United Fund Almost at Goal

Pontiac U. F. Cites Outstanding Leaders

Drive Manager Terms Meeting 'Victory' Affair

Collections Short Only $32,000 From Final Objective of $525,823

"This is a victory luncheon," Campaign Manager Frank S. Lyndall told Pontiac Area United Fund workers yesterday after announcing the drive was within $32,696 of its $525,823 goal.

Speaking at a final report meeting at noon in the Elks Temple, Lyndall said donations totaled $26,000 more than at the same time last year.

He said he expected the goal would be reached when all pledge cards still in hands of solicitors are turned in and tabulated.

Guest speaker Walker L. Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co., complimented the 250 volunteers for "again making it possible for your 55 voluntary service agencies to meet the vital needs of your community life — needs that increase with each passing year."

Great good would result, he stated, if other countries could become thoroughly acquainted "with the UF way of helping our fellow men."

Speaking of his long experience on governmental advisory groups and in the postwar foreign aid program, Cisler stressed the need for increased power and energy "to lengthen and strengthen our productive capacity."

He cited the peaceful use and development of atomic energy as the key to America's continued leadership in industrial power and production.

Through atomic energy development, he stated, power supplies can increase three to four times over those accumulated in the 75 years since Thomas Edison perfected the incandescent lamp.

This could result in a standard of living "vastly superior to the excellent one we enjoy now, and Michigan will play a leading role in this great adventure."

Cisler pointed out three things which he said has made America great and must be preserved:

1. The democratic form of government. "Our forefathers laid the foundations and we must maintain it."

2. Tremendous national resources. "These are used in prodigious amounts, but often wastefully."

3. The industrial ability to outproduce all other countries.

McCarthy Supporters Go to Washington

AP Wirephoto

PILGRIMAGE — Sign-carrying supporters of Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis) gather at Pennsylvania Station, New York, today before leaving for Washington. They will protest the censure move against the Winconsin Senator. The group, calling itself the Joint Committee Against Communism in New York, was to be joined by others in Newark and Philadelphia en route to the capital.

Flag-Carrying Censure Foes Descend on City

Thousands of Backers Are Expected to Jam Tonight's Rally

WASHINGTON (AP) — McCarthy supporters descended on Washington today to demonstrate against Senate censure proposed for the Wisconsin Republican.

One special train from New York brought 873 of McCarthy's friends, and other trains, buses, and automobiles brought many others to the capital.

Rabbi Benjamin Schultz of New York, coordinator of a "National Rally for McCarthy," has predicted that Constitution Hall will be packed to overflowing for the main event tonight. The hall seats 4,000 and arrangements have been made to set up a loud speaker for those unable to get in.

Almost all of the New Yorkers carried small American Flags and there were many placards in the crowd. Some of them said:

"Why did Alger Hiss want trial in Vermont? Do you know Sen. Flanders?"

Flanders (R-Vt) was the author of the original censure charges against McCarthy. Hiss, former State Department official, was convicted of lying under oath when he denied passing secrets to Soviet agents.

"Sen. McCarthy deserves a citation instead of censure."

"Sen. McCarthy is the man who fulfilled the Ike campaign promises."

Sen. Herman Welker (R-Idaho), a friend of McCarthy, is billed as the main speaker for the Constitution Hall rally tonight.

Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said today he will propose the Senate put off until January a vote on censuring Sen. McCarthy. Sen. Jackson McCarthy (R-Wis). Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) predicted any such move would be rejected quickly.

The Senate opened formal debate yesterday on the recommendation of a special six-man committee that McCarthy be officially rebuked on grounds that he acted "contemptuously" toward a Senate elections subcommittee which investigated his finances in 1951-52 and that he "repeatedly abused" Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a witness before McCarthy's investigating committee earlier this year.

Capehart said in an interview before the scheduled resumption of debate that he believes "the great majority of senators" would agree with him a two months delay would mean "a far more judicial and deliberate consideration of this important matter."

Socialist Vote Bolsters Hope for Paris Pacts

PARIS (AP) — By a margin of more than 6-1, the French Socialist party today voted to support the Paris agreements to rearm West Germany. This was believed to assure ratification in the National Assembly, where the Socialists hold the biggest single bloc of votes.

The party, which has 105 votes in the 627-member National Assembly, will vote later on whether to let six of its members join Premier Pierre Mendes-France's coalition Cabinet.

A decision to join the Cabinet would come at an advantageous time for Mendes-France, who leaves this weekend for Washington and talks with President Eisenhower.

Ike Returns to Hometown for Memorial Dedication

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—President Eisenhower is back in his boyhood home town—where he once worked as a creamery hand—to dedicate the $325,000 Eisenhower Memorial Museum at Veterans Day ceremonies today.

The President arrived here from Washington last night and got in a nostalgic 75-minute tour of his family's old homestead—still kept as his mother left it when she died in 1946—and the adjacent museum housing many of his World War II memories and other keepsakes.

He visited the two buildings after being greeted warmly by old neighbors and newcomers alike on his arrival.

At the edge of the community—population 7,000—there was a big sign saying, "Welcome home, Mr. President." In front of the Sunflower Hotel, presidential headquarters for this stay, a brass band blared.

He was accompanied from Washington by Mrs. Eisenhower and his youngest brother, Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Pennsylvania State University.

On the way, the President's private plane, the Columbine, stopped briefly at Kansas City, Kan., to take aboard his grandchildren—David 6, Barbara Ann, 5, and Susan, 2—and their parents, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower. The major is stationed at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan.

Already on hand when the President arrived was another brother, Earl, who publishes a newspaper in La Grange, Ill., and his wife. Also present were Mrs. Roy Eisenhower, of Junction City, Kan., widow of still another brother, Roy, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fagen, of Junction City. Mrs. Fagen is Mrs. Roy Eisenhower's daughter.

The family was sitting around reminiscing in the hotel after dinner when the President suggested they drive over to the old homestead. It was 9:45 p.m., but off

Power Contract Signing Bared

A-Energy Committee Is Recalled After Word of Dixon-Yates OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, said today he has been informed that the Dixon-Yates power contract and a memorandum of understanding have been signed.

Making this announcement, Cole called a meeting of his committee for 2 p.m.

Cole had said that as soon as the contract was signed he would have a meeting of the group for further hearings and a vote on President Eisenhower's request for an immediate go-ahead on the contract.

Eisenhower's request was made in a letter yesterday.

Under the atomic energy law, a contract such as that with Dixon-Yates cannot become effective until it has been before Congress for 30 days unless the Senate - House Atomic Energy Committee waives this provision.

The contract calls for the Dixon-Yates private utility group to build a 107-million-dollar plant at West Memphis, Ark., to feed power to

Taking Holiday Today

Sheppard Jury Impressed Little by Photos of Victim

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Sheppard murder jury took a Veterans Day holiday today after getting its first look at grisly pictures of the victim's bloody corpse.

The black and white photographs showing once-attractive Marilyn Sheppard lying in a circle of blood on her bed, brought no visible emotions from the jurors when they were passed around yesterday.

Most of the jurors took a cursory look and passed the pictures on. Last week they had looked at several colored slides of the dead woman's head, smashed by what the state describes as 27 or more savage blows.

Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 31-year-old osteopath, is charged with first-degree murder in the July 4 slaying. He claims a bushy-haired intruder killed his wife.

Mrs. Esther Houk, wife of Mayor J. Spencer Houk of suburban Bay Village, where the slaying occurred, testified yes-

Ask Court Rule on Turnpike Act

Request High Tribunal to Decide if Authority Is Free From Controls

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan Turnpike Authority today asked the State Supreme Court to rule on the constitutionality of the Turnpike Act and to decide whether the authority should be subject to state accounting procedures and Civil Service regulations.

The action was taken in a petition for a writ of prohibition and declaration of rights filed by the authority's counsel, Frederic B. Besimer of Detroit.

In the petition, the authority argued that the Legislature intended to set up an independent agency free from influence or control by any other agency.

Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard recently held that the employes of the authority should be chosen through regular Civil Service procedures.

The petition asks the State Supreme Court to issue a writ of prohibition preventing the Civil Service Commission, Aud. Gen. John B. Martin Jr., and Atty. Gen. Millard from exercising any control over the authority.

The turnpike authority has announced plans to issue $186 million in bonds to finance a super toll

Colder and Cloudy Weather Forecast

After several days of sunny weather, the weatherman is predicting colder and cloudy with possible snow flurries tomorrow.

Tonight's low is expected to be about 32 to 36 degrees with a high of 36 to 40 Thursday. The U. S. Weather Bureau says those snow flurries might be light showers instead.

In downtown Pontiac yesterday, the mercury ranged between 31 and 48 degrees and this morning at 8 o'clock the thermometer registered 36. By 2p.m. it had reached 64 degrees.

Drive on Horror Comics Planned in Vancouver

The plan was announced yesterday by John Deschner, director of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's Youth Committee. The collected comics will be burned in a public bonfire to be touched off by Mayor Fred Hume.

Shooting Protest Watered Down

New U.S. Note to Reds on MIG Attack Reflects Conciliatory Attitude

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department is drafting a new note to Russia on the shooting down of a U.S. Air Force plane, hoping to find out whether the Soviets would seriously like to avoid such incidents in the future.

There is an unusual absence of belligerency in the attitude of both the American and Soviet governments, despite their opposing versions of last Sunday's Far Eastern affair, which cost the life of one American airman.

Only last Sunday Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov expressed to U.S. Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen at a Moscow dinner the desire to make greater use of diplomacy in ironing out East-West differences.

Malenkov said this means should be taken to prevent relatively minor problems from becoming major issues, according to a report from Bohlen to the State Department.

The new U.S. note, it is understood, will reflect the conciliatory tone in which President Eisenhower discussed the plane incident at his news conference yesterday. And it will be responsive to two paragraphs of a Russian note of last Monday which seemed to create a slight hope of avoiding such aerial clashes in future.

Senate Must OK Atom Treaties

Peace Plan Exponents Stress Congressional Ratification of Pacts

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S. Senate will have the final say on how far the United States can go in setting up an international atomic energy agency, exponents of the plan stress.

The final form of the agency, widely discussed here since President Eisenhower proposed it in December 1953, has not been decided. But Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., chief U.S. delegate, says the United States is sticking pretty close to an outline it made last March in a secret note to the Russians. It is the line the United States is following in negotiating bilateral treaties with seven countries on setting up the agency.

Lodge and other U. S. spokesmen, in discussing the proposed agency with newsmen, emphasize that it would be set up on a treaty basis. Each treaty would have to be approved by the Senate.

Site for the agency has not been decided, although delegates expect it to be in the United States or Canada. That is another of the things the United States must negotiate with its fellow partners—Britain,

Nation Honors Veterans of 9 Wars Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation pays tribute to the living and dead veterans of its nine wars today in a day of respect newly designated as Veterans Day.

As in previous years, when Nov. 11 was named Armistice Day, the national tribute centered at the Arlington National Cemetery, just across the Potomac River from Washington, D. C.

There, Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbott, as the designated representative of President Eisenhower, arranged to lay a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Veterans' organizations planned a mass tribute to the nameless fallen soldier of World War I and to all the nation's warriors.

Talbott spoke in his Arlington cemetery speech of weapons powerful enough to "lay waste an entire continent" and of the need for the help of God to avert war that could result in such terrible destruction.

"I believe with all my heart," Talbott said in a prepared speech, "that we can keep the peace only if we seek His help, not to destroy our enemies, but to help us summon the patience, the courage, and if need be, the sternness that will be needed to prevent a war . . ."

This first Veterans Day was selected by the Immigration and Naturalization Service as an occasion for the mass swearing-in of 50,000 newly naturalized citizens, most of them displaced from their European homes by Nazi or Russian armies. Ceremonies were scheduled in a number of cities.

Armistice Day began as an annual observance of the time at which hostilities ended in World War I—11 a.m. Nov. 11, 1918. With support of national veterans' groups, the name was officially changed this year.

In New York, Atty. Gen. Brownell announced today plans for greatly reducing the detention time of immigrants or aliens who have to be sent back to their native lands.

In an address prepared to welcome the 50,000 foreign-born taking the oath of allegiance to the United States in mass naturalization ceremonies in 109 cities across the country and in the territories and possessions, the attorney general announced these new policy steps:

1. A major broadening of pre-inspection procedures for aliens seeking U.S. residence, to avoid disappointments at the ports of entry.

2. A much wider use of parole for aliens whose admissibility or possible deportation is under study.

3. Elimination, in this connection, of the special seaport detention facilities at Seattle and Honolulu, as well as New York where the immigration service is now folding its operations on Ellis Island under a plan announced several weeks ago, and at Boston, San Francisco and San Pedro, already closed.

Brownell's address was prepared for delivery first at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn, where some 6,000 became citizens, and later at the Polo Grounds, where some 7,500 other aliens waited to take the oath of allegiance.

In his welcome to the new citizens, Brownell said:

"The fact that more than 48,000 of you would leave your homelands, your relatives, your old friends to join our brotherhood of liberty is living proof that America still stands before all the world as its greatest symbol of freedom.

"Many of you risked your lives to penetrate the Iron Curtain to join us. From this day hence, you stand on equal footing with all the citizens of this unique republic."

He explained that the policy of preinspection for admissibility of arriving aliens has been most extensively employed in Canada. He said negotiations are under way to extend it to air travel originating in Cuba, Mexico, Bermuda and other areas.

"Recently," he said, "we have been able to institute preinspection on American President lines ships from the Far East and this week we are starting trial extensions of the program to some travel from Europe."

Such pre-examination, he said, will be conducted either at the point of foreign departure or "when that is not practical, while en route to the United States."

He asserted this will mean material reduction in the hardships resulting from exclusion at the port of entry, and admissions with virtually no delay for arriving eligibles.

Ellis Island, through which 20 million aliens have been processed in the last 60 years, will be abandoned as an immigration station on Nov. 19. All immigration functions will then be transferred to downtown headquarters at 70 Columbus Circle.

Aliens who have to be detained in the New York area will be kept in custody at the general federal detention facilities on West St., New York.

UF Donations Short of Goal as Drive Deadline Nears

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—With only two days left in the United Foundation Torch Drive for the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin Area, John K. Stevenson, chairman, today issued a special last-minute plea.

The latest tally of receipts showed 94.2 per cent, or $175,530, of the $186,000 goal has been collected.

"Our goal was set on a completely realistic basis and we can't afford to fall short of it, even by a few thousand," Stevenson said.

"The total includes not only the greater needs of the 150 agencies sharing in the United Foundation program but also the addition of the Red Cross for the first time.

"It is truly a give-once-for-all drive this year, and there is every indication that our area will continue its unbroken success record, if the campaign finale keeps pace with the rest of the drive," he concluded.

Campaign Director Mrs. J. Rowland Quinn also urged any residents who may not have been reached in the drive, to contact UF headquarters in the Briggs Building.

The new Eton Park tennis courts will see no play this season, but a relieved City Engineer L. R. Gare said yesterday that the final surfacing went on the courts Tuesday.

Taking no chances on similar delays that put the courts out of expected use this summer, Gare said the necessary posts and fencing will be installed right away, in readiness for next season.

Ann Arbor Construction Co., which laid the top surface, moved from that job to the westside fire station and there completed the black-topping of access drives.

Lawmakers at this week's City Commission meeting approved Gare's recommendation that the construction company be awarded the contract for the drives, even though its bid was the second lowest, or $1,717.50.

Gare said he felt the additional $62 over the low bidder, would be offset by the fact that Ann Arbor could do the black-topping immediately.

Not many schools can boast a riflery program for girls, but 40 of the fair sex at Birmingham High School today ended just such a program for the season—an activity that has been going on here for four years.

Backed by the board of education, the recreation board and the police department, the activity operates to teach and stress safety and accuracy.

Sally Reid, gym instructor who also heads the Girls' Athletic Assn., is in charge of the program.

The girls are divided into beginners and advanced groups, each division meeting at the police range once a week for range drills and procedures. Officials hope that the program, which turned away girls this year, can be expanded in the future.

Senate Must Ratify Atom Peace Pacts

Australia, Belgium, Canada, South Africa, France and Portugal.

All states sighing agreements would be members of the agency, with a board of governors exercising the highest executive authority. This board would be based on geographic distribution, membership and importance of the government's contribution.

The executive board would appoint a general manager who in turn would organize a staff.

Supporters of the plan say the agency, after it gets going, should be linked with the U.N. like one of its dozen specialized agencies.

The agency would act as a clearing house in handling requests for laboratory material, medical radioactive substances, industrial isotopes, information about nuclear developments and, ultimately, power reactors.

the Tennessee Valley Authority. This power would replace power TVA supplies for atomic plants in Tennessee and Kentucky.

Eisenhower's letter stirred up a Democratic storm.

The President wrote Cole that all parts of the country deserved equal consideration on power and that "building new TVA plants at federal expense — implying a purpose of continuing this process indefinitely in the future—is therefore wholly indefensible unless it should become part of a vast national plan."

He reiterated that the Dixon-Yates proposal was intended to provide time for a review of the problem.

"It seems to me," he said, "that there has been a very great deal of talk and argument—much of it partisan — about issues that are really clear and simple.

"No one in this administration has any intention of destroying or damaging TVA or of diminishing its effectiveness in any way."

they went—all but the grandchildren, who already were in bed.

At the home—now open to the public—the President had a wonderful time. Spotting a bedspread on a cot, he declared:

"Our great-grandfather wove that—he was a weaver."

Eisenhower roamed around looking at cooky jars, old clocks, and —just outside the back door—a patch of concrete walk which he and brother Earl and son John put in for the President's father and mother in 1938.

Eisenhower recalled how the three of them hauled cement from the garage and how their hands suffered.

After visiting the home, the President and his party walked next door to the museum, which stirred another flood of memories.

After today's dedication ceremonies Eisenhower planned to fly to Toledo for a round of Lake Erie duck hunting tomorrow and Saturday morning as the guest of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Mrs. Anna Margaret Green, wife of Police Chief Clark J. Green, died this morning in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, after a prolonged illness.

Mrs. Green, 50, lived at 4200 Telegraph Road.

A graduate of Detroit schools, she had been in the area for the past 32 years.

Surviving besides her husband are two sons, C. James of Sylvan Lake, and Robert A. of Pontiac, three daughters, Patricia J. at home, Nancy J. of Birmingham, and Mrs. Charles F. Wimmer of Akron, Ohio, a brother and two sisters, Clarence Hays, Mrs. Merle Tompkins and Mrs. Edward Panzner, all of Detroit, and four grandchildren.

terday that Dr. Sheppard knew a head injury "was the hardest to evaluate."

Dr. Sheppard claims he suffered neck and head injuries while struggling with his wife's mysterious killer. The state, however, says whatever injuries he received that night were trivial.

The witness, appearing for the state, said her sister was in an automobile accident last spring and her insurance did not completely cover the car's damage. The sister was not hurt.

Mrs. Houk said she discussed the situation with Dr. Sheppard, a family friend.

"Did he participate in a conversation the subject of which was how to pretend a head injury?" assistant county prosecutor Saul Danaceau inquired.

"He said that, as a doctor, he knew a head injury was the hardest to evaluate," Mrs. Houk said. "It pertained to the insurance in the case of an accident, and where there was no obvious injury, a head injury could be easily claimed as far as the insurance was concerned."

Ask for Court Ruling on Turnpike Authority road running from Rockwood, southwest of Detroit, past Pontiac to a point just south of Saginaw.

The authority is not a branch of state government and should not be subject to Civil Service regulations, it contends in its petition.

The suit also asks the Supreme Court to rule on the legality of the proposed bond issue, whether the authority would violate the Home Rule right of cities and villages, and whether the Turnpike Act was an unlawful delegation of legislative power.

Guilty Pleas Entered by 2 in Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM — Two men pleaded guilty to a charge of simple larceny when they appeared before Justice John J. Gafill yesterday. Given his choice of a $15 fine plus $10 costs or 10 days in Oakland County Jail, Frank D. Merchant, 26, of 243 Elizabeth Lake Rd., Pontiac, went to jail.

His companion, Kenneth R. Spencer, 24, of 3230 Melvin Rd., Rochester, was ordered to pay $10 costs or spend 10 days in jail. His sentence was suspended for 30 days.

The men admitted stealing a toolbox from Bloomfield Theater last week.

Birmingham Woman, Injured in Collision

BIRMINGHAM — Treated for head and elbow injuries by her own physician following a two-car collision yesterday was Harriette E. Koeneke, 35, of 1575 Vinewood.

Police said Miss Koeneke was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way to oncoming traffic at the Greenwood-Harmon intersection. Her car was struck by one driven by John D. Taylor of 954 Harmon.

Minors Using Fake Birth Certificates to Buy Liquor

Fake birth certificates are turning up in Oakland County and being used by minors for illegal liquor purchases, Oakland County Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said today.

The fraud came to light with the arrest of two 19-year-old Detroiters who will be taken before the prosecutor's "Off-The-Record Court" here Nov. 18.

The two, Taylor said, tried to buy beer at a Union Lake market. When questioned about his age, one showed a birth certificate indicating he was 23, which he later admitted was purchased for $2.

The forgeries are apparently made in Detroit, said Taylor, "but this shows they're getting into Oakland County."

The forgeries are photostats, which hardly can be told from the real thing.

"These cases show we need to conduct classes for liquor distributors so they will be able to tell faked identification," said Taylor.

U.S. Leadership Being Destroyed

Kyes, Former Defense Official, Hints at Drive to Discourage Top Men

NEW YORK (AP) — Roger M. Kyes, former deputy defense secretary, says there may be "a planned campaign to destroy men who show leadership and praiseworthy principles."

In a speech before the Assn. of National Advertisers Kyes said:

"We persecute our leaders like a howling wolf pack, ever ready to lunge should they falter for an instant. In fact, we have reached such a low point in our human relationships that we tolerate the vilification of the virtues of men by anonymous attacks, distortions, outright fabrications and insidious propaganda."

Kyes said the result of this can be "just as devastating as the best cold war plan of a detested enemy."

Kyes resigned his defense post last May 1 and returned to his job as a vice president of General Motors Corp. He was one of the first top business executives brought in by the Eisenhower administration to leave government service.

This was his first public speech since leaving Washington.

Women Drivers 'Better' to Steer City Government

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"The women can run our cities; we men can't do it."

Chancellor Ethan A. H. Shepley of Washington University made this statement yesterday in a speech before the Scottish Rite Club in advocating that women operate city governments.

"Our political system is taken to be sound but I question whether government by political parties works in large cities.

The present political system of electing city officials is bad," he said, "because the party in power has to worry whether it will get elected again. . . .

"We have to look to the future. Persuade your wives to take over the municipal government. It is something they can do, and through our women our big cities will be run more efficiently. The women can run our cities; we men can't do it."

Nehru Quitting Party Post but Will Still Be Busy Man

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru is quitting as president of India's dominant political party, but he still will be a pretty busy man.

In addition to being Premier of a nation of 357,000,000 people, Nehru remains India's foreign minister, defense minister and minister for scientific research.

He also is bidding for the diplomatic leadership of a bloc of East Asian countries and he dreams of a larger bloc of Asian and African countries. He is making India's voice heard in all world affairs.

Inside India, he has to keep a wary eye on the small but active Indian Community Party, which has 27 members in Parliament.

At the moment, he is deciding what to do about the 700,000-head-hunting Naga tribesmen, in the dense forests over by the Burma frontier, who have proclaimed themselves "The People's Sovereign Republic of Nagland."

It seems unlikely that, as he approaches his 64th birthday Sunday, Nehru will be able to permit himself more than the 4½ to five hours of sleep a day to which he has limited himself for years.

Ever since India attained its independence in 1947, Nehru has been this country's one dominant figure.

He has made India, which at first had dominion status, a sovereign republic which recognizes Queen Elizabeth only as a symbol of the unity of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

He has been embroiled in disputes with India's neighbor Pakistan over the state of Jammu and Kashmir, and with France and Portugal over the little colonies they settled in the 16th and 17th centuries on the Indian coast.

Nehru also has been exceedingly free in his criticism of United States policies in Southeast Asia and in the world generally.

At the moment, he seems to get along better with Mao Tse-tung and Chou En-lai, the Chinese Communist leaders.

Nehru agrees with Mao and Chou on the possibility of peaceful co-existence between the Communist and free worlds.

But Nehru is neither a pro-Communist nor a fellow-traveler. He is strictly an Indian and an Asian, determined to give his country its place in the world and to make Asia a continent ruled only by Asians.

"The picture I have in mind is definitely and absolutely socialistic," he said.

Nehru explained that he did not mean socialism in its doctrinaire sense. What he believes in, he said, is a society in which the means of production would be owned or controlled by the people, for the benefit of all. There still will be plenty of room in such a society, he said, for private enterprise.

"We must realize that the day of the acquisitive element of society has not passed but is passing," he said.

MEMBER OF AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1954

Up to Citizens

City Manager Willman has made a good point in his statement regarding the continuous efforts made by city employes to keep Pontiac clean.

His remark was called forth by a picture appearing recently in the Press which showed a sidewalk littered with papers and other waste.

The Manager is right.

The city's cleanup men do a good job. They do it almost every night when most of us are sleeping. Furthermore, the city has provided waste containers at practically every corner in the downtown area.

The rest of the task is up to the residents of Pontiac. If they want a clean city they can have one, by keeping it clean themselves; by not throwing paper on the sidewalks and pavements; by using the waste receptacles at the street corners.

City Manager Willman says he was about to propose that Pontiac try to win recognition as the cleanest city.

The Press will make one wager. If the citizens will do their part, the City Manager and his staff will do theirs.

84th Congress Younger

On the average members of the 84th Congress will be slightly younger than lawmakers who held House and Senate seats in the three preceding national Legislatures.

A survey just completed by Congressional Quarterly shows the typical member of the 84th Congress will be 52.2 years old. The average in the House will be 51.3 and in the Senate 57.2 years.

In the upper chamber next session the oldest Democrat again will be Theodore F. Green, Rhode Island, 87, and the youngest Russell B. Long, Louisiana, 36. Oldest Republican will be Edward Martin, Pennsylvania, 75, and the youngest Charles E. Potter, Michigan, 38.

Oldest Democrat in the next House will be James B. Bowler, Illinois, 79, and the youngest Joe Holt, California, 30. Two Republicans share with Bowler the distinction of being the oldest members of the new House. They are Clare Hoffman, Michigan, and Daniel A. Reed, New York, both 79. The youngest Republican will be Thomas L. Ashley, Ohio, 31.

As has been the rule in preceding Congresses nearly two-thirds of the 84th are members of the legal profession. More than one in four have backgrounds of business or banking. Ninety-seven per cent in the Senate and 88 per cent in the House have had prior experience in politics or civic service. Sixty-three per cent of the Senate and 58 per cent of House members are war veterans.

★ ★ ★

To the new Congress belongs the distinction of having 17 women members, the largest number in the Nation's history. Thirteen of these were re-elected and they are being joined by four newcomers. The Senate can boast only one woman member, Margaret Chase Smith, Republican, Maine.

Labor Party Rebuked

One of the little noticed but nonetheless important results of New York State's midterm election was the disaster suffered by the American Labor Party.

The result in no way reflects lack of effort. The party waged a vigorous campaign with many meetings and liberal use of radio time and newspaper space. Yet, when the votes were counted, its only harvest was a sharp rebuke.

In all, candidates of the party whose line in many respects parallels that of Communist Russia, polled fewer than 50,000 votes. As a result, it automatically lost its right to appear on New York State's ballots in future elections.

That total, incidentally, shows how rapid has been the shrinkage of the party's influence. In 1948 ALP candidates were supported by more than 500,000 voters. This year its gubernatorial candidate got fewer than 10 per cent of the New York aggregate of 5,000,000.

It can be argued that the setback suffered by the party, once headed by that extreme leftist, the late Vito Marcantonio, proves that its supporters have become politically wiser. In other words, more of them are aware that ALP's support of Soviet aims is against their best interests.

Real Shooting War

Ohio City Has Unique Way of Battling the Starlings

College education: What never hurts anybody willing to learn something afterwards.

A method now being used with good effect in warring on starlings in Cincinnati might be emulated in Pontiac. It is a real shooting war. City appointed marksmen bring down the birds with blasts of light scattershot, and those not hit seek a friendlier atmosphere. Before the plan was adopted, flocks of starlings that actually obscured the skies were frequent in Cincinnati, but now the birds are much scarcer.

The old American flag that has been doing duty at the municipal court and city commission room for many years, and has been showing its age, has been replaced with a new one, and hopes the spectators will notice the difference.

of Auburn Heights, who phones me that she sends back the whole mess in the prepaid return envelope that usually comes with it.

"When I was financially stranded in Pontiac, your traffic men came to my aid," writes of Toledo, who says they put him in contact with a filling station where his credit card was good.

"My foresight is getting better," writes of Walled Lake. "Two years ago I was flunked in the first game of your football contest. Last year I lasted through three games and this year survived five. According to my improvement, I should be a winner in 1960."

Each succeeding Nov. 11 reminds us of the man who called up the Pontiac Press on the morning of Nov. 11, 1918, and asked what all the noise was about. When told that the war was over, his query, "Which side won?," seemed foolish—then.

Known to most every old time baseball fan in the Pontiac area was

Pontiac Has Numerous Social Activities for Youngsters, Says Ione Bartholomew

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

In response to "Disgusted" in this column of Nov. 8, society should help in the social activities of our young people and it does.

What about the Boys' clubs, the Boy and Girl Scouts, the YMCA and the many church organizations for the young people of today? Pontiac has a lot of these.

It must be remembered that the foundation for good citizenship is laid in the home at or before the age of six. People who deny this are like the Cuckoo and the Cowbird that lay their eggs in the nests of other birds and shirk the responsibility of the care and early training of the young birds.

Would Help Organize 'Get-Together' Club

Recently I read Lonesome Widow's letter. I'm also a widow and surely would enjoy meeting and making new friends.

Another Lonesome Widow

Suggests 'Sunset Club' to a 'Lonely Widow'

An article written by a "Lonely Widow" appeared in the Voice of the People column last week, so I will answer her.

I am sorry that she has never heard of the Sunset Club which is now four years old. This club has been especially organized for men and women who have reached their 60th year and over and there are many who are alone and wish to meet other people.

Already the Sunset Club has at least 75 members and we meet at the Wilson School every two weeks on Thursdays at 1 o'clock. Visitors are welcome.

The Sunset Club is interested in anyone who is lonely, who needs friends and a good jolly time. So gather your friends and be on hand November 18 for Thanksgiving dinner. Each person donates something to each potluck dinner. Hoping to see and meet you.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Parents Should Teach Young Children to Be Socially at Ease With Others

Bill's dilemma is widespread. Literally millions of adults are trying to evade their problems via alcohol. People drink to flee from their unsolved problems or to avoid the cold, cruel world to which they haven't learned how to adjust successfully. Parents, beware! You indirectly drive your children into alcoholism!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-364: Bill F., aged 23, is still a problem child to his mother.

"Dr. Crane, Bill has always been socially timid," she began our interview.

"Indeed, our whole family has been unduly shy and reticent. But the rest of us have managed to get along fairly well. But Bill has taken to drinking to give him that courage and confidence which he seems to lack.

"He is good looking and should be popular, but he is afraid to meet people until he has taken a few drinks. Now he is going from bad to worse, and can't seem to face anybody or anything unless he has his whisky. What can I do?"

The proper time to stop undue shyness in children is while they are young.

You parents should anticipate such dire dilemmas as that which Bill's mother now faces, and teach your child to be socially at ease with other kids.

One of the best ways to do that, is to have a big family. When you limit your offspring to just one only child, you are doing the youngster a grave injustice.

Second, schedule parties and play in your backyard so your child will develop friendships with other youngsters. And if you move into a new school neighborhood, help your child get acquainted within the first week.

For this timidity is a serious thing and many of you parents treat it too lightly.

It later causes alcoholism like Bill's and makes thousands of boys go AWOL from military service.

It makes thousands of college students drop out before the end of the first semester in the fall just because they are so homesick and lonely.

You fathers, too, should help your youngsters learn how to be at least average in the games of their age. Show them how to catch a baseball or bat it. Teach them how to swim and ride a bicycle.

Be lavish with compliments and fortify your youngster with enough social accomplishments so that he doesn't feel inferior.

Get the children into the Scouts or Camp Fire Girl organizations. Gradually acclimate him to being away from you parents, as by letting him spend a night with a pal or some favorite cousins.

Before he is in high school, tactfully see that he attends a Scout camp or a summer church camp. Meanwhile, shower him with letters to cushion his initial loneliness at camp.

But you simply must teach your child to stand on his own feet socially, or you are an accessory to his later desertion from college or the army or even from life, as by alcoholism, suicide or insanity.

We psychologists know that alcoholism is like the fire escape from a burning building. It is an avenue of flight.

The proper way to combat alcoholism is to prevent or eliminate the inner torment and fear and terror that drive the victim into seeking this means of escape.

Alcohol does not produce courage. It simply dulls the brain so the victim no longer realizes the gravity of the situation. He then walks in where angels fear to tread, because of his stupidity.

Send for my bulletin "Facts About Alcohol," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime. It will show you how to cure liquor addicts.

Aunt Het

I don't know that girls are any naug'htier than they used to be. The only difference I notice is that a lot o' things ain't considered naughty any more.

James Marlow Says:

Dems, GOP Won't Try to Cooperate Too Closely

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats and Republicans may try to get along like brothers in the next two years — there's been mention of harmony — but it would be too tough on the voters if they acted like twins.

How could the voters decide between them in the 1956 elections if there was nothing but harmony?

The two parties probably won't try to be closer than third cousins: for political reasons, with 1956 in mind, and because of some differences in viewpoint although to many voters the differences may seem neither profound nor sharp.

* * *

The voters have shown in the past two elections they're having trouble making a choice.

In the 1952 elections the voters gave the Republicans control of Congress by a margin so thin that, if it was any thinner, the Democrats would have run the show. In 1954 they indicated Democratic control by an edge almost as fragile.

The overwhelming 1952 vote for President Eisenhower can be taken as a personal triumph for him. The amazingly narrow vote for Congress that year showed how the people felt about the two parties.

* * *

While it is possible the voters have been too nearsighted to recognize any great differences in the features and performance of the elephant and donkey, it may be that the differences were more apparent than real.

Once they're elected to Congress the Democrats and Republicans sometimes vote along strict party lines. More often than not at voting time on any given issue they break up into factions, with Democrats and Republicans making switches in bunches.

Since both parties have men who consider themselves conservative and others who consider themselves liberal, it is natural at voting time for the think-alikes to vote alike.

* * *

But what occurs on the floors of House and Senate at voting time is not, of course, all that happens. The two parties can make a lot of political hay and headlines in the committee hearings, where most of Congress' work is threshed out.

And since the party which has a majority controls the committees, it is in the best position for haymaking, particularly in the field of investigations, by deciding what needs looking into and how.

A good example is the Senate's committee which keeps check on government operations and its Investigations subcommittee. In the present Congress, with its Republican majority, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) is chairman of both committees.

* * *

But starting in January, with the Democrats taking over, Sen. McClellan of Arkansas, senior Democrat on those committees, may handle those jobs. Then it would be McClellan, not McCarthy, who would direct what the committee is to investigate.

McCarthy spent the first two years of the Eisenhower administration mainly hunting for Red influences in government. McClellan hasn't specified yet what turn his interest will take on the matter of what's to be probed.

The Democrats will probably use their committees to dig around in other Eisenhower administration performances for the past two years.

* * *

The Democrats have a wide field to choose from in asking questions. They will probably want to pin the Republicans down on their claims that they've rooted more than 6,000 security risks out of the government.

Just how many of those risks were Communists or otherwise subversive? Vice President Nixon threw a lot of security risk figures around in the recent campaign. He seemed to irritate the Democrats more than any other Republican campaigner.

Then there is the initial "hard money" policy of the Treasury Department in which Democrats have been showing interest. And they may want to ask questions, particularly, about the State Department's program for getting rid of security risks.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(International News Service)

Now that the early November votes have been protested and verified we are going to brief you on one of the main beefs of the campaign.

Whether you voted in a square, an oblong or a circle, this issue still came out catty-cornered.

We shall divide it into two quizzations. What was Dixon-Yates? And if so, how did Dixon get away from Mason?

Will the deep South get in deeper by singing, "I wish I was in Dixon-Yates"? Or will it permit the status quo to bury its own under-the-counter deals?

There's a two-million smacker slander suit running around loose down thataways. Everybody's wondering who's that important?

You've got to compound the interest by going back to the TVA in 1933. Since then there has been a battle between public and private power. It started under Franklin Delano Roosevelt and was regarded as socialization of waffle irons.

Electric power and illumination are not so important up the Arkansas creek beds where the natives scratch matches on their bare feet. And heat their cabins with their breaths.

Somehow or other TVA started leaking at the hub caps. It ran short spoon-feeding the U. S. atomic works at Paducah. So just this last June President Eisenhower told the Atomic Commission to do business with the Middle South Utilities and the Southern Company.

These power works are headed by Dixon and Yates. The witness can step down. If there's a good-looking doll on the jury he can step out.

Dixon-Yates were to build a plant in Arkansas and supply TVA with electric transfusions. That's the story and we have to see who's stuck with it.

Compulsory Retirement at Certain Age Fails to Account for Degeneration Rate

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

The reason for it is not clear, but in the last two or three years I have been receiving a good many letters such as I rarely received in the past. Readers express gratitude for some advice or teaching and say "God bless you and keep you slaving away there for many, many years," or anyway they say "God bless you and keep you." I add the touch about work just for fun, for, of course, this job is all fun for me.

I pray that God will let me die naturally, by the involution process, degeneration, just slowly, steadily declining until finally I peter out altogether, quietly and without fuss. I pray I may not die of injury, execution, or illness before I have done all the good I can do—if the so-and-so's will just not send coins messed up with stickum.

There is one drawback about natural death, physical degeneration or the decline of old age that is sometimes embarrassing. That is the behavior of the old geezer who takes himself and the kindness or indulgence of his friends too seriously and tries to stay in the game even though he be warned by his physician to withdraw. I have in mind two former presidents who so behaved, with great embarrassment to their country.

In military and some other public services and in many quasi-public and private fields the problem of getting rid of the old geezers is simplified—at an arbitrary age retire them on pensions.

This superannuation idea is fine—for some lucky stiffs. In my racket one can't look forward to an Elysium. For many years I have dreamed of turning things over to a half dozen qualified ghost writers and taking off on a tour of the world's bowling greens; but, of the numerous ghosts I have tried, only one has produced material that passed both editors and readers.

So I am resigned to settle for the world's finest bowling greens six or eight blocks from my playroom and go on pounding away at it (which is not work but always great fun) until my last reader moans "Oh, for Pete's sake!"

What I said above about natural death is not facetious. I'm trying to make you conscious of physical degeneration, involution, natural decline. This is the way of all flesh, and it is childish and silly to shudder at it.

Compulsory retirement at this or that age is perhaps better than no control over the irrational conduct of the elderly. Still, we cannot lose sight of the fact that one individual may be as old at fifty as another at 70.

I have suggested here before, and I say again, that a testator ought to be required to pass an examination by physician or psychiatrist appointed by the court, to prove competency at the time the will is made. This reasonable precaution would prevent a good deal of fraud and injustice.

For example, an aging woman, living alone, became so enfeebled that she had to call a neighbor to write a check for her and hand her purse to any stranger she wished to pay, so he or she could take whatever the sum might be—the old lady just couldn't count it herself.

Noticing this, her dear friend, a church deacon, moved in, persuaded her to leave everything she had to his wife, and thus defrauding the woman's heir of $200,000 which could not have happened if the testator had been required to prove her competence.

Signed letter, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

East Europe Workers Forced to Study After Quitting Whistle Blows

VIENNA — Thousands of overworked and underpaid workers in Communist East Europe are being forced to sit down and study Russian before they go home to supper.

When the whistle blows at the end of the working day for these captive people, it doesn't mean it's time to leave. It means it's time for their daily study of Russian.

In Czechoslovakia, there are at present 15,714 adult courses in factories and offices, catering to more than 250,000 persons. In Romania, 16,000 "popular" classes instruct more than 300,000.

But the Czchs, Poles and others apparently don't take to learning Russian with all the enthusiasm the Soviets would like.

"One adult course," said the Polish newspaper Zycie Warszawy, "started with 150 listeners, of whom only 30 took the exmaination. In the Agricultural Bank, only four of 26 beginners finished the starting course."

On Kremlin orders, Russian now is the second language in schools of Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. There are indications that, ultimately, Moscow hopes to make Russian the "mother tongue" of these countries.

In Prague streetcars, each week two new letters of the Russian Cyrillic alphabet are hung up for passengers to memorize. This explained a Prague newspaper, "is the first step toward the study of the brotherly Russian language."

Soviet language teachers are being imported by the Red regimes of all the Eastern satellites.

Buck Up! We're Better Than Robots

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — Ever since the advent of the fictional Frankenstein monster, man has uneasily watched the growth of robot devices and other assorted automatic units that can handle many jobs better than he can.

Stories of electronic "brains" and automatic heart-lung machines do little to bolster the human ego.

To restore our confidence, a group of engineers who probably have contributed as many automatic devices as any other single group cheerfully admit that the human body is still the best servomechanism ever built.

Electronic experts point out that it would take 100 engineers working 20 years to build $1,500,000 worth of electronic devices needed to duplicate the automatic functions of the body's nervous sytem — breathing, seeing, digesting, remembering, thinking and heating or cooling the body.

THREE IN FAMILY HAVE POLIO—Mrs. Betty Donahue and her two daughters, Carol, 4, and Judith, 2, of El Monte, Calif., smile despite their misfortune. It was believed that the girls had measles until tests showed that they and their mother had polio. Though concerned, Mrs. Donahue says the children are excited about their "new" hospital life.

Continue Hunt for 2 Little Girls

Guardsmen Searching the West Virginia Hills; Children Lost 10 Days

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)— National Guardsmen continued for the third day their search for two little sisters who disapeared 10 days ago. No trace of them has been found.

The foot-by-foot search for Irene Agree, 8, and her sister Mary, 6, has covered an area one by five miles in the remote, Egeria section of mountainous Raleigh County, southeast of here.

* * *

Three National Guard units, totaling 120 men, were called out Monday at full army pay for a week's intensive search. They are covering ground searched last week by hundreds of volunteers before a deep snow halted the hunt.

Steve Agree, father of the girls, holds little hope of finding them alive after a week in the open with temperatures near or below freezing every night. He has offered a $50 reward for information leading to finding his daughters — "dead or alive."

House Speaker Enters Hospital for a 'Checkup'

SAYRE, Pa. (AP)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass), speaker of the House, is in Robert Packer Hospital today for a "checkup."

Hospital attendants said the only information they were authorized to release was that Martin was hospitalized for a physical checkup.

Lists Catholic Bishops and Priests as Enemies of Government

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—President Juan D. Peron singled out three Argentine Roman Catholic bishops and two Italian priests last night as "enemies of the government" and warned he would take action against clergymen indulging in "illicit activities."

He also charged that the Catholic Action movement was attempting to undermine his Peronista party.

* * *

He emphasized, however, that he did not blame the church for what he termed a political situation. He said there was no problem of state against church in predominantly Catholic Argentina.

The President spoke at a closed meeting of government officials, Peronista leaders and chiefs of labor, economic and professional confederations. The speech was broadcast later by the national radio.

It followed a 10-day campaign in La Prensa, the organ of the Peron-blessed Confederation of Labor, against "infiltration" of the labor movement by priests.

* * *

Accused by Peron of working against the state were Bishops Nicolas Fasolino of Santa Fe, Fermin Lafitte of Cordoba and Vroilan Ferreira Reinafe of Larioje, and Italian Fathers Tranquilo Filatello and Portacavalli.

Peron said he would bring his complaint against the two Italians before the papal nuncio, the Vatican's envoy in Argentina.

He said church authorities had assured him that the church itself was not engaged in action against the government, and that Argentine prelates and other high dignitaries he had received recently had strongly condemned the activities of the three bishops.

Outlines Fight to Save Infants

California Pediatrician Explains Treatment for Diarrhea

DETROIT (AP) — A California pediatrician told Michigan family doctors today that general practitioners and parents are the two groups which can best help cut infant mortality rates in the first, crucial year of life.

Dr. James L. Dennis of Oakland, Calif., attending the eighth annual clinical session of the Michigan Academy of General Practice, said that 80 per cent of all deaths in the first year of life occur during the first month, and that mortality on the first day is highest of all.

One of the major causes of infant deaths, Dr. Dennis said, is diarrhea. In 48 to 72 hours, diarrhea can remove enough vital fluids, from a tiny body to cause dehydration, shock, and death, he said.

Dr. Dennis said it is up to family doctors and parents to recognize symptoms and seek medical care.

He outlined a method of restoring fluid and electrolyte balance in an afflicted infant by infusing saline and glucose solution through a vein in the scalp.

The method, Dr. Dennis said, has been thoroughly tested at the University of Texas, where he was assistant professor of pediatrics until this spring.

Simultaneously, toxic substances may be removed from the gastro-intestinal tract, he said, by administering a medicine called resion by mouth.

Dr. Dennis said this treatment is especially effective in the mild and moderate cases of infant diarrhea.

"If a baby's diarrhea hasn't subsided after 24 hours," he said, "he should receive medical attention immediately. Developments of the next day may be irreversible."

Wallets 'Mailed' Back

Pickpockets often drop rifled wallets in mailboxes to avoid being caught with the evidence. An average of 80 such wallets a day reach New York City post offices, says the National Geographic Society. When identification papers are available, they are returned to their rightful owners.

Welfare Beneficiary Has $3,476 Savings

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Fortuna Ralph, the mother of two small children who said her husband deserted her, was charged yesterday wit haccepting $6,234 in child support payments while she had personal savings of $3,476.

Police said the money was found in her possession when she was injured in an auto wreck Oct. 25 and taken to a hospital.

A Detroit Welfare Department investigator said the $6,234 was paid Mrs. Ralph since 1950 for support of her children, William, 6, and Jacqueline, 5.

Authorities said Mrs. Ralph said her husband deserated her while in the Air Force after she married him in 1947 and said her savings had been accumulated from her service allotments.

The Welfare Department said it has impounded her savings pending legal moves to take it in reimbursement for support payments.

North America comprises an area of about 8,300,000 square miles. It is about one-half the size of Asia.

Cedaredge, Colo., Trying Hard to Hide Something

By MARGARET LATROBE

Normally, when in search of light reading, I do not thumb through the happy talk published in chamber of commerce brochures.

These estimable pamphlets, while doubtless filling some need (whose?) strike me with misgivings. Truthful they may be, but the whole truth? Who cares how many dairy cattle graze on the open range? How's the room service at the hotel? Slower than Christmas, I'll bet. And if the joint is a real Mecca for tourists, why spend more money advertising for more tourists?

LATROBE

Anyway, being intent on going to Colorado soon, I sent for some information as to what might be cooking around Denver besides trout caught by certain fishermen.

They sent ski bulletins from Aspen; photos of large and unpleasant rocks abounding in the Garden of the Gods; tour news of Leadville, Estes Park, Lookout Mountain, Silver Plume—the works.

But the place I mean to see is Cedaredge, Colorado, whose ad was so compelling I simply gottta go.

"Do not come to Cedaredge and Surface Creek Valley," they say, "if you insist on swank hotels. We haven't a hotel in the entire valley. There are three auto courts . . . usually full, and that's a bother.

"If your car can take it, there' a rough road up Grand Mesa . . . 'plenty of lodges and cabins, but that's a 17-mile climb. . . In Surface Creek Valley there are some breath-taking views, but one is right near the town dump . . . There's a little museum but you have to go through an old mine shaft to get to it.

"The largest dinosaur tracks ever found came from here but they're gone now. . . We ski here, break about as many legs as any course, but we've seen bigger ski runs. . . . Hunting is good but there are generally so many hunters that you have to walk a little to find your game. We're about 15 miles off the main road, too, but if you have no place else to go you might look up how to get here and drop by."

Crank up the airplane and let's look for this here Cedaredge. Those folks are concealing something!

ST. LOUIS (UP) — Thomas R. Murphy had a novel but true excuse for his black eye. He was closing a window of his home during a storm when a big hailstone hit his eye.

Four-Lane Highway Cuts Accident Rate

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP)—Illinois statistics indicate that widening a highway from two to four lanes may cut down the accident rate.

The figures are based on accidents on a 21-mile stretch of U.S. 66 between Sherman and Lincoln, Ill.

In the first half of 1953, when this portion was two lanes, there were 40 accidents, with 54 injuries and one death.

In the first half of 1954, with four-lane pavement, there were 22 accidents, 33 injuries and no deaths.

Edwin A. Rosenstone, state director of public works and buildings, said this "is a striking example of how a physical improvement has contributed to accident prevention."

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Calif. (UP)—Stanford University now will be able to train yearly as many as 20 undergraduates and up to 12 graduate students in geophysical exploration techniques—a field in which only 145 students were graduated from the nation's schools in 1952.

This announcement was made here recently by Professor Joshua L. Soske, director of Stanford's school of mineral sciences, at the dedication ceremonies for the university's new geophysics laboratory.

Stanford's Henry Salvatori Laboratory of Geophysics was a $60,000 gift of Salvatori and the Western Geophysical Co. of Los Angeles which he heads.

Sedentary Life Hard on Heart

Farm Laborer Is Least Likely to Suffer From Coronary Disorder

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The idea of giving up physical exercise, reading a lot and "getting plenty of rest" to stave off a fatal heart attack is being thrown out the window by doctors.

In fact, they are learning that's just the kind of life that brings on coronary heart trouble.

This revolutionary change in the concept of treating and preventing the most fatal of heart diseases was revealed by Dr. Percy Stocks of North Wales at the recent International Congress of Clinical Patholoty here.

Facts and figures which he has been gathering for the past 20 years on coronary disorders tell the following story:

The safest job a man can have today, as far as it offers protection from heart attack, is as a farm laborer. This is proven statistically among workers in England and is presumed to be the same in the U. S.

Reason for this is that the work is outside, regularly active and involves a minimum of mental strain.

As a man's work gets less physical and involves more dangerous strain, it gets more dangerous to his heart.

Fatalities from coronary heart disorders are about twice as high among men doing office work as among men doing physical labor.

The surest way to commit suicide on the job is to work at a desk all the time, have responsibilities which keep you in a constant state of nervous tension and then be driven home in your car.

The increasing use of automobiles is directly proportional to the increase of deaths due to heart disease.

The lack of physical exertion permits the circulatory system to deteriorate. And the nervous strain speeds up the process.

This same theory accounts for the oft-repeated case of the man who had led an extremely active life, retired, and then died of a heart attack two weeks later while napping in his hammock.

The collection of fatty substances on the lining of the arteries is a factor in coronary diseases. But there is growing evidence that simply poor mechanics of circulation are a greater cause of fatal coronary attacks than diet and blood chemistry.

Coronary disorders are less frequent among women than men. But since the war in England—and to some extent in the U.S. with a shortage of maids, deaths from that trouble among housewives have dropped markedly.

Doing their own housework provides them enough physical exercise to prevent heart trouble.

One of the first major clues to this new concept resulted from a study of the causes of deaths of bus drivers in England, compared to those for bus conductors.

The drivers sat all day and had the emotional strain of fighting traffic. The conductors had practically no mental strain and exercised by walking up and down and climbing the stairs to the second deck.

The coronary death rate among the drivers was many times higher than for the conductors.

The old idea that college and professional athletes die early from heart attack is also exploded by Dr. Stocks. He says their death from this disease is generally about 20 per cent lower than experienced by the rest of the population.

Dr. Stocks warns that his research does not indicate that all persons who fear heart trouble should start doing a lot of violent exercising. He warns that moderate exercise is the key to the problem.

He also says that over a period of years a man's heart tends to adapt itself to his average physical pace.

A drastic change of that pace after retirement, whether it's an increase or decrease of physical activity, is what should be avoided, he claims.

Not Hard to Figure

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP)—Luther Lairson left a clue recently that led to his arrest for violating a state law by dumping trash on a public highway. Police found a letter in a pile of rubbish Lairson dumped. He admitted the offense and was finde $25 and costs. The clue was a letter addressed to him which was an overdue bill from the local garbage company.

Poor Memory May Be Result of 'Short Circuit'

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Poor memory may be the result of a "short circuit" in the brain, according to findings made by Dr. Joseph Gengerelli, University of California psychologist.

From experiments made with rats, Dr. Gengerelli discovered the frequency of electrical impulses in a rat's brain determines how well they remember things. Rats whose brains were electrically stimulated at a high frequency remembered things better than those stimulated at a low frequency.

Gets Gears Gratis for Old Trolley Sign

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP)—H. Reid found the gears messed up when he tried to reconstruct a 1928-model streetcar sign—one of those roller things they cranked to let you know if it was the car you wanted.

A rubber stamp on the shade showed the name of the builder, in Flushing, N. Y. Reid wrote for prices on new gears. Back came a set of gears gratis with a letter from Fenley Hunter, the president, expressing great interest in the preservation of things ancient, especially a 1928 illuminated car sign.

Cigarettes on Trial

Pack-a-Day Smokers From 50-70 Run Double Risk of Cancer, Heart Ailments

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the most sensational reports of danger in cigarettes came last June with announcement of findings in the American Cancer Society's big statistical study.

Oddly, many people apparently missed one of its most significant findings—its evidence that cigarette smoking stepped up the risk of heart attacks. This aspect, new to most people, could have been overlooked in concern over cancer.

In main essence, this study found:

Men, aged 50 to 70, who smoke a pack of cigarettes or more daily run about twice the risk of heart disease and cancer as nonsmokers. Smokers run more risk not only of lung cancer, but other forms of cancer. Heavy cigarette smoking might cut an average of seven years from the life span.

This study, headed by Doctors E. Cuyler Hammond and Daniel Horn, attracted attention because it was based upon interviews with some 180,000 men about their smoking habits, then checks to learn what they died of later.

Said Dr. Hammond, who switched from chain-smoking cigarettes to a pipe:

The effect found on the heart is much more important than the effect found in lung cancer, because heart disease is so much more frequently a killer than lung cancer.

Again, there are many medical men who do not agree with Hammond that cigarettes play any great role in contributing to heart attacks.

It has long been known that smoking can make tiny blood vessels narrow down, kick up pulse rate and blood pressure. Nicotine is usually blamed for this.

In some diseases, particularly Buerger's disease—a plugging of blood vessels in the extremities—smoking is banned as a measure to save life or avoid amputations.

Publication of the Hammond-Horn results sent tobacco stocks tumbling. But they recovered just as they had from previous drops caused by research reports.

A month ago, the Public Health Cancer Assn., a small organization of cancer specialists in public health responsibilities, by a 13-3 vote adopted a resolution advising the public to stop smoking as a way to reduce lung cancer deaths, and suggesting that youths ponder whether the risks in smoking were worth the pleasure.

Some authorities now term cigarettes "a major factor in causing" lung cancer. The New England Journal of Medicine has said editorially that the evidence amounts to "proof within the ordinary meaning of the word."

* * *

But other authorities—physicians and scientists—say a link is by no means proved.

The American Medical Assn. has not yet made any editorial pronouncement, nor has its House of Delegates passed any resolution.

Life insurance companies have not raised their rates for smokers.

It would be simple to build a seemingly convincing case by taking just the findings by various qualified investigators or experienced men who have had something to say which could be interpreted as pro or con.

For example one American statistician has figured that men who are now 40 or older and smoke heavily have 5 to 15 times more chance of getting lung cancer by age 80 than nonsmokers. But an English statistician wonders why the British cancer death rate is apparently double that of the United States, although he says the British smoke 20 per cent fewer cigarettes per capita than Americans.

To what they have heard or learned so far, many American smokers respond with a shrug. Some don't believe the accusative evidence. Others apparently feel that if there is a risk, well, there is a risk in everything, even crossing the street, and the risk is well worth the candle because of their enjoyment from smoking.

* * *

Others say they think they should stop smoking, and some wonder how best to do it?

On this score, a New York psychiatrist, Dr. Howard N. Cooper, can offer some tips.

1. If you tell yourself that "tomorrow" you will stop smoking, you'll find tomorrow rarely comes.

2. If you quit until some future date, like Jan. 1, you'll probably find that the desire to smoke flares up on that very day, regardless of how well you had been doing until then.

3. If you just cut down, you'll probably think about cigarettes far more, and this usually leads to smoking as much as ever.

4. If you really want to quit, quit forever and completely. Or quit completely "just for today," but do the same thing tomorrow, which is again a "today." You build up an investment, like an alcoholic who is just not drinking today and enough todays can add up to years or a lifetime.

Smoking, he says, is a habit not an addiction, and it involves psychological satisfactions far more than physical satisfactions. People smoke partly because they feel some emotional need for reassurance.

The greater a person's tensions in life or competition are, the less chance he has of stopping smoking, Dr. Cooper says. Judicious use of crutches can help—like pipes or chewing gum or candy or more attention to and enjoyment of meals—but there can be hazards in them too.

If people didn't smoke, he says, "we might well have a nation of more alcoholics, more fat people who eat too much, more gum chewers, more nail-biters, more people who simply talk too much."

English Actress Sick Worrying Over Pay

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—British actress Simone Silva, who posed bare to the waist for photographers on the French Riviera, is hospitalized by what her doctor calls epidemic vomiting.

She told reporters yesterday she has lost 14 pounds in six days and hasn't eaten in a week.

She said worry over her film contract brought on the illness.

She said producer Al Petker, who arranged for her to come to this country, hasn't been paying her $235 weekly salary. Petker countered that he has spent $54,000 on her career to date and said he suspended her for failing to lose weight.

The 26-year-old actress said she is ready to call it quits and return home to England.

Young Husband Shoots Wife, 15, Then Slays Self

SAVANNAH, Tenn. (AP) — Pretty Betty Ann Brannon, 15-year-old bride of a year, yesterday filed suit for a divorce from her 19-year-old husband R. C. Brannon.

As Betty and her mother sat talking last night, Brannon walked into their room. He was carrying a .22 rifle.

He tossed some papers into Betty's lap, papers saying she had filed for divorce charging cruel treatment.

"This is a mess of lies you told on me," he said.

"You don't scare me," Betty replied.

He fired one shot into Betty's head and fled.

Wolf Terrorizes Iron Mountain

Huge Animal Is Stalking Livestock, Residents in Upper Peninsula

IRON MOUNTAIN (UP) — A huge gray timber wolf, brazenly stalking livestock and even human beings, is causing frightened farm residents north of Iron Mountain to stick close to their homes these days.

Conservation officer Robert Timmer estimated from descriptions that the wolf weighs 80 to 100 pounds, maybe more, which would make it one of the biggest of its species.

All who have seen it described it as "the biggest I ever saw."

Mrs. Anthony Deldin was the first to see it when it chased a buck deer into the yard of their farm home.

"It was every bit as big as the deer," she said.

When her 18-year-old son, Louis, shot at it, it fled toward the farm of Henry Calcari, half a mile away.

Mrs. Deldin called the Calcaris to warn them, but they saw no sign of it, not then.

The next day, Andy Thomas of Iron Mountain, passing in his car, saw the big wolf stalking Mrs. Calcari along the edge of a field.

Since then Peter Dishaw, owner of a general store at Merriam, and Victor Fezette, a traper, both reported they had glimpsed the huge animal near the Deldin and Calcari farm.

The Calcaris think it is attracted to the farm by their cows.

As a precautionary measure, the older Deldin boy escorts his sister Kathy, 14, and their brother, John, 6, to the school bus every morning. The children were getting ready to leave for school the first morning the wolf appeared and they have been terrified ever since.

"When it stretched out to jump at that deer, it was eight feet long," Kathy said.

Timmer is alerting deer hunters to look out for the wolf.

"Coyotes only run 35 to 40 pounds," Timmer said. "Timber wolves often grow to good size, but this may be one of the biggest. I can't understand why it comes out into the open like this."

Air Conditioner Devised by DaVinci Is on Display

WASHINGTON (INS)—An exhibit featuring an "air conditioning" unit by Leonardo da Vinci may surprise some of his devotees who did now know that the famous artist also was an inventor of considerable merit.

A model of the air conditioning gimmick built for the boudoir of Beatrice d'Este, wife of Leonardo's patron, is one of a number of the painter's inventions on exhibit at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington.

The models of the inventions were constructed by a Leonardo authority, Dr. Roberto Guatelli. Dr. Guatelli spent years studying the artist's notebooks which contained descriptions and sketches of many different kinds of machines.

Some of them are believed to have been used with success in Leonardo's time. Among them were his steam gun, which discharged a projectile by steam pressure created when water flowed into a barrel kept at red heat by live coals.

Leonardo also invented a pyramid-shaped parachute, and excavating machine consisting of a large crane with a series of pivoting arms, and a printing press carrying a moveable bed of type under the plate.

Dr. Guatelli's first models were completed for the 1938 exhibition of Leonardo's work in Milan, Italy. He accompanied the exhibit to Tokyo, where it was destroyed during World War Two. Dr. Guatelli set about building a new set of models upon his release from a Japanese concentration camp.

Nudists Get Chilled

LONDON (INS) — Wet, chilly weather seriously curtailed activities of thousands of British nudists. Nudist camp officials reported that guests had to play games to keep warm.

Demand for Dentists Greater Than Supply

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (INS)—Although 3,000 dentists will be graduated annually in the next five years, the supply still will be less than the demand.

Dr. Leslie M. FitzGerald of Dubuque, Ia., president of the American Dental Association, says the country's 43 dental schools are at peak enrollment as a result of heavy demand stemming from increased population, improved economic conditions and other factors.

Dr. FitzGerald adds:

"It is impossible to provide in a short time the dentists who are needed. We cannot lower the standards of the profession. It takes from six to 11 years for a man to become a dentist, depending upon his area and degree of specialization."

The dental association president said that the profession is trying to develop a larger supply of auxiliary helpers such as dental hygienists, assistants and laboratory technicians so that dentists will be able to treat more patients.

Aero Speeders Form New Club for Top Pilots

LOS ANGELES (INS)—An elite, select new club of aviation's fastest moving young men and women has been formed. To gain a membership card all you have to do is travel faster than the speed of sound—735 miles per hour of sea level.

The club was started by the North American Aviation Corp., for pilots who have, at least once, cracked through the sonic wall, or as it is technically called "mach 1 point."

Like their counterpart, the Caterpillar Club, which wears a gold caterpillar lapel pin to signify they bailed out of a disabled plane in combat, the "Mach Busters" will wear a gold lapel button depicting shock waves and bearing the name of the club.

Scores of pilots, both Korean War aces and professional test pilots already are eligible. But so far, only one woman flyer has qualified—Miss Jacqueline Cochran.

Horror Comic Books Striving to Live Up to Their Grisly Names

By JOHN R. ROSS

What about all the fuss currently being stirred up over comic books? Is there anything to it, or is this just another whipping-boy for the do-gooders?

In the past few months, groups in a dozen cities across the nation have suddenly taken up the cry that a lot of comic books are unfit for consumption by youthful readers.

The publishers of comic books claim they have undertaken a campaign to clean up their product.

But just exactly what objection is there to this peculiarly American type of literature? To find out, all anyone needs to do is select a half-dozen comic books at random from any magazine stand.

The first thing you notice is that comic books fall into a number of classifications, as to content. Roughly, these are:

1. Actual comics, like Donald Duck or Mutt and Jeff, designed to provide amusement and entertaining reading.

2. Non-fiction comics, including historical events and well-known books presented in cartoon style.

3. Western comics, based on the inevitable and time-honored plots which almost invariably contain rustler, sheriffs, good guys and Indians.

4. Romance comics, apparently slanted at the female segment of the younger set, which could compete on the basis of sheer goo content with anything ever written. A percentage of these also seem to sanction moral standards a bit further advanced than those encountered in Paris nightclubs.

5. Crime and horror comics, obviously devoted to achieving the ultimate high (or low) in sheer literary garbage.

It is the last classification which has so often stirred the wrath of parents, church groups and educators, and apparently with good reason.

On the cover of the current issue of one of these gems is a drawing, in full color, of a full-figured damsel on the verge of being devoured by a BEM (bug-eyed-monster, of course).

This magazine carries a message to readers on the first page, from which this quotation is taken:

"This is only the first installment. This is only the beginning of what promises to be a panorama of horror.

"Yet, each chapter is a story of its own that stands alone as a prize piece in the annals of terror. But the reading of each chapter will whet your appetite for more and still more.

"The Last Man on Earth takes his place in the hall of horror next to the Frankenstein monster, the vampire, Dracula, the Wolfman, the Thing, and the Mummy."

As a matter of fact, Frankenstein is in the Mother Goose class compared with this one, which describes the adventures of a slimy creature who got that way when he was exposed to atomic radiation while still a human being. He is currently exacting vengeance on the rest of the human race for making him a monster, and his adventures are well-illustrated, particularly where luscious young women are involved in the slaughter.

This animal is indestructible, immortal and out to do no good. And just as a parting thought, the story carries this endpiece:

"Do you dare to walk the streets now? Can you laugh at footsteps behind you? Of course you can't.

"Be sure to get the next amazing issue! The Last Man will walk . . . kill . . . again!!!"

Horror comics are certainly trying to live up to their name. Any one of dozens on the newsstands can offer close-up views of vampires at work (usually on pretty girls), zombies dining on human flesh, blood sacrifices of scantily-clad beauties, and the latest techniques in bloodier forms of torture.

In one magazine, some 15 persons met violent deaths in pictures which left little, if anything, to the imagination. In another, crimes committed ranged from petty larceny up through assault and armed robbery to murder. Seldom, if ever, do criminals ever get caught by the police.

If they do pay for their crimes, it is through some unlikely quirk of fate. The idea seems to be that if a person would just be more careful, he might get away with anything.

There is apparently nothing too disgusting for the horror comics, but if there is, the publishers will probably get around to it in time.

Whether this kind of reading does a child any actual harm is debatable—publishers of comic books say no, parents and some educators say yes.

Whatever the effect might be, it probably isn't too wholesome. A generation brought up on a diet of flesh-eating and blood-sucking could hardly be expected to take crimes like aggravated assault or breaking and entering very seriously.

And then consider the effect this kind of literature could have on the more-impressionable and less-disciplined mind of a retarded or even slightly unbalanced child.

Education Board Gets New School Site Bid

Condemnation Action Delayed

Substitute Land Located Adjacent to Disputed Property

Condemnation proceeding on a 13-acre site for an elementary school were postponed for one week by the Pontiac Board of Education last night when a new school site was offered.

The board started condemnation proceedings five weeks ago after repeated offers to buy the property were rejected.

The property, an unimproved site on Victory drive, is located between Mt. Clemens and Perry streets and intersects East boulevard. It is owned by Willis Brewer and associates.

Brewer, acting for the owners, made his counter offer this week after an appraisal price for the 13 acres was offered. The new site comprises 12 acres and adjoins the original property on the south.

According to Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of Pontiac public schools, Brewer will give the board a price sometime Friday.

The board said the original site was chosen because it is located almost in the center of a rapidly developing housing area. Members claim the district will be faced with a critical school problem unless the area has an elementary school by the fall of 1955.

In other actions, the board sold its five-year lease and option to buy a 23-acre site at the end of Lake street for $2,500 to the Carrell Building Co. of Berkley.

The lease was negotiated this year between the board and the Oakland Housing Corporation. It has a U.S. Government priority and can be continued on a year-to-year-basis.

The board stipulated in the sale of the lease that the houses on the property could not be renovated or rehabilitated.

Elementary school boundaries were written into formal board policy Wednesday night and are on file in the board office on Patterson St.

"This is not a change of school boundaries, just a detailed written account of them," said Paul Allison, director of child accounting for the Pontiac schools.

What Teaching Means to Me

Mary Green Believes Work Is Fulfillment of Her Ideals

(Editor's Note: Fourth in a series on "What Teaching Means to Me," published by the Pontiac Press during American Education Week, Nov. 7-13, is written by Mary Green (Mrs Wendell), second grade teacher at Daniel Whitfield School, Pontiac. Mother of three children, she has been teaching for 20 years and received her training from Ypsilanti State Normal College.

By MARY GREEN

MARY GREEN

Teaching has changed in the past twenty years in many respects. New methods and fads about teaching have come and gone.

Ideals, my ideals, have broadened and grown richer as time passed. The only thing that has remained the same is the children. They are still eager, happy, sad, mischievous, bright or dull, whatever the case may be, and each room will have all types.

It is difficult to say what teaching means to me because it represents so many of my ideals. Teaching the ability to apply knowledge learned, to live good citizenship, and to develop good character traits, is so important to the children's future.

Ideals aren't taught in a single day. One can only hope to gradually build up these ideals a little at a time whenever the opportunity presents itself. Teachers' thoughts and ideals reflect very brightly in their small friends whom they are guiding each day. Ask any parent and he will tell you that Johnny will do lots of things which he really doesn't want to do if the teacher has told him that he thinks he should do it.

Teaching is one of the most gratifying, yet exasperating of the professions. It takes all the ingenuity, imagination, and resources one can muster to teach these future citizens.

I feel a grave responsibility toward these future citizens whom I have in my charge, hoping and praying that the things which I believe in and teach will in some small way help to make this world of ours a better place in which to live.

I like to think that in teaching I am making friends of these citizens of tomorrow—not only personal friends but friends of the teaching profession. I hope that some of these friends will choose teaching as their life work, that others not active in the profession will have a warm sympathic feeling toward schools in general and toward teachers in particular when the time comes for them to make decisions about the betterment of schools and education.

Today the Three R's are more important than ever before. In technical data, research work, science, and in fact in just plain everyday living it is necessary to be able to read with understanding, to figure with accuracy, and to write intelligently. The three R's are no longer isolated subjects, but are key tools that open the door to opportunity and a richer fuller life.

In order to make the learning of the three R's a pleasure rather than a pain, I apply the old saying "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Consequently, in this process of learning we do many things that might seem like play to the casual observer, but it is really important to be able to use the Three R tools while playing as well as working.

To me it isn't how or what you know that counts but what use you make of it that is important.

In short, to me teaching means helping others to be able to enjoy a happier life through education.

NEW, BIGGER PLYMOUTH—Completely new 1955 Plymouth cars are lower, wider and more than 10 inches longer than previous models. With either a PowerFlow Six or Hy-Fire V-8 engine, they are the most powerful cars Plymouth has ever built. They are available with a full range of automatic and power-assist devices. Pictured here is the Belvedere 4-Door sedan.

New Plymouth models will be on display Nov. 17 and will be shown here by Braid Motor Sales, 70 S. Cass Ave., and by Riemenschneider Bros., 232 S. Saginaw St.

50,000 Aliens Become Citizens

Take Oath of Allegiance to U.S. in Mass Rites on Veterans Day

NEW YORK (AP)—Call it imagination, but the Statue of Liberty today has her chin raised a proud notch and her torch held even higher as she listens to the oath of allegiance fervently voiced by 50,000 new citizens of the United States.

It's our first Veterans Day—formerly Armistice Day — and our first holding of mass naturalization ceremonies, from coast to coast of the "48" and across the Pacific to Hawaii and Guam.

* * *

* * *

They include a Catholic priest who narrowly escaped execution by the Nazis, a Rabbi who fled from invading Russian and German armies, a Russian seized by the Nazis and thrown into a concentration camp in Poland.

* * *

Imagine how "Miss Liberty" must look to them, with what warmth they recall the phrase graven on her statue: "...Give me your tired, your poor, your huddled masses yearning to breathe free."

* * *

Some 16,000 new citizens take "the oath" in New York City alone. Their swearing-in occurs in typically American surroundings — baseball's Ebbets Field in Brooklyn and the Polo Grounds in Upper Manhattan.

Among other cities holding mass citizenship programs are Baltimore; Buffalo, N.Y.; Boston, Phil-Hackensack in New Jersey; Miami, Detroit, Chicago, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles, El Paso, San Antonio, Portland, Maine, and Honolulu.

Low Silhouettes and Slim Body Lines Mark More Powerful Plymouths for '55

Plymouth's bigger and more powerful 1955 model cars will be displayed by dealers throughout the nation beginning Wednesday, Nov. 17, President John P. Mansfield of Plymouth Motor Corporation announced today.

The 1955 Plymouths are entirely new, both in styling and engineering detail, Mansfield said. They are lower, longer and wider than previous Plymouth cars.

The 1955 engines are a 117-horsepower PowerFlow six, a 157-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8 and 167-horsepower Hy-Fire V-8. The lafter engine also is available with a four-barrel carburetor and special manifold which increases its horsepower to 177.

Plymouth offers as optional equipment a full range of automatic and power assist devices. They include PowerFlite fully automatic transmission, a new design coaxial full-time power steering, power brakes, power-operated front seat adustments, power-operated window regulators, and electric windshield wipers. Air conditioning by Airtemp also is available as special equipment.

The 1955 line is made up of 12 models, including for the first time four-door versions of the Plymouth Suburban, the all steel body "station wagon" type car which Plymouth pioneered in 1949.

Among the distinctive features of Plymouth's new styling are a low silhouette, slimness and sleekness of body lines, deeply recessed head lights and tail lights, and an overall appearance of forward motion.

Plymouth four-door sedans are 10.3 inches longer than their predecessors. They are 1.7 inches lower. Front seats are 3.2 inches wider and rear seats 5.9 inches wider.

A new wrap-around windshield, with swept back corner posts, at top and bottom, has 16 per cent more glass area.

Standard wheelbase of the new models is 115 inches, an increase of one inch. Among the chassis advancements are symmetrical idler arm steering on V-8 models, three-tooth roller steering gear on manually-steered cars, new wider rear springs, a new front suspension in which Oriflow shock absorbers are mounted within the coil springs, new longer and wider frame, an increase in the number of body mounts for increased rigidity, bigger brakes on V-8 models to accommodate the increased weight and performance, and new brake and clutch linkages.

Among the driver conveniences, available as optional equipment are:

New type windshield washer, operated from a foot control button; Veriable speed electric windshield wiper; Power front seat control; Electric window lifts; New improved coaxial full-time power steering system.

The color styling and fabrics of 1955 models are new. Plymouth designers believe they also are trend-setting. The 14 new exterior colors in the new models, for example, were chosen in a series of eliminations which started with 90 different colors.

All Plymouth cars, including the lowest priced, are color-styled throughout. Two-tone body color combinations are standard on Belvedere models.

More than 60 different fabrics, carpets and soft trim materials are used in 63 interior trim combinations. Many of the fabrics feature lurex metallic thread, an attractive innovation in automobile upholstering.

The new models have push button door handles, which operates with a new rotary latch to maintain automatic tight seal.

Another entirely new feature is a compact heating and ventilating unit mounted on the dash. It takes in outside air from the cowl vent at the base of the windshield.

An improved Airtemp car air conditioner is offered on the 1955 Plymouth for the first time. The unit employs a two-cylinder reciprocal compressor. It has a magnetic clutch which connects the compressor to the engine only when cooling is needed, and a new single condenser which minimizes interference with engine cooling.

Defense Treaty Approval Seen

Senator Forecasts Quick OK of Southeast Asia Alliance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) today forecast quick Senate Foreign Relations Committee approval of the Southeast Asia defense treaty but hoisted a caution signal on the new German sovereignty and rearmament agreements.

Wiley is chairman of the committee. Neither he nor Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) foresaw any major obstacle to a committee recommendation that the Senate ratify the Asia defense alliance treaty first thing in January.

* * *

Secretary of State Dulles was scheduled to go before the committee today with an appeal from President Eisenhower that committee study be completed during the current special Senate session so that the treaty could be taken up by the Senate itself soon after the new Congress convenes Jan. 5. Senate leaders hope to confine the present session to the issue for which it was called — the move to censure Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

* * *

The new eight-nation treaty provides for consultations among the United States, the Philippines, Pakistan, Thailand, Australia, New Zealand, Britain and France in the event of Red attack in Southeast Asia. It also provides for consultation on internal subversion.

Road Expansion Program Tops Dem Legislative Slate

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams will ask the 1955 Legislature to place on the spring election ballot a proposal for a 500 million dollar bond issue to finance an expanded road construction program.

Williams told his press conference that the road program would be part of a major three-point legislative program for next year. The other points, he said, generally will affect education and a "prosperity" plank covering employment and farm aid.

More relaxed and expansive with newsmen than he has been during his previous six years as governor, Williams said he would recommend that the Legislature set up a special advisory board to establish priorities for highway projects—then let the Republican-controlled highway Department build those projects.

The governor avoided questions as to whether he would propose an advisory board composed of bipartisan members selected by him, but he said that if he had the choice he would pick a group of men interested in highway expansion and that "they should not all come from one party."

He said the Highway Department's own chart of needs showed that Michigan needed to spend at least half a billion dollars to achieve good roads.

Williams said he would recommend the bond issue without any increase in the state gasoline tax of 4½ cents a gallon. He said better highways would reduce maintenance costs, would produce more revenue at present rates because of increased travel and that more federal road funds were likely.

This makes it unnecessary, he said, to consider raising the gasoline tax to pay off the bond issue.

Stone-Steel Caves to House UM Atom Research Center

By JOHN BARBOUR

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Two stone and steel caves are being built by the University of Michigan for 20th Century cavemen: those who work with the atom and its energy.

In a still incomplete building on the university's north campus, these giants are taking shape. They actually are two rooms.

Their ceilings are four feet of poured concrete. Their doors weigh nine tons each. The windows are three feet thick. The whole structure is lined with three-eighths of an inch of steel plate.

Electricity, by now a puny power, travels through specially armored conduits to privide light and movement for the giants.

The rooms themselves are dwarfed by a parent structure. That building will house the million-dollar atomic reactor of the university's Phoenix project.

From the reactor and from Atomic Energy Commission plants will come radioactive materials to warm the bellies of the giant caves.

Scientists will stand outside where radiation will be weaker than that of an illuminated wrist watch dial. They will maneuver special mechanical arms and hands, so delicately contrived that they can write or peel a banana.

But the hands will have sterner chores. They will be used to carefully measure out exact amounts of "hot" radioactive materials.

The project is part of the university's Phoenix Memorial to alumni, students and faculty who died in World War II. It is dedicated to peaceful uses of the atom.

The men who are building the two radiation caves have thought out every detail. Even housecleaning after tests has been brought to a technique. The mechanical arms will sweep all the scraps into lead containers which will be carried away for deposit in a safe place. The walls then will be washed down with a hose to remove any other radioactivity. A special paint will make the job easier.

The building of the rooms took a good deal of planning. Take for instance, the windows. Though transparent, they will be as protective as the four-feet concrete walls.

They will be built of six four-inch thick panes of cerium-stabilized lead glass. The cerium prevents the glass from turning brown in exposure to radioactivity. The lead offers protection. The spaces between the panes will be filled with 60 gallons of clear mineral oil.

Nab 5 in New York in Ticket Evasions

NEW YORK (AP)—Five men, including a policeman and an ex-cop, were held today in connection with a "magic card" traffic ticket evasion racket which police officials say involved at least 100 motor patrol officers.

Disclosure of the racket came yesterday from Brooklyn Dist. Atty. Edward S. Silver at a news conference attended by New York City Police Commissioner Francis W. H. Adams.

Silver said the ring extended from New York City to parkways running through neighboring Westchester, Nassau and Suffolk counties.

Failure to Expand Existing Highways May Lead to Traffic Paralysis

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

No Oakland County driver needs to be told that traffic jam involvements are becoming an every day, if not an every trip, occurrence.

Neither must he look far for the reason. While the county, state and federal road-building programs are confined mostly to keeping up existing routes, the number of vehicles using them increases rapidly every year.

Without an ambitious road-expansion project, experts warn, the situation will develop from the annoying, time-losing stage, to one of traffic paralysis.

The Michigan Department of State reported 160,316 registered passenger cars in Oakland County during 1951. The total jumped to 166,759 in 1952 and 187,221 in 1953.

Total vehicle registration, including passenger, commercial, ambulance, farm, trailer, trailer coach, motorcycle and municipally owned, was 193,809 in 1951. It climbed to 201,789 in '52 and 226,145 in '53.

The Oakland County registration is second only to Wayne with 1,066,471 in 1953. Kent County was third, with 141,385, some 84,760 less than Oakland.

Pontiac's congested traffic is illustrated by the number of cars in transit to and from plants here daily.

About 8,500 cars use the parking lots at Pontiac Motor Division every 24 hours.

Out of 9,000 employes of General Motors Truck & Coach Division, 6,224 autos are driven to work.

At Fisher Body Division, 2,900 cars park daily including those parked on streets.

Some of the most heavily traveled roads in the state are in Oakland County, according to an average-traffic-flow map compiled by the Michigan Highway Department.

On US-10 between Pontiac and Detroit 25,000 to 60,000 vehicles travel each 24 hours.

US-10 north from Pontiac in the county drops from 25,000 per day to 11,700.

US-24 in the south end of the county averages 15,000, while M-24 north from Pontiac has 8,000. U.S.16 averages between 12,000 and 22,000. M-59 carries between 3,500 and 10,000.

The figures were compiled in 1953 and undoubtedly have increased since, highway department officials say.

Oakland again follows Wayne in number of cars using highways. Highest flow recorded in the Grand Rapids area was 15,000. US-10 south of Flint reached 16,800. Top figure for the Saginaw-Bay City area was 12,000.

With economists predicting a steady increase in both production and sale of vehicles through the present decade and the '60s, the number of cars on local roads can be expected to continue multiplying.

Will bumper-to-bumper travel be the accepted fact in 1970, or will county roads be adequate to handle the load?

Hal Boyle Says:

Frank Lloyd Wright at 85 Still Has Youthful Outlook

By RELMAN MORIN
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—Diary of a New Yorker:-

MONDAY — Architect Frank Lloyd Wright, silver mane, opera cape and all, is back in town. He was 85 this year, but nobody could be more youthful in outlook. Says his formula for this is to "keep young people around all the time." Actually, it's more because of his tremendous enthusiasms. He personifies the observation, "Zest is the last gift of the gods." He has great zest.

Right now, he is all excited over his new job — building Guggenheim Museum. Says he has been dreaming all his life of the oportunity to create this particular form in a building. When he looks at his drawings, he has the expression of a man in love. Last time I saw him, he was interested in the writings of a Greek mystic. He is convinced that death is an illusion, and for him certainly life is a great joy.

* * *

TUESDAY — Went to a little shindy for Hildegarde, who was looking radiant. A very attractive girl, "Hildy," mainly because she has the same zestful quality as F.L.W. Did you ever know she possesses a fine collection of paintings, and is practically an expert in the field?

* * *

WEDNESDAY — Sat late and fascinated tonight listening to a discussion of Israel.

It came about when Alfred Lilienthal blew in suddenly from the Middle East. He wrote "What Price Israel," a book that sets forth the reasons why anti-Zionists oppose a Jewish political state. An old Washington pal, Leo Margolin, has had considerable experience with these matters from the legislative angle. His views are about 180 degrees apart from Lilienthal's.

Anyway, we got together and it was a grand thing to hear the pros and cons from two brilliant guys with opposite feelings on the same subject.

* * *

THURSDAY — Speaking of books, it was hard to turn out the light tonight on "The Reason Why." This is a wonderful job on that famous incident, the charge of the Light Brigade — by a lady author, no less. In spots, it borders on being hilarious, but I couldn't help but suffer for the poor British Tommy quietly following such officers. The British soldier is a great guy.

* * *

FRIDAY — Spent all day working on a piece about Univac, the electronic brain. You may have seen it on television election night.

To me, the interesting fact is that a whole new group of technicians has come into existence because of "the Brain." They are trained to translate problems into the "language" of the machine. It's another example of the principle that each invention opens up new areas of specialization.

* * *

SATURDAY — Mme. Daria Shafik, who is famous in Egypt, came in for a quick visit. She is the leading feminist in that fascinating country, and is trying to raise the status of women in the Arab world. She's here for a lecture tour and is then going on to Japan and India.

At a news conference in Cairo last summer, we asked the Egyptian government heads if the new regime will give women more rights. The reply: "We have to do something for the men, first."

* * *

SUNDAY — Went to Central Park for the weekly horseshoe-pitching. I am a high-spinner, myself, and while some landed as ringers, very few stayed there. About two, as I recall. Funny, you think of "barnyard golf" as being a province of people in the Middle West, but these New York characters who work out in the park on Sunday are the best I ever saw.

Car Total 6 Million

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California has more than 6 million motor vehicles for the first time.

Announcing the total had increased to 6,003,952, or 376,243 over 1952, Paul Mason, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles, commented, "No easing of traffic problems in California is in prospect."

Cat on Road to Fame

MOLINE, Ill. (AP) — Deedee, a five calico cat, soon is to become nationally famous. Mrs. Ray Honeywell, recovering from surgery in a hospital a year ago, started writing children's stories about her cat. A series of five books will be on the market soon.

Suger cane was being grown in Hawaii when the islands were discivered by the Western World and scientists believe the Polynesians carried it there from Asia.

Darning Needle Pierces Heart

Los Angeles Man Dies After Being Jabbed by Mystery Weapon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 35-year-old cabinet maker is dead from a darning needle in the heart. How it got there is a mystery. The coroner's surgeon calls it "one of the most unusual cases I have seen in thousands of autopsies."

Peter Pivaroff died yesterday in a hospital, several hours after X-rays showed a 2 5-8-inch needle had penetrated his heart between the fourth and fifth ribs.

* * *

Dr. Frederick D. Newbarr, chief autopsy surgeon for Los Angeles County, said he found another puncture, "undoubtedly by the same instrument," between the seventh and eighth ribs.

Police said Pivaroff's wife told them her husband had been drinking heavily for the last two weeks. She said he denied to her that he had engaged in a fight and that he died thinking he was the victim of a heart attack.

Police Detective Lt. Fred Laughlin has ordered a microscopic examination of the needle's eye. He said he wanted to determine if the eye had been held by pliers or some other instrument used to stab the needle into Pivaroff's chest.

Mrs. Pivaroff's 10-year-old daughter Diana identified the darning needle as one she had borrowed to sew a Halloween costume. The girl said it had since disappeared.

* * *

Lt. Laughlin said that investigation so far has produced no evidence of "responsibility of any person" for Pivaroff's wound. He said he believes the wounds may have been self-inflicted.

Tragedy Welcomes Immigrant's Widow

DETROIT (AP)—Probably they'll tell Mrs. Maria Vrattos about it today.

She arrived here yesterday from the Grecian island of Rhodes, where she had waited seven years for her husband Sam, 36, to make enough money as a $35-a-week dishwasher to bring her and their 9-year-old son to America.

In her pocket was Sam's last letter, telling how he had finally saved enough money through hard work and living in squalor.

Sam wasn't there to meet his 38-year-old wife. He died Oct. 20 of carbon monoxide poisoning when a faulty furnace flue flooded his tiny room with gas fumes.

Mary's brother, Nick Halkias, of Algonac, Mich., said he just couldn't tell her yeesterday.

Woman Feels Undeserving of Inheritance

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Explaining she doesn't feel she deserves the $200,000 legacy of her grandmother, Mrs. Clementine Gardula Hess says she's going to refuse it.

The 52-year-old Long Beach woman told newsmen yesterday she had been advised by her uncle, Joseph Gardula, that her grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Gardula, of Gostingen, Luxembourg, had willed her extensive vineyards and a small inn there.

* * *

"I never had anything to do with the vineyards," said Mrs. Hess. "My uncle deserves the land. My husband and I and our two children could use the money, and I'd accept it if I felt I deserved it.

"Furthermore, I don't want to get mixed up with anything that might take me away from here. America is our home and we like it here. I've been here since I was 4 years old."

Fly Special Iron Lung to Save Life of Boy, 2

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—A special small iron lung was flown here yesterday from Denver in an effort to save the life of 2-year-old Gary Patrick Burdette, who has bulbar polio.

Gary entered the hospital Saturday. He was put into an adult-sized iron lung—the only one available—but it failed to work satisfactorily.

Floods Create Corn Crisis in Guatemala

GUATEMALA (AP)—Corn is the staff of life in Guatemala, with the average adult using about two pounds a day. Just now it's in short supply, due to floods and storms in October.

While the government is encouraging the replanting of damaged fields, it may be necessary to import corn from the United States.

One import program already under way is in purebred cows. To build up herds here, cattlemen have imported 1,432 head from the United States in the last two months.

Florida's cane sugar industry produces about 100,000 tons of sugar a year.

Mobile Schoolhouse for Navajo Children

GALVESTON, Tex. (INS)—The Navajo Indians have a new "mobile schoolhouse" to help them learn to speak English.

A joint project of the Unitarian Service Committee of Boston and the Santa Fe Railway, the especially-equipped rail car travels through the reservation, bringing education to the first Americans.

The idea originated with Hubbell Parker, Santa Fe system placement supervisor, and Larry B. Moore, director of the Indian Community Center at Gallup, as an aid in hiring Indians on the railroad. However, the facilities are open to all who desire to learn.

The classroom on wheels is a 70-foot car (once a fleet diner) remodeled to include 16 bench-type seats, a stove, radio, phonograph, picture materials, a ping-pong table and other recreational and study teams.

Teacher is David Brugge, a graduate of the University of New Mexico who is familiar with the Navajo language.

Monkey Wins Record

CHICAGO (INS)—The journal of the American Veterinary Assn., published in Chicago, has tabbed Sally, a 3-year-old Rhesus monkey, with the hardest head in monkeydom.

Sally fell 15 stories from the top of a San Francisco hospital to a concrete courtyard below and walked away with only a fractured finger and minor cuts.

DSR Motorman Gets Suspension for Crash

Tourist Trade Booms in Spain

Visits by Americans Up 4,000 Per Cent in Past Seven Years

NEW YORK (INS)—A Spanish authority noted today that travel to Spain by Americans has increased a phenomenal 4,000 per cent since 1947.

Don Mariono de Urzaiz y Silva, Duke of Luna and director-general of the Spanish state tourist department, recalled that in 1947, Spain had only 3,700 American visitors. However, the bullfight vacationland beckened to 150,000 American visitors last year.

"I am sure that we will have 200,000 Americans as our guests in 1954," the Duke said.

He enumerated reasons for the rapid growth in travelers to his homeland:

". . . a vacation in Spain costs less than a vacation in most parts of today's world . . . dollars are worth more in Spain than practically anywhere else. This means that a vacation abroad in Spain now costs no more than many a vacation close to home . . . or even less! Apparently this is a major factor in inducing so many people to visit my country."

The duke also stressed that Spain has gone "all out" to please the American tourist in particular. He said every year Spain opens new hotels which cater to Americans with fine food and services Americans are known to want.

Most of all, the duke stressed, Americans on vacation want to relax. And Spain provides this with its easy hospitality and friendly atmosphere.

Outstanding hunting, fishing, boating and even winter sports only 50 miles from Madrid attract tourists as well as the famous bullfights.

Cracked Safe Brings Tear

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Employes began weeping when they entered the Rutrough Motors building. Tear gas released by safecrackers in opening the company's safe didn't stop the thieves, who got $150 in cash and carefully closed up the building.

Shoe Tester's Footwear Seldom in Step With Time

WATERTOWN, Mass. (INS) — Joan Trott's footwear styles on her daily job usually are out of step with those of her co-workers.

In the winter she often wears summery little open-toed sandals; in the summer she's likely to be trudging around in a pair of fur-lined boots.

As a test walker at the B. F. Goodrich Company's Hood Rubber footwear plant, she travels 13.2 miles a day, trying out everything from overshoes and boots to casual play shoes and sneakers.

Joan has been on the job two years and she estimates she's covered 6,000 miles — all of them within the plant area. Since summer shoes are manufactured in the winter and winter shoes in the summer, her footwear on any given day is likely to be just the seasonal opposite of that worn by the people with whom she works.

"The labs have all kinds of machinery to test wearing qualities, but there's nothing like rugged walking to determine the actual service and confort a boot or shoe will give," says Joan.

She checks in with the lab after each 2.2-mile trip and the experts chart the shoes for warmth, comfort, perspiration damage, leakage and general wear. Plant doctors examine her feet before and after each day of testing.

And despite the fact that her tour takes her over all kinds of pavement — concrete, asphalt, cinders and gravel, and even lumber, nails and glass — Joan's never been heard to utter the classic "My feet are killing me." After work, she finds recreation in dancing, fencing or bowling.

Firemen Fight Nails

ENGLEWOOD, N. J. (AP) — The firemen axed their way into a supermarket where an overheated motor caused a small blaze and then boarded up the door neatly while they worked inside. When the time come to leave they found themselves locked in and forced a side door to freedom.

Wins Short Trip

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — Mrs. W. G. Birdsall, after winning local and district contests, won a regional speaking contest at New Orleans, La. The prize was a trip to the international convention of toastmistress clubs held here. Mrs. Birdsall's trip cost merely bus fare. She lives in Louisville.

Solon's Father Nips Rumor Son Is Ailing

HYANNISPORT, Mass. (UP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to Britain, says that contrary to "disturbing rumors" his son, Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), is doing well after a recent operation.

He said "unfounded" rumors imply that his son's condition "is such that he will be unable to resume his seat in the Senate. Such reports are not in accordance with the facts."

The Hospital for Special Surgery, New York, where Kennedy underwent surgery for a spinal condition, described his condition as "very satisfactory."

The old furlong, still sometimes used in measurements, represented the distance it was supposed a yoke of oxen could plow without resting —"one furrow long" or 220 yards.

Who Had Idea for Colors on Tax Forms?

(Editors Note: When the postman delivers your new income tax form next year, anyone who sees your mail will be able to tell from colored markings on the outside whether you make more or less than $10,000 a year. The U.S. Internal Revenue commissioner says the colored stripes are a fine idea to facilitate the mailing of millions of blanks to the right people. But who thought up the idea in the first place? That is one of the capital's current mysteries. Here is a rundown on the situation.)

WASHINGTON (UP) — Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, chief of the income tax service, says he doesn't know and can't find out just who thought up the idea of putting tell-tale vivid colored stripes on the outside of next year's packages of tax return forms for persons who earned more than $5,000 income for 1953.

The Revenue Bureau says the different colored stripes will simplify its work of mailing the right forms to the right persons. But no one is claiming credit for the idea.

A reporter spent nearly a week trying to trace the birth of the stripes idea. He got nowhere among the 300 or more people who worked on the new forms.

An appeal to Andrews brought a promise to try to find out who proposed the idea. "There's no reason why we should be secretive about who did it," he said.

A day later, Andrews reported he couldn't find out, either. "I honestly don't know who threw the idea in," he said.

"It's not important who suggested it," he said. "I take the responsibility for it. I thought it was a good idea, and I still think it's a good idea."

Andrews said charges that the stripes reveal too much about a taxpayer's income are "pure political argument."

"I don't know anybody who cares," he said. "If people want to go snooping, they'll find out anyhow. There are a thousand and one ways to approximate a person's income—by the way he eats, dresses, the number of children he supports, the automobile he drives."

A yellow stripe on the outside of the new income tax forms will denote you reported $10,000 or more income in 1953; a reddish stripe, between $5,000 and $10,000.

There's nothing illegal about the stripes and they don't reveal any "details," Andrews said. The Justice Department makes no comment officially. Its legal experts say privately, however, there probably is no law violation, but that the stripes may be in a "twilight zone" since all income tax data is supposed to be secret.

Andrews said the old tax forms also had markings—little stars—which flagged a taxpayer's income bracket. These, however, never came to public notice.

Deputy Revenue Commissioner O. Gordon Delk flatly refused to discuss who might have originated the idea. He said the service singled out individuals only when they receive an award for good ideas and improvements. No one has applied for an award for the stripes, which the service claims will help save $210,000 a year in its addressing and sorting work.

The forms for taxpayers in the $5,000-to-$10,000 and the over-$10,000 brackets will be sent in an unwrapped "package" consisting of a pamphlet with the forms stapled inside. The stripes will be on the outside.

However, the old, easily-spotted yellow form 1040A for wage earners making less than $5,000, will be replaced by punchcards mailed in ordinary envelopes. Formerly, 12,000,000 of the yellow forms were sent out each year.

Follows Dad's Footsteps

AUBURN, N. Y. (UP) — Fred Saeger, 28, brought a ham to his father in Auburn State Prison. The act landed him in jail. Police say he stole the ham in Pennsylvania.

Retired Minister Found Lying Dead in Swamp

PETOSKEY (UP) — A ground search party recovered the body of Rev. George Keiffer from a nearby swamp yesterday after a Coast Guard helicopter mapped the way through the air.

Police said Keiffer, 86, a retired Free Methodist minister, had been missing since Monday from a Petoskey convalescent home where he was a patient.

Officials said he apparently had died of exposure some 12 hours before his body was spotted by the helicopter crew.

Friends Replace Chicks

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (UP)—Thieves stole all of the chickens of 75-year-old Ballard Harris, a Sunday school teacher. After publication of the story, Managing Editor Seymour Rosenberg of the Martinsville Bulletin received from subscribers more than enough funds to replace them. Harris says he also found a lot of new friends.

Now Hunt Black Gold

NEW YORK (INS)—Mexican engineers and geologists are searching for "black gold" near the place where the followers of Columbus first mined gold in the New World—in Azua, Dominican Republic. Petroleum explorations are being carried out under a $500,000 contract to the Dominican Republic in keeping with a program by Generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo, former president, to develop the natural resources of the country.

Michigan Laws Lay Down Policy Concerning TB

ANN ARBOR — Did you know that Michigan laws cover the subject of tuberculosis?

They do, and Dr. David J. Sencer of the University of Michigan Medical School has reviewed these laws briefly over WUOM-FM, the University's radio station.

They state that:

1. Tuberculosis is "a communicable disease, dangerous to the public health";

2. Practicing physicians are required to report to the health officer all cases of tuberculosis;

3. It is the duty of the health officer to provide such care, isolation, or hospitalization as the "person requires or may be necessary for the protection of the public";

4. The county of the patient's legal residence and the State share the expense of "treatment, hospitalization, or isolation";

5. The expenditure of public funds for hospital care and treatment of the tuberculosis shall be defined as "expenditures for the protection of the public health and not as moneys advanced in the nature of welfare or relief" which the patient has to repay later;

6. No person shall be under legal obligation to repay such expense;

7. No person can be forced to exhaust his income or savings, sign over his insurance, lose or mortgage his home, or otherwise suffer financial insecurity for himself or his dependents in order to pay the cost of tuberculosis hospital care and treatment.

Subs Study Mountains

LOS ANGELES (INS) — University of California at Los Angeles scientists and U. S. Navy researchers are using submarines to explore "mountains" to learn more about the earth's surface. The mountains are the undersea variety, about which relatively little is known. The submarine exploration—particularly in the Pacific basin area between the west coast and Hawaii—will utilize the latest types of electronic recording gear.

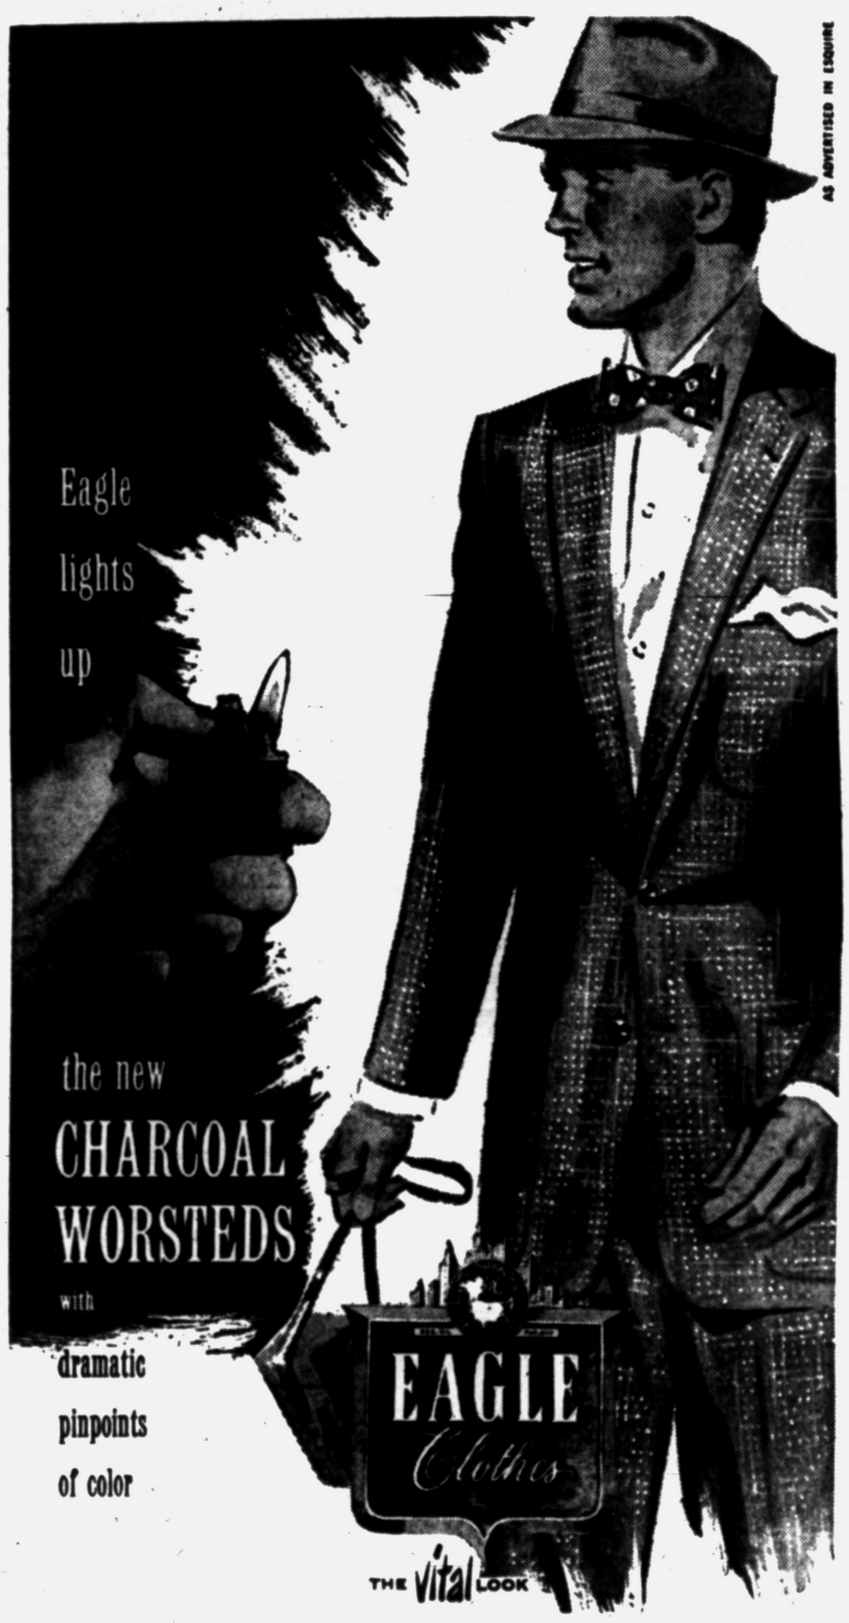

DULLES' RETREAT—This is the log cabin retreat of Secretary of State and Mrs. John Foster Dulles, at Main Duck Island, Canada. At right is one of the signs erected by Dulles, a political internationalist, with a preference for personal isolation. Built in 1943, the cabin is almost identical to those built by American pioneers. The single-story cabin is 25 feet square and has 3 rooms.

Well-Shaped Eyebrows Help Lend Character

It's unfortunate that any woman overlooks the importance of neat, well-shaped eyebrows in lending character to her face.

Of course, bushy, ill-kept eyebrows are not only unattractive, but also give the eyes a slightly unfeminine look.

And it's true that thick, unkempt brows tend to make deep-set eyes look even more small. The other extreme, the thin, almost invisible eyebrow will add years to the face, and is considered passe.

Perhaps you put off tweezing your eyebrows because you find it very painful. It shouldn't be, if you take the proper precautions.

First, the area of hairs to be tweezed should be well-lubricated. Brush your eyebrows in their natural direction and shape. A magnifying mirror will aid you in finding those extra hairs and eliminate the risk of having plucked the wrong ones.

In tweezing your eyebrows, remember short, quick pulls in the direction in which the hairs are growing will make your task simple and painless.

You'll find that tweezing your eyebrows this way will result in less "grow-in" trouble, too. This method, when followed correctly, will discourage the growth of these uneven hairs.

Find Easier Way to Clean Bottles

After you have stopped making formula and are giving your baby plain milk, your doctor will probably want you to keep sterilizing the bottles anyway. Check with him each time you take Baby to find out if you may begin doing something easier—pouring boiling water over the washed bottles, or just scrubbing them.

It will depend on your baby's size, resistance and the purity of the milk and water supply; don't stop when a neighbor stops. Good, thorough scrubbing in hot water is always necessary, of course.

Cast, Audience Share Laughter at 'High Fever Follies' Opener

Pontiac Talent Appears in Benefit Performance

By MARILYN SHEARER

Laughs were plentiful Wednesday evening at the first performance of "High Fever Follies of '54," sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital. General chairmen are Mrs. William R. McClure and Mrs. Harold A. Tripp.

The show was filled with many comedy acts and of course there were pretty girls as the men's ensemble explained in the opening number, "What Is a Show Without Girls."

Gunvor Ryden, as an Indian maid, sang "Chick Chick Chick-amauga," assisted by two Indian braves, Robert Jones and James Gell.

The Rockettes were 12 young ladies who drew enthusiastic applause from the audience several times during their dance.

After Maggie brought the mannequins to life with a snap of her fingers a short fashion show was presented, featuring clothes from Alvins. Maggie returned following the show in a beautiful gown as her true self, Mrs. John J. Marra.

Several other acts were enjoyed before the intermission, which was far from dull. Dr. George Petroff, as a clown, passed through the audience blowing up balloons which he presented to several members of the audience. Sandwiches and bananas were also among the gifts offered by the comical clown.

Howard Hooker opened the second act by singing Frankie and Johnny, introducing a skit with Dick Cooper playing the part of Johnny, Mrs. Charles Scribner, Nellie Blye; Dodie Watson as the lush; Mary Parrish as Diamond Lil; and Frank Van Atta as the policeman who led Frankie, played by Mrs. Normand Durocher, away from a bar after she shot her beloved husband.

"It's Our Turn Now," was an act featuring songs from European countries sung by David Barbour and William Steel. Todd Elwell sang songs brought to mind by girls playing the parts of Lorraine, Josephine, Georgia Brown, Mimi, Charmaine, Liza, Louise and Mary.

Acts were presented at intervals in the show by a trio consisting of Dr. George Petroff, Mrs. William J. Dean and Mayor William Donaldson. Mrs. Victor Lindquist sang a solo during the show, as did James Stephens and Phyllis Smith.

Personality Can Work for Beauty

As teen-agers grow older they realize that personality either works for or against a good appearance.

They notice that a classmate may have a pretty face, good figure and abeautiful wardrobe and yet there's something missing.

That "something" is very often lack of personality. On the other hand, the very smart girl with a good sense of humor and limited wardrobe is at a loss, too, if she's not especially careful about her grooming routine. Unpressed skirts and wrinkled blouses will never win their owners any invitation from either boys or girls.

There are several other types on the "no invitation" list. The "pouter," for instance, who thinks it's cute to curl her lip. She doesn't realize that a surly look isn't the best friend-making asset she could have.

Equally important on this list is the "jaw wiggler" or "gum chewer." Pet peeve of teachers who sometimes must face one or several "chewers" in each class, this girl even talks as she chews. Needless to say, this unattractive habit will hinder her popularity.

The important thing to remember in correcting any physical flaws you may have (a not-too-slim figure or a not-too-clear skin) is that personality flaws should be corrected, too. A good appearance and a pleasant personality are hand-in-hand necessities no girl can afford to be without.

17 Women to Serve 84th Congress

By ROSE McKEE

WASHINGTON (INS)—Seventeen women will serve in the 84th Congress convening in January — an all-time high and surely enough to bury the old bromide about women not supporting women.

All 11 incumbent congresswomen won re-election as did Sen. Margaret Smith (R) Maine.

Four new Democratic women were elected to the house and Mrs. Joseph R. Farrington, a Republican serving under appointment as delegate from Hawaii, won in her own right the post formerly held by her late husband.

Labor-saving devices in the home are credited with giving women more time for politics. Perhaps the advent of the atomic and hydrogen bomb has been even more responsible. These terrible weapons have brought home to women an awareness how great the stakes are.

Of the four new women in the House, one is from Georgia, one from Minnesota, another from Michigan and the fourth from Oregon.

The Georgian is Mrs. Iris Blitch, who has managed to combine business and politics while raising two children, now grown. She went back to college with her daughter in 1949 to take courses she missed because of an early marriage.

A striking brunette, she was named queen of the Georgia legislature in 1949—she is the only woman to have served twice in the state senate. She and her husband own and manage a drugstore, raise cattle and manufacture pulpwood.

The Minnesotan is Mrs. Coya Knutson whose little town of Oklee—a main street and a railway station—reflects her grass-roots background. She has been a farmer, a 4-H Club leader, a high school teacher, a state legislator and has worked in the restaurant field. She has a 14-year-old son.

Portland, Ore., is sending Mrs. Edith Green to Washington. A teacher for 14 years, she has done script writing and radio programs. Her work in the Parent Teachers Association, of which she was state legislative chairman, made her known widely. Federal aid to education will be a major interest for her in Congress. She has two sons.

Mrs. Martha Griffiths, the first Democrat ever elected to the House from her wealthy Detroit district, is a former lawyer, criminal court judge and, during World War II, the buyer of "shot, shells, jeeps and trucks" for Army ordnance. She will try to put Congress on television because she thinks this will make Americans more intelligent voters. She has no children.

Mrs. Farrington as delegate from Hawaii will have no vote. But she will work as did her husband for statehood for the islands. A stunning woman, she has long been active in GOP circles.

Democratic women re-elected are Reps. Gracie Pfost, Idaho; Leonor K. Sullivan, Mo.; Edna F. Kelly, N. Y.; Vera D. Buchanan, Pa.; and Elizabeth Kee, Va.

Returning GOP women are Republican Margaret Church, Illinois; Cecil M. Harden, Indiana; Edith Nourse Rogers, Massachusetts; Ruth Thompson, Michigan; Katherine St. George, New York; and Frances P. Bolton, Ohio.

The senate now has two women because Mrs. George P. Abel (R) Neb., was elected to serve until January. But in the new Congress, the Senate will revert to normal with Mrs. Smith its only woman member.

Whitfield School Holds Open House

Margaret Luther, principal of Daniel Whitfield School, and the teaching staff invited parents of their students to an open house held Wednesday evening at the school. The guests visited the classrooms and saw textbook materials, arts and crafts, and various projects which the students had made for their parents.

A social hour was enjoyed by 400 persons in the school cafeteria. Mothers from the homerooms of Mrs. Daniel Bishop and Mrs. Maurice Cole were hostesses.

Member Honored

Mrs. Lewis Lingle was honored Monday evening at a birthday celebration given by Lucky 13 Club. Mrs. Lingle showed pictures of her recent trip to Arizona. She was presented with a gift from the club by Mrs. Phil Orencia and the event was held in the Lingle's Garland avenue home.

Coming Events

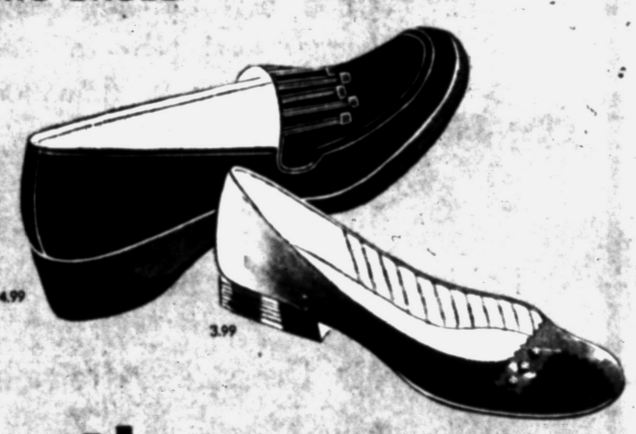

Areme Chapter 93 of OES will hold a special meeting Monday evening. Officers practice will be held Sunday at 6 p.m.

Ladies Auxiliary 1230 FOE will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Eagles Hall, 289 W. Montcalm.

High Voice Modulated by Practice

The average teenager's voice falls short of being pleasant because it's usually too high pitched. Of all your teenage friends, can you think of one whose voice you could listen to for an hour without tiring?

Listen to your own voice. Is it well-modulated? If it isn't, try pitching it a tone lower. Practice this as often as you can.

Sometimes teenagers can affect a charming voice at parties, or to impress a new friend or teacher. What they forget is that a pleasant-sounding voice is something that should be a part of them at all times.

Mom and Dad like to hear this voice, too. And if junior is addressed in soft, round tones, you'll find he won't "get in your hair" so much.

The other "poor voice" type is the mumbler. She's the girl in the crowd who never seems to say a whole word or sentence. She swallows half of her own conversation, and is irritating to talk to on the telephone. Your part of the conversation seems to be "I'm sorry" or "What did you say?"

Her diction needs to be improved. She can accomplish this by watching stage or screen actresses and listening to good conversationalists in her crowd. Reading lines from a book in front of a mirrar where she can see herself and hear her diction will benefit her, too.

Another good way for any teenager to keep her voice in perfect listening shape is to join the dramatic or oral reading group in school. It will give you poise and confidence to speak in front of a group, too.

Hair Coloring May Flatter

It's amazing what a different hair coloring can do for a woman's appearance. Sometimes the new shades will flatter her skin tones or emphasize the color of her eyes.

For some women, changing a hair shade has often resulted in personality changes, too. A woman who considered herself in the "mousy" stage before changing her hair coloring will suddenly become a vivid, sparkling personality.

For the health as well as the beauty of her hair, a woman who's contemplating a change should study the condition of her scalp and hair first, before deciding if she will make it a shade lighter or darker.

If your hair is weak from too many permanents, you should select a hair coloring that contains conditioning ingredients, too.

It's also considered smart to choose a "non-permanent" coloring rather than a permanent one, because you may be dissatisfied with the results.

Wallpaper Came From the French

Ever wonder where wallpaper originated? Not from the ancient cave-scrawlers, but from the French town of Rouen in Normandy, otherwise famous as the place where Joan of Arc was burned at the stake.

The sixteenth century craftsmen, who first printed designs on paper, meant their product for linings of boxes and covers of books, but enterprising peasants soon began to decorate their fireplaces with it.

Recently, Katzenbach and Warren, the Connecticut wallpaper firm, went back to the original source for inspiration. The results are many delightful old designs that will bring the charm of France right into your living room.

McBride Insists That Even Simplest Memories Can Be Happiest Ones

Fire Cook but Get Her Recipes First

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Periodically—I brood over the memory of a certain fragrant, flavorful lemon pie, the best I ever ate, that has vanished from my life. Its crust had the richness and texture of shortcake and I suspect cream cheese went along with butter into its making. The filling was a velvety lemon custard topped by a meringue which was satisfyingly chewy rather than airy.

The young woman whose mother produced this heavenly masterpiece used to type letters for a friend of mine and bring the pie as a gift (like the red apple for teacher) about once a week. The friend didn't like lemon pie and I fell heir to it in all its lusciousness. I have never forgiven my friend for firing that girl without getting the recipe.

The other day, overcome by irresistible longing, I decided to hunt up Serena Kish and commission her to make a pie for me. For Mrs. Kish, a little, shy, dark eyed woman whom I met several years ago when she ran a tiny bake-shop on the upper East Side, specialized in causing food dreams to come true. If you had a haunting recollection of a certain kind of cake or pudding you'd eaten somewhere, Mrs. Kish would work for hours to duplicate it.

Without recipe and only your description of the way it had tasted to you, she'd toss up a memory cake—or pie—and refuse to shut out of her kitchen until you were blissfully satisfied. Her favorite "problems," as she called them, were dishes people remembered from Middle Europe, which is where she came from years ago. That was how her strange sideline started.

In her youth, Serena's family had money. Her father was an engineer and they moved often. Each new place meant a new cook with fresh recipes, and the girl collected them all faithfully. It was a fortunate hobby for after she married and came to America her husband died. Immediately she turned to her recipes and her stove, and it wasn't long before word of Mrs. Kish's strudel got about, and she was baking for parties, dinners and teas. Then she opened a tiny shop which always smelled of cinnamon and cheese cooking, of butter and brown sugar blending with apples.

I remember with special pleasure the Hungarian love-letter—an envelope of dough filled with Mrs. Kish's own apricot jam and nuts, and a seven-layered concoction with apricot filling and on top thick caramel.

Already exultantly tasting that lemon pie, I looked up Mrs. Kish in the telephone book and dialed the number. Mrs. Kish herself, Hungarian accent still intact, answered.

I told her what I wanted and there was a little pause.

Then: "I'm sorry," said the voice at the other end. "I don't have the shop any more. I'm not in the baking business any more. I'm sorry. . . ."

I'm sorry, too, because now I'll never taste my lemon pie again. But even more I'm sorry because it was very pleasant to think that someone somewhere was interested in bringing a happy memory to life, even if it was only the memory of an apple strudel or a lemon pie.

Finish Must Have Glow to Appear Professional

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

When a piece of furniture that has just been refinished is a disappointment, the reason so often is that the finish isn't quite finished. This is the trouble in Mrs. S. J.'s case.

She writes, "Why is it that the furniture I refinish always has a shiny, raw look instead of the mellow, satiny glow I hope for? I've tried several kinds of varnish."

Take just one more step, Mrs. J. Do as the makers of fine furniture do, give the wood after its final coat of varnish a good rubdown with pumice stone and oil or water. The pumice stone is a light abrasive which takes down the gloss of varnish and leaves the wanted satiny look. Make a rubbing block by tying a soft cloth over a block of wood. Make a thin mixture of powdered pumice and water or boiled linseed oil and rub it into the furniture with long strokes, evenly and with the grain of the wood.

Chance Music Tried in Paris

For struggling composers and would-be composers, there's good news from France. John Cage, an American composer visiting Paris, has taken the drudgery out of composition and now lets chance write his music for him.

Mr. Cage, a Guggenheim Award winner, whose "Music of Changes" was recently premiered in Europe at Paris' Ecole Normale de Musique, chose the sounds for his work by a coin-tossing system described in China's oldest work of wisdom, the I-Ching or Book of Changes.

He did so in an attempt to divorce music from the individual taste of the composer, an aim shared by many of his Parisian admirers. Though an uncommon method of creation, it does, however, have a classical precedent: Mozart once threw dice to determine the order of measures in a set of contra-dances.

She Wanted a Career in Medicine

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Marianne was a girl with very high intelligence and a lot of energy and ambition. She wanted to be a doctor; wanted it very much. She did wonderfully well at college, and got straight A's in her premed courses.

But Marianne's father and mother were sure that to be a doctor was unfeminine and would make Marianne unattractive and unmarriageable.

She argued with them, stressing the fact that she wanted to be a pediatrician, and that surely it wouldn't make her unfeminine to work with little children.

But the family won, and after college, Marianne settled down into a job as a lab technician.

And sure enough, Marianne met a young doctor, they fell in love, and they got married. But that's when the trouble began.

Marianne's young husband had his interne work to do, and she had to keep on at her lab job. She got more and more bored and restless, and she envied him because he was doing what she wanted to do.

She began to gripe about the job which bored her so, and she got so envious of her husband that she gave him no peace. It was even worse when her husband started his practice and Marianne resigned to act as his secretary.

"Talk about feminine!" Marianne said. "I was awful—aggressive and complaining and about as unattractive as a person could be. I hated to have Bob talk about his work, because I was so jealous, and I almost hated to see him succeed.

"But Bob was very smart. One day, after his practice was doing very well, he had it out with me.

The long and short of it was that I went back to medical school!"

That was quite a few years ago. Now Marianne is a successful pediatrician, calm and charming and feminine as can be. She and Bob are one of the happiest couples I know, and they have two cute kids.

"That's the wonderful part of being a baby specialist," Marianne said. "Your patients have even more confidence in you if you're having a baby yourself!"

Impatience Often Wins; We Shouldn't Allow It

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

A cat will crouch by a mouse's house, waiting without blinking a whisker for his prey to appear. Minute after minute can go by while said cat, as though carved of stone, will wait it out.

But such patience is hard to come by. Some of you just can't hold everything until the boy you like makes a move. In your impatience and frustration you decide to give up.

And if you give up too soon, you'll be sorry! Which taunting threat is aimed straight at this girl who writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going with him since last year, and though we didn't go steady whenever we saw each other at a dance we would dance together the rest of the evening.

A new girl goes to our school now and rides his bus home. A friend has told me that he tries to get her to sit with him on the but, but she won't. "Should I call it quits—or shouldn't I even care? He still walks me to my bus every night!"

Copy the kitten and play a waiting game. Nothing has happened yet to make you call anything quits. Your boy friend (who isn't really a steady beau) still walks you to your bus, still dances with you. He's done nothing to you to indicate that he has called anything quits.

You're all upset by a friend's tale of his trying to sit by a certain girl on a certain bus. He's only tried, according to the story. He hasn't succeeded. And what if he did? What would it prove? Just a harmless way of trying to get acquainted with a new girl.

Until his every move makes it clear that he no longer has any interest in you, hold steady. It's time then, and only then, to call it quits.

"Dear Miss Woodward: My heart-throb is playing the field, but I think there is one particular girl on his mind. He was mighty angry when I went to a dance with another boy! He wouldn't ask me himself. Should I try to win him over, or should I call it quits?"

His resentment and jealousy are a good sign—strong enough to give you hope to cling to. He already feels proprietary about you and gets annoyed when other boys beat him to big dates with you. Stay in there pinching quietly while he reconciles in his own mind his feeling about you and his desire to play the field. You might as well play the field, too, while you wait.

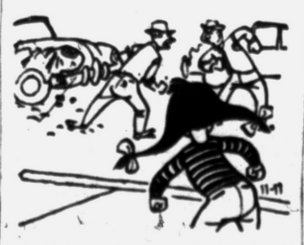

IF few social activities—

Velvet fits so well for double-duty day and night, while satin or brocade are strictly for gala occasions.

Miss S. A.—The practical business girl finds the velvet coat can be part of a year-round dressy coat wardrobe. Especially since the evening coat fashion is becoming more prominent and velvet fits the approaching holiday schedule.

Provide a Hanky

Neat trick: When you're folding or ironing your youngster's clothes, put the hanky right in the pocket then. You'll never be confronted with a runny-nosed child without a hanky.

Substitute for Bridge Not Right

Hostess Should Be Consulted About Invitation

By EMILY POST

A woman writes me as follows: "I belong to a bridge club consisting of eight women. We play every other week at a different house. Last week the bridge club met at my house. The night before the meeting, one of the members called and said that she couldn't make the bridge club the following day but that she was sending Mrs. Smith in her place.

I was quite put out over this and thought she had a lot of nerve inviting someone I scarcely knew to my house without consulting me. Shouldn't she have left it up to me to provide my own substitute? I would appreciate your opinion on this matter."

If you had appealed to her to ask someone for you to fill the vacant place, that would have been one thing. But as it was, she should have left it up to you, as hostess, to get someone of your own choosing.

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please advise me in the following situation: I am engaged to a young man who lives in a distant city and whose family are strangers to me. I expect to meet his parents for the first time soon and I would appreciate your telling me the right thing to say. I do so want to make a good impression.

Such greetings can only be friendly and warm if they are said spontaneously. You might say: "I am so glad to see you at last," or "Jim has told me so much about you all along," or whatever is true and therefore natural for you to say.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it necessary that the maid of honor be dressed the same as the bridesmaids, or may she wear something entirely different? I have a very lovely dress that I wore as a bridesmaid at a friend's wedding a short while ago.

I would like to know if it would be proper to wear this same dress for my cousin's wedding at which I am to be maid of honor. It seems a shame to have to go out and buy another dress if this one will do just as well.

It is not necessary that your dress match those of the bridesmaids, and unless your dress is unbecoming to their dresses, the bride may possibly be willing to let you wear it. But you must, of course, leave it up to her.

Beauty Project Essential for Good Grooming

To make her grooming tasks more interesting, every girl should have a beauty project in mind. If there's a particular blueprint or plan to be followed, it becomes fun as each day's improvement is noticed.

It may be that by following her own particular beauty plan, a girl will discover that her hair is more lustrous or her teeth whiter, or her nails longer.

A transparent, clear complexion is one of the first trademarks of a beauty. If yours is clear to begin with, you can acquire the adjective flawless by just a little more effort in your complexion care.

The two B's of a poor complexion are blackheads and blemishes. The well-groomed girl must take particular grooming steps to avoid both.

The tip of the nose is the favorite spot for blackheads to gather. So, make sure this area receives special scrubbing with a complexion brush if you want it to remain clear.

If you want to do a completely thorough cleansing job on your skin you might want to try a new cleansing lotion. It is a pink lotion and its makers claim it contains an effective bactericide that helps remove bacteria from the pores without irritation. Its makers also claim that it will provide rich suds and even pink bubbles in hard water.

Subway Murals Get Attention

As the New York subway system celebrates its fiftieth birthday, its Parisian counterpart, the Metro, goes in for some festivities of its own.

The reason: New murals in the subway stations designed as an experiment in bringing art into the prosaic surroundings of the commuter.

First of the stations to be decorated is the centrally-located Opera, whose murals, all depicting scenes of the sea, have been executed by top-notch artists from the Musee de la Marine. One of the most striking panels shows a whaling ship setting out from the harbor.

Distracting Note

New distracting note for the maternity jacket: Shiny metallic embroidery across the shoulders and down the outside of the sleeves. Emphasizes another line, minimizing the awkward one.

German Rocket Scientists Become American Citizens

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (INS) — Forty-one German rocket experts whose advice to Hitler, if heeded, might have enslaved the world, shyly but proudly became American citizens in Birmingham today.

The 41 are from a group of 100 brilliant scientists who were brought to America after Hitler was defeated. They developed the V12 rocket for Hitler and advised him to concentrate on its production, but he waited too long.

For five years the men have been working at the government's guided missile center on projects they hope will help bring peace to the world.

Today, the men and their families became American citizens in solemn ceremonies held in conjunction with Veterans Day. Two of the 59 remaining scientists had already became citizens, an the rest hope to do so next spring.

These people, who came to the United States less than 10 years ago, were sent to the Redstone Arsenal in the Northern Alabama city of Huntsville in 1949. They established themselves there by buying small homes, television sets and taking up hobbies that are typically American.

One Huntsville woman expressed the neighborhood attitude toward thes scientists: "These people are the kind of neighbors I wanted when we built our house."

The scientists cannot, of course, talk about their top secret work, and they refuse to discuss Hitler's Germany. But they will tell you what they like about America.

One scientists, 50-year-old Wilhelm Debeek, explained:

"I like to work in my garden and also like to cook on my barbecue pit. Indoors, I like to read, listen to good music or watch a good play—and the fights—on TV."

Another scientists, Walter Wiesman, 34, said that outside his work, he enjoys his civic club activity most. He is a member of the Jaycees, and the Junior Chamber International, the Community Concerts Association and the PTA.

Bernhard Robert Ressman, 42, who headed up the design of the V-2 rocket ground equipment, commented: "I like gardening best. To me it seems to be the very best way to become an old man, and only in reaching the age of 100 do I see a chance to witness the day when a very large rocket might take off to the moon or Mars."

"I am proud to become an American citizen."

Plastic Helps Hens Lay

CLEVELAND (INS) — The modern hen feathers her nest with plastic. The result is a much quieter atmosphere for egg laying which, chick psychologists say, is important to good egg production. The plastic was developed by B. F. Goodrich Chemical Company to coat wire mesh laying screens in hen houses. It softens the "plop" and eliminates the distraction of eggs rattling on the screens.

Meat Pies Score After the Game

Fans Will Root for This Supper

Brown 'n' Serve Fare Means You Can Feast Without Fussing

With the football season in full swing you'll want to be ready to tackle the heartiest after-the-game appetites.

Now that so many new convenient frozen foods are on the market you can go along and enjoy a football game with your friends and family and still give them a feast after the victory is won.

Just stop off at your favorite grocery store and pick up frozen chicken, beef or turkey pies. Perhaps you would rather choose an assortment of all three and let your guests select their favorite.

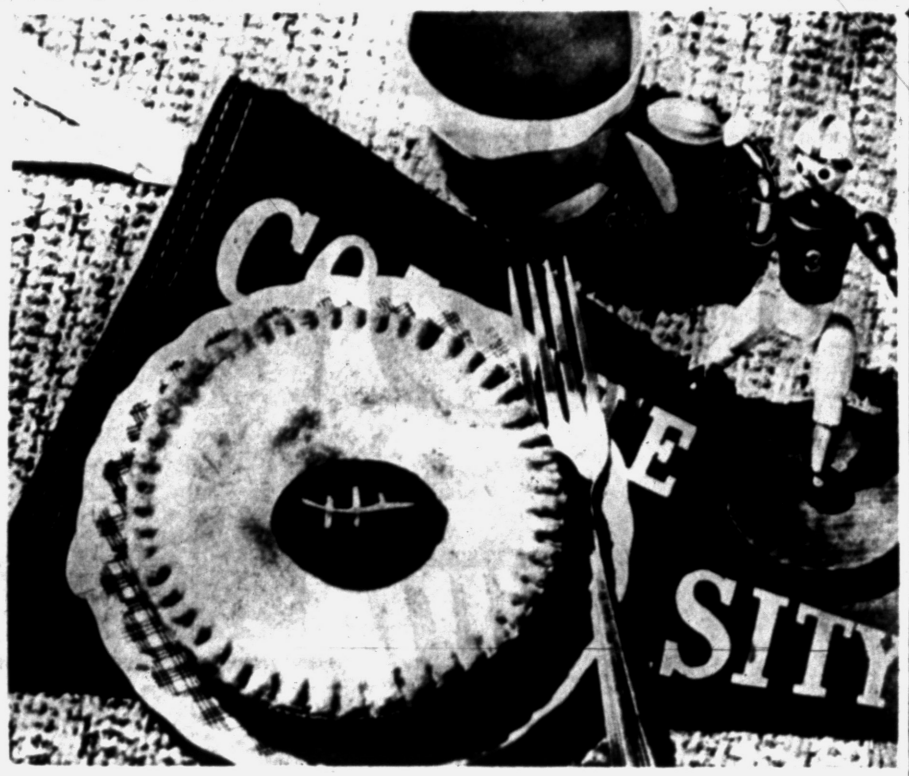

These individual 8-ounce pies make a filling main course. All you do to get them ready for the table is to brown and serve them. They come frozen and go in the oven that way.

The pies are outstanding for their flaky tender crust. They brown easily and both bottom and top crusts are always crisp.

Each pie is in its own aluminum pie plate. You bake and serve in the same disposable dish. This eliminates dishwashing.

Look for these pies in the frozen food cases. They are economical and make entertaining so easy.

AFTER-THE-GAME SUPPER — Sure, ask the crowd back to the house after the big Saturday afternoon game. It won't be any trouble if you serve commercially frozen meat pies. Decorate them with a football cut from cranberry sauce and laced with celery sticks.

Chili Corn, Chops Baked in Casserole

Pork Chop and Corn Casserole

4 loin pork chops (1 to 1¼ pounds)
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup creamstyle canned corn
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1½ to 2 teaspoons chili powder
1 tablespoons minced onion
1 cup chopped green pepper

Trim chops of excess fat and rub well with one-half teaspoon salt mixed with one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Place in a casserole (10 by 5 by 2 inches). Mix corn, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, chili powder and onion. Pour over the chops. Top with green pepper.

Bake until meat is cooked through—40 to 50 minutes. Makes four servings.

Mix Tomatoes, Shrimp

Next time you want to turn scalloped tomatoes into a main dish, add a pound and a half of shelled, boiled shrimp to your basic recipe. Add a teaspoon or more of chili powder, depending on your taste, and bake as usual.

Fix Cream Pie Without Fussing

Traditional Boston Cream pie can be made quickly these days with the help of bought cake, a package of one of the new instant puddings, and semi-sweet chocolate.

While the dessert may not have all the nuances of flavor that come from doing all the work yourself, it is mighty good and will save you lots of time and energy when you are having company and time is short.

It is handy to have a list of quick-to-make desserts for short-order entertaining; if you try this recipe and enjoy it, you might like to set up such a file.

Quick Boston Cream Pie

1½ cups cold light cream
1 package vanilla instant pudding
1 baked 2-inch cake layer
½ of a 6-ounce package of semi-sweet chocolate pieces
1½ tablespoons butter or margarine

Pour cream into mixing bowl. Add pudding mix and beat with rotary beater one minute, or until well mixed. Let stand until set—about five minutes.

Split cake crosswise into two layers. Stir filling and spread between layers.

To make frosting, place chocolate over hot (not boiling) water and stir occasionally until partly melted. Remove from heat; add butter and stir until smooth. Spread on top of cake.

Frozen Stuffed Turkeys Cut Down Holiday Chores

Frozen stuffed turkey? From freezer to oven with no fuss or worry? Yes. Today branded plump turkeys stuffed and tucked will be found in many markets.

The secret is the limited size of the turkey, controlled amount of stuffing, the use of low-temperature rooms for stuffing and tucking, and quick freezing at 30 degrees or lower.

Two years ago studies showed that it was not advisable for a homemaker to stuff and freeze a turkey. The practice is inadvisable because the turkey freezes too slowly to be safe at zero degrees, (the temperature of most home freezers).

It is a poor practice from quality and safety standpoints to thaw the stuffed turkey before roasting, and yet the homemaker does not have a roasting schedule for cooking the frozen stuffed bird.

The reasons for discouraging home freezing of stuffed turkeys have been overcome in commercial production of branded stuffed turkeys now on the market by (1) using small turkeys that freeze quickly, (2) packing the stuffing loosely in the body and neck cavities, (3) enforcing strict controls in keeping the turkeys and stuffing at low temperatures while stuffing and tucking, (4) freezing quickly at low temperatures, and (5) developing cooking schedules and methods for roasting the turkeys from the frozen state.

Bacteriological studies in research laboratories have proved that with these rigid conditions it is possible to produce frozen stuffed turkeys that are safe to eat.

Two methods for roasting the stuffed turkey from the frozen state have been developed. The first method is the standard practice of placing the frozen turkey breast side up on a rack in an open shallow pan and roasting in a slow oven (325 degrees).

The second method is the one grandmothers used: i.e., roasting the turkey in a covered roaster in a moderate oven (350 degrees). This second method cuts the roasting time from one third to one half of the time required to roast the frozen stuffed turkey in the open pan.

For example, an 8-pound frozen stuffed turkey required 3¼ hours to roast in the covered roaster in a 350 degree oven, whereas eight hours are required to roast the same weight bird in an open pan in a 325 degree oven.

Turkey roasted in the covered roaster is not as beautiful as the turkey roasted in the open pan, but the roasting time is shorter!

So it is up to the homemaker to choose which method she prefers, the shorter cooking time in a covered roaster or the more beautiful turkey roasted with no cover.

Regardless of which method is chosen to roast frozen stuffed turkey, women will agree it is a step forward in making service of turkey easier.

Knead, Knead and Knead Again for Good Bread

Can you think of anything homier than a kitchen warm and sweet with the aroma of yeast bread?

Yeast breads are really not difficult to make, and nothing will make you an expert sooner than practice.

One secret in achieving good yeast breads is adequate kneading to develop the gluten.

Kneading consists of folding the dough over on itself, pushing it lightly with a sort of rocking motion, folding it over, pushing it, and repeating this process rhythmically until the dough feels satiny and looks smooth.

When you can see small bubbles under the surface of the dough as you stretch it gently, the dough has been kneaded enough. Underkneading is often the cause for yeast bread failures.

It is almost impossible to overknead. Making a good dough usually requires from 5 to 10 minutes of kneading.

Cookies Combine Chocolate, Apricots

Chocolate Apricot Cookies

½ cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
[illegible] shortening
1 egg
½ cup milk
2 squares (2 ounces) unsweetened chocolate (melted)
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped dried apricots
1 cup uncooked rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned)

Sift together the flour and salt into a bowl. Add sugar, shortening (soft), egg, milk, melted chocolate (cooled) and vanilla; beat until smooth—about two minutes.

Pretty Up Meat Loaf With Ruffled Potatoes

Pretty way to serve meat loaf: Turn it out on a serving platter, top it with mashed potatoes, ruffle the potatoes with the tines of a fork and sprinkle with paprika.

Coffee Packing Invented in 1900

The protection given to the flavor of roasted, ground coffee by its package is of the greatest importance in coffee retailing, since flavor is, essentially, what is being sold.

For this reason, one of the greatest steps forward in coffee merchandising has been the perfection of vacuum packing.

In 1900, when pre-packaged coffee was still in its infancy, a Chicago man patented the first machine for closing food tins in a vacuum chamber.

The reasons for its success are easy to find. The coffee bean, when roasted, develops certain gases.

As long as these gases are present, they act as a defense against the oxygen in the air, which reacts unfavorably on the oils in the coffee bean. They escape slowly from the whole roasted bean, more rapidly from the ground bean.

Essentially, the success of the vacuum method is due to its hermetic sealing of freshly roasted, freshly ground coffee in a heavy can from which the oxygen has been removed.

This means that the "roast" gases fill the space left by the oxygen. The coffee cannot lose strength or flavor because it is surrounded only by its own aromatic vapors. Coffee packed this way has, on occasion, been known to keep fresh for as long as eight years.

There is one other efficient, widely-used packaging method—insulated paper bags. These do fine service, especially in the merchandising of coffee sold by supermarkets and, in comes cases, by small grocers.

Bag-packed coffee is usually roasted in central roasting plants, the roasted beans packed in paper bags and delivered to stores which are equipped with up-to-date grinding machinery.

The coffee is ground upon purchase and repacked in the same bag ready for immediate use.

These two packages accomplish the same purpose in different ways, one by preventing the liberation of the gases after grinding, the other by delaying the grinding until the coffee is purchased.

That purpose is the preservation of the all-important ingredient—flavor!

Breakfast Rolls Made in Minutes With Biscuit Mix

Does your family like fresh hot rolls for breakfast? If you use a biscuit mix, you can make piping hot Butter Pecan Rolls for breakfast treats in a matter of minutes.

BUTTER PECAN ROLLS

Topping

¼ cup butter or margarine, softened
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup light molasses
½ cup pecan halves

Biscuits

1 egg, well beaten
¾ cup milk
3 tablespoons shortening, melted
½ cup sugar
3 cups biscuit mix

Combine butter or margarine, sugar and molasses. Spread evenly on bottom of 8x8-inch pan. Sprinkle evenly with pecan halves. Set aside

Combine egg, milk and cooled shortening.

In another bowl, blend sugar and biscuit mix thoroughly. Quickly add milk mixture, stirring just until well blended. Turn out on pastry cloth or board generously dusted with biscuit mix. Knead about 10 times.

Make individual rolls by pinching off balls of dough the size of a small egg. Or pat dough lightly in 6x6-inch rectangle and cut into 16 equal pieces. Dip top of each piece into mixture of 1 tablespoon sugar and one-half teaspoon cinnamon.

Place pieces, sugared side up, on nut mixture in pan. Use scissors to snip tops of rolls in quarters.

Bake in hot oven (400) about 30 minutes. Turn upside down on serving plate. Let pan remain on rolls for one minute. Remove pan. Makes 16 rolls.

Creole Cookery Drawn From Varied Traditions

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Just what is Creole cookery? At the risk of sticking my neck out too far and having it chopped off by some native-born Louisianian, I'm going to attempt a short explanation.

I think I'd better start with a quotation from a booklet I received this week from a southern canning company that specializes in Creole delicacies:

"Creole cooking . . . is the best culinary art of Europe and Spanish America, influenced by the Negro and the Indian mingled with a dash of the history and habits of the Deep Delta. It has one outstanding characteristic — the skillful uses of spices and seasoning, blended in time-honored recipes."

The European countries whose inhabitants contributed to Creole cooking were France and Spain during the times they ruled Louisiana.

For about a hundred years tiny, fiery red peppers of extraordinarily fine flavor have been grown around the town of New Iberia. It is here that tabasco sauce is made and distributed all over the country. Tabasco and other hot sauces are an important part of the flavoring in Creole cooking.

True Creole cooking takes time. Many famous dishes owe their distinctive goodness to a "roux" or foundation mixture which gives a subtle taste to the finished product.

This roux is a mixture of fat and flour browned slowly to the required shade of brown. It must be stirred almost constantly to prevent burning.

Then chopped onions, green pepper and celery are cooked in this mixture until they are somewhat transparent.

Potato Soup a la Creole

3 large potatoes
2 lg. or 6 green fresh onions, chopped
1 tablespoon lard
1 heaping tablespoon flour
2 cups finely chopped celery
1 cup milk

Peel potatoes and boil slowly in 1½ gallons water half an hour. While they are boiling, put lard in iron skillet, then flour; make roux brown, then add onions; cook a few minutes, and add celery.

Cook 10 minutes stirring, then add 2 cups potato water; boil hard for 10 minutes, then put in large pot with potatoes and potato water.

Mash potatoes; season well; cook one hour longer, when ready to serve, add 1 cup milk. Delicious and economical.

If you are fond of okra (I'm not sure many of us northerners are), you will like this casserole dish.

Okra Shrimp Casserole

1 can okra
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
1 can shrimp
½ can bread crumbs
Shrimp stock
½ teaspoon salt

Place layer of okra on bottom of casserole; add shrimp; cover with half of bread crumbs; place remaining okra on top of shrimp; add lemon juice, shrimp stock mixed with baking powder, chili powder, salt and pepper.

Dot over with mayonnaise; sprinkle remainder of bread crumbs on top. Bake in hot oven (400°) 30 minutes.

Children Love Grownup Fare

Children welcome hot and wholesome lunches when grownup food like Bread Loaf Surprise is on the bill of fare. Served as a sandwich with soup or as an entree with vegetables, this tempting hot cheese dish is hearty enough to satisfy the most demanding midday appetites.

Barbara Starr, consumer service director a baking company, suggests preparing this sandwich-type loaf ahead of time and baking it just before the children appear for luncheon.

Spread slices of bread with a spicy mayonnaise mixture and put these bread slices upright in a loaf pan. Slip a generous piece of cheese between each slice. The total preparation time comes to less than 10 minutes, and the loaf will serve four to six generously.

About 15 minutes before serving time pop the loaf into the oven after topping with more of the mayonnaise mixture. The result is a bubbling golden brown loaf which will delight the children whether eaten with fingers or fork.

Bread Loaf Surprise

1 cup mayonnaise
⅓ cup prepared mustard
½ teaspoon parsley flakes
8 slices white enriched bread
7 slices cheese
Paprika
¼ cup chopped olives (optional)

Combine mayonnaise, mustard and parsley flakes. Spread both sides of bread slices with about two-thirds of this mixture. Fit the bread slices upright into a loaf pan in "domino" fashion.

Put a slice of cheese between each slice and pour the remaining mixture across the top of the loaf. Sprinkle the loaf with paprika and chopped olives. Bake in a 350 degree oven for 15 minutes or until cheese has melted. Serve immediately.

Save Freezer Space

Don't let poor planning cut down your holiday freezer storage space, say home economists, who give this space-saving tip: Buy containers in assorted sizes to make sure you are not left with unused spaces in the freezer.

Savory Sauce Peps Up Meals

Sunday night suppers should be simple. Most homemakers follow this theory with dogged determination. Unfortunately, simplicity often turns to monotony with the same old dish making its appearance Sunday after Sunday.

One way to whisk away monotony is to prepare an American cheese sauce for some of the faithful standbys.

The delicate, yet distinctive flavor of the cheese will do as thorough a job of changing the taste of the dish as Cinderella's godmother did of changing a pumpkin into a coach.

You'll have asparagus, hamburgers or whatever the main course happens to be enveloped in a sauce which is punctuated by chunks of creamy, crumbly white cheese delicately mottled with blue green.

Blue Cheese Asparagus Supper

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup all-purpose flour
2 cups milk
¼ teaspoon salt
4 slices crisp, cooked bacon, crumbled
½ cup crumbled American Blue cheese (about 3 ounces cheese)
1 10-ounce package frozen asparagus, cooked
4 slices toast

Melt butter or margarine over low heat; add flour and blend. Gradually add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt, bacon and cheese.

Arrange cooked asparagus on toast slices and pour cheese sauce over all. Makes four servings.

Fried Yam Patties Are Currant-Dotted

Sweet Potato Patties

2 cups cooked mashed sweet potatoes
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 egg
¼ cup currants (rinsed in boiling water and drained)
Butter or margarine

Beat together potatoes, flour, salt, lemon juice and egg. Stir in currants. Shape into six oval patties.

Melt 1 or 2 tablespoons butter in 9 or 10-inch skillet; cook potato patties slowly, browning on both sides and adding more butter as needed. Makes four to six servings.

Note: Leftover cold baked sweet potatoes may be mashed and used in this recipe, with the amount of salt given.

Sweet Potato Boats Sail Along With Ham

Garnish a ham or pork roast with sweet potato boats. Simmer the sweet potatoes until tender, then skin and hollow them.

Fill the boats with crushed pineapple mixed with a little sugar and lemon juice. Brush the boats with melted butter or margarine and return to the oven to heat through.

GOT AN AUTOMATIC WASHER?

Here's something NEW and BLUE made especially for YOU

OF ALL LOW-SUDS PRODUCTS MADE FOR AUTOMATIC WASHERS...

VIM HAS THE LOWEST SUDS

WHICH GUARANTEES YOU CLEANEST CLOTHES!

ONLY VIM IS BLUE

IT ACTUALLY BLUES CLOTHES WHITE!

By now you've surely heard that in automatic washers heavy suds clog the works, keep your wash from rinsing clean. That's why the folks who make automatic washers say, "The lower the suds the cleaner your wash."

And it's just common sense that if low suds are good, lowest suds are best. That's why we worked years to discover Blue VIM with the lowest suds of any washday product—and the greatest cleaning power possible. VIM's low, low suds get out all the dirt—and then rinse away completely. No stale, grey suds left behind to dull your wash. Everything comes out fluffy, soft and so clean-smelling.

In fact—if you're using anything that makes more suds than VIM, your washer can't be doing its best job!

Cleaner clothes, yes . . . and whiter clothes, too. A difference in whiteness you'll quickly see. That's because VIM actually blues clothes white—dazzling, sparkling, brilliantly white. You'll see the whitest sheets you've ever taken off your clothes-line—the fluffiest, snowiest towels that ever graced your towel-rack.

Yes, of all the new, low-suds products made for automatic washers, VIM alone is blue. VIM alone blues clothes white!

But just don't take our word for it . . . see for yourself. Use Blue VIM for everything you put in your automatic washer—grimy work-clothes, new miracle fabrics and, especially, baby clothes where thorough cleaning, thorough rinsing is so important. Just follow the simple directions on the package. Don't keep adding Blue VIM to get a lot of suds, because you'll never see them. But you will see the cleanest, whitest clothes you've ever washed.

The very next time you run through a wash—put Blue VIM in your automatic washer. You'll take out whiter clothes!

WHY SPEED QUEEN, BEST-SELLING AUTOMATIC WASHER, RECOMMENDS VIM

The makers of Speed Queen—the only automatic washer that gives you breath-taking beauty of design, cleanest washability, and freedom from repair worries—wholeheartedly recommend new VIM. Like other leading washer manufacturers, they know that VIM's lowest suds do the best job in their machine. Lever Brothers unconditionally guarantees that Blue VIM will make your washer wash its cleanest and whitest, or your money refunded.

Put in Blue VIM.... take out whiter clothes!

Simple Tasks Stimulate Child's Cooking Interest

As a first step in encouraging an interest in cooking, have your child put the finishing touches on a dessert.

Even a 4-year-old can sprinkle candy shot over a cake frosting or grind nuts over the meringue of a pie.

She can roll out a small piece of pie crust to fit a toy-size pie pan. (It may be a little battered and tough from constant handling, but who cares?) She'll feel a sense of pride in her accomplishment and that's the important thing.

A child can flatten cookies with a toy rolling pin or heavy tumbler after you have put the dough on the cookie sheet. And it won't be too long before she can shape dough in reasonably even balls.

True, it will take more of your time. Results may not be perfect — but the expression on your youngster's face when the family exclaims with delight over her cooking will be well worth it.

Keep the work simple until she is strong and tall enough and her hands large enough to attempt more complicated tasks.

SPANISH CREAM — Delicate and smooth in texture, there's refreshing flavor in this Spanish Cream. Since it's made with skim milk it provides real food value without those extra calories. Serve it plain or dressed up with sliced canned peaches.

Skim Milk Fits Into Menu From Soups to Desserts

In this weight-watcher day and age homemakers pay close attention to the family diet. Not only are the gals aware of their middle-measures, husbands and teenagers alike also study their mirror reflections.

With so much emphasis placed on diets, it's mighty important to insure family health and happiness with a wholesome, well-balanced, good all-round diet.

One drink to good health today is a tall glass of skim or nonfat milk. It provides plenty of protein, minerals and vitamins without adding the extra calories from fat. Sometimes skim milk is even fortified with vitamins A and D.

Served at mealtime or as a between meal "pick-me-up", skim milk contributes to the day's nutrition and it certainly helps to add that satisfied feeling.

Cookbooks provide a wide variety of uses for skim milk. It lends itself readily to use in cream soups and vegetables, bread and biscuit doughs, casserole dishes and desserts. And cereals cooked in skim milk instead of water taste better and are better for you, too.

In its production and marketing, strict rules and regulations are enforced for handling skim milk. And sanitary measures are equally important at home. When exposed to sunlight, skim milk loses vitamins and develops an "off" flavor.

The wise Mrs. Homemaker buys skim milk in the convenient paper container with the tight-fitting snap-cap seal. These containers are easy to store and easy to pour from.

See that skim milk gets quick refrigeration. It should be removed from the refrigerator only as it is needed, and the remaining milk promptly replaced.

Served plain as a thirst-quenching beverage or used for cooking purposes, skim milk may be used in any meal—in any part of the meal. It is truly quick energy nourishment at very low cost. Smart homemakers use skim milk for soups and desserts.

Low-Calorie Spanish Cream

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
2 cups skim milk
2 egg yolks, beaten
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
Dash of salt
1 to 2 teaspoons liquid no-calorie sweetener*
1 teaspoon vanilla or ¼ teaspoon almond extract
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Soften gelatin in milk in top of double boiler; heat over boiling water until gelatin is dissolved. Gradually pour mixture over egg yolks, stirring constantly; add nutmeg, salt and sweetener.

Return mixture to double boiler; cook over simmering water, stirring constantly, five to eight minutes, or until mixture coats spoon; add vanilla; chill until syrupy.

Fold in beaten egg whites; pour into individual molds or 1-quart mold. Serve plain or with drained canned sliced peaches (water-packed). Makes five servings (66 calories each) or six servings (55 calories each).

Egg Prices Go to New Lows

The same curving plumpness, the same color scheme, the same everyday-and-Sunday good eating are there. But the price has dropped far below any hemlines.

Homemakers everywhere are grabbing them up for the bargains they are, for prices have been at the lowest marks since 1945. Eggs have been selling over the country at 20 to 25 cents a dozen lower than during the same time last year. Two and three years ago they were much higher. Prices are still low, especially in medium-sized eggs.

The reason for this big supply and accompanying bargain prices, says the Poultry and Egg National Board, is that there are 8 per cent more laying hens on farms and they are cheerfully laying around 10 per cent more eggs than at this time last year.

Medium eggs, which weigh 21 ounces to the dozen as compared with 24 ounces — a whole pound and a half—for large eggs, are the best values in most food stores, since they are unusually abundant now. Although they weigh seven-eighths as much as large eggs, they are often priced at two-thirds, or even less, the mark for large ones.

Most poultrymen say that these medium eggs, which are laid by pullets (young hens) as they swing into their laying career, are the best ever produced. They are almost invariably of high quality.

On a per-pound basis, eggs are a good buy at any price, the board points out. Large eggs at 60 cents a dozen cost only 40 cents a pound, truly a low price for waste-free food, high in protein, vitamins and other nutrients required for good health.

At 75 cents a dozen, they are only 60 cents a pound. The cost per pound of medium eggs in some areas has been as low as 25 to 30 cents.

Eggs not only have a new look in price, but they always have good food values when eaten scrambled, fried, poached, hard or soft-cooked, in omelets or in countless combinations with other good foods.

They add color and delightful flavor to favorite dishes. Eggs are also the most versatile and the quickest to cook of all natural foods.

FAVORITE SNACK—Popcorn is a cherful sign of real hospitality. It's a treat to munch on while watching television, playing cards or scrabble, enjoying conversation with your friends—or while you're just reading. It's even more fun when you serve it in amusing containers like this wicker duck basket.

For Hospitality, Serve Popcorn

There is no trick at all to pop heaping bowls of delicious popcorn quickly and easily. You must start with good popcorn that comes sealed airtight in metal cans—so you know it is at its poppin' best!

Add a little cooking oil to the bottom of the pan or popper. No expensive oils, special oils or semi-solids are needed. As a matter of fact your favorite cooking oil is a scientific product that does the very best job of popping corn.

When the oil gets hot, add two or three kernels of popcorn. When they spin you know the oil is at just the right temperature. Then just cover the bottom of the pan one kernel deep. No more.

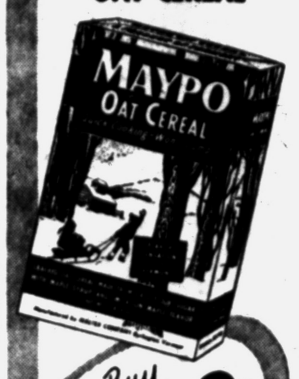

Shake gently. In just a jiffy you'll hear the kernels popping like a pan full of firecrackers. With the last "pop," remove quickly from heat . . . pour into bowl . . . add melted butter or margarine and salt to taste.

One more hint: Lately the idea has been going around that you should soak popcorn in oil before popping. This is entirely false. Never do it. The popcorn absorbs the oil, gets tough and simply will not pop to its full ability.

Place your confidence in a well-known, nationally advertised brand of popcorn that is positively guaranteed to pop, and you will always have fun and good eating from every can of popcorn.

BUCKWHEAT MUFFINS—Hot buckwheat muffins for breakfast, or as a hot bread for any meal, are a new, delightful taste treat for the whole family. The cracked buckwheat grain, or kasha, makes the muffins crunchy and imparts a nutlike flavor.

Buckwheat Kernels Lend Nutlike Flavor to Muffins

The American housewife chiefly associates buckwheat with flour for pancakes. She is also familiar with buckwheat as the source for a rich-tasting, dark-hued honey.

In Europe, however, the distaff side considers buckwheat groats and flour a prized food that is inexpensive and versatile.

When split, the buckwheat kernel is known as groats or "kasha." It has a pleasing nutlike flavor. Groats can be steamed, boiled or baked, and served "as is" with salt and pepper for a delicious vegetable dish.

Mixed with sugar and cream, it makes a fine cereal. Added to soups and stews for thickening and flavor, it is as good as when used as a stuffing for poultry or veal.

One of the best-known buckwheat dishes is "Kasha varnitchkes," which is made of kasha and noodles combined together. It is a favorite in continental restaurants here and abroad.

Buckwheat groats is a food of yesteryear that promises new and exciting adventures in cooking today. Try using some in these delicious nutlike muffins.

Crunchy Raisin Muffins

¼ cup shortening
3 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons molasses
1 egg, unbeaten
1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons double-acting baking pdr.
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup buckwheat groats
1 cup buttermilk
¼ cup cut seeded raisins

Cream shortening until fluffy; add sugar and molasses, and beat until light. Beat in egg. Add sifted flour, baking powder, soda and salt.

Then add groats and buttermilk; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened. Add raisins.

Half-fill greased 2-½-inch muffin pans with batter. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees about 20 minutes, or until browned and done. Makes 12 muffins.

Highlight Brunch With Orange Bread

Orange Brunch Bread

2 cups sifted flour
½ cup sugar
2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 egg
¾ cup orange juice
Grated rind from 1 orange
Topping

Prepare topping as directed below and set aside. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt; cut in butter with pastry blender.

Beat egg lightly; add orange juice and beat enough to combine. Stir in orange rind—there should be about 1 tablespoon.

Add flour mixture; stir enough to moisten dry ingredients—batter will be lumpy. Turn into buttered baking pan (10 by 6 by 2 inches). With teaspoon and small spatula, drop blobs of topping over batter.

Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean.

Topping: With back of spoon, blend together 1 tablespoon flour, one-fourth cup sugar, one-half teaspoon cinnamon and one-fourth cup soft butter or margarine.

Make Funny Faces for Kiddies' Parties

Simple, colorful surprise for children's parties. Good idea to put this recipe together the night before the spread.

1½ cups boiling water
1 cup apricot-applesauce, strained or junior
6 large chocolate or dark molasses cookies

Holiday Dessert Kind to Dieters

One of the most popular days on our calendar is coming up soon—Thanksgiving, of course. And with Thanksgiving dinner on our mind we turn to some menu planning for the big day.

There's turkey and all the trimmings! Delicious, every bite, but nearly always we eat too much. So this year, for a change, we turn to a dessert that's light, frivolous, airy—and low, low in calories.

Orange Bavarian is the name, and the recipe comes from the test kitchens of a frozen juice company.

This is a dessert you can eat without a twinge of conscience—one serving gives you just under 100 calories. Easy on the waistline—and economical too!

Then if you want to go fancy—you can always decorate with meringue, or even fruit if you like.

Low-Calorie Orange Bavarian

1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatin
1¼ cups cold water
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 teaspoons vanilla
1 cup instant non-fat dry milk
⅓ cup sugar
1 can (6 ounces) frozen orange juice (undiluted)
2 egg whites, beaten

Soften gelatin in one-quarter cup cold water. Place remaining cup of water, lemon juice and vanilla in mixing bowl. Sprinkle instant non-fat dry milk over surface and beat with rotary beater about 10 minutes or until mixture is thick. If electric mixer is used, beat 10 minutes at low to moderate speed.

When mixture is thick, add sugar gradually, beating constantly. Meantime, stir softened gelatin over low heat until just dissolved. Beat into milk mixture and blend well.

Beat in undiluted frozen orange juice. Beat egg whites until stiff, not dry, then fold carefully into mixture.

Substitute Gingerale

For holiday zip, at no extra work, try this molded fruit salad or dessert. Substitute 1 cup of gingerale for the 1 cup of cold water called for in the directions on your fruit-flavored gelatin package. Gingerale adds a peppy touch to your recipe, Chill.

TWO-WAY POT ROAST—You'll be buying pot roasts often in the months ahead. A good idea for a small family is to have the roast cut in two. Pot roast one piece and cube the other to use in stew or a braised beef dish.

* * * * * *

Divided Pot Roast Makes 2 Hearty, Different Meals

Here's a good idea for making use of the beef pot roasts now on the market in such plentiful supply. It's made-to-order for the small or medium-sized family.

Instead of cooking a pot roast all in one piece and having meat left over, buy a beef chuck (shoulder) pot roast and have your meat man cut it in two.

Cook one piece as a pot roast and make an entirely different dinner dish from the other—braised beef served in rice ring or beef and vegetable stew, for instance.

This barbecued pot roast, made from half of the roast, is one of the most delicious meat dishes ever to come out of a test kitchen.

Barbecued Pot Roast

Beef pot roast
Salt, pepper, fat
½ cup water
8-ounce can tomato sauce
3 medium onions
2 cloves garlic
2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon dry mustard
¼ cup each lemon juice and vinegar
¼ cup catsup
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

Rub meat with 2 teaspoons salt and one-fourth teaspoon pepper; brown in 3 tablespoons fat. Add water, tomato sauce, thinly sliced onions and minced garlic. Cover and cook over low heat 1½ hours.

Combine remaining ingredients and pour over meat; cover and continue cooking about one hour, or until tender. Remove meat to hot platter.

Skim off most of fat, dilute with water to suit taste, then thicken with 2 tablespoons flour mixed to smooth paste with a little water. Four servings.

The other half of the pot roast might be cut into 1-inch cubes and frozen for use at a later time. This braised beef dish, hinting of the French cuisine, is one tempting way to use diced beef.

Parisienne Beef in Rice Ring

In a Dutch oven or other large, heavy utensil, brown beef cubes in a little hot fat. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and basil.

Add a small piece of bay leaf, some chopped celery leaves and one-half cup of bouillon.

Cover and cook slowly until meat is tender, adding more bouillon in small amounts as it cooks away. (The secret of having well-browned meat and rich-flavored gravy is to use small quantities of liquid.)

When meat is tender, add a can of mushrooms (or fresh mushrooms) which have been fried in a little butter or margarine.

Taste liquid and if it is too concentrated, add bouillon or water to dilute to the right strength.

If necessary, thicken with a little flour mixed to a smooth paste with a very little water. Stir in a few tablespoons sherry or dry white or red wine. Serve in rice ring.

For Speedy Appetizer

Put this one on the list for the quickest appetizer ever—toss bite-size shredded whole wheat cereal in melted butter, sprinkle with a little garlic salt and serve hot—your guests will ask for more.

BLINTZES—As the leading attraction for a gay buffet supper—after the football game—before the big dance—following the theater—try these exotic-sounding Blintzes. They're really easy to make and are sure to amaze your guests.

Blintzes Catch the Spirit of Warm Fall Hospitality

Come the cool days of autumn, and hospitality crackles merrily on every hearth! There's something about the season which calls for open house — and the kind of open-hearted, casual get-togethers which everyone loves best.

To match the exuberant color of the season, buffet suppers ought to have a little autumnal glamor all their own. But what to serve that will bring the color and the warmth all indoors while brisk breezes blow outside!

The main dish should be exciting — distinctive — but easy to make, since spontaneity is half the fun of any buffet party!

Hostesses filled with the spirit of giving a party might be surprised to learn that one of the simplest and mildest of cheeses, cottage cheese, can be the inspiration for countless dramatic buffet dishes which fill the bill perfectly!

Blintzes, for instance — thin, tender pancakes, rolled around a filling of creamy cottage cheese, topped with a dash of sour cream or chili sauce!

Since cottage cheese is known as the mildest member of the great cheese family — so sweet and bland we customarily think of it as a salad adjunct, it may come as a surprise that it has such affinity for spicy, colorful cooked dishes too.

But its character is versatile—its guises on our menus many. Cottage cheese is plentiful, economical, and as near as the corner grocery or the milk delivery man!

Blintzes

1¼ to 1½ cups milk
1 cup packaged pancake mix
1 medium onion, finely chopped
½ green pepper, finely chopped
Sour cream or chili sauce
2 cups cottage cheese

Add milk gradually to pancake mix, stirring until blended. Do not overbeat. Stir in onion and pepper. Drop by spoonfuls on hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake until golden brown on both sides.

Spoon cheese on center of each pancake. Roll up; fasten with toothpick. Serve immediately with spoonful of sour cream or heated chili sauce. Makes 12 to 14 pancakes.

Comforting Hot Drinks Ease Pangs of Dieting

Something hot and comforting to drink will help tide you over between meals — when you're dieting to lose weight. Try hot vegetable juice or tomato juice — sparked with a squirt of lemon—for an enjoyable beverage. Each gives you a good "dose" of vitamins A and C; contains few calories (45 per cup).

Another delightful hot drink is canned bouillon or consomme; mix either with some water. Each will add a little valuable protein to your diet; hardly any calories.

Purchase Turkey Now

Get your holiday turkeys now and save money, advises Sara Walls, home economics director for a freezer company. The U. S. Dept. of Agriculture reports turkey prices are lower now than they will be during the holidays, so purchase your bird now and store in the freezer until needed.

Festival Salad Features Figs

How beautiful are the Bible references to a land of milk and honey, the fruitful fig tree, herbs and golden grain and fatted flocks and unleavened bread!

How like our own good harvest of today and how little have we changed in our basic needs or pleasures. Along with other good foods, one of America's greatest crops is dried figs grown, dried and packed in the sunny valleys of California.

The new crop is now reaching the market and here is a new recipe calling for these sugar-plumped figs.

Festival Salad

24 dried figs
1 can sweetened grapefruit segments or frozen grapefruit
1 bottle maraschino cherries
Lettuce

Cover the dried figs with hot water. Let stand for 10 minutes. Drain and dry. With scissors, snip stems from the figs, then cut figs into quarters lengthwise.

Arrange prettily with grapefruit (save grapefruit juice) and cherries on the lettuce. Serves 5 or 6. Wonderful with the following dressing:

½ cup grapefruit juice
1-3 cup salad oil
¼ cup syrup from cherries
2 tablespoons vinegar
Salt and pepper to taste

Serve Sprouts Covered With Tangy Sauce

Fresh fall and winter vegetables call for imaginative cooking. We think you'll enjoy this recipe.

Brussels Sprouts
With Lemon Cheese Sauce

1 basket (1½ pounds) fresh Brussels sprouts
½ teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1-inch boiling water in pan

Wash Brussels sprouts. Trim off imperfect outer leaves and bits of stem ends. Soak 20 minutes in cold salted water, using 1 teaspoon salt to 1 quart water.

Place in saucepan; add salt, sugar and pour in 1-inch boiling water. Cover. Cook 10-15 minutes or until just tender. Lift cover occasionally while cooking to help the vegetable retain its green color.

Drain off water. Spoon vegetable into serving dish, (save six to eight of the greenest Brussels sprouts for garnish). Cover with lemon cheese sauce made as follows:

Lemon Cheese Sauce

2 tablespoons margarine or butter
1 tablespoon flour
½ cup milk
2 egg yolks, (beaten)
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
¼ cup grated Cheddar cheese
¼ teaspoon salt
1/16 teaspoon ground black pepper

Melt margarine or butter in saucepan, stir in flour. Gradually add milk. Cook until medium thickness over low heat.

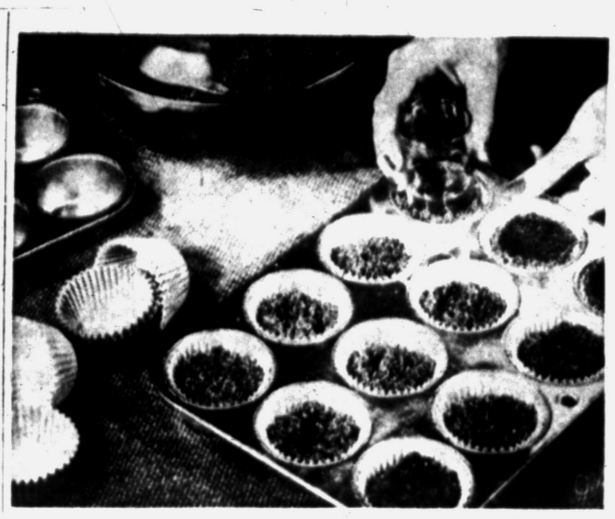

Combine egg yolks and lemon juice. Mix with sauce. Stir in remaining ingredients. Pour over Brussels sprouts.

Hasty Hash Will Make Any Day Seem Fair

Oh, it's always fair weather when you serve fare like this. You start with a can of beef gravy for a hasty hash. Add the gravy to a skillet where you've already frizzled 1 cup of cubed cooked beef (can be leftover) and a small chopped onion. Simmer the meat and gravy mixture to mingle flavors; add a dash of black pepper if desired.

This tastes luscious poured over split baked potatoes or mashed potatoes; over buttered rice, biscuits or toast.

CRUMB TART SHELLS—Crumb tart shells are a cinch if they're made in fluted paper cups. Just set cups in muffin pans, measure in crumb mixture and press into shells with a small juice glass. This may be done with any kind of a crumb crust.

PUMPKIN CHIFFON TART FILLING—Delicate pumpkin chiffon fills gingersnap crumb tart shells for a fall treat. Serve in the fluted paper cup, garnish with a whole pecan. You will have an eye-appealing, taste-tempting dessert for a reasonable sum.

Unsung Heroines Direct Church and Club Dinners

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

We wonder how many PTA's, clubs and churches have dinners each day. If all were added together, there would be thousands of woman work-hours represented.

These workers, and especially the chairmen of these affairs, are often unsung heroines. It is our purpose to salute them in this article and to offer a recipe or two for quantity cooking in the hopes it will help when next they plan a dinner.

We know of at least one woman who so successfully managed church and lodge meals that she was able to get and hold a paid job in that capacity in her later years. There must be others who have done the same thing. Volunteer experience is just as valuable as paid experience.

The whole secret of a successful dinner for a large group is organization. It must be planned in minute detail far enough in advance to iron out any difficulties before the day of the affair. Each worker must know what her job is and when she is expected to do it.

One thing impresses us from the literature we have been receiving: Paper service is a valuable aid in proportioning food and in controlling the size of servings. Even when the food is donated, there will be no profit if the portions are so uneven that the required number is not served.

Using the small souffle cups, for instance, to serve cranberry sauce or applesauce means that you in the kitchen know how far each bowlful will go.

Whereas, if you merely put the bowl on the table, you have no control over the size of the helping each diner will take.

Then too, paper service cuts down on dishwashing. The small amount spent for paper containers is worth it from the energy-saving standpoint, to say nothing of the hygienic advantage.

Now for some actual recipes for group serving. First, the recipe for the Pumpkin Chiffon Tarts shown in the above picture. The crumb tart shells may be used for any desired filling, but this season of the year seems to call for pumpkin.

Tart Shells

Ingredients	Weights	Measure
Ginger snaps	2 pounds	7 boxes
Sugar	¾ pound	1½ cups
Butter or margarine, softened	¾ pound	1½ cups

Put ginger snaps through coarse screen of food grinder to make crumbs. Blend in sugar and butter or margarine thoroughly. Set large-size paper baking cups in muffin pans. Pour one-quarter cup crumb mixture into each cup. Press firmly against bottom and sides with a juice glass. Makes about 50 tart shells.

Pumpkin Chiffon Tart Filling

Ingredients	Weights	Measure
Pumpkin, canned		1 quart
Sugar	1 pound	2 cups
Milk		1 quart
Salt		2 teaspoons
Ginger		2 teaspoons
Nutmeg		1 teaspoon
Cinnamon		1½ tablespoons
Eggs, separated		12
Butter or margarine	¼ pound	½ cup
Unflavored gelatin	1½ ounces	¼ cup
Cold water		1¼ cups
Sugar	1 pound	2 cups

Cook pumpkin over low heat 10 minutes. Stir occasionally. Blend in sugar, milk, salt, ginger, nutmeg, cinnamon, beaten egg yolks and butter. Cook until thickened; remove from heat.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add to hot pumpkin mixture; stir until dissolved. Chill until mixture begins to thicken.

Beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add remaining sugar; continue beating until stiff. Fold into pumpkin mixture. Pour into ginger snap crumb tart shells. Chill until set. Makes about 50 tarts.

Instead of serving meat loaf for a large group, try this recipe for barbecued meatballs with a corn sauce.

Barbecued Corn and Meatballs

1 quart rolled oats
2 teaspoons monosodium glutamate
3½ tablespoons salt
1 teaspoon pepper
9 pounds ground beef
1 cup shortening
3 cups chopped onion
2 cups finely chopped green pepper
2 No. 10 cans whole kernel corn
¼ cup flour
3 tablespoons dry mustard
1 teaspoon Tabasco
3 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
1¾ cups catsup

Pour evaporated milk over rolled oats; let stand 10 minutes. Add monosodium glutamate, salt and pepper.

Blend beef into oatmeal mixture; shape into balls using No. 20 scoop. Bake in a very hot oven (500 degrees) 15 minutes.

For sauce, melt shortening, add onion and green pepper; cook until onion is tender.

Pour off 2 cups corn liquid; reserve. Add remaining corn with liquid to onion and pepper mixture; heat to boiling.

Blend together remaining ingredients with reserved corn liquid. Blend into hot mixture, stirring constantly.

Divide over pans of meatballs. Bake in a slow oven (300 degrees) 30 minutes. Makes 50 servings.

Every dinner must have some kind of salad. The easiest to prepare and serve is a gelatin salad. This is cranberry relish salad is most appropriate.

Cranberry Relish Salad

2 oranges, quartered and seeded
3 1-pound cans whole cranberry sauce
3 envelopes unflavored gelatin
2 cups bottled cranberry juice cocktail
½ cup sugar

Put oranges through food chopper, using fine blade. Combine with whole cranberry sauce; mix well.

Sprinkle gelatin on cranberry juice to soften. Place over boiling water; stir until dissolved. Remove from heat; add sugar and stir until dissolved.

Stir into orange-cranberry mixture. Chill until the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Turn into 24 half-cup paper cups. Makes 24 servings.

Sandwich Features Kippers and Cheese

Kipper-Cheese Broil

4 slices bread
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
½ small onion (finely grated)
1 3¾-ounce can Norway kipper snacks
½ cup (2 ounces) grated cheddar cheese
Paprika

Toast bread lightly. Mix mayonnaise, Worcestershire sauce and onion; there should be 2 teaspoons (pulp and juice) of the finely grated onion.

Spread mayonnaise mixture on one side of each slice of toast. Lift kipper snacks from can, break into pieces and arrange on spread side of toast. Sprinkle cheese, then paprika, over kippers.

Broil slowly until kippers are hot and cheese melts—three to five minutes.

Add Peanuts to Salads

To vary the flavor of your salad meals add finely chopped peanuts to coleslaw, potato salad, and deviled eggs. A flavorful dressing to serve with fruit salads can be prepared by blending peanut butter with mayonnaise.

Leftovers are not only a tradition around the holidays, but they're frequent occurrences throughout the year. Here are some ideas by Reba Staggs, meat expert, which give leftovers appetizing disguises.

Rah-Rah Football Cookies Inspire Cheers of Delight

Whatever the fall season activity, cookies flavored with a touch of molasses can play an important part. Even your sophisticated teenagers will exclaim over these cookie football heroes.

Molasses is an excellent energy food and an outstanding source of available iron. Unsulphured molasses is the juice of fully matured sugar cane, a primary food; regular molasses is a byproduct of sugar making.

Gingerbread Football Men

½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
½ cup unsulphured molasses
1 egg
2½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cloves
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Cream together shortening, sugar and molasses. Add egg; mix well. Sift together flour, salt, baking powder and spices. Add to molasses mixture; mix well.

Chill dough about two hours. Roll out one third-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut with a 6-inch gingerbread-man cutter, or cut around cardboard pattern. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 10 to 12 minutes.

Cool; decorate with ornamental frosting. Yield: 1½ dozen "men." Note: If cookie "stands" are desired, double the recipe. Cut out stands with a 3-inch round cutter; bake according to directions. Put "football men" on stands with small amount of ornamental frosting.

Sandwich and Pennant Cookies

Use same recipe as for Gingerbread Football Men. Take small portion of dough to cut out pennants. Roll out dough one-eighth-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth. Cut pennants in three-fourth-inch width; press wide end on toothpicks on baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) five to seven minutes. Cool; decorate with the ornamental frosting.

Roll out remaining dough one-eighth-inch thick; cut with a 2½ inch round cutter. Bake in moderate oven (350) 10 minutes. Cool.

Sandwich half the cookies together with peanut butter, and remaining half with peppermint-flavored confectioners' sugar frosting. Stand pennants upright in sandwiches. Yield: Approximately 4 dozen sandwiches.

Molasses Football Cookies

½ cup shortening
¾ cup unsulphured molasses
2 tablespoons sugar
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
¾ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 small egg

Melt shortening in saucepan large enough for mixing cookies. Stir in molasses and sugar; cool. Sift together flour, salt, soda and spices. Stir a small amount of dry mixture into molasses mixture. Beat in egg. Add remaining flour, blending until smooth.

Chill dough about two hours. Shape into 1½-inch balls; form into oval shape. Place on baking sheets about 1½ inches apart, to allow cookies to spread during baking.

Bake in a moderate, 350-degree oven 15 to 20 minutes. Put "lace" on "footballs" with ornamental frosting. Yield: 2½ dozen cookies.

Cheese Sprinkled Over Shirred Eggs

Parmesan Shirred Eggs

1 tablespoon cream
2 eggs
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese
Paprika

Butter shirred egg dish; add cream. Add eggs without breaking yolks. Sprinkle with Parmesan, then with paprika.

Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven until eggs are as firm as desired—12 to 18 minutes or longer.

Serve at once with pepper mill; the Parmesan cheese is usually salty enough so salt is not needed. Makes one serving.

Bolivia, the third largest of the South American republics, has an area of about 510,000 square miles.

Romeo and Juliet's Town Is Home of Savory Recipe

Mantua, Italy, is the town where the romantic death of the "ill-starred lovers," Romeo and Juliet took place. You may have forgotton your Shakespeare but you will never forget the different and exciting tastes of Chicken Mantua.

Contrary to rumors, there is nothing mysterious about Italian cooking nor is it extremely highly spiced and rich. Italians are known to be long lived — either because of or in spite of their cooking, but Italians, of course, eat Italian food and thrive.

Meat and poultry are scarce in Italy. Nevertheless, Italian meat and chicken dishes have become world-famous. Chicken done in any style is looked upon as a must at special occasions such as baptisms or weddings.

The Italian cook utilizes every bit of the chicken and cooks it with other ingredients such as chestnuts and vegetables of all kinds (olives are classed as a vegetable) so every portion is something very special.

Chicken Mantua

1 frying or roasting chicken
¼ cup butter or margarine (½ stick)
½ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup diced celery
¼ cup finely chopped celery leaves
½ cup carrots, diced into small pieces
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup tomato juice
8 green olives, 4 whole, 4 minced (stuffed or unstuffed)
8 black olives, 4 whole, 4 minced
5 cups hot cooked rice

To make 5 cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1½ cups uncooked rice, 3 cups cold water and 1½ teaspoons salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.

2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid or stir rice while it is cooking.

3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Turn heat off. The rice is now ready to use. However, leave the cover on the saucepan to keep the rice warm if you are not ready to use it immediately.

For extra fluffy, tender, separate grains — allow the rice to steam for an additional 10 minutes — with heat off, but without removing lid.

Cut the chicken into serving pieces. Rinse in water and dry. Melt the butter or margarine in a large skillet. Place the chicken, skin side down, in the skillet and brown. Turn the chicken and add the onion, celery, celery leaves, carrots, salt and pepper.

Push some of the vegetables to the bottom of the skillet so they can cook in the fat. Cook about 10 minutes, then add the tomato juice. Cover and cook over a medium heat for 45 minutes or until tender.

Add the olives and cook for five minutes. Serve over the hot rice.

This recipe makes a lot of gravy, so serve some of this gravy or sauce in a separate dish if you wish. This recipe makes six servings.

Searching for a new way to serve toast at a brunch or luncheon? Try chocolate cinnamon toast for a gourmet touch. Mix together one-half cup cocoa, 5 tablespoons melted butter, 1 teaspoon cinnamon and 6 tablespoons sugar. Spread on hot crisp toast.

Education Board Picks Nov. 29

$825,000 Figure and Millage Boost Sought for Construction

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Board of Education has set Nov. 29 as the date of a special election to vote on an $825,000 school bond issue.

If approved, housing needs of the school district would be adequately met for the next two years, according to school officials.

Approval would call for a levy of six dollars per one thousand of assessed valuation.

The millage increase would not show up on the tax rolls until December, 1955.

All voters wishing to take part in the special election must be registered with the township clerk in the township in which they live by 5 p.m. Nov. 19.

Those who voted in either the last school or national elections are registered.

The last bond issue, for $1,300,000 was aproved 11 months ago. It provided a $250,000 elementary school, and an $890,000 new high school, with another $120,000 to equip the buildings.

At their Monday meeting, the board aproved the forms for ballots, and the notices of registration and election.

In other action, the board decided to continue its policy of not renting the school buildings on Sunday, and refused a request for the use of the Twin Beach building.

Crary PTO Hears Aims of New School

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — An 8-member panel presented the school and PTA program last night to some 1,000 parents who turned out for the first Isaac E. Crary parent-teachers meeting in the new building.

George Madden spoke of the philosophy behind the present plan of work, stating that the school's aim is to bridge the gap between elementary grades and high school by a transitional type high shool by a transitional type of program.

Bernard Heaney, school counselor, pointed out the differences between the seventh and eighth grade level teaching arrangement and touched on subject matter.

The lunch program, which serves nearly 1,000 students in 45 minutes, was described by Mrs. Paul McCoy.

New officers elected at last night's meeting are: Mrs. E. L. Windeler, president; John Abel, vice president; Mrs. Elizabeth Hull, secretary; and Mrs. Arlene Banfield, treasurer.

Resolutions Ask Benson Support

Farm Bureau to Vote on Secretary's Policy of Flexible Prices

EAST LANSING (UP)—Resolutions calling for full support of Secretary of Agricuture Ezra T. Benson and his flexible farm price support policy were submitted today to the Michigan Farm Bureau convention.

Farm Bureau officials declined to predict whether the 629 delegates at the 35th annual convention would adopt the resolutions.

But one Bureau spokesman said the farm group's officers don't consider the results of the Nov. 2 election a "repudiation" of Benson's program.

The convention will vote on the resolutions and elect eight new directors at its closing session Friday.

George Fogle, of Mason, chairman of the resolutions committee, asked delegates to vote for a Farm Bureau program which would have as its major objective "the full restoration of peacetime, private-enterprise farm economy with a high net spendable farm income and a minimum of interference and controls by government."

His support committee recommended as major projects for 1955:

Support of flexible price supports on 1955 crops.

Continued support of a government stockpile of $2,500,000 worth of crop surpluses, of a $50,000,000 annual milk program for school lunches, a proposal to supply the Veterans Administration and defense agencies with dairy products, a program for selling U. S. agricultural surpluses abroad and accepting foreign currencies in payment, and transfer of agricultural attaches from the State Department to the Department of Agriculture.

The Benson resolution commended the secretary "wholeheartedly for his courage in defending policies designed to free agriculture from dependence on subsidies" and his determination to restore consumer demand for agricultural products."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoffman, the bridegroom's brother and sister-in-law, attended the couple, who will make their home in Pontiac.

Airman Cites Home Defense

Says Selfridge Fighters Help to Avert Attack by Russia

Although the United States is more vulnerable to air attack today, this country so far has averted such a threat by maintaining strong home defense commands, Maj. Maxwell M. Gurman of Selfridge Air Force Base stressed here yesterday.

Speaking at the luncheon meeting of the Pontiac Civitan Club, he also emphasized the need for more Ground Observer Corpsmen to help when radar is unable to detect low flying aircraft.

Maj. Gurman, public relations director of the largest air defense command base in the nation, said we realized five years ago that we would have to maintain strong home defense units "to combat possible air attacks by Russia."

A World War II veteran with nine battle stars and having flown over a hundred missions in the Pacific theater, Gurman said, "We are better equipped today to meet an enemy in case of attack. We have the strongest air commands today in the history of our country.

"Our plane crews are on a 24-hour alert, seven days a week, ready to engage the enemy almost immediately upon identification of foreign aircrafts.

"We can stop about 30 per cent of the planes coming in, whereas Britain was able to stop only 10 per cent in World War II," Gurman added.

He said if an attack by Russia should come, it would be over the North Pole by 6-jet Bombers, capable of speeds over 500 miles an hour at 45,000 foot altitudes. For this reason, he added, north and eastern defense commands are the strongest.

Gurman said that Selfridge is equipped with F-86 Sabre jets, capable of firing rockets directly at the enemy "without ever seeing them."

An essential aid to the various commands, said Gurman, is the outstanding work the Ground Observer Corps is doing. He referred to the Milford Post as a "starring example of performing excellent work round the clock and seven days a week. We need more posts like the one in Milford."

He said the corps serves to identify planes flying below 5,000 feet, under which radar identity is difficult.

Diphtheria Scare Brings on Shots

Grand Rapids Parents Rush Kids to City Hall for Immunization

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — A mushrooming diphtheria scare brought hundreds of parents with their children to the city hall immunization clinic here yesterday.

Nearly 600 children were inoculated in an emergency program to check the week-old outbreak.

So far, four active cases have been reported and seven homes have been quarantined.

Dr. W. B. Prothro, city-county health officer, said two homes were quarantined yesterday after a public health nurse found traces of the disease in throats of three youngsters—two in one family. The children attend Coit Elementary School.

Dr. Prothro said the three do not actually have the disease but could become carriers. A carrier is a person who can transmit the bacillus which causes the disease while remaining immune.

A carrier is thought to have introduced the first case a week ago. It was the first diphtheria outbreak here in five years.

Aroused at the threat, parents are jamming the three floors of the city hall waiting their turn for inoculation for their children. City officials from nearby offices have been pressed into service to keep the crowd in order.

Okinawa Prison All Quiet After Rioters Give Up

NAHA, Okinawa (UP)—A 540-man task force of armed police subdued the 800 rebellious convicts of riot-torn Naha Penitentiary today without a fight.

The prisoners, exhausted by their five-day spree of window smashing and demonstrations over prison conditions, submitted meekly.

Only two of the convicts showed any fight. Both were wounded in the leg by quick blasts from riot guns.

Southfield Plans Party Friday to Aid Courageous Girl

By WILMA GREENWAY

Sometimes the difference between life and death rests on only one intangible factor — pluck.

A particular kind of pluck. The kind of pluck that an 18-year-old Southfield girl has demonstrated for nine months, lying immovable on a hospital bed while doctors employed traction, braces, casts and three major operations in the effort to heal her broken back and neck.

Tomorrow night Southfield Township will show its admiration for the courage of young Thelma Pack, who has been confined to Ford Hospital since last February, and yet continues to smile, and sing, and keep her faith in the future.

A community-wide benefit card party, scheduled for 8 p. m. at Colony Hall, 21780 Evergreen Blvd., is expected to draw an unprecedented crowd. Members of the community hope that it will give the gallant young woman a boost in her long, slow climb to recovery.

The idea for the party originated with a neighbor, Mrs. U. G. Ruzzin, who asked her church guild to help. St. Mary's Guild of St. Michael Catholic Church quickly agreed to sponsor the affair, although the injured girl was a Protestant and a member of Southfield Baptist choir.

When the accident happened, Thelma was a bride of five months. With her husband, Lyle, and her stepson, 3½ year old "Cracker," she was making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Carr of 23406 Bush St.

A truckload of wood was expected that day, and when it arrived, Thelma climbed on top with her 14-year-old nephew, joking with him as she helped him unload it. She'd done lots of climbing before — only this time she lost her balance.

In the hospital she spent three months on an iron frame, motionless, paralyzed, her head held in position by iron tongs. Later she learned to use her arms, just a little.

Doctors, who once held no hope for her life, now say she will walk again — given time.

There was a lesson for others in the way Thelma reacted to her personal tragedy, and people weren't slow to grasp it. So the little party grew into a big party.

The Men's Club donated the use of the hall. Individuals and business firms chipped in with other donations. Goodfellows, Optimists, Kiwanis, the Citizens League gave it their backing.

All of Southfield is hoping it will be the biggest party of the year. The township wants to show a little gal who was born there that it likes her brand of courage.

Think You Have New Invention?

Chances Are the Thing Is Already on File Down in the Patent Office

WASHINGTON (UP)—Did you ever hear of a three-cornered tooth pick? The kind that would fit the contours of the molars and dig out the likes of partly chewed fibers of veal and lamb chops? Or ear corn?

Well, the other day a lawyer friend of mine had an application for a patent on just that sort of thing. The applicant thought it was brand new. So did the lawyer until he looked into the record.

It took the lawyer a day and a half to make the search in the patent files, and he found that such a thing was on the market 35 years ago.

Point of this is that it takes a mite of doing to make a search through two and one-half million things that already have been patented.

Not only that, but the files in the mountainous stacks in the Patent Office, the lawyer said, have a habit of sliding—one way or the other.

"That would create a problem," he said. "You might be looking for a precedent on a new kind of match and wind up with information about the whalebone in an old-fashioned corset or a new or old gimmick for falsies, the fixers of flats."

Parents Only Pretending Teen Slang Baffles Them

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

For generations, it's been taken for granted that no normal parent could ever understand any normal child's slang.

A clever magazine article I just saw reflected that same attitude—and did the translations then and there, telling us halfwits what "dig" and "gone" and "cool" meant, as well as "jet propelled," "tank" or "something like Marilyn."

As I read it, I suddenly realized how phony such articles and such goings-on really were.

Each new generation of parents falls for the goings-on—they have to! The whole attitude is foisted on them afresh by each new era of kids—the old folks are just trying to oblige!

My own parents, I'm certain, behaved properly baffled and impressed by all the so-called smart talk my bunch used, and as for me, I'll now confess something in the privacy of this column I've just realized for the first time.

I've been putting on that dumb act too!

As my two sons hit into the teens, and began coming home with various new-sounding little phrases like "I'll clue you, mom," or "You're not with it," I found myself slipping right into the expected pattern and saying, "the way you kids talk" in a tone suggesting I'd just crossed in the steerage from Iceland, Sweden or darkest Russia and couldn't be expected to master that kind of language—much less take it in my stride.

Well, parents of America, I've got news for my own two boys—and I trust my declaration of independence may help you to make your own.

The news is: "Your slang doesn't puzzle me, pin my ears back, faze me, freeze me, or even confuse me."

And I very much doubt whether it does any other 1954 parent—at least, any parent who's ever listened to radio, watched TV, gone to movies, followed any comic strips, glanced at any cartoons—

Today's parents, remember, have all had plenty of practice contending with the vocabulary not only of teenagers but of the world of swing, jive, be-bop and heaven-help us.

To such parents, the so-called mysteries of teenage jargon just don't exist, and magazine articles that tenderly list a whole glossary of incomprehensibles really seem curiously naive and out of date.

"Crazy mixed up kid" was also listed in the one I mentioned, as were Jackie Gleason's "mmmmm-boy," Jerry Lewis' "I like it, I like it," and real old-hat rhyming stuff like "What's buzzin, cuzzin."

"George!" I murmured aloud as I read this patronizing little bit, meaning anything from "Thanks, pal," to "Drop dead, Fred."

And I truly believe that most other American parents with kids at high school or college would have much the same reaction.

We're not, of course, going to shoot off at the mouth about it to our slightly-superior progeny. If it pleases their growing egos, we nice normal parents are going right ahead looking charmingly bewildered every time the little dears open their traps in that private lingo we're not supposed to comprehend.

But maybe the next time one of my boys gives me any cool talk, I'll merely reply, "Clean your lair, square," and see what happens.

ELMIRA, N. Y. (UP)—Walter E. Callhan kept his foot on the brake for two terrible hours and saved his life.

Callahan's car went off the road near here and punged down a steep embankment. He stopped it with his foot brake—just 20 feet short of some railroad tracks.

Callhan hung on for two hours while three trains rolled by, the sheriff's office said. Finally a passing motorist saw him and got a wrecker.

Pastor Catches 2 Fish, New Rod, Reel to Boot

RANGELEY, Me. (UP) — The Rev. Francis Reh, a Catholid priest from New York City, was more than a little surprised when he reeled in his line on Mooselookmeguntic Lake.

He boated a two-pound salmon and a two-pound trout. He was even more surprised when he found that only the salmon was hooked.

His line had become entangled with another line. He pulled in the other line and found a brand new fly rod and reel, apparently, another fisherman had become panicky and dropped his equuipment when he got a strike.

Recent discoveries indicate the human blood is full of small clots which normally are absorbed. If they do not absorb, they may, of course, cause a serious physical ailment.

Bob Considine Says:

Marilyn Sheppard's Note Pictures a Happy Woman

CLEVELAND (INS)—Here's the last letter Marilyn Sheppard wrote before her death. It was postmarked July 1, and was sent to her paternal aunt, Mary Brown, to whom she often turned for counsel. Mrs. Brown was away on a vacation with her husband Guilford R., an advertising man.

"Sorry I didn't get to say goodbye to you," wrote the attractive girl who was ticketed for murder so soon after. "Guess where I am now? I'm grandpa sitting. Chip (the 7-year-old Sheppard boy) and I got here about noon. I fixed lunch.

"H.P. (H.P. Blake, her maternal grandfather who died early in the trial at the age of 80. Dr. Sam was permitted to go to the funeral home, where he wept at the sight of the old man.) Had a 4 minute egg bread with honey, an apricot and milk. Ate every bit. Chip and I had cold meat sandwiches, milk, cookies, hard-boiled egg with banana, and prunes. H.P. said he would nap (it's 2:10 now) but he's talking now so if this is rather incoherent it's because I'm chatting with him.

"I wish we could have come down (to see you off) but Sam has really been busy lately. We have had wonderful weather—quite cool. A little cool for swimming and we don't like that.

". . . We are going to the stock car rases tonight. We are taking Chip.

"I have been playing golf twice a week I really love it but Sam thinks I'm insane and should be home working.

"Hold your hats—some news. If all goes well you shall be (great) aunt and uncle again in December. I'm sure maybe you guessed, as I have put on weight. But I wanted to wait to tell people as long as it makes the time seem shorter.

"Still sounds long tho. Did you guess? Some of the family—in fact most—don't know yet. Guess I should tell H.P. today. Maybe it will perk him up. Maybe. I don't want Chip to know yet as I can just hear the questions. We'll wait a while for that.

"After 7½ years I'll really have to begin all over again. I need so much stuff, but can borrow a lot. You'll have to bone up with my baby book or we'll really need a baby sitter.

"How's this for a bombshell exploding in the middle of your vacation? I'm surprised too, to tell the truth. I just told A.P. (?) and all he said was, 'No. Ha.'

I'm in the midst of arranging a luncheon at Stouffer's Westgate next Tuesday for the auxiliary to get the new officers installed. I'll go out as president and Dorothy takes over. It'll be all hers and I'm glad to be through. (Marilyn was killed Sunday.)

"Grandpa just got his own milk and crackers. I was on the phone. I'll try to get over next week again. Write to us.

"The d—— popsickle man just came and I have ½ a popsickle as the kids dived in. Tastes cool tho.

"Have a wonderful time—you deserve it.

"All is well here.

"Love—Marilyn."

The Browns are the only relatives of Marilyn who have remained friendly with the Sheppards. Mary Brown and her husband were among the handful of visitors Dr. Sam was permitted to see last Sunday. Marilyn's stepmother and, in turn, that line of the family, stay bleakly aloof of the defendant.

They never speak to Dr. Stephen Sheppard, though Sam's brother sits within a few feet of them in court each day. The waves of hatred emanating from Marilyn's stepmother and women folks aroud here, toward Sheppards in general, could be cut with a knife.

As tfor Marilyn's last letter, the defense is expected to use it to support the assertion that Marilyn was a happy woman during the days and weeks leading up to her death. The state says her last days were filled with domestic quarrels over Sam's off-limits love life.

Japanese Seek Gold Treasure

Ancient Documents Tell of $64-Billion Supposed Buried in 16th Century

TOKYO (AP)—A fantastic treasure of 64 billion dollars in gold bars, reputedly buried in a Japanese mine by a warlord who sacked Korea in the 16th century, was cited today as Japan's best hope for prosperity without American aid—

If there is such a treasure.

The newspaper Sangyo Keizai today said recently discovered documents, certified as ancient and authentic by historians, tell of the treasure buried in a deserted silver mine near the central Japan industrial city of Osaka.

* * *

It said the Sumitomo Metal Mining Co. would hunt the gold.

Kanichiro Kamei, an obscure former legislator, is credited with finding the documents. They tell the final chapter in the saga of Toyotomi Hideyoshi, a powerful war lord who invaded Korea in 1592.

Hideyoshi, often called the "Napoleon of Japan," overan the southern half of Korea in a few months. But six years later the Ming Dynasty marched its Chinese army horde down the Korean Peninsula and Hideyoshi fled to his Osaka headquarters.

Besides the gold, he is credited with bringing back 10,000 Korean ears which were pickled and kept in a shrine for years.

Hideyoshi fell ill at Osaka and moved to safeguard the gold.

Hormel Pleads Innocent

LOS ANGELES (AP)—George Hormel II, meat-packing heir, pleaded innocent yesterday to a charge of possessing marijuana. Superior Judge Harold W. Schweitzer scheduled his trial for Jan. 4.

HOLDING OUT — Sen. Mike Mansfield (D., Mont) says he'll try to get the Senate to oppose ratification of the treaty granting West Germany her sovereignty until France and Germany give the documents their final approval. A member of the Foreign Relations Committee, Mansfield says the U. S. shouldn't jump the gun on the final settlement.

Texan Gets Took in Fast Shuffle Automobile Deal

HOUSTON, Tex (AP)—William D. Burns said he was sleepy when a neighbor telephoned an offer to purchase his automobile.

"Will you take seventeen-fifty for your new car?" he said the neighbor asked.

Burns said he agreed to such a sale, that the neighbor appeared a few minutes later and gave him a check in exchange for the title and keys to the car.

"I later looked at the check and it was made out for $17.50, not $1,750," Burns said yesterday.

Mendes Fights Alcohol Abuse

Consumption of Spirits Worries Milk-Drinking French Premier

PARIS (AP)—The average French working man thinks nothing of putting away a quart of wine at each meal. It costs him only about 70 francs (20 cents).

An active farmer can double that consumption without being considered a drunkard.

But many Frenchmen are stepping over the line. There has been considerable public comment on the increase of "alcoholism."

* * *

That's where Premier Pierre Mendes-France is steping in with a quiet campaign for moderation.

The milk-drinking Premier wants to persuade the French to use less wine, brandy and other alcoholic beverages.

Nothing so drastic as prohibition is in prospect. Anyone who proposed that in France would be laughed out of public life. But the Premier wants to crack down on bootlegging and moonshining and slap some extra taxes on wine to make it more expensive.

* * *

Moving at his usual fast pace, Mendes-France announced last night a series of new measures designed to trim the nation's alcohol consumption. Among them are rules barring the sale of spirits between 5 and 10 a.m., limiting the number of bars and home distillers and closing cafes one day a week. Liquor taxes are to be raised 20 per cent.

Some of the new regulations—disclosed following a five-hour cabinet meeting—go into effect immediately. The Premier wanted to get a start on the program before he visits the United States and Canada next week. The majority of his proposals, however, require parliamentary approval.

D.A. Livens Up Court With Tear Gas Bomb

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—A tear gas bomb in the pocket of Dist. Atty. George G. Priest exploded in District Court. Priest had carried the bomb during an investigation and accidentally touched the discharging mechanism.

Priest was the only one to get enough of the gas to have to leave the room.

Worms Work in Shifts

AF Grounds F100 Jet Planes

Clips Wings of Fighters Pending Investigation of 3 Recent Crashes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force ordered all its F100 supersonic jet fighters grounded yesterday pending thorough investigations of three recent crashes.

The F100 is the most advanced jet fighter now in U. S. Operational units. Its speed has been estimated at about 800 miles an hour. That of sound is 760 miles an hour at sea level.

First deliveries of the plane from the North American Aviation Co. began last week. The Air Force is reported planning to buy 100 of the craft, but it is not known how many have been produced.

North American had no immediate comment on the grounding order.

British Air Commodore Geoffrey D. Stevenson, commandant of the Royal Air Force's Central Fighter Establishment, was killed Monday at Eglin Air Base, Fla., when the Supersabre jet he was flying crashed.

Two other crashes involving F100s, one of them fatal, occurred Tuesday at Edwards Air Base in California and on Oct. 12 near Lancaster, Calif.

Adenauer May Quit as Foreign Minister

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer may give up one of his jobs—that of foreign minister.

Western diplomats understand Adenauer plans to appoint Heinrich von Brentano as foreign minister if the Paris agreements to free and rearm West Germany are ratified.

Brentano, 50, and a bachelor has been floor leader of the Christian Democrat party in the Bundestag (lower house of Parliament) for four years.

He was first mentioned for the Foreign Ministry after his party won a whopping election victory in September 1953, but Adenauer decided to continue to direct foreign affairs until he had attained his main foreign policy goals.

Cigarette Smuggling Uncovered by State

LANSING (AP) — The State Revenue Department reported today that an interstate automobile hauler was arrested on a charge of augmenting his truck driver's wages by smuggling tax-free cigarettes into Michigan.

Clarence W. Lock, deputy commissioner, said John Linzy of Tulsa, Okla., had been arrested on the highway near Ypsilanti by officers acing on a tip.

Lock said Linzy had been charged with a misdemeanor instead of a felony because of the small amount of cigarettes found in his possession—24 cartons.

Linzy, Lock said, hauled cars across the state lines and was reported to have smuggled cigarettes from Missouri to Michigan as a sideline.

Airport Turns Down Kissing Room Plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Philadelphia's aviation director, Louis R. Inwood, proposed that a "kissing room" be included in the budget for International Airport after hearing reports from Mexico that such a facility had been a success.

In budget hearings yesterday, Councilman Victor H. Blanc said a room set aside for couples who "expect to need privacy" for their farewells was a fine thing, but—can the budget take it?

After Inwood admitted he couldn't see any hope of obtaining revenue from the room, the idea was turned down.

Woman Named in Bond Swindle

Detroit Mother Pleads Innocent to Embezzling From Radiator Firm

DETROIT (AP)—A 41-year-old Detroit mother was accused in Detroit Recorder's Court yesterday of embezzling $36,971 in United States savings bonds from a radiator firm where she has been an assistant cashier for 12 years.

Mrs. Fira H. Kotz pleaded innocent before Judge Joseph A. Gillis to charges of embezzlement, grand larceny and larceny by conversion from the McCord Corp.

Four other persons, who police intimated were McCord employes, were implicated in the swindle.

Mrs. Kotz was arrested when an audit of her books disclosed the shortage. Detective Lt. Hobart Harris said company auditors found 426 bonds issued in her name in the last four years although she was not a member of the bond payroll deduction plan at the firm.

Mrs. Kotz is accused of making out bonds in her own name and keeping them only long enough to cash them.

No Revolt in Russia, Says AP Newsman

DETROIT (AP)—Thomas P. Whitney, a former Associated Press correspondent in Moscow, foresees little chance of an internal revolution that would throw off Communist rule in Soviet Russia.

But Whitney told a Town Hall audience in Detroit yesterday that widespread discontent among the Russian people has slowed down Communist plans for world domination.

"Anyone who believes the government of the Russian police state can be overthrown in peacetime is indulging in wishful thinking," Whitney said. "But apparent weaknesses in the Kremlin creates certain hopes that the West can win out in the end."

Whitney was AP correspondent in the Russian capital for six years before his return to the United States recently.

Since Stalin's death, Whitney said, the hidden discontent of the Russian people has been permitted expression to a degree never dreamed of previously.

Weather Bureau to Use Radar in Storm Plotting

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S. Weather Bureau next summer will try tracing the course of typhoons and hurricanes by radar.

The plan, to be tried out at Bermuda, involves the releasing of balloons with an attached reflector device into the eye or center of a hurricane or typhoon.

R. H. Simpson, special assistant to the chief of the U.S. Weather Bureau, told an international symposium on air storms here that the main problem will be to keep the balloons in the calm, central area of the storm.

Chicago Judge Favors Crackdown on Trucks

CHICAGO (INS)—Chicago Judge John T. Zuris, after fining a truck driver for hauling a 40,000-pound load over a 34,900-pound legal limit road, told the arresting officers:

"Go out and get more of those guys . . . no wonder the windows in your house shake at night when a truck like this rolls by."

Detroiters Held in Burglary Case

Pair Waives Hearing After Arrest in Orchard Lake Yesterday

Two Detroiters, arrested early yesterday by alert Orchard Lake Police, waived examination of breaking and entering charges when arraigned before W. Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle.

The pair, Harry Grendysa, 25, of 2928 Military, and Montie Mulkie, 20, of 1516 Pallister, were arrested after Sgt. Herbert Morgan and Patrolman Edwin Heiron stopped them on a speeding charge.

The officers became suspicious of the pair when they noticed a quantity of cigarettes and other goods piled on the car's back seat. A radio check dislosed that the car had been stolen from Detroit earlier.

Grendysa and Mulkie were turned over to Oakland County Sheriff's Detectives Elmer McQuern and Leo Hazen who took them to court yesterday on charges of breaking into Riley's Standard Service Station at 750 Pontiac Trail and the Walled Lake Gulf Service, both in Walled Lake.

Both men have previous criminal records, Hazen said. They are being held in Oakland County Jail for arraignment in Circuit Court Nov. 15. They were unable to furnish a $1,500 bond each.

Girl's Breathing Stops for Third, and Last, Time

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — Fourteen-year-old Mary Ann Sauer, who collapsed twice and was revived both times—once after she stopped breathing for six hours—is dead.

She died at St. Joseph Hospital yesterday some 30 hours after she collapsed near her Mount Clemens home while attempting to board a school bus.

Doctor's said they believed she died of a cerebral hemorrhage.

Four St. Joseph staff members kept Mary Ann alive for six hours by pumping oxygen manually into the girl's lungs using a anesthesia machine during one crisis. Finally she began breathing again.

Then, at 10 p.m. Tuesday, she stopped breathing again. This time Dr. Henry C. Wellard of New Baltimore quickly injected adrenalin into her heart. Her heart started again, and again she began to breathe.

An iron lung, which arrived between the first and second lung failures, was to be used, but before it could be put to use, Dr. Philip T. Mulligan, the mayor of Mount Clemens, had to perform an emergency tracheotomy so Mary Ann could breathe inside the machine.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Champine of Chesterfield Township.

Chiefs Hope to Break Long Losing Streak Friday

BALL CARRYING CORPS—These 3 senior backfield men will carry the load in the running phase of the Waterford offense Friday afternoon as the Skippers close their season against Owosso. From the left are All-Inter-Lakes Conference fullback Dave Larkin, and Halfbacks Laine Hetherington and Jim Holtom.

Pontiac Hasn't Lost 7-in-Row in 21 Seasons

Saginaw Squad Comes Here for Final Game of Season

By BILL MARTIN

Pontiac High's football team will go all out to avert a 7th consecutive defeat Friday night, when Saginaw High comes here to wind up the Chiefs' disastrous 1954 season.

While the game shapes up strictly as a battle of Saginaw Valley Conference "have-nots," it is an important tilt prestige-wise for the Chiefs.

Another loss Friday night would mark the 1st time since 1933 that a PHS team has lost seven games in a row. Pontiac's 1938 team, the last squad to fail to win a Valley game, also lost seven times but tied one game in mid-season to interrupt the streak.

Injuries to two senior regulars have forced coach Ed Graybiel to alter his usual starting lineup. Both end Willie Wilson and halfback Walter Poe are expected to be sidelined by pulled muscles.

Another switch will give Art Poe, Walt's sophomore brother, his 1st starting job at quarterback. The 155-pound 10th-grader turned in a fine performance against Northern to earn the assignment.

Remainder of the PHS lineup will remain unchanged.

Saginaw Coach Herb Korf also has been having his troubles with injuries. Fullback Archie Jackson, the Trojans' top runner, is a doubtful starter and will probably be replaced by either Marty McLean or Alors Nichols. McLean has been used as a kickoff and punt return specialist, while Nichols has been primarily a defensive man.

Careers Parallel
Former Coaches Crisler, Munn Watch Proteges

EAST LANING, Mich. (AP) — A pair of former coaching greats turned athletic director will watch their proteges match football teams in the Michigan-Michigan State football battle Saturday.

* * *

MSC's Biggie Munn will be making his first return as athletic director to Ann Arbor, where he served a long coaching apprenticeship as an assistant to Fritz Crisler, Michigan athletic director and former head coach.

The careers of the two men have striking parallels.

Crisler's Michigan team was unbeaten in 1947 and went on to the Rose Bowl.

After reaching that peak of success, Crisler moved into the job of athletic director and Bennie Oosterbaan, his assistant since 1928, took over as head coach.

That 1947 year also was Munn's debut as head coach at Michigan State. Crisler started Munn off with a 55-0 defeat—a memory that still smarts.

Munn went on to get a good measure of revenge, having defeated Michigan four times in a row. Last year, after winning the Rose-Bowl trip game, Munn stepped up to athletic director and his long-time assistant, Duffy Daugherty, went in as head coach.

So the battle of the proteges is on and the two athletic directors will have more than a routine interest Saturday as they watch the game from the press box.

A Michigan State victory could ruin Michigan's Rose-Bowl chances this season. And it would restore a lot of prestige to the Spartans after their sagging start of five losses against only two victories.

Spartans' Cage Boss Promises Action for Fans

Anderson Is Cautious About Predicting How Club Will Fare

EAST LANSING (AP) — Forddy Anderson, Michigan State's new basketball coach, is cautious about predicting just how he'll do in his first year in the Big Ten.

But he promises the fans a lot of action for their money.

Anderson favors the fast break and a high-scoring offense. He's had his 19-man squad working out since Nov. 1 and says they are doing well at working into his new system.

Anderson came to Michigan State to succeed Pete Newell after a successful tenure as head coach at Bradley University. He has seven lettermen returning.

"We have much the same material this season," Anderson said. "Of course, they have a year more of experience.

"I know I've got a tough assignment," he said, "because the Big Ten is a rough league right from top to bottom. But Michigan State finished 8th last season so if I can even hitch them up a few notches, it'll be an improvement."

Anderson is pretty well set at forward. Julius McCoy, 6-2 junior, is a sure starter. McCoy set a new Michigan State scoring record last season with 409 points.

Al Ferrari, 6-2½ senior from New York will be teamed with McCoy. Ferrari put in 316 points last season.

Starters at guard are less certain. Leading candidates include Walt Godfrey, 6-1 junior from Detroit; Don Corbitt, 5-11 senior from Fort Wayne, Ind., and Bob Devenny, 5-11 senior from Philadelphia.

MSC opens its 22-game season Dec. 1 against Marquette.

Skippers, KH, Holly, LO in Finales

By JACK SAYLOR

Waterford High School is seeking its 1st victory over Owosso Friday afternoon in the feature game of the final prep football weekend for Oakland County schools.

The Skippers suffered 25-0 defeats in 1951 and '53 at Owosso, but held the Trojans to a 14-7 decision on the Waterford field in '52. Dave Freeman's club is hoping the home atmosphere will help this time.

Owosso has won 6 out of 8 games with its split-T offense featuring the running of halfbacks Dick Smith and Dick Bearup and hard - hitting Larry Friess, a 195-pound fullback.

Quarterback Jim Haskins does what passing the Trojans do, with end Duane Hanchett the top receiver. Owosso has beaten Lansing Eastern, Wayne, Midland, Bay City Handy, Alpena and Mt. Clemens, while losing to Saginaw Valley toughies Arthur Hill (33-7) and Flint Central (34-7).

The junior-studded Skippers will be at full strength with the return of junior Al Nestor, outstanding defensive lineman. Sophomore back Lyndie Salathiel suffered a broken nose against Berkley, but will be ready for action.

Regular seniors seeing their final prep action include tackles Chuck Schack and Dick Cloutier, guards Ran Beedle and Chuck Koches, linebacker Roger Asbury and backs Laine Hetherington, Jim Holtom and Dave Larkin.

Skippers go into the contest with a 3-4 record. Game-time has been moved ahead to 3 p.m. for Owosso broadcasting purposes.

Top games on the night-game schedule Friday send Northville to Keego Harbor and Holly to Lake Orion. Each of these county elevens has found tough going this fall.

Keego lost by 1-touchdown to Waterford and by 2 to Walled Lake before beating Clarkston, the eventual Wayne-Oakland champ, and Holly. After tying with Brighton, the Presidents lost to Milford and Clarenceville.

Holly reeled off 3 straight wins at the season's outset, but has won only 1 game (over Northville) since. Orion nipped Clarkston by a point, then lost single touchdown decisions to unbeaten Avondale and Lapeer.

After beating Romeo, the Dragons bowed on a safety to unbeaten Oxford and lost to then undefeated Fitzgerald. A win over Troy last week brought Orion to a 3-4 record.

Two of the county's top backs, Jerry Hunter of Holly and Orion's Ed Leach, will be matched in this one. Birmingham goes to Berkley and Utica to Romeo, while Hazel Park and Port Huron should settle the Eastern Michigan title in other Friday games.

TONIGHT

Avondale at St. Fred's (Wisner Stadium), Madison at Clawson.

FRIDAY

Saginaw at Pontiac, Owosso at Waterford, Birmingham at Berkley, Northville at Keego Harbor, Holly at Lake Orion, Utica at Romeo, Roseville at Eastland, Cranbrook at Fitzgerald, Royal Oak at Highland Park, Ferndale at East Detroit, Hazel Park at Port Huron.

SATURDAY

Oxford at St. Mikes (Wisner Stadium), Mt. Carmel at Lakeview.

SUNDAY

Toronto Brings Win Streak to Detroit Tonight

Leafs Can Narrow to Single Point Wings' 2nd-Place Edge

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It took the Toronto Maple Leafs seven games to smooth the kinks from their game, but they're riding free and easy now on a five-game unbeaten string that has them in 3rd place in the National Hockey League.

Just how free and easy they're going should show up tonight when they go to Detroit to play the 2nd place Red Wings. A victory would boost the Leafs to within one point of Detroit.

The Leafs, who trailed the 3rd place New York Rangers by five points after winning only one and tying three of their opening seven games, not only have overhauled the New Yorkers, they've passed them.

A show down with the Rangers Wednesday night gave the Leafs a 2-1 victory and a three-point edge over the New York squad.

It was a dull game for 30 minutes. Then a 30-footer by George Armstrong late in the 2nd period got the Leafs going, and after rookie Larry Popein tied it 1-1 early in the third, Rudy Migay slammed in a 10 - footer that clinched it.

It was the first home defeat for the Rangers this season and their 4th straight game without a victory.

A 10-foot scoring shot also settled the only other game scheduled last night. Center Fleming Mackell whipped it in for his second goal of the game and a 4 - 3 Boston Bruins victory over the Black-Hawks. That lifted Boston out of the cellar and dropped the Hawks into the vacancy.

Marines to Rescue

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. (AP) — When the University of North Carolina grid squad started training, Coach George Barclay found that only three of the Tar Heel lettermen tackles were reporting. He got good news at the last moment when Jack Maultsby, 220 pound tackle, returned from the U. S. Marines where he has been training and playing tackle for the last two seasons.

'Horse,' Dawson Are Statistical Big 10 Leaders

Ameche Is Top Rusher With 418 Yards, Purdue Ace Best Passer

CHICAGO (AP) —Fullback Alan (The Horse) Ameche of Wisconsin, has barged into the Big Ten rushing lead and Purdue's sophomore quarterback, Len Dawson, is the No. 1 man in passing and total offense.

Official conference statistics today credit Ameche with a net of 418 yards in five league games.

Taking over 2nd place in rushing is Iowa's Eddie Vincent, whose 96-yard run from scrimmage against Purdue last week was good for a new modern Big Ten record.

Vincent hiked his yardage to 412 in six games. Bobby Watkins of Ohio State dropped to 3rd place with 367 in five games.

Best average per carry belongs to fullback John Baumgartner of Minnesota. He has averaged 7.1 yards in 27 trips. Iowa's Earl Smith is 2nd in this category with 6.5 in 32. Smith leads in conference scoring with 42 points and in punt returns with an average of 18.9 yards.

Dawson continues his wide lead in passing, boosting his record in four conference games to 39 completions in 73 attempts for a .534 average. His aerials have gained 752 yards and, including six touchdowns.

Dawson has a minus 95 yards rushing, which deducted from his passing total, gives him 657 on total offense. He has picked up this yardage in 94 plays for a 6.9 average.

Rams Entertain Avon Tonight

Game Starts Biggest and Final City Grid Weekend

St. Frederick and Avondale tangle tonight in Wisner Memorial Stadium to start the final, and biggest, city high school football weekend of the season.

Pontiac High takes over the field tomorrow night to take on Saginaw High in the Chiefs' finale, and St. Michael plays host there Saturday night against Oxford. All three games are set for 8 p.m.

St. Fred's Rams, faced with the gloomy prospects of their 3rd winless season in four years, will be rated definite underdogs against the thrice-tied but unbeaten Avondale club.

One-hundred 25 caddies and 45 club members attended the affair.

Among the speakers were Bud Miller of the Western Golf Association and ex-caddie George Hess, who is now attending the University of Michigan on a Standish Scholarship.

U.S. Supreme Court Weighs Challenge of Boxing Club

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The future of boxing's "exclusive contract" rested today with the Supreme Court, weighing a government challenge of the International Boxing Club.

The government urged the court to declare the fight game to be a business engaged in interstate commerce. Such a ruling would threaten the tight control the IBC has exercised over championship fights for the past five years.

There was no way to determine when the court might rule on the Justice Department's appeal from a ruling by the U. S. District Court for Southern New York.

That court denied the government's monopoly charge. It held that boxing is analogous to baseball and the Supreme Court already has ruled baseball to be exempt from the nation's antitrust laws.

In legal arguments before the high court Wednesday, the IBC attorneys centered on the baseball precedent, claiming that when baseball was exempted from the antitrust laws, so were boxing and all other professional sports.

Philip Elman, special assistant to the attorney general, said in arguing the government's case that the boxing setup is in no way comparable to that in baseball.

Elman based much of his argument on the widespread use of television in boxing events. He said promoters get most of their fight income from TV rights and that as far as they were concerned, "fights might just as well be put on in TV studios."

105 'Horses' to Carry Paul Bunyan Trophy

EAST LANSING (UP) — One-hundred and five horses will tow Paul Bunyan to Ann Arbor Saturday.

A huge trophy of the legendary woodsman—donated by Gov. G. Mennen Williams as a roving symbol of victory between Michigan and Michigan State football teams—will be the sole cargo for two men and a 105 horsepower truck traveling from the MSC campus to Saturday's game.

Detroiter Is Fined, Suspended by MRC

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A Detroit horse owner was suspended for the remainder of the Churchill Downs meet by the state racing commission stewards yesterday.

T. A. Grissom also was fined $250 for an assault on jocket agent Gilbert Hardy at the Downs last Saturday. Three of Grissom's horses in Wednesday's lineup were scratched as a result of the decision.

Football Briefs From Midwest

CHICAGO (AP) — Midwest football briefs:

Ohio State — The injury layoff of break-away runner Howard "Hopalong" Cassady last week may have helped him for Saturday's big game with Purdue, coach Woody Hayes says . . . after a strenuous practice Hayes said Cassady "looked sharper" than his other backs.

Minnesota — Gophers appear to be warming up Bob McNamara for another dual backfield role as fullback and right half.

Illinois — Quarterbacks Em Lindbeck and Hiles Stout were kept busy as coach Ray Eliot tried various pass patterns to use against Wisconsin . . . injured J. C. Caroline is listed as a part-time performer at best.

Wisconsin — Fullback Alan Ameche again missed practice . . . his injured right leg is being treated and coach Ivy Williamson said it still was "problematical" whether he could be ready for the Illini.

History on Saturdays

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians made 1954 baseball history on successive Saturdays.

On Saturday, Sept. 18 they clinched the American League flag. Saturday, Sept. 25, they defeated the Detroit Tigers for their 111th victory of the season—an American League mark. On Saturday, Sept. 2 The Tribe dropped its 4th consecutive game to the New York Giants in the World Series.

CASE—The Upright Stance.

This applies to both men and women, but, I find, is especially advantageous for women. Use an upright stance. The ball is

This makes it easy to push the ball forward in "push-away" action to put it into consistently well-timed swing. This is done in unison with the first step, taken with the right foot in 4-step stride.

Thus the ball drops down into a smooth swing, close to the body, the arm swinging totally relaxed, like a pendulum, so you feel the weight of the ball at all times. That's the secret to grooving the swing. That's what makes the swing of the expert look so simple, so easy. The push-away avoids rushing, too. Take it easy, always.

Godwin Ordway, West Point lineman, comes from a family of soldiers. His great grandfather was a general. His grandfather and father were colonels.

Andrews Gets Close Decision

Win Over Varona at Key to Rematch Next Month in Detroit

CHICAGO (AP)—The close decision of middleweight Al Andrews, a 7-5 underdog, over Chico Varona in Chicago Stadium Wednesday night has opened the way for a rematch probably Dec. 22 in Detroit.

The International Boxing Club is working on the projected date and this time the national television audience will be let in on the fun.

Andrews, a rugged mauler of Superior, Wis., who six weeks ago knocked out Gil Turner, finished strongly to gain the edge over his clever, hard-hitting Cuban foe in a free-swinging scrap.

Andrews outweighed Varona 156½ to 152. Varona, who has scored 40 knockouts in 84 bouts, weighed 149 when he trounced Johnny Bratton in New York three weeks ago.

Referee Frank Gilmer scored it 97-94 for Andrews and Judge Ed Hintz favored him 95-92. Judge Lou Capparelli called it a 95-95 draw.

Failure to Kick Placements Has Hurt Utah '11'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—"I think," said Utah Football Coach Jack Curtice, "everybody's going to start wearing square toed shoes."

* * *

But, Curtice quickly added, 100 per cent conversion of the point after touchdown attempts in his team's games this season would have meant four tie games.

"And that," said Pappy Jack, "might be more unsatisfactory than the way they turned out."

Utah, in a season that follows three consecutive Skyline Conference championships for Curtice, has won only three games and has lost five. One victory and three losses were by margins of one point.

Would Curtice favor eliminating the try for the extra point?

"No," he replied. "I see nothing wrong with it. We just happened to have one of those years in which the ball went against us."

Always Baseball Time for Milwaukee's Fans

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The 1954 major league season is over, but you'd never know it in this baseball-mad city. Tickets for the 1955 home games of the Milwaukee Braves are going at a brisk pace.

Even upper reserved grandstand seats are being sold. These are selling for $75 per seat, the lowest priced season ticket in any major city, according to Braves' officials.

O'Doul Leaves to Start Tour With Tokyo Team

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) —Lefty O'Doul, who signed on as manager of the Oakland Oaks last week, was bound for Australia today where he will take the Tokyo Giants on a barnstorming tour in an effort to create greater interest in baseball among Australia's high high schools and colleges.

O'Doul, who piloted the San Diego Padres to the Pacific Coast League championship last season resigned 10 days ago to take the post at Oakland.

From Guard to Pilot

NOTRE DAME, Ind. (AP)—Jack Lee, Notre Dame lineman, hopes to be a pilot in the Air Force. The senior from Medford, Mass., has been a member of the Air Force ROTC since his freshman year. Lee, first string guard, will be one of the few athletes at the school to earn four football monograms. He won his letter as a freshman, too.

Millions Saw 'M'

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Almost eight million people have watched the University of Michigan's home football games since 1927, the year the Wolverines' vast stadium was built. During this time spectators attended 163 home games and averaged 46,000 per game. The stadium seats 97,000.

Frank Merriwell Story

Unheralded 19-Year-Old Leaves Stands to Quarterback Western Illinois 11 to Tie

MACOMB, Ill. (AP) — The gentle hand of destiny which plucked freshman Jerry Thinnes out of the grandstand and guided him to a story-book Frank Merriwell football role, is still at work.

Jerry was sitting in the stands munching a hot dog Saturday watching Western and Eastern Illinois battle it out on the football field.

Suddenly there was a pileup of players and Western quarterback Bill Vandermerkt came off the field, limping.

Coach Wes Stevens called on second-string quarterback Ozzie Hysen. But Ozzie informed the coach he had aggravated an old hip injury during a pre-game drill.

The third-string quarterback, Jerry Thomas, had a weak ankle, but was sent in anyway.

Stevens got an idea. He sent Assistant Coach Bob Clow into the stands in search of Jerry. Clow found the former Waller (Chicago) with his friends and eating hot dogs.

Jerry was hustled into the dressing room and then onto the field.

Jerry didn't know a single play. While all this was going on, Western had lost its 6-0 lead and Eastern had tied the score.

Stevens quickly mapped out three plays for Jerry, wished him luck, and sent him in to replace Thomas.

The first three plays he called were passes. He completed all three for 60 yards and a touchdown and Western took a 13-6 lead. Despite further heroics by Jerry, Eastern scored another touchdown and the game ended in a tie.

It's Time Out!

"Well, I hope you know you just spoiled a perfectly good system the first time we used it!"

Favored Sooners' Coach Wary of Missouri Team

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Coach Bud Wilkinson, whose Oklahoma football teams have gone 44 straight Big-Seven conference games without a setback, is a prophet of gloom this week.

* * *

The Sooners, undefeated so far this season, are rated three-touchdown favorites over Missouri Saturday, but you wouldn't think so by listening to Wilkinson.

"We can't beat Missouri unless we control the ball," he viewed with alarm following the Iowa State game in which the Sooners managed to squeeze out a 40-0 victory despite controlling the ball only 70 times compared to 73 for the Cyclones.

"Nebraska beat Missouri and Colorado tied the Tigers only because Missouri made mistakes," he went on. "Nobody has stopped Missouri yet. Unless we can do something to get the ball more than we did against Iowa State we can't beat Missouri."

* * *

There's also gloom in the university athletic business office.

For the first time in many seasons, interest in Oklahoma's conference title drive is lagging. The Sooners have dominated the conference for six years now and there's no post-season bowl bid to enliven enthusiasm.

* * *

Under a new Big-Seven rule the conference champion cannot go to the Orange Bowl two seasons in succession.

Pro Titles May Hinge on Lion-Brown Tilt

By UNITED PRESS

The National Football League's division races might not be decided this year until the Detroit Lions and Cleveland Browns renew their bitter rivalry in the campaign's final regular season game Dec. 19.

That's the contest that was postponed from Oct. 3 because baseball officials were afraid it would conflict with a World Series game in Cleveland.

And it figures to be mighty cold in Cleveland's big lake front stadium when the Browns and Lions get around to their game. The rest of the 12 clubs will finish their regular schedules Dec. 12 and currently have played seven games apiece while Detroit and Cleveland each have played six.

The Lions lead the Western Division by one game while the Browns are just a half-game behind the pace-setting Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants in the Eastern Division.

If the Lions beat the second-place San Francisco Fort-Niners Sunday, they may go two games ahead—if Cleveland beats the third place Bears in an inter-division tussle at Chicago.

But after Sunday's Briggs Stadium game, Detroit still has several tough contests, including meeting with the Eagles and Bears right before playing Cleveland.

The close eastern race could very well be decided by the Browns-Lions game because Cleveland has allowed its last three opponents an average of slightly more than six points and appears set to make a strong bid to win the division for the 5th straight year.

But if the Eastern championship hinges on the outcome of the Detroit-Cleveland game, the Brownies will have a tough jinx to crack. They never have beaten the Lions in exhibition regular season or championship play, losing the NFL title to Detroit in 1952 and 1953.

The Browns never have lost to a Chicago team but the Bears may be favored for their Wrigley Field clash Sunday.

The Bears, looking more like the team that once dominated the circuit, have beaten the Forty-Niners and Green Bay Packers in their last two games.

Long Shot Wins Race at Pimlico

Fans Collect $420.60 for 2-Dollar Ticket on Ruff Mate

BALTIMORE, Md. (UP) — Racing's longest long shot of the year paid $420.60 for a two-dollar win ticket in winning Wednesday's 9th race at Pimlico.

A total of 191 fans wagered on Ruff Mate, a three-year-old gelding owned by the Shenandoah Stable, overlooking the fact that he had won only two of 28 previous races. Five of the bettors wagered $10 on him, the other 186 bet $2.

Ruff Mate, a son of the little known sire Thellusson, ran next to last in the field of 12 through the first half of the mile-and-a-sixteenth race and then under urging by jockey Norman Cox, moved steadily up to finish first by 3½ lengths over Black Boy in 1:45 1-5.

Across the board—win, place, and show — Ruff Mate paid $420.60, $138.60, and $45.00.

ALL-ROUND KID—Bjorn Thofelt is the youngest winner in the history of the world modern pentathlon. The 19-year-old Swede prevailed in Budapest. He is the son of Col. Sven Thofelt, who took the event at the Olympic Games in Amsterdam in 1928.

The longest punt ever recorded by a University of North Carolina football player came in 1937 when Tom Burnette boomed a kick 85 yards against New York University.

Surprising Georgia Team Nearing Sugar Bowl Spot

ATHENS, Ga. (UP) — Amazing Georgia, Cinderella team of the powerful Southeastern Conference, had everybody convinced today except the skeptical wise-money boys and Auburn's cocky iron men.

The betting crowd, which has been about as successful in figuring Georgia as the Bulldogs' opponents have been, decrees that Auburn is a seven-point favorite for Saturday's game at Columbus, Ga. This despite Georgia's six victories, a 6-point loss to Texas A&M and a scoreless tie with Alabama.

Until Auburn abandoned two-unit football last week and ousted Miami from the nation's top 10 teams, the Tigers had managed victories over Chattanooga, Florida State and Tulane while losing to Florida, Kentucky and Georgia Tech.

Georgia, picked to finish 10th in the 12-member SEC in a pre-season poll, can win the championship and a probable trip to the New Orleans Sugar Bowl by defeating Auburn and Georgia Tech. Should the Bulldogs lose to either, once-beaten Mississippi can grab the title by beating Mississippi State.

Michigan State assistant football coach Bill Yeoman won football and basketball letters at Texas A. & M. and West Point.

Orioles and Nats to Settle TV Knot

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore Orioles President Clarence W. Miles has assured the Washington Senators he will get together with them to "iron out TV differences."

Baltimore and Washington, only 40 miles apart, will be playing in the same Eastern Division of the American League and have the same Baltimore beer sponsor for their telecasts. Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, has expressed concern over a conflict next season as a result.

Miles said Wednesday he thinks matters can be "worked out satisfactorily" and is actually more concerned over stimulating rivalry on the field to creating spectator interest.

Blaik to Miss His Team's Game for First Time

WEST POINT, N. Y. (UP)—For the first time since he became a head coach, coach Earl (Red) Blaik of Army will miss one of his team's games this Saturday when Army clashes with Pennsylvania at Franklin Field, Philadelphia.

Blaik is hospitalized with pneumonia and Col. Douglas Kendrick, post surgeon at the U. S. Military Academy, said he would probably be in the hospital for another week.

However, Blaik is expected to return to action in time to tutor the team for the season-ending Navy game.

DeMarco and Carter Drill Under Same Roof

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—World lightweight champion Paddy DeMarco and challenger Jimmy Carter ran through separate workouts under the same roof yesterday in preparation for their championship fight here next Wednesday. Each boxer worked three rounds with sparmates.

Bill Bowman, rookie fullback for the Detroit Lions, returned a kickoff 100 yards for a touchdown in his first league game this season against the Chicago Bears.

Hawks Defeated for 5th Time

Milwaukee '5' Appears Doomed to 2nd Straight Cellar Finish

By The Associated Press

The Milwaukee Hawks, who finished in the cellar last year, seemed headed for a repeat performance this season as they are the only team in the National Basketball Assn. that hasn't won a game.

Coach Red Holzman's Hawks' made a few trades during the off season to strengthen the team, but dropped their fifth straight Wednesday night to the Rochester Royals 90-86.

Rookie Bob Pettit, former Louisiana State All-America, scored 25 points in a losing cause and has been a bright spot in the Hawk's cloudy horizon this season.

Milwaukee's rookie - studded team closed to within two points with four minutes remaining, but successive baskets by Arnie Risen and Jack Coleman opened the gap. Jack McMahon, former St. Johns of Brooklyn star, led the Royals with 17 points.

State Police to Increase Force Over Weekend

Usual Long Lines at Straits Are Expected by Highway Chief

LANSING (AP)—Some 350,000 deer hunters are expected to start jamming Michigan highways Friday as they head northward for the opening of the deer season Monday.

By far the greatest number of hunters will travel to the northern part of the lower peninsula and the upper peninsula, where deer are most plentiful.

State police plan to add 48 men to their force in those regions to take care of the tide of traffic. A detail of 14 men will be on hand at Mackinaw City to handle traffic piling up for the trip across the straits.

State highway commissioner Charles M. Ziegler said he expects the usual long lines at the straits if hunters start pouring into the city Friday and Saturday.

Conservation department officials estimate this year's kill will be just about equal to last year's, when hunters bagged about 70,000 deer.

Last year, shooters downed 41,000 deer in the northern region of the lower peninsula, 27,000 in the upper peninsula, and 1,500 in the southern part of the lower peninsula.

Conservation officials look for fewer hunters to be out on opening day than took to the woods last year, since opening day during the last season fell on a Sunday and many of them went out for that day alone.

Monday is the opening of the regular season, when hunters are allowed to shoot only bucks with antlers at least three inches long. Regular season extends through Nov. 30.

A 1-day special season will be held in parts of the state on Dec. 1. On that day, hunters will be allowed to shoot bucks, does or fawns.

Missouri Valley Should Be Hottest Cage League

The hottest basketball conference in the country should be in the Missouri Valley Conference this year, with all of the members looking forward to topflight cage teams.

Wichita and St. Lous have been touted as teams to beat the league; Detroit and Tulsa will be tough and Oklahoma A&M is a perennial power that can't be counted out. Houston, with a 7-foot center could surprise everyone.

At the University of Detroit where the starting five of last year returns intact, the Titans are looking forward to their best season since 1949 when the school's cage team posted a record of 20-6.

All-America candidate Guy Sparrow of Pontiac at 6-5 and sophomore Bill Ebben, 6-3, should give the Titans the best scoring punch in many years at the forward posts, and the guard combination of Dan Halling and Ralph Goldstein could develop into the top outer court pair in the league.

Colt Coach in 'Building' Club

Ewbank Undiscouraged by Baltimore Record This Season

BALTIMORE (AP)—It didn't take Weeb Ewbank long to join the football coaches' "Building for Next Year" club. He's made it in his first year with the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League.

* * *

"You take a look at our offensive line," he urged. "What do you see? You see exactly one man who has played that position before in the National Football League. Only Dan Edwards, our veteran right end, is experienced at his position.

* * *

"However, we figure we are ahead of the game because with these young kids in there learning this year we'll be in pretty good shape next season."

Ewbank came to Baltimore for his first head coaching job after assisting Paul Brown with the highly successful Cleveland Browns.

Major Ball Likely to Hit Coast in 3 Years

CHICAGO (AP) — The start of a race by the National and American Leagues to establish clubs on the West Coast is approaching and General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox predicts the move will come within three years.

* * *

Lane, chairman of the Major Leagues Realignment Committee, foresees San Francisco and Los Angeles as getting major-league baseball as part of a 10-club league set-up.

"It may come within three years," he said. "The time is rapidly approaching when one league or the other must move into the fertile area on the Pacific Coast."

Bill Veeck, former club owner who has been commissioned by P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, to investigate the possibility of establishing big-league baseball on the coast, feels the National League should assert itself.

* * *

Veeck, who has an option to purchase Wrigley's Los Angeles ball park, yesterday conferred in Brooklyn with Walter O'Malley, Dodger president. They both agreed the national circuit "had better get busy or lose the initiative to the American League."

They met briefly and spoke of the westward trend in general terms. A Dodger spokesman said "they did not speak about moving any certain club to California."

* * *

Lane pointed out that "it's a question now whether the National or American League will be first to grab the territory—but whichever one it is will be top dog."

* * *

"San Francisco already has approved a five million dollar bond issue to build a stadium," Lane continued. "The Los Angeles Park District has earmarked 10 million dollars for the same purpose."

Lane envisions the major-league player limit being cut from 25 to 21 which would make 64 players available for use in organizing big-league clubs on the coast.

"It would mean relaxing the present rules which govern the recall of optioned players," Lane said, "and also the rule requiring an injured player to remain on the disabled list for a minimum of 30 days. But all these things could be arranged without too much trouble."

Eskimos Near WIFU's Crown

Edmonton Faces Jinx Against Blue Bombers Tonight

WINNIPEG (AP)—All the Edmonton Eskimos have to do to wrap up the Western Interprovincial Football Union title is defeat the Winnipeg Blue Bombers and a 4-year-old jinx tonight.

* * *

The Eskimos won the first game of the three-game series 9-3 at home Saturday night. For the past four years that has spelled disaster in the playoffs—each team that won the opening game lost the series.

If the Esks, coached by Frank (Pop) Ivy, formerly with the Oklahoma staff, win, they'll advance into the Grey Cup playoff for the Canadian pro football championship Nov. 20 against the winner of the Big Four series. A Winnipeg victory Thursday night would call for a deciding WIFU contest at Edmonton Saturday to determine the Grey Cup finalist.

Tagged Fingerling Fish Will Be Released Soon

LANSING (AP)—About 1,100 tagged fingerling hatchery trout will soon be released in a mile-long stretch of Baldwin Creek as part of a conservation department research project now under way in that stream.

The department said anglers will be asked to report their catches next season, so that researchers can determine the ratio of winter survival between wild and hatchery fingerlings.

Professional Scouts Eye Small College Star End

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Bill McKenna of Brandeis may not be the best known college football end in the country, but the pros want this boy—badly.

* * *

Coached by former All-America Bennie Friedman, McKenna has built a reputation in these parts as the equal of any wingman.

The versatile, consistent team captain has little chance of national recognition playing small college ball. However, the professional scouts know all about the 21-year-old senior.

"What a pair of hands, what savvy. McKenna can't miss as a pro," says Jack Kelleher who is an Eastern representative of the Los Angeles Rams. Said an official of the world champion Detroit Lions: "We'd like to have him on our club."

* * *

Among the nation's small college leaders in pass receiving, Bill started out as a defensive specialist in the days of two platoons. He accidentally got a chance to show how he could catch a ball early in his sophomore season and he's been playing two ways ever since.

Before that sophomore year was over he'd set a school mark with 37 pass receptions. In six games so far this year, McKenna has caught 33 for 402 yards and 4 touchdowns.

Friedman, the Michigan great who pitched to All-America Bennie Oosterbaan, is unstinting in his praise of McKenna's team value:

"Bill is so outstanding both on offense and defense that he makes the tackle who plays beside him and the boy who backs up the line into great players. You have to call them good, but Billy does most of the work for them."

Field Trials to Start Today at NFA Meeting

DUBLIN, Ga. (AP)—All-age field trials, with 250 dogs entered, began today at the National Foxhunters Assn. weeklong meeting here.

Dinah K., owned by C. T. Miller of Atlanta, was second and Flame Davis, owned by Judge W. D. Davis of Old Fort, Tenn., was third.

First cast of the all-age competition was made at daybreak. The trials end Saturday.

U.S. Industry Aids Athletes

Textile Companies to Clothe U.S. Entries in P-A Games

NEW YORK (AP) — A load was lifted from the lean finances of the U.S. Olympic Committee Thursday with the announcement that the men's and women's apparel and textile industries of the nation will clothe this country's contigent in the Pan-American Games next March free of charge.

H. Jamison Swarts, chairman of the Olympic Supplies and Equipment Committee, said the outfitting of the men and women athletes for the Mexico City competition is a model of further cooperation planned for the 1956 Olympiad at Melbourne, Australia.

The 250 men who will represent the United States next spring will receive about $150 worth of apparel each. A similar dollar value will be given each of the 100 women athletes in parade and utility uniforms. It's the first time in Olympic history the Olympic committee has avoided the expense of outfitting the team.

Proved Redleg Star

CINCINNATI (AP)—Johnny Temple with a .307 batting average in 1954, was the first regular second baseman of the Cincinnati Redlegs to bat over .300 since Tony Cuccinello's .314 in 1931. Johnny's 21 stolen bases was the most for a Cincinnati player since Bert Haas' 22 in 1946.

MIAA and IIAC at Title Stage

Normal Faces Central, Hillsdale Tangles With Albion

By UNITED PRESS

The setting is the same in both the MIAA and the IIAC with the top two teams in each conference squaring off Saturday to decide championships.

Michigan Normal, the state's lone unbeaten and untied team, travels to Central Michigan hoping to claim the IIAC crown outright and finish its season with a perfect record at the same time.

Coach Freddie Trosko's Michigan Normal team, winner of eight straight starts this fall, clinched at least a share of the league title last week by stopping Illinois Normal. Central Michigan could tie the Hurons for the top spot by winning.

Hillsdale visits Albion needing a victory or a tie to become the champion of the MIAA. The Dales, unbeaten in conference competition, have already assured themselves of no less than a tie for the crown.

Glassford Says No, but Nebraska Eleven Favored

KANSAS CITY (UP) — Nebraska, slight favorites over an up and down Pittsburgh team that beat West Virginia and Navy, will be seeking its first victory over the Panthers since 1940 in a homecoming affair at Lincoln Saturday.

* * *

Cornhusker Coach Bill Glassford, who says his squad is in the worst shape of the season from an injury standpoint, contends "there is absolutely no possible way anyone in their right mind can figure us favorites over Pittsburgh."

Nebraska, No. 7 in the nation in rushing with a 277.7 yard average per game, will be looking for its sixth victory against two setbacks. The Cornhuskers have been beaten by Minnesota and Kansas State.

* * *

Two other non-conference games will be played by Big Seven members Saturday. Colorado meets Utah at Salt Lake City and Kansas is at Stillwater against Oklahoma A. & M.

WHO IS IT?—Paddy DeMarco doesn't give sparring partners much of a training target at San Rafael, Calif. The Brooklyn Italian defends the world lightweight championship against the man from whom he won it, Jimmy Carter. They collide in San Francisco, Nov. 17.

Ex-Spartan Athlete Dies in Plane Crash

NEW YORK (UP) — A Michigan State College graduate who was batboy with the New York Giants in 1945-47 was reported by the Navy yesterday to have died in an airplane crash in the Mediterranean Sea.

The Navy said Lt. (jg.) Garth Garreau, 23 crashed Oct. 8 and his body had not been recovered.

Garreau wrote the book "Batboy of the Giants" in collaboration with New York sports writer Joe King. He entered the Navy three years ago after his graduation from Michigan State where he was a member of the baseball and wrestling teams.

Hunters Bag 865 Geese in Swan Creek Highbanks

LANSING (UP) — Hunters in the Swan Creek highbanks shot 865 Canada geese last week—the highest number in the last three years, the state conservation department said today.

Another 341 were shot at Fennville, the department reported. This was an unusually large number, but not a record.

The department said about 8,000 geese have been seen in the two areas in the last few days, and competition for hunting permits has been high.

Detroit Will Make Pitch for '60 Olympics

CHICAGO (UP)—Detroit is one of eight American cities expected to extend bids for the 1960 Olympic Games before a selection group here next week.

K. L. (Tug) Wilson, U. S. Olympic president, said the selection group will review bids and submit a recommendation to his full committee.

The American city finally selected will send a representative to the International Olympic Committee meeting in Paris next April to bid against other cities of the world.

Wolverines Fear Spartan Backfield Depth

ANN ARBOR (UP) — They say "you can throw away the book" for the annual battle between the Big Ten greats of the state, Michigan and Michigan State. But can you?

The books show that Michigan has a 4-1 conference record while Michigan State has a 1-4 record.

But here Michigans edge stops. Michigan State, the Michigan coaches agree, "are more dangerous every Saturday."

The Michigan coaches are aware too that Michigan State was last year's Rose Bowl team. They are equally aware that the Spartans have 12 backs with as good or better ground gaining averages than the Michigan backs.

The coaches tell you too that Michigan State's offensive record shows they have outgained their opponents and piled to 117 first downs while holding their opponents to 97.

Although Michigan State was unable to defeat Iowa and Minnesota, the two teams that Michigan upset, the Spartans gave Purdue's Boilermakers a battle before losing and defeated Indiana, the only conference team which has beaten Michigan.

"When you have backs like Bolden, Matsock, Zagers and Peaks, backed up three deep, you really have a backfield," one Michigan coach warned.

On the other hand, the Michigan coaches say, "we have Fred Baer at fullback, backed up by Lou Baldacci and Dave Hill. With Tony Branoff out, the right halfback spot is very thin. Ed Hickey, once injured, is now first string and is backed by sophomore Ed Shannon."

Michigan State has no such problem. They have John Matsock, Earl Morrall and Al Fracassa at quarterback. They have erry Planutis and Vic Postula at fullback.

They have six right-halfbacks, led by Bert Zagers, and six left halfbacks, led by LeRoy Bolden.

This Michigan State team is after a new winning record against Michigan teams. If they win Saturday, it will be the 5th straight year they have plowed over the Wolverines.

New Mexico Punter Shines in Season of Poor Kicking

NEW YORK (UP)—New Mexico's A. L. Terpening, a non-conformist in a season that has been marked by poor punting, leads the nation's collegians with the highest average hung up this late in the football schedule since the all-time high was set four years ago.

* * *

Terpening has averaged 45.3 yards on 30 punts, according to NCAA Service Bureau Statistics released Thursday. Colorado's Zack Jordan was the last punter to average that well at this stage of the season and he was on the way to his record 48.2-yard record back in 1950.

The major colleges' over-all average for the season is an abnormally low 34.9 yards.

All of the individual leaders, however, have respectable marks. Ted Rohde, Kansas, is the runner-up with 43.7 followed by three players above the 42-yard mark—Tennessee's Bob Brengle, Colorado's Carroll Hardy and Penn's Walt Hynoski.

* * *

Terpening boosted his average last Saturday with a 54-yard boot against Montana, but it wasn't a productive weekend for Arizona's Art Luppino, the nation's scoring leader. Luppino was injured early against Texas Tech and failed to increase his 123-point total. With 18 touchdowns and 15 conversions he's 56 points ahead of the field, with 3 games left.

Coaches of Purdue, OSU Are Satisfied

By UNITED PRESS

Ohio State coach Woody Hayes and Stu Holcomb of Purdue both indicated today they were satisfied their teams were ready for Saturday's key Big Ten scrap at LaFayette, Ind.

Hayes worked his undefeated Buckeyes, who can clinch a share of the conference title by beating Purdue, on defense, especially against passes yesterday. He said the practice was "lousy at first, but the boys improved."

Holcomb sent the Boilermakers through a brief scrimmage stressing their passing attack and defense patterns. Afterwards he indicated he would make no changes in the regular starting lineup, which features the conference's leading passer, Len Dawson, at quarterback.

Six Bucks All-America Hopefuls

All Four OSU Backs Rate as Top Performers

Michigan's Ron Kramer Also Cited for Play by Midwest Board

CHICAGO (AP)—With time running out on the 1954 football season, it appears to be Ohio State vs the rest of the midwest for All-America distinction in this territory.

At every backfield position and at least two line positions, the unbeaten Buckeyes have All-America candidates of varying degrees.

The AP selection board for this area weekly has had to change the order of preference in the Ohio State backfield composed of Dave Leggett, quarterback; Howie (Hopalong) Cassady and Bobby Watkins, halfbacks; and sophomore Hubie Bobo, fullback.

At fullback, Wisconsin's redoubtable Alan (The Horse) Ameche now holds an NCAA record of 3,186 yards rushing for his four-season career. He is the big ten's leading ground gainer and has been a whale of a defensive player.

The question arises what could Ameche do flanked by two halfbacks like Ohio State's Watkins and Cassady?

Top quarterbacks, in the board's opinion, are Notre Dame's Ralph Guglielmi, Purdue's Len Dawson, and Ohio State's Leggett.

Others cited for continuing top play included end Ron Kramer of Michigan; guard Jan Smid of Illinois; tackle Nate Borden of Indiana; tackle Sam Palumbo of Notre Dame; center Gary Messner of Wisconsin; tackle Art Walker of Michigan; guard John Hall of Iowa, and guard Tom Bettis of Purdue.

Several County Gridders on Small-College Elevens

A pair of former Waterford High School backs are members of the undefeated Michigan Normal College team. Kerry Keating and Larry Wigner both have seen action, though only freshmen, and Keating has scored one touchdown.

Normal collides with a strong Central Michigan College team in Mt. Pleasant Saturday. Two former Oakland County preps are on the Chippewa varsity.

Dick Ayling, former all-around athlete at Pontiac High, is a quarterback on the Alma College eleven, and another ex-PHS player, Kirk Hobolth, holds down the same position at Wheaton (Ill.) College.

Teammates of Ayling at Alma include Doyl McIntosh of Hazel Park, Ken Gibbard of Clawson and Bobby Hill of Roseville.

Hillsdale College's fine team has several area gridders, including Bud Temple and John Moffat, former Pontiac High athletes. Doug Maison of Imlay City, a transfer from Michigan State, was the 'Dales regular quarterback until he suffered a broken leg.

Also on the Dale roster are Jack Cowart of Farmington and Bob Sulkowski of Romeo. The Hillsdale coach is Frank Waters, who formerly coached at Walled Lake High School.

News of the Men in Service

Pvt. Ronald E. Holcomb, son of Mrs. Doris Holcomb of Oxford, has returned to Camp Chaffee, Ark., after spending a 14-day leave at home.

Lt. Robert Lussier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coe, 126 S. Roslyn, is now assistant operation officer for his squadron with the 456th Air Defense at Traux Field, Madison, Wis.

LUSSIER

A graduate of Pontiac High School, he attended Michigan State College before enlisting in February 1951. He went to Greenville, Miss., for his basic training and was appointed for officer flight training in 1951. He graduated from flight school at Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, Tex., in 1952.

Recently Lussier caused a stir at Austin Straubel Field, Green Bay, Wisconsin, when he made an emergency landing in an F86D jet. His fuel tank quit functioning properly, forcing him to bring the plane down before scheduled. It was the first jet to ever land at that field.

Now stationed on the U.S.S. Princeton out of San Diego is Richard Dalby, son of Mrs. Leah Dalby, 590 E. Walton Blvd.

DALBY

Entering the Marines May 6, 1953, he took his basic training at San Diego. A graduate of Pontiac High School, he has four brothers who served during World War II. Robert, William and Raymond were all with the Army and Arthur was in the Navy.

Dalby's address is:

Pfc. Richard Dalby, 1377401 Marine Det. U.S.S. Princeton, c/o F. P. O., San Francisco, Calif.

In Kunsan, Korea, for the last three months is A3c Bruce Boyd, whose wife and daughter live at 2083 Pontiac Rd.

Gerald E. Hoffmeyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn F. Hoffmeyer, 25203 W. Twelve Mile Rd., Southfield Township, has been promoted to sergeant in the Army at Herzogan-aurach, near Nurnburg, Germany.

HOFFMEYER

Gerald enlisted in March, 1952, left this country in August of that year and is expected home on leave in February, 1955. He was a 1951 graduate of Royal Oak High School.

Gerald has completed a 15-day trip to Italy and is now touring the Scandinavian countries.

Sgt. Raiford Malone, son of Mrs. Elaine Malone, 29 Liberty St., is on a 30-day leave from Ft. Lewis, Wash. He recently returned from Korea.

Handcuffs Boomerang on Kentucky Sheriff

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Sheriff Dick Cowherd handcuffed himself to the prisoner, and gave the handcuff key to a deputy, who put it in a shirt pocket. Then the three left for a corn field to search for a missing murder weapon.

When they returned to jail, the deputy discovered the key was missing. He had dropped it while bending over to search the field. The cuffs had to be cut off.

Well Theft No Joke

ANDERSON, S. C. (AP) — There's an old joke about stealing a well. A deep well pump, including the motor, a 30-gallon tank, and a quantity of pipe were stolen from a well outside a house under construction.

Gable Only Star Offered Share of MGM Profits

By BOB THOMAS

Editor's Note: Clark Gable is still recognized as the king of Hollywood. Now a free-lancer after 23 years at one studio, he has given one of his rare interviews. Two articles will present a picture of the king today, plus his reflections on the past and future.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is Clark Gable going to get married again?

"Nope," he replied. "I think it will be a good idea for me to stay single a while. I got out of one marriage not long ago, you know. And say— I understand she's getting married again."

He referred to his fourth wife, Lady Sylvia Ashley, who has been reported on the verge of her fifth marriage. He flashed his famous grin, revealing that such an action would let him off the alimony hook. The 1952 divorce gave her 10 per cent of his earnings for one year, 7 per cent for the next four.

* * *

I mentioned that the gossip columns seem intent on marrying him off.

"I know it," he laughed. "Whenever things get dull, they try to pair me up again. It keeps them busy for a spell. Who's the girl I told him she was Kay Spreckels, with whom he has been seen lately. Does he intend to marry her?

"I have no plans. Gosh, I've known Kay 15 years; she's an old friend. She dates other people and so do I."

Gable sat in his dressing room at 20th Century-Fox Studios and talked with unusual frankness. In fact, it was unusual for him to talk to a reporter at all. In recent years he has enjoyed his independence, and that means freedom from interviews.

He was getting ready to leave today for Hong Kong, where he will film his first free-lance picture in 23 years, "Soldier of Fortune." Still the king at 53, he looked great. He stripped to change from his picture clothes into his own outfit, and he still has his muscular build. His face is as handsome as ever, his mustache and hair becoming a distinguished gray.

How does he feel about being away from MGM after more than two decades?

"Great," he said. "It was a struggle, but I got one good picture before I got out of there—'Mogambo.' I only wish I could have had a share of it. An executive over there told me it was headed for an 11-million-dollar world gross!

"Sure, they wanted me to stay. They even offered me a cut of the profits on my pictures. But by that time I was so fed up that it didn't interest me."

That appears to be the only time MGM has offered anyone a share of the profits, which shows how badly the studio wanted him to stay. Gable chose to remain independent. He found his next two vehicles himself and arranged to make them at 20th-Fox—on a percentage basis, of course. "Soldier of Fortune" is from the Ernest K. Gann best seller and features the actor in an old-time "Gable role"—an ex-GI and truck driver who smuggles in and out of Red China on a junk. His next film will be "The Tall Men," a Western.

Chrysler and Employes Give $1.3 Million to UF

DETROIT (AP) — The Chrysler Corp. and its employes have given $1,313,883 to Detroit's United Fund drive.

Employes contributed $952,883 despite work cutbacks and layoffs this year. The figure was $110,856 more than Chrysler workers gave last year to the torch drive.

The drive has less than a million to go to meet its 1954 quota of $13,250,000.

Many Men Now Become Famous in Neighborhoods for Culinary Skill

By EDDIE CANTOR

Have you noticed how many men have become kitchen kibitzers? Years ago a man wouldn't be caught dead in the kitchen except for a midnight raid of the icebox. Now he's not a bit ashamed to don an apron—whip up a mess of meatballs and spaghetti—roast a duck—stuff a turkey—or bake a cake, just for the heck of it! If this keeps up, kids will be calling daddy, "mommy!"

I can recall when businessmen would meet and brag about the big deals they had just put over. Now, around a conference table, these same men—so help me—are swapping recipes.

When you hear about so and so being a good mixer, it doesn't necessarily mean that he's a social success. Nope, he's the guy whose salad dressing is the talk of the club.

Confession: Gosh, I feel ashamed to tell you—but I'm going to—I, myself, have been bitten by the bug! Call it a fad—call it a hobby—but some of my culinary concoctions are bringing me more applause than "Makin' Whoopee," and "If You Knew Susie."

Here in Beverly Hills I used to be known as an entertainer and civic-minded citizen. Now when my name is mentioned, someone's sure to say, "Did you taste Cantor's marinated goulash?—Out of this world!" And I got a big kick the other day when it came back to me that someone said, "No one—but no one—can make chicken curry and rice like Ida's husband!"

So friends, when you write me in the future—sure, I'll be glad to send you an autograph, or a photograph, but you'll make me the happiest guy in town if you inquire how I make Vienna peach kuchen!

Charlotte Body to Be Exhumed

Judge Orders Probe Into Death of Wealthy Industralist

CHARLOTTE (AP)—The body of a wealthy Charlotte industrialist and philantropist who died two years ago has been ordered exhumed for a post mortem examination to determine whether he was poisoned or died a natural death.

Municipal Judge Angus MacLeod yesterday ordered the body of Fitch H. Beach, who died at 84 on April 9, 1952, removed from Maple Hill Cemetery for the autopsy.

The exhumation was ordered on the petition of a cousin, Fred Beach of Chicago, who said he had reason tao believe someone poisoned the elderly man.

Beach willed a $500,000 estate to a niece, Mrs. Jack Beatty. She and her husband, who moved to Charlotte from Indianapolis a year before Beach's death, cared for him in his final illness.

In the examination called by Judge MacLeod on the petition to exhume the body, two doctors testified that conditions at the time of Beach's death could have been symptoms of arsenic poisoning as well as cancer. Cancer had been given as cause of death.

Dr. W. E. Hoffer of Charlotte, who signed the death certificate, said he still believed death was caused by cancer. He added, however, that it was possible arsenic poisoning could have been the cause.

Dr. W. R. Cheynoweth of Battle Creek testified, however, that to the best of his knowledge Beach did not have cancer. Dr. Cheynoweth said he attended Beach in December of 1951 and again in March of 1952. He said Beach refused to permit surgery.

One Fire Reported

LANSNG (AP)—The department of conservation said today only one small forest fire—burning about an acre — was reported in Michigan last week. Forest fires have burned 3,664 acres this year.

Joins Movie Association

Three major problems confronting man before he can fly to the moon or other planets are the danger of the sun's rays, lack of gravity, and the threat of meteors.

Mother Slayer Back in Custody

Jackson Man Fears That He Might Now Kill Mother-in-Law

DETROIT (AP)—John D. Edmunds, who police said choked his mother to death four years ago because she refused to financially back his bad checks, was held today for Jackson Police.

Police said Edmunds, of Jackson, was found in a small private hospital in Detroit yesterday, where he told officers he went voluntarily three weeks ago because:

Edmunds was found criminally insane by a sanity commission after killing his mother in Detroit in October 1950. He was committed to the Ionia State Hospital, where doctors pronounced him cured a year and a half later.

Congresswoman Wants TV to Cover Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — If one of Congress' new women members has her way, Congress will go on television.

She is Mrs. Martha M. Griffiths, of Detroit, the first of four new women representatives, all Democrats, to come to town. She told a news conference yesterday she based her decision to sponsor a TV proposal on experience gained in her recent campaign for Congress.

Tiny Kuwait Is in the Chips

Richest Country in the World Reposes on Vast Underground Reservoir of Oil

LONDON, (NS) — The richest country in the world in this day of rival claims from East and West is a pocket-sized principality located somewhere in between called Kuwait.

Kuwait is a patch of desert no bigger than Connecticut bordering the Persian Gulf. It owes its opulence to no ideology, system, scheme, plan, five-year or otherwise, deal, old or new.

By the terms of an agreement negotiated in 1951 the Sheikh collects an annual pay check worth somewhere in the classy neighborhood of $168,000,000. The figure represents half the value of the oil pumped each year from beneath Kuwait's sands. The other half of the "take" goes to the Kuwait Oil Co., jointly owned by Britain's Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. and America's Gulf Exploration Co.

Sheikh Abdullah negotiated his fifty-fifty arrangement shortly after Mohammed Mossadegh nationalized Iran's giant oil fields and refineries, thereby shutting off one of the Western world's most vital sources of supply.

Aware that he had been dealt an ace, Abdullah did not hesitate to play it. The directors of Kuwait Oil feared the Sheikh would follow Mossadegh's lead, hastily upped their ante and the wily potentate picked up the chips.

Things began to hum in Kuwait. Within a year after Mossadegh slammed the gates on the Abadan refinery Kuwait's output jumped an annual 25 million to 40 million tons. Production continues to rise at an enormous rate.

Already the tiny country produces more oil than Iran ever did, and the world's thirst for petroleum products is such that the Sheikh need not fear whatever competition might result from the recent settlement in Tehran.

Unlike some of his neighbors, Abdullah is putting his wealth to work for something more than his personal amusement. A devout Moslem, the 68-year-old monarch shuns the titillations so often associated with his profession.

He lives in a simple, mud-walled residence. His personal habits are ruled by moderation. He drinks only coffee and camel's milk, eats plain food, averages one pack of cigarettes a week and has firmly declined offers from the oil men of a yacht and Rolls Royce.

"If I were king," is for the Sheikh not a game but a reality. As an absolute monarch with nearly limitless resources he can command what he will.

That which he has willed is nothing less than the erection of a modern welfare state out of the barren, parched parcel of real estate that is his kingdom. And he has offered cash on the line that his will be done.

In answer to his beckon planners, consultants, technicians, contractors hurried from Britain to offer what they know about building utopias. Kuwaitis, Bedouins and refugee arabs from Palestine supply the requisite muscle and sweat.

Mix these ingredients well, energize them with generous injections of Abdullah's millions and presto: The world of the future springs full bloom from the world of the past.

The shapes of modern roads, housing units, nursery schools, children's playgrounds and municipal gardens may be discerned through the dust stirred up by a human activity uncommon in that torrid, arid, half-forgotten corner of the world.

In the works is the world's largest air-conditioned hospital. It will form part of a free health service. Universal education is being put into practice as fast as schools and teachers become available. For the first time Kuwaiti girls are being sent to school; purdah is giving way to enlightenment.

"Sink a well and you will strike oil" is Kuwait's curse as well as blessing. For centuries drinking water has been brought in by boat and sold in goat skins. But soon there will be water aplenty for baths and lawns and fountains and hosing down the shiny new cars.

A giant plant is being built to distill fresh water from the sea. It is to be powered by the waste gasses which now go up uselessly in flame, redenning the ebony sky night after night.

All, in fact, that money can buy awaits the new generation in Kuwait . . . all, that is, except motion picture theaters. The Sheikh in his infinite wisdom does not approve of the movies . . .

274-Year-Old House Fools 8 Hurricanes

BRISTOL, R. I. (UP)—The kitchen sink is about the only thing that hasn't been thrown at the 275-year-old Nathaniel Bosworth home, and judging by past performance, that's due any day now.

The ancient 23-room wooden structure has withstood the battering of eight recorded hurricanes, 27 floating cars, a drifting boat and a Revoluntionary War cannonading—among other things.

Corn Leading Grain Market

CHICAGO, Nov. 11 (UP)—Selling pressure again was very light on the Board of Trade today and grains inched their way upward under the leadership of corn.

Corn forged ahead on a government crop report reducing slightly the estimated production from a month earlier. Soybeans sold off at the start, reflecting a boost in estimated production, but then recovered in sympathy with other cereals.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to ½ higher, December $2.26⅜; corn ½ to ⅞ higher, December $1.57; oats unchanged, December 83⅜; rye ½ lower to ¼ higher, December $1.28; soybeans ½ lower to ¾ higher, November $2.82 and lard 10 cents lower to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher, November $16.35.

Deweys to Live in Gotham Flat

Retiring Official Buys Cooperative Apartment —May Join Law Firm

NEW YORK (UP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has purchased a cooperative apartment at 141 E. 72nd St., Manhattan, as a family residence after his term expires at the end of the year.

There was no official announcement of the purchase, which became known yesterday.

While occupying the executive mansion at Albany, Dewey has maintained his voting address at the Hotel Roosevelt, where he has an official suite. He also has a farm at Pawling.

It was reported unofficially yesterday that Dewey will join the law firm of Root, Ballantine, Bushby and Palmer, 31 Nassau St.

Second Blaze Routs Port Huron Family

PORT HURON (UP) — For the second time in five years, Mr. and Mrs. Delfort Groves of Port Huron and their nine children have lost all their possessions in a fire.

Fire last night destroyed their modest two-story new house on the outskirts of the city.

Mrs. Groves and seven of the children were having a late supper when fire swept without warning through the second floor. In minutes the whole building was aflame.

Mrs. Groves grabbed the smallest child in her arms and rushed the rest of her family outdoors. Two of the children were away at the time and the husband was at work in a Port Huron papermill.

Pontiac Man Is Held on Auto Theft Charge

Arnold A. Burby, 18, of 229 Lake View Dr., was arrested yesterday by an FBI agent and State Parole officer Edward Narkfour, on a charge of driving a stolen car across state lines.

Burby, being held in Oakland County Jail, is accused of taking a car in Royal Oak earlier this year and driving it to Colorado, where the car was impounded for a minor traffic violation.

According to the FBI, Burby returned to Michigan before police there discovered that the car was stolen. Burby may be tried in Federal Court in Detroit instead of being returned to Colorado, the FBI said.

World War I Veterans Holding Reunion Today

An annual celebration of World War I doughboys will be held in Flint today when 14 1st Division veterans will hold their 36th annual reunion.

Stanley Osomd, 65, of 88 S. anford St., a member of the Division, the first of the Expeditionary Forces to land in France in 1917, said Veterans Day would be appropriate for their yearly get-together.

"We meet every year and talk about the old days. We're all veterans of the 'first war' and meet each year," said Osomd. "But this year, we'll be meeting on Veterans Day instead."

Steels Higher, Others Mixed

NEW YORK (UP) — Steels were higher today in early dealings, but the rest of the stock market was quietly mixed.

Today is Veterans Day, and the stock market remained open this year for the first time in a reversal of the financial community's customary observance of the anniversary of the end of World War I.

Most changes in prices were quite small, but there were a number of exceedingly wide movers.

The stock market yesterday established a new 25-year high for the third straight session in a continuation off the post-election bull market boom. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 70 cents at $141.30, best since Oct. 17, 1929.

Father of Seven Freed From 10 Tons of Earth

EAST ANN ARBOR (UP) — A father of seven children was buried to his neck in 10 tons of earth yesterday but escaped with only an injured leg.

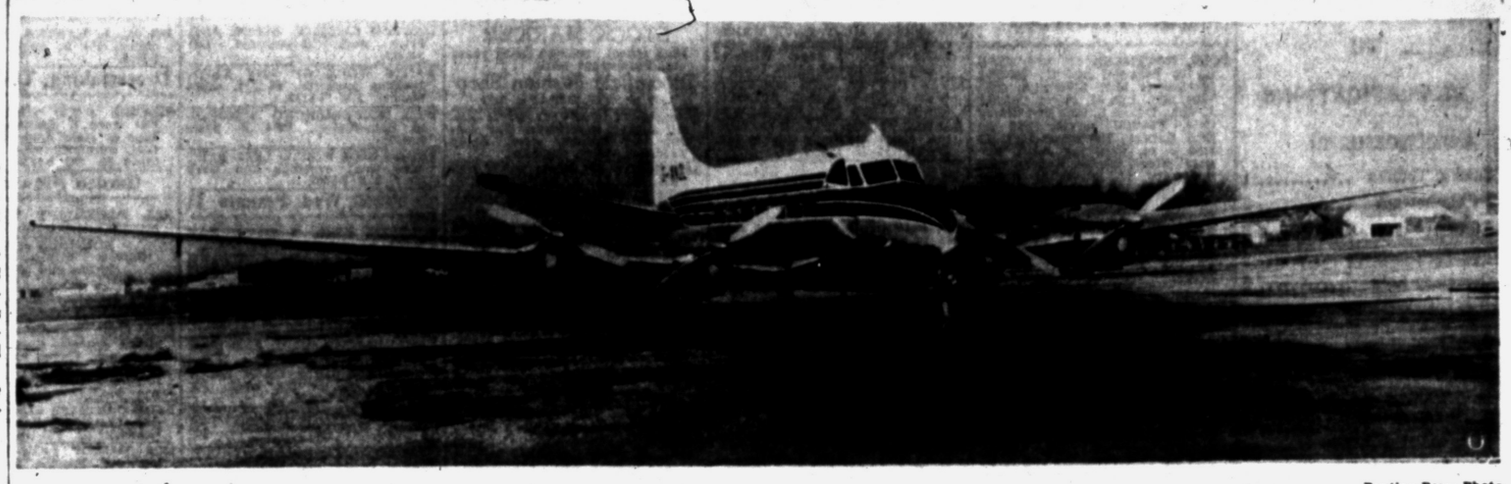

Police said Charles Forester, 42, of Willow Village, near Ypsilanti, was laying tile at the bottom of a 12-foot trench when the bank of earth collapsed on him, burying him to his neck.

It took an hour and a half of digging to free Forester, who was conscious throughout the ordeal. He was taken to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in neighboring Ann Arbor, where he was released today.

Get New Harassment

CHICKASHA, Okla. (UP)—Lee Fitzpatrick has a new plan to harass users of parking meters.

He has proposed a "time-eraser" which would automatically remove remaining meter time when a car leaves a parking space.

Pork Is Outstanding Buy as Other Meats See Hikes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The missus who goes a-shopping is likely to find prices of most meats a shade higher at her favorite food store this week.

Sirloin steaks and rib roasts of beef are up a few cents a pound in major cities; also slightly higher are poultry, lamb and veal.

Pork is probably the outstanding buy. Several nationwide food chains are featuring pork roast or pork chops as week-end specials.

Also tagged for thrifty buying are ~~smoked picnic hams, frying~~ chickens and fowl. Although fryers are a little higher than last week in some areas, prices are still pretty close to rock bottom. Poultry producers continue to grumble about a market glut.

Egg prices are falling again. Some brands of vacuum-packed coffee are down a nickel a pound in selected cities. Prices of frozen orange juice—already off substantially from a year ago—are expected to go lower still. This season's orange crop is expected to be about 100 per cent larger than last year's.

Classed as "good" buys are sweet potatoes, tomatoes, cucumbers, egg plant and lettuce, while beans, celery, cauliflower, carrots and peppers are tagged as moderately priced.

Newly arrived in metropolitan markets this week are Florida tangerines. They'll be cheaper as the season gradually builds up to its customary Christmas peak.

Reopen Tour Train Schedule

Pontiac Motor Feature Resumes Regular Runs After Model Change

Refurbished in bright 1955 Pontiac car colors, the Strato-Streak Special, Pontiac Motor Division's plant tour train, this week resumed its schedule.

The battery-powered train makes trips through the manufacturing plants at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Mondays through Fridays. Tours had been suspended during model changeover.

Kaiser-Willys' 1955 passenger car and utility line will be shown privately to dealers throughout the United States and Canada Dec. 8 via the first transcontinental closed-circuit television show ever used by an auto company to introduce new models to dealers. The private showing will precede by a month the formal public introduction.

The Federal Communications commission yesterday authorized Storer Broadcasting Co., of Birmingham, to purchase radio stations WJW and WJW-FM, Cleveland, O., for $330,000.

The FCC said the transfer is not to be consumated until Storer has disposed of its interests in KGBS and KGBS-TV, San Antonio, Tex.

Bohn Aluminum Buys Reo Corp.

Lansing Firm Bought by Detroit Company for $16,500,000

LANSING (UP) — The purchase of assets of Reo Motors, Inc., of Lansing by the Bohn Aluminum and Brass Corp. of Detroit was announced yesterday by Reo directors.

The directors said Bohn had agreed to accept the contract which offered to buy Reo for $16,500,000, has assigned its contract to the Detroit corporation.

The assignment of the contract to the new owner was jointly announced by the Reo directors and C. Russell Feldman, president and principal stockholder of the Henney Co.

Bohn Aluminum spokesmen said the Lansing company will be handled by Reo Motors, Inc., a recently former subsidiary Delaware corporation.

Bohn spokesmen said they planned to "continue and expand Reo Motors truck manufacturing in Lansing where it has been centered for the past 50 years."

J. S. Sherer Jr., Reo president, said it was estimated that an initial liquidating dividend of $15 to $20 a share can be paid to stockholders.

Reo is principally a manufacturer of trucks and also has a sideline of metal toys. Its normal employment is about 1,800 workers.

News in Brief

An estimated $850 damage was caused by a fire at the home of Roosevelt Robinson, 485 Alton St. yesterday, according to Pontiac firemen who said the fire was caused by an overheated stove pipe.

Red Buttons Is Still Struggling

'Broadway Best' Cast Stars Ethel Merman; TV Will Do 'Tosca'

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK (UP) — Should you ever want to produce a good TV show all you need is to string together a group of good acts, call it a "Spectacular" and you're off.

Particularly if you pick Steve Allen—now NBC's workhorse—and team him up again with Judy Holliday and Dick Shawn. I wouldn't say they were as funny last Sunday as in their first appearance last month, but from the standpoint of all-around entertainment I believe the effect was better.

The title picked for this one was "Fanfare," but it might as well have been anything else descriptive of a set of 10 unconnected acts.

Ambitious plans are in the making for NBC's telecast of Puccini's opera "Tosca," scheduled for the Sunday Matinee of Jan. 23.

The title role will be sung by Leontyne Price, who had the part of Bess in the all-Negro cast of Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," both on Broadway and in Europe. This will be her first time in this role.

Red Buttons still seems to be struggling to get the type of program which will best display his wares. While the miniature musical comedies in which he has been appearing lately have had sparks here and there, I don't think he is making too much progress. I'd prefer he go back to the type of sketches which skyrocketed him to attention and gave him opportunity to be the real Red Buttons.

When Climax gave its version of the who-dun-it "Sorry, Wrong Number," I missed Agnes Moorhead in the leading role. Shelley Winters did fairly well, but I am sure Agnes, who played the lead so many times on radio and the stage, would have made it really live.

It's quite a talent lineup the Best of Broadway color series had for its monthly production of "Panama Hattie." Included were Ethel Merman, Ray Middleton, Art Carney and the heavyweight comic, Jack E. Leonard.

Faithful GOP Voters Pull Empty Levers

RODMAN, N.Y. (UP)—Some ballots were cast for nobody, running for nothing, a recanvass of the Nov. 2 vote here shows.

Harry LeGrosse, custodian of the voting machine in this northern New York community, explained that the machine did not have enough locking bars to block off all the blank spaces election day.

Officials said some voters apparently were so anxious to vote the straight Republican ticket that they did not stop when the list of names and offices ran out.

Stock in Casket Firm on Sale to Morticians

WASHINGTON (UP)—A $19,990 700 block of new common stock registered by Funeral Directors Manufacturing & Supply Co. of Louis ille, Ky., went on sale to a select group.

Stockholders in the firm, which will make plastic and aluminum stricted to funeral directors and caskets and grave vaults, are re-embalmers.

Commuter's Revenge

DENVER (UP) — Leonard A. Miller, 34, reported an unidentified passenger boarded his bus at 4 a.m. hit him with a whisky bottle and fled. Miller said the passenger became indignant because the 3 a.m. bus had passed without stopping

Uruguay Confab Opens

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UP) — The eighth general conference of the 72-nation U. N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization opens here tomorrow for a four-week session.

Reds Soft-Pedal Church Attacks

Soviet Chiefs Call Halt to Over-Zealous Drive Against Religion

MOSCOW (UP) — Soviet Communist party chiefs told Red propagandists today to continue their tub-thumping for atheism, but to stop rough stuff against the churches.

"Insulting attacks against believers and the clergy can only lead to strengthening and even intensification of religious prejudice among the people," declared a decree of the party's Central Committee.

* * *

The unexpected order, signed by Party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev and published in the official party newspaper Pravda, followed a Soviet press campaign against religion.

The campaign, which began several months ago, apparently got out of hand in some places with local officials resorting to persecution of believers and the clergy.

* * *

The new decree does not mean that religion and the churches are to operate as freely in Russia as in the West. But it said it was aimed at protecting the "honest Soviet citizen" who still is "under the influence of all kinds of religious beliefs."

Lake Geneva has an area of 223 square miles but it is smaller than the Dead Sea.

26 Saboteurs Sentenced

TOKYO (UP) — Peiping radio today said 26 men who had carried out acts of sabotage on the Chinese mainland had been convicted and sentenced — 12 of them to death. It identified them as "U.S.-Chiang"

Avery Pledges to Fight Wolfson

Ward's Chairman Says He'll Try to Keep Reins of Retail Chain

CHICAGO (UP) — Sewell Avery, chairman of Montgomery Ward and Co., says he'll fight the "raiding parties being organized to grab the large liquid assets of this company."

In an unprecedented news conference yesterday, the 81-year-old Avery said, "Management is hired to run a profitable business and protect the interests of stockholders. We intend to continue to do so."

* * *

Louis Wolfson, Florida financier, and Fred Saigh, St. Louis businessman, both have said they would attempt to gain control of the big retail merchandise firm. Wolfson has claimed his group has bought more than 500,000 shares of Ward's stock.

Wolfson, in a statement at his Miami Beach home, said Avery's statement "is an admission of the charges I have made against Montgomery Ward's present management."

* * *

The 42-year-old Florida businessman said he would "take my appeal to the shareholders of Montgomery Ward and my faith in the future of the American economy as against the prophecies of gloom and doom."

By Avery's statement, Wolfson added, "the issue now has been joined."

* * *

Ward's annual stockholders meeting will be held next April, at which time three of the nine directors will be up for re-election. One of the three is Avery.

Avery, along with Edmund Krider, president, and John Barr, vice president and secretary, said they had no knowledge that Wolfson's group had bought as many Ward's shares as claimed.
