Music Soothes but Food Excites

JUST WAITING — Cliff Wiegand played for nearly an hour on the electric organ before Monday's session of the Pontiac Press Cooking School, "Fantasy of Foods," at Pontiac Central High School. These women shed coats, scarves and heavy coats to settle down for two hours of enjoyment, and sat up and took interest as the program proceeded.

Over 600 at Cooking School; Some Men Eye New Dishes for Jack Tonight

By JANET ODELL

Half a dozen Pontiac area families had their dinner menus changed Tuesday night—one family even had a two-lb. porterhouse steak. Many went to the Pontiac Press Cooking School, "Fantasy of Foods," and won one of the dishes prepared on stage.

Master of Ceremonies Jim Dickerson of the Press advertising department had the honor of giving away that steak.

As was expected, the audience of over 600 was composed almost entirely of women, we counted only 5 or 6 men. One said he came because he did his own cooking and wanted to learn something new.

Another had a wife about to go to the hospital who wants him to have some cooking knowledge.

A retired male member of the audience won some of the gift food certificates.

SHE CAME EARLY

From all over the northern part of Oakland County they came. Some even had the same seats as they did last year. It was rumored around Pontiac Central High School that some woman got her dishes mixed and showed up in the auditorium one day last week at 7:30 in the morning in order to get a good seat.

Back stage Melvin Ogg, whose cleaning firm furnishes gift certificates as prizes each day, watched the proceedings with interest. He likes to cook.

Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Oakland County consumer information agent, brought Dr. Robert Kremer and Matilda Masini to the first day's session. Dr. Kremer of Michigan State University is head of the state Consumer Information Service.

Mrs. Masini, whose home is in Rome, Italy, is in the country studying consumer information programs.

Robert O. Roth, director of the Homemakers Service Department of the National Livestock and Meat Board was on hand. His office sends out the home economists who present the cooking schools. Janice Plager and Chloé Trenbath are conducting this year's school in Pontiac.

The Pontiac Rescue Mission

came in for a small windfall in connection with the cooking school. Mrs. Charles Bernard, the wife of the superintendent, was a winner of one of the food certificates from Burger's.

She does the cooking for the mission and planned to lavish her winning certificate in food for the homeless men who eat at the mission.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bagley, 130 Pinegrove, was presented with a tourage during Tuesday's session for being the oldest member of the audience. She is 84 years old.

Pages dressed in pike costumes carried out the prepared foods at the end of the program when a Parade of Foods is featured. Tuesday's pages were Connie Miller, 483 West Ingoles, and Jeanette Garnett, 287 South Anderson.

Mrs. David A. St. Dennis and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Dolores St. Dennis, work back stage before, during and after each day's performance.

Any person without a ticket but who still wishes to attend the remaining two sessions of the cooking school is urged to come. There were enough seats for all on Tuesday.

Motor Trend Award

Tempest Named Car of the Year

LOS ANGELES—The annual Motor Trend Award, "Car of the Year," symbol of design achievement by an American automobile manufacturer, was presented here today to the Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp. for development of the 1961 Tempest.

Accepting the award, which was presented by Don Werner, editor of Motor Trend, was S. E. Knudsen, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the Pontiac Motor Division.

During the presentation, Werner said that the basic premise of the Motor Trend Award is progress in design.

"In 1961 there are many cars that represent worthwhile and welcome progress in design," Werner stated, but "the Tempest surpasses them all—not only in the total number of achievements, but also for what these achievements

"There are three major areas of design progress in the 1961 Tempest," Werner declared, "that make it one of the most advanced cars to be developed in America in more than two decades."

The thermometer dipped from a high of 10 degrees at noon yesterday to 4 below in downtown Pontiac, and residents throughout the Pontiac area's outlying districts reported frozen pipes.

For the rest of the week temperatures will average about 12 degrees below the normal high of 33 and normal low of 19. Less than one-tenth of an inch in some places is forecast for the period.

Morning northerly winds at 4 miles per hour will become variable at 3 to 15 m. p. h. tonight.

Muskegon was the lone Weather Bureau recording station in Michigan when today failed to report a below zero reading. Muskegon's was 1 above.

The mercury dropped to 20 below at Pellston, to 14 below at Marquette and Grand Rapids, to 10 below at Sault Ste. Marie and Lansing, and to 8 below at Alpena.

The Michigan Highway Department said road conditions west of Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Cadillac, Grayling and Marquette City were generally slippery after the one to five inch snowfall.

Other major highways east of the snow belt along Lake Michigan are clear, except in Huron County where U.S. 25 is generally slippery and M53 is slippery in spots.

Danish Freighter Reports Sighting 'Similar' Liner

Rebel Leader Says He Will Not Give Up as He Races for Sea

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Navy said today the Portuguese pirate ship Santa Maria has been located heading out to sea 930 miles east of Trinidad.

Two additional U.S. destroyers and a tanker were ordered out from the African coast in an effort to intercept the vessel.

The Navy said careful checking of a sighting by the Danish merchant ship Vibeke Gulwa, plus radio "fixes," established the location of the pirate ship.

American planes were expected to be overhead "any minute," the Navy said.

From Our News Wire

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—U.S. Navy planes were closing in today on a ship believed to be the hijacked Portuguese liner Santa Maria whose rebel commander vows he will not surrender.

The latest report on the liner with 600 passengers and 360 crewmen aboard came from a Danish merchant vessel which radioed U.S. Navy headquarters here that it had sighted a passenger liner with "the characteristics" of the Santa Maria.

The Navy dispatched search planes to the area roughly 500 miles east of Trinidad in the Atlantic. It was the third reported "fix" on a ship today. The reports indicated the vessel was racing.

"I don't care if you want to steal, you want to rob, go ahead... (but) don't get caught, don't get caught."

Hoffa contended today that the tape was unintelligible 18 times in the passage from which the quote was taken and might not mean what it appeared to mean at all.

The labor leader said words might have been deliberately dropped "where it's convenient."

But even if the statement was made by the Teamster official, Hoffa declared, "I still says he's a liar!"

Hoffa vehemently protested discussion about the tape recording and challenged McClellan to debate before a group of lawyers on the use of such evidence by a congressional investigating committee.

McClellan snapped back: "You get your officers to stop taking the Fifth Amendment when they come up here and I'll debate you anywhere!"

Tell Why Navy Can't Find Ship

Search Not Comparable to Efforts Envisioned for Enemy Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Way have the U.S. Navy and other searchers been unable to find the Portuguese liner Santa Maria taken over by armed rebels in the Caribbean?

There has been no official explanation. But sources say several difficulties are involved.

The vessel could have traveled hundreds of miles in an unknown direction, between the time of the uprising and the beginning of the search.

—Relatively few ships and airplanes are available to be put on the Santa Maria trail.

—The ship could be taking evasive action in the chain of islands that once gave refuge to pirates.

—The men who took over the vessel probably expected a chase and made plans accordingly.

Police Shortage Blamed for Pontiac Crime Hike

A manpower shortage in police ranks and local economic conditions were cited today by acting Police Chief Joseph Koren as major causes for a substantial increase in major crime in Pontiac during 1960.

News Flashes

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A new government apparently has taken over in El Salvador, diplomatic sources said today. The report in Washington came after communications companies in New York reported that American calls were being stopped in El Salvador.

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld has given the government of Laos recommendations for neutralizing that country, informed sources said today.

Famous Original and Copy Done by Eisenhower

PROUD POSSESSION — Oakland County is proud to list among its possessions a famous original and one of its most distinctive copies. Represented in these paintings are three great Americans: George Washington, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gilbert Stuart. The most famous painting of Washington was done by Stuart. It is perhaps the most widely copied painting by an American. The original (left) is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and hangs in Meadow Brook Hall, right here in the county. The particular copy shown here (right) was done by Dwight D. Eisenhower. It hangs in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson, West Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Township. The copy was a Christmas gift to the Wilsons from ex-President Eisenhower a few years ago. Oddly, both rest in homes belonging to Wilsons—who are no relation to—and yet, live barely 10 miles apart.

Royal Oak Woman Goes to House of Correction

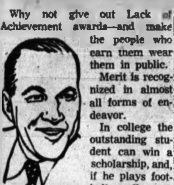

A 22-year-old Royal Oak woman, Donna King, of 615 W. 11-Mile Road, will begin serving a term of 2 to 14 years in the Detroit House of Correction for violating her probation term for passing bad checks.

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondro imposed the sentence.

'Outstanding Young Boor-of the Year?'

Why Not Present Lack of Achievement Awards?

By MAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Well, today we've come up with a really good idea to better the lot of mankind and make life more livable.

BOYLE
The armed forces have all sorts of awards for valor or special skills, and the civilian hero is rewarded with a Carnegie Medal. There are Nobel and Pulitzer prizes for distinction in literature, science, journalism and the quest for peace.

In business the outstanding salesmen get bonuses, trips with their wives to the Bahamas, and other goodies. The enterprising executive is cut in on special stock deals.

LACK-OF-MERIT BADGE:
This is all very fine, but it covers only half the picture. If we recognize merit, why should we lack of merit also be recognized in a signal and unmistakable manner?

Why shouldn't people who distinguish themselves by poor service, chronic bad temper, or are dangerous to themselves and others be compelled to wear on their coat or dress fronts a badge of some kind that warns others what they are?

Then you could tell at a glance whom to beware of.

There are a few suggested awards to show what I mean. To the bus driver who always hands back 30 nickels when you give him a dollar bill—one black star. To one who stams the door shut in a passenger's face—two black stars. To one who stams the door on the passenger's nose—three black stars.

LEGIONS OF CADS
To waiters who wait but will not serve—the Order of the Crossed Spoons Upride Down. To waiters who seductively enjoy bringing you the wrong order—the Order of the Empty Trip Tray. To grumpy women who never thank you when you help them through a revolving door, or get up to give them your seat on a bus—the Order of the Grumpy-Faced Potato.

The barbers and cab drivers who insist on telling you the story of their life when all you want is a hair cut or a ride home—the Order of the Yawning Mouth, 3rd Class.

To the bore at a cocktail party who brings about having been on the ground five years—the Order of the Yawning Mouth, 1st Class.

To drug store or restaurant cashiers who always try to short change you—the Order of the Light Finger.
To motorists who count running a traffic light—two large red bells for each offense. To those arrested for speeding—two large black bells for each offense. These bells to be hung visibly from both the front and back of the culprit's car.

These are just a few of the potential awards for lack of merit which would enable us to distinguish the sheep from the goats in our civilization. The list is endless.

9 Pct. Jobless Seen for State

MESC Expects Toll to Remain Serious for Several Months

DETROIT (UPI)—A spokesman for the Michigan Employment Security Commission said today unemployment in the state may reach 9 per cent of the work force this month and that the unemployment situation in Michigan is expected to remain serious for the next several months.

In December, the last reporting period, unemployment in Michigan totaled 7.9 per cent based on a work force of 2,832,000 and unemployment of 227,000 persons.

The Kennedy administration has indicated growing concern over the unemployment situation nationally and Labor Secretary Arthur Goldberg announced this week that there are now about 5.8 million Americans out of work.

Last week in Michigan, a total of 29,588 persons drew state unemployment checks. This compares with 102,475 claimants in the comparable week last year and 197,794 in the comparable week of 1958, a recession year.

A total of 134,720 of the state's unemployment compensation claimants last week lived in the Detroit metropolitan area.

Mrs. Cannon Found 'Guilty' of Murder

A Circuit Court jury of 10 women and 2 men took 36 minutes yesterday to find Mrs. James Cannon of Royal Oak Township guilty of murdering her husband following an argument last September.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams set sentencing for Mrs. Cannon, 35, of 20871 Bethlawn St., for Feb. 4. Conviction on a second degree murder charge carries a maximum sentence of life imprisonment.

Cannon, a 36-year-old factory worker, was shot five times with a .22-caliber automatic Sept. 22 as the couple, married in 1933, sat quarreling in their car.

Mrs. Cannon, a domestic maid, testified in her own defense yesterday that her late husband had been running around with other women. She said they had separated on two occasions.

She was returned to the county jail to await sentencing.

PTA Board to Entertain Waterford School Staff

The staff and room mothers of the Waterford Village School will be the guests of the Parent-Teacher Association Board at a noon-day luncheon Thursday.

The luncheon will be held at Old Plantation Inn, according to Mrs. William Meeve, PTA president.

But don't you think the idea, if carried out, would make the world a safer, saner, pleasanter place for us all?

We could all take a look at each other and decide on the spot whether we wanted to say "hello" or "run for cover."

Dog Aspirins Make Patient Frisky as Pup

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Joe Geary recently complained to Dr. R. A. Self that he had a backache and felt as though he was getting a cold.

"Here take a couple of aspirin," Self said.

Geary gulped the two giant pink tablets and suddenly remembered Self is a veterinarian.

"Doc," he said, "Were those fly pills, dog aspirins?"

"Certainly," said Self, "Wait and see how you feel, though."

Later, Self inquired about Geary's health.

"I never felt better," said Geary. "I've been playing handball."

Northern School to Desegregate

New York City Ruling to Have Repercussions in Other Communities

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. (UPI)—A federal court order to "desegregate" a public school in this suburban New York City community today presaged similar action throughout the north.

U. S. District Judge Irving F. Kaufman ruled Tuesday in New York City that the New Rochelle School Board had manipulated school district lines and made undercover transfers of white students to create a 94 per cent Negro student body at Lincoln School.

He ordered the board to submit by April 14 a plan for desegregating the school to take effect within the 1961-62 school year.

Negro leaders were gratified at Kaufman's decision and predicted repercussions for other public schools in the North where segregation is practiced either openly or behind the scenes.

Boston, Chicago, Detroit and other cities will have to start looking very closely to determine whether their schools are predominantly white or Negro by accident or design," said Paul B. Zuber, attorney for nine Negro plaintiffs in the Lincoln School case.

State Fire Marshal to Probe Fire in Hart

HART (UPI)—A state fire marshal investigator was scheduled to probe the ruins today of Hart's second major fire disaster in less than a year to determine the cause of the blaze which wrecked two multi-story buildings and damaged others.

Fire Chief Steve Schaner said Tuesday's early morning blaze was still "too hot" to inspect later in the day when it had been brought under control.

The fire wrecked Hegg's Department Store building and the Janssen Building. Damage was estimated at $200,000 by Schaner.

Holland Delays Ruling on Challenge to Jury

At the request of attorney Milton R. Henry, Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland has postponed until 5 p.m. Friday a ruling on a motion questioning the legality of the present 75-member jury panel.

Henry made his motion to crush the entire panel last week claiming it was not representative of the county's diverse population.

The motion was made as Henry's client, Frank M. Zietek, 38, 20 S. Padlock St., was about to plead guilty to a $125,000 insurance fraud during periods of peak powertrain.

Ike Frolics for Newsmen
in the South

ALBANY, Ga. (UPI)—Dwight D. Eisenhower, 70, shed the dignity acquired in the Army and as president of the United States and frolicked like a kid out of school.

The former president drove a car for the first time in 20 years even though he has no driver's license (it was a jackrabbit half-mile on a private road), an announced intention of teaching him to place his own telephone calls and clown for cameramen. His close friends said they have never seen him so relaxed.

He obviously was enjoying his first full week of retirement in the U.S.

W. Alton Jones, board chairman of the Cities Service Co. and Eisenhower's host on the vast 15,000-acre Blue Springs Plantation in South Georgia, was suffering from the flu and a fever.

He and Eisenhower bagged the full limit of 10 quail each in seven hours of hunting Tuesday.

The hunting party ranged the 15-mile plantation along the Flint River Tuesday for quail and met briefly with newsmen at a quail and barbecued spare ribs lunch in the field.

Jones showed and changed hunting logs at midday, and Eisenhower found it amusing. He pulled his hat down over his ears, called attention to Jones' neat clothing, and said photographers "I'm just a tramp as I can be."

He kidded his host for being a "fude."

To Utilize Jet Engine

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—The Hartford Electric Light Co. announced Tuesday it was purchasing a jet aircraft engine. It will be harnessed to a generator in a small soundproof structure to provide 8,000-10,000 kilowatts during periods of peak powertrain.

WSU to Offer
Courses in CityWill Permit Teachers to Continue Education at Northern High

Wayne State University's College of Education will offer six courses this spring at Pontiac Northern High School beginning Feb. 14.

The courses are designed to enable teachers to continue their education toward either degrees or certificates.

Registration will begin at Northern Tuesday, Jan. 24 at 5:45 p.m. Students will register according to the first letter of their last name.

Registration will work on a rotating basis beginning with persons whose last names begin with M. The letter designations and registration hours are as follows: M-R, 3-4; S-Z, 4-5; A-F, 5-6; G-L, 6. Registration closes at 6:30.

All classes will meet on Tuesdays at 4:30 and 7 p.m. Students must be admitted to WSU before they can register and must submit a copy of their cumulative record or admissions credentials when they register.

Courses being offered at 4:30 are: Creative Teaching in the Elementary School (Ed. 513); Contemporary American Literature (Engl. 371); and Conservation of Natural Resources (Geog. 325).

Courses slated for 7 p.m. are: Psychology of Adolescence (Ed. 511); Survey of Public Education and Speech (Ed. 380); and Discussion and Conference Techniques (Speech 321).

Students are required to pay fees by check or money order at the time of registration. Cash will not be accepted at the off-campus registration center. Fees range from $30 for one hour to $100 for eight undergraduate hours of credit.

Graduate fees are $32 for one hour to $116 for eight hours. Up to 18 hours of off-campus credit may be applied toward a master's degree.

Crofoot School Cub Pack
Holds Annual Inspection

Cub Pack 8 of Crofoot School held its annual uniform inspection for the charter renewal Monday at the school. As part of January's South America theme, each den displayed things made and produced in that part of the world.

Presented with silver arrows under their wolf badges were Mike Wells and David Netherland. Lion badges went to Mike Welbert, Jim Bolton, Mike Conroy and Donald Martindale. Afforded awards went to Mike Wells, Ricky Goff, Keith Lee, and Mrs. Donald Thompson.

Cubs and their fathers purchased pinewood derby kits to prepare for the derby race in March. Preparations were also made for the Blue and Gold banquet in February.

Reporter Calls Carrier
"Floating Insane Asylum"

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A Brazilian newsmen who had just seen his first time the handling and landing of planes on an aircraft carrier, was asked his impression of the operation.

Gilson Campos, reporter-photographer for the Daily News and Daily Clarica in Rio de Janeiro, replied: "It was like being aboard a floating insane asylum on which all the lunatics were surprisingly well-behaved and well-trained."

Wise Counsel Given by Secretary Macleod

Some sound advice was voiced recently by British Colonial Secretary IAIN MACLEOD in discussing the confusion attending the emergence of African nations.

He warned that people should not expect educational, health and other advances to take the place of political rights. In speaking of Britain's long effort to prepare peoples for freedom, Mr. Macleod said not to be surprised if "the flowers that come from seeds that we sow will sometimes look very different from those displayed on the packet."

A pertinent word of advice was directed at Africans also: "It's a sad fallacy to assume that administration can be built except on the foundation of a well-ried and incorruptible service."

Mr. Macleod asked for understanding if the executive powers of new nations are stronger than those Britons would tolerate at home, and we might add, Americans in the United States.

Britain's Colonial Secretary has a difficult assignment. He is putting into effect the liberal colonial policy of the MACMILLAN government and as a result is the target of extreme nationalists as well as white minorities in Africa.

East Germany Easing Controls on Its Doctors

Taking advantage of relaxed border controls during the year end holiday season, some 1,500 East Germans crossed the border into West Germany bringing the total for 1960 to around 200,000. The number who fled to freedom in 1959 reached 144,000. Many of these refugees are doctors and teachers.

No doubt due to this drain on professional ranks, East Germany unofficially eased its restrictions on doctors and dentists. The Communist government there now says that private practice will not be discouraged and that inheritance of a family practice will be allowed. Moreover, party leaders are told not to expect political duties of doctors.

In the past three years more than 2,000 doctors and 700 dentists have fled East Germany for the West. For every 100,000 East Germans there are only 75 doctors. West Germany's ratio is 135 for every 100,000. Many of the doctors still in East Germany are not qualified even by that country's now low standards, and medical students are permitted to practice.

There's no need for the Communists to tell the world how good things are in East Germany and that they are getting better every day. The answer is plain in the continued flow of refugees.

Booming West Europe Now Strong Competitor

The economic recovery of Western Europe since World War II, with Marshall Plan assistance, of course has been phenomenal. Records for 1960 in the New York Times international economic editions show that growth country by country.

Greatest increase is reported from West Germany with an 11 per cent rise in the gross national product (GNP), that is, the value of all goods and services; Italy's rate last year was 8 per cent; France, despite the war in Algeria had a 5.8 per cent economic growth. Algeria itself showed gains.

Sweden and Norway expanded by 7 per cent and 6 per cent respectively while Denmark although complaining of trade losses to West Germany, marked up a 4.5 per cent gain. The Netherlands, Luxembourg and Austria (which had more people working than at any time in its history) all report a good year.

Britain suffered a business downturn after a strong start. Exports rose but imports rose even higher. Slackness in the auto industry and in demand for coal hurt the entire economy.

Over the years the annual rate of growth in the United States has been 3 per cent. But against the higher rate of Western European countries the base must be considered. Many of these nations had to start from scratch after the war.

An economically thriving Europe is much to be desired even though it has become a vigorous competitor. In addition to being a stronger ally, a prosperous Europe provides a larger market for American goods.

One thing is clear from the 1960 statistics — Europe is not now economically dependent on the United States.

This person who believes the first 60 years of this century will prove to be the hardest is an unmitigated optimist.

The Robins Stay Spend Winter With Us If We Treat 'Em Good

The robins will stay with us all winter if we feed them is proved by Mrs. Lauretta Laman.

of Waterford, who has a colony of six who are steady patrons at her feeding board when their usual foraging is not good.

Another robin feeder is Mrs. Oswald Brimley of Birmingham, who says you must have a special menu for them, of soft food. They're easily frightened away by other birds, and will go hungry and may desert you unless you provide for them at a "second sitting."

A lover of the robin, summer and winter, "except at cherry time," is Mrs. Henrietta Piersall of Kregg Harbor, who is feeding several. She feels that it was a wise selection when the robin was chosen as Michigan's state bird, also when our state flower was designated as the apple blossom. "The robin and the cherry blossom would not have been compatible," she says.

David Lawrence Says:

Spoils System Is Hurting the U.S.

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy has set up a special commission to study "conflict of interest" in the executive agencies of the government. This is a commendable action.

But the real weakness in government isn't being touched and isn't being covered what is the true source of the difficulty—the indifference to "conflict of interest" which prevails also among the members of Congress.

Basically, the problem of "conflict of interest" concerns improper influences exerted in government upon all officials, from the president down, who have the power to make decisions that benefit or injure a citizen or groups of individuals in business.

No law now on the statute books can prevent a "conflict of interest" from being applied by an official of the government. The fear of wrongdoing which is implied in the requirement that Cabinet officers tell their stocks is not removed by such a procedure. For there is no way by which a Cabinet officer can be required to compel his relatives to sell stock in companies which could be benefited by government action.

The fear of wrongdoing which is implied in the requirement that Cabinet officers tell their stocks is not removed by such a procedure. For there is no way by which a Cabinet officer can be required to compel his relatives to sell stock in companies which could be benefited by government action.

The assumption behind the "conflict of interest" laws and regulations is that no official can be trusted to be governed by the conscience but must be governed by the limitations that might be imposed or at least exhibited to public view as affecting the kind of government that can be expected under our present system of party politics.

For years it has been a fact that when a man is elected to high office and gives an appointment to public office as a reward for services rendered in the campaign, isn't this a conflict between the public interest and the private interest?

An army of persons who served in the last campaign have already asked or will be seeking rewards "for services rendered." This has sometimes been called "patronage," and it is regrettable that somehow there has developed in Washington a rationalized attitude that "politics is politics."

JACKSON ADMINISTRATION In this, at least, there is no reluctance but eagerness to turn the clock back and to frown upon change. It was during the administration of Andrew Jackson

We asked him to take it away and bring what we ordered. Finally he brought the manager. We explained to the manager. He, too, shrugged and informed us that the man was a Hungarian.

So, since there is to be a study of "conflict of interest," it would be well if the ethics of everybody in all branches of government were redefined and through the power of publicity, if not by law, the people were given some standards by which to judge whether the interests of the whole nation are being safeguarded or only the interests of those who buy their way into public office through campaign contributions or campaign service.

Two pounds of ground round steak.

One-half pound of bacon.

Two large cups of macaroni broken up.

Chop the bacon into small pieces and fry well in skillet. Remove the fried bacon and fry the onions in the same skillet.

Mix fried bacon and fried onions together. Cook for 10 minutes.

Put the meat in a casserole and bake in oven, for an hour. When it is well done place the casserole on the table and let everybody help himself.

I published this recipe here many years ago and called it Hungarian Goulash.

It was a mistake. A lady came around to the very thought of bacon in Hungarian goulash would make her Hungarian ancestors turn over in their graves.

Having never tasted any other goulash I couldn't understand the lady's perturbation. Neither could Mickey — it was Mickey's recipe.

We know our Hungarians who might explain what the lady was screaming about. As we went to a Hungarian restaurant and ordered goulash for dinner. The waiter brought us Mulligan stew. We tried to fend him off. "That's not for us," we said him. "We ordered Hungarian goulash." He shrugged and served it anyway.

We asked him to take it away and bring what we ordered. Finally he brought the manager. We explained to the manager. He, too, shrugged and informed us that the man was a Hungarian.

Voice of the People:

'Humans Have Destroyed Our Beautiful America'

As I watched the inauguration, I was sick in heart and mind as the band started to play "America the Beautiful." America isn't beautiful any more. The people have made her ugly.

When fathers and mothers will kill their own children, and children kill their parents, when husbands will cut up their wives in the presence of their children, when grown men will rape, beat and kill babies, this country can no longer be called beautiful, nor the home of the brave.

When women display half naked bodies, and so-called law-abiding men would have it so, and indecency is applauded on every hand, instead of crying or singing, "God Bless America," our cry should be, "God, have mercy on America and save her, ere she destroy herself."

'Railroads Taking Trucking Jobs'

In this state we have 13,000 truck drivers whose jobs are slowly being absorbed by the railroads because the R.R.'s has made a big mistake by giving them preference.

Delivering new cars by rail is a very serious matter. The ICC has lowered the shipping rates for cars so trucking company can compete.

There are five companies in this city alone. When they are forced to close their doors every one will suffer.

Our taxes will be higher because the revenue the federal and state governments have been receiving from these trucks won't be coming into their treasury.

Smiles

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Smoking 'Kills' Blood Transfusion

Listen to Dr. Russell's angry complaint for he presents a point that is ignored by most people. When you donate a pint of blood, you figuratively lay down 10 per cent of your life at that moment for your life. So the sick people who receive such blood transfusions listen to the words of the free donors.

DR. GEORGE W. CRANE: CASE G-487: Russell D., aged 33, is a brilliant physician.

"Dr. Crane," he began as we dined together, "I wish you would write about a common error of patients."

"For example, I am now treating a patient with leukemia. We decided to give him a couple of blood transfusions recently, so we asked his wife if DR. CRANE she could procure some donors."

"And she did so. These donors were hard working married men who were good friends of the family and gladly donated their blood."

"But my patient is a smoker, so he soon ruined the effect of the generous blood donors by smoking the hemoglobin in the new blood with carbon monoxide, inhaled from his cigarette smoke."

"So please tell the public it is an injustice to ask friends to donate blood when the patient then sabotages their unselfish act by his cigarettes."

What Dr. Russell has in mind is the simple medical fact that inhaled carbon monoxide "kills" red blood corpuscles.

To make it more graphic, suppose you had leukemia and need a pint of fresh blood to tide you along.

Wouldn't it be stupid not to let to all your own sweat and let one pint of your own blood leak out when you were begging friends to contribute one pint of blood to raise your blood supply?

Wait that is precisely the type of thing a smoker does when he "fixes" the hemoglobin in his red blood cells, for they are no good to him thereafter.

They still float around in his blood vessels, but are deadheads, doing no work and just an added strain on the heart.

TIRKED BLOOD A patent medicine cleverly uses the slogan about "Tired Blood," but you make your blood "tired" with every cigarette, and we medical men aren't joking.

Our American Medical Association recently told the public that "The relative oxygen deficiency from smoking 3 cigarettes is equal to that of traveling at a 7,500 foot altitude. It is warned all auto drivers to be aware of driving if they smoke just prior to or during the time they are at the wheel of their car."

If you ever tried to climb a mountain, such as Pike's Peak, you may recall the fast pulse and breathlessness due to the oxygen deficiency in the air.

Well, that same sort of deficiency occurs even at sea level after a matter of a few cigarettes.

And the tragedy of leukemia, heart cases, pneumonia, asthmas and others who need plenty of rich blood vs. the "tired" variety, is the fact tobacco carbon monoxide PERMANENTLY destroys their red blood cells.

BITE THE HAND Remember the old adage about "biting the hand that feeds you?" Well, if you ask for a blood transfusion from a friend and then kill its effectiveness in a short time via cigarettes, you are literally macking the generosity of your pal who donated that blood.

He mildly jeopardized his own health by offering that blood, so you should treat it with dignity and great respect.

A pint of blood is about 10 per cent of a person's total supply.

So the donor thus lays down 10 per cent of his life when he gives you a blood donation of one pint.

Be sure you sick folks recognize that fact and thus play ball with those generous folks who offer you their very life blood!

"NUMBER, PLEASE?" ... According to our best information, this famous phrase originated in Chicago, way back in 1895. Before this, telephone operators responded with such phrases as: "What do you want?", "Hello", "Number?", and "What number?". The whole Bell System adopted the words in 1904—so you can see that our present operators are following a long tradition of courteous service.

SOMETHING NEW ON THE DIAL of most telephones being installed these days is an Area Code. The Area Code is part of your telephone "address," indicating your section of the country. Printed on the dial, it's easy to give your Area Code to persons in other parts of the country who call you. If they use the Area Code when calling you, their calls will go through faster, whether dialed direct or put through by an operator. Your Area Code is used only for calls from distant places—never on local calls, or calls to phones with the same Area Code.

3 Investigations at Chrysler

Proxy Fight and Conflict of Interest Wrangle Stir Probes

DETROIT (UPI)—At least three separate investigations by anti-management groups are under way in the Chrysler Corp. conflict of interest wrangle, and two of the investigations are linked directly to proxy battle plans for control of the company. Chief target of the minority stockholder groups was Chrysler board chairman and President L. L. Colbert.

The investigations headed up in advance of Friday's hearing on the suit of William C. Newberg, ousted as Chrysler president last June 30. The suit is in Wayne County Circuit Court here.

Newberg, on July 23, signed an agreement to pay Chrysler $455,000 representing the profit he made from a half-interest in two successive firms which sold parts to Chrysler between 1952 and 1958.

His suit charges Colbert, three other directors and a Chrysler lawyer forced him to make the agreement by threats of criminal prosecution. He charges the five with a conspiracy to protect themselves against stockholder investigations which threatened their own self-interests.

The investigations of Colbert and other Chrysler directors and top executives were being carried on by the Newbergs, their attorney Joseph Louisell, and their friends and associates; by Sol Dann, Detroit attorney and Chrysler stockholder, who already has three suits against Chrysler as well as an open proxy fight; and by James M. Robbins, millionaire Detroit industrialist linked with New York and Texas interests who is considering entering the proxy fight.

Michigan to Query Its Taxpayers

Citizens Aid Sought for Traffic Safety

LANSING (AP)—Between 10,000 and 25,000 citizens will be asked to evaluate Michigan's traffic safety program next spring and make suggestions for improving it.

Distribution of that many questionnaires by the Michigan Citizens Highway Safety Action Committee is another move aimed at reducing the state's rising toll of traffic fatalities.

The committee, the citizens arm of the State Safety Commission, Monday heard Gov.

Swanson voice concern over the situation.

"The better traffic safety record we have the less will be the cost in both lives and dollars," he said.

"But there is concern that some of our fine safety records are going away."

After reducing the death toll by 33 per cent between 1955 and 1958, the fatality count rose 7 per cent in 1959 and 8 per cent last year.

Fletcher N. Platt, chairman of the citizens group and traffic safety and highway improvement manager for Ford Motor Co., said the questionnaires would be distributed by member organizations.

They include such groups as the Michigan Medical Society, Insurance firms, the Automobile Club of Michigan and the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

Persons will be queried on such matters as whether they recommend special restrictions and driver's licenses.

Whether state or local officials pump house.

should give drivers license examinations, whether rules of the road should be changed and whether license renewal requirements should be stiffened.

Grand Trunk to Build 2 Fuel Storage Tanks

The Grand Trunk & Western Railroad is planning to construct two underground fuel storage tanks in its grounds west of Oakland Avenue near Ojata Street.

A building permit, approved by construction and fire inspectors, set the cost at $20,000.

Included are a 30,000-gallon diesel fuel tank, a 10,000-gallon oil tank and a small pump house.

Will Sentence Man for Market Break-In

Chester J. Knickerbocker, 43, of 1000 Myrtle Ave., will be sentenced Feb. 6 by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams for breaking into Police's Market, 238 S. Telegraph Road, on Jan. 14.

Knickerbocker pleaded guilty Monday to breaking and entering during the nighttime when arraigned before Judge Adams. He was returned to the county jail under a $5,000 bond.

Police found 50 bottles of liquor, cartons of cigarettes, and 100 taken from the store. An alleged accomplice of Knickerbocker's will be examined on the same charge tomorrow in a lower court.

Marilyn Gets Quickly Mexican Divorce

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—Actress Marilyn Monroe won a Mexican divorce from Arthur Miller, playwright and novelist, at Suarez Tuesday.

The 34-year-old blonde, whose name has become synonymous with sex appeal, filed for the divorce Friday, charging incompatibility of character.

Court officials said the decree will not be valid until Thursday.

Miller, 45, best known for his play "Death of a Salesman," was Miss Monroe's third husband. She was his second wife. They were married in 1956 and separated last year.

Six Attorneys Take Oaths for Local Practice

Six new attorneys were admitted to practice before the Oakland County Michigan bars Monday in brief ceremonies conducted before the five Circuit Court judges.

Taking their oaths as attorneys and counselors at law were: Robert W. Appleford of 3233 Yorkshire St., Birmingham; Miles E. Brash, 5129 Manly St., Oak Park; Ernest S. Gifford, 2302 Rowland St., Royal Oak; Donald W. Spurrell of 1453 Henrietta St., Birmingham; David J. Lieberman, 3334 Winchester Road, West Bloomfield Township; and Robert Hauke, 4001 Coolidge Blvd., Royal Oak.

Judge Clark J. Adams, presiding during the present term, presided over the ceremony.

They were welcomed to the local bar by Royal Oak attorney Jack W. Hutson, president of the Oakland County Bar Association.

Expect OK on Water for Atomic Plant

LANSING (UPI)—The Michigan Water Resources Commission is expected to grant the Consumers' Power Co. the go-ahead Thursday in the use of water for its atomic power plant.

Loring Denning, chief engineer of the commission, said requirements which Consumers must meet in its use of water will be set at the commission's monthly meeting.

The occupation health division of the state health department offered Kennedy discussed the message to protest to Consumers' use of water at a White House conference at its Big Rock Point plant in Charlevoix County.

Expect Realistic Message From JFK to Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy was reported today as preparing a somber recital of world and domestic conditions in a State of the Union message he will deliver to Congress Monday.

Associates said the President should be given what he regards as a realistic appraisal of turbulent global conditions and a heartening economy at home.

Democratic leaders with whom Kennedy discussed the message at a White House conference Tuesday said they expect him to cover the Congo, Laos and other world trouble spots and to discuss mounting unemployment at home.

Kennedy May Revise Income Tax Setup

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee said today the income tax may be revised during the Kennedy administration—but not this year.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., said in an interview that if the income tax is revised it will take a long time. He doubted that a start could be made before next year. All tax legislation originates with Mills' committee.

The income tax structure has been widely criticized as haphazard and full of inequities. A Kennedy task force has revived speculation about revision, although its report has been kept under wraps.

Wilson, S.O.C.U. founder, and two other Pontiac Motor Division men, Norman Dunn of public relations and William H. Taylor, assistant advertising director and District 3 city commissioner. Hosted by Pontiac Motor, more than 100 insurance men attended the luncheon and later toured Pontiac's manufacturing facilities.

Holding Birthday Party for State Civil Service

LANSING (AP) — A state agency born in turmoil, nearly strangled at birth and continuously forced to fight for its existence is celebrating successful survival through two decades tonight.

The occasion is a dinner at Lansing marking the 20th anniversary of the founding of constitutional state civil service.

House legislators will resent the power of civil service to fill jobs through merit rather than patronage. They dislike not having a hand in setting the pay, hours and working conditions of state employees.

The sniping now, however, is nothing like the all-out, open warfare in the early years of the Civil Service Commission.

The move for a state civil service system started in 1935 under Gov. Frank D. Fitzgerald.

It was a revolutionary concept after nearly 138 years of the "spoils system" in the state.

Thousands of state jobs changed hands each time a new governor took office. The most powerful politicians were those with the most jobs to hand out.

A six-man study commission came up with report on the system in 1938. Among items noted were:

A cost of nearly half a million dollars a year from the annual state worker turnover. "Chronic" discrepancies in pay set by the legislature. Insecurity, low prestige value in state employment and little possibility of career service. A tendency among workers to pay more attention to their political sponsors than their jobs.

But They Were Scared

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Police got a report of drilling noises from the Watertown national bank at 10:45 p.m. They dashed over—and found repairmen fixing the bank's elevator.

Was Impersonated at Divorce Hearing?

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Tommy Manville's sixth wife contends in a $1,102,000 damage suit that the wealthy playboy once went through a divorce action with a woman he wasn't even married to—and knew it.

Anita Roddy-Eden Manville, 38, says her twin sister was induced by threats to impersonate her at a divorce hearing in Reno, Nev.

Manville, 38, now is married to the former Christina Erdlen, 21. She is No. 11.

Record $462 Million Requested by Swainson Undergoes 1st Scrutiny

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Swainson's record $462 million budget has undergone its first scrutiny by a legislative committee, and indications are it may have a rough road ahead.

Members of the House Ways and Means Committee questioned State Controller Ira Polley on some of the details Tuesday.

One of the specific requests made by the committee was for a complete breakdown of the salaries and classifications for the state's 30,000 civil service workers.

Some lawmakers complained that in the past several state agencies have failed to fill every position authorized for the department and then used the extra budget money to reclassify workers at a higher pay scale.

There were other undertones of dissatisfaction with Civil Service.

The Civil Service Commission's recent action in granting a 3 per cent across-the-board pay raise for all workers was conceded to be within the agency's constitutional authority.

But Rep. James F. Warner, R-Ypsilanti, said there was nothing within the constitution that would prevent the legislature from appropriating money with the restriction that it not be spent for personnel purposes.

He said.

Like's Personal Shadow Still on U.S. Payroll

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A veteran Secret Service agent who is on loan to former President Eisenhower for about a month is being paid by the government.

The Secret Service said Tuesday that the agent, Dexter (Dick) Fohr, who chaperoned Eisenhower and Presidents Truman and Roosevelt, was being paid his regular salary of $9,215 a year.

Hijacker's Life Full of Color, Excitement

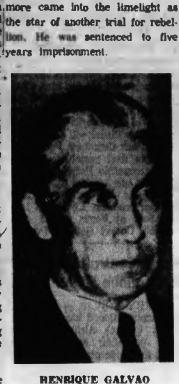

LEON (AP)—Henrique Galvao, leader of the armed band that hijacked the Portuguese cruise ship Santa Maria, in his 35 years has been a novelist, playwright, soldier, politician and big game hunter.

A former captain in the Portuguese army and sometime supporter of Premier Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, he has been convicted three times of plotting to overthrow his former mentor, since May 1959 he has been living in exile in Argentina and Brazil.

At one time he held a high post as government inspector in Angola. But the government pigeonholed his findings and Galvao turned against Salazar.

In December 1952 Galvao was tried with a group of other army officers and civilians for plotting against the state, but his conviction was quashed the following year. He was thrown out of the army, however.

IN LINCOLN

more came into the limelight as the star of another trial for rebellion. He was sentenced to five years imprisonment.

It was a sensational trial, during which both his wife and girl friend sat in court among the public, smiling and weeping as the occasion demanded. Galvao, accused of leading the plot, testified that all incriminating documents found in his flat were notes for a play he was going to write about a plot against the state.

While he was serving his sentence in Lisbon jail, Galvao tried to escape and in a fit of rage hit a guard with a chair. Then it was found that he was printing and distributing pamphlets both inside the prison and outside with the complicity of followers, attacking the regime and inciting the people to revolt.

He had even sent his pet sparrow home a few days before so that it would not miss him.

A month later, on Feb. 17, 1959, he turned up at the Argentine Embassy to obtain political asylum. He entered disguised as a tradesman carrying a case of port wine on his shoulder.

On May 13, 1959, the Portuguese government allowed him to leave by plane for Buenos Aires, using an Argentine passport. Later he moved to Brazil, where he has resumed doing, writing, and newspaper articles and taking every opportunity of attacking the Salazar regime, along with Gen. Humberto de la Parra, Portuguese president.

Tall and lean, with burning eyes, Galvao has a way of captivating those around him. An indefatigable writer, on politics, big game hunting, plays, romance, he has always had a wide public.

Bondsman Tries to Keep Office

Pontiac Man Offers City $7,500 for Building Destined to Be Razed

Facing eviction next month, Carmen A. Mitchell last night made a bid to hold on to the bonding office he has operated for many years across Wayne Street from the Oakland County Jail.

The Pontiac man offered the City Commission $7,500 for the building at 113 Wayne St., purchased by the city last year from the Stout estate for clearance as part of a new municipal parking lot.

Mitchell runs Pontiac's busiest bonding office directly across the street from the place most bonds are posted.

In an exchange of jests, Mitchell referred commissioners to the outdoor swimming pool to be installed at his home, at 30 Miami St., and complained that his property assessments had been upped too high because of it.

"If the city is that desperate for taxes, it should try to keep property like 113 Wayne St. on the rolls," he said.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston promised that the offer would get "consideration," but added that the city has never bucktracked in its program to provide more public parking.

Mitchell's eviction deadline is Feb. 16, but City Manager Walter K. Williams said he might be allowed to continue renting from the city until the building is wrecked in April.

Aliens Reminded of Deadline to File Forms

The Pontiac Post Office today reminded all persons in the Pontiac area who are not U.S. citizens that they have less than a week to file their alien forms.

Under U.S. law all aliens must report to the government each January.

Deadline for alien forms to be filed-out and turned in is midnight next Tuesday, Jan. 31.

They must be returned to the post office for a final check.

Admitted Slayer of Stepphater Mute at Arraignment

A first-degree murder charge was brought against 25-year-old Earl C. White of Novi in the shotgun slaying of his stepfather as the latter left a bar in New Hudson Sunday morning.

White has admitted firing the single blast that killed William H. Thompson, 29, of 1910 Austin Drive almost instantly.

While said the shooting climaxed a series of quarrels between his 45-year-old mother and his stepfather, although White wasn't sure why he pulled the trigger.

Mrs. Thompson, the mother of seven children by a previous marriage, said that although she was with her husband when he was shot in the bar's parking lot at about 1 a.m. she did not recognize her son as the killer.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert K. Anderson yesterday in Novi, White stood mute. A plea of innocent was entered for him, and he was remanded to the county jail pending an examination in the township justice court at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

White, along with his wife and their year-old son, were living with the Thompsons. White was employed as a gas station attendant in Farmington Township.

New Tax Chief Calls His Job Touching Thing

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va. (UPI)—President Kennedy Tuesday chose Mortimer Caplin, a 41-year-old law professor at the University of Virginia, to be commission secretary of internal revenue.

Caplin, a registered Democrat who described the job of the nation's No. 1 tax collector as one that "really touches the people," made immediate plans to take up his new duties.

He said his "big job" as commissioner would be "winning taxpayer-confidence in the whole tax system" and added he would seek to improve both morale and service at the IRS.

Deaths Elsewhere

TULSA, Okla. (U)—John E. Mabey, 81, millionaire oilman and philanthropist whose early life was that of a poor sharecropper, died Tuesday, Mabey, who was virtually penniless when he came to Oklahoma in 1907, built a fortune in oil holdings. He was born in Cedar County, Mo.

DENVER, Colo. (U)—Mary Louise Morfit, 80, mother of television star Garry Moore, died Tuesday after a long illness. Moore's real name is Thomas Garrison Morfit Another son, Dr. H. Mason Morfit, is associate professor of surgery at the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver. Mrs. Morfit was born in Kent County, Md.

TV to Span Gap Between JFK and Citizens

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy shows a lot of self-confidence in deciding to hold his news conference on live television. Still, it's natural for him to do this. His predecessors in the White House have been leading up to it step by step. He took the next one.

These Kennedy news conferences, appearing in living rooms all over America while they're happening, close a gap. They close the separation between citizens and their government by giving them a more immediate sense of understanding and participation.

Watching a Kennedy news conference on TV will be the same as being at it except for the inability to ask questions.

CAN PASS JUDGMENT

People will not only be able to observe their President but pass private judgment on him, his wisdom and his policies.

Kennedy, of course, could be creating a trap for himself. If he makes a slip with the whole country watching, it's made.

He could even create a disaster remote as that seems—by a slip in foreign affairs.

Yet, strangely, over the years American presidents have made extraordinarily few blunders at news conferences.

Anyone who has been in Washington any time knows this. Kennedy has been steady since 1947, serving in Congress.

Besides, he has demonstrated he is extremely well able to take care of himself in a fast give and take as in his TV debates with former Vice President Richard Nixon.

ABANDONS SAFEGUARD

By going on live TV, Kennedy has thrown aside one safeguard which other presidents used.

They either insisted upon being quoted indirectly or having their aides check over the question-answer transcript before allowing direct quotes.

There was no televising of President Truman's meetings with the press. President Eisenhower permitted TV cameras to record his conferences.

But before he could be quoted directly or shown on the nation's TV screens, his press secretary, James Hagerty, had the right to have thrown aside one safeguard change or ban anything he deemed so if he wished. There will be no one to backstop Kennedy. But Kennedy is better prepared to answer questions about government than Eisenhower was, starting out.

New Owners to Reopen Century-Old Playhouse

SISTER LAKES (UPI) — Entertains, Inc., has purchased the Sister Lakes Playhouse, which stood idle last summer, and will reopen it for the coming summer season.

The playhouse is a century-old converted barn.

The president of the corporation is Mrs. Reva Riley of St. Joseph, who two years ago was director of the playhouse for that season.

Set Lawrence Tech Evening Registration

Lawrence Institute of Technology will begin registration for its evening division classes Monday, Feb. 6.

New students must apply immediately—in advance of registration. All classes will begin the week of Feb. 13.

The college, located at North-western Highway and West 19-Mile Road, is offering three types of evening programs.

Students who elect a bachelor of science program in engineering attend classes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. Degree near Java.

work can be completed entirely in 13 semesters of evening sessions.

Technical Institute classes, leading to an associate in engineering degree, are held Tuesday and Thursday evenings.

Courses include building construction, refrigeration and air conditioning, electrical, mechanical and industrial supervision.

Classes under the precollege program are offered twice a week. These are for high school graduates lacking required subjects for engineering.

Races in which a team of two bulls draws the driver's chariot are still an October Festival feature on the island of Madura, day and Friday evenings. Degree near Java.

Result of Inaugural: Late-Blooming Virus Coupled With Ennui

By PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK—Almost everyone knows who worked and frolicked at last weekend's inaugural extravaganza is suffering from something. The masques run from scotch-poly through compound fracture of the digestive tract to simple delusions.

"I keep thinking," said a 23-year-old-wire service man, "that I can keep up with Jack Kennedy. It can kill you."

My ailment is rather exotic, I think. I have late-blooming virus coupled with fever, ennui and rather dizzy spells. Since I am confined to bed on a diet of juice and throat lozenges, my mind jumps restlessly from vivid memory to vague remembrance.

Like the press secretary who called me in my Washington hotel room just before I took off for the inaugural ball to cover it for ABC Radio.

"Please," she pleaded, "remember for heaven's sake not to call Mrs. Kennedy 'Jackie.' Avoid it like the plague. The Kennedy family would like to preserve the dignity of the White House."

I told her—"But we always called Mamie 'Mamie.'"

"The Eisenhowers didn't mind. I guess. But we would prefer Mrs. Kennedy to be known as 'the First Lady' or 'Mrs. John F. Kennedy.' If you must use her first name, it is pronounced 'Jah-wah-lyn.' But try to keep it formal, won't you?"

It was understood that none of the important women at the five various balls was to wear white. This, an edict, was unofficially requested in order that Jacqueline would stand out (as if there was some doubt) from the other female VIPs.

When I learned that Mrs. Stewart Udall was wearing white chiffon with an undershirt of white-and-cocoa stripes, I called for reconformation. "Is it true Mrs. U. is wearing white?"

"Yes," said a hospitality committee spokesman. After a pause—"But we hope, considering the undershirts, she'll come out beige."

Then it was reported that Mrs. Peter Lawford (Pat Kennedy) would wear white chiffon, and Mrs. Joseph (Rose) Kennedy would wear white lace. Another phone call to headquarters, and another voice apologizing. "It isn't exactly what we'd have liked. But we seem to have no control over the Kennedys."

Neither, obviously, does the military industry—one of the most vocal groups in the land. None of the Kennedy girls (except Jackie-lyn, of course) wore a hat to the inauguration, despite 27-degree cold.

This is a free country, and I approve heartily. But the hat folks have fought fiercely against female hairlessness for too long not to register official protest—the situation is brimming with trouble.

But the Kennedys are brimming with independence, and they may with the right to air their hair publicly.

The first lady is, perhaps, even more independent than her sisters-in-law. When she was four, she wandered away from her nurse during a playtime session in Central Park. Her mother roared had a call from police headquarters.

"We have a little girl here; we can't understand her name, but she knows her telephone number. Is it yours?"

tion house to find Jacqueline utterly at ease. The officer told her he had noticed the little girl alone, waiting unconcernedly down the path. She stepped up to him and stated firmly, "My nurse is lost!"

A reporter who has been around the Kennedy clan cannot help admiring their stamina, free-wheeling spirit, vigor, independence. But she should never try to keep Otherwise, she will find herself in bed (without even a lost nurse) as I am.

Now that I've got all these things off my chest, there's room for the mustard plaster.

Lake Winnipeg, covering 9,300 square miles in Manitoba, is more than 1,800 square miles larger than Lake Ontario.

Compact Autos Safer in Winter, Tests Indicate

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — The National Safety Council has announced test results indicating greater winter driving safety in compact autos compared with standard-size models.

The council's committee on winter driving hazards, which has conducted winter hazard tests since 1959, said compact autos, using normal highway drive without chains, stopped more consistently in a shorter distance than larger cars, also without tire chains. With tire chains attached, the committee said, the compact's advantage was reduced but still slightly greater.

Amateur Hits Pay Dirt

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP)—The City Council learned Monday that an amateur parachutist landed smack in the middle of a factory doing highly secret electronics work for the British government. The unidentified jumper had planned to land at the city airport, but missed his target by several hundred yards.

State Picking Up Tab for Detroit's Welfare

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The State of Michigan has started picking up the check for the entire welfare burden of the city of Detroit. The State Social Welfare Commission approved the move in a meeting here Tuesday.

Under an agreement with the state, the city assumes 70 per cent of the welfare burden until it equals one and one-half miles of city property. The state contributes 30 per cent during this period.

The city reached its maximum payment this month, the commission was told, after contributing about $8 million since the fiscal year began July 1.

The city will contribute about $20,000 and the state about $18 million in welfare costs during January.

France was visited by 5,081,700 tourists in 1959, an increase of about 24 per cent over the year before.

Plastic Bag Saves Life of Blue Baby

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP)—The plastic bag, killer of many children, has saved the life of one. "My baby's turning blue," said Mrs. Robert Proctor in telephoning for an ambulance. "He's got a heart condition."

When driver Almur Stokes arrived he found his oxygen mask too large for the 6-week-old infant. He asked for a plastic bag. Mrs. Proctor said she never kept them because of the children. She borrowed one from a neighbor.

Stokes placed the baby inside, filled the bag with oxygen and made it do as a tent until the baby reached a hospital.

Columbo Bandits Kill 16

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—Bandits killed 16 persons in Sogamoso, raising to 36 the number killed in such attacks in the past two weeks. The killings are blamed on armed groups who formerly took part in politics but have been disowned by their parties.

Recent State Court Ruling Deflated

No School Fund Windfall Seen Here

A recent decision by the Michigan Supreme Court ruling that unclaimed stocks and dividends can be escheated for use in the state's primary school fund "will probably have no appreciable effect on the Pontiac School District," according to local administrators.

Under Michigan law, such things as unclaimed bank deposits, stock certificates and estates of persons who die without heirs are held in trust by the state for their rightful owners.

"These funds are held so matter how long it takes the legal owners to claim them."

The escheats go into the primary school fund, earning interest to support public education. About 50 per cent are never claimed.

The recent decision ruled that the state can also escheat stocks of corporations doing business in Michigan if the owners are unheard from for seven years.

It has been estimated that the ruling could result in some $10 million being transferred to the fund.

"Although the amount seems significant, when it is spread over the entire state its effect will hardly be felt," said Mr. Otto F. Hufziger, assistant superintendent of Pontiac schools.

His opinion was supported by Vernon L. Schiller, treasurer of the Pontiac Board of Education.

Schiller agrees with Dr. William J. Emerson, Oakland County superintendent of schools, that whatever is gained from the primary school fund will merely be subtracted from the state aid fund.

Schiller's opinion is based on several "probable" moves resulting from the court decision. "There will undoubtedly be further court tests on the decision and it could be several years before the final outcome is determined," said Schiller.

ONLY THE INTEREST

Schiller points out that it is not the funds themselves, but the interest earned annually by the funds that actually goes to public schools.

"If the primary interest fund was increased in some manner by these escheats, the probable result would be that the legislature would appropriate enough less from the state general fund to make up the difference and pay out whatever the school bills call for in state aid payments."

He explains that "the state is already paying about $80-million primary interest on the primary school fund out of certain specific taxes."

"Since the actual interest obligation probably wouldn't exceed $2-3 million, a transfer of the escheats in question to the primary fund would probably have no effect on the interest payments to schools."

In addition, Schiller warned that the court decision involved only one instance of a few shares of stocks "and there are many instances of a similar nature which could be contested."

Therefore, in the eyes of local school administrators, the so-called "windfall" to public schools is more likely to be a gentle breeze. "The probable net effect will be that the state general fund will receive whatever advantage is obtained as a result of this court decision," Schiller concluded.

The 1960 crop of Arkansas spinach was about half as large as the 1959 crop.

MICHIGAN IS WATER UNLIMITED

Whether in single stream from a factory faucet or in thundering volume, water is at work and at hand for industry in Michigan.

Water is almost everywhere in Michigan. Michigan has 11,000 inland lakes and 36,000 miles of streams, and Michigan has a vast underground water reserve. Lake levels vary little, stream flow is stable and, except for very limited areas, ground water levels have shown no appreciable change since record-keeping began.

Michigan is almost surrounded by the greatest supply of fresh water in the world, the Great Lakes. Stand anywhere in Michigan and you are within 85 miles of one of the Great Lakes.

Michigan is first in water resources—today, tomorrow and for the whole foreseeable future.

Wee Book of Poems Says a Lot

BY GEMMA STRIFFLER
"Heartbeats of Our Time"
By Bonnie J. Davidson

How big is your world
As big as you think.
As large as you feel and care.

The sphere you live in
All depends how much with others you'll share.

"Heartbeats of Our Time" pulls at our own heartstrings.

Just published, this stirring new book of poems composed by a Pontiac woman, Bonnie J. Davidson, 64 Canby Drive, should be liked very much by her friends and acquaintances.

"Other readers will find her themes significant in their own experiences and making."

Not necessarily contemporary, neither blank nor free verse, Miss Davidson has a style of composition all her own.

The author, born in Detroit, grew up in Pontiac. In World War II, she enlisted in the Canadian Women's Army Corps, then transferred to the U.S. Air Corps. At present she is a licensed pilot.

After various steps in her career ranging from social worker to elementary school teaching, she presently is teaching fourth grade at LeBaron School in Pontiac.

Her hobbies are sports, piano and painting, in addition to her poetry.

Sheldon Bank to Pay Depositors on Friday

SHELDON, Iowa (UPI)—Deposit records lay neatly stacked and ready in hundreds of boxes today on the eve of this city's first bank since its doors were shut behind a jailed assistant cashier.

The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. announced the bank would begin paying off depositors at 9 a.m. Friday in the embattled Sheldon National.

For depositors with balances under $10,000 it promised full recovery from a week of market slumping. Mrs. Burdette Geiger, 58, admitted illegally channeling more than $3 million out of her father's bank.

New Sauces to Serve on Popular Cabbage

One of the best year-round buys in the vegetable market money-wise, nutrition-wise and otherwise is cabbage.

For less than a dollar it is possible in nearly any season to buy enough cabbage to feed a good size family.

Its high mineral and vitamin content (particularly vitamin C) and its low cost and calories probably help to account for the fact that Americans average eating about 12 pounds of cabbage apiece every year, a total of more than 2 billion pounds.

Unlike some other vegetables, such as the potato and tomato, which were originally considered poisonous, the cabbage from all countries has always enjoyed a good press. It was, in fact, considered a god by ancient Egyptians who worshipped regularly at a shrine where a cabbage rested on an elaborate altar.

Ancient Greeks believed cabbage would prevent drunkenness and early medicine men recommended this vitamin-laden vegetable as a cure-all for everything from snake bite to baldness.

Even much respected intellectuals as Aristotle, the Greek philosopher, and Cato, the Roman statesman, relished a kind of cole slaw. Although cabbage has been cultivated for more than 4,000 years, it is the Romans who are credited by some historians with having popularized it.

The cabbage has been popular in this country since long before the Pilgrims landed. Our ancestors are accused, however, by modern nutritionists of overcooking cabbage. The trend now is to steam it maybe five or 10 minutes in a few drops of water which has been salted, not only for taste but to help speed the cooking process, retain the vitamins C, and preserve the pretty green color.

The best way to get the most food value out of the cabbage, of course, is to eat it raw. But as any good cook knows, cooking brings out the flavor of most foods. A neat way to keep your cabbage raw and have a cooked flavor in the bargain is to serve it shredded with a HOT cooked sauce!

Here are four sauces which blend well with crisp, crunchy cabbage. For ideal results, shred the cabbage, sprinkle it with water and store in the refrigerator in a paper bag or plastic sack until you're ready to serve it. Keep the sauce simmering on the stove and serve it over the cabbage piping hot.

Hot Sauce

1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup light cream

1 egg yolk
1/2 cup dry white wine (optional)
Salt, white pepper to taste

Melt the butter in a saucepan over medium heat. Remove from the fire and stir in the flour. When well blended stir the cream in slowly, stirring constantly, and return to low heat. Continue stirring until sauce bubbles and begins to thicken. Beat the egg yolk until lemon colored, mix a small amount of the hot sauce into it and then add to the sauce and cook a couple of minutes.

Now stir in the cheese and remove from heat as soon as cheese has blended with sauce. If wine is to be used, add it after the cheese.

Turnip Sauce

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup tomato juice

1 cup shredded fresh tomatoes
1/2 cup onion, finely chopped
1/2 cup celery, finely chopped
1/2 cup parsley
1/2 cup heavy cream
Salt, pepper to taste

Put the tomatoes, onion, parsley, salt and pepper and boil until reduced by half, then strain and cook. When cool, mix in, one at a time, egg yolks and one ounce of butter. Beat well, then cook over slow fire. Stir constantly until thick and smooth. Then add the other ounce of butter, little by little, still stirring. Finally, add the tomato juice and stir until smooth. Serve very hot.

Sauce Bearnaise

1/2 cup tarragon vinegar
1/2 cup dry white wine

1 teaspoon chopped onion
1 teaspoon chopped parsley
1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup heavy cream
Salt, pepper to taste

Put the vinegar and wine in a sauce pan with the onion, parsley, salt and pepper and boil until reduced by half, then strain and cook. When cool, mix in, one at a time, egg yolks and one ounce of butter. Beat well, then cook over slow fire. Stir constantly until thick and smooth. Then add the other ounce of butter, little by little, still stirring. Finally, add the tomato juice and stir until smooth. Serve very hot.

Add mushrooms and brown a little, then add the tomatoes and stir until well mixed. Cook briefly for about five minutes. Then add wine, cream, parsley and salt and pepper. Serve hot.

Fruit Cocktail Colors

Meringue, Tart Filling

Fill individual meringue shells or tart shells with a luscious meringue, and fruit combination. Heat about 16 marshmallows and 1/4 cup milk over hot water until marshmallows are melted. Cool. Whip 1/4 cup heavy cream.

Fold whipped cream and 1 cup drained canned mixture and pour into shells. Chill several hours before serving.

No End to Soup Combos

A hearty mid-winter dish is De-June Double Chowder. Combine a can of condensed clam chowder and one of condensed corn chowder, 2 chowder cans of milk and 2 teaspoons of Worcestershire sauce. Mix well and heat. Put in bowls and top each serving with a pat of butter. Sprinkle with paprika. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Some cooks like to bake chicken in a moderate oven for about 15 minutes, before finishing under the broiler. Choose small birds and have them split.

Never Use Water

Never wash wooden salad bowls. Rub the insides before you use the first time with salad oil thoroughly and repeat this treatment occasionally. Rinse bowl immediately after each use and dry top with grained cheese and finish in a moderate or hot oven.

Frankfurter Casserole

Quick casserole: heat frankfurter chunks or slices in a flavorful tomato sauce (canned or homemade) and mix with cooked rice. Turn into a baking dish, top with grated cheese and finish in a moderate or hot oven.

Only Two Ingredients Needed for Fudge Sauce

Pour Quick Fudge Sauce over vanilla, chocolate or peppermint ice cream for a sundae supreme. To make 1 cup sauce: cook 1 6-ounce package of semi-sweet chocolate pieces and ¼ cup evaporated milk in a saucepan over low heat, stirring constantly until chocolate is melted and sauce is smooth. Good hot or cold.

For Chocolate Peppermint Sauce, add ¼ teaspoon peppermint extract to the sauce after removing from heat.

Glazed Baked Beans

Everyone will love Peach Glazed Baked Beans. Put canned baked beans, or pork and beans in a shallow casserole. Spread peach preserves over and sprinkle with vinegar when cooking. With vegetables cooked on the side, it's a familiar meal in a new sauce.

Fruit Juice for Pot Roast

For a fruit-flavored pot roast that's easy and delicious, try this: Add apricot nectar instead of water, and one or two tablespoons of vinegar when cooking. With vegetables cooked on the side, it's a familiar meal in a new sauce.

Shell's research on propeller-icing enables today's Super Shell to check cold-weather stalling —and give your car top performance

Shell's discovery of a new way to keep ice from sticking to metal now lets your carburetor shrug off frosty rime before it stalls your engine—a problem which can occur many degrees above freezing.

Read these little-known facts about this cause of cold-weather stalling—and how it is tackled by one of nine ingredients in today's Super Shell gasoline.

UNDER conditions which occur too often for comfort, the carburetor in your car may make ice faster than the refrigerator in your kitchen.

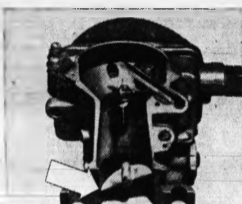

Tiny particles of ice build up till they block the carburetor throat. Then you stall. An annoying phenomenon which can affect two out of three cars on the road.

This problem has bothered automotive engineers and motorists for years. Particularly because it can happen even at forty-five degrees. Shell scientists, looking for a way to prevent the dangerous icing-up of airplane propellers, found the answer.

They discovered a new way to discourage ice from sticking to metal surfaces. Today, this very same principle is applied in Shell's carburetor anti-icer.

Why can carburetors ice at 45 degrees?

The air your engine breathes contains moisture. Much of it condenses in the carburetor. There the evaporation of the fuel may quickly drop the temperature to well below freezing—and that means ice.

Arrow shows where ice forms inside your carburetor. Frost particles block the air-intake when the throttle plate is in idling position. Result: your engine sputters and dies.

Today, the anti-icing ingredient in Super Shell simply coats the vital carburetor parts to help keep ice from sticking. And that's the root of the problem.

Here are a few facts about the jobs done by Super Shell's other ingredients. Read about them to see how they help give your car top performance.

Ingredient #2 is TCP for power, mileage and longer plug-life

Super Shell now contains an even better version of this famous additive. Its chemical name is cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

TCP* additive can give your car up to 15 per cent more power, up to 17 extra miles per tankful, and can make plugs last up to twice as long.

New TCP does this by neutralizing certain harmful effects of combustion deposits. It is scientifically formulated to keep them from gloving when hot—a major cause of power loss. Also to keep them from diverting your spark—a major cause of "missing."

Ingredient #3 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into livelier, lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

NOTE: "Cat-cracking" refers to the use of a catalyst—the mysterious substance that can alter molecules without changing itself.

Ingredient #4 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines

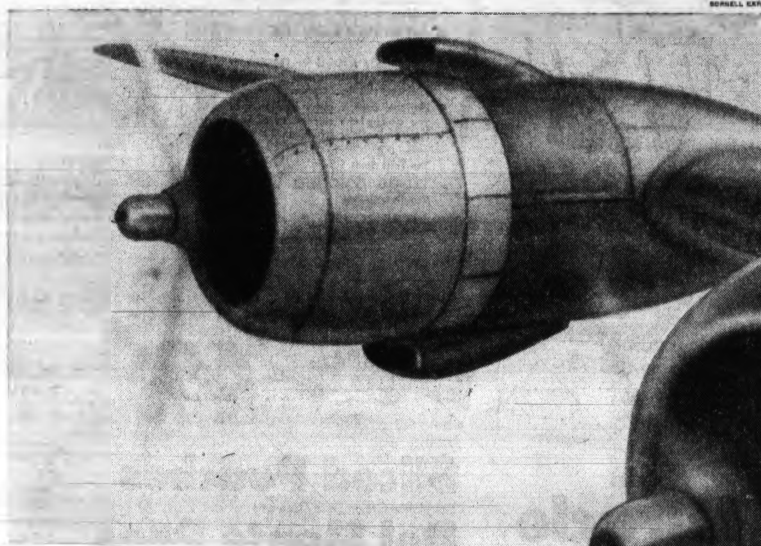

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer this outstanding high-octane ingredient for Shell aviation fuel.

Alkylate—the ingredient that took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: Speaking of controlling knocks at high speeds, remember that car engines frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7. Think of this next time you pass another car.

Ingredient #5 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free perform-

It's an ill wind that blows nobody any good. When Shell research scientists were tackling the problem of propeller-icing, they discovered that a "surfactant" film, one ten-millionth of an inch thick, was enough to help prevent ice sticking to metal. This same principle is the secret of the anti-icing ingredient that goes into today's Super Shell. If you have been bothered with mysterious stalls that often occur even on days when the temperature is well above freezing, you should try a tankful of Super Shell. Chances are your trouble was carburetor-icing.

ance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

They insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

Ingredient #6 is Butane for quick starts on cold mornings

Butane is so eager to get going that Shell keeps it under pressure 400 feet below there is none on your patience.

NOTE: Super Shell is primed with Butane all year round. In winter, Shell scientists simply increase the quick-start dose.

Ingredient #7 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

Ingredient #8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This can clog carburetors and foul automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A special gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. Hence no gum problem.

Ingredient #9 is Platformate for extra energy, more mileage

It takes eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately for you and for us, this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its odd name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane gasoline.

But make no mistake. This is not untamed energy. Far from it. The super-energy of Platformate is harnessed by the eight other ingredients in Super Shell, where it behaves so well you scarcely know it's there. That is until you note your extra mileage. After that, there is no doubt.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs.

That difference is top performance.

Camp Fire Girls Celebrate 50th Year, Laud Benefactors

The Camp Fire Girls' 50th anniversary was celebrated by 300 members of the Pontiac Council at a cooperative dinner Tuesday in Pontiac Northern High School.

The council honored 21 organizations and individuals for outstanding support of the service clubs paid, tribute.

were Civitan Club of Pontiac, Zonta Club of Pontiac, West Side Kiwanis Club and the Kiwanis Club of Pontiac (down town).

The Pontiac Area United Fund, radio station WPON, The Pontiac Press and Voss & Buckner, Inc., also were recognized.

Individuals honored included past presidents Mrs. Clarence Brice, Edward Ladd, George Wyman, Mrs. William Wright, William McCarty, John Wilson, William McClean and Theodore Wiersema.

Others listed for outstanding service were the Monroe Osmonds, Bernice Watson, Mrs. Charles Ullman, Mrs. William Graves and Mrs. Reon Baldwin.

An election of officers followed, with the announcement of Richard Jarvis as president for 1961. He will serve with Mrs. Leslie Seay, first vice president; Eldon Gardner, second vice president; Mrs. Monroe Osmond, secretary; and Edward Ladd, treasurer.

Named to the board of directors were Charles Tucker, Mrs. Raymond Ballard, Mrs. Thomas Atkinson, Mrs. Walter Nollinger and Lloyd Smith.

Others serving on the board are Theodore Wiersema, Mrs. Ray Meggett, William McLean, Mrs. Frederick Taylor, John Wilson, Mrs. Charles Ullman, Lawrence Stuart, Mrs. Melvin Boersma and William Brice.

Concluding the list are Lynn Allen Jr., Miss Watson, Andrew Montgomery, Mrs. Lloyd Smith, Dr. Maurice Thomas, Mrs. John Vanderlin and Mrs. Fred Ziem.

The trust fund for Camp Oweki was increased by $2,000 at the dinner, with the presentation of matching $1,000 checks by the Civitan Club, from fruit cake sale proceeds, and the Camp Fire Girls from their annual candy sale profits. The fund now stands at $11,000.

Lynn Allen Jr., was annual meeting chairman, assisted by Mrs. Osmond.

REVIEWS THE PAST

After entertainment by the Kiki Mers' Chorus, outgoing council president Theodore Wiersema reviewed the Camp Fire's past 50 years.

Local interest in the national movement developed in 1914 when Alice Shattuck formed the first Pontiac Camp Fire group at First Methodist Church.

Known for their community service, Camp Fire Girls organized a unit of their group at the Oakland County Children's Home in 1924, collected clothing for flood victims of the South in 1937, planted maple trees at city schools in 1938 and assisted with the war effort during World War II.

In 1950 the girls began helping with occupational therapy classes at Pontiac State Hospital.

Some 1,000 girls and 300 adults are active in the local council, a member agency of the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Three hundred members of the Pontiac Council of Camp Fire Girls celebrated the organization's fiftieth anniversary at a cooperative dinner Tuesday in Pontiac Northern High School. Trustee Thomas H. Temple (left) and Hiram H. Smith, president of the Civitan Club of Pontiac which donated $1,000 for the council's camping fund, examine checks presented at the affair with Blue Bird Pamela Finn, 8.

Counseling at Oakland's Family Service!

Patience Is Solution for Many Problems

Editor's Note: The invention of social and emotional bread-making and counseling service of Oakland County Area United Fund. This is the first of its series in which the agency will direct the counseling of unhappy individuals. The material and case history in the articles is designed to protect the families served.

Miss Smith, 69 years old with no living relative, was facing eviction and had no place to go. She was receiving old age assistance and had a slight handicap.

Her assistance grant was not large enough for her to remain in her present apartment and the landlord felt that someone should help Miss Smith out. That is when she came to Family Service.

The counselor was impressed first by a pitiful old lady, partially blind, who seemed unable to know where to go and how to get there. She was confused and felt the world was against her as she was trying to live out her later years.

We learned that in her productive years, she was a secretary and had held her job for a long time until, because of financial reverses, the company went out of business. From 55 years of age until now, she had lived with her brother who was on a pension.

FEWER FAMILY TIES

There has been a decrease in family ties, which has an effect upon security of aged individuals. This decrease could be due in part to the mobility of population in which children no longer live near their parents, plus new homes that are generally smaller and do not have room for the third generation. As a result of such changes in our culture, there are different needs of the aging population today.

SOLUTION SIMPLE

On the surface Miss Smith's situation seemed relatively simple whereby we could help her move into a congenial living situation. Some suggestions were offered to her but she turned them down, saying that as long as she was able to do her own cooking and housework, she wanted her own apartment. This sounded reasonable and logical so the case worker went about trying to find cheaper rent.

At the risk of simplification of needs of aged, they can be broken down to economic housing, medical and problems of personal adjustment.

When Miss Smith turned down several suggestions, we began to see some of her personality difficulties. Anything that was found within her personality means was immediately unacceptable to her.

The worker began to question whether anyone could really please her. Instead of getting angry at Miss Smith, the worker decided to allow her some time to think things over and allow the pressure of her lack of adequate income help her to arrive at some decision.

Finally, Miss Smith did come to a decision and they moved into a very nice small apartment over a restaurant.

SHE COMPLAINED

It was not long after the move that Miss Smith began to complain about the noise of the restaurant and again the congested living situation was offered to her, pointing out that she would not feel so lonely and that she would have her own age to talk with and share recreational facilities.

Aged individuals can have personal adjustment problems. They have fears expressed by such statements as, "Who will care for me if I am ill?" "Will my money hold out?" "Who will bury me?" "Will I become chronically ill?"

Our senior citizens need to feel the respect of their society for the contribution they have made in the past and can make in the future. We need to find outlets to use their knowledge. We need to correct society's attitude of basic ridicule.

Using some of the above as background, we can understand why perhaps Miss Smith, a lonely frightened person who led rather a solitary life, was expressing some of these fears in what might be called obduracy. Because of all the time and effort the counselor had invested with Miss Smith, she began to trust the counselor.

Finally, after more interviews in which the worker patiently allowed Miss Smith to express her feelings, they then looked at the problem together and Miss Smith was able to think in terms of moving to a home for aged people.

This is where she is today, happy, contented among people her own age with her interests and chances for recreational outlets.

This ends the series of articles on the high cost of unhappy living and boy Family Service of Oakland County makes some contribution toward reduction of this cost. To be sure, not all problems are successfully solved.

However, the majority of them are, and families that are troubled and concerned should never hesitate to turn to Family Service, an agency supported by both the Torch Drive dollar of Metropolitan Detroit and the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Slate Crafts Workshop

An arts and crafts workshop for 122 leaders will be conducted by Mrs. William Rummel and Mrs. William Cass, Birmingham Community House. Hours will be from 9:30 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Mrs. George C. Hill Jr. of the Bloomfield Art Association has volunteered to help arrange art displays. She will explain existing new techniques such as sand casting, stone rubbing, cardboard printing, driftwood printing, batik wood with colored tissue and Japanese paper cutting.

The art projects will be aimed to accommodate the limited expense and time structure of a girl scout meeting.

The morning session will include explanations of exhibits and samples of crafts. Art field trips of interest to girls of different age levels will be explored. Leaders will participate in an actual work session in the afternoon.

The workshop will provide scouts with inexpensive ways to do creative art work. Projects will include, in addition, a camp on the beach or on nature trails.

Pontiac's Greek Orthodox Youth of America chapter members are in final rehearsal for a three-act Greek-American comedy, "Exceptional Cabbage," slated for 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Hellenic Hall. Works Both Ways, Says Abby

Not Farsighted Enough

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 74-year-old man who is making his home at an old people's residence. I became acquainted with a very refined and pleasant widow here. Since we are both alone, I think it would be a good thing for both of us if we teamed up.

I am beyond the age where a man thinks with his heart, so I am thinking with my head. In other words, I want to marry this woman so I'll have someone to take care of me in case I get sick. What do you think?

DEAR "FARSIGHTED": You are not "farsighted" enough. What if SHE gets sick?

DEAR ABBY: Three months after my marriage, I saw my mother-in-law slip an airmail letter to my husband. Naturally I was curious, but pretended not to notice. The next day I found the letter in the pocket of his suit, so I read it. It was from an old girl friend of his.

It was very mushy and I could tell from her letter she didn't know George was married. Her address was on the envelope, so I wrote her a nice friendly letter, telling her George and I were married and I hoped we could be friends.

A week later George came storming into the house with a letter from this girl. He said I had no business writing to her and telling her he was married, etc. I think I was right. He still thinks I was wrong. We'd like an outsider's opinion.

"INSIDER": DEAR "INSIDER": Your motives were mischievous and you know it. You should have been on the up and up, and having discovered the letter in your husband's pocket, handed it to him, unread.

DEAR ABBY: I have an unusual problem. We live in a suburban town and I entertain a lot. When I have guests, I always try to look my best. I put on my foundation garment, wear my best dress and make up my face. When my guests come, they say, "What are you all dolled up for?" This makes me feel foolish. THEY are all dressed up, so why shouldn't I be dressed up?

I have gone to homes where the hostess looks a mess. She's either in slacks or jeans or looks just plain dumpy. Am I wrong to want to look my best? Why don't more hostesses try to look better?

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for you! When a hostess looks her best, it is a compliment to her guests. When she's carelessly sloppy — it's an insult.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "READY TO GIVE UP": Yes, I can refer you to an excellent source of help. His name is God. And He is always available.

Who pays for what? For Abby's pamphlet, "How To Have A LOVELY Wedding," send 50c to ABBY, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

No Profit From Mistakes if You're Perfect

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

The letter was addressed to her daughter and bore the postmark of an Army post of which she had heard.

She hesitated only a moment before opening it. Sure enough, the good-looking, too-secure-of-himself young serviceman Julie had met at a New Year's party had left a letter, and wanted "to spend as much of it with you as you will let me."

Later when her daughter got home, she gave her the opened letter saying, "I was naughty to sign M. I. Lawrence. It was understandable."

"But I was so interested to hear what he said that I couldn't wait for you. You don't mind, do you, dear? Are you going to see him?"

Her daughter exploded. "You snooped, Mother!" she cried. "What right had you to read my letter? If you ever do this to me again."

Mother began to cry. "That should live to see the day my own child called me a 'snoop,'" she wailed. "How dare you call your own mother a 'snoop'? Other girls would be grateful to have a mother so interested in them. But not you, not you."

The trick of diverting the other fellow's criticism of one's shortcomings by calling them virtues is an old, old device of people who must be perfect.

Like Julie's mother, they have no faults. They open children's mail, not out of nosiness, but out of "interest" in them. They accept a relative's domination, not out of spinelessness but out of interest.

Mrs. Glenn Husted is chairman for the recruitment tea in February.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Claire Hinckley, Mrs. Cora Scott, Mrs. Orville Gauthier and Janice Antona.

Fourteen members of the Pine Lake Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association attended the January meeting at the home of Mrs. Malcolm C. Sweeney on Pine Lake Road.

Mrs. Clarence Shur presided at the coffee service and Mrs. Frank A. Grose poured tea.

of respect for "peace in the home."

They are never glib, but "truthful," their stinging criticism and their program was "bride." Such idealists of their shortcomings naturally get upset when someone else names the shortcomings accurately.

This is sad. In all our faults there is a seed of virtue we can nourish if we are willing to admit them and start turning them clean of fears.

In the snappiness of Julie's mother is a seed of genuine interest in her daughter that can grow if she's willing to ask herself: "Why do I distrust my own feelings?"

Find Out

By The Emily Post Institute
Question: My daughter was married last year at a rather large wedding. Now the daughter of a friend of our is going to be married. We received an invitation to the church but not to the reception.

The friend in question was invited to both the ceremony and the reception when my daughter was married. She gave our daughter a very nice wedding present.

I would like to know, since we were not invited to the reception, if we are obliged to send her daughter a present.

Answer: If your friend is going to have a large reception and has not invited you to it, there is no obligation to send her daughter a present.

But if you have not been invited because the reception is to be very small, you have not been invited, and you should send a present in return for the one she sent your daughter.

Question: In an office where there are a number of other workers a man and his wife are both employed. She never addresses him by his given name, but always as "darling," "honey," or something endearing.

Most of the people in the office consider this out of place and in very bad taste. There are however, a few who think it charming and entirely proper. Both factions would like very much to have your opinion.

Answer: In a business office, terms of endearment used between husband and wife are in bad taste.

Question: If a boy friend brings a corsage to wear to a dance he is taking me to, is it proper to wear it regardless of whether or not it goes with the dress I am wearing that particular evening?

Answer: Of course you must wear it. In fact, the only thing you can do is either wear a different dress or let the flowers clash. It would be unfavorable to leave them home.

Doctor Upset by Women in High Heels

SAN ANTONIO, TEX. (UPI) —Four-inch heels may make women's legs look more shapely, a New Orleans foot surgeon said Monday, but women who wear them are "inviting misery."

Dr. Harry D. Morris, an orthopedic surgeon and professor of clinical orthopedics at Tulane University medical school, spoke to the 26th annual convention of the International Medical Assembly of Southwest Texas.

"Ninety per cent of my patients are women who wear high heels," he said.

Morris said that a recent survey by the University of Rochester, N.Y. showed that if a 125-pound woman wears even 1 1/2-inch heels, she is putting 16 pounds of weight on the balls of her feet.

"If she wears 4-inch heels such as so many of them do nowadays," Dr. Morris said, "it increases the weight on the balls of the feet to around 60 pounds."

"These heels may make their legs look more attractive but I wonder if they're worth it."

Jackie Nosing Ahead in New Profile Parade

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Up to now, a doctor reports, women undergoing nasal plastic surgery usually have asked for a nose like a movie star's.

But now, he says, the first lady many of them think of is the First Lady herself, Mrs. John F. Kennedy.

Dr. Oscar J. Becker, medical school professor at the University of Illinois, said at a medical meeting Tuesday that the most popular noses of the past among plastic surgery patients have been those of Myrna Loy, Hedy Lamarr, Grace Kelly and Elizabeth Taylor.

"But now," he said, "the young women are asking for a profile like that of the President's wife."

Just the 'Stuff'
(UPI) — When you hang a raincoat to drip dry after laundering, stuff the pockets with tissue. This holds them open so even the inside corners will dry out. This trick is recommended especially for coats made of practically airtight plastic.

Richard H. Aylings on Honeymoon

The Richard H. Aylings are honeymooning in Canada following their Saturday marriage to St. Peter and Paul Church, North Branch. The Rev. Henry Keenan celebrated the nuptial high Mass at an altar bedecked with white Shasta daisies and gladioli.

The Edward Horeckis of North Branch, parents of the former Colleen June Horecki, hosts at the breakfast for 175 and an evening reception for 500 at the American Legion Hall in Lapeer.

Joining them were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon H. Ayling of North 44th Street, parents of the bridegroom.

The bridal gown of white silk tulle featured a Sabrina neckline, Queen Guinevere sleeves and colonial bustle. Rose points Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls and sequins softened the fitted bodice and enhanced the bouffant skirt.

Fingertip veiling of silk illusion was caught by a tiny Swedish crown of lace, pearls and crystals. The bride wore her husband's gift of white roses and small daisies, surrounding a large white orchid.

MRS. RICHARD H. AYLING

Mary Horecki, the sister of the bride, attended the cousin as maid of honor. Gwendolyn of bridesmaids with Mrs. Louis W. Flint and Joyce Ferrier of North Meares of Royal Oak and Mar-aret Gawne, Tonya Berthune of Owosso was her cousin's flower-girl.

Wearing identical dresses of red chiffon velvet, styled with long tapered sleeves, the attendants carried white fur muffs topped with red carnations. White satin Dior bows trimmed their white fur cloche hats.

On the escort side were Louis W. Meier, a best man; with ushers Howard Wiley, Oak Park; Thomas Johnson, Warren; William O'Leary, Flint and John Nellenbeck, cousin of the bride. Larry Ferrier of Mt. Morris carried the rings.

For travel, the new Mrs. Ayling chose an avocado tweed wool suit with brown accessories. She is a graduate of McAuley School of Practical Nursing, staffed at Lapeer County General Hospital. Her husband, an alumnus of Alma College, teaches at Pontiac Central High School where he is an assistant athletic coach. The couple will live in Royal Oak.

Pink roses complemented Mrs. Horecki's blue wool sheath dress worn with blue satin hat. Mrs. Ayling chose toast Chantilly lace over bridge toast, toast accessories and two-toned flower hat. Her corsage was yellow roses.

Group Interested in Conversation Chat Informally

A group of localities interested in reviving the art of conversation met Sunday at the Elizabeth Lake Road home of Mrs. C. K. Nauman, sponsor. Under the name of "Discussions Unlimited" the group will operate informally, the sole of floor being the secretary-treasurer. A moderator will be appointed for each meeting who in turn will name a moderator for the following session.

Paul Davison of Avery Road, Waterford Township, will be moderator for the Feb. 19 meeting at the home of the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. J. Palazzi of Exmoor Road, Waterford Township.

Among charter members are Ely Stewart of London, England and Milo Ardison, artist from Niemi, France. Topics of discussion range from music and the arts to ideas and world affairs.

It's Hard for Men to Understand Gals

By RUTH MILLETT

No wonder men find it hard to understand women—What man, having found exactly the suit he wanted, would walk all over town just to make sure no other store had something he might like just a little better?

What man would walk into a store and buy something, knowing chances were he would return it the next day?

What man would be upset if he got to a party and discovered that another man was wearing a suit exactly like his?

What man would ever look into a closet filled with clothes and say pitifully, "I haven't got a thing to wear?"

What man would rather ask directions than drive around for half an hour looking for a street or highway sign?

What man would buy a gift without the fondest notion to whom he was going to give it?

What man would ever think he could subtract years from his age and get by with it?

What man could spend half a day shopping without buying anything and not consider his time wasted?

What man's favorite topic of conversation is his children and their delinquency?

What man would exchange a present his wife gave him—because he would rather have something else?

What man ever waits to break bad news to his wife until she is in a happy, relaxed frame of mind?

'Eat Like a Bird'

Develop That Will Power!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

You all have heard the expression, "I eat like a bird." Now it seems that plump women are going to be trained like pigeons.

What man would, without any shame at all, discuss his wife's shortcomings with his men friends? What man would bother to try to make his wife think that she actually thought up one of his bright ideas?

What's this? A pin-up girl with a pin-up picture? It's just to remind her of how she can look if she loses a few pounds.

Three psychologists from the University of Indiana have come up with the idea that Psychological suggestion and training will solve the problems of the woman with a weak will and too many pounds.

I myself think this is a splendid idea. So often women write to me asking how in the world they can develop their will power so that they can stick to their reducing diets. I have supplied them with suggestions somewhat similar to those of the psychologists.

Similar principles of training have been used with pigeons. This theory has not been tried on an extensive basis but was quite successful with the women who were guided in this way in their weight loss.

For instance, when you are tempted to eat more than you should, remember the goal ahead. Remember how you will look if you do not control your food intake and how you want to look. I often tell a woman to cut out a picture of the sort of figure she would like to have and put it up on the back of the bedroom door or on her wall. Or she can pin up a picture of herself before she gained her extra weight.

It also is helpful to buy a dress which is the correct size for you when you are the correct weight. Try it on every other day, or every third day.

Navy Mothers Meet at Home of Mrs. Dando

Mrs. James Dando of East Princeton Avenue opened her home for the January social meeting of the Pontiac Navy Mothers Club. Cooperative refreshments were served following an evening of games.

The function of the local club in the joint installation in the Detroit area will be discussed at a meeting of the Past Commanders' Club in Detroit early in February.

The business meeting will be Feb. 2 in the Naval Training Center. Mrs. the Thurman of North Shirley Street will be hostess for the Feb. 14 social meeting.

At first you will not be able to fasten it at all. Then you will come closer to fastening it finally you will be able to zipper up the problems of the woman but it may still be too tight to look well. Gradually it will begin to look lovely as your figure improves.

LOOK IN MIRROR
This is a great incentive. Also remember how your husband likes to have you look. When you are tempted to indulge in rich or fattening foods, look into a full-length mirror. All of these little weapons help in the fight against those extra pounds.

Many of you who started my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon are beginning to see the lovely curves emerge from rolls and pads of fat. Keep on digging them out with diet and exercise!

Hosts Youthful City Musicians

Mrs. Oscar Schmidt of Utica Road was hostess Saturday afternoon to the Pontiac Junior Musicians. Members responded to roll call with "on-the-spot" note reading.

Heather Sue Lockhart, program chairman, played the hymn of the month, "Holy, Holy, Holy" a Tripartite hymn by Bishop Heber, a missionary to India for the Church of England.

Piano solos were given by Constantine Rightmeyer, Constantine Smith, Larion Petrichoff, Pamela Pines, Ruth Ann Garner, Nancy Dunlap and Barbara Jean Pratt.

Mexican musical rhythms were presented by Brian Salic and Elizabeth Crocker. Patti Dell and Ann Latona were heard in readings.

The meeting closed with group singing and a social hour.

If smoked tongue is to be cooked in a pressure saucepan, you may wish to soak the meat first to remove some of the salt.

Pillar Club Sees Films

Mrs. Robert B. Tarr showed movies of her European trip last summer at a meeting of the Pillar Club Monday. Mrs. George Wasserberger of Illinois Avenue was hostess to the 18 members.

An election of officers followed devotion by Mrs. Everett Peterson. Mrs. Fred Voelker was named president. Her co-officers for 1961 are Mrs. Arthur Seiden, vice president; Mrs. Frederick Holmes, recording secretary; Beulah Phillips, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Lee Dunlop, publicity.

Mrs. Marcus Scott, Mrs. Peterson and Mrs. William Knudsen assisted the hostess.

BROWN HAIR

If you answer the question of hair color with just plain brown... how uninteresting it makes you feel! It sounds like next to no color at all. Nothing stimulating... like jet, autumn or red. Yet all you have to do to achieve a personality of color is to add or subtract enough of the brown to have a real live shade.

Hair coloring is no longer taboo, and with a bit of caution, we're all for it.

Spring Has Sprung in Fashions

By NADEANE WALKER

PARIS (AP)—Fashion was all affluter and awshirt in the mazy spring collection of Jacques Heim shown this morning.

Costs were spring fresh daffodil yellow, candy and coral pink, red, gray, white and navy. Preferred materials were linen and linen-wool, shantung and crepe.

The slim sheath line, softly draped, was prominent for evening wear.

WAIKILNE DOWN

Jackets ranged from waist-length to slightly below midhip and waistlines were hardly fitted and slightly dropped.

Hemline fullness started mid-way between knee and hip. In contrast to the flutery hem, some coat and dress skirts had one or two front folds fastened into the fairly narrow hem.

Cutaway jackets were long and full behind but curved up to the waistline in front.

Most coats had collarless scoop necklines and a round-shouldered look. Some were short-sleeved, and there were still sleeveless dresses.

VAMP BACK

Designer Jules Craby reinforced the 1918-1930 vamp, with the shortest skirts and longest waistlines in town, at a show Tuesday night.

Craby's creations, which resemble no others, look clean and a whistle after the drapes and soft details of other shows. His new shape is greyhound lean, based on a long, unsweated tube to the bottom of the hips. Fluted, godet or wide-pleated skirts take over from there.

Miller-MacQueen Vows Repeated at St. Trinity

Onalee Ruth MacQueen exchanged wedding vows with George E. Miller of Birmingham Saturday evening in St. Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, the Rev. Delayne Paulin of Holy Cross Lutheran Church, Bloomfield Hills, officiated.

Parents of the couple are the Arthur L. MacQueens of Monterey Boulevard and the Curtis C. Millers of Seattle, Wash.

A fingertip veil of pure silk illusion attached to a rose polka-dot lace cap billowed over the bride's head.

The fitted bodice was accented with acid pearls and sequins, and the skirt was a full, flowing tulle.

Attending the sister were Gloria MacQueen, honor maid, and Mrs. Donald Irish, serving as bridesmaid with Mrs. Frank Pettinato and Jane Page.

After a reception in Auburn Heights Community Center, the bride changed to a powder blue wool dress for the honeymoon trip to Hillman. The couple will live in Birmingham.

Nice for Big Room

(UPI)—Do you happen to have a large living room? An old fashioned, round solid oak dining table makes an attractive coffee table and one that will be quite durable. Just remove the table top, cut the large round center leg down to the right height for a coffee table. Refinish it and you have a table that will never wear out, ideal for a large room.

Take your choice: roll chicken to be fried in fine dry bread crumbs, corn flake crumbs, crushed crackers or white corn meal.

Nearly all his creations show a silver of knee—and some a great deal more. His silhouette is not only flat-chested but caved in at the chest, and hips.

Some long torso tops have a string belt loosely knotted around

Install Head of Women's Church Unit

Mrs. Lawrence Benacoter has been installed as president of the Augustana Lutheran Church Women of Christ Lutheran Church.

Serving as vice president will be Mrs. Charles F. Sinton; secretary, Mrs. Milton Schutt; and treasurer, Mrs. Felix A. Anderson.

The Rev. M. C. Hagdorn of the Lutheran Social Services of Detroit spoke at the "Volunteer Service Group" at the installation ceremony conducted by the Rev. Arvid Anderson, pastor.

Joining the 50 ALWC members present were the Rev. and Mrs. Paul A. Johnson and women members of Clarkston New Calvary Lutheran Church.

New leaders have been chosen for unit meetings for the 1961-62 season.

Mary Unit will meet Feb. 11 at 11 a.m. at the church. Hostesses will be Mrs. Gertrude Anderson, Mrs. Yvonne C. Witherspoon and Mrs. Sherman Randall.

Rebekah Unit will meet the same evening at the church with Mrs. Edward McLaughlin and Mrs. Kingsley Brown, hostesses.

The Sarah Group, with Mrs. Edward Craft Jr. and Mrs. Robert Kiersey, hostesses, will meet Feb. 6 at 8 p.m. at the church.

Naomi Unit has scheduled a 9:30 a.m. meeting Feb. 7 at the home of Mrs. Bernadette Hird.

Hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. Z. Algot Nasstrom, Mr. and Mrs. John Englund, Mrs. T. R. Olson and Mrs. Ruth Olson.

The Thursday program included a skill "Jingle Bells" by Mrs. Fred Larson.

An afternoon of fellowship at Luther Haven in Detroit is planned for February.

Work here are held at the church every Thursday, beginning at 8 a.m. The next social meeting will be Feb. 24 at the church.

Couple Wed in Pontiac, Honeymoon in the UP

Newlyweds Arman J.C. Lonnie R. Oliver and his bride, the former Carolyn Ann Colbeth, are honeymooning in the Upper Peninsula following their Saturday nuptials in St. Paul Lutheran Church.

The Rev. George Mahler performed the candlelight ceremony before some 200 guests who also attended the church reception given by the bride's parents, the Bert Colbeths of Ginnville, The Raymond Olivers of West Brooklyn Avenue.

The bride wore a circular fingertip veil secured by a crystal diadem and carried a white Bixie topped with white roses.

Mrs. Arthur Newby II, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Betty A. Bishop and Marlene Schmittler. Ann Marie Newby served as flower girl.

The attendants wore identical ballerina-length dresses of deep purple tulle, pale lavender hats, gloves and shoes, and carried pink and white carnations.

Arthur Newby II stood as best man for his brother-in-law. Guests were seated by Peter Raysha and Robert Schmittler. Arthur Newby III was ring bearer.

The bride chose a light blue the hips. Jackets that fall below the hip are hitched up to a single button on one hip.

BETTY GAIL ARROWSMITH

She's Afraid It Might Rain

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Child Marshall Hill and his bride, Susan, are away on their honeymoon trip so the bride's father figured it safe today to tell what happened.

It was a cold, wet day in Dallas last Saturday and Susan arrived at the Lovers Lane Methodist Church with just enough time to check her veil and put the skirt of her satin and lace wedding dress.

H. G. Twyman, her father, offered his arm and with the first notes of the wedding march, they began down the aisle. Then the bride suddenly became aware that her dad was making a kind of gasping noise.

"Sury," Twyman said he whispered, "You forgot to take off your gossamer."

Sliced raw mushrooms are an interesting addition to a chicken salad dressed with oil and vinegar.

Blank, who immersed dried flecks of skin in oil and water, found that only water restored the dried skin's flexibility. He concluded that it is the moisture, not the oil, in the skin that keeps it from drying and probably wrinkling prematurely.

Dr. Conley said the exact relationship between skin dryness and wrinkles was still unproven, but said, "It was widely believed that dry skin either wrinkles earlier or shows wrinkles more."

Dr. Conley described moisturizing creams made by various cosmetic firms, as protective agents, formulated to hold in the skin's natural moisture. She said that it was little evidence that a cream could do any more.

"Certainly, there is no medically-accepted evidence that hormone cream and other expensive preparations of this kind enable the skin to hold extra moisture and appear younger," she said.

"And only a minute amount of the oil in a lubricating cream is actually absorbed in to the skin."

But while most creams do no more than temporarily lubricate the skin, smooth it and prevent chapping, they should be used regularly for these very ends, Dr. Conley advised.

ADDED SUN

She urged the use of a light cream, even under makeup, to counteract the drying effects of the sun and suggested that many women could retain a more youthful skin by keeping out of the sun altogether.

Dr. Conley said soap could also be drying to the skin and cautioned that women with dry skin should not wash their faces with soap more than once a day, and that preferably just before retiring.

To minimize the drying effects of soap, she suggested:—Use warm rather than hot water.

—Don't massage soap into the skin.

—Rinse the soap off thoroughly before drying the skin.

—Pat rather than rub the skin dry.

—Avoid extremes in temperature immediately after washing face without first applying a protective lotion or cream.

Third Chapter . . . but Michigan Was Loyal

Civil War Draft System Unfair, Most Inefficient

By DR. PHILIP MASON
Writes for The AP
"Enlist Now and Keep Out of the Draft!"

This was the headline which appeared on thousands of posters distributed throughout Michigan in 1863. It was an urgent plea for volunteers to fill Michigan's quota of recruits to the Union Army, men vitally needed to fill the ranks decimated by mounting Union casualties.

The posters were similar to the ones used in World War II, but the draft, which the posters dramatized, was strikingly different.

The Civil War draft was hopelessly inefficient and unjust. It created a serious morale problem among Union veterans, and according to some historians, prolonged the war many months.

The draft worked in this way. President Lincoln issued a call for a certain number of recruits. Michigan was assigned a quota of these, based upon its population by the 1860 census.

The state, in turn, was divided into enrollment districts which were placed under federal draft boards. If a district could not fill its quota of volunteers, the draft was invoked. On the other hand, if it contributed more volunteers than its quota, it was given credit in future draft calls.

The draft applied to all able-bodied single men between the ages of 20 and 45, and married men in the 20-35 age group. Persons of foreign birth, who had taken an oath to become United States citizens, were also eligible.

Unfortunately, Congress added other provisions to the draft act which made it unworkable. For example, a draftee could get out of serving by paying a commutation fee of $300. Consequently the wealthy often avoided service and the burden fell upon the poorer citizens. The popular cry that the Civil War was a "rich man's war and a poor man's fight" resulted.

Another loophole allowed a draftee to avoid service by hiring a substitute to take his place. This provision also favored the wealthy.

When a substitute was not available locally, the services of "substitute brokers" were sought. These men, who did a flourishing business throughout the war, charged a fee to locate a substitute.

They sent agents into the Union-occupied sections of the South to hire liberated slaves, and they also canvassed larger northern cities like Detroit.

The brokers were not particular who they hired as substitutes. Men under and over the legal draft age were often secured. Criminals, drunks and the physically and mentally handicapped were engaged for the Army.

To qualify, a substitute had only to pass a physical examination which in practice meant that he had to be able to "walk and talk." Partial loss of limbs and impairment of eyesight was often overlooked by the examining boards.

Indeed, physical examinations were so lax that several women disguised their sex successfully and passed the examination to join the Union Army.

The results were shocking! In 1864 the medical director of the Army of the Potomac complained that many of the substitutes were "physical wrecks."

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Mosher, D.V.M.

Q. Please tell me the cause and cure for heart worms in my dog, J. V. Jones, Nebraska, Pa.

A. That's like asking, "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?" Heart worm infection, or filariasis, is a cycle, but we don't know where it started.

The adult worms live in the dog's heart, where they produce an organism called micro filariae.

These worm-like creatures are discharged into the blood stream where they breed. A certain species of mosquito bites the dog and ingests the micro filariae along with the blood.

The larva develops into its third stage in the mosquito, and is transmitted when the mosquito bites another dog. Then the cycle begins again. Methods of prevention, identification and treatment of heart worm disease may vary with the individual veterinarian.

Of the 57 men arriving in one regiment alone, 17 were found to be completely disabled. Of these, several had only one arm; one was in the last stages of tuberculosis; and another was "an out and out dribbling idiot."

UNPOPULAR, INEFFECTIVE

Demonstrations against the draft erupted into mob violence in Detroit and other Northern cities during the war. The draft was not only unpopular, but it was utterly ineffective.

Its operation in Michigan in the fall of 1863 demonstrated this. Of the 6,383 men chosen in the draft, 1,626 paid the commutation fee of $300 and 643 hired substitutes. Of the latter group, 43 deserted before reaching the recruit camp. In addition, 1,069 of the men failed to report for duty.

Recruits—or financial inducements—were more successful in encouraging enlistment. Beginning in 1862, the federal government offered cash volunteer bonuses of $100 to enlist for three years. In 1864, the amount was increased to $300 for new recruits and $400 for veterans.

State, county and local units of government offered additional cash bonuses. In fact, in some sections of the state a recruit could collect as much as $1,000 for enlisting.

During the war Michigan paid out approximately $2 million in bounty fees.

Private subscriptions to local bounty funds swelled a recruit's bonus. However, the motives of these subscribers were not always patriotic.

One prominent Ann Arbor newspaper editor wrote in his diary after giving another $10 to the local bounty fund: "God grant that my pocket book may hold out when my blood may not flow before it is ready. Business, I am fully, mutton."

health and inclinations, all protest against my going soldiering."

The bounty system increased enlistment sharply. Some men who could not support a family or dependents on a private's pay of $13 a month were now able to enlist.

However, the bounty system attracted many "undesirables." Men who had no sympathy with the Union cause enlisted solely to collect the bounty, thus creating a serious morale problem among the older veterans whose motives had been purely patriotic.

Hoodlums, thieves and criminals were also attracted by the lure of ready cash. One regiment complained bitterly about this type, "who sit around the campfire and brag about their exploits as safe crackers and cutpurses."

Not all the men who enlisted and collected the bounty reached the battlefield. It was a common practice to desert and go to another section of the country to re-enlist and again collect a bounty.

This crime of "bounty-jumping" became so widespread that some recruit camps were operated like penitentiaries. New recruits were kept under guard and sometimes chained so that they could not desert.

How the Union won the Civil War with its hopelessly defective and undemocratic recruiting methods still remains a source of amazement. It illustrates vividly the great debt we owe to the thousands of loyal volunteers from Michigan and other states who fought valiantly to preserve their country.

PIN-WORMS A FAMILY AFFAIR

Pinworms, resembling a formidably small, white, thread-like worm, are a common cause of discomfort and irritation. Extra families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pinworms, they must be killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jay's P-W Tablets do... and here's how they do it.

First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the lower bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jay's medicine, medically-approved ingredients, goes right to work—kills Pinworms quickly and easily.

Navy Says Porpoise Learning to Talk(?)

By RALPH DIGHTON
CHINA LAKE, Calif. (AP)

That porpoise the Navy started training a year ago has turned out to be unpredictable and talkative, is expected to swim at speeds of 30 to 40 knots and talking is the best trick she's learned so far.

Scientists hope to overcome her aversion to speed by giving her more room, perhaps an inlet fenced off with anti-submarine netting. Her speed runs so far have been made in a narrow, 315-foot-long tank.

Her ability to talk delights Navy scientists. They're building complicated electronic gear in the hopes that, by duplicating her sounds, they can actually hold conversations.

The porpoise, called Notty after the initials of the Naval Ordnance Test Station here, has learned another trick. She can count out her age, which is four.

She does this by nudging a lever in her private pool. Her trainer, psychologist Ron Turner, says there's no chance that this is just luck. She's been trained to push another lever when she's through counting.

Notty's talking to human ears sounds like a cat in anguish. She also makes noises humans can't hear.

Dr. Rene Engel, head of oceanic research at NORTS, has caught these noises on tape and now is working on a generator to duplicate them.

"Our first step," says Engel, "will be to determine what sounds Notty reacts to. Then we will observe what she does after, each type of sound. If we can learn to give orders, maybe she can learn to talk back."

Rules JPs Entitled to Social Security

LANSING (AP) — A justice of the peace is entitled to Social Security benefits and the city or township in which he is elected is responsible for paying the employer's share, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams held Tuesday.

For a justice paid on a fee basis only, the Social Security tax should cover all fees he collects in performing his official duties, Adams said in an opinion asked by Lawrence L. Farrell, executive secretary of the State Employees Retirement System.

Farrell noted the attorney general previously has held that a justice is not eligible for Social Security coverage as a county official.

Pontiac Legislator Drafting Land Bills

LANSING (P)—For the first time, Michigan's legislature may write laws this year to protect rights on submerged lands of inland lakes and rivers.

An interim committee of the House, headed by Rep. Lloyd Anderson, R-Pontiac, is at work drafting legislation.

Thousands of cottages and other buildings along most of the state's 11,000 lakes and many miles of navigable rivers would be affected.

The committee probably will introduce bills which would require persons owning property bordering rivers or lakes to which the public has access to apply to the state for permits before building a large fill, or whose fill builds up deposits that ruin a swimming and boating area.

Violations on Great Lakes submerged lands, which the state owns, have dropped to practically nothing," he said. "This is because the legislature made it a high misdemeanor to alter submerged lands without state authority."

Tack pointed out that hunters and fishermen also have a big stake in proposed legislation covering inland waters. It may even save countless acres of water level marshlands, fishing holes and spawning beds.

If the permit system is enacted, a permit system, he said, would be a positive method of handling the problem, setting up specific regulations for altering submerged dredging and fills in the light of lands and providing penalties for what they would do to wildlife habitat.

Many conservationists feel the move is overdue. Among them is George Tack, submerged lands specialist with the State Conservation Department, which bears the brunt of complaints about damages from fills and dredging.

"Complaints have increased several fold since World War II and are steadily increasing as more and more people buy lake property and take part in water recreation," he said.

"Legislation is definitely needed to clarify public and private rights to these waters and set up the necessary protection."

"We don't want to interfere with vested riparian rights, but we do need to control persons who go beyond them, often without regard for public rights or other neighboring property owners."

Such miscreants include the man who turns his neighbor's shoreline waters into a stagnant, sluggish mess by building a large fill, or whose fill builds up deposits that ruin a swimming and boating area.

Expert Supports Deer Control by Department

EAST LANSING (UPI)—A wildlife expert at Michigan State University said today control of the state's deer herd should stay with the Conservation Department.

Dr. George A. Petrides, professor of wildlife management, commented in response to recent suggestions that the legislature or some other governmental unit be given control of the herd management.

The suggestions came recently from outdoor sportsmen and legislators as a result of a sharp drop in the deer kill during the 1959 season.

Petrides said changing the management system would provide a new system "based on general guesswork or pseudo-scientific surveys."

"As matters stand, there is only limited evidence that the low kill indicates a reduced deer herd," he said. "It may have been the result of poor weather for hunting."

Deer Control, Bounty System Get Attention

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Writer, Pontiac Press

The County Supervisors Association is expected to support a resolution giving supervisors more local control over Michigan's deer herd. The organization meets in Lansing this week.

Any favorable action by the supervisors in this direction will influence legislators when expected bills come up for voting. Members of the House are more inclined to go along with recommendations made by county supervisors than state senators.

Reports indicate that the association will favor bounties on fox from $5 to $10 and on wolves and coyotes to $20 for either sex. The present rate is $15 for males and $20 for females.

Supervisors from Northern Michigan will be pushing for support of the deer management, wolf and coyote measures. County officials from Southern Michigan will probably go along with an increase in the fox bounty.

The State Conservation Department will strongly oppose these resolutions. Sportsmen's club across the state haven't made known how they stand on the deer question.

A movement has been started by some organizations to eliminate the bounty system altogether. This long overdue action would put an end to a big drain on conservation department funds. It appears as though the supervisors want to increase this costly system.

Senator Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico has introduced before the 87th Congress what he hopes will be an acceptable Wilderness System bill.

Similar measures have failed to reach the floor of either house in the last four years. Sen. Anderson terms his bill "a compromise."

Opponents of any such legislation are already sharpening their knives in preparation to slash the bill to nothing or in hopes of keeping it stalled in committee.

Stewart L. Udall of Arizona, now Secretary of the Interior in the Kennedy administration, is already feeling the pressure exerted by the land-grab specialists.

Prominent Democratic politicians in Alaska want Udall to set aside action by Fred Seaton, secretary under Eisenhower, establishing the Arctic National Wildlife Range.

There is also strong pressure from Udall's home state to make moves that would benefit certain people in Arizona. He is expected to leave the Arctic range alone, but Arizona could be another matter.

The Michigan United Conservation Clubs is the state sponsor of the 1961 Wildlife Week, March 19-25. Michigan chairmen are Harold P. Hackett, Battle Creek, and Volmar J. Miller, Paw Paw.

State Weather Too Cold, Ducks Head Toward South

A lot of ducks that generally winter in Michigan apparently went south this year.

Michigan's wintering duck population is estimated at 70,000, about 33,000 below last winter and less than half of the 1959 count.

The Canada geese population was estimated at 1,225, about 2,300 less than last winter.

Record Carp Taken by Lake Erie Archer

LANSING (P)—The largest carp on record in Michigan was taken by an archer in the Lake Erie marshes last May 27, the State Conservation Department said today.

Jack Whitmer of LaSalle shot the 42-pound, two-ounce fish four miles north of Erie while he was competing in the Michigan Bow Hunters Association's annual contest for bow fishermen.

The prize catch was 44½ inches long and had a 28½-inch girth.

In the same contest Grover T. Downs of New Boston landed a 46-pound, two-ounce carp and Leslie Blomquist, also of New Boston, shot a 37-pound, eight-ounce specimen.

The Conservation Department said all three fish topped the previous official record carp catch, a 32-pound fish caught in the Grand River in Kent County Sept. 29, 1958, by Fred McGowan of Grand Rapids.

"Of course, our records aren't as good on carp as on most other fish since it isn't much of a game fish," said Spencer Bower, fish specialist with the department. "It's quite possible that both commercial and sport fishermen have taken larger carp and not reported them to us."

Named Forestry Chief

Thuron E. "Tod" Daw, 55, was named chief of the Conservation Department's forestry division last week by director Gerald E. Eddy.

He succeeded George S. McIntire who retired Jan. 13 and led the 31-year career with the department.

PODDER FOR DEER—Timber harvest during the winter months may often mean the difference between survival for deer (lower left) and starvation (lower right). This winter's deer-yard cuttings on state lands is expected to help an extra 40,000 whitetails through the crucial months by providing on-the-spot browse. Cuttings on 30,000 acres of private land also helps. The timber harvest also stimulates new seedlings and sprouts to produce a year-around supply of good deer food in the area for about 10 years.

Lawmakers Preparing Measures

Motorboat Legislation in Works

LANSING (UPI)—The fishermen who in past years spent a lazy day half-asleep with one thumb on his line now have to be constantly alert to the maneuverings of an enthusiast who shares Michigan's waterways.

The second variety is often referred to by anglers as "those blankety-blank motor-boaters." An encompassing term which includes water skiers and trippers and riders.

Multiple use o— increasing etc. years.

often to the bewilderment of the fisherman who previously called the lakes his own.

"Skin divers, water skiers and surfboard riders were added to the 'blankety-blank' classification only recently. Their advent on Michigan's lakes brought claims of squatter's rights to fishermen who considered the relatively new sports an invasion.

As in the many other areas of the public domain, the new and varied uses of the waterways were found to least control game grounds.

Registration of motorboats started the ball rolling and many water use controls are still forthcoming, according to law enforcement agencies and those who write the laws.

State Rep. Floyd Wagner, R-Cassopolis, was among several lawmakers who indicated they would propose controls this year. Wagner said he would introduce legislation to limit the use of speedboats — at least on lakes in his district.

Other lawmakers said statewide controls would be necessary to preserve equal rights for fishermen and other lake users.

Some proposed certain lakes be entirely off-limits to motorboats and others contended a breakdown of use time would be more feasible.

Federal authorities recently established motor boat regulations similar to those suggested here, for the protection of two lakes in Yellowstone National Park. The regulations allow only hand-propelled watercraft on one lake and on approximately 20 per cent of the second.

The department of the interior said the regulations were proposed "to preserve the splendor and natural values" of the lakes.

Safety regulations governing the use of motorboats, skis and skin-diving equipment were expected to be put to the state legislature this year also.

Conservation interests and law enforcement officials are hoping the 1961 legislature will take steps to end the angler-boater dispute.

The lawmakers also have a hope for the effect their action will have on the fishing line in the war between the apparently conflicting interests.

Pheasant Population Shows Little Change

Michigan's wintering pheasant population shows little change from last year, according to an annual post-season survey made by rural mail carriers during early December.

Carrier counts averaged two ring-necked pheasants per 100 miles as compared with 2.1 a year ago. Some 52 carriers cooperated in the two-week survey, covering 374,000 miles along their delivery routes in the state's 38 southern-most counties.

Pheasant numbers appeared to be up slightly in the Thumb area. They were reported unchanged in the state's southeastern sector.

Elsewhere in the state's major pheasant range, counts were down as compared with the year before. The most noticeable drop was recorded in Allegan, Muskegon, and Ottawa counties where sightings fell from 4.9 to 3.9 birds per 100 miles.

The overall sex ratio of sighted birds was three males to two females, indicating that hunters harvested 65 per cent of the males last fall. About 80 per cent were taken during the 1959 season.

Kids Up Big Storm to Win Championship

QUITMAN, Ga. (P)—A 3-year-old white and liver pointer named War Storm has captured the 66th Continental Bird Dog championship in his first year of competition.

War Storm, owned by B. M. Call of Birmingham, Ala., was picked as best in the field of 50 hunting dogs by Judge W. A. Dumas of El Dorado, Ark. and Dr. Coyle Moore of Tallahassee, Fla.

Tom Booker, University of Richmond basketball star, comes from Louisville, Ky. He averaged 11.3 points a game last season.

National Bird Dog Derby in 2nd Round

CANTON, Miss. (AP)—The National Derby championship for bird dogs goes into its second day today with 23 dogs under two years old competing in a series of 30 minute runs.

Some 28 dogs are entered in the derby. Judges are Walter H. Windsor of Rockville, Ind. and Bryn Den McClintock of Alton, Ill.

Qualifying heats for the National Free-for-All championship will begin immediately after the derby ends Thursday. The Free-for-All is the second most important field trial in the world for older dogs.

Rain and mud marked the opening of Derby trials Tuesday.

Expect 15,000 for Scout Show

UTICA — Over 15,000 persons are expected to jam Utica High School Feb. 4-5 for the 5th annual Macomb District Scout Exposition which heralds the start of National Boy Scout Week in this area.

Dr. David J. Rees, a member of the Macomb District executive committee, reported that the two-day attendance figure for last year's exposition hit the 15,000 mark, some 4,000 higher than was expected.

Dr. Rees said the 1960 celebration of the Golden Jubilee of scouting helped boost crowd interest in the event last year. Between 15,000 and 16,000 persons are expected this year, he said.

Although attendance may not reach the 1960 level, Dr. Rees said plans are being made to stage a bigger affair this year.

The water show, which includes demonstrations of canoe and swimming safety and life saving, will be held every hour during the exposition, which is open from 1 to 9 p.m. Feb. 4 and from 2 to 9 p.m. Feb. 5.

"We had to turn away about 5,000 spectators who came to see the water show last year," said Dr. Rees. This year, the event will be held in the pool at the high school.

Plans also call for 70 display booths to be set up in the school gymnasium. The total of booths in eight more than were included in the 1960 exposition.

Each of the 20 units in the Macomb District of the Clinton Valley Council of the Boy Scouts of America will be represented this year.

The skills and projects of the cub scouts, boy scouts and explorer scouts in the Macomb district will be represented at the booths. They will include displays of handicraft, woodworking, leathercraft, hobbies, astronomy, campcraft and model building.

Each of the booths will be judged by Clinton Valley Council officials from outside Macomb County.

In addition to the county scouting units, two Canadian boy scout troops will be special guests at the exposition this year. About 2,000 boys and 1,100 adult scouting leaders are expected.

Lodge Ends Committee on RO Twp.

Former State Sen. L. Harvey Lodge has dissolved his committee on Royal Oak Township.

Lodge said he is releasing the group of legislators, mayors and town board members and labor in favor of a similar committee called together by Probate Court Judge Arthur E. Moore and Police Chief, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.

Judge Moore said that all committees and all interested individuals would be invited to join the group, which already has three subcommittees acting on problems of unemployment, education and welfare requirements in the township.

Judge Moore's committee is actually an executive development committee for Oakland County which has assigned local Royal Oak Township as its first project.

The judge said his subcommittee would seek to classify the unemployed in the township as to skills, in spite of the fact that the needs of the community to outline a public health program has school children and to try to obtain a medical-dental clinic.

The health group was headed by School Superintendent James N. Draper of the Oak Park District.

W. Bloomfield Home Is Guffed

House Blaze Damage to Two Other Buildings Blamed on Fireplace

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A faulty fireplace is blamed for starting a fire here yesterday that gutted an eight-room home and damaged two other houses.

E. M. Barker, owner of the house at 728 Farrar St. told West Bloomfield Fire Chief Herbert Morgan that he had started a fire in the fireplace about 12:30 p.m., and then had gone to bed.

Barker said he awoke an hour later and saw smoke coming under the downstairs bedroom door. When he opened the door, he was forced back by heavy smoke and fire.

He fled from the house through a bedroom window.

Morgan estimated damage to the house at $5,000. No value has yet been placed on the contents.

Adjacent houses on both sides of Barker's home suffered minor damage to siding.

Barker was alone in the house at the time of the fire. His wife was at work and their children were at school.

Fire departments from Commerce Township and Union Lake Township have been called in to assist in putting the blaze under control.

Each of the booths will be judged by Clinton Valley Council officials from outside Macomb County.

In addition to the county scouting units, two Canadian boy scout troops will be special guests at the exposition this year. About 2,000 boys and 1,100 adult scouting leaders are expected.

To Head Oakland Leaders

4-H President Named

Keith Middleton, an Oakland Township farmer whose five children have won a host of awards in state 4-H Club competition, has been elected president of the Oakland County 4-H Leaders' Association.

Besides being named as the association's 1961 president, Middleton was elected president of the 26th Henry Creek Road, who was elected to a three-year term on the organization's board of directors.

Other new board members are Mrs. Leslie Johnson of 3446 Flemming's Lake Road, Independence Township, and Thurman Bowers of 1165 S. Hill Road, Milford Township.

Bowers and Mrs. Johnson will be serving their first terms on the board.

They will replace James Reid of 340 Cedar Island Road, White Lake Township, and John Lesch of 201 S. Baldwin Road, Orion Township, who have a combined total of more than 20 years with the organization.

Lesch has been elected to replace Mrs. M. R. Norland of 1590 Pine Road, West Bloomfield Township, who has just completed a two-year term as district council member.

Middleton, whose daughter Carolyn and sons Tom and Jack currently are members of the East Orion 4-H Club, has been affiliated with 4-H Club work for 25 years.

Middleton's two oldest sons William and Larry are former 4-H Club members.

Elected vice president of the leaders' association was Donald Boyd of 1740 W. Clyde Road, Highland Township.

Mrs. Stanley Gilles of 1125 Doris Road, Pontiac Township, was chosen as the association's secretary and Bowers was selected as its treasurer.

Because the topics are of interest to the whole community, the club is opening the meeting to the public.

Two films provided by the Michigan Cancer Foundation will be shown. They are "Time and Two Women" on uterine cancer and "The Hunt for a Cancer Killer" about current laboratory research for a chemical cancer cure.

The foundation is sending a doctor to discuss the films and answer questions.

State Trooper to Retire

LANSING — Sgt. Milton W. Single, commander of the Grand Haven State Police Post since 1954, will retire Feb. 1. He previously had commanded the New Buffalo Post.

However, the possibility remains that the councilmen may act on hiring one of the applicants at a Feb. 14 session, which is the next regularly scheduled meeting, he said.

Although its applications have been received for the position, the Village Council last night decided it would hold off its decision on hiring a village manager until it could contact colleges and universities for help in employing a new man for the job.

Mrs. Tyrrell said the council will study the possibility of hiring a recent college graduate. She reported that definite action on employing a manager is not likely to come before the Feb. 28 council meeting.

To Show Low-Cost Ways to Help Homes

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP — A meeting sponsored by the Township Hall Committee of Royal Oak Township will be held at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at Grant School.

The purpose of the meeting is to show residents how they can improve and remodel their homes at low cost under the provisions of the Federal Housing Act.

The committee is an outgrowth of street and block clubs organized into the area service association.

On hand to explain the procedures of home rehabilitation and refinancing will be Jose P. Giles, president of the Federal Home Rehabilitation, Inc., a building company, and of the Giles Mortgage Corporation, a money-lending company.

Also attending will be Harry Big, rehabilitation expert of the Housing and Home Financing Agency, a division of FHA.

Math Program to Be Expanded

Successful Experiment Will Be Extended by Clarenceville Schools

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — An experiment in mathematics with third graders in the Clarenceville School System has proved such a success it will be expanded in September, said Supt. Louis Schmidt today.

"The program is concerned with teaching children to think mathematically and emphasizes mathematical ideas that will carry over into high school and college," Schmidt explained.

The experiment began in September, he said, and has been successful that it will be extended to the fourth and fifth grades in the fall.

"Because of the technological demands of our society today, elementary schools are attempting to assume the responsibility of providing arithmetic programs that will encourage and increase the number of students who will continue the study of mathematics on higher levels," Schmidt said.

In addition to the experiment, a group of fourth graders are cooperating with the School Mathematics Study Group which is directed by Prof. E. G. Begle of Yale University.

This group, Schmidt said, is experimenting with materials that are designed to equip children better for higher mathematics.

Many, Varied Programs on Farmers' Week List

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Both the broad and the narrow view of farm problems in Michigan will be given during the annual Farmers' Week here Monday through Friday.

Beginning Monday, programs on the Michigan State University campus will deal with specific problems in each field of agriculture as well as those which face the industry as a whole.

A highlight of the five-day program will be a discussion of "Agriculture is an Easy World" by five farmer secretaries of agriculture.

Participating in the discussion Wednesday will be former secretaries Ezra J. Benson, Charles F. Brannan, Clinton P. Anderson, Claude R. Wickard and Henry A. Wallace.

LABOR CHANGES Other general views of the industry's problems and progress will be presented during the week in programs depicting the changes in the labor force and their significance, and MSU's international programs and how they contribute to the industry in the state.

On Feb. 2, three university staff members will review Michigan's participation in the Civil War and its effects on farm families and communities. The Michigan farmers' concern for water handling of water resources will be considered in another program during the week.

"Actually we have plenty of water," said Russell Hill, MSU conservation specialist who will participate in the program.

"It's just that too often the water is not in the right place or of the right quality or available at a reasonable price," Hill said.

Another highlight of the 48th annual Farmers' Week will be the presentation Tuesday of citations for distinguished service to agriculture.

Named as recipients of the awards this year were Glenn Lake, North Branch dairymen; Veril Baldwin, stockbridge vegetable and beef producer, and Thomas F. Schweigert, Petoskey.

Following the nuptial reception Detroit are newweds Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Dudek who exchanged the couple honeymooned in North Carolina in a recent ceremony. Money at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

Costs Higher, Benefits Less

Voluntary Health Insurance Slips

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Can voluntary health insurance programs, such as Blue Cross, meet rising public demands for broader coverage and greater benefits?

The future of voluntary health insurance programs is rocky and uncertain, according to two experts writing this month in a U.S. Public Health Service Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Somers, members of the Haverford College political science department, warned that only concerted action by the medical profession and the industry would save voluntary health insurance systems from a slow death.

Two trends seriously threaten the future of voluntary programs, they asserted. They said these are spiraling medical costs, and a slowdown in improvement of benefits offered to purchasers of insurance plans.

"After a decade and a half of continual pressure and tremendous activity on all fronts, health insurance is still meeting on the average less than one-fourth of our private medical care bills," they said in the January issue of "Public Health Reports." "These are disappointing statistics."

One outstanding reason for this is that medical costs have increased at a far greater pace than the cost of living in recent years, according to Somers.

MEDICAL COSTS JUMP

Between 1947-49 and 1959, medical care prices rose twice as much as the general cost of living, they said. "During the last year, 1958-59, when general prices rose less than 1 per cent, medical prices continued their lively pace with an increase of more than 4 per cent."

This, in turn is "the major factor... in the extreme financial difficulties of many Blue Cross plans," the writers continued, and a primary cause for "increasing government intervention in the problem of the aged."

The voluntary health insurance groups were reported also being squeezed by increased demands for plans which cover the costs of dental care and certain types of hospital care. "If substantial coverage of these two areas could be achieved in the next few years," the Somers said, "a significant breakthrough toward meaningful comprehensive coverage could be achieved and a substantial victory chalked up for voluntary health insurance."

The authors said that "the industry, in one form or another, will increase the medical care bill."

"That the government will continue the trend toward meeting all or part of the costs of certain categories of prolonged illness and certain categories of high-cost, low-income patients is a settled issue," they added.

But they said that two unrelated questions were how far public programs would go and how the government and private insurance companies could work together.

"At this particular juncture of affairs," they concluded, "we would expect the medical profession and the health services industry as a whole to be enormously concerned with strengthening the voluntary institutions."

Ships Sideswipe in the East River

NEW YORK (AP)—Two freighters going in opposite directions sideswiped in the East River Tuesday night. Both were damaged, but no crewmen were injured.

Both ships were able to proceed under their own power after the collision, off the Port Morris section of the southeast Bronx. The 3,550-ton ship owned by the Moore-McCormack Lines, radiated that it had a hull puncture above the water line and was proceeding to port.

A Coast Guard cutter escorted the Mormacguide to an anchorage off Staten Island.

The other freighter, the Portmar, operated by the Calmar Lines, reported only minor damage. It continued on its way to Bridgeport, Conn., with its load of lumber.

Left-Wing Paper Draws Bead on Philip the Hunter

LONDON (AP)—Prince Philip's prowess as a tiger hunter during Queen Elizabeth's Indian tour drew a front-page blast against the royal family today from the leftist Daily Mirror.

"The royal family do not seem to have caught up with modern enlightened views on the killing of animals for pleasure," boomed the magnanimous-sounding tabloid.

The prince shot his tiger Tuesday in the Rajastan jungle near Jaipur at a shoot organized by the Maharajah of Jaipur. The prince's personal treasurer shot a tiger the day before.

The newspaper, devoting its entire front page to the blast, depicted the difference in the world between hunting down a man-eating tiger and Philip's shoot. It complained that live goats and bullocks as well as carcasses were valued out as bait and 200 hunters were paid 50 cents a day "to go through the jungle yelling and bawling in order to drive a tiger into Prince Philip's gun-sights."

Waterford Dem Club Plans Saturday Dinner

Waterford Township residents will have an opportunity to meet Democrats who are candidates in the Feb. 20 primary election at a spaghetti dinner from 5 to 8 p.m. Saturday in the Community Center.

The dinner is sponsored by the Waterford Township Democratic Club. Anyone interested in joining may do so before the dinner, or by contacting membership chairman John Vehey of 4413 Chestnut Drive.

Company Testing Highly Mobile Military Vehicle

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Chance Vought Corporation's aerobatics division is field-testing a multipurpose six-wheeled military vehicle that can move over hills, through ditches, snow, sand, bogs and swamps and ford rivers.

Chance Vought said the light-weight vehicle, invented by Roger L. Giametta of Fawcett, Calif. and known as the "Gamma Goat," can run up to 50 miles per hour and has a range of 1,000 miles.

It is about the size of the new compact automobiles and can be dropped by parachute. Company officials said the "Gamma Goat" will enable ground forces to traverse "any type terrain easily."

State National Guard Unit Going to Sheridan

LANSING, Mich.—The Michigan National Guard has announced that 30 of its officers and enlisted men will deploy to Ft. Sheridan, Ill., to take part in "operation big blast," Jan. 28 and 29.

They make up the general and special staffs of the 48th Infantry division under Maj. Gen. Cecil J. Kennedy of Flint.

The Michigan contingent will join more than 2,000 active Army, National Guard and reserve commanders in the 5th Army exercise.

Youth on Probation; Man Jailed for Theft

A Madison Heights man was sentenced Monday to 14 to 5 years in Jackson Prison, and a Ferndale youth given three years probation with the first 30 days in the county jail, for stealing a television set from a car parked in Birmingham.

Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams ordered incarceration for Harry Fair, 21, of 5809 Alger St., and the lesser sentence for Gerald Berlin, 20, of 23355 Mahan St.

Both pleaded guilty to larceny from a motor vehicle Jan. 9. Fair was seized nine months in the Cassidy Lake Prison Farm prison to the crime.

Speaker Sam May Lose Fight

Lacks Enough Votes To Put Through Boost in Rules Committee

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some backers of Speaker Sam Rayburn conceded today he might lose his battle to liberalize the House Rules Committee, leaving the fate of President Kennedy's legislative program partly in the hands of unfriendly conservatives.

Impartial surveys indicated the outcome would be close in the battle of the budget all over again in this session," Dirksen declared. It remains for the President to see up his estimates and then we will know how much budget erosion there'll be."

Supporters of Rules Committee chairman and coalition leader Howard W. Smith, D-Va., claimed enough votes to defeat the speaker by a narrow margin. This would be a crushing blow to the 78-year-old Rayburn's prestige and would pose a potential threat to Kennedy's program.

A poll indicated that Rayburn had nailed down more than 31 of the 99 Southern Democratic votes.

Of all House members were present, this would mean the speaker would need at least 10 GOP votes with his Northern and Western Democratic support.

List Rinehart Estate

NEW YORK (AP) — Author Mary Roberts Rinehart left an estate of $658,681, the bulk of which goes to her three sons, Mrs. Rinehart died in 1958 at the age of 82, left $38,000 to relatives and employees, a state tax appraisal showed Tuesday.

About 110 million tons of cargo a year move along the Rhine inland waterway.

Dirksen Predicts Congress to Fight Over the Budget

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen said today that spending bills recommended to President Kennedy by special task forces indicated Congress was headed for the "battle of the budget."

The Illinois Republican said the budget bureau estimated that five Kennedy task force reports which figure are available would add at least $3 billion a year to the government's financial commitments.

"We're going to be back in the battle of the budget all over again in this session," Dirksen declared. It remains for the President to see up his estimates and then we will know how much budget erosion there'll be."

Mackie Wants Study on Roads

Tells Supervisors New Figures Must Be Added to Old Survey

LANSING (AP) — State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie says road planners should take "a new and thorough look" at state and local highway needs and the means for meeting them.

Mackie, speaking before the Michigan State Association of Supervisors, backed a move by Sen. Haskell L. Nichols, R-Jackson, to make a study of highway financing, including the outlook for future spending.

Results would be compared with conclusions of a current study of highway needs by the state and counties to give "a clear picture of the overall job and the resources available to handle it," Mackie said.

Until both are completed, he said, the legislature should not revise the formula for distribution of gas tax money to various units of government. It allocates 47 percent to the state, 38 percent to counties and 15 percent to cities and villages.

Mackie noted that the Michigan Council on Roadways Federation took the same stand.

The state's five-year highway building program, started in 1957, called for a $1.2 billion outlay. The 1960-61 program will cost about $850 million, with most of the money used to build new roads between major cities and their business centers.

Believe It? Michigan Needs Snow

LANSING (AP) — Michigan has been hit with a lighter than usual snowfall so far this winter, especially in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula—the U.S. Weather Bureau reports.

The 1960-61 winter officials in charge of snow removal are happy about the situation. So are motorists and householders, enjoying open driving and spared break-breaking over snow.

But some state agencies are concerned.

"We are greatly concerned about the lack of snow generally," said Milton M. Bergman, head of the Conservation Department's forest fire fighting operations.

"Believe it or not, we're all worried about snow-free January," he said. "Houghlin, the head office of Lake Michigan and the Port Huron area have had fairly normal snowfall, but the rest of the state is deficient."

"If we don't get some snow soon, we can expect an early spring fire season and perhaps may face difficulty through the summer," Bergman said.

Continued lack of precipitation could leave the ground extremely dry and once fires get in the ground, they would be there.

Norman F. Billings, chief hydrologist for the State Water Resources Commission, said lack of snow could mean a lower level of the ground water supply and a shortage of water for plant growth and other purposes.

Rival Cuban Factions Clash in Havana

HAVANA (UPI) — Friends and foes of Premier Fidel Castro staged rival demonstrations last night in front of the Church of Our Lady of Carmen, where the late President Kennedy was buried.

The official radio said "rapid intervention" by police prevented a counter-demonstration of more than 1,000 persons from "punishing the (anti-Castro) disturbers of the peace."

No casualties were reported.

'Car of Year' Award Goes to GM's Tempest

LOS ANGELES—The annual Motor Trend Award, "Car of the Year," symbol of design achievement by an American automobile manufacturer, was presented here today to the Pontiac Motor Division of General Motors Corp. for development of the 1961 Tempest.

Accepting the award, which was presented by Don Werner, editor of Motor Trend, was S. E. Knudsen, vice president of General Motors and general manager of the Pontiac Motor Division. During the presentation, Werner said that the basic premise of the Motor Trend Award is progress in design.

"In 1961 there are many cars that represent worthwhile and welcome progress in design," Werner stated, but "the Tempest surpasses them all—not only in the total number of achievements, but also for what these achievements are."

"There are three major areas of design progress in the 1961 Tempest," Werner declared, "that make it one of the most advanced cars to be developed in America in more than two decades."

"These design features are the transfer of the transmission to the rear axle, and improvement long predicted and hoped for in the domestic front engine cars; the introduction of a flexible drive shaft, an amazing example of practical engineering and completely without precedent; and lastly, the new 4-cylinder engine power which will provide many practical benefits to the car buyer."

"These three things point up maximum progress in design and coupled with a car of functional size and adequate passenger capacity, make the Tempest the 'Car of the Year,'" Werner said. In accepting the award for the Tempest, Knudsen acknowledged it to be the highest accolade that a car manufacturer could receive, and said that it was probably the most sought after trophy in the industry.

Revealing that his company had won the Motor Trend Award in 1960, Mr. Knudsen said:

"In my opinion, the automobile industry is going through a transitional stage in which engineering improvement is taking place on all American cars now being produced. The consumer acceptance of the compact car has put an entirely new complexion on the automobile industry as a whole, and the American public is demanding and receiving more in terms of quality, performance and economy."

Worst Over for Awhile, Says Weather Bureau; Warmer Tomorrow

2 a.m. - 18 a.m. 7
8 a.m. - 1 a.m. 14
2 p.m. - 1 p.m. 16

Subzero temperatures froze hundreds of car radiators this morning, and residents throughout the Pontiac area's outlying districts reported frozen pipes.

The thermometer dipped from a high of 10 degrees at noon yesterday to 4 below in downtown Pontiac. Milford and Oxford residents reported 6 and 8 below.

But cheer up. The Weather Bureau says it will get a little warmer.

For the rest of the week temperatures will average about 12 degrees below the normal high of 23 and normal low of 13. Less than one-tenth of an inch in snow flurries is forecast for the period.

Morning northerly winds at 4 miles per hour will become variable at 3 to 15 m. p. tonight. Muskegon was the lone Weather Bureau recording station in Michigan which today failed to report a below zero reading. Muskegon's was 1 above.

The mercury dropped to 20 below at Pellston, to 14 below at Marquette and Grand Rapids, to 10 below at Sault Ste. Marie and Lansing, and to 9 below at Alpena.

The Michigan Highway Department said road conditions west of Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, Cadillac, Grayling and Mackinaw City were generally slippery after the one to five inch snowfall.

Other major highways east of the snow belt along Lake Michigan are clear except in Huron County where U.S. 25 is generally slippery and M53 is slippery in spots.

U.N. Force May Quit the Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI)—Diplomats feared today that the United Nations may have to withdraw its military force from the Congo because of threats by members to pull out their troops.

Six nations have indicated intentions of possible withdrawals that would reduce the 10,000-man force by half. Observers said that the force could not adequately carry out its assigned task as the reduced strength, and probably would have to be withdrawn.

King Mohammed VI of Morocco announced last night that he will order the Moroccan unit of 3,139 men—the largest in the force—home by Jan. 31. The United Arab Republic on Monday requested repatriation of its 457-man contingent by Feb. 1.

Ghana, Guinea and Indonesia have served notice, without taking any formal action, that they plan to pull out their units, totaling 5,333 soldiers.

Staff Shortage Main Reason for Crime Hike

Chief Koren Also Cites City's Unemployed as Second Cause

A manpower shortage in police ranks and local economic conditions were cited today by acting Police Chief Joseph Koren as major causes for a substantial increase in major crimes in Pontiac during 1960.

"Crime is bound to go up when the local police force is undermanned," Koren said.

Five recruits who graduated from the Detroit Police Academy last November, plus four who finished their course there in March, will raise the number of officers in the department to 108, seven officers short of its authorized strength.

"Police personnel shortage," encouraging criminal activities," he said. "The added men will be a detriment to lawbreakers."

Koren said that he has recently shifted several officers in the department to assign them to "work that best suits their ability," another step in reducing crime.

The department reported a total of 3,350 major crimes in 1960, up from 2,900 in 1959.

"Although our factories were busy, there was a large number of unemployed in the Pontiac area," Koren said. "And that undoubtedly contributed to the increase in crime."

He said that the department's 27 per cent clearance of major crimes in 1960 was in line with the national average for law enforcement agencies.

Music Soothes but Food Excites

JUST WAITING—Cliff Wiegand played for nearly an hour on the electric organ before Monday's session of the Pontiac Press Cooking School, "Fantasy of Foods," at Pontiac Central

President Will Answer Reporters' Questions Off the Cuff

Half a dozen Pontiac area families had their dinner menus changed Tuesday night—one family even had a two-inch porterhouse steak. Many went to the Pontiac Press Cooking School, "Fantasy of Foods," and won one of the dishes prepared on stage.

Master of Ceremonies Jim Dickerson of the Press advertising department had the honor of giving away that steak.

As was expected, the audience of over 600 was composed almost entirely of women. We counted only 5 or 6 men. One said he came because he did his own cooking and wanted to learn something new.

Another had a wife about to go to the hospital who wants him to have some cooking knowledge.

A retired male member of the audience won some of the gift food certificates.

SIDE CAME EARLY
From all over the northern part of Oakland County they came. Some even had the same seats as they did last year. It was rumored around Pontiac Central High School that some woman got her dates mixed and showed up in the auditorium one day last week at 7:30 in the morning in order to get a good seat.

Back stage Melvin Ogg, whose clucking from furballs she certifies as prize each day, watched the proceedings with interest. He likes to cook.

Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Oakland County consumer information agent, brought Dr. Robert Kremer and Mariella Massimi to the first day's session. Dr. Kremer of Michigan State University is head of the state Consumer Information Service. Miss Massimi, whose home is Rome, Italy, is in this country studying consumer information programs.

Robert O. Roth, director of the Home-makers Service, Department of the National Livestock and Meat Board was on hand. His after-words to the home economists who attend the cooking schools, Junior Plaza and Chloé Tremblay, are conducting a study of the school in Pontiac.

STON CITY, Iowa (U)—An auditor for the Federal Bureau of Investigation said at the preliminary hearing for Harold E. Kilmer Jr., 35, today that short-ages in the Sheldon National Bank date back to 30 or 40 years ago by admission of Mrs. Bar-nice Hanson Geiger. She is accused of embezzling more than $2 million from the bank.

Pages dressed in pike costumes carried out the prepared foods at the end of the program when the Fantasy of Foods is featured. These days' pages were Connie Miller, 18; West Ingomar, and Joannee Gaurant, 27; Susan Anderson.

Mrs. David A. St. Dennis and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Delore St. Dennis, work back stage before, during and after each day's performance.

Any person without a ticket but who still wishes to attend the remaining two sessions of the cooking school is urged to come. There were enough seats for all on Tuesday.

Famous Voice, Mel Blanc, Critically Hurt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mel Blanc, the man with a thousand voices known to millions, was in critical condition today, suffering from multiple injuries, resulting from a head-on collision that demolished his car.

Blanc, the voice of Bugs Bunny and Woody Woodpecker, received compound fractures of both legs and head lacerations. Tuesday night when his hardtop sports car collided with an auto driven by a college student.

Blanc's vocal creations have ranged from the impertinent "What's up, doc?" of Bugs, the mischievous rabbit, to the scolding and harking of Jack Benny's ancient Maxwell car.

Blanc has been associated with Bugs more than 20 years and has played many featured roles on the comedian's radio and television shows.

Portuguese Say Liner Located by Radio Fix

U. S. Won't Confirm Report; Naval Units Off Africa Alert

NEW YORK (AP)—Henrique Galvan, leader of Portuguese dissidents who seized the cruise liner Santa Maria, radioed today that the vessel would not be surrendered to either Portuguese or foreign ships.

From Our News Wire

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico—U.S. Navy planes closed in today on the reported position of a mystery ship in tropical Atlantic waters and Portuguese authorities said the captive liner Santa Maria has been located.

American confirmation of this was lacking, with Navy men saying they will not consider the Santa Maria located until it has been sighted and identified.

But the Portuguese seemed convinced that the vessel floated by monitoring of its radio as the Santa Maria. Rear Adm. Sacramento Rodrigues declared in Lisbon the liner "will be sighted within a few hours."

The Portuguese frigate Pedro Escobar put to sea and a standard order sent out to all Portuguese naval commands in the West African colony of Angola, the Azores, the Cape Verde Islands and Mozambique—all areas controlled from Lisbon.

The 20,906-ton liner was seized Sunday by enemies of the Salazar dictatorship in Portugal. At the time the vessel was between Venezuela and Florida, on a course to carry some of its 600 passengers ashore at Port Everglades, Fla. Tuesday.

Your twin engine Neptunes of the U.S. Navy circled over a 100-mile radius centered 80 miles east of Glandoupe, a French possession in the Leeward Islands.

Tell Why Navy Can't Find Ship

Search Not Comparable to Efforts Envisioned for Enemy Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Why have the U.S. Navy and other searchers been unable to find the Portuguese liner Santa Maria taken over by armed rebels in the Caribbean?

There has been no official explanation. But sources say several difficulties are involved.

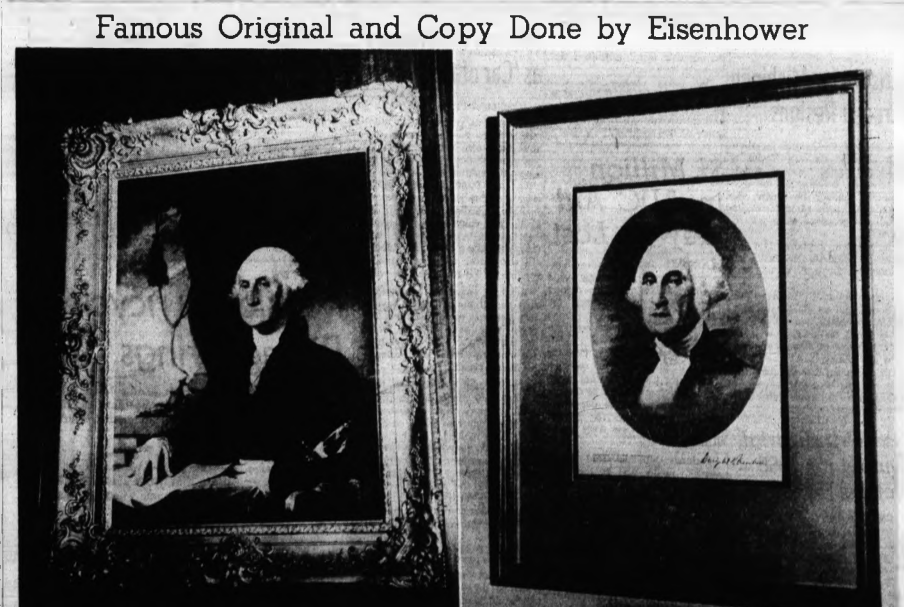

"The vessel could have traveled hundreds of miles in an unknown direction, between the time of the uprising and the beginning of the search."

"Relatively few ships and air planes are available to be put on the Santa Maria's trail."

"The ship could be taking evasive action in the chain of islands that once gave refuge to pirates."

The search is not comparable, one spokesman said, to the massive search for the missing (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

PROUD POSSESSIONS—Oakland County is proud to list among its possessions a famous original and one of its most distinctive copies. Represented in these paintings are three great Americans: George Washington, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gilbert Stuart. The most famous painting of Washington was done by Stuart. It is perhaps the most widely copied painting by an American. The original (left) is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and hangs in Meadow Brook Hall.

right here in the county. The particular copy shown here (right) was done by Dwight D. Eisenhower. It hangs in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wilson, West Long Lake Road, Bloomfield Township. The copy was a Christmas gift to the Wilsons from ex-President Eisenhower a few years ago. Oddly, both rest in homes belonging to Wilsons—who are no relation—and yet, live barely 10 miles apart.

TWO TONIC NIGHTS

WAKE OVER EYES

JFK, Joint Chiefs Review Defenses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy met with the military chiefs of the armed services today to undertake his first defense readiness.

In his role of commander in chief, the president worked throughout the morning with the Joint Chiefs of Staff as part of an intensive exploration of U.S. policy and strategies in the cold war struggle with Russia.

The five military advisers arrived together for the 10 a.m. J.C.S. White House conference. Kennedy also called an afternoon conference to consider the U.S. economic position with special emphasis on the balance-of-payments problem.

The White House did not divulge any specific details of Kennedy's meeting with the military leaders. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs; Gen. G. H. Decker, Army chief of staff; Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of Naval operations; Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff; and Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine Corps commandant met with the President.

President Kennedy was reportedly preparing to challenge Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to prove in Laos that he really wants to negotiate cold war settlements.

Kennedy might make the statement at his first presidential press conference tonight, administration sources said.

The new President was said to consider current diplomatic moves and the civil war in Laos a crucial test of whether a reasonable accommodation with Russia is possible.

This test is focused on a compromise British proposal to Russia to send a three-joint international control commission back into Laos to try to arrange a cease fire.

But in London, diplomatic officials cited indications that Communist China may try to block any new East-West negotiations on world problems.

Reports from Peking said a regime of Mao Tse-tung has launched an apparently organized campaign against President Kennedy and his members of his new administration.

On a domestic matter Kennedy is considering a request by the American Automobile Association (AAA) urging him to let the "temporary" federal gasoline tax expire at the end of the fiscal year on June 30.

The association asked the President to let the tax extend until July 1 when under a recommendation by former President Eisenhower it would have been renewed on a half cent.

AAA Director Charles L. Wilson said Tuesday that the association has been "seeking a more equitable distribution of the cost of highway financing among the various classes of users."

Oakland's Mrs. Phillips Challenged for State Post

Mrs. Harriet Phillips, considered a sure bet for Democratic state chairmanship, today found herself opposed by Oakland County Democrats mobilized her delegates to forces to win her the spot to be filled at the state convention.

Local Democrats will hold their convention in Pontiac tonight to pick 12 delegates and alternates to the Feb. 24 convention in Grand Rapids.

What loomed as an open-ended contest, because of the reigning power of incumbent Democratic officeholders, appeared to be warming up to a contest for the second spot.

Mrs. Lillian Barrett, a suburban Mount Clemens beauty operator, and Mrs. Phillips are expected to make it known yesterday she would oppose Mrs. Phillips for the vice chairmanship.

Already helping John B. Swanson in his staff race plan for the new years ahead, Mrs. Phillips said she—and the governor—were "extremely surprised" to learn of Mrs. Barrett's entry into the race.

"Maybe I've been doing a lot of work for somebody else," Mrs. Phillips said.

Democrats gathering around the county in the County Office Building are expected to make sure she hasn't. A resolution will be offered endorsing the Huntington Woods housewife and John J. Collins of Jackson, Swanson's campaign manager, for the two top spots.

To FILL IT POSTS

A record 1,762 delegates will nominate 11 candidates for state highway commissioner, state superintendent of public instruction, seven positions on governing boards of state universities, and two Supreme Court justices.

Oakland's delegation will move into the Furniture City for the first time and holding the biggest single vote when the votes are counted.

A gain in the votes in November in Macomb County — where Mrs. Barrett is supposed to have won — has caused her to drop Oakland into third spot behind Wayne County's 16th district (213 votes) and Macomb County (144).

Party workers were immediately speculating why Mrs. Barrett would jump into the race against the person who supposedly has the preeminent blessing of the governor, to the point that she has already gone to work for him. Both women actively backed Swanson in his campaign.

All Mrs. Phillips would say was "something's going on here" and "there's been all kinds of rumors." She wouldn't elaborate.

Mrs. Barrett was expected to be endorsed for the position being relinquished by Mrs. Adelaide Hart by the six counties that make up the 7th Congressional District meeting in conventions tonight.

Principal speaker in Pontiac will be State Treasurer Sanford A. Brown.

Besides the usual number of resolutions commending party leaders and workers, a special committee is expected to recommend that delegates to the proposed constitution in 1960 from the eastern upper peninsula be elected on a par with delegates from the rest of the state.

Freezing rains sheathed power and phone lines with ice and snapped wires and poles through West Texas.

The frigid weather in the north, with temperatures for below zero, extended from the Plains to the Atlantic Coast. Readings ranged from zero to more than 20 below in the Midwest and from zero to 10 below from the eastern upper peninsula to New England.

Cold wave warnings were in effect over most areas from the southern half of the plains into Virginia and the Carolinas. Northeastern weather edged into Kentucky and northern Virginia. The freezing belt curves Feb. 3 after a seven-mile cover across southern into the far northern community of central Gulf Southern Florida is up with a suggested state of camped the chilly weather.

Winter's most violent cold numbed the northeastern half of the nation today. Many southern regions shivered and skidded in freezing rain, sleet or snow, and a possible major avalanche storm threatened the Gulf States.

CONCENTRATION — W. L. Ryan, 3300 Seminary Road, Orchard Lake, was one of the few men attending Tuesday's session of The Pontiac Press Cooking School, "Fantasy of Foods." Ryan, who cooks for himself, is intent on the food that was being prepared on stage.

That Should Taste Good

Man Attends School

W. L. Ryan of 3300 Seminary Road is a man who goes after what he wants.

His time is his own in the afternoon. Since he does his own cooking, he is interested in improving his skill. What better place than the Pontiac Press Cooking School?

Ryan had no ticket for Tuesday's opening session, but he presented himself to the usher at Pontiac Central High School just before the program started at 7 p.m.

He was willing to stand if need be in order to see what was going on.

The usher found him a good seat in the balcony and W. L. Ryan of Orchard Lake was able to enjoy his cooking lesson in comfort. His meals in the future should have the glamour touch.

Police Try to Find Out if Man Knew He Hit Drayton Plains Boy

A Drayton Plains boy is in satisfactory condition after he was struck by a car in Drayton Plains late Tuesday afternoon.

The victim was Wayne Weber, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Weber of 3108 Warren St.

Waterford Township Police are holding the driver of the car, Gary M. Williams, 22, of 181 Norion St., Pontiac, for questioning.

Williams said he lost control of the car on Fremont Street, ran off the road and swung back onto the pavement but didn't know he hit anyone, according to police.

The driver stopped at a restaurant a block away where he was told by a witness that he had struck the boy. Williams returned to the scene after police had arrived.

The boy was lying in the middle of the road across the street dividing him.

"Williams has submitted to a lie detector test," explained Sgt. Richard Beckman.

Williams won't charge him with anything until he sees if the test indicates he had any knowledge of hitting the boy when he left the scene of the accident.

a method by which monitoring stations compare notes to determine the location of a transmitter through triangulation.

Portugal's navy gave approximately the same position. They said the Santa Maria was located 350 miles east of the Windward Islands, southern neighbors of the Leeward.

The Santa Maria, with Enrique Malta Galvao's blackjacks to command, passed Monday off St. Lucia, one of the Windwards, and sent aboard eight crewmen, including one wounded severely by gunshot in the battle for the ship.

In Sao Paulo, Brazil, exiled Portuguese opposition leader Gen. Humberto Delgado took full responsibility for the rebel seizure of the ship.

Delgado said the takeover had been planned for the past five or six months.

"WE ARE NOT PIRATES"

Delgado demanded that the United States and Britain, whose warships and planes are scouting the Caribbean in search of the pirate ship, call off their hounds.

"We are not pirates—we are engaged in a political war," he said.

"This is our business, not the business of the United States or Britain. We are not stealing anything or hurting anybody."

Delgado, who was defeated in his bid for the Portuguese presidency in 1958, said orders were given to protect the lives of all passengers aboard.

Though the pirates have abandoned them on an extra-dividend Caribbean cruise, none of the passengers appeared worried about walking any plank.

The general fear of their messages radioed to the folks back home from the command—delivered by "Don't worry."

RCA radio stations along the America coast received more than a score of radiograms from the liner as it steamed Tuesday under command of the rebel adventurer.

MOST ARE OPTIMISTIC

Relatives said most of the passengers seemed optimistic.

"We're safe," Delgado Sr. said. "We're safe."

Mrs. Smith's mother, Mrs. Milton S. Hamer of Johnston, Pa., said the Smiths and their daughter Carolyn, 7, boarded the ship in Lisbon.

"Safe, well," radioed Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bates of Washington, D.C., who were returning from a European tour and were in the care of Captain of the ship, N.J. called the episode "absolutely fantastic."

A Navy spokesman at San Juan headquarters directing the search for the Portuguese liner said a radio fix had been obtained on a ship 500 miles southeast of Barbados that "might be the Santa Maria."

A check-out of that area proved fruitless.

HUNT MOVES NORTH

At the hunt moved north. The Neptune, long-range reconnaissance planes, were under instructions to determine the position, course and speed of the ship.

British radio monitors expressed belief the Santa Maria was on a course toward Angola. This is about 5,000 miles across the Atlantic from the West Indies.

U.S. and Dutch navy planes and a handful of American and British surface craft took part in the search for the liner—seized on the high seas with the avowed aim of starting ouster of Antonio Jose Guterres Salazar, Portugal's ruler for 35 years.

Michigan to Query Its Taxpayers

Citizens Aid Sought for Traffic Safety

LANSING (AP)—Between 10,000 and 25,000 citizens will be asked to evaluate Michigan's traffic safety program next spring and make suggestions for improving it.

Distribution of that many questionnaires by the Michigan Citizens Highway Safety Action Committee is another move aimed at reducing the state's rising toll of traffic fatalities.

The committee, the citizens arm of the State Safety Commission, Monday heard Gov.

Swainson voice concerns over the situation.

"The better traffic safety record we have the less will be the cost in both lives and dollars," he said. "But there is concern that some of our fine safety records are going away."

After reducing the death toll by 33 per cent between 1955 and 1958, the fatality count rose 7 per cent in 1959 and 8 per cent last year.

Fletcher N. Platt, chairman of the citizens group and traffic safety and highway improvement manager for Ford Motor Co., said the questionnaires would be distributed by member organizations.

They include such groups as the Michigan Medical Society, insurance firms, the Automobile Club of Michigan and the Automobile Manufacturers Association.

Persons will be queried on such matters as whether they recommend special restrictions and tougher tests for new drivers, whether state or local officials should give drivers license examinations, whether rules of the road should be changed and whether license renewal requirements should be stiffened.

Grand Trunk to Build 2 Fuel Storage Tanks

The Grand Trunk & Western Railroad is planning to construct two underground fuel storage tanks in its grounds west of Oakland Avenue near Ojasta Street.

A building permit, approved by construction and fire inspectors, set the cost at $20,000.

Included are a 30,000-gallon diesel fuel tank, a 10,000-gallon lubricating oil tank and a small pump house.

Will Sentence Man for Market Break-In

Chester J. Knickerbocker, 43, of 1000 Myrtle Ave., will be sentenced Feb. 6 by Circuit Court Judge Clark J. Adams for breaking into Police's Market, 238 S. Telegraph Road, on Jan. 14.

Knickerbocker pleaded guilty Monday to breaking and entering during the nighttime when arraigned before Judge Adams. He was returned to the county jail under a $5,000 bond.

Police found 50 bottles of liquor, cartons of cigarettes, and $103 taken from the store. An alleged accomplice of Knickerbocker's will be examined on the same charge tomorrow in a lower court.

Bondsman Tries to Keep Office

Pontiac Man Offers City $7,500 for Building Destined to Be Razed

Facing eviction next month, Carmen A. Mitchell last night made a bid to hold on to the bonding office he has operated for many years across Wayne Street from the Oakland County Jail.

The Pontiac bondsman offers the City Commission $7,500 for the building at 113 Wayne St., purchased by the city last year from the Stout estate for clearance as part of a new municipal parking lot.

Mitchell, who as a youthful hoodlum and robber, was admitted to bond himself, many times before turning to bonding as a profession, he runs Pontiac's busiest bonding office daily across the street from the place most bonds are posted.

In an exchange of posts, Mitchell referred commissioners to the outside swimming pool he has installed at his home, at 20 Miami St., and complained that his property assessments had been upped too high because of it.

"If the city is that desperate for taxes it should try to keep property like 113 Wayne St. on the tax rolls," he said.

laid that the offer would get "some consideration," but added that the city has never backed into a program to provide more public parking.

Mitchell's eviction deadline is Feb. 15, but City Manager Walter K. Willman said he might be allowed to continue renting from the city until the building is wrecked in April.

Aliens Reminded of Deadline to File Forms

The Pontiac Post Office today reminded all persons in the Pontiac area who are not U.S. citizens that they have less than a week to file their alien forms.

Under U.S. law all aliens must report to the government each January.

Deadline for alien forms to be filed out and turned in is midnight next Tuesday, Jan. 31.

They must be returned to the post office for a final check.

Admitted Slayer of Stepmother Mute at Arraignment

A first-degree murder charge has been brought against 22-year-old Earl C. White of Novi in the shotgun slaying of his stepmother as the latter left a bar in New Hudson Sunday morning.

White, who admitted firing the single blast that killed William H. Thompson, 29, of 1910 Austin Drive, almost instantly.

White said the shooting followed a series of quarrels between his 43-year-old mother and his stepfather, although White wasn't sure why he pulled the trigger.

Mrs. Thompson, the mother of seven children by a previous marriage, said that although she was with her husband when he was shot in the bar's parking lot at about 1 a.m. she did not recognize her son as the killer.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Robert K. Anderson yesterday in Novi, White stood mute, a plea of innocent was entered for him, and he was remanded to the county jail pending an examination in the township justice court at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

White, along with his wife and their year-old son, were being with the Thompsons. White was employed as a gas station attendant in Farmington Township.

New Tax Chief Calls His Job Touching Thing

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (UPI) — President Kennedy Tuesday chose Mortimer Caplin, a 44-year-old law professor at the University of Virginia, to be commissioner of internal revenue.

Caplin, a registered Democrat who described the job of the nation's No. 1 tax collector as one that "really touches the people," made immediate plans to take up his new duties.

He said his "big job" as commissioner would be "winning taxpayer-confidence in the whole tax system" and added he would seek to improve both morale and service at the IRS.

Sakofsky Jury Gets Dismissed

Fails to Reach Verdict in Negligent Homicide Farmington Case

Circuit Judge H. Russell Holland yesterday dismissed a jury after it could not reach a verdict in the negligent homicide trial of Bernard Sakofsky of Farmington Township.

The jury began deliberating last Friday afternoon and returned to begin again yesterday morning. They reported they were deadlocked.

Sakofsky, 21, of 3117 Mulford St., was standing still following the death last May 13 of Jay M. Randall, 23, of 1861 Meadow Ridge Drive, Walled Lake.

Randall was killed in a two-car collision at Orchard Lake and 13 Mile roads in Farmington Township. Sakofsky was the driver of the car.

Police said he missed a stop sign.

Sakofsky, released from Pontiac State Hospital about two weeks before the accident, also faces a civil suit stemming from the accident. Sakofsky was the father of four children.

Bell to Include Local Area in Work Layoff

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co.'s head office in Detroit announced yesterday that 107 employees in the southeastern part of the state will be laid off indefinitely, effective Feb. 5.

Some of the layoffs will be in the Pontiac area, according to District Manager Ray Storm. But he could not say how many at this time.

"Actual plans for various local areas are in the process of being decided," he said.

The Detroit office said the layoffs are necessary because the company's rate of growth has not been as great as anticipated.

Michigan Bell has many thousands of employees in the state.

Eighty-three construction workers and 24 building maintenance employees will be laid off, the company said.

Layoffs in the Pontiac district will be according to seniority, affecting those with less seniority first, said Storm. There are about 500 persons employed by Bell in the Pontiac area.

None of these have been hired during the past year.

Announce Dividend

SOUTH LYON — Directors of Michigan Seamless Tube Co. today declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents per share, payable Feb. 20 to stockholders of record Feb. 8.

A like amount was paid in the preceding quarter.

Two Cars, Tractor, Truck In Trouble on 3 Charges

A 21-year-old Shelby Township man, who tried to escape arrest by surrounding a state police man's car, will appear in U.S. justice court Feb. 2 to answer two of three charges brought against him.

Some fancy maneuvering with two cars, a tractor and a stake truck by Dale L. Staub of 5200 Dodge Road resulted in his arrest by State Trooper James Malczewski.

Malczewski said he chased Staub from Auburn Road (M56) near Ryan Road when he failed to stop before entering the highway from a gas station driveway.

Staub, with the police car in hot pursuit, drove to his home and parked the car as he was driving into a garage, according to police.

While Malczewski was writing him a ticket, Staub quickly pulled another auto in front of the police car and parked a farm tractor behind it.

TRIED TO ESCAPE — Staub then jumped into a stake truck and tried to make his escape in this vehicle. Staub had difficulty starting the truck, however, and he was handcuffed by the state trooper before he had a chance to do any more driving.

Staub then was charged with resisting arrest after being taken to the station on charges of obstructing justice and fleeing from a private driveway.

Staub was released on $200 bond after pleading guilty to both traffic violations yesterday in U.S. Justice Court where he will appear for his hearing at 10 a.m. Feb. 2.

He was bound over to Circuit Court on $500 bond for resisting arrest.

CONSIDERING NOMINATIONS

Chairman William J. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, poses Tuesday with four new appointees before a committee session meeting to consider their nominations. Left to right are: Roger W. Jones, named as deputy undersecretary of state for administration; George W. Ball, undersecretary of state for economic affairs; Fulbright, G. Mennen Williams, assistant secretary of state for African affairs; and Murat W. Williams, ambassador to El Salvador.

The prospect of an adult cartoon series was something which I looked forward with pleasure. Well, "The Flintstones" came and conquered. The show caught on. It won awards as "Most Unique New Program," of all things. Millions of adults tune it in.

But it's not the show it purports to be.

As I watch the show, off and on — in the words of the TV knob — I find myself wondering what it will begin to be an "adult" satire on modern suburban life.

The other day I saw this quote from Joe Barbera, one of the creators of "The Flintstones": "We never said Flintstones would be adult. That was all part of a publicity buildup ... nowhere in the format did we promise that we were going to look for assistance wherever we can get it. If we help them, we will earn their gratitude for generations to come. The United States can afford to lose out in this only at its peril."

Williams drew laughs when he told the committee his nomination had been acclaimed by the three A's — Africa, Asia and Arizona.

Why Arizona? Williams explained that Arizona's Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater had acclaimed the nomination, suggesting that if former Vice President Richard M. Nixon had been elected president, "he would have sent me to Africa, too."

Williams told the committee, "I don't pretend to be an African expert." But he added, "There are very few around who are."

Williams told the senators he had heard a rumor that he wanted the African job because his family firm, the Mennen Co., needed African palm oil for its shaving preparations.

As a matter of fact, Williams said, the Mennen Co. doesn't use palm oil. It uses fatty acids, Williams said.

Turning to serious matters, Williams said, "I am particularly interested in the development of the underdeveloped areas of the world."

Williams told the committee he had traveled abroad extensively — first as a child with his family, later in military service and then as a diplomat. He said he had visited Africa twice.

Williams agreed when Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said he hoped the Mennen Co. would get some credit for it.

Williams also said African nations were "going to be a big factor in the world."

Don't Talk, Talk About Recession

Conversion Is Bad, Romney Tells Bankers in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — George Romney, president of the American Motors Corp., says he is disturbed by "economist after economist predicting a business recession without saying what it is to do about it."

And that, he added, constitutes what he calls "conversion."

Romney, here to address the annual session of the Wisconsin Bankers Association, said he thought the outlook for the automotive industry, despite some cut-backs and inventory adjustments, is brighter. He looks for a definite pickup in the second quarter of the year.

"The facts do not justify a poor year in 1961," Romney said.

What people think is more important than the facts? Romney said a news conference, "If we all begin to talk the blues about poor business and worse business, we can convince each other that a recession is going to happen and it will really happen."

And that, he added, constitutes what he calls "conversion."

Williams Wins Okay, Plus Senate Laughs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Michigan Gov. G. Mennen Williams won approval as assistant secretary of state for African affairs Tuesday after a laugh-filled 90 minutes of questioning by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Says Ike Shielded by Sherman Adams

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A former White House aide says that President Eisenhower could have given earlier attention to some major problems in his administration if Sherman Adams had not shielded him from them.

Gray rejected the theory that Eisenhower's increased activity in 1950 resulted from either Adams' resignation under fire or the death of then Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

"With the best of intentions," Gray wrote, "Adams spared the President from people and papers that could have made possible ear-

Manhattan's Lure Just Too Much for Old Niki

NEW YORK (UPI)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev apparently has abandoned his threat to move the United Nations out of New York City — he's dickering to buy more real estate to house his U. N. staff here.

in the midtown Manhattan area. One of these is the 180-room Sheraton-Bowling on plush Park Avenue (and 28th St.), a favorite haunt of upper-echelon capitalists.

Khrushchev said in a table-tumping U. N. address last year that the world organization should be moved from New York. He complained about security regulations among other things.
