"WHAT'S UP, DOC?" — Neither the stuffed bunny on the right nor the live rabbit named "Whitey" could possibly produce those eggs in the basket, but fairy-tale tradition says they do. Whatever the reason, children all over the world will be searching tomorrow for nests filled with colorful eggs hidden by the Easter Bunny.

It'll Be a Busy Night for the Easter Bunny

The Easter Bunny — that gay little fellow who leaves beautifully colored eggs in hidden nests — is with us again.

Whether he is a real hare or a stuffed toy, the Easter rabbit is very much a part of today's Easter story. Come tomorrow morning, children all over the world will be hunting for those eggs.

However, some curious children find rabbits can't lay eggs so why look for Easter eggs left by a bunny?

One of the many stories of how the rabbit became traditionally associated with colored eggs stems from an old German legend.

A poor woman dyed some eggs during a famine and hid them in a nest as an Easter gift for her children. Just as the youngsters discovered the nest, a big white rabbit jumped away.

The story soon spread that the rabbit had brought the Easter eggs.

Symbologically, the egg has been used in ancient Easter rites to represent the spring season and the revival of the earth's fertility.

The longing for colorful flowers of spring following the long, cold winter motivated the custom of coloring Easter eggs in beautiful gay colors, many believe.

In America the Easter bunny is many things.

He is a cardboard bunny with a kangaroo-pouch of candy eggs or the chocolate bunny imprinted with a child's name.

He is "Bugs Bunny" or a soft-cuddly toy.

But most of all he is the rabbit which hides brightly colored eggs for children to find Easter Sunday morning.

Penitent Share Christian Joy in Holy Land

Thousands Flock to Jerusalem for Ritual of the Resurrection

JERUSALEM, Jordan (AP) — Thousands of Christians have flocked to the Holy Land for Easter tide to share in the rituals marking the crucifixion, burial and resurrection of Christ.

Eastern and Western churches held four separate burial services on Good Friday. Sunday, the paschal vigil of worship turns to the joys of Easter.

Pilgrims knelt beneath flickering candles at Calvary on Good Friday night as priests lifted an effigy of Christ's body from the cross and buried it in Jerusalem's ancient Church of the Holy Sepulchre — to most Christians the exact site of Christ's crucifixion.

Calvary is now a balcony inside the church doors, its bare rock shielded with rich mosaics, candles and clusters of glowing lanterns.

Pilgrims from many lands bowed in the dark vaults of the church crumbling with age and resounding with chants of hymns. They watched robed and bearded Catholic priests withdraw nails from the cross on Calvary.

EFFIGY ANOINTED

Christ's effigy, wrapped in sheets of linen, was anointed. Then, to the chant of prayers, it was carried to the candlelit sepulchre.

Officials said about 15,000 Christians were in the Holy Land for Easter tide.

Earlier in the day the pilgrims retraced the footsteps of Christ from the site of Pontius Pilate's fortress through the Streets of Sorrow to Calvary.

Some carried heavy crosses to emulate the Savior's suffering. Some wore sandals.

Others wore reproductions of the glittering helmets of the Roman legionnaires who followed Christ to his death nearly 2,000 years ago.

Throughout the afternoon, procession pilgrims stopped at 14 stations of the cross to pray in many tongues.

The stations mark where Christ was scourged and flogged, where he stumbled and fell, and, finally, where he was nailed to the cross and died.

Archbishop Angelo Dell'Aquila, an assistant Vatican secretary of state, said the Pope appeared rested as he went about his work Saturday.

For the past three days he seemed fatigued as he participated in Holy Week ceremonies and released his encyclical.

In taking part in Good Friday services in St. Peter's he did not follow the ritual of removing his shoes to walk up to a crucifix for veneration, as he had done in past years.

His Saturday services commemorating Christ's burial were offered in Roman Catholic churches around the world today as the end of Lent and joyous celebration of Easter drew near.

A highlight of the day was Pope John XXIII's scheduled annual message to the world.

Vatican sources said he would discuss his new encyclical "Pacem in Terris" — Peace on Earth — and express the wish that its call for universal peace be his Easter gift to the world.

Kelley Gets ADC-U Snub

Warmer, Too

Sun to Shine Sunday

The weather, too, will be all decked out for Easter in sunny skies and slightly warmer temperatures. A pleasant high of 58 is predicted for tomorrow.

Fair and cool is the outlook for tonight. The mercury is expected to dip to a low of 35.

The forecast for Easter Monday is fair and a little warmer.

Today's winds are from the northwest at 8 to 15 miles an hour. They will become light and variable tonight.

The lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. today was 36. At 2 p.m. the mercury stood at 55.

British Police Join March Seeking Leak in Security

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard detectives fell in with about 15,000 ban-the-bomb marchers today in an effort to learn who leaked some of Britain's nuclear survival secrets to militant opponents of nuclear weapons.

At one point in the annual 50-mile Easter March from Aldermaston to London, about 1,000 demonstrators broke off from the main group and clashed with police.

The demonstrators, singing and shouting, crossed police barriers in an effort to converge on a place near Reading which they believed to be the site of a secret underground control center to house regional governments in the event of nuclear war.

After an hour of skirmishes with police, one of the demonstrators shouted: "We have achieved our objective. Now we should leave."

The group dispersed. But more painful to British officials was the fact that the marchers distributed yesterday pamphlets containing secret information on how the government would operate in a nuclear conflict.

Besides giving the location of the control center, the pamphlets listed the names of co-ordinators of military, police, fire, food, health and transport services.

Authorities conceded it was another major security breakdown.

EXPECT UPROAR — A series of sensational espionage cases have led to charges of sloppy security against Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative government.

Kelley added that he issued 160 formal opinions last year and not one had been overruled by the courts.

The governor said he has not yet decided on the form of the independent legal aid he will seek. It will be "donated help," he said, and not a private law firm.

The experts will be nonpartisan, he said. A group of university law experts would be a good possibility, Romney said.

Romney said he will name his legal experts "as soon as possible."

If they hold that Kelley is right the governor said, "I will be receptive to their opinion."

If they say Kelley is wrong, said Romney, the matter will be taken to court.

Which court would be first given the issue has not yet been decided, said Romney and Richard Van Dusen, the governor's legal aide.

Governor Says He'll Ask New Legal Advice

Would Take Issue Into Court Before Bowing to Attorney General

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has declared he will seek other legal advice and take the issue to court before bowing to an opinion by Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley that the Michigan ADC-U bill is unconstitutional.

Romney was in a mood of controlled anger as he said:

"I intend to seek outside objective legal judgment from sources devoid of any political consideration in state government as to the constitutionality of the act."

"The attorney general's opinion is not the final word on this matter."

Kelley has ruled the law passed by the legislature and signed into law by Romney last month, intended to bring the state under the federal program of aid for dependent children of the unemployed is unconstitutional under both the state and federal constitutions.

If the opinion stands, Romney admitted, the State Social Welfare Department will be blocked from receiving the aid.

Romney was irked because Kelley issued a press release justifying his stand along with the opinion.

DOUBTS OBJECTIVITY

"The content of the attorney general's opinion and political handout raise serious doubts as to his objectivity in this matter," Romney said.

"In fact, the inaccuracies of his political charges raise obvious questions as to the accuracy of his legal opinion."

The attorney general's office was waiting for Romney's statement. Just minutes after it was issued, the governor's news conference late yesterday, Kelley had a reply ready.

An aide waited outside the governor's office and hustled down to Kelley's office to crank a mimeograph machine with the attorney general's reply.

"I have issued a formal opinion on the law, and that opinion will stand unless it is overruled by the courts," Kelley commented acerbically.

"In the meantime, the governor would do well to concentrate his efforts on the 30,000 children who need his assistance rather than on the one attorney general with whom he is so concerned."

Kelley added that he issued 160 formal opinions last year and not one had been overruled by the courts.

The governor said he has not yet decided on the form of the independent legal aid he will seek. It will be "donated help," he said, and not a private law firm.

The experts will be nonpartisan, he said. A group of university law experts would be a good possibility, Romney said.

INSPECTS DEBRIS — Vice Adm. Bernard L. Austin, chairman of the naval board of inquiry investigating the loss of the nuclear submarine Thresher, inspects debris found floating over the sunken ship. Two rubber gloves, pieces of cork and fragments of yellow plastic are being studied.

Ex-Skipper Believes Flooding Sank Sub

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — The former skipper of the ill-fated submarine Thresher testified today that he believed her loss with 129 men was associated with instantaneous floodings.

Cmdr. Dean L. Azene told a court of inquiry "there is no way for me or any one else to know what happened out there (in the Atlantic 220 miles from Boston), but it must have been associated with a flooding type casualty."

"And the flooding would have been a 1 m or 1.5 m instantaneous, leaving such short time that the personnel could not react to let someone know they were in trouble."

Cmdr. Azene, a native of Columbus, Ohio, also testified he had about the first deep sea test dive of the Thresher in the same area in which she sank, but he noted the trouble was with instruments and not the ship itself.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Vice Adm. Hyman Rickover, commander of the Navy's nuclear submarine fleet, said today that the Navy was having considerable trouble getting manufacturers to meet rigid specifications necessary for safe operation of nuclear-powered submarines.

Rickover, leader in development of atomic subs, said:

"On more than one occasion I have been in a deeply submerged submarine when a failure occurred in a sea-water system because a fitting was of the wrong material."

"But for the prompt action of the crew, the consequences would have been disastrous. In fact I might not be here today."

HARMFUL RESULTS — He made the statement in a speech before the National Metal Congress last Oct. 29 in New York.

The admiral said in the talk that he was concerned about "the harmful results caused by failure of American industry to live up to the exacting standards of reactor technology."

He cited two alleged deficiencies by management, engineers and workmen:

— Incomplete understanding of manufacturing and inspection processes.

— Poor workmanship and poor quality control.

Management "too often is satisfied in plush offices" rather than closely supervising the exacting work done in the plants on nuclear-age projects, he said.

Easter Makes a Big Difference

(In keeping with our policy of running guest editorials from time to time, our Easter message has been written by Rev. Dr. Richard C. Stuckmeyer, Pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church.)

How we anticipated and welcomed spring after a wearying winter! Spring freshens our spirit, gives hope and promise of good days. What a difference it can make.

But still the seemingly hard questions, problems and anxieties persist in our world. What are we thinking and doing to each other? What is life anyway? Is there meaning and purpose? Does it all end in futility? Is there nothing to it? Is nothing the answer and the grave the end?

Men ask these questions sincerely. There are those who reach the conclusion that life is pseudo and all is nothing. Therefore, why not race out the moment in frenzied activity, spend myself without regard for others, exert myself as I will, accept no sense of responsibility or accountability toward another. What difference does it make? There is no meaning or purpose to my being anyway.

But there is the other side. It is there for those in the world who have fear, pause, consider and believe. It is Easter. God lives.

Easter is the word of God to men everyday and always. One man in history makes the difference for all men. He, the One or all, is the Son of God and the Son of Man. Regardless of our understanding and acceptance of the old Biblical word sin, sin is here in our world. Sin is with us in all of its symptoms and reality, in the torturing and foreboding consciousness of an eternal death.

But the Good Friday and Easter Gospel proclaim that Christ died for the death of eternal and He rises as the Victor. St. Paul concludes, "the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, our Lord." This is God in Christ for me, confesses the believing child of God and at Easter the risen Christ says again, to me, "Because I live, ye shall live also."

The church in all ages repeats, "I believe in the resurrection of the body and the life everlasting." This is the

Michigan Bell Projects Capital Outlay for Area

In this age of scientific miracles, it is easy to take for granted the things we are long accustomed to that facilitate our daily living and well-being.

Such a device is the telephone. But no less noteworthy is the recent announcement by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. of a statewide appropriation of $39.8 million for improvements in communications services, new equipment, plant modernization, and new buildings.

Of the total, $1.6 million is earmarked for the Pontiac area.

Since public utilities necessarily plan expansion in advance of projected business increase, the confidence signified by this company's capital commitments is a splendid omen not only for Michigan Bell but for the area it serves.

We heartily salute a far-flung organization and a fine neighbor.

Easter faith. There is a goal, a purpose in life. It does not end with a grave and nothing. What a difference the Easter faith makes. Each day of my life on earth is a dedicated one, to serve God and man. Everything I think and do takes on significance.

I rise every morning in newness of life and I know why I am here in this world and what I am doing. My daily occupation, work and even play is a service of God to men. There are dark moments still and questions. I often miss the mark and fall. I am under constant judgment and that of God, but there is forgiveness and renewal for me and all men. We can live that way with each other.

Men can rise and live under God to serve Him and each other. Easter 1963 again offers this opportunity for a world at the crossroads. Easter is a word of grace to men now, the word of God for all. May He grant it to you, to all, to a world for it is Easter 1963. What a difference Easter can make. What a difference it does make.

The Man About Town

One-Day Visit

Easter Bunny on the Hop Hiding Eggs at Each Stop

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND
With Easter just around the clock, running a little late about a rabbit doesn't seem too harebrained. Years ago, Mary Chase wrote a play that became a Broadway hit which revolved around a vertical 4-foot INVISIBLE rabbit ... pretty early, if you ask me. His name was Harvey.

However, it seems to me that writing about a phantom rabbit is stretching the imagination pretty far. So, when I heard about a flesh-and-blood one almost as unbelievable as Harvey—a real funny bunny—my nose began twitching. This earthly creature is the property of Ann Lookadoo an 11-year-old Clarkson miss.

She took possession last fall and, hopefully expecting her pet to be blessed with progeny—a not unknown phenomenon among rabbits—named it Elsie. Elsie moved right into the house and joined the family circle.

But the "dile" that had been counted on turned out to be a "he," with his only partner of tiny rabbit feet to be heard around the house—which was probably a lot of good luck for the adult occupants.

Now called Elsie Trix to conform with the changed sex status, he has really kept things jumping. Time to start with, achievement fully qualifying him for the Hall of Fame—and now dines at the family table ... in a high chair.

Although not disdaining standard rabbit fare, he more and more fancies folks' food—e.g. his breakfast order is orange juice, oatmeal and toast ... whole wheat preferred.

But for desserts, he goes in for more exotic things—ribbing at electric clocks, telephone wires and, on the sly, taking on a small portion of rag.

What's this bunny got to go with tomorrow and hidden Easter eggs? ... Well, nothing, really—except he'd probably eat a few if he found 'em.

Well deserving a hearty round of applause is

John W. Hunt of Farmington, on the completion of his year's presidency of the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts.

Under his direction, the unit showed continued upsurge, with long-range plans for the future soundly blueprinted.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

"And they said among themselves, who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre? And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away: for it was very great."

Mark 16: 3, 4

The revelation that Jesus had risen that first Easter Sunday morning was more than Mary Magdalene and Mary, the mother of James and Salome, could comprehend at first: "... they trembled and were amazed ..."

Jesus had risen just as he had prophesied. It was the glorious climax that has given the Christian Church its full meaning. The truth of that meaning is beautifully expressed in the words of Victor Hugo, "The tomb is not blind alley: it is a thoroughfare. It closes on the twilight, it opens on the dawn."

Days of All Faiths:

Easter—Christ's Resurrection

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Tomorrow, being the first Sunday after the first full moon on or after March 21, is Easter, the great Christian spring festival commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. Easter in the early times always coincided with the Jewish Passover, as it does this year, because it was during Passover that the crucifixion and resurrection happened. But the anti-Semitism of the Christians of those days caused the church to work out its own way of determining Easter independently of the Jewish calendar.

We think anti-Semitism is bad now, and of course it is. Any anti-Semitism is too much. But there was a time centuries ago when one had to hate the Jews to be considered a good Christian. The scouring of the proper date for Easter was an example. So also was the custom of eating ham at Easter—definitely an anti-Semitic gesture.

One bit of poetic justice arose out of the fact that the Christian reckoning is subject to error and in the year 1033 all Christendom celebrated Easter on the wrong day.

CHRISTIAN OR PAGAN?

With Christians, as with followers of all other religions, the faithful have never quite been able to separate their religious spring festival from the ancient pagan ones their ancestors celebrated long ago.

Pagan customs survive. On Fifth Avenue, New York City, people who have only the foggiest notion of the Christian meaning of Easter, will pre-empt the spring goddess Oestre by wearing new clothes, thus honoring the spirit of renewal with which Oestre covers the earth.

Eggs and rabbits, real or pictorial, will be seen everywhere, both symbolizing the fertility the world hopes for in the approaching agricultural season.

NEW IN AMERICA

Easter is observed all over the United States now, but this has been true only with the last century. The Puritans would have nothing to do with it—too Popish, Episcopalians, Lutherans and Roman Catholics always kept it, and it was therefore no novelty in the states where these groups predominated, such as Virginia, Maryland, and Louisiana.

Mostly the other churches and the rest of the country ignored Easter until the slaughter of the Civil War began to fill American hearts with the hope of the resurrection of the body and the life everlasting.

A NEW BIBLE

As a matter of news to readers who would not otherwise know about it, we want to say that the American Bible Society has done us all a great favor by producing its new English Reference Bible.

The text is in the familiar and beloved King James translation. There is nothing new about that. What is new is a set of helps to the reader who wants to do more than just read.

There is a list of words that do not mean now what they meant to the King James translators. For example, in those days a "charger" meant "a platter," to "pull" was to "cut hair." This often clears up passages that would otherwise be obscure.

There is a cross reference to other parts of the Bible, so that when you are reading in one place you are told where parallel or similar passages appear in other places.

And there is a concordance of 3,700 key words to help you look up passages quickly.

An inexpensive paperback study edition sells for $2.65. The Apocrypha is not included.

Washington Notebook:

Some Won't Think This Is a Gag

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy showed members of the National Editorial Association one of his prize pictures when they called on him in his office for a briefing.

It was a snapshot of one of his sons standing in front of the White House. He said it had been taken by his sister-in-law, First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy.

The picture was framed so as to show what she had written on the back. It was "Bobby in front of his future home."

It was a real love feast when long-time United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis retired as head of the National Coal Policy Conference and was honored by his old enemies, the coal operators. As a token of their affection they presented him with an oil portrait which showed what Lewis looked like in his prime battling days.

When the painting was unveiled by George M. Love, head of Consolidated Coal Co., Lewis—now 83, with bright blue eyes shining under white hair and bushy eyebrows instead of gray—asked sardonically, "Do I look that way? I'd like to see a dark night and in a close place to meet a man of that character."

Then at the end of his remarks on coal mining, fuel oil, unemployment and Shakespeare, Lewis turned to the portrait, thanked the donors and said, "I'm going to have a hard time studying all the facets of that man's character."

The Country Parson

"I hope Christians will want to become as radiant as they look on Easter."

Voice of the People:

'How Can School Bus Bill Be Considered Legal?'

President Kennedy has stated, that use of federal funds for parochial schools is prohibited by separation of church and state.

If he is correct, how can the so-called "fair bus" bill as written, be legal in the State of Michigan?

Our public schools are the backbone of our country and we have prospered since their inception. If this bill is passed it will be the beginning of a breakdown in our public school system.

'Shouldn't Preach About Man's Faults?'

I can't understand why some preachers of the gospel are so quick to defend themselves, but do not have the least mercy or understanding when it comes to dealing with a member of their flock.

So often they make someone the subject of their well-planned sermon behind God's sacred desk. It is strange what some people call "preaching the gospel" or "the good news."

I thought preaching was telling the good that God says, not spreading the faults that man has.

Thank God, only a few are guilty of this type of message for it does more harm than good.

Portraits

By JOHN C. METCALFE

I am constantly observing ... All things which are in sight ... In the hope that to my knowledge ... Some may add a cheery light ... And I also try to listen ... To what all the people say ... As I go about my labors ... And in leisure time of day ... And I set aside some moments ... So the papers I can read ... Books that have been written ... To bring background which I need ... And I even go to movies ... And will watch the TV screen ... For the shows they list important ... And which I have never seen ... But the more I watch and listen ... And the more I read about ... All the more I am discouraged ... By what I these days find out.

Construction Up in Pontiac

Permit Value Higher Than Same '62 Period

New construction activity and permit valuation in Pontiac was higher last month than in March 1962.

There were 108 building permits issued for some $121,626 worth of construction last month, according to Carl F. Alt, city building inspector.

During the same month a year ago, 63 permits were issued for $97,183 in new construction.

Compared to the first two months of this year, March produced the largest number of permits and lowest valuation.

There were 71 permits issued for $877,567 worth of construction in February, while only 45 permits accounted for some $3,077,270 in construction value in January.

The valuation drop for March was due to a lack of any major construction jobs.

There were three permits issued for new family dwellings valued at $16,500 last month. In February, six permits were issued for new homes valued at $41,000.

During March a year ago, only one permit was issued for a home valued at $5,500.

March figures brought this year's total building permits to 224.

The value of new construction as of April 1 stood at $4,076,463 for 1963.

In the first three months of last year, there were 149 permits issued for some $417,848 worth of construction.

Rites Mark FDR's Death

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP)—A ceremony commemorating the 18th anniversary of the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt was held yesterday in the Rose Garden of the Roosevelt estate where he and his wife are buried.

Their youngest son, John, and his wife, Anne, placed gladioli sprays on both graves, which are under a single head stone.

Roosevelt died on April 12, 1945, at Warm Springs, Va. Mrs. Roosevelt died here last Nov. 7.

New-Car Sales Shattering All-Time Records Right and Left

By BEN PHILGAR
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT—With the official arrival of spring late last month,

Heavy Cross Kills Girl on Visit to Cemetery

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI)—A 500-pound granite cross toppled from a monument yesterday and killed an 8-year-old girl making a Good Friday visit to her grandparents' graves.

Scene of the incident was the Mount Olivet Cemetery here. Alice Talbot apparently had wandered away from her parents with her 11-year-old brother. The boy, heard a scream, and turned to see his sister pinned under the huge stone.

sales of new cars, already at record highs, surged as if it were give-away day at a soda fountain.

The American public embarked last October on a new-car buying spree unequalled in automotive history. October set an all-time record for any month.

Sales for the 1963 model year are a strong 15 per cent above 1955, the previous record year. But the jump in the final 10 days of March, starting March 21, was even more pronounced as sales rose to an average of 29,177 for each of the nine selling days. Only a handful of periods ever have produced so many sales.

Chief beneficiaries of this rush to the showrooms have been Chrysler Corp. and the five booming divisions of General Motors.

Ford and American Motors show lesser sales increases and both are taking a smaller share of the market than in the first quarter of last year.

Studebaker is off both in volume and market penetration.

Even at Chrysler, where volume was up 46 per cent in the first quarter, not every model is hot. The luxury Imperial is off.

MOUNT VERNON, Ill. (UPI)—Fred Stull wore a $3,700 smile today because a passerby returned the $7 $100 bills he dropped on the street yesterday.

sharply while the Chrysler car hasn't been able to match year-ago figures.

But down the price scale, Chrysler entries have shown surprising strength after several years of lackluster performances.

Byron Nichols, general manager of Dodge, says his dealers sold more cars between Oct. 1 and April 1 than ever before. Plymouth and Valiant both are sharply improved over 1962.

GM STILL SOARS

Improvement isn't enough, however, when you play in the General Motors league. "Try as we will, we haven't been able to find a chink in their armor," said Clare Briggs, vice president and general manager of Chrysler-Plymouth division.

As an example: In 1962 Chevrolet, Pontiac and Cadillac set all-time sales records. This year these three are already well

Michigan Library Week Proclaimed by Romney

In the proclamation the governor urged "all citizens to show their appreciation for libraries as a service to the individual, community and state with proper recognition."

ahead of a year ago and so are Buick and Oldsmobile.

Three of the best five sellers are GM products and the first place standard Chevrolet has sold more than double the volume of the second place Ford Galaxie.

Ford said its sales are the best since 1957, one of the last times it beat Chevrolet.

Yet the corporation's share of the total market dipped below 25 per cent early this year and stands at only 25.1 per cent for the first quarter, compared with 27.4 per cent last year.

SPORTY TREND

The industry's first quarter sales, including foreign cars, ran about 1.8 million. The previous high was 1,722,661 in 1955 when imports played only an infinitesimal role. Some 80,000 imports were sold in the first three months, lending strength to pre-

But the basic sales trend continues to favor the models jazzed up with bucket seats and big engines, Ford and Mercury introduced a host of sporty 1963 models in an attempt to capture more of this market.

One GM executive, whose division did not introduce any half-year models this year, suggested Ford sales were slowed by the public waiting to look at the "halves" rather than buying at the start of the model year.

The industry generally agrees, however, that styling is helping push the boom to record proportions. Most of the models which are lagging have not had a recent styling change.

City officials have failed twice in an effort to negotiate with the W. B. Carter Construction Co., to reduce its low bid of $25,267 by $2 to bring it within the engineer's estimate of the work.

If the difference is not settled the contract will be reopened for new bids.

Bank Getaway Fails

Nab Unlucky Bandit

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A 30-year-old Holland factory worker, described by police as the most unsuccessful bank robber in the state, was jailed here today on federal bank robbery charges in the $9,159 holdup of the Morley State bank.

Bernie J. West, seized after a 100-mile-an-hour auto chase through three western Michigan counties yesterday, admitted the holdup, police said. All of the bank loot was recovered.

Police said it was the second time West had been successful in robbing a bank.

West, who was living in Muskegon, broke into the Hopkins State bank in August 1965, but got no loot that time, they said. He was caught and drew a six-year federal prison sentence.

Macosta County Sheriff Gerald Weiss said West admitted holding up three employees of the Morley State Bank.

West's overly cautious driving was his downfall, police said. It enabled bank employees to get a good look at the car and license number.

The money in a gunny sack and a 38-caliber revolver were on the car seat, police said.

Increase Funds at U. of Michigan for Nondefense

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The federal government, which for years has spent millions on defense research at the University of Michigan, will spend even more on non-defense research this year, says Robert E. Burroughs, U. of M. director of research administration.

The department will spend about $14 million this year, he added.

The other agencies sponsoring research at U. of M. are the National Institutes of Health (more than $6 million), National Aeronautics and Space Administration (more than $4 million), Atomic Energy Commission (Some $2 million) and the National Science Foundation ($2 million).

Support Pledged

Liberals Bid for Majority Strengthens

OTTAWA (UPI) — Liberal leader Lester B. Pearson consolidated his bid for a majority government "will" pledged support from six Social Credit party leaders and the prospect of more Liberal seats when the armed service vote is released today.

It is expected Pearson's party may add as many as four to its 128-seat total in the new Parliament when the traditionally Liberal service vote is added.

Release of the 141,000 votes marks the official end of Canada's second election in less than a year.

But the political spotlight has once again shifted to Social Credit as six Quebec rebels informed Pearson and Gov. Gen. George Vanier of their intention to support Pearson and stable government.

They put it in writing, signed the document and had it delivered in Ottawa yesterday.

DEATH BLOW

The surprise move appeared to be a final death blow to a long hopes Prime Minister John Diefenbaker had of trying to hang on with 96 members and splinter-party support in the 26th Parliament.

Although both Social Credit and the New Democrats have indicated they would support responsible policies of any government, the six Socialists have now given Pearson tangible assurance that he could command the magic number of 133 votes necessary for a parliamentary majority.

On their own initiative, the six said they were not acting as Liberals, not expecting any favors, but considered it in the best interests of all Canadians to maintain a majority government.

They urged that a liberal government be formed without delay and prepare "immediately a program of action to put before parliament."

Their sole reservation was that means that there will be a majority support in parliament of a Liberal government acting in the best interests of Canada," he said.

His Quebec chief, Lionel Chevrier, hailed the news with "surprise and pleasure," noting it was offered "with no strings attached."

Diefenbaker, spending the Easter weekend at his country residence at nearby Harrington Lake, had no comment.

Speculation mounted that he might announce his resignation soon after a cabinet meeting scheduled for Tuesday.

"Their declared intention now

CENTURY-OLD CUSTOM — Allison Mitchell is learning the art of boiling and dying Easter eggs at the same time. Looking on are small sisters (left) Toni and Georgia. The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell of 66 Wenonah Drive, the girls attend St. George Greek Orthodox Church where the eggs will be taken for an Easter rite tonight.

Resurrection Service at Midnight

Celebrate Easter Egg Rite

One of the most symbolic and beautiful Easter customs of the St. George Greek Orthodox Church is the preparing, giving eating of eggs. The resurrection service at midnight will be followed by Resurrection Divine Liturgy at 1 p.m.

Women of the congregation this week boiled and dyed red hundreds of eggs. At the close of the Divine Liturgy tonight the eggs will be blessed and distributed to the congregation by the Rev. Gus Tsompanas, pastor.

Members' will then go about

The idea of the egg as a symbol of fertility and of renewed life goes back to the ancient Egyptians.

One of the earliest known use of the egg in religion was in connection with the Egyptian sun god Ra. The Egyptians colored the eggs red because it was the closest color they had to the color of the sun.

The shell represented the earth, the whites represented the heavens and the yolk portrayed the sun.

"In Christianity the Easter egg represents the sealed tomb in which the body of Jesus Christ was placed after His crucifixion," said Pastor Tsompanas.

He went on to say "Tradition tells us the custom of the Easter egg had its start with Mary Magdalene.

"After the Ascension of Christ she went to the emperor of the Roman Empire and greeted him with "Christ Is Risen" as she gave him a red egg. She then greeting one another and hitting the eggs together. Upon the cracking of the eggs the words "Christ Is Risen" are said by the one whose eggs are cracked. The other then replies "Truly He Is Risen."

"The cracking of the eggs means the seal of the tomb is broken and "Christ Is Risen." The eating of the eggs at Easter is symbolic of breaking Lent, since dairy and meat products are avoided in a strict fast during Holy Week," the priest said.

Light colors such as white, ivory or tan represent the fine linen cloth in which Christ's body was wrapped before placing in the sepulchre.

The color green is a reminder of the fresh vegetation of spring; blue represents the heavenly blue of the skies, and yellow marks the star-light of the early-morning of the Resurrection. Purple represents the joy of Christ resurrected.

Youth for Christ Rally in Pontiac Northern

Don Louie, well known youth speaker, and the Sons of Harmony Quartet will be special guests at the Youth for Christ Rally at 7:30 tonight in Pontiac Northern High School auditorium.

Mr. Louie has spoken through-out Oakland County to many senior high and Junior high school assemblies as well as to civic groups and Parent-Teacher Associations.

Bob Jones University conferred an honorary doctor of laws degree upon him for his contribution to the moral and religious training of the youth of the nation.

The Sons of Harmony Quartet consists of four teen-age young men from Flint. They have been singing together for four years. Two years ago they were first place winners in the Northern States Quartet Convention Contest held at Masonic Temple, Detroit.

Their first long play record was released in November. Over 500 were sold in four weeks.

Finding New Methods of Distributing Bible

MANILA (UPI) — Resourceful Filipino businessmen have heeded a call from the Philippine Bible Society to find imaginative new ways to distribute the scriptures. A handbag manufacturer has been placing a copy of the Gospel of John in each purse and a plastics manufacturer puts a scripture portion into each clothing bag he makes.

BREAK GROUND — Fred Furr of 3615 Frankman St., Waterford Township, Glenn Sherman of Rochester, elders of the Waterford Township Church of Christ, turn the shovel to break ground for the new church.

Church of Christ to Build in Waterford Township

Ground breaking services were being obtained by selling in-kind this week for the new $75,000 vestment bonds that pay six per cent interest per year. Approximately $35,000 in bonds are still of Christ at 4991 Williams Lake Road.

The building site on Williams Lake Road is a block off Dixie Highway. Warren Drive is the southeast boundary of the property. The Waterford congregation presently meets at 5800 Andersonville Road in Waterford.

Mr. Cross said this was a dream come true for the charter members who had worked for this day since the congregation was established four years ago.

Home Like Brilliant Jewel

BY REBA HEINTZELMAN
Pontiac Press Home Editor

If Early American can be charming and also elegant at the same time, then the interior of the Arthur B. Sonneborns' lovely home on Island Lake fits the picture.

Drive up Hickory Lane to the small turn-around and you can't help stopping to take a second look at the eye-catching home that is nestled in a hill like a brilliant jewel. It's SPARKLING red and white.

Hand-made hooked and wool-branded rugs add warmth to the old brick and wooden pegged flooring. Art treasures collected from all parts of the world are tastefully arranged throughout the big 12-room house.

OLD-STYLE WINDOWS

The old style "keeping room," now referred to as the family room, is a delightful combination of rugged pioneer living and the comforts of present day living.

A hand-hewn beam is recessed into old brick above the fireplace opening. Although the window panes are divided into squares as in early Michigan houses, the glass is set in big 12-inch squares providing an atmosphere of spaciousness.

background for LIVING

A sun-filled library on the southeast corner of the house is two steps up from a comfortably formal living room. Cafe curtains on large brass rods are framed by colorful draperies on each side.

There seems to be no end to Mrs. Sonneborn's many hobbies. Intricate music tinkles from the old Steinway piano, and when she's not taking photographs of her grandchildren and friends, the genial little lady is making unique silhouettes.

Today's pictures tell the story much better than mere words.

RED AND WHITE BEAUTY — As fresh as bright red and white tulips in the springtime, is the Arthur Sonneborns' charming home on Island Lake. Gray cut stone is set off by the striking red and white house which is built into a hill of large oak trees. Although it looks ranch-type from the winding road, the home seems to spread all over the acreage it is built on. The property juts out into the lake, so that the Sonneborns have a beautiful view — and breeze — from three sides facing the lake. The house surrounds a large front porch on the opposite side of the entrance.

GREENERY ADDS LIFE — Although live green vines creep around the ceiling of this unusual "keeping room," the effect is not overwhelming. The petite Mrs. Sonneborn is a "natural" when it comes to raising plants and she has had hundreds of African violets of every conceivable variety. The old brick fireplace, musket, hand-hewn beam-mantle are all nostalgic reminders of the old keeping rooms that are now called family rooms.

LIVING ROOM ENTRANCE — The first thing that greets a guest entering the lovely Sonneborn home is this entrance to the sunken living room. Farther on is a big glassed-in porch overlooking Island Lake, where the Sonneborns' grandchildren can romp, and entertain their guests. The property juts out into the lake, providing beautiful lake scenery from three sides.

LOVELY ENTRANCE — An old grandfather's clock quietly ticks off the hours in the Sonneborns' spacious entrance hall. Double louvered doors at the right of the picture open into the formal sunken living room. Crystal glass light fixtures, the colorful hooked rug that covers old brick flooring, and the white-spindled railing that leads to the lower living quarter all add up to one of the most delightful homes in the area.

GUESTS' QUARTERS — It's a real pleasure for guests visiting the Sonneborns to enjoy the complete privacy of the downstairs apartment. The long living room has bright print paper over pine-paneled wainscoting. Every room is in keeping with the fact that the house is located outside the city. They are simply arranged, colorful and have an easy flow for living.

SERENE ELEGANCE — The muted shade of light-colored coffee on the walls (cafe a lait), is a lovely background for the Sonneborns' priceless heirlooms. There's no fuss or muss anywhere in this sunken living room that extends some 30 feet from end to end. In the summer, the floor-to-ceiling window wall at the right of the picture, opens onto a huge porch, making the living room even bigger.

FARMHOUSE FLAVOR — An arched portico, shuttered windows and a distinctive L-shape give a homey look to this eight-room ranch. The house has three or four bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths. Laundry and service facilities are on the main level, and a full cellar is optional.

FLOOR PLAN — The basic house contains 1,295 square feet; laundry and heater room adds 184 square feet; garage is 241 square feet. If 1,394-square-foot cellar is added the stairs would be located in the heater space. Note the dual-use of the bathing section of the main bathroom.

Here's Real Daydream for You House Hunters

By JULES LOH
An eight-room country type ranch house which will fit comfortably on a 65-foot city lot sounds like a house hunter's daydream.

But here it is. A masterpiece of budget housing. Today's House of the Week not only has four bedrooms, but its L-shape design, together with an excellent choice of exterior materials, give it a distinctive character and a warm and expensive look.

Board and batten siding, wood shingles and a touch of ship lap combine with an arched portico and shuttered windows for a particularly homespun flavor.

The house, designed by architect Samuel Paul as J-49 in the family room or both.

The dining room bridges the square feet of basic living area in over-all dimensions of 32 feet, 4 inches wide by 32 feet, 10 inches deep.

Architect Paul has left a couple of major decisions to the owners.

BASEMENT OPTION
For one, the house can be built either with or without a basement.

A full basement would mean an extra 1,394 square feet. The stairs would be located in the heater space.

The other option is the location of the dining room walls.

Paul shows dotted lines on the accompanying floor plan, signifying that the room can open either to the living room or the

J69 Statistics

An eight room house containing 1,295 square feet in basic house; 134 square feet in laundry-storage area; 241 square feet in garage. Optional cellar would add 1,394 square feet. Over-all Dimensions are 32 feet four inches wide by 32 feet 10 inches deep in L-shape. Garage adds 11 feet 8 inches to width and 4 feet to depth. Minimum lot size: 65 by 100 feet. Basic exterior materials: wood shingles, board and batten siding.

formal and informal living area," said Paul.

"With neither wall you achieve a visually expanded living area and no clear separation of these two zones, a plan some prefer. Or you could expand either the formal or the informal zone, depending on your need."

The kitchen is especially well located in this house. A window is over the sink counter, which means that from that spot a housewife has full view of all three entrances to the house — front, side and rear.

Moreover, the kitchen is convenient to all these entrances, a perfect hub for all daylight activity.

A Dutch door, which can function as a serving counter, leads to the dining room.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

Paul has designed an extremely logical and efficient bathroom arrangement for this house, a feature which adds both glamor and economy, two virtues which customarily are incompatible.

He has split the main bath into two compartments with a separate bathing room toward the rear.

The bathing room also is accessible directly from the lavatory adjoining the master bedroom.

Equally noteworthy is the absence of a conventional tub.

This one is a built-in Roman tub, making below the large level with wide marble ledges, a tile step and a translucent sliding door.

Another nice feature is the extra room adjoining the main entrance foyer.

Because of its location adjoining both the living and sleeping zones it can serve either as a fourth bedroom or as a private den or office.

LARGE LIVING ROOM

The living room is large, with plenty of wall space, cross ventilation and a picture window overlooking the rear terrace.

The family room also is attractive, with windows at front and rear, overlooking the front porch and the rear porch.

A door leads to the covered rear porch; and note the built-in cabinet for the TV or hi-fi.

A 134-square foot utility room for laundry and storage facilities is located between the family room and garage, providing main-level convenience even if a basement is included.

Dutch doors lead from the front portico, a nifty arrangement for kids coming in with muddy boots.

The garage has an eight-foot wide storage area in the rear, convenient to the backyard as well; an excellent arrangement to keep garden tools and such from cluttering up the garage.

Outdoor facilities are excellent in this house, and add much to the looks.

Both the front portico and rear porch are covered, an asset that becomes more appreciated as the summer drags on.

To raise money for some school project, you might take a tip from a group of Indiana mothers who used the "soft approach" to find dollars for their youngsters' band uniforms. They sold foam rubber cushions in school colors at basketball games.

Distinctive New Trends Expected in '63 Homes

Changing needs and desires of American families are giving birth to a host of distinctive new trends in home design that will be unveiled this spring, according to a pre-season survey of leading builders and architects by the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

The new line—to appear in many homes this spring in all price ranges and in all parts of the country—will be expressed mainly in practical arrangement of space and in decorative details of exterior and interior design.

More storage space will be provided within living areas, especially in higher-priced homes. More closets and built-ins for bulk storage will be included in bedrooms and utility rooms.

At the same time, over-all house size fill will be increased and home buyers will be able to get more living space for their money.

MORE CAR PORTS
Many builders and architects are swinging to car ports in place of garages and diverting the cost savings to family rooms or recreation rooms.

The attractive extras once found only in kitchens and baths will be provided in many other rooms. Full-ceiling illumination is spreading to hallways.

Easy-to-clean solid vinyl floor tile in such new luxurious styles as travertine, which requires no waxing and provides a look of actual travertine marble, is being used in living and dining rooms and bedrooms.

Telephone jacks are being put in every room.

Built-in hi-fi and air conditioning also will be found in many new homes, along with built-in drawers and storage bins beneath bunk beds in children's rooms and fireplaces and sound-absorbing ceiling tiles in master bedrooms.

FANCY ENTRYWAYS
Front door hardware will be more decorative, and custom fixtures, wall and floor coverings, built-in planters, shelves and dividers will be used in foyers to add distinction to entryways.

Many homes built on two levels will have two-story living rooms and step-down arrangements in single-level homes will provide a foot or more of extra ceiling height in living rooms.

The demand for separate dining rooms is growing and more new homes than ever before will have them.

Many builders also are planning interior space to include special areas such as sewing centers, kitchen offices and home workshops.

In exterior design, new roof lines as well as changes in window patterns and siding are in the offing.

Roof pitches are being made higher, with more overhangs. The trend is toward simplicity and order in siding materials and windows, away from mixtures of various styles and sizes.

Since 1900 the number of U.S. citizens over age 65 has increased 4½ times while the total population has not much more than doubled. Interest in appropriate housing for these senior citizens has been receiving continually added emphasis in recent years.

STEP ASIDE PLEASE — Apparently Cranbrook's Larry Willey heard PCH's Jan Anderson (5) roaring toward first base as he seems to be ducking out of the way after making the putout in the game yesterday. Central failed to reach the bag safely much too often in the contest as the Cranes posted an 8-2 victory.

Cranbrook Tops PCH, 8-2

Cranes Paced By Billesdon; Mosher In Win

Errors Hamper Chiefs; Bushey Paces Central With Double, Single

Pontiac Central opened its baseball campaign Friday and did nothing to harm host Cranbrook's growing reputation as one of the top teams in the county.

The Cranes win Billesdon, Dick Mosher and John Billesdon, had another fine day as the Cranbrook blues walked off with an 8-2 triumph over PCH.

Mosher had four hits, including a double and triple and three runs batted in, and Billesdon pitched five-hit ball, struck out seven and contributed a triple and single to the winners' attack.

Central jumped into the lead when catcher Neil Roberts drove home a run in the top of the first inning. The Cranes took advantage of four errors in the bottom of the inning, however, and moved ahead 3-1.

The Chiefs added another run to their total in the next inning, and Cranbrook put the contest out of reach with a four-run explosion that drove PCH pitcher Bob Farms from the hill.

Dick Bushey had a double and single for the Chiefs and scored both runs. Guy Bramble and Dale Bosley added doubles to the Cranbrook hitting attack that produced five extra base blows in eight safeties.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Gary Player re-learned an old lesson — golf is a humbling game — and in the process he slipped from first place to tie for 17th as the $35,000 Greater Greensboro Open moved into its third round today.

The Little South African was almost lost in the pack after a second round 74 yesterday during which he four-putted the 17th green, missing a backhand from about 3 inches.

While Player was having his troubles, Doug Sanders unleashed a 35-30-65 round, only one over the event record, and moved into the halfway lead on a record-breaking 135. The Georgia native with the short swing held a three-shot edge over Dave Marr of New Rochelle, N.Y., whose 67 gave him a 136 total.

Weber Leads PBA Into Finals Today

St. Louis Pro Yet to Win on 1963 Circuit

Head-Head Matches Begin Early Today for 3:30 P.M. Finale

By JERE CRAIG

Dick Weber hopes to crack his "bridesmaid" role today as the Professional Bowlers Association's Pontiac Open Tournament enters its final round.

Weber posted his fifth PBA qualifying round victory last night in 14 tournaments this season when he led 128 entrants with a 5,122 pin total for 24 games.

However, the slender, steady St. Louisan has not won a big title this season except for the National All-Star championship at Kansas City, Mo., which was conducted along different lines from the regular PBA tournaments.

At $15,000 for first place, however, that is a big exception.

Weber, averaging 213 for the 24 qualifying games, took the lead after 18 games with a strong 1,322 six-game series and added 1,261 last night to clinch the top spot. He and 15 other pros drew for their opponents this morning at 3:30 P.M. Three-game, head-to-head matches that were to eliminate eight finalists, and then four more later with a similar arrangement.

The four remaining pros then will appear on the nationally televised final from 8:30-9 p.m. today for the $5,000 first prize. A total purse of $23,400 will be distributed to the top 32 scorers in the tournament.

RECEIVE CHECKS
In addition, the money winners from Wednesday night's Pro-Am event will be presented at 3:30 P.M. just before the start of this afternoon's PBA finals.

The halfway leader, Bill Johnson of Kansas City, fell into a third-place tie after 18 games Friday but bounced back to earn second place among the 16 qualifiers with a final six games of 1,388 and a 5,073 total.

Fellow Kansas City Bill Pines, however, a 1,316 final six and jumped from an eighth-place tie into the third slot.

Four Detroiters were among the qualifiers. Tom Harnisch had 4,982 for sixth place, George Howard rolled 4,917 for 10th spot, and Bob Strampe and Tony Pugliese tied with 4,864 for the final two qualifying berths.

Others to make the cutoff were St. Louisans Al Savas and Harry Smith, Bill Harwood of San Mateo, Calif.; J. Wilbert Sims and defending champion Carmes Leung, both from Chicago; J. Bill Schroeder of Buffalo, N.Y.; Bill Karach of Kenosha, Wis.; Bill Allen of Orlando, Fla.; and Max Fair from South Bend, Ind.

One pin off the qualifying pace and named as alternate was Dick Hoover from St. Louis. The top amateur among the ten entered in the field of 128 was Ted Ford's Jack Norton who was out of the money, finishing with a 4,766 total.

Making a big run for the upper echelons of the standings Friday was J. Wilbert Sims. Residing in 18th position at the midway point, Sims bombed the pins for a 1,365 series, the tops in the qualifying, and hoped into second place during 18 games.

He slid back to fifth place during the final six games. He also tied Johnson for the high tournament game when he rolled a 270 during the afternoon session Friday.

Expect Weeb Ewbank To Be Titans' Coach

NEW YORK (AP)—Officially, it's still a bit iffy, but unofficially it seems certain that Weeb Ewbank will become the new coach and general manager of the New York Titans of the American Football League.

David Sonny Werblin, head of the five-man syndicate which has taken over control of the one-bankrupt team, has called a press conference for Monday, apparently to make the formal announcement.

DICK WEBER Leads PBA Qualifying

CLEVELAND (AP) — Detroit Tiger manager Bob Scheffing needs a fourth starter. He hopes to find him today when he throws right-hander Phil Regan at the Cleveland Indians.

Regan, a 24-year-old from Wayland, Mich., has had good and bad games in his two years with the Tigers. He probably never would have been considered for a regular starting assignment if Paul Foytack hadn't been handicapped in spring training by a sore arm.

Then, too, Frank Lary's condition is still questionable, and if Regan can take a regular turn, Scheffing could wait until the weather warms up before testing Lary's ailing arm.

"Regan has pitched some pretty good ball early in the season," Scheffing said. "If he can do it again, it could help us get away to a good start."

The Tigers have had some excellent pitching performances in their first three games of the young baseball season.

Jim Bunning was rapped for three runs on seven hits in the Tigers' opening day 7-5 loss to the Chicago White Sox, but Dick Egan, who came in on relief, and Bob Dostal, who followed, didn't give up a hit.

The Tigers followed with two straight victories, beating Chicago 2-1 on Hank Aguirre's capable seven-hit performance and downing Cleveland 6-1 on Don Mossi's masterful two-hitter.

"Bunning made one bad pitch against the White Sox — the homer by Pete Ward — but with a little help from our infield he might've gotten by," Scheffing said.

"Aguirre didn't really have his good stuff in the second game but he still held the Sox to one run. That's the mark of a good pitcher."

"And Mossi — you can't ask for a better job than he did against the Indians."

Regan will be opposed by Cleveland's Pedro Ramirez in today's game, described by Scheffing as "our most important . . . so far."

The Los Angeles Dodgers may not be hit by dissension, but on the other hand, they're not hitting.

The Dodgers took the field against Houston and rapped Dick Farrell for four hits and one run in 12 innings as the Colts squeezed out a 2-1 victory last night.

In the only other game scheduled yesterday, Kansas City's Ed Rakow allowed only two hits as the A's won for the first time this season, 6-0 over Minnesota. The Colts' victory also was their first.

Wings Must Sharpen People, Funds Attack Sunday or . . .

Yale High Eliminates Athletic Program

DETROIT (AP) — The desperate Detroit Red Wings have the advantage of home ice Sunday in their effort to avert a Toronto sweep in the final playoff for the Stanley Cup.

It means mostly that Gordie Howe will have a better chance of skating away from his shadow.

At home, the Wings will pick their starting lineup after their Maple Leafs, Detroit, thus, can juggle around a little more in hopes of loosening the guard on the National Hockey League scoring champion.

The Red Wings, down 3-0 to the Maple Leafs in the best-of-five competition, are looking for any sort of tonic to revive them. The series resumes with the third game at Detroit's Olympia Stadium.

The fourth game also will be at Toronto on Tuesday.

Toronto won the first two games at its own Maple Leaf Gardens by 4-2 scores.

"Perhaps home ice will be the pickup we need," said Coach Al Abel, whose Wings lost the first two games of their semifinal series with Chicago and won the next four.

"We did pretty well at home all season and it certainly worked in our favor during the Chicago series. But if it doesn't help us in Sunday's game we're done."

The Red Wings had a 19-0-6 record at Olympia as they finished fourth in the regular-season NHL standings. They beat the first-place Leafs five times against one loss and one tie on Detroit ice.

TWO SHADOWS

Howe has been assigned two shadows to cover him in the playoffs and neither has succeeded in stopping him. But Eric Nesterenko's play helped the Black Hawks beat Detroit in the first two semifinal games at Chicago. And Eddie Shack's shadowing can cut somewhat into Howe's efficiency in the Toronto series.

"We started going at home against Chicago because I was made to make sure Howe wasn't against Nester at the face on again," Nester said. "He had to put Nester in on the fly. This confused him a little more and made him scramble to chase Gordie."

"I hope the same thing works against Shack."

The remarkable Howe managed to break from Shack—and the effects of the fly-to-face on again—by scoring goals in Thursday's loss at Toronto.

He has six goals in the eight playoff games so far. Howe has chipped in with at least one scoring point in Detroit's last 30 games—eight in the playoffs and the final 22 of the regular season.

Frank Mahovlich, the Thrush scorer who missed Thursday's game with an injured knee, skated yesterday. But coach Punch Imlach, who thought before the workout that Mahovlich would be okay for Sunday's game, said afterwards he wasn't sure about a consultation with several of his veteran players, is considering benching defenseman Howie Young, the NHL's penalty bad boy for Sunday's game.

Young, who's fallen to Detroit's fifth defenseman and used to score in the playoffs, was disappointed again in Abel Thursday.

If Young's benching goes through, Lou Maroon would replace him.

Yale High Eliminates Athletic Program

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Veteran head basketball coach Allen Taveggia and track mentor Clarence Brouwer resigned the posts yesterday at Ottawa Hills high school.

YALE (AP)—The Yale board of education has decided to eliminate athletics and curricular programs in September following the rejection of a 3% mill tax increase and a $1,125,000 building program in the April 1 election.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Steve August, University of Michigan sophomore celebrating his 20th birthday, won the national intercollegiate four-wall handball tournament yesterday.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—One of baseball's great left-handed pitchers, Rube Marquard, says the Los Angeles Angels' two pitching prima donnas, Bo Belinsky and Dean Chance, should duck the night life crowd.

"I'm afraid these two young men don't realize that they're just throwing their money away in the night spots," said the former New York Giant star, as he chatted with Angel general manager Fred Haney.

MEMPHIS (AP)—First place in division 2 singles of the Women's International Bowling Congress Tournament was taken over Friday by Vivian Stout of Nashville, Tenn., with a 556 series.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Colin Chapman of London entered a third Lotus 'Ford' today in the Indianapolis 500-Mile Memorial race.

No driver was named and a speedway officials speculated that it was the prototype car tested at high speeds here last month by Grand Prix drivers Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., and Jim Clark of Scotland.

1st Trip to ABC Meet Finds Team Atop Class

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A Canadian team, making its first appearance in an American Bowling Congress tournament, stood atop the booster division today with 2,865.

The Royal Hotel team of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., took the division lead last night from Andrea's TV of San Juan. The Puerto Ricans fired 2,815 Wednesday.

Eddie Sackett led the Canadians with a 610 series.

Cahn't We Get Togethah on English?

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Among the missives that found their way into any pillar box this week was a communication from the publishers of the new Encyclopedia International.

WEST

It arrived on the day that Sir Winston Churchill became an honorary U.S. citizen, which was appropriate because it also concerns Anglo-American friendship and understanding.

The encyclopedia people are seeking to help the United States and Great Britain bridge the language barrier that separates the two countries.

They are doing this as a public service although I gather they wouldn't object to selling a few encyclopedias along the way.

For many years, as you know, our relations with our British cousins have been fairly amiable, give or take the Skybolt missile and former Chicago Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson.

The one major impediment has been our speech. Our speech and their speech. It is very difficult for us not to become irritated by the way the British talk. And vice versa.

The "pillar box" mentioned above is one example. In Britain, a pillar box is the place where you put the mail.

We can only hope that they don't put pillars in the mail box.

Recognizing that complete rapport can never be established as long as such lingual friction exists, the new encyclopedia has included a section called "American English" which brings the conflict out into the open where it can be examined by both sides.

There are, it tells us, at least 50,000 vocabulary differences between American English and English English. Clearly, certain concessions are in order.

As a starter, I proposed that we adopt the English English term for the American English "bouncer." Over there, they call him a "chucker-out," which is a more accurate job title.

It has been my observation that persons ousted from bars, or "pubs," rarely bounce when they hit the sidewalk.

In return, I think they should accept the American English "water heater" as being more progressive than the English English "geyser." It is true that water heaters in Britain once erupted almost as regularly as Old Faithful, but I'm told the plumbing has improved. I also would give the nod to the American English "thumbtack" over the English English "drawing pin." Then, to even things up, we should embrace the English English version of callisthenics. In the British Isles, reducing or body-building exercises are called "physical jerks." Obviously, that is much superior to American English, for it describes not only the exercises but the people who take the exercises.

Famed Navy Pilot Dies of Leukemia

DETROIT (UPI)—William E. Delaney, a much-decorated Navy pilot credited with sinking a Japanese battleship during World War II, died yesterday of leukemia. He was 46.

Delaney was 28 when he and two crew members in a dive bomber were credited with sinking the battleship Yamato in the Pacific.

He put his ship into a dive at 1,200 feet and fire from the battleship and its destroyer escorts struck the plane as the bombs were released.

Before he and the crew parachuted from the plane, they scored four direct hits.

First of the three cent stamps World production of nickel in one year reached a peak of 390 million pounds.

Four Reported Killed in Fighting in Katanga

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP)—The Interior Ministry said at least four people were killed and many wounded during an outbreak of tribal fighting in the mining center of Jadotville Friday.

The ministry said 60 Baluba tribesmen from Elisabethville refugee camp started the trouble by disarming a police patrol.

Missile Sub Takes Station

WASHINGTON (AP) — A second Polaris missile submarine has taken station in the Mediterranean, the Defense Department announced yesterday.

The Pentagon has said the last of the three scheduled for that assignment is due to arrive some time this month.

As was the case in the announcement on March 30 of the first ship taking station, the Pentagon declined to name the new arrival.

Recently the State Department said a Polaris ship would visit a Turkish port later this month.

Yesterday's announcement means 32 Polaris rockets are now in position to take over potential targets which have been covered by the older Jupiter land-based missiles located in Turkey and Italy. These are being removed. In Turkey, 15 Jupiters have been on launch pads, with 30 in Italy.

Two Brothers Reunited After Murder Trials

PALERMO, Sicily (UPI) — Two brothers were reunited yesterday for the first time since they were sentenced to prison in 1925 for the murders of four persons.

Giovanni and Salvatore Sacco had been sentenced to life terms and confined in separate jails. Salvatore was pardoned by President Antonio Segni last October and Giovanni was given a pardon a few days ago.

Soviet Russia, China, and India comprise the three most heavily populated nations of the world today.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

A letter from Fitchburg, Mass., reads, "I have heard that the correct play at rubber bridge and at match point duplicate is not the same. Can you give an example?"

Today's hand is on a South-at-bridge basis. South is on a normal three-no-trump contract on standard, simple bidding.

West has an automatic queen of spades lead and South should win the trick with his king and go JACOBY right after the club suit.

At rubber bridge he plays the king of clubs and then overtakes his queen with dummy's ace. He knows that he is probably giving up a trick by this play but he needs only five club tricks for game and rubber and he wants to guard against the possibility that clubs will break 4-1.

It is a wise precaution. If he fails to overtake the queen of clubs he will wind up only seven tricks. His opponents will collect a 200-point penalty and the rubber will still be going on.

In duplicate, declarer has a real problem. He will recognize the safety play, but he will probably decide against it and go down. His reasoning will be along these lines: "Everyone else will be in the same three-no-trump contract and will probably get the same opening lead. The odds are against a 4-1 club break. Therefore, why should I give up a trick in order to play safe?"

In duplicate, extra tricks are worth extra risk.

Plan Director to Comment on Zoning

Robert Dieball, Waterford Township's planning director, will comment on the proposed zoning ordinance at Monday's meeting of the Township Board.

Public hearings on the revised ordinance, designed to provide greater township control over land use, were held in January.

Copies of the zoning text were distributed to board members last week. A vote on adoption of the new ordinance is expected in the near future.

In other business, the board will consider the requested transfer of a combination liquor license and beer and wine license from 2135 Dixie Highway to 4265 Dixie Highway.

Also slated for board attention is the proposed appointment of Charles Sitton to the township's youth assistance committee to replace Rev. Walter Teeuwissen who has resigned.

'Hazel' Moseys Back to 3rd Big Season

 By BOB THOMAS
 AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—At a time when many television series are, warily awaiting a life-or-death sentence, "Hazel" is happily launching its new season.

The NBC comedy show, one of the few series with a single sponsor, has begun shooting its programs for the 1963-64 season. After 13 are in the can, the company will disband for a summer vacation, reporting back for the rest of the season in the fall.

"Hazel" seems destined for a long life, largely because of the engaging personality of its star, Shirley Booth. Beginning her third year as the nosy, warm-hearted maid, she appears willing to continue in the role indefinitely.

A top award winner of both the stage and screen, she raised eyebrows among her fellow actors when she accepted the series. They asked why she needed the television grind.

The answer seems to be that she doesn't consider it a grind, and that may explain at least part of "Hazel's" success.

"I like my work," she commented. "It's confining, but I compensate for that. I have adjusted to the kind of life I lead."

When Miss Booth is working here, she lives at the Chateau Marmont, a homey place that is favored by New York visitors. Unlike many New York actors, she likes living here—"take away the smog and you've got paradise."

But her permanent home is in the East. She owns an apartment in New York and a house on Cape Cod. With "Hazel" prospering, she doesn't even think about a return to the stage. "I still have scripts sent to me, but I don't read them," she said. "My agent knows not even to submit them to me."

"WHAT'S UP, DOC?" — Neither the live rabbit named "Whitey" nor the live rabbit named "Whitey" could possibly produce those eggs in the basket, but fairy-tale tradition says they do. Whatever the reason, children all over the world will be searching tomorrow for nests filled with colorful eggs hidden by the Easter Bunny.

It'll Be a Busy Night for the Easter Bunny

The Easter Bunny — that gay little fellow who leaves beautifully colored eggs in hidden nests — is with us again.

Whether he is a real hare or a stuffed toy, the Easter rabbit is very much a part of today's Easter story. Come tomorrow morning, children all over the world will be hunting for those eggs.

However, some curious children figure rabbits can't lay eggs so why look for Easter eggs left by a bunny?

One of the many stories of how the rabbit became traditionally associated with colored eggs stems from an old German legend.

A poor woman dyed some eggs during a famine and hid them in a nest as an Easter gift for her children. Just as the youngsters discovered the nest, a big white rabbit jumped away.

The story soon spread that the rabbit had brought the Easter eggs.

Symbolically, the egg has been used in ancient Easter rites to represent the spring season and the revival of the earth's fertility.

The longing for colorful flowers of spring following the long, cold winter motivated the custom of coloring Easter eggs in beautiful gay colors, many believe.

In America the Easter bunny is many things. He is a cardboard bunny with a kangaroo-pouch of candy eggs or the chocolate bunny imprinted with a child's name.

He is "Bugs Bunny" or a soft, cuddly toy.

But most of all he is the rabbit which hides brightly colored eggs for children to find Easter Sunday morning.

Penitent Share Christian Joy in Holy Land

Thousands Flock to Jerusalem for Ritual of the Resurrection

JERUSALEM, Jordan (AP) — Thousands of Christians have flocked to the Holy Land for Eastertide to share in the rituals marking the crucifixion, burial and resurrection of Christ.

Eastern and Western churches held four separate burial services on Good Friday. Sunday, the pagentry of worship turns to the joys of Easter.

Pilgrims knelt beneath flickering candles at Calvary on Good Friday night as priests lifted an effigy of Christ's body from the cross and buried it in Jerusalem's ancient Church of the Holy Sepulchre — to most Christians the exact site of Christ's crucifixion.

Calvary is now a balcony inside the church doors, its bare rock shielded with rich mosaics, candles and clusters of glowing lanterns.

Pilgrims from many lands bowed in the dark vaults of the church crumbling with age and resounding with chants of hymns. They watched robed and bearded Catholic priests withdraw nails from the cross on Calvary.

EFFIGY ANOINTED

Christ's effigy, wrapped in sheets of linen, was anointed. Then, to the chant of prayers, it was carried to the candlelit sepulchre.

Officials said about 15,000 Christians were in the Holy Land for Eastertide.

Earlier in the day the pilgrims retraced the footsteps of Christ from the site of Pontius Pilate's fortress through the Streets of Sorrow to Calvary.

Some carried heavy crosses to emulate the Savior's suffering. Some wore sandals.

Others wore reproductions of the glittering helmets of the Roman legionnaires who followed Christ to his death nearly 2,000 years ago.

Throughout the afternoon, procession pilgrims stopped at 14 stations of the cross to pray in many tongues.

The stations mark where Christ was scourged and flogged, where he stumbled and fell, and, finally, where he was nailed to the cross and died.

Archbishop Angelo Dell'Acqua, an assistant Vatican secretary of state, said the Pope appeared rested as he went about his work Saturday.

For the past three days he seemed fatigued as he participated in Holy Week ceremonies and released his encyclical.

In taking part in Good Friday services in St. Peter's he did not follow the ritual of removing his shoes to walk up to a crucifix for veneration, as he had done in past years.

Holy Saturday services commemorating Christ's burial were offered in Roman Catholic churches around the world today as the end of Lent and joyous celebration of Easter drew near.

A highlight of the day was Pope John XXIII's scheduled annual message to the world.

Vatican sources said he would discuss his new encyclical "Pacem in Terris" — Peace on Earth — and express the wish that its call for universal peace be his Easter gift to the world.

Romney Turns to Others

Kelley Gets ADC-U Snub

Warmer, Too

Sun to Shine Sunday

The weather, too, will be all decked out for Easter in sunny skies and slightly warmer temperatures. A pleasant high of 58 is predicted for tomorrow.

Fair and cool is the outlook for tonight. The mercury is expected to dip to a low of 35.

The forecast for Easter Monday is fair and a little warmer.

Today's winds are from the northwest at 8 to 15 miles an hour. They will become light and variable tonight.

The lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. today was 36. At 1 p.m. the mercury stood at 53.

Governor Says He'll Ask New Legal Advice

Would Take Issue Into Court Before Bowing to Attorney General

LANSING (AP) — Gov. George Romney has declared he will seek other legal advice and take the issue to court before bowing to an opinion by Democratic Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley that the Michigan ADC-U bill is unconstitutional.

Romney was in a mood of controlled anger as he said:

"I intend to seek outside objective legal judgment from sources devoid of any political consideration in state government as to the constitutionality of the act."

"The attorney general's opinion is not the final word on this matter."

Kelley has ruled the law passed by the legislature and signed into law by Romney last month, intended to bring the state under the federal program of aid for dependent children of the unemployed is unconstitutional under both the state and federal constitutions.

If the opinion stands, Romney admitted, the State Social Welfare Department will be blocked from receiving the aid.

Romney was irked because Kelley issued a press release justifying his stand along with the opinion.

DOUBTS OBJECTIVITY
"The content of the attorney general's opinion and political handout raise serious doubts as to his objectivity in this matter," Romney said.

"In fact, the inaccuracies of his political charges raise obvious questions as to the accuracy of his legal opinion."

The attorney general's office was waiting for Romney's statement. Just minutes after it was issued at the governor's news conference late yesterday, Kelley had a reply ready.

An aide walked outside the governor's office and hustled down to Kelley's office and hustled down to Kelley's office and hustled down to Kelley's office.

"I have issued a formal opinion on the law, and that opinion will stand unless it is overruled by the courts," Kelley commented acidly.

"In the meantime, the governor would do well to concentrate his efforts on the 30,000 children who need his assistance rather than on the attorney general with whom he is so concerned."

Kelley added that he issued 160 formal opinions last year and not one had been overruled by the courts.

The governor said he has not yet decided on the form of the independent legal aid he will seek. It will be "donated help," he said, and not a private law firm.

The experts will be nonpartisan, he said. A group of university law experts would be a good possibility, Romney said.

Romney said he will name his legal experts "as soon as possible."

If they hold that Kelley is wrong, said Romney, the matter will be taken to court.

Which court would be first given the issue has not yet been decided, said Romney and Richard Van Dusen, the governor's legal aide.

INSPECTS DEBRIS — Vice Adm. Bernard L. Austin, chairman of the naval board of inquiry investigating the loss of the nuclear submarine Thresher, inspects debris found floating over the sunken ship. Two rubber gloves, pieces of cork and fragments of yellow plastic are being studied.

Ex-Skipper Believes Flooding Sank Sub

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — The former skipper of the ill-fated submarine Thresher testified today he believed her loss with 129 men was associated with instantaneous floodings.

Cmdr. Dean L. Axene told a court of inquiry "there is no way for me or any one else to know what happened out there (in the Atlantic 220 miles from Boston), but it must have been associated with a flooding type casualty."

"And the flooding would have been almost instantaneous, leaving such short time that the personnel could not react to let someone know they were in trouble."

Cmdr. Axene, a native of Columbus, Ohio, also testified he had to abort the first deep sea test dive of the Thresher in the same area in which she sank, but he said the trouble was with instruments and not the ship itself.

He said he would have given the Thresher a rating of outstanding and excellent after the instruments had been corrected at Portsmouth.

He also said there were readings of strain on the gages, but that he considered those of a minor nature and easily corrected.

Cmdr. Axene said he was relieved of duty as skipper of the Thresher last Jan. 18 against his wishes, adding he had expressed a desire to stay with the Thresher through the test run which proved fatal Wednesday morning.

At the disaster area dark weather and gale winds swept farther out to sea today, clearing the skies over a dozen ships probing for the deep grave of the Thresher.

Special echo sounding gear in the hands of oceanographers will map the bottom of the Atlantic in the effort to find the hull or what is left of it — so that it can be scanned by underwater television and the bathyscaphe Trieste.

There is no hope for the 129 men who rode the nuclear submarine a mile and a half down into the ocean trough.

Scotland Yard Searching for Major Security Leak

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard began a search today to find out who leaked Britain's nuclear survival secrets to ban-the-bomb marchers. Authorities admitted it was another major security breakdown.

The country's hush-hush plans for keeping going in event of a nuclear attack were handed out as a pamphlet Friday to some 10,000 persons marching the 50 miles from Aldermaston, near Oxford, to London.

The annual march from a nuclear research center to the capital is intended to dramatize demands that Britain strip itself of nuclear arms.

A series of sensational espionage cases have led to charges of sloppy security against Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative government. Press and Parliament were expected to create an uproar over the latest leaks.

The pamphlets were handed out by members of the militant Committee of 100, which played a prominent role in the anti-American demonstrations at the time of the Cuba crisis last October. It had no part in organizing the march.

The Committee for Nuclear Disarmament, which did sponsor the march, quickly disclaimed any knowledge of the pamphlets.

"I have seen this pamphlet, but I do not know where it comes from," said the Very Rev. John Collins, canon of St. Paul's Cathedral and head of the CND. "It has nothing to do with the CND."

Besides being distributed to marchers, 4,000 copies of the pamphlet were mailed to newspapers, public figures and even Britain's intelligence chief.

Government officials conceded the information was it was largely accurate and warned that the pamphlet's authors will be prosecuted if caught.

The recommended resolution is to contract with a legislative agent for $7,500 a year from the county's Contingent Fund.

IN THEIR EASTER BONNETS — Actress Paula Prentiss (left) will wear this creation of spring flowers when she marches in the Easter parade in Hollywood tomorrow and Carol Lawrence is sure to be an eye catcher in New York's parade.

Nation Readies for Easter Rites

Centuries-Old Drama Celebrated in Services

By The Associated Press
Christians throughout the nation — Protestant, Roman Catholic and Orthodox — will gather Easter Sunday to celebrate the centuries-old but ever-radiant drama of Christ's resurrection.

Wherever there stands a sign of the cross, the reverent will make their way to mountain-top altars, valley shrines, outdoor arenas, grand caverns and flower-decked churches.

President Kennedy and his family are likely to attend Easter services in Palm Beach at St. Edwards or, as they did last year, attend private services held at the home of the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, who is recovering from a stroke suffered in December, 1961.

The Weather Bureau said exceptionally fine spring weather is in store for the nation as a whole, which will give Eastern Parade participants a chance to show off their new spring clothes.

At midnight, thousands of these will be on New York City's Fifth Avenue, where tens of thousands will parade.

One of the largest outdoor services will be held in Florida at Miami Stadium. In previous years, the services and a pageant sponsored by Miami Council of Churches drew 40,000 yearly.

In Winston-Salem, N.C., the 191st Moravian Sunrise Easter Service will be held in front of Home Moravian Church.

The Annual crowd, which usually numbers 20,000, marches to God's Acre, the Moravian graveyard, called "City of the Equal Dead."

Sunrise services will be held at Bald Knob in the Shawnee Hills section of southern Illinois, the highest spot in the state. Worshipers from five states will attend the services that were originated 23 years ago by a mail carrier and a country parson. Bald Knob has an 111-foot cross erected by public subscription.

At midnight, thousands of persons from many states will begin arriving for the 38th Annual Sunrise Pageant at Holy City in the Wichita Mountains northwest of Lawton, Okla. The service is expected to attract some 40,000 persons to view a pageant with a cast of more than 500 in 55 scenes.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

"And they said among themselves, who shall roll us away the stone from the door of the sepulchre? And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away: for it was very great."

Mark 16: 3, 4

The revelation that Jesus had risen that first Easter Sunday morning was more than Mary Magdalene and Mary, the mother of James and Salome, could comprehend at first: "... they trembled and were amazed ..."

Jesus had risen just as he had prophesied. It was the glorious climax that has given the Christian Church its full meaning. The truth of that meaning is beautifully expressed in the words of Victor Hugo, "The tomb is not blind alley: it is a thoroughfare. It closes on the twilight, it opens on the dawn."

Days of All Faiths:

Easter—Christ's Resurrection

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Tomorrow, being the first Sunday after the first full moon on or after March 21, is Easter, the great Christian spring festival commemorating the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead. Easter in the early times always coincided with the Jewish Passover, as it does this year, because it was during Passover that the crucifixion and resurrection happened. But the anti-Semitism of the Christians of those days caused the church to work out its own way of determining Easter independently of the Jewish calendar.

We think anti-Semitism is bad now, and of course it is. Any anti-Semitism is too much. But there was a time centuries ago when one had to hate the Jews to be considered a good Christian. The scoring of the proper date for Easter was an example. So also was the custom of eating ham at Easter—definitely an anti-Semitic gesture.

One bit of poetic justice arose out of the fact that the Christian reckoning is subject to error and in the year 1818 all Christians celebrated Easter on the wrong day.

CHRISTIAN OR PAGAN?

With Christians, as with followers of all other religions, the faithful have never quite been able to separate their religious spring festival from the ancient pagan ones their ancestors celebrated long ago.

Pagan customs survive. On Fifth Avenue, New York City, people who have only the foggiest notion of the Christian meaning of Easter, will prostitute the spring goddess Bona by wearing new clothes, thus honoring the spirit of renewal with which Oestre covers the earth.

Eggs and rabbits, real or pictorial, will be seen everywhere, both symbolizing the fertility the world hopes for in the approaching agricultural season.

NEW IN AMERICA

Easter is observed all over the United States now, but this has been true only with the last century. The Puritans would have nothing to do with it—too Popish. Episcopalians, Lutherans, and Roman Catholics always kept it, and it was therefore no novelty in the states where these groups predominated, such as Virginia, Maryland, and Louisiana.

But mostly the other churches and the rest of the country ignored Easter until the slaughter of the Civil War began to fill American hearts with the hope of the resurrection of the body and the life everlasting.

A NEW BIBLE

As a matter of news to readers who would not otherwise know about it, we want to say that the American Bible Society has done us all a great favor by producing its new English Reference Bible.

The text is in the familiar and beloved King James translation. There is nothing new about that. What is new is a set of helps to the reader who wants to do more than just read.

There is a list of words that do not mean now what they meant to the King James translators. For example, in those days "to charge" meant "to platter," "to poll" was to "cut hair."

This often clears up passages that would otherwise be obscure. There is a cross reference to other parts of the Bible, so that when you are reading in one place you are told where parallel or similar passages appear in other places.

And there is a concordance of 3,700 key words to help you look up passages quickly.

The Country Parson

"I hope Christians will want to become as radiant as they look on Easter."

An inexpensive paperback study edition sells for $2.05. The Apocrypha is not included.

Washington Notebook:

Some Won't Think This Is a Gag

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy showed members of the National Editorial Association one of his prize pictures when he called on him in his office for a briefing.

It was a snapshot of one of his sons standing in front of the White House. He said it had been taken by his sister-in-law, First Lady Jacqueline Kennedy.

The picture was framed so as to show what she had written on the back. It was "Bobby in front of his future home."

It was a real love feast when long-time United Mine Workers President John L. Lewis retired as head of the National Coal Policy Conference and was honored by his old enemies, the coal operators. As a token of their affection they presented him with an oil portrait which showed what Lewis looked like in his prime battling days.

When the painting was unveiled by George M. Love, head of Con-

Voice of the People:

'How Can School Bus Bill Be Considered Legal?'

President Kennedy has stated that use of federal funds for parochial schools is prohibited by separation of church and state.

If he is correct, how can the so-called "fair bus" bill as written, be legal in the State of Michigan?

Our public schools are the backbone of our country and we have prospered since their inception. If this bill is passed, it will be the beginning of a breakdown in our public school system.

'Shouldn't Preach About Man's Faults'

I can't understand why some preachers of the gospel are so sure to defend themselves, but do not have the least mercy or understanding when it comes to dealing with a member of their flock.

So often they make someone the subject of their well-planned sermon behind God's sacred desk. It is strange what some people call "preaching the gospel" or "the good news."

I thought preaching was telling the good that God says, not las.

Thank God, only a few are guilty of this type of message for it does more harm than good.

'So JFK Planned to Cut Spending'

In 1960, candidate Kennedy pledged to cut spending on agriculture by $1.5 to $2 billion annually. Instead, President Kennedy has increased spending by $1.5 billion annually and Congress has been obliged to vote the money. No wonder he can't balance the budget.

What can be done to protect these poor children who are brought up in unsanitary conditions?

The things I've seen in some homes are unbelievable. Don't people realize that they are not only losing friends, but ruining the lives of their children? Am I the only one who sees these things?

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Saturday, April 13, the 103rd day of 1963.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Saturn.

The evening star is Mars. On this day in history:

In 1848, the Pennsylvania Railroad received its charter.

In 1855, Union General Sherman ended his famed "March to the Sea."

In 1934, Harry Hopkins, chief of the Civil Works Administration, announced that 4.7 million families were on relief.

In 1941, Russia and Japan signed a five-year neutrality pact.

A thought for the day — war correspondent Ernie Pyle said: "If you go long enough without a bath even the fleas let you alone."

Once there was a TFX — A fighter plane sublime. It was supposed to win a war But began a different kind.

The contract went to a Texas firm, Which the Senate thought was wrong. "Not so!" the Pentagon replied, "It cost us just a song."

Investigators then dug in And found Seattle's bid was When McNamara writhed in pain "Big Bob" was called a weeper.

So it some day the plane is built And wins its hop — for fame. It may be called a bunch of things But "scat-fighter" is its name!

At the dinner honoring Sen. Harry Ford Byrd for his 30 years of continuous service in the upper house of Congress, Vice President Lyndon Johnson told an inside story which illustrates perfectly how quietly and efficiently the Virginia apple grower runs his famous Old Dominion political machine.

It was during 1954 debate on a tax bill amendment which Senator Majority Leader Johnson was supporting and Byrd was against. The Virginian came up to the Texas' desk and asked, "Lyndon, do I have the votes to defeat your amendment?"

Johnson — "Yes, by three or four votes."

As debate was coming to an end Byrd again approached Johnson, asked the same question and got the same answer.

"If you're sure," said Byrd, "won't denounce it?"

The amendment lost by four votes.

Whereupon he was asked, "What makes you think you'll last two years?"

Easter Makes a Big Difference

(In keeping with our policy of running guest editorials from time to time, our Easter message has been written by Rev. Dr. Richard C. Stuckmeyer, Pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church.)

How we anticipated and welcomed spring after a wearying winter! Spring freshens our spirit, gives hope and promise of good days. What a difference it can make.

But still the seemingly hard questions, problems and anxieties persist in our world. What are we thinking and doing to each other? What are we doing for each other? What is life anyway? Is there meaning and purpose? Does it all end in futility? Is there nothing to it? Is nothing the answer and the grave the end?

Men ask these questions sincerely.

There are those who reach the conclusion that life is pseudo and all is nothing. Therefore, why not race out the moment in frenzied activity, spend myself without regard for others, exert myself as I will, accept no sense of responsibility toward another. What difference does it make? There is no meaning or purpose to my being anyway.

But there is the other side. It is there for those in the world who will hear, pause, consider and believe.

It is Easter.

Easter is the word of God to men everyday and always. One Man in history makes the difference for all men. He, the One for all, is the Son of God and the Son of Man. Regardless of our understanding and acceptance of the Old Biblical word sin, sin is here in our world. Sin is with us in all of its symptoms and reality, in the torturing and foreboding consciousness of an eternal death.

But the Good Friday and Easter Gospel proclaim that Christ died for the end of death eternal and He rises as the Victor. St. Paul concludes, "the wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ, our Lord." This is God in Christ for me, confesses the believing child of God and at Easter the risen Christ says again, to me, "Because I live, ye shall live also."

The church in all ages repeats, "I believe in the resurrection of the body and the life everlasting." This is the

Michigan Bell Projects Capital Outlay for Area

In this age of scientific miracles, it is easy to take for granted the things we are long accustomed to that facilitate our daily living and well-being.

Such a device is the telephone.

But no less noteworthy is the recent announcement by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. of a statewide appropriation of $39.8 million for improvements in communications services, new equipment, plant modernization, and new buildings.

Of the total, $1.6 million is earmarked for the Pontiac area.

Since public utilities necessarily plan expansion in advance of projected business increase, the confidence signified by this company's capital commitments is a splendid omen not only for Michigan Bell but for the area it serves.

We heartily salute a far-flung organization and a fine neighbor.

Easter faith. There is a goal, a purpose in life. It does not end with a grave and nothing. What a difference the Easter faith makes. Each day of my life on earth is a dedicated one, to serve God and man. Everything I think and do takes on significance.

I rise every morning in newness of life and I know why I am here in this world and what I am doing. My daily occupation, work and even play is a service of God to men. There are dark moments still and questions. I often miss the mark and fail. I am under constant judgment and that of God, but there is forgiveness and renewal for me and all men. We can live that way with each other.

Men can rise and live under God to serve Him and each other. Easter 1963 again offers this opportunity for a world at the crossroads. Easter is a word of grace to men now, the word of God for all. May He grant it to you, to all, to a world for it is Easter 1963. What a difference Easter can make. What a difference it does make.

One-Day Visit

Easter Bunny on the Hop Hiding Eggs at Each Stop

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND With Easter just around the clock, running a little tale about a rabbit doesn't seem too harebrained.

Years ago, Mary Chase wrote a play that became a Broadway hit which revolved around a vertical 6-foot INVISIBLE rabbit ... pretty easy, if you ask me. His name was Harvey.

However, it seems to me that writing about a phantom rabbit is stretching the imagination pretty far. So, when I heard about a flesh-and-blood one almost as unbelievable as Harvey—a real funny bunny — my nose began twitching.

This earthly creature is the property of Ann Lookadoo an 11-year-old Clarkson miss.

She took possession last fall and, hopefully expecting her pet to be blessed with progeny—a not unknown phenomenon among rabbits — named it Elsie; Elsie moved right into the house and joined the family circle.

But the "she" that had been counted on turned out to be a "he." With his only partner of tiny rabbit feet to be heard around the house—which was probably a lot of good luck for the adult occupants.

Now called Elsie Trix to conform with the changed sex status, he has really kept things jumping. Tame to start with, E. T. was eventually housebroken — an achievement fully qualifying him for the title of Game—and new dines at the family table ... in a high chair.

Although not disdaining standard rabbit fare, he more and more fancies folk's food—his breakfast order is orange juice, oatmeal and toast ... whole wheat preferred.

But for desserts, he goes in for more exotic things—nibbling at electric cords, telephone wires and, on the sly, taking on a small portion of rug.

What's this bunny got to do with tomorrow and hidden Easter eggs? Well, nothing, really—except he'd probably eat a few if he found 'em.

Well deserving a hearty round of applause is

John W. Hunt of Farmington, on the completion of his year's presidency of the Clinton Valley Council of Boy Scouts.

Under his direction, the unit showed continued upsurge, with long-range plans for the future soundly blueprinted.

An eight room house containing 1,295 square feet in basic house; 134 square feet in laundry-storage area; 241 square feet in garage. Optional cellar would add 1,394 square feet. Over-all Dimensions are 52 feet four inches wide by 52 feet 10 inches deep in L-shape. Garage adds 11 feet 6 inches to width and 4 feet to depth. Minimum lot size: 65 by 100 feet. Basic exterior materials: wood shingles, board and batten siding.

formal and informal living area," said Paul.

"With neither wall you achieve a visually expanded living area and no clear separation of these two zones, a plan some prefer. Or you could expand either the formal or the informal zone, depending on your need."

The kitchen is especially well located in this house. A window is over the sink counter, which means that from that spot a housewife has full view of all three entrances to the house—front, side and rear.

Moreover, the kitchen is convenient to all these entrances, a perfect hub for all daylight activity.

A Dutch door, which can function as a serving counter, leads to the dining room.

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

Paul has designed an extremely logical and efficient bathroom arrangement for this house, a feature which adds both glamour and economy, two virtues which customarily are incompatible.

He has split the main bath into two compartments with a separate bathing room toward the rear.

The bathing room also is accessible directly from the lavatory adjoining the master bedroom.

Equally noteworthy is the absence of a conventional tub.

This one is a built-in Roman tub, sunken below the floor level with wide marble ledges, a tile step and a translucent sliding door.

Another nice feature is the extra room adjoining the main entrance foyer.

Because of its location adjoining both the living and sleeping zones it can serve either as a fourth bedroom or as a private den or office.

LARGE LIVING ROOM

The living room is large, with plenty of wall space, cross ventilation and a picture window overlooking the rear terrace.

The family room also is attractive, with windows at front and rear, overlooking the front portico and the rear porch.

A door leads to the covered rear porch; and note the built-in cabinet for the TV or hi-fi.

A 134-square foot utility room for laundry and storage facilities is located between the family room and garage, providing main-level convenience even if a basement is included.

Dutch doors lead from the front portico, a nifty arrangement for kids coming in with muddy boots.

The garage has an eight-foot wide storage area in the rear, convenient to the backyard as well; an excellent arrangement to keep garden tools and such from cluttering up the garage.

Outdoor facilities are excellent in this house, and add much to the looks.

Both the front portico and rear porch are covered, an asset that becomes more appreciated as the summer drags on.

To raise money for some school project, you might take a tip from a group of Indiana mothers who used the "soft approach" to find dollars for their youngsters' hand uniforms. They sold foam rubber cushions in school colors at basketball games.
