

Together the Red exhibits far outweigh those from the Western world, even counting the 100,000 square foot American pavilion.

In the field of publicity the Reds have had it all their own. The official fair guide carries almost 100 pages of advertisements from Communist states and less than half a dozen from Western governments. Other Red ads appear in buses and in newspapers.

Trade delegations from the Red countries are busy holding news conferences and seeing Indian government officers. From these meetings emerge daily news stories giving the impression the Reds are India's main commercial contacts.

Wild Automobile Lands on Soft Hotel Room Bed

DALLAS (AP)—When Mrs. Edward Lee Cowart investigated a noise in their hotel bedroom last night she reported to her husband, "honey, you've got a car in your bed."

"I've been expecting it," replied her husband, night clerk at the St. Paul Hotel.

A late-model car had missed a turn in a skyscraper parking building next to the hotel, leaped six feet through space, and crashed through the wall of the third-floor bedroom. The Cowarts were visiting in another room across the hall at the time.

The parking station attendant, Fred Jackson, 22, said the car's brakes failed to hold and the vehicle leaped off the winding ramp.

No one was injured but Jackson said "I thought to myself, I'm gonna get killed and gonna kill somebody."

Home Service Work Subject of Meeting

Functions of the home service committee of Oakland County Chapter, American Red Cross were explained by Richard Poole of Waterford at the meeting held yesterday at the chapter house on Franklin Blvd.

Poole showed the relationship between the home service committee and the executive committee and the way in which the career staff and the home service committee works together.

For the benefit of new committee members, Poole explained the over all function of the home service department. He said the primary responsibility is to aid the active serviceman and his dependents.

Functions were illustrated with case studies by Mrs. Ruth Spurluck, director of home service for the chapter. Harold Brady, chairman of home service committee presided at the meeting and gave a statistical report. He announced that the next meeting will be held on Dec. 19.

Powerful Pipe Tobacco Packs Explosive Punch

JENSEN Beach, Fla. (AP)—Boom! went Cliff Boone's pipe when he touched a match to it while fishing on the Jensen Beach Bridge yesterday.

When Boone recovered from the shock, he explained to other fishermen that he had reached into his pocket to fill his pipe with loose tobacco.

A forgotten .22 caliber rifle cartridge was packed with the tobacco in the pipe bowl. The bullet flew upward and glanced off the rim of Boone's hat.

Boone went on fishing.

Staff Joins Adlai at Home for Thanksgiving Dinner

LIBERTYVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson spent Thanksgiving at his farm home today. A few members of his campaign staff for his 1956 bid for the presidency joined him for dinner.

An aide said last night Stevenson, seeking the Democratic nomination, will address the closing session of the 32nd annual American Municipal Assn. at Miami, Fla., Nov. 30. The remainder of his next week's itinerary has not been set.

Nine smokers out of each 20 can recall the advertising message on the match books in their pockets, a recent survey determined.

Tree Cones Bomb His Parked Car, Damage—$105.20

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was a mistake, Joseph Stadelman said, to park his automobile under a monkey puzzle tree.

The tree began shedding seed cones shortly afterward. Some of the cones weighed as much as eight pounds each and were as big as footballs. Five of them crashed on top of Stadelman's car.

He put in a claim for $105.20 damages against the city of Los Angeles, which planted the Chilean evergreen trees. On advice of the city attorney, the claim was honored yesterday.

But the city won't be planting so many of those trees in the future.

Bond Sales Rise During October

County Buys $1,596,584 Worth to Boost Total by $513,885

Purchases of Series E and H United States Savings Bonds by Oakland County residents totaled $1,596,584 during October, according to Alfred C. Girard, chairman of the Oakland County Savings Bond Committee.

The total exceeded the total purchased during October, 1954, by $513,885, Girard said. The county's final figure for the first 10 months of 1955 was $15,494,085.

Series H bonds, which provide current income in the form of semi-annual treasury interest checks, have become increasingly popular in recent months, Girard disclosed. Most E bonds are purchased through payroll savings plans.

Sales for the state were slightly over $27 million in October, an increase of 20.2 per cent over the same period in the preceding year.

Music Box Eliminating Traffic Protests in Court

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—The clerks in the municipal court got tired of listening to the protests of traffic violators.

They chipped in $70 to pay for installation of a sound system that carries frequency modulation radio music into their room. The clerks say it was money well spent. Not only does the music sound much better than the protests, but the protests are falling off since the music was piped in.

Thanksgiving Dinner Awaits Bird Poacher

DETROIT (AP)—Bernie Randolph, 37, of Detroit, wanted a turkey dinner for Thanksgiving. And he's going to get one.

Hamelin Seeking 'Real' Pied Piper Answer of 1284

HAMELIN, Germany — A serious effort is being made to determine what happened when a terrible plague of rats descended on this ancient town of cobbled streets 671 years ago.

Was there really a Pied Piper who led the town of rats in 1284? Is it true that when the burgomaster refused to pay him properly he had his revenge by luring 130 children with his flute to a mountain cave where they disappeared?

Town records are being explored to learn the truth. Something certainly happened that summer day because for years afterward the town even dated its public documents from that event.

For centuries afterward, too, it was a strict law in Hamelin that no pipe or drum should be heard in Bungenstrasse, the main street through which the piper is said to have danced with a crowd of laughing children at his heels.

Foreign Harpsichord Gives Jazz an Old-World Riff

A harpsichord is making a humanities class popular to students this year at Wayne University in Detroit.

Dr. Henry Hermann, professor of education at the University had the newly-built instrument imported from Neumberg, Germany.

His students are gaining first-hand musical experience of the late medieval, Renaissance, Baroque periods as well as jazz.

"We show students how to put humanities (study of art, literature, and music) in an industrial society and the value of the arts in the modern scene," Dr. Hermann said.

Modern trend in music circles, showing jazz-minded Wayne students the tie between old and new music, is the use of the harpsichord.

chord in today's popular songs and orchestrations.

The soft-toned harpsichord, an instrument out of the Napoleonic era, is used by orchestra leader Stan Freeman in his musical arrangements and a few years ago was featured in the hit recording of Saroyan's "Come on to My House" sung by Rosemary Clooney.

IMPORTED FROM NEUMBERG

The newly-built harpsichord was imported from the Neuport Company, Neumberg, Germany. From the 16th to the 18th centuries, the harpsichord, clavichord and recorder were the most popular musical instruments in Europe. Compositions by Bach popularized the harpsichord.

Predating the piano by two centuries, the harpsichord is a soft-toned instrument and must be tuned each time it is played.

Mozart and Beethoven played and composed music for the harpsichord until the end of the 18th century. The piano replaced it because of more voluminous quality needed in symphony orchestra performances.

The piano continues to be the household favorite because of its versatility of tones and quality.

The harpsichord resembles a grand piano in miniature, with a four and one-half octave keyboard. Keyboard coloration is in reverse of the piano or clavichord.

Keys that are ivory on the piano are black on the harpsichord and black keys on the piano are ivory on the harpsichord.

Detective Agency Hired to Check on Teachers

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—The East St. Louis school board has hired a private detective agency to check on absenteeism of teachers and custodians.

Barmann said the school district paid $59,000 for teacher and $30,000 for custodian absenteeism in the fiscal year ended June 30.

Teachers to Study Testing at Watford Workshop

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — A standardized program of testing students in the areas of achievement, mental maturity, aptitude, interest and personality will be introduced in the Watford Township School system when the teachers attend a workshop Monday from 8:45 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. at the high school.

To meet a need long felt by both administration and teachers, a committee was formed a year ago to study tests which would evaluate the school program, assist the teacher in choosing the best techniques to use in the classroom, would furnish information on the progress of each student and give a comparison of educational status of students with other students throughout the nation.

Centennial Celebration Planned Dec. 4

By MYRA SNOW
Press Correspondent

NORTH BRANCH — One hundred years of service to its parishioners in Burnside township, Lapeer County, will be observed by the members and friends of St. Mary's Catholic Church on Sunday, Dec. 4.

Participating in the day's celebration will be the only four living ex-pastors of the parish. Of these, the Rev. Leo Gaffney of Detroit will celebrate the Centennial Mass at 11:00 a.m., followed by the Rev. Harold Rosebrook of Yale, who will give the official welcome.

The close of this service the day's observance will be climaxed by an address by Cardinal Edward Mooney of Detroit.

RESIDENT PASTOR
The parish, founded in 1855, was first served by a priest coming weekly from Swan Creek Settlement, now known as Anchorville. The first log church, erected in 1856, was located at the south end of the present cemetery. 1860 saw the construction of the first rectory.

The Rev. John Busche was placed in charge of the Burnside township parish in 1864. In 1877 the second church was constructed at the north end of the cemetery, and the Rev. Fr. Gratza named the first resident pastor in 1885.

The present rectory was erected in that year. An offspring of the parish, the Sacred Heart Church of Brown City, was dedicated Sept. 14, 1897. May 1, 1907, marked the dedication of St. Peter and Paul's parish church, North Branch.

St. Mary's edifice was moved across the road to its present location in 1915, to be entirely destroyed by fire the summer of 1929.

The present church was built and dedicated in 1930. The outdoor, "Shrine of Our Lady," was dedicated in 1953, followed by the construction of a new altar, Ambry, Tabernacle and Prie-Dieu in the past year, and a new Shrine of Our Lady in the parish hall in the present year.

Animal Health Report Given

Winter Means Greater Chance for Injuries to Livestock

The coming winter months probably will mean a greater chance for injury among livestock brought in from ranges and pastures to the closer confinement of winter quarters, says a report today from the American Foundation for Animal Health.

"Typical of these injuries are bruises, cuts and scratches from nails, barb wire and other sharp objects, and horn injuries," the report stated. "Also during cold weather there is danger that stock will slip or stumble over frozen objects or icy spots, often bringing injury, bruised feet, or even bone fractures.

"If wounds do occur, the farmer should take a few simple precautionary measures, such as isolating the affected animal, and applying a tourniquet if bleeding is severe.

"Strong disinfectants should not be used on open wounds because they may aggravate the condition or delay healing." The Foundation adds that animals with serious wounds or injuries should be placed under vet-

Board Presents Report

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The Farmington Township Planning Board formally presented a complete and comprehensive report to the Township Board at the regular meeting Tuesday night. They proposed a master plan for the township, as suggested to them by Robert D. Carpenter of the Detroit Area Regional Planning Commission.

Thomas Cornell, chairman of the Planning Board, pointed out that the initial objective of the planning commission should be that of formulating a general plan for community development. The next stage of the work is to find out what future improvements are needed.

The Planning Board recommended the preparation of a base map for land use, zoning, major street widenings and extensions and a topographic map for buildable plan study and sewage service study.

A population study will present an understanding of the growth, distribution, composition and other characteristics of populations. On this study will be based future land use, the major thoroughfare pattern, the recreation pattern, utilities and public service plan and an economic base study.

The Board also proposed that a plan for neighborhoods and communities be adopted as part of the master plan.

The purpose of the traffic and parking study is to examine the increase in motor vehicle traffic and evaluate the pattern in its relation to traffic needs throughout the community. The section on transportation will be concerned with the planning relationships of trucks, rail and air transportation systems within the urban area.

Water and sewer systems will be the principal public utility to come under study.

COMPLIMENTS BOARD

After presenting the foregoing report, the Planning Board recommended to the Township Board that a master plan be evolved for the township of Farmington; that a contract with a firm of planning consultants be entered into for a period of two years; that the funds necessary for the execution of the plan and retention of the consultants be made available and that the Township Board shall see that the consultants render to the township all services mentioned in the Planning Board's reports.

E. V. Blanchard, township supervisor, complimented the Planning Board for the manner in which the report was drawn and presented. However, he said that in view of the scope and importance of the matter, the Township Board would require more time to study it before taking action.

The Board will meet sometime within the next two weeks to discuss the plan, then will hold a special meeting with the Planning Board, Road Committee and Water Committee.

Building Is Delayed by Cost Estimates

The architect's over-estimate planning of the proposed new public safety building has temporarily delayed the progress of the edifice, according to City Manager Walter K. Willman.

Willman said the architect, Leo J. Heenan, was "attempting to get closer to something the city can handle."

Estimated cost was established at $500,000. The building, to be located next to the city hall, will house the police department, municipal courts and fire department administration.

"The matter has been temporarily shelved," the city manager stated.

Starlings in Britain Are 'More Mature'

LONDON (INS)—Dr. J. Gordon Cook discloses that starlings (small European birds) living in London's West End have been found to be more sexually mature than similar birds living in the country. This is because of the bright lights, the advertising signs and the street lamps. "This light influence," said Dr.

Cook, "has been shown to affect mammals too. Ferrets, which normally breed in summer months can be persuaded to breed in winter if they are kept in artificial light to simulate summer days."

Fire-Detection Devices Use Radium Currents

NEW YORK — A new fire-protection system that utilizes a tiny particle of radium can spot a smokeless, smoldering fire long before present methods, its manufacturer claims. The radium, in a round detector head, sets up an electric current in the air between electrodes. When invisible combustion products such as gas or smoke enter the chamber, the electric current drops sharply, triggering an electric reporting network that can be set to turn on a sprinkler system or alert a fire department.

The brain cells used in a single mental effort in the human being are estimated to have a weight of not more than one-quarter of an ounce.

Loaves Feature Lemon Topping

Watch the pleased faces when you serve an old favorite dressed up in a new way.

For a top-notch ground beef dish, bake individual meat loaves in a lemon barbecue sauce.

LEMON BARBECUE BEEF LOAVES

Meat Loaf Mixture

1 1/2 pounds ground beef
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup water
1 egg, slightly beaten
4 slices stale bread, finely diced
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons seasoning salt

Topping

1/2 cup catsup
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves
1/2 teaspoon ground allspice
1 thin lemon slice

Combine all ingredients for meat loaves. Mix well and shape into six individual loaves in a greased oblong baking pan.

Combine ingredients for the topping, with the exception of the lemon slices. Bake loaves at 350 degrees for 15 minutes, then cover with topping and place a lemon slice on each loaf.

Continue baking for 30 minutes, basting occasionally. Serve with sauce in pan spooned over loaves. Six servings.

A good vegetable accompaniment for lemon barbecue meat loaves is brussels sprouts tossed with browned butter and sprinkled with slivered almonds.

To complete the menu, serve a salad of canned fruit cocktail, slices of fluted bananas, and whipped cream mayonnaise.

Rich Cookery Poor Service for Husbands

"American husbands are definitely overfed." This interesting statement was made by Dr. F. J. Stare, chairman of the Department of Nutrition, Harvard University, at a recent national food conference.

As a result of collating data from 17 different countries, Dr. Stare observed that American men over 45 ranked 10th in overall mortality.

The speaker pointed out that there is no doubt that American women are excellent cooks.

but it does not mean that they must lavish large amounts of calorie foods on their husbands. Excess eating can often be more dangerous than food deficiencies, continued Dr. Stare.

If your husband is inclined to put on weight, make the luscious cakes and pies, rich gravies and cream sauces as an occasional treat or in small quantities. To prevent excess poundage, women can be most instrumental in lengthening the life of the American man by planning lower calorie meals.

For the man over 45, foods high in protein are particularly important. He should get plenty of lean meat, poultry or fish, enriched yeast-raised bread or whole grain cereal, eggs, cheese and milk—all of which supply not only ample protein, but other nutrients as well.

Improved nutrition is a very important factor in prolonging your husband's life span—chances are that he will live longer and look better if you feed him rather than over-feed him.

Steel Shortages Force Expansion

Iron Age Predicts Ingot Capacity Will Increase 16 Million Tons

NEW YORK (INS)—The magazine Iron Age has reported that amid the near-chaos of the worst steel shortage since the Korean war, steel producers have launched another expansion program aimed at meeting increased requirements of a growing economy.

The publication estimated that in the next four years the steel industry will expand ingot capacity by approximately 16 million tons at a cost of over three billion dollars.

Meanwhile, cautioned Iron Age, the steel consumer can look forward to nothing but woe from a procurement standpoint until well into 1956. It said there was no chance of relief until the third quarter, if then.

According to the publication, at least part of expansion costs will come from higher steel prices. It said the industry has not denied reports that prices will rise after the turn of the year and noted that some smaller producers already have increased base prices of hot rolled sheets, strip, plates and flats. In addition, extra charges have been boosted by several large companies.

MEANS PRICE HIKE

Iron Age pointed out that for the steel consumer, this will mean two price boosts in 1956. It said the industry was likely to adjust prices again after settling with labor, just as they have in the past.

Returning to the present, the publication reported that the shortage has forced many steel users to cut back production.

Included in the list of companies affected were manufacturers of appliances, farm equipment and earthmoving equipment; railroad car builders and heavy tank fabricators. Job stamping shops have been hard hit, Iron Age said.

Brazil Nuts Add Appeal to Bread Crumb Stuffing

To the traditional bread crumb dressing for poultry, the addition of Brazil nuts is a noteworthy inspiration. The Brazil nuts become more tender during the baking period of the stuffing, and while they maintain their own flavor they seem to enhance all the other stuffing ingredients.

Brazil nuts have been used in poultry stuffings long enough now to have won a loyal following. So popular is this nut-enriched stuffing that many home cooks make an extra portion and bake it in foil.

It helps during the holiday dinner rush to have the Brazil nuts already shelled before assembling the stuffing. The crinkly tough shells of Brazil nuts are easily cracked if the nuts are boiled three minutes in water. Then drain, cover with cold water a minute; drain and crack.

Brazil Nut Stuffing

1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 cups chopped Brazil nuts
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1 cup chopped celery and leaves
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
2 eggs, beaten (optional)
1 cup stock or water

Melt butter in large saucepan or skillet; add onion and cook over low heat until onion is tender, but not brown. Stir in Brazil nuts, parsley, celery, salt, pepper and poultry seasoning; add bread crumbs and toss lightly.

Put Marmalade on Canned Ham and Then Bake

For serving ham to a crowd: Remove ham from can; cut ham in serving-sized slices. Arrange slices to form original shape of ham; tie cord around sides of ham to hold slices.

Place ham on aluminum foil; bring foil around sides of ham; spread top with pineapple, orange, peach or apricot marmalade.

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about one hour for a 6-pound ham or 1 1/2 hours for a 10-pound ham. Serve hot or cold for your party buffet.

Shopping note: Canned hams range from 1 to 15 1/2 pounds. Select the size ham to suit your need. Canned hams weighing three pounds or more must be refrigerated; read label directions.

Cheese-Creamed Potatoes

1 can cream of celery soup
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
2 cans (1 lb. 4 oz. each) whole white potatoes, drained
Blend soup and milk in medium-sized saucepan; add cheese. Heat, stirring often, until cheese is melted. Add potatoes; heat thoroughly. Serve with a generous sprinkling of paprika. Makes eight servings.

Catholic Bishops Join Campaign

'Moral Laxity' in Movies on Increase in Nation, Prelates Claim

WASHINGTON (U)—The Catholic hierarchy of the United States will campaign through the church's Legion of Decency against what the bishops call a "rising tide of moral laxity" in the movies.

Plans for a "revitalization of the aims and purposes" of the Legion, a Catholic organization for moral evaluation of motion pictures, were announced last night through the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

NCWC said the program was approved at the annual meeting of cardinals, archbishops and bishops here last week after the churchmen heard a report of their committee on motion pictures.

The announcement said the church leaders also accused the industry of laxity in applying its production code.

The Most Rev. William A. Scully, bishop of Albany and chairman of the movie committee, said the Legion of Decency this year condemned four American and four foreign films and listed the largest percentage of objectionable films in its history.

These were banned: American movies condemned were "Son of Sinbad," "The Garden of Eden," "I Am a Camera," and "Karamoja." The foreign productions were "The Bed" and "Game of Love," both French; "Illicit Interlude," Swedish; and "Mlle. Gabette," Franco-Italian.

The bishops' committee said the Legion of Decency, reviewing 275 domestic films, held that 92, or about 33.45 per cent, were morally objectionable in part for both children and adults. That was an increase of 11 per cent over 1954.

Only 82 of the movies, or 29.82 per cent, were listed as unobjectionable for general patronage.

There will be a "crusade" in every diocese, NCWC said, "to arouse Catholics to vigorous protests over the increase in objectionable films."

Pears Appeal to Most Finicky of Breakfasters

Fresh Bosc or Anjou pears are good fare anytime of the year, or anytime of the day. Homemakers who have breakfast problems find fresh pears, eaten out-of-hand, sliced over cereal or baked, appeal to even the most finicky appetites.

From breakfast time straight through the day, for between-meal snacks, school lunches, salads or desserts, nothing's quite so refreshing, so satisfying, so nutritious... and so easy on the waistline—as fresh Bosc or Anjou pears.

They contain many vitamins and minerals, an abundance of energy-producing levulose sugar and, most important of all, everyone loves them. So keep a big bowlful chilling in the refrigerator all through the winter months.

Anjous will be available from November through March. Bosc, the long, slender-necked golden russet pear will be really plentiful from October to January.

For greatest enjoyment, have your pears ripe and ready to eat. If purchased from a food store which offers only partially ripened pears, plan to leave them for a day or two before serving at room temperatures of 60 to 70 degrees.

Humidity helps, too, and this may be increased by placing a damp cloth over pears as they stand. Color is not altogether an indication of ripeness; when pears respond to alight hand pressure, they are ripe.

Store ripened fruit in refrigerator and serve well-chilled to fully enjoy the juicy goodness.

Ice Cream Is Included in Cherry Chiffon Pie

Dissolve 1 package cherry-flavored gelatin in 1 1/4 cups boiling liquid (liquid from 1 can (1 pound) red tart pitted cherries plus water to make 1 1/4 cups. Add 1 pint vanilla ice cream cut in chunks; stir until melted.

Chill 20 to 25 minutes, or until mixture begins to thicken. Fold in cherries. Pour into cooled, baked 9-inch pastry shell. Chill 20 minutes or until firm. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Crusty fried applesauce turnovers kept on hand are fine, satisfying between-meal nibbles. In making them, use canned applesauce, of course.

OLYMPIC PREPAREDNESS—Stands are built on bank of Italy's Lake Misurina in preparation for the 1956 winter Olympic championships. Speed skating events will be held on the lake, which freezes over during the winter months.

A-Method to Aid Gas Refineries

New Process to Benefit Petroleum Industry and Car Owners

LINDEN, N. J. (U)—The possibility of a major revolution in refining petroleum was put forth this week with announcement of a new atomic process.

Eger V. Murphree, president of the Esso Research and Engineering Co., said that gasoline has been refined from petroleum by being exposed to gamma radiation from a 13-inch cobalt pipe.

The cobalt pipe, made radioactive in an atomic pile, replaces the 1,000-degree Fahrenheit temperatures now needed to refine the oil, along with pressures and speed-up agents.

Murphree said the two-year project at a radiation laboratory in the Esso research center here was still experimental, but added defining costs might be cut tremendously if further tests in larger plants work.

He said it will probably be six years before gasoline could be produced in any quantity by the new method.

Gasoline and oil for motorists may be cheaper if the method works, he indicated.

Murphree, a member of the general advisory committee of the Atomic Energy Commission, said also that a progress to bombard crude oil with neutrons, presently an experiment at Brookhaven National Laboratories in Upton, N.Y., had yielded a larger amount of gasoline than from conventional methods.

Chiffonade Dressing

Chiffonade dressing is delicious over hearts of lettuce. To prepare it, just add chopped hard-cooked egg, chopped cooked or canned beets, minced onion and parsley to French dressing.

Layer Bananas in Gingerbread

Gingerbread is a perennial favorite with young and old and can be served so many different ways. A pleasant variation for the lunch-box is to wedge sliced bananas between two gingerbread halves. Pack the bananas separately, however, so it will keep fresh. Peel down one section of the skin, slice the fruit, and close the skin again.

Real New Orleans Gingerbread

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon each cinnamon and ginger
1/2 teaspoon each cloves and nutmeg
1/2 cup real New Orleans molasses
1/2 cup hot fruit juice or coffee

Cream shortening; add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add egg; mix well. Sift together flour, soda, spices and salt. Combine molasses and hot water; add alternately with flour mixture to creamed mixture. Pour into greased 8" or 9" square pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until done. Cool 5 minutes. Cut into 35 squares. Remove from pan. Cool 5 minutes. Remove from pan.

Storms Saw Columbus' Crew Pledge Pilgrimages

MADRID (U)—In rough weather it was customary in Christopher Columbus' time for a ship's crew to pledge pilgrimages if spared shipwreck.

Columbus vowed "to watch one night at the Church of Santa Clara de Moguer" and to worship in the first church dedicated to the Blessed Virgin he should find.

This was during a hurricane on the return from his first discovery voyage. Two days later his ship reached the Azores.

Churchmen Meet at UM

ANN ARBOR (U)—College town pastors, student and faculty parish workers and other interested persons, will participate in a conference on the church's ministry to the campus Sunday and Monday at the University of Michigan. It will be held in conjunction with a student study retreat, "The Christian Student at the University."

While Africa is often considered a flat country, actually more than 40 per cent of the South African Union is on plateaus 4,000 or more feet above sea level.

Pork to Have Closer Trim

CHICAGO — Closer trimming of pork which is expected to increase its popularity with consumers was recommended to the nation's meat packers by the American Meat Institute.

The recommendations, approved by the Institute's Board of Directors in session here in connection with the Institute's Annual Meeting, are based on various surveys which show consumers have a marked preference for lean pork.

Board Chairman J. Morrell Foster, Vice President of John Morrell & Co., Ottumwa, Iowa, said in announcing the action:

"Suggestions for trimming more of the external fat from various cuts have been worked out which we believe can be applied successfully in the nation's packing plants. Some of the Institute's member companies for years have been using a close trim for pork. Some have adopted a close trim recently. As a result of our recommendation, we believe that an increased quantity of closely trimmed cuts soon will become available.

"Hog raisers all over the country are increasing their production of meat-type hogs which yield a significantly higher proportion of lean cuts. As a result of this development, together with the closer trimming program, it seems probable that consumers can look forward to substantially increased supplies of leaner pork at the retail counter.

"Pork this year is of excellent quality as a result of good feed conditions and marketing of hogs at relatively light weights. This 'new look' program is a part of our general co-operation with the Secretary of Agriculture and with pork producers in an effort to help the present hog price situation."

Pork cuts are now wholesaling at levels 10 to 40 per cent below a year ago, Mr. Foster stated. Supplies of pork for the next several months are expected to continue heavy, he added.

Mashed Potatoes Fried as 'Fingers'

Popular mashed potatoes assume a different 'personality' when browned in the frying pan a few minutes before meal time.

Particularly good with cold meat or poultry, this recipe provides the homemaker with another of the highly desirable changes that wheat grows about 25 minutes. Yield: appetites for "good home cooking with a little imagination."

Sautéed Potato Fingers
3 cups warm mashed potatoes
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon butter or margarine
1/2 teaspoon parsley flakes
Salt and pepper
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon minced onion

Combine ingredients and mix well. Form into small rolls about one-half inch thick. Slice in 2-inch lengths.

Fry in hot pan with a little fat until brown on all sides. Serve very hot.

Use Cottage Cheese for Flavorful Salads

Cottage cheese is ideal for salads. Here are some combinations that are good: Tomatoes stuffed with cottage cheese and celery mixture; pineapple slices, canned pears, peaches, plums, apricots—any of these are perfect with cottage cheese because of flavor and color contrast. Serve cottage cheese with jelled fruit or vegetable salads.

Cottage cheese is so good when used in shredded cabbage, carrots and onion slaw. Many dried or fresh fruits can be stuffed with cottage cheese, such as cooked prunes, cooked dried apricots, or avocados.

To Remove Eggshells

Perfect way to remove the shell from a hard-cooked egg. Tap the eggs to crackle the shells. Now roll each cracked egg between the palms of your hands so the shells will loosen. Peel off the shells under cold water.

Kraut, Chops and Apple Are Perfect Combination

It's kraut, pork 'n' apple season again. Time to dig out your favorite recipes for the trio and time to try out new ones on the family.

There are so many really good dishes possible with these plentiful go-togethers that no one should be at a loss for a good recipe that will have everyone clamoring for seconds.

You probably have your own special recipe for kraut and pork chops. A wonderful old standby we hold in esteem consists of kraut and pork chops with candied apple rings. We think you might want to try it. We particularly like the flavor the pork drippings give the sauerkraut.

After the pork chops are browned, the kraut is added along with chopped onion and seasonings, and they are cooked together until the chops are tender.

The apple rings are candied with a simple syrup made with red cinnamon candies and add a bright note to the platter when arranged alternately with the pork chops.

We like to complete this dinner with individual salads of canned white asparagus garnished with green pepper strips for texture and color interest and served with a simple dressing.

Kraut and Pork Chops With Candied Apple Rings
4 pork chops
1 No. 3 can sauerkraut, drained
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon sage
1/2 cup red cinnamon candies
1/2 cup boiling water
2 medium-sized apples, cored and sliced
3 tablespoons sugar

Cook chops until lightly browned about 20 to 30 minutes. Drain, reserving 1/4 cup drippings. Combine drippings, kraut, onion, salt, pepper and sage. Cook, covered with chops over low heat 1 hour, or until chops are tender.

Meanwhile, dissolve candies in water. Add apples and boil slowly until apples are tender. Remove apples and add sugar to syrup. Boil three minutes; pour over apples. Serve with chops and kraut.

From a test kitchen comes a recipe for serving corn in a savory, easy-to-fix way—a corn pudding as reminiscent of New England as the Plymouth Rock.

No arduous husking of the corn, though, no cutting each kernel off the cob. Today we can serve plump, golden corn kernels harvested at the peak of their flavor. All we need is that 10-ounce package of frozen cut corn—and the rest is simple.

New England Corn Pudding
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
3 cups milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1 package (10 oz.) Frozen Cut Corn
1 cup boiling water
3 eggs, separated

Melt butter or margarine in heavy pan over moderate heat. Remove from heat and stir in flour to form a smooth mixture. Add milk slowly stirring constantly. Add salt and cayenne pepper. Return to heat, stirring constantly until mixture boils. Remove from heat. Pour boiling water over frozen corn, stirring lightly with a fork until kernels separate. Drain.

Add drained corn kernels to white sauce. Beat egg yolks until light. Stir into corn mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold carefully into mixture. Pour into greased 2 quart heat proof casserole. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 1 hour. Serve at once. Serves 6-8.

Biscuit Mix Used for Quick Cookies
Biscuit mix makes jigtime drop cookies for small fry.

Quick Raisin Cookies
1/2 cup light or dark raisins
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup biscuit mix
1/2 cup firmly-packed brown sugar
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 teaspoon milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Rinse and drain raisins. Melt shortening and allow to cool while measuring remaining ingredients.

Stir biscuit mix, sugar and raisins together. Beat egg lightly; stir in cooled melted shortening, milk and vanilla. Stir into dry mixture well.

greased baking sheet, allowing a couple of inches between cookies.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven 10 to 12 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool. Makes about 40 cookies.

Snacks May Get More Attention Than Television
Here's a sampling of some snacks for "TV evenings" that might even vie with the TV for attention. They're from the current issue of a home magazine, and very simple to prepare:
1—Roll one half inch thick fingers of cheese in thin slices of dried beef. Lay them on buttered toast and bake until the cheese is melted.
2—Get out bowls of grated sharp cheese and grated coconut. Pass pineapple chunks impaled on colored cocktail picks. Dunk in the mixture.
3—Split and toast English muffins. Spread with a mixture of one half cup of butter or margarine creamed with 1 cup of powdered sugar and a bit of rum extract. Broil until bubbly and brown.

Meat Is Good Source of 'Complete' Protein
Meat is a source of "complete" protein; that is, it contains all the amino acids essential to the human body. Meat also is one of the richest sources of B vitamins. One of them, riboflavin, is needed for growth, skin health and proper eye function.
Another, thiamine (sometimes called the "pep" vitamin), helps body tissue growth and helps maintain normal heart and nerve processes. A third, niacin, is helpful to digestion and also aids in attaining a healthy skin and nerves.

Soviets in India Drop Interview

Reds Visit Aquarium in Strife-Torn Bombay, Cancel Conference

BOMBAY, India (AP)—India's Russian visitors made the Bombay Aquarium their first stop on a busy tour today as a promised meeting with news correspondents was dropped suddenly from their schedule.

The Press Guild of India had arranged the news conference with Soviet Premier Bulganin and Communist Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev, now on a whirlwind tour through India after a state visit to Prime Minister Nehru.

The mass interview was first advanced from afternoon to early morning, then canceled and inspection of the fish was substituted. Government information officers had no explanation.

Bombay, scene of bloody Communist-spurred rioting Monday, was calm. Vast crowds lined the visitors' route, cheering and waving flags.

The riots had no apparent connection with the Soviet leaders' visit, stemming from the Nehru government's proposal to make Bombay city an independent state and separate it from neighboring Marathi-speaking territory.

A new dairy plant at Anand, 266 miles from Bombay, will make condensed milk and baby foods. It is being set up by a "coop" and a Danish dairy expert will be in charge.

Dead Woman's Past Life Probed

Chicago Police Seeking Strangler of Divorced Mother Found in Alley

CHICAGO (AP)—Police today backtracked through the private life of a divorced mother of six in an attempt to find a clue to the stranger who left her trussed body in a muddy South Side alley.

They want to find out what happened to Mrs. Edith Jamieson between the time she left her job at a loop bank at 4:30 a.m. and 7:20 a.m. yesterday when her body was discovered in the alley.

Police said examination disclosed she was neither raped nor robbed in the apparently motiveless slaying.

Police questioned four men who were acquainted with Mrs. Jamieson, a divorcee and a grandmother, but obtained no tangible clues. Police are searching for a cab driver, who, they said, was believed to have regularly met Mrs. Jamieson at a streetcar intersection in the early mornings after she left work and driven her home free.

Police are convinced she was strangled one place and her body was brought to the alley, about a block from her South Side home at 5016 S. Rockwell St. They said that although the alley was muddy, Mrs. Jamieson's clothing was relatively clean and there were no signs of a struggle in the alley.

Mrs. Jamieson's former husband, David, 48, is a paraplegic confined to a wheelchair. Police said Jamieson, who suffered a mild heart attack a month ago, was in a hospital Tuesday night.

City Resident Treated for Accident Injuries

Nathan Seagnan, 43, of 26 Bagley St., went to Pontiac General Hospital yesterday morning for minor injuries.

Seagnan told police he fell on the sidewalk.

James W. Mann, 26, 6822 State Park Blvd., said Seagnan walked into the side of his car. The hospital released him after treatment.

Adenauer Is Back on Job After Illness

BONN, Germany (AP)—The Western Alliance's other ailing leader, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, went back to work today after seven weeks of illness.

He had been kept off the world political scene since Oct. 7, confined to his home with bronchial pneumonia.

As he stepped into his car today for the journey to the White Chancellery on the Rhine, the 79-year-old government chief looked as vigorous and hearty as ever. His 80th birthday—on Jan. 5—is six weeks away.

Adenauer confounded everyone including his three doctors by the speed of his recovery from what was a critical illness for a man of his age. At one time it was thought he would need a long convalescence in a health resort. Some predicted he would never resume active leadership of the West German Cabinet.

But the iron-willed old man was

Irish Favored to Hand USC 5th Season Defeat

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Notre Dame football team is due in town today and the situation looks dark, indeed, for the slump-bound Trojans of Southern California.

Coach Terry Brennan and the invading Irish are solid favorites to win their 18th game from USC in this colorful intersectional series and add a fifth loss to a dismal Trojan season.

Fifth-ranked Notre Dame, with junior Paul Hornung directing the split-T attack, has lost but one game, to a powerful Michigan State machine.

Washington, Stanford, Minnesota and UCLA have taken the measure of the Trojans, and Coach Jess Hill, himself on the spot, faces a tough problem in trying to regroup his forces after last week's loss to the UCLA's.

Hill named the same backfield combination to start against the Irish that led off against UCLA—

Ellsworth Klasinger at quarterback, halfbacks Jon Arnett and Don Hickman, and Gordon Duval at fullback.

Brennan sent word ahead that he will shoot with Hornung, workhorse Don Schaefer at fullback and halfbacks Dean Studer and Jim Morse.

Morse is the young man who wrecked the Trojans in the final 6 minutes last year with a 72-yard scoring run.

"Certainly, I rate Notre Dame as a very fine football team," Hill said. "I also think we have a fine bunch of boys who will give Notre Dame a very tough football game."

Make Up for Lost Time

Held scoreless in their last six games this season, Ed Sutton and Buddy Sasser exploded for North Carolina against South Carolina. They scored five touchdowns with Sasser getting three.

Uebel Poses Great Problem for Navy Eleven

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP)—If any one player other than the controversial Don Hollender is able to break Navy's back in Saturday's big service football game at Philadelphia it may be Pat Uebel, Army's hard-running fullback and captain.

"Uebel always seems to play a good game against Navy," commented Coach Earl (Red) Blaik today. That is saying it mildly.

In 1953 the 6-foot, 190-pound fullback from Bellevue, Ky., scored all three touchdowns in Army's 20-7 victory—the first Army back to pull a triple score against the midshipmen since Doc Blanchard's feat in 1945.

A year ago in the wild, give-and-take jamboree won by Navy 27-20, Uebel carried the ball more times than the rest of the Army backfield combined, led the team in rushing yardage and averaged 5 yards a whack.

Uebel is a close friend of Ron Beagle, Navy's great pass-catching end, who hails from the same vicinity.

Uebel and quarterback Hollender are both definite starters and both are possible 60-minute workmen. "Pat is looking forward to this game," said Blaik. "He seems to take personal vengeance against Navy."

Army's hopes of an upset over the 6½-point favored Midshipmen rest largely with Hollender's quarterbacking and Uebel's dashing feet.

Hollender, a star end converted to a left-handed sleight-of-hand artist in Blaik's T-formation, has been sharply criticized by observers, but just as sharply defended by Blaik, who made the shift.

"Hollender is a terrific ball carrier and our original intention in shifting him to quarterback was to utilize his speed and power on keep plays," Blaik said. "Unfortunately, the backfield never materialized because of injuries to Joe Cygler and Bob Kyasky, both of whom can pass."

"So Hollender has had to carry the load alone and take a lot of unjustified abuse. I still regard him as one of the finest passers I've seen and a superb quarterback."

The Army coach was asked if he thought the Army team might go out against Navy and make a special effort to "win for Hollender" so as to vindicate the move.

"No, I don't think so," Blaik said. "Hollender is a leader. He's not the kind who would draw his kind of sentiment from his mates. They appreciate him for what he's meant to the team and that's about it."

Blak said none of the blame for losses to Michigan, Syracuse and Yale could be laid at Hollender's feet. "Our whole team was to blame," he added, "too many mistakes."

The Cadets planned a brief workout today, followed by Thanksgiving dinner, but not with all the trimmings.

In 1948 forty two of the 44 squad members became deathly ill before the Navy game after eating turkey dressing which had soured. Some of the players were green for days afterwards.

"We now have the turkey," Blaik said, "but no dressing—dressing is positively taboo."

Warriors Stave Off Nat Rally for 6th Straight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It took the Philadelphia Warriors a little time to get the idea, but after losing the first game they've now rolled up six straight victories to top the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Assn.

They got No. 6 the hard way last night, holding of a 29-point last-period rally to beat the Syracuse Nats 104-101. Paul Arizin and Jack George kept the Warriors on the move with 23 points each to stand off the Nats' late surge that ried the score at 97-all with less than 4 minutes to play.

It was part of a doubleheader at the Boston Garden, with the New York Knickerbockers coming from behind in the fourth quarter to tie the score and then edge the Boston Celtics 115-111 in overtime.

In the only Western Division game, St. Louis dumped the Rochester Royals 90-88 in overtime to retain their first-place berth after the Flyers had frittered away a 16-point lead.

Middies Warm Up Aerial Arm for Army Game

Navy Coach Expects Welsh to Be at Best Against Cadets

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—George Welsh has thrown passes for more yards than any player in Navy football history, yet Coach Eddie Erdelatz believes he will show he's even a better quarterback than ever in Saturday's game with Army.

Welsh's sore toe is virtually healed. This week for the first time since a South Carolina player stepped on the big toe of his right foot Welsh practiced without being strapped.

Which means he will be able to run more against Army. Last year against Army the option play by Welsh in which he either keeps the ball and runs with it or tosses to another back was one of the big factors in Navy's 27-20 victory.

"Welsh hasn't been able to run that play much this year, so he threw the ball," said Erdelatz. He's actually a better quarterback than he's been able to show."

The 165-pound senior from Coal-dale, Pa., has completed 76 of 122 passes for 1,143 yards despite the sore toe which became so bad that he spent most of the week before the Penn game in the infirmary and then didn't play.

Navy's dependence on Welsh's passing is clearly reflected in statistics which show the team has gained more by forwards than running.

With Welsh shipshape, Navy's only two seriously injured players are halfback Chet Burchett and end Earle Smith. Burchett hurt a leg against Duke Nov. 5 and is hobbling so that Paul Goeber, who was out a month himself in mid-season with an injury, will start.

Smith, who caught two touchdowns passes against Army last year, has played only 53 minutes in three games this season because of an injured knee.

Fullback Dick Guest also is hale and hearty for the first time since hurting a rib against Notre Dame Oct. 29.

Junior Net Meets Open in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A talented field, including two members of the U.S. Junior Davis Cup team, opens play today in the National Indoor Junior and Boys' Tennis tournament here.

More than 50 out-of-town entries from all parts of the country dominate the field. Play continues through Sunday.

Brooklyn's Ronald Holmberg and Crawford Henry of Atlanta, Ga., fourth and second seeds in the class, are members of the U. S. Junior Cup team. Holmberg meets Joe Gaston of Burlington in his first match and Henry takes on Lloyd Brown of St. Louis.

Bruins Get Ready With Early Drills

Packers Find Damage Suit Upon Arrival

Ex-End Mann Claims "Illegal Release" from Contract

DETROIT (AP)—A block was thrown in the way of the Green Bay Packers before they got to Briggs stadium for today's football game with the Detroit Lions.

The block won't cost the Packers any yardage on the field, but it might cost them $25,000 from their treasury.

It came in the form of a damage suit filed by Bob Mann, a former Green Bay end who also played for the Detroit Lions and the University of Michigan.

Mann charges he was illegally released after an injury in an exhibition game against the Philadelphia Eagles on Sept. 4, 1954. He said release while he was injured violated National Football League bylaws. Mann also said his contract called for $7,700 a season, plus a $1,000 bonus if he were among the NFL's six top pass receivers.

Rangers Tighten 2nd Place Hold

Shut Out Bruins 4-0 in Bruising Contest of 14 Penalties

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Some guys like parades. Phil Watson, the scrappy little coach of the New York Rangers, likes a good fight. He had himself a ball last night as his Broadway Blues beat the Boston Bruins 4-0 to tighten their hold on 2nd place in the National Hockey League.

It was Watson's kind of game, hard-checking and bruising throughout. A total of 14 penalties were called, seven against each club, and they included four 5-minute majors after a free-for-all.

Besides the fierce play, the 1st-year Ranger skipper also saw his Blues finally chuck their big jinx, Boston goalie Terry Sawchuk. New York hadn't beaten Boston in three previous games and had scored only two goals against Sawchuk in three tries.

The decision, 2nd shutout of the season for Ranger goalie Lorne Worsley, who made 35 saves, moved the New Yorkers four points ahead of the pressing Bruins and six behind 1st place Montreal.

Little League Posts Bond, Reopens Office

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (INS)—Little League, Inc., headquarters is back in business after the corporation posted a $130,000 bond in the wake of a law suit filed by Carl A. Stotz, its founder.

Stotz, Little League baseball commissioner, filed the suit charging that his 10-year contract had been breached.

The action was centered around his contention that the game no longer belonged to the players or adult volunteers who worked with teams in local communities.

Situation Well in Hand

LUBBOCK, Tex.—In six consecutive kickoffs, Texas Tech's Dave Lloyd made the tackle four times and booted the ball out of the end zone the other two times.

He has been Sutherland's assistant. The disappearance of the anti-Cherberg group was noted last night at what was supposed to be a mass meeting of objectors at a downtown beanery. The mass, at latest unofficial but reliable reports, consisted of three players and their girl friends. Perhaps a few more.

The number of players who participated in protest meetings with Harvey Cassill, the university's athletic director, was disclosed by H. P. Everest, vice president of the university and for a number of years the institution's faculty representative to the Pacific Coast Conference.

Everest said a first meeting was held with 16 men, most of them seniors and lettermen. Nineteen more, largely reserves, showed up later. They objected to what they called Cherberg's tyrannical attitude. Pressed for examples yesterday by newsmen, they hemmed and hawed but produced nothing specific.

Leaders of the insurgents were known to be Sandy Lederman, once-outcast quarterback who fell out with Cherberg earlier in the season and came back to the team after promising to be good, and Mike Monroe fullback and halfback in a number of games.

Otherwise, few, if any, of the lettermen who protested were starting regulars. The regulars have indicated they stand behind the coach.

Everest seemed to agree when he said last night:

"There is nothing at this time to indicate the need for intervention by the university administration—later. They objected to what they

Swink Heading for National Scoring Title

Horned Frog Halfback Has 113 Points With 18 Touchdowns

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

From the looks of things, all Texas Christian will have to do in the Cotton Bowl is arrange for a defense and give the ball to Jim Swink, the swifty at halfback.

With one regular season game remaining for the Horned Frogs, Swink tops the nation's major college football scorers with a 113-point total. That, according to NCAA Service Bureau statistics released today, is just about enough to guarantee the shifty junior the season scoring title.

If so, Swink will be the first Southwest Conference player to take the crown in almost three decades. Texas A&M's Joe Hunt wore the last crown for the Southwest back in 1927.

Swink, No. 3 in total offense and No. 2 in rushing, has a 17-point edge over runner-up Ed Vereb of Maryland. Next come Oklahoma's Tom McDonald and Ohio State's Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy with 90 each, and Arizona's Art Lupino with 89.

Swink is in action against Southern Methodist, McDonald, scheduled to meet Vereb in the Orange Bowl, runs against Oklahoma A&M and Lupino rolls against Arizona State (Tempe) in games this weekend. The other leaders are through for the season.

Swink is tops with 18 touchdowns, adding 5 extra points for his total. Vereb scored 16 TDs. McDonald, and Cassidy 15 each. Lupino has only 12 touchdowns, but has booted 17 extra points.

TCU's Harold Pollard has kicked the most extra points, 23 of 29. Gerry Flannin of Michigan State has tried the most, 31, hitting 22. Duke's Jim Nelson is the accuracy leader, making 21 of 24. Tennessee's Tom Priest is "Mr. Consistency," booting 13 in a row.

Page Cothran, Mississippi, leads in field goals with 5-1 shy of the modern record. He's in action Saturday against Miss State.

Missouri end Hank Burnine pulled in five passes last week to practically wrap up that title. He's latched on to 44-for-594 yards, also No. 1.

Michigan State's Earl Morrall leads the punters with a 42.9-yard average.

Sam Wesley's 7 pass interceptions for Oregon State is tops. George Washington's Mike Sommers leads in punt returns with 330 yards in 24 trips. Sam Woolwine of VMI heads the kickoff return list with 443 yards on 21.

Jim Brown of Syracuse is the best punt-kick return man, averaging 28.3 yards with 7 punts and 32.0 with 10 kicks.

Martinez Outpoints Dane for 18th Straight Win

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Handsome Vince Martinez marked Chris Christensen off his list today on that highly bunkered road which he hopes will lead him to a shot at the world's welterweight fight crown.

Martinez, the Paterson, N.J., draftsman-turned-fighter, outclassed the Danjah welterweight champion here last night in a nationally-televised (ABC) 10-round bout, just as he had predicted.

It was his 18th straight victory, and when he got through his handsome face hardly bore a trace of the battle.

Once in the ninth, when Christensen caught him off balance and charged him to the ropes, Martinez actually looked bored as he gazed around at the crowd.

The crowd of 2,121, who paid $5.40 to get in, appeared a bit bored itself toward the end and booed greeted the fighters in both the ninth and tenth rounds.

Neither fighter ever was off his feet, although both slipped on the canvas a couple of times.

Although the decision was unan-

Expect the Unexpected

It's Never Boring on Michigan State Campus When Spartans Head for Roses

EAST LANSING (AP)—"One thing you can say about Michigan State—it's never boring being around this outfit."

It was friendly Fred Staley, State's sports publicist, talking.

If recollection is right, he made the remark a couple of years ago when freshman conference member Michigan State was placed on probation by the Big Ten for over-aggressive recruiting.

Subsequent events that year made sports history.

Michigan State died with Illinois for the conference championship and had to sweat out a deadlocked vote before getting the Rose Bowl bid.

Last year the Michigan State football team surprised everyone by turning out to be a resounding flop.

And now, those astounding Spartans are bowl-bound again.

One incident, vividly recalled from the 1st Rose Bowl trip, illustrates that the only safe rule when you are dealing with Michigan State is to always expect the unexpected.

The pace had been hectic for newsmen covering the Michigan State team the 1st week the Spartans were at Pasadena.

There were daily practices, constant new developments, rumors to be run down—all adding up to a merry merry-go-round of activity.

Then came Sunday. A blessed day of rest. The team was to spend a quiet Sunday morning at the Hotel Huntington headquarters.

There's a rule in the newspaper business that nothing ever happens on a Sunday morning.

So Sunday morning was a time for sleeping in.

Then the telephone rang:

"This is your Los Angeles office," said an unwelcome voice.

"What's this about your hotel being on fire?"

You looked sleepily around the room.

"You're crazy — no fire here," and slammed the receiver.

The phone rang back.

"They're sending over engines. Check it, will you?"

Sure enough, there was a fire in the linen closet on the 2nd floor of the main hotel.

Spartan football players were carrying crippled old ladies down stairs, rescuing frightened dogs from under beds, muzzling hoses, busting down doors with well-learned blocking techniques and in general making headline heroes of themselves.

After all the excitement was over, George Alderton, Lansing sports editor, remarked: "now all we need is an earthquake."

That came later — after the forest fire.

Feminine Influence No Good for Irish

NOTRE DAME, Ind. — Johnny Druze, the Notre Dame assistant coach, was talking about the job of getting strapping young men to come to South Bend and play football.

"The worst fight I've ever had was with a boy from South Catholic High in Philadelphia," he said. "His name is Jim Graziano. Wonderful passer, good marks, everything. But he didn't want to leave Philadelphia. He was really stuck on a gal there."

"How did I do? What do you think? He's a freshman at Villanova."

Football's Elite Trio

NEW YORK—Only three major college teams have had no losing football seasons since World War II. They are Penn State, Oklahoma and Kentucky.

Out Of Bounds at This Course Is Really Out

CALEXICO, Calif.—Mortie Dutra, world senior PGA champion, is back at the International Country Club here.

The nine-hole Calexico course has an out-of-bounds marker at the fifth and sixth holes which also serves as the boundary line of the United States and Mexico. Balls hit over fences go out of the country and there is no retrieving. The towering fences topped by barbed wire are to prohibit illegal entry from one country to the other.

Brief Reign for Tony

BOSTON—Tony De Marco, who tries to regain the title from Carmen Basilio here, Nov. 30, had one of the shortest 147-round reigns in history. Tony held the championship 40 days.

Assistant Is Fired for Favoring Gripes of Players Against Washington Head Coach

SEATTLE (AP)—Like a few drops of water in hot grease, 35 University of Washington football players spluttered briefly against Coach John Cherberg yesterday, then disappeared in a cloud of steam late last night.

About the only person burnt thus far in the spattering was Jim Sutherland, backfield coach, who seemed in highest favor with the dissident group.

Sutherland remained as coach today and there appeared to be no immediate likelihood of his departure. The finality of Sutherland's sacking was apparent when Cherberg indicated he already has decided to move up Don Doll to Sutherland's job.

Doll is a onetime University of Southern California star and a professional footballer for eight years.

He has been Sutherland's assistant. The disappearance of the anti-Cherberg group was noted last night at what was supposed to be a mass meeting of objectors at a downtown beanery. The mass, at latest unofficial but reliable reports, consisted of three players and their girl friends. Perhaps a few more.

The number of players who participated in protest meetings with Harvey Cassill, the university's athletic director, was disclosed by H. P. Everest, vice president of the university and for a number of years the institution's faculty representative to the Pacific Coast Conference.

Golfer Lists Third 'Ace,' Each in Different Nation

PORT HURON (AP)—Golfer Fred L. Riggins Sr. of Port Huron has shot his third hole in one—each in a different county.

Riggins, who is touring East Africa with three other senior golfers under sponsorship of the U. S. Senior Golf Assn., wrote home that he sank an ace earlier this month in a goodwill match with an African team. He noted that he previously shot holes in one in the United States and in Canada.

Hazel Kirsch of El Paso, Tex., missed a perfect game when she went for her 12th consecutive strike. She got eight pins on the last ball for a 298 score.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Coach Duffy Daugherty of Michigan State showed his sentimental Irish side again today in announcing the 44-man official football squad that will dress for the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day against UCLA. Included were one man who can't play and one on the doubtful list. Senior guard Embury Robinson of Pittsburgh was named to the squad despite the fact he is hobbling on crutches. Robinson, who kicked off in MSU's 1954 Rose Bowl game, injured his knee in the Wisconsin game.

Earlier, Daugherty announced that the rest of the 25 varsity squad members would be taken out along with the MSU band. They will be spectators, however, and can't practice or play since game regulations limit the Big 10 teams to 44 men.

'Rags-to-Riches' Horse After 2nd Handicap Win

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Happy Go Lucky, one of the turf's rags-to-riches horses, tried for a second victory today in the traditional Thanksgiving Day Handicap at the Fair Grounds opened its 83rd season.

H. G. Bockman's 6-year-old son of Hailat romped to victory in the 1955 renewal of the $7,500 6-furlong test for 3-year-olds and older. Owner Bockman says his chestnut charger is ready for another triumph.

Happy Go Lucky drew top weight of 115 pounds as 14 expected to face the starter. A crowd of 19,000 turned out for the holiday program, the first of the 83-day season which ends with the $40,000-added Louisiana Derby, a major prep for the more-celebrated Kentucky Derby.

Bockman purchased Happy Go Lucky for $3,000 and the speedster has won more than $123,000 in proving a more than tidy investment. In 1953, he tried for the rich Santa Anita Maturity but finished third. His latest triumph was in the Clark Handicap at the fall Churchill Downs meeting.

Topping the opposition today was the B. W. Landy-Rebel Stable entry of Spur On and Super Devil; Louis J. Tutt's fleet filly Jenjey; and W. Hal Bishop's Alternative.

Spur On is probably the best son of Whirlaway, the 1941 triple crown winner. Spur On won a number of Fair Grounds handicap events in the past two seasons and took the $50,000 Michigan Mile at Detroit in 1954.

Don't Bother to Hunt — Just Have Patience

HOMINY, Okla. (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Turner have had their 1st wild duck dinner of the season without having to lift a gun or go hunting.

While Mrs. Turner was drawing a bucket of water from the family's farm well, a large mallard crashed through the branches of a maple tree and dropped at her feet. It had been wounded by four shotgun pellets but held out until it got over the Turner farm.

Poison to Kill Lamprey Now Nearing Success

WASHINGTON (AP)—The search for a poison which can kill sea lampreys without harming desirable fish is "drawing toward a successful conclusion," says Secretary of Interior McKay.

The secretary added, however, that some testing remains to be done before any definite statement of success can be made.

The lamprey, an eel-like creature that kills fish, has disastrously affected commercial fishing in the Great Lakes.

McKay said about 5,000 poisons have been tested. Several of these appear promising, he continued, and are undergoing further extensive trials to make sure they are not harmful to other fish or to humans.

Ray Estes, Florida State freshman end, comes from Auburn, Maine.

ROSE BOWL INVITATION — Clarence "Biggie" Mum, Michigan State University athletic director, eyes the 1954 Rose Bowl game ball after receiving notification at East Lansing from Tug Wilson that the Spartans will represent the Big Ten in the New Year's Day game at Pasadena.

Ex-Tiger Farmhand Will Quit Baseball

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—John Baumgartner, one of 1950's leading bonus rookies, says he is quitting professional baseball.

Baumgartner, 24, said yesterday he has asked to be placed on the voluntarily retired list of the sophomores.

Charleston, W. Va., club. He formerly played with Buffalo of the Detroit farm system.

As a Detroit farmhand Baumgartner has played every position except catcher.

Alabama's football team includes nine seniors, 16 juniors and 19 sophomores.

Big 10 Closes Book on OSU-M Affair

Wilson Reports 'Incident' Was Regrettable One

But Explains It Was 'Enlarged Out of All Proportion to Facts'

CHICAGO (U) — Big 10 Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson officially has closed the books on last Saturday's Ohio State-Michigan football game in which the penalty-jammed closing minutes touched off considerable reaction.

After reviewing available information on the game, Wilson yesterday concluded in a statement that the incident was "regrettable" but "enlarged out of all proportion to existing facts."

He said the ejection of two Michigan players, end Ron Kramer and tackle (Lionel) Signan, in the final 4 minutes of the hectic 17-0 loss to Ohio State came from behavior which was "an understandable by-product of frustration and demoralization."

The victory gave Ohio State the Big 10 title and assured Michigan State the Rose Bowl trip instead of Michigan.

In the last 4 minutes 6 penalties were meted out to Michigan and 2 to Ohio State, plus 2 offsetting double penalties.

The statement lauded Michigan authorities for their public apology after the incident and said, in part, that:

"While any departure from orderly procedure and conduct (of the crowd which swarmed onto the field while time still remained then withdrawn to the sidelines) is regrettable, it is my firm conclusion that in actuality, and despite the extraordinary number of penalties in the last few minutes together with the distractions provided by exuberant spectators, the game was at no time out of control of the officials."

"Despite an extraordinary number of penalties, called against both teams, there were no fisticuffs and no instance of muckering as the rules interpret a disqualifying foul to be," the statement continued.

"The ejection of two Michigan players was for unbecoming behavior towards an official. While such behavior is not to be condoned and, in my opinion the suspensions were warranted, it was an understandable by-product of frustration and demoralization."

Hayes Voted 'Ham'; Sanders Gets Turkey

LOS ANGELES (U) — Coach Woody Hayes of Ohio State has been voted the "ham of the week."

Hayes gets a real ham for Ohio State's victory over Michigan last Saturday.

Each week veteran sportsman Gene Royle, self-named executive director of the Farmers Market Monday Morning Quarterback club, awards a big ham to an outstanding coach. Hayes was the current choice.

Red Sanders, whose UCLA team won and goes into the Rose Bowl, was not forgotten. He gets a turkey.

Halas Worried About Bears' Sunday Clash With Cross-Town foe

CHICAGO (U) — Owner-Coach George Halas of the Chicago Bears is working up quite a lather over Sunday's meeting in Comiskey Park with the Chicago Cardinals.

"Never in my 36 years of pro football have I encountered a team in a better position for staging an upset than the Cardinals," Halas told the Bear Alumni Club yesterday.

Halas hinted that the Cardinals deliberately will try to bog down the Bears with a sloppy field.

He said he had a report that Comiskey Park was in "horrible shape" after a heavy rainfall and that "there was one man raking mud from one place to another on the field."

Walter Wolfner, the Cards managing director, denied that the field was being neglected and said "it will be in perfect condition Sunday."

The Bears have won six straight games to gain the Western Conference lead in the National Football League. The struggling Cards have a 3-5 record.

Muskrat Trapping Up

LANSING (U) — The state conservation department expects muskrat trapping in the southern Lower Peninsula to be better this year.

But pelt prices probably will not be much different.

Oil Slick Grounds 1,000 Wild Ducks

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (U) — Conservation officials say at least 1,000 wild ducks have been stranded along 12 miles of Lake Michigan beach by a black oil slick on the lake.

Jim Schendel, president of the La Porte County Council of Conservation Clubs, said some of the ducks, too oil-coated to fly, have frozen to death, others have been beaten to death by the wings of attacking seagulls. Rats have killed others.

Sympathetic residents have bathed some of the ducks in detergents or ether, then kept them indoors until the birds' natural oils appear.

Schendel believes the heavy black oil, which first appeared Saturday, was spilled from a lake ship.

Dodger Announcer Gets His Marlin Too Early

SAN JUAN, P. R. (U) — Happy Felton of New York City, Brooklyn Dodger post-game television announcer, entered 2nd International Game Fish Tournament of Puerto Rico but didn't get a strike in four days of angling. But two days before the tournament he and Reggie Foster of Chevy Chase, Md., both met with success. Felton landed a blue marlin and Foster boated a sailfish.

Pin Partners Roll 496 Game at Spillwood

A mixed doubles team bowled an outstanding game recently at Keego Harbor's Spillwood Lanes during team matches in the Spillwood Mixed Doubles League.

Pat Peterson of Detroit, whose average is 136, and Marvin Haps of Sylvan Lake, who averages 136, combined skills to roll an actual game score of 496. Peterson rolled 252 and Haps totaled 244. The two keggers compiled a series total of 1133 while defeating their opponents, W. Beaumont and M. Bell. The 12-team league is sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress. The average league team score is 275.

Western Illinois Seeks Bowl Trophy

MACOMB, Ill. (AP)—Western Illinois College of Macomb seeks its third Corn Bowl football victory in 10 years today against Luther College of Decorah, Iowa, unbeaten in its last 19 starts.

A third triumph for Western will give the Leathernecks permanent possession of the Corn Bowl Trophy.

Western has 6 victories, 1 tie and 2 defeats for the 1955 campaign.

Sarazen Calls Shot From Trap for Onlooker

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Gene Sarazen displayed a new method of calling his shot while giving a golfing demonstration at Southern Hills Golf Club.

Showing fans how to get out of a sand trap, Sarazen was dropping balls into the trap and hitting them onto the green. Hearing one of the watchers remark, "Yeah, but you've got good lies in the sand with those practice balls," Sarazen took the challenge.

He dropped another ball and stepped on it, pushing it into the sand until only the top was visible. "It makes no difference," he said, and dropped his shot into the cup. "See," the veteran professional added with a grin.

Defeat Would Make Detroit 1st in Draft

Green Bay Underdog
in 5th Turkey Day
Game With Locals

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions could clinch something fairly valuable in the National Football League in their annual Thanksgiving Day game with the Green Bay Packers at Briggs Stadium today.

A loss would clinch them the first regular choice in Monday's modified draft in Philadelphia.

League champions in 1952 and 1953 and Western Conference champions in 1954, the Lions dropped their 1955 season-opener to Green Bay and lost the next 5. Now they have a 2-7 record.

Green Bay has a 5-4 mark and a victory today would move them into second place behind the Los Angeles Rams (6-3). The Packers now are third, back of the Chicago Bears, 5-3-1.

Despite their shoddy showing, the Lions were established as 3-point favorites, possibly because they have won four straight since the Detroit-Green Bay Thanksgiving series started in 1951.

The team with the worst showing gets the first chance to pick from among the college crop of footballers in the NFL draft. The first three rounds will be run off Monday; the other 27 later.

The kickoff was scheduled for noon and the game was slated for nationwide television (ABC), with a 75-mile blackout around Detroit.

Trojan Track Star Abandoning Career

LOS ANGELES (INS)—Fernando Ledesma, University of Southern California track star, is reportedly ready to abandon his track career because of poor health.

Ledesma, holder of the American collegiate 2-mile record of 8 minutes 57.7 seconds, has been ill since the Pacific Coast Conference track meet last May 28.

He is reportedly suffering from yellow jaundice and has been advised by a specialist to give up competition indefinitely.

Quits Canadian Football to Play Hockey for Leafs

TORONTO (AP)—Gerry James has forsaken the chalk line for the blue line. Money is the reason.

The 21-year-old athlete, one of Canada's outstanding football players, Tuesday night signed a professional contract with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League.

James, a barging backfielder on the gridiron and a crashing right winger on the ice, arrived here from his hometown of Winnipeg to sign a two-year contract with the Leafs. Salary terms were not disclosed. But James said the pay was better than he could get in football.

If James sticks in big-league hockey it will be the end of his football career. He cannot combine the two pro sports. Hockey training sessions start in September—when football is just getting under way.

Leaf officials were elated about the deal. They had tried for three years, since James joined Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial football union, to sign him to a contract.

Leaf general manager Hap Day said:

"This is another shot — a big shot — right on the bull's-eye of our target to give Toronto fans the type of hockey they've been clamoring for and used to seeing."

James joins Leafs in workouts immediately, but he may not be ready to play for a few weeks.

Veteran Club Pro Honored by PGA

CHICAGO (AP)—Veteran club pro Bill Gordon, 58, has been named "Golf Professional of the Year" by the PGA.

The PGA's "Professional Golfer of the Year" is another award given to tournament pros. It went to Doug Ford this year.

Maples Rule All-County 11

More honors have been won by Birmingham High School football team, which has already claimed the Eastern Michigan League championship, rated the 5th ranked team in the state and the best team in the area.

Latest recognition came from the All-Oakland County team which showed four Maples among the 22 offensive and defensive players selected by the coaches.

Oakland "B" champion, Madson, and Class "A" Royal Oak each placed two on the offensive unit, while Waterford and Southfield of Inter-Lakes got two players, one on each position.

Pontiac's lone choice was Marv

Top balloting went to guard Bernie Miscovich of Southfield, with Madison's Jim Myers and Dave Christensen nailing down offensive tackle and center positions.

Norm Probert of Waterford is offensive fullback.

Oakland County Coach of the Year selection will not be made until the Dec. 5 banquet, honoring the teams and coach.

Leading contenders for the title are coach Carl Lemle of Birmingham and Don Scott of Madison.

Notre Dame coach Terry Brennan will be guest speaker of the affair sponsored by the Civitan Club and radio station WPON at the Elks room.

Turkey Day Gratitude

Sports Personalities Find Numerous Reasons for Thanks on Thanksgiving

NEW YORK (AP) — Here's what some sports personalities have to be thankful for this Thanksgiving:

Casey Stengel, Yankee Manager — For the trip to the Orient, which dispelled the popular belief that the Brooklyn Dodgers are baseball's world champions. The Yanks, at least, are champs of Japan.

Hurricane Jackson, boxer — For the surprise decision he dropped to Jimmy Slade last month. Just about knocking him out of the running for a Rocky Marciano bout. 'Nuff said.

Steve Sebo, Penn football coach — For the fact that his team plays its last game of the season tomorrow against Cornell. The Quakers have dropped all 8 games played, scoring only 27 points against the opposition's 231.

Johnny Podres, Dodger pitcher — For that sparkling catch made by Sandy Amoros in the seventh game of the World Series which cut off two Yankee runs and prevented Brooklyn's first victory in baseball's big show.

Harry Hopman, Aussie Davis Cup captain — For Jack Kramer, who induced U.S. tennis ace Tony Trabert to turn professional, thereby almost assuring Australia of retaining the prized trophy next year.

Duffy Daugherty, Michigan State football coach — For the entire Ohio State team which opened the Rose Bowl gates for his men by knocking off Michigan so handily last Saturday.

Jack Fleck, golfer — For the spectacular birdie on the final hole that enabled him to tie Ben Hogan at 287 in the National Open. The unknown from Davenport, Iowa beat Hogan in an 18-hole playoff to win the title.

Rocky Graziano, ex-boxer — For Martha Raye, who's keeping him steadily employed in television where he's probably making more money than he did in the ring. The former middleweight king doesn't have to worry about winding up punchdrunk, either.

Al Kaline, Detroit outfielder — For the 20 pounds he gained last winter which he said made him a stronger hitter the past baseball season. Besides the weight, Kaline tackled 64 points on to his average to win the American League batting title with .340.

Paul Brown, Cleveland Browns coach — For Otto Graham, who changed his mind about retiring and still is completing passes by the bushel and keeping the Browns on top in the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

Fred Haney, Milwaukee Braves coach — For his release as manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates which enabled him to take a more relaxing job.

Al Weill, boxing manager — For Rocky Marciano.

WilliamSPORT, Pa. — Carl E. Stotz, ousted as commissioner of Little League, Inc., has called a meeting at Pittsburgh Dec. 10-11 of volunteer workers "to find a manner in which a sound Little League program can be conducted."

Stotz, discharged Tuesday after he filed a breach of contract suit against the league which he founded, said yesterday he expected a "tremendous turnout" from the more than 300 persons he had invited.

Stotz claims that his contract has been breached to a point of "endangering Little League, in that the commissioner and volunteer (unpaid) field workers no longer have a representative voice in Little League policy."

Meanwhile, Editor Robert Starat of Little League Magazine said four employees of the non-profit organization had orally submitted resignations "without a reason" to Little League President Peter J. McGovern.

He identified the four as Allen Yearick, Richard Snauffer and J. Ralph Hoyt, regional coordinators and Howard Gair, umpire consultant.

Stotz said the four had offered him their services.

Hunters Urged to Spare Fading Whooping Crane

BISMARCK, N.D. — Hunters are urged to cooperate with conservation forces to protect the vanishing whooping crane, America's tallest bird.

Hunters are cautioned not to shoot at any large white bird. The warning is specifically addressed to hunters along the crane flyway from the prairies of southern Saskatchewan to the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge in Texas.

Last year, when the five-foot-tall whoopers finished their winter migration, only 21 were counted and no young had been added. Earlier this year, however, the birds' mating grounds were discovered near Great Slave Lake in Canada and it was found that the whoopers had increased by at least five.

Kelly and Pavelich were fingerprinted at the Detroit Police Department Record Bureau as the first step in gaining citizenship.

Two other members of the Red Wings already have become citizens — Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay.

From Feast to Famine
 CHAPEL HILL, N. C. — University of North Carolina gridders last year gained 116 yards via forward passes in beating North Carolina State 20-6. This season the Tarheels did not gain a single yard through the air against the Wolfpack but still managed to win 25-18.

WAKEFIELD, Neb. — More than one-fifth of the 1,100 residents of Wakefield are in bowling leagues. 154 men and 52 women spilling pins.

'Hoppy' Proves He's Team Player, Not Glory-Seeker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Hoppy, along Cassidy, Ohio State's All-America halfback, is a team guy, not a glory-seeker.

Against Nebraska, Hoppy had scored on runs of 14, 10 and 2 yards for Ohio's first three scores. In the third period, with Ohio holding a scant 21-20 edge as the result of Hoppy's heroics, Cassidy broke over tackle for a 43-yard run to Nebraska's two-yard line.

In the huddle, Quarterback Frank Ellwood said:

"You take it, Hoppy, on a quick opener over tackle."

Hoppy answered:

"Not a chance. You know Coach Hayes wants a quarterback sneak in a spot like this. Carry it yourself."

Ellwood went for a yard on the first play, and again wanted Hoppy to carry in for his fourth touchdown.

"Another sneak's the play," Hoppy answered, and no one questioned him.

Ellwood scored over center on the next play, and Ohio won it 28-20.

Waterfowl Kill Count Heavier

Heavy Concentration of Birds Reported in Lower Peninsula

LANSING (AP) — Duck and geese concentrations in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula are the largest in nine years, the conservation department said today.

A mid-November census showed some 870,000 ducks in Saginaw Bay, Lake St. Clair and Lake Erie. This was 300,000 more than were counted in a census taken the same time last year.

Department game workers said ducks would start leaving the state in large numbers within a few days.

An estimated 10,000 to 12,000 geese were concentrated in the Swan Creek-Fennville area, the department said. Another 2,800 were reported at the Kellogg Bird Sanctuary.

The department said hunters killed 268 geese during the Nov. 16-17 storm. Total waterfowl kill recorded at Swan Creek, Fennville and Pointe Mouillee checking stations was 8,159 on Nov. 20. This compares with 7,388 for the same period last year.

Dog Nips Official in Heat of Battle

Ralph Paul, one of the officials at a Marquette-West Junior High football game at Public School Stadium, was bitten by the small dog while bending over a large heap of young Americans to determine the location of the ball.

While spectators wondered if the official weighed the feasibility of a five-yard penalty, he contented himself with occasionally rubbing the offended leg and eyeing the sidelines apprehensively between plays.

Legal Doe Hunting Tending to Better State's Deer Herd

By JACK PATTERSON

Mid-way through the deer season it is becoming apparent that legal doe shooting the last three years has tended to improve the quality of the deer herd without depleting the supply. We have seen more big bucks bagged this year than for many a season. It is unfortunate, in this writer's opinion, that this year goes back to the buck-only rule.

Informed biologists estimate that the deer herd reproduces 35 per cent or more per year. If present estimates of a total Michigan deer population of over half a million are accurate, then pretty close to 200,000 deer should be bagged by hunters just to take care of the annual increase, without cutting the herd. No such bag is possible, of course, where bucks alone can be taken.

If the herd is still too big for the available winter range, and there is evidence that such is the case, it needs reducing generally and in some areas it could stand a real weeding out. The idea of shooting more deer in order to have more deer to shoot at sounds like New Deal fiscal theorizing, but has a sound biological basis.

A given deer range normally supports deer at the capacity of the range at any given time. Many a hunter will claim today, and will be perfectly correct, that there just aren't the deer in his favorite hunting area that there were a few years ago. Before he blames doe hunting for the depletion he'd do well to check the food situation in the area. Chances are his area is holding all the deer the food supply will permit.

The one sure way to exterminate the deer herd is to let the animals increase to the point where they destroy their own food supply. That it could be inferred that the real enemy of the deer herd is over-protection. Over-protection is forced on the deer by uninformed public opinion. (In this connection we lay no claims to being an expert on deer management. We believe, however, that career biologists of state game departments are better qualified to judge what is good for the deer herd than are John Q. Hunter and his local sportsman's club.)

Areas where the surgeon's knife should be most radically applied are in the large areas formed by groups of adjoining private clubs. Here, over-protection is carried to an extreme.

A small portion of the annual increase is harvested during the season. A long-term, serious depletion of natural deer food is the present result. Supplementary feeding during summer and fall with rye fields, and in the winter with hay, serves a useful purpose to hunters in keeping deer in the area but is of dubious value in terms of increasing the carrying capacity of the range.

A suggested (and wholly illegal) amendment to club by-laws requiring any member who shoots a buck to promptly tally forth and kill two does, would probably improve the quality of club deer without cutting down the number available for next year.

Another suggestion to deer range property owners which is currently being pushed by the American Box Board Co., and will be soon by the Abitibi Paper outfit, is to cut off mature aspen (popple) stands. Mature trees are practically useless to wildlife. Cut over, shoots and saplings are claimed to appear promptly and popple shoots may be said to form item No. 1 on any deer's diet.

DEER HUNTERS — Two Pontiac deer hunters were successful in their north Michigan trip recently, as the picture proves. Above are Mr. and Mrs. Lynn D. Allen Jr., with their prizes, two nice bucks.

Area Tourists Like Tawases

Make Up 8 Per Cent of Visitors to Upstate Spot in 1955

One car in every 13 visiting the Tawases during the past record-breaking summer tourist season came from the Pontiac-Birmingham area, it was revealed in a survey made by the Tawases Chamber of Commerce.

Oakland County is a major source of Tawases visitors, ranking 4th with 8 percent. Detroit provided 30 percent, out-of-state 18 per cent, and Flint 11, per cent.

Of the 2nd-place figure, out-of-state cars, nearly half were from Ohio, most of these passing through and bringing business to Oakland County on their way to and from the Tawases.

Cornell goes in with a record of 4 wins and 4 losses this year. Penn has lost all 8 of its games this season.

Answer in Sight

City Youngsters to Learn About Nature

By MORT NEFF

Youngsters — particularly boys — have a natural longing to learn of the wonders of the wild, the art of fishing and hunting, the way of life of common birds and animals native to their environment.

To the country boy the longing is easily satisfied for obvious reasons, but to the lad born and raised in the city the problem of fulfilling this desire is far more complex. His energy and spare time is more likely to be diverted to other less wholesome channels.

Today there begins to be an answer forming on the not too distant horizon. It is taking shape in our public school system despite objections from a strong minority of parents who stolidly believe schools are solely for teaching "reading, writing and 'rithmetic."

The movement is spreading slowly but surely, with certain influential civic organizations and sportsmen's clubs backing the project in a number of widespread communities.

While the Conservation Department has long been at work encouraging Michigan school systems to include the study of land use, forestry, game management and basic geology in their curriculum, the new concept is far more effective, and infinitely more attractive to the student body.

The entire class, including the teacher, moves into an outdoor classroom!

Enough group camp sites are already operating in various parts of Michigan to take care of a surprisingly large number of public school students. Classes, including both boys and girls, move into the group camp for a week at a time. While there is some indoor classroom work, using motion picture film as an important teaching medium, much of the week is spent in the field where problems in soil erosion, water pollution, and fish and game management are studied first hand. The youngsters learn woodcraft, too, and the fundamentals of camping and good sportsmanship.

UP Deer Kill Appears Larger Than in 1954

MACKINAW CITY (AP) — With returning hunters converging on Straits of Mackinac ferry docks here, state employees said today there were indications the deer kill in the Upper Peninsula this year would surpass the 1954 total.

At 3 p.m. yesterday 7,323 bucks had been brought across the straits compared to 7,364 at the same time last season. But it was reported hunters stranded at St. Ignace because of a storm on the straits were returning with more than enough deer to make up the difference.

Bear kill was running below last year's figures, with 90 bears have been tabulated so far compared to 127 at the same time last year.

Henry Kennedy and Selwyn Jones finished one-two in the Michigan AAU cross-country championships in 1955. They are Michigan State's standouts.

Amazing Texas Aggies Shoot for Title

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (U)—Hard-bitten Texas A&M shoots for the moon today in the 62nd renewal of the Southwest's biggest and longest rivalry—the annual battle with Texas.

For the first time in a dozen years the Southwest Conference championship rides on the result of this struggle although just one of the parties can win it. The Aggies, rated last before the season started, haven't lost a game and hold a victory over the team that's to play in the Cotton Bowl—Texas Christian. They have one tie.

Dogged Texas, winner of 3 of 5 conference games, can gain only the glory of beating a traditional rival but it can also determine where the championship is to go. A Texas victory would probably hand the title to Texas Christian, which could then defeat Southern Methodist and take everything.

But win or lose, Texas A&M has been the biggest news of the conference campaign, including being banned from bowl games for violating the recruiting rules. Admittedly short on top material but long on fight, and smartly using the opposition's errors to the fullest advantage, the Aggies already have the best record of any A&M team since 1943.

They boast an advantage both offensively and defensively over Texas.

But this game isn't one to follow form. It is fought with a frenzy because it is the most important of the season—the one each school would rather win most.

Texas, geared to its versatile Walter Fondren and rapid-passing Joe Clements, and with 15 seniors who never have lost a game to A&M, even as freshmen, can be expected to make it a fight to the final gun.

It has been four years since the Aggies beat Texas. That victory was scored here in 1951. Prior to that you had to go back to 1939 for

Father Leading Son in Finals of Yacht Race

HAVANA (U)—It'll take a complete reversal of form today to keep Charles Cardenas of Cuba from winning the World Star Class yacht championship for the second straight year.

The veteran yachtsman went into the final event of the 5-race series leading his son Jorge by 8 points. If the senior Cardenas finishes no worse than ninth he'll wrap up the title with his Kurish V.

The leader has not yet won a race. He was second twice, and fifth in two other races. Yesterday he was runner-up to E. W. Etchels, sailing his Shannon as representative of the Central Long Island Sound fleet.

The elder Cardenas went into the fifth race with 138 points. His son had 130. Lowell North of San Diego, Calif., was third with 123, and William Gentzlinger of Huntington Bay, N.Y., fourth with 116.

Area Cagers at Normal

Two Oakland County cagers, forward Mike Groves of Birmingham and center Tom Gould of Milford, are listed on the Michigan State Normal College roster for the 1955-56 basketball season. Groves, a six-footer, is a sophomore at the Ypsilanti school, while the six-foot five Gould is a freshman.

Writer One Under Par

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (U)—Leonard Crawley, sports writer from England, toured the Guyana Country Club golf course with his friend, Walker Cup Captain Bill Campbell of Huntington. Crawley played 36 holes on the unfamiliar course and turned in a 143—one under par.

18 Teams Vie in Women's Hockey Meet

CHAMBERSBURG, Pa. (U)—Eighteen teams of women from all parts of the United States begin a three-day contest of stick-work today in the National Field Hockey Tournament.

They will be competing for positions on the United States and U.S. reserve teams. Competition will be on two hockey fields at Wilson College here in south-central Pennsylvania.

Teams entered included 5 from Philadelphia, 2 from the Great Lakes region, 2 from the North-east, 3 from the Atlantic States region, 2 from the Southeast, 2 from the Midwest and 2 from the Midwest.

Championship squads will be selected on the basis of one game played each day by each team.

Kegler 'Bowls 'em Over' on Way to 90th Birthday

MT. VERNON, N. Y. (U)—It's never too late, says Charles Caldwell.

He was 45 when he started bowling back in 1910, and he's still going strong as he nears his 90th birthday.

When he was 80 he rolled a 224 game and only a few weeks ago bowled 175. He averages 125 in the First Baptist Church League in which he bowls each week.

Caldwell, known affectionately as "Uncle Charlie," was born in Warrenton, Va., March 19, 1866. He was a page boy in the House of Representatives, and was graduated in law from the University of Virginia in 1888. He joined a

Spanish Carp Is Taught to Dine in Style

Drinks Consomme, Eats Spaghetti at Luncheon

BARCELONA (INS)—A Spanish carpenter has trained a 15-year-old carp to drink consomme, and to eat spaghetti, rice, potatoes, custard nougat and melon.

He's Francisco Roig Toques from the town of Vallanueva Y Geltru, near Barcelona, who is proudly exhibiting the carp, which he's named Juanita.

Every day at luncheon, when the siren of a nearby factory sounds Juanita rises to the surface of her pond and stays there with her mouth open until Roig feeds her.

Roig holds long strings of spaghetti over the fish's head and Juanita slowly gobbles them up. The consomme is poured into Juanita's mouth in a thin stream from the spout of a "porron," a Spanish type of wine bottle. Once Roig substituted clear water for the consomme and Juanita wouldn't surface again for four days.

Many Factors Listed as Cold-Virus Cause

CHICAGO — Many doctors believe the common cold is caused by a virus or viruses present in the human system most of the time, but unable to attack until some body change takes place. Many factors have been suggested as "triggering" the cold virus: quick temperature change, change in barometric pressure, fear, excitement, shock, anger, and even sudden noise.

RABAT, French Morocco — Improvements and extensions of the road system in 1954 in the French zone of Morocco brought the total mileage of first-class roads to 3,697, second-class roads to 2,707, and third-class to 22,614. The zone has 1,091 miles of normal-gauge railroad track.

After Turkey Day, Stores Will Offer Good Bargains

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
When the last piece of your Thanksgiving turkey is gone, you'll find a good range of attractive buys in other meats at your local food store this coming weekend. That turkey may have cost you four cents a pound more than the bird you bought a year earlier, but most other meats are cheaper now than then. Pork is a fine buy, and beef has come down a bit, too. "The best buy is loin of pork," one meat retailer said. "We'll have one meat retailer said. 'We'll have loins on sale next week at six to eight cents a pound below prices of a year ago. Smoked hams are now selling at eight cents a pound cheaper than in November, 1954.'"

The American Meat Institute took a survey in the Chicago area last week and reported that the average of all meat prices in retail stores was down 22 per cent from a year earlier. Beef steaks were down seven to 15 per cent, smoked picnic 15 per cent, other pork hams 14 to 25 per cent and legs of lamb three per cent. Aside from pork, weekend shoppers will find good buys in steaks, prime ribs, chuck roast and legs of lamb. Some stores are knocking four cents a pound off the price of fryers. Egg prices will be two to four cents a dozen higher than a week ago in many areas. There's been a big demand for eggs. However, production is rising, so prices may come down soon.

VEGETABLES HIGHER
The price of many vegetables moved higher at the wholesale level this week, but there is still a good variety available at reasonable prices. Produce men favor potatoes, onions, turnips and greens such as kale, collard and turnip greens. Also recommended: cabbage, beans, beets, escarole, endive, iceberg lettuce, artichokes, cucumbers, peppers, pascal celery and eggplant.

The produce specialists note that there is a wide range in price and quality in iceberg lettuce and that smaller size peppers are more reasonable than the larger ones. "Moderately-priced" vegetables include carrots, broccoli, corn, peas, tomatoes, squash, cauliflower, spinach, and yams. Dry type sweet potatoes are cheaper than the yams. Worthwhile buys in fruit include limes, apples, oranges and grapes.

'Don't Hot-Up' Opera by Gilbert, Sullivan

LONDON—Lovers of Gilbert and Sullivan are taking action to prevent exploitation of their operas when the copyright of the words expires six years from now. Leading the campaign to ask the British government to perpetuate the copyright is 68-year-old Miss Mary Alderley, who doesn't like her Gilbert and Sullivan "hotted up."

"The words are part of the national heritage and should be preserved inviolate," she says. What the film makers did with Bizet's "Carmen" in "Carmen Jones" shook Miss Alderley badly and started her battle. "I have heard that Danny Kaye has made records of hotted up Gilbert and Sullivan," she commented. "I'd like to smash them over his head."

Electronic Tape Used to Run Boring Machine

MINNEAPOLIS — A Minneapolis concern reports that it has developed a method of operating a precision boring machine from instructions recorded on electronic tape. In use, the control mechanism of the device "reads" orders from the tape and runs the machine to bore any number of holes to within an accuracy of one thousandth of an inch, the company says.

Pontiac Off to Bad Start for Safe-Driving Program

Pontiac, off to a bad start in its Safe-Driving Day campaign, was urged today to consider these sober figures:

Nine traffic accidents occurred in the city Monday and Tuesday, the first two days of the 1955 campaign. Six accidents occurred last year.

Five of the accidents this week were listed by police as property damage cases and four as physical injuries.

But 9-year-old James Matheny, struck by a car yesterday, remains in critical condition in Pontiac General Hospital.

Sgt. Clayton A. Randolph, of the Traffic and Safety Bureau, said that last year there were four property damage accidents and two physical injuries.

One of the aims of the 1955 drive is to beat the record of reduced accidents set in the City last year, according to Clyde R. Haskill, chairman of S-D Day.

He said that last year the number of accidents was significantly reduced in the 10-day period before and after S-D Day.

Sergeant Randolph gave these figures for traffic accidents which occurred during the first 11 days of the 1954 S-D Day campaign: Forty-one traffic accidents, of which 30 were described by property damage, 11 physical injury, with no fatal injuries. Thirteen persons were injured.

On S-D Day itself, there were four property damage accidents, with no one injured. Sergeant Randolph explained that streets were exceptionally icy that day.

"If both drivers and pedestrians exercise caution at all times, last year's outstanding record can be surpassed," Haskill said.

Drive-In Fire Station

ASHEVILLE, N.C. —A police cruiser, siren screaming, raced across Pack Square here and halted in front of the fire department. Policemen bailed out of the cruiser, one from each side. Then firemen extinguished a fire which had been delivered to their door in the cruiser.

The Netherlands retained first place among the world's egg exporting countries with shipments of more than two billion eggs in a recent 12 months.

SUNDAY IN RICHLAND — Worshipers leave the West Side United Protestant Church. The city's churches are financed and built by congregations on land leased from the U. S.

Nonliturgical Christian Denominations Band Together in One Richland Church

RICHLAND, Wash. (NEA) —In the City of Richland, where they make the stuff for atomic bombs, a step has been taken in the field of religion that is, if not atomic, at least innovative.

Ministerial associations have labored long to bring the churches together, since each has a like faith, only offering slightly different paths.

While competition still goes on between the various denominations, continuing to puzzle historians of American religion, here in Richland the step has already been taken that is bringing all ministers, churches and congregations together.

This step which is solidifying the churches to spread the Gospel on an "all for one; one for all" basis, is called "the United Protestant Churches of Richland."

It is composed of 11 nonliturgical churches (those which have no set form of worship or prayers set forth in a prayer book or missal) banded together to bring a more efficient and effective means for worship to this community of atomic scientists.

KEEP BELIEFS
Yet the cooperating churches have not lost their individuality for each of the United Protestant churches is only sponsored by a cooperating denomination, while still maintaining close ties with its mother denomination.

The individual members keep their own beliefs, even though they differ from those of the sponsoring denomination of the church they attend.

Those who believe in complete immersion baptism, for example, still have that ceremony. This way a Methodist can go to a church sponsored by the American Baptists without the necessity of accepting all the theological points held by the Baptists.

EASY FOR PEOPLE

This cooperative element enables fewer churches to do more work. Instead of many financially weak and property-poor congregations, there is in each neighborhood a church strong enough to accomplish its mission effectively. As the city grows and new sections develop the United Protestants cooperate in setting up another member church in that area.

This makes it easy for people to go to church, since each person attends his own "neighborhood" church. It automatically solves the Sunday traffic and parking problems, too.

This is how the organization works: A newcomer to Richland wishes to join the church. He might be a member of the United Presbyterian faith, but his church may not as yet have established itself in the community. Even if it has, it may be located on the opposite side of the city where attendance would pose difficulties.

KEPT SEPARATE

So the newcomer attends the U.P. member church in his immediate neighborhood. The minister places his name on the church rolls, with careful notation of his preference for the Presbyterian faith. From that time forward the minister-member relationship is the same as in any other denominational church. Yet he will worship as he pleases.

Currently in the Richland area are six U.P. member denominations. The oldest is the Central U.P. church, started in 1943 when the town was still a sleepy village of a few hundred inhabitants. Sponsored by the Methodists, it is an outgrowth of the Community Methodist church founded in 1905.

Membership in the six denominations now totals nearly 3,000. The largest of them is still Central U.P. with a membership of 1,400. The smallest is the North Richland with 100.

A United Protestant "assembly" is the governing body of the U.P. movement. It is composed of the ministers of all member churches, the chairmen of the seven commissions in each church and the presidents of the men's and ladies' groups in each church. It has no theological power, but sets policy for community services as well as community aid programs.

Cooperating denominations currently include: Advent-Christian, American Baptist, Disciples of Christ (Christian), Evangelical and Reformed, United Presbyterian, Congregational-Christian, Church of the Brethren, Friends, Methodist and Evangelical United Brethren.

Ten Insurance Agencies Cited

Federal Trade Group Says Firms Encourage False Advertising

WASHINGTON (INS) — Ten more insurance companies have been charged by the Federal Trade Commission with false advertising of their individual health, accident and hospitalization policies.

This brings to 41 the number of complaints issued by the FTC in its thirteen-month campaign against misrepresentations of the benefits provided by the policies.

General charges include false claims on the duration of the policy, health requirements, number and types of accidents or illnesses covered, amount paid for surgical bills and coverage on totally disabling accidents.

The commission issued its first group of complaints against 17 health and accident insurance companies on Oct. 18, 1954. Of the total of 31 issued earlier, four have been settled by consent to cease and desist from the challenged practices.

The FTC allowed 30 days for answers to the complaints and scheduled hearings as follows:

Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance Co., Boston, March 7, 1956; Lumbermens Mutual Casualty Co., Chicago, March 15; American Casualty Co., Reading, Pa., March 5; Mutual Life Insurance Co., New York, March 12; Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., Boston, March 9; National Bankers Life Insurance Co., Dallas, March 6; Minnesota Commercial Men's Association, Minneapolis, Feb. 27; Illinois Traveling Men's Health Association, Chicago, March 1; World Insurance Co., Omaha, March 5, and North American Accident Insurance Co., Chicago, March 1.

Constant Temperature

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (U) — They didn't have any trouble taking Lawrence Mylan's temperature when he entered the hospital complaining of abdominal pains. The pains were traced to a thermometer that had been lodged in his small intestines for 33 years.

Medical Solon Sees Ike in Race

Physician-Congressman Predicts President Will Seek Re-election

WASHINGTON (INS) — A physician-member of Congress states he understands medical examinations have shown no permanent damage to President Eisenhower's heart.

Rep. Arthur L. Miller (R-Neb.), who was a practicing physician and surgeon for 16 years, predicted that Eisenhower will seek re-election.

Miller said that if the diagnosis is borne out, "there is no reason why Eisenhower cannot run next year."

The Nebraska congressman added: "Of course, if future examinations show the heart has been damaged, then I'm sure his doctors will advise him to take it easy in the future. No one then would urge the President to be a candidate again."

"But if there has been no lasting damage to the heart — and every indication is that there has not been — then there is no reason why the President cannot serve another four years in the White House."

Miller, who does not now engage in private practice, said in an interview that in his opinion the President could safely resume his golfing, provided he limited himself to nine holes or so.

FLOATING A LOAN? — A housing unit used by Morris Harvey College in Charleston, W. Va., is eased safely onto a barge, not visible, tied up on Kanawha River, for the journey downstream about 10 miles to a point near St. Albans. The college campus was cleared of all temporary housing units preparatory to construction of permanent structures. The campus is across the river from the state capitol.

Hollywood Headlines:

Edward G. Robinson Jr. Believes Woes Are Over

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (U) — At 22, darkly handsome Edward G. Robinson Jr. has had more than his share of troubles. But now he thinks he has his life on an even keel.

"It was all part of growing up," he says. "I was confused. I was dependent over my marriage. I turned to drink as a panacea for all my problems. But that was no solution. When I woke up in the morning, I had a headache, and my problems were still there."

Drinking added to his problems. He was arrested on drunk charges. He also was charged with passing bad checks and holding up a taxi driver.

"I was acquitted on those matters," he said. "My big problem was drinking. I was miserable over my marriage."

"We tried to make it work. We went back together many times. I didn't want my daughter to be raised in a broken home. But it was worse for her to be living with parents who were always fighting. I'm afraid we would have destroyed each other if we had stayed married."

Young Robinson said he has recovered from the hurt of the broken marriage and has conquered his drinking problem.

"I couldn't handle it," he admitted. "Now I just have a little wine before dinner or a beer now and then if I feel like it."

The greatest boost for his morale has been the improvement in his acting career. He owes it to Minna Wallis, an agent who managed Van Johnson's career, among others. She's the sister of producer Hal Wallis.

Since high school days, Eddie had gone to school with the producer's son, Mrs. Wallis, formerly comedienne Louise Fazenda, interested her sister-in-law in Eddie's problems. Minna took him under her wing, quickly got him roles in two Climax TV shows and in a war film, "The Screaming Eagles."

He did a lot of TV shows in New York and toured in the road company of "A Streetcar Named Desire." But until recently his Hollywood career has never gotten off the ground.

METO Nations Herald Success

Organizational Session Links Pakistan-Turkey Defense Borders

BAGHDAD (INS) — The five delegates of the permanent council of the new Middle East Treaty Organization (METO) have agreed unanimously their organizational meetings "had been most successful."

The premiers of four Middle East nations—Iraq, Turkey, Iran and Pakistan—and Britain's council and military and economic committees.

METO forms another link in the chain of defense alliances around the perimeter of the Communist world and aimed at containing aggression by the Soviet states.

The new pact unites North Atlantic Treaty member Turkey with Southeast Asia treaty member Pakistan.

The communique issued at the end of two days of talks came at the same time as a U.S. pledge to maintain close liaison with the permanent council and the military committee.

The communique also stated the member nations' determination to promote security in the area just south of Russia while working towards the peaceful prosperity of the Middle East.

Gas Pipelines Expand

FORT WORTH — The gas industry has had a phenomenal growth since World War II, with an average of 15,000 miles of gas pipeline being laid each year. Today the gas industry is the largest single source of business for manufacturers of stationary engines.

Actress Awarded Higher Child Support Payments

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Actress Coleen Gray has won an increase in child support payments from her former husband and court backing in her desire that her daughter should attend a private school.

Domestic Relations court Commissioner Victor Hayek ruled yesterday that her former husband, TV director Rodney J. Amateau, be ordered to pay a minimum of $200 a month child support.

Hayek agreed with Miss Gray that the child, Susan, 9, is unusually gifted and should continue to attend private, rather than public school.

Divorce Is Awarded to TV Announcer's Wife

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The wife of George Fisher, radio and TV Hollywood commentator, has divorced him with testimony that "too much Hollywood" was the cause of the breakup of their marriage.

Mrs. Mary Fisher was granted an uncontested divorce Tuesday after she told the court: "He sometimes drank to excess, and he didn't come home nights. He dated other women and he upset me mentally."

Airman Won't Forget San Francisco Bay Dip

ALAMEDA, Calif. (INS) — Airman like to remember the times they have walked away from plane crashes but Navy Lt. (JG) Robert B. Lindsay did something different.

He swam away to safety Tuesday when his F9F-4 Cougar jet overshoot the landing strip at Alameda Naval Air Station and crashed into San Francisco Bay.

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
WASHINGTON (INS)—Failure of the Geneva Conference has forced the Eisenhower administration to make the most agonizing reappraisal of all on both domestic and foreign policies.

Some administration officials believe the new form of the Russian Cold war threat is so dangerous that the U.S. may be forced to break with at least one of the most sacred traditions.

This tradition is that any American has the right to choose his way of making a living.

They think that it may become necessary in the national interests to order farmers to quit growing rice, for instance, in California and Louisiana because their exports are pushing Burma into the arms of the Communists economically and perhaps politically.

CLEVELAND — Tests show that white is tops in reflection qualities, returning 80 per cent of the light beamed in its direction.

Light ivory and cream rank second, with a score of about 70 per cent. Apricot beige and lemon yellow reflect about 65 per cent and ivory and light buff 55 to 65 per cent.

MEXICO CITY—Mexico is planning to increase newsprint production by 50 per cent and to become self-sufficient in this commodity by 1959.

Two new plants, one under construction and the other in the planning stage, will have a combined output of 65,000 tons a year—equivalent to Mexico's present newsprint consumption from all sources.

cold war tactics to a most imaginative new line.

RUSSIAN ACTIONS

They and their Chinese allies have:

1. Bought large quantities of Burmese rice surpluses even though much of it is so spoiled it cannot be eaten.
2. "Promised the world" to underdeveloped countries in the way of economic and technical aid. These promises include such major projects as an Indian steel mill and the tremendous Nile River dam the Egyptians want to build.

3. Moved in on the Ceylon rubber market by paying five per cent premiums above world prices.
4. Peddled obsolete surplus arms to Egypt and offered them to other Arab countries in an effort to get a political foothold.
5. Slashed prices on export goods. China recently sold Burma $25,000 worth of flashlight batteries at half the price the U.S. could offer.

This new character of the cold war has forced the Eisenhower administration to consider some unpleasant conclusions and ques-

The most unpleasant conclusion of all is that the Russians are leading from strength, not from weakness as some had hoped. One highly placed, well informed of-

"We realize now that there are no internal pressures within the Soviet Union or its satellites that are strong enough to force the Communists to make concessions to us."

He explained that there are pressures, but that the Soviets have the situation well under control.

The questions the Eisenhower administration is trying to answer affect the daily life of Americans. They include:

1. Can there be tax cuts, defense spending cuts, foreign aid cuts and a balanced budget? More and more administration leaders are saying "no" to that question.

2. Must there be greatly increased foreign aid spending? An increasing number of administration officials answer that one with a "yes."

3. Must free enterprise be somewhat curtailed in the United States for patriotic reasons? Can American competition continue to exert pressure on the rice merchants of Burma, the tuna fishermen of Japan, the rubber growers of Ceylon and the cotton men of Egypt to look to the Communists for their only markets? These are the toughest questions of all and so far have only limited support.

Congress has the final answer to these questions. Eisenhower must decide whether he wants to ask Congress for support of a program that not only would increase living costs* for all Americans but would force some Americans to change their way of earning a living.

One official said that it is possible if the President approves the program that he will go to the people to explain why a sort of mobilization is necessary to wage the cold war in its new form.

The official said he was certain that the American people would understand if the President told them the earlier hopes for tax cuts and a balanced budget were founded on what turned out to be the main hope that Russia was ready to be more conciliatory.

The official said that instead of being more conciliatory, the Russians have increased pressure in a different form.

This interpretation of the situation and of a possible move by the President jibes with what Eisenhower told Secretary Dulles Friday at Gettysburg. At that time the President tried to rally the people for what lies ahead by saying:

"I know that no setback, no obstacle to progress will ever deter this government and our people from the great effort to establish a just and durable peace."

"Success may be long in coming, but there is no temporal force so capable of helping achieve it as the strength, the might, the spirit of 165 million free Americans. "In striving toward this shining goal, this country will never admit defeat."

Admiral Suggests Women Undertake Technical Training for Good of Country

EAST ORANGE, N. J. (INS) — Rear Admiral H. G. Rickover has suggested American women may have to enter the technical professions in large numbers to prevent Russia from taking the world scientific lead.

Rickover, director of the Navy's nuclear division and builder of the atomic submarine "Nautilus," said that at the present rate in education Russia will have passed the U. S. by 1960 in total numbers of scientists and engineers.

He continued: "The Russian approach to education is a total approach . . . women constitute one-half of the total in the professions."

"In contrast, in the U.S. this is but a fraction of one per cent. Can we continue to neglect so large a potential of trained personnel?"

Rickover, speaking at a luncheon sponsored by the Thomas A. Edison Foundation, advocated a far-reaching program to improve the quality and quantity of American Education.

1. Industry and labor organizations should contribute to the financial support of education, to see to it that every young man and woman who is qualified obtains a college education.

2. Teachers' salaries should be "increased drastically." He said the movement away from the teaching profession has actually begun and it looks as though it will continue at an increasingly rapid rate.

3. The school year should be increased from 180 to about 210 class days. Rickover said that in Europe, including Russia, students attend school six days a week, but school year should be achieved in the U. S.

4. High school should be of two kinds, one having higher standards, with the brighter students assigned to the more difficult schools. Rickover contended this would aid both the precocious and the slow student.

The speaker declared it is unsafe to assume that American education and American graduates are necessarily superior to their counterparts in Russia.

His own investigations have indicated, he said that U. S. education now costs nine times as much and takes twice as long but is only "a little better" than it was 75 years ago.

Rickover said more than half of the high school students today get little or no training in physics, chemistry, algebra and geometry.

2 Competitors Say GM Is Fair

Independent Auto Parts Makers Testify About Big Firm's Business

WASHINGTON (AP)—Spokesmen for two independent auto parts manufacturers say they consider General Motors Corp. "a fair and ethical competitor."

That testimony, at variance from that heard earlier by a Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee, came late yesterday from Robert W. Murphy, an official for the Thompson Products Co., Cleveland.

Both companies make parts for General Motors cars and also sell independent of GM—their own replacements for such parts.

The subcommittee, during the course of public hearings on the huge motor corporation, has been told by numerous witnesses that GM is squeezing out competition in many industrial fields.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), chairman of the subcommittee, has termed the hearing "a study rather than an investigation."

O'Mahoney said he feels, however, that unless the government acts GM will attain complete domination of the automobile industry. Asserting the evidence to date indicate a "very high degree" of such control by GM, O'Mahoney said:

"If we don't have regulation by government we will have control by General Motors." He suggested strengthening the antitrust laws as a possible solution.

Murphy and Clarke said their firms do a multi-million dollar annual business with GM divisions while competing with GM in making and selling replacements for the corporation's cars.

Borg-Warner makes clutches, automatic transmission, radiator, gears and many other auto parts for various GM divisions.

Thompson supplies GM with valves, pistons, bearings and similar parts.

U.S. Aiding Malayan Water Supply Project

MALAYA—A technique new to Malaya has been adopted, with United States aid, for that country's most important water supply project, in the Klang River Valley.

It involves a dam in the Klang Gorge to make a reservoir to supply water to the rapidly growing city of Kuala Lumpur.

Under the new technique, designed by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation, the stone, sand and water will be cooled before being mixed with cement to form the concrete, thus reducing the possibility of the concrete's cracking as it sets.

For this purpose a large refrigerating plant will be installed on the site. Another innovation will be an "air entraining" agent forming millions of minute air bubbles in the cement and improving its workability.

Banner Housing Year Foreseen for Nation

WASHINGTON (INS)—Another banner year for the housing industry is in prospect in 1936.

Looking into the future, housing economists are confident the U. S. will produce 1,300,000 new dwellings this year despite recent government moves to curb home buying credit.

And the experts say there is no question but that the industry will produce better than 1,200,000 new homes in the new year with the accent on bigger and better quarters.

The all-time record year for the industry occurred in 1929 when at least 1,400,000 new dwellings were started.

Protection of Homes Is FHA Study Goal

WASHINGTON (INS)—Landscape, hot water heaters and termites are the latest targets of the Federal Housing Administration's program designed to improve the quality of new home construction.

FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason has established new study groups to provide home owners with better protection against termites, longer-lasting water heaters and improved home sites.

Officials say the results of the studies will be available early next year when the agency expects to make changes in its minimum property standards to pass the benefits of the research on to home buyers.

Fighting Sikhs Call Crusade

Indian Group Wanting Separate Political State as Tension Mounts

WASHINGTON — The Sikhs, famed the world over as turbulent fighting men, are calling for a place of their own in the complex political mosaic that is the young Republic and Union of India.

Earlier this year demonstrations for a separate Punjabi-speaking state that would be dominated by Sikhs led to repeated mass arrests. Following an old Indian custom, more than 7,000 defiant slogan shouters went voluntarily to jail—many courting arrest after colorful ceremonies in the opulent setting of their ancient Golden Temple at Amritsar. Recently the slogan ban was lifted, but the Punjabi-speaking state remains unrealized.

The Sikhs have been called the "sect that became a people," says the National Geographic Society. Their religion, a Hindu reform movement including elements of both Moslems and Hindu beliefs, was founded nearly 500 years ago. Today there are some 6,000,000 Sikhs in India, mostly in Punjab states of the plains-an mountain region of the northwest.

The founder of Sikhism (from the Sanskrit word for "disciple") was a simple Punjabi known as Guru, or Teacher, Nanak. Born in 1469, he preached on one supreme God and the falseness of ritual and caste restriction. Tolerance, virtue and peace-through brotherhood were his goals.

The faith won many converts but little place. Foreign invasions and local religious and political conflicts soon turned the Sikhs into a militant fraternity. Under warrior-leader Govind Singh, 10th and last Guru, they became armed crusaders, disciplined to iron courage.

STRUGGLE ON PLAINS
After Govind's assassination in 1708, the Sikhs were in turn conquered and conquerors in the endless struggles of the plains. As "Lords of the Punjab" between 1799 and 1849, they held most of northwest India.

In their religion the Sikhs still follow the five rules of dress laid down by Govind Singh in 1699. Linked with soldier's garb and tradition, these precepts are called the Five K's, for the first letter of the articles involved. The devout Sikh must always wear a sword or dagger, shorts and a steel bangle. He must wear a special comb in his hair and never cut either hair or beard.

Thus the tall, dark and powerful Sikh, his beard neatly parted and rolled to frame his handsome features, twists his long hair in a feminine bun under his towering turban.

The prescribed ensemble identifies him to friend or enemy wherever he goes.

Mobile Sidewalk System Studied by Subway Men
AURORA, Ill. (INS)—New York transportation experts recently journeyed to Aurora, Ill., to see an underground "moving sidewalk" which could replace Manhattan's congested subway shuttle carrying commuters between Times Square and Grand Central Station.

The device, called a Carveyor, is based on a system used in industry to transport bulk cargo. It consists of steel or aluminum cars mounted on a conveyor belt which moves constantly.

The Carveyor was proposed by the New York transit authority to provide more efficient travel. Officials estimate the 2,650 feet trip between Grand Central and Times Square would take only two minutes.

Passengers enter and leave cars on a loading belt which operates at the speed of one-and-one-half miles an hour. When the cars pass the loading platform, the doors close automatically and cars pick up speed.

Gov. George N. Craig called out 85 officers and men of Co. D, 152nd Infantry, from Connersville, 30 miles away, after a wave of window smashings and shotgunnings of nonstrikers' homes.

$500,000 Distributed
—LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—More than $500,000 was distributed yesterday among 117 policemen and 124 firemen. The average payment was $2,100. The money had been deducted from the pay of the firemen and policemen since 1951 for a pension plan which recently was held invalid by the California Supreme Court.

At least one familiar table item—salt—has not been affected by rising prices. The price today is 7 1/2 cents per pound, the same as consumers paid in 1912.

SQUEEZE! — This huge closed die forging press, biggest industrial machine ever built, stands imposingly in an aircraft plant at Grafton, Mass. Ten stories high and boasting a 50,000-ton "squeezing" power, the giant press is turning out airplane parts at the plant operated for the Air Force by Wyman-Gordon Company. It took 17 months to assemble the press, which weighs 10,605 tons. Some 48 feet above the operating floor and more than 60 feet below it, the press is suspended in a 100-foot-deep pit.

Experts Split on 'Death' of Old New Orleans Jazz

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The cradle of jazz is still rocking. But the rocking may put the baby to sleep. All kinds of signs indicate New Orleans jazz has vitality. There also are lots of signs the city's jazz is about as vital as a mummy. It depends on the people you talk to.

"It's never been better," says George Blanchin, president of the New Orleans Jazz Club.

"Oh, yes, it's dying out," says Lewis quietly. "After us, there's no more."

OTHER VARIETY
The second variety is Dixieland — the Negro music dressed up and made popular by white performers.

Old-time New Orleans jazz and Dixieland musicians never rehearsed, always improvised and almost always played together without solos. When they listen to the many bands playing on Bourbon Street, musicians like Lewis are distressed because the music sounds well-rehearsed and dependent on the soloist.

The future of jazz depends on the fledglings. A number of the white jazz musicians are men in their 20s and even younger white musicians sometimes sit in with the bands. But Lewis at 55, is almost young among the Negroes.

HINTS SERVILITY
Lewis explains that swing music in the 1930s caused a break in the stream of jazz. Youngsters heard swing and lost touch with old New Orleans jazz.

But there may be another reason, "I asked a colored disk jockey about it once," says Mrs. Myra Menville, secretary of the jazz club, "and he said the young colored boys don't like jazz because it smacks too much of chains and slavery and all that stuff."

"New Orleans just isn't proud of its jazz," she says, a little helplessly. "Lord knows, the rest of the world is."
