State Senate OKs Senior Citizen Tax Exemption Bill

LANSING (AP) — The Senate passed with only one dissent an estimated $13.5 million senior citizens property tax exemption bill yesterday and sent it back to face House members, some of them angry over significant cuts in the measure.

After an afternoon and evening of caucuses, committee meetings and strategy huddles, the Senate threw a renters' provision out and put an income ceiling into the House - passed bill, whose cost had been pegged at $21 million to $40 million.

Senate leaders said they expected the House to concur in the changes.

But House Floor Leader J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, said he'd fight elimination of benefits to renters.

The measure faces an uncertain future once it reaches the desk of Gov. George Romney, who had asked legislators to hold up action until his commission on senior citizens tax relief had reported.

FINAL REPORT

The commission reportedly met yesterday to draft its final report. A governor's aide indicated the report might be in Romney's hands by today.

The Senate bill grants a property tax exemption of the first $2,500 of state-equalized valuation of any home assessed at $10,000 or less and owned by a person at least 65 years old who has lived in Michigan seven years and earns less than $5,000 annually.

Taxation committee chairman Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe, said about 172,000 housing units would be covered by the bill. Each would receive an average annual exemption of about $90.

The state will save between $1.2 million and $2 million on the tax exemptions now granted veterans and their widows, who will switch to the more lucrative senior citizens exemption, said Fitzgerald.

Democrats immediately hailed the bill as one of the most important ever passed by the Senate and the culmination of years of effort.

Sen. Garry Brown, R-Schoolcraft, the only senator who voted "no," said the Senate should have waited for Romney's commission report and ought to have been more certain of how the tax exemption would be financed.

The bill provides that the state repay local jurisdictions for tax revenues lost by the exemptions.

The bill will not take effect until Jan. 1, 1966, and the state will repay no local unit until sometime after July 1966. Thus, Romney's proposed 1965-66 budget is unaffected by the bill.

200 Planes Strike at N. Viet, Cong

Decision Due on TB Cases

A final decision on whether to house remaining patients at the Oakland County TB Sanatorium within or outside the county is expected at the April 13 meeting of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

At a meeting today, the board of supervisors' ways and means committee voted to refer findings obtained yesterday in Lansing concerning patient housing to the board for review prior to the decision.

In effect, the three Oakland County health and welfare officials designated by the ways and means committee to seek advice on what to do with the patients were advised to transfer them outside the county.

Dr. John L. Isbister, TB control officer for the State Health Department, told the Oakland contingent that eventually the county will have to get out of the tuberculosis-care business anyway.

He pointed out, according to a report read at the ways and means committee meeting, that long-range plans call for just four regional TB care centers in the state.

★ ★ ★

Two of these, Detroit's Herman Kiefer Hospital and the Maybury Sanatorium in Northville, will serve southeastern Michigan.

Participating in the Lansing meeting were Dr. Bernard Berman, Oakland County health director, and George Williams, county welfare department director.

Williams said that figures obtained in Lansing indicated it would cost $174,000 more annually to place TB patients in the county's Medical Care Facility with non-TB patients than if separate facilities were maintained for the two.

★ ★ ★

This would be due to a loss in state aid, Williams said.

Mrs. Claude Leach, spokesman for the Patients' Benefit Association comprised of former TB patients, urged at today's committee meeting that patients be kept in Oakland County.

Zollner Suit Said Settled

7-Week Trial Ends; $255,000 to Kerbawy

DETROIT (AP) —The $5.5 million libel and breach of contract suit against Fred Zollner, owner of the Detroit Pistons, has been settled out of court for $255,000, it was announced today.

An end of the seven - week trial, brought by W. Nicholas Kerbawy, former general manager of the National Basketball Association club, was announced after attorneys for both sides huddled with U. S. District Court Judge Ralph M. Freeman.

The Detroit News said today it had learned the settlement included $105,000 for the slander charge and an agreement to pay Kerbawy $15,000 a year for 10 years.

Kerbawy had been fired from his Pistons job in 1961 despite what had been termed "a million-dollar contract which was unbreakable" and which extended to 1977.

Kerbawy filed a suit against Zollner after the Pistons owner had charged that Kerbawy neglected his managerial duties while spending too much time in a reported proxy battle in which Kerbawy allegedly participated to help gain control of the Detroit Lions football team.

Speed Chase Ends With a Big Bang!

A high - speed chase through the streets of Pontiac early this morning ended on Lee Court with a bang.

The pursuit of an alleged stolen car driven by Larry Glass, 24, of 254 Josephine, began at Oakland and Wide Track. Three city police cars took part.

During the chase Patrolman Harold Kunkle noticed the brakes on his 1964 police car had faded and were not holding.

At the dead end of Lee, suspect Larry Glass stopped the car he was driving. Patrolman Jerry Pointer stopped his patrol car behind Glass.

Kunkle? Well, Kunkle applied his brakes and continued into the rear of the police car ahead of him.

Glass and his passenger, James G. MacFayden, 22, of 28 Douglas, were both held on a charge of unlawfully driving away an auto. No one was hurt.

LAUNCH DEBATE — Democratic State Chairman Zolton Ferency and Republican State Chairman Mrs. Elly Peterson shake hands in Lansing last night prior to speaking at a meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism society. It was their first head-on debate since Mrs. Peterson became GOP chairman.

Romney's Best Move Seen in Third Term

LANSING (UPI) — The chairmen of Michigan's two major political parties agreed last night Republican George Romney's best political move in 1966 would be to seek a third term as governor.

But GOP Chairman Mrs. Elly Peterson and Democratic Chairman Zolton A. Ferency were completely at odds as to whether or not Romney was qualified to be president.

Ferency, a long-time Romney antagonist, said, if elected, the governor would be "the second most poorly qualified president in this century, with Eisenhower being first. Election of Romney as the chief executive of the United States would be "a national tragedy," Ferency said.

Mrs. Peterson said Romney has proven himself in many fields of endeavor and that "if a man has the qualities of success, he has the background to be a good president.

Ferency argued Romney "started into politics much too late to set his eye on the presidential chair." The two political chairmen exchanged views in a debate before the Central Michigan chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism society.

On the question of 1966, Mrs. Peterson and Ferency concurred that Romney would be making a mistake if he were to give up his present job to try for a seat in the U.S. Senate.

STRONGER BID

Ferency said Romney would be in a far stronger position to bid for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination as a third term governor than as a junior senator with only two years experience.

He said if the governor were reelected next year he could go to the National Republican convention "with the home fires well banked . . . politically his position would be much stronger if his goal is a national ambition."

Deny Taylor Quitting in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) —The White House and State Department denied as completely untrue today another report that Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor will resign by the end of the week as Ambassador to Viet Nam and be replaced by Deputy Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson.

Similar reports also were denied last week.

White House Press secretary George E. Reedy told newsmen he didn't want to leave the impression that Taylor was going to stay out there forever.

But, he said, no resignation has been submitted, none is in sight, and there is no problem of a successor because none is being considered.

Taylor now is in Washington for one of his periodic rounds of conferences that will be capped by talks with President Johnson late today or tomorrow, Reedy said.

Asked about reports of political differences between Taylor and the administration arising from Taylor's wanting to pursue a tougher line, Reedy said he knew of no such differences.

Big Operation Costs U.S. 3 Lives, 6 Craft

Tons of Fire Bombs Poured on Red-Filled Jungle Near Saigon

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) —About 200 U.S. and Vietnamese warplanes struck today at six points in North Viet Nam and—south of the border — staged the biggest scorched earth raids ever employed against the Viet Cong.

The widespread operations cost the United States six aircraft. Four helicopters were shot down and three American helicopter crewmen were killed and 15 wounded in a savage fight in central Viet Nam.

Some 70 U.S. Air Force planes poured tons of napalm and phosphorous bombs plus tanks of fuel oil into a 19,000-acre stretch of Communist-infested jungle 25 miles northeast of Saigon in hope of setting the whole forest on fire.

Participating in the raids on North Viet Nam were planes from the Vietnamese and U.S. air forces and Navy planes from the 7th Fleet carriers Hancock and Coral Sea.

★ ★ ★

Announced plane losses were one raider from the carrier Hancock and an F100 Air Force reconnaissance jet which crashed in friendly territory after being hit by heavy flak on a mission over North Viet Nam.

FATE UNKNOWN

The fate of the Navy pilot was not immediately determined. The F-100 pilot bailed out safely.

The air strikes were carried out as U.S. Embassy personnel returned to work in their bomb-shattered offices in Saigon under the protection of tighter security measures.

The U.S. Navy jets from the Coral Sea and Hancock attacked the radar station at Cape Ron and a military complex at Vinh Son.

Spanish Plane Crash Kills 51 Near Africa

TANGIER, Morocco (AP) — A twin-engined Iberia Airlines plane plunged into the sea today a few minutes before it was scheduled to land in Tangier and 51 of the 54 persons aboard apparently died.

A fishing vessel picked up three passengers.

Three Spanish fishing boats picked up 47 bodies, said a report from Gibraltar, across the Strait from Tangier.

Among the listed passengers was Virginia Coleman, an American. Her home town was not given.

The pilot called the Tangier control tower shortly before the crash. At that time nothing out of the ordinary was mentioned. He was supposed to call back but did not.

The Spanish fishing ship Vergen de Carmilo radioed that it had picked up the three survivors. The Convair plane carried 49 passengers and five crew members.

PLANE DESTINATION

The Convair of the Spanish airline had taken off for Tangier from Malaga, a mecca for Swedish, Danish, and other tourists.

The Spanish fishing boat handed the three survivors over to a Tangier-bound British freighter.

At Al Khortobi Hospital, where the three were taken after the freighter landed in Tangier, a spokesman said none was seriously injured. They were identified only as two Danes and a Swede.

Sharpen Up Driving Skill in Special City Classes

Safe driving is no accident.

Area motorists will be able to prove this to themselves by attending a voluntary traffic school opening at 7:30 p. m. April 6 in the city's public safety building, 110 E. Pike.

The school, the first of its kind in the area, is sponsored by the Pontiac Police Department, the Automobile Club of Michigan and The Pontiac Press.

It is geared to show drivers how to avoid accidents—and traffic tickets.

The school is designed to update drivers on the latest traffic laws and driving skills necessary for today's complex traffic and high-speed roads.

Such topics as driver attitude, car maintenance, speed, how to signal for turns and maneuvering, freeway driving and pedestrian safety will be covered.

Each school or class will last 75 minutes.

The opening night school will have a special program.

Acting Police Chief William Hanger of the Pontiac Police Department and Harold Heumann, manager of the Auto Club's Pontiac Division office, will address the school.

FIRST SESSION

Reyniear Staats, special project coordinator for the Auto Club's safety and traffic division will conduct the first night's session.

'Seek a City Saint'-5

Prayer: Balance Wheel

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fifth of seven excerpts from Methodist minister David Head's book "Seek a City Saint." The excerpts are appearing each week in The Pontiac Press during Lent.)

By DAVID HEAD
(Distributed by NEA)

It was all very well for Wordsworth to enjoy so much working leisure "away from it all." You remember:

"It was a beauteous evening, calm and still,
The holy time was quiet as a nun
Breathless with adoration."

But 7 a.m. brings the dash to work, and concentrated work is punctured with interruptions, and dull work is punctured with music, and the lunch break is cut short to make "more time" later, and 5 p.m. is the rush hour, and evenings are never long enough, and the best television programs are late, and to get to the country is too much effort after a day's work, and at the weekend everybody else has the same idea, and when we get to management level we have the worry as well as the work . . . When were you last calm and still?

In such a world the city saint is to let his ordered life confess the beauty of God's peace. It takes some doing.

We sometimes grumble that churches are tranquil, but most city churches lay on the layman more and more jobs, or more and more bouts of conscience for not doing them, until the ungodly hours are breathless with exertion.

200 Planes Hit N. Viet, Cong Targets

from Peking declared 12 of the raiders were shot down.

South Viet Nam's official press agency announced the fourth operation—a strike by 100 U.S. and South Vietnamese bombers at a munitions depot and training center of a Viet Cong regiment at Boi Loi, in Tay Ninh province 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

"The Boi Loi area was engulfed in a sea of fire," the agency said in a broadcast dispatch. "Pilots reported all planes taking part returned safely to the Bien Hoa Air Base."

Twenty-five American helicopters and elements of a Vietnamese government regiment were heavily engaged by Viet Cong forces three miles north of Viet Nam, a strategic center south of the Da Nang Air Base.

DIED IN CRAFT

Two U. S. Marine helicopter men died in their craft and 16 were wounded, one fatally. Fragmentary reports indicated one of the downed helicopters was salvaged.

Of 19 Marine helicopters in the action, all were reported hit by ground fire. Six armed Army helicopters also were engaged in the fight, which still raged at dusk.

In Saigon, only about half of the U. S. Embassy staff was at work, and many of those were heavily bandaged.

Two more Vietnamese died of injuries suffered in yesterday's Communist terrorists' attack, bringing the casualty toll to two Americans and 18 Vietnamese dead; 65 Americans and nearly 100 Vietnamese wounded.

★ ★ ★

Eleven Americans were under treatment in the U.S. Navy Hospital. Seven other Americans, either seriously wounded or requiring specialists' care, were flown to Clark Air Base in the Philippines.

ACCESS ROUTES

Access routes to the five-story embassy building were closed or patrolled by steel-helmeted police. Security was extremely tight.

A police source said the street where the blast occurred might be permanently closed to traffic.

An "elaborate closing of the barn door, one day too late," said one security officer.

★ ★ ★

There was bitterness in some circles over the failure to take extraordinary security precautions earlier in view of detailed intelligence reports telling how the Viet Cong planned to blast the embassy.

FOR THREE WEEKS

Police sources said the plan had been known to both Vietnamese and American authorities for three weeks.

Current intelligence reports said Viet Cong terrorist squads have been assigned to blast the U. S. Information Agency building and a four-building bachelor officers quarters in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon.

U. S. Embassy spokesman Barry Zorthian said units from a 400-man U.S. Army military police detachment which recently landed in Saigon would be used to give additional protection to the embassy.

★ ★ ★

In Washington, it was expected that President Johnson would forward to Congress today his request for authority and funds to build a new embassy in Saigon.

Johnson announced his intention in a statement issued late yesterday afternoon, about 18 hours after terrorists' explosives heavily damaged the embassy in the South Viet Nam capital.

"The terrorist outrage aimed at the American Embassy in Saigon shows us once again what the struggle in Viet Nam is about," the statement said.

★ ★ ★

"This wanton act of ruthlessness has brought death and serious injury to innocent Vietnamese citizens in the street as well as to American and Vietnamese personnel on duty."

Before his statement was issued, Johnson conferred for 2½ hours with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security affairs. The four meet every week, and their luncheon session had been scheduled in advance of Monday night's explosion.

EXPECTED TO CONFER

Late today Johnson is expected to confer with Maxwell D. Taylor, the American ambassador to Saigon who has been in Washington for consultation since last Sunday.

★ ★ ★

Before Johnson's statement was released, White House press secretary George E. Reedy said when asked about the possibility of retaliatory air strikes: "I wouldn't speculate on the future right now."

The embassy, a five-story building that sits on a corner flush with the street, has been a favorite target of antigovernment insurgents since American warplanes began a series of bombing raids against North Viet Nam Feb. 7. The 14th attack was staged Tuesday.

Central JP Court Due in City Shortly

A central justice of the peace court, designed to save time and money, will be put into operation in downtown Pontiac within a month.

★ ★ ★

Suggested by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, the court will serve only those justices in communities north of 14 Mile Road.

The court will be conducted in the old Board of Supervisors auditorium in the county annex office building, 1 Lafayette.

Preliminary examinations and trials in contested state law cases will only be heard in the new court. A different justice will sit in morning and afternoon sessions each day.

The court already has received endorsement of the Justices of the Peace Association.

SOME DISAGREE

Orion Township Justice Helmar Stanaback, president, said that, while he believes the court will benefit all parties involved, the plan has not been accepted by all members of the association.

"Some are opposed because they feel we are taking the court away from the people," he said.

It has not been determined how many of the 50 justices the plan is aimed at will take advantage of the new court.

Bronson devised the one-court plan because his 15 assistant prosecutors were spending "far too much time on the road" traveling to and from justice courts.

There are 72 justice and municipal courts in Oakland County, "more than in any other county in the state," said Bronson. "My staff is being spread too thin.

"When there is a jury term, the manpower problem is critical. There have been days when five men are assigned to circuit court cases and seven or eight before justices or municipal judges.

"That leaves only a couple of men in the office to serve the general public, issue warrants and consult with court officials on pending cases."

Only one assistant prosecutor will be needed each day in the new court, according to Bronson.

He noted, however, that it will still be necessary to assign an assistant to municipal court cases.

The central court, said Bronson, is only a stop gap measure until a county-wide court system is established under the new state constitution.

REPLACEMENT

The new system will replace the justices of the peace in about three years. The state legislature has not yet determined how the county-wide system will be set-up.

The prosecutor's staff will not be the only ones to save time.

★ ★ ★

"It will make it much easier for us," said Sheriff Frank Irons. "With the court only a block away from the jail, we won't have to shuttle prisoners to hearings throughout the county."

The court space was made available by the Oakland County Board of Auditors.

Daniel T. Murphy, board chairman, called the plan "worthwhile" and one that should provide a savings to taxpayers.

He said that it would be impossible to estimate the savings until the court was in operation for a while.

Probe of Klan Gathers Steam

WASHINGTON (AP) — An extensive congressional investigation aimed at ripping the white cloaks of secrecy from the Ku Klux Klan was under way today, presumably with a big assist from the FBI.

The formal investigation was launched immediately after the House Committee on Un-American Activities voted unanimously Tuesday that a probe was needed.

Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., and Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., the committee member who originally demanded the investigation, estimated it would take several weeks of spadework before hearings.

"It's going to require intensive and extensive investigation to prepare for the hearings," said one source.

"We want to know who they are; how many there are; where they are; what's their objectives; what's their allegiance."

WELCOMED

At Natchez, Miss., E. L. McDaniel, grand dragon of the Mississippi Realm of the United Klans of America, said he "welcomed an investigation of the KKK." He said he hoped Willis "has not formed an opinion before investigating the truth."

President Johnson, in suggesting congressional investigations of the Klan, promised help from the FBI, Justice Department and other government agencies.

The committee already has approached the Justice Department and a committee source said the length of the investigation may depend on how much help the Justice Department, the FBI and other agencies may be able to give.

Thus, while the President was getting in short order the investigation he asked for, the Justice Department was facing up to the difficulties of coming up with legislation he requested to control Klan activities.

DIFFICULT

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told some Negro students about it Tuesday: "It's difficult to get any meaningful legislation against the organization. It would be better if we could make it easier for the federal government to prosecute individuals for specific crimes, possibly with heavier penalties than we now have. But we haven't made any decision yet."

★ ★ ★

Katzenbach and his top aides are said to be wary of any law that would attempt to make Klan membership a crime or to require klansmen to register with the government and disclose their activities.

They know by experience the difficulties in enforcing the Internal Security Act of 1950, aimed at forcing disclosure of Communist party membership and finances.

Freed on Bond in Auto Deaths

A 36-year-old Owosso man was arraigned in Troy Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of negligent homicide in connection with a Monday auto accident that took the lives of a Troy mother and two of her daughters and left a third daughter critically injured.

Erwin F. Meiers was released on $1,000 bond after demanding examination before Judge Charles Losey. A hearing is slated April 19.

Meiers is accused of running flashing stop lights while eastbound on Long Lake Road in Troy Monday afternoon, striking a car driven north on Crooks Road by Mrs. Warren F. David, 42, of 825 E. Square Lake.

Mrs. David and her 6-year-old daughter, Melody, died within two hours after the crash, at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Another daughter, 18-month-old Carmen Tami, died shortly before 11 a.m. yesterday.

The third daughter, Tessie David, 5, remains in critical condition at Beaumont today.

State Pastor Owes Apology, Says Aide

Rev. Carl R. Sayers should apologize to the Episcopal bishop of Birmingham, Ala., for urging him to resign, according to Alabama's Episcopal coadjutor.

The coadjutor, Bishop George M. Murray, made the statement yesterday after the Rev. Mr. Sayers, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church in Birmingham, Mich., sent a letter to the Rt. Rev. C. C. J. Carpenter.

The Rev. Mr. Sayers described the Birmingham, Ala., bishop as "a wolf to the pack of Christ" for denouncing the civil rights march on Montgomery.

Murray, in saying Sayers should apologize to Carpenter, said the Alabama bishop had managed to get a Birmingham, Ala., church "to conform to the church canon on desegregation without either splitting or closing the church.

"I believe the man who has made the accusation owes Carpenter an apology."

Carpenter, meanwhile, said he stands behind his denunciation of the march.

'GREAT COST'

Carpenter had called the march "a foolish business and sad waste of time in which the childish instinct to parade at great cost to our state will be indulged."

Monday, Sayers urged Carpenter to "submit your resignation to the House of Bishops and seek from God his forgiveness for your abdication of moral and spiritual leadership in Alabama."

Cabinet Voice for Cities Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey urged the nation's mayors and other city officials today to throw their support behind the proposal to give cities a voice in the President's Cabinet.

★ ★ ★

America's ever-growing cities are facing a "time of great decision," and need such a voice, he said, in a speech prepared for a legislative conference of the National League of Cities.

As he spoke, hearings were under way in the Senate on an administration-backed bill which would create a new department of housing and urban development.

This would be done by raising the status of the existing federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

"Almost every group in this country has a voice at the Cabinet level in this government: but not the city," Humphrey said. "That is wrong. I ask you to exert your influence in support of this bill."

Humphrey pointed up the problems confronting the cities, mainly a result of burgeoning growth.

He said the suburbs must swell to absorb another 30 million people in the next 10 years.

The growth rate has forced state and local governments to go heavily into debt — more than doubling in 10 years — to pay for services and facilities, the vice president said.

★ ★ ★

Forces of growth and decay are converging on cities, Humphrey declared, and require not only building but better education, higher incomes and a lifting of "oppression" used "to deny some of our citizens their rights."

Seek Return of Hoffa Check

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)— Petitions were to be distributed to members of Teamsters Union Local 612 today requesting union boss James Hoffa to ask Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., to return a check for $25,000.

"Jimmy Hoffa has stabbed us in the back," a rank-and-file member said last night after Hoffa presented King the check to aid in the Negro civil rights movement.

The union member said the petition would be distributed throughout Alabama.

"We supported him (Hoffa) when he was having his troubles with Bobby (Sen. Robert Kennedy) and now he is sticking a knife in our backs by giving that check to King," the member said.

★ ★ ★

He said neither Hoffa nor the international union had any authority to support King or the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Bloomfield Twp. Session to Discuss Tax for Roads

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP— The possibility of setting up a special tax levy for a long-range road improvement program will be discussed at a meeting here Tuesday.

Township Board members have called together representatives of the 91 subdivision associations in the township to determine voter sentiment on financing such a project through a millage increase.

Supervisor Homer Case has noted 1 mill would net about $158,000 annually in the township. If matched by the county, the sum could be used to build about four miles of hard-surfaced roads.

At the rate of four miles a year, it would take the township five years to pave its 20 miles of collector roads, he said.

★ ★ ★

TOWNSHIP LEVIES

Besides a 1-mill levy for its library, the township now is collecting 2 mills voted extra and due to expire in 1966.

From this a half-mill each is allotted to the fire department, police department, building fund and road improvement.

The last of these is used with county matching funds.

★ ★ ★

"If we had an additional amount for maintenance as well as for the matching fund, we would take care of these roads one at a time," Township Clerk Deloris V. Little said.

EAST SIDE

Officials have indicated work is most urgently required on Eastways and other roads on the east side of the township which have been most seriously affected by the construction of I-75.

"Just to grade them doesn't really help," Mrs. Little said. "It would be better if we can go in there and do the job properly — take one at a time and blacktop them."

Included in the list of roads needing immediate attention are Ward, Inkster, Squirrel, Lahser, Hickory Grove, 14 Mile, Walnut Lake, Kensington and Lone Pine from Inkster to Franklin.

Mrs. Little said the board hoped each of the 91 subdivision associations would send a representative to the 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday, although she noted all of the subdivisions in the township don't have associations.

Selection of Jury in Second Day at Fire-Death Trial

Selecting a jury in the first-degree murder trial of Harry M. Belcher of Ferndale was to have resumed today in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Attempts to seat a jury yesterday failed after all prospective jurors were dismissed by peremptory challenges by defense attorney John McIntosh or by Circuit Judge Philip Pratt on the grounds that they had opinions in the case.

Belcher, 32, is accused of murdering his wife, Catherine, 35, who, with their six children, died in a house fire Jan. 25.

Authorities charge Belcher with starting the fire.

You think I exaggerate? I hope I do. Somehow in all this there must be balance and discernment.

Somehow the Holy Spirit must help us create order. Somehow we must accept a heavier burden than activities — that of being a certain sort of person.

Otherwise we may start thinking we are justified by deeds done and distance covered. We may become well-doers-on-strings, and — waiting to give ourselves to people—find there is little of ourselves to give; our manner restless, our time short, our interests small, our company boring, our insights clouded, our energies dissipated, and our attitude idolatrous because we have come to believe that it ALL depends on us.

Yet there are city saints who, even amid the bustle of these days, know the value of a disciplined prayer life. Others are convinced they need it and know how much is lost when they lose it.

★ ★ ★

Prayer is the conscious recognition of God's holy presence and purpose in all life — including the "now" of prayer. This will usually involve the use of words.

WORDS OF SCRIPTURE

We have the words of Scripture to convey God's meaning in events; we are to make a meaningful reply, using words to communicate, to clarify, to commit ourselves.

That makes prayer engagement, as well as withdrawal.

Prayer should no more be remote from life than life itself.

Mature life has a balance of activity and passivity, of giving out and taking in, of rush and rest. Prayer, for all its physical inactivity, is to be seen on both sides of the scales. For a man's inner life is as complex as his outer life, and prayer is private life facing Godwards, as worship is public life facing Godwards.

'DR. ZHIVAGO'

In Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago," Lara went to church because "she needed the accompaniment of an inward music, and she could not always compose it for prayer. But so does life. Equally needed is the discordant clamor of the secular world.

Prayer is the contrapuntal combination of two not entirely dissimilar melodies — God's holiness and God's world.

County Official Stands Mute to Driving Charge

Oakland County Clerk-Register John D. Murphy today stood mute in Birmingham Municipal Court on a charge of driving under the influence of liquor.

Murphy was arrested at 3:30 a.m. after his car swerved off Woodward at Merrill and barely missed hitting a store, according to Birmingham police.

At Murphy's arraignment, acting Municipal Judge Thomas Costello entered a plea of innocent in his behalf.

Murphy, 51, of 710 Catalpa, Royal Oak, was released on a $100 personal bond. No trial date was set.

Astronauts Wave To Chicago Throng

Crowd Cheers Astronauts in Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI) — They took the long way around, but U.S. astronauts Virgil (Gus) Grissom and John Young were finally going home today.

After a week of glowing tributes and ticker-tape parades — not to mention a flight into space—the major and the lieutenant colonel planned to leave with their families for Houston this morning.

The Houston city fathers planned a quiet reception at the airport, after which the astronauts will retire to their suburban homes to mull over the biggest week in their lives.

The hoopla, the banter and the cheering ended in Chicago yesterday.

BAND PLAYS ON

The fire department band belted out "Hey, Look Me Over" and "Everything's Coming Up Roses" as the parade inched up the La Salle Street canyon, where police estimated 450,000 persons were massed. In dark topcoats with collars turned up, the astronauts were covered with confetti and ticker-tape by the end of their ride.

Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley presented them with honorary citizenship in the city of Chicago, and schoolchildren asked them how it felt to ride a rocket into space.

Grissom said he had seen a lot of parades "but none has beat the one we had today."

"We heard it was going to be chilly in Chicago, but it was 120 degrees in the shade," Young said in summing up the crowd's spirit.

After a city hall appearance at which the astronauts were hailed as "intrepid adventurers," Grissom was called upon to make a speech to about 300 persons gathered for a lunch.

"There are certain responsibilities and authority that go with being commander of the Molly Brown," Grissom said. "So at this time I'm going to call on John Young to make a speech."

Young took it in stride, and said the orbital flight wouldn't have been possible without "those welders, electrical engineers and flight engineers who have been working seven days a week. These people are irreplaceable."

Illinois Gov. Otto Kerner, taking note of Grissom's wit, asked him once, "Major, I'd like to know who writes your stuff."

Grissom grinned and poked his thumb toward Young.

At an afternoon reception, Grissom and Young fielded questions about their flight from about 3,000 specially selected students from Chicago schools and colleges.

A little girl asked them how they liked their trip through space.

"It was beautiful," Young said. "It was a lot of fun. It was a ball."

One youngster asked about "the feelings in your stomach" during the flight.

BUTTERFLIES

"I guess we had some butterflies," Grissom answered. "You're a little scared up there, I guess. But you learn to control this. To tell the truth, I was more nervous this time than on my first trip. This time I was the commander of the ship and was responsible for John's life, too."

At a press conference, Grissom had a surprise reunion with his high school mathematics teacher, Miss Mildred Hopkins. After a trip through space, the praise of the President, a ticker-tape parade in New York and yesterday's welcome by Chicagoans, it might have been anticlimactic.

★ ★ ★

But it wasn't. Grissom proudly introduced her to the students and credited her with giving him a good start in mathematics.

Shriver Stresses Role of Volunteers

SHRIVER

Sargent Shriver, director of the federal Office of Economic Opportunity, says the nonprofessional volunteer has a vital role to play in the antipoverty program.

In a speech yesterday in New York to the National Council of Jewish Women he warned against the traditional division of social welfare personnel into professional and welfare categories.

"Service, guidance, affection and compassion are needed, and there simply aren't enough professionals to do the human job," Shriver said.

Labor Phantom Seen in Taft-Hartley Bias

It is hard to reconcile organized labor's professed championship of freedom and democratic principles with its all-out campaign to force repeal of section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act—the section which permits the states to adopt Right-to-Work laws if they wish. Twenty states have done so.

Labor has pictured that section as a particularly onerous provision of Taft-Hartley, which it calls a "slave labor" law.

But anyone inclined to believe that 14b is the ogre the unions allege, would do well to read the section. It says: "Nothing in this Act (Taft-Hartley) shall be construed as authorizing the execution or application of agreements requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment in any State . . . in which such execution or application is prohibited by State . . . law."

To make that seem, in any way, an anti-labor measure requires some massive twisting of plain language. It simply says that, in states which take advantage of 14b, each worker will have the right to join or not to join a union as he chooses, and in either case he can keep his job. No one can make him join—and no one can prevent him from joining.

If that is not basic freedom, what is?

Moreover, President Johnson's campaign promise to Labor to push repeal of the section it despises tags him more as a politician than a statesman. As a U.S. Senator, LBJ voted for Taft-Hartley and presumably approved of its provisions.

French Look Ahead Guided by Astrology

The French, says a reliable source, have very little use for psychiatrists —they prefer fortunetellers.

Paris reportedly has one fortuneteller for every 800 people, which is twice its number of doctors, five times its number of priests and 50 times its number of psychiatrists.

★ ★ ★

"Being a less clinical and more romantic people," says a leading astrologer, "the French prefer the occult to psychoanalysts."

Fortunetelling is actually forbidden by law and condemned by the Roman Catholic Church in France, but more than 500,000 practicing astrologers, palmists and mediums have no trouble doing a half-billion-dollar business a year.

One of the most popular places for fortunetellers in Paris is the Pigalle area, according to PATRICE BOUSSEL, author of a guide to Paris fortunetellers. "Fortunetelling appeals to the lonely and misunderstood," he adds. "Everyone likes to be the center of interest and fortunetellers boost the ego."

★ ★ ★

Anyone inclined to dismiss this as but a mark of Gallic gullibility might ponder the presumption: "Fifty million Frenchmen can't be wrong."

Yankees' Yen to Owe Brings Mortgage Woe

One of the oddities of current economics is that at the height of the Nation's longest peacetime boom more Americans are losing their homes through foreclosure than at any time since 1939.

How can this be?

No mystery, say the economists. Rising pay and easier mortgage credit have induced home buyers to take a deeper, dizzier plunge into the cool, inviting waters of easy, convenient debt and practically perpetual monthly payments.

Then comes the dawn, and many a harassed homesteader discovers that fringe discomforts such as taxes, insurance and maintenance — plus the status urge of "we really need this" and "we just HAVE to have that"—add up to more than the rosy pre-purchase planning had indicated. So . . .

Last year home foreclosures in the United States zoomed past the 100,000 mark for the first time since World War II. And the foreclosure rate has doubled in the last five years!

★ ★ ★

It's wonderful, of course, to own a home. But it's even more wonderful to own it with pleasure instead of worry, and to be able to keep on owning it until it is actually owned.

The prudent family will buy—and live—accordingly.

Court's Ruling Accents Fairness

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — What's fair for one is fair for the other — with the accent on what's fair.

MARLOW

This was the essence of a Supreme Court ruling Monday which upheld the right of an employer, when negotiations with a union are deadlocked, to shut down his plant to put economic pressure on a union to come to terms.

This balances the scale with a union which has undisputed right to strike to pressure an employer into meeting its demands.

But if an employer, reading this, gets the idea he can shut down his plant temporarily just to smash a union or to avoid bargaining or before bargaining deadlocked, this is not what what the court said.

That kind of shutdown gets into the field of unfairness against a union. This was not involved in Monday's decision.

★ ★ ★

In this case the American Shipbuilding Co. which operates four shipyards—mainly for repairing ships — had been bargaining collectively with eight unions for years. So there was no question here of antiunion bias by the company, even though the unions had struck the shipyards several times.

STRIKE AT BUSIEST SEASON

Then came a negotiation which reached a dead end. The company feared the union would wait to strike at the busiest season, thus putting the maximum pressure on the company to give in.

So the company decided to shut down its yards, when ship-repairing was not at its peak, and thus reverse things by putting maximum pressure on the union to give in.

The unanimous court upheld the company's right to do what it did, saying:

The shipyard's owner did not violate the labor law "when, after a bargaining impasse had been reached, he temporarily shuts down his plant and lays off his employes for the sole purpose of bringing economic pressure to bear in support of his legitimate bargaining position."

★ ★ ★

But there are varying conflicting interests in different lockouts. So, undoubtedly, in the future the court will have to pass on more lockouts and in doing so probably narrow down Monday's sweeping opinion.

ANOTHER CASE

In another case, the court laid down the general rule that an employer has a right to close his plant—not temporarily but permanently — by going out of business, no matter what his reason, antiunion bias or not.

In still another case—when a union, which has been bargaining with a number of employers as a group, decides to strike one of them to force a settlement — the court held the others have a right to lock out their union employes and hire nonunion employes temporarily to keep on doing business.

More Devastating Than The Gas Itself!

David Lawrence Says:

Reds Set to Risk Viet Escalation

WASHINGTON — The United States is involuntarily engaged in an "escalation" game in Viet Nam.

The word "escalation" has often been used to imply that if one side takes a drastic course of military action, the other side will then retaliate, and a succession of moves progressively more intensive and widespread will become inevitable.

LAWRENCE

A critical moment indeed has been reached in the Viet Nam war. The United States, as the ally of the South Viet Nam government, recently found its own forces directly attacked and its installations destroyed, so a retaliatory move was made in the form of bombing raids on North Viet Nam.

It was widely assumed then that the policy of the United States in dramatizing its military power would cause the North Viet Nam government and its ally, Red China, to hesitate about further steps that could provoke enlarged military action.

But now it has become apparent that the Communists are ready to risk a larger war. For they have just bombed the United States Embassy in Saigon, killing and injuring Americans.

★ ★ ★

This is the kind of attack which the United States government cannot ignore. The embassy is American territory, and such an attack is a most serious occurrence.

DELIBERATE CHOICE

The embassy building in Saigon undoubtedly was the target which the Communists deliberately chose in planting the bomb —to see how far the United States would go in retaliation.

There has been much speculation as to what the American policy really is in Viet Nam. It has been suggested that the Washington government is feeling its way.

It is clear that the South Vietnamese are incapable of dealing with the situation on their own. Obviously, with all the support given by Red China to North Viet Nam, a weak government such as exists in Saigon cannot by itself possibly thwart the acts of invasion and aggression.

★ ★ ★

So the problem that squarely faces the United States is whether it will make good on the declaration by President Johnson the other day when he said: "The aggression from the north must be stopped."

PRACTICAL SITUATION

The practical situation, however, is that the Red Chinese and North Vietnamese evidently think that public opinion in the United States will restrain the American government from taking any drastic steps.

President Johnson, therefore, faces a real dilemma.

Will the Red Chinese be allowed to believe that the United States eventually will throw in the sponge and that no vigorous military action will be taken because of a fear of "escalation" into a wider war?

★ ★ ★

The United States faces a war something like that which occurred in Korea. It either has to exert maximum power and fight the war to a standstill, or it will find its forces constantly harassed and many lives endangered in Southeast Asia as the Communists become more and more aggressive.

This is not a new problem in prewar periods. Most of the "escalation" into big wars in the past has been due to a failure of one side to construe correctly the determination of the other side.

★ ★ ★

The Communists are making a mistake now if they believe that they can attack a United States Embassy building — American territory — and get away with it.

It still remains to be seen just what method will be used to disillusion them.

Bomb May Have Killed Chances for Early Talks

By ARTHUR GAVSHON

LONDON (AP) — The Communist bomb that shattered the U.S. Embassy in Saigon yesterday may have blasted Britain's chances of arranging early talks to end the Viet Nam war.

★ ★ ★

In the view of British government authorities, the terror attack in the heart of Saigon could lead to a spreading of the war.

The British Foreign Office declined formal comment on the bomb explosion pending full accounts from Saigon and Washington.

But Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government, according to officials, believes that:

★ ★ ★

● American retaliation on a massive scale now seems inevitable.

★ ★ ★

● The Viet Cong attack may signal the start of an intensive campaign of terror against the civilian population of South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

To British experts familiar with the Viet Nam scene, the bombing explains the comparative lull in Viet Cong activity recently noticed. The British suspect the Viet Cong guerrillas probably have been preparing for something big, hoping their inaction would induce the Americans and South Vietnamese to lower their guard.

WILL STRIKE AGAIN

"The pattern of past Viet Cong terror tactics," one government source said, "suggests they will strike again, and yesterday's explosion may therefore be the start of a full-scale terrorist campaign designed to destroy the rising morale of South Vietnamese civilians."

The Viet Cong attack came as the government was preparing a broad peace initiative.

Former Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker had been assigned by Wilson to visit the region.

★ ★ ★

The British have been trying to arrange for him to enter Peking and Hanoi for talks with Chinese and North Vietnamese leaders.

SEEMS CERTAIN

But now it seems certain that the tempo of fighting will quicken as American reprisal - action produces its counterthrust from the Communists. In such a situation talk of peace may be academic.

★ ★ ★

Inside Parliament, meanwhile, two Labor lawmakers who often have criticized American policies in Viet Nam expressed their "abhorrence of this wanton act."

★ ★ ★

In a letter to U.S. Ambassador David K. Bruce, legislators Eric Heffer and William Molloy deprecated "this senseless act of violence" and offered their sympathy for the victims.

Voice of the People:

Need More Understanding of Constitutional Rights

We would all be better off if people would remember what the Constitution stands for. There is a right to vote but in certain places citizens don't have a right to vote or a right to live as an equal person, regardless of race or creed. Don't we have enough problems in the world without fighting among ourselves? There is enough killing overseas.

Comments on Disposition of TB Patients

I read in The Press where a decision to transfer 63 TB patients of Oakland County TB Sanatorium is expected soon. They are thinking of transferring them to the Herman Kiefer Hospital in Detroit. What's wrong with the Medical Care Facility and other rest homes in Oakland County?

★ ★ ★

It's a shame we have to let our neighbors and friends return or be released to poor conditions at Kiefer and expect they will get well. Looks as though someone made a boo boo.

MRS. JEAN GRAGG
WATERFORD TOWNSHIP

Why were Oakland County supervisors insistent on selling our TB Sanatorium when a new power plant would have been the major cost of repair? Why are patients bound for hospitals outside Oakland County? How much will our county lose in social welfare by transferring Medical Care patients so that the TB patients can be moved into that facility? What happens to the employes who were promised employment elsewhere in the County.

Suggestions to Relieve Traffic Tie-Ups

Two suggestions could be used throughout Michigan to stop some of the auto traffic tie-ups. All signal lights on one street should work together so there would be no need for a person traveling the posted speed limit to stop for a signal light. Also, corners permitting left turns should have left turn signals allowing more than one car to make the turn, especially during daytime rush hours.

'State Needs Income From Dog Racing'

Michigan cities are crying for city income taxes, Michigan schools are crying for more schools to handle the children, and we lack funds to build playgrounds, gyms and swimming pools for our children. Police departments need more men and our fire protection could always be better to protect our homes and lives.

★ ★ ★

I say make Michigan a resort state, which would include legalizing dog racing, and bring some badly-needed revenue into Michigan. If we don't legalize dog racing, our money will be spent in Canada where they are definitely setting up these races.

'Residents Unaware of Dog Ordinance'

People in Lotus Lake subdivision are obviously unaware of Section 6 of the Waterford Township dog ordinance. I have called the dog warden numerous times concerning these animals and nothing is done. I am instructed to lure these dogs into my garage and the warden will then pick them up. I am not employed by Waterford Township.

I guess I'll have to sit by and watch my lawn, flowers and shrubs being ruined by the pets of inconsiderate people.

Growth Speed

The American City

In all the millennia of human existence on earth before the 20th Century, world population grew at a rate of less than 1% a year. World population at the time of Christ was only about 250 million. The first billion mark was reached after 1800. Today, world population is growing at the rate of over 2% a year, doubling in 35 years.

National Debt

Chicago Tribune

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, ranking Republican on the House appropriations committee, informed his colleagues that on March 18 the national debt was just short of 319 billion dollars and that the interest on the debt will run more than $22,000 a minute during the next fiscal year, beginning July 1.

Mr. Bow said that if restraint is ever to be exercised on spending, Congress will have to begin distinguishing between needs and wants.

The Ohio legislator said that the Democratic administration had been on a spending spree the last four years, with expenditures rising at the rate of 5 billion dollars a year since a Republican administration vacated the White House.

These alarming figures seem to have lost shock value in Washington, but out financial commentator, Dr. Melchior Palyi, reports that a considerable portion of his mail is from people who are worried about how to shelter what assets they have if the dollar loses what remaining authority it possesses.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Palyi emphasizes that there is no safe and secure way of hedging against devaluation and price inflation. The best resort is for the people to unite in holding the politicians responsible, for it is they who hold the future of the dollar in their hands.

Toothless Americans

The Dothan (Ala.) Eagle

Long ago we became convinced that it is as important to see the dentist twice a year, as the profession advocates, as to eat an apple a day, as the apple growers suggest. Therefore, we were pleased the other day to see statistical substantiation of this conviction.

The Public Health Service reported that a survey made during 1960-62 revealed that more than 20-million American adults are completely toothless (not a tooth in the head) and 10-million more have parted company with their upper or lower teeth.

★ ★ ★

Put another way, these figures mean that among every 100 adults in the population at large, 18 no longer have any natural teeth at all, while nine others have natural teeth in only one jaw.

As for the rest of the country's adults, they have 2.25 billion decayed, missing and filled teeth.

★ ★ ★

If all these people had seen their dentist twice a year it's reasonable to assume the foregoing statistics would not only be considerably less but could be presented in exact rather than round figures.

Sacrifice

The Evening News & Star (London, England)

The principle of sacrifice runs all through human life and is at the heart of every religion man has known. For all men, whatever their faith or lack of it, life at its best is always sacrificial. The ideal of duty done, if need be, at high cost of personal inclination is set before every child who grows up in a Christian nation.

Guatemala Enjoys Booming Economy

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Almost unnoticed by the outside world, the small Central American republic of Guatemala has for the last two years been enjoying an unprecedented economic boom.

* * *

Part of the credit is given the interim government headed by Col. Enrique Peralta Azurdia.

Colonel Peralta a former defense minister led a bloodless revolt which in March 1963 overthrew the government of Miguel Ydigoras Fuentes.

Much of the NEWSOM credit also is given to another little-publicized force which is called the Central American Common Market composed of the five Central American republics, Costa Rica, El Salvador, Guatemala, Honduras and Nicaragua.

This, in much the same manner as its better known counterpart, the European Common Market, seeks to abolish tariffs among the five and to coordinate efforts to develop agriculture and industry.

In Guatemala its progress may be noted in well-stocked super markets which stock canned and packaged goods labeled "made in Central America."

* * *

As in most other Latin American nations, agriculture has not kept pace with developing industry. But in Guatemala, for instance, efforts are being made to get away from a coffee economy.

TOTAL EXPORTS

In 1963, coffee accounted for 55 per cent of total exports as opposed to 62.5 per cent in 1962.

And within the Central American Common Market, Guatemala from mid-1963 to mid-1964 sold the equivalent of $24 million while importing just over $14 million.

In 1950, exports to Central American nations totaled just over $500,000 and imports something less than $2 million.

* * *

Since 1950 Guatemala has been of special interest to the United States and a capsule of problems common to most Latin American lands.

KAY PROBLEM

And to the United States it has presented a problem also encountered in other Latin American nations — whether to insist upon the development of democratic institutions or to settle temporarily for a stability brought about by a military coup at the expense of Democratic processes.

By the latter route, Col. Peralta came to power. The United States recognized him on the basis of tentative promises that national elections would be held in 1965.

Events which began coming to a head in 1950 have made the United States especially sensitive to Guatemalan politics.

* * *

In that year, Jacobo Arbenz Guzman became president and very nearly created in Guatemala the first Communist state in this hemisphere.

Arbenz fell in 1954 to a revolt led by Castillo Armas who had enthusiastic U.S. support. The U. S. subsequently contributed heavily to the Guatemalan economy to make sure that it stayed in the anti-Communist camp.

Exam Is Slated in Traffic Death

A 17-year-old Waterford Township girl demanded examination at her arraignment yesterday before Waterford Justice John E. McGrath on a negligent homicide charge stemming from a fatal accident Sunday.

McGrath scheduled the examination April 13 at 9:30 a.m. for Lora G. Maguire of 4496 Meigs. She is free on $1,000 personal bond.

Miss Maguire's car struck and killed Gail Marchand, 11, of 6455 Adamson, Waterford Township, Sunday afternoon after it went out of control while rounding a curve on Landsdowne near Adamson, Waterford Township.

The car also hit the girl's brother, Joseph, 10, who was hospitalized with a head injury.

★ ★ ★

The children were playing in a subdivision park area when the accident occurred.

Pontiac City Affairs

Commission Makes 5 Appointments

Five appointments, four of them reappointments, were made last night by the City Commission.

Reappointed to one-year terms were Pontiac's four members of the County Board of Supervisors.

They are Howard O. Powers, 235 Cherokee; Mrs. Marguerite Simson, 140 W. Brooklyn; Edward A. Maier, 31 Oakland; and Victor Woods, 279 S. Anderson.

They will serve until April, 1966.

Ex-officio representatives to the county board include the city attorney, finance director and city assessor.

Also appointed last night was a new member to the city's Board of Canvassers. Otis Lawrence, 470 Ferry, was designated to fill a term expiring Dec. 31, 1967.

Lawrence, a Democrat, fills a vacancy left by Robert E. Vackaro, formerly of 784 St. Clair, who moved from the city.

The board is slated to canvass the March 18th vote tonight.

Required by the new state constitution, the Board of Canvassers is made up of two Democrats and two Republicans. The board canvasses the vote in each city election.

SIMILAR ACTION

In similar action last night, the commission appointed two part-time civil process servers for the Municipal Court.

Joseph Rohrbach, deputy warrant clerk for the court, and Sgt. John Williams, Pontiac police officer, were approved for the part-time jobs.

Requested by the city's two judges, the part-time process servers will only work when the load is too great for the regular constables.

They will serve in their off-duty hours.

STREET PROJECTS

City Engineer Joseph E. Neipling submitted reports last night on three street projects in the city.

Neipling reported that difficulties in acquiring the necessary right-of-way had stalled plans to improve and widen Arlene between Madison and Perry.

Problems having to do with the base under Rundell between Edison and Glenwood has hampered plans to reconstruct the street.

★ ★ ★

Neipling also reported last night that the city will have to pay a "limited" portion of the costs of improvements to Square Lake Road.

PAY FOR PART

The Michigan State Highway Department intends to improve the road this summer. The city will have to participate on the section between the Grand Trunk Railroad and Opdyke, according to Neipling.

He said the cost, which would take in a railroad bridge over the highway, would be about 14 per cent of the total road project.

However, he said that cost estimates have not been prepared yet.

In other business, the commission approved payment of the city's share ($1,442) for a new traffic signal at Saginaw and Rapid.

Cost of the light is split 50-50 with the State Highway Department.

City Commissioners also approved a ten-year lease for a city-owned hanger at Pontiac Municipal Airport.

The hanger will be leased to Aerodynamics, Inc., for $1,200 per month, which is $300 less than rent formerly paid on the hanger.

★ ★ ★

The reason for the drop in rent was that the firm had threatened to move its operations to Detroit City Airport.

WATER USAGE

A report of water department activities during 1964 disclosed last night that the city set an all-time record for water usage.

During the first full year of operation of the new water system, a total of 4.723 billion gallons of water was pumped — 200 million gallons over 1963 or an increase of 4.1 per cent.

Water department crews installed 4,228 feet of water mains in seven different projects during the year.

Sew Severed Arm Back On

PITTSBURGH (AP) — A workman whose severed arm was sewn back on was listed in satisfactory condition today in Presbyterian-University Hospital.

Frank Roth, 43, had his left arm sheared off four inches above the elbow yesterday by a bucket used to load sand at a Mesta Machine Co. plant where he worked as a molder.

★ ★ ★

Roth was first taken to Homestead Hospital, then he and the arm, packed in ice, where taken to Presbyterian-University.

A team of six surgeons worked six hours to attach the arm. A hospital spokesman said that there was a pulse.

More Reindeer Than People

Finland's Laplanders Live Life Similar to Wild West in U.S.

AP SPECIAL REPORT

By PRESTON GROVER

ROVANIEMI, Finland (AP) — There are 250,000 reindeer in Lapland — and 220,000 people who wish the world thought of them as something other than reindeer herders.

I came up here, beyond the Artic Circle, to have a look at this part of Finland, for while reindeer raising is one of the least important of Finnish industries, it is the most colorful. It is Finland's equivalent of the U.S. Wild West.

When I faced a group of city officials and reporters in this Lapland provincial capital, the first thing they wanted to know was what I expected to find in Lapland. I told them that when the word Laplander is mentioned in America it conjures a picture of a man in furry leggings and beribboned hat racing over the snow behind a pair of antlers. That was the picture in my schoolboy geography.

CORRECT IMPRESSION

"We hope you will help correct that impression," said one reporter, a bit austerely.

Then they talked about Lapland, and especially about Rovaniemi. Before the war the city had 8,000 population and was secure and happy. During the war, after the Finns sued for an armistice with the victorious Russians, the German army backed out through Finland into Norway. In retaliation against the Finns for getting out of the war, they burned almost every settlement in Lapland. This city didn't have a house left. Now it has been rebuilt and the population has climbed to 26,500.

The biggest industries in Lapland are forestry and mining, but people do that everywhere in Finland. Only in Lapland do they have such fantastic things as reindeer roundups, reindeer races and almost everything "wild west" but a reindeer rodeo.

Of the whole population of Lapland, only 3,000 are true Lapps, a people as different from the Finns as Chinese are different from American Indians. Once there may have been a connection, but it was long, long ago. Finns and Lapps don't speak the same language.

REINDEER OWNERS

The Lapps own about a third of the reindeer in Lapland and that is their main occupation. Reindeer raising is a $4-million industry. The reindeer rove in bands across the roads and plunge into the deep snow on either side looking for the moss and lichens which make up their winter food. A band of them blocked our car for several minutes making a road crossing. One had been hit and killed by an earlier car.

Normally one person can have only 80 reindeer, but families may have 500 and in special cases 1,000. The number has to be limited. There isn't enough grazing.

★ ★ ★

The Lapps in Finland are only a small part of the 30,000 scattered in the arctic. Most live in Sweden and Norway. The Soviet Union has about 2,000.

Sweden and Finland get along so well that their Lapps range uncontrolled across the frontiers with their herds. Not so with the Soviet Union. Some 400 miles of fence have been built along the Finnish-Soviet frontier to keep the reindeer in Finland.

BARRIER BROKEN

Even so, about 600 reindeer broke through a barrier some months ago and defected to the U.S.S.R. The Russians returned 300 promptly and promised to return others as they found them during their own reindeer roundup.

Reindeer are branded by tattooing their ears. There are thousands of different brands.

All this was related by Yrjo Alaruikka, head of the Reindeer Association and usually known as the "reindeer czar." He fitted me out with a Lapp costume, bright red, green, yellow and blue, with reindeer skin leggings and shoes. He had me drive a reindeer for about half a mile. The reindeer was accustomed to tourists and tried to dump me out in a snow bank. The fact that I avoided it and got back still in the canoe-like sleigh won me a reindeer driver's license. The license says you can be arrested for drunken reindeer driving. It is all part of the fun at the reindeer and ski camp at Rohtimolampi, near the Lapland capital.

SMALL REINDEER

I was surprised that reindeer are so small. Antlers and all, they reach about to your chin. They have big feet with hairy fringes to help them get over the snow. Reindeer meat has a fine flavor, with a smack of the wild. It smokes well, but unless it is cooked properly, it can be tough as a shoe sole.

In Lapland, people ski every place. There are a few main roads and air routes, but in winter many places are cut off. Kids of 4 and 5 slip on their skis and start off for the neighbors as casually as tots in other lands hop on a roller scooter. By the time they are 10 they can do anything on skis, from cross-country racing to high jumping. They provide ski trainers for the world, including the U.S. Army where Lt. Col. Olavi Alakulppi is ski instructor.

From Rovaniemi, I drove 200 miles north of the Arctic Circle to visit a little village called Raatama. It has about 150 population, of whom 72 vote regularly in the elections, mostly far left, a few Communist. It is that way in Finland. The poor vote against the rich.

Postmaster Abiel Autti said the people were relatively happy with their lot, bu. not well off. They own 2,000 reindeer, and their men spend much time working in the forests.

It was 22 below zero.

"In winter we have three hours of twilight," the postmaster said. "We don't have electricity, so things slow down in the winter. It is hard to work at handicrafts by lamplight."

Villagers make reindeer shoes, fur-side outside, and raise a few dairy cattle, fed from hay harvested in the meadows in the short three months of summer.

People sleep from 10 p.m. to 7:30 a.m. although Autti says it is impossible to tell what time it is by looking outside. All is dark. In summer it is daylight all the time and some of the tourism promoters are thinking of advertising that they have more summer sun than the French Riviera. You could play tennis all night, but there isn't a tennis court.

There isn't much time for grownups to play in summer, what with herding the village reindeer and working in the woods. The fishing is good in nearby streams and lakes. But mostly the people eat reindeer.

Back at Rovaniemi, it is different. The provincial capital has regular city-style shops, a full supply of everything. A fine little hotel has an orchestra specializing in Italian pop music. On Saturday night the dining room is jammed with well-dressed diners and dancers.

Next morning early I went to the Lutheran church. The place was jammed, and most of the people were 40 or under. Over 95 per cent of the people in Finland as a whole are registered church members, although fewer attend services regularly. It is different in the Soviet Union, just across the fence to the east. There church congregations are smallish — and aging.

Will Collect Rights Funds

A campaign to collect funds for the support of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference's civil rights work in the south is scheduled for April 15 in Oakland County.

The countywide fund drive has been authorized by the human relations committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Named cochairman of the fund drive were two Pontiac men, Thomas Fowler and Dr. Otis Ferguson.

Informally approving the fund drive this week, the committee cited its concern about the needs of the civil rights workers in carrying out their nonviolent campaign for equal rights under the leadership of Dr. Martin Luther King.

★ ★ ★

Details of the campaign will be worked out in a meeting of the human relations committee April 6. No goal was set.

Secrecy Blankets Burial of Farouk

CAIRO (AP) — The body of ex-King Farouk arrived from Italy last night and was hurried to the royal family cemetery for burial.

Religious services were performed in the presence of three unidentified relatives and several police guards.

★ ★ ★

Farouk's coffin was taken off the plane and put into a closed truck while airport guards kept newsmen and photographers at a distance. Under cover of darkness, the truck took a side road to the cemetery.

'Food for Peace' Is Humanitarian Undertaking—LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Johnson told Congress today the Food for Peace program is a compassionate humanitarian undertaking that pays business and foreign policy dividends.

Appealing both to the heart and the head, the President said in an annual report that 100 million people overseas — 70 million of them children — were fed under Food for Peace last year.

All the while, he added, the program was making a "substantial contribution to the development of commercial markets for our farm products" and benefiting the American balance of payments position.

The program, now starting its second decade, provides for the donation of surplus food for relief and emergency use abroad and the sale of such food to underdeveloped countries. Payment is in the local currency and is often loaned back for economic development.

Last year, Food for Peace exports reached a new high of 18 million tons of agricultural commodities with an estimated export market value of $1.7 billion, the President said.

Commercial sales of U.S. Agricultural commodities overseas reached a new high of $4.6 billion, he said, and sales for foreign currencies reached a record high of almost $1.2 billion.

"Public law 480-generated currencies are paying U.S. dollars and strengthening our balance of payments position," Johnson said, referring to the program by the legislative label given it in the 83rd Congress.

Still in the business sphere he reported: dollar repayments on principal and interest from previous sales totaled $5.4 million compared to $2.3 million in 1963; $57 million in local currencies generated by sale of Food for Peace commodities were loaned to U.S. and local private enterprise for business development and trade expansion in 11 countries.

However, the President concluded, "Food for Peace is, above all, a program which expresses that great and generous heart of the American people — and is a worthy expression of the compassion always so much a part of America's character."

Dutch Carillon Added for Tulip Time Event

HOLLAND (AP) — Besides the attraction of an authentic imported Dutch windmill, the Tulip Time festival here May 12-15 is counting on another import to help make the event a bell-ringer.

A mobile Dutch carillon, reportedly the only one ever built, will be on display and played by Prof. Wendell Westcott, carillonneur in the Michigan State University Department of Music.

'Strong' Earthquake Jars Grecian Capital

ATHENS (UPI) — A "very strong" earthquake shook the ancient city of Athens for six seconds today.

First reports of the temblor said there were some injuries but no fatalities. The Athens observatory, reporting the earthquake, said it was centered 62 miles west-northwest of the capital.

Teaching Exemption Covering Amish Loses Out in House

LANSING (AP) — A small minority in the House defended Michigan's tiny Amish community Tuesday—and lost.

An amendment to exempt the community from state teacher certification laws was defeated in a 66-27 vote that crossed party lines.

★ ★ ★

The amendment, introduced by Rep. Claude Burton, D-Bellevue, would have permitted the superintendent of public instruction to "issue a special certificate to any person to teach in a private school which is operated by a recognized religious group when the superintendent is satisfied that the person is qualified."

★ ★ ★

A 19-year-old girl with an eighth grade education is teaching in the religious sect's one-room school near Camden. The department of public instruction has been seeking to compel the community to comply with state certification laws.

"These people," Burton argued, "believe their children are their own and not the state's."

★ ★ ★

"The question," said Rep. Floyd Mattheeussen, D-Benton Harbor, "is whether we will permit untrained and unskilled people to continue to restrict the minds of young people."

A SHAMBLES

"Can you, in good conscience, say that you would allow parents to make this choice in the education of their children and make a shambles of education in Michigan?" he asked.

★ ★ ★

Such practices, he added, "do not permit these children to explore all the knowledge that could be available to them... especially if they ever choose to leave the clan and use zippers instead of buttons."

★ ★ ★

Rep. Mrs. Lucille McCollough, D-Dearborn, chairman of the education committee, argued that it "would be unthinkable to allow teachers with eighth-grade educations to teach Michigan children."

Rep. Roy Stevens, R-Detroit, said such provisions would violate the State Constitution, which says "the civil and political rights, privileges and capacities of no person shall be diminished or enlarged on account of his religious belief."

ENLARGED RIGHTS

The amendment would enlarge their rights because of their religious beliefs, he said.

In a long, flowery defense, Rep. Frederick Marshall, R-Allen, argued that "these people feel mandated by scripture to operate this way.

★ ★ ★

"There are those who say they can't fit into the 20th century, yet they are successful in their pursuits," he added. The Amish are farmers who generally run successful farms despite their belief that all they need is an eighth-grade education.

★ ★ ★

The Northwest Ordinance of 1787, and all subsequent Michigan constitutions have contained the phrase, "religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged," Marshall said; "and notice, religion—not education—is placed first."

★ ★ ★

Three bills to grant exemptions to the Amish now are in the committee on education, where they face an uncertain future.

Guard Probe Discloses General Recalled Colonel to Active Duty for Legal Advice

LANSING (AP) — A retired colonel, testifying in defense of a general accused of gross neglect of duty, acknowledged Tuesday that the general recalled him to state-paid active duty to give legal advice.

Herbert Layle said he served about three days helping Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald answer an auditor general's report on alleged irregularities in the Michigan military establishment.

Gov. George Romney is hearing gross neglect of duty charges against McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert. The hearing goes into its 14th day today.

Drill Event Entered by Central Michigan

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — The Central Michigan University R.O.T.C. exhibition drill team will be one of 50 teams competing at the National Cherry Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C. this weekend. The team is returning for the third year. It finished 14th in 1964.

"You mean you were compensated by the military for legal advice," Romney asked Layle.

"I believe so. That would be a logical conclusion," said Layle, who is an attorney and a professor at the University of Detroit.

EXCHANGES?

Layle testified he felt land transactions involved in the charges against the generals amounted to property exchanges, permitted by law.

The charges say the Camp Grayling land deals were illegal purchases and sales of property.

Layle and a former legislator, Harry Phillips of Port Huron, were called as witnesses by McDonald's attorney, Thomas McAllister, after Romney turned down all defense motions to dismiss charges and told the defense to proceed.

★ ★ ★

State attorneys concluded their presentation of the charges Monday night and Neifert's attorney, Russell Noble, said he would call no defense witnesses. "We're satisfied with the record as it now stands," he said.

Romney, conceding that "I talk more than a judge," took over much of the questioning of Phillips and Layle.

Phillips, a legislator from 1942 to 1963, said: "If anyone is responsible for these men finding themselves in this position it was me."

DIRECTED

He said he felt McDonald and Neifert did only what legislators directed them to do.

Phillips was chairman of the House subcommittee which handled appropriations for the military. He said the subcommittee cut the military budget by $200,000 and told military men to "act like businessmen" in making the most of what funds they did receive.

★ ★ ★

The charges say McDonald and Neifert should have advised the State Military Board of the true nature of the Camp Grayling land deal and also of alleged "illegal expenditures" and "falsification of entries."

In denying the dismissal motions, Romney said, "certain charges have been made and proofs introduced.

"Whether they are sufficient to warrant action on my part is something I'll have to determine," the governor said.

Diving Expert Dies

LONDON (AP) — Sir Robert Henry Davis, 89, leading authority on submarines and deep sea diving, died Monday. He was the inventor of a submersible decompression apparatus which allows divers to ascend safely from considerable depth without fear of bends.

Insurance Probe Aide

ANSING (AP) — Former Congressman Harold Ryan, D-Detroit, has been hired as special counsel to a Senate committee investigating insurance laws. The committee chairman, Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe, said Ryan will receive $45 day for his work.

NAACP to Appeal Dismissal of Suit on Dixie Congressmen

WASHINGTON (AP)— The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People plans to appeal the dismissal in federal court of a suit seeking reduction of congressional representation in states which deny Negroes the right to vote.

U.S. Dist. Judge William B. Jones, who heard the suit two months ago, threw it out yesterday.

He upheld a motion by the government that it be dismissed on grounds the plaintiffs — 22 citizens of both Northern and Southern states —had no standing before the court to file such a suit.

The NAACP had sought a court order requiring enforcement of section two of the 14th Amendment. It provides that a state's delegation to the House of Representatives shall be reduced proportionately when it denies the vote to eligible citizens.

The suit sought to force the Census Bureau to collect information about voting registration so the provision could be enforced.

FACES THE MUSIC: Court-martial charges of theft, conspiracy to steal and false claims have been brought against Col. George S. Howard, chief of the Air Force band for two decades before his retirement in 1963.

An Air Force spokesman said yesterday the charges were based on acts alleged to have been committed before Howard's retirement and include:

• Theft of money from the United States totaling $1,200.

• Two allegations of conspiracy to steal from the United States and a civilian concert tour agent.

• One charge of wrongful spending of government funds for property unneeded by the government.

• Two charges of false claims against the government.

Howard, who lives near Washington at Camp Springs, Md., declined comment.

GOLD DRAIN: The Federal Reserve Board today released official figures showing that the nation's gold stock dropped $215 million during February.

Authorities have already indicated that another $350 million worth of gold was sold during the first part of March.

Together with a January loss of $263 million, this brought the total decline so far this year in the U.S. gold stock to some $828 million. In all of 1964, only $125 million in gold was lost.

Treasury figures, published daily, show the U. S. gold stock now stands at about $14,562,800,000. This does not include gold in the government's exchange and stabilization fund from which exchanges are made.

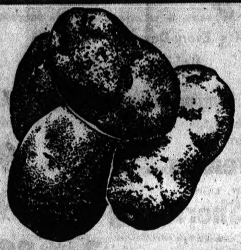

Some $482.5 million of this year's gold loss has been due to France's exchange of U.S. dollars for gold. The Treasury says the March gold sales apparently completed the massive French gold purchase program announced in January by President Charles de Gaulle.

★ ★ ★

The drain in gold reflects the continuing U.S. balance of payments deficit. Last year, the United States spent, invested or gave away some $3 billion more than it received from abroad.

USW Sets Sights on Aluminum Contract

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The United Steelworkers Union (USW), which has negotiated a satisfactory contract with the can industry, set its sights today on an equally successful agreement with aluminum producers.

★ ★ ★

The union has served notice on the aluminum industry it wants to bargain for a new contract replacing the present three-year agreement which expires June 1.

The USW represents 50,000 workers in the Aluminum Co. of America (Alcoa) plants, Reynolds Metals Co., Kaiser Aluminum Co., Olin Mathieson Co. and Ormet Aluminum Co.

Recently the union organized the Harvey Aluminum Co., and it has been reported this firm would take part in forthcoming contract negotiations.

★ ★ ★

Alcoa, the nation's leading producer, and the other aluminum firms had been invited by the USW to offer "suggestions" on the time and place for the opening of negotiations.

SET PATTERN

The can industry has set a pattern in contract negotiations with the USW. Traditionally, it had been the steel industry which was the pacesetter.

The nation's "Big 11" basic steel producers are still bargaining with the nation's third largest union in efforts to reach an agreement before the May 1 strike deadline.

Chief negotiators for both sides met for two hours yesterday afternoon, discussing the union's demands.

★ ★ ★

No official estimate has been made of the union's economic package. However sources have indicated it could run as high as $1 an hour.

Symphony and Choirs Combine in Concert

By JOHN C. TOUSLEY

The Pontiac Symphony Orchestra and the choirs of Pontiac Central and Pontiac Northern High Schools combined last night in Northern High's auditorium to present a most inspiring concert.

★ ★ ★

The orchestra opened the program with an outstanding rendition of Beethoven's "Overture to Egmont."

The orchestra performed with confidence and strength.

★ ★ ★

The string section, especially, responded with faultless precision to the baton of conductor Felix Resnick.

"The Birds," a colorful and humorous orchestral suite by Respighi, lacked the assurance of the Beethoven.

★ ★ ★

However, the skillfully performed flute and oboe solos provided some of the most memorable moments of the concert.

FLUTE SOLO

The orchestra followed intermission with Faure's "Pavane," a selection in which the flute is the featured solo instrument.

The soloist performed with sensitivity, enhanced by excellent technique and rich tone quality.

★ ★ ★

The high school choirs combined with the orchestra in Brahms "Song of Destiny" and Beethoven's "The Heavens are Telling" to add rich variety to the program.

The choirs made up of 170 talented young people, exhibited fine tone quality and youthful conviction.

GERSHWIN

The evening ended on a light note with selections from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Once again, the solo instruments provided the high points of the selection with exceptionally fine performances from the violin and the cello.

Children Are Not Invited

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I am going to have my wedding invitations engraved soon. Our wedding list is very long and we cannot possibly afford to include children at the reception.

Will you please tell me how guests can be notified of this without causing resentment or hurt feelings?

★ ★ ★

A: I'm sorry, but you cannot note this on the invitations.

Further than excluding the children's names on the envelopes of the invitations (which should certainly deter parents from bringing their children) you can tell your friends and relatives as you see them that you are very sorry but you cannot possibly include any children at your reception.

NOTE OF WELCOME

Q: I have just learned that my nephew has become engaged to a girl who is a stranger to me and I wondered what, if anything, I should do?

★ ★ ★

A: Close relations of the bridegroom-to-be are expected to go and call upon the bride and her family, or if they do not live in the same city, letters of welcome to the girl should be written.

If you are elderly, you could ask your nephew to bring his fiancee to come to see you, or invite them to dinner at your house.

★ ★ ★

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

May Vows for Pair

A May 22 wedding is being planned by Patricia Joan Wright and Donald Stewart Windeler, son of the Edmund L. Windelers of Hatchery Road.

★ ★ ★

The bride-elect is the daughter of Frank Wright of Wilkinsburg, Pa. and the late Mrs. Wright.

Her fiancé is a graduate of the University of Michigan School of Engineering.

ABBY

Before he left, he said I could date if I wanted to. I didn't date at all for the first month, then this boy I'll call George started asking me out with him because it was better than sitting home, but I told him from the start that we could only be friends, as I had a boy friend in the service I was waiting for.

He said he understood, but he also told me on our third date that he was in love with me. I don't want to stop dating George because he is a nice guy and a lot of fun, but I don't want him to get hurt, either.

My mother says I shouldn't be dating at all, but I don't see any harm in it as long as I don't lead anyone on. What do you think about all this? I don't want to hurt anyone.

WAITING FOR BILL

DEAR WAITING: I think that YOU think you are "in love" with Bill. But if you really were, you wouldn't mind "sitting home."

George may be a "nice guy and a lot of fun," but he regards you as more than just a friend, and given the time and opportunity (which you are allowing him) he could change your mind about him.

Don't worry about "hurting" George. I have an idea he can look after himself.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 50-year-old so-called society woman, who tells everyone that the life-sized painting of a nude woman hanging in her drawing room, is her?

CURIOUS

DEAR CURIOUS: If the nude is not she, she is an exhibitionistic liar. If it is, she is merely exhibitionistic.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: My experience with people who never knock, but just walk in, beats the one you had printed in your column recently.

Back in 1947 we had a neighbor woman in Hammond, Indiana, who always walked into our house without knocking, and she'd walk into any room of the house the same way.

She didn't know whether or not my husband was home. (He traveled.) So to make a long story short, she came into my house and went hunting for me in all the rooms. (I happened to be out in the back yard emptying the garbage pail.)

Well, she walked into the bathroom just as my husband was stepping out of the bathtub. She fainted dead away and when my husband went to catch her, he slipped back into the tub and broke his leg.

The lady cracked her head on the doorknob and fractured her skull. I had to call TWO ambulances!

HYSTERICAL IN HAMMOND

DEAR ABBY: I have been a shoe salesman for over thirty years and have sold mostly high-priced shoes. I can tell you there IS a shoe for every woman's foot if she will only consent to buy it.

The trouble with most women is they refuse to buy the size shoe they need. I have made more enemies and lost more sales because I have suggested that women wear a larger size.

I am convinced the most style - conscious women who complain that the new style shoes are "killing" their feet, have their brains in their feet.

OLD SHOE DOG

★ ★ ★

DEAR DOG: Count me in! My "brains" are killing me.

And, furthermore, my feet don't grow to a point — and neither does my head.

Honor Award Given Girl

Fourteen - year - old Mary Schulte, who lives at Union Lake is proudly wearing a new pin today. It's the Honorable Mention Life - Saving Award from the Girl Scouts of the United States of America.

The award itself is a red ribbon with a Girl Scout pin suspended from it — at the top is a red eagle with letters in gold.

★ ★ ★

National headquarters in New York approved this award for Mary for saving a life without risk to herself.

RESCUED BABY

When two - year - old Alan Cooper tumbled into a lagoon one afternoon last April, Mary jumped in the water without hesitating and carried the youngster back to shore.

Fortunately, he had not been in the water too long and did not need artificial respiration.

Only feminine readers can appreciate the fact that Mary went after Alan without a second thought, even though she was dressed up in nylons and a treasured new mohair cardigan which was a newly acquired birthday present.

She and her family had been to a concert.

★ ★ ★

Mary is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon A. Schulte, Fairview Street, White Lake Township. She is a member of Cadette Troop No. 549.

The award was presented Tuesday evening at St. Patrick's area Girl Scouts Court of Awards in Dublin School.

VanKurens Take Trip to Falls

The David G. VanKurens left for a honeymoon at Niagara Falls after their recent vows and reception in the Waterford Community Church.

Parents of the former Mary Margaret Turvey are the senior Douglas L. Turveys of Cameron Avenue. The bridegroom is the son of the George H. VanKurens of Saline Drive.

Ice - blue taffeta brocade fashioned the bride's gown and sweep train worn with beaded tiara and ice-blue net veil.

With Mrs. Cecil Sanders, her sister's matron of honor, were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Harvey Smith, Mrs. Phyllis Wilson, and Sharon Kay Smith, flower girl.

On the esquire side were best man Gene Peter with the ushers Douglas L. Turvey Jr. and David Seaver.

William Deaver II carried the rings used by Rev. Robert Winne in the candlelight ceremony, followed by a reception in the church parlors.

Housewife Too Sloppy

There's a reason why women in the business areas of American cities usually look well dressed.

Those who don't, don't hold their jobs, or else hold down small ones without much chance of ever moving up.

But the American housewife has no standard of on-the-job dress.

You see too-fat and too-thin and too-old housewives working in their front yards, doing their marketing, going to beauty shops, etc., in shorts.

You see housewives stepping out of fancy cars with their hair in pin curls.

You see young housewives wearing jeans, when the job doesn't call for jeans at all.

You see housewives working all day and running out-of-doors in trailing nightgowns.

These Covers Take Extra Precautions

It is amazing that so many innovations survive such adamant declarations as, "I'll never ride in that thing (the automobile) and "Only a hussy would color her hair" (bleaches and rinses).

However, a recent discussion among members of a woman's club again brought out sharply the hesitancy most of us have when trying something new.

Under discussion was the purchase of dishes and such for the clubroom. Logically, the conversation swung to sales and someone mentioned shopping for bed linens and electric blankets.

Many felt electric blankets were unsafe. This attitude may surprise the more than 25 million people who use them regularly.

The secret to using this product with peace of mind is basic. Since electricity is involved, these can be dangerous. Even the manufacturers admit this. Following their instructions closely can avoid most of the problems.

This includes not sticking pins in the blanket, sitting on it or laying books on it. Pins and other sharp objects can puncture the insulation and wiring and possibly lead to an electrical shock or fire.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice:

I remember you once saying in your column that double-breasted garments should only have one row of buttonholes, the second row of buttons are sewed onto the garment permanently.

Lately, I have noticed several ready-made suits and also several patterns that call for a double row of buttonholes. Whose instructions should I follow?

Mrs. M. A. K.

Dear Mrs. M. A. K.:

Once again, may I repeat that "rules are made to be broken." Although there was never any hard and fast rule about the buttonholes on double-breasted garments, the buttonholes usually were made only on the outer edge of garments.

As we all know, the styles are constantly changing, as are the details of a pattern construction. I personally would go along with the current trends, as the old saying goes "when in Rome, do as the Romans do."

★ ★ ★

Dear Eunice:

On a trip to Nova Scotia, my son purchased an expensive yard of wool plaid.

However, I simply can't straighten it out no matter how much I stretch and pull. What can I do to salvage it?

Mrs. J. E.

Dear Mrs. J. E.:

I would suggest treating this woolen fabric the same as if you were shrinking it. Lay a dampened sheet over the wool, roll the two together, cover with a plastic sheet and allow to stay rolled up overnight.

The next morning, the wool will be slightly damp all the way through and you can lay it on the carpet and pat it in shape beautifully.

The carpet will keep it from slipping and the slight amount of moisture will not hurt the carpet. It should completely dry in a matter of hours and be ready to cut and sew.

★ ★ ★

Most fabrics purchased from overseas require shrinking so you will be accomplishing two jobs at once.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

I'd like to offer my idea of an excellent "wardrobe stretcher" to your readers, writes Mrs. Robert Rice, Worcester, Mass. Trying to find something to go just right with my new black faille suit, I found a beautiful black with muted red roses and green leaves.

I got enough for the lining and a blouse but found I also had enough for a skirt, so I made a lovely afternoon type shift dress.

Now I can simply slip the skirt over the dress and I have a matching blouse and lining. This "shift-blouse" increases your wardrobe by two garments for little more than the price of one.

I intend using this idea again and hope your readers also will try it.

Mrs. Rice has been sent a Tailor Trix pressing board for this week's winning suggestion.

Oblique Aid to Others Works Wonders

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

We once acquired a charming acquaintance whose friendliness was constantly interrupted by periods of freezing formality.

They puzzled me greatly until one evening when he dropped in and almost at once dropped a lighted cigarette on the rug. Somebody else quietly picked it up and extinguished it.

Five minutes later he dropped the coal of another cigarette on a new slip cover. Again he pretended that this had not occurred. This time I went to the rescue but got to the slip cover too late to prevent the burning of a hole.

And I suddenly knew, as he registered it, that we were in for another arctic season. And just as suddenly, knew why.

Our charming acquaintance could not stand the knowledge that his behavior was reproachable.

So I erased the reproach for him. I had the hole in the slip cover rewoven; and when it was delivered, good as new, telephoned him to say, "Jim, you owe me $6 for the lovely reweaving job that's made that slip cover as good as new."

"Do I, darling?" he responded happily. Within 10 minutes he arrived to present me with $6 and another $6 worth of flowers. Maybe this experience will be useful to the reader who writes:

"My mother-in-law hasn't spoken to me since she spilled some glue on the antique chest in our guest room. Knowing how touchy she is, I didn't say anything.

"But I am sure that her refusal to come to our house has something to do with what she did.

"My husband has to drop by and see her three times a week now. He doesn't understand her coldness toward me."

How about getting your antique refinished and asking her to give you the money to pay for the job? She does rather sound like our acquaintance. Maybe to recover her friendliness, you'll have to erase her mistake for her.

If I'm right about her, she will hate you until you do. People such as our charming acquaintance and your mother-in-law must have their certainty of irreproachable treatment of us restored to them. So they're only too happy to pay the bills that they are capable of offending us, they adore us the moment we erase the offense along with their sense of indebtedness to us.

★ ★ ★

Paying this bill will restore your mother-in-law's notion of her never-offending, irreproachable generosity and kindness to you. It will put her back in the driver's seat.

Squirrel Is Culprit

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Mrs. Helen Bell entered her home here and saw that a vase had been toppled from the mantle, a lamp had been knocked over and broken, and she could hear noises coming from her bedroom.

She called police. Two police rushed to the scene with pistols drawn. They stopped at the bedroom door and ordered the culprit to "come out with hands up."

No response.

They rushed in and found a frightened red squirrel which had come into the locked house through the chimney.

See how she grows, with charming new heirloom. Wide ruled metal tape winds up into keepsake rule picture case. They Collect Stamp Books

NEW YORK (AP)—The number of households in which trading stamps are saved was up by three million in 1964.

A record 379 billion trading stamps were distributed during the year—five per cent more than in 1963—and filled and partly-filled books repose in kitchen cabinets, desk drawers, cookie jars, cigar boxes and paper bags in 48 million homes across the country.

A recent survey conducted by the largest stamp distributor showed that savers earn anywhere from under $3,000 to more than $10,000 annually and their schooling ranges from very little to a college education.

The "average" saver collects 1.9 different kinds of stamps and accumulated about 5.5 books of each kind in a year.

Polly's Pointers

Use Tape to Thread

DEAR POLLY — Many women are now doing crewel embroidery. Getting the wool through the eye of the crewel needle can be a problem.

The yarn divided when I tried to thread the needle until I hit on the following idea.

Lay the end of the yarn on a tiny piece of gummed plastic tape and fold the tape in half. If the tape happens to be too wide to go through the needle, snip off a bit.

After you have pulled the yarn through the needle, taped end first, pull off the tape. — MRS. R. E. T.

DEAR POLLY — If you like to make doll clothes but dread putting in those tiny hems, try my trick. Buy a tube of liquid mending tape and paste in the hems.

The hems will not wash out and the results are neater than sewing. — DOROTHY

DEAR POLLY — Save the bottles and daubers from liquid shoe polish.

Clean them thoroughly with hot soap suds, fill, the bottles with water colors and let the children use them for paint sets.

The dauber is easier to use than a small paint brush and not as messy as finger paints. — JO

DEAR POLLY — In our bedrooms we have aluminum-encased windows which have tiny runner spaces that were always filled with dust, as they are too narrow for the smallest vacuum attachment.

I took a flexible plastic drinking straw and held one end in the cleaner's hose, the other end in the crevice.

It picked up all the dust and lint. — PAT

* * *

DEAR POLLY — When making clothes for children, I find it more practical to double sew all the seams. It is surprising how much longer the clothes wear.

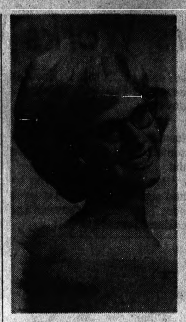

Also, if you want your round tablecloth to keep its shape after laundering, stretch it out to dry on a flat surface over clean plain paper or an old sheet.

Don't fold while ironing but iron by beginning in the center and working toward the edges. —BLANCHE

GIRLS — Do as the hand laundries do. Store such cloths rolled around heavy cardboard tubes so there are no crease marks to be pressed.—POLLY

Marriage Is Saved

Strangers Fall in Love

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE V-447: Marcia B., aged 34, wants to divorce her husband.

"Dr. Crane, I actually hate him! she spoke with venom.

"He and I are like strangers. Although we live under the same roof, we never speak any more.

"It has been almost a year since he came home for a meal with me.

"He acts indifferent and and didn't even give me a present at Christmas nor a kind word on my birthday.

* * *

"So I'd like to ruin him in his profession, for he is a prominent doctor in this town.

"His patients don't know that we are simply a platonic couple so I'd like to sue for divorce, since that would help shatter the prestige he enjoys.

"I want this divorce to ruin him in his practice, for I hate him!"

DEFLATED EGO

So I reminded Marcia that a divorce in the next few weeks might actually make him glad.

"Maybe he would laugh it off as a lucky break," I warned. "So don't try to divorce him now.

"If you really hate him and want to ruin him entirely, then I can give you a better method.

"First, you must win him back again until you have him wound around your little finger.

* * *

"Then, when he is simply crazy about you, if you want to ruin him, that will be the time to file for divorce!"

Marcia's eyes lighted up with vengeful delight at the prospect.

"But how can I win him back till he is my abject love slave?" she questioned.

"That's not difficult if you will faithfully do exactly what I prescribe," I added.

ACTRESS

So I told her to start paying him compliments.

"But I hate him!" she demurred.

"Sure you hate him," I agreed. "But you are a smart woman so imagine you are a Hollywood actress and then play the role which will give you what you want.

"Grit your teeth, if need be, to force a grudging compliment across your angry lips, but say something nice. And keep it up."

She was so obsessed with her desire for revenge, that she agreed.

And Marcia was the ideal type of patient who faithfully follows her doctor's prescription.

* * *

Three months later she came back to my office.

"Dr. Crane, it worked!" she exclaimed. "I have him eating out of my hand. He will do anything I want.

"For the first few days, he just grunted whenever I'd say anything nice to him. But then he began to offer me a smile and finally he actually gave me a compliment in return.

* * *

"In a couple of weeks, he began to telephone from the office to tell me he'd be home for dinner.

"Finally, he took me to a party, and then some Drive-In movies. And now he tells me he loves me more than on our wedding day."

"Well, a divorce at this time would really ruin his morale, wouldn't it?" I said.

* * *

"Oh, but I don't want a divorce," she cried, "for I'm madly in love with him, too!"

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Liquid Garter for Women

A "liquid garter" for the ladies — "an invisible roll-on that will hold hosiery firm, even during strenuous exercise."

Recommended particularly for use under tight fitting stretch slacks, knits and sheath dresses, the adhesive is said to be nontoxic and nonallergic, washes off both leg and stocking with plain water, and without leaving a trace.

Should do much to eliminate baggy hose and garter runs. Good, too, for holding shoulder straps securely out of sight.

DEVELOPMENT PREVIEW — Troy city officials view a three-dimensional model of the Somerset Park apartment development, the first phase of which was opened at a luncheon yesterday by Biltmore Development Co., Oak Park. Examining the model of the $50-million project are (from left) City Commissioners Glen H. Houghten, Wallace B. Hudson, Clifford Sutermeister Jr., and Kenneth Henning and Mayor Vincent J. McAvoy. The first phase of the development, shown in the lower right-hand corner of the model, consists of 320 apartment units.

Complete Phase 1 of Troy Complex

TROY — Phase I of a $50-million apartment development, called Somerset Park, was officially opened yesterday at a luncheon for city officials and area press representatives.

Located at the northeast corner of East Maple and Coolidge roads, the initial phase of construction involves 320 apartment units, some of which are completed and furnished.

The latter will be open for public inspection for the first time this weekend.

A project of the Biltmore Development Co., Oak Park, the development is the largest apartment complex ever planned in Michigan, according to Phillip Stollman, one of the Biltmore principals.

Over-all plans for Somerset Park call for a parklike setting for various types of apartment buildings, including proposed medium high-rise structures.

NINE KINDS

A total of nine kinds of apartment units have been designed by Levine - Alpern Associates, Detroit architects, to offer environments that will suit individual taste.

Also planned is a 45-acre, nine-hole golf course in the center of the completed development, with a five-acre man-made lake.

At least five swimming pools and recreation areas will dot the development.

Also in the works is a 35-acre shopping center to bring commercial outlets close to the 2,000 families which will eventually live in Somerset Park.

The entire project is being financed by private capital in cooperation with the Detroit Mortgage and Realty Co., representing the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Other principals in the development are Max Stollman, Max Fisher, Jason Honigman, Irwin I. Cohn and Sam Frankel. Norman J. Cohen is the administrative director of Biltmore.

Troy Mayor Vincent J. McAvoy, who attended the luncheon with other city officials, said "it is a distinct honor to be mayor of Troy at a time like this.

"I'd like to congratulate the management of Biltmore for selecting Troy as the site of Somerset Park," he added.

Dem to Seek Court Ruling on Recount Petition Snarl

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Supervisor Alex R. Solley, who was defeated by four votes in the November election, will seek a Circuit Court ruling on his petition for a recount, his attorneys announced yesterday.

Democrat Solley was defeated, 675-671, last Nov. 3 by Republican Richard R. Wilcox of 981 Hummer Lake.

Solley petitioned for a recount shortly after the election, but the petition was rejected by the board of canvassers because of technical errors.

The board split, 2-2, Monday in its vote on an amended petition submitted by Solley's attorneys, Ralph Johnson of Madison Heights and Thomas Downes of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The tie vote is equivalent to "no action" on the petition, Johnson said, and a court order will now be needed to initiate the recount.

WOULD TAKE SEAT

If the election results are not overturned by a recount in the two paper ballot precincts, Wilcox will take his seat as township supervisor April 13.

★ ★ ★

Wilcox is represented by Pontiac attorney David B. Huthwaite.

Fire Damages Vacant House

HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP — A fire yesterday caused an estimated $2,500 worth of damage to a vacant house which had recently been moved here from Pontiac.

Being prepared for occupation, the single-story frame house is located on Harvey Lake Road about one-half mile north of M59. Firemen said it is owned by Louis D'Hondt of Mount Clemens.

★ ★ ★

The fire, which had been smoldering for some time before it was spotted yesterday morning, apparently was caused by faulty wiring in the basement, according to Highland Township firemen.

PTA to Install New Officers in Commerce

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — Installation of 1965-66 officers and a film on water safety will highlight tomorrow night's meeting of the Clifford H. Smart Junior High School PTA.

Mrs. Don Norborn, 4369 Achilla, will be the new president of the organization.

Vice presidents recently elected are Mrs. Robert Smith, mother; James Blain, father; and William Honey, teacher.

Other officers-elect are Mrs. Henry Klos, recording secretary; Mrs. Andrew Hepburn, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Harold Welch, treasurer; and Mrs. Roy Grinnell, historian.

★ ★ ★

Also on the agenda for the 7:30 p.m. program is the showing of "Suddenly on Water." Lt. Donald Kratt, director of the Oakland County Sheriff's Water Safety Division, will present the film and answer questions on water safety.

★ ★ ★

Students are invited to attend the meeting if accompanied by their parents.

PTA Schedules Talk on Curriculum

WALLED LAKE — Courses that will be available next year to current Walled Lake Junior High School students will be outlined tomorrow night at the school's PTA meeting.

★ ★ ★

Dean Smith, counselor at the school, will present the 8 p.m. program, entitled "A Look at the Curriculum."

The discussion is aimed at supplying parents with the information they soon will need to help their children select courses.

Smith will describe programs available to eighth and ninth graders while a high school counselor will outline courses for the upperclassmen.

★ ★ ★

Also scheduled for the session is election of PTA officers.

JAYCEES ORGANIZE — Officers of the newly organized Auburn Heights Jaycees were elected last night. The first Jaycee leaders are (from left) Chuck Parrott, second vice president; Pat Elwell, corresponding secretary; Robert Wood, president; James Deno, secretary; and Robert Grusnick, first vice president. The Jaycees will have their Charter Night meeting sometime in April.

Sign Up for Area Baseball Program

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Any boy who will be at least 9 years old by Aug. 1 is eligible to register Saturday for the Auburn Heights Boys' Club baseball program.

The young ballplayers are to sign up at the club, 220 S. Squirrel, between 9:30 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.

Club director Sam R. Sheehy said he expects a record turnout of boys registering for the summer diamond action. Late registrations will not be accepted, Sheehy said.

Boys may participate on club-sponsored teams or in club leagues.

Eastern Star to Hold Fish Fry on Saturday

FARMINGTON — Chapter No. 239, Order of the Eastern Star, will sponsor a Hassberger fish fry Saturday night at the Farmington Masonic Temple.

Prepared by Harry Hassberger, the dinner will be served from 5:30 to 8 p.m. The public is invited.

In Auburn Heights

JCs Elect Officers

AUBURN HEIGHTS — With the election of officers last night the newly formed Auburn Heights Junior Chamber of Commerce took its first step toward an active role in community affairs.

Chosen to lead the Jaycees were Robert Wood, president; Robert Grusnick, first vice president; Chuck Parrott, second vice president; James Deno, secretary; and Pat Elwell, corresponding secretary.

Already scheduled as the first Jaycee-sponsored activity is an April 9 "Bunny Hop" teen dance from 8 to 11 p.m. at Avondale High School, 1435 Auburn between Crooks and Livernois.

A disc jockey will provide recorded dance music, and the Majestics of Detroit will be on hand for live music.

'Top Scorer' Is Sponsor

LANSING (AP) — Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, found last month to have one of the legislature's highest point totals for driving violations, planned to introduce today a bill prohibiting the public from checking on drivers' points.

Brown's proposal, cosigned by 19 senators, would limit inspection of the records to the person to whom they pertain, his attorney, police, courts and personnel in the Department of State.

Leaders of Jungle Revolt

Death Order Given for Laotian Officers

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Reacting with unprecedented severity, Prince Souvanna Phouma's government ordered today that three colonels who led the military revolt in Thakhek be shot in front of their men if captured.

"This measure will be applied to any officer who in the future attempts to foment an uprising," a statement from the neutralist premier's office warned.

* * *

The statement named army Cols. Kamsy Sayarath and Sipraseuth Saycocie and police Lt. Col. Pheun Chayasan as leaders of the three-day rebellion.

Thakhek, a town of 5,000 on the Mekong River, 160 miles southeast of Vientiane, was recaptured Tuesday without a fight by 100 government paratroopers.

LEFT COUNTRY

Informed sources said they understood Lt. Col. Pheum had crossed into Thailand while the other two colonels had taken to the jungle with remnants of their troops.

Government troops also arrived at the American Grover Jones Construction Co. camp at Nam Thone, 40 miles north of Thakhek, and work was expected to resume on the Thakhek-Paksane road Thursday.

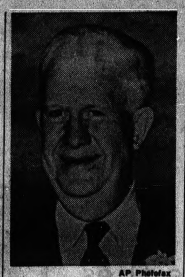

The camp had been threatened by a rebel force of 160 men.

* * *

The government statement attributed the mutiny to the opposition of certain officers to being transferred to other posts. It made no reference to reports that the rebels sought the return of Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, the right-wing army commander who fled to Bangkok after an attempted coup failed earlier.

* * *

The government statement said 1,000 troops were involved in the revolt, but independent observers estimated the number at closer to 600.

Rat Is Lending Its Brain to Cancer Fight

By JOHN BARBOUR
AP Science Writer

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — The rat, no mental giant, is lending his brain to the fight against cancer.

Scientists can transplant human tissues into the rat brain. It gives them an arena where they can challenge human tissues with viruses to see if they cause cancer, a doctor said in a report, released today.

* * *

"This should make it possible to study the effects of viruses in human tissues outside of the human body without hazard to the human being," said Dr. M. Michael Sigel of the University of Miami.

Researchers first treat the rat to lower the animal's ability to throw off transplanted tissue. Then they operate on the rat to plant samples of human lung or kidney in the brain — where it lives quite well.

CAUSES CANCER

Using this system, they challenged transplanted human lung tissue with a virus called adenovirus 12. This virus — not an uncommon respiratory infection among humans — had been found to cause cancer in some animals. Did it also set up cancer in human tissue?

Dr. Sigel said they could see that the virus caused distinct damage to the human lung tissue in the rat — but so far they have not found any cancerous changes in the tissue.

* * *

They also found another curious effect. Normally rous sarcoma virus causes cancer in chickens but not in rats. The researchers took normal chick tissue, exposed it for a few minutes to the virus, and then transplanted the chick tissue in the rat brain.

The chick tissue not only develops into cancer — but it also spreads into the rat brain tissue as well.

DEVELOPS MECHANISMS

The rat does not tolerate the transplanted tissues forever. In about 30 days he develops protective mechanisms to fight off the transplants. Oddly, when he does, he strikes more rapidly at the cancerous transplants than the normal transplants, Dr. Sigel told a science writer's seminar of the American Cancer Society.

After causing a cancer in the rat brain, the researchers sought to find the mechanisms by which the body fights against cancer. Perhaps, they thought, one prime mechanism is the lymphocyte — a white cell known to fight disease.

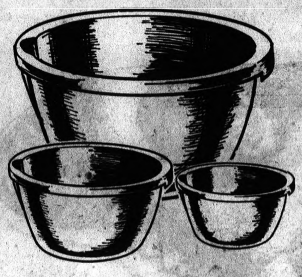

They deliberately infected the rat carrying the brain tumor with influenza virus to stimulate the production of lymphocytes. Under some conditions, the lymphocytes attacked the tumor and halted its development.

Bound Over in Area Slaying

A White Lake Township man was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday by Waterford Township Justice John E. McGrath on a first-degree murder charge in connection with the March 12 shooting of a neighbor.

Held without bond in the Oakland County jail is Carl J. Kilburn, 47, of 6620 White Lake.

Kilburn will be arraigned April 9 at 9 a.m. before Judge William J. Beer.

He is charged with the fatal shooting of Vincent J. Ferguson, 49, of 5460 McKeatchie, White Lake Township, when an argument erupted between the two men in the kitchen of Kilburn's house.

White Lake Township police arrested Kilburn at the house after a neighbor reported the shooting.

Police said a sawed-off, over-and-under, 22-caliber and 410 shotgun was used in the slaying. Ferguson was killed by a discharge from the shotgun chamber of the weapon.

EVICTED — Charles Cline, a freshman at McKendree College in Lebanon, Ill., studies while a pigeon (arrow) sits on two eggs in a nest on Cline's dormitory bunk. The bird came in through an open window one snowy day last week, built a nest and laid the eggs. Cline said he and his roommate are sharing the lower bunk and feeding the bird until the eggs hatch and the young pigeons are able to care for themselves.

Danger Seen in Soviet, China Warships

MANILA (UPI) — The commander of the U. S. Seventh Fleet said today Soviet and Communist Chinese warships pose a dangerous threat in the Pacific area.

★ ★ ★

Adm. Paul P. Blackburn said "It would be foolish to underestimate" the Chinese and Russian fleets.

"But we are not in the least frightened," Blackburn told reporters at a news conference here aboard his flagship, the USS Oklahoma.

"The Soviet Far East fleet is a very powerful force with a number of submarines, including nuclear submarines, cruiser-types, destroyer-types and a substantial naval air fleet," he said.

★ ★ ★

"This, of course, cannot be taken lightly and believe me, I don't take it lightly."

POTENTIAL

Blackburn said Red China's navy includes "a number of ships, including a substantial number of submarines, some from the Russians, and they constitute a potentially dangerous force."

"They have not exhibited any particular activity at this time, but that doesn't mean they can't be quite dangerous if they choose to use it," he added.

A reporter asked Blackburn if there was any evidence that the Soviet and Chinese fleets were working together.

"Not to my knowledge," the admiral replied.

Capt. Jerome King, a member of Blackburn's operations staff, said the United States has had three nuclear-equipped Polaris submarines operating in the Pacific since last November.

FILLET OF SOLE — A tangy and tasty main dish for Lenten dieters features fillet of sole baked with mushrooms, lemon juice and seasonings. The total calories in each serving—just slightly over 200.

Dieters Will Appreciate Lemon Baked Fillets

During Lent many of us give up little luxuries and extras as part of the tradition of sacrificing something we like.

Lent is also an ideal time for going on a diet. You can accomplish two purposes: giving up the fattening, rich foods you enjoy and losing weight to look nice in your spring clothes.

★ ★ ★

Despite the widely publicized crash diets, eating well-balanced varied meals and counting calories is still the best way to lose weight. Nutritionists emphasize the importance of making sure you eat the proper amounts of vitamins, minerals and proteins every day.

For Lenten suppers or for meals at any other time of year, fish is perfect as a dieter's main dish. It's quite low in calories, high in the necessary proteins.

One serving, a 3½-ounce cooked portion, of most lean types of fish is only about 200 calories.

Fish can be dressed up in many delightful styles, too. For instance, Fillet of Sole with Mushrooms is a main entree that makes dieting a pleasure. Your whole family, non-dieters included, will enjoy it.

★ ★ ★

The fillets are simply baked with low-calorie lemon juice and sliced mushrooms. A hint of dry mustard and chopped parsley adds to the flavor. The entree cooks in the oven for just 20 or 25 minutes and it's ready for the table.

Frozen fillet of sole, canned mushrooms and bottled lemon juice make the preparation especially easy.

Fillet of Sole with Mushrooms

1 pound frozen fillet of sole, thawed
1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms, or ¼ pound fresh mushrooms
3 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
1 tablespoon water
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Dry fillet of sole with paper toweling. Place fillets in greased 2½-quart shallow baking dish.

If using fresh mushrooms, slice lengthwise and lightly brown in a small amount of butter. Top fillets with mushrooms.

Mix bottled lemon juice, water, parsley, dry mustard, salt and pepper. Pour over fillets and mushrooms.

Cover and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes, or until fish flakes.

Note: Other lean fish fillets may be substituted for sole: such as halibut, haddock and cod.

Crush Candy to Cover Top of Pudding

A spicy, maple, peanut-brittle flavor combines with apples in this delicious dessert. So easy to do. As a variation, serve topped with cold custard instead of whipped cream.

Apple-Brittle Dessert

4 large apples
1 teaspoon powdered ginger
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup maple syrup
1 cup crushed peanut brittle, divided
½ cup heavy cream, whipped

Peel and core apples. Slice with fluted vegetable cutter; arrange in baking dish. Combine spices and maple syrup; pour over apples. Scatter ¾ cup peanut brittle over all.

Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes or until apple slices are tender. Chill. Spoon into dessert dishes.

Garnish with whipped cream and remaining peanut brittle. Makes 6 servings.

Make Rarebit With Sardines for a Change

No doubt many children think that sardines are caught in cans.

The National Fisheries Institute tells us that "sardine" is actually a general term for any small fish with soft bones that is preserved in oil. This method of packing fish originated on the island of Sardinia, hence the name sardine.

★ ★ ★

Many different species of fish are sold as sardines; our own Maine variety is an infant alewife or herring.

Sardine Rarebits

1 egg
½ pound processed American cheese or milk cheddar cheese
Trimmed bread slices
Salt and pepper to taste
½ teaspoon mustard, if desired
2 (4-oz.) cans Maine sardines.

Beat egg slightly and grate the cheese into it. Add salt and pepper to taste and mustard, if desired. Stir until smooth. Spread on trimmed bread slices. Top with 1 or 2 sardines. (If recipe is to be used for appetizers, cut each slice of bread in two, and place 1 sardine on each half.)

Bake on top shelf of hot oven (450 degrees) until top is bubbly and slightly browned. Serve about 4 as a main dish, 6 to 8 as appetizers.

Braised Celery in French Style

Americans eat almost 1 billion pounds of celery every year. More than half is grown in Florida. Our tastes for types has changed.

Most of us use Pascal or green types, delicate and tender without blanching. Golden or blanched type has decreased steadily in popularity in the last 40 years.

★ ★ ★

In the United States we usually eat celery raw but in Europe it is often cooked and served as a vegetable. Try it braised—the way you'll find it in many French restaurants.

Braised Celery

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons minced onion
4 cups celery, diagonally sliced
½ cup chicken consomme or stock
1 teaspoon chopped fresh parsley
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon ground marjoram
¼ teaspoon ground white pepper
(½ cup pignolia nuts, or almonds, if desired)

Melt butter, saute onions until soft, almost transparent. Add celery and consomme, parsley, salt, marjoram and white pepper.

Cover, cook over low heat about 10 to 15 minutes. (Celery should be crisp-tender. Turn occasionally while cooking.

(Add pignolia nuts or almonds, if desired, and cook 2 to 3 minutes longer.) Garnish with parsley. Makes 4-6 servings.

Zesty Raisin Fish a la Mediterranean

Place four fish steaks on four squares of foil sprinkle with lemon juice and seasoned salt. Saute ½ cup each dark seedless raisins and chopped onion with ¼ cup chopped green pepper in 2 tablespoons butter. Divide over fish and top each with 1 tablespoon catsup.

Close foil packets securely; bake in hot oven (475 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Souffle Has Italian Bit of Seasoning

No peeking allowed! That's the byword in the kitchen while the souffle is in the oven.

When the souffle is firm gather all the family or guests to the table and then out of the oven and on to the table — don't waste a minute. They'll find the airy, delightful lunch or supper dish was well worth waiting for.

Italian Cheese Souffle

½ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
1 tablespoon powdered mustard
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon paprika
1 cup milk
5 egg yolks, beaten
1 (8-ounce) package pasteurized process cheese spread
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
¼ teaspoon oregano leaves
1 pack saltine crackers, finely crushed (approximately 1½ cups)
6 egg whites

Saute onion in butter or margarine about 5 minutes. Blend flour, mustard, salt and paprika. Gradually add milk; cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a boil.

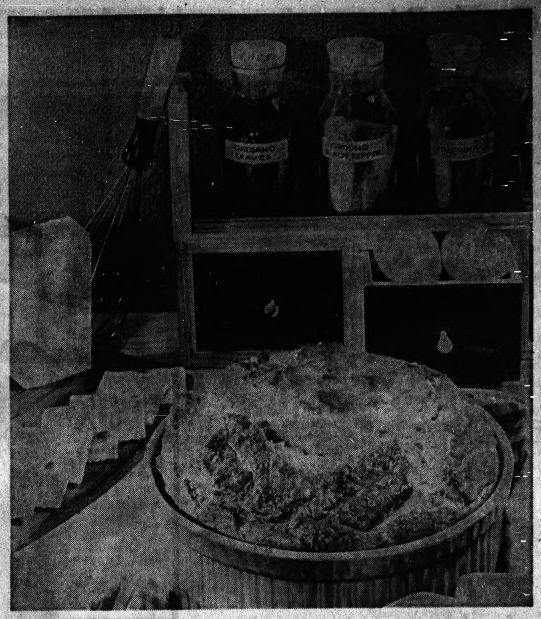

Remove from heat, blend a small amount of hot mixture into egg yolks, return to saucepan, add next three ingredients. Stir until cheese melts (do not boil). Cool thoroughly. Add crushed crackers.

Whip egg whites until stiff, yet moist. Gently fold into cheese mixture. Pour into an ungreased 2-quart souffle dish. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 50-60 minutes.

Lay a piece of foil on top last 20 minutes of baking to prevent over browning. Serve at once. Makes 6 servings.

Pineapple Fantans

Combine one drained 8¾-ounce can crushed pineapple, 1 cup grated cheddar cheese and 4 crumbled cooked bacon strips. Stuff between layers of 12 bake 'n' serve fantan rolls. Hold together with wooden picks. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) 10 minutes.

ITALIAN CHEESE SOUFFLE—Nice and easy does it. That's the secret when you're folding the beaten egg whites into this Italian flavored cheese souffle.

Cook Dinner in an Hour

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Last week, I attended a luncheon in Detroit where the fourth annual "Queen of the Kitchen" was named by Detroit Edison Company.

Open to working women in this area, the contest is for one-dish meals that can be cooked within an hour.

Jacqueline Rowden, a graduate nurse at Grace Hospital NW won with her Chinese Pepper Steak. Here's her recipe.

CHINESE PEPPER STEAK

1½ pounds sirloin steak, 1 inch thick
¼ cup vegetable oil
1 clove garlic, crushed or ¾ teaspoon garlic powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground ginger
½ teaspoon pepper
2½ cups green pepper, sliced
2 cups onions, thinly sliced
½ cup soy sauce
1 teaspoon sugar
1 cup beef bouillon
1 can (6 oz.) water chestnuts, sliced
2 tablespoons cornstarch
⅓ cup cold water
4 green onions, cut in 1-inch pieces hot cooked rice

Freeze steak for at least one hour to make it easier to slice. When ready to cook, cut into ⅛-inch slices.

Heat oil in skillet; add garlic, salt, ginger and pepper. Saute until garlic is golden. Add steak slices. Brown lightly 2 minutes; remove meat.

Add green pepper and onion; cook 3 minutes. Return meat to pan; add soy sauce, sugar, bouillon, chestnuts, cornstarch dissolved in cold water and green onions.

Simmer about 2 minutes or until sauce thickens. Serve over hot rice. Makes 6-8 servings.

Copies of a booklet containing all 10 winning recipes may be had at Detroit Edison offices.

Salmon stew is a Lenten one-dish meal that is quick to prepare. Don't forget crusty bread with this.

SALMON STEW

1 cup elbow macaroni
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup diced carrot
4 cups boiling water
2 cups shredded cabbage
1 1-pound can chick peas, drained
1 1-pound can stewed tomatoes
1 1-pound can salmon with liquid
1 teaspoon celery salt
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon red pepper sauce, or to taste

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Drain and rinse.

In saucepan heat butter and in it cook green pepper, onion and carrot for 10 minutes, or until onion is tender. Add water and cabbage, cover and cook for 10 minutes, or until cabbage is just tender.

Add macaroni and remaining ingredients. Bring to boil. Correct seasoning and serve very hot. Serves 6.

Budget Beef Skillet gets both color and a unique bit of flavor from pimientos.

BUDGET BEEF SKILLET

½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon salad oil
1 pound ground chuck
1 quart water
2 beef bouillon cubes
1½ teaspoons salt
1½ teaspoons garlic salt
⅛ teaspoon white pepper
⅛ teaspoon ground cloves
8 ounces medium egg noodles (about 4 cups)
1 can or jar (4 ounces) pimientos, chopped

Saute onion, celery and green pepper in oil until crisp-tender; remove and set aside. In same skillet, brown beef; remove and set aside. Add water, bouillon cubes and seasonings. Bring to boil; add noodles.

Simmer covered 10 minutes; return beef and vegetables to skillet. Add pimientos and simmer 10 minutes longer. Makes 4-6 servings.

Cherry Filling Put in Salad

It's a salad! It's a dessert! It's a bridge club treat or a Lenten luncheon entree.

In short, Cherry-Go-Round Salad is one of the most delicious and versatile fruit molds we've tasted in a long time.

But would you ever guess that in this case the magic ingredient — cherries — is already mixed for you in cans of pie filling?

Combine the pie filling with pineapple tidbits, miniature marshmallows and cherry-flavored gelatin whipped to a fluff, and you have a flavorful, richly-textured mold which is bound to be a favorite of everyone who tastes it.

Cherry-Go-Round Salad

1 cup (13½-oz. can) pineapple tidbits, drained
1½ cups pineapple juice and water
1 6-ounce package cherry-flavored gelatin
2 No. 2 cans (2½ cups each) cherry pie filling
½ cup miniature marshmallows
Whipped cream

Heat pineapple juice and water to boiling; add gelatin and stir to dissolve. Cool gelatin mixture until slightly thickened; beat until fluffy. Fold in cherry pie filling, pineapple tidbits and marshmallows.

Pour into 2½-quart mold; chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with swirl of whipped cream.

CHERRY-GO-ROUND SALAD — There's nothing new about a gelatin salad. But what is new is the use of prepared pie filling as one of the ingredients. There's still time to make this during the month when cherries are being pushed.

Canned Foods Convenient for Any Situation

Stock up on specials of canned foods. Canned foods are inexpensive to begin with. You'll save money by buying in quantity and you'll save money again by having a reserve supply of canned food on hand for "emergency" situations, such as unexpected company or a meal that has to be made in a jiffy.

* * *

Pick your canned foods to go with particular recipes.

Cut-up tomatoes are fine for soups and chowders; whole tomatoes are excellent for chilled salads where appearance is a big factor.

Take advantage of the versatility of many canned foods. Canned vegetables are splendid extenders for stews and casseroles. The liquid in which they're packed adds an extra nutritional plus.

Canned fruits will perk up breakfast as well as other meals. If you buy fruits packed in heavy syrup, reserve some of the syrup for morning pancakes or hot cereal.

Spiced Cranberries Are Good Relish

Cranberry sauce is a year-round favorite, since it's always available in convenient cans. It's delicious "as is," or adaptable to your own ideas. Try spiced cranberry sauce, for example.

Into a can of whole berry sauce, stir ½ teaspoon of cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon of nutmeg, a dash of allspice, and a few whole cloves. Chill and serve as a nice accompaniment to a roast of lamb or pork.

Less Cream 'n' Sugar

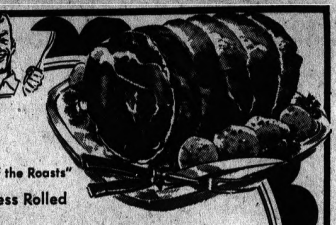

NEW YORK (UPI) — A trade group study shows that 58 per cent of Americans take cream or milk with their coffee, down from 63 per cent in 1960. Sugar users dropped to 50 per cent from 53 per cent.

Frozen Fruit Salad Can Be a Dessert

Frozen pineapple salad does double duty as dessert. Beat together until soft 1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese, ¼ cup mayonnaise and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Fold onto 1 cup whipping cream, whipped, along with ¾ cup chopped dates and 1 drained 8¾-ounce can crushed pineapple.

Pushing Pupil Ahead Causes Problems

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.

Underachievement of pupils is the bane of existence for parents and teachers, as well as for the pupils themselves.

"Johnny is a late bloomer and someday he'll catch up," proves to be wishful thinking. Johnny doesn't catch up. He stays toward the bottom of his class.

"Jane could do the work if she wanted to try," is not a correct analysis. Jane is not prepared to do the work required of her.

Overplacement rather than underachievement is often the explanation.

School people and, sometimes, parents have themselves to blame. At a given age, a child is admitted to kindergarten—ready or not. From that day on, he is pushed ahead in the drive toward excellence.

Writer Jack Harrison Pollack, in the February issue of the National Education Association Journal, estimates that half of the children in our elementary schools are overplaced.

He cites the work of Gesell Institute of Child Development, New Haven, Conn., in measuring school-readiness. The Gesell investigators say that school-readiness tests can determine when a child is ready for school.

Being allowed to spend an additional half year in nursery school-type activities will give a child experience and allow him to develop the coordination he needs.

Rather than attempting to drive children into catching up, they must be allowed time in which to catch up. The emphasis is then placed where it belongs — on the development of the individual.

Grades, organized according to the age of a child, will probably not be a part of the school of the future.

Chandler Brossard, Senior Editor, writing in Look Magazine on the topic "A School For The Future," cites an elementary school in Garden Springs, Ky. as an example.

In this school classes are ungraded, no marks are given, a child continues to develop at his own pace without feelings of inferiority and ridicule. Pupil evaluation has replaced grades.

A student's development in all areas is reviewed periodically and reported to parents. A child may be studying math on one level, art on another and science on a third.

In our past and most of our present grading schemes, we have measured the progress of children against the standards of perfection set up by the teacher.

Under these schemes of measurement, most children are found wanting for few could be perfect.

In fact, in "modern" educational measurement, one criterion of a good test is that every student makes some score and NO student makes a perfect score.

Through individual analysis and evaluation each child can be made aware of his progress and achieve a sense of accomplishment.

By JACOBY AND SON

North and South had an easy bidding par with hand five of the Intercollegiate tournament.

JACOBY

All they had to do to get their par was to reach a four spade contract.

East and West had a really tough par. They had to find a way to defeat it. Normal defense would be for West to open the king of diamonds and East to discourage a diamond continuation by playing the deuce. Then it was up to West to continue with the ace of diamonds in spite of his partner's signal.

That would not be too difficult. East might have played the deuce because it was the only one he held. Still, East and West were awarded one point if West continued with the ace.

The next play was worth two points. It was up to West to lead a third diamond. Then West would get one more point for grabbing the first spade lead with his ace and another point for leading a fourth diamond.

If West made that series of plays East would ruff that fourth diamond. South would overruff, but this would cost him one club discard and eventually East would set the contract with his queen of clubs.

The whole series of plays is apparent when you look at all four hands but tough when you are West looking only at your own cards and dummy's.

Still, the plays are all logical. West can see that the only possibility of a setting trick will be if his partner holds the queen of clubs or king of spades. If he holds the king of spades it will keep. If he holds the queen of clubs it is up to West to kill one club discard. The only way to kill a club discard is the exact combination of plays which will give East and West their par.

Waterford Reveals Plans for Sewers

Pontiac city officials were notified last night that Waterford Township has plans to construct sanitary sewers to serve the area of the West end drain, an area immediately west of the city.

In a letter to the City Commission, Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin said a meeting is set for Tuesday to "firm up" sewer plans.

Seeterlin said he would meet with Louis Schimmel, county officials and the township's consulting engineers.

The supervisor said the township had encountered legal and financial problems, but indicated the township was aware of the alleged pollution of Crystal Lake.

2-Car Mishap Injures Three

Three Pontiac women were hospitalized last night following a two-car collision at the intersection of Telegraph and Voorheis, Waterford Township.

Reported in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are the driver Mrs. Irene Lundbeck, 64, of 43 Chippewa, and Hazel Hire, 73, of 100 Miami.

Another passenger, Madge Sturdy, 57, of 220 Starr is listed in satisfactory condition. The accident occurred at 10:41 p.m.

Wilfred Tacey, Jr., 28, of 11 Parkhurst, driver of the other car, was uninjured.

OCC Officials Now Processing Student Forms

Predicting a total enrollment of 3,000 students by the time classes begin Sept. 7, Oakland Community College officials have begun processing some 1,100 student applications.

Additional applications for admission are received daily, said Dr. John E. Tirrell, OCC president.

* * *

College officials plan to open two campuses—Auburn Hills, site of the former Nike missile base, and the former TB Sanatorium — this fall.

Placement tests are being administered to student applicants on Saturdays at Pontiac Northern High School. Students are notified by mail of their test date.

Urge Stricter Bias Policing

Congressman William S. Broomfield of Oakland County's 18th District joined 16 House colleagues and four GOP senators yesterday in calling for stricter policing of what they said is racial discrimination by federal agencies.

Two other Michigan congressmen, Robert Griffin and James Harvey, were among those who issued the joint statement in Washington.

They said they applauded President Johnson's action in calling for a report within 30 days on alleged farm program discrimination against Negroes.

But they said they are afraid this "may turn into the kind of task force-chasing task force operation which gets no farther than the issuance of a report."

The Republicans suggested that, in addition to agriculture department discrimination cited by the Civil Rights Commission, there may be similar bias in operations of the welfare department.

Local Man Injured in Auto Collision

A Pontiac man is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after an auto accident yesterday afternoon at Woodward and Earlmoor.

Cenious Turner, 71, of 24 Henry Clay is in satisfactory condition after the collision.

The Turner car collided with a vehicle driven by Geraldine White, 402 Midway.

Whitmer to Back Buying Site for Elementary School

Supt. of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer tomorrow night will recommend that the Pontiac School Board purchase a new elementary school site near East South Boulevard and Woodward.

* * *

The recommendation will be made when the board gathers at the school administration building for its regularly scheduled meeting at 7:30 p.m.

The new school site would be in a proposed housing project lying south of South Blvd. and east of Woodward.

Developer Charles L. Langs has informed the school district that he intends to begin construction on the 238-unit project as soon as weather permits.

* * *

Langs has asked the school board to make a decision on the proposed purchase at tomorrow night's meeting.

RECOMMENDS SITE

Whitmer said he recommends purchasing a school site within the subdivision for several reasons.

Existing elementary schools are more than a mile from the area.

Without a site in the subdivision, children would be forced to travel a hazardous route to school.

* * *

Schools in the area are not now capable of handling the added number of children the new project would bring.

150 CHILDREN

According to applications already made for housing in the subdivision, it is believed that there may be as many as 150 elementary children living in the new project.

The board is also scheduled to hear recommendations on bids by contractors for the construction of the addition to the Frost Elementary School.

Bids were received Monday and have been analyzed by the administration and the school architects.

Contract recommendations for 1965-66 for all teachers who are not now on tenure are scheduled to be presented for board action also.

The First World War

The Second Year of the War Begins: 16

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for Newspaper Enterprise Association Illustrated By John Lane

On Jan. 1, 1915, the First World War was only five months old, and generals as well as privates were still learning how to fight.

One thing they already knew — that it was suicide.

The machine gun had stopped forever the gallant flag-waving charges of the past. And the devastating effect of long-range, high-explosive shells had made troops take shelter in trenches and dugouts.

As a result, the Western Front had become stabilized along a 400-mile line of trenches running from the North Sea to the Swiss border.

For nearly four years, several million men were to drag out a miserable existence while they hugged the raw earth along this line in all kinds of weather. Countless numbers of them were to be killed or wounded.

BITS OF BONE

Today, you can still pick up shell fragments there, and if you look sharply you will find shattered bits of bone.

The year 1915 was to be a time for raising new armies, for preparing to produce more weapons and ammunition, and for making plans for future assaults.

Meanwhile, action along the Western Front was stalemated although there was plenty of useless fighting and useless dying.

By the end of 1915 so little had been accomplished on this front that three hard-won miles marked the greatest advance made.

The year began badly for the Allies when the British battleship Formidable was sunk by a U-boat on January 1. The Germans had few submarines as yet, but they were industriously building many more.

STRIKE BACK

The British navy struck back on January 24 when one of its fleets encountered a German squadron in the North Sea. Since the Germans were outnumbered and outgunned they tried to get back to Heligoland.

During the running battle, the British pounded the fleeing ships heavily and might have sunk even more of them if Admiral Beatty's instructions had not been misread.

The end of January saw the first use of poison gas when the Germans, fighting at Bolinov in Poland, fired numerous gas-filled shells.

★ ★ ★

But inexperience with the new weapon and bitter cold weather, which slows down chemical reaction, rendered the attack so unsuccessful that the Russians did not bother to report it to their allies.

POISON GAS

In less than three months, French and Canadian troops at Ypres were to find out how deadly poison gas can be on a warm spring day.

On February 4, the war took a new turn when the German government proclaimed a submarine blockade of Great Britain and Ireland. Any merchant ship — even a neutral one — that entered those coastal waters might have torpedoes fired at it without warning.

The United States promptly notified Germany that it would be held responsible if American ships or people were harmed.

★ ★ ★

Americans did not take the blockade announcement seriously. Even in wartime they had been able to take passage to Europe whenever they wished.

Tickets were being sold for the May 1 sailing of the Cunard luxury liner Lusitania, and many American citizens bought them.

Oakland County Family Service Picks President

Dr. John M. Dorsey Jr. of 1171 Yosemite, Birmingham, has been elected president of the Family Service of Oakland County for 1965, according to Robert J. Janes, executive director.

Grant W. Howell of Royal Oak has been elected vice president, and Alex Seskin, of Huntington Woods, treasurer.

Newly elected board members are Norman L. Cheal, Harvey Burdick, Charles J. Snell, Mrs. John Harrold and Mrs. J. Paul Smith.

The annual meeting, at which the election is usually held, was scheduled for Feb. 25 but canceled due to bad weather. Subsequently, the election was conducted by mail.

At this month's board meeting, Roy B. MacAfee, 18 Niagara, was presented with a recognition pin for nine years of service on the board.

Crosses Channel by Plane

Does Shopping in France

LONDON (AP) — Once or twice a month, Mrs. Peter Eton pays $9.80 for a round trip plane ticket from Britain to France and takes a five-hour shopping trip across the English Channel.

"I simply love fresh bread and vegetables," said the 36-year-old housewife, "and going to France is the real way to get them.

"I don't go through this routine because the food is cheaper in France. In some cases it is, but the quality is always better."

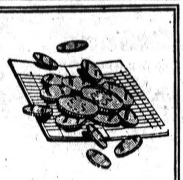

"The real point is that I have a jolly good time without rush-hour worries, drudgery, boring train journeys and off-hand from British shop assistants."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Eton lives at Appledore, in County Kent, five miles from Lydd Airport.

An air ferry runs from there to Le Touquet, the French seaside resort 50 miles away. Britain and France don't require passports for one-day round trips between Channel ports.

'Tendon' to Be Popular

Area Gals Find Yoga 'Knot' Difficult

MYSTIC MASK? — It's difficult to imagine an Oriental priest (or, for that matter, a Milford matron) making such a face. But it's a meaningful part of the Far East approach to physical fitness which has captured the interest of area women like Mrs. Finkenbiner. This posture is called the "lion" and is executed by tensing all of the facial muscles.

By PAT McCARTY

MILFORD — Yoga, the approach to physical fitness used by the ancients of the Far East, is being brought up to date in Milford.

And the gal who's giving instruction in the 6,000-year-old art is doing so with a distinct North Carolina drawl.

To the women in Mrs. Norman Sitterlet's class, there is no mysticism or religious experience connected with their weekly sessions.

They see them as one way to keep in shape.

* * *

The sponsoring organization —the Young Women's Christian Association — is emphasizing only the physical aspects of yoga, which it claims produces excellent results in limbering up the body.

Another by-product surely must be perseverance — if the comments of students getting into and out of yoga positions can be taken as an indication.

THE 'LOTUS'

Mrs. Sitterlet carefully folds her leotarded legs into the familiar lotus posture. ("Don't ever call it 'just' a lotus posture.")

Then she slips one leg over the other, raises an arm above her head and brings it down to meet the other in the center of her back.

This, she informs her students, is a "cow," an aid to good posture.

"Count to 10 and then change arms," she says. "Your aim is to . . ."

* * *

"Wait, wait," comes a voice from the back of the room. "I'm aiming, but they're not going."

COUNTING

There is a pause, with the women again counting while they lie on the floor and "breathe very deeply from the abdomen."

Mrs. Leonard L. Bishop Jr. is the professional staff member from the Northwest Branch of the Detroit YWCA who coordinates the 'Y' classes in Milford.

"You count your way into a position," she said, "then while you're in it, you relax. The idea is to tense your body in a certain position so that when you relax, you're completely relaxed."

* * *

The positions are simple, she maintains.

"Any active, normal 6- or 7-year-old child can pop right into them," she said.

However, their mothers and grandmothers have a slightly more difficult time of it.

REQUESTED

The class was brought to Milford at the request of women surveyed when the 'Y' program was established here last year.

There are 12 in the current class, and it will be offered again during the spring term which begins April 12.

Mrs. Sitterlet notes yoga is particularly good for persons no longer as active as they once were — those who are beginning to "stiffen up."

"It makes use of muscles you don't normally use during the course of a day," she said. "It's a general and very slow stretching of the tendons."

* * *

Another important aspect of yoga, she said, is the deep breathing involved in the execution of the exercises.

"It teaches us how to fill our lungs properly," she said.

* * *

And there the women sit at the end of the class, each doing all she can to fill her lungs . . . properly.

'ANYTHING YOU CAN DO' — Friendly competition can be an asset when a yoga posture looks too difficult to even try. Here Mrs. Fred Clay (left) and Mrs. Leon Cybul count to 10 while holding a posture called the "camel." The YMCA class is based on the Hatha system, stressing physical aspects of yoga — which instructors say is one of the least strenuous forms of exercise.

Law Sought in California to Hurry Slowpoke Drivers

(EDITOR'S NOTE — A proposed crackdown on California slowpoke drivers. Mickey Mantle on snowshoes? Naming a university stirs legislative battle. A ton of air-conditioning per pack of cigarettes. Bye-bye choo choo. Bits of the big picture of life in the United States.)

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Two California legislators are trying to do something to make the state's slowpoke drivers move a little faster — or move over.

Assemblyman George Milias has introduced a bill requiring freeway drivers traveling slower than traffic to move to the right lane. Slow drivers now move to the right chiefly by tradition, prodded by honking horns and blinking lights of fast-moving motorists.

* * *

Milias' bill would also give the California Highway Patrol the power to brand lagging motorists in fast lanes as "reckless drivers."

Assemblyman Richard J. Donovan, a former police officer, has written a resolution calling for study of a plan to mark minimum speed limits on each lane.

ACCIDENT CAUSE

Bradford Crittenden, highway patrol commissioner, says many accidents are caused by slow cars, which usually amble away from the wreckage without a scratch.

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — When major league baseball came to this north country where spring is sometimes reluctant, cynics looked forward to the spectacle of Mickey Mantle some day rounding second base in snowshoes.

This, if ever, could be the year.

The Yankees open against the Twins here in 13 days.

ICE UNDER SNOW

Three feet of snow has been stripped from the turf of Metropolitan Stadium. There was a six-inch layer of ice under the snow.

In this most-cussed winter in recent Minnesota history, the temperature has dropped below zero for 48 days — most recently on March 24, the fourth day of spring. The record for such things is 50 days.

* * *

Civil Defense workers are meeting to blueprint defenses against what could be the worst spring floods in Minnesota history.

Where the snow has fallen level, it's from two to three feet deep. Where winds have whipped it up, drifts tower 15 feet and higher.

TAKE PRECAUTION

Some springs in Minnesota, you can rake your lawn about now. This year you try to cut drainage ditches through the drifts near your house — in case the stuff ever starts to melt.

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — What is in a name?

In the case of "North Carolina State of the University of North Carolina at Raleigh" there is a lot of fighting in the North Carolina General Assembly.

* * *

Alumni of the Raleigh school, led by Rep. George Wood, refuse to accept that title, saying it is "embarrassing, confusing and meaningless."

Dr. William Friday, president of the consolidated university, counters that changing the school's name to North Carolina State University at Raleigh, as alumni are seeking to do, would destroy the one-university concept in North Carolina forever.

BITTER BATTLE

The two sides battled bitterly through the 1963 General Assembly and are at it again.

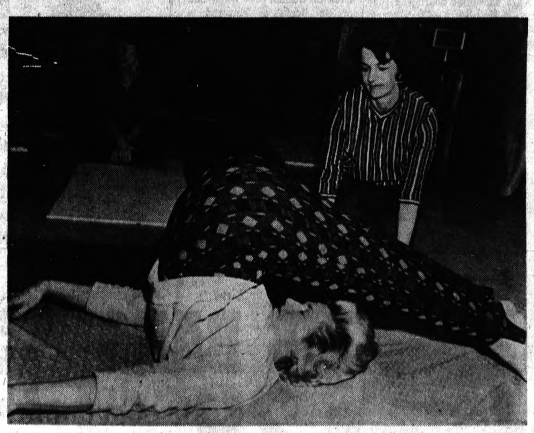

The 1963 fuss was settled, at least temporarily, with the compromise name North Carolina State of the University of North Carolina at Raleigh.

* * *

Whatever the outcome, a name change won't be new to the Raleigh school. It was once called "North Carolina State College of Agriculture and Engineering at the University of North Carolina."

NOT COWED — The idea behind the "cow" posture is to shake hands with yourself somewhere in the middle of your back. However, Mrs. James Finkenbiner (left) finds her fingertips have only a nodding acquaintance. Lending encouragement, Mrs. Sitterlet introduces a posture during a class session and urges her students to practice at home.

HERE'S HOW — Mrs. Roy Grinnell shows Mrs. Gordon Dana how easy it is to pull yourself into a yoga posture known as the "plow." Names of the positions are taken from objects they represent. Gradually — not forcefully — the muscles are stretched and then relaxed. Concentration and control are demanded, but the postures can be accomplished by anyone in normal good health, according to instructors. Rest periods, following each posture, are characterized by deep breathing.

Lady Churchill Plans to Celebrate Her 80th Birthday Tomorrow

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Lady Churchill — Sir Winston's Darling Clementine — will be 80 Thursday.

This will be Lady Churchill's first birthday in more than half a century in which Sir Winston hasn't shared in some way.

* * *

They were sometimes separated on April 1 by war or politics. But when they were, Sir Winston always managed by telephone, cable or radio to message his love.

In September 1908 — when Churchill was 34 and Clementine Hozier 23 — they were married in London "and lived happily ever afterward," as Britain's great leader put it later.

LOOKS RESTED

After nearly a month in Caribbean sunshine, Lady Churchill is approaching her birthday looking rested, and, as ever, immaculate, stylish and statuesque.

She truly needed a vacation.

Her husband's final illness, during which his stout old heart held out for so long against tremendous odds, was an ordeal for her. More than any other member of the family, Lady Churchill bore the burden.

* * *

Felled by a stroke at his London home, Sir Winston was too ill to be moved. The house with its many rooms was turned into a hospital. Lady Churchill dealt with the comings and goings of doctors, relatives and friends; the thousands of letters and telegrams that poured in from all over the world, and the press, radio and television.

* * *

She also, of course, spent hours beside the bed of her stricken husband.

TRYING PERIOD

The period immediately after Sir Winston's death Jan. 24 was very trying. There were the emotion and the strain as Sir Winston lay in state, and the huge state funeral at which Lady Churchill showed her grace and dignity.

* * *

Exhausted but never complaining, she left London Feb. 24. She returned last Saturday. She must deal with questions concerning Chartwell, the Churchill country home at Westerham, County Kent.

* * *

In 1946, a group of Sir Winston's friends bought Chartwell from him so it could be preserved as a national memorial.

* * *

The house was turned over to the National Trust and then leased back to Sir Winston. That lease expired March 25.

LOOKING AS IT DID

Said a spokesman for the National Trust: "Lady Churchill is discussing with us how we can keep Chartwell looking as it did when she lived there with her husband.

* * *

"We are still waiting to see what mementoes will be left there by the family. The decisions, of course, are up to Lady Churchill."

Eventually, Chartwell will be opened to the public.

Lady Churchill has a cottage nearby.

Chileans Hard at Work Removing Evidence of Earthquake

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — Earthquakes are part of the way of life in Chile, and the Chileans know what to do after a quake strikes. Today they are doing it with a vengeance.

Newsmen who flew Tuesday over the areas hit hardest by Sunday's quake saw work crews swarming over roofs, walls, bridges and roads, clearing away debris and starting repairs and reconstruction.

★ ★ ★

The exception was in El Cobre, the mining town of 400 persons wiped out by a dam break triggered by the quake.

In El Cobre there was nothing to rebuild or repair.

WORK CREWS

There, grimy work crews continued to dig into a 5-mile-long mass of earth, trying to reach the wreckage of the miners' houses and to bring out the dead.

By Tuesday night 45 bodies had been recovered. More than 300 were believed still buried.

The armed services set up tents, field hospitals and field kitchens in disaster areas to serve the injured or homeless.

★ ★ ★

The tents and equipment were donated by the United States after earthquakes and a tidal wave smashed much of southern Chile in 1960.

WOULD BE NEEDED

The Chileans stockpiled them on the assumption they would be needed again. The quake which struck Sunday was the third disastrous earthquake within the lifetime of some adult Chileans. The first was in 1939.

President Johnson offered any U.S. aid needed after Sunday's quake. But President Eduardo Frei said Chile would not ask for outside help —"We will do it with our own hands and with our own strength."

★ ★ ★

"Chile cannot ask for outside help every four years when this country is on the floor," he declared.

In La Ligua, 100 miles north of Santiago, a long line of adults and children waited at a field kitchen set up on a school athletic field.

TENT CITY

A tent city sprang up in Llay-Llay, a road and highway junction in which most of the adobe and brick homes suffered heavy damage. Dozens of families clustered around an air force helicopter which flew in medical supplies.

Between Llay-Llay and San Felipe, repair crews dug into a massive landslide covering the main highway between Chile and Argentina.

Another crew reopened a gravel pit for material to repair a section of the Pan American Highway north of Llay-Llay which sank several feet and cracked down the middle.

Temporary repairs were made on broken sections of a bridge approach, reopening another section of the Pan American Highway between Llay-Llay and La Ligua.

CLEARED AWAY

In Santiago, a city of two million, most of the debris that fell from walls and roofs had been cleared away.

★ ★ ★

In the smaller communities north of the capital, where damage was heavier, many buildings still standing will have to be razed and replaced.

In El Cobre, the handful of people who survived the landslide were not talking of reconstruction. Some watched silently as soldiers, national police and volunteers dug into the mass of drying mud and wreckage.

The estimated two million tons of mud, water and copper mine refuse which crashed down from the dam behind the village smashed people and buildings.

★ ★ ★

A group of Boy Scouts dug into a lump of wreckage about the size of a large office desk.

"Was this where one of the houses stood?" a newsman asked.

"No," one youth answered. "This was where five houses stood."

Poor County Will Use Antipoverty Funds to Train Residents for Jobs Elsewhere

JASPER, Ark. (AP) — The leaders of Arkansas' poorest county welcome President Johnson's antipoverty program as a means of training their people to do better what they have always done — depart.

Newton County, which has the lowest per capita income — $545 annually — in the state, has been steeped in poverty for decades and has little hope of joining the affluent society.

"Our problem is education and training," said W. H. Haddock, superintendent of schools and head of a committee coordinating antipoverty work in Newton County.

★ ★ ★

"We've got to keep these children in school until they can learn a job," Haddock said.

SKILLS NEEDED

"They need the skills that will enable them to obtain employment when they leave."

★ ★ ★

The government designated Newton County as one of 182 counties in the nation too poor to pay the local government's 10 per cent share of the cost of the program. The federal government will pay the entire cost.

★ ★ ★

"We just have enough county revenue to operate regular services," said County Judge Roy Raulston. "If any area is entitled to help, our little county is."

The primary Newton project is a neighborhood Youth Corps to be operated through the county's four school districts.

PROJECT BUDGET

The budget for the project is $116,000. Newton County's share would have been $11,600.

"There just wasn't any money," Rauiston said.

★ ★ ★

Newton County is in north Arkansas, locked in a beautiful Ozark Mountain area. The Buffalo River, one of the nation's last freeflowing streams, runs through the county of 6,000 residents.

★ ★ ★

Jasper, the largest town with about 300 residents, isn't on a major highway. The only other incorporated town in the county is Western Grove, population 150, on U.S. 65.

ONLY EMPLOYMENT

The only available employment is in timber, marginal mining, a few small sawmills and marginal farms. The young have to leave because there is no employment for them.

Industry won't touch the area because of shipping problems.

★ ★ ★

Geography is Newton County's worst enemy, but one day may be its salvation. Someday it may become a prime tourist area.

★ ★ ★

Until the tourists start pouring in, the residents are looking hopefully at the antipoverty program as a means of getting out.

News Briefs From World Scene

Veteran U.S. Diplomat in Indonesia for Two Weeks of Talks

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Veteran U.S. diplomat Ellsworth Bunker arrived today to look into deteriorating U.S.-Indonesian relations for President Johnson.

★ ★ ★

Bunker called on Foreign Minister Subandrio and is to meet with President Sukarno tomorrow. He is expected to be here for about two weeks.

Bunker, U.S. ambassador to the Organization of American States (OAS), helped negotiate the agreement which gave West New Guinea (West Irian) to Indonesia. But diplomats here do not expect him to secure any great change in Indonesian policy.

Indonesia has denounced American support of the Malaysia Federation and condemned U.S. intervention in South Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Information agency libraries were closed here after Communist-led mobs attacked several libraries and burned books. The government has taken over nominal control of U.S. oil and rubber properties.

The official Antara News Agency announced signing of an agreement with Communist China for economic and technical cooperation involving an $80-million credit from Peking.

TOKYO (AP) — The Communist Chinese government has revived its Ministry of Building Materials and created a State Capital Construction Commission, indicating it is concentrating once more on heavy industry.

Peking also announced today the replacement of Li Jen-chun, minister of building construction, by one of his deputies, Liu Yu-min.

Li's dismissal was not explained, but presumably it was due to dissatisfaction over the progress of industrial building programs.

MOSCOW (AP) — A Ghanian student found dead two weeks ago under mysterious circumstances was buried without incident yesterday, the Ghanian Embassy announced.

The similar mysterious death of another Ghanian student in December 1963 touched off a riotous protest by African students in Red Square.

There have been unconfirmed reports that Chinese students in Moscow were trying to organize another African demonstration over the second death, but there has been no trouble so far.

★ ★ ★

The Ghanian, George Daku, had been studying for about six months in the Caspian oil city of Baku.

★ ★ ★

He was found dead two weeks ago and was buried in Baku.

Soviet police are still investigating his death. Ghanian Ambassador John Elliott said earlier the police suspected Daku was murdered.

To Query Ex-President of Defunct Bank

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate investigators planned a final barrage of questions today for the flamboyant former president of the defunct San Francisco National Bank.

★ ★ ★

Don C. Silverthorne, described in earlier testimony as a man who frolicked at Las Vegas dice tables while his bank plunged into ruin, was scheduled as the first witness before the Senate Rackets Investigations subcommittee.

Silverthorne returned to the witness table as the subcommittee resumed its inquiry into a rash of recent bank failures. Following his testimony, the panel planned to move on to the failure of the First National Bank of Marlin, Tex.

Witnesses scheduled to testify about the Marlin Bank closing included B. L. (Andy) Anderson, a Houston bank broker; Robert Stewart, chief examiner for the Texas State Banking Commission; and Lloyd Thomas, supervising examiner in Dallas for the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp.

★ ★ ★

Among other things, Silverthorne was questioned last week about his heavy gambling in Las Vegas; manipulations of stock sales in the bank; fees collected from borrowers; jewelry sales in his office; and the large number of poor-risk loans and time deposits the bank collected during his tenure.

Hemingway Memorial

KETCHUM, Idaho (AP) — Plans were announced today for a memorial to novelist Ernest Hemingway in the rugged Sawtooth Mountain he loved.

The monument will be built in the Wood River campground where Hemingway was found dead of a self-inflicted gunshot wound in his hunting lodge in 1961.

It was not determined if the shooting was accidental. The monument was announced by Floyd Iverson, intermountain regional forester, in Ogden, Utah.

Cigarette Use Tops '63 Rate?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Americans are smoking more cigarettes now than they did before the surgeon general's report on smoking and health in mid-January 1964, the Agriculture Department indicated today.

★ ★ ★

The department said U. S. smokers in 1964 consumed about 511 billion cigarettes — 2½ per cent less than the record 524 billion in 1963.

Most of the 1964 decline in cigarette consumption occurred in the first few months after the surgeon general's Jan. 11 report linking smoking to cancer.

But smokers apparently didn't remain discouraged. During October, November and December 1964, tax data on cigarettes indicated that the rate of smoking regained — and probably topped — consumption of late 1963.

★ ★ ★

The department said cigarette consumption in 1965 seems likely to increase gradually, but that uncertainties affecting the outlook will continue for some time to come.

TO GO IN EFFECT

Regulations by the Federal Trade Commission requiring health warnings on packages and in all cigarette advertising are scheduled to go into effect July 1.

★ ★ ★

Congressional committees are considering legislation concerned with the labeling and advertising of cigarettes. New legislation could mean a revision of FTC regulations.

★ ★ ★

An increase in population by itself would cause some increase in smoking. But presumably there would be little smoking by the bulk of the small fry barely in, or approaching, the teen-age category.

A new vacuum bottle is lined with plastic thus reducing the risk of breakage.

Eulogies to Mrs. Liuzzo

New Dedication From Rights Slaying

DETROIT (UPI)—Civil rights leaders today found new dedication to their cause from the death of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo.

Mrs. Liuzzo, 39, was shot to death on an Alabama highway after last week's Selma-to-Montgomery protest march. She was buried yesterday in the solemn rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Her grieving husband and five children were told that her death would not be in vain.

Father James Sheehan, the priest who delivered the eulogy, said Mrs. Liuzzo's death was "a great blessing at the expense of her family.

★ ★ ★

"Today America hurts," he said. "All of us who have pride in what our country stands for are in anguish over the death of Viola Liuzzo."

'OUT OF LOVE. . .'

The priest, head of the Archbishop's Committee for Human Relations, said she went to Alabama and "volunteered to drive on that highway of hate, that highway of hell. She did it out of love. . ."

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, agreed with Father Sheehan.

"The whole nation, as he said, is hurt. And the challenge facing us is to remove that hurt. This tragic murder should help the nation mobilize toward that goal — equality for all," Farmer said.

★ ★ ★

John Lewis, head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, said, "We will continue to work and work harder for the cause for which she died."

NEW PROTESTS

Lewis said he was returning to Alabama, whil: Farmer said he would go to Jonesville, La., in a few days where he was planning new demonstrations.

Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and Nobel Peace Prize winner, said earlier he came to Detroit to tell Mrs. Liuzzo's family "her death was not in vain."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said people like Mrs. Liuzzo are "rare in the world. We should pay our respects to them."

★ ★ ★

"The fact that she might have to sacrifice her life never entered her head," Wilkins said.

AMONG SCORES

The civil rights leaders were among scores of mourners who joined the Liuzzo family for the Requiem High Mass in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church a low one-story brick building in northwest Detroit.

A choir of about 30 boys sang part of the mass. Afterward, Father Michael J. O'Hara, a priest from a suburban Dearborn parish, led the mourners in singing, "We Shall Overcome," the anthem of the civil rights movement.

Then the funeral procession wound its way to Holy Sepulchre Cemetery where Mrs. Liuzzo was entombed in the mausoleum.

Her youngest daughter, Sally, 6, who had cried in the church, touched the casket, looked at her red shoes and tried hard not to cry again.

Romney Schedules White Cane Week

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney has proclaimed April 25-May 1 as White Cane Week in Michigan to salute the work of the Lions Clubs of the state in providing white canes for the blind. The governor also proclaimed April 4-9 as Chemist Week to mark the 149th national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Detroit.

Scholle Out of Hospital

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (AP) — Gus Scholle, president of Michigan's AFL-CIO, was released from Memorial Hospital Tuesday after undergoing surgery for removal of his appendix March 25.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A move to expand and "tighten up" the administration's voting rights bill gained strength today with word from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen that he would support it.

Dirksen planned to meet tomorrow with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach on several proposed amendments to the measure. He said both he and Katzenbach were interested in getting a bill which "will stand up."

The Illinois Republican indicated there would be amendments to revise the so-called "triggering" section of the bill as well as a change in the provision that only a three-judge District of Columbia federal court could hear appeals from the federal examiner procedure.

As presently written, the bill provides for automatic appointment of federal examiners to register would-be Negro voters with the only avenue of appeal from such a move the D.C. panel of judges.

★ ★ ★

Southerners have charged this procedure is unfair.

HEARINGS CONTINUE

Judiciary committees in both the House and Senate continued public hearings on the bill today. James Farmer, executive director of the Committee for Racial Equality (CORE), was to testify before the House panel; the senators were to hear from Civil Service Commissioner John W. Macy Jr.

Louisiana political leader Leander H. Perez Sr. dominated the Senate committee hearing yesterday until Dirksen angrily forced him to withdraw his charges that a "Communist plan" was behind the voting rights bill.

The GOP Senate leader, who helped draft the bill, said the charge was "about as stupid a statement as I've ever heard."

★ ★ ★

ON HIS OWN

But McKeithen said Perez's comments about a Communist conspiracy were "made on his own."

"I authorized Mr. Perez to present testimony about voter registration in our state," said the governor, who was in Chicago on an industry-hunting expedition.

"Any allegation by Perez that those sponsoring the legislation in question are allied with the Communists was made without my authority."

★ ★ ★

Perez's statements about communism went unchallenged until Dirksen entered the hearing room to hear the Louisiana segregationist say: "Don't you see the Communist plan behind this thinking?"

After telling Perez his statement was "stupid," Dirksen, his face flushed with anger, declared: "It's a reflection on members of the Senate and the lawyers who participated to say this is a Communist plan."

He strongly suggested that Perez withdraw his charges.

Perez balked at first, then asked that his remarks be withdrawn from the record.

Perez, who has been excommunicated by the Roman Catholic Church for his segregationist activities, charged that the "hidden purpose" of the voting rights bill was to give voting rights to "hordes of immigrants."

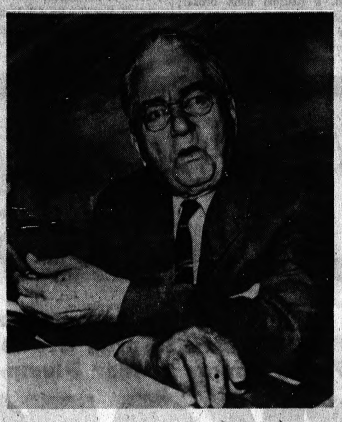

★ ★

He said it constituted a "hand-in-glove deal" with a Communist conspiracy to "impose Negro rule" on the South.

OUR WOMEN

"What do you think will happen in the South when the government imposes Negro rule?" Perez asked. "It is our women we will have to protect, and we will protect them."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Perez's testimony "served only to convince more strongly those of us who support this legislation (of) the need for it."

AGAINST VOTING RIGHTS BILL — Leander H. Perez, segregationist political leader of Plaquemines Parish, La., spoke against the proposed voting rights bill at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing in Washington yesterday. He said the bill is part of a "Communist conspiracy" to impose "Negro rule" on the South.

Griffith Retains Welter Crown

Torres Mauls Pastrano, Takes Light Heavyweight Title

NEW YORK (AP) — Boxing's comeback boom found a new and exciting tiger today in Jose Torres, the piston puncher who hammered his way to the light heavyweight championship — and threw down the gauntlet to Cassius Clay.

★ ★ ★

"I want Muhammad Ali," the 28-year-old Puerto Rico-born New Yorker blurted after he had given the master boxer Willie Pastrano, an unmerciful beating and had been named winner by a technical knockout in the ninth round.

Pastrano lost his 175-pound title while sitting — bloody and battered — on his stool between the ninth and 10th rounds, a decision of mercy by referee Johnny LoBianco.

The champion's handlers let out a loud and bitter protest but Pastrano said huskily in his dressing room: "It was a just decision. I took a terrible beating. I may never fight again."

TITLE DEFENDED

The abrupt and controversial ending climaxed an unprecedented title doubleheader at Madison Square Garden that earlier saw Emile Griffith successfully defend his welterweight crown with a unanimous 15-round decision over the rugged but outclassed Jose Stable.

★ ★ ★

A crowd of 18,112 paid $239,556 for the twinbill of fare — a record gate for the musty midtown arena — and signalled a continuing boom for the sport that once was believed on its death bed.

Most of the cheers were for Torres, a superbly built, olive-skinned athlete of 28 who had banged around the middleweight and light-heavy ranks for a half-dozen years without a chance, and who was a 6-5 underdog against Pastrano.

Using a peek-a-boo fighting style and lashing out with a left that was like an adder's strike — and almost as deadly — he gave the classy Miami Beach fighter an awesome beating.

In the fourth and fifth rounds he brought blood with savage bolts to the head, and in the sixth he unleashed a left that sent his glove crashing into Pastrano's ribs.

FIRST TIME

Never before in 13½ years of fighting had any man knocked Pastrano to his knees.

★ ★ ★

A look of agonizing pain, and surprise, came to the champion's face as he slumped to his knees and sagged into the middle strand of the ropes. The New York Athletic Commission doctor, Dr. Harry Kleiman, rushed into the ring and looked anxiously at the fallen boxer.

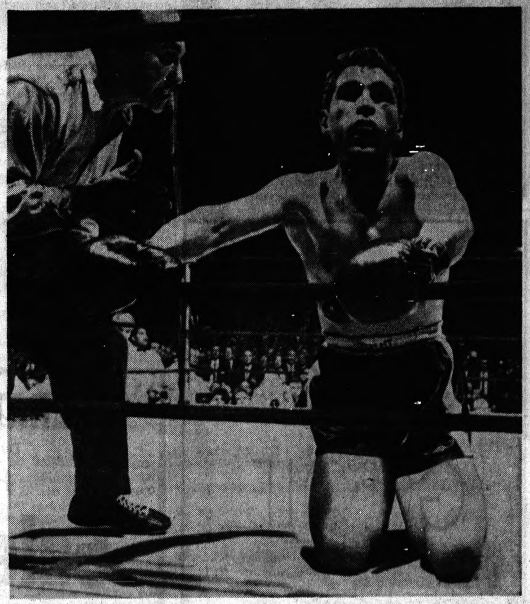

★ ★ ★

Pastrano rose shakily at the count of nine and hung on. He lasted the rest of the sixth round, then three more before he wobbled to his corner at the end of the ninth.

Referee LoBianco gave the champion one look and then waved that the fight was over. Torres leaped into the center of the ring while fans by the hundreds swarmed to the ringside. Later they carried him to the dressing room on their shoulders, football hero style.

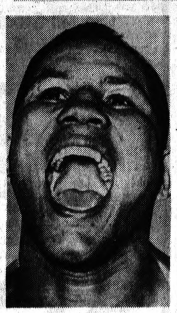

Pastrano's manager, Angelo Dundee, and trainer, Lou Gross, objected strongly.

"The referee didn't even wait for the doctor to come to the ring," Dundee said. "He had no right to stop the fight."

Hawks' Bobby Hull Is Question Mark

Injured Knees May Slow Ace in Ice Playoffs

Red Wings Entertain Chicago Thursday in Semifinal Opener

DETROIT (AP) — An important question mark arrived in Detroit Tuesday with the battered Chicago Black Hawks.

Will scoring ace Bobby Hull play in the opening hockey game of the Stanley Cup playoffs Thursday?

Coach Billy Reay wouldn't make a definite statement on the chances of putting Hull on the line against the National Hockey League champion Detroit Red Wings.

It's too early to tell," he said. "After all, this is the first he's skated in more than a week. We'll know more after Wednesday's practice."

BRACED FOR ACTION

Hull skated slowly Tuesday, wearing a brace to help nurse a knee injury which resulted from a collision with Detroit's Alex Delvecchio March 21. The knee originally was injured on Feb. 6 at Toronto and Hull got only one goal in his next 11 games.

Reay said injured stars Eric Nesterenko, Phil Esposito and Chico Maki definitely will be on the ice Thursday.

★ ★ ★

The Hawks spent nearly 1½ hours on the ice Tuesday, mostly in easy skating and shooting. Reay spent several minutes after the workout talking with Hull.

"I'm not pleased with his condition. But this series won't be over in one or two games," Reay said.

REST CAMP

The champion Red Wings went through an easy workout Tuesday morning and then headed for their Toledo rest camp.

Manager-coach Sid Abel said he wanted the team to relax before the opener. He said the Wings would spend the next day or so going to movies and generally taking it easy.

The Wings envisioned a rugged series.

Forward Bruce MacGregor commented, "They've got big defensemen and they're mighty hard to get around. They're going to be tough."

The Wings came out on the bottom in eight of their 14 games with the Hawks during the regular season, tying Chicago once.

Larry Sherry Accepts Role as Relief Ace

Tigers Change Plans to Make Ex-Dodger Starting Moundsman

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Larry Sherry was happy when he heard that manager Charlie Dressen had planned to use him as a starting pitcher.

Sherry still is happy even though interim manager Bob Swift has changed these plans and has Sherry down as the No. 1 relief pitcher.

★ ★ ★

"Let's face it," Sherry said recently. "You get better care and more rest as a starter. But I have made a lot of money as a relief pitcher and I'm used to the work.

"If that's where Swift thinks I can do the most good, I'll try my best," he added.

Sherry, the hero of the 1959 World Series when he was playing with the Dodgers, won seven games and saved 11 others for the Tigers in 1964.

He feels his job this year will be a bit easier because the Tigers have a couple of other pitchers who can come in in the pinch and get men out.

MORE REST

"Fred Gladding really came along last year," Sherry said. "It's good to know that when he or someone like him gets out there he'll get the other team out. That gives the other relievers more rest—and we need it like anyone else."

Sherry was sidelined for the season in August when Leon Wagner hit a line drive off his foot and broke a bone.

★ ★ ★

Because his season ended early, Sherry started to train for the '65 campaign earlier—first playing nine holes of golf, then 18 and eventually working on his pitching.

He got permission from his former club to drill with its rookies and pitched a few games against a couple of college teams before reporting to the Tigers.

The 29-year-old Sherry remarked that it was a little different to be a relief pitcher for the Tigers.

"When you are in Tiger Stadium, the alleys (left-center and right-center field) are the places where the rival teams get their long hits.

"But our team scores a lot of runs so you don't feel you have to blank the other team every time you come to the mound. You can't think this way with too many clubs," he added.

Swift gave his team the day off Tuesday as it was the only scheduled open date on the spring schedule. Many of the players competed in the annual player's golf tournament.

Pick Montreal Over Toronto

MONTREAL (UPI) — The Montreal Canadiens are firm favorites to whip the three-time Stanley Cup champion Toronto Maple Leafs in the National Hockey League semifinals, but Coach Toe Blake figures "we're going to have to play awfully well defensively to do it."

★ ★ ★

"Defense is the big thing in the playoffs," Blake said following Tuesday's "good" workout at the Forum.

"Not just in goal or our defensemen, I mean everyone has to carry out their defensive assignments well."

The best-of-seven series opens here tomorrow night.

After making the Stanley Cup finals a record 10 years in a row, the Canadiens did an about face and were eliminated in the semis four years running — twice against Chicago and the last two years against the Leafs.

"I really think we're in better shape this year," Blake said. "I don't think Toronto is as strong as they were a year ago and I know we're better."

Guard Paces Bullets Over St. Louis 5

BALTIMORE (AP) — Kevin Loughery hardly deserves to be called the unsung hero of the Baltimore Bullets. Not any more.

The 6-foot-3 playmaker has been a take-charge guy in the National Basketball Association playoffs, capping his surge with 31 points and six assists Tuesday night as the Bullets whipped the St. Louis Hawks 109-103 and advanced to the Western Division finals.

★ ★ ★

Baltimore polished off St. Louis 3-1 in the best-of-5 series, after finishing eight games behind the Hawks in regular season play.

The Philadelphia 76ers have a chance to a accomplish the same feat in the Eastern Division semifinals. Philadelphia finished third, eight games behind Cincinnati, but the 76ers take a 2-1 series edge into tonight's fourth game in Philadelphia.

★ ★ ★

Loughery, in his first full season as a starter, was the fifth high scorer on the Bullets with 1,024 points and he was chosen the unsung hero in a ballot conducted near the end of the season.

LEAD BULLET

In the playoffs, he leads the Bullets with 16 assists and his 97 points in four games are only one less than club leader Don Ohl.

St. Louis, starting without all-time great Bob Pettit, jumped into a 19-5 lead Tuesday night. Zelmo Beaty led the early assault with seven points and Pettit's replacement, Cliff Hagan, added five.

★ ★ ★

But with Loughery scoring 21 points, the Bullets closed to within 54-51 at halftime. St. Louis moved ahead 77-70 in the third quarter, but again Baltimore rallied and moved in front for keeps, 100-94, on a basket by Walt Bellamy and two by Ohl.

New Football Coach

WTHS Names Moffat

The appointment of a new football coach at Waterford may turn out to be bad news for Jim Larkin, head coach at township rival Kettering.

The Skippers' new mentor is John Moffat, 35, who served for the past four years as an assistant to Larkin.

Moffat helped Larkin to a 3-1 edge in four grid meetings with Waterford, and with his knowledge of the Kettering system, he could make the going rough for the Captains.

Appointment of Moffat to fill the coaching post was made today by Waldo Ashley, director of athletics for Waterford Township Public Schools.

★ ★ ★

Moffat replaces Stu Thorell who has accepted an administrative position in the Waterford system.

The new Skipper coach played football and baseball at Pontiac Central and was graduated in 1949.

He entered the University of Mississippi in 1950, but left a year later and joined the U. S. Army.

He was released from service in 1953 and enrolled at Hillsdale College, where he played varsity football and baseball for four years.

TOP KICKER

Moffat played under coach Frank (Muddy) Waters at Hillsdale, and in his junior year, he punted for a 52.2 average.

He failed to win the punting title, however, because he booted the ball only 17 times and a minimum of 20 kicks was required.

Moffat majored in physical education and received a bachelor of science degree in 1957.

He and his wife and five children reside at 1480 Oakwood, Sylvan.

Nets 1st Win on Pro Tour

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Jo Ann Prentice, one of the nation's top women golfers, says she goes to see her brother when she wants some pointers on her game — but it doesn't look like she'll need his help much this year.

Jo Ann was declared winner of the first annual Allstate Invitational here Tuesday, her first victory since turning pro more than eight years ago.

Bad weather was a factor in her triumph, with the final 18-hole round cancelled because of rains that drenched the 6,602-yard Colonial Country Club course.

'Reluctant' Lapeer 9 Choice in Tri-County

(Third in a Series)

By FLETCHER SPEARS

Kettering and Romeo rode strong hitting and timely pitching to a share of the Tri-County League baseball title last year, but the two may have to step aside for Lapeer's Panthers this season.

"We're in a rebuilding program at Kettering," said coach Irv Thompson.

★ ★ ★

"We need pitching" claimed Romeo coach Bud Brotebeck who lost his ace hurler, Benny Payne, through graduation.

"Oh no!" moaned Lapeer coach Gene Hepinstall when informed that rival league coaches had picked the Panthers to finish first.

★ ★ ★

"That's ridiculous. We haven't any pitching and you can't win without pitchers," Hepinstall added.

TWO TIED

Romeo and Kettering recorded 6-2 league records with Lapeer a game back at 5-3. Oxford and L'Anse Creuse finished at 1-6.

Kettering might not be as bad off as Thompson suggested in taking the rebuilding approach.

Thompson lost a top-notch pitcher in Bob Bogert; but he still has a lot of power remaining and admits that "if some of our sophomores come through, we could be real tough."

From last year's team that ran up a 15-5 over-all mark, Thompson has senior outfielder-pitcher Dale Manning, who hit .310; junior Graig Collins, a third baseman who batted .427; and Bill Diedrich, another senior who batted .278.

Manning turned in an impressive stint of relief hurling last year when the Captains lost a 10-inning, 4-3 verdict in the finals of the annual Pontiac Invitational High School tournament cosponsored by the Press and the city recreation department.

PROBLEM SPOTS

Kettering's problems may be at shortstop, on the mound and behind the plate.

Like Kettering, Romeo must solve its defensive and pitching problems to be a threat in the race.

Also like Kettering, the Bulldogs have a potent batting order.

Pacing the offense are second baseman Mike Pokorney (.376), pitcher-outfielder Mike Simunic (.363) and senior shortstop Rod Rohloff (.347).

Hepinstall and the Panthers do have some problems.

4 VETS BACK

He has veterans returning to man only four positions. All are seniors.

Bob McKenna, who hit .320 to lead the team last year, will hold down the shortstop position; Larry McInally gets the nod at second; and John Ball will handle one of the outfield berths.

Hepinstall has one pitcher back—left hander John O'Donnell who posted a 2-1 record in '64.

To live up to the billing of other coaches in the league, the Panthers have to patch up the infield and outfield, get a catcher and some help for O'Donnell.

"More of a rebuilding year than a winner, I'd say," Hepinstall added.

LETTERMEN RETURN

Oxford has a pretty good flock of lettermen returning from last year.

Leonard Schultz, a senior who patrols center field, is the only returnee who batted over .300.

Other prospects for starting berths include Bob Roberts, a senior at second base; Elroy Converse, catcher; Rick Miholek, a sophomore pitcher; and Bill Martens, a senior infielder.

L'Anse Creuse (1-6) has only one senior on this year's squad —catcher Paul Miller who batted .210 last year.

L'Anse has problems in pitching and in the outfield that must be solved if the team hopes to move up.

Returning from last year's unit is shortstop Randy Payne, the team's top hitter with a .383 mark.

Defense Falters as Cranbrook 9 Loses Opener

The Cranbrook defense betrayed its pitchers yesterday as the Cranes opened their annual southern Ohio baseball tour by dropping an 8-7 verdict to Ironton, Ohio.

The Cranes led, 2-0, and 3-2, in the early going, then rallied on Bill Price's run-producing single and Dave Campbell two-run double to tie the score, 7-7, in the sixth inning.

But two infield errors and a walk produced the winning run in the same frame for Ironton. Captain Steve Hanway struck out nine and yielded three hits and six runs in four innings for Cranbrook. Price lost the verdict in relief.

The Cranes will continue their tour today.

Hospital to Release Ailing Tiger Boss

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Charley Dressen, manager of the Detroit Tigers, will be released from a hospital Thursday, a spokesman said Tuesday night.

The 66-year-old Dressen, who has been hospitalized with a heart attack since March 8, was reported in "good shape" and "right on schedule" on his way to recovery.

★ ★ ★

The spokesman said Dressen will follow doctor's orders to remain at home for about 2½ weeks before rejoining the American League team.

However, it will be another month after that before the veteran baseball figure can take a full and active part in running the Tigers, the spokesman said.

Meanwhile, Coach Bob Swift is managing the Tigers in Dressen's absence.

Quick Action Project

Short Wait for OCSC

Members of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club won't have to wait six months or a year for the club's newest conservation project to begin bearing fruit.

The degree of success should be known within six weeks.

* * *

The first phase — the toughest — of a four-stage effort to create a pike spawning impoundment on the OCSC grounds, a half mile east of Waterford Village was completed last weekend.

Over 2,000 yards of dirt were moved as a road was constructed and an earth impoundment wall built. A 100-yard channel was cut to the east shore of Townsend Lake, a culvert installed under the road and a spillway placed in position.

A three-acre swamp area will be filled with about two feet of water within the next two weeks, with pumps making up what the natural runoff can't supply.

The Conservation Department will supply needed adult northern pike ready to spawn. The impoundment will be drained about mid-May to allow the hoped for young pike to reach Townsend Lake.

The Oakland County Earthmovers and Excavators Association donated equipment and men to work with OCSC members on the project. The OCSC conservation committee, with Joe Rhoades as chairman, was in charge of the operation.

Technical assistance was provided by the conservation department.

* * *

OCEEA and the sportsmen's club collaborated to build two duck impoundments, an access road and to plant food and cover crops for game in the Holly recreation area in the last three years.

Before then OCSC members constructed and placed wood duck houses.

With these past projects, the members had to wait six months or more to see how they turned out. This time the wait will be much shorter.

Pike prefer to spawn in flooded marshes, often moving far up stream in the spring to reach the swampy beginnings of a creek or river.

A flooded marsh is a place "Where pike can spawn unmolested," according to Henry Vondette, district fish biologist with the Conservation Department, who is assisting with the project.

"The spawning period is a critical time for any fish," he said. "A few even die."

* * *

The heavy vegetation in a marsh offers protection for the adult pike and the newly hatched fry.

Once the adult fish have completed spawning, Vondette explained, they move back downstream or jump the barrier at the spillway if in an impoundment.

"We expect this to happen at the sportsmen's club impoundment although on some occasions we found two or three adult fish still left when the ponds were drained. When the young pike reach fingerling stage, about two and a half inches, they head for big water."

Around the middle of May the barriers of the OCSC impoundment will be taken down and the water allowed to drain.

This will give the fingerlings clear sailing into Townsend Lake and the swamp will have a chance to replenish the needed vegetation.

Pike have no homing instinct, Vondette pointed out, but will move against flowing water to reach a spawning area.

It is hoped that enough water will overflow the barrier of the OCSC project each spring in the years ahead to attract pike up the channel from the lake.

JUMP BARRIER

"The pike will jump the barrier to get into the spawning area," said Vondette.

The dam at the OCSC impoundment is about two feet high.

Body-Harrison Equipment, International Harvester, Robert Dunn, Robert Costello, Bill Turner, Don Turner and Eberhardt Krueger were the men and firms donating equipment on behalf of the OCEEA.

OVER AND OUT — The Canadian champion log rollers and canoe tilters, Leo Sabourin (left) and Jean LaJace are in the "Parade of Outdoor Champions," the stage and water tank show at the annual Detroit Sportsmen's and Vacation Show, April 3 through April 11, at the State Fairgrounds Coliseum.

Ice Fishing 'Holding Up'

Ice fishing is all but over in Southeastern Michigan.

A few dedicated fishermen still are going on lakes and some making good catches. The Conservation Department, however, warns that ice conditions are continuing to deteriorate.

Kent Lake has been producing good catches of calicoes and bluegills. Union and Oxbow are yielding bluegills and perch have been hitting on Stringy, Cemetery, Square and Kent.

Ice on Anchor Bay near New Baltimore was nine inches thick last weekend and good catches of perch, some up to 11 inches were reported. Fishing pressure was heavy.

Gun Show Scheduled Sunday at Williams

The first annual Michigan Gun Show will be Sunday at the Williams Gun Sight Co., on Lapeer Road, two miles east of Davison, from noon to 6 p.m.

Leading manufacturers of firearms, accessories and reloading equipment will exhibit and demonstrate their 1965 products. There will be over fifty exhibits.

Pistol Shooters Vie Saturday at OCSC Range

Over 100 shooters will be aiming for top honors Saturday in the Southeastern Michigan Pistol League shootoff at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club indoor range.

Marksman will go to the firing line at 8 a.m., according to OCSC pistol chairman Ted Villella, with the top three places the targets.

Firing is expected to continue for most of the day and public is invited to attend.

Wins Two Skeet Titles

Sam Carradonna of Detroit won both titles in the Wolverine Open Skeet Championship last Sunday at the Detroit Gun Club near Walled Lake.

He broke the only 100 straight to win the 20 gauge shoot and then outlasted four others in a shootoff for 12 gauge honors.

* * *

Ted Hannaford of Warren; Jack Pattyn, Detroit; and Les Simpson, North Canton, Ohio; cracked 99 of 100 in the 20 gauge class. Simpson, Larry Smith, Bloomfield Hills; Harry Myers, Warren; and Joe Nichwidowicz, Detroit; shattered 100 straight in the 12 gauge.

The Pee Wee Open, 100 targets with 410s, will be Sunday at Ted's Blue Rock Gun Club in Centerline.

Rough Fish Bow Season on Tomorrow

Spring archery and spearing season opens on rough fish tomorrow in streams of 65 Lower Peninsula counties designated by the Conservation Department.

April 15 is the curtain raiser for this action in certain streams of Bay and Gladwin Counties.

In the Upper Peninsula, bowmen and spearing buffs will pit their marksmanship against these same fish during the month of May in streams listed by the department.

Also opening May 1 is another season which allows carp, dogfish and garpike to be taken by spears or bows and arrows through Aug. 15 in a number of specially-designated inland waters. Most of these are lakes where the three rough species are causing trouble by competing with game fish.

Lists of open waters are available from the department's field offices. The Pontiac Lake district office is at Highland (M59) and Tull.

Moderate Trading

Market Prices Are Scrambled

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices were scrambled in moderate trading early this afternoon.

A few issues were strong but the general pattern was one of fractional gains and losses.

Prices were steady to higher at the start, with many issues unchanged. After some hesitation, the averages showed a very slight gain.

★ ★ ★

Excitement dwindled over the merger candidates among rails. Wall Street seemed doubtful, seeing nothing encouraging in the relatively low volume on which prices had risen after three straight declines.

Aerospace issues, electronics and farm implements were a little higher on balance. Most other groups were mixed.

AVERAGE UP

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .4 at 333.0 with industrials up .7, rails unchanged and utilities up .2.

Gains of a point or so were posted for Boeing, IBM and High Voltage Engineering.

Comsat was still in demand because of its plans to launch it "Early Bird" Communications satellite next week. It opened a little late on a block of 14,300 shares and held a 3-point gain going into the afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Prices were mixed in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange. Up more than a point were Head Ski and Selas Corp. TWA warrants rose nearly a point.

Fractional gainers included General Development, Syntex and Fresnillo. Ehrenreich fell more than a point as did National Video "A."

Corporate and U.S. Government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Paper Strike Delayed in NY

NEW YORK (UPI) — A threatened strike by printers and several other unions against seven major New York City daily newspapers was postponed early today at the end of nearly 12 hours of negotiations at city hall.

★ ★ ★

Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who was instrumental in ending a 114-day strike against the city's newspapers in 1962-63, said in a statement issued at 4 a.m. EST he had obtained an agreement that the unions would give 24-hour prior notice before calling a strike.

The talks between representatives of the New York City Publishers Association and officials of the International Typographical Union (ITU) were scheduled to resume later today. Both sides issued conflicting statements as to the status of the talks.

The mayor, who had returned from a White House dinner party to take a hand in the negotiations, said he would be "available at any time of the day or night."

★ ★ ★

A strike had been set for 2 a.m. today, but Wagner got one-hour extensions from both the printers and the photoengravers to keep the talks going.

Calmer Atmosphere Seen in Montgomery

MONTGOMERY, Ala (AP) — Some evidence of a change for the better in the racial climate appeared in the cities where the voter rights march began and ended and where services were held for a civil rights worker slain by night riders.

State troopers and sheriff's possemen were not in evidence Tuesday as black-robed women walked behind black-draped wooden caskets bearing the names of persons killed in the civil rights struggle.

★ ★ ★

There were no incidents. Only a few white spectators watched in Selma and Montgomery.

Ten empty caskets were placed on the sidewalk at the bottom of the steps leading to the state capitol in Montgomery when Mills Cowling, head of the department in charge of state property, ordered a halt.

SOME TALK

There they remained during a prayer and some talk. The marchers' parade permit expired at 6 p.m. and they left without the caskets. A city truck carried them away.

In Selma, two civil rights leaders called off mass meetings and demonstrations for the rest of the week. They urged the time be spent in preparing for the opening of the Dallas County voter registrar's office Monday.

★ ★ ★

An Associated Press newsman in Selma said there appeared to be much less tension and the city of 29,000 was like many another Southern community enjoying warm spring weather.

Wilson Baker, the public safety director, was in his office at City Hall. Sheriff James G. Clark also worked in his office. Mayor Joseph Smitherman was out of town.

DEATH MOURNED

The civil rights workers mourning the death of Viola Gregg Liuzzo of Detroit went from Selma to a tiny church near Lowndesboro not far from the place where she was shot to death. Then they completed the 50-mile drive to Montgomery and walked the last short distance to the Capitol steps.

There wasn't any trouble, and again the racial atmosphere seemed improved. Police Chief Marvin Stanley and Police Commissioner L. B. Sullivan kept firm control while state troopers remained out of sight inside the Capitol.

★ ★ ★

Several hours earlier Gov. George C. Wallace met with 15 civil rights leaders for an hour and 90 minutes.

"We are hopeful," said the Rev. Joseph E. Lowery of Birmingham, a Negro spokesman for the delegation.

TOO EARLY

But, he said, "It is too early to say whether it was a fruitful meeting. We called for an end to police brutality and we urged the governor to help do away with the climate of violence and hatred that will consume us all."

Another of the conferees, the Rev. F. D. Reese of Selma, noted that Wallace shook hands with the Negroes "and even patted me on the back as we left."

★ ★ ★

Wallace did not comment after the session. His press secretary, Bill Jones, described the meeting as very friendly and frank. He said the governor reiterated his office always is open to Alabamians, regardless of race, creed, color, or national origin.

OTHER NEWS

In another development on the racial scene, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. told a New York news conference that despite some criticism he believes his proposal for an economic boycott of Alabama is necessary. But, he said, details had not been worked out and he "merely suggested it as a last resort method."

Ex-Area Man Named to Civil Service Staff

A former Oakland County resident has been appointed to the staff of the Michigan State Civil Service Commission as a personnel technician.

Named to the position after taking an open competitive examination was William Marshall, son of Mrs. Merelyn Marshall, 8500 Thendara, Independence Township.

Rock Knocks Bedroom Scenes in Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Now if we all keep our wits about us and approach this thing gingerly, I believe we can present it in a manner that will be suitable for family newspapers.

THOMAS

The thing is this: Rock Hudson says bed scenes are no fun.

Well, that's it, and if you want to start writing an outraged letter to the editor, go ahead. On the other hand, you may want to read on.

You see, Rock Hudson is not the most talkative of fellows: in fact, he is this year's winner of the Gary Cooper memorial award for taciturnity. So when he comes right out and says something, it's generally worth hearing.

The thing came out at lunch in the new Universal commissary. Rock ate a full meal, including a chocolate sundae; "Haven't been sleeping last coupla nights; need the energy," he explained.

ADVENTURE

Across the aisle from Rock was the Italian dish, Claudia Cardinale, who is his costar in "Blindfold." It is an adventure drama, and Rock reported that he and Claudia have no bedroom scenes in it.

No bedroom scenes in a Rock Hudson movie! That's like an Elvis Presley movie without a wiggle.

"That's right," Rock repeated; "no bedroom scene. And you want to know something? I'm glad."

* * *

"I suppose you think bedroom scenes are fun," Rock continued.

"Forget it. In the first place, the bed is hot from all these lights shining on it. In the second place, the lights make you uncomfortable. In the third place, any enthusiasm you might have for the scene is quickly quenched by just looking at the bored faces of the crew staring at you."

COMEDIES

"Blindfold" is Rock's first drama after a lengthy string of sex comedies. Does the switch mean that he is weary of films in which he chases in and out of boudoirs?

"I think the public is weary," he sighed. "The cycle has been pushed about as far as it can go, and I think light comedy is on the wane. The boundaries have been extended almost to the limit, with producers trying to see how dirty they can get. The last one I did was filthy."

Was he referring to the unreleased "A Very Special Favor," in which he is engaged by Charles Boyer to seduce his daughter, Leslie Caron?

"That's it," he confirmed. "Filthy. I thought it was filthy when I read the script, and I still think it's filthy. But the studio tried it out at a Friday night sneak preview and the audience screamed. So maybe that's what they want."

Son OK; Mom Nigeria-Bound

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Mrs. Asabi Adedire returned with her daughter Janet to Nigeria Tuesday after saving the life of her son with a kidney transplant.

"I have never met so many people in my whole life who were so friendly and helpful," Mrs. Adedire said upon leaving.

The two women were flown to Ann Arbor from their home in Ife, Nigeria, Feb. 2. The woman's son, Abraham, 26, had a potentially fatal kidney failure which required the transplant operation. Mrs. Adedire was the only member of the family with a blood type matching her son's.

The operation was performed at the University of Michigan Medical Center. Doctors reported both patients were doing well.

Adedire, a chemistry student, remained in Ann Arbor with his wife and two children. He will be treated for some time as an outpatient at the hospital.

Copper Country Snow Recorded at New High

CRYSTAL FALLS (AP) — Snow fall in the Copper Country area has hit a new high, the State Highway Department reports.

A total of 284.6 inches of snow has been recorded so far through the winter and spring at the U.S. Weather Bureau station at Delaware.

Carroll Baker 'Worst'

Lampoon Gives Awards

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — The Harvard Lampoon has announced its annual Hollywood awards and selected Carroll Baker as the worst actress of the year "for all the films she made" in 1964.

In addition, the Lampoon bestowed its "Roscoe" award upon Miss Baker for displaying "that certain unskilled clumsy quality that has marked Hollywood since early days."

The Harvard student citations, intended as parodies of Hollywood's Oscar awards, included one to James Franciscus as "worst actor for his performance in 'Youngblood Hawke'."

Films sharing top honors for "worst movie of the year": "The Greatest Story Ever Told," "The Carpetbaggers," "Sylvia," "Cheyenne Autumn," and "Station Six Sahara."

"The entire population of Western Europe" was singled out for a special award "for its performance in 'The Fall of the Roman Empire'."

Music Marks Dedication of Museum in LA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The new $11.5 million Los Angeles County Museum of Arts was dedicated Tuesday night in ceremonies highlighted by high-spirited baroque, Renaissance and contemporary music for brass ensemble.

A spectacular fireworks display in the museum plaza and on the rooftops accompanied Handel's Royal Fireworks music.

Thousands of Los Angeles residents came for the first public glimpse of the three marble-and-glass structures which make up the largest museum to be erected in the United States since 1941.

Like the shimmering Pavilion of the $33-million Music Center, which opened just last December, the museum was built entirely by public contributions.

Military Exercise Embarkation Today

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Men, supplies and equipment aboard 20 Atlantic Fleet ships embark today for Operation Quick Kick VII.

The operation is to be held off Vieques Island, 50 miles from San Juan, Puerto Rico, during April.

Almost 10,000 soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines will take part in the test of tactical concepts for joint operations by an amphibious landing and airborne assault.

MAJOR MEDICARE BILLS BEFORE 89TH CONGRESS

(Editor's Note: The following is presented as a public service by The Pontiac Press)

Byrnes' Bill	Curtis-Herlong and Hall "Eldercare" Bills (Identical)	Administration Bill
Bill Proposed by John W. Byrnes, Wis. Rep.
	HOSPITAL BENEFITS
	Room and Board, Ancillary Services
Pays all charges for room and board or nursing home up to $1,000, without a deductible, and 80% of all other charges, subject to a deductible of $25 and a lifetime maximum of $40,000.*	Benefits could include comprehensive hospital and nursing home services.	Pays "reasonable costs" for 60 days of hospital care and 60 days of nursing home care following hospitalization, subject to a deductible of one day ($40) of hospital care.
	Hospital Outpatient Diagnostic Services
Pays 80% of all charges.	No such limitation as required in Administration bill.	Pays "reasonable costs" in excess of $20 each 30 days.
	Surgeons' Fees, Doctors' Visits, Specialists' Fees, etc.
Pays 80% of all charges.	Extent of coverage would depend upon the type of contract between the States and private insurance carriers, but in most instances the coverage would be complete.	Nothing.
	Private Nursing Care
Pays 80% of all charges.	Same provision as above.	Nothing.
	Drugs and Incidentals
Pays 80% of all charges.	Same provision as above.	Pays "reasonable costs" of drugs supplied by hospital or nursing home during 60-day confinement periods.
*An insured individual must pay the first $50 of allowable expenses (exclusive of the first $1,000 of hospital and room and board expenses) in any year. Only $25 of this deductible may be charged against allowable hospital expenses.
	Mental Health Services
Pays 80% of all charges.	Same provision as above.	Nothing.
	NON-HOSPITAL BENEFITS
	Physicians' Services
Pays 80% of all charges.	Same provision as above.	Nothing.
	Prescribed Drugs
Pays 80% of all charges.	Same provision as above.	Nothing.
	Services in Physicians' Offices
Pays 80% of all charges for diagnosis, treatment, minor surgery, X-Ray, fluoroscopic or electrocardiogram (EKG) examination and laboratory tests.	Same provision as above. Similarly, these bills would pay for rental of medical equipment, physical therapy, prosthetic devices, mental health services and home health services to the extent called for in the contract between the State and the insurance firms. In most instances, coverages would be comprehensive.	Nothing.
	Rental of Medical Equipment
Pays all fees up to 80% for rental of iron lung, oxygen tent, hospital bed, wheelchair, etc.	See above.	Nothing.
	Physical Therapy (under medical direction)
Pays 80% of all charges.	See above.	Nothing.
	Prosthetic Devices
Pays 80% of all charges.	See above.	Nothing.
	Mental Health Services
Pays 50% of all charges subject to a maximum payment of $250.	See above.	Nothing.
	Home Health Services
Pays 80% of all charges.	See above.	Pays for 240 home health (visiting nurse) visits.
	How Financed
The Byrnes program would be financed to the extent of $2 billion from general Federal revenues. An additional $1 billion would be contributed by participants in the program at an average cost to each of about $6 per month. Participation would be voluntary.	Program would be financed by Federal general funds matched by State funds, with the Federal payment ranging between 52.5 per cent and 84 per cent. Persons over 65 would buy a wide range of health services through private insurance firms. They would pay all, part, or none of the premium costs, depending upon income as determined by the State plan. The cost of the program would depend upon States' utilization, but far less than the Administration's plan, even if fully used. Program is voluntary.	The Administration's program would cost an estimated $2 billion for the first year to be financed by an increase in the Social Security tax. Thus, the program would be compulsory. If new benefits were added, as they unquestionably will be by future Congresses, the Social Security tax would be still further increased.

Columnist's TV Premiere Panned Out Well by Pals

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I appeared on a TV soap opera the other day—in ABC's "Flame in the Wind"—and frankly, my fan mail hasn't been quite as mountainous as I'd expected.

WILSON

There were just those two postcards from people in Ohio who never liked me anyhow, and a wire from Groucho Marx saying "You have never been any better than you were yesterday, and let's face it, you never will be."

But it was revealing to me that a live TV soap opera's still being done here in New York. There isn't much live TV drama any more as there was in the good old days of "Robert Montgomery Presents" — and it may be that this taping and filming procedure used now has made all the actors soft.

"You'll be seen by about 4½ million housewives, but don't let that make you nervous," director Robert Myrhum told me.

"Don't you nervous about me getting worry," I replied calmly.

★ ★ ★

"I can see you're going to be all right," he said. "The thing is, some people forget that they can't do it over when they're on live TV. If you make a mistake, you've got egg on your face before 4½ million people, and you can't erase it."

★ ★ ★

"You can't scare an old pro like me," I quipped. "But there is a rather difficult speech here that you might help me with."

"All your lines will be difficult—for you," he said, kidding of course.

"The speech I refer to," I said, "is this one where I have to say, 'Hello, Frank.'"

"I thought you were going to ask me about one of your longer speeches—with three or four words," he said.

★ ★ ★

Well, it was one laugh after another like that all afternoon, right through the dress rehearsal, and when I finally met Kathleen Maguire, the beautiful star of "the soap," as we pros call them, she was so impressive with my performance that she said, "Where have you been all these years?"

"She meant that you obviously haven't been around any TV studios," the director explained helpfully.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

George Burns and Jack Benny saw "The Odd Couple," want to do it in stock. (Carol Channing's Rainbow Rm. party for them brought out Johnny Carson, Victor Borge and Janet Leigh) . . . George Kirby sparkled in a fine act at the Copa; singer Shani Wallis is a shapely, beautiful English girl who earned great applause.

English Taxes Stall Model T

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — Fred Stugard drove his 1915 Model T off the Queen Elizabeth Tuesday and ran into a tax roadblock.

The customs men told him: "You can't bring her in unless you pay taxes — 25 per cent sales tax, 25 per cent import tax, 15 per cent import surcharge."

★ ★ ★

"But this is antique and antiques are free of taxes," the 46-year-old geologist from New York argued.

★ ★ ★

"Not so," said the customs officer. "An article must be 100 years old before it is classed as antique and the Tin Lizzie wasn't even invented then."

An argument on the Model T's value followed.

HIGH TAX

Stugard said he paid $2,800 for the car. But he didn't see why he should pay tax on all that when it was sold 50 years ago for only $375.

★ ★ ★

A valuation expert was called from London. But before he arrived a solution was found — Stugard didn't have to pay a penny.

"I've been based in Britain some time and they were taking me as a resident," he said.

"But when they examined my passport more closely they found that with holidays on the Continent taken into account I've spent less than 12 months here in the past two years.

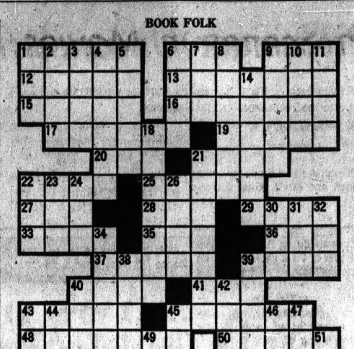

★ ★ ★

"That means I haven't established residence and they've let the Lizzie in tax-free on a year's visitor's permit."

SHOVE OFF

That settled, Stugard set off for London. Lizzie proved a reluctant starter so the customs men helped him on with a shove.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Cape Kennedy Workers Back

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Building trades workers returned to vital construction jobs here today after the sixth work stoppage caused by labor problems in 14 months.

★ ★ ★

Local 803 of the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union, which is not involved in work here, withdrew picket lines late Tuesday after they had crippled construction for two days. More than 4,200 of 5,000 union building trades workers had refused to cross the lines.

★ ★ ★

Richard H. Frank, an attorney for Local 803, said "Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds will hold a meeting Sunday in Washington with representatives of the plumbers union to see if this matter can't be resolved. "In consideration of this fact, the union has agreed to withdraw the picket lines."

★ ★ ★

Local 803 seeks to become bargaining agent for employes of Harper Plumbing and Heating Co., of Winter Park, which has two subcontracts at the missile base.

'Coronadoes' Cut a Record

The Coronadoes, a musical group consisting of four Waterford Township youths, has made a record which will be released soon by the London Record Co., Ltd.

★ ★ ★

The recording is "Zig Zag," backed by "If You Want My Love Around."

Two years ago while playing together as high school students, the Coronadoes won first place at the Michigan State Fair's battle of the bands.

Since becoming professional entertainers, the Coronadoes have had several out-of-state engagements. They will leave this week for a night-club engagement in Macon, Ga.

★ ★ ★

The group consists of Bill Goddard, Jerry Schemel, Bob Stayton and Ricky Stockwell. Jerry's father, Cecil L. Schemel is their manager.

4th, 5th Bills Signed Into Law by Romney

LANSING (AP) — The fourth and fifth bills of the current legislative session were signed into law Tuesday by Gov. George Romney. One would permit sale of revenue bonds for construction of automobile parking lots or structures. The other would permit the paying of funeral expenses in cases of simultaneous deaths of spouses.

Plans Canoe Trip to Hawaii

Ex-Marine to Sail Like Ancient Polynesians

HONOLULU (UPI) — A 29-year-old adventurer from Winston-Salem, N.C., is preparing to sail a canoe from Tahiti to Hawaii, primarily to find out how the ancient Polynesians managed to survive such voyages.

Robert L. Webb, an ex-Marine who has prospected for gold in Panama, driven the Alcan Highway in the dead of winter and cruised the upper reaches of the Amazon River, said he will make the voyage with two companions but without conventional navigation equipment or engines.

"We'll make the voyage like the Polynesians made it," said Webb.

He is convinced that everyone has a built-in sense of time and direction that in most people goes undeveloped.

★ ★ ★

He hopes to develop his own sense of time and direction during the voyage to enable him to find Hawaii at the end of the 2,500-mile voyage.

DOUBLE CANOE

Webb will be making the trip in a double-canoe, similar to those used by the Polynesian navigators — except that the hulls of his canoes were carved from mahogany logs in Panama.

The canoes are each 41 feet long and three and a half feet wide, and Webb admits that "the lines aren't Polynesian but they look good to me. They cost him $100 each plus the cost of shipping them to Tahiti.

★ ★ ★

"The whole thing will be lashed together with sennit (cocoanut fiber rope). There won't be a nail on the vessel."

★ ★ ★

His plans call for the two hulls to be lashed side by side with a platform bridging the gap. There will be two masts, sails and a steering oar.

NAVIGATION SYSTEM

Webb won't go into details about the navigation system he plans to use "because I'm in competition with some Frenchman from Tahiti who wants to do the same thing."

"The basic plan is to sail north-northeast until we reach the latitude of Hawaii . . . then we'll sail west on that latitude until we strike the islands," he said.

★ ★ ★

Since he won't have a compass, Webb hopes to tell direction "by the sun and the stars."

Debate Competition

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Debate teams from 17 high schools will meet Friday at the 48th annual state championship at the University of Michigan. The competition will decide which teams will return for the final round April 23.

Producer Preminger Unconcerned With Popularity, Just Work

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sticks and stones may break Otto Preminger's bones — but being called names doesn't seem to hurt him.

BOYLE

Or, if it does, he doesn't show it.

The controversial film producer is admitted even by most of his critics to be a genius. But as a result of his caustic tantrums and his ability to reduce both stars and underlings to resentful pools of jellied ego, he sometimes is called a tyrant and such nicknames as "The Terrible-Tempered Mr. Preminger" and "Otto the Sweet."

At the moment film circles are being titillated by an article in a women's magazine inquiring as to whether he is the "most hated man in the movie industry."

NONCOMMITTAL

On this question Otto himself is icily noncommittal.

"I refuse to answer on the grounds that I don't want to incriminate other people," he remarked drily.

"It makes no difference. What people think of me personally doesn't interest me. I'm not running for public office or engaged in a popularity contest.

★ ★ ★

"I never object to what people say about me. I'm interested only in what they think of my work."

The theater and films have been the passion of Preminger's life since he abandoned a law career in Vienna as a youth. He has worked as actor, writer, director and producer, and now prefers the lone wolf role because it satisfies his strongly independent nature.

★ ★ ★

"I produce and direct my pictures," he said, "because if the producer and director have a fight I always win — since I am both.

GREAT JOY

"I don't have to do what other people tell me. This is a great joy, for to me life means self-expression."

At 58 Otto, a man with iceberg eyes, a Hapsburg lip and a pink head shaven like Yul Brynner's, has made his devotion to his work pay off. He likes luxury and surrounds himself with it.

He has a gourmet's taste for fine food and wines, lives in a showplace home on the East Side here, collects expensive modern art.

★ ★ ★

Now he makes about one picture a year and plans it as methodically as a general going into battle. He likes to people his pictures with stars.

From script to final cutting every aspect of the picture bears his individual stamp.

"The biggest problem is still to find scripts that will entertain a diverse worldwide audience," he said. "I just figure that if a story interests me it will interest everyone."

SELF-CONFIDENCE

His monumental self-confidence has paid off. Most of his films have made money, a fact which interests Otto because he gets a share of the profits plus a fee of around $400,900 for each picture.

"I am a relatively happy man, however," Otto said, "because I have educated myself not to become too overjoyed by success or too depressed by failure.

★ ★ ★

"Success is only important because it gives you the means to continue your work; failure, because it makes you take another look — to improve your work.

★ ★ ★

"But you must keep a sense of perspective and realize that what is important to you may not be a problem to the whole world. Most tensions in life come from overrating the importance of yourself and your problems. A sense of humor is better than any psychoanalyst."

Asked what he regarded as his own greatest personal defect was, Otto smiled blandly and replied:

"My biggest fault is that I never think of my faults. But to pursue my virtues would be a completely futile chase."

State Senate OKs Senior Citizen Tax Exemption Bill

LANSING (AP) — The Senate passed with only one dissent an estimated $13.5 million senior citizens property tax exemption bill yesterday and sent it back to face House members, some of them angry over significant cuts in the measure.

After an afternoon and evening of caucuses, committee meetings and strategy huddles, the Senate threw a renters' provision out and put an income ceiling into the House - passed bill, whose cost had been pegged at $21 million to $40 million.

Senate leaders said they expected the House to concur in the changes.

But House Floor Leader J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, said he'd fight elimination of benefits to renters.

The measure faces an uncertain future once it reaches the desk of Gov. George Romney, who had asked legislators to hold up action until his commission on senior citizens tax relief had reported.

FINAL REPORT

The commission reportedly met yesterday to draft its final report. A governor's aide indicated the report might be in Romney's hands by today.

The Senate bill grants a property tax exemption of the first $2,500 of state-equalized valuation of any home assessed at $10,000 or less and owned by a person at least 65 years old who has lived in Michigan seven years and earns less than $5,000 annually.

Taxation committee chairman Sen. George Fitzgerald, D-Grosse Pointe, said about 172,000 housing units would be covered by the bill. Each would receive an average annual exemption of about $90.

★ ★ ★

The state will save between $1.2 million and $2 million on the tax exemptions now granted veterans and their widows, who will switch to the more lucrative senior citizens exemption, said Fitzgerald.

Democrats immediately hailed the bill as one of the most important ever passed by the Senate and the culmination of years of effort.

Sen. Garry Brown, R-Schoolcraft, the only senator who voted "no," said the Senate should have waited for Romney's commission report and ought to have been more certain of how the tax exemption would be financed.

The bill provides that the state repay local jurisdictions for tax revenues lost by the exemptions.

★ ★ ★

The bill will not take effect until Jan. 1, 1966, and the state will repay no local unit until sometime after July 1966. Thus, Romney's proposed 1965-66 budget is unaffected by the bill.

Planes Hit N. Viet; No Indication Raids Retaliation for Blast

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—A hail of Viet Cong fire brought down three American helicopters over central Viet Nam today killing two American crewmen and

Some 45 American and Vietnamese fighter-bombers attacked four radar stations in North Viet Nam.

One U.S. Air Force F100 jet was shot down, but the pilot parachuted to land and was rescued unhurt, a military spokesman said.

There was no indication that the raid on North Viet Nam was in retaliation for the Viet Cong bombing of the U.S. Embassy in Saigon yesterday.

The targets were all in the area of Vinh, a coastal city about 160 miles north of the 17th Parallel and the same distance south of Hanoi.

LOCATIONS OF TARGETS

They were Cu Lao, 10 miles northeast of Vinh; Ha Tinh, 40 miles southeast of Vinh, and the islands of Hon Nieu and Hon Matt, both off shore from Vinh.

South Vietnamese troops appeared to be engaged in another major battle with the Communists for the hill-top redoubt at Viet An, commanding the approach to Tam Ky, capital of Quang Tin Province.

51 Dead in Air Crash

Three Survive Tragedy Near African Coast

54 Persons Aboard Spanish Airliner; 47 Bodies Recovered

TANGIER, Morocco (AP) — A twin-engined Iberia Airlines plane plunged into the sea today a few minutes before it was scheduled to land in Tangier and 51 of the 54 persons aboard apparently died.

A fishing vessel picked up three badly injured passengers.

Three Spanish fishing boats picked up 47 bodies, said a report from Gibraltar, across the Strait from Tangier.

The pilot called the Tangier control tower shortly before the crash. At that time nothing out of the ordinary was mentioned. He was supposed to call back but did not.

★ ★ ★

The Spanish fishing ship Vergen de Carmilo radioed that it had picked up the three survivors. The Convair plane carried 49 passengers and five crew members.

48 PASSENGERS

Iberia officials said it was believed the 49 passengers aboard included 36 Swedes, 11 Germans and two Britons.

The Convair had flown from Malaga, a mecca for Swedish tourists on the southern coast of Spain. It was preparing to land at Tangier, on Morocco's northern coast.

Cities Need Voice, Says Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey urged the nation's mayors and other city officials today to throw their support behind the proposal to give cities a voice in the President's Cabinet.

America's ever-growing cities are facing a "time of great decision," and need such a voice, he said, in a speech prepared for a legislative conference of the National League of Cities.

As he spoke, hearings were under way in the Senate on an administration-backed bill which would create a new department of housing and urban development.

This would be done by raising the status of the existing federal Housing and Home Finance Agency.

"Almost every group in this country has a voice at the Cabinet level in this government: but not the city," Humphrey said. "That is wrong. I ask you to exert your influence in support of this bill."

POINTS UP PROBLEMS

Humphrey pointed up the problems confronting the cities, mainly a result of burgeoning growth.

He said the suburbs must swell to absorb another 30 million people in the next 10 years.

The growth rate has forced state and local governments to go heavily into debt — more than doubling in 10 years — to pay for services and facilities, the vice president said.

TB Patients' Transfer Gains State Support

A recommendation last week by Oakland County's board of institutions to transfer TB patients to Detroit facilities gained some state level support yesterday.

Dr. John L. Isbister, TB control officer for the State Health Department, told three Oakland County health and welfare officials that eventually the county will have to get out of the tubercular care business.

The general trend toward TB care was to the regional center concept, Dr. Isbister said.

In the Detroit area this would include Detroit's Herman Kiefer Hospital and the Maybury Sanatorium in Northville.

Meeting with Dr. Isbister in Lansing were Dr. Bernard Berman, Oakland County health director; George Williams, county welfare department director; and Thomas O'Donaghue a member of the county's newly created board of institutions.

★ ★ ★

The county group had sought advice from state officials on what to do with the remaining 63 patients at the Oakland County TB Sanatorium in Waterford Township.

BUILDING SALE

Sale of the building on Cooley Lake Road to the Oakland Community College was authorized last January by the board of supervisors.

Remodeling of the building was to start tomorrow with classes slated to begin next September.

Dr. Isbister told the county group that patients could be transferred to the county's Medical Care Facility without losing state TB subsidies if the center met certain qualifications.

★ ★ ★

The original plan was to transfer patients to the county facility but in view of the crowded facilities there it was later recommended to use the Detroit facilities.

MARCH THREATENED

Patients still housed at the Oakland County TB Sanitorium, claiming they were told they would be transferred to the Medical Care Facility, have threatened a protest march on the county courthouse if a decision is made to transfer them outside Oakland County.

The ways and means committee of the board of supervisors was to make a final decision today on the fate of the patients.

High-Speed Chase Ends With a Bang!

A high - speed chase through the streets of Pontiac early this morning ended on Lee Court with a bang.

The pursuit of an alleged stolen car driven by Larry Glass, 24, of 254 Josephine, began at Oakland and Wide Track. Three city police cars took part.

During the chase Patrolman Harold Kunkle noticed the brakes on his 1964 police car had faded and were not holding.

At the dead end of Lee, suspect Larry Glass stopped the car he was driving. Patrolman Jerry Pointer stopped his patrol car behind Glass.

Kunkle? Well, Kunkle applied his brakes and continued into the rear of the police car ahead of him.

Seek Return of Hoffa Check

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UPI)—Petitions were to be distributed to members of Teamsters Union Local 612 today requesting union boss James Hoffa to ask Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., to return a check for $25,000.

"Jimmy Hoffa has stabbed us in the back," a rank-and-file member said last night after Hoffa presented King the check to aid in the Negro civil rights movement.

The union member said the petition would be distributed throughout Alabama.

"We supported him (Hoffa) when he was having his troubles with Bobby (Sen. Robert Kennedy) and now he is sticking a knife in our backs by giving that check to King," the member said.

★ ★ ★

He said neither Hoffa nor the international union had any authority to support King or the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Romney's Best Move Seen in Third Term

LANSING (UPI) — The chairmen of Michigan's two major political parties agreed last night Republican George Romney's best political move in 1966 would be to seek a third term as governor.

But GOP Chairman Mrs. Elly Peterson and Democratic Chairman Zolton A. Ferency were completely at odds as to whether or not Romney was qualified to be president.

Ferency, a long-time Romney antagonist, said, if elected, the governor would be "the second most poorly qualified president in this century, with Eisenhower being first. Election of Romney as the chief executive of the United States would be "a national tragedy," Ferency said.

Mrs. Peterson said Romney has proven himself in many fields of endeavor and that "if a man has the equalitis of success, he has the background to be a good president.

Ferency argued Romney "started into politics much too late to set his eye on the presidential chair." The two political chairmen exchanged views in a debate before the Central Michigan chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, a professional journalism society.

★ ★ ★

On the question of 1966, Mrs. Peterson and Ferency concurred that Romeny would be making a mistake if he were to give up his present job to try for a seat in the U.S. Senate.

STRONGER BID

Ferency said Romney would be in a far stronger position to bid for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination as a third term governor than as a junior senator with only two years experience.

Sharpen Up Driving Skill

Safe driving is no accident.

Area motorists will be able to prove this to themselves by attending a voluntary traffic school opening at 7:30 p.m. April 8 in the city's public safety building, 110 E. Pike.

The school, the first of its kind in the area, is sponsored by the Pontiac Police Department, the Automobile Club of Michigan and The Pontiac Press.

It is geared to show drivers how to avoid accidents—and traffic tickets.

★ ★ ★

The school is designed to update drivers on the latest traffic laws and driving skills necessary for today's complex traffic and high-speed roads.

Such topics as driver attitude, car maintenance, speed, how to signal for turns and maneuvering, freeway driving and pedestrian safety will be covered.

Each school or class will last 75 minutes.

The opening night school will have a special program.

Acting Police Chief William Hanger of the Pontiac Police Department and Harold Heumann, manager of the Auto Club's Pontiac Division office, will address the school.

FIRST SESSION

Reyniear Staats, special project coordinator for the Auto Club's safety and traffic division will conduct the first night's session.

'Seek a City Saint'—5

Prayer: Balance Wheel

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fifth of seven excerpts from Methodist minister David Head's book "Seek a City Saint." The excerpts are appearing each week in The Pontiac Press during Lent.)

By DAVID HEAD
(Distributed by NEA)

It was all very well for Wordsworth to enjoy so much working leisure "away from it all." You remember:

"It was a beauteous evening, calm and still,
The holy time was quiet as a nun
Breathless with adoration."

But 7 a.m. brings the dash to work, and concentrated work is punctured with interruptions, and dull work is punctured with music, and the lunch break is cut short to make "more time" later, and 5 p.m. is the rush hour, and evenings are never long enough, and the best television programs are late, and to get to the country is too much effort after a day's work, and at the weekend everybody else has the same idea, and when we get to management level we have the worry as well as the work . . . When were you last calm and still?

In such a world the city saint is to let his ordered life confess the beauty of God's peace. It takes some doing.

We sometimes grumble that churches are tranquil, but most city churches lay on the layman more and more jobs, or more and more bouts of conscience for not doing them, until the ungodly hours are breathless with exertion.

Quick Action Expected

Await LBJ Request for Embassy Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson may forward to Congress today his request for authority and funds to build a new American embassy in Saigon.

There is no reason to doubt that Congress will do what the President wants — swiftly comply with his request.

Johnson announced his intention in a statement issued late Tuesday afternoon, about 18 hours after terrorists' explosives heavily damaged the embassy in the South Viet Nam capital.

"The terrorist outrage aimed at the American Embassy in Saigon shows us once again what the struggle in Viet Nam is about," the statement said.

"This wanton act of ruthlessness has brought death and serious injury to innocent Vietnamese citizens in the street as well as to American and Vietnamese personnel on duty."

★ ★ ★

It is not known if the presidential statement is the extent of the American response to the attack.

Informed sources discounted any immediate attack on Hanoi, the capital of North Viet Nam.

Officials said the statement indicated no special retaliatory action was being planned.

Before it was issued, Johnson conferred for 2½ hours with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant to the President for national security affairs. The four meet every week, and their luncheon session had been scheduled in advance of Monday night's explosion.

EXPECTED TO CONFER

Late today Johnson is expected to confer with Maxwell D. Taylor, the American ambassador to Saigon who has been in Washington for consultation since last Sunday.

Before Johnson's statement was released, White House press secretary George E. Reedy said when asked about the possibility of retaliatory air strikes: "I wouldn't speculate on the future right now."

★ ★ ★

Reedy said in response to another question, "I don't know of any long delay" in a Johnson-Taylor meeting. There have been rumors of policy differences between the two.

The embassy, a five-story building that sits on a corner flush with the street, has been a favorite target of antigovernment insurgents since American warplanes began a series of bombing raids against North Viet Nam Feb. 7. The 14th attack was staged Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

The explosion at the embassy punched a gaping hole in the building, shattered every window and left an enormous crater in the street.

★ ★ ★

Central JP Court Due in City Shortly

A central justice of the peace court, designed to save time and money, will be put into operation in downtown Pontiac within a month.

★ ★ ★

Suggested by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson, the court will serve only those justices in communities north of 14 Mile Road.

The court will be conducted in the old Board of Supervisors auditorium in the county annex office building, 1 Lafayette.

Preliminary examinations and trials in contested state law cases will only be heard in the new court. A different justice will sit in morning and afternoon sessions each day.

The court already has received endorsement of the Justices of the Peace Association.

SOME DISAGREE

Orion Township Justice Helmar Stanaback, president, said that, while he believes the court will benefit all parties involved, the plan has not been accepted by all members of the association.

"Some are opposed because they feel we are taking the court away from the people," he said.

Bronson devised the one-court plan because his 15 assistant prosecutors were spending "far too much time on the road" traveling to and from justice courts.

There are 72 justice and municipal courts in Oakland County, "more than in any other county in the state," said Bronson. "My staff is being spread too thin.

CRITICAL

"When there is a jury term, the manpower problem is critical. There have been days when five men are assigned to circuit court cases and seven or eight before justices or municipal judges.

"That leaves only a couple of men in the office to serve the general public, issue warrants and consult with court officials on pending cases."

Only one assistant prosecutor will be needed each day in the new court, according to Bronson.

He noted, however, that it will still be necessary to assign an assistant to municipal court cases.

The central court, said Bronson, is only a stop gap measure until a county-wide court system is established under the new state constitution.

REPLACEMENT

The new system will replace the justices of the peace in about three years. The state legislature has not yet determined how the county-wide system will be set-up.

Bronson said he had hoped that justice court would have been placed in operation in a couple weeks, but there has been a delay in equipping the new facility.

The prosecutor's staff will not be the only ones to save time.

★ ★ ★

"It will make it much easier for us," said Sheriff Frank Irons. "With the court only a block away from the jail, we won't have to shuttle prisoners to hearings throughout the county."

The court space was made available by the Oakland County Board of Auditors.

Daniel T. Murphy, board chairman, called the plan "worthwhile" and one that should provide a savings to taxpayers.

He said that it would be impossible to estimate the savings until the court was in operation for a while.

into the battle zone despite the intense fire from automatic weapons and rifles.

★ ★ ★

One source said the Viet Cong may also have used 57mm recoilless rifles and mortars against the landing zone, indicating an ambush for the airborne mission had been laid.

RETURN TO OFFICES

In Saigon, U.S. Embassy personnel returned to their bomb-battered offices under the protection of tight security measures.

Only about half of the embassy staff was at work, and many of those were heavily bandaged.

Two more Vietnamese died of injuries suffered in yesterday's Communist terrorists' attack, bringing the casualty toll to two Americans and 18 Vietnamese dead; 65 Americans and nearly 100 Vietnamese wounded.

★ ★ ★

Eleven Americans were under treatment in the U.S. Navy Hospital. Seven other Americans, either seriously wounded or requiring specialists' care, were flown to Clark Air Base in the Philippines.

ACCESS ROUTES

Access routes to the five-story embassy building were closed or patrolled by steel-helmeted police. Security was extremely tight.

A police source said the street where the blast occurred might be permanently closed to traffic.

An "elaborate closing of the barn door, one day too late," said one security officer.

★ ★ ★

There was bitterness in some circles over the failure to take extraordinary security precautions earlier in view of detailed intelligence reports telling how the Viet Cong planned to blast the embassy.

FOR THREE WEEKS

Police sources said the plan had been known to both Vietnamese and American authorities for three weeks.

Current intelligence reports said Viet Cong terrorist squads have been assigned to blast the U. S. Information Agency building and a four-building bachelor officers quarters in Cholon, the Chinese section of Saigon.

U. S. Embassy spokesman Barry Zorthian said units from a 400-man U.S. Army military police detachment which recently landed in Saigon would be used to give additional protection to the embassy.

Probe of Klan Gathers Steam

WASHINGTON (AP) — An extensive congressional investigation aimed at ripping the white cloaks of secrecy from the Ku Klux Klan was under way today, presumably with a big assist from the FBI.

The formal investigation was launched immediately after the House Committee on Un-American Activities voted unanimously Tuesday that a probe was needed.

Committee Chairman Edwin E. Willis, D-La., and Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., the committee member who originally demanded the investigation, estimated it would take several weeks of spadework before hearings.

"It's going to require intensive and extensive investigation to prepare for the hearings," said one source.

"We want to know who they are; how many there are; where they are; what's their objectives; what's their allegiance."

WELCOMED

At Natchez, Miss., E. L. McDaniel, grand dragon of the Mississippi Realm of the United Klans of America, said he "welcomed an investigation of the KKK." He said he hoped Willis "has not formed an opinion before investigating the truth."

President Johnson, in suggesting congressional investigations of the Klan, promised help from the FBI, Justice Department and other government agencies.

The committee already has approached the Justice Department and a committee source said the length of the investigation may depend on how much help the Justice Department, the FBI and other agencies may be able to give.

Thus, while the President was getting in short order the investigation he asked for, the Justice Department was facing up to the difficulties of coming up with legislation he requested to control Klan activities.

DIFFICULT

Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach told some Negro students about it Tuesday: "It's difficult to get any meaningful legislation against the organization. It would be better if we could make it easier for the federal government to prosecute individuals for specific crimes, possibly with heavier penalties than we now have. But we haven't made any decision yet."

★ ★ ★

Katzenbach and his top aides are said to be wary of any law that would attempt to make Klan membership a crime or to require klansmen to register with the government and disclose their activities.

They know by experience the difficulties in enforcing the Internal Security Act of 1950, aimed at forcing disclosure of Communist party membership and finances.

Freed on Bond in Auto Deaths

A 36-year-old Owosso man was arraigned in Troy Municipal Court yesterday on a charge of negligent homicide in connection with a Monday auto accident that took the lives of a Troy mother and two of her daughters and left a third daughter critically injured.

Erwin F. Meiers was released on $1,000 bond after demanding examination before Judge Charles Losey. A hearing is slated April 19.

Meiers is accused of running flashing stop lights while eastbound on Long Lake Road in Troy Monday afternoon, striking a car driven north on Crooks Road by Mrs. Warren F. David, 42, of 825 E. Square Lake.

Mrs. David and her 6-year-old daughter, Melody, died within two hours after the crash, at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Another daughter, 18-month-old Carmen Tami, died shortly before 11 a.m. yesterday.

The third daughter, Tessie David, 5, remains in critical condition at Beaumont today.

State Pastor Owes Apology, Says Aide

Rev. Carl R. Sayers should apologize to the Episcopal bishop of Birmingham, Ala., for urging him to resign, according to Alabama's Episcopal coadjutor.

The coadjutor, Bishop George M. Murray, made the statement yesterday after the Rev. Mr. Sayers, pastor of St. Stephens Episcopal Church in Birmingham, Mich., sent a letter to the Rt. Rev. C. C. J. Carpenter.

The Rev. Mr. Sayers described the Birmingham, Ala., bishop as "a wolf to the pack of Christ" for denouncing the civil rights march on Montgomery.

Murray, in saying Sayers should apologize to Carpenter, said the Alabama bishop had managed to get a Birmingham, Ala., church "to conform to the church canon on desegregation without either splitting or closing the church.

"I believe the man who has made the accusation owes Carpenter an apology."

Carpenter, meanwhile, said he stands behind his denunciation of the march.

'GREAT COST'

Carpenter had called the march "a foolish business and sad waste of time in which the childish instinct to parade at great cost to our state will be indulged."

Monday, Sayers urged Carpenter to "submit your resignation to the House of Bishops and seek from God his forgiveness for your abdication of moral and spiritual leadership in Alabama."

Bloomfield Twp. Session to Discuss Tax for Roads

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The possibility of setting up a special tax levy for a long-range road improvement program will be discussed at a meeting here Tuesday.

Township Board members have called together representatives of the 91 subdivision associations in the township to determine voter sentiment on financing such a project through a millage increase.

Supervisor Homer Case has noted 1 mill would net about $158,000 annually in the township. If matched by the county, the sum could be used to build about four miles of hard-surfaced roads.

At the rate of four miles a year, it would take the township five years to pave its 20 miles of collector roads, he said.

★ ★ ★

TOWNSHIP LEVIES

Besides a 1-mill levy for its library, the township now is collecting 2 mills voted extra and due to expire in 1966.

From this a half-mill each is allotted to the fire department, police department, building fund and road improvement.

The last of these is used with county matching funds.

★ ★ ★

"If we had an additional amount for maintenance as well as for the matching fund, we would take care of these roads one at a time," Township Clerk Deloris V. Little said.

EAST SIDE

Officials have indicated work is most urgently required on Eastways and other roads on the east side of the township which have been most seriously affected by the construction of I-75.

"Just to grade them doesn't really help," Mrs. Little said. "It would be better if we can go in there and do the job properly — take one at a time and blacktop them."

Included in the list of raids needing immediate attention are Ward, Inkster, Squirrel, Lahser, Hickory Grove, 14 Mile, Walnut Lake, Kensington and Lone Pine from Inkster to Franklin.

Mrs. Little said the board hoped each of the 91 subdivision associations would send a representative to the 8 p.m. meeting Tuesday, although she noted all of the subdivisions in the township don't have associations.

Selection of Jury in Second Day at Fire-Death Trial

Selecting a jury in the first-degree murder trial of Harry M. Belcher of Ferndale was to have resumed today in Oakland County Circuit Court.

Attempts to seat a jury yesterday failed after all prospective jurors were dismissed by peremptory challenges by defense attorney John McIntosh or by Circuit Judge Philip Pratt on the grounds that they had opinions in the case.

Belcher, 32, is accused of murdering his wife, Catherine, 35, who, with their six children, died in a house fire Jan. 25.

Authorities charge Belcher with starting the fire.

You think I exaggerate? I hope I do. Somehow in all this there must be balance and discernment.

Somehow the Holy Spirit must help us create order. Somehow we must accept a heavier burden than activities — that of being a certain sort of person.

Otherwise we may start thinking we are justified by deeds done and distance covered. We may become well-doers-on-strings, and — waiting to give ourselves to people — find there is little of ourselves to give; our manner restless, our time short, our interests small, our company boring, our insights clouded, our energies dissipated, and our attitude idolatrous because we have come to believe that it ALL depends on us.

Yet there are city saints who, even amid the bustle of these days, know the value of a disciplined prayer life. Others are convinced they need it and know how much is lost when they lose it.

★ ★ ★

Prayer is the conscious recognition of God's holy presence and purpose in all life — including the "now" of prayer. This will usually involve the use of words.

WORDS OF SCRIPTURE

We have the words of Scripture to convey God's meaning in events; we are to make a meaningful reply, using words to communicate, to clarify, to commit ourselves.

That makes prayer engagement, as well as withdrawal.

Prayer should no more be remote from life than life itself.

Mature life has a balance of activity and passivity, of giving out and taking in, of rush and rest. Prayer, for all its physical inactivity, is to be seen on both sides of the scales. For a man's inner life is as complex as his outer life, and prayer is private life facing Godwards, as worship is public life facing Godwards.

★ ★ ★

Prayer, as life, needs its pattern; here too, we can help one-another; and here too, the pattern will emerge from our lively contact with God and our world.

'DR. ZHIVAGO'

In Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago," Lara went to church because "she needed the accompaniment of an inward music, and she could not always compose it for prayer. But so does life. Equally needed is the discordant clamor of the secular world.

Prayer is the contrapuntal combination of two not entirely dissimilar melodies — God's holiness and God's world.

Kids Confess Copter Caper

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Jeff Donofrio, Craig Lestmann and Mike Hadsall, fellow fourth-graders at Central Baptist Day School in Anaheim, ran outside at recess to play with Craig's walkie-talkie.

A helicopter flew overhead. On its fuselage was the legend: "U.S. Marines 708."

★ ★ ★

Suddenly Jeff heard a voice say: "This is 708 calling Central."

Quick as a wink, Jeff answered: "Go to San Francisco."

"Shall I call Peterson or will you?" the voice said.

"You call," Jeff answered.

"Okay," said the voice. And off buzzed the helicopter.

BACK AGAIN

Next day — Tuesday — the school secretary became concerned when she noticed the same helicopter hovering over the schoolyard. She called nearby Los Alamitos Naval Air Station to find out what was going on.

"Oh, that aircraft is investigating ground interference with our radio channels," a voice told her.

The report, relayed to the inquisitive schoolchildren, ultimately reached the apprehensive ears of Jeff, 9, Craig, 10, and Mike, also 10.

Fearing the worst, Jeff surrendered himself to school authorities and confessed that he had ordered the helicopter on the unauthorized mission.

A Navy spokesman exonerated the boy, however, explaining that the helicopter was investigating radio interference caused by a metal garage door nearby.

COINCIDENCE

The pilot had exchanged calls with three radio cars on the ground the day before and talked with no one else, the spokesman said. Although Jeff heard the pilot and thought the pilot was responding to his orders, the pilot's replies were simply coincidental, said the Navy.

He never heard Jeff, the spokesman said, and never went to San Francisco, either.

★ ★ ★

But he didn't say if Peterson ever got that call.

Waterford Reveals Plans for Sewers

Pontiac city officials were notified last night that Waterford Township has plans to construct sanitary sewers to serve the area of the West end drain, an area immediately west of the city.

In a letter to the City Commission, Township Supervisor James E. Seeterlin said a meeting is set for Tuesday to "firm up" sewer plans.

Seeterlin said he would meet with Louis Schimmel, county officials and the township's consulting engineers.

The supervisor said the township had encountered legal and financial problems, but indicated the township was aware of the alleged pollution of Crystal Lake.

2-Car Mishap Injures Three

Three Pontiac women were hospitalized last night following a two-car collision at the intersection of Telegraph and Voorheis, Waterford Township.

Reported in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital are the driver Mrs. Irene Lundbeck, 64, of 43 Chippewa, and Hazel Hire, 73, of 100 Miami.

Another passenger, Madge Sturdy, 57, of 220 Starr is listed in satisfactory condition. The accident occurred at 10:41 p.m.

Wilfred Tacey, Jr., 28, of 11 Parkhurst, driver of the other car, was uninjured.

OCC Officials Now Processing Student Forms

Predicting a total enrollment of 3,000 students by the time classes begin Sept. 7, Oakland Community College officials have begun processing some 1,100 student applications.

Additional applications for admission are received daily, said Dr. John E. Tirrell, OCC president.

* * *

College officials plan to open two campuses—Auburn Hills, site of the former Nike missile base, and the former TB Sanatorium — this fall.

Placement tests are being administered to student applicants on Saturdays at Pontiac Northern High School. Students are notified by mail of their test date.

Urge Stricter Bias Policing

Congressman William S. Broomfield of Oakland County's 18th District joined 16 House colleagues and four GOP senators yesterday in calling for stricter policing of what they said is racial discrimination by federal agencies.

Two other Michigan congressmen, Robert Griffin and James Harvey, were among those who issued the joint statement in Washington.

They said they applauded President Johnson's action in calling for a report within 30 days on alleged farm program discrimination against Negroes.

But they said they are afraid this "may turn into the kind of task force-chasing task force operation which gets no farther than the issuance of a report."

The Republicans suggested that, in addition to agriculture department discrimination cited by the Civil Rights Commission, there may be similar bias in operations of the welfare department.

Local Woman Hurt in Auto Collision

A Pontiac woman is in satisfactory condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital after an auto accident yesterday afternoon at Woodward and Earlmoor.

Cenious Turner, 71, of 24 Henry Clay is in satisfactory condition after the collision.

The Turner car collided with a vehicle driven by Geraldine White, 402 Midway.

Whitmer to Back Buying Site for Elementary School

Supt. of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer tomorrow night will recommend that the Pontiac School Board purchase a new elementary school site near East South Boulevard and Woodward.

* * *

The recommendation will be made when the board gathers at the school administration building for its regularly scheduled meeting at 7:30 p.m.

The new school site would be in a proposed housing project lying south of South Blvd. and east of Woodward.

Developer Charles L. Langs has informed the school district that he intends to begin construction on the 238-unit project as soon as weather permits.

* * *

Langs has asked the school board to make a decision on the proposed purchase at tomorrow night's meeting.

RECOMMENDS SITE

Whitmer said he recommends purchasing a school site within the subdivision for several reasons.

Existing elementary schools are more than a mile from the area.

Without a site in the subdivision, children would be forced to travel a hazardous route to school.

* * *

Schools in the area are not now capable of handling the added number of children the new project would bring.

150 CHILDREN

According to applications already made for housing in the subdivision, it is believed that there may be as many as 150 elementary children living in the new project.

The board is also scheduled to hear recommendations on bids by contractors for the construction of the addition to the Frost Elementary School.

Bids were received Monday and have been analyzed by the administration and the school architects.

Contract recommendations for 1965-66 for all teachers who are not now on tenure are scheduled to be presented for board action also.

Eulogies to Mrs. Liuzzo

New Dedication From Rights Slaying

DETROIT (UPI)—Civil rights leaders today found new dedication to their cause from the death of Mrs. Viola Gregg Liuzzo.

Mrs. Liuzzo, 39, was shot to death on an Alabama highway after last week's Selma-to-Montgomery protest march. She was buried yesterday in the solemn rites of the Roman Catholic Church.

Her grieving husband and five children were told that her death would not be in vain.

Father James Sheehan, the priest who delivered the eulogy, said Mrs. Liuzzo's death was "a great blessing at the expense of her family.

★ ★ ★

"Today America hurts," he said. "All of us who have pride in what our country stands for are in anguish over the death of Viola Liuzzo."

'OUT OF LOVE. . .'

The priest, head of the Archbishop's Committee for Human Relations, said she went to Alabama and "volunteered to drive on that highway of hate, that highway of hell. She did it out of love. . ."

James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, agreed with Father Sheehan.

"The whole nation, as he said, is hurt. And the challenge facing us is to remove that hurt. This tragic murder should help the nation mobilize toward that goal — equality for all," Farmer said.

★ ★ ★

John Lewis, head of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee, said, "We will continue to work and work harder for the cause for which she died."

NEW PROTESTS

Lewis said he was returning to Alabama, while Farmer said he would go to Jonesville, La., in a few days where he was planning new demonstrations.

Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. leader of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and Nobel Peace Prize winner, said earlier he came to Detroit to tell Mrs. Liuzzo's family "her death was not in vain."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said people like Mrs. Liuzzo are "rare in the world. We should pay our respects to them."

★ ★ ★

"The fact that she might have to sacrifice her life never entered her head," Wilkins said.

AMONG SCORES

The civil rights leaders were among scores of mourners who joined the Liuzzo family for the Requiem High Mass in the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church a low one-story brick building in northwest Detroit.

A choir of about 30 boys sang part of the mass. Afterward, Father Michael J. O'Hara, a priest from a suburban Dearborn parish, led the mourners in singing, "We Shall Overcome," the anthem of the civil rights movement.

Then the funeral procession wound its way to Holy Sepulchre Cemetery where Mrs. Liuzzo was entombed in the mauso-

Dirksen Aids Voting Bill Progress

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A move to expand and "tighten up" the administration's voting rights bill gained strength today with word from Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen that he would support it.

Dirksen planned to meet tomorrow with Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach on several proposed amendments to the measure. He said both he and Katzenbach were interested in getting a bill which "will stand up."

The Illinois Republican indicated there would be amendments to revise the so-called "triggering" section of the bill as well as a change in the provision that only a three-judge District of Columbia federal court could hear appeals from the federal examiner procedure.

As presently written, the bill provides for automatic appointment of federal examiners to register would-be Negro voters with the only avenue of appeal from such a move the D.C. panel of judges.

★ ★ ★

Southerners have charged this procedure is unfair.

HEARINGS CONTINUE

Judiciary committees in both the House and Senate continued public hearings on the bill today. James Farmer, executive director of the Committee for Racial Equality (CORE), was to testify before the House panel; the senators were to hear from Civil Service Commissioner John W. Macy Jr.

Louisiana political leader Leander H. Perez Sr. dominated the Senate committee hearing yesterday until Dirksen angrily forced him to withdraw his charges that a "Communist plan" was behind the voting rights bill.

The GOP Senate leader, who helped draft the bill, said the charge was "about as stupid a statement as I've ever heard."

★ ★ ★

ON HIS OWN

But McKeithen said Perez's comments about a Communist conspiracy were "made on his own."

"I authorized Mr. Perez to present testimony about voter registration in our state," said the governor, who was in Chicago on an industry-hunting expedition.

"Any allegation by Perez that those sponsoring the legislation in question are allied with the Communists was made without my authority."

★ ★ ★

Perez's statements about communism went unchallenged until Dirksen entered the hearing room to hear the Louisiana segregationist say: "Don't you see the Communist plan behind this thinking?"

After telling Perez his statement was "stupid," Dirksen, his face flushed with anger, declared: "It's a reflection on members of the Senate and the lawyers who participated to say this is a Communist plan."

He strongly suggested that Perez withdraw his charges. Perez balked at first, then asked that his remarks be withdrawn from the record.

Perez, who has been excommunicated by the Roman Catholic Church for his segregationist activities, charged that the "hidden purpose" of the voting rights bill was to give voting rights to "hordes of immigrants."

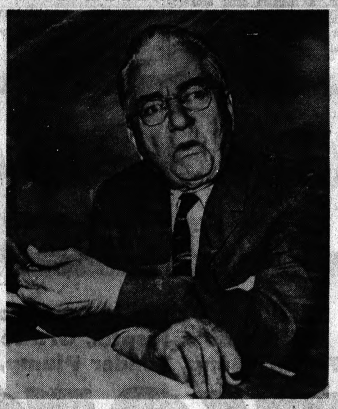

★ ★ ★

He said it constituted a "hand-in-glove deal" with a Communist conspiracy to "impose Negro rule" on the South.

OUR WOMEN

"What do you think will happen in the South when the government imposes Negro rule?" Perez asked. "It is our women we will have to protect, and we will protect them."

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said Perez's testimony "served only to convince more strongly those of us who support this legislation (of) the need for it."

English Taxes Stall Model T

SOUTHAMPTON, England (AP) — Fred Stugard drove his 1915 Model T off the Queen Elizabeth Tuesday and ran into a tax roadblock.

The customs men told him: "You can't bring her in unless you pay taxes — 25 per cent sales tax, 25 per cent import tax, 15 per cent import surcharge."

★ ★ ★

"But this is antique and antiques are free of taxes," the 46-year-old geologist from New York argued.

★ ★ ★

"Not so," said the customs officer. "An article must be 100 years old before it is classed as antique and the Tin Lizzie wasn't even invented then."

An argument on the Model T's value followed.

HIGH TAX

Stugard said he paid $2,800 for the car. But he didn't see why he should pay tax on all that when it was sold 50 years ago for only $375.

★ ★ ★

A valuation expert was called from London. But before he arrived a solution was found — Stugard didn't have to pay a penny.

"I've been based in Britain some time and they were taking me as a resident," he said.

"But when they examined my passport more closely they found that with holidays on the Continent taken into account I've spent less than 12 months here in the past two years.

★ ★ ★

"That means I haven't established residence and they've let the Lizzie in tax-free on a year's visitor's permit."

SHOVE OFF

That settled, Stugard set off for London. Lizzie proved a reluctant starter so the customs men helped him on with a shove.

Columnist's TV Premiere Panned Out Well by Pals

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I appeared on a TV soap opera the other day—in ABC's "Flame in the Wind"—and frankly, my fan mail hasn't been quite as mountainous as I'd expected.

There were just those two postcards from people in Ohio who never liked me anyhow, and a wire from Groucho Marx saying "You have never been any better than you were yesterday, and let's face it, you never will be."

WILSON

But it was revealing to me that a live TV soap opera's still being done here in New York. There isn't much live TV drama any more as there was in the good old days of "Robert Montgomery Presents" — and it may be that this taping and filming procedure used now has made all the actors soft.

"You'll be seen by about 4½ million housewives, but don't let that make you nervous," director Robert Myrhum told me.

"Don't you nervous about me getting worry," I replied calmly.

"I can see you're going to be all right," he said. "The thing is, some people forget that they can't do it over when they're on live TV. If you make a mistake, you've got egg on your face before 4½ million people, and you can't erase it."

"You can't scare an old pro like me," I quipped. "But there is a rather difficult speech here that you might help me with."

"All your lines will be difficult—for you," he said, kidding of course.

"The speech I refer to," I said, "is this one where I have to say, 'Hello, Frank.'"

"I thought you were going to ask me about one of your longer speeches—with three or four words," he said.

Well, it was one laugh after another like that all afternoon, right through the dress rehearsal, and when I finally met Kathleen Maguire, the beautiful star of "the soap," as we pros call them, she was so impressive with my performance that she said, "Where have you been all these years?"

"She meant that you obviously haven't been around any TV studios," the director explained helpfully.

(Carol Channing's Rainbow Rm. party for them brought out Johnny Carson, Victor Borge and Janet Leigh) . . . George Kirby sparkled in a fine act at the Copa; singer Shani Wallis is a shapely, beautiful English girl who earned great applause.

Robert Goulet, opening at the Las Vegas Sahara, told his audience, "When you're through here, go see my wife Carol Lawrence singing at The Sands—we need that diaper money." . . . That's earl, brother.

'Coronadoes' Cut a Record

The Coronadoes, a musical group consisting of four Waterford Township youths, has made a record which will be released soon by the London Record Co., Ltd.

The recording is "Zig Zag," backed by "If You Want My Love Around."

Two years ago while playing together as high school students, the Coronadoes won first place at the Michigan State Fair's battle of the bands.

Since becoming professional entertainers, the Coronadoes have had several out-of-state engagements. They will leave this week for a night-club engagement in Macon, Ga.

The group consists of Bill Goddard, Jerry Schemel, Bob Stayton and Ricky Stockwell. Jerry's father, Cecil L. Schemel is their manager.

4th, 5th Bills Signed Into Law by Romney

LANSING (AP) — The fourth and fifth bills of the current legislative session were signed into law Tuesday by Gov. George Romney. One would permit sale of revenue bonds for construction of automobile parking lots or structures. The other would permit the paying of funeral expenses in cases of simultaneous deaths of spouses.

Cape Kennedy Workers Back

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Building trades workers returned to vital construction jobs here today after the sixth work stoppage caused by labor problems in 14 months.

★ ★ ★

Local 803 of the Plumbers and Pipefitters Union, which is not involved in work here, withdrew picket lines late Tuesday after they had crippled construction for two days. More than 4,200 of 5,000 union building trades workers had refused to cross the lines.

★ ★ ★

Richard H. Frank, an attorney for Local 803, said "Assistant Secretary of Labor James Reynolds will hold a meeting Sunday in Washington with representatives of the plumbers union to see if this matter can't be resolved. "In consideration of this fact, the union has agreed to withdraw the picket lines."

★ ★ ★

Local 803 seeks to become bargaining agent for employes of Harper Plumbing and Heating Co., of Winter Park, which has two subcontracts at the missile base.
