TUNIS — French land, sea and air forces lashed out from beleaguered Bizerte today against Tunisian barricades, inflicting heavy losses on the besieging troops.

Before sundown French troops were reported in control of vast areas around the town of Bizerte, where gunfire echoed for the second day. This morning French planes firing rockets and offshore naval batteries opened up to cover tank thrust.

The French said about 100 Tunisian troops were killed and some 60 others taken prisoner in what was described as action to relieve pressure on the French naval base.

Tunisian officials gave their own losses as at least 50 dead and hundreds wounded since the fighting broke out. France began Wednesday.

Travelers returning from Bizerte said they were halted by steel-helmeted French soldiers controlling highways leading to the city. French tanks and armored cars were spotted near the village of Menzel-Diyemil, four miles southwest of the Bizerte base.

Radio Tunis reported the city of Bizerte badly damaged in the coordinated French attack and said its water and electricity supplies were cut.

At the United Nations, Tunisia asked for an urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council to halt what it called "premeditated aggression" by France in Bizerte.

DEMANDS ACTION

Tunisia demanded that the council take such measures as will be necessary to halt the aggression and have Tunisian territory evacuated by all French troops.

A U.N. spokesman said the council could be called into session tonight or Friday. But some council members said Friday afternoon appeared to be the most likely time.

The United States urged both France and Tunisia to "cease hostilities without delay" and reconcile peacefully their dispute over the Bizerte base.

But President Habib Bourguiba mounted a diplomatic offensive to back up his civilian-military show of force. He took the case to the United Nations and broke diplomatic, but not consular, relations with France over the issue, a bone of contention between France and its former protectorate long before violence broke out Wednesday.

Tunisian troops and civilian volunteers resisted the French attack, "heroically," the radio said, and they suffered numerous dead and wounded.

Radio Tunis said French planes from the carrier, Arromanches, fired rockets in low-level attacks on the barricades. It added that the planes were backed up by the big guns of the cruisers, Colbert, Bouvet and Chevalier Paul.

Lawyers Swell Con-Con List in 4th District

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of six stories on the constitutional convention candidates appearing on next Tuesday's primary ballot of Oakland County's six state representative seats. Because of the large number of candidates, the stories are brief abridges of both Republican and Democratic candidates. Further articles will be run after the election. Because there is no opposition for the county's senatorial seat, The Press will not cover that race in the series.)

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Primary contestants in the 4th State Representative district of Oakland County don't lack legal knowledge.

Of the 11 candidates — two Republicans and nine Democrats — there are six attorneys.

Republicans contending for what is expected to be a light vote next Tuesday are Richard C. Van Duseg, Detroit attorney from Bingham Farms, former two-term state representative, and 1956 attorney general candidate, and J. William Roberts, former Oak Park police officer and partner in a restaurant corporation.

The 4th District includes Oak Park, Berkley, Southfield, Lathrup Village, Beverly Hills, Bingham Farms, Franklin, Farmington Township and Farmington City, Quakertown, Woodstock Farms, Novi Township and the Village of Novi, Northville, the southern half of Wixom, Lyon Township and South Lyon.

Only one Republican and one Democrat will claim victory in the district after Tuesday's primary election, when county voters will select 12 nominees, one from each party, for the six Oakland County state representative seats.

There's no primary contest for the senatorial cop seat.

TO BE ELECTED

County voters on Sept. 12 will elect seven delegates from the 14 nominees. They will be among the 144 delegates from around the state who will have 7½ minutes, starting Oct. 3, to rewrite the present constitution approved by the voters in 1958.

Voters will vote on the new document in the fall of 1961.

On the 4th District, Democratic ballot will be Joseph S. Asherson, 24, of 24617 Renaissance Ave., Oak Park; Judson C. Goltz, 35, of 23811 Beacon Drive, Farmington; Ashley Gorman, 28, 22903 N. Bellwood Drive, Southfield; David Kaufman, 28, of 29550 Everett St., Southfield; Thomas Giles Kavara, 42, of 32865 Faircrest Drive, Beverly Hills; Leo P. Mesinger, 33, of 29097 Uley Road, Woodstock Farms; Brian K. Millington, 28, of 677 Princeton St., Berkley; Harold M. Provizer, 25, of 2211 Marlow Ave., Oak Park; and Jose Santiago, 29, of 1828 Royal Ave., Berkley.

State Dem Chairman Says Electorate Holds Key to Future

John J. (Joe) Collins, chairman of the Michigan Democratic party, said the fate of the new constitution depends upon the nominees to be selected Tuesday and delegates to be elected Sept. 12.

"Leaders in politics and government in Michigan are in general agreement that the constitutional convention when it convenes in October will be holding out to the people of this state a bright promise."

"As always in a free society, whether or not this promise is realized depends upon the voter, both the one who votes and the one who does not, for it is the quality of delegates finally named which will decide the fate of the constitutional convention."

"Another area of concern to some of us is what we see as an effort to divide the state against itself."

"Good government has never been a question of the Upper Peninsula versus the Lower Peninsula — southeast versus outstate rural versus urban. The future of every citizen in Michigan is hinged to the future of the state as a whole, no matter in what geographical area the citizen lives."

"Therefore, it behooves all responsible citizens of Michigan to choose first the best delegate candidates, then, the best delegates."

"The goal must be to work for the greater good of all of Michigan and the hopes of all its people in the writing of a document promising progress, not stalemata."

Cloudburst Devastates Charleston

REMOVING FLOOD VICTIM — Rescuers carry the body of a flood victim from the wreckage of a Charleston, W. Va., home early today. At least a dozen persons died in flash floods which struck the Charleston area Wednesday night. Walls of water cascaded through the city, sweeping homes down hillsides and causing untold damage.

'Monsoon' Rain Sweeps Homes Down Hillsides
— 12 Persons Are Killed — Governor of W. Va. Declares Emergency

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — A devastating "monsoon-like" cloudburst struck this capital city of West Virginia as it slept late Wednesday night, cascading walls of water through scores of homes, tossing them down hillsides and killing at least a dozen persons.

Gov. W. W. (Wally) Barron declared a state of emergency and announced he was considering asking President Kennedy to proclaim the flood-hit district a national disaster area.

The vicious rainfall, capping a week's downpour, sent waters over their banks in the Kanawha River and nine large creeks bordering the city, bringing with it waves 15 feet high.

Many of the victims were trapped in their bedrooms. Others perished when the swirling water engulfed them as they fled.

Twelve bodies were accounted for. At least four others were missing.

In Washington, the American Red Cross reported that some 400 families were swept out of their homes by the flood.

The organization said early reports indicate that between 25 and 39 homes were completely destroyed by the rushing waters, and more than 100 suffered major damage.

Death claimed young and old alike. Five-year-old Caroline Thompson and her 2-year-old brother were being led from their home by their father.

A sudden surge of water broke the father's grip. The children disappeared. Caroline's body was recovered. Rescuers searched for her brother.

"It looks like a monsoon struck," said Patrolman William Blackburn. "There are typhoons over the roads and one section (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Report Submitted to County
Courthouse Site Appraised at $370,000

Three appraisers for Oakland County today placed a $370,000 price tag on the downtown Pontiac site of the 37-year-old courthouse and the prosecutor's office next door.

The site for both buildings embraces 35,772 square feet on the heart of the business district, bounded by Saginaw, West Huron and Wayne streets. A southern boundary line begins along the north side of Osmond's Men's Wear and runs westerly to Wayne Street.

The appraisal covered only the land, not the buildings. In fact, because the two buildings reasonably would have to be razed down to make the land useful, appraisers said they knocked $30,000 for wrecking of their preliminary valuation of the land.

The appraisal was presented to Delos Hannan, chairman of the board of supervisors, and David Levinson, chairman of the board's ways and means committee.

The city, which has indicated a desire to use the property in connection with its urban renewal development project, received a copy.

The appraiser, termed "fair" by Hamlin and Levinson, was requested by the supervisors as department heads presently in the two buildings prepared to move into the new $375-million courthouse in the County Service Center.

The appraisers estimated the courthouse site, with 129 feet on Saginaw Street and 140 feet on West Huron Street, to be worth $275,000.

The supervisors figured it would cost $25,000 to raze the courthouse, first occupied in 1924.

The site of the two-story prosecutors' office—which was once the county jail—measures 120 feet on Wayne Street, 121 feet along the 20-foot alley separating the two buildings, 140 feet along Huron Street and 140 feet along the south line.

It was appraised at $125,000, cleared of the building, which the three appraisers estimated would cost $5,000.

The appraisal was conducted by George C. Sexauer of Detroit, member of the American Institute of Real Estate Appraisers; William H. Knudson, of Pontiac, senior member of the Society of Real Estate Appraisers; and William B. Grabendike, member of the Real Estate Appraisers Association and director of the county's tax equalization department.

"There's no plan to advertise for the sale of the property until the city and both committees (ways and means and buildings and grounds) have a chance to consider the report and make a recommendation," Levinson said.

With the courts and clerk departments expected to be relocated in their new quarters by mid-August, Levinson said "we'll just shut the doors on the building" until it is sold.

Shine, Showers to Hopscotch Pontiac Skies
Pontiac area residents may expect sunshine and showers through Friday, the weatherman says.

There's a chance of thunder showers tonight with a low of 65. Thursday's high will climb to near 85. Partly cloudy with little temperature change is the outlook for Saturday.

Morning variable winds at 2 miles per hour will become 6 to 12 m.p.h. tonight and west to southwest at 6 to 14 m.p.h. Friday. The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 67 degrees. The mercury reading at 2 p.m. was 83.

News Flash
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress today approved and sent to President Kennedy a bill authorizing every penny of the $1.7 billion he requested to step up U.S. space programs, including the race with Russia for the moon.

Educators Talk Shop

CHATting ABOUT SCHOOLS — Philip J. Wargelin (left), principal of Pontiac Northern High School, perches on a low wall on the school grounds to talk shop with Dr. Esko V. Pennanen, Finnish educator touring the United States. Pennanen, a camera bug, joined Wargelin in shooting shots of the attractive new high school.

'Open' U.S. Schools Are Admired by Finn

A unique quality in American education—so commonplace that it is usually overlooked in this country—is the object of admiration by a top educator from Finland.

That American public schools are open to practically any teen-ager is a novel idea in Finland, according to Dr. Esko V. Pennanen, a member of that country's national board of education, and supervisor of its teacher-training programs.

In Finland, high schools are mostly private, although nationally controlled, and are designed to serve only about 35 per cent of the teen-age population, said Pennanen.

Finnish schools offer only a rigidly controlled curriculum based on traditional academic subjects, he said. Only the more capable students can attend.

"But we should reorganize our high schools on a broader basis, like this one is," Pennanen said yesterday at Pontiac Northern High School.

"We should supplement academic studies with practical instruction, prevocational training and general information, opening the doors to youngsters who might not qualify for the stiffer, traditional education."

Pennanen said he would like to introduce "the broadness" of American education into the Finnish school system to break down what he described as the "rigidity" of the centuries-old "gymnasium" system.

The time is ripe for a change, he said, because schools are being reorganized in Finland.

COMPLETES STUDY
In connection with this national movement, Pennanen has just completed a six-week study tour in the United States as part of the U.S. State Department's foreign leaders cultural exchange program.

The trip was sponsored by the American Council on Education and paid for through a Fulbright grant from the U.S. Embassy in Helsinki, Finland's capital.

After stopping off earlier at such places as Harvard, Rutgers, the University of Pennsylvania and the University of Wisconsin, Pennanen visited Pontiac Tuesday and Wednesday to renew an acquaintance.

Adams Urges Tightening of Mental Care Parole System in Michigan

Mental health officials have been urged by Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams to tighten up on their parole system of mental patients in order to prevent another case like that of Gary Adson Taylor, Oakland County's phantom sniper.

In a report requested by Prosecutor George F. Taylor of Oakland County, the attorney general also urged the State Mental Health Commission to set regulations on the examination of patients by private psychiatrists.

Both Prosecutor Taylor and Gov. John B. Swainson gave their support to Adams' report, although the prosecutor had not received a copy. He was informed by The Pontiac Press of its contents.

Swainson said, "I fully intend to follow up on this matter and make any further recommendations which may prove necessary to protect the citizenry from the premature release of anyone who may pose a public threat."

Prosecutor Taylor urged Adams' office in April to investigate the case. The 24-year-old Beverly Hills resident was committed to Inland State Hospital in 1957 after he shot at 10 women in various spots in the county. He had been released to the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit.

Later, during a convalescent leave, he attacked two Detroit women with a machete.

He is now back at Inland.

Pays to See Own Team Play

Edwin J. Anderson (left), president of the Detroit Lions, kicks in with two tickets so he can see his squad scrimmage at Wiser Stadium the night of Aug. 5.

"It ought to be a great show," said Anderson to Chairman Richard M. Fitzgerald (right) and Roger P. Rummel. "In addition to the actual play, we will hold a series of contests with prizes to the winners and runners-up."

Here's the list:
50-yard dash for line-man weighing 250 or more
50-yard dash for backs and ends
50-yard dash for line-men who weigh less than 250
Punting for distance
Place kicking for distance
Forward passing for distance

These prizes will be awarded between halves by Miss Michigan and her court of state and local beauties.

And, oh, yes . . . The Jaycees have scheduled a 12-minute fireworks display between halves that may attract almost as much attention as the beautiful girls.

Millions Expended to Purchase Controls

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—You set a gadget that keeps the roast from burning in the oven.
In troubled Kuwait or serene Arabia you would adjust an instrument to make sure that de-salted sea water gets just the right amount of soda ash added, as needed, to make it tasty.
The power generating plant that supplies you with electricity has a device that assures a steady pulsing speed—otherwise your electric clock would never be dependable.
Oilers use automatic gadgets to move widely differing products through the same complex pipeline networks without mixing.
Huge factories start or stop intricate industrial processes, much as your thermostat turns the oven on and off to cook the roast to a turn.
It may be a simple switching device to regulate your furnace heat or the most complicated of electronic automation—it's known as process control. And the making of controls grows steadily and their variety multiplies—so does the list of firms making them.
There are now controls to ride herd on other controls as automation spreads through more industries.
Annual sales of control devices are estimated at around $200 million. And this doesn't include the cost of computers that may be checking up on or improving the operation of these mechanization devices.
"Computer control of processes is rounding out the industrial evolution which began when man discovered the principles of the lever and the wheel," says George F. Rogers Jr. He is executive vice president of Leeds & Northrup of Philadelphia, a veteran maker of control instruments.
During World War I, L.N. patented an experimental auto-

B.F. Goodrich

Turning a corner at 13 m.p.h. puts as much wear on your tires as driving 10 miles on the highway at 40 m.p.h.!

These stop-action photos show how a tire tread looks while turning a corner. They were shot from beneath a glass highway, built by B.F. Goodrich to study actual tire wear. Here the tire begins the turn. Note distortion in outside edge.

Now, split seconds later, the turn gets sharper. You can see that the distortion in the outside edge increases. That's because turning puts terrific stress on your tire every time you take a corner—even at low speeds.

Here the tire is in full turn. Distortion on the outside edge is extreme, but there's little action in center ribs. That's why B.F. Goodrich puts more rubber in the outside edges where tires work most, wear most. It's The Big Edge!

Action photos shot through "glass highway" show severe pressure on outside edge of turning tire. That's where B.F. Goodrich puts extra rubber to fight wear...it's

THE BIG EDGE!

NARROW EDGE

DEAD CENTER

OTHER TIRES

have narrow edges, as this diagram shows. Following tradition, the rubber is concentrated in the center ribs. But in today's driving, that's a "dead center," where tire action and tire wear are least. Look at your own tires, and you'll see the first signs of wear are on the outside edges.

THE BIG EDGE

BFG SILVERTOWN has a radical new tread design—with up to twice as much rubber as other major brands, first-line tires in the outside edge of the tread. That's where today's tires work most, wear most. It's The Big Edge—and a big edge in safety and mileage for you! Yet you pay no more for a Silvertown!

24-MONTH ROAD-HAZARD GUARANTEE

One of the highest quality of workmanship and materials, new B.F. Goodrich passenger-car tires are guaranteed against blowouts, cuts, breaks caused by road hazards encountered in normal driving. If a tire is so damaged beyond repair, you get full allowance for remaining tread against the purchase of a replacement—at current retail list price. Your B.F. Goodrich dealer has complete details.

"10 years experience taught me a lot about HEARING AIDS... this time I bought a ZENITH Extended Range!"

Mr. Wally Carlson, Carbonist Chicago, Illinois

After comparing with many other hearing aids, Mr. Carlson bought the Zenith "Extended Range" for these reasons:

- He hears sounds he had missed for years.
- His hearing is far better—more real. Gone are those busy, hollow scratching sounds.
- Background noise and chatter no longer annoy him.

As evidenced by one of thousands of Hearing Aid users who have bought a Zenith to replace instruments unsatisfactory to them.

Ventures Into Unknown 100,000 Feet Up

Heroic AF Test Pilot Idol of the Astronauts

By BOB CONSIDINE

CAPE CANAVERAL.—The astronaut as he is today, as they are today, is a hero. One of them was here Tuesday.

He's Capt. Joe Kittinger, a great Air Force supersonic test pilot whose recent work has taken him today more toward the world's slowest airborne vessel, the free balloon.

Joe Kittinger, a good-looking, redheaded guy, out of Orlando, Fla., has lived longer in space than any human being except Russia's Yuri Gagarin.

"Man will never conquer space, but he'll learn how to live with it," he has said. "It's hostile."

Space's hostility, he told us, made it easy for him to step out of his massive balloon's open gondola one morning last August over New Mexico.

He was using the world's tallest step.

He was 102,800 feet up.

Somewhere down there on earth was a forbidding desert populated largely by rattlesnakes and lizards under a torrid sun. Still, Joe chose to leave where he was.

He staggered to his feet (his gear weighed 135 pounds, only ten pounds less than he himself), pushed aside a cloth-like shield which had been protecting him from cosmic and other rays, and stepped down.

FALLS 15 MILES

"Dear Lord, take care of me," he prayed.

He fell 15 miles straight down before opening his parachute.

In the airless upper reaches of his fall, with a small drogue chute keeping his body from being spun into first blindness and then unconsciousness, he reached a falling speed of 614 miles an hour.

Hitting the thicker atmosphere in which we exist, he and his parachute were similar to crashing through a series of plate-glass windows.

It was the supreme test of, among other things, a pressure suit not unlike those the astronauts now wear and which would protect the men who fly the X-15, if they are ever forced to go for broke at enormous heights.

If they ever must abandon capsule or ship they, too, will know that they must fall precisely as Joe Kittinger did, if they are to live.

For, for example, one opened his mind chute as he went out at, say, 100,000 feet, his blood would figuratively "boil" him to death before he reached desert air.

Joe Kittinger learned the hard way. He might still be checking out the hottest fighters in the Air Force barn if an F100 had not begun burning under him on take-off, several years ago.

He took that deep breath of decision, flipped away his canopy, catapulted himself up and over the cleaver-like tail as it backed by.

SPECIAL SURVIVAL

His survival was considered so special because of the shallowness of his fall that he was asked to become a briefing officer—a master instructing neophytes.

many of whom had made many more jumps.

"I had jumped from sheer terror, not as a thinking being," Joe decided. "I felt like a hypocrite, trying to instruct those fellows."

He applied to the Air Force's renowned Col. John P. Stapp, who conducted the rocket-aided experiments, and was given the opportunity to jump under a vast variety of conditions.

In time, "the finest captain in the Air Force," as Stapp was to call him, became the chief fall guy of Project Excelsior, man's quest of survival know-how in the dawning space age.

Joe spectacularly hanged himself in his first jump from great height. The shroud lines of his drogue chute spun around his neck shortly after he stepped out of his gondola at 75,000 feet.

The lines snarled the correctional aspects of the drogue, and he began spinning crazily from his slightest gaffers at better than a full revolution per second.

His eyesight was first to go, then his consciousness.

He plummeted like a dead bird until his present main chute automatically unfurled at 10,000 feet.

Because of the chances this cheerful young man has taken with his life, a generation of space men can venture forth into the unknown with more confidence not only in the equipment Kittinger checked out but in the species itself.

Mr. K Wages War of Nerves

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV is calling the signals for another war of nerves, and again Berlin and a divided Germany lie at the center of the argument.

With her World War II allies, Britain, France and the United States, Russia guaranteed free access to Berlin. That former capital of a once united Germany is now divided into two cities, one a part of West Germany, though separated from it by many miles; the other a part of Communist-ruled East Germany.

To intensify its war of nerves, the Soviet Government is threatening to sign a separate treaty with its puppet Communist government in East Germany. Thus the Russians would seek to evade blame for going back on their pledge to preserve free access to Berlin by turning over responsibility for Berlin's future to the East Germans. The East Germans would claim that, as they did not sign the free access agreement, they would have a right to bar entry to the city from West Germany.

This is a crisis built up by KHRUSHCHEV. He alone knows whether he will go to war to keep the Allies out of Berlin.

If his past actions are an indication, he will not do so, but by bluffing to the very verge of war, he will try to frighten the West into making concessions. Even minor concessions may be acceptable, if the Red leader feels that these can be followed up by others later, so that in the end, without running the risks of war, Berlin may be closed to the West.

Such a result would be a spectacular victory for Khrushchev. It would show the whole world that the West will give in rather than risk an all-out war.

Such a surrender would undermine faith in the free world. It would lead more nations to seek closer relations with Moscow.

To avoid such a result, the Western Allies must face up to Russia. KHRUSHCHEV decides to fight.

KHRUSHCHEV is a dictator. He can start a war any time he chooses. Thus the threat of war gives him a potent bargaining tool.

So long as we give in, even by ever so little, he will continue the same course. A resolute stand is our only hope. If it results in a fighting war, we can rest assured that war indeed was inevitable; either war or object surrender.

Khrushchev is building up the tension. He will paint the dangers vividly in his effort to frighten the Western world. But opportunity does not lie wholly on his side.

The leaders of the West have an

Fidel Was Out to Prove Affiliations to Mr. K

Typical of the breed, Cuba's Fidel Castro was acting in a true Communist manner with his ill-fated tractor deal.

We seriously doubt that he ever figured he could make the deal the way he set it up. He well realized that the proposal would run into snags.

But it is reasonable to believe that he was out to prove to Premier Khrushchev that he is a Communist through and through.

Communist tactics in the past, and at the present are to get involved in long, but futile negotiations.

opportunity and an obligation to impress on all who are free to listen that this crisis is entirely of KHRUSHCHEV'S making; that it is Russia that is threatening to plunge the world into atomic war, and Russia that is seeking to nullify her own solemn commitments, Russia that talks of peace but threatens war.

Not only must the West stand firmly when the final test comes, but it must make the most of its propaganda opportunities as the issues are argued, for Khrushchev may still regard the current crisis as a victory for the Soviet if he can win the battle of words and still avoid a war of bombs and missiles.

The Man About Town

Going to the Dogs And Doing It in a Manner That Is Commendable

Here sense: Somewhat akin to dog sense, both of which often show more sense than man.

Founded 22 years ago by the Lions Clubs of Michigan, the school of Leader Dogs for the Blind at Rochester has graduated 1,831 dogs. According to Executive Director Harold L. Fokington, 12 new students enter its training classes each month. There is no charge for the school's services, as it is supported by the Michigan United Fund and other agencies. The next graduation exercises are on August 4.

David Lawrence Says:

West Has Closed Ranks on Berlin

The people of Western Europe may have inner worries about the Berlin crisis, but they show no outward signs of uneasiness. Whether it be in a big country like France or in little Denmark, the people are going about their business and everyday affairs confident that somehow their respective governments will find a solution without war.

But the real apprehension is inside the governments, large and small. The officials who carry the responsibility see no easy way to settle the controversy over Berlin, though some of the newspaper editors, especially in Britain, continue to emphasize possible compromises.

Maybe this could make Moscow feel that the entire Western bloc only vacillates inside the Western Alliance.

The Guardian, of Manchester, England, for instance, suggests a six-power control commission, with rights of access to Berlin to be guaranteed.

The newspaper argues that this could be a package deal in return for some concessions to the Communists, such as "limited recognition of East Germany."

"HEIGHT OF FOLLY" The Guardian adds, however: "It is the height of folly to talk as though the West cannot maintain its position in West Berlin by nonmilitary means. It can operate an airlift, and it can apply economic pressure."

But the London Daily Telegraph, on the other hand, realistically declares that, while there is danger the Russians may think they can do better by bullying than by bargaining, the voice of British industrial public opinion "could be decisive in disposing of any such illusion."

The notes just sent by the British, French and American governments to Moscow contain sterner language than has been used in a long time in dealing with the Soviets.

The blunt words of Secretary of State Rusk in his speech before the National Press Club in Washington last week have been followed by a scathing address in the House of Lords by Lord Home, the British foreign secretary.

"One takes step over Berlin," he said, "and easily plunges the continent of Europe into war."

Lord Home said flatly that the Communists are to blame for the trouble over Berlin and "other incursions breaking out like a disease across the face of the world."

"The Congo, Cuba, Korea, Kuwait, Angola, Algeria and South Viet Nam are all involved in conflicts which entangle others outside their own borders. By far the most serious problem is the habit of using a tranquilizer, a sedative or a narcotic to help them relax, particularly after a "hard day at the office."

The favorite narcotic is alcohol—a round of drinks with companions at the tavern before they go largest share of the responsibility... must be laid at the door of international communism."

KREMLIN UNMOVED

But, in spite of these strong words, the Kremlin appears still to be relying on dissension among the Western Allies.

Free countries, to be sure, do not function as smoothly in international matters as they might, because there is no dictatorship to impose discipline.

Yet, while coordination is sometimes lacking, the action of such governments the end turns out to have behind it the solid backing of public opinion.

President Kennedy in his Wednesday press conference spoke vividly of the fact that it has taken the Western Allies six weeks to agree on the phrasing

Dr. William Brady Says:

Four or Six-Mile Walk Daily Is Best Medicine

The best medicine for executives, office workers, salespeople, professional people and others who live by their wits is 2 miles of oxygen on the high two or three times a day.

Say, a brisk walk to the office, store or school each morning and again at the end of the day or later in the evening.

...that is, not a strut, not a pose, but the way one walks for pleasure.

The eminent Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, I read, absorbs a few miles of oxygen on the hoof nearly every day, or whatever replaces oxygen in the exhaust-laden atmosphere of Fifth Avenue, and Faneuil Hall is "out of his apartment at 6 o'clock every morning, taking her usual hour-and-half walk through Central Park."

Whether Dr. Fosdick writes a sermon or "Mind Walks" as a chapter of her next book is no matter—in any case the walk will insure a better job.

It is depressing to observe how many young persons ride to school although they live only a mile or two distant. In school these same young persons or 95 per cent of them are deprived of physical education for the sake of the football team.

What students, business and professional men and women, white collar workers in general need for relaxation is general exercise, not rest. If a daily walk is not beyond one's means (it takes at least an hour) it is the ideal way to get general exercise.

For one who can't afford to walk three to six miles a day, riding a bicycle, skating, swimming, spending garden, moving lawn or playing tennis, golf, baseball or other game is nearly as good as a daily walk, for relaxation, I mean.

Student or teacher, executive or secretary, salesman or white collar worker, doctor, lawyer, musician can best get the recreation and relaxation he needs by doing something himself.

He can't get it sitting in the bleachers, grandstand, gallery or loge watching professional play.

Many misguided persons get into the habit of using a tranquilizer, a sedative or a narcotic to help them relax, particularly after a "hard day at the office."

of their notes to Moscow on the Berlin issue, and that agreement among allies isn't easy to achieve.

But, in the present instance, this is at least not as big a disadvantage as it might appear.

For the very process of reaching a unified agreement takes time, and the evident support being given by public opinion in all the allied countries is in itself more important than the actual phrasing of the notes themselves.

Professional diplomats have always endeavored to give an adversary a way out, and have introduced ambiguities of language and implicit hints of ways of settlement. But these are really words of self-restraint rather than of any retreat from principle.

home, or a few cocktails or a high ball before dinner at home.

Tranquilizer or sedative merely enhances stupidity, but alcohol numbs or lessens consciousness of weariness or fatigue, a state not at all like the relaxation that comes naturally after a reasonable stint of physical work, play or exercise.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not cash, deposits, or treatment, with the name of Dr. William Brady, Jr., stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Girls: Don't Adopt Male Habits

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE J-446: Lois L., age 20, is the coed mentioned yesterday who adopted male habits and thus alienated her sweetheart.

"Dr. Crane," her boy friend added, "Lois could be very sweet and feminine, but she seems to have an obsession to be a man."

"If she has her choice of doing the feminine thing versus the masculine, she eagerly picks the male trait. Why?"

CHILDHOOD BRAND

Lois later confessed to me that her mother had died when she was 10 and her busy father didn't give her much attention.

Besides, he had earlier expressed his regret that he did not have a son, instead of a daughter.

Lois was "inherited" in the psychological sense, by a deep yearning to win her father's affection. Since he had verbally expressed his wish for a son, Lois unconsciously tried to masculinize herself.

Thus, she learned to be skillful with a gun, for her father was a skilled marksman, and this permitted Lois to accompany him on his hunting trips.

Favors The Press Printing Picture of Injured Child

My 5-year-old girl was in the neighbor's driveway. We told her she might get hurt there and to get out. She refused until we showed her the picture in the Press of the little girl who was struck by a vehicle in California, and explained what it was about. She went back and got her toys and has not gone back since.

When I read those letters criticizing you for printing it, I became angry and had to thank you for printing it. Please print there and maybe some of those who criticize will drive more carefully.

The West Bloomfield Township library board has done it again. The taxpayers are going to vote on a tax increase to operate the $100,000 masterpiece of foolhardiness. They are going to slip it in with the con-con vote.

JFK Hedges on 'Riders'

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an eye on his legislative program President Kennedy appears to be treading a careful course in matters affecting civil rights.

Kennedy left a lot of folks wondering just where he personally stands on the issue with news coming out last Wednesday on the "Freedom Riders" who have encountered arrests and some violence in the South.

The President gave comfort to civil rights advocates by saying flatly that everybody who travels "for whatever reason they travel" has the right to full constitutional protection of the law.

On the other hand, he seemed to hedge on the issue of the mixed racial bus riders are merely trying to stir up trouble when he said:

"Those rights, whether we agree with them or not, travel, where we agree on the purpose for which they travel, those rights stand

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressional pressure mounted today for a reappraisal of a Commerce Department order allowing sale of surplus American food to Russia and her Communist satellites.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., chairman of the powerful House Rules Committee, said the order was "shocking" and would get his personal investigation.

Smith said he sees no need to "latten" a potential enemy. Echoing his views was Rep. Ray J. Madden, D-Ind., who compared the food decision to the shipment of scrap iron to Japan just before World War II.

As both congressmen discussed the order during a sugar bill hearing Wednesday, Rep. William S. Broomfield, R-Mich., introduced legislation calling for a "sweeping" review of U.S. export policies to Iron Curtain countries.

Earlier this week, the House Republican policy committee expressed "extreme concern" over the Commerce Department order and similar developments.

It said that on the day after the administration decided to let down the bars, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev admitted food shortages were sweeping Russia to such an extent that horse meat had become a near-staple food.

The Republicans said the Defense Department also recently reversed its firm position on the sale of strategic American precision tools and automatic machinery to the Soviet Union.

They said this came less than three months after the Pentagon commended legislation.

U.S., Britain Swap Motoring Data

By BEN FLEIGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT—A tire is a tire is a tire.

To help solve this puzzle two firms interested in promoting international auto travel have issued booklets to add the motorist abroad.

The major difference is the one, by the California Texas Oil Co. (Caltex), tries to explain European driving to Americans. The other, by Rootes Motors, Inc., translates Americans into the Queen's English for the benefit of Britons touring the United States.

If you plan on driving in Europe, you'll learn a kilometer is 2/3 mile and that if the speedometer says you're doing 100 kilometers that's 62.14 miles per hour—or too fast for almost any European road.

Tire pressure, spelled tyre in Britain, is in either atmospheres of kilograms per square centimeter on the continent (24 pounds is 1.63 kilograms or 1.58 kilos per square centimeter); quarts and gallons are liters everywhere except Great Britain and Ireland use imperial gallons (1.2 U.S. gallon is 1 imperial gallon (1.2 U.S. gallons)).

Gasoline is petrol in Great Britain, essence in France and Belgium, benzina in Italy, benzine in Germany and Denmark, benzine in Holland and Switzerland, benzine in Norway and Sweden and expensive everywhere.

The Caltex booklet, called "Driving Abroad: Facts at Your Fingertips," contains a vast amount of other information including how to ask road directions and for car service in seven languages, plus a picture chart of international road signs.

The Rootes publication, by the American subsidiary of an English auto manufacturer, is of more modest proportions, since far fewer Britons will be driving in the United States than vice versa.

TIPS FOR BRITISH

Called "Notes on Motoring in the United States for British Tourists," it points out at the start that in the United States "you don't motor, you drive. A motoring trip is a trip by car in America."

The English also are told that in the United States a car's bonnet is the hood while what the English call the hood is a convertible top.

The book is the trunk and the sun glasses are called tenders. An Englishman wanting to rent a saloon could find himself in trouble. What he really had in mind was a sedan, not a dethin.

American cars have license plates, not number plates, and you dim the lights, not dip them.

Rootes says that "one of the most enjoyable ways to see the United States is by car. Because of the country's superb highway system, it is possible to cover really vast areas in a short length of time. Accommodations for motorists are excellent and profuse and a large number of automobile rental agencies operating throughout the United States makes this a highly practical means of travel."

A British driver's license is valid in the United States. For Americans in Europe an international driver's license is often required, but easily obtained here from an auto club or travel agent.

Americans are reminded European traffic keeps to the right hand side of the road with three exceptions—Great Britain, Ireland and Sweden. In those countries you drive on the left (or the "wrong side of the road") and pass on the right.

Rail Hearing Slated

LANSING 19—The State Public Service Commission has scheduled a hearing for Sept. 8 on an application by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad to abandon its freight station at Kingston, Tuscola County. The railroad said the freight shipments would be serviced out of Cass City.

Steel production in the U.S. has now spread into 27 of the states.

Russia-Red China Quarrel May Actually Damage West

EDITOR'S NOTE — What are the differences between Moscow and Peking? The answer is simple: they are different. They are different in their aims, in their methods, in their attitudes toward the West. In this article, we will see how the differences between the two Communist powers are likely to lead to a serious quarrel.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Soviet and Chinese Communists have been and probably still are quarreling bitterly.

But, as secretary of State Rusk has pointed out, there is little consolation in that for the West and no basis in it for new Western policy making.

In fact, the quarrel may have increased the dangers now besetting the West from the gathering storm over the future of West Berlin and Germany.

In the Moscow-Peking quarrel, Khrushchev at this moment seems to have the upper hand. But he has paid a price, too.

The Red Chinese have, by implication, accused Khrushchev of being soft on capitalism. Probably as a result of the quarrel, he seems not so soft on it now as he appeared some time ago.

MOSCOW IS BOSS

The evidence at hand indicates the Red Chinese have knuckled under to the Kremlin on this point: Moscow is the boss of world communism and its program. But the recent contemptuous treatment by the Russians of the Chinese party's 40th anniversary celebration hints the Chinese are not yet entirely convinced of the Kremlin's wisdom in all matters.

Recently Moscow has told the Chinese, "The basic criterion for true internationalism is one's attitude toward the Soviet Union," and there can be no Communist success without Soviet cooperation. Clearly this was a warning. The current quarrel has been going on for several years, ever since Khrushchev's relaxations led to the Hungarian revolution and threw a scare into the Communist world.

The argument reached its height in mid-1960 at a Communist meeting in Bucharest, Romania. It continued at a conference of 81 world Communist parties in Moscow.

Khrushchev accused the Chinese of "left sectarianism," apparently meaning they were advocating reckless policies in their insistence that war was fatally inevitable between East and West according to Leninist scriptures. A top-ranking Red Chinese delegation at Moscow was told things had changed since Lenin's time. Now there are nuclear weapons, and recklessness could lead to nuclear disaster for all.

KHRUSHCHEV CONFIDENT

Anyway, argued Khrushchev, the Communists now rule a quarter of the globe and a third of humanity and in 10 years economic competition could be the decisive cold war factor.

Now that the Kremlin has these

"All this," snapped the authoritative Soviet Journal of 1960, "constitutes the prerequisite for correct solutions of all questions, including the question of war and peace, the possibility of a new war and the possibility of excluding war."

From the meeting came the Moscow declaration of 1960, drawn up after almost two months of sharp debate. This cloudy document hinted a compromise.

Judging from the welter of words emanating from the two capitals, this seems to be the situation regarding the Moscow-Peking quarrel at present: world Communism has wrung from the Red Chinese an admission that Moscow is the supreme authority with regard to world Communist diplomacy and strategy. Red China, heavily dependent on the U.S.S.R. for its needs, is at Moscow's mercy. While it can resent and argue, Peking cannot rid itself of Kremlin influence. It can hope at best to bring some influential Russians over to the Chinese way of thinking.

GOAL IS WORLD RULE

In essence, the goals of Moscow and Peking are the same: World rule by communism. Neither can afford the appearance of a deep split. There had to be concessions and compromise.

The Red Chinese stress now that they accept "the principle meaning the rule that Moscow is the boss of the world movement. They apparently concede a free hand for Moscow's diplomacy, including a free hand in such Asian situations as the Indochina crises over Laos and Viet Nam. Khrushchev may, if he chooses, use those situations as pawns in his intricate chess game over West Berlin and Germany.

Red China agrees that the balance of world forces is, as the Russians say, swinging in favor of the Communists — "The east wind is prevailing over the west wind." But China's No. 2 communist Liu Shao-chi, sharply reminded Moscow, in a recent party anniversary speech, that if this is the case, the Chinese revolution was primarily responsible. He insisted, too, that the Chinese party was a "correct Marxist-Leninist political party." And he added that the Chinese linked patriotism with "proletarian internationalism."

CHINESE CONCEDE

Liu conceded China was a long way from achieving socialism — the stage of development the U.S.S.R. claims — and a much longer way from communism. By implication he was conceding there were no real shortcuts to these goals. Chinese suggestions that there could be shortcuts show one of a number of points of ideological friction.

will likely be pressure for new hand, what does the Kremlin do next? Therein lie the dangers of a Communist thrust, with all the related dangers. If the West calls Khrushchev's Communist family argument.

Wants U.S. Jokes to Make Ivan Gag

NEW YORK (U) — President Kennedy probably isn't aware of it, but he has available a powerful secret weapon he could use in the cold war struggle with the Soviet Union—America's funny-bone.

He could use it to whack communism over the head around the world, says Evan Esar, an expert and lifelong scholar on humor. It might even be the decisive factor, Esar added.

"Long before the cold war, America dominated world comedy, whereas Russian humor has virtually no influence abroad—thanks to the rigid controls over clowns, variety performers and topical satire," Esar said.

"A gag or funny story carries more propaganda value in the battle for men's minds than a hundred speeches from state-ment. Though we make no effort to spread them, our anti-communist quips and anecdotes are repeated in the uncommitted lands, like India, where the people laugh with us while they laugh at the Russians.

OH, HA, HA

"And once a country becomes a laughingstock, it finds it more difficult to export its humorous way of life."

Esar cites a few examples of the way to harpoon the Soviet Union where it hurts:

"Communism is a system of government under which free speech merely means the right to talk your head off... A system of government where people either sing in the same key or suffer behind the same lock."

No More First Class

WASHINGTON (U) — The State Department, in a move designed to save $300,000 a year, has notified its employees that they will have to quit going first class on Trans-Atlantic jet flights.

News Editor Sheehan Quits WJR to Join ABC

DETROIT (U) — William Sheehan has resigned as news editor of Radio Station WJR to join the news department of the American Broadcasting Co. network in New York.

Sheehan will be succeeded, effective Aug. 7, by George Kendall who joined the WJR news department in 1957 and was appointed public relations director the following year.

Sheehan joined WJR in January 1953 and was appointed news editor four years later.

High school graduates who enlist in the Navy before July 1, 1961, are eligible for entrance examination for the U.S. Naval Preparatory School, Baltimore, Md., and possible subsequent appointment to the Naval Academy.

2 JA Members Are Delegates to Convention

Charles Anderson, 38, of 54 J. Cokes, Pontiac, and Paul H. Reame Jr., 16, of 969 Boston, Pontiac have been named delegates to the 1961 Annual National Junior Achievers Conference, Aug. 20-23, it was announced by H. John Lowry, president of Junior Achievement of Southeastern Michigan.

The world's largest teen-age trade association convention will be held at Ohio State University where more than 1,000 teen-age executives will gather from 150 areas to discuss such subjects as direct sales, employee relations, advertising and promotion.

About 23 raw materials are used by the steel industry.

2 Policemen Hurt by Berserk Gunman

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — A former mental patient grabbed a policeman's revolver and began shooting at 15 persons in the receiving room of City Hospital No. 2 today.

Two policemen were wounded and the gunman was killed in a leg.

Police said the dead man, Richard Shackelford, about 35, was identified by a relative as a former mental patient. The relative didn't know why Shackelford was at the hospital.

Cpl. Raymond Oberlin, 45, shot in the groin, was reported in critical condition. Patrolman Virgil Page, 51, was wounded in a leg.

Will Team Up With U.S. in Missile-Spot Station

LONDON (U)—The air ministry announced it has agreed with the United States to set up a joint station in England to receive information from missile-spotting American Midas satellites.

Cost was estimated at $33.36 million with the United States paying $28 million. The satellite carries infrared devices to detect missiles by heat they give off.

U.S., Ghana Sign Pact

ACCRA, Ghana (U)—The United States and Ghana signed an agreement Wednesday providing for Peace Corps volunteers to be sent to Ghana. The provisions call for at least 70 secondary school teachers within the next year in answer to a personal appeal by President Kwame Nkrumah.

Some 4,900,000 Americans visited Canada during 1960, while 700,000 went south of the border to Mexico.

Piaf Leaves Hospital

PARIS (U)—Edith Piaf left the American hospital today, apparently well on her way toward recovery from an emergency intestinal operation June 9. The French singer told friends she is weary of hospital confinement and plans to rest for two months at the country home of her manager. The operation was her second in recent months.

The Oklahoma state flower is mistletoe.

Odd Pillow Talk
Compiled in New Sleep Reader

CHICAGO (UPI)—Charles Dickens would sleep in a bed only if the headboard were pointed due north, and E. W. Howe, the Kansas editor, once remarked: "There is only one thing people dislike that is good for them: a good night's sleep."

These and other oddities concerning famous people and beds were collected recently by a blanket manufacturer in compiling "A Sleep Reader for Insomniacs."

The also discovered:
—The early Egyptians are credited with putting beds on legs in an attempt to get the snakes to go under, not over, them while they were asleep.

—The famous Bed of Ware accommodated 68 sleepers. It belonged to King Edward IV of England who could fit 34 or more persons in the trundle bed which slipped underneath.

—Benjamin Franklin was of the opinion that women needed more sleep than men. He advocated "six hours for a man, seven for a woman, and eight for a fool."

Recommends Keeping Rights Commission Alive

WASHINGTON (AP)—A House judiciary subcommittee has recommended that the Civil Rights Commission created by the 1957 Civil Rights Act be preserved for another two years.

The subcommittee Wednesday approved a bill to keep the commission, headed by Michigan State University President John A. Hannah, alive until Sept. 3, 1963. The commission now is scheduled to die out of business Sept. 9 of this year.

Kassem Finds Roads Blocked

Iraq's Two Possible Ways to Take Kuwait Have Been Removed

By WERNER KINLEY
BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Premier Abdel Karim Kassem of Iraq has reached a roadblock in his quest for Kuwait.

When Kassem announced on June 25 that Iraq was claiming the territory, he was claiming the oil-rich southern border there were two courses before him.

First, he could send his army across the border and take Kuwait by force in a few hours, presenting to the world an embarrassing fait accompli. Kassem has denied he ever intended to do this and most observers in Baghdad believe him.

Second, he could follow a political path and by winning the support of other Arab nations, possibly gain his objective.

HOPE ENDED Kassem may have felt that somehow he could bring enough pressure against the British to keep them on the sidelines. But when British troops were rushed to Kuwait at the ruling sheik's request, that hope was ended.

And any movement of Iraqi troops into Kuwait now would have to contend not only with the British but also with Saudi Arabians and possibly other Arab forces.

The political road also appears blocked. Kassem picked up support from a few Arab states, notably Morocco and Yemen. But most of the Arab League is backing Kuwait.

During the celebrations last week of the third anniversary of Kassem's revolution, his speeches brimmed with anger against the British.

Most newspapers in Baghdad have hammered away on the Kuwait issue for the past three weeks. Baghdad radio several times a day has told the people about the "imperialist menace" and "the justice of Iraq's claim."

Despite the propaganda barrage, there seemed to be no great enthusiasm in Baghdad about Kuwait. Some Baghdadis treat it as a joke. Others shrug and ask, "Well, what have we lost?" Only a very few believe Kassem will win.

But Kassem can ill afford failure. As one trained observer put it, "I would not say it will make his position precarious. It will make it more precarious."

Air Force Reserves Also Could Be Called

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON—Any mobilization of National Guard and reserve ground forces may be matched by action to increase support and air lift transport for foot soldiers.

And this could mean that some Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard men would be called to active duty.

Final details of President Kennedy's overall plan for augmenting conventional war capabilities in the face of the Berlin crisis and other world tensions were assembled in a long White House session Wednesday.

Earlier, in his news conference, Kennedy declined to indicate how much the plan would cost. Speculation has ranged widely, up to as high as $3 billion.

At the White House meeting were the President, members of the National Security Council and Pentagon military advisers.

The session intensified speculation that, among other things, Kennedy would declare a state of limited emergency, under which he could summon some National Guard divisions to federal service and call in reserves, as well as individuals or small, specialized units.

CAN CALL MILLION By law, Kennedy can bring up to a million men into active federal duty under a state of limited emergency. More than that would require congressional action.

Most public attention has focused on the possibility that Kennedy would decide to beef up readiness for conventional war by calling up more ground troops.

However, Pentagon officials have emphasized that the review made by the Joint Chiefs of Staff as guidance for Kennedy was for National Guard divisions to federal service and call in reserves,

American Airline Wants Reduction in Coach Fares

WASHINGTON (UPI)—American Airlines has asked the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) to let it cut coast-to-coast air coach fares by about 30 per cent to match a similar request by Trans World Airlines.

HOPE ENDED The moves possibly foreshadowed an airline price war. A TWA spokesman said he expected United Air Lines, the third major transcontinental line, also to request a rate cut soon.

American asked the cab yesterday to approve roundtrip extension coach fares of $18 for jets and $21 for propeller planes, effective Aug. 18.

The new fares would apply to flights between Monday noon and Friday noon. TWA has asked for identical fare reductions, starting Aug. 18.

El Salvador Stops Communist-Led Plot

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—The government says it has crushed a Communist-led revolution plot timed to erupt on the July 25 anniversary of the Castro movement in Cuba.

A communique said a large quantity of Marxist propaganda was seized when government forces moved against the plotters Wednesday. Unofficial sources said several men were arrested.

The government disclosed no names but said "these subversive activities were led by known Communists."

Orders U.N. Unit Taken

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP)—Foreign Minister Eric Louw has denied he ordered the immediate arrest of the U.N. investigating committee on South West Africa if it entered the mandated territory. Louw claimed he merely stated that if the committee crossed the border it would be detained and returned to the country from which it had come.

Adolf Linked to Conspiracy With a Final Confession

JERUSALEM (AP)—Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner concluded his cross-examination of Adolf Eichmann today, forcing a final confession from the ex-Gestapo officer that he was part of a Nazi conspiracy to camouflage the mass slaughter of the Jews behind a blanket of lies.

But after two weeks of blistering attack, the former head of Jewish affairs for the SS maintained to the end that his actions were done on orders from his superior officers.

Hausner took Eichmann back to an incident in Slovakia when the defendant blocked an appeal of local authorities to visit the death camps to see if Slovakian Jews were all right.

"You signed the letter to the Slovakian authorities, saying that there was no need for them to worry about Jewish authorities?" Hausner asked.

ORDERED BY HIMMLER

"Yes, I was ordered (by SS chief Heinrich Himmler) to use that language," Eichmann answered.

"You said stories of extermination were only grueling tales?" "Yes, I was ordered to say that too."

"And the Red Cross was allowed only to go to Theresienstadt?" the prosecutor continued.

Yes, that's why Himmler created it."

"This was the apparatus of camouflage in dealing with foreign nations. Inside the German Reich and even with the Jews themselves?"

"Yes," Eichmann said, "with one reservation. I discussed frankly and openly with the Jewish functionaries . . . No, no, I Royal Swedish Academy of Let-

Funeral Service Held for Lutheran Minister

DETROIT (AP)—Funeral service was held Wednesday for Rev. Oscar A. Bertram, 86, a Lutheran minister since 1898, who died Sunday.

Mr. Bertram entered the Lutheran Home Rest Home here in 1931 after he retired as minister of the Haven Church in Vassar, Bort, in Detroit, he served in churches in Idaho, Washington, Ohio and Michigan.

"And you are the person who says he never uttered a false word?"

Eichmann grimaced. "I did not have to decide these things myself," he responded. "I was forced and pressed by my superiors."

In the final hours of the cross-examination, Eichmann admitted he helped organize the march of 25,000 Jews from Budapest to Austria in 1944, but he blamed the Hungarian Fascists for turning it into a death march.

Roll Unoccupied Cars Down Hill in Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—At least six unoccupied cars were rolled down streets of a hilly residential area during the pre-dawn hours Wednesday.

Damage to the vehicles, lawns, shrubs, trees, garages and other cars was estimated at $7,500.

Police said it looked like the work of thrill-seekers. One resident said he saw a car carrying several young persons speed from the scene.

Union Plans to Rap Programing on TV

DETROIT (AP)—An official of the American Federation of Television and Radio Artists said today the union will rap current television programming practices at its four-day convention here. The convention began today.

"We expect to pass a strong resolution backing Federal Communications Commissioner Newton Minow in his condemnation of current programs," said Donald F. Conway, executive secretary of the organization.

In a recent speech Minow referred to television's programming as "a vast wasteland."

Conway said the FCC's emphasis on responsibility of local stations may bring an increase in local programs and thus more jobs for more performers.

Williams Leaves for Africa Again

Will Visit 8 Southern Lands Before Returning Sept. 6

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former Michigan governor, G. Mennen Williams, is on his way to Africa for his second fact-finding tour there since President Kennedy appointed him assistant secretary of state for African affairs.

Williams plans still another African trip late this year. At a news conference before he left here Wednesday Williams said his mission is to "show to the people of Africa the warm interest we have in them and their aspirations."

He will visit eight southern African lands, returning Sept. 6. Williams also will attend two regional meetings of U.S. ambassadors, one at Lagos, Nigeria, and the other at Niassa, Cyprus.

When told of a report that the Union of South Africa may invite him to visit there once he arrives in Africa, Williams said, "It is not possible to make a meaningful trip to the Union of South Africa at this time."

The segregationist Republic of South Africa has rejected a visit by Williams.

Looks at Progress After First Six Months

Home Front Satisfies JFK, but Abroad...

By ALVIN SPIVAK
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy ended his first six months in the White House today with satisfaction about progress on the domestic front but serious concern about international developments. He is happy about the support Congress has given to his legislative program so far—but dismayed about and determined to keep fighting against strong opposition to his aid to education and foreign aid programs.

Physically, Kennedy appeared to have recovered much of his old self after a back injury that had him on crutches for two weeks in June.

The 44-year-old President also seems again to be showing the forceful confidence which was one of his trademarks until the Cuban invasion debacle subdued him and many key aides.

With the Berlin crisis building up steam, with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev rattling his saber, and the Western allies searching for plans to meet the Red threat, Kennedy is beset by problems which were on his doorstep when he arrived and have been growing ever since.

The Communist threat to Laos still exists, and South Viet Nam is still a trouble spot which could breed more conflict unless Communist dangers let up.

Kennedy was asked at his news conference Wednesday to comment on the "vicissitudes of the presidency" in his first half-year. In his reply he noted that problems are facing the United States all over the globe and at home, too, where "we still have this problem of rather chronic unemployment."

"My judgment is that the American people and this government and the Congress must realize that we are in a long struggle which we will be involved with for a great many years against very powerful countries," Kennedy said.

He said these countries have "nearly a billion people in them, with strong economies in some cases" and he warned "we cannot look for success on every occasion."

"We can move through this period, I hope, protecting our vital interest and our commitments and also maintaining the peace," he said.

But to do so, he said, Americans must "have the patience and the willingness to take some setbacks without taking undue actions." And he said they must recognize "that there are also some successes which may not be as dramatic to us but certainly come within Mr. Khrushchev's calculations."

The President added that "No one should think that it is going to be easy."

Recalling that in his state of the union message he said "the news will be worse instead of better," Kennedy said he "would also say that Mr. Khrushchev would probably agree with that." For example, said the Communist bloc has problems such as the food shortage in China and difficult relations between certain bloc nations.

GOOD PROGRESS

At home, Kennedy said he has been "pleased with the progress we have made internally" in bringing the nation out of a recession. He also voiced pleasure at congressional passage of some bills which Democrats have tried unsuccessfully to push through for a number of years.

During Kennedy's first six months, he has signed into law bills to liberalize the Social Security program, boost the minimum wage, expand the area re-employment program, extend unemployment compensation, fix a new highway construction, housing, and provide aid to children of unemployed parents.

He also has signed bills carrying out his food and farm program, and extending the Sugar Act.

With the signing of a water-pollution control bill today, Kennedy will have won victories on 13 of the 19 major items of legislation he has proposed to Congress. His aides consider this an excellent score, saying that former President Eisenhower signed only four of his proposed bills into law in his first six months in office.

Yes, That New System Certainly Douses Fires

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City firemen started a blaze in an old three-story building on Welfare Island Tuesday to demonstrate a new "ultra-high expansion foam extinguishing system."

They intended to confine the fire to the first story. But it roared out of control, spreading to upper stories.

Firemen said it took 40 minutes to douse the blaze. It also took thousands of gallons of an old-fashioned extinguisher — water.

However, there are still some "highest priority" bills pending and in deep trouble. Aid to education is among them, along with Kennedy's proposal for authorization of $7.3 billion in use of non-appropriated treasury funds over five years to finance long-term foreign aid loans.

Also hanging fire are Kennedy's catch-all farm bill, his tax reform measure, the bill to give permanent life to the Peace Corps, and the ultra-controversial measure to finance health care for the aged under Social Security.

Personnel problems also have come to the fore recently, with Under Secretary of State Chester Bowles starting in the most significant episode. Despite reports that Bowles was on his way out, he was asked to resign after administration, Kennedy Wednesday voiced "complete confidence" in him.

Earlier, there were some rumblings that the Joint Chiefs of Staff were being bypassed in Kennedy's appointment of Gen. Maxwell A. Taylor, former Army chief of staff, as his White House military adviser. But Wednesday, Kennedy scotched any disturbance on that score by saying he named Taylor after consulting with the joint chiefs.

Finland has issued a license on imports of electric power from Russia for 10 years, starting in 1961. The maximum to be imported each year is 200-million kilowatt hours.

To Boost Draft, Spur Recruiting

Report JFK Decides on Ways to Strengthen U.S. Armed Forces

From Our News Wire
WASHINGTON — President Kennedy reported today to have decided on strengthening U.S. armed forces through larger draft calls and intensified recruiting because of the Berlin crisis.

In New York Russian Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov said the "abnormal" situation in divided Berlin is getting more tense and could lead to World War III if continued. But he expressed belief there still is time to deal with the situation peacefully.

Responsible sources said the President will add three new divisions and build up others to bring Army and Marine strength to 70 divisions.

This course of action, was decided on instead of resorting to a declaration of national emergency and a call-up of National Guard and the reserves.

One high administration official, who said he did not expect action.

BERLIN (UPI)—East German Communists today accused the United States of rigging the Miss Universe contest to spur the flight of East German refugees to the West.

tion of the reserves now, pointed out that this decision could be reversed quickly if Kennedy thought conditions were getting worse.

This official was familiar with details of the meeting late Wednesday at which Kennedy and his top advisers reached a final decision on what steps to take to meet Russian threats to Berlin.

TO BRIEF ALLIES
Kennedy is telling the Western allies of these moves this week-end before reporting to the American people Tuesday night and Congress Wednesday.

Other developments concerning Berlin:

Iron Curtain diplomats are showing marked signs of uneasiness over stiffening Western reaction to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's brinkmanship over Berlin, diplomatic observers said.

Moscow radio said "the Western powers are continuing to stand on their dangerous positions on the German question." In a commentary on the Western notes to the Soviet Union, the radio said: "However, their threats and intimidations do not in the least promote a business-like atmosphere for negotiations."

BRANDT HOPEFUL

Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin said he believes there will be no war over his divided city. "I hope not and I believe not," he told a questioner at a news conference. But he added it would be frivolous not to consider the possible consequences of the present situation.

West Berlin authorities cut red tape to speed the processing of thousands of East German refugees streaming into the isolated Western outpost.

City Reports Disease Rise

But Decrease Shown in County as a Whole During Past Week

There was an increase in communicable diseases in Pontiac last week but a decrease in Oakland County as a whole.

There were four reports of chicken pox in Pontiac and three of mumps, although there were no new cases of either disease the week before.

There were four cases of measles, compared to one the previous week.

There was one report of hepatitis last week and one the week before.

The following is a list of new cases of communicable diseases reported to the Oakland County Health Department from places other than Pontiac in the past two weeks.

Postal Rate Hike Prospects Dead for Near Future

WASHINGTON — The House Post Office Committee today handed President Kennedy another setback in his efforts to raise postal rates by postponing further action until Aug. 17.

With Congress eyeing a Labor Day adjournment and opponents of any increase armed with dozens of time-consuming amendments, the postponement all but kills the bill for this year.

"I say it's dead as a doornail for this session," declared Rep. James H. Morrison, D-La., who offered the postponement motion. It carried 13-9 in a vote-cutting across party lines.

The delaying motion came on the heels of a new request by Kennedy for increases in postal rates to help cut the mounting deficits of the Post Office Department, estimated at nearly $900 million for fiscal 1962.

Gun Powder Blast Kills Two at MGM

CULVER CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Two property men were killed and a third injured today when a transfer vault, containing gun powder for movie westerns, exploded at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio.

Killed were Carl E. Elmendorf and Dell S. Price, hospitalized for burns and shock was Carl M. Friend.

A studio spokesman said the single flash explosion rocked the sprawling movie lot at 7 a.m. destroying the 20 by 15 foot tin-roofed building.

3 From Orchard Lake Hospitalized by Fumes

BOSTON (UPI)—Mrs. Mildred Hardie, 48, of Orchard Lake, Mich., and her two sons, aged 23 and 17, were overcome by gas fumes early today in the Sherry Biltmore Hotel.

The three were hospitalized in good condition.

Civil Rights Group to Convene at MSU

EAST LANSING — The U.S. Civil Rights Commission will meet at Michigan State University Aug. 10-13, commission chairman and MSU President John A. Hannah said today.

Hannah said there will be no public hearings and commission members will devote the session to completing detailed reports of investigations of civil rights problems in the country.

It will be the first commission meeting for Dean Ervin Griswold of Harvard University law school and Dean Spottwood Robinson III of Howard University law school.

Both are newly confirmed appointees of President Kennedy.

Robinson is the only Negro on the commission and replaces Prof. George W. Johnson, who resigned to head an MSU education project in Nigeria.

313th Infantry Invites Veterans to Convention

Oakland County World War II veterans of the 313th Infantry, 79th Division, have been invited to join the 313th Infantry Association at its 12th annual convention at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago, July 28-30.

Arthur R. Dey, 632 Lake Angelus Road, Lake Angelus, an association member, said many men from Oakland County were in the 79th Division, but do not know of the existence of the association.

NEARING COMPLETION—Final work is being done on the new home of the First Congregational Church of Rochester which is slated to be open for services July 30. It is located on North Pine Street, between Glendale and Winry streets and is costing about $240,000 to build and equip.

Slate Opening of New Church

Initial Service July 30 at First Congregational of Rochester

ROCHESTER — The doors of the new First Congregational Church of Rochester will be open for regular morning services for the first time July 30. Located on North Pine Street between Glendale and Winry streets, the new church edifice contains a chapel, Sunday School rooms, offices, complete kitchen, banquet area and lounge.

Dominating feature of the chapel is a stained-glass window designed on the theme of the Good Shepherd by Helen Rother Studios, Detroit. It was erected in France.

Finished in buff-colored brick, the structure cost about $240,000 and took approximately nine months to build. General contractor was the Becker Construction Co. of Bloomfield Hills.

The kitchen, dining room and lounge were furnished by the Women's Fellowship, Mrs. Robert Harris, president. Last service in the 105-year-old church that the congregation is vacating at 212 W. Third St. will be at 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

The church board has not yet decided what to do with the ever-century-old edifice.

Services in the new building July 30 will be at 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. with the architect Harold Fisher of Detroit slated to present the keys to the board of trustees at the earlier service.

The public is invited to an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. According to present plans, dedication services will be held in the fall. A. R. Musson is chairman of the dedication committee.

Lewis B. Aronson is head of the building committee, Edwin Forbush, vice chairman, and Edward Fors, chairman of the board of trustees.

Church pastor is Rev. Robert E. Jacobson.

Issue Dance Invitation

The public has been invited to a dance at 9 p.m. July 29 at the Westcoast Clubhouse near Green Lake sponsored by the Highlands Home Improvement Association.

Virginia Lewis Weds

Says Vows by Candlelight

GINGELVILLE — Virginia Lee Lewis became the bride of Frank D. Ginglel in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at the Lake Orion Methodist Church.

Officiating at the service was Rev. Albert John.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Lewis of Lowell. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Ginglel of 3401 Gregory Road.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of chantilly lace, featuring a tiered skirt, long pointed sleeves and a scalloped Sabrina neckline.

A tiara of pearls and sequins held her veil of illusion. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and stephanotis on a white ribbon.

BEST MAN

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Peter Dewey of Ginglelville. Sally Hoover of Lowell and Mrs. Niles Olson of Ginglelville served as bridesmaids. James Jacobs of Pontiac was best man while Richard Schrier of Lake Orion and Gerald Edmy of Ginglelville acted as groomsmen.

The bride's niece Debra Jean Dewey was flower girl and her

To Ponder Face-Lift Plan

BERKLEY — A pilot project proposed to spur the revitalization of the central business district here will be presented to city officials at a public meeting tonight in the Berkley high school.

The proposal, a private venture calling for the face-lifting of a block of stores, will be submitted by Mrs. Charles E. McMeen, landlord of several Berkley business places, and the Berkley Business District Improvement Committee.

Mrs. McMeen, president of the McMeen Corp., 1775 Bracken Road, Bloomfield Township, intends to renovate her property on 12-Mile Road, just west of Coolidge Highway.

The Berkley Square, as it will be known, is between Griffith Avenue and Gardner Avenue on the north side of 12-Mile Road.

Mrs. McMeen said the buildings on the block would be redesigned along Early American lines.

Parking is the major barrier to immediate progress of the plan, according to Mrs. McMeen, since it will be necessary to condemn several parcels to the rear of the block for the necessary facilities.

However, the city has shown much interest in the project. And its master plan, recently completed, reveals that the parking needs for the city and the specifications prepared by Mrs. McMeen's architect coincide.

Attending the 7:30 p.m. meeting along with the mayor and councilmen will be the nine-member City Planning Commission, which has supported the private project in hopes that it will create enthusiasm among businesses to follow suit.

In addition to making public the pilot project tonight, the Business District Improvement Committee will submit its initial recommendations to the city and business owners for the improvement of the business district.

The 55-member committee recommends that the city maintain an improved cleaning program near 12-Mile and Coolidge; stop persons from operating businesses in their homes in violation of the zoning ordinance, and require that buildings be razed within a reasonable time.

Electricity Shut Off as High Wire Snaps

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP — A lightning bolt apparently broke a high tension wire which caused a loss of electricity in homes near 32-Mile and Hayes roads yesterday evening.

The wire snapped and was dangling in a ditch on 32-Mile Road about 1 1/2 miles east of Romeo shortly after 5 p.m. A crew from the Detroit Edison Co. repaired the line in approximately one-half hour, according to Romeo State police.

Detroit Edison Co. officials in Mount Clemens said power was restored by 8 p.m.

"It often seemed hopeless," said Mr. Dewey. "But this is an especially happy day in Hell."

The government has granted the tiny Southern Michigan town of 200-odd residents a post office substation. This is further proof that Hell is gaining in stature.

The 125-year-old community's first triumph this year came when the Michigan State Highway Department put the quiet cluster of cottages and small businesses on the state highway map for people who wanted to know how to get to Hell.

State police had to post a 35-mile-an-hour speed limit on the road to Hell in response to complaints that demons (speed, that is) were burning up a half-mile main street. And now the bold letters "HELL, MICH." grace a U.S. postage stamp.

The post office substation went up Wednesday in the town's one and only restaurant—the Ranch Grill, owned by Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Dewey.

Grimacing citizens gathered around when Mrs. Dewey, the newly appointed postmistress, cancelled the first stamp.

A 10-year battle had been won.

State Company Spurns South to Expand in Detroit

DETROIT — Howell Industries has decided to expand operations in Detroit instead of accepting inducements from four southern states to move south.

About 350 workers are employed by Howell Industries in plants at Howell and Lapeer. The firm manufactures automotive parts.

Nathan Freedland, company president, said offers from the South included bond financing of land, building at a nominal rate of interest, amortization over a 20-year period with a token rental of $1 a year after 20 years and wages as low as 85 cents an hour for new workers.

Freedland said Detroit has a number of skilled workers readily available and lower transportation costs. He added that management is simpler with all Howell's plants in the same state and near the automobile firms with which it deals.

Dies of Crash Injuries

SANDUSKY — Frank Bulgrien, 68, of Sandusky, died yesterday of injuries suffered when his car struck the rear of another near here July 16.

To Open Bids on New School

Will Be Last Leg of Building Plan

Rochester Board OKs Final Setup for New 25-Room Structure

ROCHESTER — The last phase of a $3.1-million building program in the Rochester Community School District will be started after bids for the new West Junior High School are opened Aug. 15.

Final plans for the 25-room junior high school, which will be located on Old Perch Road between Avon Road and West University Drive, have been approved by the board of education.

Under plans submitted by Linn Smith Associates of Birmingham, the building will contain a gymnasium, kitchen, cafeteria, library, eight classrooms and rooms designed for such specialized subjects as shop, home economics, science and languages.

The school will have a capacity of 600 students and will be expandable to serve 900. It is scheduled to be opened in September 1962.

Asst. School Supt. Richard F. Huizenga said yesterday all projects included in the district's extensive construction program will be under way when work is started on the new junior high school.

Huizenga said the board of education also approved the sale of $1.5 million in bonds, which is the final portion of the $3.1-million bond issue approved by voters in a May 1960 election.

Other projects financed by the bond issue include additions to Meadow Brook and Hamlin elementary schools and the senior high school, remodeling of the present Central Junior High School and construction of the new McGregor Elementary School.

READY IN SEPTEMBER

The two elementary school additions and newly constructed McGregor Elementary School will be ready for occupancy this September while the 17-room addition at the senior high school will be opened Jan. 1.

Part of the remodeled Central Junior High School will be ready by its fall while it is to be completed next year at the same time the new West Junior High School will be opened.

Huizenga said contracts for construction of the new junior high school will be awarded after the Aug. 15 bid opening date. The project is expected to cost some $1.2 million.

DONALD L. SWANSON

Name Swanson to Postal Job

State Fair Manager, Ex-Mayor of Southfield Going to Chicago

SOUTHFIELD — Donald L. Swanson, Michigan State Fair manager and first mayor of Southfield, will become director of the U.S. Post Office Department's regional office in Chicago Aug. 1.

The appointment of Swanson to the $17,200-a-year post office position was announced today in Washington by Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

Swanson, 46, of 24068 Pennsylvania Road, will be in charge of postal operations for Michigan and Illinois. His headquarters will be in Chicago.

Swanson said today he would remain as general manager of the State Fair, a post he has held since 1954, through next week. He said he plans to move his family to Chicago as soon as possible.

His contract as State Fair manager expired Dec. 31. At the time there was speculation that he would be replaced in his $9,000-a-year job by Gov. John B. Swainson.

SUCCESSOR A MYSTERY

Swanson said today he has no idea who would be named as his successor in the State Fair post.

A resident of Southfield since 1948, Swanson was elected mayor here when the city was incorporated in 1959. He was defeated in his bid for re-election April 3 by S. James Clarkson, former Democratic state representative from the 4th District.

Says Action Imminent on Walled Lake Plan

WALLED LAKE — Action by the City Council to move ahead on a proposed master plan for the city seems likely within the next two weeks.

The council has shown interest in a work program submitted by the consulting firm of Parkins, Rogers and Associates of Ferndale and has indicated it would take final action Aug. 1.

The firm, recommended by the City Planning Commission, would prepare the master plan in one- or two-year stages, depending on which arrangement the council approves.

Total cost of the program for the two-year period would be $16,500. The federal government would pay 75 per cent of the study, the city paying the remainder.

When the council first became concerned with the 701 program, which is administered by the state, the city's share of the study was 50 per cent.

However, a recent bill signed by President Kennedy provides that in certain areas the local government pay a quarter of the cost.

The council, receiving the engineers work program only this week, has promised to study it

Area Man to Be Regional Chief of Federal SBA

WASHINGTON — Robert F. Phillips of 25101 W. Roycroft, Huntington Woods, will be appointed regional director of the Small Business Administration for Michigan, Michigan's Democratic senators said today.

Sens. Pat V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart said the White House had informed them the appointment would be approved.

Phillips, 39, is secretary-treasurer and general manager of the United Products Corp., Detroit, and the United Supply Co., Ann Arbor, wholesale distributors of building materials.

McNamara and Hart said Phillips had been recommended by the Michigan Federal Appointments Committee, the state Democratic group which passes on patronage matters.

Phillips is the husband of Mrs. Harriett Phillips, vice-chairman of the Democratic State Party and county party worker.

AREA NEWS

SHARON A. JONES

An Aug. 19 wedding is planned by Sharon Annette Jones and Ralph D. Barlow. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hayes of 3316 Morgan Road, Orion Township. The prospective bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barlow of 9514 Cornell Road, Independence Township.

WCTU Groups Are Guests at Co-Op Meal

Frances Willard Unit of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was hostess to the Anna Gordon and Dora B. Whitney units Wednesday for a cooperative dinner. The Rev. Lola P. Martin of James K. Bowerman was hostess for the Lakeshore picnic.

After a fellowship hour, a reading, "The Best Way," and prayer opened the business meeting. Devotions on the parable of the sower, offered by the Rev. Marion, preceded a current events discussion.

The song, "God Be With You," dedicated to Mrs. John Little, and prayer by Mrs. Ella Warren closed the meeting.

Plastic Cloth Not for Guests

By the Emily Post Institute

Q: I have been told by a friend that it is an insult to one's guest to use a plastic tablecloth over the regular one to keep it from being soiled. Will you please tell me if she is right about this?

A: Plastic tablecloths fill a real need for daily family use, especially in prolonging the life of one's table linen and reducing laundry bills, but are not suitable for company. To say, however, that the use of one would insult one's guests is a gross exaggeration.

Q: Is it proper for a man to smoke a cigarette between courses at dinner? For example, if a man has finished one course and is waiting for others to finish this same course, may he smoke while waiting for the next course to be served?

A: In a private house, when the hostess has placed cigarettes, a lighter and an ashtray within easy reach of each guest at her table, one may smoke throughout the meal. If smoking accessories are not provided, guests should not smoke until the end of the salad course.

Q: My son was engaged to be married. At the time the engagement was announced I gave a party in honor of his fiancée and many people gave her showers. She received many lovely presents.

When the engagement was broken my son had a hard time recovering this ring from her and we understand she has returned none of the presents given her at showers as well as the engagement party.

I think she ought to send back those things given by our friends and relatives. Is there anything I can do to influence their return?

A: They should, of course be returned. But if she is so lacking in proper behavior as to insist upon keeping them, there isn't anything you can do but be thankful for your son's lucky escape.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Grants Go to Nurses for Study

To encourage nurses to enter the teaching field and to alleviate a shortage of instructors in schools of nursing, the Detroit and Tri-County League for Nursing has awarded scholarships totaling $5,500 to 14 registered nurses who will begin studies this fall.

Donald Connolly, chairman of the league's committee on scholarships, said that the league will award additional scholarships in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties to registered nurses who will prepare for teaching and supervision work which requires bachelor of science degrees. He urged that applications be made as soon as possible to the league's headquarters at 51 West Warren Avenue, Detroit.

Mrs. Margarette Murray, league executive secretary, will confer with interested nurses.

Scholarship winners will study at Wayne State University, Mercy College and schools of nursing at Grace, Providence and St. Joseph Mercy Hospitals, Detroit.

Duplicate Bridge Played at the Elks

Six tables of bridge were in play at Wednesday Duplicate Bridge Club's meeting in Elks Temple.

Winners were Mrs. Ernest Guy and John Kraus, Mrs. Leon Haskin and Fred Kempe, Helen Bernadine and Marion Shepherd, Mrs. Dan MacPherson and Mrs. Lester Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Potter.

Cards Are Played

The afternoon was spent playing cards when Pontiac Newcomers Club members observed their annual box luncheon Wednesday. Mrs. Stanton K. Evans of Sleepy Hollow, Drive, Lake Angelus, was the hostess.

Okay to 'Neglect' Your Girl

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was asked to be an usher at my friend's wedding. Of course I intend to take my sweetheart along.

Now they tell me I am supposed to stick all evening with the bridesmaid assigned to me. If so, I must decline, for I am not going to neglect my girl for some bridesmaid I don't care anything about.

Please answer me right away. PHIL

DEAR PHIL: If being a courteous "escort" to the bridesmaid assigned to you is asking too much in return for the honor of being an usher at your friend's wedding, by all means decline.

Perhaps the bridesmaid also prefers the company of another, but she accepted because she felt honored to have been chosen.

DEAR ABBY: There is a woman in our neighborhood who hires an 11-year-old girl to baby-sit after school with her baby who is less than a year old.

Q: My son was engaged to be married. At the time the engagement was announced I gave a party in honor of his fiancée and many people gave her showers. She received many lovely presents.

When the engagement was broken my son had a hard time recovering this ring from her and we understand she has returned none of the presents given her at showers as well as the engagement party.

I think she ought to send back those things given by our friends and relatives. Is there anything I can do to influence their return?

A: They should, of course be returned. But if she is so lacking in proper behavior as to insist upon keeping them, there isn't anything you can do but be thankful for your son's lucky escape.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

ABBY

When this woman was asked how she could entrust her baby to the care of an 11-year-old child, she replied: "She doesn't have to do a thing. She knows how to use the telephone."

All I want her for is to call the fire department and get the baby out of the house in case a fire breaks out."

Don't you think she should be reported to the authorities?"

A NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Certainly not! Some 11-year-olds have more sense than some of their "grown-up" neighbors.

Sunshine Dames Meet for Picnic

The Sunshine Group of the Dames of Malta met for the annual cooperative picnic luncheon Wednesday at the Birmingham home of Mrs. Albert Clark. Mrs. Clark showed colored slides of places of interest in Birmingham.

Guests were Mrs. Annie Hoyt of McAdam, New Brunswick, Mrs. Margaret Tweddie of Birmingham, Cindy Bursard and Dianne Warren of Pontiac.

Mrs. Richard Lange will be hostess for the Aug. 16 meeting.

Summer fairs permit committees to meet outdoors. Working hard on plans for the eighth annual summer festival, at St. Mary's-in-the-Hills Episcopal Church are (from left) Mrs. Donald W. Shults of Lake Angelus Shores, Mrs. Alton J. Deuser and Mrs. Roy Johnson, both of Lake Angelus Road.

Church Sets Fair on July 29

St. Mary's-in-the-Hills Episcopal Church's eighth annual country fair is scheduled from "noon 'til night" July 29.

The outdoor fair will be in a rural setting on the church grounds at Jolly and Green-shield roads. In the event of rain, the fair will be one week later.

Booths will be erected for food, fun and bargains. A spokesman for the group reports that there will be plenty of parking space and lots of entertainment.

Mrs. Halsey Davidson, chairman, and William Berridge, cochairman, both of Lake Orion, and their committees have chosen an Alpine motif for booths which will sell books, needlework, dolls, aprons, perfumes, handmade bird houses and feeders, Christmas decorations, antiques and gifts.

Games of skill, a country cupway and refreshment booth and kiddie park including games, pony rides and antique car rides also will be featured.

A ham dinner will be served from 5 to 7.

Personal News

The birth of a son, Thomas Michael, July 17 in University Hospital, Ann Arbor, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Cross (Barbara Calhoun) of Ann Arbor. Grandparents are the Gene Calhouns of Spokane Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Milo Cross of North Hammond Lake Drive.

After visiting his grandparents, the Albert Webers of East Iroquois Road, Lt. Gary Theller, a June graduate of the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Colo., has returned to Glendora, Calif., where he resides with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Theller (the former Susan Weber of Pontiac).

Recipient of the Maj. G. Raoul Lufberry Award as outstanding cadet in foreign languages, he received a B.S. Degree, the gold bars of a second lieutenant and the wings of an aerial navigator upon graduation.

While in high school at Monrovia, Calif., Lt. Theller was a four-year letterman in basketball. At the academy he was a member of the cadet ski club, yearbook staff and Protestant Cadet Choir.

He soon will report to Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock, Tex., for pilot training.

The Brookside Drive home of the Verne C. Hamptons in Bloomfield Hills will be the setting for the rehearsal dinner Friday honoring their son William and his fiancée Elizabeth Taft Bradley who will speak vows on Saturday.

Their weekend house guests will include Mrs. Charles Conrad of Covington, Ky., and Mrs. Roger Mesager of Cincinnati, Ohio, great-aunts of the bridegroom-elect. Others will be the Donald E. Baxters and Mrs. Griffin Dye, also of Cincinnati.

A farewell party Tuesday evening at the home of Delores Wilson of Palmer Street honored Donna A. Hellman of Lake Orion, who will spend August in Florida before enrolling at Washington Missionary College, Washington, D.C.

The guests were Sue Mason, Linda Taylor, Sally Blosser of Drayton Plains, Judy Hiltner of Union Lake and Linda Perry of Lake Orion.

Michelle and Debbie Burns of Lakeside Street, Elizabeth Lake Estates, are participating in the National Baton Twirling Jamboree at Lakeview School, South Milwaukee, Wis. They will return home Monday evening.

The Duncan McVeans have returned to their home on East Beverly Avenue after spending a week with their son and daughter-in-law Maj. and Mrs. Delos E. Keelan and family of Ft. Lee, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert K. Olasbeck (Lola Pearsall) of Lannan Street, Drayton Plains, announce the birth of a daughter, Sherrill Lynn, June 30 at Pontiac General Hospital.

Grandparents are the Frederick T. Pearsalls of Waterford and Joseph L. Olasbeck of Drayton Plains.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Evans (Mary Galloway) of Waking Lane, Waterford, announce the birth of a daughter, Jamie Lynn, July 10 at Pontiac General Hospital.

The baby's grandparents are Mrs. Archie Crumm of Vinewood Avenue and the Harold L. Gillows of Ascot Street, Waterford Township. Great-grandparents are the Harry L. Gillows of Marysville and the John A. Wolfels of Port Huron.

The Raymond Smiths (Irene Gossion) of Clarkston announce the birth of a son, David Peter, July 11 at Pontiac General Hospital.

Grandparents are the David M. Crossons of Short Street and Mr. and Mrs. Ora Larrance of Parke Street.

The Kieber P. Dusenburys of Clintonville Road announce the birth of a daughter, Kimberley Sue, July 15 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Grandparents are Mrs. Leonard VanderKoooy of Sarasota Avenue and George Dusenbury of Dakota Drive.

Mrs. Karol Ziemba and daughter Kathy of West Huron Street have returned from a vacation at Miami, Fla. They followed the Atlantic coastline south and returned through central Florida.

The Junior Frank Schmidts and sons James and Bill of Lansing were weekend house guests of the Frank Schmidts on East Fairmont Avenue. James was Jr. wedding on Saturday.

Double Up on Events at Interlochen

INTERLOCHEN, Mich.—This week's concert calendar at the National Music Camp, Michigan's summer capitol of the arts, will feature a crowded double of outdoor symphony concerts and little theatre productions which promises to attract thousands of vacationing concert-goers to the northland's famed fine arts center.

Most of the 1,800 talented youngsters who have lugged their instruments to Interlochen from all corners of the globe will get a chance to perform in one or more of the 17 major concerts scheduled for the week, as well as a dozen or so student recitals which are also open to the public.

Highlights of the week's calendar include concerts by the camp's University Symphony Orchestra and the High School Concert Band on Friday night; the High School Symphonic Band and Concert Orchestra on Saturday night; and a full Sunday afternoon of concerts beginning at 2:45 p.m. with the Michigan All-State Intermediate Band.

Climax of the event will be the traditional Sunday evening starlight symphony concert by the 90-piece Philharmonic Orchestra performing Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 6 and "Romeo and Juliet" Overture, under the baton of Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, camp founder and president.

HEAR FAVORITES

Other favorites with music lovers will be Beethoven's Symphony No. 4 and "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" in Friday's University Symphony Orchestra concert, conducted by A. Clyde Heller, conductor of the Amarillo (Tex.) Symphony and Saint-Saens' "Danse Macabre" and the first movement of Bizet's Symphony No. 1, to be performed by the camp's Intermediate Symphony Orchestra at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

This orchestra is composed of talented youngsters in the 12 to 15 age group, now playing major orchestral works after only three weeks of rehearsal. Patti Forbes of Orchard Lake is a member of the violin section.

Dr. George Reynolds, director of arts for the new Interlochen Arts Academy, will be guest conductor for the Intermediate Symphony concert.

CONDUCT FAMOUS WORKS

Dr. Kenneth Snapp, director of bands at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio, will conduct the 179-piece National High School Symphonic Band on Saturday night in a program that includes famous composer Percy Grainger's "Irish Tune from County Derry," "Milli Attan," a national dance of Afghanistan; and an unusual Aaron Copland composition, "Lincoln Portrait," depicting the Civil War era.

All the concerts will be held either in the picturesque old Interlochen Bowl, which seats 3,000 in an open-air pine canopy setting, or in the equally spacious Kresge Assembly Hall and concert stage, a gift to the music camp from the S. S. Kresge Foundation of Detroit. Two little theatre productions by the camp's drama department are also on the camp's weekend calendar. There will be three performances of Maxwell Anderson's "Elizabeth, The Queen," on Friday and Saturday at 7:45 p.m. and Sunday at 2 o'clock; and the play "Royal Gambit," by Hermann Gressliker, on Sunday at 4 o'clock.

Ballerina Sharon Sue Snyder of Bloomfield Hills prepares for her entrance at a dress rehearsal for a dance concert at Interlochen. A serious dance student, Sharon also plays six instruments—flute, piccolo, harp, piano, organ and tympani—and sings in the camp's Festival Choir. This is her fifth year at the National Music Camp.

Don't Push Children Into 'Prematurity'

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Listen Mama: So junior is throwing a fit because he has to take a "dilly dilly" to a dance. Or sis is driving you crazy because she is still a tomboy while her young friends are busily experimenting with lipstick and getting fussy about their clothes.

Well, just relax and quit pushing. All in their own good time and in plenty of time, at that! Junior and sis will willingly leave childhood behind them.

What's the rush? Grownsups who force a child to be sociable are likely to "teach the child to become a lonely member of a lonely crowd."

"Pressure of adults on children will not promote social growth," says Dr. Robert W. White of Harvard University, who maintains that children develop social interest when they are ready for it.

The trouble is the majority of mothers today seem to be pushers—where their children are concerned. They just can't wait for them to grow up naturally.

So they start organizing a social life for sis and junior before they get to junior high school. And if sis and junior hold back and stubbornly refuse to fit in with mama's plans for their social development, then mama frets, stewes, worries, and pushes harder and harder.

And to what purpose? Well, Dr. White puts it right on the line. Such prompting and pushing doesn't make sis and junior well-adjusted and happy.

Instead, it only makes them "lonely members of a lonely crowd."

crowd." And the sad part is that they may remain lonely members of a lonely crowd for the rest of their lives.

Fashionettes Make Tour

Fashionette Club members toured the Pontiac Public Safety Building Tuesday evening.

Police Officer James R. Latner guided the group, explaining the use of equipment. Members saw the switchboard in operation, teletype machines, guns and tear gas bombs, the interrogation room, the detector machine and municipal court rooms and visited several other departments.

At a business meeting earlier in Adah Shelly Library, Mrs. Claudia Key earned the weekly award for greatest weight loss. Last week's winner was Mrs. Chester Beauregard, the club's newest member.

Filling a vacancy, Mrs. Edwin Bennett was elected custodian of the scales. Mrs. Jesse Villersal, president, appointed Mrs. Harold Hopper telephone chairman.

Mrs. Martinus Hanson, new program chairman, announced the schedule of events for the next six months. Future plans include trips to the new Pontiac City Library and a City Commission meeting, miniature golf and a hay ride. Also planned are cancer and first aid movies and talks on nutrition, family service, hair styling, dieting and other subjects of interest to women.

Mrs. Matthew Fotheringham was named winner of the group's elimination contest. She will receive a cash award.

Following next week's meeting, members will visit a local reduction salon with vending machine equipment.

Foursquares Hold Picnic

The Foursquare Club, Order of the Amaranth, met Tuesday for picnic dinner at the home of Mrs. Bert E. Weddle on Oxley Drive, Waterford Township.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are Mrs. Albert Kugler, president; Mrs. Olive Burgess, vice president and Mrs. Lloyd Weik, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. William Harrison was appointed sunshine chairman.

Mrs. Lula Buckler will be hostess for the September meeting.

To See Play

Plans for a visit to Northland Playhouse in August are being made by the Insurance Women of Pontiac. The group met Wednesday at the Hotel Waldron for a luncheon and business meeting.

JERRY EXLINE

To Feature City Pianist

Pontiac piano soloist Jerry Exline will be featured in the next of a series of five summer concerts of the Detroit Little Symphony at Metropolitan Beach near Mount Clemens at 7 p.m. Sunday. All concerts are free except for the beach parking fee.

A member of the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra for two years, Mr. Exline has won numerous awards, including a scholarship to Interlochen National Music Camp. He is a student at Eastman School of Music, studying with Henry Rauch.

Francesco Di Biasi will conduct the little symphony. Special selection by Mr. Exline will be George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue."

Women Having More Offspring Than Mother Did

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American women are having more children than their mothers, partially because they get an earlier start.

The Census Bureau released these figures from an August 1959 nationwide survey of 35,000 households:

—White women, who married for the first time between 1905 and the survey date, averaged 444 births per thousand during their first year of marriage. In the depression years, 1909 to 1934, the average was 282.

The bureau also reported that one-fourth of nonwhite women married between 1909 and 1939 were under 15 years old, compared with one-fifth of white brides.

It said during the 4-year period 1,733 children had been born per 1,000 white women of childbearing age (15 to 44). It also said 1,982 offspring per 1,000 were born to nonwhite women.

For all women, there were an average of 1,762 children per 1,000 women.

Doctor Says to Ignore Thumbsuckers Under 4

DENVER (UPI) — Junior probably will stop sucking his thumb at his own accord if Mom and Dad just ignore the habit.

Continual nagging and reprimands by the parents, however, may increase the severity and persistence of the habit.

For the past five years, Dr. David G. Hamilton of New Castle, Pa., has been researching thumb and finger sucking activities in children. He outlined some of his findings and conclusions at the 57th annual session of the American Association of Orthodontists in Denver recently.

The orthodontist said most children fit into three broad categories of thumbsuckers.

—The physiologic thumbsucker, the baby who has the thumb-sucking habit and is completely normal because sucking is a normal reflex instinct in babies.

—The primary thumbsucker, the child who has the thumb-sucking habit and who continues to suck his thumb automatically after the original sucking need has diminished.

—The secondary thumbsucker, the child who sucks his thumb past infancy because he is psychologically or emotionally disturbed. Less than 10 per cent of children who suck their thumbs fall into this category, Hamilton said, but these are the children with the most serious problem.

Hamilton stressed that severe dental damage may result from persistent thumb and finger sucking and recommended that the problem be handled professionally—not by parents.

Waist and hips benefit from rolling back and forth in this position. Special slimming exercises do not all give results in the same length of time, but the waist is usually the first to respond with a loss in inches.

Too Hippy to Be Happy?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Some time ago I wrote, "There is no rest for the weary." Of course, someplace it was written, "There is no rest for the weary," which made no sense at all. The weary always rest, if they can—and the hippy ones have been sitting too long.

There is no doubt that a job which means hours of sitting may tend to develop what is laughingly called an office backside.

The way in which you sit is important to your figure as well as to your energy. Poor posture is tiring and it is also conducive to a large hipline.

When you sit, your hips should touch the back of the chair and then you should straighten your spine all the way up. Change side to your position part of the time.

Sit on the very edge of your chair (only the back hips on the chair, not the thighs). Pull your abdomen in and keep your back straight. Slumping in a chair is detrimental to the silhouette.

IT TAKES TIME

Special slimming exercises do not all give results in the same length of time. The waist is the first to respond with a loss in inches and the abdomen is next.

The hips are more stubborn. It takes longer and more strenuous exercise for improvement. The exercise I am going to give you today is splendid for the hips and also for the waist.

Lie on your back on the floor. Arms extend out from the shoulders and rest on the floor, palms stamped, self-addressed envelope toward the floor. Bend both knees with your request for it to me in up to the abdomen. Hold them care of this newspaper.

If you would like to have my hip-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope toward the floor. Bend both knees with your request for it to me in up to the abdomen. Hold them care of this newspaper.

Linda Edgeworth Married in Afternoon Ceremony

The John E. Edgeworths were hosts at a reception in their home on Commonwealth Avenue following the marriage of their daughter Linda to Max E. Pike Saturday in Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses. Samuel Wallace officiated at the early afternoon ceremony.

Parents of the bridegroom are the Lawrence R. Pikes of Gladstone Place.

A single row of small pearls edged the oval neckline of the bride's ballerina-length dress of white chiffon, worn with shoulder-length veiling of tulle caught by a crown of pearls and sequins. She held a cascade of white carnations and Stephanotis.

Serving her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Alonzo Haimbaugh Jr. in ballerina-length orchid chiffon. She carried pink rosebuds.

Best man for his brother-in-law was Harvey Render with the bridegroom's brother Melvin and Alonzo Haimbaugh Jr. seating some 100 guests.

A corsage of pink rosebuds accented Mrs. Edgeworth's dress of beige silk lace over taffeta worn with matching accessories.

The mother of the bridegroom appeared in a blue silk short-sleeved dress and matching wide-brimmed silk petal hat. White carnations were worn at her shoulder.

The David Harveys and daughter Judy came from Clearwater, Fla., for their niece's wedding.

Modern Teens Don't Yearn for Sea, Circus

By EUGENE GILBERT
President, Gilbert Youth
Research, Inc.

Do modern young people have a secret yen to join the circus? Not so that our surveyors could notice it.

Do most youngsters at one time or another consider running away from home? A commonly held notion that appears ill founded.

Even the lure of the sea seems less urgent to the coming generation than to the coming generations.

These are among the interesting generalizations we were able to make after one of our recent surveys of more than a thousand young people across the nation.

Only about 17 per cent of those questioned, for instance, had ever considered joining a circus, and four out of five of these later discarded the idea.

ONLY PART

Disappearance of the circus as a major entertainment medium apparently is only part of the answer. William Theodor, 14, of Montpelier, Vt., may have sounded the keynote for his generation with this comment:

"Not enough pay and benefits." Such spirit of adventure as courses in the veins of youngsters today apparently flows down appreciably by the time they reach teen age.

As for running away, the fact is that three-fifths of the youngsters had never given it a serious thought.

Of those, only about one in three actually tried it, and of the ones who did leave home, 60 per cent never left the neighborhood.

As for going off to sea, even when it was considered as a way to fulfill draft obligations, only 43 per cent of the boys questioned ever considered the life of a sailor, and more than half of those conceded they never expected it to happen.

"Rather keep my feet on terra firma," said 18-year-old Bob Peam-ley of Bridgeport, Conn., a seaport, said "My parents bugged me the wrong way."

CURIOUS FACT

The survey turned up another curious fact.

More girls (47 per cent) than boys (37 per cent) have considered running away from home; but more boys (37 per cent) than girls (33 per cent) have actually gone through with it.

The urge to roam was strongest when they were younger than ten years old said a third per cent of the teenagers.

Only a four entertained the idea as a teen-ager. The greatest single reason for wanting to leave home was a feeling of being wronged.

For example, John Kaulhaber Jr., 17, of Eugene, Ore., piloted off stake "because I was being accused of things I didn't do."

Jack Grunes, 17, of Brooklyn, N.Y., felt "I was being persecuted."

And Louise Krisak, 17, of Bridge-

OTHER REASONS

There were other reasons. Mark Glausman, 16, of Englewood, N.J., left home because "My daddy wouldn't play miniature golf." C. Larlene, 16, of Salina, Kan., left because she "didn't get a new book." Erica Miles, 16, of Englewood, left home "just to see what it was like."

Few of the youthful wanderers stayed away long. Only 14 per cent were gone one day and only 7 per cent stayed away as long as two days. The rest came home the same day.

As for the circus, it appears to have a stronger attraction for girls than boys. Only 13 per cent of the boys, compared with 26 per cent of the girls, said they still like the idea of joining a troupe.

"I'd love to be a lady horseback rider," said Christine Paige, 16, of Charles City, Va.

Vary Clothes, Hairdo Styles in Teen Years

(NEA) — The teen years are the perfect years in which to experiment with the way you look. Change your hair style often; it's fun. Most teens are adept at doing their own hair. Don't get stuck with a pony-tail just because it's easy to do. Save a part of your allowance money for expert cutting and styling once a month. Let the hairdresser show you how to set your own hair in between.

GET THE BEST

No matter what your clothes type, put your money into the very best that you can afford. Better just one good raincoat than two or three cheap ones that go to pieces after one cleaning. In your teens, learn that quality is important.

This doesn't mean that you should yearn for labels or wish that you could wear them on the outside. It does mean that you should appreciate fine fabrics, honest tailoring and detailing. The only way to do this is to shop carefully. Never buy anything because it's "cute." Buy it because it's sound fashion, a pleasure to wear and a good buy for your money.

Club 20 Starts Plans for Picnic

Plans for a picnic Aug. 8 at the home of Mrs. James G. Weaver are under way by Club 20.

The group met Tuesday at the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children. Mrs. Arthur Longbrake, new president, called for the annual report by Mrs. Weaver, treasurer.

Mrs. Donald Hewlett, a new member, and two guests Mrs. Walter Peters and Mrs. Roland Nonnamaker were present.

A luncheon, served by the hostess, followed games.

Nails Too Short?

(NEA) — Women with short, round nails should use pale nail polish. Dark shades make the fingers appear to stop short. The pale polish should be extended to the tip of the nail for an elongating effect.

SALLY MATIER

A B.S. Degree in elementary education from Eastern Michigan University recently was received by Sally Matier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Matier of Illinois Avenue. As an undergraduate she was head freshman counselor, a member of the Orientation Committee and Sigma Nu Phi Sorority. She will teach in the Pontiac School System next fall.

Probe Exports to Reds

WASHINGTON — A sweeping search of American export policies and procedures concerning Iron Curtain countries was sought today by Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County).

Broomfield, in a resolution introduced in the House, asked that the congressional study include:

1. Control of trade between the United States and foreign countries, particularly the Sino-Soviet bloc.
2. The effect of such exports on the national security.

Broomfield said a recent Commerce Department order permitting the sale of subsidized farm goods to Russia and its satellites, large shipments of scrap iron from Michigan to Yugoslavia and the discovery that tank engines were being shipped to Cuba through France led him to urge the investigation.

"It is apparent from these events that the executive branch of our government is fulfilling the bill," said Broomfield. "It is time for Congress to take over if the executive branch is reluctant to act. It is time to close loopholes."

Broomfield, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said he was "astonished" at the "alibi" offered by the State Department for the lifting of the ban on surplus farm shipments to Russia and her allies.

He said he was told by one State Department official that food is not considered a strategic item.

"I guess the State Department has never heard of a fellow by the name of Napoleon who said an army travels on its stomach," said Broomfield.

Broomfield said that Sen. Humphrey, "one of the candidates for the presidency on the Democratic ticket this time last year, told the world that there is no danger of war over Berlin because of the shortage of food behind the Iron Curtain."

"So what does the federal government do?" asked Broomfield. "It issues a directive permitting us to sell food to Russia at a cost lower than it can be purchased in the United States."

Broomfield said that the agriculture, Commerce and State departments "simply let bureaucratic stupidity take over from common sense."

"It is inconceivable that all the people in these three departments who had a hand in this directive did not even bother to raise the issue of Russian threats to Berlin when this order was issued," said Broomfield.

"At a time when the President is considering a state of national emergency over the Berlin crisis, when there is talk of calling up six National Guard divisions, when we are urged to steel ourselves for a full-blown crisis, we find that some federal agencies are doing business worse than usual."

Physicians Organize Political Committee

CHICAGO (AP)—The American Medical Association, which often steps into the political arena to fight for or against legislation, announced today that a political action committee is being set up for physicians.

The new group is called the American Medical Political Action Committee (AMPAC). The chairman is Dr. Gunnar Gunderson of La Crosse, Wis., a former president of the AMA. The purpose is to help medical men organize "for more effective participation in political and government affairs."

The move takes doctors along a course that labor unions took long ago.

Presents Credentials

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—U.S. Ambassador John Badescu presented his credentials to President Gamel Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic Wednesday and "most warm and cordial greetings."

Motorist Wounded in Head by Bullet

KALAMAZOO, Mich. — A 27-year-old Portage Township mother was shot and critically wounded Wednesday as she drove along Romance Road south of Kalamazoo. Police believe Mrs. Cleora Kloosterman was hit by a bullet from a 22-caliber rifle fired by one of three boys in a quarry a quarter of a mile from the road.

Police did not identify the boys. They were held.

One of her three small children, who were riding with her, said Mrs. Kloosterman collapsed at the wheel of the car. It left the road, crossed a ditch and came to a stop 15 feet off the road. She had been shot in the head. The children escaped injury.

Angola Ban Lifted

LISBON (UPI) — Portugal Wednesday lifted its ban on foreign newsmen entering its African colony of Angola. The government said the situation in Angola is sufficiently improved to permit foreign reporters in the colony.

Sales of alcoholic beverages in 1960 were well above the 1959 total of 225,633.36 gallons.

Turn May Have Doomed Plane

Craft With 4 Detroiters Veered Into Strongest Part of Downpour

CHESAPEAKE, Ohio (AP) — A wrong turn after a landing approach may have caused the crash of a private plane that killed two Detroit couples returning Wednesday from a three-day trip to Florida, airport officials said.

Ben Shackett, 42, pilot and owner of the plane, was killed along with his wife Norma, 41, Jacob Milton Wolf, 43, and the latter's wife, Evelyn Estelle, 33, when their plane crashed into a hillside in a rainstorm.

Airport officials said that had the pilot turned toward the Ohio River instead of inland after missing his first landing approach, he might have been able to recover.

Instead, witnesses said, the plane turned into the midst of a stronger downpour, probably reducing visibility.

APPARENTLY STALLED

They said the plane, a Cessna 310, apparently stalled as it tried to gain altitude. Its landing gear struck the edge of a house roof, flipping the plane into the hillside. It came to rest against a tree.

A teenage girl, Charlene Anderson, asleep in the house, was not hurt. Damage to the house was limited to a small section of the roof.

Her sister Betty, 16, said she saw the plane approaching with one of its two engines idle. Two airport mechanics reached the craft within minutes and recovered two bodies. Shackett and one of the women died en route to a Huntington, W. Va., hospital. Shackett was president of the Ben Shackett Construction Co. and a prominent Detroit builder and developer. Wolf was a Detroit area band leader.

Hope to Teach Reading With New Alphabet

LONDON (UPI)—British educators hope to teach 1,000 school-children to read in two weeks with a 43-letter alphabet and spellings like "wuns upon a fleg."

The University of London Institute of Education announced that the new alphabet, which drops Q and X and adds 19 new letters to represent sounds, cuts learning to read time by 50 to 60 per cent.

The alphabet and spellings will be used until the children are 7. Then they will switch to the standard ones.

The new alphabet, devised by Sir James Pitman, has no capitals. A typical sentence might read: "Wuns upon a fleg a litt red hen livd in a barn with her flew chicks." (The ch in chicks would be replaced by one of the new letters.)

Bus companies are using national newspaper advertising more and more to let the public know about their facilities. In 1960, they invested 75.4 per cent more money in newspaper advertising than they did in 1959.

5 Youths Honored at MSU Institute

EAST LANSING — Five Pontiac area youths were honored for achievement at the conclusion of the second session of the High School Communication Arts Summer Institute at Michigan State University.

Kathy O'Bannon of Southfield High School won high honors in the television-radio course.

April Krupa of Pontiac Northern High won honors in the printed newspapers course.

July Whitmer of Pontiac Central won honors in the theater course.

Alfred Sopka of Utica High won honorable mention in yearbook editing.

More than 500 outstanding students from high schools across the nation attended the 16th annual Institute for advanced instruction.

Newspapers Free When Old Shale to Shine

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Tropical storm Brenda dumped more than 12 inches of rain on Florida the last time the St. Petersburg Independent gave away its "sunshine" edition of the paper.

That was July 23, 1960. The Independent gave another edition, the 212th, away, Wednesday when the sun failed to shine on the Independent building for 24 hours.

The paper started the practice in 1910 to promote St. Petersburg as the "Sunshine City."

Nelle's Daughter, 19, Now Seeks Divorce

Nelle Lantier's 19-year-old daughter, Zonia, is seeking a divorce.

Zonia, married 22 months and mother of a year-old son, Steven, has brought suit to Oakland County Circuit Court against her husband Thomas Stankov.

She charges Stankov with irresponsibility. Zonia was married five months after the slaying of her father, Parvin (Bill) Lantier, which led to a murder charge, later dismissed, against her mother.

Blue Cross Presidency Offered to U. of M. Prof

ANN ARBOR — The Blue Cross Association has offered its presidency to Walter J. McKersy, University of Michigan professor who directed a recently completed study of medical and hospital costs in Michigan.

McKersy, 36, said Wednesday he will decide next week whether to accept the offer from the national organization, which deals with prepaid hospital care plans.

McKersy has prepared a report, "Study of Hospital and Medical Economics," of his three-year investigation in Michigan.

He Wants Calisthenics in Schools

JFK's Word to the Wise—Exercise

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON — John F. Kennedy, the nation's first president, Wednesday gave a pep talk for physical fitness among American school children.

"This is a matter of importance," Kennedy said in his unusual concern to his regular news conference.

"I want to urge that it be given the utmost priority."

Kennedy laid down this three-point program:

1. Each school should find those who are physically unfit and give them special help.
2. Every elementary and high school should provide 15 minutes a day of vigorous exercise for all students, boys and girls.
3. Valid tests should be given to see how well each student measures up—and how much he progresses.

As far as could be recalled, there never was a presidential performance quite like this one.

Kennedy finished his regular news conference in his regular way. Those who had to file headlines on Berlin and other troubled spots scurried off, and the President left the room too.

A few minutes later he came back to volunteer his comments on physical fitness.

One reason it was done this way: the presidential live show was filmed as a separate segment, so that school administrators could see for themselves how earnest Kennedy was about it all.

Kennedy began by pointing out that studies have shown that youngsters in other countries are far ahead of U.S. youngsters in performing simple tests of physical strength.

Yet, he said, it's one of democracy's oldest tenets that intellectual and physical fitness go together.

And for a soft-muscled nation, used to riding in automobiles and taking advantage of every conceivable labor-saving device, Kennedy had this advice:

"The physical fitness problem, and what's to be done about it, must be stressed by parents, teachers, administrators, communities, states and the national government.

Kennedy's special adviser on fitness is Charles B. (Bud) Wilkinson, athletic director and coach of the University of Oklahoma's famed football teams.

After the conference Wilkinson told a reporter that 72 per cent of the nation's schools have inadequate physical education programs. He said his office will soon have available plans for simple exercises which can be used without installing expensive equipment.

Most of the questions at Today's regular news conference ranged throughout a troubled world.

And in his fitness remarks, Kennedy turned to some of its troubled people.

"They look to us with hope," Kennedy said. "If we fail, they will look to our adversary."

Orange Juice Out as Irate Group Revises Menu

ATLANTA (AP) — The Georgia States Rights Council today dropped orange juice from the menu of a fund raising dinner the segregation-minded organization will hold at a downtown hotel Monday night.

Georgia and Florida are engaged in a retaliatory tax war involving citrus fruits and chickens.

"The menu originally featured steak and orange juice," a council spokesman said. "It has been changed to chicken and Georgia fruit juices because of the CCC."

He explained that means "Chicken-Citrus Controversy." Peach, grape and berry juice will be served.

Blaze Terrifies Riders on Boat

Burns to Water Line
Passengers Rescued

BRACEVILLE, Ont. (AP) — An ancient cruise boat manned only by the skipper and a teen-age helper caught fire Wednesday with 38 passengers aboard and burned to the water line.

The single lifeboat went up in flames and panic broke out aboard the boat, Mildred, as passengers struggled to get life preservers from the ceiling.

"There was a lot of panic with women and children screaming," said a passenger.

With the bank of the Muskoka River 50 feet away, skipper J. R. Mac Pherson maneuvered the 50-foot boat into shallow water and ordered the passengers to jump.

Some formed a chain and got the women and 15 children safely to shore. Onlookers rowed out and helped take others off.

The Mildred was returning from Lake Muskoka, 100 miles in.

north of Toronto, when fire broke out in the engine room.

An old steamer converted to diesel power, the Mildred was the last passenger boat on the lake. Most of the passengers had come from resort hotels for the ride.

Southerners OK Unity on Racial, Economic Issues

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Representatives of eight Southern states were on record today endorsing a new movement for unity on racial issues and economics.

They plan another meeting within 60 days in Montgomery, Ala., to formally launch Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett's Safe Southern Action for Economy.

Two Negro pickets were arrested outside the meeting site. Afterwards, Barnett told newsmen that the program would not compete with the long-established Southern Governors Conference, which meets this fall in Nashville, Tenn.

A 300-ton power transformer is being made that will have 50 per cent more capacity than any now in use.

Van Fleet Criticizes U.S. Korea Actions

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Retired Gen. James A. Van Fleet today criticized American officials here for trying to block the South Korean military from seizing power.

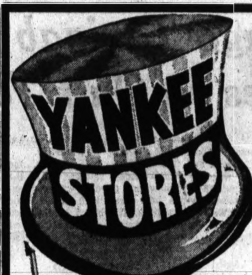

Terming the May coup "the finest thing that has happened to Korea in 1,000 years," the former commander of U.S. and U.N. forces in Korea said if the army had not taken over the government, the United States would have been forced to step in.

"The military witnessed a lot of inefficiency and corruption and the American colony witnessed the same thing," said Van Fleet in an interview. "We criticized this, but we did not correct it."

Van Fleet, who commanded the 8th Army in Korea from 1951 to 1953, is often called the "father" of the South Korean army, which he had a major hand in training.

SAVINGS BONDS' GROWTH—If you bought a savings bond in 1941 at $75, in 1971 it will be worth more than 24 times the amount you paid for it. When bonds first came out, they were bought as a patriotic investment in the future of the United States, as well as a way of saving. Today, during their 20th anniversary, U.S. Savings Bonds are still being bought by some eight million Americans.

His Ship Models Win Praise

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — "I always wanted to build a destroyer," he said, taking time out from his current project of building a battleship.

But neither ship is likely to see service with the Navy—not yet, anyway. The speaker was David Webb, 17, a young man who builds models to get practice that he hopes some day will get him a job helping keep the Navy afloat.

A book titled "How to Build a Model Navy" led to Webb's interest in naval architecture.

His first project was a model victory ship—in full detail—put together from scratch from plans he found in a book.

Without pause, he set to work on a battleship—using laminated wood, pins, doweling, thread and pieces of fishing line. Both are about 4 feet long.

The Webb shipyard took on an extra hand, Webb's father

Vernon, when it cut out the hull and sprayed it.

Otherwise, it has been a one-man job for this kid whose longest voyage has been in a rubber raft. While keeping up his ship building, David has maintained a high scholastic record, worked his way up to the rank of Eagle Scout, and won a place on the school wrestling team.

Webb's closest look at real naval vessels came in Chicago. He examined a captured Ger-

Shovels Sneak Away but Snow Lingers On

MASSILLON, Ohio (U) — When the recreation department's snow-clearing tractor developed mechanical trouble, officials provided shovels for ice skaters wishing to help clear Slipp's Reservoir.

Instead of the snow disappearing, the shovels have vanished, says skating supervisor Ralph Huppert.

man submarine at the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry and he saw a patrol boat in port.

But his victory ship still was good enough to win a top prize in a Grand Rapids area talent contest. He may give the battle-ship to the Naval Reserve here when it's finished.

WANTS TO STUDY

Webb says the best place to learn the marine designing trade is at Webb Institute at Glen Cove, N. Y. He hopes to enter the school next fall but meanwhile he continues to attract crowds everywhere he begins work at the coincidentally named Webb shipyards—at the family home.

If he doesn't go to Webb, he'll try for the University of Michigan. Then he is gunning for the Navy.

It probably will be a September launching for Webb's battleship — and, he hopes, for his career.

Chicago Taxicab Union Votes to Quit Teamsters

CHICAGO (AP) — A Teamster of the 5,188 eligible voters marked ballots. Voting was orderly.

In ordering the election, the NLRB said Gilmore and the Yellow and Checker cab companies had engaged in unfair labor practices. The board said Gilmore used threats, intimidation and violence to retain his job as president.

A REFORM UNDER GUARD

Frequent incidents of violence marked the fight between Gilmore and Abata, who has been under 24-hour police guard for several months as the result of threats against his life. Gilmore has a Chicago police record dating back 30 years and has a record of 30 arrests.

DEFEAT FOR HOFFA

The results of the election, ordered and supervised by the National Labor Relations Board, were a resounding defeat for Hoffa. The Teamsters president made a special trip to Chicago from San Francisco earlier this week to campaign for the election of Gilmore's union, Teamsters Local 771, Chicago Taxicab Drivers Union.

The NLRB said the election, which climaxed a bitter 2½-year fight between Gilmore and Abata, was won by the union headed by Abata, Local 771 Democratic Union Organizing Committee. The final count was announced as 2,122 for DUOC to 1,780 for Gilmore's local. The NLRB said 4,688

Abata, in his campaign talks, called Gilmore a "thief and a liar," and said Hoffa was a "star."

Only $1,250 in Cash Left by De Forest

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dr. Lee De Forest, whose invention of the three-element vacuum tube helped spawn the vast electronics industry, left only $1,250 in cash. Dr. De Forest's will was filed for probate Wednesday by his fourth wife, former actress Marie Mosquini. The famed inventor died June 30 at 87.

Mrs. De Forest's attorney said her husband held patents which could yield further income, but they are not doing so now.

The will, signed in 1954, left all property to Mrs. De Forest except for bequests of $1 each to three daughters.

Elizabeth Taylor in Good Condition After Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Elizabeth Taylor is reported in good condition after plastic surgery to remove a one-inch-long scar on her throat.

The operation was performed Wednesday and a spokesman said the actress expected to leave Cedars of Lebanon Hospital in about four days.

The scar was a souvenir of Miss Taylor's near-fatal bout with pneumonia in London earlier this year. Surgeons performed a tracheotomy to ease her breathing.

Singer Eddie Fisher, Miss Taylor's husband, was at her bedside Wednesday.

Tigers Chance to Regain Lead

Orioles Homers Keep Bengals 2nd by Points

Gentile and Foiles Belt Circuit Clouds Again to Beat Bunning, 4-2

DETROIT (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles didn't stop the home run contest in time, and as a consequence the Detroit Tigers lost a golden opportunity to climb back into first place in the American League.

Oriole Gus Triandos won the pregame home run contest last night and a $100 prize for doing it. The big catcher sat out the regulation game with an injury but two other Orioles kept up the hammering long enough for the Orioles to defeat the Tigers 4-2.

With the New York Yankees double-dealer to the Washington Senators the Tigers had a chance to move a full game ahead of the league leaders.

But Jim Gentile, who hits home runs all the time, and Hank Foiles, who hit them only against Detroit pitching, powered home runs that spoiled the Tiger plans. Gentile hit his 20th, a two-run shot, in the third inning and Foiles hit his second in the seventh.

BOTH OFF TIGERS

Foiles has hit both his home runs in successive nights against the Tigers, and by doing so likely kept himself from being the prize goal of the series.

The Tigers have stolen seven bases in two games against him—Jake Wood three and Al Kaline and Billy Brown two each—but Foiles has done far more damage with his home runs.

Both the Baltimore home runs came off Jim Bunning, who had won five in a row and except for two bad pitches did well enough to extend his streak to six. Bunning yielded only five hits and struck out 11, but the Orioles wasted only one of his hits.

Brooks Robinson's double, Jackie Brandt's single and Gentile's home run accounted for three runs in the third. Foiles scored the other two runs. The only other hit was Robinson's leadoff double in the first inning.

The Tigers had only six safeties and only one did any damage. That was Bunting's ninth home run, coming in the fifth inning. Tip O'Neill ran a gift. Baltimore starter Jack Fournier walked the bases full in the opening inning and Norm Cash got a run across on an infield tap.

"That's when we should have decided the contest, right there," said manager Bob Scheffing after the game. "For two nights now, we've had these guys on the ropes and let them get off."

Fisher survived until the seventh when he started by walking Brooks Robinson, Paul Richards, who had pitchers warming up from the second on. He summoned knuckleballing Skinny Brown to preserve the 4-2 lead. Brown got Kaline to hit into a double play and retired Roddy Calvo on a fly ball.

The Tigers went down 1-3 in the eighth and ninth innings, and dropped three percentage points behind the Yankees.

In the series win/loss point Schiefing selected Don Mossi (18-2) to oppose the Orioles' young southpaw, stocky Steve Barber (10-7). After the game, the Tigers leave for a week's road trip to Kansas City and Los Angeles. Scheffing said he will use Phil Regan and Paul Foytack on the Friday and Saturday games against Kansas City.

Nats Read Wrong Script --Wallop Yankees Twice

By The Associated Press

Memo to the Washington Senators: No. No. You guys got it wrong. The New York Yankees are supposed to murder YOU.

You remember the Washington Senators, of course. They're one of those two castoff clubs the American League put together to fill in ninth and tenth place in its expanded standings.

Well, the Senators are seventh at the moment, just one game shy of sixth, and they're 3-5 for the season against New York. After making off with a 3-4 and 13-2 sweep Wednesday night that left the Yanks with only a percentage point lead on first place.

The Detroit Tigers—the only outfit that's done better (6-5) against New York—blew a chance to pass the Yankees, losing 4-2 in the third place Baltimore Orioles.

Cleveland took two from Boston 4-1 and 9-8. The Chicago White Sox beat Kansas City 6-5, and the Los Angeles Angels, the other castoff club, took eighth place from Minnesota by beating the Twins 2-1 after losing the opener of the two-night doubleheader 6-0.

Bennie Daniels (5-5) and Dick Donovan (4-8), a pair of right-handers, beat the Yankees as they held Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle to two hits in 15 at-bats.

Manlie was hit twice in 15 at-bats. Mantle was 4-for-7. Mantle was 1-for-4 in each game, belting his 36th home run in the nightcap, off Donovan. That broke a tie with Maris for the major league lead, and put the Mick 19 games ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927.

Southpaw Bud Daley (3-11), working with only two days rest at his own request because of the Yanks' pitching problems, lost the opener. He gave up homers by Harry Bright and Gene Green, and put the deciding runs on base before Jim Coates relieved and gave up a two-run double to Chuck Hinton in the sixth inning.

The nightcap was a nightmare debut for Al Downing, the young southpaw the Yanks called up from the Eastern League. The Senators chased him with seven runs in the second inning—when they put together four singles, three walks, a hit batsman and one of the Yanks' six errors of the night. It was the first double-header defeat for the Yankees this season, and the first time they've lost two in a row in three weeks.

Chuck Essegian and Johnny Romano did it for the Indians. They wrapped up the opener by driving in two runs in the second inning. Essegian with a double, Romano with a ground out. Romano followed with a two-run homer that gave Cleveland a tie in the nightcap fourth, and paired with Essegian again in a clinching, three-run eighth inning. Essegian singled home one run in the rally, then scored on catcher Russ Nixon's error after Romano's RBI double. Barry Latman (3-0) and reliever Frank Funk (10-5) were the winners. Gene Conley (4-8) and Arnie Earley (1-3) the losers.

The A's lost their sixth in a row, giving up two unearned runs as the White Sox came from behind with three in the sixth against ex-mate Bob Shaw (5-3). Frank Baumann (7-7) was the winner in relief.

The Twins and Angels set a major league record with 39 strikeouts in their twin-bill. Los Angeles batters didn't another mark by fanning 24 times. Camilo Pascual (8-12) struck out 15 while blanking the Angels on five hits in the opener. Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison drove in all of the Twins' runs with homers, two by Allison, and beat El Grito (5-10).

Killebrew's second home run of the night, his 25th of the year, broke up a four-hit shutout by Jim Donohue, who was making his first major league start in the ninth inning of the second game. But Lee Thomas then broke the tie and beat Ray Moore (4-3) with a two-out homer in the Angels' ninth. Art Fowler (4-2) was the winner.

Podres (11-2) beat the Reds for the third time without defeat this season. The southpaw veteran walked only one and struck out four in his first complete game at Crosley Field since July 28, 1957. Gordie Coleman drove in two of the Reds' runs, with a double and single, and Wally Pate doubled home the other.

Bill White was at it again for the Cards. After tying the major league record with 14 hits in two consecutive doubleheaders, he made it 16 hits for five consecutive games by batting in a first-inning run with a triple and then breaking a 2-2 tie with a single in the 10th. White's error gave the Giants their first run, and Harvey Kuenn's homer tied it in the ninth.

The Dodgers came from behind with the first of their four-run bursts, in the third inning, against losing right-hander Bob Furley (11-5). Singles by Norm Laker, Charlie Neal, Willie Davis and Wally Moon, plus Furley's error and an infield out, did it. Laker, who had three of the Dodgers' 11 hits, and Neal singled again in a four-run sixth, with Neal's hit driving in two.

St. Louis, the hottest club of the moment, kept third place San Francisco, eight games behind, by beating the Giants 3-2 in 10 innings. It was the fifth straight success for the sixth place Cards. Milwaukee downed Philadelphia 5-3, but the last place Phil took the second game of the two-night pair with two ninth-inning runs for a 2-1 victory. Rain washed out Chicago-Pittsburgh.

Singles by Norm Laker, Charlie Neal, Willie Davis and Wally Moon, plus Furley's error and an infield out, did it. Laker, who had three of the Dodgers' 11 hits, and Neal singled again in a four-run sixth, with Neal's hit driving in two.

Podres (11-2) beat the Reds for the third time without defeat this season. The southpaw veteran walked only one and struck out four in his first complete game at Crosley Field since July 28, 1957. Gordie Coleman drove in two of the Reds' runs, with a double and single, and Wally Pate doubled home the other.

Bill White was at it again for the Cards. After tying the major league record with 14 hits in two consecutive doubleheaders, he made it 16 hits for five consecutive games by batting in a first-inning run with a triple and then breaking a 2-2 tie with a single in the 10th. White's error gave the Giants their first run, and Harvey Kuenn's homer tied it in the ninth.

Dodgers, Podres Cut Cinci Margin to 2 1/2.

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers are back in business in that National League race, and all it took was a pair of four-run innings, and Johnny Podres' first complete game at Cincinnati in four years.

Those two big innings, plus Podres' nine-hit pitching, gave the second place Dodgers an 8-2 victory in the opener of a two-game showdown series at Cincinnati Wednesday night and shaved the Reds' lead to 2 1/2 games with their fourth straight loss.

It was just five days ago that the Dodgers were six games behind the Reds. But now the Dodgers, all even at 7-7 in the season series, have closed in by winning four of six since the All-Star break while the Reds have lost five of seven.

St. Louis, the hottest club of the moment, kept third place San Francisco, eight games behind, by beating the Giants 3-2 in 10 innings. It was the fifth straight success for the sixth place Cards. Milwaukee downed Philadelphia 5-3, but the last place Phil took the second game of the two-night pair with two ninth-inning runs for a 2-1 victory. Rain washed out Chicago-Pittsburgh.

The Dodgers came from behind with the first of their four-run bursts, in the third inning, against losing right-hander Bob Furley (11-5). Singles by Norm Laker, Charlie Neal, Willie Davis and Wally Moon, plus Furley's error and an infield out, did it. Laker, who had three of the Dodgers' 11 hits, and Neal singled again in a four-run sixth, with Neal's hit driving in two.

TIGER NEMESIS—Jim Gentile is personally making this difficult for the Detroit Tigers. Tuesday night, his homer beat the Bengals in the 10th inning. Last night he homered again and gave the Orioles a 3-1 lead. Teammates Jackie Brandt (25) and White Herzog (6) await to congratulate him. The Orioles won the game, 4-2, to stop Detroit from gaining on the Yanks, who lost a doubleheader to Washington.

Area Shooters Score Well

Members of Oakland County Sportsmen's Club scored the bulk of the championships in the Great Lakes Open Skeet Shoot held recently at the Blue Rock Gun Club in Center Line.

Chet Crites won the 28-gauge title, 30-30, with Tom Nardoni of Birmingham finishing second in Class B 48-50.

In the 410 gauge event, Leland Brown of Birmingham won in a shootoff against Bill Campbell of Grand Rapids.

Class B champion was Dr. Jack Wiant. Bob Thielefs of Pontiac was runnerup in Class AA and Ralph Zimmermann of Birmingham was second in Class A.

PGA Tuneup Begins Today

Milwaukee Open Set to Start Minus Stars Palmer, Litterer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Most of the nation's top touring pros—with British Open champion Arnold Palmer and U.S. Open king Gene Littler—the notable exceptions—were down to tee off today in the opening round of the $50,000 Open.

In the absence of Palmer and Littler, Masters champion Gary Player, the visiting tourist from South Africa, and two-time Milwaukee winner Ken Venturi headed a field of 145 in the four-day, 72-hole test at the North Hills Country Club.

The pros planned to use the seventh annual tournament as a final tune-up for the championship next week in Chicago. But they weren't overlooking the top money of $4,500, won last year by Venturi.

Palmer, who added the British Open to his string of titles last Saturday, decided to pass up the Milwaukee to sharpen his game for the PGA, one of the few championships which has eluded him in recent years. Littler had to cancel out because of a previous television match commitment.

That was the biggest surprise of the meet, mostly because Budd had been beaten only once in 25 races this year. But the 36-year-old German is one of the top sprinters in Europe and is capable of beating anyone on a given day.

"It was a fair victory," said Budd. "I have no excuses."

Even though Budd was upset, the Americans collected two unexpected victories when Deacon Jones won the 3,000 meter steeplechase in 8:47.4, and John Gurfurich took the 10,000 meters in 29:46.8.

Everything else followed form. Doyle Burleson, recovered from an upset stomach that caused him to miss the Russian meet, won the 1,500 meters in a routine 3:50.3. John Thomas became the first seven footer in Germany when he cleared 7-1/2. He missed at 7-3/4. Ralph Boston, the world record holder, easily took the broad jump at 26-3/4.

Cliff Cushman of Grand Forks, N.D., barely managed to fight off Helmut Jang, an old Olympic rival, in the 400-meter hurdles. Cushman won in the last stride, and both were caught in 50.4.

Jay Silvester, an Army Lt. from Taylorsville, Utah, won the shot put with a 60-5 heave to become the only double winner. He captured the discus the first day.

The final United States triumph was in the 1,600 meter relay which Adolph Plummer, Siebert, Earl Young and Ulla Williams won in 3:06.1.

Tournament Boat Arrives at Loon From Florida Co.

The 18-foot Tournament Skier, to be used in the Michigan Water Ski Association championships at Loon Lake this weekend, arrived last night special from the Correct Craft Boat Company in Orlando, Fla.

The boat is the same type used at Cypress Gardens. Local distributor and representative for the boat is Robert Hay of I&R Beverly.

Also to be used for tournament officials and press will be the 20-foot Bonifay express cruiser.

Red Run 'Runaways'

Mrs. Marie Johnson of Red Run and Mrs. Cynthia Eyer of Pine Lake are running away from the field in the Red Run Women's Invitational golf tournament. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Eyer shot a combined score of 68 yesterday to go with Tuesday's 62 for a 36-hole total of 130, nine strokes ahead of Mrs. Jean Fairchild and Mrs. Carol Dunham. The 54-hole tourney ends today.

Women's City Event, State Pro-Am, Publix, Birmingham

4 Golf Tournaments on Docket in Area

Golfing activity will be heavy in the Oakland County area this weekend.

Four tournaments are on the loaded schedule, beginning with the Birmingham Invitational today and concluding with the Michigan Publix Golf Association Sunday.

Featured tournaments are the Women's City Medal Play Championship Saturday at Pontiac Municipal, the State Pro-Am event Friday at Fox Hills near Plymouth, the Birmingham Invitational today through Sunday at Birmingham Country Club and the MPGA's annual 54-hole medal play test Saturday and Sunday at Morey's C.C.

BIRMINGHAM INVITATIONAL
Eighteen-hole qualifying rounds for flights are being conducted at Birmingham C.C. today in the revival of an event which was dropped last year for revamped purposes.

Birmingham members played their course as a 36-hole links last year while two holes were revised and two greens repaired. A water hazard was installed to make the holes tougher and the Invitational was suspended during surgery.

At the end of today's qualifiers the field will be grouped into flights for match play starting Friday.

There will be 16 teams in the championship flight. Single matches are slated tomorrow and Saturday with the semifinals and finals set for Sunday, all over a 36-hole route.

Defending champions of the best ball test are Ben Smith of Detroit Golf Club and Dr. Fritz Adams of Orchard Lake. Smith and Adams defeated Birmingham's father-and-son team of Rollie and Rich Wey and in the 1959 finals.

MICHIGAN PRO-AM

Sixty-two man teams are entered in the annual State Pro-Am event at Plymouth's Fox Hills, C.C.

Mrs. Miller Wins 2nd WMGA Golf Event of Year

After going three years without a victory in the weekly Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tournaments, Mrs. C. J. (Bobbie) Miller now has won twice in the same season.

Mrs. Miller won her 2nd WMGA tournament of the season Wednesday at Rochester Golf Club by defeating Mrs. Midge Cova on the 2nd extra hole of a sudden-death playoff after the two players ended their regulation 18-hole rounds in a tie for first place at 86. Mrs. Miller shot 45-41 and Mrs. Cova 46-40. A par four won the playoff. Mrs. Miller's first Metro victory of the year and No. 1 in WMGA play was posted June 7 at Bald Mountain. Mrs. W. D. (Edith) Wright carded 46-41-87 yesterday to finish 2nd.

|-----------------------|----------|
| Mrs. C. J. Miller     | 45-41-86 |
| Mrs. Midge Cova       | 46-40-86 |
| Mrs. W. D. Wright     | 46-41-87 |
| Mrs. Phyllis Chandler | 46-42-88 |
| Mrs. C. P. Fox        | 46-43-89 |
| Mrs. Joseph Kane      | 46-44-90 |
| Mrs. W. H. Falco      | 46-45-91 |
| Mrs. Josephine Pugh   | 46-46-92 |
| Mrs. W. J. Menefee    | 46-47-93 |
| Mrs. W. R. Rodgers    | 46-48-94 |

Detroiters Romp 17-2 at Bobo Ruth Meet

Northwest Detroit banged out 11 hits to wallop North Farmington 17-2 on the 2nd day of the Babe Ruth district playoffs at Walled Lake yesterday.

South Farmington and the Birmingham Pioneers were in the 1st inning of a doubleheader nightcap when rain halted play. They met again this afternoon.

Tourney semifinals are set for Saturday with the championship to be settled Sunday.

a.m. The second 18-hole round will begin approximately 4 1/2 hours after the completion of the 1st round.

Several talented tandems are registered for tomorrow's tourney. Some of the more favored groups include:

Walter Burkemo and Stuart Schwartz, Al Watrous and John Miles, Gene Bone and Frank Young, Horton Smith and Bob Babbish, Tommy Shannon and Pete Green, John Barnum and Hermie Miller Jr., Tom Talkington and Bob Reynolds, and Hal Whittington and Glenn Johnson.

WOMEN'S MEDAL PLAY

Mrs. W. D. (Edith) Wright is the defending champion of the annual women's championship at Municipal course.

Only a dozen entries are presently reported by course manager L. C. (Cressie) Barner, but more are expected for the 18-hole test which begins Saturday at 12 o'clock noon.

Mrs. Wright has won the championship three times, a number exceeded only by Mrs. Ross (Zada) DeBolt, who has won the city crown five times.

The top five shooters will be picked to represent Pontiac in the annual Michigan Recreation Association state tourney in September.

Trophies will be awarded to the champion and runnerup and merchandise will go to the winner of the handicap division. Post entries are accepted.

From the Skipper

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Colton Weatherston, 19-year-old University of Michigan student who lives on Commerce Lake Road, represented the Green Lake Yacht Club at Grand Rapids last weekend and won the Michigan State Championship.

A series of six races were held at the Grand Rapids Yacht Club and Weatherston came out victorious in two. He finished high in the others.

Defending champion Bill Waring of Grand Rapids was second and third place went to another Green Lake YC sailor, Bill Wottaway. A total of 42 boats took part in the state championships.

Colton started racing at the age of 11 with a dingy. Six years ago he got the place and has been the club champion for the past two years. He placed third in the junior nationals three years ago.

His crewman in his state victory was Jim Hudson.

As result of the championship, Green Lake becomes the host club for the 1962 races.

Also taking part in the state regatta were Charles and Carol Morris from the Watkins Lake Yacht Club. In club's thirteenth class race last Sunday Harmon Gillen took first place with Deloy Gillen and Paul Saghy as crew. Earl Kretz took second and Don Zannotto was third. In the snipe races, Jo and Glen Fries took first followed by Fred and Bruce Brede and Dave and Jo Green third.

YERRY BALL LOSES BOAT

Terry Ball, 21-year-old boat racer who is part of the father-son team with dad Hank Ball, is ready to forget the 1961 season and look forward to 1962.

Terry started his first race in the Detroit Memorial Cup. He was pitched out into the rough water and the hydro sunk to the depths of the Detroit River. Diving attempts in the strong current failed to find a trace of the boat.

Hank Ball recalls it was in the general area which famous band leader Guy Lombardo lost his boat about 15 years ago. Trace was never found.

The family has another hull and Terry, dejected over the fact he won't race anymore this year, will start building for next year.

Meanwhile, the senior Ball, and his 48-hydro, has been finishing in the winning column quite often. He finished 1-3 in the Ecorse race a few weeks ago, and 1-2 at Columbus two weeks ago and took two firsts at Swan Creek last week. July 30th he will be entered at Sallina, Ohio. Terry still travels with his dad to the races and makes a pretty good member of the pit crew.

FAMILY CRUISE AT DRESDEN

The Family Cruise Club took a trip to Dresden, Ont., last weekend and enjoyed an old fashioned pig roast. The Dresden BC was host for evening event. Sunday morning the FCG with 11 boats headed for Mitchell Bay, Ontario. The fleet beached and waited for a storm to pass in the afternoon and afterward the cruisers proceeded past Strawberry Island and through Anchor Bay homeward.

ORION RACER INJURED

Bill England of Lake Orion is still in the hospital at Petokey after suffering injuries in the Top O'Michigan marathon last weekend.

England and Ward Rathbun were entered in the race, and on the treacherous Crooked river, where the boats race on both sides, England's boat collided with an oncoming racer. He suffered a broken arm, wrist and collar bone and there was heavy damage to the boat. Rathbun finished 12th in the race.

ELABORATE MARINA—One of the most elaborate marinas built in the country this year is the Eisenhower State Park Marina located at Lake Texoma, a 100,000-acre man-made lake on the Texas-Oklahoma border. The gleaming docks are completely protected by aluminum canopies, and such facilities as dockside water, electricity outlets, phone, shopping center, boat-in restaurant and 24-hour watchman service.

New Marinas Get Classy by Modern Conveniences

By The Associated Press

On many inland waters, the cruising boatman would be happy to find any place to berth his boat. To find any place to berth his boat Mercury, president of the boat industry, says, "is not what you want. You want a state-of-the-art boat with a stump shop without having a stump shop in the cockpit."

But a new marine just opened that to build an engine that would in the Southwest is calculated to "operate satisfactorily on available fuel," says the president. The boatman's problem is to find a better way to berth his boat. The boatman's problem is to find a better way to berth his boat. The boatman's problem is to find a better way to berth his boat.

And public port authorities inclined to blanch at the thought of million dollar pleasure boat and power connections and "boat hops" to provide grille to guanine. The boatman's problem is to find a better way to berth his boat. The boatman's problem is to find a better way to berth his boat. The boatman's problem is to find a better way to berth his boat.

Basically, this is about the availability of unadorned marine white gas, a product that most engineers admit is the most satisfactory fuel for two-cycle engines, but which is so rare in the Midwest that many boatmen have sworn off the spark plugs.

And, for one more boating note, the Outboard Boating Club of America is making helpful noises about how maybe 1961 will be the fourth straight year in which boaters' safety record improves despite the continuing boom in numbers of power craft.

Another development of particular interest to boaters is the growing controversy between the

State Water Ski Championships at Loon Lake This Weekend

5th Annual Meet Starts Friday for 3-Day Run

Men's, Women's Events in Slalom and Jumping Saturday, Sunday

The 5th annual Michigan Water Ski Championships will begin tomorrow morning at Loon Lake, host to the tournament for the second straight year.

More than 75 entries will compete in 22 events for the three-day meet which will conclude Sunday afternoon.

The first three places in each event will earn the right to compete in the Midwest regionals to be held August 2-3 in Springfield, Ill.

Today, many of the skiers went through practice sessions at Loon Lake and were given ratings by the Michigan Water Ski Association.

The first event Friday will be the Junior Boys' Slalom starting at 9:30 a.m., followed by the Junior Girls' Slalom and Junior Boys' Jumping. The Junior events will continue throughout the afternoon.

One of the bigger events will start at 8:00 a.m. Saturday morning when the men, headed by two-time consecutive champion Bill Smith of Ann Arbor, challenge the slalom course.

The women's slalom events are set for 2:00 p.m. Saturday. On Sunday the women's jumping will start at approximately 10:45 a.m. and the men's jumping will be held about 2:00 p.m.

A water ski show and exhibition will be held daily during the tournament around the noon hour. The public can watch the tournament from the Edgewater Beach Motel area. There is no admission charge.

One of the outstanding young skiers was 11-year-old Jackson Lund, who won the boys' trick events last year and placed high in the jumping and slalom events.

Some of the local entries include Tony Mitchell, Nancy Mesler, Paul Roel, Ken Oert, Dave Pank and Pudge Adler. Boal of Oxford Lake has been veteran of the championship of the state and midwest.

Both boats will leave Bayview Yacht Club Friday afternoon and arrive in Port Huron late that evening.

The Class E boats will depart from Port Huron about 12:30 p.m. and the Class C boats are scheduled to go out at 1:30 p.m.

Nye and his crew, made up of Bob Nelson, Ted Barrett, Bill Eames, Jack Mueller and co-owner Eames, finished 12th in their class last year.

"We are going to go out and win the class this year," said Nye. "Last year we were a scratch boat, but we have a handicap this year."

The boat, a Victoria type cruiser which was brought here from Holland, hopes to be at the point of arrival Monday night.

"If we don't get in 'til Tuesday, we'll be an also ran," Nye commented.

Neal's crew will be made up of Ken Raymond, Jim Kemp, Al Gray, Gene MacCracken, Fred Cowin, Van Phillips and Alex Clark.

A record entry list of 102 boats are entered in the race, which Harold McGregor of Bayview Yacht Club is chairman. The 23-mile race up Lake Huron is the 37th annual.

Six boats from Ontario and Ohio statistics tabulated drowning among boaters at 1,331 in 1958. That was a record, and the number of boats to nearly 30 million.

Meanwhile, the number of pleasure boats in service rose to more than eight million, and the number of boats to nearly 30 million.

Miss Reno Darkhorse for Gold Cup Honors

RENO, Nevada—There's a dark horse candidate for Gold Cup honors on Pyramid Lake here next August. The 1959 winner, Maverick, reportedly has been presented to the city of Reno by owner William T. Waggoner, to make her debut under the name of Miss Reno.

Theoretically, Maverick, driven by Bill Stess of Reno throughout the 1959 campaign and winner of the Diamond Cup, International Sweepstakes Trophy and the Silver Cup, still holds this is the Gold Cup championships. No race was run for the historic prize last year.

Two Local Boats in Mackinac Race

Two Pontiac boats are among the fleet of entries in the Port Huron-Mackinac Island race this weekend.

Fourness, a 32-foot sloop owned by Harry Nye and D. B. Eames, is entered among the Class E boats. Wind Song, a 41-foot sloop owned by Don Neal, is entered in the faster E Class.

ports are entered, and 18 others carry life lines, manual bilge pumps, fire extinguishers, life preservers each equipped with whistle for each crew member, a life ring with light and whistle, life raft or dinghy, two anchors, charts, compass, fog horn, first aid kit, six cushions and six aerial flares, plus the equipment as required by the Coast Guard.

Each boat in the race has to start in the Annapolis-Newport race until it has been inspected to make sure rigid requirements have been met.

Inland Boatmen Learn to Be Prepared

By WM. TAYLOR MCKEOWN

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (NEA)—Few boatmen get a chance to go ocean racing.

Every power of sailboat skipper, however, could learn a lot by studying the preparations being made here for the Annapolis to Newport yacht race.

This is held every other year alternating with the race to Bermuda. It attracts yachts from 25 to 75 feet in length. The course runs 465 miles from this Chesapeake Bay port to Rhode Island's Narragansett Bay. Though the fastest may complete it in three days and the slowest in five, provisions for two weeks are required.

This year nearly 100 sleek sloops and yawls, ketches and schooners also took part in the old salt-rigged ocean fishing skipjacks of this colorful harbor and across the starting line near the United States Naval Academy.

The weather is likely to be no more rough than many find on inland lakes and rivers. The offshore sailor, however, a levers landbound power and sailboat men should learn.

Visible legal running lights are essential for every boat, but the race requirement for 12 red parachute flares plus two white or yellow flares, to show if finishing at night, are more than ordinary cruising.

Racing boats need to keep their crews aboard while working on wet decks, so the rules demand properly rigged double "line" around the boat plus bow and stern pulpit. "Solid covers for dog house windows" keep cabin glass from being smashed by heavy seas.

Hot Head Spark Plugs Key to Boating Power

By WM. TAYLOR MCKEOWN

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

First and easiest items to examine in your boat's engine are the spark plugs.

You don't need to be a mechanic. You can check them afresh or ashore. Often these small hot heads are the key to more power and better performance.

Now is a good time to look at them, whether you are fitting out for launching or tuning up a boat that is already in the water. Many careful boaters replace all old plugs with new ones at the beginning of every season.

The spark of life for outboard and inboard craft, they should all be firing perfectly.

The engine manual will tell you how to remove the electrical lead and check to be sure the plug is getting a strong current. It points out how you can short out the plug with any insulated tool to see if bypassing the plug weakens engine operation.

Easier still is simply to replace each old plug with a new one and see if the engine does not run more brightly and smoothly.

For a routine check, each spark plug is removed and exploded, any carbon scraped away, ceramic insulator inspected and spark gap between electrodes reset to precisely the proper spacing.

Engine manuals give the plug type and spark gap setting. The novice can work to the thousands of an inch required with the small spacing feeler gauge tool supplied with most engines.

Outboards, particularly, need regular spark plug check up for best results.

Because these two-cycle power plants get their lubrication from oil mixed with gas, the plug must burn up both at once. It is susceptible to fouling after a long season of use.

Engine roughness or loss of power at any time can indicate that plugs should be examined. Many a boatman has brought an engine back to life by simply cleaning a plug.

A complete spare set of spark plugs belongs in the tool kit you always carry on board. They must always be the size and heat range, of course, that are specified for the engine.

Also in the kit you need a spark plug wrench. Many outboard motor companies supply it as a regular accessory. This fitted socket type is very necessary, since there is too much chance of breaking the ceramic part of the plug with an ordinary crescent or monkey wrench.

Preparing the boat for the water, trouble shooting a reluctant engine or simply tuning it up, you will naturally examine other possibilities behind the plugs.

Be sure the lower unit of outboards, strut, stuffing box and bearings of inboards and the propellers of both are in good condition. Waterproof grease should be checked and refilled if necessary. All lubrication points served, engine models examined for condition.

You will not always have a professional mechanic along, so learn how to do simple spark plug changes.

Offshore is no place to find that the engine is not quite willing to run.

DOODLE DANDY—A feather in your hat for July Fourth when you serve this molded macaroni salad. Garnish with olives, pickled cucumbers—and see to it that sparkling soft drinks are handy!

Pimiento Stars Gala Part of Cool Molded Salad

Spark up your entertaining maining cut-up pimiento, then the with a cold buffet starring macaroni molded salad, cold cut, deviled eggs, a bowl of crisp lettuce with mayonnaise on the side, and plenty of zesty, bubbly thirst-quenching soft drinks.

The salad is a bright one—bright because you make it leisurely a day in advance, bright because its blend of flavors makes it popular with just about everybody, and bright because it will satisfy a lot of hungry appetites. Here it is:

- Doodle-dandy Salad
- 1 jar (about 7 ounces) whole pimiento
  - 2 1/2 cups cold water
  - 1/2 cup unflavored gelatin
  - 1/2 cup mayonnaise
  - 1/2 cup sliced onion
  - 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
  - 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
  - 1/2 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon black pepper
  - 1 8 ounce package elbow macaroni
  - 1/2 cup boiling water
  - 1/2 cup finely cut scallions (or onion)
  - 1/2 cup cottage cheese

Oil bottom and sides of a 2-qt. baking dish (any shape). Spread out whole pimientos and cut out star shapes with small star cutter, or cut around pattern with small knife. Cut remaining pimiento into small pieces.

Stir the unflavored gelatin in 1/2 cup of the carbonated beverage until softened. Heat an additional 1/2 cup of beverage to boiling; stir into softened gelatin until completely dissolved. Cover bottom of oil dish with a thin film of gelatin mixture; arrange pimiento stars on it, and put aside to set. Stir the second cup of beverage into remaining gelatin mixture.

Combine mayonnaise, vinegar, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Blend in gelatin-beverage mixture.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender (about 10-12 minutes). Drain. Blend thoroughly with seasoned gelatin-mayonnaise mixture. Cool somewhat, then spread a thin layer of this over pimiento stars. Mix into remaining macaroni the scallions, celery, re-

Small Turkeys Best for Frying

There's no frost on the pumpkin, no fodder in the shock; in fact, the pumpkins, and the corn (fodder is corn stalks) have just been planted; but the U.S. Department of Agriculture says the gobblers of the poon have run far ahead of their traditional autumn companions; turkeys are plentiful in food stores right now.

Fortunately, many of the turkeys now on the market are "family size", including fryer roasters, weighing only about five pounds, and young hen and tom turkeys that weigh eight to twelve pounds, ready to cook.

There are many things about present-day turkeys that are new, thanks to years of scientific research and the know-how of turkey raisers: the new season for turkey, a season which lasts for about 12 months; new sizes, especially smaller sizes; and new ways of cooking. Because turkeys now become plump and meaty when only a few months old and weigh only a few pounds, many homemakers are learning the wonderful flavor of Fried Turkey.

A small turkey, weighing five or six pounds is best for frying. In general, you'll fry turkey about as you would chicken, except it may take a little longer, because the pieces are thicker. Cut the turkey into pieces; dredge in flour that has been seasoned with salt and pepper. Brown in a half inch of hot fat in a frying pan. Start the meatier pieces first.

When all pieces are browned, put on a tight fitting cover; reduce heat and steam until thickest pieces are thoroughly cooked. It will taste a little like fried chicken—but more like fried turkey.

A special honey frosting to brush on cookies before you bake them can be made by combining one slightly beaten egg white with enough honey for proper consistency.

Quantity Pie Mix Is Handy for Fruit Pies

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
There are some dishes in the United States so good that some of us would fight culinary battles to keep one lot of their recipes from being changed.

When summer brings the best in berries and cherries, apricots, plums, peaches and pears, let the English and French put their fresh fruit into flans, galettes and tarts.

Any true American holds out for fresh fruit pies—two crust, lattice crust or open crust. Who cares so long as the rich golden pastry formulas; we're giving you one we flake at the touch of the fork, and the heavenly fragrance of the fruit mixed with sugar—and maybe a faint touch of lemon or spice—issues tantalizingly from our kitchen ranges?

Even if we plead that our fruit pies be made with their old-time natural flavors, we don't mind making use of present-day know-how and equipment in baking them.

At this time of year we make our own large-quantity pastry mix as the pie dough may be rolled out quickly for the irresistible batches of fresh fruit. There are several standard homemade pastry mix formulas; we're giving you one we flake at the touch of the fork, and the heavenly fragrance of the fruit mixed with sugar—and may-one fell swoop, then store them unbaked in your freezer. Bake them, unthawed, the day of your party and we defy anyone to tell they were prepared ahead.

Use the mix from week to week. Store in a cool dry place it will keep indefinitely. Some cooks like to prepare two fruit pies at one time, baking one for immediate enjoyment and storing the other in the freezer.

Homemade Pie Mix

- 2 cups sifted flour
- 1/2 cup shortening
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup cold water

Sift together the flour and salt into a 4-quart mixing bowl. With a pastry blender cut in 2 1/2 cups of the shortening until particles are fine and then start to clump together. Add the remaining 1/2 cup shortening in several large spoonfuls and cut in with spatula until the size of large peas.

Stored in a tightly covered container, the mix will keep at room temperature for a few months. Makes about 13 cups. A small amount leftover at the end of its use for pie baking, will be fine for turnover. We used a hydrogenated shortening vegetable shortening in testing this recipe. For a two-crust summer fruit pie measure 2 cups of the mix without packing down into a mixing bowl. Sprinkle in 5 tablespoons of cold water or orange juice, a little at a time, mixing lightly with a fork. Press into a ball, cover with a damp cloth, and let stand a few minutes.

Roll out half the pastry 1/4 inch thick; line 9 by 13 1/2 inch pan; add filling; roll out and add top crust so it extends at least 1/2 inch over rim. Seal thoroughly by pressing top and bottom of pastry together, then fold edge of top crust under bottom crust and flute. Cut 4 to 6 two-inch slits in top crust and open well with a knife.

Bake pie in hot (425 degrees) oven for 50 to 60 minutes or according to any preferred directions.

Cookie dough that is put through a cookie press or gun is usually so rich that the pans on which the cookies are baked need not be greased or oiled.

Sandwiches Are Welcome Fare

If you plan to stay at home over the 4th, and enjoy your own backyard or air-conditioned apartment, you'll probably want a stack of good sandwiches waiting in the refrigerator, ready for friends. And feed tea or cool coffee or other coolers.

These sandwiches offer a red and white striped effect — between slices of enriched bread is a layer of scarlet tomato slices and the second filling a colorful salmon salad. This filling combines red salmon, chopped celery and cucumber, all blended with prepared sour cream.

Patriotic-Pleaser Sandwiches (Yield: 10 sandwiches)

1½ cups salmon, flaked (¾-cup can)
1 cup celery
1 cup prepared sour cream
1 cup chopped cucumber
1 teaspoon salt
2 slices enriched bread, thinly sliced

Combine salmon, celery, sour cream, cucumber and salt. Butter bread. Spread 10 slices with salmon filling. Top with another bread slice and 2 tomato slices. Cover sandwiches with remaining bread slices. You may need to secure sandwich with food picks.

Cut serve: Cut in half and serve, cut sides up, on a blue plate. Makes 10 sandwiches.

Frankfurter-Walnut Sandwich Filling

(Yield: ½ cup or filling for 3 sandwiches)

½ cup finely chopped frankfurters
2 tablespoons chopped walnuts
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon grated Parmesan cheese

Combine frankfurters, walnuts, mustard, mayonnaise and Parmesan cheese.

Noodles Are Blond, Take Well to Sharp Seasoning

Prepare oodles — these noodles disappear fast! Cook noodles in boiling salted water according to package directions. Drain and toss with plenty of butter; chopped fresh tomato and parsley; a generous amount of instant minced onion and a good handful of grated sharp cheddar cheese.

This is a hearty dish to serve with barbecued meats. Remember instant minced onion to add flavor to burgers and barbecue sauces for outdoor eating. It's ready to use right from its handy container.

Sweet Cottage Cheese Served on Pear Salad

When the sun becomes a steady customer in the summer, fruit salads are a popular favorite for the luncheon and supper alike. The Paradise Pear Salad is pleasing to both palate and eye as well. This large fruit platter of tangy delicious fruits is served with cottage cheese that has been combined with coconut, mayonnaise and maple syrup and is a pleasant accent to the fruits.

It is always a good idea to have several cans of the versatile canned Bartlett pears on your quickie? Here's one the kids will like to eat because there are so many ways of combining this golden, fast-tasting fruit — not only with salads, but meats and desserts as well. Paradise Pear Salad is only named since the Pacific Coast is a natural growing area for the firm delightful pear.

The ideal climate assures perfection in the mature fruit. For a pleasant luncheon on the patio serve this delightful salad with small open-faced finger sandwiches or hot rolls and large glasses of iced tea or cups of steaming hot coffee.

Paradise Pear Salad
4 canned Bartlett pear halves, drained
1 can (No. 363) pineapple chunks, drained
1 box fresh strawberries, sliced
1 pint heavy cream
1 cup small curd cottage cheese
1 cup flaked coconut, toasted
1 tablespoon maple syrup

Arrange pear halves, pineapple, and strawberries on bed of salad

BLUEBERRY FINGERS—They're here! Fresh cultivated blueberries are back on the grocers' shelves for a short season of long enjoyment.

Cheese Fingers Hide Fresh Blueberries

Time and tide wait for no man. And the blueberry season waits for no woman. When the season's here, it's simply here. When it's over there's nothing to do but lament its passing.

We go for the blueberries with lots of things in mind. This year we're going to serve them piled into the centers of cantaloupes. With cottage cheese, we'll have blueberries for an exciting low-calorie snack or lunch. Never a fruit salad of any kind without blueberries as part of it.

And, always and often, we'll

spread on paper towels. Sprinkle with a little sugar, then dust with flour. Roll berries to coat evenly. Let butter and cream cheese stand at room temperature until soft. Cream together until smooth and well blended.

Sift flour and sugar together. Add gradually to butter and cream, mixing thoroughly. Chill dough in refrigerator one hour. Roll out like pie crust and cut in 5-inch squares. Place 8 to 10 whole blueberries in center, and roll, pinching ends together. Brush each "finger" with egg yolk and place on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake at 250 degrees for about 20 minutes. Yield: 15 to 20 fingers.

Wash and drain blueberries and

Blueberry Cream Cheese Fingers

Draft Boards Shift Into High

State Selective Service Stepping Up Induction, Examinations

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan's military draft machinery moved into high gear today with the promise that stepped up induction, examination and classification is under way to meet the crisis of world tensions.

The report from State Selective Service Director Col. Arthur A. Holmes apparently confirmed speculation from Washington that President Kennedy will call for a strengthening of the armed forces in his radio-television speech to the nation Tuesday night.

Holmes said "all available volunteers" for the draft in Michigan would be induced on a special call before the end of the month.

Another step announced by Holmes was physical examinations for some 2,000 men during August. This move to find out who is qualified to serve in the armed forces will be the largest physical exam call since last year, he said.

Some 62,000 persons 21 years old and older who are registered for the draft but have not been classified will be processed into priority categories as soon as possible, Holmes said.

He said this was not a change in policy, but heretofore only young men born in 1938 and before have been classified.

Holmes also promised an increased induction call for August.

Unarmed robbery charges against two men were dropped yesterday after they agreed to pay $400 cash to the complainant against them.

Municipal Judge Cecil McCollum dismissed the charges against Pte. Charles G. Gray, 20, who is stationed at the U.S. Army Nike Base in Commerce Township, and Homer T. Moreland, 28, of 611 Commerce Rd., of Detroit Township.

Anderson R. Lawson, 40, of 31 Elwood Ave., had accused the pair of beating and robbing him in his home June 17 after the trio had been together most of the previous evening.

Moreland and Gray were also ordered to pay $25 court costs each.

Weather Deals 1-2 Punch to Grissom's Hope

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A cyclonic disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico and a tropical storm in the Caribbean Sea delivered a one-two punch today to Virgil I. Grissom's hopes for a rocket into space.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration weather team reported today that the Gulf disturbance might ruin plans for a scheduled shot Friday at 6 a.m. And if that happens, tropical storm Anna may mess up Cape Canaveral weather next week and force further delay.

GLOOMY FORECAST

It was a gloomy forecast that placed the prospects for a launch at no better than 50-50. Another weather assessment will be made at 11 a.m., and a go or no-go signal may be given then.

The Gulf disturbance was continuing to cloud over the missile base. There was no assurance that the overhang would break up sufficiently to permit adequate optical coverage of a firing.

Ford Requests More Efficiency

Asks for Alterations in Contract, Says Firm Won't Be Horse Trader

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. today proposed to the United Auto Workers changes in its working agreement with the union which the company said would improve efficiency of operations.

In its first response to the UAW's labor contract demands, the company said changes should be held to a minimum and that it doesn't plan on "horse-trading" by matching its proposals with the union's.

The company put off its proposals on wages, pensions, lay-off pay and other economic provisions in the contract.

Ford Vice President Malcolm L. Denise called for revision of the working agreement in seven areas and also proposed making wages in Ford's Steel Division competitive with those of the basic steel industry. He said Ford's wage rates now exceeded those prevailing in basic steel.

The changes proposed by Ford in the working agreement would deal with grievance procedure, scheduled reductions in working hours, temporary layoffs, certain supervisory employees, local and supplementary agreements and the company's use of outside contractors.

In suggesting the revision of its steel workers wages, the company said "an unfavorable wage differential of 73 cents an hour must be overcome in order for steel division wages to be competitive with the rest of the steel industry."

Cecile Dionne Gives Birth to 2 6-Pound Boys

QUEBEC (AP) — Cecile Dionne, one of the four surviving Dionne quintuplets, has given birth to twin boys—the first multiple birth for the famous sisters.

Her husband, Philippe Langlois, said the boys—both of whom weighed about 6 pounds—were born at 11:46 p.m. and 11:52 p.m. Wednesday night. Earlier a St. Sacrament Hospital spokesman had said the twins were born this morning.

Langlois told newsmen today the boys and their mother are "all doing well. He said he is "very happy" about the twins.

The couple now have four children, all boys. The other two are Claude, 3, and Patrice, 14 months.

No names have yet been chosen for the latest arrivals.

Langlois is a civil servant. The family lives in St. Paterel, a suburb on the northern outskirts of Quebec City.

Wind Cave National Park in the Black Hills is an 18-square mile enclosure, fenced in, where antelope, deer, elk, buffalo and other species can live undisturbed.

Murder of 293 Is Now Denied

Ex-Convict Takes Back Confession; Retraction Backed by Lie Test

HENDERSON, Tex. (AP) — William Benson did not shoot today and declared, "I had nothing to do with the explosion" that killed 293 persons 21 years ago at the New London school.

The former convict from Oklahoma thus repudiated a declaration made in Oklahoma City Monday that he had loosened gas pipes at the school, and accused the blast that almost wiped out a generation of children in New London.

Benson, 41, spoke clearly and calmly to newsmen after he was escorted into the Rusk County courtroom by Sheriff Pete Gibson.

The retraction is backed up by the detector tests given Benson Wednesday night in Dallas, said Dist. Atty. William Ferguson, who sat with Benson at the news conference.

Why did he make a fake confession?

"JUST TOLD THEM"

"Well, I just told them that," he said.

What about the old scars he brought to life among parents and friends of the victims?

"I wish I could ask for forgiveness, but that's too much to ask," he said. "I've dreamed about it—about my sister." His sister died in the explosion.

Officers escorted Benson here Wednesday night from Oklahoma City.

The district attorney said Benson had changed his story while en route to Henderson.

Held in Wounding of His Brother With a Shotgun

A 52-year-old Springfield, Tenn., man was held today for felonious assault in the shotgun shooting of an older brother.

In the Oakland County Jail is Major A. Bryant, 5386 Ormond Road.

His brother Dave, 38, of Detroit, is in satisfactory condition in Highland Park General Hospital where he is being treated for shotgun wounds in his legs and thighs.

Harold Ward, 35, who lives with the younger brother on the Springfield Township farm, said the shooting followed an argument between the brothers.

After being shot, the victim drove to Detroit and called sheriff's deputies.

Major admitted firing three shots from a 20-gauge shotgun but denied hitting his brother, deputies said. He was taken into custody after his brother's phone call.

Report French Attack

Urges Tightened Mental Patient Parole System

State Attorney General Doesn't Want a Repeat of Sniper Case

Mental health officials have been urged by Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams to tighten up on their parole system of mental patients in order to prevent another case like that of Gary Addison Taylor, Oakland County's phantom sniper.

In a report requested by Prosecutor George F. Taylor of Oakland County, the attorney general also urged the State Mental Health Commission to set regulations on the examination of patients by private psychiatrists.

Both Prosecutor Taylor and Gov. John B. Swainson gave their support to Adams' report, although the prosecutor had not received a copy. He was informed by The Pontiac Press of its contents.

Swainson said, "I fully intend to follow up on this matter and make any further recommendations which may prove necessary to protect the citizenry from the premature release of anyone who may pose a public threat."

Prosecutor Taylor urged Adams' office in April to investigate the case. The 24-year-old Beverly Hills resident was committed to Inala State Hospital in 1957 after he shot at 10 women in various spots in the county. He had been released to the Lafayette Clinic in Detroit.

Later, during a convalescent leave, he attacked two Detroit women with a machete.

He is now back at Inala. "I would have to concur with Mr. Adams' report," Prosecutor Taylor said, "and insist further that law enforcement officers be notified in the future of any such release from confinement."

Taylor said officials of the Lafayette Clinic had not notified his office or local police that the former mental patient was at home.

To Boost Draft, Spur Recruiting

Report JFK Decides on Ways to Strengthen U.S. Armed Forces

NEW YORK (AP)—Russian Ambassador Mikhail Menshikov said today the "abnormal" situation in divided Berlin is getting more tense and could lead to World War III if continued. But he expressed belief there still is time to deal with the situation peacefully.

From Our News Wires
WASHINGTON—President Kennedy was reported today to have decided on strengthening U.S. armed forces through larger draft calls and intensified recruiting because of the Berlin crisis.

Responsible sources said the President will add three new divisions and build up others to bring Army and Marine strength to 20 divisions.

Educators Talk Shop

'Open' U.S. Schools Are Admired by Finn

A unique quality in American education—so commonplace that it is usually overlooked in this country—is the object of admiration by a top educator from Finland.

That American public schools are open to practically any teen-ager is a novel idea in Finland, according to Dr. Esko V. Pennanen, a member of that country's national board of education and supervisor of its teacher training programs.

In Finland, high schools are mostly private, although nationally controlled, and are designed to serve only about 35 per cent of the teen-age population, said Pennanen.

Finland schools offer only a rigidly controlled curriculum based on traditional academic subjects, he said. Only the more capable students can attend.

"But we should reorganize our high schools on a broader basis, like this one," Pennanen said yesterday at Pontiac Northern High School.

"We should supplement academic studies with practical instruction, vocational training and general information, opening the doors to youngsters who might not qualify for the stiffer, traditional education."

Pennanen said he would like to introduce "the broadness" of American education into the Finnish school system to break down what he described as the "rigidity" of the centuries-old "gymnasium" system.

The time is ripe for a change, he said, because schools are being reorganized in Finland.

COMPLETES STUDY
In connection with this national movement, Pennanen has just completed a six-week study tour in the United States as part of the U.S. State Department's foreign leaders cultural exchange program.

The trip was sponsored by the American Council on Education and paid for through a Fulbright grant from the U.S. Embassy in Helsinki, Finland's capital.

After stopping off earlier at such places as Harvard, Rutgers, the University of Wisconsin and the University of Michigan, Pennanen visited Pontiac Tuesday and Wednesday to renew an acquaintance with Philip J. Wargelin, Pontiac Northern principal.

Wargelin, who speaks Finnish as part of an inheritance from his Finnish family background, first met Pennanen about 13 months ago while leading a U.S. Fulbright group on a tour of Finland and France.

Land-Sea-Air Assault Rams Bizerte Barrier

Radio Tunis Says City Badly Damaged, Water and Electricity Cut

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Tunisia charged France today with being an aggressor in Bizerte and demanded an emergency meeting of the U.N. Security Council, either tonight or Friday morning.

TUNIS (AP)—Radio Tunis said the French launched a coordinated attack by land, sea and air today against Tunisian barricades surrounding the French naval base at Bizerte.

The broadcast reported the city of Bizerte badly damaged in the attacks and its water and electricity supply cut.

The Frenchmen were silent on this latest report from the undeclared war aimed at forcing the French out of the big North African base.

But President Habib Bourguiba ruminated a diplomatic offensive to back up his civilian-military show of force. He took the case to the United Nations and broke diplomatic, but not consular, relations with France over the issue, a bone of contention between France and its former protectorate since long before violence broke out Wednesday.

Tunisian troops and civilian volunteers resisted the French attack "heroically," the radio said, and they suffered numerous dead and wounded.

Radio Tunis said French planes from the carrier, Armandeche, fired rockets in low-level attacks on the barricades. It added that the planes were backed up by the big guns of the cruisers, Colbert, Bovelet and Chevalier Paul.

This reported artillery barrage appeared to be a cover for thrusts Radio Tunis said were being affecting business and industry.

Hits Hoffa's Power

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., said today he thinks Teamster Union President James Hoffa has too much power, and that transportation unions should be placed under restrictions such as antitrust laws affecting business and industry.

"It ought to be a great show," said Anderson to Coachmen Richard M. Fitzgerald (right) and Roger P. Rummel. "In addition to the actual play, we will have a series of contests with prizes to the winners and runners-up."

REMOVE FLOOD VICTIM — Rescuers carry the body of a flood victim from the wreckage of a Charleston, W. Va., home early today. At least a dozen persons died in flash floods which struck the Charleston area Wednesday night. Walls of water cascaded through the city, sweeping homes down hillsides and causing untold damage.

6 Attorneys Vie in District 4

Candidates Know Law

City, Quakertown, Woodcock Farms, Novi Township and the village of Novi, Northville, the southern half of Wyom., Lyon Township and South Lyon.

Only one Republican and one Democrat will claim victory in the district after Tuesday's primary election, when county voters will select 12 nominees, one from each party for the six Oakland County state representative seats.

There's no primary contest for the senatorial con-con seat.

County voters on Sept. 12 will elect seven delegates from the 14 nominees. They will be among the 14 delegates from around the state who will have 7 1/2 months, starting Oct. 3, to rewrite the present constitution approved by the voters in 1908.

Kaufman, an attorney with the Detroit law firm of Schuler & Schuler, is a candidate for Oakland County probate court last year and Meagher has been a Democratic candidate for state senator and congressman.

Van Dusen, 36, of 32205 Bingham Farm, holds the unique distinction of having been a candidate even before the convention was approved in April by the voters. He announced in March.

Wise Con-Con Voting Asked

State Dem Chairman Says Electorate Holds Key to Future

John J. Joe Collins, chairman of the Michigan Democratic party, said the fate of the new constitution depends upon the nominees to be selected Tuesday and delegates to be elected Sept. 12.

"Leaders in politics and government in Michigan are in general agreement that the constitutional convention which convenes in October will be holding out to the people of this state a bright promise.

"As always in a free society, whether or not this promise is realized depends upon the voter, both the one who votes and the one who does not, for it is the quality of delegates finally named which will decide the fate of the constitutional convention.

"Another area of concern to some of us is what we see as an effort to divide the state against itself.

"Good government has never been a question of the Upper Peninsula versus the Lower Peninsula — southeast versus outstate rural versus urban. The future of every citizen in Michigan is hinged to the future of the state as a whole, no matter in what geographical area the citizen lives.

"Therefore, it behooves all responsible citizens of Michigan to choose first the best delegate candidates, then, the best delegates.

"The goal must be to work for the greater good of all of Michigan and the hopes of all its people in the writing of a document promising progress, not stalemata."

Homes Swept Down Hillsides, Dozen Killed

Monsoon-Like Rain Strikes West Virginia Capital as It Sleeps

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A devastating "monsoon-like" cloudburst struck this capital city of West Virginia as it slept late Wednesday night, cascading walls of water through scores of homes, tossing them down hillsides and killing at least a dozen persons.

The vicious rainfall, capping a week's downpour, sent waters over their banks in the Kanawha River and nine large creeks bordering the city, bringing with it waves 15 feet high. Many of the victims were trapped in their bedrooms. Others perished when the swirling water engulfed them as they slept.

Twelve bodies were accounted for. At least four others were missing.

In Washington, the American Red Cross reported that some 400 families were swept out of their homes by the flood.

The organization said early reports indicate that between 25 and 30 homes were completely destroyed by the rushing waters, and more than 100 suffered major damage.

Deadly claimed young and old alike. Five-year-old Caroline Thompson and her 2-year-old brother were being led from their home by their father.

CHILDREN DISAPPEAR
A sudden surge of water broke the father's grip. The children disappeared. Caroline's body was recovered. Rescuers searched for her brother.

Wary rescue workers set up a makeshift morgue in the fire department, not far from the main boulevard that courses in front of the capitol building where a 30-foot section of pavement collapsed.

"It looks like a mess on a street," said Patrolman William Blackhurst. "Trees are lying over the roads and one section of a four-lane highway looks like a mess."

Mayor John Shanklin said damage was expected to mount "into the millions of dollars" to the state's largest city. Charleston, with 55,000 residents, stretches nearly six miles along the narrow Kanawha River Valley and is rimmed by foothills of the Appalachian Mountain range.

Most hard-hit were the eastern and northern sections of Charleston. The rampaging waters thrashed houses loose, ripped out hillsides and carried bodies in diverse directions.

Victims were found floating on the west side and on the east side, more than three miles away.

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy won a major foreign aid bill victory today when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted to authorize Treasury borrowing to finance a five-year, $7.5-billion economic development loan program abroad.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today transferred to the Pentagon major responsibility "for a greatly accelerated civil defense effort including a nationwide fall-out shelter program."

CLASH SITES—Underlined locations are areas where fighting is reported between French and Tunisian forces. Tunisia reports 20 killed at Menzel-Bouguerra and two others slain at Menzel Djemel. French authorities deny the claims. Both sides say artillery fire was exchanged at the Sidi-Ahmed naval base.

made by French armored cars and tanks.

The Tunisian president, trying to drive France from the big island, has retained after its Tunisian protectorate gained independence in 1956, told a news conference 24 Tunisians had been killed in clashes with French troops.

The casualties, Bouguerra said, included 20 killed when Tunisians troops during the night threw back a French unit trying to force its way through a roadblock at Menzel-Bouguerra, on the outskirts of the Bizerte area. French authorities in Paris denied the clash had occurred.

Sources in Paris said two French soldiers had been killed and 20 wounded in clashes with the Tunisians Wednesday and early today.

The French also said their commander in Bizerte had turned down a Tunisian request for a truce this morning on the ground that a truce could only be arranged between military forces. The French commander called on the Tunisians to withdraw the women and children among the civilian volunteers swelling the ranks of the Tunisian soldiers around the base.

WILL GO TO U.N.

Bouguerra said a special Tunisian representative would arrive in New York tonight to present a Tunisian complaint against France to the U.N. Security Council. He called for a council meeting tonight or Friday.

The break in diplomatic relations will consist of closing the Tunisian Embassy in Paris and the French Embassy in Tunis.

Bouguerra said Tunisia would continue to maintain consular representation in France and would let the French do likewise in Tunisia.

Absentee Ballot Deadline Near, Warns Murphy

About 48 hours remain to apply for an absentee ballot if you'll be out of town for Tuesday's constitutional convention primary. County Clerk-Register Daniel T. Murphy Jr. warned today.

The deadline to apply for the ballot is 2 p.m. Saturday. Applicants must apply at either their township or clerk's office, all of which must stay open Saturday.

The ballots can either be voted on at the polls or taken home. They must be returned by mail or in person to the respective clerk to arrive no later than Tuesday morning or the ballot will be void, Murphy said.

The Pontiac city clerk reports 39 applications to date and Waterford Township, 61.

Readers to Seek Red Aid in Congo

Katanga Aide Hits Unification

Spokesman for Tshombe Says U.N. America Not Considering Aspirations

ELIZABETHTOWN, Katanga (AP)—Molse Tshombe's Katanga government threatened today to seek Soviet help to prevent this rich province from being forced to join a united Congo.

The minister of the interior, Godofredo Munongo, charged that the U.N. Security Council and the United States was determined to unite the country "with out taking into account the legitimate aspirations of the Congolese people."

He told a news conference the Security Council would not hesitate to use its "international military potential" to get its way. Declaring he was speaking for Tshombe, who is supposed to be ill, the Katanga cabinet minister said, "If the future of our country demands it we shall not hesitate, with our African brothers, to call for Soviet aid."

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo—Gen. Joseph Mobutu, chief of state, announced today the withdrawal of his army with the forces of separatist Katanga, to be under his own personal command. The general returned Wednesday night from talks with President Mobutu Tshombe of Katanga.

try demands it we shall not hesitate, with our African brothers, to call for Soviet aid."

The Soviet Union has repeatedly denounced Tshombe as lackey of the Belgians.

The threat of the Katanga government came as the members of the three other Congo factions met in Leopoldville for a central government, the leftist regime of Antoine Gizenga and the separatist mining state of South Kasai gathered at Leopoldville University outside Leopoldville for a reopening of the Congo Parliament.

Tshombe has boycotted the Leopoldville meeting, which is expected to form a new Congo government. He favors a loose federation rather than a strong central government.

Monongo said that the Soviet Union was the only power capable at the present time of helping its friends. He attacked the Western powers—particularly the United States.

on what steps to take to meet Russian threats to Berlin.

TO BRIEF ALLIES

Kennedy is telling the Western allies of these moves this week-end before reporting to the American people Tuesday night and Congress Wednesday.

Other developments concerning Berlin:

Iron Curtain diplomats are showing marked signs of uneasiness over stiffening Western resolve to Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's brinkmanship over Berlin, diplomatic observers said.

—Moscow radio said "The Western powers are continuing to stand on their dangerous positions on the German question." In a commentary on the Western notes to the Soviet Union, the radio said: "However, their threats and intimidations do not in the least promote a business-like atmosphere for negotiations."

BRANDT HOPEFUL

—Mayor Willy Brandt of West Berlin said he believes there will be no war over his divided city. "I hope not and I believe not," he told a questioner at a news conference. But he added it would be foolish not to consider the possible consequences of the present situation.

—West Berlin authorities cut off the flow of refugees to speed the processing of thousands of East German refugees streaming into the isolated Western outpost.

The recall of production workers at Fisher Body Division will be of a staggered basis, beginning Aug. 7, a division spokesman emphasized today.

He said the recall was inaccurately described in The Pontiac Press yesterday as beginning with one shift Aug. 7, followed by the other Aug. 14.

"The recall should be completed by the end of the first week," the spokesman said.

The Day in Birmingham

Pick Bloomfield Youth for Peace Corps Work

BIRMINGHAM—A Bloomfield Township youth has been selected to begin training for the Peace Corps and a possible teaching assignment in Nigeria.

Willard B. Stouffer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard B. Stouffer of 1350 Square Lake Road will begin a two-month training course at Harvard University Monday, on his 22nd birthday.

The selection of Stouffer for the Peace Corps, one of three persons from Michigan, was announced today by Congressman William S. Bloomfield.

Stouffer, who recently was graduated from Northwestern University with a degree in English, will leave Saturday for the Cambridge, Mass., university.

Following his training at Harvard Stouffer will go to University College in Ibadan, Nigeria, where he will receive an added four months of orientation and practice teaching before becoming an instructor at a secondary school.

Stouffer, who learned that he was being seriously considered for a position just 10 days ago and informed of his selection Tuesday, was president of the 1957 student council at Bloomfield Hills High School.

He filled out his application for the Peace Corps in April while attending college.

LAWRENCE N. McLOUTH

Service for Lawrence N. McLoth, 61, of 1314 Northlawn St., will be 11 a.m. tomorrow at the chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., 2875 Cass Ave., Detroit. Burial will be in Grand Lawn Cemetery.

Mr. McLoth died yesterday at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit, following a long illness.

He was a director and one of the founders of the Nozag Spring Co. and also was Detroit representative for the Super Tool Co. until his retirement four years ago.

His late brother, Donald B., was the former president of the McLoth Steel Corp.

Surviving are his wife Ruth M.; a daughter, Mrs. Lawrence T. Thompson of Detroit; a brother and two grandchildren.

Charles L. Richards

Service for Charles L. Richards, 60, of 1569 Pierce St., will be 3 p.m. Saturday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home followed by burial in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Richards, owner of the Richards Landscape Co. in Birmingham, died last night at his home after a long illness.

A graduate of Michigan State University, he was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham.

Surviving besides his wife Ora are two daughters.

Subs Will Seek Space Capsule if Necessary

ABOARD AIRCRAFT CARRIER, RANDOLPH (AP)—Four of the Navy's newest and hottest aircraft for detecting submarines by radar are poised for a job searching for the Liberty Bell 7 space capsule if it's lost at sea.

The four planes, parked on the hangar deck of this prime recovery ship for the scheduled Friday launching of astronaut Virgil I. Grisson, are WF2s—the Navy's latest airborne defender against the Soviet fleet of submarines, estimated by the Navy at more than 400.

The weird-looking aircraft each with a huge radar dome that looks like a flying saucer,

But officers of the Navy's famed Task Force Alfa—the special "hunter-killer force" of the Antisubmarine Warfare Service, told newsmen it was later found they also offer a powerful new defensive weapon for detecting submarine snorkels and periscopes.

Wants Force Maintained

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Dag Hammarskjöld said on Wednesday the 5,300-man U.N. army in the Gaza Strip should be maintained through 1962 to insure peace between Israel and its Middle East neighbors, despite an estimated $50,000 boost in costs.

Refuses to Have His Herd Tested

Farmer Is Tired of TB Control Plan's Spread; Causes Dilemma

EAGLE BUTTE, S.D. (AP)—Charlie Peterson, an immigrant from Sweden in the late 1890s, is defying local, state and federal authorities; he refuses to have his 600 head of cattle tested for tuberculosis.

The situation remained at a stalemate today as the attorney general's office looked into what authority the South Dakota Live-stock Sanitary Board has in enforcement.

Other ranchers in Dewey County in North-Central South Dakota, immediately west of the Missouri River, have volunteered to become deputies of the state board to round up Peterson's cattle for test.

His attorney has said they are threatened with property rights charges if they enter his 11,000-acre domain.

'TIRED OF SPREAD'

Peterson, 72, is a resident of Atkinson, Neb., and although he is a big cattle operator, he ranches comparatively small acreage in South Dakota.

He says he is resisting the test because his herd is disease-free and he is tired of government agencies continually expanding their mandatory testing program.

"I'm tired of having some bureaucrat coming to my place and saying, 'Line up your cattle, I want to test them,'" he says.

On July 12, the state attempted to get a mandamus writ against him to force testing. The court dismissed the case on a technicality.

Others in the drought-stricken county feel strongly about Peterson's resistance. Some of them feel forced to cut back on their herds. But they must hold their stock for three-day tests in sales rings, a costly item because of shrinkage.

One of Peterson's acquaintances described him as "a man of strong principles. He owns an air-conditioned Cadillac but he drives a Volkswagen because he feels the price of gasoline is too high."

Polaris N-Sub Roosevelt Heads for Patrol Duty

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP)—The USS Theodore Roosevelt, the nation's fourth nuclear-powered Polaris-armed submarine, left the Charleston harbor Wednesday for global patrol duty.

The 280-foot sub took aboard 36 thermonuclear warhead Polaris missiles at the arming base, then sailed under secret orders.

The other three Polaris subs now armed for action already are at sea. They are the George Washington, the Patrick Henry and the Robert E. Lee. Together with the Theodore Roosevelt, they carry 60 nuclear missiles.

JFK, MacArthur Lunch Together at White House

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy and Gen. Douglas MacArthur got together today for a two-man White House luncheon.

The President invited MacArthur to get a report on the general's recent trip to the Philippines.

Kennedy sent a White House plane to New York to bring the 81-year-old MacArthur down for the meeting.

Kennedy visited MacArthur and former President Herbert Hoover separately in their hotel suites in New York last April 28. At that time Kennedy presumably briefed the two on world trouble spots.

MacArthur returned July 13 from his Philippines trip in a presidential jet plane assigned to him by Kennedy.

Slate Opening of New Church

Initial Service July 30 at First Congregational of Rochester

ROCHESTER — The doors of the new First Congregational Church of Rochester will be open for regular morning services for the first time July 30.

Located on North Pine Street between Glendale and Winny streets, the new church edifice contains a chapel, Sunday School rooms, offices, complete kitchen, banquet area and lounge.

Dominating feature of the chapel is a stained glass window designed on the theme of the Good Shepherd by Helen Rother Studios, Detroit. It was executed in France.

Finished in buff-colored brick, the structure cost about $200,000 and took approximately nine months to build. General contractor was the Becker Construction Co. of Bloomfield Hills.

The kitchen, dining room and lounge were furnished by the Women's Fellowship, Mrs. Robert Harris, president.

Last service in the 165-year-old church that the congregation is vacating at 212 W. Third St. will be at 8:30 p.m. Sunday.

The church board has not yet decided what to do with the over-century-old edifice.

Services in the new building July 30 will be at 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. with the architect Harold Fisher of Detroit slated to present the keys to the board of trustees at the earlier service.

The public is invited to an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. According to present plans, dedication services will be held in the fall. A. R. Musson is chairman of the dedication committee.

Lewis B. Annett is head of the building committee, Edwin Forbush, vice chairman, and Edward Ford, chairman of the board of trustees.

Church pastor is Rev. Robert E. Jacobson.

Issue Dance Invitation

The public has been invited to a dance at 9 p.m. July 29 at the Westview Clubhouse near Green Lake sponsored by the Highlands Home Improvement Association.

Virginia Lewis Weds

Says Vows by Candlelight

GINGELLVILLE — Virginia Lee Lewis became the bride of Frank D. Gingell in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening at the Lake Orion Methodist Church. Officiating at the service was Rev. Albert Johns.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin J. Lewis of Lowell. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gingell of 1401 Gregory Road.

For her wedding the bride chose a floor-length gown of chantilly lace, featuring a tiered skirt, long pointed sleeves and a scalloped Sabrina neckline.

BEST MAN

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Peter Dewey of Gingellville. Sally Hoover of Lowell and Mrs. Niles Olson of Gingellville served as bridesmaids.

James Jacobs of Pontiac was best man while Richard Scribner of Lake Orion and Gerald Elmy of Gingellville acted as groomsmen.

To Ponder Face-Lift Plan

BERKLEY—A pilot project proposed to spur the revitalization of the central business district here will be presented to city officials at a public meeting tonight in the Berkley high school.

The proposal, a private venture calling for the face-lifting of a block of stores, will be submitted by Mrs. Charles E. McMehe, landowner of several Berkley business places, and the Berkley Business District Improvement Committee.

Mrs. McMehe, president of the McMehe Corp., 1675 Bracken Road, Bloomfield Township, intends to renovate her property on 12-Mile Road, just west of Coolidge Highway.

The Berkley Square, as it will be known, is between Griffith Avenue and Gardner Avenue on the north side of 12-Mile Road.

Mrs. McMehe said the buildings on the block would be redesigned along Early American lines.

Parking is the major barrier to immediate progress of the plan, according to Mrs. McMehe, since it will be necessary to condemn several parcels to the rear of the block for the necessary facilities.

However, the city has shown much interest in the project. And its master plan, recently completed, reveals that the parking needs for the city and the specifications prepared by Mrs. McMehe's architect coincide.

Attending the 7:30 p.m. meeting along with the mayor and councilmen will be the nine-member City Planning Commission, which has supported the private project in the past. The plan will create enthusiasm among businesses to follow suit.

In addition to making public the pilot project tonight, the Business District Improvement Committee will submit its initial recommendations to the city and business owners for the improvement of the business district.

The 55-member committee recommends that the city maintain an improved cleaning program near 12-Mile and Coolidge; stop persons from operating businesses in their homes in violation of the zoning ordinance, and require that buildings be razed within a reasonable time.

Electricity Shut Off as High Wire Snaps

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP — A lightning bolt apparently broke a high tension wire which caused a loss of electricity in homes near 32-Mile and Hayes roads yesterday evening.

The wire snapped and was dangling in a ditch on 32-Mile Road about 1 1/2 miles east of Romeo shortly after 5 p.m. A crew from the Detroit Edison Co. repaired the line in approximately one-half hour, according to Romeo State police.

Detroit Edison Co. officials in Mount Clemens said power was restored by 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton S. Childs of 3070 Central Blvd., Milford, announce the engagement of their daughter Joyce Annette to James L. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett J. Wilson of 807 Sweetbriar St., Milford. No wedding date has been set.

The couple will reside at 4030 Baldwin Road, Orion Township.

State Company Spurns South to Expand in Detroit

DETROIT — Howell Industries has decided to expand operations in Detroit instead of accepting inducements from four southern states to move south.

About 250 workers are employed by Howell Industries in plants at Howell and Lapeer. The firm manufactures automotive parts.

Nathan Freedland, company president, said offers from the South included bond financing of land, building at a nominal rate of interest, amortization over a 20-year period with a token rental of $1 a year after 20 years and wages as low as $5 cents an hour for new workers.

Freedland said Detroit has a number of skilled workers readily available and lower transportation costs. He added that management is simpler with all Howell's plants in the same state and near the automobile firms with which it deals.

To Open Bids on New School

Will Be Last Leg of Building Plan

Rochester Board OKs Final Setup for New 25-Room Structure

ROCHESTER — The last phase of a $3.1-million building program in the Rochester Community School District will be started after bids for the new West Junior High School are opened Aug. 15.

Final plans for the 25-room junior high school, which will be located on Old Perch Road between Avon Road and West University Drive, have been approved by the board of education.

Under plans submitted by Lins Smith Associates of Birmingham, the building will contain a gymnasium, kitchen, cafeteria, library, eight classrooms and rooms designed for such specialized subjects as shop, home economics, science and languages.

The school will have a capacity of 600 students and will be expandable to serve 800. It is scheduled to be opened in September 1962.

Asst. School Supt. Richard F. Huizenga said yesterday all projects included in the district's extensive construction program will be under way when work is started on the new junior high school.

Huizenga said the board of education also approved the sale of $1.5 million in bonds, which is the final portion of the $3.1-million bond issue approved by voters in a May 1960 election.

Other projects financed by the bond issue include additions to Meadow Brook and Hamlin elementary schools and the senior high school, remodeling of the present Central Junior High School and construction of the new McGregory Elementary School.

READY IN SEPTEMBER

The two elementary school additions and newly constructed McGregory Elementary School will be ready for occupancy this September while the 17-room addition to the senior high school will be opened Jan. 1.

Part of the remodeled Central Junior High School will be ready by this fall while it is to be completed next year at the same time the new West Junior High School will be opened.

Huizenga said contracts for construction of the new junior high school will be awarded after Aug. 15 bid opening date. The project is expected to cost some $1.2 million.

DONALD L. SWANSON

Name Swanson to Postal Job

State Fair Manager, Ex-Mayor of Southfield Going to Chicago

SOUTHFIELD—Donald L. Swanson, Michigan State Fair manager and first mayor of Southfield, will become director of the U.S. Post Office Department's regional office in Chicago Aug. 7.

The appointment of Swanson to the $17,200-a-year post office position was announced today in Washington by Postmaster General J. Edward Day.

Swanson, 46, of 2408 Pennsylvania Road, will be in charge of postal operations for Michigan and Illinois. His headquarters will be in Chicago.

Swanson said today he would remain as general manager of the State Fair, a post he has held since 1954, through next week. He said he plans to move his family to Chicago as soon as possible.

His contract as State Fair manager expired Dec. 31. At the time there was speculation that he would be replaced in his $9,000-a-year job by Gov. John B. Swainson.

SUCCESSOR A MYSTERY

Swanson said today he has no idea who would be named as his successor in the State Fair post.

A resident of Southfield since 1949, Swanson was elected mayor here when the city was incorporated in 1950. He was defeated in his bid for re-election April 3 by S. James Clarkson, former Democratic state representative from the 4th District.

Says Action Imminent on Walled Lake Plan

WALLED LAKE—Action by the City Council to move ahead on a proposed master plan for the city seems likely within the next two weeks.

An allocation of $14,000 was provided in the 1961-62 budget for such a study.

The city has an option to take planning program for one or two years.

Should the council decide to take the one-year option and then drop the study after that time, tangible results would still be received at the end of the first year, according to the consulting firm.

During the first year, information would be obtained from aerial photographs, topographical maps and opinions from residents. The consulting firm also would meet monthly with city officials.

When the council first became concerned with the 701 program, which is administered by the state, the city's share of the study was 50 per cent.

However, a recent bill signed by President Kennedy provides that in certain areas the local government pay a quarter of the cost.

The council, receiving the engineers work program only this week, has promised to study it

Area Man to Be Regional Chief of Federal SBA

WASHINGTON — Roy C. Phillips of 2310 W. Roycourt, Huntington Woods, will be appointed regional director of the Small Business Administration for Michigan, Michigan's Democratic senators said today.

Sen. Pat V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart said the White House had informed them the appointment would be approved.

Phillips, 39, is secretary-treasurer and general manager of the United Products Corp., Detroit, and the United Supply Co., Ann Arbor, wholesale distributors of building materials.

McNamara and Hart said Phillips had been recommended by the Michigan Federal Appointments Committee, the state Democratic group which passes on patronage matters.

Phillips is the husband of Mrs. Harriett Phillips, vice-chairman of the Democratic State Party and county party worker.

AREA NEWS

SHARON A. JONES

An Aug. 19 wedding is planned by Sharon Annette Jones and Ralph D. Barlow. The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hodge of 304 Morgan Road, Orion Township.

The prospective bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Barlow of 5514 Cornell Road, Independence Township.

More Offspring Than Mother Did

WASHINGTON (UPI) — American women are having more children than their mothers, partially because they get an earlier start.

The Census Bureau released these figures from an August 1959 nationwide survey of 35,000 households:

—White women, who married for the first time between 1925 and the survey date, averaged 444 births per thousand during their first year of marriage. In the depression years, 1930 to 1934, the average was 242.

The bureau also reported that one-fourth of nonwhite women married between 1950 and 1959 were under 19 years old, compared with one-fifth of white brides.

It said during the 4-year period 1,733 children had been born per 1,000 white women of childbearing age (15 to 44). It also said 1,982 offspring per 1,000 were born to nonwhite women.

For all women, there were an average of 1,762 children per 1,000 women.

JOYCE CECIL CARMON

The Allen Carmons of Ovid announce the engagement of their daughter Joyce Cecil to Jimmie D. Woods, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Davis of Westbrook Avenue. She is an alumna of Western Michigan University where her fiancé is working on his master's degree.

Waist and hips benefit from rolling back and forth in this position. Special slimming exercises do not all give results in the same length of time, but the waist is usually the first to respond with a loss in inches.

Doctor Says to Ignore Thumbsuckers Under 4

DENVER (UPI) — Junior probably will stop sucking his thumb of his own accord if Mom and Dad just ignore the habit.

Continual nagging and reprimands by the parents, however, may increase the severity and persistence of the habit.

For the past five years, Dr. David G. Hamilton of New Castle, Pa., has been researching thumb and finger sucking activities in children. He outlined some of his findings and conclusions at the 57th annual session of the American Association of Orthodontists in Denver recently.

The orthodontist said most children fit into three broad categories of thumbsuckers.

—The physiologic thumb-sucker, the baby who has the thumbsucking habit and is completely normal because sucking is a normal reflex instinct in babies.

—The primary thumbsucker, the child who has the thumbsucking habit and who continues to suck his thumb automatically after the original sucking need has diminished.

—The secondary thumbsucker, the child who sucks his thumb past infancy because he is psychologically or emotionally disturbed. Less than 10 per cent of children who suck their thumbs fall into this category, Hamilton said, but these are the children with the most serious problem.

Hamilton stressed that severe dental damage may result from persistent thumb and finger sucking and recommended that the problem be handled professionally—not by parents.

Get Rid of Waste Waist

Too Hippy to Be Happy?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Some time ago I wrote, "There is no rest for the weary." Of course, someplace it was printed, "There is no rest for the weary," which made no sense at all. The weary always rest, if they can sit long.

There is no doubt that a job which means hours of sitting may tend to develop what is laughingly called an office broadside.

The way in which you sit is important to your figure as well as to your energy. Poor posture is straining and it is also conducive to a large hipline.

When you sit, your hips should touch the back of the chair and then you should straighten your spine all the way up. Change your position part of the time.

Sit on the very edge of your chair (only the back hips on the chair, not the thighs). Pull your abdomen in and keep your back the abdomen. As you roll back, slumping in a chair is detrimental to the silhouette.

IT TAKES TIME

Special slimming exercises do not all give results in the same length of time. The waist is the first to respond with a loss in inches and the abdomen is next.

The hips are more stubborn. It takes longer and more strenuous exercise for improvement. The exercise I am going to give you today is splendid for the hips and also for the waist.

Lie on your back on the floor. Arms extend out from the shoulders and rest on the floor, palms toward the floor. Bend both knees up to the abdomen. Hold them in place.

Continue on until your weight is on your right hip. As you roll to the right, again bend your knees.

Continue rolling from side to side, bending your knees at the end of each roll and straightening the legs as they pass across the center. This exercise should have a good rhythmic swing and the feet should be near the floor but should not touch it after beginning the exercise.

If you would like to have my hip-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to me in up to the abdomen. Hold them in place.

Linda Edgeworth Married in Afternoon Ceremony

The John E. Edgeworths were hosts at a reception in their home on Commonwealth Avenue following the marriage of their daughter Linda to Max E. Pike Saturday in Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses. Samuel Wallace officiated at the early afternoon ceremony.

Parents of the bridegroom are the Lawrence R. Pikes of Gladstone Place.

A single row of small pearls edged the oval neckline of the bride's ballerina-length dress of white chiffon, worn with shoulder-length veiling of tulle caught by a crown of pearls and sequins. She held a cascade of white carnations and stephanotis.

Serving her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Alonzo Haimbaugh Jr. in ballerina-length orchid chiffon. She carried pink rosebuds.

Best man for his brother-in-law was Harvey Rander with the bridegroom's brother Melvin and Alonzo Haimbaugh Jr. seating some 100 guests.

Modern Teens Don't Yearn for Sea, Circus

President, Gilbert Youth
Research, Inc.

Do modern young people have a secret yearning to join the circus? Not so, say our surveyors could notice it.

Do most youngsters at one time or another consider running away from home? A commonly held notion that appears ill founded.

Even the lure of the sea seems less urgent to the coming generation than to their elders.

There are among the interesting generalizations we were able to make after one of our recent surveys of more than a thousand young people across the nation.

courses in the veins of youngsters today apparently slows down appreciably by the time they reach teen age.

Only about 17 per cent of those questioned, for instance, had ever considered joining a circus, and four out of five of these later discarded the idea.

ONLY PART

Disappearance of the circus as a major entertainment medium apparently is only part of the answer. William Thetford, 14, of Montpelier, Vt., may have sounded the keynote for his generation with this comment:

"Not enough pay and benefits." Such spirit of adventure as

As for running away, the fact is that three-fifths of the youngsters had never given it a serious thought.

Of those, only about one in three actually tried it, and of the ones who did leave home, 60 per cent never left the neighborhood.

As for going off to sea, even when it was considered as a way to fulfill draft obligations, only 43 per cent of the boys questioned ever considered the life of a sailor, and more than half of those conceded they never expected it to happen.

"Rather keep my feet on terra firma," said 18-year-old Bob Freeman of Bridgeport, Conn., a seaport, said "My parents begged me the wrong way."

CURIOS FACT

The survey turned up another curious fact.

More girls (47 per cent) than boys (37 per cent) have considered running away from home; but more boys (37 per cent) than girls (32 per cent) have actually gone through with it.

The urge to roam was strongest when they were younger than ten years old said a third per cent of the teenagers.

Only a four entertained the idea as a teen-ager. The greatest single reason for wanting to leave home was a feeling of being wronged.

For example, John Faulhaber Jr., 17, of Eugene, Ore., pulled up stakes "because I was being still like the idea of joining a troupe."

Jack Grimes, 17, of Brooklyn, N.Y., "I'd love to be a lady horseback rider," said Christine Paige, 16, of and Louise Kriksak, 17, of Bridge-Charles City, Va.

port, said "My parents begged me the wrong way."

OTHER REASONS

There were other reasons.

Mark Glauzman, 16, of Englewood, N.J., left home because "My daddy wouldn't play miniature golf." C. Lariere, 16, of Salina, Kan., left because she "didn't get a new book." Erica Miles, 16, of Englewood, left home "just to see what it was like."

Few of the youthful wanderers stayed away long. Only 14 per cent were gone one day and only 7 per cent stayed away as long as two days. The rest came home the same day.

As for the circus, it appears to have a stronger attraction for girls than boys. Only 13 per cent of the boys, compared with 26 per cent of the girls, said they up stakes "because I was being still like the idea of joining a troupe."

Jack Grimes, 17, of Brooklyn, N.Y., "I'd love to be a lady horseback rider," said Christine Paige, 16, of and Louise Kriksak, 17, of Bridge-Charles City, Va.

Vary Clothes, Hairdo Styles in Teen Years

(NEA) — The teen years are the perfect years in which to experiment with the way you look. Change your hair style often; it's fun. Most teens are adept at doing their own hair. Don't get stuck with a ponytail just because it's easy to do. Save a part of your allowance money for expert cutting and styling once a month. Let the hairdresser show you how to set your own hair in between.

GET THE BEST

No matter what your clothes type, pin your money into the very best that you can afford. Better just one good raincoat than two or three cheap ones that go to pieces after one cleaning. In your teens, learn that quality is important.

This doesn't mean that you should yearn for labels or wish that you could wear them on the outside. It does mean that you should appreciate fine fabrics, honest tailoring and detailing. The only way to do this is to shop carefully. Never buy anything because it's "cute." Buy it because it's sound fashion, a pleasure to wear and a good buy for your money.

Club 20 Starts Plans for Picnic

Plans for a picnic Aug. 6 at the home of Mrs. James G. Weaver are under way by Club 20.

The group met Tuesday at the Oakland County Society for Crippled Children. Mrs. Arthur Longbrake, new president, called for the annual report by Mrs. Weaver, treasurer.

Mrs. Donald Hewlett, a new member, and two guests Mrs. Walter Peters and Mrs. Roland Nonnamer were present. A luncheon, served by the hostess, followed games.

Nails Too Short? Hues in Harmony

(NEA) — Women with short, round nails should use pale nail polish. Dark shades make the fingers appear to stop short. The pale polish should be extended to the tip of the nail for an elongating effect.

RUSK AND RUSK — David Patrick Rusk, 20, son of Secretary of State Dean Rusk, looks up as his Argentine bride, the former Delcia Bence, points out the sights in Buenos Aires. Rusk and his bride, the daughter of a wealthy Argentine rancher and physician, were married July 12.

Businessmen Find Japanese Not as Polite as Portrayed

TOKYO (UPI) — There are two Japanese and two races living in this country.

One country the tourists see, and they rave about the charming countryside and polite Japanese. The other the foreign businessmen see, and they throw up their arms in dismay.

A new book written by Boye de Mente, American editor of a Tokyo trade journal, is a guidebook to Japan for the businessman who has to deal with the Japanese. He makes it out to be a formidable task, not for the faint of heart.

This book, "Japanese Manners and Ethics in Business," might make many foreign companies think twice before they even undertake to do business in Japan.

For it relates that the Japanese businessman first of all is not too interested in business, at least in the western sense, and secondly that it's necessary to do battle with many incompetents before any agreement can be signed.

And even after the signing, the American businessman may go home and never get the goods he contracted for.

LIKE FOREIGN TECHNIQUES
De Mente, who has spent nine years in Japan, says "The Japanese have always been willing and eager to adopt foreign technological methods, but they have either ignored or resisted the philosophy and conduct of business that grew up with these methods."

Some of the frustrating situations in doing business with the Japanese are:
—Americans of the tourist variety think the Japanese are polite.

This is not found in business where even an American who has traveled to Japan will find it difficult, if not impossible, to meet the "right man" in the company he wants to do business with. And the Japanese invariably fail to answer letters of inquiry.

—The Japanese idea of telling the truth has never been based on moral sanctity but is a relative consideration that depends upon obligations.

The most common untruths are the small, habitual ones that come naturally and are not intended primarily to deceive, although one isn't used to the system, they often result in outright deception.

"SHAME" CULTURE
"Japan has a 'shame' culture," America a "guilt" culture.

One of the most dreaded things that can happen to a Japanese is to be shamed, to fail in any kind of competition or to be revealed as inferior or less capable than any one else.

Because of their dreadful fear of competition the Japanese have become geniuses in ways of avoiding it.

—Being a businessman in "old Japan" was the lowest of the low professions.

It also was forbidden to engage in trade between the prefectures as each wanted to remain a self-contained unit.

The Tokyo government deliberately left roads and bridges in poor repair to discourage the movement of goods and large bodies of men.

The author says "Japan's no-

Indian Pageant Starts Saturday In Petoskey

PETOSKEY (U) — This Northern Michigan resort center is preparing for a three-day festival of original Americana starting Saturday in the second annual All-State Indian Pageant.

Hundreds of families from Ottawa, Chippewa and Pottawatomi tribes take part in the pageant which is directed principally by the Northern Michigan Ottawa Association.

Indian teepees and craft exhibits take over Petoskey High School's football stadium where festival officials say outdoor events will be staged.

Besides a parade Saturday through downtown Petoskey, the festival calendar includes a concert to select a Michigan Indian princess, tribal dance contests and various entertainments each evening through Monday.

A black and white photograph capturing a moment during the Tour de France. A group of cyclists is seen riding along a dirt road. In the foreground, a person is holding a bucket, likely providing water to the cyclists. The scene is set in a rural area with a large stone archway in the background. The image is grainy and has a historical feel.

DOODLE DANDY—A feather in your hat for July Fourth when you serve this molded macaroni salad. Garnish with olives, pickled cucumbers—and see to it that sparkling soft drinks are handy!

Pimiento Stars Gala Part of Cool Molded Salad

Spark up your entertaining with a cold buffet starring macaroni molded salad, cold cuts, deviled eggs, a bowl of crisp lettuce with mayonnaise on the side, and plenty of zesty, bubbly thirst-quenching soft drinks.

The salad is a bright one—bright with pimiento stars, molded into the top—bright because you make it leisurely a day in advance—bright because its blend of flavors makes it popular with just about everybody—and bright because it will satisfy a lot of hungry appetites. Here it is:

- Doodle-dandy Salad
- 1 jar (about 1 ounce) whole pimiento stars
  - 2 cups carbonated beverage (any tangy flavor)
  - 1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin
  - 1 1/2 cups mayonnaise
  - 2 tablespoons mild vinegar
  - 2 teaspoons prepared mustard
  - 2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 1 teaspoon black pepper
  - 1 8 ounce package elbow macaroni
  - 1 tablespoon salt
  - 3 quarts boiling water

Oil bottom and sides of a 2-qt. baking dish (any shape).

Spread out whole pimientos and cut out star shapes with small knife cutter, or cut around pattern with small knife. Cut remaining pimiento into small pieces.

Stir the unflavored gelatin in 1/2 cup of the carbonated beverage until softened. Heat an additional 1/2 cup of beverage to boiling; stir into softened gelatin until completely dissolved.

Cover bottom of oiled dish with a thin film of gelatin mixture; arrange pimiento stars on it, and put aside to set. Stir the second cup of beverage into remaining gelatin mixture.

Combine mayonnaise, vinegar, mustard, Worcestershire sauce, salt and pepper. Blend in gelatin-beverage mixture.

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender (about 10-12 minutes). Drain. Blend thoroughly with seasoned gelatin-mayonnaise mixture. Cool somewhat, then spread a thin layer of this over pimiento stars. Mix into remaining once with colorful straws and long-handled spoons.

Handy for Fruit Pies Quantity Pie Mix Is

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

There are some dishes in the United States so good that some of us would fight culinary battles to keep one lot of their recipes from being changed.

When summer brings the best in berries and cherries, apricots, plums, peaches and pears, let the English and French put their fresh fruit into flans, galettes and tarts.

Any true American holds out for fresh fruit pies—two crust, lattice crust or open crust. Who cares so long as the rich golden pastry flakes at the touch of the fork, and the heavenly fragrance of the fruit mixed with sugar—and maybe a faint touch of lemon or spice—issues tantalizingly from our kitchens ranges?

Even if we plead that our fruit pies are made with their old-time true natural flavors, we don't mind making use of present-day know-how and equipment in baking them.

At this time of year we make our own large-quantity pastry mix so the pie dough may be rolled out quickly for the irresistible batches of fresh fruit. There are several standard homemade pastry mix formulas; we're giving you one we find particularly good.

Flaming to give a party? Use this mix to prepare your pies at one fell swoop, then store them unrolled in your freezer. Bake them, unthawed, the day of your party and we defy anyone to tell they were prepared ahead.

Or use the mix from week to week. Store in a cool dry place it will keep indefinitely. Some cooks like to prepare two fruit pies at one time, baking one for immediate enjoyment and storing the other in the freezer.

Homemade Pie Mix

- 6 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 3 cups shortening

Sift together the flour and salt into a 4-quart mixing bowl. With a pastry blender cut in 2 1/2 cups of the shortening until particles are little at a time, mixing lightly with a fork. Press into a ball, cover with a damp cloth, and let stand a few minutes.

Roll out half the pastry 1/8 inch thick; line 9 by 1 1/2 inch pan; add filling; roll out and add top crust so it extends at least 1/4 inch over rim. Seal thoroughly by pressing top and bottom of pastry together, then fold edge of top crust under bottom crust and flute. Cut 4 to 6 two-inch slits in top crust and open well with a knife.

Bake pie in hot (425 degrees) oven for 50 to 60 minutes or according to any preferred directions.

Cookie dough that is put through a cookie press or gun is usually so rich that the pans on which the cookies are baked need not be greased or oiled.

CEMENT MILL EXPANDS—Lined up alongside a new waterway are 28 reinforced concrete silos just completed at the Huron Portland Cement Mill in Alpena. The new structures, built by the parent firm National Gypsum, double the capacity of the mill. The waterway and new docking and loading equipment just installed cuts ship stopover time from 8 to 4 hours.

Firm Doubling Capacity of Alpena Cement Mill

ALPENA (AP) — The National Gypsum Co. is investing $72 million to double the capacity of its Huron Portland Cement Mill here, Chairman Melvin H. Baker announced Wednesday.

The Alpena mill, the company's largest with an annual capacity of 12 million barrels, was founded in 1907 with an initial capacity of 300,000 barrels. National Gypsum acquired it in 1959.

Baker also said National will build its 13th cement distributing plant at Waukegan, Ill., and will convert the former ocean-going oil tanker Huron into a dual-purpose cement and coal carrier to be ready for service in 1963.

The Huron is one of the company's seven ships which transport cement, manufactured from raw material quarried here, to distributing plants around the Great Lakes.

On a tour of the Alpena plant, Baker said work will be completed next July on a new rotary kiln. A new crushing and drying system also will be built.

Enough shale and limestone, basic ingredients of cement, can be found in quarries here to last more than a hundred years, it is said.

Cement is shipped in bulk to 12 distributing plants in a fleet of specially constructed self-unloading freighters, thence to customers in trucks or railroad cars. Each distributing plant has a blending, screening and sucking machinery.

Distributing plants are at Oswego and Buffalo, N. Y.; Cleveland and Toledo, Ohio; Detroit, Saginaw, Muskegon and St. Joseph, Mich.; Milwaukee, Green Bay and Superior, Wis., and Duluth, Minn.

Recipients of Aid Will Be Paid Surprise Visits

UTICA, N. Y. (AP)—The welfare commission of Oneida County, who have begun a crackdown on welfare chieftains, says he has authorized surprise visits on welfare recipients.

He also has asked the public to inform on anyone suspected of cheating.

Commissioner Michael J. McGill said Wednesday that his crackdown would "achieve as much or more than the Newburgh Welfare Department is attempting to do."

He referred to a "get tough" program that has drawn national attention to Newburgh.

McGill also announced plans to require welfare recipients to fill out periodic forms stating why they should be retained on relief.

Jackson Man Pleads Innocent to Fraud

DETROIT (AP)—Robert Seybold, 48, a Jackson investment counselor, pleaded innocent Thursday to an indictment charging him with defrauding clients, mostly widows and spinsters.

A government attorney said the fraud totaled $400,000 since 1955. U.S. District Judge Theodore Levin did not set a trial date. He continued Seybold's $25,000 bond.

Judge Levin did not make an immediate ruling on a petition to permit the defendant to leave the Eastern District of Michigan for conferences with lawyers and witnesses at Chicago and New York. Government attorneys had asked that the petition be denied.

Seybold has been at liberty under bond since his arrest June 11 by the FBI at Laredo, Tex., after his deportation from Michigan.

Airlines Ask Nations to Remove Jet Curfews

MONTREAL (UPI)—The world's scheduled international airlines today called on governments to remove curfews imposed on the operation of jet airliners to prevent their noise keeping people awake at night.

The International Air Transport Association suggested that instead of forbidding jetliners to land and take off at night, as many governments now do, authorities take a "more flexible approach" to the problem of jet noise.

Zanuck to Film Fleet for Movie of D-Day

By BOB THOMAS
(AP) Movie-TV Writer

PARIS — The voice of Darryl Zanuck came over the telephone loud and clear.

I had expected to see him at his Paris headquarters, but he was off filming one of the actors for his new movie. The actor: The United States 6th Fleet.

Zanuck is duplicating D-Day at Normandy. He's staging the allied invasion once more for his production of "The Longest Day."

"I'm in Corsica shooting amphibious maneuvers of the 6th Fleet," Zanuck announced on the long-distance wire. "This is the first of three maneuvers. The Navy is putting on, and I've got six cameras shooting the ships and these wonderful Marines."

"I'm very fortunate in that all the ships are the same as those that were actually used in the craft and all. I was afraid we would have to fake them or write around it somehow."

PARATROOPS FILMED

Zanuck said he would spend the summer gathering six battle sequences—he has already filmed a British paratroop operation at Cyprus. In October he'll start the human part of the story. He hopes to use many of the original locations, including Von Rundstedt's bunker in France, Rommel's villa and Southwest House in Plymouth, where Gen. Eisenhower directed the invasion.

"Big name actors aren't hard to get for a project that has the backing of four governments, including a former enemy," said Zanuck. "In fact, the actors have been writing me."

Zanuck was a wartime colonel who happened to be in the Aleutians on June 6, 1944—"But I had been in on a commando raid in 1942." He bought the Cornelius Ryan book as his most ambitious project since relinquishing the reins of 20th Century-Fox Studios and going independent.

JAW Resumes Talks at Ford

GM and Chrysler Meet Quietly as Huber Over Price Tag Boils

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. and the United Auto Workers got back to bargaining on a new labor contract today after a two-day recess highlighted by a clash over the company's putting a half-billion dollar price tag on union demands.

General Motors and Chrysler began talks with the UAW in comparative quiet Wednesday after a union argued in public over the size of the union's goals.

The battle of steel mills started Tuesday when Ford's vice president for labor relations, William E. DuBois, estimated it would cost some $500 million over the next two years to adopt just part of the UAW's overall program of demands.

UAW Vice President Ken Bannan replied it was impossible to put a cost figure on union demands at this time. He accused the company of raising a scare about inflation "even if they have to make up figures to do so."

Denise shot back Wednesday with a letter to Bannan listing specific items which formed the basis of the company's estimate. He invited Bannan to look at the specific figures and correct them if they were wrong. Denise insisted the company had "endeavored to be fair and conservative" in its assumptions.

Bannan quickly replied he was by his charge that the company had made a false and irresponsible claim in estimating the cost of the union's proposals.

He said the itemized list supplied by Denise "simply reiterates the program of proposals" previously outlined by the union. He said the company gave no break down on cost estimates.

Announce Choice of Royal Oak Man as UF Chairman

General manufacturing manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division, Edward H. Kelley of Royal Oak, has been named Michigan United Fund chairman.

In announcing the appointment, United Fund President Jack A. Wolfram stated that it was the first step in implementing the regional plan decided upon at the organization's annual meeting in Lansing recently.

Wolfram, who is a vice president of General Motors Corp. and general manager of the Oldsmobile Division, explained that the regional chairman — of which there are 11 throughout the country — will provide contact between local United Funds and the Michigan United Fund.

"However, their primary purpose will be to help the mutual problem exist," he added.

Stock Market

Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP) — Selective demand kept some of the blue chips firm but the stock market as a whole was irregular early today. Trading was moderate.

General Motors and Jersey

UAW stockholders recovered more than a point.

De Pont, however, slid more than a point as the latest story from Washington as to the tax handling of its coming split-off of GM stock dashed old water on hopes that it will not take too much of a tax bite.

Wall Street continued in an uncertain mood over the Berlin crisis and had to hide its eyes from President Kennedy's proposals scheduled to be given to Congress next Wednesday.

Steele, however, and oil were narrowly missed while the tone seemed a bit higher among rubbers, chemicals, rails, aircrafts and electronics. Airlines and a wide assortment of issues were unchanged to a bit lower.

Certainly spurred another 3 points in further response to its stock subscription offer to shareholders.

Slight losses were taken by Chrysler, United Aircraft, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Royal Dutch and United Air Lines. American can led nearly a point.

Irregularity prevailed on the American Stock Exchange. Anken Chemical picked up about a point. Hamilton and Co. Instruments fractions. Sherwin-Williams was around a point lower. Jupiter and Polar electronics were off.

Civil Rights Group

to Convene at MSU

EAST LANSING (AP) — The U.S. Civil Rights Commission will meet at Michigan State University Aug. 15-16, commission chairman and MSU President John A. Hannah said today.

Hannah said there will be no public hearings and commission members will devote the session to completing detailed reports of investigations of civil rights problems in the country.

It will be the first commission meeting since the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was shot in Memphis, Tenn., April 4.

Both are newly confirmed appointments of President Kennedy. Robinson is the only Negro on the commission and replaces Prof. George W. Johnson, who resigned to head an MSU education project in Nigeria.

The association, founded in 1959, is composed of leading management consulting firms in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, and Stamford, Conn.

Wright is now a partner of Ansell, Wright and Nagel, management consulting firm in New York. He was active in forming the firm in 1950.

Pur Footings for Bank Branch

The $25,000 face brick and cement building is being built by Clark Easley, of 308 Grove Drive, Waterford Township, who will lease the new building to the banking firm.

Situated on a 7-acre site, the 30-by-40-foot building will be of the same design as the four-story building in the future Pontiac State Bank branch.

Floor-to-ceiling windows will predominate on the front and side of the building, and there will be an outdoor service window to accommodate customers.

A large brick parking lot across the front will add to the beauty of the new building.

There will be black top parking for cars on the east and west sides of the building. Bank officials said the new branch is expected to be in full operation by mid-September.
