Area Residents Show Press Carrier Their Appreciation

Yesterday was just like Christmas morning for 13-year-old Bill Larson of Waterford Township. When he stepped off the school bus at Lochaven and Elizabeth Lake roads, his grateful Pontiac Press customers presented him with a brand new bicycle.

Every day except Sundays for more than two years the Pierce Junior High School honor roll student has plodded about through every kind of weather to deliver the news.

Newspapers were carefully placed inside screen or storm doors. If people wanted their papers saved while on vacation, young Bill would stack them in the garage or other specified place.

These little gestures didn't go unnoticed. A fund raising campaign for a bike was put into action two weeks ago spearheaded by John W. McGee of 715 Elizabeth Lake Road, an Oakland County sheriff's deputy.

Santa Comes Early With Steady Jobs

A lot of Pontiac area people are getting mighty big Christmas presents this year. They're getting a steady job.

With Pontiac Motor Division and Fisher Body Division hiring some 1,250 hourly rated employees to meet increased production schedules, there's going to be a Christmas for lots more tots after all.

There'll be at least 10 additional bright eyes come Christmas morn in Pontiac. These will belong to the five children of Rayner C. McKee and Eugene Daniels.

Both fathers are typical of the many who were out of work when the local plants started hiring last week.

Daniels, 35, of 500 S. Paddock St., has two sons, ages 11 months and 3 years.

"This is the first steady job I've had in four years," said Daniels. "It sure makes me feel fine."

"BEST PRESENT"
Daniels had been working odd jobs. This week he gets his first paycheck. "It's just about the best Christmas present I ever got. Now I can buy a few things for my wife and kids."

McKee, 29, of 558 Valencia Drive, has three children: a boy, 1, and two daughters, 5 and 6.

"I've been looking for steady work since September. Things looked pretty dim for Christmas until Pontiac Motor started hiring."

"I went over to the employment office and tried, but it was no dice at first. I kept coming back until they said okay," McKee said.

"I started working the 13th. That's one 12 that sure wasn't unlucky for me," he added with a big smile.

Both men are metal press operators in Plant No. 14.

Most banks in the Pontiac area will observe their normal Friday and Saturday hours. City Hall offices will reopen Tuesday, as they will for the New Year weekend.

Since Christmas Eve falls on a Sunday this year, most stores in downtown Pontiac, the Tel-Huron Shopping Center and Miracle Mile Shopping Center will have three or four more hours of business this week.

They will remain open until 9 p.m. and in some cases 10 p.m. Saturday.

Arrival of Winter Is Official Tonight
Of Man Winter will arrive quietly in Pontiac tonight "midst cloudy skies and temperatures in the mid-20s."

The weathermen say officially the time is 9:30 p.m. when the sun will reach its southernmost position over the earth — a point in the sky known as the winter solstice.

There's a chance of light snow and a high of 23 Friday afternoon. Saturday may be a little colder with snow flurries likely.

The lowest mercury reading before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac was 24 degrees. The thermometer registered 28 at 2 p.m.

Tshombe Signs Peace Pact

Civil War Over in the Congo

U.S. Welcomes African Nation's New Contract

But Optimism Guarded; Parley Held at Request of Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials welcomed with guarded optimism today the reported agreement between the Congo's central government and Moise Tshombe, secessionist leader of Katanga.

"The road ahead is still a rocky one," a high-ranking official commented. "What we hope is that Katanga will live up to the agreement."

There was no immediate official reaction. The State Department was waiting for a report from Ambassador Edmund A. Gullison, who arranged the talks between Tshombe and Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula at President Kennedy's request.

Commenting on news dispatches from Leopoldville, one department specialist in African affairs said the Tshombe-Adoula agreement seemed "too good to be true."

GIVES IN TO U.N.
He said the eight points of the agreement appeared to represent Tshombe's acceptance of the position of the central Congo government.

Tshombe in general agreed to recognize the central authority of the Congo government and of President Joseph Kasavubu, as well as to abide by actions of the United Nations.

The specialist noted that one part of the draft agreement indicates that Adoula is prepared to discuss a new constitution for the Congo, probably allowing some measure of autonomy for the individual provinces, including Katanga.

This would be in accordance with Washington's views on a federalist reorganization of the Congo replacing the present strongly centralized form of government.

U.S. officials in this respect referred to a speech Undersecretary of State George W. Ball made Tuesday in Los Angeles. He said that "There may be a case for injecting an element of decentralization in a country of the size of the Congo."

But despite the Tshombe agreement, officials cautioned that more difficulties lay ahead. They do not question Tshombe's good faith, but explained that Tshombe will be likely to face a tough task in overcoming expected opposition in Elisabethville.

Kennedy visited his father, Joseph P. Kennedy, at St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach, Fla., for a half hour before taking off for Bermuda at 9:51 a.m. He said his father's condition appeared to be "about the same."

The President returns to Palm Beach Friday evening but will be kept informed about his father's condition during his rendezvous with Macmillan.

If necessary, he could fly back to Florida in little more than two hours.

Kennedy's plane arrived at 11:55 a.m. (Pontiac time).

The President stepped out on a wind-swept field and was greeted by the governor general, Sir Julian Cascoyne. The combined bands of the Bermuda Rifles and Bermuda militia burst into the national anthem while an honor guard resplendent in scarlet uniforms, snapped to attention. A small but enthusiastic crowd burst into applause. Most of them pointed cameras at the President.

Besides reviewing the Berlin and German question, Kennedy and Macmillan are expected to say considerable attention to the Congo question, nuclear weapons and the future of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). It is also likely they will take a long, careful look at the role of the so-called neutral

Exile Says Over 25,000 Involved

Claims Battles Raging in Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A military leader of the Cuban revolution, now in exile, said bloody fighting has involved rebel guerrillas and 25,000 Fidel Castro troops in Central Cuba's mountains.

The Cuban radio ridiculed the statement made by Maj. Eloy Gutierrez Menoyo.

Gutierrez Menoyo called a news conference Wednesday and said that fierce combat was in progress.

He said the eight points of the agreement appeared to represent Tshombe's acceptance of the position of the central Congo government.

Katanga Chief Finally Agrees to Central Rule

Secession of Province to Be Concluded; Awaits Supporters' Approval

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe agreed today to end the secession of his wealthy Katanga province but said that his supporters in Elisabethville must approve before the agreement is carried out.

Tshombe and Premier Cyrille Adoula of the central Congo concluded the pact to restore unity in the Congo after more than 15 hours of negotiations at the U.N. military base at Kitona.

They promptly flew off to their respective capitals of Elisabethville and Leopoldville.

Tshombe signed an eight-point declaration which was presented formally to the United Nations. Its text, announced by the central Congo government, was brief and in skeleton form. It said: "The president of the province of Katanga . . .

"1. Accepts the application of the fundamental law of May 19, 1960, the Congo's provisional constitution under which Katanga is a province and not an independent or autonomous state."

"2. Recognizes the indivisible unity of the Republic of the Congo."

"3. Recognizes President Joseph Kasavubu as chief of state."

"4. Recognizes the authority of the central government over all parts of the republic."

"5. Agrees to the participation of representatives of the province of Katanga in a government constitution to prepare a new constitution."

"6. Agrees to take all measures to permit senators and deputies of Katanga Province to exercise the national functions, that is, participate in the national parliament."

"7. Agrees that the gendarmerie of Katanga shall be placed under the authority of the president of the republic."

"8. Agrees to see that the resolutions of the U.N. Security Council and General Assembly are respected and to facilitate their execution."

"Signed Tshombe."

Tshombe before leaving Kitona told newsmen the declaration would have to be ratified by his cabinet and the Katanga Assembly. But a U.N. spokesman asserted: "As far as we are concerned, it is signed, sealed and delivered. There is no question of ratification."

Doctors Hold Consultation on Ailing Joseph Kennedy
WEST PALM BEACH (AP)—Physicians attending Joseph P. Kennedy, including a specialist called in from New York, held a 50-minute consultation today on the condition of the President's gravely ill father.

The President, his wife Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, and three others of the immediate family visited at St. Mary's Hospital during the morning.

From the President and others who would comment came word that the 73-year-old patient's condition was unchanged.

Dr. William T. Foley of New York, a specialist in obstructions of the blood vessels, came to the hospital for the consultation. Three Palm Beach physicians also are on the case.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy visited her father-in-law not long after the President had stopped in for half an hour before going to the airport to fly to Bermuda for his meeting with British Prime Minister Macmillan.

She left, looking grave, and said that one of the Kennedy daughters, Patricia, Mrs. Peter Lawford, was still upstairs with her father.

The elder Kennedy has been able at times to recognize members of the family, but has not been able to speak.

He is also partially paralyzed on the right side from the effects of a blood clot in the brain after the stroke he suffered Tuesday.

Shoves Him and Calls Newsman Rude After Question on Goa

NEW YORK (UPI)—Indian diplomat V. K. Krishna Menon, apparently testy over his nation's delicate position on Goa, flared in anger Wednesday and shoved a UPI Movieview reporter who questioned him about aggression.

Menon, facing a battery of TV cameras and microphones wheeled on Amel J. Fisher of UPI Movieview after the reporter asked India's occupation of the Portuguese enclaves was aggression.

"What would you call it then?" Fisher asked.

"What do you mean?" Menon snapped, pushing Fisher with his hand. "You can't talk to me like that. Speak politely. Who do you think you are? You have no right to be here if you address me in that fashion."

Still flustered, Menon flashed an eye smile and turned to face the cameras again, saying "I am sorry this gentleman was rude."

Fisher replied he meant no offense and offered apologies. Later Menon brushed aside the incident and shook hands with Fisher.

Menon's remarks were made at a stormy airport news conference in which a TV cameraman collapsed and died. Menon, India's chief U.N. delegate, was in the defense minister, was on his way to the United Nations.

ADLAI'S WARNING

The flare-up over the issue of aggression started when Menon was questioned about U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's warning in the Security Council that U.N. failure to criticize India threatened the future of the United Nations.

A few minutes after the news conference was concluded, TV cameraman Al Hoffman of New York collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Hellman, a freelance photographer on assignment for NBC, fell right after the conference, but rejected immediate aid from a physician, saying, "I'm all right, Doc. But get yourself another patient. I'm okay." Minutes later he collapsed again and died.

India Reports Goa Returning to Normal

NEW DELHI, India (UP)—Goa's docks are working normally now and ships caught there by India's invasion are free to sail, a Defense Ministry spokesman said today. Telephone and telegraph services remain to be restored.

Full casualty reports are still awaited, the spokesman said, but the number killed on each side in the two-day war over Portugal's possessions on the subcontinent "can't exceed 25 or 30." He said each side may have had several hundred wounded.

About 3,500 Portuguese troops have been reported captured.

OFFER REPATRIATION

India "would be glad to repatriate Portuguese nationals if Portugal desires," the spokesman said, adding that it was up to Lisbon to ask for the prisoners.

Indian army engineers continued clearing road mines and working to restore transport and communications facilities.

Official reports reaching Bombay claimed Portuguese troops carried out a scorched earth policy in Goa, blowing up bridges, roads and buildings before resistance collapsed late Tuesday after a 48-hour attack.

'Castro, U.S. Friends Planned Invasion'

The Cuba invasion was planned by Castro and his friends in our government to stop the Communists from taking over the world and have it disappear and have freedom revived, is to stop helping them." Welch said, "If our government would stop the Communist advance would be stopped in six months; in another month, the Communist would be in Latin America; to reduce U.S. prestige, and to expose present thousands of patriotic Cuban citizens for the purpose of killing off future resistance."

State Board Confends Bus Line Can't Go Out of Business

LANSING (U) — The State Public Service Commission is sticking by its contention that the Intertown Bus Lines Corporation cannot go out of business without an order from the commission.

The bus firm, which serves 14 communities deservier from Detroit, currently is operating under a court order.

The company had contended it could go out of business as of the first of the year because it had not applied for a renewal of its operating certificate for next year.

The commission said it was renewing the certificate anyway "in the public interest."

The firm also filed a new time schedule with the commission cancelling out the previous time schedule of bus runs.

The commission held that the failure of the firm to file for an application for renewal and the submission of a new time schedule cancelling out former runs put the company in double violation of an Oct. 18 commission order that service be continued.

Traffic Signs Specially Made for Motorists

NEW YORK (UPI) — Attention all motorists!

Never again will you be able to convince even a soft-hearted motorcycle cop — if there is one — that you didn't see the speed limit sign you roared past at 70 miles an hour.

Signs ordering the nation's 70 million motorists to "go slow," "increase speed," "slow," "no turn" or "no turn" along 3.5 million miles of expressway, turnpikes, roads and streets have been a so scientifically designed and mounted that if they really cannot see them, you probably shouldn't be driving at all.

Engineers spent months working out road sign specifications just approved by the American Standards Association for nationwide use. Their report aims to standardize road signs so they are the same in Des Moines and Los Angeles and in New York and New Orleans. Motorists may take road signs for granted, but they are scientific developments as far as highway experts are concerned.

Behind every sign, there is a comprehensive analysis of road conditions, traffic volume and safety factors. Engineers considered every possible highway condition and hazard in arriving at their recommendations.

Every sign must fill an important need, command attention, convey a clear, simple meaning, be still respect and be placed where drivers have time to respond.

The engineers determined that white letters on black or another dark background were more readable than the reverse. They recommended that abbreviations be kept to a minimum and that the lettering be in clear, open capital letters coated with a "reflecting" substance for night drivers.

While the engineers called for plenty of signs to keep motorists on the alert, they warned against use of too many. Signs lose their effectiveness when they are posted close together. Drivers simply stop noticing them after a while.

X15 Plane Tests New Controls

3rd Such Rocket-Craft Takes Maiden Flight to Try Automatic Device

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)—A third X15 rocket plane has taken to the air and made the first test of new controls for space flight.

Pilot Neil A. Armstrong of the U.S. space agency flew the ship at 2,454 miles per hour and to an altitude of 80,000 feet in an 11-minute maiden flight Wednesday.

There was no attempt to go higher or faster. The two other X15s hold the world records for both speed and altitude.

The flight tested a computer-like device that automatically overrides jets in the nose and wings to correct deviations in space flight faster than a man can think. Heretofore the pilot has had to operate the control jets manually. They are needed because of the rare atmosphere at high altitudes. Armstrong expressed satisfaction with the performance.

Tug, Tanker Collide in Heavy Lake Snow

LELAND (AP)—A snow-shrouded collision on Lake Michigan was disclosed as the tanker Pleiades abandoned the 38-foot fishing tug Goodwill into Leland Township.

Two men aboard the tug, Pete Carlson and his uncle, Gordon Carlson, escaped injury but their boat required drydocking for repairs.

The goodwilled rammed the right side of the Pleiades about six miles off Leland in a snowstorm Tuesday. Pete Carlson said he believed the Cleveland-Tanker Co. ship was unaware of the collision until it overheard the Goodwill's radio distress call.

The tanker turned about and shepherded the Goodwill to port.

Firms Charged for Cuba Deals

18 Companies Involved as U.S. Claims Illegal Air, Auto Part Dealings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government has accused 18 firms and individuals of illegally shipping aircraft and automotive parts and other equipment into Cuba by way of Mexico. It issued orders barring the group from any U.S. export dealings for 90 days.

The orders, put out by the Commerce Department Wednesday, named a California import-export firm, a Texas businessman and several Mexican companies.

INTERCEPT $46,000
The department said the shipments involved were worth more than $300,000 but that more than $45,000 in equipment has been intercepted in Mexico and returned to the United States.

The U.S. firm named in the orders was EMDA Import and Export Co., Inc. of North Hollywood, Calif., owned by a Mexican citizen, Victor Hernandez Rodriguez.

Michigan to Hire Rec Director

Governor Reveals Plan to Initiate Statewide Development Program

LANSING (AP)—The State Conservation Department is going to hire a top-level authority on recreation to develop a statewide recreation program, Gov. Swainson said today.

Swainson called the conservation commission's decision to employ a recreation specialist "a big step forward" in his plan "to utilize our recreation resources rather than merely conserve them."

The governor, in proposing the program several months ago, asserted that state government should do more to promote development of recreation facilities and services through the state.

"At that time," he said, "I urged development of a state recreation plan to serve as a guide to public and private agencies to provide the future recreation needs of the state."

"This would involve long-range planning with all levels of government: study and development of lands for recreation; encouragement of private recreation development as well as many other areas of planning."

The conservation commission presented the governor last month with its blueprint for a recreation program, utilizing services of the department and requiring additional personnel.

"But, of course, the problem is where to get the money," said Commissioner Stanley A. Cain of Ann Arbor after a special meeting of the commission with the governor Wednesday.

Holiday Bonus Ordered for All Cuban Workers

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—The Cuban council of Ministers has ordered a holiday bonus for all workers and pensioners so they can "enjoy the first Socialist Christmas." Havana Radio reported Wednesday.

The bonus ranges from $10 for domestic servants to $50 for public employees in higher salary brackets.

However, recent Cuban broadcasts have indicated there may not be much to buy with the bonuses. Citizens are being urged to do as little holiday purchasing as possible so there will be enough goods to go around.

The Fidel Castro regime also has called on Cubans to go without their traditional Christmas Eve feast of sucking pig. Hog slaughter has been banned to build up the nation's swine herds.

MASS ORIENTATION—Fifty-four young American priests kneel during the ceremony in which they were ordained at St. Peter's Basilica in Vatican City Wednesday. In past years the ceremony has been held in the college chapel.

Suit Against Actor Settled Out of Court

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Lili Karndell has settled out of court her $60,450 battery suit against her former fiancé, actor Troy Donahue.

Counsel for the Swedish-born actress announced Wednesday that agreement was reached but declined to state the amount.

A spokesman for Warner Bros., where Donahue appears in the television show "Surfside 6," said the settlement was nominal.

Miss Karndell charged in a Superior Court suit that Donahue beat her in a fight at his home in West Hollywood last August.

Deer Didn't Get a Buck at Eastern Loan Office

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 125-pound deer burst through the swinging door of a loan company in the city's busy Chestnut Hill section Wednesday, raced across the lobby, and then dashed into a parking lot.

Seconds later the deer bounded back into the lobby. It visited several offices before a janitor managed to slam the door of an imprisoning it. The SPCA took the deer away.

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Fred Dana Marsh, 89, sculptor, artist and architect, died Wednesday after a long illness. Marsh, who retired in 1928, was the father of Reginald Marsh, illustrator, cartoonist and painter, who died in 1954.

Belgian Lawmakers Refuse U. N. Money

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The Senate Wednesday refused to approve an additional $3 million francs ($700,000) in Belgium's regular contribution to the United Nations.

The Senate also rejected another 2.5 million francs ($500,000) requested as an additional contribution to the U.N. military operations in the Congo.

Belgium has been angered by U.N. use of force in its former colony. There have been demands in parliament that Belgium halt all U.N. contributions.

Hold Back River at Record Level

1,000 Apparently Win Struggle to Stop Flood in Jackson, Miss.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Battling workmen staved off the biggest flood punch of swollen Pearl River today, as the muddy stream reached a record level.

More than 1,000 National Guardsmen, convicts and volunteers labored through a subfreezing night at the Flooded Industrial community to sandbag leaky levees. They apparently had won their battle.

Closing two floodgates at the incomplete Pearl River reservoir dam just upstream slowed the rise and enabled workmen to keep up with leaks and overflow.

More than 1,500 have been forced from their homes in the Jackson area by the Pearl, and another 850 have been ordered to leave at Floodway, just across the river from Jackson, but most stayed on there to try to save their homes.

All factories in the Floodway area except a Knox glass plant were closed. Some of the 2,000 workers joined the fight against the river. Gov. Ross Barnett ordered 100 more convicts from the state penitentiary to join 200 already manning the levees along with National Guard troops.

Dies Following Third Heart Attack

Moss Hart's Life Went From Poverty to Success

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—Playwright Moss Hart, a child of poverty who could have written nothing more remarkable than his own success story, is dead of a heart attack.

Hart, whose genius brought him from the gloom of New York's slums to the glamour of its Great White Way, collapsed Wednesday at his winter home in this desert resort.

Hart, 57, had been suffering pain in his jaw and was going to see his dentist. "Mr. Hart was walking in his car when he fell straight back," said his agent, Irving Lazar. "He was taken to the house and the doctor came to give artificial respiration and an injection. But Mr. Hart didn't respond."

MANY SUCCESSES

His death came only six months after that of George S. Kaufman, with whom he collaborated on such classic theater comedies as "The Man Who Came to Dinner," "You Can Take It With You." Hart also was a director of such Broadway musical successes as "Carnegie" and "My Fair Lady," both still running—the latter since 1956.

This was his third heart attack. He had been ill several days but it was his jaw, not his heart, that seemed to be troubling him.

His wife, actress-singer Kitty Carlisle, left the television panel show "To Tell the Truth" in New York to accompany him West several weeks ago.

Their children, Christopher, 13, and Cathy, 11, also were here. So was composer Frederick Lewis, who worked with Hart on "My Fair Lady."

'UNRELIEVED POVERTY'

Hart once recalled that he grew up "in an atmosphere of unrelieved poverty." His father, an English Jew, made a bare living as a cigar maker. His mother took in boarders at their flat in the Bronx.

When he was only 12, Hart left school out of financial necessity. He first worked in the storage vault of a wholesale furrier. There, he said, "it was cool and I had ample time to read."

FIRST FLOP AT 17

Several years later he became

an office boy for theatrical producer August Pitou. At 17, he wrote his first play, "Beloved Bandit," and Pitou produced it. It opened on the road, and closed on the road—a flop.

At 18, it seemed, Hart was a literary failure. He got a job at a department store floor walker.

But he soon returned to the theater. He got some experience on the Borscht Circuit in the Catskills and presently another of his plays, "Once in a Lifetime," was accepted by producer Sam Harris. It was a straight play and Harris persuaded Hart to turn it into musical in collaboration with Kaufman, who was already famous. This was Hart's first major success. He remained a bachelor until 1936. Then, at age 42, he married Miss Carlisle. It was also her first marriage.

Lyndon Johnson at Pageant Says U.S. Seeks Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice president Lyndon B. Johnson has opened the eighth annual Pageant of Peace with the declaration that the United States "is dedicated to Christ's quest for peace."

Then, as dusk closed in on the capital Wednesday, the vice president pressed a button to light the national Christmas tree on the Ellipse, a park between the White House and the Washington Monument.

Johnson was substituting for President Kennedy, called away from Washington by the illness of his father, Joseph P. Kennedy.

Cleared of Charges in Fatal Accident

A Springfield Township man, accused of negligent homicide as the result of a fatal auto accident in Pontiac Dec. 13, was cleared of the charge in Municipal Court yesterday.

Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCullum dismissed the charge against Raymond E. Day, 31, 1301 1/2 Big Lake Road, for lack of evidence.

Pontiac police arrested Day after he was involved in a two-car collision at North Perry Street and Glenwood Avenue. His car crashed with one driven by James A. Lane, 51, of 76 S. Roselawn Drive, Pontiac. Lane was dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

Texans Will Soon Elect Rayburn's Replacement

For many years the late SAM RAYBURN represented Texas' Fourth Congressional District, and as one constituent told a reporter at his funeral, "Mr. RAYBURN always had time to look after his home folks."

Mr. SAM's seat in Congress is to be filled in a special election Dec. 23. As might be expected, Sam Rayburn is still very much in the thoughts of the voters; if there is an issue at all in the election it is who can best follow him in Congress.

Five Democrats are seeking to wrap themselves in the RAYBURN mantle. Fittingly enough, the two leading candidates are R. C. SLAEGE, an attorney who was Mr. RAYBURN's former campaign manager, and State Senator RAY ROBERTS, who once worked in the speaker's office in Washington.

One Republican, farmer Conner Harrington, is on the ballot. But unless he or one of the Democrats can pull a majority of the votes in Saturday's polling, a runoff between the two top vote getters is required by Texas law.

Few observers believe the good people of the Fourth District will disturb the tranquility of Mr. SAM's rest by sending a Republican to Congress.

Traditional Yule Trees Becoming Big Business

The Christmas tree season is here. It is an old Scandinavian and German custom that seems to have spread into England and the United States in the 19th century.

Today it is big business. It has taken on the aspects of an industry. Americans this year will spend well over $50 million on 40 to 45 million trees.

Trees on most markets wholesale from $1.50 to $1.75 which indicates no change in price over last year. Eighty-five per cent of all the trees sold are in these species: Douglas fir, Balsam, Fir, Black spruce, Red cedar, White spruce and Scotch pine.

Since the tremendous growth of the industry about 40 per cent of this year's yule trees will come from plantations as against five per cent five years ago. There are a number of large Christmas tree farms in northern Michigan.

For a long time Wooster, Ohio, claimed the honor of having had the first Christmas tree in the United States—decorated by a young German immigrant in 1847.

However, this honor has been challenged and researchers have turned up "first trees" in Philadelphia in 1834, Cincinnati in 1835 and Rochester in 1840. Take your pick.

Government Officials Should Get Together

Apparently our "new frontier" likes to play both sides of the record at once. At least that is what we would gather from two recent speeches by top government officials in Florida.

The administration recognizes the present danger of inflation as real and knows that besides the usual effect of robbing Americans of their savings, inflation would cause stepped up food outflow to foreign creditors.

President JOHN F. KENNEDY, in two speeches last week, recognized that a big push for higher wages can intensify the inflation peril. So, he asked members of the National Association of Manufacturers to think twice before increasing prices, and asked the AFL-CIO to keep their demands "reasonable."

The very next day, President KENNEDY's Secretary of Labor, ARTHUR GOLDBERG, said that what the boss meant was that there is plenty of room for wage increases within the government's economic policy.

In fact, he went a step further and said the administration would encourage unions to demand wage boosts beyond modest ones within the limits of increases in national productivity.

Somehow these statements don't jibe. Just which side of the record is our "new frontier" touting?

A Loyal Wife . . .

Approaching Day

Items incidental to the Soon Coming of Big Day

Late shopper: Usually one who always has been.

Thanks to the efforts of the Michigan Department of Conservation, it now appears that there will not be the usual wanton waste of northern grown Christmas trees this year.

Their distribution has largely been in accordance with population, and the supply level of any area's needs. In former years thousands of trees did not find a family purchaser, and were disposed of in bonfires.

The supply of home grown trees does not come under this regulation of the department, and may have a tendency to change the complexion of the outcome.

Trees grown from seedlings planted in the Pontiac area are meeting with a larger sale this year than ever before.

There's a heavy argument among the children in the neighborhood of

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reels of Rochester. With scanty material they built a snow man, but got into a jangle about his dimensions, and finally broke up he became he was "knock-kneed, flat-footed, cross-eyed and bald-headed."

A rather unique request comes from Scouty McPherson who has been sojourning in Florida. He's now ready to return home, and wants to, send him a road map showing the route that has the most gas wars on it.

The five-year-old son of

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Heakins of Waterford rushed the season and hung up his stocking Monday night. When he found it empty Tuesday morning, his comment was, "He flunked on what I wanted last year."

That we are to have a hard winter is the firm conviction of Gerald Bottlinger of Rochester, who bases his theory on a rather unique circumstance. A pair of squirrels who for several years have had their acorn storehouse under his garage floor put away only an average amount this fall. But they've now evidently changed their minds, and are trying to conserve them by beginning handouts at the kitchen door, the same as they have done other springs when their storage supply was exhausted.

Now celebrating their 56th wedding anniversary.

Nasser Is Guilty of Grave Blunder

WASHINGTON—President Nasser of Egypt has committed a grave blunder—possibly worse in its effect than Nasser's theft of the Portuguese territory of Goa. For the Egyptian dictator—by denying a Portuguese warship the right to go through the Suez Canal the other day violated his own pledge that, in operating the canal, his country would never interfere with the free passage of any vessels, unless Egypt itself were at war.

Does this mean that hereafter, to be protected against Nasser's partiality to this or that bloc in world affairs, the first step on the military agenda of a powerful nation must necessarily be to seize the Suez Canal?

The United States in 1956 frowned on the British-French attempt to seize the Suez Canal to protect their rights. The ill-fated expedition did result, nevertheless, in extracting a pledge from the Egyptian government that there would be no interference with the passage of any vessels, armed or unarmed, that might wish to go from the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean and back.

Not long ago, Prime Minister Nehru stopped off at Cairo to visit President Nasser. Presumably an agreement was made then that if Portugal attempted to come to the rescue of her nationals in Goa, the Egyptians would block passage of any Portuguese ship through the Suez Canal. Such a deal would imply that the head of the Indian government disclosed his plans for aggression, and that Nasser was, in effect, a party to them.

Plainly, this is a subject for inquiry by the United Nations, which, however, is torn apart nowadays by Soviet intrigue. The Moscow government currently is siding with Nehru and applauding his aggression in Goa. Alan there probably aren't enough affirmative votes in the General Assembly to approve the motion for such an inquiry.

DOMINATES U.S.

The Afro-Asian bloc today dominates the assembly, and more often than not this means that the Soviet Union to back its so-called "anti-colonial" maneuvers.

Sooner or later the United States will have to find some way to overcome the numerical barrier in the U.N. arising from the fact that there are now 104 members. Indeed, many of the new African states have hardly any literate population and could not possibly exist without foreign aid. Every so-called nation, whether or not capable of self-government or political autonomy, is given a vote equal to that of the United States.

The U.N. is faltering today because it does not stand up for moral principles. The basic reason for this is that it has admitted to the organization many nations without any real right to membership. The theory that any nation, irrespective of its capacity to discharge international obligations, must be given membership cannot accomplish much for world peace.

But these are things that should be aired inside the United Nations itself. The truth is the U.N. has

Dr. William Brady Says:

Special Tablets 'Best' for Easing Hyperacidity

From time to time, readers ask whether egg shell, baked or dried in the oven, and powdered, is a good source of calcium for children or adults who do not get enough calcium from their regular diet to maintain vitality, that is, normal nutrition.

Egg shell is practically pure calcium carbonate, and so it is an excellent source of calcium for child or adult.

Other natural forms of calcium carbonate are chalk, oyster shell, coral, marble, slaked lime, bone and limestone. Only egg shell and oyster shell, baked and powdered, are suitable for medicinal and nutritional use without chemical treatment.

Lime water is the best form of calcium for medicinal use as an antacid. Clear, fresh prepared lime water is made by adding a lump of unslaked (live) lime the size of a walnut to 2 quarts of boiled water (preferably rain water, distilled or filtered water) in an earthen jar, stirring it well and letting it stand for an hour or longer. Pour off the clear upper liquid into a bottle, without disturbing the whitish sediment in the bottom of the crock. The clear liquid is lime water (lime liquor).

Infants or adults who have excessive nausea and vomiting may retain teaspoonful doses of milk and lime water, equal parts, when nothing else will remain in the stomach.

In the pamphlet "Yankee Stomach," which deals with hyperacidity, hunger pains, uneasiness from fulness after eating, bloating by gas, etc. (for FREE copy send stamped, self-addressed envelope). I tell also about an extraordinarily effective antacid which is convenient to carry in purse or pocket, agreeable in taste, and less likely than any other antacid to disturb the normal acid-base balance in the blood.

The main objection to the use of soda (sodium bicarbonate), baking soda, saleratus to relieve, prevent or reduce hyperacidity in the stomach is that it disturbs the acid-base balance in blood and tissues.

A serious objection to too much magnesium habitually or frequently, whether it be magnesium sulfate (Epsom salts), magnesium hydroxide (milk of magnesia) or magnesium oxide or magnesium carbonate in antacid powders, is that it interferes with normal calcium metabolism. Some medical authorities say "the best way to deprive the body of calcium is to give magnesium" and emphasize that repeated administration of magnesia is especially dangerous to children and to persons with fractured bones or bad teeth.

For the relief of gastric acidity and "hunger pain" in peptic ulcer, cigarette smokers' peptic ulcer complex, ordinary heartburn

"Dear Doctor Crane," he started out, "You have probably forgotten about me by now, but I neglected to focus attention on the misbehavior of its own members. To neglect now, for instance, to bring President Nasser of Egypt before the bar of justice for violating his pledge to keep the Suez Canal open to the vessels of all nations is to compound the difficulties of the U.N. itself in its assumed role of maintaining world peace.

Editorial on 'Birch Society' Proves Offensive to Reader

I take offense at the editorial of Dec. 5, "Do You Still Question Birch Society's Aim?"

It seems that you may be being drawn into a line sympathetic with what the Communists desire when you refer to it as "bias."

Just because Mr. Welch happened to slap at Eisenhower is not a serious thing. Any elected officer is subject to criticism, right or wrong. The politician is not infallible just because he got the most votes.

I have seen many things sponsored by the ADA and some of our so-called "big people" that I considered very destructive of our system and possibly our lives. Such things as the aid to the "Agrarian" revolution in China, the restraints of the U.N. on the Yalu in Korea, the Castro affair in Cuba, the attacks on the HUAC and many, many others all point to our destruction.

The cold wind fiercely blew at the corner of Pontiac's downtown and on the wounded mongrel seeking entry into the warmth of a drug store.

The chimes were heard on the icy wind and then came a compassionate lady who vainly interceded for shelter in the store and who was rebuffed. Then came a distinguished physician who gathered up the friendless dog and departed for the animal rescue shelter. And I heard, "For even as we have done it unto the least of these, we have done it unto Me."

'Special Education Needs Cleaning Up'

Let's clean up this special education system. It's a mess.

Pupils Show Good Side

BRENTWOOD, N.Y. (AP)—Brentwood High School students, officially taken to task recently over short skirts and tight pants, have proved they are made of finer stuff.

Baring their hearts instead of their knees, they collected 500 gifts for young patients in nearby St. Charles Hospital. They delivered them Wednesday.

The boys were collected in a door-to-door campaign, undertaken to combat what the students termed bad publicity for their school.

At the end of November 37 girls were suspended for one or two days for wearing knee-revealing skirts. Boys with too-tight pants also came in for censure.

More than 50 of the Brentwood junior and senior high students took part in the toy drive. If they couldn't get new toys, they accepted old ones which could be renovated.

ADOPT FAMILIES: Vice principal Harvey S. Brickman also pointed out that the students conduct an annual drive before Christmas to aid needy families in the area.

"The students of each home room 'adopt' a family and bring in nonperishable foods for distribution at holiday time," said Brickman.

As for the high-bline and tight pants furore, he said that has quieted down.

"The girls are really complying (with longer hem-lines) and so are the boys," said Brickman, "but of course you may find one or two improperly attired students floating around."

Joseph Kennedy 6th Man to See Son President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joseph P. Kennedy is the sixth man in U.S. history to live to see his son become President.

The others were: John Adams, father of John Quincy Adams; Nathaniel Fillmore, father of Millard Fillmore; Jesse Root Grant, father of Ulysses S. Grant; George Try-on Harding, father of Warren G. Harding; and John Calvin Coolidge, father of Calvin Coolidge. At the age of 80, Nathaniel Fillmore visited his son at the White House but left disappointed. He said it wasn't a good place to live, either for him or Millard.

"I wish he (Millard) was home in Buffalo," the father said.

British Doom 'Barbaric' Yule Office Party

By HARRY FERGUSON
LONDON (UPI) — It appears that the institution of the Christmas office party is doomed here. It is under relentless attack by government, press and public as a barbaric custom that slipped into Britain from the United States when nobody was looking.

People are going to extraordinary ends to avoid office parties this year. Miss Olga Detarding, heiress to the Shell Oil fortune, has devised this stratagem: early on Christmas Eve she plans to get aboard the night train from London to Scotland. On Christmas Day she will take the day train from Scotland to London. Please do not disturb.

Henry Sherek, a theatrical producer with a large number of employees, took sterner measures:

"I fooled them this year. Right now we are moving from Pall Mall to Berkeley Street, so we do not have an office in which to have a party."

What has been his experience with office parties?

"Sheer disaster, old boy. All that passionate love on the landing! Then the cold light of morning! Paul II is a horrible American custom which they can have right back along with Elvis Presley."

—PRONGED ATTACK
The attack against office parties is being made on three fronts:

—They undermine executive authority. Sir Miles Thomas, a director in a dozen corporations: "Those things are too democratic, you know. Echelon must be maintained. I usually say a few words at staff parties. Appearing in as pompous a guise as possible, but always eschewing the paper hat. I will say for our parties that no one actually ever walked out wearing a paper hat."

—They cause marital problems. Corporations constantly receive anonymous letters from wives complaining about the irrefutable cycle that lipstick takes from the vanity case, to the lips of female secretaries, to the faces of husbands.

There also are dark references about couples going into stock rooms to check on supplies when everybody knows perfectly well that the annual inventory was closed two weeks ago.

"Employees frequently shed their inhibitions to the point where they remind the boss of the six worst policy decisions he made in the previous calendar year. This frequently results in employment dislocations as a result of dismissals usually hidden behind the humane facade of resignations."

PAPER CONCERNED

The "Daily Express" is especially concerned about this facet of the problem and prints a cartoon on the subject. It depicts a large office Christmas party in which the boss is disguised as Santa Claus. Two minor employees are staring at Santa Claus and one of them remarks: "Pity if he heard you refer to him as a dreary misconception of an obsolete legend — that's the general manager."

The man who may point the way out of the wilderness for Britain is, oddly enough, an American. He is Police Superintendent Orlando Wilson of Chicago. Word has reached here that he is conducting a successful campaign against office parties. Ernest Marples, British transport minister, plans to get in touch with him and see how he does it.

ZY125X Turns in Report After Visit

Earth People Pretty Childish for Cocky Martians

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One year after a space ship from Mars arrived here secretly.

It was manned by a single Martian, operative ZY125X, whose assignment was to find whether the earth was advanced enough to consider opening in interplanetary relations.

Here is his first report, sent via mental radio, to his command post on Mars:

"Trip uneventful and according to plan. After hiding space ship, I ventured into city. Found inhabitants unbelievably friendly and hospitable. Many were interested in my strange garb."

"One man, noting my helmet, asked: 'What are you advertising, Bud?' When I told him 'Nothing,' he replied, 'I am a department store manager, and our Santa Claus is sick. How would you like to take his place?'"

"I consented. It seems Santa Claus is a kind of god, and the earth people worship him most at Christmas. I have enjoyed playing this role of god. Little children come sit on my lap and tell me what they want, and I laugh out loud and answer, 'Okay. Ho! Ho! Ho!'"

"The earth people are quite cultured. Nobody works. All they do all day is eat and tell each other jokes and exchange presents in beautifully decorated packages which they get at the department store merely by signing their name."

"I met a pretty salesgirl here named Josephine. When I confided to her I was from Mars, she said: 'I kinda thought you had a Midwest look—judging from your haircut. My mother and I have an extra room in our apartment. Why don't you move in with us? I did. More later.'"

A WONDERFUL DAY

Operative ZY125X sent his second message to Mars on Christmas evening. It read:

Money to Fight From Comes Kuwait

GLEN ARBOR (AP)—Word of the controversy over a proposed national recreation area in the Sleeping Bear Dunes region of Northwest Lower Michigan has spread to Kuwait on the Persian Gulf.

Receipt of a $10 contribution from a resident of Kuwait to help finance the Sleeping Bear Dunes Citizens Council fight against the proposal was reported by the council Wednesday.

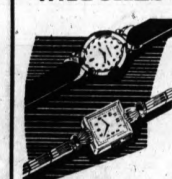

Contributions have been received from more than 600 persons in 18 states, the council said. Contributor Estelle Tatton Reed Arroyo did not say how she had learned of the council's battle but enclosed with her check a council coupon inviting contributions.

Josephine said, 'Well, country boy, I do believe you're loaded.' She sat me on a sofa and pressed her lips to mine. 'That makes me feel all tingly,' I told her. She said, 'It could be love, country boy.'"

"Earth has suddenly gone crazy. No one smiles. Everyone scowls. They hurry, hurry, hurry as if demoted. They bump into each other rudely. The department store manager took away my Santa Claus suit, and told me, 'Beat it, kid.'"

"Josephine asked me for some rent money. I said, 'You mean that green paper and those jingly pieces of metal? I gave them to one of the priests in a temple for some of that nice ambrosia.' And Josephine said, 'Mama and I aren't supporting no bums in this house, country boy. Out you go!'"

"I had nothing to wear but my space suit and helmet. A policeman stopped me and said, 'What are you—some kind of a nut or something? I've got a good mind to toss you into the cooler.' Some children jeered at me."

"This is a frightening place. As soon as it is dark, I will board my space ship and return to Mars."

When the chastened operative ZY125X reported in person his full tale of horror to his superiors on Mars, they held a council and gravely decided it might be better to let the earth people grow up for another thousand years or so before considering interplanetary relations.

And that's why you haven't seen any men from Mars lately.

Menshikov Calls at Rusk's Office

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov of the Soviet Union set up an appointment for 3 p.m. today with Undersecretary of State George Ball.

Ball is acting head of the State Department in the absence of Secretary Dean Rusk.

There was no immediate indication why Menshikov asked for the appointment.

Rejects Charge on Aid to Service Men's Families

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has turned down a Budget Bureau proposal that dependents of service men be charged $1 for each outpatient visit to military hospitals and dispensaries.

A Defense Department spokesman said today McNamara rejected the proposal earlier this week while taking still another look at the planned military budget requests for the bookkeeping year starting next July 1.

The spokesman said the proposed $1 charge was intended to curb excessive use of the hospital privilege by dependents of military personnel. It was calculated to save about $17 million a year.

Goldwater Is Sad Over Policies of United Nations

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., has come to the "reluctant conclusion that the United States no longer has a place in the United Nations."

Speaking at a County Medical and Dental Association convention in Phoenix Wednesday night, the Republican conservative leader said: "Up until the present disastrous—the U.N. action in Katanga and India's invasion of Goa—I leaped over backward to be charitable to that organization."

"I would not have had the United States withdraw unless Rusk, China were admitted. Now I think just as great a disaster has taken place," he said.

The world is not ready for the United Nations, Goldwater said, adding: "I don't think I'll be around when it is."

Says Merry Christmas, But Only Until Dec. 26

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. David Shoup has sent "warmest personal greetings" to all Marines and their families—but the message sounded as though he is taking it all back the day after Christmas.

The Marine commandant's Christmas greetings went out the naval communications system and ended with this sentence: "This bulletin canceled 26 December, 1961."

2 Men Arrested in Circus Fire

Brazil Police Official Doubts Statement by One, Confessing Arson

NITEROI, Brazil (AP)—Two men were held today in connection with the circus fire that took some 300 lives last Sunday but a high police official cast doubt on a statement by one of them that he had set the fire.

Asst. Police Chief Wilson Frederici said he believed the man, Dilson Marcelino Alves, "is crazy."

"I think he is just trying to gain notoriety by making the confession," the police official said.

Police Chief Gouveia de Abreu said Wednesday night that Alves, a Negro, confessed starting the fire to get revenge because the owner of the circus had refused to give him a job. He implicated another man who also was arrested.

ANGRY CROWD GATHERS
The fire spread rapidly through a big nylon tent trapping hundreds of spectators. Many of the dead were children.

After his arrest, Alves was taken from the Niteroi jail to a military barracks when about 20 angry people gathered in front of the jail. No charges have been filed against Alves.

The police chief said Alves implicated Guiller Rosas Santos as his accomplice. Santos was arrested but denied having anything to do with setting the fire.

During the night, police took Alves secretly to the circus ruins to reconstruct his confession.

They quoted him as saying he sat on a top bleacher seat and when the performance got under way Santos, his alleged accomplice, tossed a can of gasoline on the tent and that Alves threw a lit match on the soaked surface.

Search Halted for Rocky's Son
N.Y. Governor Makes Announcement 'With Deep Regret'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced "with deep regret" today that a search for his youngest son Michael, 23, who was lost off the coast of New Guinea had been ended and no trace of him has been found.

Rockefeller said he had been notified by the government of New Guinea that "The search has been brought to an end."

Rockefeller made the announcement at a news conference in his office.

The notification was sent to the governor by P. J. Platteeu, governor general of Netherlands New Guinea.

Rockefeller told reporters: "I want to say again how deeply all the members of the family appreciate your understanding and kindness throughout this whole situation."

Used Luck, Political Knack, Imagination to Succeed

Canny Joe Kennedy Amassed Fantastic Fortune

By United Press International

Joseph P. Kennedy parlayed the luck of the Irish, a knack for politics, a canny business sense and almost unbounded resourcefulness and imagination into a fantastically large fortune.

His immigrant father Patrick, a Boston saloon-keeper and a political power in his district, early installed in Joseph Patrick Kennedy a zest for adventure.

In later life, Kennedy reputedly made a fortune in investments in Scotch whisky, movies, and shipping. The investment banking house he now heads has financial stakes in almost every facet of American business life.

Kennedy's life has been an almost endless success. Although he didn't need money—his father had prospered—Joe Kennedy earned $5,000 as a co-owner of a sightseeing bus while he was at Harvard where he was graduated in 1912.

Area Students Escape Injury

Bus Bringing 13 Home From Private Schools Skids, Flips

Thirteen Oakland County students who attend private school in Glen Arbor escaped injury today when the school bus taking them home for the holidays skidded into a ditch and turned over.

State Police say none of the 42 students aboard was injured but the driver, Mate B. Hislop, 37, of Grand Rapids was ticketed for driving at excessive speed for conditions.

Hislop said he braked for a stop sign after coming down a hill on Leelanau County Road 609, but skidded and slid into a ditch.

His holiday-bound riders crawled out through windows of the bus and pushed it upright to continue their journey. They were bound for their homes in Grand Rapids, Bay City, Midland and Flint with the last stop, Birmingham.

All are students of Leelanau School for Boys or Pinebrook (for girls) at Glen Arbor.

Those from Birmingham were Bill Sutton, 17, of 388 Woodland Villa Court; Paul St. Clair, 19, of 1045 Fairfax Road; Fred Hall, 17, of 647 Wilmont Drive; Bonnie Raugh, 17, of 342 Elm St.; Jerry Forsythe, 15, of 604 Pilgrim Road; Jerry Purdy, 16, of 315 N. Gilegarry Drive; and Fred Rollins, 18, of 807 Shirley Drive.

Also on the bus were Fred Hamlin, 17, of 633 Crestway Drive, Bloomfield Township; Jim Hendrick, 16, of 450 Bedford Lane, Bloomfield Hills; Larry Warden, 15, of 876 Edgewood Road, Union Lake; Ric Thompson, 16, of 135 N. Main St., Clarkston; Paul Risk, 15, of 1864 Warwick Road, Beverly Hills; and Corky Foster, 17, of 12631 Nadine St., Oak Park.

He served as a Massachusetts bank examiner, president of the Columbia Trust Co. of Boston, and then assistant general manager of the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River shipyard at Quincy, Mass. In 1919, Kennedy, ever on the rise, became manager of Hayden, Stone & Co., investment bankers, and served for several years.

Congo Leaders Are Called Reds

Katanga Sources Reveal Tshombe's Message to U.S. State Department

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—Katanga sources today released a message they said President Mobutu Tshombe charged to the U.S. State Department claiming that many of the Congo's leaders are Communists or influenced by Communists.

The date of the cable was not given and there was no information here as to whether the State Department received it.

The cable said Tshombe believes Congo Premier Cyrille Adoula is a left-leaning neutralist. Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga is active Communist and several of his aides fellow-travelers.

It is possible that Mr. Adoula is an anti-Communist... but it appears to us that he has neither the strength necessary to resist Communist influence nor the needed insight to expose the enemy," the message said.

Gov. Swainson Sets Christmas With Family

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson will celebrate Christmas at home this year, sharing a turkey dinner with members of his family.

The governor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Swainson, of Port Huron, will be here for the celebration Monday.

Others in the group will include Dr. and Mrs. George L. Whitehead of Haslet, the governor's sister and brother-in-law, and their family; and Sgt. Thoms Swainson, the governor's brother, who is expected home on leave from Dover Air Force base in Dover, Del.

Dr. and Mrs. Martin Nielsen of Detroit, parents of the governor's wife, will entertain the family at a traditional Christmas Eve gathering Sunday.

New Envoy Is Sworn

WASHINGTON (AP)—William A. Crawford, 46, a career foreign service officer, was sworn in today as U.S. minister to Romania. He succeeds Clifton Wharton, now ambassador to Norway.

was active in movie booking and financing and commuted between the East Coast and Hollywood. During this period he quietly—and quickly—amassed a fortune the extent of which there is no accurate measure. It has been estimated at $230 million.

Kennedy met Franklin D. Roosevelt while the late president was an assistant secretary of the Navy. Later Kennedy served during Roosevelt's administration as chairman of the Securities Exchange Commission, chairman of the Maritime Commission, and ambassador to the Court of St. James. While Kennedy was amassing wealth and fame, he was also building a sizeable family. He had been married in 1914 to the former Rose Fitzgerald, daughter of the colorful Boston Mayor John F. (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald. The Joseph Kennedys had nine children, seven of whom are alive today.

Hope They Can Do Better Than Fabled King's Men

JFK, Mac Ponder Fallen Western Humpty-Dumpty

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst
President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan today began picking up the fragments of Allied unity to see if they can put them together again.

As various news leaks from Moscow, London and Washington are correct, high on their agenda will be consideration of a summit session with Nikita Khrushchev, even if it must be without President de Gaulle of France.

Soviet newspapers and officials have made it clear that Khrushchev favors such a meeting, especially with Kennedy.

Complications, yet lending urgency to the Kennedy-Macmillan talks will be the wide splits in Allied opinion which came into open at the recent NATO foreign ministers' meeting in Paris.

In both Britain and France there has been resentment against U.S. policy in the Congo, and a growing mistrust of the United Nations.

De Gaulle has made it clear he will boycott even a "probe" of Soviet intentions in Berlin.

In NATO, only West Germany has shown an enthusiasm anywhere close to the United States in bolstering NATO troop strength and its supply of conventional weapons.

There is the question of West Germany's demand that NATO be made a nuclear power with its own nuclear weapons.

In the United States administration there is a feeling that the possibility of negotiations with Moscow at least should be considered just an already bad situation over Berlin becomes worse.

MAKES STRONG CASE
De Gaulle, however, makes a strong case for his belief that any agreement to negotiate with the Communists now is in itself a concession and a sign of Western weakness.

De Gaulle's opposition is the result of his determination that nothing shall weaken West Germany's tie, both economic and military, with Western Europe. Conversely, it is his fear that even a minor concession over Berlin could weaken German determination to resist the encroachments of communism.

In this, he is on solid ground. For it cannot be said that Berlin is Khrushchev's ultimate objective in his current campaign.

break up the powerful third force now emerging in the European common market.

For this reason, he proposes disengagement which would leave Soviet troops in command of Europe and eventually would drive United States forces into the sea.

For this reason also he hopes to destroy Allied military unity and convince West Europeans that Communism is indeed the wave of the future.

Should Britain and her economic partners join the common market, an economic and political force of 300 million people would be created, equal to or greater than either the United States or the Soviet Union.

This is Khrushchev's ultimate target.

Goa Invasion Followed 14-Year Stalemate

pendence. Only they spots of French and Portuguese territory marred the landscape, as he saw it. The French got out; the Portuguese stayed.

Many have called Nehru's action a breach of the peace, but it appears that educated Indians in general feel that kicking down the wall was justified because most of the people behind the wall were ethnically, culturally and in other ways Indian. The government says it was necessary to liberate them when Portugal refused to negotiate their surrender.

Portugal regarded the Indian efforts for negotiations not as negotiations in the true sense but as a demand.

Indian spokesmen have long been saying the people of Goa were kept in savage repression by the Portuguese. Government officials have surreptitiously released stories of Portuguese oppression which they wanted to appear emanated from Goa exile sources.

Journalists and some businessmen who have visited Goa in recent years failed to notice the repression.

It might have been hidden behind the palm trees of the sleepy tropical territory, but the general impression of visitors was that Goans were sullen at most.

FEELING OF UNITY

Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon said the failure of journalists to report atrocities in Goa did not prove they did not exist but that journalists were prejudiced against India's case.

India's case was also based on the strong emotional feeling that the entire subcontinent of India is one unit which should be under one flag. This feeling contains historic, cultural, ethnic and religious elements of traditional unit.

The feeling of unity is responsible for an earlier action against an area that refused to join India.

When Britain freed India in 1947, the Muslim ruler of Hyderabad State, located in the middle of south India, wanted to remain separate.

The Nizam of Hyderabad would not negotiate on the Indian terms of the union.

So the Indian Army — reacting to provocation, it said — rolled over Hyderabad in 1948 and united it forcibly.

Hyderabad were commanded by Gen. J. N. Chaudhary, who also commanded the invasion of the Portuguese enclaves 13 years later.

Beginning in 1947, India tried to negotiate the withdrawal of the Portuguese to avoid having to throw them out. But Lisbon cited a 15th Century Papal edict which it said gave Portugal a right to the enclaves. Portugal refused to even discuss the Indian terms since they left no ultimate room for the Portuguese to remain.

Another dialogue of the deaf is beginning. On one side are the Indians, who think they have done what is morally right and that anyone who criticizes the use of force is a defender of oppressive colonialism. On the other side are such western critics as the United States—critical of both Portuguese colonialism and any resort to force.

India has no intention of listening to these critics any more than it listened to Portugal's arguments for retention of Goa, Daman and Diu.

Changing Concepts in U.N. Alarm West

BY MAX HARRIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The case of Goa has brought home a sobering fact to many U.N. diplomats: the United Nations of today is not the organization they knew 10 or even 5 years ago. The change prompts some of the alarms that are being sounded about its future.

The flood of Asian and African countries into membership has introduced new concepts, new codes of conduct. Some Western diplomats express concern that the group's growing influence may so transform the U.N. that the West can no longer accept it.

In the Goa case, for example, the Soviet Union was not alone in opposing a cease fire. The Security Council's three African Asian members — Ceylon, Liberia and the United Arab Republic — joined the Soviets.

Going even further, these three demanded that the council reject Portugal's complaint and call on Portugal in effect to turn over the areas to India voluntarily.

This was a factor in Adlai E. Stevenson's pessimistic statement Tuesday. He said the Soviet veto was consistent "but I find the attitude of some other members of the council profoundly disturbing. LEADS TO CHAOS

"We have witnessed tonight," he went on, "an effort to rewrite the charter, to sanction the use of force in international relations when it suits one's own purposes. This approach can lead only to chaos and to the disintegration of the United Nations."

The combination of Asian-African and Communist support for India convinced the Western powers that it would be futile to follow the usual practice of going before the General Assembly in the face of a veto. They did not relish the prospect of being slapped down by a whopping vote.

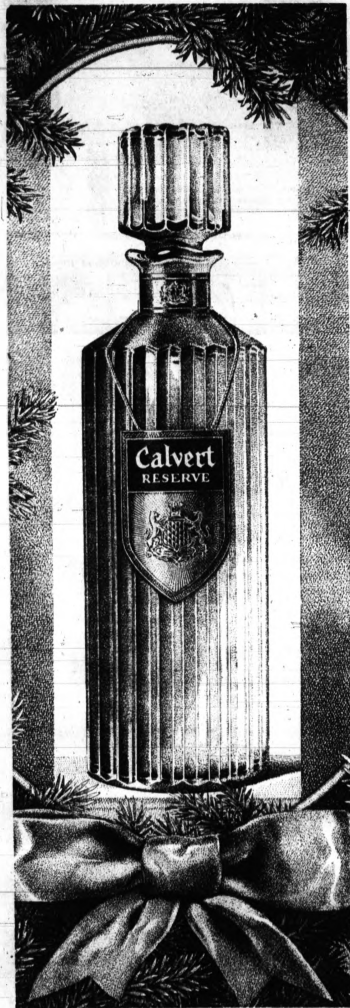

There is some fear that this line of thinking might lead to a wave of violence, particularly against territories held by Portugal and South Africa—the main targets of Asian-African criticism.

The possibility is striking in view of the support the Soviet bloc gives Asian-African countries on colonial questions. The two groups make a formidable coalition in the 104-nation General Assembly. The Asian-African group, not even an organized bloc 10 years ago, now has 50 members. The Soviet bloc has 10 members.

RELIEF COMES IN — Still stunned by the loss of their home at 315 Romeo Road, in a fire Tuesday night, Mrs. Hazel Hobbs, 35, and her family look over the toys collected by Rochester firemen for the children. Susan, 13, a student at Rochester Junior High School, and Danny, 16, an 11th grader at Rochester High School stand beside their mother. Fire Chief George Ross has given a doll to Wendy, 10, and a fire hat to Sanford, 9½. Both are students at the North Hill School. Household articles and clothes are still inside.

Rochester Mother, 4 Children

Five Destitute After Fire

By BOB NESTER
ROCHESTER — Firemen here have appealed for donations of food, clothing, bedding and a place to stay for a 35-year-old Rochester mother, Mrs. Hazel Hobbs, and her four children who rented home at 315 Romeo Road was gutted by a fire Tuesday night. Left with nothing but the clothes on their backs, the family had to split up in order to find shelter after the fire.

The three youngest children, Susan, 13, Wendy, 10, and Sanford, 9½, went to Lake Orion to stay with their father, now divorced from their mother.

Mrs. Hobbs, a waitress at Knapp's Restaurant, 327 Main St., stayed with one of her sisters, Mrs. Vandetta L. Hoffman, 315 Maywood St.

With nothing but a charred shell left of her home, rented just a month ago, Mrs. Hobbs faces a grim Christmas.

The house, which belonged to Mrs. C. W. Case of 688 S. Rochester Road, was insured.

But nothing inside was insured, from the furniture to the few Christmas presents under the tree. She couldn't afford it, Mrs. Hobbs said.

After work Tuesday, she fed the children and they dressed to go to the Christmas program at Rochester Junior High School, Susan was in the play.

SMOKE POURS OUT
When they returned about 10 p.m., Mrs. Hobbs noticed the shades in the house looked dark. She opened the front door and hot smoke billowed out. A moment later a box of Dan's shotgun shells blew up inside and then the house exploded in flames.

Some time after midnight, when the fire was under control, Mrs. Hobbs remembered that Wendy's insulin had been inside. Firemen woke up a druggist and secured the girl's life-saving serum.

Yesterday firemen Gordon and Lyle Knapp and Chief George Ross began relief work for the family. Two boxes of toys arrived for the children and the firemen started to find them a new home.

Wendy and Sanford have been going to the North Hill School. Until Mrs. Hobbs finds a new home and can get the family together again, the three youngsters staying with their father in Lake Orion can't go to school because of the lack of transportation.

According to Ross, some of the family's furniture, a chair and two beds, would still be usable after a stiff cleaning. The only other items saved from the blaze were in drawers — some earrings, a half-burnt jacket and a Bible.

Someone loaned Mrs. Hobbs a uniform so she could go back to work today.

"I'm heartbroken about the house. We'll have to start all over again," she said. "But thank God we're still all together."

Donations of blankets, clothing, and furniture can be taken to the Replacement Center, 305 E. Alley, behind Knapp's Dairy Bar.

Food or other gifts for the family can be taken to the dairy bar, Knapp's Restaurant, 327 Main St., or to the fire hall.

Data Processing Machine Shows Farmer in Squeeze

EAST LANSING — A combination of the click and whirr of data processing machines and the roar of a tractor — at a time when a farmer's field of corn may not be immediately evident.

But Michigan State University farm management specialists have fused the two in a data processing center that breaks down the operations of a thousand Michigan farms to immensurable hours on thousands of cards.

What the data cards — used in a statewide accounting project — show is not very encouraging, said Laurens H. (H) Brown, MSU farm management specialist. "They show the Michigan farmer is being caught in a real cost-income squeeze," he said.

"It's been getting tougher and tougher every year for many years," he said. Rising costs have forced many farmers in the past 20 years to make a major decision: "Get big or get out."

In Central Michigan alone, average gross income rose from $11,723 in 1947 to $25,649 in 1960, but average total expenses rose from $8,494 to $24,871. Return on investment dropped from 18.5 per cent to 5.9.

Despite a discrepancy for averages, "The squeeze on farmers is obvious," he said.

1.5 PER CENT RETURN
The statewide average for 323 farmers was a 4.5 per cent return on investment, said Charles Beer, farm management specialist.

The farmers' wages averaged $2,339 — or about $200 a month on investments that averaged slightly more than $75,000.

Low prices for the "top manure" are necessary to make ends meet on Michigan farms, he said.

The accounting service is aimed at helping economists study farm business highlights and trends, analyze business and compare profits on farms of different sizes.

It is being offered in Inia County this year solely as an accounting service to anyone who wants to subscribe. If it proves successful, the service may be offered on a statewide basis eventually, Brown said.

Woman Files Suit for Crash Injuries

GRAND RAPIDS — Patricia Pasqualini of Madison Heights yesterday filed suit for $300,000 in U.S. District Court for alleged permanent injuries suffered in a high-way crash three years ago.

Named defendants were Donald Sperry of Pittsburgh, Pa., Olin Matheson Chemical Corp. and the Hertz Corp.

Mrs. Pasqualini claims she was injured Nov. 7, 1958, on U.S. 23 five miles south of Charlotte when a Hertz car driven by Sperry, as an employee of the chemical firm, crossed into the path of the Pasqualini auto and resulted in a collision.

Communities in Area Get Urban Renewal Aid

WASHINGTON — Grants announced today by the Urban Renewal Administration to aid in planning for the growth of various communities included:

Michigan Department of Administration, $3,588, to aid Canton Township in Wayne County, the cities of Clawson, Madison Heights and Monroe and the villages of Milford and New Haven.

INTERCHANGE EAST OF BRIGHTON — This aerial photo, looking north, shows the interchange of I-96 and U.S. 23 freeways east of Brighton. The huge traffic complex, spread over 175 acres of land, is one of the largest interchanges in the world. It will be completed next year when U.S. 23 (north-south) freeway is opened to traffic. The $5.8-million project will eliminate part of a major traffic bottleneck at the intersection of U.S. 16 and U.S. 23—the back-log roads which cross the lower part of the photo. It also will remove a major detour for through traffic on I-96.

Firm Plans Return to Holly

By JIM LONG
HOLLY — It is a "90 per cent sure thing" that this village's former largest employer, American Spring of Holly, will return to production here by March, providing jobs for at least 100 skilled workers.

Albert H. Bitzer Jr., president of the Illinois Coil Spring Co. in Chicago, told The Pontiac Press yesterday that arrangements are nearly complete to purchase the vacant building, machinery and inventory from the Republic Industrial Corp., which moved the plant to Charlotte, N.C. more than a year ago.

"We are at a point of picking up a number of options from Republic," Bitzer said by phone. "And we are in the process of making contract arrangements with old customers of the American Spring operation."

Republic transferred the Holly plant, along with about 15 employees, to the southern city a little more than a year ago following its purchase six months earlier from Howard Smith, president of the 40-year-old firm since 1938.

The move, blamed by Republic on high wages and taxes, affected 200 employees of the company, including 50 clerical workers.

At the time of the announcement of the move to Charlotte, union officials at the local plant claimed it was a surprise. No indication that the operation would be transferred was made until they were told of the decision, officials said.

Bitzer said the return of American Spring to Holly, possibly under the name of the Holly Spring Co., would be the result of several factors.

According to Bitzer, his firm will employ former president Smith in an advisory capacity to get the Holly operation back in production.

Smith, who retired with the Bitzer said, "in order to provide maximum service."

The president of the Chicago firm, which operates a subsidiary in Milwaukee, The Milwaukee Spring Co., said the option to purchase from Republic terminates Feb. 1, but he believed final arrangements could be made before the year's end.

A purchase price was not disclosed by Bitzer.

According to Bitzer, his firm will employ former president Smith in an advisory capacity to get the Holly operation back in production.

Smith, who retired with the sale of American Spring, would act as consultant because of his vast experience in the manufacturing of springs.

All jobs with the exception of a few supervisory positions would be filled by local help.

FOR AUTO INDUSTRY
Prior to its sale, the $3 million-a-year Holly firm, turned out small springs to a major extent for the automotive industry, but also provided pharmaceutical companies with the product.

Much of the work in getting the Holly Building occupied again has been credited to the recently organized Holly Industrial Committee, headed by Walter Lentz, president of the Citizens Bank here.

Lentz said that before Illinois Coil stepped forward with a more definite proposal, two other spring companies had shown interest in locating at Holly.

"Since there are about 300 people on welfare here, the relocation of a spring firm will be a wonderful thing," Lentz said.

"About 125 families were affected by the move and it will be a great boost to them and the area to have a major company return."

Addison, Leonard Okay Extension of Gas Service

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — Township and Village of Leonard voters approved a franchise last night in a special election to allow the Consumers Power Co. to extend its natural gas service into the area.

The franchise grants the company the right to lay, sell and maintain facilities for gas service for a period of 30 years.

Township Clerk Robert McCallum said there were 99 votes for the franchise and 1 against it in the township election. The Village of Leonard cast 43 votes, all for the franchise, he said.

The township has 831 registered voters, some residents of Leonard.

The next step toward providing

FREIGHT DISADVANTAGE

He said the distance from Charlotte to the Northern automotive companies, the firm's largest market, has a freight disadvantage and lack of skilled help there has some bearing on the decision.

"We believe in operating a company that is accessible to the market and the customer,"

PRESENT CONSIDERATIONS

Charles F. Brown, district manager of the Consumers Power Co., said that for the present the company will consider those homes in the more populated areas and near the company's present six-inch supply line for the first service extensions.

The line runs through the township, connecting Lake Orion and Dryden. It comes within a mile of Lakeville and just west of the village limits of Leonard.

Brown said the company hopes to have gas service for some area customers by the spring of 1962.

As the demand for gas increases, regulator stations will be erected in Leonard and on the Lakeville Road west of Lakeville.

Dinner Marks End of Project

Shelby Twp. Employees Feted at Noon Today in New Room

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A Christmas dinner for township employees at noon today marked completion of a $823 remodeling project at the Township Hall.

The meal was served in the new conference room in the front section of the building, facing Van Dyke.

The old police garage has been converted into the supervisor's office and a small reception room. Clerk Mae Stecker has moved into the supervisor's old office and the billing machines and supplies now are in her old office.

An interrogation room has been added in the front section adjacent to the police department office. When a police car is not in use, it will be kept with the maintenance equipment in a building that was erected at the rear of the township hall property last summer.

Work on the remodeling project was started early in October after the township board agreed on the need for more office space. Contractor was Homes by Holstrom of Shelby Township.

To Probe Orchard Lake Blaze

$200,000 Is Estimate of Club Fire Damage

ORCHARD LAKE — Total fire damage to the Orchard Lake Country Club yesterday has been unofficially estimated near $200,000.

The majority of the damage is due to the loss of about 500 sets of golf clubs owned by club members, valued at approximately $300 a set. All were insured.

Thomas Shannon, golf pro for 21 years at the club, said the loss could run as high as $150,000 for the sets of clubs alone, not including the inventory damage he suffered at Hobbs Pro Shop, which he estimated at about $35,000.

West Bloomfield Fire Chief Herbert Morgan estimated damage to the west wing of the country club, which suffered the heaviest from the blaze, at more than $40,000.

The fire was discovered shortly after 10 a.m. yesterday in the wing by Orchard Lake Police Chief Elmer Peters and village DPW maintenance man Harold Hooper while on an inspection tour of the area.

Several employees were in the club house but had not detected any smoke because their offices are the furthest point from the origin of fire. No members were at the club at the time.

The main building suffered only smoke damage.

John F. Corcoran, manager of the country club, said he didn't believe an major parties would be held at the club until it is affected by the fire yesterday.

Church Sets Services for Christmas Eve

TROY — Two candlelighting services will be held at the Big Beaver Methodist Church on Christmas Eve.

The first, at 7:30 p.m., will feature the three youth choirs, directed by Lee Hober, leading the congregation in caroling. Each group also will sing an anthem.

The chancel choir, led by Mrs. Maureen Garwood, will sing the cantata, "Night of Miracles" at the 11 p.m. service.

A brief message, "The Edge of Time" will be delivered at each service by Rev. Albert E. Hartog, pastor.

but details haven't been completed.

The Cranbrook-Kingswood Christmas dance scheduled for tomorrow still will be held.

The cause of the fire is still undetermined and, according to Chief Morgan, the State Fire Marshall has been called in to investigate the blaze.

The fire was brought under control by firemen from four departments about noon, including West Bloomfield, Bloomfield, Commerce and Farmington township.

Youth Injured in Stolen Auto

DETROIT TEEN, Oakland Twp. Man Hurt as Cars Collide in Troy

TROY — A 15-year-old Detroit youth, driving a stolen car, was injured yesterday and another person hurt in a two-car collision at the intersection of Square Lake and Adams roads.

Transferred from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, to Mt. Sinai Hospital, Detroit, was Marvin M. Shaw. The youth was listed in satisfactory condition with a cerebral concussion, head and face cuts.

Treated for cuts and released from the Pontiac hospital was George E. Gullen, 22, of 2815 N. Adams Road, Oakland Township.

The drivers were unable to make statements. Troy police said. They added, however, that apparently Shaw, traveling west on Square Lake Road, failed to yield right of way to the other car, northbound on Adams Road. His car must have pulled out from the stop street into the path of Gullen's car, police said.

A passenger in Gullen's car, Ida Mann, of Detroit, was taken to the hospital but was not treated according to police and hospital authorities.

Police are still investigating the cause of the accident. They said the injured boy had no operator's license.

We Peek at Katanga's Past, Then Look to Uneasy Future

(Editor's Note: The Katanga situation has brought back memories of the Cold War deep into Africa, and put in question the future of the United Nations as a conciliator. Some of the questions about it are answered in this background article.)

By COLIN FROST
LONDON (AP) — It was 5 p.m. one day last September, and the sun's rays were dying in the city of Elizabethville, capital of Katanga Province.

The usual evening crowd sat at the pavement tables of the palace tavern. Smart young white people sipping aperitifs, middle-aged women with their coffee, the more affluent Africans drinking Sima beer.

Peaceful enough — and at the same time sinister. Sinister because no one was talking.

Instead they gazed fixedly across the street at the gray post office with its clock stopped at five minutes to 7.

The building's windows were gone, shattered by the same bullets that stopped the clock. In their place were sandbag emplacements. Through chinks in the sandbags poked the snouts of machine guns and behind them peered the unwavering eyes of elite Gurkha soldiers.

Hatred smothered the scene.

ELIZABETHVILLE
This was Elizabethville in the cease fire of late September, and at once you could see that war would soon be back.

It came back this month.

Two events were decisive in stretching tension beyond the breaking point.

One was the United Nations resolution of Nov. 24 calling for vigorous action to end the secession of Katanga.

The other was a fire-breathing reply to this resolution by Katanga's President Moïse Tshombe.

calling on his people to take arms in the expected battle.

Both sides had a lot to lose.

For the United Nations, failure could mean the end of the late Dag Hammarskjöld's dream of an international force capable of pacifying the world's trouble spots and so reducing the dangers of global war.

For Tshombe, defeat could mean the end of Katanga as an independent state, a state of great wealth by African standards.

This wealth lies in the copper, manganese and cobalt which the giant Union Minière Company extracts from the southern strip of Katanga lying near the border with British-ruled Northern Rhodesia.

Until the summer of 1960 the company provided roughly half the governmental revenue of the entire Belgian Congo.

In June that year Belgium declared the Congo to be an independent republic. A month later the Congo was in chaos, with its army mutinying and its prime minister, Patrice Lumumba, fleeing with the Soviet bloc.

WHITES IN ARMY
Tshombe chose that moment to declare Katanga an independent state. He dissolved the mutinous Force Publique and in its place created a national army largely officered by whites taken over from the Belgian army.

These whites were the bulk of the "mercenaries" which the U.N. administration called the main force in frustrating the U.N. intention to reunite the Congo.

Tshombe replied that only with experienced officers could he produce a trained and disciplined army — and that in any case every emerging African state had retained British or French officers after independence.

As Tshombe put it, the choice before Katanga was simple — join with the rest of the Congo and dissolve into chaos and eventual communism, or through independence seek a prosperous state where white and black could work together.

The beginnings of such a state existed in Katanga. Whites and blacks shared restaurants, bars and even swimming pools without tension.

But Katanga after July 1960 was never exactly the oasis of calm which Tshombe's government tried to present to the outside world.

In the north of Katanga, an area the size of France, dissident Baluba tribesmen took arms and forced Tshombe's administration into civil war.

CIVIL WAR STARTS
To win that war he brought in white soldiers, men who fitted the definition of mercenary much more closely than the Belgian officers in control of his regular army.

These mercenaries formed one of the strangest armies of modern times. At their peak they totaled perhaps 200 men.

Some were French regular officers who had shipped Algeria after their abortive generals' plot against De Gaulle. Some were South Africans and Rhodesians with a lust for adventure or a straightforward urge to get rich quick. Some were pilots.

Perhaps a dozen were British. Men like Dick Browne, brother of a member of the House of Commons, who insisted that in Katanga he was fighting the same communists he had fought in Malaya.

Or Peter Wicksteed, Tshombe's helicopter pilot, who had flown for Nasser in Egypt and Castro in Cuba.

In August the United Nations demanded Katanga expel more than 500 whites in military or paramilitary positions. On Aug. 28 U.N. troops — Indians, Irish and Swedes — disarmed more than 400. They were repatriated, the great majority to Belgium.

In September, a full-scale war broke out — a war launched by the United Nations ostensibly to get rid of 104 remaining mercenaries. This was the fighting which brought Dag Hammarskjöld's death. The United Nations effort failed for lack of air support.

The fighting ended in a cease fire which recognized Katanga's right to defend itself against attack "from the exterior." Within weeks the Congolese national army invaded Katanga. The United Nations said any Katanga air attack against the invaders would be regarded as a breach of the cease fire.

NO POLITICAL SUPPORT
United Nations planes were brought to Katanga's borders to support this judgment. The Congolese troops reached Albertville, Katanga's northern capital, and according to British eyewitnesses embarked on a campaign of looting and rape.

Despite these military reverses

Tshombe's principal weakness had been his poverty of political support.

Not one government had recognized his regime as a legally constituted state. Britain, France and the United States kept consuls in Elizabethville but they treated Tshombe as a provincial representative of the Leopoldville government.

In Europe his most vocal supporters were about 30 members of the British parliament, known as the Katanga lobby.

They won enough support to prevent the British government from sending heavy bombs to the United Nations force. Their advocacy of Tshombe's cause put the spotlight on the interest of Belgium, British, French and Americans in Union Minière and its annual take of 300,000 tons of copper.

Some members of this group have a declared interest in British concerns which control roughly a quarter of Union Minière. Some have charged the United States, as the main financial backer of the United Nations, with actively trying to disrupt Katanga's economy to help American copper holdings.

Their influence and their anger can be expected to grow with the events of the past few days.

The latest United Nations operation officially was aimed at restoring United Nations lines of communications among its personnel in Katanga.

But United Nations planes, according to newsmen in the town, strafed a hospital in Jadoville nearly 100 miles from the nearest U.N. soldier.

After two weeks' fighting, once more it seemed a cease fire was on the way.

This, like the September cease fire, would be aimed at an agreement between Tshombe and his fellow politicians among the Congo's leaders. And soon the crowds would be back on the pavement before the palace tavern, watching the clock stopped at 5:55 and the U.N. troops on the street outside.

Santa and the Flying Shoes

Copyright 1961

By LUCRECE BEALE

STORY: Santa and King Ferdinand sail across the sea on the Ispawitch, the monster which has been carrying the people of Polydora but which is really a giant shoe. They come to the Jewell's house on a rocky island.

CHAP, SIXTEEN

The Ispawitch sailed neatly to the island, furled its sail and slid between the overhanging cliffs. As it came to a stop Santa and the King leaped off and hid behind a rock where they could watch without being seen.

A moment later, the Ispawitch's shoe tongue dropped forward and fell to the ground like a bamboo slide. Then a tiny man clambered out of the shoe, perched on the tongue and coasted to the bottom.

He was the smallest man ever seen — in fact you almost couldn't see him unless you were looking very hard. He walked with a tiny little hop—now here, now there—like a sand flea.

"Good gracious!" gasped Santa. "What a big shoe for such a little man! How could he have caused so much trouble?"

"There are more of him!" exclaimed the King.

Sure enough, hundreds and thousands of the little creatures were now sliding out of the shoe and hop, hop, hopping over the rocks.

"Let us follow them!" whispered Santa.

They slipped out from their hiding place and followed the horde of little men up a narrow road until they came to a great flat rock. Here stood a creature like themselves all wrinkled and bent with age.

THE KING HAS FLED

"And have you succeeded in your mission?" he asked in a quivering voice.

"We have," said one of the little men. "The King of Polydora has fled."

"Wonderful!" chorried the ancient creature. "My heart's desire is now fulfilled and we can leave this lonely island. This is what I have wanted for all these years. Life will be full and rich for you from now on."

Then all the Ispawitches cheered and jumped up and down and cried, "Oh Mighty One, how wisely you have led us!"

Santa could stand it no longer. He burst from his hiding place and shouted, "What did you have against the King of Polydora?"

WHO ARE YOU?

The tiny creatures stopped whooping and stared at Santa and the King who came to his side. "Who are you?" they asked in astonishment.

"I am Santa Claus and this is Ferdinand, King of Polydora."

The ancient leader gasped. "SANTA CLAUS! For over a hundred years we've waited for you to come to our island. Now you've come but you are angry and will leave us nothing and never come again. Oh, if only you had come sooner! Every year we hope and hope but you travel the whole world round and pass us by."

"Who are you anyway?" asked Santa.

"Scaraboo!" said the leader sniffling unhappily.

"SCARABOOS! What are Scarabooos?"

"Haunts. We haunt grave yards and spooky old houses and Halloween parties and such."

"We haunted the palace at Polydora," put in another creature. "And pulled the sheet off the King and threw him in the old clothes box and—"

"And stole my Pineapple Upside Down Cake," said Santa. "And stuck your tongue into the Seeing Eye."

"Yes yes. But of course we didn't know you were Santa Claus or we'd never, never—"

Thousands of the little creatures were sliding out of the shoe.

"But you knew I was King," interrupted Ferdinand. "Why did you haunt me? What did I ever do to you?"

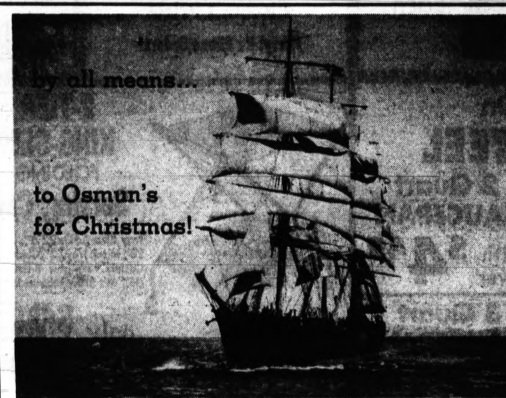

"Oh this is very sad," said the old leader. "You never did anything to us. But I made a bet, you see. Someone told me that Scarabooos were taken and I said I bet we could panic a whole kingdom. So the man said he'd give us half the kingdom if we would haunt his spectacles suddenly disappeared. They had been whisked from his head by the radio antenna of an automobile being parked at the curb."

at Santa and Santa said sternly, "Tell him!" and the Scarabooos said, "It was the minister of science, Your Majesty."

Three Teens Charged in BB-Gun Shooting

(AP)

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Two teen-age youths and a girl pleaded guilty Wednesday in Ottawa County Circuit Court to a charge of malicious destruction of property in a BB-gun shooting spree.

Judge Raymond L. Smith ordered bonds continued at $500 each for 15-year-olds James Warber of Spring Lake and Arden Warber of Fruitport and $200 for Helen Boonagard, 17, of Spring Lake, pending sentence Jan. 22. Bond was furnished.

The three are charged specifically in the damage of a picture window at a Spring Lake private home.

Sheriff Bernard Grysen said, however, that upon arrest they admitted shooting at least 40 car windows and 30 windows in homes and business places in a weekend spree last month.

Big Lift Expected From Federal Spending

WASHINGTON (U) — Government spending, a key factor in the economic recovery of 1967, will give business another big lift in the coming year.

Federal purchases of goods and services are expected to total at least $62 billion, up sharply from a 1967 level of $59.9 billion. That would be the biggest year-to-year advance since the 1953 military build-up associated with the Korean War.

There is a fair chance that the spending boom will carry even farther. Some experts here think the level of purchases may go as high as $63 billion.

The greatest upward thrust will come during the first half of the year if the spending pattern develops as forecast. The rate of increase should begin to taper off by summer because of Kennedy administration efforts to produce a balanced budget. Even so, federal outlays will increase through 1967.

Federal purchases of goods and services directly reflect the government's contribution to the gross national product, the most comprehensive economic indicator. The GNP measures total output of goods and services.

Here is how the government's share of the GNP increased in 1967, with all figures at seasonally adjusted annual rates:

January-March, $54.7 billion; April-June, $56.6 billion; July-September, $57.4 billion; and October-December, $59.1 billion. For 1962, here is an unofficial projection based on talks with economists at several agencies: January-March, $60.8 billion; April-June, $61.7 billion; July-September, $62.4 billion; and October-December, $63.1 billion.

This forecast could prove conservative. One government economist said federal purchases may reach an annual rate of $66 billion in the last three months of 1967.

One major factor behind the rising trend was President Kennedy's decision to bolster conventional military forces.

Although missiles and other sophisticated weapons for nuclear war are fantastically expensive, added funds for conventional forces are spent more quickly. Vehicles and rifles can be produced, and paid for, in a hurry.

The change in the mix of nuclear and conventional forces has still another economic side effect. The items used by foot soldiers involve a higher labor content, which means more employment per $1 of spending. Much of the expense of nuclear weapons represents research and development work which involves fewer people.

A marked step up in the arming of conventional forces could add new millions to the projection of 1962 federal purchases. This appears to be the likeliest area for further expansion.

'Don't String Lights on Metallic Trees'

CHICAGO (UPI) — The National Safety Council Wednesday warned buyers of metallic Christmas trees not to string them with electric lights.

The council repeated earlier warnings after it had received reports from widely spaced sections of the country that metallic trees were being sold without purchasers being told that the trees, if strung with electric lights, could become energized and carry death-dealing voltage.

The council recommended that only off-free lighting with multi-color spotlights be used with metallic trees.

U.S. Is Flying Yule Air Lift to Berlin Refugees

WASHINGTON (U) — The U.S. Air Force is flying a different kind of Berlin airlift this year.

From the Rhein main base near Frankfurt, West Germany, C124 Globemaster transport planes have been ferrying tons of Christmas gifts to refugees from Communist East Germany now in West Berlin, the Air Force reported Wednesday.

The gifts, including thousands of dollars in cash, were collected by Germans and by German Americans in the United States.

Rejects Driver Training in Schools at Pellston

PELLSTON (U) — Anticipating an $8,500 cash deficit at the end of the fiscal year, Pellston's school board has rejected an economic ground—a move to reinstate its public school driver training program.

The motion was defeated by a 4-3 vote of the board despite a plea by PTA President Howard Laughbaum who noted that driver education is required by law.

Boy's 'Christmas Tree Note' May Have Ended All Answers

By the Associated Press

Canadian children are up to their Christmas tree tricks again.

As they have often done in the past—because they found Uncle Sam to be Uncle Santa—they're flooding the United States once more with pitiful pleas tagged to exported Christmas trees.

But the bells soon may not be tinkling so merrily on sleighful of goodies going northward. In fact, the test-jerking toys may have broken down the sleigh this year because they pulled Santa's whiskers once too often.

A tree from the little town of Tracadie, New Brunswick, touched the hearts of men at MacDill Air Force Base in Florida—and then touched off the fire of the Tracadie parish priest.

On the tree was a note from a 13-year-old boy saying: "Will you have the kindness to help a poor boy?" It asked for a box of candy to be shared with seven brothers and sisters.

SOME STIFF WORDS

The MacDill men hastily assembled a plenitude of food, toys and clothing, and sent it winging to Tracadie. Back from Tracadie Wednesday came winging some stiff words uttered by the parish priest, the Rev. A. Trudel, about the tactics of the local kids.

He denied that residents of the New Brunswick village are in dire straits, as the Air Force men were led to believe. He said only two families in the population of more than 4,000 were in need, but that they were being well looked after.

"Children these days want everything," snapped Father Trudel. He added:

"Children in one large family I know sent about 300 letters with trees this year.

"The parish has a population of more than 4,000 and their savings accounts amount to about $2.5 million.

"I have preached against this begging note practice for years, but boys will be boys.

"It's true we need more employment here now. So do all other parts of the province and we are no worse off."

Canadian Plane Avoids Trouble

Prop Job Lands Safely
With 86 Aboard

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — A big Canadian turbo-prop airliner with 86 persons aboard and both tires blown out on its tandem-wheeled nose landing gear, made a safe emergency landing here before dawn today.

There were no injuries and virtually no damage to Canadian Pacific's Empress of Hong Kong, a Bristol Britannia.

Airport officials said 10 units, including emergency vehicles and ambulances were standing by when the airliner landed because pilot Marcel Bolyvert radioed ahead.

The plane, flight 402, carried 78 passengers and a crew of eight. It was bound from Mexico City to Lima, Peru, and then to Montreal.

Airport Director O. L. Sands said the plane's alternate destination to Lima was New Orleans.

"With that kind of trouble the pilot came here," Sands said. "Lima doesn't have any emergency equipment."

Hang Five in Korea (Rhee's Officials)

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Choi In-kyoo, 43, home minister under former President Syngman Rhee, and four others were hanged today. They had been convicted on charges ranging from political terrorism to pro-Communist activities.

Gen. Chung-Hee Park, head of South Korea's ruling military government, commuted death sentences imposed on five others by a revolutionary court. They will serve life terms.

Choi was convicted of helping to rig the 1960 presidential elections, NFL.

2 Miami Linemen Sign With Texans

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Dallas Texans have announced the signing of two University of Miami linemen to 1962 contracts.

They are tackle Bill Watts, a 6-2, 240-pounder, and guard Bill Diamond, 6-1, 235 pounds.

The American Football League team is coached by Hank Stram, who signed the players.

Diamond, a brother of Texas offensive tackle Charlie Diamond, was drafted 13th by the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League. Watts was the 12th draft choice of the Chicago Bears in the NFL.

U.N. Recesses After Hitting Red Actions in Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. General Assembly recessed its 16th session early today for Christmas after denouncing Soviet domination over Hungary and Red Chinese oppression in Tibet.

The two resolutions were passed over bitter opposition from the Soviet bloc, which accused the United States of dredging up cold war issues that have remained dormant since the last time the U.N. acted on them in 1959.

SLAP RUSSIANS

The 104-nation forum approved 43-17 with 32 abstentions a resolution disporting "the continued disregard" by the Soviet Union and the Hungarian regime of assembly resolutions concerning the situation in Hungary.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson warned the Soviet Union and Hungary that the U.N. had not forgotten the 1956 revolt stamped out by Soviet armor.

Earlier, the assembly voted 55-11 with 30 abstentions for a resolution expressing grave concern over violations of human rights in Tibet, now under Chinese domination. Only the Soviet bloc and Cuba voted no.

RED CHARGES

Soviet Delegate S. G. Lapin claimed the entire Tibetan issue had been fabricated to cover actions "of the Anglo-American bloc" to create a military base against Communist China.

The session, which opened in September under the shadow of Dag Hammarskjöld's death on a mission to Katanga, recessed until Jan. 15 a few hours before word reached New York that Katanga President Moïse Tshombe had agreed to end his province's secession from the central Congo government.

In the final day the assembly adopted an American-backed measure to continue a special U.N. commission trying to unify Korea. The vote was 60-11 with 27 abstentions.

Shelved until next fall an Indian proposal to designate 1963 as "The United Nations year of International Cooperation" and set wise ways to give the designation up a 12-nation committee to de-meaning.

SIGNIFICANT AGREEMENTS

Behind-scenes talks between Stevenson and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian E. Zorin brought accord on such knotty issues as arrangements for negotiations on disarmament and outer space and the choosing of a successor for Hammarskjöld.

These agreements were considered especially significant because they showed Soviet willingness to shelve for the time being Premier Khrushchev's troika principle of equal representation of Western, Communist and neutral nations.

After weeks of brawling, the Soviets dropped demands for a three-headed board to run the secretariat with a built-in veto. They agreed to let U Thant of Burma head the organization, leaving the choice of advisers up to him.

DROPPED DEMANDS

The Soviets also abandoned insistence that committees to negotiate disarmament and outer space questions be formed on the troika principle.

A signal triumph for the United States was the assembly's sharp rejection of Red China's bid for a U.N. seat—an issue the United States decided to meet head-on this year after keeping it shelved for 10 years.

American circles also hailed assembly approval of President Kennedy's proposal that the next 10 years be declared a "U.N. decade of development" with special efforts to spur the economies of underdeveloped countries.

IMPORTANT MOVE

One of the most important developments was the assembly's approval over Soviet opposition, of a $200-million, 25-year bond issue to save the world body from bankruptcy.

The session pointed up the increasingly dominant role played by the Asian-African group, which now totals 50 nations or nearly half the U.N. membership.

The group gave a vivid demonstration of its strength early in the session when it rammed through the assembly an unprecedented vote of censure, against a policy speech made by South African Foreign Minister "Eric" Louw.

PROVED POWER

The group often split on political issues but usually acted as a unit on racial and colonial questions. They proved that with Soviet bloc support they could form an unbeatable combination against the Western powers.

Adopted an American-backed measure to continue a special U.N. commission trying to unify Korea. The vote was 60-11 with 27 abstentions.

Shelved until next fall an Indian proposal to designate 1963 as "The United Nations year of International Cooperation" and set wise ways to give the designation up a 12-nation committee to de-meaning.

NEW ORLEANS — Two policemen found an oddly marked bottle outside a cocktail lounge. They suspected it contained nitroglycerine—enough to blow up the neighborhood. They buried the bottle and an explosives expert took over. He dug it up, took a taste and said he thought it was hair oil. Everyone relaxed.

Then extensive laboratory tests were run Wednesday. It was nitroglycerine. Police are investigating.

Freedom of Worship Clause Stirs Up Fuss at Con-Con

LANSING (U)—The controversial question of religion and Michigan's schools has stirred up a brief fuss at the constitutional convention, with George Romney, R-Bloomfield Hills, playing a leading role.

The issue arose Wednesday when the education committee was asked to approve inclusion in a "bill of rights" package of the same freedom of worship clause now in the constitution.

Democratic delegate Jack Faxon of Detroit asked that committee members be given a chance to study the question overnight and consider whether the clause (section 3, article 10) violates the historical concept of the separation of church and state.

Disagreeing forcefully, Romney said there had been attempts by some delegates to obstruct adoption of a preamble to the new constitution on grounds that no reference should be made to religion.

"This is carrying the separation of church and state far beyond its original intent," he declared.

Romney, who is a Mormon and a possible Republican candidate for governor, said he was well acquainted with the kind of persecution that a church can suffer at the hands of a government.

"I was born in old Mexico," he said, "partly because my family was driven there."

ROOTS OF AMERICA

Insisting that the convention should not leave out of the new constitution all mention of a supreme creator, Romney declared:

"When you depart from all... divine laws and have just man-made laws, then you are striking at the very roots of America."

If America raises new generations lacking faith and loyalty, he said, the nation is headed down the same path taken by Russia, with its dialectical materialism and atheism.

Romney said he was opposed to the teaching in public schools of sectarian religion but saw nothing wrong with nonsectarian presentations.

He contended that eliminating reference to the right to worship would weaken the very foundations on which the United States was built.

Romney, who is a high-ranking official in his church, told the committee members:

"We are the children of a creator. Some would eliminate in the schools any reference to a creator — and God help us if they succeed.

Faxon's request for time to consider the clause was supported by Adelaide Hart, D-Detroit, a school teacher.

Miss Hart said she was violently opposed to sectarian teaching in public classrooms and believed strongly in the separation of church and state. But as a teacher of the fine arts, she added, she did not see how religion could be kept out of a study of art and music appreciation.

Most Americans believe our problems can be solved in one of three ways: Pass a law, paint a sign, or appoint a committee...

The medical profession still has no cure for the common cold, but scientific research has developed several miracle drugs which, if taken under a doctor's strict supervision, won't make it any worse.

—Earl Wilson.

Ships Fail to Discover
Monkey, Capsule Shot
6,000 Miles by Atlas

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (U)—No further search is planned for Scatback, a rhesus monkey who rode an Atlas missile 600 miles into space, then plummeted into rough waters in the South Atlantic Ocean.

The Air Force terminated the recovery operation Wednesday after a ship failed to find any trace of the animal's capsule following a 15-hour search of the impact area 6,000 miles southeast of Cape Canaveral.

It is believed the capsule and its passenger sank into the sea soon after landing late Tuesday night.

Technicians continued today an analysis of signals received during the 30-minute flight from a transmitter in the monkey's stomach. The study will disclose how the animal withstood forces of acceleration, weightlessness and re-entry.

The transmitter relayed information from medical sensors imbedded under the monkey's skin. The experiment was one of several planned to determine if surgically implanted sensors are practical for human astronauts.

Another group of technicians today sought the cause of an engine malfunction which caused an advanced Atlas F series missile to fall short of its intended 5,000-mile goal Wednesday night, just 24 hours after an earlier Atlas E model blasted off with the monkey aboard.

Spiffed-Up Santa Is Groomed Like a Beau Brummel

NEW YORK (AP)—Santa Claus goes to the hairdresser every day. And he's fussy about the care his whiskers receive.

Sixty Santas who ring charity bells for the Volunteers of America on the sidewalks of New York get thorough grooming from four experts at headquarters before they hit the pavement.

The grooming includes combing their white wigs and whiskers, adjusting their wide white belts and tilting their caps at the proper angle.

Angels Prepare God's Way...a Little Child

Editor's Note: The message sent forth from the heavens — and on earth, it was tidings of joy. This is the third of four articles on the Christmas story with its setting in the divine realm, based on Scriptural allusions.

By GEORGE CORNELL

AP Religion Writer
Across the mystic span, the messengers sped. Through the tempestuous veil between the immortal and the mortal, they passed. Out of the heavens, they traveled to earth. They bore a message to man.

"The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together."

Into the ears of prophets and seers, the divine emissaries whispered the amazing intelligence. Through the secret channels of dreams, they poured the gracious report.

It was enigmatic and elusive to the human mind.

"And He will lift up an ensign to the nations from afar... And a highway shall be there and a way... The redeemed shall walk there... the ransomed of the Lord."

Through the discerning, heavenly-inspired spirits of the earth, Isaiah, Joel, Malachi, Micah, Amos, Zechariah, Daniel, Jeremiah and others, the visiting, hithering conveyed the Deity's intent.

"Behold, thy King cometh unto thee: He is just and having salvation: lowly and riding upon an ass... His dominion shall be from the sea even to the sea, from the river even unto the ends of the earth."

CENTURIES OF PREPARATION

The preparation went on over centuries of terrestrial time.

The help decreed for man diffused all disposed to respond to it, in the flesh or previously gone from it.

"The Lord whom ye seek shall come suddenly to the temple... And He shall sit as a Refiner and Purifier... He shall be as an hiding place from the wind, a covert from the tempest."

To the Archangel Michael, of the four chief princes of the Creator's imperial regime, and to the head of the cherubim, Gabriel, went commanding duties in the earthly expedition.

"They led an angel army in disseminating the story."

"Let all the nations be gathered together and let the people be assembled... And a little child shall lead them... His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor... the Mighty God... the Everlasting... Prince of Peace."

It was Gabriel, the intercessor who oversees resistance to the will of Lucifer's dominions and powers of the lower air, that a special task was given in the new move for mankind.

EXPECTATIONS LOOSED

But before that was done, unloosed desires and expectation had to be let loose among the somnolent populace. Wilting hopes had to be lifted.

"Man, engulfed in materialism, the higher realities had receded from his ken, although they interpenetrated his earthly framework, fashioning and sustaining it."

But man's consciousness had become ravaged by misuse. He could not make out the spiritual world that co-existed with the physical, all part of an inter-related continuity.

To him, the universe was split by distance, and life shattered by time. He considered God's province remote and far away, and felt that events and experiences lasted only so long as embodied in their material setting.

Only material effect registered with him. It was his scope and his standard. Without it, fact escaped him. His insights were marred; his impulses shrunken. He could not see that the past could be preserved and perpetuated, even as its material manifestations dissolved.

In his warped view, it was a fragmented, barebones existence, shut in by length, breadth and thickness, by touch, taste and smell. It was a dying chain of successive occurrences, rather than a consecutive, inter-connected unity.

HEALING NEWS BROUGHT

But to short-sighted humanity, the vitalizing spirits brought God's healing news. Although the highest formative forces, the "things that are not shaken," remained changeless, the lower orders were subject to renewal.

"He shall feed the flock like a shepherd. He shall gather the lambs with His arms and carry them in His bosom and shall gently lead."

The auguries were couched in imagery and intimations, for the full import could not be communicated at once to man's limited concepts.

"Every valley shall be lifted up, and every mountain and hill shall be made low, and uneven ground shall become level, and the rough places plain."

Gradually, step by step, the word was spread, the people readied.

In all their afflictions, He was afflicted, and the angel of His presence saved them; in His love and in His pity, He redeemed them."

The tenderly shaped plan had a directness and profound simplicity that heaped unstinted love and acceptance on earthly beings.

GABRIEL'S ANNOUNCEMENT

It was to her that Gabriel made the announcement, as well as to her kinsman, Zacharias, whose wife was to bear another son, John the Baptist, to serve as a forerunner to God's manifestation.

the bounty of his own. "He shall be great and shall be called the Son of the Highest... Of His kingdom there shall be no end."

The girl, uncovering her face, looked up imploringly, "How shall this be, seeing I know not man?"

Gabriel explained softly, "The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee. Therefore, the Child to be born will be called holy, the Son of God."

It seemed a normal sort of transmutation to Gabriel, accustomed to full spiritual correspondence and interchange. What was unusual was the entry of God into man, bodily. He realized that the phenomenon was strange to individually isolated human beings.

"With God," he said, "nothing shall be impossible."

The girl bowed her head. "Behold the handmaid of the Lord. Be it unto me according to thy word."

Gabriel also had to conciliate her betrothed husband, Joseph, to keep him from repudiating the new life stirring in her. But once he understood, he accepted. And that's all that is asked.

Allen Dulles Says Castro's Red Brags Ruffle Russ

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON—Allen W. Dulles, America's "master spy" for the past eight years, believes the Kremlin is unhappy about Fidel Castro's blatant admission that he was a Communist even before his power seizure in Cuba.

The scholarly gentleman who has just retired as director of the Central Intelligence Agency unquestionably knows more about the international Communist movement than any other American to day.

From his long familiarity with Soviet strategy, he finds indications that the Russians would have preferred to keep Castro's true colors under wraps.

Dulles, who began his career in public service under President Woodrow Wilson, sees a positive advantage for our side in Castro's boastful confession. Even the most vocal defenders of Communism among Latin American leaders are now grudgingly coming to see that the movement came to their country, they would be out.

The pipe-puffing, philosophical brother of the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has a bit more leisure now to take a long look at the world's problems, although he still occupies a suite at CIA, while sorting out a 10-year accumulation of state and personal papers.

He considers communism a greater threat to the world today than when President Truman brought him into the CIA as deputy director at the close of World War II. He thinks the Kremlin's problems are at least as overpowering, however, as our own.

In South America, for instance, no Communist party is strong enough to attempt a take-over of government, despite a decade of concerted Soviet effort in that area.

The Reds regard Africa as a gold mine for Communist infiltration, because they realize that their greatest opportunity lies with new, weak, ineffective governments.

Nonetheless they have found great difficulty in manipulating African leaders, who haven't much power themselves, and they have made grandiose promises which in most cases they have been unable to fulfill. This has rebounded to their discredit.

A basic trouble with Africa Dulles feels, is that it is chopped up into too many countries for economic stability. The old colonial borders were often artificially defined, and failed to reflect ethnic divisions for national interest.

He thinks the criteria, which the United Nations originally meant for new nations to meet, before being admitted as U.N. members, has too often been just a sign of in recent years.

Dulles considers the Indian invasion of Goa a very disappointing and tragic development, in an age when we have tried to work for rule by law rather than force.

West Berlin he regards as the iron test of our firmness. He thinks the Soviets are deliberately trying to focus attention on the Berlin crisis, while working doubly hard on the flanks of the whole ideological and political battleground, from Laos and South Viet Nam to the Congo, Cuba and Latin America.

The Red leaders are trying to capitalize on the current rash of revolutionary outbursts around the globe, but Dulles points out that no country has ever freely adopted Communism.

That form of government has never been voted in by honest elections, nor by the free and unfettered will of the people. Always it has come by force and violence.

The remarkable man who played an exciting espionage role in World War II, and who will shortly publish a book on the surrender in Northern Italy, believes there are too many pessimists around.

He personally has never accepted the view that we are in a losing contest with the Soviets. He thinks we can win, but we have to prepare for a long pull by maintaining military strength, and furthering our development in the ideological, economic and informational fields.

He is proud of the highly trained organization that CIA has pulled together during the past decade, and quick to praise the winners among those winning here. Some of the ablest analysts are of the feminine gender, he insists, as are some of the spies. Dulles has no intention, however, of writing a book about "Mata Harris I Have Known."

Computer Is Old Idea.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Modern electronic engineers may be surprised to know that back in 1812, mathematician Charles Babbage of Oxford University attempted to build a digital computer. He called his proposed device a "difference machine," but he failed because the concept was too far ahead of the technology of his day.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—For each 72 miles of Texas roads, there is a roadside park. The state highway department says the parks are spaced out more frequently on the more heavily-traveled roads and most of them offer picnic benches, trash containers, shaded areas and shelter.

Texas had 60,000 miles of roads and 630 roadside parks, the highway department said.

Table Top Snowman Made of Edible Stuff

Now is the time to begin decorating your home for the winter holidays — the season when most families do more entertaining than at any other time of the year. And what symbolizes winter and the holidays more than a cheerful chubby snowman.

This snowman makes a perfect centerpiece or mantle decoration. He won't melt. You can make him in your kitchen. It's easy, and it's fun. The children will love to watch you. If not help you in the project.

Snowman
 3 cups light corn syrup
 1 tablespoon vinegar
 1 teaspoon salt
 6 tablespoons butter
 3 teaspoons vanilla
 15 cups puffed rice cereal
 Confectioners' sugar
 1-1/3 cups flaked coconut
 Combine corn syrup, vinegar, and salt in a saucepan. Cook and stir over medium heat until a few drops of syrup form a very hard ball in cold water (or to a temperature of 256 degrees F.). Remove from heat. Stir in butter and vanilla. Place cereal in very large greased bowl. Pour syrup over the cereal gradually, mixing quickly.

Shape snowman by pressing two-thirds of the mixture into a round shape over an inverted empty coffee can, carefully extending the mixture under the bottom edge of the can. This makes the body. Take about one-third of the remaining mixture and shape into two arms; press body.

Shape the remaining mixture into a round head. If cereal mixture hardens during the shaping, soften by placing in a pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for a few minutes.

Sprinkle confectioners' sugar over the snowman. Make a face and buttons, using raisins for eyes, gumdrops for nose and buttons, and gumdrops or candied cherries for the mouth. If desired, make a hat from colored paper or cloth.

Frosted Pretzels Are Ornamental

Here's an easy last minute idea for an attractive Christmas tree ornament. It'll fit right in with your regular ornaments by your gingerbread men, Cookie stars, popcorn and candy canes.

Just dip the long loop of a pretzel, the traditional, twisty kind, in white confectioner's sugar. Place on wax paper and sprinkle with edible sparkles of various colors. (The multi-colored coconut jimmies are good.) When dry, use a length of twisted or a ribbon through the loop of the pretzel, and you have a "snow-topped" pretzel dotted with color, ready for hanging on the tree.

At New Year's time, the pretzel's looping and turning shape which has no end, is the symbol of long life and lasting happiness. In the Rhineland of Germany, little children traditionally hang a big pretzel around their necks on New Year's Day and go about the streets greeting, "Happy New Year."

In this region of story-book castles and charming old towns dating from Roman days, the first food eaten after midnight on New Year's Eve is always a pretzel, often a "soft" pretzel made with raisins or nuts. Why don't you serve pretzels at New Year's eve, "good wishes that have no end."

Pretzels have had happy associations through all the centuries of their existence. The very name comes from Latin "pretiola," we are told, meaning "little prayer." Over thirteen hundred years ago a cheerful monk made the first pretzels as reward for children who had said their prayers properly.

Black Bottom Foil Pans Are Better Bakers

You'll bake faster and be sure of a good brown bottom crust, if you use the new Black Bottom Pan. They are made of heavy weight aluminum foil in layer and loaf cake, and pizza pie pan sizes.

The black bottoms absorb heat remarkably faster than pans with light reflective surfaces. When used for cake baking, the oven temperature may be lowered 15 degrees and the baking time shortened about 5 minutes.

Use the usual temperature for cakes and pastries, and a beautifully browned bottom crust is certain.

You'll find them handy for roasting leftovers, baking brown 'n' serve rolls, for food freezing and even for use on the outdoor grill.

Dark Cherries Take Dessert Up a Notch

Adding a well-liked fruit to a standard recipe makes this dessert a festive one.

Cherry Tapioca Cream
 1 can (1 pound) pitted dark sweet cherries
 Tapioca Cream
 Drain cherries thoroughly. Make Tapioca Cream according to package directions, using the amount of egg, sugar, milk, tapioca, salt and vanilla called for; let stand 15 to 20 minutes; stir. Spoon alternate layers of Tapioca Cream and cherries into 6 sherbet or parfait glasses. Chill. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Syrup from cherries may be made into a sauce to serve over whitecake squares or cottage pudding.

The Romans and Greeks did not use butter as a food, but as the standard remedy for injuries to the skin.

Cheese Sauce Complements Cauliflower

Cauliflower With Cheese Sauce
 1 medium-sized cauliflower
 1 cup boiling water
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 2 tablespoons flour
 1 cup milk

1/2 cup soft spread-type natural cheddar cheese
 Break cauliflower into flowerets; wash in cold water; drain. Cook rapidly, covered, with boiling water and salt just until tender; drain.

In the clean dry saucepan melt butter over low heat; stir in flour. Add milk; cook and stir constantly until thickened.
 Off heat add the cheese and stir until combined. Add drained cauliflower and reheat but do not boil. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Last Bits of Ham Go Into Pea Soup

Pack some of this hearty soup into a wide-mouth vacuum jar to send along for noontime cheer.

Pea Soup With Ham
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
 1/2 cup finely diced ham
 1/2 cup finely grated carrot
 3 tablespoons minced onion
 3 cups water
 1 envelope pea soup mix

In a 1 1/2-quart saucepan melt butter over moderately low heat; add ham, carrot and onion — cook about 5 minutes. Add water and pea soup mix, stirring until smooth. Bring to a boil; cover; simmer for 3 minutes. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Goose, Capon, Duckling Good Too

Posting Press Home Editor

With Christmas coming on Monday this year, it means that Pontiac area homemakers will have two days of big meals to prepare—Sunday and Monday. This means more planning before you go food shopping and more cooking ahead.

If you've been toying with the idea of having something different for Christmas dinner, it's not too late. There's a good supply of turkeys in the stores and you can have your size like that. But look around a bit to see what other kinds of poultry are offered.

How about a goose? This is the traditional food of many European countries. Turkey, you will remember, is a typically American food.

Richer than any other poultry, goose demands a stuffing with a bit of tang to it. My grandmother always put apples, prunes and almonds in her dressing for roast goose.

Roast Stuffed Goose

Wipe the goose with a damp cloth and rub inside and out with salt and pepper. Stuff the goose lightly, sew up the vent and truss legs and wings close to the body. Prick skin well with a two-tined fork. Place goose on a rack in a roasting pan and roast in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 20 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and continue to roast, allowing 20 minutes per pound, undressed weight. Baste frequently with a little water or stock and pour off most of the fat as it accumulates in the pan.

While the goose is cooking, place giblets and neck in a saucepan with 1 small onion, sliced, a few leaves of celery, ½ teaspoon salt and a little pepper. Cover with 2 cups cold water, bring to a boil and simmer for 1 hour. Strain broth, reserving it for the gravy, and chop the giblets.

When the goose is done, remove all but 2 tablespoons of the fat from the roasting pan and stir 2 tablespoons flour. Gradually add the hot broth, stirring in all the brown bits from the bottom and sides of the roasting pan. Add chopped giblets and simmer for 5 minutes. Pour into a saucepan and serve separately.

Apple Stuffing

Allow 1 cup bread crumbs for each pound of goose. Double or triple recipe according to amount needed.

4 cups fresh bread crumbs

Crunch Bars Are Like Good Toffee

Everyone will agree that the fun of Christmastime is giving gifts to friends and members of the family. And this pleasure is always increased when we know that the gifts we give meet with particular favor.

Here is a suggestion for Christmas cookie gifts which are bound to please. It's Chocolate Peanut Crunch Bars, a delicious treat that is made with semi-sweet chocolate, peanut butter and whole some ready-to-eat high protein cereal. Use them as fillers for the Christmas stocking or mail them to persons far away from home. They are a tasty remembrance at holiday time.

Chocolate Peanut Crunch Bars

3 cups sifted flour
1½ cups brown sugar, firmly packed
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup shortening
½ cup crunchy peanut butter
¼ teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1 cup (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate pieces
½ cup crunchy peanut butter
1½ cups ready-to-eat high protein cereal

Blend together flour, brown sugar, butter, shortening, peanut butter and salt until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add egg yolk and vanilla; mix well. Press mixture firmly into ungreased 13x9-inch jelly roll pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 25 minutes. Cool slightly.

Melt chocolate over hot but not boiling water. Stir in peanut butter and special K. Spread on slightly cooled cookie dough. Let stand until chocolate hardens. Cut into bars to serve. Yield: 48 bars, 2½x1½ inches.

Lots of Onions Make Spanish Steak Better

Simmer 2 lbs. onions, thinly sliced in 1½ cup Spanish olive oil until soft. As the onions cook, pound ½ cup flour and 2 teaspoons salt in 2 lbs. chuck or bottom round cut 2 inches thick. Sear meat over high heat separately in 1 tablespoon olive oil until well-browned on both sides, then place meat over onions.

Cover tightly; cook over low heat 2 to 3 hours until meat is very tender. Just before serving, sprinkle with ½ lemon over meat.

1 large, tart apple, chopped
¼ pound (1 stick) butter
1 teaspoon salt, or to taste
1 teaspoon mixed dried savory and oregano
¼ cup lard

Prepare bread crumbs. Sauté onion and apple in the butter until onion is transparent and add to the crumbs. Add seasonings, mixtures with the bread and toss with a fork until lightly blended.

Put any leftover dressing in a casserole and bake it with the goose for about 45 minutes before the goose is ready for the table.

Capons are luxury birds. If your guest list is small, capon may be just right for you. Unlike turkey, it roasts quickly if you use aluminum foil. Then serve it with Orange Spiced Rice (recipe below).

Capon Roasted in Foil

Preparation for roasting: If bird is frozen, thaw completely. Rinse and pat dry. Put giblets, neck and seasonings in saucepan with water to cover and simmer. Season inside of bird with salt and truss with soft string.

Wiping: Lay trussed capon on its back in the center of a sheet of heavy duty aluminum foil. Brush bird all over with soft butter or margarine. Place small folds of foil over the ends of legs, tuck and wing tips to prevent puncturing. Place goose on a rack in a roasting pan and roast in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 20 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees F. and continue to roast, allowing 20 minutes per pound, undressed weight. Baste frequently with a little water or stock and pour off most of the fat as it accumulates in the pan.

Roasting: Put wrapped capon in the water or stock and pour off most of the fat as it accumulates in the pan. Don't seal airtight.

To observe progress of roasting, open the foil at the end of half the roasting time. The bird will look moist and puffed, but not brown. Meat will still be firm. Close foil and continue roasting. Browning: open foil 15 minutes before bird is expected to be done. Meat should be soft to the touch and thigh joint should move easily. Fold foil back, spoon juices over bird and return to oven to brown.

Meat thermometer: if used, insert in thickest part of thigh without touching bone, when foil is turned back for browning. It will register 190 degrees F. when capon is done.

Making gravy: Lift bird onto a warm platter. Pour juices in foil into saucepan and skim off fat. If juices are not brown enough, place a small amount in a pie plate and return to oven for 10 minutes to caramelize. Add this to juices in saucepan for additional color. Add broth from giblets, correct seasonings, and thicken in usual manner.

Orange Spiced Rice
4 cups cooked rice

1 tablespoon undiluted frozen orange concentrate
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
¼ cup chopped pecans
1 orange, cut into 6 slices
1 cup broth

Have rice freshly cooked and hot. Add orange concentrate, butter or margarine, and chopped pecans and toss with a fork. Cut aluminum foil to make six 6-inch squares. Spoon rice mixture onto center of each, dividing equally.

Bring opposite corners of foil together up over rice to form lid.

1 cup beef consommé
1 cup orange juice
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon lemon juice orange slices
fresh mint

Rub ducklings inside and out with lemon wedges. Roast stuffed on rack at 325 degrees F., allowing 20-30 minutes per pound. Fifteen minutes before duckling is done, pour off about ½ cup drippings. Blend in sauce pan with consommé, orange juice, salt and lemon juice. Thicken slightly if desired. Place birds on bed of orange or wild rice. Serve at once with hot sauce. Makes 8 servings.

GRANDPA WAS A PRETTY SHARP OLD DUCK...

After all, he married Grandma. And he also knew that bread baked the way Grandpa made it was the best bread. It's still the same today—bread that is kneaded like fine homemade bread has delicious flavor, rich aroma, and makes wonderful toast.

That's the way we make Silvercup. From the finest natural ingredients. And without any chemical preservatives.

Though many breads look alike, there is a difference—and you'll notice it the first time you taste Silvercup, smell Silvercup, taste Silvercup, or serve Silvercup. Try it tomorrow and see for yourself.

Honey Cookies Stay Moist a Long Time

You mix all the ingredients for these chewy cookies in one bowl. The recipe is from "Farm Journal's Time-saving Country Cook book," edited by Nell B. Nichols.

Honey Cookie Bars

2½ cup sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
½ cup honey
¼ cup shortening
1 egg

½ cup shredded coconut
½ cup shredded-wheat cereal, crumbled
1 cup quick-cooking rolled oats
1 teaspoon vanilla

Sift flour, baking powder and salt into mixing bowl. Add remaining ingredients and beat thoroughly. Spread mixture in greased pan (5"x9"x2").

Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) until lightly browned, 30 to 35 minutes. Cut in squares. Makes 3 dozen (1½") bars.

Add caraway seed to cottage cheese and serve on a vegetable salad plate for a hot-weather lunch.

Grapefruit Fine Salad Material in Winter

For a grapefruit cheese salad, peel one grapefruit and slice thinly across. Cut in half again, crosswise and remove seeds. Arrange watercress on plate and place 2 slices (per serving) on top.

Make dressing by beating together 2 tablespoons grapefruit juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, ¼ cup salad oil, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon paprika, and ½ teaspoon pepper. Add 1 tablespoon smoothly mashed Roquefort cheese, blend and pour over salad. Garnish with minced green pepper or pepper strips.

Bowling's a Real Ball
By SHARON KAY RITCHIE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Releasing the ball properly is not difficult, but it is important.
Once you let go of the ball things are out of your hands.
Nothing you can do after that—not even the most violent body
English—has any effect.
The ball should be released smoothly, not dropped or thrown, but rolled. It should slide on to the lane with the grace and smoothness of an airplane making a perfect landing.
Phyllis Notaro, BPAA All-Star champion and the highest average woman bowler in the country, says the final slide should end as close to the foul line as possible, without crossing it, of course.
The action arm should continue out as though reaching toward the target and continue upward in a natural, flowing motion.
The thumb should come out of the ball first. The left foot should be at a right angle to the foul line.
Be balanced during the re-

Save Your Husband's Golf Bag
Don't let your husband dispose of his old golf bag. Appropriate if for your own use no matter how battered it is.
It makes a first rate cleaning partner. Mops, brooms and the long handled sponge fit neatly into the clubs' quarters, while clothes, polishers and other cleaning accessories can be stowed in the zipped compartment usually relegated to standard golfing gear such as glove, balls and tees.
CONSERVES ENERGY
You'll find much less energy is expended when cleaning aids are slung over your back than when they're piled up in your arms. And with hands free, you can be wielding a dustcloth as you move from room to room.
If you select your accessories wisely, you can simply store the bag in the broom closet and be ready at a moment's notice to pick up your bag and clean. In order to be thus prepared, however, you'll have to stop being a specialist . . .
using a different 'cleaner' for each and every job; for the golf bag got only won't hold such a collection, but its weight will bog you down.
You'll find you can work efficiently and effectively with a polish for all wood surfaces and a cleanser that can be used on glass, porcelain, tile plastic and linoleum surfaces.

Librarians Get the Works
Who Used a Bacon Slice Bookmark?
BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U-P)—Who would use a slice of bacon fora bookmark? Somebody did.
Someone else used a butcher knife.
These unusual bookmarks were among an odd assortment of things people have left in books borrowed from the Birmingham Public Library.
Miss Adele Cohn, head of the library's circulation department, has found everything from money to a butcher knife which had been used to slice chocolate cake.
Mrs. Cohn has a theory.
When a book is dull, the reader nods, and before he goes to sleep he drops whatever happens to be in his hand into the book, closes it, and that's that.
Men have left such things as how it goes back to the library.
Once a circulation clerk opened a book and found $100 in cash. A quick check of library cards found the owner.
He couldn't remember how he left the money in the book.
An enterprising man took out a book about income tax. He found a lot of deductions he didn't know he had. A great deal of work had gone into his income tax report, which went to the library instead of to the Internal Revenue Department.
The most common articles found in books are letters, notes, cards, invitations, theater tickets and fingernail files.
Women leave more articles than men do—bobby pins, costume jewelry, needlework, tweezers, recipes.
Men have left such things as

Bloomfield Hills Busy With Christmas Parties

By RUTH SAUNDERS

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — One of the "First Days of Christmas" was celebrated last Sunday at "Wind-whistle," home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Craig on Orchard Ridge Road.

Originally the family party was held Christmas Eve, birthday of the eldest son, Lyman Jr., but nowadays the date is arranged to accommodate the grandchildren.

Some are already in college, others are in their teens, and there are subteens, too.

The family includes the junior Lyman Craig (Glee Calloway), the Robert Craigs (Ginny Hart), Mr. and Mrs. Richard Craig (Pat Chubbuck), Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Craig (Mary Lee Stiffner), the Gordon Craigs (Barbara Booth), Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leonard Miller (Maryanna Craig), Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Denyes (Shirley Craig), and the Thomas W. Miners (Jill Craig).

The Rev. and Mrs. Louis C. Gillette and their five children have as house guests, Mrs. Gillette's mother, Mrs. Forest Hyde and Mr. Hyde of Charlottesville, Va. Coming for Christmas dinner at their home on Northlawn Drive will be Mrs. John W. Gillette and the Jerry B. Gillettes and their children.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wardrop are among hosts who will entertain at dinner Thursday evening preceding the Princeton Triangle show.

The show will be staged in the Scottish Rite Cathedral of the Masonic Temple, Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy W. Dahlberg have invited friends for tea Friday afternoon after the Christmas Walk that day of the Junior Women's Association for the Detroit Symphony.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker chose Tuesday for their family dinner party at Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sanders are returning from a visit with the Fred W. Sanders at their home in Marblehead, Mass. They will be at their Epping Lane home for Christmas Day.

The Neil Trevor Jacksons (Margaret Tolzien) announced the birth of a son, Jeffrey Ward, Dec. 3.

Last-Minute Suggestions

Give Records and Books

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I promised to bring you a few gift suggestions today. Now is the time to think in terms of categories. Of course you cannot classify people like you can goldfish, but most people have at least one strong interest.

Those left on your list at this late date probably are the more difficult ones to buy for. Sometimes this is because they have practically everything they could possibly want and sometimes it is due to the fact that they do not have any very decided tastes or likes and dislikes.

Have you thought of records? There is such a wide range to choose from. However, it is essential to know what sort of music the person likes. This is a huge field.

Books also give us a chance to select something for every type person. There are moving books, informative books, amusing books, books and books! You might give a book which ties in with a hobby.

LINGERIE?

Of course there is always lingerie and few women have too much of this. A new addition is always happily received.

Then there is the world of cosmetics, beautifully packaged, and some of these items are luxuries which many women feel they cannot afford to buy for themselves.

There is the world of sports. Is your friend sports minded? Find out what he or she needs from the family.

There is the world of perfume. Many of the best perfumes are so expensive that they are a real luxury gift to the receiver.

What about luggage? Many people are loathe to spend money on really good luggage but enjoy some if they had it.

MORE IDEAS

A shrub may like an indoor garden set. She or he can plant the seeds, care for the garden and watch it grow right in their own room. People who are alone a lot would probably enjoy a couple of love birds or unusual tropical fish. The birds are lots of fun to watch.

Of course there are always gloves, scarves, bedroom slippers, and hosiery.

While many people do not like gifts connected with their work, to others this is a great luxury. A new typewriter, for instance.

A little transistor radio or a tape recorder makes an enjoyable gift.

Of course furs are always welcome. I hope you find something on this list which you had not thought of before. Happy shopping!

Cotton Suede

While the school crowd loves the new cotton suede apparel and its look and feel, mothers rate it as A-plus for washability.

Bowled Over

NEW YORK (UPI) — If the man of the house hasn't bowled before, chances are that some Saturday soon his wife will be urging him to go to the lanes. It's the mothers who are leading the entire family into bowling. They are swelling the ranks of America's 30.4 million amateur keepers faster than any other group.

Books are fine for last minute shoppers. You can match them to almost anybody on your list — light, heavy, slim, old or new.

Baby Your Husband, You'll Rate Higher

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

If asked what makes a woman a good wife how many wives today would include in their carefully considered lists: "She should baby her husband?"

Not many. Babying husbands, most would tell you, went out when women gained equality with men.

Yet in a recent poll where men were asked what makes a woman a good wife a lot of them mentioned that she ought to baby her husband a bit.

BUILD UP EGO

Just what is babying a man? Nothing surely that is beneath any wife's dignity.

It's catering to a man's comfort, building up his ego, guarding his health, and trying to please him in small ways.

That's not too much for a wife to do to keep a man happy. Is it? As the breadwinner for a family, a man should get a little special attention and consideration, shouldn't he?

And isn't it actually much more feminine for a wife to enjoy babying the man she loves than it is for her to worry about equality, or to insist on togetherness, or to put her children's demands always ahead of her husband's? So, no hoots of derision, please, for the big, strong men who want to be babied. Men ought to get something out of marriage besides being handed the monthly bills and an apron.

Taking a Trip?

You can confidently leave your clay-potted house plants unattended during a two-week winter vacation if you water them just before leaving, then place the potted plant in a plastic bag and tie the bag shut around the lower stem, just below bottom leaves.

Try Thumb Test

If the topsoil of your clay-potted plants feels moist to the thumb and the plant is not wilting, withhold water. If dry, you can water freely with warm water. The porous pots will automatically get rid of excess moisture and harmful salts through their walls and bottom drainage hole.

Use a moistened cotton swab when dusting and polishing fragile Christmas tree decorations.

By Calling for More Policemen

Most Teens Would Aid Officer in Trouble

BY EUGENE GILBERT

President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

Police officers trying to make arrests or put down disturbances in a number of cities this year have been attacked by crowds. They found, on calling for help, that many citizens either did nothing at all or sided with the wrong doers.

This is such an ominous development that we decided to ask the nation's young people how they would act in such cases.

We found that about four out of five of you would aid a police officer in trouble.

Most of those who said they would help said they would do this by calling for more policemen.

"If we or others joined in the battle it would create more confusion; I'd call for help," said Gail Roberts, 16, Oradell, N.J., one of the 77 per cent who said they would call for more police.

Similar comment was made by Steve Mankin, 14, of Fort Smith, Ark., who explained that police "are trained for that type of work."

Nearly 18 per cent of you said you would urge adults in the crowd to join the battle on the officer's side. As Kay Cooper, 16, of Kingsport, Tenn., explained:

"I feel that everyone needs to do his part in keeping the law."

About 12 per cent said they'd ditch right in on the embattled officer's side.

"There maybe wouldn't be time to get help," said Danny Allen, 15, of Tullahoma, Tenn.

"I would help out as much as possible," said Wayne Palster, 16, of Hattiesville, Md.

Those who said you would not help the police indicated either a dislike for police, or a feeling that it wasn't the citizen's responsibility to get involved.

"WOULDN'T WANT AID"

"The police should be old enough to handle their own problems," said Steve Shank 17, of St. Louis.

"Police wouldn't want your help," said Bill Dilley, 17, of Lyndhurst, Ohio.

"They wouldn't help us," said Jim Masterson, 17, of Cape Girardeau, Mo.

In general, we found that the majority of you think that police do about right in handling or disciplining teen-agers. But there were sizable groups that said police were too tough and too soft.

"They know from extensive data how to treat teen-agers," explained David Millman, 16, of St. Louis. And Paul Brian Foster, 15, of South Euclid, Ohio, noted: "Troublemakers always get what they deserve."

Among the 23 per cent who said police were too tough was

Carole Kums, 13, of Palo Alto, Calif., who said:

"To them we have switchblades."

POLICE TOO SOFT?

An almost equal number, 22 per cent, thought police were too soft. Typical comment was made by Harlan S. Green, 15, of Olivette, Mo., and Bruce Anderson, 18, of New Brunswick, N.J.

GET SPECIAL TREATMENT

"If they were more strict, there would be less violence," said Harlan.

"They permit rowdies to get away with too much," said Bruce. The majority of you feel that you do get special treatment from police.

"Of course we do—we're kids with different standards and ideals not necessarily of an adult level," said Paul Barnes, 14, of Palo Alto, Calif., one of the 61 per cent who think you are treated differently.

Double standards exist not only between adults and juveniles but on various economic levels and ethnic groups," said Joseph Hairland, 17, of Levittown, Pa.

"They think all teen-agers are delinquents," said Susan Stetson, 15, of South Euclid, Ohio. And another girl from South Euclid, June Davis, 15, came to this conclusion: "They are easier on teenage girls."

To aid a child suffering from asthma or allergies from dust or pollen, replace his bedding with a rubber mattress and pillow. Since foam rubber is dustless, it leaves no irritating particles floating in the air.

The Cause: Christmas Day Turns Pagan

The Way: Give Unto Those Who Cannot Give Back

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK—There has been a great deal of unlovely talk recently—mostly among appropriately frustrated churchmen—of abolishing Christmas celebrations.

They have degenerated into pagan rites, some say, dedicated to drinking and overspending and impiety in general.

The spirit is: Give unto others the same quality of gift, card and eggnog as others give unto you.

A few merchants have joined the verbal fight against over-commercialized Christmas after observing that the modern motto of the shopper is: Merry Christmas to all and to all a good night.

CHRISTMAS ANXIETY
Another class of Americans who are concerned about the modern version of the holy day are doctors and psychiatrists, who can see it making an unlovely shambles of their patients.

There are various descriptive phrases for the physical and psychological breakdowns related to this holiday, such as "Christmas anxiety," and "seasonal depressive reaction."

But whatever they call it, men of medicine agree that the pressure of the season, as it is so hysterically celebrated, can take everything from acute mental depression and ulcers to simple physical exhaustion, whereby a patient can remain limp as an unfiled stocking for months, subject to a variety of virus that come around, round about winter.

The police? They, too, have their share of anti-Xmas neuroses. They must work harder to keep up with all those Christmas-frenzied men and women who steal and shoplift in record numbers during the holidays to keep up with the Joneses (or is it the James boys?)

And in honor of the birthday of Christ, great numbers of previously law abiding citizens suddenly pass bad checks . . .

TAKES AVERAGE
You need money, in America, to celebrate Christmas properly. You need frankincense and Arpege.

Ninety-nine out of 100 Americans over ten-age would agree that Christmas has gotten out of hand. That our crash program for Christmas is unhealthy and irrelevant is an accepted tenet.

Even as we overextend our budgets for cards and presents that have more to do with amazing our family and friends than with commemorating a joyous day, we realize it.

Even as we work ourselves into a frenzy trying to outdo our neighbors in party-giving and lawn decorations, we know we are putting the wrong emphasis on Christmas.

Even as we take a few superfluous drinks at the office party we recognize we're trying desperately to have fun, but this is not the kind of fun Christmas is supposed to offer.

RACE FASTER, FASTER
So most of us, plagued with guilt complexes about commercializing our Christmas, race faster and faster to get through the holiday season with as few physical and mental wounds as possible.

By the time Christmas Day comes we have accomplished all the rituals of feasting and shopping and wrapping that our inner selves know are not really consistent with the birth of Christ—and we are too weary and spiritually let-down to feel much beyond numbness.

It is at this point that we are expected to be gay, to light up, to exclaim "Oh, it's just what I wanted."

Most of us feel called upon to add "Really, it's just what I wanted." Because we didn't really want it, we have to make a double effort to make it sound like we did. Guilty conscience again.

But I'm afraid it would be fruitless to abolish Christmas celebrations. The spirit of giving is almost as American as if it were Christ-like, and much of the spirit of "Joy to the World" would be lost if the celebration was cast aside in favor of quiet contemplation.

Instead, couldn't we strive to abandon the competitive aspects of Christmas while concentrating on its spiritual values?

Give gifts to people you love because you love them, not because you owe them a favor or they give gifts to you.

Take time to read the Christmas story. Relax and enjoy your family even if there is no time left to send cards to business associates.

And remember, as I did when a minister said it in church last Sunday, that Christ himself told us how best to celebrate Christmas.

Invite to our feasts those who cannot invite us back, and give our presents to those who can make no return to us.

People with a "green thumb" are always on the lookout for news of equipment and supplies which will benefit their gardens and farms. Manufacturers of such products provide this news in their newspaper advertising—last year they invested nearly 3% million in daily newspapers.

U.S. Will Re-Establish Relations With Nation
if OAS Lifts Sanctions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy said that it was the policy of the United States to lift the sanctions against the Dominican Republic, the United States will restore its diplomatic relations with the Caribbean country.

Kennedy made it clear in a statement released Wednesday by the White House that the United States favors lifting the sanctions and that it is supporting such action in the OAS.

"If the council of the OAS takes such action—and our representatives are supporting that step—we will resume diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic promptly," Kennedy said.

BALAUER CHERIED
In Santo Domingo, the Dominican capital, Kennedy's statement was hailed by President Joaquin Balaguer, who said it would go a long way toward stabilizing the political situation in his country. The president of the Dominican Republic's largest opposition group, Viriato A. Fiallo of the National Civic Union, also applauded the announcement.

But Juan Bosch, president of the Revolutionary party, expressed caution, saying the remarks could not be construed as meaning an immediate flood of aid.

The United States severed diplomatic relations with the Dominican Republic in 1960 in compliance with an OAS foreign ministers resolution. When the sanctions imposed in the last two years were removed, Kennedy said, the Agriculture Department will authorize purchases under the Dominican allocation of nonquota sugar for the first six months of next year.

Mills' Capacity Exceeds Demand for Newsprint

NEW YORK (AP) — Purchases of newsprint continued to grow in 1961. But for the fifth straight year mill capacity exceeded demand.

In many other respects, also, conditions in the industry during 1961 were a repeat of the year before.

Supply and demand were in nearly the same ratio, the price remained steady, and there were no expectations of serious changes in the pattern.

At $135 a ton, the price in 1961 was the same as it has been since 1957.

Mills operated at about 87 per cent of capacity, down 2 per cent from 1960. By comparison, in 1955 demand was a per cent of capacity reached 100 per cent. And in 1956 demand exceeded ability to produce.

Freeway Opens
Between Lansing,
Muskegon Friday

LANSING — The final link in an 86-mile-long freeway between Lansing and Muskegon will be opened to traffic Friday, the State Highway Department said Wednesday.

The 11.5-mile, $9.4-million section of Interstate 196 bypasses Grand Rapids north of the city. It will enable motorists to drive nonstop from M100 west of Lansing to downtown Muskegon.

The department said 3.4 miles of Interstate 96 freeway at Brighton, known as the Brighton by-pass, will be opened to traffic today.

Both projects were completed nearly a year ahead of schedule, the department said.

Gozo and Comino are islands in the Maltese group in the Mediterranean. They are British possessions.

How to "go places" with a Want Ad!

Someplace around your home there is an object which you have looked at and thought to yourself, "I wish I could get my money out of that thing!"

Whatever that object is, it is probably still useful to someone, even though you no longer need it. It might be an appliance, an outgrown toy or piece of children's furniture, a power tool, a musical instrument, sports equipment, a boat, or even your extra car.

Whatever the item may be, somebody wants it, and you can get in touch with that somebody through a low cost Pontiac Press Want Ad.

It's easy to place your ad. Just dial FE 2-8181 and ask for an ad-taker. Press ad-takers are friendly and helpful and are trained to assist you in the wording of your ad, and you can "charge" your ad if you have a phone listed in your name.

That is the story of how easy it is to ride a Press Want Ad down the road to extra cash. It's fast, it's sure, it's inexpensive, and it's profitable. There will never be a better time than now for you to "go places" with a Want Ad.

Chiropractors Told of Suit Against U.S.

During a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Michigan State Chiropractic Society in Lansing, members of the society were informed that litigation is now pending against governmental agencies supplying health care. The amount involved in suits is $32,108,000 for medical malpractice.

It is stated that the "most frequent allegation is wrongful diagnosis or failure to diagnose." These charges involve the Veterans' Administration as well as the Armed Forces and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Dr. Russell R. Robbins, executive secretary of the society, informed the board that "other charges of malpractice include paralysis resulting from surgery or parenteral injection; trauma or bruises; adverse effects from drugs; sponges and other surgical materials left in the patient and incompatible transfusions."

About 125 different processes are involved in making a lead pencil.

Happy Over 20th Century Role

Heston in Nonreligious Film for a Change

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Charlton Heston said he wanted a change of pace from religious epics, and he's getting it.

In his current film he gets into a shower with Italian beauty Elsa Martinelli.

Heston hardly adds, "It's a large shower." And, fleeing Nazi pursuers in "The Pigeon That Took Rome," he is fully clothed. "Besides," remarked the actor, "What could she fear from Moses?"

Heston is getting as far from Moses, Ben-Hur and El Cid as he can. He made it up to World War II, which is when "the pigeon" takes place. He still hasn't escaped the religious overtures: I found him in a priest's cassock. "Strictly a disguise," explained

Heston, who plays a hard-hearted infantry officer on an undercover mission. "And not a very good disguise at that. Orson Welles saw me in Rome and said I was the most Lutheran-looking priest he'd ever seen. He predicted I would set the church back 2,000 years."

If Heston seems exuberant these days, it is because the current film is not only modern but carries a 12-week schedule. "On my other pictures that would be long enough to get down with the wardrobe fittings."

LENTHY FILMS

No other actor has starred in such lengthy and costly films. Here is his track record:

"The 10 Commandments"—10 months—$10.5 million.

"Ben-Hur"—10 months—$14.5 million.

"El Cid"—7½ months—$8 million.

Why was he chosen for these epics?

"I have a theory about that," he said. "It's a matter of faces. Some actors' faces fit certain eras. Take Bill Holden. Bill has made only two Westerns, neither of them very successful. His is strictly a 20th-century face; there's none better.

Face, there's none better.

"Henry Fonda is a great early American face. He is one of the few actors who has made a number of films of the pre-1860 era."

"Drums Along the Mohawk," "Young Mr. Lincoln," "The Farmer Takes a Wife," etc.

BOGART-URBAN FACE

"Humphrey Bogart had a typically urban American face. He made just one Western and it was laughable.

And where does the Heston face fit?

"Apparently somewhere before Christ," he said glumly.

Yule Note Sent 'Daddy'

Won't Reach Destination

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The address scrawled on the envelope in blue crayon was "Daddy, Ft. Lewis, Wash." The only stamp was a Christmas seal.

Army postal workers weren't able to deliver the letter, which read: "Daddy, please have Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Mommy and I miss you very much. Love, P. P."

Await Ruling on Throw Aways

State Finishes Hearings by Liquor Control Board; Litter Problem Hit

EAST LANSING — The State Liquor Control Commission says it will be at least three weeks before it determines its final action on a ban against throw-away beer bottles.

The commission completed two days of public hearings here Wednesday on the litter problem which throw-away bottles allegedly create.

Harold J. Rathfous, chief maintenance engineer for the State Highway Department, told the commission that the litter problem costs the state more than one-half-million dollars a year.

Rathfous quoted a letter from John C. Mackie, highway commissioner, reporting that the cost of removing roadside litter was nearly $600,000 in the current fiscal year, and tagging the throw-away bottle as a significant part of the litter.

Bottle manufacturers, their Michigan suppliers, the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, the United States Brewers Association and a number of antilitter groups opposed the ban which is scheduled to go into effect Jan. 20.

They claimed the order would cause a loss of business and jobs and would be one more item in the controversial image of Michigan's unfriendly business climate.

U.S. to Join State in Pollution Curb on Detroit River

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff has agreed to join with the State of Michigan in pollution abatement actions in the Detroit River and its outflow into Lake Erie.

The action, he said, will apply to United States waters and sources of pollution only.

The action was the first to be taken under new provisions of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act which permits the secretary to invoke federal enforcement procedures in intrastate waters when invited to do so by a state governor.

First step in the procedure is a conference, which is then followed, where necessary, by formal hearings and finally, if still necessary, by action of the federal court.

Date for the Michigan conference has not been set.

Labor Party Official Retiring After 17 Years

LONDON — Morgan Phillips, general secretary of Britain's Labor party for the last 17 years, will retire soon, the party said Wednesday.

Phillips, 59, suffered a stroke in August 1960 and has been in delicate health ever since. From 1948 to 1957 he was chairman of the Socialist International. No successor has been chosen.

Misses Her Bus, So Girl Zigzags Home by Rote

GRAND HAVEN — Ottawa County Sheriff's men had convincing proof today that some of the nation's school children are in top physical shape. But they found out only after a fearful search for a 16-year-old girl first reported missing after school at Coopersville.

Withholding names, the sheriff's report notes:

The girl missed her school bus shortly after 3 p.m. Monday. When she failed to arrive at her home about three miles away by 6 p.m., her parents notified the sheriff's office. A search failed to turn up anyone who had seen her.

The girl arrived at her home about 8 p.m. She told her parents she had missed the bus and was familiar only with its zigzag route from school to her home which she traced on foot — a distance of 13 miles.

Montreal Gets Rights to Star Gopher in Deal

EDMONTON (AP) — Negotiation rights for All-American quarterback, Sandy Stephens of Minnesota were sold today by the Edmonton Eskimos to the Montreal Alouettes in a Canadian deal. Stephens, 23, is a college player on Edmonton's negotiation list.

Stephens, who'll lead Minnesota against UCLA in the Rose Bowl game Jan. 1, was the first draft choice of the New York Titans of the American Football League and was picked in the second round of the National Football League draft by the Cleveland Browns. Stephens has not indicated which team he favored.

'The Hill' Looks Like a Mountain

NEW YORK (AP)—Billy (The Hill) McGill, the 6-10 Utah star, is making a big early run for the national major college scoring title in college basketball after establishing himself as a top ten challenger in his last two seasons.

No. 1 a year ago when George's Frank Burgess led the nation's big school scorers, the Utah senior has set a blistering 37-point pace in his first seven games this season. Billy has scored 250 points, hitting over 50 percent of his field goal attempts. He also ranks third nationally in rebounding.

First basketball statistics of the season, released today by the NCAA Service Bureau, show Jack (The Shot) Foley of Holy Cross the only other major player topping 30 points in average in the first three weeks of the campaign. Foley, in four games, has scored 131 points for a 32.8 average. Third is Terry Daichinger of Purdue, another of last year's top scorers, with 145 points in five games for a 29.0 average.

The scoring leaders play six games through Dec. 19; others on games through Dec. 17.

PCH Cagers Receive First Real Test Friday

W. Bloomfield Host to Clarkston Quint

A team that so far has ignored its so-so preseason rating faces its first tough league test Friday.

West Bloomfield, figured to finish in the Wayne-Oakland League's second division, hosts Clarkston.

This contest highlights a slim Friday before Christmas Prep schedule in the Oakland County area. All W-O teams are in action and two Oakland A sidrimes are slated.

Avondale hosts Madison and Lake Orion travels to unbeaten Fitzgerald in the Oakland Prep schedule. Winless Milford and Wildcats are improving with each game and the Parsippany cougars have been scoring consistently.

Northville is expected to hand Clarkston its fifth straight loss.

The Avondale-Madison contest must be rated even. Neither team appears to be very strong at this stage. The home court advantage should help the Yellow Jacks.

Lake Orion's Dragons can expect more trouble at Fitzgerald. The Spartans are rolling behind a 5-0 mark and it is doubtful of the Dragons will keep them from notching No. 8.

PLAYS TONIGHT

Clarkston goes after its sixth win in seven starts tonight at home against Oak Park in an Oakland A encounter.

Three contests are set in the Southern Thumb Friday. Capac journeys to Ann Arbor in search of its 17th straight regular season win, winless Dryden can expect more trouble at New Haven and Memphis is at Anchor Bay, another school still looking for its first victory.

Ilwaco City gets back into action tonight at Marquette. The Spartans are 3-0 for the season. Port Huron nipped Hamtramck, 51-50, last night on the Huron court.

Even Scoring

Charles Robinson, Dan Armstrong, Dave Helmreich, Bill Elson, Bob Lallinen and Dan Greg all have had big games. Mike Paddy is about due. His playmaking and defensive ability have been key points in West Bloomfield's success.

Defending such a balanced attack

Clarkston's defense has been a puzzle since the schools started tangling in the various sports.

Wilson, who started the mat game at PCH and then switched later, has been former assistant Steve Seaba four out of five in varsity matches.

Northern led a 30-14 edge in points over Central in the big Fitzgerald Invitational last weekend but that should have little bearing on tonight's outcome.

Both teams used two units in the meet and all some of the Huskies' points were accumulated by reserves who will not be competing in the city scrap.

The grapplers should be in top shape for this one although three of the PNH boys have been hindered by illness since Saturday.

The grueling warfare of the tournament should have most of the top contestants at top form for this big one.

Wilson's contingent defeated Oakland's Dan Henderson in 1:30 on the "hot" croquet "PCH" team which lost to Fitzgerald.

Chad Charles Beaver, 133, and Huskie Ken Kimmel, 120, champs at Fitzgerald will head their respective teams.

Another Small College Quits Playing Football

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Rising costs have forced another small college to quit playing football.

Pepperdine, after 16 years, announced Wednesday it is dropping the sport immediately. It is the second Southern California school in recent weeks to eliminate football, following the lead of the University of San Diego.

College officials said gate receipts this year produced only about $1,000 — and $31,000 was spent on the program. Eight full scholarships also had been given.

Tall Arthur Hill Host to Chiefs for Valley Game

All-Out Effort Needed by Pontiac to Protect Spotless Record

By BILL CORNWELL

Pontiac Central will receive its first real test of the 1961-62 prep basketball season Friday evening when the Chiefs battle towering Arthur Hill in a Saginaw Valley Conference headliner at Saginaw.

The Chiefs, boasting a perfect 5-0 mark and it is doubtful of the Dragons will keep them from notching No. 8.

Two years ago the Chiefs lost a 45-41 decision on the enemy floor and last season they came home on the short end of a 50-48 score.

Arthur Hill, a pre-season coach, seen recruiting as his first major job in trying to improve his alma mater's grid fortunes.

O'Alma, 44, was named Wednesday to replace Andy Pilney, who resigned under fire earlier following the Green Wave's 2-8 record this season.

Recruiting Major Job

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Tommy O'Boyle, Tulane's new football coach, seen recruiting as his first major job in trying to improve his alma mater's grid fortunes.

On the bench but very likely to see a lot of action for Arthur Hill are forwards John Jaworski, who stands 6-7, and 5-9 guard Keith Kaudinger.

Although Hill is five inches taller, Baumann has been the club's best rebounder thus far. Hill, an agile and aggressive performer, is the team's top scorer to date with 22 points.

The Chiefs will need an all-out effort to conquer Arthur Hill and keep their chances for a Valley title alive.

ONLY ONE CHANCE

Furthermore, they'll get only one crack at the Hillites during the current campaign because of the new schedule arrangement caused by SVC expansion.

Under the present setup, PCH meets the Hillites and Saginaw, the leading title contenders, just once—and each contest is on the road.

Pontiac owns Valley wins over Flint Central (58-50) and Bay City Central (58-40) plus a 65-55 non-conference win at Grosse Pointe.

Van Rykel is expected to start the same lineup that so far has been successful—forward Rudy Baumann and Ed Williams, center Otto Kennedy, and guards Roy Couser and Clarence Douglas.

Ransom is the Chiefs' No. 1 scorer at this juncture with 55 points, followed by Douglas with 44 and Kennedy with 38. The 6-foot-6 Kennedy is the squad's top backboard artist with 67 rebounds.

In other league activity tomorrow night, Bay City Handy invades Flint Northern. Saginaw goes to Midland and Bay City Central entertains Flint Southwestern. Flint Central is idle.

SNOW IS MAKING — The snow machines at Mt. Christie have been in full operation making enough fluff for skiers to enjoy the slopes. The lack of natural snow has kept snow machines in operation in all local ski areas.

FIRST TO SKI — After the snow machines finished covering the beginner's and part of the intermediate slope at Mt. Christie, Bill Russell and daughter Nicolii of Bloomfield Hills were the first skiers to put the snow to a test. The picturesque Mt. Christie chalet is in the background.

Schmid Heads Grampian Ski School

Gunter Schmid, the new head of the Grampian Mt. ski school, is only 21 years old but he has packed worldwide ski experience in this period of time.

A member of the Austrian National Swimming team since he was 14 years old, Schmid was Schmid, who can speak nine languages fluently, left his home in Vienna, Austria just a month ago to become an assistant at Alpine Valley on M-59.

Instead, he found the head instructor's position available for him at Grampian and naturally he was very happy to be offered the job.

He and Geoff Norman, the new head instructor at Alpine Valley are very close friends, and they hold somewhat similar views in their teachings.

Unlike many of the European instructors on ski school staffs in this country, Schmid believes in matching ski techniques to the skier's ability and not the skier to a technique.

"I believe," said Schmid, "that each skier should be considered individually for various forms or methods of ski techniques on the market. No one technique should be considered as best for all skiers."

A rugged athlete, Schmid believes that pre-season conditioning can do much in preparing an individual for the ski season. "The instruction is easier if the skier has toned his muscles, and ski instruction is pretty demanding for all beginners."

The ski instructional school is now open at Grampian Mt. for classes, private or semi-private instructions.

A favorite exercise of Schmid's is the wall crouch. The skier stands with his heels, hips and shoulders, touching a smooth surfaced wall. He slowly allows himself to slip down the wall, keeping the heels, hips and shoulders tight to the wall. When the skier gets down as far as he possibly can, he bounces a few times to stretch the muscles and slowly moves up to an upright position.

The ski instructional school is now open at Grampian Mt. for classes, private or semi-private instructions.

The club operates the area for public use. There are four towns and a snack bar at Teeple Hill area which is located in the Highland Recreation area.

PROMOTE PREP SKIING — Weekly ski meets starting the first Saturday morning in January have been planned by high school athletic officials for Mt. Holly. These are the representatives who met last Saturday at Mt. Holly to discuss the prep program. In the left line are Len Halley of Berkley High, Dave Freeman of

Varsity Skiing for Preps Near?

Skiing as a varsity sport in Southeastern Michigan may be a reality before too long. This was the attitude of members of high school athletic staffs who met at Mt. Holly last Saturday morning for the purpose of setting up a schedule of prep meets for the forthcoming ski season.

Representatives from eight schools, primarily Oakland County high schools, met to discuss a schedule by which skiers from their respective schools will meet each Saturday morning for five Saturdays starting January 4th.

The meets have set in triangular competition. Climax of the weekly schedule is the Southeastern Michigan high school slalom tournament February 10 at Mt. Holly.

Most of the skiers are members of ski clubs at their respective schools. Teams will be composed of five boys and four girls and the scores of the top four boys and three girls will count in competition.

The schools presently involved in the prep program are Waterford, Kettering, Berkley, Walled Lake, Ann Arbor, Bloomfield Hills, Royal Oak Kimball and Grosse Pointe.

Other schools from the close Detroit suburban area have shown interest in high school skiing. The Southeastern territory is expected to draw entries from at least 12 schools.

Members of the athletic staffs who met at Mt. Holly last Saturday included Dave Freeman of Waterford; Stu Thorelli of Kettering; Dave Smith of Walled Lake; Harry Zientek of Kimball; Paul Wheeler and Ed Wernet of Grosse Pointe; Don Gregory of Bloomfield Hills; and Ann St. Clair and Len Halley of Berkley.

Mort Gradish, owner of Mt. Holly expects over 120 high school skiers to take part in the Southeastern territory. He has made his area open to the ski club members each Saturday for the meets and has given members of the teams passes for practice use.

Freeman, acting as chairman of the group, said the tentative schedule of meets has been set up and will be released shortly.

Caberfae Pro Compares IPSRA to PGA

Big Things Seen for Pro Ski Racing

CADILLAC — The professional ski racing circuit will do for skiing what the PGA has done for golf. This is the opinion of Franz Gabl, veteran ski pro and head instructor at Caberfae.

Gabl, who took part in two races in the first year of the IPSRA (International Professional Ski Racing Association) last season, says, "The young skiers will be attracted by the growing pros."

It will give them the incentive to practice and work to become good skiers. Our ski areas will also gain prestige from taking part in the ski circuit."

Last season in six pro races which began January 20th, 1961 at Buttermilk Mountain in Aspen, a total of $15,626 was shared by the pros. And Holteger was the top money winner with $4,715 and Tom Spiss of Aspen was second with $2,921.

This year, 10 pro meets are scheduled for the circuit, with possibly an 11th to be added. The total purse is expected to reach $20,000.

Michigan will be the site of one of the races, that being at Boyne Mt. on March 9-10. Last season there were two in the state, at Boyne and Caberfae.

"Skiers will turn out to see the ski pros just as the golfers have done," said Gabl, "and everyone will be watching for their results of every meet."

Gabl, who was one of the coaches at the summer ski camp at Mt. Baker, Washington, where junior skiers have training, has a particular emphasis on conditioning. He feels that pro skiing will help in this respect because skiers will have to stay in tip top shape to stay in the pro circuit.

The World Championship of skiing will take place February 9-11 at Aspen, Colorado. This compares to the PGA championship in golf. The pro circuit in skiing is sponsored by Head Skis and White Stag ski wear.

An Austrian, Molter is a former amateur world champion. Stein Erickson formerly of Boyne Mountain finished in 5th place among the pros with a total of $1,400 in winnings.

Erickson's big pro victory came on his home course at Boyne Mountain, where he won $1,550.

EASIER TO HANDLE — Women drivers are likely to appreciate the power steering which now is available on all GMC Truck and Coach Division station wagons and pickups. The GMC Suburban shows here is shorter than most station wagons but seats eight people and has 144 cubic feet for luggage, groceries or Christmas trees.

Power Steering for Pickups, Wagons

GMTC Announces Innovation

GMC Truck and Coach Division virtually the same steering and handling characteristics as passenger cars, according to Calvin J. Werner, GM vice president and divisional general manager.

"This power steering option, moderately priced, widens the variety of our entire light line," said Werner.

"We feel it is particularly desirable for the Suburban, an 8-passenger station wagon which is becoming increasingly popular for sporting and all-city town or country use," he added.

The general manager said the power steering option joins other steering and suspension advancements on GMC pickups and wagons such as independent front suspension with torsion bars and rear coil springs.

Suburbans and pickups are available with 3- or 4-speed synchromesh or hydraulic transmissions.

Murchison-Kirby Row May Be in Works Again

NEW YORK (UPI)—A renewal of the struggle for control of the Allegheny Corp. that earlier this year pitted the Murchisons of Texas against Wall Street financier Allan P. Kirby appeared a distinct possibility today.

Although Kirby lost control of his $7-billion railroad and investment empire to the Murchisons last May, he remains Allegheny's single biggest stockholder. He served notice on the Texas late Wednesday that he intends to protect his interest in the holding company.

In a formal statement the 69-year-old heir to a five-and-a-half-century fortune lambasted the Murchisons for failure to consult him on Allegheny policy matters, and of embarking on a course that "could cause Allegheny to lose control of IDS (Investors Diversified Services) to the Murchisons."

IDS is a $4-billion Minneapolis investment complex which by all odds is the richest asset of Allegheny.

"For a specific price, this pass enables an American to travel anywhere in Europe for specific periods of time — 30, 60, or 90 days," Wiley said.

If railroads in this country embarked on such a program, he said, they would encourage foreign travelers and stimulate the nation's general economy, as well as cure some of their own financial ills.

CHICAGO (AP)—Trade in grain futures started off at a fairly brisk pace today but it was evenly mixed and most prices showed little change during the first several minutes of transactions on the board of trade.

Large Trucks Crash Leaving 5 Men Dead

SPRING GREEN, Wis. (AP)—Five men were killed today in a shattering head-on collision between two loaded semitrailer trucks at the intersection of two main highways three miles west of Spring Green.

Four hours after the crash, which left Highway 14 and 23 partially blocked by wreckage, state patrolmen, county police and volunteers struggled to pull the wreckage apart and remove the dead.

Wagner, president of Wagner Industries, said Wednesday that plans call for "partial manufacturing operations" in the Three Rivers plant with an expected employment of 200 by the end of 1962.

Wagner, whose firm makes auto wiring, declined to say what would be manufacturer here. He said portions of the plant may be leased to other firms.

The plant once employed 1,000 and was Three Rivers' largest employer. It was closed in 1958, after having been reactivated to make submarine parts in World War II.

Company and union negotiators said details of the agreement ending a walkout of 3,700 hourly workers will be withheld pending a ratification meeting by UAW Local 155.

Dodge Truck employees walked out Nov. 2 in a dispute over production cuts and a 3.70 hourly rate.

British Talk of Using Decimal System

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK — The British are talking of making their money more easily understood. The idea would be to join a major portion of the world in figuring money on the decimal system.

Americans, who have plenty of trouble just understanding their own try to figure what something would cost in a 100-dollar system. They will be all for anything that takes some of the mystery out of the British pound, shilling and pence.

And if the British adopt something like our dollar-equals 100 cents system, it would be a major step, but only one, in the long process of getting universal standards for the money where each nation is increasingly, and often in spite of itself, finding it has to live with and do business with a lot of others.

There will be a lot of things still all mixed up. And a lot of things that Americans don't figure by the decimal system either.

The inch, yard, mile and acre may make sense to you. You don't try to figure what something would cost in a 100-dollar system. They will be all for anything that takes some of the mystery out of the British pound, shilling and pence.

Exiled Cuban Insists Bloody Battles Going On

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A military leader of the Cuban revolution, now in exile, said bloody fighting has involved rebel guerrillas and 25,000 Fidel Castro troops in Central Cuba's mountains.

No confirmation of major conflict came from major Cuban between rebel units and Castro militia trying to stamp out the increased activities.

MANY DEAD

"Just today," Gutierrez Menoyo said, "we received word of bitter fighting that has left many militiamen dead at Obispo near Sancti Spiritus."

In 1958 Gutierrez Menoyo led the second front of Escambray, an army that cooperated with Castro's forces in overthrowing Cuban dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Gutierrez Menoyo, a supporter of Castro after the latter took over in January 1959, fled into exile in January 1961, and charged the bearded revolution-ary with being a Communist.

Gutierrez Menoyo said two former comrades of the Escambray army are in the field leading rebel forces there now. He identified them as Capt. Everardo Salas and Lt. Elzo Balmaseda.

"The guerrilla movement was formed in the Escambray Mountains last Nov. 10," Gutierrez Menoyo said. "Our force is made up of anti-Communist Cubans from every walk of life—students, soldiers and even militiamen who have defected from Castro."

Major clashes between Castro and insurgent groups. But they said there have been signs of up of anti-Communist Cubans some minor contacts between the guerrillas and Castro troops try to hunt them down.

word of unusual activity in Cuba.

In Havana, AP correspondent George Arfied said there has been no indication of major fighting on the island. Arfied said there are constant rumors of skirmishes but such reports seldom are confirmed.

Tshombe Signs Unity Pact

JFK, Macmillan to Open Confab

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP)—President Kennedy, fresh from his triumphant South American visit but saddened by his father's illness, begins a wide-ranging discussion of world issues today with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

The U.S. chief executive and the British prime minister were expected to devote much of their two-day talks to the critical problem of fashioning a common Western policy to present to Moscow on critical issues.

They are expected to talk also about the crisis over Katanga, the impact of India's blitzkrieg conquest of Portuguese Goa, the European Common Market and other issues. But the biggest problem center on Berlin and an Allied approach to Moscow.

President Charles de Gaulle of France still is clinging doggedly to his opposition to formal Allied negotiations with the Soviets on Berlin.

The British believe negotiations are necessary to prevent the crisis that would result if Soviet Premier Khrushchev carried out his threat to sign a separate treaty with Communist East Germany.

WONT OPPOSE TALKS
De Gaulle has agreed not to oppose a resumption of exploratory talks in Moscow between U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to find out if negotiations on Berlin are possible. These are expected to start early in the new year.

The other North Atlantic Allies the NATO Ministerial Council endorsed the probing offer at meeting in Paris last week.

There was much speculation here that Macmillan still thinks something could be accomplished by a summit meeting with Khrushchev and that he would stress this to Kennedy. It was believed in some circles that the Bermuda meeting is being held at Macmillan's urging and that a summit meeting is one of the points he is most anxious to explore.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk headed a team of U.S. advisers who flew from Washington to Palm Beach to accompany the President.

Others include McGeorge Bundy, top White House adviser on international affairs; Glenn T. Seaborg, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; Charles E. Bohlen, former ambassador to Moscow and the top State Department expert on cold war issues; and the U.S. ambassador to London, David K. E. Bruce.

(S)parking Gets Green Light on Georgia Campus
ATHENS, Ga. (AP)—Campus police at the University of Georgia have been instructed that romantically inclined students may park on the campus until 11:30 p.m. on weekends and an hour later on weekdays.

The university is neither condoning nor promoting parking, said Joe Williams, dean of students, but "if they have to park, we feel it is better to park on the campus instead of on some lonely country road."

Previously parking had been permitted in dormitory parking areas but some students had complained that if they parked anywhere else—even under a street light—campus police ordered them to move on.

Bike Shines, Faces Glow

Santa Comes Early With Steady Jobs

A lot of Pontiac area people are getting mighty big Christmas presents this year. They're getting a steady job.

With Pontiac Motor Division and Fisher Body Division hiring some 1,250 hourly rated employees to meet increased production schedules, there's going to be a Christmas for lots more.

There'll be at least 10 additional bright eyes come Christmas morn in Pontiac. These will belong to the five children of Rayner C. McKee and Eugene Daniels.

Both fathers are typical of the many who were out of work when the local plants started hiring last week.

Daniels, 35, of 500 S. Paddock St., has two sons, ages 11 months and 3 years.

"This is the first steady job I've had in four years," said Daniels. "I sure makes me feel fine."

BEST PRESENT
Daniels had been working odd jobs. This week he gets his first paycheck. "It's just about the best Christmas present I ever got. Now I can buy a few things for my wife and kids."

McKee, 29, of 538 Valencia Drive, has three children: a boy, 1, and two daughters, 3 and 6.

"I've been looking for steady work since September. Things looked pretty dim for Christmas until Pontiac Motor started hiring."

"I went over to the employment office and tried, but it was no dice at first. I kept coming back until they said okay," McKee said.

"I started working the 13th. That's one 13 that sure wasn't unlucky for me," he added with a big smile.

Both men are metal press operators in Plant No. 14.

GOOD OLD TIME CARD — Eugene Daniels, left, of 500 S. Paddock St. and Rayner McKee of 538 Valencia Drive are happy to be punching time cards again. Both had been unemployed for extended periods before Pontiac Motor Division upped its production schedule and began hiring new employees last week. Daniels and McKee got jobs for Christmas and are now working the afternoon shift at the metal press plant.

Area Residents Show Press Carrier They Appreciate His Efforts

Yesterday was just like Christmas morning for 13-year-old Bill Larson of Waterford Township.

When he stepped off the school bus at Lochaven and Elizabeth Lake roads, his grateful Pontiac Press customers presented him with a brand new bicycle.

Every day "except Sundays for more than two years the Pierce Junior High School honor roll student has plodded about through every kind of weather to deliver the news."

Newspapers were carefully placed inside screen or storm doors. If people wanted their papers saved while on vacation, young Bill would stack them neatly in the garage or other specified place.

These little gestures didn't go unnoticed. A fund raising campaign for a bike was put into action two weeks ago spearheaded by John W. McGee of 745 Elizabeth Lake Road, an Oakland County Sheriff's deputy.

It could be tough being the oldest of seven children at Christmas especially if your dad has been out of work for a year and a half. Arvel Larson, Bill's father has just started working again at Seaman Manufacturing Co., after a long lay-off.

Last Christmas, things were bleak in the nest frame home at 6311 Elizabeth Lake Road, so Bill took every cent of his earnings for a month — about $20 — and bought presents for everyone.

The only time Bill uses his paper route money for himself is when he needs things like clothing or books or necessities. His mother said, "Bill's always giving his brothers and sisters a nickel or dime for something."

Whatever the weather from now on, the handsome, teen-ager will have an easier time carrying his loaded newspaper bag.

Katanga Chief Agrees to Congo Peace at Last

Secession of Province to Be Concluded; Awaits Supporters' Approval

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—President Moise Tshombe agreed today to end the secession of his wealthy Katanga province but said that his supporters in Elisabethville must approve before the agreement is carried out.

Tshombe and Premier Cyrillo Adoula of the central Congo concluded the pact to restore unity in the Congo after more than 15 hours of negotiations at the U.N. military base at Kilitano.

They promptly flew off to their respective capitals of Elisabethville and Leopoldville.

Tshombe signed an eight-point declaration which was presented formally to the United Nations. Its text, announced by the central Congo government, was brief and in a skeleton form. It said: "The secession of the province of Katanga . . ."

"1. Accepts the application of the fundamental law of May 19, 1960, the Congo's provisional constitution under which Katanga is a province and not an independent or autonomous state."

"2. Recognizes the indivisible unity of the Republic of the Congo."

"CENTRAL AUTHORITY"
"4. Recognizes the authority of the central government over all parts of the republic."

"5. Agrees to the participation of representatives of the province of Katanga in a government commission to prepare a new constitution."

"6. Permits to take all measures agreed senators and deputies of Katanga Province to exercise the national functions that it participate in the national parliament."

"7. Agrees that the gendarmerie of Katanga shall be placed under the authority of the president of the republic."

"8. Agrees to see that the resolutions of the U.N. Security Council and General Assembly are respected and to facilitate their execution."

"Signed Tshombe."

Tshombe before leaving Kilitano told newsmen the declaration would have to be ratified by his cabinet and the Katanga Assembly. But a U.N. spokesman asserted: "As far as we are concerned it is signed, sealed and delivered. There is no question of ratification."

Menon Irritated With Reporter

Shoves Him and Calls Newsman Rude After Question on Goa

NEW YORK (UPI)—Indian diplomat V. K. Krishna Menon, apparently testy over his nation's delicate position on Goa, flared in anger Wednesday and shoved a UPI Moviephone reporter who questioned him about aggression.

Menon, facing a battery of TV cameras and microphones, wheeled on Amos J. Fisher of UPI Moviephone after denying that India's occupation of the Portuguese enclaves was aggression.

"What would you call it then?" Fisher asked.

"What do you mean," Menon snapped, pushing Fisher with his hand. "You can't talk to me like that. Speak politely. Who do you think you are? You have no right to be here if you address me in that fashion."

Still frustrated, Menon flashed an icy smile and turned to face the cameras again, saying, "I am sorry this gentleman was rude."

Fisher replied he meant no offense and offered apologies. Later Menon brushed aside the incident and shook hands with Fisher.

Menon's remarks were made at a stormy airport news conference in which a TV cameraman collided with the chief U.N. delegate as well as its defense minister, was on his way to the United Nations.

ADLAI'S WARNING

The flareup over the issue of aggression started when Menon was questioned about U.S. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's warning in the Security Council that U.N. failure to criticize India threatened the future of the United Nations.

A few minutes after the news conference, a TV cameraman Al Hellman of U.S. News collapsed and died of a heart attack.

Hellman, a freelance photographer on assignment for NBC, fell right after the conference, but rejected immediate aid from a physician, saying, "Thanks, Doc, but get yourself another drink. I'm okay." Minutes later he collapsed again and died.

Bandit Holds Up Two Employees Forced to Open Safe; Gunman Flees With $2,000

TROY — A masked and armed bandit forced two women employees of the Thunderbird Bowling Lanes, 150 W. Maple Road, to open a safe early this morning, before he fled with an estimated $2,000 in cash and one of the women's cars.

One of the employees, Mrs. Helen Verrier of Ferndale, told Troy police she let the man into the restaurant about 8 a.m. She forced her into the kitchen at gunpoint.

Later, when another employee, Mrs. Jean Leslie of Warren came in, the bandit made them open the safe, stole the money and a case of whisky and fled in Mrs. Verrier's car.

The whisky was recovered in the building, Center Line State Police found the empty car a few blocks away.

The man was described as slim, in his early twenties and wearing gray and white-striped overalls and a red-checked cap. Owners of the Thunderbird Bowling Lanes are C. A. Walby of West Bloomfield Township, Francis X. Roberts and Charles J. Roberts, both of Royal Oak.

Castro, U.S. Friends Planned Invasion

BOSTON (AP) — The U.S.-supported invasion of Cuba was planned by Fidel Castro and his friends in our government," Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, said in a copyright interview today in the Boston Herald.

The Herald quoted Welch as saying, "All we did in Cuba was help Castro. The Cuba invasion was planned by Castro and his friends in our government to make Castro stronger throughout Latin America, to reduce prestige, and to expose prematurely thousands of patriotic Cuban citizens for the purpose of killing off future resistance."

"Nothing could be sillier," he said, "to believe there is any real rift between the Soviet Union and Red China."

NOT SO MERRY — Commerce Township Fire Chief Clarence Kutkuhn surveys damage to the Robert Davall home at 2885 Commerce Road following a fire and explosion in the living room this morning. Most of the family's Christmas gifts and the Christmas tree went up in flames when a space heater exploded, but Mrs. Davall was thankful that she was able to rescue her five children. Shown in the foreground are a few presents which the mother managed to save.

Mother Saves 5 but Loses Gifts

Commerce Township mother saved her five children at home but lost most of the family's Christmas presents today when a space heater exploded in the living room.

Mrs. Robert Davall of 2885 Commerce Road was in the kitchen when her son, Andrew, 10, ran in to tell her flames were shooting out of the back of the oil space heater into the living room where his younger brothers and sisters were.

Now he has to try to scrape together more money for new gifts before Christmas along with looking for a new home for his family, he said.

One of the Davall's six children, Donna, 11, already had left for school just before the fire broke out. Still at home were Sharon, 9, Linda, 6, Richard, 3, and George, 2.

"I think he is just trying to gain notoriety by making the confession," the police official added.

Says U.S. Rails Could Gain by European Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Alexander Wiley, R-Wis., said today U.S. railroads could profit from the example of those in Western Europe.

Urging more "creative efforts" to encourage tourists to visit this country, he cited "Eurail pass" sold only in the United States by European railroads.

"For a specific price, this pass enables an American to travel anywhere in Europe for specific periods of time — 30, 60, or 90 days," Wiley said.

If railroads in this country embarked on such a program, he said, they would encourage foreign travelers and stimulate the nation's general economy, as well as cure some of their own financial ills.

Linsenneyer to Resign From Beverly Hills Post

BIRMINGHAM — Leo J. Linsenneyer, president pro tem of Beverly Hills Village Council, has resigned his position because his job is taking him to Chicago.

Linsenneyer, 31, will not be replaced by an appointment because his resignation will not become effective until February and the village election will be held in March.

He has been named assistant sales manager for the Victor Manufacturing and Gasket Co. in Chicago.

A member of the council since March, 1959, he has been chairman of the village road commission and coordinator for the village engineering consultants.

A village resident eight years, he was former vice president and treasurer of the Beverly Hills Association and a member of the Birmingham Junior Chamber of Commerce and Society of Automotive Engineers.

Linsenneyer, who graduated from the University of Detroit, has announced the U. of D. Titan games the last 12 years.

The Birmingham Musicale will hold its annual carol sing at Shain Park 5:30 p.m. Christmas Eve.

Arrangements are being made by Mrs. D. L. Tate of the Musicale and the Junior Music Clubs, joint sponsors of the traditional event.

Leading the carolers, as in the past, will be William Spence of Royal Oak. Mimeographed copies of the carols will be available at the park.

Robert Kutscher, band director at Seaborn High School, will conduct the instrumental accompaniment.

Applications are now being accepted for the winter term of painting and drawing classes of adults sponsored by Cranbrook Academy of Art Galleries.

Classes will meet Tuesday and Thursday evenings in the studio below the art library, opposite the galleries.

The course in figure drawing will begin Jan. 9 and the painting classes will start Jan. 11. Both will be held from 8 to 10 p.m.

The registration deadline for the 10-week courses is Jan. 5. Jack Madison, painting instructor at the Academy, will teach the classes.

Italian Red Membership Decreases by 70,000

ROME (AP) — Italy's Communist party had admitted a net loss of 70,000 members during 1961. But its strength at the polls has held steady.

A report put before the central committee of the party, the biggest in a non-Communist country, said 200,000 members dropped out during the year, 130,000 new members joined and total membership is now 1,728,000.

Links India to Russia

LISBON (AP) — Foreign Minister Alberto Franco Nogueira, who vainly sought U.N. intervention against the invasion of Portugal's Indian enclaves, charged today that India is now "absolutely identified with Soviet Russia."

ANGRY CROWD GATHERS

The fire spread rapidly through a big nylon tent trapping hundreds of spectators. Many of the dead were children.

After his arrest, Alves was taken from the Niteroi jail to a military barracks when about 50 angry people gathered in front of the jail. No charges have been filed against Alves.

The police chief said Alves implicated Gualter Rosa Santos as his accomplice. Santos was arrested but denied having anything to do with setting the fire.

During the night, police took Alves secretly to the circus ruins to reconstruct his confession.

They quoted him as saying he sat on a top bleacher seat and that when the performance got under way Santos, his alleged accomplice, tossed a can of gasoline on the tent and that Alves threw a lit match on the soaked surface.

Girl Cries With Joy as Fiance Shows Up

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Tears of joy dampened the cheeks of Barbara Hipke Wednesday night as she held firmly to the hand of her fiance, a tired airman who had taken a long bus ride to keep an appointment he missed in grand fashion two days earlier.

Moments before, the young man A.L.C. Kenneth Driskill, had been kissed resoundingly by Barbara, who flew into his arms as he stepped from the bus.

MAKE WEDDING PLANS

"The couple spent a moment alone in the corner of the waiting room, then returned to talk of wedding plans."

Asked when they would be married, Driskill, 24, said, "As soon as possible."

Barbara, 28, a teacher, said the wedding would be in the United Church of Christ in her hometown of New Holstein, about 60 miles north of Milwaukee.

"Man, I sure am tired from all that bus riding," said Driskill, of Gaffney, S.C. He said he left Gaffney Tuesday afternoon and finally arrived in Chicago last evening. He phoned Barbara and they arranged to meet in Milwaukee.

She and Driskill met in Tripoli where he was stationed at Wheeler Air Force Base, where Barbara had a teaching assignment. They decided to marry and Driskill had purchased the ring when he was reassigned to Japan.

FINALLY LOCATED

Barbara quit her job, plunked down $1,500 of her own money for plane fare and flew to New York, where she was to meet Driskill.

Chill Sweeps Into Northern Part of Florida

By The Associated Press

Temperatures moderated across northern sections in the West and Midwest today but colder air swept into most of the east and dipped southward into Northern Florida.

A strong flow of mild Pacific air across the West brought relief from the spell of zero weather from Montana into parts of the north central region. However, a pocket of arctic air kept temperatures a little below zero in parts of the Dakotas. It was 4 in Aberdeen, S.D., 3 in Huron, S.D., and 1 in Dickinson, N.D.

The cold air covered most areas from the Mississippi River eastward to the coast and set off light snow in the upper Mississippi Valley.

Angels Prepare God's Way...a Little Child

(Editor's Note: The message went forth from the Heavens—and on earth, it was tidings of joy. This is the third of four articles on the Christmas story with its setting in the divine realm, based on Scriptural allusions.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

Across the mystic span, the messengers sped, through the tempestuous veil between the immortal and the mortal, they passed, Out of the heavens, they traveled to earth. They bore a message to man.

The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together.

Into the ears of prophets and seers, the divine emissaries whispered the amazing intelligence. Through the secret channels of dreams, they poured the gracious report.

It was enigmatic and elusive to the human mind.
"And He will lift up an ensign to the nations from afar... And a highway shall be there and a way... The redeemed shall walk there... the ransomed of the Lord."

Through the discerning, heaven-inspired spirits of the earth, through Isaiah, Joel, Malachi, Micah, Amos, Zechariah, Daniel, Jeremiah and the visiting, harbingers conveyed the Deity's intent.

CENTURIES OF PREPARATION
The preparation went on over centuries of terrestrial time. The help decreed for man diffused to all disposed to respond to it, in the flesh or previously gone from it.

"The Lord whom ye seek shall come suddenly to the temple... And He shall sit as a Father and Purifier... He shall be as an hiding place from the wind, a covert from the tempest."

To the Archangel Michael, of the four chief-principles of the Creator's imperial regime, and to the herald of the cherubim, Gabriel, were commanding duties in the earthly expedition.

They led an angel army in disseminating the story.

"Let all the nations be gathered together and let the people be assembled... And a little child shall lead them... His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor... the Mighty God... the Everlasting... Prince of Peace."

It was Gabriel, the intercessor who overcomes resistance to the wills of Lucifer's dominions and powers of the lower air, that a special task was given in the new move for mankind.

He was to enlist direct participation of several members of its own genus, including a young Jewish maiden of Galilee.

EXPECTATIONS LOOSED

But before that was done, enhanced desires and expectation had to be loosed among the common populace. Wilted hopes had to be lifted.

To man, engulfed in materialism, the higher realities had receded from his ken, although they interlarded his earthly framework, fashioning and sustaining it.

But man's consciousness had become ravaged by misuse. He could not make out the spiritual world that co-existed with the physical, part of an inter-related continuity.

To him, the universe was split by distance, and life shattered by time. He considered God's province remote and far away, and felt that events and experiences lasted only so long as embodied in their material setting.

Only material effect registered with him. It was his escape and his standard. Without it, fact escaped him. His insights were marred; his impulses shrunken. He could not see that the past could be preserved and perpetuated, even as its material manifestations dissolved.

In his warped view, it was a fragmented, barren existence, shut in by length, breadth and thickness, by touch, taste and smell. It was a dying chain of successive occurrences, rather than consecutive, inter-connected, unity.

HEALING NEWS BROUGHT
But to short-sighted humanity, the vitalizing spirits brought God's healing news. Although the highest formative forces, the "things that are not shaken," remained changeless, the lower orders were subject to renewal.

"He shall feed the flock like a shepherd. He shall gather the lambs with His arms and carry them in His bosom and shall gently lead."

The auguries were couched in imagery and intimations, for the full import could not be communicated at once to man's limited concepts.

"Every valley shall be lifted up, and every mountain and hill shall be made low, and uneven ground shall become level, and the rough places plain."

Gradually, step by step, the word was spread, the people readied, though many scorned and killed the prophets that relayed the information. Yet others listened, wondered and hoped.

"But thou, Bethlehem, though thou be little... yet out of thee shall He come forth... that is to be Ruler... whose goings forth have been from of old, from everlasting."

Other hints also were dispersed, many of them difficult for man to adjust to his notions of success.

"He was despised and rejected by men, a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief... He was wounded for... transgressions. In all their afflictions, He was afflicted, and the angel of His presence saved them; in His love and in His pity, He redeemed them."

The tenderly shaped plan had directness and profound simplicity that heaped untold love and acceptance on earthly beings.

GABRIEL'S ANNOUNCEMENT

It was to her that Gabriel made the announcement, as well as to her kinsman, Zacharias, whose wife was to bear another son, John the Baptist, to serve as a forerunner to God's manifestation.

Gently, Gabriel approached the innocent girl of Nazareth as she knelt by a well. "Hail, thou that art highly favored. The Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women."

She was understandingly startled and disturbed, and he reassured her. "Fear not, Mary for thou hast found favour with God. And behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb and bring forth a Son, and shall call His name Jesus."

The angel passed, discerning her beauty, soothing her spirit from the bounty of his own. "He shall be great and shall be called the Son of the Highest... Of His kingdom there shall be no end."

The girl, uncovering her face, looked up imploringly. "How shall this be, seeing I know not man?"

Gabriel explained softly, "The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee. Therefore, the Child to be born will be called holy, the Son of God."

It seemed a normal sort of transmutation to Gabriel, accustomed to full spiritual correspondence and interchange. What was unusual was the entry of God into man, bodily. He realized that the phenomenon was strange to individually isolated human beings.

"With God," he said, "nothing shall be impossible."

The girl bowed her head. "Behold the handmaid of the Lord. Be it unto me according to thy word."

Gabriel also had to conciliate her peturbed husband, Joseph, to keep him from repudiating the new life stirring in her. But once he understood, he accepted. And that's all that is asked.

Hears Arguments in Gas Suit Motion

DETROIT (AP)—A U.S. district judge heard additional arguments Tuesday on a motion to dismiss a Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. suit seeking $17 million damages from Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court here, sought the damages on grounds that Panhandle would not sell Consolidated more gas.

Consolidated contended it needed the gas to meet the increasing demands of its customers, among them some of Michigan's largest industries.

Canny Joe Kennedy Amassed Fantastic Fortune

By United Press International
Joseph P. Kennedy parlayed the luck of the Irish, a knack for politics, a canny business sense and almost unbounded resourcefulness and imagination into a fantastically large fortune.

His immigrant father Patrick, a Boston saloon-keeper and a political power in his district, early installed in Joseph Patrick Kennedy a zeal for adventure.

In later life, Kennedy repaid by making a fortune in investments in Scotch whisky, movies, and shipping. The investment banking house he now heads has financial stakes in almost every facet of American business life.

Kennedy's life has been an almost endless success. Although he didn't need money—his father had prospered—Joe Kennedy earned $5,000 as a co-owner of a sightseeing bus while he was at Harvard where he was graduated in 1912.

He served as a Massachusetts bank examiner, president of the Columbia Trust Co. of Boston, and then assistant general manager of the Bethlehem Steel Co.'s Fore River shipyard at Quincy, Mass. In 1913, Kennedy, ever on the rise, became manager of Hayden, Stone & Co., investment bankers, and served for several years.

COMMUTED ACROSS U.S.

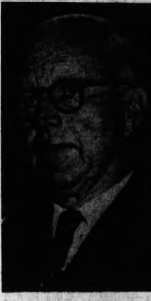

In succeeding years Kennedy was active in movie heading and financing and committed between the East Coast and Hollywood. During this period he quietly—and quickly—amassed a fortune the extent of which there is no accurate measure. It has been estimated at $300 million.

Kennedy met Franklin D. Roosevelt while the late president was an assistant secretary of the Navy. Later Kennedy served during Roosevelt's administration as chairman of the Securities Exchange Commission, chairman of the Maritime Commission, and ambassador to the Court of St. James. He and Roosevelt broke over Kennedy's prediction that democracy in England was doomed.

While Kennedy was amassing wealth and fame, he was also building a sizeable family. He had been married in 1914 to the former Rose Fitzgerald, daughter of the colorful Boston Mayor John F. (Honey Fitz) Fitzgerald. The Joseph Kennedys had nine children, seven of whom are alive today. During the campaign in which Kennedy's oldest surviving son John F. won the presidency, the elder Kennedy stayed mostly in the background. It was well known there were good-natured—but deep—differences of opinion between father and son on Democratic liberalism.

DAD IN THE ACT — If you're setting up your Christmas gift train under the Yule tree, you want to get lots of railroad into a small area. 100 gauge offers the best detail in smaller trains, and the greatest variety in scale models.

Accessories Realistic, Too Trains Always Delight

The warning whistle... the headlight beam... the flag of smoke, and 'round the hill bursts "Old 666" hauling chemicals, refrigerated goods, coal, and lumber to unloading platforms at Smalltown, U. S. A.

Locomotive to caboose... each unit built by men of the family temporarily turned "engineers."

Christmas time means train... miniature railroad hobby of industry sportsmen for decades, is enjoying new popularity this year. Kit manufacturers have produced the makings of a whole railroad empire.

Seek Old Treasure Ship With $1 Million in Cargo NAGASAKI, Japan (U) — A new attempt is being made to find the old Portuguese man-of-war Madre de Dios, sunk here 333 years ago, supposedly with silver... bullion aboard valued today at $1 million.

The salvage operations, directed by Naohide Inaki, 35, are the eighth attempt to find the ship. Japanese historians say the ship was sunk by gunfire at the mouth of Nagasaki Harbor when she tried to leave in defiance of orders from a feudal lord.

Heart trouble is more common among men than among women, except at age 75 and over.

The Wrapping Will Be Pretty

It'll Be Year of Beauty and Fabulous Design—Old Meets New

It's going to be a year of beauty, vibrant color and fabulous design under the Christmas tree.

This year, elegance and tradition combine with the best of modern design to bring a variety in Christmas wrappings the like of which we've never seen before.

There's something for everyone, whether taste runs to the traditional, quaint, or the glamorous and sophisticated.

Gifts in all their glowing glory will joyfully reflect the tree lights. Delightful groups of Hummel-like children, heartwarming animals like a shy little sloth and gamboling cocker spaniels, joyous birds in flight, will join the parade of the loveliest Christmas gift wrappings.

The traditional red and greens as much a part of Christmas as carols and good wishes, are back, too, in brilliant new treatments.

Perhaps the most luxurious paper you'll find is a solid red-flocked treatment of poinsettia and holly that looks as though it belongs on the walls of a Victorian mansion. Called "Red Velvet," its richness is far precious gifts.

There's always something new, of course. This year it is picture wrappings to make your gifts look as pretty as a picture, designed so that when the gift is wrapped, the center panel forms one large picture.

There are many other panel wrappings to choose from. Use gift paper with a dainty design for small packages; a bold design for large ones. Solids can be used for all sizes, but vary the width of ribbon according to size.

She's Told: Don't Offer Seat to Man

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I am a young woman in the early 20s. The other day a friend and I got on the bus to go downtown. Shortly after we got on an elderly gentleman boarded the bus and I got up and offered him my seat.

Later my girl friend told me that I placed the man in a very embarrassing position and said that a woman never offers a seat to a man. Will you please tell me if I was wrong?

A: It was very thoughtful of you to offer him your seat, but unless he was very old and had real difficulty in keeping his balance while standing or he was in some way crippled, your friend is right that you should not have gotten up for a man.

Q: Is it proper for new houseowners themselves to give a housewarming? In my opinion, it is all wrong since people invariably take presents to a housewarming and an invitation issued by the houseowners themselves is the same as asking for presents for their new house. My sister-in-law disagrees with me and says it is entirely proper. May I have your opinion?

A: It is entirely proper for the new houseowners to give a housewarming to show their house to their friends, and there is no requirement that guests bring presents.

Q: A friend and I recently took a trip to the West Coast. We traveled on an all-coach train. At night my friend went into the ladies' lounge and changed into pajamas for the night. A few of the other women passengers on the train did the same thing. They did of course wear housecoats over their pajamas, but even so, I thought this highly improper. May I have your opinion?

A: I agree with you thoroughly.

Q: Is it necessary for a mother and her grown son to engage separate rooms when stopping at a motel while traveling? I would very much appreciate your answer to this question.

A: They should engage separate rooms.

Details for announcing the engagement are described in the new Emily Post book, "Announcing the Engagement." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to The Emily Post Institute, care of The Pontiac Press.

Keep Fussing, Abby Says

He Still Hasn't Built Table

DEAR ABBY: I have tried laughing, shouting, cursing and going home to my mother, but I can't get my husband to finish the table he started—three years ago.

It's true, he has never finished anything he started, so I suppose I should be accustomed to it, but after 3 years this is ONE thing I want him to finish.

It is a lovely green marble which he bought in Spain, and would be perfect in our living room. He has the necessary tools, materials, ability and time.

If you print this, go ahead and use my real name. We have Air Force friends scattered over three continents who will know exactly who he is anyway. Hopefully,

STEVE'S MAGGIE
DEAR MAGGIE: Chip away at him. Honey. If it isn't finished by the first of the year, hire someone to do it.

DEAR ABBY: Tonight my love affair ended. I read your column with mixed feelings because I know what it is to hunger for someone who can't be legally yours. I have something to pass on to those unfortunate mixed-up people (that's what we are) who try changing jobs or moving away but somehow always find a way to get together again. I have a devoted husband, wonderful children and a full life. So why did I get myself into a situation which could destroy all this? I don't know the answer, and I don't think anyone does.

I am not a religious person, Abby, but I prayed to help me WANT to end this thing. And, while praying, I really didn't want anything to change.

Tonight I sit here in amazement and I can't explain it. God must have worked the ending through my lover. I

Pontiac Press Photo

The Central Volunteer Bureau, Pontiac Area United Fund, has named Commander G. L. Prible, U.S.N., Ret., and Mrs. Prible December Volunteers of the Month. Last summer the couple devoted some 600 hours on the construction of patio and garden at Pontiac State Hospital where they feel a great service opportunity exists for the retired.

Volunteers of the Month

Pribles Honored for Hospital Work

Countless hours of volunteer service at Pontiac State Hospital have brought to Cmdr. G. L. Prible, U.S.N., Ret., and Mrs. Prible the December Volunteer of the Month honor given by the Pontiac Area United Fund's Central Volunteer Bureau.

Commander and Mrs. Prible became interested in horticultural therapy through their membership in Waterford Branch of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. However, the couple's services to patients have gone far beyond club work.

According to the hospital's occupational therapy department, the couple gave at least 600 hours last summer for the building of the institution's patio and rock garden. Although Cmdr. Prible never had mixed a bag of cement before, he supervised and worked alongside patients for the project. He now knows every stone in the 12-by-30 patio equipped with lawn furniture and overlooking a garden where formerly there was only a patch of gravel. Some 60 patients already have enjoyed the scenic garden, including some who previously had not shown any desire to go outdoors, according to Mrs. Megitt.

PILOT PROGRAM?
Recently the successful patio project was spotlighted by a popular television star as a possible program to be used throughout the country.

While constructing the patio, the Pribles brought a lunch daily to avoid "wasting time" at noon. They had planned a vacation, but felt that their current project was too important to forsake.

Presently Mrs. Prible is hoping to encourage a "fashion-your-figure" effort for women patients at the hospital by furnishing scales, mirrors and weight charts.

Having spent 32 years in the Navy, Cmdr. Prible and his wife have had an adventurous life, living in the Orient, the Philippines, Hawaii and England—often associating with royalty and famous personalities.

They have chosen the Pontiac area, Coventry Street in Drayton Plains, for their retirement. Their home is filled with souvenirs of their travels, but Mrs. Prible says she "could not just settle down by the fireplace and knit."

Athletic as well as energetic, Mrs. Prible has won awards both in this country and abroad for swimming, skiing, skating and bowling. She had made nine trips to Europe before meeting her husband.

Active in the Scandinavian Symphony, Women's Organization, Officers' Wives Club of the Navy Base and the local Book Review, Mrs. Prible has done volunteer work throughout most of her life.

Impressed with the great opportunities volunteer work offers retired individuals, Mrs. Prible said, "Anyone with a little bit of heart can be of help. We are getting so much more than we are giving."

Information regarding volunteer service to social welfare agencies in this area can be obtained by visiting or calling the United Fund office. At present there is a need for volunteer drivers and office workers.

Luncheon Held by Child Study Club Unit III

Child Study Club Group III met Tuesday for a sandwich luncheon in the Bloomfield Hills home of Mrs. Robert Knight. Hostesses for the Christmas meeting were Mrs. William Bader, Mrs. Roy Corwin and Mrs. Bruce Hubbard.

Mrs. Arthur W. Selden speaking on "Let's Make Christmas Joyous," stressed family togetherness and departed cheerfulness in holiday observance. Children should be encouraged, she feels, to share in Christmas preparations.

Vows Said in Pontiac Ceremony

Rev. Lester Allen officiated at the marriage of Countess Se Rounding of Scottwood Avenue to Airman J.C. William W. Parker Saturday afternoon in the Church of Christ.

Parents of the bride are Mrs. Agnes Rounding of Williams Lake Road, and Wilfred R. Rounding of Union Lake. The Ray H. Mays of White Lake Township were hosts at a reception following their son's wedding.

The bride's street-length dress of white satin brocade was styled with sweetheart neckline, three-quarter length sleeves and slightly flared skirt. Her bouffant shoulder-length veil fell from a pearl diadem. White hosiery with red berries and white pompons comprised her bouquet.

Yule Reading Delivered at AAUW Event

"Spreading the Christmas Spirit," a reading given by E. Grace Clark, was featured at Pontiac Branch of the American Association of University Women's annual Christmas dinner Monday in Hotel Waldron.

Margaret Hartle, accompanied at the piano by Rosamond Haserle, presented two solos for the group. Carols and a reading by Mrs. Phillip Lockhart concluded the program.

Mrs. Don McMillen, social committee chairman, was assisted by Mrs. Robert Slingerland, Mrs. Lockhart, Mrs. Michael, Michael Manning, Mrs. John Kent and Mrs. Francis McDowell.

Mrs. Charles Kolb, Mrs. Charles G. Koella, Mrs. David Jennings and Olga Silvestro also served on the social committee.

Will Brighten Patients' Yule

Efforts of Pontiac Area Climp Fire Girls will brighten Christmas for persons confined to hospitals and other institutions.

Many hospital patients will receive trays of favors, Christmas cards, room ornaments, homemade cookies and miniature Christmas trees. For distribution to children, the Camp Fire Girls are reading specially decorated Christmas trees, Sugar Plum Trees, dolls and Christmas castles fashioned of marshmallows, mints, frosting and candles.

Girls in Korea Do ARC Work

BY MADELINE DOEREN

Writers' cramp may become an occupational hazard, incidental to Christmas-time, for some 40 American Red Cross Clubmobile workers stationed in Korea.

Two Pontiac girls, Judith Lauckner and Patricia Ronan, of Clubmobile ranks have been lending a hand with the colossal job of addressing some 17,000 greeting cards for American troops in Korea.

Newest arrival in the Red Cross group is Judith, daughter of the Edward C. Lauckners of South Telegraph Road.

She is a graduate of Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and holds a sociology degree from Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo.

Her interest in foreign work and travel stems from a position as social chairman and program director for the International Students Organization while attending WMU. She also spent a year at the Brightmore Community Center, Detroit, and a summer at Krynau near Lucerne in Switzerland, where she lived with the German family.

Her application to the Red Cross in Kalamazoo was referred to the Central Branch in St. Louis, Mo. Subsequent orientation and screening followed in Washington and at Camp Zama, Japan.

July is stationed in the most northern outpost in Korea and her mail is routed through San Francisco.

Dughters of the Ben A. Romans of East Iroquois Road, Patricia recently was transferred from Camp Pelham in the First Cavalry Division to the 1st SCSOM Area Command near Seoul in Korea.

She transferred from Michigan State University to Stanford University at Palo Alto, Calif., where she received her degree. She is working toward a master's degree, majoring in history.

After the customary orientation, Patricia became a Red Cross Clubmobile staff member last February, arriving in Korea in March. Weekly tape recordings and colored slides keep her family "in touch."

She attends language classes and on weekends teaches English to Korean children in orphanages and also at Yonsei University in Seoul. On Sundays, she teaches a Bible class.

Traveling the rugged Korean terrain on fast-paced scheduled trips for five eight-hour days, each two-girl-team covers from four to six military units a day. They are driven by Army personnel in three-quarter ton trucks.

At each stop, they conduct a series of make-up scheduled games and contests. The traditional coffee and doughnuts is served to the American boys who must never forget the American girls.

Travel time to an isolated missile site runs into seven hours just to allow for an hour program for the boys. Occasionally the girls are billeted in Army camps for the three or four days required to establish a recreational program in a certain location.

Native rugs, draperies and lamps help to make clubmobile quarters on base "a home away from home." The Pontiac girls, especially, were surprised to find a typical American autumn weather and rolling wooded countryside in Korea. With primitive trails, a dust control program would help.

Ruth Ellwell is director of the supplemental recreational activities overseas program of the ARC in Korea. Girls under her jurisdiction must be at least 21 years of age, have attended college, be in the physical condition and of the highest moral character.

All the Clubmobile girls want for Christmas is an electric hair dryer!

By SHARON KAY RITCHIE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Releasing the ball properly is not difficult, but it is important.

Once you let go of the ball, things are out of your hands. Nothing you can do after that—not even the most violent body English—but any effort.

The ball should be released smoothly, not dropped or thrown, but rolled. It should slide on to the lane with the grace and smoothness of an airplane making a perfect landing.

Phyllis Notaro, BPAA All-Star champion and the highest average woman bowler in the country, says the final slide should end as close to the foul line as possible, without crossing it, of course.

The action arm should continue out as though reaching toward the target and continue upward in a natural, flowing motion.

lease. Phyllis advises trying to stand in your foot line position until the ball reaches the pins.

If you can do this, you have been well balanced during the release and follow through.

NEXT: Follow through.

Save Your Husband's Golf Bag

Don't let your husband dispose of his old golf bag. Appropriate if for your own use no matter how battered it is. It makes a first rate cleaning partner. Mops, brooms and the long handled sponge fit neatly into the clubs' quarters, while dustcloths, polishers and other cleaning accessories can be stowed in the zippered compartment usually relegated to standard golfing gear such as glove, balls and tees.

CONSERVES ENERGY

You'll find much less energy is expended when cleaning aids are slung over your back than when they're piled up in your arms. And with hands free, you can be wielding a dustcloth as you move from room to room.

If you select your accessories wisely, you can simply store the bag in the broom closet and be ready at a moment's notice to pick up your bag and clean. In order to be thus prepared, however, you'll have to stop being a specialist... using a different cleaner for each and every job; for the golf bag not only won't hold such a collection, but its weight will bog you down. You'll find you can work efficiently and effectively with a polish for all wood surfaces and a cleanser that can be used on glass, porcelain, tile plastic and linoleum surfaces.

Librarians Get the Works

Who Used a Bacon Slice Bookmark?

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (U-P)—Who would use a slice of bacon for a bookmark? Somebody did. Someone else used a butcher knife.

These unusual bookmarks were among an odd assortment of things people have left in books borrowed from the Birmingham Public Library.

Miss Adele Cohn, head of the library's circulation department, has found everything from money to a butcher knife which had been used to slice chocolate cake.

Mrs. Cohn has a theory. When a book is dull, the reader naps, and before he goes to sleep he drops whatever happens to be in his hand into the book, closes it, and that's how it goes back to the library.

Once a circulation clerk opened a book and found $100 in cash. A quick check of library cards found the owner. He couldn't remember how he left the money in the book.

An enterprising man took out a book about income tax. He found a lot of deductions he didn't know he had. A great deal of work had gone into his income tax report, which went to the library instead of to the Internal Revenue Department.

The most common articles found in books are letters, notes, cards, invitations, theater tickets and fingernail files.

Women leave more articles than men do—bobby pins, costume jewelry, needlework, tweezers, recipes.

Men have left such things as

Bloomfield Hills Busy With Christmas Parties

BY RUTH SAUNDERS
BLOOMFIELD HILLS — One of the "First Days of Christmas" was celebrated last Sunday at "Wind-whistle," home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Craig on Orchard Ridge Road.
Originally the family party was held Christmas Eve, birthday of the eldest son, Lyman Jr., but nowadays the date is arranged to accommodate the grandchildren.
Some are already in college, others are in their teens, and there are subteens, too.

Last-Minute Suggestions

Give Records and Books

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
I promised to bring you a few gift suggestions today. Now is the time to think in terms of categories. Of course you cannot classify people like you can goldfish but most people have at least one strong interest.
Those left on your list at this late date probably are the more difficult ones to buy for. Sometimes this is because they have practically everything they could possibly want and sometimes it is due to the fact that they do not have any very decided tastes or likes and dislikes.
Have you thought of records? There is such a very wide range to choose from. However, it is essential to know what sort of music the person likes. This is a huge field.
Books also give us a chance to select something for every type person. There are moving books, informative books, amusing books, books and books! You might give a book which ties in with a hobby.
LINGERIE?
Of course there is always lingerie and few women have too much of this. A new addition is always happily received.
Then there is the world of cosmetics, beautifully packaged, and some of these items are luxuries which many women feel they cannot afford to buy for themselves.
There is the world of sports. Is your friend sports minded? Find out what he or she reads from the family.
There is the world of perfume. Many of the best perfumes are so expensive that they are a real luxury gift to the receiver.
MORE IDEAS
A shut-in may like an indoor garden set. She or he can plant the seeds, care for the garden and watch it grow right in their own room. People who are alone a lot would probably enjoy a couple of love birds or unusual tropical fish. The birds are lots of fun to watch. The fish are always in the room, gloves, scarves, bedroom slippers, and hosiery.
While many people do not like gifts connected with their work, to others this is a great luxury. A new typewriter, for instance.
A little transistor radio or a tape recorder makes an enjoyable gift.
Of course hurs are always welcome.
I hope you find something on this list which you had not thought of before. Happy shopping!

Books are fine for last minute shoppers. You can match them to almost anybody on your list — light, heavy, slim, old or new.

Baby Your Husband, You'll Rate Higher

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
If asked what makes a woman a good wife how many wives today would include in their carefully considered lists: "She should baby her husband?"
Not many. Babying husbands, most would tell you, went out when women gained equality with men.
Yet in a recent poll where men were asked what makes a woman a good wife a lot of them mentioned that she ought to baby her husband a bit.
And since no wife is a good wife unless her husband thinks she is a good wife for him—maybe women ought to give this matter of babying a man a little thought.
BUILD UP EGO
Just what is babying a man? Nothing surely that is beneath any wife's dignity.
It's catering to a man's comfort, building up his ego, guarding his health, and trying to please him in small ways.
That's not too much for a wife to do to keep a man happy, is it? As the breadwinner for a family, a man should get a little special attention and consideration, shouldn't he?
And isn't it actually much more feminine for a wife to enjoy babying the man she loves than it is for her to worry about equality, or to insist on togetherness, or to put her children's demands always ahead of her husband's?
So, no hoots of derision, please, for the big, strong men who want to be babied. Men ought to get something out of marriage besides being handed the monthly bills and an apron.

Cotton Suede

While the school crowd loves the new cotton suede apparel for its look and feel, mothers rate it as A-plus for washability.

Bowled Over

NEW YORK (UPI) — If the man of the house hasn't bowled before, chances are that some Saturday soon his wife will be urging him to go to the lanes. It's the mothers who are leading the entire family into bowling, say the lane managers. They are swelling the ranks of America's 30.4 million amateur keepers faster than any other group.

Taking a Trip?

You can confidently leave your clay-potted house plants unattended during a two-week winter vacation if you water them just before leaving, then place the potted plant in a plastic bag and tie the bag shut around the lower stem, just below bottom leaves.

Try Thumb Test

If the top-soil of your clay-potted plants feels moist to the thumb and the plant is not wilting, withhold water. If dry, you can water freely with warm water. The porous pots will automatically get rid of excess moisture and harmful salts through their walls and bottom drainage hole.

Use a moistened cotton swab when dusting and polishing fragile Christmas tree decorations.

It is stated that the "most frequent allegation is wrongful diagnosis or failure to diagnose." These charges involve the Veterans Administration as well as the Armed Forces and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Dr. Russell R. Robbins, executive secretary of the society, informed the board that "other charges of malpractice include paralysis resulting from surgery or parenteral injection; trauma or bruises; adverse effects from drugs; sprains and other surgical materials left in the patient and incompatible transfusions."

Happy Over 20th Century Role

Heston in Nonreligious Film for a Change

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Charlton Heston said he wanted a change of pace from religious epics, and he's getting it.

In his current film, he gets into a shower with Italian beauty Elsa Martinelli.

Heston shortly adds: "It's a large shower." And fleeing Nazi pursuers in "The Pigeon That took Rome," he is fully clothed. "Brides," remarked the actor. "What could she fear from Moses?"

NOW A PRIEST? Heston is getting as far from Moses, Ben-Hur and El Cid as he can. He made it up to World War II, which is when "the pigeon etc." takes place. He still hasn't escaped the religious overtures; he found him in a priest's cassock. "Strictly a disguise," explained

Heston, who plays a hard-hearted infantry officer on an undercover mission. "And not a very good disguise at that. Orson Welles saw me in Rome and said I was the most Lutheran-looking priest he'd ever seen. He predicted I would see the church back 2,000 years."

LENGTHY FILMS If Heston seems exuberant these days, it is because the current film is not only modern but carries a 12-week schedule. "On my other pictures that would be long enough to get done with the wardrobe fittings."

No other actor has starred in such lengthy and costly films. Here is his track record:

"The 10 Commandments"—8 months—$10.5 million.
"Ben-Hur"—10 months—$14.5 million.
"El Cid"—7½ months—$8 million.

Why was he chosen for these epics?

"I have a theory about that," he said. "It's a matter of faces. Some actors' faces fit certain eras. Take Bill Holden. Bill has made only two Westerns, neither of them very successful. His is strictly a 20th-century face; there's none better.

"Henry Fonda is a great early American face. He is one of the few actors who has made a number of films of the pre-1860 era—'Drums Along the Mohawk,' 'Young Mr. Lincoln,' 'The Farmer Takes a Wife,' etc."

BOGART-URBAN FACE "Humphrey Bogart had a typically urban American face. He made just one Western and it was laughable.

And where does the Heston face fit?

"Apparently somewhere before Christ," he said glumly.

Yule Note Sent 'Daddy' Won't Reach Destination

FT. LEWIS, Wash. (AP)—The address scrawled on the envelope in blue crayon was "Daddy, Ft. Lewis, Wash." The only stamp was a Christmas seal.

Army postal workers weren't able to deliver the letter, which read: "Daddy, please have a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year. Mommy and I miss you very much. Love, P. P."

State Finishes Hearings by Liquor Control Body; Litter Problem Hit

EAST LANSING — The State Liquor Control Commission says it will be at least three weeks before it determines its final action on a ban against throw-away bottles.

The commission completed two days of public hearings here Wednesday on the litter problem which throw-away bottles allegedly create.

Harold J. Rathbun, chief maintenance engineer for the State Highway Department, told the commission that the litter problem costs the state more than one-half million dollars a year.

Rathbun quoted a letter from John C. Mackie, highway commissioner, reporting that the cost of removing roadside litter was nearly $60,000 in the current fiscal year, and tagging the throw-away bottle as a significant part of the litter.

Bottle manufacturers, their Michigan suppliers, the Michigan State Chamber of Commerce, the United States Brewers Association and a number of antilitter groups opposed the ban which is scheduled to go into effect Jan. 20.

They claimed the order would cause a loss of business and jobs and would be one more item in the controversial image of Michigan's unfriendly business climate.

U.S. to Join State in Pollution Curb on Detroit River

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Welfare Abraham Ribicoff has agreed to join with the State of Michigan in pollution abatement actions in the Detroit River and its outflow into Lake Erie.

The action, he said, will apply to United States waters and sources of pollution only.

The action was the first to be taken under new provisions of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act which permits the secretary to invoke federal enforcement procedures in intrastate waters when invited to do so by a state governor.

First step in the procedure is a conference, which is then followed, where necessary, by formal hearings and finally, if still necessary, by action of the federal court.

Date for the Michigan conference has not been set.

Misses Her Bus, So Girl Zigzags Home by Route

GRAND HAVEN — An Ottawa County Sheriff's men had convincing proof today that some of the nation's school children are in top physical shape. But they found out only after a fearful search for a 10-year-old girl first reported missing after school at Coopersville.

Withholding names, the sheriff's report notes:

The girl missed her school bus shortly after 3 p.m. Monday. When she failed to arrive at her home about three miles away by 6 p.m., her parents notified the sheriff's office. A search failed to turn up anyone who had seen her.

The girl arrived at her home about 8 p.m. She told her parents she had missed the bus and was familiar only with its zigzag route from school to her home which she traced on foot a distance of 13 miles.
