Stories of Easter—No. 3

Demands Justice

(This, the third of a series about people close to Jesus at the time of the first Easter, is about a respected member of the Jewish government who spoke up for Jesus after other friends deserted him.)

BY GEORGE CORNELL
(Associated Press Religious Writer)

Wealthy, old Nicodemus watched the clamorous mob surging along the street. He rubbed his hands together fretfully and his lips moved without making any sound. He wanted to do something, but what could he do? For a year now, he had been aware of the mounting official antagonism to this unorthodox rabbi, Jesus. As an aristocratic member of the Sanhedrin, he had tried in vain to prevent suppressive action.

But they had ignored his pleas because he was old and the summit of his power had passed, because he was not alert to the "present peril."

A young councillor had scoffed accusingly, "Art thou also of Galilee?"

In the wisdom of his years, Nicodemus was ashamed of the fever of distrust sweeping his country.

Steadying himself with his staff, he sat down on the side of the fountain in the now deserted square. He stroked his thin, gray beard slowly.

His mind relieved the scenes of last night and early this morning, and he shook his head, grieving at the passion with which men prize their authority, their rash suspicions fired by the stresses under Roman dominion.

At least 25 of the 70-member Sanhedrin, the Jewish governing council, had gathered hastily at the house of the High Priest Caiaphas, after getting word that Jesus had been secretly arrested.

The military party—so Nicodemus learned later—had taken Jesus first to the house of Annas, aged former high priest who still was a powerful leader and who apparently arranged the seizure.

There, in an irregular session, Jesus had been questioned about his beliefs and associations, to try to get damning evidence, despite rigid Jewish laws protecting a man against self-incrimination.

Jesus, sensing the trap, had retorted: "I have spoken openly to the world... in the synagogues and the temple. In secret, I spoke nothing. Ask them that have heard me what I spoke."

A guard slapped him. Then he was brought before the council, a body already smarting at Roman supervision of its religious-social authority, and keenly sensitive to any new attack.

LANSING (AP) — An abandoned warehouse in a rundown block of buildings in downtown Lansing was destroyed by a spectacular fire last night. The blaze was out of control for two hours and for a time threatened to spread to nearby stores on the capital's nearby main street.

Seven fire companies battled the fire, two blocks east of the state capitol and 40 off-duty firemen were called back because of the business district threat.

Firemen said the blaze apparently had been started by children playing in the basement of the abandoned warehouse, adjoining an abandoned Montgomery Ward Store building.

The blaze drew an estimated 3,000 spectators.

Firemen estimated damage as high as $75,000, but other authorities said it would be far less than that because of the condition of the warehouse and other structures in the rundown block.

State Dems to Meet

Clarkston Hen's Double Feature Real Egg-citing

A gloating White Rock hen is strutting around the Ira Fagg farm 9085 Reese Rd., Clarkston, these days after performing a rather indisputable feat.

Last week Fagg called The Press with the news that one of his White Rock hens had laid a half-pound egg. This matched news received in February when Mrs. Bernal Pacer also of Clarkston, called with the news that one of her pullets had laid a six-ounce egg.

But that wasn't the end of Fagg's story. When he broke the egg open, he found not only the usual yolk and white, but another hard-shelled egg inside.

Which hen is responsible for this triple-duty performance is the question today. But you can bet that one of the females of poultryland is telling her fine feathered fowl friends to "match that!"

Think Tots Dead of Rat Poison

Autopsy Planned to Fix Exact Cause of Two Deaths in Jackson

JACKSON (AP) — Two children were dead today, apparent victims of rat poison they found in a cupboard while playing about the house before their parents awoke Sunday.

Dead were Daniel Robb, 5, and his sister, Judy, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Robb of Jackson.

Coroner Loren Bates ordered an autopsy today to fix the exact cause of death, although he said both children appeared to have died of poisoning.

Robb said he and his wife smelled what apparently was an odor of phosphorus when they awakened and found the children playing with a tube of rat poison kept on the top shelf of a kitchen cupboard.

Daniel's clothing was covered with the gooey mixture, he said, but there was no indication either child had eaten any of it.

Daniel became ill, however, when offered breakfast, his father said, and was taken to a hospital where his stomach was pumped out. Shortly after returning home the child fell into a deep sleep from which his father couldn't rouse him and Daniel was rushed to the hospital again. This time he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Little Judy shortly thereafter began displaying symptoms of illness similar to those previously noted in her brother. She was admitted to a hospital, but died a few hours later.

Double funeral services are scheduled tomorrow for the children.

Ike Arrives in West Virginia for Conference

President Plays Golf Before Meeting With Mexico, Canada Heads

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (AP) — President Eisenhower pulled into town hours ahead of time for his good neighbor conference with Mexican President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada.

He arrived aboard a special train from Washington after a leisurely overnight ride, breakfasted aboard his private car and drove to the huge white Greenbrier Hotel about 45 minutes later.

There in late afternoon he was due to be joined by the Canadian and Mexican leaders, flying in from their distant capitals.

The first thing the President did was to make a morning golf date with Sam Snead, the Greenbrier professional.

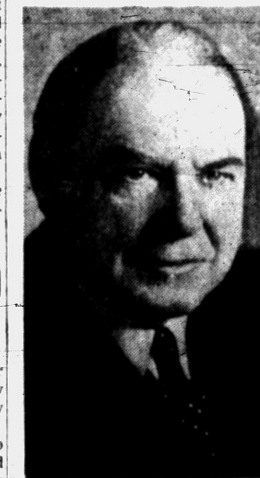

A chill wind whipped across the fairways from the surrounding mountains, which got a light sprinkling of snow during the night.

About 150 persons were waiting at the railroad station to cheer Eisenhower on his arrival. Another 200 or so were assembled at the entrance to the hotel. The President responded to their applause with smiles and waves.

Both President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico and Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent of Canada arranged to fly to Charleston, W. Va., and ferry here in light planes suitable for landing at the smaller Greenbrier airport.

Diplomatic officials said the sole purpose of the gathering, which was Eisenhower's idea, is to afford neighborly talks among the three North American powers. No one could recall a precedent for such a three-way conference.

He was the retired pastor of the Central Woodward Christian Church.

Party Leaders Clash in Debate

Blizzard Just 9 Years Ago Had 'em Digging 3 Days

There was some doubt, this year, whether March came in like a lamb (it was balmy for the first few hours of March 1) or a slightly tardy lion (then it stormed). And there's still some doubt as to how March will exit.

Back in 1947, there wasn't much doubt about the lion or lamb issue. County residents woke up March 25 to face a blizzard that took three days to dig out from under.

Actually, the snow itself wasn't very deep—an estimated six inches. But there was wind, and it drifted—mostly across roads.

At first it seemed that the worst was over the morning of March 25. But by noon, traffic conditions were even more impossible than they'd been at 9 a.m.

City employees were sent home. Buses stopped running. The temperature, a sunny 50 at bedtime March 24, plummeted to 30. Blasts of icy wind up to 75 miles per hour disrupted phone and power lines, drifted the snow into impassable mountains, and closed many main roads.

Complete sections of the county were isolated, with no communication or access available. Sheriff's deputies struggled to reach two people reported dead or dying before telephone connections broke.

One of the more devilish features of the storm was the inches of goosy mud underlying drifted snow on unpaved roads. Motorists reported sinking four inches past the bottom of the snow level.

On March 26, Bagley and Johnson streets still were blocked by drifted snow. City buses still were not running until mid-afternoon. All county schools were closed, and rural mail delivery was stopped.

But by March 27, conditions were fairly well under control. Not really back to normal, but headed that way. And County residents started looking around them for things to remember about the storm, so they could snort in future years.

"Think this is a storm? Man, you should have been around in '47..."

Alfred Schaub, 18, was wounded when he stood up in front of the shotgun held by his friend, 16-year-old Edward Turska, also of Detroit.

The boys were target shooting near Pettibone Lake Road, Highland Township, with a third youth, Kenneth Polito, 16, of Detroit.

Sheriff's deputies said Schaub, with a .22 calibre rifle, was leveling at the target when a crow took wing. Turska, standing about five feet behind him, swung his 16 gauge shotgun after the bird.

Just as he pulled the trigger, Schaub stood up.

Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said today no charges will be made.

Cloudy, Cold Tonight, Weatherman Says

The Weatherman says it will be cloudy and cold tonight with a low ranging from 24 to 28 degrees.

Tomorrow it will be cloudy with occasional light rain or snow and a little colder. The high will be from 34 to 38.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 27 degrees. The thermometer registered 48 at 1 p.m.

Rhee Birthday Fete

Romeo Motorist, Rider Killed in M59 Accident

Third Critically Injured as Autos Collide, Burn Near Intersection

Two men died and a third was critically injured this morning in a head-on collision on M-59 near Duck Lake Road, Highland Township.

Driver of one car, 24-year-old Bruce W. Bright of Romeo, was thrown from the car. His passenger, Roy Solomonson, 59, of Highland Township, was pulled from the burning car by Sheriff's deputies.

Both were pronounced dead at the scene by Deputy Coroner Dr. Wellington C. Gibson.

Driver of the second car, Albert G. Gross, 27, of Highland Township, is in critical condition in Pontiac General Hospital suffering from chest and abdominal injuries and lacerations.

Gross told deputies he didn't remember what had happened.

Deputies Homer Hay and Donald Youles said Bright's car was found on the wrong side of the road. He had been traveling east on M-59. The road was straight, flat and clear, deputies said.

It would have been Solomonson's birthday today, the officers added. Both cars reportedly burst into flames after the crash.

Witnesses extinguished the blaze.

Congressional Race Loses Richard Kuhn

Two veteran lawmakers were left in the field seeking the Republican nomination to run for the U.S. Congress from Oakland County today with announcement by Richard D. Kuhn that he is withdrawing.

Kuhn, 25, of Pontiac, said he will seek election to the State Senate instead.

Oakland's present state senator, William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak) said last week he will seek the congressional nomination. Chairman of the Michigan Turnpike Authority George N. Higgins, a former state senator, also hopes to succeed U.S. Rep. George A. Dondero who will retire at the end of this year.

Kuhn is a student at the Detroit College of Law. The owner of a car washing service, he ran for the nomination as state senator in 1954, but was defeated by Broomfield.

Common Cold—and You

Respiratory Diseases Blamed for Many Illnesses

Two-thirds of all sickness is caused by respiratory diseases—flu and pneumonia among them. What is science doing about cure, prevention and treatment? This is the first of four informative, authoritative articles on the scientific cold front battle.

By EDWIN DIAMOND
INS Science Writer

Some day soon, responsible researchers say, you will go to your doctor in early November and get a single vaccine shot and perhaps a drug compound—and end the winter and spring miseries of stuffed head, cough and fever.

And while the respiratory diseases are no longer big killers, this will be a major scientific victory. The statistics of respiratory disease show:

More than half of all industrial absenteeism is caused by respiratory diseases.

Two-thirds of all sickness is caused by respiratory infections;

the average family member gets 6.5 respiratory diseases per year.

There are more than half a billion common colds a year.

In addition, thousands of Americans are carrying around flu bugs and other more serious virus infections at this moment.

RESEARCH PROGRESSING

Research on these diseases is underway at many scientific centers. The communiques from cold war fronts add up to one, consistent outlook: science is pressing forward with new techniques and new determination to knock out respiratory diseases the way other diseases have been knocked out.

The new techniques include one that enables scientists to grow viruses in test tubes.

Previously, cold virus could be studied only in apes or man.

More abundant, and hence inexpensive, animals—like rabbits and mice—don't catch colds.

But now cold virus can be grown relatively cheaply and in quantity in tissue cultures made of minced-up monkey kidney.

A little over a year ago a group of American companies helped organize the common cold foundation to sponsor respiratory disease research and public education services.

Today, some 73 companies have put up the cash to back their belief that the common cold is industry's number one problem.

EXPERIMENTS PAYING OFF

Dr. Yale Kneeland Jr., of the Foundation, declares the "problem of acute respiratory diseases seems nearer to a solution than at any time in the past." He offers these summaries:

INFLUENZA — About eight per cent of all common respiratory disease cases. There are vaccines effective against certain types only at present. But experimental work on a "fool-proof" effective vaccine is going on now.

APC VIRUS INFECTIONS — About 13 per cent of respiratory diseases. The letters stand for (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4) called, a tall, slender man in a drab tunic, with a firm, untroubled calm. Calaphas, in his fitted, embroidered kuttoneth and jeweled mitre, called several witnesses.

They gave varying accounts of Jesus having said he would destroy the temple made with hands and in three days build another made without hands.

Calaphas arose, eyeing him sternly. "Answerest Thou nothing?"

Jesus stood silent. His gaze level.

Calaphas frowned, and his voice rose with judicial imperiousness. "I adjure Thee by the living God that Thou tell us whether Thou be the Christ, the Son of God!"

Jesus looked at him, almost pityingly, and said softly, "Thou hast said it." He paused, then added firmly:

"Nevertheless, I say unto you, henceforth, ye shall see the Son of Man sitting at the right hand of power and coming on the clouds of Heaven."

Calaphas' face darkened, and he burst out angrily, "Blasphemy! What further need have we of witnesses, now that we have heard this blasphemy?"

The others chorused agreement. Few dissented. In the hot wave of indignation, at this religious insurrection, there was no way to stop them, then or anytime.

Nicodemus remembered once before when Calaphas, distraught by Jewish unrest and anxious to demonstrate his control to Roman authorities, had sent guards to arrest Jesus in the open.

But the guards came back empty-handed, deterred from their mission by the Man's away over large audiences. "Never man spoke like this man," they had reported.

NICODEMUS SPEAKS

At that time, Nicodemus, despite his usual quiet, retiring role in affairs of state, had spoken up courageously, protesting the flaunting of laws involved in ordering an arrest without evidence or a hearing.

All that gained him was a snide intimation about his own loyalty.

Actually, Nicodemus, in his modest, conscientious way, had made a private, night-time visit to Jesus when he was in Jerusalem a year ago to inquire directly into the Man's teachings and healing genius.

Jesus had spoken of the need of being "born again" and Nicodemus had asked, puzzled: "How can a man be born again when he is old?" Jesus explained it was a rebirth of the spirit, not the flesh, an inner freshening that exposes a man's ordinary arrogance and makes him like a child—knowing he is small—but exuberantly sure someone is caring for him.

And then He said something about God so loving the world that He had sent His son—in man's likeness—to suffer the burden of men's sin, and thereby show the way to eternal life for all who accept this truth.

So now, Jesus had been taken before Pilate and sentenced to die as a revolutionary, to die as a part of men's sad, perverse confusion and sin.

"He showed us the way!" Nicodemus thought suddenly.

He stood up, his frail old back straight and determined.

One thing he could do! He knew Jesus' followers had abandoned him in the crisis of danger. But not all would forsake him—not Nicodemus—not this rich, old Jewish leader.

Castling caution and his normal reticence aside, he presented himself at Pilate's castle in late afternoon. He found a ruling Jewish colleague also there—Joseph of Arimathea.

Both, jeopardizing their social standing by showing partisanship for this convicted rebel, had come to see that Jesus got a decent burial. Pilate, cynically surprised, gave his permission.

OFFERS TOMB

Joseph offered for the purpose

a tomb he had prepared for himself, and together, he and Nicodemus and their servants took Jesus' lifeless body down from the cross and carried it to Joseph's "long home."

Nicodemus had brought 100 pounds of aromatic myrrh (rock-rose) and aloes juices to sprinkle in the linen with which they wrapped the body and limbs to retard decomposition.

Tradition has it that Nicodemus later was baptized by John and Peter, and consequently deprived of his office and banished, an inquiring, philosophical old man who found it necessary to suffer in order to breast the ageless wronging of mankind.

Delay Threatens Hammarskjold's Peace Mission

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—Dag Hammarskjold's peace mission to the Middle East was threatened today with delay.

The U. N. Security Council meets this afternoon to consider a U. S. resolution proposing that the secretary general fly to the tense area to confer with Israeli leaders.

Speedy approval of the proposal had been expected but Lebanon and Syria—two Arab states not members of the council—now are expected to demand participation in the discussion.

Western delegates look upon such a demand as a delaying maneuver. The two states have asked for a 30-day postponement of the session.

Seating of the Arabs also would bring a similar demand from Israel.

The council meeting was called after the U. S. requested "urgent and early action" to prevent an Arab-Israeli outbreak. Hammarskjold had planned to leave on his mission next Sunday.

The U. S. chief planned to meet with the leaders of Israel and the four neighboring Arab states—Egypt, Jordan, Lebanon and Syria—and to report back to the council after three weeks.

The average clerical office worker in the South got $59 a week in 1955.

Birmingham Youth Back Home Today

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—An 18-year-old Birmingham youth, missing more than two weeks from DePaul University, was back home today with his parents today.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walton, 880 Yarmouth, said their son, Alan, had been suffering from amnesia.

He vanished from the university campus at Greencastle, Ind., March 9 and was found unconscious on the lawn in front of the St. Louis, Mo. library, late Saturday.

Walton's disappearance had touched off a widespread police search through the middle west.

Shortly after he was found, Walton remembered his identity and contacted his parents. His father, a research chemist, flew to St. Louis and returned with the youth last night.

"Everything is fine now," Mrs. Walton said. "Alan is perfectly normal—very hungry."

"He can't remember anything of the past two weeks," the mother added. "Judging from the way he puts away steaks and French fried potatoes, I don't believe he had one decent meal."

Mrs. Walton said her son lost 35 pounds since his disappearance.

Absentee Ballots Available Until 2 P.M. Saturday

Pontiac voters who will be unable to go to the polls a week from today for the city election, will have until Saturday, March 31 to cast absentee ballots.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans said absentee ballots are available in the clerk's office at the City Hall. The office will remain open weekly from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and will be open until 2 p.m. on Saturday for people wishing to file their absentee ballots.

Next Monday's election will be to decide on seven commissioners for the City Commission and to vote on a charter amendment to switch the date of future city elections to the third Monday in April instead of the first.

The Common Cold and You Story

The three areas usually attacked: adenoids, pharynx (throat) and conjunctive tissue (eye).

APC virus causes a grippelike cold lasting as long as five days. A new vaccine aimed at the APC viruses has been tested on convicted volunteers and is now being studied in a group of 240 naval recruits at Great Lakes, Ill.

There are indications this vaccine may cut certain respiratory illnesses as much as 80 per cent. The question is: For how long?

STREP THROAT INFECTIONS—About seven per cent of respiratory disease. Antibiotic treatment now is considered effective if used in time against this bacteria-caused infection.

VIRUS PNEUMONIA—About five per cent. Virus still not cultivated; that is, the triggering bug hasn't been trapped as yet.

COMMON RESPIRATORY DISEASES—a catch-all category representing about two-thirds of all the cases. Included are the "common" common cold, sniffles, what doctors call "coryza," stuffed head, and you-name-it.

The common cold foundation calls this unknown territory and recommends it receive major share of attention.

Science knows the common cold is virus-caused. Its problem is to find the virus.

The Day in Birmingham

Vote on Parking Lot HH, New Walk Plan, Tonight

BIRMINGHAM—Proposed Parking Lot HH will be voted on by City Commissioners this evening, with a ten-foot walkway being given preference over a 40-foot accessway by some city officials.

City manager Donald C. Egbert in a letter to commissioners March 22 suggested the ten-foot route from East Maple to the parking lot, which is to be located at Hunter and Hamilton.

The 40-foot route, advertised in the necessity resolution going before the commission tonight, had been approved by the planning commission, a Chamber of Commerce parking committee and a group of East Maple property owners. However, none of these groups has had a chance to discuss thoroughly the newly suggested 10-foot walkway, Egbert says.

The proposal up for a hearing tonight, including the 40-foot accessway, is expected to cost $160,000, Egbert says. The 10-foot walkway would save about $30,000, which could go into other parking plans, he said.

He points out that there is delay in developing Parking Lot 3-A, north of Hamilton, because of Park and Ferndale street problems, but that the lot may be in use by next fall.

In reference to Parking Lot 4, Egbert says, "The commission will, in all probability, proceed with the project as it is presently planned or else will abandon a lot in this area."

Beside the parking lot hearing, tonight's discussions will be on a request by the John Chiera Company that the well on East Maple be made available for a projected residential development just beyond the eastern city limits.

L. R. Gare's communication points out that certain streets in the city have been posted with load limits for trucks, according to a city ordinance. A springtime measure, the limits will be in force for a 15-day period.

The Ruth Shain Class on International Affairs will hear a talk tomorrow on how Democratic principals were influenced by three political writers of the 1700 and 1800's. Mrs. Harold Roehm will give the report on the influence, Toqueville, Montesquieu, and Thomas Paine in the 10 a.m. session.

Our Shepherd Lutheran Church has shaved five services for Easter week, starting with Communion Thursday at 8 p.m. Good Friday services will be from 1 to 2 p.m. and at 8 p.m., with Communion and the choir singing "Stainer's 'Crucifixion'" in the evening. Sunday, a sunrise service will be at 7 a.m. with a children's service at 9:30 a.m. and the regular service at 11 a.m.

Two armed bandits held up the woman attendant of a dairy bar at 424 Oakland Ave. Saturday night and escaped with about $200 which they scooped from the cash register, Pontiac police said.

The men ripped the telephone from the wall after announcing "this is a stickup," according to Mrs. Henny Schmidt.

They entered at about 10:50 p.m. when the place was empty of customers, she told police, and sat down at a table before pulling out revolvers.

One man was described as about 30, the other about 35, police said. Both were of medium height and wore jackets.

The pair left on foot through the front door, Mrs. Schmidt said, and escaped north on Oakland.

The establishment is one of the Shamrock Dairy chain, owned by Teffance Powe, 304 E. Pike St., police said.

State Probes Record of Licensing Deputy

Michigan Auditor General Victor M. Targonski said today his office is investigating a $55 shortage in the drivers' licensing accounts of Oakland County Policewoman Barbara H. Riley.

"There is a shortage of $55," Targonski said today. "When our investigation is completed, we will recommend that restitution be sought and appropriate action be taken by the prosecuting attorney."

Sheriff Frank Irons said he accepted Miss Riley's resignation Saturday, and said the money has been refunded in full.

Miss Riley told him, he said, that applications for new licenses and renewals were being held back for further checking.

Miss Riley's issuing permit was revoked by Secretary of State James M. Hare two weeks ago when she was charged with taking a license application to a friend's home for signature, rather than have the applicant come to her office.

Lenten Guideposts—Famous Artist Says:

What You Are Inside Shows in Your Face

By CHASE WALKER

How does Norman Rockwell breathe such vibrant life into his paintings of everyday people? One key to it lies in this statement:

"What you are inside shows in your face," said the famous artist. "Your eyes, sooner or later, become the mirror of your soul."

Part of Rockwell's success must undeniably be credited to the people who have posed for him. He has depicted their stories in more than 300 Saturday Evening Post covers. They were his friends, his neighbors, whose lives he shared for many years while he resided in Arlington, Vermont; now they are the people who fill his days at his home at Stockbridge, Mass.

"They are people who have lived full lives. They have known hardships and heartaches, failures and poverty, shattered hopes and faded dreams; also triumphs, loves,

Study of Cancer to Be Broadened

Society to Streamline Cash Grants, Provide Security to Scientists

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Cancer Society has announced a broad reorganization of its research program, aimed at stepping up the scientific attack on cancer. The society basically will streamline its methods of awarding grants for cancer research, which now total seven million dollars a year. It will establish also new grants to provide "lifetime" salaries for individual scientists devoting their lives to cancer research.

The society's new research program, which will be effected gradually, will be coordinated by a new scientific advisory council of some 15 leading scientists and administrators. The council's primary function will be to review current cancer research and to advise the society on the most promising avenues of research.

Details of the reorganization plan, adopted by the society after a year of study, were announced yesterday by Charles D. Hillis Jr., chairman of the research committee of the society's board of directors, and by Dr. Harry M. Weaver, research administrator of the society.

birth, death, great hopes and plans. But they never cast aside their faith in God's designs.

"It would be difficult to paint individuals who have lost their faith," Rockwell said recently. "I could sketch the outline of their faces, but the inner glow that gives them character would be missing."

He picked up a magazine and turned to the picture of a teenager who had become involved in a brutal murder. "Look at that face," Rockwell said. "There is little godliness in his face."

FREEDOM OF WORSHIP

But there certainly was godliness in the faces of the men and women who had posed for Rockwell's "Freedom of Worship." Among the models, one woman had struggled for years to raise, practically without help from anyone, her nine children. Another woman had recently been widowed. One of the men had suffered a serious business failure. Another had lost a son in the war.

As they waited in his studio for Rockwell to tell them how to pose, he instructed simply: "Just go ahead and pray." They did, each in his or her own way—the freedom which the painting implies.

"They are people," Rockwell says, "with a positive approach to life. Because of their inner strength, they derived dignity from suffering that might have destroyed weaker souls."

Rockwell himself once faced a similar test. During a July night in 1943 fire destroyed his studio. Priceless original paintings were lost; costumes and antiques—used in "period" pictures—were ruined; files, notes, records were burned to ashes.

Neighbors, attracted by the fire, studied Rockwell out of the corners of their eyes. A life's work was going up in flames. Rockwell stood watching, a tall, thin figure silhouetted against the orange brightness; his sensitive features were composed.

Suddenly he went into the house, checked first to see that his three sons, watching the fire excitedly from a window, were all right, then picked up a pencil and pad and returned outdoors. During the next hour he busied himself sketching the firemen at work.

Early the next morning, the ar-list drove to New York to buy new equipment. Home again, he went to work. He never looked back.

Tomorrow, Robert Hilber, Pulitzer prize-winning poet, tells what happened during a grave illness, when he found himself "sinking down into death." (From Guideposts, Copyright 1956) easy reducing

science now helps you take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose

Do you like sweets, candy, cake, butter, gravy, potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat? Well, be as skeptical as you like, but now, right now, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier you hardly know what's happening. You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why...

counteracts hunger

Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL THE RECOGNIZED proven aids to reducing. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories, yet expands when it absorbs water, thereby helping give the feeling of a full contented stomach. In fact, these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

fat goes fast

You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

Miss Waterford of 1956 Chosen

Joyce Phipps Wins Crown at Builders Show Sunday

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Joyce Phipps, 18, last night was named "Miss Waterford of 1956," climaxing the events of the three-day Sports and Builders show put on by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the CAI building.

Crowned by Margaret Devereaux, the present Miss Michigan, Joyce was chosen from a group of 13 pulchritudinous young contestants from Waterford Township and surrounding communities.

Selections were made on the basis of talent, charm, poise, grooming and facial and figure attractiveness.

Five contestants were still in the running Sunday evening when a personality quiz determined the winner. Besides Joyce, there were Frankie Russell, 18, who placed second; Carol Lazenby, 18, who came in third; Deanna Mielke and Jean Lilmatta, all of Waterford Township.

Joyce, who lives at 45 First St., Oxford, is a 1955 graduate of Waterford Township High School, and now cashiers in her father's grocery store. She hopes to study retailing and someday have her own fashion shop.

In the statistics department, the new queen is 5 feet 3 inches tall, weighs 116 pounds, and her measurements are 34 - 24 - 35.

Miss Waterford will appear in the peach and cherry festivals and also will participate in the Miss Michigan contest to be held June 20 in Muskegon.

Some 5,000 spectators attended this second annual Jaycee event. Thirty-eight exhibitors displayed their wares in 60 booths, and homeowners, present and potential, learned what is being offered to make modern living more comfortable.

They expect a visitor — the Stork Bunny — to make a special Easter delivery to their own pedigreed classroom rabbit, "Mrs. Hoppy." Mrs. Hoppy was brought to class last January by one of the pupils, John Gadany. Her teacher bought her a bunny home to live in, and pupils take turns feeding and caring for her. Weekends, the school janitor cares for the six-month old bunny, who is white with black markings on nose, ears, feet and tail.

Mrs. Hoppy is a very snooty bunny indeed — with a family tree that includes a pedigreed Californian mother who has won prizes and ribbons in many rabbit shows. Her father, also a Californian, won his first blue ribbon when only three months old. He is registered in the stud book of the American Rabbit Breeders Association, Inc. But Mrs. Hoppy gets regal treatment from the pupils of the class, who wait upon her every whim and give her the attention due her rank and condition.

Democratic Women Gather to Raise Funds for TV

tea; Mrs. Donald McGee of Birmingham and Mrs. Willis Brewer of Rosshire court. Democratic office holders and announced primary election candidates were introduced at the afternoon affair.

"Teas for TV" are being held to raise funds to purchase television time for national and state Democratic candidates during the approaching political campaign. Mrs. Margaret McCall (left), vice chairman of the Oakland County Democratic Committee and director of women's activities, welcomed Michigan's first lady, Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, at the tea held Saturday afternoon in Old Mill Tavern.

Mrs. Fred Elias of Hazel Park, Mrs. Robert Phillips of Huntington Woods, Mrs. L. H. Golden of Lake Angelus and Mrs. Paul Sutton of Royal Oak (left to right) were members of committees arranging the Saturday "Tea for TV" and fashion show held at Old Mill

Tavern by members of Oakland County Democratic Women's Committee. Proceeds from the event will be used toward the county's quota in the Democratic TV fund-raising campaign.

Checking last-minute details before the Democratic tea Saturday were (left to right) Mrs. Donald Lee of Farmington, Mrs. Clark Adams and Mrs. Clyde Nelsky of Davisburg.

Mrs. Williams Speaks at Dem Tea

Michigan's first lady, Mrs. G. Mennen Williams, spoke to the Democratic women of Oakland County Saturday afternoon at Old Mill Tavern.

The "Tea for Television" was held to benefit the county's quota for the television fund-raising campaign.

Mrs. Williams stated, "As busy as we are, we appreciate these social get-togethers. The money raised is a small part of the value as we are learning of more and more Democrats."

She went on to say they needed the whole-hearted support of the people of Michigan for the Democratic Party and for the principles for which it stands. "A political party is only of value for what it stands for; when a party loses its value it is losing and will lose people who have been its members," Mrs. Williams stated.

"We can be proud of what has been accomplished in Michigan. It is becoming more and more important that we provide opportunities for a good and fruitful life for our young people who will be the voting citizens of the future."

BE MISSIONARY

In closing, Mrs. Williams said, "May each one of you be a missionary in your own area for those things we believe to be right and true."

Mrs. Margaret Price of Ann Arbor, national Democratic committeewoman, spoke briefly, saying 35 states are participating in "Teas for TV," and that "together we go on and work for the things we believe in."

The new slogan for the women's activities division of the Democratic National Committee, was given by Mrs. Price: "Never send a boy to do a man's job, send a woman."

Democratic office holders, primary election candidates and other guests were introduced by Mrs. Clyde Nelsky, county chairman of the Democratic "Teas for TV" and general chairman for the afternoon affair.

Among those introduced were Mrs. James Hare, Mrs. Thomas Kavanagh, Victor Torganski, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lenz and the Williams' daughters, Nancy and Wendy.

AIDING WITH TEA

Assisting Mrs. Nelsky were Mrs. Margaret G. McCall of Holly and Mrs. Donald Lee of Farmington, vice chairmen of the Oakland County Democratic Committee and directors of women's activities.

Climaxing the afternoon program was a preview of what the best-dressed woman will wear this spring, presented by Hilda's of Pontiac and Birmingham.

She Detests the Smell of Smoke

Hostess Wonders if Cigarettes May Be Banned

By EMILY POST

A reader writes as follows: "I belong to a garden club which meets once a month. Next month the meeting will be at my house. There are three women in this group who smoke almost constantly throughout the meetings. The other women do not smoke. I detest the smell of smoke. It gets into my things and the smell seems to stay in the house for hours."

"Could I say politely, 'I am sorry but I can't have smoking,' before the meeting starts? Or must I, in order to be a good hostess, put up with this and let them smoke?"

Answer: Deeply as I sympathize with you, I am sorry to have to tell you that unless smoke really makes you ill, you cannot ask guests not to smoke in this present day.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have just recently married for the third time—my first two husbands having died. I have one daughter from my first marriage.

"My second husband had two young sons when I married him. They are now both grown up and married but I see them often. I would like to know what relationship, if any, exists between my two stepsons and my present husband."

Answer: Since you are their stepmother, your present husband is considered their stepfather. It is an acquired relationship but an accepted one.

Business Women Give Sunday Tea

A "Hand of Friendship Tea" was a corsage of white carnations from Waldron by members of Tipac Chapter of the American Business Women's Association. Fourteen prospective members were introduced at the tea and each received growth of the association since its founding in 1949 by Hilary A. Burton Jr., a Kansas City businessman.

There are now 132 chapters in 39 states. The Pontiac chapter is in its third year.

If it is an educational association, with its major aims and purposes devoted to improving employer-employee relations, to keeping businesswomen up to date on business techniques, and to advancement of women in business through more efficient service to business. It affords members social opportunity and participation.

The tea was one of two sponsored yearly by the association. The local group is now planning another yearly activity, "Boss Night," a dinner honoring members' employers.

Prospective members attending the tea were Mrs. John Puchowiak, Doris Lovett, Mrs. Ervin Richards, Mrs. Larry Schusel, Mrs. Richard Cole, Florence Case, Mrs. Henrietta Neal, Catherine Pearson, Marlene Ayres and Betty Reid.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Joanne Callahan, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. Ruby Bueche, Frances Greer and Mrs. Frances Huff. Mrs. Elva Templeton and Mrs. H. C. Van Hise poured.

Fashion Club Hears Talk on Hair Styling

A talk on hair styling was given members of the Fashion Your Figure Club by Brian Mulcahy Thursday evening at the Adah Shelly library. Sara Murray illustrated haircutting techniques.

Jewish Passover Ritual Begins Today at Sunset

Jewish people everywhere will once more rehearse mankind's first uprising against human bondage as they celebrate the week-long festival of Passover, which begins at sunset today.

As told in scriptures, the origin of the Passover (Hebrew: Pesach) story centers about the demand made by Moses of Pharaoh that the Israelite slaves be set free.

Never before in history had resistance against human servitude been suggested, and the Egyptian monarch spurned the words of Moses.

The Jewish holiday of Passover marks the successful outcome of the efforts of Moses. At worship services on the first and last days of the holiday, a special ritual glorifies the idea of liberty.

Gifts to the poor are also part of the observance of this festival. EXODUS RETOLD The chronicle of the exodus from Egypt is also unfolded at the Seder, the festival meal which takes place on the first night of the holiday amongst Reformed Jews and for the first two nights amongst traditional Jews.

At the Seder, symbolical foods recall certain aspects of the Biblical story. Parsley symbolizes the arrival of spring. Matzos, unleavened bread, is a reminder of the poor fare which slaves ate. A bitter herb is eaten to suggest the bad taste of slavery.

Orthodox Jews celebrate the holiday for eight days; Reformed Jews, for seven.

At Congregation B'nai Israel, the ceremonial "Searching for the Leaven" took place last night at sundown in homes and in the synagogue.

The head of the home conducted a final candlelight search for any leavened object. Since on Passover, no leaven may be found in a Jewish home, whatever leaven remains until the morning is burned, following which a prayer is recited.

Services will be as follows:

Monday 6:30 p.m. Mincha 6:45 p.m. Maariv

Tuesday 7:30 a.m. Shacharis 8:30 a.m. Musaf 9:30 a.m. Mincha 6:45 p.m. Maariv

Wednesday 7:30 a.m. Shacharis 8:30 a.m. Musaf 9:30 a.m. Mincha 6:45 p.m. Maariv

At Temple Beth Jacob, Passover plans will begin with a festival at 9 a.m. Tuesday.

A special musical service will be given Friday evening. Selections from the classical oratorio, "Elijah" by Felix Mendelssohn, will be sung by a local choir consisting of Victor Linquist, tenor; William Vander Ven, bass; Mary L. Linquist, soprano, and Rebecca Gould, contralto.

The choir is under the direction of Charles Wilson, organist at the temple. A narrative accompanying the music will be read by Rabbi Sanford E. Saperstein.

Roll Cakes in Peanuts After Icing

Mrs. Hibbs' Recipe Comes from Files of Grandmother

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor
Today's recipe is for an old-fashioned type of small cake and came from the contributor's grandmother. It seems that Mrs. Raymond Hibbs had a brother with a St. Patrick's Day birthday. Her grandmother would always make and send him Barney Stones on that day.

Mrs. Hibbs has two very active small sons and takes care of a niece as well. She is a new member of the Bailey PTA and goes occasionally to the Fashionette Club.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hibbs do a great deal of church work. Mrs. Hibbs says her hobby is cooking.

BLARNEY STONES

By Mrs. Raymond Hibbs
4 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 cup boiling water
1/4 cup vanilla
Salted peanuts

Separate eggs. Save one yolk for frosting. Beat 3 yolks until lemon colored. Add sugar, beating together.

Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Add alternately with water to egg yolks. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites and vanilla.

Four into ungreased 13x9x2 pan. Bake 30 minutes at 350 degrees.

When cool, cut into 2-inch squares. Cover all sides with a simple powdered sugar and butter frosting to which has been added one egg yolk. Roll in ground salted peanuts.

Turkish Towel Tips

Buying turkish towels? Remember: a firm, close weave will hold the pile yarns securely; close, long, loosely twisted loops absorb moisture quickly and increase drying capacity; firm selvages and well-finished hems are signs of quality.

Girl's Smart Chatter Endangers Romance

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I met him two weeks ago and I'm mad about him. He goes to a school across town and works as a movie usher five nights a week.

"So every Friday I go to the movies to see him. I can't talk to him much during the show, but do get about 15 minutes in all before I go home.

"He calls me up every night and I've had one date with him. One night while I was babysitting he talked to me for five hours on the phone!

"I'm 16, and you may think I'm too young to feel as I do about him. But I'm just moony when I'm not with him. There's only one thing I don't like about him — and that's his temper.

"I have to watch what I say to him because he takes my kidding seriously. I don't really mean some of the things I say, they just pop out.

"I've been told that I say things that make people mad without even knowing it. I hurt his feelings, then he talks smart back to me.

"Please tell me how I can stop this, because I've lost other boy friends the same way. But don't try to change my mind about loving him, 'cause I'm not changing it!"

Answer: Obviously love had had no calming influence on you. Instead, it churns you all up with excitement. And your talking equipment gets out of control.

I'm willing to bet that the most damage is done on those Friday nights when you go to the movies to see him. All the way there you're flapping with excitement over the prospects of seeing him. At last you do — and he's busy doing the job he's getting paid for.

Maybe he doesn't see you right off the bat, and you churn. You don't see much of the picture for watching for him. Meanwhile the pressure builds up until you're ready to explode. And that's about what you do when you finally get his car.

You know you have just a few minutes, and somebody might remind him coldly to get on the job, and there's so much you want to accomplish. The words tumble out, and when he snaps back, you know you've done it again.

I'd skip the deal, if I were you. Talking on the phone is calmer and quieter. There aren't so many disrupting influences. Dates on his nights off would be even better.

Then you'd have time to talk slowly, to think out what you're going to say, to avoid the things that might be taken amiss, and to explain yourself if you say things he misunderstands.

The pressure isn't so great when you know you have several uninterrupted hours of being together ahead of you. You can relax, feel easy with him — and talk sweet. Try to convince you to stop loving him? Not me!

In a ceremony at the Hotel Wilton in Long Beach, Calif., Sunday, Shirley Ruth Baylis became the bride of Donald Saltman of Long Beach. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan S. Baylis of Spence street.

MRS. DONALD SALTMAN

Shirley Baylis Becomes Bride in California Rite

A ballerina-length gown of Chantilly lace over satin with long sleeves pointed at the wrists and a portrait neckline was worn by Shirley Ruth Baylis for her marriage to Donald Saltman of Long Beach, Calif.

She wore a crown of finely pleated nylon tulle scallops on a band of lace trimmed with simulated pearls and translucent sequins. The fingertip veil was of imported French illusion. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis on a lace fan.

The ceremony was performed Sunday afternoon at the Hotel Wilton in Long Beach.

Shirley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan S. Baylis of Spence street.

Phyllis Ash of Long Beach served as her maid of honor. Her gown was ballerina-length taffeta in powder blue, and she carried a colonial bouquet of roses and delphiniums. Henry Baylis served as an usher at her sister's wedding.

The new Mrs. Saltman donned a light gray suit with green accessories for their honeymoon trip to Las Vegas, Nev. She wore the orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Michigan where she was a member of Delta Phi Epsilon sorority, Mortar Board, Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi and Pi Lambda Theta. He is a graduate of New York State College of Ceramics at Alfred.

The newlyweds will make their home in Long Beach.

PTSA Will Meet

James Madison Junior High School PTSA will meet Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in Wever School gymnasium. The Rev. Edward A. Auerchard, associate minister of First Presbyterian Church, will be guest speaker. His topic will be "The Life of James Madison." Election of officers will be held.

Spring Styles Previewed

At the Saturday afternoon tea and fashion show held at Old Mill Tavern by Oakland County Democratic women, guests enjoyed a presentation of spring fashions featuring the latest for milady's wardrobe.

Short jackets or banding under the bustline will accent the higher waistlines, and skirts will be circles of fullness or the extremely slim sheath type. Much detail is predominate in the neck interests.

California influence in color and cut was emphasized, with cottons having a silk-like appearance. One multi-colored cotton pique created much interest from the viewers. The silk appearance makes it ideal and correct for early or late daytime affairs.

The Oriental influence, with mandarin collars, paisley designs in an array of Japanese colors and slashed skirts, was featured in one of the ensembles modeled.

A sheath dress of natural-colored silk, splashed with brilliant Chinese red ming trees, it featured a halter neckline and mandarin collar. Topped with a natural colored coolie jacket, lined in Chinese red, it made a striking ensemble. Concluding the spring showing were late afternoon and evening dresses featuring the strapless sheath style and also the gracefully full skirts in finer cottons and laces, sparkling with rhinestone trim.

The very young, very tiny bride should wear a short skirt and simple junior dress. A large girl can carry drapery.

To Attend Meeting

Mrs. Bernadette Arnold of Walnut road and Anny Koellner of Sylvan Shores drive will be among those attending the meeting of Detroit Chapter of American Society of Women Accountants Tuesday evening at the Women's City Club, Detroit.

Those stretchy stockings now come in pretty pastels to harmonize with your spring clothes and shoes.

Young girls often purchase wedding dresses completely out of character to what they've found becoming before. A bride can't garland, decorate, drape a tiny body successfully. She is best in simplicity.

'Wild Ideas' Are Often Best Ones

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Our wild ideas are often more valid than our sensible ones.

When we do the so-called "sensible" thing, it is often just the accepted, in-a-rut sort of thing, whereas the wild move is often fresh, imaginative and really effective.

Take, for example, Mrs. B. and her daughter, Claire.

Mrs. B. was a beauty operator before her marriage. She gave up her job when she married and devoted herself to her husband and baby daughter, Claire.

When Claire was 14, Mr. B. died after a long illness. Mrs. B. found there was no money at all and, in fact, many medical debts.

NOT 'SENSIBLE'

Now the sensible thing to do would be for Mrs. B. to get a job in a beauty parlor and for Claire to get some kind of after-school work.

"But I didn't do the sensible thing," Mrs. B. told me.

"We own our own house. The sensible thing would have been to sell it, use the money to pay off the debts and give us a tiny savings account. Then, get a job.

"But we like the house. It's all we have and it means home to us. That isn't very sensible, but it's the way both Claire and I felt.

"Then, too, I've been my own operator, as a housewife, for a long time. To go to work for someone else for a low salary would be my idea of misery.

MISSED DADDY

"Also Claire missed her daddy very much and I felt it was best for her to be with me as much as possible. She gets out of school at 2:30 in the afternoon and, while I knew it would be good for her to work, I thought that an outside job, among strangers and away from me, would make her even more sad.

"One day I had a wild idea," Mrs. B. concluded.

"I decided to open a beauty parlor in my own home for the benefit of the housewives in our community.

"I charged modest fees and worked out a special arrangement for a weekly series. By signing up for a shampoo, fingerwave, and manicure once a week, customers were given a special low rate.

"Also, I offered a free babysitting service. Claire, who loves children, entertained the little ones in the living room from 2:30 until 6.

PAID OFF DEBTS

"I cleared out the dining room and installed my equipment. The bank gave me financial help and gradually my debts were paid off.

"They thought I would make a go of it—and I sure have! We make a good living, Claire loves what she's doing, I love what I'm doing—and we've kept our home!"

MRS. SAMUEL G. JOHNSON JR.

Barbara A. Smead Wed in Georgia Church Rite

Christ Episcopal Church, St. Simons Island, Ga., was the scene of the Saturday wedding of Barbara Allen Smead and Samuel Gideon Johnson Jr. The candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. Junius J. Martin.

The bride is the daughter of Llewellyn W. Smead of West Long Lake road. Mayor and Mrs. Samuel Gideon Johnson of St. Petersburg, Fla., are Samuel's parents.

The bride gown was of white Italian silk with a V-neckline and fitted bodice extending to a dropped waistline and a chapel train. A double crown of sequins and pearls secured the bride's fingertip veil of illusion.

Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls. She carried a cascade arrangement of white camellias and lilies-of-the-valley.

Mrs. James R. Smead of Vandalia, Ohio, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. Other bridal attendants were Mrs. Dares E. Wirt of Atlanta, Ga., sister of the bridegroom, and Ann McDougale of Charlotte, N.C.

GOWNED IN YELLOW

They were gowned identically in yellow silk ballerina-length dresses. Their gowns featured boat necklines and elongated waistlines. They were matching crownless picture hats.

Ellen Jean Smead, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a frock of white organza over yellow with yellow rosebuds embroidered on the skirt and carried a basket of spring flowers.

Dares E. Wirt was best man. Seating the guests were James R. Smead of Vandalia, Ohio, and C. Robert Ives of St. Petersburg, Fla.

Following a reception held at the Sea Island Golf Club, the new Mrs. Johnson changed to a dusty rose and white suit with rose and black accessories for her traveling ensemble. The newlyweds will make their home in St. Petersburg.

Often a picture will look better if hung off-center and balanced with some other accessory.

College Classmates, Japanese Prince Part

TOKYO (AP)—Crown Prince Akihito said goodbye to his college classmates at graduation ceremonies today.

The 22-year-old prince completed four years of study at Gakushuin University but did not receive a diploma. He missed six months of his regular studies during a 1953 tour of Europe and America. Since then he has been enrolled as a special student. The heir to the Japanese throne plans to continue his studies under a tutor.

When porpoises swam near ships, old-time sailors regarded it as an omen of fair winds.

To Mark National Boys Club Week

The Pontiac Boys Club has big plans next week to draw attention to its year-round activities in behalf of youth.

The occasion is National Boys Club Week, April 2-9, which coincides this year with the 50th anniversary of the Boys Club of America.

The local club plans to award outstanding boys, according to executive director William V. Coulacos, as well as hold boxing playoffs, crown a pint-size queen, elect officers and stage a carnival.

Publicity will be gained on the opening Monday afternoon, Coulacos said, when most of the 1,700 members will gather at the club building, 530 E. Pike St., to release a barrage of balloons. There's also a contest to see

Note From Fred Allen Arrives After He Dies

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"A letter just came in from Fred Allen," my office said, "dated the day he died."

It was a three-paragraph note, with no capital letters, at the top center was the name "fred allen," and down a little, "dear earl."

He thanked me for a magazine and then added:

"I have just finished the 10th chapter and only need five more for the book. I have never attempted any sustained writing and going over to my closet every day looking at white paper I know what the last member marching in the ku klux klan parade sees when he looks up.

"hope everything is okay. regards—"

And then—in longhand with pen—the only capital letters:

"F. A."

Others will be shocked as I was to receive a letter from "fred allen"—such a humble touch. I always thought—after his death, for he was a good and loyal "correspondent." A letter from Groucho Marx was found in Fred's typewriter after his death.

"It was the one," nodded Portland Allen, "he was going to do next."

Cyd Charisse tells how her husband Tony Martin, who endorses tuxedos, got caught in the snowstorm the other night in his newest dinner jacket (after a picture-posting session) and had to board a bus. Then he had only $50 and $100 bills—no small change for the fare. He was ecstatic when Mrs. Sammy Cahn, wife of the songwriter, leaped forward with 15 cents.

Morey Amsterdam's diet secret: "Eat all you want of everything you don't like." Pome: Away down south in Tennessee, is where Kefauver don't long to be.

Guess wives are all alike—they're always checking up to make sure their husbands are in their right mind (which can never believe, somehow). The Duchess of Windsor was heard saying to the Duke, as they were leaving El Morocco by car, "Well, did you tip the doorman?" The Duke: "Yes, my dear, I already did." (He'd given him $1).

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Some Democrats now say Harry Truman's Presidential choice is Gov. Lausche of Ohio . . .

Zsa Zsa'll be envious when she arrives next week; sister Magda's engagement sparkler from Tony Galluci is 16 carats. Nannette Fabray's agents deny asking $10,000 a week for her. Grace Kelly's dad, mentioning the wedding mobs in Monaco, sighed, "I may have to sleep in a dungeon" . . . Cary Grant left for Spain and "The Pride and the Passion" . . . Ingrid Bergman asked Renzo (The Continental) Cesana to test for her film, "Anastasia."

Honey Melamed, Newark housewife, was nominated Prettiest Girl in America—by her husband.

Ted Lewis' 45th ann'y gifts included solid gold cane, silver ice skates, diamond cuff links . . . Joe DiMaggio's dating Countess Peggy Dorells again.

Earl's Pearls . . .

One guy we know reports happily that he just got a raise: "Now I can pay last year's taxes."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Cab Calloway offers this: "Love is what makes young men raise mustaches and old men shave 'em off."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "I never go to a movie unless I've seen it before," explains Taffy Tuttle. "That way, I know I'm going to like it."

With the Grace Kelly-Margaret Truman wedding next month, William Lowenstein hears those "June-moon" songwriters are going nuts trying to rhyme "April." That's earl, brother.

Gas Explosion Fatal to River Rouge Man

DETROIT (INS)—A 55-year-old River Rouge gasoline station attendant, seriously burned in an explosion and fire March 15, died today in Detroit's Receiving Hospital.

Leroy Thomas, of River Rouge, was one of three men seriously burned in the fire. Police said the workers were using a gasoline mixture to scrub the gas station's racks when a lit cigarette touched off the explosion.

Disaster Special Enemy of City Rescue Squads

Employees Learn Emergency Jobs

Course Teaches Teams How to Assume Charge in Imperiled City

A tireless group of 35 cover-all-clad city employees have just completed three weeks of practicing skills they hope they will never have to use.

The group, all from the city Parks and Recreation and Cemetery departments yesterday successfully passed three realistic civil defense rescue problems to complete a 10-hour refresher course in rescue operations.

The problems were identical to those the men would go through to rescue persons if war disaster or natural holocausts stranded and wounded them in a tall city structure, unable to get out.

All that was missing yesterday was the fire, destruction, and the injured and dead that would result in case of disaster.

THREE TEAMS

The men, who are organized into three 10-men rescue teams led by a captain, passed the rescue problems as a "final exam" to three weeks of classroom and field work.

During the refresher course the men learn the purpose of civil defense in Pontiac, an elementary first-aid course taught by an experienced Pontiac General Hospital doctor; knot-tying and use of apparatus which must be employed in rescue operations is also among the classes.

Yesterday, under the direction of instructors William Aho, Kenneth Anthony, and Don Nagle, "live casualties" were lowered from atop the 50-foot-high city incinerator on East Boulevard at Featherstone Road.

USE TWO 'PROPS'

Both a vertical drop where the casualty is lowered feet first while strapped securely in a stretcher, and a horizontal drop were practiced.

All three instructors termed the course "very successful" and said they hoped to have a similar program each year.

The same men, with some exceptions, completed a long 40-hour course in rescue procedures last year.

"At the start of last year's course the men didn't have the slightest idea of how to lower a victim, but look how smooth it went off today," Aho said. "I would say all the men did an excellent job and learned what was expected of them," he added.

He said Pontiac was one of the few Michigan cities that he knew of that demonstrated the foresight in being prepared in case these skills had to be employed.

"Of course, money must be appropriated by the city in the Civil Defense Budget in order to carry out such a program."

"Detroit carries out a very similar training program each year on a much larger scale."

A telephone system is used by the three teams in case of emergency whereby each man has a member to call to notify him where to report.

During the training the men were called out one night in a practice problem to teach them how to operate under the handicap of darkness.

The instructors said the most important element in lowering casualties is the proper knowledge of knot-tying and rigging to be used.

"Without these, a man could be killed in the lowering process," Aho explained.

The men used a county civil defense truck equipped with the necessary apparatus to carry out the program.

In case of disaster, all the men, plus the Pontiac police and fire departments would coordinate their rescue operations under the direction of Civil Defense Director Walter K. Willman and his assistant, William L. Collins.

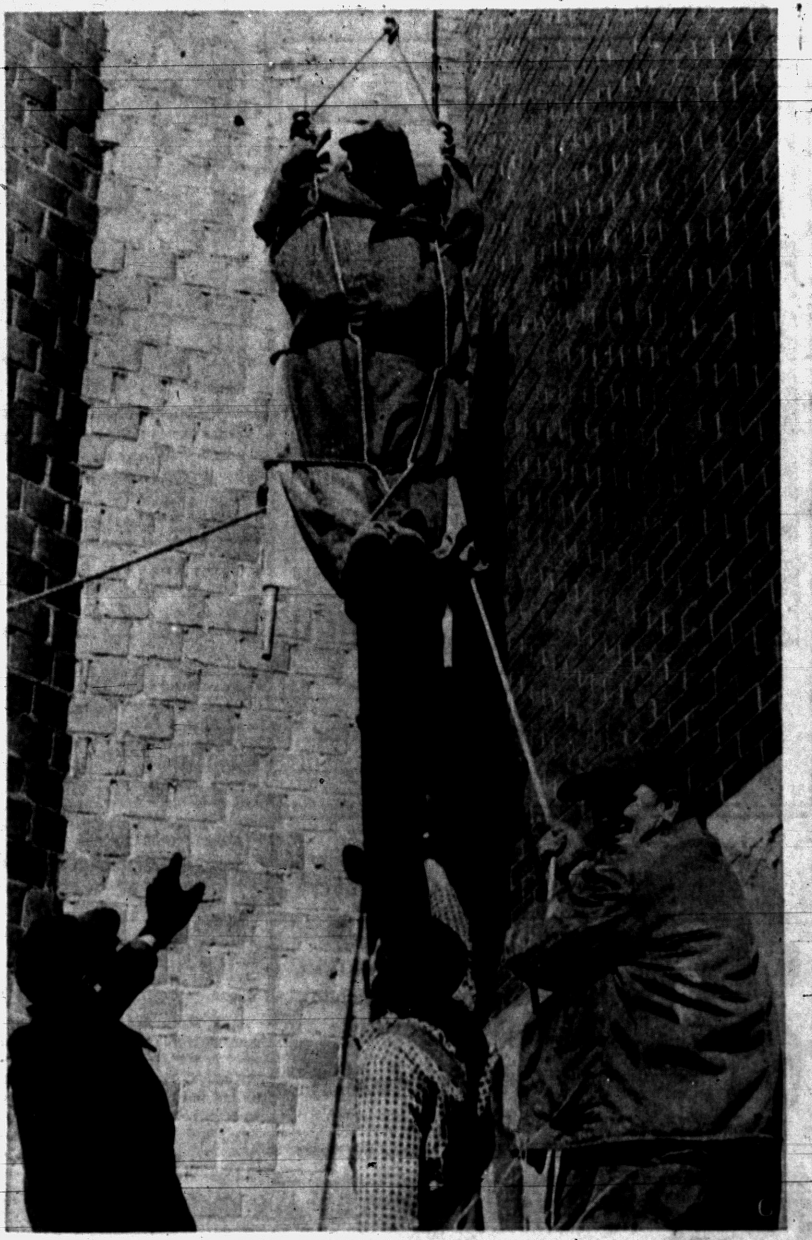

"We all naturally hope the men never have to use this program but we will be ready for it just in case," Aho concluded.

At Sunset, Jews Begin Passover Observance

NEW YORK — Observance of Passover starts at sunset today for Jews around the world.

The holiday period begins with the traditional Seder, the festival or service including the serving of symbolic foods.

The celebration will be observed by Orthodox and Conservative Jews for eight days and by Reform Jews for seven.

SAFE AND SOUND — Pontiac Parks and Recreation employee Jewell Bolton gets the feeling of being a "live casualty" in a practice vertical drop while other department workers lower him to the ground. The 50-foot drop was part of a 10-hour refresher course at the city incinerator in civil defense rescue operations in which 35 Parks and Recreation and Cemetery workers took part.

Russia to Launch Jet Air Service

Direct Flight Routes to Europe, Asia and Other Global Areas Planned

MOSCOW — Soviet Russia—with a big new twin-jet airliner reported in mass production ahead of Britain and the United States—has launched a bold challenge for air routes in Europe and Asia.

The airliner is the TU104, the sleek plane which carried Soviet security chief Ivan Serov to London last week and created a sensation among Western aviation experts.

Marshal S. F. Zhavoronkov, chief of the Soviet civil airline Aeroflot, said the plane is in mass production and will be put into international rather than domestic service.

SCANDINAVIA ROUTES SET

Negotiations already are under way with Norway, Sweden and Denmark on behalf of Scandinavian Airlines for reciprocal direct flights between Moscow and Stockholm and Copenhagen.

Other projected international Soviet routes would link Moscow with Peiping, New Delhi and Kabul, Afghanistan. Zhavoronkov said Russia plans a direct Moscow-to-London jet service "if the traffic warrants it."

Diplomatic observers say the Russians might use the TU104 to penetrate the Middle East. They anticipated the Russians might try to sell it to India and the Arab countries, which now use British and American aircraft.

Synthetic Sintox Could Eliminate Tungsten in Steel

CHICAGO (INS) — A new inexpensive man-made material, described as harder than any substance known except diamond, was demonstrated recently in Chicago.

The new synthetic is called Sintox. It is made from "dirt cheap" materials by a fusion process similar to that used to make synthetic diamonds.

Backers of the new substance said it promises to be an inexpensive and efficient substitute for tungsten steels and carbides. The United States has to import its tool-cutting tungsten supply from Asiatic sources.

An audience of industrialists and military engineers attending the American Society of Tool Engineers meeting saw a demonstration of the new gem material's cutting power on a wide range of industrial metals from soft brass to tough, heat-treated alloy steels.

The material is brick-colored and "close to sapphire in its properties," the Sintox Company of Allentown, Pa., said. The exact manufacturing process is still a company secret.

Navy Unit Nears End of Training

Area Recruits Earn Boots

Thirty-five Pontiac area men, serving in the civic-sponsored Pontiac-Flint-Saginaw Navy Company recruited in January, now are in their seventh week of basic training at Great Lakes, Ill.

"Boot" training lasts nine weeks, after which the men take a 14-day leave before disbanding as a company and being assigned to further schooling or duty at other bases.

During the past six weeks, the company has learned military drill, arms handling, fire fighting, seamanship, gunnery and protection against gas and biological warfare.

They have competed with other companies for honors in drill, special events and athletics, and last week came within 3-1000 of a point of winning a Star Flag for cleanliness of personnel and barracks.

Seaman Recruit William Imboden, of 457 Lowell St., won the Company competition for "honor man," best all-round recruit in the unit. He has also been nominated for the "American Spirits Award."

The company now is in "service week" for the base mess hall duty which is rotated among the companies. Imboden, who has been writing weekly dispatches in The Pontiac Press, commented before this duty started that it should prove "an interesting week," but in his dispatch this

There were conflicting reports on whether it would be set off. The explosive issued before the board here is a $400,000 loan which Vice President James Hoffa of Detroit offered the International Longshoremen's Assn.

AFL-CIO President George Meany has threatened to suspend the teamsters if they go through with the loan to the ILA—the union he kicked out of the AFL in 1953 as racket-ridden.

Reports and speculation went in several directions yesterday as Hoffa, Teamster President Dave Beck and other top officers met in a series of closed-door caucuses.

TWEAK BETWEEN FRIENDS — This should teach Pete the cocker not to go poking his nose into the business of Skipper the parakeet. No harm is intended by the bird's playful peck, however, for the two are the best of friends. Both are pets of the Lee Cates family of Parsons, Kansas.

Farmers Threaten to Picket 2 Dairies

DETROIT (INS)—A milk strike was threatened today against two of Detroit's major dairies unless a 45 per cent increase in raw milk prices was met.

The dairies, threatened with picket lines by farmers, are the Borden Co. and Ira Wilson & Sons Dairy Co., which serve about 200,000 customers.

The companies said they will be forced to get milk from other farmers if the strike becomes effective.

The picketing farmers, members of the Fair Share Bargaining Association, said they would begin their march against the dairies after a strategy committee meeting today.

The FSBA claims to represent a majority of the 10,000 dairy farmers in the Detroit area.

Spanking Not a Decision for Teacher, Psychiatrist Tells State Conference

ANN ARBOR — A nationally-known psychiatrist says the recent vote of the Detroit Parent-Teachers Assn. approving corporal punishment of pupils is evidence of a "growing tendency toward the use of physical brutality in our social relations."

Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovitch, head of the psychiatric unit of the Children's Hospital at the University of Michigan, told a mental health conference at Ann Arbor that "the school should not be the one to decide which type of child may be involved in a particular spanking."

"To me, it's fantastic that a city like Detroit would allow teachers to use physical violence against pupils when they wish," Dr. Rabinovitch said. "While there are no doubt children who could well stand a good swat or two, there are too many others who would be seriously harmed because their personal resources were inadequate to meet this crisis."

Dr. Rabinovitch also criticized what he said was the tendency to blame parents for the shortcomings of their children.

"In many cases," he said, "this merely throws greater responsibility on people who aren't equipped to handle it and who themselves may have suffered serious childhood deprivations."

He said it has made parents "afraid to expose deficiencies in their children at a time when they can be promptly and efficiently handled."

If the general tone toward parents is one of blame or threatened arrest," Dr. Rabinovitch said, "then the chances are we will not be able to help the parents effectively, either."

He said there was a need for psychiatrists and other persons concerned with mental health to intervene and separate children from their families when parents have proven "grossly inadequate" in their role of parenthood.

"There are literally hundreds of cases in this state where children have suffered gross neglect and frank brutality, both physical and psychological, at the hands of their parents," Dr. Rabinovitch said.

Quite often, he said, separation would only be temporary if remedial steps were taken early enough.

Another speaker, Dr. James F. Maddux, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare consultant, told the conference the professional jealousies and the need for financial support are more often the cause of inter-agency disputes in the mental health field when personal hostilities.

He said that coordination between state and local offices of the same agency was often better than that between the health and welfare groups serving a community.

Integration of these services to the community can best be achieved where the agencies have complementary goals, good administrative practices and equally well trained personnel, he said.

AWARDED BARS—Arthur H. Robins of Pontiac (right) receives a commission as second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force in a ceremony following his graduation from Ohio Wesleyan University where he was a member of the AFOTC. Pinning on his insignia of rank is Col. Harold V. Larson, professor of air science at the university. Presently employed by the AC Spark Plug Division of General Motors, Lt. Robins will attend flying school in Texas.

New York Suburbanites Irk Sanitation Official

NEW YORK — The man in charge of keeping New York's streets clean is irked with suburbanites.

Sanitation Commissioner Andrew W. Mulrain said in a radio talk that commuters know they shouldn't toss paper on the city streets.

"What particularly irks me," he said, "is that they'll do it here, and then take their train up to Westchester, out on the island or over to the Oranges, and they'll never think of doing it there in their home towns. Some people think everything goes in New York."

In 1947, legislators wrangled for months in Detroit to choose Michigan's permanent capital. A prankster suggested "the township of Lansing," then a wilderness with a sawmill, and one log house. To break the legislative deadlock, the tired lawmakers agreed.

High School Teacher, 34 Secretly Weds Student, 17

NEW YORK (AP)—A high school art teacher has been charged with abduction and rape in his secret marriage to a petite brunette student half his age.

George Wald, 34, was arrested yesterday after the parents of Sydney Silverman, 17, found out the two eloped last Jan. 9. It was his third marriage.

"Don't worry, honey, this is only a dream," Wald told his teenage bride. "Being with you is worth a night in jail."

"I love him and I'll stick with him," Sydney sobbed. Police said the six-foot, 235-

Butcher Knife Bandit Beats Clerk, Robs $170

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A bandit armed with a butcher knife beat a 68-year-old clerk, left him tied to a post for 11 hours and robbed a safe in a bowling alley yesterday.

John W. Higgins, who lives at the bowling alley, told police he was asleep in the office when a man awakened him, forced him to open a safe, took $170 and tied his arms around a post.

Higgins said he broke loose and started to run but the bandit caught him, beat him and bound him to the post again with shoe laces. A pinboy reporting for work found him. He was treated for cuts.

Sydney said she met Wald while he was a teacher and she a student at Manhattan's Industrial Arts High School. At first she turned down his requests for a date but finally agreed on graduation night last June. They were engaged in August.

Sydney is now a secretary for the Boy Scouts. Wald has two children, 7 and 9, by his first wife, who died in 1949. He was divorced from his second wife in 1953 after eight months of marriage.

Wald decided to tell Sydney's parents the secret.

He went to his bride's Brooklyn home, waved the marriage certificate and announced, "She's my wife—I want her home with me."

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Silverman, called police. Lack of parental consent and alleged falsification of the girl's age in the marriage license application were involved.

"She's only a baby—he's a man who's been married twice," protested Silverman.

Wald decided to tell Sydney's parents the secret.

He went to his bride's Brooklyn home, waved the marriage certificate and announced, "She's my wife—I want her home with me."

The girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Silverman, called police. Lack of parental consent and alleged falsification of the girl's age in the marriage license application were involved.

"She's only a baby—he's a man who's been married twice," protested Silverman.

Sydney said she met Wald while he was a teacher and she a student at Manhattan's Industrial Arts High School. At first she turned down his requests for a date but finally agreed on graduation night last June. They were engaged in August.

Sydney is now a secretary for the Boy Scouts. Wald has two children, 7 and 9, by his first wife, who died in 1949. He was divorced from his second wife in 1953 after eight months of marriage.

Grains Lower in Profit-Taking

CHICAGO (AP)—Some grains ran into profit-taking on the Board of Trade today after the very sharp price run-up of late last week.

At the outset most futures were time a few contracts moved downward. Dealings were less active than Friday and it appeared much of the urgent buying had been taken care of in the previous session.

As trading progressed the tendency was to move down. This was particularly true in wheat, all Friday's close. Nearby corn deliveries also had difficulty in maintaining their price levels. Oats were quite firm.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/2 cent lower, May $2.26; corn 1/4 cent lower to 1 1/2 higher, May $1.40; oats 1/4 cent higher, May $1.31; soybeans 1/4 cent lower to 1/2 higher, May $2.55; and hard 3 cents lower to 2 1/2 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.50.

Stocks Have Lower Look

NEW YORK (AP)—There was a lower look about the stock market today in early dealings.

The market at the start appeared to want to go higher, but within a short time the trend turned around.

Prices were down around a point at the outside, and a few stocks managed to add that much.

Major groups looked like this: Stocks mostly higher, motors lower, rubbers mixed, aircrafts mixed, utilities higher, coppers lower, chemicals lower, electrical equipment mixed, railroads mostly lower, oils unchanged to higher, and airlines steady.

Trading was swift at times, and there were quite a few moderate sized blocks on the tape. Among them were Anaconda Copper $3.50 off 1/2 at $3, Westinghouse Electric 2,000 off 1/2 at $25, Gulf Oil 2,500 up 1/2 at $10, General Motors 4,000 Harry Balhoff, secretary-treasurer.

EXHAUSTIVE CLINICAL TESTS PROVE DR. EDWARDS' OLIVE TABLETS 58% MORE EFFECTIVE THAN OTHER LAXATIVES!

261 constipation cases tested prove OLIVE TABLETS give you Nature's ideal regularity!

Medical evidence finally promises you thorough, safe, natural relief from that miserable, sickening feeling of irregularity! Leading doctors in a prominent medical center have just finished testing 7 popular, well-known laxatives. These are the facts based on clinical records of 261 patients, from 11 to 87 years old, suffering from acute and chronic constipation:

DR. EDWARDS' OLIVE TABLETS, made from pure-vegetable drugs and plant herbs, gave thorough, gentle, effective results in 9 out of 10 cases! OLIVE TABLETS were 58% more effective—with less unpleasant effects—than all the other laxatives tested!

The doctors found, too, that OLIVE TABLETS function naturally, work only on digested food in the lower bowel, without causing undue weakness or removing nourishment that your body needs. They're unsurpassed as a laxative for temporary constipation. Sold by all druggists.

Electric Union Accepts Plan

Westinghouse Proposal Parallels IVE Offer; Local Strikes Continue

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Top officials of the Independent United Electrical Workers and Westinghouse Electric Corp. agreed last night on a five-year contract to end a 153-day strike.

Membership ratification is needed but James J. Mattie, UE director of organization, says he is recommending acceptance.

The pact does not settle a local strike of 6,000 UE members at the firm's South Philadelphia plant. They walked out last Oct. 14, protesting a proposed change in wage payment plans.

The contract covers 3,200 at eight Westinghouse plants where the UE has representation. Terms of the agreement also would be applied to workers in Philadelphia once their local dispute is settled.

Westinghouse said economic clauses in the contract are the same as that signed with the 44,000-member AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers last Tuesday. That agreement ended a 156-day strike.

Negotiations aimed at bringing peace to the big turbine-producing plant in Philadelphia will be resumed there today.

The union locals at the eight other plants will vote tomorrow on acceptance of the national agreement. It calls for a minimum hourly wage increase of 25 cents during the pact's life.
