561 Are Killed in Three-Day Holiday Traffic

New Year's Toll Is a Record for Second Straight Weekend

By The Associated Press

The deaths of 561 persons on the nation's highways during the three-day New Year's weekend set a record for the second straight holiday period.

The record toll passed last New Year's traffic death count of 474 early yesterday.

The lowest toll for any New Year's holiday since World War II was 269 during the three-day period of 1949-1950.

The New Year deaths, however, were still far short of the all-time holiday traffic death count of 720 set during the three-day Christmas period.

An Associated Press survey of a nonholiday weekend of the same length as the New Year holiday showed 420 deaths in traffic. The survey was made from 6 p.m. Thursday Dec. 9 to midnight Sunday Dec. 12.

The National Safety Council said the final toll for the New Year weekend could reach 600 if the death pace did not slacken.

State Traffic Story, Page C-4

Before the start of the holiday period, the council had estimated between 360 and 440 persons would be killed during the 78 hours between 6 p.m. local time Thursday to midnight Sunday.

A safety council statement of the New Year record said "It's clear that the nation can't depend on mere horror to terrify drivers into safe highway behavior."

Safety officials also said that there was little comfort that the New Year's toll was less than the Christmas toll, since fewer persons travel on the year-end holiday.

New Year's was the sixth holiday period in recent months to set a national record for traffic deaths.

In addition to Christmas, the 1965 Thanksgiving, Labor Day, Fourth of July and Memorial Day weekends established records for long weekend observances of those holidays.

The Thanksgiving holiday period cost 615 lives, Labor Day 564, July Fourth 551, and Memorial Day 474.

COMMERCE ACCIDENT — Overturned after colliding with a Walled Lake school bus and then skidding into four children waiting for another school bus in Commerce Township, is this car driven by Dawn G. Redman, 24, of 6020 Hillsboro, Springfield Township. Officers from several area police departments and sheriff's deputies worked for several minutes to remove the woman from the wreckage. (See additional photo Page 2).

8 Also Injured in Commerce

Two Clifford H. Smart Junior High School pupils were killed and eight other persons injured this morning in Commerce Township when a car collided with a school bus and then skidded into four students waiting for another school bus.

Mary A. Wilson, 14, and her sister, Lynette, 13, both of 280 Wise, Commerce Township, died at Pontiac General Hospital.

The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wilson, both girls were among the four waiting for a school bus.

★ ★ ★

Hospitalized and listed in serious condition are the two other girls, who were waiting on the corner, and the driver of the car.

The driver of the school bus and all four passengers escaped with minor injuries.

Headed northon Carroll Lake Road, the bus was struck in the rear at the intersection of Wise and continued about 100 feet before turning on its side.

★ ★ ★

Police said the car driven by Dawn G. Redman, 24, of 6020 Hillsboro, Springfield Township, was heading east on Wise, where there is a stop sign at the intersection of Carroll Lake Road.

The school bus did not stop to pick up the group of four who were scheduled to take another bus.

HOSPITAL DEATH

Mary Wilson died about an hour after the 8:30 a.m. accident.

Lynette died about 11 a.m. following surgery.

The two other girls waiting for the school bus were Myrna Byers, 15, of 120 Wise, and Patricia Lundy, 15, of 5297 Carroll Lake, both Comerce Township.

★ ★ ★

The Byers girl suffered leg and shoulder injuries and the Lundy girl suffered injuries to her head and knee.

OVERTURNED CAR

Officers from several departments and sheriff's deputies worked for several minutes to free Miss Redman from the wreckage of her overturned car.

Porta jacks from a wrecker were used when efforts of police personnel using crowbars and acetylene torches were unsuccessful.

The children on the bus were also students at Smart Junior High School. All four and the bus driver were treated at a nearby house for minor injuries and later went to school.

★ ★ ★

School officials said that transportation scheduling called for the group of four students on the corner to be picked up by another bus even though those pupils and the four on the bus in the accident attended the same school.

Miss Tragedy by 3 Minutes

Two girls—lifelong neighbors and classmates of two sisters killed in a car-school bus accident this morning—may have missed the same fate by a mere three minutes.

Sheryl Ellis, 14, and Charlene, 13, daughters of John S. Ellis of 325 Wise, Commerce Township, were delayed when they took extra time to feed their two horses.

As they finished and turned to go to the corner, a car skidded across Wise Road, careened off a school bus and into four other girls waiting at the roadside.

Mary A. Wilson, 14, and her sister, Lynette, 13, died within three hours.

The other girls standing with the Wilson sisters were hit by the car but are expected to live.

'PLAY TOGETHER'

"Sheryl and Charlene played together with those girls since they were just little kids," said Ellis.

"Our girls stayed at their house — they stayed at ours."

"Every now and then, Mary and Lynette would come down and ride the girls' horses."

★ ★ ★

"They were just nice kids," he said. "What else can you say?"

TOOLMAKER

Marvin Wilson, a toolmaker and father of the two girls, lives next door to Ellis in the isolated "community" at the crossroads of Wise and Carroll Lake.

"We're pretty much alone out here," Ellis said. "I think everybody's taking this thing pretty hard."

Wilson and his wife have a third daughter and five sons.

NY Feels Impact of Transit Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—The brunt of a two-day-old transit strike hit New York today, threatened for a time to overwhelm Manhattan with automobiles, then eased into a flow described as normal.

Traffic had piled up during the early rush hour and Mayor John V. Lindsay warned he might be forced to close off the city to any more automobiles.

Lindsay, who took office just hours before the bus and subway workers struck New Year's Day, climbed into a police helicopter for a personal inspection of the choked arteries from the foggy, drizzly skies.

Then, like a breaking fever, the crisis passed and Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes reported traffic in Manhattan was "loosening up."

★ ★ ★

And the mayor lifted his threat.

TRAFFIC NORMAL

By 8 a.m. Barnes said traffic was about normal, but urged that no additional drivers head for Manhattan.

He predicted there could be continuous traffic jams in Manhattan throughout the day.

Barnes attributed the easing of Manhattan's traffic to the fact that drivers headed for work two hours earlier than usual.

This caused early morning tie-ups, but eased conditions in the midst of the usual rush hour.

New Yorkers didn't feel the full impact of the strike until today because of the holiday weekend.

Lindsay went on radio and television early today to make a last-minute appeal to commuters not to drive into the city.

Many stores and other firms remained closed, their windows darkened along city streets. It was estimated that 10 per cent of retail stores in Manhattan and the Bronx failed to open.

★ ★ ★

At the Pan American Building, one of the city's largest office structures, a spokesman said a big proportion of the offices was closed, and the number of persons using elevators and corridors was "far below normal."

MANY WALK

Hiking throngs formed thick streams on many thoroughfares, as thousands took to foot to get to work. Police said the Brooklyn Bridge was clogged by walking men and women.

"Good for the circulation," Mayor Lindsay remarked, as he made his own 70-block walk to City Hall.

Obviously, hundreds of thousands of workers never made it to their jobs.

★ ★ ★

But in the scrambled, uncertain situation of the moment, it was impossible to guess just how great the cut in the manpower force.

STAY HOME

Vast numbers simply stayed home, it became clear as the day wore on. The commuter count on the Long Island Rail Road seemed less than usual for a Monday morning.

Once commuters did get to Manhattan, they still faced walks of varying distances to their places of work—from a few blocks up to seven or eight miles.

One commuter had a handy solution. He brought a bicycle along on the train. Other cyclists were visible on the streets.

Negotiations continued, but Transit Authority Chairman Joseph E. O'Grady said in midmorning he saw no hope for a restoration of transit service in time for the evening rush hour.

Traffic actually was lighter than normal on many Manhat-

Yanks Hunt Cong in 1st Delta Invasion

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. paratroopers slogged through mud and swamp today in their first big invasion of the Mekong Delta but a large Viet Cong force slipped deeper into the Red sanctuary, eluding their pursuers.

The probe by the 173rd Airborne Brigade, backed by artillery, air strikes and even tanks, began with high hopes of rousing the guerrillas from their stronghold.

Although they offered some brisk skirmishes and steady sniper fire at the start of the operation New Year's Day, the Viet Cong withdrew into the marshes in the direction of the Plain of Reeds near the Cambodian frontier.

By this afternoon, there was only occasional contact with guerrillas.

A U.S. spokesman said the 173rd Brigade had killed 111 Viet Cong, captured 7 and detained 502 suspects. Vietnamese troops killed 125 guerrillas in the fighting, their spokesmen said.

The U.S. paratroopers had moved westward from Saigon into the sugar and rice fields around Bao Trai, 20 miles from the capital. They captured a large store of rice and other food and some National Liberation Front flags.

NORTHERN FRINGE

After the initial encounters, however, the Viet Cong headed toward the Plain of Reeds, a marshy Communist area on the northern fringe of the Mekong Delta.

It has long been considered a Viet Cong infiltration route and base camp.

It was considered doubtful that the heavily armed Americans would attempt to pursue the Reds over terrain unsuited to their equipment.

BEATEN OFF

The Communists attacked a Vietnamese scout company command post with flamethrowers and grenades 12 miles south of Tuy Hoa, on the central coast. They were beaten off. Ten Reds were reported killed.

A military spokesman said it was the first time the Communists used flamethrowers.

The South Vietnamese didn't

His directive came immediately after an announcement by Inland Steel Co. that it was joining Bethlehem in the price increase.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson called in top advisers today for conferences on Viet Nam and foreign policy, economic conditions and the effects of a steel price increase by the Bethlehem Steel Corp.

NO MORE ROOM — The conductor of New York Central Train 554 on the Harlem Division from White Plains in suburban Westchester County, which became a local this morning at the Mount Vernon station on its way to New York City, leans from platform at Fordham station in the Bronx to inform the waiting crowd that the train was jammed to capacity. The transit strike forced thousands of commuters to try other means of transportation as the subway and most buses were idle.

Weather Will Feel More Like Winter

It'll feel like winter, but won't look like it for the next two days, says the weatherman.

★ ★ ★

Mostly fair skies with diminishing winds this afternoon and tonight will give way to partly cloudy skies tomorrow and Wednesday.

Tonight's low of 15 to 25 will be followed by a high of 36 to 43 tomorrow. Colder temperatures are in store for the area Wednesday.

Gusty winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour today will diminish to 5 to 15 miles by early tonight.

★ ★ ★

The low thermometer reading preceding 8 a.m. today was 30. The mercury managed to climb to 35 by 2 p.m.

Revolutionary Cuba Confab Stirs Latins

HAVANA (AP) — Revolutionists from three continents assembled in Havana to open a nine-day meeting today, increasing apprehension among governments of some of Communist Cuba's neighbors.

"The peace of the continent is at stake," said President Raul Leoni of Venezuela.

★ ★ ★

The so-called Tri-continental Conference of Solidarity is "a new aggression against Venezuela," he said.

Leaders of Brazil, Peru and Colombia were also worried.

Each nation has tasted the guerrilla terrorism that the conference delegates favor for the "liberation of the people from oppressive regimes."

★ ★ ★

Many Latin-American, Asian and African nations will watch the conference closely for any developments signaling renewed Communist subversion in their own countries.

500 DELEGATES

Most of the decisions by the approximately 500 delegates from 100 countries will not be revealed.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro anticipated the "hate-America" mood of the conference in a speech yesterday on the seventh anniversary of his revolution. Most of the speech provided gloomy news for Cubans.

GIs Note Key Advantage in Delta Combat—They Can See Foe

(EDITOR'S NOTE: U. S. troops moved into the Mekong Delta over the weekend in force for the first time. Many observers believe the war in Viet Nam will be decided there. AP Correspondent Peter Arnett was with the American force.)

By PETER ARNETT

BAO TRAI, Viet Nam (AP)— The mud was deep and slimy. Men moved at a permanent crouch because of sniper bullets.

★ ★ ★

In seven hours, a whole battalion moved forward only 30 yards.

U.S. paratroopers were getting their first taste of the Mekong Delta.

"It's hell out there," said Staff Sgt. Richards Banks of Pensacola, Fla., as he lay wounded on a dry patch of ground and waved toward the marshlands 50 feet away. He had been hit by grenade fragments.

★ ★ ★

"Yes, it's hell out there," he said, "but at least you can see the devil."

He meant the Viet Cong who had held up the battalion since dawn. Planes and artillery were blasting the guerrillas, but it was slow going.

"They're over there, in that clump of wild sugar cane and bamboo. And over there along that canal," said Lt. Col. George E. Dexter of Albuquerque, N.M.

Two of Dexter's companies were in heavy contact with the dug-in enemy and a third was moving up. By evening he was trying to decide whether to launch a night assault or whether to swing back in to the landing zone and hang tight for the night.

★ ★ ★

Whatever he did, trouble awaited him, because the Mekong Delta for 20 years has meant trouble.

INDOCHINA WAR

During the Indochina war, the French kept the main roads open with a series of heavily fortified outposts and generally stayed out of the rest of the delta.

The French tried to clean out the Red River delta above Hanoi and failed. They didn't even try on the Mekong.

The South Vietnamese government has four infantry divisions—an estimated 20,000 men—in the Mekong Delta, most of them securing government installations. The Viet Cong have an estimated 30,000 men under arms in the area.

★ ★ ★

In the past year the Viet Cong and government forces have maintained a sort of standoff in the delta.

GIS HAVE COME

Now the Americans have come into this battleground.

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade had known only jungle in Viet Nam—the jungles of Zone D, the Iron Triangle and Phuoc Tuy.

The increasing momentum of the Viet Cong offensive brought them to the delta west of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

American units probably will soon be operating in Long An Province, south of Saigon, in the island provinces of Kien Hoa and Vinh Binh, and in the Camau Pennsula.

BETTER THAN JUNGLE

"Fighting here is a lot better than the jungle," said Sgt. Banks. "You can see where you are going and where you came from."

But the Viet Cong also can see, and they have detailed knowledge of every canal and every dike. Some of the bloodiest battles of the war have been fought in the delta. The paddy-field dikes and canals provide superb cover for the guerrillas.

Striking Munitions Workers OK Pact, Resume Production

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Production of gunpowder for use in Viet Nam resumed today at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. munitions plant after a month-long strike.

Union members voted over the weekend to accept a new contract and return to work today.

The International Association of Machinists AFL-CIO voted 1,599-1,543 yesterday to accept a contract worked out last week in Washington.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers ratified a similar pact by a 50-25 vote.

Two other unions that struck the plant Dec. 1, the International Chemical Workers AFL-CIO and the Western Employes Trade Council, had voted previously to return to work.

PRODUCTION

A company official says full production of gunpowder could begin in a day and that full production of finished ammunition will take about a week.

Olin Mathieson's Winchester Division at New Haven, Conn. said about 500 employes laid off Dec. 22 because of the stoppage of gunpowder production would be put back to work this week.

The strike of about 4,200 union members halted production by the nation's only manufacturer of a special gunpowder for some rifle and tracer bullets and 20mm cannon shells used in Viet Nam.

The Army plans to reactivate its Badger ammunition plant at Baraboo, Wis., but it is expected to take six months to begin production.

VOTE COUNTED

The vote of the machinists, who had rejected four previous contract offers, was counted three times on demand of union members.

The machinists' three-year contract includes fringe benefits and improvements in seniority rights, a 4 per cent hourly wage increase with a 10-cent minimum the first year, a 10-cent across-the-board raise the second year and a 4 per cent increase with a 10-cent minimum the third year. The average hourly wage was $2.78.

The union had sought an 18-month contract, four weeks paid vacation after 15 years and a cost-of-living clause.

Firemen Fight Three Serious City Blazes

Pontiac firemen battled three serious fires in less than 24 hours over the weekend, with two engines, a ladder truck and aerial unit responding to a blaze on the fourth floor of the Roosevelt Hotel, 125 N. Perry.

No injuries were reported in any of the fires.

Careless smoking was tentatively set as cause of the Roosevelt Hotel fire, which broke out shortly before 1 a.m. yesterday and was extinguished in about two hours.

Fire officials placed damage to the hotel at $1,500 and value of contents destroyed at $500.

★ ★ ★

Christmas decorations on a stereo record player ignited causing an estimated $2,200 damage to the home of John Wright, 1065 Durant.

NEAR MIDNIGHT

The blaze broke out shortly before midnight Saturday and was brought under control in less than 45 minutes.

An overheated furnace was blamed for a fire which gutted the lower floor of a two-story frame house at 271 Osmun yesterday.

Damage to the building was set at $2,200 and loss of contents at $500.

tan streets. But pedestrian traffic was brisk at many spots, and commuter railroad and bus terminals were clogged.

At one point, more than 1,200 persons were lined up three deep in the rain at a Bronx station waiting to purchase tickets to ride into Manhattan via the New York Central Railroad.

The Long Island Railroad reported a similar crush at its Jamaica, Queens, station.

The Commerce and Industry Association was trying to assess the cost to commerce in this business capital of the world. It had been estimated the strike would cost stores $40 million a day.

Normally, the city's subways carry 9,500 persons a minute into Manhattan during the rush hour.

Principals in the negotiations returned to the bargaining table early today.

Michael J. Quill, head of the Transport Workers Union, AFL-CIO, the man who called the strike, was due to appear in State Supreme Court today to answer a show-cause order.

EARLY ACCORD

As hopes for an early settlement brightened last night, then suddenly faded, the nation's largest city put into effect emergency measures to handle the 7.4 million persons who normally ride the subways and buses every working day.

Extra commuter trains and buses were added, emergency parking and taxi regulations were applied, and schools were closed.

But above all else, Mayor Lindsay urged people not to drive automobiles in the city except on absolutely essential business.

The 33,000 bus and subway employes walked off the job in defiance of a court injunction at 5 a.m. Saturday — just five hours after Lindsay took office as the city's first Republican mayor in 20 years.

The Transport Workers Union, and the Amalgamated Transit Union, AFL-CIO, are demanding higher wages, a shorter work week and other benefits the Transit Authority estimated would cost $680 million.

Last night Quill offered to cut the demand "by 80 per cent" to $180 million, but the TA quickly rejected it.

Transit Authority Chairman Joseph O'Grady said the offer had not been made "in good faith" and he accused Quill of "stalling tactics."

After about a mile, the truck, loaded with 20,000 pounds of powdered milk, careened off the road and into a ditch.

The driver was treated for injuries and then taken to Howell County jail on a charge of drunken driving.

Plane Crash Toll: 5 From State

By The Associated Press

Five Michigan residents were killed in two light plane crashes in Florida and Alabama on the New Year holiday weekend.

Four other persons were injured in aircraft accidents in Michigan.

Businessman Nyle A. Eggert, 58, of Spring Lake and his son, James Richard, 21, and the latter's fiancee, Geraldine Petretti, 20, of Grand Haven, were killed yesterday when their twin-engine plane crashed near Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Dr. Forrest W. Rosendahl, 42, a Marquette dentist, and his wife, Yvette, were killed Saturday when their single engine plane crashed on the plateau of Chandler Mountain near Pell City, Ala.

★ ★ ★

The elder Eggert was president of National Products Co. of Grand Haven. The firm makes display equipment.

COLLEGE JUNIORS

Young Eggert was a junior at Ferris State College and Miss Petretti was a junior at Michigan State University.

The group was on its way to Atlanta, Ga., to board a commercial flight for Michigan after spending the holidays in Florida.

Young Eggert was at the controls of the plane when it took off from Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood Airport, rose 200 feet in the air and crashed.

★ ★ ★

Authorities said he reported he had lost an engine and requested emergency clearance for landing just before the crash.

WITNESSED CRASH

Mrs. Viola Eggert, wife of the elder Eggert, witnessed the crash.

The Rosendahls were attempting to land for fuel at Gadsden, Ala., when their plane crashed.

Dr. Rosendahl's brother, Jack, was killed in a plane crash last August in Minnesota.

Hubert Ward, 38, of Union Lake, his wife, Juanita, 32, and son, Bruce, 8, were injured when their single-engine aircraft crash-landed in a Commerce Township marsh near Pontiac Saturday.

Russell Fisk, 23, of rural Lowell suffered a broken nose when his light plane lost power a few minutes after takeoff from the Buck Masters airstrip at Greenville Saturday.

The plane struck a utility line while attempting an emergency landing.

3 in Family Hurt in Area Plane Crash

Three members of a White Lake Township family, injured in the crash of their single-engine plane, are reported in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

They are Hubert Ward, 38, pilot of the plane, his wife Juanita, 32, and son Bruce, 8, of 9176 Kettering.

The accident occurred Saturday as Ward's Piper Clipper took off from Richardson Field in Commerce Township.

Witnesses said the craft's engine sputtered, then failed, sending the plane into a dive.

★ ★ ★

PLANE DAMAGED

The front end, engine and landing gear of the plane were damaged in the crash.

Ward and his two passengers were aided at the scene of the accident by the Commerce Township Fire Department.

capture any of them, but they were believed of Chinese make and part of the equipment of a battalion of North Vietnamese regulars.

The government force was taking part in a search-and-destroy operation with South Korean troops in Phu Yen Province.

3 OPERATIONS

Another 100 miles up the coast, Vietnamese troops launched three relatively large operations to relieve pressure on Quang Ngai City, a provincial capital.

Several battalions took light casualties in a skirmish eight miles south of Quang Ngai while other companies of regional forces operated about a mile southeast of this battleground.

A third government force came under heavy small arms fire about midway between Quang Ngai and Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Unofficial reports said the light government casualties included some Americans. Eighteen Viet Cong were reported killed.

SWAMPY DELTA

By venturing into the canal-ribbed, swampy delta country, the U. S. paratroopers were probing a Communist stronghold that the French were unable to control in eight years of fighting. Government forces have had no more success in recent years.

Tear gas was reported used against the enemy in two instances.

Associated Press photographer Rick Merron reported from Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon, that South Koreans discovered a tunnel 1,500 yards long in a rocky hillside formation and cleared it with tear gas.

Some Viet Cong were flushed out but most of the Vietnamese inside the tunnel were civilians hiding from bomb raids and the artillery.

Humphrey remained for the conferences, attended also by Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and McGeorge Bundy, Johnson's special assistant for national security affairs.

It was the President's first day at his White House desk after an extended stay at his ranch in Texas.

The North Vietnamese Communist party organ Nhan Dan branded the American peace moves as "trickery" and said the United States must halt "definitely and unconditionally" all acts of war against the North if there is to be a political solution to the war.

The Hanoi newspaper also said Washington would have to acknowledge the four conditions the Communists have set down for an end to the war. What was meant by "acknowledge" was not immediately clear.

Washington has let it be known that it would be willing to discuss the four points if negotiations got under way.

County Antipoverty Program Taking Shape

By JOE MULLEN

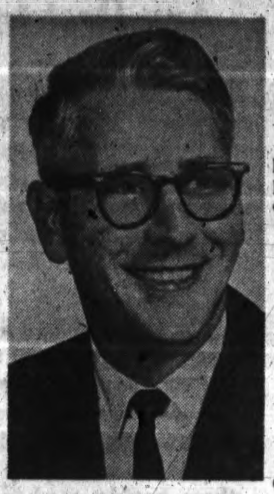

Oakland County's antipoverty program, in the works for nine months, is beginning to take shape.

In December, the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO), which administers the program, opened the two community opportunity centers — one in Pontiac and one in Royal Oak Township.

This week, with training sessions beginning for 22 counselor aides and 10 neighborhood organizers, the number of OEO employes is 42.

James M. McNeely, executive director of the county OEO office, expects that a core team of 110 employes will be at work by this summer as the program gains momentum.

★ ★ ★

JAMES M. McNEELY

McNeely was questioned on the aims and scope of the county program and general reaction to it at this early stage of development.

Q — What is the purpose of the war on poverty?

A — "To eliminate the root source of poverty by helping people become employable and self-sufficient. The OEO program is in contrast to the function of welfare programs whose purpose is to meet basic requirements of food, clothing and shelter."

Q — Do you feel the great amount of adverse publicity to the national antipoverty program has had any effect on the local community?

A — "It has probably made some people skeptical of the program in general."

Q — Under OEO standards, who are the poor?

A — "Families with annual income of $3,000 or less are considered poor."

Q — How many such families are there in Oakland County?

A — "Approximately 16,000 families in the county qualify for the program. At an average of about four persons per family, this means that nearly 10 per cent of the people in Oakland County are in this catagory."

Q — How is Oakland County's program progressing in comparison to those of similar governmental units?

A — "We are quite far ahead of most comparable areas. Macomb County, for example, just received its initial planning grant which we received last April. Wayne County also is just getting started even though the city of Detroit is well advanced in its program."

Q — Has there been criticism of the county program?

A — "Not much. The commission membership is very representative of the county population."

Q — How many commission members are there, from where are they drawn and what are their terms of office?

A — "There are 40 representing business, labor, churches, governmental units, the poor themselves and so forth. Term of office for commissioners is three years."

Q — Where are the two opportunity centers located?

A — "The Pontiac center is at 7 W. Lawrence, at the corner of Saginaw, and the Royal Oak Township center is on Wyoming near Eight Mile."

Q — What activities are now in progress at these centers?

A — "The job employment counseling training teams are active at both locations interviewing people and either referring them directly for employment or for training that could lead to employment.

"Family service workers also are there to counsel on problems. A full-time nurse is at each center and a doctor and dentist spend a half day a week at each center. No medical or dental treatment is performed at the centers but people are referred for these services to the county health department if they need them.

"We expect to have a consumer specialist at the two centers by the end of this month to counsel people on financial matters such as interest rates and budgeting."

Q — About 10 per cent of county residents are now considered poor. How low do you hope to reduce this percentage through the OEO program?

A — "In about a year, when the program is in full motion, we will make an evaluation and try to set a goal."

Q — The county OEO program received an initial federal grant of $77,000 for its establishment and then $730,549 for the first year of operation. What is the county's share of the cost of the program now and in the future?

A — "The county's share is 10 per cent based on a formula of 90 per cent federal funds and 10 per cent local, at least until July, 1967. Congress had called for a 50-50 matching formula after this when the program was authorized but this has since been deleted. It is up to the Congress to set the formula."

Q — What was the national OEO appropriation by the federal government for the fiscal year July 1, 1965 to July 1, 1966?

A — "$1.5 billion."

Television Sets Top Weekend Theft List

Thieves struck at six homes, two schools and a furniture warehouse in the Pontiac area between early Saturday morning and last night, with losses ranging from $180 to $1,250.

Television sets were the principal targets in the break-ins reported to Pontiac police and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Taken in separate break-ins were six televisions, including a color set valued at $600 from the home of Ray Kelly, 220 Dresden.

Kelly told Pontiac police his house was broken into New Year's Eve. Also missing was a guitar valued at $300 and an amplifier worth $350.

★ ★ ★

Other reported larcenies included the theft of a portable television valued at $180 from the home of Clifford Deel, 235 W. Princeton; and larceny of a chair and davenport, value undertermined, from Wilson Elementary School at 511 S. Sanford.

OFFICES RANSACKED

Several offices in the school were also ransacked, according to Pontiac police. Mark Twain Elementary School at 729 Linda Vista was also entered, but nothing was determined missing.

Linwargh Miner of 497 Pearsall reported the theft of a portable television worth $180 in a break-in Saturday.

Two rocking chairs valued at $119 each were taken from the Thomas Economy Furniture Co. warehouse at 50 Osmun. They were recovered by police near the site of the break-in.

Anthony Navarette, 413 Valencia, reported to Pontiac police the theft of a portable television, a watch and transistor radio worth $145 and $40 in cash after entry was gained to his home through a forced front door.

David Varran, 3263 Baldwin, Orion Township, and Robert E. Cummer, 1660 Dutton, Oakland Township, each reported theft of a television set over the weekend to the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

2 Indonesian Airliners Down

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — One Indonesian airliner crashed in the jungle in South Sumatra over the weekend and another is missing. A total of 34 persons were abroad.

Both planes were DC3s of the government's Garuda Airline. They left Jakarta Saturday morning but failed to land at Palembang, their first stop.

★ ★ ★

The wreckage of one plane was spotted from the air 63 miles south of Palembang.

An extensive search is being made for the other plane.

REGGIO EMILIA, Italy (AP) — Fog blanketed part of Italy's new superhighway of the sun Sunday night and more than 100 cars piled up in a chain of collisions. Thirty-five persons were injured.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Thai border police charged today that Cambodian troops fired mortar shells and machine guns into two Thai villages near the border, killing one villager.

The police said the attack was made Sunday in Trad Province. They said the Cambodians withdrew after firing 100 mortar shells.

Cambodia charged last week that 200 Ghai troops attacked the Cambodian post of Osmach. The Cambodian chief of state, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, said in a speech Sunday that his forces would make reprisal raids if there were any more Thai attacks.

HONG KONG (AP) — An Indonesian army general and Cabinet member claimed today that Indonesian Communist Chief D.N. Aidit is alive and the prisoner of the Indonesian army.

Brig. Gen. Sjarin Thajeb, minister for higher education, contradicted unconfirmed reports from Jakarta that Aidit was killed by army troops about three weeks after the Communist-influenced coup attempt on Oct. 1.

Thajeb is accompanying President Sukarno's Japanese wife on a trip to Tokyo.

MOSCOW (AP) — Five Soviet sputniks in the Cosmos series will orbit the earth for more than 1,000 years, Pravda reported, today.

The Soviet Communist party paper said the center for processing radio information from satellites is receiving data from more than 20 sputniks.

★ ★ ★

It said Nos. 80 through 84 in the Cosmos series, which were launched to an initial altitude of more than 900 miles, would stay up more than 1,000 years, Cosmos 100 will orbit for about 10 years, and the first and third satellites in the Electron series will orbit at least 200 years.

★ ★ ★

U.S. authorities have said the Cosmos series apparently includes some performing military reconnaissance, and the Soviets have indirectly admitted this in the past.

Suspicion Unconfirmed

SWINGFIELD, England (UPI) — Bomb disposal men spent most of yesterday probing an eight-foot-deep hole with a suspicious looking "metallic object" at the bottom. The cause of the alarm turned out to be two empty tin cans.

Resume Probe in Sea Tragedy

MIAMI (UPI)—The Coast Guard resumes its formal inquiry into the fiery sinking of the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle today. The vessel went down in the Atlantic about 120 miles east of Miami on Nov. 13, causing the deaths of 90 persons.

The Coast Guard recessed the hearing shortly before Christmas after hearing 15 days of testimony from passengers and crew who sailed aboard the cruise ship.

Witnesses today were expected to be crew members. The Coast Guard is attempting to discover the cause of the fire that swept the 5,000-ton vessel in less than five hours and whether the conduct of the ship's crew and officers met maritime regulations.

The fire is believed to have started in the vicinity of cabin 610, an unoccupied room a deck above the galley.

The Yarmouth Castle was en route from Miami to Nassau for a weekend cruise when the fire broke out shortly after midnight Nov. 13.

It Seems to Me....

Tremendous Year Predicted; Especially for Pontiac Area

Annually, your humble scrivener dedicates the first Monday of each year to an appraisal of things that are ahead locally.

The past speaks for itself.

Let's all look forward.

★ ★ ★

The late "Boss" Kettering's oft-quoted remark still holds good: "I never ride backward. I'm not half as interested in where I've been as where I'm going."

★ ★ ★

The Nation's economic savants offer profound analyses on the "September decline in steel production" and the "liquidation of excessive inventories" etc., etc. They're provocative and meaningful.

But let's discuss our own area.

That concerns us most.

★ ★ ★

Industrially, we look into 1966 with great confidence and belief in the things that lie directly ahead for us. The chief executive officers of all four automotive corporations have freely predicted a great year without reservation. A period comparable with 1965 is the "worst" anyone can see; and 1965 was the greatest period of economic prosperity in this area's long and honorable history.

★ ★ ★

Our three great employers are running at record paces. This sensational and stupendous Pontiac automobile continues to command the deep admiration and respect of the buying public from coast to coast. Just one thing brings this definite conclusion: sales records are smashed and smashed and then smashed to smithereens. Pontiacs and Tempests are the two outstanding stars in the industry. People want them. They insist. (Allah be praised.) Of course, this directly dictates the fate and fortune of our Fisher Body Division, also.

★ ★ ★

Long regarded as our time-honored balance wheel, the GMC Truck and Coach division is forging ahead at an amazing pace and it can't keep up with its record orders. This grand institution is making a great name for itself all over the Nation. And it's a very integral part of our advances or declines.

★ ★ ★

Store sales set new marks locally in 1965 and now your timid reporter predicts that all lines of retail activities should even do a bit better in 1966. Downtown Pontiac has suffered from the emasculation of certain borderline business activities there, and I am happy to state that things are brewing which could bring a new look and a new future to this area. It's still in the formative stage as big things necessarily move slowly. And this is big. I mean BIG. There can be no announcements until countless details are smoothed and settled. But the community is not letting matters drift. Concentrated efforts and long hours of hard work have gone into the whole situation.

★ ★ ★

The current business expansion or upswing is now in the 59th consecutive month. This is an all-time record for the most prosperous Nation in the world — of which you are a concomitant part. And yet, the top business leaders and economists agree that it will continue through 1966 and perhaps even edge slightly upward again.

★ ★ ★

In all this ebullient optimism there's one word of warning that I've sounded many times in many places. More money is in circulation today in this Nation than has ever been seen in world history. But—no one guarantees you personally a single penny or a single step forward in any way. You must do that yourself. This swiftly moving parade can sweep grandly by and leave you bare-handed, hungry and jaws ajar. You have to prove your own worth constantly and keep up with "this changing world."

★ ★ ★

I am completely confident of one thing:

No matter what the Nation does as a whole, we will do slightly better, whether the increase be tremendous, slight or even in reverse. Our area will remain above the general average. You can bank on that.

Happy New Year.

And happy it should be.

Barely Holding....

JAMES CAMERON, British correspondent, says a certain bridge at Than Hoa has survived attacks by a thousand U. S. planes.

It's still in use.

★ ★ ★

We're told repeatedly of the devastating effects of our "very successful bombing attacks," and yet we're barely holding our own.

Must this last forever?

What's the answer?

And in Conclusion...

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

What ho! GALE SAYERS, star football rookie of the year, received a new Pontiac as a bonus when he signed..... I understand when current contracts expire, TV will be minus DEAN MARTIN, OZZIE and HARRIET NELSON, VINCENT EDWARDS, INGER STEVENS and JULIET PROWSE..... Starting now, boys in English schools will be taught sewing and cooking..... Merchants declare Christmas business was the "biggest ever" and that a definitely higher percentage of quality merchandise was in demand.

ANDREA

Purely personal nomination for an especially attractive young lady in the area: Andrea Cooley..... Word from Princeton indicates several eastern colleges are going to take average students who definitely excel in a single subject — a very wise step..... Judging from their latest TV appearances, Ella Fitzgerald is within an easy 50 pounds of Kate Smith..... Ginny Marston, Delaware junior golf champ plays without shoes.

★ ★ ★

The price of wild rice is running wilder than the rice. And it's everybody's favorite..... WALTER WINCHELL says China's current wheat famine will result in half a million deaths. This is almost impossible to accept in the United States where three-fourths are overfed and two-thirds overweight..... OVERHEARD: "Shucks, all sunshine doesn't make anything but a desert."..... Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—The PRESS's own JIMMY MCCLENDON who led both Northern and Central basketball teams with nine baskets and 21 points when they met; the J's—those dummies who sold Christmas cards so large you couldn't get them out of the envelopes without ripping them asunder.

'This Should Give You A Chance To Improve Your Image, Hubert!'

David Lawrence Asks:

If No Viet Truce, Then What?

WASHINGTON — If there is no truce in Viet Nam, then what?

Certainly a suspension of bombing of North Viet Nam cannot go on indefinitely as American soldiers continue to be attacked on the ground by Communist troops.

LAWRENCE

While there is always a glimmer of hope that some peaceful conclusion can be reached, even though it may take a long time to consummate it, there must be an alternative plan in the minds of American government officials. Military men undoubtedly have outlined what they think can be done to compel the enemy to talk peace.

Military force is not the only weapon that can be used. Having tried moral force by sending peace emissaries around the world, the United States can hardly be blamed if it decides to use economic power, along with the right of blockade. Here are the steps that could be taken:

● Announce to the world that the military aid being supplied — and promised—to North Viet Nam by both Red China and the Soviet Union constitutes an act of hostility toward the United States, whose troops are being killed as a result of the use of weapons furnished by the Moscow and Peking regimes.

★ ★ ★

● Suspend of sever diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union until acts of military hostility against the United States are discontinued.

★ ★ ★

● Ask the members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to bring about a cessation of commercial relations with North Viet Nam and Red China.

★ ★ ★

● Announce that, unless economic pressure is exerted by America's allies, a reexamination will have to be made of pledges given by the United States to come to the military aid of all NATO countries when attacked.

★ ★ ★

● Announce also that, if economic support of the enemies of the United States in the Viet Nam war — the Soviet Union and Red China — is not halted, America will bomb all military bases and areas in North Viet Nam containing military equipment and will also destroy all supply lines between Red China and Viet Nam, even if this means carrying the war to "privileged sanctuaries" in countries adjacent to Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

It will be immediately asserted that this could lead only to an "escalation" — a larger war.

NECESSARY ARSENAL

But history records that prior to 1914 and 1939 failure to impose economic embargoes enabled the aggressor governments to build up the necessary arsenal to start in each case a world war.

In another week or so the United States will have to make a military decision based on this question: How long can the North Vietnamese be permitted to take advantage of the pause in bombing as their arms and supplies continue to be furnished by the Communist regimes?

Capital Letter:

Noted Capital Seer Says GOP to Score Big Gains

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Jeane Dixon, the capital's amateur seer whose uncanny foresight has brought her world renown, has been studying her crystal ball in preparation for this annual column of predictions.

Ruth Montgomery

While visions of sugarplums dance in some heads, the celebrated subject of "a gift of prophecy" sees instead world-shaking developments.

Here, then, are her forecasts for 1966:

President Johnson will experience more difficulty in dealing with Congress than heretofore. In the fall elections Republicans will sharply increase their representation in both House and Senate. Democrats will retain control, but it will not be a "rubber stamp" Congress.

The U.S. economy will continue to boom.

★ ★ ★

President Sukarno will be out of office by the end of the year, and Communists will fail in their attempt to establish a strong foothold in Indonesia.

MARKED IMPROVEMENT

Our relations with France will markedly improve.

Peace negotiations for Viet Nam will begin early this year "when the enemy decides that the time is right, but not before our combat casualties have sharply increased and our troops have suffered even greater losses from disease."

Jeane calls the situation in Central and South Africa "critical." She says much blood will flow there, as both black and white suffer loss of freedom in the immediate future.

★ ★ ★

On the strictly domestic front, she foresees these other developments:

Our racial situation will continue to be explosive in 1966 and become "even worse in 1968, with agitators provoking rioting and bloodshed."

RISING STAR

Vice President Humphrey's stature will increase. He will be given broader assignments than heretofore, and will be called upon more and more to solve the setbacks of the Great Society. He will do a great deal of traveling during the second half of the year. The President was wise to choose him as his backup man.

The influence of Sens. Edward and Robert Kennedy will increase during 1966, but the following year they are headed into a very dark cloud which will cause a sharp decline in their political popularity.

Jeane's final prophecy ends on a somewhat cheerier note. "Despite the threat within and without our country," she muses, "I have seen the Lord putting His hand of blessing on America in 1966. I have never seen this before, but the blessing is there for us, if we will but be wise."

Voice of the People:

'U.S. Communications Are Best in the World'

It is with anxiety that we hear the Federal Communications Commission is moving into a sweeping investigation of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. The AT&T under private ownership and with the minimum of government interference has provided the most efficient service to the public of all the countries of the world.

★ ★ ★

For several years I lived in France and Italy. The telephone as well as other communications are state-owned and operated. The long delays in completing long-distance calls, the frequent and exasperating experience of having your telephone line go dead in the middle of your call; these troubles make an American appreciate "Big Bell" back in the U. S. A.

★ ★ ★

The I. C. C. decided to dominate the railroads many years ago, and we all know what a mess they made of them. In fact, I cannot remember a single private operation that was ever helped by too much federal interference—rather it was harmed.

★ ★ ★

We should consider carefully the long-range impact on the American people by the overzealous regulation of the best communication system in the world.

E. J. HAMMER
LAKE ORION

★ ★ ★

(Editor's Note: The most monumental farce of all telephone systems is probably Russia's. You place a long-distance call repeatedly and it is never completed at all. There you see the weak, impotent and almost helpless telephone system under the Communist plan. That's the one the Reds would like to force the United States to use in place of our capitalist system.)

Suggests Press List Car License Numbers

I think it would be a good thing if The Pontiac Press ran a department which carried the license numbers of automobiles that break the laws and put other people in danger. Any citizen could write in and say: "Car No. 465-8876 ran a red light at 3:35 Tuesday at Wide Track and Orchard Lake and almost hit a blue car starting to cross." If The Press ran some of these every day, everyone would have to drive with more care because you might get your own car reported and put in print before all the people.

Reader Comments on Unlicensed Drivers

The Uninsured Driver's Law does guarantee some compensation for the injured party's loss. It does not take the reckless and irresponsible drivers off the road.

★ ★ ★

Several years ago I wrote the Michigan Department of State suggesting that anyone applying for license plates be required to show a driver's license as well as proof of insurance. Their reply was that our present laws do not require the owner of a car to appear in person to obtain the plates. Why not? Other states have such a law. Also, why not a penalty for the car owner who allows an unlicensed driver to drive his car?

★ ★ ★

A recent news item, commenting on the review of licenses which show many violation points, ended with the statement that there will always be drivers without licenses. Again, why?

Has Hopes for Greater Community in '66

As a Negro I have aspirations and hopes for a greater world, country and community in 1966, and unless we bring back into our lives that sincere God-given character that a child grows up believing in, like a minister, doctor, teacher, etc., instead of deceitful, bitter, prejudiced and selfish characters who have clamped a firm grip on society, we are not asking or expecting anything except mental and physical annihilation.

★ ★ ★

We have failed when we make a child spend the rest of his life hopelessly seeking that image of mankind that he created in his youth. When the shoe fits we don't put it on.

A Look

A discouraging look from the wife has saved many a man from becoming the life of the party.

Give and Take

Small Business Bulletin, Washington, D. C.

There have been considerable hurrahs for the mass of legislation, a total of 349 public laws, enacted by Congress in the first session. But, as the Washington, D. C. "Star" commented, "Little has been heard and not much will be said about the cost . . . No one has any idea what dollar sign will have to be put on these programs as they come into full bloom in subsequent years." And it might be added, how they will be paid for.

Government has nothing to "give" in its programs unless it has "taken," and it can't take from business unless the business man makes a profit.

Exactions by government already are squeezing the profits of the small businessman more tightly day-by-day, yet the Administration is committed to legislation to increase the present minimum wage of $1.25 an hour. Millions of workers in small firms would be brought under the proposed law for the first time.

Take a company with 100 employees now being paid $1.50 an hour, and say the minimum wage increased to the $2.50 an hour advocated by the powerful AFL-CIO. The employer's payroll would rise $50 an hour, $400 a day, $2,000 a week, $104,000 a year. If the annual profit has averaged only $50,000, then the company must lay off workers and increase its prices provided competition will permit it.

★ ★ ★

In any event, a relentless squeeze on profits would result, and bankruptcy or voluntary closing would be the hopeless alternatives for thousands of firms.

Yes, government has nothing to "give" unless it first "takes," and unless the present trend of legislation is halted, soon there may not be much left to take. Economic tombstones are rather unproductive.

The Goshen News

President Johnson has paid off his debt to former Gov. Matthew E. Welsh who stood in for the President in the last Indiana presidential primary, remember?

Mr. Welsh was appointed by LBJ to a $27,000 a year chairmanship of the United States section of the United States-Canadian commission, a part-time job. Did the former governor accept? No faster than a hungry robin can gulp a fat nightcrawler.

★ ★ ★

Because the job is not full time, Mr. Welsh will continue to live and practice law in Indianapolis.

★ ★ ★

It would be nice if we all could pay off our debts with someone else's money, wouldn't it?

How to Save on Taxes – 1

Filing Shouldn't Be a Nightmare in '66

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first article in a 14-part series "Cut Your Own Taxes," written by tax expert Ray de Crane. The series is designed to help readers save money on their income tax returns.)

By RAY DE CRANE
NEA Special Writer

Refunds should be back in vogue again this year.

While filing an income tax return is never an event looked forward to with great expectancy, this year's task should not be the nightmare experience shared by so many a year ago.

The Revenue Act of 1964 cut the tax rate in two stages. Two-thirds of the cut was effective in 1964; the other third applies to income received in 1965.

And for all of 1965 the withholding tax tables were in complete harmony with the tax rates.

This was not true in 1964 when the withholding tax cut was too deep to match the tax rate reduction. Consequently, many who had been accustomed to a refund had to make a payment in April 1965 and other found the tax due to be far greater than they had anticipated.

ONE OF CHANGES

A reduction in the rates — in the lowest bracket the rate has been trimmed from 16 per cent to 14 per cent (a 12½ per cent cut) — is just one of the many changes affecting 1965 earnings.

Persons who have stock investments will find new rules for the accounting of their dividends.

The first $100 in dividends is excludable from income. If a husband and wife are filing a joint return and each has dividend income or they own stock jointly it is possible for them to receive $200 in tax-free dividends.

After this initial reduction the dividends are fully taxable.

Formerly there had been a dividend credit. For example, prior to 1964, of $500 in dividends received, $100 was excluded on a joint return. The balance of $400 received a 4 per cent tax credit of $16. This amount was subtracted from the total income tax due figure.

A year ago this credit was reduced to 2 per cent. In 1965 it disappeared completely. This means we still have the exclusion but no longer the percentage credit.

Retired persons will find new rules and reduced rates in computing their retirement income credit.

Understanding the changes, interpretations and court rulings which affect individual income tax returns will be helpful in filing a correct return.

★ ★ ★

Most of the situations confronting the average wage earner and salaried employe will be explained in the series of which this article is the first.

There will be suggestions for the salesman or professional man who uses his car in his work and who has travel and entertainment expenses.

The small investor who receives dividends and who may have sold some of his holdings will be advised on his accounting problems. So, too, will the landlord who has to account for rents collected and is unsure of what deductions he may claim against gross rents.

★ ★ ★

Examples, filled-in schedules and forms will pass on helpful tax-saving tips and suggestions.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS

Detailed attention will be given to the special problems of senior citizens and retired persons.

Last year nearly three million taxpayers made mistakes on their returns which were caught by Internal Revenue's electronic computers.

There is no way of knowing how many persons overpaid their taxes because they failed to take advantage of tax-saving opportunities or were unaware of all their proper deductions.

★ ★ ★

We will try to reduce both types of errors by giving completed examples to follow and the information to help you determine your own detailed deductions.

MOST PROFITABLE

Remember, tax savings are the most profitable form of savings available today.

★ ★ ★

It represents net after taxes. It is worth far more than the identical sum of money which is still to be taxed.

Gold, Other Metals Found in Down East Maine Flatlands

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — Ten years and more of hard work in geology by the state and mining interests have proven something not many people would suspect: Down East Maine has gold in those flatlands.

What is more important commercially, there are also copper, zinc, some lead, a little silver and probably some of the current "in" metal, molybdenum.

Just how much of each hasn't yet been established, but in 1965 alone the mining companies have spent more than $2 million exploring and, in one case, starting to remove ore.

State Geologist Robert G. Doyle credits much of the interest to the results of aerial and ground surveys conducted over the past decade or more by his division of the Maine Department of Economic Development.

★ ★ ★

So far, two principal areas of work have been developed. One is a few miles west of the famous Bar Harbour area. The other is farther east, on the New Brunswick border near the coast.

GOLD FOUND

The latter section is where gold, along with copper, has been found in an area being explored by Dolsan Mines, Ltd., one of several Canadian firms interested in Maine.

Doyle says it costs $8 to $12 a ton to extract and refine the copper ore, and that the gold would be, in effect, the profit margin.

The biggest operation, and the only one actually in production, is by the Black Hawk Mining Co. in Blue Hill.

★ ★ ★

Maine has two belts where ore is likely to be found, the state geologist says. The coastal belt, where most of the work is, runs eastward into Canada. An upland belt is mostly in wild land and is less well defined, with no pattern that has been found.

SPACE METAL

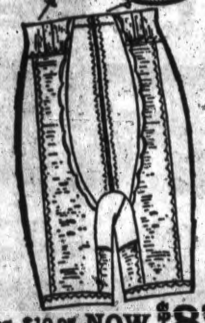

There are indications of molybdenum — what Doyle calls the "in" metal, used in aeronautics and space science — in several places.

Alaskan Town Is Hit by Blaze

50 Pct. of Business Area Said Destroyed

SITKA, Alaska (AP) — A $3.5-million fire destroyed an estimated 50 per cent of the business district of this historic southeastern Alaskan town Sunday, including the 121-year-old Greek - Russian Orthodox Cathedral of St. Michael.

"We can rebuild St. Michael's Cathedral," said Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, after flying here from Juneau, the state capital, with Gov. William A. Egan.

★ ★ ★

Egan asked President Johnson to declare the town a disaster area.

Egan and Gruening were accompanied by Vince Challis, director of the Alaska disaster office, who made the estimate of damage. The estimate did not include personal losses to residents of about 50 rental units destroyed by the fire.

NO DEATHS

No one was killed or injured. Power was off only briefly.

The blue-gray wooden cathedral, built in 1844, stood in the middle of Sitka's main street, like a traffic island. It was the seat of Bishop Ambrossy Merejko, bishop of Sitka and Alaska of the Greek-Russian Orthodox Church in North America. It was a favorite with tourists visiting this Baranof Island town of 3,300.

Sitka was Alaska's capital during its 1799-1867 Russian occupation.

Parishioners and priests hauled valuable icons, other religious art works and heavy doors, inlaid with gold and silver, from the burning building. They lost one painting and some translations of Russian religious works into Eskimo and Indian.

BEGIN FUND

Gruening contributed $100 to begin a fund for reconstruction of the cathedral.

The fire began in a store on the south side of Lincoln Street, on which the church stood. Fanned by a 15-20 mile an hour wind, it leaped to the cathedral and then to businesses on the other side of the street.

★ ★ ★

About 175 members of Sitka's volunteer fire department fought the blaze in 10-degree weather.

The flames destroyed 217 business firms and a Lutheran church, as well as the cathedral and the rental units.

N. Carolina Group's Goal: Expose Klan

RALEIGH, N. C. (AP) — North Carolina Gov. Dan Moore, conscious of reports his state leads the nation in Ku Klux Klan units, says he has a committee of state leaders actively working to expose Klan membership lists.

The governor confirmed reports of the existence of the anti-Klan committee Sunday night. The committee chairman is Malcolm Seawell, chairman of the State Board of Elections and a former state attorney general.

★ ★ ★

The Klan had better not initiate any violence "or they've had it" in North Carolina, Seawell said after the governor's announcement.

"We're through playing games with the Klan," he said. "The committee intends to, first, prevent violence and, second, to see that every resource will be used in tracking down and bringing to justice persons responsible for violence in North Carolina."

PUBLIC EXPOSURE

Seawell indicated that public exposure of Klan membership lists, will be one of the weapons the committee will use.

During hearings last October of the House Committee on Un-American Activities, a committee investigator referred to North Carolina as "Klansville, U.S.A." A report filed with the committee said North Carolina had 112 KKK local units—twice the number of any other state.

★ ★ ★

The committee hearings on the Klan resume in Washington Tuesday.

In his statement, the governor said he had worked closely with state agencies "in maintaining a constant vigil on the activities" of the Klan. Moore has repeatedly spoken out against the Klan.

Junior High Is Crucial

Slow Pupil Needs Help Early

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.

Surprising as it seems, many students reach junior and senior high schools without sufficient skills and motivation to make any progress.

DR. NASON

Educators must find methods to identify such students early in their junior high school careers and to educate them to the best of their abilities.

This is a crucial period for the pupil who is not proficient in the three Rs. He has greater difficulty making the transition from the self-contained classroom of the elementary school to the more impersonal high school situation. He can easily become lost in the crowd.

He needs some personal attention. He needs to know that someone is concerned about him and is ready and willing to help him.

To be successful with such a student, teachers must not only be familiar with the specific shortcomings of the pupil but with the records and test data in his cumulative folder. They should know something of the environment in which the child lives outside the school.

TOO CROWDED

But in many schools, the teacher is confronted with five classes a day, totalling 175 students. On the basis of an eight-hour working day, the teacher has about two minutes of class-time and one minute outside the class per student per day.

Even so, mass education can be individualized, especially for small groups of students needing specific assistance.

For example, in one junior high school, students below grade level in reading were placed in platoons. Each group of students moved from classroom to classroom for various subjects but remained together throughout the day for at least four classes.

★ ★ ★

The four or five teachers of a platoon met once or twice a week either before school or at lunchtime. Prior to each meeting, a few students were singled out for discussion. Thus, each teacher had time to consider a pupil's educational background and personal characteristics.

COUNSELOR ASSISTS

Serious cases were referred to the school counselor for assistance. Since the group of teachers could describe in some detail a student's academic shortcomings, the counselor was in a better position to be of assistance.

The student having the backing and moral support of all of his teachers, plus the help of the counselor, will usually put forth the necessary effort to salvage himself.

With special emphasis on the practice of appropriate reading skills in each class, the student makes rapid progress. While reading is the key to success in all other subjects, shortcomings in communicative skills of writing and reciting also respond to this concerted approach.

The Many Lives Of Lady Bird Johnson . . . Woman, Doer, Wife And Mother

Women's Section

Lady Bird Set Pace for Service During '65

By JOY MILLER
AP Women's Editor

They marched, they picketed, they sat in, they stood in silent vigil — for world peace, for civil rights, for what they called academic freedom, for social justice.

They formed human chains to defy bulldozers threatening historic buildings and century-old trees.

They organized committees to beautify where they lived.

They helped the poor, the sick, children without a future, old people without hope.

ANSWERED CALL

By the thousands they answered the First Lady's call to become doers.

These were American women in 1965.

For many women the indefatigable First Lady, Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, set the pace — and frequently the task. For her two major projects, Headstart and Beautification, an army of willing volunteers took up the banner.

★ ★ ★

Her press secretary, Elizabeth Carpenter, said that not only are 100,000 women participating in Project Headstart, designed to help underprivileged preschool children overcome the cultural lag, but it has inspired many of them to become active in their communities.

★ ★ ★

As for beautification, she said from her desk in the White House where she sat knee-deep in seeds and flower bulbs and tiny trees mailed in by gardening enthusiasts the country over, "This beautification is getting out of hand; you open a letter and flower seeds fall out.

COMMUNITY LEADERSHIP

"One byproduct is that it's creating a whole group of women getting training at community action. They're serving community apprenticeships now, and say in five years when there's an opening on the city council, there will be women qualified and ready to take it on."

In her 1965 activities to help her husband's program Mrs. Johnson never stinted in time, effort and energy.

For a more beautiful America she placed well-shod foot to spade to turn a healthy chunk of soil at innumerable tree plantings.

★ ★ ★

She toured and spoke for the highway beautification bill as far away as the Grand Tetons. While most Americans seemed to rally to her call there were some holdouts, as witness a highway billboard sign in Great Falls, Mont.: "Impeach Lady Bird."

★ ★ ★

She stuffed cabinet wives into a bus and took them on a two-day tour through scenic Virginia to popularize the President's Visit the U.S.A. program. She led her Committee for a More Beautiful Capital on a yacht tour down the polluted Potomac.

★ ★ ★

To point up "the challenge of ugliness in our land," she starred in an hour-long color television tour of Washington.

VISITED POOR

For the anti-poverty campaign she visited pockets of poverty, talking with families in their shacks, children in their schoolrooms.

Although public speaking will never be her favorite way to spend the time, she made addresses on many occasions on many subjects, and delighted the first 11 graduates of the College of the Virgin Islands with a commencement speech.

★ ★ ★

To encourage the arts she attended opera, theater, art gallery, movie openings; she invited top performers to entertain at White House functions.

★ ★ ★

As First Hostess for the nation she entertained royalty in the East Room, poets and artists in the Rose Garden, heads of state at barbecues at the Johnsons' Texas ranch and dinners in the State Dining Room.

★ ★ ★

Women doers from around the nation were asked to lunch with Mrs. Johnson at the White House every so often.

★ ★ ★

She kept incredibly busy, but even as women envied her energy and get-up-and-go, many were leading as complex, productive active lives themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Fredericks of Bloomfield Hills announce the engagement of their daughter Marcia Ann to Edward J. McGratty III, son of the junior McGrattys of Bloomfield Village.

MARCIA ANN FREDERICKS

Marcia Fredericks Sets Date

Summer wedding plans were revealed by Marcia Ann Fredericks at a New Year's Day dinner in the Bloomfield Hills home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman J. Fredericks.

The bride-elect is a graduate of the Newton College of the Sacred Heart in Boston.

Her fiance, Edward J. McGratty III, son of the junior McGrattys of Bloomfield Village, is a graduate of Loyola School, New York and Holy Cross College, Worcester, Mass. He holds a law degree from the University of Michigan.

Or Inform the Parents

Counsel the Youngsters

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a 15-year-old son who is a good boy, an honor student and has many friends.

ABBY

One young couple (his age) come here several nights a week and use my parlor for a lover's lane. These kids sit in the dark, hugging and kissing for hours.

I am sure their parents don't know that this goes on. Once I heard the girl tell her mother on the phone that she was at a party with a "bunch of kids" at my son's house. (No one was here but her and her boyfriend and my son, who stayed upstairs studying most of the time.)

I am a widow and am invited out occasionally, but I don't like to leave those kids alone in my house. What should I do, Abby?

Tell my son to ask his friends not to come over any more? Or should I tell them? Should their parents be told?

UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: If you refuse the kids the use of your parlor, you'll only force them to find another rendezvous.

Here is an excellent opportunity to help two youngsters who desperately need it. They are playing with dynamite and need to be warned against the dangers of too much togetherness charged up with natural emotions.

If you can't (or won't) counsel these kids, then you'd be doing them a favor by telling their parents. Enlightenment is in order here, not punishment.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who plans to remarry in March. I have two teen-age sons who will keep their father's name as I feel they are too old to be legally adopted by my new husband and thereby take his name as I will.

It always seems so strange to me when children do not have the same name as their mother. Would it be proper for me to keep my children's father's name (say it was Brown) and then add my new husband's name (say it was Smith)?

I would then be Mrs. Brown-Smith, and therefore have something in common with my children's name.

NAME PROBLEM

DEAR NAME: No, it is not proper for you to keep your first husband's name, even though your children will retain it.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Will you please permit me to sound off about a matter that is becoming increasingly disgusting? Tight pants for boys and men!

It was bad enough when women started pulling those stretch things over their posteriors, revealing every curve. But these skin-tight trousers for men are the limit. To add to the problem the cuffs are so narrow that they can't get the pants on or off without taking their shoes off.

The days of buying a growing boy a pair of trousers with little room for him to "grow into them" has passed. When they buy pants brand new, they are so tight-fitting that if the kid gains six ounces he can't get the pants back on with a crowbar.

I won't even mention how terrible I think they LOOK. Am I alone?

DISGUSTED IN SYCAMORE

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a hostess who asks, "Would you like a cold drink, a sandwich, coffee or something?" Then she sits on her bottom without making a motion toward the kitchen?

Shouldn't a hostess place the refreshments in front of her guests without any hemming and hawing? I know that 99 out of 100 people would really like to have something, but when it is put to them like this they say, "No, thank you, don't go to any bother."

OFTEN A GUEST

DEAR OFTEN: The hostess who "offers" refreshments in such a half-hearted gesture is hoping she'll be turned down because she's too lazy to move.

Yes, the hostess who sincerely wants to serve her guests doesn't "inquire" — she acts.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FEELING GUILTY" IN TROY: You are foolishly living with guilt because of ignorance and misinformation. What you don't know about how to live a normal, satisfying married life not only COULD fill a book, but it has. I recommend Dr. J. B. Trainer's PHYSIOLOGIC FOUNDATIONS FOR MARRIAGE COUNSELING. Every person who is considering marriage, or who is now married, should read this book.

Hate to write letters? Send one dollar to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Will There Be a White House Wedding?

WASHINGTON (AP)—The president was delighted when the younger of his two daughters, a lively teen-ager, confided that she wanted to marry.

★ ★ ★

He thoroughly approved of her young man, and without a moment's hesitation he gave his consent.

★ ★ ★

So Maria Hester Monroe married Samuel L. Gouverneur, her father's private secretary, in the first White House wedding of a president's daughter.

LUCI NEXT?

The pressing question now, nearly a century and half later: Will 18-year-old Luci Baines Johnson become the seventh daughter of a chief executive to be married at 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue?

★ ★ ★

After all, Washington society has been waiting more than 50 years—ever since Eleanor Wilson in 1914, in fact—for another president's child to marry in the executive mansion.

★ ★ ★

Whenever a president with a marriageable daughter takes office, the capital's socialites are caught up in a euphoric state of anticipation.

Besides Maria Monroe and the Wilson girls, the marrying first daughters were Elizabeth Tyler, Ellen Grant and Alice Roosevelt.

ONLY SON

The only son to say "I do" in the East Room—where Abigail Adams used to hang the family wash and which later, and unrelatedly, became the favorite room for weddings—was Abigail's grandson, young John Adams, son of President John Quincy Adams.

He married his cousin, Mary Hellen of Washington, in 1896.

★ ★ ★

The two widower presidents marrying away from the White House kept it very simple:

President Wilson and Edith Bolling Galt in her Georgetown home on Dec. 18, 1915; and President Tyler and Julia Gardiner in New York on June 26, 1884.

Tyler also kept it secret until he and his 24-year-old bride, 30 years his junior, arrived at the White House.

NO SECRETS

Nowadays it's hardly possible for the president's family to keep secrets of marital magnitude.

★ ★ ★

Back in 1820, when James Monroe's 17-year-old daughter Maria was setting a precedent, press coverage went like this: Two days after the wedding—on March 9—the Washington Intelligencer carried a one-sentence notice of the event.

AP Wirephoto

The former Alice Roosevelt, 21, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt (right) is shown with her husband, Nicholas Longworth, 36, Ohio Congressman, at the time of their wedding in the White House on Feb. 17, 1906. The pressing question today is: Will 18-year-old Luci Baines Johnson become the seventh daughter of a chief executive to be wed in the White House?

Future Vows Announced

A Feb. 19 wedding is being planned by Gayle Rae Lahti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Lahti of Wixom, and Edward James Kaurala, son of Mrs. Fred Moreau of Southfield and the late Edward Kaurala.

★ ★ ★

Her fiance attended Northern Michigan University in Marquette.

The Robert S. Brummelers of Holly announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Margaret, to Edwin Hubert Hartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hartz of Holly. They are graduates of Michigan State University and Western Michigan University respectively.

MARY MARGARET BRUMMELER

U. of M. Band Will Play

Area music enthusiasts are anticipating Feb. 2 when the University of Michigan Symphony Band will perform at 8 p.m. in Pontiac Northern High School's auditorium.

★ ★ ★

Conducted by Dr. William D. Revelli, who has directed the group since 1935, the band presents concerts on campus and in the state, as well as concert tours throughout the nation.

★ ★ ★

Its membership is composed of 110 students selected from the most musically gifted instrumentalists attending the university.

★ ★ ★

George Cavender is the band's assistant director.

★ ★ ★

Acclaimed on its annual tour engagements including Carnegie Hall, the Philadelphia Academy of Music and Boston Symphony Hall, the band attained international recognition in 1961 when it was selected to present an extensive series of concerts in the Soviet Union and Near East.

★ ★ ★

The tour was sponsored by the President's International Cultural Exchange Program, and Michigan's was the first university band to be presented on such a mission by the U. S. Department of State.

EXTENSIVE TOUR

The band traveled to the Soviet Union, Egypt, Greece, Turkey, Jordan, Cyprus, Lebanon, Rumania and Poland on a 15-week, 30,000 mile concert tour.

★ ★ ★

General admission and reserved section seats for the performance are $1 and $2, respectively. They may be purchased from area junior or senior high school band members or at Calbi Music Co., Grinnell Brothers or Morris Music Center.

Cupid Winks Eye at Area Couples

If you have any doubts that Cupid was busy in the Pontiac area during 1965, take a look at these figures:

Nine hundred and 33 girls announced their engagements in the Women's section. And accounts of 867 weddings were written up.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Walker Jr. and children, Christy, Joseph III, Lisa and Steven, have returned to Midland, Texas after spending the holidays with the senior Joseph C. Walkers of West Iroquois Road.

Should She Tip Friend for Favor?

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: I have been ill and am unable to go out at the present time. A friend of mine who is a beautician has kindly offered to come to my house on her day off to do my hair.

★ ★ ★

I, of course, pay her but I am not at all sure what to do about giving her a tip. Because she is a friend I have been hesitant about giving her one for fear of offending her.

Will you please tell me the correct thing to do in this situation.

A: Instead of giving her a tip which could very possibly offend her, you might buy her a gift as a token of your appreciation.

★ ★ ★

Q: Recently my husband's mother passed away. She was very dear to me. Am I being overly sensitive in feeling slighted when sympathy cards arrive addressed to my husband alone?

I feel a deep hurt — perhaps unnecessarily so — whenever a card is so addressed. May I please have your opinion on this?

A: While it would have been more polite to have included your name on these cards, addressing them to your husband alone, as the one most closely bereaved, was not wrong and in no way slighting to you.

★ ★ ★

Q: I am going to be married the end of next month and would like to know if it is necessary to invite the boyfriend of one of my bridesmaids to the reception.

★ ★ ★

They are not engaged, although she has been seeing him quite steadily for the past several months.

A: As they are not engaged, there is no obligation to invite him. However, if you can include him it would be very nice to do so and will surely please your friend.

The Emily Post Institute offers readers booklets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette.

'Weatherman' Is One Qualified Gal

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Not long ago I wrote a column about romance, in which I said that the knowledge that she is adored makes a woman feel young and look young.

I also asked my readers to write and tell me who they believe to be the more romantic, men or women. I can only print a few of the letters, and not the entire letter, but I want to bring you some excerpts.

I think you will get a laugh out of some of them and others may give you food for thought.

A man writes: "Who is the more romantic, man or woman? Obviously, man is more romantic than woman. Who stands below the balcony in the moonlight singing a serenade?

"Who sings ballads in the gondolas of Venice? Who composes nearly all of the poems of love? Who writes songs of romance? Who builds the home? Men do!

"When I presented this kind of evidence to my wife in my usual egotistical way, she had several things to say which made some sense.

"Granted that man is the motivating, convincing and romantic lover before marriage, he too becomes strained by daily routine. He is so convinced he is romantic that he seldom feels the need to demonstrate it.

"My wife says that man's covered-up, romantic attitude is about as useful as the Mona Lisa would be in our attic.

WON'T ADMIT IT

"Men are afraid to admit romantic tendencies or outwardly show them, especially in the presence of other men. It's not manly or mature or businesslike or in the correct image!

"Well, anyhow, after my wife explained these things to me, I wasn't quite so sure that it is obvious that man is more romantic than woman — but he is. Right men? Right!"

★ ★ ★

A woman writes, "When I told my husband that I would like for him to give me a hug and kiss when he returns home from work because I miss him during the day, he looked at me as though I had flipped my lid."

From a woman: "Definitely, men are more romantic. They are SO susceptible to romance. With an aura of feminity, a soft word of understanding, gentle persuasion and charm, a woman can work wonders. Women always seem to expect their man to be perfect and proceed to nag him to death when he isn't. It is up to the woman to revive this dormant spirit."

★ ★ ★

From a woman: "I don't feel it is so that men are more romantic than women. I have been married for many years to a lovable guy, a good provider and he is fun to be with. However, many times during my marriage I have wished that he would invite me out for dinner or give me a compliment.

"If I ask him to take me out he will go. If I ask him how I look he will say 'Great.' I wish I didn't have to ask. I am considered attractive, hold down a full-time job, plus take care of my house and family and still have enough energy left to go anywhere my husband invites me to go."

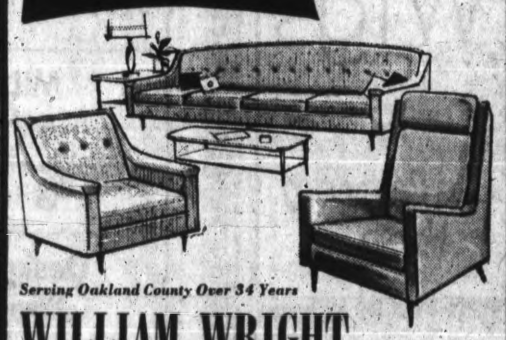

Later on I will print a few more of these letters.

If any of you would like to lose an inch or so from the abdomen and waist and firm up the arms and chinline with only a few seconds investment a day, you may want my new booklet "Isometric Exercises For Women." If so, send 20 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Evaluate Spending Habits

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

MARY FEELEY

Most of us will remember to our very last day some of the catch-phrases we used to hear around the house when we were little children.

I remember that on New Year's Day, my grandmother used to make us little ones go, in turn, and stand in front of a mirror and take a good look at the person we were going to have to live with for the rest of that year.

★ ★ ★

"Do you want to go on being the same person"? she would ask. It was a trying experience — and led to some very healthy resolutions.

★ ★ ★

A friend of mine, now in his 60's, still reacts to a catch-phrase he grew up with — the term "cold cash." To this good day, he still empties his pockets of small change once a week and puts it in the refrigerator.

★ ★ ★

He's an enterprising businessman, with a modern approach to most things in life. But this early concept of "cold cash" is a holdover he refuses to give up. He laughs about it, but he still uses the refrigerator as a home bank until he accumulates enough to deposit it in his regular savings account.

★ ★ ★

What I'm leading up to in these first few days of 1966 is this: take a New Year's look at some of your own little habits and attitudes, and see how they play a part in your daily living, for better or worse. Let's take the area of money, to start with. It's my favorite subject, because it influences so many other areas of living.

Naturally you want to reorganize the family budget at the beginning of a new year. So what should you look for? Well, secretly, look first at your little prides and prejudices — the little ways in which you spend — and don't feel you have to confess them to anybody. Just evaluate them.

Are you the gal or guy who says "I can't afford that" — but spends some of the grocery money on a spray-bottle of perfume or a taxi to keep a business appointment? Are you the man who likes to pick up the tab when friends join you at a restaurant?

Do you lecture the children on thrift — and then call your relatives long-distance when you don't really need to?

Are you the man — or woman —with an executive job who haunts the inexpensive lunch counters four days a week and then spends a fabulous amount in messenger services because it looks impressive to clients?

Do you buy a lot of clothes you don't need, under the heading: "I owe it to my husband to look well dressed?"

I know quite a number of married couples who quarrel over big expenditures — and quietly go along supporting their own little extravagances. And let me make this point clear — I'm not saying you should or should not give up your private areas of spending. I just say look the situation over, and see whether what you're doing is really worth what you're paying for it.

There may come a year — and 1966 may be it — when you decide to transfer the small extravagances into a sounder family plan for some larger — and more meaningful — objectives.

Be in Love With Love

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (UPI)— It takes more than billing and cooing to make a really successful marriage, a psychiatrist reported at a marriage seminar held at Purdue University.

★ ★ ★

Dr. O. Spurgeon English said love for each other by the nuptial partners is not enough. He said the couple must love the institution of marriage as much as each loves truth, honesty and justice.

Speaks in Alabama

Don't Coerce Negroes—Katzenbach

MOBILE, Ala., (AP) — U.S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, returning to Alabama for the first time in three years, says that persons who try to intimidate Negro citizens will collide head-on with the federal government.

The attorney general — who confronted Gov. George C. Wallace in 1962 on the campus of the University of Alabama — was warmly received by an integrated audience of 4,400 persons last night.

"I have a message for those noisy few who may entertain thoughts of trying to frighten or coerce a Negro citizen — or any citizen — from trying to register to vote. If you do, you will have the federal governfent to reckon with," he said.

Katzenbach warned against outward intimidation and the more subtle forms. He promised action against night riders — explaining later that this was aimed at the Ku Klux Klan.

* * *

"And we will not hesitate to act just as quickly on evidence of other attempts at intimidation in any county. Investigations of possible intimidation efforts are now under way in Lowndes and Wilcox counties (Alabama)," he said.

* * *

This apparently was in reference to an announcement last week by the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee that it had bought some land near Lowndesboro to accommodate Negro families it claims have been forced off farms by owners because of voting rights activities.

The Justice Department plans to send out letters shortly "to the voting officials of every county and precinct covered by the Voting Rights Act explaining to them their duties — and our duties — under the act," Katzenbach said.

The municipal auditorium meeting, a civil rights rally, was sponsored by three predominantly Negro organizations to observe the 103rd anniversary of the Emancipation Proclamation. About 100 whites were in the group.

* * *

His welcome here, Katzenbach said, was much warmer "than I experienced the last time I came to Alabama, as a visiting lecturer in constitutional law at the University of Alabama."

WAS DEPUTY

This was in reference to his duty as deputy to then Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy to enforce court orders admitting two Negro students to the once all-white university at Tuscaloosa. Wallace sought to bar the students in a confrontation with Katzenbach at a doorway.

He said there are still 900,000 Negroes unregistered in the seven states covered by the Voting Rights Act.

Alert Bus Driver Spots Fire

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Flames were pouring from the top of a three-story apartment building on Pittsburgh's north side.

It was 8 a.m. yesterday and no one was about. But police said a bus driver bound from Pittsburgh to Detroit spotted the fire.

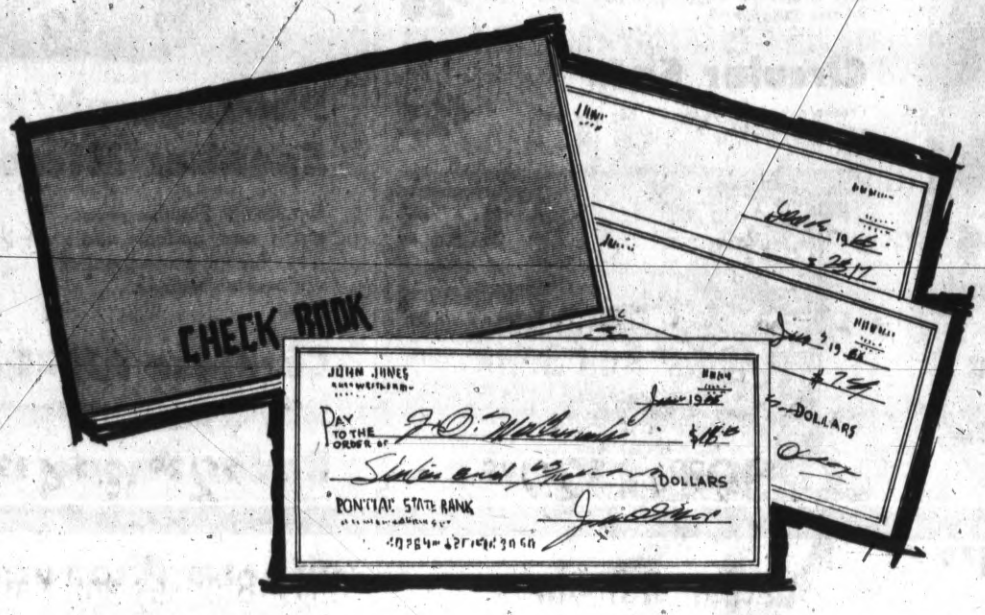

* * *

John C. Olliffe of suburban Pittsburgh, a Greyhound bus driver for 29 years, stopped his bus, gave an alarm and then raced through the building waking up more than a score of residents.

No one was injured. Damage was estimated at $15,000.

Wintry Storm, in High Gear, Grips Wide Area of Country; Idaho Ski Resort Cut Off

By The Associated Press

A powerful storm has dumped a half foot of snow over a wide belt from the upper Midwest to New England, closing schools and highways today and making driving treacherous.

The snow has generally tapered off across the Midwest, but powerful driving winds were blowing the snow into drifts, worsening driving conditions.

★ ★ ★

Idaho officials shooed all but emergency vehicles off 250 miles of roads between Moscow and the tiny ski resort village of McCall Sunday as falling snow made travel impossible.

Resort owners said about 500 college students were trapped in McCall, crowding as many as eight to a room with little hope of making classes today.

TURNED BACK

Police turned back students attempting to drive from McCall. Both the University of Idaho, Moscow, and Washington State University, Pullman, said rolls would not be called today although classes would be in session.

Depths reportedly reached 18 inches as the snow continued to fall in Idaho and Washington. Drifts were four feet deep in places. A foot of snow covered Oregon highways north of the California border and more than 10 southbound cars were tied up for five hours as snowplows heaved snow from Interstate 5 at the Siskiyou summit. Drifts there were measured at five feet.

Highway patrolmen at Yureka and Weed in North California halted some 200 vehicles because of snow, allowing through only those equipped with chains.

★ ★ ★

A different storm heaped more than two feet of snow on some parts of the Great Lakes states before traveling east. An early morning measurement of 25 inches was made at Houghton, Mich., and 8-inch depths were recorded in northern Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Snow and ice made driving a nerve-wracking chore for football fans bound from Milwaukee and Chicago to Sunday's National Football League championship game in Green Bay, Wis. Police said traffic was backed up for six miles near Oshkosh at one point.

2 Wounded; Wife Is Held

MUSKEGON HEIGHTS (AP) —Mrs. Leona Moseler, 46, adviser to the Miss Michigan Pageant and a former model, was held by police today for investigation in connection with the New Year's Day shooting of her husband and another woman.

MRS. MOSELER

Mrs. Moseler, former charm course instructor, was held by Muskegon Heights police at a hospital where she was treated for shock and an overdose of drugs.

★ ★ ★

Her husband, Lawrence, 49, a Chesapeake & Ohio Railway conductor, and Mrs. Eleanor Anderson, 43, a supermarket bakery manager, were hospitalized with gunshot wounds.

Moseler was reported in fair condition. Mrs. Anderson, a divorcee, was reported in serious condition, paralyzed from the waist down.

★ ★ ★

Police Chief James Farkas said Moseler and Mrs. Anderson were shot at Mrs. Anderson's home.

Thousands Mob Palace in Upper Volta

OUAGADOUGOU, Upper Volta (AP) — Police fired tear gas at thousands of demonstrators swarming around the presidential palace today after the government of this west African nation seized emergency powers.

Many in the crowd called for the army to take power. Police hurled tear gas grenades when demonstrators threatened to storm the palace.

★ ★ ★

The political climate in Upper Volta has been tense since President Maurice Yameogo declared a state of emergency Sunday. He announced he had uncovered a plot led by Joseph Ouedraogo, a union leader and former National Assembly president.

Reports said the alleged plot was Communist-inspired. There was no word on the whereabouts of Ouedraogo.

★ ★ ★

President Yameogo declared a state of emergency after a military coup Saturday in the Cenfral African Republic, another former French colony 900 miles to the east. Both countries gained independence in 1960.

★ ★ ★

The demonstrations outside the palace took place during a general strike in Ouagadougou. The strike blacked out telephone service and the state radio.

Pro-Red Guerrillas Ambush Burma Patrol

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Pro-Communist Karen guerrillas ambushed a government patrol Sunday near Tavoy, killing 12 soldiers and injuring three.

Reinforcements were rushed from a nearby camp to the scene 150 miles southeast of Rangoon. The rebels retreated after a four-bour gun battle.

Glider Darkens Homes

GATESHEAD, England (UPI) —About 25,000 homes in this northeast England area were hit by an 81-minute power failure yesterday when the tow rope of a glider fell across two high tension power cables. The glider was undamaged in the incident, an electricity board spokesman said.

Wasps, birds, otters, elephants and apes are among the relatively few animals which use simple tools.

INHUMAN BEING — This is an artist's concept of an inhuman being — a life-size, lifelike mannequin, controlled by a computer — being developed in Los Angeles to help train hospital residents in anesthesiology. The model also will be used for drills in proper administration of drugs, proper placing of oxygen face masks, testing of the doctor's reaction to a massive heart attack and in other anesthesiological techniques.

County Judges to Appeal Ruling on Terms of Office

Two Oakland County circuit judges will appeal a court ruling upholding a state law that extended their terms of office.

The ruling was made recently by Macomb County Circuit Judge George R. Deneweth in connection with a test case initiated by judges Philip Pratt and James S. Thorburn.

They had challenged the power of the legislature to extend their terms from 1966 to 1970, thereby making it unnecessary for them to seek reelection this year.

Deneweth said the state statute, adopted by the Legislature in October, does not violate the new state constitution.

★ ★ ★

According to Pratt, an appeal will be filed within two weeks, along with a motion to the State Supreme Court to bypass the Michigan Court of Appeals.

APRIL DEADLINE

If the motion is accepted, the high court could possibly render a decision before April 1, the deadline for incumbent judges to file an affidavit of intent to seek reelection.

Both judges have expressed a desire to run for reelection this year rather than having their terms automatically extended.

The new law also affects two circuit judges in Wayne County and another in Washtenaw County.

★ ★ ★

The legislation, according to Pratt and Thorburn, has created confusion because the wording of the statute is unclear.

Comic Strip Adviser Dies in Connecticut

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UPI) — Mrs. Edith Fabbrini Branner, the woman who provided the inspiration for "Winnie Winkle" of the comics, died yesterday after a brief illness. She was 73.

She was the wife of Martin M. Branner, creator of the comic strip. For 45 years, she advised her husband of the latest in women's fashions. Winnie thus remained one of the best dressed females in the comics.

More species of flowering plants are found in California than any other state. Of some 30,000 different plants in the United States, a sixth grow in California.

Mannequin to Present Human Side

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Come 1967, Los Angeles County General Hospital will present its young doctors with a medic's dream: a patient on whom they can practice without fear of making a mistake.

The model patient will be an inhuman being, made mostly of plastic and controlled by a computer.

★ ★ ★

The life-size, lifelike mannequin, to be built under a $280,000 Department of Health, Education and Welfare grant to the University of Southern California, will be used to help train hospital residents in anesthesiology.

The mannequin will breathe, have a pulse and heartbeat, open and close its eyes, dilate its pupils, open its mouth and stick out its tongue, wrinkle its eyebrows, tense and relax its vocal cords, twitch shoulder muscles, cough, regurgitate, change color from pink to blue to ashen gray and react to varying doses of 10 different drugs.

FREEZE BUTTON

If the doctor errs with a live patient, it's a serious matter. With the inhuman being, an instructor can simply hit the "freeze" button on the computer console, take time out to comment, then revive the mannequin and resume the operation.

USC and Aerojet-General Corp. will collaborate on technical details of the project, expected to take about 22 months.

World Farm Production Up in 1965

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department reports that world farm production last year increased by 1.5 per cent over 1964 and the production of food goods increased by 1 per cent.

But those gains, the department said in its annual survey, were offset by a population gain of 2 per cent. Because of this, the report said, the per-capita food supply was estimated at 100 per cent of the 1957-59 average, down 1 per cent from 1964.

★ ★ ★

The report said production rose faster than population in only two areas — the Western Hemisphere and Western Europe. Total production fell in Eastern Europe and the Soviet Union. In Asia, the total output was higher, the Agriculture Department study said, but the output per person sagged.

African production was generally satisfactory, the study said, and the output in Latin America reached a new over-all high.

Its annual edition of "U.S. Industrial Outlook" shows that substantial gains will be made in the aerospace, aluminum, electronics, computer, photographic and scientific equipment industries.

The auto industry expects to match its 1965 output of 9.3 million units, the study said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Business will be better than ever for many American businessmen this year, says the Commerce Department.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite the rising costs of the Viet Nam war, 1966 will not be a slowdown year for welfare spending, says Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner.

Interviewed on NBC's radio-television program "Meet the Press," Gardner said most of the great society programs will cost more money in 1966 than last year. He said, however, that because of the war some of the increases will be trimmed slightly.

Water Divides Town

Phoenix Still Flood-Locked

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Phoenix remained flood-locked today and a "critical" natural gas shortage has developed in a large part of the city and suburbs.

Despite a big drop in the flow of water in the Salt River, Phoenix is virtually cut in half. Only three crossings link the north and south portions.

★ ★ ★

The Arizona Public Service Co., reported that some 25,000 customers in northeast Phoenix and the suburbs of Paradise Valley and Scottsdale could be without gas because three of seven main gas lines under the Salt River were washed out. Another line southeast of Phoenix is endangered.

Customers have been asked to conserve gas. Several industrial users were informed that rationing may be enforced.

WATERS RECEDE

Floodwaters have receded to their lowest since reservoir floodgates were opened late Thursday to release runoff from record December storms which filled six reservoirs to brimful.

Of the 8,000 persons forced to flee their homes at the height of the flood, only 40 were homeless Sunday night. They live in the tiny community of Allenville, southwest of Phoenix.

★ ★ ★

A drowning reported earlier has been discounted by sheriff's officers as unfounded.

Officials said the flood damage may top $10 million.

Driver Arrested After a Chase

A high-speed chase through Waterford Township and city streets early yesterday morning resulted in the arrest of an 18-year-old Pontiac youth.

The youth, Charles E. Wyrick, 567 E. Tennyson, reportedly ran seven red lights and six stop signs before he was arrested by township policeman Daniel Coakley at about 4 a.m.

Speeds of both vehicles reached 110 miles per hour, according to Coakley, who had observed Wyrick's speeding car on West Huron in the township.

Wyrick, who failed to pay heed to lights and a siren, nearly struck three parked cars on Glendale, Coakley said.

Coakley eventually summoned Pontiac police who set up a road block at Wide Track and Auburn. Wyrick was apprehended at West Huron and Wide Track.

Charged with reckless driving and endangering life and property, Wyrick was to have appeared before Township Justice Kenneth Hempstead today.

Brooms Foil Leaflet Drop at Disneyland

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — An attempt to "bomb" Disneyland with hundreds of anti-Viet Nam war leaflets was frustrated when work crews cleaned up the adjacent parking lot before dawn yesterday, police reported.

Officers said none of the 5-by-10 inch leaflets landed inside the amusement park. The work crews gathered up the material for burning.

★ ★ ★

Long Beach police reported that about 200 of the leaflets also were dropped by plane last Saturday night on the Long Beach Naval Station, about 18 miles west of here, and landed on the USS Hector.

Dahomey Breaks Ties With Communist China

COTONOU, Dahomey (UPI) — The 12-day-old government of army chief Gen. Christophe Soglo has decided to break diplomatic relations with Communist China, government sources said today.

It gave the Peking mission here 72 hours to leave the country, they said.

It Is a Man's War— but the Men Are Boys

By TOM TIEDE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CHINH TAMS, Viet Nam (NEA) — The average age of the combat GI in many units here is 18½.

And what a man he is!

A pink - cheeked, tousled - haired, tight - muscled fellow who, under normal circumstances, would be considered by society as half-man, half-boy, not yet dry behind the ears, a pain in the unemployment chart.

But, here and now, he is the beardless hope of free man.

★ ★ ★

He is for the most part unmarried and without material possessions except for possibly an old car at home and a transistor radio here.

ROCK AND ROLL

He listens to rock and roll —and 105mm howitzers.

He just got out of high school within the past year, received so - so grades, played a little football, and had a girl who broke up with him when he went overseas or who swears she is still faithful although he is half the world away.

He has learned to like beer by now because it is cold and because it is "the thing to do." He smokes because he gets free cigarettes in his C-ration package and it is also the thing to do.

He is a Private First Class. A one-year military veteran with one more to go.

FUTURE CLOUDY

His eyes are clear but his future is not.

He never cared much for work, preferred waxing his own car to washing his father's, but he is now 10 or 20 pounds lighter than before because he is working or fighting from dawn to dark, often longer.

He still has trouble spelling, and writing letters home is a painful process. But he can break down a rifle in 30 seconds and put it back together again in 29.

★ ★ ★

He can describe the nomenclature of a fragmentation grenade, explain how a machine gun operates and, of course, utilize either if the need arises.

DIGS FOXHOLES

He can also dig foxholes, apply professional first aid to a wounded companion, march until he is told to stop or stop until he is told to march.

He obeys now, without hesitation. But he is not broken.

He has seen more suffering than he should have in his short life.

★ ★ ★

He has stood among hills of bodies and he has helped to construct those hills.

PALS HAVE FALLEN

He has wept in private and in public, and he has not been ashamed either place, because his pals have fallen in battle and he has come close to joining them.

And he has become self-sufficient; he has two pairs of fatigues, washes one and wears the other.

He sometimes forgets to brush his teeth, but not his rifle.

★ ★ ★

CAN COOK

He can cook his own meals, fix his own hurts and mend his own rips — material or mental.

He will share his water with you if you thirst, break his rations in half if you hunger, split his ammunition if you are fighting for your life.

He can do the work of two civilians, draw half the pay of one and find ironic humor in it all.

★ ★ ★

He has learned to use his hands as a weapon and his weapon as his hands.

WHAT A MAN!

He can save a life, or most assuredly take one.

★ ★ ★

Eighteen-and-a-half years old.

★ ★

What a man he is.

Russell Backs Buildup

Opposes N-Weapons in Viet

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, says he presently would discount nuclear weapons for use in the Viet Nam war even if peace efforts fail.

Though any escalation of the war should be limited to conventional weapons, he said more manpower and more extensive use of weapons such as bombers will be required.

★ ★ ★

In a news panel program televised by WAGA-TV Sunday night, Russell said "it undoubtedly would mean the use of a great many more men."

In an interview, he said the number of American troops might reach 400,000.

WOULD CLOSE PORT

Russell said he favors closing the key Communist port of Haiphong but disagrees with Rep. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., House Armed Services Committee chairman, who has called for carrying the war to Red China if necessary.

"I don't think we can justify attacking China," Russell said. He said that the Chinese Reds have not committed overt aggression and their aid to the Viet Cong is not sufficient reason for attacking them.

★ ★ ★

Russell said it was a mistake to allow the East-West confrontation to take place in Southeast Asia. He said the Communists should have been stopped in Cuba. "We very foolishly let them select the battlefield instead of facing them in Cuba," he said.

Russell said the United States probably will clash eventually with Red China unless something intervenes; but, "as of today, I think the chances are fair that they will have a war with Russia before they will with us."

Middle-Class Housing Planned in Hong Kong

A government spokesman said the apartments would be rented to "middle class" workers. The township is scheduled to be completed in 1969.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, is Time magazine's 1965 man of the year.

Malaria Proves Tough Foe on South Viet Nam Battleground

AP SPECIAL REPORT

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A one-story, U-shaped wooden building here was intended to be an enlisted men's club. Instead, it is filled with double-decker steel bunks, all most all of them occupied by U.S. servicemen stricken with malaria.

Qui Nhon, on the coast 360 miles northeast of Saigon, is the home of the U.S. Army's 85th Evacuation Hospital, where most of the malaria cases in central Viet Nam are treated.

★ ★ ★

Many of the patients are members of the 1st Cavalry, airmobile, Division. The division surgeon, Lt. Col. James E. McCarthy, has reported more than 700 cases of malaria, six fatal, since Sept. 16.

The fight against malaria goes on in other places, too. In Bangkok and at Washington's Walter Reed Hospital, work is intensified on the drive to prevent and treat malaria.

DEVELOPMENTS

For all the hundreds of years of familiarity with malaria, no drug has been developed which succeeds like the vaccine used against smallpox. As antimalaria drugs are developed and tested, a new resistant strain of malaria crops up to offset the effects.

This is the problem now in Viet Nam.

The first case of malaria resisting the once successful drug chloroquine was found in an American civilian working in Colombia, South America, in 1960. The chloroquine-resistant strain also was found in an American sailor stationed in Thailand in 1961.

The resistant strain or strains fall under one type of malaria —plasmodium falciparum. Falcip, as it is known, was detected several years ago and cures have been found for its varying strains. Since 1960, however, new drug-resistant strains have been appearing.

'A PROTOZOA'

Dr. Tony Bourke, a member of a U.S. Army medical research team in Saigon, says: "Malaria is a protozoa. It is one of the few we're not yet able to grow and study in the laboratory."

★ ★ ★

Bourke's chief, Dr. Robert Joy, adds: "If we had an artificial medium in which to grow malaria, we'd be a lot more successful."

At the hospital here in Qui Nhon, Dr. Richard Reba, Adelphia, Md., heads a three-man team which concentrates on treatment.

"The biggest problem we had was to decide which was the best method to treat patients. No one realized the magnitude of the problem," Reba said.

DIVIDE GROUPS

Reba and his team of Drs. Richard Gaitner, Baltimore, and Tom Neff, Lincoln, Neb., divided groups of patients for different treatment.

They gave five types of treatments:

Oral chloroquine, intramuscular chloroquine, oral quinine, oral atabrine, and a combination of oral chloroquine and quinine.

★ ★ ★

For each type of treatment, they classified patient response, cure, failure and relapse.

"We were able to keep the patients long enough to find chloroquine and quinine a good combination. Quinine is the only thing we have confidence in. It at least makes a guy well enough to travel," Reba said.

Of nearly 1,000 malaria patients treated at the Qui Nhon hospital, eight have died. Each suffered complications, contracting either renal or cerebral malarie. An equal number of severe cases recovered with few aftereffects.

One factor in fighting malaria is environmental control and it poses a major problem. How do you spray thousands of square miles of jungle with antimalaria chemicals or dry up thousands of pools of stagnant water to eliminate the mosquito that carries the malaria protozoa?

★ ★ ★

The Viet Cong control much of the countryside, and medical teams can't enter many villages to treat known cases of malaria.

The 1st Cavalry had its first case of malaria 15 days after its arrival in September. Since then, the lines on the charts showing the incidence rate have gone up and down. When they declined at the base camp in An Khe, the lines rose sharply after troops began operations in such places as Ia Drang Valley.

LEAVE S. VIET

Treatment covers six weeks or more. Due to limited facilities in Viet Nam, most patients are sent to hospitals in Honolulu, Guam, Japan, Okinawa or the Philippines.

Do the Viet Cong suffer from malaria?

Dr. Jeri Svjagintsev, Estonian-born commander of the 15th Medical Battalion at An Khe, reported:

"I talked with a Viet Cong doctor captured by the 1st Cavalry when they discovered a VC field hospital in the jungles northwest of Pleiku. Through an interpreter, he said that malaria had been a problem for years and years with the VC. There was intramuscular chloroquine in quite significant quantities at the VC hospital. It was all Chinese-made."

The Viet Cong doctors said almost all the Communist guerrillas have or have had malaria and that they were treated with quinine and chloroquine in jungle hospitals.

Some American civilians working in malaria programs were critical of Vietnamese attitudes toward the problem.

★ ★ ★

An employe of the U.S. Operations Mission said:

"My Vietnamese counterparts are not taking suppressives. They don't really think about it. To them, their jobs are only a means of employment."

American military personnel and other allied troops are using suppressives; one tablet a week per man, containing a combination of chloroquine and primaquine.

N-Blast Locator Given Patent

Device Also Tells Potency of Bomb

By Science Service

WASHINGTON—A cheap but accurate method of detecting where a nuclear bomb has been exploded and how potent it was earned a patent from the U. S. Patent Office here this week.

Only three of the devices essential to the method need survive the holocaust of a bomb blast in order for officials to tell the location of the explosion and how much devastation the burst caused.

This means that if New York City were the target, for instance, and some 200 of the devices were set up around the outskirts of the city, civil defense officials could tell from only three of them where to send fire fighting equipment, ambulances and rescue crews.

The device can be manufactured for less than $20, "probably considerably less," its inventor told Science Service.

★ ★ ★

Daniel W. Furman said his company, Dunlap and Associates, Inc., Stamford, Conn., is planning further development of the device, which consists essentially of a specially constructed sphere that reacts to temperature and pressure changes.

MOUNTED ON ROD

The sphere is mounted on a long narrow rod in such a way that the shadow it casts because of the blast tells the direction, elevation and temperature of the explosion.

Furman said the detection system is intended to give information about a nuclear attack that would not have been detected by radar, such as one launched by missile from a submarine.

He recommends a rooftop for installing the device, since this would be readily accessible to survivors who would then take the record to a fallout shelter so that the information could be transmitted to a central command headquarters for prompt evaluation.

★ ★ ★

Rights to the "nuclear blast and overpressure detection and recording system" were assigned by Furman to Dunlap and Associates, Inc., a firm specializing in the field of operations research. The device received patent 3,226,546.

35 Freight Cars Derailed in Ontario

LEAMINGTON, Ont. (AP)—Thirty-five cars of a Chesapeake and Ohio freight train from St. Thomas en route to Detroit were derailed Sunday.

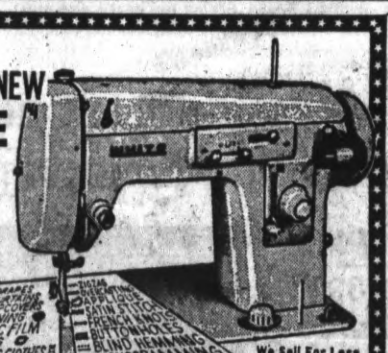

Firemen fought flames around a gasoline tank to protect six gasoline storage tanks on one side of the tracks and a lumber yard on the other. Mopping-up operations continued on a burning oil tank car.

★ ★ ★

Three engines and 10 boxcars of the 79-car train continued to Detroit. No one was injured.

RECAPS EXPLOITS — Billy Cosby (left), 25, of Lebanon, Tenn., explains how he was able to use his small size (110 pounds) to rescue a 205-pound student trapped in a cave in Cedars of Lebanon State Park in Tennessee, yesterday. Charles Ray Smith, 19, of Hermitage, Tenn., spent 22 hours in the cave after his legs were pinned by rocks. Cosby talks to Smith's brother, Richard (right) and an unidentified civil defense worker.

Little Man Rescues Big Man in Cave

LEBANON, Tenn. (AP) — Billy Cosby has taken some kidding during his 25 years because of his size.

But the ex-paratrooper said yesterday he "won't fuss no more" about his 110 pounds—a factor which played a significant part in Cosby's rescue of a 205-pound college student trapped 22 hours in a cave near here.

Charles Ray Smith, 19, of Hermitage, Tenn., was pulled from a 30-foot deep crevasse in the Cedars of Labanon State Park, after Cosby crawled behind him and attached a hook under two 40-pound rocks pinning the youth.

When the rocks were lifted, it was only a matter of minutes before Cosby — with a harness attached to his body — was hauled to the surface, with Smith clinging to the harness.

"He was so heavy that it almost tore me in half," Cosby said. "But every time I told him to do something he did it. He did as much for himself as I did."

ROCK TRAP

Smith and two companions had inspected five other caves Saturday before the huge rocks pinned his legs.

Smith, a student at Middle Tennessee State University, joked with Cosby while some 300 rescue workers tiptoed down to pump water from the hole.

Rescuers were hampered by driving rain which left the footing treacherous and by inability to use heavy machinery to cut away the walls of the pit. Machinery was brought in, but rejected when Richard Smith, father of the victim, feared vibration might cause the limestone walls to cave in.

Neither Smith nor Cosby was seriously injured. Smith, an Eagle Scout and a former star high school basketball player, was given sedation at a hospital, suffering mainly from exposure.

Cosby was checked by doctors and sent home.

Reenlistment Plan Nets Sailor $7,848

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — A six-year reenlistment by a sailor aboard the Newport-based destroyer escort Hartley will net him $7,848 under the Navy's incentive program.

* * *

Ronald E. Hassler, 22, of Wichita, Kan., took advantage of the new program effective Saturday, which offers a variable bonus to critically skilled personnel who reenlist. He is a sonar technician second class.

* * *

He received $1,569.60 in normal reenlistment and $1,046.40 in variable reenlistment bonus. He also will receive a check for $1,046.40 on the anniversary of his reenlistment for the next five years.

The earthquake that jolted Yellowstone Park in August, 1959, had the force of 2,500 nuclear bombs.

Four Explorers Rescued From Cave in France

NAMUR, Belgium (UPI) — Four French cave explorers who decided to celebrate New Year's Day underground and became trapped by a blocked exit were rescued today.

Two local cave experts descended 240 feet into the "Trou Bernard" cave at Mont-Sur-Meuse, eight miles south of here, to guide the men back to the surface.

The four men went into the came Dec. 29 but when they tried to emerge yesterday they their way blocked by a torrent of water coming from a stream at the mouth of the cave entrance.

Rescue workers last night sandbagged the bed of the stream in an attempt to divert it from the cave.

The dam held and the two rescuers were able to reach the men today. Cave experts said the four men were never in any immediate danger from the water since the cave was too large to become flooded.

'Old Soak' Turns 101

FOLKESTONE, England (UPI) — Edward Jamieson, celebrating his 101st birthday yesterday at a rest home, ducked his head in a bucket of water. "It's my recipe for a long life," he confided.

Most American Moves Are County Affair

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

Some 37 million Americans will change their address during 1966, but most will find new homes within the county they are living in now.

BOYLE

The year may be new but the custom of celebrating the start of another year isn't. Ancient Romans exchanged New Year's greetings, and so did the Egyptians as early as the 6th century, B.C.

Prosperity may be good for our health, but the fact remains that U.S. pharmacists fill an average of 1.1 million prescriptions a day.

LENGTHY TRIP

There's considerable truth to the old saying "busy as a bee." It takes a hive of bees 80,000 trips to gather the nectar for a single pound of honey.

* * *

A Japanese proverb advises, "never rely on the glory of the morning or the smile of your mother-in-law." But a study by sociologist Robert O. Blood Jr. of the University of Michigan has disclosed that, as often as not, in-laws are a help to a young couple rather than a problem.

* * *

Odd legislation: A Midwest town once had an ordinance forbidding women shoppers to try on more than six dresses in any one store.

Some 10,000 U.S. communities still don't have fluoridated water, despite its advocacy by the U.S. Public Health Service as a preventive of dental decay.

The Catholic Digest magazine reports this sign in the town square of a small Kansas municipality: "No ballplaying. No pets. No bicycle riding. No loitering. Remember, this is your park!"

* * *

Ever wonder just how long a meter is? In 1791, it was defined as one 10-millionth the distance from the equator to the North Pole.

If an Indian doesn't stay on his reservation, he doesn't get any money from his Uncle Samuel. About 380,000 Indians still dwell on reservations, some 143,000 have moved away.

Worth remembering: "A pessimist is a guy who sizes himself up — and gets sore about it."

MILITARY MEN

History lesson: Of America's 35 presidents, 21 saw actual military service but only three were wounded or injured while on duty. They were James Monroe, Rutherford B. Hayes, who was shot four times during the Civil War, and John F. Kennedy.

Turkey has a simple method of dealing with drunken driving. An intoxicated motorist is taken 20 miles away from his car and sobers up by hiking back to it under police escort.

In ancient Nineveh, there wasn't much of a parking problem. Some processional roads were reserved for royalty and posted with signs that said: "Royal road. Let no men lessen it." Any commoner who parked his chariot or other vehicle on it was slain and his body impaled on a stake before his house.

It was Gen. Douglas MacArthur who observed, "there is no security on this earth; there is only opportunity."

Denmark traditionally holds ceremonies on the Fourth of July as a tribute to the United States' Independence Day.

Session on Cityhood Tonight

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — The study committee formed to aid Farmington Township in its drive to become a city will hold its first meeting tonight.

The session will be held at 8 p.m. in the Township Hall. Regular meetings are scheduled for that time on the first and third Mondays of each month.

In a letter to registered voters last week, Township Supervisor Curtis H. Hall urged citizens to attend the sessions, which will result in recommendations on the type of municipal government best suited to the community's needs.

The letter was aimed at explaining the mechanics of incorporation and the reasons behind the Township Board's decision to seek cityhood for the unit.

★ ★ ★

Petitions calling for an election on the matter were filed with the Oakland County clerk Nov. 8.

FOR REVIEW

They are to be presented to the County Board of Supervisors which, in turn, will refer them to its boundaries committee for review and recommendation.

Date for an incorporation election will be set by the Board of Supervisors.

The incorporation move is an attempt "to prevent the fractionalizing of this community and a loss of important tax bases by annexation of parts of the township to neighboring communities," Hall said.

★ ★ ★

Filing of the petitions followed by six days an election in which a proposal to annex a portion of the township to the City of Farmington was defeated by township electors.

ANNEXATION

Not only does the board fear annexation tries by Farmington, but also by Novi and Southfield, Hall reported.

The supervisor noted that the township has invested thousands of dollars and man hours in a comprehensive plan for development of the area.

"Among the keys to this plan of development is a diversified tax base including adequate provisions for industry," he said.

"There is only one way that annexation attempts can be forestalled. Only a home rule city is immune from these grabs of its territory."

★ ★ ★

If incorporation is approved at the polls, a nine-member commission will be elected to draft a charter for the new unit.

HAVE 90 DAYS

The charter commission would have 90 days to complete its work and set a date for voting on the charter.

If the charter is turned down by the people, the commission must revise it and present it to the voters again.

"If the charter is rejected three times or if no charter is adopted within two years following the original election, the status of the territory reverts to that of a township," Hall reported.

★ ★ ★

He said it was not expected that services would vary much under either form of government.

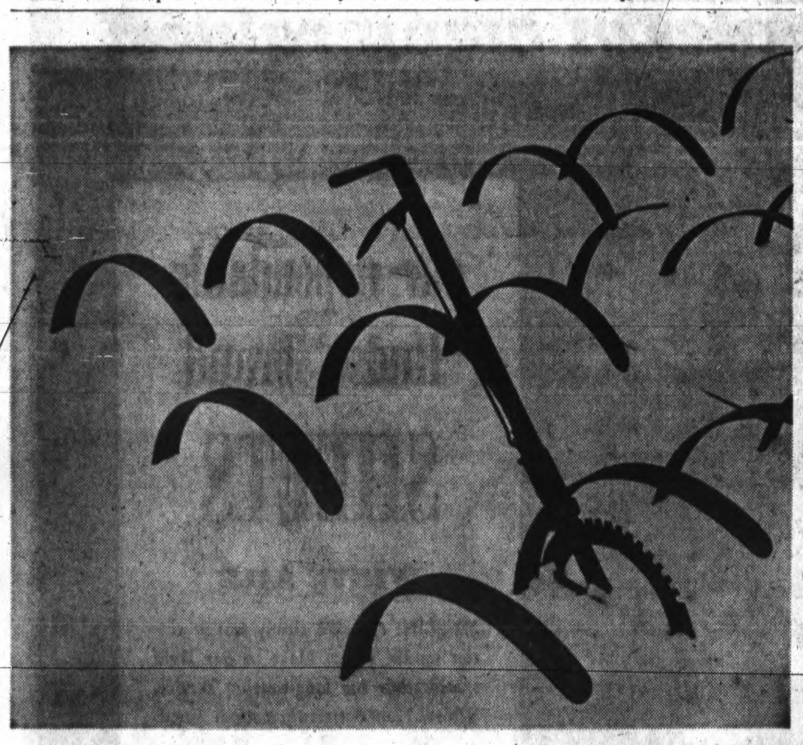

NON TAX INCOME

"A city takes on a few more obligations that a township, but the city also receives certain nontax income toward these obligations which a township does not receive," Hall said.

★ ★ ★

He also noted that a city's tax limitation is contained in its charter, while that for a township is established by the state.

The supervisor invited voters to direct further questions to township officials or the study committee.

WINTER PATTERN — A spring-toothed harrow, nearly buried in last week's snow, provided an interesting pattern which caught the eye of Pontiac Press Photographer Edward R. Noble. The harrow was resting in an Oakland Township field.

AREA NEWS

Seek Name for Proposed City in Area

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — By any other name, Farmington Township would remain basically the same.

The goal of township officials in their incorporation drive is to keep the community the same but to alter its status to that of a city.

One of the questions now being asked is: What should that city be called?

The answer would come from a charter commission, but officials are seeking public opinion on the matter.

★ ★ ★

The proposed city would include all of the area now within township limits, including the villages of Quakertown and Wood Creek Farms.

PETITIONS

On the incorporation petitions, officials tentatively used the name "City of Quakertown."

★ ★ ★

However, an opinion poll was included in a letter sent to voters last week.

They can make their own suggestions or choose one of those listed: Quakertown, Farmington Hills, Farmington Township, North Farmington, Wood Creek Farms, Farmington Heights, Farmington Woods or Clarenceville.

Districting Deadlock Goes to State Court

LANSING (AP) — The State Supreme Court now takes another crack at Michigan reapportionment and could determine as soon as this week what the next step will be.

The Secretary of State's office planned to notify the court today that reapportionment commissioners again had deadlocked over how to district the State Senate and House.

★ ★ ★

The justices, who had given the bipartisan commission 60 days in which to draft a plan, are scheduled to meet Wednesday.

Some of their alternatives appear to be:

— Ask reapportionment commissioners to submit rival districting plans for consideration by the court.

— Send the commission back to work again.

— Conduct open apportionment hearings.

— Rule the present so-called Austin-Kleiner plan in effect through 1970.

DEM PLAN

The court-approved a Democrat-drafted existing plan in June 1964, after an earlier commission deadlock and the U.S. Supreme Court's one-man one-vote decision.

★ ★ ★

But this fall, acting on a Republican suit challenging the districting, the court ordered the commission to restudy the matter. It did not throw out the existing districts.

★ ★ ★

The commissioners worked New Year's Eve, to within 66 minutes of their midnight deadline, before conceding deadlock. The main stumbling block was Senate districting in the Bay City-Saginaw area. This dispute flared against a background of differing apportionment philosophies held by each of the four-man, party-appointed sides.

Republicans contended some population disparity was all right if it led to unity and regularity of districts.

POLITICAL BOUNDARIES

If the court asks for plans, the GOP group says it will back one which crosses few political boundaries but allows up to five per cent population deviation.

Democrats said permissible disparity is unconstitutional. Most of their plans were modifications of existing districting.

Democrats bristled after adjournment Friday when Republicans immediately produced a statement for the court giving their views on the deadlock.

★ ★ ★

Democrat Robert Kleiner said the prepared statement evidenced "bad faith" in negotiations.

HOUSE PLAN

On the climactic ballot Friday night, Republicans offered to accept the existing House plan and change only six of 38 senate districts.

Democrats refused, arguing principally against splitting Saginaw from other major cities in its area. Saginaw now is joined with Bay City in a Democratic district.

Republicans rejected Democratic offers to join Saginaw with Midland. They said this might produce two Democratic districts in the area. Republicans now control the districts surrounding Saginaw-Bay City.

President Back in White House

Physician Says LBJ's in Excellent Health

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson shifted his base of operations back to the White House today, convinced he's once again in good shape and ready to face the heavy work load ahead.

The latest word from his personal physician, Vice Adm. George G. Burkley, is that Johnson is in "excellent health."

To the unscientific eye of a newsman, Johnson looks and acts much as he did before his Oct. 8 gallbladder-kidney stone operation — except that he has shed a lot of weight. The weight loss is all to the good in Burkley's opinion.

Reporters who were invited to the LBJ Ranch in Texas yesterday to be served eggnogg, coffee, cookies and candy by the President and Mrs. Johnson could detect no evidence of his earlier discomfort when he moved slowly, deliberately.

★ ★ ★

He walked with an easy stride around the ranch lawn, chatting informally with reporters and photographers and joshing some of his guests. He seemed to be in fine spirits.

MADE PREDICTION

Johnson had predicted a few weeks after surgery that he would be back at normal operating strength by the start of 1966.

His spirits and health appeared equally good earlier in the day when he attended services at St. Barnabas Episcopal Church in Fredericksburg, some 15 miles from the ranch.

In addition to directing his Viet Name peace envoys scattered around the world, Johnson still has to finish work on the "big three" messages — State of the Union, budget and economic report — to the next session of Congress beginning Jan. 10.

★ ★ ★

While Burkley or another White House doctor gives the President at least an eye-once-over every day, his last head-to-toe physical was Dec. 30.

NORMAL HEALTH

Afterward, Burkley reported through assistant press secretary Joseph Laitin, "there is no indication of any deviation from normal."

Berlin Wall Now Closed Indefinitely

BERLIN (UPI) — The Berlin wall closed down again today and families split by it did not know when they would meet again. The Christmas holiday pass period ended without a new agreement to cover visits on Easter.

There were tearful, heart-rending scenes at the wall at midnight when the two-week Christmas pass period ended.

Children wept as they embraced their parents with armed Eastern border guards looking on.

On the final day 71,096 West Berliners visited their East Berlin relatives, boosting the two-week total to 823,904.

★ ★ ★

If families separated by the wall are to be reunited again the West Berlin and Communist East German governments will have to reach a new agreement.

LONG, DIFFICULT

Such negotiations in the past were long and difficult. The prospects of concluding a new pact are said to be about 50 per cent.

As the wall closed down some West Berliners were bitter.

Marta Weigel a 43-year-old housewife who returned from a visit to her mother, said, "It is ridiculous that I can see my mother only over holidays. We live only a few miles apart."

Hermann Turm, a 24-year-old salesman, said, "The wall now is 5 years old. Something should be done about it. How long can this go on?"

But there were hopes of a new agreement.

"The East Germans want an agreement, too," said Ellen Nickel, 36-year-old waitress.

Johnson Gave Careful Thought to Peace Offensive

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson did a lot of personal soul-searching before deciding to launch a Viet Nam peace offensive.

★ ★ ★

Johnson, who returned to the White House last night after a 13-day stay at his Texas ranch, was described by close associates as having spent many hours reviewing and revising before beginning his peace moves.

The President's stance became more evident during the weekend when White House sources disclosed he is prepared to enter peace talks without preconceived solutions or the thought of a quick settlement.

They said the President is willing to seek gradual step-by-step progress — much as occurs in domestic politics when public officials seek to resolve differences on such questions as civil rights.

★ ★ ★

Johnson's views, as relayed to newsmen, indicated that he concluded, in rethinking his position on Viet Nam, that the United States could do more to promote peace.

FAILED OBJECTIVE

For example, he was said to blame himself and his administration for what he regards as a failure to convince Hanoi and Peking of American sincerity in seeking a settlement.

The sources said he thought this country's earlier peace efforts had been handicapped by unwillingness to state the government's position in credible terms.

Moreover, he was described as feeling that propagandists on both sides had so obscured the basic issues that, at this point, it is difficult to tell where either side stands.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the most surprising attitude attributed to Johnson was a view that, should his administration end now, history would judge him harsly because of Viet Nam.

Sources said it was not accidental that the summary of his views included references to failures reminiscent of his language in a telephone address to the AFL-CIO convention Dec. 9 in which he mentioned failings, failures and shortcomings.

It was in that speech that Johnson said he was "determined that every prospect for peace be exhausted before other hard steps are taken" in Viet Nam.

Some other highlights of Johnson's views at the start of 1966:

- His biggest disappointment last year stemmed from frustrations he faced in Viet Nam. He got greatest personal satisfaction from progress in civil rights.
- The President thinks laws already on the books mark the end of the Negro's search for liberty and equality and the start of another, more difficult search for true brotherhood with the white majority.
- Johnson hopes to strengthen personal ties with European leaders through some foreign travel in the months ahead. A meeting in France with President Charles de Gaulle is a possibility.
- The President was disappointed by lack of progress in improving American-Soviet relations in 1965. He hopes 1966 will produce better reults in this area.
- He believes the Dominican Republic crisis had some beneficial consequences but will await the verdict of history on the ultimate results of American military intervention.
- The "welfare state" is dead as a political issue, Johnson believes, because in his view the great majority of Americans feel the federal government has a responsibility to promote opportunity through social welfare programs.
- Johnson is satisfied with the latest national polls showing 62 per cent or more approve his performace.
- He considers himself back in good shape physically and ready for the job ahead.

Draft Needs May Result in College Classroom Tap

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Draft director Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey said today the selective service system may have to tap the college classroom to meet the manpower demands of a steadily rising U.S. commitment in Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The number of college students who may be called will depend on defense department needs, Hershey said.

College students have not been called up for military service as draftees thus far.

In a copyright interview in U.S. News & World Report, Hershey said that continuation of present manpower demands would mean some full - time students might be drafted.

★ ★ ★

Another source of manpower that may be tapped are "all those people in reserve units who aren't doing anything," Hershey said.

PRIORITY UNITS

"I'm not trying to get anyone from these priority outfits," he said, referring to units chosen for an early call-up in an emergency. "I'm not trying to get anyone from a reserve unit that is drilling. But a lot of these reserve units exist only on paper."

Two methods of selecting potential college draftees are under consideration, Hershey said. But he gave no estimate of when the ground rules for a college draft might be ready.

He said that the high school graduates who have failed the military mental tests — the so-called 1-Y group — will be called, but that they would not supply all the needs if draft quotas stay at or near the present 40,000 men a month.

★ ★ ★

According to Hershey, the college draftee can be singled out either by a deferment examination, or by colleges aiding the draft boards by telling them who is in the last quarter of his class.

CRYING TOWEL?

Hershey said colleges, eager to keep their enrollments up, "will cry their eyes out" if asked to make some of their students eligible for military service in such a reporting system.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, he said, the deferment exams such as were used in the Korean War, tend to favor studens in mathematics or science over those in liberal arts or education programs.

★ ★ ★

Hershey said, "You just can't make an examination that's fair in a specialized world."

3-Nation Talks to Open

Leaders Discuss Kashmir Border Feud

MOSCOW (AP) — Leaders of India, Pakistan and the Soviet Union began gathering today in Tashkent for a summit conference that is expected to have little effect on the basic Indian-Pakistani conflict over Kashmir.

★ ★ ★

The meeting might produce polite words on minor problems or lower somewhat the tensions threatening the cease-fire between the two nations of the Asian subcontinent.

But both governments have remained adamant in their stand on the disputed Himalayan state of Kashmir, the root of the trouble between them.

Pakistan has never relaxed its demand that the people of Kashmir decide their future in a plebiscite.

★ ★ ★

Since Moslems are in the majority, the Pakistanis expect the Kashmiris to vote to join them or at least for independence from India.

MOST POPULOUS

India, which occupies the most populous part of Kashmir, says the state is irrevocably part of India and its future is not a subject for discussion.

Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri told newsmen as he left New Delhi: "It will require all our ingenuity and skill to come to some kind of agreement so the conflict does not further escalate. Let us hope for the best."

Ayub on his way to the conference stopped in Peshawar, on Pakistan's northwest frontier, to meet with U. S. roving ambassador W. Averell Harriman and with the British ambassador to Pakistan, Sir Maurice James.

Harriman's chief mission is to explain President Johnson's Viet Nam policy to Asian leaders, but it was assumed he would also touch on the Tashkent meeting. After a conference Sunday in New Delhi with Shastri, he said, "We wish this conference well" but added that it was entirely an Indian-Pakistani affair.

BRITISH LETTER

James was reported to have carried Ayub a letter from British Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, who arranged the conference after the three-week undeclared war between Indian and Pakistan last September, arrived in Tashkent Sunday.

He was accompanied by Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky.

★ ★ ★

The summit meeting is being held in the capital of the Soviet Asian republic of Uzbek, 280 miles north of the border with Afghanistan.

★ ★ ★

Observers in Moscow consider Kosygin's peacemaking effort to be primarily an attempt to reduce chances for Chinese gains in South Asia. Pakistan and Red China have drawn closer in recent years, and the Soviets want to counter that. They also are anxious to keep India from turning more to the West in reaction to Pakistan's ties with Red China.

Probe Slaying of Woman, 81, in Berrien County

EAU CLAIRE (AP)—Berrien County Sheriff's deputies today investigated the slaying of Mrs. Verna Versaw, 81, who was found shot to death in her home 2½ miles north of Eau Claire Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Relatives told deputies the slain woman's purse, containing $600, was missing. A niece, Mrs. Chester Wycoff of Eau Claire, found her aunt's body. Mrs. Versaw had been shot in the head at least four times.

★ ★ ★

Deputies said Mrs. Versaw apparently was asleep when shot.

Mrs. Versaw was a member of a pioneer Berrien County farming family. She operated a beauty shop in Benton Harbor for 40 years but recently sold the business.

Husband Dies Same as Wife

Actress Also Took Drugs Before Death

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Just five days ago, the coroner's office ruled that actress Marie McDonald's death was accidental, not probable suicide.

TAYLOR

Sunday, a friend found the body of her sixth husband, movie producer Donald F. Taylor, 47, a few feet from the bedroom dressing table where Taylor had found the body of the 42-year-old actress Oct. 21.

The coroner's verdict in Taylor's death: "Possible overdose of drugs, possible suicide."

★ ★ ★

The verdict was the same as the first delivered in Miss McDonald's death.

The coroner said Thursday that a "suicide team" of consulting psychologists and psychiatrists had reviewed Miss McDonald's life and ruled her death accidental. The cause, said the coroner, was "drug intoxication due to multiple drugs."

FOUND BODY

Taylor's body was discovered by William Baile, 22, of Hidden Hills, who had come to visit Taylor with Denise Karl, 15. Denise was Miss McDonald's daughter by her former marriage to shoe magnate Harry Karl. She lives with Karl and his present wife, actress Debbie Reynolds.

Baile found Taylor on the floor beside the bed. An empty sleeping pill vial was nearby, said Deputy Sheriff Norman L. Peterson.

Detectives quoted Taylor's business partner, Robert Hirte, as saying he had last seen Taylor on New Year's Eve and that Taylor had appeared in good spirits.

$200 Million in Movies Due in First Half of 1966

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Happy new year? The film industry is hoping it will prove to be just that. Coming up: $200 million worth of movies for the first half of 1966.

THOMAS

This should be good news for theater men, who have been loudly advocating a more orderly release of product. They complain that film companies flood the market with big pictures in the top-business periods of summer and Christmas, neglecting the early months of the year.

★ ★ ★

This year's January-June release schedule seems to be a correction of that situation, though probably not enough to please theater owners completely. Here's how the schedule shapes up:

Columbia is putting most of its chips on war and action dramas. Leading the list are "The Heroes of Telemark" with Kirk Douglas, "The Lost Command" with Anthony Quinn and Alain Delon, and "The Chase" with Marlon Brando. Dean Martin stars as Matt Helm in "The Silencers," which hopefully will prove a Bond-like series. Also: The sequel "Life at the Top"; "The Trouble with Angels" with Rosalind Russell, Hayley Mills; "Born Free," all about lions.

DISNEY: ANIMALS

MGM is hoping its $11 million "Doctor Zhivago" will buoy its fortunes. Also coming up: "The Lady L" (Sophia Loren, Paul Newman), "The Singing Nun" (Debbie Reynolds), "Glass Bottom Boat" (Doris Day, Rod Taylor), "Made in Paris" (Ann-Margret).

★ ★ ★

Paramount is on the spy kick with "The Spy Who Came in from the Cold" starring Richard Burton. It has an Israel spectacle with Sophia Loren, "Judith"; Sidney Poitier-Anne Bancroft dramatics in "The Slender Threat"; a "Carpetbaggers" sequel, "Nevada Smith," with Steve McQueen; Frank Sinatra in "Assault on a Queen"; Natalie Wood in Tennessee Williams' "This Property is Condemned"; and another go-'round of "The Ten Commandments."

Twentieth Century-Fox also has hopes for a Bond bonanza with "Our Man Flint" and "Modesty Blaise." Added, a new "Stage Coach"; "The Blue Max" about flying in World War I; "How to Steal a Million Dollars and Live Happily Ever After" with Audrey Hepburn.

VARIED

United Artists has a varied menu: "A Thousand Clowns" with Jason Robards; the French western "Viva Maria"; Mary McCarthy's "The Group"; an Israeli epic "Cast a Giant Shadow" (Kirk Douglas, guest stars); "Duel at Diablo" (James Garner, Poitier); and "Khartoum" —Charlton Heston and Cinerama.

Universal offers escapism with "Moment to Moment" (Jean Seberg), "The Rare Breed" (James Stewart), "Madame J" (Lana Turner), "A Man Could Get Killed" (Garner, Melina Mercouri), and "Arabesque" (Gregory Peck, Sophia Loren).

★ ★ ★

Warner Brothers will be putting "The Great Race" into general release while "Battle of the Bulge" continues in Cinerama. Laurence Olivier's "Othello" gets a two-day release Feb. 2-3. Also: "Inside Daisy Clover" with Natalie Wood and "Harper" with Paul Newman.

To Air Change in Zoning Law

A proposed revision to a township ordinance, previously recommended for approval by the planning commission, will be introduced at the Waterford Township Board meeting tonight.

★ ★ ★

The board is expected to decide on the zoning matter at its Jan. 10 meeting.

If passed, the change will lessen from 500 to 300 feet the required minimum distance gas stations and public garages must be located from certain types of property.

Included are public libraries, schools, playgrounds, play fields, parks and churches.

★ ★ ★

The agenda also includes a request from Schram Auto and Truck Parts, 2549 Dixie, for 1966 renewal of the firm's dismantling license.

The Ganges river is regarded as sacred by members of the Hindu religion.

Major Ohio City May Get First Negro Mayor

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Robert C. Henry is in line to become the first Negro mayor of a major Ohio city tonight.

Henry was the top vote-getter among city commission candidates in last November's city election.

Traditionally that means election by the commission as mayor of this city of 83,500.

Indications are that Henry will be formally chosen at a city commission meeting tonight.

★ ★ ★

Two other Negroes narrowly missed becoming mayors of larger Ohio cities.

State Rep. Carl B. Stokes lost by 2,000 votes in Cleveland and Don L. Crawford, Dayton's first Negro city commissioner, was second in a five-man commission race, where the leading vote-getter becomes mayor.

Top-Level French Officials to Stay On

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International

It now is considered certain in Paris that Premier Georges Pompidou will stay in office after President Charles de Gaulle begins his second term Jan. 8. Foreign Minister Maruice Couve de Murville also will not be changed.

★ ★ ★

Chances are that Finance Minister Valery Giscard Destaing will stay too, but there are strong reports that Interior Minister Roger Frey and Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte are slated for other jobs.

BURNED FINGERS: Britain is quietly encouraging all Viet Nam peace explorations but for the time being Prime Minister Harold Wilson seems unlikely to take any open new initiative in this direction. He has had his fingers burned with highly publicized peace efforts such as the abortive Commonwealth Peace Commission which couldn't even get the time of day from Hanoi.

There are few things nevertheless that would win Wilson a bigger cheer from his own Labor Party's left wing than a move, public or otherwise, that would help bring a permanent halt to the bombings of North Viet Nam and an eventual U.S. withdrawal.

COMMUNIST SHOWDOWN: Reports reaching French experts on Communism say the Soviets are seeking to drum up support among other communist countries for an early conference aimed at a showdown with the Chinese over Viet Nam. The reports in Paris say the Soviets want to denounce Communist China as the country chiefly responsible for continuation of the Viet Nam war.

LIBERAL TRENDS: Western diplomats in Berlin expect a shakeup soon in the East German Culture Ministry because of Communist party criticism of liberal trends in films, television and the arts.

COMMON MARKET: Some officials in the European Common Market fear the Italian government crisis threatened by the resignation of Italian Formay set back seriously prospects for an end to the Common Market quarrel.

It is taken for granted by some that the market foreign ministers meeting planned at Luxembourg late in January could not take place with Italy in the middle of what could be a long drawn out political crisis.

JOHNSON VISIT: Despite official disclaimers both in Washington and Paris informed diplomats in Paris still believe a visit to Europe by President Johnson is likely this spring. The French say President Charles de Gaulle would actively welcome a chance for talks on Viet Nam, NATO and other major world issues.

Fear Dominican Violence in Clamor for Shake-Up

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Violence again threatened the Dominican Republic today as Provisional President Hector Garcia-Godoy prepared a response to demands that he dismiss the nation's military chiefs.

The president promised to address the nation tonight on results of a government investigation into a bloody incident last month that led to the current crisis.

★ ★ ★

Behind the crisis was the continuing hostility between the armed forces and hard-core left-wing nationalists sympathetic to last April's revolution.

The left-wingers want the military chiefs booted out. The military leaders believe the leftists want to infiltrate the armed forces. The dispute has seriously impaired the peacemaking efforts of the Organization of American States.

CAPITAL HIT

The clamor for the removal of the top military figures began with the April revolt when rebel leaders claimed the armed forces indiscriminately bombed and strafed the capital, inflicting casualties on innocent civilians.

Armed Forces Minister Commodore Francisco J. Rivera Caminero and the three chiefs of staff insist only legitimate targets were hit.

★ ★ ★

The demands to kick out the military leaders reached a new peak following a battle Dec. 19 in Santiago between army regulars and former rebels. Each side said the other started the fight.

Union leaders threatened a nationwide strike unless Garcia-Godoy got rid of the military chiefs. The president held off the strike with the promise of an investigation and punishment for those responsible.

LONG REPORT

Three Cabinet members wound up the investigation last week and turned in a long report. It contained no conclusions or recommendations as to responsibility for the clash.

Many observers believe that if the president removes even one of the military leaders, a military uprising in the interior might follow. The Inter-American Peace Force occupies only Santo Domingo and does not guard the interior against violence.

★ ★ ★

On the other hand, if the president does nothing, the left-wingers and other rebel sympathizers could plunge the country into a strike accompanied by terrorism and violence in the interior.

The president has conferred repeatedly with members of the OAS political committee, Ambassadors Ilmar Penna Marinho of Brazil and Ellsworth Bunker of the United States.

REASSURANCE

These meetings have reassured some Dominicans that whatever the president does will have the support of the OAS.

Two U.S. soldiers were wounded, neither one seriously, in a terrorist bomb attack over the weekend. Five Dominicans also were wounded, and two were in critical condition.

The custom of caroling is traced back to the 13th century.

Ethnic Generalities

'Immoral, Illogical'

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.
Executive Director
National Urban League

If I were faced with the decision of making a single wish for the New Year in race relations, I think it would be that generalizations about any ethnic group, based on the activities of a few, be ruled illegal — as well as immoral and illogical.

YOUNG

Not long ago, the noted attorney and president of the American Jewish Committee, Morris Abram, spoke before a highly sophisticated middle-class Negro audience.

He opened his speech by reading from a diary of a New Yorker. The writer pointed out how much New York had changed, and the fact that a group of newcomers had made the streets unsafe for decent people.

That these newcomers in their dress, mannerisms, lack of education and criminal behavior represented a serious threat to the continued happiness and safety of other citizens.

★ ★ ★

As the audience reached the height of indignation, Abram commented that the diary was written not in 1965 — but in 1890 — and that it was not referring to Negro citizens at all, but rather to other low-income ethnic groups that had migrated to New York City during this period in large numbers.

A DAILY STORY

I am reminded of this story daily as we witness the same fears being expressed and the same descriptions of the newest immigrants to our cities, namely Puerto Ricans and Negroes from the South.

It is this tendency to generalize, both on the part of Negro as well as white citizens, which must be recognized and challenged on every hand if we are, in fact, to make the kind of progress in attitudes in the last half of the nineteen-sixties that we have made in this first half—legally and legislatively.

At a time when Negro leadership is trying honestly to face up to the serious socio-economic gaps and social disorganization born and developed out of years of slavery and discrimination, it becomes extremely discouraging when those same facts are used to label a whole racial population or to justify their continued exclusion from the mainstream of American life.

★ ★ ★

This is why researchers, reporters and writers must be as sensitive to the effects of titles given to their studies and reports such as "The Negro Family" as they would be to the identification of comparable problems of dependency, illegitimacy and crime among low-income families of other ethnic origin — "The Irish Family", "The Italian Family", "The Polish Family," and so on.

COMPARISIONS

For even with the disproportionate amount of social disorganization with which the Negro has been plagued, it is well to remember that 75 per cent of Negro families have, in fact, less social disorganization than is true of comparable white families.

It is equally damaging to the cause of race relations for Negro citizens to generalize about all white citizens based on the terrifying specter of the depraved personalities found among the Ku Klux Klan or even the more subtle racist groups who claim superpatriotism.

In the final analysis, those who write the history books for our day will mention little about either the racist or the rightist, but rather the growing number of courageous white Amercians who put a man's character and skill above the color of his skin.

★ ★ ★

Neither will historians write about the less than one per cent of Negro citizens who participated in riots, or who in desperation, turned to Communism.

What historians will write about will be the 99 per cent of the Negro population which, in spite of unprecedented humiliation, slavery and discrimination, remained restrained and loyal, and retained faith that some day America might, in fact, live up to its democratic creed and its ideals.

May 1966 represent the beginning of that period where no American will generalize about another human being.

For more than 2,000 years, a host of foreign conquerors, including Alexander the Great, has marched across Kashmir.

By JACOBY & SON

Good poker players think they are unlucky and that they would win all the time if only Lady Luck would smile on them. Good bridge players have a different philosophy. They expect to be lucky because they won't give bad luck a chance to hurt them when they can avoid it.

JACOBY

Take today's hand as an example. Anyone in the world would want to be in three no-trump with the North-South cards and almost anyone would bid to get there.

The difference would be that any really good player would bring home the contract, while most others would go down because they would have to lose both the club and diamond finesses.

Everyone understands about ducking when you are afraid of the suit that has been opened, so everyone would duck the first spade and win the second in their own hand. A careless player would follow up by taking the diamond finesse. It would lose and another spade lead would knock out dummy's king.

At this point declarer would cash the rest of his diamonds and then try a club finesse in order to get his ninth trick. Two spades plus two hearts plus three diamonds plus one club would only add to eight. Assuming that West had hung onto the last two spades, he would take the king of clubs and those two spades to set poor South.

An expert South would see that he could afford to lose both finesses if he took them in the right order. He would lead a heart to dummy's king at trick three, and then try the club finesse. It would lose and West would set up his spades all right.

South would then come to his hand with a club and lose the diamond finesse to East but East would not be able to lead a spade to his partner.

What do you bid?

A—This hand is just the least bit too weak for a two bid. Bid one spade.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid one spade and your partner responds one no-trump. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

West Pakistan has harsh deserts and mountains. East Pakistan, nearly 1,000 miles away, is a flat, waterlogged world of bayous, swamps and rice fields.

Metropolitan Dilemma—1

Variety of Woes Plague Big Cities

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Half the population of the United States lives on less than 1 per cent of its land. Fifty-two million Americans from 16 metropolitan areas could be placed geographically in Cochise County in Arizona. This is the first of three articles on the problems of the big cities.)

By MARGARET BELLOWS
United Press International

American cities — where 70 per cent of us now are born, live, work, retire and die — are in deep trouble.

Their inner cores are rotting, swelled by the ghetto poor and underprivileged, jammed by traffic, made bankrupt by the flight of the wealthy to the suburbs and the mounting bills for welfare, education and rebuilding.

Even so, the movement of Americans into the cities rises day by day. The fate of the Negro in the urban centers is alone a problem of staggering magnitude and urgency.

United Press International took a poll of mayors and newspaper editors in the nation's 20 largest cities, asking them to name the worst problems of their communities.

★ ★ ★

While each had its own unique worries, ranging from smog to traffic to water, most of them face the same great bottleneck: lack of money.

NOTHING RARE

It is nothing rare to find politicians crying for more funds, but the validity of their dilemma was summed up best by Joseph M. Barr, the mayor of Pittsburgh.

"Our major challenge is to find financial resources to carry on rebuilding efforts without entering into a self-defeating cycle," he said.

"The question is how far can we go in raising taxes before we reach the point of discouraging families from living here and industries from locating and expanding here."

★ ★ ★

It is the No. 1 problem too on the lists of Mayor Frank Curran of San Diego, J. D. Baman of Seattle, and Theodore McKeldon of Baltimore.

PUBLIC REVENUE

"Sheer lack of public revenue," says John F. Collins, Boston's mayor, whose program to replace old schools and bring equal educational opportunity for Negro and white children, is blocked by the money shortage.

Staff writer Roy J. Harris of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch puts it this way:

"Blight and slums resulting from a population explosion from immigration of the disadvantaged make it impossible to keep pace with the spread of physical decay.

★ ★ ★

"This has been accompanied by wholesale flight to the suburbs of many thousands in higher income brackets which has an increasingly harmful effect on the economic, political and social life of the city."

BANE OF CITIES

Automobiles are the bane of many cities.

"We're choking to death," says Mayor Erik Jonsson of Dallas.

Mayor Victor Schiro echoes: "New Orleans is an old, sprawling city with narrow streets built on precarious swampy soil. They are jammed with automobiles."

★ ★ ★

San Diego has a money-losing transit system as does New York.

TRANSIT SYSTEM

Berne Jacobsen, editor of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, points to the need there for a rapid transit system to eliminate automobile paralysis in the city's central core.

Los Angeles, a 450-square mile area dependent on wheels, has 250 miles of freeways. But peak traffic hours still bring cars to a standstill.

Chicago Sun-Times Editor Emmett Dedmon lists transportation as a major block. So does Cleveland Press Editor Louis B. Seizter.

★ ★ ★

Three Chicago editors state the dilemma of a city trying to provide increased services on dwindling income.

RISING COSTS

Says L. S. Fanning, editor of the Daily News, "We must keep the city habitable in the face of rising costs."

Says Dedmon, "The main problem is education of the poor in both the conventional and job sense."

Lloyd Wendt of the American says, "We must integrate people from rural areas, both Negro and white, into the city, and redevelop urban areas to accommodate both industry and housing."

★ ★ ★

Washington's president of the board of commissioners points to the interrelated problems of crime and housing as the major problems of the nation's capital.

GREAT PROGRESS

Philadelphia, engaged in one of the country's massive urban renewal programs, has made great progress.

But Mayor James H. J. Tate still sees "crime and education, interwoven with unemployment," as its biggest threat.

Detroit, which also has made great progress with racial tension and urban renewal, feels, according to Lee Hills of the Free Press and Martin Hayden of the News, that urban redevelopment and blight still face the city.

★ ★ ★

Air and water pollution plague most cities. Jacobson of the Post-Intelligencer and Henry MacLeod of the Times list this as one of Seattle's major problems.

Los Angeles has been covered by smog — from industry and exhaust fumes of 3 million automobiles — for many years.

After years of "crackdown" legislation, the city still suffers from smog. New York has the same problem.

Cleveland lists pollution of air and water as a major concern; a long-range water supply is among the problems facing San Antonio, according to Express and News Editor Charles Kilpatrick.

★ ★ ★

Today, despite the highest national wealth in history, American cities and the people in them are caught in vicious cycles.

The cities can't get the money to cure the blight that is driving the people with money out of the cities.

And the poor can't get the educations which will get them the jobs that will make them the money that will furnish the taxes to pay for better education, housing and services.

★ ★ ★

(NEXT: The nation's biggest city may have the nation's biggest problems but its mayor of 12 years takes the optimistic view.)

Rain Repellent for Cars Near

Works Even Better on Plane Windshields

By Science Service

TORONTO — A repellent that sheds rainwater from the windshields of automobiles and aircraft providing nearly perfect vision without windshield wipers, has been perfected by Dr. D. F. Stedman of the National Research Council of Canada after nearly 24 years of research.

An early version of the repellent, a complicated silicon compound, was first produced some 20 years ago. However a series of small difficulties precluded perfection of the compound, until very recently and patents have been applied for.

The repellent, called S.P.R., which stands for "Semi-Permanent-Repellent," looks much like black shoe paste.

It is not itself particularly adhesive to glass but is decomposed by friction and the broken molecules of the compound combine with the glass chemically and become part of the glass surface. This accounts for the strong adhesion and the long effective life of the repellent.

★ ★ ★

A little of the black paste rubbed briskly on glass and polished, works up to a slippery coating that sheds water like the proverbial duck's back and retains its water shedding quality for weeks or even months despite the fact that the coating is only about one ten-millionths of an inch thick.

EFFECTIVENESS

Dr. Stedman reports that in the development of the coating there were several instances where the coating's effectiveness on aircraft for example lasted three to four months.

It still gave adequate vision for safety when these planes happened to fly into rain so heavy that there was no vision whatever on the untreated parts of the windshield.

When used on an aircraft windwhield, the repellent makes even the heaviest rain look like tiny grains of pepper striking the glass and being blown away in the plane's slipstream.

★ ★

Vision is so good under these conditions that objects as small as power lines or flag poles are quite clear and the horizon is level and true and undistorted.

NOT AS EFFECTIVE

The repellent is not quite as effective on automobiles since the wind speed is much less. But even when driving in heavy rain without windshield wipers, the water jumps off the glass in little jets and provides safe vision at any speed, although wipers improve vision with the repellent.

Headlight glare from approaching traffic is also reduced by the repellent, especially during heavy rain.

Autopsy Is Ordered in Soo Woman's Death

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)—An autopsy was ordered in the death of Mary Bobiwash, 49, of Sault Ste. Marie, whose body was found Saturday on the front steps of her home.

Blood was found near the body and one of the woman's shoes was found between the two homes, officers said.

Opponents in Court Put on Boxing Gloves

TRUTH OR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (UPI)—Tired of hearing the defendant and plaintiff argue, Justice of the Peace Roy B. Maddux ordered them to put on 16-ounce gloves and have it out.

New Institute to Study Ocean

By Science Service

WASHINGTON — The mysteries of "inner space," the world's oceans, will be intensely probed by a new Institute for Oceanography, part of the Environmental Science Services Administration (ESSA).

Undersea mountains and valleys, temperatures, ocean waves and currents, and interactions between the ocean, earth and atmosphere will be studied in comprehensive programs designed to gain new knowledge of the ocean.

★ ★ ★

Headed by Dr. Harris B. Stewart Jr., formerly chief oceanographer of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the new institute has headquarters here and field installations at Norfolk, Va., Seattle, Wash., and Honolulu, Hawaii.

Archeologists have found pieces of man-made iron nearly 5,000 years old.

Cleveland Dethroned by Packers, 23-12

'Old Folks' Spark Green Bay to NFL Championship

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung, the old folks of the Green Bay Packers, have risen to the challenge of the $850,000 bonus twins, Donny Anderson and Jim Grabowski.

The pair of 30-year-old Packer backs toted the heavy load Sunday in the snow, rain and fog while the old-fashioned ball control game carried the Packers to the National Football League title on a 23-12 victory over Cleveland's defending champions before 50,852 damp fans at Lambeau Field.

★ ★ ★

"Just a couple of oldtimers trying to hang on," chorused Taylor and Hornung laughingly in the Green Bay clubhouse.

Taylor, named the most valuable player in the game, carried 27 times for 96 yards. Hornung, the former Golden Boy of the pack, carried 18 times for 105 yards, including one beautiful 34-yard run and a 13-yard ramble on the old Green Bay touchdown sweep.

★ ★ ★

Ball control did the job for the Packers, a strategy dear to the heart of Coach Vince Lombardi.

"You have to control the ball against the Browns if you are going to beat them," said Lombardi. "We planned to stick to the basics. Yes, I think there is a little spark left yet in Jimmy and Paul."

★ ★ ★

Lombardi probably provided some of the spark when he signed Anderson, the fabulous Texas Tech halfback for a reported $600,000, and Grabowski, Illinois' record-breaking fullback who received $250,000. But Taylor and Hornung aren't about to step aside for the rookies.

"Donny is going to be a great one," said Hornung, who was instrumental in getting Anderson to sign with the Packers. "I took him out in Baltimore and talked to him."

WAIT AND SEE

Asked if the high-priced rookies were going to elbow their way into the starting lineup next fall, Hornung said: "We'll wait and see about that next year."

Neither Anderson nor Grabowski was present since they are playing in the Hula Bowl in Honolulu.

★ ★ ★

Bart Starr, a doubtful starter all week because of the back bruises he suffered in the Western Conference playoff game with Baltimore, called a great game for Green Bay and completed 10 of 18 passes for 147 yards and one touchdown. His TD pass was a 47-yarder to Carroll Dale for the first score of the game.

"Starr called a great game," said Lombardi. "It was a tough day to throw. The ball was slippery, and the receivers couldn't make good cuts."

★ ★ ★

Lombardi wasn't kidding. It was a miserable day in Packerland. About 3½ inches of snow fell during the morning, and it snowed and rained intermittently during the afternoon as the temperature hovered around 33 degrees.

PLAYABLE

Yeoman work by the city sanitation department and a crew of youngsters brushed the snow off the tarpaulin so the field was playable by game time. Despite the snow and ice there were no fumbles, and each team scored its first TD on a pass.

Starr hit Dale on the 47-yard score at 3:52 of the first quarter, and Cleveland came right back with a touchdown on a 17-yard pass from Frank Ryan to Gary Collins.

★ ★ ★

Groza picked it up and fired a desperation forward pass to Franklin, who was caught on the 5-yard line by Willie Wood. Instead of a 7-7 tie, the Browns trailed 7-6.

Groza, the 41-year-old field goal artist who has been playing pro ball since 1946, had made 96 straight conversions until this one was messed up. A few minutes later he kicked a 24-yard field goal that gave Cleveland a 9-7 edge.

Don Chandler, kicking hero of the sudden death playoff game at Baltimore, booted a 15-yarder early in the second period and a 23-yarder later in the quarter after Wood intercepted a Ryan pass and ran it back from the Cleveland 25 to the 10.

BEACH INTERCEPTS

Despite Groza's 28-yard field goal in the dying seconds of the half, after Walt Beach had intercepted a Starr pass, the Browns trailed 13-12 at the half.

Green Bay's inspired defense rose to the occasion in the second half and blanked the Browns, shutting out the fabulous Jim Brown who made only 50 yards on 12 carries and scored no touchdowns during the afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Ray Nitschke did a tremendous job on Brown when he ran and when he went down field as a pass receiver.

The Packers ground it out in the second half, controlling the ball. They moved 90 yards in 11 plays, eating up six minutes, 48 seconds, for a third period TD scoring on Hornung's 13-yard sweep around left end.

"That really killed us," said Brown after the game. "They adjusted to the conditions. We couldn't. Those two guys (Taylor and Hornung) really did a great job."

CLOSE ENOUGH

Trailing 20-12 in the third period, the Browns got close enough to try for a field goal, but Henry Jordan broke through and blocked Groza's kick. Just a few seconds earlier Nitschke and Wood had broken up a Ryan pass to Brown in the end zone.

★ ★ ★

Green Bay, setting a record with its ninth league championship, ran 69 offensive plays to 39 by Cleveland. The Packers gained 332 yards over-all to 161 and outgained the Browns on the ground 204 to 64.

Chandler's three field goals tied a title game record shared by six others, including Hornung, Groza and Jerry Kramer. Groza's two field goals boosted his own career playoff record to 10 of 17. It also was his ninth championship game, a record. That doesn't include four title games in the All-America Conference.

It was a particularly satisfying triumph for the Packers, who floundered in mid-season with offensive headaches and needed help from the Chicago Bears to catch Baltimore.

In the end it was the old gang — Fuzzy Thurston and Kramer at the guards, Bob Skoronski and Forrest Gregg at the tackles and second-year center Ken Bowman — who made the offense move.

UCLA Spurt Decides Rose Bowl

Bruin Defense Stops Spartans on Key Plays

Frantic MSU Drive Falls Two Points Shy of Knotting Outcome

AP Photofax

SPARTANS SLOWED — Michigan State fullback Bob Apisa and other MSU runners found the going rough against UCLA's fired-up defense Saturday in the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif. On the play above, Apisa dives over the Bruins line and gains just inches in an unsuccessful effort to gain a first down for the Spartans in second half action. The Spartans rallied for a pair of TD's in the fourth quarter but wound up on the short end of a 14-12 score.

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Two fast touchdowns in just 3 minutes and 7 seconds made a Cinderella team out of UCLA in the 14-12 stunning win over top ranked Michigan State New Year's Day in the Rose Bowl.

The stubborn Bruin defense held the shocked Spartans despite their desperate scramble in the last period to engineer another one of their come-from-behind surprises.

★ ★ ★

This made for a cliffhanger display of football for the 100,807 fans who had been told that the Big Ten champ was a 14 point favorite to win for a third time at the Rose Bowl over UCLA.

BRILLIANT QB

Sophomore quarterback Gary Beban proved himself one of the most brilliant first-year signal callers in the collegiate ranks.

UCLA recovered a MSU fumble on the State 6 late in the first period to set up Beban's first display of heroics. He carried for five yards and then charged in from the one for the score.

★ ★ ★

An unexpected on-side kick by UCLA keeping the ball, a 21-yard bolt by Mel Farr and a 27-yard Beban pass to end Kurt Altenberg were the telling plays in another surge to the Michigan State one.

Added Rose Bowl Story, Page D-4

Beban bumped over once again and Kurt Zimmerman booted both extra points for what proved to be the all-important UCLA edge.

LATE SCORES

The Spartans managed to keep hopes high for their large section of frantic rooters by going for two touchdowns when the late shadows were creeping across the Bowl.

Quarterback Steve Juday, who had been overshooting Gene Washington earlier, started hitting his favorite end. A 42-yard completion to Washington put State on the UCLA 38.

★ ★ ★

Sophomore fullback Bob Apisa, despite a damaged knee, was able to scoot the distance down the sidelines for the score. Apisa, who carried only four times in the game, "was far from 100 per cent" physically fit, according to coach Duffy Daugherty.

Juday gambled and lost on a two-point conversion pass try which was partially deflected. Juday's passes to Washington again were vital in a 51-yard drive for the final Michigan State score. Juday sneaked in from one foot out.

★ ★ ★

Another State try for a two-pointer was frustrated when Apisa was stopped just short of the goal after a pitch out.

This was Michigan State's last hope of at least settling for a tie.

Michigan State outrushed the Bruins 204 yards to 65. Clint Jones was the work horse of the Spartans with 20 carries and a 113 yard net.

PASSING HONORS

UCLA made all the key defensive plays, however. Defenseman Bob Stiles earned the

Champagne Cork Pops, but Lombardi Passes

From Our Wire Services

GREEN BAY, Wis. — The champagne cork popped.

But Vince Lombardi, who had just coached his Green Bay Packers to their third National Football League championship in five years, would have none of it.

"That's not for me," he said in the clamorous Packer dressing room Sunday. "It's for my players. They did it, not me."

"But coach, I've had this on ice since we came out here—I knew we couldn't lose," Braisher answeerd. "Just one sip?"

Lombardi agreed — just one sip, but then the bottle went out to the players and Lombardi turned to talking about the team that had just whipped the Cleveland Browns for the NFL crown.

"They said we didn't have an offense," he gloated. "I guess we showed 'em."

"This team has character — they showed it all year. They never counted themselves out. They won it."

Regarding Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor "a lot of people counted them out, said they were past their prime," Lombardi said.

"I guess that performance shows there's a little life left."

The 47-yard touchdown pass from Bart Starr to Carroll Dale was the big play on the 23-12 victory.

"The ball squirted out of my hands," said Starr. "It slipped. But Carroll came back and caught it."

Dale explained, "I ran a fly pattern. Walter Beach was playing me real close, I had him beat and then when I saw the ball was going to be short I came back and caught it."

The Browns retaliated only a minute later with a 17-yard touchdown throw from Frank Ryan to Gary Collins and the game settled into a slogging ground war that may have pivoted on two kicks.

The first came when the snap from center John Morrow for the extra point try after Collins' catch was low. Kicker Lou Groza picked up the ball for a futile pass to holder Bob Franklin, who was tackled short of the goal line.

Franklin said the snap was "in front of me and I had to lunge for it. But I should have had it. It ruined Lou's timing."

The second came in third period with the Packers leading 20-12. Groza tried a 37-yard field goal that would have pulled the Browns within the striking range of a single touchdown but Henry Jordan, Packers' defensive tackle, partially blocked the kick.

Detroit in 3rd Place After 4-0 Victory

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings whipped the Toronto Maple Leafs 4-0 on goalie Roger Crozier's third shutout in his last four games Sunday night. The loss snapped Toronto's 10-game unbeaten string.

★ ★ ★

It was Crozier's fifth shutout of the National Hockey League season, a league high, and the Wings made it easy for him in the final period when he had to face only three shots.

★ ★ ★

Detroit, which had a seven-game victory string snapped last month by Toronto, leapfrogged over the Leafs into third place by one point.

Toronto's last defeat was to the Wings 5-1 at Detroit a month ago.

PARKER GETS GOAL

Parker MacDonald, just reacquired by Detroit Thursday in a trade with Boston and reunited with old line mates Gordie Howe and Alex Delvecchio, scored his first goal in two games since returning and helped set up one for Howe.

★ ★ ★

Norm Ullman and Paul Henderson scored the other goals.

Ullman gave Crozier all the lead he needed at 5:17 of the first period. He stole the puck from Bob Pulford inside the Leaf blue line, fought his way to the net and beat Johnny Bower with a short shot for his 15th goal. Bower was partially screened by defenseman Larry Hillman.

★ ★ ★

MacDonald followed at 8:47 with his seventh goal of the season, a hard low shot after a pass from Delvecchio.

Howe didn't get an assist on the play, but he made the big move and kept the puck inside the Toronto blue line.

Henderson scored his 10th goal at 6:41 of the second period when he backhanded Floyd Smith's rebound. Bower had made a fine save on a shot by Ullman and then stopped Smith's shot but was flat on the ice when Henderson scored.

★ ★ ★

Howe scored the prettiest goal of the night, his 16th, at 8:39 of the final period. He faked Toronto defenseman Ken Douglas, spun around him and whipped an ice skimmer past Bower to draw a roar from the crowd of 13,785 fans.

★ ★ ★

The Stanley Cup champion Canadiens jumped off to a 5-0 lead, two of the goals coming on assists by Rousseau, before New York's belated comeback.

Rousseau scored the Canadiens' final goal in the third period.

Montreal broke open what had been a close checking game with three goals in the last 6½ minutes of the first period.

Giles Tremblay opened the scoring for Montreal on a perfect pass from Henri Richard at 13:38 of the first period. Richard skated around Ranger defenseman Arnie Brown and fed Tremblay at New York goalie Don Simmons' right side.

Ralph Backstom made it 2-0 at 15:05, just 11 seconds after New York's Mike McMahon had been penalized for holding. John Ferguson and Rousseau drew assists.

Bobby Hull's 29th goal of the season broke a tie in the final four minutes as Chicago defeated Boston. Chico Maki and Len Lunde scored the other Hawk goals.

Bob Dillabough gave Boston a short-lived 1-0 lead on former Red Wing Pit Martin's pass at 6:24 of the first period.

WASHBURN, Wis. (AP) — Dave Lundmark of Duluth, Minn., a member of the U.S. ski jumping team, soared 188 feet on a slippery slope Sunday to win the Class A title in the annual Mt. Valhalla meet of the Central U.S. Ski Association.

Lundmark's jumps of 168 and 188 feet, the latter the longest of the day, gave him 184.3 points to 174.8 for runner-up Butch Wedin of Iron Mountain, Mich., a fellow member of the 10-man U.S. team for international competition. Wedin jumped 163 and 171 feet.

Snow fell throughout the day and the powder made balance difficult on the takeoff slide. There were numerous spills, but no injuries.

Two teen-agers on the U.S. team placed 1-2 in the junior competition. Adrian Watt, Duluth, Minn., won with jumps of 164 and 177 feet and 177.2 points to 171 points for John Corello, Ishpeming, Mich.

76ers' Chamberlain Has One Final Goal

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — For Wilt Chamberlain, there is only one thing left now — "To go all the way" and play on a National Basketball Association championship club.

"That's the only thing left — collectively," the Philadelphia 76ers 7-foot-1 star said Sunday after becoming the second player in NBA history to score more than 20,000 points in a career. "Indiividually . . . personally . . . there's nothing left."

Wilt scored 50 points in the 76ers' 133-122 victory over the New York Knickerbockers, reaching a total of 20,019 in 499 games over a seven-year period.

In other NBA games, San Francisco whipped Detroit 136-113, Cincinnati bombed Baltimore 138-107 and Boston knocked off Los Angeles 124-113.

Chamberlain's performance put him 861 points behind Bob Pettit, St. Louis Hawks' star who compiled 20,880 in 792 games over an 11-year span.

HITS 43

Ricky Barry, an All-America from the University of Miami playing in Miami Beach, poured in 43 points in San Francisco's triumph over Detroit. Barry hit on 17 of 26 field goal tries and nine of 10 free throws. Eight Pistons scored in double figures, but none had more than 16.

Eight Cincinnati Royals also reached double figures with Adrian Smith's 26 points leading the pack. The Royals led Baltimore by as much as 42 points in the third quarter, but Coach Jack McMahon played his reserves throughout the fourth quarter. Gus Johnson topped Baltimore with 28 points.

★ ★ ★

The Celtics handed Los Angeles its third straight setback with a fast break attack that swept them to a commanding 65-56 halftime margin. Sam Jones paced Boston with 29 points, John Havlicek scored 20 and K. C. Jones added 17.

LEAVES BUFFALO BILLS — Buffalo Bills' Lou Saban, the American League's Coach of the Year, is pictured here last night as he informed reporters that he had resigned his post with the Bills. The Associated Press said Saban is expected to be named head coach at the University of Maryland.

Saban Quits AFL Champs in Surprise

Ex-Lions' Mentor Says 'Interested in Atlanta or Buffalo'

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Head coaching jobs in pro football are opening left and right, and former Detroit Lions' coach George Wilson says "I'm naturally interested, and I'll be back as head coach in the NFL or AFL."

The latest job to open took place suddenly at Buffalo where Lou Saban offered his resignation yesterday after leading the Bills to two straight American Football League championships.

The Associated Press has reported that Saban would be named coach at the University of Maryland as successor to Tom Nugent.

★ ★ ★

In quitting the Buffalo job, Saban called a press conference Sunday night, read slowly from a prepared statement and then said, "There can be little left to conquer in professional football."

Detroit owner of the Bills, Ralph Wilson said he had "talked to Saban last week and he expressed a desire to retire becasue of pressures involved in pro football coaching today."

WILSON

Just one year Ralph Wilson and Saban were guests at a luncheon in Pontiac where the Bills owner has a trucking business hauling autos.

At that time, he made reference to George Wilson who was fired a few weeks earlier by the Lions.

"It is unfortunate for George that all of the top jobs in the AFL and NFL are filled. I'd like to help him because he is a fine coach but at this time we're in good shape with a head coach.

"We are lucky to have Lou and we just gave him a two year contract at a substantial raise."

★ ★ ★

Now that Saban has quit, there is speculation that Ralph Wilson would put the ex-Lions' coach at the top of the candidates' list.

"I haven't heard from Ralph," George Wilson noted, "of course these things happening over the holidays presents a problem.

"I am interested in the Atlanta job," Wilson admitted, "and when I talked to Atlanta in August, they said they would make a decision after the first of the year."

OPENINGS

As Ralph Wilson noted, last year at this time all of the pro coaching jobs were filled. Today, however besides Atlanta, the newest NFL franchise, Los Angeles and Pittsburgh were searching for coaches, along with Buffalo and Miami in the AFL.

Saban, who is 44 years old, pointed to his playing days with the champions Cleveland Browns of the All-America Conference and his two AFL championships with the Bills and said, "no man who has been part of pro football can leave without regrets.

"I feel my decision would be the same regardless of the team or city in which I was coaching."

Saban, who was fired as head coach of the Boston Patriots during the 1961 season, went to Buffalo as talent scout and took over the coaching duties when Buster Ramsey was fired.

After defeating San Diego, 23-0 this year for the AFL title, Saban was named AFL Coach of the Year."

★ ★ ★

In reference to Ralph Wilson, Saban said "I will ever be grateful to Ralph Wilson for the opportunity he gave me at a particular point in my coaching career. He has never failed to back me as we struggled to put together the championship teams of the past two years."

Saban reportedly received $30,000 a year with Buffalo.

Alabama Awaits Final Gridiron Vote

Crimson Tide May Be No. 1

Top Nebraska, 39-28, in Orange Bowl

MIAMI (AP) — Alabama has made its pitch and now can only await the final returns to see if voters think it is the No. 1 college football team in the country.

Two quick, unofficial votes came after the Crimson Tide's spectacular 39-28 victory over Nebraska in Saturday night's Orange Bowl — from the rival coaches — but they don't count.

"We feel we are No. 1," Alabama Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant said Sunday after watching a television reshowing of the high-scoring game.

"This is the best offensive team I have ever coached. Also, I have never faced a more powerful offensive team than Nebraska," Bryant said.

"In our book, Alabama is No. 1," said Coach Bob Devaney of Nebraska.

Fourth-ranked Alabama, in beating No. 3 Nebraska, was the only top contender for national honors to survive the wave of upsets that swept the bowl games.

WANT NO. 1

Both Bryant and Devaney acknowledged that their teams had been inspired by news of the Saturday afternoon games and had taken the field determined to win the No. 1 spot.

A slashing offensive struggle developed, with the passing combination of quarterback Steve Sloan and Ray Perkins winning out over a brilliant performance by Nebraska's substitute quarterback Bob Churchich.

Sloan and Perkins collaborated in two touchdown strikes, on long passes that set up two other scores and also provided a two-point conversion.

The 6-foot, 185-pound Sloan, from Cleveland, Tenn., played with a torn rib cartilege after the first quarter but completed 20 of 29 passes for 296 yards.

★ ★ ★

He broke the Orange Bowl record of most completions, 18, set by his predecesser, Joe Namath, against Texas last year, and bettered the yardage mark of 276, made by Frank Broyles of Georgia Tech against Tulsa in 1945.

Perkins, a 179-pound six-footer from Petal, Miss., was the game's best pass receiver with nine receptions, breaking the record of eight set by Joe Curtis of Alabama when it beat Syracuse 61-6 in 1953.

LSU's Perfect Game Topples Arkansas

DALLAS (AP) — A perfect game — no fumbles and no interceptions — and all the big plays usually win a football game.

That's why Louisiana State is unbeaten in the Cotton Bowl and has become the big spoiler of undefeated records.

Last Saturday the Tigers, three-time losers and 10-point underdogs, knocked over Arkansas 14-7 to remain unbeaten in the Cotton Bowl in three appearances.

END OF STREAK

It brought to an end college football's longest winning streak — 22 straight games that had given Arkansas the Southwest Conference record.

Louisiana State didn't fumble or have a pass intercepted. But an Arkansas fumble set up the first LSU touchdown and a Tiger pass interception halted an Arkansas drive.

★ ★ ★

With second down and 16 to go on the Arkansas 49 Pat Screen threw a pass that Arkansas linebacker Tommy Sain tipped into the air.

It fell into the arms of LSU's Billy Masters on the 35. Jim Dousay hammered out two yards for the first down and the Tigers rumbled on to a touchdown.

★ ★ ★

Jon Brittenum, who passed to Bobby Crockett for Arkansas' TD in the opening period, was hurt midway of the second period and was relieved by Ronny South.

South fumbled a handoff on his second play and LSU linebacker Bill Bass recovered on the Arkansas 34. The Tigers then rolled to the winning touchdown.

★ ★ ★

Joe LaBruzzo, the stumpy Louisiana State tailback, was picked as outstanding back of the game.

He made the tough yardage, carrying four straight times for 16 yards and the first touchdown and taking the ball five times for 19 yards to hang up the second.

Tackle Dave McCormick of the winners was picked as top lineman.

Missouri Gets 'Kicks' in Sugar Bowl Win

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Albert the 5th, Florida's alligator mascot, had a bloody nose after the Sugar Bowl, but it probably wouldn't have been so painful if his football team had gotten its kicks.

★ ★ ★

Kicks in this particular case refers to placements after touchdown.

Missouri's Tigers, led by myopic Charlie Brown, pushed Florida around for three quarters in the New Year's Day football battle at New Orleans and had 20-0 lead.

GATOR BLEEDS

On the sidelines, Albert the alligator, in a glass and steel cage atop a station wagon, had blood on the tip of his snoot from bumping it against the front of his enclosure.

Then Steve Spurrier, the son of a Tennessee preacher, got his passing arm limbered up. The Florida team had a touchdown. Coach Ray Graves sent in a two-point conversion play. It failed.

★ ★ ★

"At the time, I thought going for two was a good move," explained Graves later. "I felt two points would have been a shot in the arm for our boys . . . but the way it turned out, the decision wasn't too wise."

Today, the second guessers are saying he should have kicked. If the Gators had settled for a point from placement after each of their three final period touchdowns — Florida could have gone home with a 21-20 victory over the sixth-ranked Tigers. Instead, Missouri won 20-18.

★ ★ ★

But Mizzou Coach Dan Devine said in the dressing room afterward he probably would have gone for a two-pointer after the first touchdown had he been in Graves' place.

Until mid-way in the third quarter, Brown, a junior back who wears contact lens while playing, was a shoo-in choice to become the first Negro to win the Sugar's MVP award. The stubby runner wound up the game with 120 yards rushing.

★ ★ ★

Then Spurrier ignited Florida's comeback bid. He wound up with a handful of Sugar Bowl records after hitting on 27 of 45 passes for 352 yards and was chosen the game's most outstanding performer, becoming the first player on a losing team to win the award in the 32-year history of the Sugar Bowl.

Bowl Receipts Benefit LSU, Arkansas 11s

DALLAS (AP) — The Cotton Bowl teams — Louisiana State and Arkansas — will get about $227,000 each for Saturday's game won by LSU 14-7.

Louisiana State will keep $115,000 and divide the remaining $112,000 among the 10 other members of the Southeastern Conference and the conference itself. Each will get $11,818.

Arkansas keeps $100,000 and the remaining $117,000 will be divided up eight ways with Arkansas sharing again. Thus Arkansas will receive $114,625 and the other members of the Southwest Conference will receive $14,625 each.

It is the highest payoff in the 30-year history of the Cotton Bowl.

California Racer First in Orange Bowl Race

MIAMI (AP) — Bob Nordskog of Van Nuys, Calif. driving a ski racing runabout named "Viking Spirit," took first place honors in the Orange Bowl Regatta's inaugural 250-mile speed classic Sunday.

The 52-year-old Nordskog drove the entire 100 laps while younger competitors called on relief driers at the halfway mark. He covered the 250 miles at an average speed of 67.069 miles per hour.

'We're Coming Back'

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles said Sunday night he thinks Arkansas has the finest college football team in America, regardless of the polls or the outcome of the Cotton Bowl game.

Louisiana State upset the second-ranked Razorbacks 14-7 to end a 22-game winning streak, longest in the nation among major colleges.

"I knew it would take a perfect game to defeat us, and LSU had it," Broyles said.

Broyles said, "The longer you win the harder it is to lose, and we're disappointed. But we're coming back."

He said the Razorbacks' seniors were already telling the juniors to start another winning streak.

Impatient Fans Finally Hear Postponement

GORGONZOLA, Italy — (AP) — The 60 soccer fans who showed up for the Gorganzola - Villasanta game Sunday became a little impatient after one hour of waiting.

It was cold. The Gorgonzola team was on the field, but there was no sign of the referee or the Villasanta team.

After 2½ hours an official of the Gorgonzola club remembered that the amateur championship had been postponed until Jan. 30.

The club paid the fans back their ticket money.

British Driver Wins African Grand Prix

EAST LONDON, South Africa (AP) — Mike Spence of Britain drove his two-liter Lotus Climax to victory Saturday in the South African Grand Prix, breezing in first after Jack Brabham's racer broke down.

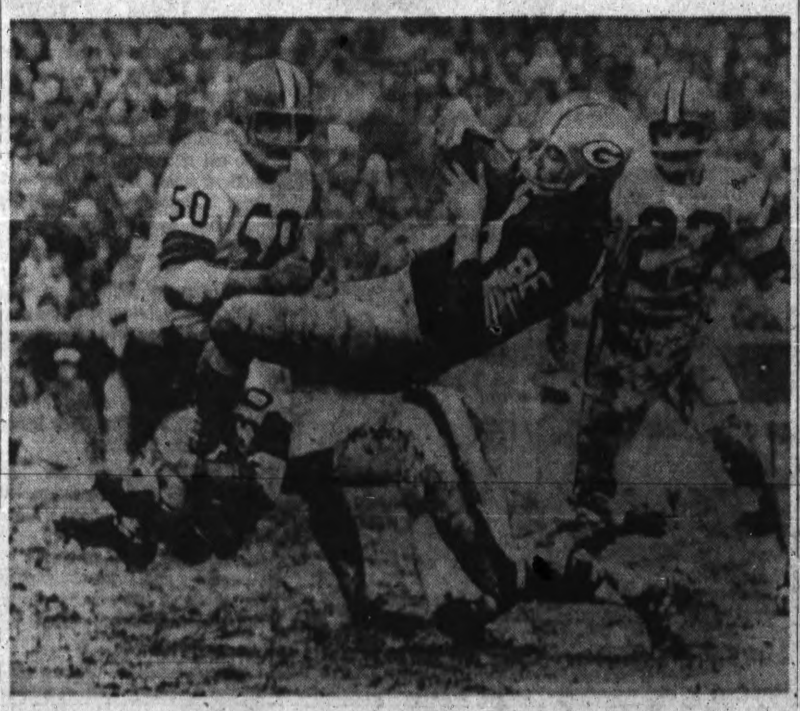

Spence averaged 97.8 miles per hour for the 60-lap, 145-mile race, the first to be run under the new three-liter formula which went into effect this year. The event does not count toward the world championship.

Jo Siffert of Switzerland was second in a Brabham Climax and Peter Arundel of Britain took third in an L.D.S. Climax.

Brabham, the star Australian driver, led from the second lap until the 51st, when the belt on the fuel injection pump of his Repco Brabham failed and forced him to the sidelines.

POUNCE ON PACKER — Three Cleveland, Browns' pass protector converge on Green Bay receiver Boyd Dowler (86) after first-half reception Sunday at snow-softened Lambeau Stadium. Making the initial grab is Bernie Parrish (30), while Vince Costello (50) and Larry Benz follow up. The Packers won the National Football League championship aided by Dowler's five receptions.

KICKER TURNS PASSER — Cleveland Browns' kicker Lou Groza (76) found himself in an unfamiliar role yesterday against the Green Bay Packers in the NFL championship game at Green Bay. Groza, back to kick an extra point after the Browns scored in the first period, saw the pass from center fumbled by Bobby Franklin. He scooped up the loose ball and passed complete to Franklin who was halted just short of the goal line. Trying to halt Groza's passing attempt are tackle Henry Jordan (74) and linebacker Lee Roy Caffey (60). Packers won, 23-12.

The NFL announced no financial figures, but the victory figured to be worth about $7,000 to each Packer. Each Brown will get about $4,600 as a losing share from the gate receipts and the $720,000 of television money that went into the pot.

player of the game trophy for efforts that included two pass interceptions, a fumble recovery and key tackles all afternoon.

UCLA won passing honors with 147 yards net against 110 yards for Michigan State.

Beban completed eight of 20 tries of the total. Juday connected with eight of 18 throws for 80 yards and Jimmy Ray made two of four for 30.

Michigan State blew one chance to get on the scoreboard late in the first half after the visitors pushed to the UCLA six. A pair of end zone pass tries went incomplete and barefoot kicker Dick Kenney missed on a 23-yard field goal try.

The rival coaches were gallant in their exchange of courtesies afterward.

"You have to judge a team on their season performance," said UCLA coach Tommy Prothro. "As far as I'm concerned, they're still No. 1."

Daugherty declared he had no alibis for the defeat.

"I'd like to give full credit to UCLA for playing a truly great game," he said. "They kept us off balance from the start and forced us into mistakes. But I'd say we just lost by inches."

The Spartan team and coaches were flying out of the Los Angeles International Airport by chartered jet plane at noon EST Monday. The MSU party was due to arrive at the Lansing airport at 3:45 p.m. EST.

Defenseman Harold Lucas, who has signed to play pro ball with the St. Louis Cardinals of the National Football League, and Juday will not be aboard the plane. Both left for Hawaii Sunday to play in the Hula Bowl in Honolulu.

West Bloomfield's Lead at Stake

Lakers Meet Milford Five

St. Frederick Travels; St. Michael at Home

West Bloomfield's surprising Lakers will have an opportunity to move out in front in the Wayne-Oakland League tomorrow night when they play host to Milford's Redskins.

It's the only game on the W-O slate and one of a handful on the Tuesday calendar for the preps who are just returning to action after the break for the holidays.

A couple of other important scraps are on tap in the Macomb Catholic League where St. Michael and St. Frederick continue their duel for the lead.

West Bloomfield took time out back in December tied for the W-O lead with Northville at 3-0.

★ ★ ★

Since Northville is idle tomorrow, the Lakers can gain the lead for a few days at least with a victory over the Redskins who are 1-2 in the league play and 1-3 over-all.

THREE WINS

The Lakers, who were expected to do little in this year's race, picked up their conference wins by trimming Bloomfield Hills, Clarkston and Holly. Their lone setback came when they ventured outside the W-O to take on Waterford.

★ ★ ★

St. Michael (5-1) entertains New Baltimore St. Mary while St. Frederick (6-1) journeys to Detroit to meet St. Rose.

The Mikemen and Rams share the Macomb lead with 5-1 records and neither is expected to have any trouble tomorrow. Another game on the Macomb slate finds Richmond St. Augustine entertaining Marine City Holy Cross.

Oxford (2-3) entertains Flint St. Michael tomorrow and the Wildcats will be trying to square their record at 3-3.

Elsewhere on the Tuesday schedule, Oak Park entertains Lutheran East, Marysville visits Armada, Brown City travels to North Branch, Ortonville has a date at Lake Fenton, and Royal Oak Shrine plays host to St. Ambrose.

In a couple of Northwest Parochial League games, Royal Oak St. Mary (5-1) entertains Farmington OLS (3-3), and St. Benedict (5-1) visits St. Rita (5-1).

Will Name Sooner Aides

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Oklahoma's new football coach—Jim Mackenzie — said Sunday night he hopes to be able to name at least part of his staff by Wednesday.

"I don't know if I can name them all," he said, "but I hope I can name some of them by mid-week, probably Wednesday."

Mackenzie, 35, had been chief assistant to Frank Broyles at Arkansas before accepting OU job.

Both Face MVC Threats

2 Quintets Unbeaten

By the Associated Press

Only two major college basketball teams in the nation are still unbeaten this season and Missouri Valley Conference teams play both of them on the road tonight.

Tulsa will take a shot at Texas Western's perfect record at El Paso. Texas Western spoiled Iowa's perfect mark to win the Sun Bowl Tourney last week. Tulsa's record is 10-2, only third best in the Valley behind Bradley, 10-1, and Cincinnati, 8-1.

★ ★ ★

St. Louis meets unbeaten Kentucky at Lexington, where the Wildcats are extra tough. St. Louis has enjoyed uncommon success against Adolph Rupp's Kentucky teams, however, with four victories in the last five years and a 9-6 lead in the series.

The Valley's record against outside opponents this season is 56 won, 19 lost. On the road, it's 11-13, above average these days.

GOOD RECORD

The Valley sent five teams to holiday tournaments last week and they lost only one game to outside opponents. Drake completed the near-sweep by taking the Queen City Tourney Saturday at Buffalo, 65-52 over Holy Cross. Tulsa won the eight-team Rainbow Tourney, beating St. Louis in the finals; Louisville won the Hurricane and Wichita was third in the All-College.

The tournament mania was bad news for most of the nationally ranked teams — five of them losing in major tournaments last week.

Still another, third-ranked Bradley, lost its lone regular season start, and the list of major college unbeatens dwindled to two — fifth-ranked Kentucky, 8-0, and unranked Texas Western, 10-0, winner of the Sun Bowl tournament.

No. 8 St. Joseph's, Pa., and No. 10 Providence were the only ranked teams participating in tournament action to escape unscathed. St. Joe's, 9-2, won the Quaker City, and Providence, 8-1, took the Holiday Festival in New York.

Top-ranked Duke shunned the tourneys and got a quick start in the Atlantic Coast Conference race with a come from behind 92-76 triumph over Wake Forest Saturday night.

SEC OPENER

Georgia took Louisiana State 82-59 in the SEC opener, and Louisville beat St. Louis 84-80 in the Missouri Valley. Tonight the Big Eight opens with Kansas at Colorado, Oklahoma State at Oklahoma and Kansas State at Missouri.

The Atlantic Coast has Clemson at South Carolina and Maryland at North Carolina. The Southern Conference has Virginia Military at George Washington and The Citadel at East Carolina.

In the Southeastern, Alabama is at Florida, Mississippi State at Auburn, Louisiana State at Mississippi and Tulane at Tennessee.

The Southwestern and Yankee Conferences open Thursday, and the Mid-American, Pacific Coast and Big Ten start up Saturday.

Duke, Kentucky and Texas Western all have nonconference games tonight. Duke takes on Penn State, Kentucky is at home to St. Louis, and Texas Western is host to Tulsa.

Knocked off in tourney competition last week were No. 2 Vanderbilt in the Los Angeles Classic; Nov. 4 Iowa fell before Texas Western 86-68 in the Sun Bowl, No. 6 Brigham Young and No. 9 Minnesota lost in the Quaker City, and No. 7 Michigan in the Far West Classic.

Pick U.S. Alpine Teams

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Sixteen men and 12 women were named by Coach Bob Beattie Saturday to the U.S. 1966 national alpine teams.

Five of the men and five of the women will be competing in European races this month.

Seven of the men's team ski for the University of Colorado. They are Bill Kidd, Peter Ruschp and Rebel Ryan, all of Stowe, Vt.; Jim Heuga, Tahoe City, Calif.; Spider Sabich, Kyburz, Calif.; Jim Barrows, Steamboat Springs, Colo., and Bill Marolt, Aspen, Colo.

★ ★ ★

Others are Don Brooks, Vancouver, Wash.; Walt Falk, Boise, Idaho, and Dennis McCoy, Mammoth Mountain, Calif., all of the University of Denver; Loris Werner, Steamboat Springs, Colo., Western State College; Roger Buchlka, Haverhill, Mass., Middlebury College; Dave Engen, McCall, Idaho, and Ray Miller, Salt Lake City, Utah, both of the University of Utah.

Also named but presently sidelined by injuries are Rick Chaffee, Rutland, Vt., University of Denver, and Ken Phelps, Lyons Falls, N.Y., Western State.

The women's team includes eight from the Mammoth Mountain Ski Club.

They are sisters Cathy and Wendy Allen, San Pedro, Calif.; Suzanna Chaffee, Rutland, Vt., University of Denver; Lee Hall, Waitsfield, Vt.; Joan Hannah, Franconia, N.H.; Penny McCoy, Mammoth Lakes, Calif.; Robin Morning, Santa Monica, Calif., and Margo Walters, Salt Lake City.

Execution Key to Uclan Win

PASADENA, California (UPI)—Coaches for UCLA and Michigan State, gentlemen who neither alibi nor blast, seemed in agreement today that it wasn't what the Bruins did but the way they did it that led to the 14-12 New Year's Day Rose Bowl triumph.

Coach Duffy Daugherty of the national champion Spartans said, for example, he wasn't surprised the Bruins would try an onside kick — which they did to set up their second touchdown. "What was surprising was that it worked. We always practice against just such a possibility."

Coach Tommy Prothro of the Bruins said he felt the defense "deserves a little more credit" than the offense for the upset.

But while crediting UCLA with a fine Rose Bowl, he reminded sportswriters the unheralded Bruins "played all year as a team."

STRESS PASSING

As in earlier victories over such teams as Southern California, the Bruins stressed passing — "we felt we had to throw because they are bigger" — and the man who did the job was, again, sophomore Gary Beban.

★ ★ ★

"Beban was all he was supposed to be," said Daugherty, who refused to single out anyone for responsibility in the defeat.

He refused to be drawn into any criticism of senior Steve Juday, the quarterback who led the Spartans to a 10-0 season.

Both Beban and Juday, like their coaches, paid tribute to the opposition. "Those front linemen of theirs are really large hitters," said Beban, who spent most of the afternoon under one or more of the hefty Spartan forwards. "They've got a great ball club."

★ ★ ★

Juday, however, was not convinced that the reason for UCLA's win was its improvement over a regular season 13-3 loss.

"We were that much worse today," said Juday, who confirmed that end Gene Washington slipped and fell on a pass play that would have added two points to the first Michigan State touchdown.

But instead of it being 14-8 in favor of UCLA, it was 14-6. "There was no one to throw to," said Juday, who was hard-pressed by daredevil UCLA defensive tactics much of the afternoon.

LINEBACKING RISK

The stunting by the UCLA linebackers — in which the Bruins took a calculated risk — paid off, particularly since the bread-and-butter MSU offensive plays didn't work.

"I can't recall when in the same game we couldn't make a yard or two with an off-tackle pitchout or a dive play. We failed three times by inches to get a first down on just those situations," said Daugherty.

"We didn't do well what we have been doing consistently well," said Daugherty.

★ ★ ★

Two governors, both national figures, paid visits to the dressing rooms after the classic and both were high in praise for their athletes.

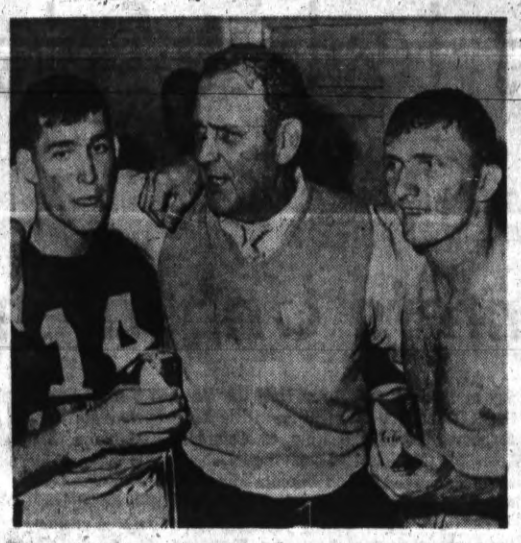

Gov. George Romney of Michigan consoled the Spartans, recalling their success in the season as a whole.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California hailed the Bruin triumph and singled out Bob Stiles, voted the top player of the game, to congratulate him. But Stiles was still woozy from combat and almost stumbled as he went wearily to the dressing room.

Tahoe Boat Races Canceled

STATELINE, Nev. (AP)—The South Tahoe Regatta Association has withdrawn its sponsorship of one of the world's richest boat races, but the American Power Boat Association may ask the Tahoe group to reconsider.

The Tahoe association told J. Lee Schoenith, chairman of the power boat's unlimited racing commission, that the 1966 Lake Tahoe world championship speedboat regatta was canceled.

"We have accepted the cancellation with regret," Schoenith said Sunday in Detroit, Mich. "But the facts surrounding the cancellation have not been thoroughly studied."

He said the power boat association meets in New York Jan. 14 and will consider the cancellation. He said the power boat association may ask the Tahoe group to reconsider or a substitute race may be added to the unlimited race calendar.

"This has been very sudden," Schoenith said, "and we haven't regrouped ourselves enough to think about it."

★ ★ ★

No reason was given for the cancellation.

Bill Harrah, Reno and Stateline gambler and sportsman, sponsored the Tahoe regatta three times before last year. The Tahoe association took over sponsorship and obtained world championship sanction.

★ ★ ★

The purse for the 1966 race was $77,777.77. Miss Bardahl of Seattle, won the 1965 Tahoe title and prize money of $13,000.

The 1965 race was only for hydroplanes, but the 1966 regatta scheduled for Sept. 9-17 would have been for outboards, limited inboards and unlimited hydroplanes.

Bud Williams Leads Oakland Ice Win

Bud Williams of Walled Lake added four goals and two assists to his league-leading point total as the Oakland Arrowsmith team topped Northend VFW, 8-2, over the weekend.

The Metropolitan Detroit Junior Hockey League win was the sixth straight for the Oakland County entry, leaving it one point behind the pace-setting team.

Southfield's Dave Wahl and Mike Prentice added two and one goal, respectively; and Tom Petrie of Clarkston also had one.

Tomorrow night, Oakland will play Dearborn Adray at 8 o'clock on the Worden rink ice in Royal Oak.

Senior Loop Routs AFL

NFL Wins Battle for College Talent

By the Associated Press

The National and American football leagues, who do not meet on the playing field, have concluded their annual game for the top draft choices in the country.

Final score: NFL 38, AFL 11.

NFL teams finished sweeping the country from end to end at the sites of the weekend college bowl games and wound up with 38 of their first 43 draft eligibles signed while the AFL latched on to only 11 of 23 top draft choices picked on the first three rounds.

The NFL's overwhelming victory in the competition was sealed when such prized catches as Donny Anderson, Johnny Roland, Harold Lucas and Francis Peay signed after concluding their college careers in bowl games.

FINAL PUSH

The Houston Oilers made the big final push for the AFL by signing four tackles, including Glen Ray Hines, George Rice and Dave McCormick for a $1-million package, while Kansas City pulled off a surprise by nabbing Heisman Trophy winner Mike Garrett.

Anderson, Texas Tech's two-time All-America running back, signed with Green Bay for a reported $600,000 that might be the highest on record — but less than the $887,000 Houston owner Bud Adams said he had offered for Anderson's services.

★ ★ ★

Roland, Missouri's all-purpose back, received more than $300,000 for signing with the St. Louis Cardinals, who also grabbed Lucas, Michigan State's huge tackle. Peay, Missouri's standout tackle and a first-round pick, went with the New York Giants as did Nebraska and Freeman White.

Besides Lucas, NFL teams signed four other second-round selections — Missouri tackle Butch Allison going with Baltimore, Arkansas halfback Jim Lindsay with Minnesota, Florida guard Larry Gagner with Pittsburgh and Nebraska tackle Walter Barnes with Washington.

FUTURE PICKS

Anderson and Roland both were high future picks in each league; Peay, Allison and Lindsay were second-round choices in the AFL draft, and Lucas, Gagner and Barnes had been chosen on the AFL's third round.

★ ★ ★

The Oilers, with money to spend after missing out on Anderson, did just that in signing the four tackles — Hines and Jim Williams of Arkansas and Rice and McCormick of LSU. McCormick was acquired in a trade with Boston.

McCormick, a No. 1 future in the AFL draft last year, was a fifth-round pick of San Francisco. Hines was Houston's No 2 pick as a future and St. Louis' sixth. Rice was the Oilers' third-round pick this season and Chicago's first in the NFL draft.

Adams, who was specific about the figure he offered Anderson, refused to divulge individual figures about the foursome because "we never give out figures on tackles." But, he said, "we're talking in excess of a million dollars."

Rice was only the second of 16 first-round picks lost by the NFL to the American League. The NFL also signed 11 of 13 second-round eligibles and 13 of 14 third-round picks.

The AFL got five of 10 first-round selections, two of nine from the second round and four of nine from the third round with one player still unsigned.

new leader of the Dodge Rebellion

Tired of looking at dream cars you can't buy? The cars you see at the Auto Show and never see again? Well, then, do something about it. See the one you can buy, right now, today, at your Dodge dealer's. It's Charger, a full-sized, fastback action car that's all primed up and ready to go. With V8 power. Bucket seats, fore and aft. Full-length console. Disappearing headlights that disappear without a trace. Rear seats that quickly convert into a spacious cargo compartment. Just pop the rear buckets down and watch the cargo space go up. That's Charger—breathtaking new leader of the Dodge Rebellion. Until you've seen it, you haven't seen everything from Dodge for '66. Charger, a brawny, powerful dream car that made it—all the way to your Dodge dealer's.

Defense Stocks Advance

Stock Mart Irregularly Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was irregularly lower early this afternoon as trading for 1966 got well under way but there were elements of strength.

Aerospace defense stocks advanced as did coppers, some of the latter gaining sharply.

Steels were mixed, with Bethlehem weak because of its involvement with the government in a price rise controversy.

Trading was moderate, dampened by the citywide transit strike which kept many of those employed in Wall Street and elsewhere in the city at their homes in outlying areas. In spite of the strike, turnover in the morning was almost as much as it was a week ago Monday.

VIET HOSTILITIES

Hostilities in Viet Nam and the apparent lack of success thus far in the U.S. peace offensive brought further buying to defense stocks. Coppers were spurred by Copper price boosts abroad.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .3 at 358.2 with industrials off .8, rails up .3 and utilities off .2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off .11 at 969.15.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE

Prices were mixed in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Iowa Public Service preferred gain 2. Up about a point were Valley Metallurgical, Xtra Inc., Atlas Consolidated Mining, Aurora Plastics, Duval, Gulf Sulphur, Jefferson Lake Petrochemicals and O'Okiep Copper. AVC Corp. lost 2, Syntex about 1½ and National Video a fraction.

★ ★ ★

Corporate bonds were about unchanged. U.S. Treasury bonds rose slightly.

Junior Editors Quiz on WATER MOLECULES

QUESTION: How does water stay inside a spoon even when it is higher than the edges of the spoon?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: You should certainly try the interesting experiment the young folks are making. Look closely at a full spoonfull of water to see the rounding up effect above the edge where the water joins the spoon.

To do this, be sure to pick up enough water in your spoon. By rocking the spoon gently, you can see the water pile up to the side or end and yet not spill off.

The explanation of this is the principle called surface tension. When a liquid lies with a flat, open surface, the force called cohesion makes the minute molecules at or close to the surface attract each other.

In the lower diagram, we have symbolized these molecules as molecule men which are trying to stay together by locking arms.

The force of the surface tension is slight and can be easily overcome.

But in the case of the water in the spoon, this tension is enough to hold some extra water on the top of that which fills the spoon level, without this extra water spilling over.

As the pull of the surface molecules on water tends to round the surface, it is this force which makes a soap bubble round; the sphere being the smallest shape the soapy water film can take to include the amount of air inside.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: The force of surface tension is enough to float certain metal objects on water, which, since they contain no air, you would imagine would sink. Borrow a needle from your mother and put it down flat, very carefully, on the surface of water in a glass. Be sure to return the needle. It is dangerous to leave it around.

Japanese Hinted 1st to America

NEW YORK (AP) — Long before Leif Ericson or Christopher Columbus reached the New World, the Japanese may have been puttering around South America.

Evidence that Japanese landed in this hemisphere as early as 3000 B.C. is reported by two anthropologists at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C.

★ ★ ★

Japanese-like pottery found in Ecuador, on the northwestern coast of South America, is the basis of the findings.

The anthropologists are the husband-and-wife team of Clifford Evans, curator of the Smithsonian's division of cultural anthropology, and Betty J. Meggers, research associate.

JANUARY ISSUE

Their report is published in the January issue of Scientific American magazine and is amplified to become the first volume of the institution's "Contributions to Anthropology" series.

The two anthropologists speculate that the Japanese landing was accidental.

The report comes after recent estimates that Scandinavian Leif Ericson landed in the New World around 1000 A.D., some 500 years before Christopher Columbus.

The anthropologists' article says man-made objects found in Ecuador indicate that the knowledge of pottery-making was carried there by Japanese. They suggest that perhaps a fishing boat was caught in a typhoon off Japan and was swept away in the prevailing ocean currents, swinging first to the northeast, then to the southeast on an arc of more than 8,000 miles across the Pacific.

FIRST CLUE

Evans and Miss Meggers wrote that the first clue to the theory was found in 1961 by an Ecuadorian amateur archeologist. The clue was a fragment of reddish pottery. The scientists' report says the fragment was found in a site calculated by various means to date to 2300 to 3000 B.C.

Working with that clue, they looked at other bits of pottery at the site and found a large number of other similarities between them and pottery from the Jomon period of Japan.

★ ★ ★

"Not only are techniques for decoration duplicated," the team wrote, "the design elements and patterns are often nearly identical."

The report ruled out the possibility that similar styles of pottery might have developed independently on the two continents.

Fire Quelled 'on the Run'

MANISTIQUE (AP) — Fireman Don Belleville made it to a fire the hard way Sunday.

Losing traction on an icy hill, Belleville's fire truck skidded into nearby Indian Lake, Seizing a fire extinguisher, he ran an eighth of a mile to a burning car and put out the blaze.

Wreckers later pulled the fire truck from the lake.

Lodge OKs Agreement for TV in Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge signed an agreement today with the government to give this embattled nation its first taste of television.

★ ★ ★

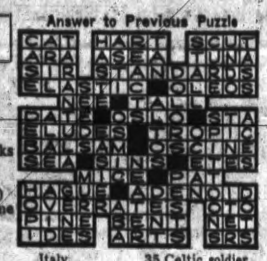

Two channels will be operated, possibly by the end of this month. One will broadcast an hour of Vietnamese programs daily. The other will provide three hours of entertainment to the U.S. armed forces, including some popular American shows.

Wilson Crystal-Balls 1966 With 'Fearsome' Forecasts

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Here I come with my personally guaranteed Fearless Forecasts for 1966.

A sensational announcement as big as the news of Princess Margaret marrying Tony Armstrong-Jones will be made in NY about a world-famous lady and her ice skating companion (unless they cool it).

Jayne Mansfield'll open at the Latin Quarter Jan. 18 and do a strip—but then doesn't she always?

WILSON

Liz Taylor and Richard Burton have to start '66 being pre-trial cross-examined in 20th's $25,000,000 suit charging that the headlines from Rome about Eddie Fisher hurt "Cleopatra." The quizzing starts in LA Jan. 5—though the Burtons want to go to Oxford Jan. 15 for "Dr. Faustus."

Liz and Burton may do a poetry-reading in August at Forest Hills Music Festival for Mike Todd Jr. and Harry Bloomfield . . . also a big musical narration at Lewisohn stadium, same month.

★ ★ ★

Frank Sinatra, Warren Beatty and Hugh O'Brian will NOT get married . . . Johnny Carson'll sit in the same "Tonight" chair in Jan. '67 (maybe even Jan. '68). NBC's so generous, he can't quit.

Julie will positively win the Oscar (Christie or Andrews). . . . We Taureans (April 21-May 20) will have sensational success in love and finance in '66 but should be careful about punching policemen.

★ ★ ★

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Ava Gardner sneaked into the Capitol (to see "Dr. Zhivago") wearing ponyskin slacks and jacket. . . . Hugh O'Brian, back from Viet Nam, dated model Nancy Norman at Danny's . . . Nicol Williamson, who does only evening performances of "Inadmissible Evidence," agreed to add one matinee. His only request to producer David Merrick: Two bottles of champagne as a bonus.

The Beatles are managing another group . . . the Moody Blues (who may open at Eighth Wonder) . . . With so many vacationing college students jamming that discotheque, the staff calls it "Arthur University" . . . Gary and Barbara Crosby are dating while waiting for their divorce to become final.

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local store sells birthday candles in three sizes: Giant box of 100, economy box of 50, and a box of 39 for middle-aged women.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Bernie Allen sent out Christmas cards reading: "Happy Holiday. A gift in your name has been sent to my children."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Youth is that period when you're looking for green fields. Middle age is when you can hardly mow the one you've got."—Harold Nance.

EARL'S PEARLS: New Year's Eve is coming just when it always does—around the thirst of the year.

A fellow said his doctor forbade him to smoke. The doc added, and since you're quitting, I'll give you $3 for your gold lighter." That's earl, brother.

28-Year Chief of NAACP Steps Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. Arthur B. Spingarn has stepped down as president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in favor of a younger man.

★ ★ ★

Spingarn, 87, walked about two years, resigned Sunday night to make way for a "younger and more energetic president."

Spingarn, 87 walked about two miles Sunday night from his Grammercy Park home to the New York Hilton where 500 persons gathered for the annual NAACP dinner.

★ ★ ★

A member of a wealthy and socially prominent New York family who had picketed for Negro rights in Memphis, Tenn., 50 years ago, he may be the last white president of the 55-year-old civil rights organization.

★ ★ ★

Spingarn noted last year that many Negro leaders wanted a Negro to head the organization, while retaining whites in other posts.

Actor Married in California

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Actor Anthony Quinn, 50, and Yolanda Addolori, 31, the mother of the couple's two small sons, were married last night in a private civil ceremony here.

Superior Judge Edward Brand of nearby Santa Monica performed the simple ceremony before a small group of friends, including actor John Cassavetes and Quinn's mother, Mrs. Frank Bowles of Los Angeles.

The marriage climazed a widely publicized romance between the two-time Academy award winner and the bride, who claimed to be from a noble Venetian family.

The couple had two children, Frank, 2, and Daniel, 1, while Quinn was still married to his first wife, Katherine De Mille, daughter of the late movie producer Cecil B. De Mille.

PONTIAC'S FIRST? — Beverly Annette Berry, the likeliest winner of the area's first baby of the year contest, is cradled by her mother, Mrs. Fred Berry, 18, of 804 St. Clair. The baby was born three seconds after midnight Jan. 1 at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital. The father is employed at Fisher Body Division.

Plane Crash Toll Is Five From State

By The Associated Press

Five Michigan residents were killed in two light plane crashes in Florida and Alabama on the New Year holiday weekend.

Four other persons were injured in aircraft accidents in Michigan.

Businessman Nyle A. Eggert, 58, of Spring Lake and his son, James Richard, 21, and the latter's fiancee, Geraldine Petretti, 20, of Grand Haven, were killed yesterday when their twin-engine plane crashed near Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Dr. Forrest W. Rosendahl, 42, a Marquette dentist, and his wife, Yvette, were killed Saturday when their single engine plane crashed on the plateau of Chandler Mountain near Pell City, Ala.

The elder Eggert was president of National Products Co. of Grand Haven. The firm makes display equipment.

COLLEGE JUNIORS

Young Eggert was a junior at Ferris State College and Miss Petretti was a junior at Michigan State University.

The group was on its way to Atlanta, Ga., to board a commercial flight for Michigan after spending the holidays in Florida.

★ ★ ★ ★

Authorities said he reported he had lost an engine and requested emergency clearance for landing just before the crash.

WITNESSED CRASH

Mrs. Viola Eggert, wife of the elder Eggert, witnessed the crash.

She had planned to remain a few days in Fort Lauderdale on the family yacht before returning home.

The Rosendahls were attempting to land for fuel at Gadsden, Ala., when their plane crashed.

ON A VISIT

The couple had been on a visit with Mrs. Rosendahl's mother.

Dr. Rosendahl's brother, Jack, was killed in a plane crash last August in Minnesota.

Hubert Ward, 38, of Union Lake, his wife, Juanita, 32, and son, Bruce, 8, were injured when their single-engine aircraft crash-landed in a Commerce Township marsh near Pontiac Saturday.

Russell Fisk, 23, of rural Lowell suffered a broken nose when his light plane lost power a few minutes after takeoff from the Buck Masters airstrip at Greenville Saturday.

The plane struck a utility line while attempting an emergency landing.

New Yorkers Feel Impact of Transit Strike

Traffic Said Normal After Lindsay Warns of Possible Crisis

NEW YORK (AP) — The brunt of a two-day-old transit strike hit New York today, threatened for a time to overwhelm Manhattan with automobiles, then eased into a flow described as normal.

Traffic had piled up during the early rush hour and Mayor John V. Lindsay warned he might be forced to close off the city to any more automobiles.

Lindsay, who took office just hours before the bus and subway workers struck New Year's Day, climbed into a police helicopter for a personal inspection of the choked arteries from the foggy, drizzly skies.

Then, like a breaking fever, the crisis passed and Traffic Commissioner Henry A. Barnes reported traffic in Manhattan was "loosening up."

★ ★ ★

And the mayor lifted his threat.

TRAFFIC NORMAL

By 8 a.m. Barnes said traffic was about normal, but urged that no additional drivers head for Manhattan.

He predicted there could be continuous traffic jams in Manhattan throughout the day.

Barnes attributed the easing of Manhattan's traffic to the fact that drivers headed for work two hours earlier than usual.

This caused early morning tieups, but eased conditions in the midst of the usual rush hour.

New Yorkers didn't feel the full impact of the strike until today because of the holiday weekend.

Lindsay went on radio and television early today to make a last-minute appeal to commuters not to drive into the city.

The new mayor, setting a brisk pace for newsmen accompanying him, walked the 70 blocks from the Hotel Roosevelt to City Hall in 45 minutes.

★ ★ ★

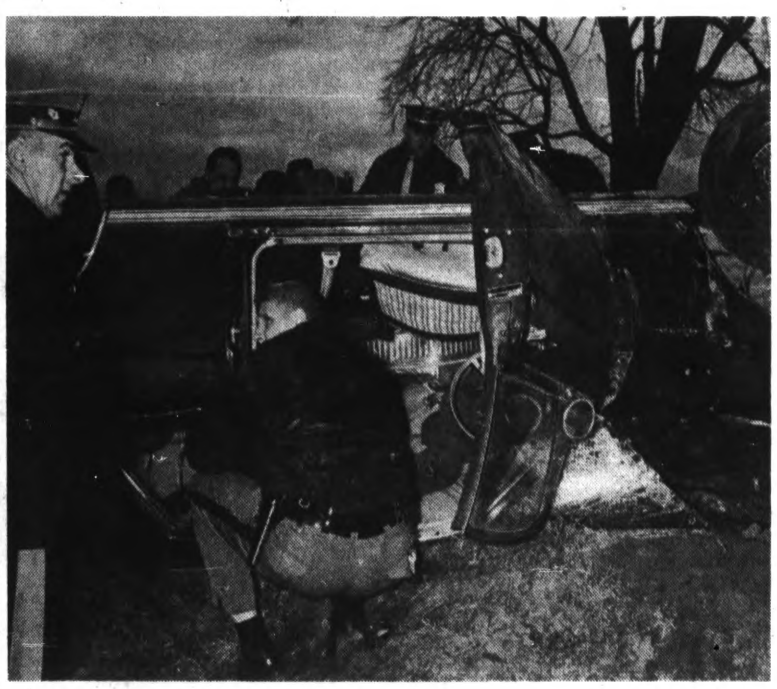

Traffic actually was lighter than normal on many Manhattan streets. But pedestrian traffic was brisk at many spots, and commuter railroad and bus terminals were clogged.

★ ★ ★

At one point, more than 1,200 persons were lined up three deep in the rain at a Bronx station waiting to purchase tickets to ride into Manhattan via the New York Central Railroad.

COMMERCE ACCIDENT — Overturned after colliding with a Walled Lake school bus and then skidding into four children waiting for another school bus in Commerce Township, is this car driven by Dawn G. Redman, 24, of 6020 Hillsboro, Springfield Township. Officers from several area police departments and sheriff's deputies worked for several minutes to remove the woman from the wreckage. Sisters Waiting for School Ride Are Hit by Auto

Driver, Bus Collide in Commerce Twp.; Eight Others Injured

Two Clifford H. Smart Junior High School pupils were killed this morning in Commerce Township when a car collided with a school bus and then skidded into four students waiting for another school bus.

Mary A. Wilson, 14, and her sister, Lynette, 13, both of 280 Wise, Commerce Township, died at Pontiac General Hospital.

★ ★ ★

The daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wilson, both girls were among the four waiting for a school bus.

Driver of the car was seriously injured.

The school bus involved in the accident at the corner of Wise and Carroll Lake Road turned on its side from the impact but the driver and four passengers escaped with minor injuries.

Police said the car driven by Dawn G. Redman, 24, of 6020 Hillsboro, Springfield Township, was heading east on Wise where there is a stop sign at the intersection of Carroll Lake Road.

The school bus, traveling north on Carroll Lake Road, did not stop to pick up the group of four who were scheduled to take another bus.

HOSPITAL DEATH

Mary Wilson died about an hour after the 8:30 a.m. accident.

The other sister died about 11 a.m. following surgery.

The two other girls waiting for the school bus were injured but are reported in fair condition by the hospital.

They are Myrna Bryers, 15, of 120 Wise, and Patricia Lundy, 15, of 5297 Carroll Lake, both Commerce Township.

The Bryers girl suffered leg and shoulder injuries and the Lundy girl suffered injuries to her head and knee.

OVERTURNED CAR

Officers from several departments and sheriff's deputies worked for several minutes to free Miss Redman from the wreckage of her overturned car.

Porta jacks from a wrecker were used when efforts of police personnel using crowbars were unsuccessful.

The children on the bus were also students at Smart Junior High School. All four and the bus driver were treated at a nearby house for minor injuries and later went to school.

School officials said that transportation scheduling called for the group of four students on the corner to be picked up by another bus even though those pupils and the four on the bus in the accident attended the same school.

Yanks Hunt Elusive Cong in Mekong Delta Invasion

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. paratroopers slogged through mud and swamp today in their first big invasion of the Mekong Delta but a large Viet Cong force slipped deeper into the Red sanctuary, eluding their pursuers.

The probe by the 173rd Airborne Brigade, backed by artillery, air strikes and even tanks, began with high hopes of rousing the guerrillas from their stronghold.

Although they offered some brisk skirmishes and steady sniper fire at the start of the operation New Year's Day, the Viet Cong withdrew into the marshes in the direction of the Plain of Reeds near the Cambodian frontier.

By this afternoon, there was only occasional contact with guerrillas.

A U.S. spokesman said the 173rd Brigade had killed 111 Viet Cong, captured 7 and detained 502 suspects. Vietnamese troops killed 125 guerrillas in the fighting, their spokesmen said.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. paratroopers had moved westward from Saigon into the sugar and rice fields around Bao Trai, 20 miles from the capital. They captured a large store of rice and other food and some National Liberation Front flags.

NORTHERN FRINGE

After the initial encounters, however, the Viet Cong headed toward the Plain of Reeds, a marshy Communist area on the northern fringe of the Mekong Delta.

It has long been considered a Viet Cong infiltration route and base camp.

It was considered doubtful that the heavily armed Americans would attempt to pursue the Reds over terrain unsuited to their equipment.

★ ★ ★

BEATEN OFF

The Communists attacked a Vietnamese scout company command post with flamethrowers and grenades 12 miles south of Tuy Hoa, on the central coast. They were beaten off. Ten Reds were reported killed.

A military spokesman said it was the first time the Communists used flamethrowers.

The South Vietnamese didn't capture any of them, but they were believed of Chinese make and part of the equipment of a battalion of North Vietnamese regulars.

Envoys Keep Trying, but Reds Defiant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two of President Johnson's peace envoys continue their efforts today despite new dampening blasts from Hanoi.

The North Vietnamese Communist party organ Nhan Dan branded the current U.S. peace moves as "trickery" and said that if any political solution to the Viet Nam war is to be achieved the United States must halt "definitely and unconditionally" all acts of war against the north.

The Hanoi newspaper also said Washington would have to acknowledge the four conditions the Communists have set down for an end to the war. What was meant by "acknowledge" was not immediately clear.

Washington has let it be known that it would be willing to discuss the four points if negotiations got under way.

U.S. efforts to get such talks started moved ahead with roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman's arrival in Pakistan for talks with President Mohammed Ayub Khan while G.

2nd Straight Holiday Record

Weekend Traffic Toll at 556

By The Associated Press

The deaths of 556 persons on the nation's highways during the three-day New Year's weekend set a record for the second straight holiday period.

The record toll passed last New Year's traffic death count of 474 early yesterday.

The lowest toll for any New Year's holiday since World War II was 269 during the three-day period of 1949-1950.

The New Year deaths, however, were still far short of the all-time holiday traffic death count of 720 set during the three-day Christmas period.

★ ★ ★

An Associated Press survey of a nonholiday weekend of the same length as the New Year holiday showed 420 deaths in traffic. The survey was made from 6 p.m. Thursday Dec. 9 to midnight Sunday Dec. 12.

COULD REACH 600

The National Safety Council said the final toll for the New Year weekend could reach 600 if the death pace did not slacken. Before the start of the holiday period, the council had estimated between 360 and 440 persons would be killed during the 78 hours between 6 p.m. local time Thursday to midnight Sunday.

A safety council statement of the New Year record said "It's clear that the nation can't depend on mere horror to terrify drivers into safe highway behavior."

Safety officials also said that there was little comfort that the New Year's toll was less than the Christmas toll, since fewer persons travel on the year-end holiday.

★ ★ ★

New Year's was the sixth holiday period in recent months to set a national record for traffic deaths.

In addition to Christmas, the 1965 Thanksgiving, Labor Day, Fourth of July and Memorial Day weekends established records for long weekend observances of those holidays.

The Thanksgiving holiday period cost 615 lives, Labor Day 564, July Fourth 551, and Memorial Day 474.

Revolutionists' Meeting in Havana Worries Latins

HAVANA (AP) — Revolutionists from three continents assembled in Havana to open a nine-day meeting today, increasing apprehension among governments of some of Communist Cuba's neighbors.

"The peace of the continent is at stake," said President Raul Leoni of Venezuela.

The so-called Tri-continental conference of Solidarity is "a new aggression against Venezuela," he said.

Leaders of Brazil, Peru and Colombia were also worried.

Each nation has tasted the guerrilla terrorism that the conference delegates favor for the "liberation of the people from oppressive regimes."

★ ★ ★

Many Latin-American, Asian and African nations will watch the conference closely for any developments signaling renewed Communist subversion in their own countries.

500 DELEGATES

Most of the decisions by the approximately 500 delegates from 100 countries will not be revealed.

A few open sessions are planned, but they are expected to be filled with long speeches spouting the usual anti-American line.

The real debate and action on the "common struggle against imperialism, colonialism and neo-colonialism" will take place in closed sessions at the former Havana Hilton Hotel in downtown Havana.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro anticipated the "hate-America" mood of the conference in a speech yesterday on the seventh anniversary of his revolution. Most of the speech provided gloomy news for Cubans.

PACT BROKEN

Castro disclosed that Communist China had broken a trade agreement and would not ship any more rice nor buy any more Cuban sugar.

China also informed Cuba, he said, that it could not accept 800,000 tons of sugar that Castro thought were safely sold.

State Labor Chief Named

LANSING (AP) — Labor negotiator Thomas Roumell of Dearborn Heights today was named director of the newly organized State Department of Labor.

Gov. George Romney announced the appointment and creation of the new department at his news conference.

Roumell, 51, served as regional director of the National Labor Relations Board for nearly 10 years. He took a 20-month leave of absence to head the Michigan Employment Security Commission, but returned to his federal post last June.

TALK OF THE TOWN — While negotiators in the New York transit strike talk, most New Yorkers walk, as the city's transportation system is closed down during discussions. Michael J. Quill (left center), president of the transit union, said he reduced the contract demand by "80 per cent" last night. However, Joseph O'Grady (right), chairman of the city's transit authority, called the offer unacceptable and charged the union with "stalling tactics."

Weather to Feel (Not Look) Like Winter in Area

It'll feel like winter, but won't look like it for the next two days, says the weatherman.

Mostly fair skies with diminishing winds this afternoon and tonight will give way to partly cloudy skies tomorrow and Wednesday.

Tonight's low of 18 to 25 will be followed by a high of 34 to 42 tomorrow. Colder temperatures are in store for the area Wednesday.

Gusty winds at 15 to 25 miles per hour today will diminish to 5 to 15 miles by early tonight.

The low thermometer reading preceding 8 a.m. today was 30. The mercury managed to climb to 34 by 1 p.m.

GIs Note Key Advantage in Delta Combat—They Can See Foe

(EDITOR'S NOTE: U. S. troops moved into the Mekong Delta over the weekend in force for the first time. Many observers believe the war in Viet Nam will be decided there. AP Correspondent Peter Arnett was with the American force.)

By PETER ARNETT

BAO TRAI, Viet Nam (AP)— The mud was deep and slimy. Men moved at a permanent crouch because of sniper bullets.

★ ★ ★

In seven hours, a whole battalion moved forward only 30 yards.

U.S. paratroopers were getting their first taste of the Mekong Delta.

"It's hell out there," said Staff Sgt. Richards Banks of Pensacola, Fla., as he lay wounded on a dry patch of ground and waved toward the marshlands 50 feet away. He had been hit by grenade fragments.

★ ★ ★

"Yes, it's hell out there," he said, "but at least you can see the devil."

He meant the Viet Cong who had held up the battalion since dawn. Planes and artillery were blasting the guerrillas, but it was slow going.

"They're over there, in that clump of wild sugar cane and bamboo. And over there along that canal," said Lt. Col. George E. Dexter of Albuquerque, N.M.

Two of Dexter's companies were in heavy contact with the dug-in enemy and a third was moving up. By evening he was trying to decide whether to launch a night assault or whether to swing back in to the landing zone and hang tight for the night.

★ ★ ★

Whatever he did, trouble awaited him, because the Mekong Delta for 20 years has meant trouble.

INDOCHINA WAR

During the Indochina war, the French kept the main roads open with a series of heavily fortified outposts and generally stayed out of the rest of the delta.

The French tried to clean out the Red River delta above Hanoi and failed. They didn't even try on the Mekong.

The South Vietnamese government has four infantry divisions—an estimated 20,000 men—in the Mekong Delta, most of them securing government installations. The Viet Cong have an estimated 30,000 men under arms in the area.

★ ★ ★

In the past year the Viet Cong and government forces have maintained a sort of standoff in the delta.

GIS HAVE COME

Now the Americans have come into this battleground.

The paratroopers of the 173rd Airborne Brigade had known only jungle in Viet Nam—the jungles of Zone D, the Iron Triangle and Phuoc Tuy.

The increasing momentum of the Viet Cong offensive brought them to the delta west of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

American units probably will soon be operating in Long An Province, south of Saigon, in the island provinces of Kien Hoa and Vinh Binh, and in the Camau Pennsula.

BETTER THAN JUNGLE

"Fighting here is a lot better than the jungle," said Sgt. Banks. "You can see where you are going and where you came from."

But the Viet Cong also can see, and they have detailed knowledge of every canal and every dike. Some of the bloodiest battles of the war have been fought in the delta. The paddy-field dikes and canals provide superb cover for the guerrillas.

Hint U.S. May Reduce Orders to Bethlehem Steel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration sources hint the government may reduce its purchase of structural steel framings from the Bethlehem Steel Corp. if the firm refuses to withdraw a $5 a ton price boost — an increase which Bethlehem claims is not inflationary.

So far, no other steel firms have followed Bethlehem's move for higher prices. President Johnson has called the increase unwarranted and said it could lead to inflation.

But Edmund F. Martin, chairman of second-ranking Bethlehem, said in a statement last night the three-day-old price hike was a result of product improvements that enable ligher-weight steel to do heavier jobs.

"After the price adjustments," Martin said, "the cost of equivalent steel framing for structures will be less than five years ago. This is not inflationary."

★ ★ ★

Government sources indicated yesterday that a cutback of federal purchases from Bethlehem may be forthcoming if the company refuses to withdraw its increases. The government now consumes about 25 per cent of the total output of structural steel shapes.

MAY RESCIND BOOST

The sources said the administration feels that if other major steel firms can be convinced not to raise prices, Bethlehem will rescind its boost.

But if the increase is not rescinded and other company's follow Bethlehem's lead, the officials said, it would be a matter of "grave concern" to top administration officials and Congress.

"No one wants price controls or anything like that," a spokesman said. "This calls for extra responsibility by business and labor."

The source said that in the steel case, as in earlier price hikes in the aluminum and copper industry, the government does not consider its actions an attempt to control prices.

The price hike, which affects about 7 per cent of the market, was announced Friday for structural steel shapes used in the construction of big buildings, bridges, highways and some equipment. The new prices went into effect Saturday.

Firemen Fight Three Serious City Blazes

Pontiac firemen battled three serious fires in less than 24 hours over the weekend, with two engines, a ladder truck and aerial unit responding to a blaze on the fourth floor of the Roosevelt Hotel, 125 N. Perry.

No injuries were reported in any of the fires.

Careless smoking was tentatively set as cause of the Roosevelt Hotel fire, which broke out shortly before 1 a.m. yesterday and was extinguished in about two hours.

Fire officials placed damage to the hotel at $1,500 and value of contents destroyed at $500.

Christmas decorations on a stereo record player ignited causing an estimated $2,200 damage to the home of John Wright, 1065 Durant.

NEAR MIDNIGHT

The blaze broke out shortly before midnight Saturday and was brought under control in less than 45 minutes.

An overheated furnace was blamed for a fire which gutted the lower floor of a two-story frame house at 271 Osmun yesterday.

Damage to the building was set at $2,200 and loss of contents at $500.

TWO-WHEELED TRANSPORTATION — A girl takes to two-wheeled transportation near Columbus Circle on New York's Broadway today, as a strike by the Transport Workers Union against the Transit Authority entered its third day.

Strike Impact Hits New York

ported a similar crush at its Jamaica, Queens, station.

The Commerce and Industry Association was trying to assess the cost to commerce in this business capital of the world. It had been estimated the strike would cost stores $40 million a day.

Normally, the city's subways carry 9,500 persons a minute into Manhattan during the rush hour.

Principals in the negotiations returned to the bargaining table early today.

Michael J. Quill, head of the Transport Workers Union, AFL-CIO, the man who called the strike, was due to appear in State Supreme Court today to answer a show-cause order.

EARLY ACCORD

As hopes for an early settlement brightened last night, then suddenly faded, the nation's largest city put into effect emergency measures to handle the 7.4 million persons who normally ride the subways and buses every working day.

Extra commuter trains and buses were added, emergency parking and taxi regulations were applied, and schools were closed.

But above all else, Mayor Lindsay urged people not to drive automobiles in the city except on absolutely essential business.

★ ★ ★

The 33,000 bus and subway employes walked off the job in defiance of a court injunction at 5 a.m. Saturday — just five hours after Lindsay took office as the city's first Republican mayor in 20 years.

HIGHER WAGES

The Transport Workers Union, and the Amalgamated Transit Union, AFL-CIO, are demanding higher wages, a shorter work week and other benefits the Transit Authority estimated would cost $680 million.

Last night Quill offered to cut the demand "by 80 per cent" to $180 million, but the TA quickly rejected it.

Transit Authority Chairman Joseph O'Grady said the offer had not been made "in good faith" and he accused Quill of "stalling tactics."

The TA has offered a $25-million package as an alternative, but Quill termed that as "operation peanuts."

HOURLY PAY

Transit employe hourly wages now range from $2.64 for a station cleaner to $3.46 for a motorman.

Theodore W. Kheel, one of three mediators, said efforts to reach a settlement on a new two-year contract would go on a round-the-clock schedule with time out only for an occasional rest.

A transit spokesman said that once a settlement is reached it would take 12 hours or more to put the subways back into service. Partial service might begin within four hours after the time crews report back to work, he said.

3 in Family Hurt in Area Plane Crash

Three members of a White Lake Township family, injured in the crash of their single-engine plane, are reported in satisfactory condition today at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital.

They are Hubert Ward, 38, pilot of the plane, his wife Juanita, 32, and son Bruce, 8, of 9176 Kettering.

The accident occurred Saturday as Ward's Piper Clipper took off from Richardson Field in Commerce Township.

Witnesses said the craft's engine sputtered, then failed, sending the plane into a dive.

★ ★ ★

PLANE DAMAGED

The front end, engine and landing gear of the plane were damaged in the crash.

★ ★ ★

Striking Munitions Workers OK Pact, Resume Production

EAST ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Production of gunpowder for use in Viet Nam resumed today at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. munitions plant after a month-long strike.

Union members voted over the weekend to accept a new contract and return to work today.

The International Association of Machinists AFL-CIO voted 1,599-1,543 yesterday to accept a contract worked out last week in Washington.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers ratified a similar pact by a 50-25 vote.

Two other unions that struck the plant Dec. 1, the International Chemical Workers AFL-CIO and the Western Employes Trade Council, had voted previously to return to work.

PRODUCTION

A company official says full production of gunpowder could begin in a day and that full production of finished ammunition will take about a week.

Olin Mathieson's Winchester Division at New Haven, Conn. said about 500 employes laid off Dec. 22 because of the stoppage of gunpowder production would be put back to work this week.

The strike of about 4,200 union members halted production by the nation's only manufacturer of a special gunpowder for some rifle and tracer bullets and 20mm cannon shells used in Viet Nam.

The Army plans to reactivate its Badger ammunition plant at Baraboo, Wis., but it is expected to take six months to begin production.

VOTE COUNTED

The vote of the machinists, who had rejected four previous contract offers, was counted three times on demand of union members.

The machinists' three-year contract includes fringe benefits and improvements in seniority rights, a 4 per cent hourly wage increase with a 10-cent minimum the first year, a 10-cent across-the-board raise the second year and a 4 per cent increase with a 10-cent minimum the third year. The average hourly wage was $2.78.

The union had sought an 18-month contract, four weeks paid vacation after 15 years and a cost-of-living clause.

★ ★ ★

William Parker, Electrical Workers business agent, said his union's contract included substantial improveemnts in job assignments, seniority rights and fringe benefits.

The International Chemical Workers accepted a contract Dec. 23 calling for a 35-cent-an-hour wage increase, plus added fringe benefits.

Terms of the contract approved Saturday by members of the Western Employees Trade Council were not announced.

3 OPERATIONS

Another 100 miles up the coast, Vietnamese troops launched three relatively large operations to relieve pressure on Quang Ngai City, a provincial capital.

Several battalions took light casualties in a skirmish eight miles south of Quang Ngai while other companies of regional forces operated about a mile southeast of this battleground.

A third government force came under heavy small arms fire about midway between Quang Ngai and Da Nang, 380 miles northeast of Saigon.

★ ★ ★

Unofficial reports said the light government casualties included some Americans. Eighteen Viet Cong were reported killed.

SWAMPY DELTA

By venturing into the canal-ribbed, swampy delta country, the U. S. paratroopers were probing a Communist stronghold that the French were unable to control in eight years of fighting. Government forces have had no more success in recent years.

Tear gas was reported used against the enemy in two instances.

Associated Press photographer Rick Merron reported from Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon, that South Koreans discovered a tunnel 1,500 yards long in a rocky hillside formation and cleared it with tear gas.

★ ★ ★

Some Viet Cong were flushed out but most of the Vietnamese inside the tunnel were civilians hiding from bomb raids and the artillery.

OTHER INSTANCE

The other instance was in the Mekong River delta assault.

In one operation, helicopters scattered tear gas powder onto suspected Communist positions.

Much of the gas was swallowed up by the swamps with little apparent effect on the Viet Cong.

★ ★ ★

Some was blown toward the paratroopers. The ground troops followed up the helicopters by firing gas grenades from their rifles.

NONLETHAL GAS

It was the first time U.S. troopers had used the nonlethal "CN" type gas on such a large scale.

The gas is frequently used elsewhere in the world by police for riot control.

Another allied column of U.S., South Vietnamese, Australian and New Zealand troops drove to within 12 miles of the Cambodian frontier hoping to catch the Viet Cong or push them across the border.

Other troops secured both banks of the Vaico Orientale River after coming under sniper fire.

Husband Dies Same as Wife

Actress Also Took Drugs Before Death

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Just five days ago, the coroner's office ruled that actress Marie McDonald's death was accidental, not probable suicide.

TAYLOR

Sunday, a friend found the body of her sixth husband, movie producer Donald F. Taylor, 47, a few feet from the bedroom dressing table where Taylor had found the body of the 42-year-old actress Oct. 21.

The coroner's verdict in Taylor's death: "Possible overdose of drugs, possible suicide."

★ ★ ★

The verdict was the same as the first delivered in Miss McDonald's death.

The coroner said Thursday that a "suicide team" of consulting psychologists and psychiatrists had reviewed Miss McDonald's life and ruled her death accidental. The cause, said the coroner, was "drug intoxication due to multiple drugs."

FOUND BODY

Taylor's body was discovered by William Baile, 22, of Hidden Hills, who had come to visit Taylor with Denise Karl, 15. Denise was Miss McDonald's daughter by her former marriage to shoe magnate Harry Karl. She lives with Karl and his present wife, actress Debbie Reynolds.

Baile found Taylor on the floor beside the bed. An empty sleeping pill vial was nearby, said Deputy Sheriff Norman L. Peterson.

Detectives quoted Taylor's business partner, Robert Hirte, as saying he had last seen Taylor on New Year's Eve and that Taylor had appeared in good spirits.

$200 Million in Movies Due in First Half of 1965

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — Happy new year? The film industry is hoping it will prove to be just that. Coming up: $200 million worth of movies for the first half of 1966.

THOMAS

This should be good news for theater men, who have been loudly advocating a more orderly release of product. They complain that film companies flood the market with big pictures in the top-business periods of summer and Christmas, neglecting the early months of the year.

★ ★ ★

This year's January-June release schedule seems to be a correction of that situation, though probably not enough to please theater owners completely. Here's how the schedule shapes up:

Columbia is putting most of its chips on war and action dramas. Leading the list are "The Heroes of Telemark" with Kirk Douglas, "The Lost Command" with Anthony Quinn and Alain Delon, and "The Chase" with Marlon Brando. Dean Martin stars as Matt Helm in "The Silencers," which hopefully will prove a Bond-like series. Also: The sequel "Life at the Top"; "The Trouble with Angels" with Rosalind Russell, Hayley Mills; "Born Free," all about lions.

DISNEY: ANIMALS

MGM is hoping its $11 million "Doctor Zhivago" will buoy its fortunes. Also coming up: "The Lady L" (Sophia Loren, Paul Newman), "The Singing Nun" (Debbie Reynolds), "Glass Bottom Boat" (Doris Day, Rod Taylor), "Made in Paris" (Ann-Margret).

★ ★ ★

Paramount is on the spy kick with "The Spy Who Came in from the Cold" starring Richard Burton. It has an Israel spectacle with Sophia Loren, "Judith"; Sidney Poitier-Anne Bancroft dramatics in "The Slender Threat"; a "Carpetbaggers" sequel, "Nevada Smith," with Steve McQueen; Frank Sinatra in "Assault on a Queen"; Natalie Wood in Tennessee Williams' "This Property is Condemned"; and another go-'round of "The Ten Commandments."

Twentieth Century-Fox also has hopes for a Bond bonanza with "Our Man Flint" and "Modesty Blaise." Added, a new "Stage Coach"; "The Blue Max" about flying in World War I; "How to Steal a Million Dollars and Live Happily Ever After" with Audrey Hepburn.

VARIED

United Artists has a varied menu: "A Thousand Clowns" with Jason Robards; the French western "Viva Maria"; Mary McCarthy's "The Group"; an Israeli epic "Cast a Giant Shadow" (Kirk Douglas, guest stars); "Duel at Diablo" (James Garner, Poitier); and "Khartoum" —Charlton Heston and Cinerama.

Universal offers escapism with "Moment to Moment" (Jean Seberg), "The Rare Breed" (James Stewart), "Madame J" (Lana Turner), "A Man Could Get Killed' '(Garner, Melina Mercouri), and "Arabesque" (Gregory Peck, Sophia Loren).

★ ★ ★

Warner Brothers will be putting "The Great Race" into general release while "Battle of the Bulge" continues in Cinerama. Laurence Olivier's "Othello" gets a two-day release Feb. 2-3. Also: "Inside Daisy Clover" with Natalie Wood and "Harper" with Paul Newman.

To Air Change in Zoning Law

A proposed revision to a township ordinance, previously recommended for approval by the planning commission, will be introduced at the Waterford Township Board meeting tonight.

★ ★ ★

The board is expected to decide on the zoning matter at its Jan. 10 meeting.

If passed, the change will lessen from 500 to 300 feet the required minimum distance gas stations and public garages must be located from certain types of property.

Included are public libraries, schools, playgrounds, play fields, parks and churches.

★ ★ ★

The agenda also includes a request from Schram Auto and Truck Parts, 2549 Dixie, for 1966 renewal of the firm's dismantling license.

The Ganges river is regarded as sacred by members of the Hindu religion.

Major Ohio City May Get First Negro Mayor

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — Robert C. Henry is in line to become the first Negro mayor of a major Ohio city tonight.

Henry was the top vote-getter among city commission candidates in last November's city election.

Traditionally that means election by the commission as mayor of this city of 83,500.

Indications are that Henry will be formally chosen at a city commission meeting tonight.

★ ★ ★

Two other Negroes narrowly missed becoming mayors of larger Ohio cities.

Top-Level French Officials to Stay On

By WALTER LOGAN
United Press International

It now is considered certain in Paris that Premier Georges Pompidou will stay in office after President Charles de Gaulle begins his second term Jan. 8. Foreign Minister Maruice Couve de Murville also will not be changed.

★ ★ ★

Chances are that Finance Minister Valery Giscard Destaing will stay too, but there are strong reports that Interior Minister Roger Frey and Information Minister Alain Peyrefitte are slated for other jobs.

BURNED FINGERS: Britain is quietly encouraging all Viet Nam peace explorations but for the time being Prime Minister Harold Wilson seems unlikely to take any open new initiative in this direction. He has had his fingers burned with highly publicized peace efforts such as the abortive Commonwealth Peace Commission which couldn't even get the time of day from Hanoi.

There are few things nevertheless that would win Wilson a bigger cheer from his own Labor Party's left wing than a move, public or otherwise, that would help bring a permanent halt to the bombings of North Viet Nam and an eventual U.S. withdrawal.

COMMUNIST SHOWDOWN: Reports reaching French experts on Communism say the Soviets are seeking to drum up support among other communist countries for an early conference aimed at a showdown with the Chinese over Viet Nam. The reports in Paris say the Soviets want to denounce Communist China as the country chiefly responsible for continuation of the Viet Nam war.

LIBERAL TRENDS: Western diplomats in Berlin expect a shakeup soon in the East German Culture Ministry because of Communist party criticism of liberal trends in films, television and the arts.

COMMON MARKET: Some officials in the European Common Market fear the Italian government crisis threatened by the resignation of Italian Formay set back seriously prospects for an end to the Common Market quarrel.

It is taken for granted by some that the market foreign ministers meeting planned at Luxembourg late in January could not take place with Italy in the middle of what could be a long drawn out political crisis.

JOHNSON VISIT: Despite official disclaimers both in Washington and Paris informed diplomats in Paris still believe a visit to Europe by President Johnson is likely this spring. The French say President Charles de Gaulle would actively welcome a chance for talks on Viet Nam, NATO and other major world issues.

During the same five-year period, the Asian population increased from 173,000 to 186,000. The Arab population is 37,000.
