Mac Sends Jack 2nd Note —Likely on Foreign Policy

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—A personal message from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was delivered this morning to President-Elect John F. Kennedy at his Hyannis Port home.

D'Arcy Edmonson, British consul general in Boston, brought the message personally, but there was no immediate indication of the contents.

DR. ANN GALBRAITH

Macmillan previously had sent his congratulations to Kennedy, a customary formality between heads of government. Therefore, it was assumed that the communication concerned matters of high foreign policy.

It was reported that Macmillan, along with several other heads of European governments, expected to confer personally with Kennedy within the next few months.

He had with him a list of several hundred names for consideration for appointments in his administration. Kennedy said Thursday at his first news conference that he expected to have his cabinet complete "in late November or early December."

His press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said the president-elect has received 13,000 congratulatory telegrams in the past 24 hours.

Kennedy was to take three of his top assistants with him to Florida. They were Kenneth O'Donnell, named as special assistant to the president; Lawrence O'Brien, political adviser; and Salinger.

SPENDS QUIET NIGHT

Six Secret Service agents and three newsmen also were to board Kennedy's plane.

Kennedy spent a quiet night with his family and Salinger said he had no appointments for today.

There were indications that he might ask President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon to shoulder important responsibilities in the incoming government.

And Adlai E. Stevenson, twice Democratic candidate for president, appeared to be in his plans somewhere. Considerable speculation has centered on the possibility that Stevenson might be the next secretary of state.

Teachers Quit, Dislike Policy

Dr. Galbraith, Principal at Rogers, One on Staff Resign 'Immediately'

Complaints of a "minority group of disgruntled parents" and disagreement with administrative policy climaxed today in the resignation of an elementary school principal, a teacher and the possible resignation of a second teacher.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Ann Galbraith, principal of Will Rogers Elementary School, has requested her "immediate release."

Mrs. Muriel Strebe, a fifth grade teacher at the school, followed with her resignation effective immediately.

Another teacher, Robert B. Spence of 412 Thors St., reportedly has asked for his 30-day release.

Dr. Galbraith and Mrs. Strebe submitted their resignations in a letter to Pontiac School Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

In her letter, Mrs. Galbraith blamed school administrators for a lack of support in answering the continued complaints and "malicious gossip of a small group of parents.

★ ★ ★

The complaining parents wanted a return to the old conventional type of report card with grades, rather than the new concept of a "progress report" or conferences.

They also wanted stricter discipline at the school.

"These teachers don't discipline, they understand our children," said one mother at the meeting.

Dr. Whitmer said he met with Dr. Galbraith this morning and asked her to reconsider. She wouldn't.

"The board has accepted her resignation with the deepest regrets," he said.

In addition to the sudden staff walkout, the Will Rogers Parent-Teacher Association has indicated the majority of its members will quit.

DISAGREES ON POLICY

According to Dr. Galbraith, "The problem is a disagreement with school board policy.

"It is not so much a community problem as it is administrative.

"In no way do I want to be vicious in my reasons for resigning or my views toward people or policies," the principal said.

"I don't want to leave Pontiac, but I cannot go on like this without any assurance that the same thing won't happen again," she explained.

Dr. Galbraith asserted that she thought it was wrong for the school administrators to "listen to the views, or charges, of one side without the other side being present."

★ ★ ★

A group of about 25 parents from the school appeared at last night's board meeting to protest the manner in which what they called a "small minority" of

State Offices Looking Up

LANSING (AP)—"That awful carpet" in the governor's suite is going to be ripped up, thrown away and replaced with a new one.

Gov. Williams and Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, the man who will succeed him in January, made the decision Thursday amid discussion of things like constitutional reform and a proposed special session of the legislature.

The carpet, green and threadbare, is an eyesore. It is torn and patched with black adhesive tape.

It is also somewhat famous.

In 1959, it became a sort of symbol of Michigan's money troubles—unpaid debts and the cash crisis, payless paydays and legislative feuding over what to do.

The carpet adjoins the governor's personal office in the area occupied by his aides and secretaries. Someone estimated that nearly 50,000 touring schoolkids, visitors, state officials and staffers walk over it every year.

Early in 1959, James W. Miller, then state controller, was set to provide new carpeting for the executive suite. Then came the cash crisis.

The governor issued an order for all state agencies and departments to cut expenses to the bone. No new carpet, he said.

Visitors gaped when they saw the big patches of tape.

Around the office, it came to be known as "that awful carpet."

Wrestlers Drop Decision to Board

In an age of vast Hollywood spectaculars, some of the best actors of all have been barred from Pontiac's high schools by the Board of Education.

The grunt 'n' groaners are dead.

The board, at its meeting last night voted to prohibit any further use of school facilities for professional wrestling.

Lepley said that since Oct. 26 he had witnessed five professional wrestling programs in Windsor and Detroit and a wrestling program at Pontiac Central High School on Nov. 4.

IN GREAT SHAPE

"The participants in the programs are fine physical speciments, are in fine condition, are highly skilled in wrestling and tumbling and have some acting ability," said Lepley.

"But the conduct of the majority of these men during their participation in these bouts is rather questionable.

"In most instances it is directly contrary to everything we endeavor to teach and coach in our school programs," Lepley asserted.

He listed 13 actions which he thought good reason why pro wrestling should be barred from schools.

1. Participants agitating spectators to ridicule and jeer their opponent and/or the official.
2. Menacing movements and facial expressions toward the official and/or the opponent.
3. Disrespect for the official.
4. Scratching opponets to draw blood.
5. Gouging opponents.
6. Choking opponents.
7. Jumping on opponents from a height above the mat.
8. Hitting opponents with fists and elbows.
9. Kicking opponents.
10. Throwing opponents out of the ring.
11. Kicking opponents after the opponent has been counted out.
12. Carrying on the bout outside the designated wrestling area.
13. "Lady" spectators directing foul language toward attendants and the official in the presence of elementary school boys and girls.

★ ★ ★

Claims Fraud Complaints in Eleven States

Michigan Among Spots Where Party Looks for Violations in Tight Race

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee today asked party officials in 11 states to start legal action that might lead to a recount of votes in the presidential election.

The committee said it was acting on the basis of thousands of complaints of fraud in the balloting in states that gave Sen. John F. Kennedy a narrow victory over Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the basis of unofficial returns.

A committee aide said Nixon and Committee Chairman Thruston B. Morton conferred at length this morning before deciding to act on the complaints.

Telegrams were sent to state and county GOP chairman in Delaware, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Texas.

At Lansing, Michigan Republican State Chairman Lawrence B. Lindemer acknowledged the GOP is investigating the possibility of vote irregularities in his state.

"We have some specific instances tagged in the southeastern section of the state," he said, "but we have not yet made a decision on whether to file a formal complaint."

Lindemer declined to say how many votes might be involved. Kennedy led Nixon by about 65,000 votes in the unofficial tabulations.

Results of Lindemer's findings may be handed over to federal, state or local authorities if evidence of vote fraud is found.

NOT SITTING BACK

Lindemer said a decision on what to do with the GOP's independent findings might await the official canvass of votes.

"But in any case," he said, "we are not sitting back. We are continuing with our own investigation."

Democratic State Chairman Neil Staebler was out of the state and not available for comment.

Word of the 11-state move came out after Morton himself had told a reporter about it in less detail. The GOP chairman put his stress on Illinois and Texas.

Morton said state chairman had been asked to make a recheck because he believes there is "a chance for human error in such an election."

Republican state officials were asked "to take any necessary action to determine specific complaints and file them with the local U.S. attorney's office so that we can proceed with the investigation of these reports."

State laws covering recount procedures vary, but no recount can

Modern Wars Don't Faze These Five Old Soldiers

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

There are five Pontiac Spanish-American War veterans that emphatically agree that the last two major American wars were easier than the war of '98 when they battled their way through the thick jungles of the Philippine Islands.

John N. Johnson 82, of 270 S. Jessie St., likes to drive his car over and visit with Harry Nicholie, 76, of 49 Mt. Clemens St., and the four get together with Harry Pattison, 83, of 5960 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake.

The old soldiers that refuse to "fade away" talk about the modern convenience enjoyed by today's armed forces, and of the days when radar, Nike and jet engines were unheard of. Even the old-time airplanes of World War I would have been an oddity, in '98.

Linsenman remembers the terrible food that Spanish-American War vets had to put up with. "We had hard tack and boiled beans for lunch, then they just turned them over and fried the beans for supper," he said.

Pattison still has a sealed can of that same hard tack that hasn't been opened since 1898. "It got so bad that I just couldn't open another can of the stuff, and packed it away as a remembrance," he said.

The terror of unfamiliar wild animals, "mosquitos as big as horses," and the soggy muck the men were forced to sleep on at night, is what Pontiac's last Spanish-American War vets are trying to forget.

Press Adds Readers in Circulation War

When The Detroit News bought The Detroit Times and suspended it, the News and the Free Press took the silk off the hammer, removed both gloves and brought the big artillery out of the caves and caverns.

They're both in there swinging mightily and the sound and fury reach the comparative peace and quiet of Pontiac.

In the meantime, several hundred Times subscribers in this area have discovered a new and hitherto unsuspected delight—The Pontiac Press. They're mightily pleased—and say so.

Factory Puts 3 Chimps to Work Today

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Three chimpanzees named Fudgie, Pudgie and Bobby go to work in a furniture factory today and Ben Friedman, 35, factory manager, swore it was anything but monkey business.

★ ★ ★

Friedman denied reports that the chimps will replace any of the human employes, and said if things work out it could actually result in creating jobs for more people.

He plans to start the chimps to work on a production line this afternoon and demonstrate to newsmen how well they work.

Friedman said he would also make "some suggestions" on how chimpanzees can take over nonskilled jobs in other industries.

NIGHT EXPERIMENTS

"There is no doubt that they can do the jobs," Friedman said.

"We have been experimenting with them at nights, when nobody was around. We didn't want to say anything until we could see if it could be done.

"So far, we have been careful on our investment, because we don't know how labor and other people will react. It's just an experiment. But we are certain it will work."

Friedman said he actually has two reasons for the experiment.

First, he said he thinks using chimps for some tasks to cut labor costs will help his company be more competitive in a competitive market. And second, he wants to prove a point.

"It really came to a head when I wrote a novel about this type of situation, where a whole group of chimps were used in a factory," Friedman said.

'FANTASY' SAYS PUBLISHER

"When I sent it to a publisher to read, he classified it as fantasy, and said his company only took more serious type fiction.

★ ★ ★

"I was convinced it would work, so I looked up a man who had some chimps and began experiments."

NAMED BY KENNEDY — These four men have been asked to serve by President-Elect Kennedy. Allen W. Dulles, (left), has been asked to continue as director of the Central Intelligence Agency. J. Edgar Hoover, (second from left), has been requested to stay on as head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Both have accepted. Kennedy also announced the appointment of Clark Clifford, (second from right), as his liaison representative to the Eisenhower administration. And Kennedy also has asked James M. Landis, (right), former dean of Harvard law school, to undertake a study of federal regulatory agencies. Clifford is a Washington lawyer.

Predicts Dulles Won't Last

Kellis Says Director of CIA Kept Temporarily to Assure Continuity

★ ★ ★

A critic of Dulles during his campaign to win the 18th Congressional District (Oakland County) seat, Kellis, of Berkley, said President-Elect John F. Kennedy probably was retaining Dulles for the time being to assure continuity of the important office.

"I believe by next summer he will be replaced," Kellis said.

In his first announcement of appointments since being elected Tuesday, Kennedy said Dulles and J. Edgar Hoover would remain in their present positions, the latter as FBI director.

SILENT ON REPLACEMENT

Kellis, still resting up after the vigorous campaign which saw him drop the election to incumbent Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield by nearly 33,000 votes, wouldn't forecast who would replace Dulles.

He said he wouldn't be a candidate, although he served in the CIA and the old Office of Stratetic Services, predecessor of the CIA.

Kellis retired from the Air Force as a colonel in May to run for office.

He campaigned on grounds that the nation's security and foreign policy had been hindered under Dulles' leadership and the Eisenhower administration.

"I still think that Allen Dulles is no good and I'm going to fight him," Kellis said.

He said three months ago he had been approached in Washington by a member of the Democratic National Committee on whether he would like the job.

'DIDN'T CARE FOR IT'

"I told him that I didn't care for it," Kellis said.

A trip to Washington next week was still planned, Kellis said, "to talk over how the election went" and to follow up his doctoral thesis submitted to Georgetown University.

He said he wasn't too surprised to hear of Dulles' retention in office.

★ ★ ★

A likely successor to Dulles is Charles Brown, a partner in the New York investment firm of J. H. Whitney and once chief of operations for the CIA, a position Kellis held himself, Kellis said.

Prestige Reports Remain on Shelf

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. Information Agency Director George V. Allen said Tuursday the Eisenhower administration has not decided whether to release the series of polls on U. S. prestige abroad which played such a big role in the campaign.

Allen said it would be up to the White House to release the polls, which reportedly show a drop in U. S. prestige, and which the administration refused to release during the campaign.

Allen said the polls "have been off the front pages since the election, and I suppose a lot of people would like them to stay that way."

She is expecting a child soon. Kennedy's private plane is scheduled to stop in Washington and Mrs. Kennedy will disembark there. Kennedy plans to rejoin her before the birth of the baby.

He was moving ahead, full-tilt, with the business of government, barely 48 hours after winning the presidential election.

He announced that two super-important positions already are filled—by requesting the incumbents to remain in office.

DULLES, HOOVER STAY

They are Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency and J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Both agreed to stay.

One of Kennedy's top advisers said, "He felt that, because they are both sensitive posts, requiring a high degree of experience, the best thing is to keep Dulles and Hoover on the job."

Kennedy also announced that he has named Clark Clifford, Washington lawyer, to be his representative as liaison with the Eisenhower administration during the period between now and the day he takes office. Clifford served as special counsel to former President Truman.

★ ★ ★

The duties of the liaison agent are to meet regularly with government officials and to keep the president-elect advised on developments in defense, foreign affairs, the preparation of the budget, etc—to be the main link in the orderly transition of government.

FOUR ASSIGNED

They are: Pierre Salinger, former San Francisco newspaperman, political manager, and onetime piano student, to be White House press secretary. Salinger now lives in Falls Church, Va.

Andrew Hatcher, of San Francisco, official of the California State Labor Commission, to be assistant press secretary. Hatcher is a Negro.

To be special assistant he named Kenneth O'Donnell, of Worcester, Mass. O'Donnell was a key man in the team of advisors who worked with Kennedy during the presidential campaign.

Theodore Sorenson, of Lincoln, Neb., to be special counsel to the president. Kennedy said Sorenson has "worked with me in policy matters for the past eight years."

SETS UP STUDY

For a special study of federal regulatory agencies, Kennedy asked James M. Landis, of New York to submit a report. Landis is former dean of the Harvard Law School. Kennedy said the Landis study is being undertaken "with a view to maximizing the effective dispatch of their (the agencies) business." He said the first report would be submitted by Dec. 15.

An official said the Republican organization in Cook County, Ill., has $25,000 ready to cover the cost of recounting 5,000 Chicago precincts that gave Kennedy a big majority. Kennedy only carried the state by about 5,000 votes.

A committee spokesman said 3,000 to 4,000 telegrams have been received at GOP headquarters in Washington, and as many more had gone to Nixon's office in the capitol.

One wire, signed by a faculty member at Notre Dame University, said an unspecified number of voters were refused the right to cast ballots in Chicago. No details were given.

Another telegram quoted "friends in Texas" as charging that 17 voting machines in a predominantly Republican section of San Antonio were inoperable on election day, so that a large number of voters were unable to cast ballots.

The committee said telegrams came in from every state but investigations were going to be pressed only where the most serious charges had been made.

"In elections as close as this one is, I think it is my responsibility to urge the state chairmen to take another look into the balloting in their states," Morton said.

"I know nothing personally about the counting in any of these areas, but the local officials do and I want to get reports from them."

Transition Plans Please Eisenhower

★ ★ ★

White House news secretary James C. Hagerty said that the President was pleased with arrangements to date and "would be delighted" to meet with Kennedy "at the senator's convenience."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy said in Hyannis Port, Mass., he expected to consult with Eisenhower in Washington late this month.

The President, stressing the need for "continuity" in American foreign policy, urged that Kennedy appoint an advisor to meet with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Two Teachers Quit, Dislike Top Policy

parents had been "disrupting the morale of teachers."

The parents at the meeting charged that about 10 per cent of the 197 families in the Will Rogers school district were "spreading malicious gossip, telling lies and making false and damaging accusations."

Mrs. John Adomitis of 3277 E. Walton Blvd., indicated she would resign as PTA president.

"We don't have the will or desire to function anymore," she said.

Other parents charged that the small group was "out to get the principal and teachers."

Dr. Philip Proud, assistant superintendent, read a dozen letters from the past five years sent from Dr. Whitmer to Dr. Galbraith supporting her position.

Dr. Whitmer said he had sent a letter to disgruntled parents Nov. 4 supporting the Will Rogers staff as following "sound and good educational practices.

"The major complaints were over report cards, homework, grouping of students in the fifth and sixth grades, promotion policies, and discipline in the school," he said.

"I told parents that the school follows the practices and philosophy of education in our school system."

Dr. Galbraith, married and the mother of three children, started her Pontiac teaching at Crofoot School in 1940.

She spent a year teaching at McConnell School and then taught six years at Webster School. In 1954 she was named principal of Central Elementary School.

She went from Central to Willis School as principal and then to Will Rogers School when that school was built in Oct. 1957.

She was awarded her doctor's degree from Wayne State University two years ago and has taught several courses there in the past.

Mrs. Strebe has also been at the school since it opened. She began teaching in the Pontiac School District in 1951 and is a graduate of Bowling Green College.

Both women were highly regarded by administrators.

"I have the highest respect for Dr. Galbraith," said Dr. Whitmer. "She is an excellent principal and educator."

Dr. Proud voiced similar praise of Mrs. Strebe.

FIRST 12 ENOUGH

There was no qualification made on the 13th item, but evidently the athletic director felt that the first 12 points contributed considerably to the 13th.

As for the "style" of professional wrestlers Lepley said only that "these 12 points may or may not cause direct injury to the participants."

From elementary school through high school, we teach and coach to develop boys and girls of good, positive moral character," Lepley concluded.

"As a result of my observations, I am convinced that the negative aspects (of pro wrestling) far overshadow the positive aspects compatible with our physical education program."

He also said that scheduling of such wrestling shows had brought about several conflicts with scheduled high school sports events.

So, with the swiftness of a piledriver, the board put a permanent sleeper hold on pro wrestling.

Ladies, you'll have to get your kicks elsewhere.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The welcome sight of transit buses was seen on Miami and Miami Beach streets again today after 42 days without this transportation because of a strike. Drivers and mechanics voted overwhelmingly Thursday night to end the tieup.

Is Nikita-Jack Meeting in Air?

Polite Note Exchange Raises Speculation of Two Getting Together

MOSCOW (UPI)—A courteous reply from President-Elect Kennedy to Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's message of congratulations raised the possibility today that the Soviet Government would suggest the two leaders meet face to face in the near future.

It was unlikely such a meeting would take place before Kennedy's inauguration Jan. 20, but diplomatic sources said the Kremlin might suggest it be held before a Big Four summit meeting which Khrushchev discussed with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in New York.

Khrushchev's message to Kennedy received banner treatment in the mass circulation Soviet newspapers Pravda and Izvestia Thursday.

Diplomats said Kennedy's courteous reply from Hyannis Port, Mass., in which he expressed appreciation of Khrushchev's good wishes, could help create a favorable atmosphere for a meeting between the two.

One prominent Western diplomat termed Khrushchev's message "tantamount to an offer of a moratorium in the cold war at least until the new president takes office."

Observers said it would not be surprising if the Kremlin invited Kennedy to visit the Soviet Union eventually in return for Khrushchev's visit to the United States in the fall of 1959.

Spanish-American Vets Recall the War

the Civil War were used to shoot .33-caliber bullets. Later the Krag-Jorgensen's were used, "and those had the kick of a mad mule," Nicholie recalled.

There were no ladies in wars in the old days like there are today, Tanner said. "We hadn't seen a woman in more than two years, when we got word that an American nurse was scheduled to arrive in a town ten miles away."

Tanner continued that "the whole darned troop" of 200 men walked that ten miles just to see her. When they arrived at the town, the nurse was "seven feet tall and weighed about 300 pounds" —but the men howled with glee and it was a better reception than any political candidate ever got, Tanner added.

Ill Grandma of Kennedy 'Very Thrilled'

BOSTON (AP) — The presidential election was a great event for 95-year-old Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, grandmother of President-Elect John F. Kennedy, even if she was in seclusion and recovering from illness.

"She was just as excited as the rest of us," said her son Thomas Fitzgerald. Mrs. Fitzgerald now is staying at his Boston home.

Fire Hazard Harries American Cities

NEW YORK (UPI) — Every 35 seconds a fire breaks out in some American city, the Insurance Information Institute reports.

Close to one-fourth of the fires are caused by matches and smoking.

Electricity and electrical equipment is the second most common cause, followed by lightning.

The Day in Birmingham

See Final Approval Soon on City Rubbish Pact

BIRMINGHAM — Final approval is expected soon on a new, 20-year contract between the city and the Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority.

The city commission already has given tentative approval on the agreement and a final decision will be reached here as soon as it has been reviewed by all communities participating in the project.

If approved, the city would pay $4.50 per ton for all waste material delivered for disposal at the authority's incinerator. There would be a $3 per ton charge for material delivered for landfill disposal.

Birmingham also would pay an annual charge which would be used by the authority to meet increasing costs caused by the expansion of municipalities under its control.

The city presently has $5,843 on deposit with the authority.

City Manager L. R. Gare suggested that this sum be used toward the extra charge during the next three years. If this is done, Gare explained, then additional funds would not have to be budgeted for the additional cost.

Departmental meetings of the Birmingham Woman's Club will be held following luncheons at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The American home section will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry Wholihan, 31721 Verona Circle, and the fine arts department will meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Kirbert, 409 Chestnut Hill.

Mrs. Claude Morrow of 1158 Villa Drive will be hostess for the literature meeting at her home.

Thursday Nature Boy Seen Again

Waterford Township police have nothing but the barest of facts to work on in the month-old "Case of the Thursday Nude."

Stripped to their essentials, the facts are that for four consecutive weeks residents have spotted a man walking naked in the Drayton Plains area.

Each time it's been on Thursday. Each time it's been cold. Each time police have been called.

The odd part about this would-be nature lover is that the complaints are always called in on Thursday at the same time—3 p.m.

On Oct. 20, the six-foot, 200-pound nude was seen jumping from an empty box car near Dixie Highway near Hatchery Road.

The following week he was spotted in a field back of houses on Aquarina Drive.

Last Thursday he was seen running in a field by girls working in a Dixie Highway dairy, and yesterday at 3 p.m. a young couple driving north on Dixie Highway reported the nude man walking along railroad tracks.

Within less than two minutes township police were swarming about the area, and far more than two hours citizens joined police looking for the elusive nude.

Police say the moment the man thinks he has been seen he seems to disappear into thin air.

He Gets the Business

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Since Ken Zimmerman named his advertising agency Media Services, he has received telephone calls from a woman who thought he runs a beauty salon, from a lady who thought he had a figure analysis and correction agency, and from a woman who thought he could establish contact with a friend departed into the hereafter.

FREDERICK R. WOLLAEGER

Guidance Clinic Gets Director

State Mental Health Director Charles Wagg today confirmed the appointment of Frederick R. Wollaeger as director of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic.

The appointment follows the election of Dr. William J. Westmaas as president of the clinic's board of directors earlier this week.

Both men are residents of Birmingham. They succeed former President Richard Merrick and Madeleine Half, who resigned as director in July.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan medical school, and received his diploma in 1954 from the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology.

★ ★ ★

Wollaeger has been associated with the Pontiac facility of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic since 1953. He took over as acting director when Miss Half resigned.

"I am happy to announce that the Royal Oak branch of the Oakland Clinic is now under state auspices," Wollaeger said today.

The clinic in Royal Oak was started in 1957 with private funds, but effective Nov. 1 became a full-fledged clinic under the administrative direction of the Oakland Clinic.

Big Texas Oak Is Still Growing

Tree 2,000 Years Old and 32 Feet Around Needs Little Care

ROCKPORT, Tex. (UPI) — A tree that has ignored its "waistline" for more than 2,000 years has passed its latest physical examination with flying colors.

A tree surgeon reported that it needs nothing more than regular care to keep it hale and hearty.

The giant liveoak tree, generally considered Texas' largest tree, measures 32 feet and one inch around the "waist," and has a crown spread of 140 feet.

A tree that huge needs more than one name, and it has had several.

In frontier days the tree served the purposes of justice and became known as "Hangman's Oak."

It was called "Council Oak" when it was used as a meeting place of the Karankawa Indians.

During the days of Spanish rule over Texas, the Catholic bishop of the Coastal Diocese lived near the oak and the tree was dubbed "The Bishop's Oak."

New Mayor of Jackson Sworn In Thursday

JACKSON (UPI) — Bernie L. Magiera was sworn in as mayor of Jackson Thursday to fill the unexpired term of Harold E. Nichols, who died Oct. 12. Magiera was vice mayor and was elected to the post by the city commission.

Integration Showdown Looming in Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—An integration showdown loomed in Louisiana today as Gov. Jimmie H. Davis and U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright maneuvered like military strategists in a day of lightning developments.

Wright issued a temporary restraining order Thursday prohibiting state interference with New Orleans schools and banning enforcement of the state's new package of school segregation laws passed in a 12-day special session that recessed last Tuesday.

Davis, in a surprise move late Thursday night, countered by calling a second session to convene 30 days starting Tuesday—the day the Legislature returns to end its current session.

Davis, a singer of hillbilly songs who took office six months ago on a platform of "peace and harmony," used the same broad language as in his first call.

He said the next session would deal with schools, states rights, education, and protection of public order. Omitted this time was any reference to a state militia.

Previously, a member of a state committee appointed to seize control of the schools speculated it might be necessary to call another special session to put the full weight of the Legislature behind the committee's actions.

Within hours after Wright signed the temporary restraining orders, the New Orleans School Board okayed admission of five Negro first grade girls into two of the city's all-white schools.

The pupils' names and the schools they are to attend Monday, start of the second quarter, were kept secret. The integration was ordered in a previous ruling by Wright.

In Baton Rouge, a spokesman for the State Sovereignty Commission — Louisiana's segregation "watchdog" — said token integration was "unpalatable." Chairman Frank Voelker Jr. said schools will be "kept segregated, and if the federal courts attempt to strike them (the segregation laws) down, the Legislature will assert our interposition."

The key interposition bill—which Davis signed into law Tuesday along with 27 segregation bills—asserts the state's refusal to accept the 1954 U.S. Supreme Court integration ruling as constitutional.

The other ship was the Great Lakes freighter Algosoo.

Conversation Smells

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Court house secretary Mrs. Mabel Jackson wondered why telephoning was an unpleasant business for several days until a telephone repairman dismantled the mouthpiece of her phone and found a piece of limburger cheese inside. The phone company gave her a new phone.

New York has fewer grounds for divorce than any other state—adultery and desertion.

Freighters Collide, but Crews All Safe

PORT HURON (UPI) — A German freighter and an American vessel collided in Lake Huron today. Both ships were damaged but the crews of neither were reported in danger.

One of the ships was the West German freighter Beteigeuze which struck and damaged a bridge at Saginaw Friday. A Coast Guard inquiry into that mishap was under way in Detroit today.

Says Johnson Vital to Dems

U. of M. Prof Claims Senator Prevented Bolt by South, Carried Texas

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — A University of Michigan expert said today that results of the presidential election showed the presence of Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson on the ticket was essential for a Democratic victory.

★ ★ ★

"This should considerably increase Johnson's influence in the new administration," said Prof. James K. Pollack, chairman of the U. of M. political science department.

He said nomination of Johnson for vice president prevented a wholesale bolt from the Democratic Party by the South and delivered Texas' 24 electoral votes to President-Elect John F. Kennedy.

Another U. of M. expert forecast increased federal expenditures under a Kennedy administration but added that the increase would be "sternly restricted" by at least three factors.

Paul W. McCracken, professor of business conditions and a former member of President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers, said, "Federal expenditures will increase more sharply under a Kennedy administration than would have been the case under (Vice President Richard M.) Nixon."

★ ★ ★

McCracken added, however, that the need for higher taxes if spending exceeds the growth of the economy would hold down spending.

He added that the country cannot afford "a loose fiscal policy" if there is a wide gap in the nation's international balance of payments and said the close popular vote indicated "the public is in no mood for radical spending programs."

First Appearance in Public Set by New Governor

LANSING (AP) — Gov.-Elect John B. Swainson will make his first public appearance since his election day victory by riding in today's Veterans Day parade in Detroit.

Swainson also will appear at a reception following the parade in the old Detroit City Hall. In the evening, he planned to drop in on a dance to be held by the Hamtramck Allied Veterans Council.

Swainson held a private dinner party Thursday night in his home town of Plymouth for newly-elected members of the state administrative board and their wives. Democratic candidates for the board all won election in the party sweep of state offices.

THEY JUDGED EACH OTHER? — Calhoun County's new Probate Judge Mary S. Coleman expressed her thanks to the people of Calhoun who elected her to succeed Judge Lee Mallison. Her husband is a circuit judge. Mrs. Coleman has been in charge of the juvenile division of the Probate Court for the past three years as juvenile referee. With her in the picture are her husband, Judge Creighton R. Coleman and their daughters, Leslie Ann (left) and Carol Catherine.

Wife to Sit on Bench Now, Too

Judge to Judge: Yes, Darling

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Mrs. Mary S. Coleman, unlike so many other wives, knows exactly what her husband is talking about when he discusses his business over the dinner table.

As Calhoun County's new probate judge, Mrs. Coleman is the wife of a judge in addition to being a lawyer and mother of two girls.

Judge-Elect Mrs. Coleman, 45, has two teen-age daughters, Leslie Ann and Carol, and regards her election victory as "the greatest honor of my life."

Her husband of 21 years is Circuit Court Judge Creighton R. Coleman, a state legislator until his election to the bench.

DIVIDES DUTIES

For a long time Mrs. Coleman has divided herself between duties as wife and mother and the law court system.

In defeating Municipal Judge William C. Burke, she carried every precinct of Calhoun County, winning 22,100 to 14,451.

The sparklingly attractive Mrs. Coleman has served since 1957 as referee in charge of the Juvenile Division of Probate Court. She was given the job when it was first created.

★ ★ ★

Among her projects was the establishment of home and family living courses for needy mothers. This is said to have aided in keeping down delinquency.

"I am most grateful for the opportunity to continue to serve in the work I love," Mrs. Coleman said of her election victory. She takes office Jan. 1.

Mrs. Coleman studied at the University of Maryland and received her law degree from George Washington University. She practiced law in Washington, D. C.

ON GENERAL'S STAFF

She worked with her husband when he served on the staff of Gen. George D. Clay in Germany after World War II.

She was a member of her husband's law firm here for a time prior to her appointment as juvenile referee.

Kennedys Say Debates Won Election for Jack

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—President-Elect John F. Kennedy agreed with Robert F. Kennedy, his campaign manager Thursday that he could not have been elected without the nation-wide television debates. Asked at his news conference if he thought he could have won without this nationwide forum, he replied: "I don't think so."

Irate Settlers Shout De Gaulle to Gallows

ALGIERS, Algeria (UPI)—Angry European settlers, shouting "De Gaulle to the gallows," clashed with heavily armed riot police today in a tumultuous demonstration of opposition to the Algerian policy of the French government.

It was the wildest, most ominous outburst against President Charles de Gaulle's authority here since European settlers staged an uprising last January in which 22 persons were killed and 170 wounded. A rightwing uprising in 1958 in Algiers led to De Gaulle's rise to power.

The new demonstrations exploded as tens of thousands of European colonists in this big North African capital and in the port city of Oran massed for celebrations of the 42nd anniversary of the end of World War I.

U.S. Asks Membership in U.N. for South Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Thursday strongly backed membership in the United Nations for South Korea. A joint statement issued after a meeting of Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and South Korean Foreign Minister Yil Hyung Chyung reported this and also said "every effort should be made to achieve the unification of Korea in accordance with the pertinent United Nations resolutions."

Morton Asks Probe on Vote Irregularities

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton has asked state and county GOP chairmen to investigate charges of voting irregularities, particularly in Texas, the Carolinas, Illinois, Michigan and New Jersey.

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said Thursday it had received many complaints alleging fraud, vote buying and other irregularities.

The spokesman said Morton had asked local officials to determine the facts and advise him and the Justice Department if they found a substantial basis for the complaints.

Kennedy Prefers Advice of Teddy

(EDITOR'S NOTE: International problems received wide attention in the presidential campaign. As the new president, John F. Kennedy must deal with these problems. What are his ideas? What is he likely to do? AP News Analyst James Marlow discusses these matters in this second of three special articles on what lies ahead.)

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I don't know what the '60s will bring except I think they will bring hard times in the international sphere."

That was Sen. John F. Kennedy talking during the presidential campaign. Now that he's president-elect, how will he cope with the international future?

He put it this way: In my judgment we should follow the advice of Theodore Roosevelt: "be strong, maintain a strong position, but also speak softly."

★ ★ ★

Keeping peace in the Middle East; trying to keep communism out of Southeast Asia, Africa and Latin America; strengthening this country's alliances; stiff-arming the Russians on Berlin; and, while making another stab at disarmament, building a terrible arsenal of American weapons.

His most immediately spectacular problem for some time is likely to be Soviet Premier Khrushchev, who insulted President Eisenhower and said he'd try for a summit meeting with his successor.

LITTLE FOGGY

Kennedy has been a little foggy on the subject of meeting Khrushchev. At one point in the campaign he said that before any summit with the Russian this country must build its strength, military and economic.

★ ★ ★

At another time the only preliminary he laid down — before meeting Khrushchev — was a meeting of the foreign ministers to determine whether anything might come of a Kennedy-Khrushchev meeting.

★ ★ ★

Kennedy has been very definite about his intention of stepping up American defenses with plans that range from programs on missiles to shaking up and streamlining the slow-moving Pentagon.

And, while this hurry-up defense building was taking place, Kennedy would be planning for disarmament just in case there was agreement with the Russian on it.

Here are some of the other things he said he thought about foreign affairs:

WEST BERLIN PROBLEM

West Berlin — The Communists want to take it over. This country is committed to keeping it free. Kennedy said this country would live up to its commitment.

Middle East—He made it clear this country should act "promptly and decisively" against any Middle East nation which attacks its neighbors.

He said the president should try to get Jews and Arabs into conference to solve their problems and promised to back up their efforts with economic and technical help.

He promised to "waste no time taking the initiative" on the Middle East.

Africa—Here he spoke of a "bold and imaginative new program for the development of Africa." He suggested that this country, along with other nations able to pay the bill, should provide education, food and development capital for Africa by setting up an international fund.

NEED NEW APPROACH

Latin America—During the campaign Kennedy emphasized the need for a "new attitude and a new approach" to Latin America where Vice President Richard M. Nixon was stoned and there is considerable sympathy for Fidel Castro's anti-United States revolution in Cuba.

★ ★ ★

Cuba—Kennedy was a little vague on how he'd handle Castro, particularly after pulling a boner at one time in the campaign by suggesting anti-Castro people inside Cuba should be encouraged to act against him.

This would be internal intervention by the United States and therefore a violation of a treaty this country has with Latin-American nations pledging all signers not to barge into a neighbor's internal affairs.

★ ★ ★

But Kennedy suggested: This country must immediately begin a major broadcast program for Cuba; Castro must be told he can not deny this country compensation for the American property he seized; the United States must let Khrushchev, a Castro supporter, know it will permit no expansion of his foothold in this hemisphere.

COLLECTIVE ACTION

The United States, Kennedy said, should seek collective action against "communism in the Caribbean" by working with this country's European allies and the Organization of American States.

Foreign Aid—Kennedy would revise this country's foreign aid program. He proposed a "new joint effort by all the wealthier nations to establish funds of long-term credit for India and each of the under-developed nations."

★ ★ ★

All this is a big order for a new president to impose on himself. While he was making all these proposals he was also promising a multitude of new programs for America at home.

★ ★ ★

JOHN SCOTT

Wants Voting Machines

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N. Y., has advocated use of voting machines in national elections throughout the country. The delay and uncertainty surrounding Tuesday's election, he said Thursday, pointed up a need for a more modern method of counting the votes.

Magazine Aide Next at MSUO

John Scott, contributing editor and assistant to the publisher of Time magazine, will speak on "Russia Revisited" at 1:15 p.m. Wednesday at Michigan State University, Oakland.

★ ★ ★

His talk will be the third event in MSUO's first lecture-recital series.

A Russian expert with vast first-hand experience in global reporting, Scott is the author of five books, including the recently published "Democracy Is Not Enough."

His current job is to seek out forces that shape the news of the future, rather than the current week's developments.

Scott will have lunch at MSUO and after his talk will hold a one-hour discussion with students.

Promote 2 Officials at Dow Chemical

Gerstacker succeeds 80-year-old Dr. Earl W. Bennett, who resigned as chairman and ended a 60-year career with Dow. Doan, son of Dow's 66-year-old president, Leland I. Doan, succeeds Dr. Mark E. Putnam who died of a heart attack Sunday at the age of 74.

Gerstacker, who joined Dow in 1938, was a vice president and chairman of the board's finance committee. He will continue in the latter capacity.

Young Doan had been manager of Dow's chemicals department since 1956. He was made a director in 1953.

Elector College Reform Again Being Discussed

Earlier this year the Gallup poll took a sampling of opinion on electoral college reform. It was found that only about one out of three interviewed had even a reasonably correct idea of what the electoral college is. Nearly two-thirds of the informed group favored revision.

★ ★ ★

The Founding Fathers could not have foreseen the development of partisan politics nor the miraculous advance in communications. They provided that each state choose in its own manner as many persons as it had seats in Congress. These groups would then constitute the electoral college and do the electing according to their own views.

It appears that the authors of the Constitution actually meant to avoid popular election of presidents. They couldn't see how a widely scattered people would know how to make the choice.

★ ★ ★

The fact is that the electoral college has been obsolete since 1800. In practice only WASHINGTON for two terms and JOHN ADAMS for one term were elected in this way. Thereafter political parties nominated their own candidates with the choice of electors being based on how they pledged in advance to vote. So popular election did become a reality and balloting by the electoral college an almost empty form—but not quite.

Under certain circumstances the electoral college can frustrate popular election. The minority party gets no part of the electoral vote. Hence, a candidate can get a majority of the popular vote nationwide and still lose the presidency. This happened to Candidates Tilden in 1876 and Cleveland in 1888.

Writing on our electoral system in the current American Heritage, LOUIS KOENIG, professor of government at New York University, expresses the opinion that "nothing indeed could have been more expertly contrived to thrust the nation into periodic crises of uncertainty and strife."

There doesn't seem to be any reason to deny the people their right to vote directly for president and vice-president. The least that should be done to safeguard the principle of popular election would be to make the formality of electoral voting proportional to the popular vote in each state.

Nuclear Power Plants Built for Future Needs

Two new atomic power plants have been dedicated this month — the Yankee Atomic Electric at Rowe, Mass. and the Commonwealth Edison at Dresden, Ill. 50 miles southwest of Chicago.

The $57 million privately financed Yankee plant is designed to produce eventually 136,000 kilowatts from the first commercial nuclear reactor in northeast United States. That output will be sufficient to supply power for 350,000 homes.

★ ★ ★

Commonwealth Edison and its eight associates put up $51 million for the Dresden plant which can produce 180,000 kilowatts and meet the needs of a city of 200,000. The Edison Electric Institute estimates that privately owned power companies have allocated a total of $650 million for atomic electric plants in the United States, of which $366 million has been spent.

★ ★ ★

Besides these two projects and the first one at Shippingport, Pa., two other much smaller prototype reactors are in operation in Southern California. Scheduled to open next year are the Consolidated Edison's 275,000 kilowatt plant at Indian Point, N.Y. and the 100,000 kilowatt Enrico Fermi plant at Monroe.

★ ★ ★

This method of producing power is much more expensive than using coal, oil or gas as a source of energy. The companies involved may never produce competitive power or make a profit. But they are to be commended for their courage and foresight in taking a preparatory step, a very costly one, toward the day when atomic energy will meet a major part of our power needs.

NO DOUBT the farm problem would be far less serious if the farmers were saved annually instead of quadrennially.

The Man About Town

We Have the Salt

And Should Be Able to Find Ready Market for Product

Auction: Where you get something for nodding.

Salt is being shipped in big barge loads from the mines in Louisiana, up the Mississippi River, through the Illinois drainage canal and across Lake Michigan to Holland.

It then is distributed for highway deicing purposes all over Western Michigan, the territory covered coming as far east as Owosso and as far north as the Straits of Mackinac.

All of the oil and gas well drillings in the Pontiac area have shown a strata of salt several hundred feet thick. It is the same vein as that which has been worked for many years under Detroit.

Hence, it seems that we have beneath us all of the material for an industry that could be developed into large proportions. If road salt can be profitably shipped from Louisiana, to be used on Michigan highways, a home product should be a big dividend maker.

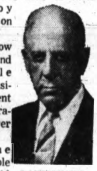
"Oh, Him? He Comes With the House"

David Lawrence Says:

Election Process Endangers U.S.

WASHINGTON—Do the American people have the faintest idea of what they have done to their Government by their votes on election day?



Do they know the dangers and even possible tragedy of transition in government as one administration takes over from another?

Someday the American people ought to be told LAWRENCE the whole truth so they will be persuaded to change the present system, which is antiquated and ill suited for a nuclear age.

What better time, for instance, for a foreign government to begin playing with fire and to precipitate a crisis than today?

Their interest now turns to their private affairs. The workload is going to be somebody else's responsibility in a few weeks anyway.

As for the knowledge and experience accumulated in nearly eight years of service, these are to be tossed away as a new personnel takes over and starts to learn what it is all about.

MUST LEARN BACKGROUND

Sen. Kennedy is a conscientious individual who will try to make a good president. But he must learn first the intimate background of public affairs.

This takes not a few weeks but many months and perhaps years. It's a high price for the nation to pay.

Is there some other way? The British and many other English-speaking countries have a better system. It is called the "parliamentary" system.

It requires the electorate to pick in an election their representatives in the national legislature, and these representatives select the leader who becomes responsible for the executive as well as the legislative branches of the Government.

If the party in power makes mistakes and loses the confidence of the people, it can be ousted at any time, or a new legislature can be elected.

A permanent personnel, known as the "career service," functions continuously in high posts irrespective of the party in power.

ASSURES CONTINUITY

Thus is continuity assured and transition made smooth and effective in the shortest possible time.

It isn't a perfect system, and the American people could doubtless improve upon it with certain safeguards. But it is a democratic system and one that is immediately responsive to the will of the people.

Thus, when an American president is elected, he can make serious blunders but he cannot be ousted for four years except by the impeachment process. This is a long time in modern government.

Back in 1913, just before his inauguration, President-Elect Woodrow Wilson was asked his views on the then proposed constitutional amendment limiting a president to a single term of six years as recommended in the 1912 Democratic national platform.

Wilson wrote a letter to Congress in which he said rightly that four years is often too long a time before the nation can get a new president and sometimes too short a time to give a man who has initiated a reform program that the people might desire.

He hinted then that the United States might someday come to some form of responsible government by cabinet, which, of course, describes the parliamentary system.

Certainly there is need to study thoroughly the present system.

Thus, out of the nearly 67 million votes cast this week, the narrowest of margins—less than a half of 1 per cent—separates the victor from the loser.

A few states are given large electoral votes because of their large population, but within those states the big cities have a power superior to those of the smaller communities.

The Country Parson

Dr. William Brady Says:

Troublesome Eyelashes Cause Patients Problems

"My wife has undergone two operations for entropian in the past three or four years," says a Massachusetts reader.

Entropian is a rolling-in of the eyelid, and with it the lashes, so that the lashes rub against the eyeball. This causes congestion, pain, lacrimation (excessive tears), photophobia (oversensitivity to bright light), sometimes ulceration of the cornea.

"The first operation," the reader continues, "was not successful. The doctor made an incision under each eye and drew the lid down . . . but the lids turned in again after about a year.

★ ★ ★

"In the second operation the doctor made a vertical incision at the end of each eye, and I presume drew the lower lid down in this way.

"At any rate, the second operation proved successful and she has had no trouble since (now almost three years).

"She suffered no pain at any time and very little discomfort during or after the operations." (G. F. S.)

WEARS PLASTER, TAPE

A Florida reader who underwent two operations for trichiasis (eyelashes turning in and irritating eyeball) described her experience in this column recently.

First she wore adhesive plaster or transparent tape on her cheek for months, so applied as to draw the lid down and keep the lashes from rubbing on the eyeball. This didn't help.

Then she had the first operation to evert the eyelid. This corrected the trouble, for about two years.

Then the lashes began to rub the eyeball again, and she had a second operation. The doctor wanted to operate a third time, but she decided to try her own treatment.

She fills an eyecup with SSBA (solution of as much boric acid as will dissolve in boiled water), dips a sterile applicator in the solution (cotton wound around the end of a toothpick) and strokes and coaxes the eyelashes into their proper position. She did this several times a day at first, but now just night and morning.

It is a bit of a nuisance, of course, but it takes only a few minutes and is better, she thinks, than going through another operation which might not prove more successful than the first two. Her oculist says he will recommend it to future patients with such trouble.

It is well to remember that the Florida reader has trichiasis, not entropion. In other words her lashes turned in, not the eyelid itself.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

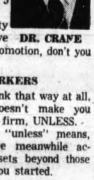
Asset Increase Merits Promotion

Noreen is a typical employee with the mistaken notion that seniority alone should be the basis for pay increases. That is a stupid idea, so analyze Noreen's case today. Then, if you have guts enough to face facts, send for the tests below. They will quickly show you if you merit a raise and if you or your boss is correct in your feuding.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE G-423: Noreen N., aged 27, is stenographer in an export firm.

"Dr. Crane," she began angrily, "I feel like quitting for my boss is unfair.



DR. CRANE

"I have worked for this company 8 years, but he promoted another girl to a better job, yet this other girl has been here only 5 years.

"My seniority should have given me the promotion, don't you think?"

WAKE UP, WORKERS

No, I don't think that way at all, for seniority doesn't make you worth more to a firm, UNLESS.

And that big "unless" means, unless you have meanwhile acquired other assets beyond those you had when you started.

Workers, get hep.

If you are a stenographer and type 60 words per minute when you start a job, but are still typing only 60 words per minute 10 years later, where have you merited any increase?

Unless you meanwhile take on additional duties which enhance your value to the firm, you can be an employee for 25 years and not be worth more than a few months after you started.

Although the other girl could not exceed Noreen in typing speed, she soon was able to handle foreign dictation for the South American clients.

Thus, she had added to her value to the executives of this export firm.

Although she had been employed only 5 years, she was thus worth far more than Noreen, despite Noreen's 8 years on the job.

BRAVO, BOSSES

It is high time here in America we began to offer an overdue salute to bosses.

They function as glorified "Papa" and "Mama" to millions of overgrown children, called employees.

These employees punch a time clock in the morning and then at night.

Meanwhile, they go through their routine jobs, probably doing no better work than they performed 10 or 25 years earlier.

And when the quitting whistle blows, they go home to lounge around the house, fish or golf, or bowl during the evenings.

Meanwhile, management (meaning the bosses) still must plan and fume and fret about where tomorrow's orders are to come from to warrant the continuation of business.

They must puzzle and think and plan during their "off" hours as they try to handle such pettiness as Noreen's quibbling over "seniority."

If your boss is a "crab" and surly or critical, have a heart. So were your dad and mother many times when you were a child, for the extra worries of parents are typical of the very same extra strain of bosses.

A lot of you workers haven't the guts to be bosses. You actually turn down such promotions saying "I don't want to take on any responsibility."

Not all bosses are perfect, by any means, for many of them are "bearcats" to cover up the fact they are "housecats" at home. Thus, they throw their weight around to compensate for being henpecked Henry.

But be fair. Send for my "Tests for Employers and Employees," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

They will quickly show if you merit a promotion and if you or your boss is in error.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

'Our Country's Need Is God's Blessing'

With the election over and all the remedies given by both candidates on what this country needs, they hardly mentioned one of our greatest needs. Namely, asking and depending on God in this time of trouble.

Can God bless a nation which has the greatest crime record in the world? Regardless of our great wealth in material things we lead all nations in divorces, broken homes, juvenile delinquency, and deaths on the highways from drunk driving. Our Sundays are so full of pleasure seeking that many times we forget that it was set aside for rest and worship.

Transfer of Power 'Complex, Frightening'

That is the verdict of Laurin L. Henry, a political scientist who has been participating in a major study by the Brookings Institution of the problems involved in a change-over of administrations.

The study underscores six main problems facing the incoming president. They are:

1. Organizing a personal staff and choosing cabinet and subcabinet officers. Kennedy already has announced some appointments to his personal staff. If he follows the timetable worked out by the Brookings scholars, he will choose men to fill 150 to 200 jobs by Dec. 1. Another 350 to 400 jobs must be filled by Jan. 1.

2. Becoming fully briefed on government policies. This applies to the president-elect himself and to the cabinet officers and other appointees who will hold policy-making jobs.

3. Preparing a new budget. Many political scientists consider this the heart of the change-over problem. By law, President Eisenhower must submit to Congress by Jan. 18 his budget proposals for the 1962 fiscal year beginning next July 1.

4. Outlining legislative proposals. Basically this is a matter of translating campaign promises into specific policies and programs which the new administration will push in Congress. Kennedy has at least three special staffs already at work on major problem areas.

5. Establishing a working relationship with Congress and solidifying control of his party. Kennedy may count heavily here on the help of his vice president, Lyndon B. Johnson.

6. Drafting inaugural and state-of-the-union addresses. In these two speeches, the new president must strike the keynotes of his administration, spell out his goals, and summon the nation to whatever sacrifices he feels necessary.

Moves to Ease Dollar Pressure

W. Germany's Federal Bank Cuts Discount to 4 Per Cent

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — West Germany took its first step Thursday to help ease pressure on the dollar. More moves seemed just around the corner.

★ ★ ★

The federal bank cut the discount rate from 5 to 4 per cent in an effort to check the flow of foreign exchange into the country.

West Germany had been under mounting criticism for its tight money policy which attracted capital from countries with lower interest rates.

FEARS WILD BOOM

Erhard fears that the West German economic boom may still get out of hand.

The United States, faced with a rapidly deteriorating balance of payments, bluntly told the Germans that something must be done about the situation.

West German gold and foreign exchange reserves have climbed annually by some $2 billion—reaching a record high of $7,376 billion last month—while America's reserves have dropped by $4 billion a year.

Plans are also maturing to allocate three billion marks ($714 million) in aid for underdeveloped countries.

Half of this amount would be raised by German industry to contribute to development of African-Asia countries.

The stepped-up aid program also followed American urging but U.S. officials are reportedly critical because of high interest rates.

This difference and a third move to bring relief to the American balance of payments situation is to be discussed by Bonn and top-ranking Washington officials due in West Germany later this month.

220 Have Died Climbing in the Alps This Year

ROME (AP) — A total of 220 persons died in mountain climbing accidents in the Alps this year, a survey in the five Alpine nations of Italy, Switzerland, Austria, Germany and France showed today. The toll last year was 281.

Khrushchev Sees Opportunity to Vindicate His Own Policies

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Premier Khrushchev's reaction to the U. S. presidential election result is intriguing. The Soviet leader seems to want—and need—vindication for his own policies in the eyes of the Communist world.

It is not unusual for the head of the Soviet government to congratulate the winner of a U. S. election. It is unusual, however, for him to portray the results as a repudiation for the previous administration.

But Khrushchev developed some troublesome headaches because of his policies with regard to President Eisenhower. Some in the Communist world, notably the Red Chinese, were obviously angered by Khrushchev's announcement in 1959, during the U. S. visit, that he considered President Eisenhower to be genuinely a man of peace.

Now Khrushchev jumps at every opportunity to denounce Eisenhower as the source of a war policy and the man principally responsible for the low state of Soviet-American relations.

The official Communist line all through the U. S. presidential campaign was that one "capitalist" candidate was as bad as another and there was no difference between Democrat Kennedy and Republican Nixon.

Now Khrushchev seems to be trying to persuade his audience that there was, in reality, a great difference, and that Khrushchev himself was responsible in part for the election result in the United States. It will be difficult for the Soviet public to follow this, but Khrushchev obviously has reasons.

At the moment Khrushchev was sending his message of congratulations to President-Elect Kennedy, Communist leaders from all over the world were gathered in Moscow. Among other things they probably have been discussing was the bitter Khrushchev-Chinese argument on just how aggressively communism should move to expand its domination into new areas.

This Communist summit meeting is to be followed by three other events which will be of great importance to Khrushchev's future as leader of world Communism.

The first will be a meeting of the Soviet Party Central Comittee Dec. 13. Leaders from all parts of the U. S. S. R. have been summoned to it. The second will be a meeting of the Supreme Soviet — the rubber stamp parliament — which can provide an opportunity to set the stage for events to come. The third will be a Soviet Communist Congress — the 22nd — probably in January. This will be the most important of all.

It Khrushchev has any serious opposition within the higher echelons in the Kremlin — and there are indications he has — he will have to be ready to defend himself at that congress and to vindicate the policies he followed in 1959 and then reversed in 1960. He will also have to defend himself from the criticism of those old-line Stalinists who agree with the Chinese and are impatient with his policy of attempting to expand the world Communist movement without taking any risks.

Thus, Khrushchev's quick reaction to the U. S. election result could mean an anxiety to seize the initiative quickly from the new American administration, to put it on the defensive, to demonstrate to communism that he is master of the world situation.

If Khrushchev is going to vindicate his policies over the past two years, he will probably be obliged before long to show some promise of results. His main purpose now seems to be to force the new U. S. administration into talks at top level on such issues as a new status for Berlin and his proposal for peace treaties with both Communist East and West Germany, a step toward neutralizing the heart of Europe.

11th Hour, 11th Day, 11th Month

Nation Honors Dead of All Wars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation pays tribute to the veterans of all American wars in ceremonies originally scheduled to commemorate the armistice that ended the first world war.

The Veterans Day ceremonies at Arlington National Cemetery form the pattern for similar observances being conducted by veterans and patriotic organizations in other parts of the country.

ELEVENTH MOMENT

At the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of the eleventh month — the very moment when the guns went silent along the Western Front in Europe 42 years ago—a presidential wreath will be placed at the Tomb of The Unknowns.

For the first time this year, a torch that was lighted in Antwerp, Belgium, and flown across the Atlantic Ocean, will be presented in the amphitheater adjoining the tomb. Another torch, lighted in this country, has been flown eastward across the ocean for presentation at similar ceremonies in Antwerp.

Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., former commandant of the Marine Corps, will address representatives of the veterans organizations in the amphitheater.

The day was observed as Armistice Day through 1953. Thereafter, by act of Congress, the name was changed to honor the services of veterans of all wars.

Although the specific connection with World War I has passed into history, memories of the first war will be recalled in special ceremonies at the tomb of General of The Armies John J. Pershing.

A committee from Bay City, Mich., will place a wreath at Pershing's grave, and later veterans of World War I will conduct a memorial service at the grave site.

This year the Marine Corps League is in charge.

By agreement among the organizations, regional observances are being conducted elsewhere in the country with the ceremonies being in charge of the following organizations:

The American Legion at New Orleans; Veterans of Foreign Wars at Long Beach, Calif.; Army Navy Legion of Valor at Trenton, N. J.; Disabled Veterans at Birmingham, Ala.; and the Amvets at Louisville, Ky.

2 Toledo Firms Named in Suit

U.S. Government Hits at Alleged Exclusive Auto Parts Dealing

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The federal government Thursday filed a civil antitrust suit against two Toledo firms, alleging they maintained an exclusive dealing arrangement in the sale of automotive exhaust systems.

Named in the action filed in U.S. District Court were the AP Parts Corp. and Goerlich's, Inc.

The Department of Justice complaint claims the companies have agreements under which some 7,300 jobbers and distributors deal exclusively with Goerlich for AP Parts exhaust systems.

Except for tires, the government said exhaust systems account for the largest dollar volume of all replacement parts needed to maintain the approximately 68 million passenger automobiles registered in this country.

Domestic sales of automotive exhaust systems in the replacement trade exceeded $160 million last year, the government added.

The Goerlich group is the largest supplier of such systems, accounting for 42 per cent of the total dollar volume in 1959, the government contends.

As a result of the agreements and actions of the Goerlich group, manufacturers and distributors of automotive exhaust systems for the replacement market have been denied access to and have been excluded from a substantial part of the market, the government claims.

Go Fly a Kite, You May Be Able to Sue TV Firm

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Alphonso Woodall, 37, contends a television company's negligence caused a kite he was riding to crash, breaking his legs in eight places.

★ ★ ★

Woodall went to court Thursday seeking $150,000 damages from Wayne Steffner Productions, Inc.

Jurors were told Woodall was hired to perform a kite flying stunt for a TV film. The kite was pulled by a truck to get it aloft.

The accident happened March 25, 1959. Seven months later, Woodall, who lives in Cleveland, Ohio, disregarded his injuries even though he was still using crutches, and rescued a man from drowning. He was granted a Carnegie hero's medal.

Rebel Paratroopers Overthrow Pro-West Regime in S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Paratroop battalions overthrew President Ngo Dinh Diem today in a brief but bloody before-dawn uprising. The rebels set up a military regime pledged to strengthen the nation's fight against Communist infiltration and end the rule of the Diem family.

Between 20 and 30 persons were killed and many others were wounded in sharp fighting between the rebel battalions and troops loyal to Diem. But by 3 p.m. calm prevailed in the capital. Armored units rolled into the city from Mytho, 75 miles to the south, in answer to a call from the president—but they joined the rebels.

The rebel military committee which took over the government was headed by paratrooper Col. Nguyen Chanh Thi. It claimed the full support of the army, navy and air force and said it had formed a temporary government. It ordered all military units to remain calm.

NGO DINH DIEM

NO AMERICAN CASUALTIES

No casualties were reported among the several thousand Americans in the country as military or civilian advisers to the Diem government.

The bachelor president, 59, a dedicated anti-Communist whose dictatorial methods and family influences had often come under fire, was reported alive inside the cream and white presidential palace in the heart of Saigon. It was not known immediately whether he was under formal arrest.

There was no word of the president's brother, Ngo Diem Nhu, or his wife. They were Diem's closest advisers, lived in the palace with him, and have been considered the powers behind the president.

The rebel military committee, in a broadcast announcing the ouster of the pro-American president, charged:

"Ngo Dinh Diem adopted a family dictatorship and was unable to face the situation which has deteriorated because of mounting Communist danger. The army has been divided and the population is without any freedom."

NOT NEUTRALISTS

There was absolutely no indication that the army rebels contemplated a neutralist policy, as neighboring Laos has just adopted. The new military junta said in a broadcast it had no political affiliations and had seized control of the government "to re-establish security in the country."

Gen. Le Van Ty, aging commander in chief of the armed forces and Diem's hand-picked man, was arrested.

★ ★ ★

Sharing borders with neutralist Cambodia and Laos, South Viet Nam is a cornerstone of the Western defense arch in Southeast Asia. The South Vietnamese army of 120,000 men is supported by U.S. aid funds. There was no immediate comment from the U.S. Embassy in Saigon.

Milk Popular Item in State's Schools

LANSING (AP)— More than 900,000 public school children participated daily in the state's school lunch and special milk programs during the last school year, the State Department of Public Instruction reported.

Students in 4,308 schools drank 110,155,348 half pints of milk and 49,231,703 lunches were served to students in 1,775 schools.

The programs cost the schools $27,046,669. Income from the programs was $24,467,406 and the federal government contributed $3,150,901. The U.S. Department of Agriculture also donated commodities worth another $3 million.

Godfrey Leaves Hospital After Minor Surgery

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Godfrey, operated upon Wednesday for removal of a fatty tumor on his right side, was discharged from the hospital Thursday. The operation was described as minor.

The television entertainer went directly from the Harkness Pavilion of Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center to his Columbia Broadcasting System office. He expects to spend the weekend at his farm at Leesburg, Va.

Doctors said the tumor was nonmalignant. Godfrey was operated upon in April 1959 for removal of a lung cancer. The operation was pronounced a success and he returned to television and radio the following fall.

Local Church Balked in NY

1st Congregational and 3 Others Denied Trial on Disputed Merger

NEW YORK (AP)—A federal judge here Thursday denied a motion by four churches requesting a trial on issues in a disputed church merger.

The four churches, the First Congregational Church of Pontiac, Mich.; the First Congregational Church and Society of Burlington, Iowa; the First Congregational Church of Wauwatosa, Wis.; and the Mayfair Congregational Church of Toledo sought to invalidate a merger of the majority of Congregational Christian Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Judge Edward J. Dimock threw out the motion and continued until Wednesday a hearing to determine whether most of the issues already had been decided by New York Courts.

Will Nixon Receive Another Chance?
Only the Next Four Years Can Tell Us

(Editor's Note: Vice President Richard M. Nixon, although losing his race for the presidency, won the support of almost half the nation's voters. Will he get another chance in 1964? In an interpretive article, the AP's Jack Bell draws on his long experience in political writing to study that question.)

By JACK BELL

The answer to this question is puzzling Republicans of all shades of opinion today. It is a query that only the political developments of the next four years can answer.

★ ★ ★

In those four years, while Nixon holds the usually vacuous role of titular party leader, other Republicans will be busy. Men like Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Sen. Everett Dirksen of Illinois will be in the daily news. Some little-known Republican governor may blossom into a national figure.

The first tendency of many Republicans is to write off Nixon's future chances because he lost in a contest at the beginning of which he seemed to have everything going his way.

He had behind him nearly eight years of the best kind of training a popular Republican president could give him for the job. He had visited 55 foreign countries and talked with their leaders. He had argued with Nikita Khrushchev and, according to the Nixon version, had "stood up" to the man who had become to many Americans the world's most menacing villain.

HE'S STILL YOUNG

At 47 Nixon was young, vigorous, progressive in his views and politically acute.

Generally speaking, times were good. The pocketbook issue appeared to figure only in spotted areas. Although the cold war danger clouds hung low, the nation was at peace. No American was fighting anywhere in the world.

President Eisenhower — probably still the single most popular man in the country—was enthusiastically for him. Republican liberals and conservatives temporarily had forgotten their differences and were working hard for him.

All of this leaves Nixon in the plight of an also-ran who can hardly expect to operate under as favorable circumstances if he tries again for the prize.

Nixon's plans for the future are not known. But whatever role he takes as a private citizen he probably would find that Kennedy's face and Kennedy's record would be imprinted on the voters while his own political accomplishments would be largely forgotten.

Kennedy might stumble in the presidency and thus give the Republicans hope of unseating him in 1964. The Republicans are not noted for rerunning losers in such circumstances. They tried it only once, with Dewey in 1948. But Dewey had kept himself in the news and had retained his political power as governor of New York.

If he can get re-elected as the Empire State's governor in 1962, Rockefeller will have what amounts to a first mortgage on the 1964 GOP presidential nomination.

RE-ELECTION IMPORTANT

This may take some doing in a state that Nixon lost by 400,000 votes, despite what the vice president himself described as the governor's highly satisfactory and vigorous support of the Nixon cause.

If it came to a battle of personalities again in 1964, Republicans are confident that Rockefeller could match Kennedy in this field. But even if he were re-elected governor, Rockefeller would face the same sort of fight from party conservatives that Eisenhower had to overcome to win the nomination.

Goldwater, who has graduated into the role of spokesman for the party conservatives, has made it clear he doesn't want Rockefeller as the nominee. But the conservatives don't often get their way at GOP nominating conventions.

NAACP Expects Dems to Live Up to Platform

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Negro citizens will expect the new Democratic administration to live up to its platform and work for civil rights, the executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Thursday. Roy Wilkins told a group meeting at the New Jersey Education Association's annual convention "the very first item" on the legislative agenda must be an effort to pass an antifilibuster rule in the Senate.

A-Energy Official Wants Some N-Tests

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Robert E. Wilson, member of the Atomic Energy Commission, said Thursday he considers it "imperative that we resume at least small underground nuclear weapons testing promptly."

He says he feels that way about it, because this country does not know just what the Soviet Union is doing and cannot depend upon what it says.

In a speech before the fall meeting of the American Philosophical Society, Wilson asserted that the testing he proposes "would involve no fallout hazard whatever."

He told the meeting it should also enable the United States to improve methods of detecting underground blasts, and to go ahead with a peaceful use-of-the-atom program which has been stalled during a voluntary moratorium.

Five Children Perish in Fire

The fire, which apparently was discovered about midnight, started in the living room of the house, firemen said, when an open gas heater became overheated.

Killed in the flames were the five children of Gloria Jean Carroll, an unemployed Negro woman who said her mother supported her and her children.

The children were Brenda Carroll, 5; Pamela Carroll, 4; Albert Lee Carroll, 3; Larry D. Carroll, 2; and Don Lee Stevens, 7 months. Police said the father of the four oldest children was Abbott Carroll, Mrs. Carroll's first husband. They said the father of the Stevens child was also divorced from Mrs. Carroll, who took her first husband's name.

★ ★ ★ ★

There was no explanation of Mrs. Carroll's whereabouts when the fire started. Firemen said that passers-by saw the house in flames and awakened neighbors, who fought the blaze with garden hose until fire equipment arrived.

Who? What? . . . Hyannis Port

Swells Out Chest With Pride

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—Kennedy's neighbors in this resort village regard coming of the summer White House as the most exciting thing to happen to Cape Cod since the Mayflower mistakenly put into Provincetown Harbor.

Even former President Grover Cleveland's summer residence on nearby Buzzards Bay was recalled by older residents as something commonplace compared to the impact that President-Elect Kennedy's presence will have here.

This is because Jack Kennedy even in this Republican stronghold is regarded as a local boy who has made good.

"Even though this is Republican territory we're tickled pink to have a president summering here," said James Pendergast, owner of the Hyannis Inn.

"After all, this was where the country first started. I would say that this is the greatest thing to happen to the Cape in 340 years."

The reference is to the Mayflower mistakenly putting into port at Provincetown Harbor, 50 miles from here, before landing in Plymouth in 1620.

★ ★ ★

There are, of course, some of the locals in this little harbor town and the adjoining bustling resort of Hyannis, who with typical Cape Cod reserve regard the setting up of the summer White House as an invasion of privacy.

★ ★ ★

But they would appear to be in the minority because of over-all pride in "Jack" and because of a very practical consideration—the presence of the summer White House will make business boom.

One Hyannis resident recalled that recently the Cape Cod Chamber of Commerce asked for an additional $55,000 to advertise Cape resorts but that "you could not buy for a million dollars the publicity that Hyannis has received in the past few days."

One hotel manager said that he had received so many requests for directions to the president-elect's white shingled home that he is considering printing a map of the summer White House area for curious tourists.

The home of Kennedy's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, the former ambassador to the Court of St. James's, dominates the several acre area on Nantucket Sound where the clan has summered for some 30 years. The 17-room home is on a private road unlike the president-elect's, which is on a village street.

For security reasons the summer White House probably will be established in the elder Kennedy's home. This would allow the next president complete privacy from the several thousand curious onlookers who peered directly into his windows last summer.

Design Safety Flags for Iowa Tractors

AMES, Iowa (AP) — Safety experts at Iowa State University in Ames have designed flags and poles which would be flown by tractors on the highways in hilly areas.

State safety officials will try to get the legislature to require their use.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Ambassador Quits Mexican Post

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower accepted the resignation today of Robert C. Hill, ambassador to Mexico for the past four years.

Hill, 43, a New Hampshire resident, built up a reputation in Mexico as one of the outstanding noncareer men Eisenhower appointed to diplomatic posts.

A political appointee, he served during the eight years of the Eisenhower administration as assistant secretary of state for congressional affairs and also as ambassador to Costa Rica and El Salvador.

Extra Sales Tax Session in Doubt; Williams on Trip

LANSING (AP)—Legislators must wait more than two weeks to learn whether they will meet in special session to consider raising the three-cent sales tax.

Gov. Williams and his successor, Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, agreed Thursday to order a quick survey of the state's financial situation before making a decision on an extra legislative session. Local officials also will be consulted, they said.

Meanwhile, Gov. and Mrs. Williams will take off Saturday on a two-week tour of Argentina and Brazil along with 46 other governors and their wives. They will return Nov. 28.

By that time, Williams said, Swainson should have a clear picture of 1961-62 budget needs and the current financial situation and be in a position to advise the governor on whether to summon lawmakers to Lansing.

Williams pointed out that voter approval Tuesday of a constitutional amendment raising the state sales tax ceiling from three to four cents will not take effect until Dec. 8.

Swainson indicated Thursday he probably would not block enactment of a sales tax increase if it is approved after he takes office in January.

"The people have spoken," he told newsmen but added: "I still think we need revision of our entire tax structure."

The governor and governor-elect huddled privately for two hours Thursday to talk over the practical problems of shifting from a Williams to a Swainson administration.

They agreed that Swainson should appoint a commission to prepare for a constitutional convention if voters decide to call one in the 1961 spring election.

* * *

The governor released a letter from George Romney, American Motors Corp. president, asking him to appoint a bi-partisan commission.

Romney is chairman of Citizens for Michigan, which helped promote approval of another constitutional amendment setting up a statewide vote next spring on calling a convention.

Other provisions ease the voting requirement for calling a convention and set up a new method of selecting delegates to make them more nearly representative of the voting population.

* * *

Williams noted that he had named a committee of political science experts at four Michigan universities last month to study the pros and cons of proposed changes in the 52-year-old Constitution. Their report is due Dec. 18.

Britain Doubts Death Penalty

Effectiveness Pondered After Robbery-Murder While 2 Are Hanged

LONDON (AP) — Two hangings and a murder within an hour Thursday touched off fresh heart-searching in Britain concerning the death penalty.

* * *

Two young men who kicked a youth to death in the course of a robbery died on gallows in separate prisons.

Sixty minutes later and 60 miles away two young men, described as 19 or 20 years old, burst into a bank, shot the guard and escaped with 1,000 pounds ($2,800).

The dramatic sequence roused new controversy on a point under debate in Britain for years — does the death penalty deter?

APPEAL TO QUEEN

Petitions for reprieve of the two men under sentence had been pouring into the home office ever since they were condemned. Their relatives appealed to the queen.

Another plea was signed by prominent public figures, including the Bishop of Birmingham, writer Kingsley Amis, TV interviewer John Freeman and architect Sir Hugh Casson.

A point made strongly in the pleas was that one of the condemned men, Francis Forsyth, was only 18. The other, Norman Harris, was 23.

Salinger, Hatcher Fill Top Press Posts

Veteran Team to Talk for Jack

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) President-Elect Kennedy's official spokesmen for the next four years will be two personal friends who have teamed up in political wars for the Democrats the last 12 years.

* * *

The chief will be Pierre Salinger, a dynamic 35-year-old whose biography includes periods as a piano prodigy, newspaperman, magazine editor, sub-chaser commander, Senate investigator and publicity man.

Kennedy named Salinger Thursday to be his White House press secretary, a role raised to all-time eminence during the last eight years by James C. Hagerty, who bore the news burdens for President Eisenhower.

Salinger's No. 2 man will be Andrew T. Hatcher, 37, whose appointment as associate press secretary also was announced by Kennedy.

REPLACES MRS. WHEATON

Hatcher, a Negro, will fill a post now held under Hagerty by Mrs. Anne Wheaton and held formerly by Murray Snyder, presently an assistant secretary of defense.

The Salinger-Hatcher team has been functioning off and on since 1948, when Salinger was assistant publicity director for Harry S. Truman's presidential campaign in the San Francisco area and Hatcher was a Democratic precinct worker there.

Salinger, seldom seen without a cigar clamped in his jaw, handled Kennedy's press relations through his primary campaigns, at the Democratic National Convention, and in the big march which took Kennedy to victory Tuesday.

After the war, Salinger went back to the Chronicle. He stayed until 1955, then joined the staff of Collier's Magazine.

HONOR STUDENT 2 YEARS

Hatcher, born and reared in Princeton, N.J., began higher schooling at Springfield College, Springfield, Mass., under a YMCA scholarship.

He was an honor student for two years, upon which he entered the Army as a private. He emerged as a second lieutenant.

After the war, Hatcher went back to Springfield College. But he became impatient and left before graduation to assume editorship of a Negro weekly in San Francisco.

Hatcher held that job until 1950 — but dabbled in politics in the meantime, including the 1948 campaign when he met Salinger.

In 1950, Hatcher went to work for Oliver J. Carter, California Democratic leader who had been appointed a federal judge.

He remained with Carter until February 1959 when he was appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown as an assistant state labor commissioner in California.

Johnson Faces Double Duty

Right-Hand Man for Kennedy in Congress; Foreign Affairs

As his first assignment for President-Elect John F. Kennedy, Johnson plans to attend the Nov. 21 NATO conference of Parliamentarians in Paris, according to reliable sources.

Of course, the outgoing Senate Democratic leader would skip the Paris trip if Kennedy had a more urgent job for him at home.

But in any event, these are the two burdens Johnson is slated to shoulder after the Kennedy administration takes office Jan. 20:

—Backstage leader and White House liaison man on Capitol Hill — where his "power of persuasion" can continue to be utilized in the Senate and House.

—Representative of the new president in key international negotiations and on visits abroad. Kennedy was said by one associate to regard the Texan as the "best negotiator" he had ever known.

Kennedy, it was indicated, will be hesitant to dash off to summit meetings and may well use Johnson at various stages of important dealings with foreign governments.

The ship canal between the Gulf of Mexico and Houston, Tex., is 50 miles long.

Cubans Form Vigilantes

HAVANA (UPI)—Supporters of Premier Fidel Castro began organizing "vigilance committees" throughout Havana today to seek out "friends of the Yankees."

The Castroites distributed handbills urging householders to heed the Premier's plea to join the vigilantes and spy on their neighbors.

"Not all the work can be left to Fidel and the government. . ." the handbills read. "Not all defense is the responsibility of the army, the police and the militia . . ."

"There is a task for everyone . . . attend your neighborhood organizing meeting."

The streets of Havana already are patroled nightly by militiamen, who keep tabs on the automobiles normally parked on their beats and report strange cars to police.

Foreign residents were wryly amused by the news that Castroite representatives at the United Nations had proposed an amendment to the proposed civil rights pact providing that "no one shall be subject to arbitrary or illegal interference in his private life, his home or his correspondence, nor to attacks on his reputation."

They pointed out that Castro's police feel free to search anyone's home at any time without a warrant or other legal authorization, while travelers leaving Cuba are frequently stripped and searched at the airport.

Incoming mail is often marked "officially sealed," "received in bad condition" or "received open," meaning it has been examined by Castro censors. Outgoing mail frequently fails to reach its destination.

Initial Press Parley Goes Fine for Jack

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI)—President-Elect Kennedy, who used to be a newspaperman himself was half an hour late for his first "presidential" news conference — but, once there, he got along just fine.

His performance was crisp and cool and poised, his manner quiet-spoken and dignified. He looked rested and confident and — let's face it — pretty youthful.

Standing up there on the bare wooden stage, he flashed his famed wide smile three times during the course of a fast-moving 20 minutes of questions and answers, but mostly he was dead serious—jabbing the air with a forefinger for emphasis.

Reporters addressed each question to "Mr. President," but that didn't seem to startle the president-elect. And when he walked into the National Guard armory for the conference at 2:59 p.m. Thursday, they arose and stood silently, as they do for the president in White House conferences.

He walked onto the bare wooden stage—where a little over 24 hours earlier he had read out his opponent's telegram conceding defeat—nodded to the group of 135, and they sat down.

The full "White House Rules" for a news conference were on, by agreement between veteran Washington correspondents and the Kennedy public relations staff.

No one was permitted to leave or enter the big main room of the armory while the conference was on, using typewriters to make notes was banned, and so were live TV an dradio and open telephone lines.

But Kennedy is getting started fast. This was a formal press conference, right after election. President Eisenhower had no news conferences during the interim period between his 1952 election and the inauguration. His first one was in February, 1953.

Kennedy stood behind seven microphones—the film TV cameras and the tape radio machines were in operation—and held a sheaf of papers down around his right hip to get them in focus to read them. And with that gesture, he didn't look so young after all. He does not yet wear eyeglasses.

Homemakers at PCH Slate Fashion Show

By BARBARA GRIFFIN

"Autumn Illusions" will be the theme of the fashion show given Thursday night by the Future Homemakers of America at Pontiac Central High School.

Peggy's Women's Apparel will sponsor this style show and the fashions will be modeled by members of FHA. Models include Shirley Lippard, Glea Fox, Lana Luchenbach, Pam Everling and Cheryl Allison.

The show will be given at 7:30 in the Central auditorium. Tickets are 50 cents and are available at the door or from any FHA member.

Six excited and happy juniors have recently been announced as finalists in the summer and school programs of the American Field Service student exchange program.

From fifteen applicants, the six were chosen to have their applications sent to the national AFS office in New York City. Next spring, the office will announce which students will go abroad and to what countries they will go.

Qualifications for applying for the AFS program are that a student must be a junior, at least 16 years of age, and have had at least two years of foreign language. Personal characteristics and scholarship ability is also important.

There were four skits presented, based on United States history.

Themes of thes skits were the Revolutionary War, the Pioneers, the Trancontinental Railroad, and the Roaring Twenties with parts played by members of the Cheerleading squad and the Pep Club.

Honor rolls have been re-established this year at Central. There are two separate honor rolls: the principal's honor roll for students receiving all A's, and the honor roll for students with a B average and no grade lower than a C.

Homecoming Party Saturday at Emmanuel Christian High

By KATHY McKEE

It may seem late in the season for a homecoming game, but Emmanuel Christian School believes in saving the best things for last.

Let the winter wind blow tomorrow night, no one will notice. There'll be a hot time at Emmanuel.

For weeks students have been planning for the gala event. The homecoming royalty was elected last Friday.

Named as Emmanuel's first king and queen were Wayne Young and Lillie Wilson, both seniors.

They will be surrounded by a royal court consisting of 10 students chosen as prince and princess of their respective classes.

The court will accompany Lillie and Wayne in the parade to the game.

Appearing in the big parade will be floats from each class. Students have been working feverishly all week to get their floats ready in time.

There will also be several cars carrying homecoming royalty and dignitaries.

After the game there is to be a party in the new school, congratulating the team and greeting the alumni.

Oxford Seniors Holding Tryouts for 'Pygmalion'

By LINDA JACOB

The cast will consist of five girls and four boys but as yet the members have not been chosen. Play books arrived and tryouts were held Monday and Tuesday.

Selections presented were Red Wing, Kum Bah Yah, Minskol and Senioretta Serenada with a duet by Suz Maguire and Linda Jacob.

Plan Sock Hop at Rochester

By JIM WAGNER

The Junior-Senior Girls Charity Sock Hop at Rochester High will be held next Friday night from 8:00-11:30.

Subject to last minute approval, the dance will take place in the gymnasium and attire for the event will be Bermuda shorts and kilts.

Rochester student Jackie Sheehan received the Daughters of the American Revolution award earlier this week.

Waterford Choir Cuts Disc; Could Be International Hit

By BARB SECAN

Under the direction of Richard Meier, the a cappella boys ensemble has already cut a test record. The 15 boys went to United Sound Systems in Detroit and recorded three songs on a 45 r.p.m. disc.

The recording will serve as an "audition by record" for the group. It will be sent to the American Counsul in Monterrey, Mexico, and if the ensemble is approved by the consul, the boys will travel to Mexico next summer to study.

If the audition proves to be a success, R.C.A. of Chicago will produce the records for sale to the public.

Money obtained from the sale of records will then go to help finance the trip.

While the choir is dreaming of a trip to Mexico, the Waterford Student Council is planning for the coming Inter-Lakes Student Council Conference.

During the conference, officers of student councils from neighboring schools will meet to discuss their various problems with other members.

Representing Waterford will be council officers Mike Kaines, president; Paulette MacAbee, vice president; Tom McKinnon, treasurer; Jean Salathiel, corresponding secretary; and Joyce McKenna, recording secretary.

Initiation for the Y-Teens will probably be remembered by those who participated for a long time.

On Tuesday anyone wishing to become a member of the club had to dress in uncoordinated clothes, wear their hair in pigtails and sing "Mary Had a Little Lamb" to senior members while dusting their shoes.

The French Club sponsored a pep assembly today to stir up enthusiasm for tonight's game. The Skippers will take on Wayne in a tussle on the Waterford home field.

This is the last game of the season. Good luck, Skippers, we're with you all the way!

W. Bloomfield Magazine Sale Goes Over Top

By CAROLYN MAVIS

The top three salesmen and their prizes are as follows: Bill Vascassemo, a transistor radio; Peggy Blackmore, a transistor radio; and Ken Stone, a clock radio.

Open House Slated at Farmington High

By LOUISE LIND

Farmington Senior High's annual open house for parents is slated for Tuesday night. This event provides a chance for parents to talk to the teachers of their sons and daughters.

Visiting hours will be 7:30 to 9:15. This year a schedule of five minute talks will be set up so that each teacher will have a chance to explain what he is trying to teach his students.

The five minute talks will be scheduled for 7:45 to 7:50, 8:05 to 8:10, 8:25 to 8:30, 8:45 to 8:50 and 9:05 to 9:10. Parents are to attend any class they choose and may talk to teachers between the scheduled times.

At 9:15 a 30-minute program will be held in the gym by the high school choir. All parents are invited to attend and may leave early if they choose.

The decorations include a Japanese bridge and a pagoda complete with a brass gong. Punch and cookies will follow the oriental theme in design and trim.

Clarkston High's Seniors Name Award Candidate

By JANET TISCH

Outstanding citizenship on the part of Linda Jean Chapman has made her Clarkston High School's choice for the 1961 Daughters of the American Revolution Citizenship award.

Linda was nominated by the senior class, and judged by a committee of faculty members.

Editing the Clarkston High School News, representing her class on Student Council, heading the CHS Teens for Nixon Club, and being an outstanding Forensics winner are some of the many activities in which Linda has taken an active part as outstanding leader.

The DAR Award winner is eligible for the Oakland County DAR Award. County winners then enter the state contest.

Officials decide the state winner on her personality and the results of an American Government Knowledge Test that each girl takes upong being a school winner.

The state DAR award offers the winner a $4,000 college scholarship.

Future Nurses Elect Officers

By DIANE M. WALTER

The Future Nurses Club of Pontiac Northern High School has elected its officers.

Claralee Vollrath is president; Diane Dumity, vice president; Georgia McSkulin, recording secretary; and Pam Edwards, treasurer. The girls have also drawn up a new constitution.

Recently Diane Dumity, Jolene Galnes and Sharon Stadler attended St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and returned with reports on the different kinds of training programs available.

They presently are concentrating on a fund raising project and also toward donating gifts to the Lapeer State Home and Training School.

Members look forward to assisting in a mobile clinic for TB testing during November and December. They will file cards and do odd jobs in gaining experience toward their training.

The program committee is planning the semester activities. Participating in this group are Claralee Vollrath, Diane Dumity and Georgia McSkulin.

OTHER CLUBS ACTIVE

Projectionists also have elected new officers. Terry Patterson is president; David Fox, vice president; John Erkkila, secretary-treasurer; and Don Vance, sergeant of arms.

Thirty-one members run films for the student body during their free hours. They are required to keep a high C average to participate in the club.

Northern's music department took part in the annual fall festival this year directed by Maynard Klein from Michigan State University.

Swept in a cycle of events they start Christmas selection for their concert being planned in six weeks.

The student council has decided to purchase additional senior lounge furniture for the main hall in front of the auditorium.

Five Northern pupils received all A's on their report cards this week. Those with straight A grades were Linda Larson, Barbara Baldwin, Marilyn Chadelaine, William Sekulich and Nancy Williams.

He and Jack Are Very Close

Sorenson's Appointment Is No Surprise

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—It was late in 1952 when the fateful accident in timing occurred.

Theodore C. Sorensen, then 24 and only a year out of law school, had just finished a temporary assignment as aide to the Joint Committee on Railroad Retirement Legislation and was looking for a job.

Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., acquainted with both men, got the two together.

* * *

By the time Kennedy last year declared himself a presidential candidate, Sorensen had become his administrative assistant, chief advisor, speech-writer, coordinator, researcher and confidant.

THEODORE C. SORENSON

CLOSE ASSOCIATION

It was an association so close one observer was led to remark that when somebody cuts Kennedy, it is Sorensen who bleeds.

To the surprise of no one familiar with Sorenson's role, the president-elect Thursday designated Sorensen as his special counsel—right hand man in framing the Kennedy administration's program.

Sorensen was born in Lincoln 32 years ago, attended Lincoln schools and was graduated from the University of Nebraska Law College in 1951 as a Phi Beta Kappa, top scholar in his class.

His father, Christian A. Sorensen, son of Danish immigrants, was a former Republican attorney general for Nebraska. But he was a Republican of the liberal George Norris type.

RUSSIAN EXTRACTION

His mother, born Annis S. Chaikin, of Russian extraction, gave to each of her four sons and one daughter her maiden name, Chaikin, as their middle names. Sorensen uses only the initial.

The elder Sorensen died last year but Sorensen's mother and youngest brother, Phil, an attorney, still live in Lincoln.

Sorensen took a job first with the Federal Security Agency in Washington, soon went to work for the joint committee headed by Sen. Douglas, then went to work for Kennedy.

He performed at the outset the usual chores of a senatorial staff assistant. Among other things he did research for Kennedy's Pulitzer Prize-winning book, "Profiles in Courage."

It was after Kennedy lost the vice presidential nomination in 1956 and set his cap for the presidency that the Sorensen-Kennedy association came to full fruition.

As Kennedy's drive blossomed into nomination and finally election, others took over some of the varied political chores but Sorensen remained key man in the "brain trust." He was often, during the general election campaign, the first person Kennedy talked to in the morning, the last to be consulted at night.

Bell Takes Over as Genesee Sheriff

FLINT (AP)—Democrat Thomas E. Bell, Genesee County sheriff-elect, Thursday was named to fill the unexpired term of the late Sheriff Don H. Carmichael. Carmichael died Oct. 18.

Bell, who was selected in Tuesday's election over Fenton Police Chief Orie Clark by an unofficial margin of 957 votes, normally would not take office as sheriff until January.

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—Delivery of the first Ilyushin airliner from the Soviet Union is expected next week.

Six Russian planes are being purchased by this West African republic under a $40.6 million Soviet credit in exchange for cocoa, industrial diamonds and rubber products.

* * *

Navy Grants Bendix $26-Million Missile Job

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Navy has given Bendix Corp. an additional $26 million contract for development of the Eagle missile system.

* * *

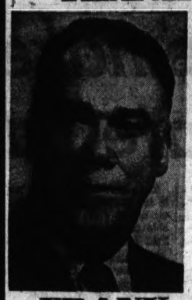
The first was for an undisclosed several million dollars and the second for $21 million.

THANK YOU



I am very grateful to the voters for the splendid vote I received in the past election and I pledge that I will continue to give the people the kind of service they want and are entitled to, to the best of my ability.

'Hardly Time to Think Before'

Swainsons Start Making Plans

DETROIT (UPI)—"I hardly had time to think before but I guess we'll have to start making plans," said Mrs. Alice Swainson, Michigan's new first lady.

★ ★ ★

"When you work so hard toward a special event — like Nov. 8 — it's difficult to think what will happen after that date," said the 33-year-old mother of three.

"I'd like to keep the boys in their own school until June but we'll have to see," she said. "One thing is sure — we'll be househunting right away."

The boys are steve, 13, and Peter, 11, who attend school near their home in Plymouth. The third child of the John B. Swainson family is Kristina, 2.

LIKE OWN HOUSE

"John and I didn't have much time to discuss the future before the election," the attractive blonde

MRS. JOHN SWAINSON

said, "but I think he would like to keep our house here. It's hard to say."

Despite the full-time responsibility of caring for her three children, Mrs. Swainson found time this year to campaign in her husband's behalf.

"I campaigned some when he ran for the State Senate, but that was just within our district," she said.

"Then in 1958 when he ran for his first statewide office (lieutenant governor) I was expecting Kristina and I was limited in my activity. She was born in October, just a month before the election.

"So this has been my first real campaign. It's very exhilarating."

Mrs. Swainson, an active participant in civic groups and volunteer activities in Plymouth, toured parts of the state in recent months with wives of other Democratic candidates.

SEPARATE SCHEDULE

The new first lady, a native of Detroit, said she hoped the family would have time for at least a brief vacation soon.

"But then again it depends on so many things that we haven't had a chance to talk it over.

"John will be working on his inaugural address, the budget and his other programs.

"If we do get a vacation it will probably be around Thanksgiving when the boys have a few days off from school."

Mrs. Swainson has never been far from her Detroit home for any length of time.

She attended public schools here, met the new governor at Olivet College and was married to him in 1946.

The Swainsons lived out of state while he was earning his bachelor's and law degrees from the University of North Carolina but returned to the Detroit area in 1951.

Mrs. Swainson said she was glad she was able to be active in this campaign, although she was timid about it at first.

"The more you learn about our political processes the more you want to learn," she said.

Eaton County Was First to Deliver Vote Returns

LANSING (UPI) — Eaton was the first county Thursday to deliver its election returns to the elections division of the Secretary of State's office.

County clerks have until Nov. 23 to deliver their returns to the office. The State Board of Canvassers must meet by Nov. 28 to officially certify the vote.

There have been no recount petitions as yet, the elections division said.

Queen Mother Is Suing Footman to Stop Story

Brought into court last Sept. 12 on a charge of failing to make support payments totaling 73 pounds 10 shillings ($205.80) to his estranged wife, Palmira, he paid off the arrears with a check signed by Thomas Cronin, 41-year-old ex-butler at the London home of Princess Margaret and Armstrong-Jones.

Cronin had left the employment of the newlyweds because, as he explained later, Armstrong-Jones had a habit of summoning the butler with a snap of his fingers.

Cronin has since gone off to America to act as sort of high-toned major domo at a Florida dog-racing track.

Payne then began writing his impressions of life at Clarence House. He said last week he had been warned by a royal spokesman not to publish them, that a contract of employment he signed when he went into service at Clarence House forbids such intimate disclosures.

* * *

It is virtually unprecedented for the royal family to engage in legal actions of any kind and the announcement of the injunction obtained against Payne caused a stir.

Adenauer, Kennedy to Meet in February

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer said Thursday he will meet the new president of the United States next February.

"I will discuss with him everything that I have on my mind," the chancellor told foreign correspondents at a luncheon held a short time after the government had issued a communique announcing the chancellor's meeting with President-Elect John F. Kennedy.

Adenauer said he was chiefly concerned with general global disarmament, especially nuclear disarmament.

Adenauer said he will go to Washington Feb. 15 for the convention of the American Council of Germany.

ALBANY (UPI)—Complete but unofficial figures on the results of Tuesday's presidential election gave Sen. John F. Kennedy a margin of 440,782 votes in New York State.

With all election districts reported, Kennedy had 3,857,777, to 3,416,995 for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Reports Car Output Down This Week

DETROIT (UP) — Auto production again will decline slightly this week from last week, Automotive News reported.

The trade paper estimated production for the current week at 143,796 passenger cars compared with 145,422 last week. A year ago, with the steel shortage hitting hard, the industry built only 64,452 units.

Compact cars will account for 33.9 per cent of the week's production compared with 42.8 per cent for standard size cars in the popular price field. Medium price cars will take 20.2 per cent of production with 3.1 per cent going to the luxury field.

Automotive News said truck production will run 20,779 units this week against 17,998 last week and 11,845 a year ago.

In Canada factories will build 6,625 cars and 1,010 trucks this week compared with 6,555 cars and 972 trucks last week and 3,389 cars and trucks in the similar week of 1959.

'My God, That's Not Mary!'

List Wrong Woman Dead

NEW YORK (UP) — An incredible case of mistaken identity was disclosed Thursday when a sealed coffin was opened so that a young man could place a ring on a finger of an airline stewardess who lay inside.

★ ★ ★

"My God! That's not Mary," whispered Bob Evans, a family friend, as he looked at the body of a young woman.

Mary Hawthorne, 26, of New York, was one of four American Airline stewardesses riding in a cab in San Bruno, Calif., Monday when it was in collision with another auto.

The four women and the cabbie were rushed to Peninsula Hospital in San Mateo, Calif. one stewardess died, and police, on the basis of scattered personal papers found at the crash scene, identified her as Mary Hawthorne.

The other girls underwent surgery and were placed on the critical list.

The body of the young woman identified as Mary Hawthorne was sent to the William Cooke Funeral Home in the Bronx. It lay entombed in a sealed coffin until nearly midnight.

Walter Scharmer of Massapequa Park, N. Y., Mary Hawthorne's uncle, said he was at the funeral home with Mary's friends, Evans and Norma Pugh, a stewardess.

"Bob Evans asked the man at the funeral home to open the coffin because he had a ring that Mary used to wear and he wanted to put it on her finger. It was a sentimental gesture.

"The Cooke man opened the coffin for him. No one in the family had asked to have the coffin opened and we still hadn't looked inside.

"But when the lid was pushed back, Evans told us he said, "Oh my God! That's not Mary!"

"The funeral was supposed to be at 2 p.m. today and we called it off."

MARY M. HAWTHORNE

JOAN ANNE FROST

The two other stewardesses involved in the crash were Shiela Murray, 22, and Teresa Diplacigo, 22, of Philadelphia.

Miss Hawthorne remains in critical condition. Heavy bandages conceal her face and she hasn't regained consciousness since the accident, which was near San Francisco International Airport.

Miss Murray and Miss Diplacigo were reported in good condition.

A spokesman for the California hospital said the identification was not questioned until Thursday night when the coroner's office called.

He said Thomas Frost, Joan Frost's father, was there but had been unable to see the patient's face because of bandages.

After the identity mix-up, a member of the California Highway Patrol said "the cab was demolished. The girls' personal belongings — their purses and such — were strewn all over the highway. They could easily have become scrambled."

Finch Attorney Fined $500 for Contempt

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Defense attorney Grant B. Cooper Thursday was fined $500 for contempt of court during the Finch-Tregoff murder retrial. At the same time the district attorney's office investigated a report that the jurors had reached a verdict but the judge had rejected it.

Judge Leroy Dawson had cited Cooper twice for contempt when the attorney objected to his statement to the jury in which he virtually instructed it to return a guilty verdict.

Dawson ordered Cooper to serve one day in jail for each $100 of the fine if he fails to pay, but the judge granted a 10-day stay of execution so the lawyer could file an appeal.

She's a Real Joiner

PLAINVILLE, Conn. (UP) — The local Business and Professional Women's Club picked a woman with an apt name to speak on "Membership." She was Mrs. Dorothy Joiner.

Needlework Guild to Help Out Needy Youngsters

Get 6,000 Items for Children

By MARY ANGLEMIER

Needy boys will sit somewhat straighter and the eyes of little girls will sparkle with the right answers when they wear not hand-me-downs but brand-new shirts and sweaters from Needlework Guild to school this winter.

Mrs. Edward P. Barrett, president of the Pontiac Branch of Needlework Guild, Inc., said nearly 6,000 garments and articles of household linen were contributed at the 48th annual ingathering in First Presbyterian Church Thursday morning.

Warm winter jackets, slacks, dungarees, wool hose, galoshes, plaid skirts and shirts, handmade mittens and head bands, caps, outing flannel pajamas and granny gowns were stacked high on tables throughout the dining hall.

Other articles included sweaters, blankets, towels, wash cloths and infant clothing.

Mrs. Charles A. Rogers was named president of the organization at the annual business session. Other officers elected were Mrs. Donald D. Bos, first vice president; Mrs. Chauncey G. Burke, second vice president; Mrs. Harold A. Furlong, third vice president; and Mrs. Harold A. Fitzgerald, fourth vice president.

Mrs. Anthony J. Michal was chosen executive secretary; Mrs. Donald A. Nicholie, recording secretary; Mrs. W. Ross Thompson, treasurer; and Mrs. William C. Rogers, assistant treasurer.

Known as "the charity that helps other charities" Needlework Guild will distribute the collected clothing to the Pontiac Area Day Nursery, Family Service of Oakland County, Camp Oakland, Boys' Ranch, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Michigan Children's Aid Society and Girls' Ranch.

Other agencies are the Salvation Army, Pontiac General Hospital, Oakland County Children's Home, Visiting Nurses, American Red Cross, Oakland County Health Department, Catholic Family Service, and Oakland County Juvenile Court boarding homes.

Assisting Mrs. Burke and Mrs. George H. Crane with distribution were Mrs. William B. Hartman, Mrs. Paul J. Rich, Mrs. John H. Patterson, Mrs. James G. Aldrich, Mrs. C. R. Gately, Mrs. William S. Isgrigg, Mrs. D. B. Eames, Mrs. Clifford T. Ekelund, and Mrs. John W. Fitzgerald.

Also assisting were Mrs. Robert S. Isgrigg, Mrs. Theodore H. Pauli, Mrs. Robert S. Nelson, Mrs. J. Alfred Hubbard, Mrs. Goodloe H. Rogers and Mrs. Harold E. Howlett.

Mrs. Charles Clarke reported 486 garments were made by the Queen Mary Section throughout the year.

The Grace Section in Auburn Heights contributed 300 articles of clothing. This group was named after the organizers, Mrs. H. H. Thatcher and the late Mrs. Harry Y. Fitzgerald. Mrs. Lester Snell is president and Mrs. Ernest Howell, vice president.

Abby Advises 'Guilty Conscience'

She Wants to Fall Out of Love

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: How can I stop loving someone who is on my mind night and day? I must forget him because I have no right to love him. I have tried everything. Please, can you help me?

"GUILTY CONSCIENCE"

DEAR "GUILTY": If you see this person at work—change jobs. Avoid all contact with him even if it means moving to another neighborhood or town.

ABBY

Keep busy doing things that will give you satisfaction. Don't allow yourself time to brood or dwell on old memories. Force yourself to meet others. Good luck!

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am 16 and a junior in high school. When I was a small child I liked to collect junk. That's my problem—I still do. I keep some of my school papers, projects and football pictures that I cut from the paper.

Abby, do you think it's fair for my family to go through my drawers and throw away my junk? The sneaky thing about it is that they do it when I am in school.

JUNK COLLECTOR

DEAR JUNK COLLECTOR: Not if you keep it neatly stashed away in your own tidy dresser drawers.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: How much does it cost to rent a movie camera for one night? Maybe if I took pictures of my husband eating his supper he would realize that something has to be done about the way he eats.

I know it isn't right to correct him in front of the children, but he eats like a pig and I can't stand it much longer. (Maybe just a tape recorder would help; he makes noise, too.)

END OF ROPE

DEAR END: Save this discussion for a time when your husband is well-fed and in his most receptive mood. Use your gentlest tone and most persuasive powers (and be sure the children aren't listening)—but give it to him with both barrels. Love can work wonders with Pygmalion and a pig.

DEAR ABBY: What is the proper procedure when friends adopt a baby? Should baby gifts be sent to the baby just as though the new "mother" gave birth to the child?

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Yes, send the baby a gift.

★ ★ ★

If you want a personal reply from Abby, write to her in care of this paper and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. She answers ALL letters.

First Name Not Very Respectful

By EMILY POST

Good Taste Today

Question: The following question has come up and been discussed so many times in our card group that we have decided to let you be the judge.

We are all young married women, in our twenties, with children who are just beginning to talk. The question is, should my two-and-a-half-year-old son call Mary Jones, a member of this group and a close friend, Mrs. Jones, Aunt Mary or just plain Mary? Somehow most of our children have been doing the latter.

In our discussions we have said that aunt is not proper since these women are not really relatives, "Mrs." sounds entirely too formal and old for such close young friends, yet plain Mary does seem a little rude for a young child. What in your opinion, is proper?

Answer: Mrs. Jones is correct; "Aunt Mary" is quite all right for an especially close friend whom the child sees very often, but plain Mary is definitely not proper.

Question: Recently while at a friend's house I had occasion to use her telephone. After I had finished talking, I left a coin at the telephone to pay for the call. Wasn't this the correct thing to do?

I understand my hostess considers my paying for the call very humiliating to her and is rather peeved over the whole thing. I would very much like your opinion as to whether I did the wrong thing and if she is justified in feeling that I have humiliated her?

Answer: To pay for a single local call might perhaps have been very finicky, but strictly speaking, it was correct and should not have been thought humiliating. If you had called long distance then you were absolutely right.

You in Good Health?

Go Easy on the Rouge Pot

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

(The Question Box)

Q. "Can you tell me a way of getting rosy cheeks? I have no color in my face at all."

A. The color in your face depends to some extent on the thickness of your skin. Of course pallor also can be due to anemia or poor health generally.

If you have any reason to think that you are not in good health, have a physical check-up by your family physician. If your health is good, then you have an easy-to-solve beauty problem. Use rouge. Apply it subtly, blending it carefully so that its outline is not defined.

VERY THIN

Q. "I am 14 years old and am very thin for my age. I eat plenty of things which should make me gain weight. Do you think that I should take one of the medicines which are advertised to make one gain weight?"

A. I do not think that you should take anything without consulting your doctor. You say that you eat plenty of things which should make you gain weight. Are some of these candy bars, sundaes, and rich desserts?

They are fine in their place but remember that one of the causes of underweight is a vitamin deficiency. Be sure that you eat three well-balanced meals daily, with plenty of vegetables and fresh fruits included.

What about your breakfast? Do you skip it or eat very little then? Breakfast is one of the wonderful meals for building health, AND weight.

You can afford to eat and enjoy cereals with as much cream and sugar as you like (lucky you) and you can have your eggs scrambled with butter and cream added, or you can have baked eggs, topped with cheese, or hot cakes with syrup, or stewed fruit with sugar and butter and jelly on your toast. In fact you can have, and profit, by having several of these items.

Vitamin B complex also is thought to aid in gaining poundage. I take it for granted that you get enough sleep. Why not swim regularly in a pool this winter?

MUCH HEALTH VALUE

Q. "I have been told to eat a high protein diet but also have heard that eggs have a very high fat content. Is this true?"

A. So far as calorie count, an egg has about 75 calories, and gives you much health value. However, the yellow of the egg does have a high fat content; the white being protein.

Favoring One Child Is Not Necessarily Love

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

Before our son was born my husband was crazy about our little girl. Everyone noticed it. But now that the baby is growing, he's changed toward her.

Any quarrel they have is always her fault. He boasts about what a fine, manly little boy Stan is but scarcely has a word for Linda. If I object to this partiality, he denies he shows it.

Answer: Do you equate your husband's partiality for your son with affection for the child? If so, you may be too much impressed by it to be able to discuss it with him fearlessly.

It may be important for you to see that we do not demonstrate affection for a child by showing him preference over his brothers and sisters. Indeed, we are demonstrating quite the opposite. We are making him the butt of our other children's jealously.

* * *

Usually, without knowing it, we are using the favored child to express the secret bitterness we felt ourselves as children when a brother or sister seemed to be depriving us of the attention, pleasures or justifications we thought belong to us.

Is your husband the brother of an older sister? It is very easy for a father who has grown up in the shadow of an admired, dominating sister to see himself in his daughter's little brother.

If he isn't aware of his own childhood's feelings of rage and helplessness, he will imagine that his little son is experiencing these same feelings toward his sister when she quarrels with him.

He will rush to champion the boy as he used to yearn for his own parents to justify him. He will be quite unconscious of the influence those childish experiences are exerting on his behavior because they were so painful and unhappy that he doesn't want to remember them.

* * *

Thus, the parent who shows favoritism toward one of his children is usually showing it toward the deprived and put-upon younger sister he used to feel himself to be.

* * *

If we credit his favoritism with genuine love, it's very hard to try and discuss it with him. We feel a respect for his "love" that it doesn't rate. We feel obliged to plead with him to give some of that wonderful "love" to the child he neglects.

But if we understand that he's favoring himself, not the favored child, we refuse to be put on the defensive. We can explode our sense of injustice without fear that we're intruding on a glorious emotion.

Nab Sarah Churchill on 7th Drunk Count

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's daughter Sarah was brought into court today on a charge of drunkenness for the seventh time in the past two years.

Accepting her plea of guilty, a magistrate put the 45-year-old actress on probation for 12 months. Under British court practice, this means she will be accountable to a probation officer for her actions during this period. If arrested again on a similar charge she could be jailed.

Tribal Customs in the Congo Call for Feeding All Needy Kin

By WILLIAM ANDERSON
United Press International

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — Tribal loyalties which strangled African progress for centuries are preventing mass starvation among the unemployed thousands in Congolese cities.

Although there are nearly 80,000 unemployed now in Leopoldville alone, there are few cases of starvation since everything is pooled among family members, including remote cousins.

His income makes him one of the highest earners among the 400,000 Africans in the capital. White collar workers earn about $50 a month.

★ ★ ★

When Belgian employers fled last July, many of Edouard's relations lost their jobs. Tribal law forces him to feed them.

★ ★ ★

"I have two sisters, their husbands and children, two cousins as well as my wife and three children to support," he said.

Before Independence day June 30, Edouard earned enough to buy his own taxi, live in a three-room house with an icebox, phonograph, electricity and running water. He hoped to send his sons to a university.

But his house now is invaded by unemployed relatives sleeping in his kitchen, garden and dining room.

He was bitter about one cousin who could get a job with the United Nations as a mechanic—"But he does not feel like working any more."

"Why don't you kick him out," I asked.

Edouard looked incredulous "But he is the son of my father's brother," he said. "I could never return to my family again if I did that."

He paused, and added, "Besides, if I got tribal agreement to kick him out, he would only start stealing. And since I am the only wage-earner in the family, tribal law says I pay the fine if he is caught . . . it is cheaper to provide him daily chop."

The question that haunts Edouard's sleep is what will happen when the taxi, which now has 55,000 miles on it, finally gives out.

Edouard cannot buy a new one, since he doesn't even have enough money for a down payment.

"Then, my wife and children must return to our village and live off the communal chop pot," he said.

Thieves Imitate Moles to Burglarize Market

Emulating moles, they got under the floor of the market and used a brace, bit and saw to cut an opening and gain entrance. Stolen were 50 cartons of cigarettes.

Valentine Arrives Seven Years Late

Bois Blanc Is Michigan's Personal Island Paradise

By United Press International

Bois Blanc Island is a Northern Michigan wilderness resort where Michigan's last remaining virgin pine forests have been preserved by the state for perpetual enjoyment of nature lovers.

The 12-mile-long island is in Lake Huron, seven miles out from Cheboygan and has only a handful of year-around residents.

The island is reached by ferry in the summer. Car ferries make two or three trips to the island from Cheboygan daily during the hot-weather months.

During the winter months, regular mail runs are made to the island by icemobile. And island residents drive across the frozen lake for provisions.

Bois Blanc (pronounced Bob-Lo) has about 150 cottages and many urban residents make the island their summer home.

FISHERMAN'S DREAM

The island also is an angler's paradise. Lake Huron affords excellent fishing. And three inland lakes are heavily populated with bass, perch and pike.

Thirty-five miles of good roads make touring of the island simple. The island hotel, at Point Aux Pins, rents cars to persons who don't want to bring their own over by ferry.

In addition to the hotel, the island has an Episcopal church, a post office, two gas stations, a grocery store, a tavern and a township hall. The hall is the school for children of the 15 families who reside on Bois Blanc year-around.

★ ★ ★

Red and white pines and hemlocks are intermingled in the forests, which were spared from the woodsman's axe by the conservation commission. The commission set the area aside for nature study.

Aside from its picturesque properties, the island has another major asset. A very low pollen count makes it a haven for late summer hay fever sufferers.

Carver School District Assigned to Oak Park

County Board's Action Poses Problems for 'Heir'

By DICK SAUNDERS

Administrators of the Oak Park School District today began wrestling with the problem of how to absorb the Carver School District of Royal Oak Township.

At a meeting Thursday afternoon, the Oakland County Board of Education voted unanimously to attach the defunct Carver district to the Oak Park district.

The attachment becomes "effective immediately," according to the county board resolution.

Both the Oak Park and Ferndale school boards had been opposed to annexation of the all-Negro district for financial reasons.

Property value in Royal Oak Township is considerably lower than in either of the other two neighboring districts.

When informed of the county's decision, Oak Park School Board President Arthur G. Parkilan scheduled a meeting of his board for Monday night to discuss ways and means of carrying out the order.

"Oak Park school officials plan to utilize all of their resources to accomplish the most equitable and effient transition possible,' Parkilan said in a prepared statement.

"No changes in student or teacher assignments in the Carver district are anticipated at this time."

'DEDICATED TO SOLUTION'

Parkilan explained that his board and the administrative staff would be "dedicated to the solution of the many problems involved in the attachment process."

Many of those problems will concern legal questions rising from such a midyear attachment.

The question of tenure status of teachers and whether all teachers under contract until June, 1961 must be kept on the payroll also must be settled.

Pay-rate differences will be a problem, too.

The same contractural problems will arise in respect to administrative staff personnel.

With the deadline now past to levying a millage increase in the district, problems of how to pay for the added territory will occur.

At a meeting several weeks ago, Berton Shifman, attorney for the Oak Park board, suggested the county's action be delayed until the end of the current school year.

County board members yesterday agreed this was one of the most difficult decisions they had ever had to make.

'BEST ACTION POSSIBLE'

"The law gives the county board no prerogative to avoid or delay the dissolvement and attachment by its own acts," said Dr. William J. Emerson, county superintendent of schools.

"The board feels that its action is the best action it can take under Michigan law," he explained, adding it was based purely on the geographic locations of both districts.

The Carver problem mushroomed when ninth grade students were refused admission to Detorit high schools in September.

Ferndale and Oak Park school districts said they couldn't afford the added students.

On Sept. 12, the Carver board resigned en masse.

No candidates applied for the vacant seats and after an election Oct. 26 in which no votes were cast the county board officially stepped in to dispose of the dissolved school district.

A complete program of education has never been offered in the Carver district since its inception as a wartime housing community in 1945.

The Oak Park district will absorb the bank accounts of the Carver district and will get all state aid coming to the district plus its own.

Taxes, too, will be paid to the Oak Park administration.

GETS DEBT, TOO

But Oak Park will also assume the Carver district's current $90,000 debt.

The Oak Park district will also get 37 Carver teachers under contract, the 60-room George Washington Carver School and some 1,081 students.

Rowland Hall Dinner Dec. 10

Plan Kitchen Celebration

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — Climaxing months of work by a handful of township residents, the new kitchen in Rowland Hall, Leonard, is completed.

Now plans are being made to inaugurate its use for business and social functions in the township by holding a dedication dinner there Dec. 10.

PLAN CELEBRATION

Members of the committee named by the Addison Township Development Association to undertake the project are inviting all township residents to attend the dinner and see the results of their labors.

Organized just a year ago, the association decided immediately to set up committees to handle several matters that had been of major concern to the township for a number of years.

Among them was the kitchen committee named to investigate the possibility of moving the kitchen in Rowland Hall from the second floor to the first floor to make it more functional.

Committees also were appointed to investigate sites for a township dump, to consider offering library service to township residents and to look into FHA loans for home builders.

The new 20.9 by 7.7-foot kitchen, designed with the help of Mrs. Carolyn Schorck, Oakland County home economics agent, replaces the stage at the north end of the first floor meeting room.

It is painted a sparkling white with bright yellow counters extending the full width of both sides of the kitchen.

A large pass-through faces the meeting room, and there is a dutch door at the right end where dishes can be handed to kitchen workers. There also is a pass-through for soiled dishes at the far left end.

The entire room is illuminated with fluorescent lights, and the drawers and cupboards are built to be opened without pulls.

Cost of the new kitchen was $2,100, according to Township Clerk Robert McCallum, named by the association to supervise its construction.

Mrs. Melvin W. Thorman, association secretary, heads the kitchen committee. Last night her group made plans for the dinner to inaugurate the facility.

According to association president, Hiram Terry, a specialist in the field of community development will be invited to talk on this occasion.

Tickets for the affair will go on sale next week.

AVON TOWNSHIP — The Oakland County Road Commission has notified the Avon Township Board that a traffic light will be installed at Walton and Adams roads because of the increased traffic at the intersection.

First Meeting for PTA Council

Avondale Association's Initial Program Will Feature a Panel

The Avondale Area Parent-Teacher Association Council will hold its first official meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Elmwood School, 2751 Auburn Ave.

Elmwood PTA members will be the hosts.

★ ★ ★

The council has as its theme for the year "Search for Tomorrow" and has planned its forthcoming meeting on the subject "Concentration."

★ ★ ★

Her talk will be followed by a panel discussion on the Fifth Annual Community Education Workshop held Oct. 25-27 in Flint.

Those attending were Mrs. William U. Porter, Avondale Board of Education member; Mrs. Alfonso Goforth, Avondale PTA Council president; William Bishop, legislative chairman of the council; Mrs. Bishop, vice president, Elmwood PTA; and William Saville, assistant principal, Avondale High School.

They will explain the "Community School Idea." Community schools are defined by the Michigan Department of Public Instruction as, "schools built through the active participation of the community for the use of all."

The local council is urging all residents in the Avondale area interested in education to attend the session.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Appointment of John P. Butterfield, 44, as executive engineer on the corporate staff of the Martin Co. was announced Thursday night.

Butterfield joined Martin from the Chrysler Corp. at Detroit, where he had been director of advanced projects and from 1952 to 1958 executive engineer for Chrysler in the Redstone and Jupiter ballistic missile programs.

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The second polio clinic sponsored by the township health committee will be held Monday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at the West Bloomfield High School.

Each innoculation will cost $1 and any in the series of shots will be given at that time.

Holds Up Returns in Royal Oak Twp.

A court order signed by Circuit Judge H. Russel Holland, has restrained the Oakland County Board of Canvassers from certifying the results of Tuesday's vote which abolished the Royal Oak Township Civil Service Commission for police and firemen.

Judge Holland scheduled a hearing Monday for township officials to show cause why the order should not be made permanent, voiding the election — the second on civil service in four months.

A laid-off township police officer, Ernest Wilson, contended that at least 104 voters were deprived of their right to vote on the issue because of a mechanical defect in one of the voting machines.

Since the vote was close, 457 to 446, the 104 voters could have swung the election the other way, said Wilson, who conceded that he would lose his seniority on the force if the civil service commission is dropped.

Wilson said he was laid off in a budgetary cut this year, but expects to be rehired if the police budget is expanded.

He noted that a similar move to drop civil service was defeated at the polls Aug. 2 by 60 votes. The township's civil service has the same setup as the one in Pontiac from 1957 to 1959. It is based on provisions of an optional state law.

Drag Strip Suit Due in January

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — A Circuit Court suit aimed at the township for its refusal to allow a drag strip to be built here will be heard early in January.

A definite date hasn't been scheduled but Supervisor Edward Cheyz said the hearing might take place the second week of the month.

The plaintiff in the suit is Robert Amos, owner of the Pontiac Speedway on M59 in the township.

Amos was constructing a drag strip on his property last year when he was halted by the township. The speedway owner needed to have 15 acres adjoining the speedway rezoned before the drag strip could be completed.

Clarkston Cubs Praised in Germany

Scouts Rate High as Diplomats

CLARKSTON — They don't carry important-looking attache cases or wear dignified black homburgs, but the cub scouts in Pack 181 feel like successful foreign ambassadors today.

★ ★ ★

Several months of hard work on a goodwill project by members of the cub scout pack has been recognized in a letter of appreciation from Horst Hanover, Germany.

The cubs last spring made a friendship scrapbook which included autobiographies of pack members and pictures of their leaders, den meetings, outdoor activities and games.

'DEEPEST APPRECIATION'

A letter recently was received from Miss Susanne Bocker, cubmaster of the Wolfsmente Slonpack of Horst Hanover, expressing the "deepest appreciation" of the album gift by the German scouts.

Miss Bocker also wrote that her pack now is at work on its own scrapbook and will send it to the Clarkston cub pack, which is sponsored by the Sashabaw School Parent-Teacher Association.

But, most of all, cubs in this new pack are proudest of their roles as "foreign ambassadors."

What many people don't know about crabgrass

1. Crabgrass grows only from seed. The dead crabgrass plants you see now will disintegrate and disappear—leaving ugly bare patches in your lawn. Crabgrass is an annual. It re-seeds itself at the end of each summer.

2. Last year's seed is in the ground. Crabgrass is one of nature's most prolific weeds. Right now, literally billions of crabgrass seeds are waiting in most lawns for spring warmth to germinate. Then the vicious cycle starts all over again.

3. You can keep it from coming up. A single winter application of HALTS with the accurate Scotts Spreader creates an invisible barrier against crabgrass. HALTS lies in wait, kills crabgrass as it sprouts. (HALTS will not harm good grass—doesn't interfere with seeding.)

Nixon's Margin in Hawaii Cut

Kennedy May Yet Get Three Electoral Votes From 50th State

HONOLULU (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon's edge over President-elect John F. Kennedy has dwindled from 117 to 91 votes in the latest unofficial tabulation of Hawaii's election returns.

The see-saw battle for the 50th state's three electoral votes took another twist Thursday when Kennedy narrowed the margin by picking up some extra votes on Hawaii Island.

However, Nixon won't know if he has won the state until next week because all the results still have to be double-checked, according to A. P. Medeiros of the lieutenant governor's office.

Kennedy, believed to be the winner early Wednesday morning, suddenly trailed hours later when discrepancies turned up in six Oahu Island precincts. They put Nixon ahead by 117 votes.

Hawaii Democrats want a total recount but Republicans oppose it on the grounds the job would cost $32,000.

'I'd Be Proud of Dem Post,' Says Williams

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams is leaving the door open to a job in the administration of President-Elect John F. Kennedy, but made it clear he is also leaving the question completely in the hands of Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

"Naturally I would feel honored to serve with the Kennedy administration," Williams said.

"I told him (Kennedy) at Mackinac Island that I did not want him to commit himself. I haven't anything to say beyond that," Williams said.

Williams said he planned to talk to Kennedy before leaving for a South American tour Saturday.

Broker Predicts Quiet Market

Another Says Stocks to Be Slow Until Early in January

NEW YORK (UPI) — There appears to be a very considerable sentiment around that this is the last chance to get aboard for a resumption of the old bull market or for the beginning of a new one, according to Clark, Dodge & Co.

It says that chances for a wild Democratic spending program appear quite limited and the facts of business life should reassume their importance in short order.

Clark, Dodge thinks this is hardly the time to participate in a scramble for stocks as the market's current rally will soon have exhausted the last vestige of its technical strength.

★ ★ ★

Gerald M. Loeb, partner in E. F. Hutton & Co., says the outcome of the election will have a minimum effect on the market until the early part of January. Investors then will react to Kennedy proposals rather than discount his actions based on campaign oratory, Loeb feels.

★ ★ ★

Walter Maynard, senior partner in charge of research for Shearson, Hammill & Co., offers word that seems typical of Wall Street sentiment in regard to the election outcome. He says: "The narrow margin of the Democratic victory in the popular vote, and in key states, suggests that the new administration will have difficulty in implementing some of the more radical proposals contained in the Democratic platform." It is this view which accounts for the current market upswing, according to Wall Street concensus.

The lofty Empire State building in New York has about 6,500 windows.

Albino Lobster Added to Maine Aquarium

Unlike most albinos, the rare lobster caught by veteran lobsterman Burton L. Crowley of Biddeford Pool is far from colorless. The unusual specimen is flesh colored on the underside, but the top shell runs from a light to deep blue.

Waterford Twp. Man Recalls Cuban Unrest

Today has a special meaning for Army veteran Robert E. Van Marter, 74, of Waterford Township. He remembers back 54 years when he was with the 11th Infantry stationed in Cuba to curb spasmodic uprisings.

"Life seems to be one big circle," he said. "Those Cubans are at it again — the same as back in 1900."

After the Spanish American War was over, rebels in Cuba decided to get a little attention from the world and small upheavals broke out periodically on the island, he says.

Then, the down-trodden people looked to the United States for help, and 5,000 American soldiers were shipped to Cuba as the Army of Cuban Pacification, he adds.

The rebels took to the hills, with machetes swinging. And there they stayed, according to Van Marter.

"As long as the big American troops occupied the island, people felt secure from attacks," he added.

One incident almost started a war between the American soldiers and the Cuban police, the retired soldier recalled. The soldiers were a little noisy in a downtown tavern, and a Cuban policeman shot one of the American boys in the back.

This started a near riot, and American officials clamped a guard around the soldiers' barracks for two weeks.

Even after the men were allowed to roam the streets again, police would disappear at the sight of a soldier, Van Marter said.

About that time the Cuban people were getting weary of U. S. protection, and elected their first president.

The American flag was lowered and for the first time in history, Cuba raised its own flag amid much celebrating.

Van Marter, who lives with his wife at 4333 Waterloo St., was shipped home just in time to carry the American flag down Washington Boulevard, in the inaugural parade of Howard William Taft.

Van Marter's dad was in the Civil War and his son Merle has been in the Navy 21 years with the submarine division.

And to top things off, Merle's son is scheduled to leave Nov. 28 for French Morocco in Africa, with the U.S. Army.

HELPED IN CUBA — Robert E. Van Marter of Waterford Township believes the excitable Cuban people still need periodic taming down. He was one of 5,000 soldiers sent to quell upheavals more than 50 years ago.

3 Boys Throw Their Money to the Winds

DETROIT (AP) — Three boys tossed $188,613 to the wind Thursday.

The boys, 9 and 10 years old, found the checks under a mail box. They were marked for delivery to a Detroit bank. The boys tried to cash them, but couldn't.

The checks were stamped so that they could only be deposited to a special account.

Fire in Philly Kills Three Tots

Boy, 4, Playing With Matches Said Cause; 3 Others Saved

PHILADELHPIA (AP) — A fire which investigators said was touched off by a four-year-old boy playing with matches swept a home Thursday night killing three children.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Fire Chief Joseph Cody said John Mullins lighted a newspaper which touched off the blaze. Cody said John died in an apparent attempt to rescue his two younger sisters, Sharon, 18 months, and Deborah, 6 months, who were killed as they lay sleeping.

Another Mullins' child, Patricia, 8, led two other sisters, Marie, 5, and Michele, 3, down a staircase to safety.

The children's mother, Kathleen Mullins, 24, had left them alone in the house for a few minutes, officials said, while she went to a neighbor's home to report a disruption in her electrical service.

All of the victims were Negroes.

Absentee Vote Important

Nixon Watching Count of Home State Ballots

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Counting has begun today of more than 220,000 absentee ballots which Vice President Richard M. Nixon feels confident will give him the 32 electoral votes of his home state of California.

★ ★ ★

The record-smashing 6.2 million ballots cast in California Tuesday gave President-Elect John F. Kennedy a margin of 37,000. Whether absentees will reduce, erase or increase that margin will not be known until Tuesday. Several populous places do not begin counting until then.

There was no question, despite the Republican nominee's nationwide defeat by Kennedy, that Nixon remained a political power in California.

In Sacramento, Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat, called the state result "too close for comfort" and readily acknowledge Nixon would be a strong candidate for governor should he run in 1962. Brown is expected to seek reelection.

Brown assessed the over-all Calitory. Democrats retained their 16-14 margin in the California delegation in Congress and increased their strength in the legislature, where they won control two years ago for the first time since 1889.

Kennedy's margin of 37,000 was the closest presidential race in California since 1948 when Democrat Harry Truman won by 17,800.

In Washington, Herbert G. Klein, Nixon's press secretary said:

"The vice president has seen the almost complete tally of California votes and is confident that the margin he will gain in the later absentee ballot will be more than enough to make him the winner in California."

Absentee counting started Thursday in Los Angeles and Sacramento. Others, including San Francisco, San Diego and Fresno, delayed the count until the day after the Monday deadline for the ballots to be received.

Ford Establishes Assembly Division

DETROIT (UP)—Ford Motor Co. said Thursday it has reorganized its car building operations under a new automotive assembly division to be headed by Denis J. Bracken.

Previously all assembly operations of the company had been under Ford Division.

The new division includes the corporation's 17 assembly plants in 12 states which build Ford, Mercury, Lincoln Continental, Thunderbird, Falcon and Comet automobiles and Ford trucks.

Bracken has been manufacturing manager of Ford Division.

The change was made in connection with executive moves which elevated Robert S. McNamara to the presidency of Ford.

The Abominable Snowman of the Himalayas was first reported by Col. Howard Bury in 1921. Bury, leader of a Mount Everest reconnaissance party, said he came across a track that "looked like a human foot."

Dem Praises Defeated Nixon

Ability in Defense and Foreign Policy Praised by Montana's Mansfield

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said Thursday he hopes President-Elect Kennedy will make use of "the great abilities which Mr. Nixon possesses" in the next administration.

Mansfield commended Vice President Richard M. Nixon "for his graciousness in defeat for the presidency and his unequivocal pledge to support the president-elect."

"I would express the hope that the great abilities which Mr. Nixon possesses might be used as the occasion demands by President-Elect Kennedy," he told a reporter.

In reply to a question, Mansfield said he had in mind the field of foreign policy and defense, in which Nixon "has demonstrated a degree of knowledge and understanding which the United States cannot allow to go to waste."

* * *

Mansfield is generally regarded as likely to succeed to the post of Senate Democratic leader when Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas relinquishes it and resigns from the Senate and becomes vice president.

Employed Stand 67,500,000

Jobless at 3.6 Million in October, Up 200,000

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of unemployed reached 3.6 million in October, increasing 200,000 from the previous month and hitting the highest rate since the 1958 recession, the Labor Department reported today.

* * *

The new figures pushed the jobless rate—the proportion of unemployed to the total work force—from 5.7 per cent in September to 6.4 in October.

This was the highest rate since December 1958, when the nation was recovering from an economic recession.

An unemployment rate of 6 per cent is used by the Labor Department as the yardstick to determine whether an area is economically "depressed."

The department does not, however, make such determinations for the entire nation.

Total employment fell by about 300,000 in October for a total of 67.5 million, "mainly as a result of postharvest reductions in agriculture," the department said.

* * *

The report on unemployment was the subject of a heated pre-election clash between the administration and the Democrats.

Democratic National Chairman Henry M. Jackson and AFL-CIO President George Meany accused the administration of withholding the monthly figures until after Tuesday's election.

The department attributed the increase in the jobless rate primarily to cutbacks in manufacturing, especially in the steel and electronics industries.

The "big push in the auto industry" was cited as primarily responsible for the fact that the factory work week moved from and average of 39.5 hours in September to 39.6 hours in October. This reversed a decline in the work week reported over recent months.

* * *

Average weekly earnings also increased to a new high of $91.48, sixty-three cents above the September average.

Labor Party Elects Man in Runoff Vote

Brown, 46, a supporter of Gaitskell's defense line that Britain should remain a nuclear power, defeated Fred Lee 146-83 in a run-off ballot.

Oliver Hardy's Widow to Wed Cleveland Man

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Lucille Hardy, the widow of comedy actor Oliver Hardy, and Cleveland industrialist Ben A. Price plan to marry today in Las Vegas, Nev.

★ ★ ★

Friends said the couple met at a swimming pool in the North Hollywood apartment house where each has an apartment.

★ ★ ★

Price, 51, a widower, is one of the owners of a Cleveland electronics firm. Mrs. Hardy, 45, has been in the real estate business in recent years. Hardy died in 1957.

What Happened to Lyndon? — GOP Found Out

Postelection Soul-Searching Goes On

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — They'll be poking through the remains of the 1960 election for months, maybe years, seeking the real causes of both the triumph and the disaster.

As in the wake of every upheaval of man and nature, the search for heroes and goats is already under way. First returns on these findings are, as usual, confusing.

For example, we learn from one responsible source that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller curdled his political future by his hot-cold activities. The complaint is that he broke public confidence in Nixon, then saddled him with an unpopular platform, then did too little too late for him in the campaign.

But another source whose credentials are just as good as the former one threw his hat in the air and says, "We're a cinch in 1964 with Rocky leading us. He'd have won in a walk against Kennedy."

And what of Mr. Nixon? There is no way of knowing, not even through the magic boxes the television boys wheeled out to do their thinking for them, but this reporter believes that the narrowness of the margin by which Nixon lost increased his political stature.

He fell breathtakingly short of scoring a startling upset in a race in which the registration cards were sternly stacked against him. He'll be only 51 years old the next time the brass ring comes around.

And what did this election do for the future of New Jersey's Sen. Clifford P. Case? Case, a liberal Republican, beat his Democratic opponent Thorn Lord by more than 300,000 votes while Kennedy was edging out Nixon for the state's electoral votes.

Men have rocketed to greater fame from the Senate after an achievement like that.

As the vote rolled in the other night and early morning the nation was given a quiet but eye-opening demonstration of the subtle strength of Sen. Lyndon Johnson and the wisdom of Kennedy in selecting him.

Some had scoffed that Kennedy was seen so rarely with his running mate during the campaign that he must be ashamed of him. The jibe of "whatever happened to Lyndon?" sounded through the GOP and, indeed, through many Democratic circles.

Lyndon tacitly answered that question as of Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning. Texas didn't leave the Democratic fold, as so many Republicans were positive it would. There wasn't any religious rebellion in Louisiana either, no antiplatform rebellion in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina or South Carolina.

Lyndon addressed crowds in this campaign, crowds of two and three Southern governors, leaders, influential members of Congress. He kept them in line.

The 5,000-seat stadium opened in 1958 after a four-year campaign by Wexford County residents collected more than $96,000 for its construction. Final contributions received last summer financed a bronze plaque carrying the names of county residents who died in military service. The plaque is being unveiled as part of the ceremony.

Explorer VIII Working Well

All Eight Experiments on New U.S. Satellite Respond as Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — All eight experiments aboard Explorer VIII, the newest satellite, are working well, including the one that has to be switched on from the ground.

★ ★ ★

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported this today after detailed analysis of taped telemetry information sent back by radio devices aboard the 90-pound scientific space package.

★ ★ ★

Morton J. Stoller, assistant director of NASA's space flight programs, said the electric field meter aboard Explorer VIII was first turned on by a radio signal from Blossom Point, Md., during the satellite's fifth orbit of the earth, and since has been used repeatedly.

MEASURES CHARGE

The field meter measures the amount of electrical charge that has collected on the surface of the satellite.

Stoller said that when a radio signal turns on the switch, the meter goes into operation for two minutes and then turns off automatically to avoid drain on the batteries.

He said the other experiments, which operate continuously, also appear to be operating well.

They are providing information on the ionosphere—the thick layer of electrified particles extending from 50 to about 1,000 miles above the earth — which may result in vast improvement of long-range radio communications of the future.

In Credentials Committee

Kasavubu Wins U.N. Vote

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The United States beat down Soviet-Arab opposition Thursday night and pushed through the credentials committee a recommendation to seat President Joseph Kasavubu as the Congo's U. N. representative. But a bitter fight in the General Assembly is in prospect.

★ ★ ★

The U. S. resolution was voted through 6-1 with the Soviet Union casting the dissenting vote. The United Arab Republic and Morocco—which had backed the Soviet Union in a dogged effort to adjourn the committee without action—refused to take part in the ballot.

★ ★ ★

The two Arab members charged that the credentials vote conflicted with the General Assembly's decision Wednesday to suspend consideration of the Congo question until a 15-nation Asian-African conciliation commission tries to bring together the warring political factions in the young African nation.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Both sides interpreted Thursday night's vote as encouraging to their cause.

★ ★ ★

A source close to the United States said refusal of the U. A. R. and Morocco to vote on the credentials question could mean that the 25-nation African bloc will not vote against Kasavubu.

★ ★ ★

A Communist informant, on the other hand, declared that by ramming the resolution through over the strong U. A. R.-Moroccan objections the United States had ruined its relations with the powerful 45-nation Asian-African bloc for the rest of the assembly session.

★ ★ ★

This could mean that the United States would have to buck opposition from both the nine-nation Soviet Bloc and the Asian-Africans in the assembly.

The United States is trying to get the assembly to act quickly on the credentials issue. U. S. Delegate James W. Barco, who introduced the resolution, told a reporter his delegation hoped a plenary session would be held early next week on the committee's report.

Williams' New Drama Different, Has Warmth

By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Critic

Absent from the play, which opened Thursday night at the Helen Hayes Theater, is the brown despair, morbid abnormality and intensifying violence of recent Williams' creative sequence.

The chief performers are James Daly, Barbara Baxley, Robert Webber and Rosemary Murphy. All are excellent, but Miss Baxley is superb in the Broadway triumph of her career as a girl who suddenly grows up.

"Period of Adjustment" blends hilarity, warmth and tenderness in narrating the way in which two young couples extricate themselves from assorted marital misunderstandings.

It wouldn't be at all surprising if the blend of sophistication, laughter and insight sends a lot of couples homeward holding hands. Quite a switch from "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," "Suddenly Last Summer" and "Sweet Bird of Youth."

★ ★ ★

George Roy Hill directs his cast—four minor players in addition to the major quartet—with a dexterity that makes the most of dialogue and situation.

★ ★ ★

Two Actresses Sue Husbands for Divorce

Miss Winters has a daughter, Vittoria, by her first marriage to Vittorio Gassman.

The couple married in New York Nov. 21, 1954, and parted last Sept. 28. They have a son, Matthew, 4.

Mythical Prep Title at Stake in Flint Game

Chiefs Could Muster Third Place With Win at Wisner

By BILL CORNWELL

Bay City Central and Flint Northern wage an all-out war for the Saginaw Valley Conference football championship and Pontiac Central bids for a 1st-division berth against dangerous Flint Central to highlight tonight's area prep grid card.

Flint's Atwood Stadium will be the state's gridiron capital as the Wolves and Northern match perfect records in a struggle for the coveted Saginaw Valley crown.

Approximately 5,300 tickets have been sold for the Bay City-Northern dogfight and upwards of 10,000 fans are expected to watch the showdown battle if the weatherman cooperates.

★ ★ ★

The Chiefs of PCH gun for their 1st triumph over Flint Central since 1952 when the two evenly-matched squads square off at Pontiac's Wisner Stadium in another important Valley contest. The Chiefs could finish 3rd in the league by winning.

Flint Central, the Chief's oldest grid rival, has dominated the long series that dates back to 1910. The Indians have 31 victories compared to only 11 for PCH.

The Chief's last victory over the Indians was a 21-18 decision eight years ago. PCH has tied them twice, 9-9 in 1911 and 21-21 in 1930.

This 45th renewal of a heated rivalry looks like a tossup from the word go. Flint's 5-2 record is better than Pontiac's 3-2-2 slate, but the Chiefs have earned the complete respect of their SVC foes this fall with some impressive performances and comparative records mean little or nothing here.

Except for fleet-footed Fred Nickerson, Flint Central's flashy halfback, and tackle Jeff Spires of PCH, both teams are physically sound for this game.

Nickerson, a dangerous breakaway runner, hurt his shoulder in the Arthur Hill contest and is not expected to play this evening. His replacement is figured to be Norm Alexander, a 175-pound junior.

Spires injured his hand in a freak accident at home and will not be available until the PCH-PNH game a week from tonight. Jerry Madden, a 210-pound sophomore, will replace him in the PCH line.

Both squads boast good speed, especially in the backfield where Dick McCauley, Roy Couser and Andy Roach will pit their swiftness against Flint's Nate Henderson, Jim Long and Alexander.

McCauley, the Valley's leading rusher, now has gained 859 yards in 123 tries for an average of 6.9 per carry and appears a cinch to top the 1,000-yard mark before the 1960 campaign is over.

Henderson has become Flint's leading ground gainer since Nickerson's injury with 499 yards in 59 attempts. Long, Henderson's understudy, is now the club's No. 2 runner with 12 carries for 59 yards.

Although generally not an aerial-minded outfit, the Indians still have been good enough through the air to complete 21 of 56 passes for 358 yards and three touchdowns. Quarterback Denny Lang and understudy Lionel Wells do the throwing.

Pontiac's defense, spearheaded by 235-pound Bill Pritchett, will be thoroughly tested by the Indians' versatile attack. Starting QB Bob Pomeroy and southpaw Larry Brennen are ready to direct the PCH offense. The Indians also will be ready to go since they're still title contenders.

A wide-open fight is anticipated at Flint where Bay City (8-0) is favored by the slimmest of margins to beat Northern (7-0) and carry home the Valley title.

Also at stake this evening will be Michigan's mythical Class A title. The Wolves enter the showdown tussle ranked No. 1 while Northern is rated No. 2.

Coach Paul Dellerba, whose PCH gridders met both teams, hedged on picking a winner. "As I see it, a wet field will work to Bay City's advantage while a dry field will help Northern," said Dellerbra.

The PCH-Flint Central and Bay City-Flint Northern games start at 8 p.m.

Saginaw High and Arthur Hill resume their long-standing city feud on the Hillite turf to complete the Valley schedule.

CASEY DOES THE TALKING — Casey Stengel is doing most of the talking and Tiger vice president Jimmy Campbell does the listening as the former Yankee manager talked with Detroit officials about the manager's job. Rick Ferrell and John Fetzer also talked to Stengel, but Casey did not commit himself as he is weighing some TV proposals.

Tigers Back to Rigney as Stengel Bows Out

DETROIT (AP)—Bill Rigney again is the prime candidate to become the Detroit Tigers' manager now that Casey Stengel has turned down the vacant post.

President John Fetzer, rebuffed yesterday by the grizzled ex-skipper of the New York Yankees, said he wants a new manager within a week.

The new Tiger owner, who personally conducted negotiations with Stengel, wants a manager with Major League experience. Of the known candidates, Rigney has the most. He was fired last summer by the San Francisco Giants even though they were in second place.

"I think that certainly his name will be considered, along with several others," Fetzer said shortly after Stengel turned him down in Glendale, Calif. "All the men we are considering have had previous experience as Major League managers."

★ ★ ★

Others on the list are Bob Scheffing, former manager of the Chicago Cubs, and Harry Craft, ex-Kansas City pilot. Eddie Lopat, pitcher and coach under Stengel at New York, also has been mentioned although he's never managed in the majors.

But most observers think Rigney will be the choice for the job vacated by Joe Gordon.

Fetzer indicated he may remain in California to talk with Rigney. Rigney lives in Walnut Creek near San Francisco.

He was considered the most likely choice until 10 days ago when the Tigers made their futile pitch for Stengel.

Since then, Rigney has played a patient waiting game while admitting he was interested in coming to Detroit.

In the National League, he was regarded as a wise, but sometimes nervous, manager with a sound baseball background. He played for the Giants before they sent him out for a minor league managerial apprenticeship in their farm system.

Fetzer said he wants his new manager signed by next Thursday when the American League has a meeting scheduled in New York.

Wings Win 5th Straight, Tie for 1st

Defeat Bruins 4-1 as Bassen Stays Unbeaten

Rookie Johnson Hits Net Twice; Montreal Whips Rangers

By The Associated Press

Coach Sid Abel's two-platoon goalie system of Terry Sawchuk and Hank Bassen has begun to pay dividends for the Detroit Red Wings.

Abel has been spotting Bassen with the veteran Sawchuk and the Wings have won five straight games to move into a tie for first place with Montreal in the National Hockey League.

Detroit, with Bassen in the nets, whipped the Boston Bruins 4-1 last night. The Canadiens kept pace with the Wings by outlasting the New York Rangers 9-7 in the only other game.

The 27-year-old Bassen, who had trials with the Chicago Black Hawks in 1954-55 and 1955-56 and then was shunted to the minors, is making the most of his appearances with Detroit. During the five games he has played, the Wings have won four times and tied once. Bassen has allowed 10 goals, an average of 2.00 per game.

Rookie winger Allan Johnson sparked the Wings with a pair of goals in the second period. The Bruins, who have failed to defeat Detroit in four meetings, lost their first home game of the season.

Alex Delvecchio's goal midway in the third period made it 3-0 before Bronco Horvath found the range for Boston. Parker MacDonald wound up the Detroit scoring in the final minute.

The Canadiens and Rangers 16-goal outburst was the highest of the season. Montreal overcame a 7-6 deficit late in the third period on two goals by Dickie Moore and one by Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion. Moore tied it at 11:58, Geoffrion produced the winner at 14:34 and Moore fired into an empty net in the last minute for the clincher, his 17th goal.

Jack McCartan was in the nets for the Rangers, who built up a 4-1 lead. New York has failed to win in its last seven outings, losing six times and tieing once.

Other two-goal scorers, besides Moore, were Ralph Backstrom for Montreal and Andy Bathgate and Johnny Wilson for the Rangers.

Thompson Winning Fight With Injury

The 31-year-old El Monte, Calif., pilot, holder of the American land speed mark of 363.67 miles an hour, suffered a fractured vertebra and paralysis of his legs in a hydroplane accident on Lake Mead last Sunday.

For a brief time it was thought he might never walk again. But then his physician, Dr. John R. Connolly, detected a movement of Thompson's toes.

★ ★ ★

"Mickey is slowly but surely regaining the use of his leg muscles and I look for a complete recovery," said Dr. Connolly. "He should be out of the hospital in two weeks and he'll have to wear a full body cast for about two months. After that, he can race again, and he insists he is going to race."

U-D Frosh Beat Broncos

All-State and All-Oakland County quarterback Ron Bishop led the U. of D. freshmen to a 34-12 win over Western Michigan University frosh yesterday at Titan Stadium.

★ ★ ★

Bobby Klott, Detroit all-city star, ran for 48 and 26 yard TD's; Bishop passed to make it 21-0 at halftime.

British Stop Kramer

LONDON (AP) — The British Lawn Tennis Association has put a crimp in the plans of Jack Kramer for an inter-zonal professional tournament for the proposed Kramer Cup. It has banned the use of British club courts, although leaving them open for other tournaments involving Kramer's pro stars. No reason was given for the action.

Traverse City Office Will Call Ski Signals

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — An office at 311 State St. is calling the signals this winter throughout the middle of the nation for the rapidly expanding sport of skiing.

Locating the headquarters of the Central United States Ski Association (CUSSA) in Traverse City also is considered by officials as a big boost in this northwest Michigan community's bid to become the top skiing center of the middle west.

"We have set our sights at enrolling 100 ski clubs with a membership of 20,000 skiing enthusiasts in CUSSA during the 1960-61 season," said Tom Joynt, who the past summer was made executive director of the 16-state CUSSA region.

Joynt, a native of Traverse City, also said that CUSSA will be putting more emphasis during the winter on recreational skiing rather than just racing and jumping ski events on which CUSSA has concentrated.

Joynt and Rowland Stebbins of Lansing, president of CUSSA, are in the midst of an extensive traveling program in the midwest on behalf of the association's membership drive. Stebbins has just completed a swing through Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

"There are now eight persons who ski for recreational reasons to every one person who takes part in skiing for competitive reasons," said Joynt.

The National Ski Association since last season has undergone a reorganization program in its seven divisions, of which CUSSA is one, Joynt said. The reorganization accounted for the new CUSSA headquarters here and the post of executive director which he has.

Previously, Joynt said, whatever records CUSSA had were kept at Cadillac.

★ ★ ★

Traverse City has two ski areas in its immediate vicinity, Holiday Hills to the east and Hickory Hills to the west. Both areas are just five miles apart and are set up for night-time skiing.

Pontiac Area Deer Success Is Requested

The Pontiac hunter can telephone his report collect to this office at Imlay City RA 4-4485. A game biologist will go to the hunter's residence or frozen food locker, determine the age of the deer by the amount of wear on the teeth, and measure its antlers and record the weight. Even if only the head remains he can still obtain the necessary information.

"We need to examine 500 southern Michigan buck deer this fall," states Thomas Osmer, district game supervisor. "We are now engaged in an intensive study to secure information vital to the management of the southern Michigan deer herd.

"With the high productivity of two fawns from each doe, the herd should be increasing at a faster rate. First of all we need to know how many bucks are being shot and how many bucks of each age class are being removed by the hunter."

Please—Note Prep Football, Cage Coaches

★ ★ ★

Coaches also have AP All-State ballots in their possession. Please return those ballots with your nominations to the AP as soon as possible.

★ ★ ★

The state meeting of AP writers will meet in Lansing Nov. 21st to choose the All-State teams. Coaches who have players they wish to nominate should also send all data to The Pontiac Press Sports Department.

Basketball coaches are also urged to return their questionnaires and their schedules at this time.

Lions Seek Revenge Against Rams Sunday

DETROIT — The Detroit Lions, determined to "save" coach George Wilson's job with a late-season surge, are home to face the Los Angeles Rams for the second time in two weeks.

★ ★ ★

It was Los Angeles which spoiled the Lions' hopes for a West Coast sweep by taking a wildly offensive 48-35 decision from Detroit two weeks ago.

The Lions shot back, however, with a 24-0 triumph over San Francisco last Sunday and it was in the aftermath of that impressive victory that Wilson's warriors rallied around him en masse.

Wilson has been the target of criticism for weeks now and rumors were mounting that he would be dismissed at the end of the season unless there were, as one of the club's directors put it, "Notable improvements."

The Lion players spoke out for Wilson with unexpected enthusiasm and hopefully predicted, "We'll win the next six games."

It was believed the players' reaction was stimulated by reports on the coast that Joe Kuharich, head coach at Notre Dame and former coach of the Washington Redskins, would relieve Wilson of his post.

Lion president Edwin J. Anderson vigorously denied the Kuharich rumors and after the victory over the Forty-Niners — during which young quarterback Jim Ninowski threw his first touchdown pass in pro football —that the players came rushing to Wilson's support.

The Lions will carry a 2-4 record into Sunday's game. In their last appearance at Briggs Stadium three weeks ago, they scored a stirring 30-17 victory over the world champion Baltimore Colts and Wilson felt, after that triumph, the Lions were "on their way."

But the Rams burst the bubble out there on the coast and the victory over Detroit was their first in 14 games. They added a second conquest, this one over the winless Dallas Cowboys, last week and Sunday's game promises to be a tight struggle.

Ninowski, after an erratic performance against Los Angeles two weeks ago when he had five passes intercepted, came back strong last week. He not only fired a touchdown pass for the first Detroit score but also directed the Lion attack well throughout the game.

★ ★ ★

The real heroes of last week's win over the Forty-Niners, however, were the defense linemen and the secondary. Twice San Francisco drove within the Lion 10 yard line in the third period and both times the line stiffened and pass-defenders held firm.

A crowd of some 50,000 is expected Sunday.

WHOA, THERE — Hank Bassen, Detroit Red Wing goalie, stops a possible score on a shot by Boston Bruin Jerry Toppazzini. Marcel Pronovost comes in to give Bassen some help. The Wings beat the Bruins in Boston Gardens, 4-1, last night.

Among Backfield Performers

Plenty of All-America Candidates

Although there are plenty of sound, capable candidates, as of now there are no real standouts.

★ ★ ★

What happens over the next three Saturdays will go far in determining the men that AP's eight regional boards, each representing an NCAA district, will recommend for the first team.

Jake Gibbs, Mississippi quarterback; Tom Matte, quarterback, and Bob Ferguson, fullback, both of Ohio State; Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State quarterback; Bill Kilmer, UCLA tailback; Joe Bellino, Navy halfback; John Hadl, Kansas quarterback; Tom Larschied, Utah State halfback; Ronnie Bull, Baylor halfback, and Pervis Atkins, New Mexico State halfback.

Final determination of the All-America team will not be made until after the games of Nov. 26.

Gibbs probably is as near to a standout as there is today. He is a great passer, runner, leader and defender. His team meets Tennessee Saturday and it will be an acid test.

Matte is the key to the powerful Ohio State offense. He has completed 39 of 65 passes for 573 yards and eight touchdowns.

Kilmer leads the Big Five in total offense with 1,148 yards in six games.

Bellino is one of the most deceptive of modern runners, and Atkins is the long gainer for unbeaten New Mexico State.

★ ★ ★

Upperclassmen Badly Outnumbered Tonight

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Upperclassmen will be badly outnumbered when the Michigan State freshman basketball team takes on the varsity tonight in a preseason warm-up.

★ ★ ★

Guards Dave Fahs and Art Schwarm are the only lettermen on the squad, and forward Bob Sparvero is the only other squad member who played last year at all.

At least three holdovers from last year's squad are playing on the football team and should be out when the grid season ends. They are Tom Wilson, Art Brandstatter and Lonnie Sanders.

Prominent Rule Expert, Official Krieger Dies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—E. C. (Irish) Krieger, nationally prominent as an interpreter of football rules, died Thursday. He was 64.

Krieger, a Big Ten football and basketball official for 25 years, died of a heart attack in his home.

A native of Columbus who graduated from Ohio University in 1920, Krieger retired from active officiating in 1953.

★ ★ ★

Since then he had devoted almost full time to rules interpretation and supervision of Western Conference officials. Kreiger wrote several books on the rules interpretation and mechanics of officiating.

★ ★ ★

He played football at Ohio University and later served on the coaching staff there, at Tennessee and Bowling Green.

Hitchcock to Manage

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves announced Thursday that Bill Hitchcock, 42, has been hired to manage the Vancouver B. C. Mounties, the Milwaukee AAA farm club in the Pacific Coast League.

★ ★ ★

Hitchcock was a coach for the Detroit Tigers from 1955 through the 1960 season and before that managed Buffalo in the International League. He played 12 seasons of baseball, holding an infield place at various times with Detroit, Washington, St. Louis, Boston and Philadelphia.

Should Michigan Pull Out Stops Against Hoosiers?

Gophers, Washington Seek Big Victories

By The Associated Press

Can Minnesota keep its ranking as the nation's No. 1 football team and gain a share of the Big Ten title? Will Washington wind up defending its Rose Bowl crown? And how about dear old Yale—will the Eli pass their biggest hurdle en route to an unbeaten season and the Ivy League throne?

These, and a few more important questions regarding conference titles are going to be answered before the weekend is over.

The Golden Gophers, atop the football world for the first time in two decades, play Purdue Saturday and a victory will give them at least a tie in the Big Ten race. Minnesota (7-0), top ranked in The Associated Press weekly poll, need only beat Wisconsin next Saturday to be king. The Gophers now are 4-0 in Big Ten play while Purdue, losers of three straight, is 1-4 and 2-4-1 overall.

* * *

Washington, ranked sixth, must beat California (1-6-1) for the undisputed Big Five title and a ticket to the Rose Bowl. Even an upset by the Golden Bears would mean Washington (7-1) would have at least a tie for first with UCLA, provided the Uclans beat Southern Cal next week. And the Huskies have already disposed of UCLA.

Yale (7-0) plays Princeton for what will probably be the Ivy title. Both are 5-0 in league play and are favored in season windups next week.

* * *

Tonight, Virginia Tech, still in the running for the Southern Conference title, plays George Washington. Wichita is at Drake and Richmond at Furman in two other games tonight.

Missouri, second ranked with an 8-0 mark, and 5-0 atop the Big Eight, plays once-invincible Oklahoma (2-4-1), whom it hasn't beaten since 1945, the last time it—and any other team other than the Sooners—won the conference title. However, looking over the Tigers' shoulder is Kansas, 4-0-1 in the Big Eight. If the Jayhawks win over Colorado, then the title will be decided next week when Mizzou and Kansas meet. If Colorado wins this week, then the Tigers get at least a tie for the title.

Third-ranked Ohio State (6-1) and Iowa (No. 5), which is (6-1), play to see who will have a chance to snatch the Big Ten title should Minnesota falter. The Hawks, whose speed and deceptiveness will be matched against the "four yards and a cloud of dust" of Ohio State, are 4-1 in the conference, while the Buckeyes are 3-1 with still a game remaining against Michigan. This is a TV game, 2:30 p.m. EST, ABC-TV.

* * *

They're still going for all they are worth in the Southeastern Conference. Fourth-ranked Mississippi (7-0-1) must beat Tennessee (5-1-1) to stay in the lead for the title and the Sugar Bowl. Right behind is 10th ranked Auburn and Florida, both 4-1 in SEC play. Ole Miss is 3-0-1.

* * *

Duke, ranked seventh with a 6-1 mark after upsetting previously unbeaten Navy last week, can clinch a tie for the Atlantic Coast Conference title with a victory over Wake Forest (2-5). Second-place North Carolina State, 4-1 in ACC play compared to Duke's 4-0, is out of the conference against Arizona State. The two meet next week.

The Middies (7-1), ranked eighth, play winless (0-6) Virginia, which has lost 24 in a row since 1957. Arkansas (No. 9) must beat winless Southern Methodist (0-6-1) to stay atop the Southwest Conference.

STOUT FELLOW—A big defensive stalwart in the Michigan State line is big Dave Behrman who stands 6-feet-4 and weighs 275 pounds. He is only a sophomore. He hails from Dowagiac. The Spartans play at Northwestern Saturday.

To Stop Titans Streak

History With Villanova

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The downtrodden Villanova Main Liners are preparing for Saturday's invasion by the bowl-minded University of Detroit Titans—with a history book in mind.

* * *

It won't be the first time the Titans have met Villanova with a victory streak with disastrous results for the Detroiters.

Although Detroit is favored by as much as 14 points to extend their winning ways to seven games, Villanova coach Alex Bell harks to the past.

The longest University of Detroit winning streaks in the 1927-29 era were stopped abruptly by the Main Liners. Again in 1934 the Villanovans snapped a seven-game U-D streak with a scoreless tie.

In 1937, with six successive victories to their credit, the Titans were dumped by the Main Liners 7-0.

* * *

Villanova has won but one game this year. But it went into that game (with Rutgers) a 29 point underdog and won 14-12.

The Main Liners lost last week to Boston College 20-6. Detroit beat Boston earlier in the season 19-17.

The nation's leading pass interceptor, Larry Glueck, fractured his ankle in the Main Liner's game with Boston last week removing him from the Villanova lineup.

Gross, the former all-stater from Bay City Central, captured a starting berth when Bob Lusky was injured last month and has performed brilliantly in his place.

They Thought He Was Done

BOULDER CITY, Nev. (AP)—One of the hot favorites to win the Gold Cup hydroplane races on Lake Mead Sunday is a Florida pilot who was so critically burned last August he was believed through with racing.

* * *

Don Wilson of Palm Beach was near death for a time after Miss U. S. I caught fire in the Seafare Regatta and Gold Cup officials were surprised when he showed up here and announced he would be a competitor.

They were even more surprised when Wilson set a fast qualifying pace Wednesday. It was the first time he had raced since the accident.

* * *

One of Wilson's strongest competitors will be Miss Thriftway, two-time winner of the Harmsworth Trophy.

Miss Burien, Coral Reef, Nitrogen Too and Hawaii Kai will try to qualify today. If they do there will be 16 entrants in the getaway of the Gold Cup races which start Saturday.

Baugh's Team Is Having Last Quarter Problems

BOSTON (AP) — Sammy Baugh's cliff-hanging New York Titans, beaten in their last three, tonight take on hopeful Boston in a battle for second place in Eastern Division of the American Football League.

New York holds the No. 2 spot with a 4-5 record while Boston is 3-5. Neither has much hope of catching front-running Houston, 6-2.

The Titans, who seem to specialize in last-quarter thrillers own the league's best passing attack and a history of last quarter jitters.

Of the 221 points scored against them, 77 have come in the last quarter. And in their nine games, six of them have been decided in the last four minutes.

One of those was Boston's 28-24 victory over New York earlier this season. Chuck Shonta scooped up a New York fumble and ran 20 yards for the come-from-behind touchdown on the last play of the game.

Baugh, the old Washington Redskin passing great, has put together the league's best passing attack in quarterback Al Dorow and ace receivers Don Maynard and Art Powell. Dorow has thrown for 14 touchdowns, while Maynard has 52 receptions and Powell 35.

In all, New York has come up with 2,063 yards passing, and 20 touchdowns.

The Patriots counter with on-again-off-again quarterback Butch Songin and a flock of new faces. Pass interceptions put the goat's horns on Songin in four Boston defeats, but he came up with 16 of 36 completions, including three touchdowns, and 264 yards in last week's 34-28 decision over Oakland.

Backing him up will be Tom Dimitroff, a former Canadian League quarterback, and one of five players signed by Boston this week.

MSU Kickers Play

The Spartans have won in their three previous meetings with the Hoosiers. Indiana kickers have a 2-5 record on the season.

'I've Got a Secret,' Played by Daugherty

EAST LANSING (AP) — Duffy Daugherty is playing "I've got a secret" as he takes his Michigan State football team to Evanston, Ill., for a meeting with Northwestern.

* * *

Daugherty held a completely closed practice session yesterday to cook up some surprises for the Wildcats. Even the press, usually allowed in on so-called "secret" practices, was barred.

The game with Northwestern will close out the Big Ten season for Michigan State. The Spartans need a win to end up in the conference first division on a 3-2 record.

Eight of the Big Ten teams play each other next Saturday. MSU will be watching the conference race finish from the sidelines and closes its season against Detroit. Iowa plays a traditional season-ender with Notre Dame.

It will be the first time Michigan State has visited the Northwestern campus for football since the Spartans joined the Big Ten. Their last invasion of Evanston was in 1924.

* * *

Northwestern won three games from MSU early in the century. Michigan State won here last year 15-10.

The game is a homecoming for the Wildcats and they will be up for this one after beating Wisconsin 21-0 last week, their only Big Ten victory.

Junior left half Bob Suci of Grand Blanc and sophomore fullback George Saimes are slated for important roles in the game. Both have been running with the reserves but were moved up after making the important yardage in the MSU win over Purdue last Saturday.

Anchor Bay Places 5 on All-Thumb Team

Champion Anchor Bay has placed five players on the Southern Thumb League All-Star football team:

Two from Memphis and one each from Dryden, Armada, Brown City and New Haven complete the first unit.

Bay boys named were backs Bob Stanek and John Funk, center Don Arnold, guard Bob Williamson and Jerry Folske, a tackle. End Hildred Lewis and back John Jakubial represent Memphis on the team. Ron Dittman, Dryden back, guard Dennis Durst of Armada, Brown City tackle Jim Miller and Sonny Meyers, New Haven end, complete the group.

Making the 2nd eleven were Anchor Bay ends Arnie Heller and Stan Biebuyck, tackle Jim Smith, guard Larry Siefert, center Doug Foss and back Tom Griffen of New Haven, Memphis tackle Russ Weier, backs Pat Owens and Ken Kobayashi and guard Loren Clark of Capac and Armada back Gerald Blake.

Indiana's Poor Record Could Cause Problem

Elliott Afraid Team Is Looking to OSU Next Week

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Should Michigan go all out to beat Indiana and assure itself of a winning season or should it play under wraps and aim for an upset over arch-rival Ohio State in next week's season finale

* * *

That's the delemma faced by Wolverine coach Bump Elliott as he prepares to meet the Hoosiers in U-M's last home game of the year.

Twelve Michigan seniors, including halfback Dennis Fitzgerald, who will fill in for the injured Dave Raimey, will make their last home appearance before an expected crowd of 50,000.

The Indiana game is meaningless in the Big Ten race where Michigan rests in fifth place with a 2-3 record — but a victory would assure the Wolverines of no worse than a 5-4 record in overall competition.

* * *

The oddsmakers give Michigan a three-touchdown edge over the sophomore - studded Hoosiers, discounting the expected absence of the flashy Raimey, whose 4.9 yards-per-try average is tops among the U-M regulars.

* * *

They surmise that Indiana, despite a line that averages over 215 pounds, can't stop the swift Wolverine backs and the passing of quarterback Dave Glinka — especially if coach Phil Dickens carries out his announced plan to start nine sophomores.

We've had a lot of experience against big lines now," said Elliott, "but we consider Indiana a better team than its record (1-6) shows.

"My biggest worry is that our boys will be looking ahead to Ohio State and Indiana will slip past us."

* * *

He feels that, in spite of Dickens' plan to experiment with sophomores, the Hoosiers will be gunning for Michigan.

* * *

Michigan holds a 19-7 edge in the Indiana series and has never lost three in a row. But Indiana, with wins in the last two years, could change that this weekend.

Lead Changes Again in Table Net Play

A new leader, Detroit Ice & Fuel, took over the top spot in the Pontiac Table Tennis Association after beating Nutrilite, 5-1, last night.

* * *

* * *

Harvey plays for Frostop, which tied Jim Jim 3-3. In other matches Pontiac Recreation defeated A&W, 5-1, Capitol won over Dorris & Son, 4-2 and Aluminum over Kuhn's Auto, 4-2.

Leaves Red Wings

* * *

The National Hockey League club said it intends to bring McKenzie back to the Red Wings after he plays himself into shape.

McKenzie has missed the last five Detroit games due to a back injury. He scored two goals in the Wings' first eight games before his injury.

By BILL CORNWELL

Paul Dellerba, Pontiac Central High School's new head football coach, will be missing tonight when the Chiefs meet Flint Central at Wisner Stadium in a Saginaw Valley game.

His unexpected departure has placed tonight's head coaching responsibilities upon the shoulders of assistant coach Gene Norris. Dellerba said he would be unable to return in time for the game.

Our condolences to the Dellerbas and the best of luck to Norris.

ODDS AND ENDS

Who said a defensive team needs 11 players? Orchard Lake St. Mary did quite well with 10 last Sunday against St. Michael on the Orchard Lake gridiron.

Early in the 1st quarter the Eaglets had only 10 boys on the defensive unit for three straight plays before the shortage was discovered.

What did the Mikes do during that stretch? They gained yardage once and lost ground twice to wind up with a negative three yards. The Eaglets won, 13-7.

We're all very happy to have Pontiac Northern football coach Ed Heikkinen back on the job following his serious illness and operation at Ann Arbor's University Hospital.

★ ★ ★

Dell sports magazine's annual basketball edition, which scans the national scene on prep, collegiate and professional levels and forecasts the 1960-61 season, names high school cagers who are expected to be the most outstanding performers in their respective states.

Flint Northern grid mentor Andy MacDonald said that the 1960 Pontiac Central squad is the hardest-hitting PCH team his boys have faced since he started coaching the Vikings in 1954.

"There were only two or three boys on our club who didn't have bad bumps and bruises after being rocked all night by the Chiefs," MacDonald said.

MacDonald also declared that Bill Pritchett, the Chiefs' 235-pound tackle, was the toughest lineman his team had ever met, including last year's great Toledo DeVilbiss outfit. Viking tackle Jim Horcha, who kept running into Pritchett, agreed.

★ ★ ★

Northwestern University reportedly interested in landing Dick McCauley, brilliant PCH halfback . . . Edison High, Waterford Township's new school, may become the 6th member of the Tri-County League . . . Prentice (Pin) Ryan, Royal Oak Kimball's grid coach, considers Ferndale quarterback Mike Brown the best Big Ten QB prospect he has seen in this area for many years.

Final Big Prep Football Schedule Tonight

LAPEER STAR—The big gun of the Lapeer team both on offense and defense this fall has been Barry Wickstrom. The transfer from Bloomfield Hills hopes to lead the Panthers to the Tri-County title in the showdown game with Roseville tonight. He has scored 29 points.

By CHUCK ABAIR

Nineteen games tonight, a pair Saturday and one Sunday will make up the last big weekend of area high school football for 1960.

The first annual Pontiac Central-Pontiac Northern clash next Friday will be all that remains after St. Frederick and Our Lady of the Lakes tangle Sunday at Wisner Stadium.

Waterford entertains Wayne, Southfield is at Birmingham Seaholm, Avondale visits Rochester, Utica invades Romeo, Dondero and Kimball duel at Royal Oak and Holly meets Fenton in the featured non-loop affairs.

Lake Orion is host to Oak Park, Birmingham Groves is at Fitzgerald, Northville plays Howell, L'Anse Creuse vs. Lutheran East and Country day is at home against Grosse Pointe University School in others.

Title honors will be decided at Ferndale, Lapeer and Imlay City. The Dales take on Hazel Park, Lapeer clashes with Roseville and Imlay seeks a repeat triumph over Oxford.

Waterford will be favored to finish on a happy note. Wayne has been having a dismal season.

It figures to be a tossup at Seaholm where Maple star Steve Jacobson could take Oakland County scoring honors with eight points or more. Both teams are set physically. Southfield slipped to a tie a week ago after two big wins but had three touchdowns called back by penalties.

Rochester should add another notch over Avon unless Yellowjacket halfback Jim McDonald runs wild. McDonald needs just one touchdown to overtake individual point leader Jack Newton, who has finished play. Dennis Shaw, the other halfback, was dropped from the squad this week for disciplinary reasons. Frank Easterbrook has been ailing and may miss the final.

Romeo has scored only 14 points while dropping five in a row after a good start but could save some face with closing triumph. Kimball and Dondero are both having big seasons with the Knights fresh from an upset of Ferndale.

Holly will have its work cut out trying to post victory No. 6 against powerful Fenton in a renewal of a former rivalry.

An unbeaten record should be Orion's unless the Dragons fall flat against the improved Parkers. Fitzgerald will likely snap Groves' four-game win streak in good fashion. Coach Ron Horwath should complete a successful 1st year at Northville.

The effectiveness will likely determine the Eastern Michigan issue at Ferndale. The Dale star needs just one TD pass to set a state mark of 20. Hazel Park's defense has allowed just 20 points while posting six shutouts — five in a row. East Detroit is at Port Huron.

Imlay is seeking an outright crown since Millington could gain a share by beating Ortonville should the Spartans falter. Imlay just squeezed by the Wildcats earlier.

Both Ferndale and Imlay were loop champs in 1959.

The Saturday slate has Cranbrook wrapping up play at home in the afternoon with Gilmour Academy and Emmanuel Christian taking over Wisner Stadium for a homecoming night affair with Flint St. Mary.

BOWLING Fault Finder

TIMING MAIN IDEA
By Don Ellis

Timing is 90 per cent of bowling so, naturally, that's the first thing I try to correct when I'm not rolling well.

★ ★ ★

Timing is so important because it affects all the movements in a bowler's delivery. If he hasn't got his backswing timed perfectly with his stride, or his release with his slide, something goes wrong.

To some bowlers, timing comes back as fast as it goes, as long as they keep plugging away. I find it's a good idea to concentrate harder on my coordination. That's what I usually need to be back in stride.

Deer Hunting Camps

A list of deer hunting camps in Alcona, Montmorency, Oscoda and Roscommon Counties where Pontiac area hunters will be staying is being sought by The Pontiac Press.

Those staying at the camps or clubs in these counties are asked to contact Don Vogel, sports department, before Sunday. A phone call to FE 2-8181 will be sufficient.

Wilt Receiving Plenty of Help

Chamberlain No Longer Carrying the Warriors by Himself

NEW YORK (AP) — The other National Basketball Association clubs are finding out to their sorrow that the Philadelphia Warriors aren't a one-man team this season.

The New York Knickerbockers discovered Thursday night that the current Eastern Division leaders are composed of more than Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain. The red-hot Warriors rolled up their eighth straight victory, outlasting the Knicks 116-112 in overtime with Tom Gola and Paul Arizin stealing the spotlight from Chamberlain.

Chicovsky's 200.14 Tops at West Side

George Chicovsky is the current leader in the West Side Classic on the strength of a powerful 200.14 average closely followed by the hard pressing Howard "Pete" Peterson at 200.03 average after the first quarter of the season. There are fifteen bowlers averaging over the 190 mark at this point.

★ ★ ★

This was one of the slowest weeks of the season as only six 600 series and 47 200 games were rolled. This is only about one-half the normal production in the league.

★ ★ ★

Slater's Concrete had the only 1000 game but several high 900 were posted led by Pasquale's at 991, Sparks-Griffin at 985, Calbi Music 971 & 958 and West Side Lanes at 954. High series included Sparks-Griffin at 2879, West Side Mobil 2806 and Slaters 2800.

★ ★ ★

Mobil pulled away from its nearest competitor taking 2 games from Lake Center Drugs. This gives the Gas men 38 points and a four point lead over Blue Cleaners at 34. Next comes the Lake Center Drugs and Coca Cola tied for fourth at 32 points each.

Mike Godoshian had high series at 627 and Oz Jewett's 244 proved to be high game of the night.

Two 10-Rounders

LOGAN, Utah (AP) — Fight manager Marv Jenson, who's always on the lookout for talent, sends two of his brightest young prospects into action tonight in a pair of 10-round scraps at the Utah State University fieldhouse.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

He Goes to Florida; She Awaits Baby

Jack and Jackie Go Their Separate Ways

By FRANCES LEWINE

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Jacqueline Kennedy had a hectic and historic three-day election reunion with her fast traveling husband—and their paths separate again today.

They hardly had time to savor the idea of moving into the White House.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the president-elect, was off to a sunny Florida vacation. His wife headed back to Washington, D.C., so she could stay near her doctor because she is expecting a baby about Dec. 15.

* * *

The circumstances were reminiscent of 1956, when Kennedy, edged out in a bid for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, had gone to the French Riviera while Mrs. Kennedy, expecting a child then too, waited back home.

That time, Mrs. Kennedy had a miscarriage, blamed on the tension and excitement of the convention events.

But now, she was taking things as easily as she could, staying out of most of the election campaign—even going to bed at 11 p.m. on election night—because "I knew I couldn't get involved in the tension of the all-night vote counting."

SHOULD REST

Mrs. Kennedy said Thursday she thought her husband should have a month's rest in order to properly carry on his duties as president. She observed colorfully: "You can't race a car endlessly without taking it into the shop."

But her husband had allotted himself just 10 to 14 days, despite the advice of his wife, America's first lady-elect, who views her main role as "taking care of the president."

She said: "I've every confidence that my husband would be most magnificent" in his presidential job "and I assume I won't fail him in any way."

* * *

Before leaving Hyannis Port Mrs. Kennedy reported she was finding the idea of being first lady "rather unreal" in the familiar Cape Cod family surroundings with the rainswept seashore "practically like any other fall weekend."

"I really don't think of myself as first lady—but of Jack as president," she told 10 reporters at her first news conference in her new role.

She said she was proud and happy of Kennedy's success over what had seemed insurmountable odds.

SHE'S HAPPY

Was she happy for herself? "Yes," she said, adding: "I think a wife's happiness does come when her husband is happy."

Mrs. Kennedy, smiling and at ease, held the half-hour session in the cottage of her brother-in-law Robert Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy explained that she held the session there instead of her own home nearby, to protect her young daughter Caroline, nearly 3, from the intrusion and to "insure that her little life goes on as usual."

"I tried to let her know there's not been much change," said Mrs. Kennedy, who revealed that she has given more attention to the problem of raising her children in the limelight of the White House than anything else.

* * *

And in the White House she would make "a greater effort to be with them even more." She said she would do everything required of her in an official capacity and then devote the rest of the time to her children.

"I don't want my young children brought up by nurses and secret service men," she declared.

With 'I Told You So' Attitude

Red Papers Say Plenty About Why Dems Won

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet radio and publications are telling their audiences that the reason John F. Kennedy won the American presidential election was because of the "imperialist policy of brinkmanship" under the Eisenhower-Nixon administration.

Papers are filled with comment on the election, presented in an "I told you so" vein. The Republican party is "now reaping what it sowed," said the Communist party newspaper Pravda.

"The policy of Eisenhower and Nixon has flopped. The electorate has turned away from it," Pravda said.

But the Democratic party also came in for criticism for being just as "bourgeois" as the Republican.

* * *

If the vote went against Nixon, said Pravda, "it was not because the election program by the Democrats gave clear answers to the questions which agitate the American people."

But under the Republicans, said Pravda, "mass unemployment was growing catastrophically."

It charged there was a decline in American prestige which was "no accident" but resulted from "the imperialist policy of brinkmanship" — a reference to the late Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' remark about "the brink of war."

Moscow radio quoted Soviet United Nations delegate Valerian Zorin as saying "there is no doubt that a majority of Americans heaved a sigh of relief when they heard the news of the defeat of the Republican party."

* * *

The government newspaper Izvestia called Kennedy a young man who will "have to show by his behavior that he does not intend to lead the United States along the previous course that has been condemned by the American people."

Board Ordered to Hire Negroes

State Issues Mandate Against Taylor Twp. School District

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Fair Employment Practices Commission for the first time Thursday passed judgment on a school board's hiring practices by ordering a suburban school board to hire two Negro teachers.

The FEPC ruled two teachers were turned down "on the basis of race" when they applied last year for jobs in the Taylor Township School District, which until now has had only white teachers.

* * *

The commission also ordered the board to pay the teachers for the 1959-60 school year and the two months of the current term.

Mrs. Mary Ruth Ross and Mrs. Jessie Simmons, both holders of masters degrees in education, brought the complaint against the board by charging that School Supt. Orville Jones denied them jobs because of their race.

The FEPC said Jones "did not fairly and objectively evaluate the complainants" and "permitted his concern . . ." that the hiring of the Negro teachers might be a 'problem' and cause 'confusion' to cause him to fail to hire the complainants."

* * *

Eight days of public hearings were held on the matter in July by Commissioner Allan A. Zaun.

The ruling said any earnings by the two teachers during the two school years covered in the back pay order could be deducted.

* * *

Zaun said it was the first time a ruling had been made by the commission involving a school board.

Benny Proves He's Not Stingy —at the Automat

* * *

To prove that he was nothing of the sort, Benny Thursday night gave away nickels to more than 400 guests he had invited to a black-tie dinner and dancing party at the automat.

* * *

With a brave smile, he sat in the cashiers' booth himself for about 10 minutes, handing over 82 rolls of nickles to the tuxedoed and bejeweled celebrities, who then bought their own dinners at the slot machine windows or in the cafeteria section.

* * *

The guest list included Broadway and Hollywood stars, writers and singers, and a monkey named Kokomo Jr.

Kokomo played the violin. So did Benny.

Market Dipping on Profit Taking

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined on profit taking early this afternoon as trading simmered down after an active start.

* * *

The AP average had advanced in the seven preceding sessions and yesterday scored its biggest rise since Sept. 24, 1959.

Losses of fractions to 1 or 2 points were the general rule among most key stocks. A few issues bucked the downtrend with small gains.

Steels, autos, coppers, aircrafts, electronics, chemicals, oils, rails and utilities were among the losers.

Chipping away some of their big gains of Thursday, Polaroid dropped about 5 and Texas Instruments about 3.

* * *

Losses of about 2 points were taken by DuPont and Eastman Kodak.

All Big Three motors dropped fractions.

Soybeans Post Gain on Board of Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Broad gains were posted for all soybean futures in brisk early dealings today on the board of trade but the grains ranged from firm on wheat to weak on corn.

Soybeans started off with advances running to more than two cents a bushel as speculative dealers moved in to cover short positions and extend long ones.

The surge was credited to the new estimate of 560 million bushels produced this year. The figure was down less than two million from last month but traders said it was expected to be larger and that some of the weakness in Thursday's market was lined with that opinion.

Lakeland Players Are on Their Own

The Waterford Township Recreation Board last night conceded that the Lakeland Players were "on their own" and are not sponsored by the Recreation Department.

* * *

There had been some question from both groups regarding this matter, and also how proceeds and expenses from dramatic productions would be handled.

The Recreation Board last year subsidized the dramatic group with $400 to get started, and $200 of this has been repaid.

Secretary of the Lakeland Players, Patricia Hott, presented an official constitution that had been drawn up by the members and said that they plan to file for incorporation for legal protection.

* * *

Another group, the Waterford Civic Chorus, headed by Charles Jehle, president, also presented a constitution compiled by his group and discussed the advisability of becoming independent of the Recreation Department.

A new civic chorus budget was presented, asking an additional $115 over a budget of $575 that had been presented by Recreation Director Thomas Belton and approved by the board.

A meeting will be scheduled with the chorus officers and Belton to further discuss a method for incoming and outgoing funds.

* * *

Belton assured board members that solid proposals will be presented at the December Recreation Board meeting.

The Board listed six names for candidates to replace former President Irwin Greer who was authorized to give the list to the township and school boards for consideration.

Mrs. Marion Novess is serving as temporary board chairman.

Further study will be made regarding operating and maintaining of an ice skating rink at the fish hatchery. Last year the project cost $450 for flooding, snow removal, and lighting.

Seek Doom of Electoral College Plan

The narrow margin of Kennedy's victory dramatized the "winner take all" aspect of the system whereby the winning candidate gets all of a state's electoral votes no matter how small his majority of the popular vote.

Sens. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., slated to succeed Vice President-Elect Lyndon B. Johnson as Senate majority leader, and George A. Smathers, D-Fla., both said they would push for abolishment of the electoral college.

The two Democrats said they wanted the president chosen on the basis of the popular vote.

USEFULNESS GONE

Mansfield said that the electoral college was nothing but "a vestigal remnant that has outlived its usefulness" and was a relic of the "horse and buggy" days.

Kennedy said Thursday he would not propose any "major overhaul" in the electoral college but it was learned that he might look with favor on abolishing the system.

Pontiac General Hoping to End Year Out of Red

Pontiac General Hospital is entering the holiday season $40,000 to the good as trustees prepare plans for another year in the black.

* * *

Anticipated losses between now and Dec. 1 due to the usual seasonal dip in occupancy will decide whether 1960 is the hospital's first balanced year since the expansion program began in 1956, Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, told trustees last night.

If the customary losses eat up the $40,000 cushion accumulated this year, 1960 will end in the red, he said. If they don't, the hospital will finish the year in the black, as far as the balance between revenues and expenses is concerned, Euler said.

Action on the record, $5-million-plus budget proposed for 1961 was put off until Nov. 28. William P. Babcock, board chairman, said final copies had not been delivered to several trustees until a few hours before last night's meeting.

A 95-per-cent occupancy rate during the last accounting period has been a major factor in the hospital's present favorable position, said Euler.

The brisk period, Euler said, compensated for unexpected lulls this summer and averaged out the occupancy rate so far this year to 88.7 per cent, 1.7 points above the budget estimate.

* * *

Costs so far are a few cents below last year's rate of $43.35 per patient per day, he said.

In a few weeks, the hospital will become a 359-bed institution. The ambulatory (self-care) unit is being moved from the fifth floor East Wing to the second, adding five beds, Euler reported.

The move completes the occupancy of the second floor. Thanks to the expansion program, the hospital will still have space for 30 to 40 more beds before it is operating at capacity.

OK $25.6 Million for Conservation

Increase Budget of State Department for Work on Parks

LANSING (AP)—A $25.6 million budget for the 1961-62 fiscal year was approved Thursday by the State Conservation Commission.

The proposed budget, to be submitted to the 1961 legislature, is $8.3 million above the current fiscal year budget of $17.3 million.

A major part of the proposed increase comes from a $6.7 million bonding program for state parks expansion and improvement.

The commission approved a proposal to raise the resident fishing license fee from $2 to $3.

It approved in principle a proposal to adopt a uniform ordinance to govern hours and days for water skiing. Exact hours and days will be worked out after a meeting with the Michigan State Water Skiing Association and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs.

A June 1 opener for the Black Bass season was adopted with Lake St. Clair and the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers excepted. The present opening date is the third Saturday in June.

By a 3-2 vote, the commission turned down an application by the Humble Oil Co. to drill for gas and oil in the Waterloo Recreation Area, near Pinckney.

Action on a proposed deer season opener in the Upper Peninsula earlier than in the remainder of the state was postponed until the next meeting. Also postponed was action on a proposed partial ban on night fishing for trout.

THEY'RE PROUD PARENTS — Michigan Governor-Elect John B. These American Voters Know Their Own Minds

If Tuesday's election accurately reflects the nation's voting habits, the ticket-splitters, dividing their support among candidates of different parties, now make up a sizable portion of the electorate.

SPLIT TICKET

In state after state, they backed one presidential nominee and then turned around and elected candidates from the opposite party to other high office.

President-Elect John F. Kennedy's home state is a good example. Massachusetts gave the Democratic candidate a 500,000-vote edge over Richard M. Nixon, but turned the Democrats out of the state House and re-elected Republican Sen. Leverett Saltonstall by a solid margin.

New Jersey and Delaware also contributed to Kennedy's winning electoral vote but chose Republican senators. Delaware unseated Democrat J. Allen Frear in favor of Gov. Caleb Boggs. New Jersey overwhelmingly re-elected Sen. Clifford P. Case, a Republican.

★ ★ ★

Several states did it the other way, supporting Nixon's presidential bid but sending Democrats to Congress.

★ ★ ★

Tennessee went strongly for Nixon, and even stronger for Sen. Estes Kefauver, a Democrat. Oklahoma made its choices Nixon and Sen. Robert S. Kerr, also a Democrat. In Virginia it was Nixon and Sen. A. Willis Robertson, Democrat.

Oregon's 40,000-vote edge in Nixon's favor was about balanced by the 48,000-vote victory it gave Mrs. Maurine Neuberger, a Democrat, in her bid for the Senate. And Nixon's 5,000-vote majority in Montana was matched by an equally slim margin sending Democrat Lee Metcalf to the Senate.

In some states the pattern was to pick Kennedy or Nixon and elect a governor from the other party.

Massachusetts, Minnesota and New Mexico all wound up in Kennedy's column but elected Republican governors. Florida, Wisconsin and North Dakota, where Nixon won, chose Democrats to run their state governments.

Idaho backed Nixon but unseated a Republican representative in Congress in favor of a Democrat. Kentucky chose Nixon and Republican Sen. John Sherman Cooper but elected seven Democrats in its eight congressional districts.

★ ★ ★

Nebraskans voted the straight GOP ticket for president, senator and congressmen but chose a Democratic governor.

Williams Picks School Authority

Names Nine to Group That Will Guarantee Student Loans

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams has announced the appointment of nine members of the State Higher Education Authority.

The authority, created by the legislature this year, has the power to guarantee up to 80 per cent of loans made to Michigan college and university students.

Appointed were:

C. De Lisle Crawford, Hillsdale College professor; W. C. Smith, Central Michigan University administrator; Eugene B. Power, regent of the University of Michigan; Rev. Malcom Carron, dean of students of the University of Detroit; Fred C. Secrest, member of the board of control of Michigan College of Mining and technology; Cornelius B. McDonald, comptroller of Western Michigan University; Ellis A. Wunsch of Northwestern Michigan College; Leland E. Finally Time for 'New' 1950 Car to Make Its Trip

WEST ORANGE, N. J. (AP)—It'll be 10 years late, but better late than never for California here I come, when Miss Ruth Sprague hits the road Saturday or Sunday.

Mrs. Sprague, a registered nurse who is "past 65—past the retiring age," Thursday picked up the Dodge automobile she ordered here in 1950.

In February of 1950 she had decided to retire, buy a car and go to California.

8 MILES ON SPEEDOMETER

The car was kept in good condition for her by garage mechanics who took it for a short spin every six months, putting eight miles on the speedometer over the years.

★ ★ ★

"I don't know where I'm going or where I'll stop but I do plan to see the Grand Canyon and avoid the big cities," she said.

Where will she settle down in California?

"I'll choose from three little towns in the San Gabriel Mountains, Sunland, La Crescenta or the third one, I can't even remember its name."

Philosopher Divorced in Uncontested Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, 57, an internationally known philosopher and editor, was divorced Thursday in a brief, uncontested court proceeding. His wife, Helen, to whom he had been married 33 years, charged extreme cruelty.

Dr. Adler was the founder and editor of "Great Books of the Western World," a 54-volume encyclopedia of human thought.

5 Marriages Turn Yuletide Cheer to Drear for Mickey

"I've had so many wives and so many children," said the actor Thursday in Court, "I don't know which house to go to first on Christmas."

He was in court over $32,932 in back alimony his fourth wife Elaine Mahnken claims he owes her.

Rooney claimed he was unable to pay, but Miss Mahnken's attorney charged the actor earned $425,000 last year and turned all the money over to a corporation the actor controls.

The attorney, Simon Taub, said he would petition Superior Court to appoint a receiver for the corporation to prevent Rooney from evading alimony payments.

Particularly:

All owners of property fronting on, or abutting on Watkins Lake, or who are interested in having fixed and maintained the normal height and level of said lake, pursuant to the provisions of Act 194 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1939, as amended, and Act 319 of the Michigan Public Acts of 1941, as amended:

You are hereby notified that the Oakland County Board of Supervisors has caused to be filed in this Court a petition praying for the establishment by this Court of the normal height and level of Watkins Lake, said lake being located in Sections 14, 15 and 22 of Waterford Township, Oakland County, Michigan.

You are further notified that a hearing on the petition will be had in the Circuit Court for the County of Oakland on Wednesday, the 21st day of December, 1960, at the opening of Court on that day at 9 a.m., or as soon thereafter as Counsel can be heard.

You are further notified that on said date the petitioner intends to ask this Court to establish the normal height and level of said lake at 950.00 feet above sea level and if you desire to oppose the establishment of the level at 950.00 feet above sea level you should then and there appear and show cause, if any you have, why:

(a) The normal height and level of the said lake should not be established;

(b) Why 950.00 feet above sea level should not be the level fixed as the normal height and level of said lake;

(c) Why such other and further relief as to this Court seems fitting and proper, should not be granted to petitioners.

PIE IN YOUR FACE—Not mud in your eye, but pie in your face . . . that is how Miss Georgianna Walker, the loser, looked Wednesday night at the corner of Sunset and Vine streets in Hollywood. At left, Miss Tybie Paul, the winner, who bet on Sen. John F. Kennedy's victory, gets set to smack a cream pie into the face of Miss Walker, who backed Richard Nixon. At right, the election bet payoff is completed.

Bouncy A2 Polaris Successful in Test

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — An advanced model Navy Polaris missile with glass in its body and "more bounce to the ounce" in its fuel hurled a dummy warhead more than 1,600 statute miles Thursday in a record-breaking test flight debut.

The distance traveled by the new rocket, which like earlier models is designed for firing from submerged submarines, was more than 300 miles longer than achieved in some 50 flights by previous Polarises. The new series is designated the "A-2."

Its eventual range will be about 1,725 statute miles. Current Polarises have a range of 1,380 miles—long enough to bring 90 per cent of all Russian cities with populations of more than 50,000 within striking distance from the sea.

Show Explores Plight of 'Trapped Housewife'

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI)—It came as something of a surprise to learn, while watching "The Trapped Housewife" Thursday afternoon, that a typical American housewife keeps busy with about 22 jobs in and around her house.

★ ★ ★

Frankly, my ivory tower existence led me to believe that our little homemakers were kept so busy watching TV and writing letters to TV columnists that they had no time for any other chores.

But, be that as it may, NBC-TV's "Special for Women" delved into the plight of the uncounted army of women who suffer, in varying degrees, from what the head-shrinkers refer to as "The Disenchantment Syndrome."

The syndrome creeps in as women, beset by the merry-go-round of suburban life, start asking themselves, "is this it? Is this my life? No respite from little people in dungarees, diapers, or from dishes? The same old "girls" at the PTA or the garden club."

★ ★ ★

They start yearning for time in which to develop into more effective human beings, to respond to new, or old, ripples in the streams of culture. When the time is not forthcoming, disenchantment sets in.

This leads to melancholia, frustration, the "trapped feeling," which, in turn, may lead to divorce, the psychiatrist's couch, barbiturates, alcohol or promiscuity.

The problem is there, all right. Producer George Lefferts' script dramatized the problem effectively by focusing sympathetically on a composite case history.

His "trapped housewife," played with skill by Phyllis Thaxter, was on the verge of a serious breakdown. But we watched her work her way out of her despair, aided slightly—very slightly—by her husband, played by Michael Strong.

At times the dialogue sent the couple into arch, theatrical verbal orbits which tended to clash with the documentary nature of the study.

At the conclusion of the valuable play, directed by Karl Genus, narrator Pauline Fredericks interviewed two authorities of family life, Dr. Max Siegel of Brooklyn College and Prof. William Dobriner of Hofstra College.

Dr. Siegel suggested that the trapped housewife's salvation might be to throw out the rules, the regulations of her rat-race existence and just be herself. Break away from routine, he said, and be a person in your own right by being honest with yourself.

Dr. Dobriner mentioned that part of the syndrome is traceable to magazines that create, through stories and commercials, "the image of the perfect woman." Naturally, it's too much to attempt to emulate.

I suspect, however, that sheer politeness caused the good doctor to avoid mentioning, as one of the culprits, television. Talk about the "perfect woman-image!" We see her in just about every other TV show around. We're bombarded with Donna Reeds, Jane Wyatts, Majorie Lords, Dinah Shores—glamour girls who are required to play the roles of perfect women. They're perfect—perfectly unreal.

★ ★ ★

But, to its everlasting credit, the daytime NBC-TV special held up a mirror to life as it probably is for too many of us who spend outrageous amounts of time watching or reading about happy people laughing their way through happy problems on happy TV shows.

TV Comedian Accused of Being Stingy Snob

By EARL WILSON

WILSON

Jack's one of our funniest TV and cafe comedians living but in my opinion, he hasn't the fame he deserves.

"It's because of the legend that I'm cheap, temperamental and a snob," Jack explained to me. "Actors tell me 'You're not a bad fellow.' I say 'Who told you I was?' They say 'Everybody.'

"Cheap? I went shopping today for the band, and bought monogrammed shirts. I don't give away that impersonal booze like some guys.

"It's the backbiters who say it. Today I think you got to be a heel to be a star. Look at Bobby Darin rapping everybody. The bigger the snob, the bigger the star.

★ ★ ★

NANCY

He had a high rating on his own Saturday night Review on NBC — but that was years ago.

"They say 'He's tough to handle,'" Jack went on. "Me? I don't fight with people. (I'm yellow)."

He's a tremendous crowd-pleaser, and plays to many parties—for example, a parents' group.

"That's why we've got juvenile delinquency," he told them. "The parents have so many meetings with the teachers, nobody's watching the kids."

This idea that he's stingy has especially worried Jack. "I've gone to an analyst to figure it out," Jack said.

Expects State to Top Nation in Road Work

JACKSON (AP) — Michigan will wind up 1960 as the nation's top road building state, State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie predicted Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The commissioner made the forecast at the opening of 9.9 miles on Interstate 94 freeway east of Jackson. The new section extends Michigan's longest stretch of freeway from Jackson-Washtenaw county line to St. Joseph, a distance of 131 miles.

Michigan leads the nation in placing 111 miles of interstate highways under contract between Jan. 1 and Sept. 30. Second place Texas reported 99 miles.

"I am confident we will be in first place when the 12-month totals are published," Mackie said.

Out in Hollywood some men remain single until they feel they can support an ex-wife . . . Manhattan's getting a new hotel, and reports are that it'll be so huge it'll be admitted to the Union. — Earl Wilson.

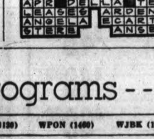
Answer to Previous Puzzle



Not Conceding Yet to Kennedy —Birdwatcher

HOMER, Ga. (AP) — Birdwatcher Connie Watts, the presidential candidate whose platform was strictly for the birds, said he isn't ready to concede the election to Sen. John F. Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

"The trend seems to be running against me as late returns come in," Watts admitted Thursday, but "you may quote me as saying I know I got seven votes — they just haven't been announced yet. Besides, the absentee ballots from a lot of places haven't been counted. You can't tell what might happen."

★ ★ ★

Watts, write-in candidate of the "Front Porch party," campaigned for better housing for all the birds of Atlanta. He wanted to put the unemployed to work boring holes in dead trees so more birds would have places to build nests.

Toledo Bounds Ahead

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Since 1955 Toledo has annexed 6,386 acres of adjoining Lucas County, adding more than 11,000 residents and increasing the tax duplicate $42 million.

Philadelphia had its first charter as a city in 1701.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Q. We want a German Shepherd puppy, but hear this breed will attack strangers without provocation. Is this true?—John Rollings, Middletown, R. I.

A. The two main characteristics all dogs have in common are aggressiveness and protectiveness, and they are particularly prevalent in the German Shepherd. Any dog worth his salt will attack a person who threatens the safety of your home and family, and this breed is basically a watch-dog.

* * *

Properly trained dogs soon learn to distinguish between friend and foe, and the German Shepherd has the upper paw in this respect. His keen intelligence and perception make him one of the most easily trained breeds.

* * *

He quickly learns to control his instincts, or direct them in a useful manner. This dog will no more attack without provocation than any other breed.

His formidable size is partly responsible for the unfair reputation, but I can assure you that the well trained German Shepherd is an asset, not a menace.

Voting Follows Early Pollsters

Roper Only One to Give Edge to Nixon but He Hedged His Choice

NEW YORK (UPI) — The pre-election presidential polls were almost as close as the election itself.

All the major polls taken before the election predicted a near neck-and-neck battle between Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy.

All but one predicted Kennedy would win. The exception, the Elmo Roper poll, gave an edge to Nixon but said enough voters were undecided to throw the election to Kennedy.

Kennedy received about 50.25 per cent of the total popular vote and Nixon 49.75 per cent.

The Roper poll had forecast on Monday that Nixon would receive 49 per cent and Kennedy 47 per cent, with 4 per cent undecided.

The Gallup poll gave Kennedy 49 per cent, Nixon 48 per cent and undecided, 3 per cent.

Time Magazine had given Kennedy 306, Nixon 149 and 83 undecided. U.S. News and World Report had given 282 to Kennedy, 205 to Nixon and classed 50 as undecided.

Unanswered Telephone Maintains Its Listing

ELIZABETH, N.J. (AP) — Louis T. Mackessy is listed in the telephone directory again this year. But no one has answered his phone since 1935.

Wrestlers Drop Decision to Board

The bruiser, the crusher, the killer—all can demand a rematch, but they've had it.

In an age of vast Hollywood spectaculars, some of the best actors of all have been barred from Pontiac's high schools by the Board of Education.

The grunt 'n' groaners are dead.

The board, at its meeting last night voted to prohibit any further use of school facilities for professional wrestling.

Lepley said that since Oct. 26 he had witnessed five professional wrestling programs in Windsor and Detroit and a wrestling program at Pontiac Central High School on Nov. 4.

IN GREAT SHAPE

"The participants in the programs are fine physical speciments, are in fine condition, are highly skilled in wrestling and tumbling and have some acting ability," said Lepley.

"But the conduct of the majority of these men during their participation in these bouts is rather questionable.

1. Participants agitating spectators to ridicule and jeer their opponent and/or the official.

2. Menacing movements and facial expressions toward the official and/or the opponent.

3. Disrespect for the official.
4. Scratching opponets to draw blood.
5. Gouging opponents.
6. Choking opponents.

8. Hitting opponents with fists and elbows.
9. Kicking opponents.
10. Throwing opponents out of the ring.

11. Kicking opponents after the opponent has been counted out.

12. Carrying on the bout outside the designated wrestling area.

13. "Lady" spectators directing foul language toward attendants and the official in the presence of elementary school boys and girls.

Cheer Up! It's Gonna Warm Up Over Weekend

The weatherman says Saturday will be a little warmer with the high climbing to 48 degrees. The low will hit 34 tonight.

For the next five days temperatures will average about three degrees above the normal high of 48 and normal low of 34. A slow warming trend will begin Saturday and continue through Tuesday.

Precipitation will total about half an inch in showers late Saturday or Sunday and again about Wednesday.

Morning southwesterly winds at 8 miles per hour will increase to 12-20 miles this afternoon and tonight.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 27. The reading at 1 p.m. was 41.

Transition Plans Please Eisenhower

White House news secretary James C. Hagerty said that the President was pleased with arrangements to date and "would be delighted" to meet with Kennedy "at the senator's convenience."

★ ★ ★

Kennedy said in Hyannis Port, Mass., he expected to consult with Eisenhower in Washington late this month.

The President, stressing the need for "continuity" in American foreign policy, urged that Kennedy appoint an advisor to meet with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Be Cautious on Roads

Circulation War's Answer?

When The Detroit News bought The Detroit Times and suspended it, the News and the Free Press took the silk off the hammer, removed both gloves and brought the big artillery out of the caves and caverns.

They're both in there swinging mightily and the sound and fury reach the comparative peace and quiet of Pontiac.

In the meantime, several hundred Times subscribers in this area have discovered a new and hitherto unsuspected delight—The Pontiac Press. They're mightily pleased—and say so.

Extra Session on Sales Tax Still in Doubt

Swainson Studies 1961 Needs; Williams Takes South America Trip

LANSING (AP) — Legislators must wait more than two weeks to learn whether they will meet in special session to consider raising the three-cent sales tax.

Gov. Williams and his successor, Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, agreed Thursday to order a quick survey of the state's financial situation before making a decision on an extra legislative session. Local officials also will be consulted, they said.

Meanwhile, Gov. and Mrs. Williams will take off Saturday on a two-week tour of Argentina and Brazil along with 46 other governors and their wives. They will return Nov. 28.

By that time, Williams said, Swainson should have a clear picture of 1961-62 budget needs and the current financial situation and be in a position to advise the governor on whether to summon lawmakers to Lansing.

Williams pointed out that voter approval Tuesday of a constitutional amendment raising the state sales tax ceiling from three to four cents will not take effect until Dec. 8.

Swainson indicated Thursday he probably would not block enactment of a sales tax increase if it is approved after he takes office in January.

"The people have spoken," he told newsmen but added: "I still think we need revision of our entire tax structure."

The governor and governor-elect huddled privately for two hours Thursday to talk over the practical problems of shifting from a Williams to a Swainson administration.

They agreed that Swainson should appoint a commission to prepare for a constitutional convention if voters decide to call one in the 1961 spring election.

Romney is chairman of Citizens for Michigan, which helped promote approval of another constitutional amendment setting up a statewide vote next spring on calling a convention.

Other provisions ease the voting requirement for calling a convention and set up a new method of selecting delegates to make them more nearly representative of the voting population.

Williams noted that he had named a committee of political science experts at four Michigan universities last month to study the pros and cons of proposed changes in the 52-year-old Constitution. Their report is due Dec. 18.

'That Awful Carpet'

State Offices Looking Up

LANSING (AP)—"That awful carpet" in the governor's suite is going to be ripped up, thrown away and replaced with a new one.

Gov. Williams and Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, the man who will succeed him in January, made the decision Thursday amid discussion of things like constitutional reform and a proposed special session of the legislature.

The carpet, green and threadbare, is an eyesore. It is torn and patched with black adhesive tape.

It is also somewhat famous.

POVERTY SYMBOL

In 1959, it became a sort of symbol of Michigan's money troubles—unpaid debts and the cash crisis, payless paydays and legislative feuding over what to do.

★ ★ ★

The carpet adjoins the governor's personal office in the area occupied by his aides and secretaries. Someone estimated that nearly 50,000 touring schoolkids, visitors, state officials and staffers walk over it every year.

Early in 1959, James W. Miller, then state controller, was set to provide new carpeting for the executive suite. Then came the cash crisis.

The governor issued an order for all state agencies and departments to cut expenses to the bone. No new carpet, he said.

★ ★ ★

Around the office, it came to be known as "that awful carpet."

Thursday, two days after voters approved a proposal to raise the state sales tax ceiling from three to four cents, the governor announced a decision to get a new one.

"I think this one dates back to the Civil War," he said with a grin. Then, recalling the Capitol was built in 1879, he added, "or at least to the days of McKinley."

TO SPEAK HIS PIECE

The governor said he would ask the economy-minded legislature to spend more money around the Capitol in his "swan song" address on New Year's Day.

A State Supreme Court building is "absolutely necessary," he said.

To obtain the dignity and efficiency it deserves, he said, the court requires something more than its dingy, poorly lighted, shabbily furnished chambers on the third floor of the Capitol.

The law library is a fire hazard, the governor said, and the attorney general's quarters should be moved to another building.

The state also should provide its Chief Executive with living quarters, he said.

"Now that I'm leaving office, nobody can accuse me of personal interest in this matter," he said.

Marilyn Monroe to Seek Divorce

NEW YORK (AP) — Marilyn Monroe, curvaceous film star, and playwright Arthur Miller have separated, a spokesman for the couple said today.

The spokesman said Miss Monroe would file for a divorce but "has made no immediate plans for consulting an attorney."

Both Miss Monroe and her husband were reported in New York but neither could be reached immediately for comment.

Modern Wars Don't Faze These Five Old Soldiers

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

There are five Pontiac Spanish-American War veterans that emphatically agree that the last two major American wars were easier than the war of '98 when they battled their way through the thick jungles of the Philippine Islands.

John N. Johnson 82, of 270 S. Jessie St., likes to drive his car over and visit with Harry Nicholie, 76, of 49 Mt. Clemens St., and the four get together with Harry Pattison, 83, of 5960 Pontiac Trail, Walled Lake.

The old soldiers that refuse to "fade away" talk about the modern convenience enjoyed by today's armed forces, and of the days when radar, Nike and jet engines were unheard of. Even the old-time airplanes of World War I would have been an oddity, in '98.

Linsenman remembers the terrible food that Spanish-American War vets had to put up with. "We had hard tack and boiled beans for lunch, then they just turned them over and fried the beans for supper," he said.

Pattison still has a sealed can of that same hard tack that hasn't been opened since 1898. "It got so bad that I just couldn't open another can of the stuff, and packed it away as a remembrance," he said.

Factory Puts 3 Chimps to Work Today

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Three chimpanzees named Fudgie, Pudgie and Bobby go to work in a furniture factory today and Ben Friedman, 35, factory manager, swore it was anything but monkey business.

Friedman denied reports that the chimps will replace any of the human employes, and said if things work out it could actually result in creating jobs for more people.

He plans to start the chimps to work on a production line this afternoon and demonstrate to newsmen how well they work.

Friedman said he would also make "some suggestions" on how chimpanzees can take over nonskilled jobs in other industries.

NIGHT EXPERIMENTS

"There is no doubt that they can do the jobs," Friedman said.

"We have been experimenting with them at nights, when nobody was around. We didn't want to say anything until we could see if it could be done.

"So far, we have been careful on our investment, because we don't know how labor and other people will react. It's just an experiment. But we are certain it will work."

Friedman said he actually has two reasons for the experiment.

First, he said he thinks using chimps for some tasks to cut labor costs will help his company be more competitive in a competitive market. And second, he wants to prove a point.

"It really came to a head when I wrote a novel about this type of situation, where a whole group of chimps were used in a factory," Friedman said.

'FANTASY' SAYS PUBLISHER

"When I sent it to a publisher to read, he classified it as fantasy, and said his company only took more serious type fiction.

"I was convinced it would work, so I looked up a man who had some chimps and began experiments."

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — The Iraq government says it is going to pay the Algerian rebel government in Tunis $2.8 million Saturday.

The announcement by the official Iraq news agency said this would be the balance allocated by Premier Abdel Karim Kassem's government for the cause of Algerian independence in 1960.

Probaby Deals With Top-Level Foreign Policy

Kennedy Takes Giant List of Appointment Prospects on Vacation

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — A personal message from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan was delivered this morning to President-Elect John F. Kennedy at his Hyannis Port home.

D'Arcy Edmonson, British consul general in Boston, brought the message personally, but there was no immediate indication of the contents.

Macmillan previously had sent his congratulations to Kennedy, a customary formality between heads of government. Therefore, it was assumed that the communication concerned matters of high foreign policy.

It was reported that Macmillan, along with several other heads of European governments, expected to confer personally with Kennedy within the next few months.

He had with him a list of several hundred names for consideration for appointments in his administration. Kennedy said Thursday at his first news conference that he expected to have his cabinet complete "in late November or early December."

His press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said the president-elect has received 13,000 congratulatory telegrams in the past 24 hours.

Kennedy was to take three of his top assistants with him to Florida. They were Kenneth O'Donnell, named as special assistant to the president; Lawrence O'Brien, political adviser; and Salinger.

SPENDS QUIET NIGHT

Six Secret Service agents and three newsmen also were to board Kennedy's plane.

Kennedy spent a quiet night with his family and Salinger said he had no appointments for today.

There were indications that he might ask President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon to shoulder important responsibilities in the incoming government.

And Adlai E. Stevenson, twice Democratic candidate for president, appeared to be in his plans somewhere. Considerable spec-

Johnson Faces Double Duty

Right-Hand Man for Kennedy in Congress; Foreign Affairs

As his first assignment for President-Elect John F. Kennedy, Johnson plans to attend the Nov. 21 NATO conference of Parliamentarians in Paris, according to reliable sources.

Of course, the outgoing Senate Democratic leader would skip the Paris trip if Kennedy had a more urgent job for him at home.

TWO BURDENS

But in any event, these are the two burdens Johnson is slated to shoulder after the Kennedy administration takes office Jan. 20:

—Backstage leader and White House liaison man on Capitol Hill — where his "power of persuasion" can continue to be utilized in the Senate and House.

—Representative of the new president in key international negotiations and on visits abroad. Kennedy was said by one associate to regard the Texan as the "best negotiator" he had ever known.

Small Chance to Reverse Election

GOP Leaders Give Up Hope

Nixon to Be 19 Short Even With California, Other States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican leaders realistically viewed their chances of reversing the presidential election result today as a 10,000 to 1 shot.

★ ★ ★

They also nursed a hope that the official canvass in Illinois would throw that state to Nixon.

Highly placed Republicans acknowledged, however, that winning both of those states from Kennedy, along with the still undecided state of Alaska, still would not give Nixon enough electoral votes.

Nixon carried 25 states with 188 electoral votes in Tuesday's election, and held a slim lead today in Alaska, where 30 precincts were still unreported.

STILL SHORT

In California, with some 200,000 absentee votes to be counted Monday, Kennedy held a lead of almost 35,000. His lead in Illinois was less than 8,000.

If Nixon should salvage both of those states and Alaska, however, his electoral vote count still would be only 250, or 19 short of the needed majority.

★ ★ ★

With some precincts still not reported, the popular vote remained very close and gave Kennedy the victory by one of the narrowest margins in history.

He polled 33,688,903 votes against Nixon's 33,329,680 and had 50.27 per cent of the two-party total.

At his first postelection news conference Thursday at Hyannis Port, Mass., Kennedy said he had expected the election to be close but not as close as it was.

There are signs that most if not all of the 12 Georgia electors, not legally pledged to Kennedy, and the unpledged six electors in Alabama's 11-vote bloc would give their votes to Kennedy.

★ ★ ★

Fair Weather Smiles Over Most of Nation

By The Associated Press

Light showers fell in the Northwest with snow flurries extending eastward along the Canadian border to the Great Lakes. General cloudiness extended eastward into the Central and north Atlantic States with fair weather over the rest of the country.

Early morning temperatures were in the 20s from the Central Rockies eastward to the Upper Great Lakes and southward into the Central and Northern Mississippi Valley.

Readings in the 30s were common through the middle of the country and northward along the Appalachians into New England.

NAMED BY KENNEDY — These four men have been asked to serve by President-Elect Kennedy. Allen W. Dulles, (left), has been asked to continue as director of the Central Intelligence Agency. J. Edgar Hoover, (second from left), has been requested to stay on as head of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Both have accepted. Kennedy also announced the appointment of Clark Clifford, (second from right), as his liaison representative to the Eisenhower administration. And Kennedy also has asked James M. Landis, (right), former dean of Harvard law school, to undertake a study of federal regulatory agencies. Clifford is a Washington lawyer.

Mac Sends Jack Second Message

ulation has centered on the possibility that Stevenson might be the next secretary of state.

She is expecting a child soon. Kennedy's private plane is scheduled to stop in Washington and Mrs. Kennedy will disembark there. Kennedy plans to rejoin her before the birth of the baby.

He was moving ahead, full-tilt, with the business of government, barely 48 hours after winning the presidential election.

He announced that two super-important positions already are filled—by requesting the incumbents to remain in office.

DULLES, HOOVER STAY

They are Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency and J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Both agreed to stay.

One of Kennedy's top advisers said, "He felt that, because they are both sensitive posts, requiring a high degree of experience, the best thing is to keep Dulles and Hoover on the job."

Kennedy also announced that he has named Clark Clifford, Washington lawyer, to be his representative as liaison with the Eisenhower administration during the period between now and the day he takes office. Clifford served as special counsel to former President Truman.

★ ★ ★

The duties of the liaison agent are to meet regularly with government officials and to keep the president-elect advised on developments in defense, foreign affairs, the preparation of the budget, etc—to be the main link in the orderly transition of government.

FOUR ASSIGNED

They are: Pierre Salinger, former San Francisco newspaperman, political manager, and one-time piano student, to be White House press secretary. Salinger now lives in Falls Church, Va.

Andrew Hatcher, of San Francisco, official of the California State Labor Commission, to be assistant press secretary. Hatcher is a Negro.

To be special assistant he named Kenneth O'Donnell, of Worcester, Mass. O'Donnell was a key man in the team of advisors who worked with Kennedy during the presidential campaign.

Theodore Sorenson, of Lincoln, Neb., to be special counsel to the president. Kennedy said Sorenson

SETS UP STUDY

★ ★ ★

For a special study of federal regulatory agencies, Kennedy asked James M. Landis, of New York to submit a report. Landis is former dean of the Harvard Law School. Kennedy said the Landis study is being undertaken "with a view to maximizing the effective dispatch of their (the agencies) business." He said the first report would be submitted by Dec. 15.

"I feel that the first twelve items are rehearsed actions."

FIRST 12 ENOUGH

There was no qualification made on the 13th item, but evidently the athletic director felt that the first 12 points contributed considerably to the 13th.

As for the "style" of professional wrestlers Lepley said only that "these 12 points may or may not cause direct injury to the participants."

From elementary school through high school, we teach and coach to develop boys and girls of good, positive moral character," Lepley concluded.

"As a result of my observations, I am convinced that the negative aspects (of pro wrestling) far overshadow the positive aspects compatible with our physical education program."

★ ★ ★

He also said that scheduling of such wrestling shows had brought about several conflicts with scheduled high school sports events.

Anticipated losses between now and Dec. 1 due to the usual seasonal dip in occupancy will decide whether 1960 is the hospital's first balanced year since the expansion program began in 1956, Harold B. Euler, hospital administrator, told trustees last night.

If the customary losses eat up the $40,000 cushion accumulated this year, 1960 will end in the red, he said. If they don't, the hospital will finish the year in the black, as far as the balance between revenues and expenses is concerned, Euler said.

Action on the record, $5-million-plus budget proposed for 1961 was put off until Nov. 28. William P. Babcock, board chairman, said final copies had not been delivered to several trustees until a few hours before last night's meeting.

A 95-per-cent occupancy rate during the last accounting period has been a major factor in the hospital's present favorable position, said Euler.

The brisk period, Euler said, compensated for unexpected lulls this summer and averaged out the occupancy rate so far this year to 88.7 per cent, 1.7 points above the budget estimate.

Costs so far are a few cents below last year's rate of $43.35 per patient per day, he said.

In a few weeks, the hospital will become a 359-bed institution. The ambulatory (self-care) unit is being moved from the fifth floor East Wing to the second, adding five beds, Euler reported.

The move completes the occupancy of the second floor. Thanks to the expansion program, the hospital will still have space for 30 to 40 more beds before it is operating at capacity.

Is Nikita-Jack Meeting in Air?

Polite Note Exchange Raises Speculation of Two Getting Together

MOSCOW (UPI)—A courteous reply from President-Elect Kennedy to Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's message of congratulations raised the possibility today that the Soviet Government would suggest the two leaders meet face to face in the near future.

★ ★ ★

It was unlikely such a meeting would take place before Kennedy's inauguration Jan. 20, but diplomatic sources said the Kremlin might suggest it be held before a Big Four summit meeting which Khrushchev discussed with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in New York.

Khrushchev's message to Kennedy received banner treatment in the mass circulation Soviet newspapers Pravda and Izvestia Thursday.

The stories played heavily on the suggestion in Khrushchev's message that Kennedy might follow what the Russians consider the Roosevelt policy of international cooperation.

★ ★ ★

Diplomats said Kennedy's courteous reply from Hyannis Port, Mass., in which he expressed appreciation of Khrushchev's good wishes, could help create a favorable atmosphere for a meeting between the two.

One prominent Western diplomat termed Khrushchev's message "tantamount to an offer of a moratorium in the cold war at least until the new president takes office."

Observers said it would not be surprising if the Kremlin invited Kennedy to visit the Soviet Union eventually in return for Khrushchev's visit to the United States in the fall of 1959.

Prestige Reports Remain on Shelf

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U. S. Information Agency Director George V. Allen said Tuursday the Eisenhower administration has not decided whether to release the series of polls on U. S. prestige abroad which played such a big role in the campaign.

★ ★ ★

Allen said it would be up to the White House to release the polls, which reportedly show a drop in U. S. prestige, and which the administration refused to release during the campaign.

Allen said the polls "have been off the front pages since the election, and I suppose a lot of people would like them to stay that way."

Predicts Dulles Won't Last

Kellis Says Director of CIA Kept Temporarily to Assure Continuity

★ ★ ★

A critic of Dulles during his campaign to win the 18th Congressional District (Oakland County) seat, Kellis, of Berkley, said President-Elect John F. Kennedy probably was retaining Dulles for the time being to assure continuity of the important office.

"I believe by next summer he will be replaced," Kellis said.

In his first announcement of appointments since being elected Tuesday, Kennedy said Dulles and J. Edgar Hoover would remain in their present positions, the latter as FBI director.

SILENT ON REPLACEMENT

Kellis, still resting up after the vigorous campaign which saw him drop the election to incumbent Republican Congressman William S. Broomfield by nearly 33,000 votes, wouldn't forecast who would replace Dulles.

He said he wouldn't be a candidate, although he served in the CIA and the old Office of Stratetic Services, predecessor of the CIA.

Kellis retired from the Air Force as a colonel in May to run for office.

He campaigned on grounds that the nation's security and foreign policy had been hindered under Dulles' leadership and the Eisenhower administration.

"I still think that Allen Dulles is no good and I'm going to fight him," Kellis said.

He said three months ago he had been approached in Washington by a member of the Democratic National Committee on whether he would like the job.

'DIDN'T CARE FOR IT'

"I told him that I didn't care for it," Kellis said.

A trip to Washington next week was still planned, Kellis said, "to talk over how the election went" and to follow up his doctoral thesis submitted to Georgetown University.

He said he wasn't too surprised to hear of Dulles' retention in office.

A likely successor to Dulles is Charles Brown, a partner in the New York investment firm of J. H. Whitney and once chief of operations for the CIA, a position Kellis held himself, Kellis said.

Board Accepts Resignation of Rogers Principal

Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools in Pontiac, today announced the Pontiac School Board had "accepted with regrets the resignation of Mrs. Stuart Galbraith, principal of Will Rogers Elementary School."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Galbraith, in the Pontiac school system 20 years, was first appointed a principal in 1956.

★ ★ ★

She said in her letter of resignation that she felt school administrators had not supported her position in differences with a "minority group" of parents who had complained about the school's staff and educational programs.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Whitmer said he met with her this morning to ask her to reconsider, but that she refused to withdraw the resignation.

Kennedy Faces China Issues

Has Four Advisers but It's Uncertain If He'll Shift U.S. Policy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Kennedy administration is expected to make an early re-examination of U. S. policy toward Red China but it has no intention of abandoning Formosa to the Communists.

A reappraisal soon after the new administration takes over Jan. 20 was foreshadowed by the campaign speeches of Sen. John F. Kennedy and of his closest foreign advisers — Adlai E. Stevenson, Chester Bowles, Sen. J. William Fulbright and Paul Nitze.

Kennedy's speeches indicate he will seek high-level meetings with both the Nationalist and Communist Chinese in an effort to reduce the danger of war in the tense Formosa Straits separating the Red mainland from Nationalist boss Chiang Kai-Shek's Formosa stronghold.

It is far from certain that such talks would bring any important changes in U. S. policy in the Far East.

It is certain, however, that Kennedy will not grant diplomatic recognition to Red China or drop the 10-year U. S. fight against admission of the Communist Chinese to the United Nations as long as they continue to threaten invasion of Formosa and other neighboring areas.

Kennedy also will reject Communist demands that the United States break its defense pact with Nationalist China and withdraw the U. S. Seventh Fleet from the Formosa Straits.

If the new president follows through on his campaign speeches, he may try to persuade Chiang to withdraw an unspecified number of Nationalist troops from the Quemoy and Matsu islands within artillery range of the Red mainland.

★ ★ ★

Spanish-American Vets Recall the War

Guns that were left over from the Civil War were used to shoot .33-caliber bullets. Later the Krag-Jorgensen's were used, "and those had the kick of a mad mule," Nicholie recalled.

There were no ladies in wars in the old days like there are today, Tanner said. "We hadn't seen a woman in more than two years, when we got word that an American nurse was scheduled to arrive in a town ten miles away."

Tanner continued that "the whole darned troop" of 200 men walked that ten miles just to see her. When they arrived at the town, the nurse was "seven feet tall and weighed about 300 pounds" —but the men howled with glee and it was a better reception than any political candidate ever got, Tanner added.

Ill Grandma of Kennedy 'Very Thrilled'

BOSTON (AP) — The presidential election was a great event for 95-year-old Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, grandmother of President-Elect John F. Kennedy, even if she was in seclusion and recovering from illness.

"She was just as excited as the rest of us," said her son Thomas Fitzgerald. Mrs. Fitzgerald now is staying at his Boston home.

"She is very thrilled with the result and proud of her grandson," Fitzgerald said.

The Day in Birmingham

See Final Approval Soon on City Rubbish Pact

BIRMINGHAM — Final approval is expected soon on a new, 20-year contract between the city and the Oakland County Garbage and Rubbish Authority.

★ ★ ★

The city commission already has given tentative approval on the agreement and a final decision will be reached here as soon as it has been reviewed by all communities participating in the project.

If approved, the city would pay $4.50 per ton for all waste material delivered for disposal at the authority's incinerator.

If approved, the city would pay $4.50 per ton for all waste material delivered for disposal at the authority's incinerator. There would be a $3 per ton charge for material delivered for landfill disposal.

Birmingham also would pay an annual charge which would be used by the authority to meet increasing costs caused by the expansion of municipalities under its control.

The city presently has $5,843 on deposit with the authority.

City Manager L. R. Gare suggested that this sum be used toward the extra charge during the next three years. If this is done, Gare explained, then additional funds would not have to be budgeted for the additional cost.

Departmental meetings of the Birmingham Woman's Club will be held following luncheons at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday.

The American home section will meet at the home of Mrs. Harry Wholihan, 31721 Verona Circle, and the fine arts department will meet at the home of Mrs. Edward Kirbert, 409 Chestnut Hill.

Mrs. Claude Morrow of 1158 Villa Drive will be hostess for the literature meeting at her home.

Thursday Nature Boy Seen Again

Waterford Township police have nothing but the barest of facts to work on in the month-old "Case of the Thursday Nude."

Stripped to their essentials, the facts are that for four consecutive weeks residents have spotted a man walking naked in the Drayton Plains area.

Each time it's been on Thursday. Each time it's been cold. Each time police have been called.

On Oct. 20, the six-foot, 200-pound nude was seen jumping from an empty box car near Dixie Highway near Hatchery Road.

The following week he was spotted in a field back of houses on Aquarina Drive.

Last Thursday he was seen running in a field by girls working in a Dixie Highway dairy, and yesterday at 3 p.m. a young couple driving north on Dixie Highway reported the nude man walking along railroad tracks.

Within less than two minutes township police were swarming about the area, and far more than two hours citizens joined police looking for the elusive nude.

FREDERICK R. WOLLAEGER

Guidance Clinic Gets Director

Frederick R. Wollaeger to Head Oakland Work for Children

State Mental Health Director Charles Wagg today confirmed the appointment of Frederick R. Wollaeger as director of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic.

The appointment follows the election of Dr. William J. Westmaas as president of the clinic's board of directors earlier this week.

Both men are residents of Birmingham. They succeed former President Richard Merrick and Madeleine Half, who resigned as director in July.

He is a graduate of the University of Michigan medical school, and received his diploma in 1954 from the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology.

★ ★ ★

Wollaeger has been associated with the Pontiac facility of the Oakland Child Guidance Clinic since 1953. He took over as acting director when Miss Half resigned.

"I am happy to announce that the Royal Oak branch of the Oakland Clinic is now under state auspices," Wollaeger said today.

The clinic in Royal Oak was started in 1957 with private funds, but effective Nov. 1 became a full-fledged clinic under the administrative direction of the Oakland Clinic.

Reports Car Output Down This Week

DETROIT (AP) — Auto production again will decline slightly this week from last week, Automotive News reported.

The trade paper estimated production for the current week at 143,796 passenger cars compared with 145,422 last week. A year ago, with the steel shortage cutting hard, the industry built only 64,452 units.

Compact cars will account for 33.9 per cent of the week's production compared with 43.8 per cent for standard size cars in the popular price field. Medium price cars will take 20.3 per cent of production with 3.1 per cent going to the luxury field.

Automotive News said truck production will run 20,779 units this week against 17,998 last week and 11,845 a year ago.

In Canada factories will build 6,625 cars and 1,010 trucks this week compared with 6,555 cars and 972 trucks last week and 3,389 cars and trucks in the similar week of 1959.

'My God, That's Not Mary!'

List Wrong Woman Dead

NEW YORK (AP) — An incredible case of mistaken identity was disclosed Thursday when a sealed coffin was opened so that a young man could place a ring on a finger of an airline stewardess who lay inside.

★ ★ ★

"My God! That's not Mary," whispered Bob Evans, a family friend, as he looked at the body of a young woman.

Mary Hawthorne, 26, of New York, was one of four American Airline stewardesses riding in a cab in San Bruno, Calif., Monday when it was in collision with another auto.

The four women and the cabbie were rushed to Peninsula Hospital in San Mateo, Calif., one stewardess died, and police, on the basis of scattered personal papers found at the crash scene, identified her as Mary Hawthorne.

The other girls underwent surgery and were placed on the critical list.

The body of the young woman identified as Mary Hawthorne was sent to the William Cooke Funeral Home in the Bronx. It lay entombed in a sealed coffin until nearly midnight.

Walter Scharmer of Massapequa Park, N. Y., Mary Hawthorne's uncle, said he was at the funeral home with Mary's friends, Evans and Norma Pugh, a stewardess.

"Bob Evans asked the man at the funeral home to open the coffin because he had a ring that Mary used to wear and he wanted to put it on her finger. It was a sentimental gesture.

"The Cooke man opened the coffin for him. No one in the family had asked to have the coffin opened and we still hadn't looked inside.

"But when the lid was pushed back, Evans told us he said, "Oh my God! That's not Mary!"

JOAN ANNE FROST

The two other stewardesses involved in the crash were Shiela Murray, 22, and Teresa Diplacigo, 22, of Philadelphia.

Miss Hawthorne remains in critical condition. Heavy bandages conceal her face and she hasn't regained consciousness since the accident, which was near San Francisco International Airport.

Miss Murray and Miss Diplacigo were reported in good condition.

A spokesman for the California hospital said the identification was not questioned until Thursday night when the coroner's office called.

He said Thomas Frost, Joan Frost's father, was there but had been unable to see the patient's face because of bandages.

After the identity mix-up, a member of the California Highway Patrol said "the cab was demolished, the girls' personal belongings — their purses and such — were strewn all over the highway. They could easily have become scrambled."

Finch Attorney Fined $500 for Contempt

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Defense Attorney Grant B. Cooper Thursday was fined $500 for contempt of court during the Finch-Tregoff murder retrial. At the same time the district attorney's office investigated a report that the jurors had reached a verdict but the judge had rejected it.

Judge Leroy Dawson had cited Cooper twice for contempt when the attorney objected to his statement to the jury in which he virtually instructed it to return a guilty verdict.

Dawson ordered Cooper to serve one day in jail for each $100 of the fine if he fails to pay, but the judge granted a 10-day stay of execution so the lawyer could file an appeal.

What Happened to Lyndon? — GOP Found Out

Postelection Soul-Searching Goes On

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — They'll be poking through the remains of the 1960 election for months, maybe years, seeking the real cause of both the triumph and the disaster.

As in the wake of every upheaval of man and nature, the search for heroes and goats is already under way. First returns on these findings are, as usual, confusing.

For example, we learn from one responsible source that Gov. Nelson Rockefeller curdled his political future by his hot-cold activities. The complaint is that he broke public confidence in Nixon, then saddled him with an unpopular platform, then did too little too late for him in the campaign.

But another source whose credentials are just as good as the former one threw his hat in the air and says, "We're a cinch in 1964 with Rocky leading us. He'd have won in a walk against Kennedy."

And what of Mr. Nixon? There is no way of knowing, not even through the magic boxes the television boys wheeled out to do their thinking for them, but this reporter believes that the narrowness of the margin by which Nixon lost increased his political stature.

He fell breathtakingly short of scoring a startling upset in a race in which the registration cards were sternly stacked against him. He'll be only 51 years old the next time the brass ring comes around.

And what did this election do for the future of New Jersey's Sen. Clifford P. Case? Case, a liberal Republican, beat his Democratic opponent Thorn Lord by more than 300,000 votes while Kennedy was edging out Nixon for the state's electoral votes.

As the vote rolled in the other night and early morning the nation was given a quiet but eye-opening demonstration of the subtle strength of Sen. Lyndon Johnson and the wisdom of Kennedy in selecting him.

Some had scoffed that Kennedy was seen so rarely with his running mate during the campaign that he must be ashamed of him. The jibe of "whatever happened to Lyndon?" sounded through the GOP and, indeed, through many Democratic circles.

Lyndon tacitly answered that question as of Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning. Texas didn't leave the Democratic fold, as so many Republicans were positive it would. There wasn't any religious rebellion in Louisiana either, no antiplatform rebellion in Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina or South Carolina.

Asst. Army Sec. Short in Cadillac for Vet Day

The 5,000-seat stadium opened in 1958 after a four-year campaign by Wexford County residents collected more than $96,000 for its construction. Final contributions received last summer financed a bronze plaque carrying the names of county residents who died in military service. The plaque is being unveiled as part of the ceremony.
