New Japanese Rioting Worries Security Men

Police Helpless; President Due in Tokyo Sunday

2 Die, 300 Injured in Savage Free-for-Alls Against Treaty

MANILA (AP)—The bloody new riots in Tokyo have left American security officials deeply concerned whether Japanese police can protect President Eisenhower, it was reported today.

Members of Eisenhower's party were disturbed over Tokyo dispatches which pictured the Japanese police as helpless against the latest onslaught of thousands of leftwing students who stormed the Parliament buildings there.

Japan's Premier Nobusuke Kishi called a midnight Cabinet session to discuss a situation which one of his aides described as equivalent to insurrection.

The riots were Japan's worst so far in the month-long campaign against Kishi and the new U.S.-Japan defense treaty.

President Eisenhower is due in Tokyo Sunday afternoon.

Two persons were reported killed and more than 300 were injured in the savage free-for-alls between 10,000 screaming rock-hurling students and club-wielding police who tried to quell the demonstrators with fire hoses.

Police finally gave up attempts to hold off the invaders and allowed the students to enter the grounds almost at will. Later they resorted to tear gas but the riots kept on.

The violence broke out shortly after Kishi's government yielded to Socialist pressure and abandoned efforts to gain final ratification of the new U.S.-Japan military treaty in time for President Eisenhower's arrival in Tokyo.

SECURITY WORKING

Informed sources, requesting that they not be named, said they understood that U. S. security forces both in Manila with Eisenhower and in Tokyo are assessing the new situation.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined comment. Hagerty himself was besieged on a visit to Tokyo last Friday. A U.S. Marine helicopter rescued him.

Six Dems Seek to Battle Broomfield

Ike Goes Native but Formal

Ex-Republican Keyes to Run as a Democrat

Seeks His Old Position; Morris Beats Deadline to File for 7th Term

LANSING (AP)—Sen. Carlton H. Morris, who backed out of the governor race two weeks ago, will try for a seventh term in the Senate and a former Republican lieutenant governor will bid for his old office as a Democrat.

Entries of Morris and Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn, who was elected lieutenant governor in 1942 and 1946 as a Republican, helped set the stage for lively primary election battles across the state.

The candidate roster filled out yesterday as 53 aspirants to state and congressional offices converged on the secretary of state's office before the 4 p.m. filing deadline.

Others in single county districts made formal entries at their respective county seats.

Roy G. Lord, former Gaylord city attorney, missed the boat when he appeared at the state elections office with his nominating petition moments after the door had been shut tight.

A Republican, he wanted to try for the Senate seat vacated by ailing Sen. Frank Andrews (R-Hillman).

Rep. George W. Sallade, maverick Republican legislator from Ann Arbor who is bidding for the lieutenant governor nomination, beat the deadline by only five minutes.

226 to Graduate From Northern

Dana Rose, assistant vice president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., will address 226 graduates at the Pontiac Northern High School commencement exercises beginning at 8 p.m. Friday in the school gymnasium.

Rose's topic is entitled, "Day After Tomorrow."

Presiding over the program will be Glenn H. Griffin, president of the Board of Education.

DANA ROSE

Eldon E. Rosegart, instrumental music instructor, will conduct the high school band in the traditional processional, "Pomp and Circumstance."

The Rev. M. R. Everett, pastor of the Baldwin Avenue Evangelical-United Brethren Church, will deliver the invocation, followed by remarks from Class President Lee Barrie.

Rose's address is next on the program.

A graduate of Hillsdale College, Rose began his telephone career in 1929 and had worked as a salesman in a number of cities, including Pontiac before moving up through the executive ranks.

He presently is treasurer of the Michigan Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America, a member of the Detroit Executives Assn. the Budget Panel of the United Community Services of Detroit, the Education Committee of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce, the Advisory Board of the Detroit League of Women Voters and the Board of Directors of the Children's Center of Metropolitan Detroit.

Rose will be followed on the commencement program by the school band's rendition of Jerome Kern's "The Way You Look Tonight."

Principal Philip J. Wargelin will present the class and awards.

Diplomas will be awarded by Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools.

The benediction will be delivered by the Rev. Everett, and the graduates will file out to the recessional, "Processional," by Lucien Calliet.

Northern's graduating class of officers are Lee Barrie, president; Phyllis Dooley, vice president; Christine Kleino, secretary; and Stanley Hertel, treasurer.

Blue Shield Ups Rates 11½ Pct.

Hike Effective July 1; to Run From 30 Cents to $1.02 a Month

LANSING (AP) — An 11½ per cent increase in Blue Shield premiums for medical care was authorized today by State Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford.

The higher rates, authorizing increases ranging from 30 cents to $1.02 a month, will go into effect July 1. They will expire a year later, Blackford said.

About 3½ million Michigan subscribers, nearly one-half the state's population, will be affected, the commissioner said.

The increases will pump 8½ million dollars into Blue Shield coffers over the next year. The organization had asked a 19½ per cent boost.

Enter Primary for Oakland's Congress Seat

52 File for 14 County Posts; Field Will Be Pared to 28 Aug. 2

Six Democrats officially are in the primary election for their party's nomination to oppose William S. Broomfield in his bid for re-election to Oakland County's congressional seat. Broomfield is unopposed in the primary.

Even a candidate from outside Oakland County has entered the 18th Congressional District race.

When the race by candidates to submit nominating petitions, or $100 fees in lieu of petitions, was declared officially finished at 4 p.m. yesterday, the Oakland County lineup read this way:

Fifty-two candidates had filed for 14 offices. There were 30 Democratic candidates and 22 Republicans. The total is only two more than the number that filed in 1956, the last presidential election year.

There were 66 in 1958.

All six Republican county officeholders have met with no party opposition. Democrats have tossed in nine candidates for the offices of prosecutor, sheriff, clerk-register, treasurer, drain commissioner, and the lesser-known fee job of surveyor.

Besides the hot six-man race for the Democratic nomination for Congress, the incumbent-free contest for Oakland County's 12th District Senate seat appears equally torrid.

There are three Republicans hoping to fill the shoes of Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, who prefers the robes of a judge to a state senator's seat, and three Democrats after the senatorial nomination.

Each party will pick one nominee for all 14 offices in the Aug. 2 primary. Winners then move on to the November ballots.

Among Oakland's six state representative posts, there loomed good prospects of primary runoffs in Districts 3, 4, 5, and 6.

District 3, consisting of the Birmingham, Bloomfield, Troy and Commerce areas, is extra attractive to both parties since Rep. Far-

Hoskins Says M59 Too Narrow

Cites Airport Road Needs

Pontiac Municipal Airport is expanding into the jet age but state highways leading to it are still in the horse-and-buggy age, Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager, declared yesterday.

"Perhaps the biggest problem ahead of us at the airport is the traffic situation," said Hoskins in an address to the Downtown Kiwanis Club.

"If the airport is to serve a wide area—as a second big terminal for the Detroit area — we've got to have better highways leading to it."

Of most concern to Hoskins was Highland road (M59).

He said the two-lane state highway between the airport and Elizabeth Lake road is far too narrow to handle existing loads, let alone the traffic that will build up as the airport becomes busier.

"This highway must be expanded to four lanes at least, if not five," said Hoskins.

A good report on M59 came after Hoskins' talk from Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer, who said State Highway Department planners had given assurances that plans for expansion to five lanes are in the mill.

Hoskins said good highways are needed for traffic to and from Pontiac, south Oakland County and Detroit.

Hoskins reiterated several points about the airport's future.

He predicted again that the field will be expanded to become

Commission Lines Up 4-3 Against Straley

Anti-Straley forces are in the saddle by a 4-3 margin, the first vote of the 1960-1962 City Commission on the status of controversial Police Chief Herbert W. Straley showed last night.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston and two other anti-Straley commissioners said they were "ready to move on the Straley question" as commissioners clashed again over the Police Department for the second time in two weeks.

"If you want to withdraw your court action, I'm ready to move on Straley next week," asserted Rowston to the pro-Straley minority on the Commission.

Veteran Commissioners John A. Dugan and Wesley J. Wood immediately endorsed the mayor's statement.

Asked what he meant by being "ready to move" on Straley, Rowston today replied: "To authorize the city manager to act as he feels is in the best interests of the City of Pontiac."

Neither Milton R. Henry nor Robert A. Landry—the two pro-Straley commissioners who brought the present court action protecting Straley in his job — made any indication they would accept the mayor's challenge.

FORCE VOTE

Instead, they forced to a vote a motion to give Straley "full authority as chief" for a 60-day period, and said the chief could end troubles in the department during that period.

The vote found newly-elected Commissioner William H. Taylor siding with the anti-Straley majority and the other new Commissioner Winford E. Bottom with the minority.

"Straley's had seven years in

ANIMAL HONOREE — It might appear that Princeton University has overdone the practice of awarding honorary degrees this year, but such is not the case. This metal tiger was capped and gowned by a playful student when commencement was moved indoors as the exercises were rained out for the first time in 26 years. The academic garb was reserved for New Jersey's Gov. Robert Meyner. However, he was unable to attend.

8 Attorneys Seek Probate Judgeship

A prized $22,500-a-year new probate judgeship in Oakland County is being eagerly sought by eight attorneys.

Veteran Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, on the bench since 1938, was unopposed for another regular four-year term. His name will go on the November countywide ballots automatically.

Two of the attorneys that filed nominating petitions are relative newcomers to Oakland County judicial circles, although both reside here.

They are David Kaufman, 38, of 29550 Everett St., Southfield, and Herbert Burdick, 44, of 25605 Dundee Rd., Royal Oak. Both have offices in Detroit.

The new position they and the other six lawyers are after was created by the 1960 Legislature.

One of the men responsible for the new judgeship bill, which won Gov. Williams' signature in April, is one of the eight candidates. He is Sen. L. Harvey Lodge of Waterford Township.

He chose not to seek re-election to a third term representing Oakland County in the Senate to bid for the two-year term which begins Jan. 1.

All eight judicial hopefuls will have their names on the Aug. 2 nonpartisan ballots. The top two vote-getters then will bid for the new job in the courthouse in the November election.

Among the eight are former Circuit Judge Theodore F. Hughes of Berkley and Donald E. Adams, Waterford Township justice of the peace since 1947 and Oakland's commissioner on the State Bar of Michigan.

Verne C. Hampton, Circuit Court commissioner since 1947 and an unsuccessful candidate for the fifth circuit judgeship last year, filed his petitions for the two-year term. Hampton lives in Bloomfield Township.

Joining him were Royal Oak attorney Supervisor and Commissioner John B. Osgood, and Ralph S. Moore, 35-year-old partner in a Berkley law firm.

As the second hand on the clock in the county clerk's office moved closer to the 4 p.m. deadline yesterday for submitting petitions, one announced candidate was still missing. He never made it.

David E. Utley, Pontiac attorney, said he had decided two weeks ago to withdraw despite having some petitions filled out.

"I decided I didn't have a chance," Utley said.

Like partisan candidates who had to meet Tuesday's deadline also, judicial candidates have until 4 p.m. Friday to withdraw from the race.

Pontiac Citizen Has Conscience, Pays His Debt

Pontiac possesses one of the nation's most honest citizens.

So says Harry S. Nichols of Bloomfield Hills.

The mailman just delivered Nichols an envelope, stamped "Pontiac," which contained a $20 bill and two 10s. "The bills," says Nichols, "were yellow around the edges and looked as though they came from the distant past. But they're sound currency of the realm."

Accompanying the money was a note that said: "This covers material taken from the Nichols Construction Co."

Diogenes can blow out his lantern.

The search is over.

But the sender's identity remains a mystery.

City Air Raid Siren Set Off by Mistake

The city's civil defense sirens and school warning signals were mistakenly set off by Pontiac police today during a state police civil defense test.

The warnings lasted for about one minute, beginning a few seconds after 2 p.m.

The sirens were not supposed to sound during the test, Police Lt. Harry Nye said.

"But the test orders were misunderstood and we sounded them."

Oldsters of 65 Spend $33 Average on Drugs

NEW YORK (UPI) — For persons 65 and older the average annual expenditure for prescriptions was $33 each last year, against a $15 average for persons of all ages, according to the Drug Topics annual prescription survey.

Further, the study showed that between men and women 65 and older, average expenditure for out of hospital drugs was 37 per cent higher for women.

6 Dems to Battle for Congress

rell E. Roberts decided to jump a peg into the Senate GOP nomination race.

He'll be joined by Huntington Woods Mayor David R. Calhoun and Richard D. Kuhn, Pontiac attorney and car-wash owner making his fifth try for the GOP Senate nomination.

On the other side of the Senate ledger there will be Oak Park attorney S. Jerome Bronson, Robert H. Chapin, Drayton Plains real estate broker and Joseph T. Stadnik former Wixom mayor and carlot operator.

The number of Democratic candidates seeking a ticket to Washington is one of the largest in many county election years, party officials say. There were five in 1956.

Carlos G. Richardson, county Democratic chairman, attributed the number to a general feeling among Democrats that this is their year. They want to ride in on the winning national bandwagon, he said.

'CHANCE TO WIN'

"They seem to think there's a chance of winning and they want to be in there," Richardson said, as he surveyed the list of candidates who will eventually pick his successor.

Richardson, under fire by a new faction of the local party disturbed with his leadership, has announced he's through. Successful August nominees will pick the new chairman.

Some favorite candidates of Mrs. Harriett Phillips, leader of the new group, were' evident in the lineup of candidates, Richardson said. A screening panel from her group will hold secret interviews of candidates this week.

Among the six Democratic congressional hopefuls are two former candidates for this and another office, and four relative newcomers to Oakland politics.

The former candidates are Zigmund J. Niparko, Ferndale economics teacher and Hazel Park councilman; and Leo P. Meagher, pharmacist and nominee for the Senate seat two years ago.

Opposing them for the nomination will be James Kellis, recently retired Air Force intelligence officer of Berkley; Ralph T. Johnson, Chrysler Corp. labor relations official from Oak Park; George E. Lennox of Royal Oak, owner of a Hazel Park industrial tool supply company; and Joseph Kadans, 47-year-old Detroit lawyer and author.

Kadans was declared eligible for the 18th Congressional District race by Robert M. Montgomery, state director of elections.

"It's rather unusual but legal," Montgomery said. State election laws only specify that the candidate need "be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen."

Not submitting petitions was previous announced candidate Edward J. Vanderinan, Birmingham school teacher from Troy, who had found fault with Mrs. Phillips' wing of the party.

Missing, too, when all petitions were in, was George D. Hicks, Democratic nominee for sheriff for 1952, 1954, 1956, and 1958.

Unopposed for the nomination this year is 53-year-old Oxford auto dealer Homer Hight, former Pontiac Motor Division plant protection officer.

Coming back into the race after a two-year absence is former State Rep. Walter T. McMahon, who served District 6 for 10 years before he lost the nomination in 1958 to present incumbent Rep. John C. Hitchcock of Hazel Park. Hitchcock will oppose McMahon again, as will Henry Ford Pickering, a laborer from Madison Heights.

The only woman to file was the 1958 Republican nominee for the District 6 seat in the House of Representatives Mrs. Dorothy M. Rowley, Hazel Park housewife.

She'll be opposed for the nomination by Ferndale attorney Robert J. Turner, who is running in the heavily Democratic area in hopes of boosting gubernatorial candidate Paul D. Bagwell's chances. He's co-chairman of the "Bagwell Boosters."

County Republicans, who seek to keep their strong hold on local offices again this year, went almost to the final gun yesterday without as much hint of an opponent for State Rep. Arthur J. Law of Pontiac.

Five hours before the deadline Richard I. Moore, district manager of the National Federation of Independent Businesses, jumped into the race for the Republican nomination. Two years ago he announced his candidacy for governor. He quit before the primary.

District 1 State Rep. Lloyd A. Anderson (R-Waterford Township) has no opposition for the re-nomination. Nor has Rep. William Hayward (R-Royal Oak) in District 5.

Southfield Democratic Rep. S. James Clarkson has however. It will come from Albert A. Kramer, 36-year-old Detroit attorney from Oak Park.

The winner in this race will meet one of four Republicans pitched into a concerted effort to recapture this seat from the Democrats.

Evidence of the factional split in the Democratic party can be seen in the Democratic nomination for county clerk-register of deeds.

John E. Kronenberg, nominee two years for the post, supports Richardson, while his opponent, David S. Lees, union representative for the Office Employes International Union, is on the side of Mrs. Phillips' pro-labor camp.

Candidates have until 4 p.m. Friday to withdraw.

Muffler Shop Moves to Bigger Location

Midas Muffler Shop is now in full operation at its new location, 435 S. Saginaw St., according to manager Stanley Brown.

The business moved from 256 S. Saginaw St.

Dealing in automobile mufflers and tail pipes, the new shop affords greater capacity, better parking and increased customer convenience, Brown said.

"The shop now can service three cars every 15 minutes," said the manager. "Prior to our new location, it could only handle two cars over a comparable period of time."

Community House Drive Again Short of Its Goal

BIRMINGHAM—For the second consecutive year, the Birmingham Community House Fund Drive has fallen short of its goal.

However, the board of directors agrees that the building that has served the community for 30 years will not have to close its doors.

"It could mean, though, a curtailment of services and that would be a step backwards," said Herbert Gardner, member of the house's board of trustees.

At the 36th annual meeting of Community House officials Monday evening, it was reported that only $40,000 of the $51,000 goal had been reached.

3,566 CONTRIBUTE

Some 18,000 persons were contacted during the drive, with 3,566 of them making contributions.

Credit was given by Treas. Charles W. Wiggins to the staff of the house and volunteers for keeping expenses at a minimum after the fund drive fell short."

Honorary Community House President Ruth Shain suggested that a continuous, year around program be initiated to inform area residents of the need for such services as the facility provides.

Officers elected were at the meeting.

They are Eugene F. Barney, president; Mrs. Robert J. Mason, first vice president; Ralph E. Hunt, second vice-president; and Francis M. Fisher, treasurer.

Outgoing officers received certificates of honor for their services.

Andrew H. Madsen Sr.

Service for Andrew H. Madsen Sr., 74, of 1948 Washington St., will be 1 p.m. Friday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

Mr. Madsen died Tuesday in New Grace Hospital, Detroit, after several months illness.

He was a Detroit realtor and insurance agent for 30 years.

He was a member of the North Congregational Church in Southfield and the Detroit Real Estate Board.

Surviving are his wife, Mabel; a daughter, Mrs. John E. Eckenrode Jr.; a son, Andrew H. Jr., all of Birmingham; five grandchildren, three sisters and a brother.

Commission Split 4-3 on Straley

the department and there are still troubles," declared Rowston.

Rowston also pointed out that the City Commission could pass a resolution making known to Willman what action it favored on Straley.

Before the vote, Landry challenged City Manager Walter K. Willman to tip his hand on Straley.

ASKS DECISION

"I think the manager should make a decision right now," Landry said. "There's been too much buck passing on this question. If he plans to fire Straley, let him say so right now."

But the Commission hassle swept on before Willman had a chance to answer.

Rowston said the city's hands are tied as long as there is court action challenging the legality of the charter amendment giving Willman the power to fire Straley.

Henry has appealed to the State Supreme Court to overrule Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem's dismissal of the suit as groundless.

A series of stays of execution has prevented the city from enforcing the amendment.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said after last night's meeting that in his opinion the latest stay expired on Friday — leaving the city free to enforce the ordinance.

Landry touched off the debate by bringing up the question of traffic enforcement and morale by referring to a report submitted yesterday by Straley.

Landry cited figures from the report and said they indicated "a pretty good record" since Straley's return as chief in January.

Reading from the report, Landry observed that there were 1,146 tickets issued for hazardous violations during the first five months of 1959 under former Public Safety Director George D. Eastman, compared to 2,181 issued during the first five months of this year under Straley.

Last week, Police Captain Donny Ashley made traffic enforcement an issue by asserting that poor morale under Straley has resulted in a sharp decline in tickets during the past few months, compared with a high point achieved under Eastman last fall and winter.

Award Contract for Renovating Old Post Office

A contract totaling $229,000 has been awarded to a Detroit construction firm for renovation of the old post Office on Huron and Perry streets.

The announcement was made today by John W. Chapman, Jr., regional commissioner of General Services Administration, owners of the building.

The contract went to the low of seven bidders, Paul H. Johnson, Inc.

The project is expected to be completed in about eight months. Purpose of the building rennovation is to consolidate the government agency offices in Pontiac.

A number of federal offices presently located separately will move into the Post Office building when the project is completed.

tures — about 1,000 over the required minimum.

Morris made an 11th hour decision to oppose Glenn A. Allen Jr., former Kalamazoo mayor, in the Sixth District primary battle.

He said he was "discouraged" when he quit the governor race, largely for lack of financial support.

His withdrawal turned over the GOP gubernatorial nomination to Paul D. Bagwell by default. Bagwell was the 1958 nominee.

Three Democrats will battle it out for the chance to take on the Michigan State University professor in the Nov. 8 general election.

Detroit Councilman Edward Connor officially joined the primary run-off yesterday, putting to rest rumors that he might withdraw.

Other Democratic candidates are Secretary of State James M. Hare and Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson.

TWO OPPONENTS

Competing for a chance to oppose his re-election to a second term are Alvin M. Bentley, Republican congressman from Owosso, and former State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard, the 1954 GOP governor nominee.

The turnabout of Keyes, 59-year-old physician, dentist and attorney, turned the Democratic contest for lieutenant governor into a five-man affair.

"I couldn't stand it any longer," said Keyes, when a reporter asked why he filed as a Democrat. "The Democratic Party, at least in Michigan, better serves the interest of the commoner."

His opponents in the primary will be Richard Vander Veen, Grand Rapids attorney endorsed by the Michigan 'AFL-CIO; State Rep. T. John Lesinski of Detroit; William J. Coughlin of Detroit, an assistant Wayne County prosecutor; and Gerald Dougherty, president of United Auto Workers Local 326 in Flint.

A three-cornered race shaped up on the Republican side when Sallade jumped in alongside Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) and Clarence A. Reid of Detroit, who held the office in 1953-54.

Reps. John B. Bennett, Republican from Ontonagon, and James G. O'Hara, Democrat from Utica, are the only two of the 11 out-state congressmen who will face primary opposition.

All the incumbents but Bentley are running for re-election. Two Democrats and six Republicans have filed for his seat.

Seek Dem Prosecutor Bid

Neighbors Election Foes

It may be just a little friendly chat over the neighborhood fence on Middlebury Lane in Bloomfield Township, but the stakes will be the Democratic nomination for county prosecutor.

Two neighbors found themselves in this predicament today after both had filed by yesterday's deadline for nominating petitions.

George J. Fulkerson of 3901 Middlebury Lane and Alvin S. Rappaport of 3570 Middlebury Lane are after the same thing. They want to become the Democratic nominee for prosecutor Aug. 2.

Both insist their campaign will be most friendly, although Fulkerson said at one time he thought he had Rappaport's support in his campaign.

NO HARD FEELINGS

But 46-year-old Rappaport, a Detroit attorney, felt the time was ripe and maybe he "should look into the prosecutor's office" himself. He did, much to Fulkerson's surprise. But there aren't any hard feelings.

"My opposition is not George Fulkerson," Rappaport said. "It's the Republican incumbent."

His friendly rival, a 33-year-old Birmingham attorney, agrees.

Torpedo Room Blaze Put Out After 1 Hour; Oxygen Line Blamed

HONOLULU (AP) — Two men were unaccounted for after a flash fire aboard the nuclear submarine Sargo at Pearl Harbor, a Navy spokesman said today.

The one-hour blaze Tuesday was put out after the 2,500-ton submarine was half submerged, a Navy spokesman said.

The fire, which broke out in the stern or torpedo room, at no time endangered the submarine, the Navy said.

The torpedo compartment was immediately flooded and the stern half of the ship was submerged shortly after the fire broke out at 5:30 p.m. The submarine was tied alongside the dock.

Cause of the fire was attributed by Navy spokesman to a rupture in the liquid oxygen line near the after torpedo room. The submarine was taking on a supply of liquid oxygen.

The room was immediately sealed off and flooded.

Officially, the Navy said no determination has yet been made of casualties.

Roads to Airport Hit as Inadequate

the area's second big jet terminal.

And to accomplish this expansion, Hoskins said, the city must be joined by the county.

Expansion under the federal aid program might cost more than 10 million dollars, he said, with local authorities required to raise five million or so.

"The city couldn't do this alone."

Hoskins said area authorities should decide as soon as possible on the airport's future.

"If we are to expand, we should begin land acquisition as soon as possible in order to save costs."

Whatever the ultimate future of the airport, more expansion is necessary if the airport is to fully serve in its present role as a feeder port, Hoskins said.

"We must have a major runway and need land for this. The present main east-west runway needs expansion and we need land for that, too."

(Last night, the City Commission approved two new land purchases for the east-west runway. Commissioners approved purchase of 414 feet of frontage on M59 from Carlos G. Richardson for $4,750 and 170 feet on Williams Lake road from Robert Hoyt for $4,500.)

Hoskins foresaw the probability that Williams Lake road eventually will have to be closed to make way for expansion westward.

"The airport is important to Pontiac if the city wants to attract industry or even keep the industry it has. Yet at present, the airport is getting cramped for space for commercial hangars.

"We need to keep on expanding just to provide minimum facilities."

Hoskins pointed out that other areas in Michigan recently have given support to airports.

In Muskegon County, voters have approved a two-million-dollar bond issue to help finance a federal improvement program totaling more than five million. In Kent County, a four-million-dollar bond issue was approved for a seven-million-dollar program.

Man Loses His Shirt —$118—to Thugs

The shirt was taken off his back —and $118 as well—James A. Sammons of Waterford Township told Pontiac police last night.

Sammons, of 5913 Southward St., told officers he was getting into his jeep at Bagley and Jackson streets after visiting a friend when three men jumped him.

While he was dazed by a blow on the head, the men took his shirt and the $118 from his wallet, then fled, Sammons said.

HOLDING TELLER — Bank teller Hugh J. Degnan, 29, was arrested by the FBI Monday following the robbery of the Yonkers, N.Y., branch of the County Trust Co., where he had worked for four years. The FBI claimed Degnan engineered the holdup with confederates to cover up his own embezzlement.

State Workers Plan for Nixon

Volunteers to Meet at Lansing on June 25 to Start Organization

DETROIT (UPI) — The first statewide meeting of Michigan's grass-roots organization supporting Vice President Richard M. Nixon for President will be held at 10:30 a.m. Saturday, June 25, at the Lansing Civic Center.

Letters went into the mail today directed to persons who have indicated they want to work in support of the vice president.

Cochairman of the Michigan committee of the five-state Midwest Volunteers for Nixon are Ray Eppert, president of Burroughs Corp., Detroit, and Dr. Charles Anspach, president emeritus of Central Michigan University.

Richard V. Van Dusen, Detroit attorney and vice chairman of the Michigan Volunteers, said the meeting in Lansing would be similar to others being held in Illinois, Ohio and Wisconsin.

"We hope that within less than a month we will have Nixon Volunteers active in organized support of Richard Nixon for President in every important community in the State of Michigan," Van Dusen declared.

Peter Flanigan, New York investment banker who heads the Nixon Volunteers nationally, will be in Lansing to explain details of the community programs. Paul Baldwin Jr., Howell, vice chairman of the Michigan committee in charge of community volunteer groups, will organize discussion sessions by congressional districts.

A personal telephone message from Vice President Nixon and motion pictures of his recent Russian trip, will highlight the meeting.

In addition to Anspach and Eppert, cochairman of the Michigan committee, membership includes Leland I. Doan, president of Dow Chemical Co., Midland; Paul G. Goebel, former mayor of Grand Rapids; James Gilmore, mayor of Kalamazoo; Dr. Paul McCracken of Ann Arbor, former member of the President's Council of Economic Advisors; Harding Mott, Flint civic leader; Clarence (Biggie) Munn, athletic director of Michigan State University, East Lansing; Dr. Paul V. Sangren, retired president of Western Michigan Univehsity, Kalamazoo; and Robert B. Semple, president of Wyandotte Chemical Co., Wyandotte.

Appeals Judgeship Held Up in Senate

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A vacancy on the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals serving Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin appears likely to go unfilled this year.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) told a reporter he has sent "about nine names" to the Justice Department for investigation and clearance.

"They'll send one of those to the White House," he said, "But I don't know what luck we'll have in the Senate. The Democrats aren't approving any judges."

The vacancy on the six-judge court generally is considered an "Indiana job," since the former occupant of the post, the late W. Lynn Parkinson, was an Indiana appointee.

If the job still is unfilled next year, and Democrats capture the White House, Indiana's Democratic Sen. Vance Hartke would almost certainly make new and different recommendations.

President Eisenhower could name a recess appointee while Congress is not in session, but he would have to serve without pay and presumably would not be confirmed by the Democratic-controlled Senate when it returns next year.

NEW YORK (UPI) — A 40-year-old parrot accused of using obscene language, was hailed into a Brooklyn court Monday.

Cecilia Amato charged that Pete talked so ugly as she walked past his perch in front of the home of his master, Sam Maiorana, 65, that she just wouldn't walk there any more.

Mrs. Amato said she walks three blocks out of her way both to and from work so she won't have to hear Pete's stream of curses.

"The bird doesn't even talk to me, so why should he curse her?"

For two hours, Pete sat silent — saying neither yea nor nay to the charges — in the courtroom. He and Maiorana were released for trial June 21 on disorderly charges.

Boys Ask for He-Men; Girls Demand Love

What Do Children Want of Their Dad?

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—This coming Sunday, America salutes Father—the bemused gent who married the currently controversial "mom."

But even as we present him with the smile and the tie, sociologists will be putting their grave gray cells together to continue their probing into papa's role in the family.

Is he Milquetoast or man? Noodnik, likecmfwyp hrdl lu uuu vision series, or patriarch like grandpa? Does he smoke nonconformist nicotine, or is he a (oh, nasty word) seeker?

And above all, what has he done for his children lately?

Well, amid all the controversy about what the American father is REALLY like—and is that good?—the children of America are voicing their opinions on what makes a good pop.

Thousands of them have submitted letters on their father's fine points to the National Father's Day Committee, and the following truths have come out:

Children want, from their fathers, companionship, sincerity and accessibility.

Children do not particularly care about big allowances, special favors or sentimentality.

Boys want he-men for fathers. Girls want love.

"My Father is a jaunty sort of guy, kind of hiding his mid-age bulge, but strong as an ox."

This was a source of pride to 15-year-old Mario Berlanda of Willow Grove, Pa., first prize winner in the annual "letters to Father" contest sponsored by Cigar Institute of America. Mario wrote that his dad teaches school in the high school he attends.

"And like a father, he treats me rougher than he does anyone else in the whole school but I wouldn't have it any other way."

After boasting affectionately of all the sports his father participates in, Mario concludes that "my Father tries never to deny me anything, and when he does it's for my own good. I understand this and am deeply grateful for it."

One consideration that made Sheldon Breger's stepfather, in Los Angeles, great:

"We are included in his every movement, and he won't even go out to dinner with mother unless we can go and will not do anything without us."

Sheldon clinched second prize when he observed, "He does not shout at us when we do something we shouldn't, but explains what we have done wrong."

Andrew Jarvis of Merion, Pa., has a well-rounded father:

"I love my daddy because he reads me stories. Then he carries me in to bed and tickles me. I like it. He drives me to Sunday School. On the way back, gets me some gum. He plays soccer and baseball with me and he helps me climb trees too. He makes a shack out of things around him. He keeps on the hall light at night."

The young ladies who won the "Letters to Father" competition, filly division, looked upon fatherhood as a state demanding less brown and more understanding affection. They seemed preoccupied with security.

"You've always given me the best education and the best of everything," wrote winner Marion Boisvert, Barrington, R.I. "You've done almost everything in your power to bring us up well."

"At the moment we do not know what the future holds. There is unrest and hatred all over the world, and I often wonder how I shall make it," pondered Melba Welunt, Marietta, Ga. "Yet with the wonderful guidance you give, I feel I shall face this world unafraid."

Stockholders Will Vote on State Firms' Merger

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Stockholders of Wolverine Finishes Corp. of Grand Rapids and Rinshed-Mason Co. at Detroit will be asked to vote June 27 on a proposed formal merger of the firms.

Wolverine employs 100 persons in production of furniture finishes. The Detroit firm manufacturers auto finishes. Merger approval reportedly would result in making Wolverine a division of Rinsher-Mason which purchased controlling interest in January 1959.

Voting Fraud Suspect Elected to School Post

DETROIT (UPI)—Irwin G. Little, who is under indictment on vote fraud charges, was returned to the Warren Van Dyke School Board Monday for a four-year term.

Little, 53, served 22 years on the School Board, but left the Board when he was elected to the City Council four years ago.

He subsequently was indicted on two counts of vote fraud. The case came to trial last year but ended in a mistrial and attempts to hold a retrial have failed.

The State of Missouri's name derives from that of a tribe of Sioux Indians who were called Missouris.

Canadian Pact Covers Drugs

UAW in Windsor Signs First Contract Granting Free Prescriptions

WINDSOR, Ont. (UPI) — The United Auto Workers Union has signed what is believed to be the first collective bargaining agreement in North America which grants hourly rated workers prepaid drugs for themselves and their dependents.

UAW International representative Harvey Barber said the agreement was contained in a three-year contract renewal covering employes of the Canadian Battery and Bonalite Co., Ltd.

He said the coverage is part of the Green Shield plan of Subscription Service, Inc., and covers all drugs prescribed by doctors.

The only cost to the workers will be 35 cents per prescription which is required of all Green Shield subscribers.

Barber termed the prepaid prescription plan for hourly rated workers "a major break-through which will have its effects on the length and breadth of the labor movement.

"With the cost of drugs becoming prohibitive, the pressure from the rank and file has been rising against this charge for keeping healthy."

The plan was inaugurated in the Windsor area about three years ago on an experimental basis.

Rocket Sled Hits 2,688 M.P.H. on Monorail Track

HOLLOMAN AIR FORCE BASE N.M. (AP)—Two speed records have been shattered by monorail rocket sleds on Holloman's 7-mile test track.

One of the high-speed runs was made by a 2½-ton, 48-foot rocket, composed of three Nike rocket boosters fired in three stages. It reached a speed of 2,650 m.p.h and traveled 5½ miles in 13 seconds.

The second monorail sled was powered by three Javelin rockets, fired simultaneously. In a 25,000-foot run, the sled hit a speed of 2,688 m.p.h—the fastest monorail sled run at the Holoman track.

Old News in Greenville Paper

Furniture Order Story Was on Page 1 Last Fall

GREENVILLE, (AP) — Greenville residents were surprised today at the political storm brought about by disclosure that the Mueller Co. made some furniture for the U. S. Embassy in Venzeula.

The fact that the Mueller Co. was making the furniture at its Greenville plant was detailed in a page one story in the Greenville News early last fall.

The Greenville plant which currently employs only eight persons, operates in a plant which the Greenville Industrial Development Corp. built. Mueller is buying the plant on a time payment contract.

The Mueller concern did not make any payments on its principal in 1959 because of poor business conditions, but resumed them in 1960 and is now even in its payments, a spokesman said

The Mueller concern makes a luxury line of furniture, primarily of magnesium and walnut. It is light weight and is custom designed.

Mueller, which took over the furniture building line in mid-1956, announced at that time that Frederick E. Mueller would head the business and that his father, Commerce Secretary Frederick H. Mueller had no connection with it.

Vote of Confidence Pleases Thurmond

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Sen. Strom Thurmond, 58, grateful for what he called "a magnificent vote of confidence," won the Democratic nomination for another term in the U. S. Senate Tuesday in a landslide.

Thurmond rolled up 242,022 votes to 29,133 for his only opponent, Columbia attorney R. Beverley Herbert, 80, with all but a scattering of the state's 1,602 precincts reporting.

Herbert said when he paid his $1,500 filing fee that he was entering the race largely to gain a sounding board for his contention that Southern senators, including Thurmond, had been doing a poor job of supporting the South's racial views.

Ewing, former vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee who now resides in Chapel Hill, N. C., sent the committee a statement saying Johnsdn is "the ablest man now being considered for the presidency with the maturity of judgment and ability to get things done."

Other new members are J. K. Hodnette, executive vice president of Westinghouse Electric Co., and Mrs. Edward C. Whiteman of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., a former national committeeman from Wisconsin.

NATO Meeting Urged to Plan United Stand

At the conclusion of Canadian Prime Minister DIEFENBAKER's talks with President EISENHOWER, the two heads of state issued a joint communique saying that they "were in agreement on measures which should be taken to maintain the security of the free world."

The prime minister urged a prompt meeting of NATO members in the interests of a more united effort. Although the organization rallied staunchly to the defense of the United States when the summit conference blew up, there are many important questions to be decided on the course to follow. This will require top collective leadership.

Premier KHRUSHCHEV's calculated attacks on the United States have caused the President to warn the Soviet ruler that we are keeping ourselves strong and vigilant and that we have allies who will stand with us. The fact is that KHRUSHCHEV's excessive use of ill-tempered abuse has strengthened Western unity.

It remains to be seen whether "the state of frigid mutual isolation" (as Mr. DIEFENBAKER phrased it), which prevailed in the Stalinist period of East-West relations will be restored. So long as cultural, scientific and tourist exchanges are continued at the present rate, there is hope that such will not be the case.

Workman's Time Not Worth Much in Russia

Those that view the "Russian way of life" with equanimity can well ponder the charts issued by The Conference Board.

In 1959, the average worker in Moscow spent one hour and four minutes to buy a pound of sugar. In New York it took three minutes. A man's shirt required 56 minutes in New York and 15 hours in Moscow. Other items are listed here:

	New York Hours	Moscow Hours
Dress	4.5	73.5
Nylon stockings	.6	8.0
Suit	23.0	275.0
Shoes	5.8	57.5
Butter	.3	3.0
Eggs	.3	2.4
Beef	.3	1.4
Milk	.1	.5
Cigarettes	.1	.5
Bread	.1	.2

Remember, this doesn't have anything to do with money or rates of exchange. The table is based purely on the amount of hours you work to earn enough money to buy the staples listed in the two countries.

Those that are so sympathetic with the Russians and that are so hipped on "their way of life" ought to buy a one way ticket to the land of the Reds and do themselves, Russia and the United States a great, big lifetime favor.

Nation's Small Towns Play Important Role

Small towns are an integral part of the United States and should remain so, according to Senators KARL E. MUNDT (R-ND), MIKE MANSFIELD (D-Mont) and FRANCIS CASE (R-SD).

They declare, and rightly so, that the nation will continue to need the moral responsibility and strength which is nourished in the small towns of this country.

As a result they are sponsoring a bill to appoint a commission to deal with the problems of the small towns and counties of our nation. The bill may have a chance since it is endorsed by several church organizations, because threatened breakup of small communities in these changing times threatens existence of many churches.

Recent census figures definitely prove our living habits across the nation are changing. However, they seem to indicate that the small community is gaining in favor rather than losing out to the large metropolitan areas.

Should their bill pass, perhaps a commission might outline plans to improve and help our many small communities that today are struggling to keep up with the overflow population.

Whether religion should be an issue in this year's political campaigns or not, any aspirant who believes he might profit by doing so will make it an issue.

Six Women Hold Annual Reunion for Past 70 Years

Summer: Officially due next Tuesday—but!?

Six members of the same Sunday School class in Pontiac 70 years ago, when the

was Methodist pastor here, and the Sunday School Superintendent was

C. B. Turner,

today are holding their annual reunion at the home of

Mrs. Carrie Tucker

in Mount Clemens. The other five are

Mrs. Birdie Laidlow, Mrs. Ada Barton, Mrs. Nellie Howell and Mrs. Nellie Montgomery

all of Pontiac, and

Mrs. Minnie Richardson

of Drayton Plains. During those 70 years they've rarely missed holding a reunion every year.

According to that obliging milkman who serves the area,

Bill Wright,

and other residents of the neighborhood, there are four squirrels with white tails in the vicinity of Mechanic and Douglas Streets.

Three peony clumps with 146, 151 and 174 buds and blossoms seem to make of 4125 Middlebelt Road a champion in raising this beautiful flower.

Mrs. Newton Jenkins

Fruit growers in the Pontiac area tell me that the continued cold of the late spring has not affected the blossoms, it never getting down to freezing, and there's every advance indication of a good crop.

The starlings have been pulling up the corn which planted in his garden at Pontiac Lake. In the meantime a pair of them have hatched a brood, and already are teaching the young birds how to do it.

That perennial Tiger fan,

Blair Melrose

of Rochester, says something right up my alley, when he phones that has never been given full credit for what he means to the team.

Digging a litter of young fox out of their lair in the big woods near Enders Hill in the north part of Oakland County, of Oxford, phones that they're mighty cute, but the smell is terrible.

Harley Woolfenden

It is somewhat of a coincidence that

of Waterford passed away at the age of 103 on the same day that

Mrs. Minervia Bartlett

of Bloomfield Hills, formerly of Oxford, attained that age.

The Tiller — and the Savior

David Lawrence Cries Out:

We Must Wake Up to Red Danger

WASHINGTON — Although the secretary of state, Christian A. Herter, has reported to Congress that the government of the United States knows the Soviet government and its Allies have 300,000 spies and subversive agents in 27 Western countries, including the United States. This hasn't attracted much attention even in Congress.

LAWRENCE

While the rise in Communist activity has been going on inside the United States in recent years, the battle to root out subversives has been flagging.

"Student" demonstrations are being boldly organized in an attempt to influence public opinion to demand the abolition of the House Committee on Un-American Activities—an effective means of exposure through publicity that can warn citizens against being duped and misled by the Communist apparatus.

When will the American people wake up to the fact that the biggest danger in the near future isn't a nuclear war, but Communist infiltration?

Just at a time when exposure and full publicity on Communist methods and tactics are most needed, there is a tendency on the part of left-wing groups in this country to give aid and comfort to the Communist cause by trying to frustrate or abolish the only congressional machinery available for investigation and exposure of Communist intrigue in America.

The Communist menace, indeed, has been pooh-poohed in America recently to the point where indifference now takes the place of alertness. The American people have been lulled into a mood of acquiescence. This has been brought about by the attitude of many misguided persons who, though themselves loyal to America, have assailed all efforts to cope with communism as just "McCarthyism."

Conceding that at times some members of Congress have been overzealous or even oversuspicious about Communists, the facts nevertheless show that Communist activity inside the United States is certainly not a myth.

The favorite comment of those who minimize Communist operations is to measure the Communist movement in terms of the relatively few members of the Communist Party itself.

Actually, however, it takes only a few persons to infiltrate and and directly to influence the speeches and comments of persons inside the churches, the labor unions, the press, the theater, the colleges and the government.

Not long ago a "student" demonstration occurred in San Francisco. It got headlines because demonstrators sought to discredit the House Committee on Un-American Activities, which was holding a hearing there.

Members of the Communist Party admittedly helped steer civic and student organizations to participate in these demonstrations.

Unfortunately, some churchmen of the left-wing groups have been assailing the House committee and its hearings.

A group of ministers who actually witnessed the demonstrations in San Francisco against the committee made this statement:

"The shameful demonstration against law and order and against this duly constituted committee of the Congress defies description . . . it is our certain conviction that this indefensible demonstration against law and order was conceived, planned, and directed by a few hard-core Communist agitators who were carrying out their textbook orders on insurrection with classic success. Leaders of the mob included faculty members and well-known leftist lawyers for the Fifth Amendment Communists."

The real story of Communist activity among students in Japan is just emerging. The Tokyo correspondent of "U.S. News & World Report" in a dispatch last week said Japanese security officers were convinced that funds for student demonstrations there had come from Russian reserves built up in Japan through book sales and "cultural tours."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Let Your Youngster Strip to Shorts for the Summer

"Dear Dr. Brady:

"Last year I told you mothers in our neighborhood had started a campaign to keep their below-teenage boys and girls stripped to the waist throughout summer. You printed part of my letter, but unfortunately the school vacation was almost over.

"So I am writing again, earnestly requesting that you urge the health value . . . Our daughters, 8 and 11, will spend the summer with arms, back and chest bare to sun and air and all our neighbors are following the same plan.

"We believe summer is for children to enjoy, and there is no more comfortable and healthy way to enjoy it than stripped to the waist.

"It is bad enough that some boys have to wear shirts, but it is a shame that so many parents are pressured into making their young daughters wear hot, cumbersome upper parts to their clothing in the guise of 'playsuits.'

"In our neighborhood we have found that summer going barefoot and wearing only shorts has toughened our children's bodies so that last winter they had fewer cases of CRI than ever before.

"Your assurance that this is healthful will be a boon to parents who hesitate and especially to children . . . "

Yahbut—will it sell shirts?

You have taken the words out of my mouth, Ma'am. There's just one thing I would add to what you have said—a summer in shorts is both prophylactic and curative treatment for enlarged tonsils.

I urge parents of children whose tonsils are enlarged to tell the ever-ready operators they'll think it over, and while they're thinking it over put the youngsters in shorts and thoroughly neglect them until school opens in the autumn.

Here's a familiar stratagem of the tonsil snatchers when parents are reluctant to consent to the atrocity; they tell 'em it's no wonder the child has so many "colds"—can't expect anything else until those bad tonsils are removed.

Parents have short memories—when the child continues to have those frequent "colds" after tonsillectomy they seldom venture to ask the doctor how come.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Good Will More Important Than Japan's Rearmament

I can appreciate The Press' editorial asking, "Who bombed Pearl Harbor?" That is what seems so incongruous — why does our Government want to pressure the Japanese into being rearmed?

One would judge from the demonstrations of the Japanese people that they do not want arms or military bases, and that they very highly value that clause in their constitution that they never would be armed again. The fact that the majority of the persons taking part in the demonstrations have not committed violent acts would indicate that there are many people sincerely concerned about Prime Minister Kishi's action.

What is dangerous about our not recognizing this popular distaste for war preparations among the people of Japan, is the fact that special cliques seeking power are obviously taking advantage of the peoples' antipathy toward war preparations to gain inroads among the less politically educated and to stir up anti-American feeling.

In times of unrest the positive good will of a people should be more valued than the very doubtful advantage of having them prepared militarily. President Eisenhower's trip is a step to repair this situation. It should be of value to let him know our concern and have our encouragement.

Lack of Robins Due to Spray Insecticides

According to Walter Nickell, naturalist at Cranbrook Museum of Science, the robin is destined to become extinct as the legendary passenger pigeon unless something is done to control spray insecticides.

At Cranbrook about six families of robins were noted every year. This year the pair which came back was found dead with their four baby birds the day after the elms were sprayed for Dutch elm disease. Robins also are poisoned by DDT used to spray for mosquitoes. Being ground feeders they get the poison from the spray as it settles on vegetation.

We are having to make a choice between the inconvenience of mosquitoes and the loss of one of our cheeriest birds whose return we look for as the surest sign of spring. There is a spray which is effective for insect control, but harmless to our birds. Ask your plant supplier about it.

Lawyers Support Feikens' Legal Ability

In The Pontiac Press an article appeared with reference to the Federal Judicial appointment of John Feikens of Detroit. Chad Ritchie is quoted as stating that Mr. Feikens was not legally qualified.

The writers have no interest in the appointment politically or otherwise, but when the legal ability of Mr. Feikens is questioned, we write in defense of the appointee.

Our office has known John Feikens professionally for many years, and with that knowledge we feel that as lawyers we are in a better position to know the qualifications than a political spokesman.

We are pleased to state publicly that Mr. Feikens is an excellent lawyer, possessed of the legal knowledge and judicial temperament to make a fine addition to the District Court of Detroit. We trust his appointment will be confirmed.

Gives Hard Blows to City of Pontiac

I would like to suggest nominations for awards for the following: City of Pontiac — for being the most beautiful and biggest trash receptacle around. I also think Peyton Place has had enough credit and should move over and make room for Pontiac. City Civic Leaders — for being the biggest phonies and blow-hards of all time, also for having the brass to praise Pontiac and the nerve to run a movie about it. The Republican Party — for being the year's prize humpty dumpty when predicting results in November.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Teach Children Honesty at Home

Stealing is typical of babies. For toddlers have no more sense of property rights than dogs or cats. When older people steal, it shows they are emotionally infantile. They haven't matured. Thieves should be forced to wear diapers, for that's the emotional age to which they belong!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE E-487: Sam T., aged 19, has been guilty of numerous instances of petty thievery.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, the police have finally arrested Sam," his mother tearfully informed me. He took some athletic supplies from a sporting goods store.

"But Sam isn't really a bad boy at heart. I have tried to tell him that stealing is wrong, but he is impulsive and when he wants things, he just takes them without thinking.

"What makes a grown young man do such things?"

DIAGNOSIS

Too many parents let their youngsters take toys from neighboring children or from their brothers and sisters, but fail to emphasize property rights.

So the guilty children ultimately develop a habit of taking what they want, without thought of consequences.

When they steal within the home, doting mamma or papa always forgives them. So when they grow old enough to leave the home, they may then continue their thievery.

But the rest of society will not overlook such evidences of juvenility; hence, a policeman soon enters the picture.

The best place to teach a child honesty is thus in his own home and before he even enters kindergarten.

Tell a child that dogs and cats don't know right from wrong. A fence doesn't indicate property rights to such animals. Thus, a dog will jump the barrier and tear up the neighbor's garden.

So, too, a human toddler may walk into the neighbor's yard and pick her choice flowers.

Unless he is quickly taught differently, he may thus form the habit of taking other people's property.

Ultimately, he may walk into a bank with a loaded gun and try to take the money from the cashier.

HIGH CHAIR TO ELECTRIC CHAIR

There is a straight road from the high chair to the electric chair!

You parents who think your youngster is too cute to be punished for his petty thievery at the age of 4 or 5, or who can't bear to see his big tears when you reprimand him, may live to see his tears behind a barred window of a prison cell.

Tactful words are good, but a hairbrush or hickory switch is often more influential in dislodging a youngster from the dangerous highway that leads straight from the high chair to the electric chair.

In dealing with adolescents who still take other people's property, it is wise to point out the infantile nature of their behavior.

For young people intensely dislike being linked with babyhood. They wish to be adults.

Show them, therefore, that babies have no sense of property rights and that toddlers take whatever they can lay their hands on.

This reaction is typical of infancy. But a child of grammar or high school age is emotionally retarded if he continues to steal.

His playmates then will think of him as a baby, not as a "big shot" or mature adult. They'll say he should still be wearing diapers!

This approach is usually more successful than to fall back on religious fiats and the Ten Commandments. For young people can't bear to be looked down on as childish.

Indeed, they often steal in order to win the acclaim of their mates, and to get money for buying friendships through ice cream sodas or movie tickets, sporting goods, etc.

When they realize that their stealing definitely labels them as infantile, they are more likely to remedy their bad habits.

But take them to Sunday school each Sabbath, rain or shine, and get them into the Boy Scouts. Then urge them to be newspaper boys, too.

For it is quite rare to find a thief who has attended Sunday school; been a Boy Scout, and operated his own newspaper route.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

Question: Every spring and fall our house is literally covered with dog hair. Is there anything we can do to curb this?

Answer: The seasons you mention are the natural shedding periods. Fido's winter-weary and summer-soiled coats are shed to make way for his new finery.

With the house dog, this process can be a problem but the shedding period can be hastened. Daily grooming will expedite the shedding and a warm bath will help loosen the dead hair.

Keep your pet away from overheated rooms and registers; heat has a tendency to dry the fur.

Allow him plenty of exercise. Vitamin and fat deficiency also may cause shedding. Food supplements to combat this are available on the market. If abnormal shedding continues, consult your veterinarian.

Corporations Find Money Easier to Pay June Quarter Income Tax

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Today is the day that those who pay their federal income taxes on the instalment plan must ante up the second round. Its also the day that corporations have a similar big date with the Internal Revenue Service.

Usually they borrow heavily from the banks to meet the corportate income tax payment date.

But this time something new has been added. Banks report little upsurge of business borrowing. Corporate treasurers seem to have enough cash on hand to go in the U.S. Treasury weekly bill auction and bid strenuously. The 91-day bill rate fell to a yield of 2.292 and the 182 bill rate to 2.497. It was the fourth straight weekly drop in this prime indicator of short-term interest rate trends.

Money is easier. And interest rates have been falling — most places exept at the commercial banks.

This in time is expected to boost business and to make things more pleasant for individuals wanting to borrow.

But in the case of industry there could be other reasons than current easing of credit why so many corporation treasuries find themselves flush and also why they might prize particularly this week's two treasury bill issue.

MORE WORKING CASH

Reasons given for the stronger cash situation in many businesse include the switch away from inventory buildups, thus tying up less of their money; the drop in profit margins and in earnings, particularly in the current quarter, which may mean that many corporations will have to pay less of an income tax today than they thought when they started planning for it earlier in the year; and possibly that many, looking beyond plans in progress, see less need later on for cash to put into new plant and equipment.

The two Treasury issues this week also have a certain tax allure of their own. One comes due Sept. 15, handy for the next tax payment. The other comes due in time for the Dec. 15 instalment.

The issues thus take the place in the corporate treasuries of the tax anticipation issue which the Treasury has often put out, but didn't this time. The bills will give the companies an return on their money while they get ready for the next tax dates.

The easing of money rates has been going on for some time. Business hasn't had to borrow so much this year from the banks. The Treasury, operating near a Business hasn't had to borrow so it did a year ago when it was running a huge deficit. Home builders haven't been seeking as much mortgage money.

And all this time funds for lending have gone on building up from the usual savings sources and from the pension and other funds. The Federal Reserve Board made the drop in short term interest rates official by cutting its own charge to member banks to 3½ per cent from 4 per cent. In the wake of this cut came further lowering of the rates finance companies pay for loans and yields on other forms of short-term business and bank paper.

The bank themselves have been holding their lending rates at 5 per cent and higher because they say they have most of their lendable funds already at work and that their cash position doesn't encourage further loans, so rate cuts now aren't in order. But outside the banks money is definitely easier.

A Welsh proverb has this cautious advice: Praise the wise man behind his back, but a woman to her face.

Moscow Rulers Sour Night Life in Their City

MOSCOW (AP) — The Moscow City Council banned public carousing, effective today.

In a sweeping ordinance aimed at eliminating the centuries-old practice of drinking in the streets and at public spectacles, the Council established on-the-spot fines for offenders.

The ordinance also ordered singers and musicians to stay off the streets between 11 p.m. and 8 a.m.

And it banned the loud playing of radios and musical instruments between the same hours.

A curfew for school children was included in the new law. Parents may be fined for violations.

Sabotage on Nautilus Reported 2nd Time

KITTERY, Maine (AP) — Another case of apparent sabotage of the nuclear submarine Nautilus was reported Monday night by the Portsmouth Naval Base.

Acting commander Capt. James B. Grady released a statement on behalf of the sub's skipper, Lt. Cmdr. Lando W. Zech, which said a shipyard fire hose had been intentionally cut on June 8.

"An enlisted man may be involved," the statement said.

The hose was used in testing the sub's evaporators, which are used to make fresh water.

Last fall some electrical cables aboard the Nautilus were severed and the Navy called it "intentional damage."

Four More N-Subs Ordered by Navy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy Tuesday ordered construction of four nuclear-powered submarines at a total cost of $85,996,359.

The Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., Groton, Conn., will build three of them for $59,862,606.

The fourth will be built by New York Shipbuilding Corp., Camden, N.J., for $26,133,753.

The Navy said the unit price, $19,354,202, of the submarines to be built by Electric Boat is the lowest ever set for construction of a nuclear-powered attack submarine.

The four undersea craft ordered today are of the Thresher Class, resembling a teardrop in shape and designed for great underwater speed. They are 274 feet long and displace 3,250 tons.

He Uses Prison Help; Suspended as Warden

PATERSON, N.J. (UPI) — Hiram L. Schoonfield has been suspended as warden of the Passaic County Jail while authorities investigate charges he took four inmates from the prison to help build a fence around his home.

Schoonfield said the inmates had been working indoors too long and he wanted to give them "occupational therapy."

With Coexistence Policy

Nikita Seems Winner Over Kremlin Camp

LONDON (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has served notice on the Communist camp and the West that his policy of peaceful coexistence has won out in the Kremlin.

Soviet affairs experts said today this was the essence of two consecutive major policy pronouncements made in official Moscow publications within the past 72 hours.

These sources quoted the official Communist Party newspaper Pravada and the influential party and government organ "Sovetskaya Rossiya" as indicating that Khrushchev's policy of peaceful coexistence has been confirmed by the Kremlin.

The premier, who is the chief exponent of this policy, apparently has emerged as the victor in an argument between extremists and middle-of-the-road Communists in the Kremlin.

Pravada strongly attacked the left-wing "tough line" advocates last Sunday. Sovetskaya Rossiya delivered a similar attack.

The Khrushchev victory was understood to have been the outcome of behind the scenes discussions since the collapse of the summit in Paris last month.

The discussions in the inner circle of the Kremlin were believed to be still in progress in preparation for the important Communist Party Central Committee meeting in Moscow on July 14.

Khrushchev himself, and the highest leaders of the Soviet hierarchy, have persistently dismissed suggestions of divergencies within the Soviet Presidium.

But reports reaching the West have indicated that the Kremlin has been groping for a policy since shortly before the collapse of the summit, although Khrushchev's personal leadership never has been seriously at stake.

Khrushchev now appears to have triumphed over the critics of his coexistence-through-negotiation-with-the-West policy, although they may not agree with his tactics in carrying it out.

The most important feature to emerge from the apparent differences in the Kremlin has been Moscow's firm rebuke against Red China and its tough anti-Western line.

The Peiping regime has been pushing for a policy which, in effect, would mean dropping the peaceful coexistence line and instead taking the risk of war if necessary.

Khrushchev has made it clear to his Red Chinese ally that this policy is not acceptable. To make his stand more impressive he has backed it up with the arguments that Red China's plan conflicts with the teachings of Marxism and Leninism.

Red China's reaction has yet to be heard.

4 Million Cars Produced in '60

U. S. Production Far Ahead of Last Year's Figures to Date

DETROIT (UPI) — More than four million motor vehicles have been produced in the United States since the beginning of the year, the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. reported Tuesday.

The AMA said output since the beginning of the year totaled 4,082,289 on June 11. The figure included 3,428,560 passenger cars, 651,881 trucks and 1,848 buses.

Automotive News also reported the five millionth car of the 1960 model year which began last fall was produced Tuesday.

AMA said the figures for the calendar year compared with production of 3,574,320 units at the same time last year. That figure included 2,981,071 cars, 591,881 trucks and 1,368 buses.

In the past week, the auto industry produced 164,518 vehicles, AMA said. That figure included 139,557 passenger cars and 24,961 trucks and buses.

Princess Anne Will Go to Boarding School

LONDON (UPI) — The Daily Mail reports Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip have decided to send their daughter, Princess Anne, to boarding school next fall.

Princess Anne will be 10 Aug. 15. Up to now she has been tutored at Buckingham Palace with two friends.

The Mail said Princess Anne would be the first daughter of a British sovereign to be sent away to school. It said the name of the school still is secret.

Stevenson Men Work for California Votes

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A group of Adlai E. Stevenson backers seek to get Gov. Edmund G. Brown to put California's big Democratic convention delegation into the Stevenson-for-President ranks.

About 30 Stevenson backers from California spent an hour with the governor Monday, urging him to line up the state's 81-vote delegation behind Stevenson.

Brown committed neither himself nor the delegation.

The 162 delegates, each with half a vote, are pledged to Brown as a favorite son. But Brown can port.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The son of the late actor Guy Kibbee is dead by his own hand, police report.

School Board Meets to Canvass Ballots

The Pontiac Board of Education will meet tonight to canvass the votes of Monday's election which saw Glenn H. Griffin victorious for re-election over his opponent, Willie S. Downes.

The only other item on the agenda is the teachers' salary plan.

The Board is expected to approve a modified wage increase proposal for the city's some 800 teachers.

Urges National Campaign to 'Advertise Advertising'

Charles F. Adams, executive vice president of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., Bloomfield Hills advertising agency, yesterday detailed plans for a nationwide campaign to "advertise advertising" before members of the Poor Richard Club in Philadelphia.

Adams, also a member of the Committee for the Improvement of Advertising Content of the American Assn. of Advertising Agencies, proposes that newspaper and magazine publishers donate space to sell advertising to the American public.

"My proposal is that the best minds in the agency business should donate their time and talent to create advertising that puts our business in the proper light and then spend their money to produce it — and that those who own our nation's more responsible publications should donate their space to run it," Adams said.

"I know that publishers feel they are too frequently called on for free space. But I honestly believe they should put this request in a category by itself.

ALL MUST PARTICIPATE

"I believe that if the job of advertising ourselves is to be done properly, it will have to be done by all of us.

"By all of us, I mean the agency people who know how to create the advertising and the media people who have at their disposal the means to put it before the public.

"For after all, aren't our futures interdependent and inseparable?

"Where will the agency people be if there are no publishers and producers? And where will the publishers and producers be with out advertising?

"We're in the same boat — on the same river—and we need both paddles to keep going."

CHARLES F. ADAMS

Urges Support for Party's Pick

Rocky Wants GOP to Win Election, He Tells Committee

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, still available for a draft himself, urges New York Republicans to back whoever gets the presidential nomination.

At a $100-a-plate state committee dinner Tuesday night, the governor said: "I want us to do everything possible to see to it that when they add up the score to determine who shall succeed our great president, Dwight Eisenhower, New York's crucial 45 electoral votes will be in the Republican column."

He made no mention of his party's front runner, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, whom he has called on to speak more fully on major issues to improve Republican prospects in the election.

Rockefeller will lead his state's uncommitted delegation to the national convention in Chicago next month.

A party meeting Tuesday chose Rockefeller as one of 10 delegates-at-large to fill out the state's 96-vote bloc, the most any state will have in the 1,331 total. His election as chairman of the delegation followed.

Conspicuously absent from the delegation will be Thomas E. Dewey, twice his party's unsuccessful candidate for president.

Dewey sent word he would be in Europe. But his decision not to attend the convention raised talk that he opposed Rockefeller's recent criticisms of Nixon.

L. Judson Morhouse, a Rockefeller supporter, was elected to a record fourth term as chairman of the Republican State Committee.

Proposes $1.3 Billion for Housing Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Banking Committee today recommended a $1,365,000,000 housing program which proponents said would encourage the building and buying of homes.

The committee action came right on the heels of a report from the Federal Housing Administration which showed an unexpected drop in May in the number of new homes started with federal financing.

Convict Balks at Boxing Quiz

'Banker' Cites Threats if He 'Spills Beans' to Senators

WASHINGTON (AP) — The imprisoned banker of the New York underworld testified today he had been threatened if he gave testimony at a Senate inquiry into skullduggery in boxing.

Irving Mishel, brought here from Clinton State Prison, Dannemora, N. Y., balked at answering questions about his financial dealings with underworld characters in boxing.

Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) presiding over hearings by the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, told Mishel he had no legal right to refuse to testify because of fear of reprisals.

Mishel then invoked the Fifth Amendment's protection against self-incrimination.

Mishel said he was a "threatened with violence" while held in the New York house of detention. He didn't say when this occurred.

Mishel told of being threatened when asked whether he knew Frankie Carbo, convicted in New York of underground boxing activities.

Mishel said he wouldn't answer that question or any others because he had been threatened.

Reach Tentative Douglas Peace

Comes Hours After 2 Unions Halt Missiles There and at Lockheed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two powerful unions struck Lockheed and Douglas, builders and launchers of key United States missiles and satellites, today. Hours later a tentative agreement was announced in the Douglas walkout.

The massive strikes by the International Assn. of Machinists and United Auto Workers hit installations across the country at midnight local times.

But the UAW and Douglas, in a joint statement, announced shortly after 3 a.m. that continuous negotiating sessions had brought a tentative agreement on a new two-year contract covering 22,000 hourly-rated employes at Long Beach, Calif., and Tulsa, Okla.

Talks on local issues at Charlotte, N.C., where Douglas also has a plant, continued.

Terms of the settlement were undisclosed pending membership meetings. The proposal still must be ratified by union members.

The agreement appeared to break the vise-like grip which a series of labor disputes was closing on the United States space and missile program.

Another 10,000 IAM machinists started a strike of several Lockheed aircraft facilities today and promptly set up picket lines.

In separate action, IAM already has picketed Air Force bases for several days where Convair, another of the industry's giants, has Atlas missile facilities.

The strikes at midnight hit factories producing high priority hardware for the nation's defense armory:

The Army's nuclear armed Douglas Nike Hercules anti-aircraft missile, now operational and on Nike sites at major U.S. cities.

The Navy's fleet ballistic missile, the submarine-launched Lockheed Polaris, which the Navy says should be operational by the end of the year.

Three Lockheed-built Air Force satellites — the Discoverer research vehicle, the Samos reconnaissance satellite and the missile-launch detection spy, Midas.

Waterford Man Hurt in Telegraph Crash

A Waterford Township man, Charles R. Kelly, 27, of 3383 Carman St., was injured last night when his car smashed into the rear end of another car that had run out of gas in the center of N. Telegraph road, near W. Huron street, according to township police.

The owner of the parked car, Mrs. Francis Robinson of 153 Euclid St., told police that she left the car lights on when she went to a nearby gasoline station for help in moving her car.

Kelly was taken to Pontiac General Hospital with chest injuries and head cuts. His condition is satisfactory today, the hospital said.

States from Pembrokeshire in South Wales were used on the original roof of the British House of Commons, destroyed in World War II.

New Products Showing High Rate of Failure

NEW YORK (UPI)—New products are hitting the market at the rate of 26 a day—but failing at the rate of 23 a day, according to Design Sense, a publication of industrial designers Lippincott & Margulies, Inc.

The magazine called for better research of all types in the 1960s to reduce "this alarmingly high incidence of product failure."

The first state to abolish capital punishment was Michigan in 1847.

Tax Trial Misfires at Kellys' Surgeon

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The income tax evasion case of a prominent surgeon who flew to Switzerland last year to perform an appendectomy on Princess Grace of Monaco ended Tuesday night in a mistrial.

A jury of eight men and four women were unable to reach a verdict in the case of Dr. James A. Lehman, who with his wife, Adelaide, was charged with evading $384,000 in income taxes over a five-year period ending in 1957.

Defense Attorney Thomas D. McBride asked a motion of acquittal for both defendants. U. S. Dist. Judge Harold K. Wood said he would hear arguments June 27.

Last month Lehman performed surgery on John B. Kelly, father of Princess Grace, the former Grace Kelly of movie fame. Kelly was a character witness for Lehman at the trial.

Strength Lies in Old Age

New Orleans Reflects Life of Past

horns still blare out the blues and the aging oaks still peer down on the duelling grounds grounds of New Orleans, a city that has been growing old gracefully for 200 years and seems shocked by the inroads of modern life.

New Orleans, once the scarlet lady of the new world and still bewitching enough to attract thousands of visitors annually, probably has changed less over the years than any other major city in the United States.

In fact, in the French Quarter you have to get a permit to change the outside of a building in any manner.

But the march of time has wrought changes.

The most readily apparent one is the new civic center, a glassy collection of modern architecture housing city and many state offices in several buildings.

The rest of the city, however, seems to shrink away from these tall, narrow structures with their grassy lawns, like a haughty old lady pulling in her skirts from brash children.

New Orleans has accepted gratefully many of the more necessary improvements brought about by the demands of modern life, but these are of the heart and working organs, and lie hidden behind a face of European antiquity.

There is little aura of decay about New Orleans; the feeling rather is one of carefully preserved old age which can still kick up its heels higher than most other cities, and does nightly.

The golden horns blare on Bourbon Street, the major tourist attraction, just as they did years ago on Basin Street when jazz was being born, but Bourbon leers with a laugh and not a sordid snarl and herein lies an example of the change New Orleans has undergone.

Basin Street was the heart of Storyville, the most famous redlight district the world has ever known. It offered glittering, expensive brothels and disease-ridden streetwalkers. The Navy caused it to be closed during World War I when it found Basin Street was swallowing too many of its sailors.

It was replaced by Bourbon Street, in the heart of the French Quarter, with its glittering lights, howling jazz and wide expanses of frantically bumping and grinding flesh to be heard and seen, through nearly every doorway. But it is not vice with a capitol "V," as Basin Street was.

Tourists swarm over the rest of the Quarter, too, peering at the historical shrines that lurk on every block. Here, to change the facade of a building, its owner must get a special permit from the Vieux Carre Commission, a state agency charged with preserving the antiquity of the section.

Across famed Canal Street is the Garden District, where huge 30-room mansions built in the old days glower at gawking tourists. Some are inhabited by the wealthy descendants of the builder and others falling into disrepair.

And out Canal from the river is another symbol of the unchanging city — the Cemetery District. Here row upon row of mausoleums look like miniature streets. Like the Garden District, some are kept up beautifully and others are overgrown with weeds.

For well over a hundred years bodies had to be buried above ground in New Orleans, one of the wettest, most humids towns in North America. And the practice is still adhered to, for the most part, although it is no longer necessary. But Orleanians like to keep up tradition.

Most of New Orleans is below sea level, and in years gone by was subjected repeatedly to inundation by the rains which fall, at times, every day for weeks on end. In fact, most of New Orleans was at one time or another a swamp, populated only by alligators, snakes and mosquitos.

One of the most beneficial signs of modern times is the vast system of pumps scattered through the city, which drain off most of the rainfall with little trouble. The pumps, if going at capacity, could drain a good-sized lake in a matter of hours.

Changing times have provided huge parks and playgrounds for the city, but they have erected no skyscrapers. Progress has moved city officials to talk hopefully of installing a monorail system, but in the meantime you can still ride up and down Canal in rickety, ancient old streetcars and go anywhere in the city by bus for seven cents.

Two shiny bridges have been built to span the wide Mississippi, but if you're not on a hurry you still can ride across on a wallowing old ferryboat for a dime.

Industry has moved into the city in a steady flow, but artists still paint in the streets. New Orleans has a giant modern supermarket as big as a city block, but housewives in the French Quarter can still haggle for creole tomatoes at the bustling old French Market.

You can take a tour of the city in an air-conditioned bus, or you can go to a masquerade ball in the Quarter in a creaking surrey driven by an equally creaky Negro in top-hat.

Again Wooing Algeria Rebels

De Gaulle Reaffirms His Self-Determination Policy in Speech

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle made another conciliatory gesture toward the Algerian nationalist rebels Tuesday night, but it was too early to tell whether his move would lead to a break in the fighting.

First reactions to the president's radio-TV speech were generally favorable—except from the right wingers who want France to maintain her firm hold on the Algerian administration.

De Gaulle reaffirmed his policy of self-determination for Algeria after the fighting ends. He again asked the nationalist leaders to come to Paris to discuss a cease-fire.

He promised that "everybody, yes everybody" will be able to take part in "discussions which will fix the conditions of the referendum, the electoral campaign and the control of the vote."

This has been one of the touchy points with the Algerian nationalist leadership. They have been unwilling to order their troops to stop fighting without assurances they would be able to help set conditions for the self-determination referendum.

There are now some 20,000 Catholic priests in the United States, according to Catholic Digest. Additionally, 3,500 American priests are serving as missionaries in foreign lands.

Drug Firms to Work on Cancer Substance

LANSING (UPI)—The State Administrative Board Tuesday authorized agreements with three commercial drug firms to develop a substance developed by the Health Department which proved successful against certain forms of cancer in mice and other rodents.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams, chairman of the Board's antibiotic committee, said the product, called alpha sarcin, had not been tried on humans.

But he said a process for production and purification of alpha sarcin was developed, and the material had inhibited growth of 13 different types of malignant animal tumors.

Letters of agreement with Abbott Laboratories, the Parke-Davis Co., and Upjohn Co. were expected to lead to further development of the substance, testing and possible production in volume.

Flier's Whereabouts Remains a Mystery

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The disappearance of aviator Peter Gluckmann over the Pacific seven weeks ago today remained a mystery and the U.S. Coast Guard said it is without further clues.

Gluckmann, who vanished while attempting a nonstop flight from Tokyo to New York, was last heard from April 27 by a U.S. Coast Guard vessel between Tokyo and Midway Island.

A day later the Coast Guard said it was "getting worried" about the 34-year-old flier, and that it had no concrete reports of his whereabouts. However, officials recalled that Gluckmann had not been heard from on previous flights, but had turned up unscathed.

John Cabot, British explorer, was really an Italian. He originally was Giovanni Caboto of Genoa.

Congressmen Work Overtime on Parking Barb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who should tend the capital city's parking meters, police or civilians? Congress, which serves as Washington's City Council, is embroiled in the problem.

Two months ago, Congress authorized the hiring of 26 civilians to check the meters. The city now is screening 390 applicants.

But last Thursday Chairman John L. McMillan (D-SC) of the House district committee introduced a bill to block the program. Without a hearing, his committee reported the bill Friday. It passed the House Monday and now goes to the Senate.

No one has announced why the House changed its mind about the program. But Lt. Edward H. Ring, head of the policemen's association, said the policemen who normally tend the meters want the civilian program stopped and "have a lot of friends" on Capitol Hill.

Police Lodge Elects Saginaw Detective

SAGINAW (AP) — Detective Sgt. Thomas G. Beffrey of Saginaw was elected president of the Michigan Fraternal Order of Police Tuesday. He has been serving as vice president. Detective Herbert Adams of Flint was chosen vice president.

Other officers are: Norbert Jablonski, Hamtramck, re-elected secretary-treasurer; Russell Mainville, Alpena, re-elected conductor; Isaac Dekraker, Holland, elected guard.

Named as trustees were Lt. Alvin Bridges, Bay City and Det. Sgt. Oliver Slater, Benton Harbor, both re-elected; L. B. Plough Jr., Muskegon, Earl Buckius, Wyandotte, and Ronald Pattison, Warren.

Attending the two-day meeting were delegates from 36 lodges of the order in Michigan.

He Pays His Debt but Not to Bank

HAXTON, Colo. (AP)—A 79-year-old man wrote the Farmers' State Bank asking if he could still pay off a $300 note he'd signed before he left Haxtun in the 1920s.

* * *

There was one hitch: the bank went out of business 37 years ago.

The money was turned over to the Haxtun Community Hospital.

U.S.S. INDEPENDENCE

Carrier Sailors Dedicated Lot

By JOHN W. FITZGERALD
Editor, Pontiac Press

From an editor's notebook aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Independence: Now and then in travel one meets men who are doing jobs which only the dedicated will do. Such is the case of the 4,200 men that man this giant floating airport.

The vastness of this ship is unique in many respects. It is inconceivable for the average landlubber to imagine what some of our postwar servicemen are doing.

Along with a dozen or so guests which included J. Alf Hubbard, President of the Hubbard Spring Co. in Pontiac, I had the privilege of viewing actual task force operations for three days and nights, 250 miles off Cape Hatteras in the Atlantic Ocean.

On this particular maneuver the task force was made up of 12 destroyers, an oil ship, a submarine and one other carrier, the Intrepid.

The USS Independence is the Navy's newest attack carrier and became the flagship in September 1959 for Carrier Division Two. The cost of the Independence was 270 million dollars and with the 100 or so planes in the air group aboard it was estimated that the 4.1 acre airport represented close to a half billion dollars.

This sounds fantastic until you see it first hand. Then you realize it is not conventional, but rather a very, very special striking force for nuclear weapons.

The young men, and some are just boys, that man this ship and fly the planes, could well be likened to a football team. Everyone's job consists of making it possible for the airplanes to fly off the ship and return to the flight deck.

WORK IS MAGNIFICENT

Establishing this teamwork is a cooperative mission that they are all equally dedicated to. To list all the various jobs and the many unsung workers would take too much space. But from personal experience I can attest to the fact that their work is magnificent.

The ship was operating under the direction of Rear Adm. Ray C. Needham, USN, commander Carrier Division Two and Capt. James W. O'Grady, USN, commanding officer. Capt. O'Grady was responsible for the operation of the Independence and Adm. Needham was the commander in charge of the task force.

In order to get some idea of the size of this vessel it is said that if it were turned on end, it would reach the 80th floor of the Empire State Building in New York City.

After walking the length several times and climbing the various ladders to the seven decks it feels like you had just played 18 holes of golf.

Aircraft carriers are in effect mobile air bases having all the facilities of a land base, but the protective mobility of a fast moving ship. In a 24-hour period the Independence is capable of constantly changing movement in excess of 600 miles.

The ship is fast, capable of 35 knots and self-sufficient for months at sea. The Independence, like her sister ships, are able to launch planes faster than any other type carrier in the world.

The four aircraft catapults are powered by steam from the ship's boilers and are capable of launching four planes approximately every 38 seconds. Her powerful hydraulic arrestors (this is the means of stopping a plane on the flight deck) will stop 70,000-pound jets 150 feet after they hit the deck at better than 100 m.p.h.

FINE FACILITIES

No ship ever has had such facilities and comforts as the crew of this class carrier. Each man has an individual pullman type berth with foam rubber mattress and reading lamp. Every berthing area has its own showers as well as its own recreation room.

The entire ship is air conditioned and this is a far cry from frills since it would be impossible to work otherwise. The amount of air conditioned air available is sufficient to supply twenty theaters the size of Radio City Music Hall.

Like any other branch of the service the Independence sails and flies on food. For example, the kitchen will prepare 10,500 meals daily. Food shaping machines make 2,499 hamburgers an hour, coffee urns make 40 cups a minute, potato peeler peels 1,000 spuds an hour, garbage disposal unit handles 4,800 pounds of garbage an hour.

Like any other city of 4,000 the ship has many facilities. Listed here are a few: post office, bakery, motion pictures, shoe repair shop, library, barber shop, butcher shop, tailor shop, basketball court, volleyball court, sheet metal shop, copper shop, electric shop, blacksmith shop, operating room, air conditioning, oxygen plant, laundry, ice cream plant, 44-bed hospital, dental lab and dry cleaning plant.

Last but not least are the fly boys. They do the actual flying and maintaining of the aircraft aboard the carrier. They are aptly named the "Tigers" on this particular ship. And believe me they live up to their name every day in this hazardous type of flying.

AIRCRAFT MAKE-UP

Included in the 100 planes aboard the Independence are the A3D, the Navy's heavy all-weather bomber. Also A4D attack planes, a squadron of AD6 propeller-driven attack aircraft, an all-weather fighter squadron, equipped with the F3H Demon or F4D Skyrays and a day fighter squadron, using the F11F Tiger or F8U Crusader.

Additional detachments of jet photo aircraft, propeller and antisubmarine warfare and airborne early warning aircraft and two helicopters normally supplement this group. Many of these planes are capable of better than 1,000 m.p.h.

Wind is necessary to land and take off the aircraft, which is one of the reasons the carrier can travel at 35 knots. This makes it possible in a dead calm to take off and land planes since the carrier can generate it's own wind.

A great deal of the time at sea the deck crews and men working the catapults are working in winds of 40 to 50 m.p.h. This would be considered normal conditions.

The "Tigers" or pilots are assisted to the flight deck from ready rooms by two electric stairs (escalators) which travel 120 feet a minute, to carry the pilots from the second deck.

Their flying suits which include all weather gear, and pressurized clothing are heavy and would make walking slow, plus the men would be tired out by the time they reach their planes.

Landing and hitting the 150 feet or so where the arrestors are located at the stern of the ship is an art in itself. But these boys do it with accurate precision and for the most part never miss. A bad miss can be costly in both manpower and equipment.

The night flying is the real danger and often very difficult since the flight deck can be moving up and down at the rate of 40 or 50 feet with a rolling sea.

When the planes are making their approach and coming in for a night landing every last man aboard ship that is not actually engaged in work is eagerly watching the recovery (plane landing on deck) with a lump in his stomach.

The expectation and the thrill of seeing these huge jet bombers come out of the night and head toward the deck is an experience you never forget. All sailors unanimously agree the "Tigers" earn every cent of their extra flying pay. And we'll have to agree.

Argentina Asking U.N. to Take Eichmann Issue

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Argentina today is asking the U.N. Security Council to take up its charge that an Israeli group's removal of Adolf Eichmann violated Argentine sovereignty.

Israel stood firm in its refusal to return the former Nazi official charged with helping to direct the extermination of six million Jews during World War II.

Eichmann will be tried by an Israeli court, the legal adviser to the Israeli foreign minister declared in Jerusalem, rejecting suggestions that an international tribunal judge the accused war criminal.

Israel claimed that a volunteer group, acting without the Israeli government's knowledge, captured Eichmann in Buenos Aires last month and that he agreed voluntarily to go to Israel to face trial. Argentina rejected the explanation.

Informed sources said the Argentine government decided to ask for a special Security Council meeting after Israeli Foreign minister Golda Meir and Mario Amadeo, Argentine ambassador to the U.N., discussed the dispute for two hours Tuesday without reaching agreement.

Mrs. Meir later told newsmen the meeting was friendly but refused to give details.

There was some speculation the talks might be continued on a higher level. Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and Argentine President Arturo Frondizi are both touring Europe. It is possible they may meet in Belgium or France next week.

In Jerusalem, Israeli legal adviser Shabtai Rosenne said Eichmann would be tried on the basis of the joint declaration by the Soviet, U.S. and British governments on Oct. 30, 1943, that "Nazi war criminals may be tried and punished by the peoples whom they have outraged."

Rosenne said that even Argentina realizes that Eichmann had entered that country under a false name, with false documents, and that his stay there was never legalized.

Regarding the claim that Eichmann should be tried by an international tribunal, Rosenne said all war crimes tribunals had been dissolved more than 10 years ago and that even efforts by the U.N. General Assembly and special U.N. committees in 1951 and 1953 had failed to restore them.

House Approves Bill Granting D.C. Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House yesterday approved with only minor opposition a constitutional amendment that would let residents of the nation's capital vote for the first time in presidential elections.

The amendment now goes to the Senate which passed a three-part version earlier this year which also would outlaw the poll tax in federal elections and allow governors to appoint House members in case of atomic attack.

The Senate was expected to accept the House amendment providing only for a vote for Washingtonians.

The amendment could not take effect in time to let citizens here vote in the November elections. It must be ratified by the legislatures of at least 38 states before it becomes part of the constitution.

Can Raise Fish Aboard Space Ship

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — A research team has found that it would be possible to raise food fish aboard space ships, feeding them on materials produced from body wastes.

The fish would grow in water already being used to raise algae or seaweed and no great increase in volume or weight would be involved.

The experiment was reported to the Ecological Society of America Tuesday by Dr. Frieda B. Traub of the University of Washington.

Dr. Traub and her associates began more than a year ago to raise a species of African mouthbreeder in a tank already producing chorella, a type of algae which produces large quantities of oxygen as well as a type of protein which can be used as human or animal food. Light provides the energy for making the algae grow.

The African mouth-breeder is raised widely in ponds fertilized with human or animal waste matter and is a food item in some parts of the world. The female fish hatches her young by keeping the fertilized eggs in her mouth. They hatch in about 10 days. The fish grows to sardine size in about three months.

The test was undertaken, Dr. Traub said, to determine how much fish could be produced in a given length of time by hitting upon the right concentration of animal waste added to the water.

Kennedy Statements 'Phony'

Nixon Willing to Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) wants a great debate on America's strength in a seething world, and Vice President Richard M. Nixon evidently is willing to take him on.

Kennedy told the Senate Tuesday he hopes the two presidential candidates spend their energies this fall debating world problems.

He said the dialogue of the campaign should be based on "how we can develop sufficient national strength to meet our goals and to protect our security."

Nixon was not present in the Senate as Kennedy delivered his foreign policy speech, but the vice president can be expected to dispute Kennedy's premise. He already has rejected as a "phony idea" the Democratic contention that the United States ranks second to the Soviet Union in military strength.

Nixon is virtually assured the Republican nomination for president, and has indicated he expects Kennedy to be his Democratic opponent.

In his speech, Kennedy pounded the theme that the Eisenhower administration has failed to build "the positions of long-term strength essential to successful negotiations" with the Soviets.

Kennedy drew the largest gallery crowds to the Senate in weeks. About two-thirds of the spectators were women.

But less than a fourth of the Senate turned out to hear him and only one Republican, Sen. Homer Capehart of Indiana joined in the desultory questioning that followed.

Capehart said Kennedy offered "nothing new in the way of solutions to world problems which he said the Eisenhower administration had inherited from the Democrats.

Then he said Kennedy was raising false hopes abroad by "promising the world with a fence around it to all the peoples of the world."

"I don't know where we're going to get the money to do it," Capehart said.

Later, after Kennedy had left the chamber, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the Massachusetts senator had been guilty of bad timing and bad judgment "because his speech sounded like an attack on the President while he was out of the country and at the very time he was moving into an explosive area."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), who was shouldered out of the presidential nomination race by two primary defeats at the hands of Kennedy, said he thinks the Massachusetts senator has picked the campaign subject closest to Americans' hearts — national security.

Humphrey said Kennedy's speech was "one I can embrace and find very reassuring."

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant majority leader, who is supporting Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas for the presidential nomination, said Kennedy showed in the speech "a maturity and courage he has always shown in the field of domestic policy as well."

Empire State Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York state's population increased 1,765,315 in 10 years and now stands at 16,596,307, the Census Bureau reports. The bureau said Tuesday preliminary figures from the 1960 count showed the increase of 11.9 per cent.

Abby Says: You Need Practice!

Think Thrice Before You Talk

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is the matter with me? I can't keep my big mouth shut. I don't mean to spill the beans, but before I know it, I have told something I promised I wouldn't tell. I am always in trouble because of this fault.

ABBY

"I have prayed to the Lord to guard my mouth and I have even told my friends not to tell me any secrets, but it hasn't helped. People just naturally tell me things and I just naturally talk.

Can you tell me how to get over this terrible fault? I really want to.

BIGMOUTH

DEAR BIGMOUTH: Most people "spill the beans" because they need the feeling of importance that comes with being first with all the news.

Only small people need this dubious claim to fame. Think twice before you speak. Then, think a third time, and remain silent.

DEAR ABBY: I was shocked to read in your column a message wishing "good luck" to a couple of first cousins who wanted to marry.

Please correct me if I'm wrong, but I always thought if first cousins married there was a 50-50 chance that their children would not be normal.

MRS. J. D. N.

DEAR MRS. J. D. N.: That old fishwives' tale has been around for many years. The truth is this: If there is an hereditary disease (or a tendency toward it) in a family, and two members of that family mate, the "bad" genes can be doubly multiplied in their offspring. The same holds true for "good" genes, however.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's neice was married at a lovely church wedding. We attended the wedding and sent as nice a gift as we could afford. That was over a year ago and not one word was ever mentioned about our gift—no written note or even a verbal "thank you."

When I saw our gift in her apartment (it was a beautiful $14 Bible), I told her I was glad to see that she received it. They acted as though it were nothing.

This same niece just bought a new home and sent out an announcement saying, "Come to see our new home" and she added at the bottom, "My kitchen is pink and gray if you want to bring something."

Where do people get this kind of nerve? My husband says we have to go and we have to take her a gift. He is the type who is close to his family and hates any disagreements. Should we go and bring a gift?

BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED UP: If it means that much to your husband . . . go, and take a gift. Suggestion: The girl could use a book on etiquette.

DEAR ABBY: I took your advice and asked a girl to the prom. She turned me down. I asked another girl and got turned down again. All boys can't be best lookers and best dancers. Boys have hearts, too. If you print this, I'll feel better and so will other boys who have also been—

Calling You by 1st Name Not Right

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a young married neighbor who has been living next door to us for the past six months. She is a very friendly person and I have gotten to know her quite well.

The other evening while my husband and I were sitting in our yard she came over to talk to us. I was quite surprised when she called me by my first name. Heretofore she always called me "Mrs. Jones."

"I felt that if I allowed her to call me Mary soon other neighbors would follow suit and I don't want to encourage this practice.

After she had gone my husband said that he thought I was extremely rude and is sure this neighbor considers me an unmitigated snob. Will you please tell me if I was rude?

Answer: Although your neighbor was wrong in calling you, an older woman, by your first name without having been asked to do so, it would have been more tactful of you to have continued calling her Mrs. Brown instead of telling her not to use your first name.

If she then did not take the hint and continued calling you 'Mary,' you could then have told her that perhaps you are terribly old-fashioned, but you prefer to keep that name for a few lifelong friends.

Dear Mrs. Post: We have a controversial issue in our family and would like you to help settle it. We serve both grapefruit and oranges cut in half, to be eaten with a spoon. When one is finished, is it considered good table manners, especially for training children, to pick up the half with one hand and squeeze the remaining juice into the spoon?

One faction believes if done neatly, it is quite all right; others feel you simply do the best you can with the spoon and that's all. Your opinion will be appreciated.

Answer: It is right to take all the juice you can in the spoon, but it is not good table manners to lift the orange or grapefruit in the hand and squeeze the remaining juice into the spoon.

Candlelight Vows Told

Leave for Niagara Falls

MRS. JOSEPH R. TINSON

After candlelight vows were repeated before the Rev. Edmond J. Watkins Saturday evening in Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church, the Joseph Raymond Tinsons left for Niagara Falls and the eastern states.

The former Phebe Annette Henderson, daughter of Mrs. Charles E. Henderson of Fourth avenue and the late Mr. Henderson, was given in marriage by her brother, Charles E. Henderson Jr.

White Alencon lace over tulle and satin fashioned the bouffant bridal gown. The molded bodice featured a sabrina neckline and long hand-tapered sleeves. Deep ruffles of the lace formed tiers which cascaded into a chapel sweep.

The bride carried white roses and lilies-of-the-valley on a white Bible. A fingertip veil of French illusion was caught by a beaded tiara.

Flower girl, Claudia June Traver in white dotted Swiss organdy over pale pink wore a headband of fresh flowers. Terry Snider of Marysville, Ohio, was ring-bearer, at their aunt's wedding.

Harry Tinson stood as best man for his brother, and another brother James ushered. They are the sons of Mrs. James W. Hutchings, of Orion Township and H. K. Tinson of Drayton Plains. The bride's nephew Charles Henderson also seated the guests with James Scarborough and Charles Bradshaw.

Entertaining at prebridal showers were Mrs. E. A. Tate, Mrs. Harry Tinson, Mrs. James Tinson, Mrs. Charles Bradshaw and Mrs. Casey.

Maloney-Looney Rites Held

Wed in Church Chancel

The chancel of the First Church of the Nazarene was decked with vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, potted palms and candelabra for the double-ring nuptials of LaVern Patsy Looney and Richard Madison Maloney.

The Rev. Kenneth Hutchinson, former pastor, read the Saturday evening ceremony, assisted by the Rev. J. E. VanAllen.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthew Looney of Stirling avenue, hosted their daughter's reception in Central Methodist Church.

Preceding the bride to the altar was her sister Mrs. Jack Ferrel as matron of honor, attired in a sleeveless blue silk taffeta Empire-waisted princess dress. Blue metallic net fashioned the full-sleeved jacket.

Wearing identical dresses were the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Naomi Maloney Key of University Park, Iowa, in Nile green, and Goldie May Maloney, in pink. Mrs. Key designed and made the dresses for the bride and senior attendants.

Kay Lynn Looney, her sister's junior attendant, wore orchid silk organza over matching taffeta. All carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations, Jill Riddle, in white embroidered organdy, carried a basket of daisies and red rose petals.

The princess style bridal gown of white silk taffeta featured a lace bodice accented with sequins and seed pearls. Long lace sleeves were fastened with tiny pearl buttons. The beaded embroidery detail extended from the Empire waistline to the floor-length hemline in the back.

The Queen Anne tiara of lace and sequins held a fingertip veil of pure silk illusion. Resting on the bride's satin-covered Bible was an arrangement of stephanotis and ivy surrounding a white orchid.

Paul Maloney assisted his brother as best man. They are the sons of the Harold Maloneys of Carter street. Jack Ferrel seated the guests. Bill Kurz and Gary Print were candlelighters.

Before starting an outdoor meal, fill a toy water pistol with water. It will come in handy in putting out unwanted flames from dripping juices.

Match Your Ensemble

Whole Sum of All Parts

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is the whole picture or the ensemble, which counts. People don't pick us to pieces but only notice the general impression of beauty and/or charm (or lack of it) which we give. Only those who love us remember vividly our individual features and the details of our costumes and make-up.

There is nothing more glaringly unattractive than a clash of colors in make-up and clothes. For instance a bright red lipstick and a purple dress or an orange lipstick with pink gown, actually can cause goose-pimples, the effect is so irritating.

This has been a very colorful spring, with garments of varying and subtle shades. There have been many new fabrics which have undertones of blue, such as some pinks, violet, orchid, lilac, mauve and so forth.

These absolutely must have just the right color in lipstick and nail polish. Fortunately the cosmeticians have come to our rescue with shades in lipstick and nail polish planned for just such clothes.

Colors such as carnation, dandelion and different shades of greens also have been most popular and so the cosmetic profession has created lines to match. The correct color is absolutely essential if the costume is not to be ruined.

Many women fail to realise what a great difference this can make in appearance. A flattering color is enhancing. Use it in your clothes and your make-up.

Strange as it may seem women sometimes fail to match their lipstick and their nail polish. Today this almost always can be done and some manufacturers bring out the same colors in stick and polish simultaneously

One of the best known cosmeticians has just produced a vacation kit for your convenience. It contains six different items and comes in small sizes, just enough to last through the usual vacation time.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Planning Coothes to Suit Figure and Personality" send your request for leaflet No. 54 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

The era of the famed frontier postal service will be revived by members of the Rochester 4-H Trail Blazers to serve a two-fold purpose.

It will mark the 100th anniversary of the Pony Express and also serve to promote the Trail Blazers' Horse Show July 9 and 10.

The riders will start from the Rochester Post Office at 9 a.m. July 2 on the first leg of their circuit to Pontiac and back. In Pontiac they will deliver greetings and an invitation to the horse show to Mayor Philip E. Rowston and other "mail" from the Rochester Post Office.

On their return trip the riders will carry the mayor's response to Rochester's Village President Sydney Q. Ennis.

Ten to 12 different riders will relay the "mail" on the round trip which will take about four hours. The route will be west on University drive, then on Mt. Clemens street into the City of Pontiac.

The Trail Blazers are planning the horse show to raise money for college scholarships for their membership. They hope to raise about $2,000.

The show will take place on the northwest corner of John R. and Auburn roads. It will be a recognized western show with some 400 entries and 42 classes.

Rochester merchants are donating the prizes and trophies, while those in the downtown area join in promoting the event by awarding special prizes on "Pony Express Day."

Officers of the Trail Blazers, which is open to boys and girls between 10 and 21 years of age, are Ron Almas, president; Anne Johnson, vice president, and Joe Kocor, treasurer. Charles Becker is their adviser.

Milford Studies Village Projects

Engineers Recommend Paving, Curbs, Gutters and Sewers

MILFORD — A $300,000 capital improvement program recommended by village engineers is being studied by officials here.

A special meeting will be called within two weeks to discuss the projects.

The program calls for the paving of four and a half miles of streets, the construction of curbs and gutters and three storm sewers.

Cost of the paving project is estimated at $154,000, curb and gutter installation, $87,000, and sewers, $65,000.

The storm sewers would be constructed in the south end and northeast section of the village.

Council authorized the consulting engineering firm of Hubbell, Roth and Clark to prepare the report last fall.

Another consulting engineer, Robert F. McCauley, has been authorized by the Council to prepare plans and specifications for a new well to be drilled near the present well on main street.

McCauley was hired by the Council late last year at a cost of $1,000 to make a report on the water distribution system in the village.

His report, submitted to the Council in March, recommended that the village drill a well with a capacity of at least 600 gallons a minute.

At that time he was directed to dig test wells. The most recent test well has shown a capacity of 1,200 gallons of water a minute.

McCauley estimated the well could serve the community until 1980.

The new well is expected to cost $23,800. The two present wells serving the village will be used for standby service once the new well begins operation.

No date for drilling operations has been set.

MACKIE QUIZZED — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie answered questions on the proposed extension of the Northwestern highway last night at a dinner-meeting of the Walled Lake Chamber of Commerce. The more than 100 persons at the dinner were informed that the state has no definite plans as to when the extension will be built or the exact route it will follow.

Talks to C. of C. at Walled Lake

Questioned at Length on Northwestern Plans, He Hazards Guess

WALLED LAKE — Anyone who expected a definite answer from State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie at a dinner here last night as to when the proposed extension of Northwestern Highway will be built went away disappointed.

Mackie was the guest of honor and main speaker at a dinner-meeting of the Walled Lake Chamber of Commerce held in the Methodist Church.

Quizzed for an hour and a half on plans for the Northwestern extension by a half-dozen persons of the more than 100 who attended, Mackie bluntly told them, "I don't know when we will build it."

Not satisfied with Mackie's reply, several pressed him for a more definite answer.

With that, Mackie said he would hesitate even to make a guess but said "maybe 1965 or 1966." He quickly added that the statement was not one of fact, and was only a guess.

DEPENDS ON FUNDS

"And that would be if there were no cutbacks in federal money," he went on.

Another question asked by property owners in the area was "What is the proposed route?"

The highway commissioner told them that no definite line has been mapped out, but the Highway Department does have a general idea where the extension will run.

Property owners felt that not knowing the route was a handicap to them in selling or improving their property.

"It all depends on how you look at it," Mackie said. "Would it be better to know so far in advance if the route is to run through or near your property?" Mackie asked.

QUOTES THREAT

He explained that if the route was known now it might hurt the chances of property owners selling their land in the near future.

The extension route is expected to run generally from Orchard Lake and 14 Mile roads diagonally across the southwest corner of Bloomfield Township, crossing Pontiac Trail near Haggerty road, through the northeast section of Commerce Township, across Cooley Lake road into White Lake Township and connecting with M59 in Highland Township.

Right of ways through these areas will be purchased with funds remaining from a 25 million dollar bond issue after contracts are let for the construction of the Northwestern extension from 8 Mile road to Telegraph road,

Mackie estimated that two and a half million dollars of the bond issue will be left over to purchase land.

The bond issue approved in 1957 has been invested in federal notes, Mackie said, and is receiving interest.

He said by the time the contract for the eight mile extension is let in the third quarter of 1961, the bonds will be worth about 26 million dollars.

Asked why the extension couldn't be constructed before the section from Telegraph to Orchard Lake road was built Mackie stated "that continuity of construction is important to road building."

FORESEES BOTTLENECK

"If we built the extension first, traffic would converge on the small section between Telegraph and Orchard Lake and create a bottleneck."

Near the end of the meeting Mackie became more definite about the extension, "I know it won't be constructed before 1962," he said.

Questioned about toll roads, he said there "is a need for toll roads, but it looks like there will be none in Michigan since the Michigan Toll Road Commission was killed in the last session of the legislature."

Assisting Mackie in answering questions from the audience was his administrative assistant Irvin Rubin and Oakland County Road Commission Projects Coordinator Willis M. Brewer.

Council at Oxford OKs Sewer Plan

OXFORD — The Oxford Village Council last night gave its okay to the Oakland County Department of Public Works to proceed with plans for a temporary sewer system to serve both Oxford and Lake Orion.

The local governing body's action matches that taken May 31 by the Lake Orion Council.

The identical resolutions signed by the two municipalities pave the way for a survey of trunk lines extending out from the proposed sewer plant south of Lake Orion.

The temporary system is needed to provide sanitary sewage facilities for the two communities and their environs before the Clinton River Sewage Disposal System is developed, both councils maintain.

TWO MORE YEARS

DPW officials have told representatives of the two towns that plans for the Clinton River project will take two more years to complete.

Then financing would have to be arranged and contracts made with the local units of governments before construction can begin.

This all takes time, and the two villages' respective need for sewer facilities in order to meet the ever-increasing demands of their growing populations is immediate, they said.

Consequently, approval has been given for the temporary system to serve for 10 years, or until the proposed plant and lines can be connected to the Clinton River system.

According to Oxford Village Manager Ralph Precious, Oxford's share of the cost for engineering the treatment plant will be about $1,500.

Total cost will be approximately $5,000, to be shared by all municipalities involved, including Orion and Oxford townships.

Location of the plant south of Lake Orion was chosen to prevent sewage or plant effluent from entering the lakes within the corporate limits of that community.

The sewer system construction will be done by the county DPW, under contract with the internal systems, to be financed by the communities themselves.

Cost of the project would be apportioned under a method accepted by municipalities using the yardstick of existing population, ultimate population in 10 years or a figure between the two.

After a percentage of the apportionment is assumed, it will be each governmental unit's job to determine how to finance the program.

It can be done by millage, revenue such as from water bills, connection charges, use of sales tax money or any other money the municipality might have or a combination of any of these methods.

In other action taken last night, the Oxford Council formed a committee to study a Board of Education request to erect a street light at each end of the entrance to Oxford Area Community High School.

Milford Considering 140-Home Addition

MILFORD — Plans for a 140-home subdivision here have been referred by the Village Council to the planning commission for further study and report.

The subdivision, proposed by the Giant Homes Construction Co., would be built in the northwest corner of the village. The site is near the Fairview Hills subdivision.

Another proposal referred to the planning commission is a request from businessman Jim Robbins to rezone a parcel of property across the street from the Mill Pond from residential to commercial.

AVON TOWNSHIP — The annual all church picnic of the University Presbyterian Church will be held Friday at Avon Township Park, from 6 p.m. until dark.

ROCHESTER — The "Heart of the Hills" Grandmothers' Club will sponsor a bake sale Friday at Webber's Cleaners, 404 Main St.

Long Lake at Commerce Due for Housecleaning

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — The Lansing engineer who is planning to restore Long Lake here to its original beauty and usefulness also wants to put his underwater, king-sized vacuum cleaner to work on the Grand River from Jackson to Muskegon.

Donald D. Rutter, part owner of the Waterways Control and Development Co. at Lansing, is hoping to begin in July to clear out the muck that has clogged once-deep Long Lake.

He reports that about 90 per cent of the Long Lake property owners are now in favor of the project, which will cost $180,000.

Rutter explained that his company's equipment is tailored to do a specific job — return lakes and rivers to their clear, sandy-bottomed state.

"We're forming an organization, called the Upper Grand River Development Assn., to reclaim the Grand River," he said.

The success of the operation on Long Lake will set the pattern for further use of the big suction dredge which is the chief item of equipment the Lansing company uses.

"We've got two smaller pieces of equipment that will clean a beach just like a vacuum cleaner cleans a rug," Rutter said.

The 50-ton dredge is about 40 by 20 feet with a ladder extension that makes it 87 feet long. It anchors itself on the bottom of the lake, cleans one spot, and then "walks" along to another spot.

"It's got a suction pump on it with an intake pipe that sticks right down into the muck on the bottom," Rutter explained.

The State Conservation Department is interested in the process, called eutrofication, because it's the first time anybody has tried to clean a whole lake in this way.

John Rulison, department hydrogeologist, said any number of Michigan lakes might need this type of cleaning.

Over the years, vegetable matter and muck combine on the bottom of lakes to make them practically unusable for recreation, water supply or scenic purposes, Rulison said.

Long Lake is a prime example of a body of water that has outlived its usefulness.

When formed by a glacier millions of years ago, it had a sandy bottom and gently sloping beaches out to a maximum depth of 39 feet. Now the water in the 146-acre lake is about three feet deep covering only decaying matter.

Rutter plans to give the lake an average depth of 18 feet with sandy beaches all around.

There is a swampy area at the west end of the lake where the mud from the bottom will be dumped, Rutter said. In places where no such dumping ground could be used, the muck might be carted away and sold.

A bill failed in the Legislature this year which would have allowed groups to set up financing for such a cleaning process in the same way sewer projects are undertaken by communities now.

According to Rutter, University of Michigan geologists and archaeologists are anxious to look at the estimated 1,500,000 cubic yards of peat expected to come from the lake bottom because some of it will be up to 20,000 years old.

Judges to Choose Queen

'Miss Orion' Format New

LAKE ORION—A new format is being followed in the selection of "Miss Orion" this year, the contest chairmen have announced.

Instead of picking six finalists as the judges did last year and then having penny-a-vote balloting in village stores, the judges will choose the queen and her two attendants themselves.

To enter the competition, girls must be between 17½ and 21 years of age, single and live either in the Village of Lake Orion or Orion Township.

Entry blanks must be mailed to last year's "Miss Orion," Diana Lou Roberts of 1494 W. Clarkston Rd., and postmarked not later than midnight Saturday.

Miss Roberts and two other former local queens have charge of this year's competition. They are Mrs. Rex Furney, nee Wanda Stone, and Mrs. John McGee, nee Diane Sanford.

The contest winner will reign over the Homecoming Festival here July 2-4. The three-day event is sponsored by the Orion Community Center, Inc.

Special events will include a kiddies' parade July 2, a professional soccer game July 3 and a Venetian parade and water carnival the same day.

After the festival, "Miss Orion" will be eligible to enter the Peach Queen contest in Romeo early in August.

She will be vying against other area title-holders in the annual competition to reign over the Romeo Peach Festival Labor Day weekend.

A feature of both meetings will be the playing of a tape recording of a speech made to the planning committee by Dr. Ward B. Varner, chancellor of Michigan State University Oakland.

Miss Tregoff and her sweetheart, the wealthy physician, are to be tried again starting Monday. Their first trial — on charges they killed the doctor's wife — ended in a hung jury.

Stassen vainly sought the nomination himself in 1952 and 1956 and tried to keep Richard M. Nixon from being nominated for vice president. The former Minnesota governor is now a lawyer in Pennsylvania.

Hogan, Snead Aided by 'Extras' at Denver

Generally Flat Course a Help to Ben's Legs

It's Law of Averages for Slammer in 60th National Open

DENVER (AP)—Those two old masters of golf, Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, will have something extra going for them in the National Open championship starting Thursday.

For Hogan, it's the general flatness of the 7,004-yard, par 35-36—71 Cherry Hills Country Club where a select field of 150 begins playing for keeps at 10 a.m. (EST).

The double round that climaxes this 60th edition of golf's top prestige tournament on Saturday shouldn't be as gruelling as the others the solemn bantam from Texas has faced since his legs were mangled in a near fatal auto accident 11 years ago.

For Snead, it's the law of averages. Despite a record 105 tournament victories, including three PGA and three Masters titles, the West Virginian has never won the Open. This is his 20th attempt in an unbroken string that began in 1937 when he was only 25. What aging this physical marvel has done since then is mostly due to what seems to be an unshakeable Open jinx.

"You know, I might just win one of these here things sometime," Snead said after a steady one over par 72 in practice Tuesday.

"I'm satisfied with the way I'm playing," said an unusually chipper Hogan as he left the course after 16 holes when a sudden windstorm swept the layout late in the day.

Hogan, 47 and seeking an unprecedented fifth Open crown, and the 48-year-old, peppy, wise cracking Snead represent the old pros' major challenge to golf's young bloods, headed by tournament favorite Arnold Palmer, Dow Finsterwald, defending champion Billy Casper, Ken Venturi, Gene Littler and Mike Souchak.

All will be swinging away at what most of them consider the easiest Open course in recent years. There'll be 18 holes each Thursday and Friday before the 36-hole showdown on Saturday.

"It's amazing," said Casper, the putting wizard from Apple Valley, Calif. "The way the ball goes in this air, you'd need 8,000 yards to have a true 7,000 yard course. It's beautiful, well-conditioned but just plays shorter and easier than any Open course I can remember."

"The easiest I've played," says Hogan, whose record 276 at California's Riviera Country Club in 1948 probably is in trouble.

For the long shot lovers a prime one turned up Tuesday in handsome Doug Sanders, short hitting 26-year-old comer from Miami Beach, Fla.

Sanders, who has won nearly $20,000 on the tour this year without a tournament victory, fired a 34-33—67, the best of the touring group, having finished in the money in 35 consecutive tournaments.

Long-hitting, erratic George Bayer of Gleneagles, Ill., also had a 67.

Jackie Nicklaus, 1959 national amateur king and top threat among 22 amateurs in the lineup, and Henry Williams Jr., Fleetwood, Pa., pro, were the only others to break 70 in the warmups. Both had 69s and William's included a hole in one on the 174-yard, par 3 sixth hole.

BEN TUNES UP — Ben Hogan warms up for another try at winning his 5th National Open championship. Hogan uses a 4-wood here to hit from a fairway trap at Denver's Cherry Hills golf course in yesterday's practice round. The shot failed. It sailed only 100 yards as the clubhead bit into the sand too deeply. The tournament gets under way Thursday.

Bunning Needs Cash to Win, 2-1

Benchwarmer's Pinch Homer Beats Red Sox

Bengal Pitcher Has 13 Strikeouts in 7 Inning Stretch

By United Press International

DETROIT — Remember Norm Cash?

He's the guy who got benched a couple of weeks ago because he suddenly stopped hitting the ball at a .350 clip.

Since then, Cash has been a forgotten man sitting in the shadows of the Detroit dugout watching game after game while his teammates pulverized the ball with a steady display of power hitting.

And his replacement at first base, stout Steve Bilko, has been a key factor in the recent hitting splurge that enabled Jimmie Dykes' unpredictable bunch to regain a contending position in the 1960 American League pennant chase.

That is until last night when the booming Tiger bats were virtually silenced by the strong-armed hurling of Boston's Bill Monbouquette.

Monbouquette, who threw a one-hitter against Detroit May 7, was nicked for only four harmless singles as he blanked the Tigers over the first six innings.

The Red Sox pitcher maintained his mastery at the start of the seventh frame by retiring the first two Detroit hitters. Then Chico Fernandez singled for the fifth Detroit hit and it was pitcher Jim Bunning's turn at the plate.

But Dykes, stricken with a sudden dose of managerial magic, pointed the finger at Cash and the 25-year-old first-baseman delivered a two-run pinch homer, his fourth of the year, that won the game, 2-1.

The timely wallop ruined Mike Higgins' return as manager of the Boston club.

Higgins, who was fired as Red Sox manager last season, regained the job in a managerial shuffle over the weekend that ended the stormy reign of Billy Jurges.

Cash's homer also enabled Bunning to record his fourth victory against three setbacks.

The only run off Bunning, who struck out 13 in his seven innings of labor, was Ted Williams' 498th home run of his major league career in the sixth. It was Williams' sixth homer of the season.

Pete Burnside retired the side in order in the eighth and ninth to protect Bunning's triumph.

Bunning's 13 strikeouts raised his season total to 87, just three behind the league-leader, Camilo Pascual of Washington. Bunning led the American League in strikeouts last season with a 201 total.

HOMER FOR CASH — Detroit Tiger Norm Cash comes across the plate after hitting a two-run pinch hit home run in the 7th inning last night to give the Tigers a 2-1 win over the Boston Red Sox and a victory for Jim Bunning. Cash hit for Bunning and drove in Chico Fernandez (greeting him at plate) ahead of him.

Little Possibility

Tiger Trade Talks Cool

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers are still talking possible trades with several clubs—but Bill DeWitt says he will be a little surprised if the club swings a deal.

The Tigers have until 1 a.m. Thursday to negotiate.

Manager Jimmie Dykes has frowned on several suggested trades on which the front office sought his advice.

"I'm neither optimistic nor pessimistic," president DeWitt said last night. "We have some time left to do some talking. You know how baseball is—anything can happen."

Anything can, but probably won't.

The Tigers have been going well. The break of their most recent slump, coupled with the fact that some of the players have indicated they are busting out of their hitting doldrums, has buoyed front office hopes that the club is much better than it has looked in the first eight weeks of campaign.

The Tigers just aren't as anxious to deal as they were a couple of weeks ago.

The first day's action yesterday was washed out and officials decided not to attempt a rescheduling. Instead, the field of some 200 entrants — 55 years of age or older — will tackle the Black River Country Club course today and wrap up the five divisional titles in one 18-hole round.

Yanks on Coat(es)-Tails of Tribe

By The Associated Press

Nine years ago Jim Coates signed with the New York Yankees because his mother didn't like the looks of another club's scout. Now, after seven seasons in the minors, he's the hottest pitcher in the majors and has put the Yanks within three percentage points of the American League lead.

The lean right-hander put away a 7-0 record and his 11th consecutive victory over a year's span Tuesday night as the third-place Yankees won their seventh straight, 6-2 at Kansas City. That gave New York the longest streak of the season in the AL while closing in on the front-stumbling Cleveland Indians and Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles edged within one percentage point of the top by handing the first-place Indians a third straight defeat, 7-4, in the opener of a four-game series at Cleveland. It was only the third success in eight games for Baltimore.

Detroit defeated Boston 2-1 in the only other game played in the AL. Wet grounds at Chicago postponed the White Sox' game with Washington.

Roger Maris kept his major league home run lead with No. 18 and drove in five runs for the Yankees, making it a breeze for Coates. It was the Yankees' eighth in a row over the A's, sixth this season, and handed Johnny Kucks a 1-1 record. It also was the first time the Yanks had won seven straight since July, 1958—when they led by 15½ games.

Coates, 27, didn't allow a hit until Dick Williams homered with one out in the fifth. He finished with a six-hitter, walking just one and striking out seven for a 13-1 major league mark and a perfect record as a starting pitcher.

It was a scout for the then New York Giants, incidentally, whom Coates' mother turned down. Coates was a minor then, and needed his mother's signature on a contract.

A four-run eighth-inning—which took an hour and 42 minutes to play because of rain—did it for the Orioles. Al Pilarcik's squeeze bunt scored the clincher and Gene Woodling, then capped the rally with a two-run single. Gary Bell (6-5) was the loser and now has dropped four of his last five. Milt Pappas (4-5) won it, but needed relief help from Jerry Walker after cooling off in the rain-stalled eighth.

Open's 'Quiet Man'

Wall Back in Peak Form

DENVER (UPI) — The "quiet man" suddenly became the "one to watch" today on the eve of the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

The new red-hot locker room tip is that 36-year-old Art Wall Jr. from Pocono Manor, Pa., the leading money winner of 1959, has the shots and the perseverance to top the field of 150 in the four-round grind.

"I'm in fine shape physically," said Wall in a statement that for him amounted to a boast. "As for my game, well, I'd have to say it's pretty good. In fact, everything seems to be working."

Wall and defending champion Bill Casper are conceded to be the best putters in the tournament and Wall also is believed to have the unerring approach shots to master a course that the old-timers are saying is the easiest on which a U.S. Open ever has been played.

Wall, who was unable to defend his Masters championship because he had undergone an operation for a kidney ailment, demonstrated that he was back on his game last week with a 65-63—128 qualifying round at Oklahoma City. And he's been laying those second shots right onto the greens here with a precision that matches anything he showed in winning more than $63,000 in 33 tournaments last year.

"You've got to like Wall," said one rival, who asked that he not be quoted directly. "Wall and Arnold Palmer—but Wall first."

Doctoring Your Golf

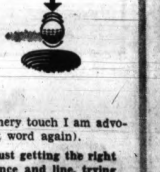
By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "Still can't putt."

DIAGNOSIS: Touch lacking.

TREATMENT: "Never up, never in" is as true now as when the first Scotsman said it a few centuries ago. But it doesn't mean you should bang the ball firmly at the hole on every putt.

The fact is that you will make a lot more of your putts if you learn to putt what is called the "dying ball." This means putting the ball with just enough speed to comfortably reach the hole, and no more. With this kind of touch, the ball can go in the front of the hole or fall in from either side, whereas you must hit the hole dead center to make one if you bang every putt for the cup.



The only way to get this feathery touch I am advocating is to practice (there's that word again).

Concentrate for a time on just getting the right distance. Then work both distance and line, trying each time to let the ball go no more than six inches past the cup if you miss.

All the really good putters have this feathery touch. You can have it, too—or something very close to it—if you practice it.

Italian Challenger Unbeaten

Ortiz Meets Loi Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — New Yorker Carlos Ortiz fights to defend his junior welterweight crown tonight against Italian challenger Duilio Loi.

At the same time, the 140-pound champion hopes to win a shot at Joe Brown's more lucrative lightweight title.

Ortiz currently finds himself in a duel role. He reigns over the reactivated junior welterweight division and ranks as the No. 1 challenger for Brown's 135-pound title.

It's the latter he'd like most since the established lightweight division brings bigger paydays for the champion.

"He's been ducking me for two years," says Ortiz of Brown. "Loi was the No. 1 challenger for my title so I'm giving him a chance. I think Brown should do the same for me."

The 31-year-old Loi, from Milan, Italy, who is undefeated for eight years, aims to derail Ortiz in their 15-rounder at the Cow Palace.

Although he's won 104 fights and lost only one, the European welterweight king will be the underdog for this nationally televised (ABC) bout starting at 9 p.m. EST with the San Francisco area blacked out.

Odds of 9-5 favoring Ortiz are expected to prevail.

Carlos, 24-year-old Puerto Rican now living in New York City, has won 31 of 33 bouts and in rematches has beaten the two fighters who defeated him—Johnny Busso and Kenny Lane.

Not Good Enough

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Shoeless Joe Jackson batted .408 as a rookie with the Cleveland Indians in 1911 but failed to win the American League batting title because Ty Cobb of the Detroit Tigers hit .420.

The lowest 18 hole score ever shot in a PGA Championship at medal play was 65 by Jerry Barber, a 43-year-old club professional from Los Angeles, in the second round at Minneapolis Golf Club, St. Louis Park, Minn., in 1959.

ADMITS FIX — Jake LaMotta, former middleweight champion, testified before the Senate investigating committee yesterday and admitted his fight with Billy Fox in 1947 was fixed. He said he agreed to throw the fight in exchange for a guaranteed shot at the title.

Former Champ Ignores Threat of Underworld

Gangsters Who Put Up Bribe Money Named in Senate Testimony

United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former boxing champ Jake La Motta, ignoring a reported underworld death threat, confessed to Senate investigators today that he threw a 1947 fight in exchange for a crack at the middleweight title.

The 37-year-old "Bronx Bull" admitted his loss to Billy Fox in a light-heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden Nov. 14, 1947, was fixed. He said he was only "playacting" when the referee stopped the match in the fourth round and gave Fox a TKO victory.

La Motta conceded he lied about the fix to the New York district attorney's office when it investigated the bout. He said he told the truth today because the statute of limitations had run its course and he could not now be prosecuted by New York authorities.

La Motta said he took a dive in the Fox fight in return for a shot at the middleweight crown, which he won in 1949 from the late Marcel Cerdan, a French-Algerian boxer. But even with the rigging of the Fox fight, he said, he still had to pay $20,000 to Cerdan's manager "and representative" for the privilege of fighting Cerdan in a bout at Detroit.

La Motta testified before a senate anti-trust subcommittee trying to determine whether there has been and is now a conspiracy between underworld elements and others to maintain monopoly control over major boxing contests.

Reliable sources said that racketeers telephoned La Motta in advance of the hearings and threatened to murder him if he implicated certain persons in his testimony.

Asked by the senate investigators whether he had been threatened, La Motta said he had not been.

But after a moment's hesitation, he added quietly, "I'm not afraid for myself." Then, suddenly becoming angry, he shouted, ". . . and I'm not afraid of none of them rats."

In a signed deposition given to Senate staff investigators last month, La Motta had said he was offered $100,000 to throw the bout with Fox. He named Bill Daley and Frank (Blinky) Palermo as the men who put up the bribe money.

But in his testimony today, he said he didn't know who put up the money. He said word of the bribe offer was passed along to him by his brother "Joey" (Joseph La Motta).

In any case, La Motta said, he turned down the money, although he did agree later to throw the fight in order to get a crack at the middleweight crown.

He said he also was offered $100,000 to throw his middleweight fight with Tony Janiro of Youngstown, Ohio, when they met in Madison Square Garden five months before the Fox fight. But he said he rejected that because he had "a lot" of money at the time.

La Motta said word of this offer also came through his brother but that he didn't know "any names" of the persons putting up the money.

As for throwing the Fox fight, La Motta said he realizes that he "made a mistake and I'm sorry I did."

"I thought I was right then," he said. "I just wanted to be champion."

LaMotta's Philosophy: 'Friends for the Birds'

NEW YORK (AP) — Jake LaMotta once summarized his philosophy of life in two short sentences:

"Friends," he sneered, "are for the birds. I'm looking out for Jake LaMotta."

Psychologists probably would have an answer for LaMotta's attitude. He was born of poverty, had to quit school early to support his family and finally drifted into boxing.

But so were a lot of other fighters. So were a lot of other men who came from the slums. LaMotta seemed to go out of his way to make enemies in his trade.

Tuesday, the 39-year-old LaMotta admitted before a Senate hearing that he threw a bout in 1947 against Billy Fox—something most witnesses to the proceedings suspected all along.

Right now LaMotta is earning his living as a movie actor. He's in a film entitled "Splendor in the Grass," in New York.

When he took a fearful beating from Sugar Ray Robinson in Chicago in 1951 and in the process lost his middleweight title, most other fighters gloated. That's how much they disliked the "Bronx Bull," as he was called.

But he didn't forget to ape men he admired. He heard about Gene Tunney reading heavy books and educating himself.

So right in the middle of his career, LaMotta decided to gain some culture. He took to reading Freud—or at least carrying books by Freud around with him—and took up tennis and golf.

Finally, he decided to raise doberman pinschers and had a kennel erected behind his Bronx home protected by a 12-foot fence.

LaMotta was married and the father of three children. His wife later divorced him. He reached the nadir of his life in 1957 when he served five months in prison after being found guilty on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl.

LaMotta was born on New York's teeming lower east side, but moved to the Bronx when he was 13. He didn't attend school long and became an amateur fighter. He turned pro in 1941, and eight years later won the middleweight championship of the world by knocking out Marcel Cerdan of France in the 13th round at Detroit.

He retired in 1954. His record showed 83 victories 19 defeats (five at the hands of Robinson) and 4 draws. There was some talk by LaMotta of coming back to the ring a couple of years ago, but he dropped the idea because the state athletic commissions would have none of it.

Oklahoma Boy Leads Western Junior Test

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—An Oklahoma youth held a 2-stroke lead going into today's final qualifying round of the 43rd western junior golf championship.

Labron Harris Jr., 18, Stillwater, Okla., had a 2 under par 70 Tuesday. The 18-year-old son of the Oklahoma State University golf coach was 4 under par after 13 holes on the University of New Mexico course, but a double bogie on the 14th set him back.

The 31 low qualifiers in medal play Tuesday and today will join defending champion Steve Spray of Indianaola, Iowa, in match play starting Thursday.

Prep Front

By CHUCK ABAIR

The books are being stored away around the various high schools bringing to mind the state rules prep athletes should remember this summer in order to remain eligible to compete again in 1960-61.

Each year the Michigan High School Athletic Association urges coaches to bring their boys up to date on what they can and cannot do during the vacation period.

Nothing in the way of awards, recognition or payment for playing in athletic activities should be accepted by high school students until after the proper school authorities have been consulted.

The awards are the chief problem boys run into but some have lost their eligibility by signing pro baseball contracts.

Students CAN work in recreation programs, on playgrounds, as golf caddies, at swimming pools or beaches with no worry about staying eligible.

Area coaches are looking forward, to the two annual summer coaching schools at Northern Michigan College and Central Michigan U.

The event at Marquette Aug. 8-10 will have Michigan grid boss "Bump" Elliott and Northwestern cage skipper Bill Rohr as the main instructors. At Mt. Pleasant Aug. 17-20 will be Elliott and Michigan assistant Bob Hollway for football, Fred Taylor of Ohio State, Wayne's Joel Mason and Stan Albeck of Northern for basketball.

College World Series Resumes

Southern Cal, Gophers and Boston College Win First Games

OMAHA (AP)—Bruce Gardner of Southern California won his 16th game without a defeat and St. John's (NY) lost its first game in 15 starts Tuesday night as the Trojans won 3-1 in the first round of the NCAA college baseball world series.

Gardner gave up two hits in the first inning and then just one more—a pinch hit double in the eighth that drove in the lone St. John's run.

Boston College scored three runs in the fourth and ninth innings to hand Colorado State College an 8-3 defeat.

In an afternoon game Minnesota snapped a 14-game North Carolina victory string, beating the Southerners 8-3 as Bob Wasko, in relief, pitched eight scoreless innings.

Wednesday's schedule puts North Carolina against Oklahoma State and Colorado State against St. John's with the losing teams eliminated. Arizona meets Minnesota and Boston plays Southern Cal at 8 p.m.

Wismer Blasts Halas, Defends Sherer Signing

Cannon, NFL's Rozelle Heard in Court

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It was a scoreless tie at about halftime today in the first head-on court collision between the old National and the new American Football Leagues.

In essence, it is a fight between the Los Angeles Rams of the NFL and the Houston Oilers of the AFL.

The prize; All-America halfback Billy Cannon from Louisiana State.

Officially, it is the Rams vs. Cannon, with the Rams seeking an injunction to keep the $10,000-plus bonus baby from playing ball with anyone else, notably the Oilers.

Chief witness for the Rams in the first tussle Tuesday was NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle, who was general manager of the Rams when the Cannon case blossomed last winter.

Cannon, crew-cut, good looking, a little less at ease than in grid togs, was on the stand only a short time.

He referred to the Ram documents as "those papers" and admitted he had indicated in a Ram questionnaire in 1958 that he hoped to play for them.

Rozelle testified that he signed Cannon to a valid, binding contract a few minutes after he was the Rams' No. 1 draft pick Nov. 30 at Philadelphia.

The terms: A $10,000 bonus, payable in 1959; $10,000 for 1960, and $15,000 for the years 1961-62.

The Rams charge that on about Dec. 22 Cannon signed a contract with Houston owner K.S. (Bud) Adams. The terms, they charge: a $10,000 bonus, $100,000 spaced over three years, half interest in an Adams financed string of gas stations around Baton Rouge, and a car for Billy's father.

Cannon's attorneys argued that the Rams pulled a deal of "fraud and unclean hands" in signing Cannon prior to his bow out as an amateur in the LSU-Mississippi Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans Jan. 1.

Wismer defended the signing of Jack Sherer, sophomore University of Miami (Fla.) tackle, before his class graduates.

"The kid flunked out of school," said Wismer. "He can't get into any other college. He wants to play pro football. Alls I know about the rule is that we aren't supposed to sign a boy until his class graduates.

"But this case is different. We have not induced the boy to leave school. We are trying to help him."

Then Wismer blasted Halas, who had warned that the signing of undergraduates by AFL clubs could lead to wholesale raids of colleges.

"I know why Halas is mad," fumed Wismer. "He wanted the boy himself. Halas did the very same thing only a year ago. At the end of the 1958 college season, he signed Dick Pettibon, the best player Tulane had in 10 years, when he still had a year of eligibility at school."

Snapped back Halas:

"The two cases are entirely different. Pettibon's college class already had graduated. I tried to get him to finish his college career, but he was determined to play pro football and would have gone to the Canadian League."

Coast Skippers Sweep 4 Places in Olympic Test

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Four Californians swept four of the top eight positions Tuesday in the fourth race of the U.S. dragon class Olympic trials.

Ralph Deluca of Long Beach, Calif., crossed the finish line 50 seconds ahead of John Moran of Detroit, Mich. in Tuesday's race for a berth at the Olympic sailing matches in Naples, Italy, this summer.

Fellow Californians, Charles Kober and Dr. Glenn Thorpe, both of Long Beach, skimmed over the line in third and fourth positions respectively.

New Orleans skipper Buster Curtis came in fifth and Walt Swindeman of Toledo, Ohio, sixth.

The series leader and defending Olympic trials champion, Gene Walet of New Orleans placed seventh, but still retains his point lead of the group.

Record at Hazel Park

DETROIT (AP)—A rain-soaked slow track didn't stop Mac Wil from cracking the Hazel Park record for two-year-olds last night. The colt won the Gahagan two-year-old pace in 2:05.3.

Any One of Top 10 Could Win

Wimbledon a Crazy Test

LONDON (AP)—It's going to be a crazy Wimbledon this year with any of 10 players likely to take the men's singles crown from the home of world amateur lawn tennis.

Even the bookies are getting wary about offering odds on the top 10.

And when British bookies do that then you can reckon things are pretty open.

The defeat of Luis Ayala, Chilean star and South America's leading amateur, in Tuesday's London championship play completed the shock results in pre-Wimbledon tournaments.

Sergio Tecchini, an Italian Davis Cup reserve, defeated Ayala on wood after the London tournament was moved indoors because of the rain.

In earlier British tournaments—all of them warm ups for the big Wimbledon test — Neale Fraser, the Australian top seed for Wimbledon, lost to Earl Buchholz of St. Louis, and Barry MacKay, of Dayton, Ohio, seeded No. 2, lost to Edison Mandarino of Brazil.

Rod Laver, the Australian who reached the Wimbledon final last year and lost to Alex Olmedo of Peru, is the player who has got them all worried.

He moved steadily through the pack. He's in the last 16 at the London grass courts championship at Queen's Club ending decided this week.

And Laver, third-seeded for Wimbledon, may be the man to take what probably will be the last all-amateur Wimbledon since the championships were started in 1877.

Laver will play Bertie Gaertner of South Africa in the round of 16 at the Queen's Club today.

Next year, Wimbledon probably will go open with pros and amateurs competing level terms.

Returns Senator Hurler

CHARLESTON, W. Va (AP)—The Charleston Senators cut down to the 20-player American Assn. limit Tuesday, returning right-handed pitcher Hal Griffs to the Washington Senators for reassignment. The move made room for left-handed Jim Kaat, optioned to Charleston Monday by Washington.

Ingemar Confident, Patterson Tense

AP Photofax

Ingemar Makes Floyd's Chin His Target for a 'Count to Thousand'

GROSSINGER, N.Y. (AP)—World heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson confided today that he didn't expect Floyd Patterson to change his strategy one iota from their first fight when they meet for the title next Monday.

"He's a good boxer," Johansson said. "It takes a long time to become a good boxer and you can't just change your style any time you want to. It will force you into too many mistakes.

"No, I don't expect Floyd to change his tactics a bit from the last time we met."

Further, Ingo is counting on his "roaring right" to do most of his work against Patterson.

"I hit him too high with it the last time and he got up," proclaimed Johansson confidently. "The next time I'm going to make this my target"—and he pointed to the tip of his chin—"and when I connect there, the referee will count to a thousand.

"I weigh 198 right now and I plan to stop active workouts after today. From tomorrow until fight time, I'll do exercises. I feel so good I'm ready to go 15 rounds right now."

NEWTON, Conn (AP) — Floyd Patterson—just five days away from the most important day of his boxing life—conceded today that he tries not to think about losing to Ingemar Johansson when they meet for the world heavyweight championship next Monday.

"I'm not impatient for the fight," said Patterson as he took time out from his trying grind here. "But as it gets closer, I think more and more about it.

"The thought of losing brings on a certain tension, so I try not to think about it."

Just a year ago, Patterson, then reigning king of the heavies, was knocked out by Johansson in three rounds. Since then, he has been an almost forgotten man.

Floyd said he had made some refinements in his style.

"For instance," he said, "when I'm moving in, I am dropping my so-called peek-a-boo style. Instead of holding my gloves cheek high, with my elbows tucked in, I'm dropping them to my chest and holding them in tandem. I'll be in a better position to let loose."

6-Bout Ring Show Scheduled Thursday

DETROIT (AP) — Boxing may be dying in Detroit, but it's a slow death.

Promoters have come and gone at a rapid rate in the last few years, but the Metropolitan Boxing Club is trying to revive interest in the sport once more.

A six-bout card is lined up for the Graystone Ballroom for Thursday night.

In the 10-round feature, Chuck Taylor meets Tommy Johnson in a lightweight match. Dick Ramazotti and Fred Moore meet in a six-round semi feature. They are lightweights.

In the four other bouts — all scheduled for four rounds — Ernie Berthet Jr. takes on Harvey Cody in a battle of heavyweights; welterweights Joe Watts and Doug MacLeod will slug it out; lightweights Willie Smith and Wes Ramey Jr. go at it and Willie DeMyers takes on Kid Coleman in a match between 123-pounders.

Redbirds Move Into 4th Place; Pirates Boost Lead

Cardinals Stealing Spotlight

By The Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Pirates have a two-game lead after getting past San Francisco in the opener of a three-game series, but right-hander Larry Jackson and the surging St. Louis Cardinals are stealing the spotlight in the National League pennant race.

Four unearned runs gave the Pirates a 6-3 decision over the second-place Giants Tuesday night while the Cardinals backed Jackson with home runs for his eighth straight victory in a 6-3 decision over Cincinnati.

It gave Jackson (9-5) a tie with Pittsburgh's Vern Law as the majors' top winning pitcher, and moved the Cards past the Reds into fourth place.

The Chicago Cubs defeated third-place Milwaukee 3-2 behind a two-hit pitching job by Glen Hobbie. Last-place Philadelphia defeated Los Angeles 6-5 in 10 innings.

Jackson, 29, a winner against every club but Los Angeles, gave up five hits and just one earned run—a fourth-inning homer by Jerry Lynch—while beating the Reds a second time in his streak. Ken Boyer and Curt Flood, who drove in four runs, homered off loser Jim O'Toole (4-6) for the Cards' sixth victory in the last nine games.

Boyer's shot, with a man on in the first inning, was his 17th, keeping him in a tie with Ernie Banks of the Cubs for the NL lead. Flood tagged his first of the season with two on in the third.

A two-out error by Willie McCovey with the bases loaded set up three unearned runs in the second inning for the Pirates. Dick Grout's two-run single capped it and beat Sam Jones (8-5), who lost his first in eight decisions at Candlestick Park. Bob Friend (6-3) was the winner, giving up two runs in the first, but then blanking the Giants until the seventh. The Giants were without center fielder Willie Mays, out with an upset stomach.

Hobbie, a right-hander with an 8-2 lifetime record against Milwaukee, held the Braves hitless for seven innings, then gave up home runs by Del Crandall and Ed Mathews in the eighth and ninth. He walked three, struck out five while gaining his sixth victory against seven defeats. The Cubs had five hits off loser Bob Buhl (5-3), two of them home runs by Banks and Frank Thomas.

A single by Clay Dalrymple scored two runs and won it for the Phils in a three-run 10th off losing reliever Clem Labine (0-1). The Dodgers blew a 3-2 lead in the ninth. Dick Farrell (3-1) won in relief, getting Norm Larker on a pop up for the final out with the tying run on second after giving up two runs in the Dodger 10th.

TWO HITTER — Cub pitcher Glenn Hobbie stopped the high flying Milwaukee Braves last night by pitching a two hitter. The two runs against him were homers as Chicago scored a 3-2 victory.

'Man' Sidesteps Direct Answer

Writer Hints Musial Might Leave Redbirds

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Stan Musial, sidestepped direct comment Tuesday on a suggestion he would be willing to sever a 19-year association with the St. Louis Cardinals and play for Pittsburgh.

Reached by telephone in Cincinnati, the 39-year-old seven-time National League batting champion hesitated and then said:

"Let me find out more about this. Let me check around."

The Musial of a year or so ago would have shrugged off such a suggestion without a second thought.

The provocative suggestion by Sports Editor Bob Broeg of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch apparently caught officials of both clubs by surprise.

General Manager Bing Devine and Manager Solly Hemus of the Cards said they doubted Musial would want to leave the Redbirds.

"He is Mr. Baseball," said Hemus, "and he's a St. Louis Card through and through."

"As far as I'm concerned," Devine said, "on and off the field Musial has been, is and always will be a Cardinal. When he is no longer an active player we've always assumed he'll be an important member of the Cardinal organization. The possibility of a trade for Musial never entered my mind."

The Pirates' general manager Joe Brown, said at Salt Lake City he knew nothing about Broeg's suggestion.

The major league deadline for trades is midnight today.

Musial's friends say he was deeply hurt by his recent benching and would go to Pittsburgh if a deal could be arranged. All he wants is the opportunity to play, even on a platoon basis with Pirate first baseman Dick Stuart, and the chance to bow out of baseball something more than a bench warmer.

Musial, anxious to atone for last year's miserable .255 showing, started only eight of 17 games between May 7 and June 4 when the Redbirds benched him. Used now mainly as a pinchhitter, he is hitting .235.

Broeg wrote that the Pirates would have a better chance of winning their first NL pennant in 33 years if they acquired the $80,000 star and he indicated Musial rather liked the idea of playing for a potential flag winner. Musial comes from Donora, Pa., not far from Pittsburgh.

"If the management didn't have to give up much talent," Broeg said, "the Pittsburgh club certainly would be happy to inherit Musial's salary."

The Cardinal organization, especially owner August A. Busch Jr., has maintained for years that Musial would never be traded and would never play for another club.

Suppose Musial asked to be traded?

"That's a question that should be addressed to Stan," Devine said.

Tops on Three Teams

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rogers Hornsby holds the club batting record for three National League clubs. He had .387 for the Boston Braves in 1928, .380 for the Chicago Cubs in 1929 and .424 for the St. Louis Cardinals in 1924.

LITTLE MISS THUMP—Trudy Shea takes her cuts as the only girl Little Leaguer in New England. The 10-year-old catches for the Orioles of the South End Settlement House of Boston and stands out.

Errant Buntings Ride Ship 1,000 Miles to Shore

A flock of about 50 snow buntings, probably thrown off course by a storm during migration, landed on the Cunard liner S. S. Parthia in the North Atlantic recently. Apparently exhausted most of the flock soon died, but 14 of the tiny arctic-nesters stayed with the ship all the way into New York harbor.

The incident was reported to the National Audubon Society by a member, Mrs. Dorothy Washington of North Edgecomb, Maine, who was a passenger aboard the Parthia.

What happened to the birds after leaving the ship in New York Harbor is unknown.

Audubon Society ornithologists say it is not uncommon for migrant birds to land and rest on ships at sea. It is uncommon for them to hitch-hike a thousand miles in the wrong direction.

Rule for Campers

A good rule for campers heading into the woods is to leave a sign in their car window designating number in party, destination and estimated time of return.

Press 'Fish Derby', Bass Season, Open June 18

3-Way Contest Offers $50 Bonds for Champs

By The Press Outdoor Editor

The peak feature of the Michigan angling season arrives in proper fashion, Saturday, when the fighting, sporty black bass become legal targets for the hundreds of thousands of devotees of rod and reel, on the state's myriad waters.

And, as it has for many years past, The Pontiac Press Big Fish Derby swings into action right along with the start of the bass season. This contest, which has attracted hundreds of Oakland county anglers each year, runs through the summer, up to and including Labor Day, Sept. 5.

The area's many fine lakes all produce big, scrappy bronzebacks, both large and smallmouth, rated the fight-in'est piscatorial battlers of state waters. Some of the biggest taken in Michigan have come from area waters—and there are plenty of big ones left.

Derby also includes bluegills and northern pike, the heaviest fish of each division being worth a nice, crisp new $50 U.S. Savings Bond for the lucky fisherman who lands the winner. No one may win more than one division award.

ONLY FULL-TIME COUNTY RESIDENTS ELIGIBLE

Rules are unchanged:

Contest is open only to full-time Oakland County residents.

All fish must be taken by hook and line from Oakland county waters.

Entries must be filed at The Press Sports Department within two days of the date of reported catch, and all entries must be checked and weighed at The Sports Department, where photographs will be made.

Hours for receiving entries are from 7:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. daily, except Saturday when noon is latest time and on Sunday, or holidays, when none will be accepted. Final date for entries is Wednesday, Sept. 7, at 12 o'clock noon.

Last year's winners were a six-pound largemouth bass taken by Arden Beckett of Ortonville; a 9¼-pound pike caught by Winfred Baker, Pontiac, and a one-pound-4-ounce 'gill taken by Howard Gordon of Pontiac. These champions probably will be trying again, for the "big one."

BIG PIKE LANDED TOO SOON!

Something like this always happens. Monday morning, while Jerry Stewart, 523 Orchard Lake Ave., was "just fishing" in the city's Crystal Lake, he took a 12½-pound, 32½-inches long pike, five days before the start of the Derby.

"Dog-gone" said Jerry, "guess I'll just have to go down there Saturday and catch the mate to this one." The big fish battled for 20 minutes before giving up.

Crystal Lake has produced some big ones, too, in the past, and Jerry just might connect.

No change has been made in size, or creel limits for this season. Minimum (for both small and largemouth) is 10 inches, daily catch is five, singly, or combined with others. Fishermen must have $2 resident license on inland waters, none on Great Lakes, or connecting waters. Non-resident fee it still $5 ($4 for 15-day license).

MOST LURES WILL TAKE FISH

What lure to use? Most any artificial, plug, or some of the remarkably lifelike crawlers will take bass in area waters, but with some discoloration due to recent rains, best luck probably will accrue to the user of good oldtime-tested "garden hackle."

Casting into weedy shallows, with spinner rigs, or plugs will get action with the bigmouths. Casting with artificials, or trolling in fairly deep water off the "drops" is usually good for smallmouths. The smallmouth is found more often near sandy, or rocky shoals.

Handsome, alert and already displaying the cagey attributes of his kind, is the "little wise guy" in the picture of the two-weeks old red fox. The sharp-eyes surveys the scene before venturing out of the family den. The camera was scanned with evident suspicion.

The little fellow will learn a lot in the next few months, much of which will determine whether he'll be titled a prince, or a scoundrel.

LITTLE WISE GUY

Young Bill Wolfram, a neophyte by time and experience reckoning, in the business of rifle shooting, with the big bores, didn't waste much time grabbing his first junior championship, recently. Bill, who joined OCSC last July, and has been shooting the .30 caliber only since April of this year, won the state junior title with a 430-20v, at Grayling.

Bill's winning was under difficulties. He was on picket duty when he fired his 48 1st string, had to stop when the area flag blew down in the wind.

Another OCSC shooter won the women's division title, when Mrs. Don Bennett carded 421.

SEASON OPENS SATURDAY — The fine smallmouth bass the young fisherwoman is lifting into the canoe, and the hefty, thick-set largemouth (in the larger photograph) Saturday become the No. 1 targets for Michigan anglers. The last of the state's fishing seasons gets under way at that time, for both large and smallmouth black bass. The largemouth bass, shown here, was last year's Press Bass Derby champion and won a $50 bond for its captor.

Invade Flint, B. Creek Stores

Frisky Deer on 'Tear'

The Associated Press relates two instances, this week, where frisky young bucks invaded downtown sections of Flint and Battle Creek. Such invasion may be very unusual, but the Pontiac area remembers several incidents of the kind in recent times.

However, in the visits of deer to downtown Pontiac no extensive damage was done, as was the case this week. One deer escaped. The other was shot by police.

In Flint, a young buck jumped through a plate glass door of a women's shoe store, breaking off a 2½-inch Antler. It scattered shoes around the premises and jumped into a mirror on a door before leaving the way it came in.

Later, the deer smashed through the plate glass window of a grill and ran out an open back door. It caused about $400 damages to the shoe store and some $65 to the grill. Residents reported it was last seen in a park at the edge of downtown Flint.

At about the same time, a small deer with spike horns plunged through the plate glass window in a variety store in Battle Creek township. After a futile 15-minute chase around the store, police shot the deer with a .38 cal. service revolver. Damage to overturned merchandise was estimated at between $300 and $400.

Young Canoeists in Race at Tawas

The seventh annual Tawas River canoe race will be held Sunday, June 19. This year will see the start of canoe racing for the youngsters.

Boys and girls 15 years of age or younger will race the regulation course on Sunday at 10 a.m. Trophies will be awarded for the first three places This race is sponsored by Tawas Chamber of Commerce and there will be no entry fees.

The annual "Big" race will start at 2 p.m. All canoes must be checked in at the Chamber office before 12 noon the day of the race. Trophies will be awarded for the first 10 places. This should prove to be a good race with plenty of fast water in this six mile course.

Alaskan Bear Target for 2 Area Hunters

Two area big game hunters are on their way to Alaska, with their targets some of the big bruins of the new state. They also plan to visit Fifty-Niners, who moved there from Detroit last fall.

William Fuller 322 Mt. Clemens St., and Willard Linkletter of Birmingham are traveling in a specially-equipped automobile outfitted for sportsmen's use, and bearing the slogan on its side "Alaska-Bound From Pontiac."

Fuller is a former well-known area gun man, and amateur radio operator.

Perch Fishing Good

Perch fishing is very good at the Tawases. All dock space in the area is in use and fine catches are being reported.

With the water level the highest it has been for some time perch have been able to get past the mouth of the Tawas River and large fish are being taken all along the river in great numbers.

Easy Way to Fish

ADA, Okla. (AP) — Fisherman Bill Dollahite has an eye witness to prove his story that a 7½ pound bass jumped into his boat as he got ready to put his line in the water.

Two Michigan Fishermen Win Tourney Awards

Among the many winners in the 1959-60 (25th) Metropolitan Miami (Fla.) fishing tournament were only two Michigan anglers, according to announcent recently of final results.

The successful state fishers were Dr. William A. Ellis of Grand Rapids and Emma Heath of Milan, near Jackson.

Dr. Ellis landed a 32-pound, 8-ounce grouper, still-fishing, in the general division. Mrs. Heath's catch was a 26-pound, 5-ounce snook, taken in the fly-casting division.

Trophies and plaques were awarded the Michiganders.

Kensington Beaches Open for Season

Both beaches of Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford are now open for the summer season and will provide swimming from 9 a. m. to dusk through Labor Day.

This was announced today by David O. Laidlaw, park superintendent.

Martindale and Maple Beaches, located on opposite sides of 1,200-acre Kent Lake, each have modern bath house, dressing rooms, showers, restrooms, basket checking services and food service.

Each beach has up to 17 lifeguards on duty, and each beach house is equipped with a first aid station.

Other features of the 4,500-acre park include 2 boat launching sites, boat rental service, several large picnic sites, "Island Queen" tours around Kent Lake, nature trails and the Nature Center.

Now on the summer schedule, the Nature Center is now open daily from 10 a. m. through 5 p. m., including Saturday, Sunday and holidays.

Plastics Big Help to Feminine Anglers

No More Squirming

ANN ARBOR — Never again will the female angler have to squirm with the worm she is trying to impale on a fishhook.

Plastic-bodied lures, a novelty not so long ago, are available now in worms "that feel more like real ones do — and catch fish too," reports Karl F. Lagler, chairman of the Department of Fisheries at The University of Michigan.

Lagler cites a number of other ways in which the age of plastics is increasing the pleasure of fishermen and hunters on "Conservation Report," a radio series produced by the U-M Broadcasting Service and carried around the state.

Fish lines of plastics in the nylon family are the strongest, for their diameter of any that fisherman have ever used, he points out.

Another new wrinkle in bait merchandising is the packaging of minnows in plastic bags.

Fishery specialists are using the plastic sacks with great success to transport fish used in stocking lakes and streams, Lagler points out.

Properly packed with a bubble of oxygen in the bag, fish have excellent survival, University of Michigan scientists have air-shipped live fish for research this way from tropical Mexico to Ann Arbor. They save great weight over old-fashioned fish cans.

Inexpensive plastic waders, Lagler says, have put many a fisherman in waters previously too deep for him to tackle. Plastic jackets, pliable even when cold, keep him warm and dry above.

Lagler says that on a pigeon shoot in France, he first encountered shotgun shells with plastic casings. Not only are they very waterproof, but shot size, along with primer, powder and wad, are clearly visible through the plastic casing.

Late Spring Most Damaging

Bad Winter Hit Deer Herd

LANSING (AP) — Snow and bitter cold that held back the arrival of spring in Michigan's north country took a heavy toll in the big deer herd.

It was just about what game experts expected.

A systematic dead deer survey recently completed by the state conservation department showed more than 87,000 deer perished last fall and winter in the area north of the Bay City-Muskegon line. Starvation, gunshot wounds, disease and accidents all took a toll.

The estimate, which game men say is conservative, topped last year's count by 18,250.

There's no denying that winter was fierce in 1958-59. But it got in its worst licks in the early going and gave in to warmer weather in March and early April, the critical period for the deer herd. This year, January and February were comparatively mild. March came in with a vengeance as hungry deer were nearing the starvation point after a long winter in yarding areas.

About 90 two-men crews from the Conservation Department, the U.S. Forestry Service and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service took part in the survey. They carefully covered 552 sample areas picked at random but spread systematically over deer country of various types.

A trained game biologist examined the carcass of every dead deer found to determine, if possible, the cause of death.

By projecting its figures over the whole Upper Peninsula and the northern Lower Peninsula, the department wound up with its estimate.

The Upper Peninsula toll was 53,750, compared with 35,200 last year, but about 22,400 under the last big starvation year in 1956. Known starvation deaths this year totaled 11,500. Deer which died of gunshot wounds probably accounted for the biggest share of the total.

The survey indicated 33,500 deaths south of the Straits and north of the Bay City-Muskegon line, about 400 under last year and 8,000 fewer than in 1956. Known starvations totaled 8,350.

Among 15 Nationally Rated Show Horses

Duke, Pennant Back for BOH Contests

Among 15 nationally prominent show horses already entered for the June 22-26 Detroit Horse Show at Bloomfield Open Hunt club, are two of last year's big champions, the fabulous Duke of Paeonian and Morton W. (Cappy) Smith's great hunter champion, Grey Pennant. The list also includes Robert Egan's Blue Monday, Dragnet and others.

The handsome Duke, owned by Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pettibone of Homewood Farm, Middleburg, Va., was the 1959 hunter king, and will be back trying for a 3rd straight hunter title here. The Duke won five blues, in 1959.

Pennant was the 1959 green conformation champion, took seven of the 13 ribbons Smith captured at BOH, last spring, as top individual exhibitor.

Bob Egan's Blue Monday was also a divisional champion. Besides Egan, of Bloomfield Hills, the show will have some of the country's leading riders, in the veteran Max Bonham of Lauray Farm at Akron, O., and Northville's solid Johnny Wallace, riding Delayed or his jumper, Fearless Fred, Chuck Grant of Bloomfield, and Cappy Smith.

Chairman Stanley M. Humphrey points out that "among both horses and riders, several have either been in Olympic competition, or are on their way."

This show is regarded as the biggest outdoor jumper-hunter show in the country. Last year it drew an attendance of more than 40,000 fans. It is expected this year's event will boost that figure.

Tickets are now on sale, may be obtained from members of Pontiac council, Disabled American Veterans.

This pocket-sized guide to camping in Michigan lists campgrounds according to 10 conveniently-marked sections on a small-scale map. Included is a general description of camping facilities on public lands. Special rules and regulations for state parks and other state lands, covering time limits, daily charges, pets and the like, are also included.

Actual listings give the campground's name, its number of campsites, its location and points of interest and recreation is offers.

129 Bows Get Lift Over Manistee Dam

LANSING — Conservation Department fisheries men lifted 129 rainbow trout over Tippy dam on the Manistee river this spring, their best effort since 1956.

Department biologists noted a drop from the year before in the incidence of lamprey scars. The fish were also examined for jaw tabs and diseases before being transplanted upstream to spawn.

Meals Always Taste Better When Cooked Outdoors

Nothing Beats Good Steak for Grilling

HAMBURGERS

Finding a dime or a dollar you forgot you had is always a pleasant surprise. Mrs. Homemaker will find this the case often as she steps up to the local meat counter. Why? Because meat supplies in 1960 are expected to be the largest in history, especially in beef production. And retailers will be presenting us with an attractive array of different beef cuts to vary the menu. Then, it's no wonder that a homemaker will have a difficult time in saying "no" when she sees a tempting sirloin steak in her meat retailer's display case. Without thinking, she will probably envision this meat cut being the highlight of an outdoor feast. And with the purchase of ground beef, she can surprise her family with another taste-tempting item, Hidden Treasure Hamburgers. Stock up on ideas and recipes that will present your family with good beef eating throughout the rest of 1960.

SIRLOIN STEAK BROIL

cut 1 to 2 inches thick
Salt and pepper

Prepare the charcoal briquets in advance so there is no flame when it is time to grill the meat. The briquets should be grayish in color. This will produce the moderate temperature recommended for grilling steaks. Place steak on grill so that a 1-inch steak is 2 to 3 inches from the heat and a 2-inch steak is 3 to 5 inches from the heat. When one side is browned, season, turn and finish cooking on the second side.

Steaks cut 1 inch thick require 18 to 20 minutes for rare steak and 20 to 25 minutes for medium done.

HIDDEN TREASURE

1½ pounds ground beef
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
6 thin onion slices (medium size)
6 teaspoons pickle relish

Combine ground beef, salt and pepper. Form 12 thin round patties. Place one onion and one teaspoon pickle relish on top of each of 6 patties. Cover with another patty and press edges together to seal. Broil patties by placing on broiler rack, or on grill of outdoor unit, so they are about 3 inches from the heat. Broil on one side until nicely browned, turn and broil on other side. Allow about 10 minutes for each side.

STEAK ON A GRILL—This is always the piece de resistance at any outdoor meal. Beef production is expected to be the highest on record this year. So why not plan ahead for a number of backyard or patio parties? Include a tempting grilled sirloin steak in your menu plans when you are ready to decide on the food.

Marinate Cube Steaks

Big hamburger buns, long narrow frankfurter rolls, flavory breads such as rye and pumpernickel are chef's aid de luxe when it comes to cooking a meal outdoors. Because why? Because they're tasty and they have a happy way of holding whatever juices there may be, thereby adding to the general deliciousness of the dish. That's what happens with these Barbecue Steak Sandwiches.

Cube steaks are first marinated in and then basted in the grilling with a savory sauce made of tangy canned apple sauce spiced with oregano, ketchup and bright seasonings. Then each steak is served on a tender, toasted bun which absorbs some of the sauce so that not one bit of flavor is lost.

Barbecue Steak Sandwiches

½ cup sliced onion
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon oregano
½ cup ketchup
1 cup canned apple sauce
6 cube steaks
6 hamburger rolls

Prepare barbecue sauce: Saute onion in ¼ cup butter or margarine until light brown; add salt, Worcestershire sauce, lemon juice, sugar, oregano, ketchup and apple sauce.

Pour barbecue sauce over steaks and let stand 15 minutes. Lift out steaks and arrange on grill 2 inches from hot coals. Broil quickly on one side (about 3 minutes) baste with barbecue sauce and turn to cook other side.

Spread hamburger rolls with remaining butter or margarine. Toast on grill. Place steak on roll and top with some of remaining barbecue sauce. Makes 6 servings.

Hamburgers Hide Prune for Surprise Eating

For a big surprise and hearty applause, place a plumped pitted prune between two patties of ground beef and seal. Broil to doneness desired. Serve with fried potatoes and a salad. The big surprise comes with the first bite.

Such a simple trick — and yet the popular hamburger thereby acquires a new and exciting fruity flavor.

For Sunday Morning

Have you ever served "minute" beef steaks as a breakfast dish? Try them some Sunday 'mrrning. Brown the steaks on both sides in lard. Season and cook slowly until done, turning occasionally. Allow 4 to 6 minutes for each side.

Kabobs Go Well on Outdoor Grill

Grill flavorful, tender shish-kabobs over the coals for an interesting change from the usual outdoor-cooked fare. They'll be most and flavorful with all the delicious juices sealed in the foil. A succulent delight!

All you do is thread cubes of any tender meat and vegetables on skewers, brush with a flavorful marinade, wrap in foil and refrigerate over night. To cook, brown over the fire, return to foil and cook until done. Have lots of French bread ready to dunk in the zesty sauce that forms in the foil.

Marinated Lamb Kabobs

1 pound lean lamb from shoulder or leg
1 large onion
1 small eggplant
1 green pepper
4 very small firm tomatoes
Heavy duty aluminum foil
¼ cup butter
Small clove of garlic
2 teaspoons lemon juice
½ cup tomato puree
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon salad herbs
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Cut lamb in 1½ inch cubes; onions in quarters; eggplant and pepper in large pieces. Thread alternately on skewer with one whole tomato. Place filled skewers on long 5 to 6-inch-wide strips of heavy duty foil.

Brush liberally with marinade (to prepare marinade, saute garlic in butter 3 minutes; add lemon juice and tomato puree, sugar and seasonings. Heat 3 minutes.) Close foil and refrigerate 6 hours or longer.

Remove kabobs from foil, but save each piece of foil. Place on grill over medium hot fire and brown quickly, turning once or twice. Return each kabob to foil and spoon over any remaining marinade. Seal foil and return kabobs to grill. Cook 30 minutes longer without turning. Delicious right from the foil!

NICE ACCOMPANIMENTS: California Long White potatoes, peeled and sliced, cooked with butter, seasonings and cream in a foil package . . . foil-heated hot French bread.

Broiled Appetizer

Company coming at snacktime? Wrap half slices of bacon around cooked shrimp, fasten with toothpicks and broil. Serve with a tomato seafood sauce for a dip.

Aluminum Foil a Big Help in Charcoal Grill Cooking

It's outdoor cooking time again and as the old saying goes, let's take first things first—how to build the fire. No matter what type of equipment or fuel you use, start by lining your grill with aluminum foil.

The foil reflects the heat back up to the food for speedier cooking; gives a more even cooking temperature, so food will not burn in one spot and undercook in another, and leaves your grill clean, since it catches fat drippings and juice. No grill to scour; just lift up foil with ashes and drippings and throw it away.

Basic Hints for Building Outdoor Fires

1. Line bottom of grill or fire box with two thicknesses of heavy duty foil. Place your favorite fuel (wood, charcoal briquets, etc.) in the center of the foil. Charcoal briquets are easiest to use, since they need no draft.

2. Sprinkle or spray starter, depending on the type you use, on fuel and ignite with a match. Allow to burn 10 to 15 minutes. Test cooking temperature by passing hand over fire.

3. If using briquets, don't be fooled into thinking they are not burning because they do not glow red. They turn grey instead and give off a great deal of heat. Don't touch with the fingers; use tongs if it is necessary to move them. They will burn for an hour or longer and give a good cooking fire.

4. If wind or breezes are strong, make a hood from foil and attach to side of grill to protect your fire and keep it burning at an even temperature.

5. Have food at least 4 inches above fire. If placing food directly in fire, wrap in double thickness of aluminum foil. Baking soda is good to throw on fire, if fat flames up or catches fire.

6. To dispose of ashes, gather up the foil with the ashes and deposit in trash can or bury, if you are at a camping site.

ROCK LOBSTER — For Friday meals and for the times you are tired of meat cooked on your grill, consider having rock lobster tails. They'll taste even better than they do broiled—and that's saying something. Baked potatoes are the ideal vegetable. Be sure to have lots of melted butter for both foods.

Who Says You Can't Barbecue Vegetables?

What to do about vegetables for the barbecue meal is often a problem. All the cooking space on the grill may be taken up by the meat, and anyway, how can you grill vegetables? So you end by serving a salad which contains vegetables and let it go at that.

You use a generous amount of olive oil but no liquid, and you wrap them in heavy duty aluminum foil. The foil packages may be placed right in the hot coals if the gridiron is crowded, otherwise they remain on the grid itself.

If your barbecue grill happens to be the kind with a fitted cover with vents, keep the cover on for more even cooking. It takes more time to cook vegetables over charcoal, but you can be out of doors while they are cooking, enjoying the breezes and the wonderful fragrance of a comfortable distance.

If it's Eggplant Espagnole or Barbecued Squash, make an extra big quantity to put away in the refrigerator for another meal, for both of these are even more delicious cold than hot. The slow, slow cooking brings out every bit of flavor.

Potatoes Castilian make a wonderful accompaniment to hamburgers or steak. Limas Montanesa with ham or bacon added, should be a main dish, along with potatoes baked in the ashes.

GOOD BARBECUE MENU: Barbecued Squash, hot dogs, toasted buns, tomato and lettuce salad, strawberry sundae, milk for children, coffee or tea for grown-ups.

Eggplant Espagnole

1 small eggplant or ½ large eggplant diced
½ cup olive oil
1 medium onion, minced
2 garlic cloves, crushed
2 medium tomatoes, diced
¼ teaspoon salt

Be sure to leave the skin on the eggplant; no soaking is necessary. Combine ingredients, place in center of large sheet of heavy duty foil and fold over the foil, crimping the edges. Place in coals or on grid of barbecue grill. Cook for at least 1 hour, preferably 2 hours. Makes 4 servings. For a second meal, double ingredients, keep half to serve cold on the next round.

Barbecued Squash

2 yellow summer squash, diced
2 medium onions, chopped
½ green pepper, chopped
1½ tablespoons minced fresh dill
½ cup olive oil
1 teaspoon salt
Black pepper

Leave peel on squash; combine ingredients, place in center of foil, as above. Can be cooked ready to eat in less than half an hour but tastes far better if it cooks for at least 1 hour — or longer. Put it in with the charcoal at the beginning while the fire is getting properly hot for grilling meat. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Potatoes Castilian

For each serving, slice one raw potato paper-thin, add an equal quantity of thin-sliced onion and a little red sweet pepper, diced. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover generously with olive oil, wrap securely in heavy duty foil. Requires only about 20 minutes if fire is good and hot.

Limas Montanesa

2 pounds fresh lima beans, shelled, or 1 package frozen limas
½ cup olive oil
2 slices bacon, diced, or ¼ cup chopped ham
2 tablespoons minced onion
3 tomatoes, peeled and diced
1 tablespoon minced parsley
½ teaspoon salt

Combine ingredients, place in center of large sheet of heavy duty foil, secure edges and bake among hot coals of fire or on grid for about 1 hour. Frozen limas require only 20 to 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Triple Threat Hamburgers Tempt

Who said there's nothing new under the sun? Here is something new for this year's picnic time—delicious too. It's the Triple Burger, a threefold threat to all hearty appetities, and as new as a sprung bonnet.

Summertime brings us lots of easy, outdoor living — and lots of self-styled cookout champions too (male of course). Well, even they can cook up a storm with this easy recipe. Here's how:

Take one pound of ground beef, add salt and pepper, then sprinkle with MSG to highlight the rich lean beef taste. You'll find it makes meat spurt new juiciness too, adds a flavor boost you'll long remember. And MSG can't be overdone so start with a teaspoon per pound of beef and work up to desired intensity.

Shape meat into thin patties and freeze in heavy-duty aluminum foil. They'll thaw out as the picnic area looms into view. Or, if you're broiling in the yard, transfer them straight from refrigerator to grill without thawing.

To prepare a zesty garnish combine chopped green pepper, olives and onion with chili sauce and mustard. Easily stored in a plastic container you won't have to count or coddle jars when packing the picnic hamper.

Serving is simple. One burger on a buttered bun, spread with a layer of sauce, then add another burger and so on till you have three burgers sparked with layers of gusty garnish between each one. Radishes or celery sticks for taste comparison, lots of canned soft drinks for thirst quenching, and you have a summer treat the whole family will enjoy.

TRIPLE BURGERS

1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon MSG
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 green pepper, finely chopped
2 tablespoons chopped stuffed olives
2 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ cup chili sauce
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
4 hamburger buns
Butter
Lettuce

Break up meat with fork in mixing bowl. Sprinkle Accent, salt and pepper over entire surface of meat. Toss gently with fork to distribute ingredients. Shape into 12 thin patties.

Place on square of heavy duty foil or double thickness of regular foil; separate burgers with small square of foil. Seal with double fold over top and sides. Freeze until firm.

Combine green pepper, olives, onion, chili sauce and mustard in a jar or plastic container; blend. Pack prepared sauce and frozen burgers in insulated bag or picnic basket; burgers will be thawed on arrival at picnic area.

Panbroil, broil or grill to desired doneness. Butter ½ hamburger bun and cover with lettuce. Top with 3 hamburger patties and part of the sauce in between; cover with remaining ½ bun. Repeat for each serving.

Serve with radishes and celery sticks. 4 servings.

Rock Lobster Tails Are Perfect for Barbecuing

Now that the barbecue season has started, so have the resolutions. No more black-on-the-outside and raw-on-the-inside steak and roasted potatoes. Not just hamburger and franks, endlessly every weekend. This year, things will be different. Your barbecues will be like the ones people write about in the papers and picture in the ads.

Well, fine then, and a good way to start is to make a list of things you could serve at a barbecue. Foods that would vary the fare, food that's good to eat as well as practical to serve.

On top of the list should be South African rock lobster tails. This amazingly convenient and delightfully delicious seafood might have been designed by nature just for barbecue. Each tail is a serving in itself; there's no prior preparation necessary except defrosting; and the rock lobster tails can be different from one barbecue to the next if the sauce is changed.

Start the 1960 barbecue year right by trying this new sauce for the South African rock lobster tails.

Barbecued Rock Lobster

6 South African rock lobster tails (11½-lb. family package)
½ lb. butter or margarine
2 teaspoons orange peel, cut fine
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon chili powder
½ teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters

Thaw South African rock lobster tails. With kitchen shears, cut edges of thin underside membrane and remove. Grasp tail in both hands and bend backwards toward shell side to crack in several places.

Arrange tails in broiling basket. Melt butter. Add orange peel, ginger and chili powder. Heat a few minutes. Remove from heat and add aromatic bitters.

Set broil basket on grill with tails shell side down. Broil 5 minutes. Brush flesh side liberally with Spicy Orange Butter. Turn flesh side down and broil 5-7 minutes, basting occasionally. Serve with remaining sauce.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS OF SPLENDOR —With pork in bountiful supply, here are spareribs baked to shining splendor in a prized barbecue sauce. Ingredients for the sauce are such pantry staples as unsulphured molasses, catsup, spices and thin slices of onion and lemon. No watching is necessary . . . just bake the spareribs in the oven for an hour and a half—or cook them on your outdoor grill.

Molasses Chief Part of Sauce

Barbecued spareribs are as much fun as a picnic. The succulent spareribs are a nibble treat and each taste is particularly enjoyable since the meat is glazed with a sweet and pungent barbecue sauce.

Unsulphured molasses is a natural barbecue sauce addition. Since it is the pure concentrated juice of sugar cane, this sweetener has the ability of browning and giving a delicious and tender crust to the spareribs. In flavor, it goes well with the nip of vinegar, Worcestershire and catsup used in the barbecue sauce.

Unsulphured molasses also has the rich brown color associated with barbecued meat. The molasses barbecued spareribs will come shining, savory and most inviting to the dinner feast.

Molasses Barbecued Spareribs

3 pounds spareribs, cut into serving pieces
1 lemon, thinly sliced
1 medium onion, chopped
¼ cup unsulphured molasses
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 tablespoon celery seed
¼ cup vinegar
¼ cup Worcestershire sauce
1 cup catsup
½ teaspoon Tabasco
2 cups water

Place spareribs, meat side up, in shallow baking pan. Sprinkle with salt. Top with lemon slices and chopped onion. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes. Combine unsulphured molasses with chili powder and celery seed; stir in remaining ingredients. Pour over spare ribs. Continue baking 1 hour longer, basting frequently. Or cook, according to taste on your barbecue grill. Yield: 4 servings.

Colorful Salad Has Virtue of Low Calories

A main dish that's low in calories and high in taste appeal and attractiveness is a "must" for any weight watcher's menu. This recipe has only 103 calories per serving and can be prepared ahead of time, saving the cook minutes as well as calories.

Crabmeat Stuffed Tomatoes

4 tomatoes
1½ cups crab meat (1 6½-ounce can) flaked
¼ cup low calorie French dressing
½ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons capers
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper

Rinse tomatoes; dip into boiling water to loosen skins. Peel and cut a slice from top. Remove pulp from tomatoes with a spoon. Invert the tomato shells and set aside to drain. Reserve pulp. Chill tomato shells in refrigerator.

Mix together the tomato pulp, crab meat; gradually blend in dressing, celery, capers, lemon juice and seasonings. Chill in refrigerator until ready to serve. To serve, lightly fill tomato shells with crabmeat and tomato mixture. 4 servings.

Garnish with sprigs of fresh parsley at the top of each tomato shell. Serve on crisp watercress for a touch of color.

Need More Flour

Cornstarch and flour do not have equivalent thickening power. If you are substituting flour for cornstarch in a sauce, you'll have to add twice the amount.

Wilted Lettuce Makes a Hit

Salads are a homemaker's best friend. They allow her to be creative and spark her meals with variety. Their preparation also is easy to turn over to the 'man of the house, since men, for some reason or other, seem to get a kick out of concocting and majestically tossing salads.

If you are looking for a different and versatile salad that can be served at any time of the year, try this recipe for wilted lettuce and bacon salad. It's a hearty salad that can serve as an accompaniment to almost any meal or star as the main dish for a light lunch or supper.

Wilted Lettuce, Bacon Salad

½ medium-sized head of lettuce
4 strips bacon
½ cup vinegar
Pinch of salt

Shred or chop lettuce coarsely. Dice bacon strips coarsely and fry slowly until crisp and brown. Add vinegar to fried bacon slowly to avoid spattering. Add pinch of sugar to bacon and vinegar and heat mixture slowly to boiling, stirring occasionally.

When boiling point is reached, remove mixture from burner and pour over shredded lettuce. Toss salad so that lettuce, diced bacon, and dressing are well mixed. Serve at once. Yield: 4 servings.

If you have made meat gravy that is too salty, drop a piece of raw potato in it for a few minutes before serving.

Elegant Soup Not a Bit Difficult

Learn how to prepare this good soup.

Shrimp and Green Pea Soup

2½ tablespoons butter or margarine
2½ tablespoons flour
2 cups shrimp quick bouillon
½ cup cooking liquid from green peas
½ cup heavy cream
¼ teaspoon salt
White pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
½ to ¾ cup cooked drained frozen green peas

Melt butter in a 1-quart saucepan over low heat; stir in flour. Add court bouillon and green pea liquid; cook and stir constantly over moderately low heat until thickened and bubbly. Stir in cream, salt, pepper, paprika and peas; reheat but do not boil. Makes 3 servings.

Note: To make the court bouillon, bring just to boiling point 1 pound shrimp, 3½ cups water, ½ teaspoon peppercorns, ½ teaspoon whole allspice, 2 whole cloves, ½ teaspoon celery seed, 1 small bay leaf, 1 small onion (sliced) and a leafy celery rib; simmer 3 minutes or until shrimp are opaque through.

Remove and shell shrimp; return shells to cooking liquid and seasonings in saucepan; simmer about 10 minutes; drain. Use court bouillon for soup and shrimp for salad.

You can make up pie dough, roll it out, cut it in 12-inch rounds and wrap each round in moisture-vapor-proof paper; then into the freezer to use as needed.

Broiler Fryers Are Best to Barbecue

Broiler fryers are the quick-cooking type of chicken suited to barbecues, says Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent for Oakland County.

Normally supplies of broilers are seasonally high May through October. This May-June there will be plenty of broilers, but supplies are increasing at a slower rate than this time last year. So, you've noticed that prices have advanced recently and lower prices can be expected only when broilers are featured occasionally as a "special."

Broilers are usually lower in price than chickens marked roasters; which weigh 3½ to 4½ pounds this early in the year. In comparing prices between whole ready-to-cook broilers and halved, quartered or cut-up broilers, remember that there is a few cents charge for the canvenience of "cutting up."

Michigan does not produce the bulk of the broilers we consume each year, even though 24,400,000 pounds of these dressed Michigan birds went to market this last year.

Hearty Luncheon Salad

Marinate cubes of leftover roast or plain cooked meat and such vegetables as green lima beans, carrots, wax and snap beans, using French dressing. Serve on crisp greens as a luncheon salad. If the meat is on the sparse side, add hard-cooked eggs as a garnish.

Try Creamy Banana Sauce on New Ham

Do you feel a bit lost when it comes to keeping up with new foods? Of course you do; with the large number of new products appearing on the market daily, it is almost impossible to be completely "in the know." Take smoked ham as just one example. Ham isn't a new product by any means, but many changes have taken place in the preparation of ham during the last few years, and today, we can choose a ham to fit any occasion.

There are hams available that are fully cooked, others need further cooking and still others that require complete cooking. Hams that have bone in, hams partially or completely boneless. Hams also vary in the intensity of the cure and so we find them ranging from a very mild cure to the highly flavored product, available for individual preference.

There is a baked ham that has had the outer skin or rind removed along with the surplus fat before it reached the market. It is also a shankless ham, meaning that the shank bone has been removed, making a more easily carved cut of meat, yet one that retains much of the typical ham shape. The ham may or may not be glazed during the latter part of the cooking period depending upon personal preference.

To roast or bake ham, place the smoked ham, fat side up, on the rack in an open roasting pan. Insert the meat thermometer so the bulb reaches th ecenter of the thickest part. Be careful that the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300 degrees) until the meat thermometer registers 160 degrees. Allow 18 to 20 minutes per pound for roasting.

Banana Sauce

An excellent suggestion for an accompaniment for smoked ham is this Banana Sauce, made by mashing two ripe bananas until they are smooth and then adding two-thirds cup mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard, 1 tablespoon horseradish and 2 teaspoons finely chopped parsley. Mix well and serve with hot or cold ham. This quantity will yield 1 to 1½ cups of sauce.

Spin Your Eggs

If boiled eggs get mixed with raw ones, you can separate them by spinning them. Raw eggs will not spin, but cooked ones will twirl like a top.

New Plastic Wrap Used on Chicken

Fresh frozen, cut-up chickens may soon appear in a "new wrap" in Michigan food markets. Frozen poultry is not new — but the wrap is different. Fresh frozen turkeys in their clear, skin-tight polyethylene bags are a familiar sight in food markets. According to records, 96 per cent of all turkeys sold in supermarkets are fresh-frozen and sealed in the skin-tight bags.

And now, chicken is "in the bag." Actually, the wrap has been improved and so far has not been made into bags; sheets only, says Josephine Lawyer, Consumer Marketing Information Agent for Oakland County. The wrap is a shrinking polyethylene film — developed using high energy radiation.

Let's be technical — "The basic process employs an electron beam generator that bombards polyethylene with up to 2 million volts. This changes the structure of the polymer and makes possible a new and different plastic film." It is like the original only more shrinkable and stronger.

Orange Juice Sauce

Give barbecued spareribs a new taste treat with this oriental inspired sauce. Combine fresh orange juice, grated ginger root, a dash of garlic salt, orange marmalade and a little soy sauce. Brush on spareribs as they begin to brown.

Cherry Cream Heaped High in Meringue

Leftover egg whites in the refrigerator? Luscious way to use them!

Cherry Torte

4 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup heavy cream
¾ teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons super-fine sugar
1 can (1 pound) tart red pitted cherries

Pre-heat oven to very hot (450 degrees). Beat egg whites, salt and cream of tartar until frothy. Beat in ¾ cup sugar, a tablespoon at a time, until very glossy and stiff; meringue should hold straight peaks.

Turn meringue into a generously buttered 9 inch pie plate; make a well in the center to hold filling. Place in pre-heated very hot oven; turn off heat at once. Allow to stand in turned-off oven without opening door, for 5 to 6 hours.

Whip cream; beat in vanilla and 2 tablespoons sugar; fold in thoroughly drained cherries; turn into meringue center. Chill 1 or 2 hours before serving. Makes 8 servings.

Butter gets its natural yellow color from carotene, a forerunner of valuable Vitamin A. This important vitamin insures proper growth, healthy eyes and glowing complexions.

Buzzing Swarm Heads North

Motorcycling in the Past? Nope, Bigger Than Ever

NEW YORK (UPI)—The buzz of thousands of engines will fill towns and hamlets from Daytona Beach, Fla., to Laconia, N.H., this week as the nation's big northern motorcycle migration shifts into high gear.

Pure instinct sends wild geese migrating to Canada, but it's the smell of burning rubber, the sound of revving motors and the quest for speed that drives motorcycles to Laconia in June for the national championships races.

These and other similar events in the U.S. are giving the sales of both domestic and foreign motorcycle manufacturers a shot in the arm.

Many people assume motorcycling had its heyday in the "Roaring 20's," but actually the sport is five times as popular today.

539,149 REGISTERED

According to the publication Automotive Industries, there were 539,149 registered motorcycles in the nation last year, against 121,656, in 1928.

The current figure does not include 44,000 publicly owned cycles used by police, the military and all levels of government.

More than 3,000 sporting events a year for motorcyclists are sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Assn., but only 10 per cent are for prize money.

Harley-Davidson Motor Corp. has been the top U.S. motorcycle maker since World War I.

Earlier, many U.S. firms made them, including Indian, Excelsior (now Schwinn bicycles) and Henderson Manufacturing.

Indian cycles are still sold here but made in England. Harley-Davidson is the only maker of large-wheel models left in the country.

TOPS SMALL FIELD

Outboard Marine Corp. is the top small-wheel and scooter maker, followed by Mustang Motor Products. The complete line sold by Sears, Roebuck & Co. is made abroad.

H-D President William B. Davidson said Japanese producers forecast shipments of 19,385 units this year, indicating an all-out effort to grab a bigger share of the U.S. market.

Davidson said his company's 1959 sales were the best since record 1948 and he predicted a further 20 per cent rise in volume this year.

The number of people covered by major medical insurance increased from 8.8 million in 1956 to an estimated 21 million in 1959, according to the Health Insurance Institute.

QUICK CHANGE — Provocative Brigitte Bardot had her following in an uproar Tuesday. She announced she was through with films. Then for some unexplainable reason she clarified her position by saying she would quit when she was old. She has said 35 is old. She is now 25. Here she leaves her Paris apartment with a friend.

Law Called In to Find Train That Got Lost

MOSCOW, Idaho (UPI) — In his career as a law enforcement officer, Latah County Sheriff R. C. Lange has had to search for missing persons, missing animals and missing cars.

But he was more than a little astonished when he was asked to search for a missing train.

Local railroad officials became alarmed when their train did not arrive on schedule.

To Sell Road Bonds for Under 4 Per Cent

LANSING (AP)—The State Administrative Board Tuesday approved sale of a 25-million-dollar highway bond issue to a syndicate headed by Blythe & Co. of New York at an interest of 3.945 per cent.

It was the first time since March 1959 that a state highway issue was bid in at an interest rate of under four per cent.

The board, acting at a special meeting an hour after bids were opened, accepted the recommendation of Commissioner John C. Mackie.

Mackie said the favorable rate was the result of a "loosening up" of the bond market and a favorable experience by investment houses with a Grand Rapids expressway issue in March.

About 11 per cent of the entire area of the continental United States is believed underlain with coal.

Beef Stroganoff Is Only Stew With Sour Cream

One of the most elegant of main dishes is Beef Stroganoff and it has earned a reputation of elegance because of the wonderful flavor that is so characteristic of it. But don't think of this dish as being "fit only for a king," because it is a dish that your own family can enjoy without strain on the budget.

Actually, Beef Stroganoff is a variation of a stew and as such, it rates high on many menus. The foundation of it is in the use of beef cuts that are less tender but through long low cooking become fork tender and delicious in flavor.

The origin of Beef Stroganoff is rather difficult to trace but it is believed that it was named in honor of Count Stroganoff, a member of the Russian Czarist army.

He was extremely fond of beef stew and also loved rich foods such as sour cream and so the combination of those two foods very likely was his own idea. Other people liked it too, and in a short time it spread to various countries in Europe.

The preparation of this dish is very simple and is accomplished in much the same way as other stews with the exception of the addition of the sour cream. Since the meat is dredged in seasoned flour and browned, it is known as a dark stew and this rich brown serves to increase the flavor as well as providing a pleasing color.

DIRECTIONS

Cut two pounds of beef for stew in pieces ½ inch wide. Dredge with 6 tablespoons of flour to which 1½ teaspoons salt and ¼ teaspoon pepper have been added. Brown in 3 tablespoons lard or drippings. Add 1 cup chopped onion and brown.

Pour off drippings. Add 1 cup water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1½ hours. Drain 1 can (4 ounces) button mushrooms. Add mushrooms to meat.

Mix the remaining flour with ½ cup of the mushroom liquid. Add flour mixture to meat and mushrooms and cook, stirring constantly. Fold in 1 cup dairy sour cream.

Do not heat the Beef Stroganoff after the sour cream has been added as heat will produce a curdled effect; though the flavor remains unchanged, the appearance is affected. Serve over cooked noodles if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

Cocktail time: cooked shrimp served with Roquefort dressing—as a dip—make a delicious snack.

Spring Fruit Pretty Sight in Pineapple

Such a pretty dessert!

Springtime Pineapple

1 large ripe pineapple
Sugar
2 small bananas
1 pint basket strawberries (washed and hulled)

Cut pineapple in half lengthwise through plume. With a sharp knife—a curved serrated grapefruit knife is fine—cut around inside so you can remove pulp and have a fairly thin walled shell. Cut core from pineapple and discard; dice remaining pineapple—there should be about 4 cups.

Mix pineapple with sugar to taste, cover and chill. Wrap pineapple shells in waxed paper and refrigerate.

At serving time, slice or dice bananas and halve or quarter strawberries, leaving some of them whole. (Cut strawberries may need to be mixed with sugar to sweeten.) Gently mix pineapple, bananas and halved strawberries; fill pineapple shells with mixture. Garnish with whole strawberries and serve. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Tint It Green

For a quick dip which will please the most discriminating guest, try this in your blender: Combine mayonnaise and cottage cheese, add chopped avocado, season to taste, and whip in the blender to the desired consistency. Serve with potato chips and crackers.

Sour Cream Is Secret of Recipe

Guests coming soon? They'll enjoy Chicken Breasts with Sour Cream Noodles. Crisp golden fried chicken shares honors with noodles blended with sour cream and sprinkled with chives. Serve with buttered asparagus, a green salad or shimmering gelatin mold, and hot rolls.

Sour Cream Noodles

½ cup enriched flour
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon poultry seasoning
4 chicken breasts
Cooking oil
8 ounces broad noodles
1 cup dairy sour cream
½ teaspoon onion salt
½ cup milk
3 tablespoons chopped chives

Combine flour, salt, pepper and poultry seasoning. Coat chicken breasts with flour mixture. Heat oil in large, heavy skillet. Add chicken and brown well on all sides. Cover and reduce heat. Cook until chicken is tender, 50 to 60 minutes.

While chicken is cooking, cook noodles in boiling salted water until tender (about 5 minutes). Drain. Combine sour cream, onion salt, milk and chives. Fold into drained noodles. Serve with chicken. Makes 6 servings.

Main-dish from the pantryshelf: dilute cream of celery soup with a little chicken stock or milk and add drained tuna and drained canned green peas.

Show Outdoor Chef This Barbecue Idea

These barbecued spareribs give the Man of the House a grand chance to shine as Lord High Chef of the Cook-Out. The spareribs come off the grill crackly crisp and brown, savory with apple tang and herbs and seasonings, and underneath, richly succulent as pork always is. They are simple to prepare (although that needn't diminish the Chef's glory) and the result is magnificent eating.

Back of all this flavor is brown sugar and canned apple sauce touched with mustard, oregano and Worcestershire, all mixed ahead of time by You Know Whom. The Chef spreads the sauce deep over the spareribs. Then over the coals they go to acquire that crustiness and sugar-apple tang.

Delicious to serve with the spareribs are celery and carrot sticks, hot rolls . . . and a chilled Apple-Pepper Relish made of canned apple sauce sharpened with onion and vinegar, flecked with chopped green pepper and red pimentos. (And if weather fouls you up on the day of your barbecue, you can bake the spareribs in the oven.)

Barbecued Spareribs

4 pounds spareribs
2 cups canned apple sauce
¼ cup brown sugar
½ cup cider vinegar
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons oregano
½ cup chopped onion

Wipe spareribs with clean damp cloth, cut ribs in pieces having 4 ribs to a piece. Combine apple sauce, brown sugar, vinegar, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, oregano and onion. Spread top of ribs generously with apple sauce mixture.

Grill until underside is brown, then turn and spread that side with sauce mixture. Continue to grill, spreading several times with sauce mixture. Continue to grill, spreading several times with apple sauce mixture.

Cook until crisp and brown and well done. Makes 4-6 servings. For picnic eating, cut ribs in single pieces and serve with napkins.

To cook indoors, bake at 350 degrees, 1½-2 hours depending on thickness of ribs.

Apple Pepper Relish

2 cups canned apple sauce
1 cup brown sugar
½ cup cider vinegar
½ cup finely chopped green pepper
½ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup minced pimento

Combine apple sauce, sugar, vinegar, green pepper, onion and pimento. Cook slowly, stirring occasionally, until thick, about 20 minutes. Chill. Makes 2 cups. (Flavor is even better if relish is made a day ahead.)

Buy cream the day before it is to be whipped; a little age helps along the whipping process.

Slim Budgets Can Stand Broiled Chicken Meal

NEW YORK (UPI) — A gourmet meal on a slim budget might feature broiled marinated chicken.

Place 2 broiler-fryers, quartered, in shallow pan. Pour over marinade made of 1 cup salad oil, ½ cup vinegar, ½ teaspoon each dry mustard and paprika, 1 teaspoon each salt and monosodium glutamate, ¼ teaspoon tabasco and 1 crushed garlic clove. Chill at least 2 hours, turning chicken once or twice.

Remove from marinade, place skin side down on broiler rack about 6 inches from heat source. Broil 15 minutes, basting often with marinade. Turn, broil 15 minutes more, or until chicken is tender, continuing to baste. Serves 4.

Marble Batter of Angel Food With Cocoa

Delightfully different angelfood:

Brown and Tan Angelfood

¾ cup sifted cake flour
1½ cups sifted light brown sugar (packed down)
1½ cups (9 to 10 large) egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
1¼ teaspoons cream of tartar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cake flour
2 tablespoons cocoa

Sift together 3 times the ¾ cup cake flour and ½ cup of the brown sugar. In a large mixing bowl beat together egg whites and salt until foamy; add cream of tartar; continue beating until whites hold a soft peak.

Gradually beat in ¾ cup of the remaining brown sugar — 2 tablespoons at a time — until whites hold a stiff straight peak, and the vanilla. Sift and fold in the flour-sugar in 4 additions.

Turn one-half into another mixing bowl. Sift together the 2 tablespoons cake flour and 2 tablespoons of the remaining brown sugar; fold into one-half of the batter. Sift together the remaining 2 tablespoons brown sugar and the cocoa; fold into other half of batter.

Cover bottom of ungreased 9- or 10-inch tube pan with a thin layer of the light batter; turn remaining light and the dark batter into pan alternately. Cut through batter a few times with a knife or spatula to break large air bubbles.

Bake in slow (325 degrees) oven 1 hour or until top springs back when lightly touched. Invert pan to cool cake 1 hour. Loosen cake from sides and tube with knife or spatula; ease out.

Grilled French Bread

Golden toasted French bread is another menu star. This is a real quicky to fix. Simply slice a loaf of French bread in half lengthwise, then place on a sheet of foil and toast on the back of the grill. It will take 5 to 10 minutes depending on the coals.

Crunchy Salad

Tender green, maize gold and pepper red sparkle in this happy blend of salad vegetables with its south-of-the-border flavor. Combine 4 cups finely shredded green cabbage, 1 cup whole kernel corn, ¼ cup diced pimento, ½ cup chopped salted peanuts, 2 tablespoons minced onion, ½ teaspoon salt and salad dressing to moisten.

Citizens' Unit Program Started

All Nominations Not In, but Commissioners Forge Ahead

All the nominations to the new 70-member Citizens Advisory Committee weren't ready last night, but the City Commission enthusiastically began outlining a busy program for the organization, once it is formed.

Commissioner William H. Taylor made the proposals.

He said that City Manager Walter K. Willman and administrative department heads should meet regularly with the group to keep its members abreast of current affairs.

He also asked that all committee members receive copies of the administration's weekly newsletter, which commissioners have been receiving the past year.

"The committee is a good way for us to keep the citizenry informed of civic improvements and civic needs," said Taylor.

Said Commissioner John A. Dugan, who fathered the idea for the committee last year:

"A well informed public is what is needed most in this city."

It is expected that the committee will be called into action soon after its organization is completed, probably next week.

Four Pct. Interest Ceiling on School, City Borrowing

LANSING (AP)—The Municipal Finance Commission has ordered a four per cent interest ceiling on borrowing against anticipated taxes by local school and government units.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams, commission chairman, called tax anticipation notes prime securities and said that four per cent is "ample return under present market conditions."

Commissioners Talk Job Policies

The City Commission has been asked to enact next week a four-point policy concerning job applicants.

Commissioner Milton R. Henry proposed the policy last night, but consented to a week's delay before a vote to give Harold E. Marshall, city personnel director, time to answer assertations that applicants are not being given uniform consideration.

Henry reported last week and again last night that applicants had told him they had been refused job applications by Marshall.

The latest instance, Henry said, involved a man who wore glasses who wanted to join the police department.

"Because of the poor eyesight, Marshall said there was no point in giving the man an application," Henry asserted.

Henry proposed the four-point policy to act as a check on administrative abuse of authority. The four points:

1. No applicant should be denied an application.

2. All applications should be processed by the department concerned.

3. There should be uniform standards for all applicants.

4. Applications—before and after processing—should be open to inspection.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston and Commissioner William H. Taylor Jr. became involved in debate with Henry when they questioned whether the proposal was not a matter for administration.

City Manager Walter K. Willman said that from the administration's point of view, Henry's proposal was sound.

"It's the kind of policy that we are trying to follow," Willman said.

It was Rowston who suggested the delay for Marshall's report.

Commissioners, in other business, adopted the amendment to the special assessment formula that was outlined by Willman last month.

Basically, the change allows for a $1-a-front-foot credit on new curbs and gutters on streets where combined sewers have been installed since 1254.

It also eliminates any assessment for lateral storm sewers in connection with paving projects.

Willman was given authority to hire Leslie R. Tripp as the seventh appraiser to make final appraisals in the urban renewal area.

Hearings were scheduled July 12 on two proposed zoning ordinance changes.

The first would rezone from residential to commercial 2½ lots at the southeast corner of West Huron street and Johnson avenue, where a medical office building is planned.

The second would see eight lots in the Buena Vista subdivision rezoned from commercial to residential. Bounded by Kennett road, Dearborn street and Carlisle avenue, the lots are in an area once zoned commercial for a shopping center.

Final action on a 1958 rezoning proposal was postponed two weeks. This involves rezoning of five lots at the northeast corner of Walton boulevard and University avenue from residential to commercial.

Willman wanted the delay to try once again to get right-of-way off three of the lots for the future widening of Walton.

It was right-of-way that held up adoption of the change two years ago. Since then, the city has received right-of-way off two of the lots.

The Planning Commission revived the proposal last month when it recommended rezoning proceed, even if all the right-of-way hadn't been obtained.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for collision and liability insurance on city vehicles and compensation insurance for ...mization workers.

The Commission agreed to pay an estimated $1,000 as the city's one-quarter share in the cost of a State Highway Department project to construct a new boulevard crossover on Woodward avenue at Fulton street.

Referred to the Planning Commission was a request from the Huron Investment Co. for rezoning of the rear 100 feet behind the Main Post Office on West Huron street from residential to commercial. The company plans to build an automotive garage for the post office.

Also passed on to planners was a petition for the rezoning from residential to manufacturing of two lots on the north side of Elizabeth street and four on the south side.

On Commissioner Wesley J. Wood's motion, a new sidewalk on the west side of Mill street was placed on the public improvement program.

Transfer of the SDM license at 94 Oakland Ave. from Jordan Tenjeras to Vito Craparatta was approved.

Commissioner Winford E. Bottom asked for seal coating on E. Fairmount Avenue, Baldwin to University, and for repairs to chuck holes on Summit street.

Airliner Hits Mountain Near 9,646-Foot Peak on Flight to Anchorage

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An airliner crashed near the peak of 9,646-foot Mt. Gilbert Tuesday, killing all 14 persons aboard.

Among the nine passengers were two children, one only 22 months old, and the wife of a wealthy Alaskan.

The Pacific Northern Airlines Constellation vanished into clouds and drizzle after taking off from Cordova at 6:10 a. m. on the last leg of a flight from Seattle, Wash., to Anchorage.

A search plane spotted the wreckage in late afternoon, about 700 feet from the top of the mountain 60 miles east of here.

An Air Force rescue team reached the wreckage Tuesday night and reported no survivors.

The crash ended 29 years of PNA service in and to Alaska without a passenger fatality.

U.S., Russia to Talk Business Air Routes

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union will start formal talks on a commercial air agreement in Washington July 18.

State Department officials said a Soviet note received last week accepted a U.S. invitation. The Soviets suggested the date.

Gen. E. F. Loginov, chief of the Soviet civil air fleet, will head the Soviet delegation, Moscow informed the State Department. No U.S. delegation has been named thus far.

Officials said there is no indication what routes the Soviets will ask or offer in exchange.

U. S. authorities probably would be satisfied with an initial agreement opening the New York-Moscow route.

On the American side Pan American has the authority to fly to Moscow and Aeroflot, the state-owned Soviet agency, would be Pan Am's opposite number.

Grand Jury Exposes 'Regimen'

Promoter of Diet Pills Under Arrest for Fraud

NEW YORK (AP)—Manufacturers and promoters of "Regimen" tablets were accused by a grand jury Tuesday of falsely advertising the product as a reducing drug.

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said also that the defendants' claims for skin-tanning lotions known as "Man-tan" and "Positan" were under investigation.

A Manhattan grand jury returned a 134-count information against the Drug Research Corp. of New York and two other concerns, alleging conspiracy and false advertising in connection with the Regimen tablets.

Hogan said John Andre, also known as John Andreadis, 48-year-old president of Drug Research Corp., is under arrest on the charges. Andre was the only individual named in the charges.

Other defendants were listed as Kastor, Hilton, Chesley, Clifford and Atherton, Inc., an advertising agency, and the new Drug Institute Laboratories, Inc., both of New York. The latter, said the district attorney, supervised "alleged clinical tests" of Regimen tablets.

Hogan said advertising for the tablets included paid endorsements from persons who underwent strict diets and even took dehydration pills in order to furnish photographic proof that they had lost weight.

He said the Drug Research Corp. made a profit of about two million dollars during the first 10 months of 1959 on an income of more than eight million dollars. But, Hogan added, the firm spent more than four million dollars in advertising.

Production, distribution and other expenses took only about two million dollars, Hogan said.

C&O Asks Authority to Buy B&O Stock

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Co. Tuesday asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for authority to acquire control of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. through an exchange of stock.

C & O also requested permission to acquire, through stock ownership, control of B & O subsidiary or affiliated companies.

In a separate application, the C & O asked authority to issue 2,055,398 shares of its authorized common stock in exchange for outstanding capital stock of the B & O.

The C & O said the managements of the two companies "looking to the future, desire and are working toward ultimate merger and complete integration of the two railroad properties."

But the application said merger or consolidation is not presently feasible and the separate corporate existence of the B & O should be maintained during a transitional period.

Ready to Sign Czech Trade Pact

Cuba Turns Eyes Toward East

HAVANA (AP) — Ernesto Geuvara, president of the National Bank of Cuba, sat down to discuss a trade treaty with a Czechoslovakian mission. The minister of armed forces, Raul Castro, entertained a party of Bulgarians. A team of Soviet geologists completed a mining survey.

That night, Prime Minister Fidel Castro and Guevara headed the list of government officials who attended a performance by an opera company from Communist China.

The influx of commercial and cultural visitors from the Soviet bloc underscored the preoccupation among Western diplomats here about Cuba's gravitation toward the Soviet orbit.

"It appears that only the United States is not yet convinced where this thing is going," one European diplomat said privately.

Cuba, proclaiming the exercise of its sovereignty, has turned commercial and diplomatic eyes toward the East—away from traditional friends and markets in the west.

Trade pacts with the Soviet Union and Communist Poland and an imminent treaty with Czechoslovakia make clear Communist merchants have more than a foot in the Cuban door.

This island only 90 miles from the United States has become a favorite stomping ground for anti-Western political leaders.

The well-traveled premier of the Soviet Union, Nikita Khrushchev, has accepted a government invitation to visit here. Friendship with Communist China is blooming under the cultivation of a Chinese-Cuban Friendship Committee.

The Castro regime has sent a steady flow of government and labor leaders behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains on various missions of trade and good will.

Anti-Americanism falls short of being official government policy. Vitriolic attacks on the United States are accompanied by words of praise and friendship for things Soviet and Socialist.

Guevara is on record as saying the Soviet Union is Cuba's best friend. Maj. Faure Chaumon, who will be Castro's first ambassador to Moscow, has urged closer ties between Cuba and the Soviet bloc.

Cuban newspaper readers, with only one neutral independent daily to read, are subtly fed the Soviet point of view in their daily news through Tass and a host of other Communist news agencies whose stories are distributed in Spanish in the name of a Cuban news service.

Wheat Crop Up Over Last Year

Will Be One Bushel Per Acre Better; Corn Same as 1959

LANSING, (UPI) — Michigan wheat farmers can expect about a bushel an acre more than last year on their wheat crop, the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service said today.

The service said its prediction, based on June 1 conditions, was that the yield would be about 32 bushels an acre last year.

The expected yield was well below the record high of 38 bushels per acre harvested in 1958, the service said.

Corn planting was running behind schedule due to poor planting weather. Pastures, hay fields and winter grains besides wheat all started slowly this spring, but by June 1 were equal to last year's record crop, the service said.

Fruit prospects in the June 1 forecasts called for peach and sweet cherry yields to be above last year, while pears were expected to be slightly below last year.

Few Michigan fruit trees were damaged by frost this year, the service said.

Milk production in Michigan set a new record during May, and was slightly higher than last year even though there were fewer cows being milked.

Egg production was up because of the rate of lay had improved but there were fewer hens laying.

Bride and Groom in Separate Cells for Many Months

PIERRE, S.D. (UPI) — Newlyweds Leon and Bonnie Berry honeymooned in separate jail cells today.

According to a judge, it could be six years before they'll get around to decorating that little vine-covered cottage.

Berry, 34, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with attempt to kill and was sentenced to six years in the state penitentiary. His bride, the former Bonnie Fletcher, 27, was sentenced to one year for helping him escape to California, where they were captured.

After the sentencing, Circuit Judge O. K. Whitney granted the couple's request to be married.

They were taken to Fort Pierre, S.D., where they promised to "love, honor and obey . . . for better or for worse."

Then they were separated to spend their wedding night — and many nights to come — in isolated prison gloom.

Grosse Pointers Get Time on Point Order

LANSING (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams has granted a 30-day extension on a deadline set for Grosse Pointe area groups to do away with discriminatory point applied to potential home buyers.

Today was the original deadline set for property owner and real estate organizations to comply with requirements set up by the attorney general after a hearing on the point system.

Because progress is being made, Adams said, he and Lawrence Gubow, state corporations and securities commissioner, decided to allow additional time.

The point system discriminated against home buyers of certain racial, nationality and religious backgrounds.

Oh, No! Scots in Macbeth Are Englishmen

HAWICK, England (AP)—Scottish prosperity has forced a movie company filming Macbeth to hire Englishmen to play the doughty Scots who fought the English invaders in Shakespeare's classic.

"It'll probably shock England," said American producer director George Schaeffer, "but there's nothing else we could do."

Scottish employment agencies were able to furnish 50 idle natives, but that left the company short about 150 extras.

"By scouring the nearby countryside we found half a dozen more Scots, but that's all," Schaeffer said.

"We were forced to go south of the border and recruit Englishmen from around Carlisle on the English side of the frontier."

Soybean Futures Firm Up Slightly

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures firmed up slightly today but the grains with only meager scattered support were mostly easier in early dealings on the Board of Trade.

Nearly all price changes were only minor fractions from previous closes as traders said the market still lacked any incentives for speculative activity.

There was a little profit taking in oats and a little short covering in new crop soybeans.

Select Trading Clouds Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Heavy trading in selected issues featured an uncertain, irregular stock market early this afternoon.

Over-all volume moved at a good clip, but most attention was focused on space age issues such as Standard Coil, Beckman Instruments, Zenith, Litton Industries and the like. Ford, too, was extremely active and ahead more than a point.

Except for the market favorites, gains and losses were about evenly balanced in a narrow trading range. Movements were restricted to about a point, generally.

The key word on the Street was "consolidation," as one and all awaited the next decisive move.

The time-tested, old-line issues included in market averages were largely neglected and mostly somewhat lower.

Most groups were mixed, but steels, rubbers, aircrafts and chemicals leaned toward the downside. Metals and drugs were steady.

Standard Coil, in the process of changing its name to Standard Kollsman Industries, was in the thick of trading and up nearly 2.

The first sale was a whopping block of 17,000 shares. Beckman and Litton rose more than 3 and Zenith around 2.

Universal Match "new" stock, the result of a split, added 3 to recent strength, while other active gainers included NAFI, Transitron, General Instrument and General Time.

International Business Machines was down around 3 and Polaroid about 5.

Analysts said many of these specialties again were benefiting from favorable chart patterns.

Woman Injured as Intruder Hurls Her to Basement

A 62-year-old Pontiac woman was injured yesterday afternoon when a stranger forced his way into her home and threw her down a flight of steps into the basement.

Zarooki Dakesian, 326 Central St., told police the intruder asked for her husband when he came to the house at 2:20 p.m.

He flung her down the basement steps, locked the door, then took a record player valued at $140 and $15 from a piggy bank, she told Pontiac police.

Mrs. Dakesian, who suffered multiple fractures, was in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today.

City Will Study Postal Request

Rezoning on Huron for Garage to Save Money, Says Donaldson

A request for rezoning an area from residential to commercial behind the U.S. Post Office at 735 W. Huron St. in order to construct a Post Office service station for its 50 trucks is before the City Planning Commission.

William W. Donaldson, Pontiac's acting postmaster, said the move would save the post office thousands of dollars annually.

The post office garage presently is located at 138 W. Pike St.

Owners of the property, the Huron Investment Co. of Detroit, would construct the 116 by 32-foot building and lease it to the post office, Donaldson said.

The service station would be used for washing, fueling, greasing and minor repairs to the city post office's 50 vehicles.

"The convenience of the new location would be a great savings in our operation," Donaldson said.

Court Averts 3-Airline Strike

But Eastern Remains Crippled by Feud on Jet Flight Inspectors

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal court order may have averted a walkout by pilots of three of the nation's largest airlines in a dispute over cockpit seating of federal inspectors in jet aircraft.

Eastern Air Lines, crippled since Friday because its pilots refused to fly its jets out of Miami, Fla., had only a few planes in the air despite a similar injunction issued there ordering the pilots back to work.

Eastern said its planes were ready to take off, but it could not reach any of the pilots. The Air Line Pilots Assn. has authorized no strike and has asked pilots to comply with the court's order.

The other carriers involved are American Airlines, Pan American World Airways, and Trans World Airlines.

In Chicago Tuesday they sought and got a temporary injunction barring pilots of the three lines from interfering with regularly scheduled flight service.

The three lines asked for the order after their pilots adopted resolutions notifying the companies they would not fly jets if inspectors for the Federal Aviation Agency insist on displacing the third pilot from his flight station during flights.

3 Couples Must Stop Blockades

LANSING (AP) — Three rural Washtenaw County families were under court order today to stop interfering with construction of a superhighway.

Circuit Judge Louis E. Coash of Ingham County issued the restraining order yesterday against Mr. and Mrs. Harrison West, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin B. West and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon J. Casad. He also ordered them to show cause why a permanent injunction should not be issued.

The three families own adjoining tracts south of Chelsea where the new Interstate 94 freeway is under construction.

The state acquired some 20 acres from the three couples earlier this year after a necessity hearing. But they refused the State Highway Department's settlement offer.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams and the State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie started suit when the couples refused to move off the property, and set up blockades with their autos.

The state's suit also accused them of cursing highway workers and said Mrs. Casad attacked one of them with her fists.

Sees Furniture Charges as 'Made Out of Nothing'

WASHINGTON (AP)—There was "obviously no connection" between Secretary of Commerce Frederick H. Mueller and the purchase by the State Department of $89,400 worth of furniture from his son, says Sen. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill).

Dirksen told the Senate yesterday that Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) had made a week ease in speech Monday attacking the purchase of embassy furniture from the Mueller Metals Corp. of Grand Rapids, Mich., headed by Frederick E. Mueller.

Dirksen, as the Senate GOP leader, was making the administration's reply to Proxmire.

Proxmire listened to Dirksen's account of the State Department's version of the purchases and replied:

"I know of no man who can do more with no case at all than the Republican leader — it's amazing."

Proxmire told the Senate Monday that nearly $70,000 of the furniture was purchased from Mueller Metals for the new embassy building at Caracas, Venezuela, and that 90 per cent of it was shipped by plane at a cost of $30,186.

And he said that Frederick H. Mueller was acting secretary of commerce on July 22 and a member of the Foreign Service Buildings Commission when the furniture was ordered July 22, 1958.

Dirksen said that the commission has "not actually met" in 10 years and all of its functions, except of an advisory nature, were long ago transferred to the State Department.

Dirksen cited legislation he contended gave the state Department authority to purchase the furnishings without competitive bidding and said the State Department "exercised good judgment and has no apologies to make."

"Certainly the secretary of commerce was not involved in the transaction to the slightest degree," Dirksen said. "He had no pecuniary interest in it. He should not be subject to innuendos."

Replying to Proxmire's charge that no effort was made to price the same furniture in Venezuela, Dirksen said the State Department had no Venezuela currency for that purpose, likes to buy from American firms if possible, and that cost in Venezuela "are among the highest in the world."

Proxmire stuck by his guns. He said Sec. Mueller, whom he described as the "hatchet man" for the Eisenhower administration in charging extravagance to Democrats, had a legal responsibility for such expenditures. He repeated the furniture was sold without competitive bidding, and his other charges.

At Detroit, Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich) said yesterday Proxmire's attack on Mueller was a "collection of half-truths, outright falsehoods and misrepresentations of actual fact."

WAY CLEARED — Miss Hong Kong turned up with a "new" father and apparently smoothed the way for her appearance in the Miss Universe contest at Miami Beach, Fla., next month. Vivien Cheung, 20, applied for a visa to the United States Tuesday presenting an identity card listing her father as a Formosa businessman. It had been reported that she was the daughter of Cheung Ying, actor and ex-executive of a Red-labeled film business.

State College Sets $1,750,000 Drive

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—A campaign to raise $1,750,000 for more buildings at Northwestern Michigan College was announced Tuesday by Les Biederman, president of the college board of trustees.

A five-year program, it aims to provide two dormitories, a library, a science building and a nursing school. Biederman said it would allow the college to double its enrollment to an estimated 1,200 students. Construction is expected to start in July on the library.

The building program will be financed by taxes, private drives, matching state funds and federal appropriations.

Northwestern Michigan College started nine years ago with classes for 65 students in a surplus airplane hangar. It now provides two years of college work on a permanent campus with one main building and several portable units. Some financing still comes through annual community bake sales and a barbecue.

Great Lakes Seamen Face Expiring Pact

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for eight Great Lakes shipping fleets and the National Maritime Union faced a midnight contract expiration deadline today with both sides saying they are far apart on a new agreement.

A union spokesman said the possibility of a strike if a new contract is not agreed upon by the deadline "is up to the men on the ships." The NMU represents 1,800 crewmen on more than 25 lakes vessels — oil tankers, freighters and ore carriers.

The eight fleets involved are owned by the Ford Motor Co., Nicholson Transit Corp., Texas Co., Standard Oil Co., Cleveland Tankers, Inc., Sinclair Refining Co., Lake Tankers Corp., and Gulf Oil Co.

Frank Shouldn't Try to Make Comparison

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Bobby Darin seemed to our provincial little Broadway mob to be the biggest man in the world, so I intrepidly asked him about being compared to Frank Sinatra.

"I'm flattered that Frank digs my work and by any comparison with him" — Bobby filled his pipe and stared at his red socks, sitting in his hotel dressing room—"But . . .

"It an insult to Frank to compare him with a 25-year-old punk like me.

"The knockers, the non-rooters, come to see me, and say, 'He's no Sinatra.' I'm not old enough. Frank's been doing this work as long as I'm on this earth."

Having grown up in the Bronx and emerged alive, Walden Robert Cassotto fears nobody and is Poise, Personality and Presence . . . everything an actor needs save talent . . . which he has, too.

"I'll never have any entourages or hangers-on," he told me. "I'd rather enjoy five or six people for the rest of my life than be disappointed by a lot of oddballs in this business.

"I don't drink. If I weren't in this business, I wouldn't be in a night club twice a year."

Bobby has a Hollywood home and financial worries and managers and tailors—and gets asked about his vow he'd be the biggest thing in show business by his 25th birthday.

"It was just a goal I set to make myself work hard. I still have to do motion pictures and the stage. To 9 out of 10 kids, the real glamour part of this business is the movies. That's what I want."

I saw Bobby play to one of the biggest crowds ever and wondered whether he would be as great as Jolson.

Little Leaguers, Arise: You Too Can Be a 'Giant'

By FRED DANZIG

NEW YORK (UPI) — Naturally, I don't believe a word of the special story I saw on NBC-TV last night.

The 90-minute film, "How Tall Is a Giant?," would have me believe that 14 pint-size, hungry, patchy-pants, shaggy-hair boys from Monterrey, Mexico, could be organized into a little league baseball team.

As if that wasn't enough, this team could knock off a dozen well-fed, crew-cut teams from this country to win the little league world championship at Williamsport, Pa.

And, to top it off, the Monterrey kids won as their star pitcher, a lad who could throw with either hand, tossed a perfect game.

LOOK IT UP

Nary a player from the La Mesa, Calif. team reached first base safely against little Angel Ruiz.

What's that you say? You say this actually happened? It happened in August 1957? I can look it up in the papers if I don't believe it? We-e-ll . . . all right. I'll take your word for it.

It's just that I figured it was another attempt by grownups to fabricate a modern-day Cinderella story that would help today's youngster keep his sights aimed high and his ideals higher.

So that motion picture told a true story, eh? Those kids in Monterrey really did work hard to learn the fundamentals of baseball?

They listened to their coach, Cesar Faz, and their manager, Harold "Lucky" Haskins? And while they obviously had loads of natural ability, they had to overcome feelings of inferiority?

They had to be shown that, in baseball, the distance from the hill to home plate is the same everywhere, as Coach Faz said.

PREJUDICE STIRS

All that actually happened, eh? And they also had to cope with prejudice in those instances, fortunately rare, where the welcome mat was held back.

Okay, I believe, But, Gee, the movie had many amateurish touches . . . the dialogue was often repeated . . . the dubbing was often out of synch . . . the action shots were . . . too many questions were unans . . . oh, nuts.

Let's face it, I really agree with the program's host, Ernie Ford, who called it a "wonderfully moving, heart-warming, unforgettable story."

I hope they run this glowing story every year. It would help those little leaguers whose teams are losing. It would help those kids whose teams are winning.

And, maybe best of all, it would help those kids who couldn't or didn't make the team, I know it will help all their parents.

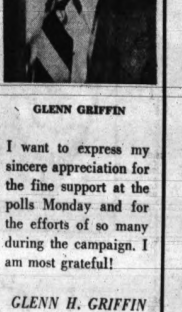
THE CHANNEL SWIM: "America's Future," a weekly series of live "Town Hall" forums on vital questions, will replace "World Wide 60" on NBC-TV's Saturday night schedule in the fall.

The format calls for public figures to debate an issue and then field questions from the studio audience.

In addition, NBC-TV has announced a series of six full-hour prime time reports that will deal with such topics as: public relations; responsibilities of the press; TV; education; government and medicine.

Ponders Shifts in Tax Laws

But Odds Slim for Any Enactment of Changes This Year



GLENN GRIFFIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Finance Committee today considers a variety of changes in the tax laws. The odds appear slim that any of them will be enacted this year.

Before the group is a House-passed bill strongly urged by the Eisenhower administration extending for another year the present corporation income and federal excise tax rates. If they are allowed to drop June 30, federal revenues would decline an estimated four billion dollars a year.

* * *

The measure also includes a temporary eight-billion-dollar increase in the 285-billion permanent national debt ceiling for the year ahead. The present temporary 10-billion increase expires June 30.

SPONSORS ANXIOUS

Sponsors of various tax proposals have been waiting for this annual extension measure because it is the one revenue measure certain to become law this year in some form.

However, their chances of changing other tax rates appeared doubtful for these reasons:

1. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson reportedly told the committee Tuesday in a lengthy secret session that the bill would be vetoed if any tax cuts were included. Presumably, President Eisenhower then would ask Congress to repass a simple extension bill quickly.

* * *

2. House Ways and Means Committee members are understood to have assured their colleagues they would accept no Senate amendments. The House considered the bill under a rule barring changes; that branch is jealous of its prerogative to originate all revenue legislation.

Sam Houston, first president of the Republic of Texas, got most of his boyhood education by memorizing a translation of Homer's "Iliad," his only book.

Tots With Matches Are Worst Firebugs

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — An arson expert says the firebugs who cause the most damage are youngsters with matches.

"One of our big jobs is to catch these kids early," said Sgt. H. B. Hatcher of the Los Angeles Sheriffs Arson Squad.

"The little ones, 2 and 3, start fires by accident but when they get to be 8 or more they know what they're doing."

His Stare Convincing but He's Still Guilty

MEMPHIS (AP) — When a police officer testified that Robert Malone, 54, had a "glassy stare" after being arrested and charged with drunk driving, his lawyer reacted quickly.

"The defendant should have a glassy stare," he told the judge. Malone removed his left eye, made of glass.

It didn't help. The judge found him guilty, fined him $250 and sentenced him to 30 days in jail.

Turn of the Tables Permits Man to Win

DELAFIELD, Wis. (AP)—For three years the all male Raconteurs Club sponsored an essay contest on the subject, "Why Men are Better Writers than Women." Each year a woman won first prize.

This year the club changed the subject to "Why Men are More Romantic than Women."

At last a man won. He was Conrad Rinelli of Milwaukee. His wife, Victoria, however, placed third.

Barking Good Idea: Helps Pad Knees

MEDFORD, Minn. (UPI)—Kids here have just as much fun as other children on their school playground, but mothers have noticed fewer skinned knees lately.

The reason is a new playground cover at six of the city's elementary schools.

Bark mulch, a by-product of Medford's forest industries, has been piled to goosedown-mattress thickness of four inches and effectively cushions the kids' rough-and-tumble play.

ANYONE FOR MARS?

Chances are there's more than one budding astronaut in this bright-eyed group. As in any other classroom in the land, there are probably several potential teachers, too . . . along with a sprinkling of doctors, scientists, linguists, engineers and poets.

Let's hope so.

Let's hope that all the bright-eyed youngsters in all the classrooms in this great country of ours will have every opportunity to make the most of their God-given talents. Let's hope they go to first-rate colleges and universities, where they will be trained to be useful and productive citizens. We're going to need them all in the critical years that lie ahead.

Yet what are their chances?

Today the college classroom, the place where future brainpower is generated, is being seriously weakened by two alarming trends: (1) Low faculty salaries are driving great numbers of gifted teachers into other fields, and doing little to attract talented young people to the teaching profession. And (2) physical facilities, in some cases already inadequate, are not being expanded to take care of mushrooming enrollments. (College applications are expected to double within ten years!)

This is a serious situation, and we must do something about it now! Our future as a nation depends on it. Won't you help? Support the college of your choice. Help it to pay teachers decent salaries and the respect they so richly deserve. Help it to build the classrooms, laboratories and libraries that will be so desperately needed by 1970. The rewards will be greater than you think.

It's important for you to know what the college crisis means to you. Write for a free booklet to: HIGHER EDUCATION, Box 36, Times Square Station, New York 36, New York.

Worry Over New Riots

Premier Kishi Calls Cabinet to Aid Security

U. S. Officials Study Mob Action as They Await Ike on Sunday

MANILA (AP)—The bloody new riots in Tokyo have left American security officials deeply concerned whether Japanese police can protect President Eisenhower, it was reported today.

Members of Eisenhower's party were disturbed over Tokyo dispatches which pictured the Japanese police as helpless against the latest onslaught of thousands of leftwing students who stormed the Parliament buildings there.

Japan's Premier Nobosuku Kishi called a midnight Cabinet session to discuss a situation which one of his aides described as equivalent to insurrection.

The riots were Japan's worst so far in the month-long campaign against Kishi and the new U.S.-Japan defense treaty.

President Eisenhower is due in Tokyo Sunday afternoon.

Informed sources, requesting that they not be named, said they understood that U. S. security forces both in Manila with Eisenhower and in Tokyo are assessing the new situation.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty declined comment. Hagerty himself was besieged on a visit to Tokyo last Friday. A U.S. Marine helicopter rescued him.

Meanwhile, the President declared that the United States must remain "strong and faithful to its friends" in the face of the Soviet Union's anti-American offensive.

Hailed again by thousands of friendly Filipinos after his stupendous welcome Tuesday, he assailed international communism as the single most important breeder of world tension.

Eisenhower spoke in a major foreign policy address to a joint session of the Philippine Congress. It was the first in a series he will make during his 10-day tour of the Philippines, Formosa, Okinawa, Japan and Korea.

After breakfast at the palace, he and President Carlos P. Garcia talked on Filipino-American relations and the Communist threat in the Far East.

Hoskins Says M59 Too Narrow

Cites Airport Road Needs

Pontiac Municipal Airport is expanding into the jet age but state highways leading to it are still in the horse-and-buggy age, Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager, declared yesterday.

"Perhaps the biggest problem ahead of us at the airport is the traffic situation," said Hoskins in an address to the Downtown Kiwanis Club.

"If the airport is to serve a wide area—as a second big terminal for the Detroit area — we've got to have better highways leading to it."

Of most concern to Hoskins was Highland road (M59).

He said the two-lane state highway between the airport and Elizabeth Lake road is far too narrow to handle existing loads, let alone the traffic that will build up as the airport becomes busier.

"This highway must be expanded to four lanes at least, if not five," said Hoskins.

A good report on M59 came after Hoskins' talk from Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer, who said State Highway Department planners had given assurances that plans for expansion to five lanes are in the mill.

Hoskins said good highways are needed for traffic to and from Pontiac, south Oakland County and Detroit.

Hoskins reiterated several points about the airport's future.

He predicted again that the field will be expanded to become the area's second big jet terminal.

And to accomplish this expansion, Hoskins said, the city must be joined by the county.

Expansion under the federal aid program might cost more than 10 million dollars, he said, with local authorities required to raise five million or so.

"The city couldn't do this alone."

Hoskins said area authorities

Commission Lines Up 4-3 Against Straley

Anti-Straley forces are in the saddle by a 4-3 margin, the first vote of the 1960-1962 City Commission on the status of controversial Police Chief Herbert W. Straley showed last night.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston and two other anti-Straley commissioners said they were "ready to move on the Straley question" as commissioners clashed again over the Police Department for the second time in two weeks.

"If you want to withdraw your court action, I'm ready to move on Straley next week," asserted Rowston to the pro-Straley minority on the Commission.

Veteran Commissioners John A. Dugan and Wesley J. Wood immediately endorsed the mayor's statement.

Asked what he meant by being "ready to move" on Straley, Rowston today replied: "To authorize the city manager to act as he feels is in the best interests of the City of Pontiac."

Neither Milton R. Henry nor Robert A. Landry—the two pro-Straley commissioners who brought the present court action protecting Straley in his job,—made any indication they would accept the mayor's challenge.

FORCE VOTE

Instead, they forced to a vote a motion to give Straley "full authority as chief" for a 60-day period, and said the chief could end troubles in the department during that period.

The vote found newly-elected Commissioner William H. Taylor siding with the anti-Straley majority and the other new Commissioner Winford E. Bottom with the minority.

"Straley's had seven years in

Pontiac Citizen Has Conscience, Pays His Debt

Pontiac possesses one of the nation's most honest citizens.

So says Harry S. Nichols of Bloomfield Hills.

The mailman just delivered Nichols an envelope, stamped "Pontiac," which contained a $20 bill and two 10s. "The bills," says Nichols, "were yellow around the edges and looked as though they came from the distant past. But they're sound currency of the realm."

Accompanying the money was a note that said: "This covers material taken from the Nichols Construction Co."

Blue Shield Rates Hiked 11½ Per Cent

LANSING (AP) — An 11½ per cent increase in Blue Shield premiums for medical care was authorized today by State Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford.

The higher rates, authorizing increases ranging from 30 cents to $1.02 a month, will go into effect July 1. They will expire a year later, Blackford said.

About 3¼ million Michigan subscribers, nearly one half the state's population, will be affected, the commissioner said.

ANIMAL HONOREE — It might appear that Princeton University has overdone the practice of awarding honorary degrees this year, but such is not the case. The academic garb was reserved for New Jersey's Gov. Robert Meyner. However, he was unable to attend.

Ex-Republican Keyes to Run as a Democrat

Seeks His Old Position; Morris Beats Deadline to File for 7th Term

LANSING (AP)—Sen. Carlton H. Morris, who backed out of the governor race two weeks ago, will try for a seventh term in the Senate and a former Republican lieutenant governor will bid for his old office as a Democrat.

Entries of Morris and Eugene C. Keyes of Dearborn, who was elected lieutenant governor in 1942 and 1946 as a Republican, helped set the stage for lively primary election battles across the state.

The candidate roster filled out yesterday as 53 aspirants to state and congressional offices converged on the secretary of state's office before the 4 p.m. filing deadline.

Others in single county districts made formal entries at their respective county seats.

Roy G. Lord, former Gaylord city attorney, missed the boat when he appeared at the state elections office with his nominating petition moments after the door had been shut tight.

A Republican, he wanted to try for the Senate seat vacated by ailing Sen. Frank Andrews (R-Hillman).

Rep. George W. Sallade, maverick Republican legislator from Ann Arbor who is bidding for the lieutenant governor nomination, beat the deadline by only five minutes.

226 to Graduate From Northern

Dana Rose, assistant vice president of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., will address 226 graduates at the Pontiac Northern High School commencement exercises beginning at 8 p.m. Friday in the school gymnasium.

Rose's topic is entitled, "Day After Tomorrow."

Presiding over the program will be Glenn H. Griffin, president of the Board of Education.

DANA ROSE

Eldon E. Rosegart, instrumental music instructor, will conduct the high school band in the traditional processional, "Pomp and Circumstance."

The Rev. M. R. Everett, pastor of the Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church, will deliver the invocation, followed by remarks from Class President Lee Barrie.

Rose's address is next on the program.

A graduate of Hillsdale College, Rose began his telephone career in 1929 and had worked as a salesman in a number of cities, including Pontiac before moving up through the executive ranks.

He presently is treasurer of the Michigan Chapter of the Public Relations Society of America, a member of the Detroit Executives Assn. the Budget Panel of the United Community Services of Detroit, the Education Committee of the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce, the Advisory Board of the Detroit League of Women Voters and the Board of Directors of the Children's Center of Metropolitan Detroit.

Rose will be followed on the commencement program by the school band's rendition of Jerome Kern's "The Way You Look Tonight."

Principal Philip J. Wargelin will present the class and awards.

Diplomas will be awarded by Dr Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools.

The benediction will be delivered by the Rev. Everett, and the graduates will file out to the recessional, "Processional," by Lucien Caliet.

Northern's graduating class officers are Lee Barrie, president; Phyllis Dooley, vice president; Christine Kleino, secretary; and Stanley Hertel, treasurer.

Reach Tentative Douglas Peace

Comes Hours After 2 Unions Halt Missiles There and at Lockheed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two powerful unions struck Lockheed and Douglas, builders and launchers of key United States missiles and satellites, today. Hours later a tentative agreement was announced in the Douglas walkout.

The massive strikes by the International Assn. of Machinists and United Auto Workers hit installations across the country at midnight local times.

But the UAW and Douglas, in a joint statement, announced shortly after 3 a.m. that continuous negotiating sessions had brought a tentative agreement on a new two-year contract covering 22,000 hourly-rated employes at Long Beach, Calif., and Tulsa, Okla.

Talks on local issues at Charundisclosed pending membership lotte, N.C., where Douglas also has a plant, continued.

TERMS UNDISCLOSED

Terms of the settlement were meetings. The proposal still must be ratified by union members.

The agreement appeared to break the vise-like grip which a series of labor disputes was closing on the United States space and missile program.

Another 10,000 IAM machinists started a strike of several Lockheed aircraft facilities today and promptly set up picket lines.

In separate action, IAM already has picketed Air Force bases for several days where Convair, another of the industry's giants, has Atlas missile facilities.

The strikes at midnight, hit factories producing high priority hardware for the nation's defense armory.

Winner Opposes Rep. Broomfield Next November

At Petition Deadline, 52 Had Filed for 14 Posts in Oakland County

Local Democrats have tossed six congressional candidates into the primary hopper, asking voters to pick out one to do battle with unopposed incumbent U.S. Rep. William S. Broomfield in November.

Even a candidate from outside Oakland County has entered the 17th Congressional District race.

When the race by candidates to submit nominating petitions, or $100 fees in lieu of petitions, was declared officially finished at 4 p.m. yesterday, the Oakland County lineup read this way:

Fifty-two candidates had filed for 14 offices. There were 30 Democratic candidates and 22 Republicans. The total is only two more than the number that filed in 1958, the last presidential election year.

There were 66 in 1958.

All six Republican county officeholders have met with no party opposition. Democrats have tossed in nine candidates for the offices of prosecutor, sheriff, clerk-register, treasurer, drain commissioner, and the lesser-known fee job of surveyor.

Besides the hot six-man race for the Democratic nomination for Congress, the incumbent-free contest for Oakland County's 12th District Senate seat appears equally torrid.

There are three Republicans hoping to fill the shoes of Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, who prefers the robes of a judge to a state senator's seat, and three Democrats after the senatorial nomination.

Each party will pick one nominee for all 14 offices in the Aug. 2 primary. Winners then move on to the November ballots.

Among Oakland's six state representative posts, there loomed good prospects of primary runoffs in Districts 3, 4, 5, and 6.

District 3, consisting of the Birmingham, Bloomfield, Troy and Commerce areas, is extra attractive to both parties since Rep. Farrell E. Roberts decided to jump a peg into the Senate GOP nomination race.

He'll be joined by Huntington Woods Mayor David R. Calhoun and Richard D. Kuhn, Pontiac attorney and car-wash owner making his fifth try for the GOP Senate nomination.

8 Attorneys Seek Probate Judgeship

A prized $22,500-a-year new probate judgeship in Oakland County is being eagerly sought by eight attorneys.

Veteran Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, on the bench since 1938, was unopposed for another regular four-year term. His name will go on the November countywide ballots automatically.

Two of the attorneys who filed nominating petitions are relative newcomers to Oakland County judicial circles, although both reside here.

They are David Kaufman, 30, of 29550 Everett St., Southfield, and Herbert Burdick, 44, of 25605 Dundee Rd., Royal Oak. Both have offices in Detroit.

The new position they and the other six lawyers are after was created by the 1960 Legislature.

One of the men responsible for the new judgeship bill, which won Gov. Williams' signature in April, is one of the eight candidates. He is Sen. L. Harvey Lodge of Waterford Township.

He chose not to seek re-election to a third term representing Oakland County in the Senate to bid for the two-year term which begins Jan. 1.

All eight judicial hopefuls will have their names on the Aug. 2 nonpartisan ballots. The top two vote-getters then will bid for the new job in the courthouse in the November election.

Among the eight are former Circuit Judge Theodore F. Hughes of Berkley and Donald E. Adams, Waterford Township justice of the peace since 1947 and Oakland's commissioner on the State Bar of Michigan.

Verne C. Hampton, Circuit Court commissioner since 1947 and an unsuccessful candidate for the fifth circuit judgeship last year, filed his petitions for the two-year term. Hampton lives in Bloomfield Township.

Joining him were Royal Oak attorney, Supervisor and Commissioner John B. Osgood, and Ralph S. Moore, 36-year-old partner in a Berkley law firm.

As the second hand on the clock in the county clerk's office moved closer to the 4 p.m. deadline yesterday for submitting petitions, one announced candidate was still missing. He never made it.

David E. Utley, Pontiac attorney, said he had decided two weeks ago to withdraw despite having some petitions filled out.

"I decided I didn't have a chance," Utley said.

Like partisan candidates who had to meet Tuesday's deadline also, judicial candidates have until 4 p.m. Friday to withdraw from the race.

Keep 2nd Cup of Coffee in Pot; It Won't Help

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — If you have breakfast coffee at 7 a.m., you won't get much lift from a coffee break until after 10 a.m., University of Michigan researchers reported today.

From what is believed to be the first experimental evidence on the effect of caffeine on the isolated cortex of the brain, the researchers found that while caffeine is a stimulent, it also gives temporary immuization against further stimulation.

The caffeine in one cup of coffee, they found, partially blocks the effects of a second cup for about three hours.

A person gets maximum stimulation about 20 minutes after drinking a cup of coffee. The stimulation continues at peak level for about 1½ hours, then quickly wears off.

An additional dose of caffeine —or cup of coffee—taken during the 1½ hours of peak stimulation from the first cup will not raise the level of stimulation as much as the first dose, the researchers said.

ledger there will be Oak Park attorney S. Jerome Bronson, Robert H. Chapin, Drayton Plains real estate broker and Joseph T. Stadnik former Wixom mayor and carlot operator.

The number of Democratic candidates seeking a ticket to Washington is one of the largest in many county election years, party officials say. There were five in 1956.

Carlos G. Richardson, county Democratic chairman, attributed the number to a general feeling among Democrats that this is their year. They want to ride in on the winning national bandwagon, he said.

'CHANCE TO WIN'

"They seem to think there's a chance of winning and they want to be in there," Richardson said, as he surveyed the list of candidates who will eventually pick his successor.

Richardson, under fire by a new faction of the local party disturbed with his leadership, has announced he's through. Successful August nominees will pick the new chairman.

Some favorite candidates of Mrs. Harriett Phillips, leader of the new group, were evident in the lineup of candidates, Richardson said. A screening panel from her group will hold secret interviews of candidates this week.

Among the six Democratic congressional hopefuls are two former candidates for this and another office, and four relative newcomers to Oakland politics.

The former candidates are Zigmund J. Niparko, Ferndale economics teacher and Hazel Park councilman; and Leo P. Meagher, pharmacist and nominee for the Senate seat two years ago.

Opposing them for the nomination will be James Kellis, recently retired Air Force intelligence officer of Berkley; Ralph T. Johnson, Chrysler Corp. labor relations official from Oak Park; George E. Lennox of Royal Oak, owner of a Hazel Park industrial tool supply company; and Joseph Kadans, 47-year-old Detroit lawyer and author.

Kadans was declared eligible for the 18th Congressional District race by Robert M. Montgomery, state director of elections.

"It's rather unusual but legal," Montgomery said. State election laws only specify that the candidate need "be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen."

Not submitting petitions was previous announced candidate Edward J. Vanderlaan, Birmingham school teacher from Troy, who had found fault with Mrs. Phillips' wing of the party.

Missing, too, when all petitions were in, was George D. Hicks, Democratic nominee for sheriff for 1952, 1954, 1956, and 1958.

Unopposed for the nomination this year is 53-year-old Oxford auto dealer Homer Hight, former Pontiac Motor Division plant protection officer.

Coming back into the race after a two-year absence is former State Rep. Walter T. McMahon, who served District 6 for 10 years before he lost the nomination in 1958 to present incumbent Rep. John C. Hitchcock of Hazel Park. Hitchcock will oppose McMahon again, as will Henry Ford Pickering, a laborer from Madison Heights.

The only woman to file was the 1958 Republican nominee for the District 6 seat in the House of Representatives Mrs. Dorothy M. Rowley, Hazel Park housewife.

She'll be opposed for the nomination by Ferndale attorney Robert J. Turner, who is running in the heavily Democratic area in hopes of boosting gubernatorial candidate Paul D. Bagwell's chances. He's co-chairman of the "Bagwell Boosters."

County Republicans, who seek to keep their strong hold on local offices again this year, went almost to the final gun yesterday without as much hint of an opponent for State Rep. Arthur J. Law of Pontiac.

Five hours before the deadline Richard I. Moore, district manager of the National Federation of Independent Businesses, jumped into the race for the Republican nomination. Two years ago he announced his candidacy for governor. He quit before the primary.

District 1 State Rep. Lloyd A. Anderson (R-Waterford Township) has no opposition for the re-nomination. Nor has Rep. William Hayward (R-Royal Oak) in District 5.

Southfield Democratic Rep. S. James Clarkson has, however. It will come from Albert A. Kramer, 361-year-old Detroit attorney from Oak Park.

The winner in this race will meet one of four Republicans pitched into a concerted effort to recapture this seat from the Democrats.

Evidence of the factional split in the Democratic party can be seen in the Democratic nomination for county clerk-register of deeds.

John E. Kronenberg, nominee tow years for the post, supports Richardson, while his opponent, David S. Lees, union representative for the Office Employes International Union, is on the side of Mrs. Phillips' pro-labor camp.

Candidates have until 4 p.m. Friday to withdraw.

Dairyland Creamery, MMPA to Merge

CARSON CITY (AP) — A director-approved merger of the Dairyland Cooperative Creamery Co. with the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. gained overwhelming ratification from Dairyland stock-holders.

The vote was 265,451 shares in favor to 2,433 shares opposed.

It totaled approval by 73 per cent of the cooperative's outstanding shares of common and preferred stock. The Securities and Exchange Commission requires 66⅔ per cent approval.

The vote dissolves the Dairyland organization as a corporate entity effective July 1. Merger terms include equal exchange of Dairyland's common and preferred stock for stock in the MMPA which is absorbing Dairyland's plants, equipment and fluid milk distribution means at Carson City and Greenville.

Community House Drive Again Short of Its Goal

BIRMINGHAM—For the second consecutive year, the Birmingham Community House Fund Drive has fallen short of its goal.

However, the board of directors agrees that the building that has served the community for 30 years will not have to close its doors.

"It could mean, though, a curtailment of services and that would be a step backwards," said Herbert Gardner, member of the house's board of trustees.

At the 36th annual meeting of Community House officials Monday evening, it was reported that only $40,000 of the $51,000 goal had been reached.

3,586 CONTRIBUTE

Some 13,000 persons were contacted during the drive, with 3,586 of them making contributions.

Credit was given by Treas. Charles W. Wiggins to the staff of the house and volunteers for keeping expenses at a minimum after the fund drive fell short."

Honorary Community House President Ruth Shain suggested that a continuous, year around program be initiated to inform area residents of the need for such services as the facility provides.

Officers elected were at the meeting.

They are Eugene F. Barney, president; Mrs. Robert J. Mason, first vice president; Ralph E. Hunt, second vice-president; and Francis M. Fisher, treasurer.

Outgoing officers received certificates of honor for their services.

Andrew H. Madsen Sr.

Service for Andrew H. Madsen Sr., 74, of 1948 Washington St., will be 1 p.m. Friday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

* * *

Mr. Madsen died Tuesday in New Grace Hospital, Detroit, after several months illness.

He was a Detroit realtor and insurance agent for 30 years.

He was a member of the North Congregational Church in Southfield and the Detroit Real Estate Board.

Surviving are his wife, Mabel; a daughter, Mrs. John E. Eckenrode Jr.; a son, Andrew H. Jr., all of Birmingham; five grandchildren, three sisters and a brother.

Commission Split 4-3 on Straley

the department and there are still troubles," declared Rowston.

Rowston also pointed out that the City Commission could pass a resolution making known to Willman what action it favored on Straley.

Before the vote, Landry challenged City Manager Walter K. Willman to tip his hand on Straley.

ASKS DECISION

"I think the manager should make a decision right now," Landry said. "There's been too much buck passing on this question. If he plans to fire Straley, let him say so right now."

But the Commission hassle swept on before Willman had a chance to answer.

Rowston said the city's hands are tied as long as there is court action challenging the legality of the charter amendment giving Willman the power to fire Straley.

Henry has appealed to the State Supreme Court to overrule Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem's dismissal of the suit as groundless.

STAYS GIVE DELAY

A series of stays of execution has prevented the city from enforcing the amendment.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said after last night's meeting that in his opinion the latest stay expired on Friday — leaving the city free to enforce the ordinance.

Landry touched off the debate by bringing up the question of traffic enforcement and morale by referring to a report submitted yesterday by Straley.

Landry cited figures from the report and said they indicated "a pretty good record" since Straley's return as chief in January.

Reading from the report, Landry observed that there were 1,146 tickets issued for hazardous violations during the first five months of 1959 under former Public Safety Director George D. Eastman, compared to 2,181 issued during the first five months of this year under Straley.

Lieut. Lee Hall, Police Captain Donny Ashley made traffic enforcement an issue by asserting that poor morale under Straley has resulted in a sharp decline in tickets during the past few months, compared with a high point achieved under Eastman last fall and winter.

Gasoline Cost Not High but Taxes 50 Pct. More

NEW YORK (UPI) — Direct taxes on gasoline now equal nearly ½ the cost of the fuel itself, according to American Petroleum Institute figures.

Gas taxes rose 51 per cent during the '50's to an all-state average of 10.2 cents a gallon at the close of 1959. The average retail cost of a gallon of gas at the end of last year was 21.18 cents — plus tax.

tures — about 1,000 over the required minimum.

Morris made an 11th hour decision to oppose Glenn A. Allen Jr., former Kalamazoo mayor, in the Sixth District primary battle.

He said he was "discouraged" when he quit the governor race, largely for lack of financial support.

His withdrawal turned over the GOP gubernatorial nomination to Paul D. Bagwell by default. Bagwell was the 1958 nominee.

Three Democrats will battle it out for the chance to take on the Michigan State University professor in the Nov. 8 general election.

Detroit Councilman Edward Connor officially joined the primary run-off yesterday, putting to rest rumors that he might withdraw.

Other Democratic candidates are Secretary of State James M. Hare and Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson.

U.S. Sen. Patrick V. McNamara of Detroit will breeze through the Aug. 2 primary unopposed.

TWO OPPONENTS

Competing for a chance to oppose his re-election to a second term are Alvin M. Bentley, Republican congressman from Owosso, and former State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard, the 1954 GOP governor nominee.

The turnabout of Keyes, 59-year-old physician, dentist and attorney, turned the Democratic contest for lieutenant governor into a five-man affair.

"I couldn't stand it any longer," said Keyes, when a reporter asked why he filed as a Democrat. "The Democratic Party, at least in Michigan, better serves the interest of the commoner."

His opponents in the primary will be Richard Vander Veen, Grand Rapids attorney endorsed by the Michigan AFL-CIO; State Rep. T. John Lesinski of Detroit; William J. Coughlin of Detroit, an assistant Wayne County prosecutor; and George Dougherty, president of United Auto Workers Local 326 in Flint.

A three-cornered race shaped up on the Republican side when Salade jumped in alongside Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) and Clarence A. Reid of Detroit, who held the office in 1953-54.

Reps. John B. Bennett, Republican from Onionagon, and James G. O'Hara, Democrat from Utica, are the only two of the 11 out-state congressmen who will face primary opposition.

All the incumbents but Bentley are running for re-election. Two Democrats and six Republicans have filed for his seat.

Seek Dem Prosecutor Bid

Neighbors Election Foes

It may be just a little friendly chat over the neighborhood fence of Middlebury Lane in Bloomfield Township, but the stakes will be the Democratic nomination for county prosecutor.

Two neighbors found themselves in this predicament today after both had filed by yesterday's deadline for nominating petitions.

George J. Fulkerson of 3001 Middlebury Lane and Alvin S. Rappaport of 3570 Middlebury Lane are after the same thing. They want to become the Democratic nominee for prosecutor Aug. 2.

Both insist their campaign will be most friendly, although Fulkerson said at one time he thought he had Rappaport's support in his campaign.

NO HARD FEELINGS

But 46-year-old Rappaport, a Detroit attorney, felt the time was ripe and maybe he "should look into the prosecutor's office" himself. He did, much to Fulkerson's surprise. But there aren't any hard feelings.

"My opposition is not George Fulkerson," Rappaport said. "It's the Republican incumbent."

His friendly rival, a 33-year-old Birmingham attorney, agrees.

Oldsters of 65 Spend $33 Average on Drugs

NEW YORK (UPI) — For persons 65 and older the average annual expenditure for prescriptions was $33 each last year, against a $13 average for persons of all ages, according to the Drug Topics annual prescription survey.

Further, the study showed that between men and women 65 and older, average expenditure for out of hospital drugs was 37 per cent higher for women.

2 Men Missing in N-Sub Fire

Torpedo Room Blaze Put Out After 1 Hour; Oxygen Line Blamed

HONOLULU (AP) — Two men were unaccounted for after a flash fire aboard the nuclear submarine Sargo at Pearl Harbor, a Navy spokesman said today.

The one-hour blaze Tuesday was put out after the 2,500-ton submarine was half submerged, a Navy spokesman said.

The fire, which broke out in the stern or torpedo room, at no time endangered the submarine, the Navy said.

The torpedo compartment was immediately flooded and the stern half of the ship was submerged shortly after the fire broke out at 5:30 p.m. The submarine was tied alongside the dock.

Cause of the fire was attributed by Navy spokesman to a rupture in the liquid oxygen line near the after torpedo room. The submarine was taking on a supply of liquid oxygen.

The room was immediately sealed off and flooded.

Officially, the Navy said no determination has yet been made of casualties.

But a spokesman said: "There could be two crew members unaccounted for." He added that no determination could be made until water had been pumped from the flooded torpedo chamber.

The spokesman was unable to say how many men were on board at the time of the fire. The submarine normally carries a complement of 111 officers and men.

Roads to Airport Hit as Inadequate

should decide as soon as possible on the airport's future.

"If we are to expand, we should begin land acquisition as soon as possible in order to save costs."

Whatever the ultimate future of the airport, more expansion is necessary if the airport is to fully serve in its present role as a feeder port, Hoskins said.

"We must have a major runway and need land for this. The present main east-west runway needs expansion and we need land for that, too."

(Last night, the City Commission approved two new land purchases for the east-west runway. Commissioners approved purchase of 414 feet of frontage on M59 from Carlos G. Richardson for $4,750 and 170 feet on Williams Lake road from Robert Hoyt for $4,500.)

Hoskins foresaw the probability that Williams Lake road eventually will have to be closed to make way for expansion westward.

"The airport is important to Pontiac if the city wants to attract industry or even keep the industry it has. Yet at present, the airport is getting cramped for space for commercial hangars.

"We need to keep on expanding just to provide minimum facilities."

Hoskins pointed out that other areas in Michigan recently have given support to airports.

In Muskegon County, voters have approved a two-million-dollar bond issue to help finance a federal improvement program totaling more than five million. In Kent County, a four-million-dollar bond issue was approved for a seven-million-dollar program.

Stevenson Men Work for California Votes

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A group of Adlai E. Stevenson backers seek to get Gov. Edmund G. Brown to put California's big Democratic convention delegation into the Stevenson-for-President ranks.

About 30 Stevenson backers from California spent an hour with the governor Monday, urging him to line up the state's 81-vote delegation behind Stevenson.

Brown committed neither himself nor the delegation.

The 162 delegates, each with half a vote, are pledged to Brown as a favorite son. But Brown can release them.

Guy Kibbee Jr. Found Dead by His Own Hand

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The son of the late actor Guy Kibbee is dead by his own hand, police report.

Donald Guy Kibbee Jr., 25, was found Monday in a bedroom by his mother, Esther Kibbee. Police said Kibbee, a student at UCLA, had shot himself in the chest and neck with a .32 caliber pistol.

Mrs. Kibbee told officers that her son had been depressed.

The elder Kibbee died years ago at a home for sick and needy actors in East Islip, N.Y.

What Do Adlai, Rocky Mean?

Words Get Tough Chore

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's the greatest play on words since somebody invented abracadabra.

Adlai E. Stevenson and New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller deny they're looking for a job but they don't deny they'd run for the phone if the employment agency called.

ODD COMBINATION

Rockefeller withdrew from the race for the Republican presidential nomination without ever having admitted he was in it. Now he is back in it by saying he would accept a draft while firmly denying he's a candidate.

Stevenson won't even agree he'd accept a draft by the Democrats to be their presidential choice. But he doesn't say he wouldn't. The past few days his hat seemed to be in the ring. Then he grabbed it back.

Both men continue to stride across the national political scene, making political speeches and noises like candidates. Neither has denied he would just love to be picked.

The Harding-Cox presidential election of 1920 was the first in which the results were broadcast by radio.

Bad Risk Clio Rescued From Insurance Woes

CLIO (UPI) — A Connecticut insurance company has canceled its coverage of this town of 2,000 persons on grounds the community is a bad risk.

But city officials said the Wolverine Co. of Battle Creek has come to the rescue.

The Hartford Insurance Co., in canceling its coverage cited five accidents involving police cars and a recent drainage tunnel accident in which a city worker was killed.

City officials said the Wolverine firm has covered the city for employe liability and comprehensive coverage but that the city's workman's compensation coverage would have to go into an "assigned risk" pool similar to those used to cover accident-prone motorists.

Glance at Nation Ike Visits First

Philippines Free Since 1946

By The Associated Press

Here is a capsule picture of the Philippines, the first country President Eisenhower is visiting on his Asian tour:

History — Colonized by the Spanish 400 years before the American flag was planted in Manila in 1898 following the Spanish-American war. Granted independence in 1946.

Geography — The 7,000 Philippine islands stretch a thousand miles from north to south. They cover 115,707 square miles, but only 462 of them are a square mile or more in area.

Population — Twenty-four million people, mostly of Malay stock, but with a heavy sprinkling of Chinese, Spanish and American blood. About 83 per cent are Roman Catholic.

HALF SPEAK ENGLISH

Languages — The official language is Tagalog, a Malay dialect, but about half the population speaks English fluently.

Government—Governed under a constitution adopted in 1935. President and vice president are elected for four years. Congress has a Senate of 24 members and a House of Representatives of 102 members.

U.S.-Philippine relations — Filipinos are staunchly pro-American but some think the United States is overlooking them in hurrying to strengthen its former enemy Japan and in granting aid to such neutral Asian nations as India. They point with pride at their World War II fighting record at Bataan, Corregidor and in guerilla campaigns. They want American missiles capable of carrying nuclear warheads stationed in the Philippines.

'Peyton Place' Author Files for 2nd Divorce

LACONIA, N. H. (AP)—Grace Metalious Martin, 37, author of the best-seller "Peyton Place," says her disc jockey husband wanted her to be a dutiful housewife and glamor girl at the same time.

Filing Monday for divorce from T. J. Martin, she said her husband nagged and criticized her until she became nervous and required medical attention.

She said Martin, 35, a Laconia radio announcer, insisted that she "conform to his image of a suburban housewife while still embodying the glamor of theatrical and literary life."

Martin said last week he would not contest the divorce. They were married in February 1958, three days after she was divorced from her first husband, George Metalious, a Stowe, Mass., schoolteacher.

The suit, filed in Superior Court, is not expected to reach the hearing stage for months.

Mrs. Martin asked court permission to resume the name Grace Metalious and asked that she be given their real estate.

She and Martin have no children. She has three children by her previous marriage.

Again Wooing Algeria Rebels

De Gaulle Reaffirms His Self-Determination Policy in Speech

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle made another conciliatory gesture toward the Algerian nationalist rebels Tuesday night, but it was too early to tell whether his move would lead to a break in the fighting.

First reactions to the president's radio-TV speech were generally favorable—except from the right wingers who want France to maintain her firm hold on the Algerian administration.

De Gaulle reaffirmed his policy of self-determination for Algeria after the fighting ends. He again asked the nationalist leaders to come to Paris to discuss a cease-fire.

He promised that "everybody, yes everybody" will be able to take part in "discussions which will fix the conditions of the referendum, the electoral campaign and the control of the vote."

This has been one of the touchy points with the Algerian nationalist leadership. They have been unwilling to order their troops to stop fighting without assurances they would be able to help set conditions for the self-determination referendum.

There are now some 20,000 Catholic priests in the United States, according to Catholic Digest. Additionally, 3,500 American priests are serving as missionaries in foreign lands.

Drug Firms to Work on Cancer Substance

LANSING (UPI)—The State Administrative Board Tuesday authorized agreements with three commercial drug firms to develop a substance developed by the Health Department which proved successful against certain forms of cancer in mice and other rodents.

Attorney General Paul L. Adams, chairman of the Board's antibiotic committee, said the product, called alpha sarcin, had not been tried on humans.

But he said a process for production and purification of alpha sarcin was developed, and the material had inhibited growth of 13 different types of malignant animal tumors.

Letters of agreement with Abbott Laboratories, the Parke-Davis Co., and Upjohn Co. were expected to lead to further development of the substance, testing and possible production in volume.

Carrier Sailors Dedicated Lot

Editor, Pontiac Press

From an editor's notebook aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Independence: Now and then in travel one meets men who are doing jobs which only the dedicated will do. Such is the case of the 4,200 men that man this giant floating airport.

The vastness of this ship is unique in many respects. It is inconceivable for the average landlubber to imagine what some of our postwar servicemen are doing.

Along with a dozen or so guests which included J. Alf Hubbard, President of the Hubbard Spring Co. in Pontiac, I had the privilege of viewing actual task force operations for three days and nights, 250 miles off Cape Hatteras in the Atlantic Ocean.

On this particular maneuver the task force was made up of 12 destroyers, an oil ship, a submarine and one other carrier, the Intrepid.

The USS Independence is the Navy's newest attack carrier and became the flagship in September 1959 for Carrier Division Two. The cost of the Independence was 270 million dollars and with the 100 or so planes in the air group aboard it was estimated that the 4.1 acre airport represented close to a half billion dollars.

This sounds fantastic until you see it first hand. Then you realize it is not conventional, but rather a very, very special striking force for nuclear weapons.

The young men, and some are just boys, that man this ship and fly the planes, could well be likened to a football team. Everyone's job consists of making it possible for the airplanes to fly off the ship and return to the flight deck.

WORK IS MAGNIFICENT

Establishing this teamwork is a cooperative mission that they are all equally dedicated to. To list all the various jobs and the many unsung workers would take too much space. But from personal experience I can attest to the fact that their work is magnificent.

Like any other branch of the service the Independence sails and flies on food. For example, the kitchen will prepare 10,500 meals daily. Food shaping machines make 2,499 hamburgers an hour, coffee urns make 40 cups a minute, potato peeler peels 1,000 spuds an hour, garbage disposal unit handles 4,800 pounds of garbage an hour.

Like any other city of 4,000 the ship has many facilities. Listed here are a few: post office, bakery, motion pictures, shoe repair shop, library, barber shop, butcher shop, tailor shop, basketball court, volleyball court, sheet metal shop, copper shop, electric shop, blacksmith shop, operating room, air conditioning, oxygen plant, laundry, ice cream plant, 44-bed hospital, dental lab and dry cleaning plant.

Last but not least are the fly boys. They do the actual They are aptly named the "Tigers" on this particular ship. They arfe aptly named the "Tigers" on this particular ship. And believe me they live up to their name every day in this hazardous type of flying.

AIRCRAFT MAKE-UP

Included in the 100 planes aboard the Independence are the A3D, the Navy's heavy all-weather bomber. Also A4D attack planes, a squadron of AD6 propeller-driven attack aircraft, an all-weather fighter squadron, equipped with the F3H Demon or F4D Skyrays and a day fighter squadron, using the F11F Tiger or F8U Crusader.

Additional detachments of jet photo aircraft, propeller and antisubmarine warfare and airborne early warning aircraft and two helicopters normally supplement this group. Many of these planes are capable of better than 1,000 m.p.h.

Wind is necessary to land and take off the aircraft, which is one of the reasons the carrier can travel at 35 knots. This makes it possible in a dead calm to take off and land planes since the carrier can generate it's own wind.

A great deal of the time at sea the deck crews and men working the catapults are working in winds of 40 to 50 m.p.h. This would be considered normal conditions.

The "Tigers" or pilots are assisted to the flight deck from ready rooms by two electric stairs (escalators) which travel 120 feet a minute, to carry the pilots from the second deck.

Their flying suits which include all weather gear, and pressurized clothing are heavy and would make walking slow, plus the men would be tired out by the time they reach their planes.

Landing and hitting the 150 feet or so where the arrestors are located at the stern of the ship is an art in itself. But these boys do it with accurate precision and for the most part never miss. A bad miss can be costly in both manpower and equipment.

The night flying is the real danger and often very difficult since the flight deck can be moving up and down at the rate of 40 or 50 feet with a rolling sea.

When the planes are making their approach and coming in for a night landing every last man aboard ship that is not actually engaged in work is eagerly watching the recovery (plane landing on deck) with a lump in his stomach.

The expectation and the thrill of seeing these huge jet bombers come out of the night and head toward the deck is an experience you never forget. All sailors unanimously agree the "Tigers" earn every cent of their extra flying pay. And we'll have to agree.

The ship was operating under the direction of Rear Adm. Ray C. Needham, USN, commander Carrier Division Two and Capt. James W. O'Grady, USN, commanding officer. Capt. O'Grady was responsible for the operation of the Independence and Adm. Needham was the commander in charge of the task force.

In order to get some idea of the size of this vessel it is said that if it were turned on end, it would reach the 80th floor of the Empire State Building in New York City.

After walking the length several times and climbing the various ladders to the seven decks it feels like you had just played 18 holes of golf.

Aircraft carriers are in effect mobile air bases having all the facilities of a land base, but the protective mobility of a fast moving ship. In a 24-hour period the Independence is capable of constantly changing movement in excess of 600 miles.

The ship is fast, capable of 35 knots and self-sufficient for months at sea. The Independence, like her sister ships, are able to launch planes faster than any other type carrier in the world.

The four aircraft catapults are powered by steam from the ship's boilers and are capable of launching four planes approximately every 38 seconds. Her powerful hydraulic arrestors (this is the means of stopping a plane on the flight deck) will stop 70,000-pound jets 150 feet after they hit the deck at better than 100 m.p.h.

FINE FACILITIES

No ship ever has had such facilities and comforts as the crew of this class carrier. Each man has an individual pullman type berth with foam rubber mattress and reading lamp. Every berthing area has its own showers as well as its own recreation room.

The entire ship is air conditioned and this is a far cry from frills since it would be impossible to work otherwise. The amount of air conditioned air available is sufficient to supply twenty theaters the size of Radio City Music Hall.

Can Raise Fish Aboard Space Ship

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — A research team has found that it would be possible to raise food fish aboard space ships, feeding them on materials produced from body wastes.

The fish would grow in water already being used to raise algae or seaweed and no great increase in volume or weight would be involved.

The experiment was reported to the Ecological Society of America Tuesday by Dr. Frieda B. Traub of the University of Washington.

Dr. Traub and her associates began more than a year ago to raise a species of African mouthbreeder in a tank already producing chorella, a type of algae which produces large quantities of oxygen as well as a type of protein which can be used as human or animal food. Light provides the energy for making the algae grow.

The African mouth-breeder is raised widely in ponds fertilized with human or animal waste matter and is a food item in some parts of the world. The female fish hatches her young by keeping the fertilized eggs in her mouth. They hatch in about 10 days. The fish grows to sardine size in about three months.

The test was undertaken, Dr. Traub said, to determine how much fish could be produced in a given length of time by hitting upon the right concentration of animal waste added to the water.

Argentina Asking U.N. to Take Eichmann Issue

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Argentina today is asking the U.N. Security Council to take up its charge that an Israeli group's removal of Adolf Eichmann violated Argentine sovereignty.

Israel stood firm in its refusal to return the former Nazi official charged with helping to direct the extermination of six million Jews during World War II.

Eichmann will be tried by an Israeli court, the legal adviser to the Israeli foreign minister declared in Jerusalem, rejecting suggestions that an international tribunal judge the accused war criminal.

Israel claimed that a volunteer group, acting without the Israeli government's knowledge, captured Eichmann in Buenos Aires last month and that he agreed voluntarily to go to Israel to face trial. Argentina rejected the explanation.

Informed sources said the Argentine government decided to ask for a special Security Council meeting after Israeli Foreign minister Golda Meir and Mario Amadeo, Argentine ambassador to the U.N., discussed the dispute for two hours Tuesday without reaching agreement.

Mrs. Meir later told newsmen the meeting was friendly but refused to give details.

There was some speculation the talks might be continued on a higher level. Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion and Argentine President Arturo Frondizi are both touring Europe. It is possible they may meet in Belgium or France next week.

In Jerusalem, Israeli legal adviser Shabtai Rosenne said Eichmann would be tried on the basis of the joint declaration by the Soviet, U.S. and British governments on Oct. 30, 1943, that "Nazi war criminals may be tried and punished by the peoples whom they have outraged."

Rosenne said that even Argentina realizes that Eichmann had entered that country under a false name, with false documents, and that his stay there was never legalized.

Regarding the claim that Eichmann should be tried by an international tribunal, Rosenne said all war crimes tribunals had been dissolved more than 10 years ago and that even efforts by the U.N. General Assembly and special U.N. committees in 1951 and 1953 had failed to restore them.

House Approves Bill Granting D.C. Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House yesterday approved with only minor opposition a constitutional amendment that would let residents of the nation's capital vote for the first time in presidential elections.

The amendment now goes to the Senate which passed a three-part version earlier this year which also would outlaw the poll tax in federal elections and allow governors to appoint House members in case of atomic attack.

The Senate was expected to accept the House amendment providing only for a vote for Washingtonians.

The amendment could not take effect in time to let citizens here vote in the November elections. It must be ratified by the legislatures of at least 38 states before it becomes part of the constitution.

Kennedy Statements 'Phony'

Nixon Willing to Debate

SEN. JOHN F. KENNEDY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) wants a great debate on America's strength in a seething world, and Vice President Richard M. Nixon evidently is willing to take him on.

Kennedy told the Senate Tuesday he hopes the two presidential candidates spend their energies this fall debating world problems.

He said the dialogue of the campaign should be based on "how we can develop sufficient national strength to meet our goals and to protect our security."

Nixon was not present in the Senate as Kennedy delivered his foreign policy speech, but the vice president can be expected to dispute Kennedy's premise. He already has rejected as a "phony idea" the Democratic contention that the United States ranks second to the Soviet Union in military strength.

Nixon is virtually assured the Republican nomination for president, and has indicated he expects Kennedy to be his Democratic opponent.

In his speech, Kennedy pounded the theme that the Eisenhower administration has failed to build "the positions of long-term strength essential to successful negotiations" with the Soviets.

Kennedy drew the largest gallery crowds to the Senate in weeks. About two-thirds of the spectators were women.

But less than a fourth of the Senate turned out to hear him and only one Republican, Sen. Homer Capehart of Indiana joined in the desultory questioning that followed.

Capehart said Kennedy offered "nothing new in the way of solutions to world problems which he said the Eisenhower administration had inherited from the Democrats.

Then he said Kennedy was raising flase hopes abroad by "promising the world with a fence around it to all the peoples of the world."

"I don't know where we're going to get the money to do it," Capehart said.

Later, after Kennedy had left the chamber, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said the Massachusetts senator had been guilty of bad timing and bad judgment "because his speech sounded like an attack on the President while he was out of the country and at the very time he was moving into an explosive area."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), who was shouldered out of the presidential nomination race by two primary defeats at the hands of Kennedy, said he thinks the Massachusetts senator has picked the campaign subject closest to Americans' hearts — national security.

Humphrey said Kennedy's speech was "one I can embrace and find very reassuring."

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, assistant majority leader who is supporting Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas for the presidential nomination, said Kennedy showed in the speech "a maturity and courage he has always shown in the field of domestic policy as well."

Empire State Growing

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York state's population increased 1,763,315 in 10 years and now stands at 16,396,307, the Census Bureau reports. The bureau said Tuesday preliminary figures from the 1960 count showed the increase of 11.9 per cent.

Candlelight Vows Told

MRS. RICHARD M. MALONEY

After candlelight vows were repeated before the Rev. Edmond I. Watkins Saturday evening in Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church, the Joseph Raymond Tinsons left for Niagara Falls and the eastern states.

The former Phebe Anriette Henderson, daughter of Mrs. Charles E. Henderson of Fourth avenue and the late Mr. Henderson, was given in marriage by her brother, Charles E. Henderson Jr.

White Alencon lace over tulle and satin fashioned the bouffant bridal gown. The molded bodice featured a sabrina neckline and long hand-tapered sleeves. Deep ruffles of the lace formed tiers which cascaded into a chapel sweep.

The bride carried white roses and lilies-of-the-valley on a white Bible. A fingertip veil of French illusion was caught by a beaded tiara.

Flower girl, Claudia June Traver in white dotted Swiss organdy over pale pink wore a headband of fresh flowers. Terry Snider of Marysville, Ohio, was ring-bearer, at their aunt's wedding.

Harry Tinson stood as best man for his brother, and another brother James ushered. They are the sons of Mrs. James W. Hutchings, of Orion Township and H. K. Tinson of Drayton Plains. The bride's nephew Charles Henderson also seated the guests with James Scarborough and Charles Bradshaw.

At the church reception Mrs. Henderson appeared in pink lace sparked with navy blue and white accessories. Mrs. Tinson's selection was gray brocade with white accents. Both mothers wore orchids.

Entertaining at prebridal showers were Mrs. E. A. Tate, Mrs. Harry Tinson, Mrs. James Tinson, Mrs. Charles Bradshaw and Mrs. Casey.

Patent leather adds a stunning footnote to your shoe wardrobe.

Susan Webster will be maid-of-honor, Dianne Agar, sister of Timothy Earl Agar, bridegroom-elect, will serve as bridesmaid with the bride's sister Beverly. Melody Fisher will be flower girl and Duane Hight, ring bearer.

Shower guests included Mrs. Brummett and Mrs. Robert Fisher, mother of Miss Brummett's fiance; also the above-named attendants.

Others were Mrs Robert Nordman and daughter Patricia, Mrs. Melvin Goldman, Mrs. Henry Kuechle, Mrs. Clyde Christian, Mrs. Lillian Calvert, Mrs. William Fleischauer, Mrs. Lester Mehlberg, Mrs. Kenneth Davidson and Kathy Jackson.

Also present were Mrs. Joseph Mansfield, Mrs. Harry Stearns, Mrs. Byron Clements, Mrs. Garrett Mehlberg, Mrs. Margaret Jackson, Luana Mehlberg, Mrs. Glenn Brookbank and Bonnie Brookbank of Rochester, Mrs. Harry Dusky and daughter Lorraine of Dearborn.

Three to Attend Delta Zeta Convention

Mrs. Russell Costello of Pontiac will attend the 1960 Delta Zeta convention in Pasadena, Calif., June 19-24 at the Huntington-Sheraton Hotel.

Mrs. Costello is past national president of Delta Zeta and is currently the sorority's delegate to National Panhellenic.

Maloney-Looney Rites Held

Wed in Church Chancel

MRS. JOSEPH R. TINSON

The chancel of the First Church of the Nazarene was decked with vases of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, potted palms and candelabra for the double-ring nuptials of LaVern Patsy Looney and Richard Madison Maloney.

The Rev. Kenneth Hutchinson, former pastor, read the Saturday evening ceremony, assisted by the Rev. J. E. VanAllen.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthew Looney of Stirling avenue, hosted their daughter's reception in Central Methodist Church.

Preceding the bride to the altar was her sister Mrs. Jack Ferrel as matron of honor, attired in a sleeveless blue silk taffeta Empire-waisted princess dress. Blue metallic net fashioned the full-sleeved jacket.

Wearing identical dresses were the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Naomi Maloney Key of University Park, Iowa, in Nile green, and Goldie May Maloney, in pink. Mrs. Key designed and made the dresses for the bride and senior attendants.

Kay Lynn Looney, her sister's junior attendant, wore orchid silk organza over matching taffeta. All carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations, dill Riddle, in white embroidered organdy, carried a basket of daisies and red rose petals.

The princess style bridal gown of white silk taffeta featured a lace bodice accented with sequins and seed pearls. Long lace sleeves were fastened with tiny pearl buttons. The beaded embroidery detail extended from the Empire waistline to the floor-length hemline in the back.

The Queen Anne tiara of lace and sequins held a fingertip veil of pure silk illusion. Resting on the bride's satin-covered Bible was an arrangement of stephanotis and ivy surrounding a white orchid.

Paul Maloney assisted his brother as best man. They are the sons of the Harold Maloneys of Carter street. Jack Ferrel seated the guests. Bill Kurz and Gary Print were candlelighters.

Before starting an outdoor meal, fill a toy water pistol with water. It will come in handy in putting out unwanted flames from dripping juices.

Shower Salutes Bride-to-Be

Frances Sekles was honored with a miscellaneous shower Sunday evening given by the Clarence L. Smiths of Windcroft drive.

Guests included Judge and Mrs. H. Russel Holland, the Rev. and Mrs. Constantine Tsompamas and children Kathy and Manuel, Mr. and Mrs. Sekles, the bride's parents; Alex, Nicky and Kiki Sekles, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Capshlis, Peter Tsatsanis, John Tsatsanis, Mr. and Mrs. George Gianakos, Mr. and Mrs. Kontos and daughters Kiki, Georgia and Becky of Dearborn.

Also, Mr. and Mrs. George Spiropoulos, Mr. and Mrs. George Fefies and Mr. and Mrs. Plato Begaris, all of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Gus Cosmos of Royal Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Heos of Flint, Mrs. Helen Cosmos and son Tom of Birmingham.

Leslie R. Roberts Married in Ypsilanti Ceremony

MRS. LESLIE R. ROBERTS

Wedding rings and vows were exchanged by Amy Eardley and Leslie Russell Roberts, before the Rev. Elwyn C. Stringer of Ann Arbor Saturday afternoon, at the home of the bride's aunts, the Misses Anne and Ruth Fenn in Ypsilanti.

Parents of the newlyweds are the Alva H. Eardleys of Ypsilanti, and the Maurice Russell Roberts of Ward road.

The bride's waltz-length princess-style gown of white lace over satin, was styled with long tapering sleeves. Her veil of silk illusion was caught by a crown of lace and pearls.

White roses comprised the bridal cascade bouquet.

Marilyn Milne of Ypsilanti was honor maid.

Duties of best man were performed by Robert Smith of Keego Harbor. Guests were seated by the bride's brother, Alva and her cousin Ralph Eyring of Cleveland, Ohio.

Assisting at the reception were the bride's aunts, Eleanor Eyring of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Jay Kellaya of Detroit, Mrs. Dean Lidgard and Jean Sayre of Ann Arbor, Joan Geisendorfer and Mary Ann Gleason of Ypsilanti.

Both the bride and her husband are graduates of Eastern Michigan University. After a honeymoon in Northern Michigan and Wisconsin, they will live in Wurzburg, Germany, for a year where the bridegroom has been appointed a Fulbright exchange teacher.

Women Chained

(UPI) — In Paris, the girls are wearing chains — around their waist (instead of a belt), around their finger (instead of a wedding ring), around their neck (instead of a choker), around the wrist (instead of a bracelet).

Match Your Ensemble

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It is the whole picture or the ensemble, which counts. People don't pick us to pieces but only notice the general impression of beauty and-or charm (or lack of it) which we give. Only those who love us remember vividly our individual features and the details of our costumes and make-up.

There is nothing more glaringly unattractive than a clash of colors in make-up and clothes. For instance a bright red lipstick and a purple dress or an orange lipstick with pink gown, actually can cause goose-pimples, the effect is so irritating.

This has been a very colorful spring, with garments of varying and subtle shades. There have been many new fabrics which have undertones of blue, such as some pinks, violet, orchid, lilac, mauve and so forth.

These absolutely must have just the right color in lipstick and nail polish. Fortunately the cosmeticians have come to our rescue with shades in lipstick and nail polish planned for just such clothes.

Colors such as carnation, dandelion and different shades of greens also have been most popular and so the cosmetic profession has created lines to match. The correct color is absolutely essential if the costume is not to be ruined.

Many women fail to realize what a great difference this can make in appearance. A flattering color is enhancing. Use it in your clothes and your make-up.

Strange as it may seem women sometimes fail to match their lipstick and their nail polish. Today this almost always can be done and some manufacturers bring out the same colors in stick and polish simultaneously

One of the best known cosmeticians has just produced a vacation kit for your convenience. It contains six different items and comes in small sizes, just enough to last through the usual vacation time.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Planning Coothes to Suit Figure and Personality" send your request for leaflet No. 54 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Mrs. Otto Zanders and Mrs. Lucie Wright will attend the state convention as local delegates this weekend. A dessert tea followed he meeting.

Church Group Studies Bible

Members of the July-August group of First Presbyterian Church met at the home of Mrs. Edward Graham in Beverly Hills Friday. Cohostesses were Mrs. Earl Bartlett, Mrs. S. A. Baillo and Mrs. Elizabeth Wixom.

Twenty-nine members attended the luncheon and meeting, at which Mrs. Ted Koella Jr. gave a study; Mrs. Leon Belknap, town and country study; and Mrs. C. L. Mulkey, Bible study.

Mrs. W. Hannan Hubbard will be hostess to the group at her West Iroquois road home in September.

Mrs. E. L. Page opened her Illinois avenue home Friday for the meeting of the church's September-October Group.

Assisting Mrs. Page with a cooperative luncheon for 14 members were Mrs. Frank Gerls, Mrs. Howard Glenn and Mrs. C. J. Nephler.

Attorneys Talk Today About Tregoff Trial

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four attorneys and the district attorney have a date today to talk about a girl.

The attorneys are Jerry Giesler, Robert A. Neeb Jr., Donald Bringgold and Rex Eagan. The district attorney is William B. McKesson, and the girl is Carole Tregoff.

Giesler and his associates wouldn't say what would be discussed. He master-minded the Tregoff defense at her first trial with Dr. R. Bernard Finch on murder charges, although the other lawyers did the court work.

Miss Tregoff and her sweetheart, the wealthy physician, are to be tried again starting Monday. Their first trial — on charges they killed the doctor's wife — ended in a hung jury.

Hogan, Snead Aided by 'Extras' at Denver

Generally Flat Course a Help to Ben's Legs

It's Law of Averages for Slammer in 60th National Open

DENVER (AP)—Those two old masters of golf, Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, will have something extra going for them in the National Open championship starting Thursday.

For Hogan, it's the general flatness of the 7,004-yard, par 35-36—71 Cherry Hills Country Club where a select field of 150 begins playing for keeps at 10 a.m. (EST).

The double round that climaxes this 60th edition of golf's top prestige tournament on Saturday shouldn't be as gruelling as the others the solemn bantam from Texas has faced since his legs were mangled in a near fatal auto accident 11 years ago.

For Snead, it's the law of averages. Despite a record 105 tournament victories, including three PGA and three Masters titles, the West Virginian has never won the Open. This is his 20th attempt in an unbroken string that began in 1937 when he was only 25. What aging this physical marvel has done since then is mostly due to what seems to be an unshakeable Open jinx.

"You know, I might just win one of these here things sometime," Snead said after a steady one over par 72 in practice Tuesday.

"I'm satisfied with the way I'm playing," said an unusually chipper Hogan as he left the course after 18 holes when a sudden windstorm swept the layout late in the day.

Hogan, 47 and seeking an unprecedented fifth Open crown, and the 48-year-old, peppy, wise cracking Snead represent the old pros' major challenge to golf's young bloods, headed by tournament favorite Arnold Palmer, Dow Finsterwald, defending champion Billy Casper, Ken Venturi, Gene Littler and Mike Souchak.

All will be swinging away at what most of them consider the easiest Open course in recent years. There'll be 18 holes each Thursday and Friday before the 36-hole showdown on Saturday.

"It's amazing," said Casper, the putting wizard from Apple Valley, Calif. "The way the ball goes in this thin air, you'd need 8,000 yards to have a true 7,000 yard course. It's beautiful, well-conditioned but just plays shorter and easier than any Open course I can remember."

"The easiest I've played," says Hogan, whose record 276 at California's Riviera Country Club in 1948 probably is in trouble.

For the long shot lovers a prime one turned up Tuesday in handsome Doug Sanders, short hitting 26-year-old comer from Miami Beach, Fla.

Sanders, who has won nearly $20,000 on the tour this year without a tournament victory, fired a 34-33—67, the best of the touring group, having finished in the money in 35 consecutive tournaments.

Long-hitting, erratic George Bayer of Gleneagles, Ill., also had a 67.

Jackie Nicklaus, 1959 national amateur king and top threat among 22 amateurs in the lineup, and Henry Williams Jr., Fleetwood, Pa., pro, were the only others to break 70 in the warmups. Both had 69s and William's included a hole in one on the 174-yard, par 3 sixth hole.

BEN TUNES UP — Ben Hogan warms up for another try at winning his 5th National Open championship. Hogan uses a 4-wood here to hit from a fairway trap at Denver's Cherry Hills golf course in yesterday's practice round. The shot failed. It sailed only 100 yards as the clubhead bit into the sand too deeply. The tournament gets under way Thursday.

Bunning Needs Cash to Win, 2-1

Benchwarmer's Pinch Homer Beats Red Sox

Bengal Pitcher Has 13 Strikeouts in 7 Inning Stretch

By United Press International

DETROIT — Remember Norm Cash?

He's the guy who got benched a couple of weeks ago because he suddenly stopped hitting the ball at a .350 clip.

Since then, Cash has been a forgotten man sitting in the shadows of the Detroit dugout watching game after game while his teammates pulverized the ball with a steady display of power hitting.

And his replacement at first base, stout Steve Bilko, has been a key factor in the recent hitting splurge that enabled Jimmie Dykes' unpredictable bunch to regain a contending position in the 1960 American League pennant chase.

That is until last night when the booming Tiger bats were virtually silenced by the strong-armed hurling of Boston's Bill Monbouquette.

Monbouquette, who threw a one-hitter against Detroit May 7, was nicked for only four harmless singles as he blanked the Tigers over the first six innings.

The Red Sox pitcher maintained his mastery at the start of the seventh frame by retiring the first two Detroit hitters. Then Chico Fernandez singled for the fifth Detroit hit and it was pitcher Jim Bunning's turn at the plate.

But Dykes, stricken with a sudden dose of managerial magic, pointed the finger at Cash and the 25-year-old first-baseman delivered a two-run pinch homer, his fourth of the year, that won the game, 2-1.

The timely wallop ruled Mike Higgins' return as manager of the Boston club.

Higgins, who was fired as Red Sox manager last season, regained the job in a managerial shuffle over the weekend that ended the stormy reign of Billy Jurges.

Cash's homer also enabled Bunning to record his fourth victory against three setbacks.

The only run off Bunning, who struck out 13 in his seven innings of labor, was Ted Williams' 498th home run of his major league career in the sixth. It was Williams' sixth homer of the season.

Pete Burnside retired the side in order in the eighth and ninth to protect Bunning's triumph.

Bunning's 13 strikeouts raised his season total to 87, just three behind the league-leader, Camilo Pascual of Washington. Bunning led the American League in strikeouts last season with a 201 total.

HOMER FOR CASH — Detroit Tiger Norm Cash comes across the plate after hitting a two-run pinch hit home run in the 7th inning last night to give the Tigers a 2-1 win over the Boston Red Sox and a victory for Jim Bunning. Cash hit for Bunning and drove in Chico Fernandez (greeting him at plate) ahead of him.

Little Possibility

Tiger Trade Talks Cool

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers are still talking possible trades with several clubs—but Bill DeWitt says he will be a little surprised if the club swings a deal.

The Tigers have until 1 a.m. Thursday to negotiate.

Manager Jimmie Dykes has frowned on several suggested trades on which the front office sought his advice.

"I'm neither optimistic nor pessimistic," president DeWitt said last night. "We have some time left to do some talking. You know how baseball is—anything can happen."

Anything can, but probably won't.

The Tigers have been going well. The break of their most recent slump, coupled with the fact that some of the players have indicated they are busting out of their hitting doldrums, has buoyed front office hopes that the club is much better than it has looked in the first eight weeks of campaign.

The Tigers just aren't as anxious to deal as they were a couple of weeks ago.

Yanks on Coat(es)-Tails of Tribe

By The Associated Press

Nine years ago Jim Coates signed with the New York Yankees because his mother didn't like the looks of another club's scout. Now, after seven seasons in the minors, he's the hottest pitcher in the majors and has put the Yanks within three percentage points of the American League lead.

The lean right-hander put away a 7-0 record and his 11th consecutive victory over a year's span Tuesday night as the third-place Yankees won their seventh straight, 6-2 at Kansas City. That gave New York the longest streak of the season in the AL while closing in on the front-stumbling Cleveland Indians and Baltimore Orioles.

The Orioles edged within one percentage point of the top by handing the first-place Indians a third straight defeat, 7-4, in the opener of a four-game series at Cleveland. It was only the third success in eight games for Baltimore.

Detroit defeated Boston 2-1 in the only other game played in the AL. Wet grounds at Chicago postponed the White Sox' game with Washington.

Roger Maris kept his major league home run lead with No. 18 and drove in five runs for the Yankees, making it a breeze for Coates. It was the Yankees' eighth in a row over the A's, sixth this season, and handed Johnny Kucks a 1-1 record. It also was the first time the Yanks had won seven straight since July, 1958—when they led by 15½ games.

Coates, 27, didn't allow a hit until Dick Williams homered with one out in the fifth. He finished with a six-hitter, walking just one and striking out seven for a 13-1 major league mark and a perfect record as a starting pitcher.

It was a scout for the then New York Giants, incidentally, whom Coates' mother turned down. Coates was a minor then, and needed his mother's signature on a contract.

A four-run eighth-inning—which took an hour and 42 minutes to play because of rain—did it for the Orioles. Al Pilarcik's squeeze bunt scored the clincher and Gene Woodling then capped the rally with a two-run single. Gary Bell (5-5) was the loser and now has dropped four of his last five. Milt Pappas (4-5) won it, but needed relief help from Jerry Walker after cooling off in the rain-stalled eighth.

Open's 'Quiet Man'

Wall Back in Peak Form

DENVER (UPI) — The "quiet man" suddenly became the "one to watch" today on the eve of the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

The new red-hot locker room tip is that 36-year-old Art Wall Jr. from Pocono Manor, Pa., the leading money winner of 1959, has the shots and the perseverance to top the field of 150 in the four-round grind.

"I'm in fine shape physically," said Wall in a statement that for him amounted to a boast. "As for my game, well, I'd have to say it's pretty good. In fact, everything seems to be working."

Wall and defending champion Billy Casper are conceded to be the best putters in the tournament and Wall also is believed to have the unerring approach shots to master a course that the old-timers are saying is the easiest on which a U.S. Open ever has been played.

Wall, who was unable to defend his Masters championship because he had undergone an operation for a kidney ailment, demonstrated that he was back on his game last week with a 65-63—128 qualifying round at Oklahoma City. And he's been laying those second shots right onto the greens here with a precision that matches anything he showed in winning more than $63,000 in 33 tournaments last year.

"You've got to like Wall," said one rival, who asked that he not be quoted directly. "Wall and Arnold Palmer—but Wall first."

The first day's action yesterday was washed out and officials decided not to attempt a rescheduling. Instead, the field of some 200 entrants — 55 years of age or older — will tackle the Black River Country Club course today and wrap up the five divisional titles in one 18-hole round.

The classes range from A to E and the age groups from 55-59 to 75 and over.

Doctoring Your Golf

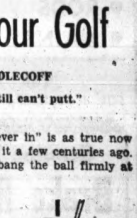
By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "Still can't putt."

DIAGNOSIS: Touch lacking.

TREATMENT: "Never up, never in" is as true now as when the first Scotsman said it a few centuries ago. But it doesn't mean you should bang the ball firmly at the hole on every putt.

The fact is that you will make a lot more of your putts if you learn to putt what is called the "dying ball." This means putting the ball with just enough speed to comfortably reach the hole, and no more. With this kind of touch, the ball can go in the front of the hole or fall in from either side, whereas you must hit the hole dead center to make one if you bang every putt for the cup.



The only way to get this feathery touch I am advocating is to practice (there's that word again).

Concentrate for a time on just getting the right distance. Then work both distance and line, trying each time to let the ball go no more than six inches past the cup if you miss.

All the really good putters have this feathery touch. You can have it, too—or something very close to it—if you practice it.
